9. The trial court, after appreciating the facts and evidence on record, held that though, in a suit for eviction, the relationship of landlord and tenant is to be seen, but the question of title is also involved incidentally in such suit, therefore, it can also be looked into. The trial court found that respondents had instituted the Suit No.814 of 2000 (Smt. Rani Devi Vs. Kanpur Development Authority) against KDA, and there are material and evidence on record in the said suit that suit property had been acquired by KDA, therefore, the respondents had failed to demonstrate that they are the owner and the petitioners are the tenant of the suit property. It further held that as admittedly, rent was not paid by the petitioners to the respondents, therefore, there was no relationship of landlord and tenant between respondents and petitioners. Consequently, it decided issue no.1 against the respondents.

10. As issue no.1 was decided against respondents, accordingly, the trial court decided the issue nos.2 & 3 also against the respondents because of the finding on issue no.1.

11. Feeling aggrieved by the order of the trial court, respondents preferred SCC Revision No.37 of 2017 which was allowed by the revision court by recording a finding that even if suit property had been acquired, the suit for eviction and arrears of rent instituted by the respondents was maintainable. The revision court held that in a suit for eviction, only the relationship of landlord and tenant is to be seen between the parties. By recording the aforesaid finding, it set aside the finding of the trial court that question of the title being incidental can also be considered in a suit for eviction.

12. The revision court further held that if there was any dispute between the petitioners and KDA, petitioners cannot take advantage of the said dispute until they prove that they were inducted as a tenant in the suit property by the KDA. It further held that petitioners did not file any evidence on record in the suit to prove that possession of the suit property had been taken over by the KDA. The revision court further found that petitioners have admitted the tenancy of the suit property, and thus, the relationship of landlord and tenant between respondents and petitioners is proved. It further found that notice terminating the tenancy was valid and petitioners had defaulted in payment of rent. Consequently, it decreed the suit of the respondents.

13. Challenging the aforesaid order, learned counsel for the petitioners has contended that with the acquisition of Suit Property, the respondent ceased to be the owner of the suit property and there was no relationship of landlord and tenant between the respondent and the petitioner, therefore, the suit was not maintainable. He further submits that the KDA had taken the symbolic possession of the suit property is evinced from the Possession Memo (Dakhalnama) dated 28.02.1973, therefore, finding of the revision court that petitioners had failed to prove that possession of the suit property had been taken by the KDA is illegal and perverse. Thus, his submission is that revision court has committed manifest illegality in allowing the revision and decreeing the suit. He has placed reliance upon paragraph 16 (iv) of the judgement of Apex Court in the case of Prahlad Singh and Others Vs. Union of India and Others 2011 (4) AWC 3650.

14. Refuting the aforesaid submission, learned Senior Counsel for the respondents by placing reliance upon Section 116 of the Evidence Act, 1872 has contended that petitioners have admitted in their written statement that their father was the tenant of the suit property through whom they have acquired tenancy, therefore, they are estopped in law in denying and challenging the relationship of landlord and tenant. In respect of the said submission, he has placed reliance upon the judgement of Apex Court in the case of State of A.P. and Others Vs. D. Raghukul Pershad (D) by L.Rs. & Others 2012 (5) AWC 4378 (SC).

15. He further contends that in a suit for eviction, the relevant issue which calls for determination by the court is as to whether there exists relationship of landlord and tenant between the parties, and in the present case, revision court found that there exist relationship of landlord and tenant between the parties, therefore the Suit is maintainable. His further submission is that finding of revision court on the issue of the relationship of landlord and tenant is based upon the proper appreciation of evidence on record and sound principals of law, and as such is not liable to be interfered with by this court. He further submits that trial court has committed gross illegality in recording a finding that suit was not maintainable as respondents have failed to prove their title over the suit property, and said finding has rightly been corrected by the revision court in the exercise of its revision jurisdiction under Section 25 of Provincial of Small Cause Courts Act, 1887. In support of his aforesaid submission, he has placed reliance upon the judgement of this Court in the case of Raju Savita Vs. Amarnath 2018 (2) ARC 533.

16. He further contends that the actual physical possession was not taken by the KDA and is with the respondents. He has also placed reliance upon paragraph 16 (iii) of the judgement of the Apex Court in the case of Prahlad Singh (supra).

17. I have considered the rival submissions of the parties and perused the record.

18. In the present case, petitioners have denied the relationship of tenant and landlord on the ground that the suit property had been acquired by KDA and award had been passed in respect of the suit property. However, the petitioners have admitted in their written statements that their father was the tenant of the suit property. Further, DW-1 Munish Chandra Gupta in his testimony has admitted that his father was the tenant of the suit property and had paid the rent of the suit property last time in the year 1960. Thus, it is established from the own case of the petitioners that suit property was taken on rent by their father and their father was the tenant of the suit property.

19. At this point, it would be relevant to refer Section 116 of the Indian Evidence Act, 1877 which reads as under :

''Estoppel of tenant; and of licensee of person in possession-

No tenant of immovable property, or person claiming through such tenant, shall, during the continuance of the tenancy, be permitted to deny that the landlord of such tenant had, at the beginning of the tenancy, a title to such immovable property; and no person who came upon any immovable property by the licence of the person in possession thereof, shall be permitted to deny that such person had a title to such possession at the time when such licence was given."

20. This section precludes tenant of an immoveable property during the continuance of tenancy to deny the title of the landlord at the beginning of the tenancy, howsoever defective it may be. Therefore, it implies that if the tenant wishes to deny the title of the landlord, he must first surrender the possession of the property back to him. The Apex Court in the case of State of A.P. (supra) has held that the tenant will have to surrender possession of the property to the landlord before he can challenge the title of the landlord. Paragraph 6 of the judgment in the case of State of A.P. (supra) is extracted hereinbelow:-

"6. The law is settled by this Court in D. Satyanarayana vs. P. Jagdish 1987(4) SCC 424 that the tenant who has been let into possession by the landlord cannot deny the landlord's title however defective it may be, so long as he has not openly surrendered possession by surrender to his landlord. Although there are some exceptions to this general rule, none of the exceptions have been established by the appellants in this case. Hence, the appellants who were the tenants of the respondents will have to surrender possession to the respondents before they can challenge the title of the respondents."

21. Thus, to get out of the rigour of Section 116 of the Evidence Act and the law laid down by the Apex Court in the above-referred case, the tenant has to surrender the possession of the property before he can challenge the title of the landlord. However, in the instant case, nothing transpires from the record which could demonstrate that petitioners have surrendered the possession of the suit property before challenging the title of the respondent. Consequently, the petitioners are estopped in law in challenging or denying the title of respondents, howsoever defective it may be in view of Section 116 of the Indian Evidence Act, 1877.

22. It would also be pertinent to refer to the judgment of the Apex Court in the case of Sheela Jawarlal Nagori & Another Vs. Kantilal Nathmal Baldota & Others 2014 (3) ARC (5) wherein Apex Court has held that landlord can maintain a suit for eviction against tenant even if the tenanted property has been acquired and an award has been passed in respect thereof under the provision of the Land Acquisition Act, 1894. Further, this court in the case of Raju Savita (supra) has held that in a suit for eviction, only the relationship of landlord and tenant is to be seen.

23. It is evident from the aforesaid discussion that the relationship of landlord and tenant is established between the respondent and the petitioner, therefore, the suit of the respondent was maintainable. Consequently, this court does not find any merit in the submission of the counsel for the petitioner that the suit was not maintainable as on the acquisition of the suit property by KDA, the tile of respondent over suit property had vanished and the relationship of landlord and tenant had ceased to exist between the parties.

24. To appreciate the other contention of the counsel for the petitioners that the symbolic possession of the suit property was taken by the KDA, it would be apt to refer the judgement of Apex Court in the case of Prahlad Singh (supra) relied upon by both the parties wherein Apex Court has considered the question as to whether acquired land can be treated to have vested in the State Government under Section 16 of the Land Acquisition Act, 1894 on the making of an award with the Collector though, the actual and physical possession continues with the landowner. Paragraphs 10 and 16 of the said judgement being relevant are extracted hereinbelow:-

"10.We have given our serious thought to the entire matter and carefully examined the records. Section 16 lays down that once the Collector has made an award under Section 11, he can take possession of the acquired land. Simultaneously, the section declares that upon taking possession by the Collector, the acquired land shall vest absolutely in the Government free from all encumbrances. In terms of the plain language of this section, vesting of the acquired land in the Government takes place as soon as possession is taken by the Collector after passing an award under Section 11. To put it differently, the vesting of land under Section 16 of the Act presupposes actual taking of possession and till that is done, legal presumption of vesting enshrined in Section 16 cannot be raised in favour of the acquiring authority.

16. The same issue was recently considered in C.A. No. 3604 of 2011 - Banda Development Authority, Banda v. Moti Lal Agarwal decided on 26.4.2011. After making reference to the judgments in Balwant Narayan Bhagde v. M.D. Bhagwat (supra), Balmokand Khatri Educational and Industrial Trust v. State of Punjab (supra), P.K. Kalburqi v. State of Karnataka (supra), NTPC v. Mahesh Dutta

"(i) No hard and fast rule can be laid down as to what act would constitute taking of possession of the acquired land.

(ii) If the acquired land is vacant, the act of the concerned State authority to go to the spot and prepare a panchnama will ordinarily be treated as sufficient to constitute taking of possession.

(iii) If crop is standing on the acquired land or building/structure exists, mere going on the spot by the concerned authority will, by itself, be not sufficient for taking possession. Ordinarily, in such cases, the concerned authority will have to give notice to the occupier of the building/structure or the person who has cultivated the land and take possession in the presence of independent witnesses and get their signatures on the panchnama. Of course, refusal of the owner of the land or building/structure may not lead to an inference that the possession of the acquired land has not been taken.

(iv) If the acquisition is of a large tract of land, it may not be possible for the acquiring/designated authority to take physical possession of each and every parcel of the land and it will be sufficient that symbolic possession is taken by preparing appropriate document in the presence of independent witnesses and getting their signatures on such document.

(v) If beneficiary of the acquisition is an agency/instrumentality of the State and 80% of the total compensation is deposited in terms of Section 17(3A) and substantial portion of the acquired land has been utilised in furtherance of the particular public purpose, then the Court may reasonably presume that possession of the acquired land has been taken."

25. The principles underlined by the Apex Court in the case of Prahlad Singh (supra) are to be kept in mind while adverting the issue as to whether possession of the suit property was taken over by the KDA.

26. In the present case, the trial court has relied upon the written statement and the award No.24 dated 27.09.1961 filed by KDA in Original Suit No.814 of 2000 in returning a finding that possession of the suit property had been taken by the KDA. The revision court found that there was no evidence on record in the present suit to demonstrate that the actual physical possession of the suit property had been taken by the KDA; accordingly, it set aside the finding of possession recorded by the trial court on the ground that the approach of the trial court was erroneous in relying upon the written statement and evidence filed by KDA in Original Suit No.814 of 2000 in absence of any evidence on record in the present suit wherefrom it can be evinced that the possession of the suit property had been taken by KDA.

27. According to the petitioner, the acquisition was of a large tract of land in the instant case is evident from the written statement and the award No.24 dated 27.09.1961 filed by KDA in Original Suit No.814 of 2000, and the symbolic possession of the suit property had been taken by the authority is also evident from the possession memo dated 28.02.1973, therefore, the present case falls within the ambit of paragraph 16 (iv) of the judgement of the Apex Court in the case of Prahlad Singh (supra), and as such, the finding of revision court that the petitioners have failed to prove that the KDA had taken the possession of the suit property is illegal and contrary to the record.

28. To determine that the present case falls within the ambit of paragraph 16 (iv) of the judgement of Prahlad Singh (supra), the first issue which crops up for determination is whether the large tract of land was acquired by the authority and if so, the possession of the land has been taken in the manner envisaged by the Apex Court in Paragraph 16(iv) of Prahlad Singh (supra). In the instant case, it is explicit from the perusal of the two written statements filed by the petitioners that no factual foundation has been laid by the petitioners that large tract of land was acquired by the KDA and the possession of the land was taken by the KDA in the manner prescribed in paragraph 16(iv) of the judgment of the Apex Court in the case of Prahlad Singh (supra). The said issue being an issue of fact can be decided only on the basis of pleading and evidence on record which in the instant case is lacking. Further, it also transpires from the record of the writ petition that the certified copy of possession memo dated 28.02.1973 filed as Annexure No. 8 is obtained from the record of Original Suit no.252 of 2000 which is yet to be proved by the KDA as per law in that suit, and the issue as to whether possession of the suit property had been taken by the KDA is yet to be adjudicated upon by the competent court in Original Suit No.252 of 2000, consequently, the possession memo cannot be relied upon in the present suit to consider the issue that possession of the suit property is with KDA.

29. In the case in hand, indisputably building exist on the land alleged to have been acquired by KDA. Therefore, the procedure provided in Paragraph 16(iii) of Prahlad Singh's case (supra) is to be complied with for taking possession of the land. No evidence or material on record was brought to the notice of the court which indicates that any notice was given by the KDA to the respondents and possession of the land was taken in the presence of independent witnesses and panchanama was prepared taking the signatures of the independent witnesses, therefore, it is not established from the record of the case that the procedure envisaged in Paragraph 16(iii) of Prahlad Singh's case (supra) for taking possession was complied with. Consequently, this court finds that the finding of the revision court on the issue that possession of suit property had been taken by KDA is not proved is correct and based on the proper appreciation of material on record. However, it is clarified that the observation made hereinabove about possession of the suit property would not prejudice the rights of the parties in Original Suit No. Original Suit No.252 of 2000.

30. Accordingly, given the above discussion, this court does not find any substance in the submission of counsel for the possession that the present case falls within the compass of Paragraph 16(iv) of Prahlad Singh's case (supra).

31. Thus, for the reasons given above, this Court does not find any good ground to interfere with the judgement of the revision court. Consequently, the writ petition lacks merit and is dismissed with no order as to costs.

Matters Under Article 227 No. 9650 of 2019
(Civil)

Yupender Kalra ...Petitioner
Versus
Pradeep Saigal ...Respondent

Counsel for the Petitioner:
Sri Vinayak Mithal

Counsel for the Respondent:

A. Respondent landlord-filed suit for eviction as material alteration has been caused -to the property-and arrears of rent-Argument of respondent landlord was concluded-date was fixed for Petitioner's arguement-Petitioner filed Application 123 Ga- rent agreement-after delay of 8 years-no reasonable and satisfactory explanation for delay-and also not admissible evidence-since it is insufficiently stamped and an unregistered document-application 123 Ga rejected-instead challenging it-Application 155 Ga filed-righty rejected being barred by the principle of Res Judicata.

Held, From the facts detailed above, it is apparent that it is not the case of the petitioner in the written statement that he has made material alteration in the disputed shop in terms of rent deed, therefore, the rent deed cannot be read in evidence in the absence of any pleading by the petitioner in the written statement. So, the petitioner cannot take the help of rent deed to negate the case of the respondent of material alteration of the petitioner. Further, the fact that the Petitioner acknowledges that the rent deed is insufficiently stamped is manifest from the act of the petitioner as he did not challenge the order of the court below dismissing the application 123GA rather he filed an application 155Ga with a prayer to impound the rent deed and direct the authorities to accept deficient stamp duty, compounding fee and penalty from him. The aforesaid fact reflects that the purpose of filing the application123Ga that too after eight years is to delay the disposal of the suit. Thus, this Court does not find any error or illegality in the order dated 27.09.2017 rejecting the application 123Ga and the order of revision court dated 20.03.2018 affirming the order of the trial court dated 27.09.2017. (Delivered by Hon'ble Saral Srivastava, J.)

1. Heard Sri Vinayak Mithal, learned counsel for the petitioner and Sri Sumit Daga, learned counsel for the respondent.

2. The petitioner-tenant (hereinafter referred as 'Petitioner') by means of the present petition under Article 227 of Constitution of India has assailed four orders; (i) order dated 27.09.2017 passed by Additional Small Causes Court, Meerut in SCC Suit No.41 of 2010 whereby it rejected the application 123Ga of the petitioner for taking the rent deed dated 26.12.1986 and F.I.R. dated 17.11.1996 on record, (ii) order dated 20.03.2018 passed by the District Judge, Meerut in SCC Revision No.8 of 2018 dismissing the revision of petitioner against the order dated 27.09.2017, (iii) order dated 12.02.2019 passed by Additional Small Causes Court, Meerut rejecting the application 155Ga of the petitioner praying for impounding the rent deed dated 26.12.1986 and further direction to the District Magistrate to accept the deficient stamp duty alongwith penalty and compounding charges from the petitioner and send the rent deed back to the court, (iv) order dated 07.11.2019 passed by Additional District Judge, Court No.1, Meerut dismissing the SCC Revision No.44 of 2019 preferred by the petitioner against the order dated 12.02.2019.

3. The facts, in brief, are that respondent-landlord (hereinafter referred as 'Respondent') instituted SCC Suit No.41 of 2010 contending inter-alia that the petitioner is the tenant of Shop No.4B situated in building no.171/B-E Abu Lane, Meerut Cantt. (hereinafter referred to as 'disputed shop') on the monthly rent of Rs.5,000/- per month. The eviction of the petitioner has been sought mainly on two grounds; the petitioner was in arrears of rent w.e.f. 01.09.2010 to 02.09.2010. Secondly, the petitioner has willfully caused substantial damage to the building and made material alteration in the disputed shop by raising construction. The plea as regards the material alteration have been stated in detail by the respondent in paragraphs 7 to 10 of the plaint.

4. The petitioner contested the suit by filing written statement on 01.01.2011 contending inter-alia that father of the respondent instituted SCC Case No.8 of 1994 for eviction against the petitioner contending that he had not paid the rent @ Rs.1050/- per month in terms of rent deed dated 26.12.1986. The suit was dismissed by Additional District Judge, Court No.8, Meerut by judgement and order dated 30.03.2002 with the cost of Rs.3,000/-. The petitioner denied the factum of alteration and construction alleged to have been raised by him. Besides above, several other pleas have been taken the reference of which are not relevant for the present case.

5. It transpires from the record that the final argument of the respondent in SCC Suit No.41 of 2010 was concluded and the case was fixed for the argument of the petitioner. On the date fixed for the arguments of the petitioner, he filed an application 123Ga dated 09.08.2017 with a prayer for accepting on record the two documents; (i) F.I.R. Dated 17.11.1996, (ii) Rent deed dated 26.12.1986. It was averred in the application that petitioner while preparing the case could lay hands to the aforesaid documents. On discovery of the aforesaid documents, he filed an application for taking those documents on record without any delay, and if the aforesaid documents are not admitted on record, it would cause irreparable injury and injustice to the petitioner.

6. The aforesaid application 123Ga was contested by the respondent by filing objection 128Ga denying the execution of rent deed dated 26.12.1986. The respondent further stated that petitioner did not file the aforesaid two documents alongwith evidence filed by him in the year 2012 and 2013. It was further stated that the suit is being fixed for hearing for the last 3 years, and if the documents are accepted, the trial would start de novo. There is an inordinate delay of about 8 years in filing the application 123Ga by the petitioner without there being any proper and cogent explanation for the delay in filing the said application. The respondent further stated that application 123Ga has been filed only to delay the disposal of the suit. It was also stated that the petitioner has not elaborated the details of alleged rent deed dated 26.12.1986 in paragraph 16 & 17 of the written statement, and in fact, he has denied the fact of making any material alteration in the disputed shop in paragraphs 25 & 27 of the written statement.

7. The trial court by order dated 27.09.2017 dismissed the application on the ground that application 123Ga has been filed only to delay the disposal of the suit.

8. The order dated 27.09.2017 was assailed by the petitioner in SCC Revision No.8 of 2018 which was also dismissed by the court of District Judge, Meerut on the ground that alleged rent deed is written on stamp paper of Rs.7/- and is insufficiently stamped, therefore, it is inadmissible in evidence because of Section 35 of Indian Stamp Act, 1899 (hereinafter referred to as 'Act, 1899') till the time proviso (a) appended to Section 35 are complied with. Consequently, it held that the rent deed cannot be taken on record. The revision court refused to take the other document i.e. F.I.R. on record on the ground that said documents has no bearing in the present case.

9. The record reflects that after the dismissal of the Revision no.8 of 2018, the petitioner filed another application 155Ga on 01.01.2019 after about 8 months. The petitioner averred in the said application that he had filed rent deed with application 123Ga with a prayer to take the same on record which was rejected by the trial court. It is further stated that the revision court in affirming the order of the trial court observed that the rent deed is insufficiently stamped and is inadmissible in evidence and can be impounded under Section 33 of the Act, 1899. Accordingly, the petitioner prayed in the said application that the rent deed may be impounded and send to the District Magistrate with direction to accept the deficient stamp duty alongwith penalty and compounding charges and send the rent deed back to the court.

10. The aforesaid application 155Ga was dismissed by the trial court by order dated 12.02.2019 holding that application 123Ga of petitioner for taking the rent deed dated 26.12.1986 on record was rejected by this Court by order dated 27.09.2017 affirmed in revision, since the order passed in Revision No.8 of 2018 has not been assailed by the petitioner and same has attained finality, therefore, application 155Ga is misconceived and same has been filed only to delay the disposal of the suit.

11. The petitioner, thereafter, preferred SCC Revision No.44 of 2019 against the order dated 12.02.2019 which was also dismissed by the revision court affirming the finding of the trial court in rejecting the application 155Ga.

12. Learned counsel for the petitioner has contended that the court below has committed manifest illegality in rejecting the application 123Ga for taking the rent deed dated 26.12.1986 on record and also the application 155Ga for impounding the rent deed dated 26.12.1986. He submits that delay cannot be a ground to reject the application 123Ga since it is settled in law that court should be liberal in accepting the evidence to do the substantial justice. He further submits that rent deed dated 26.12.1986 belies the case of the respondent regarding the material alternation by the petitioner, therefore, in the interest of justice, the court below ought to have taken the said document on record.

13. He further submits that once it has come to the notice of the court that a document is insufficiently stamped, a duty is cast upon the court under Section 33 of the Act, 1899 to impound the same and send it to the competent authority to proceed following the procedure contemplated under Section 35 of the Act, 1899. In support of his contention, he has placed reliance upon the judgement of Apex Court in the case of SMS Tea Estates Private Limited Vs. Chandmari Tea Company Private Limited 2011 (11) SCC 66.

14. Per contra, learned counsel for the respondent contends that no explanation of inordinate delay of eight years in filing the application 123Ga has been given by the petitioner. He further submits that the revision court in affirming the order of the trial court rejecting the application 123Ga considered the consequences of taking the rent deed on record and after appreciating the law on the subject found that rent deed is insufficiently stamped and is an unregistered document, and as such, is inadmissible in evidence, therefore, it cannot be taken on record and admitted in evidence.

15. He further submitted that it is not the case of the petitioner that he had carried out material alteration in the disputed shop because of conditions stipulated in the rent deed authorising the petitioner to carry out alternation rather a perusal of the written statement discloses that he has denied the fact of material alteration in the disputed shop. He further submits that petitioner though has referred to the alleged rent deed dated 26.12.1986 in paragraph 17 of the written statement but has not elaborated the details of the rent deed in the written statement. Thus, the submission is that in the absence of any pleading that the alleged rent deed permitted the petitioner to carry out modification or alteration in the disputed shop in the written statement, the alleged rent deed cannot be read in evidence, therefore, the aforesaid facts make it obvious that the application 123Ga has mischievously been filed to delay the disposal of the suit.

16. He further submits that the order of the revision court dated 20.03.2018 affirming the order dated 27.09.2017 has not been assailed by the petitioner and same has attained finality, therefore, application 155Ga was not maintainable. He submits that the question of impounding a document would arise only after the same has been accepted on record by the orders of the court whereas in the present case, the application 123Ga of the petitioner for taking the rent deed dated 26.12.1986 on record has already been rejected by the trial court which order has been affirmed by the revision court, accordingly, he submits that the court below has not committed any illegality in rejecting the application 155Ga.

17. He further submits that the application 155Ga is barred by the principle of constructive resjudicata since the plea sought to be raised in application 155Ga could have been raised by the petitioner in application 123Ga, as such, the application 155Ga is nothing but an abuse of the process of the law and has been rightly dismissed by the court below.

18. I have considered the rival submissions of the parties and perused the record.

19. I will first deal with the argument of the learned counsel for the petitioner in respect to the order of the court below on application 123Ga.

20. The facts as emerging out from the record are that the suit has been instituted in the year 2010. One of the grounds on which the eviction has been sought is that the petitioner has made material alteration in the disputed shop. The petitioner has filed written statement in January 2011 wherein he has referred the rent deed dated 26.12.1986 in paragraph 17 in reference to the institution of suit No.8 of 1994 by the father of respondent Roshan Lal Saigal against petitioner for eviction on the ground of arrears of rent. The petitioner has not detailed about the terms and conditions of the rent deed which permitted him to carry out modification or alternation in the disputed shop in the written statement. The petitioner in paragraphs 25 to 27 of the written statement has denied carrying out any material alteration in the disputed shop. It would be worth to extract paragraphs 17 and 25 to 27 of the written statement hereinbelow:-

"17. यह कि इसके बाद वादी के पिता मृतक रोशनलाल सहगल ने उत्तरदाता प्रतिवादी को तंग व परेशान करने के उद्देश्य से एक लघुवाद संख्या 8 सन 94 रोशनलाल सहगल बनाम यूपेंद्र कुमार कालरा बाबत किराया बेदखली न्यायालय जिला जज मेरठ में इस कथन के साथ योजित किया कि दिनांक 26.12.86 को हुए इकरारनामा द्वारा किराया दिनांक 1.12.91 से अंकन 1045/- रु० तय पाया गया जो प्रतिवादी ने अदा नहीं किया तथा प्रतिवादी के विरुद्ध झूठे व् आधारहीन आरोप लगाते हुए वाद योजित किया. इस वाद में उत्तरदाता प्रतिवादी ने अपना प्रतिवादपत्र प्रस्तुत करते हुए किराया अंकन 1045/- रु० में टैक्स आदि जोड़ते हुए ताकि भविष्य में कोई विधिक व्यवधान उत्पन्न न हो अंकन 1111/- रु० प्रतिमाह की दर से मय ब्याज आदि खर्चा न्यायालय में जमा किया तथा वाद के निस्तारण तक इसी दर से किराया न्यायालय में जमा करता रहा. तदुपरांत उक्त वाद दिनांक 30.3.2002 को न्यायालय अपर जिला जज कोर्ट न. 8 मेरठ द्वारा विशेष व्यय अंकन 3000/- रु०. सहित खंडित हुआ. जो मृतक रोशनलाल अथवा उनकी मृत्युपरांत वादी ने आज तक भी अदा नहीं किया.

25. यह की वादी का कथन कि उत्तरदाता प्रतिवादी ने दुकान विवादित में जानबूझकर सुब्स्टेन्शल डैमेज करते हुए धारा 7 वादपत्र में कॉलम (i), (ii), (iii), (iv) दिए गये वर्णानुसार दूकान में छति कारित की है गलत है बल्कि उत्तरदाता प्रतिवादी ने दुकान विवादित में कोई छति किसी प्रकार की जैसा वादी ने अपने वादपत्र में उल्लेखित किया है नहीं की. वादी ने उत्तरदाता प्रतिवादी के विरुद्ध झूठे व् आधारहीन आरोप लगाकर उक्त वाद योजित कर दिया है. वास्तव में वादी के पिता मृतक रोशनलाल ने उत्तरदाता प्रतिवादी को जैसी दुकान किराया पर दी वैसी ही दुकान अब तक चली आ रही है. उत्तरदाता प्रतिवादी ने दुकान विवादित में दुकान किराये पर लेने के दिनांक से आज तक ऐसा कोई कार्य नहीं किया जिससे दूकान की उपयोगिता अथवा बाजारी कीमत में कोई कमी आई

26. यह की वादी का कथन कि उत्तरदाता प्रतिवादी ने वादी की बिना अनुमति प्राप्त किये दुकान विवादित में सुब्स्टेन्शल डैमेज करते हुए कथित निर्माण कर सार्वभूत परिवर्तन करते हुए दुकान को डिसफिगर कर दिया जिससे दुकान की कीमत व् उपयोगिता में कमी हुई है और प्रतिवादी धारा 20 (2) सी अधिनियम 13 सन 72 के तहत काबिले बेदखली है गलत है. जब उत्तरदाता प्रतिवादी ने दुकान किराये पर लेने के दिनांक से आज तक दुकान में कुछ किया ही नहीं तो उत्तरदाता प्रतिवादी का धारा 20 (2) सी अधिनियम 13 सन 72 का उलंघन करने अथवा उसके तहत बेदखल होने का कोई प्रश्न उत्पन्न नहीं होता. समस्त कथन वादी झूठा तथा बेबुनियाद है को उसने अपने वादपत्र को रंगत देने के उद्देश्य से लिखा है और उत्तरदाता प्रतिवादी को स्वीकार नहीं है.

21. It is also evident from the application 123Ga that the argument of the respondent was concluded and the suit was fixed for the argument of petitioner, and at that point of time, the application 123Ga was filed after a delay of about eight years. The only explanation for the delay tendered by the petitioner in the application is that during the course of preparation of the case, he found the rent deed in the record and filed application 123Ga without any delay. The trial court found the explanation for the delay of eight years in filing the application unacceptable, accordingly, it dismissed the application holding that the application 123Ga has been filed only with the purpose to delay the disposal of the suit.

22. The revision court also found no illegality in the order of the trial court dated 27.09.2017 dismissing the application 123Ga and held that the rent deed is insufficiently stamped and is an unregistered document, therefore, it is inadmissible in evidence. It, accordingly, rejected the revision of the petitioner.

23. It is pertinent to notice that petitioner had filed evidence in the year 2012 and 2013, but he did not file the rent deed. There is no averment in the application 123Ga about his endeavours in finding out the rent deed in the last eight years. The explanation tendered by the petitioner for the delay in filing the application 123Ga is not believable for the reason that the case was pending for the last eight years and several dates had been fixed in the case on which petitioner must have flipped through the record of the case, it is very strange that he could not lay his hands to the rent deed while preparing the case in the last eight years and he surreptitiously got it just before the date fixed for his argument. In this view of the fact, the petitioner has failed to give a reasonable and satisfactory explanation for the inordinate delay of eight years in filing the application.

24. Further, the revision court while affirming the order of trial court rejecting application 123Ga found the rent deed is inadmissible in evidence since it is insufficiently stamped and an unregistered document.

25. The petitioner in application 123Ga has stated that he has carried out alteration in the disputed shop in terms of rent deed dated 26.12.1986, therefore, in the interest of justice and for proper adjudication of the case, the rent deed may be taken on record, but no such case has been set up by the petitioner in the written statement. Petitioner has referred the rent deed in paragraph 17 of the written statement in a different context and not in reference to the terms and conditions of the rent deed under which he had carried out alternation in the disputed shop. The petitioner has denied the fact of material alteration which is evident from paragraph no. 25 to 27 of the written statement extracted above.

26. From the facts detailed above, it is apparent that it is not the case of the petitioner in the written statement that he has made material alteration in the disputed shop in terms of rent deed, therefore, the rent deed cannot be read in evidence in the absence of any pleading by the petitioner in the written statement. So, the petitioner cannot take the help of rent deed to negate the case of the respondent of material alteration of the petitioner. Further, the fact that the Petitioner acknowledges that the rent deed is insufficiently stamped is manifest from the act of the petitioner as he did not challenge the order of the court below dismissing the application 123GA rather he filed an application 155Ga with a prayer to impound the rent deed and direct the authorities to accept deficient stamp duty, compounding fee and penalty from him. The aforesaid fact reflects that the purpose of filing the application123Ga that too after eight years is to delay the disposal of the suit. Thus, this Court does not find any error or illegality in the order dated 27.09.2017 rejecting the application 123Ga and the order of revision court dated 20.03.2018 affirming the order of the trial court dated 27.09.2017.

27. Now, I will consider the legality of orders on application 155Ga. The court below in deciding application 155Ga observed that the petitioner's application 123Ga to accept the rent deed on record has been rejected by the trial court which order was affirmed by the revision court, and those two orders have not been assailed by the petitioner, therefore they have attained finality. Accordingly, it concluded that since the rent deed has not been accepted on record, it cannot be impounded.

28. This Court has upheld the order of the trial court and revision court rejecting the application 123Ga of the petitioner. The court can impound an insufficiently stamped document and direct to proceed in the manner provided under Sections 33, 35 & 38 of the Act, 1899 as held by the Apex Court in the case of SMS Tea Estates Private Limited (supra) when the document has been accepted on record which is not the case here. Thus, the argument of counsel for the petitioner on the strength of the judgement of the Apex Court in the case of SMS Tea Estates Private Limited (supra) is not sustainable and rejected.

29. About the submission of the respondent that application 155Ga is barred by principles of resjudicata as provided in Section 11 of Civil Procedure Code,1908, it is to be noted that the provision of res-judicata is based upon the principle that there shall be no multiplicity of proceedings and there shall be the finality of proceedings. It is apt to refer to the decision of the Apex Court in the case of Darayo & Others Vs. State Of U.P. (1962) 1 SCR 574 wherein it has been held that the principles of re-judicata will apply to proceedings under Article 32 & 226 of the Constitution of India. Paragraph No.9 of the judgment of Darayo is reproduced hereunder :

" 9. But, is the rule of res judicata merely a technical rule or is it based on high public policy ? If the rule of res judicata itself embodies a principle of public policy which in turn is an essential part of the rule of law then the objection that the rule cannot be invoked where fundamental rights are in question may lose much of its validity. Now, the rule of res judicata as indicated in s. 11 of the Code of Civil Procedure has no doubt some technical aspects, for instance the rule of constructive res judicata may be said to be technical; but the basis on which the said rule rests is founded on considerations of public policy. It is in the interest of the public at large that a finality should attach to the binding decisions pronounced by Courts of competent jurisdiction, and it is also in the public interest that individuals should not be vexed twice over with the same kind of litigation. If these two principles form the foundation of the general rule of res judicata they cannot be treated as irrelevant or inadmissible even in dealing with fundamental rights in petitions filed under Art. 32.

30. It would also be appropriate to refer paragraph no.39 of Asha Agarwal (Smt.) and Others Vs. M/S Arvind & Co. and Others 2015 All. C.J. 552 which reads as under:

"39. It is well established that the principle of resjudicata enshrined under Section 11 C.P.C. is equally applicable in respect of the decisions rendered at successive stages of the suit. Thus, even interlocutory orders passed at different stages of a suit have the binding effect provided the decision is rendered on merits."

31. In the present case, the petitioner has filed application 123Ga with a prayer to accept the rent deed on record which was rejected by the trial court. The order of the trial court was affirmed by the revision court on the ground that the rent deed is inadmissible in evidence as it is insufficiently stamped and is an unregistered document. Instead of challenging, the aforesaid two orders, petitioner acquiesced to the finding of the revision court that the rent deed is insufficiently stamped and preferred another application 155Ga with a prayer that the rent deed may be impounded and send to the authorities with a direction to accept the deficient stamp duty, compounding fee and penalty from the petitioner. The prayer made by the petitioner in Application155Ga could have been made by him in application 123Ga since the petitioner knew that the document is insufficiently stamped and is not admissible in evidence. Therefore, applying the ratio laid down in the above-referred cases, this court finds that Application155Ga is barred by principles of constructive res-judicata.

32. Thus, given the above discussion, this court does not find any illegality in the orders passed by the trial court as well as revision court in rejecting application 155Ga.

33. Consequently, for the reasons given above, the writ petition under Article 227 of Constitution of India lacks merit and is accordingly, dismissed. There shall be no order as to costs.

4. Writ A No.12289 of 2019 (Pradeep Kumar @ Pradeep and Another Vs. Smt. Meena Devi Sahu and Another).

(Delivered by Hon'ble Saral Srivastava, J.)

1. Heard learned counsel for the petitioner and Sri Prateek Sinha, Advocate holding brief of Sri Siya Ram Verma, learned counsel for the respondent.

2. Petitioner is a tenant of Aahata No.565 Quarter No.3 (565/3), Rail Bazar, Meerpur Cantt., Kanpur Nagar (hereinafter referred to as 'suit property') at Rs.60/- per month. The petitioner has assailed the judgement and order dated 14.12.2017 passed by Prescribed Authority/Civil Judge (Senior Division), Kanpur Nagar allowing the release application instituted by respondent nos.1 & 2 registered as Rent Case No.16 of 2013 (Saleem Khan and Another Vs. Shamshul Hasan) and order dated 06.09.2019 passed by Additional District Judge, Court No.12, Kanpur Nagar dismissing the Rent Appeal No.4 of 2018. 3. The respondent nos.1 and 2 being owner and landlord of the suit property filed an application under Section 21 (1)(a) of U.P. Act No.13 of 1972 for release of the suit property. It is stated in the release application that the respondents have purchased the suit property from its erstwhile owner Smt. Akeela Jamal by registered sale deed dated 23.06.2010. It is further averred that family of respondents/landlord is big, details of which have been stated in paragraph 5 of the release application, therefore, suit property is needed for their personal use and occupation. It is also stated in the release application that notice has been sent to the petitioner-tenant for vacating the suit property. The said notice was replied by the petitioner-tenant on 24.07.2012.

4. In the aforesaid case, petitioner-tenant filed objections. Besides taking other plea, petitioner-tenant stated in paragraph 23 of the objection that the release application is barred by the proviso to Section 21 (1)(a) of U.P. Act No.13 of 1972 as six months mandatory notice has not been given to the petitioner by the respondents-landlord which is mandatory requirement for filing release application by the landlord as the petitioner is the tenant of the suit property since before its purchase by the respondents-landlord.

5. On the basis of aforesaid pleadings, the Prescribed Authority framed three issues. The issue no.1 was as to whether notice given by the respondent-landlord was valid; issue no.2 as to whether there was any relationship of landlord and tenant between the parties; issue nos.3 & 4 in respect of bona fide need and comparative hardship.

6. On the issue no.1 the Prescribed Authority held that notice was given on 10.07.2012 and six months notice period has elapsed before filing the release application, therefore, requirement of proviso to Section 21 (1)(a) of U.P. Act No.13 of 1972 is fulfilled and release application is maintainable. The trial court after appreciating the evidence and material on record decided the issue of bona fide need and comparative hardship in favour of respondent-landlord.

7. The petitioner-tenant, thereafter, preferred Rent Appeal No.4 of 2018 under Section 22 of U.P. Act No.13 of 1972 which was also dismissed by the Additional District Judge, Court No.12, Kanpur Nagar by judgement and order dated 06.09.2019 whereby he has affirmed the finding of Prescribed Authority.

8. Challenging the aforesaid orders, learned counsel for the petitioner has contended that notice dated 10.07.2012, copy of which is annexed as Annexure 1 to the writ petition, does not meet the requirement of proviso to Section 21 (1)(a) of U.P. Act No.13 of 1972 inasmuch as the said notice does not state the fact that respondents-landlord want release of the suit property for their personal use and for which they would initiate legal proceedings. In support of his submission, he has placed reliance upon the judgement of this Court in the case of Lakshmi Shankar Mishra Vs. Smt. Vineeta Richhriya 2017 (2) ARC 754 and also in the case of Abdul Jabbar Vs. VIIth ADJ, Gorakhpur 1989 (1) ARC 277.

9. The submission is that the court below while returning the finding on issue no.1 against the petitioner has failed to consider this relevant aspect of the matter, and as notice dated 10.07.2012 was invalid, therefore, mandatory requirement of notice as contemplated in proviso to Section 21 (1)(a) of U.P. Act No.13 of 1972 has not been complied with, therefore, the release application was not maintainable. He further contends that finding of Prescribed Authority on the issue of bona fide need is also not correct inasmuch as respondents-landlord have got released one house adjacent to the suit property and some portion of that house has been demolished by the landlord, therefore, need set up by the landlord-respondents is not genuine and bona fide.

10. Per contra, learned counsel for the respondents-landlord contends that objection raised by the petitioner that notice does not state the fact that respondents-landlord need the suit property for their personal use has been waived by the petitioner inasmuch as no such case has been set up by the petitioner in his written statement. He submits that the only objection which has been raised by the petitioner in the written statement was that six months mandatory notice has not been given, and thus, in view of the said fact, the finding returned by the court below on issue no.1 that release application is not barred by proviso to Section 21 (1)(a) of U.P. Act No.13 of 1972 is correct and based upon proper appreciation of evidence and material on record. In support of his aforesaid submission, he has placed reliance upon the judgement of this Court in Writ A No.72134 of 2010 (Anoop Kumar and Others Vs. Doongermal Singodiya and Another) & Writ A No.12289 of 2019 (Pradeep Kumar @ Pradeep and Another Vs. Smt. Meena Devi Sahu and Another).

11. On the issue of bona fide need, he contends that finding of the courts below is a finding of fact as the same has been recorded after appreciating the evidence and material on record and as the petitioner has failed to point out any perversity in the finding of courts below, this Court may not interfere with the findings of courts below in exercise of supervisory jurisdiction under Article 227 of Constitution of India on the issue of bona fide need and comparative hardship.

12. I have considered the rival submissions of the parties and perused the record.

13. Before adverting to the first submission of learned counsel for the petitioner as to whether notice dated 10.07.2012 meets requirement of a valid notice contemplated under the proviso to Section 21 (1)(a) of U.P. Act No.13 of 1972, it would be relevant to refer the judgement of Lakshmi Shankar Mishra (supra) relied upon by the learned counsel for the petitioner. This Court after noticing the various pronouncements of this Court has laid down as to what a notice should contain in order to meet the requirement of substantial compliance of proviso to Section 21 (1) (a) of U.P. Act No.13 of 1972. Paragraph 16 of the said judgement is extracted hereinbelow:-

"16. A careful reading of the statutory provision and the object it seeks to achieve, when seen in the light of the aforesaid decisions, leads the court to irresistible conclusion that for substantial compliance of the requirement of the proviso to sub section (1) of section 21 of the Act, the purchaser landlord must: (a) give a written notice to the tenant about purchase of the building; (b) the notice must indicate that the building is bona fide required either in its existing form or after demolition and new construction for occupation by himself or any member of his family in which connection he would bring proceeding; and (c) the application under section 21 (1) (a) should be filed after six months of the service of notice. The provision does not require that the notice must by itself provide six months time to vacate. What it needs to do is to inform the tenant that the accommodation is required by the landlord for the purpose enumerated in clause (a) of sub section (1) of section 21 of the Act in which connection he intends to bring proceeding. The proviso does not prohibit issuance of a composite notice which seeks arrears of rent as well as terminate tenancy in addition to giving information of purchase and the bona fide requirement of the purchaser landlord as well as intention to bring proceeding in that behalf. Therefore even a composite notice seeking to terminate the tenancy upon expiry of one month's period coupled with information to the tenant about the purchase and purchaser landlord's requirement for the premises with intent to bring proceeding in that behalf would not render the proceeding drawn under section 21 (1) (a) bad. Because the purpose of the notice stands achieved once sufficient information is given to the tenant that the premises in question has been purchased and the same is bona fide required for the use and occupation of the landlord or his family members and that in due course proceeding would be drawn in that behalf."

14. In the case of Abdul Jabbar (supra), this Court has held the notice to be invalid on the ground that such notice did not state the intention of the landlord that he wants the property for his personal use for which he would file an application for release against the petitioner under Section 21(1)(a) of U.P. Act No.13 of 1972. Paragraph 14 of the judgement is extracted hereinbelow:-

"14. I have examined the notice, which has been annexed as Annexure 4 to this petition. The property as stated above, was purchased on 6th October, 1975. This notice was given on 9th February, 1976. This notice does not state at all as to any intention on part of the landlord to file an application for release against the petitioner under Section 21 (1) (a) of the Act nor does it ask the petitioner to vacate the premises but it is only a notice intimating the petitioner that the landlord has purchased the property by a sale-deed, dated 6th October, 1975. In the circumstances, clearly, this notice cannot be construed to be a notice under the proviso to Section 21 (1) (a) of the Act. There is no sufficient compliance of the mandatory requirement of law."

15. It is explicit from the aforesaid two judgements that for a notice to be valid and to meet the substantial requirement of compliance of proviso to Section 21 (1)(a) of U.P. Act No.13 of 1972, a notice must indicate clear intendment of the landlord that he wants the property for his personal need and for release of which he may file an application under Section 21 (1)(a) of U.P. Act No.13 of 1972.

16. In the light of above principles laid down by this Court, it is to be seen that the notice of landlord in the present case meets the requirement of a valid notice. It is manifest from the notice that it does not state that the suit property is bone fide required for the personal use of the landlord or any member of the family and the application under Section 21 (1) of the U.P. Act No.13 of 1972 shall be filed after the expiry of six months of the notice.

17. Learned counsel for the respondents-landlord also also could not point out from the notice that the notice recites any fact wherefrom it can be inferred that the landlord wants suit property for his personal use and occupation, and for release of suit property, he may file release application under Section 21 (1) (a) of U.P. Act No.13 of 1972. Thus, in view of the law laid down by this Court in the case of Lakshmi Shankar Mishra (supra) & Abdul Jabbar (supra), this Court finds that the notice in the present case does not meet the requirement of a valid notice.

18. Now, the Court proceed to consider the judgements relied upon by the learned counsel for the respondents. This Court in the case of Pradeep Kumar @ Pradeep (supra) has held that tenant may waive protection provided to him under the first proviso to Section 21 (1) of the U.P. Act 1972 and if the tenant has waived such protection, the release application is maintainable. The proposition of law as has been laid down by this Court in the aforesaid case is not applicable in the present case as it is not the case of respondent-landlord that tenant has waived the protection available to him under the proviso to Section 21 (1)(a) of U.P. Act No.13 of 1972.

19. In the case of Anoop Kumar (supra) this Court found that defendants have not raised any objection that the release application is barred by the proviso to Section 21 (1)(a) of U.P. Act No.13 of 1972, and accordingly, it held that release application is maintainable as the defendants have waived the protection available to them under the proviso to Section 21 (1)(a) of U.P. Act No.13 of 1972.

20. Thus, in view of the foregoing discussion, this Court finds that both the courts below have acted illegally in holding that the notice of termination of tenancy is a valid notice and release application is not barred by the proviso to Section 21 (1)(a) of U.P. Act No.13 of 1972.

21. Since, this Court has held that release application is barred by the proviso to Section 21 (1)(a) of U.P. Act No.13 of 1972, therefore, in the facts of the present case, the other contention advanced by learned counsel for the parties are not dealt with.

22. For the reasons given above, both the orders impugned are set aside. The writ petition is allowed with no order as to costs.

1. Heard Sri Pramod Jain, learned Senior Counsel assisted by Sri Ashutosh Srivastava, learned counsel for the revisionist and Sri Swapnil Kumar, learned counsel for the respondent.

2. The revision-applicant (hereinafter referred to as 'applicant') is the defendant and has assailed the judgement and decree dated 27.8.2018 passed by 4th Additional District Judge, Agra in S.C.C. Suit No. 32 of 2013 (CNR No. UPAG01-005993-2013) whereby the Trial Court has decreed the suit.

3. The brief facts of the case are that the respondent-plaintiff (hereinafter referred to as 'respondent') has instituted S.C.C. Suit No. 32 of 2013 against the applicant praying for a decree of eviction, arrears of rent, mesne profit and taxes. The plaint case was that the respondent is the owner and landlord of shop No. 1/31/C (hereinafter referred to as 'shop') situated on the ground floor in Amar Market, Johari Bazar, Agra. The respondent let out the shop to the applicant at a rent of Rs.5,000/- plus taxes @31% i.e. Rs.6,550/- per month. The applicant without the consent of the respondent joined two shops i.e. shop No. 1/31/C under his tenancy and shop No. 1/31/C-1 under the tenancy of one Raj Kumar Garg, nephew of the applicant, by removing the Pucca partition wall standing between the two shops. Consequently, the respondent sent a notice on 29.5.2012 terminating the tenancy which was duly served upon the applicant. The applicant after receiving the aforesaid notice approached the respondent and admitted his fault in making material alteration in the shop and requested the respondent not to take any legal action against him and in lieu thereof, he offered rent of Rs. 5,000/- plus taxes per month of the shop to the respondent with effect from 1.4.2011 and assured him to restore the shop in original shape. The respondent accepted the aforesaid offer of the applicant on 15.6.2012. The applicant, thereafter, made payment of rent of Rs. 19,650/- of three months with effect from 1.4.2011 to 30.6.2011 @ Rs. 6,650/- per month (rent Rs. 5,000/- and taxes @ Rs. 1550/-). The respondent issued the receipt of payment of rent which was duly acknowledged by the applicant.

4. Further, the case of the respondent was that on 22.6.2012, he received a reply of notice dated 29.5.2012 sent by the respondent. On receiving the aforesaid reply, he immediately called the applicant on 22.6.2012 and informed him about the reply to the notice sent by the applicant. The applicant informed the respondent that the said reply was sent by his counsel due to lack of communication as he could not intimate his counsel about the compromise between them. The applicant requested the respondent to ignore the reply. On the same day i.e. on 22.6.2012, he made payment of Rs. 19,650/- of rent for three months for the period from1.7.2011 to 30.9.2011. The respondent issued a proper receipt of the payment of rent duly acknowledged by the applicant.

5. It is further stated that the respondent has instituted S.C.C. Suit No. 59 of 2012 against Raj Kumar for eviction, recovery of arrears of rent and taxes. The applicant upon hearing about the filing of the aforesaid suit approached the respondent on 23.10.2012 and made payment of Rs. 19,650/- towards rent and taxes for three months for the period of 1.10.2011 to 31.12.2011; the proper receipt was issued by the respondent in respect of the aforesaid payment which was duly acknowledged by the applicant. The applicant has not paid rent and taxes since 1.1.2012 despite repeated demands. Accordingly, the respondent sent a notice dated 11/12.01.2013 terminating the tenancy and demanding the arrears of rent, taxes etc. on the correct address of the respondent which was duly served upon the applicant on 14.1.2013. As the applicant failed to comply with the notice dated 11.1.2013, the respondent instituted the aforesaid suit for eviction and recovery of rent, taxes etc.

6. The suit was contested by the applicant by filing written statement contending inter-alia that the rent of the shop was not Rs. 5,000/- per month plus taxes. The last rent of the shop was paid @Rs. 12,00/- per month plus taxes and due receipt of payment of rent was issued by the respondent. The applicant also denied that he had carried out material alteration which caused substantial damage to the shop. It was also averred that the applicant never approached the respondent on 29.5.2012 or any other date and offered rent of Rs. 5,000/-. The alleged receipt issued by the respondent is forged and fabricated. The applicant denied his signature and thumb impression on the receipts. The fact of compromise between the parties settling the rent at Rs. 5,000/- plus 31% taxes have been denied by the applicant. It was further averred that the rent of the shop was Rs. 105/- per month on 16.7.1983. Thereafter the rent was enhanced to Rs. 140/- on 1.4.1987. According to the defendant, periodical enhancement of the rent was done. The rent was enhanced to Rs. 1200/- per month plus taxes with effect from 01.04.2009 and Rs.1440 plus taxes from 01.04.2012.

7. Based on pleadings between the parties, the following five issues were framed by the Trial Court:-

"1. Whether the monthly rent for the shop in question was Rs. 5000/- and taxes?

2. Whether the defendant has committed any default in making payment of rent to the plaintiff since 01.01.2012.

3. Whether the notice sent by the plaintiff to the defendant for termination of tenancy is duly served on the defendant and the tenancy is terminated by the notice.

4. Whether this court has jurisdiction to hear this suit.

5. Whether the plaintiff is entitled to get any relief ."

8. The respondent in support of his case filed three original rent receipt dated 15.6.2012 (paper No. 21C/1), rent receipt dated 22.6.2012 (paper No. 21C/2) and rent receipt dated 23.10.2012 (paper No. 21C/3) which according to the respondent are original counterfoils of the receipts dated 15.6.2012, 22.6.2012, 23.10.2012(for convenience paper no.21C/1 to 21C/3 referred as 'rent receipts' as referred by the trial court), report of Rajkumar Shrotriya, handwriting expert and produced himself as PW1 and Handwriting expert Rajkumar Shrotriya. Besides above, several other documentary evidence has been filed by the respondent, reference of which is not relevant.

9. The applicant in support of his case filed various rent receipts in the original, report of handwriting expert Satish Chandra Varshney, produced himself as D.W. -1, Mukesh Kumar Khandewal D.W.-2 and expert Satish Chandra Varshney.

10. The trial court decided issue Nos. 1 and 4 jointly. The Trial Court considered the documentary and oral evidence of both the parties threadbare and held that the expert report of the applicant is not credible and the rent of the shop is Rs. 5,000/- per month, therefore, the U.P. Act No. 13 of 1972 does not apply to the shop.

11. The issue No. 2 was also decided in favour of the respondent as the Trial Court based on evidence and material on record found that the applicant is in arrears of rent since 1.1.2012, therefore, he has defaulted in payment of rent. The Trial Court found that the notice terminating the tenancy was duly served upon the applicant and the applicant did not abide by the notice. Consequently, it decided the issue No. 3 also in favour of the respondent. Accordingly, the Trial Court decided issue no.5 in favour of the respondent and decreed the suit.

12. Learned Senior Counsel for the applicant has assailed the finding on the issue No. 1.

13. Challenging the finding on the aforesaid issue, learned Senior Counsel contended that the rent of the shop was Rs. 1200/- plus taxes which was enhanced to Rs. 1440/- per month from 1.4.2012 is evident from the notice dated 29.5.2012 of the respondent. He further submits that the Trial Court has not given any reason for rejecting the expert report and testimony of the Expert Sri Satish Chandra Varshney produced by the applicant which proved the three rent receipts paper No. 21C/1 to paper No. 21C/3 are forged and fabricated.

14. His further submission is that the trial court has reiterated the expert report of the respondent which is evident from paragraph no. 28 of the judgement and has not given any independent reason to record the finding that the three rent receipts, paper No. 21C/1 to paper No. 21C/3 bear signature and thumb impression of the applicant. It is further contended that the respondent has filed original rent receipts paper No. 21C/1 to paper No. 21C/3 instead of receipt book containing the counterfoils of the alleged rent receipts, this act of the respondent shows that the aforesaid rent receipts are obviously forged, consequently, the trial court in the absence of receipt book should have drawn adverse inference under Section 114 of the Indian Evidence against the respondent. It is also urged that the alleged compromise between the parties have not been proved.

15. In the light of the above submission, Counsel for the applicant argues that the trial court erroneously relied upon the rent receipt paper No. 21C/1 to paper No. 21C/3 and expert report of Raj Kumar Shrotriya to hold the rent of the shop is Rs.5000/-per month plus taxes@31%. The counsel for the applicant has relied upon paragraph 86 to 89 of the judgment in the case of Union of India and others Vs. Devendra Kumar Chaudhary 2018(9)ADJ 570 as to what is the evidentiary value of the expert opinion in a case.

16. It is lastly argued that since the trial court has committed patent illegality in decreeing the suit, therefore, the impugned order warrants interference by this court in exercise its revision power under Section 25 of The Provincial Small Cause Courts Act, 1887. In support of the aforesaid submission, he has placed reliance upon the following judgements:-

"(i) Ram Murti Devi Vs. Pushpa Devi & others, 2017 (15) S.C.C. 230

(ii) Rai Chand Jain Vs. Miss Chandrakanta Khosla, 1991 (1) S.C.C. 422.

(iv) Vinod Kumar Arora Vs. Surjeet Kaur, 1987 (3) S.C.C. 711".

17. Refuting the aforesaid submission, learned counsel for the respondent submitted that The trial court while rejecting the expert report of the applicant has given elaborate reasons which are supported by the record. It thereafter proceeded to examine the genuineness of the signature and thumb impression of the applicant on paper No. 21C/1, paper No. 21C/2 and paper No. 21C/3 and recorded a finding that the same bears signature and thumb impression of the applicant. Thus, he submits that the finding of the Trial Court being the finding of fact does not call for interference by this Court in the exercise of its revision jurisdiction.

18. He further submits that the applicant cannot impel the respondent to file evidence. If the applicant wanted the receipt book containing counterfoils of rent receipt paper no.21C/1 to paper no. 21C/3to be placed on record, he should have filed an application before the Court below in this regard. If the Trial Court on submission of such an application was satisfied that the production of receipt book is necessary to do justice, it would have passed necessary orders directing the respondent to produce the relevant receipt book, and if the order of the court was not complied with by the respondent, then only the adverse inference could be drawn against the respondent. In support of his contention, he has placed reliance upon Apex Court's judgement in the case of Union of India Vs. Ibrahim Uddin and another, 2012 (8) SCC 148. He has also placed reliance upon the judgement of Trilok Singh Chauhan Vs. Ram Lal (dead) through legal representatives and others, 2018 (2) SCC 566 on the point that if the finding is not perverse and based on the appreciation of evidence on record, the court should refrain from interfering with such findings in the exercise of its revision jurisdiction being the finding of fact.

19. I have considered rival submissions of the parties and perused the record.

20. It is not in dispute that the applicant is the tenant of the shop and there is a relationship of landlord and tenant between the respondent and applicant. The respondent alleges that once he sent a notice dated 29.5.2012 terminating the tenancy on the ground of a material alteration in the shop, the applicant approached him with a request not to take any legal action and offered rent of the shop at Rs. 5,000/- per month plus 31% tax, i.e. Rs. 6550/- per month. The respondent produced three original rent receipt dated 15.6.2012 (paper No. 21C/1), rent receipt dated 22.6.2012 (paper No. 21C/2) and rent receipt dated 23.10.2012 (paper No. 21C/3) to prove the rent of the shop agreed between the parties, which, according to him, was duly acknowledged by the applicant by putting his signature and thumb impression on the said receipts.

21. The applicant had denied any compromise between him and the respondent in which rent of the shop was enhanced to Rs. 5,000/- plus 31% taxes per month. He also denied the signature and thumb impression on the said receipt. He alleges that three receipts i.e. three original rent receipt dated 15.6.2012 (paper No. 21C/1), rent receipt dated 22.6.2012 (paper No. 21C/2) and rent receipt dated 23.10.2012 (paper No. 21C/3) are forged and fabricated receipts.

22. The controversy in the present case centres around the aforesaid three receipts since if the signature and thumb impression on the aforesaid three receipts are proved to be of the applicant, it is proved that the respondent has agreed to pay rent of the shop @ Rs.5,000/- plus 31% tax. The respondent filed a report of the handwriting expert and produced Expert Rajkumar Shrotriya to prove that the receipts bear signature and thumb impression of the applicant. The applicant also filed a report of the handwriting expert and produced Expert Satish Chandra Varshney to prove that the signature and thumb impression on aforesaid three receipts are not of the applicant and are forged.

23. The Trial Court while adverting to the issue No. 1 has considered various rent receipts filed by the applicant which demonstrated that the rent of the shop was Rs. 1200/- plus taxes. The trial court found that the rent receipt produced on record establishes payment of rent of the shop till 31.3.2011 as no rent receipt for the period after 31.3.2011 showing payment of rent was filed by the applicant. Consequently, it held that the applicant has paid the rent till 31.3.201.

24. The Trial Court, thereafter, proceeded to consider the expert report submitted by the applicant and the respondent. On close appraisal of the expert report and the statement of the expert of the respondent, the trial Court found the report of the expert of the respondent is correct and the signature and thumb impression on the three rent receipts was of the applicant. The Trial Court thereupon considered the expert report of the applicant and found that according to the expert report paper No. 102Ga, Q-2 to Q-6 (Thumb impression of the applicant on Paper no.21C/1 to 21C/3) and T-1 (Standard Thumb impression of the applicant) have the same characteristic, even then he has stated in his report that there are dissimilarities in Q-2 to Q-6 and T-1.

25. At this point, it would be pertinent to reproduce that portion of the report of the expert Satish Chandra Varshney where he has dealt with the thumb impression:

"*.....As regards the Thumb-impressions:

(a) Standard thumb-impressions mark T1 to T4 show on a preliminary examination that:

-In impression mark T1 only some of the ridges are visible in lower portion on the basis of these ridges the pattern of the impression may be judged that is of loop type. In this pattern the ridges are entering and flowing out after re-curving in the middle in the left side and makes the delta point on the right side. In impression mark T2 no one ridge or ridge characteristics is distinctly visible, so it is blurred and not comparable.

The impression mark T3-T4 are of Arch type. In this pattern the ridges are flowing from one side to other side without taking any turn in middle.

(b) Disputed thumb impression mark Q1 to Q6 in these impression:

-In impression mark Q1 no one ridge or ridge characteristics is distinctly visible, so it is blurred and not comparable.

-In impression mark Q2 to Q6 the flow of ridges is clear on the basis of these ridges the pattern of the impressions may be judged that is of loop type. In this pattern the ridges are entering and flowing out after re-curving in the middle in the left side and makes the delta point on the right side.

Further examination of these impressions Q2 to Q6 show that in Q3 the ridges are very much faint no one ridge characteristics is distinctly visible so it is not comparable.

(c) So I made a detailed analysis of ridge characteristics in disputed thumb-impressions Q2-Q4-Q5-Q6 and in standard impression T1 which is the main basis of comparison that shows basic dis-similarities in Q2-Q4-Q5-Q6 and in T1.....″

26. From the aforesaid underlined portion of paragraph 'a' and 'b' of the expert report extracted above, it is evident that the report of the Expert clearly suggest that Q2-Q4-Q5-Q6 and T1 have the same characteristic and yet in paragraph C in the conclusion part, the Expert records that there is dissimilarity in Q2-Q4-Q5-Q6 and T1. The aforesaid conclusion which on the face of record appears to be not correct led the Trial Court believe that the report of the Expert of the applicant is not credible.

27. The Trial Court thereafter proceeded under Section 73 of the Indian Evidence Act to verify the genuineness of signature and thumb impression on the receipts and other documents on record namely receipt No. 34C/29, 34C/31, 34C/32 submitted by the applicant, signature of the applicant on Vakalatnama paper No. 13-C and written statement. On examination of the admitted signature of the applicant, the Trial Court recorded a finding that the applicant is in the habit of making two kinds of signature 'in one kind he draws only one headline on all the three words of his signature and in other kind, he makes three different headlines one on every word of signature'. By recording the aforesaid finding, the Trial Court was of the view that the expert report submitted by Expert Satish Chandra Varshney is not correct and is not worthy of reliance. The Trial Court also noticed the fact that the applicant has deposited rent @ Rs. 5,000/- per month and taxes in the court during the pendency of the case which also amounts to an admission by the applicant with respect to the rate of rent.

28. This court in the case of Union of India and others (supra) has held that the expert report is only an opinion of an expert and such opinion cannot be treated to be a conclusive piece of evidence. It can also be inferred from the number of judgments of the apex court relied upon in the said judgment that an expert witness howsoever impartial he may wish to be, is likely to be unconsciously prejudiced in favour of the side which calls him. At this point, it would also be pertinent to notice the judgment of the Apex court in the case of Murari Lal 1980(1)SCC704 (referred in paragraph 88 of the judgment of Union of India) wherein it has been held that the courts are empowered under Section 73 of the Evidence Act to compare disputed writings with admitted or proved writings to ascertain whether a writing is that of the person by whom it purports to have been written. Paragraph 12 of the judgment of Murari Lal is reproduced hereunder:

"The argument that the Court should not venture to compare writings itself, as it would thereby assume to itself the role of an expert is entirely without force. Section 73 of the Evidence Act expressly enables the Court to compare disputed writings with admitted or proved writings to ascertain whether a writing is that of the person by whom it purports to have been written. If it is hazardous to do so, as sometimes said, we are afraid it is one of the hazards to which judge and litigant must expose themselves whenever it becomes necessary. There may be cases where both sides call experts and the voices of science are heard. There may be cases where neither side calls an expert, being ill able to afford him. In all such cases, it becomes the plain duty of the Court to compare the writings and come to its own conclusion. The duty cannot be avoided by recourse to the statement that the court is no expert. Where there are expert opinions, they will aid the Court. Where there is none, the Court will have to seek guidance from some authoritative textbook and the Courts own experience and knowledge. But discharge it must, its plain duty, with or without expert, with or without other evidence. We may mention that Shashi Kumar v. Subodh Kumar and Fakhruddin v. State of Madhya Pradesh were cases where the Court itself compared the writings."

29. Thus, from the judgment of the Apex Court in Murari Lal (Supra) it is crystal clear that the Court can in the interest of justice compare handwritings as it is empowered to do so under Section 73 of the Indian Evidence Act.

30. In the case in hand, the relevant extract of the report of expert Satish Chandra Varshney reproduced above was relied upon by the Trial Court to doubt the correctness of the expert report. Further, The trial court by invoking power under Section 73 of the Indian Evidence Act compared the signature of the applicant on the three rent receipts paper No. 21C/1, paper No. 21C/2, and paper No. 21C/3 with the signature of the applicant on receipt no. 34C/29, 34C/31, 34C/32, Vakalatnama and written statement of the applicant, and on verification, it found that the signature on three rent receipts matched with the signature of the applicant on the documents referred above filed by the applicant. Thus, it is evident that the trial court after evaluating the expert report and other evidence on record has given proper and credible reason to conclude that the report of expert Satish Chandra Varshney is not credible. Thus, the submission of counsel for the applicant that no reason has been given by the Trial Court in disbelieving the report of expert Satish Chandra Varshney is misconceived and not supported by the record.

31. Now coming to the submission of counsel for the applicant that the receipt book containing counterfoils of receipt paper no. 21C/1 to 21C/3 was not filed nor the aforesaid receipts bear a serial number. Therefore, it is a case where adverse inference should be drawn against the respondent that these receipts are manipulated and forged as the respondent had failed to produce the receipt book.

32. The Apex Court in the case of Union of India Vs. Ibrahim Uddin and another, 2012 (8) SCC 148 has held that merely withholding of documentary evidence by a party is not enough to draw an adverse inference against him. Paragraph Nos. 16, 17 and 24 of the judgment is extracted hereinbelow:-

"16. In Shri Srinivas Ramanuj Das v. Surjanarayan Das & Anr., AIR 1967 SC 256, this Court held that mere withholding of documentary evidence by a party is not enough to draw adverse inference against him. The other party must ask the party in possession of such evidence to produce the same, and in case the party in possession does not produce it, adverse inference may be drawn:

"It is true that the defendant-respondent also did not call upon the plaintiff-appellant to produce the documents whose existence was admitted by one or the other witness of the plaintiff and that therefore, strictly speaking, no inference adverse to the plaintiff can be drawn from his non-producing the list of documents. The Court may not be in a position to conclude from such omission that those documents would have directly established the case for the respondent. But it can take into consideration in weighing the evidence or any direct inferences from established facts that the documents might have favoured the respondent case."

17. In Ramrati Kuer v. Dwarika Prasad Singh & Ors., AIR 1967 SC 1134, this Court held:

"It is true that Dwarika Prasad Singh said that his father used to keep accounts. But no attempt was made on behalf of the appellant to ask the court to order Dwarika Prasad Singh to produce the accounts. An adverse inference could only have been drawn against the plaintiffs-respondents if the appellant had asked the court to order them to produce accounts and they had failed to produce them after admitting that Basekhi Singh used to keep accounts. But no such prayer was made to the court, and in the circumstances no adverse inference could be drawn from the non-production of accounts." (See also:Ravi Yashwant Bhoir v. District Collector, Raigad & Ors., AIR 2012 SC 1339).

24. Thus, in view of the above, the law on the issue can be summarised to the effect that, issue of drawing adverse inference is required to be decided by the court taking into consideration the pleadings of the parties and by deciding whether any document/evidence, withheld, has any relevance at all or omission of its production would directly establish the case of the other side. The court cannot loose sight of the fact that burden of proof is on the party which makes a factual averment. The court has to consider further as to whether the other side could file interrogatories or apply for inspection and production of the documents etc. as is required under Order XI CPC. Conduct and diligence of the other party is also of paramount importance. Presumption or adverse inference for non-production of evidence is always optional and a relevant factor to be considered in the background of facts involved in the case. Existence of some other circumstances may justify non-production of such documents on some reasonable grounds. In case one party has asked the court to direct the other side to produce the document and other side failed to comply with the court's order, the court may be justified in drawing the adverse inference. All the pros and cons must be examined before the adverse inference is drawn. Such presumption is permissible, if other larger evidence is shown to the contrary."

33. Counsel for the applicant could not demonstrate from the record that the applicant had filed an application demanding production of the receipt book. The applicant needed to file an application praying for a direction to the respondent to produce receipt book asserting that the production of the receipt book was necessary for the proper adjudication of the dispute so that the court could have examined whether the production of receipt book was essential for right decision of the case and give the necessary direction for production of the receipt book. Therefore, it is not a case where the trial court could draw an adverse inference. Thus, the submission of counsel for the applicant that an adverse inference should have been drawn against the respondent for not producing the receipt book is devoid of substance.

34. Counsel for the applicant has lastly argued that it is astonishing that the original of the aforesaid three rent receipts i.e. paper no.21C/1 to 21C/3 had been produced by the respondent whereas the original of the three rent receipts could have been produced only by the applicant to whom the said receipts are alleged to have been issued. Accordingly, he submits that the aforesaid fact demonstrates that the aforesaid receipts are forged and fabricated.

35. To the said submission, learned counsel for the respondent submitted that as the aforesaid contention has been advanced for the first time before this Court, therefore, the respondent has explained in paragraph No. 14 of the counter affidavit as to how these receipts have been filed. Paragraph No. 14 of the counter affidavit is extracted herein below:-

"14. That the contents of para 14 of the 'said affidavit' as stated are wrong and denied. It is stated that the plaintiff/opposite party filed counter foils of rent receipts duly signed and thumb marked by the defendant/revisionist. The rate of rent beside tax payable in relation to the shop in question @ Rs. 5,000/- per month plus Rs. 1550/- per month will be apparent from the counter foils. The plaintiff/opposite party stated that torn out part of the rent receipt is placed below the counter foil of the rent receipt and by inserting carbon paper in between the requisite details about payment of rent is mentioned therein and after removal of carbon paper, parties appended their signatures on the receipts i.e. counter foils in original as well as rent receipts carbon copy signed by them. It is stated that tenants used to pay the rent not only appended his signature but also his thumb impression on front and back side of the counter foils of the rent receipt. Thereafter carbon copy of rent receipt is handed over to the tenant concern. The counter foil remain with the plaintiff/opposite party, which were filed by him before the court below. From bare perusal of counter foils of rent receipts there is perforation on the right side of it which establishes that the same were counter foils of rent receipts retain by plaintiff/opposite party. In absence of cogent and valid reason to infer doubt about counter foils of those rent receipts remain in the custody of the plaintiff/landlord. Allegations to the contrary made in para under reply are without any basis. The plaintiff/opposite party has rightly filed those counter foils of the rent receipt which contain signatures and thumb impression of the defendant/revisionist. The defendant/revisionist with oblique motive and malafide reason has denied his liability to pay rent @ Rs. 5,000/- per month besides Rs. 1550/- P.M. towards taxes and his signatures and thumb impression on the counter foils of the rent receipts besides those counter foils are forged and fabricated. The facts contrary to this asserted by the defendant/revisionist in paragraph under reply are wrong and denied.

That the Rent Receipts filed by the Defendant/Revisionist in Lower Court are issued and acknowledge in same manner and style. The perforation are on left hand side by bare perusal, it can be confirmed."

36. Because of the reasons detailed in paragraph No. 14 of the counter affidavit, the court finds that the respondent has given a plausible explanation as to how the three rent receipts which are in fact counterfoils have been filed in original. Further, the record shows that the applicant has not raised aforesaid argument before the trial court and has raised it for the first time in revision, which cannot be permitted to be raised in the revision. Accordingly, this Court finds no substance in the argument of counsel for the applicant that the filing of the original receipt itself demonstrates that they are forged.

37. For the reasons given above, this Court finds that the finding recorded by the Trial Court is a finding of fact based upon proper appreciation of evidence and material on record and interference with the aforesaid finding is not warranted by this court in the exercise of power under Section 25 of the Provincial Small Causes Court Act in view of the judgment of the Apex Court in the case of Trilok Singh Chauhan (supra).

38. Since the judgment of the trial court is not perverse or based on a misreading of the evidence or against the record, therefore, the judgments of the Apex Court in cases, namely Ram Murti Devi (Supra), Rai Chandra Jain (Supra), Ram Das (Supra) and Vinod Kumar Arora (Supra) relied upon by the applicants on the point that the court can interfere with the judgment of the trial court on facts where judgment is based on a misreading of evidence are not applicable.

39. Consequently, the revision lacks merit and is accordingly, dismissed. Interim order stands vacated. There is no order as to the cost.

40. The office is directed to return the record of the court below forthwith without any delay.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Rajan Roy, J.)

1. These petitions have been filed by the wife for transfer of proceedings under Section 125 (3) Code of Criminal Procedure (hereinafter referred as Cr.P.C. 1973,) and Section 127 Cr.P.C bearing Case No. 119 of 2015, Smr. Durgawati Devi Vs. Muktinath Tiwari and Case No. 118 of 2015, Smt. Durgawati Devi Vs. Muktinath Tiwari respectively from the Principle Judge Family Court, Faizabad to the court of Principle Judge Family Court, Ambedkar Nagar.

2. During the Course of argument a question arose as to whether an application under Section 24 of the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908 (herein after referred as C.P.C.) would be maintainable for transfer of proceedings under Section 125 and 127 Cr.P.C. 1973, or not? This query had been put to the learned counsel for the applicant by the Court vide its order dated 07.02.2020.

3. When the matter was taken up for hearing, thereafter, learned counsel for the applicant relied upon a decision of the Supreme Court reported in (2004) 5 SCC 196; Vijay Kumar Prasad Vs. State of Bihar and others; wherein it had been held that proceedings under Section 125 Cr.P.C were of Civil nature. He contended that proceedings in question being of a civil nature, transfer application under Section 24 CPC would be maintainable before this Court. He also relied upon decision of a Co-ordinate Bench of this Court in the case of Mohammad Nadeem Vs. State of U.P. and other in Criminal Revision No. 98 of 2015 and connected matters wherein it had been held that judgments and orders passed by the Family Court would be subject to the remedy provided under Section 19 of the Family Courts Act, 1984 and not the remedy available under the Criminal Procedure Code, 1973 or the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908 and it will be deemed to be a Civil Court for the purpose Section 19 of the Act, 1984. Based on it he submitted that there is no difficulty in maintaining an application under Section 24 CPC for transfer of the proceedings pending before the Family Court, under Section 125 and 127 Cr.P.C. 1973, as it is deemed to be a Civil Court. Relying upon the same decision he contended that against an order passed by the Family court, a petition under Section 482 Cr.P.C would not be maintainable, as the Family Court is deemed to be a Civil Court and not a Criminal Court subordinate to High Court within meaning of 482 Cr.P.C. 1973, Therefore, according to him, for this reason also an application under Section 24 C.P.C would be maintainable.

4. The Family Courts Act, 1984 (herein after referred as Act, 1984) was enacted by the Parliament to provide for the establishments of Family Courts with a view to promote conciliation in, and secure speedy settlement of, disputes relating to marriage and family affairs and for matters connected therewith. For the purposes of the issue involved in this application Section 7 and 10 of the Act, 1984 are relevant as they deal with jurisdiction and procedure generally, respectively. Section 7 dealing with jurisdiction reads as under:-

" 7. Jurisdiction.-- (1) Subject to the other provisions of this Act, a Family Court shall--

(a) have and exercise all the jurisdiction exercisable by any district court or any subordinate civil court under any aw for the time being in force in respect of suits and proceedings of the nature referred to in the Explananation; and

(b) be deemed, for the purposes of exercising such jurisdiction under such law, to be a district court, as the case may be, such subordinate civil court for the area to which the jurisdictionof the Family Court extends.

Explanation.-- The suits and proceedings referred to in this sub-section are suits and proceedings of the following nature, namely:-

(a) a suit or proceeding between the parties to a marriage for a decree of nullity of marriage (declaring the marriage to be null and void or, as the case may be, annulling the marriage) or restitution of conjugal rights or judicial separation or dissolution of marriage;

(b) a suit or proceeding for a declaration as to the validity of a marriage or as to the matrimonial status of any person;

(c) a suit or proceeding between the parties to a marriage with respect to the property of the parties or of either of them;

(d) a suit of proceeding for an order or injunction in circumstances arising out of a mutual relationship;

(e) a suit of proceeding for a declaration as to the legitimacy of any person;

(f) a suit or proceeding for maintenance;

(g) a suit of proceeding in relation to the guardianship of the person or the custody of, or access to, any minor.

(2) Subject to the other provisions of this Act, a Family Court shall also have and exercise--

(a) the Jurisdiction exercisable by a Magistrate of the first class under Chapter IX (relating to order for maintenance of wife, children and parents) of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 (2 of 1974); and

(b) such other jurisdiction as may be conferred on it by any other enactment.

Section 10 dealing with procedure generally to be followed in the Family Courts reads as under:-

" 10. Procedure generally.-- (1) Subject to the other provisions of this Act and the rules, the provisions of the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908 (5 of 1908) and of any other law for the time being in force shall apply to the suits and proceedings (other than the proceedings under Chapter IX of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973) (2 of 1974), before a Family Court and for the purposes of the said provisions of the Code, Family Court shall be deemed to be a civil court and shall have all the powers of such Court.

(2) Subject to the other provisions of this Act and the rules, the provisions of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 (2 of 1974) or the rules made thereunder, shall apply to the proceedings under Chapter IX of that Code before a Family Court.

(3) Nothing in sub-section (1) or sub-section (2) shall prevent a Family Court from laying down its own procedure with a view to arrive at a settlement in respect of the subject-matter of the suit or proceedings or at the truth of the facts alleged by the one Party and denied by the other."

5. On a bare perusal of Section 7(1) the Court finds that the Family Court, subject to other provisions of the said Act, has been vested with jurisdiction exercisable by any District Court or any Sub-ordinate Civil Court under any law for the time being in force in respect of suits and proceedings of the nature referred to in the explanation and for this purpose it is deemed to be a District Court or as the case may be such sub-ordinate Civil Court for the area to which the jurisdiction of the Family Court extends. Clause (a) to (g) mentions about the suits and proceedings referred in Section 7(1)(a). Clause (f) of the explanation to Section 7(1) refers to suit or proceeding for maintenance. The suit or proceeding for maintenance referred in Clause (f) however is distinct from the proceedings for maintenance under Section 125 and 127 of Chapter IX Cr.P.C. 1973, This is evident from the fact that the latter proceedings are separately dealt with and are separately mentioned in Sub-section 2 of Section 7. Therefore, reference to suit or proceedings for maintenance in Clause (f) of the explanation to Section 7 (1) appears to be a reference to such proceedings under the Hindu Adoption and Maintenance Act, 1956 or the Hindu Marriage Act, 1955. If the said provision included the proceedings for maintenance under Section 125 and 127 then the legislature would not have mentioned the latter proceedings separately under Sub-section 2 of Section 7.

6. Now as per Sub-section 2, a Family Court, subject to other provisions of the Act, shall have and exercise also as jurisdiction exercisable by the Magistrate of first class under Chapter IX (relating to order for maintenance of wife children and parents of the Code of Criminal Procedure,1973) and such other jurisdiction as may be conferred on it by any other mention. The distinction between the two jurisdictions, one mentioned in Section 7(1) and the other in Sub-section 2 of Section 7, is thus clear from the scheme of the Act itself. Now the question is as to what is the procedure to be applied to these two jurisdiction and to the proceedings arising there from especially in the context of transfer of proceedings under Section 125 and 127 Cr.P.C. 1973 pending before the Family Court i.e. whether an application under Section 24 CPC will apply or an application under Section 407 Cr.P.C. will apply or for that matter any other remedy would be available in this regard. In this context when the Court peruses Section 10, which describes the procedure generally to be followed by the Family Court, it is revealed that Sub-section 1 thereof, which is subject to other provisions of the Act and the Rules, says that the provisions of the C.P.C. 1908 and of any other law for time being in force shall apply to the suits and proceedings (other than the proceedings under Chapter IX of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973), before a Family Court, and for the purposes of application of the C.P.C., a Family Court shall be deemed to be a Civil Court and shall have all the powers of such Court. Now the said provision itself makes it very clear that the C.P.C. applies to suits and proceedings other than the proceedings under Chapter IX of the Cr.P.C. Thus Cr.P.C,1973 is excluded from application to suits and proceedings referred in Section 10(1) which is obviously a reference to the suits and proceedings mentioned in Section 7(1) read with clause (a) to (g) of the explanation to it.

7. Sub-section 2 of Section 10, which is again subject to the other provisions of the Act and the Rules, says that the provisions of the Cr.P.C. or the rules made thereunder, shall apply to the proceedings under Chapter IX Cr.P.C before a Family Court. Thus Cr.P.C applies to proceedings under Chapter IX. It being so, a logical corollary of it is that, for the transfer of any proceedings under Section 125 and 127 Cr.P.C. 1973, which fall under Chapter IX Cr.P.C. 1973,, the Cr.P.C, 1973 applies. Section 407 Cr.P.C. 1973, contains a provision which empowers the High Court to transfer any particular case from a Criminal Court subordinate to it its authority to any other criminal Court of equal or superior jurisdiction. The High Court may either act either on the report of the lower Court or on the application of the party interested or on its own initiative. In the instant case a transfer is being sought from the Family Court, Faizabad to the Court of Principle Judge Family Court, Ambedkar Nagar that is outside the sessions division have an application will lie before the High Court.

8. Now from the bare perusal of Section 10 (1), it is evident that the Family Court is deemed to be a Civil Court for the purposes of suits and proceedings governed by the C.P.C and not for the purposes of proceedings under Chapter IX of the Cr.P.C, as has already been discussed herein above. So far as proceedings under Chapter IX of the Cr.P.C. are concerned, the Family Court exercises jurisdiction exercisable by the Magistrate of the first class under the Code of Criminal Procedure, therefore, this Court is of the view that Section 407 would clearly apply for transfer of proceedings under Section 125 and 127 Cr.P.C. 1973, as they are contained in Chapter IX, Cr.P.C. 1973.

9. The contention of the learned counsel for the petitioner that application under Section 24 C.P.C would be maintainable in the facts and circumstances of the case is thus unacceptable.

10. The fact that the proceedings under Section 125 Cr.P.C have been held by the Supreme Court to be essentially of a Civil nature does not make much of a difference so far as applicability of the provisions of CPC or Cr.P.C to such proceedings are concerned as this is an aspect which is governed by the provisions contained in the Act, 1984 itself as already discussed. As per Sub-section 2 of Section 10 in the Code of Criminal Procedure applies to proceedings under Section 125 and 127 Cr.P.C. The Counsel could not point out any other provisions in the Act or the Rules, in the Act, 1984 or the rules made thereunder if any, which could persuade the Court to take any other view of the matter.

11. Even as per the judgment in Mohammad Nadeem (Supra) provisions of CPC have not been made applicable to proceedings under Chapter IX and there is nothing therein which could persuade this Court to hold otherwise. The ratio of the said judgment on the issue as to whether an appeal would lie under Section 19 of the Act, 1984 or remedy under the provisions of any other law for the time being in force like Cr.P.C., CPC and Hindu Marriage Act is available, does not have any bearing so far as the question involved in this application is concerned. The question here is as to whether, for transfer of proceedings under Section 125 and 127, C.P.C will apply or Cr.P.C will apply. From a bare perusal of Sub-section 2 of Section 10, as already discussed, and for the reasons already given in the Cr.P.C. which applies and it contains a provision for transfer of such proceedings under Section 407 thereof.

12. In the aforesaid case of Nadeem as there was a specific remedy against the orders of the Family Court by way of an appeal under Section 19 (1) of the Act, 1984, therefore, the provisions of the CPC and the Cr.P.C were held to be inapplicable but the said reasoning does not apply in this case in view of the unambiguous provision of the Act, 1984 itself in this regard, as noted hereinabove, which permits the applicability of Cr.P.C. to proceedings under Chapter IX Cr.P.C. This is also the view taken by a co-ordinate Bench of this Court in the Case of Durga Prasad Vs. Family Judge, Bareilly, 98 (33) ALR 537.

13. In view of the aforesaid discussion, it is not necessary to go into the question as to whether remedy will lie under Article 227 of the Constitution of India as suggested by some of the learned Counsels, as this would be the case only if there was no remedy available in the Cr.P.C. 1973.

14. In view of the above these applications/petitions under Section 24 C.P.C are not maintainable and are accordingly dismissed but with liberty to seek other appropriate remedy available in law and without prejudice to the same.

Special Appeal Defective No. 107 of 2019

State Bank of India, Bombay & Ors. ...Appellants
Versus
S.B. Singh ...Respondent

Counsel for the Appellants:
Sudeep Seth, Alok Saxena

Counsel for the Respondents:
Dharmendra Kumar Dixit

A. Service Law – Departmental proceedings – Criminal proceedings - Dismissal – Indian Penal Code, 1860: Sections 419, 420, 467, 468 - There is no violation of principle of natural justice in this case. A bank employee who had refused to avail of the opportunities provided to him in a disciplinary proceeding of defending himself against the charges of misconduct involving his integrity and dishonesty, cannot be permitted to complain later that he had been denied a reasonable opportunity of defending himself of the charges levelled against him and the disciplinary proceeding conducted against him had resulted in violation of principles of natural justice. (Para 22)

B. Words & Phrases – "honourable acquittal" - It is difficult to define precisely what is meant by the expression "honourably acquitted". When the accused is acquitted after full consideration of prosecution evidence and that the prosecution had miserably failed to prove the charges levelled against the accused, it can possibly be said that the accused was honourably acquitted. (Para 27)

C. Mere acquittal of an employee by a criminal court has no impact on the disciplinary proceedings initiated by the Department (Para 28, 40) - Acquittal in a criminal case by itself cannot be a ground for interfering with an order of punishment imposed by the disciplinary authority. Order of dismissal can be passed even if the delinquent officer had been acquitted of the criminal charge. (Para 30)

In the absence of any provision in the service rules for reinstatement, if an employee is not honourably acquitted by a criminal court, no right is conferred on the employee to claim any benefit including reinstatement. Reason is that the standard of proof required for holding a person guilty by a criminal Court and the enquiry conducted by way of disciplinary proceedings is entirely different. In a criminal case, the onus of establishing the guilt of the accused is on the prosecution and if it fails to establish the guilt beyond reasonable doubt, the accused is assumed to be innocent. It is settled law that the strict burden of proof required to establish guilt in a criminal Court is not required in a disciplinary proceedings and preponderance of probabilities is sufficient. Appeal filed for rectification of order and judgment dated 06.12.2018, passed by Single Judge in Writ Petition No. 2844 (SS) of 2004

(Delivered by Hon'ble Chandra Dhari Singh, J.)

1. The instant appeal has been filed for correctness of order judgment and order dated 06.12.2018 passed by learned Single Judge in Writ Petition No.2844 (SS) of 2004 (S.B. Singh vs. State Bank of India and Ors.).

2. Brief facts of the case are as follows:

(i) Show-cause notice dated 22.05.2001 was issued by the appellant/Bank to the respondent/writ petitioner seeking explanation of fraudulent withdrawal aggregated of Rs.54,100/- on various dates from the saving bank accounts of Shri V.K. Jaiswal and Shri Udham Singh during his posting as Passing Officer at Phulpur, Azamgarh Branch of the Bank from 22.08.1996 to 15.06.2000. The respondent/writ petitioner submitted his reply on 22.05.2001.

(ii) The Bank initiated departmental proceedings by issuing charge-sheet to the respondent/writ petitioner by charging him for making fraudulent withdrawal amounting to Rs.54,100/- from saving bank accounts of Shri V.K. Jaiswal and Shri Udham Singh thereby exposing the Bank to substantial loss. The respondent/writ petitioner did not submit any written statement in defence. Shri R.K. Srivastava was appointed as enquiry officer by the appointing authority to inquire the charges levelled against the respondent/writ petitioner. The Bank also lodged an FIR against the respondent/writ petitioner bearing Crime No.23 of 2002 for committing offence under Sections 419, 420, 467 & 468 IPC on 22.02.2002 at P.S. Phulpur, District Azamgarh.

(iii) On 23.04.2003 the enquiry officer submitted his report holding the allegation no.1 partly proved. However, Deputy General Manager (Disciplinary Authority) disagreed and tentatively found the charge to be fully proved. The disciplinary authority sought representation of the respondent/writ petitioner on findings of the enquiry officer. On 06.06.2003, the respondent/writ petitioner submitted a representation. The disciplinary authority imposed the punishment of dismissal from service on 17.11.2003. Against punishment order dated 17.11.2003, the respondent/writ petitioner submitted departmental appeal to the Chief General Manager (Appellate Authority) on 06.01.2004. Vide order dated 05.04.2004, the appellate authority dismissed the departmental appeal and found the penalty commensurate with the lapses held proved against the respondent/writ petitioner. The respondent/writ petitioner preferred a petition bearing Writ Petition No.2844 (SS) of 2004, impugning the order of punishment dated 17.11.2003 and order of dismissal of departmental appeal dated 05.04.2004.

(iv) Vide order dated 07.06.2008, the Chief Judicial Magistrate, Azamgarh convicted the respondent/writ petitioner for offence punishable under Sections 419, 420, 467 & 468 IPC in Criminal Case No.3995 of 2006 (State of U.P. vs. S.B. Singh). Against the said order, the respondent/writ petitioner preferred a criminal appeal bearing No.27 of 2008 before Additional Sessions Judge, Azamgarh. The said criminal appeal was allowed by the appellate Court vide order dated 24.05.2010 and the respondent/writ petitioner was acquitted by granting benefit of doubt.

(v) After the order of the criminal appeal, the respondent/writ petitioner amended Writ Petition No.2844 (SS) of 2004 by bringing subsequent development on record. Vide impugned order dated 06.12.2018, learned Single Judge allowed the writ petition and quashed order of punishment dated 17.11.2003 and order of appellate authority dated 05.04.2004 with direction to the appellant/Bank to treat the respondent/writ petitioner in service w.e.f the date of dismissal order dated 17.11.2003 till the date of his superannuation i.e. 31.07.2016 and to provide him all consequential service benefits and the post retiral benefits.

3. The learned counsel appearing for the appellant has submitted that judgment and order dated 06.12.2018 (supra) passed by learned Single Judge is erroneous in law as well as on facts. The learned Single Judge erroneously presumed and proceeded in the entire judgment on the premise that the respondent/writ petitioner was "honourably' acquitted in the criminal proceedings, although he was acquitted on benefit of doubt.

4. The learned counsel has further submitted that it is settled law that the departmental enquiry is independent of criminal proceedings. So, acquittal in a criminal court is of no help and even if, a person stands acquitted by a criminal court, departmental enquiry can be held, since standard of proof required in a departmental enquiry and in a criminal case are different; In criminal case, standard of proof is required beyond reasonable doubt while in departmental enquiry, it is proof on preponderance of probabilities. Judgment of acquittal passed in favour of an employee by giving benefit of doubt per se would not be binding upon the employer. To support his contention learned counsel for the appellant has relied on [General Manager (Operations), State Bank of India vs. R Periyasamy, reported in 2015 (3) SCC 101: Deputy Inspector General of Police Vs S.Samuthiram, reported in 2013 (1) SCC 598: Manager, Reserve Bank of India Vs S. Mani, reported in 2005 (5) SCC 100].

5. It is further submitted that learned Single Judge has erroneously held that the respondent/writ petitioner had not been afforded ample opportunity of hearing in the departmental enquiry on the premise that the account holders Shri Udham Singh and Shri V.K. Jaiswal had not been produced as witnesses in the departmental enquiry. The learned Single Judge has also failed to consider and appreciate that reasonable opportunity of defence was provided to the respondent/writ petitioner in the departmental enquiry but the respondent/writ petitioner neither filed reply to the charge-sheet nor adduced oral evidence by producing Shri Udham Singh and Shri V.K. Jaiswal (account holders) as defence witnesses and did not cross examine the management witnesses Shri Ram Aadhar Tiwari and Shri Shyam Murari Mishra and also not engaged any defence representative nor submitted defence brief to the enquiry Officer.

6. It is argued that the learned Single Judge has failed to consider and appreciate that sufficiency of evidence is not a ground for judicial review in departmental proceedings; only total absence of evidence and non-compliance of principles of natural justice causing some real prejudice to the delinquent officer are the grounds for judicial review.

7. It is also submitted that the learned Single Judge also failed to consider and appreciate that an employee of Bank is required to take all possible steps to protect interest of the Bank and discharge his duties with utmost integrity, honesty devotion and diligence and do nothing unbecoming of an officer of a Bank. The respondent/writ petitioner acted in breach of Bank's rules and had lost confidence with the Bank and it was a futile exercise of judicial review to embark upon the decision of disciplinary authority imposing punishment, preceded by an enquiry.

8. It is further submitted that the learned Single Judge had erroneously held that the appellate authority has rejected the appeal without considering factual legal matrix of the issue in question and the appellate order did not reflect application of mind. It is submitted that in view of the above, the impugned judgment of the learned Single Judge being erroneous in law as well as on facts and is liable to be set aside.

9. Per contra, learned counsel for the respondent/writ petitioner has vehemently opposed the submissions advanced by learned counsel for the appellant/respondent by submitting that there is no infirmity in the impugned order/judgment passed by learned Single Judge. He has submitted that with respect to alleged misconduct during the period from 04.01.1997 to 21.07.1997, charges were issued by the Deputy General Manager, State Bank of India, Zonal Office, Region - II, Gorakhpur i.e. Disciplinary Authority through charge-sheet dated 08.11.2001 after more than four years without explaining the delay in issuing the said charge-sheet. It is submitted that the enquiry officer conducted preliminary hearing on 25.01.2002 and regular hearing on 20.08.2002 meaning thereby only two days. On 20.08.2002, two management witnesses namely Shri Ram Adhar Tiwar and Shri Shyam Murari Misra deposed before the enquiry officer and gave statement contrary to Rule 24 of Master Circular (Saving Bank Account). The enquiry officer submitted an enquiry report dated 23.04.2003 vide which Charge No.1 was found partly proved. The disciplinary authority recorded disagreement note dated 20.05.2003 on the finding of the enquiry officer without disclosing any reasons.

10. The learned counsel has further submitted that the respondent/writ petitioner requested to reopen the enquiry for giving a proper opportunity to the respondent/writ petitioner but the same was not considered by the concerned authority. It is submitted that it is the appointing authority and not the disciplinary authority who gave note dated 20.05.2003 on the basis of which the respondent/writ petitioner was dismissed from service vide order dated 17.11.2003.

11. The learned counsel for the respondent/writ petitioner has submitted that bare perusal of enquiry report dated 23.04.2003, disciplinary note dated 20.05.2003 and dismissal order dated 17.11.2003 would reveal that the same suffer from improper appreciation of fact and non-application of mind to the facts and circumstances of the case as the materials on record do not establish/prove the allegations against the respondent/writ petitioner.

12. It is further submitted that the departmental appeal which was preferred by the respondent/writ petitioner was rejected by the appellate authority vide order dated 05.04.2004 without appreciation of facts and without applying mind to the issues and point raised by the respondent/writ petitioner, therefore, the said order passed in the departmental appeal is bad in law and liable to be set aside.

13. The learned counsel has submitted that in the statement made before the criminal Court during the criminal proceedings, Shri Udham Singh, account holder, accepted his signatures on withdrawal form and acknowledged the receipt of the payment. It is further submitted that Shri Udham Singh was produced as prosecution witness and he categorically stated that no fraud was made in his account and no amount was withdrawn by anyone. It is submitted that since criminal proceedings and departmental proceedings were on the same set of facts, therefore, when the respondent/writ petitioner has been acquitted in criminal proceedings "honourably', then he cannot be held guilty in the departmental enquiry.

14. The learned counsel vehemently argued that the judgment of the criminal Court acquitting the respondent/writ petitioner has to be construed as an "honourable' acquittal and that the respondent/writ petitioner cannot be proceeded with on the same set of facts on which he was acquitted by a criminal Court.

15. We have heard learned counsel for the parties and perused the record. We may first deal with the departmental proceedings initiated against the respondent/writ petitioner.

Departmental Proceedings:-

16. We may indicate that the following were the charges levelled against the respondent/writ petitioner in the departmental proceedings on the basis of which charge-sheet dated 08.11.2001 was served on the respondent/writ petitioner:

"1. You fraudulently obtained payments through withdrawal forms

Rs.49,000/- on various occasions from Savings Bank Account of Shri Vinod Kumar Jiswal (S.B. A/c No.15508) and Rs.5,100/- on two occasions from Savings Bank Account of Sri Udham Singh (S.B. A/c No.3135).

All the said withdrawals were posted and passed by you. The payment of withdrawals were received by you. The payment of withdrawals were received from the teller counter/paying cashier."

17. The disciplinary authority vide letter dated 08.11.2001 had required the respondent/writ petitioner to submit statement of defence in response to the charge-sheet, in terms of service rules, within 10 days of receipt of the said letter. Similarly, vide letter dated 11.10.2002, the disciplinary authority required the respondent/writ petitioner to submit defence brief by 27.10.2002 but the respondent/writ petitioner did not submit the same. The respondent/writ petitioner had also chosen not to cross-examine the witnesses in the departmental proceedings, inspite of being afforded the said opportunity. The respondent/writ petitioner himself expressed his desire to engage defence representative and sought permission to advise his name but he did not do so. The respondent/writ petitioner wrote a letter dated 28.11.2002 and sought permission for defence representative and also sought for reopening of the departmental enquiry. After giving ample opportunity to the respondent/writ petitioner, the disciplinary authority passed order dated 17.11.2003 by imposing penalty of dismissal from service.

18. As per the documentary evidence, the respondent/writ petitioner had withdrawn money from one Shri Udham Singh's Account. The account holder, Shri Udham Singh, wrote letter dated 20.08.1997 to the Bank authorities wherein he denied having withdrawn money from his account. He clearly stated in the said letter that neither does the withdrawal form bear his signatures nor was withdrawn money on the concerned dates. The charge relating to withdrawals of money by the respondent/writ petitioner from the account of Shri V.K. Jaiswal was also duly proved during the enquiry proceedings. The signatures borne on the withdrawal forms do not tally with the signature on the account opening form. Hence, it is evident that the said account holders did not withdraw money from their account.

19. It would be pertinent to sum up the reasons why the Presenting Officer (Shri V.K. Srivastava) in his brief concluded that the withdrawals by respondent/writ petitioner from accounts of the two account holders stood proved. The reasons are as follows:-

"i) Perusal of Cash Payment Register of relevant dates shows name of the respondent/writ petitioner as being the person who received payments from the said account holders;

ii) Deposition during the course of enquiry by the payment cashiers who worked at Cash Counter during the relevant time, namely Ram Adhar Tiwari and Shyam Murari Verma who examined themselves as PW1 and PW2 respectively.

iii) The fact that the respondent/writ petitioner did not cross examine the payment cashiers PW1 and PW 2.

iv) The account holders Shri Vinod Kumar Jaiswal vide letters dated 14.06.2000 and 24.11.2000 and Shri Udham Singh vide letter dated 26.08.2007, denied having received payments or withdrawn money form their accounts on the alleged dates.

v) Amount had been debited to the account stood confirmed from Relative Day Book, Day Book Summary and Saving Bank Account, General Ledger Head.

vi) Petitioner produced letter dated 03.06.2000 which has no relation with charge leveled against him.

20. On 23.04.2003, the enquiry officer submitted enquiry report partly proving the sole charge except the allegation that the respondent/writ petitioner has posted 14 withdrawals. Vide order dated 20.05.2003, Deputy General Manager (Disciplinary Authority) disagreed with the enquiry report dated 23.04.2003 and fully proved the sole charge. Deputy General Manager (Disciplinary Authority) sent a letter dated 20.05.2003 to the respondent/writ petitioner alongwith enquiry report dated 23.04.2003 and disagreement note dated 20.05.2003 for representation. The respondent/writ petitioner submitted reply dated 06.06.2003 and requested for reopening the enquiry as was earlier requested through letter dated 28.11.2002. Vide order dated 17.11.2003 passed by General Manager (Appointing Authority), the respondent/writ petitioner was dismissed from service as the charges levelled against the respondent/writ petitioner was duly proved.

21. A departmental appeal was filed against order dated 17.11.2003 passed by the appellate authority i.e. General Manager on 06.01.2004. The said appeal was also rejected by the appellate authority on 05.04.2004.

22. In view of the facts as discussed above, it is evident that the respondent/writ petitioner did not participate in the departmental enquiry and he also did not submit his reply/written submission to the enquiring officer. There is no violation of principle of natural justice in this case. The records of the disciplinary proceedings show that the respondent had avoided filing of the written explanation for the charges of misconduct levelled against him and also had for no valid reason refused to co-operate in the disciplinary proceedings. A bank employee who had refused to avail of the opportunities provided to him in a disciplinary proceeding of defending himself against the charges of misconduct involving his integrity and dishonesty, cannot be permitted to complain later that he had been denied a reasonable opportunity of defending himself of the charges levelled against him and the disciplinary proceeding conducted against him had resulted in violation of principles of natural justice.

Criminal Proceedings:-

23. We have indicated in the above-mentioned paragraphs that a criminal case was also registered against the respondent/writ petitioner being Crime No.23 of 2002, under Sections 419, 420, 467 & 468 IPC at Police Station Pulpur, District Azamgarh by one Shri Manoj Kumar Das, the then Manager, State Bank of India, Branch Pulpur, District Azamgarh against unknown persons with respect to same 14 withdrawal forms amounting to Rs.54,100/-.

24. After completion of investigation, the investigating agency filed a charge-sheet before the Court of Chief Judicial Magistrate, Azamgarh. After filing the charge-sheet the case was registered as Criminal Case No.3995 of 2006 (State of U.P. vs. S.B. Singh). The respondent/writ petitioner was convicted for offence punishable under Section 419, 420, 467 & 468 IPC vide order dated 07.06.2008 passed by Chief Judicial Magistrate, Azamgarh.

25. Against order dated 07.06.2008 (supra), the respondent/writ petitioner filed a criminal appeal bearing no.27 of 2008 before Additional Sessions Judge, Court No.1, Azamgarh. Vide order dated 24.05.2010, the Additional Sessions Judge, Court No.1, Azamgarh acquitted the respondent/writ petitioner from all the charges levelled against him on the ground that the prosecution has failed to prove his case beyond reasonable doubt. Benefit of doubt was given to the respondent/writ petitioner by the Additional Sessions Judge while acquitting him. Therefore, it is crystal clear that he was convicted by Chief Judicial Magistrate, Azamgarh vide order dated 07.06.2008 (supra), however, was acquitted subsequently by giving benefit of doubt vide order dated 24.05.2020 (supra). In such circumstances, acquittal of the respondent/writ petitioner cannot be said as "honourable acquittal'.

26. We may indicate that before order of acquittal dated 24.05.2010 (supra), the departmental enquiry was concluded and the respondent/writ petitioner was dismissed from service on 17.11.2003. Now the question is when the departmental enquiry has been concluded resulting in dismissal of the delinquent from service, whether the subsequent finding recorded by the criminal court acquitting the respondent/delinquent will have any effect on the departmental proceedings?

27. The meaning of the expression "honourable acquittal" came up for consideration before the Hon'ble Supreme Court in RBI v. Bhopal Singh Panchal - (1994) 1 SCC 541. In that case, the Hon'ble Supreme Court has considered the impact of Regulation 46(4) dealing with honourable acquittal by a criminal court on the disciplinary proceedings. In that context, the Hon'ble Supreme Court held that the mere acquittal does not entitle an employee to reinstatement in service, the acquittal, it was held, has to be honourable. The expressions "honourable acquittal", "acquitted of blame", "fully exonerated" are unknown to the Code of Criminal Procedure or the Penal Code, which are coined by judicial pronouncements. It is difficult to define precisely what is meant by the expression "honourably acquitted". When the accused is acquitted after full consideration of prosecution evidence and that the prosecution had miserably failed to prove the charges levelled against the accused, it can possibly be said that the accused was honourably acquitted.

28. In R.P. Kapur v. Union of India -AIR 1964 SC 787, the Hon'ble Supreme Court has held that even in the case of acquittal, departmental proceedings may follow where the acquittal is other than honourable. In State of Assam v. Raghava Rajgopalachari -1972 SLR 44 (SC), the Hon'ble Supreme Court quoted with approval the views expressed by Lord

Williams, J. in Robert Stuart Wauchope v. Emperor [ILR (1934) 61 Cal 168] which is as follows: (Raghava case [1972 SLR 44 (SC)] , SLR p. 47, para 8)

"8. ... "The expression "honourably acquitted" is one which is unknown to courts of justice. Apparently it is a form of order used in courts martial and other extrajudicial tribunals. We said in our judgment that we accepted the explanation given by the appellant, believed it to be true and considered that it ought to have been accepted by the government authorities and by the Magistrate. Further, we decided that the appellant had not misappropriated the monies referred to in the charge. It is thus clear that the effect of our judgment was that the appellant was acquitted as fully and completely as it was possible for him to be acquitted. Presumably, this is equivalent to what government authorities term "honourably acquitted".'" (Robert Stuart case [ILR (1934) 61 Cal 168], ILR pp. 188-89)

29. Contention of the respondent/writ petitioner is that since the criminal proceedings and departmental proceedings were on the same set of facts and when the respondent/writ petitioner was acquitted in criminal proceedings honourably, then he should be reinstated in service.

30. The Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Southern Railway Officers Assn. v. Union of India - (2009) 9 SCC 24 has held that acquittal in a criminal case by itself cannot be a ground for interfering with an order of punishment imposed by the disciplinary authority. The Court reiterated that the order of dismissal can be passed even if the delinquent officer had been acquitted of the criminal charge.

31. In State Bank of Hyderabad v. P. Kata Rao - (2008) 15 SCC 657, the Hon'ble Supreme Court has held that there cannot be any doubt whatsoever that the jurisdiction of the superior Courts in interfering with the finding of fact arrived at by the enquiring officer is limited and that the High Court would also ordinarily not interfere with the quantum of punishment and there cannot be any doubt or dispute that only because the delinquent employee who was also facing a criminal charge stands acquitted, the same, by itself, would not debar the disciplinary authority in initiating a fresh departmental proceeding and/or where the departmental proceedings had already been initiated, to continue therewith. The Hon'ble Supreme Court has further held as follows in Para - 20:

"20. The legal principle enunciated to the effect that on the same set of facts the delinquent shall not be proceeded in a departmental proceedings and in a criminal case simultaneously, has, however, been deviated from. The dicta of this Court in M. Paul Anthony v. Bharat Gold Mines Ltd. - (1999) 3 SCC 679 : 1999 SCC (L&S) 810 however, remains unshaken although the applicability thereof had been found to be dependent on the fact situation obtaining in each case."

32. In the case of Karnataka SRTC v. M.G. Vittal Rao - (2012) 1 SCC 442, the Hon'ble Supreme Court after a detailed survey of various judgments on the issue with regard to the effect of criminal proceedings on the departmental enquiry, held that the disciplinary authority imposing the punishment of dismissal from service cannot be held to be disproportionate or non-commensurate to the delinquency.

33. The scope of departmental inquiry and criminal cases have been considered by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in number of cases. The said issue is no longer res integra. In B.C. Chaturvedi v. Union of India - (1995) 6 SCC 749, the Supreme Court has held as under:

"12. Judicial review is not an appeal from a decision but a review of the manner in which the decision is made. Power of judicial review is meant to ensure that the individual receives fair treatment and not to ensure that the conclusion which the authority reaches is necessarily correct in the eye of the Court. When an inquiry is conducted on charges of misconduct by a public servant, the Court/Tribunal is concerned to determine whether the inquiry was held by a competent officer or whether rules of natural justice are complied with. Whether the findings or conclusions are based on some evidence, the authority entrusted with the power to hold inquiry has jurisdiction, power and authority to reach a finding of fact or conclusion. But that finding must be based on some evidence. Neither the technical rules of Evidence Act nor of proof of fact or evidence as defined therein, apply to disciplinary proceeding. When the authority accepts that evidence and conclusion receives support therefrom, the disciplinary authority is entitled to hold that the delinquent officer is guilty of the charge. The Court/Tribunal in its power of judicial review does not act as appellate authority to reappreciate the evidence and to arrive at its own independent findings on the evidence. The Court/Tribunal may interfere where the authority held the proceedings against the delinquent officer in a manner inconsistent with the rules of natural justice or in violation of statutory rules prescribing the mode of inquiry or where the conclusion or finding reached by the disciplinary authority is based on no eviden criminal appeal ce. If the conclusion or finding be such as no reasonable person would have ever reached, the Court/Tribunal may interfere with the conclusion or the finding, and mould the relief so as to make it appropriate to the facts of each case."

34. In Bank of India v. Degala Suryanarayan - (1999) 5 SCC 762, it is held by the Hon'ble Supreme Court as under:

"11. Strict rules of evidence are not applicable to departmental enquiry proceedings. The only requirement of law is that the allegation against the delinquent officer must be established by such evidence acting upon which a reasonable person acting reasonably and with objectivity may arrive at a finding upholding the gravamen of the charge against the delinquent officer. Mere conjecture or surmises cannot sustain the finding of guilt even in departmental enquiry proceedings. The Court exercising the jurisdiction of judicial review would not interfere with the findings of fact arrived at in the departmental enquiry proceedings excepting in a case of mala fides or perversity i.e. where there is no evidence to support a finding or where a finding is such that no man acting reasonably and with objectivity could have arrived at that finding. The Court cannot embark upon reappreciating the evidence or weighing the same like an appellate authority. So long as there is some evidence to support the conclusion arrived at by the departmental authority, the same has to be sustained. In Union of India v. H.C. Goel, the Constitution Bench has held:

The High Court can and must enquire whether there is am evidence at all in support of the impugned conclusion. In other words, if the whole of the evidence led in the enquiry is accepted as true does the conclusion follow that the charge in question is proved asainst the respondent? This approach will avoid weighing the evidence. It will take the evidence as it stands and only examine whether on that evidence legally the impugned conclusion follows or not."

35. In Union of India v. Sardar Bahadur - (1972) 4 SCC 618, the Supreme Court has held as under:

"15. A finding cannot be characterized as perverse or unsupported by any relevant materials if it is a reasonable inference from proved facts. Now what are the proved facts : Nand Kumar as representative of Ram Sarup Mam Chand and Mam Chand and Company of Calcutta filed five applications for licences to set-up steel re-rolling mills on 14th June, 1956. On 25th June, 1956, a cheque drawn in favour of P.S. Sundaram was given to the respondent by Nand Kumar for Rs 2500; the cheque was endorsed and the amount credited in the account of the respondent. When the respondent borrowed the amount in question from Nand Kumar, he was not working in the Industries Act section. Nand Kumar knew that the respondent was working in the Steel & Cement section of the Ministry and the applications for the grant of licences for setting up the steel plant re-rolling mills would go to that section. Even if the applications were to be dealt with at the initial stage by the Industries Act section the respondent at least was expected to know that in due course the section in which he was working had to deal with the same. This is borne out by the fact that in July, 1956 copies of the applications were actually sent to the Steel & Cement section where the respondent was working. If he, therefore, borrowed money from Nand Kumar a few days earlier it seems rather clear that he placed himself under pecuniary obligation to a person who was likely to have official dealings with him. The words likely to have official dealings take within their ambit the possibility of future dealings between the officer concerned and the person from whom he borrowed money. A disciplinary proceeding is not a criminal trial. The standard proof required is that of preponderance of probability and not proof beyond reasonable doubt. If the inference that Nand Kumar was a person likely to have official dealings with the respondent was one which a reasonable person would draw from the proved facts of the case, the High Court cannot sit as a Court of appeal over a decision based on it. Where there are some relevant materials which the authority has accepted and which materials may reasonably support the conclusion that the officer is guilty, it is not the function of the High Court exercising its jurisdiction under Article 226 to review the materials and to arrive at an independent finding on the materials. If the enquiry has been properly held the question of adequacy or reliability of the evidence cannot be canvaased before the High Court (See: State of Andhra Pradesh v. S. Sree Rama Rao, AIR 1963 SC 1723) No doubt there was no separate finding on the question whether Nand Kumar was a person likely to have official dealings with the respondent by the Inquiring Officer or the President. But we think that such a finding was implied when they said that Charge No. 3 has been proved. The only question was whether the proved facts of the case would warrant such an inference. Tested in the light of the standard of proof necessary to enter a finding of this nature, we are satisfied that on the material facts proved the inference and the implied finding that Nand Kumar was a person likely to have official dealings with the respondent were reasonable."

36. In Deport Manager, A.P. SRTC v. Mohd. Yousuf Miya - (1997) 2 SCC 699, the Hon'ble Supreme Court has expressed its view as under:

"8. We are in respectful agreement with the above view. The purpose of departmental enquiry and of prosecution are two different and distinct aspects. The criminal prosecution is launched for an offence for violation of a duty, the offender owes to the society or for breach of which law has provided that the offender shall make satisfaction to the public. So crime is an act of commission in violation of law or of omission of public duty. The departmental enquiry is to maintain discipline in the service and efficiency of public service. It would, therefore, be expedient that the disciplinary proceedings are conducted and completed as expeditiously as possible. It is not, therefore, desirable to lay down any guidelines as inflexible rules in which the departmental proceedings may or may not be stayed pending trial in criminal case against the delinquent officer. Each case requires to be considered in the backdrop of its own facts and circumstances. There would be no bar to proceed simultaneously with departmental enquiry and trial of a criminal case unless the charge in the criminal trial is of grave nature involving complicated questions of fact and law. Offence generally implies infringement of public (sic duty), as distinguished from mere private rights punishable under criminal law. When trial for criminal offence is conducted it should be in accordance with proof of the offence as per the evidence defined under the provisions of the Evidence Act. Converse is the case of departmental enquiry. The enquiry in a departmental proceedings relates to conduct or breach of duty of the delinquent officer to punish him for his misconduct defined under the relevant statutory rules or law. That the strict standard of proof or applicability of the Evidence Act stands excluded is a settled legal position. The enquiry in the departmental proceedings relates to the conduct of the delinquent officer and proof in that behalf is not as high as in an offence in criminal charge. It is seen that invariably the departmental enquiry has to be conducted expeditiously so as to effectuate efficiency in public administration and the criminal trial will take its own course. The nature of evidence in criminal trial is entirely different from the departmental proceedings. In the former, prosecution is to prove its case beyond reasonable doubt on the touchstone of human conduct. The standard of proof in the departmental proceedings is not the same as of the criminal trial. The evidence also is different from the standard point of the Evidence Act. The evidence required in the departmental enquiry is not regulated by the Evidence Act."

37. In the case of Suresh Pathrella v. Oriental Bank of Commerce - (2006) 10 SCC 572, the Hon'ble Supreme Court has held as under:

"11. In our view, the findings recorded by the learned Single Judge are fallacious. This Court has taken the view consistently that acquittal in a criminal case would be no bar for drawing up a disciplinary proceeding against the delinquent officer. It is well-settled principle of law that the yardstick and standard of proof in a criminal case is different from the disciplinary proceeding. While the standard of proof in a criminal case is a proof beyond all reasonable doubt, the proof in a departmental proceeding is preponderance of probabilities."

38. In Samar Bahadur Singh v. State of U.P. - (2011) 9 SCC 94, the Hon'ble Supreme Court categorically held:

"7. Acquittal in the criminal case shall have no bearing or relevance to the facts of the departmental proceedings as the standard of proof in both the cases are totally different. In a criminal case, the prosecution has to prove the criminal case beyond all reasonable doubt whereas in a departmental proceedings, the department has to prove only preponderance of probabilities. In the present case, we find that the department has been able to prove the case on the standard of preponderance of probabilities. Therefore, the submissions of the counsel appearing for the appellant are found to be without any merit".

39. In SBI v. Narendra Kumar Pandey - 2013 MPLJ Online (S.C.) 24 : (2013) 2 SCC 740, the Hon'ble Supreme Court held as under:

"23. The inquiring authority has examined each and every charge levelled against the charged officer and the documents produced by the presenting officer and came to the conclusion that most of the charges were proved. In a departmental enquiry, the disciplinary authority is expected to prove the charges on preponderance of probability and not on proof beyond reasonable doubt. Reference may be made to the judgments of this Court in Union of India v. Sardar Bahadur and R.S. Saini v. State of Punjab. The documents produced by the Bank, which were not controverted by the charged officer, support all the allegations and charges levelled against the charged officer. In a case, where the charged officer had failed to inspect the documents in respect of the allegations raised by the Bank and not controverted, it is always open to the inquiring authority to accept the same".

40. We are of the view that the mere acquittal of an employee by a criminal Court has no impact on the disciplinary proceedings initiated by the Department. The respondent/writ petitioner, it may be noted, is an employee of a Bank and he was convicted by learned Chief Judicial Magistrate, Azamgarh in Criminal Case No.3995 of 2006 (supra). However, subsequently he was acquitted by the appellate Court by giving benefit of doubt. That being the factual situation, we are of the view that the respondent/writ petitioner was not honourably acquitted by the criminal Court in the criminal appeal but only by giving benefit of doubt.

41. As we have already indicated, in the absence of any provision in the service rules for reinstatement, if an employee is not honourably acquitted by a criminal court, no right is conferred on the employee to claim any benefit including reinstatement. Reason is that the standard of proof required for holding a person guilty by a criminal Court and the enquiry conducted by way of disciplinary proceedings is entirely different. In a criminal case, the onus of establishing the guilt of the accused is on the prosecution and if it fails to establish the guilt beyond reasonable doubt, the accused is assumed to be innocent. It is settled law that the strict burden of proof required to establish guilt in a criminal Court is not required in a disciplinary proceedings and preponderance of probabilities is sufficient. There may be cases where a person is acquitted for technical reasons or the prosecution giving up other witnesses since few of the other witnesses turned hostile, etc. In the case on hand, the prosecution did not take steps to examine many of the crucial witnesses. The Court, therefore, acquitted the accused giving the benefit of doubt. We are not prepared to say after considering the entirety of the matter and the facts involved in the instant case that the respondent/writ petitioner was honourably acquitted by the criminal Court in Criminal Appeal No.27 of 2008 (supra).

42. It is also noticed by this Court that the respondent/writ petitioner was convicted by the trial Court but acquitted by the appellate Court by giving benefit of doubt. Without taking into notice the fact that on the initial occasion in the trial, the respondent/writ petitioner was convicted, learned Single Judge reached at the conclusion that the respondent/writ petitioner was honourably acquitted.

43. A Bank officer is required to exercise higher standards of honesty and integrity. He deals with money of the depositors and the customers. Every officer/employee of the Bank is required to take all possible steps to protect the interests of the Bank and to discharge his duties with utmost integrity, honesty, devotion and diligence and to do nothing which is unbecoming of a Bank officer. Good conduct and discipline are inseparable from the functioning of every officer/employee of the Bank. The very discipline of an organization more particularly a Bank is dependent upon each of its officers and officers acting and operating within their allotted sphere. In the instant case, the charges against the respondent/writ petitioner are not casual in nature and are serious. These aspects do not appear to have been kept in view by the learned Single Judge.

44. For the afore-mentioned reasons, the impugned judgment dated 06.12.2018 passed by learned Single Judge in Writ Petition No.2844 (SS) of 2004 (S.B. Singh vs. State Bank of India) cannot be sustained and the same is hereby set aside.

Accordingly, the instant special appeal is allowed.

No order as to costs.

THE HON'BLE PANKAJ KUMAR JAISWAL, J.
THE HON'BLE SAURABH LAVANIA, J.

Special Appeal No. 140 of 2020

Anil Kumar Rana ...Appellant
Versus
State of U.P. & Ors. ...Respondents

Counsel for the Petitioner:
Raj Vikram Singh.

Counsel for the Respondents:
C.S.C.

A. Service Law – Departmental/disciplinary proceedings – Dismissal – U.P. Police Officers of Subordinate Rank (Punishment and Appeal), Rules, 1991 - After several rounds of litigation opposing the dismissal from service, appellant filed an application dated 13.06.2018 for de-novo enquiry and w.r.t that moved an application under Right to Information Act, 2005 and in absence of any reply to the same preferred a Claim Petition before the Tribunal seeking directions to official respondents to provide the status of de-novo enquiry and the copy of the enquiry report, which was dismissed vide order dated 24.01.2020. The writ petition against the said order was also dismissed by impugned order dated 27.02.2020. Court in appeal has held that considering the contents of uncontroverted personal affidavit filed by Superintendent of Police, District Hardoi and in absence of any order of the competent authority (i.e. Superintendent of Police, District Hardoi) for holding the de-novo enquiry in the matter of appellant, it cannot be held that the de-novo enquiry was initiated in the matter of appellant. (Para 32 to 35)

Principles of "Useless Formality" theory - "no one can complain of not being given an opportunity to make representations if such an opportunity would have availed him nothing." Every violation of a facet of natural justice may not lead to the conclusion that the order passed is always null and void. The validity of the order has to be decided on the touchstone of "prejudice". The ultimate test is always the same viz. the test of prejudice or the test of fair hearing." (Para 40)

It was held that no fruitful purpose would be served in interfering in the judgment and order dated 27.02.2020 on the basis of arguments raised by the appellant broadly based on violation of principles of natural justice, as copy of the personal affidavit was not provided to the appellant and the Writ Court passed an ex-parte judgment without giving any opportunity to appellant for filing response. (Para 41)

Appeal assails the judgment and order dated 27.02.2020, passed by the learned Writ Court.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Saurabh Lavania, J.)

1. When the matter was taken up through Video Conferencing Sri Raj Vikram Singh, learned counsel for the petitioner and Sri Manish Mathur, learned counsel for the State-respondent appeared.

2. Under appeal is the judgment and order dated 27.02.2020 passed in Writ Petition No.2936 (S/S) of 2020 (Anil Kumar Rana v. State of U.P. & Ors.).

3. Brief facts of the case are to the effect that the petitioner/appellant filed the Writ Petition No.2936 (S/S) of 2020, for the following main reliefs:-

"(i) This Hon'ble Court may graciously be pleased to issue a writ of mandamus to direct the opposite parties to provide the enquiry report of the de-nova enquiry to the petitioner.

(ii) This Hon'ble Court may graciously be pleased to issue a writ of mandamus to direct the opposite parties to provide the status of the de-nova enquiry to the petitioner."

4. It is stated that the appellant was duly selected on 17.08.1997 on the post of constable in the police department of Uttar Pradesh under reserved category i.e. Schedule Tribes. After rendering 11 years regular service in the department, a preliminary enquiry was initiated against the petitioner in regard to the Caste Certificate No.9320, which was issued on 01.02.1994 by the Tehsildar Shahbad-District-Hardoi, and thereafter departmental/disciplinary proceedings were carried out against the appellant under the U.P. Police Officers of the Subordinate Ranks (Punishment and Appeal) Rules 1991 (in short "Rules of 1991") and the appellant was dismissed from service vide order dated 26.06.2007.

5. Being aggrieved by the order of dismissal dated 26.06.2007, the appellant preferred the departmental appeal under the Rules of 1991, that too was dismissed by the Appellate Authority vide order dated 30.04.2008.

6. Challenging the order of dismissal dated 26.06.2007 as also the order of Appellate Authority dated 30.04.2008, the appellant preferred the Writ Petition No. 4262 (S/S) of 2008 (Anil Kumar Rana vs. State of U.P. & Ors.) and the same was decided on 28.07.2008 by this Court. Vide order dated 28.07.2008, the appellant was directed to approach the U.P. State Services Tribunal (in short "Tribunal"). Thereafter, the appellant approach the Tribunal by filing Claim Petition 2306 of 2010 (Anil Kumar Rana vs. State of U.P. & Ors.). The Claim Petition was filed against the order of dismissal dated 26.06.2007 and order of Appellate Authority dated 30.04.2008 and the same was dismissed vide judgment and order dated 24.08.2011 by the Tribunal. The Claim Petition was dismissed being highly time barred.

7. Thereafter, the petitioner approached this Court by means of Writ Petition No.1788 (S/B) of 2010 (Anil Kumar Rana vs. State of U.P. & Ors.) and the same was dismissed vide order dated 10.12.2015.

8. Needless to say that this Court also dismissed the Review Petition No.563 of 2015 filed by the appellant with regard to judgment and order dated 10.12.2015 passed in Writ Petition No.1788 (S/B) of 2011 vide order dated 19.05.2016.

9. Being aggrieved, the appellant approached the Hon'ble Apex Court by preferring the Special Leave Petition, which was also dismissed.

10. It is also stated that after dismissal of Special Leave Petition, the appellant preferred an application dated 13.06.2018 for de-novo enquiry and on the said application, the de-novo/disciplinary enquiry was initiated by the opposite party no.2, in which the opposite party no.3, Inspector Police Station-Shahabad, District Hardoi, was appointed as enquiry officer. In the de-nono enquiry, the enquiry officer sent a letter dated 27.08.2018 to Tehsildar Shahabad, District-Hardoi for the purposes of verification of Caste Certificate No.9320 of the appellant. In response to the letter dated 27.08.2018, Tehsildar Shahabad, District-Hardoi vide his letter dated 31.10.2018 informed that the Caste Certificate No.9320 is not original but another Case Certificate No.7629 is the original and was issued by the Tehsildar-Shahabad, District-Hardoi.

11. It is further stated that with regard to the de-novo/disciplinary enquiry, the appellant moved an application under Right to Information Act, 2005 through an Advocate and in absence of any reply to the same, the appellant preferred the Claim Petition no.1819 of 2019 (Anil Kumar Rana vs. State of U.P. & Ors.) before the Tribunal seeking direction to official respondents to provide the status of de-novo enquiry and the copy of the enquiry report, as apppears from order of Tribunal dated 24.01.2020. The Tribunal dismissed the Claim Petition vide order dated 24.01.2020 being not maintainable.

12. In the aforesaid factual background the appellant approached this Court by means of Writ Petition No.2936 (S/S) of 2020 for the reliefs quoted above. The relevant paras of the Writ Petition are quoted below for ready reference:-

"25. That there after on 14.06.2018 the petitioner sent an application for de-novo enquiry in the light of the judgment of the Hon'ble Apex Court in "Union of India and others vs. P.Thayagarajan" dated 24, November 1998. This is pertinent to mention herein the said judgment of Hon'ble Apex Court reiterated that if any fact or legal point has been left then the de-novo enquiry may be initiated.

26. That on the application the opposite party no.2 initiated the de-novo enquiry and the opposite party no.3 was appointed the enquiry officer.

27. That after commencement of the enquiry the petitioner was called various times for the inquiry and the petitioner co-operated in the enquiry so that he always appeared before enquiry officer.

28. That the caste certificate which was disputed and in question was verified by the enquiry officer opposite party no.3 and reply thereof the opposite party no.4 written a letter to the opposite party no. whereby the opposite party no. (Tehsildar Shahabad Hardoi rectified and told the caste certificate no.6320 of the petitioner is fake.)".

29. That on the application the opposite party no.2 initiated the de-novo enquiry and the Inspector Police Station, Shahabad, District Hardoi was appointed the enquiry officer.

30. That on 27.08.2018 the enquiry officer sent a letter ot verify the caste certificate no.9320 of the petitioner from the Tehsildar Shahabad, Hardoi.

31. That the Tehsildar Shahabad, District Hardoi vide his letter No.595/Ra.

Li.-Jati Satyapan/18 dated 31.10.2018 informed to the enquiry officer that the caste certificate 9320 of the appellant is not original but his another caste certificate no.7629 is the original and issued by the Tehsil Shahabad. The true copy of the letter No.595/Ra. Li.-Jati Satyapan/18 dated 31.10.2018 of the Tehsildar Shahabad, District Hardoi, is being annexed here as Anneuxre No.2 to this Writ Petition.

32. That the petitioner was never sent any letter of enquiry nor he was provided the number of the letter of the opposite parties pertaining to the de-novo enquiry and he was not told the final decision taken by the opposite parties on the enquiry report of the enquiry officer."

13. The Writ Court on 14.02.2020, after taking into consideration the facts and the relevant documents available on record granted time to learned counsel for the appellant to bring on record any document to show that the de-novo enquiry was conducted against the appellant. The relevant observation made in the order dated 14.02.2020, on reproduction, reads as under:-

"From a perusal of the material on record, it appears that there is no document indicating initiation of any de novo inquiry after dismissal of special leave petition by Hon'ble the Supreme Court. In the aforesaid factors it does not appear that any de novo inquiry was conducted although learned counsel for petitioner has drawn attention to a letter dated 31st October, 2018, which however does not indicate the same.

Learned counsel for petitioner seeks some time in order to bring on record any document such as as a charge sheet indicating de novo disciplinary inquiry having been held."

14. The Writ Court after taking into consideration the arguments advanced by the learned counsel for the petitioner-appellant made following observations in the order dated 12.02.2020:-

"Today, learned counsel for the petitioner could not bring on record any documents indicating the fact as to whether the de novo inquiry has been initiated in the issue of the petitioner.

As per learned counsel for the petitioner, since no document any kind whatsoever including the charge-sheet have been served upon the petitioner after initiating the de novo proceedings, therefore, he is unable to bring on record such documents.

If the petitioner was unable to bring on record such documents in terms of order dated 04.02.2020, he could have pointed out the Court with the request that he could not bring on record those documents so that the precious time of the Court could be saved. Further, he has not filed any affidavit indicating therein that the documents, as per the order of this Court dated 04.02.2020, may not be brought on record as those documents are not available with him.

This Court is unable to comprehend as to why the de novo proceedings have been initiated in the issue of the petitioner when the issue has finally been decided upto the level of Hon'ble Supreme Court.

Learned counsel for the petitioner has drawn attention of this Court towards Annexure No.2 to the writ petition, which is a letter dated 31.10.2018 preferred by the Tehsildar, Tehsil-Shahabad, District-Hardoi addressing to the Inspector Incharge, Kotwali-Shahabad referring the letter dated 27.08.2018 of Inspector Incharge of Kotwali, Shahabad apprising him that the Caste Certificate of the petitioner was issued from his office.

The contention of learned counsel for the petitioner is that if this Court summons the letter dated 27.08.2018 of Inspector Incharge, Kotwali-Shahabad, the fact would be clarified that in the issue of the petitioner the de novo inquiry has been initiated and the Inspector Incharge, Kotwali-Shahabad was the Inquiry Officer.

As per learned counsel for the petitioner, the petitioner was serving on the post of Constable, whose Appointing Authority is Superintendent of Police, therefore, only the Superintendent of Police can initiate de novo proceedings, if any, and appoint any officer as Inquiry Officer.

In view of the aforesaid submissions, learned counsel for the petitioner has submitted that on perusal of the letter dated 27.08.2018 of Inspector Incharge, Kotwali-Shahabad would be clarifed that de novo proceedings in the issue of the petitioner has been initiated.

After considering the aforesaid submission of learned counsel for the petitioner, this Court has observed that all the aforesaid contentions do not satisfy the Court regarding query being made in the order dated 04.02.2020 and has cautioned the learned counsel for the petitioner that if after summoning the said letter it is not disclose that any de novo proceedings have been initiated in issue of the petitioner, the writ petition would be dismissed with heavy cost, even then, he has pressed his request for summoning the document."

15. On 19.02.2020, the learned Writ Court passed the following order:-

"Heard learned counsel for the petitioner and Dr. Udaiveer, learned Additional Chief Standing Counsel.

On the basis of instruction received from Superintendent of Police, Hardoi, learned Additional Chief Standing counsel submits that no de novo enquiry has been initiated against the petitioner.

Learned counsel for the petitioner refuted the said statement and submitted that if there is no de novo enquiry, then personal affidavit of Superintendent of Police, Hardoi should be filed. It is further submitted by learned counsel for the petitioner that letter dated 27.8.2018 issued by respondent no.3-Enquiry Officer/Inspector, Police Station Shahabad, District Hardoi, has not been placed before this Court.

Learned Additional Chief Standing counsel prays for and is granted a week's time to file personal affidavit of Superintendent of Police, District Hardoi stating all these things therein.

List this case again in the next cause list."

16. After the aforesaid, the personal affidavit was filed by Sri Amit Kumar, Superintendent of Police, District Hardoi. In the said affidavit it has been specifically stated that Superintendent of Police is the competent/appointing/disciplinary authority and by the authority concerned i.e. Superintendent of Police, District-Hardoi, no direction was ever given for holding the de-novo/disciplinary enuqiry against the appellant.

17. In regard to the application/representation dated 13.06.2018 moved by the appellant after dismissal of Special Leave Petition by the Apex Court, it is stated that in routine manner the same was forwarded to S.H.O. Shahabad on 21.06.2018 and in turn the S.H.O., Hardoi forwarded the same to the Sub-Inspector Civil Police, P.S.-Shahabad and thereafter Sub-Inspector sent a letter to the Tehsildar-Shahabad and in response to the same, Tehsildar-Shahabad replied vide letter dated 31.10.2018 Shahabad affirming its earlier report sent in respect of Caste Certificate. The relevant paras of the personal affidavit of Superintendent of Police, District- Hardoi, Sri Amit Kumar reads as under:-

"13. That after the aforesaid legal recourse being exhausted by the petitioner (except the claim petition no. 1819 of 2019) he made a misconceived representation / application dated 13.06.2018 address to the Superintendent of Police, District Hardoi for de-nova enquiry and the marked to the Circle Officer same was (Police) Shahabad in routine manner and the Circle Officer, in turn, forwarded to the said application to S.H.O. Shahabad on 21.06.2018.

14.. That in very routine manner the Shahabad also deputed the application to the Sub Inspector, Civil Police, namely Sri Om Pal Singh working in P.S. Shahabad and the said Sub Inspector sent a letter to Tehsildar, Tehsil- Shahabad and the Tehsildar replied vide ts letter dated 31.10.2018 to S.H.O. Shahabad affirming its earlier report sent in respect of caste certificate. The copy of the letter dated 27.08.2018 issued to Tehsildar Shahabad, Hardoi by Sub-Inspector Om Pal Singh and reply thereof by Tehsildar dated 31.10.2018 annexed are herewith as Annexure No. P.A.-1 and P.A.-2.

15. That deponent reaffirms and states that no order direction was ever for initiating/ conducting the de-nova enquiry in the natter of the petitioner by the deponent or the then Superintendent of Police, District Hardoi in furtherance to application of petitioner dated 13.06.2018.

16. That there is no question to initiate or conduct any fresh enquiry in the matter particularity when the matter went to the level of the Hon'ble Apex Court. However, the application being received in routine manner in the office of deponent are forwarded to the concerned Circle Officer and in the present matter also the C.O. Shahabad Circle sent the application dated 13.06.2018 to S.H.O. Shahabad and the correspondence have been made in between the P.S. Shahabad Tehsil and Authorities.

17. That the deponent humbly submits that in the matter of petitioner the direction for de- nova enquiry was never given by the deponent or by the predecessor after receiving the application on 13.06.2018. None else except the Superintendent of Police can direct for enquiry or de-nova enquiry being the Appointing Authority and as such no direction at the level of appointing authority was ever given for de- nova enquiry. The correspondence between the P.S. Shahabad and Tehsildar has been made and the same cannot be said to be de-nova enquiry. However, it so happened in very routine manner and the petitioner cannot alleged the same to be de-nova enquiry nor can get any benefit."

18. Thereafter, the writ petition was fixed on 27.02.2020 and on that date when the case was called out, no one appeared for the appellant.

19. The learned Writ Court, after considering the previous orders as also the personal affidavit of the Superintendent of Police, District-Hardoi-Sri Amit Kumar, dismissed the writ petition with costs of Rs.5,000/- vide judgment and order dated 27.02.2020.

20. Needless to say that in the order dated 12.02.2020, the learned Writ Court specifically observed as under:-

"After considering the aforesaid submission of learned counsel for the petitioner, this Court has observed that all the aforesaid contentions do not satisfy the Court regarding query being made in the order dated 04.02.2020 and has cautioned the learned counsel for the petitioner that if after summoning the said letter it is not disclose that any de novo proceedings have been initiated in issue of the petitioner, the writ petition would be dismissed with heavy cost, even then, he has pressed his request for summoning the document."

21. Further, in the judgment under appeal dated 27.02.2020, the learned Writ Court has specifically stated that "since the learned counsel for the appellant has not appeared in this case today nor any request for adjournment has been made, therefore, the matter is being decided finally on the basis of material available on record."

22. In the aforesaid factual background the present appeal has been filed assailing the judgment and order dated 27.02.2020.

23. Sri Raj Vikram Singh, learned counsel for the appellant while assailing the judgment and order dated 27.02.2020, under appeal, broadly argued that:-

(i) The observation of the learned Writ Court with regard to the issuance of fresh charge-sheet for the purposes of holding the de-novo enquiry is unsustainable in view of the judgment of this Court dated 14.09.2016 in Writ-A No.41169 of 2003 of (Shamsher Bahadur vs. Board of Directors, Farrukhabad Gramin Bank).

(ii) The copy of the supplementary affidavit was not provided to the appellant and even no opportunity of filing its response was given to the appellant. In absence of reply to the personal affidavit, the Writ Court considered the averments made therein and dismissed the writ petition.

(iii) The judgment, under appeal, dated 27.02.2020 is an ex-parte judgment as on the said date the learned counsel for the appellant could not appear before the learned Writ Court. The learned Writ Court failed to appreciate the pleadings and documents on record pertaining to initiation of de-novo enquiry.

24. Per contra, Sri Manish Mishra, learned Standing Counsel appearing for State, supporting the judgment, under appeal, dated 27.02.2020 submitted that pleading with regard to holding of de-novo enquiry against the appellant are not sufficient nor any document has been placed before the learned Writ Court by the appellant to prove the fact that the de-novo enquiry was ordered by the competent authority i.e. Superintendent of Police, District Hardoi.

25. Learned State Counsel further submitted that after taking into consideration the pleadings and documents on record, the Writ Court vide order dated 04.02.2020 granted time to learned counsel for the appellant to bring on record any document by which it can be proved that de-novo enquiry was ordered against the appellant and thereafter this Court passed the order dated 12.02.2020 as also the 19.02.2020. In compliance of order passed by this Court dated 19.02.2020, the Superintendent of Police, Hardoi filed his personal affidavit, wherein it has been specifically stated that no order by the competent authority i.e. Superintendent of Police, Hardoi was ever passed for holding the de-novo enquiry against the appellant.

26. It is also stated that after dismissal of Special Leave Petition, the appellant moved an application dated 13.06.2018 for holding the de-novo enquiry and the same was proceeded in routine manner and in relation to the same, the Tehsildar vide his reply dated 21.06.2018 affirmed its earlier report sent in respect of Caste Certificate.

27. In response to the arguments advanced by the learned counsel for the appellant that the copy of the personal affidavit was not provided to the appellant nor any opportunity was given by the Writ Court to file its response as also the judgment under appeal, is an ex-parte judgment and in view of the same the judgment and order dated 27.02 2020 is liable to be set aside and the matter may be remanded back to the learned Writ Court for decision afresh, the learned counsel for the State, Sri Manish Mishra, submitted that the arguments advanced by the learned counsel for the appellant, are liable to be rejected keeping in view the principles of "Useless Formality" theory. Elaborating his arguments, he further submitted that before the Writ Court, the appellant failed to prove the fact related to holding of de-novo enquiry against him and even the appellant has not placed any document or affidavit before this Court to controvert the averments made in the personal affidavit sworn by Sri Amit Kumar, Superintendent of Police, District Hardoi and to prove that the de-novo enquiry was ordered or conducted in the matter of appellant and as such no fruitful purpose would be served in interfering in the judgment and order dated 27.02.2020 on the basis of the arguments raised by the learned counsel for the appellant broadly based on violation of principles of natural justice.

28. It is further submitted by Sri Manish Mishra, learned counsel for the State-respondent that the observations of the Writ Court in regard to issuance of charge sheet made in the judgment and order dated 27.02.2020 have only been made to ascertain the fact that whether in the matter of appellant the de-novo enquiry was ordered or conducted, which in fact was neither initiated nor conducted, and accordingly, on this aspect, the judgment, under appeal, is not liable to be interfered with.

29. In addition to above, it is submitted that the appeal is liable to be dismissed with heavy costs taking into consideration the entirety of the case as also the observation made by the Writ Court in the order dated 12.02.2020.

30. Heard learned counsel for the parties and perused the record.

31. The following issues are required to be considered in the instant appeal.

(i) Weather in the instant case for holding the de-novo enquiry the competent authority i.e. Superintendent of Police, District Hardoi passed any order or not.

(ii) Whether the judgment, under appeal, is liable to be interfered with on the grounds related to principles of natural justice or not.

32. With regard to issue no.(i), we have considered the averments made in the memo of writ petition, quoted hereinbefore, as also documents annexed therewith and the contents of the uncontroverted personal affidavit filed by the Superintendent of Police District Hardoi.

33. In para 25 to 32 of the Writ Petition certain facts have been narrated with regard to initiation of holding of de-novo enquiry. In support of averments made in para 25 to 32, the petitioner-appellant has not placed on record the order of initiation of de-novo enquiry against him by the competent authority i.e. Superintendent of Police, District Hardoi. In absence of any order of the competent authority i.e. Superintendent of Police, District Hardoi for holding the de-novo enquiry in the matter of appellant, it can not be held that the de-novo enquiry was initiated in the matter of appellant. In this view, we are of the view that the averments made in para 25 to 32 of the writ petition, are misconceived.

34. The averments made in para 25 to 32 of the writ petition have been controverted by the Superintendent of Police, District Hardoi in his personal affidavit. In the personal affidavit filed by the Superintendent of Police, District Hardoi, it has been specifically stated that the application of the appellant dated 13.06.2018 was proceeded in routine manner and in relation to the same, Tehsildar-Shahabad, District Hardoi vide his letter dated 31.10.2018 affirmed its earlier report sent in respect of caste certificate and it has also been specifically stated therein that de-novo enquiry was never initiated either by the deponent or by the predecessor of the deponent after receiving the application of the appellant on 13.06.2018. It has also been stated that Superintendent of Police, District Hardoi is the competent authority and in the case of appellant no order was ever passed by the competent authority to hold the de-novo enquiry.

35. Even before this Court, in the appeal, no affidavit or document has been filed by the petitioner-appellant controverting the averments made in the personal affidavit of the Superintendent of Police, District Hardoi.

36. In view of the aforesaid, particularly in absence of any document or affidavit controverting the facts/averments made in the personal affidavit filed by the Superintendent of Police, District Hardoi, we are of the view that in the instant case, de-novo enquiry against the appellant was never ordered or initiated by the competent authority i.e. Superintendent of Police, District Hardoi.

37. Now coming to issue no.(ii). Issue no.(ii), which is to the effect that whether the judgment, under appeal, is liable to be interfered with on the ground of violation of principles of natural justice or not.

38. In the instant case, the violation of principles of natural justice has been alleged by the learned counsel for the appellant on two aspects i.e. (i) the opportunity was not provided by the Writ Court to file the response to the personal affidavit filed by the Superintendent of Police, District Hardoi, which was relied upon by the Writ Court while passing the judgment dated 27.02.2020 and (ii) the judgment, is an ex-parte judgment as on the date of passing of judgment i.e. 27.02.2020, learned counsel for the appellant could not appear before the Writ Court.

39. At this juncture, we feel it appropriate to quote relevant paragraphs of the judgment of the Hon'ble Apex Court passed in the case of Aligarh Muslim University & Ors. vs. Mansoor Ali Khan reported in (2000) 7 SCC 529, which are as under:-

"21. As pointed recently in M.C. Mehta v. Union of India [(1999) 6 SCC 237] there can be certain situations in which an order passed in violation of natural justice need not be set aside under Article 226 of the Constitution of India. For example where no prejudice is caused to the person concerned, interference under Article 226 is not necessary. Similarly, if the quashing of the order which is in breach of natural justice is likely to result in revival of another order which is in itself illegal as in Gadde Venkateswara Rao v. Govt. of A.P. [AIR 1966 SC 828 : (1966) 2 SCR 172] it is not necessary to quash the order merely because of violation of principles of natural justice.

22. In M.C. Mehta [(1999) 6 SCC 237] it was pointed out that at one time, it was held in Ridge v. Baldwin [1964 AC 40 : (1963) 2 All ER 66 (HL)] that breach of principles of natural justice was in itself treated as prejudice and that no other "de facto" prejudice needed to be proved. But, since then the rigour of the rule has been relaxed not only in England but also in our country. In S.L. Kapoor v. Jagmohan [(1980) 4 SCC 379] Chinnappa Reddy, J. followed Ridge v. Baldwin [1964 AC 40 : (1963) 2 All ER 66 (HL)] and set aside the order of supersession of the New Delhi Metropolitan Committee rejecting the argument that there was no prejudice though notice was not given. The proceedings were quashed on the ground of violation of principles of natural justice. But even in that case certain exceptions were laid down to which we shall presently refer.

23. Chinnappa Reddy, J. in S.L. Kapoor case [(1980) 4 SCC 379] laid down two exceptions (at SCC p. 395) namely, if upon admitted or indisputable facts only one conclusion was possible, then in such a case, the principle that breach of natural justice was in itself prejudice, would not apply. In other words if no other conclusion was possible on admitted or indisputable facts, it is not necessary to quash the order which was passed in violation of natural justice. Of course, this being an exception, great care must be taken in applying this exception.

24. The principle that in addition to breach of natural justice, prejudice must also be proved has been developed in several cases. In K.L. Tripathi v. State Bank of India [(1984) 1 SCC 43 : 1984 SCC (L&S) 62] Sabyasachi Mukharji, J. (as he then was) also laid down the principle that not mere violation of natural justice but de facto prejudice (other than non-issue of notice) had to be proved. It was observed, quoting Wade's

Administrative Law (5th Edn., pp. 472-75), as follows: (SCC p. 58, para 31)

"[I]t is not possible to lay down rigid rules as to when the principles of natural justice are to apply, nor as to their scope and extent. ... There must also have been some real prejudice to the complainant; there is no such thing as a merely technical infringement of natural justice. The requirements of natural justice must depend on the facts and circumstances of the case, the nature of the inquiry, the rules under which the tribunal is acting, the subject-matter to be dealt with, and so forth."

Since then, this Court has consistently applied the principle of prejudice in several cases. The above ruling and various other rulings taking the same view have been exhaustively referred to in State Bank of Patiala v. S.K. Sharma [(1996) 3 SCC 364 : 1996 SCC (L&S) 717] . In that case, the principle of "prejudice" has been further elaborated. The same principle has been reiterated again in Rajendra Singh v. State of M.P. [(1996) 5 SCC 460]

25. The "useless formality" theory, it must be noted, is an exception. Apart from the class of cases of "admitted or indisputable facts leading only to one conclusion" referred to above, there has been considerable debate on the application of that theory in other cases. The divergent views expressed in regard to this theory have been elaborately considered by this Court in M.C. Mehta [(1999) 6 SCC 237] referred to above. This Court surveyed the views expressed in various judgments in England by Lord Reid, Lord Wilberforce, Lord Woolf, Lord Bingham, Megarry, J. and Straughton, L.J. etc. in various cases and also views expressed by leading writers like Profs. Garner, Craig, de Smith, Wade, D.H. Clark etc. Some of them have said that orders passed in violation must always be quashed for otherwise the court will be prejudging the issue. Some others have said that there is no such absolute rule and prejudice must be shown. Yet, some others have applied via media rules. We do not think it necessary in this case to go deeper into these issues. In the ultimate analysis, it may depend on the facts of a particular case.

26. It will be sufficient, for the purpose of the case of Mr Mansoor Ali Khan to show that his case will fall within the exceptions stated by Chinnappa Reddy, J. in S.L. Kapoor v. Jagmohan [(1980) 4 SCC 379] , namely, that on the admitted or indisputable facts, only one view is possible. In that event no prejudice can be said to have been caused to Mr Mansoor Ali Khan though notice has not been issued."

40. In the judgment passed in the case of M/s Dharampal Satyapal Ltd. vs. Deputy Commissioner of Central Excise, Gauhati & ors, 2015 (8) SCC 519, the Hon'ble Apex Court observed as under:-

"39. We are not concerned with these aspects in the present case as the issue relates to giving of notice before taking action. While emphasising that the principles of natural justice cannot be applied in straitjacket formula, the aforesaid instances are given. We have highlighted the jurisprudential basis of adhering to the principles of natural justice which are grounded on the doctrine of procedural fairness, accuracy of outcome leading to general social goals, etc. Nevertheless, there may be situations wherein for some reason--perhaps because the evidence against the individual is thought to be utterly compelling--it is felt that a fair hearing "would make no difference"--meaning that a hearing would not change the ultimate conclusion reached by the decision-maker--then no legal duty to supply a hearing arises. Such an approach was endorsed by Lord Wilberforce in Malloch v. Aberdeen Corpn. [(1971) 1 WLR 1578 : (1971) 2 All ER 1278 (HL)] , who said that: (WLR p. 1595 : All ER p. 1294)

"... A breach of procedure ... cannot give [rise to] a remedy in the courts, unless behind it there is something of substance which has been lost by the failure. The court does not act in vain."

Relying on these comments, Brandon L.J. opined in Cinnamond v. British Airports Authority [(1980) 1 WLR 582 : (1980) 2 All ER 368 (CA)] that: (WLR p. 593 : All ER p. 377)

"... no one can complain of not being given an opportunity to make representations if such an opportunity would have availed him nothing."

In such situations, fair procedures appear to serve no purpose since the "right" result can be secured without according such treatment to the individual.

40. In this behalf, we need to notice one other exception which has been carved out to the aforesaid principle by the courts. Even if it is found by the court that there is a violation of principles of natural justice, the courts have held that it may not be necessary to strike down the action and refer the matter back to the authorities to take fresh decision after complying with the procedural requirement in those cases where non-grant of hearing has not caused any prejudice to the person against whom the action is taken. Therefore, every violation of a facet of natural justice may not lead to the conclusion that the order passed is always null and void. The validity of the order has to be decided on the touchstone of "prejudice". The ultimate test is always the same viz. the test of prejudice or the test of fair hearing."

41. Taking into consideration the facts and circumstances of the present case including the reasoning given by us on issue no.(i), as noted above, and the principles of "Useless Formality" theory as also the observations made by the Hon'ble Apex Court, quoted hereinabove, we decide the issue no.2 against the appellant and hold that the judgment and order dated 27.02.2020 is not liable to be interfered with on the ground of violation of principles of natural justice, as alleged by the learned counsel for the appellant.

42. In view of aforesaid, the Special Appeal is dismissed. No order as to costs.

Service Law - Appointments - Fake B.Ed. degrees - State Universities Act, 1973 - U.P. Basic Educational Staff Rules, 1973 - The U.P. Government Servant (Discipline and Appeal) Rules, 1999 - The petitioners obtained government employment on the post of assistant teachers on the basis of their fake B.Ed. degrees. This is a fraudulent act. This is a settled law that fraud and justice never dwell together. The forgery is in the basic eligibility conditions for appointments on the post of assistant teachers inasmuch as B.Ed. Degree are fake. The process of appointments of the petitioners who obtained government employment on the basis of fake B.Ed. Degrees stand vitiated. The petitioners have become beneficiaries of illegal and fraudulent appointments. Such appointments are void ab initio. (Para 69(vii),(viii))

The Division Bench judgment in the case of Shri Puran Prasad Gupta Memorial College Vs. State of U.P. and ors. Was tht the University was to declare result of 85% students admitted in private unaided professional colleges and 50% students admitted by such colleges under Management quota. The SIT (Special Investigation Team) adjusted all the excess admitted students in these 25 private unaided professional colleges, i.e. upto 85% students by counselling and upto 50% students by management. Thus, the submission of the petitioner that the SIT has not considered the excess admitted students whose results were declared in terms of Shri Puran Prasad Gupta (Supra) is incorrect.(Para 69(i))

The petitioners who obtained appointments on the post of Assistant Teachers on the basis of fake B.Ed. The Court held that holding disciplinary proceedings against the petitioners envisages by Article 311 of the Constitution of India or under any disciplinary rules including Uttar Pradesh Basic Education Staff Rules, 1973 or the Uttar Pradesh Government Servant (Discipline and Appeal) Rules, 1999 shall not rise. Facts

3. Petitioners in this batch of writ petition are Assistant Teachers. They obtained employment as Assistant Teachers on the basis of alleged B.Ed. Degree - 2005 shown to have been issued by Dr. Bhimrao Ambedkar University, Agra. Subsequently their degree/marksheets were found to be fake or tampered. Special Investigation Team (SIT) was constituted under the Orders of this Court in Writ Petition No. - 2906 of 2013 (PIL) (Sunil Kumar Vs.Dr. Bhimrao Ambedkar University And Another). The SIT submitted its report dated 14.08.2017 giving details of fake degrees/marksheets and tampered degrees/marksheet. Thereafter, the District Basic Education Officers issued notices to the petitioners requiring them to show cause as to why their appointments be not cancelled on the ground of their B.Ed. Degrees/marksheets to be fake or tampered. Thereafter the impugned orders cancelling the appointments of the petitioners were passed.

4. Subsequently, the respondent Dr. Bhimrao Ambedkar University, Agra. Also issued notices to all the students having fake B.Ed. Degrees/marksheets and those having tampered degrees/marksheets. These notices dated 28.12.2019 were published on official website of the University as well as in several largely circulated daily news papers, including "Amar Ujala" (Hindi) and "Times of India" (English) on 29.12.2019.

5. The decision of the Executive Council of the respondent - University dated 06.12.2019 for taking action with respect to the fake B.Ed. Degrees/Marksheet - 2005 and tampered B.Ed. Degrees and marksheets - 2005 and the aforesaid notices dated 28.12.2019 published in newspaper on 29.12.2019 and on the official website of the respondent - University, were challenged by 496 persons by filing Writ WRIT - A No. - 468 of 2020 (Tilak Singh And 495 Others Vs. State Of U P And 4 Others) which was dismissed by this Court by order dated 20.1.2020. Relevant portion of the aforesaid order dated 20.01.2020 in the case of Tilak Singh (supra) is reproduced below:-

"6. Upon investigation, the SIT team submitted report in August, 2017 which states that 3517 fake mark sheets and 1053 tampered mark sheets were distributed and these mark sheets have been adjusted in the tabulation chart. The SIT categorized the candidates in two list. One list of those candidates whose mark sheets are fake and the second list of those candidates whose marks sheet have been tampered. The Deputy Inspector General of Police, SIT by letter dated 11.07.2019 forwarded the aforesaid two list alongwith photo copy of tabulation chart to the University. He further requested the University by the said letter to verify the list of candidates from its record, and after identifying the candidates possessing fake and tampered degrees, it should proceed to cancel all such degrees as per procedure provided in the U.P. State Universities Act,1973 (hereinafter referred as 'Act, 1973'). The aforesaid letter was followed by the letter of Additional Chief Secretary dated 25.11.2019 addressed to the Vice Chancellor of the University making similar request to him.

7. Thereafter, the Executive Council of the University held an emergent meeting on 06.12.2019 and after considering the letter of the State Government dated 25.11.2019 took a decision to verify the list of fake/tampered candidates received from the Special Investigation Team and to invite objection against the same. The relevant extract of decision of the Executive Council is extracted hereinbelow:-

10. The hard copy of the questionnaire is to bear the signature of the candidate and also the seal and signature of the Principal of the College. The aforesaid public notice calling upon the petitioners to submit information as required in the questionnaire are impugned in the present petition.

11. Challenging the aforesaid notices, learned Senior Counsel has made following submissions;

(i) The decision of the Executive Counsel in its meeting dated 06.12.2019 to verify and identify the fake and tampered marks sheet of B.Ed. for the academic session 2004-05 is not an independent decision of the Executive Council rather the said exercise is being undertaken on the dictate of the letter of Additional Chief Secretary dated 25.11.2019 as well as letter of Deputy Inspector General of Police dated 11.07.2019

(ii) The investigation report of SIT has not yet been accepted either by this Court or by any other Court, and the said report cannot be treated to be a substantial and conclusive piece of evidence to arrive at a conclusion that marks sheet/degree obtained by the petitioners are fake or tampered. In support of his contentions, he has placed reliance upon the judgement of Apex Court in the case of M.C. Mehta (Taj Corridor Scam) Vs. Union of India and Others 2007(1) SCC 10 & judgement of Kerala High Court at Ernakulam in the case of Major Basil John Vs. State of Kerala and Others Crl. M.C. No.1877 of 2015 decided on 22.06.2017.

(iii) Controversy regarding the validity of marks sheet obtained by the petitioners is already concluded by the judgment of this Court in Writ Petition no.399 (MB) of 2007 (Shri Puran Prasad Gupta Memorial Degree College Vs. State of U.P. and Others) as this Court has validated the admission of petitioners and directed for declaration of result. Hence, the aforesaid exercise undertaken by the University to verify the marks sheet in order to find out the fake and tampered marks sheet is nothing but an abuse of process of law.

(iv) As per Section 67 of the Act, 1973, the Court may by a two-third majority of the members present and voting withdraw from any person any degree, or certificate conferred or granted by the University. In the present case, the decision to cancel the degree has not been taken by the Court but by the Executive Council, who is not competent to initiate such process as the Court and Executive Council are two different authorities under the Act, 1973. Thus, the verification exercise undertaken by the Executive Council is without jurisdiction. He further submits that statute 13.03 of the First Statutes of the Agra University provides the procedure and the manner which is to be followed before taking decision to cancel the degree, but the notices impugned are in complete violation of statute 13.03 inasmuch as the said notice does not communicate the charge against the petitioners so as to enable them to submit their explanation.

13. I have considered the rival submissions of the parties and perused the record.

20. At this juncture, it would be relevant to refer the chain of events in which the present exercise to verify and cancel the fake, fabricated and tampered marks sheet and degrees have been undertaken. This Court while considering the Writ C No.2906 of 2013 (Sushil Kumar Vs. Dr. Bhimrao Ambedkar University and Another) found that the original cross list produced pertaining to B.Ed. examination 2005 does not bear signature of any of the authority concerned. The first order passed in the writ petition is extracted hereinbelow:-

"Vice-Chancellor of the University should file his personal affidavit after inspection of original records in respect of B.Ed. examination 2005, by the next date.

Original cross list has been produced today pertaining to B.Ed. Examination 2005 before this Court. It is surprising that none of the pages of the register bear any signature of any officer. Such register appears to be, prima facie, a manufactured document. It is stated that cross list are required to be signed by duly authorized persons and it is only then that the cross list can be accepted as genuine. It is also stated that all cross list of other examinations are duly signed by the officers of the University.

The cross list produced today is returned to the counsel for the University."

21. In the said writ petition, the Vice Chancellor had filed an affidavit contending therein that though, the First Information Report has been lodged with the police with regard to fake mark-sheets issued to the students but no investigation had taken place. In the aforesaid backdrop, the Court directed the State to be impleaded as a party by order dated 05.08.2013. On the direction of this Court, a preliminary investigation was carried out. The preliminary investigation report revealed the shocking state of affairs in the University. Consequently, this Court on 14.03.2014 issued a direction to the Secretary, Home, U.P. Lucknow, to assign the investigation to a Special Investigation Agency of the State other than C.B, C.I.D. Pursuant to the direction of this Court, a special investigation team was constituted by the orders of Deputy Director General of Police dated 06.05.2014. Subsequently, this Court on 09.09.2015 after noticing the previous orders directed the Registrar General to place the said matter before Hon'ble The Chief Justice requesting him that the writ petition be treated and dealt with as a Public Interest Ligation by the appropriate Bench.

24. The first contention of Sri Khare that exercise undertaken by the Executive Council is not an independent exercise but has been done at the behest of the State Government is misconceived inasmuch as the University had full knowledge about the fact that the large scale fraud has been committed in issuing the fake and tampered marks sheet of B.Ed. Examination-2005, which fact is also fortified from the personal affidavit of the Vice Chancellor of the University filed before this Court wherein he has made a categorical averment that as many as 6 FIR had been lodged to investigate the allegation of issuance of fake and tampered mark-sheets to the students in collusion with the University employee but no investigation was done by the Police and a request was made to the Court through the said affidavit to handover the investigation to any independent agency. In the aforesaid backdrop, this Court passed an order for constituting SIT to carryout the investigation.

25. The exercise of verification of fake as well as tampered degree should have been undertaken by the University voluntarily instead of waiting for any direction from the Court or authority more so when it was aware of the fact that the fake and tampered mark-sheets have been issued to the students in connivance with the employees of the University. Thus, to say that the verification exercise undertaken by the University is on the dictate of the State Government is not correct and misconceived. In this view of the fact, the first submission of the petitioner is not sustainable.

26. As far as the second contention of Sri Khare that report of SIT is not a conclusive piece of evidence and that cannot be considered and relied upon to hold that degree/marks sheet of the candidates mentioned in the list of candidates of fake marks sheet or tampered marks sheet also lacks substance for the reason that the respondents have not yet cancelled the marks sheet/degree of the candidates categorized in the three list; the list of candidates of fake mark-sheet, list of candidates of tampered mark-sheets and list of candidates appearing in the examination on the basis of roll number allotted to more than one candidate, rather the authority has issued a notice inviting details from each candidate in the form of questionnaire so as to verify the fact as to whether name of a candidate in the list of fake or tampered marks sheet has been correctly shown in the list submitted by the SIT. Had the authorities treated the report of SIT to be a conclusive piece of evidence, there was no occasion for the respondents to publish the notice impugned in the writ petition and asking the candidates to furnish information sought in the questionnaire. Further, the two letters dated 11.07.2019 & 25.11.2019 of the Deputy Inspector General of Police, SIT & Additional Chief Secretary also directs the University to follow the procedure as provided in the Act, 1973 for cancellation of a degree. Thus, this Court does not find any merit in the second submission of the counsel for the petitioner.

28. As regards the third submission of Sri Khare that the controversy as regards the validity of admission and issuance of the mark-sheets of the petitioners have already been concluded by this Court in Writ Petition no.399 (MB) of 2007 (Shri Puran Prasad Gupta Memorial Degree College Vs. State of U.P. and Others) and other writ petitions, this Court without adverting upon the merits of the contention advanced by the learned Senior Counsel finds it appropriate that the petitioners may raise the said contention before the authority concerned as each individual candidate has to demonstrate that his case is covered by the said judgement and this Court has validated his admission.

30. Now, coming to the fourth contention of Sri Khare, it is relevant to mention that the Court is vested with the power under Section 67 of the Act, 1973 to cancel the degree/marks sheet. The Court under Act, 1973 is to exercise such power only in cases where the University finds that the marks sheet or degree has been issued by the University though, it has been tampered. The procedure contemplated under the Act, 1973 cannot be said to be applicable to cancel those degrees which according to the University have not been issued by it and have been procured by the candidates from outside with which the University has no concern.

31. In the case in hand, the Executive Council has undertaken the exercise to verify and sort out list of candidates whose degree or marks sheet are fake and list of candidates whose marks sheet are tampered and list of candidates who have appeared with the roll number allotted to many other candidates. The Court as defined in the Act, 1973 is not empowered to carryout any such exercise, and it is only Executive Council who has power to undertake such exercise. Therefore, the last submission of Sri Khare is also devoid of merit.

32. It has also been urged by Sri Ashok Khare, learned Senior Counsel that questionnaire issued by the respondents requires certain information which may not be available with the petitioners and further the said questionnaire requires that it shall bear the seal and signature of principal of the College which is wholly impossible inasmuch as the principal of the concerned college has refused to sign the form and petitioners are helpless to supply information as sought through the questionnaire.

33. A perusal of the questionnaire reveals that it has not sought any information which cannot be said to be available with the petitioners. The information sought through the aforesaid questionnaire are essential to find out and segregate fake and tampered marks sheet/degree. Thus, in the opinion of the Court, the said contention also does not stand to its merit.

34. This Court while exercising power under Article 226 of Constitution of India cannot shut its eyes about the entire chain of events which had led to unearth scam of such a magnitude where fake marks sheet have been procured by the candidates with impunity and on the basis of such fake or tampered marks sheet, they have obtained employment as Assistant Teacher.

36. However, this Court cannot also loose sight of the fact that petitioners have obtained employment on the basis of marks sheet alleged to have been issued to them and have been working for more than a decade. Further, there may be cases where Principal of the concerned college may refuse to put signature on the questionnaire and the petitioners cannot force the Principal of the concerned college to put signature and seal on the questionnaire and petitioners may be rendered remedy less. Therefore, in the interest of justice and fairplay, this Court is of the opinion that University while carrying out the exercise to verify the mark-sheet/degree should follow the following observation of the Court:-

(i) The University while verifying the mark-sheet/degree of a candidate may not refuse to consider the questionnaire of a candidate if the same does not bear the signature & seal of the Principal of the college.

(ii) In case after verification, the University disowns the degree of a candidate being fake, the University is not required to follow the procedure contemplated under the Act, 1973 for cancellation of degree/marks sheet. However, it is desirable in the interest of justice and fairplay that the University in such cases should pass reasoned and speaking order giving the basis on which it has formed opinion that degree is fake and has not been issued by the University.

(iii). In case University finds that the degree/marks sheet have been issued by it though tampered, in such an event, the University is expected to follow the procedure provided in the Act, 1973 and give a show cause notice to such candidate and thereafter, pass appropriate orders.

6. The respondent University took decision dated 07.02.2020 declaring 2,823 students to be fake students who managed to procure fake B.Ed. degrees. The matter of remaining 814 students are under consideration of the University who have submitted their representations either with complete or incomplete information. A copy of the order dated 07.02.2020 passed by the Dr. Bhimrao Ambedkar, University, Agra has been filed alongwith a supplementary counter affidavit dated 10.02.2020 in Writ A No.190 of 2020. No rejoinder affidavit to it has been filed. Aforesaid order of the University, despite being in the knowledge of the petitioners; has not been challenged by any of the petitioners either by filing a separate writ petition or by seeking amendment in this batch of writ petitions.

7. The list of 2823 students declared fake by the University by order dated 07.02.2020 has been made part of the order which is scanned and pasted as Appendix I to this judgement.

8. In this batch of writ petitions the petitioners have challenged the orders passed by District Basic Education Officers cancelling the appointments of the petitioners or holding the appointments to be void ab initio on the ground that these were obtained on the basis of fake B.Ed. Degrees or on the basis of tampered B.Ed. Marksheets. None of the petitioners have challenged the order dated 07.02.2020 passed by the respondent University declaring 2,823 persons to be fake students. None of the petitioners have filed any amendment application to amend the pleadings and / or to challenge the aforesaid order of the respondent - University dated 07.02.2020.

Submissions on behalf of the Petitioners

9. Sri H.N. Singh, learned counsel for the petitioner in Writ-A No.19981 of 2019 submitted that he is arguing for the petitioners whose B.Ed. Degrees/Marksheet-2005 are alleged to be tampered or has been declared fake. He submits as under:-

(i) Marks sheet issued to petitioners bears the note that the marks register shall be final in case there is discrepancy between the marks sheet issued and marks register of the University. Therefore, the marks register (tabulation chart) is final.

(ii) The University has proceeded merely on the basis of report of SIT and declared 2823 students as fake merely because these students could not submit reply. Therefore, the order of University dated 07.02.2020 to declare the petitioners as fake, is wholly unjustified.

(iii) No notice was issued by the University to students before declaring them as fake by order dated 07.02.2020.

(iv) University has merely presumed that since the name of the petitioners are not mentioned in the mark register and, therefore, such students are fake.

(v) Mark register or tabulation register is a final paper. Therefore, the University should have first determined whether petitioners' name appears in the marks register and if it does not appear, only then matter can be further inquired, to find out whether there is any manipulation.

(vi) As per paragraph nos. 2 and 3 of the order of the University dated 07.02.2020 filed as Annexure-SA-I in Writ-A No. 190 of 2020, order is yet to be passed with respect to 814 students who are allegedly fake students and who submitted their reply. Therefore, it was not justified for the University to declare 2823 students as fake, who could not submit reply.

(vii) If affiliated colleges have admitted students and the University allowed them to appear in the examination, then such students are not fake.

(viii) Query by the Court

(a) At this point this Court specifically pointed to the learned counsel for the petitioner that the alleged B.Ed. Marksheet, 2005 filed as Annexure-1 to the writ petition does not bear even enrollment number. Neither copy of enrollment card nor any papers have been filed alongwith writ petition to show that the petitioner was enrolled as students of the respondent - University for B.Ed.,2005 Course.

On being pointed out, learned counsel for the petitioner clearly admitted that copies of papers which are available with the petitioner, have been filed with the writ petition.

(ix). In reply, learned counsel for the petitioner referred paragraph 4 of the writ petition in which it has clearly been stated that he appeared from B.S.A. College, Mathura, which is affiliated to Dr. Bhimrao Ambedkar University, Agra as regular student and in support thereof, merely mark sheet has been filed as Annexure-1 to this writ petition.

(x). University has not yet taken decision in respect of tampered mark sheets. Therefore, unless University declares the mark register and mark sheet as tampered, cancellation of appointment of petitioner as Assistant Teacher, is arbitrary and illegal.

10. Sri Ashok Khare, learned Senior Counsel has argued on behalf of the petitioners in Writ-A 13785 of 2019 as the leading writ petition. He has argued for the petitioners, who are allegedly fake students and also on behalf of other petitioners whose mark sheets have been found to be tampered. He submitted as under:-

(i) As per SIT report, 12,472 students are entered in the tabulation chart and result of 8,930 students were declared and thus merely on this basis, the SIT presumed in paragraph no. 6 of its report that the differences between two, on verification, is 3517 who are fake students, and they have not been students of any affiliated colleges. This finding in the SIT report is in the teeth of the Division Bench judgment dated 06.04.2007 in Writ Petition No. 399 (MB) of 2017 (Shri Puran Prasad Gupta Memorial Degree College Versus State of U.P. and others) and other connected writ petitions. In the said judgment, Division Bench directed for declaration of result of 85 students by the University 50 students admitted by colleges under management quota, which shall not be taken to be breach of condition of recognition of N.C.T.E. in view of peculiar facts and circumstances of the case.

(ii) The SIT report accepts the position that the name of all the students, who are said to have tampered mark sheets, exists in the tabulation chart of the University which was produced before the High Court in PIL No. 2906 of 2013 (Sunil Kumar Vs. Dr. Bhimrao Ambedkar University, Agra and another) and copy thereof was given to Special Investigation Team (SIT). Therefore, name of the students appearing in the tabulation Chart/Marks register are genuine students and their mark sheets cannot be held to be tampered.

(iii) The university has declared 2823 students as fake and SIT has also held these students as fake merely on the ground that they were admitted beyond the strength sanctioned by the N.C.T.E. The basis so taken is in the teeth of the Division Bench judgment dated 06.04.2007 in the case of Pooran Prasad Gupta Memorial Degree College (Supra) in which Division Bench directed for declaration of result of 85 students admitted by counseling by the University and 50 students directly admitted by colleges.

(iv) The basis of holding fake or tampered by the SIT is mark foil of 8899 students recovered by it from the University Campus as mentioned in paragraph no.3 of SIT report. This cannot be made basis to hold the students fake or to hold mark sheets tampered.

(v) Since all the petitioners are regular and permanent teaching staff, therefore, without initiating regular disciplinary proceeding, they cannot be dismissed from the service.

(vi). By the impugned order dated 08.08.2019 the petitioners have been dismissed from service merely on the basis of report of the SIT and chart provided by it and without initiating disciplinary proceeding under U.P. Basic Educational Staff Rules,1973 and U.P. Government Servant (Discipline and Appeal) Rules, 1999.

(vii) Query by the Court

(a) Whether the petitioners have filed copies of B.Ed. admit cards, receipt of deposit of fee or certificate and other evidences as asked by the District Basic Educational Officer ?

(b) Whether the petitioners have filed copies of their admit card, copy of the enrollment card, copy of the receipt of deposit of fee etc. as proof of their being students of the University for B.Ed. Course, 2005 either before the District Basic Education Officer or alongwith this writ petition ?.

(c) Learned counsel for the petitioners could not submit any reply.

(viii). The University has not undertaken any exercise pursuant to the order of this Court in the case of Tilak Singh and 495 others Versus State of U.P. and others) in Writ-A No. 468 of 2020 decided on 21.01.2020 before passing the order dated 07.02.2020 which has been filed as Annexure SA-1 in Writ-A No. 190 of 2020. The order of the University dated 07.02.2020 declaring 2823 students as fake is merely based on the SIT report and the SIT report is based merely on presumption that students in excess of sanctioned strength admitted by the University and the colleges for B.Ed. Course, 2005 are fake, while the Division Bench in Civil Writ No. 399 (MB) of 2017 (Shri Puran Prasad Gupta Memorial Degree College Versus State of U.P. and others) decided on 04.07.2007 has directed to issue mark sheet to such students. Thus order of the University dated 07.02.2020 is not valid. The aforesaid Division Bench judgment has become final and yet it has not been noticed by the SIT.

(ix). The SIT report has no evidenciary value. It is merely an investigation report, which has not been approved by any Court. It continues to be an opinion of the SIT. It is not a substantive piece of evidence. Petitioners have not yet been communicated about fake degree. Name of the petitioners find mention in the tabulation chart of the University which has not been held to be fake or manipulated. Therefore, there is no basis to declare the B.Ed Degree 2005 as fake, even if, the petitioners/candidates have not submitted any reply before the University pursuant to the notice dated 28.12.2019.

(x). As per provision of Section 16 of the State Universities Act and Statute 13.03 of the First Statutes of the University, the matter could have been considered only by the Court or the University and not by Executing Council. Therefore, the order dated 07.02.2020 is not a valid order.

(xi). Present writ petition cannot be dismissed merely on the basis of the order dated 07.02.2020 passed by the respondents-University declaring 2823 students as fake. An opportunity should be provided to the petitioners to challenge it.

11. Sri Seemant Singh, learned counsel for the petitioner has argued in Writ -A No.12792 of 2019 making it as his leading writ petition. He submitted as under:-

(i) The argument of Sri Ashok Khare, learned Senior Counsel is adopted.

(ii) There was no tampering in the mark sheet.

(iii) The entire case has been set up on the basis of SIT report. The SIT has left the fact that marks of several candidates were lowered in the tabulation chart. University should abide by the tabulation chart and not by the counter foils which were recovered by the SIT from the University Campus.

(iv) So long as marks secured by the petitioners are mentioned in the tabulation register, there cannot be any allegation of tampering.

12. Sri Prabhakar Awasthi, learned counsel for the petitioners has argued in Civil Misc. Writ Petition No. 19903 of 2019 as his leading writ petition. He submitted as under:-

(i) Fake would be those students who have never appeared. The case of the University is that students were admitted beyond the sanctioned strength. Such excess students have been declared to be fake, which is not permissible.

(ii) Whether it is a case of fake students or tampered mark sheet, no action can be taken by the respondent-University, inasmuch as on the basis of their B.Ed, 2005 Degree, petitioners did Special B.T.C. Course after due verification of the degree.

(iii) Some students might have been fake but the order dated 07.02.2020 has been passed by the respondent-University in generality declaring 2823 students as fake, which is not permissible.

(iv) The SIT could not reach on any conclusion about tampered mark sheets. There was no tampering. The apprehension of SIT is baseless.

13. Sri Krishan Ji Khare, learned counsel has argued in Civil Misc.Writ Petition No. 15524 of 2018 treating it as leading writ petition. He states that he is arguing for petitioners whose appointments have been cancelled on the ground of fake degree. He submitted as under:-

(i) The petitioner appeared for admission test for B.Ed. Course 2004-05 and after counseling, he went to take admission in Long Shri Devi Maha Vidyalaya, Nagla, District Hathras, but the said Degree College had not given admission and the University assured that their B.Ed examination shall be taken. For main examination of B.Ed, an admit card was issued by the University to the petitioner allotting Roll No.5148083 which was allotted to some other student also and therefore, the Centre In-charge of P.C. Bangla College, Hathras allotted roll number to the petitioner as 518083A but when the result of the petitioner was withheld, then he contacted the B.Ed Department of the University where an employee has issued him mark sheet and gave new Roll No.5148084. Thus the petitioner is a genuine student.

(ii) Query by the Court

(b). Learned counsel for the petitioner could not reply to this query.

14. Sri Yogendra Kumar Srivastava, learned counsel for the petitioner has argued in Civil Misc. Writ Petition No. 18614 of 2019 treating it as leading writ petition. He submitted as under:-

(i) He adopts argument of Sri Ashok Khare, learned Senior Counsel.

(ii) The name of the petitioner neither appeared in the list of fake students nor in the list of tampered mark sheet but the services of the petitioner has been terminated illegally merely on the basis of SIT report in which his roll number is 522108, College Code No. 148 Shanti Niketan Degree College Tehra, District Agra is shown as fake. He submitted that detail reply alongwith all relevant papers submitted by the petitioner were not at all considered by the District Basic Education Officer, Firozabad nor these papers were held to be fake or manipulated. Therefore, the impugned order cancelling appointment of the petitioner and declaring it to be null and void, is arbitrary and illegal.

15. Sri Syed Irfan Ali, learned counsel for the petitioner has argued in Writ Petition No. 14097 of 2019. He submitted as under:-

(i) Marks shown in the mark sheet of the petitioner is lower than the marks shown in the tabulation chart and therefore, his mark sheet cannot be said to be tampered. The report of SIT observing B.Ed. Mark Sheet, 2005 of the petitioner to be tampered, is baseless.

(ii). In the impugned order dated 13.08.2019 the District Basic Education Officer has not considered properly the explanation submitted by the petitioner.

16. Sri Naveen Kumar Sharma, learned counsel for the petitioner has argued in Writ Petition No. 62979 of 2017. He adopted the argument of Sri Ashok Khare, learned Senior Counsel.

17. Sri Vijay Tripathi, learned counsel for the petitioner has argued in Civil Misc. Writ Petition No. 2858 of 2018 and submitted that in the mark sheet of petitioner's B.Ed., 2005, the marks are lower than tabulation chart, hence it is not a case of tampering of marks sheet but the petitioner has been dismissed from service on the ground that his marks sheet is tampered, which is merely based on the report of the SIT.

18. Sri Dinesh Rai, learned counsel for the petitioner has argued in Writ Petition No. 60007 of 2017. He submitted that only flaw is that in the mark sheet, the name of father of petitioner is not mentioned which was a clerical error. The name of the petitioner is neither in the list of fake student nor in the list of tampered mark sheet. Therefore, the impugned order dismissing the petitioner from service is not sustainable.

19. Sri Satendra Chandra Tripathi, learned counsel for the petitioner has argued in Writ Petition No. 467 of 2020, Writ Petition No. 377 of 2020, Writ No. 367 of 2020 and Writ Petition No. 939 of 2020. He adopted the argument of Sri Ashok Khare, learned Senior Advocate. With respect of Writ Petition No. 939 of 2020 he submitted that the petitioner's B.Ed degree is of the year 2003-04 Batch and therefore, it could not be declared as fake on the basis of report of the SIT.

20. Smt. Mahima Maurya Kushwaha, learned counsel for the petitioner has argued in Writ Petition No. 320 of 2020. She submitted that the petitioner has never been student of Dr. Bheem Rao Ambedkar University, Agra. He has done B.A and B.Ed. from Calcutta University. She has further submitted that the petitioner has never submitted B.Ed Degree 2005 of Dr. Bheem Rao Ambedkar University, Agra to obtain employment as Assistant Teacher. She has submitted reply, but it was not considered by the District Basic Education Officer while passing the impugned order.

21. Sri Sandeep Kumar, learned counsel for the petitioner has argued in Writ Petition No. 1593 of 2020 and adopted the argument of Sri Ashok Khare, learned Senior Counsel.

22. Sri J.K. Srivastava, learned counsel for the petitioner has argued in Writ A No. 2706 of 2020 that by order dated 24.02.2020 he was required to submit his reply.

23. Sri Brijendra Deo Mishra, learned counsel has argued in Writ -A No. 2603 of 2020 and adopted arguments of Sri Ashok Khare, learned Senior Counsel.

24. Sri Shashi Nandan, learned Senior Counsel in Writ-A No. 15260 of 2019 has argued for the petitioners. He submitted as under:-

(i) The appointment of the petitioners have been cancelled on the ground that their B.Ed. Degree is fake, whereas mark sheet of the petitioners bears enrollment number and roll number. Thus once the University has allotted enrollment number to the petitioners, they cannot be said to be fake students. Burden is upon the University to show as to how the petitioners are fake students, which the University has failed to discharge.

(ii) Ratio of admission for B.Ed. Course, 2005 between the students to be admitted through University and management quota was 85:15. But the colleges admitted 50% students under Management quota which was approved by the Division Bench in Civil Writ No. 399 (MB) of 2017 (Shri Puran Prasad Gupta Memorial Degree College Versus State of U.P. and others) decided on 06.04.2007. This 85% students obtained admission through University and 50% students obtained admission under Management quota. Thus there were excess admission by 35%. These 35 students have been alleged to be fake who are not fake, as their admission is protected by Division Bench judgment in the case of Shri Puran Prasad Gupta Memorial Degree College (Supra).

(iii) The University instead of exercising its authority, pressurized the colleges to get these 35 % students admitted in their colleges. It made nodal centres in colleges and allowed the excess admitted students to appear in examination allegedly without permission of the N.C.T.E. Hence these students are neither fake students nor their mark sheet can be termed as fake. The observations made by the Division Bench in the aforesaid judgment with regard to the admission of these excess 35% students, have been conveniently ignored by the SIT in its report and held these 35% excess students to be fake, which is wholly illegal.

(iv) Copy of the order dated 07.02.2020 passed by the University has been filed along with Supplementary counter affidavit in Writ-A No. 190 of 2020. Even if, students have not responded, yet the University was bound to record reason for declaring them fake, but respondent-University has passed the order dated 07.02.2020, in breach of the principle of natural justice. Petitioners attempted to submit reply prior to the order dated 07.02.2020, but the University has refused it. Therefore, the order dated 07.02.2020 passed by the respondent-University is faulty order. Reliance is placed upon judgment of Hon'ble Supreme Court in S.N. Mukherjee Vs. Union of India (1990) 4 SCC 594 (Para 35, 36 and 40).

(v) Since no decision has been taken by the University regarding tampered mark sheet, therefore, no submission is required to be made at this stage as University is yet to take decision.

25. Sri Radha Kant Ojha, learned Senior Counsel argued in Writ-A No. 484 of 2020. He submitted as under:-

(i) Argument of Sri Ashok Khare, learned Senior Counsel and Sri Shashi Nandan, learned Senior Counsel are adopted.

(ii) The University has not declared its tabulation chart to be fake or manipulated. Therefore, the students whose names are appearing in the tabulation chart cannot be held to be fake.

(iii) As per note-I appended to the mark sheet, the marks entered by the University in the marks register (tabulation Chart) shall be final and in case of any discrepancy between these two entries, the entries of tabulation chart shall be final. Therefore, order dated 07.02.2020 passed by the University to declare 2823 students as fake is arbitrarily and illegal.

(iv) The report of the SIT is based on unauthentic paper i.e. Mark foils, which are said to have been found by the SIT in the Campus of the University.

(v) Tabulation chart is a public document. Therefore, if the University is placing reliance on it, it cannot be said that it is incorrect unless the University holds it to be incorrect or manipulated in totality. Reference is made to paragraph nos. 2 and 3 of the SIT report filed in Civil Misc. Writ Petition No. 13785 of 2019.

(vi) For declaring the students as fake, the respondents-University should have first declared tabulation chart in totality to be incorrect or manipulated and only then respondent-University could declare the students as fake students. If the University declares its tabulation chart to be partly manipulated or incorrect, then it has to give specific reason, which has not been done.

(vii) No submissions are being made for tampered mark sheets inasmuch as the matter is pending before the University.

(viii) Tabulation chart is primary evidence and B.Ed. degree are secondary evidence. Once tabulation chart is correct, the degree cannot be said to be forged. University is treating students as fake or non existing, which is not correct. As per para 13.03 and 13.04 of the Statutes of the University and Section 67 of the State Universities Act, the University can withdraw degree on certain grounds, which are not existing in the present set of facts.

(ix) The show cause notice dated 28.12.2019 published by the University in the newspaper and also on the official website, does not contain any reason and does not cover the ground of Section 67 of the State University Act. No specific charge against the petitioners has been levelled.

26. In support of his submissions, Sri R.K. Ojha, learned Senior Counsel has relied upon judgment reported in Roop Singh Negi Vs. Punjab Nation Bank 2009 (2) SCC 570 (para 10, 11, 12 and 13) regarding recording of evidence collected by the Investigating Officer, Subodh Kumar Prasad Vs. State of Bihar and others 2001(10) SCC 282 (para 6 and 9) regarding fake appointment, Union of India Vs. Ashok Kumar Verma 2017 (9) ADJ 680 (para 10,11, 36 to 39) regarding employment obtained on the basis of fake experience certificate and L.I.C. Of India Vs. Ram Pal Singh Bisen 2010 (4) SCC 491 (para 26,27,31) on the principles that the admission of documents does not prove its contents, which has to be proved by the primary and secondary evidence.

Submission on behalf of the State-Respondents.

27. Sri M.C. Chaturvedi, learned Additional Advocate General assisted by Sri J.N. Maurya, C.S.C.-I submitted as under:-

(i) SIT was constituted under the order of this Court in PIL.

(ii) Appointment of petitioners have been cancelled in accordance with law. They lacked basic educational qualification. Their B.Ed. Degrees have been found to be fake or tampered. Therefore, their appointments have been lawfully cancelled after affording opportunity of hearing. Disciplinary proceeding as per U.P. Basic Educational Staff Rules,1973 and U.P. Government Servant (Discipline and Appeal) Rules, 1999 is not required to be initiated.

(iii) Reliance is being placed on judgment dated 05.12.2019 of this Court in Writ-A No. 18163 of 2019 (Reena Devi Versus State of U.P. and others) and judgments of Hon'ble Supreme Court in State of Bihar Vs. Kirti Narayan Prasad 2019 (1) ESC-3 (SC), Punjab Urban Planning Authority Vs. Karamjeet Singh

AIR 2019 SCC 1913, Union of India and others Vs. Raghuwar Pal Singh 2018 (15) SCC 463, Nidhi Kayam and another Vs. State of M.P. and others, 2017 (4) SCC 1, Bank of India and others Versus Avish D. Mandi Vikar and others 2005 (7) SCC 690, R. Vishwanath Pillai Vs. State of Kerla 2004 (2) SCC 105 and judgment of Patna High Court in Rita Mishra Vs. Director of Primary Education, Bihar AIR 1998 (Patna) 26.

(iv) None of the petitioners have challenged either report of the SIT or decision of the University dated 07.02.2020 declaring the B.Ed. Degree, 2005 as fake. Under the circumstances, the arguments of the petitioners against the order dated 07.02.2020 or against the SIT report, cannot be even entertained.

Submission on behalf of respondent-Dr. Bhimrao Ambedkar University, Agra.

28. Sri Ashok Mehta, learned Senior Counsel, assisted by Sri Gagan Mehta has referred the orders dated 23.01.2014, 14.03.2014, 20.08.2014, 15.04.2014 and 09.09.2015 in Writ-C No.2906 of 2013 (subsequently converted in PIL by order dated 09.09.2015) as well as various paragraphs of the SIT report, Division Bench order dated 06.04.2007 in Writ No. 399 (MB) of 2007 (Shri Puran Prasad Gupta Memorial Degree College) and various paragraph of the counter and supplementary counter affidavit filed in Writ-A No. 13785 of 2019 and Writ-A No. 190 of 2020 and submitted as under:-..

(i) There were 84 colleges affiliated with Dr. Bhimrao Ambedkar University, Agra. Two colleges namely Jai Murti College, Firozabad and Kehri Nal Gautam Smarak Mahavidalaya Nagla Saruwa, Agra were not permitted for B.Ed. Course by the N.C.T.E. and therefore, B.Ed Course was not conducted in these two colleges. Thus in total 82 Degree Colleges, B.Ed. Course was conducted in the academic Session 2004-05. However, mark sheets were also managed by 147 persons each in the name of the aforesaid two colleges for B.Ed. Course, 2005. Out of the aforesaid 84 colleges, 25 colleges were Private unaided colleges having permission for B.Ed. Course.

(ii) The admission through University and under Management quota was in the ratio of 85:15 but all the twenty five private un-aided professional institutes/colleges asserted to admit 50% students under management quota. Thus private un-aided professional institutes/colleges, the admission through University was 85% and the college admitted 50% under Management quota and thus total admission was 135 which was excess by the 35. After adjusting these 35 students, examination was conducted and result was declared by the University for 8930 students who appeared in the final examination for the B.Ed. Course, 2005. Subsequently, forgery was committed and additional pages were attached with the tabulation chart raising number of students to 12,472. These excess students adjusted in the tabulation chart by adding pages in the tabulation chart, were not the students of any Degree college for B.Ed, Course, 2005. They were fraudulently shown to have been awarded marks from 75% to 82%.

(iii) The Division Bench Judgment of Lucknow Bench in Shri Puran Prasad Gupta Memorial Degree College (Supra) is confined to private un-aided professional institutes/colleges, which were total 25 in number, in which upto

35% excess students for B.Ed Course, 2005 were allowed to appear in the examination. The SIT determined the number of fake students after adjusting these excess students, which fact is evident from the computation chart annexed with the SIT report. Thus the contention of the petitioners is that the aforesaid extra students have been declared as fake, is incorrect and baseless.

(iv) The SIT, during the investigation; recovered 8899 award foils (mark foils) as evident from para 3 and 7 of the SIT report. These award foils related to all 82 affiliated colleges. On verification of tabulation chart with mark foils, tampering was found with respect to 1053 students, whereby originally secured 2nd and 3rd Division marks were raised to 80% to 82% and thus by tampering 1st Division was shown. The University has initiated appropriate proceeding in matters of tampered marksheets, which are pending disposal.

(v) Thus fraud was played by interested persons including employees and the students and therefore, the petitioners are not entitled for any relief. Reliance is placed on judgment of Hon'ble Supreme Court reported in 2003 (8) SCC 311 (para nos. 13,14, 15), 2003 (8) SCC 319 (Para 15 to 29), 2004 (6) SCC 325 (12) and 2017 (8) SCC 670.

(vi) In the case of fraud, report of SIT can be relied particularly when none of the petitioners have either alleged the SIT report to be bad nor they challenge it. Petitioners' contention that the SIT has prepared the report without giving effect to the Division Bench Judgment of Lucknow Bench of this Court in Shri Puran Prasad Gupta Memorial Degree College (Supra), is wholly incorrect and baseless. The SIT has adjusted excess admitted students which fact is evident from the chart annexed with the SIT report, which is part of the SIT report.

(vii) None of the petitioners have challenged the order dated 07.02.2020 passed by the University. The University has declared the petitioners as fake students. The employment obtained by fake students on the basis of forged/fake B.Ed Degree, have been lawfully cancelled by the impugned orders placed by the respective District Basic Education Officer.

Submission on behalf of the counsel for the District Basic Education Officer and U.P. Basic Education Board.

29. None of the counsels for the District Basic Education Officers and U.P. Basic Education Board argued the case. They simply stated that they are supporting the impugned orders.

Discussion and Finding

30. I have carefully considered the submissions of learned counsel for the parties and perused the record of writ petitions.

Background And Effect of Judgment in Shri Puran Prasad Gupta Memorial Degree College Case - Confined to Private Unaided Colleges

31. There were 84 degree colleges affiliated with the respondent Dr. Bhimrao Ambedkar University, Agra, out of which two colleges were not granted permission for B.Ed. Course by the National Council for Teachers Education (for short "NCTE"). Thus, total 82 colleges were affiliated and were having permission from NCTE for different number of seats for B.Ed. Course 2005. Out of these 82 colleges, 25 colleges were private unaided professional colleges.

32. As per Government order dated 09.09.2004 issued by the State Government, the admission through the University and the management quota was in the ratio of 85:15. However, these private unaided professional colleges were insisting for more admission under management quota. Therefore some Private unaided Professional Colleges challenged the aforesaid Government order dated 09.09.2004 in writ petition No.90 (MS) of 2005 and by order dated 25.09.2005, the writ petition was dismissed against which a Special Appeal No.220 of 2005 was filed in which an interim order was granted by the Division Bench providing for admission in the ratio of 50:50 in the light of the law laid down by Hon'ble Supreme Court in Islamic Academy of Education Vs. State of Karnataka (2003) 6 SCC 697.

33. In TMA Pie Foundation Vs. State of Karnataka (2002) 8 SCC 481 (paras 67 to 72) a constitution Bench of Hon'ble Supreme Court considered the right of Management to fill up seats for admission in private unaided professional institution and held that such institutions are entitled for autonomy in their administration while, at the same time, they can not forego or discard the principle of merit and therefore it would be permissible for the University or the Government at the time of granting recognition, to require a private unaided institution to provide for merit based selection while, at the same time, giving the management sufficient discretion in admitting students. The prescription of percentage for this purpose has to be done by the Government according to the Government needs and different percentages can be fixed for minority unaided and non - minority unaided professional colleges and the same principle may be applied to other non professional but unaided educational institution viz. Graduation and post graduation non professional colleges or institutions.

34. Thereafter, the constitution Bench of Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Islamic Academy of Education Vs. State of Karnataka (2003) 6 SCC 697 (paras 18 to 21) considered the aforesaid paragraph 68 of the judgment in the case of TMA Pie (Supra) with respect to unaided professional colleges and for admission for the year 2003-04 directed that the seats be filled up by the institution and the State Government in the ratio of 50:50.

35. The respondent Dr. Bhimrao Ambedkar, University, Agra, invited applications for admission in B.Ed. Session 2004-05. The last date for submission of application was 31.05.2004. Entrance examination was conducted on 04.07.2004. counseling for first phase, second phase and last phase was conducted between 25.11.2004 to 18.03.2005. The final examination for B.Ed. Session 2005 was held between 10.05.2006 to 24.05.2006. It appears that private unaided affiliated colleges were insisting for 50% admission through management quota. The Writ Petition No.399 (MB) of 2007 (Shri Puran Prasad Gupta Memorial Degree College Versus State of U.P. and others) was heard and decided on 06.04.2007 alongwith Special Appeal No.220 of 2005 (Shri Puran Prasad Gupta Memorial Degree College Versus State of U.P. and others). In the aforesaid judgment the Division Bench specifically noted that the colleges before it are private unaided colleges who have admitted upto 50% students under management quota and the examination has been conducted by the university after accepting their examination forms alongwith fee and had issued admit cards in the light of the constitution Bench judgment of Hon'ble Supreme Court as aforementioned including the judgment in the case of P.A. Inamdar Vs. State of Maharashtra 2005 6 SCC 537 (paras 130, 137 and 154). The Division Bench (in Shri Puran Prasad Gupta Memorial Degree College case) held that the ratio of seats between the State and the Management in the Colleges in question would be 50:50 and the University was not competent to send a list of students beyond the aforesaid prescription. However, to protect the excess upto 35% students sent by the University for admission, the Division Bench held that in the given circumstances there is no fault of students nor any motive can be attributed to the colleges who have admitted them in the College in accordance with merit and the University has declared result of 85 students though it was having authority to send students upto 50% in terms of the interim order and, therefore, the University shall declare the result of the students who have been admitted by the colleges in question and shall issue marksheets.

36. Thus, the crux of the Division Bench judgment in the case of Shri Puran Prasad Gupta Memorial Degree College (supra) was that the University was to declare result of 85% students admitted in private unaided professional colleges and 50% students admitted by such colleges under Management quota.

Undisputed facts and result of Investigation

37. There were only 25 private unaided professional colleges for B.Ed. Course affiliated to the respondent - University out of total 84 Colleges. Eventually a Writ C No.2906 of 2013 (Sunil Kumar Vs. Dr. Bhimrao Ambedkar, University and another) was filed before this Court in which it came to light by preliminary inquiry report that the state of affairs in the University are shocking. The Superintendent of Police CBCID in his report dated 03.06.2014 has recommended for investigation by Special Investigation Agency. Case Crime No.48 of 2014, registered under Sections 420/467/468/471 IPC read with Section 34, P.S. Hari Parvat Agra was brought to the notice of the Court. The report also mentioned that several employees of the University are involved in fabrication and manufacture of statement of marks and degrees of the University. The police has also recovered several computers, lap tops, printers and pen drives from the accused persons. In the aforesaid case of Sunil Kumar (supra) learned single Judge passed orders dated 23.01.2014, 14.03.2014, 05.05.2014, 02.07.2014, 20.08.2014, 15.09.2014 and lastly 09.09.2015. By order dated 09.09.2015 the writ petition was converted into Public Interest Litigation. Pursuant to the order of this court dated 14.03.2014, a Special Investigating Team was constituted by the State Government by order dated 29.04.2014 and consequential order dated 29.04.2014 was issued by the Director General of Police U.P. Lucknow. The Special Investigation Team (for short SIT) carried out the investigation and submitted its report dated 14.08.2017 under the signature of the Additional Superintendent of Police SIT UP Lucknow. Perusal of the SIT report shows that several criminal cases have been registered in the matter of fake degrees and tampered marksheets etc. which also includes employees and Officers of the University. The SIT also recovered from the University Campus all the award foils (marks foils). Award foil is a document prepared and signed by the examiner containing details of marks awarded. On the basis of award foils marksheets are prepared. These foils of 82 Colleges were recovered by the SIT. Out of 84 colleges, two colleges, namely, Jay Murti College Firozabad and Kehrinal Gautam Smarak College, Aligarh were not granted permission/recognition by the NCTE and yet 147 marksheets each of these two colleges were managed and fraudulently procured by fake students.

38. The facts and figures based on records including the S.I.T. report relating to B.Ed. Course 2005, are summarized as under:-

SUMMARY (CHART) B.Ed. COURSE 2005

14	Total of Fake Students + Duplicate Roll Numbers + Tampered Marksheets (11+12+13)				4,766

Note: There are some minor totaling/ calculation error in the chart annexed to the S.I.T. Report relating to students admitted and fake students. Correct figures have been mentioned above.

39. The figures and facts as summarized in the chart above, have neither been disputed nor denied by the petitioners nor any error of facts have been shown or pointed out by the petitioners in the list/ number of fake students and tampered mark-sheets mentioned in the SIT report and the list annexed nor the SIT reports have been shown to me to have been challenged before any court.

40. Alongwith the aforesaid SIT report, College wise list of B.Ed. 2005 have been annexed by the SIT which is part of the report, which contains college wise details of total seats sanctioned by the NCTE, admission by counseling, admission by management quota, total students (counseling + management), total students shown in the tabulation chart, number of students as per award foil, total fake students and total tampered marksheets in tabulation chart etc. Perusal of the aforesaid summary shows that the private unaided colleges admitted upto 50% students. The SIT adjusted all the excess admitted students in these 25 private unaided professional colleges. Thus, the submissions of learned counsels for the petitioners that the SIT has not considered the excess admitted students whose results were declared in terms of the Division Bench judgment in the case of Shri Puran Prasad Gupta Memorial Degree College (supra); is incorrect, vague and baseless.

41. Without disputing the correctness of the facts relating to B.Ed. Course 2005 as briefly summarized in the chart in para 38 above, learned counsels for the petitioners mainly contended that the excess students who were admitted and who participated in B.Ed. 2005 examination in terms of orders passed by the Division Bench in Shri Puran Prasad Gupta Memorial Degree College (supra) have been declared fake. The stand so taken by the petitioners falling under the category of fake students, is factually incorrect and totally baseless. Learned counsels for the petitioners have also not disputed clear instances of frauds mentioned in the S.I.T. report dated 14.08.2017 and various F.I.Rs. lodged with the concerned Police Stations.

42. Perusal of facts and figures based on records as briefly summarised in para 38 above reveals that there were total 8150 sanctioned seats for B.Ed. Course 2005 out of which 5340 seats were in 57 Affiliated Aided Colleges. Remaining 2810 seats were in 25 private unaided colleges to which benefit of Division Bench orders in Shri Puran Prasad Gupta Memorial Degree College case (supra) was extended. Perusal of item Nos.2, 3, 4, 5, 6 and 7 of the chart in para-38 above leaves no doubt that the ratio of admission by counselling and management was maintained. Total 8899 students including 873 excess students who participated in the B.Ed. 2005 examination, their results were also declared. These 8,899 genuine students and 3637 + 45 fake students have been segregated. Notices dated 28.12.2019 have been issued by the University to the aforesaid fake students.

Observations/ findings in orders passed in Writ-C No.2906 of 2013 and the final order dated 20.01.2020 in Writ-A No.468 of 2020 (Tilak Singh and 495 others vs. State of U.P. and 4 others):-

43. I have already reproduced in paragraph-5 above the relevant paragraphs of the judgment and order dated 20.01.2020 passed by this court in the case of Tilak Singh and 495 others (supra), which refers important facts and also the orders passed in Writ-C No.2906 of 2013. From the order dated 12.03.2013 passed in Writ-C No.2906 of 2013 as reproduced in the aforequoted order in the case of Tilak Singh and 495 others (supra), it is evident that cross list pertaining to B.Ed. Examination 2005 was produced by the University before the Court and it was noticed by the court that none of its pages bear signature of any officer, which prima facie, appeared to be a manufactured document. It was stated that all cross lists of other examinations are duly signed by the officers of the University. In the aforequoted order in the case of Tilak Singh and 495 others (supra), this court rejected contentions of the learned counsels for the petitioners that exercise undertaken by the Executive Council is not an independent exercise but has been done at the behest of the State Government. This court observed that the University had full knowledge about the fact that large scale fraud has been committed in issuing the fake and tampered marks sheet of B.Ed. Examination-2005. This court further observed that the procedure contemplated under the State Universities Act, 1973, cannot be said to be applicable to cancel those degrees which according to the University have not been issued by it and have been procured by the candidates from outside with which the University has no concern. The court further observed that in the case in hand, the Executive Council has undertaken the exercise to verify and sort out list of candidates whose degree or marks sheet are fake and list of candidates whose marks sheet are tampered and list of candidates who have appeared with the roll number allotted to many other candidates. This court further observed that a perusal of the questionnaire reveals that it has not sought any information which cannot be said to be available with the petitioners. The information sought through the aforesaid questionnaire are essential to find out and segregate fake and tampered marks sheet/degree. This Court while exercising power under Article 226 of Constitution of India cannot shut its eyes about the entire chain of events which had led to unearth scam of such a magnitude where fake marks sheet have been procured by the candidates with impunity and on the basis of such fake or tampered marks sheet, they have obtained employment as Assistant Teacher.

44. The findings recorded by this court as briefly mentioned in the preceding paragraph, have not been disputed by learned counsels for the petitioners during the course of their arguments. Learned counsels for the petitioners have neither stated nor shown that the judgment and order dated 20.01.2020 in the case of Tilak Singh and 495 others (supra), has been challenged by any of the petitioners or any other person before any court or the said order has been interfered with.

Exercise undertaken by the University

45. The respondent University under took the exercise to deal with fake students and matters of tampered marksheets/degrees. The executive council in its meeting dated 06.12.2019 considered all the issues relating to the fake students and tampered marksheets etc. and resolved to make public the list of fake students and tampered marksheets and to issue notices to them. Pursuant to the decision of the executive council dated 06.12.2019, the list of 3637 fake students, 1084 students having tampered marksheets and 45 persons having fake duplicate roll numbers were uploaded on the official website of the University on 28.12.2019. Notices were also issued and uploaded on the official website. Notices were also published in largely circulated daily news papers requiring all the three categories of persons to submit information on the points mentioned in the questionnaire within 15 days, online and by registered/speed post.

46. By the aforesaid notices the University required the fake students to submit 17 informations, namely, name of students, permanent/correspondence address, mobile number and Adhar Card number, father's name, roll number of entrance examination, name of college where admission taken through counselling or under Management quota, counseling number/place in management quota list and to annex copy of counseling letter, particulars of fees deposited at the time of admission in degree college, particulars of scholarship, enrollment number, roll number in final B.Ed. Examination 2005, name of examination center in final B.Ed. Examination 2005, photo copy of admit card of B.Ed. Examination 2005, self attested mark-sheet of B.Ed. 2005, Provisional certificate, if any, issued by the University, particulars of original degree, and any other particulars/information.

47. Vide Para-33 of the judgment in Tilak Singh and 495 others (supra), this court held that perusal of the aforesaid questionnaire reveals that it has not sought any information which can be said to be not available with the petitioners and these informations are essential to find out and segregate fake and tampered marks sheet/ degree. Despite this, out of 3637 fake students, 2823 have neither responded nor submitted any information. Response from only 814 persons of fake students list were received by the University. Out of these 814 students, 796 students have not submitted any information/papers. Only 18 students have submitted informations/papers. Matters of these 814 students are pending decision before the University. In para 13 of the supplementary counter affidavit the University has stated that decision shall be taken within 21 days in respect of these 814 persons.

48. The aforesaid notice was challenged by large number of persons in WRIT - A No. - 468 of 2020 (Tilak Singh And 495 Others Vs. State Of U P And 4 Others) which was dismissed by this Court by order dated 20.01.2020, with the following observations/directions :-

(i) The University while verifying the mark-sheet/degree of a candidate may not refuse to consider the questionnaire of a candidate if the same does not bear the signature & seal of the Principal of the college.

(ii) In case after verification, the University disowns the degree of a candidate being fake, the University is not required to follow the procedure contemplated under the Act, 1973 for cancellation of degree/marks sheet. However, it is desirable in the interest of justice and fairplay that the University in such cases should pass reasoned and speaking order giving the basis on which it has formed opinion that degree is fake and has not been issued by the University.

49. It would be relevant to mention that most of the submissions of the petitioners as made in this batch of writ petitions were also made by the petitioners in Tilak Singh And 495 Others (supra) and the same were rejected by the aforesaid order dated 20.01.2020, relevant portion of which has been reproduced in para 5 above. None of the learned counsels for the petitioners have pointed out or stated before me that any of the petitioners or any other person have challenged the aforesaid order of this court dated 20.01.2020 in the case of Tilak Singh And 495 Others (supra).

50. A supplementary counter affidavit of Dr. Rajiv Kumar Registrar/Controller of Examinations of Dr. Bhimrao Ambedkar, University, Agra, was filed on behalf of respondent - University in the leading Writ A No.190 of 2020, annexing therewith a copy of the order dated 07.02.2020, passed by the Vice-Chancellor declaring 2823 persons as fake students.

51. Learned counsel for the University has provided complete copies of the aforesaid supplementary Counter Affidavit to the learned Senior Advocates appearing in this batch of writ petitions.

52. A list of 2,823 fake students alongwith other particulars is annexed as part of the order dated 07.02.2020 passed by the respondent-University. Perusal of this order shows that out of 3,637 fake students, 2,823 have not submitted any information/reply or objection before the University. The online applications and by registered/speed posts were received by the University only from 814 students, out of which 796 have not submitted information as required in the questionnaire. Only 18 students have submitted all the required information. The petitioners who have been declared fake students by the University by order dated 07.02.2020 have not challenged the said order either separately or by filing amendment applications. Thus, the petitioners who obtained appointments on the post of Assistant Teachers on the basis of fake B.Ed. Degrees and who fall under 2,823 fake students declared by the University, their orders of cancellation of appointments or dismissal from service on the ground of obtaining appointments on the basis of fake B.Ed. 2005 degree can not be interfered with by invoking, equitable and discretionary jurisdiction under Article 226 of the Constitution of India. The concerned District Basic Education Officers shall find out petitioners within four weeks from today from Appendix I to this Judgement. Those petitioners who have been declared fake students as per Appendix I, their order of cancellation of appointments or dismissal from service passed by the concerned District Basic Education Officer are affirmed. The concerned District Basic Education Officers or other authorities shall be free to take further action in accordance with law against such petitioners including recovery of benefits obtained by the petitioners under the interim orders of this Court.

Whether regular disciplinary proceedings are required to be initiated in matters of petitioners who obtained employment on the basis of fake B.Ed. Degrees:-

53. Undisputedly, the petitioners who fall under the list of fake students, have obtained appointments on the post of Assistant Teacher on the basis of their fake B.Ed. Degrees. Regular disciplinary proceedings under the U.P. Basic Educational Staff Rules, 1973 (hereinafter referred to as "the Rules of 1973") and the U.P. Government Servant (Discipline and Appeal) Rules, 1999 (hereinafter referred to as "the Rules of 1999"), have not been initiated by the respective District Basic Education Officers before passing the impugned orders for cancellation their appointments or dismissal from service. The arguments of the learned counsels for the petitioners that the petitioners could not be dismissed from service or their appointments could not be cancelled without initiating proceedings under the Rules of 1973 and the Rules of 1999, have no substance under the facts and circumstances of the case.

54. Undisptuedly, B.Ed. was the essential qualification for appointment of the petitioners on the post of assistant teachers. The petitioners falling under the list of fake students, have obtained government employment on the post of assistant teachers, on the basis of fake B.Ed. Degrees. This was a fraudulent act. It is settled law that fraud and justice never dwell together. The forgery is in the basic eligibility conditions for appointments on the post of assistant teachers inasmuch as B.Ed. Degrees are fake. Consequently, these appointments are NULL and VOID. Therefore, the process of appointments of the petitioners who obtained government employment on the basis of fake B.Ed. Degrees, stand vitiated.

55. Hon'ble Supreme Court in Union of India & Anr. v. Raghuwar Pal Singh, (2018) 15 SCC 463 had examined a case, where the appointment letter was issued without approval of the competent authority. The question arose whether such appointment letter would be a case of nullity or a mere irregularity? In case of nullity, affording opportunity to the incumbent would be a mere formality and non-grant of opportunity may not vitiate the final decision of termination of his services. Hon'ble Supreme Court held that in absence of prior approval of the competent authority, the Director Incharge could not have hastened issuance of the appointment letter. The act of commission and omission of the Director Incharge would, therefore, suffer from the vice of lack of authority and nullity in law.

56. In Nidhi Kaim & Anr. v. State of Madhya Pradesh & Ors., (2017) 4 SCC 1, a three Judge Bench dealt with admission of students to MBBS Course on the basis of illegal and unfair admission process and held as under:

"92. ...Having given our thoughtful consideration to the above submission, we are of the considered view that conferring rights or benefits on the appellants, who had consciously participated in a well thought out, and meticulously orchestrated plan, to circumvent well laid down norms, for gaining admission to the MBBS course, would amount to espousing the cause of "the unfair". It would seem like allowing a thief to retain the stolen property. It would seem as if the Court was not supportive of the cause of those who had adopted and followed rightful means. Such a course would cause people to question the credibility of the justice-delivery system itself. The exercise of jurisdiction in the manner suggested on behalf of the appellants would surely depict the Court's support in favour of the sacrilegious. It would also compromise the integrity of the academic community. We are of the view that in the name of doing complete justice it is not possible for this Court to support the vitiated actions of the appellants through which they gained admission to the MBBS course.

94. ...Even in situations where a juvenile indulges in crime, he has to face trial, and is subjected to the postulated statutory consequences. Law, has consequences. And the consequences of law brook no exception. The appellants in this case, irrespective of their age, were conscious of the regular process of admission. They breached the same by devious means. They must therefore, suffer the consequences of their actions. It is not the first time that admissions obtained by deceitful means would be cancelled. This Court has consistently annulled academic gains arising out of wrongful admissions. Acceptance of the prayer made by the appellants on the parameter suggested by them would result in overlooking the large number of judgments on the point. Adoption of a different course, for the appellants, would trivialise the declared legal position. Reference in this behalf may be made to the judgments relied upon by the learned counsel representing Vyapam.

108. ...In the facts and circumstances of the case in hand, it would not be proper to legitimise the admission of the appellants to the MBBS course in exercise of the jurisdiction vested in this Court under Article 142 of the Constitution. We, therefore, hereby decline the above prayer made on behalf of the appellants."

43) In another three Judge Bench judgment in Chairman and Managing Director, Food Corporation of India & Ors. v. Jagdish Balaram Bahira & Ors.(2017) 8 SCC 670, the Court was examining the consequences of false caste certificate produced to seek appointment. The Court held as under:

"69. For these reasons, we hold and declare that:

69.3. The decisions of this Court in R.Vishwanatha Pillai v. State of Kerala, (2004) 2 SCC 105 : 2004 SCC (L&S) 350] and in Union of India v. Dattatray, (2008) 4 SCC 612 :(2008) 2 SCC (L&S) 6, which were rendered by Benches of three Judges laid down the principle of law that where a benefit is secured by an individual-such as an appointment to a post or admission to an educational institution--on the basis that the candidate belongs to a reserved category for which the benefit is reserved, the invalidation of the caste or tribe claim upon verification would result in the appointment or, as the case may be, the admission being rendered void or non est.

69.7. Withdrawal of benefits secured on the basis of a caste claim which has been found to be false and is invalidated is a necessary consequence which flows from the invalidation of the caste claim and no issue of retrospectivity would arise;"

(Emphasis supplied by me)

57. A Full Bench of the Hon'ble Patna High Court in the case of Rita Mishra & Ors. v. Director, Primary Education, Bihar & Ors. AIR 1988 Patna 26 has dealt with appointment in the education department claiming salary although the letter of appointment was forged, fraudulent and illegal. The Full Bench declined to grant such claim and held that "the right to salary stricto sensu springs from a legal right to validly hold the post for which salary is claimed. It is a right consequential to a valid appointment to such post. Therefore, where the very root is non-existent, there cannot subsist a branch thereof in the shape of a claim to salary. The rights to salary, pension and other service benefits are entirely statutory in nature in public service. Therefore, these rights, including the right to salary, spring from a valid and legal appointment to the post. Once it is found that the very appointment is illegal and is non est in the eye of law, no statutory entitlement for salary or consequential rights of pension and other monetary benefits can arise."

58. The aforesaid judgment of Full Bench of Patna High Court in the case of Rita Mishra (supra) was approved by a three Judges Bench of Hon'ble Supreme Court in R. Vishwanatha Pillai Vs. State of Kerala & Ors. (2004) 2 SCC 105.

59. A three Judges Bench of Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of State Of Bihar Vs. Kirti Narayan Prasad, decided on 30th November 2018 {reported in 2019 (1) ESC 3} has considered the matter of appointments made on the basis of forged appointment letter and held as under:

"17. In the instant cases the writ petitioners have filed the petitions before the High Court with a specific prayer to regularize their service and to set aside the order of termination of their services. They have also challenged the report submitted by the State Committee. The real controversy is whether the writ petitioners were legally and validly appointed. The finding of the State Committee is that many writ petitioners had secured appointment by producing fake or forged appointment letter or had been inducted in Government service surreptitiously by concerned Civil Surgeon-cum-Chief Medical Officer by issuing a posting order. The writ petitioners are the beneficiaries of illegal orders made by the Civil Surgeon-cum-Chief Medical Officer. They were given notice to establish the genuineness of their appointment and to show cause. None of them could establish the genuineness or legality of their appointment before the State Committee. The State Committee on appreciation of the materials on record has opined that their appointment was illegal and void ab initio.We do not find any ground to disagree with the finding of the State Committee. In the circumstances, the question of regularisation of their services by invoking para 53 of the judgment in Umadevi (supra) does not arise. Since the appointment of the petitioners is ab initio void, they cannot be said to be the civil servants of the State. Therefore, holding disciplinary proceedings envisaged byArticle 311of the Constitution or under any other disciplinary rules shall not arise."

60. Thus, those petitioners who have secured appointments on the basis of forged B.Ed. Degrees or marksheets and on that basis they have been inducted in Government service then they became beneficiary of illegal and fraudulent appointments. Such appointments are void ab initio. Therefore, holding disciplinary proceedings against them as envisaged by Article 311 of the Constitution of India or under any disciplinary rules including the Uttar Pradesh Basic Education Staff Rules, 1973 or the Uttar Pradesh Government Servant (Discipline and Appeal) Rules 1999, shall not arise.

Petitioners falling under the list of fake students whose matters are pending decision before the University:-

61. Pursuant to the notices dated 28.12.2019, total 814 persons falling under the list of fake students, have submitted online applications, out of which, 796 persons have not submitted the required information/papers. Only 18 persons have submitted the required information/papers. However, matters of all the 814 persons falling under the list of fake students/ fake B.Ed. Degrees, are pending decision before the University. In paragraph-13 of the supplementary counter affidavit dated 10.02.2020 filed in leading Writ-A No.190 of 2020, the respondent-University has stated that decision with regard to 814 persons will be taken within 21 days. However, it has not been brought on record whether the decision has been taken by the University or not with respect to 814 persons.

62. Therefore, the respondent-University is directed to take appropriate decision, in the matter of the aforesaid 814 persons falling in the list of fake students within three months from today, if decision has not been taken by the University as yet. In the event, the University is not able to take decision within the aforesaid period of three months due to some sound reason then before expiry of the period, it may apply before this court for extension of time narrating the reasons and annexing therewith copies of relevant papers in support of reasons. The respondent-University shall communicate the decision so taken to the Secretary, U.P. Basic Education Board, Prayagraj and the concerned alleged students within next three days of the decision and shall also upload it on its official website. The Secretary, U.P. Basic Education Board shall communicate the aforesaid decision of the University to the concerned District Basic Education Officers within next one week. Those petitioners who fall under the list of the aforesaid 814 fake students, their impugned orders of cancellation of appointments or dismissal from service shall abide by the decision of the University as aforesaid. Those petitioners whose B.Ed. Degree are declared fake by the University, their orders of cancellation of appointment/ dismissal from service shall sand affirmed. Those petitioners whose B.Ed. Degrees are found genuine by the respondent - University, their order of cancellation of appointments/ dismissal from service shall be immediately recalled by the concerned District Basic Education Officer. For a period of four months from today or till the decision of the University as aforesaid, whichever is earlier, no coercive action shall be taken against the petitioners falling under the aforesaid list of 814 fake students. However, payment of salary shall be made only to those petitioners whose

B.Ed. Degrees are found by the University to be genuine. It is further directed that if the respondent - University does not take decision within the stipulated period or within the extended period, if any, in respect of the aforesaid 814 persons, then an amount equivalent to 10% of the total salary of the petitioners falling under the list of the aforesaid 814 persons whose B.Ed. Degrees are found to be fake, shall be recovered by the State Government from the personal salary/assets of the Vice Chancellor, the Registrar and other responsible officers and employees of the University, who may be found by the State Government to be guilty to delay the decision. The recovery shall be made from them in such ratio as may be determined by the State Government. The period of three months to take decision, if not taken so far; has been granted to the University keeping in mind the period of lock-down and other hardships due to Pandemic COVID-19.

Tampered Marksheets

63. The respondent University has not yet taken decision in matters of petitioners who have allegedly obtained employment on the basis of tampered marksheet. The decision is to be taken by the respondent University in such matters in the light of the observations made by this Court dated 20.01.2020 in WRIT - A No. - 468 of 2020. These matters are still pending decision before the University. Therefore, to meet the ends of justice the respondent University is directed to conclude entire proceedings in accordance with law in matters of tampered mark-sheet, within six months from today and pass reasoned order/ orders and upload it on its official website. The respondent University within a week thereafter shall send a copy of the decision to the Secretary U.P. Basic Education Board, the concerned petitioners and the concerned District Basic Education Officers. For a period of six months or till orders as aforesaid are passed, whichever is earlier, no coercive action shall be taken against the petitioners falling under the list of tampered mark sheets, but payment of salary to them shall be made after their mark sheets/degrees are found genuine. Those petitioners whose B.Ed. Marksheets/degrees are held by the respondent - University to be tampered, their impugned orders of cancellation of appointments/dismissal from service passed by the concerned District Basic Education Officers, shall stand affirmed and the State-respondents shall be free to take further action in accordance with law, if any, including recovery of benefits obtained by such petitioners under the interim orders of this Court. Those petitioners whose marksheets/degrees are found genuine by the respondent University, their order of cancellation of appointment/dismissal from service shall be recalled by the concerned District Basic Education Officers within one week from the date of receipt of decision of the respondent University. The period of six months as aforesaid has been granted to the University keeping in mind the lock-down period and other hardships due to Pandemic COVID-19. However, liberty is granted to the University to apply for extension of time for strong and cogent reasons.

Analysis of other submissions of the petitioners:-

64. Learned counsel for the petitioners in Writ-A No.12792 of 2019, Writ-A No.14097 of 2019 and Writ-A No.2858 of 2018, has submitted that mark-sheets of the petitioners have been alleged to be tampered whereas no such allegation can be made in view of the fact that the marks mentioned in their marksheets are lower-than the marks mentioned in the tabulation chart. If it is so, then these petitioners allegedly of tampered marksheet category, may appear before the respondent-University in response to the notices issued by the University and may raise all their objections before the University.

65. Sri Dinesh Rai, learned counsel for the petitioner in Writ-A No.60007 of 2017 has submitted that the name of the petitioner is neither in the list of fake students nor in the list of tampered marksheet. Therefore, the impugned order of dismissal of the petitioner from service is not sustainable. This writ petition has been filed praying to quash the show cause notice dated 18.11.2017 issued by the District Basic Education Officer, Kasganj. Proper course for the petitioner is to submit reply before the authority concerned. Therefore, this writ petition is disposed of directing the petitioner to submit reply before the authority concerned within six weeks from today, if not submitted so far and the authority concerned shall take an appropriate decision in accordance with law within next six weeks.

66. Sri Satyendra Chandra Tripathi while arguing in Writ-A No.467 of 2020, Writ-A No.377 of 2020, Writ-A No.367 of 2020 and Writ-A No.939 of 2020, has submitted that the B.Ed. Degrees of the petitioners are of the batch 2003-04 while report of the SIT is with respect to the B.Ed. Batch 2004-05 and, therefore, the petitioners could not have been declared as fake students. Perusal of the impugned order dated 04.01.2020 in Writ-A No.939 of 2020 shows that the appointment of the petitioner has been cancelled on the ground of tampered marksheets. Perusal of paragraphs-8 and 9 of the writ petition prima facie shows that the petitioner completed his B.Ed. in the year 2004. However, there is no consideration of this fact by the District Basic Education Officer, Etawah. Therefore, the order dated 04.01.2020 impugned in Writ-A No.939 of 2020, is quashed. Liberty is granted to the respondent District Basic Education Officer, Etawah to pass an order afresh in accordance with law, after affording opportunity of hearing to the petitioner. So far as the Writ-A Nos.367, 377 and 467, all of 2020 are concerned, I find that the alleged marks-sheets of the petitioners are of B.Ed. Examination 2005 which do not even bear enrollment number. Thus, facts of these writ petitions are different from Writ-A No.939 of 2020. The petitioners of these Writ-A Nos.367, 377 and 467, all of 2020 may participate in the proceeding before the University, if they fall under the category of Tampered Mark-sheets. If they fall under the category of fake students and have been/ are declared fake students by the University, then impugned order of cancellation of appointment or dismissal from service shall stand affirmed.

67. Learned counsel for the petitioner in Writ-A No.320 of 2020 has submitted that the petitioner's appointment has been cancelled by the impugned order dated 11.12.2019 on the ground that he is fake student and obtained employment on the basis of B.Ed. Degree of the Academic Session 2004-05 of Dr. B.R. Ambedkar University, Agra, bearing Roll No.5129087. In paragraph-5 of the writ petition, the petitioner has mentioned that he has passed B.Ed. in the year 2002 from University of Calcutta. He has filed copy of B.Ed. Marksheet of University of Calcutta of B.Ed. Examination 2002 as Annexure-1 to the writ petition. He has also filed photostat copy of a self attested marksheet of B.Ed. 2005 of Dr. B.R. Ambedkar University, Agra as Annexure-16 to the writ petition and has alleged in paragraph-18 of the writ petition that the District Basic Education Officer has provided copy of the aforesaid B.Ed. 2005 mark-sheet. In paragraph-17, the petitioner has alleged to have submitted a reply dated 28.11.2019 before the respondent No.4 in response to the notice dated 18.11.2019 in which he mentioned about his B.Ed. Degree, 2002 from University of Calcutta. He has stated that he has neither applied for B.Ed. Course 2005 from Dr. B.R. Ambedkar University, Agra nor has obtained employment on the basis of B.Ed. Degree of Dr. B.R. Ambedkar University. This aspect of the matter has not been considered in the impugned order dated 11.12.2019. Therefore, the impugned order dated 11.12.2019 is quashed. The respondent No.4 is directed to pass a reasoned order afresh in accordance with law within six weeks. While passing the order, the respondent No.4 shall also examine records relating to the petitioner for obtaining employment as Assistant Teacher and other relevant material before him, without being influenced by any of the observations made in this paragraph. The writ petition is disposed of with these observations.

Judgments relied by petitioners:

68. Sri R.K. Ojha has relied upon certain judgments mentioned in Para-26 above, which are distinguishable on facts of the present case. In Roop Singh Negi's case (supra) relied by him, the facts were that Roop Singh was a peon in the bank and disciplinary proceeding was initiated against him after five years of the incidence of issuance of some bank drafts which were alleged to have been issued from a book, which was allegedly taken away by the aforesaid peon. It was found that the draft book remained in custody of the branch manager. No witness was examined to prove relied upon documents. The only basic evidence relied by the Inquiry Officer was the purported confession of Roop Singh before the police, for which the Roop Singh stated that he was forced to sign on the said confession as he was tortured in the police station. On these facts, Hon'ble Supreme Court held that departmental proceeding is a quasi judicial proceeding and inquiry report was found to be not based on any evidence. The facts of the present cases are entirely different, which have been discussed in detail in preceding paragraphs. Therefore, this judgment is of no help to the petitioner. In the case of Subodh Kumar Prasad (supra), the facts were that services of the appellant in that case who was compounder, were terminated on the basis of receipt of a letter from the Civil Surgeon that no appointment letter was issued. On peculiar facts of that case, Hon'ble Supreme Court distinguished its judgment in the case of Ashwini Kumar and set aside the order passed by the disciplinary authority. The principles of law regarding cancellation of appointment or dismissal from service in matters where the basic eligibility certificate is forged or fake, has been settled in various judgments and some of the judgments have been discussed and followed by me as mentioned in preceding paragraph Nos.52 to 58 of this judgment. The judgment in the case of Union of India vs. Ashok Kumar (supra), is also distinguishable on facts of the present cases. In the relied upon paragraph-37 of the said judgment, this court held that the allegation of fraud, i.e. the charge levelled could not be proved by adducing any cogent and credible evidence before the Inquiry Officer and the entire attempt of the petitioners (Union of India) was that ex parte inquiry conducted by vigilance authorities and conclusion drawn by them shall be taken as a conclusive evidence to uphold the punishment. In the present cases, the facts are entirely different. The respondent - University has declared certain persons to be fake students after affording reasonable opportunity of hearing. These petitioners have even failed to supply the essential informations and documents relating to their alleged B.Ed. Degrees. With respect to remaining fake students and tampered marksheets, matters are still pending before the University. Thus, the judgment relied is distinguishable on the facts of the present cases. The judgment in the case of LIC of India and others (supra), is on entirely different set of facts and principles. The judgment in the case of S.N. Mukherjee vs. Union of India, (1990) 4 SCC 594 relied by Sri Shashi Nandan, learned senior advocate, is with respect to the necessity of recording of reasons by an authority while exercising quasi judicial function. In the present set of facts, notices were issued and all the persons who were classified as fake students, were required to submit certain informations and copies of certain essential papers relating to their alleged B.Ed. degrees, which were not submitted by them. With respect to remaining persons who submitted reply, matters are pending decision before the respondent-University. The judgment of Kerla High Court dated 22.06.2017 in Criminal Misc. Case No.1877 of 2015 relied by Sri Ashok Khare, relates to a criminal case.

CONCLUSION:-

69. In view of the above discussion and findings, my conclusions are briefly as under:-

(i) Crux of the Division Bench judgment in the case of Shri Puran Prasad Gupta Memorial Degree College (supra) was that the University was to declare result of 85% students admitted in private unaided professional colleges and 50% students admitted by such colleges under Management quota.

(ii) The SIT adjusted all the excess admitted students in these 25 private unaided professional colleges, i.e. upto 85% students by counselling and upto 50% students by management as evident from the facts and figures mentioned in item Nos.1 to 7 of Para-38 above. Thus, the submissions of learned counsels for the petitioners that the SIT has not considered the excess admitted students whose results were declared in terms of the Division Bench judgment in the case of Shri Puran Prasad Gupta Memorial Degree College (supra); is incorrect, vague and baseless.

(iii) Perusal of facts and figures based on records as briefly summarised in para 38 above reveals that there were total 8150 sanctioned seats for B.Ed. Course 2005 out of which 5340 seats were in 57 Affiliated Aided Colleges. Remaining 2810 seats were in 25 private unaided colleges to which benefit of Division Bench orders in Shri Puran Prasad Gupta

Memorial Degree College case (supra) was extended. Perusal of item Nos.2, 3, 4, 5, 6 and 7 of the chart in para-38 above leaves no doubt that the ratio of admission by counselling and management was maintained. Total 8899 students including 873 excess students who participated in the B.Ed. 2005 examination, their results were also declared. These 8,899 genuine students and 3637 + 45 fake students have been segregated. Notices dated 28.12.2019 have been issued by the University to the aforesaid fake students.

(iv) Pursuant to the decision of the Executive Council dated 06.12.2019, the list of 3637 fake students, 1084 students having tampered marksheets and 45 persons having fake duplicate roll numbers were uploaded on the official website of the University on 28.12.2019. Notices were also issued and uploaded on the official website. Notices were also published in largely circulated daily news papers requiring all the three categories of persons to submit information on the points mentioned in the questionnaire within 15 days, online and by registered/speed post.

(v) Vide Para-33 of the judgment in Tilak Singh and 495 others (supra), this court held that perusal of the aforesaid questionnaire reveals that it has not sought any information which can be said to be not available with the petitioners and these informations are essential to find out and segregate fake and tampered marks sheet/ degree. Despite this, out of 3637 fake students, 2823 have neither responded nor submitted any information. Response from only 814 students of fake students list were received by the University. Out of these 814 students, 796 students have not submitted any information/papers. Only 18 students have submitted informations/papers. Matters of these 814 students are pending decision before the University. In para 13 of the supplementary counter affidavit the University has stated that decision shall be taken within 21 days in respect of these 814 persons.

(vi) The petitioners who obtained appointments on the post of Assistant Teachers on the basis of fake B.Ed. Degrees and who fall under 2,823 fake students declared by the University, their orders of cancellation of appointments or dismissal from service on the ground of obtaining appointments on the basis of fake B.Ed. 2005 degree can not be interfered with by invoking, equitable and discretionary jurisdiction under Article 226 of the Constitution of India. The concerned District Basic Education Officers shall find out petitioners within four weeks from today from Appendix I to this Judgement. Those petitioners who have been declared fake students as per Appendix I, their order of cancellation of appointments or dismissal from service passed by the concerned District Basic Education Officer are affirmed. The concerned District Basic Education Officers or other authorities shall be free to take further action in accordance with law against such petitioners including recovery of benefits obtained by the petitioners under the interim orders of this Court.

(vii) Undisptuedly, B.Ed. was the essential qualification for appointment of the petitioners on the post of assistant teachers. The petitioners falling under the list of fake students, have obtained government employment on the post of assistant teachers, on the basis of fake B.Ed. Degrees. This was a fraudulent act. It is settled law that fraud and justice never dwell together. The forgery is in the basic eligibility conditions for appointments on the post of assistant teachers inasmuch as B.Ed. Degree are fake. Therefore, the process of appointments of the petitioners who obtained government employment on the basis of fake B.Ed. Degrees, stands vitiated.

(viii) Thus, those petitioners who have secured appointments on the basis of forged B.Ed. Degrees or marksheets and on that basis they have been inducted in Government service then they became beneficiary of illegal and fraudulent appointments. Such appointments are void ab initio. Therefore, holding disciplinary proceedings against them as envisaged by Article 311 of the Constitution of India or under any disciplinary rules including the Uttar Pradesh Basic Education Staff Rules, 1973 or the Uttar Pradesh Government Servant (Discipline and Appeal) Rules 1999, shall not arise.

(ix) The respondent-University is directed to take appropriate decision, in the matter of the aforesaid 814 persons falling in the list of fake students within three months from today, if decision has not been taken by the University as yet. In the event, the University is not able to take decision within the aforesaid period of three months due to some sound reason then before expiry of the period, it may apply before this court for extension of time narrating the reasons and annexing therewith copies of relevant papers in support of reasons. The respondent-University shall communicate the decision so taken to the Secretary, U.P. Basic Education Board, Prayagraj and the concerned alleged students within next three days of the decision and shall also upload it on its official website. The Secretary, U.P. Basic Education Board shall communicate the aforesaid decision of the University to the concerned District Basic Education Officers within next one week. Those petitioners who fall under the list of the aforesaid 814 fake students, their impugned orders of cancellation of appointments or dismissal from service shall abide by the decision of the University as aforesaid. Those petitioners whose B.Ed. Degree are declared fake by the University, their orders of cancellation of appointment/ dismissal from service shall sand affirmed. Those petitioners whose B.Ed. Degrees are found genuine by the respondent - University, their order of cancellation of appointments/ dismissal from service shall be immediately recalled by the concerned District Basic Education Officer. For a period of four months from today or till the decision of the University as aforesaid, whichever is earlier, no coercive action shall be taken against the petitioners falling under the aforesaid list of 814 fake students. However, payment of salary shall be made only to those petitioners whose B.Ed. Degrees are found by the University to be genuine. It is further directed that if the respondent - University does not take decision within the stipulated period or within the extended period, if any, in respect of the aforesaid 814 persons, then an amount equivalent to 10% of the total salary of the petitioners falling under the list of the aforesaid 814 persons whose B.Ed. Degrees are found to be fake, shall be recovered by the State Government from the personal salary/assets of the Vice Chancellor, the Registrar and other responsible officers and employees of the University, who may be found by the State Government to be guilty to delay the decision. The recovery shall be made from them in such ratio as may be determined by the State Government. The period of three months to take decision, if not taken so far; has been granted to the University keeping in mind the period of lock-down and other hardships due to Pandemic COVID-19.

(x) to meet the ends of justice the respondent University is directed to conclude entire proceedings in accordance with law in matters of tampered mark-sheet, within six months from today and pass reasoned order/ orders and upload it on its official website. The respondent University within a week thereafter shall send a copy of the decision to the Secretary U.P. Basic Education Board, the concerned petitioners and the concerned District Basic Education Officers. For a period of six months or till orders as aforesaid are passed, whichever is earlier, no coercive action shall be taken against the petitioners falling under the list of tampered mark sheets, but payment of salary to them shall be made after their mark sheets/degrees are found genuine. Those petitioners whose B.Ed. Marksheets/degrees are held by the respondent - University to be tampered, their impugned orders of cancellation of appointments/dismissal from service passed by the concerned District Basic Education Officers, shall stand affirmed and the State-respondents shall be free to take further action in accordance with law, if any, including recovery of benefits obtained by such petitioners under the interim orders of this Court. Those petitioners whose marksheets/degrees are found genuine by the respondent University, their order of cancellation of appointment/dismissal from service shall be recalled by the concerned District Basic Education Officers within one week from the date of receipt of decision of the respondent University. The period of six months as aforesaid has been granted to the University keeping in mind the lock-down period and other hardships due to Pandemic COVID-19. However, liberty is granted to the University to apply for extension of time for strong and cogent reasons.

(xi) Writ-A No.60007 of 2017 has been filed praying to quash the show cause notice dated 18.11.2017 issued by the District Basic Education Officer, Kasganj. Proper course for the petitioner is to submit reply before the authority concerned, who shall take decision in accordance with law as per direction in Para-65 above.

(xii) Perusal of the impugned order dated 04.01.2020 in Writ-A No.939 of 2020 shows that the appointment of the petitioner has been cancelled on the ground of tampered marksheet. Perusal of paragraphs-8 and 9 of the writ petition prima facie shows that the petitioner completed his B.Ed. in the year 2004. However, there is no consideration of this fact by the District Basic Education Officer, Etawah. Therefore, the impugned order dated 04.01.2020 is quashed. Liberty is granted to the respondent District Basic Education Officer, Etawah to pass an order afresh in accordance with law, after affording opportunity of hearing to the petitioner.

(xiii) In paragraph-5 of Writ-A No.320 of 2020, the petitioner has mentioned that he has passed B.Ed. in the year 2002 from University Calcutta. He has filed copy of B.Ed. Marksheet of University of Calcutta of B.Ed. Examination 2002 as Annexure-1 to the writ petition. The petitioner has alleged to have submitted a reply dated 28.11.2019 before the respondent No.4 in response to the notice dated 18.11.2019 in which he mentioned about B.Ed. Degree, 2002 from University of Calcutta. He has stated that he has neither applied for B.Ed. Course 2005 from Dr. B.R. Ambedkar University, Agra nor has obtained employment on the basis of B.Ed. Degree of Dr. B.R. Ambedkar University. This aspect of the matter has not been considered in the impugned order dated 11.12.2019. Therefore, the impugned order dated 11.12.2019 is quashed. The respondent No.4 is directed to pass a reasoned order afresh in accordance with law within six weeks. While passing the order, the respondent No.4 shall also examine records relating to the petitioner for obtaining employment as Assistant Teacher and other relevant material before him, without being influenced by any of the observations made in Para-67 above.

70. With the aforesaid detail observations/ directions all the writ petitions are disposed off.

(Para 17, 18 and 20)
Special Appeal allowed; Writ Petition dismissed (E-1)

Cases relied on :-

1. Jagdish Parwani Vs U.O.I. & ors. (2018) 15 SCC 591

(Delivered by Hon'ble Dr. Yogendra Kumar Srivastava, J.)

1. The present intra court appeal seeks to challenge the judgment and order dated 18.07.2019 passed by a learned Single Judge in Writ-A No. 10674 of 2019 (Dr. Raj Kamal Singh Vs. State of U.P. and 2 others), whereby the writ petition has been allowed and the order dated 05.04.2019 passed by the State Government which was impugned therein has been quashed.

2. The authorities of the State Government who were the respondents in the writ petition are the appellants before us.

3. Learned Additional Advocate General appearing for the appellants has submitted that the learned Single Judge has erroneously proceeded on a presumption that the writ petitioner had been appointed by the State Government on 26.08.2015 i.e. prior to 24.09.2015 when the relevant government order was issued clarifying that the benefit of an earlier government order dated 12.06.1998 with regard to pay protection would not be available to a government servant appointed by open recruitment.

4. It is submitted that the writ petitioner in fact submitted his joining pursuant to a subsequent appointment order dated 20.09.2016, which is after issuance of the government order dated 24.09.2015, and in view thereof the judgment of the learned Single Judge having been rendered on an incorrect factual premise, cannot be legally sustained.

5. Learned counsel appearing for the respondent-writ petitioner has tried to support the judgment of the learned Single Judge by submitting that though the petitioner had joined the post of Lecturer at the State Medical College, Jhansi, pursuant to the appointment order dated 20.09.2016, he had initially been granted appointment in terms of an appointment order dated 26.08.2015 which was prior in time to the issuance of the government order dated 24.09.2015 and as such the benefit of pay protection could not have been denied to him.

6. In order to appreciate the rival contentions, the relevant facts, as are reflected from the records before us, are required to be noticed.

7. The subject matter of the controversy pertains to appointment against a post of Lecturer in a State Medical College in Uttar Pradesh, which is governed by the Uttar Pradesh State Medical Colleges Teachers Services Rules, 19991, as amended from time to time. Under the aforesaid Rules, the appointing authority is the Governor of the State.

8. As per Rule 5 of the aforesaid Service Rules, the posts of Lecturers in State Medical Colleges are to be filled up by direct recruitment on the recommendation of the Uttar Pradesh Public Service Commission2. The vacancies existing in the teaching cadre in the State Medical Colleges were notified to the Commission and the same were advertised in terms of an advertisement dated 24.08.2013 inviting online applications for filling up the vacancies by direct recruitment. Pursuant to the said advertisement, the respondent-petitioner submitted his application and was selected by the Commission on the basis of an interview. Consequent thereto, the State Government issued an appointment order dated 26.08.2015 whereunder the petitioner was granted appointment and posting against the post of Lecturer (Tuberculosis and Respiratory Medicine/Pulmonary Medicine) at the Medical College, Azamgarh. The appointment order provided for a specific condition whereunder the petitioner was required to join the post within a period of one month, failing which the appointment order was to be cancelled and his candidature would cease. It transpires that the petitioner did not join within the stipulated time period, and another appointment order dated 20.09.2016 was issued whereunder he was appointed/posted at the Medical College, Jhansi, on the same terms and conditions as under the earlier order dated 26.08.2015. Accepting the subsequent appointment order dated 20.09.2016, the petitioner joined the post of Lecturer at the Medical College, Jhansi on 07.10.2016, and raised a claim for pay protection which came to be turned down by the State Government by means of an order dated 05.04.2019 by assigning the reason that since the petitioner had been appointed after 24.09.2015, his case would not be covered as per terms of Government Orders dated 24.09.2015, 08.07.2016 and 12.06.1998, and accordingly he would not be entitled for the benefit of pay protection. Challenging the aforesaid order dated 05.04.2019, the writ petition was filed which has been allowed in terms of the judgment under appeal.

9. The policy of the State Government with regard to grant of pay protection to persons working in Public Sector Undertakings/Corporations, Universities prior to their appointment in services under the government was governed in terms of a government order dated 12.06.1998 which provided that the candidates working in Public Sector Undertakings/Corporations and Universities, who were appointed upon selection made by the Public Service Commission or a duly constituted selection committee, would be granted the benefit of pay protection. Subsequently, a government order dated 24.09.2015 was issued clarifying that the benefit of the earlier government order dated 12.06.1998 would not be available to a government servant who had been appointed consequent to his selection in a recruitment based on open competition. The government order dated 24.09.2015 was further amended with the issuance of another government order dated 08.07.2016 containing a stipulation that the claims made with regard to pay protection in cases where appointments had been made subsequent to 24.09.2015 would be governed as per the provisions under the government order dated 24.09.2015. For ease of reference the two government orders dated 24.09.2015 and 08.07.2016 are being extracted herein below :-

उपर्युक्त विषयक वित्त विभाग के शासनादेश संख्या जी–2–359/दस–1998, दिनांक 12 जून, 1998 शासनादेश संख्या जी–2–1252/दस–2000–301–98, दिनांक 21 नवम्बर, 2000 एवं शासनादेश संख्या जी–2–929/दस–2004–301/98, दिनांक 19 मई, 2004 द्वारा राज्य सरकार के अपने सार्वजनिक उपक्रम/निगम, विश्वविद्यालय में कार्यरत् कर्मियों तथा भारत सरकार के सार्वजनिक उपक्रम/निगम में कार्यरत् कर्मियों को लोक सेवा आयोग/सक्षम स्तर के चयन समिति द्वारा चयनोपरान्त राज्य सरकार की सेवा में नियुक्ति पर वेतन संरक्षण की व्यवस्था की गयी है जो भारत सरकार द्वारा समान विषय पर की गयी व्यवस्था पर आधारित है।

2–उल्लेखनीय है कि भारत सरकार द्वारा उपर्युक्त व्यवस्था के संदर्भ में निर्गत अपने मूल

शासनादेश के संबंध में अपने कार्यालय ज्ञापन संख्या – 12/1/96/– म्जजण;च्ंल.1द्ध दिनांक 10–07–98 द्वारा यह स्पष्टीकरण भी निर्गत किया गया है कि सार्वजनिक उपक्रमों निगम विश्वविद्यालय में कार्यरत कर्मियों को खुली प्रतियोगिता के आधार पर भारत सरकार की सेवा में नियुक्त होने पर वेतन संरक्षण का लाभ देय नहीं है। राज्य सरकार द्वारा भी अपने शासनादेश दिनांक 12 जून, 1998 में यह स्पष्ट प्राविधान किया गया है कि राजकीय सेवा में नियुक्ति पर सार्वजनिक उपक्रम आदि में प्राप्त वेतन संरक्षण की सुविधा इसलिये प्राविधानित की जा रही है ताकि उनमें कार्यरत बुद्धिजीवी सेवकों को राजकीय सेवा में आकर्षित किया जा सके। खुली प्रतियोगिता से उक्त उद्देश्य की पूर्ति किसी भी स्थिति में नहीं होती है, अपितु लोक सेवा आयोग अथवा सक्षम स्तर के चयन में विशिष्ट योग्यता धारको का चयन किये जाने पर ही ऐसी स्थिति बनती है। अतएव सम्यक विचारोपरान्त भारत सरकार की व्यवस्था एवं राज्य सरकार के शासनादेश के सदंर्भ में सार्वजनिक उपक्रम/निगम, विश्वविद्यालय में कार्यरत् कर्मियों की लोक सेवा आयोग/सक्षम स्तर के चयन समिति द्वारा चयनोपरान्त राज्य सरकार की सेवा में नियुक्ति पर प्रदान किए गए वेतन संरक्षण के संदर्भ में पूर्व में जारी शासनादेशों के क्रम में यह स्पष्ट किया जाता है कि शासनादेश दिनांक 12–06–1998 द्वारा प्रदत्त वेतन संरक्षण की सुविधा का लाभ ऐसी स्थिति में देय नहीं है जबकि संबंधित सरकारी सेवक का चयन खुली प्रतियोगिता के आधार पर हुआ हो। बल्कि उक्त सुविधा का लाभ शासन द्वारा तभी अनुमन्य कराया जाना है, जब सार्वजनिक उपक्रमों/निगमों, विश्वविद्यालय में कार्यरत कर्मियों की विशेषज्ञता का लाभ लेने के लिये किसी विशिष्ट पद पर उनका चयन लोक सेवा आयोग द्वारा साक्षात्कार के माध्यम से किया जाये एवं लोक सेवा आयोग द्वारा शासन को प्रेषित अपने संस्तुति पत्र में यह स्पष्ट रूप से इंगित किया गया हो कि संबंधित कर्मी का वेतन उपरोक्त शासनादेश दिनांक 12–06–1998 के अन्तर्गत संरक्षित किया जाना है। इसके अतिरिक्त इस प्रकार नियुक्त सरकारी सेवकों को वेतन संरक्षण का लाभ तभी देय है जब वे अपने पूर्व पद पर स्थायी हों। इस प्रकार के प्रकरणों में वेतन संरक्षण के आदेश प्र0वि0 द्वारा वित्त विभाग की सहमति से जारी किए जायेंगे। जिन प्रकरणों में वेतन संरक्षण का लाभ वित्त विभाग की सहमति से पूर्व में अनुमन्य कराया जा चुका है, उन्हें पुनः नहीं खोला जायेगा।

10. In the facts of the case, it is not disputed that the petitioner did not join pursuant to the initial appointment order dated 26.8.2015 and it was only pursuant to a subsequent appointment order dated 20.09.2016 issued by the State Government that the petitioner joined the post of Lecturer at the State Medical College, Jhansi.

11. The writ petitioner, having admittedly joined the post of Lecturer (T.B./Chest) at the Medical College, Jhansi, on 07.10.2016 pursuant to the appointment order dated 20.09.2016, therefore cannot claim the benefit of pay protection on the basis of the previous appointment order dated 26.08.2015 offering appointment to the writ petitioner at Azamgarh.

12. The claim sought to be raised by the respondent-petitioner based on the earlier appointment order dated 26.08.2015 cannot be accepted for the simple reason that the offer of appointment in terms of the said appointment order was never acted upon. Subsequently, another order of appointment dated 20.09.2016 was issued and it was pursuant to the same that the petitioner joined the post of Lecturer at the State Medical College, Jhansi on 07.10.2016. The appointment of the petitioner thus cannot be treated as being prior to 24.09.2015.

13. The appointment of the petitioner against the post of Lecturer at the State Medical College, Jhansi, which has been ultimately accepted by him is therefore pursuant to the appointment order dated 20.09.2016 issued by the State Government which is clearly subsequent to the issuance of the Government Order dated 24.09.2015 clarifying the policy of the State Government with regard to pay protection.

14. The grant of pay protection, in a particular case, would depend on the prevalent policy, which may be based upon consideration of a variety of factors as also the recommendations made by expert bodies with little scope of interference in exercise of powers of judicial review. The entitlement to pay protection, if any, would thus flow strictly from the prevalent policy directives and any claim made in regard to the same would have to be tested on the basis of the said policy guidelines.

15. To support the aforesaid proposition, reference may be had to the decision in Jagdish Parwani Vs. Union of India and others3, in which a claim for pay protection sought on the basis of a notification issued by the Department of Personnel and Training, Government of India, on 28.02.1992, granting pay protection to employees selected by direct recruitment on or after 01.02.1992, was turned down and the appellant was held not entitled to benefit of pay protection since he had been appointed to the post prior to 01.02.1992. The relevant observations made in the judgment are as follows :-

"15. A bare perusal of the memorandum would make it crystal clear that the employees of the State Government undertakings selected for posts in the Central Government on direct recruitment basis on and after 1-2-1992 were also extended the benefit of pay protection, as was provided in the case of the employees of the Central Government public undertakings as per Notification dated 7-8-1989.

16. In the aforesaid notification, it was clearly stipulated that the said benefit of pay protection is effective only from the first of the month in which the OM is issued i.e. from 1-2-1992, which means that the said OM was given prospective effect only. Therefore, the said OM could even be said to be a clarification on the issue which is sought to be raised in the present case. It was clearly pointed out in the said notification that employees like the appellant would be entitled to get such pay protection, as employees of the State Government undertakings on their appointment in the Central Government service only from the effective date of 1-2-1992.

17. If the appellant would have been appointed for a post in the Central Government on direct recruitment basis after 1-2-1992 such benefit of pay protection could have been made available to him. But since the appellant was selected and appointed to a post in the Central Government on 23-2-1990 after working as an employee of the State Government undertaking viz. UPSEB, the Notification dated 7-8-1989 was not applicable to him and, therefore, he could not have legally claimed for any pay protection.

19. The position with regard to the entitlement or otherwise of the appellant for getting pay protection was made clear by issuing the Notification dated 28-2-1992 clearly stipulating therein that an employee of the State Government undertaking selected for post in the Central Government on direct recruitment basis would be entitled to pay protection upon appointment in the Central Government only effective from 1-2-1992. The appellant having joined the MES, Ministry of Defence prior to the aforesaid date was not entitled to the benefit of the aforesaid notification which was issued much after his joining date and, therefore, the benefit of the aforesaid notification is not available to the appellant."

16. On the question of entitlement to pay protection, the decision rendered in the aforementioned judgment of Jagdish Parwani, has held that the issue with regard to pay protection arises after an employee joins his new post, where he gets his new pay scale, and his entitlement to pay protection would be on the basis of applicable rules regarding pay protection at that stage. It was stated thus :-

"21. ...So far as getting pay protection is concerned, the said issue arises as soon as an employee joins his new post, where he gets his new pay scale and if he is entitled to any pay protection that is the stage and date when it is granted by whatever notifications, memorandums which are available and applicable at that stage laying down such rules regarding pay protection..."

17. In the instant case also, the writ petitioner, having accepted the appointment pursuant to an appointment order dated 20.09.2016, issued subsequent to the government orders dated 24.09.2015 and 08.07.2016, would be governed in terms of the policy guidelines under the said government orders and his claim for entitlement for pay protection would be as per the terms thereof.

18. The appointment of the petitioner having been made pursuant to selection based on direct recruitment in an open competition on the recommendation made by the Commission consequent to an advertisement, he would not be entitled to pay protection as per terms of the policy of the State Government under the government order dated 24.09.2015. The aforesaid position stands further clarified in terms of the subsequent government order dated 08.07.2016 whereunder it is provided that the matters relating to pay protection in respect of appointments made after 24.09.2015 would be governed as per the terms of the Government Order of the said date.

19. Counsel appearing for the respondent has not been able to dispute the aforesaid factual position with regard to the writ petitioner having not accepted the earlier appointment order dated 26.08.2015 in terms of which he had been appointed as Lecturer at the Medical College, Azamgarh, and that it was only pursuant to the subsequent appointment order dated 20.09.2016 that the petitioner accepted the offer of appointment and joined the post of Lecturer at the Medical College, Jhansi, on 07.10.2016.

20. The above being the undisputed factual position, we have no hesitation in coming to the conclusion that the judgment dated 18.07.2019 passed by the learned Single Judge has proceeded on a wrong factual premise, and, therefore, cannot be sustained, and accordingly the same is set aside.

21. The Special Appeal is, therefore, allowed.

22. The writ petition stands dismissed.

Writ Petition disposed off (E-1)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Surya Prakash Kesarwani, J.)

1. Heard Sri Indraraj Singh, learned counsel for the petitioners and Sri Shailendra Singh, learned standing counsel for the State respondents.

2. The petitioners are teachers in Government Inter College, Prayagraj. They have been allotted residential quarters in the campus of Government Inter College, Prayagraj meant for residences of teachers, but the quarters were illegally occupied by the private respondents. Despite representations made by the petitioners, the aforesaid residential quarters were not vacated. Therefore, the petitioners have filed the present two writ petitions. In the leading Writ-A No. 1439 of 2020, this Court passed the following order on 31.1.2020:-

"Heard Sri Adarsh Singh, learned counsel for the petitioner, Sri Shailendra Singh, learned standing counsel for the respondent nos. 1 to 5 and Sri Vivek Yadav, learned counsel for the respondent no. 6.

Briefly stated facts of the present case are that the petitioner is an Assistant Teacher in Government Inter College, Prayagraj. By order dated 16.5.2017, the government residential quarter for teacher being Quarter No. C-1 was allotted to him by competent Authority i.e. the respondent no. 4. The aforesaid quarter has been illegally occupied by the respondent no. 6 who was working as Sahitiyak Sahayak Madhyamik Shiksha Parishad, Prayagraj. Since, the respondent no. 6 was not vacating the aforesaid illegally occupied government residential quarter, therefore, the petitioner moved a representation dated 3.6.2017 before the Secretary (Secondary) Education, Government of U.P. who issued a direction dated 3.7.2017 to the respondent no. 1 directing that the possession of the allotted government residential quarter be given to the petitioner within one month and report be submitted within a week. Thereafter, Additional Director of Education (Madhyamik), Allahabad sent a letter dated 25.8.2017 to the District Magistrate, Allahabad and Nagar Ayukta, Nagar Nigam, Allahabad requesting for removal of encroachments from the government land by certain unsocial elements who have constructed shops in the campus of Government Inter College, Prayagraj and also requested to remove illegal occupants from government residential quarter Nos. C-1 and C-6. Similar request was made by the Director of Education (Madhyamik), U.P., Allahabad to the District Magistrate, Allahabad vide letter dated 25.10.2017.

It appears that somehow the respondent no. 6 obtained some favourable letter from the Joint Director of Education, Prayagraj Region, Prayagraj, but it was also cancelled by the said Joint Director of Education vide his letter No. 3854-55 / 2019-20 dated 17.8.2019. It further appears that the respondent no. 6 has also removed some old trees from government residential quarter no. C-1, and therefore, the Principal of the Government Inter College, Prayagraj wrote a letter No. 803-05 dated 20.8.2019 to the respondent no. 6 to deposit the value of the trees and also vacate the government residential quarter.

The Additional Director of Education (Madhyamik), U.P., Prayagraj has also apprised the Joint Director of Education, Prayagraj and the District Magistrate, Prayagraj vide letter No. 391-97 dated 22.8.2019 about an order of this Court and to get vacate the government residential quarter, illegally occupied by the respondent no. 6. The Director of Education (Madhyamik), U.P., Prayagraj also wrote a letter no. 509 dated 6.9.2019 to the Secretary Madhyamik Shiksha Parishad for stopping the salary of the respondent no. 6 and to initiate disciplinary proceedings against her for illegal occupation of the government residential quarter and for disobedience of the Government Orders.

It appears that in the meantime, the respondent no. 6 filed a Writ-A No. 14176 of 2019 which was disposed of by order dated 24.9.2019 directing the Director of Education (Secondary) to pass an appropriate order in accordance with law within 15 days. It appears that pursuant to the aforesaid order of this Court, the Director of Education (Secondary) passed an order dated 12.12.2019 holding that the respondent no. 6 is in illegal occupation of the government residential quarter in the campus of Government Inter College, Prayagraj which is meant for teachers. Therefore, the Principal of the Government Inter College, Prayagraj again wrote a letter no. 1592-99 dated 17.12.2019 to the respondent no. 6 followed by letter dated 7.1.2020 directing the respondent no. 6 to vacate the government residential quarter in question and to hand over its vacant possession, but the respondent no. 6 did not obey it. The petitioner has also made representation before the District Magistrate, Prayagraj (respondent no. 5) and the Principal of the Government Inter College, Prayagraj, but nothing has been done and the respondent no. 6 is continuing in illegal occupation of the government residential quarter.

In Writ-A No. 18253 of 2019 (Rakesh Kumar Vs. Principal, Government Inter College, Prayagraj & 4 others), this Court considered similar controversy with respect to a residential quarter situate in the same Government Inter College, Prayagraj and following the law laid down by Hon'ble Supreme Court in several judgments, issued the following directions:-

"14. In the present case, since the accommodation has now been got vacated from the respondent No.5 and the allottee has been given possession of the allotted Government Accommodation, therefore, this writ petition is disposed of and the following directions are issued which shall be strictly complied with by the State Government:-

(i) The State Government shall ensure compliance of the directions of Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of S.D. Bandi (supra) and take immediate action against all such employees/ officers who are unauthorisedly over staying in a Government Accommodation after their retirement or transfer.

(ii) Necessary action shall be taken by competent authorities in the State of Uttar Pradesh against such Employees/Officers who are unauthorisidely over staying in Government allotted accommodation after their retirement or transfer (as suggested by Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of S.D. Bandi's case and directed to be implemented in Vimal Bhai case).

(iii) The State Government shall frame and adopt a uniform policy within two months from today, if not framed so far, for granting extension to retain the Government accommodation beyond prescribed limit and shall strictly adhere to it.

(iv) The State Government shall call for information from all the District Authorities in the State of Uttar Pradesh within two months from today about the Officers and Employees who are unauthorisedly over staying or retaining the Government accommodation beyond prescribed limit, after their retirement or transfer. Within next one month, the State Government shall ensure that all such Government accommodation being illegally or unauthorisedly occupied by retired/transferred Employees and Officers are vacated immediately. In the event, any inaction is shown by any authority, the State Government shall ensure that necessary action is also taken against such authorities.

15. With the aforesaid directions this writ petition is disposed of.

16. Let a copy of this judgment be sent by the Registrar General of this Court to the Chief Secretary, Government of Uttar Pradesh for necessary action and compliance."

It appears that neither the District Magistrate, Allahabad, nor the departmental officers of U.P. Secondary Education Department, nor the Chief Secretary of the State of U.P. have made any effort to obey and implement the statutory provisions, the judgment of Hon'ble Supreme Court and a clear direction given by this Court by order dated 28.11.2019 in the case of Rakesh Kumar (supra). The matter is serious and requires action to be taken against the State Authorities who prima-facie failed to discharge their duties.

Let a report be submitted by the Chief Secretary of State of U.P. before the next date fixed with respect to the compliance of the directions of this Court in the case of Rakesh Kumar (supra). The District Magistrate, Prayagraj and the Director of Education (Secondary), Prayagraj shall show cause for non compliance of the order of this Court in the case of Rakesh Kumar (supra).

Put up in the additional cause list on 5.2.2020.

If before the next date fixed, the residential quarter in question is not got vacated and steps for removal of encroachments in the campus of Government Inter College, Prayagraj are not taken by all the Authorities concerned, then the respondent nos. 1, 3 & 5 shall remain personally present before this Court.

This order shall be communicated by the learned Chief Standing Counsel to the respondent nos. 1, 3 & 5 within 24 hours."

3. This Court also took note of the order passed in Writ-A No. 18253 of 2019 (Rakesh Kumar Vs. Principal Government Inter College, Prayagraj & 4 others) in which directions were issued to the State Government to frame a policy for occupation of government residential quarters.

4. Today, an affidavit of Sri Rajendra Rajendra Kumar Tiwari, Chief Secretary, State of Uttar Pradesh dated 26.2.2020 has been filed. In paragraph 5 of the affidavit, the Chief Secretary has stated as under:-

3– अतः इस सम्बन्ध में मुझे यह कहने का निर्देश हुआ है कि सरकारी आवासों में अध्यासन की अवधि

The material facts which are imperative for the suitor to allege and prove constitutes the cause of action – It has been interpreted to mean that every fact which would be necessary for the plaintiff to prove, if traversed, in order to support his right to the judgment of the Court – Each and every fact pleaded in the writ petition cannot by itself constitute a cause of action – Facts which have no bearing on the lis or the dispute involved in the case, do not give rise to a cause of action so as to confer territorial jurisdiction on the Court concerned – Integral facts pleaded must have nexus or relevance with the lis so as to constitute a cause of action. (Para 12 and 20)

B. Constitution of India – Article 226(2) – Writ – Territorial Jurisdiction – Seat of Government or Authority – In view of the expression used in clause (2) of Article 226, even if a small fraction of cause of action accrues within the jurisdiction of the Court, the Court will have jurisdiction in the matter – To establish that the cause of action wholly or in part has arisen within the territorial jurisdiction of any High Court, the petitioner has to show that a legal right claimed by him has been infringed or is threatened to be infringed by the respondent within the territorial limits of the Court's jurisdiction and such infringement may take place by causing him actual injury or threat thereof – If the cause of action wholly or in part had arisen within the territory in relation to which it exercises jurisdiction, it can entertain the writ petition to pass orders or directions notwithstanding that the seat of the Government or authority or the residence of the person against whom the direction, order or writ is issued is not within its territories. 1. Heard Sri Vijay Gautam learned Senior Advocate assisted by Sri Amrish Chaterjee, Sri D.K. Mishra and Ms. Atipriya Gautam, learned advocates for the petitioners and Sri Satish Kumar Rai, Sri Manoj Kumar Singh, Sri Nand Lal, Sri Raghuraj Kishore Mishra and Sri Purnendu Kumar Singh, learned advocates appearing on behalf of the respondents.

2. This Larger Bench has been constituted under the orders of Hon'ble the Chief Justice on a reference made by the learned Single Judge vide judgment and order dated 25th January, 2017. In the writ petitions challenging the dismissal order and the order passed by the appellate and the revisional authority under the provisions of 11(1) of CRPF Act, 1949 readwith Rule 27 of Central Reserve Police Force Rules, 1955, a preliminary objection was raised with regard to the territorial jurisdiction of this Court. It was argued that no cause of action or part of cause of action has accrued to the petitioners within the State of U.P. and merely because the appellate and the revisional order had been communicated to them at their respective home districts in the State of Uttar Pradesh, same would not confer jurisdiction upon this Court to entertain the writ petitions.

3. The submission was that since the dismissal order has been passed by the Commandant, 129th Battalion, CRPF at Bhotgaon, Kokarajhar, Assam and was communicated to the petitioners there itself and further that the departmental appeal and revision have been rejected by the competent authorities at Bhopal, the remedy before the petitioners is to either approach the Gauhati High Court or Jabalpur High Court, whichever they choose. The writ petitions challenging the dismissal, appellate and revisional orders cannot be maintained in this Court.

4. The learned Single Judge in the referral order noted the arguments of Advocates for both sides in the following words:-

"In support of their contention the respondents have relied upon a Full Bench decision of this Court in the case of Rajendra Kumar Mishra Vs. Union of India reported in 2005 (1) UPLBEC 108 as well as a Division Bench judgement of this Court passed in Special Appeal No. 342 of 2010 The Director General CRPF, New Delhi Vs. Constable Lalji Pandey. The Division Bench in Lalji Pandey (supra) has relied upon the Full Bench decision of this Court in the case of Rajendra Kumar Mishra (supra) and held that mere communication of the order of dismissal, appellate and revisional orders at the residential address of the respondents (therein) at district Bhadohi would not confer territorial jurisdiction on this Court.

Shri Vijay Gautam, learned counsel for the petitioners, on the other hand, has placed reliance upon a judgment of the Supreme Court in the case of Nawal Kishore Sharma Vs. Union of India and others reported in (2014) 9 SCC 329. Paragraph 20 of the said judgment reads as under:

"17. We have perused the facts pleaded in the writ petition and the documents relied upon by the appellant. Indisputably, the appellant reported sickness on account of various ailments including difficulty in breathing. He was referred to hospital. Consequently, he was signed off for further medical treatment. Finally, the respondent permanently declared the appellant unfit for sea service due to dilated cardiomyopathy (heart muscles disease). As a result, the Shipping Department of the Government of India issued an order on 12.4.2011 cancelling the registration of the appellant as a seaman. A copy of the letter was sent to the appellant at his native place in Bihar where he was staying after he was found medically unfit. It further appears that the appellant sent a representation from his home in the State of Bihar to the respondent claiming disability compensation. The said representation was replied by the respondent, which was addressed to him on his home address in Gaya, Bihar rejecting his claim for disability compensation. It is further evident that when the appellant was signed off and declared medically unfit, he returned back to his home in the District of Gaya, Bihar and, thereafter, he made all claims an filed representation from his home address at Gaya and those letters and representations were entertained by the respondents and replied and a decision on those representations were communicated to him on his home address in Bihar. Admittedly, appellant was suffering from serious heart muscles disease (Dilated Cardiomyopathy) and breathing problem which forced him to stay in native place, wherefrom he had been making all correspondence with regard to his disability compensation.

Prima facie, therefore, considering all the facts together, a part or fraction of cause of action arose within the jurisdiction of the Patna High Court where he received a letter of refusal disentitling him from disability compensation."

Shri Vijay Gautam has further placed reliance upon two Division Bench judgments of this Court passed in Special Appeal Defective No. 785 of 2014 Bibhuti Narain Singh Vs. Food Corporation of India and others and Special Appeal No 158 of 2016 Har Govind Singh Vs. Union of India and others. In both the judgments, the two Division Benches have relied upon the judgment of the Supreme Court in the case of Nawal Kishore Sharma (supra). In the case of Bibhuti Narain Singh (supra) the Court has held that in view of the judgment of Nawal Kishore Sharma (supra), the communication of the penalty order to the appellants at Faizabad would confer jurisdiction on this Court (Lucknow Bench) to maintain the special appeal. In the case of Har Govind Singh, the Division Bench has considered the judgment of Nawal Kishore Sharma (supra) and Full Bench judgment in the case of Rajendra Kumar Mishra (supra) as well as the judgment of the Constitution Bench in AIR 1961 SC 532, Lieutenant Col. Khajoor Singh Vs. Union of India and others and thereafter referring to the judgment of Nawal Kishore Sharma (supra) with approval, has entertained the special appeal and directed the Union of India to file its response.

Learned counsel for the respondents on the other hand submitted that paragraph 17 of Nawal Kishore Sharma (supra) cannot be read in isolation but must be read alongwith the observations made by the Supreme Court in paragraphs 18 and 19 of the said judgment. It is submitted by them that the plea of jurisdiction was never taken before the High Court (therein). The High Court had issued notice in response to which parties appeared and participated in the proceedings before the High Court. The High Court had also passed an interim order directing the Shipping Corporation of India to pay a sum of Rs.2.75 lacs to the petitioner. However, when the writ petition was taken up for hearing the High Court took a view that no cause of action, not even a fraction of cause of action had arisen within its territorial jurisdiction. The submission is that it is in this context that the Supreme Court in paragraph 19 of the Nawal Kishore Sharma (supra) held that the petition ought not to have been dismissed for want of territorial jurisdiction.

The submission further is that in Bibhuti Narain Singh (supra), the Division Bench of the High Court has noticed that the appellant (employee therein) was posted at Faizabad where the penalty order of stoppage of annual increments was served upon him. It is, therefore, contended that this fact of the appellants posting at Faizabad, U.P., in any case would confer jurisdiction on the Lucknow Bench of the High Court even without the aid of Naval Kishore Sharma (supra) and therefore, the order/judgment in Bibhuti Narain Singh has no application to the facts of the present case. "

The conflict noticed by the learned Single Judge for reference to the Larger Bench is in the following words:-

"Having considered the judgments and orders referred to above, I am of the view that there is a conflict of opinion between the Full Bench judgment of this Court in the case of Rajendra Kumar Mishra (supra) and Constable Lalji Pandey (supra) on one hand and the orders passed by the two Division Benches of this Court in the case of Bibhuti Narain Singh (supra) and Har Govind Singh (supra) in the light of the judgment of the Supreme Court in the case of Nawal Kishore Sharma (supra) and this dispute, therefore, needs to be resolved by a larger Bench on the question with regard as to whether the observations of the Supreme Court in the case of Nawal Kishore Sharma (supra) in paragraph 17 can be said to be a binding precedent on this Court to entertain the above writ petitions or whether the observations of paragraph 17 were in the peculiar facts and circumstances of the case of Nawal Kishore Sharma (supra) in view of paragraphs 18 and 19 of the said judgment.

OR

In the alternative whether the judgment of the Full Bench in Rajendra Kumar Mishra (supra) and Constable Lalji Pandey (supra) can be said to still lay down the correct law in view of the judgment of the Supreme Court in Nawal Kishore Sharma (supra).

Therefore, in my opinion this controversy needs to be resolved by a larger Bench of this Court. Let the records of these cases be placed before the Hon'ble Chief Justice for constitution of a larger Bench to resolve the above conflict in the several decisions of this Court. "

5. Firstly we think it proper to re-formulate the questions referred for convenience:-

(i) Whether the judgments of the Full Bench in Rajendra Kumar Mishra Vs. Union of India1 and the Division Bench in The Director General CRPF, New Delhi Vs. Constable Lalji Pandey*2 are still good law in view of the decision of the Supreme Court in Nawal Kishore Sharma Vs. Union of India and others3?*

(ii) Whether the decisions of the Division Bench in Bibhuti Narain Singh Vs. Food Corporation of India and others*4 and* Har Govind Singh Vs. Union of India and others*5 are good law on the subject in the light of judgment of the Supreme Court in the case of Nawal Kishore Sharma3?*

(iii) Whether there is any conflict of opinion in the decisions of the Full Bench in Rajendra Kumar Mishra1 and Division Bench in Constable Lalji Pandey*2 on one hand and in Bibhuti Narain Singh4 and Har Govind Singh5 on the other in the matter of exercise of territorial jurisdiction by the High Court in view of clause (2) of Article 226 of the Constitution of India and the issue needs to be resolved by the authoritative decision of the Larger Bench?*

6. To answer the above questions, firstly we would be required to go through the above decisions of this Court referred for our consideration one by one.

(a) The Full Bench in Rajendra Kumar Mishra was constituted on a reference made by a learned Single Judge, wherein he had referred two contradictory Division Bench judgments of this Court in Saroj Mahanta (Mrs.), LT. Colonel v. Union of India6 and in Kailash Nath Tiwari v. Union of India, decided on 9.1.2002. The short question before the Full Bench was whether this Court had jurisdiction to decide the writ petition challenging the Court martial proceedings and the sentence awarded to the petitioner who was serving in Indian Army.

Learned Counsel for the petitioner therein had urged that in view of the decision of the Apex Court in Dinesh Chandra Gahtori v. Chief of Army Staff, a writ petition challenging the impugned sentence can be filed in any High Court in India as the Chief of Army Staff has been made respondent in that case. It was further urged that since the petitioner (therein) was resident of District Ballia within the State of Uttar Pradesh, the writ petition can be filed in the High Court at Allahabad.

Considering the law propounded by the Apex Court, referring to the various decisions, it was held by the Full Bench in paragraphs '39', '40' '41' and '42' as under:-

"39. Therefore, in order to understand and appreciate the binding force of a decision it is always necessary to see what were the facts in the case in which the decision was given and what was the point which had to be decided. No judgment can be read as if it is a statute. A word or a clause or a sentence in the judgment cannot be regarded as a full exposition of law.

40. For the reasons given above we arc of the opinion that the Chief of Army Staff can only be sued either at Delhi where he is located or at a place where the cause of action, wholly or in part, arises.

41. We may mention that a "cause of action" is the bundle of facts which, taken with the law applicable., gives the plaintiff a right to relief against the defendant. However, it must include some act done by the defendant, since in the .absence of an act, ho cause of action can possibly occur. [Vide Radhakrishnamurithy v. Chandrasekhara Rao, AIR 1966 A.P. 334; Ram Awalamb v. Jata Shankar, AIR 1969 All. 526 (FB), and Salik Ram Adya Prasad v. Ram hakhem and others, AIR 1973 All. 1071.

42. In the present case no part of the cause of action has arisen in U.P. Hence in our opinion the writ petition is not maintainable in this Court. It is accordingly dismissed. The decision of the Division Bench in Kailash Nath Tiwari v. Union of India (supra) in our opinion does not lay down the correct law and is overruled."

It can, thus, be seen that the question whether the writ petition challenging the Court martial proceedings and the order of the Chief of Army Staff was maintainable in this Court, was decided in the facts of that case, it was held that since no part of cause of action had arisen in the State of U.P., hence the writ petition was not maintainable in this Court.

We may record that after referring decisions of the Apex Court, the Full Bench has held that the Chief of Army Staff can only be sued either at Delhi or at a place where the cause of action, wholly or in part, arises.

Limited issue as to whether the writ petition challenging the order of the Chief of Army Staff can be maintained in this Court was answered by the Full Bench repelling the plea of the petitioner that in view of decision of the Apex Court in Dinesh Chandra Gahtori8, the Chief of Army Staff may be sued anywhere in the Country. It was held that the said observation cannot be construed to mean that the Supreme Court had laid down any absolute proposition that it is open to the petitioner to file a writ petition in any High Court in India. It was held that the said observation is only a laconic observation and cannot override the Larger Bench decisions of the Supreme Court, wherein it had laid down the principle that the place where whole or part of cause of action has arisen gives jurisdiction to the Court within whose territory such place is situate. Whether the cause of action has arisen within the territory of the particular Court will have to be determined in each case on its own facts in the context of the subject matter of the litigation, and relief claimed.

The Full Bench in Rajendra Kumar Mishra1, in principle has approved the decision of the Division Bench of this Court in Saroj Mahanta (Mrs.), LT. Colonel6, wherein it was stated that in order to determine as to whether the Court has a jurisdiction to entertain a petition, the pleadings in the petition have to be examined to form an opinion as to whether a cause of action partly or fully has arisen within the territorial jurisdiction of the Court. The Division Benches in Saroj Mahanta (Mrs.), LT. Colonel6, in the facts situation of that cases had concluded that this Court did not have territorial jurisdiction.

(b) In Constable Lalji Pandey2, the challenge before the Division Bench was to the punishment order dated 17.3.1994 of dismissal from service on the charge of unauthorized absence from duty. The writ petition was filed by the delinquent after exhausting departmental remedy of appeal as well as revision before the competent authorities which were also rejected. On a preliminary objection raised by the respondent with regard to the maintainability of the writ petition, the Division Bench has relied upon the view taken by the Full Bench in the case of Rajendra Kumar Mishra1 to hold that mere communication of dismissal, appellate and revisional orders at the residential address of the delinquent employee at District Bhadohi would not confer territorial jurisdiction to this Court. Mere residence of the petitioner within the territory of this Court would not confer jurisdiction to entertain the writ petition.

We may note here again that the Division Bench in Constable Lalji Pandey2 had decided the question of jurisdiction in the facts and circumstances of that case. It was noted that the delinquent employee who was a member of Central Reserve Police Force (C.R.P.F.) deliberately absented himself from duty for considerable long period without permission and due intimation to the department and without sending any medical certificate and proper application within time. He had not admitted himself in any of the C.R.P.F. Hospital and, therefore, his plea that he had fallen ill and could not join his duty, raised doubts about his conduct. The departmental authorities having considered various pleas raised by the petitioner in appeal and revision affirmed the punishment order. It can, thus, be clearly seen that the Division Bench had refused to entertain the writ petition rejecting on the plea that service of the dismissal, appellate and revisional orders upon the employee at his place of residence at Bhadohi would give rise to cause of action within the State of U.P. It was concluded that mere communication of the decisions at the residential address of a member of a disciplined force would not confer jurisdiction on this Court as the same cannot be said to be an integral fact to the bundle of facts which constitute cause of action in that case.

(c) Har Govind Singh5 is the decision where the Division Bench has relied upon the decision of the Apex Court in Nawal Kishore Sharma3 to set aside the order of the learned Single Judge in dismissing the writ petition. The matter was remitted to the writ Court to decide afresh keeping in view of the observation of the Apex Court in Nawal Kishore Sharma3.

With due respect to their lordships, in the order dated 26.11.2019 of the Division Bench, we do not find any reasoning given by it to reach at the conclusion as to how the order of learned Single Judge was wrong and why in their opinion, the issue required reconsideration by the Single Bench.

We, however, may note that the same issue in Har Govind Singh had been remitted twice. In an earlier decision dated 27.4.2016, it was observed by the earlier Division Bench that the writ petition filed in the year 2004 had wrongly been dismissed after 12 years of its institution on the ground of want of territorial jurisdiction.

Be that as it may, in our considered opinion, the conclusion drawn by the Division Bench in Har Govind Singh5 is not the law laid down as a binding precedent which merited this reference. The reference to the decision of the Division Bench in Har Govind Singh5 in the referral order is, thus, wholly irrelevant.

(d) In Bibhuti Narain Singh4, the Division Bench of this Court placing reliance on the judgment of the Apex Court in Nawal Kishore Sharma3 has held that the part of cause of action had arisen within the jurisdiction of this Court, inasmuch as, the petitioner (therein) was posted in Faizabad, a District in the State of U.P. when the order of penalty of stoppage of annual increment was served upon him. It was held that though whole departmental proceedings concluded at the place beyond the territorial jurisdiction of the Court but since the order of punishment was served at the place of posting of the petitioner, within the State of U.P., part of cause of action would lie within the territorial jurisdiction of this Court.

We may note here that the issue as to whether the whole or part of cause of action would lie within the jurisdiction of a Court or not is a question to be decided in each case on its own facts in the context of the subject matter of litigation and relief claimed as the expression "cause of action" constitutes bundle of facts which the petitioner must prove, if traversed, to entitle to him to a judgment in his favour by the Court. In determining the objection of lack of territorial jurisdiction, the court must take into consideration the facts pleaded in support of cause of action albeit without embarking upon an enquiry as to the correctness or otherwise of the said facts. Thus, the question of territorial jurisdiction must be decided on the facts pleaded in the petition and, thus, would depend on the facts of the case.

(e) In Nawal Kishore Sharma3, the issue before the Supreme Court was regarding validity of the order passed by the Patna High Court dismissing the appellant's writ petition for want of territorial jurisdiction. The Supreme Court has discussed the law on exercise of jurisdiction (territorial) by the writ Court prior to and subsequent to the Constitution (42nd) Amendment Act, 1976, whereby clause (2) was inserted in Article 226 of the Constitution of India which reads as under:-

Clause (2):- The power conferred by Clause (1) to issue directions, orders or writs to any Government, authority or person may also be exercised by any High Court exercising jurisdiction in relation to the territories within which the cause of action, wholly or in part, arises for the exercise of such power, notwithstanding that the seat of such Government or authority or the residence of such person is not within those territories. (3) xxxxx (4) xxxxx"

While tracing the law holding the field, the judgment of the Apex Court in State of Rajasthan and Others vs. M/s Swaika Properties and Another9, was noted, wherein the expression "cause of action" was considered to hold as under:-

"8. The expression "cause of action" is tersely defined in Mulla's Code of Civil Procedure:

"The "cause of action' means every fact which, if traversed, it would be necessary for the plaintiff to prove in order to support his right to a judgment of the court."

In other words, it is a bundle of facts which taken with the law applicable to them gives the plaintiff a right to relief against the defendant. The mere service of notice under Section 52(2) of the Act on the respondents at their registered office at 18-B, Brabourne Road, Calcutta i.e. within the territorial limits of the State of West Bengal, could not give rise to a cause of action within that territory unless the service of such notice was an integral part of the cause of action. The entire cause of action culminating in the acquisition of the land under Section 52(1) of the Act arose within the State of Rajasthan i.e. within the territorial jurisdiction of the Rajasthan High Court at the Jaipur Bench. The answer to the question whether service of notice is an integral part of the cause of action within the meaning of Article 226(2) of the Constitution must depend upon the nature of the impugned order giving rise to a cause of action. .....xxxxxxxxxxx"

The expression "cause of action" considered in the case of Oil and Natural Gas Commission vs. Utpal Kumar Basu and others10, was noted :-

"6. Therefore, in determining the objection of lack of territorial jurisdiction the court must take all the facts pleaded in support of the cause of action into consideration albeit without embarking upon an enquiry as to the correctness or otherwise of the said facts. In other words the question whether a High Court has territorial jurisdiction to entertain a writ petition must be answered on the basis of the averments made in the petition, the truth or otherwise whereof being immaterial. To put it differently, the question of territorial jurisdiction must be decided on the facts pleaded in the petition."

It was considered that in *Kusum Ingots & Alloys Ltd. vs. Union of India and Another*11, the Apex Court elaborately discussed Clause (2) of Article 226 of the Constitution, particularly the meaning of the word 'cause of action' with reference to Section 20(c) and Section 141 of the Code of Civil Procedure to hold that the entire bundle of facts pleaded need not constitute a cause of action as what is necessary to be proved before the petitioner can obtain a decree is the material facts. The expression material facts is also known as integral facts.

It was further observed that :-

"10. Keeping in view the expressions used in clause (2) of Article 226 of the Constitution of India, indisputably even if a small fraction of cause of action accrues within the jurisdiction of the Court, the Court will have jurisdiction in the matter."

It was noted that in Union of India and others vs. Adani Exports Ltd. and another12, the Apex Court has held that in order to confer jurisdiction on a High Court to entertain a writ petition, it must disclose that the integral facts pleaded in support of the cause of action do constitute a cause so as to empower the court to decide the dispute and the entire or a part of it arose within its jurisdiction. Each and every fact pleaded by the respondents in their application does not ipso facto lead to the conclusion that those facts give rise to a cause of action within the Court's territorial jurisdiction unless those facts are such which have a nexus or relevance with the lis i.e. the dispute involved in the case. Facts which have no bearing with the lis or the dispute involved in the case, do not give rise to a cause of action so as to confer territorial jurisdiction on the court concerned.

In Om Prakash Srivastava vs. Union of India and another13, it was observed that writ petitioners have to establish that a legal right claimed by them has prima facie either been infringed or is threatened to be infringed by the respondent within the territorial limits of the Court's jurisdiction and such infringement may take place by causing him actual injury or threat thereof.

In Rajendran Chingaravelu vs. R.K. Mishra, Additional Commissioner of Income Tax and Others14, the Apex Court while considering the scope of Article 226 of the Constitution, particularly the cause of action in maintaining a writ petition, held that clause (2) of Article 226 makes it clear that the High Court exercising jurisdiction in relation to the territories within which the cause of action arises wholly or in part, will have jurisdiction. This would mean that even if a small fraction of the cause of action (that bundle of facts which gives a petitioner, a right to sue) accrued within the territory of a State, the High Court of that State will have jurisdiction. .

Having considered the above decisions of the Apex Court, it was concluded in paragraph '16' in Nawal Kishore Sharma3 as under:-

"16. .....there cannot be any doubt that the question whether or not cause of action wholly or in part for filing a writ petition has arisen within the territorial limit of any High Court has to be decided in the light of the nature and character of the proceedings under Article 226 of the Constitution. In order to maintain a writ petition, the petitioner has to establish that a legal right claimed by him has been infringed by the respondents within the territorial limit of the Court's jurisdiction."

7. It was thus held that in order to maintain the writ petition, the petitioner has to establish that a legal right claimed by him has been infringed by the respondents within the territorial limit of the Court's jurisdiction.

8. Considering the above legal position, in the facts of that case in Nawal Kishore Sharma3, it was held by the Apex Court that the writ petition ought not to have been dismissed for want of territorial jurisdiction. The facts of the case noticed by the Apex Court were that the appellant while on duty reported sickness including difficulty in breathing and was referred to the hospital. Later, he was signed off for further medical treatment. Finally, the respondent permanently declared the appellant unfit for Sea services due to dilated Cardiomyopathy (heart muscles disease). As a result, the Shipping Department of the Government of India issued an order cancelling the registration of the appellant as a Seaman. A copy of the letter was sent to the appellant at his native place in Bihar, where he was staying after he was found medically unfit. Faced with this, the appellant sent a representation from his home in the State of Bihar to the respondent claiming disability compensation. The said representation was replied by the respondent, which was addressed to him at his home address in Gaya, Bihar, rejecting his claim for disability compensation.

9. Noticing the above facts, it was observed therein that admittedly, the appellant was suffering from serious heart muscles disease (Dilated Cardiomyopathy) and breathing problem which forced him to stay in his native place, wherefrom he had been making all correspondence with regard to his disability compensation. It was considered that all claims and representations filed by the appellant (therein) were entertained by the respondent and replied and decision on those representations were communicated to him at his home address in Bihar. Considering these facts together, it was held in Nawal Kishore Sharma3 that prima facie a part or a fraction of cause of action arose within the jurisdiction of the Patna High Court where he received the letter of refusal disentitling him from disability compensation. It was clearly observed by the Apex Court that the order of dismissal of writ petition on the ground of lack of jurisdiction cannot be sustained in the peculiar facts and circumstances of the case.

10. From an exhaustive reading of the decision in Nawal Kishore Sharma3, it is evident that the question of maintainability of the writ petition in Patna High Court was decided in the peculiar facts and circumstances of the case considering the nature and character of the proceedings under Article 226 of the Constitution. It was found that legal right claimed by the appellant (therein) to disability compensation had been infringed by the respondent with rejection of his representations communication from the home address of the employee and orders were communicated to him at the same address. On account of suffering from disease, the appellant having been permanently declared unfit was forced to stay in his native place.

11. From the above, it is evident that there can never be an encyclopedic exposition as to what would constitute cause of action in a case. The decisions of the Full Bench and the Division Benches of this Court and the Apex Court should not be read to exhaustively enunciate as to when and how the Court should determine in a case that the cause of action, wholly or in part, has arisen within its territorial limits. Peculiar facts in the context of the subject matter of the litigation, and relief claimed are the only guiding factors for the learned Judge(s) to decide. It is to be entirely left at the discretion of the Judge(s) considering the petition to ascertain whether the cause of action did exist entitling the petitioner to approach the High Court concerned.

12. Each and every fact pleaded in the writ petition cannot by itself constitute a cause of action. Facts which have no bearing on the lis or the dispute involved in the case, do not give rise to a cause of action so as to confer territorial jurisdiction on the Court concerned. In view of the expression used in clause (2) of Article 226 of the Constitution, even if a small fraction of cause of action accrues within the jurisdiction of the Court, the Court will have jurisdiction in the matter. Integral facts pleaded must have nexus or relevance with the lis so as to constitute a cause of action.

13. We find that law on the subject is fairly well settled with the decision of Larger Benches of this Court and the Supreme Court. The judgments of Division Benches and Larger Bench placed by the counsels for both sides before the learned Single Judge do not show any conflicting view in the matter and need no further explanation or elaboration.

14. The learned Single Judge, with due respect, totally misdirected himself in not considering the ratio of the decisions placed before him and referring the matter to the Larger Bench when no conflicting view on the matter was facing him. In our considered opinion, the learned Single Judge ought to have applied the law laid down by the Apex Court and the Larger Bench to appreciate the facts of the case to form its opinion as to whether the instant writ petitions were maintainable before this Court i.e. to decide whether the facts pleaded in the writ petitions constitute cause of action, wholly or in part to confer territorial jurisdiction on this Court.

15. We may note that reference to a Larger Bench under Chapter V Rule 6 of the Allahabad High Court Rules' 1952 can only be made when there are conflicting views of the Coordinate Bench or the Larger Bench facing his Lordship on a subject/controversy before him making it difficult for him to take one or other view. Reference cannot be made merely to create a precedent or to get an authoritative pronouncement by the Larger Bench on any assumed conflict. Whenever a matter is placed before the Court (whether single or division bench) for adjudication, if a question of law of whatever importance arises before that bench, ordinarily the Court should decide it itself by applying the legal principles and judicial pronouncements on the subject. Only if the learned judge reaches at a conclusion that there is conflict of precedent, i.e. conflicting views of the Coordinate Bench or the Larger Bench on the subject making it impossible for the Court to decide this way or the other, reference could have been made.

16. A Full Bench of this Court in Suresh Jaiswal vs. State of U.P. and another15 considering the scope of

Chapter V Rule 6 of the Allahabad High Court Rules' 1952 has held that:-

"53. Thus, from the above discussion, it is found that when it appears to a Single Bench or a Division Bench that there are conflicting decisions of the Co-ordinate strength of the same Court or that a question of law of importance having conflicting views arises in the trial of a case, the Judge or the Bench passes an order that the papers be placed before the Chief Justice of the High Court with the request to form the Special or Full Bench to hear and decide the case on the questions raised in the case.

54. Normally, the judge concerned should make a reference briefly indicating reasons for his views which necessitated to refer the matter to a Larger Bench but the same is not indispensable.

55. At the same time, we may clarify that if reasons are not stated in respect of the order of reference, the Full Bench cannot decline to answer the questions referred to it. The brief reasons for making a reference, however, has to be indicated so as to enable the Larger Bench to know the minds of Hon'ble Judge(s) making the reference.

56. In the instant matter, as expressed above, we could not find any conflict between two decisions which warranted a reference before the Larger Bench.

57. The questions, in the reference order, framed by the Division Bench, assuming conflict of opinion in the election matters, with due respect, are sweeping. On a plain reading of the order of reference, it appears that their Lordships have referred the questions to the Larger Bench with a view to create a precedent assuming that those questions of law of importance may arise in election matters and an authoritative pronouncement of a Larger Bench is needed on the subject.

58. The pronouncement by a Full Bench, with due regards to the learned Judges referring the matter, on hypothetical conflict, would not be a proper judicial exercise.

60. In our considered view, an issue being of importance by itself, cannot be a ground for referring the matter to the Larger Bench."

17. Having said that, to restate the law, we may revisit the issue to clarify the legal position as we deem it apposite to express our view in order to lend a quietus to the doubts which appear to exist.

18. As noted above in detail, it is reiterated at the cost of repetition that the Supreme Court in Nawal Kishore Sharma3 having traced the legal position pre and post insertion of clause (2) in Article 226 of the Constitution had come to the conclusion that the question of jurisdiction (territorial) must be decided in the facts of the case having due regard to the pleading in the writ petition. Appreciating a long line of decisions ranging from the year 1985 till the year 2000 and the scope of Article 226 (2) of the Constitution, particularly the cause of action in maintaining a writ petition, it has been concluded in paragraph '16' of the report that to establish that the cause of action wholly or in part has arisen within the territorial jurisdiction of any High Court, the petitioner has to show that a legal right claimed by him has been infringed or is threatened to be infringed by the respondent within the territorial limits of the Court's jurisdiction and such infringement may take place by causing him actual injury or threat thereof.

19. What would constitute a cause of action obviously would depend upon the nature and character of the proceedings under Article 226 of the Constitution. Under Article 226 of the Constitution, the High Court can exercise powers to issue direction, order or writs for enforcement of any of the fundamental rights conferred by Part III of the Constitution or for any other purpose. If the cause of action wholly or in part had arisen within the territory in relation to which it exercises jurisdiction, it can entertain the writ petition to pass orders or directions notwithstanding that the seat of the Government or authority or the residence of the person against whom the direction, order or writ is issued is not within its territories.

20. 'Cause of action' implies a right to sue. The material facts which are imperative for the suitor to allege and prove constitutes the cause of action. It has been interpreted to mean that every fact which would be necessary for the plaintiff to prove, if traversed, in order to support his right to the judgment of the Court. The question as to whether the Court has territorial jurisdiction to entertain a writ petition, has to be decided on the basis of averments in the petition, truth or otherwise thereof, however, would be immaterial.

21. As cause of action is the bundle of facts to examine the issue of jurisdiction it is necessary that one of the interlinked fact must have occurred in a place where the case has been instituted. All necessary facts must form an integral part of the cause of action. The fact must have direct relevance in the lis involved. It is not that every fact pleaded can give rise to a cause of action so as to confer jurisdiction on the Court in whose territorial jurisdiction it has occurred.

22. Mere service of notice would not give rise to a cause of action unless service of notice is an integral part of the cause of action. The answer to the question whether service of notice is an integral part of the cause of action within the meaning of Article 226 (2) of the Constitution must depend upon the nature of the impugned order giving rise to the cause of action. In order to confer jurisdiction on a High Court to entertain a writ petition, it must be disclosed that the integral fact pleaded in support of the cause of action do constitute a cause so as to empower the Court to decide the matter and the entire or a part of it arose within its jurisdiction. The facts pleaded in the writ petition must have the nexus on the basis whereof a prayer can be granted. Those facts which have nothing to do with the prayer made therein cannot be said to give rise to a cause of action which would confer jurisdiction on the Court.

23. In Ex. No. 1387-5234-M Sepoy/D.B./M.T., Chabi Nath Rai vs. Union of India & others16, a Division Bench of this Court, while considering the question whether the cause of action had arisen at Allahabad on communication of the decision on the representation of the appellant therein, had observed that the 'right to action' and 'cause of action' are two different things. This distinction was earlier considered by a Division Bench of this Court in Daya Shankar Bharadwaj v. Chief of Air Staff,

New Delhi and others17, wherein it was observed:-

"A right of action arises as soon as there is an invasion of right. But 'cause of action' and 'right of action'..... are not synonymous or interchangeable. A right of action is the right to enforce a cause of action (Americal Jurispurdence 2nd Edition Vol.1.) A person residing any where in the country being aggrieved by an order of Government Central or State or authority or person may have a right to action at law but it can be forced or the jurisdiction under Article 226 can be invoked of that High Court only within whose territorial limits the cause of action wholly or in part arises. The cause of action arises by action of the Government or authority and not by residence of the person aggrieved."

24. It was further discussed in Chabi Nath Rai16 that an order imposing penalty does not take effect unless it is communicated and the cause of action may arise at a place where it is communicated but if an order is passed in appeal or on a representation filed by delinquent and the order is confirmed, it does not give rise to any fresh cause of action at a place where the order of appellate authority is communicated. It is only an intimation to an order passed on the appeal or the representation made by the delinquent at a place where he is residing or where he indicates his address for communication of the order which may be passed on appeal by the authority concerned. Every order which is communicated to a person at a particular place does not give rise to the cause of action to institute an action where it is communicated.

To support its view, the Division Bench in Chabi Nath Rai16 (supra) had taken aid from the decision of the Apex Court in State of Rajasthan and Others vs. M/s Swaika Properties9 wherein though the notification issued by the authority under Section 52(2) of Rajasthan Urban Improvement Act was served at Calcutta on the petitioner but it was held that since the proceedings for acquisition had taken place at Jaipur and were complete, mere service of notice under Section 52 of the Act would not give rise to the cause of action at Calcutta.

It was concluded in Chabi Nath Rai16 that since the confirmation of the order of sentence was made at Jammu by the confirming authority, the mere fact that the appellant sent representation from Allahabad and the decision on his representation was communicated at Allahabad did not give rise to any cause of action at Allahabad.

On the plea that the doctrine of merger is applicable in the case when an order is passed in appeal and the place where appellate order is communicated should be treated as a place where cause of action arises, it was held in Chabi Nath Rai16 that even if the doctrine of merger is applied in relation to the statutory appeal, it is only the place where the appeal is decided, the Court will have jurisdiction to entertain the petition of the appellant. The decision of the Apex Court in Collector of Customs, Calcutta vs. East India Commercial Company Calcutta and others18, was considered, wherein it was held that once an order of original authority is taken in appeal to the appellate authority, it is the High Court within whose jurisdiction the appellate order has been passed, will only have jurisdiction to entertain the writ petition under Article 226 of the Constitution of India.

25. The view taken by the Division Bench in Chabi Nath Rai16 has been cited with approval by another Division Bench in Ex-Naik Ram Sharan vs. Union of India and others19 to hold that mere communication of the appellate order at the place where the petitioner resides itself does not give any cause of action.

26. In Vishnu Kumar Bhargawa and others vs. Metropolitan Magistrate, Bombay and others20, it was considered that the service of notice of the case filed in the Court of Metropolitan Magistrate, Bombay was not an integral part of cause of action, inasmuch as, for succeeding in the case, service of notice at Allahabad was not material and would not confer jurisdiction on the High Court at Allahabad to entertain the writ petition.

27. We subscribe to the view taken by the above noted Division Benches to hold that mere communication of the appellate or revisional order at the place of residence of the petitioner itself does not give rise to a cause of action within the territorial jurisdiction of the High Court within limit of which jurisdiction he resides as the communication of such a decision would confer only the "right to action". The confirmation of order of dismissal with the rejection of appeal and representation does not give rise to any fresh cause of action at a place where the order of appellate authority is communicated.

28. Further, we may note that doctrine "forum conveniens" has a limited application and the same by itself may not be considered to be a determinative factor compelling the High Court to decide the matter on merit. In appropriate cases, the Court may refuse to exercise its discretionary jurisdiction by invoking the doctrine of forum conveniens. [Reference Kusum Ingots & Alloys Ltd.11]

29. Coming back to the reference, with greatest respect, we may note that the learned Single Judge ought to have considered the decisions of the Supreme Court and the Larger Benches of this Court to decide whether this Court has jurisdiction to entertain the writ petitions instead of referring the matter to Hon'ble The Chief Justice for constituting a Larger Bench. The judgments of Division Benches considered by the learned Single Judge were decided in the facts and circumstances of the particular case. What was binding on the learned Single Judge is the ratio decidendi of the judgment.

30. We are not called upon to determine as to how can the ratio decidendi be ascertained from a decision. We may, however, note that the doctrine of precedent i.e. being bound by previous decision is limited to the decision itself and as to what is necessarily involved in it. The enunciation of the reason or principle upon which a question before a Court has been decided is alone a precedent. The ratio decidendi is the underlying principle, namely, the general reasons or the general grounds upon which the decision is based on the test or abstract from the specific peculiarities of the particular case which gives rise to the decision. The ratio decidendi has to be ascertained by an analysis of the facts of the case and the process of reasoning involving the major premise consisting of a pre-existing rule of law, either statutory or judge-made and a minor premise consisting of the material facts of the case under immediate consideration. It is not the duty of the Court to spell it out with difficulty in order to be bound by it. [See Krishna Kumar Vs. Union of India21].

31. In light of the aforesaid, we conclude that the reference itself is not merited as there is no conflict of opinion in the decisions referred by the learned Single Judge. We, however, clarified the law (with the help of the long line of decisions of the Supreme Court) in order to lend a quietus to the doubts which appear to exist so that to avoid any further delay in the proceedings.

32. Reformulated question no. (iii) of the Reference is, thus, answered in negative.

33. Reference stands answered, accordingly. The individual writ petitions and Special Appeals may now be placed before the appropriate Bench for disposal in light of the above.

CIVIL SIDE
DATED: LUCKNOW 17.06.2020

BEFORE
THE HON'BLE MANISH KUMAR, J.

Service Single No. 7517 of 2020

Anil Kumar Srivastava ...Petitioner
Versus
State of U.P. & Ors. ...Respondents

Counsel for the Petitioner:
Hari Om Singh.

Counsel for the Respondents:
C.S.C.

A. Service Law – Termination – Violation of principles of natural justice – The question as to what extent, principles of natural justice are required to be complied with would depend upon the fact situation obtaining in each case. The principles of natural justice cannot be applied in vacuum. (Para 11)

The impugned order dated 15.02.2020 does not in substance amount to any fresh order of termination, it is merely an order passed as a consequence of the dismissal of the writ petition preferred by the petitioner against the order dated 20.10.1989 terminating the service of the petitioner. Moreover, the reasons indicated in the impugned order have not been disputed and rather stand admitted in the present writ petition. Hence the question of providing opportunity of hearing does not arise before passing the order dated 15.02.2020. It is in fact an order of discontinuance of service which was continuing on the basis of interim order of a dismissed writ petition. (Para 5, 6)

Writ Petition dismissed. (E-4)

Precedent followed:

1. Dharmarathmakara R.A. Ramaswamy Mudaliar Ed. Institution Vs The Educational Appellate Tribunal & Anr., AIR 1999 SC 3219 (Para 9)

2. Ashok Kumar Vs U.O.I. . & ors. (Para 10)

3. Karnataka State Road Transport Corporation & anr. Vs S.G. Kotturappa and Another, (2005) 3 SCC 409) (Para 11)

4. Punjab National Bank and Others Vs Manjeet Singh & anr. , (2006) 8 SCC 647 (Para 12)

Petition challenges order dated 15.02.2020, passed by Settlement Officer Consolidation, Sitapur, U.P.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Manish Kumar, J.)

1. The present writ petition has been filed by the petitioner challenging the order dated 15.02.2020 passed by Opposite Party No.3 i.e. Settlement Officer Consolidation, Sitapur, by which the services of the petitioner has been terminated.

2. The impugned order dated 15.02.2020 states that by order dated 20.10.1989 passed by the Commissioner Consolidation, Lucknow, U.P., the services of the petitioner was terminated. Against the order dated 20.10.1989, the petitioner preferred a Writ Petition No.9578 of 1989. In the said writ petition an interim order had been granted by this Court. In pursuance of interim order the petitioner was continuing in service, the writ petition however was dismissed on 12.04.2010. But the petitioner has not informed the authorities. Two applications were also dismissed on 26.04.2019. Hence the continuance of petitioner in service was due to the fact that the authorities has no knowledge hence the continuance was not legal. In the said circumstances there was no justification for his continuance in service hence his services is terminated with immediate effect.

3. Heard the learned counsels for the parties. Learned counsel for the petitioner heard on telephone as he expressed his inability to connect on video conferencing. He mainly submitted that prior to the passing of the order dated 15.02.2020 neither any show cause notice has been issued nor any opportunity was provided to the petitioner. The order dated 15.02.2020 has been passed in complete violation of the principles of natural justice.

4. On the other hand, Shri Rahul Shukla, learned Additional Chief Standing Counsel through video conferencing has pointed out that the C.M. Application Nos.30478/2019 and 30479/2019 has also been rejected by this Court vide its order dated 26.04.2019 even that has not been informed by the petitioner. The petitioner was continuing in the service only due to the interim order dated 07.11.1989. The opportunity of hearing is not required in the present case. It has further been submitted by the learned Additional Chief Standing Counsel that the petitioner has neither informed the dismissal of the writ petition in the year 2010 nor the dismissal of the applications moved in the year 2019.

5. After hearing the counsels for both the parties the position which emerges is that the petitioner was continuing in the service in the garb of the interim order dated 07.11.1989. The Writ Petition No.16815(W)/9578/1989 was dismissed in default on 12.04.2010. The restoration application was filed in the year 2019 has also been dismissed on 26.04.2019 and none of the reasons indicated in the order dated 15.02.2020 has been disputed by the petitioner, rather stand admitted in the writ petition particularly in Para 24 where it is also stated that a restoration application is pending but without disclosing the dates of applications it however, establishes the fact that his writ petition had been dismissed on default. The date of dismissal of writ petition on 12.04.2010 as disclosed in the impugned order has not been disputed nor the date of dismissal of two miscellaneous applications, which obviously might have been moved earlier for restoration.

6. The order impugned in the present writ petition i.e. order dated 15.02.2020 does not in substance amount to any fresh order of termination, it is merely an order passed as a consequence of the dismissal of the Writ Petition No.16815(W)/9578/1989 preferred by the petitioner against the order dated 20.10.1989 terminating the service of the petitioner. Hence the question of providing opportunity of hearing does not arise before passing the order dated 15.02.2020. It is in fact an order of discontinuance of service which were continuing on the basis of interim order of a dismissed writ petition.

7. The fact of order terminating the services of the petitioner vide order dated 20.10.1989 and the fact that a writ petition was preferred and further writ petition was dismissed about ten years ago having been controverted in the writ petition.

8. In consequence of that order irrespective of language used in the order but in substance, as mentioned in the order itself. It is a consequence of dismissal of writ petition.

9. As far as the argument of learned counsel of the petitioner regarding non-compliance of principle of audi alteram partem. The Apex Court in the case of Dharmarathmakara R.A. Ramaswamy Mudaliar Ed. Institution Vs. The Educational Appellate Tribunal & Anr. has held that in a case where allegation and charges are admitted and no possible defence is placed before the authority concerned. What enquiry is to be made when one admits violations? In the present case, the facts are almost admitted. The case reveals itself and is apparent on the face of the record and in spite of opportunity no worthwhile explanation is forthcoming and it is not a fit case to interfere with the order impugned in the writ petition.

10. The Apex Court in the case of Ashok Kumar Vs. Union of India & Others has held as follows.:-

"This bring us to the question as to whether the principles of natural justice were required to be complied with. There cannot be any doubt whatsoever that the audi alteram partem is one of the basic pillar of natural justice which means no one should be condemned unheard. However, whenever possible the principle of natural justice should be followed. Ordinarily in a case of this nature the same should be complied with. Visitor may in a given situation issue notice to the employee who would be effected by the ultimate order that may be passed. He may not be given an oral hearing, but may be allowed to make a representation in writing.

It is also, however, well-settled that it cannot be put any straight jacket formula. It may not be in a given case applied unless a prejudice is shown. It is not necessary where it would be a futile exercise.

A court of law does not insist on compliance of useless formality. It will not issue any such direction where the result would remain the same, in view of the fact situation prevailing or in terms of the legal consequences."

11. In the case of Karnataka State Road Transport Corporation and Another v. S.G. Kotturappa and Another reported at [(2005) 3SCC 409)] the Apex Court has held as under:-

"The question as to what extent, principles of natural justice are required to be complied with would depend upon the fact situation obtaining in each case. The principles of natural justice cannot be applied in vacuum. They cannot be put in any straitjacket formula. The principles of natural justice are furthermore not required to be complied with when it will lead to an empty formality. What is needed for the employer in a case of this nature is to apply the objective criteria for arriving at the subjective satisfaction. If the criteria required for arriving at an objective satisfaction stands fulfilled, the principles of natural justice may not have to be complied with, in view of the fact that the same stood complied with before imposing punishments upon the respondents on each occasion and, thus, the respondents, therefore, could not have improved their stand even if a further opportunity was given."

12. In the case of Punjab National Bank and Others v. Manjeet Singh and Another reported at [(2006) 8 SCC 647)], this Court has held as under:-

"The principles of natural justice were also not required to be complied with as the same would have been an empty formality. The court will not insist on compliance with the principles of natural justice in view of the binding nature of the award. Their application would be limited to a situation where the factual position or legal implication arising thereunder is disputed and not where it is not in dispute or cannot be disputed. If only one conclusion is possible, a writ would not issue only because there was a violation of the principle of natural justice."

13. Hence, under the undisputed facts of the present case in any manner render the impugned order invalid on account of providing any opportunity prior to passing of impugned order. In these circumstances providing of an opportunity of hearing would merely be an empty formality and would be of no avail and a futile exercise.

14. Under these circumstances and reasons and law discussed hereinabove, I do not find any illegality or irregularity in the impugned order dated 15.02.2020 passed by Opposite Party No.3 there is no merit in the case and hence, the writ petition is dismissed.

Civil Misc. Writ Petition No. 12780 of 2018

State of U.P. & Ors. ...Respondents

Counsel for the Petitioners:
Sri Sanjay Kumar Mishra.

Counsel for the Respondents:

A. Constitution of India – Article 14 – Equal right of pensionary benefit – Protection against arbitrariness – Held – Once the services of the petitioners have been acknowledged, then there is hardly any scope to deprive them the pensionary benefits, as are available to other public servants – Equal protection of laws must mean the protection of equal laws for all persons similarly – Article 14 strikes at arbitrariness because an arbitrary provision involves negation equality. The law is never been stagnated – An artificial classification has to be made by the respondent authorities while passing the order impugned amongst the Government servants, who are eligible for pension. The distinction has been tried to be carved out is unsustainable in law. (Para 19 and 22)

4. The terms and conditions of services of petitioners are governed under the Sinchai Karyashala Circle Service Rules, 19842. Admittedly, the petitioners are receiving the admissible salary and other allowances at par with the Government employees as has been paid to the regular employees of the Irrigation Department. Vide Government Orders dated 13.11.2007 and 27.02.2009, the employees working in the Irrigation Department under Industrial Establishment have been treated as Government Servants (Annexure no.2 and 3 to the writ petition). Accordingly, contribution towards provident fund had been deducted from the salary of the petitioners and other similarly situated employees and as such, it is alleged that since the very beginning they were in bona-fide belief/impression that they are receiving the regular salary and other allowances at par with the Government Employees, whereas, the same has not been ensured in favour of the petitioners. It has also been alleged that the Department had also discriminated some other employees, whose details are mentioned in paragraphs 26 and 27 of the writ petition, and they are getting pension like Government employees. Once this discrimination has been surfaced, the petitioners have agitated their claim and accordingly, wrote letters dated 04.03.2013 and 08.11.2013 to the second respondent for grant of pension to the employees who are working in Industrial Establishment of Irrigation Department3. Similarly, the Chief Engineer (Mechanical), Irrigation Department U.P. Lucknow, on his turn, has also recommended regarding payment of pension to employees working in the Industrial Establishment vide letter dated 30.05.2013 addressed to the respondent no.2 as the issues have already been clarified in Government Order dated 13.11.2007, whereby, the employees of the Irrigation Department, who are working in Irrigation Workshop Divisions under Industrial Establishment, have been treated as Government Servants and accordingly, they are also entitled for pension and family pension at par with the Government Employees. Meanwhile, some inability had been shown regarding difficulty in payment of pension to petitioners and similarly situated employees through letter dated 25.06.2013 sent by Up-Sachiv, Government of U.P. to the Chief Engineer (Mechanical), Irrigation Department U.P. at Lucknow but subsequently through letter dated 03.07.2013, the Superintending Engineer, Irrigation Department Lucknow again reiterated and requested for ensuring the pension and another benefits as admissible to the Government Employees working in the Department.

5. Once the required benefits have not been ensured, the petitioners have preferred Civil Misc. Writ Petition no.668(S/S) of 2014. The same was disposed of according leave to the petitioners to move fresh representation before the Deputy Secretary (Yantrik), State of U.P., Civil Secretariat, Lucknow and the Authorities were also directed to decide the same within three months period. In response thereof, the petitioners have moved representation dated 22.12.2017, which was decided by the order impugned, whereby, the claim of the petitioners for pensionary benefits has been negated by treating them employees of Industrial Establishment as their services are governed under the provisions of Industrial Employment (Standing Orders) Act 1946 and Model Standing Orders, 1992 as well as other Labour Laws like Payment of Wages Act 1936 and Industrial Disputes Act 19474.

6. Learned counsel for the petitioners has drawn the attention of the Court to the fact that earlier the State Government has discriminated the petitioners while fixing a date of retirement as 58 years, whereas, the superannuation of State employees are 60 years. The same was assailed before this Court by preferring Writ Petition no.7641(S/S) of 2003 (Beni Madhav Pandey and another vs. State of U.P. and others). Vide order dated 11.10.2011, the said writ petition was allowed. For ready reference, the order dated 11.10.2011 is extracted as under:-

"Heard learned counsel for the petitioner. Learned Standing Counsel appears for the respondents.

According to the petitioners' counsel, the petitioners have attained the age of superannuation while working in the workshop of Irrigation Department. According to him, all those persons working in the Irrigation Department are entitled to continue up to the age of 60 years but a notice was served on the petitioners with regard to superannuation at the age of 58 years. The submission is that merely because the petitioners have been discharging duty in the workshop does not mean that they shall not be entitled for service benefits at par with other employees. In spite of categorical pleading on record, nothing has been brought on record to rebut the argument advanced by the petitioners' counsel that the employees working in the workshop are part and partial of the irrigation department; rather in paragraph 5 of the counter affidavit, it has been stated that the petitioners belong to irrigation department. Once the petitioners are the employees of the State Government and also they have been admitted as employees of the Irrigation Department, only because they are discharging duty in the workshop shall not disentitle them to avail the service benefit at par with other employees of the irrigation department. Attention of this Court has not been invited to any rules, regulations or statutory provisions to make out a case that the service condition of the workshop employees are governed by different set of rules or regulations. In view of above, there appears to be no justification on the part of the respondents to treat the petitioners differently than other employees of the irrigation department. The impugned notice suffers from vice of arbitrariness and is discriminatory in nature.

Accordingly, the writ petition is allowed. A writ of certiorari is issued quashing the impugned notice dated 1.11.2003(Annexure-1) with consequential benefits."

7. In this backdrop, learned counsel for the petitioners submits that petitioners have also been discharging duties in the workshop but the same does not mean that they shall not be entitled to the service benefits at par with other employees of Irrigation Department, who have been accorded pension. The aforesaid order dated 11.10.2011 has been passed after exchange of affidavits. While passing the said order, the Court has specifically held that nothing has been brought on record to rebut the argument of petitioners that employees working in the workshop are not the part and partial of the Irrigation Department; rather in paragraph 5 of the counter affidavit, it has been stated that the petitioners belong to Irrigation Department. Once the petitioners are employees of the State Government and the same had also been admitted by the respondents while filing counter in the said case, then there shall not be any dis-entitlement of petitioners to avail the service benefits at par with the other employees of the Department. He informed to the Court that in the light of the observations made by this Court, the benefits have been extended to the petitioners in the said writ petition and age of their superannuation has been re-fixed to 60 years, as such, at this stage, the discrimination is being carved out in the case of petitioners and the same is in violation of Articles 14 and 16 of the Constitution of India.

8. Learned counsel for the petitioners has placed reliance on Section 2(d)(ii) of the Industrial Employment (Standing Orders) Act 1946, wherein, the employer has been defined as "in any Industrial Establishment under the Control of any department of any Government in India, the authority appointed by such Government in this behalf, or where no authority is so appointed, the head of the department." Thus, it is apparent that a Government may own industrial undertaking and in that circumstance, an employee working in such an industrial undertaking has to be held in service of Government and if the appointment is substantive and his service is to be paid by the Government, in such a situation, the employees would come under the purview of Regulation 361 of the Civil Services Regulation and accordingly, the petitioners are entitled for pension. The same view has been laid down in Gorakh Nath Pandey and others vs. State of U.P. and others5, wherein, the plight of the incumbents those were working in the U.P. Government Cement Factory Churk, Mirzapur and they had been devoid the pension and other retiral benefits has been considered and accorded relief in the light of observations made in Suresh Chandra vs. State of U.P. and others6. Relevant extract of the said judgement is reproduced as under:-

"12. The Court has perused the order dated 12.3.2013 passed in Writ Petition No.47974 of 2008 wherein this Court had quashed the order passed by the General Manager, District Industries Centre, Sonebhadra and the direction was issued for according fresh consideration to the representation of the petitioner in the light of the order dated 2.8.2005 as indicated above. A perusal of the order dated 2.8.2005 issued by the Commissioner and Director of Industries, U.P. shows that the aforesaid order takes into account the fact that the employees appointed in U.P. Cement Factory at the time when it was run and managed by the Industries Department, were government employees. It further takes into consideration that from 1.4.1972 till 31.3.1981, such government servants were treated to be on deputation with U.P. State Cement Corporation and stood absorbed w.e.f. 1.4.1981 to the service of the U.P. State Cement Corporation Ltd. The order further indicates that the services rendered by such employees prior to 1.4.1981 were the services rendered as government servants.

13. This much is also reflected that the office order referred to the Government order dated 1.7.1981, by which retiral benefits have also been sanctioned to the temporary employees, and as such, the order dated 2.8.2005 had fastened the liability upon the General Manager, District Industries Centre to scrutinize the relevant pension papers and to forward the same to the State Government and the office of Accountant General so that the relevant papers for pension could be processed. Surprisingly, in derogation to the office order dated 2.8.2005 the present impugned order has been passed by the General Manager, District Industries Centre, Sonebhadra.

14. It is not disputed by the respondents while responding to the present writ petition regarding their absorption prior to 1.4.1981 and as such, all the petitioners fulfilled the stipulation contained in the Government order dated 1.7.1989 and the office order dated 2.8.2005 and consequently they are entitled for the pension. It is relevant to indicate that by the Government order dated 1.7.1989 the State Government had proceeded to issue an order providing pension to temporary Government servants, who have completed minimum 10 years of regular service. Admittedly, services rendered by the petitioners since 1.4.1971 till 31.3.1981 were treated as on deputation with U.P. State Cement Corporation and their services stood absorbed w.e.f. 1.4.1981 to the services of U.P. State Cement Corporation Limited and finally they have attained the age of superannuation between the years 1994 to 2004. Even otherwise as per the Government order dated 1.7.1989, admittedly the petitioners have completed 10 years' of regular service and as such, they are entitled for the pensionary benefits.

15. The Court has perused the order impugned and find that the respondents had taken objection precisely on the ground that the case of petitioners is unsustainable in the light of provisions contained under Article 361 of Civil Services Regulation. The same cannot be sustained and is accordingly rejected. Once the respondent authorities had accorded certain benefits to the similarly situated employees, then the same cannot be denied to the petitioners.

The Court has also perused the Government order dated 1.7.1989 and the judgement of this Court in Suresh Chandra's case (supra) and find that the same is not applicable in the present facts and circumstances of the case.

16. In view of above, the impugned order cannot be sustained and is set aside.

17. The writ petition is allowed and the respondents are directed to calculate and pay the entire retiral dues of the petitioners within three months from the date of production of certified copy of this order."

9. Suffice to indicate that the said judgement has been approved/affirmed by the Division Bench of this Court in State of U.P. vs. Gorakh Nath Pandey7 reported in. Relevant paragraphs of the said judgement is quoted as under:-

"State of U.P. not being satisfied with the judgment and order of the learned Single Judge has filed this intra-court appeal.

Learned Advocate General of the State of Uttar Pradesh, Sri Raghvendra Singh challenges the correctness of the conclusions so drawn by the learned Single Judge. He would contend that the principle issue which requires consideration is as to whether the employees/workmen appointed in government cement factory, whose service conditions are governed by the Standing Orders certified under the Act, 1946 would be entitled to the benefits of pension under Civil Service Regulations or not.

He would submit that in terms of the Rule 7-B of the U.P. Fundamental Rules, the term Government Servant has been defined as a person appointed to a civil post or a civil service under the State Government, and serving in connection with affairs of Uttar Pradesh whose conditions of service have been or may be prescribed by the Governor under Section 241 (2) (b) of the Act.

Under Section 241 (2) (b) of the Government of India Act, 1935, the conditions of service of persons serving in a civil capacity in India could be prescribed, in the case of persons service in connection with the affairs of the Province, by rules made by the Governor or by a person authorized by the Governor to make rules for the purpose.

The Civil Service Regulations (Relating to Pension), in terms of Regulation 1 (a), are intended to define the conditions under which pension is earned by service in a Civil Department.

Therefore, the provisions of the U.P. Fundamental Rules as also the Civil Service Regulations would be applicable only to persons appointed to a civil post or a civil service under the State Government and serving in connection with the affairs of the State Government, or in other words to a Government Servant only.

In the facts of the present case the petitioners were industrial workmen with the meaning to be assigned as per the Standing Orders certified under the Act of 1946. Their conditions of service were governed by the Certified Standing Orders. The petitioners were thereof clearly not civil servant or holders of civil post under the definition of the term Government Servant contemplates the U.P. Fundamental Rules. They were not appointed to a civil post or to a civil service under the State Government so as to entitle them for pension which is earned by service in a Civil Department as required under the Civil Service Regulations.

Crux of the submission of the learned Advocate General therefore, is what once the petitioners are found to answer the description of workmen/industrial employees within the meaning of to be assigned under the Standing Orders Act, they stand excluded from the definition of a person appointed to a civil post or in civil service within the meaning of U.P. Fundamental Rules/Civil Service Regulations and therefore they are not entitled to pension.

We specifically inquired from the learned Advocate General as to under which provision of the U.P. Fundamental Rules/Civil Service Regulations/Standing Orders Act, any such exclusion in respect of the persons who are workmen are not being a person appointed to a civil post. No response could be given. It is more or less an admitted position that there is no specific provision for excluding the workmen/industrial employees in the matter of payment of pension/retiral dues, who otherwise satisfy all the conditions as contemplates by Regulation 361 of the Civil Service Regulations.

The Standing Orders Act has been enforced with an object to law down the condition of service like disciplinary action, leave, allowances etc. so as to minimize the fraction between the workmen and employer in Industrial Undertaking. Such Industrial Undertaking can be private undertaking or Government Undertaking or Public Private Undertaking. It is useful to refer to the definition of employer contained in Section 2 (d) (ii) of the Act, 1946, which reads as follows: "2. Interpretation.

(d) "employer".....

(ii) in any industrial establishment under the control of any department of any Government in India, the authority appointed by such Government in this behalf, or where no authority is so appointed, the head of the department;"

Thus, it will be seen that a Government may own industrial undertaking and in that circumstance, a employee working in such an industrial undertaking has to be held to be in service of Government and if the appointment is substantive and his service is to be paid by the Government, he stands covered by the provisions of Regulation 361 of the Civil Service Regulations, which entitles him to pension.

For ready reference, Regulation 361 of the Civil Service Regulations reads as under:

"361. The service of an officer does not qualify for pension unless it conforms to the following three conditions:---

First-The service must be under Government.

Second-The employment must be substantive and permanent.

Third-The service must be paid by Government."

We may explain that use of the word "civil service" under Civil Service Regulations has to be read to include all nature of employment in the Government, except those which are in relation to defence service or service connected with defence.

Civil Service as defined in The New Dictionary of Cultural Literacy, Third Edition by Houghton Mifflin Company reads as under:

"The nonmilitary personnel who work for a government, applying its laws and regulations."

In our opinion the service conditions laid down as per the Certified Standing Orders, the Act, 1946 do not in any way impinge upon the right of a employee working in a Government Industrial Undertaking to be entitled to pension and other retiral dues under Regulation 361 of Civil Service Regulations. Provisions of Regulation 361 of the Civil Service Regulations are a beneficial piece of legislation and we do not find any reason for the persons who are covered by the Certified Standing Orders to be excluded from the benefits of Regulation 361 of the Civil Service Regulations, if they satisfy the other requirements of Regulation 361 of the Civil Service Regulations.

In our opinion even a workman/industrial employee of Government Industrial Undertaking has to be held to be a civil servant/holder of a civil post under the Government so as to be covered within the meaning of Regulation 361 of the Civil Service Regulations.

There is no issue with regard to other employees appointed in Factory at Churk and subsequently absorbed in the Corporation being paid pension in terms of the Government Order dated 2nd August, 2005.

We for the reasons recorded above see no reason as to why the workmen/industrial employees similarly appointed and absorbed be denied the same benefit. It is held that petitioners who answer the description of industrial employees/workmen shall also be covered by the Government Order dated 2nd August, 2005 and would be entitled to all benefits following therefrom.

In the totality of the circumstances on record we do not find any substance in the contentions raised by the learned Advocate General for the State to interfere with the judgment and order of the learned Single Judge dated 12th April, 2016.

All these appeals lack merit and are accordingly dismissed."

10. Learned counsel for the petitioners further submits that the petitioners had worked against substantive post since very beginning and their appointment is not at all from backdoor and time to time salary and other allowances, which were admissible to them, had been ensured in their favour and at this stage, they cannot be discriminated only on the ground that their services are governed with the Industrial Employment (Standing Orders) Act 1946 and Model Standing Orders, 1992 as well as other Labour Laws. In support of his submission, he has also relied upon the recent judgement passed by Hon'ble the Apex Court in the case of Prem Singh vs. State of U.P. and others8. The relevant extract of the said judgement is quoted as under:-

"29. We are not impressed by the aforesaid submissions. The appointment of the work-charged employee in question had been made on monthly salary and they were required to cross the efficiency bar also. How their services are qualitatively different from regular employees? No material indicating qualitative difference has been pointed out except making bald statement. The appointment was not made for a particular project which is the basic concept of the work charged employees. Rather, the very concept of work-charged employment has been misused by offering the employment on exploitative terms for the work which is regular and perennial in nature. The work-charged employees had been subjected to transfer from one place to another like regular employees as apparent from documents placed on record. In Narain Dutt Sharma & Ors. v. State of Uttar Pradesh & Ors. (CA No._____2019 @ SLP (C) No.5775 of 2018) the appellants were allowed to cross efficiency bar, after ''8' years of continuous service, even during the period of work-charged services. Narain Dutt Sharma, the appellant, was appointed as a work-charged employee as Gej Mapak w.e.f 15.9.1978. Payment used to be made monthly but the appointment was made in the pay scale of Rs.200-

320. Initially, he was appointed in the year 1978 on a fixed monthly salary of Rs.205 per month. They were allowed to cross efficiency bar also as the benefit of pay scale was granted to them during the period they served as work-charged employees they served for three to four decades and later on services have been regularized time to time by different orders. However, the services of some of the appellants in few petitions/ appeals have not been regularized even though they had served for several decades and ultimately reached the age of superannuation.

30. In the aforesaid facts and circumstances, it was unfair on the part of the State Government and its officials to take work from the employees on the work-charged basis. They ought to have resorted to an appointment on regular basis. The taking of work on the work-charged basis for long amounts to adopting the exploitative device. Later on, though their services have been regularized. However, the period spent by them in the work-charged establishment has not been counted towards the qualifying service. Thus, they have not only been deprived of their due emoluments during the period they served on less salary in work charged establishment but have also been deprived of counting of the period for pensionary benefits as if no services had been rendered by them. The State has been benefitted by the services rendered by them in the heydays of their life on less salary in work- charged establishment.

31. In view of the note appended to Rule 3(8) of the 1961 Rules, there is a provision to count service spent on work charged, contingencies or non pensionable service, in case, a person has rendered such service in a given between period of two temporary appointments in the pensionable establishment or has rendered such service in the interregnum two periods of temporary and permanent employment. The work-charged service can be counted as qualifying service for pension in the aforesaid exigencies.

32. The question arises whether the imposition of rider that such service to be counted has to be rendered in-between two spells of temporary or temporary and permanent service is legal and proper. We find that once regularization had been made on vacant posts, though the employee had not served prior to that on temporary basis, considering the nature of appointment, though it was not a regular appointment it was made on monthly salary and thereafter in the pay scale of work-charged establishment the efficiency bar was permitted to be crossed. It would be highly discriminatory and irrational because of the rider contained in Note to Rule 3(8) of 1961 Rules, not to count such service particularly, when it can be counted, in case such service is sandwiched between two temporary or in-between temporary and permanent services. There is no rhyme or reason not to count the service of work-charged period in case it has been rendered before regularisation. In our opinion, an impermissible classification has been made under Rule 3(8). It would be highly unjust, impermissible and irrational to deprive such employees benefit of the qualifying service. Service of work-charged period remains the same for all the employees, once it is to be counted for one class, it has to be counted for all to prevent discrimination. The classification cannot be done on the irrational basis and when respondents are themselves counting period spent in such service, it would be highly discriminatory not to count the service on the basis of flimsy classification. The rider put on that work-charged service should have preceded by temporary capacity is discriminatory and irrational and creates an impermissible classification.

33. As it would be unjust, illegal and impermissible to make aforesaid classification to make the Rule 3(8) valid and non discriminatory, we have to read down the provisions of Rule 3(8) and hold that services rendered even prior to regularisation in the capacity of work-charged employees, contingency paid fund employees or non- pensionable establishment shall also be counted towards the qualifying service even if such service is not preceded by temporary or regular appointment in a pensionable establishment.

34. In view of the note appended to Rule 3(8), which we have read down, the provision contained in Regulation 370 of the Civil Services Regulations has to be struck down as also the instructions contained in Para 669 of the Financial Handbook.

35. There are some of the employees who have not been regularized in spite of having rendered the services for 30-40 or more years whereas they have been superannuated. As they have worked in the work-charged establishment, not against any particular project, their services ought to have been regularized under the Government instructions and even as per the decision of this Court in Secretary, State of Karnataka & Ors. v. Uma Devi 2006 (4) SCC 1. This Court in the said decision has laid down that in case services have been rendered for more than ten years without the cover of the Court's order, as one time measure, the services be regularized of such employees. In the facts of the case, those employees who have worked for ten years or more should have been regularized. It would not be proper to regulate them for consideration of regularisation as others have been regularised, we direct that their services be treated as a regular one. However, it is made clear that they shall not be entitled to claiming any dues of difference in wages had they been continued in service regularly before attaining the age of superannuation. They shall be entitled to receive the pension as if they have retired from the regular establishment and the services rendered by them right from the day they entered the work-charged establishment shall be counted as qualifying service for purpose of pension.

36. In view of reading down Rule 3(8) of the U.P. Retirement Benefits Rules, 1961, we hold that services rendered in the work-charged establishment shall be treated as qualifying service under the aforesaid rule for grant of pension. The arrears of pension shall be confined to three years only before the date of the order. Let the admissible benefits be paid accordingly within three months. Resultantly, the appeals filed by the employees are allowed and filed by the State are dismissed.

37. All pending interlocutory applications and miscellaneous applications, if any, are disposed of."

11. In this backdrop, he submits that the case of the petitioners are on better footing in comparison to the work charged employee and as such, the benefit of pension is liable to be extended to the petitioners, as such, the order impugned is unsustainable being in violation of Article 14 and 16 of the Constitution of India and thus, this Court should come to the rescue and reprieve of the petitioners.

12. Per contra, Shri Apurva Hajela, learned Standing Counsel has vehemently opposed the writ petition. On the basis of averment mentioned in the Counter Affidavit, he submits that the provisions and service conditions of employees of industrial workshop is different than the service conditions of regular establishment and the same is governed by the Industrial Employment (Standing Orders) Act 1946 and Model Standing Orders, 1992 issued by the Government. For the employees of Industrial Establishment under the provisions of Employees Pension Scheme 1995, the pension is payable by the Employee Provident Fund office, whereas, for getting the said benefit, the petitioners have not submitted the prescribed documents with signatures to the workshop officer instead they are claiming the pension as is admissible to the regular establishment employees, which is not admissible in law as the same would create a separate and distinct class and as such, this Court should not interfere in the matter.

13. Heard rival submission and perused the record.

14. In order to appreciate the controversy in hand, it would be relevant to have a glance of provisions contained in Uttar Pradesh Retirement Benefits Rules 19619 Rule 3(8) of the Rules 1961 which contains the provisions in respect of qualifying service is extracted hereunder:-

"Rule 3. In these rules, unless is anything repugnant in the subject or context-

(2) .....

(8) "Qualifying service" means service which qualifies for pension in accordance with the provisions of Article 368 of the Civil Service Regulations.

Provided that continuous temporary or officiating service under the Government of Uttar Pradesh followed without interruption by confirmation in the same or any other post except-

(i) periods of temporary or officiating service in a non-pensionable establishment.

(ii) periods of service in a work-charged establishment and

(iii) periods of service in a post paid from contingencies shall also count as qualifying service.

Note:- If service rendered in a non-pensionable establishment work-charged establishment or in a post paid from contingencies falls between two periods of temporary service in a pensionable establishment or between a period of temporary service and permanent service in a pensionable establishment, it will not constitute an interruption of service." (emphasis supplied)"

15. Regulations 361, 368 and 370 of Uttar Pradesh Civil Services Regulations are also relevant. They are extracted hereunder:

"361. The service of an officer does not qualify for pension unless it conforms to the following three conditions: - First - The service must be under Government.

Second - The employment must be substantive and permanent.

Third--The service must be paid by Government.

These three conditions are fully explained in the following Section.

368. Service does not qualify unless the officer holds a substantive office on a permanent establishment.

370. Continuous temporary or officiating service under the Government of Uttar Pradesh followed without interruption by confirmation in the same or any other post shall qualify, except -

(i) periods of temporary or officiating service in non- pensionable establishment;

(ii) periods of service in work charged establishment; and

(iii) periods of service in a post paid from contingencies."

16. The qualifying service is the one which is in accordance with the provisions of Regulation 368 i.e. holding a substantive post on a permanent establishment. The proviso to Rule 3(8) clarify that continuous, temporary or officiating service followed without interruption by confirmation in the same or any other post is also included in the qualifying service except in the case of periods of temporary and officiating service in a non-pensionable establishment.

17. The provisions contained in Regulation 370 of the Civil Services Regulations excludes service in a non-pensionable establishment, work-charged establishment and in a post paid from contingencies from the purview of qualifying service. Under Regulation 361 of the Civil Services Regulations, the services must be under the Government and the employment must be substantive and permanent basis.

18. In the present case, nothing has been brought on record to indicate or suggest that the posts on which the petitioners were working are not substantive and permanent in nature. Contrarily, the petitioners have been given regular pay scale and other admissible allowances from time to time. Even it has not been shown to this Court that there was any break in service of the petitioners. More-so the order dated 13.01.2007 and 27.02.2009 passed by the Secretary of the Department concerned, clearly indicate that the employees of the Irrigation Department, who are working under the Industrial Establishment of the Department, have been treated as "Government Servants".

19. Once the services of the petitioners have been acknowledged, then there is hardly any scope to deprive them the pensionary benefits, as are available to other public servants. The equal protection of laws must mean the protection of equal laws for all persons similarly situated. Article 14 strikes at arbitrariness because an arbitrary provision involves negation equality. The law is never been stagnated. Now even a work charged employee, once his services is being regularized, he becomes a public servant and the said period is liable to be counted as qualifying service. [Ref: Prem Singh (supra)].

20. Once the temporary or officiating service under the State Government has to be recounted for determining the qualifying service, in such a situation, it cannot be accepted that the period spent by the petitioners in the Department is to be taken as workman in the Industrial Establishment and they can be accorded the parity with the regular employees.

21. In the Counter Affidavit at no point of time any objection has been raised that petitioners are not discharging duty commensurate to their post or to the similarly situated employees working in the regular establishment. Every plea raised in a petition has to be specifically denied and in the absence of a specific denial, the assertions made in the petitioner will normally be deemed to have been admitted or at least the court can proceed on the basis of that it is an un-controverted fact.

22. An artificial classification has to be made by the respondent authorities while passing the order impugned amongst the Government servants, who are eligible for pension. The distinction has been tried to be carved out is unsustainable in law and more-so once it has been acknowledged that the petitioners are Government Servants like other employees, then to deprive them for pension is not only unjust and inequitable but hit by principle of arbitrariness and the order impugned is liable to be struck down being in violation of Article 14 of the Constitution of India.

23. The Hon'ble Apex Court in Prem Singh (supra), while considering the plight of the work charged employee has directed that their engagement under the work-charged establishment shall be counted as qualifying service for the purpose of pension as they had retired from the regular establishment keeping in mind the provisions contained in Rule 3(8) of the Rules 1961 as well as the instructions contained in Para 669 of the Financial Handbook. As they have worked in the work-charged establishment, not against any particular project, their services ought to have been regularized under the Government instructions. While passing the said order, the Court has also considered the decision in the case of Secretary, State of Karnataka & Ors. v. Uma Devi10, wherein, it has been laid down that in case services have been rendered for more than ten years without the cover of the Court's order, as one time measure, the services be regularized of such employees, as such, the Court has held that those employees who have worked for ten years or more should have been regularized. It would not be proper to regulate them for consideration of regularisation as others have been regularised and direction has been issued to treat their services as a regular one.

24. In Kesar Chand v. the State of Punjab11, has been rendered by Full Bench of Punjab and Haryana High Court. The Rule 3.17 (ii) of the Punjab

Rules came up for consideration before the Full Bench which reads as under:

Rule 3.17. "if an employee was holding substantively a permanent post on the date of his retirement, his temporary or officiating service under the State Government, followed without interruption by confirmation in the same or another post, shall count in Full as qualifying service except in respect of -

(i) periods of temporary or officiating service in non-pensionable establishment;

(ii) periods of service in work-charged establishment; and

(iii) ....."

25. A Full Bench of the High Court in Kesar Chand (supra) has discussed the matter thus:

"19. In the light of the above, let us examine the validity of rule 3.17(ii) of the Punjab Civil Services Rules, Vol. II. This rule says that the period of service in a work-charged establishment shall not be taken into account in calculating the qualifying service. After the services of a work-charged employee have been regularised he becomes a public servant. The service is under the Government and is paid by it. This is what was precisely stated in the Industrial Award dated June 1, 1972, between the workmen and the Chief Engineer, P.W.D. (B. & R), Establishment Branch, Punjab, Patiala, which was published in the Government Gazette dated July 14, 1972. Even otherwise. the matter was settled by the Punjab Government Memo No.14095-BRI (3)-72/5383 dated 6th February 1973(Annexure P7) where it was stated that all those work charged employees who had put in ten years of service or more as on 15th August 1972, their services would be deemed to have been regularised. Once the services of a work-charged employee have been regularised, there appears to be hardly any logic to deprive him of the pensionary benefits as are available to other public servants under Rule 3.17 of the Rules. Equal protection of laws must mean the protection of equal laws for all persons similarly situated. Article 14 strikes at arbitrariness because an arbitrary provision involves negation equality. Even the temporary or officiating service under the State Government has to be reckoned for determining the qualifying service. It looks to be illogical that the period of service spent by an employee in a work-charged establishment before his regularisation has not been taken into consideration for determining his qualifying service. The classification which is sought to be made among Government servants who are eligible for pension and those who started as work-charged employees and their services regularised subsequently, and the others are based on any intelligible criteria and, therefore, is not sustainable at law. After the services of a work-charged employee have been regularised, he is a public servant like other servant. To deprive him of the pension is not only unjust and inequitable but is hit by the vice of arbitrariness, and for these reasons, the provisions of sub-rule (ii) of Rule 3.17 of the Rules have to be struck down being violative of Article 14 of the Constitution."

26. The Hon'ble Apex Court in Punjab State Electricity Board vs. Natara Singh12 has once again considered the question of determination of qualifying service for grant of pensionary benefits, in particular, the benefit of previous service in work-charged capacity with the State Government and whether it can be included as pensionable service. The relevant extract of the said judgement is as follows:-

""25. In Kesar Chand v. State of Punjab 1988 (5) SLR 27 (P&H) the Full Bench held that Rule 3.17(ii) of the Punjab Civil Ser- vices Rules was violative of Article 14 of the Constitution of In- dia. The Full Bench decision was challenged before this Court by filing a special leave petition which was dismissed. Thus, the ratio laid down by the Full Bench judgment that any rule which excludes the counting of work-charged service of an employee whose services have been regularised subsequently, must be held to be bad in law was not disturbed by this Court. The distinction made between an employee who was in temporary or officiating service and who was in work-charged service as mentioned in Rule 3.17(ii) of the Punjab Civil Services Rules disappeared when the said Rule was struck down by the Full Bench. The effect was that an employee holding substantively a permanent post on the date of his retirement was entitled to count in full as qualifying service the periods of service in work-charged estab- lishments.

26. In view of this settled position, there is no manner of doubt that the work-charged service rendered by Respondent 1 under the Government of Punjab was qualified for grant of pension un- der the rules of the Government of Punjab and therefore, the Board was not correct in rejecting the claim of the respondent for inclusion of period of work-charged service rendered by him with the State Government for grant of pension, on the ground that service rendered by him in the work-charged capacity out- side PSEB and in the Departments of the State Government was a non-pensionable service.

27. The apprehension that acceptance of the case of Respondent 1 would result into conferring a status on them as that of em- ployees of the State of Punjab has no factual basis. It is true that the State Government has power to frame rules governing ser- vices of its employees under Article 309 of the Constitution whereas the Board has power to prescribe conditions of service by framing regulations under Section 79(c) of the Electricity (Supply) Act, 1948. However, governance of a particular institu- tion and issuance of instructions to fill up the gap in the fields where statutory provisions do not operate, is recognised as a val- id mode of administration in modern times.

40. So far as this argument is concerned, it is true that the Divi- sion Bench of the High Court has expressed the above opinion in the impugned judgment. However, the reference to Rule 3.17(ii) of the Punjab Civil Services Rules as well as the Full Bench de- cision of the Punjab and Haryana High Court in Kesar Chand v. State of Punjab (supra) and the speaking order dated 16-11-2005 passed by the Board rejecting the claim of Respondent 1 makes it abundantly clear that the High Court has directed the appel- lants to count the period of service rendered by Respondent 1 in work-charged capacity with the State Government for determin- ing qualifying service for the purpose of pension. Further, Re- spondent 1 has been directed to deposit the amount of Employ- ee's Contributory Fund which he had received from the appel- lants along with interest as per the directions of the Board before the pension is released to him." (emphasis supplied)"

27. In Habib Khan v. the State of Uttarakhand, State Public Services Tribunal directed the counting of the service rendered by a work-charged employee as "qualifying service' for the pension. Writ Petition No.24 of 2007 was filed by the State of Uttarakhand against the said order. The same was dismissed by the Uttarakhand High Court. Against the said order Special Leave to Appeal was filed by the State which was also dismissed. Later on, the Full Bench of the Uttarakhand High Court took the view that the period of work-charged service cannot be counted for computation of the period of "qualifying service'. Based on Full Bench decision, review of the order dismissing Writ Petition No.24 of 2007 was sought which was allowed by order dated 27th July 2012 the same was questioned before the Hon'ble Apex Court, then the SLP was dismissed as withdrawn. Based on review petition, the matter was re-heard and the High Court vide order dated 26th May 2015 has held that the work-charged service cannot be counted for reckoning of the period of "qualifying service'. The decision of the Full Bench of the Uttarakhand High Court passed after the grant of review petition came up for consideration before the Hon'ble Apex Court and after placing reliance on the judgement passed in Kesar Chand (supra) and Natara Singh (supra), the Apex Court has held that the service rendered by the apellant as work-charged employee should be computed as qualifying service for grant of pension. The relevant extract of the said judgement dated 23.08.2017 reads as follows:-

"6. The pari materia provision contained in Rule 3.17(ii) of the Punjab Civil Services Rules had been struck down by a Full Bench decision of the Punjab and Haryana High Court in Kesar Chand vs. State of Punjab and ors. (supra). The challenge by the State against the aforesaid decision of the Full Bench of the Punjab and Haryana High Court was negatived by this Court.

The matter came up for consideration before this Court, once again, in the case of Punjab State Electricity Board and anr. Vs. Narata Singh and anr. (2010) 4 SCC 317. While dealing with the said question this Court in paragraph 25 of the report held that the Full Bench decision of the Punjab and Haryana High Court was perfectly justified in striking down Rule 3.17(ii) of the Punjab Civil Services Rules resulting in obliteration of the distinction made in the said Rules between 'temporary and officiating service' and 'work-charged service'. On the said basis, this Court took the view that the period of work-charged service should be reckoned for purposes of computation of "qualifying service' for grant of pension.

7. As already observed, the provisions of Rule 370 of the Civil Service Regulations applicable to the State of Uttarakhand are pari materia with the provisions of Rule 3.17(ii) of the Punjab Civil Services Rules, discussed above. If that is so, 'we do not see as to why the period of service rendered on work-charged ba- sis by the appellants should not be counted for purposes of com-putation of 'qualifying service' for grant of pension. The pari ma- teria provisions of Rule 3.17 (ii) of the Punjab Civil Services Rules having been interpreted and understood in the above man- ner by this Court in Narata Singh (supra) we do not find any room for taking any other view except to hold that the appellants are entitled to reckon the period of work-charged service for purposes of computation of "qualifying service' for grant of pen- sion. We order accordingly; allow these appeals and set aside the impugned orders passed by the High Court.

8. All necessary and consequential benefit in terms of the present order will be paid and granted by the State to the appellants forthwith and without any delay."

28. In the present matter, this Court is of the considered opinion that the case of petitioner is on much better footing than the petitioners (work-charged employees) of Prem Singh (supra) and their services are liable to be considered for computation of length of services for extending the pensionary benefits as in the present matter, the petitioners have been appointed on substantive post in regular capacity and they had rendered their continuous service and the State Government had also accorded regular pay scale and other allowances admissible to the similarly situated other Government employees, in such a situation, after the retirement, it cannot be accepted that the services of petitioners would come under the Labour Laws, hence they are not entitled for pensionary benefit at par with Government employees.

29. The order impugned is unsustainable and the same is set aside.

30. Consequently, the Writ Petition is allowed. It is held that the petitioners are entitled for pension and other benefits as is admissible to the similarly situated employees of the State Government from the date of their superannuation. Let the admissible benefits be ensured in favour of petitioners in the light of above observations within the period of three months from the date of production of certified copy of this order.

Public Services (Reservation for Scheduled Castes, Scheduled Tribes and Other Backward Classes) Act, 1994: Sections 3(1), 3(6); Notification No. 47 dated 24.06.2019 issued by U.P. Higher Education Services Commission, Allahabad; Government Orders dated 25.03.1994 and 30.01.2015 – The selection has two stages, viz the written examination and thereafter interview. According to Regulation 6(2), candidates have been called for interview in the ratio of 1:5 by determining the cut of marks category wise

i.e. General, OBC and SC/ ST. The petitioners of both the writ petitions, though have scored higher marks than the last candidate in general category, were not called for interview in any of the categories for the reason that they have not fallen within the cut off marks fixed for the OBC category candidates.

B. U.P. Higher Education Services Commission (Procedure for Selection of Teachers) Regulation, 2014: Regulation 6(2) - Regulation 6(2) says that "as for as possible", meaning thereby, the ratio could be more than five times if the situation may so demand. Regulation 6(2) is flexible and procedural in nature, which cannot impinge upon substantial rights provided statutorily i.e. U.P. Act No. 4 of 1994 and constitutionally. (Para 36, 37, 42)

C. A relaxation or concession given at the preliminary stage, cannot have any relevance in determining the merit of the candidate - The vacancies under the unreserved category are not reserved for anyone. A candidate belonging to the reserved category who has scored higher marks than the last in the merit list of general category, would be adjusted against the unreserved vacancy and not against the reserved vacancy, against which he has applied. (Para 13, 34, 42)

D. Even if there is no rule providing for short- listing nor any mention of it in the advertisement calling for applications for the post, the Selection Body can resort to a short-listing procedure if there are a large number of eligible candidates who apply and it is not possible for the authority to interview all of them. (Para 24, 42)

E. Regulation 2(m); Press Release dated 17.07.2019 and Office memorandum dated 09.12.2019 issued by U.P. Public Service Commission - Harmonious Construction has to be made reading the provisions of Regulations, 2014, Section 3(6) of U.P. Act No. 4 of 1994 and Articles 14 and 16 of the Constitution of India – By eliminating the reserved category candidate with higher marks at the intermediate stage itself namely, prior to interview amounts to final rejection of the candidature before completion of process of selection. A reserved category candidate shall not be debarred from further selection if the candidate has scored higher marks than cut off marks fixed for the candidates belonging to unreserved category called for the interview. (Para 20, 22, 23, 35, 42)

The memorandum and press release were held it to be contrary to statutory provisions U/S. 3(6) of 1994 Act and as was issued after first part of selection had already taken place, cannot have any retrospective effect. (Para 22, 38)

2. Government of Andhra Pradesh Vs P. Dilip Kumar & anr., (1993) 2 SCC 310 (Para 26)

1. The controversy involved in both the aforesaid writ petitions is similar in nature, therefore, the same is decided by a common judgment.

2. Under challenge in the writ petitions i.e. Writ Petition No. 20476 (S/S) of 2019, Rohit Verma Versus State of U.P. and Others and Writ Petition No. 19881 (S/S) of 2019, Ayush Ranjan Chaudhary and Another Versus State of U.P. and Others, is the notification no. 47 dated 24-06-2019 issued by the U.P. Higher Education Services Commission, Allahabad (hereinafter referred as 'Commission' in short). By the said notification the Commission has called the candidates for interview in the ratio of 1:5 under three categories i.e. General, OBC and SC/ST as per the cut off marks determined categorywise as obtained in the written examination.

3. The petitioners belong to Other Backward Class category i.e. OBC and cut off marks determined for the OBC category candidates called for interview is 130.34 whereas for the general category candidates, the cut off marks is 103.37.

4. The petitioner in Writ Petition No. 20476(S/S) of 2019, has secured 125.84 marks whereas the petitioners in Writ Petition No. 19881(S/S) of 2019 have secured 125.44 and 116.48 marks respectively in the written examination.

5. The brief facts of the case are that notification no. 47 was issued by the Commission inviting applications for selection on the post of Assistant Professor in 33 subjects including 273 posts in Sociology bifurcating in three categories i.e. 167 posts for unreserved category, 63 posts for OBC category and 43 posts for SC & ST category, which is the subject matter of the present writ petitions.

6. Against 167 vacancies of unreserved category, 838 candidates were called for interview and the last candidate called has scored 103.33 marks in the written examination. Against 63 vacancies for OBC Category, 385 candidates were called and the last candidate has scored 133.34 marks. Under the SC/ST category, 217 candidates were called for interview against 43 vacancies and the last candidate has scored 112.36 marks. The candidates were called in ratio of 1 :5 in each category.

7. The selection has two stages, viz the written examination and thereafter interview. According to Regulation 6(2) of the U.P. Higher Education Services Commission(Procedure for Selection of Teachers) Regulations, 2014(In short referred as 'Regulations, 2014'), candidates have been called for interview in the ratio of 1:5 by determining the cut of marks categorywise i.e. General, OBC and SC/ST. The petitioners of both the writ petitions were not called for interview in any of the categories for the reason that they have not fallen within the cut off marks fixed for the OBC category candidates.

8. The grievance of the petitioners is that the last candidate belonging to general category, who has obtained 103.37 marks has been called for interview, who is lower in merit.

9. Sri G.C.Verma and Sri Karunakar Srivastava, learned counsel for the petitioners have submitted that by not calling the petitioners for the interview, though, they have scored higher marks than the general category candidates, the Commission acted in contravention of Section 3(6) of the U.P. Public Services (Reservation for Scheduled Castes, Scheduled Tribes and Other Backward Classes) Act, 1994 (hereinafter referred as the U.P. Act No. 4 of Act of 1994). Sections 3(1) and 3(6) of the said Act provide as under :-

"Section 3 (1) In public services and posts, there shall be reserved at the stage of direct recruitment, the following percentages of vacancies to which recruitment are to be made in accordance with the roster referred to in sub-section (5) in favour of the persons belonging to Scheduled Castes, Scheduled Tribes and Other Backward Classes of citizens.-

(a) in the case of Scheduled Castes twenty one percent :

(b) in the case of Scheduled Tribes two percent :

(c) in the case of Other Backward Classes of citizens twenty seven per cent :

Provided that the reservation under clause (c) shall not apply to the category of other backward classes of citizens specified in Scheduled II."

"3 (6) If a person belonging to any of the categories mentioned in sub-section (1) gets selected on the basis of merit in an open competition with general candidates, he shall not be adjusted against the vacancies reserved for such category under sub- Section (1)."

10. In support of abovementioned contention, learned counsel for the petitioners have relied upon the Division Bench Judgment of this court dated 19-05-2015 passed in Special Appeal No. 310 of 2015(U.P. Power Corporation Ltd. And Another Versus Nitin Kumar and 9 Others), which has been followed in Writ A No. 68706 of 2015 (Lalit Kumar Versus State of U.P. and Another).

11. Submission of learned counsels for the petitioners is that case of the present petitioners is squarely covered by the Judgment of this court in the case of Lalit Kumar (Supra) and U.P. Power Corporation Ltd.(Supra).

12. Learned counsels have further submitted that the State Government has issued a Government Order dated 25-03-1994. Para 4 of the said Government Order provides that if any candidate belonging to reserved category is selected with the general category candidates in an open selection, then he/she shall not be adjusted against the vacancies reserved for reserved category candidates, meaning thereby, such reserved category candidate shall be treated to be migrated against the unreserved vacancy though the reserved category candidates appeared in the selection after taking benefit of relaxation admissible to the candidates belonging to reserved category. Para 4 of the Government Order dated 25-03-1994 reads as follows :-

13. Learned counsel for the petitioners have further contended that on 30-01-2015, another order has been issued by the state government for strict compliance of provisions of Section 3(6) of U.P. Act No. 4 of 1994. In support of their submissions, they have also placed reliance on the Judgment of the Apex Court in the case of Jitendra Kumar Singh and Another Versus State of U.P. and Others, reported in 2010(3) SCC,119. In this case, the issue before the Apex Court were with regard to filling up of the general category posts by the candidates belonging to reserved category on their obtaining more marks than the last candidate in the general category. The Apex Court held that the submission of learned counsels for the petitioners/appellants is not accepted that the reserved category candidate having availed relaxation of age are disqualified for open category seat.

14. Another Judgment of the Apex Court, which has been relied upon by learned counsels for the petitioners is Ajith Kumar & Others Vs Renu Kr. and Others, reported in 2015 (16) SCC,778. In this case, the Apex Court held that once a candidate appears in the examination pursuant to a concession granted by the Service Commission, cannot be treated as less meritorious candidate who are entitled to be appointed to open category post even though having obtained higher marks. The Apex Court held that a relaxation or concession given at the preliminary stage, cannot have any relevance in determining the merit of the candidate.

15. The other Judgment of the Apex court, on which the learned counsels for the petitioners have placed reliance is Vikas Sankhala Versus Vikas Kumar Agarwal and Others, reported in (2017)1 SCC 350. In this case also, relaxation of 5% marks was made in favour of the reserved category candidates for passing TET test by the NCTE. The same issue had again cropped up that once concession has been taken, that candidate shall not be at par with the general category candidates. The Court framed three issues, which are quoted below :-

i. Whether the policy of the State as reflected in its letter dated March 23, 2011 deciding to give relaxation ranging from 10% to 20% in TET marks to different reserved categories as mentioned therein is valid in law?

ii. Whether NCTE notification dated July 29, 2011, which amends paragraph 3 of its earlier guidelines/notification dated February 11,2011, provides 5% relaxation to the reserved category to passing TET?

If so, whether it would be applicable to the reserved categories in the State of Rajasthan as well?

iii. Whether reserved category candidates, who secured better than general category candidates in recruitment examination, can be denied migration to general seats on the basis that they had availed relaxation in TET?

Learned counsels for the petitioners have relied upon the answer to Issue No. 3 which has been dealt with in Para 63(B) of the Judgment, which is quoted hereinbelow :-

63(b) Migration from reserved category to general category shall be admissible to those reserved category candidates who secured more marks obtained by the last unreserved category candidates who are selected, subject to the condition that such reserved category candidates did not avail any other special concession. It is clarified that concession of passing marks in TET would not be treated as concession falling in the aforesaid category.

16. Similar issue has been dealt with by the Apex Court by its Judgment dated 04-07-2019 passed in Civil Appeal No. 5185 of 2019(Arising out of S.L.P.(Civil) No. 3938 of 2018, Neeravkumar Dilipbhai Makwana Vs. Gujrat Public Service Commission and Others, whether a reserved category candidate, who has availed of age relaxation can thereafter seek to be accommodated in or migrated to the general category seat, the Apex Court replied in affirmative in favour of reserved category candidate.

17. Sri Vivek Shukla, learned counsel for the opposite parties no. 2 & 3 i.e. Uttar Pradesh Higher Education Service Commission, on the other hand, has vehemently opposed the submissions made on behalf of the petitioners. He has submitted that Section 3(6) of U.P. Act No. 4 of 1994 provides for "get selected on the basis of merit in an open competition". In the present case, the selection has yet not been completed. The selection would be completed only after the interview and hence, any migration from the reserved seat to unreserved seat is permissible only after completion of the selection but in the intermediate stage, migration is not permitted.

18. Learned counsel for the opposite parties no. 2 & 3 has further relied upon Regulation 6(2) of the Regulations 2014, which is quoted as under :-

"6. The commission shall scrutinize the applications and conduct the written examination and interview of eligible for the post of lecturer and principal.

i. Written examination for the post of lecturer shall consist one objective type question papers (General Knowledge and related optional subjects of fix marks-2000 (60+140) and for interview 30 marks. Final merit list shall be prepare on the basis of marks obtained on both) (200+30).

ii. Selection for the post of Principal based on a written examination. Academic Performance Indicator (API) marks and interview. Written examination consist one objective question paper comprising General Knowledge and administrative aptitude test of fix marks (30+70) 100 marks. For API 50 marks which shall be allotted by the Commission's guideline based on U.G.C. norms. For Interview fixed 20 marks.

(2) The number of candidates to be called for interview as for as possible, be between three to five, the vacancies advertise as the Commission may consider proper. All within cut off marks shall be called for interview."

19. According to the learned counsel for the respondents, the candidates have been called for interview as per the statutory provisions in the ratio of 1:5 by determining cut off marks categorywise i.e. General, OBC and SC/ST.

20. Learned counsel for the opposite parties no. 2 & 3 has further relied upon the definition of selection as provided in Regulation 2(m) which is quoted below :-

2(m) "Selection" means selection of candidate finally after written examinations and interview, in pursuance of Advertisement already made." He has also placed reliance on Regulation 6 of the Regulations,2014, where it has been provided that "Final result declared to the marks of written examination and interview."

21. Learned counsel for the respondents has drawn attention of this court to the Press Release made by the Commission on 17-07-2019, which is quoted below :-

"यह भी स्पष्ट करना है कि लिखित परीक्षा सम्पूर्ण चयन प्रक्रिया की एक बीच की कड़ी है जिसमें अभ्यर्थियों को मात्र साक्षात्कार हेतु आमंत्रित किया गया है। ध्यातव्य है कि लिखित परीक्षा का परिणाम चयन नहीं होता है, आयोग द्वारा लिखित परीक्षा में प्राप्त अंकों के आधार पर विनियमावली–2014 के बिन्दु–6(2) साक्षात्कार के पश्चात् सफल अभ्यर्थियों के (लिखित परीक्षा + साक्षात्कार) प्राप्त अंकों की समेकित मेरिट सूची के आधार पर उत्तर प्रदेश लोक सेवा (अनुसूचित जातियों, अनुसूचित जनजातियों और अन्य पिछड़े वर्गों के लिए आरक्षण) अधिनियम–1994 के बिन्दु–3(6) के तहत अन्य पिछड़ा वर्ग, अनुसूचित जाति एवं अनुसूचित जनजाति के अभ्यर्थी अनारक्षित ;न्दतमेमतअमकद्ध सामान्य श्रेणी में चयनित किये जा सकेंगे।"

22. The learned counsel has further relied upon an office memorandum which has been issued by the U.P. Public Service Commission on 09-12-2019,wherein it has not been provided that if any candidate has taken benefit of any qualified standard, then that candidate is entitled for migration/adjustment in the open category at the stage of final selection. Copy of the said Office Memorandum has been enclosed with the written submissions filed on behalf of the opposite parties no. 2 & 3.

23. The learned counsel for the respondents has placed reliance on para 52 of the Judgment in the case of Sanjeev Kumar Singh Versus State of U.P. and Others, reported in 2007(2) ADJ 150, wherein it has been held that ex-facie and undoubtedly, at the time of final select list, Section 3(6) of Act of 1994 would be applicable and if a reserve category candidate has secured marks more than a last general category candidate, he is entitled to be selected against unresreved seat without being adjusted against a reserved seat. Even, the said judgment is not of any help to the opposite parties no. 2 & 3, the reason being that in the same paragraph, it has been provided that all the candidates securing 50% marks and more in the preliminary qualifying written test participated in the physical test irrespective of the number of candidates qualifying against individual category. The standard of selection is common to all, whereas in the present writ petitions, the petitioners have been debarred from interview despite the fact that they have secured more marks in the written test than the candidates who were called for the interview belonging to unreserved category.

24. Learned counsel has further submitted that the method of shortlisting can validly be adopted by the selection body even in the absence of any rule or regulation and in support of his contention, he has also relied upon the Judgment of the Apex Court in the case of B.Ramakichenin Vs Union of India, reported in 2008(1)SCC,362. For convenience, para nos. 15,16 & 17 of the said Judgment are quoted below:-

"15. It is well settled that the method of short- listing can be validly adopted by the Selection Body vide Madhya Pradesh

Public Service Commission vs. Navnit Kumar Potdar and another 1994 (6) SCC 293 (vide paras 6, 8, 9 and 13), Government of Andhra Pradesh vs. Dilip Kumar and another 1993 (2) SCC 30, etc.

16. Even if there is no rule providing for short- listing nor any mention of it in the advertisement calling for applications for the post, the Selection Body can resort to a short-listing procedure if there are a large number of eligible candidates who apply and it is not possible for the authority to interview all of them. for example, if for one or two posts there are more than 1000 applications received from eligible candidates, it may not be possible to interview all of them. In this situation, the procedure of short-listing can be resorted to by the Selection Body, even though there is no mention of short-listing in the rules or in the advertisement.

17. However, for valid short-listing there have to be two requirements

(i) It has to be on some rational and objective basis. For instance, if selection has to be done on some post for which the minimum essential requirement is a B.Sc. degree, and if there are a large number of eligible applicants, the Selection Body can resort to short-listing by prescribing certain minimum marks in B.Sc. and only those who have got such marks may be called for the interview. this can be done even if the rule or advertisement doe not mention only those who have the aforementioned minimum marks, will be considered or appointed on the post. Thus the procedure of short-listing is only a practical via- media which has been followed by the courts in various decisions since otherwise there may be great difficulties for the selecting and appointing as they may not be able to interview hundreds and thousands of eligible candidates;

(ii) If a prescribed method of short-listing has been mentioned in the rule or advertisement then that method alone has to be followed."

25. Learned counsel for the respondents has submitted that the selection is as per Regulations, 2014. The petitioners have neither challenged the relevant provisions of Regulations,2014 nor the Office Memorandum issued by the Commission. He has further contended that the the Judgments relied upon by the learned counsel for the petitioners are not applicable in the present case for the reason that the Judgment in the case of U.P. Power Corporation Ltd.(Supra), there was no Regulation, whereas in the present case, the Regulations are in existence providing the procedure and defining the selection.

26. As far as the other Judgment in the case of Government of Andhra Pradesh Versus P.Dilip Kumar and Another, reported in 1993(2)SCC310, is also not applicable,since the provisions are different.

27. On the other hand, learned counsel namely Sri Anuj Kudesia, Sri Gaurav Mehrotra and Sri Satendra Tripathi, who have moved impleadment applications on behalf of the unreserved category candidates, their impleadment applications have already been allowed by this court by its order dated 02-06-2020 have submitted that the petitioners have not approached this court with clean hands by making concealment in not disclosing that they have appeared in the examination by taking relaxation of 5% marks in post graduation as admissible to OBC category candidates. Sri Anuj Kudesia, Advocate, with the affidavit has also enclosed the copy of the form of Sri Rohit Verma, showing that he has scored 50% marks in Post Graduate and by taking advantage of relaxation of 5% marks, he became eligible to participate in the selection, since eligibility is 55% marks in the post graduation. It has further been contended that the petitioners have participated in the selection as an OBC Category candidates by taking relaxation and hence, cannot be treated at par with the candidates belonging to unreserved category.

28. Sri Anuj Kudesia, learned counsel has relied upon the Judgment of the Apex Court in the case of Deepa EV Versus Union of India & Ors, reported in [2017(12)SCC,680 and the Judgment dated 04-12-2019 passed by the Apex Court in the case of The Secretary, U.P. Public Service Commission Versus Dr. Shiv Vinayak Tripathi and Another.

29. Learned counsel after arguing at some length, have failed to dispute the law laid down in the case of Jitendra Kumar Singh (Supra) and very fairly accepted that in the present case, Judgment in the case of Jitendra Kumar Singh(Supra) is applicable.

30. Sri Anuj Kudesia, learned counsel has further contended that the petitioners on the basis of assumption disclosed their marks in the writ petitions and there is no official declaration of the result of the written examination by the Selection Service Commission but it is found that the marks said to be obtained by the petitioner were not disputed in the Counter Affidavit filed on behalf of opposite parties no. 2 & 3.

31. Sri Karunakar Srivastava, learned counsel for the petitioners in Writ Petition No. 19881 (S/S) of 2019, has filed a Supplementary Affidavit disclosing therein that the petitioners in his writ petition have scored more than 55% marks in post graduation and in support of his contentions, he has enclosed copy of the form. On being asked learned counsel representing the opposite parties no. 2 & 3 (U.P. Higher Education Service Commission), as to whether they want to file any objection/reply, the learned counsel representing the Commission has stated that no reply is required and the documents are on record.

32. After hearing learned counsels for the parties, it is found that it is not disputed that if a candidate belonging to reserved category scores higher marks than a candidate belonging to unreserved category, then the reserved category candidate would be migrated against the seats/posts of unreserved category irrespective of having taken any concession, as laid down in various Judgments of this court as well as of the Apex Court. To adjudicate the controversy in the present writ petition, the following questions crop up for consideration :-

(I) In a case, where the benefit of reservation is provided to certain categories, will it be permissible to shortlist the candidates categorywise and prepare a separate lists of each category of candidates, namely General, OBC and SC/ST.

(II) Can a candidate in the reserved category be migrated to the list of candidates of unreserved category on the basis of his merit ?

(III) At what stage of the process of recruitment, list of candidates on merits, so as to be called for interview is to be prepared particularly in reference to the provisions contained in Regulations,2014 ?.

33. It has been held by the Apex Court in the case of Jitendra Kumar (Supra) that the competition would start only at a stage when all the persons who fulfill all the requisite eligibility qualification,age etc. are shortlisted. Relevant extract of the said Judgment is quoted below:-

"17. .....However, after the promulgation of the 1994 Act and issuance of the Instructions dated 25th of March, 1994, the State Government has not treated relaxation in age and fee as relaxation in the standard of selection. Therefore, even if a candidate has availed concession in fee and or age limit, it cannot be treated to be relaxation in standard of selection. Therefore, it would not deny a reserved category candidate selection in Open Competition with General Category candidates. Such concessions can be granted by the State under Section (8)1 of the Act. The Division Bench has also held that a relaxation in age and concession in fee are provisions pertaining to eligibility of a candidate to find out as to whether he can appear in a competitive test or not and by itself do not provide any indicia of open competition. The competition would start only at a stage when all the persons who fulfill all the requisite eligibility qualification, age etc. are short listed. The candidates in the zone of consideration entering the list on the basis of aforesaid qualifications would thereafter participate in competition and open competition would commence therefrom. Therefore, concession granted under Section 8 would not disentitle a reserved category candidate of the benefit under Section 3 sub-Section (6)."

"49. In any event the entire issue in the present appeals need not be decided on the general principles of law laid down in various judgment as noticed above. In these matters, we are concerned with the interpretation f the 1994 Act, the instructions dated 25.03.1994 and the GO dated 26.02.1999. The controversy herein centres around the limited issue as to whether an OBC who has applied exercising his option as a reserved category candidate, thus, becoming eligible to be considered against a reserved vacancy, can also be considered against an unreserved vacancy if he/she secures more marks than the last candidate in the general category."

34. It is also clear that under the law a reserved category candidate has right to be considered against both the vacancies i.e. vacancies available for general category candidates depending upon his merit and the reserved category candidates. The vacancies under the unreserved category are not reserved for anyone. A candidate belonging to the reserved category who has scored higher marks than the last in the merit list of general category, would be adjusted against the unreserved vacancy and not against the reserved vacancy, against which he has applied.

35. If the submissions made on behalf of the opposite parties no. 2 & 3 are accepted then at the intermediate stage, the reserved candidate though having scored higher marks in the written examination cannot be migrated to the unreserved category candidates, who have scored lesser marks, it would then lead to illegality and discrimination for the reasons that firstly; the merit will be compromised whereas it is the very basis of selection, secondly;, by eliminating the reserved category candidate with higher marks at the intermediate stage itself namely, prior to interview amounts to final rejection of the candidature before completion of process of selection, thirdly; if the migration from reserved to unreserved category is not permitted at the intermediate stage i.e at the interview stage, then how the categorization has been made at the intermediate stage fourthly; if contention of learned counsel representing the opposite parties no. 2 & 3 is accepted, then very purpose of the legislation of Act No. 4 of 1994 particularly, Section 3(6) would be frustrated and would become redundant.

36. The contention made on behalf of opposite parties no. 2 & 3 is that the selection is proceeded as per Regulation 6(2), which provides that number of candidates to be called for interview would be 3 to 5 times of the vacancies advertised, as stated in the Counter Affidavit, is also not acceptable for the reason that Regulation 6(2) says that "as for as possible", meaning thereby, the ratio could be more than five times if the situation may so demand.

37. Regulation 6(2) is flexible and procedural in nature, which cannot impinge upon substantial rights provided statutorily i.e. U.P. Act No. 4 of 1994 and constitutionally. Again Regulation 6(2) does not put any limitation as stated in the Counter Affidavit as a reason not extending the zone of consideration and try to justify their arguments.

38. Contention of learned counsel for the opposite parties no. 2 & 3 is that for limitation of extending the zone of consideration by increasing the ratio is also against the law laid down by the Apex court. In support of their contention for shortlisting, relied upon a decision which rather held otherwise in the case of Dr. Shiv Vinayak Tripathi (Supra). The facts of the case were that in order to shortlist the candidates, the screening test was conducted by the appellants in terms of the resolution and the ratio of 1:3 was applied, for the next stage of selection process which was in intermediate stage. The Selection Service Commission had increased the ratio from 1: 3 to 1: 12 as for as the OBC candidates are concerned for calling the OBC category candidates obtaining the equal marks belonging to general category candidates. The said action was challenged and controversy had reached upto the Apex Court. The Apex Court held that there is no illegality or invalidity in such exercise of power by the Commission for the reason that as per the well settled law that a person belonging to reserved category, entitled to be considered against the unreserved post, such person has to be firstly absorbed against the post of unreserved category.

The reliance placed upon press release dated 09/02/2019 has no value, whatsoever, so as to deserve consideration. On the face of it, it is contrary to statutory provisions under section 3(6) of 1994 Act. Again it has been issued after first part of selection has already been taken place. It cannot have any retrospective effect after the selection has started and completed in parts. This press release does not help the respondents.

39. Judgment in the case of Deepa EV(Supra) relied upon by learned counsel, Sri Anuj Kudesia and Sri Gaurav Mehrotra is not applicable in the present case though the issue is same as mentioned in para 4 of the said Judgment, which reads as follows :-

"4. The appellant, who has applied under OBC category by availing age relaxation and also attending the interview under the "OBC category" cannot claim right to be appointed under the General category."

The Apex Court in para 8 of the said Judgment held as under :-

"8. The learned counsel for the appellant mainly relied upon the judgment of this Court in Jitendra Kumar Singh v. State of U.P., which deals with the U.P. Public Services (Reservation for Scheduled Castes, Scheduled Tribes and Other Backward Classes) Act, 1994 and Government Order dated 25.03.1994. On a perusal of the above judgment, we find that there is no express bar in the said U.P. Act for the candidates of SC/ST/OBC being considered for the posts under general category. in such facts and circumstances of the said case, this Court has taken the view that the relaxation granted to the reserved category candidates will operate a level playing field. In the light of the express bar provided under the proceedings dated 01.07.1998 the principle laid down in Jitendra Kumar Singh cannot be applied to the case in hand."

In these circumstances, the Judgment in the case of Deepa EV(Supra) does not support the contention of learned counsels rather it cuts against their own argument.

40. Contention of learned counsel representing the opposite parties no. 2 & 3 that the Judgment in the case of U.P. Power Corporation Ltd. (Supra), is not applicable for the reason that the U.P. Power Corporation Ltd. has no Regulations like Regulations, 2014. The said contention is not acceptable, since it is wholly immaterial whether such Regulation exits or does not exist particularly in view of provisions u/s 3(6) of 1994 Act and the principle of equality in the matter of selection on merit.

41. Judgment of Division Bench of this court in the case of U.P. Power Corporation Ltd. (Supra)has been followed by this court in the case of Lalit Kumar (Supra).

42. In view of the discussions held above, the questions as framed are replied accordingly as follows :-

(1) Shortlisting of the candidates categorywise is permissible with or without any such provision.

(2) Yes, the candidates after short listing, participated in the open selection alongwith the candidates belonging to unreserved category if scored higher marks then they shall be migrated to the unreserved category vacancies according to the merit and if necessary the ratio of candidates can be increased against the number of vacancies more particularly in view of flexibility provided in Regulation 6(2) of Regulation 2014 or even otherwise.

(3) By eliminating the reserved category candidate with higher marks at the intermediate stage itself namely, prior to interview amounts to final rejection of the candidature before completion of process of selection. Regulations 2014 cannot be read in contravention of provision of an Act and the Constitution. A harmonious construction has to be made reading the provisions of Regulations,2014, Section 3(6)of U.P. Act No. 4 of 1994 and Articles 14 and 16 of the Constitution of India. The position that emerges out is that a reserved category candidate shall not be debarred from further selection if the candidate has scored higher marks than cut off marks fixed for the candidates belonging to unreserved category called for the interview.

43. At later stage, learned counsels representing the private respondents have relied upon the Judgment and order dated 10-11-2016 passed by this court in Writ Petition No. 6083 (S/S) of 2016, Sachhida Nand Mishra Versus State of U.P. and Others, to say that in such a circumstances whole selection need not be quashed and relief may be confined to the petitioners of this case who have approached this court. As a mater of fact no such plea has been raised to quash the whole selection in the present proceedings. The petitioners in the two writ petitions in question can well be granted relief confined to them without disturbing the whole process of selection which question was not raised by any party nor any such relief is sought.

44. It has also been informed by learned counsel representing all the parties that in all other 32 subjects, the selection has been made by following the same procedure and appointment orders have also been issued in favour of the successful candidates except for the Sociology Subject.

45. Since, the petitioners can be granted relief without quashing the selection process held so far, it is hereby directed that the petitioners having higher marks than the last candidate of unreserved category called for the interview, the petitioners, since have approached the court, shall be allowed in the further process of selection, against the unreserved seats, namely in the interview. To avoid any further delay, a direction is also issued to opposite parties no. 2 & 3 to complete the process as early as possible say within a period of six weeks from the date a certified copy of this order is served.

46. With the directions made hereinabove , both the writ petitions are hereby allowed.

47. No order as to costs.

48. Let a copy of this order be placed on the record of Writ Petition 19881 (S/S) of 2019.

1. On 03.04.2007, the plaintiff-respondent no. 3 instituted a Small Causes Case No. 7 of 2007 before the Court of Civil Judge, Senior Division, Court No. 14, Raebareli against the defendant-petitioner, for recovery of arrears of rent and ejectment. In her plaint, the plaintiff alleged that she was the landlady of a shop situated in House No. 101, Ward No. 3, situated at Mohalla Nai Bazaar, Lalganj, District Raibareli of which the defendant was a tenant on a monthly rent of Rs. 600 per month, plus taxes and that he had not paid rent for the period extending from November, 2005 to February, 2007 in spite of notice of demand dated 28.02.2007.

2. On 30.05.2008, the petitioner filed his written statement controverting the material averments made in the plaint. The petitioner inter alia pleaded that rent of the shop was Rs. 600 per month including taxes; that the alleged notice dated 28.02.2007 was never served upon the petitioner; that rent upto December, 2006 was paid; that the landlady refused to accept the rent for the month of January, 2007 and as such the same was sent to her by money order, which she refused to accept. It was vaguely alleged that appropriate proceedings had been initiated for depositing the rent but no orders had been passed in the said proceeding. Alongwith his written statement, the petitioner also moved an application under section 151 CPC for depositing Rs. 9400/- (Rs. 8400 towards rent for the period extending from January, 2007 to February, 2008 and Rs. 1000/- towards Court fee and other expenses).

3. Based upon the pleadings of the parties, the trial Court framed 5 issues. The trial Court, after taking into account the oral and documentary evidence on record, decreed the suit of the respondent no.3 by judgment dated 27.03.2015. The trial Court inter alia held that the notice of demand had been duly served; that there was a relationship of landlord and tenant between the respondent no.3 and the petitioner; that the petitioner was found to be a defaulter under Section 20(2) of the Act. On these findings the suit was decreed. The aforesaid judgment of the trial Court has been upheld in Revision No. 36 of 2015 by the Additional District Judge, Court No. 3, Raebareli by the judgment dated 27.10.2016. These two judgments are under challenge in this petition.

4. Shri Ajay Sharma, learned counsel for the petitioner has made two submissions. Firstly, that the notice of demand was not served upon the petitioner and secondly, that the "first date of hearing' is the date on which the court applies its mind and not the date of filing of written statement as has been held by the courts below. The counsel submits that the petitioner had deposited the entire arrears of rent after excluding the amount deposited by him under section 30(1) of the U.P. Urban Buildings (Regulation of Letting, Rent and Eviction Act, 1972 (for short "the Act') by the "first date of hearing' and as such the petitioner was entitled to the benefit of sub-section (4) of section 20 of the Act.

5. In so far as the first submission of the learned counsel for the petitioner is concerned, both the Courts below, on the basis of the evidence on record, have returned a concurrent finding of fact that the notice of demand dated 28.02.2007, which was sent by the respondent no. 3 by registered post, was tendered to the petitioner but was refused by him as was clear from the endorsement made by the postal authorities and consequently the notice would be deemed to have been sufficiently served upon the petitioner. In Harcharan Singh v. Shivrani, (1981) 2 SCC 535 the Apex Court has held that where a notice was sent by registered post and came back with the endorsement 'refused' made by the postal authorities, it would be sufficient in the eye of law to justify the presumption of service of the notice on the addressee. In this view of the matter there seems to be no error in the finding recorded by the Courts below that the notice of demand dated 28.02.2007 was duly served upon the petitioner. Furthermore, the Revisional Court also cannot be questioned for not interfering with the findings of fact recorded by the trial Court.

6. Section 25 of the Provincial Small Causes Courts Act, 1887 (for short "1887 Act') under which the Revisional Court has exercised its jurisdiction reads as under:

"25. Revision of decrees and orders of Courts of Small Causes.--The High Court, for the purpose of satisfying itself that a decree or order made in any case decided by a Court of Small Causes was according to law, may call for the case and pass such order with respect thereto as it thinks fit."

7. In Mundri Lal v. Sushila Rani, (2007) 8 SCC 609, the Apex Court reiterated that under Section 25 of the Act pure finding of fact based on appreciation of evidence may not be interfered with. It was held that findings of fact can be interfered with only when the findings were perverse or were based on no material or the findings had been arrived at upon taking into consideration the inadmissible evidence or the findings had been arrived at without consideration of relevant evidence.

8. In the absence of any patent perversity, in the light of the above precedent of the Apex Court, no valid ground for interference with the finding of fact recorded by the trial Court with regard to service of notice, and its affirmation by the Revisional Court is made out by the petitioner.

9. In so far as the second submission of the learned counsel for the petitioner is concerned, in the facts and circumstances of the case, it would not be necessary for this Court to delve deep into the issue regarding the "first date of hearing' as the outcome of this case hinges upon the question as to whether or not the petitioner had otherwise made compliance of sub-section (4) of Section 20 of the Act.

10. To determine this controversy reference may be made to some of the provisions of the Act. Sub-section (2) of Section 20 of the Act deals with the grounds upon the proof of which a tenant can be evicted from the leased premises. Sub-section (4) of Section 20 provides that if at the first hearing of the suit the tenant unconditionally pays or tenders to the landlord or deposits in Court the amount mentioned therein, the Court may relieve the tenant from the liability of eviction. Relevant portions of Section 20(1), 20(2)(a) and Section 20(4) provide:

"20. Bar of suit for eviction of tenant except on specified grounds.- (1) Save as provided in Sub-section (2), no suit shall be instituted for the eviction of a tenant from a building, notwithstanding the determination of his tenancy by efflux of time or on the expiration of a notice to quit or in any other manner."

proviso (omitted as unnecessary)

(2) A suit for the eviction of a tenant from a building after the determination of his tenancy may be instituted on one or more of the following grounds, namely:

(a) that the tenant is in arrears of rent for not less than four months, and has failed to pay the same to the landlord within one month from the date of service upon him of a notice of demand:

proviso (omitted as unnecessary)

(b) to (g) (omitted as unnecessary)

(3) (omitted as unnecessary)

(4) In any suit for eviction on the ground mentioned in clause (a) of sub-section (2), if at the first hearing of the suit the tenant unconditionally pays or tenders to the landlord or deposits in Court the entire amount of rent and damages for use and occupation of the building due from him (such damages for use and occupation being calculated at the same rate as rent) together with interest thereon at the rate of nine percent per annum and the landlord's costs of the suit in respect thereof, after deducting therefrom any amount already deposited by the tenant under sub-section (1) of Section 30, the Court may, in lieu of passing a decree for eviction on that ground, pass an order relieving the tenant against his liability for eviction on that ground: proviso (omitted as unnecessary) (5) and (6) (omitted as unnecessary)"

11. Section 30 of the Act provides for deposit of rent in Court in certain circumstances. Section 30(1) provide:

"30. Deposit of rent in Court in certain circumstances:-(1) If any person claiming to be a tenant of a building tenders any amount as rent in respect of the building to its alleged landlord and the alleged landlord refuses to accept the same then the former may deposit such amount in the prescribed manner and continue to deposit any rent which he alleges to be due for any subsequent period in respect of such building until the landlord in the meantime signifies by notice in writing to the tenant his willingness to accept it.

(2) & (6) (omitted as unnecessary)."

12. On a conjoint reading of Sections 20 and 30 of the Act, it is apparent that under Section 20(2) of the Act, the landlord gets a cause of action for evicting the tenant when the tenant is in arrears of rent for not less than four months, and has failed to pay the same to the landlord within one month from the date of service upon him of a notice of demand. If, however, the tenant pays the entire arrears of rent due on or before the first date of hearing of the suit, the court may relieve the tenant against eviction even though he had not complied with Section 20(2). The tenant can take advantage of the benefit conferred by Section 20(4) only when he pays the entire amount of rent due, as required under Section 20(4), after deducting any amount already deposited by the tenant under Section 30(1) of the Act.

13. According to the petitioner he had deposited the entire arrears of rent on the first date of hearing after deducting the amount deposited by him under Section 30(1) of the Act.

14. A perusal of sub-section (1) of Section 30 of the Act shows that the tender of rent in respect of the building by the person claiming to be a tenant of the building to the alleged landlord of the building, and the landlord's refusal to accept the rent so tendered by the alleged landlord of the building are pre-requisites for making any deposits under sub-section (1) of Section 30 of the Act. In case, the pre-requisites are not fulfilled, the person claiming to be tenant of the building is not entitled to make deposits under sub-section (1) of Section 30 of the Act. Even if any deposits are made under Section 30(1) of the Act without fulfilling the said pre-requisites, such deposits will be invalid, and the person claiming to be tenant of the building will not be entitled to get any benefit of such deposits.

15. In Smt. Mridula Dayal v. VIth Addl. District Judge, Allahabad & Ors. 1986 (2) ARC 132 a Division Bench of this Court explained the difference between a valid deposit and an invalid deposit and held that the tenant cannot derive any benefit out of an invalid deposit by observing as under:

"If the deposit has been made in circumstances covered by subsection (1) of Section 30 and in the prescribed manner, it would be a valid deposit made under that provision, and it obviously would enure towards claiming of benefit of subsection (4) of Section 20. If, on the other hand, the deposit has either not been made in the circumstances contemplated by sub-section (1) of Section 30 or not in the prescribed manner, it is not a deposit under sub-section (1) of Section 30 at all and no question of taking such deposits into consideration while considering the question whether or not the person claiming to be a tenant is entitled to be relieved of his liability as laid down in Section 20(4) of the Act, would arise."

16. By a catena of decisions of the Apex Court and also of this Court, it is now settled that in order to avail the benefits under rent control legislations the tenants are obliged to strictly comply with the provisions of these rent statutes.

17. In E. Palanisamy v. Palanisamy (D) & Ors., (2003) 1 SCC 123, the Apex Court held as follows:

"5. The rent legislation is normally intended for the benefit of the tenants. At the same time, it is well-settled that the benefits conferred on the tenants through the relevant statues can be enjoyed only on the basis of strict compliance of the statutory provisions. Equitable consideration have no place in such matters. The statute contains express provisions. It prescribes various steps which a tenant is required to take. In Section 8 of the Act, the procedure to be followed by the tenant is given step by step. An earlier step is a precondition for the next step. The tenant has to observe the procedure as prescribed in the statute. A strict compliance with the procedure is necessary. The tenant cannot straight away jump to the last step i.e. to deposit rent in court. The last step can come only after the earlier steps have been taken by the tenant.

18. Whether the said pre-requisites regarding tender of rent to the alleged landlord of the building and the refusal thereof by the alleged landlord of the building, are fulfilled in a case, is to be established by the person claiming to be the tenant of the building.

19. A Full Bench of this Court in Gokaran Singh v. Ist Additional District and Sessions Judge, Hardoi and others, 2000 (1) ARC 653 considered the scope of Section 30 and has held as under;

"32. In Indrasani's case (supra) it has been held that if the amount of rent at the correct rate is tendered by the tenant and the same is refused by the landlord, which covers to a particular period, tenant can not be held to be defaulter in respect thereof. After refusal of the rent by the landlord, tenant is legally entitled to deposit the same in the court under Section 30, but if thereafter, landlord serves notice of demand again at a higher rate, tenant need not tender the amount, which has been deposited under Section 30 again but he will be under obligation to tender the amount of rent due at the correct or admitted rate of rent. Without tendering the said amount, the tenant will have no right to deposit the same under Section 30 of the Act."

20. In Madhu Mittal (Smt.) v. Additional District Judge, Ghaziabad and others, 2004 (2) ARC 326 a Division Bench of this Court following the dictum of the Full Bench in the case of Gokaran Singh (supra) held as under:

"4. The tenant started depositing rent under Section 30 of U.P. Act No. 13 of 1972 with effect from 01.07.1993 and continued to deposit the rent under Section 30 till 30.06.1995. Defendant admitted that meanwhile he received two registered notices from the landlord dated 27/30 January 1994 demanding the rent. In spite of the said notices, defendant continued to deposit the rent under Section 30 of the Act. The defendant did not deposit any rent in the suit. The suit was ultimately decreed on 30.01.1996 by J.S.C.C. Tenant-respondent no. 2 filed a revision against the judgment and decree passed by the trial court under Section 25 P.S.C.C. Act being S.C.C. Revision No. 60 of 1996. Vth Addl. District Judge, Ghaziabad through judgment and decree dated 19.03.1997, allowed the revision, set aside the judgment and decree passed by the trial court and dismissed the suit. The Revisional Court placing reliance upon, 1986 All. C.J. 782 (Gyanendra Lal and another Vs. Vishnu Narain Mishra) held that even after filing of the suit for ejectment tenant had two options, one deposit of rent under Section 30 of the Act and second; deposit of rent in court where suit for ejectment was filed. The writ petition is directed against the aforesaid judgment and order of revisional court.

5. It has been held in Full Bench Authority of this Court reported in 2000 (1) ARC 653, that deposit of rent under Section 30 of Act, after receiving notice of demand, is not permissible and any such deposit, if made, will not be of any benefit of the tenant. The tenant will have to be treated defaulter in payment of rent for the period subsequent to the receipt of notice given by landlord intimating his intention to receive the rent directly.

6. Accordingly, I hold deposit of rent made by the tenant after receipt of notice dated 27/30 January 1994 was not permissible and the said deposit cannot be said to be payment to the landlord. The tenant was defaulter when the suit was filed and the trial court rightly decreed the suit. In view of the above, I hold that the judgment passed by the revisional court is patently erroneous in law."

21. In the case at hand, the respondent no. 3 had sent a notice dated 28.02.2007 terminating the tenancy of the petitioner and demanding arrears of rent. Both the Courts below have concurrently held that the said notice is deemed to have been served upon the petitioner. The said finding has been upheld by this Court. On 03.04.2007, the petitioner filed the suit for arrears of rent and ejectment against the petitioner. It was only thereafter that the petitioner, on 20.04.2007, moved an application (registered as Misc. Case No. 21 of 2007) under section 30 of the Act before the Court of Civil Judge (Junior Division), Court No. 18, Dalmau, Raebareli. In view of the settled legal position the amount alleged to have been deposited by the petitioner under section 30(1) of the Act, after the notice of demand was served upon him, is not a valid deposit and as such the petitioner does not derive any benefit out of the said deposit. In case, the amount alleged to have been deposited by the petitioner under section 30 of the Act is excluded, the petitioner on his own showing is not entitled to the benefit of section 20(4) of the Act. The petitioner was, thus, a defaulter at the time the suit was filed. The trial Court has rightly decreed the suit and the Revisional Court has rightly upheld the decree.

22. In view of the discussion made above there is no infirmity or illegality in the orders passed by the Courts below.

23. The petition is devoid of merit and is accordingly dismissed.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Dr. Yogendra Kumar Srivastava, J.)

1. The present special appeal seeks to challenge the judgment and order dated 17.04.2019 passed in Writ-A No. 17360 of 1995 (Raghuraj Singh Vs. U.P.S.E.B. Lucknow and others) whereby the writ petition, which was directed against an order of compulsory retirement dated 23.12.1994 passed in exercise of powers under Regulation 2 (c) of the U.P. State Electricity Board (Employees' Retirement) Regulations, 19751 against the respondent-writ petitioner, has been allowed and the order of compulsory retirement has been set aside.

2. The Uttar Pradesh State Electricity Board, Lucknow2 and its authorities, who were respondents in the writ petition, are the appellants before us.

3. It is sought to be contended on behalf of the appellants that the learned Single Judge has proceeded to allow the writ petition principally on the basis of a finding that there existed no material on record which could support the opinion that the continuance of the petitioner in service was not in public interest and nothing to this effect had been detailed in the counter affidavit.

4. Learned Senior Counsel appearing for the appellants submits that the aforementioned finding recorded by the learned Single Judge is contrary to the facts on record, inasmuch as the order of compulsory retirement dated 23.12.1994 was in terms of the Board's order dated 22.2.1991 and as per the recommendation made by the Screening Committee on 07.10.1994, and on the basis of adverse reports, gross negligence in performance of duties and indiscipline on the part of the respondent-petitioner. It has been pointed out that the aforementioned fact was brought on record by a counter affidavit filed on behalf of the appellants/respondents, and the learned Single Judge having proceeded to allow the writ petition without taking into consideration the facts on record, the judgment cannot be legally sustained.

5. Learned counsel appearing for the respondent-petitioner, on the other hand, has supported the judgment of the writ court by submitting that there was no material whatsoever which could have justified passing of the order of compulsory retirement which was founded on no material and was a result of non-application of mind and has rightly been set aside by the learned Single Judge.

6. Rival contentions now fall for consideration.

7. The order of compulsory retirement dated 23.12.1994, in the present case, has been passed in exercise of powers under Regulation 2 (b) of the Regulations 1975, as amended in terms of the UPSEB (Employees' Retirement) (Second Amendment) Regulations, 1993. For ease of reference, Regulation 2 (b) and Regulation 2 (c) are being extracted below :-

"2. (a) x x x x x

Board's employee (whether permanent or temporary), without assigning any reason, require him to retire, in public interest, provided that such employee has completed 20 years of qualifying service and has attained the age of 50 years. Any employee of the Board, also, may, by giving three months' notice to the appointing authority, seek voluntary retirement at any time, after attaining the age of 45 years, provided that he has completed minimum qualifying service of 20 years.

(c) The period of such notice shall be three months :

Provided that--

(i) any such Board's employee may, by order of the appointing authority or any authority to which the appointing authority is subordinate, without such notice or by a shorter notice be retired forthwith and on such retirement the Board's employee shall be entitled to claim a sum equivalent to the amount of his pay plus allowances, if any, for the period of the notice or, as the case may be, for the period by which such notice falls short of three months, at the same rates at which he was drawing immediately before his retirement.

(ii) It shall be open to the appointing authority or any authority to which the appointing authority is subordinate to allow a Board's employee to retire without any notice or by a shorter notice without requiring the Board's employee to pay any penalty in lieu of notice :

Provided further that such notice given by the Board's employee against whom disciplinary proceedings are pending or contemplated, shall be effective only if it is accepted by the appointing authority or any authority to which the appointing authority is subordinate, provided that in the case of contemplated disciplinary proceedings the Board's employee shall be informed before the expiry of his notice that it has not been accepted :

Provided also that the notice once given by a Board's employee under clause (b) seeks voluntary retirement shall not be withdrawn by him except with the permission of the appointing authority or any authority to which the appointing authority is subordinate;"

8. The provisions with regard to compulsory retirement under the aforementioned Regulations 1975 are somewhat similar in terms to the Fundamental Rule 56 (j) of the Fundamental Rules and also Fundamental Rule 56 (c) of the U.P. Fundamental Rules.

9. The principal ground canvassed by the petitioner to assail the order of compulsory retirement before the writ court was by submitting that there was no material whatsoever to justify that the petitioner had become a "dead wood", and that the order was founded on no material and was a result of non-application of mind. This was controverted by the appellants/respondent by filing a counter affidavit wherein it was specifically averred that the order of compulsory retirement dated 23.12.1994 was passed in terms of Board Order dated 22.02.1991 and as per the Screening Committee recommendation dated 7.10.1994 on the basis of adverse reports, gross negligence of duties and indiscipline on part of the respondent-petitioner. It was stated in paragraph 20 of the counter affidavit as follows:-

"20. That the contents of paragraph No.23 of the affidavit is not admitted and it is submitted that petitioner was retired vide Order No. 1729-E-8, dated 23.12.1994 in terms of B.O.No.100-Kavini-RVP/29/12-Kavini, dated 22.2.1991- as per screening committees recommendations O.M.No.2891-E-V/V-Karya Chamta, dated 07.10.1994 only on the basis of adverse reports, gross negligence of duties and sufficient indiscipline on the part of the petitioner."

10. Attention of this Court has also been drawn to the proceedings of the Screening Committee and its recommendations dated 07.10.1994, which are on record as part of an affidavit filed on behalf of the appellants in the instant appeal, wherein the service records of the respondent-petitioner have been referred to.

11. The recommendation made by the screening committee which forms the basis of the order of compulsory retirement clearly shows that the petitioner was given adverse entries in his character roll for the period 03.12.1993 to 31.03.1984 and thereafter for the period 01.04.1985 to 31.03.1986 again he was given adverse entry in his character roll and his integrity was also withheld. Subsequently, for the period 5/1982 to 01.12.1983, on the basis of a departmental inquiry, an order of punishment of reduction of his pay scale by two stages was given and also a censure entry was awarded. The Screening Committee also has taken notice of the fact that a domestic enquiry was pending against the petitioner for the reason that the petitioner had not complied with an order of transfer dated 19.07.1988 and had not joined the place of his transfer within the stipulated time period.

12. In order to appreciate the rival contentions, the principles, evolved in terms of judicial precedents, governing compulsory retirement, may be adverted to.

13. The question as to whether before passing of an order of compulsory retirement there is any requirement of providing opportunity to show cause and whether application of rules of natural justice are necessary were considered in the decision in Union of India Vs. Col. J.N. Sinha and others3, and it was held that an order of compulsory retirement involves no civil consequences and that the government servant does not lose any of the rights acquired by him before retirement. Referring to Fundamental Rule 56 (j), it was held that the appropriate authority has an absolute right to retire a government servant if it is of the opinion that it is in the public interest to do so. The power could be exercised subject to the conditions mentioned in the rule, one of which was that the concerned authority must be of the opinion that it is in public interest to do so, and accordingly if the authority bona fide forms that opinion, the correctness of the same cannot be challenged. The observations made in the judgment, in this regard, are as follows :-

"9. Now coming to the express words of Fundamental Rule 56(j) it says that the appropriate authority has the absolute right to retire a Government servant if it is of the opinion that it is in the public interest to do so. The right conferred on the appropriate authority is an absolute one. That power can be exercised subject to the conditions mentioned in the rule, one of which is that the concerned authority must be of the opinion that it is in public interest to do so. If that authority bona fide forms that opinion, the correctness of that opinion cannot be challenged before courts. It is open to an aggrieved party to contend that the requisite opinion has not been formed or the decision is based on collateral grounds or that it is an arbitrary decision.

The 1st respondent challenged the opinion formed by the Government on the ground of mala fide. But that ground has failed. The High Court did not accept that plea. The same was not pressed before us. The impugned order was not attacked on the ground that the required opinion was not formed or that the opinion formed was an arbitrary one. One of the conditions of the 1st respondent's service is that the Government can choose to retire him any time after he completes fifty years if it thinks that it is in public interest to do so. Because of his compulsory retirement he does not lose any of the rights acquired by him before retirement. Compulsory retirement involves no civil consequences. The aforementioned Rule 56(j) is not intended for taking any penal action against the Government servants. That rule merely embodies one of the facets of the pleasure doctrine embodied in Article 310 of the Constitution. Various considerations may weigh with the appropriate authority while exercising the power conferred under the rule. In some cases, the Government may feel that a particular post may be more usefully held in public interest by an officer more competent than the one who is holding. It may be that the officer who is holding the post is not inefficient but the appropriate authority may prefer to have a more efficient officer. It may further be that in certain key posts public interest may require that a person of undoubted ability and integrity should be there. There is no denying the fact that in all organizations and more so in Government organizations, there is good deal of dead wood, it is in public interest to chop off the same. Fundamental Rule 56(j) holds the balance between the rights of the individual Government servant and the interests of the public. While a minimum service is guaranteed to the Government servant, the Government is given power to energise its machinery and make it more efficient by compulsorily retiring those who in its opinion should not be there in public interest.

11. In our opinion the High Court erred in thinking that the compulsory retirement involves civil consequences. Such a retirement does not take away any of the rights that have accrued to the Government servant because of his past service. It cannot be said that if the retiring age of all or a section of the government servants is fixed at 50 years, the same would involve civil consequences. Under the existing system there is no uniform retirement age for all Government servants. The retirement age is fixed not merely on the basis of the interest of the Government servant but also depending on the requirements of the society. "

14. In The State of Gujarat and another Vs. Suryakant Chunilal Shah4, it was held that while passing of an order of compulsory retirement, public interest, is the primary consideration, the purpose being to retain only efficient persons in service and to dispense with the services of the "dead wood". The assessment of efficiency is required to be made on the basis of material on record, of which confidential reports are an important input and an employee with doubtful integrity could not be considered to be efficient. It was stated thus :-

"23. In order, therefore, to find out whether any government servant has outlived his utility and is to be compulsorily retired in public interest for maintaining an efficient administration, an objective view of overall performance of that government servant has to be taken before deciding, after he has attained the age of 50 years, either to retain him further in service or to dispense with his services in public interest, by giving him three months' notice or pay in lieu thereof.

24. The performance of a government servant is reflected in the annual character roll entries and, therefore, one of the methods of discerning the efficiency, honesty or integrity of a government servant is to look at his character roll entries for the whole tenure from the inception to the date on which decision for his compulsory retirement is taken. It is obvious that if the character roll is studded with adverse entries or the overall categorisation of the employee is poor and there is material also to cast doubts upon his integrity, such a government servant cannot be said to be efficient. Efficiency is a bundle of sticks of personal assets, thickest of which is the stick of "integrity". If this is missing, the whole bundle would disperse. A government servant has, therefore, to keep his belt tight.

25. Purpose of adverse entries is primarily to forewarn the government servant to mend his ways and to improve his performance. That is why, it is required to communicate the adverse entries so that the government servant to whom the adverse entry is given, may have either opportunity to explain his conduct so as to show that the adverse entry was wholly uncalled for, or to silently brood over the matter and on being convinced that his previous conduct justified such an entry, to improve his performance."

15. Taking a similar view in Union of India Vs. M.E. Reddy and another5, it was reiterated that the object of compulsory retirement is to weed out the "dead wood" in order to maintain a high standard of efficiency and initiative in service. The object being public interest, the order of compulsory retirement can neither be held to be punitive nor stigmatory and hence the principles of natural justice are not attracted. The observations made in the judgment are as follows :-

"8. An analysis of this rule clearly shows that the following essential ingredients of the rule must be satisfied before an order compulsorily retiring a government servant is passed:

(1) That the member of the Service must have completed 30 years of qualifying service or the age of 50 years (as modified by notification dated July 16, 1969);

(2) That the government has an absolute right to retire the government servant concerned because the word "require" clearly confers an unqualified right on the Central Government;

(3) That the order must be passed in public interest;

(4) That three months' previous notice in writing shall be given to the government servant concerned before the order is passed.

It may be noted here that the provision gives an absolute right to the government and not merely a discretion, and, therefore, impliedly it excludes the rules of natural justice. It is also not disputed in the present case that all the conditions mentioned in rule referred to above have been complied with. It is a different matter that the argument of Reddy is based on the ground that the order is arbitrary and mala fide with which we shall deal later.

9. On a perusal of the impugned order passed by the Government of India it would appear that the order fully conforms to all the conditions mentioned in Rule 16(3). It is now well-settled by a long catena of authorities of this Court that compulsory retirement after the employee has put in a sufficient number of years of service having qualified for full pension is neither a punishment nor a stigma so as to attract the provisions of Article 311(2) of the Constitution. In fact, after an employee has served for 25 to 30 years and is retired on full pensionary benefits, it cannot be said that he suffers any real prejudice. The object of the rule is to weed out the dead wood in order to maintain a high standard of efficiency and initiative in the State Services. It is not necessary that a good officer may continue to be efficient for all times to come. It may be that there may be some officers who may possess a better initiative and higher standard of efficiency and if given chance the work of the government might show marked improvement. In such a case compulsory retirement of an officer who fulfills the conditions of Rule 16(3) is undoubtedly in public interest and is not passed by way of punishment. Similarly, there may be cases of officers who are corrupt or of doubtful integrity and who may be considered fit for being compulsorily retired in public interest, since they have almost reached the fag end of their career and their retirement would not cast any aspersion nor does it entail any civil consequences. Of course, it may be said that if such officers were allowed to continue they would have drawn their salary until the usual date of retirement. But this is not an absolute right which can be claimed by an officer who has put in 30 years of service or has attained the age of 50 years. Thus, the general impression which is carried by most of the employees that compulsory retirement under the conditions involves some sort of stigma must be completely removed because Rule 16(3) does nothing of the sort.

10. Apart from the aforesaid considerations we would like to illustrate the jurisprudential philosophy of Rule 16(3) and other similarly worded provisions like Rule 56(j) and other rules relating to the government servants. It cannot be doubted that Rule 16(3) as it stands is but one of the facets of the doctrine of pleasure incorporated in Article 310 of the Constitution and is controlled only by those contingencies which are expressly mentioned in Article 311. If the order of retirement under Rule 16(3) does not attract Article 311(2) it is manifest that no stigma or punishment is involved. The order is passed by the highest authority, namely, the Central Government in the name of the President and expressly excludes the application of rules of natural justice as indicated above.

The safety valve of public interest is the most powerful and the strongest safeguard against any abuse or colourable exercise of power under this rule. Moreover, when the Court is satisfied that the exercise of power under the rule amounts to a colourable exercise of jurisdiction or is arbitrary or mala fide it can always be struck down. While examining this aspect of the matter the Court would have to act only on the affidavits, documents, annexures, notifications and other papers produced before it by the parties. It cannot delve deep into the confidential or secret records of the government to fish out materials to prove that the order is arbitrary or mala fide. The Court has, however, the undoubted power subject to any privilege or claim that may be made by the State, to send for the relevant confidential personal file of the government servant and peruse it for its own satisfaction without using it as evidence.

11. It seems to us that the main object of this rule is to instil a spirit of dedication and dynamism in the working of the State Services so as to ensure purity and cleanliness in the administration which is the paramount need of the hour as the Services are one of the pillars of our great democracy. Any element or constituent of the Service which is found to be lax or corrupt, inefficient or not up to the mark or has outlived his utility has to be weeded out. Rule 16(3) provides the methodology for achieving this object. We must, however, hasten to add that before the Central Government invokes the power under Rule 16(3), it must take particular care that the rule is not used as a ruse for victimisation by getting rid of honest and unobliging officers in order to make way for incompetent favourites of the government which is bound to lead to serious demoralisation in the service and defeat the laudable object which the rule seeks to subserve. If any such case comes to the notice of the government the officer responsible for advising the government must be strictly dealt with. Compulsory retirement contemplated by the aforesaid rule is designed to infuse the administration with initiative and activism so that it is made poignant and piquant, specious and subtle so as to meet the expanding needs of the nation which require exploration of "fields and pastures new". Such a retirement involves no stain or stigma nor does it entail any penalty or civil consequences. In fact, the rule merely seeks to strike a just balance between the termination of the completed career of a tired employee and maintenance of top efficiency in the diverse activities of the administration.

12. An order of compulsory retirement on one hand causes no prejudice to the government servant who is made to lead a restful life enjoying full pensionary and other benefits and on the other gives a new animation and equanimity to the Services. The employees should try to understand the true spirit behind the rule which is not to penalise them but amounts just to a fruitful incident of the Service made in the larger interest of the country. Even if the employee feels that he has suffered, he should derive sufficient solace and consolation from the fact that this is his small contribution to his country, for every good cause claims its martyr."

16. The scope of judicial review in a matter relating to compulsory retirement came to be considered in Baikuntha

Nath Das and another Vs. Chief District Medical Officer, Baripada and another6, and it was held that opinion of the authority regarding compulsory retirement is his subjective satisfaction which is to be formed on the basis of entire record of service and since the order of compulsory retirement does not amount to punishment hence principles of natural justice are not required to be observed in passing of such an order. The principles, in this regard, were laid down as follows :-

(i) An order of compulsory retirement is not a punishment. It implies no stigma nor any suggestion of misbehaviour.

(ii) The order has to be passed by the government on forming the opinion that it is in the public interest to retire a government servant compulsorily. The order is passed on the subjective satisfaction of the government.

(iii) Principles of natural justice have no place in the context of an order of compulsory retirement. This does not mean that judicial scrutiny is excluded altogether. While the High Court or this Court would not examine the matter as an appellate court, they may interfere if they are satisfied that the order is passed (a) mala fide or (b) that it is based on no evidence or (c) that it is arbitrary -- in the sense that no reasonable person would form the requisite opinion on the given material; in short, if it is found to be a perverse order.

(iv) The government (or the Review Committee, as the case may be) shall have to consider the entire record of service before taking a decision in the matter -- of course attaching more importance to record of and performance during the later years. The record to be so considered would naturally include the entries in the confidential records/character rolls, both favourable and adverse. If a government servant is promoted to a higher post notwithstanding the adverse remarks, such remarks lose their sting, more so, if the promotion is based upon merit (selection) and not upon seniority.

(v) An order of compulsory retirement is not liable to be quashed by a Court merely on the showing that while passing it uncommunicated adverse remarks were also taken into consideration. That circumstance by itself cannot be a basis for interference.

Interference is permissible only on the grounds mentioned in (iii) above. This aspect has been discussed in paras 30 to 32 above.

35. Before parting with the case, we must refer to an argument urged by Sri R.K. Garg. He stressed what is called, the new concept of Article 14 as adumbrated in Maneka Gandhi vs. Union of India, (1978) 1 SCC 248 and submitted on that basis that any and every arbitrary action is open to judicial scrutiny. The general principle evolved in the said decision is not in issue here. We are concerned mainly with the question whether a facet of principle of natural justice -- audi alteram partem -- is attracted in the case of compulsory retirement. In other words, the question is whether acting upon undisclosed material is a ground for quashing the order of compulsory retirement. Since we have held that the nature of the function is not quasi-judicial in nature and because the action has to be taken on the subjective satisfaction of the government, there is no room for importing the said facet of natural justice in such a case, more particularly when an order of compulsory retirement is not a punishment nor does it involve any stigma."

17. The aforementioned view was reiterated in Posts and Telegraphs Board and others Vs. C.S.N. Murthy7, and it was held that in a matter of compulsory retirement, the subjective satisfaction of the reviewing authority was not open to court's interference in absence of mala fides, perversity, arbitrariness or unreasonableness. It was stated as follows:-

"5. ...F.R. 56(j) authorises the Government to review the working of its employees at the end of their period of service referred to therein and to require the servant to retire from service if, in its opinion, public interest calls for such an order. Whether the conduct of the employee is such as to justify such a conclusion is primarily for the departmental authorities to decide. The nature of the delinquency and whether it is of such a degree as to require the compulsory retirement of the employee are primarily for the Government to decide upon. The courts will not interfere with the exercise of this power, if arrived at bona fide and on the basis of material available on the record. No mala fides have been urged in the present case. The only suggestion of the High Court is that the record discloses no material which would justify the action taken against the respondent. We are unable to agree. In our opinion, there was material which showed that the efficiency of the petitioner was slackening in the last two years of the period under review and it is, therefore, not possible for us to fault the conclusion of the department as being mala fide, perverse, arbitrary or unreasonable. The Division Bench seems to have thought that, since the adverse remarks mentioned in the earlier letter of April 29, 1971 were not repeated in the subsequent letter, it should be taken that they had been given up subsequently or that the respondent had improved in the subsequent year. We do not think that this is a legitimate inference, for the report for 1971-72 only shows that the respondents' propensity to delay matters persisted despite the warning of the previous year. But, even if one assumes that the High Court was correct on this, the adverse remarks made against the respondent in relation to the period 1971-72, standing by themselves, can constitute sufficient material for the department to come to a conclusion in the matter. It is true that the earlier record of the respondent was good but if the record showed that the standard of work of the respondent had declined and was not satisfactory, that was certainly material enabling the department to come to a conclusion under F.R. 56(j). We are of opinion that the High Court erred in setting aside the order of compulsory retirement on the basis that there was no material at all on record justifying the action against the respondent."

18. Considering the nature of compulsory retirement, it was held in the case of K. Kandaswamy Vs. Union of India and another8, that an order of compulsory retirement does not amount to punishment nor does it entail loss of retiral benefits nor is it stigmatic. On the scope of judicial review it was held that the object being public interest the formation of bona fide opinion by the appropriate authority in this regard could be challenged only on the grounds of being based on no evidence or being based on collateral grounds or being arbitrary but could not be challenged on merits. The observations made in the judgment in this regard are being extracted below :-

"8. As seen in the light of documents and in the light of the specific permission sought by the appellant himself on the basis of the special report submitted by the State Government, the Government of India through its appropriate committee reached the conclusion that in view of the doubtful integrity it would not be desirable in the public interest to retain the appellant in service. Accordingly, they have compulsorily retired the appellant from service. Compulsory retirement does not amount to dismissal or removal from service within the meaning of Article 311 of the Constitution. It is neither punishment nor visits with loss of retiral benefits; nor does it cast stigma. The officer would be entitled to the pension that he has actually earned and there is no diminution of the accrued benefits. The object of compulsory retirement of the government employee is public interest. If the appropriate authority bona fide forms that opinion, the correctness thereof on merits cannot be challenged before courts, though it may be open to the aggrieved employee to impugn it. But the same may be challenged on the ground that requisite opinion is based on no evidence or has not been formed or the decision is based for collateral grounds or that it is an arbitrary decision.

9. While exercising the power under Rule 56(j) of the Fundamental Rules, the appropriate authority has to weigh several circumstances in arriving at the conclusion that the employee requires to be compulsorily retired in public interest. The Government is given power to energise its machinery by weeding out dead wood, inefficient, corrupt and people of doubtful integrity by compulsorily retiring them from service. When the appropriate authority forms bona fide opinion that compulsory retirement of the government employee is in the public interest, court would not interfere with the order."

19. The scope of judicial review in a matter relating to compulsory retirement again came up for consideration in Pyare Mohan Lal Vs. State of Jharkhand and others9, and reiterating the very limited scope of judicial review in case of compulsory retirement which is permissible only on grounds of non-application of mind, mala fides or want of material particulars, it was held that power to retire compulsorily a government servant in terms of service rules is absolute, provided the authority concerned forms a bona fide opinion that compulsory retirement is in public interest. Referring to the earlier precedents on the point, the law was summarized as follows :-

"18. Thus, the law on the point can be summarised to the effect that an order of compulsory retirement is not a punishment and it does not imply stigma unless such order is passed to impose a punishment for a proved misconduct, as prescribed in the statutory rules (See Surender Kumar v. Union of India (2010) 1 SCC 158). The Authority must consider and examine the overall effect of the entries of the officer concerned and not an isolated entry, as it may well be in some cases that in spite of satisfactory performance, the authority may desire to compulsorily retire an employee in public interest, as in the opinion of the said Authority, the post has to be manned by a more efficient and dynamic person and if there is sufficient material on record to show that the employee "rendered himself a liability to the institution", there is no occasion for the court to interfere in the exercise of its limited power of judicial review."

20. The provisions contained under Regulation 2 (b) and Regulation 2 (c) of the Regulations 1975 being in similar terms as Fundamental Rule 56 (j) of the Fundamental Rules as also the Fundamental Rule 56 (c) of the U.P. Fundamental Rules, the legal principles, which have evolved in terms of judicial precedents on the point of compulsory retirement under the Fundamental Rules, would squarely apply.

21. In the facts of the present case, the records of the case clearly reflect that the order of compulsory retirement has been passed as per the provisions contained under the Regulations, 1975, in terms of the Board Order dated 22.02.1991 and as per the Screening Committee recommendation dated 07.10.1994 on the basis of adverse reports in the character rolls, gross negligence of duties and indiscipline. The subjective satisfaction, having thus been recorded by the appropriate authority under the statutory regulations, the order cannot be said to be without basis or having been passed on extraneous reasons or without there being any material to support the same so as to render it arbitrary.

22. The judgment of the learned Single Judge whereunder the order of compulsory retirement has been set aside by stating the reason that the same has been passed without any material to support it and nothing in that regard had been referred to in the counter affidavit, thus cannot be supported from the facts which are evident from the records.

23. The judgment of the learned Single Judge is thus legally unsustainable and is therefore set aside.

24. The Special Appeal is accordingly allowed.

25. The writ petition stands dismissed.

A. Constitution of India – Article 226 – Writ – Delay – Jurisdiction of Court – Inordinate delay in approaching the writ Court for reasons of want of bona fides or inaction or negligence would deprive a party from his rights of invoking the extraordinary discretionary jurisdiction of the Court – The exercise of jurisdiction under Article 226 is essentially discretionary in nature and in a case of negligence or deliberate gross inaction or lack of bona fides on part of the party approaching the Court, it may not be appropriate to exercise such discretionary jurisdiction – An explanation which is ex facie concocted and based on fanciful grounds, would be liable to be rejected. (Para 17 and 18)

1. This Special Appeal arises in respect of a judgment and order dated 29th May, 2019, passed by a learned Single Judge in Writ-A No.29775 of 2000 (Adalat Singh Vs. Cane Commissioner and others).

2. By the impugned judgment and order, the learned Single Judge was pleased to allow the writ petition by setting aside the impugned order dated 22nd February, 1990 with the observations that the writ petitioner was entitled to all consequential benefits.

3. The appellants before us are the Cane Commissioner, Uttar Pradesh, Lucknow and others.

4. The facts of the case reveal that the writ petitioner was appointed as a Class-IV employee at Sahkari Ganna Vikas Samiti Ltd. Dhaulana, District Ghaziabad in terms of an appointment order dated 3rd January, 1984. This appointment order which is annexed to the papers before us, reveals that his engagement was purely temporary and adhoc in nature. Thereafter on 22nd February, 1990 for reasons stated in the order issued on that date, his services were terminated.

5. For convenience, the said order dated 22nd February, 1990 is reproduced hereinbelow along with the official English translation:-

6. The writ petitioners filed the writ petition on 11th July, 2000. The principal prayers made in the writ petition are as follows:-

(i) Issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of mandamus directing the respondent no.5 and 6 to pay the entire payment of the petitioner w.e.f. Nov. 1998 to May 1998 and also the bonus, allowances etc. and also direct the respondent no.6 to pay the current payments of the petitioner alongwith revised pay scale and increments.

(ii) Issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of Mandamus directing the respondent no.3 to promote the petitioner on the post of Clerk and to pay the Pay Scale of Clerks as admissible on the rules.

Prayer (after amendment)

(iv) To issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of Certiorari quashing the impugned termination order dated 22.02.1990 passed by respondent no.5 already attached as C.A.-4 in counter affidavit filed on behalf of respondent no.5."

7. The learned Single Judge upon considering the respective contentions of the parties as well as pleadings on record, proceeded to allow the writ petition by setting aside the order of termination dated 22nd February, 1990, with a further observation that the petitioner shall be entitled to all consequential benefits. The reasoning assigned by the learned Single Judge to support the order, is in the following terms:-

"4. For the purpose of present case, whether petitioner is 'temporary' or 'permanent' employee, the facts remains that by means of impugned order, he has been terminated with allegation that he has been unauthorizedly absent and therefore, has committed misconduct.

5. If that be so, such a termination is not a termination simplicitor but punitive in nature and such termination cannot be made without holding inquiry in accordance with Rules i.e. Rules 84 and 85 of U.P. Co-operative Societies Employees Service Regulations, 1975 (hereinafter referred to as "Regulations, 1975".

9. The termination of petitioner, therefore, is founded on alleged misconduct hence punitive in nature and without holding any inquiry. Hence, order of termination passed by respondents authorities cannot be sustained.

10. In the result, writ petition is allowed. Impugned order dated 22.02.1990 (Annexure 25 to writ petition) is hereby set aside. The petitioner shall be entitled to all consequential benefits."

8. A plain reading of the impugned judgment and order dated 29th May, 2019 reveals that the learned Single Judge did not go into the moot question as to whether discretionary jurisdiction of this Court under Article 226 of the Constitution of India is available to a person who sleeps over his rights for a considerably long period of time.

9. This answer is not forthcoming from a plain reading of the impugned judgment and order. While it is true that even a temporary servant may be entitled for protection if his/her services are sought to be terminated on account of misconduct, negligence, inefficiency or like, such a protection can only be afforded to a person who demonstrates palpable bona fides while approaching the writ Court.

10. The records of the case reflect that the writ petition was initially filed for the purpose of seeking a direction upon the respondent authorities for payment of his dues from November, 1989 to May, 1998, which was based on pleadings to the effect that payments had not been made to him from the month of August, 1989 onwards. To support the aforesaid contention, a copy of a representation addressed to the Cane Commissioner, U.P., was appended as annexure-2 wherein a claim was stated to have been made for payment of salary and other dues from the month of August, 1989.

11. A counter affidavit dated 9th August, 2004 on behalf of the respondent no.5-Secretary, Sahkari Ganna Vikas Samiti Ltd. Dhaulana, District Ghaziabad, was filed wherein it was stated that the petitioner had been terminated by means of an order dated 22nd February, 1990, in terms of a resolution passed by Sahkari Ganna Samiti and a copy thereof had been sent to him under a registered cover on the same date.

12. After a considerable lapse of time, an amendment application dated 14th July, 2017, came to be filed by the petitioner wherein it was stated that the counter affidavit dated 9th August, 2004 filed by the respondent no.5 indicated that his services stood terminated on 22nd February, 1990 and accordingly necessary amendments were being sought in the pleadings and the prayer clause so as to raise a challenge to the said termination order dated 22nd February, 1990.

13. The stand taken by the petitioner that he was not aware of passing of the termination order dated 22nd February, 1990, does not appear to be plausible. The non-payment of salary and other dues from November, 1989 onwards, which was set up as the basis for filing of the writ petition, seems to have a connection to the fact that the services of the petitioner stood terminated in the year 1990. The various representations, stated to have been submitted before the authorities, in the year 1998, raising a claim in respect of dues for the period 1989 onwards appear to have been made in order to create cause of action for filing of the petition.

14. Even if one goes by the pleadings in the writ petition, there is no explanation whatsoever as to why the petitioner chose to remain silent for a considerably long period of time before setting up a challenge to the termination order passed in the year 1990. The amendment sought by the petitioner seeking to incorporate the relief raising a challenge to the termination order was some time in the year 2017, whereas, as per the own case of the petitioner, the counter affidavit enclosing the termination order had been received by him in the year 2004 itself.

15. The stand taken by the petitioner with regard to knowledge of the termination order is ambivalent. On the one hand it is stated in paragraph 31 of the affidavit filed by the petitioner alongwith the first amendment application dated 14th July, 2017 that he became aware of the order of termination dated 22nd February, 1990, after the same was received by his counsel on 9th August, 2004, and on the other, it has been sought to be contended in paragraph 42 of the same affidavit that prior to 14th July, 2017 the petitioner was not aware of the termination order.

16. This apart, the principal relief as sought by the writ petitioner at the time of filing of the writ petition having been founded on pleadings to the effect that he had not been made any payment by the Sahkari Samiti in question since August 1989 onwards, and the petitioner choosing to raise a grievance in that regard by filing a writ petition in the year 2000, also does not inspire confidence as to the bona fides of the petitioner.

17. Inordinate delay in approaching the writ Court for reasons of want of bona fides or inaction or negligence would deprive a party from his rights of invoking the extraordinary discretionary jurisdiction of the Court. We may refer to the broad principles laid down in this regard in the decision in the case of Esha Bhattacharjee v Raghunathpur Nafar Academy and others1, which are being extracted below:-

"21.5. (v) Lack of bona fides imputable to a party seeking condonation of delay is a significant and relevant fact.

21.7. (vii) The concept of liberal approach has to encapsulate the conception of reasonableness and it cannot be allowed a totally unfettered free play.

21.8. (viii) There is a distinction between inordinate delay and a delay of short duration or few days, for to the former doctrine of prejudice is attracted whereas to the latter it may not be attracted. That apart, the first one warrants strict approach whereas the second calls for a liberal delineation.

21.9. (ix) The conduct, behaviour and attitude of a party relating to its inaction or negligence are relevant factors to be taken into consideration. It is so as the fundamental principle is that the courts are required to weigh the scale of balance of justice in respect of both parties and the said principle cannot be given a total go by in the name of liberal approach.

21.10. (x) If the explanation offered is concocted or the grounds urged in the application are fanciful, the courts should be vigilant not to expose the other side unnecessarily to face such a litigation.

22.4. (d) The increasing tendency to perceive delay as a non-serious matter and, hence, lackadaisical propensity can be exhibited in a nonchalant manner requires to be curbed, of course, within legal parameters."

18. The exercise of jurisdiction under Article 226 is essentially discretionary in nature and in a case of negligence or deliberate gross-inaction or lack of bona fides on part of the party approaching the Court, it may not be appropriate to exercise such discretionary jurisdiction. An explanation which is ex facie concocted and based on fanciful grounds, would be liable to be rejected. Lack of bona fides imputable to a party would be a relevant and material consideration while granting reliefs to the party who approaches the writ Court.

19. We do not find from the judgment and order impugned before us any discussion or consideration on this aspect of the matter.

20. As such, the impugned judgment and order cannot be sustained and is liable to be set aside and is accordingly set aside.

21. Consequentially, the writ petition is liable to be dismissed and is, accordingly, dismissed.

22. This Special Appeal stands allowed.

Special Appeal No. 187 of 2020

Dhruv Kumar Pandey & Anr. ...Appellants
Versus
State of U.P. & Ors. ...Respondents

Counsel for the Appellants:
Sri Radha Kant Ojha, Sri Shivendu Ojha

Counsel for the Respondents:
Sri Ankit Gaur

A. Civil Law - Intermediate Education Act, 1921 – Regulations framed under Act of 1921 – Regulation 101 – Appointment of Class III and Class IV Employees – Prior Approval of DIOS – Where selection is made by direct recruitment by the Principal or the Committee of Management, prior approval of the DIOS would be mandatory and would be a condition precedent before issuance of an appointment order to the selected candidate. (Para 19 and 24)

B. Civil Law -Intermediate Education Act, 1921 – Regulations framed under Act of 1921 – Regulation 101 to 107 – Appointment of Class III and Class IV Employees – Intimation of vacancy to DIOS – Regulation 102 is specifically enjoined upon the appointing authority, which as per Regulation 100 is the Committee of Management for the clerical posts and the Principal/Head Master for Class IV posts, to intimate the Inspector regarding occurrence of vacancy – The provisions do not contemplate that the Principal or the Committee of Management, upon occurrence of a vacancy against nonteaching post, would straight away proceed to initiate the selection process for direct recruitment without any intimation to the DIOS – Such action, if permitted, would frustrate the very scheme as provided for under Regulations 101 to 107. (Para 22 and 25)

C. Interpretation of Statute – Purposive Construction – The object of interpretation of a set of statutory rules/regulations is to ascertain the intent of the rule making authority and to ensure that the provisions are interpreted so as to subserve the intent – There is a general presumption that the statutory provisions have to be given a purposive construction that best gives effect to the purpose for which the provision had been made. (Para 33)

1. The present intra court appeal has been filed against the judgment and order dated 29.11.2019 passed in Writ A No. 59653 of 2015 (Dhruv Kumar Pandey and another Vs. State of U.P. and others), in terms of which the writ petition has been dismissed.

2. The writ petitioners are the appellants before us.

3. The records of the case reflect that the writ petition had been filed primarily seeking to challenge an order dated 15.7.2015 passed by the District Inspector of Schools1, Basti, whereunder the approval to the appointments of the appellants/writ petitioners had been declined. A further prayer was made for issuance of a mandamus commanding the DIOS to consider the grant of approval afresh to the appointments of the petitioners on Class IV posts made by the Committee of Management of the Janta Inter College Nagar Bazar, Basti2.

4. Learned Senior Counsel appearing for the appellants has sought to assail the judgment of the learned Single Judge by contending that the writ petition has been dismissed upon noticing the fact that the order impugned therein being the order dated 15.7.2015 passed by the DIOS had recorded that no prior permission had been obtained and the procedure prescribed under law had not been followed before making the appointments, whereas there is no requirement under the relevant regulations with regard to the obtaining any prior permission. He has submitted that the judgment of the writ court having been passed on an erroneous legal premise, the same cannot be sustained.

5. Per contra, learned Standing Counsel appearing for the State respondents has supported the judgment of the learned Single Judge and has submitted that the appointments of the appellants/petitioners had been made without following the procedure as prescribed under the relevant regulations and as such the same could not have been approved, and accordingly the DIOS had rightly refused to accord the approval to their appointments.

6. In order to appreciate the rival contentions, it would be necessary to advert to the relevant statutory provisions.

7. The Institution in question is governed by the provisions of the Intermediate Education Act, 19213 and it receives grants-in-aid under the provisions of the Uttar Pradesh High School and Intermediate Colleges (Payment of Salaries of Teachers and other Employees) Act, 1974 .

8. The Intermediate Education Act, 1921 was enacted to establish the Board of High School and Intermediate Education for the purposes of regulating and supervising the system of High School and Intermediate Education in the State of Uttar Pradesh, and to prescribe courses therefor.

9. The conditions of service of heads of institutions, teachers and other employees in an institution recognised under the Act, 1921 are provided for under Chapter III of the Regulations made thereunder, which are referable to powers under Section 16-G of the said Act.

10. The provisions with regard to appointment of Class III and Class IV employees in institutions recognised under the Act, 1921 were brought into force with effect from 30th July, 1992 with the insertion of Regulations 101 to 107 under Chapter III of the Regulations framed under the Act, 1921.

107. The appointment letter shall be issued by the Management, in relation to those recognized aided institution whose application, under regulation 105, has been sent by the Inspector within one month from the date of receipt of application by intimating to the inspector."

12. Regulations 101 to 107, referred to above, provide for a scheme for filling up the vacancies of non-teaching posts i.e. (Class III and Class IV posts) in any institution recognised under the Act, 1921.

13. Regulation 102 which may be seen as a first step in the process provides that intimation regarding vacancy as a result of retirement of any employee holding a non-teaching post in any recognised and aided institution shall be given three months before the date of retirement and information about any vacancy falling due to death, resignation or for any other reasons shall be intimated to the Inspector by the appointing authority within seven days of the date of such occurrence.

14. The language under Regulation 102 is couched in a mandatory form and it enjoins upon the appointing authority, which as per Regulation 100 is the Committee of Management for the clerical posts and the Principal/Head Master for Class IV posts, to intimate the Inspector regarding occurrence of vacancy arising out of retirement of an employee holding a non-teaching post three months prior to the date of his retirement, and in case of a vacancy arising due to death, resignation or for any other reasons, within seven days of such occurrence.

15. Regulations 103 creates a provision for appointment on compassionate grounds to be granted to the dependents of a teaching/non-teaching employee in a recognised and aided institution. In terms of Regulation 104 the Committee of Management or the Principal/Head Master, as the case may be, is required to submit a report furnishing necessary particulars to the Inspector within seven days from the death of the employee concerned. As per Regulation 105, an application is to be submitted by the dependent of the deceased employee before the Inspector, which is to be placed for consideration before a Committee constituted for the purpose, and upon recommendation made by the Committee the same is to be forwarded by the Inspector to the institution concerned whereupon appointment order is to be issued as per Regulations 106 and 107.

16. Regulation 106 provides that the appointment of any member of the family of a deceased employee shall be made in the trained graduate category, or against a non-teaching post in the institution where the employee was in service at the time of his death, and if no post in the teaching or non-teaching cadre is vacant in such institution, then the appointment shall be made against a similar vacancy in any other recognized and aided institution in the district. In terms of the proviso to

Regulation 106, if such vacancy does not exist for the time being in any recognized and aided institution in the district, the appointment would be made immediately on a supernumerary post in the institution where the employee was in service. The supernumerary post shall be deemed to be created for the purpose and shall continue till the availability of a vacancy in the institution in question or in any other recognized and aided institution of the district.

17. The requirement under Regulation 101 of obtaining a 'prior approval' for appointments of a non-teaching post was considered in the case of Dingur Vs. District Inspector of Schools, Mirzapur and others5, and after noticing the statutory scheme under the Act, 1921 and the U.P. Act No. 24 of 1971, it was stated as follows :-

"17. Taking into consideration the provisions contained in the U. P. Act No. 24 of 1971, there is no escape from the conclusion that a statutory duty stands cast upon the competent authority envisaged therein to ensure that there is no wasteful expenditure of the public money and in that view of the matter, it has to be ensured taking into consideration the norms fixed by the State Government for continuance of a post, as to whether the filling up of the vacancy is infact necessary. It has further to be ensured as to whether the appointment has been made taking into consideration the provisions contained in the U. P. Intermediate Education Act and the Regulations framed thereunder regulating the procedure for the appointment and the manner in which the appointment has to be made and further whether the person appointed satisfies the minimum eligibility criteria and his appointment is in accordance with law. In such a circumstance in order to discharge the statutory duty, it is incumbent upon the authority functioning under the U. P. Act No. 24 of 1971 to grant financial approval to the appointment reported to it after examining all the aspects as indicated above. In the absence of such a financial approval, the State Government cannot be saddled with any liability in regard to the payment of salary etc. to the appointee of the management as against the vacancy in a post sanctioned for the High School or any intermediate college. In fact the provisions contained in Regulation 101 of the Regulations which have now come into force ensure that no financial liability is cast upon the State in respect of any appointment made by the appointing authority unless the appointment is made after obtaining the prior approval from the District Inspector of Schools.

21. With the insertion of Regulation 101, the position stands further clarified that any appointment as against non-teaching post cannot be made by the management without obtaining prior approval of the District Inspector of Schools with the consequential result that if the management acts in contravention of the provisions of this provision, it would be liable to be vitiated with the penalty of de-recognition or of any other action and further the District Inspector of Schools or any other competent authority stands authorised to withhold payment of salary to such an appointee refusing to recognise his appointment which is sought to be made the basis for such an entitlement. This provision is in effect a check to prevent an appointment becoming effective in the sense of saddling the State with the responsibility of payment of salary etc. in case it is against the cannons of financial propriety or suffers from any procedural defect or is otherwise vitiated in law. The District Inspector of Schools by virtue of this provisions stands vested with ample jurisdiction to examine above aspects and on being satisfied that the appointment has infact been made in accordance with the provisions contained in the Act and the Regulations framed therein, he may grant the approval whereupon the appointment becomes effective so as to saddle the State with the liability in regard to the payment of salary etc. to the appointee and extending to him the benefits envisaged under the U. P. Intermediate Education Act and the Regulations framed thereunder ensuring the security of tenure of service etc.

23. Further, the prior approval which has been referred to in the Regulation 101 in question has to be granted or refused by the competent authority not in an arbitrary manner but after examining the proceedings relating to the appointment and finding out as to whether the appointment was really necessary taking into consideration the norms fixed by the State Government justifying the continuance of the post and after satisfying as to whether the appointment was made after following the prescribed procedure in a fair manner and is in accordance with the provisions regulating the procedure which is prescribed for making such an appointment. It is only after the competent authority is satisfied that there is no defect in the procedure followed for making the appointment and such an appointment is infact necessary and further all the requisite conditions including the eligibility criteria etc. stand complied with and further the selection proceedings have been conducted in a fair manner that the District Inspector of Schools has to accord the prior approval which on the requisite conditions being satisfied cannot be withheld keeping in view the public interest involved as the State having undertaken to take the liability for payment of salary etc. of the teaching as well as non-teaching staff employed in a recognized Intermediate College or High School is bound to ensure that its smooth functioning is not hampered on account of refusal to grant approval to an appointment made by the Committee of Management in the interest of the institution."

18. The provision with regard to 'prior approval' of the DIOS contemplated under Regulation 101 again came up for consideration in the case of Jagdish Singh Vs. The State of U.P. and others6, and after taking note of the provisions contained under Regulations 101 to 104, it was observed as follows:-

"10. Regulations 103 and 104, as quoted above, provide that the Appointing Authority shall intimate vacancy falling on account of retirement before three months of the date of retirement. In other cases vacancy was required to be communicated within 7 days from occurrence. Regulation further provides for appointment on compassionate ground to dependent of teaching or non-teaching employee in a recognized aided institution. The management was also enjoined to inform about the death of employee, dependents of the employees and the District Inspector of Schools was to put up the application, received from the member of the deceased employee for appointment, to a Committee as contemplated under Regulation 105 to consider the case and thereafter the application was to be sent to the Management for issuing appointment letter. Regulations 101 to 107 have to be read in a manner to give effect/and meaning to the provisions incorporated with effect from 30th July, 1992. The entire provisions requires harmonious construction, so all the regulations become workable and every part of it is given meaning.

18. Regulation 101, as quoted above, uses two words, namely, ^iwokZuqeksnu* and ^vuqefr*. The first part of the Regulation provides that appointing authority except with prior approval of Inspector shall not fill up any vacancy of non-teaching post of any recognized aided institution whereas second part of the Regulation provides that permission for filling of post of sweeper (Jamadar) can be given by Inspector. Second part of the Regulation is in the nature of proviso. The main part of the Regulation contains word ^iwokZuqeksnu* i.e. prior approval whereas second part of the Regulation uses word ^vuqefr*] i.e. permission. Thus, the Statute uses both the word 'prior approval' and 'permission'. The meaning of both the word cannot be the same. In view of this, the submission of the learned Counsel for the appellant that Regulation 101 requires only permission to issue advertisement by Appointing Authority and if such permission is granted by Inspector, the Appointing Authority can fill up the post. Regulation 101 provides prior approval with regard to vacancy of non-teaching staff and permission is contemplated only for filling the post of sweeper. Regulation thus indicates that when the permission is given to the Appointing Authority to fill up post of sweeper. There is no further prior approval is required. This provision being in nature of proviso to the main Regulation shall operate as an inception to the first part of Regulation. Thus, the use of two words in Regulation 101 i.e. 'prior approval' and 'permission' itself negates construction of Regulation as contended by the counsel for the appellant."

19. When the prior approval of the Inspector is contemplated in Regulation 101, that prior approval embraces itself an examination of all aspects of the matter including existence of the vacancy, nature of the vacancy whether vacancy is to be filled up by management or it be filled by appointing the dependent of deceased employee who has claimed for appointment under the scheme of the Regulations 101 to 107.

20. Scheme of Regulations 101 to 107 makes it clear that after receiving an intimation of vacancy, the District Inspector of Schools is empowered to send the application of member of deceased employee, who is entitled for compassionate appointment to the institution, who has to issue appointment letter to such candidate. It is, however, implied in the scheme that in the event there is no candidate entitled for compassionate appointment to fill a particular vacancy, the intimation of which has been received by the District Inspector of Schools, the District Inspector of Schools can direct the Appointing Authority to fill up vacancy by direct recruitment but even in a case the selection is made by direct recruitment by the Principal/Committee of Management, prior approval is required of the District Inspector of Schools before issuing an appointment letter to the selected candidate. Without prior approval of the Inspector, the Principal or the Committee of Management cannot issue an appointment letter or permit joining of any candidate. The requirement of prior approval in Regulation 101 is a condition precedent before issuing an appointment letter and is mandatory. The observation of the learned single Judge in the case of Dingur v. District Inspector of Schools, Mirzapur (supra) as quoted above, is also to the effect that approval has to be considered by the District Inspector of Schools after examining the proceeding relating to appointment and after examining as to whether prescribed procedure in a fair manner has been followed or not."

19. Taking into consideration the scheme under Regulations 101 to 107 it was held in the case of Jagdish Singh that an intimation of the vacancy is required to be sent to the DIOS whereafter the Inspector is empowered to send the application, if any, for compassionate appointment which may have been submitted by a member of the family of a deceased employee, upon due recommendation of the Committee constituted for the purpose, for issuance of an order of appointment, and in the event there is no candidate entitled for compassionate appointment, the Inspector can direct the appointing authority to fill up vacancy by direct recruitment, but even in such a case, prior approval of the Inspector is required before issuance of an order of appointment to the selected candidate. The requirement of prior approval under Regulation 101 was held to be mandatory and a condition precedent before issuance of an appointment order. Although, an observation was made that there is no requirement for taking previous approval under Regulation 101 before issuance of advertisement and that prior approval of the Inspector is required after completion of the process of the selection but it was made clear that there was no prohibition for the Principal or the Management to seek permission of the Inspector for filling up the vacancy by direct recruitment and such permission may or may not be granted by the Inspector. The observations made in the judgment, in this regard,

"21. The observation of the learned single Judge in Ram Dhani's case (supra) that previous approval under Regulation 101 is required to be taken before issuing advertisement for filling up vacancy does not lay down correct law. We, however, make it clear that although prior approval is required from the District Inspector of Schools after completion of process of selection but there is no prohibition in the Principal/Management to seek permission of the District Inspector of Schools for filling up vacancy by direct recruitment. The permission may or may not be granted by the District Inspector of Schools but even if such permission to start the selection process or to issue advertisement is granted that is not akin to prior approval as contemplated under Regulation 101.

22. In view of the aforesaid, we are of the considered opinion that prior approval contemplated under Regulation 101 is prior approval by the District Inspector of Schools after completion of process of selection and before issuance of appointment letter to the selected candidate."

20. We may take note of the fact that the earlier judgment rendered by a Single Judge of this Court in the case of Dingur was duly noticed and approved by the subsequent Division Bench in the decision in Jagdish Singh and referring to para 23 of the judgment in the case of Dingur the Division Bench held that the prior approval, which has been referred to in Regulation 101, has to be granted by the DIOS after examining as to whether the prescribed procedure had been followed in a fair manner and also finding out as to whether the appointment was really necessary.

21. In the case at hand, in terms of the order dated 15.07.2015 which was under challenge in the writ petition the DIOS had declined to grant approval to the appointments said to have been made by the Selection Committee at a meeting held on 20.06.2010 by assigning the reason that no permission had been taken from the department and that the papers which had been submitted did not contain the signatures of the Principal of the Institution. It was also stated that approval could not be granted almost after five years of holding of selection proceedings.

22. The provisions under the Regulations 101 to 107 though do not require any permission to be taken before issuance of the advertisement but the language under Regulation 102 is couched in a mandatory form and it is specifically enjoined upon the appointing authority, which as per Regulation 100 is the Committee of Management for the clerical posts and the Principal/Head Master for Class IV posts, to intimate the Inspector regarding occurrence of vacancy arising out of retirement of an employee holding a non-teaching post three months prior to the date of his retirement, and in case of a vacancy arising due to death, resignation or for any other reasons, within seven days of such occurrence.

23. The material on record does not reflect that any intimation as mandated in terms of Regulation 102 with regard to occurrence of the vacancies, was sent by the management or the Principal of the Institution to the Inspector.

24. The scheme under the Regulations 101 to 107 contemplates intimation of vacancy occurring due to retirement or due to death or resignation or for any other reason within a stipulated time. This would be for the reason that the regulations provide for appointment on compassionate grounds to a dependent of a teaching/ non-teaching employee of a recognised institution and for the said purpose the management or the Principal of the Institution is enjoined to intimate the Inspector regarding the death of the employee and the particulars of the dependents of the deceased employee so that the application submitted by the dependent of the deceased employee may be considered and upon a recommendation being made by the Committee set up for the purpose the application may be forwarded by the Inspector to the management or the Principal of the Institution concerned for issuance of an appointment order. It is only in the event that there is no claim of any candidate seeking appointment on compassionate grounds for filling up of a particular vacancy that the DIOS can direct the appointing authority to fill up vacancy by direct recruitment, and even in such a case where selection is made by direct recruitment by the Principal or the Committee of Management, prior approval of the DIOS would be mandatory and would be a condition precedent before issuance of an appointment order to the selected candidate.

25. The provisions do not contemplate that the Principal or the Committee of Management, upon occurrence of a vacancy against non-teaching post, would straight away proceed to initiate the selection process for direct recruitment without any intimation to the DIOS. Such action, if permitted, would frustrate the very scheme as provided for under Regulations 101 to 107.

26. The claim of any candidate seeking compassionate appointment and the discretion to be exercised by the DIOS in that regard, in such circumstances where the management proceeds to straight away initiate the selection process without any intimation to the Inspector, would stand defeated.

27. As we have already noticed, Regulation 106 provides that the appointment of any member of the family of a deceased employee shall be made in the trained graduate category, or in the non-teaching category of the institution where the employee was in service at the time of his death, and if no post in the teaching or non-teaching cadre is vacant in such institution, then the appointment shall be made against a similar vacancy in any other recognized and aided institution in the district. In terms of the proviso to Rule 106, if such vacancy does not exist for the time being in any recognized and aided institution in the district, the appointment would be made immediately on a supernumerary post in the institution where the employee was in service. The supernumerary post shall be deemed to be created for the purpose and shall continue till the availability of a vacancy in the institution in question or in any other recognized and aided institution of the district.

28. It is therefore seen that under the scheme provided for in terms of Regulations 101 to 107, the DIOS, before proceeding to direct the appointing authority i.e. the management or the Principal of the institution, to fill up any vacancy by direct recruitment, would be required to consider not only the claims of the dependents of the deceased employee of the institution concerned but also the claims of the dependents of the deceased employees of all recognized and aided institutions in the district. This object, as envisaged under the regulations, is for providing immediate succour to claims for appointment on compassionate grounds and the same would stand totally frustrated in case the institution is permitted to proceed with the selection process without any intimation of the occurrence of the vacancy to the Inspector.

29. We may also observe that in terms of the statutory scheme governing the appointments to posts in recognized and aided institutions, as per the terms of the Act 1921 and payment of salaries against the said posts in terms of the U.P. Act No. 24 of 1971, a statutory duty is cast upon the educational authorities to ensure that the appointments are made taking into consideration the provisions under the Act, 1921 and the regulations framed thereunder governing the procedure for appointments and also to ensure that the filling up of the vacancy is in fact necessary taking into consideration the norms fixed by the State Government. The financial approval required under the U.P. Act No. 24 of 1971 for the purposes of ensuring payment of salaries is to be granted after examining all the aforementioned aspects.

30. The 'prior approval' which is contemplated under Regulation 101 before issuance of an order of appointment is therefore required to be granted by the DIOS after examining the proceedings relating to the appointment and verifying as to whether the appointment was required as per the norms fixed by the State Government and being satisfied that the same had been made after following the prescribed procedure in a fair manner. It is only thereafter that the Inspector is to accord prior approval whereafter the order of appointment is to be issued by the appointing authority i.e. the Committee of Management or the Principal of the institution as the case may be.

31. In taking this view we are fortified by the observations made by the earlier Division Bench in the case of Jagdish Singh where in para 11 of the judgment it was stated as follows:-

"11. Regulation 101, which is to be interpreted, uses a word "Inspector shall not fill up any vacancy". The word 'fill up', for the purpose of appointment, embraces in itself a procedure, which initiates from intimation of vacancy till selection of a candidate..."

32. Further, in para 19 of the aforesaid judgment, the observations made are as follows:-

"19. When the prior approval of the Inspector is contemplated in Regulation 101, that prior approval embraces itself an examination of all aspects of the matter including existence of the vacancy, nature of the vacancy whether vacancy is to be filled up by management or it be filled by appointing the dependent of deceased employee who has claimed for appointment under the scheme of the Regulations 101 to 107."

33. It is beyond question the duty of courts in construing a statutory provision to give effect to the intent of the rule making authority and to seek for that intent in every way. The object of interpretation of a set of statutory rules/regulations is to ascertain the intent of the rule making authority and to ensure that the provisions are interpreted so as to subserve the intent. There is a general presumption that the statutory provisions have to be given a purposive construction that best gives effect to the purpose for which the provision had been made.

34. Reference may be had to the judgment in R (on the application of Quintavalle) Vs. Secretary of State for Health7, for the proposition that in construing an enactment effort should be made to give effect to the purpose of the enactment. The observations made by Lord Bingham in the aforesaid judgment are as follows:-

"8. The basic task of the Court is to ascertain and give effect to the true meaning of what Parliament has said in the enactment to be construed. ... Every statute other than a pure consolidating statute is, after all, enacted to make some change, or address some problem, or remove some blemish, or effect some improvement in the national life. The Court's task, within the permissible bounds of interpretation, is to give effect to Parliament's purpose. So the controversial provisions should be read in the context of the statute as a whole, and the statute as a whole should be read in the historical context of the situation which led to its enactment."

35. Similar observations were made by Lewison LJ in Pollen Estate Trustee Company Ltd. Vs. Revenue and Customs Commissioners8. It was stated thus :-

"24. The modern approach to statutory construction is to have regard to the purpose of a particular provision and interpret its language, so far as possible, in a way which best gives effect to that purpose..."

36. In the instant case, in addition to there being no material to show that any intimation was sent by the Committee of Management or Principal of the Institution to the DIOS with regard to occurrence of the vacancy, the other reason which has been assigned by the DIOS while declining to grant approval is that the relevant papers seeking approval had been received after almost five years from the date of the alleged selection. This casts a further doubt on the selection process undertaken by the management of the Institution.

37. For the aforementioned reasons, we do not find any reason to interfere with the judgment of the learned Single Judge in terms of which the writ petition has been dismissed.

38. That apart and in any event, in an Intra-Court Special Appeal, no interference is usually warranted unless palpable infirmities or perversities are noticed on a plain reading of the impugned judgment and order. In the facts and circumstances of the instant case, as stated hereinbefore, on a plain reading of the impugned judgment and order, we do not notice any such palpable infirmity or perversity. For reasons stated above, we are not inclined to interfere with the impugned judgment and order dated 29.11.2019.

39. The Special Appeal is liable to be dismissed and stands, accordingly, dismissed.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Saral Srivastava, J.)

1. Heard Sri Ranjit Saxena, learned Senior Counsel for the petitioner and Sri H.N. Tripathi, learned counsel for the respondent.

2. The petitioner-tenant (hereinafter referred as 'Petitioner') through present petition has assailed the judgement and order dated 05.12.2015 passed by Additional District Judge, Court No.8, Firozabad in P.A. Appeal No.20 of 2009 (Lalta Prasad Jain Vs. Smt. Narvada Devi) whereby the appellate court has allowed the release application of respondent-landlord (hereinafter referred as 'Respondent') under Section 21 (1)(a) of the U.P. Act No.13 of 1972 (hereinafter referred to as 'Act, 1972').

3. The respondent preferred release application under Section 21 (1) (a) & (b) of the Act, 1972 against the petitioner on the ground that petitioner is a tenant of the first floor of the building situated at Sadar Bazar Main Road, Tundla (hereinafter referred to as 'disputed property') as described in the release application @ Rs.100/- per month and the house tax. It was further stated that disputed property is an old building and is in a dilapidated condition, and as such, it is required for demolition and reconstruction.

4. The personal need set up by the respondent in the release application was that the son and grandson of the respondent are running their business on the disputed property at the ground floor and require the disputed property for its use and occupation.

5. The aforesaid application was contested by the petitioner by filing written statement contending inter-alia that disputed property is not in a dilapidated condition. The disputed property is in good condition and does not require demolition and reconstruction. The petitioner also denied the fact that the need of the respondent is bonafide and genuine.

6. The Prescribed Authority based on pleadings on record, framed several issues. On the issue whether the disputed property is in a dilapidated condition, the Prescribed Authority found that respondent has failed to establish that the disputed property is in dilapidated condition. On the issue of bonafide need, it held that the release application has been filed in the year 2004 and it is evident from the averments in the affidavit of the respondent that son of the landlord has established business in the same premises in the year 2005 and grandson in September 2005, therefore, the need of the respondent is satisfied. The Prescribed Authority returned the finding on the issue of comparative hardship against the respondent. Consequently, the Prescribed Authority rejected the release application by order dated 27.03.2009.

7. The respondent feeling aggrieved by the order dated 27.03.2009 preferred P.A. Appeal No.20 of 2009. The Appellate Authority rejected the application under Section 21(1) (b) of the Act, 1972 on the ground that though the respondent has established that disputed property is in a dilapidated condition but has failed to satisfy the compliance of Rule 17 of the U.P. Urban Buildings (Regulation of Letting, Rent and Eviction), Rules, 1972.

8. The appellate court while considering release application under Section 21(1) of the Act,1972 placed reliance on the judgment of this court in the case of Dr Piyush Kumar Chaturvedi Vs. Special Judge (SC/ST Act) Lucknow and Others 2005 (2) AWC 1784 and held that the release application is not barred by Clause (ii) to the Third Proviso to Section 21 (1) of the Act, 1972. The appellate court also noticed that petitioner has an alternative accommodation within the municipal limit of Kasba Tundla for residential purposes, and therefore, he cannot object to the release application because of the Explanation (i) to the Fourth Proviso to Section 21(1) of the Act, 1972.

9. The appellate court further considered the bonafide need of respondent and after appreciating the evidence on record held that the need of the respondent is pressing and bonafide and comparative hardship lay in his favour. Accordingly, it allowed the release application by order dated 05.12.2015.

10. Challenging the aforesaid order, learned Counsel for the petitioner has contended that it is admitted on record that disputed property is being used for residential purposes and its release is sought for commercial purpose. Therefore, the application under Section 21 (1) (a) is barred by clause (ii) to the Third Proviso to Section 21 (1) of the Act, 1972. He further submits that the finding of the appellate court that petitioner has an alternative residential accommodation within the municipal limit of Kasba Tundla is perverse and against the record.

11. Refuting the aforesaid submission, learned counsel for the respondent has submitted that the appellate court has held on the appreciation of evidence on record that the petitioner has an alternative residential accommodation within the municipal limit of Kasba Tundala, which being a finding of fact is not liable to be interfered with under Article 226 of the Constitution of India, therefore, the petitioner is debarred from objecting to the release application because of Explanation (i) to the Fourth proviso to Section 21 (1) of the Act,1972. He further contends that the appellate court rightly relied upon the judgement of this Court in the case of Dr Piyush Kumar Chaturvedi Vs. Special Judge (SC/ST Act) Lucknow and Others 2005 (2) AWC 1784 to hold that clause (ii) to the Third Proviso to Section 21 (1) of the Act, 1972 does not apply to the facts of the present case.

12. It is also urged that jurisdiction conferred upon the court under Section 21 (1) (a) is wide and proviso does not supersede the spirit of the main section of Vdv the Act, hence, application of respondent under Section 21 (1) (a) of the Act, 1972 was maintainable and finding of the appellate court in this regard is correct and based upon the proper understanding of the law.

13. I have considered the rival submissions of the parties and perused the record.

14. In the present case, it is not in dispute between the parties that the disputed property under the tenancy of the petitioner has been let out for a residential purpose and is being used as residential.

15. Now, to appreciate the contention of learned counsel for the petitioner that the releases application was barred by Clause (ii) of the Third Proviso to Section 21(1) of Act,1972, it would be pertinent to refer paragraph 2 of the release application wherein the averments concerning the personal need of the respondent is stated. paragraph 2 of the release application is reproduced herein:-

"2. That the property in dispute is a very old building and in dilapidated condition and as such it requires for demolitions and reconstructions. As the applicant's son and grandson, who are running their business in the same property at ground floor are also needful for its own occupation."

16. It would also be relevant to notice that Vijay Kumar Jain, the son of the respondent, in paragraph 4 of the affidavit has stated that disputed property is needed for the establishment of godown and office. Paragraph 4 of the affidavit is reproduced hereinbelow:-

"4. यह कि उल्लेखनीय यह भी है कि मुझ शपथकर्ता के अपने थोक व्यवसाय के लिए एक सुव्यवस्थित कार्यालय एवं गोदाम के लिए सख्त आवश्यकता है, जिसके लिए कि वादग्रस्त संपत्ति सर्वथा उपयोगी है, जिसका कि पुर्ननिर्माण करके अपने निजी उपयोग में लाया जायेगा."

17. Sonalji, the grandson of the respondent, has reiterated the averments of paragraph no. 4 of the affidavit of Vijay Kumar Jain in paragraph no. 4 of his affidavit.

18. It is discernible from the pleadings of the respondent extracted above that the release of disputed property is sought for godown and establishment of an office. Hence, the purpose for which release of the disputed property is sought is commercial.

19. The Appellate court has held that that the petitioner has acquired an alternative residential accommodation within the municipal limit of Kasba Tundla. On the strength of the said finding, the counsel for the respondent argued that petitioner is debarred from raising any objection to release application in view of Explanation (i) to the Fourth Proviso to Section 21(1) of the Act,1972.

20. Now, the question which arises for consideration is whether clause (ii) to the Third Proviso to Section 21(1) of Act,1972 prohibits the release of the residential building for commercial purpose, even if the tenant has acquired an alternative accommodation and cannot object to the release application because of Explanation (i) to the Fourth Proviso to Section 21(1) of Act, 1972.

21. The relevant clause of the third proviso & Explanation (i) to the Fourth Proviso to Section 21(1) of the Act,1972 is quoted below:

"Provided also that no application under clause (a) shall be entertained-

(ii) in the case of any residential building, for occupation for business purposes;

(iii)

Provided also that the prescribed authority shall, except in cases provided for in the Explanation, take into account the likely hardship to the tenant from the grant of the application as against the likely hardship to the landlord from the refusal of the application and for that purpose shall have regard to such factors as may be prescribed.]

Explanation.-In the case of a residential building:-

(i) where the tenant or any member of his family 2[(who has been normally residing with or is wholly dependent on him)] has built or has otherwise acquired in a vacant state or has got vacated after acquisition a residential building in the same city, municipality, notified area or town area, no objection by the tenant against an application under this sub-section shall be entertained;

22. A reading of Clause (ii) to the Third Proviso to Section 21(1) makes it amply clear that it is mandatory and puts an embargo upon the court to entertain an application under clause (a) where the release of a residential building is sought for commercial purpose.

23. This court in the case of Rajesh Kumar Gupta Vs. Deepak Tandon and Another 2016 (8) ADJ 652 has considered the identical issue and held that a residential building cannot be released for commercial purposes. Paragraphs 20 to 22 of the aforesaid judgement are being extracted herein below:-

"20. Explanation (i) to the fourth proviso to Section 21(1) of the Act stipulates that where the tenant or any member of his family has built or has otherwise acquired in a vacant state or has got vacated after acquisition a residential building in the same city, municipality, notified area or town area, no objection by the tenant against an application under this sub-section shall be entertained. In other words, it provides that if a tenant of a residential premises has acquired another residential premises in vacant state he would not be entitled to raise any objection against the release application.

21. The aforesaid provision only debars the tenant from raising objection against the release application but it does not debars the court from considering the maintainability of the release application on the pleadings made in the release application itself. Thus, notwithstanding any objection to the release application by the tenant the release application on the face of it was not maintainable in so far as it seeks the release of a residential portion for business purposes.

22. In the above circumstances, as the landlords sought release of three rooms residential portion with a drawing room, courtyard, kitchen, toilet and bathroom for business purposes, the release application to that effect was barred by clause (ii) to third proviso to Section 21(1) of the Act."

24. The Apex Court in the case of Kush Sahgal and Others Vs. M.C. Mitter & Others 2000 (4) SCC 526 while considering the scope of Section 21 of the Act, 1972 held that a residential building cannot be released for business or commercial purposes. Paragraph 32 of the judgement is being extracted hereinbelow:-

"32. Under Sub-section (1) of Section 21, a landlord can apply for eviction of a tenant on the ground that the building was bona fide required either in its existing form or after demolition and new construction by the landlord for occupation by himself or any member of his family either for residential purposes or for purposes of any profession, trade or calling or on the ground that the building which was in a dilapidated condition was required for purposes of demolition and new construction. The second Proviso to Sub-section (2) however provides that "An application under Clause (a) shall not be entertained in the case of any Residential building for occupation for business purposes". Thus, if an application is made by the landlord for eviction of the tenant on the ground that the building in occupation of that tenant which was used exclusively for residential purposes was required for business purposes or for any other commercial activity, it would not be a ground within the meaning of Section 21(1) of the new Act for the eviction of the tenant and the application will not be entertained. This we say because the normal function of a proviso is to except something out of the enactment or to qualify something enacted therein which but for the proviso would be within the purview of the enactment. (See: Kedarnath Jute Manufacturing Co. Ltd. v. Commercial Tax Officer). Since the natural presumption is that but for the proviso, the enacting part of the section would have included the subject matter of the proviso, the enacting part has to be given such a construction which would make the exceptions carved out by the proviso necessary and a construction which would make the exceptions unnecessary and redundant should be avoided (See: Justice G.P. Singh`s "Principles of Statutory Interpretation" Seventh Edition 1999, p-163). This principle has been deduced from the decision of the Privy Council in Govt. of the Province of Bombay v. Hormusji Manekji as also the decision of this Court in Durga Dutt Sharma v. Navaratna Pharmaceutical Laboratories."

25. This court in the case of Rajesh Kumar Gupta (supra) repelled the contention of the landlord that the tenant is debarred from objecting to released application in view of Explanation (i) to the Fourth Proviso to Section 21(1) of Act,1972 as he has acquired alternative accommodation in a vacant state and held that the release of a residential building for a commercial purpose is barred by clause (ii) of the Third Proviso to Section 21(1) of Act,1972.

26. In the present case, it is established from the pleadings of the respondent that the disputed property is residential and its release is sought for commercial purpose. Therefore, in the light of principles laid down in the aforesaid judgements which are binding precedent, this Court finds substance in the argument of counsel for the petitioner that residential building cannot be released for commercial purposes.

27. The judgement of this Court in the case of Dr Piyush Kumar Chaturvedi (supra) relied upon by the appellate court is not applicable in the facts of the present case since the said judgement has not considered the effect of the Clause (ii) to the Third Proviso to Section 21 (1) of the Act, 1972 which prohibits the court from entertaining an application for release of a residential building for commercial purpose.

28. The other two judgements i.e. Shanti Devi & Others Vs. Swami Asthanand and Others 2003 (2) SCC 26 and Harrington House School Vs. S.M. Ispahani and Others 2002 (5) SCC 229 relied upon by the appellate court were not the cases where the release of a residential building was sought for commercial purpose and the tenant had set up the defence that the release application was barred by Clause (ii) of the Third Proviso to Section 21(1) of the Act,1972. Therefore, the aforesaid two judgments having been rendered in a different factual context are not applicable in the present case and appellate court has erred in placing reliance on the said judgments.

29. Since this court has held that the release application is barred by Clause (ii) to the Third Proviso to Section 21(a) of the Act,1972, therefore, this court does not find it necessary to consider the other submissions of the counsel for the petitioner challenging the impugned order.

30. Thus, for the reasons given above, the order of the appellate court dated 05.12.2015 in P.A. Appeal No.20 of 2009 allowing the release application cannot be sustained and is accordingly, set aside.

31. Consequently, the writ petition is allowed with no order as to costs.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Sudhir Agarwal, J.)

1. This writ petition under Article 226 of Constitution of India has been filed by petitioner Mohd. Ayub Khan praying for issue of a writ of certiorari to quash order dated 30.04.2002 (Annexure 9 to the writ petition) passed by Regional Manager, U.P. State Road Transport Corporation (hereinafter referred to "RM,UPSRTC") imposing punishment of recovery of Rs.1,40,876/- and denial of full salary paid during period of suspension except amount of subsistence allowance, already paid and order dated 11.10.2006 (Annexure 15 to the writ petition) passed by Managing Director, U.P.State Road Transport Corporation (hereinafter referred to as "MD, UPSRTC") dismissing petitioner's appeal.

2. The facts in brief giving rise to present writ petition are that petitioner was appointed as Senior Clerk in U.P. State Road Transport Corporation (hereinafter referred to as "UPSRTC") and posted at Civil Lines, Allahabad Depot. He was placed under suspension vide order dated 09.10.2001 (Annexure 1) in a contemplated disciplinary proceeding. A preliminary inquiry was conducted and in the report dated 20.09.2001, four persons including petitioner were held prima facie responsible. Consequently, a charge sheet dated 29.10.2001 was issued by RM, UPSRTC levelling following six charges upon petitioner :

''1. डिपों टिकट भण्डार से मार्ग पत्र सं0 8488001 से 8488500 तक प्राप्त करने के बाद मार्ग पत्र 8488051 से 848800 तक गायब करने,

2. डिपो स्टाक से प्राप्त किये गये मार्ग पत्रों में से एक पैड मार्ग पत्र गायब कर झूठी सूचना देने,

5. कर्तव्यों एवं दायित्वों के निर्वाहन में पूर्ण रूप से विफल रहने

6. कर्मचारी आचार संहिता के विपरीत कार्य व आचरण करने।''

3. Disciplinary Authority referred to only preliminary inquiry report dated 20.9.2001 as evidence sought to be relied in support of charges. Petitioner submitted reply and denied all the charges. Thereafter, Enquiry Officer submitted report (Annexure 7 to writ petition) holding all the charges proved. Agreeing with inquiry report, disciplinary authority i.e. RM, UPSRTC supplied copy of inquiry report to petitioner vide letter dated 01.4.2002 and directed to give his explanation, if any, and also to show cause why penalty of 'Removal' from service, denial of full salary during period of suspension and recovery of Rs.1,40,876/- be not imposed upon petitioner.

4. Petitioner submitted reply to show cause notice. Thereafter order of punishment was passed on 30.04.2002 whereby disciplinary authority i.e. RM, UPSRTC confined punishment only to the extent of recovery of Rs.1,40,876/- and denial of full salary during period of suspension except subsistence allowance, already paid. Petitioner preferred appeal but the same has been rejected vide order dated 11.10.2006.

5. I have heard Sri S.K.Chaubey, learned counsel for petitioner, Sri Sunil Kumar Mishra, learned counsel for respondents and perused the record.

6. Learned counsel for petitioner submitted that enquiry report is wholly non-speaking and unreasoned one, inasmuch as, six charges were levelled against petitioner but Enquiry Officer has not discussed individual charges, evidences relied in support thereof as also petitioner's defence and instead, in a surreptitious and abrupt manner, all the charges have been held proved.

7. Learned counsel appearing for UPSRTC though sought to support orders impugned I n present writ petition but when questioned, find it difficult to show as to how Enquiry Officer has found each charge proved and also could not show as to what evidence was relied to hold all the said charges proved.

8. Entire findings in respect of six charges recorded by Enquiry Officer read as under :

"मैंने मामले की रिपोर्ट पत्रावली उपलब्ध समस्त कागजातें अभिलेखों उत्तर तथा जांच के समय किये गये प्रश्नों का भली भांति अवलोकन एवं परिशीलन किया गया तो श्री अयूब ने अपने आरक्षी को मार्ग पत्रों के पैडों की संख्या कहां से कहां तक एक छोटे कागज के टुकडे पर लिखकर चिपकाया रहता था तथा उक्त सील्ड बण्डलों के ऊपर चिपकाये गये कागज के टुकडे पर लिखे गये टिकटों की धनराशि पर एवं संख्या कहां सें कहां तक मार्ग पत्र संख्या के बण्डलों में बिना गणना किये ईशू कर दिया जाता है। मार्ग पत्रों के खोल कर ही इशू किया जाता है। श्री चिन्तामणि ने अपने उत्तर में दर्शाया कि दिनांक 18.4.2001 को सम्बन्धित मार्ग पत्र के 10–10 के चार बण्डल दिये गये थे। जो डिपो टिकट भण्डार के पंजिका में 40 चालीस मार्ग पत्र अंकित किया गया। नकवी ने अपने उत्तर में दर्शाया कि परम्परागत द्वारा पैड बण्डल एवं मार्ग पत्र निर्गत किया। दिनांक 9.5.2001 को मार्ग पत्र सं0 8488001 से 8488500= दस पैड बण्डल में निर्गत किया गया दिनांक 9.5.2001 को मार्ग पत्र सं0 8488001 से 8488500 तक के 10 पैड बण्डल में सम्बन्ध कम पाये जाने की सूचना मुझको तथा चन्द्रभान राम वरिष्ठ केन्द्र प्रभारी को देने पर उनके द्वारा रोकने का आदेश दिया। श्री चन्द्रभान ने भी अपने उत्तर में यह दर्शाया कि मार्ग पत्र सं0 8488001 से 8488100 तक पैड बण्डल में कम पाये जाने की सूचना उसी दिन श्री अयूब लिपिक द्वारा दिया गया। सहायक क्षेत्रीय प्रबन्धक (वित्त) रिपोर्ट कर्ता ने अपने उत्तर में यह अवगत कराया कि क्षेत्रीय टिकट भण्डार में बण्डलों में रक्खे हुए मार्ग पत्र एवं टिकटों को गिनना कर्मचारियों की कमी के कारण सम्भव नही है फिर भी पारदर्शी पैकिंग होने के कारण जारी करते समय गिनकर ही दिया जाता है। इस सम्बन्ध में मुख्यालय के द्वारा जारी नियमावली में जांच रिपोर्ट में उल्लेख में स्पष्ट किया हुआ है कि

(Emphasis Added)

9. First charge levelled against petitioner is that he is responsible for missing Way Bills No.8488051 to 8488100 after receiving Way Bill No.8488001 to 8488500 from Depot Ticket Store. The third charge state that by causing loss to aforesaid Way Bills, he has caused loss to UPSRTC to the extent of Rs.5,63,504. Charges 1 and 3 are connected with each other and basically state that petitioner is responsible for disappearance of 50 tickets and thereby caused loss of Rs.5,63,504/- to UPSRTC. Annexure 5 to writ petition i.e. Issue Slip of Tickets dated 09.5.2001 shows that aforesaid Way Bills No.8488001 to 8488500 were in ten pads. Ali Ahmad Naqvi, Senior Clerk, as per department, opened pads and found one pad missing in the bundle of 10 pads. Entire enquiry report nowhere shows that all the ten pads were made to receive to petitioner and thereafter he lost one pad containing Way Bills No.8488051 to 8488100. No witness was examined to prove aforesaid charge; no document is referred to in enquiry report to prove the same and even in respect of alleged loss, I do not find any evidence as to how loss was computed and has been proved to be suffered by UPSRTC. It is not even a charge that those tickets were actually issued for travel but no revenue come to be deposited with UPSRTC causing actual loss. Findings in respect of charges 1 and 3 are based on no evidence whatsoever, hence cannot be sustained.

10. Now charge No.2 also relates to alleged loss of one pad of Way Bills and thereafter giving wrong information. Here also I do not find any evidence whatsoever discussed by Enquiry Officer to prove that petitioner has given any false information to anyone. In fact chargs 2 and 3 have not at all been discussed by Enquiry Officer and there is no finding in respect thereof.

11. Now coming to charges 4, 5 and 6. I find that there is no discussion, nothing has been stated by Enquiry Officer and without recording any finding, Enquiry Officer has held all the charges proved. Unfortunately, similar error has been committed by Disciplinary Authority as well as Appellate Authority. I do not find anything to show as to what material or evidence has been examined by them and in what manner. In fact inquiry report is wholly unreasoned and non speaking and so are the orders of disciplinary and appellate authorities to hold all the charges proved.

12. It is well established in law that an inquiry report which is non-speaking, if has not discussed evidence and material before it and simply recorded its conclusions, it is no inquiry report in the eyes of law and is vitiated.

13. In Anil Kumar Vs. Presiding Officer and others reported in AIR 1985 SC 1121, Court set aside an inquiry report which did not contain discussion of evidence and material on record as also the stand taken by both the parties and simply recorded its conclusion.

14. Relying on the aforesaid decision in Anil Kumar (supra), a Division Bench of this Court in Special Appeal No. 1196 of 1999 (Committee of Management Vs. Abdul Cadeer @ Abdul Qadir and others) decided on 14.07.2006, while setting aside a similar inquiry report said;

"In the instant case, as noticed above, the inquiry officer has not said anything as to what was the material or evidence on record on which her applied his mind and thereupon reached to the conclusion that the charges stand proved. *It is true that in the matter of departmental proceeding scope of judicial review is limited and the only thing to be seen is as to whether there is any error in the decision making process or there is denial of adequate opportunity to the delinquent in defending the charges or there is any violation of substantive provision of law but this Court will reappraise the evidence and sit on appeal over the order passed by the departmental authority but i*t has to be seen whether finding or conclusion is based on some evidence or not. This Court can interfere where it is found that proceeding is conducted in violation of principle of natural justice or of statutory rules prescribing the mode for holding enquiry or where the conclusion or finding reached by the Inquiry Officer and the disciplinary authority is based on no evidence or where the conclusion or finding is such that no prudent person would have ever reached the same. As noticed above, it does not appear from the report of the inquiry officer that any record or evidence was brought before him by the department in support of the charges on the basis of which he has found him guilty of the charges. He has held the petitioner-respondent no. 1 guilty only on the ground that he did not appear before him despite notice and, therefore, the charges stand proved. This, in fact, is no inquiry in the eye of law and, therefore, the order of dismissal based on such inquiry report cannot sustain and has to be quashed."

(Emphasis added)

15. This view has been followed and reiterated by another Division Bench in Special Appeal No. 533 of 2004 (Chandra Pal Singh and others vs. Managing Director, U.P. Co-operative Federation and others) decided on 12.10.2006.

16. In the present case, since petitioner has been held guilty of all the six charges without showing any evidence and without any discussion, entire proceedings are vitiated in law.

17. In the result, writ petition is allowed. Impugned orders dated 30.04.2002 (Annexure 9 to the writ petition) and 11.10.2006 (Annexure 15 to the writ petition) are hereby set aside. Petitioner shall be entitled to all consequential benefits. However, this judgment shall not prevent competent authority to proceed afresh after the stage of reply to charge sheet if it so decide, in accordance with law.

13. U.O.I. Vs Shankar Lal Soni, (2010) 12 SCC 503

(Delivered by Hon'ble Surya Prakash Kesarwani, J.)

1. Heard Sri Navin Kumar Sharma, learned counsel for the petitioners, learned standing counsel for respondent No.1 and Sri Santosh Kumar, learned counsel for respondent Nos.2 and 3.

2. This writ petition has been filed praying for the following relief:

"(i) Issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of mandamus directing the respondents to delete the column-8 (4) clause of Government Order (Transfer Policy) dated 02.12.2019.

(ii) Issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of mandamus directing the respondents not to extend the benefit of 05 additional quality points to the female teachers."

3. Learned counsel for the petitioners submits that the impugned policy decision of the State-Government for the transfer of Assistant Teachers in Basic Schools run by the U.P. Basic Education Board, is discriminatory inasmuch as a discrimination has been made between male assistant teachers and female assistant teachers in matters of transfer since five marks under Clause 8(4) of the Transfer Policy has been allotted to female teachers and they have been permitted to opt for transfer after one year of service while the same facility has not been extended to male assistant teachers.

4. Learned counsels for the respondents supports the policy decision.

5. I have carefully considered the submissions of the learned counsels for the parties.

6. It is well settled that transfer is not a right of an employee. The service conditions of assistant teachers are provided in the U.P. Basic Education (Teachers) Service Rules, 1981 (hereinafter referred to as 'the Rules 1981'). Rule 21 provides that there shall be no transfer of any teacher from the rural local area to an urban local area or vice versa or from one local urban area to another of the same district or from local area of one district to that of another district except on the request of or with the consent of the teacher himself and in either case, approval of the board shall be necessary.

7. Rule 8(2) of U.P. Basic Education (Teachers) (Posting) Rules, 2008 specifies minimum years to be served by a newly appointed male teacher and female teacher in backward areas. Clause (c) permits mutual transfer subject to certain conditions, within the district from general block to backward block or vice versa only after the teacher has served for minimum prescribed period. Clause (d) enables the board to entertain application for inter district transfer as an exception with some relaxation to female teachers. Thus, inter district transfer is not a right of any male or female assistant teachers as per rules aforementioned.

8. The government policy/ government order in question dated 02.12.2019 is in the nature of concession permitting inter district transfer. None of the petitioners have any statutory right of inter district transfer. The State Government may even withdraw this concession. The assistant teachers intending to take benefit of the aforesaid government order dated 02.12.2019 granting concession subject to certain conditions, have no right to dictate conditions or to say that a particular condition or conditions should be deleted.

This view is supported by law laid down in the case of Union of India vs. Shankar Lal Soni, (2010) 12 SCC 563.

9. The impugned transfer policy dated 02.12.2019 is a policy decision of the State Government. The State Government has taken a policy decision in its wisdom to give some weightage or preference to female assistant teachers for transfer which may be for variety of reasons including social reasons. Clause (2) of para-8 provides for 10 quality point marks to differently abled assistant teachers. Clause (3) provides for 10 point quality marks to those teachers who is either himself or his/ her spouse or children are suffering from the specified critical diseases. Clause (4), which has been challenged in the present writ petition, provides for 5 quality point marks to female teachers. Clause (5) provides for 10 quality point marks to such male or female teachers whose spouse is in government service. Clause (6) provides for five quality point marks to single parents, e.g. widow/ widowed/ divorced etc. Clause (7) provides for 5 quality point marks to teachers who received national award and 3 quality point marks to teachers who received State award.

10. Thus, clause (2) to (6) of paragraph-8 of the impugned policy decision provides for some weightage by means of quality point marks to eligible teachers for transfer who eighter on account of physical disability or serious ailments or special circumstances or social reasons, need to be given some preference in transfer of the districts opted by them for transfer. The aforesaid policy decision of the State Government is logical. It is neither grossly arbitrary nor unfair nor unreasonable nor irrational. It is not violative of any of the provisions of the Constitution or contrary to the statutory provisions. Therefore, the clause (4) of paragraph-8 of the policy decision/ government order dated 02.12.2019, cannot be interfered. This is also the ratio of decision of Hon'ble Supreme court in the case of Ehsan Khalid vs. Union of India and others, 2014 (13) SCC 356 (Paras-8 and 9).

11. Thus, the State Government is entitled to make pragmatic adjustments and policy decision, which may be necessary or called for under the prevalent peculiar circumstances. The court cannot strike down a policy decision or any clause thereof, merely because it feels that another decision would have been fairer or wiser or more scientific or logical. It is neither within the domain of the courts nor the scope of judicial review to embark upon an enquiry as to whether a particular public policy is wise or whether better public policy can be evolved. The court cannot strike down a policy at the behest of a petitioner merely because it has been urged that a different policy would have been fairer or wiser or more scientific or more logical. Reference in regard to the aforesaid settled principles of law may be had to the judgments of Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Netai Bag vs. Stae of West Bengal, (2000) 8 SCC 262 (para-20), Ram Singh Vijay Pal Singh vs. State of U.P. and others, (2007) 6 SCC 44 (para-12), Balco Employees Union (registered) vs. Union of India, (2002) 2 SCC 333 (para-33 to 46), Pearless General and Investment and others vs. Reserve Bank of India, (1992) 2 SCC 343 (para-31), Premium Granites vs. State of Tamilnadu, (1994) 2 SCC 691,

R.K. Garg vs. Union of India, (1996) 2 SCC 405 (para-7) and Bhavesh D. Parish vs. Union of India, (2000) 5 SCC 471 (para-26), Narmada Bachao Andolan and others vs. Union of India, (2000) 10 SCC 664 (para-229) and M.P. Oil Extraction vs. State of M.P. (1997) 7 SCC 592 (para-41) and State of Punjab vs. Ram Lubhaya Bagga, (1998) 4 SCC 117 (para-25).

12. In the case of Union of India vs. Shankar Lal Soni, (2010) 12 SCC 503 (para-18) Hon'ble Supreme Court explained its judgment in the case of Ram Singh (supra) and held that decision to grant a certain concession or certain benefit and the conditions for their grant are matters for the administrators alone and the court should not interfere in the matter on the premise that it was of the opinion that some of the conditions imposed were not justified.

13. In view of the above discussion and considering the law laid down by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in various judgments including in the case case of M.P. Oil Extraction (supra), it can be safely concluded that the executive authority of the State must be held to be within its competence to frame a policy for the administration in basic schools unless the policy framed is absolutely capricious and not being informed by reason whatsoever and arbitrary. A policy decision can also not be sustained if policy offends constitutional provisions or comes into conflict with any statutory provision. In other words, a policy decision is in the domain of the executive authority of the State. The court should not embark on the unchartered ocean of public policy and should not question the efficacy or otherwise of such policy so long it does not offend any of the provisions of the Constitution of India or Statute.

14. The impugned paragraph of the government order/ policy decision dated 02.12.2019 neither offends Article 14 of the Constitution of India nor offends other constitutional provisions nor it is in conflict with any of the provisions of the Rules. Therefore, no interference can be made by this court.

15. For all the reasons afore-stated, I do not find any merit in this writ petition. Consequently, the writ petition fails and is hereby dismissed.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Surya Prakash Kesarwani, J.)

1. Heard the learned counsel for the petitioner, learned standing counsel for the State respondents and the learned counsel for the respondent no. 4.

2. Briefly stated facts of the present case are that the respondent no. 4 is an Officiating Principal in Janta Inter College, Ahmadpur, Brahman, Saharanpur. From the averments made in paragraphs 4 & 5 of the writ petition, it appears that there are two rival groups in Committee of Management. One such group is led by the petitioner no. 2. It appears that a Writ-C No. 25966 of 2019 was filed by the Committee of Management in which an order dated 13.9.2019 was passed by this Court directing that the petitioners shall publish an election notification forthwith announcing the election programme and the District Inspector of Schools shall appoint an election observer whenever a demand is made by the petitioner and the election shall be held as per election programme.

3. In the aforenoted facts, it appears that the petitioners issued notices to the respondent No.4 dated 24.10.2019 and 24.10.2019 followed by reminders dated 11.11.2019 and 26.11.2019 making allegations of misbehavior (indiscipline) and use of vulgar words against the Manager. The respondent no. 4 submitted a reply dated 24.10.2019 denying the allegations and submitted that he made the request to the Manager to sign the salary bill of teachers and non teaching staff for the months of September and October, 2019 which was not signed till 23.10.2019 and after persuasion and on request of the Deputy Manager, it was signed by the Manager. He also submitted that if the request so made has been felt otherwise by the Manager in any way, then he submits apology. He also submitted that on 22.10.2019, he was on election duty.

4. The aforesaid notices dated 24.10.2019 and 11.11.2019 issued by the petitioners to the respondent No.4 are confined only on two points; firstly the allegation of misbehaviour (indiscipline) by the respondent no. 4 for getting signature on salary bills and secondly absence on 22.10.2019 and use of vulgar words.

8. By the impugned order dated 4.1.2020, the District Inspector of Schools, Saharanpur disapproved the suspension of the respondent no. 4. Aggrieved with this order, the petitioners have filed the present writ petition.

Submissions:-

9. Learned counsel for the petitioners submits that the impugned order dated 4.1.2020 has been passed by the respondent without affording opportunity of hearing to the Committee of Management. He relied upon two Division Bench judgments of this Court in Committee of Management of Maharajganj Inter College Vs. District Inspector of Schools, Maharajganj (1999) 3 UPLBEC 1765 and Hari Singh Rajpoot Vs. State of U.P. (2015) 2 UPLBEC 1362. He further submits that before disapproving the suspension, it was mandatory by the respondent no. 3 under Section 16(G)(7) of the U.P. Intermediate Education Act to afford an opportunity of hearing to the Committee of Management. Thus, the impugned order of disapproval is in breach of principles of natural justice, and therefore, deserves to be quashed.

10. Learned counsel for the respondent no. 4 submits that there is a serious dispute between two rival groups of Committee of Management. He submits that the resolution was defective inasmuch as only seven members have passed the alleged resolution dated 12.12.2019 whereas on the same day eight members of the Committee of Management passed another resolution. An Enquiry Officer was appointed by the District Inspector of Schools who inquired into the matter and submitted a report to the District Inspector of Schools, Saharanpur that there is serious dispute between two rival groups of Committee of Management. He submits that the impugned resolution is merely a paper work and it was technically defective as observed in the impugned order, and therefore, the impugned order cannot be said to suffer from any error of law. He furthers submits that the other technical defect was that the resolution was not in accordance with Regulation 39 Chapter III framed under the U.P. Intermediate Education Act, 1921.

Discussion and Findings:-

11. I have carefully considered the submissions of learned counsels for the parties.

12. The relevant provisions having bearing on the controversy involved in the present writ petition are the provision of sub sections 5, 6, 7 & 8 of Section 16(G) of the U.P. Intermediate Education Act, 1921 (herein after referred to as the Act '1921') and Regulation 39 of Chapter III of the Regulations framed under the Act 1921 which are reproduced below:.

"Section-16(G)

(5) No Head of Institution or teacher shall be suspended by the management, unless in the opinion of the management--

(a) the charges against him are serious enough to merit his dismissal, removal or reduction in rank; or

(b) his continuance in office is likely to hamper or prejudice the conduct of disciplinary proceedings against him; or

(c) any criminal case for an offence involving moral turpitude against him is under investigation, inquiry or trial.

(6) Where any Head of Institution or teacher is suspended by the Committee of Management, it shall be reported to the Inspector within thirty days from the date of the commencement of the Uttar Pradesh Secondary Education Laws (Amendment) Act, 1975, in case the order of suspension was passed before such commencement, and within seven days from the date of the order of suspension in any other case, and the report shall contain such particulars as may be prescribed and be accompanied by all relevant documents.

(7) No such order of suspension shall, unless approved in writing by the Inspector, remain in force for more than sixty days from the date of commencement of the Uttar Pradesh Secondary Education Laws (Amendment) Act, 1975, or as the case may be, from the date of such order, and the order of the Inspector shall be final and shall not be questioned in any Court.

(8) If, at any time, the Inspector is satisfied the disciplinary proceedings against the Head of the Institution or teacher are being delayed, for no fault of the Head of the Institution or the teacher, the Inspector may, after affording opportunity to the management to make representation to revoke an order of suspension passed under this section."

Regulation 39-

13. In the case of the Managing Committee, Dayanand Inter College, Gorakhpur (through Sri Uma Shankar, Manager) and another vs. The District Inspector of Schools and others, 1980 UPLBEC 168 (paras 4, 6, 10, 11 and 17), a Division Bench of this court has observed that no opportunity of hearing is required at the time of approval or disapproval of a resolution under Section 16(G)(7) of the Act, 1921. It held as under:

"10. We are hence inclined to read in sub-section (7) the power of Inspector to disapprove the order of suspension. In our opinion, the power of approval embraces within it the power to also disapprove. This is a well understood rule of general law. The principle underlying Section 16 of the U.P. General Clauses Act would also, in our view, apply. In this connection, we may usefully refer to the decision of the Federal Court in Rayarappan v. Madhavi Amma (A.I.R. 1950 F.C. p.140)

17. In regard to the next submission of the learned counsel that in absence of any opportunity having been afforded to the management, the impugned order against respondent no.3 would stand vitiated in law. Here again we are unable to agree. In view of our analysis of the provisions above, we are clearly of the view that at the stage where the Inspector considers the question of approval or disapproval of the order of suspension, the management, apart from the requirement of sending the report containing particulars as may be prescribed and the relevant documents, it has in law no right to be afforded an opportunity as contemplated in sub-section (8). The present was not a case of revocation of an already approved order of suspension."

14. In the case of Committee of Management of Maharajganj Inter College & another Vs. District Inspector of Schools, Maharajganj & another (1999) 3 UPLBEC 1765, a Divivion Bench judgment of this Court considered a case where on receipt of papers for approval of suspension of the Principal, the District Inspector of Schools received objections of the Principal and without examining the papers submitted by the Committee of Management along with the resolution, declined to approve the suspension relying upon the letter addressed to him by the Principal. On such facts, the Division Bench quashed the order of disapproval passed by the District Inspector of Schools and remitted back the matter to him to decision afresh. The Division Bench held as under:-

"In fact, the question was not examined by the learned single Judge in the above perspective and instead the learned single Judge dismissed the writ petition holding that while considering the approval or disapproval of suspension order, no opportunity of hearing was required to be given by the District Inspector of Schools. It is true that a Division Bench of this Court has held in the case of Managing Committee, Dayanand Inter College v. District Inspector of Schools and others, 1980 UPLBEC 168, that at the stage of approval or disapproval of the suspension order, the Inspector is not required to afford any opportunity of hearing to the management and that he is only to consider the relevant material referred to in Registration No. 39 of Chapter III of the Regulations. The said decision, in our opinion, is of no avail. In the instant case, however, as pointed out above, the District Inspector of Schools did not address himself to the charges and the relevant documents and disapproved the suspension order on the basis of the representation made by the teacher concerned. If the suspension is to be disapproved on consideration of any defect pointed out by the concerned teacher by means of a representation, opportunity has to be afforded to the Management before disapproving of the suspension on any such defect in the proceedings."

15. In the case of Hari Singh Rajpoot Vs. State of U.P. (2015) 2 UPLBEC 1362 (paragraphs 4, 6 & 8) a Division Bench of this Court held as under:-

"4. When the District Inspector of Schools considers whether to approve an order of suspension under Section 16-G of the Act, it is a well settled principle of law that an opportunity of being heard ought to be granted to the teacher, the Principal and the Management. Moreover, it is also a well settled principle of law that the District Inspector of Schools must pass a reasoned order indicating at least brief reasons for granting his approval or, as the case may be, disapproval to the suspension of a teacher *(See: Committee of Management, Maharajganj Inter College Vs. District Inspector of Schools, 1999 (3) UPLBEC 1765. I*n the present case, ex facie the order of the District Inspector of Schools dated 9 December 2014, which was in question before the learned Single Judge, did not indicate any reasons.

6. We have duly perused the order of the District Inspector of Schools dated 9 December 2014. The first paragraph of the order contains only a recital of the fact that following the enquiry report, the Management had resolved on 16 November 2014 to place the appellant teacher under suspension and, accordingly, an application was submitted on 4 December 2014 for approval. The second paragraph of the order only contains his conclusion granting approval. Not even brief reasons were indicated in the order, which is totally bereft of any reasons whatsoever. Moreover, it is not in dispute that the appellant was not given an opportunity of being heard, which has been held to be required in the judgment of the Division Bench noted above.

8. For these reasons, we allow the special appeal and set aside the impugned judgment and order of the learned Single Judge dated 9 February 2015. We set aside, in consequence, the order of approval granted by the District Inspector of Schools on 9 December 2014 and direct that the District Inspector of Schools shall pass a fresh order in accordance with law after furnishing to the appellant a reasonable opportunity of being heard. We however, decline to accede to the prayer of the appellant that the appellant should be reinstated in service pending a decision by the District Inspector of Schools."

16. In the case of Ram Autar Verma vs. State of U.P. (2006) 65 ALR 592 (All) (Para-11), a bench of this court considered the provisions of Section 16G(7) of the Act and Regulation 39 and held as under:-

"By necessary corollary the District Inspector of Schools is required to consider the approval of the suspension effected by the Management in the light of the documents which are so forwarded to him under Regulation 39. He is not expected to take into consideration any other documents which is not required to be transmitted under Regulation 37, subject however to the condition that any other document may be filed by the delinquent employee for alleging malafides, non-consideration of martial evidence which may already be on record as well as any other document relevant (the list is not exhaustive and may vary in facts of particular case). However, consideration of such foreign documents must be proceeded by opportunity of hearing to the Committee of Management."

17. A careful reading of Section 16G(7) of the Act, 1921 read with Regulations 39 and 40 leads to an irresistible conclusion that where any head of the Institution or teacher is suspended by the Committee of Management, it shall be reported to the Inspector within seven days from the date of order of suspension. The report sent by the Committee of Management shall contain such particulars and shall be accompanied with such documents as are prescribed in Regulation 39. The order of suspension is subject to approval of the inspector under sub-Section (7). Neither sub-section (7) of Section 16G nor Regulation 39 require any opportunity of hearing to the Committee of Management or the employee for approval of the order of suspension. However, the question of affording opportunity of hearing either to the Committee of Management or the suspended employee has been judicially interpreted by three Division Benches of this Court as mentioned in paragraphs-13, 14 and 15 above. At first glance, there appears to be some conflict between these judgments on the point of affording opportunity of hearing but on deeper examination, I find that there is no conflict between these judgments.

18. In the case of the Managing Committee, Dayanand Inter College, Gorakhpur (supra), the Division Bench held that where the report and papers as required under Sub-section (7) of Section 16G of the Act, 1921 read with Regulation 39 of the regulation are sent by the Committee of Management, then at that stage while considering the question of approval or disapproval of the order of suspension, no opportunity of hearing is to be afforded to the Committee of Management. In the case of Committee of Management of Maharajganj Inter College & another (supra), the Division Bench considered a case where the District Inspector of Schools received objections of the Principal and without examining the papers submitted by the Committee of Management along with the resolution, declined to approve the suspension relying upon the letter addressed to him by the Principal, then in that situation, the Division quashed the order of disapproval and distinguished the Division Bench judgment in the case of the Managing Committee, Dayanand Inter College, Gorakhpur (supra) and held that if the suspension is to be disapproved on consideration of any defect pointed out by the concerned teacher by means of a representation, then an opportunity has to be afforded to the Management before disapproving of the suspension.

19. In the case of Hari Singh Rajpoot Vs. State of U.P. (supra), the Division Bench laid down the law that while granting approval or disapproval to the suspension of a teacher, brief reasons should be recorded in the order of approval or disapproval. The judgment in the case of the Managing Committee, Dayanand Inter College, Gorakhpur (supra) was noticed in the case of Committee of Management of Maharajganj Inter College & another (supra) and it was distinguished inasmuch as an objection was received by the District Inspector of Schools from the suspended employee and on that fact, it was held that while considering the objection of the suspended employee, the Inspector should have afforded opportunity of hearing to the Management. The aforesaid judgment in the case of Committee of Management of Maharajganj Inter College & another (supra) has been followed in the case of Hari Singh Rajpoot Vs. State of U.P. (supra).

20. Scope of consideration under Section 16G(7) read with Regulation 39 is very limited as has also been explained in the case of Ram Autar Verma (supra). Thus, a conjoint reading of the afore-noted four judgments reveal that if all the required papers and informations as prescribed under sub-section (7) of Section 16G of the Act, 1921 and Regulation 39 have been submitted by the Management to the District Inspector of Schools to obtain approval of suspension, then opportunity of hearing at the stage of granting approval or disapproval is not required to be afforded to the Management or the employee. But if the employee has submitted any representation or objection against the order of suspension, then the District Inspector of Schools shall afford an opportunity of hearing to the Management and the concerned employee while passing the order of approval or disapproval which must contain brief reasons. This view is further supported by the provisions of sub-Section (8) of Section 16G, which specifically provides for an opportunity of hearing at the subsequent stage to the Management by the District Inspector of Schools while considering to revoke an order of suspension passed under sub-section (7) when the Inspector is satisfied that the disciplinary proceedings against the head of the Institution or teacher, is being delayed for no fault of the head of the Institution or the teacher.

21. Undisputedly, the respondent No.3 has neither required the respondent No.4 to submit any objection nor any objection was submitted by the respondent No.4 before the respondent No.3 and as such in view of the law laid down by the Division Bench in the case of the Managing Committee, Dayanand Inter College, Gorakhpur (supra), the respondent No.4 has not committed any manifest error of law to pass the impugned order without affording opportunity of hearing to the Management and the respondent No.4.

22. Learned counsel for the petitioners has not made any submission on merits of the impugned order and confined his submissions only on the point that the impugned order is violative of principles of natural justice as it has been passed without affording opportunity of hearing. His submission has been rejected by me for reasons stated in paragraphs above. Therefore, I do not find any good reason to interfere with the impugned order, in view of the position settled by the Division Bench of this court in the case of the Managing Committee, Dayanand Inter College, Gorakhpur (supra). However, to meet the ends of justice, it is directed that the petitioners/ Competent Authority shall conclude the disciplinary proceedings against the respondent No.4, in accordance with law, expeditiously preferably within two months if not completed so far, keeping in mind the time frame provided in Regulation 40.

23. With the aforesaid directions, the writ petition is disposed off.

Special Appeal No. 1136 of 2018

Shivam Maurya ...Appellant
Versus
State of U.P. & Ors. ...Respondents

Counsel for the Appellant:
Sri Ashok Khare, Sri Siddharth Khare

Counsel for the Respondents:
C.S.C.

A. Civil Law - Juvenile Justice (Care and Protection of Children) Act, 2000 – Object – The Act is a beneficial legislation. The principles of such beneficial legislation are to be applied only for the purpose of interpretation of this statute – It does not envisage incarceration of a juvenile which clearly shows that the intention and object was not to shut the doors of a disciplined and decent civilised life. It provides him an opportunity to mend his life for the future. (Para 14)

B.Civil Law - Juvenile Justice (Care and Protection of Children) Act, 2000 – Section 2(k), 2(l) & 19 – Juvenile in conflict with Law – Effect of conviction under the Act – Section 19 has been incorporated in order to give a juvenile an opportunity to lead his life with no stigma and to wipe out the circumstances of his past – It thus provides that a juvenile shall not suffer any disqualification attaching to conviction of an offence under such Act – It protects a juvenile and any stigma attached to his conviction is also removed. (Para 10 and 14)

C. Civil Law - Juvenile Justice (Care and Protection of Children) Act, 2000 – Concealment of pendency of criminal case – Cancellation of candidature – The concealment of the pendency of criminal case against the appellant-petitioner was of no consequence – As per the requirement of law a conviction in an offence will not be treated as a disqualification for a juvenile – The intention of the legislature is clear that in so far as juveniles are concerned their criminal records is not to stand in their way in their lives – Held, the cancellation of the candidature of the appellant-petitioner is bad. The authority concerned failed to appreciate the fact that the appellant-petitioner was entitled to benefit of the provisions of Act of 2000.

Special Appeal allowed; Writ Petition allowed (E-1)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Samit Gopal, J.)

Heard Sri Siddharth Khare, learned counsel for the appellant and the learned Standing Counsel and perused the records.

2. The present appeal is directed against the judgment dated 05.10.2018 passed in Writ A No. 21337 of 2018 by which the learned Single Judge has dismissed the said writ petition on the ground that the petitioner therein cannot be given benefit for suppression of an information despite specific question in the affidavit along with the application form / verification form as to whether he had been convicted by any court of law. The said information as supplied by the petitioner was found to be incorrect by the authorities and as such the authorities concerned were well within their authority to cancel the candidature of the petitioner. The facts of the present matter are as follows:-

i. In the year 2015, the U.P. Police Recruitment and Promotion Board, Lucknow notified an appointment of police Constable and Constable in PAC (Male) Direct Recruitment, 2015.

ii. The appellant-petitioner applied in the same and on the basis of his academic qualifications he stood selected.

iii. The petitioner as was required to participate in a physical efficiency test who participated therein on the scheduled date and time and was declared qualified for the same.

iv. The appellant-petitioner was allotted district Deoria for training. He was required to file a declaration affidavit being a notarial affidavit / verification form which was filled by him which is dated 30.05.2018.

v. The appellant-petitioner vide communication dated 09.06.2018 issued by the Superintendent of Police, Azamgarh was required to participate in medical examination which was scheduled on 17.06.2018 where the appellant-petitioner participated and was declared fit and thus passed the said medical examination.

vi. Vide order dated 04.09.2018 the candidature of the appellant- petitioner was cancelled on the ground of material concealment of pendency of a criminal case against him which was not disclosed in the affidavit / verification form, which is the impugned order in the writ petition before the learned Single Judge.

3. A First Information Report was lodged on 28.06.2013 being Case Crime No. 173 of 2013 under Sections 147, 323, 308, 325, 504, 506 I.P.C., P.S. Kundrapur, District Azamgarh in which the appellant-petitioner was also named as an accused. The appellant-petitioner as was declared a juvenile, his case was taken up by the Juvenile Justice Board, Azamgarh which vide order dated 07.07.2018 convicted the appellant and directed him to be kept under probation for a period of one year along with fine under Section 147 I.P.C. of Rs. 2000/-, under Section 323 I.P.C. of Rs. 1000/-, under Section 308 I.P.C. of Rs. 20,000/-, under Section 325 I.P.C. Rs. 10,000/-, under Section 504 I.P.C. of Rs. 1000/- and under Section 506 I.P.C. of Rs. 2000/- to be paid by the custodian of the appellant-petitioner in view of his committing the offence. It was further ordered that as per the provisions of Section 357 Cr.P.C., 50 % of the fine as realised shall be paid to the victim.

4. An order dated 04.09.2018 was passed by the District Nodal Officer, Recruitment Centre, Azamgarh cancelling the candidature of the petitioner on the ground that he has filed a false affidavit / self-disclosure letter in which in Para 2 pertaining to the disclosure of involvement in a criminal case, the candidate has disclosed as follows:-

(2) यह की मेरे विरुद्ध कोई आपराधिक मुकदमा / मामला मेरी जानकारी में कभी पंजीकृत नहीं हुआ है और न ही कोई पुलिस विवेचना (Investigation) लंबित है।

The said information is incorrect as on verification it came to light that a criminal case is registered against him on which he has been released on probation for one year along with fine. The said information was intentionally concealed and the affidavit is based on false facts.

5. In the present case date of birth of the appellant-petitioner is 05.02.1997. The First Information Report was lodged on 28.06.2013. The appellant-petitioner was thus aged about 16 years (to be more precise 16 years, 4 months & 23 days old) at the time when the F.I.R was lodged.

6. An affidavit / declaration as given by the appellant-petitioner states to be disclosed in its column 2 that there is no criminal case registered in the knowledge of the declarant / deponent and there was never any investigation pending. Further in clause 5 of the same it was to be declared that the declarant / deponent was never challaned by the police in any criminal matter. The candidature of the appellant-petitioner was cancelled on the ground that he had furnished a false notary affidavit dated 30.05.2018 asserting wrong and incorrect facts regarding the pendency of a criminal case against him. The said information was stated to have been concealed intentionally and a false affidavit is said to have been given.

7. The appellant-petitioner at the time of lodging of the said F.I.R was a juvenile. A juvenile has been defined in Section 2 (k) of the Juvenile Justice (Care and Protection of Children) Act, 2000. The same is extracted herein below:-

"(k) "juvenile" or "child" means a person who has not completed eighteenth year of age;"

8. Section 19 of the Act of 2000 reads as under:-

"19. Removal of disqualification attaching to conviction:- (1) Notwithstanding anything contained in any other law, a juvenile who has committed an offence and has been dealt with under the provisions of this Act shall not suffer disqualification, if any, attaching to a conviction of an offence under such law.

(2) The Board shall make an order directing that the relevant records of such conviction shall be removed after the expiry of the period of appeal or a reasonable period prescribed under the rules, as the case may be."

9. Since the appellant-petitioner was under the age of 18 at the time of lodging of the said F.I.R he had to be treated as a juvenile in conflict with law. A "juvenile in conflict with law" has also been defined under Section 2 (l) of the Act of 2000. The same reads as under:-

"(l) "juvenile in conflict with law" means a juvenile who is alleged to have committed an offence and has not completed eighteenth year of age as on the date f commission of such offence;"

10. Section 19 of the Act of 2000 has been incorporated in order to give a juvenile an opportunity to lead his life with no stigma and to wipe out the circumstances of his past. It thus provides that a juvenile shall not suffer any disqualification attaching to conviction of an offence under such Act. A "juvenile" on the date when the alleged offence has been committed is required to be dealt with under the Juvenile Justice Board (Care and Protection of Children) Act, 2000 which declares that all criminal charges against individuals who are described as "juvenile in conflict with law" be decided by the authorities constituted under the Act by the Juvenile Justice Board. If a conviction is recorded by the Juvenile Justice Board, Section 19 (1) of the Act of 2000 specifically stipulates that juvenile shall not suffer any disqualification attached to the conviction of an offence under such law. Further Section 19 (2) of the Act of 2000 contemplates that the Board must pass an order directing all the relevant records of such conviction to be removed after expiry of the period of appeal or reasons as prescribed under the rules as the case may be.

11. At the present moment it will not be out of place to mention that in the present case the Juvenile Justice Board while giving its judgment and order dated 07.07.2018 being conscious of the provision of Section 19 of the Act of 2000 directed that the records or papers will be dealt with as per the provisions of Rule 99 of Juvenile Justice (Care and Protection of Children) Rules, 2007. The said Rule is extracted herein below:-

"99. Disposal of records or documents.-- The records or documents in respect of a juvenile or a child or a juvenile in conflict with law shall be kept in a safe place for a period of seven years and no longer, and thereafter be destroyed by the Officer-in-Charge or Board or Committee, as the case may be."

12. Section 21 of the Act of 2000 prohibits publication of the name of the "juvenile in conflict with law" with the object to protect a juvenile from adverse consequences on account of his conviction for an offence committed as a juvenile. The same reads as under:-

"21. Prohibition of publication of name, etc., of juvenile involved in any proceeding under the Act.-

(1) No report in any newspaper, magazine, new-sheet or visual media of any inquiry regarding a juvenile in conflict with law under this Act shall disclose the name, address or school or any other particulars calculated to lead to the identification of the juvenile nor shall any picture of any such juvenile be published:

Provided that for reasons to be recorded in writing the authority holding the inquiry may permit such disclosure, if in its opinion such disclosure is in the interest of the juvenile.

(2) Any person contravening the provisions of sub-section (1) shall be punishable with fine, which may extend to one thousand rupees."

13. The sensitivity in matters relating to a juvenile or child or juvenile in conflict with law was deep embedded in the legislation as is apparent from Chapter II of the Juvenile Justice (Care & Protection of Children) Rules, 2007. Rule 3 therein gives in detail the fundamental principles to be followed in administration of the Rules.

14. The said Act is a beneficial legislation. The principles of such beneficial legislation are to be applied only for the purpose of interpretation of this statute. The concealment of the pendency of criminal case against the appellant-petitioner was of no consequence. As per the requirement of law a conviction in an offence will not be treated as a disqualification for a juvenile. The records of the case pertaining to his involvement in a criminal matter are to be obliterated after a specified period of time. The intention of the legislature is clear that in so far as juveniles are concerned their criminal records is not to stand in their way in their lives. The cancellation of the candidature of the appellant-petitioner was thus bad. The authority concerned failed to appreciate the fact that the appellant-petitioner was entitled to benefit of the provisions of Act of 2000. The cancellation of the candidature of the petitioner goes contrary to the object sought to be achieved by the Act of 2000. Section 19 of the Act of 2000 protects a juvenile and any stigma attached to his conviction is also removed. The Act of 2000 does not envisage incarceration of a juvenile which clearly shows that the intention and object was not to shut the doors of a disciplined and decent civilised life. It provides him an opportunity to mend his life for the future.

15. We thus hold that the authority concerned fell in complete error in not extending the benefit of Act of 2000 to the appellant-petitioner particularly when there are specific provisions provided therein to take care of a juvenile being implicated, tried and / or convicted in a criminal matter. We thus extend the benefit provided under Section 19 of the Act of 2000 to the appellant-petitioner.

16. The judgment and order of the learned Single Judge is set aside. The Writ A No. 21337 of 2018 is allowed and the order dated 04.09.2018 passed by the District Nodal Officer, Recruitment Centre, Azamgarh is set aside. The respondent no. 6 is directed to reinstate the petitioner within a period of 30 days from the date of production of a certified copy of this order with all consequential benefits except for back wages following the principle of no work and no pay.

A. Civil Law - Central Civil Services (Extraordinary Pension) Rules, 1939 – Rule 3-A(1)(a) – Disability Compensation – Accident 'in the Course of Employment' – Meaning – Accident having admittedly occurred while the petitioner was already availing leave and was neither in the process of undertaking a journey home from duty or going back to duty the issue with regard to notional extension of the employers' premises would not arise in the present case – Since it was not the case of the petitioner that the accident occurred while he was undertaking a journey back home from his place of work and for the said reason the accident could not be said to have occurred 'in the course of employment' – Howsoever liberally we may attempt to construe the provisions under the CCS (EOP) Rules, 1939, the petitioner would not by any stretch be held to be 'on duty' leading to a causal connection between disablement and government service. (Para 27, 28 and 36)

B. Doctrine of Precedents – Meaning – A judgment is only an authority for what it actually decides and not what logically follows from the various observations made in the judgment – In order to fully understand and appreciate the binding force of a decision, it is always necessary to see what were the facts of the case in which the decision was given and what was the point decided. (Delivered by Hon'ble Dr. Yogendra Kumar Srivastava, J.)

1. The present special appeal seeks to challenge the judgment and order dated 27.05.2019 passed in Writ-A No.53145 of 2004 (Raj Bahadur Singh Vs. Union of India and others) whereby the writ petition has been allowed and the orders passed by the respondent authorities in terms of which the claim of the petitioner for disability compensation under the Central Civil Services (Extraordinary Pension) Rules, 19391 stood rejected, have been set aside, and a direction has been issued to the respondents to compute the benefits payable to the petitioner under the CCS (EOP) Rules, 1939 and to pay the same within a stipulated time period as per terms of the order.

2. The Union of India through Secretary, Ministry of Home Affairs, Government of India, New Delhi, and the authorities of the Central Reserve Police Force, who were the respondents in the writ petition, are the appellants before us.

3. The principal grounds canvassed before us on behalf of the appellants is that the respondent-petitioner was not entitled to the benefit of disability compensation inasmuch as he was not 'homebound' when he met with the accident, as he had already reached home and the accident occurred when he was engaged in his personal work and as such there was no causal connection/attributability between the disablement and government service, and the interpretation given by the learned Single Judge to Rule 3-A(1)(a) of the CCS (EOP) Rules, 1939, is erroneous and the judgment and order is legally unsustainable.

4. It has been pointed out that the respondent was sanctioned leave for 14th, 15th, and 16th December, 1998 with permission to avail 13th December, 1998, the same being a Sunday, and he had left the Unit, where he was posted, on 13th December, 1998 itself to reach his home town on the same day which is only at distance of 110 kilometers from the Unit he was posted, having a travelling time of about three hours, and in view of the same the accident having occurred on 14th December, 1998, the respondent petitioner could not in any manner be said to be 'homebound' at the relevant point of time.

5. Per contra, learned counsel appearing for the respondent-writ petitioner has supported the order passed by the learned Single Judge by submitting that the petitioner having met with an accident on 14th December, 1998 while he was on leave for a short period, the same would be considered to be on duty, and he would be entitled to get the disability benefit.

6. The facts of the case, which are reflected from the records before us, indicate that as per the case set up in the writ petition, the petitioner was on leave from 14th December, 1998 to 16th December, 1998, when he met with an accident, which occurred on 14th December, 1998 while he was going to his house by a scooter which was hit from the opposite side by a three-wheeler. The claim raised by him for disability pension under the CCS (EOP) Rules, 1939 was based on a contention that the leave being for very short period, he would be considered to be on duty and would be entitled for the disability pension.

7. The claim raised by the petitioner for disability pension under the CCS (EOP) Rules, 1939, was rejected by the Commandant of the Battalion by means of an order dated 6th April, 1999, the operative portion of which reads as follows :-

''1. चूँकि बल संख्या–911182766 सिपाही राज बहादुर सिंह का एक्सीडेंट दिनांक 14/12/98 को लगभग 17:00 बजे दिनांक 14/12/98 से 16/12/98 तक 3 दिन के अवकाश दिनांक 13/12/98 की अनुमति सहित, के दौरान अपना निजी कार्य संपन्न करते समय अपने पैतृक गॉव में हुआ है, अतः उक्त दुर्घटना के परिणाम स्वरूप हुए नुकसान अथवा भविष्य में होने वाली किसी भी असक्तता के लिए उक्त कार्मिक केरिपुबल विभाग से किसी प्रकार के दावे/प्रतिपूर्ति का हकदार नहीं होगा तथा उक्त दुर्घटना सरकारी ड्यूटी पर न मानी जा कर कार्मिक के द्वारा निजी कार्य संपन्न करते समय निजी कार्य हेतु मानी जाये।

2. कार्मिक के ईलाज की अवधि का समय समय पर कार्मिक के अवकाश की हकदारी के अनुसार नियमित कर दिया जाये।''

8. Thereafter, the respondent-petitioner submitted a representation before the Deputy Inspector General, CRPF, Rampur raising a plea that the accident having occurred during the period of casual leave the same would be considered to be as a period on duty as per the relevant rules and accordingly the accident would be deemed to be while on government duty and accordingly he was entitled to disability pension. The claim sought to be raised by the respondent-petitioner was rejected by the Deputy Inspector General, CRPF by means of an order dated 5th April, 2004 stating therein that there was no provision under the relevant rules that the period spent on casual leave would be treated to be as that on duty and therefore the accident having occurred when the respondent-petitioner was on casual leave the same could not have been treated to be an accident while on duty.

9. Aggrieved against the aforesaid two orders, the respondent-petitioner preferred another representation before the Director General of Police, CRPF, Lucknow, reiterating his contention that the accident having occurred during a period when he was on casual leave the same would be treated to be as a period spent on duty. The representation of the petitioner was turned down by the Director General, CRPF, by assigning the reason that there was no provision under the rules to treat the period of casual leave as that on duty and therefore the respondent petitioner could not claim entitlement to disability pension.

10. The stand taken by the respondents (appellants herein) with regard to the claim set up by the petitioner, as reflected from the averments made in the counter affidavit filed in the writ petition, is being extracted below :-

"3(a). That while the petitioner was working as Constable/General Duty at 62 Bn. C.R.P.F. C/o. 56 APO. He has sanctioned three days Casual Leave i.e. for 14th, 15th and 16th December, 1998 with the permission to avail 13th December, 1998, being Sunday.

3(b). That on 14th December, 1998 when he was on leave, he met under an accident with three wheeler at his home town at Hardoi while he was doing his own work and he sustained the fracture injury in his right leg due to said accident.

5. That in reply to the contents of paragraph no. 3 of the writ petition, it is submitted that on 14th December, 1998 at his home town while the petitioner was on sanctioned leave the accident took place in which he receive the injury in his right leg. However, on 6.4.1999 an order has been passed that as per Rule petitioner is not entitled for disability benefits."

11. In order to appreciate the rival contentions, the provisions with regard to disability pension under the CCS (EOP) Rules, 1939, may be adverted to.

12. The relevant extracts from the CCS (EOP) Rules, 1939, are as follows :-

"3. For the purpose of these rules unless there is anything repugnant in the subject or context,

(1) 'accident' means,

(i) a sudden and unavoidable mishap; or

(ii) a mishap due to an act of devotion to duty in an emergency arising otherwise than by violence out of and in the course of service;

(2) 'date of injury' means,

(i) in the case of accident or violence, the actual date on which the injury is suffered or such date, not being later than the date of the report of the Medical Board, as the President may fix; and

(ii) in the case of disease, the date on which the Medical Board reports or such earlier date as may be fixed by the President with due regard to the opinion of the Medical Board;

3-A. Disablement/Death.-- (1)(a) Disablement shall be accepted as due to Government service, provided that it is certified that it is due to wound, injury or disease which,

(i) is attributable to Government service, or

(ii)existed before or arose during Government service and has been and remains aggravated thereby.

(b) Death shall be accepted as due to Government service provided it is certified that it was due to or hastened by,

(i) a wound, injury or disease which was attributable to Government service, or

(ii) the aggravation by Government service of a wound, injury or disease which existed before or arose during Government service.

(2) There shall be a causal connection between,

(a) disablement and Government service; and

(b)death and Government service, for attributability or aggravation to be conceded. Guidelines in this regard are given in the Appendix which shall be treated as part and parcel of these Rules."

13. We may also refer to the 'Guidelines for conceding attributability of disablement or death to government service', referable to Rule 3-A(2), appended to the CCS (EOP) Rules, 1939.

14. In particular, we may refer to clause 4(b) and 4(c) of the aforesaid guidelines, which are as follows :-

"4(b) A person subject to the disciplinary code of the Central Armed Police Battalions, is 'on duty',

(i) When performing an official task or a task, failure to do which would constitute an offence, triable under the disciplinary code, applicable to him.

(ii) When moving from one place of duty to another place of duty irrespective of the method of movement.

(iii) During the period of participation in recreation, organized or permitted by service authorities, and during the period of travelling in a body or singly under organized arrangements.

(iv) When proceeding from his duty station to his leave station on returning to duty from his leave station at public expenses, that is, on Railway warrant, on cash TA (irrespective of whether Railway warrant/cash TA is admitted for the whole journey or for a portion only), in Government transport or when road mileage is paid for the journey.

(v) When journeying by a reasonable route from one's official residence to and back from the appointed place of duty irrespective of the mode of conveyance, whether private or provided by the Government.

(c) An accident which occurs when a man is not strictly 'on duty' as defined above, may also be attributable to service, provided that it involved risk which was definitely enhanced in kind or degree by the nature, conditions, obligations or incidents of his service and that the same was not a risk common to human existence in modern conditions in India. Thus, for example,where a person is killed or injured by someone by reason of his belonging to an Armed Police Battalion (and in the course of his duty in such service, he had incurred wrath of such person) he shall be deemed to be 'on duty' at the relevant time.

This benefit will be given more liberally to the claimant in cases occurring on 'active service' as defined in the relevant Acts/Rules (e.g., those applicable to BSF/CRPF, etc., Personnel)."

15. I t may be noted that the CCS (EOP) Rules, 1939, are applicable to all Central Government servants paid from Civil Estimates other than those to whom the Workmen's Compensation Act, 1923, applied, whether their appointments are permanent or temporary on a scale of pay or fixed pay or piece-work rate.

16. The CCS (EOP) Rules, 1939, provide for the grant of award in the form of monthly pension or lump sum compensation in certain circumstances, including a case, where a government servant is boarded out of government service on account of his disablement due to wound, injury or disease and the disablement is accepted as due to government service, the government servant would be granted disability pension. This disability pension would be in addition to invalid pension/gratuity, if admissible under CCS (Pension) Rules, 1972.

17. As we have already noticed the appellants/respondent have taken a specific stand that the respondent-petitioner had been sanctioned three days' casual leave for 14th, 15th, and 16th December, 1998 with a permission to avail 13th December, 1998 being a Sunday, and during the period when he was on leave on 14th December, 1998, he met with an accident at his home town while on his own work and there would be no entitlement to disability benefit to a person in a case where disability had occurred other than on government duty and accordingly orders were passed by the authorities rejecting his claim. It was also stated that there was no provision in terms of which a period of casual leave is to be treated as a period on duty, as claimed by the petitioner.

18. The stand taken by the respondents/appellants in their counter affidavit has been taken note of by the learned Single Judge in the judgment under appeal in the following manner :-

"A Counter Affidavit has been filed by respondents admitting that petitioner was working as Constable (General Duty) at 62 Battalion, CRPF, C/o 56 APO. He was sanctioned three days casual leave, i.e., 14th, 15th and 16th December, 1998 with the permission to avail 13th December 1998 being Sunday. On 14.12.1998 while riding a Scooter and going to his hometown at Hardoi, petitioner met an accident with a three-wheeler causing fracture in his right leg."

19. Similarly, the order dated 6th April, 1999 passed by the Commandant, CRPF, rejecting the claim of the respondent petitioner for disability pension has been taken note of in the judgment under appeal, as follows :-

"Whenever a person is granted leave, it cannot be said that as soon as he is relieved at the place of posting or moves towards his hometown, process of journey would not be attributable to Government service inasmuch this journey is also being undertaken by the employee concerned which is directly attributable to his service inasmuch as a part of service conditions, he was posted at a place other than his hometown. Therefore, till the incumbent reaches his hometown on official leave, in my view, the entire process of journey will be part of official duty being attributable to Government service and has casual connection to such service."

20. The judgment under appeal proceeds on the premise that the claim of the petitioner had been rejected for the reason that the petitioner had met with an accident while proceeding on leave and that the accident occurred on 14th December, 1998 while the petitioner was on his way to his home town. It is on the basis of this presumption that the learned Single Judge proceeded to formulate the issue in dispute and also to record his view in the following manner :-

"7. In the present case, petitioner met an accident when he was granted leave and going to his Hometown from the place of his posting. "Whether an employee when returns to Home from his Office or place of posting, if meets and accident, can it be said to have occurred during the course of employment and in the present case can it be said that it has connection with Government duty" is the moot question to be answered."

8. In my view, it cannot be said that returning to Hometown from place of posting has no direct connection with the Government duty inasmuch, leave when granted to a Government servant is part of service condition and when Government servant is returning to his house from the place of posting, it is an incident of service having direct connection with the Government duty otherwise there would not have been any occasion for the Government Servant to undertake journey to return to his Hometown.

9. When an Government Servant is granted leave and he proceeds from his place of Posting to his residence, can it be said that as soon as he leaves the place of postings, he ceased to be a Government Servant and there is no connection with Government duty at all is also an issue which has to be examined in the light of spirit of Rules with which Rules, 1939 have been framed.

10. The aforesaid Rules are for the welfare of employees who sustain injuries, disease etc. during course of duty or when they are doing something which has any connection with the Government Duty."

21. On a plain reading of the pleadings in the writ petition, as are evident from the records, it is seen that the issue which was formulated by the writ court did not at all arise in the facts of the case.

22. In the counter affidavit filed in the writ petition, the appellants/respondents nowhere took a stand that the accident occurred on 14th December, 1998 while the petitioner was going to his home town and that his claim for disability pension was turned down for that reason. The order dated 6th April, 1999 passed by the Commandant, CRPF, rejecting the claim of the petitioner for disability pension, is also not for the reason that the accident occurred when the petitioner was proceeding on leave as has been noted in the judgment under appeal.

23. It is also not the stand of the writ petitioner in the writ petition, or at any stage when he raised his claim for disability pension before the authorities, that the accident occurred on 14th December, 1998 while he was proceeding on leave or was on way to his home town. On the contrary, the admitted case of the petitioner was that the accident occurred while he was on leave and the basis of the claim set up by him was that the leave being for a very short period he would be considered to be on duty and would be entitled for disability pension on the basis thereof.

24. It thus emerges from the admitted stand of the parties that the petitioner had been sanctioned three days' casual leave for 14th, 15th and 16th December, 1998 with permission to avail 13th December, 1998, being a Sunday, and it was on 14th December, 1998 during the period when the petitioner was on leave that the accident occurred. The claim set up by the petitioner was based on the ground that the leave being for a short period, the petitioner ought to have been considered to be on duty when the accident occurred.

25. The precedents which have been referred to in the judgment under appeal, are mostly in respect of matters relating to the Workmen Compensation Act, 1923, and the interpretation of the expression 'in the course of employment' which term as per the settled legal position has been held to connote not only actual work but also any other engagement, natural and incidental thereto.

26. There can be no quarrel with the aforesaid proposition of law and in particular that the expression 'in the course of employment' would stand reasonably extended both as regards work-hours and work-place by applying the doctrine of notional extension as to time and place. The narrow interpretation that an accident would be said to have arisen 'out of and in the course of employment' only if the workman sustained injuries at the place of his employment, would be totally out of sync with the present times where modern management methods and developments have made it wholly unnecessary to consider a workman on duty only when he reaches his place of work or starts working and the principle of notional extension of the employers' premises has been adopted in the context of claims relating to workmen compensation. It is in this context of notional extension of the employers' premises that in a case where an employee dies while going to join his duty or while coming back from duty, would be deemed to be 'in the course of his employment'.

27. As we have already noticed, in the facts of the present case, the accident having admittedly occurred while the petitioner was already availing leave and was neither in the process of undertaking a journey home from duty or going back to duty the issue with regard to notional extension of the employers' premises would not arise in the present case.

28. The question which was therefore posed by the learned Single Judge while deciding the writ petition does not arise in the facts of the case at hand since it was not the case of the petitioner that the accident occurred while he was undertaking a journey back home from his place of work and for the said reason the accident could not be said to have occurred 'in the course of employment'.

29. The law with regard to applicability of the doctrine of precedents is well settled. It has been consistently held that a judgment is only an authority for what it actually decides and not what logically follows from the various observations made in the judgment. In order to fully understand and appreciate the binding force of a decision, it is always necessary to see what were the facts of the case in which the decision was given and what was the point decided.

30. In the case of The State of Orissa Vs. Sudhansu Sekhar Misra and Ors.2 referring to the observations made by Earl of Halsbury LC in Quinn Vs. Leathem3, it was stated thus :-

"12. ...A decision is only an authority for what it actually decides. What is of the essence in a decision is its ratio and not every observation found therein nor what logically follows from the various observations made in it. On this topic this is what Earl of Halsbury L.C. said in Quinn v. Leathem, 1901 AC 495.

"Now before discussing the case of Allen v. Flood, (1898) AC 1 and what was decided therein, there are two observations of a general character which I wish to make, and one is to repeat what I have very often said before, that every judgment must be read as applicable to the particular facts proved, or assumed to be proved, since the generality of the expressions which may be found there are not intended to be expositions of the whole law, but governed and qualified by the particular facts of the case in which such expressions are to be found. The other is that a case is only an authority for what it actually decides. I entirely deny that it can be quoted for a proposition that may seem to follow logically from it. Such a mode of reasoning assumes that the law is necessarily a logical Code, whereas every lawyer must acknowledge that the law is not always logical at all."

31. A similar view was taken in Union of India Vs. Amrit Lal Manchandra and others4, and after referring to the decisions in London Graving Dock Co. Ltd. Vs. Horton5, Home Office Vs. Dorcet Yacht Co.6 and Herrington Vs. British Railways Board7, it was stated that observations of Court must be read in the context in which they appear and that one additional or different fact may make a world of difference :-

"15. ...Courts should not place reliance on decisions without discussing as to how the factual situation fits in with the fact situation of the decision on which reliance is placed.

Observations of Courts are neither to be read as Euclid's theorems nor as provisions of the statute and that too taken out of their context. These observations must be read in the context in which they appear to have been stated.

Judgments of Courts are not to be construed as statutes. To interpret words, phrases and provisions of a statute, it may become necessary for Judges to embark into lengthy discussions but the discussion is meant to explain and not to define. Judges interpret statutes, they do not interpret judgments. They interpret words of statutes; their words are not to be interpreted as statutes. In London Graving Pock Co. Ltd. v. Horton (1951 AC 737 at p. 761), Lord Mac Dermot observed:

"The matter cannot, of course, be settled merely by treating the ipsissima verba of Willes, J. as though they were part of an Act of Parliament and applying the rules of interpretation appropriate thereto. This is not to detract from the great weight to be given to the language actually used by that most distinguished Judges."

16. In Home Office v. Dorset Yacht Co.(1970 (2) All ER 294), Lord Reid said, "Lord Atkin's speech....is not to be treated as if it was a statute definition. It will require qualification in new circumstances." Megarry, J. in (1971) 1 WLR 1062 observed:

"One must not, of course, construe even a reserved judgment of even Russell L.J. as if it were an Act of Parliament." And, in Herrington v. British Railways Board (1972 (2) WLR 537) Lord Morris said:

"There is always peril in treating the words of a speech or judgment as though they are words in a legislative enactment, and it is to be remembered that judicial utterances made in the setting of the facts of a particular case."

17. Circumstantial flexibility, one additional or different fact may make a world of difference between conclusions in two cases. Disposal of cases by blindly placing reliance on a decision is not proper.

18. The following words of Lord Denning in the matter of applying precedents have become locus classicus:

"Each case depends on its own facts and a close similarity between one case and another is not enough because even a single significant detail may alter the entire aspect, in deciding such cases, one should avid the temptation to decide cases (as said by Cordozo) by matching the colour of one case against the colour of another. To decide therefore, on which side of the line a case falls, the broad resemblance to another case is not at all decisive."

x x x

"Precedent should be followed only so far as it marks the path of justice, but you must cut the dead wood and trim off the side branches else you will find yourself lost in thickets and branches. My plea is to keep the path to justice clear of obstructions which could impede it."

32. The precedents which have been referred to in the judgment under appeal being on a point of law which does not arise in the facts and situation of the present case reliance placed on the said decisions to arrive at a conclusion on a question which was not at issue is therefore misplaced and the judgment of the writ court cannot be sustained for the said reason.

33. We may now refer to the provisions of the CCS (EOP) Rules, 1939 to advert to the question as to whether the petitioner would be entitled to the benefit of disability pension in terms of the provisions contained therein.

34. The grant of disability pension under the CCS (EOP) Rules, 1939 is admissible in a case where government servant is boarded out of government service on account of his disablement due to wound, injury or disease. In terms of Rule 3-A(1)(a), disablement shall be accepted as due to government service, provided it is certified that it was due to wound, injury or disease which is attributable to government service, or existed before or arose during government service and has been and remains aggravated thereby. Further, sub-rule (2) of Rule 3-A provides that there has to be a causal connection between disablement and Government service for attributability to be conceded.

35. The guidelines for conceding attributability of disablement of government service, in the context of persons subject to the disciplinary code of the Central Armed Police Battalions (CAPB), have included the case of an accident which occurs while proceeding from duty station to leave station and on returning to duty from leave station at public expense. An accident which occurs when a person is not strictly 'on duty' as defined under clause 4(b), may also be attributable to service, provided it involved risk which was definitely enhanced in kind or degree by the nature, conditions, obligations or incidents of his service and that the same was not a risk common to human existence in modern conditions.

36. In the case at hand, the accident having occurred on a day when the petitioner was availing leave, howsoever liberally we may attempt to construe the provisions under the CCS (EOP) Rules, 1939, the petitioner would not by any stretch be held to be 'on duty' leading to a causal connection between disablement and government service for attributability to be conceded in any manner.

37. As per the petitioner's case also there is no assertion that the accident occurred while he was on his journey back home from his duty station, and the sole basis of the claim being founded on the stand that the leave being for a short period the petitioner may be considered 'on duty', the accident can in no manner be held to be attributable to Government service as per the provisions of the CCS (EOP) Rules, 1939, so as to sustain a claim for disability pension in terms thereof.

38. The judgment under appeal whereby directions have been issued to compute benefits payable to the petitioner in terms of the CCS (EOP) Rules, 1939, and to make payment of the same, therefore, cannot be sustained. The judgment of the learned Single Judge is liable to be set aside and is accordingly set aside.

39. The special appeal is allowed.

40. The writ petition stands dismissed.

WRIT A No. 1846 of 2020

Versus

State of U.P. & Ors. ...Respondents

Counsel for the Petitioner:

Counsel for the Respondents:
C.S.C., Sri Jay Ram Pandey

A. Service Law – Pension - Compassionate Appointment – Uttar Pradesh Recruitment of Dependents of Government Servants Dying in Harness Rules, 1974: Rule 5 – The mere fact that an application was made when the old scheme was in force will not by itself create a right in favour of the applicant to be considered under the old scheme. (Para 14)

Petitioner prayed for enforcement of provisions of Old Pension Scheme on him instead of New Pension Scheme dated 28.3.2005, which was enforced from 1.4.2005, on the ground that at the time of application for compassionate appointment, the old scheme was operative and therefore, he deserves to be considered under the old scheme. (Para 2, 14)

Court held that under the Rules, 1974, there cannot be immediate or automatic appointment merely on an application. Several circumstances having a bearing on eligibility, and financial condition, upto the date of consideration may have to be taken into account. (Para 12)

A compassionate appointee enters in a Government service and becomes part of the cadre only when he is appointed under the Rules, 1974. Therefore, the service conditions and other benefits as applicable as on the date of his appointment shall alone be available to him and shall govern his service conditions. The Old Pension Scheme which was abolished, prior to the appointment of the petitioner shall not be applicable to the petitioner. At the time of his appointment, i.e.,15.4.2005/joining on 21.4.2005, the New Pension Scheme which came into force on 1.4.2005, was in operation. Therefore, the petitioner can get the benefit of only the New Pension Scheme and not the Old Pension Scheme, which was operative prior to 01.4.2005. (Para 13)

1. Heard learned counsel for the petitioner, the learned standing counsel for the State-respondent Nos.1 and 3, and learned counsel for the respondent Nos.2 and 4.

2. This writ petition has been filed praying for a direction in the nature of mandamus to the respondent-authorities to enforce the provisions of Old Pension Scheme on the petitioner and not the New Pension Scheme dated 28.03.2005, which was enforced from 01.04.2005.

3. Briefly stated, undisputed facts of the present case are that father of the petitioner Sri Bhagwan Prasad was an assistant teacher in Junior High School, Majhigawan, District Mirzapur. During tenure of his service, he died on 30.01.2005. It is alleged in paragraph-7 of the writ petition that the petitioner has filed application on 28.02.2005 for appointment under Rule 5 of Uttar Pradesh Recruitment of Dependants of Government Servants Dying in Harness Rules, 1974. However, no proof in support of the averments made in the aforesaid paragraph-7 of the writ petition, has been filed along with the writ petition.

4. The District Basic Education Officer issued an order dated 15.04.2005 for appointment of the petitioner as Assistant Teacher on compassionate ground. It is stated by the learned counsel for the petitioner that the petitioner joined on 21.04.2005.

5. Undisputedly, the appointment of the petitioner on compassionate ground was made on 15.04.2005 and as per his allegation, he joined on 21.04.2005. The Old Pension Scheme was operative prior to 30.03.2005. The New Pension Scheme was notified on 28.03.2005 and it came into force from 01.04.2005. Prior to 01.04.2005, the petitioner was not a member of the service cadre. He came in the service as Assistant Teacher on or after 15.04.2005. Therefore, Old Pension Scheme is not applicable to the petitioner.

6. The judgment in the case of Writ-A No.55606 of 2008 (Mahesh Narayan and others vs. State of U.P. and others), decided on 19.12.2019 is on entirely different set of facts.

7. It is settled law that a candidate does not have any legal right to be appointed. He in terms of Article 16 of the Constitution of India, has only a right to be considered therefor, vide Pitta Naveen Kumar and others vs. Raja Narasaiah Zangiti and others, (2006) 10 SCC 261 (para-32).

8. Compassionate appointment is a need based concept. Immediate financial disruption is a dominating consideration in matters on compassionate appointment, which is an exception to the general rule of appointment on merit in public employment through open invitation.

9. It is well settled that appointment on compassionate grounds is not a source of recruitment. It is an exception to the general rule that recruitment to public services should be made on the basis of merit, by an open invitation providing equal opportunity to all eligible persons to participate in the selection process.

10. The dependants of employees who died in harness, do not have any special claim or right to employment, except by way of concession, which has been extended by the State Government for dependants of deceased employee under the Uttar Pradesh Recruitment of Dependants of Government Servants Dying in Harness Rules, 1974 to enable the family of the deceased to get over the sudden finance crisis. Thus, claim for compassionate appointment is traceable only to the scheme framed by the employer for such employment and there is no right whatsoever outside such scheme.

11. An appointment under the scheme can be made only if the scheme is in force and not after it is abolished/ withdrawn. In the case of State Bank of India and another vs. Raj Kumar, (2010) 11 SCC 661 (Para-8), Hon'ble Supreme Court reiterated the aforementioned settled principles and further held that when a scheme is abolished, any pending application seeking appointment under the scheme will also cease to exist, unless saved. The mere fact that an application was made when the scheme was in force, will not by itself create a right in favour of the applicant.

12. In the case of Raj Kumar (supra) (paras-11 and 12), Hon'ble Supreme court further held that normally schemes contemplate compassionate appointment on an application by a dependent family member, subject to the applicant fulfilling the prescribed eligibility requirements, and subject to availability of a vacancy for making the appointment. The applicant has only a right to be considered for appointment against a specified quota, even if he fulfils all the eligibility criteria; and the selection is made under the Rules, 1974, subject to the eligibility for the post, verification of the eligibility and the financial capacity of the family. The appointments under the Rules, 1974 is not automatic but an applicant has to wait in a queue for a vacancy to arise, or for a selection committee to assess the comparative need of other applicants under the Rules so as to fill a limited number of earmarked vacancies. Thus, there can be immediate or automatic appointment merely on an application. Several circumstances having a bearing on eligibility, and financial condition, upto the date of consideration may have to be taken into account.

13. A compassionate appointee under the Rules, 1974 enters in government service enters in a government service and becomes part of the cadre only when he is appointed under the Rules, 1974. Therefore, the service conditions and other benefits as applicable as on the date of his appointment shall alone be available to him and shall govern his service conditions. The Old Pension Scheme which was abolished, prior to the appointment of the petitioner shall not be applicable to the petitioner. At the time of his appointment, i.e. 15.04.2005/ joining on 21.04.2005, the New Pension Scheme which came into force on 01.04.2005, was in operation. Therefore, the petitioner can get the benefit of only the New Pension Scheme and not the Old Pension Scheme, which was operative prior to 01.04.2005.

14. In the case of Raj Kumar (supra), deceased employee's mother made application dated 06.06.2005 and 14.06.2005 requesting for appointment of his son on compassionate grounds. When the applications were being processed and verified the compassionate appointment scheme was substituted by "the SBI scheme for payment of ex-gratia lump sump amount" w.e.f. 04.08.2005. The New Scheme abolished Old Scheme for compassionate appointments and needs to be provided for payment of ex-gratia lump sump amount as per its terms. The applicant took the stand that at the time of application for compassionate appointment, the old scheme was operative and therefore, he deserves to be considered under the old scheme. On these facts, Hon'ble Supreme Court held that the mere fact that an application was made when the scheme was in force will not by itself create a right in favour of the applicant. It further held that only the new scheme shall be applicable and the applicant may get benefit under the new scheme and not under the old scheme.

15. For all the reasons afore-stated, I hold that the petitioner is not entitled for the benefit of old pension scheme. The writ petition is devoid of merit and is, therefore, dismissed.

A. Service Law – Transfer Policy – In effecting transfer, the fact that the children of an employee are studying should be given due weight, if the exigencies of the service are not urgent.
Petitioner submits that in the impugned order the place of transfer is not mentioned and the education of his son, who is studying in Class 11, will get disturbed, and he will not get admission anywhere in the mid-term. The Hon'ble Court held that the Court has limited powers u/Art. 226 to interfere in the transfer order, but issued direction to respondent to consider and decide the representation of the petitioner by passing a speaking and reasoned order. (Para 2, 5, 7, 8)

Writ Petition disposed of. (E-4)

Petition challenges order dated 04.02.2020, passed by Additional Superintendent of Police, Establishment U.P.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Shamim Ahmed, J.)

1. This writ petition has been filed by the petitioner with the following relief:-

(i) Issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of certiorari quashing the impugned order dated 04.02.2020 passed by respondent no.6 against the petitioner only. (Annexure No.1 to this writ petition).

(ii) Issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of mandamus directing the respondent no.1 to formulate a Uniform Annual transfer policy with regard to the entire police force.

(iii) Issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of mandamus directing the respondents not to transfer/relieve the petitioner from his respective place of posting in pursuance of the impugned order and also direct the respondents to decide the representation of the petitioner dated 06.02.2020 within stipulated period as fixed by this Hon'ble Court.

(iv) Issue any other suitable writ, order or direction which this Hon'ble Court may deem fit and proper under the facts and circumstances of the case.

(v) Award the cost to the petitioner from the respondents.

2. Learned counsel for the petitioner submits that in the impugned transfer order the place of transfer is not mentioned where the petitioner has been transferred. Learned counsel for the petitioner further submits that the son of the petitioner is studying in Class-11 in Bharat Ram Globel School, Greater Noida and if he is transferred in the mid term, the education of the petitioner's son will disturb and he will not get admission anywhere in the mid term. In the next year the son of the petitioner is appearing in Class-12 and as per the Rules of Central Board of Secondary Education, Class-11 & 12 has to be appeared from the same School.

3. Learned counsel for the petitioner further submits that in view of the Hon'ble Apex Court judgment in the case of Director of School Education Madras and Others Vs. O. Karuppa Thevan, reported in 1994 SCC, Supl. (2) 666, no mid term transfer can be done except if the exigencies of the service are not urgent.

4. It is contended by learned counsel for the petitioner that the petitioner has already filed a detailed representation dated 06.02.2020 against the transfer order, which is still pending before the respondent no.6 and no final order has been passed.

5. Learned Standing Counsel submits that the transfer order is rightly passed and this Court under Article 226 of the Constitution of India have limited powers to interfere in the transfer order.

6. I have heard the learned counsel for the parties. From the perusal of the transfer order dated 04.02.2020, it appears that the name of the petitioner was find place at serial no.1 and the place of transfer is not mentioned in the impugned order. Further the son of the petitioner is studying in Class-11 in District Gautam Budh Nagar and if the petitioner is disturbed in the mid session, the education of his son will be disturbed and there is very-less chance that the son of petitioner will get admission in any college during mid session at the newly transferred place.

7. The Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of Director of School Education Madras and Others Vs. O. Karuppa Thevan, reported in 1994 SCC, Supl. (2) 666 was pleased to observe as under:-

"Although there is no such rule, we are of the view that in effecting transfer, the fact that the children of an employee are studying should be given due weight, if the exigencies of the service are not urgent. The learned counsel appearing for the appellant was unable to point out that there was such urgency in the present case that the employee could not have been accommodated till the end of the current academic year."

8. In view of the discussion made above, the respondent no.6 is directed to consider and decide the representation dated 06.02.2020 of the petitioner by passing a speaking and reasoned order in view of the law laid down by the Hon'ble Apex Court within a period of six weeks from the date of production of certified copy of this order.

9. The petitioner shall not relieved from the place of his present posting, if he has already not been relieved till the decision taken by the respondent no.6 on the representation filed by the petitioner.

10. With the aforesaid observation, the writ petition is finally disposed of.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Shamim Ahmed, J.)

1. This writ petition has been filed by the petitioner before this Court, under Article 226 of the Constitution of India with the following prayers;

"(i) to issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of certiorari quashing the impugned order dated 31.01.2020 (Annexure No.4) passed by respondent No.4 to this writ petition.

(ii to issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of mandamus commanding the respondents to appoint the petitioner under Dying-in-Harness Rules on suitable post forthwith.

(iii) to issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of Mandamus commanding the respondents to appoint the petitioner under Dying-in- Harness Rules on suitable post forthwith.

(iv) Award costs of the petition to the petitioner."

2. Learned counsel for the petitioner submitted that the father of the petitioner late Krishna Kumar Saxena was a regular employee posted as Administrative Officer in the office of P.W.D. and while being in service he died on 15.11.2019 leaving behind the petitioner and her mother Smt. Mamta Saxena, the father of the petitioner was only earning member of the family. The mother of the petitioner is a housewife and she is an old lady.

3. Learned counsel for the petitioner further submits that the petitioner was married in the year 2009 but being the only heir of late Krishna Kumar Saxena and Smt. Mamta Saxena has been residing with her mother Smt. Mamta Saxena to look after her being an old lady who was suffering from several diseases and after the death of the father, she is the only person to look after her mother.

4. Learned counsel for the petitioner further submits that the mother of the petitioner, thereafter, moved an application on 27.01.2020 before the respondents to give appointment to the petitioner, under the Dying-in-Harness Rules on suitable post. The petitioner is fully qualified to be appointed on Group-C post as she has completed her graduation in the year 2006 in Commerce streame and she is also entitled to get the benefits of Government Orders issued from time to time and the benefits under the Dying in Harness Rules, 1974.

5. Learned counsel for the petitioner further submits that the respondent No.4 vide order dated 31.01.2020 rejected the application of the petitioner for appointment on compassionate ground only on the ground that the petitioner being a married daughter is not covered under the definition of family under Rule 2(c) of the U.P. Recruitment of Dependent of Government Servant Dying-in-Harness Rules, 1974, therefore, she is not entitled to be appointed under the Dying-in-Harness Rules, 1974 as amended in 2011.

6. Learned counsel for the petitioner further submits that the ground taken by the respondent No.4 while rejecting the application of the petitioner is arbitrary and without application of mind, the petitioner is covered under the definition of family as contemplated under Rule 2(c) of the U.P. Recruitment of Dependent of Government Servant Dying-in-Harness Rules, 1974 and the impugned order was passed totally in mechanical manner.

7. Learned Standing Counsel has countered the arguments advanced by the petitioner and submitted that the petitioner is not entitled for being appointed on compassionate ground as the petitioner is not covered under the definition of family under Rule 2(c) of the U.P. Recruitment of Dependent of Government Servant Dying-in-Harness Rules, 1974.

8. In reply to the arguments raised by the learned Standing Counsel, learned counsel for the petitioner submits that the Division Bench of this Court has dealt with this controversy and entitled married daughter for compassionate appointment this view is taken by the Court in Special Appeal (D) No.863 of 2015 (Neha Srivastava Vs. State of U.P. and another) and was pleased to hold that exclusion of married daughters from the ambit of the expression family in Rule 2(c) of the U.P. Recruitment of Dependent of Government Servant Dying-in-Harness Rules, 1974 is illegal and unconstitutional. It was further submitted that aggrieved by the judgment passed in Special Appeal (D) No.863 of 2015 dated 23.12.2015, the State of U.P. has filed Special Leave to Appeal (C) Nos.22646 of 2016 (The State of U.P. and another Vs. Neha Srivastava), which was dismissed by the Hon'ble Apex Court vide judgment and order dated 23.07.2019.

9. Having heard learned counsel for the petitioner, learned Standing Counsel for the State and perused the record. It is not disputed that the petitioner is the married daughter of late Krishna Kumar Saxena, working on the post of Administrative Officer in the office of P.W.D. and after the death of her father, the petitioner applied for compassionate appointment and she is living with her widow mother to look after her and there is no source of her livlihood and no other family members made any objection on petitioner's appointment on compassionate ground in place of late father.

10. It is also not out of place to mention here that the only objection taken by the respondents is that the petitioner being married daughter is not covered under the definition of family under Rule 2(c) of the U.P. Recruitment of Dependent of Government Servant Dying-in-Harness Rules, 1974, as such petitioner is not entitled for reliefs sought in the writ petition. This Court is not satisfied with the objection raised by the respondents, whereas this controversy has already been attained finality in Special Appeal (D) No.863 of 2015 (Neha Srivastava Vs. State of U.P. and another) and this Court has held that exclusion of married daughters from the ambit of the expression family in Rule 2(c) of the U.P. Recruitment of Dependent of Government Servant Dying-in-Harness Rules, 1974 is illegal and unconstitutional being violative of Articles 14 and 15 of the Constitution of India and further held that the married daughter is entitled to be considered for compassionate appointment. It is relevant to mention here that the Hon'ble Apex Court also dismissed the Special Leave to Appeal (C) No.22646 of 2016 vide judgment and order dated 23.07.2019 confirming the judgment passed in Special Appeal (D) No.863 of 2015 dated 23.12.2015 (Neha Srivastava Vs. State of U.P. and another).

11. In view of the aforesaid discussions and considering the judgement passed by this Court in Special Appeal (D) No.863 of 2015 dated 23.12.2015 (Neha Srivastava Vs. State of U.P. and another) and the judgment passed by the Hon'ble Apex Court in Special Leave to Appeal (C) No.22646 of 2016, the present writ petition is allowed and the impugned order dated 31.01.2020 is quashed. The Superintending Engineer, Budaun/ Pilibhit Zone, P.W.D. Bareilly, respondent No.4 is directed to consider and decide the claim of the petitioner in the light of the observations made above and the judgment passed by this Court expeditiously, preferably within a period of six weeks from the date of production of a certified copy of this order before him and the respondent No.4 may also communicate the decision to the petitioner forthwith.

12. No order as to cost.

A. Education/Service Law – Benefit of Old Pension Scheme - The Uttar Pradesh Subordinate Educational (Trained Graduate Grade) Service Rules, 1983: Rules 3(g), 3(h), 3(i) 4, 15 - Petitioners are not entitled for the benefit of the old pension scheme which was not in existence at the time of their appointments.

Petitioners, in the present writ petition, claim the benefit of Old Pension Scheme which was abolished in March 2005. Under the Rules 1983, the petitioners No. 1 to 5 became "Member of Service" on their substantive appointments on the posts in the cadre of service on 3.10.2006, 07.01.2006, 29.10.2005, 10.03.2006 and 03.10.2005 respectively (i.e. on dates when their appointment letters were issued), while the pension scheme was abolished much earlier in the month of March 2005. Therefore, the petitioners are not entitled for the benefit of the old pension scheme which was not in existence at the time of their appointments. (Para 3, 11)

B. Conditions to become "Member of Service" - In order to become "Member of Service", a candidate must satisfy four conditions, namely, (i) the appointment must be in a substantive capacity; (ii) to a post in service i.e. in a substantive vacancy; (iii) made according to rules; (iv) within the quota prescribed for the source. An order of appointment will be effective only on communication. Although origin of Government Service is contractual but on appointment on a post or office, the person so appointed acquires a 'Status', then his rights and obligations are determined by statute or statutory rules which may be framed and may be altered unilaterally by the Government. (Delivered by Hon'ble Surya Prakash Kesarwani, J.)

1. Heard Sri Vinod Kumar Singh, learned counsel for the petitioners, learned standing counsel for the respondents.

2. This writ petition has been filed praying for the following relief:-

"I . a writ, order or direction, in the nature of mandamus, directing the respondent no.2 to extend the benefit of Old Pension Scheme to the petitioners in terms of the judgment and order dated 19.12.2019 passed in Writ Petition No.55606 of 2008 (Mahesh Narayan and others Vs. State of U.P. and others).

II. a writ, order or direction, in the nature of mandamus, directing the respondent no.2 to consider the decide the representation of the petitioners dated 14.02.2020."

3. Briefly stated facts of the present case are that Advertisement No.1/2004 was issued inviting applications for recruitment of Trained Graduate Teachers in different subjects. Learned counsel for the petitioner states that the interview of the petitioners depending upon the subjects were held between July to September 2005 and final results were declared between September 2005 to February 2006 depending upon the subjects. However, particulars regarding date of interview and dates of final result have neither been disclosed in the writ petition nor the learned counsel for the petitioner could make a statement in this regard. The dates of appointment letters given in paragraphs 7 to 11 of the writ petition and copies of appointment letters filed as Annexure 2 to the writ petition shows that immediately after declaration of results final select list was declared and allocation of colleges were made by the competent authorities. Thereafter, Managers of the respective colleges issued appointment letters to the petitioners. From perusal of copies of appointment letters collectively filed by the petitioners as Annexure 2 to the writ petition, it appears that appointment letters were issued by the concerned colleges to the petitioner nos. 1 to 5 on 03.10.2006, 07.01.2006, 29.10.2005, 10.03.2006 and 03.10.2005, respectively. Thus, undisputedly, the final select list was declared and the petitioners were appointed much after the Old Pension Scheme was abolished in the month of March 2005. The petitioners have now filed the present writ petition claiming benefit of Old Pension Scheme on the basis of judgment of this court dated 19.12.2019 in in WRIT - A No. - 55606 of 2008 (Mahesh Narayan and others Vs. State of U.P. and others).

Submissions

4. Learned counsel for the petitioner submits that in view of judgment in the case of Mahesh Narayan and others (supra) the petitioners are entitled for the benefit of old Pension Scheme.

5. Learned standing counsel submits that the petitioners are not entitled for the benefit of Old Pension Scheme inasmuch as they were appointed without any delay and much after the Old Pension Scheme was abolished.

Discussion and Findings

6. I have carefully considered the submissions of learned counsels for the parties.

7. The sole basis of filing the present writ petition is the judgment of this Court in the case of Mahesh Narayan and others (supra). The relevant portion of the judgment in the case of Mahesh Narayan and others (supra), is reproduced below:-

"From the perusal of judgments of Satyesh Kumar Mishra (Supra) and Firangi Prasad (Supra), there is no doubt on the point that similar dispute was before this Court in the matter of Satyesh Kumar Mishra (Supra), which was dismissed by this Court against which Special Appeal Defective No. 480 of 2016 is pending. It is also not disputed that legal issue involved in the matter of Satyesh Kumar Mishra (Supra) was also before Division Bench of this Court in the matter of Firangi Prasad (Supra) where the Court has clearly held that on the fault of appointing authority in issuing appointment letter, petitioners cannot be put any type of disadvantage. It appears that at the time of deciding the matter of Satyesh Kumar Mishra (Supra), judgement of Firangi Prasad (Supra) was not placed before this Court, therefore, without considering the same, decision was given in the matter of Satyesh Kumar Mishra (Supra). Under such facts and circumstances, judgement of Satyesh Kumar Mishra (Supra) is per incuriam and cannot be treated as precedent in the present case and will not come in the rescue of respondents.

The controversy and question of law involved in the present case is squarely covered with the judgement of Firangi Prasad (Supra) as well as other judgments relied upon by learned counsel for the petitioners and Courts have taken consistant view that respondents cannot by their inaction deprive a candidate to his legitimate right.

So far as facts of the case are concerned, there is no dispute on the point that pursuant to advertisement No. A-3/E-1/2000, advertisement was issued in news paper on 22.12.2000 and as per order of this Court dated 29.12.2001 passed in Special Appeal No. 485 (S/B) of 2001 (supra), there was no legal impediment in completition of recruitment process, but dut to inaction on the part of respondents, it was completed only after dismissal of writ petition on 05.07.2005. Final selected list of selected candidate was published in daily newspaper 'Dainik Jagran' dated 12.03.2006 and thereafter appointment letters were issued. It is also not disputed that in between again in subsequent advertisement No. A-3/E-1/2002, recruitment was completed and candidates had been granted appointment prior to 01.04.2005 and getting the benefit of 'Old Pension Scheme'.

Therefore, considering the facts and circumstances of the case and legal position discussed herein above, writ petition is partly allowed and petitioners are excluded from the effect and operation of Notification dated 28.03.2005 and 07.04.2005 as it is in violation of Article 14 of Constitution of India as well as law laid down by the Courts.

Respondents are directed to include the petitioners under 'Old Pension Scheme' as provided in Rules, 1961 before amendment and be given all other consequential benefits."

8. Thus, in the case of Mahesh Narayan and others (supra) the facts were that Advertisement No. A-3/E-1/2000 was issued on 22.12.2000 for recruitment on the post of Junior Engineer (Civil) in irrigation department. As per order dated 29.12.2001 in Special Appeal No.485 (S/B) of 2001 there was no legal impediment in completion of recruitment process but due to inaction on the part of the authorities it was completed only after dismissal of writ petition No.57 of 2005 and the list of finally selected candidate was published in news paper on 12.3.2006 and thereafter appointment letters for the posts of Junior Engineer (Civil) Irrigation were issued. It has also been observed by this Court in the aforesaid case of Mahesh Narayan and others (supra) that during pendency of selection process a subsequent advertisement No.A-3/E-1/2002 was issued and recruitment was completed and appointment letters were issued prior to 1.4.2005 and the candidates so appointed under the subsequent advertisement were getting benefit of Old Pension Scheme. On these facts a coordinate Bench in the case of Mahesh

Narayan and others (supra) granted benefit of Old Pension Scheme to the petitioners of that writ petition holding that the action of the State in not giving benefit is violative of Article 14 of the Constitution of India.

9. Facts of the present case are entirely different. Neither there was any inaction on the part of the U.P. Secondary Education Services Selection Board or any authority of the State Government nor there was any delay in conducting the examination or declaring the result or completing the selection process. The selection process initiated by advertisement dated 30.9.2004 was expeditiously completed and appointment letters were issued to the petitioners as per admitted facts noted in Para 3 above. Therefore, the judgment in the case of Mahesh Narain and others (supra) does not support the case of the petitioners.

10. Undisputedly the advertisement in question for recruitment on the post of Trained Graduate Teachers in Non Government Aided High Schools and Inter Colleges was issued under the provisions of The Uttar Pradesh Subordinate Educational (Trained Graduate Grade) Service Rules, 1983 (hereinafter referred to as "The Rules 1983"). The petitioners participated in the recruitment process and were appointed under the aforesaid Rules 1983. Rule 4 provides for cadres of service. Rule 15 provides the procedure of direct recruitment. Rule 18 provides for appointment. Rule 3(g) defines "Member of the Service". It provides "Member of the Service" means a person substantively appointed under these rules or the rules or orders in force prior to the commencement of these rules to a post in the cadre of service. Rule 3(h) defines the word "service" to mean the Uttar Pradesh Subordinate Educational (Trained Graduate Grade) Service. Rule 3(i) defines the word "Substantive appointment" to mean an appointment not being an adhoc appointment, on a post in the cadre of service, made after selection in accordance with the rules and if there are no rules, in accordance with the procedure prescribed for the time being executive instructions issued by the Government.

11. Thus, under the Rules 1983, the petitioners No.1 to 5 became "Member of Service" on their substantive appointments on the posts in the cadre of service on 03.10.2006, 07.01.2006, 29.10.2005, 10.03.2006 and 03.10.2005 respectively, while the pension scheme was abolished much earlier in the month of March 2005. Therefore, the petitioners are not entitled for the benefit of the old pension scheme which was not in existence at the time of their appointments.

12. The view taken be me above, is also supported by the law laid by Hon'ble Supreme Court in State of Rajasthan Vs. Jagdish Narain Chaturvedi (2009) 12 SCC 49 (Para 18) in which it has been held that in order to become "Member of Service", a candidate must satisfy four conditions, namely, (i) the appointment must be in a substantive capacity; (ii) to a post in service i.e. in a substantive vacancy; (iii) made according to rules; (iv) within the quota prescribed for the source. An order of appointment will be effective only on communication vide Tagin Litin Vs. State of Arunachal Pradesh (1996)5 SCC 83. Although origin of Government Service is contractual but on appointment on a post or office, the person so appointed acquires a 'Status'. Then his rights and obligations are determined by statute or statutory rules which may be framed and may be altered unilaterally by the Government. Similar view has been taken by Hon'ble Supreme Court in Roshanlal Tandon Vs. Union of India AIR 1967 SC 1889 at 1894 approved in Union of India Vs. Tulsi Ram Patel AIR 1985 SC 1416 at 1437. Thus petitioners can not get benefit of old pension scheme which was abolished much prior to their appointments. The Old Pension Scheme was not part of the rules governing conditions of service of the petitioners.

13. For all the reasons aforestated, I do not find any merit in this writ petition. Consequently, the writ petition is dismissed. However, there shall be no order as to costs.

A. Education/Service Law – Recruitment - Each candidate necessarily must bear the consequences of his failure to fill up the application form correctly. (Para 20)
The error committed by the candidates cannot be said to be human in nature. The petitioners should have read the instructions that were issued time and again and should have correctly filled the entries relating to the marks obtained by them in their previous examinations. The contention that this was an error committed by the Computer Operator cannot simply be accepted. If the Courts were to accept such a plea of the petitioners, then this would result in a situation where the petitioners would get the benefit of a wrong if the wrong claim went unnoticed and if noticed the petitioners could always turn around and claim that this was a result of a human error. The error/errors committed by the petitioners are neither minor nor are human error/errors. (Para 11, 20)

3. Km. Archana Rastogi Vs State of U.P. & ors., 2012 (3) ADJ 219 (Para 7)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Prakash Padia, J.)

1. During lockdown period keeping in view the (COVID-19) pandemic, this case has been listed today in my chamber under the order of Hon'ble the Chief Justice.

2. Heard Sri Seemant Singh, learned counsel for the petitioner and Sri M. C. Chaturvedi, learned Additional Advocate General/learned Senior Counsel assisted by Sri Suresh Singh, learned Additional Chief Standing Counsel and Sri Rajesh Kumar Mishra, and Sri Vijay Shanker Mishra, learned Standing Counsel for the State and Sri P. D. Tripathi, learned counsel for the respondent-Basic Education Board through Video Conferencing.

3. The petitioner has preferred the present writ petition inter-alia with the following prayer-

"(a) Issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of Mandamus directing the respondents to accord an opportunity to rectify the incorrect entries made by the petitioners in their online application forms of Assistant Teacher Recruitment Examination 2019 submitted before the Secretary, Examination Regulatory Authority, U.P. Prayagraj relating to the details of different education qualifications.

(b) Issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of Mandamus directing the respondents to consider the petitioners on the basis of their original educational testimonials in the instant selection of 69000 posts of Assistant Teacher to be appointed in different Primary Schools of different districts of the State of Uttar Pradesh initiated vide Government Order dated 01.12.2018 issued by the Additional Chief Secretary, Government of U.P., Lucknow."

4. The facts in brief as narrated in the writ petition are that the petitioners applied for Assistant Teacher Recruitment Examination-2019. The petitioners duly appeared in the examination on 06.01.2019 and the result was declared on 12.05.2020 in which all the petitioners have been declared qualified having obtained the qualifying marks prescribed by the respondents. The petitioners have committed some human errors with regard to filling of their B.Ed marks inclusive of B.Ed. Theory and Practical, with regard to filling of B.Ed Roll Numbers, with regard to filling of marks of Graduation, High School and Intermediate and with regard to filling of marks relating to 2 year B.T.C. Training Course.

5. Learned counsel for the petitioners argued that the aforesaid human errors crept in the online application forms of the petitioners submitted by them online at the official website of the respondents. It is further argued that the mistakes committed by the petitioners are only human error. It is further argued that the direction be given to the concerned authority to decide the representation made by the petitioners as has been done in several cases by the different Coordinate Benches of this Court.

6. In paragraph 6 of the writ petition, it is contended that the petitioners no.1 to 45 are having the qualification of B.Ed, petitioners no.46 to 60 are having the qualification of two years B.T.C. Training Course and petitioner no.61 is having a qualification of D.Ed. and as such all the petitioners are fully eligible to apply for the examination in question. It is further stated in the writ petition that in the notification dated 12.5.2020 all the petitioners were declared qualified having obtained the qualifying marks in their respective category. The applicants, who have been declared qualified in the examination are eligible to apply further online application forms for the appointment on the post of Assistant Teachers to be appointed in different primary schools of different districts in the state of U.P. It is further stated in the writ petition that while submitting the online application forms for appointment on the post of Assistant Teacher, the petitioners will be required to mention their marks of the examination in question and the preference of district but the petitioners cannot make any change or correction with regard to the alleged incorrect entries made by them with regard to their educational testimonies.

7. Learned counsel for the petitioners also relied upon the two judgements delivered by two different Coordinate Benches of this Court in the following cases :-

(i) Writ Petition No.21117 of 2018 (Satyendra Kumar Shukla Vs. State of U.P. and others.)

(ii) Writ Petition No.19162 of 2018 (Sachin Sharma and others Vs. State of U.P.

Apart from the same, learned counsel for the petitioners also relied upon a Division Bench judgement of this Court in Special Appeal No.2312 of 2011 (Km. Archana Rastogi Vs. State of U.P. and others) reported in 2012 (3) ADJ 219 decided on 13.1.2012.

8. In view of the same it is contented by learned counsel for the petitioners that once any mistake has committed by the petitioners, the same should be rectified. In this regard the petitioners have also submitted representations to the Basic Education Board Prayagraj on 08.05.2020, 12.5.2020 and 17.3.2010. Copies of the said Representative are appended collectively as Annexure-7 to the writ petition.

9. From perusal of the facts as narrated above it appears that all the petitioners committed mistake while filling up their application forms. The basic mistakes were committed in respect of the marks adjudicated to them pertaining to B.Ed Examination, (Practical as well as Theory).

10. It further appears from perusal of the chart appended along-with the writ petition (Annexure 5 to the writ petition) that the petitioner no.1, Ashutosh Kumar Srivastava obtained 582 marks out of 1000 in respect of his B.Ed Examination but in the application form it is stated by him that out of total 400 marks he obtained 250 marks. It further appears from perusal of the chart that the petitioner no.2, Ajendra Singh obtained 682 marks out of 1115 in theory and 494 marks out of 635 in practical pertaining to his B.Ed examination but in the application form it is mentioned by him that he obtained 759 marks out of 1215 in respect of theory and 418 marks out of 535 in respect of practical examination.

Almost the similar mistakes were committed by all the petitioners.

11. From perusal of the record, the Court is of the opinion that the aforesaid mistakes are not a kind of human error but deliberately and willfully mistakes were committed by the petitioners while filling up their application forms.

12. This issue has also been examined in Special Appeal Defective No.117 of 2014 (Km. Richa Pandey v. Examination Regulatory Authority and Another) decided on 18.02.2014. The relevant observation is as follows:-

"The OMR sheets are provided to the candidates to speed up evaluation through help of computer. In case we accept the argument of learned counsel for the petitioner that the language in which the petitioner had written essay could be checked up by the examiner before feeding answer book into computer, the entire process of expediting the results will be lost. Where OMR sheets are to be examined with aid of the computer, it is not advisable and practical to direct that each OMR sheet should be checked by the examiners and the columns, which have not been filled up may be filled up by the examiner himself with the aid of the language used by the candidates for writing essay. We are informed by Standing Counsel that about seven lacs candidates had appeared in the test.

With such large number of candidates appearing in TET Examination 2013 it would not have been possible nor it was feasible for examiners to look into the answer sheets individually before feeding them into computer for correcting any mistakes.

We agree with the reasoning given by the learned Single Judge that where the applicant is not capable of correctly filling up the form, she is not entitled to any discretionary relief from the Court.

The special appeal is dismissed."

13. In Special Appeal No.834 of 2013 (Ram Manohar Yadav v. State of U.P. and 3 Ors.) decided on 30.05.2013, the Division Bench of this Court observed as follows:-

"We are not inclined to interfere in this special appeal because interference in such matters would result in thoroughly incompetent or utterly negligent persons becoming teachers and spoiling the future of the children whom they will teach.

If prospective teacher can not even correctly fill up the simple on line application form for his employment, it is obvious what he is going to teach if appointed. There are certain decisions cited on this issue. But none of them deal with this aspect whether under the discretionary jurisdiction of the Court under Article 226 of the Constitution of India such incompetent persons should be allowed to play with the future of the next generation.

Therefore, we are of the opinion that the petitioner/appellant should wait till he attains sufficient maturity and learns to be more careful in filling up the applications for jobs. The appeal is therefore, dismissed."

14. In Special Appeal Defective No.123 of 2014 (Arti Verma v. State of U.P. and 2 Ors.), a Division Bench of this Court observed that:-

"The appellant made an on-line application for engagement as Shiksha Anudeshak (Arts) for 2012-13 on a contract basis. In the application, the appellant claimed to have belonged to the Freedom Fighters' category, which was admittedly not the category to which the appellant could have claimed. The name of the appellant was shown in the select list of candidates belonging to the Freedom Fighters' Category. The Secretary to the State Government rejected the representation filed by the appellant for correcting the error in the on line application. The learned Single Judge dismissed the petition filed by the appellant under Article 226 of the Constitution for setting aside the order passed by the Secretary noting that under the declaration given by the appellant while filling up the application, it was stated that the candidature could be rejected if any discrepancy was found. The learned Single Judge has also relied upon a judgment of the Division Bench rendered in Ram Manohar Yadav Vs. State of U.P. & three Ors., (Special Appeal-834 of 2013).

In the judgment of the Division Bench in Ram Manohar Yadav (supra) it was observed that where an applicant has shown his incompetence or negligence in not not even correctly filling up a simple on line application form for employment, interference of the High Court under Article 226 of the Constitution was not warranted.

*However, learned counsel appearing on behalf of the appellant relied upon a judgment of a Division Bench in P*uspraj Singh Vs. State of U.P. & Ors., (Special Appeal-75 of 2013). That is a case where the appellant had wrongly described himself as a female candidate. On these facts, the Division Bench accepted the contention that human error had caused an incorrect on line entry, since there was no reason for the appellant to make such a declaration and that he did not stand to gain anything by making such an incorrect entry.

In the present case, the appellant claimed the benefit of Freedom Fighters category. The contention that this was as a result of an error committed by the Computer Operator cannot simply be accepted for the reason that the appellant would necessarily be responsible for any statement which he made on line. If the Courts were to accept such a plea of the appellant, that would result in a situation where the appellant would get the benefit of a wrong category if the wrong claim went unnoticed and if noticed, the appellant could always turn around and claim that this was as a result of human error. Each candidate necessarily must bear the consequences of his failure to fill up the application form correctly. No fault can, therefore, be found in rejecting the application for correction when the candidate himself has failed to make a proper disclosure or where, as in the present case, the application is submitted under a wrong category. Interference of the High Court under Article 226 of the Constitution is clearly not warranted in such matters as it creates grave uncertainty since the selection process cannot be finally completed. Moreover, in the present case, the appointment was of a contractual nature for a period of eleven months. Hence, considering the matter from any perspective, the learned Single Judge was not in error in dismissing the petition under Article 226 of the Constitution.

15. This Court cannot permit another window of argument as an alternative one to grant an appropriate relief of alternative remedy of representation prayed for. Even otherwise this Court has already taken view in Writ - A No. 841 of 2018 (Kanchan Bala & 172 Ors v. State of U.P. & 4 Ors) thus:-

"23. The Court has proceeded to examine the record in question and found that clear instructions were given in the first page of question booklet directing the candidates to correctly fill up the OMR sheet and any error committed by the candidate cannot be corrected by the authority. The petitioners could not successfully mark the circle/bubble on the answer sheet showing correct registration number, roll number, booklet series or language-II attempted. Consequently, the result of the petitioners have been declared as invalid registration number/roll number. After the declaration of the result in question, they have proceeded to make a request that the correction is required. It is too late in the day to make such request by the petitioners, inasmuch as, OMR sheet is examined by the computer on the basis of columns that have been filled up by an incumbent and, in view of this, once final result has been declared and there is no provision to carry out any correction in the OMR sheet, then no relief can be accorded to the petitioners, especially keeping in view the dictum of Division Bench of this Court in Smt. Arti Verma Vs. State of U.P. & others and the judgment of learned Single Judge in Ritu Chauhan's case (supra), wherein once the Division Bench as well as learned Single Judge had already rejected the similar arguments as well as the claim set up by the candidates appeared in the TET-2013, 2016 and 2017, then there is no reason or occasion for this Court to take a different view in the matter.

24. The Court is also conscious that in the garb of minor discrepancy for rectifying such human error in the OMR sheet, the Court cannot give any liberty to the respondent to intervene in the matter at this stage, which would also have very serious consequence for the fairness of entire selection. Coupled with the above, I am clearly of the view that the action taken by the respondent is neither arbitrary nor illegal. In such circumstances, it is not legally permissible to interfere with the decision of the respondent."

16. The said judgment has come to be affirmed in Special Appeal No. 90 of 2018 (Jai Karan Singh And 52 Ors v. State of U.P. And 4 Ors.) in following terms:

"The error committed by the candidates cannot be said to be minor in nature. It is the Registration Number, Roll Number that determines identity of the candidates. The candidates who appeared in the examination were mature students and were to be appointed as Assistant Teachers in institution. They should have read the instructions that was issued time and again and should have correctly filled the entries relating to Roll Number, Registration Number, Question Booklet Series and Language attempted. The entries were, however inaccurately filled as a result of which the scanner has not been able to process the result.

The learned Judge was, therefore, justified in dismissing the writ petitions. The Special Appeal is, accordingly, dismissed."

17. The law in this connection is also well settled by the Supreme Court in the case of Karnataka Public Service Commission and Ors. Vs. B. M. Vijaya Shankar and Ors. reported at AIR 1992 SC 952. The Supreme Court was pleased to hold that the Competitive examinations are required to be conducted by the Commission for public service in strict secrecy to get the best brain. It was held that the instructions contained in the answer-sheet should be complied with in its letter and spirit. The operative portion of the aforesaid judgment is quoted below:-

"Competitive examinations are required to be conducted by the Commission for public service in strict secrecy to get the best brain. Public interest requires no compromise on it. Any violation of it should be visited strictly. Absence of any expectation of hearing in matters which do not affect any interest and call for immediate action, such as the present one, where it would have delayed declaration of list of other candidates which would have been more unfair and unjust are rare but well recognised exceptions to the rule of natural justice. It cannot be equated with where a student is found copying in the examination or an inference arises against him for copying due to similarity in answers of number of other candidates or he is charged with misconduct or misbehavior. Direction not to write roll number was clear and explicit. It was printed on the first page of every answer book. Once it was violated the issue of bonafide and honest mistake did not arise. Its consequences, even, if not provided did not make any difference in law. The action could not be characterised as arbitrary. It was not denial of equal opportunity. The reverse may be true."

18. In so far as the cases cited by the learned counsel for the petitioners are concerned, the same will not help the petitioners since in large number of cases observations were duly made by different Division Benches of this Court that in case any mistake was committed by the candidates during the course of examination, the writ court will not interfere in the matter.

19. In so far as the Division Bench judgement cited by the counsel for the petitioners are concerned, the aforesaid judgement has already been dealt with by another Division Bench of this Court in Special Appeal No. 90 of 2018 (Jai Karan Singh And 52 Ors v. State of U.P. And 4 Ors.). The following observations were made by the Division Bench in the aforesaid case :-

"Likewise, in Archana Rastogi v. State of U.P. and Others reported in 2012 (3) ADJ 219, the appellant had mentioned the marks obtained in the High School as '256' whereas he had actually obtained '356'. It is, in such circumstances, the Court directed marks could be corrected. Here also, there was only one candidate and no process by electronic scanning had been undertaken."

20. The error committed by the candidates cannot be said to be human in nature. The petitioners should have read the instructions that were issued time and again and should have correctly filled the entries relating to the marks obtained by them in their previous examinations. The contention that this was an error committed by the Computer Operator cannot simply be accepted. If the Courts were to accept such a plea of the petitioners, then this would result in a situation where the petitioners would get the benefit of a wrong if the wrong claim went unnoticed and if noticed the petitioners could always turn around and claim that this was a result of a human error. Each candidate necessarily must bear the consequences of his failure to fill up the application form correctly. From perusal of the record, I am of the opinion that the error/errors committed by the petitioners are neither minor nor are human error/errors.

21. In view of the facts as narrated above as well as the law laid down by the differnt Division Bench of this Court from time to time as well as by the Apex Court, no relief could be granted to the petitioners.

22. The writ petition is dismissed.

No illegality could be found in the selection in question. Court held that it is not a case of regularization since selection and appointments have already been made. Present petition prays for quashing Office Memorandums dated 08.01.2003, 09.01.2003 and 10.01.2003, issued by Superintendent of Police, Banda.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Sudhir Agarwal, J.)

1. This writ petition under Article 226 of the Constitution of India has been filed by eleven petitioners, namely, Ram Sanehi, Mool Chandra, Siv Ram, Usman Khan, Kamlesh Kumar, Jamal Khan, Dharmdas, Shiv Ratan, Ram Kripal Yadav, Lakhan Lal and Ganga Ram, praying for issue of a writ of certiorari to quash Office Memorandums dated 08.01.2003, 09.01.2003 and 10.01.2003 (Annexures-2, 3 and 4 to the writ petition respectively). Petitioners have also prayed for issue of a writ of mandamus commanding respondents to regularize them on the post of Follower, a Group-D post.

2. Petitioners have pleaded that a press notification dated 21.12.2002 was issued by Superintendent of Police, Banda inviting applications for filling 25 vacancies of Group-D posts in Police Department in District Banda. The break up of vacancies are given as under:

Name of Post	Number of vacancies
Follower/Cook/Kahar	23
Waterman	01
Safai Karmchari	01

3. The notified vacancies were in the scale of Rs. 2550-3200. It was stated that selection shall be made on the basis of interview which shall be held on 08.01.2003 at Police Lines, Banda. The selection was held and Respondents-4 to 28 were declared selected vide office Memorandums dated 08.01.2003, 09.01.2003 and 10.01.2003.

4. Aforesaid selection has been challenged on the ground that petitioners were engaged to discharge duties of various nature, namely, Cook, Barbar, Carpenter etc. Petitioners-1 and 2 were engaged from time to time since 1990; Petitioners-3 and 4 since 1995; Petitioner-5 since 1996; Petitioners-6 to 8 since 1997 and Petitioners-9 to 11 since 1998. Most petitioners worked as Cook while Petitioner-2 worked as Barber and Petitioner-11 as Carpenter. Initially petitioners were paid a consolidated pay of Rs. 540/- per month which later increased to Rs. 1050/- per month. Engagement and working of petitioners continued with a break of two or three days just to defeat their claim of continuous service. Respondent-2, for regular appointment was directed to give preference by U.P. Police Headquarters, Allahabad vide order dated 30.11.2002 to persons who were already working but that was ignored while making selection of Respondents-4 to 28. Petitioners, who are Scheduled Castes, were interviewed on 08.01.2003, those who are Other Backward Class were interviewed on 09.01.2003 and General candidates were interviewed on 10.01.2003. Selection Committee consisted of Sri S.N. Upadhyay, the then Superintendent of Police, Banda as Chairman. Sub-Divisional Magistrate, Attarra and Circle Officer, Baberru were Members. Selection was made in a very arbitrary manner inasmuch as Respondent-4, Ashok Kumar is brother-in-law of Sri Dev Dutt, DIG, Chitrakoot Dham; Respondent-5, Narendra Pal is recommendee of Sri Dinkar, Minister; Respondent-6, Ramesh Kumar's brother-in-law is in Secretariat; Respondent-7, Girija Kumar is a man of Sri R.N. Srivastava, I.G. Banda; Respondent-8 is a man of S.O. Maton and similarly other selectees are connected with persons enjoying high position in Government. Besides petitioners, who were working as Follower in Banda, some others similarly working, have also not been selected except, Respondents-7, 9, , 12, 14, 17, 21 and 22. With regard to relationship of some respondents, and the factum that those who were selected and earlier working for lesser period, averments are contained in paras 11 and 12 to writ petition, which read as under:

"11. That the respondent no. 4 Ashok Kumar is brother-in-law of DIG Shri Dev Dutt Chitrakoot Dham, respondent no. 5 Narendra Pal is recommendee of Shri Dinkar Minister, respondent no. 6 Ramesh Kumar is brother-in-law in Secretariat, respondent no. 7 Girijia Kumar is a man of Shri R.N. Srivastava I.G. Banda, respondent no. 8 is a man of S.O. Maton who brought him at the time of interview and similarly other persons who have been selected are men of the Selection Committee are of some other persons enjoying high position.

12. That, in addition to the petitioner there were other persons working as Followers in Banda who appeared in the interview but have not been selected except Girija Kumar respondent no. 7 who was working for one year, respondent no. 9 who was working as Sweeper, respondent no. 12 Mohd. Rafiq worked for two or three months and was personal Barber to DIB, respondent no. 14 Rajesh Kumar was working since 1998, respondent no. 17 Shri Krishan Gupta was working quite long time, respondent no. 21 Abdul Hafiz was working sine 1996, respondent no. 22 Raj Narain was working since 1999."

5. It is said that selection is vitiated on account of favouratism and nepotism; Petitioners-1 and 2 were entitled to be considered for regularization under U. P. Regularization of Daily Wages Appointments on Group 'D' Posts Rules, 2001 (hereinafter referred to as the "Rules, 2001"); Selection held on 8th, 9th and 10th January, 2003 is neither fair nor impartial but vitiated on account of arbitrariness; Petitioners ought to have been given preference but denied; Petitioners were entitled for 15 marks on the ground of their working for more than three years as Followers as per Rule 9(3) of U.P. Group 'D' Employees Service Rules, 1985 (hereinafter referred to as "Rules, 1985") but said benefit has not been given hence entire selection is bad and illegal.

6. A counter affidavit has been filed on behalf of Respondents-1 to 3 sworn by Sri Ram Bodh, Additional Superintendent of Police, Banda. With regard to engagement of petitioners from time to time facts are not disputed but allegations of favouratism, nepotism and arbitrariness are denied. It is said that petitioners could not secure qualifying marks and having not been found suitable, not selected. Allegations of relationship with high officials are denied and it is said that selection has been made as per performance of candidates before Selection Committee; there was no restriction with respect of districts to which candidates belong and claim of regularisation of petitioners is denied. It is not disputed that under U.P. Police Headquarters order dated 30.11.2002 those who were worked as substitute were required to be given preference but not if other candidates have performed better. Petitioners do not satisfy the definition of "retrenched employee" and, therefore, claim set up on the basis of Rules, 1985 has been denied.

7. Respondents-4 to 28 have also filed a collective counter affidavit which is sworn by Respondent-4, Ashok Kumar. Herein also allegations of relationship, favouratism and nepotism are denied and it is said that allegations have been made by petitioners mala fide.

8. Copy of Police Headquarters letter dated 30.11.2002 has been filed as Annexure-1 to supplementary counter affidavit and said letter reads as under:

''उपर्युक्त विषयक शासनादेश संख्याः 445 एम/6–पु–1–2002, दिनांक 15.11.2002 की संलग्न छायाप्रति का अवलोकन करें एवं निहित शर्तों को दृष्टिगत रखते हुये संलग्न प्रपत्र में पदवार दर्शायी गयी रिक्तियों एवं अधिकता के विवरण के अनुसार तथा शासन के पत्रांक : 20/7/1986–कार्मिक–2 (1) दिनांक 0–9–86 द्वारा अधिसूचना समूह ''ग'' कर्मचारी सेवा (प्रथम संशोधन) नियमावली 1986 के अन्तर्गत दिये गये प्राविधानों के अनुसार अपने अधीनस्थ जनपदों के प्रभारियों को दिनांक 15.01.2003 तक शासन द्वारा समय≤ पर निर्गत वर्तमान में प्रचलित आरक्षण नीति को ध्यान में रखते हुए भर्ती की कार्यवाही सुनिश्चित करने हेतु निर्देशित करने की कृपा करें।

9. Petitioners have filed rejoinder affidavit reiterating the averments made in writ petition but with regard to allegations of relationship of some of selected candidates, no material has been placed on record to substantiate the same.

10. A further supplementary counter affidavit has been filed wherein para 11 of writ petition has been replied more specifically as under:

"5. That it is further submitted humbly that the facts mentioned in paragraph no. 11 of the writ petition are also denied vide counter affidavit sworn on 26.2.2003 (dated 3.3.2003). It is further humbly submitted that the allegations made in paragraph 11 of the writ petition are totally false and frivolous having no substance. It is wrong to state that respondent No. 4 Ashok Kumar is selected because of her is brother in law of DIG Sri Dev Dutt, Chitrakoot Dham. It is further wrong to state that respondent no. 5 Narendra Pal is recommendee of Sri Dinkar Kumar. It is further wrong to state that respondent no. 6 Ramesh Kumar is brother in law in

Secretariat. It is further humbly submitted that in paragraph under reply the allegations with regard to selection of respondent no. 6 prima facie appears false allegation, as a matter of fact non can be the brother in law in Secretariat. It is further wrong to state that respondent no. 7 Girija Kumar is main of Sri R.N. Srivastava I.G. Banda and his candidature is considered as such. It is further humbly submitted that there was no post existing as I.G. Banda. It is further wrong to state that respondent no. 8 is a man of S.O. Maton who brought him at the time of interview. It is further wrong to state that other persons who have been selected are man of selection committee. It is further humbly submitted that none of the selected candidate is family member, relative, friend of the member of the selection committee. It is further wrong to state that some other selected candidates have been selected on account of the persons enjoying high posts. It is further humbly submitted that no appointment is made

11. A select list of all the candidates has also been placed on record as Annexure-8 to aforesaid supplementary counter affidavit sworn on 03.12.2011.

12. Sri W.H. Khan, learned Senior Advocate appearing for petitioners has submitted a written submission and reiterated the same orally also. He also placed reliance on Jagannath Prasad Sharma vs. The State of U.P. and others, AIR 1961 SC 1245; Ajay Hasia and others vs. Khalid Mujib Sehravardi and others, 1981(1) SCC 722; Manjul Kumar and another vs. State of U.P., 2007(7) AWC 7712; Krishna Murari vs. State of U.P. and others, 2012(6) AWC 5571; Satyendra Kumar Singh and others vs. State of U.P. and others, 2013(3) ESC 1226 (All); and, Vijay Kumar Gaur vs. State of U.P. and another, 2017(1) AWC 552.

13. On the contrary, learned Standing Counsel appearing for Respondents-1, 2 and 3 contended that selection has been made fairly; there is no material to substantiate the allegations of favouratism nepotism etc.; pleadings are vague and unsubstantiated; and, petitioners have not shown any legal right of regularization under any statute. These arguments are adopted by learned counsel appearing for Respondents-4 to 28 and he has also placed reliance on this Court's decision in State of U.P. vs. Chaturth Shreni Karmachari Sangh and others, 2006(4) ESC 2888 (All).

14. The rival submissions of the counsels, in my view, give rise to following questions:

(i) Whether selection is vitiated on account of favouritism and nepotism by selecting the candidates who are allegedly related to highly placed officials, as stated in paras 11 and 12 of the writ petition.

(ii) Whether selection of Respondents-4 to 28 is otherwise vitiated in law.

(iii) Whether there is any illegality in selection justifying inference of this Court.

15. Coming to first question, I find that specific relationship has been stated by petitioners in respect of some of the candidates but the same has been denied by respondents in counter affidavit and again in para 5 of supplementary counter affidavit. Petitioners have not placed any material to demonstrate and prove the alleged relationship except oral assertions made in paras 11 and 12 of writ petition which have been denied by respondents very categorically. In these facts and circumstances and in absence of any material on record to prove the alleged relationship of some selected candidates with superior officials, I find no substance in the allegation that selection is vitiated on account of nepotism and favouritism. Question (i) is answered against petitioners.

16. Now coming to Question (ii), the claim is that petitioners are entitled for preference as stated vide Police Headquarter's letter dated 30.11.2002. It is not disputed by learned counsel for petitioners that regular selection was to be made in accordance with Rules, 1985. No provision in the said Rules has been shown providing any preference to be given to petitioners on account of the fact that they have worked as daily wage employees or otherwise in the Department. Some weightage has been provided for "retrenched employees" but I find that petitioners do not satisfy the definition of "retrenched employees". Here I may consider the relevant provision deal with Retrenched Employees so as to find out whether petitioners can be said to Retrenched Employees or not.

17. U.P. Retrenched Employees Recruitment Rules, 1967 (hereinafter referred to as the "Rules 1967") was the first to be framed in this regard providing certain benefits to retrenched employees. The "retrenched employee" was defined in Rule 2(b). Rule-3 of Rules, 1967 provides that the said rules shall remain in force for a period of three years and thereafter for such period as notified by the Governor in consultation with the Commission. The said rules were applicable to all services and posts under the rule making control of the Governor, which were to be filled in wholly, or partly by direct recruitment. The aforesaid rules continued to remain in force upto October, 1971.

18. In 1975, for recruitment in Ministerial Cadre in the Subordinate Offices, statutory rules under proviso to Article 309 of the Constitution of India were framed, namely, "The Subordinate Offices Ministerial Staff (Direct Recruitment) Rules, 1975" (hereinafter referred to as "Rules, 1975") published in the Gazette dated 29.7.1975. The rule-making authority declares that the said rules are being enacted in supersession of all existing rules and orders on the subject and for recruitment of ministerial staff in the subordinate Government offices in the State. The preface of Rules, 1975, reads as under:

"In exercise of powers conferred by the proviso to Article 309 of the Constitution, and in supersession of all existing rules and orders on the subject, the Governor is pleased to make the following rules for recruitment of ministerial staff in the subordinate Government offices in the State."

19. Rule 3 of Rules, 1975, which give it overriding effect, reads as under:

"3. Effect of inconsistency with other rules.- In the event of any inconsistency between these rules and any specific service rules:

(1) the provisions contained in these rules prevail to the extent of the inconsistency in case the specific rules were made prior to the commencement of these rules; and

(2) the provisions contained in the specific rules shall prevail in case they are made after the commencement of these rules."

20. Rule 4(gg) of Rules, 1975 provides the definition of "Retrenched Employee" and reads as under:

"(gg) "Retrenched Employee" means a person who was employed on a post under this rule making power of the Governor-

(i) in permanent, temporary or officiating capacity;

(ii) for a total minimum period of one year, out which at least 3 months service must have been continuous service.

(iii) whose services were or may be dispensed with due to reduction in or winding up of the establishment; and

*(iv) in respect of whom a certificate of being a retrenched employee has been issued by the Appo*inting Authority but does not include a person employed on ad hoc basis only."

21. Rules, 1975 initially, as enacted, did not specifically contain any provision giving any relaxation to "Retrenched Employee" but Rule 13-A was inserted by Notification dated 06.07.1977 for a period of three years from the date of its commencement and it reads as under:

"13 A. Relaxation for retrenched employees.-(1) A retrenched employee shall be given exemption from the upper age-limit to the extent of the period of service rendered by him to the State Government together with the period spent without a Government job as a result of the retrenchment.

(2) A retrenched employee, who on the date of his first appointment in the service of the State Government possessed the academic qualifications prescribed on such date for the post now being applied for, shall be deemed to satisfy the requirement of academic qualifications for such post.

(3) For the purposes of this rule, the expression "retrenched employee" means a person who was employed in any service or on any post under the rule-making control of the Governor whether in a substantive, officiating or temporary capacity, and had served continuously for a period of not less than one year, and whose services are, whether before or after the commencement of these rules, terminated or liable to termination, on account of reduction of establishment, and in respect of whom a certificate of being a retrenched employee has been issued by the appointing authority concerned, but does not include a person who was appointed on an ad hoc basis.

Explanation- A person appointed in accordance with the procedure prescribed in the recruitment rules or orders applicable to the service or post concerned shall be deemed to have been appointed on an ad hoc basis."

22. Consistent with 1975 Rules a Government Order No. 27/2/1974-Karmik-2 dated 6.7.1977 was published containing definition of "retrenched employee" and on the same date, another Government Order No. 41/2/1967-Karmik-2 dated 6.7.1977 was published for giving effect to the provisions of 1975 Rules and for guidance and clarification of the concerned officials. The aforesaid Government Order relevant for the present purpose is reproduced as under:

''शा० सं०–41/2/67–कार्मिक–2,
दिनांक जुलाई 6, 1977

विषयः राज्याधीन सेवाओं में वर्ग–3 व 4 के छंटनीशुदा कर्मचारियों को खपाने की व्यवस्था।

राज्याधीन कार्यालयों के छंटनीशुदा कर्मचारियों को भावी रिक्तियों में खपाने के लिए वर्ष 1967 में एक नियमावली बनाई गई थी, जो अक्टुबर, 1971 तक प्रभावी रही। उसके पश्चात मितव्ययिता के आधार पर अधिष्ठानों में कमी किये जाने अथवा अन्य प्रशासनिक कारणों से राज्य के विभिन्न कार्यालयों में वर्ग 3 तथा 4 के कर्मचारियों की छंटनी करना अनिवार्य हो गया तथा छअनीशुदा कर्मचारियों को खपाने का प्रश्न शासन के समक्ष पुनः उपस्थित हो गया।

2. इस सम्बन्ध में मुझे यह कीने का निर्देश हुआ है कि इस समस्या पर सम्यक् विचार करने के उपरान्त छंटनीशुदा कर्मचारियों को राज्याधीन कार्यालयों (अप्राविधिक तथा लोक सेवा आयोग की परिधि के बाहर के पदों) में होने वाली रिक्तियों मे खपाने के लिए शासन ने अब निम्नलिखित निर्णय लिये हैंः

(क) आयु सीमा के छूट–

ऐसे कर्मचारियों ने जितने वर्ष की सेवा अपनी छअनी के पूर्व की हो तथा जितनी अवधि के लिए वह छअनी के कारण सेवा से बाहर रहे हों उतने वर्ष की आयु सीमा से उन्हें छूट प्रदान कर दी जाय।

(ख) शैक्षिक योग्यता के छूट–

यदि ऐसे कर्मचारी अपनी पूर्व नियुक्ति के समय, जिस पद के लिए वह अब अभ्यर्थी हैं उस समय उस पद की निर्धारित शैक्षिक अर्हता पूरी करते हैं।

(ग) सुविधाओं की अवधि–

उपर्युक्त सुविधायें इस शासनादेश के जारी होने के दिनांक से 3 वर्ष के लिए ही मान्य रहेंगी।

(घ) छटनीशुदा कर्मचारियों की परिभाषा–

छटनीशुदा कर्मचारी की परिभाषा वही होगी जो कार्मिक अनुभाग–2 की अधिसूचना संख्या 27/2/1974 –कार्मिक (2) दिनांक 6 जुलाई, 1977 में दी हुई है और जो सुलभ सदर्भ हेतु नीचे उद्धृत की जाती है।

''छटनी किया गया कर्मचारी'' का तात्पर्य उस व्यक्ति से है जो राज्यपाल के नियम बनाने के नियन्त्रण में किसी सेवा में या किसी पद पर मौलिक सीनापन्न, या अस्थायी रूप से नियोजित था और जिसने कम से कम एक वर्ष की अवधि तक लगातार सेवा की हो और जिसकी सेवायें इस नियमावली के प्रारम्भ होने के पूर्व या पश्चात अधिष्ठान में कमी किये जाने के कारण समाप्त की जा सके और जिनके सम्बन्ध में सम्बद्ध नियुक्ति प्राधिकारी द्वारा छटनी किया गया कर्मचारी होने का प्रमाण–पत्र जारी किया गया हो, किन्तु इसमें ऐसा व्यक्ति सम्मिलित नहीं है जिसे तदर्थ आधार पर नियुक्त किया गया हो।

स्पष्टीकरण– सम्बद्ध सेवा या पर पर प्रयोग भर्ती नियमावली या आदेशों में विहित प्रक्रिया के अनुसार नियुक्त व्यक्ति को तदर्थ आधार पर नियुक्त किया गया नहीं समझा जायेगा।

3. ऐसे छटनीशुदा कर्मचारी जो वर्ग 3 (टपबम बेंदबमससवत समूह ग) के लिपिक वर्गीय पदों, जिनका न्यूनतम वेतनमान 200–320 रूपये

"GO No. 41/2/67-Karmik-2

Dated: July 06, 1977

Subject: Provision for absorption of retrenched employees of Class -III and IV in the services under the State.

In order to absorb the retrenched employees of the offices under the State against future vacancies, rules had been framed in the year 1967 which remained in force upto October 1971. Thereafter, on account of reduction in the establishments necessitated by frugality or for other administrative reasons, it has become necessary to go for retrenchment of Class -III and IV employees in several offices of the State, and the question of absorbing the retrenched employees has arisen again before the Government.

2. Exemption in the age limit be accorded to the employees to the extent of the period of service rendered by him prior to retrenchment together with the period of his being out of service due to such retrenchment person who was appointed on an adhoc basis.

Explanation - A person appointed in accordance with the procedure prescribed in the recruitment rules or orders applicable to the service of the post concerned shall not be deemed to have been appointed on adhoc basis.

उपर्युक्त विषयक समसंख्यक शासनादेश दिनांक 6 जुलाई, 1977 में प्रदत्त सुविधाओं की मान्य अवधि 5 जुलाई, 1980 को समाप्त हो गई है। शासन की जानकारी में यह बात आई है कि छटनी शुदा कर्मचारियों की समस्या का निदान पूर्ण रूप से नहीं हो सका है अतः इस विषय पर पुनः विचार किया गया।

2. मुझे यह कहने का निर्देश हुआ है कि इस समस्या पर समुचित विचारोपरान्त छंटनीशुदा कर्मचारियों को राज्याधीन कार्यालयों में होने वाली भावी रिक्तियों (अप्राविधिक तथा लोक सेवा आयोग की परिधि से बाहर के पदों) में खपाने के लिये शासन ने निम्नलिखित निर्णय लिये हैः

(क) अधिकतम आयु सीमा से छूटः

ऐसे कर्मचारियों ने जितने वर्ष अपनी छंटनी से पूर्व की हो तथा जितनी अवधि के लिये वह छंटनी के कारण सेवा से बाहर रहे हों उतने वर्ष की अधिकतम आयु सीमा से उन्हें छूट प्रदान कर दी जाय परन्तु प्रतिबन्ध यह है कि यह अवधि किसी भी दशा में 10 वर्ष से अधिक नहीं होगी।

(ग) सुविधाओं की अवधिः

उपर्युक्त सुविधाये इस शासनादेश के जारी होने की तिथि से तीन वर्ष के लिये मान्य रहेगी।

''छंटनी किया गया कर्मचारी'' का तात्पर्य उस व्यक्ति से है जो राज्यपाल के नियम बनाने के नियंत्रण में किसी सेवा में या पद पर मौलिक, सीानापन्न अथवा अस्थायी रूप से नियोजित था और जिसने कम से कम 3 मास की निरन्तर सेवा की हो परन्तु कुल मिलाकर यह फुटकर खण्डित सेवा भी एक वर्ष की पूरी हो गई हो और जिसकी सेवायें अधीनस्थ कार्यालय लिपिक वर्ग (सीधी भर्ती) (चतुर्थ संशोंधन) नियमावली, 1979 तथा चतुर्थ वर्ग कर्मचारी सेवा (तृतीय संशोधन) नियमावली 1979 के प्रभावी होने के पूर्व या पश्चात अधिष्ठान में कमी के कारण समाप्त कर दी गई हो या समाप्त कर दी जाये और जिसके सम्बन्ध में सम्बद्ध नियुक्ति प्राधिकारी द्वारा छटनी किया गया कर्मचारी होने का प्रमाण–पत्र जारी किया गया हो किन्तु उसमें ऐसा व्यक्ति सम्मिलित नहीं होगा जिसे तदर्थ आधार पर नियुक्त किया गया हो।

Deputy Secretary"
(English Translation by Court)

25. Vide Notification dated 16.03.1985 the Governor promulgated a new set of Rules, namely, The U.P. Subordinate Offices Ministerial Staff (Direct Recruitment) Rules, 1985 (in short 'Group C Rules, 1985'), in supersession of existing rules and orders on the subject as is apparent from the following:

"In pursuance of the provisions of Clause (3) of Article 348 of the Constitution, the U.P. Governor is pleased to order the publication of the following English translation of Notification No. 20/3-82-Personnel-2-85, dated March 16, 1985.

In exercise of the powers conferred by the proviso to Article 309 of the Constitution, and in supersession of all existing rules and orders on the subject, the Governor is pleased to make the following rules regulating recruitment of ministerial staff in the Subordinate Government Offices in the State."

26. Rule-3 of Group C Rules, 1985 also gives it overriding effect over any inconsistent existing rule and Rule-4(i) defines "retrenched employee" which reads as under:

"Retrenched employee" means a person-

(i) who was employed on a post under the rule making power of the Governor, in permanent, temporary or officiating capacity for a total minimum period of one year, out of which at least three months' service must have been continuous service;

(ii)whose services were or may be dispensed with due to reduction in or winding up of the establishment; and

(iii) in respect of whom a certificate of being retrenched employee has been issued by the appointing authority;

but does not include a person employed on ad hoc basis only."

27. Similarly for Group D Employees, Rules, 1985 were framed wherein also the concept of Retrenched Employees is same as in Rules means for Group C Employees.

28. Thereafter U.P. Procedure of Direct Recruitment for Group-C Posts (Outside the Purview of U.P. Public Service Commission) Rules, 1998 (hereinafter referred to as the "Group C Rules, 1998") were promulgated on

09.06.1998. It would be appropriate to refer the declaration made under the aforesaid rules which was not in the same terms as it was in Rules, 1975 and Group C Rules, 1985 that the same are being enacted in supersession of all the existing provisions and on the contrary, Group C Rules, 1998 only makes a declaration of making of the rules by the Hon'ble Governor and reads as under:

"In exercise of the powers conferred by the proviso to Article 309 of the Constitution, the Governor is pleased to make the following rules:"

29. Rule-2 of Group C Rules, 1998 gives these rules overriding effect over inconsistent existing rules. Rule 5(3)(c) provides weightage which is admissible to a "retrenched employee" for recruitment in Rules, 1998. Admittedly, Rules 1998 did not contain any definition of "retrenched employee". For the purposes of the case in hand, since recruitment has been made in Rules 1998, the subsequent enactment came into force on 20.08.2001 may not be necessary but since the argument has been advanced referring to the provisions of the subsequent enactment also, I may notice the same.

30. The Hon'ble Governor further promulgated another set of rules in 2001, namely, The Uttar Pradesh Procedure for Direct Recruitment for Group "C" posts (Outside the Purview of the Uttar Pradesh Public Service Commission) Rules, 2001 (in short the "Rules, 2001"). The aforesaid rules have been framed in supersession of all the existing rules and orders on the subject as is apparent from the following declaration made under the Rules:

"In exercise of the powers conferred by the proviso to Article 309 of the Constitution and in suppression existing rules and other on the subject, the Governor is pleased to make the following rules."

31. Rules, 2001, admittedly does not contain any definition of 'retrenched employee' but provides certain concessions in recruitment to a 'retrenched employee' vide Rule 6(6)(b) etc.

32. The history and the effect of rules pertaining to retrenched employees has been considered in detail by a Division Bench of this Court in Sayed Mohammd Mahfooj Vs. State of U.P. and others, 2007(2) ALJ 628 and a Single Judge judgment of this Court in Ajit Raizada & Others Vs. State Of U.P. Thru' Secy. & Others, 2011(6) ADJ 511 and I find the view taken hereinabove is in conformity to the aforesaid binding precedents.

33. Learned counsel for petitioners also could not show any provision under which Police Headquarter has any power to give direction to selection committee to do something which is not provided under Rules and/ or to give some priority or preference which is not contemplated in Rules.

34. Lastly, the question of preference arise only when all other things are satisfied and preference cannot be treated as a right of appointment to the exclusion of others. "Preference" does not mean that candidate claiming preference is entitled to be preferred to the extent of ouster of all other candidates.

35. In State of U.P. and another Vs. Om Prakash and others AIR 2006 SC 3080, Court interpreting the word 'preference' held that only when one or more persons are found equally positioned, then the additional qualification may be taken as a tilting factor as against others.

36. In Secretary, Andhra Pradesh Public Service Commission Vs. Y.V.V.R. Srinivasulu and others (2003) 5 SCC 341, Court held:

"The 'preference' envisaged in the rules, in our view, under the scheme of things and contextually also cannot mean, an absolute en bloc preference akin to reservation or separate and distinct method of selection for them alone. A mere rule of preference meant to give weightage to the additional qualification cannot be enforced as a rule of reservation or rule of complete precedence."

37. The above authorities have been referred to and relied on by a Full Bench of this Court in Daya Ram Singh Vs. State of U.P. and others, 2007(5) ADJ 359.

38. Question (ii), therefore, is also answered against petitioners.

39. Now coming to third question, neither petitioners have shown anything otherwise nor I could find any illegality in the selection in question.

40. I also find that authorities relied by petitioners do not help them on the issues involved in this petition.

41. Jagannath Prasad Sharma (supra) was a case where validity of order of dismissal was up for consideration before Supreme Court. Jagannath Prasad Sharma was admitted in U.P. Police Force in 1931 as Sub-Inspector. He was promoted subsequently to the rank of Inspector. In 1947 he was given officiating rank of Deputy Superintendent of Police. Some complaints were received, whereupon a preliminary inquiry was conducted and Inspector General of Police, forming an opinion that prima facie case was made out, directed for regular inquiry against Jagannath Prasad Sharma. Simultaneously, he also passed an order reverting him to his substantive rank of Inspector. He was also placed under suspension. A formal departmental inquiry was conducted by Superintendent of Police (Anti-Corruption) and on the inquiry report submitted by Inquiry Officer, Governor under Rule 4 of Uttar Pradesh Disciplinary Proceedings (Administrative Tribunal) Rules, 1947 (hereinafter referred to as "Rules, 1947") referred the matter for inquiry to Tribunal appointed under Rule 3 of Rules, 1947 on the charge of corruption, personal immorality and failure to discharge duties properly. Tribunal framed three charges and after survey of evidence recommended dismissal of service vide report dated 04.02.1950. Governor then served a notice to show cause why he should not be dismissed from service and after considering explanation, order of dismissal was passed on 05.12.1950. It is this order which was challenged in writ petition before High Court on the ground that no departmental inquiry was conducted under Rule 55 of Civil Services (Classification, Control and Appeal) Rules, 1930 (hereinafter referred to as "Rules, 1930") as applicable in State of U.P. High Court dismissed writ petition. Thus matter came to Supreme Court wherein Jagannath Prasad Sharma raised following three issues:

"1. that the order dismissing the appellant from the police force was unauthorised, because the Governor had no power under Section 7 of the Police Act and the regulations framed thereunder to pass that order;

2. that even if the Governor was invested with power to dismiss a police officer, out of two alternative modes of enquiry, a mode prejudicial to the appellant having been adopted the proceedings of the Tribunal which enquired into the charges against him were void, as the equal protection clause of the Constitution was violated; and

3. that the proceedings of the Tribunal were vitiated because of patent irregularities which resulted in an erroneous decision as to the guilt of the appellant. To appreciate the first two contentions, it is necessary briefly to set out the relevant provisions of the laws procedural and substantive in force, having a bearing on the tenure of service of members of the police force in the State of Uttar Pradesh."

42. Answering first question Supreme Court, in para 9 of judgment, said as under:

"The Tribunal Rules were framed in exercise of various powers vested in the Governor including the power under Section 7 of the Police Act, and by those rules, the Governor was authorised to pass appropriate orders concerning police officers. By virtue of Article 313, the Police Regulations as well as the Tribunal Rules in so far as they were not inconsistent with the provisions of the Constitution remained in operation after the Constitution. The authority vested in the Inspector-General of Police and his subordinates by Section 7 of the Police Act was not exclusive. It was controlled by the Government of India Act, 1935, and the Constitution which made the tenure of all civil servants of a Province during the pleasure of the Governor of that Province. The plea that the Governor had no power to dismiss the appellant from service and such power could only be exercised by the Inspector-General of Police and the officers named in Section 7 of the police Act is therefore without substance."

43. Second question was also answered against petitioner observing that no discrimination was practiced by continuing inquiry under Tribunal Rules after Constitution was brought into force.

44. Then for third question Supreme Court held that though appeal was filed with a certificate of Article 132 of the Constitution and Court was to consider, whether High Court has wrongly decided a substantial question as to the interpretation of Constitution unless leave is granted to other issue but only to satisfy itself Court considered third question also and answered the same against petitioner.

45. I do not find anything in the aforesaid judgment which may help petitioners in any manner in the present case.

46. Ajay Hasia (supra) is a judgment of a Constitution Bench wherein issue of admission in professional College, namely,

Engineering College, was up for consideration. In Regional Engineering College, Srinagar applications were invited for admission to First Semester of B.E. Course in 1979 for Academic Year 1979-80. Petitioners Ajay Hasia and others applied for admission and appeared in written test held in June, 1979. Thereafter they also appeared for viva voce test and interviewed. In the result declared petitioners found that they secured good marks in qualifying examination but could not get adequate marks in viva voce/ interview. The candidates who had secured less marks in qualifying examination, but higher marks in viva voce, got admission. Challenging process of selection writ petition was filed in Supreme Court. Various grounds were raised. At the time of hearing, Supreme Court found that some grounds were concluded by its earlier judgment in Nishi Maghu Etc. Etc vs State Of Jammu And Kashmir And Ors, AIR 1980 SC 1975 hence those grounds were not pressed. One of the ground considered by Supreme Court was regarding maintainability of writ petition. It was argued on behalf of respondents that College is being run by a Society which is not a Corporation created by statute but registered under Jammu and Kashmir Registration of Societies Act, 1989 hence is not an 'authority' within the meaning of Article 12 of Constitution and no writ petition is maintainable. This issue was considered in detail and answered against College holding that even an instrumentality of 'State' is within the meaning of State under Article 12 of Constitution. In para 15 of judgment, Court said that the Society running College is an instrumentality or agency of Government. It said:

"We must, therefore, hold that the Society is an instrumentality or agency of the State and the Central Governments and it is an 'authority' within the meaning of Article 12."

47. Selection process was challenged on the ground that higher marks secured in qualifying examination could not have been ignored for giving admission and higher marks in interview and viva voce are arbitrary. Court said:

"We would not, therefore, regard the procedure adopted by the society as arbitrary merely because it refused to take into account the marks obtained by the candidates at the qualifying examination, but chose to regulate the admissions by relying on the entrance test."

"It is therefore not possible to accept the contentions of the petitioners that the oral interview test is so defective that selecting candidates for admission on the basis of oral interview in addition to written test must be regarded as arbitrary. The oral interview test is undoubtedly not a very satisfactory test for assessing and evaluating the capacity and calibre of candidates, but in the absence of any better test for measuring personal characteristics and traits, the oral interview test must, at the present stage, be regarded as not irrational or irrelevant though it is subjective and based on first impression, its result is influenced by many uncertain factors and it is capable of abuse. We would, however, like to point out that in the matter of admission to college or even in the matter of public employment, the oral interview test as presently held should not be relied upon as an exclusive test, but it may be resorted to only as an additional or supplementary test and, moreover, great care must be taken to see that persons who are appointed to conduct the oral interview test are men of high integrity, calibre and qualification."

"We must, therefore, regard the allocation of as high a percentage as 33 1/3 of the total marks for the oral interview as infecting the admission procedure with the vice of arbitrariness and selection of candidates made on the basis of such admission procedure cannot be sustained."

48. Having said so, Court ultimately held that since 18 months have already passed and other candidates who have been given admission are near to complete three semesters, therefore, it would not be justified to cancel the selection already made. Court said that it is not interfering for selection for Academic Year 1989-90 but for future the higher percentage of marks should not be allowed for interview. It also said that allocation of 15% marks for interview would be arbitrary and unreasonable.

49. This judgment also, in my view, does not help petitioners at all.

50. Learned counsel for petitioners placed reliance on paras 20 and 21 of judgment in Ajay Hasia (supra) to suggest that interview was not properly conducted but I find that no material has been placed in this regard before this Court and it would not be justified for the Court in making a roving and fishing inquiry in the matter.

51. In Manjul Kumar (supra) again I find that on the basis of facts demonstrated therein Court found that selection was not properly made. Therein more than twelve thousands candidates are called for interview and almost 500 candidates were called on, every day, for interview. In para 16 Court recorded a finding that in 26 days 8023 candidates appeared in interview and if it is assumed that eight hours time was given for interview every day, then for interviewing 500 candidates every day, only one minute could have been given to each candidate. If eight hours are enhanced to 10 hours then time allotted to every candidate would be almost 1.5 minutes which reveals that actually no interview was held and it was virtually a formality. Court interfered with selection holding that it was farce and sham. To the facts as discussed in present case, in my view, aforesaid judgment also has no application.

52. In Krishna Murari (supra) petitioner was a Cook appointed vide order passed in March, 1982 in 43rd Battalion, Etah wherefrom he was transferred to 35th Battalion PAC, Lucknow. On some allegations made against him, disciplinary inquiry was conducted under U.P. Police Officers of Subordinate Rank (Punishment and Appeal), Rules, 1991 (hereinafter referred to as "Rules, 1991") and after holding inquiry a show cause notice was issued on 09.10.2010 as to why he should not be dismissed from service. Show cause notice was challenged in Writ Petition No. 7743 (SS) of 2010 but learned Single Judge dismissed writ petition. Since no writ petition pending, petitioner-Krishna Murari was dismissed from service and final order of dismissal was passed. Question of applicability of Rules, 1991 was challenged on the ground that Kirishna Murari was not a Police Official but a civil class-IV employee hence Rules, 1991 were not applicable and he could have been proceeded only under U.P. Government Servant (Discipline and Appeal) Rules, 1999 (hereinafter referred to as "Rules, 1999"). Court clearly said that U.P. Police Group-D Employees Service Rules, 2009 (hereinafter referred to as "Rules, 2009") came into force on 28.08.2009, hence the same will not apply retrospectively to a person who was already appointed and inquiry proceedings were going on. This judgment also, in my view, has no application in the present case.

53. Satyendra Kumar Singh (supra) is a case where Court found that 1871 candidates were interviewed in a single day which shows that selection was virtually a sham. Observations made by Court in paras 30 and 31 are reproduced as under "30. Even if it is presumed that the interview was conducted since morning to night, as stated by the petitioners, maximum 16 hours in a day can be spent. Even if 1817 candidates are interviewed, although this figure is too improbable, then too maximum approx. 31 seconds are spent on a single candidate. And astonishingly this time also includes period of preparing appointment letter on the basis of result of this interview. In nutshell, this single day include, interview of 1817 candidates, then result of this interview, then preparation of appointment letter.

31. This whole transaction is beyond human imagination and it is so preposterous that it becomes itself evidence against it for the glaring illegalities committed therein. "

54. Above judgment also does not help petitioner at all.

55. Vijay Kumar Gaur (supra) was a case where proceedings were initiated against him who was a Follower, having been appointed on 27.01.1995 by Senior Superintendent of Police, Lucknow after due selection as per Rules, 1985. He was sought to be proceeded against as per Rules, 1991 and punishment order was passed under Rule 4(1)(a) of Rules, 1991. Relying on judgment in Krishna Murari (supra) it was contended that inquiry under Rules, 1999 could have been held and not under Rules, 1991. Court held that Rules, 1999 are applicable for the purpose of inquiry but found that inquiry was conducted in the manner provided under Rules, 1999 and mere reference of Rules, 1991 will not vitiate punishment order. Thus writ petition was dismissed. This judgment also, in my view, is of no assistance to petitioners.

56. On behalf of Respondents-4 to 28 the Division Bench judgment in Chaturth Shreni Karmachari Sangh (supra) has been cited wherein it is held that if there is no provision for regularization the same cannot be directed and reliance has been placed on Constitution Bench judgment in State of Karnataka and others vs. Uma Devi and others, 2006(4) SCC 1.

57. In the present case petitioners are actually challenging selection already made. It is not a case of regularization since selection and appointed was already made. Unless those appointments are nullified, petitioners cannot claim any benefit. In any case, even otherwise, only Petitioners-1 and 2 are claimed to have engaged since 1990 and rest are subsequent to 29.06.1991 which is a cut off date for attracting U.P. Regularization of Daily Wages Appointment on Group 'D' Posts Rules, 2001 (hereinafter referred to as "Rules, 2001"). The aforesaid Rules are not applicable to all petitioners except Petitioners-1 and 2.

58. In the present case since selection and appointments have already been made, I do not find that the same can be undone at this stage after almost 17 years.

59. In the circumstances, I do not find that petitioners are entitled for any relief. Writ petition is accordingly dismissed.

60. Interim order, if any, stands vacated.

ORIGINAL JURISDICTION
CIVIL SIDE
DATED: ALLAHABAD 30.04.2020

BEFORE
THE HON'BLE SARAL SRIVASTAVA, J.

WRIT A No. 6333 of 2018

Pramod Kumar Maheshwari & Anr. ...Petitioners
Versus

Rent Control & Evicition Officer, Lalitpur & Ors. ...Respondents

Counsel for the Petitioners:
Sri Manish Kumar Jain, Sri Ramendra Singh, Sri P.K. Jain

Counsel for the Respondents:
C.S.C., Sri A.K. Maheshwari(In Person), Sri Parmendra Singh, Sri B.P.Singh

A. Civil Law - Rent Control and Eviction – Cancellation of Allotment - U.P. Urban Buildings (Regulation of Letting, Rent and Eviction) Act, 1972: Section 15, 16, 18(3) – After setting aside the order of allotment, the landlord should be put back in possession.

The Hon'ble Court held that there is no material irregularity or jurisdictional error committed by Rent Control and Eviction Officer, who by the impugned order dated 29.03.2011, allowed application u/s 18(3) of respondent no. 2 and held that Hon'ble High Court while dismissing the earlier writ petitions (against the orders which upheld the cancellation of allotment and recorded respondent no. 2 and 3 as owners) recorded that Late Durga Devi was not the owner and landlord of the shop, therefore, the petitioners who are the heirs of Smt. Durga Devi are not entitled to get the possession of the shop, rather the respondent nos. 2 and 3 are entitled to the possession being the owner and landlord of the property. (Para 12, 18)

Writ Petition dismissed. (E-4)

Precedent followed:

1. Gauesh Chandra Gupta Vs Prescribed Authority, 1990 (2) AWC 1455 (Para 19)

Petition challenges orders dated 29.03.2011 and 07.02.2018, passed by Rent Control and Eviction Officer, Lalitpur and Additional District Judge (FTC-II), Lalitpur.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Saral Srivastava, J.)

1. Heard Sri P.K. Jain, learned Senior Counsel assisted by Sri Manish Kumar Jain, learned counsel for the petitioners, respondent No. 2- Sri A.K. Maheshwari (in person) and Sri Parmendra Singh, learned counsel for the respondent No. 3.

2. The petitioner by means of the present writ petition has assailed the order dated 29.3.2011 passed by Rent Control and Eviction Officer, Lalitpur in Case No. 94/1979 wherein application of the respondent No. 2 (Ashok Kumar Maheshwari) under Section 18 (3) of U.P. Act No. 13 of 1972 has been allowed and the order dated 7.2.2018 passed by Additional District Judge (FTC-II), Lalitpur in Rent Control Revision No. 11 of 2011 affirming the order of the Rent Control and Eviction Officer, Lalitpur dated 29.3.2011.

3. Brief facts of the case are that one Sukhpal Maheshwari was the owner of the shop No. 48/4, Subhaspura, Lalitpur (hereinafter referred as 'shop'). He had two sons namely Ashok Kumar Maheshwari-respondent No. 2 and Prakash Narayan Maheshwari-respondent No. 3.

4. It appears that one Shripat s/o Jujhar Singh was the tenant of the shop owned by Sukhpal Maheshwari . He submitted an application to the Rent Control and Eviction Officer, Lalitpur that he would vacate the disputed shop on 30.6.1979. On the said application, the Rent Control and Eviction Officer registered Case No. 94 of 1979 under Section 16 of U.P. Act No. 13 of 1972 (hereinafter referred as 'Act,1972') and sought a report from Rent Control Inspector. The Rent Control Inspector submitted a report on 28.4.1979 that the shop in question is vacant, and accordingly, the vacancy can be declared and the shop can be allotted. The Rent Control and Eviction Officer, Lalitpur after obtaining report of Rent Control Inspector vide order dt. 30.4.1979 declared the vacancy for allotment of shop.

5. It seems that respondent No. 4 (Anil Kumar Alya) on 27.4.1979 filed an application in Misc. Case No. 94 of 1979 for allotment of the shop. On the said application, One Smt. Durga Devi w/o Kailash Narayan Maheshwari filed an application on 27.4.1979 before the Rent Control and Eviction Officer, Lalitpur giving consent for the allotment of shop to the respondent No. 4. Thereafter, the shop was allotted to respondent No. 4 by the order dated 27.5.1979 of Rent Control and Eviction Officer, Lalitpur. Accordingly, the allotment order in prescribed form was issued in favour of respondent No. 4.

6. The respondent No. 2 filed an application under Section 15 and 16 of the Act,1972 in Misc. Case No. 94 of 1979 praying for cancellation of allotment order dated 21.5.1979 in favour of respondent No. 4.

7. The Rent Control and Eviction Officer, Lalitpur by order dt. 30.6.2007 set aside the order of allotment dated 21.5.1979 in favour of respondent No. 4 . The Rent Control Officer held that Sukhpal Maheshwari was the owner of the shop. After his death, there was family partition in which shop fell in the share of respondent No. 2 (Ashok Kumar Maheshwari) and respondent No. 3 (Prakash Narayan Maheshwari). Thus, the respondent Nos. 2 and 3 are the owner and landlord of the shop.

8. The order dated 30.6.2007 of Rent Control and Eviction Officer, Lalitpur was challenged by Smt. Durga Devi as well as respondent No. 4 in Rent Control Revision No. 32 of 2007 and 33 of 2007 respectively. The Additional District Judge, Lalitpur by judgment and order dated 25.5.2010 dismissed both the revisions.

9. The respondent No. 4 thereafter preferred Writ A No. 42276 of 2010 (Anil Kumar Alya Vs. Ashok Kumar Maheshwari and others) against the order of the Revisional Court dated 25.5.2010 and order of Rent Control and Eviction Officer dated 30.6.2007 before this court. The writ petition was dismissed by this Court by the judgement and order dated 22.7.2010. The relevant extract of the aforesaid judgement is extracted herein:-

"It is urged that the courts below did not consider the fact that the disputed property was bought by Smt. Durga Devi, who was the owner and landlord in an auction and the application for allotment was made only with respect to that property.

Both the courts below have gone into this aspect in detail and after analyzing the evidence, including the admission of Durga Devi in a partition suit no. 137 of 1999 and the sale deed in the alleged auction, have returned a finding of fact that she was never the owner or landlord of the premises and the entire exercise in collusion with her husband was illegal and fraudulent. Counsel for the petitioner has failed to point out any error of law. Thus, the argument cannot be accepted.

It is also urged that the allotment was made way back in 1979 and therefore the application for recall was not maintainable and the decision of the Apex Court in the case of Madhu Gopal Vs. VI Additional District Judge [1988 (4) SCC 644) do no apply.

No doubt there was delay, but the courts below have considered the facts and found that the landlord was unaware of the proceedings. Assuming there was delay, but fraud can be challenged at any stage as fraudulent actions are void and thus has no limitation.

No other point has been urged.

For the reasons above, this is not a fit case for interference under Article 226 of the Constitution of India. Rejected. "

10. Smt. Durga Devi also preferred Writ A No. 51341 of 2010 (Smt. Durga Devi Vs. Ashok Kumar Maheshwari and others) against the order dated 30.6.2007 and 25.5.2010. It appears that during the pendency of aforesaid writ petition, Smt. Durga Devi died. Therefore, her heirs were substituted. This Court by the judgement and order dated 22.7.2020 dismissed the aforesaid writ petition on the ground that as the two orders challenged in the said writ petition have been challenged by respondent No. 4 in Writ A No. 42276 of 2010 (Anil Kumar Alya Vs. Ashok Kumar Maheshwari and others) and as those two orders have been upheld by this Court, therefore, it is not proper for this Court to take a different view.

11. After dismissal of the aforesaid writ petitions, the respondent No. 2 filed an application under Section 18 (3) of U.P. Act No. 13 of 1972 in Case No. 94/1979 registered as Misc. Case No. 1 of 2005 praying for recovery of possession of the shop.

12. The Rent Control and Eviction Officer, Lalitpur by the order dated 29.3.2011 after hearing the counsel for the parties allowed the application of respondent no.2. The Rent Control and

Eviction Officer, Lalitpur held that this court while dismissing the writ petitions against the order dated 30.6.2007 of Rent Control and Eviction Officer and order dt. 25.05.2010 dismissing the revision of the petitioner held that late Durga Devi was not the owner and landlord of the shop, therefore, the petitioners who are the heirs of Smt. Durga Devi are not entitled to get the possession of the shop. It further held that since the order dated 30.6.2007 cancelling the allotment of disputed shop in favour of respondent No. 4 was passed on the application of respondent No. 2, consequently, the respondent

13. The petitioner preferred Rent control Revision NO. 11 of 2011 against the order of the Rent Control and Eviction Officer, Lalitpur dated 29.3.2011 which was dismissed by the revisional court on 07.02.2018.

14. Challenging the aforesaid orders, learned Senior Counsel contended that according to Section 18 (3) of U.P. Act No. 13 of 1972 after the cancellation of allotment order, the property in question is to be restored back to the person who was in the possession of the shop before allotment in favour of respondent no.4. He contends that since Smt. Durga Devi was in possession of the shop, therefore, the petitioners being legal heirs of Smt. Durga Devi are entitled to the possession of the shop after the cancellation of allotment order. Thus, the court below has misinterpreted Section18(3) of Act,1972 in allowing the application of the Respondent No.2.

15. Per contra, respondent No. 2 (Ashok Kumar Maheshwari), who appeared in person, submits that the Rent Control and Eviction Officer, Lalitpur while cancelling the allotment order in favour of respondent No. 4 has held that Smt. Durga Devi was not the owner and landlord of the disputed shop and respondent Nos. 2 and 3 are the joint owner of the shop which finding has been affirmed by this Court in two writ petitions referred above and the judgements of this Court in the aforesaid two writ petitions have attained finality. Accordingly, he submits that the respondent Nos. 2 and 3 are joint owner of the shop, therefore, the Rent Control and Eviction Officer, Lalitpur has correctly allowed the application and directed the delivery of possession of the disputed shop to the respondent Nos. 2 and 3. He further submits that the revision court after appreciating the law correctly dismissed the revision. Thus, he submits that finding of the Rent Control and Eviction Officer as well as revisional court are based upon the proper appreciation of the fact and evidence on record, and as such are not liable to be interfered with by this court in exercise of its power under Article 226 of the Constitution of India being finding of fact.

16. I have considered the rival submissions of parties and perused the record.

17. The facts as emerge out from the record are that the allotment of the disputed shop in favour of the respondent No. 4 was made by the Rent Control and Eviction Officer, Lalitpur on the consent of Smt. Durga Devi. The allotment of respondent No. 4 was challenged by the respondent No. 2 contending inter-alia that Smt. Durga Devi was not the owner of the disputed shop and could not give consent for allotment of shop and the allotment of the shop was obtained by playing fraud by the respondent No. 4 in collusion with Smt. Durga Devi.

18. The application of respondent No. 2 for cancellation of allotment in favour of respondent No. 4 was allowed by Rent Control and Eviction Officer, Lalitpur by the order dated 30.6.2007 wherein finding on the basis of material and evidence on record had been recorded that Smt. Durga Devi was not the owner of the disputed shop and the respondent Nos. 2 and 3 are the joint owner of the disputed shop. The aforesaid finding has been affirmed by the Revisional Court as well as by this Court in the Writ A No. 51341 of 2010 and Writ A No. 42276 of 2010. The judgment of this Court in the aforesaid two writ petitions have attained finality as they have not been assailed by the petitioners before the Apex Court. Accordingly, the finding of Rent Control and Eviction Officer, Lalitpur in the order dated 30.6.2007 that Smt. Durga Devi was not the owner of the disputed shop in question and the respondent Nos. 2 and 3 are the joint owner of the disputed shop is binding upon the parties. Therefore, Rent Control and Eviction Officer, Lalitpur has rightly come to the conclusion that the petitioner being legal heirs of late Smt. Durga Devi have no right to seek possession of the disputed shop rather the respondent Nos. 2 and 3 are entitled to the possession being the owner and landlord of the property. The Revisional Court after appreciating the facts and evidence on record found that the Rent Control and Eviction Officer, Lalitpur has not committed any material irregularity or jurisdictional error in issuing direction for delivery of possession of shop to the respondent no.2. Consequently, it found no merit in the revision and dismissed it by order dt. 07.02.2018.

19. This court in the case of Gauesh Chandra Gupta Vs. Prescribed Authority, 1990(2) AWC 1455 has held that after setting aside the order of allotment, the landlord should be put back in possession. Paragraph 5 of the judgment is extracted hereinbelow:

"The short question which requires consideration is as to the right of the landlady to be put back in possession. The legal position does not appear in doubt and is quite clear that after the setting aside of the order of notification of vacancy and that of the allotment in favour of respondent, it is necessary that the landlady be put back in possession. The person who got possession in pursuance of the order of allotment has to deliver back the possession to the landlord after the setting aside of the order of allotment- Section 18 (3) of the Act is clear in this regard. It provides that where the order under Section 16 of the Act is rescinded, the District Magistrate shall place the parties back in the position which they would have occupied but for such allotment and may for that purpose use or caused to be used such force as may be necessary."

20. In view of the aforesaid discussion, this Court finds no illegality in the orders impugned in the writ petition as findings recorded therein are finding of fact based upon the proper appreciation of material and evidence on record. Consequently, the writ petition lacks merit and is dismissed with no orders as to cost.

WRIT A 13936 of 2019

M/s Sangam Travels & Ors. ...Petitioners
Versus
The State of U.P. & Anr. ...Respondents

A. Civil Law – Motor Vehicles - Fixation of age - Motor Vehicles Act, 1988: Sections 3, 28, 59, 64, 65, 95, 96, 107, 111, 138, 176, 213; General Clauses Act, 1897: Section 21; U.P. Motor Vehicles Rules, 1998: Rule 222(D); U.P. Motor Vehicles (Twenty Sixth Amendment) Rules, 2019 – Petitioners are aggrieved by reduction of age limit of public service vehicles from 15 years to 10 years which has been introduced by the State Government in the Rule 222(D) of Rules, 1998 by Amending Rules, 2019, whereas the age limit of educational institutional buses has been fixed as 15 years from the date of original registration.

B. The classification of the two categories of vehicles is a reasonable and valid classification. There is no arbitrariness or discrimination and is not hit by Article 14 of Constitution of India – Anurudh Kumar and Others Vs State of U.P. & Others, 2019 (9) ADJ 79 (DB) (Paras 5 to 7) - The categorisation is for the reason that the two categories of vehicle form a separate class and cannot be equated. The use and running of educational institutional vehicles is very limited whereas other private/commercial or contract vehicles have a very wide and expensive use resulting in their speedy wear and tear. Therefore, the life of the two categories of vehicle has been provided differently.

The submission that nature of activity for which petitioners' buses are being used is similar to the use of school buses owned by the schools, as the petitioners' buses are engaged in transporting the students from their homes to school and back to their homes and as such are not different from educational institution vehicles/buses cannot be accepted for the simple reason that the educational institutional bus has been defined U/S. 2(11) of the Motor Vehicles Act and the nature of activity would not bring them within the purview of educational institutional buses as defined under the Act. (Para 8, 9, 11, 15)

C. Competence of State government to amend Rule 222(D) of Rules, 1998 – State Transport Authority is empowered to fix the age limit of the vehicle - It is a well-established proposition of law that where a specific power is conferred without prejudice to the generality of the general powers already specified, the particular power is only illustrative and does not in any way restrict the general power. (Para 21, 26)

Section 65(1) puts only rider upon the State Government not to make rules with respect to matters specified in section 64. Thus, under section 65(1) of the Act, 1988, the State Government is free to make any rule for the purpose of carrying into effect the provisions of Chapter VI of the Act 1988 except the matters specified in section 64. Further, the power under section 65(1) is general power conferred upon the State Government to make rules and thus, the source of power making rules is derived from sub-section 1 of section 65 and sub-section 2 merely provides illustration for the general power conferred by sub-section 1 as sub-section 2 of section 65 of the Act, 1988 commences with the words 'without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing powers'. It is manifest that sub-section 2 of section 65 of the Act, 1988 confers no such fresh powers but is merely illustrative of the general powers conferred by sub-section 1 of section 65. (Para 25, 27)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Pankaj Mithal, J.
Hon'ble Saral Srivastava, J.)

1. Heard Sri Hanuman Prasad Dube, learned counsel for the petitioners and Sri Neeraj Tripathi, learned Additional Advocate General for the State of U.P.

2. These two writ petitions involve common question of law, therefore, are being decided by the common judgement.

3. The issue in the writ petitions is as to whether the State Government is empowered to fix the age limit of motor vehicles.

4. For convenience, the facts are being delineated from Writ C- No.13933 of 2019.

5. The petitioners are registered owners of public service vehicles. The vehicles of the petitioners are covered under the permit granted by the Transport Authorities and they are engaged by different schools being run in the Kanpur City under the agreements arrived at between them and the concerned school to carry the students from their homes to schools and back i.e. to and fro.

6. The state government in exercise of its power under Sections 28, 38, 65, 95, 96, 107, 111, 138, 176 and 213 of the Motor Vehicles Act, 1988 (Act No.59 of 1988) (hereinafter referred to as "Act, 1988') read with Section 21 of the General Clauses Act, 1897 issued a notification dated 27 May, 2019 bringing about amendments in various rules of the U.P. Motor Vehicles Rules, 1998 by U.P. Motor vehicles (Twenty Sixth Amendment) Rules, 2019 (hereinafter referred to as 'amending rules, 2019'). The amending rule 2019 by which age limit of school vehicle is fixed reads as under:-

Age limit of School Vehicle	"222 (D) (1) The educational institution bus (diesel and clean fuel driven) shall not be more than 15 years old from the date of initial registration. (2) The diesel/CNG driven private bus (contract carriage) shall not be more than 10 years old from the date of initial registration. (3) The school van, driven by diesel/petrol/CNG or any other clean fuel, shall not be more than 10 years old from the date of initial registration."

7. Petitioners are aggrieved by the reduction of the age limit of public service vehicles from 15 years to 10 years which has been introduced by the State Government in the Rule 222(D) of Rules, 1998 by Amending Rules, 2019.

8. The challenge to the amendment in Rule 222(D) of Rules 1998 has been laid by the petitioners on two grounds; firstly it amounts to hostile discrimination inasmuch as the age limit of the educational institution buses has been fixed as 15 years from the date of original registration whereas the age limit of private buses like buses owned by petitioners has been fixed 10 years from the date of initial registration. The second ground of attack is that the State Government is not competent to fix the age of the vehicles inasmuch as the field of fixation of age of a motor vehicle is with the Central Government in view of Section 59 of the Act, 1988 and, therefore, the Amending Rules, 2019 by which Rule 222(D) of Rules of 1998 has been amended is beyond the competence of the State Government.

9. Elaborating the arguments, learned counsel for the petitioners has contended that the petitioners buses are engaged in transporting the students from their homes to school and back to their homes and, therefore, nature of activity for which their buses are being used is similar and akin to the use of school buses owned by the schools. Thus, the different age fixed by the respondent-State with respect to buses owned by the educational institutions and private individuals is arbitrary and amounts to hostile discrimination, and thus being in violation of Article 14 of the Constitution of India deserves to be declared as ultra vires.

10. It is further contended that under Section 59 of the Act, 1988 Central Government is vested with the powers to fix the age limit of motor vehicles and there is no provision under the Act which contemplates the powers of the State Government to fix the age limit of motor vehicles. Therefore, amendment in Rules of 2019 is beyond the competence of State Government and thus, the same is liable Uttrakhand High Court in Special Appeal No.534 of 2015 (The State Transport Authority & Another Vs. Auto Rickshaw Vikram Union & Another) delivered on 04.07.2017.to be declared as ultra vires. In support of the said contention, learned counsel for the petitioners has relied upon the judgement of Uttrakhand High Court in Special Appeal No.534 of 2015 (The State Transport Authority & Another Vs. Auto Rickshaw Vikram Union & Another) delivered on 04.07.2017.

11. Refuting the aforesaid submissions, learned Additional Advocate General contends that this Court by judgement dated 08.07.2019 in the case of Anurudh Kumar and Others Vs. State of U.P. & Others 2019(9) ADJ 79 (DB) has repelled the contention of private bus owners that amendment in Rule 222 (D) of Rules, 1988 is ultra vires to Article 14 of the Constitution of India, and thus, the argument of learned counsel for the petitioners with respect to hostile discrimination fixing the age limit of different motor vehicles owned by educational institutions and private individuals does not stand to merit.

12. As regards the second contention with respect to competence of State Government to fix the age of a motor vehicle by amending rules, 2019, learned Additional Advocate General would submit that under Section 65 (1) the Act of 1988, State Government is conferred with the powers to make rules for the purposes of carrying into effect the provisions of chapter VI of the Act, 1988 other than the matters specified in Section 64 of the Act, 1988. He submits that the Central Government has not issued any notification specifying the age limit of motor vehicles and further the power to fix the age limit of motor vehicles is not contemplated under Section 64 of the Act, 1988, therefore, State Government is well within its competence under Section 65(1) of the Act to frame rules to carry out the purposes of chapter VI of the Act which includes fixation of age limit of motor vehicles. The fixation of age limit of motor vehicles falling in different category as contemplated in the Act, 1988 is done by the State Government with an object to further the purpose of carrying into effect the provisions of chapter VI of the Act. He further submits that the power under Section 65 (1) of the Act, 1988 is general power and power under Section 65 (2) is only illustrative and does not restrict the power of the state government under Section 65(1) of the Act, 1988 to frame rules to carry out the purpose of chapter VI of the Act .

13. He submits that this Court in the case of Surise Public School through Caretaker and Others Vs. State of U.P. Through Principal Secretary and Others (Writ A- No.9950 of 2013) has held that the State Transport Authority has power to fix the age limit of a vehicle.

14. We have considered the rival submissions of the parties and perused the record.

15. The argument of the petitioners that that amendment in fixing the different age limit for the buses owned by the educational institutions and the buses owned by the private individuals amounts to hostile discrimination and is hit by Article 14 of the Constitution of India lacks merit in view of judgment of this court in the case of Anurudh Kumar and Others (supra) wherein this court has considered the similar argument and found no merit in it .

16. Before adverting to the second submission of the petitioners, it would be useful to have a glance at Sections 59, 64 and 65 of the Act, 1998:-

"59 Power to fix the age limit of motor vehicle. - (1) The Central Government may, having regard to the public safety, convenience and objects of this Act, by notification in the Official Gazette, specify the life of a motor vehicle reckoned from the date of its manufacture, after the expiry of which the motor vehicle shall not be deemed to comply with the requirements of this Act and the Rules made thereunder:

Provided that the Central Government may specify different ages for different classes or different types of motor vehicles.

(2) Notwithstanding anything contained in sub-section (1), the Central Government may, having regard to the purpose of a motor vehicle, such as, display or use for the purposes of a demonstration in any exhibition, use for the purposes of technical research or taking part in a vintage car rally, by notification in the Official Gazette, exempt, by a general or special order,

(m) the form in which the certificate of fitness shall be issued under sub-section (1) of section 56 and the particulars and information it shall contain;

(n) the period for which the certificate of fitness granted or renewed under section 56 shall be effective;

(p) any other matter which is to be, or may be, prescribed by the Central Government.

65. Power of the State Government to make rules. - (1) A State Government may make rules for the purpose of carrying into effect the provisions of this Chapter other than the matters specified in section 64.

(2) Without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing power, such rules may provide for -

(a) the conduct and hearing of appeals that may be preferred under this Chapter (the fees to be paid in respect of such appeals and the refund of such fees);

(b) the appointment, functions and jurisdiction of registering and other prescribed authorities;

(n) the form in which and the period within which the return under section 62 shall be sent;

(o) the manner in which the State Register of Motor Vehicles shall be maintained under section 63;

(p) any other matter which is to be or may be prescribed."

17. Section 59 (1) of the Act provides that the Central Government is empowered to fix age limit of vehicles reckoned from the date of its manufacture having regard to the public safety, convenience and object of the Act. Proviso to said section further provides that the Central Government may fix different ages for different classes or different types of motor vehicles.

18. The petitioners though in paragraph 6 of the writ petition have stated that the age limit of petitioners vehicles was fixed under the notification issued by the Central Government in exercise of powers conferred under Section 59 of the Act, 1998, but when the counsel for the petitioners was confronted to place the said notification on record, he admitted that in fact no such notification has been issued by the Central Government. However, he maintains that even if no such notification has been issued by the Central Government the field of fixing the age limit of vehicle is within the domain of the Central Government under Section 59(1) of the Act and not with the State Government.

19. A bare reading of Section 64 of the Act, 1988, extracted herein above, clearly shows that the said section does not envisage any provision which confers exclusive power upon the Central Government to make rules with respect to fixation of age of a motor vehicle.

20. The only rider which has been put upon the State Government to make rules under Section 65(1) of the Act, 1988 is that rule making power with respect to matters specified in Section 64 of the Act, 1988 is beyond the competence of the State Government otherwise it is empowered to make rules on all subjects for the purpose of carrying into effect the provisions of chapter VI of the Act,1988. The power of State Government under Section 65(1) is general in its terms and authorizes inter-alia of making or amending any rule in so far as it is necessary or expedient so to do for carrying into effect the provision of chapter VI of the Act, 1988. At this juncture, it would be apt to refer the two judgements of the Apex Court namely, Om Prakash and Others Vs. Union of India and Others 1970 (3) SCC 942 and Academy Nutrition Improvement and Others Vs. Union of India (2011) 8 SCC 274.

21. In the case of Om Prakash (supra) Apex Court had occasion to consider the powers of the Chief Settlement Commissioner under sub Section (1) of Section 24 of the Displaced Persons (Compensation and Rehabilitation) Act, 1954 to cancel the allotment of land made in favour of a person. Paragraph 6 of the judgement being relevant in the context of the present case is being extracted herein below:-

"6. It is therefore contended relying on Sub-section (2) that in as much as no fraud or false representation or concealment of any material fact has been alleged or proved in this case, the Chief Settlement Commissioner cannot exercise the revisionary power Under Section 24. This contention in our view has no validity. *I*t is a well established proposition of law that where a specific power is conferred without prejudice to the generality of the general powers already specified, the particular power is only illustrative and does not in any way restrict the general power. The Federal Court had in Talpade's case indicated the contrary but the Privy Council in King Emperor v. Sibnath Banerjee Indian Appeals-Vol. 72 p. 241 observed at page 258 :

"Their Lordships are unable to agree with the learned Chief Justice of the Federal Court on his statement of the relative positions of Sub-sections 1 and 2 of Section 2 of the Defence of India Act, and Counsel for the respondents in the present appeal was unable to support that statement, or to maintain that Rule 26 was invalid. In the opinion of their Lordships, the function of Sub-section 2 is merely an illustrative one: the rule-making power is conferred by Sub-section 1, and "the rules" which are referred to in the opening sentence of Sub-section 2 are the rules which are authorised by, and made under, Sub-section 1; the provisions of Sub-section 2 are not restrictive of Sub-section 1, as, indeed is expressly stated by the words "without prejudice to the "generality of the powers conferred by Sub-section 1."

22. In the case of Academy Nutrition Improvement and Others (supra), the challenge to Rule 44-I inserted in the Prevention of Food Adulteration Rules 1955 was made by the petitioners. The Apex Court dealt with the validity of statutes delegating the powers of making rules. Paragraph 66 of the judgement relevant in the present case is being extracted herein below:-

"66. Statutes delegating the power to make rules follow a standard pattern. The relevant section would first contain a provision granting the power to make rules to the delegate in general terms, by using the words `to carry out the provisions of this Act' or `to carry out the purposes of this Act'. This is usually followed by another sub-section enumerating the matters/areas in regard to which specific power is delegated by using the words `in particular and without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing power, such rules may provide for all or any of the following matters." Interpreting such provisions, this Court in a number of decisions has held that where power is conferred to make subordinate legislation in general terms, the subsequent particularisation of the matters/topics has to be construed as merely illustrative and not limiting the scope of the general power. Consequently, even if the specific enumerated topics in section 23(1A) may not empower the Central Government to make the impugned rule (Rule 44-I), making of the Rule can be justified with reference to the general power conferred on the central government under section 23(1), provided the rule does not travel beyond the scope of the Act.

"But even a general power to make rules or regulations for carrying out or giving effect to the Act, is strictly ancillary in nature and cannot enable the authority on whom the power is conferred to extend the scope of general operation of the Act. Therefore, such a power "will not support attempts to widen the purposes of the Act, to add new and different means to carrying them out, to depart from or vary its terms."

23. It would not out of place to refer the judgement of Apex Court in the case of General Officer Commanding-in-Chief and Another Vs. Dr. Subhash Chandra Yadav and Another 1988 (2) SCC 351 wherein Apex Court has laid down the test when a rule can have the effect of a statutory provisions. Paragraph 14 of the judgement is extracted herein below:

"14. This contention is unsound. It is well settled that rules framed under the provisions of a statute form part of the statute. In other words, rules have statutory force. But before a rule can have the effect of a statutory provision, two conditions must be fulfilled, namely, (1) it must conform to the provisions of the statute under which it is framed; and (2) it must also come within the scope and purview of the rule making power of the authority framing the rule. If either of these two conditions is not fulfilled, the rule so framed would be void. The position remains the same even though sub-section (2) of section 281 of the Act has specifically provided that after the rules are framed and published they shall have effect as if enacted in the Act. In other words, in spite of the provision of sub-section (2) of section 281, any rule framed under the Cantonment Act has to fulfil the two conditions mentioned above for their validity. The observation of this Court in Jestamani v. Scindia Steam Navigation Company, [1961] 2 SCR 811, relied upon by Mr. Aggarwal, that a contract of service may be transferred by a statutory provision, does not at all help the appellants. There can be no doubt that a contract of service may be transferred by statutory provisions, but before a rule framed under a statute is regarded a statutory provision or a part of the statute, it must fulfil the above two conditions. Rule 5-C was framed by the Central Government in excess of its rule making power as contained in clause (c) of sub-section (2) of section 280 of the Cantonment Act before its amendment by the substitution of clause (c); it is, therefore, void. "

24. Keeping in view the principles laid down by the Apex Court in the judgement referred above regarding the validity of a rule, the Court now proceed to consider the arguments of learned counsel for the petitioners in respect of the competence of the State Government to amend Rule 222 (D). The petitioner does not dispute the fact that no notification fixing the age limit as contemplated under Section 59 (1) of the Act, 1988 has been issued by the Central Government. Section 64 (1) of the Act does not provide any provision from which it is explicit or it can be inferred that rule making power with respect to fixation of age is conferred upon the Central Government under said section .

25. Section 65(1) puts only rider upon the State Government not to make rules with respect to matters specified in Section 64. Thus, under Section 65(1) of the Act, 1988, the State Government is free to make any rule for the purpose of carrying into effect the provisions of chapter VI of the Act 1988 except the matters specified in Section 64. Further, the power under Section 65(1) is general power conferred upon the State Government to make rules and thus, the source of power making rules is derived from sub-Section 1 of Section 65, and sub-Section 2 merely provides illustration for the general power conferred by sub Section 1 as Sub-Section 2 of Section 65 of the Act, 1988 commences with the words "without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing powers'. It is manifest that sub-Section 2 of Section 65 of the Act, 1988 confers no such fresh powers but is merely illustrative of the general powers conferred by sub-Section 1 of Section 65.

26. This Court in the case of Surise Public School (supra) has also held that the State Transport Authority is empowered to fix the age limit of the vehicle. Paragraphs 6 and 7 of the said judgement are being extracted herein below:-

"6. It is submitted by learned Standing Counsel, that in Mahraj Uddin's case all the aspects relating to the powers of the State Transport Authority fixing the age of the vehicles including State carriage, school buses, taxis and three wheelers was considered and while upholding the power of STA to fix the age of the vehicles and to put model condition in the permit, the decision of the STA dated 23.2.2010 was upheld. He submits that in the present case the vehicles are plying as school buses and for which there is no exemption. The school buses carrying children should strictly ensure to safety standard. He submits that the petitioners' vehicles are about more than 15 years' old and in view of the decision of the STA, no further permit shall be granted to such vehicles. Any relaxation will be hazardous to the safety of the children, who will be travelling in the school buses.

7. We are of the view, that the order dated 7.12.2012 in Omwati Sarswati Junior High School's case was passed without the benefit of the Division Bench judgment in Mahraj Uddin's case. We further find that no new ground has been taken nor there is any justification to allow the old vehicles to ply on the road. The decision of STA in this regard should not be lightly interfered."

27. It is worth mentioning that it is not the case of the petitioner in the writ petition that amendment in Rule 222 (D) does not further the object of Chapter VI of the Act and as the State Government is not empowered to bring the amendment in Rule 222D of Rules 1998 in exercise of power under Section 65 of the Act,1988. Thus, it can't be said that the object of bringing amendment in Rule 222 (D) is not to further the object of Act, 1988 more particularly chapter VI of the Act,1988.

28. The judgment of the Uttrakhand High Court in The State Transport Authority (Supra) does not help the petitioners for the simple reason that it has not considered Section 65(1) of the Act, 1988 which vest the state government with power to frame rules subject to the restriction put under Section 66(1) of the Act,1988.

29. Consequently, for the reasons given above, we do not find any substance in the argument of learned counsel for the petitioners that the State Government is not competent to amend Rule 222 (D) of Rules, 1998.

30. Thus, both the writ petitions lack merit and are dismissed. There shall be no order as to costs.

2. Heard Shri Suresh Kumar Maurya, learned counsel for the petitioner and Shri Vineet Pandey, learned Chief Standing Counsel assisted by Dr. Amarnath Singh, learned Standing Counsel and Shri Sharad Chandra Upadhyaya, learned Brief Holder for the State - respondents.

3. The brief facts of the case are that the Uttar Pradesh Police Recruitment & Promotion Board (hereinafter referred to as, "the Board') issued an advertisement bearing Adv. No. PRPB: ONE - 1 (112)2017 on 14.01.2018 for the direct recruitment of Constable in Civil Police and Constable in PAC. In the said advertisement, the total vacancy for the post of Constable in Civil Police & PAC was 41520 posts, out of which 23520 posts were reserved for Constable in Civil Police and 18000 posts were reserved for Constable in PAC. Out of 23520 posts for Constable in Civil Police, 11761 posts were reserved for unreserved category, 6360 posts were reserved for OBC, 4939 posts were reserved for SC category and 470 posts were reserved for ST category. The minimum qualification prescribed for the aforesaid post was Intermediate or equivalent approved from the Government. The advertisement further provided 2% horizontal reservation for dependent of freedom fighter and 20% for the women candidates. It was further provided in the advertisement that the reservation would be applicable as per the Government Orders issued by the Karmik Vibhag from time to time. The minimum age for the women candidate was 18 years and maximum age was 25 years from 01.07.2018.

4. The petitioner applied for the post of Constable in Civil Police and submitted online application form after getting registered on the website of the Board as per the advertisement. Thereafter, the Board issued an admit card to the petitioner for appearing in the written examination on 19.06.2018. Pursuant thereto, the petitioner appeared in the written examination and qualified. Thereafter, the petitioner was called for document verification and physical standard test by the Board fixing 09.12.2018. On 11.12.2018, the petitioner was sent for physical standard test and she qualified. Pursuant to the physical standard test, the petitioner was sent for medical test on 23.04.2019, in which she succeeded and secured place in JTC Meerut Merit List and the petitioner was allotted the District - Bareilly, where the training of the petitioner was started from 12.05.2019.

5. It is averred that during training, the files of all successful candidates were received in the Office of the training center at Bareilly, except the petitioner's file. On enquiry, the petitioner came to know that she has to go back to Meerut during training session for document and in absence of the same, the Department at Bareilly will not permit her to complete her training for the post in question.

6. It is further averred that after running from pillar to post to know the reason for not sending her file to the training center at Bareilly, it transpired that the certificate of dependent of freedom fighter was issued from the State of Uttarakhand, whereas, it should have been issued from the State of Uttar Pradesh and therefore, her file was not sent to Bareilly. Hence, the present writ petition.

7. Learned counsel for the petitioner submits that the petitioner is dependent of freedom fighter and as such, has rightly claimed the reservation under the category of "dependent of freedom fighter" and the same cannot be denied merely because the certificate has been issued from the authority of Uttarakhand.

8. He further submits that the State of Uttar Pradesh was reorganized with effect from 09.11.2000 by coming into effect the Uttar Pradesh Reorganization Act, 2000. Prior to the said Act, the Uttrakhand was the part of the State of Uttar Pradesh and therefore, the benefit of dependent of freedom cannot be denied to her. He further submits that the petitioner is residing in the State of Uttar Pradesh at Meerut and therefore, her grandfather, who was a freedom fighter, was the resident of Gangoli Ghat, District - Pithoragarh (State of Uttarakhand). The petitioner has rightly filed certificate which indicate that her grandfather was a freedom fighter within the meaning of the Reservation Act and that is sufficient for claiming benefit under the Reservation Act and also, sufficient to seek benefit under the Uttar Pradesh Public Service (Reservation for Physically Handicapped, Dependents of Freedom Fighters and Ex Serviceman) Act, 1993 (hereinafter referred to as, "the Act of 1993').

9. It is further submitted that clause (b) of section 2 of the Act of 1993 defines "dependent" with reference to freedom fighter, which includes son and daughter (married or unmarried) and grandson (son of a son) and unmarried granddaughter (daughter of a son), of the freedom-fighter. He further submits that in view of the aforesaid provision, the petitioner, being a granddaughter of the freedom fighter, is entitled for the reservation.

10. Learned counsel for the petitioner has placed reliance upon the decision of a Division Bench of this Court in Anmol Deep Vs. State of U.P. & 3 Others (Writ C No. 23936 of 2018, decided on 07.09.2018); wherein, while permitting the petitioner for admission in the MBBS course, it has been held that the law cannot exclude freedom fighters domiciled outside the Uttar Pradesh from their status of a freedom fighter and therefore, the condition of domicile contained in section 2(d) of the Act of 1993 has to be ignored to bring it within the fundamental framework of principle of equality contained in Articles 14 & 15 of the Constitution of India.

11. Learned counsel for the petitioner further submits that the case of Anmol Deep (supra) is also squarely covered the issue in question and submits that a freedom fighter living in any place in India would remain a freedom fighter and he/she does not lose his/her status by shifting domicile from one place to another. The nation recognizes him to be a freedom fighter irrespective of his place of birth or residence, etc. and therefore, the petitioner is entitled for the benefit of her being dependent of freedom fighter.

12. Per contra, learned chief standing counsel submits that the advertisement issued on 14.01.2018 for the post in question is very clear and the conditions mentioned therein has to be fulfilled in letter and spirit. No deviation can be permitted from the said condition. He further submits that the candidates claiming benefit of reservation has to comply with the conditions enumerated in the advertisement. The candidate claiming the benefit of reservation under the "Dependent of Freedom Fighter" has to file the certificate issued by the competent authority of the State of Uttar Pradesh. He has relied upon the contents of paragraph no. 5 of the counter affidavit and submits that there is a discrepancy in the certificate of dependent of freedom fighter submitted by the petitioner. He further submits that in serial no. 1 of paragraph 5.4 of the advertisement, it was clearly mentioned that the format of certificate for dependent of freedom fighter has to be according to format - 3, which shall be issued by the District Magistrate concerned of the State of U.P. He further submits that the Board by its letter/order dated 23.04.2019 has recommended for cancellation of the petitioner's candidature, which is on record as Annexure No. CA-3 to the counter affidavit, which has not been challenged by the petitioner. It is further submitted that vide order dated 09.10.2019, the Board has rejected the candidature of the petitioner. The said order has not been challenged by the petitioner.

13. Learned chief standing counsel further submits that the benefit of reservation has been allowed as per the provisions of Act of 1993 and if the petitioner is aggrieved, then she should have challenged the vires of the Act of 1993. In support of his contention, learned chief standing counsel has placed reliance upon the decision of this Court in State of U.P. & Others Vs. Tejaswi Kumar Pandey (Special Appeal No. 137 of 2016, decided on 19.07.2017); wherein, the Division Bench of this Court, while setting aside the order passed by the learned Single Judge, has held that so far as the Act of 1993 is concerned, it has extended the benefit of reservation only in respect of such freedom fighters who were the domicile of the State of U.P.

14. He further submits that by the Act of 1993, the benefit of freedom fighter has been extended to the persons, who were domicile of the State of Uttar Pradesh and the said Act is binding upon the State authorities. He further submits that the judgement relied upon by the learned counsel for the petitioner in Anmol Deep (supra) is distinguishable on the fact that the aforesaid matter pertains to grant of benefit for admission in MBBS course.

15. Learned chief standing counsel further submits that the case in hand also pertains to service matter and the decision in Tejaswi Kumar Pandey (supra) covers the issue and in view of the said fact, the writ petition deserves to be dismissed on this ground alone.

16. It is undisputed fact that the petitioner had applied for the post of Constable in Civil Police and had claimed the reservation under the category of "dependent of freedom fighter". In support her claim, the petitioner had filed a certificate issued by the District Magistrate, Pithoragarh, State of Uttarakhand. In the said certificate, some discrepancies have been pointed out by the State authorities, which have not been clarified by the petitioner. More precisely, the certificate of dependent of freedom fighter, which has been filed as Annexure No. 9 of the writ petition, has been doubted to be correct. Further, clause 7(2)(ga)(4) of the advertisement reads as under:-

((4) Lora=rk laxzke lsukuh vkfJr izek.k i= jkT; ljdkj }kjk fu/kkZfjr izk#i fuxZr gksuk pkfg;s A"

17. From the perusal of the aforesaid clause, it transpires that the certificate of dependent of freedom fighter should be issued in the prescribed format, duly issued by the authorities of the State of Uttar Pradesh; whereas, in the case in hand, the certificate has been issued from the authority of the State of Uttarakhand.

18. It is further not in dispute that under the provisions of the Act of 1993, the benefit of being a dependent of freedom fighter can be extended only in a case where the freedom fighter was a domicile of the State of Uttar Pradesh. The Division Bench of this Court in the case of Tejaswi Kumar Pandey (supra) has held as follows:

`"It is not in dispute that as per Section 2(Gha) of the Act, 1993, the benefit of being the dependent of a freedom fighter can be extended only in case where the freedom fighter was a domicile of the State of U.P. This provision is not under challenge in the writ petition. The learned Single Judge has lost sight of said fact and has proceeded to opine that the freedom fighter is a freedom fighter for the entire nation, he cannot be termed to be a freedom fighter of the State of U.P. or Jharkhand. Therefore, the status of a freedom fighter is not diluted merely because his dependants have started living in a different State.

`Although the learned Single Judge is correct that the freedom fighter, had fought for the entire country, his place of domicile is not relevant, but so far as the Act, 1993 is concerned it has extended the benefit of reservation only in respect of such freedom fighters who were the domicile of State of U.P. The said definition under the Act is binding upon the State authorities. The vires of Section 2(Gha) was not under challenge.

`In view of above, the judgment impugned of the learned Single Judge is hereby set aside. The writ petition is restored to its original number. The petitioner, if so advised, may challenge the vires of section 2(Gha) of the Act, 1993 by filing an appropriate application before the writ court.

`The special appeal is allowed subject to observations made hereinabove."

19. The learned counsel for the petitioner has relied upon the judgement in Anmol Deep (supra). In the said judgement itself, the Court was of the view that the case of the Tejaswi Kumar Pandey (supra) was in respect of service matter and had strictly applied the definition; whereas, the case of Anmol Deep (supra) was not related to the service matter, but for getting admission in MBBS Course. Therefore, the said decision is of no help to the petitioner herein. The present case pertains to the service matter, which, even as per the decision in Anmol Deep (supra), has to be strictly applied with the definition of the Act of 1993.

20. In view of the aforesaid facts and circumstances of the case, the petitioner has failed to file the certificate of dependent of freedom fighter as per the clause 7(2)(ga)(4) of the advertisement in question. Therefore, no interference is called for under Article 226 of the Constitution of India.

21. The writ petition is devoid of merits and it is, accordingly, dismissed.

A. Practice & Procedure - Release Application - Uttar Pradesh Urban Buildings (Regulation of Letting, Rent and Eviction) Act, 1972: Section 21(1)(a), (b) - The Uttar Pradesh Urban Buildings (Regulation of Letting, Rent and Eviction) Rules, 1972: Rule 17 - The landlord is not required to establish his financial capacity to reconstruct the building if the release is sought on the ground that the building is bonafide required after demolition and new construction for use and occupation of the landlord. However, if the tenant disputes the financial capacity of the landlord to reconstruct the building, the tenant ha to plead in the written statement challenging the financial capacity of the landlord and prove it with by leading cogent evidence. (Para 19, 20)
The landlord in a proceeding under Section 21(a) of the Act has to establish that his need is bonafide and genuine, and that comparative hardship lay in his favour, once he satisfies these conditions, release application deserved to be allowed even if the release of the building is sought on the ground that building is bonafide required for use and occupation after demolition and reconstruction. 2. Shree Krishan Garg Vs. Rajendra Singh and ors. 2003 (51) ALR 209

1. Heard learned Sri Manish Kumar Nigam, counsel for the petitioner and Sri Arpit Agrawal, Counsel for the respondent.

2. Petitioners by means of present writ petition have challenged the judgement and order dated 31.1.2017 passed by Civil Judge (Senior Division)/Prescribed Authority, Pilibhit allowing the P.A. Case No. 18 of 2014 (Raj Kumar Vs. Yashwant Singh and another) and the judgement and order dated 24.9.2019 passed by Third Additional District & Sessions Judge, Pilibhit dismissing the P.A. Appeal No. 5 of 2017 (Yashwant Singh (deceased) and others Vs. Raj Kumar) filed by the petitioners against the order dated 31.1.2017.

3. Facts, in brief, are that the respondent-landlord (hereinafter referred as 'respondent') filed a release application under Section 21 (1) (a) of Uttar Pradesh Urban Buildings (Regulation of Letting, Rent and Eviction) Act, 1972 (hereinafter referred as 'U.P.Act No. 13 of 1972') for release of a shop (hereinafter referred as 'disputed shop') situated in Mohalla Khushimal opposite Chhipiyan Masjid, Station Road, Pilibhit against petitioners-tenant (hereinafter referred as 'petitioners'). The need set up by the respondent was that the disputed shop is required for setting up a mobile phone shop and its accessories for the respondent and his son. It is further averred that the respondent has taken a shop on rent at Rs.1260/- per month for doing business opposite the disputed shop in the market of Jaiveer Singh Parmar. It is further averred that the release of the disputed shop would satisfy the need of the respondent and his son.

4. The release application was contested by the petitioners by filing written statement denying the fact that the disputed shop is bonafide required by the respondent for establishing the business for himself and his son. Besides above several other pleas were taken by the petitioners in their objection against the release application.

5. The Trial Court framed as many as three issues. Issue No. 1 was in respect to the relationship between the respondent and the petitioners as landlord and tenant. The issue No. 2 was in respect of bonafide need of the respondent, and Issue No. 3 was in respect of comparative hardship.

6. The Trial Court by placing reliance upon paragraph No. 7 of the written statement admitting the tenancy of the disputed shop held that there was a relationship of landlord and tenant between the petitioners and the respondent. The trial court after appreciating elaborately the evidence on record found that the respondent has established that he is doing business in a rented shop and his son is unemployed, therefore, the need of the respondent is bonafide and genuine and comparative hardship lay in his favour . Consequently, it allowed the release application.

7. The order of the Trial Court dated 31.1.2017 was assailed by the petitioners in appeal. The Appellate Court found no illegality in the order of the Prescribed Authority in allowing the release application. Consequently, it dismissed the appeal.

8. Challenging the aforesaid order, the only submission urged by the counsel for the petitioners is that the case of the respondent in the release application was that the disputed shop is bonafide required by the respondent for establishing the business for himself and his son after reconstruction, therefore, the authority below should have considered the financial capacity of the respondent to reconstruct the disputed shop. Thus, he submits that in the absence of any satisfaction recorded by the authorities below that the respondent has the financial capacity to reconstruct the shop, the authorities below have committed a manifest error of law in allowing the release application. In support of his submission, he has placed reliance upon the judgement of Apex Court in the case of K.N. Anantharaja Gupta Vs. D.V. Usha Vijaykumar (smt), 2007 (13) SCC 592.

9. Per contra, learned counsel for the respondent submits that the issue whether the respondent has the financial capacity to reconstruct the disputed shop is a question of fact, determination of which requires necessary pleading and cogent evidence to prove the said fact. Thus, he submits that in the absence of any pleading in the written statement challenging the financial capacity of the respondent to reconstruct the shop, the said issue cannot be raised for the first time before this court in the writ petition. He further contends that averment in the release application should be read as a whole and not in isolation to ascertain on what ground release of the shop has been sought, and in the instant case, from the reading of release application as a whole, it is crystal clear that the release of the disputed shop has been sought on the ground of the bonafide need of the respondent and not that the business shall be established after the demolition and reconstruction of the shop.

10. He further contends that in a release application filed under Section 21 (1) (a) of the U.P. Act No. 13 of 1972, the landlord has to establish that his need for release is bonafide and comparative hardship lay in his favour. Thus, he urges that if the landlord established these two essential ingredients of Section 21 (1) (a) of U.P. Act No. 13 of 1972, the release application deserves to be allowed. He submits that the Court below after appreciating the shreds of evidence on record held that the need of the respondent is genuine and bonafide, and comparative hardship also lay in favour of respondent, accordingly it allowed the release application. He has placed reliance upon the judgement of this Court in the case of Shree Krishan Garg Vs. Rajendra Singh and other, 2003 (51) ALR 209.

11. I have heard the rival submission of learned counsel for the parties and perused the record.

12. The question which arises in the present case is whether, in a proceeding under Section 21 (1) (a) of U.P. Act No. 13 of 1972, the authorities below are under obligation to consider about the financial capacity of the landlord to reconstruct the disputed shop after demolition.

13. Before adverting to the aforesaid question, it would be relevant to reproduce paragraph No. 2 of the release application which has been relied upon by the counsel for the petitioners in support of his submission. Paragraph No. 2 of the release application reads as under:-

"2. यह है कि विवादित दुकान काफी पुरानी बनी हुई है. प्रार्थी को विवादित दुकान कि स्वयं व अपने पुत्र पराग अग्रवाल के लिए व्यवसाय हेतु आवश्यकता है तथा प्रार्थी दुकान का नवनिर्माण कराकर उसमे स्वयं व अपने पुत्र के साथ मोबाइल व उसके उपकरणो व अन्य सामग्रि के विक्रय करने का व्यवसाय करना चाहता है. "

14. Counsel for the petitioners has emphasized the word "नवनिर्माण" (new construction) in paragraph No. 2 of the release application to contend that use of the word "नवनिर्माण" shows that the release of the disputed shop has been sought on the ground that the disputed shop is bonfiedly required after demolition and new construction for use and occupation of the respondent, otherwise there was no reason for use of the word "नवनिर्माण" in paragraph no. 2 of the release application. Thus, his submission is that the authorities below needed to record its satisfaction about the financial capacity of the landlord to reconstruct the disputed shop after demolition in allowing the release application. Accordingly, he submits that this issue can be raised before this court in the writ petition as it goes to the root of the matter and is a question of law. He has placer reliance upon paragraph Nos. 10 and 11 of the judgement of the Apex Court in the case of K.N. Anantharaja Gupta (supra) which is extracted herein below:-

"10. That apart, there is another aspect of this matter. As noted hereinabove, the eviction of the tenant was sought under Section 27(2)(r) of the Act by alleging that the suit premises was required by the respondent and her children for their own use and occupation after demolition and reconstruction of the building already existing. In order to satisfy this condition, as enumerated in Section 27(2)(r) of the Act, it is essential that the court should also find that the premises let needs to be demolished and that the same would be reconstructed after demolition. It is only after this that the question of user of the same after reconstruction would be taken into consideration.

11. From the order of the High Court passed in revision, it would be evident that the only ground on which the order of the Chief Judge, Small Causes Court, Bangalore was reversed was that the respondent needed the suit premises to demolish the same and to take up new construction and obtain plans from the authority. In our view, before granting a decree for eviction on the ground of demolition and reconstruction and then for use of the same for occupation, the court must be satisfied that: -

(i) the suit premises is so dilapidated that it needs demolition;

(ii) the landlord has the capacity to reconstruct the suit premises after demolition;

(iii) the sanctioned plan has to be taken from the authority concerned."

15. To test the argument of counsel for the petitioners, it would be useful to refer Section 21 (1)(a) and (b) of the U.P. Act No. 13 of 1972 which reads as under:

"21. Proceeding for release of building under occupation of tenant. - (1) The prescribed authority may, on an application of the landlord in that behalf, order the eviction of a tenant from the building under tenancy or any specified part thereof if it is satisfied that any of the following grounds exists namely-

(a) that the building is bona fide required either in its existing form or after demolition and new construction by the landlord for occupation by himself or any member of his family, or any person for whose benefit it is held by him, either for residential purposes or for purposes of any profession, trade or calling, or where the landlord is the trustee of a public charitable trust, for the objects of the trust :

(b) that the building is in a dilapidated condition and is required for purposes of demolition and new construction....."

16. Under Section 21 (1) (a) of the U.P. Act No. 13 of 1972, a landlord can file a release application for release of a building where a building is bonafide required either (i) in existing form or (ii) after demolition and new construction by the landlord for occupation.

17. According to the counsel for the petitioners, reading of paragraph no.2 of the release application unambiguously suggest the intention of the landlord to use the disputed shop after demolition and reconstruction, therefore, the landlord needs to establish that he has sufficient means to reconstruct the disputed shop after demolition to succeed in the release of the disputed shop. Accordingly, he submits that the authorities below were under obligation to record its satisfaction about the financial capacity of the landlord to reconstruct the disputed shop before allowing the release application.

18. At this point, it is pertinent to have a glance at Section 21(b) of the U.P. Act No. 13 of 1972 which provides that the landlord can file release application under Section 21(b) if the building is in dilapidated condition and is required for demolition and new construction. The building can be released under Section 21(b) if the conditions stipulated in Rule 17 of The Uttar Pradesh Urban Buildings (Regulation of Letting, Rent and Eviction), Rules 1972 (hereinafter referred to as 'Rules, 1972') are satisfied. Rule 17 of Rule 1972 reads as under:-

"17. Application for release on the ground far demolition and new construction [Sections 21 (1) (b) and 34 (8).-- Before allowing an application for release of a building under Section 21 (1) (b) on the ground that it is required for purposes of demolition and new construction, the prescribed authority shall satisfy Itself :-*

(i) that the building requires demolition ;

(ii) that a proper estimate of expenditure over the proposed demolition and new construction has been prepared ;

(iii) that a plan has been duly prepared and conforms to the bye-laws or regulations of the local authority or other statutory authority under any law in that behalf for the time being in force; and

(iv) that the landlord has the financial capacity for the proposed demolition and new construction."

19. The state government has framed Rules 1972 in the exercise of power under Section 41 of U.P. Act No. 13 of 1972 to carry out the purpose of the U.P. Act No. 13 of 1972 . Rule 17 of Rule, 1972 has been framed with reference to Section 21(b) of U.P. Act No. 13 of 1972. One of the conditions beside other conditions stipulated in Rule 17 of Rules 1972 which the landlord should satisfy in order to succeed under Section 21 (b) is that he has the financial capacity for the proposed demolition and reconstruction. If the landlord failed to satisfy the condition stipulated in Rule 17(iv) of the Rules 1972, his application would fail. However, it would be pertinent to notice that the legislature has not framed any rule like Rule 17 with reference to Section 21 (a) of U.P. Act No. 13 of 1972 laying down the condition which the landlord has to satisfy to succeed in a proceeding initiated by him under Section 21 (1) (a) of U.P. Act No. 13 of 1972. Thus, it is evident that the landlord is not required to establish his financial capacity to reconstruct the building if the release is sought on the ground that the building is bonafide required after demolition and new construction for use and occupation of the landlord. The landlord in a proceeding under Section 21(a) of the U.P. Act No. 13 of 1972 has to establish that his need is bonafide and genuine, and that comparative hardship lay in his favour, once he satisfies these conditions, release application deserved to be allowed even if the release of the building is sought on the ground that building is bonafide required for use and occupation after demolition and reconstruction.

20. However, if the tenant disputes the financial capacity of the landlord to reconstruct the building, the tenant has to plead in the written statement challenging the financial capacity of the landlord and prove it by leading cogent evidence, and in case of any such plea having been raised by tenant, the Prescribed Authority may incidentally examine the question of financial capacity of the landlord to carry out the demolition and new construction. It would be worth to refer to the judgment of this Court in the case of Shree Krishan Garg (supra). Paragraph Nos. 54, 55 and 56 reads as under:-

"54. It is true that under clause (a) of Sub-section (1) of Section 21 of the Act also, the landlord may seek release on the ground that the building in question is bona fide required "after demolition and new construction". However, in such a case, in my opinion, Rule 17 of the Rules framed under the Act cannot be invoked. In other words, where the landlord files release application under Section 21(1)(a) on the ground that the building in question is bona fide required "after demolition and new construction", he will not be required to establish that the requirements of Rule 17 of the Rules framed under the Act are fulfilled.

55. However, if in such a case, i.e., where the landlord files release application under Section 21(1) (a) on the ground that the building in question is bona fide required "after demolition and new construction", the tenant disputes the bona fide requirement of the landlord on the ground that the landlord lacks the financial capacity to carry out "demolition and new construction", then the Prescribed Authority, in deciding the question of bona fide need, may incidentally examine the question of financial capacity of the landlord to carry out "demolition and new construction".

56. Coming to the present case, it has not been shown that the tenant / petitioner raised any dispute / issue regarding financial capacity of the landlord to make alterations and additions in the disputed shop. Therefore, it was not necessary for the authorities below to consider the question of financial capacity of the landlord while deciding the question of bona fide requirement. "

21. In the case in hand, counsel for the petitioners has not been able to place any averment in the written statement challenging the financial capacity of the respondent to reconstruct the shop nor he could place any material on record to support his contention that the respondent lacks the financial capacity to reconstruct the disputed shop.

22. Further, the intention of the respondent on which ground the release of the disputed shop has been sought cannot be gathered from one word "नवनिर्माण" in paragraph No. 2 of the release application, rather the release application has to be read as a whole to find out the ground on which release application has been filed. In the present case, reading of release application as a whole does not suggest that the release application has been filed by the respondent on the ground that the disputed shop is bonafide required for use and occupation after demolition and new construction.

23. If the petitioner had doubts about the financial capacity of the respondent to reconstruct the disputed shop, he should have challenged it by raising necessary pleading in the written statement and prove the same by filing cogent evidence. That would also give an opportunity to the respondent to negate the apprehension of the petitioner.

24. The matter can also be looked into from another point of view. In the instant case, respondent has laid emphasis on the word "नवनिर्माण" in paragraph No. 2 to challenge the financial capacity of the petitioner to reconstruct the shop. There is no averment in the release application that the shop is required after demolition and new construction by the respondent for occupation. Possibly the word "नवनिर्माण" has been used in the release application in the context that modification or renovation of the disputed shop is needed without demolition to give it a nice look to attract the customers. If the respondent had raised necessary pleading in the written statement in this regard, that would have enabled the petitioner to explain the circumstances and reason for use of word "नवनिर्माण" in the release application and to prove his financial capacity to carry out modification or renovation in the disputed shop. In this view of the matter, the court is of the opinion that the issue of financial capacity to reconstruct the shop is an issue of fact, determination of which requires necessary pleading and evidence to prove the same, and thus, cannot be raised for the first time in the writ petition.

25. The judgement of the Apex Court in K.N. Anantharaja Gupta (supra) relied upon by counsel for the petitioners is of no help to the petitioners for two reasons; in the case of K.N. Anantharaja Gupta, the building was sought to be released on the ground that the building was bonafide needed for use and occupation after demolition and construction whereas in the case in hand, no such case has been set up by the respondent in the release application that disputed shop is bonafide required for use and occupation after demolition and new construction. Secondly, the Apex Court was considering a dispute which arose out of a proceeding of Karnataka Rent Act and not under U.P.Act No. 13 of 1972 where the release of building sought under Section 21(b) of the Act,1972 requires the landlord to satisfy the conditions enumerated in Rule 17 of Rules 1972, but not in a case where the release is sought under Section 21(a) of the Act,1972 on the ground of bonafide need. Thus, the judgment of the Apex Court in the case of K.N. Anantharaja Gupta had been rendered in a different factual context and not applicable in the facts of the present case.

26. Thus, this court is of the view that as the petitioners have not challenged the financial capacity of the respondent before the authorities below, the same cannot be allowed to be raised for the first time in the writ petition.

27. For the reasons given above, this Court does not find any illegality in the orders impugned in this writ petition. The writ petition lacks merit and is accordingly, dismissed with no order as to the cost. Interim order stands vacated.

BEFORE

WRIT A No. 21055 of 2019

Suneet Kumar ...Petitioner
Versus

Krishna Kumar Agarwal ...Respondent

Counsel for the Petitioner:
Sri Divakar Rai Sharma, Sri P.K.Jain

Counsel for the Respondent:
Sri Anil Kumar Rai, Sri Pankaj Agarwal, Sri Vishnu Singh.

Civil Law - Uttar Pradesh Urban Buildings (Regulation of Letting, Rent and Eviction) Act, 1972: Section 21(1)(a) - Merely a family settlement had taken place that would not raise a presumption of it being collusive and tenant cannot prevent the family members of the landlord to partition their property. However, there is an exception to the aforesaid proposition that if the family settlement is a device to avoid rent control law or frustrate the defence of tenant available to him in rent control laws, he can raise objection in this regard in pleading and prove it by filing evidence. (Para 23)

The Court found it evident from the shreds of evidence on record that the property on which godown exist was jointly purchased by the respondent and his three brothers. The respondent became the exclusive owner of the godown on the basis of family settlement and no member of the respondent's family has claim over the godown is manifest from the joint affidavit of brothers. It was further noted that the petitioner in the written statement had failed to establish that the family settlement was collusive and was a device to avoid rent control laws which give protection to the tenant from eviction except on the ground specified in the relevant statute nor there was any evidence on record which demonstrates that family settlement was a sham transaction entered with a purpose to overcome the rent control laws. (Para 19)

It is a settled law that co-owner can maintain a suit (release application) for eviction against a tenant and the tenant cannot raise an objection to its maintainability. (Para 25,28)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Saral Srivastava, J.)

1. Heard Sri Divakar Rai Sharma, learned counsel for the petitioner and Sri Pankaj Agarwal, learned counsel for the respondent.

2. The petitioner-tenant through the present petition has assailed the judgement and order dated 02.11.2018 passed by the Prescribed Authority/Judge Small Causes Court, Aligarh in UPUB Case No.33 of 2012 whereby application of respondent-landlord under Section 21(1)(a) of the U.P. Act No.13 of 1972 (hereinafter referred to as 'Act, 1972') for release of a godown has been allowed, and judgement and order dated 25.10.2019 passed by Additional District Judge, Court No.8, Aligarh dismissing the UPUB Miscellaneous Appeal No.10 of 2018 preferred by the petitioner against the judgement and order dated 2.11.2018.

3. The respondent-landlord (hereinafter referred as 'respondent') has filed release application under Section 21 (1)(a) of the Act, 1972 against the petitioner-tenant (hereinafter referred as 'petitioner') registered as UPUB Case No.33 of 2012 for release of a godown which exists over an area of 72 square yards in the property bearing municipal No.7/3, Patthar Bazar, Shahar Koil, Aligarh. The case of the respondent is that property bearing municipal No.7/3, Patthar Bazar, Shahar Koil, Aligarh (hereinafter referred as 'property') was purchased by the respondent and his three brothers by sale deed dated 25.06.1994 from one Upendra Kumar. A godown in an area of 72 square yards exists over the aforesaid property. It is stated that respondent and his brother Gopal Prasad Agarwal in January 1995 decided to rent out the aforesaid godown to the petitioner on rent @ Rs.1,000/- per month. The petitioner became tenant of the aforesaid godown since January 1995 @ Rs.1,000/- per month. The petitioner had paid the rent @ Rs.1,000/- to Gopal Prasad Agarwal till January 1996, thereafter, no rent was paid which led to the institution of a suit for eviction and arrears of rent by Gopal Prasad Agarwal against the petitioner.

4. It is further stated that the family settlement had entered into between the respondent, his brother Gopal Prasad Agarwal and two other brothers namely Ganga Prasad Agarwal and Atish Kumar (since deceased) on 01.09.2011 in which godown came in the share of the respondent. The respondent suffered a paralytic attack on 04.09.2011 due to which he became unemployed. The respondent has no source of income and he needs money for the education of his eldest son Shivam Agarwal. It is further stated that the financial condition of the family of the respondent is in distress. His eldest son has experience of the business of hardware and plywood and the godown is needed for the establishment of business of his son. It is also averred that the petitioner has other shops in his possession, and he would not face hardship in shifting his business in those shop. In the aforesaid backdrop, respondent has prayed for the release of the godown.

5. The petitioner filed written statement contending inter alia that as per notice dated 12.09.2012 of the respondent, the godown had come in the share of Gopal Prasad Agarwal in a family settlement. Hence, Gopal Prasad Agarwal is the owner of the godown. The respondent has not filed any document to show his title over the godown. It is further pleaded that Gopal Prasad Agarwal had instituted Suit No.39 of 2009 against the petitioner in respect of the godown for eviction and arrears of rent in which respondent had filed an application for impleadment based on family settlement dated 01.09.2011 which was dismissed on the ground that family settlement is not registered. It is also pleaded that father of the petitioner Ganeshi Lal Prem Dayal was the tenant of the godown for the last 72 years and was doing business in the name and style of 'Shri Ganeshi Lal Prem Dayal'. The petitioner denied that respondent is the owner of the godown, therefore, release application by the respondent is not maintainable. Besides above, petitioner also denied the fact that the need of the respondent is bonafide and comparative hardship also lays in favour of the respondent.

6. On the basis of the aforesaid pleadings, the trial court framed as many as three issues. Issue no.1 was as to whether there was relationship of landlord and tenant between respondent and petitioner. Issue no.2 was in respect of bonafide need of respondent and issue no.3 in respect of comparative hardship.

7. The trial court in deciding the issue no.1 noticed that respondent alongwith his three brothers had purchased the property by sale deed dated 25.06.1994, therefore, the respondent was the co-owner of the godown. The trial court further noticed the family settlement dated 01.09.2011 and also the joint affidavit, paper no.30Ga, filed by Gopal Prasad Agarwal, Amit Agarwal acknowledging the fact that property was jointly purchased by Krishna Kumar Agarwal (respondent) with his brothers namely, Atish Kumar Agarwal and Ganga Prasad Agarwal and in family settlement dated 01.09.2011 godown fell in the share of the respondent- Krishna Kumar Agarwal. They also averred in the affidavit that respondent-Krishna Kumar Agarwal is the exclusive owner and landlord of the godown.

8. The trial court also noticed another affidavit of Bharat Kumar, who also endorsed the fact that family settlement had been entered between the family members of the respondent on 01.09.2011. The trial court further considered the evidence led by the petitioner and also the written statement filed by father of the petitioner in SCC Suit No.39 of 2009 wherein father of the petitioner had admitted the respondent as the owner of the godown. The trial court based on the aforesaid evidence and material on the record returned a finding that the respondent is the owner of the godown and there was relationship of landlord and tenant between respondent and petitioner.

9. On the issue of bonafide need and comparative hardship, trial court after appreciating the material and shreds of evidence on record held the need of the respondent is pressing and bonafide, and comparative hardship lay in favour of the respondent.

10. The petitioner feeling aggrieved by the order of the trial court preferred an appeal under Section 22 of Act, 1972 registered as Appeal No.10 of 2018. The appellate court did not find any illegality in the order of the trial court, and accordingly, it dismissed the appeal.

11. Learned counsel for the petitioner has assailed the finding of the courts below only on the issue no.1 relating to the relationship of landlord and tenant between respondent and petitioner. He submits that it is evident from the notice dated 12.09.2012 sent by the respondent to petitioner that godown had fallen in the share of Gopal Prasad Agarwal in the family settlement arrived at between the brothers of the respondent before the death of their mother, therefore, the subsequent family settlement is collusive and a sham transaction to oust the petitioner from the possession of the godown. Thus, he submits that the tenant can challenge a collusive family settlement. In support of the said submission, he has relied upon the case of Raj Vardhan Khandoori (Sri.) Vs. Additional District Judge 2003 (2) ARC 575 and S.K. Sattar Sk. Mohd. Choudhari Vs. Gundappa Amabadas Bukate AIR 1997 SC 998.

12. His further submission is that a family settlement unless registered as per Section 17 of the Registration Act, 1908 can not be read in evidence. Accordingly, he submits that the family settlement, which was made part of the decree of Original Suit No.32 of 2017 (Gopal Prasad Agarwal Vs. Smt. Munni Devi and Others), cannot be read in evidence unless registered under Section 17 of the Registration Act, 1908. In support of this submission, he placed reliance upon the following judgements:-

(i). Mangal Prasad Vs. Vth Additional District Judge, Basti 1992 AIR (All) 235;

(ii). Sita Ram Bhama Vs. Ramvatar Bhama AIR 2018 SC 3057;

(iii). Bhoop Singh Vs. Ram Singh Major and Others AIR 1996 SC 196;

(iv). Bankey Bihari Vs. Surya Narain alias Munno AIR 1999 (All) 167.

13. Thus, based on above submission, it is urged that as the respondent is not the owner of the godown, therefore, there was no relationship of landlord and tenant between respondent and petitioner, and as such, the release application by the respondent was not maintainable.

14. Refuting the aforesaid submission, learned counsel for the respondent has submitted that both the courts below have placed reliance upon the written statement of the father of the petitioner in SCC Suit No.39 of 2009 wherein father of the petitioner had admitted the fact that the respondent is the owner of the godown. He further submits that respondent was arrayed as defendant no.3 in Suit No.414 of 2002 (Firm Shri Ganeshi Lal Prem Dayal Vs. Ganga Prasad & Others) instituted by petitioners firm, and, it is manifest from paragraph no.3 and 4 of the plaint of the said suit that father of the petitioner had accepted the respondent as the owner of the property. His further contention is that the respondent was impleaded as defendant no.4 in Misc. Case No.50 of 2001 filed by the Firm Ganeshi Lal Prem Dayal in which the fact of ownership of respondent in respect of the aforesaid property was admitted by the firm. He has further placed reliance on the joint affidavit of Gopal Prasad Agarwal and Amit Agarwal wherein they admitted respondent as the owner of the godown and stated that they have no claim over it. Thus, he submits that the record of various suits contested between the firm of petitioner and respondent and joint affidavit of Gopal Prasad Agarwal and Amit Agarwal unambiguously establishes that the respondent is the owner of the godown.

15. He further submits that petitioner is the tenant and has no locus to challenge the family settlement dated 01.09.2011. Accordingly, he submits that the contention of counsel for the petitioner that family settlement dated 01.09.2011 is not admissible in evidence and could not have been relied upon by the court below unless registered as per section 17 of Registration Act is without substance. He further urges that the finding of the court below that the respondent is the owner of the godown and there was relationship of landlord and tenant between respondent and petitioner is correct and does not call for any interference by this Court. In support of his aforesaid submissions, he has placed reliance upon the following judgements:-

(i). Om Prakash & Another Vs. Mishri Lal (Dead) Represented by his Lr. Savitri Devi 2017 AIR (SC) 1597;

(ii). Achal Kumar Chaddha Vs. Santosh Kumar Kesharwani 2008 (9) ADJ 282;,

(iii). Sajal Kumar Jauhari Vs. District Judge, Ballia and 9 Others 2016 (2) ARC 46.

16. I have considered the rival submissions of the parties and perused the record.

17. The court below while returning the finding on the issue of relationship of landlord and tenant has placed reliance upon the various documentary evidence viz written statement of the father of petitioner in Original Suit No.39 of 2009, the plaint of Original Suit No.414 of 2002 (Firm Shri Ganeshi Lal Prem Dayal Vs. Ganga Prasad & Others), the record of Miscellaneous Case No.50 of 2001 filed by Firm Ganeshi Lal Prem Dayal for the deposit of rent. Besides the above, the court below also considered the joint affidavit of Gopal Prasad Agarwal and Amit Agarwal, paper no.30Ga, wherein they had acknowledged the family settlement dated 01.09.2011 amongst the family members in which godown fell in the share of respondent-Krishna Kumar Agarwal, and the respondent is the landlord and owner of the godown and they have no concern with the godown. The court below elaborately considered the above evidence and other documentary evidence in recording the finding that respondent is the owner of the godown and there exist relationship of landlord and tenant between the respondent and petitioner.

18. Thus, it is evident from shreds of evidence on record that property on which godown exist was jointly purchased by the respondent and his three brothers. The respondent became the exclusive owner of the godown on the basis of family settlement, and no member of respondent's family has claim over the godown is manifest from the joint affidavit of Gopal Prasad Agarwal and Amit Agarwal. Hence, the respondent is the exclusive owner of the godown.

19. Now the issue which arises for consideration in view of the submission of petitioner is whether a tenant can challenge the family settlement arrived at between the members of the family of the landlord.

20. The counsel for the petitioner has relied upon paragraph 12 of the judgment of Uttarakhand High Court in the case of Raj Vardhan Khandoori (Sri.) (supra) and paragraph 37 of the judgment of Apex Court in the case of S.K. Sattar Sk. Mohd. Choudhari (Supra) in support of his contention that the tenant can challenge the family settlement if it is collusive and has been arrived at to frustrate the defence of the petitioner.

21. Paragraph 12 of the judgment of Uttarakhand High Court in the case of Raj Vardhan Khandoori (Sri.) (supra) is reproduced hereunder:

"12. It has further been held in the case of Sharvan Kumar Mittal v. XVIIIth A.D.J. Meerut and others 2001 (1) ARC 456, as under:

The mere fact that a family settlement had taken place will not raise a presumption of its being collusive. Parties are free to settle their affairs of mutual agreement through family settlement. If such a settlement is a device to frustrate malafide the defence of the tenant then certainly the tenant should have lead evidence on the point and passed the plea and got it adjudicated in appeal. It will be open to the tenant to raise the objection regarding family settlement being collusive; while the appeal itself is being adjudicated. The Court below in appeal allowed amendment application. The main appeal is still pending. I find no manifest error apparent on the face of the record in view of the decision of the Supreme Court reported in MANU/SC/0016/1969: AIR 1969 SC 1267."

22. Paragraph 37 of the judgment of Apex Court in the case of S.K. Sattar Sk. Mohd. Choudhari (Supra) is also reproduced hereunder:

"37. In view of the above discussion, it is obvious that the law with regard to the spliting of tenancy is not what the High Court has set out in the impugned judgment. As pointed out earlier, a co-sharer cannot initiate action for eviction of the tenant from the portion of the tenanted accommodation nor can he sue for his part of the rent. The tenancy cannot be split up either in estate or in rent or any other obligation by unilateral act of one of the co-owners. If, however, all the co-owners or the co-lessors agree among themselves and split by partition the demised property by metes and bounds and come to have definite, positive and identifiable shares in that property, they become separate individual owners of each severed portion and can deal with that portion as also the tenant thereof as individual owner/lessor. The right of joint lessors contemplated by Section 109 comes to be possessed by each of them separately and independently. There is no right in the tenant to prevent the joint owners or colessors from partitioning the tenanted accommodation among themselves. Whether the Premises, which is in occupation of a tenant, shall be retained jointly by all the lessors or they would partition it among themselves, is the exclusive right of the lessors to which no objection can be taken by the tenant, particularly where the tenant knew from the very beginning that the property was jointly owned by several persons and that, even if he was being dealt with by only one of them on behalf of the whole body of the lessors, he cannot object to the transfer of any portion of the property in favour of a third person by one of the owners or to the partition of the property. It will, however, be open to the tenant to show that the partition was not bona fide and was a sham transaction to overcome the rigours of Rent Control laws which protected eviction of tenants except on specified grounds set out in the relevant statute."

23. From the reading of the aforesaid two judgments, it is clear that merely a family settlement had taken place, that would not raise a presumption of it being collusive and tenant cannot prevent the family members of the landlord to partition their property. However, there is an exception to the aforesaid proposition that if the family settlement is a device to avoid rent control law or frustrate the defence of tenant available to him in rent control laws, he can raise objection in this regard in pleading and prove it by filing evidence.

24. Now coming to the facts of the present case, the counsel for the petitioner could not demonstrate from the record that it was the case of the petitioner in the written statement that the family settlement was collusive and was a device to avoid rent control laws which give protection to the tenant from eviction except on the ground specified in the relevant statute nor there was any evidence on record which demonstrates that the family settlement was a sham transaction entered with a purpose to overcome the rent control laws. It is worth noticing that the release application by the respondent has been filed under section 21(a) of Act,1972 on the grounds available to the landlord in the Act,1972 for seeking eviction of the petitioner. Thus, in the present case, family settlement cannot be termed to be a collusive and sham transaction to render petitioner defenceless as the release application has been filed under Rent Control Act i.e. Act,1972. Accordingly, this court finds no merit in the submission of counsel for the petitioner that family settlement is a device to overcome the protection available to the petitioner under rent control laws.

25. In the instant case, the question of maintainability of release application by the respondent can also be looked at from another point of view. From the facts delineated above, it is unambiguously established that the respondent was co-owner of the property over which godown exists. It is settled law that a co-owner can maintain a suit for eviction against a tenant. Reference may be had to the case of Om Prakash (supra), wherein the apex court has held that a suit for eviction of a tenant can be maintained by one of the co-owners and tenant has no right to question the maintainability of the suit on the ground that other co-owners were not joined. Paragraphs 32 and 34 of the judgement are being extracted hereinbelow:-

"32. It is no longer res integra and is settled by this Court in Sri Ram Pasricha vs. Jagannath and Ors., (1976) 4 SCC 184, Dhannalal vs. Kalawatibai and Ors. (2002) 6 SCC 16 and India Umberalla Manufacturing Co. and Ors. vs. Bhagabandei Agarwalla (dead) by Lrs. Savitri Agarwalla (Smt.) and Ors. (2004) 3 SCC 178 that a suit for eviction of a tenant can be maintained by one of the co-owners and it would be no defence to the tenant to question the maintainability of the suit on the ground that the other co-owners were not joined as parties to the suit. The judicially propounded proposition is that when the property forming the subject matter of eviction proceedings is owned by several co-owners, every co-owner owns every part and every bit of the joint property along with others and thus it cannot be said that he is only a part owner or a fractional owner of the property and that he can alone maintain a suit for eviction of the tenant without joining the other co-owners if such other co-owners do not object. In the contextual facts, not only the compromise decree, as aforementioned, has declared the appellants to be the joint owners of the suit premises, their status as such has not been questioned at any stage by anyone interested in the title thereto.

34. That a tenant during the continuance of the tenancy is debarred on the doctrine of estoppel from denying the title of his landlord through whom he claims tenancy, as is enshrined in Section 116 of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872, is so well-settled a legal postulation that no decision need be cited to further consolidate the same. This enunciation, amongst others is reiterated by this Court in S. Thangappan vs. P. Padmavathy (1999) 7 SCC 474 and Bhogadi Kannababu and Ors. vs. Vuggina Pydamma and others (2006) 5 SCC 532. In any view of the matter, the appellants, being the son of Bhola Nath, who at all relevant time, was the landlord vis-à-vis the original defendant and the respondents in terms of Section 3(j) of the Act, their status as landlords for the purpose of eviction under the Act, could not have been questioned so as to non suit them for want of locus."

26. The judgment of this court in the case of Achal Kumar Chaddha (supra) is also relevant wherein this court dismissed the writ petition of a tenant on the ground that even if the partition is ignored, the landlord being one of the co-owner can file a release application. Paragraph 5 of the judgement is being extracted hereinbelow:-

"5. In any case, even if partition is ignored, respondent is co-owner and release application may be filed by a co-owner also vide Gopal Das v. A.D.J., 1997 (1) ARC 281 : 1987 All LJ 494 (FB). Moreover, the Supreme Court in AIR 2004 SC 1321, India Umbrella Manufacturing Co., M/s v. Bhagabandei Agarwalla and AIR 2006 SC 1471, Mohinder Prasad Jain v. Manohar Lal Jain has held that even one of the landlords can file eviction proceedings against tenant and he need not show the consent of the other landlords. No other brother, sister or father of the respondent ever raised any objection against the partition."

27. In the case of Sajal Kumar Jauhari (supra), this Court has held that proceedings under Section 21(1)(a) of the Act, 1972 are summary in nature and question of title cannot be decided. Paragraphs 33 and 34 of the judgement are being extracted hereinbelow:-

"33. To deal with this contention of the learned counsel for the petitioner, it is note-worthy that there is no basis for his submission that the disputed accommodation exists over plot no. 59-A/1 and 50-B and the said property belonged to someone else. The sale deed of the year 1933 cannot be made basis to challenge the title of the applicants/landlord. Moreover, the disputed accommodation came in the share of the applicants by a decree of the Civil Court passed in a partition suit no. 203 of 2001 which was filed by the co-owners. This fact is not disputed by the petitioner. The rent control proceedings are summary proceeding and the question of title cannot be decided therein as it requires appreciation of oral and documentary evidences which is not permissible in a summery proceeding. Prima facie, title to the disputed accommodation can be seen by the Rent Controller only with a view to look as to whether the applicant is landlord of the accommodation, release of which is sought by him.

34. On the landlord-tenant relationship, the written statement filed by Shyam Das, the father of the petitioner in the year 2007 becomes much more relevant. In his written statement, he had denied the landlord-tenant relationship on the ground that the decree of partition obtained by the applicants/landlord was a collusive decree and they are not the owners of the disputed accommodation. The challenge was not on the ground that Gopal Das Mishra or his heirs are owners of the disputed accommodation under tenancy as suggested by the petitioners."

28. In view of the law propounded by this court and apex court in the above-referred cases, it is crystal clear that the release application by the respondent as a co-owner was maintainable and the tenant cannot raise an objection to the maintainability of release application by the respondent.

29. Coming to another submission of counsel for the petitioner that a family settlement unless registered under section 17 of the Registration Act cannot be read in evidence; the said issue, in the opinion of the court, in the facts of the present case is irrelevant and does not require any consideration for the reason that it is already held that the release application by the respondent, even if the family settlement is ignored, was maintainable. Further, the judgments relied upon by the counsel for the petitioner in support of the aforesaid submission are of no help to petitioner since none of the judgements arises out proceedings under Rent Control Act and has been rendered in different factual circumstances.

30. Therefore, in the light of the above discussion, it is held that there was relationship of landlord and tenant between the respondent and petitioner and the release application by the respondent was maintainable.

31. Accordingly, this Court does not find any illegality in the orders impugned in the writ petition. The writ petition lacks merit and is, accordingly, dismissed with no order as to costs.

CIVIL SIDE

BEFORE THE HON'BLE YASHWANT VARMA, J.

WRIT A No. 23578 of 2013

Shant Deo Tripathi ...Petitioner
Versus

Deputy General Manager/Appellate Authority, State Bank of India, Kanpur & Ors. ...Respondents

Counsel for the Petitioner:
Sri Nigamendra Shukla

Counsel for the Respondents:
Sri Satish Chaturvedi, S.C.

Service Law - identical charge being tried in criminal trial as in disciplinary proceedings - Indian Evidence Act, 1872: Section 114 - The Court observed that a judgment of acquittal does not necessarily result in an identical charge not being tried in departmental proceedings. This is because the Courts have consistently recognized and emphasized the distinct standard of proof which apply to criminal prosecutions and disciplinary proceedings. In the former, the charge must be proved beyond all reasonable doubt, in disciplinary proceedings the standard which applies is a preponderance of probabilities. (Para 19)

The petitioner is alleged to have unauthorizedly signed a Draft thus jeopardizing the interest of the Bank and was tried at criminal court as well as in departmental proceeding. The Court noted that in criminal trial best evidence was never produced, documentary evidence available with the respondents in support of the charge was not introduced, material and crucial witnesses were never examined and most of the prosecution witnesses turned hostile. The judgment of acquittal in that sense cannot be viewed as being one exonerating the petitioner conclusively. It essentially came to be handed down on account of failure on the part of the prosecution to prove the charges beyond reasonable doubt. This was not a decision honorably acquitting the petitioner. To the contrary, in the disciplinary proceedings which were undertaken the respondents produced voluminous material in support of the charge and also examined material witnesses on whose testimony the charges were held to be proved. The petitioner not only chose not to cross-examine those witnesses, he failed to lead any oral evidence in support of his innocence.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Yashwant Varma, J.)

1. Heard Sri Nigamendra Shukla, learned counsel for the petitioner and Sri Satish Chaturvedi, learned counsel appearing for the respondent-Bank.

2. The petitioner assails an order of dismissal dated 17 September 2012. A challenge is also laid to the order passed by the Appellate Authority on 8 January 2013 affirming the decision taken by the Disciplinary Authority. The petitioner prays for the setting aside of the aforesaid orders and for the grant of all consequential benefits including arrears of pay from the date of dismissal till he would have attained the age of retirement on 31 May 2013. The present petition represents the second foray of the petitioner before this Court. Earlier the respondents had dismissed the petitioner on 4 December 2000. That order was challenged by way of Writ-A No. -1019 of 2002. A learned Judge of the Court by a detailed judgment allowed that writ petition and quashed the orders of dismissal and that passed by the Appellate Authority. The Court left it open for the respondents to conduct a disciplinary enquiry afresh commencing from the stage of oral enquiry and after filing of documents by the employer. The learned Judge while allowing the writ petition noted that out of the 22 charges which were levelled against the petitioner, Charges (vii) to (xxii) also formed part of a criminal prosecution that was launched against the petitioner and in which he had been ultimately acquitted. Noticing the similarity in the charges that formed part of the departmental enquiry and the criminal prosecution, the learned Judge observed thus:

"43. The technical difference in charge was not relevant but what was relevant is that the charges are based on the same set of facts. It has been admitted by respondents that charges no.7 to 22 are based on the same facts as were involved in criminal case pending against petitioner. In this case, besides the general principles of law, as discussed above, statutory provision binding upon both the parties also contemplate that departmental enquiry shall stand deferred when criminal proceedings commenced but the said provision has been given a complete go by. I am therefore constrained to hold that continuance to proceed with the departmental enquiry in respect to charges no.7 to 22 in this matter was not legal and valid and besides the exposition of law, as laid down in Noida Entrepreneurs Assn (supra), the same was in the teeth of para 521 of Shastry Award and to this extent, it is vitiated in law."

3. The learned Judge then proceeding to deal with the validity of the enquiry which was held rendered the following observations:

"53. The procedure prescribed in para 521 contemplates an adequate opportunity of defence. Here is not a case where the petitioner had accepted his guilt, therefore it was incumbent upon department to prove charges against the petitioner and only thereafter he could have been required to place his defence to disprove the charges. Except of filing documents before Enquiry Officer, the Presenting Officer did not take any further step for proving charges. If the charges are such which stood proved from bare perusal of documents, in such a case no formal proof or overt act on the part of the department is necessary since Enquiry Officer can peruse the documents and find out whether charges stood proved or not. In such a case onus would shift upon delinquent employee to disprove the charges. It is quite plausible and permissible but the question would be whether it is so in the case in hand. Let us examine the manner in which the Enquiry Officer had discussed the documents."

4. Insofar as Charge No. I (iv) is concerned, the Court held thus:

"58. In respect to charge no. 4 again Enquiry Officer held that to petitioner's defence "Presenting Officer did not offer any comment." "The petitioner alone cannot be held responsible for such act." Yet he has held the entire charge proved which is beyond comprehension. Once no evidence is found that there was no other officer available in the Branch to sign the draft and therefore under instructions of Branch Manager, petitioner signed the draft, unless the Bank could have shown that Bank Manager himself acted illegally, compliance of his direction by petitioner cannot constitute a misconduct on his part. Therefore, it is also difficult to hold charge no. 4 proved."

5. It was ultimately observed by the learned Judge that the enquiry had not been conducted fairly and in a manner consistent with the principles of nature justice. The aforesaid conclusions stand recorded in paragraphs 65-66 which are extracted herein below:

"65. No person from the Bank appeared and could show that signatures of petitioner on various documents were unauthorised since he was not permitted to do so. With respect to charges no. 7 to 22, on the basis of mere language of the charges contained in the charge sheet, Enquiry Officer held the same proved, since petitioner did not/could not adduce any defence for the reason that the same may cause prejudice to him in criminal proceedings pending against the charges involving same set of facts at that time.

66. In totality of the circumstances, I am clearly of the opinion that departmental enquiry, in the case in hand, has not been conducted fairly, impartially and in a manner consistent with the Principles of natural justice and also the procedure prescribed in para 521 of Shastry Award."

6. The respondent Bank assailed the decision of the learned Judge by way of Special Appeal No. 58 of 20122. The Division Bench however recorded the statement of the respondents that they were ready to reinstate the petitioner and to hold a fresh enquiry. In light of the statement so made the appeal was disposed of on 21 March 2012 in the following terms:

"Having considered the submissions advanced and in view of the statement given by the learned counsel for the parties the appeal stands disposed of with the observations that the appellant Bank would abide by the directions contained in the judgment of the learned Single Judge except to the extent that the direction for payment of the arrears of subsistence allowance for the period from the date of termination till reinstatement would remain stayed in the meanwhile and would abide by the final decision that may now be taken by the Disciplinary Authority after fresh inquiry."

7. Consequent to the liberty so granted, the respondents proceeded to conduct the departmental enquiry afresh. Upon conclusion of that enquiry, the Enquiry Officer in terms of his report of 27 August 2012 concluded that Charges No. I (i) to Charges No. I (iii), Charge No. I (v), Charge No. I (vi) and Charge No. II did not stand proved. He however recorded that Charge No. I-(iv) and Charge No. I (vii)-(xxii) stood proved. The Disciplinary Authority upon due consideration of that report and taking into consideration the gravity of the charges which stood levelled reiterated the original decision of the Bank and inflicted upon the petitioner the penalty of dismissal. It was further observed that the period of suspension will be treated as such and that no further salary or allowance would be payable other than the subsistence allowance already paid to the petitioner. That order of the Disciplinary Authority was affirmed in appeal where after the present writ petition came to be preferred.

8. The order of dismissal insofar as Charges I (vii)-(xxii) are assailed principally on the basis of the judgment of acquittal which was rendered by the Criminal Court on 24 September 2002. According to the learned counsel since those charges were identical to those which formed part of the criminal prosecution, once the petitioner had been acquitted it was not open to the respondent Bank to inflict the punishment of dismissal. Insofar as Charge No. I (iv) is concerned, learned counsel submits that in light of the findings which were returned inter partes by the learned Judge on the earlier writ petition it was impermissible for the Enquiry Officer to have held the petitioner guilty of that charge. Learned counsel submits that in light of the categorical findings returned in the earlier decision that the petitioner alone could not be held responsible for the act, that charge could not have been held to be established against the petitioner. In view thereof, it was submitted that both the Disciplinary as well Appellate Authority clearly committed a manifest illegality in holding the petitioner guilty of the misconduct alleged and forming part of Charge I (iv). Insofar as the findings returned in respect of Charges I (vii)-(xxii) are concerned, they are assailed on the principles elucidated by the Supreme Court in G.M. Tank Vs. State of Gujarat. Learned counsel contends that once the charges in the criminal prosecution and the disciplinary enquiry are found to be identical, an acquittal in the criminal trial clearly denudes the respondents from the right to inflict the punishment of dismissal in respect thereof. Reliance was placed on the following principles that were laid down in G.M. Tank:

"30. The judgments relied on by the learned counsel appearing for the respondents are distinguishable on facts and on law. In this case, the departmental proceedings and the criminal case are based on identical and similar set of facts and the charge in a Departmental case against the appellant and the charge before the Criminal Court are one and the same. It is true that the nature of charge in the departmental proceedings and in the criminal case is grave. The nature of the case launched against the appellant on the basis of evidence and material collected against him during enquiry and investigation and as reflected in the charge-sheet, factors mentioned are one and the same. In other words, charges, evidence, witnesses and circumstances are one and the same. In the present case, criminal and departmental proceedings have already noticed or granted on the same set of facts namely, raid conducted at the appellant's residence, recovery of articles therefrom. The Investigating Officer, Mr. V.B. Raval and other departmental witnesses were the only witnesses examined by the Enquiry Officer who by relying upon their statement came to the conclusion that the charges were established against the appellant. The same witnesses were examined in the criminal case and the criminal court on the examination came to the conclusion that the prosecution has not proved the guilt alleged against the appellant beyond any reasonable doubt and acquitted the appellant by its judicial pronouncement with the finding that the charge has not been proved. It is also to be noticed the judicial pronouncement was made after a regular trial and on hot contest. Under these circumstances, it would be unjust and unfair and rather oppressive to allow the findings recorded in the departmental proceedings to stand.

31. In our opinion, such facts and evidence in the department as well as criminal proceedings were the same without there being any iota of difference, the appellant should succeed. The distinction which is usually proved between the departmental and criminal proceedings on the basis of the approach and burden of proof would not be applicable in the instant case. Though finding recorded in the domestic enquiry was found to be valid by the Courts below, when there was an honourable acquittal of the employee during the pendency of the proceedings challenging the dismissal, the same requires to be taken note of and the decision in Paul Anthony case [(1999) 3 SCC 679 : 1999 SCC (L&S) 810] will apply. We, therefore, hold that the appeal filed by the appellant deserves to be allowed."

9. Refuting those submissions Sri Satish Chaturvedi, learned counsel appearing for the respondent Bank, would contend that acquittal in the criminal case cannot ipso facto lead to the employer being deprived of the right to try those charges in a disciplinary enquiry. According to Sri Chaturvedi since the standard of proof in both proceedings is different and in a departmental enquiry the respondents are not obliged to prove the charges beyond reasonable doubt, a judgment of acquittal cannot in all circumstances be held to have concluded the issue nor can it be recognized as divesting the employer of the right to try those charges independently. Sri Satish Chaturvedi, learned counsel then took the Court through the judgment handed down by the criminal court in some detail to establish that the same cannot to be appreciated without bearing in mind the backdrop in which it came to be rendered. It was highlighted that most of the account holders who were complainants and produced as prosecution witnesses had turned hostile during the course of trial, the prosecution there had failed to produce the relevant documents in support of the charge and also failed to produce the Cashier and other relevant witnesses. According to Sri Chaturvedi, the criminal court acquitted the petitioner since the prosecution had failed to establish the charges beyond reasonable doubt and consequently it cannot be viewed as a judgment exonerating or acquitting the petitioner on merits. Taking the Court through the enquiry report it was highlighted that to the contrary in the enquiry proceedings the respondent Bank had produced the Cashier and other crucial witnesses to prove the charges that were levelled against the petitioner. Viewed in that light Sri Chaturvedi submitted that the impugned order clearly did not merit any interference. Sri Chaturvedi further submitted that the petitioner was an employee of a financial institution against whom serious charges of financial misconduct and failure to abide by the policies and procedures formulated by the Bank was laid. Sri Chaturvedi submitted that the conduct of an employee in a financial institution is liable to be tested against strict standards of conduct and the imperative need of such employees being held liable to adhere to codified practices and procedures formulated. Viewed on the strength of those standards, it was submitted that the orders impugned did not merit interference by this Court.

10. Seeking to distinguish the principles laid down in G.M. Tank, Sri Chaturvedi placed reliance upon the following decisions. He drew the attention of the Court firstly to the judgment rendered in Commissioner Of Police, New Delhi and Another Vs. Mehar Singh to submit that a judgment of acquittal which comes to be rendered in the backdrop of witnesses turning hostile cannot be accepted as an acquittal on merits and consequently departmental proceedings can be justifiably taken even though the employee or officer may have been acquitted. Sri Chaturvedi placed reliance upon paragraphs 24, 25, 26 of the decision rendered in Mehar Singh which read thus:

"24. We find no substance in the contention that by cancelling the respondents' candidature, the Screening Committee has overreached the judgments of the criminal court. We are aware that the question of co-relation between a criminal case and a departmental inquiry does not directly arise here, but, support can be drawn from the principles laid down by this Court in connection with it because the issue involved is somewhat identical, namely, whether to allow a person with doubtful integrity to work in the department. While the standard of proof in a criminal case is the proof beyond all reasonable doubt, the proof in a departmental proceeding is preponderance of probabilities. Quite often criminal cases end in acquittal because witnesses turn hostile. Such acquittals are not acquittals on merit. An acquittal based on benefit of doubt would not stand on a par with a clean acquittal on merit after a full-fledged trial, where there is no indication of the witnesses being won over. In R.P. Kapur v. Union of India [AIR 1964 SC 787] this Court has taken a view that departmental proceedings can proceed even though a person is acquitted when the acquittal is other than honourable.

25. The expression "honourable acquittal" was considered by this Court in S. Samuthiram. In that case this Court was concerned with a situation where disciplinary proceedings were initiated against a police officer. Criminal case was pending against him under Section 509 IPC and under Section 4 of the Eve-Teasing Act. He was acquitted in that case because of the non-examination of key witnesses. There was a serious flaw in the conduct of the criminal case. Two material witnesses turned hostile. Referring to the judgment of this Court in RBI v. Bhopal Singh Panchal [(1994) 1

SCC 541], where in somewhat similar fact situation, this Court upheld a bank's action of refusing to reinstate an employee in service on the ground that in the criminal case he was acquitted by giving him benefit of doubt and, therefore, it was not an honourable acquittal, this Court held that the High Court was not justified in setting aside the punishment imposed in the departmental proceedings. This Court observed that the expressions "honourable acquittal", "acquitted of blame" and "fully exonerated" are unknown to the Criminal Procedure Code or the Penal Code. They are coined by judicial pronouncements. It is difficult to define what is meant by the expression "honourably acquitted". This Court expressed that when the accused is acquitted after full consideration of the prosecution case and the prosecution miserably fails to prove the charges leveled against the accused, it can possibly be said that the accused was honourably acquitted.

26. In light of above, we are of the opinion that since the purpose of the departmental proceedings is to keep persons, who are guilty of serious misconduct or dereliction of duty or who are guilty of grave cases of moral turpitude, out of the department, if found necessary, because they pollute the department, surely the above principles will apply with more vigour at the point of entry of a person in the police department i.e. at the time of recruitment. If it is found by the Screening Committee that the person against whom a serious case involving moral turpitude is registered is discharged on technical grounds or is acquitted of the same charge but the acquittal is not honourable, the Screening Committee would be entitled to cancel his candidature. Stricter norms need to be applied while appointing persons in a disciplinary force because public interest is involved in it."

11. Reliance was then placed upon another decision of the Supreme Court in Deputy Inspector General of Police Vs. S. Samuthiram and more particularly paragraphs 23 to 26 thereof, which are extracted hereunder:

"23. We are of the view that the mere acquittal of an employee by a criminal court has no impact on the disciplinary proceedings initiated by the Department. The respondent, it may be noted, is a member of a disciplined force and non-examination of two key witnesses before the criminal court that is Adiyodi and Peter, in our view, was a serious flaw in the conduct of the criminal case by the Prosecution. Considering the facts and circumstances of the case, the possibility of winning over PWs 1 and 2 in the criminal case cannot be ruled out. We fail to see, why the Prosecution had not examined Head Constables Adiyodi (No. 1368) and Peter (No. 1079) of Tenkasi Police Station. It was these two Head Constables who took the respondent from the scene of occurrence along with PWs 1 and 2, husband and wife, to Tenkasi Police Station and it is in their presence that the complaint was registered. In fact, the criminal court has also opined that the signature of PW 1 (complainant husband) is found in Ext.P-1 complaint. Further, the Doctor PW8 has also clearly stated before the enquiry officer that the respondent was under the influence of liquor and that he had refused to undergo blood and urine tests. That being the factual situation, we are of the view that the respondent was not honourably acquitted by the criminal court, but only due to the fact that PW 1 and PW 2 turned hostile and other prosecution witnesses were not examined.

Honourable Acquittal

24. The meaning of the expression "honourable acquittal" came up for consideration before this Court in RBI v. Bhopal Singh Panchal (1994) 1 SCC 541. In that case, this Court has considered the impact of Regulation 46(4) dealing with honourable acquittal by a criminal court on the disciplinary proceedings. In that context, this Court held that the mere acquittal does not entitle an employee to reinstatement in service, the acquittal, it was held, has to be honourable. The expressions "honourable acquittal", "acquitted of blame", "fully exonerated" are unknown to the Code of Criminal Procedure or the Penal Code, which are coined by judicial pronouncements. It is difficult to define precisely what is meant by the expression "honourably acquitted". When the accused is acquitted after full consideration of prosecution evidence and that the prosecution had miserably failed to prove the charges levelled against the accused, it can possibly be said that the accused was honourably acquitted.

25. In R.P. Kapoor v. Union of India, AIR 1964 SC 787, it was held that even in the case of acquittal, departmental proceedings may follow where the acquittal is other than honourable. In State of Assam and another v. Raghava Rajgopalachari [1972 SLR 44 (SC)], this Court quoted with approval the views expressed by Lord Williams, J. in Robert Stuart Wauchope v. Emperor ILR (1934) 61 Cal 168 which is as follows:

"8...The expression "honourably acquitted" is one which is unknown to courts of justice. Apparently it is a form of order used in courts martial and other extra judicial tribunals. We said in our judgment that we accepted the explanation given by the appellant believed it to be true and considered that it ought to have been accepted by the government authorities and by the Magistrate. Further, we decided that the appellant had not misappropriated the monies referred to in the charge. It is thus clear that the effect of our judgment was that the appellant was acquitted as fully and completely as it was possible for him to be acquitted. Presumably, this is equivalent to what government authorities term "honourably acquitted"."

26. As we have already indicated, in the absence of any provision in the service rule for reinstatement, if an employee is honourably acquitted by a criminal court, no right is conferred on the employee to claim any benefit including reinstatement. Reason is that the standard of proof required for holding a person guilty by a criminal court and the enquiry conducted by way of disciplinary proceeding is entirely different. In a criminal case, the onus of establishing the guilt of the accused is on the prosecution and if it fails to establish the guilt beyond reasonable doubt, the accused is assumed to be innocent. It is settled law that the strict burden of proof required to establish guilt in a criminal court is not required in a disciplinary proceedings and preponderance of probabilities is sufficient. There may be cases where a person is acquitted for technical reasons or the prosecution giving up other witnesses since few of the other witnesses turned hostile, etc. In the case on hand the prosecution did not take steps to examine many of the crucial witnesses on the ground that the complainant and his wife turned hostile. The court, therefore, acquitted the accused giving the benefit of doubt. We are not prepared to say that in the instant case, the respondent was honourably acquitted by the criminal court and even if it is so, he is not entitled to claim reinstatement since the Tamil Nadu Service Rules do not provide so."

12. Sri Chaturvedi then placed reliance on a recent decision of the Supreme Court in Karnataka Power Transmission Corporation Limited represented by Managing Director (Administration And HR Vs. C. Nagaraju And Another6 where the principles laid down in G.M. Tank were noted and explained. It is these rival submissions that consequently fall for consideration.

13. Before dealing with the charges which also formed part of the criminal trial, it would be apposite to deal with Charge I (iv). That charge alleged that the petitioner had unauthorizedly signed a Draft for Rs.85,069/- thus jeopardizing the interest of the Bank. The case set up against the petitioner was that since he was a member of the award staff he was not authorized to sign that draft. The petitioner in his defense had asserted that the draft was signed on the verbal instructions of the Branch Manager and since no other officer was present in the Branch on that date. The Enquiry Officer has held that charge proved by simply holding that since the petitioner had admittedly signed the Draft and had duly accepted having performed that act, the charge must be held to be proved. It becomes pertinent to recollect that dealing with that charge the learned Judge while allowing the earlier writ petition had unequivocally observed that once it was found that there was no other officer available in the Branch to sign the draft and that the same came to be done upon the verbal instructions of the Branch Manager, the petitioner could not have been held guilty. It was further observed that the mere act of the petitioner complying with the directive of the Branch Manager cannot constitute misconduct. It becomes relevant to note that upon remit the respondents neither assert nor did they lead any evidence to establish that the defense proffered by the petitioner was incorrect. The respondents did not lead any evidence that may have dislodged the explanation tendered by the petitioner namely that he had signed the draft on the verbal instructions of the Branch Manager and since no other officer was present in the Branch on that date. It was open to the respondents to produce the Branch Manager or other witnesses to establish that the explanation submitted was factually incorrect. However they chose not to do so. In that view of the matter as well as in light of the findings recorded in the earlier round of litigation in respect of this particular charge, this Court finds itself unable to countenance the finding of guilt as returned in this respect.

14. However, notwithstanding the conclusion recorded above, that still leaves the Court to consider the validity of the findings which were returned in respect of Charges I (vii)-(xxii). As was noted earlier, the findings of guilt returned in respect of these charges are assailed solely on the basis of the findings returned by the criminal court. Dealing with this aspect, the Enquiry Officer observed as follows:

a) During enquiry proceeding dated 20.07.2012 the EPA had given a letter dated 20.07.2012 indexed as D.Ex-2 demanding that PO should call upon all the complainants, on the basis of whose complaint the charge No.7 to 22 are framed, for cross examination. The PO advised during the same day enquiry proceedings (page no.4) that since the complainants are from general public and beyond control of the Bank, they can not be produced as witness, however, Shri S.K. Tripathi, Accountant Bidhuna branch, who is custodian of the documents, is available who can be cross examined by the EPA but the EPA not demanded for his (the Accountant's) cross examination during enquiry proceedings on date as well as on later dates of the proceedings. I observed that contention of the PO is justified as the complainants are from public, the Banks has no right over them to call upon for cross examination. Moreover the custodian of the documents was present for cross examination but the EPA had not shown any interest to cross-examine him during enquiry proceedings. Further, at any point of time during entire enquiry proceedings the EPA had not stated that he wants to produce any defence witness despite PO's consent in this regard shown during enquiry proceedings dated 20.07.2012 (page No.4). I, therefore, find that statement written in defence brief of the EPA that he was not given time to produce the complainants as defence witness, is incorrect.

b) I find that the PO stated during enquiry proceedings dated 20.07.2012 (page No.4) that the EPA can cross-examine the custodian of the documents Shri S.K. Tripathi, Accountant Bidhuna Branch but the EPA neither on that day nor during any point of time of entire enquiry proceedings has demanded to cross examine Shri Tripathi, therefore, his contention that the Branch accountant was not produced for cross examination is not tenable.

c) I find that the standard of proof in departmental proceedings is that of "preponderance of probabilities" and not of "proof beyond reasonable doubt". Therefore, opinion of hand writing expert not necessarily required to be taken, as EPA's handwriting / signature / initials available on P.Exs. are apparently matching with those on Bank's records."

15. In order to test the veracity of the submission addressed on the strength of the judgment handed down by the criminal court it becomes necessary to analyse that decision in some detail. On a careful consideration of the judgment rendered by the criminal court, the Court notes that apart from one complainant Rajjak (P.W.-1) all the other account holders who are alleged to have made complaints against the petitioner had turned hostile. The prosecution did not produce the Cashier and other crucial witnesses. Only a Clerk (P.W.-2) was produced. The documents on the basis of which the charges could have been established were also not proved. Dealing with the evidence of P.W.-8, it was noted that his statement had also not established the charges levelled clearly and completely. The criminal court then noted the contention addressed at the behest of the petitioner accused in view of Section 114 of the Evidence Act on the basis of which it was contended that the prosecution had failed to prove the charges on the basis of the best evidence which was available. It was in the aforesaid backdrop that a judgment of acquittal came to be entered.

16. On the contrary in the disciplinary proceedings, the Enquiry Officer noted that the charges were established on the strength of documentary evidence which was introduced and the oral statements of witnesses including the Branch Accountant. It has also come to be recorded that despite adequate opportunity being available for the petitioner to cross-examine the Branch Accountant, he chose not to do so. The Branch Accountant crucially was the custodian of the record. The charges were also established on the basis of voluminous internal records which do not appear to have been exhibited or introduced during the criminal trial. It is in the aforesaid backdrop that the impact of the judgment of acquittal is liable to be evaluated.

17. In BHEL Vs. M. Mani7 the Supreme Court dealing with an identical question held as follows:

"22. This Court has consistently held that in a case where the enquiry has been held independently of the criminal proceedings, acquittal in criminal court is of no avail. It is held that even if a person stood acquitted by the criminal court, domestic enquiry can still be held - the reason being that the standard of proof required in a domestic enquiry and that in criminal case are altogether different. In a criminal case, standard of proof required is beyond reasonable doubt while in a domestic enquiry, it is the preponderance of probabilities. (See Divisional Controller, Karnataka State Road Transport Corporation vs. M.G. Vittal Rao-(2012) 1 SCC 442)

23. In the light of this settled legal position, the Labour Court was not right in holding that the departmental enquiry should have been stayed by the appellant awaiting the decision of the criminal court and that it is rendered illegal consequent upon passing of the acquittal order by the criminal court. This finding of the Labour Court is, therefore, also not legally sustainable."

18. In South Bengal State Transport Corpn. Vs. Sapan Kumar Mitra8, the Supreme Court reiterated the legal position that it would be open to an employer to remove a delinquent employee notwithstanding his acquittal in a criminal case. The Court deems it apposite to extract paragraphs 9 and 10 of that decision which read thus:

"9. We have heard the learned counsel for the parties and also examined the relevant records of this case. Although the Division Bench had not categorically said that the departmental proceeding could not be continued and punishment could not be imposed on the delinquent employee when the criminal case ended in acquittal, even then the learned counsel for the respondents sought to argue this ground before us. In our view, this ground is no longer res-integra. In Nelson Motis v. Union of India and Ors., [(1992) 4 SCC 711] a three-Judge Bench of this Court observed at paragraph 5, as follows:

"5. So far the first point is concerned, namely, whether the disciplinary proceedings could have been continued in the face of the acquittal of the appellant in the criminal case, the plea has no substance whatsoever and does not merit a detailed consideration. The nature and scope of a criminal case are very different from those of a departmental disciplinary proceeding and an order of acquittal therefore, cannot conclude the departmental proceeding. Besides, the Tribunal has pointed out that the acts which led to the initiation of the departmental disciplinary proceeding were not exactly the same which were the subject-matter of the criminal case."

10. Similarly in Senior Superintendent of Post Offices, v. A. Gopalan, [(1997) 11 SCC 239] the view expressed in Nelason Motis v. Union of India was fully endorsed by this Court and similarly it was held that nature and scope of proof in a criminal case is very different from that of a departmental disciplinary proceeding and the order of acquittal in the former, cannot conclude departmental proceedings. This Court has further held that in a criminal case charge has to be proved by proof beyond reasonable doubt while in departmental proceeding the standard of proof for proving the charge is mere preponderance of probabilities. Such being the position of law now settled by various decisions of this Court, two of which have already been referred to earlier, we need not deal in detail with the question whether acquittal in a criminal case will lead to holding that the departmental proceedings should also be discontinued. That being the position, an order of removal from service emanating from a departmental proceeding can very well be passed even after acquittal of the delinquent employee in a criminal case. In any case, the learned Single Judge as well as the Division Bench did not base their decisions relying on the proposition that after acquittal in the criminal case, departmental proceedings could not be continued and order of removal could not be passed."

19. In view of the decisions cited and noted above, it would be pertinent at this stage to advert to the salient principles enunciated by the Supreme Court in the context of a judgment of acquittal and an identical charge being tried in disciplinary proceedings. As is evident from the principles propounded in the decisions aforenoted, it must firstly be recognised that a judgment of acquittal does not necessarily result in an identical charge not being tried in departmental proceedings. This because the Courts have consistently recognised and emphasised the distinct standards of proof which apply to criminal prosecutions and disciplinary proceedings. While in the former, the charge must be proved beyond all reasonable doubt, in disciplinary proceedings the standard which applies is a preponderance of probabilities. While in disciplinary proceedings it may be open to the authorities to hold the charge as proved if evidence accurately tends to establish the correctness of the misconduct alleged, in a criminal trial the same charge would have to be proved in accordance with law and placed beyond the realm of any doubt. A finding of a charge as being proved in a departmental enquiry may still be accepted provided the finding recorded in its respect is not wholly perverse and there is some evidence which may support the ultimate conclusion arrived at. To the contrary, findings recorded in a criminal trial are not to be tested on principles of perversity. A finding of guilt in a criminal trial must come to be recorded where the Court is convinced beyond any degree of uncertainty that the evidence unwaveringly establishes the commission of the crime. It is based on certainty of conviction.

20. The second aspect which Courts have recognised are those connected with the vagaries of a criminal prosecution. Very often, a judgment of acquittal comes to be rendered on account of a prosecutional failure to lead the best evidence available, where material witnesses are not produced or where witnesses produced turn hostile. In such situations Court have held that an acquittal granted in such circumstances cannot be viewed as "honourable". In Samuthiram the Supreme Court explained that expression to mean a decision of acquittal rendered upon "full consideration of prosecution evidence" and where it has "miserably failed to prove the charge". As a necessary corollary, a judgment which hinges upon a failure on the part of the prosecution to bring home the charge conclusively or upon witnesses turning over during the course of trial cannot be viewed as an irrefutable or categorical certification of innocence.

21. There may also be situations where a failure of the prosecution stemming from either adequate evidence not being led or witnesses retracting from their original statements may be made good during the departmental enquiry. In such circumstances it would be wholly incorrect to hold the disciplinary authority denuded of the right to try the charge independently and be held obliged to accept the judgment of acquittal rendered on a technicality as a fait accompli.

22. The sheet anchor of the petitioner's case is the decision of the Supreme Court in G.M. Tank. The ratio of that decision was explained by the Supreme Court in Karnataka Power Transmission Corporation Limited as under:

" 9. Acquittal by a criminal court would not debar an employer from exercising the power to conduct departmental proceedings in accordance with the rules and regulations. The two proceedings, criminal and departmental, are entirely different. They operate in different fields and have different objectives. In the disciplinary proceedings, the question is whether the Respondent is guilty of such conduct as would merit his removal from service or a lesser punishment, as the case may be, whereas in the criminal proceedings, the question is whether the offences registered against him under the PC Act are established, and if established, what sentence should be imposed upon him. The standard of proof, the mode of inquiry and the rules governing inquiry and trial in both the cases are significantly distinct and different.

10. As the High Court set aside the order of dismissal on the basis of the judgments of this Court in M. Paul Anthony and G.M. Tank, it is necessary to examine whether the said judgments are applicable to the facts of this case. Simultaneous continuance of departmental proceedings and proceedings in a criminal case on the same set of facts was the point considered by this Court in M. Paul Anthony's case. This Court was of the opinion that departmental proceedings and proceedings in a criminal case can proceed simultaneously as there is no bar. However, it is desirable to stay departmental inquiry till conclusion of the criminal case if the departmental proceedings and criminal case are based on identical and similar set of facts and the charge in the criminal case against the delinquent employee is of a grave nature which involves complicated questions of law and fact. On the facts of the said case, it was found that the criminal case and the departmental proceedings were based on identical set of facts and the evidence before the criminal court and the departmental inquiry was the same. Further, in the said case the departmental inquiry was conducted ex parte. In such circumstances, this Court held that the ex parte departmental proceedings cannot be permitted to stand in view of the acquittal of the delinquent by the criminal court on the same set of facts and evidence. The said judgment is not applicable to the facts of this case. In the present case, the prosecution witnesses turned hostile in the criminal trial against Respondent 1. He was acquitted by the Criminal Court on the ground that the prosecution could not produce any credible evidence to prove the charge. On the other hand, the complainant and the other witnesses appeared before the Inquiry Officer and deposed against Respondent 1. The evidence available in the Departmental Inquiry is completely different from that led by the prosecution in criminal trial.

11. Reliance was placed by the High Court on a judgment of this Court in G.M. Tank whereby the writ petition filed by Respondent 1 was allowed. In the said case, the delinquent officer was charged for an offence punishable under Section 5(1)(e) read with Section 5(2) of the PC Act, 1988. He was honourably acquitted by the criminal court as the prosecution failed to prove the charge. Thereafter, a departmental inquiry was conducted and he was dismissed from service. The order of dismissal was upheld by the High Court. In the appeal filed by the delinquent officer, this Court was of the opinion that the departmental proceedings and criminal case were based on identical and similar set of facts. The evidence before the criminal court and the departmental proceedings being exactly the same, this Court held that the acquittal of the employee by a criminal court has to be given due weight by the disciplinary authority. On the basis that the evidence in both the criminal trial and departmental inquiry is the same, the order of dismissal of the appellant therein was set aside. As stated earlier, the facts of this case are entirely different. The acquittal of Respondent 1 was due to non-availability of any evidence before the criminal court. The order of dismissal was on the basis of a report of the inquiry officer before whom there was ample evidence against Respondent 1.

12. In Krishnakali Tea Estate v. Akhil Bhartiya Chah Mazdoor Sangh [(2004) 8 SCC 200] this Court was concerned with the validity of the termination of the services of workmen after acquittal by the criminal court. Dealing with a situation similar to the one in this case, where the acquittal was due to lack of evidence before the criminal court and sufficient evidence was available before the Labour Court, this Court was of the opinion that the judgment in M. Paul Anthony case cannot come to the rescue of the workmen.

13. Having considered the submissions made on behalf of the appellant and the Respondent 1, we are of the view that interference with the order of dismissal by the High Court was unwarranted. It is settled law that the acquittal by a criminal court does not preclude a departmental inquiry against the delinquent officer. The disciplinary authority is not bound by the judgment of the criminal court if the evidence that is produced in the departmental inquiry is different from that produced during the criminal trial. The object of a departmental inquiry is to find out whether the delinquent is guilty of misconduct under the conduct rules for the purpose of determining whether he should be continued in service. The standard of proof in a departmental inquiry is not strictly based on the rules of evidence. The order of dismissal which is based on the evidence before the inquiry officer in the disciplinary proceedings, which is different from the evidence available to the criminal court, is justified and needed no interference by the High Court."

23. G.M. Tank was a decision which came to be rendered where on facts it was found that the evidence and material collected and utilized during the criminal trial and disciplinary proceedings was one and the same. The Supreme Court found on facts that charges, evidence, witnesses and circumstances were identical in both sets of proceedings. It was also noted that the witnesses in the criminal and disciplinary proceedings were identical. In the aforesaid background and upon the Supreme Court finding that there was no "iota of difference" between the criminal and disciplinary proceeding that it was held that the distinction which is accepted to exist between departmental and criminal proceedings would not be applicable in the facts of that case. It becomes significant, therefore, to note that G.M. Tank is neither an authority for the proposition nor can its ratio be recognised to be that a judgment of acquittal must necessarily lead to the employer being held to be divested of authority to try a similar charge in disciplinary proceedings. It also does not lay down an absolute proposition of a judgment of acquittal necessarily resulting in an employee being exempted or freed from the specter of facing departmental action. It would ultimately depend upon the nature of the decision rendered by the criminal court, whether the acquittal was honourable as also whether the evidence led in the two sets of proceedings was identical and indistinguishable.

24. As this Court reverts to the facts of the present case, it becomes apposite to recollect that in the criminal trial best evidence was never produced, documentary evidence available with the respondents in support of the charge was not introduced, material and crucial witnesses were never examined and most of the prosecution witnesses turned hostile. The judgment of acquittal in that sense cannot be viewed as being one exonerating the petitioner conclusively. It essentially came to be handed down on account of a failure on the part of the prosecution to prove the charges beyond reasonable doubt. This was not a decision honourably acquitting the petitioner. To the contrary, in the disciplinary proceedings which were undertaken the respondents produced voluminous material in support of the charge and also examined material witnesses on whose testimony the charges were held to be proved. The petitioner not only chose not to cross-examine those witnesses, he failed to lead any oral evidence in support of his innocence. The facts as obtaining clearly place the present case within the set of circumstances noted in Karnataka Power Transmission Corporation. The petitioner consequently is held disentitled to relief. Bearing in mind the gravity of the charges which stood proved, the Court is unconvinced that the ultimate punishment inflicted warrants interference.

25. Petition is dismissed.

Union Of India & Ors. ...Respondents

Practice & Procedure - Maintainability - "Public function", "Public duty" - Constitution of India: Article 226 - An educational institution may perform myriad functions touching various facets of public life and in the societal sphere. While such of those functions as would fall within the domain of a "public function" or "public duty" be undisputedly open to challenge and scrutiny under Article 226 of the Constitution, actions or decisions taken solely within the confines of an ordinary contract of service, having no statutory force or backing, cannot be recognized as being amenable to challenge under Article 226 of the Constitution. In the absence of the service conditions being controlled or governed by statutory provisions the matter would remain in the realm of an ordinary contract of service. (Para 16)

The court observed that the contracts of a purely private nature even though entered by bodies which may perform a purely private nature even tough entered by bodies which may perform a public function would be subject to judicial review. The only exception would be where such contracts are governed or regulated by statute. In present case it is the undisputed position that the byelaws and the service conditions which apply are non statutory. They are deprived of any statutory ordainment. Such a contract would remain a pure private contract of service. Therefore, the instant writ challenging the termination of such a contract would not be maintainable. (Para 18)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Yashwant Varma, J.)

1. Heard learned counsel for the petitioner, Sri Abhishek Kumar for the respondent No. 4, Sri H.N. Pandey for the Board and Sri Vivek Ratan Agrawal, learned counsel appearing for NTPC.

2. The respondents have raised a preliminary objection to the maintainability of the writ petition by contending that the same would not be maintainable since the petitioner assails an order of termination made by the D.A.V. Public School. It is submitted that notwithstanding the fact that the school may be said to be performing a public function or discharging a public duty since the terms and conditions of service of the petitioner are not governed by any statutory rule or regulation, a writ petition consequently would not lie. Reliance is placed principally on the Full Bench decision of the Court in M.K. Gandhi and Others Vs. Director of Education (Secondary), U.P., Lucknow and Others1. The attention of the Court is then drawn to a recent decision rendered by another Full Bench in Roychan Abraham Vs. State of U.P. and Others2 in support of the objection that is raised. Counsel for the C.B.S.E. submits that the terms and conditions of service of the petitioner are governed by the byelaws framed by the Board which are not statutory and in light of the decision in M.K. Gandhi, the writ petition would not lie.

3. Learned counsel for the petitioner however submits that the D.A.V. Public School is funded and aided by N.T.P.C. which is a Government Corporation and State within the meaning of Article 12 of the Constitution. He submits that N.T.P.C. has set up and established schools in order to provide educational avenues to the wards of its employees and those of the C.I.S.F. personnel employed in its establishment. He submits that in light of the financial and administrative aid which is provided, it must be held to be performing a public function and consequently a writ petition would be maintainable. Apart from relying upon the ultimate conclusions recorded by the Full Bench in Roychan Abraham, learned counsel also places reliance upon the decision rendered by the Supreme Court in Ramesh Ahluwalia Vs. State of Punjab And Others3 to submit that the aforesaid decision would clearly merit the objection as raised being negatived.

4. In order to evaluate the rival submissions, it would be apposite to firstly consider the judgment in M.K. Gandhi. The Full Bench framed 8 points for determination. Insofar as the controversy that falls for our consideration is concerned, it would be pertinent to note the following issues alone which were framed:-

(i) Whether the DPS School is a State within the meaning of Article 12 of the Constitution;

(ii) Whether the Board is a State within the meaning of Article 12 of the Constitution of India;

(iii) Whether the 'Affiliation bye-laws' have statutory force;

(vi) Whether a writ petition is maintainable against a privately managed school for violation of the Service Rules.

(vii) Whether a writ petition is maintainable against the Board for non-observance of its bye-laws;

5. The Full Bench firstly held that C.B.S.E. is State within the meaning of Article 12 of the Constitution. It further proceeded to hold that the affiliation byelaws, of which service conditions form a part, do not have statutory force. This conclusion was recorded by the Full Bench in the following terms:

"31. There is nothing in the constitution of the Board to suggest that the affiliation bye-laws have statutory force. The service conditions are in the bye-laws. They are adopted between the parties through the agreement and are binding as a contract. Neither the bye-laws nor the agreement are statutory. If there is any breach of the service conditions then it is the breach of the contract and the parties may file suit or the Board may impose penalty prescribed under the bye-laws but this does not mean that the bye-laws or the agreement have statutory force."

6. Proceeding further the Full Bench held that the private school is not State within the meaning of Article 12 and that the affiliation byelaws being non-statutory only represent a contract between parties. In paragraph 37 of the report it observed:

"37. The Committee of Management of the DPS School is recognised by the Board but it is neither a statutory body nor a State with the meaning of Article 12. The legal obligation or duty on the DPS. School is neither imposed by any statute nor by any statutory provision; it has been imposed by the affiliation bye-laws and agreement which is a contract between the parties and non-statutory. In view of this the writ petition is not maintainable against the DPS School for violation of the affiliation bye-laws."

7. The Full Bench then proceeded to record its conclusions in paragraph 76, which read thus:

"76. Our conclusions are as follows :

(a) The DPS School is not the State within the meaning of Article 12 of the Constitution;

(b) The Central Board of Secondary Education, (the Board) is the State within the meaning of Article 12 of the Constitution;

(c) In case service conditions have not been framed, then

- Chapter VII of the affiliation bye-law relating to service condition shall be deemed to have been adopted by the school; and

- The agreement between the parties-unless any other format is prescribed by the State/UT Act-shall be deemed to be in the same format as Appendix-III to the affiliation bye-laws.

(d) The Service Rules and the agreement-whether framed by a school and agreed between the parties by an agreement or deemed to be adopted by them and agreement to be in the same format as Appendix-Ill of the affiliation bye-laws as held in this case-are merely private contract between the schools and the teachers. They do not have statutory force. The writ petition is not maintainable against the school to enforce them;

(e) In case any school does not follow the Service Rules framed by it or the bye-laws deemed to be adopted as held in this case then the school has to pay penalty for violating the same namely withdrawal of its affiliation;

(f) The Board is bound to follow its bye-laws and in case of any violation it has to take action under its bye-laws to disaffiliate the school. A writ petition is maintainable against the Board in case it fails to perform its duty; and

(g) In the present case, there has been violation of the bye-laws-deemed to be adopted as service conditions-by the DPS School. The Board has failed to perform its duty by not taking any action on the complaint filed by the petitioners. The Board should take action under the affiliation bye-laws against the DPS School."

8. It then framed directions commanding the Board to call upon the school to show cause why it not be disaffiliated for terminating the services of the petitioners contrary to the byelaws. The decision in M.K. Gandhi was assailed by the Committee of Management of the school before the Supreme Court. While dealing with that appeal, the Supreme Court in Committee of Management, Delhi Public School And Another Vs. M.K. Gandhi And Others4 held thus:

"4. With great respect to the Full Bench of the High Court, we fail to understand the direction given by the Allahabad High Court. In our opinion, the direction given by the Allahabad High Court to the CBSE is totally misconceived and uncalled for. When the Allahabad High Court has already held that the DPS School is not a "State" within the meaning of Article 12 of the Constitution of India and the writ petition is not maintainable, there was no necessity for giving a direction to the CBSE which virtually amounts to granting a declaration in favour of those teachers whose services have been terminated. We fail to appreciate the view taken by the Allahabad High Court by unnecessarily complicating the issue by involving the CBSE in a private dispute between the teachers and DPS. The Allahabad High Court should have stopped short of holding that the said DPS is a private body and the writ is not maintainable.

5. Hence, we are of the view that no writ is maintainable against a private school as it is not a "State" within the meaning of Article 12 of the Constitution of India and no direction could have been given by the High Court to CBSE for interfering with the termination of the teachers. The proper remedy for the teachers was to file a civil suit for damages, if there was any.

6. Subsequently, we allow this appeal and set aside the order passed by the Allahabad High Court to the extent of giving a direction to the Board. There will be no order as to costs."

9. As is manifest from a reading of that decision, the Supreme Court allowed the appeal and set aside the judgment of the Full Bench only to the extent that it had proceeded to frame directions commanding the Board to take further action of disaffiliation. It also observed that once the High Court had come to conclude that the writ petition against the school itself was not maintainable, it should have stopped there and left it open to the aggrieved teachers to institute a suit for damages.

10. Learned counsel for the petitioner has however sought to draw sustenance from the decision rendered in Ramesh Ahluwalia. In Ramesh Ahluwalia, the Supreme Court in paragraph 12 observed thus:

"12.We have considered the submissions made by the learned counsel for the parties. In our opinion, in view of the judgment rendered by this Court in Andi Mukta Sadguru Shree Muktajee Vandas Swami Suvarna Jayanti Mahotsav Smarak Trust v. V.R. Rudani [(1989) 2 SCC 691], there can be no doubt that even a purely private body, where the State has no control over its internal affairs, would be amenable to the jurisdiction of the High Court under Article 226 of the Constitution, for issuance of a writ of mandamus. Provided, of course, the private body is performing public functions which are normally expected to be performed by the State authorities."

11. It went on further to observe as under:

"14.In view of the law laid down in the aforementioned judgments of this Court, the judgment of the learned Single Judge Ramesh Ahluwalia v State of Punjab as also the Division Bench Ramesh Ahluwalia v State of Punjab [LPA No. 368 of 2010] of the High Court cannot be sustained on the proposition that the writ petition would not be maintainable merely because the respondent - institution is a purely unaided private educational institution. The appellant had specifically taken the plea that the respondents perform public functions, i.e. providing education to children in their institutions throughout India."

12. It becomes pertinent to notice that the Supreme Court principally held that even a purely private body over whose internal affairs the State may wield no control would still be amenable to the jurisdiction of the High Court under Article 226 of the Constitution provided it is established that it performs a public function. The conclusions as recorded in paragraph of the report also must necessarily be read bearing in mind that the same came to be entered in the context of "...issuance of a writ of mandamus".

13. It was the decision rendered in Ramesh Ahluwalia, which led to a learned Judge doubting the correctness of the decision rendered in M.K. Gandhi and the subsequent reference. That reference ultimately came to be placed before another Full Bench which rendered decision in Roychan Abraham. In Roychan Abraham the Full Bench after exhaustively noticing the body of precedent that has come to exist on the question of public function and public duty as well as the scope of Article 226 of the Constitution framed its conclusions as follows:

"Conclusion:

63. We accordingly proceed to answer the reference in the following terms:

64. Question (i): Private Institutions imparting education to students from the age of six years onwards, including higher education, perform public duty primarily a State function, therefore are amenable to judicial review of the High Court under Article 226 of the Constitution of India.

65. Question (ii): The broad principle of law which has been formulated in the judgement of the Full Bench in M.K. Gandhi and Division Bench in Anjani Kr. Srivastava is confined to the facts obtaining therein and is not an authority on the proposition of law that private educational institutions do not render public function and, therefore, are not amenable to judicial review of the High Court. The judgements do not require to be revisited.

66. The reference to the Full Bench, shall accordingly stand answered. The writ petition shall now be placed before the regular Bench according to roster for disposal in light of the questions so answered."

14. Significantly, however, the decision in M.K. Gandhi was not overturned and the Full Bench only observed that it was not liable to be read as an authority for the proposition that private educational institutions do not render public functions or are otherwise not amenable to judicial review. This Court bound by the principles so enunciated by the Full Bench deems it appropriate to only state that it would be wholly incorrect to assume that educational institutions do not render public functions or perform public duties. Those institutions as observed in Roychan Abraham act as adjuncts of the State in the context of the constitutional obligation of providing avenues of education. The question, which however merits consideration, would be whether employees of such educational institutions can assail disciplinary actions taken or petition the High Court under Article 226 of the Constitution in respect of matters relating to their service conditions where the terms and conditions of service are not governed or controlled by statutory provisions. This aspect was considered in Roychan Abraham where the Full Bench observed thus:

"38. Even if it be assumed that an educational institution is imparting public duty, the act complained of must have direct nexus with the discharge of public duly. It is undisputedly a public law action which confers a right upon the aggrieved to invoke extraordinary writ jurisdiction under Article 226 for a prerogative writ. Individual wrongs or breach of mutual contracts without having any public element as its integral part cannot be rectified through petition under Article 226. Wherever Courts have intervened in exercise of jurisdiction under Article 226, either the service conditions were regulated by statutory provisions or the employer had the status of 'State' within the expansive definition under Article 12 or it was found that the action complained of has public law element.

39. We accordingly hold that a private body though not 'State', but performing public duty is amenable to the writ jurisdiction under Article 226 of the Constitution. Whether a writ would lie at the behest of an aggrieved party against the offending act of the private body performing public duty would depend upon the facts and the nature of the offending act complained against."

15. Roychan Abraham clearly holds that it is only a "public law action" which confers a right upon an aggrieved person to invoke the jurisdiction under Article 226 of the Constitution. It also notes that wherever the Courts have in fact intervened and invoked their powers conferred by Article 226, it was only in situations where service conditions were regulated either by statutory provisions or where the employer had the status of State.

16. It must be consequently held that while a body may be discharging a public function or performing a public duty and thus its actions becoming amenable to judicial review by a Constitutional Court, its employees would not have the right to invoke this Courts powers conferred by Article 226 in respect of matter relating to service where they are not governed or controlled by statutory provisions. An educational institution may perform myriad functions touching various facets of public life and in the societal sphere. While such of those functions as would fall within the domain of a "public function" or "public duty" be undisputedly open to challenge and scrutiny under Article 226 of the Constitution, actions or decisions taken solely within the confines of an ordinary contract of service, having no statutory force or backing, cannot be recognised as being amenable to challenge under Article 226 of the Constitution. In the absence of the service conditions being controlled or governed by statutory provisions the matter would remain in the realm of an ordinary contract of service.

17. This distinction which must necessarily be borne in mind has been eloquently explained by the Supreme Court in a decision rendered just a few days after Roychan Abraham in Ramkrishna Mission and Another Vs. Kago Kunya and Others5. After noticing the earlier decisions rendered on the subject, the Supreme Court held thus:

"35. Thus, even if the body discharges a public function in a wider sense, there is no public law element involved in the enforcement of a private contract of service.

36. Having analysed the circumstances which were relied upon by the State of Arunachal Pradesh, we are of the view that in running the hospital, Ramakrishna Mission does not discharge a public function. Undoubtedly, the hospital is in receipt of some element of grant. The grants which are received by the hospital cover only a part of the expenditure. The terms of the grant do not indicate any form of governmental control in the management or day to day functioning of the hospital. The nature of the work which is rendered by Ramakrishna Mission, in general, including in relation to its activities concerning the hospital in question is purely voluntary.

38. It has been submitted before us that the hospital is subject to regulation by the Clinical Establishments (Registration and Regulation) Act 2010. Does the regulation of hospitals and nursing homes by law render the hospital a statutory body? Private individuals and organizations are subject to diverse obligations under the law. The law is a ubiquitous phenomenon. From the registration of birth to the reporting of death, law imposes obligations on diverse aspects of individual lives. From incorporation to dissolution, business has to act in compliance with law. But that does not make every entity or activity an authority under Article 226 Regulation by a statute does not constitute the hospital as a body which is constituted under the statute. Individuals and organisations are subject to statutory requirements in a whole host of activities today. That by itself cannot be conclusive of whether such an individual or organisation discharges a public function. In Federal Bank (supra), while deciding whether a private bank that is regulated by the Banking Regulation Act, 1949 discharges any public function, the court held thus:

"33. ...in our view, a private company carrying on banking business as a scheduled bank, cannot be termed as an institution or a company carrying on any statutory or public duty. A private body or a person may be amenable to writ jurisdiction only where it may become necessary to compel such body or association to enforce any statutory obligations or such obligations of public nature casting positive obligation upon it. We don't find such conditions are fulfilled in respect of a private company carrying on a commercial activity of banking. Merely regulatory provisions to ensure such activity carried on by private bodies work within a discipline, do not confer any such status upon the company nor put any such obligation upon it which may be enforced through issue of a writ under Article 226 of the Constitution. Present is a case of disciplinary action being taken against its employee by the appellant Bank. The respondent's service with the Bank stands terminated. The action of the Bank was challenged by the respondent by filing a writ petition under Article 226 of the Constitution of India. The respondent is not trying to enforce any statutory duty on the part of the Bank..." (emphasis supplied)

39. Thus, contracts of a purely private nature would not be subject to writ jurisdiction merely by reason of the fact that they are structured by statutory provisions. The only exception to this principle arises in a situation where the contract of service is governed or regulated by a statutory provision. Hence, for instance, in K K Saksena (supra) this Court held that when an employee is a workman governed by the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947, it constitutes an exception to the general principle that a contract of personal service is not capable of being specifically enforced or performed.

41. For the above reasons, we are of the view that the Division Bench of the High Court was not justified in coming to the conclusion that the appellants are amenable to the writ jurisdiction under Article 226 of the Constitution as an authority within the meaning of the Article."

18. As has been lucidly explained, contracts of a purely private nature even though entered by bodies which may perform a public function would not be subject to judicial review. The only exception would be where such contracts are governed or regulated by statute. In the present case it is the undisputed position that the byelaws and the service conditions which apply are non statutory. They are deprived of any statutory ordainment. Such a contract, as noted above, would remain a pure private contract of service. In that view of the matter the writ petition challenging the termination of such a contract would not be maintainable.

19. The preliminary objection is thus upheld and the petition is consequently dismissed.

Civil Law - Declaration/ attestation form - disclosure of any pending case is required at two relevant periods that is, time of filling of the form and second, stage of filling up of the form of attestation.
(Para 37)

Petitioners had applied for the post of constable (GD) in Railway Protection Force in March 2011 and at that relevant point of time no case were pending against the petitioner and subsequently in year 2011 that the case against the petitioner was registered which ultimately resulted in their acquittal in 2014 which is after the submission of attestation form. Thus, both at the time of applying for the post of constable as well as at the time of filling up of the attestation form, no criminal case was pending against any of the petitioners. (Para 33, 34)

Writ Petition Partly Allowed. (E-10)

3. Mohd. Imran Vs. State of Maharashtra and others Civil Appeal No. 10571 of 2018

4. Raj Bahadur Vs. Union of India and others Writ A No. 39219 of 2017

(Delivered by Hon'ble Ashok Kumar, J.)

1. Heard Sri Tejasvi Misra, learned counsel for the petitioners and Sri Vijay Kumar Rai, Advocate holding the brief of Sri Rajnish Kumar Rai, learned counsel representing all the respondents.

2. The instant writ petition has been filed by the petitioners assailing the orders dated 1.3.2017, 20.3.2017 and 27.3.2017 (Annexures 2-B, 3-B, 4-B and 5-B of the writ petition). The petitioners have prayed for issuance of a mandamus commanding the respondents to reinstate the petitioners into service with all consequential benefits.

3. Briefly the facts of the case are that the petitioners responded in pursuance of an advertisement (Advertisement No.1/11) which has been issued by the Chief Security Commissioner, Railway Protection Force (R.P.F.) Gorakhpur, U.P. (respondent no.3) for recruitment on the post of Constables (G.D.) in Railway Protection Special Force. In pursuance of the aforesaid advertisement the petitioners applied and they have received admit cards to appear in various stages of examination and thereafter they stood qualified for the aforesaid post of Constable (G.D.)

4. An attestation form was required to be submitted by the petitioners in which there was column 12 which requires the disclosure of the character of the petitioners/ candidates and their antecedents as to whether any criminal case is pending against the candidates or had they ever been tried.

5. All the petitioners filled up the attestation form and they denied as at that point of time no criminal case was pending against them. After submission of the attestation form the petitioners were sent to their respective training centres for training. During the course of training the police verification reports of the petitioners were sought from the concerned District Magistrates. In the police verification report, which has been obtained by the District Magistrates, it was disclosed that a criminal case was lodged against the petitioners and are concluded, wherein the petitioners were acquitted. On account of said police reports, the petitioners were discharged from the services.

6. The attestation form of the petitioner no.1 was submitted on 18.6.2014 wherein, it is alleged that the petitioner no.1 did not disclose his character and antecedents in column 12 of the attestation form. Viz. a viz. Case Crime No. 283 of 2011 under Sections 279, 338 and 304-A I.P.C. (trivial in nature). After submission of the attestation form the petitioner no.1 has received an allotment letter wherein he was directed to join his training at ZTC Chink-Hill on 1.11.2014. Based on the police verification report disclosing the prosecution and acquaintance from the Court of law the petitioner no.1 was discharged amidst of training on 26.3.2015.

7. Against the order dated 26.3.2015 the petitioner no.1 filed a Writ Petition No. 35948 of 2015 and this Court vide order dated 21.11.2016 had quashed the order of discharge dated 26.3.2015 while remanding the matter back to the respondents for fresh consideration of the candidature of the petitioner in the light of law laid down by the Apex Court in the case of Avtar Singh vs. Union of India and others (2016) 8 SCC 471.

8. In pursuance of the order dated 21.11.2016 the petitioner no.1 (Jitendra Kumar) was called for personal hearing by the respondent on 12.1.2017 and after hearing the petitioner, the respondent no.4 has proceeded to cancel the candidature of the petitioner on the ground of intentional suppression of material fact at the time of filing up of attestation form, vide order dated 20.1.2017.

9. In the case of petitioner no.2 (Rishi Pal Singh) learned counsel for the petitioner submitted that the attestation form has been submitted by the petitioner no.2 on 23.5.2014 wherein, it is alleged that the petitioner no.2 did not disclose his character and antecedents in column 12 of the attestation form. Viz. a viz. a Case Crime No. 388 dated 17.10.2011 under Section 160 of I.P.C. was lodged. It is contended by the learned counsel for the petitioners that the petitioner no.2 Rishi Pal has received an allotment letter whereby he was directed to join the training at R.P.F. T.C./ Mukamghat Patna (Bihar) on 1.11.2014.

10. In the police verification report pertaining to the character of the petitioner no.2 the District Magistrate, Jhajjhar, Haryana has sent his report that the petitioner no.2 was tried and acquitted from the Court of law under Section 160 I.P.C. Based on the said report the petitioner no.2 was discharged amidst of training on 19.6.2015.

11. Learned counsel for the petitioners submitted that the application form has been submitted by the petitioner no.2 in March 2011 while case/FIR has been lodged on 17.10.2011 that is after filling up of the application form, and the case of the petitioner no.2 was concluded/ acquitted on 29.11.2013 that is much prior to filling up of attestation form, which was admittedly filled by petitioner no.2 on 23.5.2014. Therefore, the contention of learned counsel for the petitioners is that neither any case was pending at the time of filling up of the application form nor at the time of filling up of the attestation form, as such the petitioner no.2 was under the impression that no case, on the date of filling up of the form is pending hence, has denied regarding pendency of criminal cases against him.

12. As proceeded by petitioner no.1 by approaching this Court the petitioner no.2 has also approached this Court and has challenged the discharge order dated 19.6.2015. The writ petition filed by the petitioner no.2 was allowed vide order dated 22.12.2016 and the order of discharge dated 19.6.2015 was quashed and the matter was remitted back to the respondents for fresh consideration of the candidature of the petitioner no.2 in the light of the judgment of Apex Court in the case of Avtar Singh (Supra).

13. In pursuance of the order passed by this Court dated 29.11.2016 the petitioner no.2 was called for personal hearing on 15.3.2017 and after hearing the petitioner the respondent no.5 vide order dated 27.3.2017 had proceeded to cancel the candidature of the petitioner no.2 on the ground of intentional suppression of material fact at the time of filling up of attestation form.

14. Learned counsel for the petitioners submits that the nature of the criminal case lodged under Section 160 IPC is very trivial (having only one month maximum punishment) even then the respondents not only failed to appreciate triviality of the offence but also the relevant factor pertaining to the case/ registration of the FIR which was neither lodged at the time of application form nor at the time of filling up of the attestation form.

15. Learned counsel for the petitioners further submitted that in fact the out come of the acquittal order was not benefit of doubt rather it was a clean acquittal therefore, the counsel for the petitioners submits that the order impugned passed by the respondent is wholly illegal, arbitrary and perverse as the respondent no.5 was supposed to adjudge the suitability of candidature with reference to the nature of suppression and the nature of criminal case.

16. Learned counsel for the petitioners submits that almost identical facts are involved with regard to petitioner no.3 Manoj Kumar and petitioner no.4 Bhanu Pratap Attri, who were discharged by the respondent no.3 vide discharge orders dated 20.3.2017 and 1.3.2017 respectively.

17. Learned counsel for the petitioners therefore submitted that the respondents not only failed to appreciate the acquittal of the petitioners but also the nature of the case registered against them. Learned counsel for the petitioners submits that in fact the respondents instead of consideration as to whether the petitioners were suitable for appointment to the post of constable, they had acted mechanically by holding that the petitioners unfit for the post of constable on the basis of alleged incorrect facts furnished by the petitioners. The respondents authorities on the basis of information so furnished by the petitioners found the candidates unfit for employment in the Railway Protection Force.

18. Learned counsel for the petitioners further submits that after the remand order passed by this Court the respondents granted personal hearing to the petitioners, wherein the petitioners placed certain documents however, after hearing the petitioners the respondents found that in column 12, the petitioners in response to the question that whether they were ever arrested, or not, they had ticked 'No' and secondly, whether the petitioners were ever prosecuted, they had ticked 'No'. The authority/ respondent further found that while signing the attestation form and on oath on non-judicial stamp paper of Rs.20/- that if the fact that false information has been furnished or that there has been suppression of any factual information in the attestation form comes to the notice at any time during service, he will be ready for termination from service and he will have no right to claim against the Railway. The respondents have held that the petitioners have violated the terms and conditions so are stipulated in the attestation form.

19. The respondent authority on the basis of information so furnished by petitioners found their candidature unfit for employment in the Government. However, a brief reference was made to the Apex Court judgment in case of Avtar Singh (supra) but no reason was assigned why the said judgment was not applicable in the cases of the petitioners.

20. Learned counsel for petitioners submitted that respondent authority in a cursory manner rejected the claim of petitioners solely on the ground that they had ticked 'No' in Column 12 to two questions regarding arrest of petitioners and their prosecution, and the authorities failed to take note of guidelines as laid down by Apex Court in case of Avtar Singh (supra) in para 38.

21. He further submitted that at the time of filling up of the attestation form there was no case pending against the petitioners and further, at the time of submission of attestation form petitioners had already been acquitted of criminal cases, and looking to the trivial nature of the cases which were tried against petitioners, non-disclosure would not amount to terminating the services of petitioners, which was against the spirit of judgment in Avtar Singh's case.

22. Sri Misra, also contended that once this Court had remanded the matter back to decide the issue in light of Avtar Singh (supra), the authority was duty bound to consider the case of petitioners within the parameters laid down in said case in Para 38 but respondents rejected the claim on vague ground and failed to consider the case within the parameters of aforesaid judgment, thus the orders dated 1.3.2017, 20.3.2017 and 27.3.2017 passed by respondents are against the mandate of this Courts orders dated 22.11.2016, 18.10.2016 and 22.12.2016.

23. Learned counsel for the petitioner has placed reliance of Para 31 of the judgment of the Apex Court in Avtar Singh (Supra), which reads as follows :

31. Coming to the question whether an employee on probation can be discharged/ refused appointment though he has been acquitted of the charge(s), if his case was not pending when form was filled, in such matters, employer is bound to consider grounds of acquittal and various other aspects, overall conduct of employee including the accusations which have been levelled. If on verification, the antecedents are otherwise also not good, and in number of cases incumbent is involved then notwithstanding acquittals in a case/cases, it would be open to the employer to form opinion as to fitness on the basis of material on record. In case offence is petty in nature and committed at young age, such as stealing a bread, shouting of slogans or is such which does not involve moral turpitude, cheating, misappropriation, etc. or otherwise not a serious or heinous offence and accused has been acquitted in such a case when verification form is filled, employer may ignore lapse of suppression or submitting false information in appropriate cases on due consideration of various aspects."

24. Reliance has also been placed on a judgment passed by this Court in Writ-A No. 33265 of 2017 (Kalamuddin Ansari and another vs. Union of India and 4 others) wherein disclosure were not made in Column 12 of the case registered against the candidate, and it was held that the case fell within the parameters of principles elucidated in Para 38 of Avtar Singh's case.

25. In support of his contention learned counsel for the petitioners has placed reliance of a recent judgment in Civil Appeal No. 10571 of 2018 (Mohd. Imran vs. State of Maharashtra and others) dated 12th October 2018. The reliance has been placed on para 8 and 9 of the judgment.

26. Learned counsel for the petitioners has also placed reliance of a recent of judgment of this Court in the case of Raj Bahadur vs. Union of India and others passed in Writ A No. 39219 of 2017 decided on 13.12.2019.

27. Learned counsel for the petitioners has drawn the attention of the Court by placing the orders passed by the respondents authorities in the cases of similarly situated persons.

28. In the case of one Surendra Pratap Yadav, S/o Ram Kuber Yadav, Village Poora Bahoriya Post Gaddopur, Post Maharajganj, District Jaunpur, who has also filed a writ petition against the order passed by the respondent authority discharging him from training, a speaking order dated 12.5.2017 has been passed by I.G.-cum-CSC/ RPSF, New Delhi, in pursuance of the direction of this Court. Against Surendra Pratap Yadav a case was registered as Police Case No. 205-A/2008, under Section 147, 149, 323, 504, 506, 452 and 308 I.P.C. however, no details were given by Surendra Pratap Yadav while filling up attestation form which was signed on 16.5.2014. The I.G.-cum-Chief Security Officer/ Reserve Police Security Force, New Delhi has considered the claim of the applicant Surendra Pratap Yadav and has passed the following order :

"Keeping in view the PVR and facts represented in the statement of the candidate have come to the conclusion at the time of filling up of attestation form the character of the candidate was unblemished. Since the candidate was acquitted in the year 2012 itself hence he did not record so in the attestation form. However it is a fact that he made an incorrect statement of having been never involved in any criminal case in his life but I have a reason to believe that it must have been done in good faith since he got acquitted in the criminal case long before filling up of attestation form. Hence, his action appears to be in good faith.

Hence I have applied my mind and on evaluation of the facts on record, extant rules, and having accorded the opportunity of personal hearing and representation to the petitioner keeping with the principles of natural justice, and in light of directions of the Hon'ble Supreme Court judgment in Avtar Singh Vs. Union of India and others, I hereby come to the considered conclusion as Appointing Authority that Shri Surendra Pratap Yadav is fit for Government Service as a Constable in RPF/RPSF. The petitioner may be informed accordingly.

(Jaiaya Varmah)

IG-cum-CSC/RPSF

New Delhi."

29. Similarly, in the case of one Avneesh Kumar, S/o Rajendra Singh a speaking order has been passed by the same respondent authority following the principles laid down by the Hon'ble Apex Court in Avtar Singh vs. Union of India and others by declaring him to be fit for Government service as a Constable in R.P.F./ R.P.S.F.

30. Per contra learned counsel for the respondent authorities submitted that the act of the petitioners amounted to suppression of facts as neither in attestation form nor in the affidavit, which was filed subsequently, they disclosed the fact that earlier a criminal case was filed against them and that in the said criminal case they were acquitted before filling up the form, filing the application in response to the advertisement.

31. However, as far as orders passed by respondents not considering the cases of petitioners in light of Avtar Singh (supra) as directed by this Court, he submitted that petitioners were guilty of suppression of material fact, which is evident from their affidavits, therefore, no benefit can be accorded to them.

32. I have heard learned counsel for the parties and perused the material on record.

33. As it is evident from pleading of the parties that petitioners had applied for the post of Constable (GD) in Railway Protection Force in March, 2011 and at that relevant point of time no case were pending against the petitioners, and it was subsequently in year 2011 that the cases under Sections 279, 338 and 304-A against petitioner no.1, under Section 160 of I.P.C. against petitioner no.2, under Sections 379, 356 IPC against petitioner no.3 and under Sections 354, 504, 506 IPC against petitioner no.4 were lodged, which ultimately resulted in their acquittal on 5.5.2014, 21.1.2014, 3.5.2014 and 16.4.2014 respectively. It is also not in dispute that petitioners had submitted their attestation form in the year 2014 that is after their acquittal.

34. Thus, both at the time of applying for the post of constable as well as at the time of filling up of the attestation form, no criminal case was pending against any of the petitioners. However, it was the duty of the petitioners to disclose about the sole criminal case lodged against them in which they were ultimately acquitted before being sent for training. However, in this regard the Apex Court in case of Avtar Singh (supra) had exhaustively laid down guidelines for consideration regarding the issue of suppression of material facts while seeking appointment. The same are extracted hereasunder:

"38. We have noticed various decisions and tried to explain and reconcile them as far as possible. In view of the aforesaid discussion, we summarise our conclusion thus:

38.1. Information given to the employer by a candidate as to conviction, acquittal or arrest, or pendency of a criminal case, whether before or after entering into service must be true and there should be no suppression or false mention of required information.

38.2. While passing order of termination of services or cancellation of candidature for giving false information, the employer may take notice of special circumstances of the case, if any, while giving such information.

38.3. The employer shall take into consideration the government orders/instructions/rules, applicable to the employee, at the time of taking the decision.

38.4. In case there is suppression or false information of involvement in a criminal case where conviction or acquittal had already been recorded before filling of the application/verification form and such fact later comes to knowledge of employer, any of the following recourses appropriate to the case may be adopted:

38.4.1. In a case trivial in nature in which conviction had been recorded, such as shouting slogans at young age or for a petty offence which if disclosed would not have rendered an incumbent unfit for post in question, the employer may, in its discretion, ignore such suppression of fact or false information by condoning the lapse.

38.4.2. Where conviction has been recorded in case which is not trivial in nature, employer may cancel candidature or terminate services of the employee.

38.4.3. If acquittal had already been recorded in a case involving moral turpitude or offence of heinous/serious nature, on technical ground and it is not a case of clean acquittal, or benefit of reasonable doubt has been given, the employer may consider all relevant facts available as to antecedents, and may take appropriate decision as to the continuance of the employee.

38.5. In a case where the employee has made declaration truthfully of a concluded criminal case, the employer still has the right to consider antecedents, and cannot be compelled to appoint the candidate.

38.6. In case when fact has been truthfully declared in character verification form regarding pendency of a criminal case of trivial nature, employer, in facts and circumstances of the case, in its discretion, may appoint the candidate subject to decision of such case.

38.7. In a case of deliberate suppression of fact with respect to multiple pending cases such false information by itself will assume significance and an employer may pass appropriate order cancelling candidature or terminating services as appointment of a person against whom multiple criminal cases were pending may not be proper.

38.8. If criminal case was pending but not known to the candidate at the time of filling the form, still it may have adverse impact and the appointing authority would take decision after considering the seriousness of the crime.

38.9. In case the employee is confirmed in service,holding departmental enquiry would be necessary before passing order of termination/removal or dismissal on the ground of suppression or submitting false information in verification form.

38.10. For determining suppression or false information attestation/verification form has to be specific, not vague. Only such information which was required to be specifically mentioned has to be disclosed. If information not asked for but is relevant comes to knowledge of the employer the same can be considered in an objective manner while addressing the question of fitness. However, in such cases action cannot be taken on basis of suppression or submitting false information as to a fact which was not even asked for.

38.11. Before a person is held guilty of suppressio veri or suggestio falsi, knowledge of the fact must be attributable to him."

35. In Para 38.4.1 the Apex Court had taken note of the fact that in a case trivial in nature in which conviction had been recorded, such as shouting slogangs at young age or for petty offences which if undisclosed would not have rendered incumbent unfit for post in question, the employer may in its discretion ignore such suppression of fact or false information by condoning the lapse. While in the case in hand, petitioners had already been acquitted of an offence under Sections 279, 338 and 304-A (petitioner no.1), under Section 160 of I.P.C. (petitioner no.2), under Sections 379, 356 IPC (petitioner no.3) and under Sections 354, 504, 506 IPC (petitioner no.4).

36. Further, in Para 38.4.3 the Apex Court while considering in matters in which acquittal had already been recorded in a case involving moral turpitude or offence of heinous/ serious nature, on technical ground and it is not a case of clean acquittal or benefit of reasonable doubt has been given, the employer may consider all relevant facts available as to antecedents, and may take appropriate decision as to the continuance of the employee. Thus, the Apex Court in matters of heinous/ serious crime where acquittal has been granted on technical ground has also tried to give benefit to the employee as to continuance of their service and the relevant authority may consider the same taking into the fact the earlier antecedents of the concerned employee.

37. As from perusal of the case in hand, it can safely be said that two relevant periods that is, time of filling of the form and secondly, stage of filling up of the form of attestation, there was no case pending against petitioners, and an omission on their part to make disclosure as mandated would not make them unfit for consideration for the job in question.

38. The respondents while deciding claim of petitioners pursuant to remand order only took note of the form so submitted by petitioners which were also before the said authorities earlier in time but failed to advert to the fact that this Court had required the authorities concerned to look at the case of petitioners from the angle of principles laid down in case of Avtar Singh (supra), which respondents failed to consider and decide in the light of the same.

39. I find that orders passed by respondent no.7 dated 1.3.2017, respondent no.4 dated 20.3.2017 and respondent no.5 dated 27.3.2017 are not in the light of directions of this Court dated 18.10.2016, 22.11.2016 and 22.12.2016 as such the same cannot be sustained and are, hereby, quashed.

40. The respondents are expected to decide the claim of petitioners in the light of directions given by this Court earlier on 18.10.2016, 22.11.2016 and 22.12.2016 as well as in light of principle laid down in case of Avtar Singh (supra). It is also expected that the entire exercise shall be completed by the respondents authorities expeditiously, preferably, within a period of one month from the date of production of certified copy of this order, in accordance with law, by reasoned and speaking order.

41. With the above direction, the writ petition stands partly allowed.

Service Law - Appointment/Transfer - U.P. Intermediate Education Act, 1921:

Section 9(4) - U.P. Secondary Education Service Selection Board Act, 1982 - U.P. High Schools and Intermediate Colleges (Payment of Salaries of Teachers and Other Employees) Act, 1971 - University Grants Commission Act, 1956: Section 2(f), 3, 22

A perusal of the U.G.C. Act shows that the same is for the purposes of creating a Commission for regulating higher education in the entire country. The same has no concern at all with the secondary education. The Universities including a Deemed University can only confer degree for higher education. The secondary education, i.e., intermediate and high school education in the State of U.P. is covered by the Act of 1921 (or Central Board of Secondary Education, Indian Certificate of Secondary Education or Indian School Certificate, with which we are not concerned here). Therefore, there is clear-cut distinction in the entire State of U.P. with regard to higher education being under exclusive domain of the Universities or Deemed Universities and secondary education being with the Intermediate Education Board of the State of U.P. Admittedly, the institution concerned was recognized under the Act of 1921 and Section 9 of the same gives ample power to the State Government to pass orders with regard to matters covered under the said Act. Appointm ent and removal of teachers of an inter college can be made only as per the Act of 1982 and the provisions of the Act of 1921 stands superseded to the said extent. Further, neither the Act of 1982 nor the Act of 1921 confer any power upon the State Government to transfer teachers of an inter college to a University. Appointment of teachers in a University can only be as per the qualifications prescribed by the U.G.C. Act or other law applicable. The Intermediate Education Act cannot by any stretch of imagination cover appointment of teachers in a University. The transfer of petitioners, who were teachers with an inter college, to a Deemed University is in violation of the provisions of Act of 1982 as the same does not provide transfer of any teacher from an inter college to a University. (Para 6)

The petitioner has assailed the order dated 11.10.2012 by which the inter college has been disaffiliated and has been merged with a deemed university. The petitioners who are teachers of inter college also have been sent the Deemed University as teachers. They are not qualified as degree college teachers. All the Universities including the Deemed University can only dispense education and grant degree with regard to graduation and above and cannot impart education upto intermediate level. Therefore, transfer of petitioners from a recognized inter college to the Deemed University is under challenge. (Para 4)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Vivek Chaudhary, J.)

1. Heard Sri Ashok Khare, learned Senior Advocate assisted by Sri Siddharth Khare, learned counsel for petitioner, learned Standing Counsel for the State and learned counsel for respondent Deemed University.

2. Petitioners are lecturers of R.E.I. Inter College, Dayalbagh, Agra. The said inter college was duly recognized and aided educational institution and provisions of U.P. Intermediate Education Act, 1921 (the 'Act of 1921'), U.P. Secondary Education Service Selection Board Act, 1982 (the 'Act of 1982') and U.P. High Schools and Intermediate Colleges (Payment of Salaries of Teachers and Other Employees) Act, 1971 (the 'Act of 1971') were applicable on the same. Petitioners were selected by the U.P.

Secondary Education Service Selection Board and in pursuance of the recommendations made by the Selection Board, the District Inspector of Schools, Agra forwarded their names for appointment to the Management of R.E.I. Inter College. In furtherance of the said recommendations, the Management of R.E.I. Inter College issued appointment letters to the petitioners and, thus, petitioners joined the college. On 11.10.2012 the State Government issued an office order, in purported exercise of powers under Section 9(4) of the Intermediate Education Act, disaffiliating the R.E.I. Inter College, Agra from the Board of High School and Intermediate Education, U.P., Allahabad and further permitted its merger with Dayalbagh Education Institute Deemed University, Dayalbagh, Agra, subject to the conditions specified therein. The conditions imposed were:-

"(i) The High School and Intermediate Examination commencing from the year 2014 would be conducted by Dayalbagh Education Institute, Deemed University, Dayalbagh, Agra, itself which would have recognition as equivalent to High School and Intermediate Certificate Examination conducted by Board of High School & Intermediate Education.

(ii) The course curriculum and the books of study would continue to remain the same as stand prescribed by the Board of High School & Intermediate Education and in future the amendment/alteration would also be applicable with formal approval from Board of High School & Intermediate Education.

(iii) The said institution would not be affiliated to any other examining body and the examination would be conducted by the Deemed University itself.

(iv) The payment of salary to the members of the staff would be paid in accordance with the rules of the Deemed University.

(v) All liability for payment of salary, allowances, pension, G.P.F., Group Insurance, etc., would be the sole liability of the Deemed University and the State Government would have no concern with the same.

(vi) The members of the staff presently employed in the institute would be funded by the State Government and the financial liability with regard to any future increase in the staff would be borne by the Deemed University itself.

(vii) Orders would be separately issued by the Higher Education Department of the State with regard to the grant to be paid to be Deemed University.

3. Petitioners have challenged the aforesaid order dated 11.10.2012 to the extent they have been transferred under the said order to the Deemed University.

4. Sri Ashok Khare learned Senior Advocate for the petitioners submits that by the impugned order the inter college has been disaffiliated and has been merged with a Deemed University. Further, even the petitioners who are teachers of inter college also have been sent to the said Deemed University as teachers. The Deemed University has been asked to conduct examination parallel to the examination being conducted by the Education Board equivalent to high school and inter college. The teachers would be paid salary by the Deemed University and other liabilities with regard to teachers and employees shall also shift to the Deemed University and the State Government shall have no concern with the same. Thus, conditions imposed under the impugned order are challenged and it is argued that services of the petitioners could not have been transferred from an inter college to any University including Deemed University. Counsel for the petitioners states that petitioners are qualified and selected as inter college teachers by U.P. Secondary Education Service Selection Board. They are not qualified as degree college teachers. All the Universities including the Deemed University can only dispense education and grant degree with regard to graduation and above and cannot impart education up to intermediate level. Therefore, the transfer of petitioners from a recognized inter college to a Deemed University is illegal.

5. Learned Standing Counsel and learned counsel for respondent University have strongly argued that State Government has sufficient power under Section 9(4) of the Intermediate Education Act to pass any order as it deem fit and the Education Board is bound to comply with the same. Counsel for the respondent University states that University has no objection in case the petitioners are transferred back to elsewhere. He submits that such a statement is also made in paragraph-52 of the counter affidavit filed by the University.

6. Section 2(f) of the University Grants Commission Act, 1956 (U.G.C. Act) defines University and Section 3 defines Deemed University. Admittedly, respondent no.8 is a Deemed University. Section 22 of the U.G.C. Act provides that University shall have right of conferring or granting degrees. A perusal of the U.G.C. Act shows that the same is for the purposes of creating a Commission for regulating higher education in the entire country. The same has no concern at all with the secondary education. The Universities including a Deemed University can only confer degree for higher education. The secondary education, i.e., intermediate and high school education in the State of U.P. is covered by the Act of 1921 (or Central Board of Secondary Education, Indian Certificate of Secondary Education or Indian School Certificate, with which we are not concerned here). Therefore, there is clear-cut distinction in the entire State of U.P. with regard to higher education being under exclusive domain of the Universities or Deemed Universities and secondary education being with the Intermediate Education Board of the State of U.P. Admittedly, the institution concerned was recognized under the Act of 1921 and Section 9 of the same gives ample power to the State Government to pass orders with regard to matters covered under the said Act. Appointment and removal of teachers of an inter college can be made only as per the Act of 1982 and the provisions of the Act of 1921 stands superseded to the said extent. Further, neither the Act of 1982 nor the Act of 1921 confer any power upon the State Government to transfer teachers of an inter college to a University. Appointment of teachers in a University can only be as per the qualifications prescribed by the U.G.C. Act or other law applicable. The Intermediate Education Act cannot by any stretch of imagination cover appointment of teachers in a University. The transfer of petitioners, who were teachers with an inter college, to a Deemed University is in violation of the provisions of Act of 1982 as the same does not provide transfer of any teacher from an inter college to a University. Thus, the impugned order dated 11.10.2012 to the said extent is bad and is set aside.

7. The Supreme Court in case of U.P. Secondary Education Service Selection Board Vs. State of U.P. and Others reported in (2018) 13 SCC 720, provided that the Board would have sufficient power to accommodate teachers from one inter college to another inter college in specific circumstances. In the present case, since the inter college has been de-recognized, the teachers of the inter college, who were duly selected by the U.P. Secondary Education Service Selection Board, have to be accommodated as lecturers in their respective subjects in other similar colleges. The Director of Education (Secondary), U.P., Lucknow is therefore directed to ensure that the petitioners are accommodated in other recognized inter college, on which provision of U.P. Intermediate Education Act, 1921, U.P. Secondary Education Service Selection Board Act, 1982 and U.P. High Schools and Intermediate Colleges (Payment of Salaries of Teachers and Other Employees) Act, 1971 are applicable, within the District Agra. Since, the petitioners have been continuously in service, therefore, it goes without saying that they shall be entitled to their earlier seniority also in such appropriate colleges. The Director shall ensure that such an exercise is completed within a period of four months from the date a certified copy of this order is placed before him and in case vacancies within the District Agra are not available in the aforesaid period of four months, they shall be accommodated immediately thereafter whenever such vacancies first accrue.

8. With the aforesaid, both the writ petitions stand disposed of.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Ajit Singh, J.)

1. Learned counsel for the accused-appellant has submitted that the accused-appellant Hari Singh has been convicted in Special Case No. 20 of 2011, arising out of same Case Crime No. 23 of 2004 (CBI Vs. Badri Prasad and others), RC-0072004A0006, P.S. CBI Dehradun, District Dehradun and sentenced for the offence under section 120B I.P.C. [read with section 420, 467, 468, 471 IPC and section 13(2) read with section 13(1)(d) Prohibition of Corruption Act, 1988] for 05 years rigorous imprisonment and Rs. 5000/- fine each and in case of default in payment of fine 03 months additional rigorous imprisonment, for the offence under section 420 IPC for 04 year rigorous imprisonment and Rs. 2000/- fine each and in case of default in payment of fine 02 months additional rigorous imprisonment, for the offence under section 467 I.P.C. for 07 years rigorous imprisonment and Rs. 7000/- fine each and in case of default in payment of fine 06 months additional rigorous imprisonment, for the offence under section 468 I.P.C. for 04 years rigorous imprisonment and Rs. 2000/- fine each and in case of default in payment of fine 02 months additional rigorous imprisonment and for the offence under section 471 IPC for 01 year rigorous imprisonment and Rs. 1000/- fine each and in case of default in payment of fine 01 months additional rigorous imprisonment. The learned trial court has directed that the sentences in all the sections shall run concurrently.

2. The brief facts leading to this criminal appeal is that the accused persons had got employment in the Postal Department by submitting forged and fabricated educational documents of their High School, Intermediate and Graduation and those fabricated documents were prepared by the accused persons. It was also mentioned in the prosecution story that the present accused Hari Singh had submitted the marks sheet of intermediate examination, 1987 issued by Madhyamik Shiksha Parishad, Uttar Pradesh in the name of MGHM, Inter Colege, Merehra, Etah. In the forged marksheet, the marks were shown by the accused 254 out of 500 and on the basis of fake, forged and fabricated educational documents the present accused has secured job in the postal department, Moradabad. The Central Bureau of Investigation has investigated the matter and submitted chargesheet against the present accused and the other co-accused.

3. The present accused was tried for the offence under Sections 120B, 420B read with section 120B, 467 read with section 120B, 468 read with section 120B, 471 read with section 171 and Section 3(2) read with section 13(i)(d) Prevention of Corruption Act, 1988. The trial court convicted the accused by the impugned order.

4. Learned counsel for the appellant has submitted that two accused persons who were also convicted by the trial court along with present appellant and their criminal appeals have been disposed of by another Bench of this Court and their sentence has been modified. He further submitted that although the trial court has convicted the present accused on the basis of mere conjuncture while the appellant is absolutely innocent.

5. Learned counsel for the appellant has also submitted that offence was committed in the year 1992 and the accused had been removed from service and when he was removed from service he was a young man; that there is no bread earner in the family of the appellant. He next submitted that it was the first offence of the accused and after conviction the accused had not indulged in any other criminal activity. He further submitted that on the question of legality of sentence he is not pressing this appeal and only pressing on the quantum of sentence and he has prayed for taking lenient view considering the age of the accused and his age related ailments.

6. It has been pointed out that the lower court record has not been received. In this situation, where the learned counsel for the appellant has opted to argue on quantum of sentence, I do not find any restriction or any need for original record.

7. List has been revised. None is present on behalf of C.B.I., though Sri Vikash Singh, learned for the appellant and Sri Ravi Prkash Pandey and Sri S.B. Maurya, learned A.G.A. for the State are present and perused the record.

8. At the very outset, Vikas Singh, learned counsel for the appellant, on instructions, stated that he does not propose to challenge the impugned judgement and order on its merits. He, however, prayed for modification of the order of the sentence for the period already undergone by the appellant.

9. Learned counsel for the accused-appellant has submitted that accused-appellant is in jail since 22.12.2016 from the date of judgement and prior to that he was in jail for three years and two months and as such he was in jail about 04 years, and therefore, he has requested that considering the period he is in jail, a lenient view may be adopted and the sentence may be converted either undergone or the sentence may be substantially reduced.

10. Learned A.G.A. have vehemently opposed the prayer, he has however, submitted that if slight reduction in sentence is made, he has no objection.

11. I have perused the entire material available on record and the evidence, as well as judgement of the trial court, it is apparent from the record that the accused has submitted the forged and fabricated marks sheet just to get the employment in the Postal Department and on that basis the appeal of the present accused deserves to be rejected on merits.

12. In Mohd. Giasuddin Vs. State of AP, AIR 1977 SC 1926, explaining rehabilitary & reformative aspects in sentencing it has been observed by the Supreme Court:

"Crime is a pathological aberration. The criminal can ordinarily be redeemed and the state has to rehabilitate rather than avenge. The sub-culture that leads to ante-social behaviour has to be countered not by undue cruelty but by re-culturization. Therefore, the focus of interest in penology in the individual and the goal is salvaging him for the society. The infliction of harsh and savage punishment is thus a relic of past and regressive times. The human today vies sentencing as a process of reshaping a person who has deteriorated into criminality and the modern community has a primary stake in the rehabilitation of the offender as a means of a social defence. Hence a therapeutic, rather than an 'in terrorem' outlook should prevail in our criminal courts, since brutal incarceration of the person merely produces laceration of his mind. If you are to punish a man retributively, you must injure him. If you are to reform him, you must improve him and, men are not improved by injuries."

13. In Sham Sunder vs Puran, (1990) 4 SCC 731, where the high court reduced the sentence for the offence under section 304 part I into undergone, the supreme court opined that the sentence needs to be enhanced being inadequate. It was held:

"The court in fixing the punishment for any particular crime should take into consideration the nature of offence, the circumstances in which it was committed, the degree of deliberation shown by the offender. The measure of punishment should be proportionate to the gravity of offence."

14. In State of MP vs Najab Khan, (2013) 9 SCC 509, the high court, while upholding conviction, reduced the sentence of 3 years by already undergone which was only 15 days. The supreme court restored the sentence awarded by the trial court. Referring the judgments in Jameel vs State of UP (2010) 12 SCC 532, Guru Basavraj vs State of Karnatak, (2012) 8 SCC 734, the court observed as follows:

"In operating the sentencing system, law should adopt the corrective machinery or the deterrence based on factual matrix. The facts and given circumstances in each case, the nature of the crime, the manner in which it was planned and committed, the motive for commission of the crime, the conduct of the accused, the nature of weapons used and all other attending circumstances are relevant facts which would enter into the area of consideration. We also reiterate that undue sympathy to impose inadequate sentence would do more harm to the justice dispensation system to undermine the public confidence in the efficacy of law. It is the duty of court to award proper sentence having regard to the nature of offence and the manner in which it was executed or committed. The courts must not only keep in view the rights of victim of the crime but also the society at large while considering the imposition of appropriate punishment."

15. Earlier, "Proper Sentence" was explained in Deo Narain Mandal Vs. State of UP (2004) 7 SCC 257 by observing that Sentence should not be either excessively harsh or ridiculously low. While determining the quantum of sentence, the court should bear in mind the principle of proportionately. Sentence should be based on facts of a given case. Gravity of offence, manner of commission of crime, age and sex of accused should be taken into account. Discretion of Court in awarding sentence cannot be exercised arbitrarily or whimsically.

16. In subsequent decisions, the supreme court has laid emphasis on proportional sentencing by affirming the doctrine of proportionality. In Shyam Narain vs State (NCT of delhi), (2013) 7 SCC 77, it was pointed out that sentencing for any offence has a social goal. Sentence is to be imposed with regard being had to the nature of the offence and the manner in which the offence has been committed. The fundamental purpose of imposition of sentence is based on the principle that the accused must realize that the crime committed by him has not only created a dent in the life of the victim but also a concavity in the social fabric. The purpose of just punishment is that the society may not suffer again by such crime. The principle of proportionality between the crime committed and the penalty imposed are to be kept in mind. The impact on the society as a whole has to be seen. Similar view has been expressed in Sumer Singh vs Surajbhan Singh, (2014) 7 SCC 323 , State of Punjab vs Bawa Singh, (2015) 3 SCC 441, and Raj Bala vs State of Haryana, (2016) 1 SCC 463.

17. In Kokaiyabai Yadav vs State of Chhattisgarh(2017) 13 SCC 449, it has been observed that reforming criminals who understand their wrongdoing, are able to comprehend their acts,have grown and nartured into citizens with a desire to live a fruitful life in the outside world, have the capacity of humanising the world.

18. In Ravada Sasikala vs. State of A.P. AIR 2017 SC 1166, the Supreme Court referred the judgments in Jameel vs State of UP (2010) 12 SCC 532, Guru Basavraj vs State of Karnatak, (2012) 8 SCC 734, Sumer Singh vs Surajbhan Singh, (2014) 7 SCC 323 , State of Punjab vs Bawa Singh, (2015) 3 SCC 441, and Raj Bala vs State of Haryana, (2016) 1 SCC 463 and has reiterated that, in operating the sentencing system, law should adopt corrective machinery or deterrence based on factual matrix. Facts and given circumstances in each case, nature of crime, manner in which it was planned and committed, motive for commission of crime, conduct of accused, nature of weapons used and all other attending circumstances are relevant facts which would enter into area of consideration. Further, undue sympathy in sentencing would do more harm to justice dispensations and would undermine the public confidence in the efficacy of law. It is the duty of every court to award proper sentence having regard to nature of offence and manner of its commission. The supreme court further said that courts must not only keep in view the right of victim of crime but also society at large. While considering imposition of appropriate punishment, the impact of crime on the society as a whole and rule of law needs to be balanced.

19. The judicial trend in the country has been towards striking a balance between reform and punishment. The protection of society and stamping out criminal proclivity must be the object of law which can be achieved by imposing appropriate sentence on criminals and wrongdoers. Law, as a tool to maintain order and peace, should effectively meet challenges confronting the society, as society could not long endure and develop under serious threats of crime and disharmony. It is therefore, necessary to avoid undue leniency in imposition of sentence. Thus, the criminal justice jurisprudence adopted in the country is not retributive but reformative and corrective. At the same time, undue harshness should also be avoided keeping in view the reformative approach underlying in our criminal justice system.

20. Keeping in view the facts and circumstances of the case and also keeping in view criminal jurisprudence in our country which is reformative and corrective and not retributive. It believes that no accused person is incapable of being reformed and therefore, all measures should be applied to give them an opportunity of reformation in order to bring them in the social stream.

21. In the facts and circumstances of the case, the highest sentence which has been awarded by the learned trial court is of 07 years under section 467 I.P.C. the remaining sentence are much less in comparison to it, therefore, the sentence awarded under section 467 I.P.C. if reduced by 02 years against the awarded sentence of 7 years, the ends of the justice will be served. From perusal of the judgement, it appears that the sentence in all other sections have been directed to run concurrently and it has also been directed that the period in which the accused persons were in jail shall be accommodated in their sentence, therefore, there is no necessity for disturbing the sentence which has been awarded in other sections.

22. So far as quantum of fine is concerned, it appears to be adequate and it is not required to be disturbed. However, the default sentence in lieu of fine may be reduced to some extent to serve the ends of justice.

23. Accordingly, the conviction is upheld. The appeal is finally disposed of with the modification that the sentence of 07 years rigorous imprisonment for the offence under section 467 I.P.C. is reduced by 02 years and the default sentence in lieu of fine under section 120-B IPC is reduced from 03 months rigorous imprisonment to 01 months rigorous imprisonment, under section 420 IPC is reduced from 02 months rigorous imprisonment to 01 months rigorous imprisonment, under section 467 IPC is reduced from 06 months rigorous imprisonment to 2 months rigorous imprisonment, under section 468 IPC is reduced from 02 months rigorous imprisonment to 01 months rigorous imprisonment and under section 471 IPC is reduced from 01 months rigorous imprisonment to 15 days rigorous imprisonment.

24. Office is directed to transmit the lower court record along with copy of this judgment to the learned court below for information and necessary compliance as warranted.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Vikas Kunvar Srivastav, J.)

1. Since the Sessions Trial based on circumstantial evidences only, was culminated into conviction of the sole accused for the offence of murder punishable under Section 302 of the IPC and accordingly death sentence is awarded to him, therefore this Capital Sentence No.1 of 2017 is before us for confirmation of the sentence. The reference is admitted vide order of a Division bench of this Court dated 02.03.2017. Simultaneously a Jail Appeal on behalf of the convict detained in District Jail Faizabad sent by Jail Superintendent, is also pending before this Court bearing no. 358 of 2017.

2. The Court of third Additional Sessions Judge, Ambedkar Nagar tried the Sessions Trial no.213 of 2013 under Section 302 IPC, arisen from the case crime no.61 of 2013, registered in Police Station, 'Kotwali Tanda', District Ambedkar Nagar, against the sole accused 'Ram Gopal Saini' arraigning him for the murder of his mother, wife and a son of tender age approximately 4 years. The trial ended with the conviction and sentence of Death punishment under Section 302 IPC vide judgment and order dated 15.02.2017.

3. Sri Nagendra Mohan, Advocate has put his appearance for and on behalf of the accused appellant. Learned Government Advocate, Sri Vimal Prakash assisted by Sri Pankaj Kumar Tewari, A.G.A. represents the 'State' to contest the appeal and defend the reference case of confirmation of Death sentence awarded to the accused appellant. The Session Judge of Ambedkar Nagar District Judgeship has already sent with reference the entire record of trial Court under Section 366 of CH. XXVIII of Criminal Procedure Code 1973 for perusal. Since both, the criminal appeal and the capital sentence reference would have common questions of law and fact to be decided, therefore we think it necessary to hear and decide them simultaneously through a common judgment.

1. Facts of the case

4. Before we proceed further with the pleas for and against the impugned judgment and sentence of capital punishment or 'the Death Penalty', it would be relevant to have a brief introduction of the facts involved in the case. The facts as emerged out from perusal of the materials and evidences on record are that one 'Sunil Mali' son of the sister of the accused appellant approached the Police Station at 06:45 A.M. on 19.04.2013 to inform that his maternal grand mother Kama Devi (mother of appellant), sister in law Kanchan (wife of appellant) and their son Dhairya are lying dead on the floor in the house of the appellant situated at Mohalla Hayatganj, P.S. Kotwali Tanda, District Ambedkar Nagar, in the absence of appellant as he went to attend a feast on the occasion of house warming (Grih Pravesh) of his sister's house in Delhi. On this information Police of Tanda Kotwali Police Station reached at the place of incident at 07:30 A.M. instantly started inquest proceeding in the presence of Tehsildar and made necessary inquiries and seizure of materials from the spot. The inquest witnesses reported to had not given any opinion as to cause of death as there was no obvious and external mark of injury on the dead bodies. However, the dead bodies were lying on the different places of the house on floor with vomits etc. In the presence of relatives, neighbours and police officers on duty the inquest of all the three dead bodies was completed by 09:45 A.M. and body was sent for postmortem. In postmortem house 'viscera' of the dead bodies was extracted and sent to Forensic Science Lab for examination. The report of FSL was received on 23.11.2013 disclosing the use of a pesticide named Aluminum Phosphate (ALP) in the incident. It is notable here that the proceeding of inquiry on spot and that of the inquest and thereafter the postmortem of the dead bodies all were done without lodging first information report (FIR) though Sunil Mali had informed the incident at earliest on 19.04.2013 in morning at 06:45 A.M. The father of Kanchan (deceased wife of the appellant) namely, "Ram Gopal Verma" was throughout remained present on the spot since the very beginning in the morning when inquest started but he neither expressed any opinion as to cause of death nor suspected any one to be culprit. He did not lodge even a complaint. On 06.05.2013, the said Ram Gopal Verma moved a written complaint to the police to the effect that Ram Gopal Saini (appellant) developed relations with his daughter Kanchan (deceased) and entered into love marriage with her about four years ago and since then they were cohabiting as husband and wife in the house of accused appellant with his mother Kama Devi (deceased). Out of their wedlock, a son was begotten namely 'Dhairya'. Accused appellant since before the marriage with Kanchan had illicit relation with wife of one Ved Prakash Gupta r/o Hanuman Garhi, kept maintained the same even after the marriage with Kanchan. In order to cherish his illicit relation and to make the same smooth and unrestrained, the appellant conspired to murder his mother, wife and son and fulfilled the same. An F.I.R. was registered on the said complaint dated 06.05.2013 and the police investigated the matter, arrested the accused appellant on 06.05.2013. Appellant had already returned on 19.04.2013 by the time of postmortem from Delhi and was present in postmortem house. It is also notable that the evidence shows the accused appellant prior to incident dated 19.04.2013 was facing a criminal prosecution on the complaint of Ram Gopal Verma with regard to alleged elopement in the year 2008, of his daughter Kanchan (deceased) on instigation of the appellant to marry with him. His daughter Kanchan had also filed a criminal writ in the High Court wherein she got stay of arrest of accused appellant. However, in the investigation of the case founded on complaint dated 06.05.2013 with regard to incident of alleged murder of Kama Devi, Kanchan and Dhairya (mother, wife and son of the appellant) on the basis of evidence of complainant and other circumstantial evidences charge sheet in the Court was submitted against the appellant. When after examining the viscera F.S.L. gave it's report, it was disclosed that a common pesticide known as Aluminum Phosphate was the cause of death of all the three victim of the incident.

5. "Ram Gopal Verma", father of the deceased wife (Kanchan) of the accused appellant by moving complaint with regard to incident dated 19.04.2013 in writing on 06.05.2013 for the first time blamed his son in law Ram Gopal Saini to have committed the murder of Smt. Kama Devi, Kanchan and Dhairya. Though the police got first information of the incident from Sunil Mali on 19.04.2013 at 06:45 A.M. moved for the spot of incident informing the area Tehsildar and started inquest and inquiries there, but did not register the F.I.R. thereupon. F.I.R. was registered on the version of complaint by Ram Gopal Verma on 06.05.2013 only. On investigation, the investigating officer arrested the accused, got recorded his confessional statement as to his guilt and on his pointing out, prepared a sitemap on 06.05.2013 indicating the places where the dead bodies of victims of incident reported on 19.04.2013 were lying on floor of the house. Purportedly on the basis of statements given by witnesses and confessional statement of the accused appellant the investigating officer submitted chargesheet against him in the concerned court of Magistrate on 31.07.2013. The Magistrate perused the chargesheet submitted in Crime Case No.61 of 2013 aforesaid under Sections 302/120B of the IPC, finding the same exclusively triable by a Court of sessions passed order of committal to the court of sessions on 30.08.2013.

2. Charge and evidences in trial

6. The Court of sessions framed the following charge against the accused on 11.07.2014.

"यह कि आप अभियुक्त ने दिनांक समय अज्ञात स्थान वहद मोहल्ला हयातगंज थाना कोतवाली टाण्डा जनपद अम्बेदकर नगर में वादी मुकदमा राम गोपल वर्मा की पुत्री कंचन वर्मा जिससे आपने वर्ष 2008 में प्रेम विवाह किया था, वेद प्रकाश की औरत से अवैध सम्बन्ध होने के कारण कंचन वर्मा ,पत्नीद्ध, धैर्य ,पुत्रद्ध कामा देवी ,मॉद्ध की मृत्युकर हत्या कारित किया। इस प्रकार आपने ऐसा कार्य किया है, जो भा0द0स0 की धारा 302 के अन्तर्गत दण्डनीय अपराध है, और इस न्यायालय के प्रसंज्ञान में है।"

For the easy reference the said charge as framed above is reproduced by translator in english.

"That you, the accused on date and time not known the place in Mohalla 'Hayatganj' District Ambedkar Nagar by causing death committed murder of your wife 'Kanchan' with whom in the year 2003 you entered into love marriage, of your mother Kama Devi and son Dhairya, for the reason of your illicit relations with wife of one Ved Prakash Gupta. As such you committed an offence under Section 300 of the I.P.C. which is within cognizance of this Court".

7. Since the accused did not plead guilty and claimed trial. The prosecution produced materials and witnesses in evidence against the accused shown for the purpose of easy reference in the chart appended below:-

8. The prosecution witnesses PW-1 to PW-5 turned hostile during examination before the Court. The rest of the witnesses from PW-6 to PW-9 being formal police witnesses involved in doing investigation and the doctor who did atrophy on dead bodies, proved their respective documents in evidence like memos of seizure of materials collected from the spot and post mortem report respectively. The trial court after recording of evidence carved out the incriminating circumstances and facts therefrom against the accused and called him to explain those under Section 313 of the Cr.P.C. The accused submitted the incriminating evidence against him led by prosecution witnesses false due to the enmity and claimed himself absent from home (the spot of evidence) since before the date of incident, as he gone Delhi to join the feast held by his sister on the occasion of Grih Pravesh Ceremony.

3. A summary of the impugned judgment

9. The trial judge after hearing the prosecution and defence counsel in the light of evidence available on record framed three points of determination for it's decision over them, namely-

A) Whether the prosecution has been successful in proving the charge under Section 302 of the I.P.C.

B) Whether the accused is entitled to get benefit of prosecution witnesses PW-2 to PW-5 having been hostile against prosecution.

C) Whether the accused has been successful in giving satisfactory explanation of his absence from the spot of incident under Section 106 of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872.

In determining the aforesaid points as the discussion in judgment shows, the trial judge placed reliance on evidence as to the illicit relations of accused with the wife of one Ved Prakash Gupta holding the same a motive for the commission of offence by him. He further relied on the statement of PW-1 charging the accused appellant that he administered poison to his mother, wife and son for the aforesaid motive and allegedly went therefrom to his sister's house in Delhi. He also held that the matter rests on the circumstantial evidence therefore referred the judgments of Hon'ble Apex Court in Sharad Birdhchand Sarda Vs. State of Maharashtra1 and Dhan Raj @ Dhand Vs. State of Haryana2 to keep into consideration while recording finding over the questions framed by him for determination. He has held that the First Information Report Ex. Ka 1 was given in the police station on 06.05.2013 itself discloses the fact of accused having entered into love marriage with his daughter Kanchan in the year 2008. The accused had been in illicit relationship with wife of Ved Prakash Gupta since before his marriage with Kanchan (deceased) and kept maintained the same even after his marriage. For the reason of that relationship, the accused had committed murder of Kanchan his wife, Kama Devi his mother and Dhairya his son. Ram Gopal Verma aforesaid is examined as PW-1 who has proved in his examination in chief the said exhibit ka 1. The learned trial judge further took into consideration the inquest proceeding done at spot of incident wherein PW-1 himself was a witness. Another circumstance taken by him into consideration is that all the three dead bodies were found inside the house. The FSL report pursuant to the examination of viscera contents gives the finding as to the use of poison namely Aluminum Phosphate. The test of material exhibit, the two metallic glasses and bed sheet stained with vomit also gave presence of Aluminum Phosphate over them. The learned trial Judge considered all these circumstances cumulatively reached at a conclusion that all the three victims of the incident died due to administration of poison and dead bodies were found inside the residential house of the accused. He in his statement shown unawareness about death by poisoning of his family members and explained that he was not at his house at the time of incident. Under Section 106 of Evidence Act, he had to explain the reason of his absence from the house at the relevant day, date and time. But he failed to prove his absence satisfactorily. Further his absence from the house after the death of his three family members in his house is also material as his 'conduct' is relevant to the fact in issue under Section 7 and 8 of the Evidence Act, 1872. In addition to the absence of accused as a fact relevant to the fact in issue which he need to satisfactorily prove, the learned trial judge taken into consideration the illustration (c) appended with Section 7 of the Evidence Act, 1872 that the deceased being his close relative as they were mother, wife and son of the accused, he would have been well known with their nature and habit. There was sufficient opportunity for him to administer them poison for committing their murder. All the above reasons as stated by learned trial judge were taken as satisfactory to reach at an inference of guilt on the part of accused that he bearing a motive of securing his illicit relations with another woman, killed his wife Kanchan, son Dhairya and mother Kama Devi.

So far as second question for determination is concerned it relates with the evidentiary value of testimony of a hostile witness. The learned trial judge referred the relevant judgment of Hon'ble Apex Court. He stated in his finding to the effect that the hostile witnesses have proved absence of accused on spot after incident, the love marriage of accused with Kanchan (deceased) as well as the death of Kanchan, Dhairya and Kama Devi by poisoning, therefore, the fact of the witnesses turned hostile would not benefit the accused.

Likely, the third question for determination as to the appended of Section 106 Evidence Act, 1872 is decided by trial judge referring relevant judgments of Hon'ble Apex Court. It is held by trial judge that in the present case, the fact of the death of the victim in the house of accused is proved by medical evidence and the testimony of PW-1 and other prosecution witness that all the three victim died for the reason of poisoning. Under the said circumstances, the accused is burdened to furnish satisfactory explanation. But the accused though stated in his statement recorded under Section 313 Cr.P.C. as to the fact that he went to Delhi at the relevant date and time of incident could not be proved by solid evidence. As such, the failure to furnish satisfactory explanation would be sufficient to draw adverse inference of guilt against the accused. The conviction of the accused and sentence of capital punishment thus rest upon the aforesaid presumption and inferences drawn by the Court against him.

4. Rival contentions in appeal

Arguments by learned counsel for appellant Sri Nagendra Mohan, Advocate

10. Learned Counsel Sri Nagendra Mohan, Advocate opened his argument assailing the judgment on the ground that in despite of the prosecution remained unsuccessful in proving it's case against the accused appellant beyond reasonable doubts, the trial judge doing misinterpretation and misconstruction of the provision of Sections 7, 8, 9 and 10 of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872 drawn adverse inference and presumption of guilt against the accused.

11. The prosecution had in express words set a motive on the part of appellant for the commission of murder of his mother, wife and son so as to keep continued smoothly his "illicit relationship" with another married woman. The prosecution could not prove the motive by direct evidence or by statement of the deceased if any, made prior to her death to any of her near relative oral/written or her complaint to that effect if made to the law enforcement officers with regard to torture or cruelty exerted upon her by the appellant in connection with alleged illicit relationship .

12. It is argued further that the entire investigation suffers from several material irregularity and defects the benefit whereof could have not been given to the prosecution. He drew attention towards material facts in the case that though the information as to the three dead bodies lying in the house of appellant has already been given to the police early in the morning at 06:45 A.M. on 19.04.2013 with complete identity and introduction of the victim by Sunil Kumar Mali, the son of accused appellant's sister, first information report was not registered thereupon. When the Cr.P.C. mandatorily requires to register F.I.R. on information disclosing a cognizable offence and does not preclude from registering FIR under the circumstance of the instant case, non registration of F.I.R. on 19.04.2013 makes a doubt as to the genuineness of the FIR registered on 06.05.2013 after a considerable lapse of time of more than fifteen days. He further drew attention towards the complainant Ram Gopal Verma of complaint dated 06.05.2013 upon which the FIR was registered that when the inquest of the dead bodies were done from 07:30 A.M. to 09:30 A.M. on spot of incident on 19.04.2013, Ram Gopal Verma was present there and he is one of the signatory as witness of the inquest proceeding but he did not complained suspicion as to the death of the victims. In the context of above, learned counsel argued that the trial court ignored as to why the complainant has not moved the complaint against appellant if the guilt on the part of accused was known to him.

13. Learned counsel submitted that prosecution has not offered to prove it's case through direct evidences and rests it solely on the circumstantial evidences. In the present case where admittedly there were 4 inmates of the house exclusively owned and possessed by the appellant where he used to reside alongwith the victims of incident dated 19.04.2013 and in his absence, rest of them were found dead, then in the given circumstances there might have been three hypothesis as to the cause of the occurrence namely 1) Suicidal death or Suicide, 2) Accidental death or 3) Homicidal death. The prosecution was therefore burdened to prove such sequence of circumstances which completely exclude the possibility of two other hypothesis namely of suicidal or accidental death of the victims trio. Further, if the prosecution rests on the hypothesis of homicidal death of the victims then to arraign therefore the appellant, the prosecution had strict burden to prove such sequence of circumstances which necessarily suggest the guilt of appellant only and no one else. In despite of that there is no such continuous chain of sequences of circumstances proved by the prosecution evidences which would have been sufficient to record conviction, learned trial judge convicted the appellant.

14. Learned counsel argued the strong possibility of false implication by the complainant for the reason of his proved enmity with the appellant. He drew attention towards the evidence of admitted fact as to the appellant's love marriage with Kanchan (deceased) against the consent and wish of the complainant. The complainant had prosecuted the appellant in that regard; whereas Kanchan (his deceased daughter) had also filed a writ petition in the High Court seeking stay and quashing of that prosecution and protection of life and liberty against her father, the present complainant. The death of three members of the family of the appellant including the complainant's daughter Kanchan given him a fresh cause to implicate him falsely.

15. Learned counsel placed reliance on the judgment of Hon'ble Apex Court in Gargi Vs. State of Haryana3 to fortify his contention as to defective investigation where the very approach of the investigating officer has been shrouded in unexplained omission and irregularities which raises doubt as to the prosecution case therefore, appellant would be entitled to benefit of doubt. He also relied on the above judgment in support as to the motive of his contention as to the unproved motive that when the prosecution was not able to prove the illicit relation of accused with another woman and no particular of such illicit relation was found in evidence on record, possibility of leveling such imputations on appellant for any malice can not be relied upon. He further argued on the point of circumstantial evidence which in the context of the crime, essentially means such facts and surrounding factors which do point towards contemporary of charged accused. Learned counsel further relied on State of Kerala Vs. Anilachandran @ Madhu & ors.4 where it is held that when the accused take in defence plea of alibi, but the same is discarded, does not take away the duty of prosecution to prove it's case beyond all reasonable doubt. Learned counsel further relied on Jose @ Pappachan Vs. Sub Inspector of Police Koyilandy & Another5 on the point of burden over a person of proving fact especially within his knowledge under Section 106 of the Evidence Act, 1872. In the aforesaid matter, the accused was subjected to murder trial with allegation, wife was first strangulated to death by him and then hanged in his house. Held it is impossible to cast any burden upon the accused husband under Section 106 Evidence Act, 1872 in absence of any persuasive evidence to hold that at the relevant time, accused was present in his house.

16. The learned counsel assailed the judgment of conviction and order of sentence that none of the objections raised before the trial judge are considered and conviction is solely based by him upon presumption and adverse inferences without considering that the prosecution even had not discharged it's primary burden of proving the circumstances whereupon such presumption could be raised or adverse enforce could be drawn against the accused. Therefore, the impugned judgment of conviction is liable to be rendered non sustainable and consequently be set aside and appeal be allowed with acquittal of the appellant.

5. Arguments by learned Government Advocate Sri Vimal Prakash, Advocate.

17. Learned G.A. in the context of the fact of death of three inmates out of four in a dwelling house, where the fourth one (appellant) claims himself not present there at the relevant date and time of the occurrence, argued that such deaths might have been caused either by accident or suicide and if the first two possibilities are ruled out then certainly it is homicide. He contended that the prosecution case is neither of suicide nor of accident, even the appellant have not claimed the deaths of victim accidental or suicidal. He emphasized that the circumstances proved by evidences during trial have not set an alternative theory of suicidal death; therefore the occurrence rests on theory of homicidal death caused by the appellant pursuant to a specific motive.

18. He further contended towards the proved circumstances.

a) Kanchan (deceased) by virtue of her love marriage with accused appellant in 2008 was, since then, in marital cohabitation with the appellant in his house (spot of incidence) where his mother Kama Devi (deceased) also ordinarily used to reside.

b) During wedlock Kanchan (deceased) and appellant, she begotten a male child who was named 'Dhairya'. The son was approximately 4 years in age, at the relevant date and time of incident.

c) No one else was sharing the dwelling house with accused appellant, Kanchan (deceased wife), Kama Devi (deceased mother) and Dhairya (deceased son).

d) In the intervening night of 18/19 April, 2013, the three inmates of the house namely Kama Devi, Kanchan and Dhairya died in the house. The dead bodies were lying here and there on the floor of the house in perplexed state.

e) The report of Forensic Science Laboratory given on examination of 'Viscera' extracted from the dead bodies and the metallic glasses, vomits on bedsheet etc. confirmed the administration of poison "Aluminum Phosphate" as cause of death.

Learned G.A. submitted further that aforesaid are the proved circumstances wherein the accused appellant shall be presumed being fourth inmate of the house who have been in position to know very well the habits and nature of victims as well as to have full opportunity so as to administer poison to them to commit their murder.

19. Learned G.A. argued that the evidence of PW-1 is sufficient to establish motive, a persuasive factor for the commission of murder of the victims by poisoning, that is illicit relationship between accused appellant and the wife of Ved Prakash Gupta, continuing since before the appellant's marriage with Kanchan (deceased wife).

20. Learned G.A. further argued that it is the admitted and proved fact that accused appellant was not present on spot of incident at the time of inquest proceeding, which establishes his conduct subsequent to his committing the offence. He contended that accused appellant was present at the postmortem house on the same day whereas he was alleged to have gone Delhi since the day before the occurrence was reported to police (19.04.2013). The learned G.A. termed this conduct on the part of accused appellant, his 'absconding' from the seen of offence.

21. The learned G.A. lastly submitted that no doubt the prosecution has strict burden of proving it's case beyond reasonable doubt but when the prosecution has reasonably discharged it's duty to the extent the same could be done by leading evidence to prove the facts and surrounding circumstances, but for the facts especially and particularly within the knowledge of the accused himself then the burden to speak for such fact lies heavily upon him. In this context, learned G.A. argued that the accused appellant being fourth member of the dwelling house where he ordinarily used to reside with the rest of the three inmates (deceased), had offered a defence to the incriminating circumstances against him, explaining his absence from the spot of incident at relevant time that he went to Delhi on day before the incident. The failure to prove the above defence, learned G.A. argued, will amount the missing link in the chain of sequence of circumstances against him. He lastly submitted that the learned trial judge did not commit any error in recording conviction and awarded proper and adequate sentence accordingly.

22. The learned G.A. concluded his arguments referring cases decided by the Apex Court relevant on various legal aspects and issues likely to arise in a murder trial solely based on circumstantial evidences. A short account of case law relied on by him would be relevant to be stated. He relied on Kalu @ Laxminarayan Vs. State of M.P.6 where a married lady met with her homicidal death in matrimonial home. The manner in which she met her homicidal death was a fact especially and exclusively within the knowledge of appellant husband of the deceased. It is held that once prosecution established a prima facie case, appellant was obliged to furnish some explanation under Section 313 Cr.P.C. with regard to the circumstances under which deceased met an unnatural death inside the house. His failure to offer any explanation leaves no doubt for the conclusion of his being the culprit of the offence. The decision on the issue with regard to burden under Section 106, Evidence Act, 1872 in such circumstances, given by Hon'ble Apex Court in Trimukh Maroti Kirkan Vs. State of Maharashtra7 was relied on. It is held in the above case that there will be a corresponding burden on the inmates of the house to give a cogent explanation as to how the crime was committed. The decision of Apex Court reported in Mulakh Raj etc. Vs. Satish Kumar and others8 was relied on where with regard to importance of motive in cases based on circumstantial evidence and effect on failure to prove the same, it is held, proof of motive is never an indispensable for conviction. When facts are clear it is immaterial that no motive has been proved. On the issue of non submission of explanation by the accused with his statement under Section 313 Cr.P.C. was being recorded the impact thereof over the defence of accused. Learned G.A. relied on Phula Singh Vs. State of Himachal Pradesh9, where it is held that if the accused had kept silence over the incriminating circumstances against him or remain in complete denial mode, rather to give any explanation thereto, the Court would be entitled to draw an inference against the accused as may be permissible in accordance with law. Learned G.A. relied on the decision in Jai Narain and others Vs. State of Uttar Pradesh10, where it is held when a witness gave each and every detail of occurrence in his examination in chief but thereafter he turned hostile and stated in favour of accused, the entire evidence of the such witness cannot be discarded and doubted under the given circumstances. Learned G.A. relied on Vijay Pal Vs. State (Government of NCT of Delhi11 and Mukesh and another Vs. State (NCT of Delhi) & others12 where it is held, law is well settled that if such a plea of alibi is taken in defence by the accused, the burden is upon him to establish the same by positive evidence, so as to raise a reasonable doubt regarding the prosecution version.

23. After giving a careful and cautious hearing to the rival arguments raised by learned counsels for the parties and on perusal of the record, we framed the following questions for our determination;

(I) Whether investigation of the case is defective?

(II) Whether the charge against appellant is wrong and illegal for murder of his mother, wife and son, for the reason the same is framed without any evidence on record?

(III) Whether the prosecution failed to produce the 'best evidence' so as to prove it's case and without any justification has withheld the material witness, deliberately?

(IV) Whether the trial court mis read the evidence, even omitted to read evidence on record, did not appreciate the evidence on record in right perspective and passed the impugned judgment which is not sustainable in the eyes of Law?

24. The case in hand, as noted by us, rests solely on circumstantial evidence as there is no direct evidence as to the commission of the offence by the appellant. After hearing the learned counsels and having a careful scrutiny and perusal of materials and evidences available on the record of trial court, we now proceed to discuss the circumstances, whether proved in such a manner are exclusively pointing towards the guilt of the accused and nothing else. Since the conviction in the present case is not only based on circumstantial evidence but also entailed the failure on the part of accused to discharge his burden to prove fact especially within his knowledge, consequent thereupon the adverse inference is drawn as to his guilt under Section 106 Evidence Act, 1872, therefore we have to see whether Section 106 Evidence Act, 1872 has been correctly applied in the fact and circumstances of the case.

6. Conspectus of circumstances

25. The conspectus of the events as noted by us from the evidence and materials on record of trial court is that accused appellant and Kanchan (deceased) entered into love marriage in the year 2008 against the wish of complainant Ram Gopal Verma (father of deceased Kanchan). Since 2008, Kanchan (deceased) was in marital cohabitation with accused appellant in his dwelling house alongwith his mother Kama Devi (deceased). Out of their wedlock, a son named 'Dhairya' was begotten. The accused appellant, his wife (Kanchan), their son Dhairya and appellant's mother Kama Devi were the inmates of the dwelling house ordinarily residing therein. On 19.04.2013, one Sunil Kumar Mali (son of appellant's sister) at 06:45 A.M. informed the local police station that the dead bodies of appellant's mother (Kama Devi), wife (Kanchan) and son Dhairya are lying on the floor of the house, whereas appellant had gone Delhi on the day before the reporting of the incident. Inquest was done by the police without registering an F.I.R. of the incident. The dead bodies had no exterior mark of any injury. Though foam was coming out from the mouth of the dead bodies, then also the witnesses of inquest including the complainant Ram Gopal Verma could not form any opinion as to the apparent cause of death, therefore, dead bodies were sent for autopsy to postmortem house. In postmortem house the vicera was extracted and sent for examination in Forensic Science Laboratory. The report of forensic expert dated 27.11.2013 confirmed the use and application of pesticide named Aluminum Phosphide (ALP) as cause of death. The postmortem was done on the same date 19.04.2013 in the afternoon 03:00 P.M., when the appellant also was present. On 19.04.2013, the complainant Ram Gopal Verma had not raised any suspicion with regard to the death of victims or any person as the possible culprit. However, on 06.05.2013, complainant moved the complaint in writing that murder of all the three victims was committed by the appellant (his son in law) so as to continue with his premarriage illicit relationship with another married woman even after marriage with Kanchan without any obstruction and after commission of the murder, he masqueraded himself to have gone Delhi. On the complaint to above effect, the local police with inordinate and unexplained delay since the date of first information of occurrence (19.04.2013) registered an FIR on 06.05.2013 and started to investigate. Investigation culminated into chargesheet arraigning the appellant on the basis of circumstances, particularly the unproven absence of the appellant from the house at the relevant date and time of incident. The complainant and his family members though examined in court but they turned hostile. On the terms similar to that of the complaint and the chargesheet, by impugned judgment, the trial judge has recorded conviction based on circumstantial evidence.

26. Obviously the incident is of death of three persons by poisoning in their dwelling house where they ordinarily used to reside with the appellant. Appellant was allegedly absent from the house when the incident occurred. There would have been three possibility wherein the occurrence of their death would have taken place, namely accident, suicide or if earlier two possibilities have not taken place, then homicide. Since there is no eye witness of the incident therefore in absence of direct evidences, the existence of any of the three possibilities to the entire exclusion of rest of the two was to be gathered from evidence of the surrounding facts and circumstances by the investigating agency.

27. If it is proved that the three deceased died in an unnatural circumstance in the house which they were sharing with the appellant then and if the prosecution had proved that the deceased last seen with the accused in their house, the law requires him to offer an explanation in this behalf. However, Hon'ble the Supreme Court in Swamy Shraddananda @ Murli Manohar Mishra Vs. State of Karnataka13 held,

34. If it is proved that the deceased died in an unnatural circumstance in her bedroom, which was occupied only by her and her husband, law requires the husband to offer an explanation in this behalf. We, however, do not intend to lay down a general law in this behalf as much would depend upon the facts and circumstances of each case. Absence of any explanation by the husband would lead to an inference which would lead to a circumstance against the accused.

35. We may, however, notice that recently in Raj Kumar Prasad Tamarkar v. State of Bihar [(2007) 10 SCC 433 : (2007) 3 SCC (Cri) 716 : (2007) 1 Scale 19 : JT (2007) 1 SC 239] this Court opined: (SCC pp. 440-41, paras 23-25)

"23. ... Once the prosecution has been able to show that at the relevant time, the room and terrace were in exclusive occupation of the couple, the burden of proof lay upon the respondent to show under what circumstances death was caused to his wife. The onus was on him. He failed to discharge the same.

24. This legal position would appear from a decision of this Court in Nika Ram v. State of H.P. [(1972) 2 SCC 80 : 1972 SCC (Cri) 635 : AIR 1972 SC 2077] wherein it was held: (SCC p. 87, para 16)

''16. It is in the evidence of Girju PW that only the accused and Churi deceased resided in the house of the accused. To similar effect are the statements of Mani Ram (PW 8), who is the uncle of the accused, and Bhagat Ram, school teacher (PW 16). According to Bhagat Ram, he saw the accused and the deceased together at their house on the day of occurrence. Mani Ram (PW 8) saw the accused at his house at 3 p.m., while Poshu Ram (PW 7) saw the accused and the deceased at their house on the evening of the day of occurrence. The accused also does not deny that he was with the deceased at his house on the day of occurrence. The house of the accused, according to plan PM, consists of one residential room, one other small room and a verandah. The correctness of that plan is proved by A.R. Verma, overseer (PW 5). The fact that the accused alone was with Churi deceased in the house when she was murdered there with the khokhri and the fact that the relations of the accused with the deceased, as would be shown hereafter, were strained would, in the absence of any cogent explanation by him, point to his guilt.'

25. In Trimukh Maroti Kirkan v. State of Maharashtra [(2006) 10 SCC 681 : (2007) 1 SCC (Cri) 80 : JT (2006) 9 SC 50] the law is stated in the following terms: (SCC p. 694, para 22)

''22. Where an accused is alleged to have committed the murder of his wife and the prosecution succeeds in leading evidence to show that shortly before the commission of crime they were seen together or the offence takes place in the dwelling home where the husband also normally resided, it has been consistently held that if the accused does not offer any explanation how the wife received injuries or offers an explanation which is found to be false, it is a strong circumstance which indicates that he is responsible for commission of the crime.' "

28. In the case before us also the appellant has not given any explanation as to the occurrence of death of rest of three members of his family who ordinarily used to reside with him in the dwelling house in an unnatural circumstance, by administration of poison, but this alone can not conclusively rope him with the offence of murder unless the prosecution has discharged it's primary burden of proving the complicity of the accused in causing the death of the deceased (mother, wife and son) intentionally in the manner which bring his act in the category of culpable homicide amounting to murder under Section 300 of the Indian Penal Code, 1860.

29. In the aforesaid context, we think, it would be relevant and of much essence to weigh, evaluate and appreciate the proceeding of the case in hand right from the investigation upto that of trial, so as to find out what facts and circumstances were well within the reach of the prosecution and required to be proved to form a complete chain of sequences suggesting the guilt of the accused and nothing else. We therefore discuss categorically the facts and circumstances in evidence under following heads.

7. Deficiency, omissions and lapses on the investigation

30. Our Constitution (The Constitution of India) provides one of the constitutional guarantee under Article 21,

"fundamental right to life and liberty". In a plethora of decisions of Hon'ble the Apex Court and our High Court's, Article 21 has been interpreted with widest amplitude so as to include the right of fair trial. Right to fair trial necessarily includes right to fair investigation. In Jahira Habibulla H. Sheikh and another Vs. State of Gujarat & others14 (Best Bakery Case), Hon'ble the Supreme Court has held, trial should be fair to all concerned and "denial of fair trial is as much an injustice to accused as is to the victim and the society".

31. Under the scheme of "Criminal Procedure Code, 1973", every information disclosing a cognizable offence, if given orally or in writing to an officer in charge of a police station under Section 154 of the Code, shall be reduced into writing and entered into a book kept for this purpose in every police station named as General Diary (GD or Rojnamaha). Entering the first information is igniting the key of machinery of criminal administration. The importance of earlier version of the information as to the occurrence of a cognizable offence, can not be lost sight of, and in criminal trial the earliest version of information has it's own importance for just decision in trial. It is admitted in evidence of PW-6 in the present case that earliest version of information as to the incident was received in the police station from Sunil Kumar Mali, the near relative of appellant and victims of the incident. The information though entered in G.D. by PW-6 on 19.04.2013 itself. The G.D. was not placed before trial court to show the version of the informant as to the incident. The non production of G.D. No.6 on 19.04.2013 is not satisfactorily explained by any of the concerned police officer namely PW-6, PW-7 or PW-8. The non explanation, thus amounts concealment of the earliest version of the incident on 19.04.2013, shall be considered further while deciding the role of accused in alleged commission of offence by him.

32. Information treated as FIR and steps taken by the police pursuant to such information would amount to investigation. Investigation includes inquiry as to the occurrence, the surrounding circumstance and facts with regard to it. In the present case, it is evident from the statement of PWs 7 and 8, the officers of the local Police Station, Tanda Kotwali that Sunil Kumar Mali S/o Bhim Singh has given the information as to the incident on 19.04.2013 at 6:45 A.M. in pursuance of which they reached at the spot promptly at 7:30 A.M. to make necessary inquiries which formed part of investigation into the matter of the triple deaths. Exhibits Ka-2, Ka-5 and Ka-6, the inquest report of the three dead bodies lying at the place of incident have entry of the chronological details of receiving information of occurrence, the informant, when reached on spot and proceeding of enquiry and inquest when started and finished. The PW-1, the complainant of first information report dated 06.05.2013 with regard to the same incident dated 19.04.2013 has himself stated on oath before the trial judge in his cross examination by defence counsel on 03.12.2014 that earlier to the lodging of FIR by him the son of the sister of accused Ram Gopal Saini, namely Sunil Kumar Mali S/o Bhim Kumar Mali had given the information of incident in the Police Station, Tanda Kotwali. He further affirmed to the cross-examiner that Sunil

Kumar Mali had given the information of the incident on 19.04.2013 at 6:45 A.M. PW-6-Shivakant Pandey, the then Head Moharrir posted at P.S. Tanda Kotwali, who registered the FIR on 06.05.2013 on the complaint submitted on 06.05.2013 with regard to incident dated 19.04.2013 also in his cross examination before the trial judge on 19.04.2016 stated about the earlier version of information by Sunil Kumar Mali on 19.04.2013. He stated, 'earlier to the complaint moved by Ram Gopal Verma, an application as to the information of the incident was given by Sunil Kumar Mali at 6:45 A.M. on 19.04.2013, which he entered in G.D. at entry no.6, but did not registered any crime case on the basis of that information. However, PW-6 admitted while cross-examined in same continuation, though it is true, the incident is of 19.04.2013 but the First Information Report is lodged on 06.05.2013 with extra ordinary delay. PW-7, the investigating officer who did inquiry and inquest proceeding on spot of incident on 19.04.2013 pursuant to the information of incident as Sub-Inspector in his cross-examination before the trial judge, also has accepted that the earliest information of the incident was given in the police station, Tanda Koteali by Sunil Kumar Mali on 19.04.2013 at 6:45 A.M. The fact of receiving earliest information of the incident in the police station on 19.04.2013 further finds confirmation in the evidence of PW-8, Omvir Singh, the subsequent investigating officer and then SHO of Police Station, Tanda Kotwali, in his cross-examination dated 30.08.2016. Despite of the fact, Sunil Kumar Saini has given the information of incident at earliest available opportunities to the police on 19.04.2013 at 06:45 A.M., it is noticeably surprising why first information report on the basis of that information was not registered. It is also notable here that the PW-6 had entered the said information given by Sunil Kumar Mali on 19.04.2013 at 6:45 A.M. at serial no.6 in the G.D. kept and maintained in the Police Station for the purpose of Section 154 Cr.P.C. Sunil Kumar Mali is near relative of appellant, the version as to the incident in the information given to the police at earliest could not be lost sight. But the statement of PW-6, PW-7 and PW-8 have no explanation to such ignorance or omission in registering First Information Report and lodging a criminal case accordingly casts a doubt over the investigation and it's intent.

33. Indisputably, the information given by Sunil Kumar Saini on 19.04.2013 at 6:45 A.M. in local police station was as to three dead bodies lying on the floor of the house of his maternal uncle, (the appellant) respectively of his mother, wife and son in his absence was suggestive of the commission of cognizable offence. It comes out from evidence of PWs 6, 7 and 8 respectively the Head Muharrir and the Sub Inspector in charge and the Station Head Officer all were available in the police station, then also on receiving the information, they proceed for investigation without registering the FIR.

34. The non registration of FIR on 19.04.2013 is not explained reasonably. Rather an absurd explanation is seen in the statement of PW-6 recorded by trial judge on 19.04.2016, that the FIR was not registered because of uncertainty as to offence. It is established by law that police can not sit over information on the pretext of credibility or reliability of the informant or the same being not satisfactory or workable. The police in the present case also was under a statutory duty and mandatorily required under Section 154 (1) of the Criminal Procedure Code, to register FIR without considering the genuineness or otherwise of the information. In this regard, it would be relevant to refer the judgment of Hon'ble Apex Court in Ramesh Kumari Vs. State (NCT of Delhi) & other15. The relevant extracts from para 3 of which is being quoted hereunder:-

3. "..... We are not convinced by this submission because the sole grievance of the appellant is that no case has been registered in terms of the mandatory provisions of Section 154(1) of the Criminal Procedure Code. Genuineness or otherwise of the information can only be considered after registration of the case. Genuineness or credibility of the information is not a condition precedent for registration of a case."

4. That a police officer mandatorily registers a case on a complaint of a cognizable offence by the citizen under Section 154 of the Code is no more res integra. The point of law has been set at rest by this Court in State of Haryana v. Bhajan Lal [1992 Supp (1) SCC 335 : 1992 SCC (Cri) 426] . This Court after examining the whole gamut and intricacies of the mandatory nature of Section 154 of the Code has arrived at the finding in paras 31 and 32 of the judgment as under: (SCC pp. 354-55)

"31. At the stage of registration of a crime or a case on the basis of the information disclosing a cognizable offence in compliance with the mandate of Section 154(1) of the Code, the police officer concerned cannot embark upon an enquiry as to whether the information, laid by the informant is reliable and genuine or otherwise and refuse to register a case on the ground that the information is not reliable or credible. On the other hand, the officer in charge of a police station is statutorily obliged to register a case and then to proceed with the investigation if he has reason to suspect the commission of an offence which he is empowered under Section 156 of the Code to investigate, subject to the proviso to Section 157. (As we have proposed to make a detailed discussion about the power of a police officer in the field of investigation of a cognizable offence within the ambit of Sections 156 and 157 of the Code in the ensuing part of this judgment, we do not propose to deal with those sections in extenso in the present context.) In case, an officer in charge of a police station refuses to exercise the jurisdiction vested in him and to register a case on the information of a cognizable offence reported and thereby violates the statutory duty cast upon him, the person aggrieved by such refusal can send the substance of the information in writing and by post to the Superintendent of Police concerned who if satisfied that the information forwarded to him discloses a cognizable offence, should either investigate the case himself or direct an investigation to be made by any police officer subordinate to him in the manner provided by sub-section (3) of Section 154 of the Code.

32. Be it noted that in Section 154(1) of the Code, the legislature in its collective wisdom has carefully and cautiously used the expression ''information' without qualifying the same as in Section 41(1)(a) or (g) of the Code wherein the expressions,

''reasonable complaint' and ''credible information' are used. Evidently, the non-qualification of the word ''information' in Section 154(1) unlike in Section 41(1)(a) and (g) of the Code may be for the reason that the police officer should not refuse to record an information relating to the commission of a cognizable offence and to register a case thereon on the ground that he is not satisfied with the reasonableness or credibility of the information. In other words, ''reasonableness' or ''credibility' of the said information is not a condition precedent for registration of a case. A comparison of the present Section 154 with those of the earlier Codes will indicate that the legislature had purposely thought it fit to employ only the word ''information' without qualifying the said word. Section 139 of the Code of Criminal Procedure of 1861 (Act 25 of 1861) passed by the Legislative Council of India read that ''every complaint or information' preferred to an officer in charge of a police station should be reduced into writing which provision was subsequently modified by Section 112 of the Code of 1872 (Act 10 of 1872) which thereafter read that ''every complaint' preferred to an officer in charge of a police station shall be reduced in writing. The word ''complaint' which occurred in previous two Codes of 1861 and 1872 was deleted and in that place the word ''information' was used in the Codes of 1882 and 1898 which word is now used in Sections 154, 155, 157 and 190(c) of the present Code of 1973 (Act 2 of 1974). An overall reading of all the Codes makes it clear that the condition which is sine qua non for recording a first information report is that there must be an information and that information must disclose a cognizable offence."(emphasis in original)

Finally, this Court in para 33 said: (SCC p. 355)

"33. It is, therefore, manifestly clear that if any information disclosing a cognizable offence is laid before an officer in charge of a police station satisfying the requirements of Section 154(1) of the Code, the said police officer has no other option except to enter the substance thereof in the prescribed form, that is to say, to register a case on the basis of such information."

35. The views expressed by Hon'ble the Apex Court as quoted above thus leave no doubt that in the present case the police officer concerned (PWs 6, 7, and 8) though were mandatorily required bound to register the FIR on the information received on 19.04.2013 from Sunil Kumar Mali, did not register the same for reasons best known to them. The omission on the part of the investigator remains unsatisfactorily explained shall have a bearing on the prosecution case while it's genuineness will be considered further by us.

36. In the context of deliberate omission in registration of FIR by the concerned police officers on the information of incident in question on 19.04.2013 by Sunil Kumar Mali, we have noticed the facts coming out from the evidence on record which are as follows:-

36 (I). The police without registering FIR proceeded with investigation of the contents of that information and reached on the spot. Where the first investigating officer PW-7 started inquiry as to the surrounding facts and circumstances including the inquest of the dead body lying on the floor of the house. During the investigation on inquest of dead bodies on 19.04.2013 the first informant Sunil Kumar Saini and Ram Gopal Verma, both were present, they participated in the inquest proceeding, witnessed the same and are also became signatory of the concerned documents of inquest prepared on spot. Further Ram Gopal Verma had also been signatory as witness on the seizure memo prepared on seizing the material exhibits on spot namely the bed sheet stained with vomiting and two metallic glasses from the spot. Ram Gopal Verma was also witness of the facts observed during inquest that the mouth of dead bodies were foaming and dead bodies were lying perturbed and perplexed physical state on floor, but he did not expressed any suspicion as to their death to the investigating officer. PW-7, the investigating officer in inquest has stated all these facts in his examination-in-chief recorded in the trial court on 26.05.2016. In cross-examination on 19.08.2016, he replied to cross-examiner learned counsel for the defence that though the Ram Gopal Verma was present during inquest and inquiry on spot of incident on 19.04.2013 but he did not complained any thing against appellant. In the same continuation he also admitted the receiving of information from Sunil Mali as the earliest information of the incident on 19.04.2013 and the complaint of incident dated 19.04.2013 by Ram Gopal Verma on 06.05.2013 Crime Case No. 01/2013 was U/s 302/120-B I.P.C. and an First Information Report was also registered by him. We are constrained to infer the fact on the basis of evidence given by the prosecution itself that the Police Officers concerned (PW-6, 7 and 8) deliberately omitted to register FIR on the basis of earliest version of information received on 19.04.2013 in utter disregard of and in violation of mandatory duty as envisaged under Section 154 (1) Cr.P.C. They illegally waited for the version of Ram Gopal Verma as to the incident till 6.5.2013.

36 (II). We further noticed from the evidence of PW-8 on record that when on the information received from Sunil Kumar Mali the concerned police did not registered the FIR, the appellant moved an application before the Magistrate having jurisdiction invoking the provision of Section 156 (3) of the Code of Criminal Procedure. PW-8, Omveer Singh, the then Station Head Officer of Police Station, Tanda Kotwali, in his cross-examination on 30.08.2016 on the one hand admitted the earliest information as to the incident was given by Sunil Kumar Mali on 19.04.2013 and that said Sunil Kumar Mali was nephew (sister's son) of the appellant, in continuation, he expressed his inability for want of official papers maintained in Police Station before him to tell the cross-examiner whether the appellant moved any application to register FIR of the incident before Superintendent of Police. However, he further admits that a report was sent to the concerned Magistrate with regard to appellant's application under Section 156 (3) Cr.P.C. The aforesaid fact has came into evidence through deposition before trial judge by a competent police officer statutorily empowered to register FIR on information disclosing a cognizable offence, therefore, the same is noted by us as lapse and illegal omission on the part of officer incharge of the Police Station.

37. It is admitted by concerned police officer PW-6, PW-7 and PW-8 respectively the Head Moharrir, Sub Inspector of Police and Station Head Officer in-charge of the Police Station Tanda Kotwali in their deposition before the trial court that they did not register FIR on the basis of information received by them from Sunil Kumar Mali. It is also admitted by them in their depositions in court that FIR was registered on 06.05.2013 belatedly on the basis of complaint when moved by Ram Gopal Verma on 06.05.2013 at 7:30 A.M. In the context of aforesaid facts proved by the evidence we observed that the case before us is not only of a belated or delayed registration of FIR but also peculiarly enough is a case of transposing another person in place of original informant and replacing the version of earlier information as to the incident of triple murder dated 19.4.2013. In other words, the concerned police officer registered the FIR of the incident only when the person of their own choice moved the complaint on 06.05.2013 namely Ram Gopal Verma, father of the deceased wife of the appellant who had nothing to state as to apparent cause of death at the time of inquest on 19.04.2013.

38. FIR of the incident dated 19.04.2013 was lodged on 06.05.2013 on the complaint of Ram Gopal Verma is not satisfactorily explained by the concerned Police officers, PW-6, 7 and 8 before the court in their evidence. Moreover, though they have not explained the delay since 19.04.2013, but we ourselves take a situation in contemplation that the investigator was doing preliminary inquiry into unnatural death, then also if the report after inquiry and inquest under Section 174 Cr.P.C. submitted to the executive Magistrate having territorial jurisdiction and nothing was reported by them so as not to proceed further, as the record is lacking any such report. In the absence of any such report, what prevented them from proceeding ahead with investigation so as to disclose facts suggesting the cause of death or facts and circumstances leading to the suspicious death and suspected culprit is not evident from record.

39. It would thus appear that there is no reasonable explanation forthcoming from the prosecution explaining (i) why on the earliest version of information an FIR was not registered despite disclosure of the commission of some cognizable offence and (ii) registering FIR of the same incident after 17 days on the complaint of Ram Gopal Verma while no further facts and circumstance were discovered after inquest and postmortem by the investigating officer. The evidence is equally unconvincing as the occurrence is of intervening period of 18/19.04.2013, why after a considerable lapse of time on the complainant's version of the same incident, FIR was lodged by the Police. In addition to above it would be relevant to consider the following fact coming from evidence of PW-1 (complainant) himself. The complainant is father of the deceased wife of the appellant against whose wish his daughter entered into marriage with the appellant about five years ago. The complainant had also prosecuted the appellant, his mother (deceased in the incident) and sister for the offence under Section 363/366 and 342 IPC. On the instance of daughter (deceased) in a writ petition filed against her father (the complainant) the proceeding of criminal prosecution was stayed against the appellant and his mother (deceased) etc.

In the context of above proven fact the delay in registering FIR and it's adverse effect on the prosecution case is to be considered as Hon'ble the Supreme Court has held in the case of Ram Das & Ors. Vs. State of Maharashtra16, para-24 of the judgment cited hereunder:-

24. Counsel for the State submitted that the delay in lodging the first information report in such cases is immaterial. The proposition is too broadly stated to merit acceptance. It is no doubt true that mere delay in lodging the first information report is not necessarily fatal to the case of the prosecution. However, the fact that the report was lodged belatedly is a relevant fact of which the court must take notice. This fact has to be considered in the light of other facts and circumstances of the case, and in a given case the court may be satisfied that the delay in lodging the report has been sufficiently explained. In the light of the totality of the evidence, the court of fact has to consider whether the delay in lodging the report adversely affects the case of the prosecution. That is a matter of appreciation of evidence.....

..... In the ultimate analysis, what is the effect of delay in lodging the report with the police is a matter of appreciation of evidence, and the court must consider the delay in the background of the facts and circumstances of each case. Different cases have different facts and it is the totality of evidence and the impact that it has on the mind of the court that is important. No straitjacket formula can be evolved in such matters, and each case must rest on its own facts. It is settled law that however similar the circumstances, facts in one case cannot be used as a precedent to determine the conclusion on the facts in another. (See Pandurang v. State of Hyderabad [(1955) 1 SCR 1083 : AIR 1955 SC 216] .) Thus mere delay in lodging of the report may not by itself be fatal to the case of the prosecution, but the delay has to be considered in the background of the facts and circumstances in each case and is a matter of appreciation of evidence by the court of fact.

40. We thus hold that the unexplained delay in registering the FIR in context of the facts which came forth from evidence on record as pointed above by us will adversely effects the case of prosecution and cast a doubt upon it as to some collusion.

8. Delayed recording of Pre-trial statement of witness by the Investigating Officer.

41. After inquiry and inquest of the dead body on spot on 19.4.2013, the first investigating officer, PW-6 did nothing. However, the purpose of inquest was over to assess and ascertain the deaths whether suicidal, accidental or suspected to be homicidal by collecting fact and circumstances from the spot and inquiry of dead bodies. The dead bodies were found in the perplexed and distressed physical condition with foaming mouth lying on floor on different places in the house. The inquest reports Exhibits Ka-2, Ka-5 and Ka-6 proved by PW-7 in the trial court themselves show the aforesaid physical condition of the dead bodies. The informant Sunil Kumar Mali of information dated 19.04.2013 and Ram Gopal Verma the complainant of FIR dated 06.05.2013 both are witness of inquest but the opinion of witnesses of inquest, including the two above named as to the apparent cause of death, was entered in the report as 'not clear'. It is important to note here that the aforesaid Ram Gopal Verma on 06.05.2013 at 7:30 A.M. lodged the complaint in the Police Station with the same police officers (PW-6, 7 and 8) alleging the murder of the victims of the incident committed by the appellant. PW-8, the investigating officer after registering the FIR on his complaint did not recorded his statement under Section 161 Cr.P.C. to the effect that what are the source of his knowledge as to the fact of murder through poison by the appellant which was not known to him at the time of inquest on 19.04.2013.

42. In the context of above facts proved by evidence on record the question is why not instantly on or after 19.04.2013 when the inquest was done the surrounding circumstances and facts as to the incident of triple death and apparent cause of their death were not gathered by the investigating officer with all reasonable and practicably possible promptness. They did not take statements of neighbouring people, informant Sunil Kumar Mali and Ram Gopal Verma. Even the site map was not sketched to show the entrance and exit in house locating spots where the dead bodies of three victims were lying on the floor instantly which was of utmost importance for the purpose of investigation to reach up to the culprit. No last seen evidence of any person with the deceased in their house was gathered. Even the relation of victims inter-se as well as with other persons of locality and also with the appellant and any other member of the family was gathered. Character of accused and his relation with wife (deceased) was also material but that too was not gathered promptly so as to avoid any future embellishment, undue improvement or exaggeration of related facts.

43. It was only when the Ram Gopal Verma lodged a complaint Ex. Ka-1 arraigning the appellant for the murder of his mother, wife and son setting therefor a specific motive, the illicit relation of appellant with another married women, was moved on 06.05.2013, the PW-8 (SHO) took over the investigation himself. Meanwhile since 19.04.2013 upto 06.05.2013 PW-8 or PW-7 did nothing to discover necessary facts. Thus, they given a specific direction to the investigation.

44. PW-8 in his statement before the Court while examined in chief stated on 30.08.2016 that he took over the investigation of Crime Case No.61/2013 under Section 302/120B IPC on 06.05.2013. He further stated that the statement of complainant Ram Gopal Verma was taken by him on 06.05.2013. At this juncture, it is important that the incident occurred on 19.04.2013. PW-8 further stated that he made inspection of the spot of incident on pointing out of the complainant on 06.05.2013 and recorded his statement under Section 161 Cr.P.C. It is remarkable that incident was occurred on 19.04.2013 information of which was noted by PW-6 in G.D. of Police Station on the same day at 06:45 A.M. PW-7 went on spot for inquiry under Section 174 Cr.P.C. on the same day, completed the proceeding of inquest of dead bodies. Throughout the inquiry and inquest proceeding, Ram Gopal Verma (the complainant) was on spot but his statement was not recorded by the police. Site map was also not sketched to show the state of things on spot. Even the statement of Sunil Kumar Mali, the first informant of the incident was not recorded instantly who was present there. PW-8 did all the above function after registering the FIR of the incident on 06.05.2013 with extraordinary delay. The delay both in registering FIR and taking the statement of concerned witnesses are not explained by PW-8 in his examination. He admitted in his cross-examination that he took statements of PW-2 to PW-5, the family members of complainant Ram Gopal Verma, posing them as witness on spot of incident with a considerable delay of more than 17 days from the date of incident 18/19.04.2013 on 07.05.2013 and 18.05.2013. He further stated about recording of statements of other witnesses under Section 161 Cr.P.C. on 06.07.2013 and 31.07.2013. Except PW-1 to PW-5, no other witnesses of facts or circumstances are produced before the Court for examination. Delay in recording statements casts a serious doubt about their being witnesses on spot or witnesses of circumstances. It leads to inference that the Investigating Officer was deliberately marking time with a view to decide about shape to be given to the case and witnesses to be introduced. The extraordinary delay in recording statement of witnesses of circumstances around the incident are sufficient to cause embellishment exaggeration and improvement in prosecution case, casting a serious doubt as to it's genuinity.

45. In the aforementioned facts coming forth from evidence of PW-8 on record, it would be relevant to give reference of decision of Hon'ble Apex Court in Ganesh Bhavan Patel Vs. State of Maharashtra17 where in para 15 it is held (relevant extract is quoted hereunder):-

15. ".....Delay of a few hour is simplicity in recording the statement of eye witnesses may not, be itself, amount to serious infirmity in the prosecution case. But it may assume such a character if these are concomitant circumstances to suggest that the investigator was deliberately marking time with a view to decide about the shape to be given to the case and the eye witnesses to be introduced."

46. In the instant case also, there exists circumstances in plurality which lead such significance to the delay in not registering the FIR of incident dated 19.04.2013 before 06.05.2013, unless the complainant of complaint dated 06.05.2013 is transposed in place of first informant of incident dated 19.04.2013 and in not recording of statements of witnesses instantly on 19.04.2013 or after a reasonable pause of time and in totality are sufficient to hold the investigation defective. Thus, the first point of determination is answered by us.

9. How the appellant is arraigned in the matter of murder of his own mother, wife and son by administering them poison

47. We noticed three proven facts coming forth from the evidence on record particularly the evidence of PW-1 (the complainant Ram Gopal Verma), PW-6, 7 and 8 which show that it is not the facts discovered through investigation after 19.04.2013 when the incident in question was informed to the local police station and reduced into writing in General Diary, as none of the witnesses of fact circumstances and surrounding factor as to the cause of occurrence was examined before 06.05.2013. They are as under :-

48 (i) The Ram Gopal Verma is the person who on 06.05.2013 reported to the PW-6 through a complaint Ex. Ka 1 the complicity of appellant in the incident. He implicated the appellant to have committed murder of his own mother, wife and son, because he had pre-marriage illicit relation with another married woman (to whom he named in the complaint) in which he was continuing even after the marriage with deceased (Kanchan) and wanted to keep the same unobstructed. PW-6 admits in his deposition before the Court, the complaint was made basis of first information report by him that lead the investigation of offence alleged to have been committed by the appellant.

48 (ii) PW-8 with registration of the FIR took instantly the investigation on 06.05.2013 in his charge and taken the statement of the complainant on the same day. PW-6 stated in his examination that on 06.05.2013 at 10:00 PM in night, the appellant was arrested. PW-8 himself in his examination-in-chief stated that he took statement of two witnesses of hearsay evidence and evidence of complainant's wife Chhaya Verma and daughter Deeksha Verma (PW-5 and PW-3) as the witnesses of spot of incident and on their evidence got in investigation, he made arrest of the accused Ram Gopal Saini in the night at 10:00 P.M.

48 (iii) PW-8 in his statement in chief has further stated that he extracted confession from accused in custody that he committed murder of his wife, son and mother by administering them poison. Lastly, pursuant to the confession, it comes out from his statement in chief, he taken statement of some other witnesses and on the basis of those statements and site map prepared by him on 06.05.2013 only, he submitted the charge sheet against the accused/appellant on 31.07.2013 before the concerned Magistrate.

49. The appellant "Ram Gopal Saini" after the incident was present at the time of post mortem at 03:00 P.M. in the post mortem house on 19.04.2013, it is admitted by PW-1 (complainant) and the concerned police officers (PW-6, PW-7 and PW-8). He was pursuing the action on the information regarding the suspicious death of his mother, wife and son right from 19.04.2013 by adopting the course under Section 154 (3) and 156 (3) Cr.P.C., (as it comes out from the cross-examination of PW-8). Thirdly, the report from Forensic Science Lab could not be received to the police as to the use of poison in causing the death of the victims died in the incident before 22.11.2013. The question arises in the context of above stated facts which came forth on evidence of prosecution itself that how Ram Gopal Verma (PW-1) who did not disclosed any such fact as to the use of poison and also as to the culprit on 19.04.2013, suddenly came to know personally about the application of poison in causing death and that too, by the appellant. Neither in the statement of PW-1 (complainant) nor in the statement of PW-8 (investigator) the specific name of person as source of information who witnessed the above facts is disclosed. For want of any such disclosure in the evidence of both the prosecution witnesses the statements as to the use of poison by the appellant is simply a speculation and the alleged confession by the appellant as to the guilt which have been extracted in Police custody by the PW-8. The PW-8 thus appeared to have culminated the investigation into charge sheet under Sections 302/120B I.P.C. only on the basis of hearsay and speculation. Such a serious lapse and omissions in submitting charge sheet against the appellant also cast a serious doubt as to the investigative intent.

50. The legal position as to what should be the contents of charge sheet or final report under Section 173 (2) or 173 (8) of the Criminal Procedure Code, 1973 has been expounded by the Apex Court in the case of K. Veeraswami Vs. Union of India and others18. It would be relevant to refer hereunder para 76 of the said judgment:-

76. "The charge-sheet is nothing but a final report of police officer under Section 173(2) of the CrPC. The Section 173(2) provides that on completion of the investigation the police officer investigating into a cognizable offence shall submit a report. The report must be in the form prescribed by the State Government and stating therein (a) the names of the parties; (b) the nature of the information; (c) the names of the persons who appear to be acquainted with the circumstances of the case; (d) whether any offence appears to have been committed and, if so, by whom (e) whether the accused has been arrested; (f) whether he had been released on his bond and, if so, whether with or without sureties; and (g) whether he has been forwarded in custody under Section 170. As observed by this Court in Satya Narain Musadi v. State of Bihar [(1980) 3 SCC 152, 157 : 1980 SCC (Cri) 660] that the statutory requirement of the report under Section 173(2) would be complied with if the various details prescribed therein are included in the report. This report is an intimation to the magistrate that upon investigation into a cognizable offence the Investigating Officer has been able to procure sufficient evidence for the court to inquire into the offence and the necessary information is being sent to the court. In fact, the report under Section 173(2) purports to be an opinion of the Investigating Officer that as far as he is concerned he has been able to procure sufficient material for the trial of the accused by the court. The report is complete if it is accompanied with all the documents and statements of witnesses as required by Section 175(5). Nothing more need be stated in the report of the Investigating Officer. It is also not necessary that all the details of the offence must be stated. The details of the offence are required to be proved to bring home the guilt to the accused at a later stage i.e. in the course of the trial of the case by adducing acceptable evidence."

51. Thus the charge sheet under Section 173 (2) is an opinion of the Investigating Officer intimated to the Magistrate, so as to apprise him of the fact that investigation into a cognizable offence have been under taken, further that by investigation 'sufficient materials' has been procured for the trial of the named accused. Beside this, the investigating officer intimates that the evidence stated in the chargesheet are sufficient to take cognizance of the offence by the Court. But peculiarly enough, in the instant case, Investigating Officer in his evidence or PW-8, admits to submit charge sheet against the appellant on the basis of evidence collected by him through investigation but in his cross-examination states that the witnesses in the case are only the complainant Ram Gopal Verma, his wife, sons and daughter and none else. He further replied on the query made to him by cross-examiner, no direct evidence of the incident was available and even the circumstantial evidences too were not sufficient to submit charge sheet against the accused. The above fact renders the chargesheet illegal, in view of the judgment of Hon'ble Apex Court in K. Veeraswami Vs. Union of India (Supra).

52. The trial judge has not taken into consideration the facts noted by us as discussed hereinabove, evincing the defective investigation and illegality of chargesheet in considering the strength of prosecution case, especially in a case like the instant one, which absolutely depends on circumstantial evidence. Thus, we answered the second point of determination in appeal framed by us.

10. "Ram Gopal Verma the Complainant"

53. We, when traversed through evidence, noted several facts about Ram Gopal Verma, the complainant of the case which make him interestingly a man of enigmatic personality and mysterious in his actions. He is the propagator and helmsman of the prosecution case and is also examined as PW-1 in the trial. From his statement recorded by the trial judge during examination-in-chief on 05.11.2014 and that recorded in cross-examination on 05.12.2014 it comes out that (Ram Gopal Verma) a grocery shop owner and resident of same locality namely 'Hayatganj', P.S. Tanda Kotwali in District Ambedkar Nagar in which the house of appellant Ram Gopal Saini situated, where the incident in question occurred on 18/19.04.2013. The distance between the two houses (of appellant and the complainant) was approximately 800 to 1000 meters. The daughter of the complainant named Kanchan had love affair with the appellant. She eloped with the appellant Ram Gopal Saini and entered into marriage with him without knowledge and consent of the complainant. After the marriage, both of them started living in cohabitation as husband and wife in the house of appellant, where appellant's mother Kama Devi (deceased) also used to reside. Annoyed of the elopement of his daughter and marriage with the appellant with her against his wish, the Ram Gopal Verma lodged a criminal case against the appellant, his mother and sister under Section 363, 366 and 342 of the IPC in PS. Tanda Kotwali bearing crime case no.838 of 2008. Ram Gopal Verma as PW-1 has admitted in his deposition before the Court during his examination that his daughter Kanchan (deceased) had filed a writ petition in the High Court for the relief of quashment of the proceeding of aforesaid criminal prosecution, wherein the arrest of the accused (the appellant and his mother Kama Devi) was stayed.

54. So far as the criminal prosecution launched by the complainant against the appellant and his mother Kama Devi (deceased) is concerned, the evidence do not disclose the termination of that either by compromise or on merit. But in his own evidence the complainant himself admit the marriage between the appellant and complainant's daughter (Kanchan the deceased) consequent upon love affair between them. Therefore parties to the marriage consensuously entered into marriage. The other witnesses PW-2 to PW-5 (the sons, wife and daughter of complainant) what stated about their age in comparison to the Kanchan (deceased) disclose that she had attained the age of majority when entered in marriage with appellant in the year 2008. Then also the lodging and continuance of criminal prosecution against the appellant, his mother and sister is suggestive of complainant's malice and enmity towards them.

55. After the arrest of the appellant on 06.05.2013 pursuant to the complaint of Ram Gopal Verma on the same date and submission of charge sheet against him on 31.07.2013, the subsequent action taken by the complainant with regard to the property of the appellant is noticeable. He as PW-1 in his cross-examination dated 05.12.2014 admitted that he had filed a suit against the near relatives of appellant Ram Gopal Saini, bearing no.185/2013 for the custody of his immovable property, a residential plot abutting to the boundary of Roadway Station of Tanda having Gata No.231. He denied the suggestion that the suit was filed with intention to coerce the appellant and the complaint dated 06.05.2013 and the criminal case thereupon was lodged by him falsely with the same purpose but on the other hand, after the death of his daughter Kanchan (appellant's wife) and grand son Dhairya, though had no concern with the appellant's property, even then he filed a suit for the custody of said property, make him a person interested in seeing him behind the bars.

56. On the basis of above proven facts on evidence, the complainant Ram Gopal Verma appears to be inimical with the appellant and even with his mother Kama Devi (deceased) for the reason of her daughter's (Kanchan-deceased) elopement with him and getting married without his consent. Moreover, after the incident losing his daughter he turned not only hostile with appellant but also interested in his incarceration so as to derive benefit from his property. PW-1 is thus an inimical and interested witness against the appellant. Therefore, his testimony should have been cautiously considered by the trial judge before relying the same wholly or partly. In this regard, we think to refer following judgment of the Hon'ble Apex Court which would be relevant-para 7. ".....A witness may be called "interested" only when he or she derives some benefit from the result of a litigation; in the decree in a civil case, or in seeing an accused person punished..…"

In State of Rajasthan Vs. Kalki19 it is held,

In Raju Vs. State of T.N.20 it is held, para 20. The first contention relates to the credibility of PW 5 Srinivasan. It was said in this regard that he was a related witness being the elder brother of Veerappan and the son of Marudayi, both of whom were victims of the homicidal attack. It was also said that he was an interested witness since Veerappan (and therefore PW 5 Srinivasan) had some enmity with the appellants. It was said that for both reasons, his testimony lacks credibility.

In Vijendra Singh Vs. State of U.P.21 it is held, para 31. "In this regard reference to a passage from Hari Obula Reddy v. State of A.P. [Hari Obula Reddy v. State of A.P., (1981) 3 SCC 675 : 1981 SCC (Cri) 795] would be fruitful. In the said case, a three-Judge Bench has ruled that: (SCC pp. 683-84, para 13)

"[it cannot] be laid down as an invariable rule that interested evidence can never form the basis of conviction unless corroborated to a material extent in material particulars by independent evidence. All that is necessary is that the evidence of the interested witnesses should be subjected to careful scrutiny and accepted with caution. If on such scrutiny, the interested testimony is found to be intrinsically reliable or inherently probable, it may, by itself, be sufficient, in the circumstances of the particular case, to base a conviction thereon."

It is worthy to note that there is a distinction between a witness who is related and an interested witness. A relative is a natural witness. The Court in Kartik Malhar v. State of Bihar [Kartik Malhar v. State of Bihar, (1996) 1 SCC 614 : 1996 SCC (Cri) 188] has opined that a close relative who is a natural witness cannot be regarded as an interested witness, for the term "interested" postulates that the witness must have some interest in having the accused, somehow or the other, convicted for some animus or for some other reason."

57. Again in Ramashish Rai Vs. Jagdish Singh22, it is held, Para 7. ".....The requirement of law is that the testimony of inimical witnesses has to be considered with caution. If otherwise the witnesses are true and reliable their testimony cannot be thrown out on the threshold by branding them as inimical witnesses. By now, it is well-settled principle of law that enmity is a double-edged sword. It can be a ground for false implication. It also can be a ground for assault. Therefore, a duty is cast upon the court to examine the testimony of inimical witnesses with due caution and diligence. In the present case the High Court has rejected the otherwise creditworthy testimony of eyewitness account merely on the ground that there was enmity between the prosecution party and the accused party.

58. The Trial Court, in our considered opinion has not appreciated the evidence on record as to the character of the complainant as PW-1 in giving credibility to his evidence while weighing the strength of prosecution case.

11. Conduct of the witness PW-1

59. We further noticed from the evidence on record some unusual conduct and behavior of the complainant Ram Gopal Verma throughout the proceeding from the stage of investigation upto that of Trial. In evidence of PW-7, the Sub-Inspector who performed inquest proceeding, it comes out that being father of the deceased Kanchan the complainant did not complain anything on 19.04.2013 when the inquest was being done as to the suspicious death of the victims. PW-8, also has stated in his evidence that though PW-1 was present throughout the inquest proceeding and has been a signatory of the inquest report as witness and also of the memos prepared on seizure of materials therefrom, but he did not move any complaint as to the cause of death and the culprit. The statements of PW-6, PW-7 and PW-8 consistently affirm, he moved the complaint on 06.05.2013 with regard to the incident dated 19.04.2013. The complainant exhibit Ka-1 itself shows, he did not disclose therein, how he came to know with such precision the details as to the commission of murder of victims and also as to the complicity of the accused. PW-8 in his statement made it clear that PW-1 did not disclose the fact of filing a criminal case under Section 363, 366 and 342 I.P.C. against the appellant and his mother Kama Devi (deceased) and further the filing of writ petition by his daughter Kanchan (deceased) against him in the High Court. The complainant was when examined on 05.11.2014 as PW-1 supported the prosecution case arraigning the appellant but afterward he turned hostile on 22.06.2015 when he was subjected to cross examination. Subsequent development is also notable i.e. filing a suit for custody of appellant's property by him against the appellant's family members as detailed in the preceding para. It is rather surprising as to how and in what manner the complainant as an omnipresent witness came to know who committed the offence, when that was committed and how the poison was administered to cause death only on 06.05.2013. He did not refer any source of knowledge or offered to produce any witness of such facts. Keeping into consideration the unusual conduct and behaviors of the witness PW-1, we are constrained to hold that the same shakes not only the prosecution case but the sanctity of trial also.

12. Ram Gopal Verma (PW-1) and other witnesses of fact (PW-2 to PW-5)

60. The prosecution witnesses PW-2 and PW-4 are sons of PW-1 whereas PW-3 and PW-5 are respectively his daughter and wife. No doubt they are witnesses related with the deceased Kanchan and as such are natural witnesses also. Though, simply for the reason of their interestedness in seeking the culprit punished, being relative would not be a ground for their untrustworthiness, but like other witnesses they should have qualify the test of reliability, credibility and trustworthiness. Out of the witnesses PW-1, PW-2, PW-3, PW-4 and PW-5, we have already discussed the evidence on record which tend to show the PW-1 an inimical and interested witness in prosecution against the appellant. To justify the suitability, reliability and trustworthiness of a witness, it should be kept in mind, which fact he deposed in the Court. In the instant case the prosecution tried to prove two facts by examining it's aforesaid witnesses. First, the accused had committed murder of his mother Kama Devi, wife Kanchan and the minor child 'Dhairya' by administering them poison and second the motive of the appellant behind the commission of murder. Both the facts require personal knowledge of the witnesses, their spontaneity in narration, the probability of their observing the fact which they are proposed to prove.

61. The first version of the incident as reported by the Sunil Kumar Mali on 19.04.2013 at 06:45 and entered by PW-6 in G.D. on same date instantly did not see the light of the day. The version of Ram Gopal Verma as to the incident dated 19.04.2013 reported vide complaint dated 06.05.2013 is the very geneses of the prosecution story. As PW-1, Ram Gopal Verma when examined in the Court, reiterated the contents of his complaint in his examination-in-chief. Since we have given a detailed account of the contents of complaint moved by Ram Gopal on 06.05.2013, therefore, just to avoid repetition, we come to discuss the relevant portion of his statement before the Court. He states on 18.05.2013, his daughter Kanchan, her son Dhairya and Ram Gopal's (appellant's) mother Kama Devi were alongwith the appellant, in their house at the time of incident. Ram Gopal Saini in a conspiracy to remove all the three victims from his way, murdered them by administering poison and moved to Delhi. Neither the complaint nor the statement recorded before the Court discloses the source of knowledge of aforesaid fact as to the presence of appellant in the house or manner adopted by him in alleged murder. This is important to note here that as admitted by PW-1 himself the distance between the house of appellant and the PW-1 is about 800 to 1000 meters, therefore, without going to the house of the appellant and remaining there throughout the commission of incident, he could not have opportunity to observe and have personal knowledge of the incident. Moreover, if anyone else has told him about the incident, then such person not named in the complaint (Exhibit 1) or in his statement before the Court. On specific query made to him in Cross-examination, whether the said fact, he wrote in the complaint on his own or as informed by some one else, he replied on 28.01.2016, I wrote down the complaint as I wanted and not as informed by any one else. When the PW-1 was not informed of the incident by any eye witness and even he did not go to the house of appellant on 18.04.2013 and remain there, he had no occassion to have personally observe the incident. Even he had no knowledge as to the time, the appellant was lastly seen with the victims in his house and when he left the house. But posing himself as an omnipresent witness, he deposed before the court accounting the hypothetical graphics of the incident with minute details and thus established himself a liar and untruthful witness not worthy of credence.

13. Motive

62. Prosecution in the instant case sought to prove motive by PW-1 as he is the first person to blame the appellant a misdemeanant and set a motive for commission of murder of his own wife, mother and son, administering them poison. The motive he wrote in the complaint (Ex. KA-1) and stated in his examination before the Court is his extramarital and illicit relation with another married woman. He further stated that even after the marriage, the appellant remained in that illicit relation, therefore, he planned to murder the victims to keep smooth his illicit relation.

63. The extra marital illicit relation between two married persons, in the instant case allegedly between the appellant and Smt. Sunita Gupta, is a matter with regard to which there is no evidence on record. Evidence do not show any complaint on the part of husband of Smt. Sunita or by the deceased Kanchan against the appellant. On query made to the witness PW-1 in cross examination he accepted the lack of any such complaint. There is no independent witness having information or knowledge of intimacy between the appellant and said Sunita Gupta, is produced and examined before the Court.

In the absence of any such evidence and witness, the alleged illicit relation between the appellant and Sunita Gupta remains a speculation without any substance. The PW-1 states that he was told about the illicit relationship of appellant with said Sunita Gupta by his daughter Kanchan (deceased) as she use to visit him in his house. The said statement seems not convincible and truthful, in view of the proved fact of criminal prosecution maintained by PW-1 against the appellant annoyed from the elopement of his daughter and marriage with him as well as writ petition by the daughter (deceased Kanchan) against PW-1 for personal protection and stay of prosecution. His inimical relation with his daughter and son in law does not make it believable that his daughter (Kanchan the deceased) had ever visited him after her marriage and converse any such fact to him. His statement as to the illicit relationship of appellant is not supported by other witnesses of fact produced by the prosecution namely his sons, daughter and wife (PW-2 to PW-5) in their statements. Even the PW-8 (the I.O.) in his statement has firmly negatived from the allegations leveled by the PW-1 against the appellant of having illicit relationship with Smt. Sunita Gupta. He stated the said allegations was found baseless with all respect in the investigation.

64. Dhairya (deceased) a male child was begotten out of wedlock of appellant and kanchan (deceased) after their marriage in 2008 who was four years old at the relevant date of incident. There is no complaint lodged with the police by the deceased Kanchan at any point of time before her death that she was being subjected to physical or mental cruelty consequent upon the alleged illicit relationship of the appellant. The prosecution remained fail even to establish the motive of the appellant consistent with his alleged guilt.

65. Other prosecution witnesses PW-2 to PW-5 have not even remotedly indicated any trace of discordant relations between the appellant and his wife Kanchan (deceased) or acrimony between them or a threat perception to the life of the deceased wife. In some how similar facts Hon'ble the Apex Court in the case of Gargi Vs. State of Haryana(Supra) held as under:-

"In the given circumstances, it is difficult to accept that prosecution was able to establish by cogent and reliable evidence that appellant was involved in illicit relations or was pressurising deceased to transfer property in her name and that there had been strong acrimony between deceased and appellant-It is also difficult to accept, for want of cogent corroborative evidence, if deceased had made any alleged statements about discord with his wife and threat perceptions to PW-7 and PW-8 - In the given circumstances, possibility of levelling of imputations on appellant for intentions other than bringing real culprit(s) to book, is not ruled out altogether."

66. The effect of failure of prosecution in proving the motive in a case based on circumstantial evidence is discussed by Hon'ble the Apex Court in a catena of judgment. It would be relevant to refer one of such judgment in the case of Kirti Pal Vs. State of West Bengal with Durga Sutradhar Vs. State of West Bengal & ors23. In para 26, it is held :-

26. "It is true that motive is an important factor in cases where the conviction is based on circumstantial evidence but that does not mean in all cases of circumstantial evidence if the prosecution is unable to prove the motive satisfactorily, the prosecution must fail. In this case, of course, the prosecution has not adduced evidence as to what was the motive for committing murder of Anjali. But it is a matter of common knowledge that murders have been committed without any pre-eminent motive. It is well established that the mere fact that the prosecution has failed to translate the mental disposition of the accused into evidence, that does not mean that no such mental condition existed in the mind of the accused. The same view was reiterated in Vivek Kalra v. State of Rajasthan [Vivek Kalra v. State of Rajasthan, (2014) 12 SCC 439 : (2014) 6 SCC (Cri) 782] ; it was observed thus: (SCC p. 442, para 6)

"6. ... where prosecution relies on circumstantial evidence only, motive is a relevant fact and can be taken into consideration under Section 8 of the Evidence Act, 1872 but where the chain of other circumstances establishes beyond reasonable doubt that it is the accused and the accused alone who has committed the offence, and this is one such case, the Court cannot hold that in the absence of motive of the accused being established by the prosecution, the accused cannot be held guilty of the offence. In Ujjagar Singh v. State of Punjab [Ujjagar Singh v. State of Punjab, (2007) 13 SCC 90 : (2009) 1 SCC (Cri) 272] , this Court observed: (SCC p. 99, para 17)

''17. ... It is true that in a case relating to circumstantial evidence motive does assume great importance but to say that the absence of motive would dislodge the entire prosecution story is perhaps giving this one factor an importance which is not due and (to use the cliché) the motive is in the mind of the accused and can seldom be fathomed with any degree of accuracy.'"

We thus hold, the prosecution remained fail to prove motive in the present case which is based on circumstantial evidence. Now we have to see whether other circumstances necessary to establish the accused committed the offence exclusively are proved by the evidence.

67. The instant case as alleged by the prosecution is a case of culpable homicide amounting murder by administrating poison to the victims. Since we have already observed that there is no evidence on record as to the strained relation between victims and the appellant or any other situation of discord between them interse, therefore we do not find any compelling circumstances to infer suicidal death of the victims. The prosecution since charged the accused for causing homicidal death of victims by administering them poison. The genesis of the allegation as to murder by the appellant is the complaint moved by PW-1 (Ram Gopal Verma) on 06.05.2013 and the self incriminating confession extracted by the investigating officer on 06.05.2013 in terms of the said complaint. The prosecution has no direct evidence to prove the charge of murder of the victims by poisoning against the appellant. To prove it's case apart from the PW-1 (Ram Gopal Verma), prosecution has produced five more witnesses allegedly of fact, PW-2 to PW-5. They are sons, daughter and wife of the PW-1. PW-8, the Investigating Officer in his cross-examination before the Court has deposed that no independent witness of the incident was available throughout the investigation. He further stated that in the instant case the witnesses are the sons, daughter and wife of the complainant. PW-1 also has admitted on 22.06.2015 the fact of his being the only witness in the case with his own family members and no one else is independent witness in the case. Interestingly, the PW-8 states in his examination-in-chief dated 30.08.2016 that he took evidence of 'Sakshi Mauka' (eye witness or witnesses on spot) the wife of complainant Smt. Chhaya Verma (PW-5) and son Dhananjay Verma (PW-4) on 07.05.2013 but this statement of PW-8 as to the status of aforesaid witness in itself is false, as neither of witness amongst the PW-1 to PW-5 can be presumed to remain present on the spot of incident at relevant time and date of incident (18/19.04.2013) because they ordinarily reside in their own house situated at 800 to 1000 meters away from the house of appellant (the spot of incident). They admittedly did not go on or before 18.04.2013 to the house of appellant. So far as the allegation as to the illicit relation of the appellant is concerned, none of the witness PW-2 to PW-5 have claimed in their statement that Kanchan (deceased) have ever visited their house and told them any such fact after her marriage with the appellant. As such the statement of PW-1 with this regard has not been corroborated by the evidence of other witnesses PW-2 to PW-5 and that of PW-8. For the sake of argument, if Kanchan (the deceased) had told any such fact of illicit relation of her husband (appellant) to her father (PW-1), he had not stated about his daughter having any threat perception of her life by reason of the said illicit relation. Therefore, the allegation as to illicit relation being simply hearsay can not be proved in the Court by PW-1. Further it can not be given weight for not being a circumstance leading to the cause of death of Kanchan and other victims of the incident.

14. Death by poison

68. The appellant was charge sheeted by PW-8 on 31.07.2008 arraigning him to cause death of his mother, wife and the four years' old son by administrating them poison. At this juncture, we think, it would be relevant to keep into consideration several facts in their chronological order.

a) On 19.04.2013 as the PW-7 the Investigating Officer performing inquest proceeding of the dead bodies stated, PW-1-Complainant did not opined as to the suspected cause of death of victims and became signatory of the inquest report with regard cause of death not clear.

b) The viscera were extracted from the dead bodies and sent to forensic science lab for examination and report on 19.04.2013 by the doctor who did autopsy on dead bodies.

c) On 23.11.2013, the F.S.L. furnished report on examination of viscera (forensic report code no.1482, 1483, 1484, 1485 of 2013 dated 22.11.2013 on record with specific finding as to the administration of Aluminum Phosphate (ALP) a pesticide commonly known as sulphas or Rice Tablet.

d) Before the above finding of F.S.L., the complainant moved his complaint dated 06.05.2013 with specific allegation as to the murder of all the three victims on 18/19.04.2013 by the appellant. Since on 19.04.2013 when during inquest the Investigating Officer, PW-7 was collecting information, during his inquiry as to the cause of death, he did not disclose the fact of poisoning.

The above three proved facts which came forth from the evidence on record tend to show in the absence of any disclosure as to the source of knowledge to the complainant either on his own or received from anyone else, the complaint would be treated moved with knowledge of murder by poisoning. The Investigating Officer, PW-8 had burden to collect the fact and circumstances in evidence to connect the accused with the incident of murder of the three victims on the relevant date or time of occurrence. But the PW-8 immediately while acting on the complaint dated 06.05.2013 with regard to incident dated 19.04.2013 arrested the appellant on the same date (06.05.2013) at 10:00 P.M., on the statement of complainant. Thereafter PW-8 extracted appellant's self incriminating confession of guilt of committing murder of his mother, wife and son by administrating them poison. The confession on having been extracted from the accused in police custody was unable to be proved in Court under Section 25 of the Evidence Act, 1872. Therefore, we perused the evidence on record to gather evidence if any sufficient for the trial judge to link the accused appellant from the guilt he is charged with. In this regard, the inquest reports proved in the Court are materially important which shows the physical state and symptom of poisoning on the dead body, much have been discussed by us in preceding paras in this regard.

15. Post mortem report and viscera test report

69. Since apparently there were no exterior marks of injuries on the dead bodies sufficient to cause death, therefore, the doctors who did autopsy on the dead bodies extracted the viscera and sent to Forensic Science Lab for examination as to the contents which might have caused death. The relevant parts of post mortem report, for the purpose of easy reference as to the physical states of dead bodies and opinion of doctor is being quoted hereunder.

The fourth report of FSL code no.1485/13 is with regard to the existence of ALP found in the vomiting on the bed sheet seized from the spot of incident and not upon metallic glass found from the spot of incident (material exhibit 6 & 7).

16. Nature and general use of ALP

71. The learned Government Advocate, Sri Vimal Prakash placed before us for perusal a downloaded copy of an article titled as, "Treatment of Aluminum Phosphide Poisoning with a combination of Intravenous Glucaon, Digoxin and Antioxidant Agents" by 'Zohreh Oghabian' and 'Omid

Mehrpour'24. It is helpful in understanding the nature, application and fatal effect of pesticide poison named Aluminum Phosphide, reported by the F.S.L., found in the 'viscera' extracted from the dead bodies of victims and not found in and upon the material exhibits 6 & 7 placed before the Court. With courtesy to the authors of the said article we cite the relevant portions extracted therefrom as under:-

Abstract

"Aluminum phosphide (ALP) is a very effective outdoor and indoor pesticide used for protecting stored grains from rodents and other pests.1 In Iran, AlP tablets are widely used for protecting rice against pests and so are traditionally called "rice tablets".2 Phosphine gas (PH3) is rapidly formed and released when AlP comes into contact with water or dilute acids, such as those found in the stomach, and is the fatal active form of the pesticide.3 The two main routes of acute toxicity due to AlP are the ingestion of AlP tablets and inhalation of released PH3. Although the exact mechanism of action of AlP is not clearly understood, PH3 is thought to induce toxicity by blocking the cytochrome c oxidase enzyme and inhibiting oxidative phosphorylation which eventually leads to myocyte death.1,2 AlP poisoning has a very high mortality rate (30-100%) and survival is unlikely if more than 1,500 mg is ingested; the lethal dose for an individual weighing 70 kg is 150-500 mg.1 Exposure to AlP is rarely accidental and the majority of cases of severe AlP poisoning are reportedly due to the deliberate ingestion of AlP tablets with suicidal intentions.2,3 Although there are reports of accidental inhalation of PH3 gas, especially among workers, AlP is known as a suicide poison with no effective antidote that can be easily bought.2

Presenting features of AlP intoxication include the rapid onset of shock, vomiting, nausea, retrosternal and epigastric pain, dyspnoea, anxiety, agitation and garlic-odour breath.3 An early sign of AlP poisoning is severe metabolic acidosis and hypotension, which leads to shock and tissue perfusion failure in the first couple of hours after ingestion due to cardiogenic shock and peripheral circulatory failure.1-4 Other cardiovascular complications include cardiac arrhythmias and acute myocardial infarctions.1 Profound circulatory collapse is commonly associated with AlP poisoning; this is believed to be due to the direct effect of PH3 on the heart cells.5 Cardiogenic shock is one of the main causes of death.5,6 There is currently no known antidote for this poison and most treatment modalities are not successful; however, the effective treatment of AlP poisoning using an intra-aortic balloon pump (IABP) and digoxin has previously been reported.5,6 In addition, other researchers have reported that glucagon, digoxin or antioxidants administered individually to poisoned patients have had a beneficial effect.3,5 This report is the first to present the combined administration of glucagon, digoxin and antioxidants in the management of a patient with AlP poisoning."

ALP Forms

It is available as tablets (3 g, trade names: Phostoxin, Bhostoxin, Quickphos Phosphume Phostek) releasing 1 g PH3 or as pellets (0.6 g, Quickphos, Alphos, Cellphos). The tablets are green, brown or gray, and each tablet contains 56% AlP and 44% aluminum carbonate.

Mechanism of action

In the case of oral intake, the phosphine gas released is absorbed by the gastrointestinal tract with simple diffusion and is mainly excreted by the kidneys and lungs. Phosphine, like cyanide, inhibits mitochondrial cytochrome oxidase and cellular oxygen utilization [13-15].

Toxicity

The fatal dose for a 70 kg adult is 150-500 mg [6,8]. Permissible exposure limit (PET) is 0.3 ppm over an 8 h shift (for factory stuffs). The range of short term exposure limit (STEL) is 1 ppm and immediate danger to life and health would be 200 ppm. For lethal dose in 30 min, the range of 400-600 ppm (10 mg/Kg AlP) has been determined. It has been reported that its LD50 in mice (inhalation of fumes) is 0.68 g/m3 during 65-75 min of exposure and for rats is 1.47 g/m3 during 35-50 min of exposure. LD50 for cats is 25 ppm (2-4 h daily during 3 days).

Etiology

AlP is the most common agent of poisoning in rural or sub-urban zones of some countries such as India, where it is usually ingested for suicide [5]. It is also uses as a suicide agent in Iran [24] but its poisoning in other countries may be due to occupational exposure [16]. AlP can induce rarely complications including hepatitis, acute tubular necrosis, gastroduodentitis, bleeding diathesis, corrosive like esophageal stricture and intravascular hemolysis.

72. In view of the nature, form and availability in general use as pesticide (rice tablets) and as it's etiology discloses, it's use mostly found in suicidal cases. The prosecution when sets it's use in causing homicidal death of the victims on 18/19.04.2013, is heavily burdened to connect from such use to the accused exclusively, beyond all reasonable doubts. What the prosecution was required in such a case is discussed by Hon'ble the Supreme Court in the case of 'Sharad Birdhichand Sarda Vs. State of Maharashra(Supra), Hon'ble S. Murtza Fazal Ali, J. discussed in para 164 and 165:-

164. "We now come to the mode and manner of proof of cases of murder by administration of poison. In Ramgopal case [(1972) 4 SCC 625 : AIR 1972 SC 656] this Court held thus: (SCC p. 629, para 15)

"Three questions arise in such cases, namely (firstly), did the deceased die of the poison in question? (secondly), had the accused the poison in question in his possession? and (thirdly), had the accused an opportunity to administer the poison in question to the deceased? It is only when the motive is there and these facts are all proved that the court may be able to draw the inference, that the poison was administered by the accused to the deceased resulting in his death."

165. So far as this matter is concerned, in such cases the court must carefully scan the evidence and determine the four important circumstances which alone can justify a conviction:

(1) there is a clear motive for an accused to administer poison to the deceased,

(2) that the deceased died of poison said to have been administered,

(3) that the accused had the poison in his possession,

(4) that he had an opportunity to administer the poison to the deceased."

73. In view of the requirement of proving the facts enumerated in the judgment quoted here above, in the case before us two facts stand proved (i) the death of all the victims of incident from pesticide poison Aluminum Phosphide (ALP) and (ii) because of the proved fact that appellant ordinarily used to reside in his dwelling house (the spot of incident) alongwith his family members the victims, his mother Kama Devi (deceased), his wife Kanchan (deceased) and four years' old son Dhairya (deceased), he might have opportunity to administer them poison. But out of the four rest of the two facts namely (1) the motive to administer poison to the deceased, prosecution failed to prove what induced the accused to do such offence and that (iii) the accused procured and had the poison in his possession. The prosecution right from the stage of investigation and even up to the stage of trial neither has collected evidence so as to prove the essentially required facts stated hereabove, with regard to procurement and possession of the poison specifically named as Aluminum Phosphide (ALP) commonly used as pesticide and known as Rice Tablets or celphos. The investigating officer has not collected evidence as to storage of food grain in house of incident by the family and use of pesticide for their preservation in storage. The evidences show the appellant to be in employment as a fourth class employee, a peon in TNPG Degree College, Tanda. He is not proved by evidence to be in occupation of grocery business in connection of which he may be presumed to have the pesticide poison 'ALP' in his possession, to the contrary the complainant is established and proved by his own evidence also to be in occupation of grocery shop in the same locality at a distance of 800 to 1000 meters from the house of appellant and naturally can be presumed to be in possession of pesticide like ALP in ordinary course of his established business. The prosecutor thus failed to prove the appellant to be in possession of pesticide known as ALP at the relevant date, time and place of incident. The evidences on record also lack any positive evidence as to his procuring pesticide (ALP) from any shop on or before the date of incident. In the absence of any such evidence as to the procurement and possession by the appellant of the poison specifically named the pesticide 'ALP', the case of prosecution as to the use and administration of that poison by the accused becomes legless and thus not proved.

17. The time of death

74. The victims namely, mother of the appellant Kama Devi (60 yrs.), wife Kanchan (35 yrs.) and son Dhairya (4 yrs.) when died is not known. Even the charge is framed as to the commission of murder on date and time 'Not known'. The first information received in the local police station on 19.04.2013 at 06:45 A.M. is entered in the G.D. of the same date. In any case, it can be said, they were found dead by the first informant Sunil Kumar Mali in the morning of 19.04.2013. The complainant informed about incident on 1.04.2013 by moving a written complaint on 06.05.2013 in the same police station without specifically stating the date and time that the appellant has murdered the victims. The question important for holding the liability of triple murder as complained by the PW-1 on 06.05.2013 is that particularly and specifically when the murder was committed. Since the death of the victims is proved to have been caused by administration of poison then the material fact is when the poison was administered to the victim and by whom. We kept in our mind the fatal effect of the pesticide (ALP) and it's proximate time for coming into fatal action after oral ingestion. We have gathered information as to the above from the extract of 'article' cited in one of the preceding paras. It comes into market in form of tablets of 3 grams. The toxic effect of ALP is due to deadly phosphine gas liberated when it reacts with water or hydro chloric acid in the stomach an early sign of ALP poisoning in severe metabolic acidosis and hypotension, which lead to shock and tissue perfusion failure in the first couple of hours of the ingestion.

75. The doctor who did autopsy on the dead body of Smt. Kama Devi and Kanchan is produced for examination before the trial judge as PW-9. In his statement Dr. Lal Chand Jain, who was posted as C.M.O. in District Hospital, Ambedkar Nagar on 19.04.2013 has stated that he did the postmortem examination of deceased Kama Devi (of 60 yrs.), Kanchan (30 yrs.) and Dhairya (4 yrs.) with the assistance of Dr. S.P. Mishra and Dr. Vijay Bahadur Gautam. He stated that autopsy was started at about 03:00 P.M. on 19.04.2013. On having been asked about the proximate time of death, he relied on the principles as to the determination of time of death on the basis of stages of rigor mortis seen over the dead body at the time of autopsy i.e. in the instant case at 03:00 P.M. on 19.04.2013. Before discussing on the basis of Modi's Medical Jurisprudence, we think it would be relevant to see the observation of Doctor (PW-9) who did the autopsy on dead bodies as to the stage of 'Rigor Mortis' at 03:00 P.M. on 19.04.2013. PW-9 stated in his cross-examination that there was no symptoms of decomposition on dead bodies. Further, he stated about the presence of rigor mortis on upper and lower limb before the neck of the dead body of deceased-Kanchan, same stage of rigor mortis was on the dead body of Kama Devi (60 yrs.). He finished the autopsy on dead bodies by 03:45 P.M. to 04:00 P.M. on the basis of rigor mortis, he estimated the time of death at any time to a maximum twelve hours ago from the time of post mortem but less than the period of a day. As such in his opinion the victims would have died at any time before 03:00 A.M. on 19.04.2013 in the night of 18/19.04.2013.

76. Scrutinizing the time of death on the basis of stages of rigor mortis visible on dead body is not a mathematical calculation to get actual time of death because according to Modi's Medical Jurisprudence Hon'ble the Apex Court in the case of Virendra @ Buddhu and ors. Vs. State of U.P.25 has held on the point, rigor mortis how aid in determining time of death and up to what extent:-

"25. It is mentioned at p. 125 of Modi's Medical Jurisprudence and Toxicology, Edn. 1977 that in general rigor mortis sets in 1 to 2 hours after death, is well developed from head to foot in about 12 hours, is maintained for about 12 hours and passes off in about 12 hours. In the instant case rigor mortis was present in lower extremities at the time autopsy was conducted on the dead body after 30 hours. As according to ocular testimony the deceased was murdered on 5-10-1979 at about 10.00 a.m. and the doctor conducted autopsy on the dead body on the next day at about 4.30 p.m. after 30 hours of death but rigor mortis was found present in lower extremities. Had he died on 4-10-1979 at about 10.00 p.m. or so rigor mortis would have passed off from the dead body completely at the time of autopsy. Thus the ocular testimony that he was murdered on 5-10-1979 at about 10.00 a.m. stands corroborated from the medical evidence pinpointing that rigor mortis was present in lower extremities at the time when the autopsy was conducted on the dead body after 30 hours."

77. In the instant case the autopsy on dead bodies were done after atleast 8 to 9 hours of the information to the police station at 06:45 A.M. as to the dead bodies of victims lying in the house of appellant, the spot of incident situated at District Ambdekar Nagar in plains of the State of Uttar Pradesh. The incident occurred in the month of April which is beginning of summer in that region. As such approximate time of appearance of rigor mortis and staying up to 12 hours and thus passing of the same after 12 hours is seen not complete in the same succession and was found passed off up to neck only, the death can be estimated to have been occurred from 12 to 18 hours ago from time of post mortem (from 03:00 to 04:00 P.M. on 19.04.2013). The victims of the incident would have died some times in between 02:00 A.M. to 03:00 A.M. in the night hours of 18/19.04.2013. The poison would have been taken/administered some times in between 10:00 P.M. to 12:00 P.M. hours in night.

18. Who administered the poison?

78. In the instant case the victims of the incident dated 19.04.2013 are proved to have died as a result of poisoning therefore, the question is who administered the poison. There is no direct evidence as to the poisoning by any person, however, the complainant Ram Gopal Verma in his complained alleged murder of victims committed by the appellant. He did not disclose the manner in his complaint (exhibit 1) in which murder is committed. In the evidence of PW-8 (Investigating Officer) the manner in which the appellant allegedly committed the murder is disclosed by his confession extracted by PW-8 in the police custody that he committed the murder of the victims by administrating them poison. For the first time, the complainant as PW-1 deposed before the trial judge that appellant in a conspiracy, given poison to his mother, wife and son. He did not disclose how he came to know this fact, in his examination in chief, he stated that he was informed of the fact of murder by poisoning to the victims from the neighbouring and other people of the area. But who were those people who informed him of the said fact were neither named nor produced before the court. The law of evidence does not permit any person who is informed of a fact from some other person or persons to be a witness to prove that information, if the person who informed is alive, available to depose before the court and is not suffering from any infirmity to attend the court. In the instant case the PW-1 has kept the persons 'anonymous' who informed him the fact, the appellant murdered the three victims of the incident by administering them poison.

19. Circumstantial evidences

79. No direct evidence as to the administration of poison by the accused could be adduced by the prosecution. Therefore, the contextual facts constituting the circumstantial evidence in the case which tend to prove the guilt of the accused need to be considered. In the case of Sharad Birdhichand Sarda (Supra) as per Hon'ble S. Murtza Fazal Ali, J. the following conditions must be fulfilled before a case against an accused can be said to be fully established on circumstantial evidence.

153. "A close analysis of this decision would show that the following conditions must be fulfilled before a case against an accused can be said to be fully established:

(1) the circumstances from which the conclusion of guilt is to be drawn should be fully established.

It may be noted here that this Court indicated that the circumstances concerned "must or should" and not "may be" established. There is not only a grammatical but a legal distinction between "may be proved" and "must be or should be proved" as was held by this Court in Shivaji Sahabrao Bobade v. State of Maharashtra [(1973) 2 SCC 793 : 1973 SCC (Cri) 1033 : 1973 Crl LJ 1783] where the observations were made: [SCC para 19, p. 807: SCC (Cri) p. 1047]

"Certainly, it is a primary principle that the accused must be and not merely may be guilty before a court can convict and the mental distance between ''may be' and ''must be' is long and divides vague conjectures from sure conclusions."

(2) the facts so established should be consistent only with the hypothesis of the guilt of the accused, that is to say, they should not be explainable on any other hypothesis except that the accused is guilty,

(3) the circumstances should be of a conclusive nature and tendency,

(4) they should exclude every possible hypothesis except the one to be proved, and

(5) there must be a chain of evidence so complete as not to leave any reasonable ground for the conclusion consistent with the innocence of the accused and must show that in all human probability the act must have been done by the accused."

20. Last seen evidence

80. In the context of the fact that the appellant ordinarily used to reside in his dwelling house alongwith the deceased victims namely his mother, wife and son and that in his absence they were found dead by poisoning. In the absence of direct evidences as he administered them poison, the last seen evidence would be of most importance with regard to inference of guilt of the accused in absence of any explanation.

81. We have gone through the evidence adduced by prosecution, available on the record of trial so as to gather the evidence as to when the accused was last seen alongwith the victims in his dwelling house. The victims (deceased) as per evidence of medical expert PW-9, on the basis of rigor mortis apparent over their dead bodies can be presumed to have died any time between 12 O' Clock to 02:00 A.M. in the intervening night of 18/19 April 2013. Further, as we have discussed earlier about the fatal activity of the pesticide ALP (Sulphas) would have taken effect maximum within a couple of hours from ingestion, the same might have been administered to/taken by the victims within 10:00 P.M. to 12 O' Clock in the same night. In Sharad Birdhichand Sarda (Supra), Hon'ble S. Murtza Fazal Ali, J. says, the circumstances that the appellant was last seen with the deceased before her death, if proved, would be a conclusive evidence against the appellant. But for examining the circumstance a computerized and mathematical approach to the problem in fixing the exact time of the various events can not be correct when from the evidences such precision in time does not appear to be possible one should always give some room for a difference of a few minutes in the time that a lay man would say.

82. The complainant Ram Gopal Verma, who is the first man who levelled allegation over the appellant of committing murder of his mother, wife and son by administering poison has submitted himself for examination before the Court on 05.11.2014. Though in his complaint dated 06.05.2013, he has not alleged 'administration of poison' to the victims for their murder by the appellant, has improved his allegations in his statement under examination in chief. He stated, " Ram Gopal Saini, in conspiracy to remove the victim trio from his way, administered poison to them to kill and thereafter went to his sister's house at Delhi". The nature of above statement appears to be statement of an eye witness present on spot of incident who observed personally the incident. He, in the same continuation stated that after the occurrence, he (the appellant) disappeared on the pretext of going to Delhi. In view of the above statement on oath before the Court he was burdened to disclose at what time the appellant administered the poison and secondly when he left the house after occurrence.

83. The helmsman of the prosecution case, PW-1 (Ram Gopal Verma) deposed in the Court in the course of his cross examination by Defence Counsel on 05.12.2014, "I never met the accused Ram Gopal Saini till the date of lodging the First Information Report of the incident. After the FIR was registered, I met with the accused in Police Station, Tanda Kotwali on 08.05.2013." The statement of PW-1 thus discloses that before 08.05.2013, he never met Ram Gopal Saini (appellant). In cross-examination on 22.06.2015 by learned counsel for the defence, PW-1 refined his answer as to when he lastly met the accused. He stated, after the incident I met for the first time with the accused on 08.05.2013. I never met with Ram Gopal Saini (appellant) in between 18.04.2013 to 08.05.2013." In the context of above statement of PW-1 and the 'time of incident', as estimated on the basis of medical evidence of PW-9, in the intervening night of 18/19 April 2013, it comes forth that the PW-1 is not a last seen witness, because of, firstly he is not stating about when he seen lastly the appellant with the deceased in the dwelling house (the spot of incident) and secondly there is a considerable large gap between he met appellant before 18.04.2013 and time of incident in the intervening night of 18/19 April 2013.

84. It would be relevant here to refer the view expressed by Hon'ble the Supreme Court with regard to application of 'Last seen principle' in the case of Bodhraj @ Bodha and ors. Vs. State of Jammu & Kashmir26.

31. "The last-seen theory comes into play where the time-gap between the point of time when the accused and the deceased were last seen alive and when the deceased is found dead is so small that possibility of any person other than the accused being the author of the crime becomes impossible. It would be difficult in some cases to positively establish that the deceased was last seen with the accused when there is a long gap and possibility of other persons coming in between exists. In the absence of any other positive evidence to conclude that the accused and the deceased were last seen together, it would be hazardous to come to a conclusion of guilt in those cases. In this case there is positive evidence that the deceased, A-1 and A-2 were seen together by witnesses i.e. PWs 14, 15 and 18; in addition to the evidence of PWs 1 and 2."

85. Not only PW-1 but other witnesses of fact PW-2 to PW-5, the near relatives of Deceased Kanchan namely her brothers, sister and mother also denied to have last seen the appellant before the incident. The simple reason commonly stated by them is that they were not in terms of visiting the appellant and deceased Kanchan other at their houses and meet together, after the incident of elopement of Kanchan to marry with appellant in 2008. The reason behind such acrimony is stated their intercast marriage and criminal prosecution filed by the PW-1 against appellant, his mother and sister. So far as PW-8 and other Police witnesses PW-6 and PW-7 are concerned, they are not witness of fact. Their information collected during investigation can only be read in evidence when the person who informed is produced as witness to prove the same before the Court. PW-8 in his cross-examination dated 30.08.2016 stated that he came to know during investigation that since one day prior to the date of incident (18/19 April, 2013) the accused was not in 'Tanda'. He further clarified that from investigation, it came into knowledge that he (appellant) had gone Delhi to join a feast in the house of his sister. PW-4, Dhananjay Verma, the brother of deceased-Kanchan in his cross-examination dated 08.02.2016 confirms that the sister of appellant named 'Maya' has her house in Delhi. He has also stated that it is wrong to say, accused masqueraded after the incident to go Delhi. The prosecution evidence further prove (PW-1, PW-6, PW-8 and PW-4) that appellant was present at the time of post mortem on 19.04.2013 (after 03:00 P.M.) and he performed the funeral rites of the dead bodies. The prosecution evidence thus itself sufficient to show that the appellant went to Delhi some times on 17.04.2013 (on day before the date of incident i.e. 18/19 April 2013) to join the feast on the occasion of house warming (Grih Pravesh) ceremony of his sister's house, and also that he again appeared in 'Tanda' only on 19.04.2013 after 03:00 P.M. when the post mortem of dead bodies was being done in post mortem house, District Hospital, District Ambedkar Nagar. It simply means that meanwhile the accused was not present in 'Tanda'.

21. Evidentiary value of witness who turned hostile

86. Though the prosecution's witnesses posed to be witness of fact respectively PW-1 to PW-5 all went hostile on and after 22.06.2015. This would be important to state that on 05.11.2014 when PW-1 was produced as witness of prosecution, during his examination-in-chief and thereafter in his cross-examination by learned defence counsel on 05.12.2014, he was supporting the prosecution case but thereafter cross-examination kept continued and again resumed after a considerable long lapse of time on 22.06.2015, he turned hostile to the prosecution case. The question arises how the evidence of these hostile witnesses will be weighed, and deposition of PW-1 to what extent lends support to the prosecution case. The PW-1 is the first man who complained on 06.05.2013 that the appellant and none else has committed murder of the victims on 18/19 April 2013. Further, he developed the hypothesis of guilt on the part of appellant by stating in his examination-in-chief as PW-1 that he administered poison to the victims and thus murdered them. He does not disclose either in the complaint nor in his deposition before the Court as to how he came to know the above material information relevant to the fact in issue or who informed him the said fact. He does not claim himself eye witness of the fact. In cross-examination made by Learned Defence Counsel when he turned hostile, he stated the said fact came to his knowledge from the people of the nearby locality. Our Courts have held that outright rejection of the evidence of such witnesses is not permissible. The parties entitled to rely on such part of their evidence which assist their case. We would refer the following para from the judgment of Hon'ble the Supreme Court in T. Shankar Prasad Vs. State of A.P.27, being relevant on the point:-

24. "The fact that PW 1 did not stick to his statement made during investigation does not totally obliterate his evidence. Even in criminal prosecution when a witness is cross-examined and contradicted with the leave of court by the party calling him, his evidence cannot as a matter of law be treated as washed off record altogether. It is for the judge of fact to consider in each case whether as a result of such cross-examination and contradiction, the witness stands thoroughly discredited or can still be believed in regard to a part of his testimony. If the judge finds that in the process the credit of the witness has not been completely shaken, he may after reading and considering the evidence of the said witness, accept in the light of the other evidence on record that part of his testimony which he found to be creditworthy and act upon it.....…"

In State of U.P. Vs. Ramesh Prasad Misra & Anr.28, Hon'ble the Apex Court held that the evidence of a hostile witness would not be totally rejected if spoken in favour of the prosecution or the accused, but it can be subjected to close scrutiny and that portion of the evidence which is consistent with the case of prosecution or defence may be accepted.

In Himanshu @ Chintu Vs. State (NCT of Delhi)29, it is held :-

30. In Prithi v. State of Haryana [(2010) 8 SCC 536 : (2010) 3 SCC (Cri) 960] decided recently, one of us (R.M. Lodha, J.) noticed the legal position with regard to a hostile witness in the light of Section 154 of the Evidence Act, 1872 and few decisions of this Court as under: (SCC pp. 544-45, paras 25-27)

"25. Section 154 of the Evidence Act, 1872 enables the court in its discretion to permit the person who calls a witness to put any questions to him which might be put in cross-examination by the adverse party. Some High Courts had earlier taken the view that when a witness is cross-examined by the party calling him, his evidence cannot be believed in part and disbelieved in part, but must be excluded altogether. However this view has not found acceptance in later decisions. As a matter of fact, the decisions of this Court are to the contrary. In Khujji v. State of M.P. [(1991) 3 SCC 627 : 1991 SCC (Cri) 916] , a three-Judge Bench of this Court relying upon earlier decisions of this Court in Bhagwan Singh v. State of Haryana [(1976) 1 SCC 389 : 1976 SCC (Cri) 7] , Rabindra Kumar Dey v. State of Orissa [(1976) 4 SCC 233 : 1976 SCC (Cri) 566] and Syad Akbar v. State of Karnataka [(1980) 1 SCC 30 : 1980 SCC (Cri) 59] reiterated the legal position that: (Khujji case [(1991) 3 SCC 627 : 1991 SCC (Cri) 916] , SCC p. 635, para 6)

''6. ... the evidence of a prosecution witness cannot be rejected in toto merely because the prosecution chose to treat him as hostile and cross-examined him. The evidence of such witnesses cannot be treated as effaced or washed off the record altogether but the same can be accepted to the extent their version is found to be dependable on careful scrutiny thereof.'

26. In Koli Lakhmanbhai Chanabhai v. State of Gujarat [(1999) 8 SCC 624 : 2000 SCC (Cri) 13] this Court again reiterated that testimony of a hostile witness is useful to the extent to which it supports the prosecution case. It is worth noticing that in Bhagwan Singh [(1976) 1 SCC 389 : 1976 SCC (Cri) 7] this Court held that when a witness is declared hostile and cross-examined with the permission of the court, his evidence remains admissible and there is no legal bar to have a conviction upon his testimony, if corroborated by other reliable evidence.

27. The submission of the learned Senior Counsel for the appellant that the testimony of PW 6 should be either accepted as it is or rejected in its entirety, thus, cannot be accepted in view of the settled legal position as noticed above."

87. The crux of the prosecution case is appellant has administered poison to the victims namely Kama Devi (his mother), Kanchan (wife) and Dhairya (his 4 years' son) and thus committed their murder. In light of the law laid down by Hon'ble the Apex Court in various cases when the prosecution witness turned hostile with regard to evidentiary value of the deposition made before the Court. In the instant case, the prosecution has not produced any such person of nearby locality who had personal knowledge of the said fact either directly or by observing surrounding circumstances leading to an inference as to the guilt of the appellant. The other witnesses of the fact PW-2 to PW-5 are the members of the PW-1's family, they from the very inception of their deposition before the Court have stated about Kanchan (deceased) had no visiting terms with them after the incident of her elopement and marriage with appellant and also about their want of knowledge as to appellant whether was present in Tanda on the date and time of incident or not. Therefore, we did not find any part of evidence of the PW-1 having corroboration from the deposition of other prosecution witness or finding support from their evidence with regard to the fact in issue. Even they had not corroborated the statement of PW-1 with regard to the illicit relations of the appellant with another woman as alleged by the PW-1.

88. To the contrary, the PW-1 in his cross-examination before the trial Court stated, "in the instant case he (PW-1), his wife, sons and daughter are witnesses and none else is independent witness. He did not have knowledge prior to the incident as to the fact of appellant whether will be in home on the relevant day, date and time of incident. In continuation of the cross-examination on 28.01.2016, he deposed that he (PW-1) and his family members had no usual visiting terms with Kanchan (deceased) at her home. Since before a day from the date of incident i.e. 18.04.2013, the appellant was in his sister's house at Delhi. He further stated about appellant that he had no illicit relation with any other woman and his daughter Kanchan was happily cohabiting with appellant without any complaint. He firmly stated that he came to know about the incident on 19.04.2013. On having been cross-examined with the leave of the Court by the public prosecutor, he assertively stated that on the date of incident, the appellant was in Delhi and his statement contrary to this, written in his examination-in-chief is wrong. He stated, I never seen the appellant personally on the date of incident and saw him only after the incident in post mortem house. All the PWs from PW-1 to PW-5 have stated that they did not attend the funeral and last rites of the deceased which was done by the appellant. Thus, the evidence of PW-1 deposed in his cross-examination as to the appellant's absence on the date of incident in Tanda, his being in Delhi. at his sister's house and presence in 'Tanda' only on 19.04.2013 finds support and corroboration with the deposition on the same fact by PW-8, the investigating officer and also from the evidence of PW-2 to PW-5. The part of his evidence as observed above by us deserve to be read in evidence and to be taken into consideration while deciding the fact in issue, as to the "administering poison" and whether the appellant committed murder of the victims by administering them poison.

22. Conviction based on circumstantial evidence

89. As in the instant case, learned trial court has recorded conviction of the appellant purportedly on the basis of circumstantial evidence, therefore we have to find out the circumstances carved out by the learned trial judge from the evidences on record which if taken in their totality lead to the inference exclusively suggesting the guilt of the accused and none else. In a catena of judgments Hon'ble the Apex Court has elaborately reiterated the principles governing the appreciation of circumstantial evidence and when it can be made basis of the conviction. Before proceeding further with discussion over this aspect in the instant case, we think it would be relevant to quote one of such judgment of Hon'ble the Apex Court in R. Shaji Vs. State of Kerala30. Para 40 of the judgment is quoted hereunder:-

40. "It is a settled legal proposition that the conviction of a person accused of committing an offence is generally based solely on evidence that is either oral or documentary, but in exceptional circumstances, such conviction may also be based solely on circumstantial evidence. For this to happen, the prosecution must establish its case beyond reasonable doubt, and cannot derive any strength from the weaknesses in the defence put up by the accused. However, a false defence may be brought to notice only to lend assurance to the court as regards the various links in the chain of circumstantial evidence, which are in themselves complete. The circumstances on the basis of which the conclusion of guilt is to be drawn, must be fully established. The same must be of a conclusive nature, and must exclude all possible hypothesis except the one to be proved. Facts so established must be consistent with the hypothesis of the guilt of the accused, and the chain of evidence must be complete, so as not to leave any reasonable ground for a conclusion consistent with the innocence of the accused, and must further show, that in all probability the said offence must have been committed by the accused. (Vide Sharad Birdhichand Sarda v. State of Maharashtra [(1984) 4 SCC 116 : 1984 SCC (Cri) 487 : AIR 1984 SC 1622] and Paramjeet Singh v. State of Uttarakhand [(2010) 10 SCC 439 : (2011) 1 SCC (Cri) 98] .)"

90. The prosecution in the context of the charge of 'murder by poisoning' had to prove certain facts relevant to the fact in issue and surrounding circumstances thereto, which can be enumerated in the instant case as under:-

(i) The accused/appellant had a clear motive to commit murder of his mother, wife and the four years' son.

(ii) That the appellant was in extramarital illicit relation with one Sunita Gupta wife of Ved Prakash Gupta.

(iii) The wife or/and the mother had tense relation with the accused/appellant due to any dispute and in connection thereto there persisted strong acrimony between them.

(iv) The mother and/or wife had complained to their relatives or law enforcing authorities with regard to their threat perception as to life at the end of accused appellant.

(v) The victims of the incident used to reside in same dwelling house alongwith the appellant without intervention of sharing of anyone else.

(vi) Victims died due to poisoning.

(vii) The accused appellant procured the pesticide named 'Aluminum Phosphide' which is a scheduled pesticide poison from any shop or otherwise and he was in possession of the poison at the relevant date and time of the incident.

(viii) The accused appellant had reason to ordinarily possess the pesticide ALP in connection with any business and therefore he may be supposed to possess in home such poison on the date and time of the incident.

(ix) That on or soon before the relevant date and time of the incident, any altercation took place between the victims of the incident and the appellant.

(x) The appellant was seen by any one in his house alongwith the victims on the relevant date and time, more exactly to say in the night of 18/19 April, 2013.

(xi) The appellant was seen by any one leaving his house in the night of 18/19 April 2013.

(xii) The appellant was seen in perturbed and perplexed physical and mental condition in or out of his house in the night of 18/19 April 2013.

(xiii) That after the incident the appellant was absconding and hiding himself from police and other persons of the locality.

(xiv) That none else except the appellant has opportunity or chance to access to the victims in house (spot of incident).

(xv) That no one else met the victim in their house since 17th April till any time in the night of 18/19 April 2013 when the incident took place.

91. Out from the circumstances enumerated here in above, the prosecution by it's positive evidence has succeeded in providing circumstances mentioned at serial no. (v) and (vi) only, that is to say, the victims ordinarily used to reside in the same dwelling house with the appellant where the incident was committed and that the victims died by reason of administration of pesticide poison (Aluminum Phosphide). No positive and direct evidences were adduced by the prosecution before the trial court to prove other circumstances enumerated in the preceding para, though the same were quite possible to be proved and evidences thereto were within reach of the prosecution. The first informant Sunil Kumar Mali who reported the incident on 19.04.2013 instantly in the morning at 06:45 A.M. was not produced for examination before the trial Court. He being a near relative of the victims and appellant was the best person to state about the cause of death, mutual relations between the victims interse as well as with the appellant. He would have been a material witness as to when and how he came to know about the incident. This probable witness was signatory as witness of inquest and also a witness whose pre-trial statement under Section 161 Cr.P.C. the PW-8 (I.O.) had recorded during investigation.

92. We have noticed and carved out in earlier part of this judgment, several material omissions, defects and skipping in procedure during investigation which has emerged from evidence on record, which have adversely affected the case of prosecution. The defective investigation has created vast gaps in prosecution story. The lack of evidence as to tense relations between appellant and his deceased wife and / or also with his mother (deceased), the lack of evidence as to conversation / communication with any relative by the deceased Kanchan (Appellant's wife) as to any acrimony or threat perception of life from appellant, the lack of evidence as to the extra marital illicit relationship of appellant with another woman and the appellant causing usual altercation with his deceased wife, all have caused failure of prosecution in proving a clear motive on the part of appellant to kill not only his wife but also his mother and a four years' old innocent son. Likewise, no positive evidence as to the procurement and possession of poison with appellant is adduced by the prosecution so as to link him with the incident of poisoning. Moreover, prosecution seems uninterested in producing last seen evidence so as to prove the relevant fact as to the appellant, lastly seen alongwith the victims in his house on 18 April, 2013 before the incident or of his leaving the house at any time thereafter. The prosecution evidence tend to establish the appellant being out from his house since 17 April, 2013 and he was seen thereafter on 19.04.2013 at post mortem house at 03:00 P.M. In this large gap of time, no evidence to over rule the possibility of access to the victims by any one else, was adduced, rather there is admission of the PW-1 himself that he was in usual visiting term with his deceased daughter though we have held the same unbelievable in the circumstances of the case. The evidence of neighbouring people would have been helpful in proving the said fact.

93. We have also noticed that the aforesaid circumstances and fact which, if would have been proved by evidence of prosecution, certainly they on being taken in totality would have formed a complete unbreakable sequence of circumstances leading to suggest the guilt of accused exclusively.

94. The learned Government Advocate harangued justifying the impugned judgment of learned Trial Court recording conviction on the basis of circumstantial evidence and the adverse inference drawn against the accused. According to him, there were sufficient evidence to prove the aforesaid circumstances forming chain of circumstances so as to suggest guilt of the accused, as on case diary the investigator (PW-8) has recorded Pre-trial evidence of witnesses under Section 161 Cr.P.C. which tend to prove the last seen evidence and appellant's leaving the house after incident in perplexed condition etc. We again noticed that no witness of pre-trial statements under Section 161 Cr.P.C. is produced before the trial Court to prove such fact. The statements recorded under Section 161 Cr.P.C. are not substantial evidence to be taken into reliance unless they are deposed by the maker their of in trial before the judge so as to testify and subjected to cross-examination for judging the veracity. Hon'ble the Supreme Court in R. Shaji Vs. State of Kerala(Supra) has held about the evidentiary value of such statements:-

26. "Evidence given in a court under oath has great sanctity, which is why the same is called substantive evidence. Statements under Section 161 CrPC can be used only for the purpose of contradiction and statements under Section 164 CrPC can be used for both corroboration and contradiction. In a case where the Magistrate has to perform the duty of recording a statement under Section 164 CrPC, he is under an obligation to elicit all information which the witness wishes to disclose, as a witness who may be an illiterate, rustic villager may not be aware of the purpose for which he has been brought, and what he must disclose in his statements under Section 164 CrPC. Hence, the Magistrate should ask the witness explanatory questions and obtain all possible information in relation to the said case."

In view of the above we do not have any reason to look into the Pre-trial recorded evidence of witnesses who are not produced before the trial court for examination on oath in evidence.

95. In a case of defective investigation before Hon'ble the Supreme Court, namely Suresh Vs. State of Haryana31 where the circumstantial evidence which was led had gaps in between, it was held :-

54. "From the aforesaid circumstances, we may note that the hypothesis canvassed by the prosecution cannot be said to have been proved beyond reasonable doubt as there exist apparent gaps in the prosecution story, which are left incomplete or insufficiently proved. In Latesh v. State of Maharashtra [Latesh v. State of Maharashtra, (2018) 3 SCC 66 : (2018) 2 SCC (Cri) 235 : AIR 2018 SC 659] , this Court had observed that: (SCC p. 83, para 46)

"46. ... When you consider the facts, you have a reasonable doubt as to whether the matter is proved or whether it is not a reasonable doubt in this sense. The reasonableness of a doubt must be a practical one and not on an abstract theoretical hypothesis. Reasonableness is a virtue that forms as a mean between excessive caution and excessive indifference to a doubt."

56. We may note that every acquittal in a criminal case has to be taken with some seriousness by the investigating and prosecuting authorities, when a case of this nature is concerned. We are aware of the fact that there has been a death of a person in this incident and there is no finality to the aforesaid episode as it ends with various unanswered questions, which point fingers at the lack of disciplined investigation and prosecution. Although courts cannot give benefit of doubt to the accused for small errors committed during the investigation, we cannot however, turn a blind eye towards the investigative deficiencies which goes to the root of the matter."

96. We considered the reasoning given by learned trial judge for holding the accused-appellant guilty of committing murder on the basis of medical evidence, the testimonies of the complainant alongwith other prosecution witnesses and the adverse inference drawn from the absence of accused after the incident, not acceptable. The case is totally of circumstantial evidence but is foisted by the learned trial court as if a case of direct evidence, giving too much reliance on the evidence of PW-1, the complainant to whom we have held, 'not credible', in our earlier part of the judgment. It would be relevant to refer the golden rules of evidence that 'men may tell a lie, but the circumstances may not' which is squarely applicable in the instant case, therefore, we are unable to accept the narrative of the prosecution which stands on the complaint of Ram Gopal Verma as a gospel fruit. Thus the question no. (iii) & (iv) framed by us as point of determination in the appeal stand answered from the above discussion. Prosecution failed to prove it's case by producing best evidences without any justification. Further, the trial judge has misread the evidence on record and even omitted to read the evidence available on record. The impugned judgment is therefore suffering from material errors.

23. Examination of accused under Section 313 Cr.P.C., the Defence taken by the accused and explanation.

97. After recording the statements of prosecution witness the learned trial judge, in due discharge of it's mandatory duty, called the accused in person on 24.10.2016 under Section 313 (1) (b) of the Cr.P.C. to put before him every such pieces of evidence, which appears incriminatory and to seek his reply. The examination under this provision of the Cr.P.C. is a facultative examination which is done only after the cross-examination of witness is over. The outcome of the examination-in-chief and cross-examination of the prosecution witness with regard to a fact in issue or facts relevant thereto or as to surrounding circumstances relevant to the fact in issue are helpful not only for prosecution in proof of it's case as substantive evidence, but also for the accused, when any piece of such evidence lends support to his defence.

98. The appellant when was put the questions as to the evidence led in the trial with regard to his committing by administering poison, murder of his wife, son and mother for his alleged illicit relations with another woman, replied the same to be false implication made against him due to enimity. Likewise, he pleaded want of knowledge, when was asked about the evidence as to the death of the victims by poison and with regard to postmortem and viscera report. He answered to the questions relating to the FIR lodged by PW-1 registered by PW-6, investigation by PW-8, by saying that all are fictitious and fabricated for false implication. Lastly, when asked whether he want to say anything more, he replied 'yes' and stated in defence that he is falsely implicated by his father in law due to enimity. He further stated that on the relevant time of incident, he was in Delhi at the residence of his sister.

99. So far as the plea of the accused to be in Delhi at the time of incident is concerned it amounts 'plea of alibi'. The defence of false implication on the ground of enimity hatched by the complainant Ram Gopal Verma, as we have discussed earlier is proved by prosecution evidence itself. The evidence of PW-8 and PW-1 both tend to show that since a day back from the date of incident the appellant was not in 'Tanda' as he gone to Delhi. Therefore, both the defences taken by the accused has sufficiently been established from the prosecution evidence on record. The prosecution was heavily burdened to prove that the appellant was present in Tanda particularly in his house at the relevant date and time of the incident, which it could not prove by it's witnesses. This is a fact inconsistent with the fact in issue i.e. murder of victims by the accused committed in his house by giving them poison.

100. In the case of Binay Kumar Singh Vs. State of Bihar32, Hon'ble the Supreme Court observed with regard to plea of alibi as under:-

22. We must bear in mind that an alibi is not an exception (special or general) envisaged in the Penal Code, 1860 or any other law. It is only a rule of evidence recognised in Section 11 of the Evidence Act that facts which are inconsistent with the fact in issue are relevant. Illustration (a) given under the provision is worth reproducing in this context:

"The question is whether A committed a crime at Calcutta on a certain date; the fact that on that date, A was at Lahore is relevant."

23. The Latin word alibi means "elsewhere" and that word is used for convenience when an accused takes recourse to a defence line that when the occurrence took place he was so far away from the place of occurrence that it is extremely improbable that he would have participated in the crime. It is a basic law that in a criminal case, in which the accused is alleged to have inflicted physical injury to another person, the burden is on the prosecution to prove that the accused was present at the scene and has participated in the crime. The burden would not be lessened by the mere fact that the accused has adopted the defence of alibi. The plea of the accused in such cases need be considered only when the burden has been discharged by the prosecution satisfactorily. But once the prosecution succeeds in discharging the burden it is incumbent on the accused, who adopts the plea of alibi, to prove it with absolute certainty so as to exclude the possibility of his presence at the place of occurrence. When the presence of the accused at the scene of occurrence has been established satisfactorily by the prosecution through reliable evidence, normally the court would be slow to believe any counter-evidence to the effect that he was elsewhere when the occurrence happened. But if the evidence adduced by the accused is of such a quality and of such a standard that the court may entertain some reasonable doubt regarding his presence at the scene when the occurrence took place, the accused would, no doubt, be entitled to the benefit of that reasonable doubt. For that purpose, it would be a sound proposition to be laid down that, in such circumstances, the burden on the accused is rather heavy. It follows, therefore, that strict proof is required for establishing the plea of alibi. This Court has observed so on earlier occasions (vide Dudh Nath Pandey v.State of U.P. [(1981) 2 SCC 166 : 1981 SCC (Cri) 379] ; State of Maharashtrav. Narsingrao Gangaram Pimple [(1984) 1 SCC 446 : 1984 SCC (Cri) 109 : AIR 1984 SC 63] .

101. In Jumni and others Vs. State of Haryana33, Hon'ble the Supreme Court held that it is not as if the accused person is required to prove his innocence, in fact, it is for the prosecution to prove his guilt. It was further held in this case that:-

20. "It is no doubt true that when an alibi is set up, the burden is on the accused to lend credence to the defence put up by him or her. However, the approach of the court should not be such as to pick holes in the case of the accused person. The defence evidence has to be tested like any other testimony, always keeping in mind that a person is presumed innocent until he or she is found guilty."

102. In State of Kerala Vs. Anilachandran @ Madhu & Ors.(Supra), Hon'ble the Supreme Court held that:-

15. "The High Court has noticed that the crime was not committed in the manner as suggested by the prosecution and the genesis of the incident is not established. Even if a plea of alibi is set up by the accused and is discarded, that does not take away the duty of the prosecution to prove beyond reasonable doubt that the accused persons were guilty. It is certainly the duty of the persons who plead an alibi to prove it beyond reasonable doubt. Merely because the accused was not able to prove his defence, it cannot be presumed that the prosecution case is proved against him."

The learned trial Court has recorded it's observation in the judgment as to the failure of accused to prove that he was in Delhi at the relevant time of incident. On the basis of discussions made hereinabove, we hold the said observation in the light of evidences on record and facts of the case absolutely wrong and absurd, because it was the prosecution who had strict burden to prove the presence of accused in the house of incident on the relevant date and time of incident. The prosecution failed to discharge it's primary burden of proof under Section 101 of the Evidence Act, 1872.

103. The learned trial judge in the context of two proved facts, namely the death of the victims in dwelling house and cause of death being the administration of poison, has put the burden of explanation as to how the incident took place, on the appellant, by applying Section 106 of the Evidence Act, 1872. In doing so, learned trial judge failed to appreciate the evidence led by the prosecution that it has not discharged it's primary burden to prove the fact that the appellant was present at the relevant day and time of incident in the house of incident alongwith the deceased when they were alive. The learned trial judge though relied on the judgment delivered by Hon'ble the Apex Court in Trimukh Maroti Kirkan Vs. State of Maharashtra (Supra) but did not go through the rule of last seen evidence enshrined in it's para (22) which is as under:-

22. "Where an accused is alleged to have committed the murder of his wife and the prosecution succeeds in leading evidence to show that shortly before the commission of crime they were seen together or the offence takes place in the dwelling home where the husband also normally resided, it has been consistently held that if the accused does not offer any explanation how the wife received injuries or offers an explanation which is found to be false, it is a strong circumstance which indicates that he is responsible for commission of the crime. InNika Ramv.State of H.P.[(1972) 2 SCC 80 : 1972 SCC (Cri) 635 : AIR 1972 SC 2077] it was observed that the fact that the accused alone was with his wife in the house when she was murdered there with "khukhri" and the fact that the relations of the accused with her were strained would, in the absence of any cogent explanation by him, point to his guilt. InGaneshlalv.State of Maharashtra[(1992) 3 SCC 106 : 1993 SCC (Cri) 435] the appellant was prosecuted for the murder of his wife which took place inside his house. It was observed that when the death had occurred in his custody, the appellant is under an obligation o give a plausible explanation for the cause of her death in his statement under Section 313 CrPC. The mere denial of the prosecution case coupled with absence of any explanation was held to be inconsistent with the innocence of the accused, but consistent with the hypothesis that the appellant is a prime accused in the commission of murder of his wife. InState of U.P.v.Dr. Ravindra Prakash Mittal[(1992) 3 SCC 300 : 1992 SCC (Cri) 642 : AIR 1992 SC 2045] the medical evidence disclosed that the wife died of strangulation during late night hours or early morning and her body was set on fire after sprinkling kerosene. The defence of the husband was that the wife had committed suicide by burning herself and that he was not at home at that time. The letters written by the wife to her relatives showed that the husband ill-treated her and their relations were strained and further the evidence showed that both of them were in one room in the night. It was held that the chain of circumstances was complete and it was the husband who committed the murder of his wife by strangulation and accordingly this Court reversed the judgment of the High Court acquitting the accused and convicted him under Section 302 IPC. InState of T.N.v.Rajendran[(1999) 8 SCC 679 : 2000 SCC (Cri) 40] the wife was found dead in a hut which had caught fire. The evidence showed that the accused and his wife were seen together in the hut at about 9.00 p.m. and the accused came out in the morning through the roof when the hut had caught fire. His explanation was that it was a case of accidental fire which resulted in the death of his wife and a daughter. The medical evidence showed that the wife died due to asphyxia as a result of strangulation and not on account of burn injuries. It was held that there cannot be any hesitation to come to the conclusion that it was the accused (husband) who was the perpetrator of the crime."

104. There are three cardinal principles of criminal jurisprudence:-

(I) Right to fair trial as enshrined in Article 21 of Constitution of India.

(II) Presumption of innocence of the accused.

(III) Standard of proof which is beyond reasonable doubt in a criminal case.

Much has been discussed by us in the earlier part of the judgment about the right to fair trial and standard of proof beyond reasonable doubt in a criminal case. The general principle regarding the presumption of innocence of accused is reiterated by Hon'ble the Supreme Court in the case of Prem Kumar Gulati Vs. State of Haryana34, it is held that:-

15. "In Kali Ram v. State of H.P. [(1973) 2 SCC 808 : 1973 SCC (Cri) 1048 : AIR 1973 SC 2773], a three-Judge Bench of this Court elaborately discussed the mode of appreciation of evidence and the general principles regarding presumption of innocence of the accused. The Bench observed: (SCC pp. 820 & 821, paras 25 & 27)

"25. Another golden thread which runs through the web of the administration of justice in criminal cases is that if two views are possible on the evidence adduced in the case, one pointing to the guilt of the accused and the other to his innocence, the view which is favourable to the accused should be adopted. This principle has a special relevance in cases wherein the guilt of the accused is sought to be established by circumstantial evidence. Rule has accordingly been laid down that unless the evidence adduced in the case is consistent only with the hypothesis of the guilt of the accused and is inconsistent with that of his innocence, the Court should refrain from recording a finding of guilt of the accused. It is also an accepted rule that in case the Court entertains reasonable doubt regarding the guilt of the accused, the accused must have the benefit of that doubt. Of course, the doubt regarding the guilt of the accused should be reasonable; it is not the doubt of a mind which is either so vacillating that it is incapable of reaching a firm conclusion or so timid that is hesitant and afraid to take things to their natural consequences. The rule regarding the benefit of doubt also does not warrant acquittal of the accused by report to surmises, conjectures or fanciful considerations. As mentioned by us recently inState of Punjabv.Jagir Singh[(1974) 3 SCC 277 : 1973 SCC (Cri) 886] a criminal trial is not like a fairy tale wherein one is free to give flight to one's imagination and phantasy. It concerns itself with the question as to whether the accused arraigned at the trial is guilty of the offence with which he is charged. Crime is an event in real life and is the product of interplay of different human emotions. In arriving at the conclusion about the guilt of the accused charged with the commission of a crime, the Court has to judge the evidence by the yardstick of probabilities, its intrinsic worth and the animus of witnesses. Every case in the final analysis would have to depend upon its own facts. Although the benefit of every reasonable doubt should be given to the accused, the courts should not at the same time reject evidence which is ex facie trustworthy on grounds which are fanciful or in the nature of conjectures.

27. It is no doubt true that wrongful acquittals are undesirable and shake the confidence of the people in the judicial system, much worse, however, is the wrongful conviction of an innocent person. The consequences of the conviction of an innocent person are far more serious and its reverberations cannot but be felt in a civilised society. Suppose an innocent person is convicted of the offence of murder and is hanged, nothing further can undo the mischief for the wrong resulting from the unmerited conviction is irretrievable. To take another instance, if an innocent person is sent to jail and undergoes the sentence, the scars left by the miscarriage of justice cannot be erased by any subsequent act of expiation. Not many persons undergoing the pangs of wrongful conviction are fortunate like Dreyfus to have an Emile Zola to champion their cause and succeed in getting the verdict of guilt annulled. All this highlights the importance of ensuring, as far as possible, that there should be no wrongful conviction of an innocent person. Some risk of the conviction of the innocent, of course, is always there in any system of the administration of criminal justice. Such a risk can be minimised but not ruled out altogether.

105. On the basis of discussions made above, we are of considered opinion that in the instant case when the prosecution has failed to discharge it's initial burden to prove the fact primarily required to be proved necessarily for the application of Section 106 of the Evidence Act, 1872, the trial judge has erred in seeking explanation with regard to the fact how the victims died in the dwelling house by administration of poison. On the failure of prosecution to prove it's case beyond all reasonable doubt, the trial judge was in error to record conviction only on speculation, inferences and suspicion. At this juncture of discussions, it would be relevant to refer the judgment of Hon'ble the Supreme Court in the case of Jose @ Pappachan Vs. Sub Inspector of Police, Koyilandy and another(Supra). Where in the trial for murder, the wife was strangulated to death by husband and then hanged in his house. However, in the absence of any persuasive evidence to hold, that at the relevant time, appellant was present in his house, it is impermissible to cast any burden on him under Section 106 of the Evidence Act. It is held:-

52. "The evidence of the eyewitnesses when considered in conjunction with the testimony of the doctor does not link the appellant directly or indirectly with the actual act leading to the unnatural death of the deceased. In the absence of any persuasive evidence to hold that at the relevant time the appellant was present in the house, it would also be impermissible to cast any burden on him as contemplated under Section 106 of the Evidence Act. The consistent testimony of the appellant and his son to the effect that after alighting from the bus on their return from Potta, the deceased was made to accompany DW 1 back home while the appellant did go in search of labourers for works in his compound on the next day and that thereafter till the time DW 1 had departed for his ancestral house, the appellant did not return home, consolidates the defence plea of innocence of the appellant."

Further, it is held that how so ever strong may be the suspicion it can not take place of proof:-

56. It is a trite proposition of law, that suspicion however grave, it cannot take the place of proof and that the prosecution in order to succeed on a criminal charge cannot afford to lodge its case in the realm of "may be true" but has to essentially elevate it to the grade of "must be true". In a criminal prosecution, the court has a duty to ensure that mere conjectures or suspicion do not take the place of legal proof and in a situation where a reasonable doubt is entertained in the backdrop of the evidence available, to prevent miscarriage of justice, benefit of doubt is to be extended to the accused. Such a doubt essentially has to be reasonable and not imaginary, fanciful, intangible or non-existent but as entertainable by an impartial, prudent and analytical mind, judged on the touchstone of reason and common sense. It is also a primary postulation in criminal jurisprudence that if two views are possible on the evidence available, one pointing to the guilt of the accused and the other to his innocence, the one favourable to the accused ought to be adopted.

58. inalienable interface of presumption of innocence and the burden of proof in a criminal case on the prosecution has been succinctly expounded in the following passage from the treatise The Law of Evidence, 5th Edn. by Ian Dennis at p. 445:

"The presumption of innocence states that a person is presumed to be innocent until proven guilty. In one sense this simply restates in different language the rule that the burden of proof in a criminal case is on the prosecution to prove the defendant's guilt. As explained above, the burden of proof rule has a number of functions, one of which is to provide a rule of decision for the factfinder in a situation of uncertainty. Another function is to allocate the risk of misdecision in criminal trials.Because the outcome of wrongful conviction is regarded as a significantly worse harm than wrongful acquittal the rule is constructed so as to minimise the risk of the former. The burden of overcoming a presumption that the defendant is innocent therefore requires the state to prove the defendant's guilt."

59. The above quote thus seemingly concedes a preference to wrongful acquittal compared to the risk of wrongful conviction. Such is the abiding jurisprudential concern to eschew even the remotest possibility of unmerited conviction.

61. Addressing this aspect, however, is the following extract also from the same treatise The Law of Evidence, 5th Edn. by Ian Dennis at p. 483:

"Where the case against the accused depends wholly or partly on inferences from circumstantial evidence, factfinders cannot logically convict unless they are sure that inferences of guilt are the only ones that can reasonably be drawn. If they think that there are possible innocent explanations for circumstantial evidence that are not "merely fanciful", it must follow that there is a reasonable doubt about guilt. There is no rule, however, that judges must direct juries in terms not to convict unless they are sure that the evidence bears no other explanation than guilt. It is sufficient to direct simply that the burden on the prosecution is to satisfy the jury beyond reasonable doubt, or so that they are sure.

The very high standard of proof required in criminal cases minimises the risk of a wrongful conviction. It means that someone whom, on the evidence, the factfinder believes is "probably" guilty, or "likely" to be guilty will be acquitted, since these judgements of probability necessarily admit that the factfinder is not "sure".It is generally accepted that some at least of these acquittals will be of persons who are in fact guilty of the offences charged, and who would be convicted if the standard of proof were the lower civil standard of the balance of probabilities. Such acquittals are the price paid for the safeguard provided by the "beyond reasonable doubt" standard against wrongful conviction."

63. As recent as in Sujit Biswas v. State of Assam[Sujit Biswasv.State of Assam, (2013) 12 SCC 406 : (2014) 1 SCC (Cri) 677] , this Court also in the contextual facts constituting circumstantial evidence ruled that in judging the culpability of an accused, the circumstances adduced when collectively considered must lead to the only irresistible conclusion that the accused alone is the perpetrator of a crime in question and the circumstances established must be of a conclusive nature consistent only with the hypothesis of the guilt of the accused.

106. In the backdrop of above discussions we once again revert to the argument of learned Government Advocate justifying the order of conviction despite of the fact the same is passed in utter ignorance of the lapses, skipping of procedure and defective investigation done by the investigating agency in the instant case which created such large vacuums and holes in the prosecution case which become unrepairable. Though in Sheo Shankar Singh Vs. State of Jharkhand and anothers35, it is held:-

54. ".....Deficiencies in investigation by way of omissions and lapses on the part of investigating agency cannot in themselves justify a total rejection of the prosecution case."

Hon'ble the Supreme Court has again in the case of Surajit Sarkar Vs. State of West Bengal36, has addressed the issue and held that:-

49. "We are not prepared to accept as a broad proposition of law that in no case can defective or shoddy investigations lead to an acquittal. It would eventually depend on the defects pointed out. If the investigation results in the real culprit of an offence not being identified, then acquittal of the accused must follow. It would not be permissible to ignore the defects in an investigation and hold an innocent person guilty of an offence which he has not committed. The investigation must be precise and focused and must lead to the inevitable conclusion that the accused has committed the crime. If the investigating officer leaves glaring loopholes in the investigation, the defence would be fully entitled to exploit the lacunae. In such a situation, it would not be correct for the prosecution to argue that the court should gloss over the gaps and find the accused person guilty. If this were permitted in law, the prosecution could have an innocent person put behind bars on trumped up charges. Clearly, this is impermissible and this is not what this Court has said."

107. The aforesaid view of Hon'ble the Supreme Court has again reflected in the case of Suresh Vs. State of Haryana(Supra), it is held that:-

54. From the aforesaid circumstances, we may note that the hypothesis canvassed by the prosecution cannot be said to have been proved beyond reasonable doubt as there exist apparent gaps in the prosecution story, which are left incomplete or insufficiently proved. InLateshv.State of Maharashtra[Lateshv.State of Maharashtra, (2018) 3 SCC 66 : (2018) 2 SCC (Cri) 235 : AIR 2018 SC 659] , this Court had observed that: (SCC p. 83, para 46)

"46. ... When you consider the facts, you have a reasonable doubt as to whether the matter is proved or whether it is not a reasonable doubt in this sense. The reasonableness of a doubt must be a practical one and not on an abstract theoretical hypothesis. Reasonableness is a virtue that forms as a mean between excessive caution and excessive indifference to a doubt."

55. In view of this proposition, we accept that there is no direct evidence which led the prosecution to clearly prove that the deceased was shot at Adarsh Nagar in Hisar. Even the circumstantial evidence which is led, has gaps in between. In the narration above, there is a big hiatus between the time the accused left the village and the appellant-accused were seen in the hospital, at Hisar. Neither the intermediate facts are established with certainty, nor is the case as a whole established beyond reasonable doubt.

56. We may note that every acquittal in a criminal case has to be taken with some seriousness by the investigating and prosecuting authorities, when a case of this nature is concerned. We are aware of the fact that there has been a death of a person in this incident and there is no finality to the aforesaid episode as it ends with various unanswered questions, which point fingers at the lack of disciplined investigation and prosecution. Although courts cannot give benefit of doubt to the accused for small errors committed during the investigation, we cannot however, turn a blind eye towards the investigative deficiencies which goes to the root of the matter.

58. We have considered the reasoning of the court below in this case, which we accept. Although this case was foisted to be a case of direct evidence, there is no credibility in the statements of the appellant-accused as the surrounding circumstances have shown, as already indicated in the earlier parts of the judgment, to be against them. We may note the golden rule of evidence that "men may tell a lie, but the circumstances do not", which is squarely applicable in this case at hand. Therefore, we cannot also accept the narrative of the appellant-accused in the other appeals, as a gospel truth.

108. We would not refrain ourselves from referring the decision of Hon'ble the Supreme Court which provides guidance as to the standard required when circumstantial evidence is made basis of the conviction and the approach required in appreciation of evidence by trial court. In the case of R. Shaji Vs. State of Kerala(Supra). It is held that:-

40. It is a settled legal proposition that the conviction of a person accused of committing an offence is generally based solely on evidence that is either oral or documentary, but in exceptional circumstances, such conviction may also be based solely on circumstantial evidence. For this to happen, the prosecution must establish its case beyond reasonable doubt, and cannot derive any strength from the weaknesses in the defence put up by the accused. However, a false defence may be brought to notice only to lend assurance to the court as regards the various links in the chain of circumstantial evidence, which are in themselves complete. The circumstances on the basis of which the conclusion of guilt is to be drawn, must be fully established. The same must be of a conclusive nature, and must exclude all possible hypothesis except the one to be proved. Facts so established must be consistent with the hypothesis of the guilt of the accused, and the chain of evidence must be complete, so as not to leave any reasonable ground for a conclusion consistent with the innocence of the accused, and must further show, that in all probability the said offence must have been committed by the accused. (VideSharad Birdhichand Sardav.State of Maharashtra[(1984) 4 SCC 116 : 1984 SCC (Cri) 487 : AIR 1984 SC 1622] andParamjeet Singhv.State of Uttarakhand[(2010) 10 SCC 439 : (2011) 1 SCC (Cri) 98] .)

61. Be that as it may, when a statement is recorded in court, and the witness speaks under oath, after he understands the sanctity of the oath taken by him either in the name of God or religion, it is then left to the court to appreciate his evidence under Section 3 of the Evidence Act. The Judge must consider whether a prudent man would appreciate such evidence, and not appreciate the same in accordance with his own perception. The basis for appreciating evidence in a civil or criminal case remains the same. However, in view of the fact that in a criminal case, the life and liberty of a person is involved, by way of judicial interpretation, courts have created the requirement of a high degree of proof."

109. Again in Dharam Deo Yadav Vs. State of Uttar Pradesh37, Hon'ble the Supreme Court held that:-

15. "We have no eyewitness version in the instant case and the entire case rests upon the circumstantial evidence. Circumstantial evidence is evidence of relevant facts from which, one can, by process of reasoning, infer about the existence of facts in issue or factum probandum. InHanumant Govind Nargundkarv.State of M.P.[AIR 1952 SC 343 : 1953 Cri LJ 129] , this Court held as follows: (AIR pp. 345-46, para 10)

"10. ... It is well to remember that in cases where the evidence is of a circumstantial nature, the circumstances from which the conclusion of guilt is to be drawn should in the first instance be fully established and all the facts so established should be consistent only with the hypothesis of the guilt of the accused. Again, the circumstances should be of a conclusive nature and tendency and they should be such as to exclude every hypothesis but the one proposed to be proved. In other words, there must be a chain of evidence so far complete as not to leave any reasonable ground for a conclusion consistent with the innocence of the accused and it must be such as to show that within all human probability the act must have been done by the accused."

Each and every incriminating circumstance must be clearly established by reliable and clinching evidence and the circumstances so proved must form a chain of events from which the only irresistible conclusion about the guilt of the accused can be safely drawn and no other hypothesis against the guilt is possible. Even when there is no eyewitness to support the criminal charge, but prosecution has been able to establish the chain of circumstances which is complete leading to inference of guilt of accused and circumstances taken collectively are incapable of explanation on any reasonable hypothesis save of guilt sought to be proved, the accused may be convicted on the basis of such circumstantial evidence."

110. In Tanviben Pankajkumar Divetia Vs. State of Gujarat38, Hon'ble the Supreme Court has held that:-

44. "The Court has drawn adverse inference against the accused for making false statement as recorded under Section 313 of the Code of Criminal Procedure. In view of our findings, it cannot be held that the accused made false statements. Even if it is assumed that the accused had made false statements when examined under Section 313 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, the law is well settled that the falsity of the defence cannot take the place of proof of facts which the prosecution has to establish in order to succeed. A false plea may be considered as an additional circumstance if other circumstances proved and established point out the guilt of the accused. In this connection, reference may be made to the decision of this Court inShankarlal Gyarasilal Dixitv.State of Maharashtra[(1981) 2 SCC 35 : 1981 SCC (Cri) 315 : AIR 1981 SC 765] .

45. The principle for basing a conviction on the basis of circumstantial evidences has been indicated in a number of decisions of this Court and the law is well settled that each and every incriminating circumstance must be clearly established by reliable and clinching evidence and the circumstances so proved must form a chain of events from which the only irresistible conclusion about the guilt of the accused can be safely drawn and no other hypothesis against the guilt is possible. This Court has clearly sounded a note of caution that in a case depending largely upon circumstantial evidence, there is always a danger that conjecture or suspicion may take the place of legal proof. The Court must satisfy itself that various circumstances in the chain of events have been established clearly and such completed chain of events must be such as to rule out a reasonable likelihood of the innocence of the accused. It has also been indicated that when the important link goes, the chain of circumstances gets snapped and the other circumstances cannot, in any manner, establish the guilt of the accused beyond all reasonable doubts. It has been held thatthe Court has to be watchful and avoid the danger of allowing the suspicion to take the place of legal proof for sometimes, unconsciously it may happen to be a short step between moral certainty and legal proof. It has been indicated by this Court that there is a long mental distance between "may be true" and "must be true" and the same divides conjectures from sure conclusions. (Jaharlal Dasv.State of Orissa[(1991) 3 SCC 27 : 1991 SCC (Cri) 527])

46. We may indicate here that more the suspicious circumstances, more care and caution is required to be taken otherwise the suspicious circumstances may unwittingly enter the adjudicating thought process of the court even though the suspicious circumstances had not been clearly established by clinching and reliable evidences. It appears to us that in this case, the decision of the Court in convicting the appellant has been the result of the suspicious circumstances entering the adjudicating thought process of the Court."

24. Death Sentence

111. Amazing enough, the learned trial judge in the instant case which is based solely on circumstantial evidence and the prosecution remained unsuccessful in proving it's case beyond all reasonable doubt, instead of recording acquittal, not only recorded conviction on the basis of erroneously drawn adverse inference of guilt has also awarded him sentence of capital punishment "the Death Penalty". Before proceeding with discussion on the issue of justification of 'Death penalty', we would think it relevant to state what we noticed about the authoring of the impugned judgment. The arguments and rival contentions alongwith the reference of the judgments of Hon'ble the Supreme Court are cited, but so far as the conclusion is concerned that is recorded abruptly without recording logical and sound reasons. In Main Pal and another Vs. State of Haryana and others,39 it is held that:-

10. "On a bare perusal of the trial court's judgment one thing is patently noticeable. The trial court has merely referred to the arguments advanced and has then come to abrupt conclusions without even indicating any plausible or relevant reasons therefor. Merely coming to a conclusion without any objective analysis relating to acceptability or otherwise of the rival stands does not serve any useful purpose in adjudicating a case. The trial court was required to analyse the evidence, consider the submissions and then come to an independent decision after analysing the evidence, the submissions and the materials on record. Since the trial court had not pragmatically analysed the evidence, and had given abrupt conclusions, that itself made the judgment vulnerable. Further, several aspects which the trial court found to be of significance were really arrived at hypothetically and on surmises. Merely because the evidence of PW 2 shows that he acted in an unnatural manner, that per se would not be a determinative factor to throw out the otherwise cogent prosecution evidence. The High Court on the other hand has considered in great detail the evidence of the witnesses. It has come to a positive finding that PW 1 was in a position to identify the accused persons. Some of the pleas now advanced were also not taken up before the courts below, for example, non-examination of the pellets/wads by the Forensic Science Laboratory. On considering the evidence on record, pragmatically one thing is clear that the High Court after analysing the evidence in great detail, was justified in treating the trial court's judgment to be practically unreasoned.

25. Justification of Death Penalty

112. Hon'ble the Supreme Court considering the law laid down in Machhi Singh and others Vs. State of Punjab40 and in Bachan Singh Vs. State of Punjab41 has reiterated in the case of Shivaji Vs. State of Maharashtra alias Dadya Shankar Alhat Vs. State of Maharashtra42. Hon'ble the Supreme Court has discussed the proportionality object and considerations involved in awarding Death sentence in para 25 & 26, which are quoted as under:-

25. "9. The law regulates social interests, arbitrates conflicting claims and demands. Security of persons and property of the people is an essential function of the State. It could be achieved through instrumentality of criminal law. Undoubtedly, there is a cross-cultural conflict where living law must find answer to the new challenges and the courts are required to mould the sentencing system to meet the challenges. The contagion of lawlessness would undermine social order and lay it in ruins. Protection of society and stamping out criminal proclivity must be the object of law which must be achieved by imposing appropriate sentence. Therefore, law as a cornerstone of the edifice of ''order' should meet the challenges confronting the society. Friedman in hisLaw in Changing Societystated that: ''State of criminal law continues to be--as it should be--a decisive reflection of social consciousness of society.' Therefore, in operating the sentencing system, law should adopt the corrective machinery or the deterrence based on factual matrix. By deft modulation sentencing process be stern where it should be, and tempered with mercy where it warrants to be. The facts and given circumstances in each case, the nature of the crime, the manner in which it was planned and committed, the motive for commission of the crime, the conduct of the accused, the nature of weapons used and all other attending circumstances are relevant facts which would enter into the area of consideration. For instance a murder committed due to deep-seated mutual and personal rivalry may not call for penalty of death. But an organised crime or mass murders of innocent people would call for imposition of death sentence as deterrence. InMaheshv.State of M.P.[(1987) 3 SCC 80 : 1987 SCC (Cri) 379 : (1987) 2 SCR 710] , this Court while refusing to reduce the death sentence observed thus: (SCC p. 82, para 6)

''[I]t will be a mockery of justice to permit these appellants [the accused] to escape the extreme penalty of law when faced with such evidence and such cruel acts. To give the lesser punishment for the accused would be to render the justicing system of this country suspect. The common man will lose faith in courts. In such cases, he understands and appreciates the language of deterrence more than the reformative jargon.'

10. Therefore, undue sympathy to impose inadequate sentence would do more harm to the justice system to undermine the public confidence in the efficacy of law and society could not long endure under such serious threats. It is, therefore, the duty of every court to award proper sentence having regard to the nature of the offence and the manner in which it was executed or committed, etc. This position was illuminatingly stated by this Court inSevaka Perumalv.State of T.N.[(1991) 3 SCC 471 : 1991 SCC (Cri) 724 : AIR 1991 SC 1463]

11. The criminal law adheres in general to the principle of proportionality in prescribing liability according to the culpability of each kind of criminal conduct. It ordinarily allows some significant discretion to the Judge in arriving at a sentence in each case, presumably to permit sentences that reflect more subtle considerations of culpability that are raised by the special facts of each case. Judges in essence affirm that punishment ought always to fit the crime; yet in practice sentences are determined largely by other considerations. Sometimes it is the correctional needs of the perpetrator that are offered to justify a sentence. Sometimes the desirability of keeping him out of circulation, and sometimes even the tragic results of his crime. Inevitably these considerations cause a departure from just desert as the basis of punishment and create cases of apparent injustice that are serious and widespread.

12. Proportion between crime and punishment is a goal respected in principle, and in spite of errant notions, it remains a strong influence in the determination of sentences. The practice of punishing all serious crimes with equal severity is now unknown in civilised societies, but such a radical departure from the principle of proportionality has disappeared from the law only in recent times. Even now for a single grave infraction drastic sentences are imposed. Anything less than a penalty of greatest severity for any serious crime is thought then to be a measure of toleration that is unwarranted and unwise. But in fact, quite apart from those considerations that make punishment unjustifiable when it is out of proportion to the crime, uniformly disproportionate punishment has some very undesirable practical consequences.

13. After giving due consideration to the facts and circumstances of each case, for deciding just and appropriate sentence to be awarded for an offence, the aggravating and mitigating factors and circumstances in which a crime has been committed are to be delicately balanced on the basis of really relevant circumstances in a dispassionate manner by the court. Such act of balancing is indeed a difficult task. It has been very aptly indicated inDennis Councle McGauthav.State of California[402 US 183 : 28 L Ed 2d 711 (1970)] : that no formula of a foolproof nature is possible that would provide a reasonable criterion in determining a just and appropriate punishment in the infinite variety of circumstances that may affect the gravity of the crime. In the absence of any foolproof formula which may provide any basis for reasonable criteria to correctly assess various circumstances germane to the consideration of gravity of crime, the discretionary judgment in the facts of each case, is the only way in which such judgment may be equitably distinguished.

14. In Jashubha Bharatsinh Gohilv.State of Gujarat[(1994) 4 SCC 353 : 1994 SCC (Cri) 1193] it has been held by this Court that in the matter of death sentence, the courts are required to answer new challenges and mould the sentencing system to meet these challenges. The object should be to protect the society and to deter the criminal in achieving the avowed object of law by imposing appropriate sentence. It is expected that the courts would operate the sentencing system so as to impose such sentence which reflects the conscience of the society and the sentencing process has to be stern where it should be. Even though the principles were indicated in the background of death sentence and life sentence, the logic applies to all cases where appropriate sentence is the issue.

15. Imposition of sentence without considering its effect on the social order in many cases may be in reality a futile exercise. The social impact of the crime e.g. where it relates to offences against women, dacoity, kidnapping, misappropriation of public money, treason and other offences involving moral turpitude or moral delinquency which have great impact on social order, and public interest, cannot be lost sight of and per se require exemplary treatment. Any liberal attitude by imposing meagre sentences or taking too sympathetic view merely on account of lapse of time in respect of such offences will be resultwise counterproductive in the long run and against societal interest which needs to be cared for and strengthened by string of deterrence inbuilt in the sentencing system.

16. In Dhananjoy Chatterjeev.State of W.B.[(1994) 2 SCC 220 : 1994 SCC (Cri) 358] this Court has observed that a shockingly large number of criminals go unpunished thereby increasingly encouraging the criminals and in the ultimate, making justice suffer by weakening the system's creditability. The imposition of appropriate punishment is the manner in which the court responds to the society's cry for justice against the criminal. Justice demands that courts should impose punishment befitting the crime so that the courts reflect public abhorrence of the crime. The court must not only keep in view the rights of the criminal but also the rights of the victim of the crime and the society at large while considering the imposition of appropriate punishment.

17. Similar view has also been expressed inRavjiv.State of Rajasthan[(1996) 2 SCC 175 : 1996 SCC (Cri) 225] . It has been held in the said case that it is the nature and gravity of the crime but not the criminal, which are germane for consideration of appropriate punishment in a criminal trial. The court will be failing in its duty if appropriate punishment is not awarded for a crime which has been committed not only against the individual victim but also against the society to which the criminal and victim belong. The punishment to be awarded for a crime must not be irrelevant but it should conform to and be consistent with the atrocity and brutality with which the crime has been perpetrated, the enormity of the crime warranting public abhorrence and it should ''respond to the society's cry for justice against the criminal'. If for extremely heinous crime of murder perpetrated in a very brutal manner without any provocation, most deterrent punishment is not given, the case of deterrent punishment will lose its relevance."

These aspects have been elaborated inState of M.P.v.Munna Choubey[(2005) 2 SCC 710 : 2005 SCC (Cri) 559] , SCC pp. 714-17, paras 9-17.

26. "5. InBachan Singhv.State of Punjab[(1980) 2 SCC 684 : 1980 SCC (Cri) 580] a Constitution Bench of this Court at para 132 summed up the position as follows: (SCC p. 729)

''132. To sum up, the question whether or not death penalty serves any penological purpose is a difficult, complex and intractable issue. It has evoked strong, divergent views. For the purpose of testing the constitutionality of the impugned provision as to death penalty in Section 302, Penal Code on the ground of reasonableness in the light of Articles 19 and 21 of the Constitution, it is not necessary for us to express any categorical opinion, one way or the other, as to which of these two antithetical views, held by the Abolitionists and Retentionists, is correct. It is sufficient to say that the very fact that persons of reason, learning and light are rationally and deeply divided in their opinion on this issue, is a ground among others, for rejecting the petitioners' argument that retention of death penalty in the impugned provision, is totally devoid of reason and purpose. If, notwithstanding the view of the Abolitionists to the contrary, a very large segment of people, the world over, including sociologists, legislators, jurists, judges and administrators still firmly believe in the worth and necessity of capital punishment for the protection of society, if in the perspective of prevailing crime conditions in India, contemporary public opinion channelised through the people's representatives in Parliament, has repeatedly in the last three decades, rejected all attempts, including the one made recently, to abolish or specifically restrict the area of death penalty, if death penalty is still a recognised legal sanction for murder or some types of murder in most of the civilised countries in the world, if the framers of the Indian Constitution were fully aware--as we shall presently show they were--of the existence of death penalty as punishment for murder, under the Penal Code, if the thirty-fifth Report and subsequent reports of the Law Commission suggesting retention of death penalty, and recommending revision of the Criminal Procedure Code and the insertion of the new Sections 235(2) and 354(3) in that Code providing for pre-sentence hearing and sentencing procedure on conviction for murder and other capital offences were before Parliament and presumably considered by it when in 1972-1973 it took up revision of the Code of 1898 and replaced it by the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973, it is not possible to hold that the provision of death penalty as an alternative punishment for murder, in Section 302, Penal Code is unreasonable and not in the public interest. We would, therefore, conclude that the impugned provision in Section 302, violates neither the letter nor the ethos of Article 19."

6. Similarly, inMachhi Singhv.State of Punjab[(1983) 3 SCC 470 : 1983 SCC (Cri) 681] in para 38 the position was summed up as follows: (SCC p. 489)

''38. In this background the guidelines indicated inBachan Singh case[(1980) 2 SCC 684 : 1980 SCC (Cri) 580] will have to be culled out and applied to the facts of each individual case where the question of imposing of death sentence arises. The following propositions emerge fromBachan Singh case[(1980) 2 SCC 684 : 1980 SCC (Cri) 580] :

(i) The extreme penalty of death need not be inflicted except in gravest cases of extreme culpability.

(ii) Before opting for the death penalty the circumstances of the "offender" also require to be taken into consideration along with the circumstances of the "crime".

(iii) Life imprisonment is the rule and death sentence is an exception. In other words death sentence must be imposed only when life imprisonment appears to be an altogether inadequate punishment having regard to the relevant circumstances of the crime, and provided, and only provided, the option to impose sentence of imprisonment for life cannot be conscientiously exercised having regard to the nature and circumstances of the crime and all the relevant circumstances.

(iv) A balance sheet of aggravating and mitigating circumstances has to be drawn up and in doing so the mitigating circumstances have to be accorded full weightage and a just balance has to be struck between the aggravating and the mitigating circumstances before the option is exercised.'

7. The position was again reiterated inDevender Pal Singhv.State of NCT of Delhi[(2002) 5 SCC 234 : 2002 SCC (Cri) 978] : (SCC p. 271, para 58)

''58. FromBachan Singh case[(1980) 2 SCC 684 : 1980 SCC (Cri) 580] andMachhi Singh case[(1983) 3 SCC 470 : 1983 SCC (Cri) 681] the principle culled out is that when the collective conscience of the community is so shocked, that it will expect the holders of the judicial power centre to inflict death penalty irrespective of their personal opinion as regards desirability or otherwise of retaining death penalty, the same can be awarded. It was observed:

The community may entertain such sentiment in the following circumstances:

(1) When the murder is committed in an extremely brutal, grotesque, diabolical, revolting, or dastardly manner so as to arouse intense and extreme indignation of the community.

(2) When the murder is committed for a motive which evinces total depravity and meanness; e.g. murder by hired assassin for money or reward; or cold-blooded murder for gains of a person vis-à-vis whom the murderer is in a dominating position or in a position of trust; or murder is committed in the course for betrayal of the motherland.

(3) When murder of a member of a Scheduled Caste or minority community, etc. is committed not for personal reasons but in circumstances which arouse social wrath; or in cases of "bride burning" or "dowry deaths" or when murder is committed in order to remarry for the sake of extracting dowry once again or to marry another woman on account of infatuation.

(4) When the crime is enormous in proportion. For instance when multiple murders, say of all or almost all the members of a family or a large number of persons of a particular caste, community, or locality, are committed.

(5) When the victim of murder is an innocent child, or a helpless woman or old or infirm person or a person vis-à-vis whom the murderer is in a dominating position, or a public figure generally loved and respected by the community.'

If upon taking an overall global view of all the circumstances in the light of the aforesaid propositions and taking into account the answers to the questions posed by way of the test for the rarest of rare cases, the circumstances of the case are such that death sentence is warranted, the court would proceed to do so.

8. What is culled out from the decisions noted above is that while deciding the question as to whether the extreme penalty of death sentence is to be awarded, a balance sheet of aggravating and mitigating circumstances has to be drawn up." [Ed.: As observed inUnion of Indiav.Devendra Nath Rai, (2006) 2 SCC 243 at pp. 247-49, paras 5-8.]

113. In the backdrop of the discussions made above, we are of considered opinion that the judgment regarding conviction of the accused, impugned in Criminal Appeal No.358 of 2017 is not sustainable in the eye of law and therefore, is liable to be set aside. Consequent thereupon, the sentence of death punishment awarded to the appellant is also liable to be reversed.

114. The prosecution has failed to prove it's case beyond all reasonable doubt, the appellant is entitled to be given benefit of doubt and as such, deserves to be acquitted of the charges leveled against him.

2. Surajpal Singh & ors. Vs St. of Punjab, AIR 1952 SC 52

(Delivered by Hon'ble Virendra Kumar Srivastava, J.)

The instant appeal has been filed against the judgment and order dated 06.02.1981, passed by the IInd Additional Sessions Judge, Bahraich, in S.T. No. 417 of 1979 (State vs. Awadh Ram and others), arising out of the Case Crime No. 43 of 1979, under Section-396 IPC, Police Station (in short P.S.) Sonwa, District-Bahraich whereby respondents-accused (hereinafter referred to as 'the respondents,) Awadh Ram, Piarey, Chhotey, Gaya Prasad, Jhabbar, Kallan, Azeem Sain, Bharosey and Hari Ram have been acquitted by the trial Court from the charge for offence under Section 396 IPC.

2. The brief facts, arising out of this appeal, are that Awadh Ram, (Pw-1), informant, resident of village Majhawwa Bujurg, P.S.- Sonwa, District Bahraich, lodged first information report (in short FIR) (Ext. Ka-1), on 03.7.1979 at 6.40 A.M., stating therein that in the intervening night of 2/3 July, 1979, he, his father Samaydin, brother Faren and other family members were sleeping outside his house whereas the ladies were sleeping inside the house. A lantern was emitting light on the Darawaja (outer door of Court-yard) of the house. At about 00.30 A.M., 18-20 dacoits appeared at his house and as they dashed the door, he and other family members, sleeping outside the house, got-up. It is further stated that when the informant (Pw-1) and his other family members asked about the identity of the dacoits , they started to beat them by Lathi- Danda and by removing the Tatia (temporary partition made by gross and wood), they, armed with Lathi, Danda, Pistol, Gun, Ballam and Torches, entered into his house . Informant (Pw-1) and his family members raised alarm whereupon Faquirey (Pw-5), Munna (not examined), Pahalwan (not examined), Ashok Kumar (not examined), Ram Adhar (not examined) Daya Ram (not examined), deceased Ram Sumiran , Autar (not examined) and other co-villagers came with Torches, Lathi, Danda and Beroo. Ashok Kumar put fire on Jhakhar (heap of Chara) which emitted sufficient light to identify the dacoits. It is further stated in FIR that dacoits started fire with gun and country made pistol which caused injury to Samaydin, Smt. Dulara (wife of informant), and Ram Sumiran and they died on the spot. Since the dacoits were bent upon to kill so many people of the village, the villagers challenged the dacoits and attacked upon them with Lathi, Danda, Beroo , brick and stones; one dacoit was caught and died on the spot, due to injuries caused by the villagers, crying Sardar- Sardar and some dacoits had also got serious injuries in counter attack. It is further stated that dacoits remained at the place of occurrence about half-an-hour and looted the house of Chhotey Lal (not examined), Ram Autar (not examined) and Maya Ram (not examined), besides the house of informant and thereafter they escaped from the place of occurrence towards western side of the village after looting the jewelery and cash. It is further stated in FIR that Faquirey (Pw-5),Munna Lal(not examined) and Sarojini (not examined) also got serious injuries, caused by dacoits and they had been sent to Sadar Hospital, Bahraich for treatment . It is further stated that dacoits had been identified in the light of torches, lantern and light emitted from burning of Jhakhar.

3. On the basis of the said information, the Chik report (Ext.-Ka 4) was prepared, a case was registered on report No.9 at 06.40 A.M. on 03.07.2019 (Ext. Ka-5) and investigation of the case was entrusted to Sub Inspector (In short S.I). Sukh Sagar Singh (Pw-7) who rushed to the place of occurrence, inspected the dead body of Samaydin, Smt. Dulara Devi, Ram Sumiran and unknown dacoits, prepared inquest memo of the dead bodies and other relevant papers (Ext. Ka-6 to Ext. Ka-17), required for post-mortem examination,sent the dead bodies to District Hospital Baharich for post-mortum examination, recorded the statement of Awadh Ram (Pw-1), Budh Sagar (Pw-2), Tula Ram (Pw-3), Devesh Kumar (Pw-4), Faquirey (Pw-5) and other witnesses, inspected the place of occurrence and prepared site plan (Ext.Ka-18), took the sample of blood stained and plane earth, a pair of Sandle, one shoe, empty cartridges, ashes of burnt Jhakhar from the place of occurrence , inspected the lantern and torches and prepared memo (Ext. Ka-19 to Ext.Ka-25). Meanwhile the investigation was undertaken by Station Officer Sonwa, S.I. Rana Pratap Singh (Pw-9) on 05.07.1979 who arrested the respondent Awadh Ram and also sent instructions to S.I. T.N. Singh (Pw-8) of Police Station Hardi for arrest of other respondents. S.I. Ram Nagina Singh (Pw-6) arrested respondents Hari Ram, Azeem Sain and Bharosey, S.I. T.N. Singh (Pw-8) arrested respondents Tej Bahadur, Gaya Prasad, Chhotey, S.I. Shyam Nath Singh (Pw-10) arrested respondent Kallan, S.I. Mehndi Hasan (Pw-13) arrested respondent Jhabbar, and Constable(In short Const.) Daya Shanker (Pw-16) arrested respondent Piarey.

4. After arrest of respondents, S.I. Rana Pratap Singh (Pw-9) also sent a report for Test Identification Parade (in short "TIP'). Upon such report, TIP of thirteen person namely Awadh Ram, Piarey , Chhotey, Gaya Prasad, Jhabbar, Kallan, Azeem Sain, Bharosey, Hari Ram Tej Bahadur, Lalji , Jhabbar @ Rafeeq and Kirau , was conducted in District Jail Bahraich on 26.07.1979 before Ram Achhaibar Singh (Pw-14), Extra Magistrate Bahraich, by Awadh Ram (Pw-1), Budh Sagar (Pw-2), Tula Ram (Pw-3), Devesh Kumar (Pw-4), Faquirey (Pw-5), Amerika (not examined), Ramadhar (not examined), Ramavtar (not examined) and Pahalwan (not examined). Awadh Ram (Pw-1) identified six respondents Awadh Ram, Piarey, Gaya Prasad, Jhabbar, Kallan, and Hari Ram and one accused Tej Bahadur (since deceased). Budh Sagar (Pw-2) identified six respondents Awadh Ram, Piarey, Chhotey, Gaya Prasad, Jhabbar, and Kallan. Tula Ram (Pw-3) identified three respondents Chhotey, Jhabbar, Kallan including one accused Tej Bahadur (since deceased). Devesh Kumar (Pw-4) identified all the respondents including one accused Tej Bahadur (since deceased). Faquirey (Pw-5) identified five respondents Awadh Ram, Piarey, Chhotey Lal, Gaya Prasad and Jhabbar and one accused Tej Bahadur (since deceased). Pw-14, on the performance of the witnesses, prepared TIP report (Ext.-34). After investigation, PW-9 submitted a charge sheet (Ext. Ka- 28) only against the respondents Awadh Ram, Piarey, Chhotey Lal, Gaya Prasad, Jhabbar, Kallan, Azeem Sain, Bharosey, Hari Ram including accused Tej Bahadur, Lalji , Jhabbar@ Rafeeq and Kirau before the competent Magistrate, who, since the offence was exclusively triable by the Court of Session, after providing the copies of relevant documents in view of Section 207 of Code of Criminal Procedure 1973 (in short Code), committed the case for trial to the Court of Session Judge, Bahraich.

5. Learned counsel appearing for the State and defence were heard at the stage of framing of charge by the trial Court ; Lalji , Jhabbar @ Rafeeq and Kirau were discharged whereas charge was framed against respondents including one accused Tej Bahadur, who died during trial.

6. In order to prove its case, the prosecution examined Awadh Ram (Pw-1), Budh Sagar (Pw-2), Tula Ram (Pw-3), Devesh Kumar (Pw-4), Faquirey (Pw-5),

S.I. Ram Nagina Singh (Pw-6), Sukh Sagar (Pw-7), S.I. T.N. Singh (Pw-8), S.I. Rana Pratap Singh (Pw-9), S.I. Shyam Nath Singh (Pw-10), Const. Govinda Prasad Awasthi (Pw-11), Const. Brij Mohan Pathak (Pw-12), Const. Mehndi Hasan (Pw-13), Ram Achhaibar Singh (Pw-14), Const. Ashok Kumar Singh (Pw-15) and Const. Dayashankar Singh (Pw-16). Awadh Ram (Pw-1); Budh Sagar (Pw-2); Tula Ram (Pw-3), Devesh Kumar (Pw-4) and Faquirey (Pw-5) are witnesses of fact as well as eye-witnesses whereas rest witnesses are formal witness.

7. After conclusion of prosecution evidence, statement of respondents were recorded under Section 313 of the Code wherein they denied the prosecution story and stated that they had been falsely implicated. They further stated that they were arrested from their houses; their photographs were taken in the police station; prosecution witnesses already knew them and they were shown to the prosecution witnesses prior to TIP. Respondent Awadh Ram further stated that Awadh Ram, Tula Ram, Devesh Kumar, Pahalwan, Budh Sagar (Pw-1 to Pw-5) respectively, already were knowing him prior to alleged incident as his maternal uncle Kandhai Lal (Cw-1) resides in village Manjhawa Bujurg who was neighbour of the informant Awadh Ram (Pw-1) and other prosecution witnesses. He further stated that a second daughter of CW-1 was married with his elder brother and since no one was available to look after the agricultural farming of Kandhai Lal, he used to look after his farming, Awadh Ram (Pw-1) used to quarrel with Khandhai Lal (Cw-1) and falsely implicated him.

8. Respondent-Chhotey further stated that he is relative of respondent Awadh Ram; Kandhai (Cw-1) who is in-laws of respondent Awadh Ram , resides in village Manjhawa Bujurg, is neighbour of the informant (Pw-1). He also used to go to the village of CW-1. Respondents Hari Ram and Bharosey further stated that they were servant for only Rs.30/- of village Pradhan Ikrauli and left his service , hence they were falsely implicated. Respondent Gaya Prasad stated that he was falsely implicated by the police and he was shown to the witnesses at Kotwali and his photo was also taken. Respondent Azeem Sain further stated that Devesh Kumar (Pw-4) had caused an accident by his by-cycle wherein his goat was injured, and due to dispute whereof he was falsely implicated.

9. Kandhai (Cw-1) ,resident of Majhawwa Bujurg, P.S.- Sonwa, District Bahraich, was produced before Trial Court by the respondents, in their defence, who stated that his two daughters namely, Parwati and Kalawati had been married with Kailash and respondent Awadh Ram, who were sons of Ram Lautan and respondent Awadh Ram is his son-in-law. He further stated that respondent Awadh Ram used to come frequently at his house.

10. After conclusion of evidence of both sides and hearing the arguments of learned counsel for both sides the learned trial Court acquitted all the respondents vide impugned judgment and order. Aggrieved by the said judgment and order the State has filed this appeal.

11. During pendency of the appeal, the respondent Chhotey Lal and Gaya Prasad did not appear despite repeated notices, hence the appeal against them was separated vide order dated 05.07.1982, while respondent no.7 Azeem

Sain and respondent no.8 Bharosey had died during pendency of appeal. The appeal filed against them has been abated vide order dated 10.02.2020.

12. Heard Sri Badrul Hasan learned A.G.A. appearing for appellant-State, Mr. Subodh Kumar Shukla learned counsel for remaining respondents Awadh Ram, Piarey, Jhabbar, Kallan, and Hari Ram, and perused the record.

13. Learned A.G.A. has submitted that respondents had been properly identified by the prosecution witnesses at the time of occurrence in the TIP and also before the trial Court during their examination. Learned A.G.A. further submitted that there was sufficient light of torches, Jhakhar, burnt at the place of occurrence, and lantern wherein the respondents were identified. Learned A.G.A. further submitted that trial Court did not properly appreciated the evidence. Learned A.G.A. further submitted that judgment of trial Court, based on the premises that respondents were shown to the witnesses in Police Station before TIP, is baseless because no such plea was taken by the respondents before the trial Court. Learned A.G.A. further submitted that the impugned judgment and order is against the settled principle of law, liable to be set aside and appeal be allowed.

14. Per-contra learned counsel appearing for the respondents submitted that prosecution has miserably failed to prove its case beyond reasonable doubt. The finding of trial Court that respondent Awadh Ram is son-in-law as well as nephew (Bhanja) of Kandhai (Cw-1) who is neighbour of Awadh Ram (Pw-1) is not disputed. Learned counsel further submitted that the prosecution story regarding the source of light at the place of occurrence is also doubtful . Learned counsel further submitted that Budh Sagar (Pw-2) has not supported the prosecution case whereas the presence of Tula Ram (Pw-3) and Devesh Kumar (Pw-4) at the place of occurrence is also doubtful. Learned counsel further submitted that the witnesses (Pw-2, Pw-3 and Pw-4), produced by the prosecution, are also not named in the FIR and the prosecution has not put any explanation as to why the prosecution witnesses ,except Faquirey (Pw-5), named in the FIR, were not produced before the trial Court. Learned counsel further submitted that sole evidence of identification is not reliable because the respondents were already known to the prosecution witnesses prior to the occurrence, they had also been shown to witnesses and their photographs had also been taken by police prior to TIP proceeding. .Learned counsel further submitted that the respondents are innocent, they have been falsely implicated and the judgment and order passed by the learned trial Court is well discussed and according to the settled principle of law and there is no requirement of interference in this appeal by this Court and the appeal is liable to be dismissed.

15. We have considered the arguments led by learned counsel for both the parties and perused the record.

16. The occurrence in question, that dacoity was caused in the intervening night of 2/3.7.1979 at about 00.30 A.M. in the village Majjhawa Bujurg P.S.-Sonwa, District Bahraich wherein three persons namely, Samaydin, Ram Sumiran and Dulara were killed including one dacoit was killed on the spot and Munnalal, Faquirey (Pw-5) and Sarojni were injured, is not disputed.

17. Ram Awadh (Pw1), informant and star witness of the prosecution, while supporting the prosecution case, as stated in the FIR lodged by him, has admitted in cross-examination that injured Munnalal, Sarojni and Faquirey (Pw-5) and deceased Samaydin, Dulara and Sumiran had not received injury in his presence as he had gone in village to raise alarm for witnesses. So far as the light of lantern is concerned he stated that it was very dimmer when he went to sleep. However, he further stated that all the dacoits were without any precaution to conceal their identity but he did not mention any distinction or particular of identity of any dacoits. He further admitted that he had come to Bahraich with other witnesses after 13-14 days of the occurrence. He further admitted that respondent Jhhabbar is dark black and also admitted that house of Kandhai (Cw-1) is in the south of his house but he did not know that his one daughter had been married to the respondent Awadh Ram and another to his brother.

18. Budh Sagar (Pw-2) supported the prosecution story in examination in chief but in the cross-examination he did not support the prosecution story and admitted that in the intervening night when the occurrence took place he was not present at the place of occurrence as he had gone to village Bibipur to participate Gauna ceremony of his brother Anirudh Kumar and returned in the morning of 03.07.1979. He further admitted that he had given statement in examination in chief , due to fear of police.

19. Tula Ram (Pw-3) is another eye witness who has admitted that at the time of occurrence he was teacher Salon Risia situated at a distance of 4 miles from the place of occurrence. He further admitted that he had not seen that Munna, Faquirey (Pw-5) and Sarojni were injured. He also admitted that he had not seen fire arm injury at Simiran. He also admitted that he had not seen fire on deceased Simiran, Dulara, and Samaydin and when he saw them, they were already dead.

20. Devesh Kumar (Pw-4) was student at the time of occurrence. He admitted that dacoits were 18-20 in number and he had seen all the dacoits by face but he was not carrying a torch at that time. He further admitted that he had not informed any description or identification marks of dacoits to Investigating Officer.

21. Faquirey (Pw-5) has stated that he had informed the description and identification marks of dacoits to Investigating Officer but he could not give an explanation as to why the investigating officer had not noted that fact in his statement. S.I. Sukh Sagar Singh (Pw-7), I investigating officer, who had recorded the statement of witnesses during investigation, has admitted that Faquirey (Pw-5), in his statement, had not stated any description or identification mark of any dacoits.

22. S.I. Rana Pratap Singh (Pw-9), II investigating officer, arrested the respondent Awadh Ram and filed charge sheet (Ext.Ka-28),after the investigation.

23. Ram Achhaibar Singh (Pw-14), extra magistrate, conducted the TIP of the respondents and prepared TIP report (Ext.Ka-34).

24. S.I. Ram Nagina Singh (Pw-6), S.I. T.N. Singh (Pw-8), S.I. Shyam Nath Singh (Pw-10), Const. Mehndi Hasan (Pw-13), , and Const. Dayashankar Singh (Pw-16) are the arresting police officers of the respondents whereas Const. Govinda Prasad Awasthi (Pw-11),Const. Brij Mohan Pathak (Pw-12) and Const. Ashok Kumar Singh (Pw-15) are the police officers who took away the respondents to District Jail Bahraich ,after their arrest.

25. Trial Court disbelieved the testimony of aforesaid prosecution witnesses on the ground that the respondent Awadh Ram was married to the daughter of Kandhai (Cw-1) who is co-villager of the aforesaid prosecution witnesses and neighbour of informant Awadh Ram (Pw-1). Trial Court also found that Investigating Officer has also shown the house of Kandhai (Cw-1) adjoining the house of Awadh Ram (Pw-1) and Chhotey Lal. Respondent Awadh Ram has not only his Sasural in the house of Kandhai (Cw-1) but sister of Kandhai (Cw-1) was also his mother. On that count the trial Court was of the view that the respondent Awadh Ram had been frequently visiting to the maternal relation as well as his in-laws to the house of Kandhai (Cw-1), adjoining to the place of occurrence and the statement of Awadh Ram (Pw-1) that he did not know the respondent Awadh Ram, according to the trial Court was not reliable. The trial Court also found that Awadh Ram (Pw-1) has admitted in his examination in chief that respondent Hari Ram and respondent Bharosey (since deceased) were real brother who were resident of village Dehwa, sitauted at a distance of 2-3 furlong from the place of occurrence. The trial Court was of the view that identity of respondent Awadh Ram, Hari Ram and Bharosey (since deceased) were presumed to be known to Awadh Ram (Pw-1) and if they were present at the time and place of occurrence their names should have been disclosed in the FIR.

26. In addition to above the trial Court further found that neither any identification marks of dacoits were mentioned in the FIR nor it was stated before the trial Court by witnesses during their examination and the trial Court was of the view that if the prosecution witnesses had seen any dacoits/respondents at the time of occurrence they had noticed the peculiar feature and identity of dacoits/respondents but they failed to do so. The trial Court also found that some respondents have peculiar feature of identity in view of their clear chiken-pox's mark and colour but none of the witness has stated any peculiar identity of any respondent. In view of the above inconsistency, irregularity, short coming and contradiction in the testimony of witnesses the trial Court disbelieved the prosecution story and acquitted all the respondents.

27. Admittedly the alleged occurrence was happened in the intervening night of 2/3.07.1979. Awadh Ram (Pw-1) has stated that dacoits were 18-20 in number. He specifically stated that at the time of occurrence he, Chhotey Lal, Samaydin (deceased) Feran, Sanehi and Ram Bilas were sleeping at his house and suddenly dacoits appeared and started to beat them whereupon they (including him) run away from his house and raised alarm in the village. He further stated that some dacoits entered into his house from the back side and opened the main door and thereafter the dacoits who were present at the main gate also entered into the house. He further stated that on his alarm Faquirey (Pw-5), Munnalal, Ashok Kumar, Amerika, Pahalwan, Tula Ram, Ram Adhar and other co-villagers appeared with Danda, Berroo and torches. He further stated that Ashok Kumar burnt the Jhakhar, placed near the house of one Bhagwandin. In F.I.R. (Ext.Ka-1) it is mentioned that upon alarm raised by Awadh Ram (Pw-1) and his family members, Faquirey , Munna, Pahalwan , Ashok Kumar, Ram Adhar, Daya Ram, Ram Sumiran and Awatar appeared with Lathi, Danda, Berroo and torches. Thus the presence of Budh Sagar (Pw-2), Tula Ram (Pw-3) and Devesh Kumar (Pw-4) have been shown neither in the FIR nor stated by Pw-1 during his examination. Faquirey (Pw-5) has also not stated about the presence of Budh Sagar (Pw-2) and Devesh Kumar (Pw-4) at the time of occurrence. The prosecution has not given any explanation that if these witnesses were present at the time and place of occurrence why their presence were not shown in the FIR and also not stated by Awadh Ram (Pw-1) in his statement. Thus, the trial Court was of the view that these witnesses were not present at the time and place of occurrence. For the reasons mentioned in the impugned judgment and order we are also of the view that the findings of trial Court requires no interference in the light of aforesaid grounds also.

28. Learned trial Court has specifically doubted the presence of Tula Ram (Pw-3) and Devesh Kumar (Pw-4) on the ground that at the time of occurrence, Tula Ram (Pw-3) was teacher in Sitai Salon at Risiya situated 4 miles away from the place of occurrence and he has not seen the major part of dacoity. Similarly Devesh Kumar (Pw-4) was a student and studying in Bahraich in those days. Further, Budh Sagar (Pw-2) did not support the prosecution story in cross-examination and specifically stated that he had not seen the occurrence as he was not present at the time and place of occurrence . In our opinion, the finding of the trial Court , dis-believing the presence of (Pw-2) Budh Sagar, (Pw-3) Tula Ram, (Pw-4) Devesh Kumar at the place of occurrence, further finds support as their presence has neither been mentioned in the FIR (Ext. Ka-1) nor stated by Awadh Ram (Pw-1).

29. Admittedly the alleged dacoity was caused in the dark night at about 00.30 A.M. by unknown persons. Awadh Ram (Pw-1), in his examination in chief, has specifically admitted that he did not know any dacoit either by his name or by face earlier to the occurrence. He had, for the first time, seen them in the light of burning Jhakhar and 5(five) torches. He further admitted that he was also carrying torch at the time of occurrence. Record shows that during trial no torch was produced before the trial Court either during the examination of eye-witnesses or during examination of Investigating Officer S.I. Sukh Sagar Singh (Pw-7) and S.I. Rana Pratap Singh (Pw-9) because S.I. Sukh Sagar Singh (Pw-7) has proved only the recovery memos of torches, lantern, Sandles, empty cartriages, plain and blood stained earth as Ext. Ka-19 to Ext. Ka-25. Now question arises as to whether there was sufficient light at the place of occurrence wherein the respondents-dacoits could have been identified by the prosecution witnesses. Non-production of torches and lantern before the trial Court without any justification creates further doubt in the prosecution story that respondents were seen and identified by the prosecution witnesses in the light of torches because the trial Court had no occasion to verify the existence of torches at the time of occurrence as well as its' working condition. This doubt further strengthened due to non-production of Munna, Pahalwan, Ashok Kumar, Ram Adhar, Daya Ram and Ram Autar who, as per FIR, appeared at the place of occurrence with torches.

30. In addition to above, according to the prosecution, the respondents were also seen and identified in the light of Jhakhar of Bhagwandin, burnt by one Ashok Kumar. In site-plan (Ext. Ka-18), said Jhakhar was situated behind the western side of the Ghari (animal yard) of Bhagwandin whereas the alleged occurrence was happened in the house of Awadh Ram (Pw-1) and marked as "X-1" which is situated towards south-east to the said Jhakhar and between the place of occurrence and said Jhakhar, houses of Avatar Kahar, Gokul Kahar, Bhagwandin are situated and one Babul tree was also situated nearby the said Jhakhar. Awadh Ram (Pw-1), in his cross-examination, has specifically admitted that it was a rainy season at the time of occurrence, although it was not rained for so many days. He further admitted that the said Jhakhar was containing 10-15 bundles (Bojha) and by the burning of Jhakhar the Babul tree was not scorched. Admittedly, dacoits were 18-20 in numbers. According to Awadh Ram (Pw-1) the dacoits had been remained at the place of occurrence only for half-an-hour. It can not be supposed that they were standing at any particular place. Since it was rainy season, the Babul tree, standing nearby the said Jhakhar, was not scorched and said Jhakhar was situated towards western side of the house of Bhawandin and it was situated at considerable distance from the place of occurrence, the prosecution version that the said Jhakhar had emitted sufficient light wherein the dacoits were identified by the prosecution witnesses is doubtful. This conclusion further gets strengthen as the prosecution has failed to produce Ashok Kumar who had burnt the said Jhakhar and Bhagwandin, owner of the said Jhakhar, who could state whether or not the said Jhakhar was burnt at the time of dacoity to identify the the dacoits.

31. So for as the submission of learned AGA that finding of trial Court that the respondents were shown to the prosecution witnesses prior to TIP, is not just because no such plea was taken by respondents before trial Court, is concerned, record shows specific suggestion had been put by counsel of respondents during trial to prosecution witnesses that respondents were shown to them by police and their photographs were also taken in police station. In addition to above respondents, in their statement u/s 313 of the Code while denying the prosecution evidence, had also taken the aforesaid plea. Thus the aforesaid submission of Ld. AGA has no force.

32. It is also pertinent to point out at this juncture that according to prosecution, in this occurrence dacoity was committed in three houses wherein huge money and ornaments were looted by dacoits, armed with deadly weapons, for which thirteen person including respondents were arrested within 10 days of the occurrence and made accused in police report u/s 173(2) of the Code but neither any weapon ,used in committing the said dacoity nor any looted property was recovered from possession of any respondents. Prosecution case is silent on the point of any effort made by police for recovery of such weapons and looted property. Silence of prosecution on such vital piece of evidence is also fatal to the prosecution.

33. As discussed herein above, most of the witnesses named in the FIR i.e. Munna, Pahalwan, Ashok Kumar, Ram Adhar, and Daya Ram carrying torches at the time of occurrence and the witnesses Autar, Maya Ram and Chhote Lal, whose houses were also looted, have not been produced by the prosecution whereas Budh Sagar (Pw-2), Tula Ram (Pw-3) and Devesh Kumar (Pw-4) whose presence have been found as doubtful as discussed herein above, have been produced by the prosecution. TIP of respondents were held in District Jail Bahraich. Nine person namely Awadh Ram (Pw-1) Amerika, Pahalwan, Budh Sagar (Pw-2), Ram Adhar, Ram Avatar, Tula Ram(Pw-3) Devesh (Pw-4) and Faquirey (Pw-5) were produced during investigation to identify the respondents-accused wherein Budh Sagar (Pw-2) did not support the prosecution story. Prosecution has neither produced Amerika, Munna, Ashok Kumar, Pahalwan, Ram Adhar and Ram Avatar, before the trial Court nor put any explanation for their non production. It is very amazing fact that Devesh Kumar (Pw-4) whose presence was found suspicious and was not carrying any torch with him at the time of occurrence, had identified all the ten person including respondents who were arrested during investigation as accused of this occurrence. Trial Court disbelieved the 100% identification of this witness (Pw-4). In addition to above, admission of Awadh Ram (Pw-1) , that he had come to Bahraich with other witnesses after 13-14 days of the occurrence, had further created doubt in the reliability of evidence of identification and the trial Court found force in the argument of defence counsel that the respondents had been shown to the witnesses prior to TIP and held TIP as shaky and suspicious. In the fact and circumstances as discussed herein above we are also of the view that TIP of respondents is not reliable and finding of the trial Court does not require interference.

34. There is another reason which makes the prosecution case highly doubtful. The prosecution case is based only on the evidence of identification. In FIR no identification marks of any dacoits has been mentioned. Neither Awadh Ram (Pw-1) nor other witnesses have stated that they had seen any particular identification marks on the face of respondents. Awadh Ram (Pw-1), before the trial Court, had identified the respondents Kallan, Piarey , Awadh Ram, Jhabbar, Gaya Prasad and Hari Ram and one accused Tej Bahadur (since deceased). He has further admitted that respondent Jhabbar is black having read bond (Dhaga) on his neck but he had not noticed any bond (Dhaga) on his neck at the time of occurrence. He further admitted that some of dummies standing with respondent Jhabbar at the time of TIP, were white, and some were matching and some were more black than him but he had not noticed even at the time of TIP whether respondent Jhabbar had weared bond (Dhaga) on his neck or not. This witness (Pw-1) further admitted that Kandhai Pasi (Cw-1) is his co-villager who is elder than him. He further admitted that he could not disclose the description of dress, weared by dacoits and weapons carried by them. This witness (Pw-1) has also admitted that respondent Kallan having small moustache had no beard whereas some of dummies had moustache , some were without moustache or beard, some were white in colour and some were in colour similar to respondent Kallan standing in TIP. Faquirey (Pw-5) in cross-examination admitted that respondent Chhotey is pox-pitted. TIP report (Ext. Ka-34) further shows that some respondents were pox-pitted and each respondents had considerable numbers (5 to 8) specific identification marks including black mole and pox- pit on their face as well as on both sides of their tamples but Achhayver Singh (Pw-14), has not stated that any pox-pitted under trial was mixed in the parade of respondent who was pox-pitted. Ram Achhavar Singh (Pw-14) had only stated that under trial prisoners ,who were lined up with respondents in TIP, were similar in hight, colour and in appearance. Thus it is clear that dummies, lined up with respondents at the time of TIP, were not similar in colour, hight and facial appearance to the respondents. In such fact and circumstances, we are of the view that trial Court rightly dis-believed the prosecution evidence.

35. It is settled principle of criminal jurisprudence that identification of accused by the witnesses before the Court is substantive piece of evidence whereas evidence of TIP is very weak evidence,it has only the corroboratory value and where the offenders were unknown to the witnesses and the prosecution case is based only on the evidence of identification, prosecution has to prove that prosecution witnesses had proper and sufficient opportunity to see and identify the respondents and they had properly seen and identified them . It was dark midnight at the time of occurrence. Evidence, produced by the prosecution, regarding sufficiency of light at the place of occurrence, has been found shaky and doubtful. As discussed herein above, prosecution witnesses had admitted that they had neither noted the description or special characteristic of any dacoits nor disclosed it in their statement given to investigating officer. They had further admitted that they neither noted the colour of the dacoits nor noted the colour of their clothes. Every person has his specific appearance, characteristic and bodily strength. During examination prosecution witnesses seeing the respondents admitted that some of respondents especially Jhabbar, Chhotey and Kallan had special appearance, identification marks and characteristic. Prosecution has not placed a single justification that if the respondents had special appearance identification marks why the prosecution witnesses had not noted and disclosed it to investigating officer . Neither mentioning specific feature or identification marks or appearance of any dacoits in FIR nor disclosing to investigating officer had further made the evidence of identification shaky and doubtful.

36. In the case of Wakil Singh vs. State of Bihar, AIR. 1981 S.C.1392, where judgment and order of acquittal, passed by trial Court as the evidence of identification was doubtful, was reversed in appeal by the High Court in appeal , Hon'ble Supreme Court, setting aside the judgment of the High Court ,has held as under:

"2. In the instant case we may mention that none of the witnesses in their earlier statements or in oral evidence gave any description of the dacoits whom they have alleged to have identified in the dacoity, nor did the witnesses give any identification marks viz., stature of the accused or whether they were fat or thin or of a fair colour or of black colour. In absence of any such description, it will be impossible for us to convict any accused on the basis of a single identification, in which case the reasonable possibility of mistake in identification could not be excluded. For these reasons, therefore, the trial Court was right in not relying on the evidence of witnesses and not convicting the accused who are identified by only one witness, apart from the reasons that were given by the trial Court. The High Court, however has chosen to rely on the evidence of a single witness, completely over-looking the facts and circumstances mentioned above. The High Court also ignored the fact that the identification was made at the T.I. parade about 3 1/2 months after the dacoity and in view of such a long lapse of time it is not possible for any human being to remember, the features of the accused and he is, therefore, very likely to commit mistakes. In these circumstances unless the evidence is absolutely clear, it would be unsafe to convict an accused for such a serious offence on the testimony of a single witness." (Emphasis supplied)

37. The object of TIP is to find out whether the suspected offender arrested by police during investigation is real culprit or not. Evidence of TIP can be held as reliable and trustworthy only where the the suspects were neither shown to the witnesses nor the witnesses had an opportunity to see them prior to TIP and the proceeding of TIP is not irregular. Thus if evidence of TIP is shaky and doubt due to aforesaid reason, the evidence of identification before the court can not be relied upon.

38. In Shaikh Umar Shaikh and another v. State of Maharashtra AIR 1998 SC, wherein the trial Court ,after rejecting the evidence of identification parade on the ground that suspects were shown the witnesses prior to identification parade, relied on the evidence of identification before it and convicted the appellant, Hon'ble Supreme Court while allowing the appeal has held as under:

"The Designated Court after having rejected the evidence of identification parade on the ground that the suspects were possible shown to the witnesses, relied upon the evidence of identification of the accused in the Court by the two witnesses and on that evidence recorded conviction against the appellants. No doubt, the evidence of identification parade is not a substantive evidence, but its utility is for purpose of corroboration. In other words, it is utilised for corroboration of the sworn testimony of witnesses in Court as to the identity of the accused who are strangers to them. The real and substantive evidence of the identity of the accused comes when witnesses give statement in the Court, identifying the accused. It is true that in the present case, PW-2 and PW-11 identified the two accused who are the appellants before us in the Court. But, the question arises; what value could be attached to the evidence of identity of accused by the witnesses in the Court when the accused were possibly shown to the witnesses before the identification parade in the police station. The Designated Court has already recorded a finding that there was strong possibility that the suspects were shown to the witnesses. Under such circumstances, when the accused were already shown to the witnesses, their identification in the Court by the witnesses was meaningless. The statement of witnesses in the Court identifying the accused in the Court lost all its value and could not be made basis for recording conviction against the accused. The reliance of evidence of identification of the accused in the Court by PW-2 and PW-11 by the Designated Court, was an erroneous way of dealing with the evidence of identification of the accused in the Court by the two eye-witnesses and had caused failure of justice. Since conviction of the appellants have been recorded by the Designated Court on wholly unreliable evidence, the same deserves to be set aside." (Emphasis supplied)

39. It is settled principle of law that the accused will be presumed as innocent unless and until the prosecution has succeeded to prove its case beyond reasonable doubt and the presumption of innocence of accused is further strengthened if he is acquitted by the Trial Court after considering the material evidence available on record. In appeal against acquittal the prosecution has to show that gross mistake has been committed by the Trial Court in appreciating the evidence on record or application of settled principle of law.

40. Hon'ble the Apex Court in Surajpal Singh and others Vs. State of Punjab, AIR 1952 SC 52 held as under :-

"It is well-established that in an appeal under section 417 of the Criminal Procedure Code, the High Court has full power to review the evidence upon which the order of acquittal was founded, but it is equally well-settled that the presumption of innocence of the accused is further reinforced by his acquittal by the trial court, and the findings of the trial court which had the advantage of seeing the witnesses and hearing their evidence can be reversed only for very substantial and compelling reasons."

(Emphasis supplied).

41. Coming to the facts of this case , in the light of above discussions, we are of the view that the impugned judgment and order passed by trial Court is well reasoned, well discussed and requires no interference. The prosecution has miserably failed to prove its case beyond reasonable doubt and there is no illegality or infirmity in the impugned judgment and order passed by Trial Court in Sessions Trial No.417 of 1979, whereby the respondents-accused were acquitted. The appeal is liable to be dismissed.

42. The judgment and order dated 06.02.1981 passed by trial Court in Sessions Trial No. 417 of 1979 is affirmed. The appeal lacks merit and is dismissed.

43. Copy of this judgment be sent to District Sessions Judge, Bahraich with Lower Court Record for information and compliance.

1. Heard Sri I.K.Chaturvedi, learned Senior Counsel assisted by Sri Ravindra Nath Rai, Sri Vinay Saran, learned Senior Counsel assisted by Sri Pradeep Kumar Mishra & Sri Indu Shekhar Tripathi, learned counsel for the appellants, Ms. Mandvi Tripathi and Sri Shiv Narayan Singh, learned counsel for the complainant/victim, Sri M.C.Joshi, learned A.G.A. for the State, considered the written submission filed by Sri Pradeep Kumar Mishra and perused the record carefully.

2. These appeals are directed against the judgment and order dated 05.2.2001 passed in S.T.No 104/1987, State vs Gauri Shankar and others,whereby learned VIth Additional Sessions Judge, Ballia has convicted the appellants Gauri Shankar @ Bachchan Yadav, Ram Ashish Yadav and Rama Kant u/s 147, 302/34 IPC and sentenced each of them to undergo one year rigorous imprisonment and life imprisonment, respectively, fine Rs. 1000/ has been also imposed upon them with default stipulation.

3. Accused Vishwanath has been acquitted u/s 148 and 302 IPC by giving him benefit of doubt.

4. At the very outset it may be noted that accused Shiv Shankar and Munna Lal @ Sachchidanand have died during the trial and case has been abated against them.

5. In brief, prosecution case is that there is a Math and its Dhaba in village Karo. Ramakant Singh son of Sri Tulsi Singh, younger brother of informant, Govind Singh was living in the dhaba. On 24.02.1987, Akhand Manas Path was going on in the Math and Ramakant Singh was present in the Dhaba. At about 9.00 a.m. due to old enmity, Gauri Shankar @ Bachchan Yadav and Shiv Shankar both sons of Rekha Yadav, Vishwanath Upadhyay son of Raj Narayan Upadhyay, Munna Lal @ Sachchidanand son of Yaduvansh Lal, Ram Ashish Yadav s/o Gauri Shankar Yadav and Ramakant Yadav s/o Basdev Yadav, all resident of village Karo, police station Chitbada Gaon, Ballia in furtherance of their common intention armed with lathi and bhala (spear) coming to the Dhaba exhorted Ramakant Singh to come out, on which by jumping back over boundary wall he fled towards East side. Assailants chased him with intention to kill and till reaching moonj (Sarpat) bushes of betel bhita (mound) of Vishwanath Barai surrounding him they assaulted with lathi and bhala, on account of which he died. On hearing noise informant, Satya Narayan Singh s/o Havaldar Singh r/o village Sujayat, Vijai Lal s/o Vishnu Lal r/o Basdev, Ram Baran Chaudhary s/o Jagdish Chaudhary r/o village Vishunpura police station Chitbada Gaon Ballia and several persons who were present in the Manas Path followed up to the spot to save the deceased and witnessed the incident.

6. On the basis of written report Ext.Ka-1, Case Crime No.55/1987, under Sections 147, 148, 149, 302 I.P.C. against accused under chik F.I.R. Ext. Ka-2 was registered at 12:30 p.m. on 24.02.1987 and its entry was recorded on G.D. No.16 (Ext. Ka-3). The investigation of the case was handed over to S.H.O. Sri T.N. Mishra. Investigating Officer after recording the statement of informant Sri Govind Singh, reached the spot. He prepared inquest memo Ext. Ka-5 and relevant documents like letter to C.M.O. (Ext. Ka-6), specimen seal (Ext. Ka-7), photo lash (Ext. Ka-8), police Form no.13 (Ext. Ka-9) and dispatched the dead body along with constable Uma Shankar Rai (PW-6) and Krishna Kumar Pandey for postmortem.

7. Dr. G.C. Upadhyay conducted postmortem of the dead body on 25.02.1987 at 2:00 p.m. and prepared his report Ext Ka-4, according to which following injuries were found on the dead body:

(i). Abrasion 2 c.m. x 1.2 c.m. on the right arm 6 c.m. above elbow.

(ii). Abrasion 4 c.m. x 1 c.m. on right ankle joint on the anterior part.

(iii). Abrasion 1 c.m. x 10 c.m. On the back of thigh middle of right thigh.

(iv). Abrasion 2 c.m. x 2 c.m. on the right side face just below the right eye.

(v). Lacerated wound 2 c.m. x .05 c.m. x scalp and oblique at 9 O'clock position just lateral and above the lateral end of right eye.

(vi). Lacerated wound 2 c.m. x 0.5 c.m. scalp deep 1 c.m. above injury no.5 oblique 2 O'clock position.

In internal examination right parietal bone was found fractured. Right membrane of the brain was congested and 200 gram blood was clotted. According to his opinion cause of death was shock and haemorrhage as a result of ante-postmortem injuries and injuries were possible on 24.02.1987 at 9:00 a.m. Ordinarily, the injuries were sufficient for causing death and instantaneous death was possible due to the injuries.

8. Investigating Officer took into his possession five (four live and one empty) cartridges, blood stained and plain earth and two lathis from the place of incident and prepared its memo Ext. Ka-10 to Ext. Ka-12 respectively. He also prepared spot map Ext. Ka-13. After completing investigation submitted charge sheet Ext. Ka-14, under Sections 147, 148, 149, 302, 34 I.P.C. against the accused persons.

9. Since the offence under Section 302 I.P.C. is triable by Court of Sessions only, therefore, learned Chief Judicial Magistrate committed accused to the court of Sessions where Case Crime No.55 of 1987, under Sections 147, 148, 149, 302 I.P.C. was registered as S.T. No. 104 of 1987. Learned Sessions Judge transferred the trial to the court of IInd Additional Sessions Judge, Ballia, who framed charge under Sections 147 and 302 I.P.C. against accused Ramakant, Ram Ashish, Gauri Shankar and Shiv Shankar, under section 148, 302 I.P.C. against accused Vishwanath and Munna Lal. In due course of trial it was again transferred to the court of VIth Additional Sessions Judge, Ballia.

10. Prosecution to prove the charge against the accused persons produced 08 witnesses. P.W.1 Govind Singh informant, P.W.2 Vijay Shankar Lal, P.W.4 Satya Narayan and P.W.5 Km Rekha Singh are witnesses of fact, while P.W.3 Shivanand Pandey scribe of the chik F.I.R. and G.D., P.W.6 constable Uma Shankar Rai carrier of dead body for post mortem. P.W.7 Dr. G.C. Upadhyay conducted post mortem and P.W.8 S.I.T.N.Mishra, Investigating Officer, are the formal witnesses.

11. After examination of the prosecution witnesses statement of accused were recorded under Section 313 Cr.P.C. in which Gauri Shankar @ Bachchan Yadav has stated that Ramakant had asked him to collect contribution, he refused to do so then he beat him. Few people rescued him then he went to the police station. Ramakant has stated that case proceeded against him due to enmity. Vishwanath Upadhyay has stated that his partner Laliya is retired daroga, who implicated him in collusion with the informant. Ram Ashish has stated that he has no knowledge why he has been implicated.

12. In defence D.W.1 R.N. Singh, X-Ray Technician has been produced, who has proved injury of accused Gauri Shankar as Ext. Kha.

13. Learned VIth Additional Sessions Judge, Ballia after hearing the parties and perusal of the record passed the impugned judgment and order as disclosed in para 2 of the judgment. Hence, this appeal.

14. Learned counsel for the appellants submits that witnesses are not resident of the same village Karo, their presence is doubtful, that is why story of Manas Path has been introduced.

15. He further submits that no one was armed with fire arm but as per recovery memo Ext Ka-10 live and empty cartridges were recovered from the spot. It is defence case that deceased Ramakant Singh had asked accused Gauri Shankar to collect contribution, he refused to do so then Ramakant beat him. In this regard accused Gauri Shankar had lodged NCR No 14 u/s 325 (wrongly mentioned in place of 323), 504 IPC against deceased Ramakant and two others which has been proved by PW-3 Shivanand Pandey also. Injury report Ext. Kha of the accused Gauri Shankar has been proved by DW-1 R N Singh. These facts show that prosecution has deliberately suppressed the genesis and origin of the occurrence and has not presented true version which is fatal to the prosecution. In support of his contention learned counsel has relied on Lakshmi Singh vs. State of Bihar[1976] 1 SCC (Cri) 671, (Para 11, 16) and Bhagwan Sahai and Another vs. State of Rajasthan [2016] 13 SCC 171 (Para 8).

16. Next submission is that prosecution evidence is, lathi and bhala were used in causing the injuries but as per medical evidence no injury is possible by bhala, thus ocular evidence is also not supported by the medical evidence. Even the injuries alleged to have been caused and found on the body of the deceased, the story put forward by the prosecution is not only improbable but is impossible of being true. In support of the contention learned counsel has relied on Govindaraju @ Govind vs. State by Sriramapuram P.S. [2012] 2 SCC (Cri) 533 (Para 39) and Balaka Singh and others vs. The State of Punjab1975 SCC (Cri) 601, (Para 9).

17. It is also submitted that in site plan position of witnesses from where they saw the incident has not been shown which is fault on the part of investigating officer and benefit of doubt arising out of a faulty investigation also accrues in favour of the accused. In support of his contention he has relied on State of Uttar Pradesh vs. Wasif Haider etc.[2019] 1 SCC (Cri) 701, (Para 24, 25).

18. He further submits that as per prosecution FIR was lodged on 24.2.1987 at 10:30 a.m. but in inquest memo time of information at police station is mentioned as 9:00 a.m. In the inquest memo it is mentioned that papers including FIR were sent for postmortem but according to PW-8 investigating officer dead body was received on 24.2.1987 at 9:00 p.m. and papers were received on 25.2.1987 at 9:25 a.m. Since FIR was not in existence at the time of preparation of inquest memo that is why in the inquest memo time of information at the police station has been mentioned 9:00 a.m. and at the time of receiving dead body papers were not handed over to the doctor. Special report was also received to concerned magistrate on 07.3.1987 and prosecution has failed to explain the undue delay in receipt of the special report by the concerned Magistrate. All these facts indicate that FIR was not lodged at the time alleged and it has no authenticity. In this regard he relies on Balaka Singh and others vs. The State of Punjab 1975 SCC (Cri) 601, (Para 7) and Badam Singh vs. State of M.P. 2004 (2) JLJ 67 (SC), (Para 15, 23)

19. Learned counsel has referred para 8 of the case of Balaka Singh and others vs. The State of Punjab 1975 SCC (Cri) 601, in which it has been held that the prosecution witnesses who can implicate appellants and the four accused equally with regard to assault on the deceased, it is not possible to reject the prosecution case with respect to the four accused and accept it with respect to the appellants. If all the witnesses in one breath implicate the four accused who appear to be innocent, then one cannot vouchsafe for the fact that even the acts attributed to the appellants may have been conveniently made to suit the needs of the prosecution case. If the case against the four accused fails, then the entire prosecution case will have to be discarded. He submits that similar is the instant case in which four accused have been alleged having lathi and two accused having bhala. One accused alleged having bhala has been acquitted by the trial court and the other accused has died. Accused alleged having lathi on the basis of suspicion have been convicted.

20. Lastly, he submits that prosecution has to stand on its own leg to prove the charge against the accused-appellants, from the prosecution evidence charge is not proved and on basis of NCR lodged by accused-appellant Gauri Shankar appellants have been convicted, impugned judgment and order is not sustainable and it is liable to be set aside.

21. Per contra learned A.G.A. submits that it is a case of direct evidence, therefore, motive of the incident is not important. P.W.1 Govind Singh, P.W.2 Vijay Shankar Lal, P.W.4 Satya Narain Singh and P.W.5 Rekha Singh have proved that there was Manas Path. In statement under Section 313 Cr.P.C. accused Gauri Shankar has also stated that Manas Path was going on, thus the fact that at the time of incident Manas Path was going on, is established. In his statement u/s 313 Cr.P.C Gauri Shankar has admitted that he had lodged NCR No 14 u/s 325 (wrongly mentioned in place of 323), 504 IPC on the same day, i.e., on 24.2.87. According to PW-3 Shivanand Pandey NCR No. 14 was registered at 10.15 a.m. In original record NCR is available in which time of incident has been mentioned as 9.00 a.m. In the present case also time of incident is alleged 9.00 a.m. Thus, according to, prosecution and defence, both, incident had occurred on 24.2.87 at 9.00 a.m. He further submits that P.W.1 Govind Singh, P.W.2 Vijay Shankar Lal, P.W.4 Satya Narain Singh and P.W.5 Rekha Singh have proved the incident and presence of the accused at the site. In the inquest memo crime number 55/87 u/s 147, 148, 149, 302 IPC is mentioned, however, in column of date and time of report at the Police Station, starting inquiry and place where the Investigating Officer has gone, time of report at the Police Station is wrongly mentioned as 9.00 a.m. For postmortem dead body was received on 24.2.1987 at 9.00 p.m. and papers were received on 25.2.1987 at 9:25 a.m. First, inquest memo is prepared then it is signed by the witnesses and in the inquest memo it is mentioned that including FIR nine papers were sent. Since crime number is mentioned in inquest memo, therefore, on the basis of wrong entry recorded in the inquest memo regarding reporting time to the police station, receiving dead body for postmortem at 9.00 p.m. on 24.2.1987 and receiving of relevant papers next day, FIR cannot be said to be ante timed. Special report has been received to the magistrate on 07.03.1987 but no question in this regard has been put to P.W.3 Shivanand Pandey, the Head Moharrir and ultimately it cannot be ground for acquittal. Prosecution witnesses have stated that Vishwanath Upadhyaya and Munna Lal had bhala in their hand and they had also assaulted with the bhala but they have not stated that the assault made by the bhala hit the deceased. Munna Lal has died during trial and Vishwantah Upadhyaya has been acquitted. Therefore, on the basis of no injury of bhala was found, prosecution case cannot be doubted. Lathi injury is supported by medical evidence and doctor has opined that injuries are possible on 24.02.1987 at 9.00 a.m. and injuries were sufficient to cause death. Thus, oral evidence is consistent with the medical evidence also. P.W.1 Govind Singh has stated that height of the boundary wall was 5-6 feet whereas Investigating Officer has stated that it was 15 feet but these calculations are hypothetical and cannot affect the prosecution case. So for as submission is concerned that live and empty cartridges were recovered from the spot whereas no accused was armed with fire arm it may be there with a view to mislead the prosecution case. From the prosecution evidence coupled with NCR lodged by accused, incident is proved. Learned trial court has rightly convicted and sentenced the appellants. Therefore, no interference is required by this Court. Sri Shiv Narain Singh, learned counsel for Sri Nikhil Singh son of the deceased submits that PW-5 Rekha is the eye-witness of the incident, investigating officer has contradicted his presence but his statement is wrong. There was a dispute between deceased and accused with regard to fishing lease, that is why he was murdered. Ms. Mandavi Tripathi learned counsel on behalf of Rekha Singh, daughter of the deceased submits that betel mound was next to mustard field and deceased ran from the side of the betel mound, not through the betel mound. There was a dispute with regard to fishing lease. PW-2 Vijai Shankar Lal has stated that deceased was stabbed with the spear. Three blows from the spear were made and spear blows were inflicted from the side and the spear blow hit the thigh. He has further stated that he had also seen the injuries on teeth and eyes.

22. Since learned AGA has submitted that from the prosecution evidence coupled with NCR lodged by the accused Gauri Shankar incident is proved and learned counsel for appellants has submitted that prosecution has to stand on its own leg, therefore, the issue of liability of burden of proof is taken first. To decide the issue it will be apposite to refer the law laid down by the High Court and Supreme Court in this regard.

23. In para 24 of the judgment in case of Md. Alimuddin & others versus The State of Assam 1992 2 Crimes(HC) 506; 1992 0 CrLJ 3287 Hon'ble Gauhati High Court has held as under:

"24. It is one of the fundamental tenets of criminal jurisprudence that the burden of proving the prosecution case squarely lies on the prosecution. This general burden never shifts. Defence is not bound to open its mouth so long as prosecution does not discharge its general burden of proving its case beyond reasonable doubt. Defence version may even be false, because a falsely instituted prosecution may compel the accused to adopt a false defence. So, prosecution can not derive any advantage from the falsely or other infirmities of the defence version, so long as it does not discharge its initial burden of proving its case beyond all reasonable doubt."

24. In para 6 of the judgment in case of Dahyabhai Chhaganbhai Thakkar VS State Of Gujarat, 1964 0 Supreme(SC) 91, the Hon'ble Supreme Court has held as under:

"It is fundamental principle of criminal jurisprudence that an accused in presumed to be innocent and, therefore, the burden lies on the prosecution to prove the guilt of the accused beyond reasonable doubt. The prosecution, therefore, in a case of homicide shall prove beyond reasonable doubt that the accused caused death with the requisite intention described in S. 299 of the Indian Penal Code. This general burden never shifts and it always rests on the prosecution. But, S. 84 of the Indian Penal Code provides that nothing is an offence if the accused at the time of doing that Act, by reason of unsoundness of mind was incapable of knowing the nature of his act or what he was doing was either wrong or contrary to law. This being an exception, under S. 105 of the Evidence Act the burden of proving the existence of circumstances bringing the case within the said exception lies on the accused, and the court shall presume the absence of such circumstances. Under S. 105 of the Evidence Act, read with the definition of "shall presume in S. 4 thereof, the court shall regard the absence of such circumstances as proved unless, after considering the matters before it, it believes that the said circumstances existed or their existence was so probable that a prudent man ought, under the circumstances of the particular case, to act upon the supposition that they did exist. To put it in other words, the accused will have to rebut the presumption that such circumstances did not exist, by placing material before the court sufficient to make it consider the existence of the said circumstances so probable that a prudent; man would act upon them. The accused has to satisfy the standard of a "prudent man . If the material placed before the court, such as, oral and documentary evidence, presumptions, admissions or even the prosecution evidence, satisfies the test of "prudent man the accused will have discharged his burden. The evidence so placed may not be sufficient to discharge the burden under S. 105 of the evidence Act, but it may raise a reasonable doubt in the mind of a judge as regards one or other of the necessary ingredients of the offence itself.

It may, for instance, raise a reasonable doubt in the mind of the judge whether the accused had the requisite intention laid down in S. 299 of the Indian Penal Code. If the judge has such reasonable doubt, he has to acquit the accused, for in that even the prosecution will have failed to prove conclusively the guilt of the accused. There is no conflict between the general burden, which is always on the prosecution and which never shifts, and the special burden that rests on the accused to make out his defence of insanity."

25. In case of KM Nanavati vs State of Maharashtra 1961 Supreme(SC) 374, relevant part as held by Hon'ble Supreme Court in para 18 of the judgment is quoted as under:

"In this view it might be said that the general burden to prove the ingredients of the offence, unless there is a specific statute to the contrary, is always on the prosecution, but the burden to prove the circumstances coming under the exceptions lies upon the accused. The failure on the part of the accused to establish all the circumstances bringing his case under the exception does not absolve the prosecution to prove the ingredients of the offence : indeed, the evidence, though insufficient to establish the exception, may be sufficient to negative one or more of the ingredients of the offence."

26. In para 14 of its judgment Hon'ble Supreme court in case of Digamber Vaishnav and another vs State of Chandigarh (2019) 4 SCC 522, has held as under:

"14. One of the fundamental principles of criminal jurisprudence is undeniably that the burden of proof squarely rests on the prosecution and that the general burden never shifts. There can be no conviction on the basis of surmises and conjectures or suspicion howsoever grave it may be. Strong suspicion, strong coincidences and grave doubt cannot take the place of legal proof. The onus of prosecution can't be discharged by referring to very strong suspicion and existence of highly suspicious factors to inculpate the accused nor falsity of defence could take the place of proof which the prosecution has to establish in order to succeed, though a false plea by the defence at best, be considered as an addition circumstance if other circumstances unfailingly point to the guilt."

27. Thus , from the law laid down in the above referred cases, it is well settled, that in criminal case the general burden of proof unless there is a specific statute to the contrary, squarely rests on the prosecution to prove its case against accused beyond reasonable doubt which never shifts and special burden to prove the circumstances coming under exception rests upon the accused. In proving the case beyond reasonable doubt, prosecution can not take advantage of falsely instituted case or false plea taken by the defence or infirmity in defence. Suspicion, however strong can not take the place of legal proof.

28. In view of the above, the contention of learned AGA is not tenable that from prosecution evidence coupled with NCR lodged by accused Gauri Shankar incident is proved. In proving the charge against the accused, prosecution can not take advantage of NCR lodged by accused Gauri Shankar. Accordingly, prosecution has to prove the charge u/s 147 and 302/34 IPC against the appellants beyond reasonable doubt by its own evidence.

29. Prosecution has produced four witnesses of fact i.e PW-1 Govind Singh resident of village Vishunpura, PW-2 Vijay Shankar Lal resident of village Basdeva, P.W.4- Satya Narain is resident of village Ujayat and P.W-.5 Km Rekha Singh resident of village Vishunpura. None of the witness is resident of village Karo. As per Ext Ka-1 at the time of incident Manas Path was going on and PW-1 Govind Singh in his oral testimony has stated that before two days of the incident Manas Path was going on and from his cross examination nothing has been extracted so that any adverse inference can be drawn. PW-2 Vijai Shankar Lal and PW-4 Satya Narain too have stated that at the time of incident i.e. on 24.2.1987 at 9.00a.m. Manas Path was going on and from their cross examination also nothing has been elicited by defence so that any adverse inference can be drawn. Thus prosecution evidence regarding Manas Path at the time of incident is intact and consistent. This fact is also supported by statement of accused Gauri Shankar made u/s 313 Cr PC in which he has stated that from two days before the incident Manas Path was going but persons mentioned were not present in the Manas Path. In view of the above, it is established that on 24.2.1987 at 9.00 a.m., Manas Path was going on, therefore, contention of learned counsel for the appellants bears no force that none of witness is resident of village Karo that is why story of Manas Path has been introduced.

30. As per Ext Ka-1 as well evidence adduced by prosecution, none of the accused was armed with fire arm but as per Ext Ka-10 proved by PW-8 Sri T N Mishra the investigating officer, four live and one empty, cartridges were recovered from the place of incidence. Since prosecution has not alleged that accused were armed with fire arm, therefore merely on the basis of recovery of live and empty cartridges, prosecution case can not be doubted.

31. Learned counsel for appellants regarding suppression of genesis and origin of the occurrence has referred para 11 of judgment in case of Lakshmi Singh vs. State of Bihar (supra) in which Hon'ble Supreme Court has held as under:

"According to the doctor injury No.1 was grievous in nature as it resulted in compound fracture of the fibula bone. The other two injuries were also serious injuries which had been inflicted by a sharp-cutting weapon. Having regard to the circumstances of the case there can be no doubt that Dasrath Singh must have received these injuries in the course of the assault, because it has not been suggested or contended that the injuries could be self-inflicted nor it is believable. In these circumstances, therefore, it was the bounded duty of the prosecution to give a reasonable explanation for the injuries sustained by the accused Dasrath Singh in the course of the occurrence."

32. In other referred case of Bhagwan Sahai and Another vs. State of Rajasthan (supra), in para 8 of the judgment referred by learned counsel for the appellant Hon'ble Supreme Court has held as under:

"8. The aforesaid view of the High Court is devoid of legal merits. Once the Court came to a finding that the prosecution has suppressed the genesis and origin of the occurrence and also failed to explain the injuries on the person of the accused including death of father of the appellants, the only possible and probable course left open was to grant benefit of doubt to the appellants. The appellants can legitimately claim right to use force once they saw their parents being assaulted and when actually it has been shown that due to such assault and injury their father subsequently died. In the given facts, adverse inference must be drawn against the prosecution for not offering any explanation much less a plausible one. Drawing of such adverse inference is given a go-bye in the case of free fight mainly because the occurrence in that case may take place at different spots and in such a manner that a witness may not reasonably be expected to see and therefore explain the injuries sustained by the defence party. This is not the factual situation in the present case. "

33. In the instant case PW-3 Shivanand Pandey scribe of chik FIR Ext Ka-2 has admitted in his statement that on the basis of oral information of informant Gauri Shankar HCP No 14 had registered a case on the same day at 10.15 a.m. against Ramakant, Jai Singh and Dharmakshad Singh u/s 325, 504 IPC. PW-8. Sri T N Mishra, investigating officer has also stated that on 24.2.87 at 10.15 a.m. NCR No 24/87 was registered by Gauri Shankar against Ramakant and two others. As per copy of NCR available on record on 24.2.87 at 9.00 a.m. Gauri Shankar had gone to worship in the Math at that time Jaisheel and Dhareekshad Singh caught hold of him and Ramakant beat him with lathi from which he had received injury on his head. As per injury report Ext.Kha of Gauri Shankar dated 24.02.1987 one lacerated and three contused injuries have been found as under:

(i). Lacerated wound 1.5 cm. x 0.5 cm. skin deep on head.

(ii). Contusion 30 cm. x 1cm. on upper part back of chest.

(iii). Contusion 11 cm. x 1cm. on the Rt side back of chest 6.5 cm. below the injury no. 2.

(iv). Contusion 1.5 cm. x 0.5 cm. on the Lt side-back of chest of Scapula.

All injuries were simple in nature caused by some blunt object duration fresh. Thus from the injury report of the accused Gauri Shankar it is clear that his injuries were simple in nature.

34. In para 10 of its judgment in the case of Gurwinder Singh alias Sonu and another vs State of Punjab and another (2018) 16 SCC 525, Hon'ble Supreme Court has held as under:

"It cannot be held as an invariable proposition that as soon as the accused received the injuries in the same transaction, the complainant party were the aggressors -it cannot be held as a rule that the prosecution is obliged to explain the injuries and on failure of the same, the prosecution case should be disbelieved. It is well settled that before placing the burden on the prosecution to explain the injuries on the person of the accused, two conditions are to be satisfied:-(i) the injuries were sustained by the accused in the same transaction; and (ii) the injuries sustained by the accused are serious in nature."

35. It is not the defence case that accused Gauri Shankar had received injury in the same transaction of the incident as alleged by the prosecution. Therefore, in view of the law laid down by Hon'ble Supreme Court in the above referred case of Gurwinder Singh alias Sonu and another vs State of Punjab and another supra, prosecution is not obliged to explain the injury of the accused Gauri Shankar.

36. Otherwise, also, in the instant case injuries of accused are simple in nature. In the case of Laxmi Singh vs State of Bihar (supra) referred by learned counsel for the appellant injury no. 1 of accused Dasrath Singh was found grievous in nature and in Bhagwan Sahai and another vs State of Rajasthan (supra) prosecution had not explained the injuries on the person of the accused including death of the father of appellants from which it is clear that the injuries received in the referred cases were grievous in nature. Therefore in the referred cases prosecution was obliged to explain the injuries received to the accused side. In the instant case appellant Gauri Shankar has received simple injuries. Since facts and circumstances of the referred cases differ from the instant case, therefore, the finding of the referred cases are not applicable in the instant case.

37. It is admitted fact that accused Gauri Shankar had lodged NCR against the deceased and two others on the same day disclosing time of occurrence 9.00 a.m. which is the time of occurrence in the instant case also but there is no opportunity to test the veracity of its content because it was not investigated as stated by PW-8 T. N. Mishra in cross examination that he did not investigate the NCR registered by the accused taking permission from the court.

38. Since, accused Gauri Shankar did not receive the injuries in the same transaction of the incident as alleged by the prosecution as well as injuries of the accused being simple in nature and there was no opportunity to test veracity of the contents of NCR lodged by the accused, therefore, on the basis of injuries of accused Gauri Shankar and NCR lodged by him, it cannot be held that prosecution has suppressed the genesis of the case. Accordingly, contention of the learned counsel for the appellants is not tenable that prosecution has suppressed the genesis and origin of the occurrence.

39. To test veracity of the witness learned counsel for the appellants has referred para 39 of the judgment in the case of Govindaraju @ Govind vs. State by Sriramapuram P.S., (supra) in which Hon'ble Supreme Court has held as under:

"39. The injuries were piercing injuries between the intercasal space and the stab injuries damaged both the heart and the lungs. It has been noticed by the High Court that according to PW-1, the victim was not able to talk. The post mortem report clearly establishes injuries by knife. But the vital question is who caused these injuries. It takes some time to cause so many injuries, that too, on the one portion of the body i.e. the chest. If the statement of PW1 is to be taken to its logical conclusion, then it must follow that when the said witness saw the incident, the accused Govindaraju was not stabbing the deceased but, was watching the police coming towards them and had called upon one of the other accused, Goverdhan, to run away as the police was coming. Obviously, it must have also taken some time for the accused to inflict so many injuries upon the chest of the deceased. Thus, this would have provided sufficient time to PW1 to reach the spot, particularly when, according to the said witness he was only at a distance of 30 yards and was on a motorcycle. At this point of time, stabbing had not commenced as the accused were alleged to be chasing the victims. Despite of all this, PW-1 was not able to stop the further stabbing and/or running away of the accused, though he was on a motor cycle, equipped with a weapon and in a place where there were shops such as the VNR Bar and also nearby the conservancy area, which pre-supposes a thickly populated area. Thus, the statement of PW-1 does not even find corroboration from the medical evidence on record. The High Court in its judgment has correctly noticed that the place of incident in front of VNR Bar of Sriramapuram was not really in dispute and having regard to the time and place, it was quite possible, at least for the persons working in the Bar, to know what exactly had happened. With this object, PW-7 was produced who, unfortunately, did not support the case of the prosecution. Having noticed this, we are unable to appreciate the reasons for the High Court to disturb the finding of acquittal recorded by the learned trial Court."

40. Learned counsel in this regard has referred the other case of Balaka Singh and others vs. The State of Punjab, (supra) in referred para 9 of its judgment Hon'ble Supreme Court has held as under:

"9. In order to test the veracity of the prosecution witnesses we find that one of the eye witnesses, namely, Waryam Singh has deposed that Gurmej Kaur, the wife of the deceased, who was drawing water, from the hand pump when the accused came, ran towards Dharam Singh and fell upon his body in order to protect him from receiving further injuries. At this the appellant Balaka Singh is alleged to have given her a barchha blow on her right hand and the appellant Joginder Singh gave a barchha blow on the left buttock of Gurmej Kaur. According to the evidence of this witness the two appellants Balaka Singh and Joginder Singh appear to have assaulted Gurmej Kaur with a sharp-cutting instrument, namely, barchha and spear. This version is completely falsified by the medical evidence of Dr. Mohinder Singh who examined Gurmej Kaur and who stated in his evidence that all the injuries on Gurmej Kaur were caused by blunt weapon. Moreover out of the six injuries which Gurmej Kaur received on her body not a single one could be caused by a sharp- cutting instrument because there was no penetrating or incised wounds. The injuries were either contusions, abrasions or lacerated wounds. While the witness Waryam G- Singh says that the accused Joginder Singh had given a barchha blow on the left buttock of Gurmej Kaur, according to the medical evidence, it was a lacerated wound deep on the upper and outer part of the leftbuttock. This, therefore, clearly demonstrates the extent to which the witnesses could have gone in order to implicate all the accused."

41. Before adverting to evidence for purpose of testing veracity of the witness, it would be proper to refer to Modi

Medical Jurisprudence and Toxicology, 23rd Edition Reprint 2011, according to which for occurrence an abrasion, there must be pressure of an object and it should move on the skin to form an abrasion. Bruise or contusions are injuries which are caused by a blow from a blunt weapon, such as a club, lathi, whip, iron bar, stone, ball, fingers, fist, boots or by a fall, or by crushing or compression. These are accompanied by a painful swelling and crushing or tearing of the subcutaneous tissues without solution of continuity of the skin.

42. As per Ext. Ka-1 accused Gauri Shankar alias Bachchan Yadav, Shivshankar Yadav, Vishwanath Upadhay, Munna Lal @ Sachidanand Lal, Ramashish Yadav and Ramakant Yadav armed with lathi and bhala assaulted deceased Ramakant on account of which he died. The incident was witnessed by informant PW-1 Govind Singh, PW-2 Vijai Lal, PW-4 Satya Narayan Singh, Rambaran Chaudhary and many others. Informant PW-1 Govind Singh in his oral testimony has stated that accused Gauri Shankar @ Bachchan Yadav, Ramashish, Ramakant, Shivshankar had lathi and Sachidanand Lal and Vishwanath Upadhay had bhala in their hand and surrounding the deceased near moonj of Sarpat crossing the bhita of Vishwanath Barai accused assaulted him with lathi and bhala. Receiving the injury his brother fell down, after fleeing away of accused persons they saw that Ramakant has died. In cross-examination he has stated that he had seen the injuries on head, neck and arms on the body of the deceased Ramakant Singh. There was a mark of cut on the neck, he did not measure how much the neck was cut but it was bleeding. He did not see from which arm it was cut. He has further stated that in the assault bhala was used he did not see any stab wound, he cannot tell about the cut marks were of lathi or bhala. He has specifically stated that in the assault lathi and bhala were used and he had also seen a mark of cut on the neck which was bleeding also but as per medical report Ext. Ka-4 proved by PW-7 Dr. G.C. Updhayay no cut mark injury either on neck or on any other part of the body has been found, it is also considerable that on assaulting by six person from lathi and bhala only two lacerated wound will not occur and abrasion injuries are not possible on assault by lathi and bhala, thus, the oral evidence is not supported with the medical evidence, the injuries found in the medical report are not probable in the alleged manner of assault, demonstrate that actually the witness did not see the incident that is why he has made such a statement. Accordingly, his evidence does not inspire confidence that he was an eye-witness of the incident.

43. Prosecution has examined the other named witness in the FIR PW-2 Vijay Shankar Lal who has stated that at the time of incident Ramakant Singh was living in a dhaba of Mathia and his daughter Rekha was also with him. He heard a noise when he was sitting in the Manas Path, on which he along with Govind Singh, Satya Narayan Singh, Rambaran Chaudhary rushed to the dhaba and saw that accused Gauri Shankar @ Ram Bachan, Vishwanath Upadhayay, Munnalal @ Sachidanand Lal, Shiv shankar, Ramakant and Ramashish were trying to break open the door of Ramakant, they were abusing and exhorting him to come out. Munna Lal and Vishwanath had bhala and remaining had lathi in their hand when the door was not opened then at once they rushed towards East side turning from South side of the dhaba, witness Vijai Shankar Lal, Govind Singh, Satya Narayan Singh, Rambaran Chaudhary also ran behind the accused. Ramakant was running towards East turning from South side house of Sitaram and when deceased Ramakant reached North-East corner near the bhita of Vishwanath Barai, the accused started assaulting him with lathi and bhala. In cross-examination he has stated that on falling the deceased, he had seen assaulting with bhala. He has specifically stated that 2-3 bhala blows were inflicted and he had seen hitting 2-3 bhala blows. He has further stated that from left side bhala blows were given and all the bhala blows hit the thigh. He has also stated that he had seen the injuries on teeth and eyes. As per medical evidence no bhala injuries on the thigh has been found. On teeth and eye also no injury has been found. Thus, oral evidence of this witness also is not corroborated with the medical evidence. Oral evidence not finding corroboration with the medical evidence, demonstrate that this witness also actually did not see the incident that is why he has made such a statement. Further in examination-in-chief he has stated that on 24.2.1987 at 9:00 a.m. Manas Path was going on and along with him 5-6 persons, were also present but in cross-examination he has stated that at 8:30 a.m. he left the Math, if it was so then at 9:00 a.m., i.e. at the time of incident he would not have been present there, therefore, at the same stage his statement regarding his presence becomes contradictory which also indicates his presence doubtful at the time of incident. It is also considerable that as stated by this witness, the injuries found in the medical report are not compatible with the assault made by the accused. In view of the above discussion, evidence of this witness also does not inspire confidence regarding him to be an eye witness.

44. Prosecution has examined PW-4 Satya Narayan Singh also as an eye-witness of the incident who on repeated asking about who came at 9:00 a.m. and what happened he kept mum and on asking which accused came then he replied Bachan @ Gauri Shankar, Shivhankar, Ramakant, Vishwanath and Munna Lal, came. He did not name accused Ramashish and on asking which arms were in whose hand he replied that they had lakda (wooden piece). He further stated that Shivshankar and Rambachan had lakda and Munna Lal had bhala. On asking by government counsel he has stated that Vishvanath had bhala in his hand. On further asking about what happened after they came on the door and struck the door, he replied that all persons ran away crossing the boundary. Again on asking about who assaulted whom he has stated that Bachan, Vishwanath, Munna Lal and after a minute stated Ramakant assaulted. The whole statement made by this witness in examination in chief itself creates a shadow of doubt about him to be witness of the incident. This witness has set-up a new case of Lakda being in the hands of accused in place of lathi. He has also not taken the name of accused Ramashish and about assault he has taken the name of four accused only. He has also stated that all the persons ran away crossing the boundary while according to FIR and other witnesses the accused turning from the south side dhaba rushed towards east side. Thus his statement is neither consistent with the FIR nor consistent with the evidence of PW-1

Govind Singh and PW-2 Vijay Shankar Lal. In view of the above, the evidence of this witness also does not inspire confidence to be eye witness of the incidence.

45. Prosecution has examined PW-5 Km. Rekha Singh, fourth witness, also as eye-witness of the incident who has stated that on 24.02.1987 she had gone to the dhaba of Mathiya for delivering milk to her father at about 8:30 a.m. she heard sound for beating Ramakant then she locked the door. Her father jumping East-side boundary wall fled, the accused Gauri Shankar, Shivshankar, Ramashish, Ramakant, Munna Lal and Vishwanath Upadhayay started beating the door with lathi and on not opening the door all the accused turning from South chased her father running towards East, then she came out opening the door and saw that the accused were chasing her father and to rescue her father Govind Singh her elder father (i.e. uncle), Vijay Shankar, Satya Narayan Singh and Bachhan Chaudhary were following the accused persons, she also followed them. Munna Lal, Vishwanath had bhala, Gauri Shankar, Vijay Shankar, Ramashish and Ramakant had lathi in their hand, reaching to moonj of Sarpat towards East-North bhita of Vishwanath Barai, Ramashish gave a lathi blow on the leg of her father again he gave another blow on her father's head on which he fell down then all the accused started beating him with their lathis. When accused were beating her father, apart from her, the incident was witnessed by her elder father Govind Singh, Vijay Shankar, Satya Narayan Singh and Bachhan Chaudhary. This witness has stated that Munna Lal and Vishwanath had bhala in their hand but while assaulting her father, in chief examination itself she has stated that Ramashish gave first blow of lathi on leg then other blow on head and when he fell down all the accused assaulted by lathi while accused Munna Lal and Vishwanath had bhala in their hand. If accused Munna Lal and Vishvanath had bhala in their hand and they had gone with an intention to kill, then they would have used the weapon in their hand in natural fashion of its use. On the other hand P.W.1 Govind Singh and P.W.2 Vijai Shankar Lal have stated that the accused had given bhala blow. Thus, her statement does not appear natural one. Her statement is also not consistent with the evidence of PW-1 Govind Singh and PW-2 Vijai Shankar Lal with regard to bhala and lathi blow. As per medical report, abrasion on the right arm, abrasion on right ankle joint, abrasion on the back of thigh and abrasion on right side face below the right eye have been found but in view of Modi Medical Jurisprudence referred above, on giving lathi blow only abrasion injury will not occur. Thus, the injuries found in medical report as stated by her, are not compatible with the assault made by the accused persons. In cross examination she has stated that she could not see who was assaulting by bhala and who was assaulting with lathi which further creates doubt as to whether she had witnessed the incident. It appears that when no injury of bhala was found in medical report then the version has been changed by the witness regarding giving lathi blow by all the accused. In cross-examination she has stated that she had told the investigating officer that Ramashish had given lathi blow on the leg if this statement is not recorded by the investigating officer, then she cannot tell any reason, which indicates that she has given such statement first time in court that Ramashish gave lathi blow in the leg of her father. Similarly she has also stated that she had not told the investigating officer that Munna Lal had assaulted by lathi but she had told that Munna Lal had no lathi, he had bhala which indicates that this witness has again stated first time in court that Munna Lal had bhala in his hand. Km Rekha has specified that first and second lathi blow was given by Ramashish to the deceased. According to her statement, her elder father and other witnesses were following the accused ahead of her, but they do not specify the role of assault by the accused persons. The statement of the witness as discussed above demonstrate that this witness also did not see the incident that is why she has given such a statement. Evidence of this witness is also not consistent with the evidence of PW-1 Govind Singh and PW-2 Vijai Shankar Lal. Apart from it, PW-1 Govind Singh in cross-examination at page 23 of the paper book has stated that the incident was witnessed by Vijay Lal, Satya Narayan Singh and Bachhan, they saw that his brother had died at that time his brother's daughter Rekha and his nephew Akshay also arrived which too indicates that witness Rekha did not see the incident. In view of the above, the evidence of this witness also does not inspire confidence.

46. In the instant case it is notable that as per medical report Ext Ka-4 deceased Ramakant had received four abrasion injuries and two lacerated wounds. In view of the above referred Modi Medical Jurisprudence and Toxicology if all the six accused had assaulted the deceased with bhala and lathi as stated by witnesses, then only two lacerated wounds are not probable and on giving blow by bhala and lathi abrasion injuries will not occur. From bhala blow piercing or incise injury will occur. In the instant case piercing or incised injury has not been found which demonstrate that the manner of occurrence which has been brought forth by the prosecution is not tenable.

47. Thus, considering the evidence available on record as discussed above, ocular evidence is not consistent with the medical evidence, evidence of prosecution witnesses do not inspire confidence, keeping in view the opinion of Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Balaka Singh and others vs. The State of Punjab, (supra) the injuries found on the body of the deceased demonstrate that the manner of the incident as alleged by the prosecution does not appear probable one which creates doubt regarding the witnesses to be the eye-witness of the incident.

48. The learned counsel for the appellant has referred the case of State of Uttar Pradesh vs. Wasif Haider etc., (supra) with regard to benefit accruing due to faulty investigation.

49. In the referred case four accused were specifically identified from a group of 200-300 rioters with 100% perfection without mention of any distinction marks, test identification parade was also conducted after a delay of 55 days and explanation for delay was also not offered. Identity of accused was also not concealed, F.S.L report was not compatible with each other and place of occurrence was also not ascertained with precision, therefore, Hon'ble Supreme Court held that investigative lapse has fortified the presumption of innocence and accused were held entitled for benefit of doubt.

50. In referred para 24 and 25 Hon'ble Supreme Court has held as under:

"24. In the present case, the cumulative effect of the aforesaid investigative lapses has fortified the presumption of innocence in favor of the accused-respondents. In such cases, the benefit of doubt arising out of a faulty investigation accrues in favor of the accused.

25. Although we acknowledge the gravity of the offence alleged against the accused-respondents and the unfortunate fact of a senior official losing his life in furtherance of his duty we cannot overlook the fact that the lapses in the investigation have disabled the prosecution to prove the culpability of the accused. The accused cannot be expected to relinquish his innocence at the hands of an inefficacious prosecution, which is ridden with investigative deficiencies. The benefit of doubt arising out of such inefficient investigation, must be bestowed upon the accused."

51. In the instant case, as per spot map Ext. Ka-13 proved by PW-8 Sri TN Mishra, Investigating Officer, place A has been shown, the place of incident, place C has been shown, dhaba of the Math and by round mark running of deceased and by dash mark chasing by accused has been shown. Mark B has been shown from where the deceased ran away jumping the boundary wall, in the spot map position of witnesses has not been indicated. The spot map has been prepared on the date of incident itself, i.e on 24.02.1987. If the witnesses had seen the incident then the place from where they had seen the incident should have been marked, which is a lapse on the part of investigating officer.

52. In the instant case, it is also notable that in the spot map Ext Ka-13 from the main door of the dhaba accused have been shown running and running from Southern wall of house of Sitabhar towards North up to end of the Northern wall, then they turned towards South and deceased also ran from the Northern wall side of house of Sitabhar towards South, thereafter both ran towards East side and turning after some distance towards North and again turning towards East reached the place of incident. If it actually happened so, then at the corner of North-East wall of Sitabhar from where, both, deceased and accused were running parallel towards South accused would have caught the deceased at the corner or at some distance from there and if deceased had already left the Northern corner place situated adjacent to the house of Sitabhar, then there was no reason for the accused to turn from Southern side to North side up to almost end of the Northern wall of Sitabhar, which also creates doubt about its authenticity, being inherently improbable.

53. In view of above discussion,keeping in mind the opinion of the referred case of State of U.P. vs. Wasif Haider etc., (supra) inherent improbability in the map and lapse in the investigation also casts a doubt on the prosecution case and on account of above a benefit accrues in favour of accused.

54. Learned counsel for the appellants has referred the case of Balaka Singh and others vs. The State of Punjab, (supra) in support of his contention that FIR was not registered at the alleged time. In referred para 7 of the judgment Hon'ble Supreme Court has held as under:

"7. Another finding which demolishes the entire edifice and fabric of the prosecution case is that the F. I. R. itself was not written at 10 P. M. as alleged by the informant Banta Singh but it was written out after the inquest report was prepared by the A. S. I. and after the names of the four accused acquitted by the High Court were inserted in the inquest report. If this is true then the entire case of the prosecution becomes extremely doubtful. The High Court has also derived support from another important circumstance to come to the conclusion that the F.I.R. was not written at 10 P. M. as alleged by the prosecution but after the preparation of the inquest report at about 2-30 A.M. The High Court points out that according to the prosecution the special report reached the Ilaqa Magistrate at 11 A. M. on September 2, i. e. more than 12 hours after the F. I. R. was lodged at the police station whereas it should have been delivered to the Ilaqa Magistrate during the night or at least in the early morning. Counsel appearing for the appellants submitted that under the High Court Circulars and the Police Rules it was incumbent upon the Inspector who recorded the F. I. R. to send a copy of the F. I. B. to the Ilaqa Magistrate immediately without any loss of time and the delay in sending the F. I. R. has not been properly explained by the prosecution as rightly held by the High Court. It is, therefore, clear that the F. I. R. itself was a belated document and came into existence during the small hours of September 2, 1966. Indeed if this was so, then there was sufficient time for the prosecution party who are undoubtedly inimical to the accused to deliberate and prepare a false case not only against the four accused who have been acquitted, but against the other five appellants also. The High Court also found that the best person to explain the delay in sending the special report to the Ilaqa Magistrate was the Police Constable who had carried the F. I. R. to the Ilaqa Magistrate but the Constable has not been examined, by the prosecution. On this point the High Court observed as follows :

"The delay with which the special report was made available to the Ilaqa Magistrate is indicative of the fact that the first information report did not come into existence probably till about sunrise by when the dead body had already been dispatched for the purpose of post-mortem examination to Patiala along with the inquest report, so that the Investigating Officer was no longer in a position to make alterations in the body of that report and all that he could do was to add later on the names of the said four appellants to its heading."

"This finding of the High Court is based on cogent materials and convincing reasons, but unfortunately the High Court has not considered the effect of this finding on the truth of the prosecution case with regard to the participation of the appellants. In our opinion, in view of the finding given by the High Court it has been dearly established that the F. I. R. was lodged not at 10 P. M. as alleged by the prosecution but some time in the early morning of September 2, 1966. If this was so, then the F. I. R. lost its authenticity. If the prosecution could go to the extent of implicating four innocent persons by inserting their names in the inquest report and in the F. I. R. which was written subsequent to the inquest report they could very well have put in the names of the other five appellants also because they were equally inimical to the prosecution party, and there could be no difficulty in doing so because it is found by the High Court that all the prosecution witnesses belonged to one party who are on inimical terms with the accused."

55. Learned counsel with regard to FIR was not registered at the alleged time, has referred another case of Badam Singh vs. State of M.P., (supra). In referred para 15 and 23 Hon'ble Supreme Court has held as under:

"15. One other fact which is worth noticing at this stage is the despatch of the special report from the police station, and its receipt by the Ilaqa Magistrate. As noticed earlier, the occurrence took place at about 5.30 p.m. and the matter was reported to the police at 11.15 p.m. The evidence produced shows that the special report was despatched on 27.9.1986 (Ex. P-17) to the Judicial Magistrate, Class I at Pichhor. The same was received by the Magistrate on 6.10.1986 as per Ex. P-18. The Investigating Officer was questioned on this aspect of the matter but he stated that he had given the special report to the Head Constable Moharrir to send it to the concerned Magistrate, and he had entrusted him with the responsibility of taking the report to the concerned Magistrate. When questioned, he categorically replied that he could not tell why copy of the said report Ex. P-18 reached the Magistrate on 6.10.1986. He denied the suggestion that a fake entry about despatch of the report to the Magistrate was made. From the evidence on record it cannot be denied that the report was received by the concerned Magistrate 10 days after it was allegedly despatched."

"23. The prosecution, as we have noticed earlier, has also failed to explain the delay in receipt of the special report by the concerned Magistrate. As is apparent from the evidence on record the special report despatched on the night intervening the 27th and 28th September, 1986 reached the concerned Magistrate on 8.10.1986. The Investigating Officer categorically stated that he was in a position to give any explanation for it."

56. As per FIR Ext. Ka-2 incident had occurred on 24.02.1987 at 9:00 a.m. and information at the police station was given on the same day at 10:30 a.m. According to inquest memo Ext. Ka-5 report at the police station was given at 9:00 a.m. on 24.02.1987, inquest was started at 11:30 a.m. and ended at 14:30 p.m. In inquest memo Ext. Ka-5 it is also mentioned that dead body was dispatched for postmortem report along with 11 papers including FIR. As per police Form-13 Ext. Ka-9 dead body was received on 24.02.1987 at 9:00 p.m. and papers were received on 25.02.1987 at 09:25 a.m. Postmortem was conducted on 25.02.1987 at 02:00 p.m. PW-8 T N Mishra investigating officer has stated that papers were received by doctor on 25.02.1987 at 09:25 a.m. and in police Form-13 date of reaching dead body is mentioned, in date of 24.02.1987 there appears some overwriting or dispersion on 4. He has also stated that he did not record the statement of the police who carried the dead body for postmortem. The police who carried the dead body for post-mortem was the best person to explain why the dead body was received on 24.02.1987 at 09:00 p.m. and papers were received at 09:25 a.m. On 25.02.1987, but prosecution has withheld him, which is also a lapse on the part of investigating officer and it creates a doubt as to sending the papers along with the dead body for postmortem.

57. According to Investigating Officer after registration of the case he recorded statement of informant Govind Singh thereafter along with force and informant reached the place of incident and prepared inquest memo of the deceased Ramakant. Generally, inquest memo is prepared by appointing panches among the persons present on the spot and it also finds mention in the inquest memo but in the instant case on going through the inquest memo Ext Ka-5 it would be clear that there is no mention how the panches have been appointed. As per inquest memo Ext. Ka-5 Kamlesh Singh, Sunil Kumar Upadhyay, Satyanarain Singh, Vijay Shankar Lal and Ramanand Singh were appointed panch for preparing inquest memo. Informant Govind Singh was also present at the time of inquest memo but he was not appointed panch which also creates a doubt regarding his presence at the time of preparation of inquest memo.

58. In the inquest memo there is mention that in opinion of panches death of the deceased was caused by causing injury with bhala and lathi while one of the panch PW-2 Vijai Shankar Lal has stated in his cross-examination that he made signature on the inquest memo at 11-12 a.m., at that time inquest memo was kept filled and on asking of investigating officer he put his signature on it. He has further stated that inquest memo was not prepared before him. When he put his signature dead body was sealed which demonstrate that his opinion was not taken about the cause of death of the deceased. This fact speaks in volume about veracity of inquest memo.

59. It is also noticed that as per inquest memo 12 injuries were found on the dead body as under:

(i). Four blooded injuries on shin of right leg.

(ii). Sic.

(iii). Blooded injury on right arm.

(iv). Contusion interior side of left arm.

(v). Blooded injury in right eye.

(x). Injury sic.

(xi). Pressed mark on front neck.

(xii). On right thigh inner side blooded injury.

60. As per postmortem report Ext Ka-4 only six injuries have been found and no injury on right leg shin, nose, right eye and neck have been found. In this regard on asking by defence about getting explanation from the doctor for finding only six injuries, investigating officer has stated that he forgot it. Thus inquest memo contradicts postmortem report and the contradiction also creates a suspicion on proper preparation of inquest memo.

61. PW-3 Shivanand Pandey in cross-examination has admitted that he did not obtain signature of informant on chik FIR Ext. Ka-2. He has also stated that in the note column of FIR it is written that signature or thumb impression should be obtained of the informant at the end but signature of informant has not been obtained in chik FIR.

62. In view of the above, when we bestow our consideration cumulatively in the matter, i.e., mentioning of reporting time in the inquest memo 09:00 a.m., not obtaining signature of the informant on the chik FIR after registration of the case, not appointing informant panch for inquest memo, as per inquest memo Ext Ka-5, investigating officer found 12 injuries but as per postmortem report Ext Ka-4 only six injuries were found, preparation of inquest memo without presence of PW-2 Vijai Shankar Lal and obtaining his signature after sealing the dead body, dead body was received to the doctor on 24.02.1987 at 09:00 p.m. but papers were handed over to him at 09:25 a.m., all these facts demonstrate that although after information to the police station, inquest was conducted and dead body was dispatched for postmortem but FIR was not in existence and investigating officer was marking time with a view to decide about the shape to be given to the case and eye witness to be introduced that is why in the inquest memo it has been mentioned that including FIR 11 papers were sent for postmortem but it were not handed over to the doctor at the time of receiving dead body by the doctor. Accordingly, we do not find force in the contention of learned AGA that reporting time in the inquest memo was wrongly recorded.

63. As per chik FIR incident occurred on 24.02.1987 at 09:00 a.m. its information was given at police station on the same day and it has been received by concerned magistrate on 27.03.1987. PW-8 Investigating Officer on asking when FIR was sent to head quarter or magistrate from the police station, he has replied that it is sent by head moharrir he cannot tell of which responsibility is not on police station officer. He has further stated that he had sent special report but without looking GD he cannot tell, then he was directed to tell the number in the afternoon by bringing the GD but on going through his whole testimony it is borne out that no such number has been told by him regarding sending special report. Thus the delay in sending special report to the concerned magistrate is not explained.

64. In the instant case according to chik FIR Ext. Ka-2 all the accused assaulted deceased with lathi and bhala having in their hand. In oral testimony PW-1 Govind Singh as well as PW-2 Vijay Shankar Lal, PW-5 Kumari Rekha Singh have specified that accused Gauri Shankar @ Bachchan Yadav, Ramashish, Ramakant, Shivshankar had lathi and Sachidanand Lal @ Munna Lal and Vishwanath Upadhyay had bhala in their hand. As per postmortem report no bhala injury has been found, two lacerated wound caused by blunt object have been found. On going through the whole evidence on record it is not distinguishable, who is author of those two lacerated wound except one lacerated wound as per P.W.5 Km. Rekha, might have been caused by accused Ramashish. The alleged eye-witnesses in above discussion have not been found eye-witnesses of the incident. Accused Vishwanath assigned role of bhala has been acquitted. In view of the law laid down by Hon'ble Supreme Court in Balaka Singh and others vs. The State of Punjab (supra) referred by the learned counsel for the appellants, we find that the witnesses who can implicate the appellants and two other accused with regard to assault on the deceased it is not possible to reject the prosecution case with respect to two accused and accept it with respect to the appellants.

65. It is not disputed that accused Gauri Shankar had lodged NCR no. 14/87, u/s 323, 504 (wrongly mentioned 325). It is evident from the statement of PW-3 Shivanand Pandey, PW-8 investigating officer and reply made by accused Gauri Shankar in statement u/s 313 Cr.P.C of question no. 16. Although the NCR lodged by the accused Gauri Shankar against the deceased and two other persons was not investigated and injury caused to him was also not of grievous nature but in the NCR lodged by the accused it is alleged that he had gone at the Math to worship where the incident occurred at 9.00 a.m. and in the instant case also incident has occurred at 9.00 a.m. but at different place, which creates strong suspicion against the accused Gauri Shankar to be involved in causing incident but suspicion however strong may be it can not take the place of proof as held by Hon'ble Supreme Court in Digamber Vaishnav and another vs State of Chandigarh, (supra). If for the sake of argument it is assumed that incident occurred at 9.00 a.m. with the accused Gauri Shankar at the Math and in that sequence deceased Ramakant was killed then prosecution should have disclosed it as alleged by the prosecution that witnesses were present in the Math, where, Maanas Path was going on and if it was falsely lodged, investigating officer should have investigated and unearthed the truth of it but he did not investigate the NCR. It is well settled that benefit of doubt always goes in favour of accused, therefore, in both the situations i.e., not coming fairly with the prosecution story or not going to the reality of NCR by investigating officer, benefit will go in favour of accused.

66. PW-1 Govind Singh has stated that his brother Rmakant had taken on lease Gaon Sabha pond for fishing. Accused on pretext of drinking water and bathing their animals were causing damage to the fishes, that is why his brother had forbidden them due to which accused Gauri Shankar @ Bachchan Yadav, Ramashish Yadav, Ramakant Yadav, Vishvanath Upadhyay, Sachchidanand Lal, Munni Lal and Shiv Shankar Yadav were bearing enmity with his brother. He has also stated that he has no knowledge that deceased Ramakant Singh had instituted a case U/S 379 against Sipahi Bhar for stealing fish. State vs Jayram Village Case had also proceeded before this incident and deceased Ramakant Singh was witness in the case. A case u/s 436 IPC was instituted by Vijay Bahadur Singh against Madan Yadav in which property of the deceased was attached and this witness was witness in the case, in which accused were acquitted. He has also stated that deceased Ramakant Singh had a gun which was deposited in the case u/s 307 IPC because there was allegation against boys of the family for keeping illegal carbine. It has been also stated that deceased Ramakant Singh had instituted a case u/s 379 IPC against Ramchandra in which Rambaran was a witness, which was also instituted before this incident which indicates that deceased had litigation of criminal cases from others also, therefore, grievance of other persons against the deceased also cannot be ruled out. In case of enmity with others, there is a possibility of causing the incident by other inimical persons also.

67. In view of the facts and circumstances of the case and evidence available on record as discussed above we find that prosecution evidence is scattered, witnesses produced by prosecution do not inspire confidence that they are eye-witnesses of the incident, oral testimony is also not consistent with the medical evidence, manner of assault as alleged also does not correspond with the injury of deceased found in medical report, there are lapses on the part of investigating officer also. Prosecution has miserably failed to prove the charge against the appellant-accused. Learned trial court has not passed the judgment and order evaluating the evidence available on record in proper perspective, therefore, it is perverse and not sustainable accordingly, it is liable to set aside.

68. Appeals are allowed, judgment and order recorded by learned trial court under appeal dated 05.2.2001 is set aside. Appellants are acquitted of the charge framed against them. They are on bail, their bail bonds are discharged. Appellants are directed to comply the provision of section 437-A Cr.P.C. to the satisfaction of the court concerned.

69. Registry is directed to send the order and original record to the court below for compliance.

1. This Criminal Appeal under Section 374(2) of Criminal Procedure Code has been filed by accused appellants Onkar and Uma Shankar, who have been convicted under Section 302 I.P.C. and consequently, sentenced to life imprisonment vide judgment and order dated 11.04.1983 passed by VIIIth Additional Sessions Judge, Kanpur in S.T. No. 306 of 1982 (State Vs. Onkar and others) under Section 302 I.P.C., Police Station-Chaubepur, District-Kanpur Dehat.

2. We have heard Mr. Satish Trivedi, Senior Advocate, assisted by Mr. Sheshadri Trivedi, learned counsel for appellants and Mr. Syed Ali Murtaza, learned Additional Government Advocate for State-respondent.

3. Prosecution case in brief as emerging from FIR dated 07.09.1982 as well as the material available on record may be stated as under:

4. An occurrence took place on 07.09.1982 in which Laxmi Narain died. In respect of aforesaid occurrence, a written report dated 07.09.1982 (Ext. Ka-1) was presented at police station Chaubeypur, District Kanpur on 07.09.1982 by First Informant, P.W.2-Darshan Devi, alleging therein that in the afternoon of 07.09.1982, Informant, her mother-in-law Mst. Mathura Kunwari, Informant's son Durga Prasad and Laxmi Narain, elder brother of Informant's husband, were present at their home. Informant's nephews namely Onkar, Uma Shankar and Smt. Geeta Devi wife of Onkar, were also present in the house. At the instance of Mathura Kunwari, mother-in-law of Informant, elder brother of Informant's husband, Laxmi Narain had sold wood of a mango tree, which had fallen down, for a consideration of Rs.900/-. At about 12.30 PM on 7.9.1982, Onkar objected to Laxmi Narain claiming that he too had share in the wood sold by him and demanded money of his share, whereupon Laxmi Narain said that the fallen mango tree belonged to his mother and it was at her instance that, wood of fallen mango tree was sold. This got Onkar infuriated and he threatened that he would teach a lesson. Thereafter Onkar armed with sickle (Hansiya) and Uma Shankar armed with Spud (Khurpi) started assaulting Laxmi Narain; Smt. Geeta Devi also caught hold Laxmi Narain and all the three persons felled Laxmi Narain on the ground and inflicted injuries on his legs, arms and neck with sickle and spud. On account of injuries inflicted Laxmi Narain died instantaneously. Informant and her mother-in-law raised alarm, whereupon villagers Shiv Ram Singh, Raj Bahadur Singh and other persons in the vicinity arrived on the spot and witnessed the incident. Accused Onkar, Uma Shankar and Smt. Geeta, after committing murder of Laxmi Narain fled away from the place of occurrence. On the basis of written report (Ext. Ka-1), P.W.-5 Head Moharrir Ram Prasad Misra made relevant entries in the general diary. He thereafter prepared the Check F.I.R. (Ext. Ka-4).

5. Thereafter investigation of case was undertaken by P.W.-7, Sub-Inspector D.S. Sharma, Station Officer, P.S. Chaubeypur, District Kanpur. He recorded statement of P.W.2 Darshan Devi (Informant), visited the place of occurrence and prepared inquest (Ext. Ka-6). He also prepared Photo LASH and Challan LASH (Ext. Ka-7) and (Ext. Ka-8), respectively. He thereafter dispatched the dead body for postmortem examination after duly sealing the same through constable Jeet Narain Chaubey, P.W.1. He prepared the site plan (Ext.

Ka-10) on the pointing of First Informant. He collected blood stained and plain earth in two separate boxes, sealed them and prepared recovery memo Ext. Ka-11. He marked sealed boxes as Material Ext. 1 and 2. Thereafter he sent both sealed boxes for Serological examination to the Serologist along with towel (Ext. 1), Janeu (Ext.4) Shirt (Ext.5) in a sealed bundle.

18-Incised wound present on the right side back of neck size 6 cm x 1.5cm x muscle deep.

19-Incised wound present on the back of left shoulder over border of scapula size 3 cm x 1/2 cm x muscle deep.

20-Incised wound present on the back of left shoulder 5 cm x 2.5cm x muscle deep.

21-Incised wound present on the back of left shoulder 5 cm x 1 cm x muscle deep one cm below injury no.20.

7. On external examination P.W.8 found that 6th cervical vertebral was cut corresponding to injury no.17. Heart was empty and weighed 180 grams. Vessels of left side neck were cut. Stomach was empty; small intestine was empty but filled with gases; large intestine was found half filled with gases.

8. In the opinion of autopsy surgeon, death of deceased was caused due to shock and haemorrhage, as a result of ante mortem injuries.

9. Thereafter on receipt of report of Serologist (Ext. Ka-12) and (Ext. Ka-13), and after conclusion of investigation, P.W.7, S.I., D.S. Sharma Investigating Officer submitted charge sheet dated 4.10.1982 (Ext. Ka-14) in the Court against Onkar, Uma Shankar and Geeta Devi.

10. Upon submission of aforesaid charge-sheet, cognizance was taken by the Chief Judicial Magistrate, Kanpur vide cognizance taking order dated 14.10.1982 under Section 302 IPC. As the case was triable by Court of Sessions, the matter was accordingly committed to Court of Sessions, Kanpur vide committal order dated 20.11.1982, passed by C.J.M. Kanpur. Consequently, Sessions Trial No. 306 of 1982 (State Vs. Onkar and others) under Section 302 I.P.C., P.S. Chaubepur, District-Kanpur came to be registered.

11. Aforesaid Sessions Trial was subsequently transferred to the Court of VIIIth Additional District and Sessions Judge, Kanpur, who framed charges against accused namely Geeta Devi, Onkar and Uma Shankar vide framing of charge orders dated 18.01.1983. Charges against Geeta Devi, Onkar and Uma Shankar, read as under:

Charge framed against Geeta Devi

"I, G.A. Farooqi,VIII Addl. District & Sessions Judge, Kanpur-NMA do hereby charge you Smt. Geeta Devi as follows:

That you on 7.9.82 at about 12.30 noon in village Kharagpur, P.S. Chaubeypur, Distt. Kanpur-Dehat from common intention with Onkar and Uma Shanker to commit the murder of Luxmi Narain and in furtherance of that common intention you alongwith Onkar and Uma Shanker committed murder by intentionally causing the death of Luxmi Narain and thereby committed an offence punishable U/s 302 IPC read with Section 34 I.P.C. and within my cognizance.

And I, hereby direct that you be tried on the aforesaid charge by me."

Charge framed against Onkar and Uma Shanker

"I, G.A. Farooqi,VIII Addl. District & Sessions Judge, Kanpur-NMA do hereby charge you Onkar and Uma Shanker as follows:

That you on 7.9.82 at about 12.30 noon in village Kharagpur, P.S. Chaubeypur, Distt. Kanpur-Dehat committed murder by intentionally causing the death of Luxmi Narain and thereby committed an offence punishable U/s 302 IPC and within my cognizance.

And I, hereby direct that you be tried on the aforesaid charge by me."

12. Accused persons denied the charges so framed and demanded trial. Consequently, burden fell upon prosecution to bring home the charges levelled against accused.

13. Accordingly, prosecution in support of its case, adduced eight witnesses, out of whom, P.W.2 Darshan Devi (Informant), P.W.3 Durga Prasad and P.W.6 Raj Bahadur Singh are witnesses of fact, who have deposed material facts about the occurrence.

14 P.W.1 C.P. No. 3109, Constable Jeet Narain Dubey, was posted at Police Station Chaubeypur, District-Kanpur Dehat on 7.9.1982. This witness took the dead body of deceased for postmortem on 7.9.1982 and got postmortem of body of the deceased conducted on 8.9.1982. This witness was cross-examined with regard to the timing of postmortem as well as the distance between hospital and Police Station. However, defence could not dislodge this witness. As such, his testimony remains intact.

15. P.W.-2 Darshan Devi, wife of Radhe Shyam is a witness of fact. It is this witness who had submitted written report dated 7.9.1982 at Police Station Chaubeypur, District Kanpur Dehat, of the occurrence dated 7.9.1982. This witness has clearly proved the manner of occurrence and also the place of occurrence. She has implicated accused persons namely, Onkar, Uma Shanker, and Geeta Devi in the commission of crime. She has clearly assigned role of causing injury to deceased to Onkar and Uma Shanker. This witness was recalled and also cross-examined but she remained intact.

16. P.W.-3, Durga Prasad is a child witness. This witness has also deposed regarding the manner of occurrence and also place of occurrence. His testimony has been consistent and inspite of lengthy cross-examination, prosecution could not dislodge him.

17. P.W.4 Naresh Chandra, is the area Lekhpal. He has proved Khatauni Ext. Ka-2 in respect of Survey Plot No. 738 area 3 bigha recorded in the name of Mathura Kunwari Kaith, Ram Autar and Jwala Prasad sons of Ramma.

18. P.W.5 is H.C. No. 72 Ram Prasad Mishra. This witness was posted as Head Moharrir at P.S. Chaubeypur, District Kanpur Dehat. This witness entered written report dated 7.9.1982 in the general diary and thereafter, prepared Check F.IR (Ext. Ka-4). He has proved Check F.I.R. (Ex. Ka-4) as well as G.D. entry regarding written report (Ex. Ka-5). This witness was cross-examined with regard to the timing of lodging of F.I.R. and also the person in whose presence F.I.R. was registered. However, defence could not cull out any such statement from him on the basis of which testimony of this witness could be doubted.

19. P.W.-6 Ram Bahadur Singh is a witness of fact and a neighbour of First Informant. This witness has deposed before Court below that he has witnessed the occurrence. He has accordingly described the manner of occurrence as well as the place of occurrence. His testimony, by and large, is similar to P.W.2 Darshan Devi and P.W.3 Durga Prasad. This witness was cross-examined by defence but defence failed to dislodge him.

20. P.W.7 Sri D.S. Sharma is the Investigating Officer, who has proved inquest report Ext. Ka-6, Photo Nash and Challan Nash as Ext. Ka-7 and Ext. Ka-8, specimen seal Ext. Ka-9, Site Plan Ext. Ka-10, Blood Stained and Plain Earth sealed in two separate boxes, Material Exhibits (M. Ext.) 1 and 2, Recovery Memo in respect thereof Ext. Ka-11. He has also proved Towel (M. Ext.3), Janeu (M. Ext.4) and Shirt (M.Ext.5), which were sent to Serologist for analysis. Report received from Serologist Ext. Ka-12 and Ext. Ka-13 and Charge-sheet Ext.Ka-14, have been proved by him.

21. P.W.8 Dr. S.C. Gupta, had conducted autopsy on the dead body of deceased. He has proved Postmortem Report Ext. Ka-15 prepared by him. This witness had described nature of injuries found on the body of deceased as incised wounds and also detailed the status of body. This witness has clearly supported that injuries sustained by deceased could have been caused by weapons of assault namely, sickle (hansiya) and spud (Khurpi). This witness has also suggested the time of death of deceased which is similar to timing of incident stated in the F.I.R. Inspite of detailed cross-examination, prosecution failed to dislodge this witness.

22. Defence in support of its case, adduced three witnesses namely D.W.-1, Krishna Gopal, D.W.-2 Ram Gopal Verma and D.W.-3 Chandrabhan Singh. However, all the three defence witnesses were disbelieved by Court below.

23. After prosecution evidence was over, all the incriminating material and adverse circumstances were disclosed to the accused for their version of occurrence in terms of Section 313 Cr.P.C. The accused persons denied most of the questions by repeatedly saying that it is false or they have no knowledge regarding the same.

24. On behalf of accused, it was urged before Court-below that P.W.6 Raj Bahadur Singh is not an independent witness; he has illicit connection with Smt. Darshan Devi and has been cultivating land on Batai, as such, he is a partisan witness, therefore, his testimony could not be relied upon; non production of neighbouring witnesses makes prosecution case highly doubtful; as per the site plan, witnesses are shown to have arrived at the place of occurrence from western side whereas, P.W.6 Raj Bahadur has deposed that he came from eastern side to the place of occurrence; F.I.R. is ante-time; no food was found in the stomach of deceased, therefore, defence case that deceased Laxmi Narayan was murdered in the night stand supported by the statement of Doctor. It was also urged that P.W. 8 Dr. S.C. Gupta, who conducted autopsy on the body of deceased, has not stated that death was caused due to shock and hemorrhage, due to ante-mortem injuries; as such, it is not proved that Laxmi Narayan has died because of shock and hemorrhage as a result of ante-mortem injuries. Mother of Laxmi Narayan was the best witness to prove the occurrence and her non production makes prosecution case doubtful. Accused Geeta Devi is entitled to get the benefit of doubt as there is no evidence to show that Smt. Geeta Devi has also assaulted Laxmi Narayan with any weapon.

25 The Court below meticulously and exhaustively dealt with each of the above mentioned submissions urged on behalf of the accused-appellants to dislodge the prosecution case and vice-versa in proof of their innocence. Upon evaluation of the said submissions, in the light of the proposition required to be addressed in a case relating to direct evidence i.e. prosecution witnesses of fact are credible and reliable, none of the submissions urged on behalf of accused-appellants to dislodge the prosecution case were found cogent enough by Court below to believe another hypothesis much-less a reasonable hypothesis than the one pleaded by prosecution. Consequently, Court below by means of judgement and order dated 11.04.1983 convicted accused Onkar and Uma Shanker under Section 302 I.P.C. but acquitted accused Geeta Devi by extending her the benefit of doubt. Hence feeling aggrieved by judgement and order dated 13.09.2012, as detailed above, accused-appellants have now approached this Court by means of present criminal appeal.

26. Learned counsel for appellants urged that Court below has observed in impugned judgement that there is no evidence on record to show that the accused appellants assaulted deceased with a pre-meditated mind, which resulted in the death of Laxmi Narain, the deceased, as such, no conviction under Section 302 I.P.C. was possible. However, Court below has not specifically dealt with this issue.

27. Elaborating his argument, learned Senior Counsel for appellants submits that the case in hand is liable to be considered in the light of the provisions contained in Section 304 part 1 I.P.C. As per prosecution evidence itself there is nothing to show that there was a premeditated mind on the part of the accused-appellants to commit the crime. As such it is urged that the case in hand is one which is required to be judged on the principle of sudden quarrel. Consequently other findings rendered by Court below have been challenged by learned Senior Counsel for appellants.

28. However, this Court being the last Court of fact and also the legal obligation with which a Court of appeal is cloaked, we have to scrutinize the findings recorded by Court-below and also evaluate oral evidence on record to find out whether conviction of the accused-appellants deserves to be maintained, modified or same is liable to be set-aside.

29. This brings us to the issue relating to the appreciation of evidence by appellate Court as held in State of Uttar Pradesh Vs. Krishna Master and Others, as reported in 2010 (12) SCC 324. Paragraphs 15, 16, 17, 24 of aforesaid judgement clearly deal with the manner in which the evidence of the eye-witnesses is to be evaluated in a criminal case. Paragraphs 15, 16, 17 and 24 are accordingly reproduced herein below:-

15. Before appreciating evidence of the witnesses examined in the case, it would be instructive to refer to the criteria for appreciation of oral evidence. While appreciating the evidence of a witness, the approach must be whether the evidence of witness read as a whole appears to have a ring of truth. Once that impression is found, it is undoubtedly necessary for the Court to scrutinize the evidence more particularly keeping in view the deficiencies, drawbacks and infirmities pointed out in the evidence as a whole and evaluate them to find out whether it is against the general tenor of the evidence and whether the earlier evaluation of the evidence is shaken as to render it unworthy of belief. Minor discrepancies on trivial matters not touching the core of the case, hyper-technical approach by taking sentences torn out of context here or there from the evidence, attaching importance to some technical error committed by the investigating officer not going to the root of the matter would not ordinarily permit rejection of the evidence as a whole.

16. If the Court before whom the witness gives evidence had the opportunity to form the opinion about the general tenor of the evidence given by the witness, the appellate Court which had not this benefit will have to attach due weight to the appreciation of evidence by the Trial Court and unless the reasons are weighty and formidable, it would not be proper for the appellate Court to reject the evidence on the ground of variations or infirmities in the matter of trivial details. Minor omissions in the police statements are never considered to be fatal. The statements given by the witnesses before the Police are meant to be brief statements and could not take place of evidence in the Court. Small/trivial omissions would not justify a finding by Court that the witnesses concerned are liars. The prosecution evidence may suffer from inconsistencies here and discrepancies there, but that is a short-coming from which no criminal case is free. The main thing to be seen is whether those inconsistencies go to the root of the matter or pertain to insignificant aspects thereof. In the former case, the defence may be justified in seeking advantage of incongruities obtaining in the evidence. In the latter, however, no such benefit may be available to it.

17. In the deposition of witnesses, there are always normal discrepancies, howsoever, honest and truthful they may be. These discrepancies are due to normal errors of observation, normal errors of memory due to lapse of time, due to mental disposition, shock and horror at the time of occurrence and threat to the life. It is not unoften that improvements in earlier version are made at the trial in order to give a boost to the prosecution case albeit foolishly. Therefore, it is the duty of the Court to separate falsehood from the truth. In sifting the evidence, the Court has to attempt to separate the chaff from the grains in every case and this attempt cannot be abandoned on the ground that the case is baffling unless the evidence is really so confusing or conflicting that the process cannot reasonably be carried out. In the light of these principles, this Court will have to determine whether the evidence of eye-witnesses examined in this case proves the prosecution case.

24. The basic principle of appreciation of evidence of a rustic witness who is not educated and comes from a poor strata of society is that the evidence of such a witness should be appreciated as a whole. The rustic witness as compared to an educated witness is not expected to remember every small detail of the incident and the manner in which the incident had happened more particularly when his evidence is recorded after a lapse of time. Further, a witness is bound to face shock of the untimely death of his near relative(s). Therefore, the Court must keep in mind all these relevant factors while appreciating evidence of a rustic witness."

30. Applying aforesaid observations made by Apex Court to the case in hand, we find that Court-below has rightly held that prosecution witnesses of fact are credible and reliable and hence, their testimony is worthy of credit. There is no such contradiction, embellishment or exaggeration in the testimony of prosecution witnesses of fact so as to discard the same. The testimony of prosecution witnesses of fact has been similar in content and consistent throughout. We have ourselves also examined oral testimony of prosecution witnesses of fact in the light of observations made by Apex Court as referred to above and inescapable conclusion is that the testimony of prosecution witnesses of fact have to be relied upon and dealt with accordingly.

31. We have already referred to the proposition which is required to be addressed by a Court while dealing with a case of direct evidence. The veracity of prosecution case is to be judged in the light of the same. P.W.-2, Darshan Devi, P.W.3 Durga Prasad and P.W.-6, Raj Bahadur Singh, are eye witnesses of the occurrence. They have fully proved the occurrence. The defence in cross-examination of these witnesses could not dislodge their testimony nor could it cull out any such thing on the basis whereof it could be even remotely inferred that the aforesaid eye-witnesses of fact are not credible and reliable and hence not worthy of trust. The three prosecution witnesses of fact namely P.W.-2 Darshan Devi, P.W.-3, Durga Prasad and P.W.-6 Raj Bahadur Singh have been consistent throughout regarding description of the manner of occurrence. They have also proved the identity of accused persons, which further stands corroborated from the fact that the accused have been nominated by name in the F.I.R. The defence, in spite of detailed and lengthy cross-examination of these witnesses, could not bring another hypothesis regarding the presence of accused at the time and place of occurrence. Secondly, the prosecution case that deceased died on account of the Ante-Mortem injuries caused upon the deceased by two of the named accused persons, stands corroborated by medical evidence, i.e., the Post-Mortem Report (Ext. Ka. -1) as well as the testimony of P.W.-8, Dr. S. C. Gupta, who conducted autopsy on the body of deceased. He has described ante-mortem injuries found on the body of the deceased as Incised Wounds. He has also discussed ante-mortem injuries found on the body of the deceased as incised wounds, which could have only been caused by the weapons of assault, namely, sickle (Hansiya) and Spud (Khurpi) in the hands of two of the the accused. The opinion of Doctor regarding time of death of deceased also leads to the same inference that occurrence took place around 12.30PM. Thirdly, on the question of motive, it may be noted that in a case of direct evidence motive is irrelevant. But there can be no motiveless malignancy also. All the prosecution witnesses of fact have been consistent in their statements throughout regarding the cause behind the occurrence i.e. the demand of his share of money by Onkar in the consideration received from selling wood of a fallen mango tree. In the description of the manner of occurrence right from the beginning upto death of deceased, all the prosecution witnesses have been consistent and natural. Thus prosecution was able to prove the same story which it set out to prove. Lastly, the submission urged on behalf of accused-appellants that there was no pre-meditated mind to commit the crime coupled with the fact that the accused-appellants have not come out with their version of occurrence, clearly amounts to an admission qua the happening of the occurrence in the manner alleged by the prosecution itself.

32. In view of our agreement with the findings recorded by Court below on the various circumstances urged on behalf of the accused-appellants regarding proof of their innocence, the inescapable conclusion is that the prosecution has succeeded in establishing its case. Therefore, the conclusion drawn by the Court below holding that the accused are guilty of committing murder of Laxmi Narain (deceased) cannot be faulted with.

33. However, we find that the case in hand relates to a sudden act. There is nothing on record to show that there was any mens rea on the part of present accused-appellants to commit the alleged crime or there was any such circumstance to establish existence of a calculated mens rea to take revenge of any such act committed by the deceased prior to the occurrence or there was pre existing enmity between the two. This aspect of the matter has remained untouched by Court-below.

34. Thus the question which arises for determination in this appeal is "whether the case in hand is one relating to culpable homicide amounting to murder (punishable under Section 302 I.P.C.) or culpable homicide not amounting to murder (punishable under Section 304 I.P.C.)."

35. The law takes care of such a situation. Section 300 IPC lays down the exceptions to Section 299 IPC which deals with culpable homicide not amounting to murder. Any act done upon sudden and grave provocation is the 4th exception to Section 300 IPC. For ready reference Sections 299 and 300 IPC are reproduced herein-under:

299. Culpable homicide.--Whoever causes death by doing an act with the intention of causing death, or with the intention of causing such bodily injury as is likely to cause death, or with the knowledge that he is likely by such act to cause death, commits the offence of culpable homicide.

300. Murder.--Except in the cases hereinafter excepted, culpable homicide is murder, if the act by which the death is caused is done with the intention of causing death, or-

(Secondly) --If it is done with the intention of causing such bodily injury as the offender knows to be likely to cause the death of the person to whom the harm is caused, or--

(Thirdly) --If it is done with the intention of causing bodily injury to any person and the bodily injury intended to be inflicted is sufficient in the ordinary course of nature to cause death, or--

(Fourthly) --If the person committing the act knows that it is so imminently dangerous that it must, in all probability, cause death or such bodily injury as is likely to cause death, and commits such act without any excuse for incurring the risk of causing death or such injury as aforesaid.

36. It would be worthwhile to refer to judgment in Surain Singh Vs. State of Punjab reported in 2017 (5) SCC 796, wherein Court in paragraphs 13 and 14 has explained law relating to the 4th exception to Section 300 Cr.P.C. The same are quoted herein-below:-

13. Exception 4 to Section 300 of the Indian Penal Code applies in the absence of any premeditation. This is very clear from the wordings of the Exception itself. The exception contemplates that the sudden fight shall start upon the heat of passion on a sudden quarrel. The fourth exception to Section 300 Indian Penal Code covers acts done in a sudden fight. The said Exception deals with a case of provocation not covered by the First exception, after which its place would have been more appropriate. The Exception is founded upon the same principle, for in both there is absence of premeditation. But, while in the case of Exception 1 there is total deprivation of self control, in case of Exception 4, there is only that heat of passion which clouds men's sober reason and urges them to deeds which they would not otherwise do. There is provocation in Exception 4 as in Exception 1, but the injury done is not the direct consequence of that provocation. In fact, Exception 4 deals with cases in which notwithstanding that a blow may have been struck, or some provocation given in the origin of the dispute or in whatever way the quarrel may have originated, yet the subsequent conduct of both parties puts them in respect of guilt upon an equal footing. A"sudden fight" implies mutual provocation and blows on each side. The homicide committed is then clearly not traceable to unilateral provocation, nor could in such cases the whole blame be placed on one side. For if it were so, the Exception more appropriately applicable would be Exception 1. There is no previous deliberation or determination to fight. A fight suddenly takes place, for which both parties are more or less to be blamed. It may be that one of them starts it, but if the other had not aggravated it by his own conduct it would not have taken the serious turn it did. There is then mutual provocation and aggravation, and it is difficult to apportion the share of blame which attaches to each fighter.

14. The help of Exception 4 can be invoked if death is caused (a) without premeditation, (b) in a sudden fight, (c) without the offenders having taken undue advantage or acted in a cruel or unusual manner, and (d) the fight must have been with the person killed. To bring a case within Exception 4 all the ingredients mentioned in it must be found. It is to be noted that the "fight" occurring in Exception 4 to Section 300 Indian Penal Code is not defined in Indian Penal Code. It takes two to make a fight. Heat of passion requires that there must be no time for the passions to cool down and in this case, the parties had worked themselves into fury on account of the verbal altercation in the beginning. A fight is a combat between two and more persons whether with or without weapons. It is not possible to enunciate any general Rule as to what shall be deemed to be a sudden quarrel. It is a question of fact and whether a quarrel is sudden or not must necessarily depend upon the proved facts of each case. For the application of Exception 4, it is not sufficient to show that there was a sudden quarrel and there was no premeditation. It must further be shown that the offender has not taken undue advantage or acted in a cruel or unusual manner. The expression "undue advantage" as used in the provision means "unfair advantage".

37. In the light of above, we are of the view that case in hand clearly falls within the exceptions provided for in Section 300 I.P.C.

38. Accordingly, we uphold the view taken by Court below that accused appellants are guilty of committing murder of deceased Laxmi Narain but the offence committed comes within the ambit of Section 304 Part-I IPC and not 302 IPC. However, for the reasons mentioned herein above, we modify the punishment awarded to accused-appellants by Court-below.

39. The conviction of accused-appellants under Section 302 I.P.C. as imposed by VIIIth Additional Sessions Judge, Court No. 8, Kanpur vide judgement and order dated 11.04.1983 is converted into conviction under Section 304 Part-I I.P.C. Consequently, appellants shall undergo rigorous imprisonment for a period of 10 years if not already completed. Appellants shall be released after calculating remission under relevant provisions of Code of Criminal Procedure/completion of sentence. Appellants, namely, Onkar and Uma Shanker are in jail. They shall serve out the sentence so awarded if not already completed.

40. The appeal is partly allowed.

41. Office is directed to send back the lower court record to the concerned Court below forthwith.

42. Let a copy of this order be communicated to concerned Jail Superintendent as well as Legal Services Authority, High Court, Allahabad.

List of cases cited: -

1. Sajjan Singh & ors. Vs St. of M.P. (1999) SCC (Cri.) 44.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Mrs. Rekha Dikshit, J.)

1. Since above-mentioned appeals have been filed against conviction order passed by the trial court by a common judgment, the same are being decided by a common judgment.

2. These appeals arise against the judgment of conviction and order of sentence dated 25.11.2005 passed by learned Additional Sessions Judge, Lucknow in Sessions Trial No.1189 of 2001, arising out of Case Crime No.92 of 2000, under Sections 148, 302/149 and 506 I.P.C., Police Station - Bakshi-Ka-Talab, District - Lucknow, whereby the learned Additional Sessions Judge has convicted the accused-appellants, namely, Ram Sahai, Lachiman Pasi, Darshan Pasi, Gaya Prasad and Maharaj Deen under Sections 148, 302/149 and 506 I.P.C., and sentenced them under Section 302 IPC read with Section 149 I.P.C. to undergo life imprisonment, under Section 148 I.P.C. to undergo three years' rigorous imprisonment and under Section 506 IPC to undergo one year rigorous imprisonment.

3. At earlier occasion, the learned members of the Division Bench, Hon'ble Prashant Kumar and Hon'ble Dinesh Kumar Singh, JJ. hearing the appeals, had given different opinion and delivered separate judgements in the aforesaid appeals. Hon'ble Prashant Kumar,J. vide order dated 27.10.2018 allowed the aforesaid appeals and set aside the impugned order of conviction and sentence dated 25.11.2005. Hon'ble Dinesh Kumar Singh,J. vide order dated 27.10.2018 dismissed the aforesaid appeals upholding the impugned order of conviction and sentence.

4. In view of difference of opinion, the matter was laid before Hon'ble the Chief Justice under section 392 Cr.P.C and by order dated 17.11.2018 of the Hon'ble the Chief Justice, matter has been nominated to this Bench.

5. On the issue relating to the scope of hearing of appeals by the third Judge nominated under section 392 Cr.P.C., it was admitted to the learned counsel for the parties that in view of settled position of law, the judgment delivered by the third Judge would be the judgment in Appeals and that would bind the outcome of the appeals and the previous opinions expressed by the learned Hon'ble Judges will not affect the determination of the third Judge, whether or not the third Judge agrees with either of them or with both of them or records a separate finding on the issues involved in the appeals. In this regard, it would be sufficient to reproduce, the observations of the Supreme Court given in the case of Sajjan Singh and others vs. State of M.P. reported in (1999) SCC (Cri.) 44, which is as follows:

"10. Statement of law is now quite explicit. It is the third Judge whose opinion matters; against the judgment that follows therefrom that an appeal lies to this Court by way of special leave petition under Article 136 of the Constitution or under Article 134 of the Constitution or Under Section 379 of the Code. The third Judge is, therefore, required to examine whole of the case independently and it cannot be said that he is bound by that part of the two opinions of the two Judges comprising the Division Bench where there is no difference. As a matter of fact third Judge is not bound by any such opinion of the Division Bench. He is not hearing the matter as if he is sitting in a three Judge Bench where the opinion of majority would prevail".

6. The accused-appellant Lachiman Pasi has reportedly died, as such, Criminal Appeal No.1651 of 2005 against him stands abated vide order dated 16.05.2016.

7. Now, the appeal proceeds against Ram Sahai and Darshan Pasi (Criminal Appeal No.1596 of 2005), Gaya Prasad (Criminal Appeal No.114 of 2006) and Maharaj Deen (Criminal Appeal No.1650 of 2005).

8. Narrated concisely, the prosecution case against the appellants is that on 25.08.2000, in the election of Gramsabha of village Shivpuri, Sonapati (PW-3) a candidate of Up-pradhan [supported by Sandeep Singh (deceased)] was declared elected, whereas Ram Dayal, another candidate of up-pradhan (supported by the appellant Maharaj Deen) had lost the election. It is alleged that because of the aforesaid reason the appellant Maharaj Deen had developed animosity with the deceased.

9. On 31.08.2000 in a meeting of Gram Sabha for appointment of various committees, the deceased asked all the non-members to vacate the meeting hall, as such, the deceased along with Devendra Singh (PW-1), Santosh Singh, Ram Vilas Lodh (DW-1), Virendra Yadav (DW-5) came out of the meeting hall and sat on chairs kept under the sycamore (Guller) tree. A little later, the accused persons, namely, Darshan Pasi, Lachiman Pasi, Gaya Prasad, Sahai Pasi and Maharaj Deen also left the meeting hall and went towards their home. After a little while, Darshan Pasi possessed with Addhi (fire arm), Lachiman Pasi and Sahai Pasi possessed with katta (countrymade pistol), Maharaj Deen and Gaya Prasad possessed with Banka (a sharp cutting weapon) exhorted to kill the deceased Sandeep Singh, whereupon Darshan Pasi shot fire on the deceased, who ran and took shelter inside the boundary wall of Ram Avtar. All the accused- appellants chased and kill the deceased inside the boundary wall of Ram Avtar. The aforesaid occurrence was witnessed by Devendra Singh, Santosh Singh, Ram Vilas Lodh, Virendra Yadav, up-pradhan Sonapati and her husband Kallu.

10. The FIR was lodged on 31.08.2000 at 16.05 hours, registered as Case Crime No.92 of 2000, under Sections 147, 148, 149, 506 and 302 IPC against the accused-appellants. The dead body of the deceased Sandeep Singh was sent for postmortem, where he was examined by Dr. Vinod Kumar (P.W.-4), Exhibit Ka-2 is postmortem report in which antemortem injuries are as follows:-

13. Incised wound 2 cm X 1 cm X muscle deep on back of left wrist joint."

11. Subsequent to lodging the FIR Ram Chandra Dixit (P.W.-5), initially commenced with the investigation, which was handed over to Shri Abdul Rahman (P.W.-7), later on, who proceeded with the same and submitted chargesheet (Exhibit Ka-15) after completion of investigation. The charge was framed against the accused-appellants under Sections 148, 302/149 and 506 IPC by the trial court.

12. To bring home the guilt of the accused-appellants, the prosecution examined as many as eight witnesses, namely, P.W.-1 - Devendra Singh (eye witness), P.W.-2 - Om Prakash Singh (Informant), P.W.-3 - Sonapati (eyewitness), P.W.-4 - Dr. Vinod Kumar, P.W.-5 - Ram Chandra Dixit (Investigating Officer), P.W.-6 - Uday Narayan Shukla, P.W.-7 - Abdul Rahman (Investigating Officer) and P.W.-8 - Vishambhar Singh (scribe of the FIR).

13. P.W.-1, the alleged eyewitness of the said incident, has categorically stated that on the date of incident, the deceased asked all the non-members of the Gram Sabha to leave the meeting hall, as such, he himself along with Santosh Singh, Ram Vilas Lodh, Virendra Pratap Yadav, Kallu Raidas left the meeting hall and sat under sycamore (Guller) tree. It has further been deposed that accused Maharaj Deen, Darshan Pasi, Lachiman Pasi, Gaya Prasad and Sahai Pasi also left the meeting hall and headed towards their houses. After sometime all of them returned back, possessed with firearm, and banka and chased the deceased with the intention of inflicting fatal injuries to him. He has further deposed that Maharaj Deen and Gaya Prasad assaulted the deceased with Banka, whereas Lachiman Pasi and Sahai Pasi inflicted injuries from their Katta, consequently, the deceased received injuries on his neck and skull.

14. P.W.-2 Om Prakash, the complainant and father of the deceased has deposed in his oral testimony that the incident took place on 31.08.2000 and has reiterated the testimony of P.W.-1. It has further been stated that when he returned from school, Devendra Singh, Santosh Singh, Ram Vilas and Virendra Yadav, who were accompanying the deceased came to him and narrated the incident, thereafter he got the complaint scribed by Vishambhar Singh and after signing the same lodged it in the police station concerned. He has also specified that he received the first information report of murder of a son at his home from Devendra Singh and Santosh Singh around 3.00 PM, subsequently the process of scribing and lodging of FIR commenced.

15. P.W.-3 Sonapati wife of Kallu reiterated the political animosity between the parties and also identified the accused-appellants during the trial. She has further narrated the entire incident and categorically stated that the accused applicant present in the court have not committed the said crime but some outsiders murdered the deceased as such she has been declared hostile by the court.

16. P.W.-4 Dr. Vinod Kumar Singh conducted postmortem of the dead body of the deceased and submitted report (Exhibit Ka-2) in which cause of death of the deceased has been assigned to antemortem firearm injuries.

17. P.W.-5 Ram Chandra Dixit initially was entrusted the investigation of the present case. He prepared necessary prosecution documents relating to the crime and forwarded the dead body for postmortem.

18. P.W.-6 Uday Narain, Head Constable has proved in his oral testimony the chik FIR (Exhibit Ka-13) of the present case.

19. P.W.-7 Abdul Rahman, who received the investigation subsequently from P.W.-5 recorded the statement of the witnesses after completion of the investigation, submitted chargesheet (Exhibit Ka-15) against the accused-appellants.

20. P.W.-8 - Vishambhar Singh, the scribe of the written complaint lodged by the complainant, has proved the said report in his oral testimony which is exhibit Ka-1.

21. Incriminating evidence and circumstances were put to the appellants under Section 313 Cr.P.C. in which they categorically stated that they have been falsely implicated in the present case due to political enmity. The accused-appellants Maharaj Deen has specifically denied his presence at the place of occurrence. It has also been stated that the Investigating Officer has submitted chargesheet on wrong and false facts as he has not committed the alleged offence.

22. The appellants have adduced as many as six witnesses in defence, namely, D.W.-1 Ram Vilas, D.W.-2 Ramdayal, D.W.-3 Nadir, D.W.-4 Prem Ashutani, D.W.-5 Virendra Pratap Yadav, D.W.-6 Aneesh Kumar Singh.

23. D.W.-1 Ram Vilas has deposed in his oral testimony that he is familiar with both the parties as he is resident of the same village. He has categorically denied the murder of the deceased by the accused-appellants and has stated that he does not know, who were the assailants of the deceased.

24. D.W.-2 Ramdayal, membership of Shivpuri Gram Panchayat, has deposed in his oral testimony that the deceased was killed on the date of incident but the assailants fled away from the place of occurrence. The present accused-applicants are not the assailants. He has also stated that he witnessed the assailants fleeing away but could not recognize them.

25. D.W.-3 Nadir, Member Village Panchayat Committee, has deposed in his oral testimony that meeting of panchayat members was scheduled at Panchayat Bhawan on 31.08.2000 and the deceased was killed on the same day around 2-2.30 P.M. in the courtyard of Ram Avtar situated near Panchayat Bhawan. After hearing a lot of noise, committee member came out and saw six people fleeing from the place of occurrence. They were possessed with country-made pistol, spears and bankas. He has further stated that none of the accused-appellants has caused murder of the deceased as far as the identification of the assailants is concerned, he could not see their faces.

26. D.W.-4 Prem Ashutani, Joint Director, Saudaik Sahbhagita Unit, U.P. Jal Nigam, has established the presence of accused-appellant Maharaj Deen on duty on the date of incident from 10.00 A.M. to 5.00 P.M. as his signatures were obvious on the attendance register and the register was in the custody of dispatcher, Kali Shankar, as such there is no scope of manipulation.

27. D.W.-5 Virendra Pratap Yadav has stated in his oral testimony that he is acquainted with both the parties and is an eye witness of the said incident. It has further been deposed that none of the accused-appellants has committed the murder of the deceased. He has reiterated the version of the other defence witnesses.

28. D.W.-6 Aneesh Kumar Singh, Development Officer, Village Shivpuri, has deposed in his testimony that he was posted at the aforesaid place from 1999 to 2000 and is well-acquainted with the fact of meeting being held at Panchayat Bhawan. The accused-appellants were not involved in the murder of the deceased and has also categorically stated that he saw the assailants, who murdered the deceased but could not recognize them.

29. The trial court held that the appellants committed the said offence and prosecution established the circumstances, proving the appellants' guilty under Sections 148, 302/149 506 I.P.C. and sentenced them under Section 302 IPC read with Section 149 I.P.C. to undergo life imprisonment, under Section 148 I.P.C. to undergo three years' rigorous imprisonment and under Section 506 IPC to undergo one year rigorous imprisonment. Aggrieved by the verdict of the conviction, the appellants preferred the present appeals.

30. Heard Shri Mridul Rakesh, Senior Advocate assisted by Shri Manish Bajpai, learned counsel for the appellants, Shri Arun Sinha, learned counsel for the appellant in connected appeal and Shri Ranvijay Singh, learned AGA for the State of U.P.

31. Learned counsel for the appellants have submitted that the allegations made in the first information report by the complainant are not in consonance with the facts narrated by P.W.-1 Devendra Singh, the sole witness in support of the prosecution case. It has further been argued that the testimony of P.W.-1 do not correspond with the medical evidence which creates doubt as to whether P.W.-1 has witnesses the incident or not. No firearm injury was found on the neck and skull of the deceased as stated by P.W.-1, instead it was sharp edged weapon injury. It has further been submitted that the alleged eyewitness mentioned in the first information report, namely, Ram Vilas Lodh (D.W.-1), Sonapati (P.W.-3) and Virendra Pratap Yadav (D.W.-5) have not supported the prosecution story, denying the involvement of appellants in the said commission of crime.

32. Learned counsel for the appellants have further submitted that the statement of P.W.-1, the alleged eyewitness was recorded by Investigating Officer after a period of 66 days, though, allegedly he was present at the place of occurrence. It has also not been clarified by the complainant (P.W.-2) as to how he came to know about the alleged incident as he has named the accused-appellants in the first information report, though, admittedly, he was not present at the time of incident. P.W.-1 has categorically stated that he could not meet P.W.-2 to inform about the incident and when he returned to the spot, police was present there. This fact is also admitted that when the first information report was scribed by P.W.-8 at the spot, the police was already present there. It has been specifically submitted that the prosecution has not explained as to how, and on what basis, the police arrived at the spot, which cause a serious dent in the prosecution case.

33. Per contra, learned AGA for the State contended that the prosecution has established the guilt of appellants in the commission of offence through the evidence of P.W.-1 which is fully reliable as his presence at the place of occurrence has not been disputed. The FIR version has fully been supported by oral and documentary evidence, based on the said evidence, the court below rightly convicted the appellants and the impugned judgment warrants no interference . In this context, learned AGA has referred the following judgments:

34. Considered the rival contentions and perused the impugned judgment and order of the trial court and material on record.

35. In the present case, the entire prosecution story rests on the sole testimony of P.W.-1, as the other alleged eyewitness of the occurrence D.W.-1, P.W.-3 and D.W.-5 have not supported the prosecution case and admittedly P.W.-2 (complainant), was not present at the place of occurrence. This legal proposition is not disputed that the conviction in any case can be based on sole testimony of single witness, subject to its trustworthiness and credibility. In this case, the entire case of prosecution rests on the evidence of P.W.-1, who was present at the time of incident, as well as, at the time of preparation of documents by the police, regarding the incident and the dead body, but his statement was not recorded on that day and the reason for the same is unexplained by the Investigating Officer. The statement of P.W.-1 was recorded after lapse of 66 days, without any explanation by the Investigating Officer in his oral deposition also, as P.W.-7. The delay caused in recording the statement of an eyewitness do not create a doubt in the credibility of his evidence but, then, it has to be scrutinized strictly, while appreciating the evidence.

36. A reference may be made to Mohd. Iqbal M. Shaikh & ors versus The State of Maharashtra reported in 1998 (4) SCC 494, wherein it has been observed as under:

"Let us now examine the reliability of the prosecution witnesses through whom the prosecution has to establish that the case against the appellants has been proved beyond reasonable doubt. As has been stated earlier the six witnesses who were supposed to be the eye-witnesses to the occurrence are PWs 1, 2, 3, 4, 9 and 10. It is to be noticed that while PW 4 was examined by the police on 17.1.1993 and PW 3 was examined by the police on 18.1.1993 but PW 2 Surya Kant was examined on 25.1.1993 and the three other eye- witnesses were examined on 29.1.1993 while the occurrence was on 7.1.1993. It is established from the prosecution evidence itself that these witnesses were the inhabitants of Gandhi Chawl where the ghastly incident occurred and immediately on the next day of the occurrence they were shifted to a local school for safety and were staying there. Normally, therefore, there was no justification on the part of the investigating agency in not examining them for this length of time. The only explanation offered by the investigating officer is that on account of riot the Police was busy with law and order problem but that problem did not continue for this length of time and in fact the investigating officer has failed to indicate as to why the eye-witnesses though available had not been examined till 29.1.1993. We are conscious of the fact that merely because a witness was examined after a considerable period from the date of occurrence his evidence need not be discarded on that ground alone but at the same time while testing the credibility and assessing the intrinsic worth of such witnesses the delay in their examination by the police has to be borne in mind and their evidence would require a stricter scrutiny before being accepted....."
(emphasis added)

37. The foremost argument of learned counsel for the appellants to be considered, relates to the fact averred in the first information report and the facts narrated by P.W.-1, the eyewitness, in his oral testimony. This witness has substantiated the fact related to the scheduled meeting in Panchayat Bhawan on the date of the incident, where a number of people along with accused-appellants and the deceased were present but left the meeting hall before it started. After sometime the accused persons came possessed with addhi (firearm), katta and banka with intention of assaulting the deceased. As per his testimony, Darshan Pasi armed with Addhi, Lachiman Pasi and Sahai Pasi armed with a country-made pistol, Maharaj Deen and Daya Prasad with banka, chased the deceased, who took shelter inside boundary wall of Ram Avtar where Lachiman Pasi and Sahai Pasi inflicted injuries from their Katta on his neck and skull, Maharaj Deen and Gaya Prasad assaulted with banka. At the first instance, Darshan Pasi shot fire at him causing injuries on the chest and hand of the deceased. The factual position of assault and injuries as narrated by P.W.-1 do not corroborate with the medical evidence and the postmortem report, as, instead of firearm injuries on head and neck, it was sharp edged weapon injuries, which is not in consonance with the oral testimony of P.W.-1. The fact that the Dharshan Pasi shot fire on the deceased on his chest and palm under the tree do not found support from the physical findings of Investigating Officer as neither any empty cartridge or blood was found under or around the tree.

38. It is worth mentioning that P.W.-1 had categorically deposed that after receiving gun-shot injuries on chest and palm, the deceased ran and took shelter inside the boundary wall of Ram Avtar but no blood was found on the way, and, moreover no point of entry of the deceased inside the boundary wall has been shown in the site plan, if it be taken as that the deceased jumped four feet high boundary wall, which appears to be highly improbable, in an injured condition. The aforesaid submission and appreciation of testimony of P.W,-1 raises a question mark on his credibility and trustworthiness.

39. Thus, the position of law in cases where there is a contradiction between medical evidence and ocular evidence can be crystallised to the effect, that though the ocular testimony of a witness has greater evidentiary value vis-à-vis medical evidence, when medical evidence makes the ocular testimony improbable, that becomes a relevant factor in the process of the evaluation of evidence. However, where the medical evidence goes so far that it completely rules out all possibility of the ocular evidence being true, the ocular evidence may be disbelieved.

40. In the instant case as referred to hereinabove, as many as five assailants attacked one person but the prosecution case from the very inception of FIR, is very clear that accused-appellant Darshan Pasi shot fire when the deceased was sitting under the tree, causing him injury on chest and left palm, Lachiman Pasi and Sahai Pasi fired on his neck and skull inside boundary wall and Maharaj Deen and Gaya Prasad assaulted the deceased with banka. This fact is categorically substantiated by P.W.-1 in his oral testimony. The postmortem report reveals no firearm injury, either on neck or skull or any other part of the dead body, whereas remaining injuries relate to sharp edged weapon, which may be attributed to alleged use of banka by Maharaj Deen and Gaya Prasad.

41. In any event unless the oral evidence is totally irreconcilable with medical evidence, it has primacy but here medical evidence makes ocular evidence improbable, thus, ocular evidence may be disbelieved, moreso in view of the fact that the P.W.-1 is the sole witness to shoulder the entire burden of prosecution case, as such, he has to be wholly reliable and trustworthy. A single fact discrediting the testimony of sole witness of prosecution, on whose premise the guilt is to be upheld, may lead towards his untrustworthiness. Thus, it can reasonably be concluded that a strict scrutiny and appreciation of testimony of P.W.-1 do not make him as much reliable and trustworthy to base the conviction of the accused-appellants on his sole and uncorroborated testimony.

42. It is fairly well settled that FIR is not substantive piece of evidence, but in the present case, the issue is whether FIR was exactly lodged as narrated by P.W.-2. The oral testimony of P.W.-2 indicates that he filed a written complaint on the basis of information received from P.W.-1 (Devendra Singh), Santosh Singh, Ram Vilas (D.W.-1) and Virendra Pratap Yadav (D.W.-5), but it has been specifically denied by P.W.-1 that he ever met P.W.-2 (the complainant) before the scribing of written report. As far as the Ram Vilas (D.W.-1) and Virendra Pratap Yadav (D.W.-5) are concerned, they have deposed before the court as defence witnesses and have neither supported the prosecution case nor the version of P.W.-2 (the complainant), and Santosh Singh has not been produced as witness from either side. As per statement of P.W.-1 when he returned back to the spot, the police was already present there. This fact is also substantiated by P.W.-8 (scribe of the FIR), who has gone to the extent of deposing that it was written on the dictation of the police. Thus, it can be logically and reasonably concluded that the police got the information of the incident prior to lodging of any FIR, as they were present on the spot even before scribing of the FIR, therefore, creating a doubt in the entire prosecution case. The aforesaid discussion effectively establishes the fact that it is not clear as to how P.W.-2 got information of the incident and, how come, the police was present at the spot, even before lodging of any first information report, thus leading towards a serious doubt in the prosecution case. It raises an issue about the information given to the police of the incident, may be the present first information report is an afterthought as the enmity has been claimed by the parties.

43. It is pertinent to mention here that the defence witnesses have narrated an entirely different story, though D.W.-1 (Rama Vilas) and D.W.-5 (Virendra Pratap Yadav) are named as eye witnesses in the first information report, filed by the complainant. This fact goes a step further to create suspicion regarding the genuineness of the case.

44. In view of the above, it appears that only facts which have been established by the prosecution beyond doubt are, that there was ill-will between the parties on account of election, that the murder of the deceased was committed and his dead body was found inside the boundary wall of Ram Avtar on 31.08.2000. These facts raise strong suspicion that the accused-appellants committed the murder of the deceased and the sole testimony of single eye witness be recorded as conclusive of the circumstances of the case. It is highly improbable to conclude on the basis of testimony of single eye witness that the accused-appellants committed murder of the deceased. The prosecution has utterly failed to discharge his burden of proving the accused beyond reasonable doubt at the time and place as alleged in the charge. The accused-appellants are entitled to get benefit of doubt.

45. Thus, on the basis of analysis made herein above, this Court is of the view that the trial court's finding on the point of holding guilty the accused appellants, namely, Ram Sahai, Darshan Pasi, Gaya Prasad and Maharaj Deen for the offence under Sections 148, 302/149 and 506 I.P.C. is not in accordance with the evidence and law and the same is not sustainable, and the appeals filed by the appellants namely Ram Sahai, Darshan Pasi, Gaya Prasad and Maharaj Deen are liable to be allowed.

46. For all the reasons stated above, the appellants are entitled to the benefit of doubt and accordingly are entitled to acquittal.

47. In the result, the appeals are allowed and the judgment and order dated 25.11.2005 passed by learned Additional Sessions Judge, Lucknow in Sessions Trial No.1189 of 2001 is hereby set aside so far as it relates to the appellants, namely, Ram Sahai, Darshan Pasi, Gaya Prasad and Maharaj Deen are acquitted on benefit of doubt of the charges levelled against them.

48. The appellants Ram Sahai, Darshan Pasi and Maharaj Deen are in jail. They shall be released forthwith, if they are not wanted in any other case. The appellant, Gaya Prasad is on bail. He need not surrender. His bail bonds and sureties stand discharged.

49. The Senior Registrar is directed to ensure compliance by forwarding a certified copy of this judgement to the court concerned forthwith.

2. These two appeals have been filed by the appellants Than Singh and Bhima against the judgement and order dated 22.7.1986 passed by the Special Judge, Mathura in S. T. No. 75 of 1986; State Versus Bhima and three others, under Sections-302/34, 201 and 511 I. P. C., P. S.-Vrindavan, district-Mathura by which the appellants have been convicted and sentenced to imprisonment for life under Sections-302/34 I. P. C.

3. Appellant Bhima (in Criminal Appeal No. 2026 of 1986) died during the pendency of the appeal, hence, Criminal Appeal No. 2026 of 1986 was dismissed as abated by this Court vide order dated 1.10.2018.

4. The prosecution story in brief is that on 23.11.1985 an engagement ceremony was being held in the house of Jaswant Singh. Keshav Dev, his brother Ranvir alias Ranno, Raghuvir, son of Gyan Singh and others were going towards the house of Jaswant Singh at about 6.00 P. M. to attend the engagement ceremony. When they reached near the house of Kirori, Hari Singh armed with a gun, Bhima and his nephew Rotan armed with "Kattas", suddenly emerged before them. Than Singh caught hold of Ranno from his waist and Hari Singh ordered all others to run away as they were going to kill Ranno. On which, Keshav Dev and other persons, who were accompanying Ranno, ran into the house of Kirori and thereafter all the accused fired with their firearms at Ranno near the "Chabootara" of Kirori's house. The occurrence was seen by the witnesses from inside the house of Kirori in the light of torch. The incident took place at about 7.00 P. M. Before being shot, Ranno had managed to set himself free from the clutches of Than Singh and had retorted that he would see that who kills him. Thereupon Hari Singh fired a shot in the air and then Than Singh again caught him from his waist and immediately thereafter the accused fired at him from their respective weapons. The deceased fell down on the spot. Hari Singh was a known criminal and Ranno was also a spoiled person and due to fear of Hari Singh, Keshav Dev stayed in the village for sometime and thereafter went to the police outpost and lodged the written report of the occurrence (Ext. Ka 1) at about 9.30 P. M. The distance of the police station from the place of occurrence was about three kms. The case was registered in the G. D. No. 32 in police outpost Jait and S. I. S. K. Kulshrestha proceeded to the place of occurrence. The special report was prepared in the night but was not dispatched due to non-availability of any means of transportation or conveyance. S. I. S. K. Kulshrestha held the inquest on the body of the deceased at the place of occurrence on 24.11.1985 between 7.00 to 9.00 P. M. and prepared the inquest report. Thereafter he got the body of the deceased sealed and dispatched to the police lines through constable Nahar Singh and Hhob Singh along with the inquest report, copy of the G. D., letters addressed to the C. M. O and R. I., photo nash and challan lash and other related papers which were prepared by him on the spot. He also took into the custody plain and blood stained soil and two cartridges from the crime scene and prepared the recovery memos of the aforesaid articles (Ext. Ka 16 and Ka 17). After inspecting the two torches produced by the witnesses Keshav Dev and Rootan before him, he prepared 'Fard Supurdgi' of torches. During the course of investigation a 'Katta' was recovered from the possession of the accused Pooran and the same was sent to the ballistic expert along with the recovered empty cartridges and the ballistic expert vide his report (Ext. Ka 17) reported that the recovered empty cartridges sent along with 'Tamancha' were not fired from the 'Tamancha'. Post mortem examination of the body of the deceased Rootan was conducted on 24.11.1985 by P. W. 5 Dr. P. K. Sharma, Medical Officer, District Hospital, Mathura who found following ante mortem injuries on the body of the deceased:

1. Fire arm wound of entry 3 cm x 2 cm x cavity on the right side of neck just above the wound end of Rt. Clavicle, adjacent in direction towards the back wound and to left arsegun back (bladder) no tatooing or charring;

12. Two firearm wound of exit 3 cm x 2 cm x 2.5 cm corresponding with injury no. 11."

5. Since the offence mentioned in the charge-sheet was triable exclusively by the Court of Sessions, the accused were committed for trial to the Sessions Court by the C. J. M., Mathura where S. T. No. 75 of 1986; State Versus Bhima and three others was registered and was made over for trial from there to the Court of Special Judge, Mathura, who charged all the accused under Sections-302/34 I. P. C. and Pooran was charged separately under Sections-201 and 511 I. P. C. It is noteworthy that the accused Hari Singh is absconding and he has not been arrested till date.

6. The prosecution in order to prove its case examined P. W. 1 Keshav Deo, who is the informant and real brother of the deceased, as an eyewitness of the occurrence. He stated before the trial court that he was going to attend the engagement ceremony of Jasbant's son along with the deceased and some other persons and when he reached near the house of Kirori, the accused armed with deadly weapons accosted them suddenly. He in his evidence has further narrated the manner in which the deceased was killed by the accused as spelt out in the F. I. R. He proved the written report of the occurrence (Ext. Ka 1). He further deposed that he identified the accused in the light of the torch and the same was produced before the Investigating Officer and inspected by him. He proved the memo of torch (Ext. Ka 2). P. W. 2 Raghuvir another eyewitness of the incident who was a resident of the same village and who was allegedly accompanying Keshav Deo and the deceased Ranno at the time of the incident while they were going to the house of Jaswant Singh, in his evidence tendered before the trial Court corroborated the statement of P. W. 1 in all material details. P. W. 3 Jaswant Singh is the third eyewitness of the incident who deposed that he had gone to invite Keshav and others to participate in the engagement ceremony which was taking place in his house and when he along with the deceased and his family members was returning to his house, the incident took place. He also corroborated the evidence of P. W. 1 Keshav Deo in all material particulars. Apart from the three eyewitnesses, the prosecution also examined four formal witnesses. P. W. 5 Dr. P. K. Sharma, who had conducted the post mortem examination of the deceased's body and proved the post mortem report (Ext. Ka 14) of the deceased. He also deposed that panchayatnama, nakshanash and other connected papers (Ext. Ka 5 to Ext. Ka 13) were received by him along with the dead body. P. W. 6 S. I. S. K. Kulshrestha, the first investigating officer of the case, in his evidence tendered before the trial court, narrated the various steps taken by him during the course of investigation. He proved the site plan of the occurrence (Ext. Ka 15), recovery memo of the blood stained earth and empty cartridges collected by him from the place of incident as (Exts.Ka 16 and Ka 17). He also stated that he had recovered a 'katta' from the possession of Pooran on 27.11.1985 and prepared it's recovery memo which was proved by him as (Ext. Ka 18). P. W. 7 S. I. Veerpal Singh proved the inquest report (Ext. Ka 19) by deposing that it was in his handwriting. P. W. 8, the second investigating officer of the case, who had filed the charge-sheet against the accused and proved the same. After recording the prosecution evidence, the accused were examined under Section 313 Cr. P. C. They pleaded not guilty and alleged false implication on account of enmity. They also stated that since admittedly deceased Ranno was a shady character, he was killed by some other person and the accused were falsely roped in.

7. The accused examined Lal Singh, Kishan Chandra, Nawal Singh and Hari Singh, Head Wireless Operator as D. Ws. 1 to 4.

8. D. W. 1 Lal Singh stated before the trial court that his father Jaswant Singh had neither gone to invite Keshav Deo nor the accused had indulged in any brawl.

9. D. W. 2 Kishan Chandra stated that the copy of the F. I. R. was received on 24.11.1985 in the office of the District Magistrate.

10. D. W. 3 Nawal Singh has stated that no recovery memo was prepared before him and that the I. O. neither inspected the torches of Rootan and Keshav Deo in his presence nor he had given the torches to the custody of the witnesses nor prepared 'fard supurdgi'. In the police station he was made to sign some papers. He also deposed that neither any blood stained earth nor empty cartridges were recovered in his presence nor any recovery memo was prepared in his presence, Darogaji had obtained his signatures on three blank papers.

11. D. W. 4 Hari Singh, Head Wireless Operator, Police Office,

Mathura produced the original wireless set message register, which he stated, had been brought by him. He produced the carbon copy of the original message which was received from the police outpost Jait. He deposed during trial that it was in his handwriting and bore his signatures. He further deposed that the aforesaid message was received by him at about 00.25 hrs. Apart from the aforesaid message, he had not received any other message. The message did not contain any details of weapons, witnesses, and place of incident.

12. The Special Judge, Mathura after considering the submissions advanced before him by learned counsel for the parties and scrutinizing the evidence on record convicted the accused-appellants Than Singh and Bheema and awarded aforesaid sentences to them while the accused Pooran and Rootan were acquitted.

13. Sri Bhavya Sahai, learned counsel appearing on behalf of the appellants submitted that the F. I. R. in this case is ante timed. The genesis of the occurrence has not been established by the prosecution. The medical evidence does not corroborate the ocular version. There are material contradictions in the evidence of eyewitnesses.

14. There is no evidence of any source of light at the place of occurrence, as the recovery of torch, in the light of which, the eyewitnesses of the occurrence claimed to have identified the accused, is doubtful. There is no evidence that Than Singh was previously known to the witnesses and hence, how could he be identified by the informant and the witnesses. The false implication of Than Singh is apparent on the face of record. The trial court strangely acquitted the accused Pooran and Rootan on the basis of the same set of evidence, on which, it had convicted the appellant Than Singh.

15. The prosecution also deliberately did not examine Kirori as an eyewitness during the trial in front of whose house, the incident taken place and it was from his house that the witnesses claimed to have seen the occurrence. Although his evidence on the points of assault and presence of the informant and other witnesses at the place of occurrence would have been the most reliable and material to establish the guilt of the accused. Even his statement under Section 161 Cr. P. C. was recorded on 24.11.1985. Neither the recorded conviction of the appellant Than Singh nor the sentence awarded to him can be sustained and are liable to be set aside.

16. Per contra, learned A. G. A. has submitted that it is fully proved from the evidence of three eyewitnesses examined by the prosecution during trial that Rootan was shot dead by the appellant Than Singh along with other co-accused at about 7.00 P M. on 23.11.1985 in front of the house of Kirori, F. I. R. in this case is not ante timed. There is no material contradiction between the medical evidence and the ocular version. All the accused were identified by the witnesses in the light of the torches which were produced before the I. O. of the case on 24.11.1985, inspected by him and found in working order and their 'fard supurdgi' was prepared. The Court below has given cogent reasons for acquitting co-accused Pooran and appellant Than Singh whose case stands entirely on a different footing, is not entitled to claim acquittal on the basis of parity. This appeal lacks merit and is liable to be dismissed.

17. We have heard learned counsel for the parties and perused the entire record.

18. As regards, the first submission made by learned counsel for the appellant that the F. I. R. in this case is ante timed. Our attention has been invited to the fact that the special report of the case and the F. I. R. were sent to the concerned authorities after a considerable delay and there is no mention of the crime number on the various memos prepared at the time of the inquest proceedings including the inquest report. There is also evidence of D. W. 4 Hari Singh on the record who disclosed that the radiogram was received as late as at 12.45 A. M. and time of lodging of the F. I. R. and the arms used by the appellant were not mentioned. In the panchayatnama also the names of the accused and the roles assigned to them individually are not mentioned therein.

19. Per contra, learned A. G. A. has submitted that the radiogram which was received at 12.25 A. M. clearly refers to the names of the accused who were armed with firearms and had committed the murder of Ranno. The radiogram further shows that the S. I. had proceeded to the spot. Radiogram is only a brief message conveyed through wireless only with the object to apprise the authorities and nothing more is expected and needed in it. The radiogram clearly shows that the F. I. R. had already come into existence and investigation had been set in motion.

20. With regard to the non-mention of the case crime on the inquest report, it has been submitted by learned A. G. A. that on the top of the inquest report "silsila no. 119 under Section 302 I. P. C., police out post, Jait" has been mentioned and a copy of the F. I. R. was attached with it.

21. Upon perusing the inquest report (Ext. Ka 5), we find that a copy of the F. I. R. was attached to the inquest report and on the inquest report "silsila no. 119, under Section 302 I.P.C." was mentioned and panch witnesses had opined with regard to cause of death that "bandook evam katton ki goli se mara". However in the copy of the site plan which was prepared on the same day and at the same time, the same Ext. Ka 15 case crime no. 380 was strangely mentioned along with "silsila no. 119".

22. In our opinion, the failure of the Investigating Officer to mention the crime number on the inquest report and the other memos prepared at the time of the inquest was merely an irregularity or at the most an instance of carelessness on his part and the same may not in itself be indicative of the fact that the F. I. R. was ante timed but what has to be seen is that where in a case it appears that the investigation is perfunctory and serious irregularities have been committed by the investigating officer and it is not proved that the special report was promptly dispatched to the concerned authorities, cumulative effect of such omissions or irregularities on the credibility of the prosecution story can always be examined by the Court. Although P. W. 4 who had registered the case, prepared and proved the chik F. I. R. and the G. D. entry (Exts. Ka 3 and 4) in his examination-in-chief had deposed that the special report was dispatched to the concerned authorities through a constable on 24.11.1985 itself, however, he failed to disclose either the name of the constable through whom the special report was dispatched or the name of the constable who had brought back the special report. Record shows that the special report was signed by the C. J. M. and the relevant G. D. entry of 24.11.1985 by which the special report is alleged to have been dispatched, was neither exhibited nor proved during trial although it would have been the best piece of evidence to prove that the special report was sent to the concerned authorities on 24.11.1985 and in that case the delay in signing of the special report by the C. J. M. would not have in any manner adversely affected the prosecution case.

23. Thus, upon consideration of the cumulative effect of the failure of the investigating officer to hold the inquest immediately after the incident on 23.11.1985 and to mention crime numbers on the inquest report and the other memos prepared by him during the inquest, on which, merely "silsila number" was mentioned without any explanation why if the case had been registered, crime number was not mentioned although on the site plan of the place of occurrence (Ext. Ka 15), which was also alleged to have been prepared on the same day, crime number was mentioned and the failure of the prosecution to prove by leading any cogent evidence that the special report was dispatched on 24.11.1985, we hold that the F. I. R. in this case is ante timed. If the F. I. R. had come into existence before holding of the inquest, in that case there was not reason for the I. O. to mention "silsila number" on the inquest report.

24. It has also been argued by learned counsel for the appellant that there is absolute contradiction between the medical evidence and ocular testimony which is irreconcilable. In this regard it may be noted that the prosecution case is that four persons Hari Singh (armed with a gun), his brother Bhola, nephews Rootan and Than Singh (appellant) armed with country made pistols had shot at the deceased from their respective firearms with the intention of causing his death. Recovery memo (Ext. Ka 17) which was prepared by the investigating officer on 24.11.1985 indicates that he had collected two white coloured empty cartridges of 12 bore on which something was written in English and three red colour empty cartridges from the place of incident which were fired by the accused at the deceased Ranno. Ext. Ka 7 was proved during trial by P. W. 6 S. I. Surendra Kumar, the I. O. of the case. The recovery of five empty cartridges from the place of occurrence indicates that at the most five shots were fired by the accused at the deceased. However, the post mortem report of the deceased narrates an entirely different story. As we have already noted that in the post mortem report of the deceased which was proved by P. W. 5 Dr. P. K. Sharma who had conducted autopsy on the dead body of the deceased indicates as many as eight firearm wounds of entry, which indicates that more than five rounds of shots at the time of the incident must have been fired. None of the witnesses have deposed that any of the accused had fired at the deceased twice, hence no explanation is coming forth from the side of the prosecution with regard to the presence of more than five ante mortem gun shot wounds of entry on the body of the deceased. This inconsistency in the oral evidence and medical evidence, in our opinion, is sufficient to discard the prosecution case and hold that none of the witnesses had seen the occurrence.

25. This brings us to the next ground of challenge by learned counsel for the appellant to the impugned judgement and order. It has been argued that it was pitch dark at the time of the incident and although the three witnesses of fact have deposed that they had seen the occurrence in the light of the torches which were being carried by P. W. 1 informant Keshav Deo and Rootan but none of the torches were exhibited during trial although the I. O. of the case P. W. 6 Surendra Kumar deposed that he had inspected both the torches which were of "Jeep make" and found the same to be in working condition and after inspecting the same, he had given the torches in the custody of P. W. 1 and prepared "fard supurdgi" but since the torches were not exhibited during the trial the prosecution's claim that the witnesses had identified the accused in the light of the torches, appears to be extremely doubtful. The prosecution has failed to come up with any explanation for non-production of the two torches in the light whereof, the witnesses had identified the accused but in view of the fact that the witnesses claimed that all the accused were known to them previously and as alleged by the prosecution a close encounter had taken place before the main incident between the accused and the witnesses when the accused after catching hold of the deceased Ranno had ordered all the witnesses to clear as they were going to kill Ranno and in the process, the witnesses must have had an opportunity to have a look at the accused from a very close proximity and hence even if it is held that the prosecution has failed to prove the instances of any source of light at the place of the incident, even then, in our opinion, the witnesses could have easily recognized the accused when they had met the accused in front of the house of Kirori, even if, there was no light as they were previously known to them.

26. But since we have already held that the F. I. R. in this case is ante timed and the medical evidence does not corroborate the ocular version, we cannot help but hold that the three so-called eye-witnesses produced by the prosecution during the trial were planted to suit the prosecution case and they were tutored to depose inculpatory facts against the appellant and the question whether they could have recognized the accused or not is not at all of any relevance and is merely academic.

27. The last ground on which learned counsel for the appellant appearing for Than Singh has challenged his conviction is that all the four accused in this case stood on the same footings. The role of firing at the deceased was assigned to all the four accused Hari Singh, Bheema, Rootan and Than Singh by all the so-called eye-witnesses of the incident. They deposed in unison that while accused Hari was armed with a gun, the other accused Bhola, Rootan and Than Singh were armed with country made pistols and all the four accused had fired at the deceased. The medical evidence on record indicates that as many as eight wounds of entry were found on the body of the deceased. During the course of investigation a country made pistol was recovered on the pointing out of the accused Pooran which was allegedly used by him in shooting Rootan. The recovered country made pistol was sent to the ballistic expert and according to his report dated 8.4.1986, the empty cartridges recovered from the place of occurrence were not fired from that country made pistol. The learned trial Judge on the basis of the report of the ballistic expert acquitted the co-accused Pooran holding that Pooran should not be convicted as the country made pistol recovered from his possession was not one, which was used in committing the murder of Rootan, while the appellant Than Singh from whom, no recovery of any country made pistol was made, was convicted along with the co-accused Bhima and sentence for life imprisonment was illegally awarded by the trial Judge although there is no evidence on record on the basis of which the roles of the four accused could be distinguished.

28. It has been argued by learned A. G. A. that the incident had taken place into two parts. Firstly, the appellant Than Singh had allegedly caught hold of the deceased Ranno from his waist and then accused Hari Singh had asked others to run away as they were going to kill Ranno on which the informant and his companions took shelter inside the house of Kirori. The second part of the occurrence started when Ranno managed to escape from the clutches of appellant Than Singh and attacked them shouting " Tum mujhe kya maroge, abhi dekhta hoon", on which, Hari Singh fired a shot in the air and appellant Than Singh again caught hold of Ranno. Due to fear, informant and other persons accompanying him had taken shelter inside the house of Kirori and after closing the door from inside, they had seen the occurrence and identified the accused in the torch light. Since in addition to firing at the deceased, appellant Than Singh has also been attributed the role of catching hold of the deceased hence his case stands on a different footing than that of the co-accused Pooran who was acquitted.

29. We do not find any merit in the aforesaid argument of learned A. G. A. because all the four witnesses of fact have consistently assigned the role of firing at the deceased to each of the accused and the role of appellant Than Singh, cannot be distinguished from that of Pooran merely because he was also ascribed the role of catching hold of the deceased. Moreover, the aforesaid consideration had not weighed with the learned trial Judge while acquitting co-accused Pooran and convicting the appellant Than Singh, as is evident from the perusal of the impugned judgement and order.

30. The trial court by acquitting the co-accused Pooran obviously did not find the testimony of the eyewitnesses qua Pooran reliable, although their evidence could not be split to grant benefit to some co-accused while convicting others who stood on the same footing.

31. Faced with an identical situation, the Apex Court in the case of Ram Laxman Versus State of Rajasthan reported in (2016) 12 SCC 398 in paras 6 and 7 of its judgement held as hereunder:

6. Strangely, the High Court disbelieved Ganesh qua the other co-accused and granted them acquittal but accepted his testimony in respect of the appellants by explaining that the maxim "falsus in uno, falsus in omnibus" stands disapproved since long as per the judgement of this Court in Ugar Ahir Versus State of Bihar.

7. In our considered view the Division Bench committed a serious error in relying upon the aforesaid judgement. No doubt, it is an established principle of criminal law in India that only account of detecting some falsehood in the statement of a witness who is otherwise consistent and reliable, his entire testimony should not be discarded. It is equally settled law that if a witness is found undependable and unreliable his evidence cannot be split to grant benefit to some co-accused while maintaining conviction of another when in all respects he stands on the same footing and deserves parity."

32. Thus, in view of the principle enunciated by the Apex Court in the aforesaid case and after bestowing anxious considerations to the material on record, we are unable to agree with the reasons given by the trial court for convicting the appellant Than Singh and acquitting co-accused Pooran. The evidence of the witnesses of fact examined by the prosecution during trial is not of such nature which may be splitted to grant differential treatment to the different co-accused.

33. Since the case of the appellant Than Singh stands on the same footing as that of co-accused Pooran, who was acquitted, if not on better footing, appellant Than Singh was entitled to acquittal, apart from merits, on parity as well.

34. Thus, in view of the foregoing discussion, we are of the view that neither the recorded conviction of the appellant Than Singh nor the life sentence awarded to him can be sustained and is liable to be set aside. Criminal Appeal No. 2004 of 1986 qua appellant Than Singh is hereby allowed and he is acquitted of all the charges.

35. The impugned judgement and order dated 22.7.1986 passed by the Special Judge, Mathura in S. T. No. 75 of 1986; State Versus Bhima and three others, under Sections-302/34, 201 and 511 I. P. C., P. S.-Vrindavan, district-Mathura is set aside to the extent indicated hereinabove.

36. Appellant Than Singh is on bail. He need not surrender. His bail bonds are cancelled and sureties discharged. However, he shall comply with the provisions of Section 437-A Cr. P. C.

37. There shall however, be no order as to costs.

1. Thulia Kali Vs St. of T.N. AIR (1973) SC 501

(Delivered by Hon'ble Harsh Kumar, J.)

1. The instant appeal has been filed against the judgment and order of conviction and sentence dated 18.11.2010 passed by Additional Sessions Judge, Court No.8, Fatehpur in S.T. No.192 of 2010 "State Vs. Sunil Singh and another" under Sections 302/34 & 201 I.P.C., Case Crime No.10 of 2010 and S.T. No.193 of 2010 "State Vs. Sunil Singh" under Section 25 of Arms Act, Case Crime No.11 of 2010, both P.S. Asother, District Fatehpur, convicting two accused persons for offences under Sections 302/34 and 201 I.P.C. and sentencing each of them with imprisonment for life and fine of Rs.10,000/- and in case of default in payment of fine with simple imprisonment for an additional period of one year, under Sections 302/34 I.P.C. and with rigorous imprisonment for a period of five years and fine of Rs.2000/- and in case of default in payment of fine with simple imprisonment for an additional period of three months under Section 201 I.P.C. Apart from it, accused-appellant Sunil Singh was also convicted and sentenced with rigorous imprisonment for a period of three years and fine of Rs.2000/- and in case of default in payment of fine with simple imprisonment for an additional period of three months for offence under Section 25 of Arms Act.

2. Feeling aggrieved, both the convicts preferred instant appeal for setting aside their conviction and passing an order of their acquittal.

3. The brief facts relating to the case are that Shiv Shankar @ Jhaller lodged F.I.R. at P.S. Asother District Fatehpur on 22.1.2010 at 7:30 a.m. with the averments that "his 38 years old son Santosh Kumar Pandey, who was working as Munshi on private buses of Qasba Asother alongwith Bachcha Singh was falsely implicated by Sunil Singh (accused) in the case of murder of his sister Leelawati, in which case he (Santosh) was acquitted and Sunil Singh in order to take revenge for murder of his sister was having grudge/enmity with Santosh Kumar; that on 20.1.2010, Sunil with his associate Deepak provided liquor to his son in the evening the fetched him and at about 8:00 p.m., (opposite Nahar Kothi, Asother in North of road, on the chack road in front of fields of Chhatrapal Singh) they caused his death by shooting in his head by pistols and in order to make disappearance of his dead body, dragged and thrown it in Ganga canal; that the incident was seen by Baba Singh, Vimal Singh and several others; that shoes and scarf of his son were found in the mustard fields of Chhatrapal Singh and his dead body, which could not be recovered on 21.1.2010, due to excess water in canal, has been found today (with multiple injuries on his head) in canal opposite the fields of Chhatrapal Singh , when water receded".

4. Upon lodging of F.I.R., investigation started and after preparing memo of recovery of empty cartridges, the shoes and scarf of deceased, bloodstained and plane earth, inquest report etc., body of deceased was sent for post-mortem. During investigation, the weapon of crime, country made pistol was recovered from accused Sunil @ Lambari on 25.1.2010 of which memo was prepared F.I.R. was lodged against him under Section 25 of Arms Act. After obtaining the autopsy report and reports of Vidhi Vigyan Prayogshala, completing the investigation and obtaining prosecution sanction, respective investigating officers submitted charge-sheet in Case Crime No.10 of 2010 under Sections 302/34 & 201 I.P.C. against two accused appellants and in Case Crime No.11 of 2010 under Section 25 of Arms Act against accused-appellant Sunil Singh. The cases were committed to sessions, where charges were framed against both the appellants under Section 302/34 & 201 I.P.C. and against Sunil Singh also under Section 25 Arms Act to which they denied and demanded trial.

5. In joint trial of two cases, prosecution produced as many as nine witnesses viz. Shiv Shanker @ Jhaller, the first informant and father of deceased as P.W.-1, Baba Singh and Vimal Singh, the eye witnesses as P.W.-2 & P.W.-3, Constable Kamal Singh and Head Moharrir Balram formal witnesses to prove chick F.I.R. of two crime cases as P.W.-4 & P.W.-5, Rajiv Verma, Investigating Officer of Case Crime No.10 of 2010, under Sections 302/34 & 201 I.P.C. as P.W.-6, Geetam Singh, S.I. to prove recovery of country made pistol from Sunil as P.W.-7, Balister Singh Investigating Officer of Case Crime No.11 of 2010, under Section 25 of Arms Act as P.W.-8 and Dr. Shiv Shankar, the autopsy surgeon as P.W.-9.

6. Above witnesses of fact as well as formal witnesses proved the prosecution case and documentary evidence as well as prosecution sanction etc. on record, which were marked as Ex.A1 to Ex.A21.

7. After completion of prosecution evidence, statements of accused Sunil Singh and Deepak Kewat were recorded under Section 313 Cr.P.C. and despite affording opportunity, any of them did not produce any oral or documentary evidence in defence.

8. Heard Shri Shiv Nath Singh, Senior Advocate, assisted by Shri Akhilesh Kumar learned counsel for appellant no.1 Sri Sunil Singh, Shri Kamal Krishna, Senior Advocate, assisted by Shri Pradeep Kumar Rai learned counsel for appellant no.2 Deepak Kewat, Shri Rajesh Kumar Mishra brief holder & Shri Mool Chand Singh, learned A.G.A. for State and perused the record.

9. Learned counsel for appellants contended that appellants have been falsely implicated for murder of Santosh; that admittedly first informant is not eye witness of the incident; that admittedly Baba and Vimal P.W.-2 and P.W.-3, were friends of deceased, who have been falsely planted as eye witnesses of the incident; that this is a case of blind murder under darkness of night and since the assailants could not be seen or identified, the appellants have been falsely implicated on account of old enmity; that deceased Santosh was an accused in the case of murder of Smt. Leelawati, (sister of appellant Sunil Singh) and had been acquitted of the charges of murder under Section 302 I.P.C. by giving him benefit of doubt; that on account of undeserved victory in murder case of Leelawati, deceased Santosh and his father, first informant were having grudge against appellant Sunil Singh; that deceased Santosh was working as a Munshi (मुंशी) over private buses of Qasba Asother for which he used to do daily up and down from Naraini to Asother and since he used to recover excessive charges from various bus operators and other persons, so was on inimical terms with several persons and appears to have been eliminated by any of them in darkness of night; that since the unknown assailants could not be seen or identified, the father of deceased on account of suspicion and old enmity, has falsely implicated appellants with absolutely false and concocted story; that admittedly there was no source of light on the place of occurrence except alleged moon light; that neither appellants fetched deceased nor provided him liquor or eggs nor caused his death nor made disappearance of his dead body by throwing it in Ganga Canal or otherwise; that appellants had no motive to cause death of deceased; that since the relations between deceased and appellants were not only strained (on account of litigation with regard to murder case of appellant's sister Leelawati), rather were inimical against each other, the question of fetching of deceased (a matured man) by appellants or going of deceased with them is highly improbable; that P.W.-2 and P.W.-3, having admitted friendship with deceased, were partisan witnesses and their interested testimony without corroboration by any evidence of independent witness, was not reliable; that it is admitted to P.W.-2 and P.W.-3 that they had puccca latrines in their houses, which belies their false story of going to attend call of nature in fields in chilly cold night of 20.01.2010 at about 8:00 p.m.; that the prosecution witnesses have alleged to have seen incident and identified culprits in moon light which is absolutely wrong and incorrect and is highly improbable; that on 20.01.2010 it was Basant Panchami night (as has also been discussed by trial Court) and 15.01.2010 was no moon day i.e., अमावस्या; that after अमावस्या the 1st day moon of Parwa is invisible, of Dooj is visible only for a short moment (like Eid-Ka-Chand) and so on, duration of visibility of moon increases gradually; that upto 5th day of new moon, when moon gets increased upto 1/3rd in size there remains very dim moon light which may not be sufficient to identify the culprits from a distance of 20-25 metres or 30-40 metres as respectively stated by P.W.-2 and P.W.-3 or from a distance of 45 steps (nearly 34 meters) as shown in site plan, Ext. A-6, particularly due to heavy and dense fog all over the open area near canal in chilly cold night; that had P.W.-2 or P.W.-3 seen alleged incident of murder of Santosh by appellants, in natural course they would have immediately informed the father of deceased but their conduct in not doing so is quite unnatural and falsifies their contention of being eye witnesses of the incident as well as of identifying the real culprits from a long distance; that there are material contradictions in the statements of P.W.-2 and P.W.-3, as at one place they state of having informed the father of deceased by phone call on next morning, contrary to which in same breath at other place they state that next morning when his father arrived, they narrated him the entire story; that as per F.I.R. incident was seen by Baba Singh, Vimal Singh & several others but prosecution failed to produce any independent witness; that prosecution failed to corroborate the interested testimony of P.W.-2 and P.W.-3 by producing any independent witness; that the learned trial Court acted wrongly in relying on the untruthful and uncorroborated testimony of partisan witnesses P.W.-2 and P.W.-3; that F.I.R. of the incident has been lodged after inordinate delay of around three days; that in fact the F.I.R. is anti timed and prosecution case is liable to be disbelieved.

10. Learned counsel for appellants further contended that recovery of country made pistol from appellant Sunil Singh has been falsely planted; that nothing has been recovered from appellant Deepak Kewat; that motive to cause death has been assigned to only Sunil Singh and appellant Deepak Kewat had no motive to cause death of Santosh; that it is wrong to say that appellant Deepak Kewat was an associate of appellant Sunil Singh; that there is no link evidence on record to show that empty cartridges allegedly recovered from spot and fire arm allegedly recovered from appellant Sunil Singh on 25.1.2010, were neither kept intact in sealed cover, before sending them to forensic lab nor were sent without any delay, to rule out any possibility of tampering; that delay in lodging of F.I.R. quite often results in embellishment, which is creature of an afterthought; that on account of delay in lodging of F.I.R., it gets bereft of the advantage of spontaneity and danger creeps in of the introduction of coloured version, exaggerated account or concocted story as a result of deliberation and consultation; that prosecution has failed to explain inordinate delay in lodging of F.I.R. and in view of law laid down by Apex Court in the case of "Thulia Kali Vs. State of Tamilnadu AIR 1973 SC 501", the prosecution case is liable to be disbelieved; that learned trial Court acted wrongly and illegally in misreading the evidence on record as well as relying on the contradictory, false, interested and uncorroborated testimony of P.W.-2 and P.W.-3, who falsely claimed themselves to be eye witnesses of incident; that before the occurrence of murder, the deceased was allegedly provided with egg and liquor by appellants, but post mortem report of deceased does not corroborate or suggest about finding of any liquor upon his internal examination; that post mortem of the body of deceased was conducted on 22.1.2010 at about 3:00 p.m. and the autopsy surgeon P.W.-9 has stated that death of 38 years old person had taken place about 2 days back.

11. He further contended that there was no blackening, tattooing or scorching over the gun shot wounds, which belies the prosecution story of firing on deceased by appellants from close range; that as per prosecution case, the body of deceased was thrown in canal from where it was recovered after a period of around 2 days, but there were no sign of decomposition of body, which also creates suspicion over the time and manner of occurrence in question; that as per medical jurisprudence, the dead body, if remains under water for a period of over one day, the decomposition of body is bound to start; that prosecution has failed to prove the charges against appellants beyond reasonable doubts, by any reliable, cogent and independent evidence; that the appellants have been wrongly convicted and sentenced; that the possibility of Santosh having been murdered by some one else in darkness of chilly cold and foggy night, (who could not be seen and identified) may not be ruled out; that suspicion howsoever strong it may be, may not take place of proof; that appellants have been falsely implicated due to enmity and suspicion; that in view of material contradictions in prosecution evidence the appellants are entitled for benefit of doubt; that the appeal is liable to be allowed and setting aside impugned order of conviction and sentence, appellants are entitled to an order of acquittal.

12. Per contra, Shri Rajesh Kumar Mishra, brief holder & Shri Mool Chand Singh learned A.G.A. for State supporting the impugned judgment and order of conviction contended that no inordinate delay has been caused in lodging of F.I.R; that P.W.-1 has stated that on getting knowledge of incident, he reported the matter at police station orally, but his report was not lodged by police until recovery of body; that clothes and shoes of deceased as well as empty cartridges have been recovered from near the place of occurrence; that weapon of crime, the country made pistol has also been recovered from appellant Sunil and it is wrong to say that recovery was falsely planted; that clothes of deceased were sent to Vidhi Vigyan Prayogshala over which human blood was found; that the fire arm recovered from appellant Sunil was also sent to forensic lab, of which report is on record which suggests its use in commission of crime in question; that it is wrong to say that link evidence is missing or there is any possibility of tampering with empty cartridges or the fire arm recovered from appellant Sunil; that prosecution case is fully proved from consistent statements of eye witnesses P.W.-2 and P.W.-3; that it is wrong to say that the case is based on circumstantial evidence and assailants could not be seen or identified in darkness of night or P.W.-2 and P.W.-3 have been falsely planted as eye witnesses of occurrence; that learned trial Court has correctly analyzed the prosecution evidence on record in detail and has come to correct conclusion; that there was no reason for falsely implicating appellants and sparing real culprits; that appeal has been filed with absolutely false and baseless allegations and is liable to be dismissed.

13. Upon hearing parties counsel and perusal of record we find that first informant do not claim himself to be eye witness of occurrence, F.I.R. states that occurrence was seen by P.W.-2, P.W.-3 and several others, however, there is no whisper in F.I.R. about providing of any information to first informant by P.W.-2, P.W.-3 or any other eyewitness. According to prosecution, on 20.1.2010, appellants had taken deceased from Asother, provided him eggs and liquor and after fetching him to Nahar Kothi Asother, in front of fields of Chhatrapal, both of them shot him in head at about 8:00 p.m. resulting in his death. Deceased is not alleged to have been fetched by appellants from his home rather was allegedly fetched from Asother. There is no evidence of any witness regarding alleged fetching, as to who would have seen the deceased being fetched by appellants or any of them. Prosecution witnesses Baba Singh P.W.-2 and Vimal Singh P.W.-3 are not witnesses of fetching of deceased by appellants or of providing him eggs and liquor by them and have not made any whisper in this respect. First informant Shiv Shankar, the father of deceased has neither made any whisper in F.I.R. nor in his statement on oath as P.W.-1, about the source of information about fetching of deceased by appellants and of providing him eggs and liquor by them, nor has produced any witness about alleged fetching of deceased by appellants or of providing him of eggs and liquor by them. It shows that the allegations about fetching of deceased by appellants are totally imaginary part of prosecution story in F.I.R. which may not be relied in absence of any iota of evidence, even of eggs or liquor vendor.

14. As per prosecution case, Smt. Leelawati, the sister of appellant Sunil Singh was murdered, for which Bachcha Singh (husband of Leelawati) and deceased Santosh were tried together and were acquitted on account of which appellant Sunil @ Lambri was keeping enmity against deceased, which is quite natural and acceptable. Deceased Santosh was not an immature minor boy rather was a 38 years old matured and prudent person and on account of enmity following his prosecution for murder of sister of appellant Sunil, there can be no possibility of his going with his enemy Sunil appellant under any imagination or circumstances.

15. Prosecution witnesses Baba Singh P.W.-2 and Vimal Singh P.W.-3, the alleged eye witnesses of the incident have stated that in the night of 20.1.2010 at about 8:00 p.m., both of them were going to attend the call of nature towards Nahar Kothi Asother and seen appellants Sunil and Deepak taking Santosh to the Chak-road of field of Chhatrapal where they started beating him and upon raising alarm, by him shot him in head with their pistols and dragged his body to canal. Both the witnesses on hearing alarm, have stated to have not reached for rescue of their friend (deceased) rather stated that when accused dragged body of deceased they fled away. P.W.-2 and P.W.-3 have alleged to seen the occurrence at the time of going to attend call of nature and there is no whisper that if at all they defalcated or not under open sky, for which they had come out in chilly cold night. Absence of any specific statement of defalcation before or after occurrence also makes their presence doubtful.

16. Above witnesses P.W.-2 and P.W.-3 have admitted of having pucca latrines at their houses. In the month of peak winters, January on chilly cold night of occurrence in question around 8:00 p.m. on 20.1.2010, it is highly improbable that two persons having pucca latrines in their houses, would ever go outside to defalcate during chilly cold night. P.W.-2 has stated that in the month of January in chilly cold days sun used to set around 5:30 p.m. and place of occurrence is near Canal. In his statement on oath at page 40 of paper book he has stated to have seen the occurrence in moon light from a distance of 20-25 metres, while at page 43 of paper book P.W.-3 Vimal Singh has stated to have seen the accused persons from a distance of 35-40 metres, which is in material contradiction with each other. Both P.W.-2 and P.W.-3 have admitted in their cross examination that deceased Santosh was their fast friend.

17. Though 10 years back villagers were habitual of defalcating under open sky, but only for want of facility of pucca latrines at their houses. It is highly improbable that persons having facility of pucca latrine in their houses, would ever go out for defalcating, around 8.00 p.m. in chilly cold night of 20.01.2010. P.W.-2 has also stated that some times he uses the pucca latrine of his house. The interested and sold testimony of P.W.-2 and P.W.-3 about there going out for defalcating in chilly cold night of 20.1.2010, may not be believed in absence of any corroborative evidence.

18. Before proceeding further we find it expedient in the interest of justice to discuss following universal truths which relate to nature and cosmos, such as (i) sun rises in the East and sets in the West (ii) Moon gradually increases from no moon (अमावस्या) to new moon and so on goes upto full moon (पूर्णिमा), then gradually decreases back to no moon (अमावस्या). The cycle from no moon to full moon takes 15 days to complete and after full moon to no moon in next 15 days. The completion of cycle from no moon (अमावस्या) to full moon (पूर्णिमा) and again from full moon (पूर्णिमा) to no moon (अमावस्या) takes a total period of 30 days, which constitutes one month as per Hindi calendar.

19. After no moon (अमावस्या) as the size of moon increases day by day, the moon light and its brightness also increases gradually and on night of full moon (पूर्णिमा), the bright full moon light "Chandni' may be seen all over. Similarly as the size of moon decreases day by day from full moon (पूर्णिमा) to no moon (अमावस्या) the moon light "Chandni' and its brightness also decreases gradually and comes to zero on no moon (अमावस्या) night. Between the 15 days period from 7-8th day from no moon (अमावस्या) when moon gets increased upto half and onwards upto 7 - 8th day from full moon (पूर्णिमा) when the moon gets decreased upto half there remains enough moon light all over (though not for as long and bright as on full moon (पूर्णिमा) night) during period of rest 15 days from 7th - 8th day from पूर्णिमा upto 7th - 8th day from अमावस्या, there remains very dim moon light, that too for shorter periods and rest of the nights happen to be dark nights or Andheri Raat.

20. It is also universal truth that during 15 days period from No Moon (अमावस्या) to Full moon (पूर्णिमा), moon remains in sky since before sun set and can be seen just after sun set and the time of moon set, gradually gets later in night. On the contrary during the 15 days period from full moon (पूर्णिमा) to no moon (अमावस्या), the size of moon not only decreases but it also rises gradually late in night and may be seen during early day hours even after sun rise. It may be better noticed from the fact that after 2 days from no moon (अमावस्या), the increasing moon of "Dooj Ka Chaand/Eid Ka Chaand" is seen like a thin line for a very short moment just after sun set, while to the contrary, just after 4 days from full moon (पूर्णिमा) the decreasing moon of 4th day 2/3rd in size "Karvachauth Ka Chaand" can not be seen before 8:30 to 9:00 p.m. or around it and it lasts up-till morning. It is also pertinent to mention that brightness of moonlight also increases and decreases gradually with the size of moon.

21. It is also pertinent that about 10 years back peak winter season used to be longer from now and on account of various climate changes due to global warming etc. in recent years, 8 months of the year are dominated by summer season (including rainy season which has shrinked to 2 months) and less than 4 months of the year pertains to winter season. The months of winter season are known as November, December, January and February according to English Calendar out of which a period of almost 2 ½ months, full of November, first 3/4th of December and later 3/4th of February, are usually period of very light and pleasant winters and rest period of 1 ½ months from last week of December till end of first week of February (Hindi Calendar months of Paush and Magh) usually happens to be period of peak winters or chilly cold days with cold waves. During chilly cold days usually either (i) there remains dense fog with cold waves all over Northern India including State of Uttar Pradesh since evening upto 8.00 - 9.00 a.m. (until sun shines bright) and fog adversely affects visibility particularly over open areas fields and areas near hills, canal, river and other water bodies, or (ii) weather becomes cloudy which decreases fog but clouds put a curtain over sky and dim moon light, further decreases and adversely affects visibility. During chilly cold nights, persons of villages usually cover their heads and ears to protect themselves from cold and even if the culprits were not to hide their identity the possibility of covering of heads and ears, by them may not be ruled out.

22. On fateful chilly cold night of occurrence in question at 8.00 p.m. on 20th January, 2010, it was Basant Panchami night which falls on 5th day from no moon (अमावस्या), when moon gets increased upto 1/3rd in size with very dim moon light for a short period. In such times usually either dense fog engulfs open areas fields etc, particularly near water bodies viz., rivers or canals etc., since evening after sun set and stays throughout nights upto late in morning or clouds cover the sky putting curtain over moon. The place of occurrence in question is open field near canal and so at the time of occurrence around 8:00 p.m. there would have been low visibility of heavy fog in dim moon light 5 of day old moon in its 1/3rd size (even if not affected by clouds). In such conditions distant persons or objects can not be seen clearly and identified correctly. The trial court has discussed in its judgment at page 115 of paper book, the arguments about Basant Panchami night, on day of occurrence which has not been disputed by State and has been reiterated by learned counsel for appellants with the support of photo copy of Panchang, (provided during arguments and taken on record). In its discussions, trial Court discussing position of moon in statements of P.W.-2 and P.W.-3, has failed to consider that 5 day old moon in its 1/3rd size may not produce bright moon light.

23. Prosecution witnesses Baba Singh P.W.-2 claims to have seen occurrence and identified culprits from a distance of 20 - 25 meters (which comes around 65 - 82 feet) while Vimal Singh P.W.-3 from 35 - 40 meters (which comes around 114 - 131 feet) respectively, which are in contradiction with each other, while I.O. has mentioned above distance between the culprits and two witnesses in site plan Ext. A-6, to be 45 steps which comes around 34 meters or 110 feet.

24. Inspite of strong probability either of heavy fog around the place of occurrence or of clouds in sky covering moon further decreasing its dim light, upon consideration of entire evidence, on record since we find no positive evidence with regard to fog or clouds on night of occurrence and even no suggestion of fog or clouds to prosecution witnesses, we find it appropriate to presume as if there was no fog or clouds, and it would have been clear weather with unobstructed dim moon light of 5 days old 1/3rd moon.

25. Even in clear weather without any fog or clouds, it is highly improbable rather just impossible for P.W.-2 and P.W.-3 to see culprits clearly and identify them correctly from such a long distance of around 30 metres or 100 feet in dim moon light of 1/3rd moon on chilly cold night when culprits would have been covering of their heads and ears to for protect themselves from cold. Undisputedly, there was no other source of light and in dim moon light of 5 days old 1/3rd moon even in clear weather, a person may not be clearly seen and correctly identified beyond a distance of 10 to 15 meters which distance may be restricted to 5 to 10 meters in case of fog or clouds. As mentioned earlier P.W.-2 claims to have seen culprits from a distance of 20 - 25 metres or 65 - 82 feet, and P.W.-3 claims to have seen them from at a distance of 35 - 40 metres or 114 - 131 feet. It is also pertinent to mention that 36 years old P.W.-3 Vimal Singh has stated at page 47 of paper book that "मैं कभी कभार चश्मा गाड़ी चलाते समय लगाता हूँ, रात में लिखा पढ़ी में चश्मा नहीं लगाता" which indicates that his distant vision was weak which further reduces the possibility of his correctly identifying the culprits from a distance of 35 - 40 meters or 115 to 130 feet even in clear weather. The prosecution witnesses P.W.-2 and P.W.-3 though claims to be having torches, but do not claim to have thrown torch lights on culprits or identified them in torch light.

26. Prosecution witnesses P.W.-2 and P.W.-3 have stated that upon beaten by appellants when Santosh raised alarm, accused shot him in head and dragging his body thrown it in Canal and they fled away. Their conduct in neither reaching for rescue on alarm of their best friend Santosh deceased nor attempting to chase culprits nor promptly informing the father of deceased also raises strong suspicion over their presence near the spot and of their being eye witnesses of the occurrence. Though admittedly all the three were having phone facility, Baba Singh P.W.-2 at page 38 of paper book claims to have informed father of Santosh deceased by phone early in next morning, in contradiction to which at page 36, he has stated that when father of Santosh came Asother on next morning they informed him about the incident (face to face). Since they are friends of deceased, their testimony is required to be considered with caution and upon considering with caution, no reliance can be placed on their testimony in absence of any corroborative evidence of independent witness.

27. We are of considered view that the prosecution case is based on sold contradictory testimony of partisan witnesses Baba Singh P.W.-2 and Vimal Singh P.W.-3 (friends of deceased) which is not found reliable in absence of corroboration by some independent evidence. As per F.I.R. averments made in F.I.R. occurrence was seen by several others apart from Baba Singh and Vimal Singh but no one has been produced for corroboration of P.W.-2 and P.W.-3. It is also noteworthy that there is no evidence of fetching of deceased by appellants and even the eggs or liquor vendors were not produced, who were best witnesses of deceased being in company of appellants.

28. The recovery of clothes and shoes of deceased and finding of human blood on his scarf as per report of forensic lab, also does not give any support to prosecution case with regard to involvement of appellants in commission of murder of Santosh. The recovery of fire arm from appellant Sunil Singh after four days of incident, from an open place is highly doubtful and may not be relied in absence of any independent witness of recovery.

29. In view of the discussions made above, we have come to the conclusion that prosecution has failed to prove the charges levelled against accused persons under Section 302/34, 201 I.P.C. or Section 25 Arms Act by any reliable, cogent and independent evidence to the hilt beyond reasonable doubts. For the reasons mentioned in preceding paras, considering the possibility of murder of deceased by unidentified culprits in the darkness of night and false implication of appellants, in belated F.I.R. due to enmity and suspicion it will not be safe to base conviction of appellants on self contradictory, interested, and uncorroborated testimony of P.W.-2 Baba Singh and P.W.-3 Vimal Singh and accused appellants are entitled to the benefit of doubt. The learned trial Court has acted wrongly, illegally and incorrectly in not considering above mentioned material aspects and in believing untruthful, unreliable, interested contradictory and uncorroborated testimony of P.W.-2 and P.W.-3. in holding the appellants guilty. The impugned judgment and order of conviction of appellants and sentence is liable to be set aside and appeal is liable to be allowed.

30. The appeal is allowed and impugned judgment and order of conviction and sentence is set aside. The accused appellants Sunil Singh @ Lambari and Deepak are acquitted of the charges under Section 302/34, 201 I.P.C. and accused appellant Sunil Singh @ Lambari is also acquitted of the charges under Section 25 Arms Act. The accused appellants are on bail, they need not surrender unless wanted in some other case and subject to furnishing of personal bond and two sureties of like amount to the satisfaction of trial Court, by each of them, in view of provisions of Section 437 A Cr.P.C., to appear before higher Court as and when such Court issue notices in respect of any appeal or petition filed against the judgment.

Conviction upheld sentences reduced to the period of imprisonment has already undergone.

Criminal Appeal partly allowed. (E-2)

List of cases cited:-

1. B.G. Goswami Vs Delhi Administration, 1973 AIR 1457

(Delivered by Hon'ble Ajit Singh, J.)

1. This criminal appeal has been filed against the judgement and order dated 13.3.2018 passed by Addl. Sessions Judge, Court no. 1, Budaun in S.T. No. 472 of 2014 (State vs. Munendra and others), under Sections 307 and 504 I.P.C., P.S. Bisauli, district-Budaun, whereby learned Judge convicted and sentenced the appellant to seven years rigorous imprisonment with fine of Rs. 3000/- and in default of payment of fine further additional imprisonment for six months, one year rigorous imprisonment under Section 504 I.P.C. with a fine of Rs. 1000/- and in default of payment of fine, further additional imprisonment for one month.

2. Both the sentences shall run concurrently.

3. The prosecution story in brief is that on 14.6.2014 the complainant along with his other family members had returned back from the 'Lagun ceremony' of his daughter Vimlesh and his other daughter Kanti had come from her in-laws house to attend the marriage. On 15.6.2014 all the family members were present at home in preparation for the marriage ceremony, then resident of same village Munendra son of Amar Singh who was armed with firearm started abusing them. Along with Munendra, the residents of same village namely, Mahipal and Amar Singh, son of Natthu, who were having firearms in their hands also came before us and started abusing. When they objected for abusing then at about 6:00 p.m. Munendra started firing with intention to kill and the shot fired by him hit Kanti, as a result of which she collapsed on the 'kharanja'. The incident was witnessed by Gaurav Kumar, Arvind, son of Chatrapal, Dinesh, son of Munshi and several others. All the accused persons after firing ran away towards fields.

4. At the very outset, Sri Umesh Chandra Tiwari, learned counsel for the appellant, on instructions, stated that he does not propose to challenge the impugned judgement and order on its merits. He, however, prayed for modification of the order of the sentence.

5. Learned counsel for the appellant has submitted that at the time of incident the accused was aged about 23 years at present the accused is more than 29 years of age. He is a married person and having children and there is no bread earner in the family of the appellant. He has next submitted that it was the first offence of the accused and after conviction the accused had not indulged in any other criminal activity. He further submitted that on the question of legality of sentence he is not pressing this appeal and only pressing on the quantum of sentence and he has prayed for taking lenient view considering the family status. Learned counsel for the appellant further submits that the appellant was awarded rigorous imprisonment of seven years and that he has already undergone two years before conviction and more than three years after conviction, meaning thereby that he has undergone about five and half years of the awarded sentence.

6. While dealing with the quantum of sentence, Hon'ble Supreme Court in B.G. Goswami Vs. Delhi Administration, 1973 AIR 1457, held as under:

"Now the question of sentence is always a difficult question, requiring as it does, proper adjustment and balancing of various considerations, which weigh with a judicial mind in determining its appropriate quantum in a given case. The main purpose of the sentence broadly stated is that the accused must realise that he has committed an act, which is not only harmful to the society of which he forms an integral part but is also harmful to his own future, both as an individual and as a member of the society. Punishment is designed to protect society by deterring potential offenders as also by preventing the guilty party from repeating the offence; it is also designed to reform the offender and reclaim him as a law abiding citizen for the good of the society as a whole.

Reformatory, deterrent and punitive aspects of punishment thus play their due part in judicial thinking while determining this question. In modern civilized societies, however, reformatory aspect is being given somewhat greater importance. Too lenient as well as too harsh sentences both lose their efficaciousness. One does not deter and the other may frustrate thereby making the offender a hardened criminal. In the present case, after weighing the considerations already noticed by us and the fact that to send the appellant back to jail now after 7 years of the annoy and harassment of these proceedings when he is also going to lose his job and to earn a living for himself and for his family members and for those dependent on him, we feel that it would meet the ends of justice if we reduce the sentence of imprisonment to that already undergone but increase the sentence of fine from Rs-200/- to Rs. 400/-. Period of imprisonment in case of default will remain the same."

7. Considering the facts and circumstances of the case and the substantive period already served in jail by the appellant in this case and the fact that the appellant is young person and he is the only bread earner in the family and that he might have realized the mistake committed by him and might remorseful of his conduct to the society to which he belongs, I am of the considered opinion that he should be given a chance to reform himself and he be allowed to give better contribution to the society to which he belongs to.

8. Considering the fact that the accused has already served more than five and half years imprison and it would be appropriate and proper that the accused be sentenced with the period already undergone and the amount of fine be enhanced.

9. Considering all the facts and circumstances of the case, the accused-appellant is sentenced to the period already undergone by him in jail during trial and after conviction an amount of fine of Rs. 4000/- be enhanced to Rs. 10,000/-.

10. Accused-appellant is directed to deposit the fine of Rs. 10,000/- before learned lower court at the time of applying for release order, out of which Rs. 9000/- shall be paid to the injured, if he/she is alive and in case he/she is dead, then it would be paid to his/her legal heirs.

11. Appeal is partly allowed in the above terms.

12. Copy of this order be transmitted to the concerned lower court forthwith for compliance.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Saurabh Shyam Shamshery, J.)

This is an appeal under Section 374(2) Criminal Procedure Code (Cr.P.C.) preferred by accused/appellant Imshad, challenging the judgment and order dated 15.4.2009 whereby he stands convicted under Section 376 IPC/Section 3(2)(V) of SC/ST Act and sentenced for life with fine of Rs.50,000/- and a default sentence of two years in Sessions Trial No.729/05, by Additional District and Sessions Judge/Special Judge/SC/ST Act, Fast Track Court No.4, Aligarh, Uttar Pradesh.

1. PROSECUTION CASE

I. First informant, Shiv Dhara (PW-2), mother of victim lodged a written report (Ex.Ka-1) at Police Station - Saasni Gate, Aligarh on 17.1.2005 at about 9:40 AM, against an unknown under Section 376 IPC, that she was a resident of Mohalla Sarai Rajaram, P.S. Saasni Gate, Aligarh. On 16.1.2005 (a day before), about 4 PM while her daughter (victim), aged about 9 years was playing in the mohalla, an unknown person allured her to first floor of a vacant and dilapidated house of one Karmesh Chand Maheshwari at Pathak Street of Mohalla Jayganj and committed rape. Victim told her about the mishap in the night of 16.1.2005.

II. Accordingly, an FIR (Ex.Ka-2) was lodged and investigation commenced. Investigation Officer inspected the place of occurrence on 17.1.2005, collected bed sheet, blood stained pillow cover, three portion of cotton mattress and a torn white cloth having blood clots and also recovered blood stained green undergarment and one cream coloured pant. Recovery memos were prepared in presence of witnesses namely Dharmendra Kori and Satya Prakash.

III. Victim was medically examined on 17.1.2005 at about 2:45 PM at MIG 4, Government Hospital, Aligarh by Dr. Suneeta Sagar (PW-4). Details of medical examination are as follows :-

"External Examination - Height - 4'1", Wt. - 23 Kg, Teeth - 12/12, Breast do not developed. No mark on injury present on any part of body."

"Internal Examination - There is an injury present on private part. Hymen fresh torn at 6'O clock position. There is perineal tear present at 6'O clock position, muscle deep, about 2 c.m. long. Vaginal swab taken for pathological examination for spermatozoa and for age, adv. X Ray of right hand for Carpal bones."

IV. Medical Officer, MIG Government Hospital issued supplementary medical report dated 1.2.2005 of the victim. Details of which are as follows :-

"X-Ray report - Done at M.S. Hospital, Aligarh, dated 18.1.05.

X-Ray Rt. Hand < AP Lat - The centre of pisiform bone has not appeared.

Pathology report - Done at M.S. Hospital. Dead spermatozoa seen.

From above report the age of girl is about 8 yrs (Eight) and probability of rape is there."

V. On completion of investigation, the I.O. submitted a charge sheet dated 18.2.2005 against the accused/appellant under Sections 376 IPC and 3(2)(V) SC/ST Act, on which cognizance was taken, case committed to Sessions and charges framed under abovementioned Sections on 19.4.2005, to which the accused pleaded not guilty and claimed trial.

VI. In support of its case, prosecution examined victim (PW-1), Smt. Shiv Dhara/mother of the victim (PW-2), Shri Kunwar Pal Singh/subsequent Investigating Officer (PW-3) and Dr. Suneeta Sagar (PW-4).

2. PROSECUTION WITNESSES -

I. Victim (PW-1), aged 11 years (at the time of examination) was found to comprehend and possess competence to understand questions on the issue, examined by the trial court on 1.4.2008. She supported the prosecution case that she was allured by the accused for Rs.20, taken to a secluded place and was subjected to rape. She shouted but none came to rescue her. She narrated the incident to her mother, when she came back from work. She denied prior acquaintance with the accused. She recognized the accused when he came to hospital along with police for his medical examination while she was admitted in the hospital. She recognized the accused in the Court also. She was subjected to detail cross-examination but remained unshattered and consistent to the case of the prosecution, however, incorrectly stated about her father's death at the time of occurrence. She admitted about media coverage of the occurrence.

II. Smt. Shiv Dhara (PW-2), mother of PW-1 (first informant) supported the prosecution version and narrated the occurrence as disclosed by her daughter. Her daughter recognized the accused when he came to hospital along with police for his medical examination after 5-6 days of occurrence. Her husband was alive on the day of occurrence, however, being unwell, he was on bed rest. About 100-200 villagers accompanied her to police station for lodging the FIR, however, she denied any media coverage of the occurrence. She denied lodging of the FIR only in order to receive compensation under the SC/ST Act.

III. S.I. - Kunwar Pal Singh (PW-3), the subsequent Investigating Officer authenticated the signatures and handwriting of SI N.S. Dixit, the first I.O. who also prepared recovery memos, recorded statements of the witnesses but was not examined during trial.

IV. Dr. Suneeta Sagar (PW-4), proved the medical report of the victim and confirmed that she was raped. On the basis of supplementary medical report, age of the victim on the day of occurrence was reported to be around 8 years.

3. Accused/appellant denied the prosecution case under Section 313 Cr.P.C., however, chose not to say anything in his defence.

4. JUDGMENT OF THE TRIAL COURT -

The learned trial court, while convicting/sentencing the accused-appellant held as under :-

(i) PW-1 and 2 supported the prosecution case in toto.

(ii) PW-4 proved medical evidence, that victim was about 8 years old at the time of occurrence and was subjected to rape.

(iii) Evidence of victim, aged 11 years (at the time of her examination before the trial court) is reliable and on the basis of her solitary evidence, order of conviction could be passed. There was no reason to doubt trustworthiness of the witness, coupled with the fact that she also recognized the accused in the Court.

(iv) Even in the absence of non-examination of first I.O. and identification of accused in TIP, order of conviction could be based only on the basis of reliable testimony of the victim.

(v) On the question of sentence, learned trial court held that accused committed heinous crime and while awarding him life sentence took into consideration, the age of victim, social effect of crime etc.

5. SUBMISSIONS ON BEHALF OF THE APPELLANT -

Shri Anil Kumar, learned counsel for the appellant challenging the conviction and sentence submitted that :-

(a) No Identification Parade was conducted even though FIR was lodged against an unknown person. Accused-appellant was falsely implicated in the case due to large scale media coverage of the incident.

(b) According to prosecution case, victim recognized the accused, when he was taken for medical examination at the hospital, which was not proved, thereafter, accused was recognized in the Court by the victim, which is not a substantive evidence.

(c) FIR was lodged after 17 hours of the occurrence, however, no plausible explanation was afforded.

(d) There was no evidence on record to substantiate the offence under Section 3 (2)(V) of SC/ST Act against the accused-appellant.

(e) Alternatively he submitted that appellant is languishing in jail since 6.2.2008 i.e. for more than 12 years, in case conviction is upheld, sentence be reduced to the period already undergone.

6. SUBMISSIONS ON BEHLAF OF THE STATE -

Per contra, Shri A.N. Mulla assisted by Shri Rupak Chaubey, learned AGAs submitted that :-

(a) It is well settled that conviction could be based even on the solitary evidence of the prosecutrix, provided it inspires confidence, as in the present case. Statement of the victim is completely supported by medical evidence.

(b) Non-examination of the first Investigating Officer is not fatal for prosecution case as no prejudice could be demonstrated.

(c) Identification of the accused during trial is substantive evidence, whereas TIP is not. In the present case though no TIP took place but the victim identified the accused-appellant before the trial court, therefore, it is safe to rely upon such identification.

(d) There is no evidence on record which remotely indicates that accused-appellant was falsely implicated due to alleged large scale media coverage of the occurrence.

(e) Delay of 17 hours in lodging the FIR is not fatal for the prosecution case, considering that a 8 years old girl was raped and her mother being alone with an ailing husband has to take care of her daughter, therefore, it must have taken some time for her to lodge an FIR, besides reporting such a case is still considered to be a taboo.

(f) Accused was a resident of a nearby mohalla, where family of victim resides, therefore, it is highly probable that appellant knew that the victim, belongs to a Scheduled Caste, offence under Section 3(2)(V) of SC/ST Act is also made out.

(g) Appellant committed heinous crime of committing rape of 8 years old girl this Court may not take a lenient view on the quantum of sentence.

DISCUSSION -

7. DELAY IN LODGING THE FIR -

The occurrence took place at 4 P.M. on 16.1.2005. According to prosecution story, victim told her mother (PW-2) about the occurrence same day at about 7-8 P.M. but FIR was lodged next day (17.1.2005) at 9:40 A.M., with delay of more than 12 hours. Learned counsel for the appellant contended that there is no explanation for the delay.

8. In Deepak vs. State of Haryana: 2015 (4) SCC 762, it has been held in para 15 that :-

"15. The Courts cannot overlook the fact that in sexual offences and, in particular, the offence of rape and that too on a young illiterate girl, the delay in lodging the FIR can occur due to various reasons. One of the reasons is the reluctance of the prosecutrix or her family members to go to the police station and to make a complaint about the incident, which concerns the reputation of the prosecutrix and the honour of the entire family. In such cases, after giving very cool thought and considering all pros and cons arising out of an unfortunate incident, a complaint of sexual offence is generally lodged either by victim or by any member of her family. Indeed, this has been the consistent view of this Court as has been held in State of Punjab vs. Gurmit Singh & Ors.." (emphasis supplied)

9. In P.Rajagopal and others Etc. vs. State of Tamil Nadu reported in 2019 (5) SCC 403, it has been held in para 12 that :-

"12. Normally, the Court may reject the case of the prosecution in case of inordinate delay in lodging the first information report because of the possibility of concoction of evidence by the prosecution. However, if the delay is satisfactorily explained, the Court will decide the matter on merits without giving much importance to such delay. The Court is duty-bound to determine whether the explanation afforded is plausible enough given the facts and circumstances of the case. The delay may be condoned if the complainant appears to be reliable and without any motive for implicating the accused falsely. [See Apren Joseph v. State of Kerala and Mukesh v . State (NCT of Delhi)]" (emphasis supplied)

10. PW-2 stated in evidence that she neither made any effort to lodge a report on the day of occurrence for fear of shame, nor she shared the same with her neighbours. The report came to be lodged next day, as the condition of her daughter (victim) was worsening, when she was left with no option but to lodge a report. Another relevant circumstance is that her husband was unwell and bed ridden and she alone had to manage everything. Thus, in view of above circumstances and the legal position, there was no inexplicable delay in lodging the FIR so as to falsely implicate the accused.

11. STERLING WITNESS -

In the present case, an eight year girl (PW-1) was raped. She not only identified the accused-appellant during trial but supported the prosecution in its totality. She remained consistent and unshaken during detail cross examination and narrated entire occurrence and manner of sexual assault. Medical evidence corroborates ocular evidence. This solitary witness inspires confidence. It is a settled principle that conviction in a rape case could be based on the sole testimony of the victim without corroboration, if the witness is a 'sterling witness'.

12. In a recent judgment of Santosh Prasad @ Santosh Kumar vs. State of Bihar, reported in 2020 SCC Online SC 194, the Apex Court held that :-

"5.4 Before considering the evidence of the prosecutrix, the decisions of this Court in the cases of Raju (supra) and Rai Sandeep @ Deepu, relied upon by he learned Advocate appearing on behalf of the appellant-accused, are required to be referred to and considered.

5.4.1 x x x x x x x x x x x x x x x x x x x x x x x x x x x x x x x

5.4.2 In the case of Rai Sandeep alias Deepu (supra), this Court had an occasion to consider who can be said to be a "sterling witness". In paragraph 22, it is observed and held as under:

"22 In our considered opinion, the "sterling witness" should be of a very high quality and calibre whose version should, therefore, be unassailable. The court considering the version of such witness should be in a position to accept it for its face value without any hesitation. To test the quality of such a witness, the status of the witness would be immaterial and what would be relevant is the truthfulness of the statement made by such a witness. What would be more relevant would be the consistency of the statement right from the starting point till the end, namely, at the time when the witness makes the initial statement and ultimately before the court. It should be natural and consistent with the case of the prosecution qua the accused. There should not be any prevarication in the version of such a witness. The witness should be in a position to withstand the cross-examination of any length and howsoever strenuous it may be and under no circumstance should give room for any doubt as to the factum of the occurrence, the persons involved, as well as the sequence of it. Such a version should have co-relation with each and every one of other supporting material such as the recoveries made, the weapons used, the manner of offence committed, the scientific evidence and the expert opinion. The said version should consistently match with the version of every other witness. It can even be stated that it should be akin to the test applied in the case of circumstantial evidence where there should not be any missing link in the chain of circumstances to hold the accused guilty of the offence alleged against him. Only if the version of such a witness qualifies the above test as well as all other such similar tests to be applied, can it be held that such a witness can be called as a "sterling witness" whose version can be accepted by the court without any corroboration and based on which the guilty can be punished. To be more precise, the version of the said witness on the core spectrum of the crime should remain intact while all other attendant materials, namely, oral, documentary and material objects should match the said version in material particulars in order to enable the court trying the offence to rely on the core version to sieve the other supporting materials for holding the offender guilty of the charge alleged."

5.4.3 In the case of Krishna Kumar Malik v. State of Haryana (2011) 7 SCC 130, it is observed and held by this Court that no doubt, it is true that to hold an accused guilty for commission of an offence of rape, the solitary evidence of the prosecutrix is sufficient provided the same inspires confidence and appears to be absolutely trustworthy, unblemished and should be of sterling quality."

(emphasis supplied)

13. We have scanned the deposition of PW-1 keeping the aforesaid decisions in mind. She remained consistent during her entire testimony. She withstood entire cross-examination. Her version is also supported by medical evidence, therefore, the witness is absolutely trustworthy, unblemished and of sterling quality.

14. NON-EXAMINATION OF INVESTIGATING OFFICER -

As we have held that PW-1 is a 'sterling witness', there is no material contradiction or improvements in her testimony, therefore, even non-examination of first Investigating Officer is of no consequence, as the second I.O. (PW-3) was examined who confirmed the handwriting/signatures of the first I.O. on relevant papers to which there is no serious challenge, coupled with the fact that non-examination of the first I.O., did not result in any prejudice to the accused.

15. In this regard, it is useful to refer judgment of the Supreme Court in State of Karnataka vs. Bhaskar Kushali Kotharkar and Others: (2004) 7 SCC 487 where it has been held in para 10 and 11 that :-

"10. There is very strong and convincing evidence to prove that these respondents along with others had attacked deceased Prakash, PW-1 and PW-2. The Sessions Judge had given valid reasons for finding these respondents guilty. The Single Judge was not justified in reversing the conviction and sentence solely on the ground that investigating officer was not examined by the prosecution. As the respondents were not prejudiced by the non- examination of the investigating officer and also the constable who recorded the FI statement. The finding of the learned Single Judge is erroneous, therefore, we set aside the same. In Behari prasad and Ors. v. State of Bihar, [1996] 2 SCC 317, this Court held that non examination of the investigating officer is not fatal to the prosecution case especially when no prejudice was likely to be suffered by the accused.

11. In Bahadur Naik v. State of Bihar, [2000] 9 SCC 153, this Court held that when no material contradictions have been brought out, then non-examination of the investigating officer as a witness for prosecution was of no consequence and under such circumstance no prejudice had been caused to the accused by such non examination."

16. NO TEST IDENTIFICATION PARADE -

Learned counsel for the appellant vehemently argued that no TIP was conducted which indicates false implication of the appellant as he was unknown to the prosecutrix/victim. We are not impressed with this contention as TIP is not a substantive evidence unlike dock identification which is substantive evidence.

17. In Mulla and Another vs. State of U.P., reported in (2010) 3 SCC 508, it has been held by the Apex Court in para Nos.42, 43, 44 and 45 that :-

"42. Failure to hold test identification parade does not make the evidence of identification in court inadmissible, rather the same is very much admissible in law. Where identification of an accused by a witness is made for the first time in Court, it should not form the basis of conviction.

43. As was observed by this Court in Matru v. State of U.P.., (1971) 2 SCC 75, identification tests do not constitute substantive evidence. They are primarily meant for the purpose of helping the investigating agency with an assurance that their progress with the investigation into the offence is proceeding on the right lines. The identification can only be used as corroborative of the statement in Court. (Vide Santokh Singh v. Izhar Hussain, (1973) 2 SCC 406).

44. The necessity for holding an identification parade can arise only when the accused persons are not previously known to the witnesses. The whole idea of a test identification parade is that witnesses who claim to have seen the culprits at the time of occurrence are to identify them from the midst of other persons without any aid or any other source. The test is done to check upon their veracity. In other words, the main object of holding an identification parade, during the investigation stage, is to test the memory of the witnesses based upon first impression and also to enable the prosecution to decide whether all or any of them could be cited as eyewitnesses of the crime.

45. The identification proceedings are in the nature of tests and significantly, therefore, there is no provision for it in the Code and the Indian Evidence Act, 1872. It is desirable that a test identification parade should be conducted as soon as possible after the arrest of the accused. This becomes necessary to eliminate the possibility of the accused being shown to the witnesses prior to the test identification parade. This is a very common plea of the accused and, therefore, the prosecution has to be cautious to ensure that there is no scope for making such allegation. If, however, circumstances are beyond control and there is some delay, it cannot be said to be fatal to the prosecution." (emphasis supplied)

18. In Mukesh & Anr. vs. State for NCT of Delhi & Others reported at 2017 (6) SCC 1, it has been held in para 143 and 144 that :-

"143. In Santokh Singh v. Izhar Hussain and another, it has been observed that the identification can only be used as corroborative of the statement in court.

144. In Malkhansingh v. State of M.P., it has been held thus:

"7. ... The identification parades belong to the stage of investigation, and there is no provision in the Code of Criminal Procedure which obliges the investigating agency to hold, or confers a right upon the accused to claim a test identification parade. They do not constitute substantive evidence and these parades are essentially governed by Section 162 of the Code of Criminal Procedure. Failure to hold a test identification parade would not make inadmissible the evidence of identification in court. The weight to be attached to such identification should be a matter for the courts of fact. ..." And again:

"16. It is well settled that the substantive evidence is the evidence of identification in court and the test identification parade provides corroboration to the identification of the witness in court, if required. However, what weight must be attached to the evidence of identification in court, which is not preceded by a test identification parade, is a matter for the courts of fact to examine. …." (emphasis supplied)

19. In view of aforesaid, mere fact that TIP was not conducted in the present case would not vitiate the testimony of PW-2 (victim) who identified the accused at the hospital and also in the court during trial.

20. We, in view of the above discussions, are of the view that PW-2 (victim) being a sterling witness and conviction under Section 376 IPC can be based on her solitary, reliable and trustworthy evidence.

WHETHER CONVICTION UNDER SECTION 3(2)(V) OF SC/ST ACT IS SUSTAINABLE ?

21. We now have to consider whether conviction u/s 3(2) V of SC/ST Act is sustainable or not ?

22. Learned counsel for the appellant argued that there was no evidence on record that accused committed offence of rape, only because the victim was a member of Schedule Caste or Schedule Tribe.

23. The Apex Court in a recent judgment of Khuman Singh vs. State of Madhya Pradesh: 2019 SCC Online 1104 in para 12, 13 and 14 has held that :-

"12. .....The object of Section 3(2)(v) of the Act is to provide for enhanced punishment with regard to the offences under the Indian Penal Code punishable with imprisonment for a term of ten years or more against a person or property knowing that the victim is a member of a Scheduled Caste or a Scheduled Tribe.

13. In Dinesh alias Buddha v. State of Rajasthan (2006) 3 SCC 771, the Supreme Court held as under:-

"15. Sine qua non for application of Section 3(2)(v) is that an offence must have been committed against a person on the ground that such person is a member of Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes. In the instant case no evidence has been led to establish this requirement. It is not case of the prosecution that the rape was committed on the victim since she was a member of Scheduled Caste. In the absence of evidence to that effect, Section 3(2)(v) of the Atrocities Act been applicable then by operation of law, the sentence would have been imprisonment for life and fine.

As held by the Supreme Court, the offence must be such so as to attract the offence under Section 3(2)(v) of the Act. The offence must have been committed against the person on the ground that such person is a member of Scheduled Caste and Scheduled Tribe. In the present case, the fact that the deceased was belonging to "Khangar"- Scheduled Caste is not disputed. There is no evidence to show that the offence was committed only on the ground that the victim was a member of the Scheduled Caste and therefore, the conviction of the appellant-accused under Section 3(2)(v) of the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Act is not sustainable. (emphasis supplied)

24. In the present case, prosecution has not brought any evidence on record which could even suggest that accused committed offence of rape, only for the reason that the victim was a member of Schedule Caste or Schedule Tribe as the accused had no prior acquaintance with the victim. Accordingly, conviction under Section 3(2)(V) of S.C./S.T. Act is not sustainable, liable to be set aside.

25. QUANTUM OF SENTENCE -

Lastly, we have to deal with the argument regarding quantum of sentence. It is useful to refer following judgments passed by the Supreme Court on the issue.

26. In Bavo alias Manubhai Ambalal Thakore vs. State of Gujarat: 2012 (2) SCC 684, in paras 12, 13, 14, it has been held that :-

"12. The learned counsel for the appellant relied on a decision of this Court in Narayanamma (Kum) vs. State of Karnataka and Others (1994) 5 SCC 728 and contended that the life imprisonment is not warranted and sentence may be reduced to the period already undergone. The said decision relates to the rape on a minor girl aged 14 years. While the trial Judge convicted and sentenced the accused to three years RI, the High Court reversed the same and acquitted the accused. It was challenged before this Court. After considering the entire materials, this Court set aside the order of the High Court and affirmed the conclusion arrived at by the trial Court. Though this Court expressed displeasure in awarding only three years RI for the crime of rape, taking note of length of time, not inclined to enhance it and confirmed the sentence awarded by the trial Court.

13. Counsel for the appellant relied on another decision of this Court in Rajendra Datta Zarekar vs. State of Goa, (2007) 14 SCC 560. The said case also relates to the offence under Section 376. The victim was aged about 6 years and the accused was aged about 20 years. Ultimately, this Court confirmed the conviction and sentence of 10 years as awarded by the High Court. However, the fine amount of Rs. 10,000/- awarded under Section 376(2)(f) being found to be excessive reduced to Rs. 1,000/-.

14. Considering the fact that the victim, in the case on hand, was aged about 7 years on the date of the incident and the accused was in the age of 18/19 years and also of the fact that the incident occurred nearly 10 years ago, the award of life imprisonment which is maximum prescribed is not warranted and also in view of the mandate of Section 376(2)(f) IPC, we feel that the ends of justice would be met by imposing RI for 10 years. Learned counsel appearing for the appellant informed this Court that the appellant had already served nearly 10 years. (emphasis supplied)

27. In Thongam Tarun Singh vs. State of Manipur: 2019 SCC Online SC

709, it has been held in paras 11 and 12 that :-

"11. The question falling for consideration is whether there are adequate and special reasons warranting exercise of discretion to reduce the sentence of imprisonment. What is 'adequate and special reasons' would depend upon several factors and no strait-jacket formula can be imposed. No catalogue can be prescribed for adequacy of reasons nor instances can be cited regarding special reasons. They differ from case to case.

12. It is stated that at the time of occurrence, appellant no. 1 was working as a police driver and appellant no. 2 was a singer having good reputation, performing as a singer on the stage and both the appellants were aged about 24-25 years, at the time of the occurrence. It is also stated that both the appellants have no criminal antecedents and they hail from backward area. Learned counsel for the appellants have also produced certificate issued from the Jail Authorities to show that the conduct of the appellants (post conviction) are very good and satisfactory and they have been participating in the sports/garden activities and other programmes of the Jail. Considering the facts and circumstances of the case and that the appellants have no criminal antecedents and also the conduct of the appellants in the Jail (post conviction), the sentence of imprisonment of fifteen years (for the conviction under Section 376 (2)(g) IPC) and sentence of imprisonment of ten years (for the conviction under Section 120B IPC) are reduced to eight years." (emphasis supplied)

28. Considering that no case is made out against the accused-appellant under Section 3(2)(V) of SC/ST Act, he is languishing in jail since 6.2.2008 (i.e. more than 12 years), further he was about 20 years at the time of occurrence and today he is about 34 years and no other criminal history is reported, we, therefore, modify the sentence under Section 376 IPC to sentence already under gone.

29. The appeal is partly allowed. The conviction/sentence under Section 376 IPC r/w Section 3(2)(V) of SC/ST Act is altered to conviction under Section 376 IPC only on sentence undergone while acquitting the appellant under Section 3(2)(V) of SC/ST Act. Appellant is in jail. He shall be released forthwith, if not detained in any other case.

30. A certified copy of this judgment be sent to the trial court for necessary compliance.

1. Heard Sri Sharad Kumar Srivastava, learned counsel for the appellant, learned AGA for the state and perused the record.

2. This criminal appeal has been filed against the impugned judgment dated 23.11.2013, passed by Additional Sessions Judge, court No. 9, Fatehpur, in Sessions Trial No. 15 of 2011, arising out of Case Crime No. 204 of 2010, under Section 376, 308 IPC, Police Station Bindki, District Fatehpur by which the accused-appellant Kuldeep has been convicted and sentenced for ten years rigorous imprisonment and Rs. 50,000/- fine and in default three months additional simple imprisonment for the offence under Section 376 IPC and five years rigorous imprisonment along with fine of Rs. 5000/- and in default fifteen days additional simple imprisonment for the offence under Section 308 IPC. It has further been directed that all the sentences shall run concurrently.

3. The brief facts of this case is that the informant is the resident of Mohalla Mahajani Gali Lahauri Town Bindki, Police Station Bindki, District Fatehpur. On 14.07.2010, the accused-appellant Kuldeep committed rape with the daughter of the informant and stabbed by a knife in her stomach. At that point of time, the informant had gone to her relations and when she got information about the incident on phone, the victim was admitted in District Hospital, Fatehpur and the stomach of the victim was operated. Therefore, on 20.07.2010, she gave an application to the police of Bindki mentioning therein that application was already sent to SP, Fatehpur about the incident, although, the same is not on record. On the basis of said information, the offence was registered under Sections 376, 308 IPC and chik was prepared. The offence was investigated by Investigating Officer who recorded the statement of the formal witnesses, informant and has also recorded the statement of the victim in the hospital with the statement of her brother Jeetu and relative Vinod. After receiving the medical report of the victim on 24.07.2010, the same was copied in the case diary. Similarly, the X-ray report, pathology report, supplementary report of the victim was also entered in the case diary. The accused surrendered on 26.08.2010 and his statement was recorded. He also prepared the site map. After completing the investigation, the charge sheet was submitted for the aforesaid offence. Charges were framed against the accused under section 308/376 IPC to which the accused denied and claimed trial.

4. In support of the prosecution case, PW-1 Shivdevi (informant), PW-2 Golden (victim), PW-3 Jeetu, PW-4 iDr. Kamal Dhawan, PW-5 SI Prem Chandra, PW-6 Subhash Chandra Singh (Chief Pharmacist), PW-7 Dr. D.K. Verma, PW-8 Constable Arvind Kumar Rahi, PW-9 Awadhpal Singh (Ward Boy), PW-10 Dr. V.C. Budhani and PW-11 Dr. Rakesh Pathak have been examined. The statement of Dr. Pradeep Kumar and Dr. Istiyaq Ahmad has also been recorded as CW-1 and CW-2. The prosecution witnesses have proved the incident and also proved the written report as Ext. Ka-1, medical report Ext. Ka-2, supplementary report Ext. Ka-3, site map Ext. Ka-4, letter to C.M.O. Ext. Ka-5, charge sheet Ext. Ka-6, bed head ticket Ext. Ka-7, chik first information report Ext. Ka-8, G.D. Report Ext. Ka-9, photo copy of the extract of the injury register Ext. Ka-10, pathology report Ext. Ka-11, radiologist report Ext. Ka-12 and X-ray plate as material Ext.-1.

5. The statement of the accused-appellant Kuldeep was recorded under Section 313 CrPC. He has put forward the case of denial and stated that the victim sustained injuries by falling down and after consultation and deliberation with malafide and greed, this false case was instituted. In defence, he has also examined DW-1 Dr. Vikas Anand, DW-2 Dr. Vikas Tripathi, DW-3 Dr. A.K. Singh and document Ext. Kha-1 has also been proved.

6. After hearing the counsel for both the parties, the learned trial court has passed the impugned judgment convicting and sentencing the accused-appellant.

7. Feeling aggrieved by the impugned judgment, this criminal appeal has been preferred and the impugned judgment has been challenged on the ground that the conviction and sentence has been erroneously awarded by completely misreading the evidence on record. The accused appellant is innocent and he has been falsely implicated and the prosecution failed to establish the guilt against the accused appellant. The learned trial court did not apply its judicial mind and only on the basis of the statements of the interest witnesses, the judgment has been passed. There is error of law, appreciation of facts is incorrect and evidence of the prosecution witnesses are not reliable. The impugned judgment is not based on direct evidence and is only based on circumstantial evidence. There was contradictions in the statement of witnesses and also with the medical evidence. Therefore, the impugned judgment is not sustainable under law, the appeal is liable to be allowed and the accused-appellant is entitled for acquittal.

8. It appears that 11 witnesses and two court witness have been examined to support the prosecution case. Before analyzing the statement of the prosecution witnesses and the other evidences on record, it appears appropriate to see what has been stated by the witnesses in this case.

9. PW-1 Shiv Devi is the informant and mother of the victim. She has stated that she knows accused Kuldeep present in the Court who is son of the mother-in-law (Fuferi) of her elder daughter. The incident took place an year before and it was 1:30 PM in the day time. She had gone to her maternal relatives in Raugan. She was informed by Sohan Lal that her daughter (victim) has fallen down from the roof. Sohan Lal is the father of Kuldeep and, therefore, he gave a false information. On that day, she could not return and on the next day, she saw the victim in the district hospital in serious condition who was not in a position to speak and her intestine was coming outside from her stomach. When she became conscious, she told that Kuldeep committed rape with her on the point of knife and when she said that she will make a complaint about it, he stabbed the knife in her stomach. The informant got a written report typed and gave the same to Kotwali Bindki after putting thumb impression on the same, which is Ext. Ka-1. She has also stated that when she went to lodge the report, her daughter was hospitalized. Her son and her elder son-in-law Vinod had reached there and they any how saved the victim. Had they not reached, the accused could have killed the victim. The SO took her statement and inspected the place of occurrence. In the cross-examination, she has stated that she did not see the incident herself.

10. PW-2 is victim herself who has stated that she knows the accused who is son of her sister's mother-in-law (Fuferi). The accused Kuldeep had come to her house on 14.07.2010. Her brother-in-law had gone to Bindki. It was about 01:30 PM. She was cooking and Kuldeep was sitting under the shade. When she went inside to keep vegetables, accused came behind her, caught her and closed her mouth. She said, what stupid he is doing. Then he threatened her to keep quite otherwise he would stab knife. He started doing forcible sexual assault and got her naked and committed rape with her. She cried but he forcibly committed rape. Thereafter, because she was shouting, he stabbed knife in her stomach. When the accused was committing rape, her brother and her brother-in-law came inside. They saw the incident. They saw the accused wearing his pant. She did not know who took her to the hospital as she got fainted. She remained in District Hospital, Fatehpur for one and half months. On 17th of the month her stomach was operated and still she was not able to move. The SO came and inquired about the incident. When she got conscious, she told about the whole incident to her mother who lodged the first information report. She was medically examined in the district hospital.

11. PW-3 Jeetu, the brother of the victim, has stated that he knows accused Kuldeep. The incident took place on 14.07.2010 at about 01:30 PM. He had gone to Bindki Tehsil for getting caste certificate. When he returned, he saw Kuldeep in the house wearing his pant. He had stabbed the victim in her stomach. He warned him to run away otherwise he would kill him and thereafter he fled away from there. Her sister said that he committed rape with her. Sushil also reached there and both took the victim to the hospital where she remained under treatment in the whole night and then she was referred to the District Hospital, Fatehpur.

12. PW-4 Dr. Kamal Dhawan has stated that on 22.07.2010, he was posted as medical officer in the Emergency of District Women Hospital and in the noon at about 02:40 PM, Constable Manju Yadav brought the victim to the hospital and she was examined by him. Because of the injury, she was admitted in the District Hospital, Fatehpur for some days. She made complaint about commission of rape on her on 20.07.2010. She was slim and 45 Kg. in weight. Teeth 14 X 14 were found. Breasts were average. Hair were present on vagina and no injury was found on the breasts. Urinal tube was inserted. For external injuries, he referred her to District Hospital, Fatehpur for medico legal examination. It was not possible to give any opinion about rape as she told that her period started on that day. The medical report is Ext. Ka-2. Supplementary report was given on 26.07.2010. Vaginal swab was taken which was examined by Dr. B.C. Budhani on 23.07.2010 who gave the supplementary report Ext. Ka-3.

13. PW-5 SI Prem Chandra has stated that on 20.07.2010, he was posted at Police Station Bindki as in-charge officer and took over the investigation on that date. He copied the written report in the case diary and recorded the statement of Constable Kuldeep Yadav on that very day. On 22.07.2010, he recorded the statement of Shiv Devi and on her identification, place of occurrence was inspected and site map Ext. Ka-4 was prepared. The statement of the victim was recorded in the women's ward on bed no. 17 of the district hospital and on the same day statement of Jeetu and Vinod was also recorded. On 24.07.2010, he obtained X-ray report, pathology report, supplementary report and the same were entered in the case diary. On 28.07.2010, he obtained the injury report of victim which was copied in the case diary. On 26.08.2010, the accused surrendered and his statement was taken. The victim was medically examined by PW-4 Dr. Kamal Dhawan and according to medical report, there was no injury on the private parts of the victim. The surgery of the victim was done by Dr. D.K. Verma. He recorded the statement of Chief Pharmacist Subhash Chandra Singh and after completing the investigation, he submitted charge sheet which is Ext. Ka-6.

14. PW-6 Subhash Chandra Singh, Chief Pharmacist has stated that he has come with the bed head ticket of victim. On 15.7.2010, at 2:00 PM, the injured was brought as referred patient from CHC, Bindki and treatment was provided by Dr. D.K. Verma. She was aged about 18 years and she was discharged from the district hospital on 28.07.2010.

15. PW-7 Dr. D.K. Verma has stated that on 15.07.2010, he was posted as surgeon in the District Hospital, Fatehpur and on that day at 02:00 PM, the injured was admitted for treatment with complaint of pain in her stomach. Ultrasound was conducted and it was found that her small intestine was torn. He operated and stitched the small intestine on 17.07.2010 and necessary medicines were given. On being recovered, she was discharged on 28.07.2010. It was possible that the injuries in her stomach may have been caused by the butt of a knife, and if the same was not operated, death was possible. He has proved the bed head ticked as Ext. Ka-7.

16. PW-8 Constable Arvind Kumar Rahi has stated that on 20.07.2010, he was posted at Police Station Bindki and at 09:30 PM, on the basis of type-written application of Shiv Devi, he registered Case Crime No. 204 of 2010, under Sections 376, 308 IPC against accused Kuldeep. The first information report is Ext. Ka-8 and the carbon copy of the GD in which entry about registration of offence is Ext. Ka-9.

17. PW-9 Awadh Pal Singh has stated that he is working as ward boy in the CHC, Bindki. He had come with the emergency OPD Register dated 01.01.2010 to 11.02.2010 in which on 14.07.2010 at Sl. No. 1978 at 07:50 PM, the name of victim is mentioned and it has been also mentioned that she was referred to District Hospital, Fatebpur. The relevant extract of register is Ext. Ka-10.

18. PW-10 Dr. B.C. Budhani has stated that on 21.07.2010, he was posted as Pathologist in District Hospital, Fatehpur and on that day, he examined two slides of vaginal smears of the victim, which were sent by Dr. Kamal Dhawan, through constable Manju Yadav. In examination of the same, red blood cells were found on the slides and no live or dead spermatozoa was found. The pathology report is Ext. Ka-11.

19. PW-11 Dr. Rakesh Pathak has stated that on 23.07.2010, he was posted as radiologist in the District Hospital, Fatehpur and under his supervision X-ray of wrist and elbow joint of the victim were conducted and on the basis of X-ray plate, he prepared the report which is Ext. Ka-12. According to which all the epiphyses of the joint were found to be fused. In the X-ray of wrist, radius and alna bone, epiphyses were found to be joint. The victim was aged about more than 16 years and less than18 years. X-ray plate is material Ext. -1.

20. DW-1 Dr. Vikas Anand has stated that he was posted in emergency of District Hospital on 15.7.2010 and at 02:00 PM by reference slip of CHC, Bindki, Fatehpur, victim was brought and she was admitted in the hospital on the basis of self inflicted injury and after first aid treatment, she was admitted under the surgeon. Admission ticket Ext. Ka-7 is in his writing and signature. The injured victim told whatever and whatever was written in the reference slip, he also wrote the same at the time of admission. The condition of the victim was quite normal. She did not say anything that she was assaulted by any one and rape was committed on her.

21. DW-2 Dr. Vikas Tripathi has stated that on 16.07.2010, he was posted as EMO in the District Hospital, Fatehpur and on call he examined the victim at 07:40 AM. She was complaining pain in her stomach, upon which treatment advised was written on her bed head ticket. She did not complain anything other than the stomach pain.

22. DW-3 Dr. A.K. Singh has stated that on 14.07.2010, he was attached in PHC as Medical Officer and the victim came for her treatment. The witness has proved the reference slip dated 15.07.2010 as Ext. Kha-1.

23. CW-1 Dr. Pradeep Kumar is just a formal witness who has not stated anything relevant.

24. Cw-2 Dr. Ishtiyaq Ahmad has stated that on 30.05.2013, he was posted as in-charge medical officer in CHC, Bindki. He came with the OPD Register dated 01.01.2010 to 11.09.2010 and duty register dated 14.07.2010 and 15.07.2010 and by way of photo-estate, he has filed after making comparison by his writing and signature which are Ext. Ka-10 and Ext. Ka-11. He has stated that on 15.7.2010, Dr. A. K. Singh was doctor on duty in CHC, Bindki.

25. The first submission is with regard to delay in lodging FIR. The incident took place on 14.7.2010 at any time and on the basis of type-written report given by PW-1 Shiv Devi (mother of victim), the FIR was registered on 20.7.2010 at 7.10 AM. The place of occurrence is situated at the distance of one furlong from the police station. As such, the FIR has been lodged on seventh day from the date of incident. PW-2 Victim has stated that the incident took place at about 1.30 PM. PW-1 has stated that she was not present in the house and had gone to her relatives and came back on the next day after being informed and she met her daughter in the district hospital. She has also stated that she was not present at the place of occurrence and her daughter told her about the incident in the hospital. The prosecution evidence clearly shows that the victim was admitted in the district hospital on 15.7.2010. Thus, on 15.7.2010, the informant had the knowledge of the incident as told to her by the victim. Both victim and informant have stated Jeetu and Vinod to be witness of the incident and they must have also informed the informant about the incident. Therefore, the prosecution had to explain why till 20.7.2010, she did not lodge FIR. The informant, during cross-examination, just to shorten the delay, started saying that on the fourth day, she met her daughter in the hospital. This appears to be self-contradictory to the version of FIR and statement given to the IO under section 161 CrPC. It is true that in cases of rape, the delay in lodging FIR is not fatal but there is no case that the informant took time in taking decision for lodging FIR. This indicates that the delay in lodging FIR has not been convincingly explained by the prosecution.

26. Another defect is that in the written report, it has been mentioned that the accused stabbed the victim in her stomach and PW-1 has stated in her examination-in-chief that she met her daughter in the hospital, her condition was serious and her intestine was coming out from stomach. She said that the victim was stabbed by the accused. PW-2 victim and PW-3 Jitu have also stated that the accused stabbed the victim. The medical report however does not support it as no stabbed wound has been found by the doctor. The prosecution case is that initially the victim was given treatment at CHC and on 15.7.2010, she was brought to district hospital as referred case. The doctor who gave treatment to her at CHC has not been examined by prosecution. He has been examined as defence witness as DW-1 Dr. Vikas Anand, Medical Officer, working in Emergency at District Hospital on 15.7.2010, who has stated that the victim was admitted on the basis of reference slip of CHC and she was admitted for the treatment of self inflicted injury. Similarly, DW-2 Vikas Tripathi, EMO, District Hospital has also stated that on 16.7.2010, at 7.40 AM, he examined the victim in the ward and she was complaining of stomach pain. Both these witnesses have not been even cross-examined by the prosecution and therefore, there remains no doubt with regard to the correctness of their statements. I find that after the examination of two defence witnesses, CW-1 Dr. Pradeep Kumar, Medical Officer, District Hospital and CW-2 Dr. Ishtiyaq Ahamad, In-charge CHC, Bindki were summoned as court witnesses and on the basis of their statement, Dr. A. K. Singh, the then Medical Officer, CHC, Bindki has been examined who has proved the reference slip of victim as Ext. Kha-1 and has stated that the victim had come for treatment of self inflicted injury. He has been cross-examined, but nothing favorable to prosecution has come out.

27. In the same continuity, the medical evidence given by prosecution on the point, if analyzed, same result comes out and there is no indication of any stab injury to the victim. For instance, PW-4 Dr. D.K. Verma has stated that on 15.7.2010, the victim was admitted for treatment and she was complaining stomach pain and on ultra-sound her intestine was found lacerated. She was operated by him on 17.7.2010 and after being cured, she was discharged on 28.7.2010. He has stated that the intestine may be torn by hitting very powerfully by blunt object such as butt of a knife. He has admitted during cross-examination that she was admitted in hospital on reference for the treatment of self inflicted injury and there was no injury by sharp weapon. He has also stated that Sohan Lal told him on phone that the victim had fallen from roof. PW-7 has stated that there was no injury of sharp weapon to the victim. He has stated that on falling from roof on some blunt object from the side of stomach, such injury is possible. PW-10 Dr. B. C. Budhani has not indicated injury on her private part. Therefore, medical evidence does not support the prosecution case in entirety. On the contrary, it does not rule out the defence case that she sustained injury as she fell down from roof.

28. PW-3 Jitu, the real brother of the victim, was not there in the house and he has stated that that when reached in the house, accused Kuldeep was wearing his pant and the moment he reached, the accused assaulted by knife in the stomach of victim and threatened him to run away otherwise he would assault him also by knife. Thereafter, he ran away from there. His sister, as he saw, sustained injury on her stomach His sister told her that the accused committed rape on her. It is strange that if everything was in the knowledge of PW-3, what prevented him and his brother in law to lodge FIR about the incident. He did not tell about the incident to his relative or neighbors nor took their help. He did not even inform to his mother and strangely, she was informed by the father of accused that victim has fallen. It is difficult to understand the conduct of this witness which appears to be unnatural and not of a prudent person and certainly it reflects upon the credibility of his testimony. His presence at the time of incident or soon after appears to be doubtful.

29. PW-2 is the victim who has stated that the accused committed rape on her on the point of a knife and when she started crying, he threatened to stab her by knife and when she continued crying, he stabbed her after committing rape. She fell down and at this point of time her brother Jitu and her brother in law Vinod reached there. Then, the accused was wearing his pant. It was bleeding and she got fainted.

30. Now, the evidence of all the three witnesses and prosecution case suffers from serious infirmities. Firstly, there is no medical evidence showing that the victim sustained any incised wound in her stomach caused by knife. The doctors who examined the victim, treated and operated her abdomen, have for reasons best known to them have tried to make out an injury by butt of the knife, which was never the case put forward by the prosecution. The trial court appears to have acted strangely by placing reliance on the opinion of doctors that the injury was possible by the butt of knife as it is beyond the prosecution case. No such statement has been given by the victim or any of the fact witnesses. Moreover, there is always a presumption that a weapon was used in a like manner it is used unless the facts and circumstances permit an otherwise inference.

31. Niranjan Prasad v State of MP, 1996 CrLJ 1987 (SC), was a murder trial, testimony of eye-witnesses was that the deceased and injured were assaulted with sharp cutting weapons but their testimony was not corroborated with medical evidence showing deceased having been injured by blunt object (weapon) only. Post-Mortem Report showing that the deceased had no injury which could be caused by a sharp cutting weapon and, indeed, he had sustained only one injury which could be caused, according to the doctor by a blunt weapon only. Keeping in view the sharp contrast in between the ocular testimony and the medical evidence, the Supreme Court set aside the conviction of the accused persons.

32. Similarly, in Thaman Kumar v State of Union Territory of Chandigarh, (2003) 6 SCC 380, the Supreme Court laid down as follows:

"There may be a case where there is total absence of injuries, which are normally caused by a particular weapon. There is another category where though the injuries found on the victim are of the type, which is possible by the weapon of assault, but the size and dimension of the injuries do not exactly tally with the size and dimension of the weapon. The third category can be where the injuries found on the victim are such which are normally caused by the weapon of assault but are not found on that portion of the body where they are deposed to have been caused by the eye-witnesses. The same kind of inference cannot be drawn in three categories of apparent conflict in oral and medical evidence enumerated above. In the first category it may legitimately be inferred that the oral evidence regarding assault having been made from a particular weapon is not truthful. However, in the second category and third category no such inference can straightaway be drawn. The manner and method of assault, the position of the victim, the resistance offered by him, the opportunity available to the witnesses to see the occurrence like their distance, presence of light and many other similar factors will have to be taken into consideration in judging the reliability of the ocular testimony."

33. In this instant case, the first category is applicable where there is total absence of injuries, which are normally caused by a weapon like knife and it may legitimately be inferred that the oral evidence regarding assault having been made by knife is not truthful. There is another logic to support this inference. As said by the victim in her on oath statement, the accused stabbed her after commission of rape. It does not appeal to reasoning. When rape was already committed by accused, there was no need for the accused to assault her by knife. There is no recovery of the said weapon which could show that the make of the weapon was such that it could cause serious injury by butt side. I find apparent perversity and illegality in the finding of the learned trial court holding the accused guilty for the offence under section 308 IPC.

34. Now coming to the charge of rape, the victim has stated during cross-examination that the accused firstly dashed her on wall and she sustained injury on her head. Then he tossed her on the ground and she sustained injury on her back and in the commission of rape, she sustained abraded injuries on her hand and legs. He had got her completely naked and after commission of rape when he was wearing his pant, she was lying naked and her brother and brother in law saw her in completely naked position. She has admitted that her uncles house is adjacent to her house but they could not hear her crying as they had gone to field for agricultural work. If the rape was committed on her in the way she has stated, she should have suffered more injuries but no injury on her head and back has been found in the medical nor there is any abrasion on her her hand or leg. Had the rape committed in such a way, the victim must have sustained some injury on her private part. But no such injury has been found in the medical. PW-3 has stated that when he reached on spot, the accused was wearing his pant but he has not stated that the victim was lying naked. He has stated that he did not call his relatives who lived adjacent to his house as their relation was not good and they were not on talking terms. This is again contrary to what the victim has stated. There is inconsistency in the statement of the informant as in the cross-examination, she has stated that on fourth day she reached in the hospital and the victim told her about the incident which is contrary to what she stated in examination-in-chief that next day she met her daughter in the hospital who told her about the incident. PW-1 and PW-2 have stated that at the time of incident, brother/son Jitu and brother in law/son in law Vinod reached there. In the examination-in-chief, PW-1 has stated that her son Jitu and son in law reached at the time of occurrence and saved her daughter, otherwise, the accused could have killed her. But, PW-3 Jitu has not stated about Vinod but about one Shusheel and he too did not reach with him and reached subsequently. Thus, there is contradiction on this point in the statement of witnesses. The evidence is on record that the victim was taken to CHC, Bindki by her brother Jitu and Shusheel and the victim according to PW-3 had informed him regarding commission of rape by accused. If it was so, nothing prevented them to disclose it to the doctor. There is no medical evidence that the victim was unconscious. The medical report shows that she was normal. Prior to 20.7.2010, she was operated and attended by various doctors but, she has not stated about rape on her. Then, why the doctors there were informed that the victim was admitted for treatment for self inflicted injury. The reference slip and statement of doctors contains this fact and there is no reason to say that the doctors mentioned this fact wrongly. PW-4 Dr. Kamal Dhawan has stated that the victim was admitted in the hospital from some days and only on 20.7.2010, she complained about rape and on 22.7.2010, when she was brought by local police, he examined her. There was no injury on her private part and she told that her menses started on that very day. She had been subjected to sexual intercourse in view of finger test but no definite opinion of rape was possible. She did not complain any pain in her private parts. Hymen was old torn. Thus, the medical evidence also does not corroborate the incident of rape on the victim.

35. The learned trial court has not considered the inconsistency, improvement and contradiction in the prosecution evidence. The prosecution has introduced and added new facts and story during evidence which makes the prosecution version improbable. In Ram Narain Popli v CBI, (2003) 3 SCC 641 and Vallabhaneni Venkateshwara Rao v State of AP, 2009 (4) Supreme 363, it has been held that introduction of or addition of new story or projection of different story by prosecution adversely affects and destroys the prosecution case and it is unsafe to convict the accused and benefit of doubt should be given to accused. There is delay in lodging FIR and no attempt has been made by prosecution to explain the delay. In rape cases, it is settled law that delay in lodging FIR is not material and if the offence has been proved by cogent evidence, the same will be insignificant. In this case, three witnesses of fact including victim have not been able to prove prosecution version in a reliable and credible way and thus, the delay in lodging FIR goes to render additional ground to dislodge the prosecution case. The medical evidence adduced by prosecution is to the effect that the victim was under treatment for self inflicted injury. Thus, the medical evidence also does not corroborate the prosecution case and it does not rule out or improbablize the defence version that the victim fell down from roof. In this case, the facts constituting the offence of attempt to culpable homicide and rape are so intermixed and inter-connected that one of them cannot be isolated from other.

36. In view of above discussion, I find that the learned trial court ignored the infirmities in prosecution version and prosecution evidence. There was variation, contradiction, inconsistency and improvement in the testimony of fact witnesses. PW-1 was not present at the time of occurrence and she lodged FIR on the seventh day on the basis of what was said to her by victim. Since, her son was in the knowledge of the incident and was well informed by the victim, she must have been told by her son about the incident. Her son and son in law could have lodged FIR. Therefore, the delay in lodging FIR assumes importance and creates doubt on prosecution version. There appears to be no reason advanced by prosecution why she was admitted for treatment in the hospital for the treatment of self inflicted injury. It supports the defence case. The prosecution case of causing stabbed injury by knife to victim by accused has been found to be untruthful. Both the sides are relatives and the presence of accused there, if it is believed that he was there, cannot be said to be unnatural. It has come in the FIR itself and also in the statement of informant that she was informed by Sohan Lal, the father of accused, by phone that victim had fallen down from roof. This has also come in the statement of doctor that Sohan Lal so informed him on phone. He so informed when there was no FIR about the incident. The evidence of prosecution witnesses is shaky, unnatural and untrustworthy and the learned trial court committed error in placing reliance on them. Thus, there is apparent perversity and illegality in the impugned judgment and the same is liable to be set aside and the accused is entitled for acquittal.

37. The Criminal Appeal is allowed. The impugned judgment dated 23.11.2013 convicting and sentencing the accused for the offence under section 376/308 IPC is set aside. Accused Kuldeep is acquitted consequently.

38. Accused Kuldeep be released from jail forthwith.

39. Office is directed to transmit back the lower court record to the concerned court along with a copy of this judgment for information and compliance.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Ajit Singh, J.)

1. This criminal appeal has been filed against judgement and order dated 14.9.2017 passed by Special Judge SC/ST (Prevention of Attrocities) Act/Addl. Sessions Judge, F.T.C-I, Auraiya in S.T. No. 124 of 2015, under Sections 323, 504, 506 I.P.C. and Section 3(1)X SC/ST Act, P.S. Kotwali Auraiya, district-Auraiya, whereby learned Judge convicted and sentenced the appellant to one year rigorous imprisonment under Section 323 I.PC. with fine of Rs. 1000/- and in default of payment of fine further one month R.I. Two years rigorous imprisonment under Section 504 I.P.C. with fine of Rs. 5000/- and in default of payment of fine further one month additional R.I. Three years R.I. under Section 506 I.P.C. with fine of Rs. 3000/- and in default of payment of fine further three months addl. R.I. Five years R.I. under Section 3(1)X SC/ST Act with fine of Rs. 10,000/- and in default of payment of fine further six months additional rigorous imprisonment.

2. All the sentences shall run concurrently.

3. At the very outset, Sri Vivek Mishra, learned counsel for the appellant, on instructions, stated that he does not propose to challenge the impugned judgement and order on its merits. He, however, prayed for modification of the order of the sentence for the period already undergone by the appellant.

4. Shri Ravi Prakash Pandey and Sri S.B. Maurya, learned Additional Government Advocates representing the State have stated that they have no objection, if the Court considers the mitigating circumstances.

5. Since the learned counsel for the appellant has given up challenge to the findings of conviction and there is ample evidence including eyewitness account and medical report to base conviction, accordingly, the conviction of the appellant for the aforesaid offence stands affirmed.

6. However, on the quantum of sentence, learned counsel for the appellant has argued that the appellant is not a previous convict; he is 30 years old married person and he is having children. He is the only bread earner member in his family that is why a lenient view be taken by this court in sentencing the appellant.

7. Learned counsel for the appellant submits that the injured/victim has received only simple injury and his trial was conducted under Section 323 I.P.C. due to sustained injury.

8. Learned counsel for the appellant further submits that the appellant was awarded simple imprisonment of three years and that he has already undergone for more than one month before conviction and two years and five months after conviction, meaning thereby that now the appellant has served more than two and half years in prison.

9. While dealing with the quantum of sentence, Hon'ble Supreme Court in B.G. Goswami Vs. Delhi Administration, 1973 AIR 1457, held as under:

"Now the question of sentence is always a difficult question, requiring as it does, proper adjustment and balancing of various considerations, which weigh with a judicial mind in determining its appropriate quantum in a given case. The main purpose of the sentence broadly stated is that the accused must realise that he has committed an act, which is not only harmful to the society of which he forms an integral part but is also harmful to his own future, both as an individual and as a member of the society. Punishment is designed to protect society by deterring potential offenders as also by preventing the guilty party from repeating the offence; it is also designed to reform the offender and reclaim him as a law abiding citizen for the good of the society as a whole.

Reformatory, deterrent and punitive aspects of punishment thus play their due part in judicial thinking while determining this question. In modern civilized societies, however, reformatory aspect is being given somewhat greater importance. Too lenient as well as too harsh sentences both lose their efficaciousness. One does not deter and the other may frustrate thereby making the offender a hardened criminal. In the present case, after weighing the considerations already noticed by us and the fact that to send the appellant back to jail now after 7 years of the annoy and harassment of these proceedings when he is also going to lose his job and to earn a living for himself and for his family members and for those dependent on him, we feel that it would meet the ends of justice if we reduce the sentence of imprisonment to that already undergone but increase the sentence of fine from Rs- 200/- to Rs. 400/-. Period of imprisonment in case of default will remain the same."

10. In Mohd. Giasuddin Vs. State of AP, AIR 1977 SC 1926, explaining rehabilitary & reformative aspects in sentencing it has been observed by the Supreme Court:-

"Crime is a pathological aberration. The criminal can ordinarily be redeemed and the state has to rehabilitate rather than avenge. The sub-culture that leads to ante-social behaviour has to be countered not by undue cruelty but by re-culturization. Therefore, the focus of interest in penology in the individual and the goal is salvaging him for the society. The infliction of harsh and savage punishment is thus a relic of past and regressive times. The human today vies sentencing as a process of reshaping a person who has deteriorated into criminality and the modern community has a primary stake in the rehabilitation of the offender as a means of a social defence. Hence a therapeutic, rather than an 'in terrorem' outlook should prevail in our criminal courts, since brutal incarceration of the person merely produces laceration of his mind. If you are to punish a man retributively, you must injure him. If you are to reform him, you must improve him and, men are not improved by injuries."

11. In Sham Sunder vs Puran, (1990) 4 SCC 731, where the high court reduced the sentence for the offence under section 304 part I into undergone, the supreme court opined that the sentence needs to be enhanced being inadequate. It was held:

"The court in fixing the punishment for any particular crime should take into consideration the nature of offence, the circumstances in which it was committed, the degree of deliberation shown by the offender. The measure of punishment should be proportionate to the gravity of offence."

12. In State of MP vs Najab Khan, (2013) 9 SCC 509, the high court, while upholding conviction, reduced the sentence of 3 years by already undergone which was only 15 days. The supreme court restored the sentence awarded by the trial court. Referring the judgments in Jameel vs State of UP (2010) 12 SCC 532, Guru Basavraj vs State of Karnatak, (2012) 8 SCC 734, the court observed as follows:-

"In operating the sentencing system, law should adopt the corrective machinery or the deterrence based on factual matrix. The facts and given circumstances in each case, the nature of the crime, the manner in which it was planned and committed, the motive for commission of the crime, the conduct of the accused, the nature of weapons used and all other attending circumstances are relevant facts which would enter into the area of consideration. We also reiterate that undue sympathy to impose inadequate sentence would do more harm to the justice dispensation system to undermine the public confidence in the efficacy of law. It is the duty of court to award proper sentence having regard to the nature of offence and the manner in which it was executed or committed. The courts must not only keep in view the rights of victim of the crime but also the society at large while considering the imposition of appropriate punishment."

13. Earlier, "Proper Sentence" was explained in Deo Narain Mandal Vs. State of UP (2004) 7 SCC 257 by observing that Sentence should not be either excessively harsh or ridiculously low. While determining the quantum of sentence, the court should bear in mind the principle of proportionately. Sentence should be based on facts of a given case. Gravity of offence, manner of commission of crime, age and sex of accused should be taken into account. Discretion of Court in awarding sentence cannot be exercised arbitrarily or whimsically.

14. In subsequent decisions, the supreme court has laid emphasis on proportional sentencing by affirming the doctrine of proportionality. In Shyam Narain vs State (NCT of delhi), (2013) 7 SCC 77, it was pointed out that sentencing for any offence has a social goal. Sentence is to be imposed with regard being had to the nature of the offence and the manner in which the offence has been committed. The fundamental purpose of imposition of sentence is based on the principle that the accused must realize that the crime committed by him has not only created a dent in the life of the victim but also a concavity in the social fabric. The purpose of just punishment is that the society may not suffer again by such crime. The principle of proportionality between the crime committed and the penalty imposed are to be kept in mind. The impact on the society as a whole has to be seen. Similar view has been expressed in Sumer Singh vs Surajbhan Singh, (2014) 7 SCC 323, State of Punjab vs Bawa Singh, (2015) 3 SCC 441, and Raj Bala vs State of Haryana, (2016) 1 SCC 463.

15. In Kokaiyabai Yadav vs State of Chhattisgarh(2017) 13 SCC 449, it has been observed that reforming criminals who understand their wrongdoing, are able to comprehend their acts,have grown and nartured into citizens with a desire to live a fruitful life in the outside world, have the capacity of humanising the world.

16. In Ravada Sasikala vs. State of A.P. AIR 2017 SC 1166, the Supreme Court referred the judgments in Jameel vs State of UP (2010) 12 SCC 532, Guru Basavraj vs State of Karnatak, (2012) 8 SCC 734, Sumer Singh vs Surajbhan Singh, (2014) 7 SCC 323 , State of Punjab vs Bawa Singh, (2015) 3 SCC 441, and Raj Bala vs State of Haryana, (2016) 1 SCC 463 and has reiterated that, in operating the sentencing system, law should adopt corrective machinery or deterrence based on factual matrix. Facts and given circumstances in each case, nature of crime, manner in which it was planned and committed, motive for commission of crime, conduct of accused, nature of weapons used and all other attending circumstances are relevant facts which would enter into area of consideration. Further, undue sympathy in sentencing would do more harm to justice dispensations and would undermine the public confidence in the efficacy of law. It is the duty of every court to award proper sentence having regard to nature of offence and manner of its commission. The supreme court further said that courts must not only keep in view the right of victim of crime but also society at large. While considering imposition of appropriate punishment, the impact of crime on the society as a whole and rule of law needs to be balanced. The judicial trend in the country has been towards striking a balance between reform and punishment. The protection of society and stamping out criminal proclivity must be the object of law which can be achieved by imposing appropriate sentence on criminals and wrongdoers. Law, as a tool to maintain order and peace, should effectively meet challenges confronting the society, as society could not long endure and develop under serious threats of crime and disharmony. It is therefore, necessary to avoid undue leniency in imposition of sentence. Thus, the criminal justice jurisprudence adopted in the country is not retributive but reformative and corrective. At the same time, undue harshness should also be avoided keeping in view the reformative approach underlying in our criminal justice system.

17. Considering the facts and circumstances of the case and the substantive period of sentence more than two and half years already undergone by the appellant in this case and the fact that the appellant is a young person; there is no bread winner in the family of the appellant and that he has realized the mistake committed by him and is remorseful of his conduct to the society to which he belongs and now he wants to transform himself, I am of the considered opinion that he should be given a chance to reform himself and he be allowed to give his better contribution to the society to which he belongs.

18. Consequently, the sentence is modified to the period already undergone by the appellant in this case, i.e. two years and five months under Section 3(1)X SC/ST Act and the fine imposed by the trial court is modified/reduced to Rs. 2000/-.

19. The appeal stands disposed of in the above terms.

20. Office is directed to transmit a copy of this order to the learned Sessions Judge, Auraiya for compliance and compliance report be submitted to this Court also.

21. Office is also directed to send back the record of the trial court immediately.

4. Chhotu Ram Vs Urvashi Gulati (2001) 7 SCC 530

(Delivered by Hon'ble Rakesh Srivastava, J.)

1. This contempt petition under Section 12 of the Contempt of Courts Act, 1971 (for short 'the Act') has been filed for initiating action against the respondents for wilful disobedience of the order dated 09.05.2013, passed by this Court in Writ Petition No. 1755 (S/B) of 2010, Dr. Satendra Prakash Rastogi v. State of U.P.

2. Dr. Satendra Prakash Rastogi, the applicant, was a Medical Officer in the Medical and Health Department of the State of Uttar Pradesh. By an order dated 03.10.2003 passed by the Principal Secretary, Medical, Health and Family Planning, U.P., Lucknow the applicant was dismissed from service. The writ petition bearing No. 1755 (S/B) of 2010 preferred by the applicant against the order 03.10.2003 was partly allowed by this Court vide its order dated 09.05.2013 in the following terms:-

"Accordingly, the writ petition is allowed partly with regard to continuity of service of the petitioner only. The impugned order dated 03.10.2003 passed by the opposite party no.1 (annexure no.1) is hereby, quashed.

Although, we are not inclined to grant arrears of salary to the petitioner during the period of unauthorized absence from duty, but we direct that the petitioner shall be reinstated in service w.e.f. 15.05.2013. It is also directed that the disciplinary authority shall proceed afresh from the stage of filing of the reply to charge sheet and pass fresh order after providing due opportunity of hearing to the petitioner and in view of the observations made above, conclude the fresh enquiry within a period of six months from the date of production of a certified copy of the present order and communicate the same to the petitioner.

No order as to costs."

3. The applicant filed a contempt petition before this Court bearing Criminal Misc. Case No. 2117 (C) of 2013 for initiating action against Sri Pravir Kumar, the then Principal Secretary, Medical, Health & Family Welfare Department, Lucknow for deliberate disobedience of the order dated 09.05.2013, mentioned above. In the said contempt petition, Sri Pravir Kumar filed an affidavit dated 29.10.2013 and brought on record two orders bearing nos. 2744 and 3599. Both these orders were dated 28.10.2013, and had been passed by the State of Uttar Pradesh in compliance of the order dated 09.05.2013 passed by this Court. By order no. 2744, the applicant was reinstated in service. It was specifically mentioned in the said order that the decision regarding payment of salary to the applicant for the period of his unauthorized absence from 08.01.1992 to 14.05.2013 would be taken after the decision in the disciplinary enquiry pending against the applicant. By order no. 3599, an Enquiry Officer was appointed to hold an enquiry against the applicant in terms of the order passed by this Court. Since the order dated 09.05.2013 stood complied with, the contempt petition was dismissed by this Court vide order dated 31.10.2013.

4. The disciplinary enquiry against the applicant culminated in an order dated 25.05.2015, whereby three annual increments of the applicant with cumulative effect were withheld. On 06.07.2017, after more than two years since the passing of the order dated 25.05.2015, the Director, Medical & Health Services, wrote a letter to the Chief Medical Officer, Bareilly and Chief Medical Officer, Saharanpur asking them to seek legal advice from the Chief Standing Counsel regarding the feasibility of filing a Special Leave Petition before the Apex Court against the order dated 09.05.2013, in so far as it relates to the grant of continuity in service to the applicant for the period of his unauthorised absence from duty.

5. Sri J.K. Sinha, learned counsel for the applicant has submitted that in the affidavit filed by Sri Pravir Kumar in Criminal Misc. Case No. 2117 (C) of 2013 he had assured that the order dated 09.05.2013 would be complied with. The counsel submits that the action on the part of the respondent in not granting continuity in service and now seeking legal advice to file Special Leave Petition against the said order is a breach of the undertaking given by Sri Pravir Kumar in his affidavit dated 29.10.2013 and amounts to deliberate disobedience of the order passed by this Court.

6. Section 2(b) of the Contempt of Courts Act defines "civil contempt" as wilful disobedience to any judgment, decree, direction, order, writ or other process of a court or wilful breach of undertaking given to a court.

7. The contours of the power of the Court so far as commission of civil contempt is concerned have been elaborated upon in a number of pronouncements of the Apex Court. Reference may be made to the following observations in Kapildeo Prasad Sah v. State of Bihar, (1999) 7 SCC 569:

"9. For holding the respondents to have committed contempt, civil contempt at that, it has to be shown that there has been wilful disobedience of the judgment or order of the court. Power to punish for contempt is to be resorted to when there is clear violation of the court's order. Since notice of contempt and punishment for contempt is of far-reaching consequence [and] these powers should be invoked only when a clear case of wilful disobedience of the court's order has been made out. Whether disobedience is wilful in a particular case depends on the facts and circumstances of that case. Judicial orders are to be properly understood and complied with. Even negligence and carelessness can amount to disobedience particularly when the attention of the person is drawn to the court's orders and its implications." (emphasis supplied)

8. In Sudhir Vasudeva v. M. George Ravishekaran, (2014) 3 SCC 373, the Apex Court held that the Courts must not:

"travel beyond the four corners of the order which is alleged to have been flouted or enter into questions that have not been dealt with or decided in the judgment or the order violation of which is alleged. Only such directions which are explicit in a judgment or order or are plainly self-evident ought to be taken into account for the purpose of consideration as to whether there has been any disobedience or wilful violation of the same." (emphasis supplied)

9. In J.S. Parihar v. Ganpat Duggar, (1996) 6 SCC 291, the Apex Court in para 6 of the said report has held as under:-

"6. ... It is seen that once there is an order passed by the Government on the basis of the directions issued by the court, there arises a fresh cause of action to seek redressal in an appropriate forum. The preparation of the seniority list may be wrong or may be right or may or may not be in conformity with the directions. But that would be a fresh cause of action for the aggrieved party to avail of the opportunity of judicial review. But that cannot be considered to be the wilful violation of the order. After re-exercising the judicial review in contempt proceedings, a fresh direction by the learned Single Judge cannot be given to redraw the seniority list. In other words, the learned Judge was exercising the jurisdiction to consider the matter on merits in the contempt proceedings. It would not be permissible under Section 12 of the Act. (emphasis supplied)

10. In Chhotu Ram v. Urvashi Gulati, (2001) 7 SCC 530, the Apex Court has held that the proceedings under the contempt of Court Act are quasi criminal and, as such, the breach has to be established beyond all reasonable doubt. The Apex Court held:

"2. As regards the burden and standard of proof, the common legal phraseology "he who asserts must prove" has its due application in the matter of proof of the allegations said to be constituting the act of contempt. As regards the "standard of proof", be it noted that a proceeding under the extraordinary jurisdiction of the court in terms of the provisions of the Contempt of Courts Act is quasi-criminal, and as such, the standard of proof required is that of a criminal proceeding and the breach shall have to be established beyond all reasonable doubt." (emphasis supplied)

11. In the case at hand, in pursuance of the order dated 09.05.2013 passed by this Court, the applicant was reinstated in service and a fresh enquiry was conducted against the petitioner from the stage of filing of the reply to the charge sheet as directed by this Court. The contempt petition filed by the applicant earlier for initiating contempt proceedings against the applicant for disobedience of the order dated 09.05.2013 was dismissed by this Court holding that the said order stood complied with. It is not in dispute that on the basis of the enquiry report, by an order dated 25.05.2015, three increments with cumulative effect of the applicant have been withheld. The order dated 25.05.2015 is not on record. The averment, as to whether or not the said order has been put to challenge is conspicuously missing in the contempt application.

12. In order to appreciate the first part of the submission of the learned counsel for the applicant, it would be imperative to reproduce the contents of the affidavit filed by Sri Pravir Kumar in Criminal Misc. Case No. 2117 (C) of 2013 in extenso. The affidavit reads as under:

"1. That the deponent himself is the Opp. party no. 1 in the above noted case he is fully conversant with the facts of the case and circumstances, of the case as deposed hereinunder.

2. That before making any submission before this Hon'ble Court the deponent tenders unconditional and unqualified apology before this Hon'ble Court if this Hon'ble Court if this Hon'ble Court finds any contempt from any conduct of the dependent. The deponent is a law-abiding citizen and a responsible govt officer, he always obey the order passed by this on Hon'ble Court.

3. That the present contempt petition has been filed for the alleged non-compliance of the order dated 09-05-2013 passed in W.P. No. 1755 (S/B) of 2010, Dr. Satendra Prakash Rastogi Vs. State of U.P. & others. The operative portion of the order is quoted here in under:-

"Although, we are not inclined to grant arrears of salary to the petitioner during the period of unauthorized absence from duty, but we direct that the petitioner shall be reinstated in service w.e.f. 15.05.2013. It is also directed that the disciplinary authority shall proceed afresh from the stage of filing of the reply to charge sheet and pass fresh order after providing due opportunity of hearing to the petitioner and in view of the observations made above, conclude the fresh enquiry within a period of six months from the date of production of a certified copy of the present order and communicate the same to the petitioner."

4. That in compliance of the order dated 09.05.2013, two orders dated 28.10.2013 have been passed by the Deponent. The copy of the orders dated 28.10.2013 are being addressed herewith as Annexure No. CA-1 & Annexure No. CA-2.

5. That the delay in the matter is neither deliberate nor intentional as some time was consumed in official correspondence in the matter and obtaining approvals of the competent authority and as such the same is liable to be condoned by this Hon'ble Court.

6. That in the above noted circumstances the order passed by this Hon'ble Court has been fully complied with and it is necessary in the interest of justice that the notice may kindly be discharged and Contempt petition may be dismissed."

13. From a perusal of the affidavit extracted above, it is apparent that there is no such undertaking as alleged by the counsel for the applicant and as such there is no question of any breach of any undertaking on the part of the respondent.

14. In so far as the second limb of the submission of the learned counsel for the applicant, relating to the legal advice sought for approaching the Apex Court, is concerned, every litigant, including the State, has a right to take recourse to the legal remedy available to them under law. Merely because the respondent has sought legal advice from the Chief Standing Counsel regarding the feasibility of filing a Special Leave Petition against the order dated 09.05.2013 passed by this Court, it cannot be said that there is a deliberate disobediance of the said order.

15. On merit, this Court is of the opinion that no case of civil contempt is made out. Besides, it is also clear that the prayer is also barred by limitation. A limitation period of one year is provided under Section 20 of the Contempt of Courts Act. The application is hopelessly barred by limitation and is liable to be dismissed as such.

16. The contempt petition is devoid of merit and is accordingly dismissed.

"Learned counsel for the petitioners also could not bring to the notice of the Court any statutory or otherwise provision contained in any circular/executive order/rules/regulations or any enactment which permits re-evaluation of answer books. In the aforesaid view of the matter, the prayers made in this petition as such cannot be granted.

At this juncture, learned counsel for the petitioners has prayed that the petitioners may be permitted to invoke the provisions of Right to Information Act for getting true/photostat copies of their answer books so that they can know the pattern of marking.

Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of CBSE vs. Aditya Bandopadhyay and others, reported in [(2011) 8 SCC 497] has held that under Right to Information Act if demanded, the answer books are to be permitted to be shown/copies thereof given to the candidates by the bodies conducting public examination.

In view of the aforesaid judgment, the petitioners are permitted to move appropriate application under the Right to Information Act for being provided with photostat/true copies of their answer books and in case any such application is made, the same shall be dealt with in accordance with law and the provisions contained in Right to Information Act by the Public Information Officer within the time stipulated for the said purpose under the Right to Information Act. On receipt of the photostat/true copies of the answer books if any grievance to the petitioners still subsist, it will be open to them to take recourse to the legal remedy which may be available to them under law for redressal of their grievances, if any.

With the aforesaid observations and directions, the writ petition stands disposed of."

3. After obtaining copies of his answer-books of Mathematics and English papers, the petitioner, alongwith two other students, filed another writ petition bearing Misc. Single No. 30776 of 2019, Shivam Tiwari and others v. State of U.P. and others before this Court. On an objection being raised by the learned Standing Counsel with regard to mis-joinder of cause of action, this Court permitted the petitioner to withdraw his name from the said writ petition with liberty to him to file a fresh petition.

4. In the above background, the petitioner has approached this Court again, by means of the present writ petition, seeking a writ of mandamus directing the respondents to re-evaluate his Mathematics and English answer-books, wherein the petitioner has secured 53 and 56 marks respectively. It is averred that the petitioner had secured highest marks in other subjects and had also answered the questions in Mathematics and English papers correctly and was expecting more than 80 marks in the said subjects. It is alleged that the answers given by the petitioner to some questions, mentioned in paragraph 14 and 15 of the writ petition, in the Mathematics and English paper were correct answers but have been marked as incorrect, whereas in some questions less marks have been given by the examiner. It is averred that "it is common knowledge and sometimes also reported in the newspapers that unqualified persons check the copies of High School and Intermediate Examinations. Sometimes, copies are taken by the examiners at their homes and they are checked by family members and that all the examiners who check the copies are not expert of the concerned subject. These copies are checked in cursory manner without giving them sufficient time." In paragraph 9 of the writ petition it has been averred that mischief has been done at the place where the answer books were sent for evaluation and in paragraph 17 of the writ petition it has been averred that about 70 students appeared from the College in Intermediate Examination conducted by the Board and all aforesaid students have been awarded less marks in the Mathematics paper. The petitioner, it is alleged, tallied his answer copies and also showed them to his Mathematics and English teachers and he was told by them that the examiners have not given him marks for the correct answers and in some of the questions less marks have been awarded by the examiners. It is on the basis of these vague and general averments, the petitioner prays for re-evaluation of his answer-books.

5. The learned counsel for the petitioner, relying upon an order dated 11.11.2019 passed by a learned Single Judge of this Court in writ petition bearing Misc. Single No. 30776 of 2019 prays that a direction be issued for re-evaluation of answer-books of Mathematics and English papers of the petitioner by an Associate Professor of Lucknow University of the subject concerned.

6. Per contra, the learned Standing Counsel has submitted that in the absence of any provision for re-evaluation in the Regulations of the Board, the Court cannot direct such re-examination or re-evaluation.

7. By a series of decisions of the Apex Court, it is now a well settled proposition of law that in the absence of any provision in the relevant Rules / Regulations providing for re-examination or re-evaluation of answer-books of a candidate in an examination, the Court cannot direct such re-examination or re-evaluation.

8. In Maharashtra State Board of Secondary and Higher Secondary Education v. Paritosh Bhupeshkumar Sheth, (1984) 4 SCC 27, the Apex Court held that in the absence of a specific provision conferring a right upon an examinee to have his/her answer-sheets re-evaluated, no such direction can be issued. The principles set out in the said case have been consistently followed by the Apex Court in a series of judgments.

9. In Pramod Kumar Srivastava v. Chairman, Bihar Public Service Commission, (2004) 6 SCC 714, a three Judge bench of the Apex Court observed as under:-

"7. ..... Under the relevant rules of the commission, there is no provision wherein a candidate may be entitled to ask for re-evaluation of his answer-book. There is a provision for scrutiny only wherein the answer-books are seen for the purpose of checking whether all the answers given by a candidate have been examined and whether there has been any mistake in the totaling of marks of each question and noting them correctly on the first cover page of the answer-book. There is no dispute that after scrutiny no mistake was found in the marks awarded to the appellant in the General Science paper. In the absence of any provision for reevaluation of answer-books in the relevant rules, no candidate in an examination has got any right whatsoever to claim or ask for re-evaluation of his marks."

10. The same view has been expressed by the Apex Court in Board of Secondary Education v. Pravas Ranjan Panda, (2004) 13 SCC 383, Board of Secondary Education v. D. Suvankar, (2007) 1 SCC 603, W.B. Council of Higher Secondary Education v. Ayan Das, (2007) 8 SCC 242, Himanchal Pradesh Public Service commission v. Mukesh Thakur, (2010) 6 SCC 759 and Tanya Malik v. Registrar General of the Delhi High Court, (2018) 14 SCC 129.

11. In the present case, admittedly, there is no provision for re-evaluation with respect to examination conducted by the Board. In view of the settled legal position discussed above, in the absence of any provision for re-evaluation or re-assessment, the claim of the petitioner for re-evaluation of his answer-sheets cannot be upheld

12. As stated above, the learned counsel for the petitioner has placed heavy reliance upon an order dated 11.11.2019 passed by a learned Single Judge of this Court in Misc. Single No. 30776 0f 2019. The order dated 11.11.2019 is extracted below in extenso:

"1. Heard learned counsel for the petitioners and learned Standing Counsel for the State respondents Sri Upendra Singh.

2. Learned Standing Counsel has raised a preliminary objection as to the maintainability of the writ petition jointly by the petitioners, saying that petitioner no.3 wants his answer copy of English examination to be reevaluated, whereas petitioner nos.1, 2 and 4 want reevaluation of their answer copies of Mathematics examination. There is mis-joinder of cause of action.

3. Learned counsel for the petitioners has submitted that petitioner no.3 wants his Mathematics answer copy as well as English answer copy to be reevaluated and, therefore, it cannot be said that there is total mis-joinder of cause of action.

4. This Court grants liberty to petitioner no.3 to file fresh petition, both for his Mathematics and English answer copies and his name be deleted from the array of the petitioners.

5. It has been submitted by the learned counsel for the petitioners that the petitioners had earlier approached this Court by filing Writ Petition No.14803 (MS) of 2019 and this Court had disposed of the writ petition on 24.5.2019, granting liberty to the petitioners to file an application under Right to Information Act to procure the photocopies of their answer books with respect to Mathematics and English papers as written by them in their Intermediate Examination of the year 2019.

6. The petitioners thereafter applied under the Right to Information Act for getting two photocopies of their answer books. From the photocopies that were supplied by the respondent nos.2 and 3, the petitioners have come to know that the answer books of their Mathematics paper have not been marked correctly. In Paras 13, 14 and 15 of the writ petition, the petitioners have mentioned the followings facts.

"13. That the petitioner no.1 allotted the number as 0902018. The correct answers of question number 1(b), 1(c), 2(a), 2(b), 2(c), 2(d) and 2(e) but the examiner has held the said answer wrong although they are correct answers. The examiners have given less mark to question number 3 a, b, c, d and question number 4-a, b, c, d.

14. That the petitioner no.2 allotted the number as 0901994 and petitioner no.3 0901989. The correct answers of question number 5 (b) e, 6-b, c, d, f but the examiner has held the said answer wrong although they are correct answers. The examiner has given less mark to question number 5a, and question number 9-d.

15. That the petitioner no.4 allotted the number as 0902014. The correct answers of question number 1(b), 1(c), 2(a), 2(e), 3-a, b, d and 4 c, d are correct but the examiner has held the said answer wrong although they are correct answers. The examiner has given less mark to question number 5-a, d, e, f and question number 6-a, b, c, d, e question no.8-b question no.9-a and question no.2-b."

7. Since the petitioners have filed photocopies of the answer sheet for Mathematics paper as Annexure to the writ petition, it would be in the interest of justice that this Court entertains the writ petition, although as submitted by the learned counsel for the State respondents, there is no provision for reevaluation.

8. Since the petitioners have raised doubts with regard to correct answers in regard to Mathematics for which, this Court does not consider itself to be an expert, copies of the answer books of the petitioners in Mathematics paper shall be given to a Professor or an Associate Professor in Mathematics in Lucknow University for evaluation of the petitioners' contention as raised by them in Paras 13, 14 and 15 of the writ petition.

9. The respondent no.3 shall provide true photocopies of the answer sheet of the petitioners in Mathematics paper for Intermediate Examination of the year 2019 in sealed cover to the learned counsel for the State respondents Sri Upendra Singh, who shall request the learned counsel for the Lucknow University Sri Savitra Vardhan Singh to ask the Associate Professor of the Mathematics Department to look over the doubts raised by the petitioners herein and submit a report to this Court within a period of four weeks. The report shall be submitted to this Court in a sealed cover through the Registrar of the Lucknow University.

10. Let the answer copies of Mathematics paper of petitioner nos.1, 2 and 4 be provided to the learned counsel for the State respondents Sri Upendra Singh within ten days from the date of receipt of a certified copy of this order through the petitioners, which shall be forwarded by him to the learned counsel for the Lucknow University Sri Savitra Vardhan Singh within a further period of three days.

11. List this matter on 9.12.2019"

13. The order dated 11.11.2019 is only an interlocutory order. Before passing the said order the learned Judge has not considered and discussed the law on the subject. It is trite that a decision is binding not because of its conclusions but in regard to its ratio and the principles, laid down therein. Any declaration or conclusion arrived at without application of mind or not preceded by any reason cannot be deemed to be declaration of law or authority of a general nature binding as a precedent. The petitioner, thus, derives no benefit from the order aforesaid.

14. That apart, in almost identical circumstances, in the case of Pramod Kumar Srivastava (supra), while setting aside the judgment and order passed by the Patna High Court, the Apex Court deprecated the manner in which the High Court had directed the answer-book of General Science paper of the petitioner, in that case, to be re-evaluated by expert teachers through the Principal of a Science College. Paragraph 8, 9 and 10 of the said report are being extracted below:

"8. Adopting such a course as was done by the learned Single Judge will give rise to practical problems. Many candidates may like to take a chance and pray for re-evaluation of their answer-books. Naturally, the Court will pass orders on different dates as and when writ petitions are filed. The Commission will have to then send the copies of individual candidates to examiners for re-evaluation which is bound to take time. The examination conducted by the Commission being a competitive examination, the declaration of final result will thus be unduly delayed and the vacancies will remain unfilled for a long time. What will happen if a candidate secures lesser marks in re-evaluation? He may come forward with a plea that the marks as originally awarded to him may be taken into consideration. The absence of clear rules on the subject may throw many problems and in the larger interest, they must be avoided.

9. Even otherwise, the manner in which the learned Single Judge had the answer-book of the appellant in General Science paper re-evaluated cannot be justified. The answer-book was not sent directly by the Court either to the Registrar of Patna University or to the Principal of Science College. A photocopy of the answer-book was handed over to the Standing Counsel for Patna University who returned the same to the Court after some time and a statement was made to the effect that the same had been examined by two teachers of Patna Science College. The names of the teachers were not even disclosed to the Court. The examination in question is a competitive examination where the comparative merit of a candidate has to be judged. It is, therefore, absolutely necessary that a uniform standard is applied in examining the answer-books of all the candidates. It is the specific case of the Commission that in order to achieve such an objective, a centralised system of evaluation of answer-books is adopted wherein different examiners examine the answer-books on the basis of model answers prepared by the Head Examiner with the assistance of other examiners. It was pleaded in the letters patent appeal preferred by the Commission and which fact has not been disputed that the model answer was not supplied to the two teachers of Patna Science College. There can be a variation of standard in awarding marks by different examiners. The manner in which the answer-books were got evaluated, the marks awarded therein cannot be treated as sacrosanct and consequently, the direction issued by the learned Single Judge to the Commission to treat the marks of the appellant in General Science paper as 63 cannot be justified."(emphasis supplied)

15. In view of the above discussion, no ground for interference is made out.

The writ petition, being devoid of merit, is hereby dismissed.

10. In case the performance of the supplier is not found to be satisfactory, the empanelment of the suppler may be cancelled by giving one month's notice and the agreement may be terminated accordingly. The performance guarantee may be forfeited by NAFED at any point of time without prior intimation to the supplier to recover any outstanding dues or in case at any point of time the performance of the company is not found to be satisfactory.

11. The guidelines framed by NAFED for supply of seeds form inherent part of this agreement.

12. ARBITRATION :- In case any dispute arises between Nafed and supplier in respect of the supplies of different items on the interpretation and any clause of the present agreement on any subject touching the present agreement, same shall be referred to the Managing Director of Nafed, who is entitled to be the sole arbitrator appoint any official of Nafed at act as arbitrator. The decision of the Managing Director of Nafed or any officer authorized be the Managing Director to act as an arbitrator would be final and binding on both the parties.

All disputes arising out of this agreement shall be subject to jurisdiction of Delhi courts only. The party shall be governed by the arbitration and conciliation Act. 1996. The venue of the arbitration will be Delhi.

13. This agreement is valid for the period of 3 years and can be extended on mutual consent for a period of one year on each occasion.

In witness whereof, the parties hereto have set and subscribed their respective hand and seal on this agreement on the day, month, year first as mentioned in the presence of the following witness:

FOR & ON BEHALF OF SUPPLIER FOR ON BEHALF OF NAFED"

6. It is relevant to clarify here that we raised the issue of territorial jurisdiction of this Court as in fact the supply of Dhaincha Seeds was made to the Nigam/Institution and as per the terms of the agreement, the Nigam/Institution is under obligation to pay the amount of seeds supplied by the petitioner to the NAFED and on receipt of the amount from Nigam/Institution, the NAFED is under obligation to make the payment to the petitioner for the Seeds supplied by the petitioner to the Nigam/Institution situated at State of Bihar.

7. With regard to the issue/point of maintainability of the writ petition at Lucknow, learned counsel for the petitioner submitted that agreement between NAFED and petitioner was executed at Lucknow and in terms of the agreement, the Seeds were supplied to the Nigam/Institution and on account of non-payment of amount due, the right to sue accrued to the petitioner and accordingly, the writ petition at Lucknow is entertainable and maintainable.

8. We took note of arguments raised by the learned counsel for the petitioner as well as pleadings and documents on record.

9. It appears from the record that the agreement dated 10.01.2011 was executed at Lucknow between the petitioner and NAFED and the Dhaincha Seeds were supplied to the opposite party No. 4/Bihar State Beej Nigam Limited, Bihar (Nigam/Institution).

10. From the pleadings and documents on record, which include the agreement dated 10.01.2011 particularly the term No. 2, 3 and the term No. 3 under the head "Other Terms and Conditions", it transpires that right to get the payment of Seeds supplied to Bihar State Beej Nigam, Bihar-opposite party No. 4 in fact has been infringed by the opposite party No. 4-Bihar State Beej Nigam, Bihar, as in absence of making the payment by Nigam/Institution to NAFED, the petitioner would not get the amount of Seeds supplied to Nigam/Institution from NAFED.

11. From the terms of the agreement dated 10.01.2011 particularly term No. 1 and 4, term No. 5 under the head of "Responsibility of Supplier" and pleadings as well as documents on record, it transpires that all the transaction with regard to supply of Seeds took place within territories of State of Bihar.

12. In addition, if there exists a dispute between the petitioner and NAFED, then in view of term No. 12 under the head "Other Terms and Conditions" of the agreement dated 10.01.2011, the same has to be decided through Arbitration and the Court at Delhi alone can entertain any petition with regard to the dispute under the agreement.

13. Taking into account the entire facts of the case, it further transpires that main dispute is between petitioner/supplier and Nigam/Institution, which is situated in the State of Bihar.

14. In Om Prakash Srivastava vs. Union of India and another, (2006) 6 SCC 207, it was observed that writ petitioners have to establish that a legal right claimed by them has prima facie either been infringed or is threatened to be infringed by the respondent within the territorial limits of the Court's jurisdiction and such infringement may take place by causing him actual injury or threat thereof.

15. In the case of Nawal Kishore Sharma v. Union of India, (2014) 9 SCC 329, in para 16 the Apex Court observed as under:-

"16. Regard being had to the discussion made hereinabove, there cannot be any doubt that the question whether or not cause of action wholly or in part for filing a writ petition has arisen within the territorial limit of any High Court has to be decided in the light of the nature and character of the proceedings under Article 226 of the Constitution. In order to maintain a writ petition, the petitioner has to establish that a legal right claimed by him has been infringed by the respondents within the territorial limit of the Court's jurisdiction."

16. In Ex. No. 1387-5234-M Sepoy/D.B./M.T., Chabi Nath Rai vs. Union of India & others, 1997 (1) UPLBEC 236, a Division Bench of this Court, while considering the question whether the cause of action had arisen at Allahabad on communication of the decision on the representation of the appellant therein, had observed that the 'right to action' and 'cause of action' are two different things. This distinction was earlier considered by a Division Bench of this Court in Daya Shankar Bharadwaj v. Chief of Air Staff, New Delhi and others, AIR 1988 Allahabad 36, wherein it was observed:-

"A right of action arises as soon as there is an invasion of right. But 'cause of action' and 'right of action'..... are not synonymous or interchangeable. A right of action is the right to enforce a cause of action (Americal Jurispurdence 2nd Edition Vol.1.) A person residing any where in the country being aggrieved by an order of Government Central or State or authority or person may have a right to action at law but it can be forced or the jurisdiction under Article 226 can be invoked of that High Court only within whose territorial limits the cause of action wholly or in part arises. The cause of action arises by action of the Government or authority and not by residence of the person aggrieved."

17. On the issue of territorial jurisdiction and maintainability of the writ petition before this Court, we have also took note of the observations made by the Full Bench of this Court in the judgment dated 01.05.2020 passed in Writ-A No. 2071 of 2017 and other connected matters. The relevant paras are quoted hereunder:-

"129. Article 226 confers upon the High Court power to issue writs to any person or authority or any Government, within its territorial jurisdiction, and with the insertion of clause (1-A) subsequently renumbered as clause (2), the said power may also be exercised in relation to the territories within which the cause of action, wholly or in part has arisen, notwithstanding that seat of such Government or authority or residence of such person is not within those territories. The use of non-obstante clause under clause (2) clearly manifests that residence of the party is not a relevant consideration for determining the territorial jurisdiction under Article 226.

130. The relief sought by the writ petitioner, though would be one of the relevant criteria for consideration, but not the sole consideration in this regard. The maintainability, or otherwise, of a writ petition in a High Court would depend on whether the cause of action for filing the same arose, wholly or in part, within the territorial jurisdiction of that Court. The High Court would have jurisdiction if any part of cause of action arises within the territorial limits of its jurisdiction even though the seat of the Government or authority or residence of person against whom direction, order or writ is sought to be issued is not within the said territory.

131. The expression "cause of action" has been understood to be a bundle of facts which are required to be proved. The entire bundle of facts pleaded, however, need not constitute a cause of action as what would be necessary to be proved would be the material facts on the basis of which a writ petition can be allowed. It may also be considered as a bundle of essential facts, which it is necessary for the plaintiff to prove before he can succeed. The Court would be required to take into consideration all the facts pleaded in support of the cause of action without embarking upon an enquiry as to the correctness or otherwise of the said facts. The facts as pleaded in the petition may be considered, truth or otherwise whereof being immaterial.

132. In legal parlance the expression "cause of action" is generally understood to mean a situation or state of facts that entitles a party to maintain an action in a Court or a Tribunal; a group of operative facts giving rise to one or more bases for suing; a factual situation that entitles one person to obtain the remedy in Court from another person.

133. The meaning of the expression "cause of action" as distinct from "right of action", as evolved in terms of the precedents, would go to show that a right of action is a remedial right affording a redress for the infringement of a legal right and a right of action arises as soon as there is an invasion of rights whereas a cause of action would refer to the set of operative facts giving rise to such right of action. A person residing anywhere in the country being aggrieved by an order of the Government (Central or State), or authority or person may have a right of action at law but the same can be enforced by invoking the jurisdiction under Article 226 of only that High Court, within whose territorial limits the cause of action wholly or in part arises.

134. The "right of action" being the right to commence and maintain an action is therefore distinguishable from "cause of action" in that the former is a remedial right while the latter would comprise the operative facts giving rise to such remedial right. The former would be a matter of right and would depend upon the substantive law whereas the latter would be governed by the law of procedure.

135. It is, therefore, seen that a "cause of action" is the fact or corroboration of facts which affords a party right to judicial interference on his behalf. The "cause of action" would be seen to comprise: (i) the plaintiff's primary right and the defendant's corresponding primary duty; and (ii) the delict or wrongful act or omission of the defendant, by which the primary right and duty have been violated. The term "right of action" is the right to commence and maintain action or in other words the right to enforce a cause of action. In the law of pleadings, "right of action" can be distinguished from "cause of action" in that the former is a remedial right while the latter would comprise the operative facts giving rise to such remedial right. The former would be a matter of right and depend on the substantive law while the latter would refer to the bundle of operative facts and would be governed by the law of procedure.

136. A right of action, may therefore, be said to have arisen upon the invasion of primary rights of the person residing anywhere in the country being aggrieved by an act or omission of the Government or authority or a person, but in order to enforce the same, the jurisdiction under Article 226 of the Constitution of only that High Court can be invoked, within whose territorial jurisdiction, on the basis of the bundle of facts, the cause of action can be said to have arisen wholly or in part.

137. The question as to whether any particular facts constitute a cause of action or not has thus to be determined with reference to the facts of each case taking into consideration the substance of the matter rather than the form of action. The cause of action must be antecedent to the institution of the proceedings and before a petition can be entertained the petitioner would be required to demonstrate that one of the essential facts giving rise to the petition has arisen within the territorial jurisdiction of the High Court.

138. The powers to issue directions, orders or writs to any government, authority or person, may be exercised, as per terms of clause (2) of Article 226, by any High Court exercising jurisdiction in relation to the territories within which the cause of action, "wholly or in part", arises. This exercise of power, may be made notwithstanding that the seat of such government or authority or residence of such person is not within those territories.

139. In determining the objection of lack of territorial jurisdiction, the Court must, therefore, take all the facts pleaded in support of the cause of action into consideration without embarking upon an enquiry as to the correctness or otherwise of the said facts. The question of territorial jurisdiction thus must be decided on the facts pleaded in the petition, the truth or otherwise, whereof being immaterial.

140. It may, however, be added as a caveat that if from the averments of the petition, as they are, no part of cause of action can be held to have arisen within the jurisdiction of a High Court, that High Court cannot assume territorial jurisdiction on the ground of residence of the petitioner or the like.

141. The expression "in part" has been held to be comprehensive and includes within its ambit even an infinitesimal fraction of cause of action. The expression "wholly or in part" used under clause (2) of Article 226 would therefore be referable entirely to the facts stated and the grounds set forth in the petition as the cause of action has no relation to the defence set up or the objection raised by the opposite party.

142. In order to invest the High Court with jurisdiction to entertain a petition under Article 226, the transaction in question must be an integral part of the cause of action which must arise within its territorial jurisdiction, and would depend upon the facts of the case and the nature of the order impugned giving rise to the cause of action.

143. Notice may also be had to the fact that Article 226(1) begins with a non-obstante clause and in terms thereof every High Court shall have power "throughout the territories in relation to which it exercises jurisdiction", to issue to any person or authority, including in appropriate cases, any Government, "within those territories" directions, orders or writs, for the enforcement of any other rights conferred by Part III or for any other purpose. In terms of clause (2) of Article 226 the power conferred by clause (1) may be exercised by the High Court if the cause of action, wholly or in part, had arisen within the territory over which it exercises jurisdiction, notwithstanding that the seat of such Government or authority or the residence of such person is not within those territories.

144. A plain reading of the two clauses of Article 226 makes it clear that a High Court can exercise the power to issue directions, orders or writs for the enforcement of any of the fundamental rights conferred by Part III of the Constitution or for any other purpose if the cause of action, wholly or in part, had arisen within the territories in relation to which it exercises jurisdiction, notwithstanding that the seat of the Government or authority or the residence of the person against whom the direction, order or writ is issued is not within the said territories.

145. Article 226(1) states that every High Court shall have power, throughout the territorial jurisdiction in relation to which it exercises jurisdiction, to issue directions, orders or writs to any person or authority, including in appropriate cases, any Government, within those territories. The powers so conferred under Article 226(1) have been further amplified with the insertion of clause (1-A), subsequently renumbered as clause (2), which provides that the powers conferred under clause (1) may also be exercised by the High Court exercising jurisdiction in relation to the territories within which the cause of action, wholly or in part, arises for the exercise of such powers, notwithstanding that the seat of such Government or authority or the residence of such person is not within those territories. It provides an expansion to the normal rule of the respondent being sued at his place of residence by providing for exercise of jurisdiction "notwithstanding that the seat of such Government or authority or the residence of such person is not within those territories". The non-obstante clause appearing under clause (2) thus enlarges the scope of jurisdiction which is primarily founded on the ground of cause of action.

146. We may therefore observe that Article 226(1) provides the source of power of the High Court as well as its territorial jurisdiction, whereas Article 226(2) amplifies the jurisdiction in relation to a cause of action by providing that the territorial jurisdiction would be exercisable in relation to the territories within which the cause of action, arises, wholly or in part. The cause of action would include material and integral facts and accrual of even a fraction of cause of action within the jurisdiction of the Court would provide territorial jurisdiction for entertaining the petition.

147. The territorial jurisdiction is to be decided on the facts pleaded in the petition and in determining the objection of lack of territorial jurisdiction the Court would be required to take into consideration all the facts pleaded in support of the cause of action without embarking upon an enquiry as to the correctness or otherwise of the said facts. The question whether a High Court has territorial jurisdiction to entertain a writ petition is to be answered on the basis of the averments made in the petition, the truth or otherwise, whereof being immaterial. The expression "cause of action", for the purpose of Article 226(2), is to be assigned the same meaning as under Section 20(c) CPC, and would mean a bundle of facts which are required to be proved. However, the entire bundle of facts pleaded, need not constitute a cause of action as what is necessary to be proved are material facts on the basis of which a writ petition can be allowed.

148. In order to confer jurisdiction on the High Court to entertain a writ petition, the Court must be satisfied from the entire facts pleaded in support of the cause of action that those facts constitute a cause so as to empower the Court to decide a dispute which has, at least in part, arisen within its jurisdiction. Each and every fact pleaded in the application may not ipso facto lead to the conclusion that those facts give rise to a cause of action within the Court's territorial jurisdiction unless those facts are such which have a nexus or relevance with the lis that is involved in the case. Facts, which have no bearing with the lis or the dispute involved in the case would not give rise to a "cause of action" so as to confer territorial jurisdiction on the Court concerned, and only those facts which give rise to a cause of action within a Court's territorial jurisdiction which have a nexus or relevance with the lis that is involved in that case, would be relevant for the purpose of invoking the Court's territorial jurisdiction, in the context of clause (2) of Article 226.

149. The situs of the office of the respondent would not be relevant for the purposes of territorial jurisdiction in the context of Article 226(2), and a place where appellate or revisional order is passed may give rise to a part of the cause of action although the original order was made at a place outside the said area, and a writ petition would be maintainable in the High Court within whose jurisdiction it is situate, having regard to the fact that the order of the appellate authority may also be required to be set aside since the order of the original authority has merged with that of the appellate authority. In such cases, where a part of a cause of action arises within one or the other High Court, it would be for the litigant who is the dominus litis to have his forum conveniens. In such cases, it would not be wholly correct to say that the litigant chooses a particular Court; the choice, would be by reason of the jurisdiction of the Court being attracted by part of cause of action arising within the jurisdiction of that Court, and it would ultimately be upon the Court to find out in each case whether the jurisdiction of the Court is rightly attracted by the alleged cause of action.

150. The doctrine of forum conveniens can be invoked only where the Court having jurisdiction decides not to exercise jurisdiction by invoking the doctrine forum conveniens. The invocation of doctrine of forum conveniens or forum non conveniens pre-supposes that the Court refusing to entertain a case on the basis of this doctrine, otherwise has jurisdiction. The argument of forum non conveniens cannot be raised in conjunction with the argument of lack of jurisdiction or forum non competens. The doctrine would be available only in a case where although the Court has jurisdiction but an adequate alternative forum is also available.

151. It may also be added that where a small fraction of cause of action accrues within the jurisdiction of a Court, although it may have jurisdiction in the matter, but the same by itself may not be considered to be a determinative factor compelling the Court to decide the matter on merits and in appropriate cases the Court may refuse to exercise its discretionary jurisdiction by invoking the doctrine of forum conveniens.

152. The question whether or not cause of action, wholly or in part, has arisen within the territorial limits of any High Court is to be decided in the light of the nature and character of the proceedings and in order to maintain the writ petition, the petitioner would be required to establish that the legal right claimed by him has prima facie either been infringed or is threatened to be infringed by the respondent within the territorial limits of the Court's jurisdiction causing him actual injury or threat thereof.

153. The accrual of cause of action having been made an additional ground to confer jurisdiction on the High Court after the Constitution (Fifteenth) Amendment, cause of action would be a relevant and germane factor for determination of the jurisdiction of a High Court under Article 226 and a writ petition can be instituted in a High Court, within territorial jurisdiction of which, cause of action, in whole or in part, arises.

154. As to whether the facts averred by the writ petitioner, in a particular case, constitute a part of cause of action, has to be determined, on the basis of the test whether such facts constitute a material, essential or integral part of the lis between the parties; if it is, it forms a part of cause of action and if it is not, it does not form a part of cause of action. In determining the said question the substance of the matter and not the form thereof has to be considered, and even if a small fraction of cause of action arises within the jurisdiction of the Court, it would have territorial jurisdiction to entertain the petition.

155. In dealing with the cases relating to forces operating under special statutes, as is the case from which the present reference has arisen which pertains to the C.R.P.F. Act, we may take notice of the fact that these special statutes have an inbuilt provision for filing statutory appeals/revisions and representations. In the event the statutory appellate/revisional authority is located beyond the territorial jurisdiction of the Court and the petitioner has availed such remedies, the jurisdiction of the Court cannot be invoked on the ground that the head office of the department is located within the jurisdiction of the Court. From a practical stand point also, this would be a more acceptable view for the reason that records of all the authorities whose jurisdiction might have been invoked during the pendency of departmental proceedings would be available at the offices of the authorities, which would be beyond the territorial limits of the Court.

156. The intent of the Parliament to grant territorial jurisdiction to the High Court within whose jurisdiction the entire or part of cause of action has arisen may be seen to have a nexus to the expeditious disposal of the proceedings. The exercise of jurisdiction under Article 226 would, in our view, take within its ambit remedies which are effective and efficacious.

157. Keeping in mind the objective of expeditious disposal of the proceedings and the need to balance the convenience between the parties to the lis it may be appropriate for the Courts to determine the question of jurisdiction at the very threshold. The doctrine of forum conveniens may be considered while determining the issue of jurisdiction. The petitioner no doubt is the dominus litis but the rights in this regard would be subject to the law of jurisdiction. In a case where the necessary ingredients of the territorial jurisdiction are not satisfied the Court may not assume jurisdiction merely on the ground of the residence. The doctrine of forum conveniens and forum non conveniens would be a relevant factor for the Court to examine whether the claim should or should not be entertained for the reason that there is another forum which is more appropriate. This doctrine would, however, not be the determinative factor and in a case where no fraction or even an infinitesimal part of the cause of action as arisen within its territorial limits the jurisdiction of the Court may not be invoked.

158. The aforementioned propositions broadly set out the contours with regard to the position of law in respect of the territorial jurisdiction of the High Courts under Article 226 of the Constitution of India. We may add that though an attempt has been made to cover the expanse of the precedents which are available, the discussion in the preceding paragraphs, is by no means exhaustive, in view of wide expanse of the scope and the varying interpretations rendered by the Courts keeping in view the complexities which arise in the interpretation of the scope of the writ jurisdiction of the High Courts."

18. Taking into consideration the facts of the case as also keeping in view the principles regarding cause of action, territorial jurisdiction and forum conveniens, we are of the view that the present writ petition, for payment of due amount, which in fact has to be paid first by the opposite party No. 4-Bihar State Beej Nigam, Bihar to NAFED and thereafter the petitioner can get the same from NAFED, is not maintainable before this Court.

19. For the foregoing reasons, the writ petition is dismissed being not maintainable before this Court.

20. No order as to costs.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Rakesh Srivastava, J.)

1. The U.P. Sainik School, Lucknow (for short "the School') is affiliated to the Central Board of Secondary Education, New Delhi. The School is run by the U.P. Sainik School Society with the Chief Minister, Uttar Pradesh as its Chairperson. The main aim of the School is to prepare the cadets academically, physically and mentally for entry into the commissioned ranks of the Defence Services through the National Defence Academy.

2. The petitioner was admitted in the School on 30.04.2012 in class VII for session 2012-13. In the year 2018, the petitioner was due to appear in Class XII Board Examination.

3. On 17.08.2017, Sri N.S. Babu, English Teacher of the School made a complaint against the petitioner. The Disciplinary Committee of the School, after affording an opportunity of hearing to the petitioner and his father, found that the petitioner was guilty of gross misconduct. The Committee, however, took a lenient view in the matter and recommended that "Transfer Certificate' be issued to the petitioner. The recommendation made by the Disciplinary Committee was accepted by the Principal of the School and on 18.08.2017 itself the "Transfer Certificate' was issued to the petitioner and it was also uploaded on the website of the school.

4. The last date for submission of examination form for Class XII Board Examination - 2018 was 10.11.2017. On 01.11.2017, just nine days prior to the said date, the father of the petitioner made a representation to the Principal of the School wherein he admitted that the petitioner was out of school for quite some time. It was stated that he was apologetic for the mistake of his son. It was prayed that keeping in view the future of the petitioner, the petitioner be permitted to appear in the ensuing Board Examination. The said representation contained a note / forward by the Sub Divisional Magistrate, Sarojini Nagar, Lucknow asking the Principal of the School to consider the said representation sympathetically. Relevant portion of the representation is extracted below:

"विषय– कैडिट उदित यादव पुत्र श्री बिजेन्द्र सिंह 3384 ॅभ को इण्टर बोर्ड परीक्षा तथा प्रयोगात्मक परीक्षा में बैठने की अनुमति के सम्बन्ध में प्रार्थना पत्र।

महोदय,

सविनय निवेदन यह है कि प्रार्थी का पुत्र कैडिट उदित यादव उपरोक्त विद्यालय में कक्षा 12 का छात्र है किसी कारणवश विद्यालय के शिक्षक से विवाद हो गया था। जिस कारण छात्र सैनिक काफी समय से विद्यालय से बाहर है। प्रार्थी अपने पुत्र की गलती के लिए क्षमाप्रार्थी है।

अतः आपसे विनम्र अनुरोध है कि छात्र सैनिक के भविष्य को ध्यान में रखते हुए बोर्ड परीक्षा में सम्मिलित कराने की अनुमति प्रदान करने की कृपा करेगे।

प्रार्थी आपका व सभी गुरूजनों का सदैव आभारी रहेगा।

प्रार्थी

बिजेन्द्र सिह F/O उदित यादव"

5. Just four days after the making of the said representation, the petitioner has approached this court by means of this writ petition seeking a writ of mandamus directing the Principal of the School to allow him to attend his classes and to permit him to appear in the Board Examination of Class XII as a regular student.

6. Pleadings have been exchanged between the contesting parties. Sri Devendra Mohan Shukla, learned counsel appearing on behalf of the respondent no. 3 states that he does not wish to file any counter affidavit. With the consent of the counsel for the parties the matter has been heard and is being finally disposed of.

7. According to the petitioner the complaint made by Sri N.S. Babu against him was absolutely false. In the writ petition the petitioner has projected himself to be a meritorious student. It is alleged that the work and conduct of the petitioner was always satisfactory and there was no complaint against him. It is on the strength of the categorical statement that there was nothing adverse against the petitioner, except for the false complaint made by Sri N.S. Babu against him, that the petitioner has prayed for permission to attend the classes and appear in the Board Examination as a regular student of the School.

8. In their counter affidavit, the respondent nos. 1 and 2 have denied all the material averments made in the writ petition. It has been inter alia stated that at the time of his admission, the father of the petitioner had signed an agreement which contained a clause to the effect that if at any time it is found that the cadet has involved himself in a serious breach of discipline or has been found repeatedly involving himself in a conduct unbecoming of a cadet in U.P. Sainik School as determined by the school authorities, he will be removed from the school with full penalty; that the averment that except for the incident of 17.08.2017 there is nothing adverse against the petitioner is absolutely false and incorrect; that after due opportunity of hearing to the petitioner and his father the Disciplinary Committee found that the petitioner was guilty of gross misconduct; that taking a lenient view of the matter a decision was taken to issue "Transfer Certificate' to the petitioner.

9. In the rejoinder affidavit the petitioner has reiterated the averments made in the writ petition.

10. Dr. V.K. Singh, learned counsel for the petitioner has submitted that the petitioner is in the last term of the school and the session is already over and in case the petitioner is not permitted to fill the examination form of the ensuing Board examination, one full year of the petitioner would be lost which, in turn, would affect the whole career of the petitioner. The counsel submitted that the petitioner would not indulge in any untoward activity in case he is allowed to appear in the examination as a regular student of the school.

11. Per contra Sri Lalit Shukla, the learned counsel for the respondent nos. 1 and 2 has supported the action of the respondents. He has submitted that the petitioner has not only concealed material facts but has made a false averment in the writ petition that the work and conduct of the petitioner was good and, except for the incident of 17.08.2017, there is nothing adverse against the petitioner. In the circumstances, the counsel submitted that the writ petition is liable to be dismissed on this ground alone. The counsel has further submitted that discipline is the most important part of training in the School and the action against the petitioner has been taken in consonance with the principles of natural justice, after due opportunity of hearing to the petitioner and his father and calls for no interference from this Court. The writ petition, according to the learned counsel, is liable to be dismissed with heavy cost.

12. It appears, that the whole unsavoury episode started on 17.08.2017 at about 12.30 hours, when the petitioner is alleged to have abused and assaulted Sri N.S. Babu, English Teacher of the School in the presence of Sri Avi Scott, History Teacher and Sri Sangeet Mishra, Laboratory Assistant. This led to the filing of a complaint by Sri N.S. Babu before the Principal of the School on the same day. The relevant portion of the complaint is extracted below:

"Cadet Udit Yadav School No. 3384 of Class XII-B has committed a shameful criminal offence of assaulting me today in the school campus around 1230 hrs. in front of class VII-B.

Cdt Udit Yadav accousted (sic) me when I was returning after taking class. The said cadet started hurling abuses and tried to threaten me with serious consequences on the pretext that I have no right to discipline class VII boys as being a senior most cadet this responsibility comes under him. When I scolded him for behaving in an indiscipline manner, he said: "I can set you right here and now as you don't know the tradition of the school that senior cadets rule over everybody." When it was too much for me to swallow I told him to leave the place but instead of leaving the place he pounced on me and grabbed my shirt and started hitting me, but thankfully two of my colleagues namely Mr. Avi Scott and Mr. Sangeet Mishra came to my rescue and the violent situation was subsided somehow.

You are hereby requested to take strictest action against the Cdt Udit

Yadav by rusticating him from the school with immediate effect in order to set an example to other cadets and to save this glorious institution from being ruined.

Though the above mentioned action requested by me is being decided with a heavy heart, to save the institution and for larger interest, the action is mandatory."

(emphasis supplied)

13. Looking into the seriousness of the charge, the Principal of the School entrusted the enquiry to the Disciplinary Committee of the School on that very day. On being required, the petitioner appeared before the Committee headed by the Headmaster at about 2 p.m. on 17.08.2017 itself. In the presence of the petitioner, Sri N.S. Babu gave his written statement in support of his complaint, which was confirmed by Sri Avi Scott and Sri Sangeet Mishra. Despite repeated opportunity, the petitioner refused to give his explanation. Sri Brijendra Singh, the father of the petitioner, on being required, appeared before the Committee on 18.08.2017. Sri Brijendra Singh acknowledged the fault of the petitioner. He, however, showed his helplessness in the matter. He, in fact, went to the extent of saying that he had no control over his son. Thereafter, Sri Brijendra Singh left the school. The information of the said incident was also given to Sri Brijendra Pal, an employee of the school and the local guardian of the petitioner. The Committee, after taking into account the evidence on record, came to the conclusion that the petitioner was guilty of gross misconduct. The Committee took into account the past record of the petitioner and then deliberated and discussed the issue and finally concluded that the continuance of the petitioner in the school would neither be conducive to his future nor to the dignity of the school. The Committee, however, instead of recommending rustication of the petitioner from the school, took a lenient view of the matter and recommended that "Transfer Certificate' be issued to the petitioner. The Disciplinary Committee, accordingly, submitted its report dated 18.08.2017 to the Principal of the School. The report is extracted below:

14. The recommendation made by the Disciplinary Committee was accepted by the Principal of the School and, on 18.08.2017 itself, the "Transfer Certificate' was issued to the petitioner and it was also uploaded on the website of the school.

15. The contention of the learned counsel for the respondents that the petitioner is guilty of concealment of material facts and of making false averments is not without substance.

16. In paragraph 14 of the writ petition the petitioner has categorically stated that his work, conduct and behavior was always satisfactory and nothing adverse was ever communicated to him. This averment of the petitioner has been vociferously refuted by the contesting respondents in paragraph 9 of their counter affidavit. In paragraph 8 of his rejoinder affidavit the petitioner has made a vague denial to the averments made in paragraph 9 of the counter affidavit. Paragraph 14 of the writ petition, paragraph 9 of the counter affidavit and paragraph 8 of the rejoinder affidavit are extracted below:

PARAGRAPH 14 OF THE WRIT PETITION

"14. That the work, conduct and behavior of the petitioner was always satisfactory and there was never any adverse/complaint against him during the entire life of student in the institution."

PARAGRAPH 9 OF THE COUNTER AFFIDAVIT

"9. that the contents of paragraph 8 of the writ petition are misconceived and are denied. It is submitted that Cadet Udit Yadav has been involved in various acts of indiscipline in the past out of which some of them are as follows :

a. Cdt was counseled in presence of his father Mr. Bijendra Singh Yadav for act of indiscipline on 02 February, 2013. A copy of the counseling report dated 02 February, 2013 is annexed as Annexure CA-3 to this affidavit.

b. Cdt was counseled in present of this father on 06 July, 2013 and was suspended for seven days. Copy of suspension order dated 06 July, 2013 is being annexed herewith as annexure CA-4 to this affidavit.

c. Cdt was involved in yet another act of indiscipline case and was suspended from the school from 17 July, 2016 to 27 July 2016. Copy of the suspension order dated 17 July, 2016 to 27 July, 2016 is being annexed herewith as annexure CA-5 to this affidavit.

d. Mr. Bijendra Singh Yadav father of Cdt Udit Yadav himself gave a written statement on 22 October 2016 by giving complete liberty to the school administration about the decision regarding his son and his misconduct. True copy of the letter dated 22 October, 2016 is being annexed herewith as Annexure CA-6 to this affidavit.

e. Cdt was caught using unfair means during the school exam on 07 February, 2017 and later on accepted his mistake in writing. True copy of the letter of acceptance for his mistake in exam is annexed herewith as Annexure CA-7 to this affidavit.

f. Mr. Bijendra Singh Yadav himself was so fed up that he requested for issuing of Transfer Certificate of his ward on 28th March, 2017. However, again Mr. Bijendra F/o Cdt Udit Yadav bagged for not to issue TC and him one more chance. Hence keeping his father's request school did not issued TC at that time. True copy of the letter dated 28th March, 2017 is being annexed herewith as Annexure CA-8 to this affidavit.

g. Mr. Suresh Kumar Singh father of Cdt Rudra Pratap Singh of Class IX lodged complaint against Cdt Udit Yadav for his misbehavior and physical abuse towards junior cadets. Then Cdt was suspended w.e.f. 10th July, 2017 to 16th July, 2017. On the basis of this application a board of enquiry was constituted on 11 July, 2017. True copy of the order containing constitution of the Board of inquiry on 11 July, 2017 is being annexed herewith as Annexure CA-9 to this affidavit. It is further submitted that inquiry committe submitted its report and same is annexe as Annexure CA-10 to this affidavit."

PARAGRAPH 8 OF THE REJOINDER AFFIDAVIT

"8. That the contents of para 9 of the counter affidavit stated in the manner are not admitted hence denied being false, incorrect and misconceived. In reply thereto reiterating the averments made in para 8 of the writ petition it is submitted that some incident, which is not appropriate to apprised this Hon'ble Court, took place with the petitioner in the year 2013 and since then the teaching and non-teaching staff as well as the classmate students were harassing the petitioner which continued till March 2017 and in this circumstances, the father of the petitioner was pressurized for taking the Transfer Certificate of the petitioner but on the several requests, the petitioner was again allowed to continue in the class/school but his harassment was not stopped and the petitioner has been ousted from the school in mid of the session 12th class, when the board examination is near, in most arbitrary and illegal manner whereas the opposite party No. 2 was required to allow the petitioner to attend the class for only about 06 months to complete his intermediate examination i.e. last session of the school but the petitioner has been ousted from the school without adopting the due procedures and also without issuing any transfer certificate. In such situation, where the petitioner will continue his study in mid-session is not understood and his last and final year will be lapsed. Thus the future career of the petitioner has not been considered by the opposite parties in ousting the petitioner."

17. In paragraph 8 of the rejoinder affidavit, the petitioner has made a vague denial to the averments made in paragraph 9 of the counter affidavit. It is settled that a vague denial is no denial. That apart, in the representation dated 01.11.2017, the father of the petitioner has admitted the act of indiscipline on the part of the petitioner and has tendered his apology for the same. But, in the writ petition the petitioner has repeatedly alleged that the complaint made by Sri N.S. Babu was false. It is, thus, apparent that the petitioner has made a false averment.

18. The inquiry against the petitioner was held on 17.08.2017 and 18.08.2017 and according to the contesting respondents the "Transfer Certificate' was issued to the petitioner on 18.08.2017 and the same was also uploaded on the website of the school. Admittedly, the petitioner has not been permitted to attend the classes since then. The last date for filling the examination form for Class XII Board Examination - 2018 is 10.11.2017 and the petitioner has approached this Court on 05.11.2017, just five days before the last date, with a categorical averment in the writ petition that the complaint made by Sri N.S. Babu, the English teacher, was false and that except for the incident of 17.08.2017 there was nothing adverse against the petitioner. This false averment, it appears, was made with a view to gain sympathy of the Court and to somehow get an order for filling up the examination form.

19. In exercising power under Article 226 of the Constitution, this Court is not just a Court of law, but is also a Court of equity. A person who invokes the writ jurisdiction of this Court is duty-bound to place all the facts before the Court without any reservation. It is well settled that in exercising jurisdiction under Article 226 of the Constitution, this Court always keeps in mind the conduct of the party who is invoking such jurisdiction. If the petitioner does not disclose full facts or suppresses relevant materials or is otherwise guilty of misleading the Court, then the Court may dismiss the action without adjudicating the matter on merits.

20. In Prestige Lights Ltd. v. State Bank of India (2007) 8 SCC 449, the Apex Court has observed that the said rule has been evolved in larger public interest to - "deter unscrupulous litigants from abusing the process of court by deceiving it. The very basis of the writ jurisdiction rests in disclosure of true, complete and correct facts. If the material facts are not candidly stated or are suppressed or are distorted, the very functioning of the writ courts would become impossible."

(emphasis supplied)

21. In K.D. Sharma v. Steel Authority of India Limited, (2008) 12 SCC 481, the Apex Court reiterated that the petitioners approaching this Court under Article 226 of the Constitution must disclose all the material facts without any qualification. It was held as under:

"38. As per settled law, the party who invokes the extraordinary jurisdiction of this Court under Article 32 or of a High Court under Article 226 of the Constitution is supposed to be truthful, frank and open. He must disclose all material facts without any reservation even if they are against him.

He cannot be allowed to play "hide and seek" or to "pick and choose" the facts he likes to disclose and to suppress (keep back) or not to disclose (conceal) other facts. The very basis of the writ jurisdiction rests in disclosure of true and complete (correct) facts. If material facts are suppressed or distorted, the very functioning of writ courts and exercise would become impossible. The petitioner must disclose all the facts having a bearing on the relief sought without any qualification. This is because "the court knows law but not facts". 39. If the primary object as highlighted in Kensington Income Tax Commrs. [(1917) 1 KB 486 : 86 LJKB 257 : 116 LT 136 (CA)] is kept in mind, an applicant who does not come with candid facts and "clean breast" cannot hold a writ of the court with "soiled hands". Suppression or concealment of material facts is not an advocacy. It is a jugglery, manipulation, manoeuvring or misrepresentation, which has no place in equitable and prerogative jurisdiction. If the applicant does not disclose all the material facts fairly and truly but states them in a distorted manner and misleads the court, the court has inherent power in order to protect itself and to prevent an abuse of its process to discharge the rule nisi and refuse to proceed further with the examination of the case on merits.

If the court does not reject the petition on that ground, the court would be failing in its duty. In fact, such an applicant requires to be dealt with for contempt of court for abusing the process of the court."(emphasis supplied)

22. From the narration of the facts above, it is apparent that the petitioner has deliberately and intentionally concealed material facts and has tried to mislead the Court. The writ petition is liable to be dismissed on this ground alone.

23. Even on merit, the writ petition is liable to be dismissed. It is no more res integra that in the matter of discipline of an educational institution, the scope of interference under Article 226 of the Constitution is very limited.

24. In Board of High School & Intermediate Education v. Bagleshwar Prasad, AIR 1966 SC 875 the Apex Court has held as under:

"12. .... In dealing with the validity of the impugned orders passed by Universities under Article 226, the High Court is not sitting in appeal over the decision in question; its jurisdiction is limited and though it is true that if the impugned order is not supported by any evidence at all, the High Court would be justified to quash that order. But the conclusion that the impugned order is not supported by any evidence must be reached after considering the question as to whether probabilities and circumstantial evidence do not justify the said conclusion. Enquiries held by domestic Tribunals in such cases must, no doubt, be fair and students against whom charges are framed must be given adequate opportunities to defend themselves, and in holding such enquiries, the Tribunals must scrupulously follow rules of natural justice; but it would, we think, not be reasonable to import into these enquiries all considerations which govern criminal trials in ordinary courts of law."

(emphasis supplied)

25. In Maharashtra State Board of Secondary and Higher Secondary Education v. K.S. Gandhi, (1991) 2 SCC 716 the Apex Court reiterated that while exercising powers under Article 226 of the Constitution, this Court does not act as an appellate authority. The Apex Court held:

"10. .... We remind ourselves that while exercising the powers, under Article 226 or Article 136 of the Constitution, by the High Court or of this Court, we are not sitting as a court of appeal on the findings of facts recorded by the Standing Committee (domestic enquiry body), nor have power to evaluate the evidence as an appellate court and to come to its own conclusions. If the conclusions reached by the Board can be fairly supported by the evidence on record then the High Court or this Court has to uphold the decision, though as appellate court of facts, may be inclined to take a different view."

(emphasis supplied)

26. In Varanaseya Sanskrit Vishwavidyalaya v. Rajkishore Tripathi (Dr), (1977) 1 SCC 279 the Apex Court observed that "in a matter touching either the discipline or the administration of the internal affairs of a university, courts should be most reluctant to interfere."

(emphasis supplied)

27. Again in Chairman, J & K State Board of Education v. Feyaz Ahmed Malik, (2000) 3 SCC 59 the Apex Court reiterated that -

"In matters concerning campus discipline of educational institutions and conduct of examinations the duty is primarily vested in the authorities in charge of the institutions. In such matters the court should not try to substitute its own views in place of the authorities concerned nor thrust its views on them. That is not to say that the court cannot at all interfere with the decisions of the authorities in such matters. The court has undoubtedly the power to intervene to correct any error in complying with the provisions of the rules, regulations or notifications and to remedy any manifest injustice being perpetrated on the candidates."(emphasis supplied)

28. In Guru Ghasidas University v. Craig Macleod, (2012) 11 SCC 275 the Apex Court has observed that the - "maintenance of discipline in the University is equally important for a conducive academic environment and that the larger interests of the academic community are more central than the individual interests of a student."

(emphasis supplied)

29. In the present case, no animus is suggested and no malafides have been pleaded. Furthermore, the petitioner has not made any allegation of procedural irregularity or violation of the principles of natural justice. Admittedly, in the enquiry held against the petitioner, he as well as his father were afforded an opportunity of hearing. Despite opportunity the petitioner did not contest the charge levelled against him. In the representation dated 01.11.2017, the father of the petitioner has admitted the act of indiscipline on the part of the petitioner and has tendered his apology. The decision to issue "Transfer Certificate' has been taken by the school after due deliberation and after taking into account the past record of the petitioner.

30. As stated above, the main aim of the School is to prepare the cadets for entry into the commissioned ranks of the Defence Services. Thus, discipline being the most important part of training, one act of gross misconduct on the part of a cadet warrants major punishment, including rustication from school. However, despite the repeated indulgence of the petitioner in various acts of indiscipline and his gross misconduct with Sri N.S. Babu, the English teacher, on 17.08.2017, the contesting respondents have taken a lenient view and instead of rusticating the petitioner from the school have decided to issue "Transfer Certificate' to him. That being so, no interference, whatsoever, is called for.

31. Moreover, in the case at hand, the petitioner has not approached this Court with clean hands. He has not only concealed material facts but has deliberately and intentionally made a false averment. This is highly improper. The writ petition was liable to be dismissed on this ground alone. The Court has, however, considered the merits of the case and even on merits, the petitioner has no case.

32. For the foregoing reasons, the writ petition deserves to be dismissed and is accordingly dismissed.

33. This Court was inclined to saddle the petitioner with exemplary cost but, keeping in view the fact that the petitioner is a student, the Court has refrained itself from doing so.

(A) Constitution of India - Article 226 - seeking a direction to the University of Lucknow - to provide admission to the petitioner in the LL.M. - averment regarding non issuance of 'Attendance Slip' in the rejoinder affidavit appears to be an afterthought as the same is conspicuously missing in the writ petition - Vague denial is no denial. Para-12

Petitioner appeared in the written examination conducted by the University for admission to the two year Master of Law (LL.M.) course - reported for counselling - asked by some official to wait in the side room - would be called upon when her turn comes - kept waiting in the side room till 2 p.m., but she was not called for counseling - Neither in the writ petition, nor in the rejoinder affidavit, has the petitioner disclosed the name of the official who had asked her to wait in the side room. - With regard to 'Attendance Slip', the petitioner in her rejoinder affidavit, for the first time, has vaguely alleged that "even though the petitioner had reached the counseling venue in time, no attendance slip was ever provided to her". Para - 3,12

HELD:- In the present case, no animus is suggested and no malafides have been pleaded. The petitioner is a law graduate. She was well aware about the counselling procedure. The contention of the petitioner that she reported for counseling at 9.30 a.m. sharp and kept sitting in the side room till 2 p.m., on the asking of some official, waiting for her turn, and that too without obtaining an attendance slip, is too naive for acceptance.Para – 13

Writ petition dismissed.(E-7)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Rakesh Srivastava, J.)

1. This writ petition under Article 226 of the Constitution has been filed on 03.10.2017, more than two months after the classes of LL.M. (2017-2018) course have started, seeking a direction to the University of Lucknow (for short "the University') to provide admission to the petitioner in the said course.

2. The learned Standing Counsel, appearing on behalf of the State-respondent, states that he does not wish to file any counter affidavit. Pleadings have been exchanged between the contesting parties. With the consent of the counsel for the parties the matter has been heard and is being finally disposed of at the admission stage itself.

3. The petitioner appeared as a general candidate in the written examination conducted by the University for admission to the two year Master of Law (LL.M.) course (2017-2018). The petitioner secured 5th Rank in the merit list. As per the schedule, counselling for open category for admission to the said course was to be held on 18.07.2017, whereas counselling for OBC/SC/ST category was to be held on 19.07.2017. According to the petitioner, she reported for counselling on 18.07.2017 at 9.30 a.m. sharp in the Commerce Faculty, New Building where she was asked by some official to wait in the side room and that she would be called upon when her turn comes. It is alleged that the petitioner kept waiting in the side room till 2 p.m., but she was not called for counselling. Thereafter, it is alleged, the petitioner met the Dean Faculty of Law and put forth her grievance. Having received no response, the petitioner is alleged to have made a representation to the Dean, the Vice Chancellor and the Officer-in-charge of the Admission Committee. The following day, it is alleged, the father of the petitioner met the Vice Chancellor personally, who assured him of a favourable action. Having failed to elicit a favourable response, the petitioner is now before this Court.

4. In their counter affidavit, the respondent nos. 2 and 3 have denied all the material averments made in the writ petition. It has been inter alia contended that the petitioner had reported for counselling after all the seats of her category had been filled up; that as per the Counselling Guidelines candidates reporting late have no claim if the seats are filled up; that the entire admission process was completed in the month of July, 2017 and the classes of LL.M Course started from 01.08.2017.

5. In her rejoinder affidavit, the petitioner has reiterated the averments made in the writ petition.

6. Shri Lohitaksha Shukla, the learned counsel for the petitioner has vehemently submitted that the petitioner had secured 5th rank in the written examination and she had reported for counselling in time. He submits that the action of the University in denying admission to the petitioner is absolutely arbitrary.

7. Per contra, Shri Savitra Vardhan Singh, learned counsel for respondent nos. 2 & 3 has submitted that by the time the petitioner reached the counselling venue, the reporting time was over and as such the petitioner cannot claim admission to the course in question.

8. The Counselling schedule of 18.07.2017 and the relevant part of the General Counselling Guidelines to which the attention of this Court was drawn by Shri Savitra Vardhan Singh are extracted below:

LUCKNOW POST GRADUATE ADMISSIONS 2019

General Counselling Guidelines

DETAILS OF STEPS PHASE

1 Reporting (In the Department)

• Candidates will be required to report for counselling in the Department where the course is being run on the designated date and time slot only.

o Reporting would open for only 30 minutes from the time the rank has been called.

o Candidates reporting late for any reason will not be considered for counselling during that session. However they may be considered in the subsequent session if seats are available.

o Since seats would be allotted on the basis of rank of candidates who have reported for counselling within the stipulated time, candidates reporting late will have no claim if seats of higher choice are filled up.

(emphasis supplied)

GENERAL INFORMATION

• Candidates are advised to go through the counselling procedure and follow the guidelines strictly.

• The cut-offs will be declared on the basis of open rank for the OPEN seats while for OBC, SC and ST candidates these will be declared on the basis of their category rank.

• Only candidates whose ranks are within the cut-off range for which the counselling is going on will be allowed to enter the counselling premises. Parents and Guardians are requested not to try to enter the premises.

• Please follow the given time schedule and ensure that you come according to the time slot allotted for your rank.

• A list regarding information about the reporting venue (Phase1) and fee submission venue (Phase 2) will be released separately.

• Candidates have to first report at the reporting venue and after completing all the formalities of Phase 1 have to go to the designated venue for Phase 2 of the counselling. Both Phase 1 and Phase 2 have to be completed on the same day.

• Candidates should fulfil all eligibility conditions on the day of counselling.

(emphasis supplied)

9. It is not in dispute that counselling is a continuous process and the terms and conditions of counselling are binding upon the parties. As per the General Guidelines, the candidates reporting late for counselling could not claim admission, if the 4 seats of their category were filled up. Thus, the only question for consideration in this case is as to whether in the facts and circumstances of the case, the petitioner is entitled to admission in the course under consideration.

10. Admittedly, as per her rank in the entrance examination, the petitioner was to report for counselling on 18.07.2017 at 9:30 a.m. at the counselling venue. According to the petitioner, she reported for counselling at 9:30 a.m. sharp at the counselling venue where on the asking of some official, she kept waiting in the side room till 2 p.m. for her name to be called for counselling. This averment of the petitioner has been vociferously refuted by the contesting respondents in their counter affidavit. Paragraph 6 and 7 of the writ petition, paragraph 10, 11, 12, 14 and 15 of the counter affidavit and paragraph 14 of the rejoinder affidavit being relevant are being extracted below:

PARA 6 AND 7 OF THE WRIT PETITION

"6. That it is also relevant to mention here that the Petitioner after downloading the information from internet had gone to Lucknow University for counseling and reported there at 9:30 a.m. sharp in Commerce Faculty New Building and just after reporting there, she was intimated by one of the officials to wait in the side room and she will be called when her turn will come.

7. That it is further relevant to mention here that after waiting right from 9:30 till 2 p.m. on 18.07.2017 when the name of the Petitioner was not called for counselling, she was constrained to approach Deen Faculty of Law and ventilated her problems but was of no use. Consequently, she was constrained to submit a written application to Deen Faculty Of Law, Vice Chancellor, Lucknow University as well as Officer in-charge of Admission Committee on 18.07.2017 itself. However, when her counselling was not conducted, she being disappointed had come back to her residence and spoken to her father explaining all the correct facts and circumstances. True Photostat/Typed Copies of the Applications dated 18.07.2017 submitted to Deen Faculty of Law, Vice Chancellor, Lucknow University & Officer In-Charge LL.M (2017-18) Entrance Examination are collectively annexed herewith as ANNEXURE NO.4 to this Writ Petition."

PARAGRAPHS 10, 11, 12, 14 AND 15 OF THE COUNTER AFFIDAVIT

"10. That it is specifically mentioned that the petitioner reported the counseling venue after all the seats have been filled up as per the schedule of the counseling.

11. That as per issued guidelines for counseling, the candidate was supposed to report at 9:30 AM but the petitioner was absent at that time, when candidates were called inside the counseling center for reporting and completing the further process of admission LL.M admission.

12. That at around 2:30 pm on 18/07/2017 someone claiming to the brother of the petitioner came with the problem and said that his sister was coming from some place outside Lucknow and her train got late so she could not report on time. By that time all the OPEN seats of LLM course were filled up as the, waiting list candidates were scheduled for 12:30 PM itself.

14. That it is also submitted that the candidates, who have reported at the counseling venue, Attendance Slip to the candidate was provided, on which the authorized person at the reporting counter put his signature, which confirms that the candidate had reported for counseling in time but the petitioner had not reported in time, as per time slot fixed, as such she did not get the Attendance Slip, which itself proves that she failed to report in time for the counseling at the counseling venue, as the Attendance Slip was given to each and every candidate, who had reported for counseling in time

15. That in view of above mentioned facts and circumstances of the case; it is evidently clear that the petitioner failed to report at the counseling venue as per the time slot provided for counseling to her, she was not considered for selection the LLM course. She had reported at the counseling venue after all the seats have been filled up as such you of the General Counseling Guidelines and time scheduled fix for PG Admissions-2017, Lucknow University, Lucknow for LLM course, petitioner failed to report in time as such she has no claim. The counseling process was completed in July, 2017 itself and the classes were also started from 01/08/2017 itself. Therefore, no relief can be granted to petitioner."

PARA 6 OF THE REJOINDER AFFIDAVIT

6. That the contents of Paras 6 to 15 of the Counter Affidavit so long relate to the date of Counseling, uploading Counseling programme on internet and rankwise details are not disputed. Rest allegations thereof are denied. In reply thereto it is submitted that the factum of petitioner reporting late for the counseling are denied categorically, emphatically and specifically as being false and baseless. It is further submitted that the Opposite Parties have concocted a false and baseless story to save their skin as it was only due to the malafide intention of the answering Opposite Parties and there mismanagement as well as callousness, that the Petitioner was never called for counseling even after the reaching the venue at the scheduled time. It is further reiterated that the Petitioner had ventilated her grievance before the Dean Faculty of Law, Vice Chancellor and Admission Committee on 18.07.2017 but despite her complaint, neither any action was taken against the guilty, nor any remedial measures taken by the Dean. It is also submitted that even though the petitioner had reached the counseling venue in time, no attendance slip was ever provided to her.

It will not out of place to mention here that Lucknow University is State Law University in which the participants come from all over India and the Counselling programme was uploaded on internet for LL.M. only on 16.07.2017 fixing LL.M. Counselling on 18.07.2017 and providing time of only 30 minutes for reporting of entire list Candidates of Open Category. Further more, even the waiting list candidates were called for Counselling on the same date and same venue at 12.30 P.M. which establishes the malafide on the part of the concerned authorities mainly to adjust their choice candidates for their vested interests and for that very purpose they have uploaded the contradictory Counselling programme as evident from Annexure CA-I & CA-2 (relevant page 18 of the Counter Affidavit) wherein the venue of counselling has been shown to be New Commerce Building, situated in main campus while the Annexure CA-2 mentions that the counselling shall take place "in the Department where the course is being run."

11. In the counter affidavit the contesting respondents have categorically averred that the petitioner had reported for counselling after all the seats of her category were filled up. In 7 paragraph 12 of the counter affidavit it has been specifically stated that around 2.30 p.m. someone claiming himself to be the brother of the petitioner came and informed the officials present there that the petitioner was coming from outside and could not report for counselling in time as her train got delayed. Since by that time all the seats of her category were filled up, nothing could be done in the case of the petitioner. In the rejoinder affidavit, except for a vague denial, the petitioner has said nothing more. It is settled law that a vague denial is no denial.

12. Neither in the writ petition, nor in the rejoinder affidavit, has the petitioner disclosed the name of the official who had asked her to wait in the side room. It is not in dispute that all the candidates who had reported for counselling in time were given 'Attendance Slip'. With regard to 'Attendance Slip', the petitioner in her rejoinder affidavit, for the first time, has vaguely alleged that "even though the petitioner had reached the counseling venue in time, no attendance slip was ever provided to her". The averment regarding non issuance of 'Attendance Slip' in the rejoinder affidavit appears to be an afterthought as the same is conspicuously missing in the writ petition.

13. In the present case, no animus is suggested and no malafides have been pleaded. The petitioner is a law graduate. She was well aware about the counselling procedure. The contention of the petitioner that she reported for counseling at 9.30 a.m. sharp and kept sitting in the side room till 2 p.m., on the asking of some official, waiting for her turn, and that too without obtaining an attendance slip, is too naive for acceptance.

14. In view of the discussion made above, there is no merit in the writ petition. The writ petition, accordingly, stands dismissed.

15. No order as to cost.

(A) Election to the Society - Societies Registration Act of 1860 - Section 25 - Disputes regarding election of office bearers - Rule 12(1)(2),(3) –

A dispute of Motilal Memorial Society, the parent Society - Motilal Memorial Society (hereinafter referred to as "the Society') was brought into being by Former Chief Minister of the State of U.P., Sri Chandra Bhanu Gupta along with other like minded people as an Educational and Charitable Society - Society has vast resources and runs 13 Institutions in the State. Para – 2

HELD:- Since the Society runs several Educational and Charitable Institutions and there is great animosity generated amongst the members of the Society due to repeated litigations, it would be appropriate that this Court constitutes a Committee of respected and responsible citizens to look after the affairs of the Institutions run by it . A Committee of two Members only shall not be able to discharge the responsibility of running the Society and its Institutions in the period during which the elections to the various constituents of the Governing Council are held and new office bearers take charge. I, therefore, nominate four persons as Members of the new Interim Committee to look after the affairs of the Society and the institutions, namely, employees and staff run by it. Para – 144

(Delivered by Hon'ble Mrs. Sangeeta Chandra, J.)

1. Heard Dr. L.P. Mishra, Advocate, assisted by Sri Sarvesh Kumar Dubey, Advocate and Sri Vivek Raj Singh, learned Senior Advocate, for the petitioners in Writ Petition No.4528 (M/S) of 2010, Writ Petition No.367 (M/S) of 2012, in Writ Petition No.430 (M/S) of 2012 and Sri Prashant Chandra, learned Senior Advocate, assisted by Sri Kartikey Dubey for the private respondents- Vimal Kumar Sharma (now Dead) and some of the members of the Society who have filed an application for dismissal of the aforesaid writ petition. Sri Madan Mohan Pandey, learned Additional Advocate General assisted by Sri Sashank Bhasin, appears for the State-respondents.

2. This bunch of four petitions have been filed relating to a dispute of Motilal Memorial Society, the parent Society situated at Motimahal, Rana Pratap Marg, Lucknow. Motilal Memorial Society (hereinafter referred to as "the Society') was brought into being by Former Chief Minister of the State of U.P., Sri Chandra Bhanu Gupta along with other like minded people as an Educational and Charitable Society. The Society has vast resources and runs 13 Institutions in the State.

As per the Bye-laws of the Society, detailed reference of which shall be made at the appropriate place. A Governing Council of 17 members, 13 of whom being Foundation/Life Members, and the rest four being elected, act as the Committee of Management of the Society. The main office bearers of the Society are the President, a Foundation Member, who also acts as the Chief Executive Officer, a Vice President, an Honorary General Secretary, who also is a Foundation Member, along with a Joint Secretary and Treasurer. The Committee of Management is elected from amongst the members of the Governing Council and its tenure is of three years or till such time that the newly elected Committee of Management takes over charge. The last undisputed election of the office bearers took place on 22.7.2005.

3. In the election held on 22.7.2005, Vishnu Bhagwaan Agarwal was elected as General Secretary, Vimal Kishore Sharma was elected as Vice President and Nagendra Nath Singh was elected as President of the Society.

4. Before such elections were finalized one Dr. Ram Krishna, who was dissatisfied with the process of election, filed Writ Petition No.3740 (MS) of 2005: Dr Ram Krishna versus Registrar, Firms, Societies and Chits, Lucknow and two others, which was dismissed by this Court on 7.7.2005. While dismissing the writ petition, the Court had observed that the petitioner was free to approach the Registrar to exercise his power under Section 25(2) of the Act, who would then take appropriate action in the matter. Dr. Ram Krishna moved a representation before the Registrar on 3.8.2005. The Registrar invoked the provisions of sub-section (2) of Section 25 of the Act and nominated the Deputy Registrar to act as an Election Officer for holding the elections of the Governing Council of the Society. This order was issued in ignorance of the fact that election had already taken place on 22.7.2005.

5. The General Secretary, Vishnu Bhagwaan Agarwal sent a letter to the Registrar, informing him about the meeting of the Governing Council held on 22.7.2005 and election of new office bearers and requested for cancellation of the order dated 3.8.2005. The Registrar on receiving the representation dated 12.8.2005 of the General Secretary Vishnu Bhagwaan Agarwal, after due verification, was satisfied about the legality of the elections held on 22.7.2005 and of the newly constituted Governing Council. Consequently, the Registrar withdrew the order dated 3.8.2005 by the order dated 8.9.2005.

6. Dr. Ram Krishna filed a regular suit registered as Regular Suit No.603 of 2005 for declaration and permanent injunction in the Court of Civil Judge (Senior Division), Lucknow. The Society was represented through its General Secretary Vishnu Bhagwaan Agarwal. Neither the Registrar or the Deputy Registrar whose actions, nor the President and other office bearers of the Society, whose election was being challenged, were impleaded as defendants in this Suit. Along with the Suit, an application for Temporary Injunction was moved for restraining the defendants from implementing the decisions of the Governing Council taken on 22.7.2005 and 14.8.2005 till valid elections take place under the direction of the Registrar dated 3.8.2005. Written statement as well as objection to the application for Temporary Injunction was filed on behalf of the Society by Vishnu Bhagwaan Agarwal.

7. During pendency of the said suit by Dr. Ram Krishna, the Governing Council was called for a meeting through notice dated 10.3.2007 by the General Secretary, who substituted the original 27 items of the Agenda approved by the President by a list of 38 items without the prior approval of the President Nagendra Nath Singh. On 30.5.2007, Nagendra Nath Singh issued a notice to Vishnu Bhagwaan Agarwal regarding several acts of forgery done by him for personal benefit at the cost of the Society and the fraudulent activities of his having been noticed, he was asked to submit his reply. The notice dated 30.5.2007 was sent through registered post.

8. Vishnu Bhagwaan Agarwal managed to hold a meeting in the meanwhile where Nagendra Nath Singh was removed as President. Nagendra Nath Singh approached the Registrar against such action. After the Registrar passed the order dated 7.7.2007, cancelling the proceedings of the meeting held on 27.4.2007 and 19.5.2007 in regard to election of new President in place of Nagendra Nath Singh, and declaring that the Committee registered earlier in his office on the election held on 22.7.2005 was valid for the remaining term; Vishnu Bhagwaan Agarwal, the Secretary of the Society preferred a Writ Petition bearing No.3299 (MS) of 2007: Motilal Memorial Society and others versus State of U.P. and others, challenging the order passed by the Registrar on 7.7.2007. On 10.7.2007, this Court was pleased to stay the implementation of the order dated 7.7.2007.

9. Nagendra Nath Singh challenged the interim order dated 10.7.2007 in Special Appeal No.615 of 2007. On 17.7.2007, the aforesaid Special Appeal was disposed of finally, restraining the opposite party nos.4 and 5 of the Special Appeal to take any policy decision relating to the financial and other interests of the Society. A request was made to the learned Single Judge to decide the writ petition expeditiously.

10. Despite service of notice on Vishnu Bhagwaan Agarwal, Vimal Kumar Sharma and Narsingh Narain Tewari, they failed to reply to the notice and were issued two reminders on 5.2.2008 and 1.3.2008 again by registered post. Ultimately on 15.3.2008, in a meeting of the Governing Council, a resolution was passed, expelling opposite party nos.4, 5 and 6 from Foundation Membership of the Society in exercise of power under Rule 10(1)(d) and 10(1)(e) and Rule 10(2).

11. This Court dismissed Writ Petition No.3299 (MS) of 2007 filed by Vishnu Bhagwaan Agarwal by its order dated 15.2.2008. The Court was pleased to observe that the removal of Nagendra Nath Singh from the office of the President in exercise of power under Rule 23(b) of the Rules of the Society, which relates to reduction of term coupled with the fact that the decision relating to removal of Nagendra Nath Singh was not in the Agenda of the meeting circulated on 27.4.2007, was in utter disregard of the directions issued by the President of the Society. The Court affirmed the order passed by the Registrar. This Court observed that it was irrelevant to consider whether power under Sections 24 or 25 of the Act could have been exercised by the Deputy Registrar. If the order passed by the Deputy Registrar was cancelled by the Court, it would amount to putting the seal of the High Court over the illegal action of certain members of the Society through meeting dated 24.4.2007.

12. After the dismissal of the writ petition filed by Vishnu Bhagwaan Agarwal on 15.2.2008, Vishnu Bhagwaan Agarwal entered into a collusive compromise with Dr. Ram Krishna in order to frustrate the judgment of this Court dated 15.2.2008 and the counsel for the two parties made a statement before the Civil Judge (Senior Division) Lucknow that it had been agreed upon between the parties that an order be passed, directing the Registrar to hold the election in exercise of his power under Section 25(2) of the Act.

13. Nagendra Nath Singh filed Writ Petition No.1336 (MS) of 2008, challenging the order passed by the Civil Judge (Senior Division), Lucknow on 19.2.2008 and also praying for a mandamus commanding the opposite parties not to interfere in the peaceful functioning of office bearers of the Governing Council of the society duly elected in its meeting held on 22.7.2005.

14. One of the members of the Governing Council Veer Sen also filed Writ Petition No.1902 (MS) of 2007 challenging the order passed by the Civil Court and also the order dated 16.3.2008 passed by the Deputy Registrar, recognizing the result of an alleged election held on 16.3.2008, in purported compliance of Civil Court's judgment and order dated 19.02.2008.

15. Both the writ petitions were connected and heard together and finally allowed by this Court by an order dated 12.8.2008. However, this Court also issued a direction that the office bearers elected on 22.7.2005 shall continue in a routine manner, but for a period of one month only. The Registrar was directed to ensure that the office bearers elected on 22.7.2005 shall conduct the election within a period of one month from the date of the order. In case the Society failed to hold the election within time, the Registrar was to conduct the election of the Society under Section 25(2) of the Act.

16. In the judgment and order dated 12.8.2008, this Court made certain adverse observations against the conduct of opposite party nos.4, 5 and 6 and it was held that they were guilty of committing fraud and resorting to deliberate concealment and misrepresentation of facts in obtaining the order from the Civil Judge (Senior Division), Lucknow. It was further held that Vishnu Bhagwaan Agarwal was not competent to enter into a compromise in the Suit without getting the prior approval of the Governing Council. It was also observed that he was not the General Secretary on the date of the compromise. It is apparent from the judgement and order dated 12.08.2008 that the expulsion of opposite party nos.4, 5 and 6 was within the knowledge of this Court at the time of passing of the order.

17. Taking undue advantage of the directions of the Court that the current office bearers will be competent to hold the elections of the Governing Council within one month from the date of the order, Vishnu Bhagwaan Agarwal started acting as the Secretary of the Society on the basis of election held on 22.7.2005.

18. A Review Petition No.184 of 2008 was filed by Nagendra Nath Singh, mainly on two grounds that Vishnu Bhagwaan Agarwal had started claiming himself to be the General Secretary and was not returning the records of the Society despite his expulsion on 15.3.2008, and also on the ground that the Registrar could only supervise the election that was to be held by the Governing Council of the Society itself as no fault had been found by the Court in the elections held on 22.7.2005. Two more review petitions were filed by Vishnu Bhagwaan Agarwal and Dr. Ram Krishna. Review Petition Nos.161 of 2008, 166 of 2008 and 184 of 2008 were all connected and heard together. This Court passed an interim order on 17.9.2008, restraining the opposite party no.4-Vishnu Bhagwaan Agarwal from claiming himself to be the General Secretary of the Society or to discharge any duty in that capacity.

19. Review Petition No.184 of 2008 was partly allowed on 20.10.2008, while Review Petition Nos.161 of 2008 and 166 of 2008 were both dismissed. The Court held that the Governing Council under the Chairmanship of the President elected on 22.7.2005 shall conduct election of the different constituents of the electoral body so as to fill up the vacancies of the Foundation Members and four other members. After the elections of different constituents of Governing Council, election shall be conducted for office bearers of the Society. The Registrar or the Deputy Registrar was to supervise the elections to ensure fairness and transparency in the conduct of the election. He was directed not to create any hindrance in the election of the office bearers to be held by the Governing Council. Till the new office bearers took charge, the office bearers, who were elected by the Governing Council on 22.7.2005 would continue to carry out the day-to-day administration of the Society.

20. In pursuance of such directions, three vacancies on the expulsion of Vishnu Bhagwaan Agarwal, Narsingh Narain Tiwari and Vimal Kumar Sharma were filled up on 5.12.2008 by inducting Sri Ram Arun, Kunwar Reoti Raman Singh and Raja Anand Singh, as Foundation Members of the Society. Vishnu Bhagwaan Agarwal, in the meantime, had given an application on 22.12.2008 to the Deputy Registrar to set aside the resolution dated 15.3.2008 on his own behalf, stating that the representation is also on behalf of opposite party nos.5 and 6. The representation was not signed by the opposite party nos.5 and 6. The representation was not being decided. Vishnu Bhagwaan Agarwal therefore filed the Writ Petition No.2353 (M/S) of 2010, concealing the fact that the election had already been held in pursuance of the orders passed by this Court, on 31.12.2008, and without impleading the new office bearers. The said writ petition was disposed of by this Court on 28.05.2010, directing the Deputy Registrar to decide the pending Application of the opposite party nos.4, 5 and 6 in accordance with law.

21. The Deputy Registrar issued notice to Nagendra Nath Singh on 31.3.2009 even before this Court passed the order dated 28.05.2010. Nagendra Nath Singh filed his reply on 29.5.2009, mentioning that by the judgment of this Court on 20.10.2008 passed in Review Petition No.184 of 2008, this Court had observed in Paragraph-23 that even without putting the seal of approval on the resolution dated 15.3.2008, the said resolution had legal sanctity because for each and every business of the Governing Council, the seal of the Court is not required and every act or resolution of the Society or the Governing Council is to take effect in the ordinary course of business. It was alleged further that the Deputy Registrar did not have any power under the Act to decide the validity or otherwise of a resolution passed by the Society, expelling an office bearer in terms of its own bye-laws. The notice issued by the Deputy Registrar to the President of the Society was without jurisdiction. It was also mentioned in the reply that the opposite party nos. 4, 5 and 6 were given sufficient opportunity of hearing, but they did not avail the same. The opposite party no.4, 5 and 6 were acting against the interest of the Society, they were therefore, expelled from the Foundation Membership of the Society.

22. Professor Lal Amrendra, who was elected as General Secretary of the Governing Council on 31.12.2008 was also acting against the interest of the Society. The President on 14.8.2009 suspended him and issued a show cause notice to him on 3.9.2009. Ultimately, he was removed as Foundation Member of the Society on 24.2.2010 and on 4.3.2010, information regarding expulsion of Professor Lal Amrendra was sent to the Registrar.

23. On 24.7.2010, an application for adjournment was filed by Nagendra Nath Singh before the Deputy Registrar, bringing to his notice that a recall application had been filed against the judgment dated 28.5.2010 in Writ Petition No.2353 (M/S) of 2010, which was pending disposal before the appropriate Court. As such, no order be passed deciding the representation of Vishnu Bhagwaan Agarwal in the meanwhile. Through the said application, again an objection was also taken before the Deputy Registrar that he had no jurisdiction at all to take any decision on the expulsion of opposite party nos.4, 5 and 6. Ignoring such request, the Deputy Registrar by the order dated 26.7.2010, set aside the resolution of the Governing Council dated 15.3.2008, expelling opposite party nos.4, 5 and 6 as Foundation Members of the Society. The Writ Petition No.4528 (M/S) of 2010 was filed challenging the order dated 26.07.2010.

24. On the first day of hearing on 11.08.2010 the Court directed the matter to be listed along with the records of the Petition No.1902 (M/S) of 2008, with Writ Petition No. 1336 (M/S) 2008, Writ Petition No.2353 (M/S) of 2010, Writ Petition No.3299 (M/S) of 2007 and Review Petition No.161 of 2000, Review Petition No.166 of 2008 and 184 of 2008.

25. The Deputy Registrar in his order dated 26.07.2010 recorded a finding that in the Proceedings Register, after the proceedings dated 13.06.2007, proceedings dated 26.03.2008 were recorded, and thereafter proceedings dated 18.06.2007 were mentioned, which created a doubt on the genuineness of the Proceedings Register. This act of the Deputy Registrar was designed to give benefit to the Opposite Parties Nos.4, 5 and 6, as the main case of the petitioners before the Opposite Party No.3 after the eruption of dispute on 27.04.2007 was that the Opposite Party No.4 was withholding the records of the Society. The Proceedings Register came into the possession of the genuine office bearers only when a direction was issued by the Court in Review Petition on 17.09.2008. It has been submitted that when the original Proceedings Register was in the possession of Opposite Party No.4 the proceedings of the Governing Council of the Society were being transcribed on separate sheets of paper which were pasted on the original Proceedings Register after the present petitioners secured custody of the Proceedings Register.

26. The second ground taken by the Deputy Registrar was that the Petitioner No.2 did not inform the Deputy Registrar regarding expulsion of Opposite Parties Nos.4, 5 and 6 while submitting his objection on 10.03.2008. It has been submitted that the Petitioner No.2 could not have any knowlege of the future events that were to take place on 15.03.2008. He had no reason to mention the fact of expulsion of the Opposite Parties Nos.4 to 6 on 10.03.2008 as on 10.03.2008 only notice has been issued to the Opposite Parties to appear before the Governing Council, to submit their replies to satisfy it regarding their innocence.

27. The third ground taken by the Deputy Registrar for declaring the proceedings dated 15.03.2008 as void was that no application for registration of the proceedings dated 15.03.2008 had been made to the Deputy Registrar. It has been submitted that there is no provision under the Societies Registration Act to seek the registration of every proceeding relating to internal matters of the Society by the Deputy Registrar. It has been submitted that the Deputy Registrar had no jurisdiction at all to pass the order dated 26.07.2010. The Opposite Parties Nos.4 to 6 were the persons who were responsible for creating a dispute in the functioning of the Society for their vested interest. This fact was recorded by this Court in its judgement and order dated 15.02.2008 and in its judgements and orders dated 12.08.2008 and 20.10.2008.

28. Applications for dismissal of the writ petition at the threshold as not maintainable was filed on behalf of opposite party no.4-Vishnu Bhagwaan Agarwal and opposite Party No.5-Vimal Kumar Sharma. In the affidavit filed in support of such application, a preliminary objection regarding maintainability of the writ petition, it was submitted that under Rule 12 (1) the affairs of the Society shall be run under the control and supervision of the Governing Council. Under Rule 12 (2) the Governing Council could institute, conduct, defend, compound or abandon any legal proceedings by or against the Society. Under Rule 12 (3) the Governing Council may delegate all or any of its powers to any person. Under Rule 25 the Society could sue or be sued against, in the name of the Honorary General Secretary, or such other person who may be nominated by the Governing Council for the said purpose. In this case the General Secretary had not filed the writ petition. Nagendra Nath Singh was the President and he had not been authorized by the Governing Council to file the writ petition. The Governing Council in its Meeting dated 22.07.2010 attended by 10 members had dis-associated itself from the matter regarding expulsion of three Foundation members that was pending before the Registrar. The minutes of the meeting dated 22.07.2010 have already been filed as Annexure to the paper book.

29. It seems that the Governing Council after due consideration had taken a decision that the President Nagendra Nath Singh should defend the matter of Vishnu Bhagwaan Agarwal as the counsel as a whole had no concern with the case. Writ Petition No.4528 (M/S) of 2010 remained pending disposal. In the meantime, the Deputy Registrar passed an order on 22.11.2011 observing that there were only ten Foundation Members left in the Society, who were Nagendra Nath Singh, Vishnu Bhagwaan Agarwal, Vimal Kumar Sharma. J.R. Tripathi, Justice Umesh Chandra Srivastava (Retd.), Dr. Dauji Gupta, Sri Uma Kant Mishra, Narain Dutt Tiwari, Mata Prasad and Narsingh Narain Tewari; and then observed that election of the Society should be held by the Foundation Members within the period in which it was authorized to hold such election and then to submit its list of members of the Governing Council under Section-4 of the Act.

In compliance of the Order No.1903 dated 22.11.2012, the President had issued two orders dated 22.11.2011 and 28.12.2011. The order dated 28.12.2011 was circulated to all Foundation Members the same day and the signatures were taken on the said notice. The Registrar was informed by a letter on the same day of the election programme.

30. In the letter dated 22.11.2011 reference was made to the Deputy Registrar's order to hold election and in the order dated 28.12.2011, an election schedule was announced. Firstly, elections were to be held on 15.1.2012 for filling up the vacant posts of Foundation Members. Elections for the elected members of the Society were to be held thereafter on 24.1.2012, and elections of office bearers of the Committee of Management were to be held on 31.1.2012. It has been submitted that once the orders were issued announcing the election programme by the Committee of Management whose tenure was upto 30.12.2012, then the Deputy Registrar did not have any power to pass an order under section 25(2) of the Act.

31. However, after notices were circulated and the Deputy Registrar duly informed on 28.12.2011 of the ensuing election programme, the Deputy Registrar passed the order on 10.1.2012, saying that the Committee of Management had become time barred and then passed the order dated 16.1.2012, freezing the operation of the bank account of the Society by the incumbent office bearers.

32. Writ Petition No.367 (MS) of 2012 against the order of the Deputy Registrar dated 10.01.2012 has been filed, arraying Vishnu Bhagwaan Agarwal, Vimal Kumar Sharma, Narsingh Narain Tiwari and Mata Prasad along with one Rajendra Pratap Singh Rajput, as private respondents. In the order dated 10.1.2012 issued under sub-section (2) of Section 25 of the Act by the Deputy Registrar had announced the schedule of elections of the Society to be held from 19.1.2012 to 9.2.2012 in three stages, ignoring the fact that the President of the Society had already issued election notice on 28.12.2011 under the order dated 22.11.2011 of the Deputy Registrar himself, of first filling up the vacancies of Foundation Members and of elected members of the Governing Council, and then for holding election of Committee of Management of the Society. It has been alleged that the notice of election dated 28.12.2011 had been duly served upon all Foundation Members personally, and they had signed the same except for Narain Dutt Tiwari on whom, notices were served through registered post. It has been alleged that even after sending of election programme by the Agenda dated 28.12.2011 before the expiry of the term of office bearers elected on 31.12.2011, the Deputy Registrar took cognizance of letters sent to him by opposite party nos.4 to 7 and a letter sent by opposite party no.8 on 7.1.2012, and without giving any opportunity of hearing to the President, the order was passed on 10.1.2012 by the Deputy Registrar under sub-section (2) of Section 25 of the Act.

33. In Writ Petition No.367 (MS) of 2012, the Society alleged that under Rule 23 sub-clause (d) of the bye-laws, the retiring office bearers could carry on discharging their duties until their successors in office were elected or appointed, as the case may be, and have taken over charge. Under the orders of this Court, the last undisputed elections were held on 31.12.2008 in which, the petitioners were elected as the Committee of Management. In view of Rule 23 sub-clause (d), the Committee of Management was entitled to continue till their successors in office were elected or appointed and had taken over charge. Since the General Secretary of the Society, Professor Lal Amrendra was expelled as a Foundation Member on 24.02.2010, Mrs. Usha Chaudhary, another Member of the Governing Council was designated as Joint Sectary and duly authorized to file a writ petition on behalf of the Society.

34. It has been submitted by the petitioners in their Writ Petition No.367 (MS) of 2012 that in pursuance of the order passed by the Deputy Registrar on 22.12.2011, the election programme was circulated on 28.12.2011 and it was not open for the Deputy Registrar in view of sub-clause (d) of Rule 23 to pass the order impugned allegedly under Section 25(2) of the Act, saying that the Committee of Management had become time barred and the order passed by the Deputy Registrar being without jurisdiction was liable to be set.

35. It has further been submitted by the petitioners that Section 25(2) of the Act gives the right to the outgoing Committee of Management to convene a meeting for the purpose of holding elections till such time that its tenure does not expire and till such time that Deputy Registrar expresses a satisfaction that the Committee of Management had become time barred. Only after completion of term of the office bearers, the Registrar can pass an order under Section 25(2) of the Act for convening a meeting of the General Body of the Society for the holding of fresh elections for the Committee of Management.

36. It has also been submitted that the Society runs 13 institutions in which, there is one institution in the name of Chandrabhanu Gupta Shiksha Evam Manav Vikas Kendra, Chandrawal. It is a School and Agricultural Farm situated at Chandrawal, Sarojini Nagar and one R.P. Singh Rajput was appointed as Manager by means of order dated 7.4.2011. Sri R.P. Singh Rajput was indulging in several illegal activities and, therefore, a show cause notice was issued to him on 19.11.2011. Sri R.P. Singh Rajput in his reply, accepted the fact of making unnecessary expenditure without taking prior approval. Nagendra Nath Singh, hence appointed one R.R. Chaturvedi as Coordinator of the Institute on 4.1.2012, but by means of the impugned order dated 10.1.2012, the Deputy Registrar has also accepted Sri R.P. Singh Rajput's representation that Nagendra Nath Singh had lost all his authority after 31.12.2011. The Deputy Registrar also accepted the name of the institute being changed unilaterally by Sri R.P. Singh Rajput, who is arrayed also as opposite party in Writ Petition No.367 (MS) of 2012.

The petitioners submit that the Deputy Registrar did not have any power to approve the change of the name of the Institution by exercising his power under Section 25(2) of the Act.

37. This Court on 17.1.2012, on mention being made, directed the writ petition to come up along with pending Writ Petition No.4528 (MS) of 2010. After hearing the matter for sometime, this Court directed that any action taken in pursuance of the order impugned dated 10.1.2012 will be subject to further orders of the Court. On 18.1.2012 when the matter was listed again for hearing, this Court observed that Writ Petition No.4528 (MS) of 2010 was already being heard by another coordinate Bench and, therefore, it directed the matter to be placed before the same Bench where the writ petitions was already being heard.

38. Writ Petition No.430 (MS) of 2012 has been filed against the order of the Deputy Registrar dated 16.01.2012 prohibiting the incumbent office bearers from operating the bank account of the Society. It has been filed by Motilal Memorial Society through its Joint Secretary Mrs. Usha Chaudhary, the President of the Society, and Sri Nagendra Nath Singh in his personal capacity. Besides State-respondents being made parties, the petitioners have arrayed as Vishnu Bhagwaan Agarwal, Vimal Kumar Sharma and Narsingh Narian Tiwari along with one Mata Prasad and Rajendra Pratap Singh Rajput as respondents, besides the UCO Bank, Branchs at Nawal Kishore Road and Charbagh as parties. By the order of the Deputy Registrar dated 16.1.2012, he directed the Bank Branches situated at Hazratganj and at Charbagh to stop the operation of bank accounts of the petitioner's Society as order had already been passed under Section 25(2) of the Society Registration Act on 10.1.2012. The Deputy Registrar in his order dated 16.1.2012 stated that other Foundation Members had objected to the operation of the accounts by Nagendra Nath Singh and Mrs. Usha Chaudhary.

39. The order dated 16.1.2012 has been challenged on the ground that it is without jurisdiction, as there is no power vested in the Deputy Registrar to freeze the bank accounts of the Society after order is passed under Section 25(2) of the Act. Professor Lal Amrendra, the General Secretary of the Society was suspended on 14.8.2009 and terminated from Foundation Membership on 24.2.2010. The President in exercise of his powers vested in him in the absence of the Governing Council, had appointed Mrs. Usha Chaudhary as Joint Secretary on 14.8.2009 and authorized Mrs. Usha Chaudhary to file the writ petition pending approval from the Governing Council as and when it was convened and its meeting was held.

40. In this writ petition, on the first day of hearing on 9.2.2012, this Court issued notice to the private respondent nos. 4 to 10 and directed the matter to be listed again on 13.2.2012. Thereafter, no orders were passed except that of connection of the writ petition with the leading case i.e. Writ Petition No.367 (MS) of 2012.

41. On 13.2.2012, this Court appointed Mr. Justice Khem Karan, a retired Judge of this Court and retired Director General of Police Sri Ram Arun, IPS, as an Interim Committee to manage the affairs of the Society, including Institutions run by it, it's employees, students etc. till disposal of Writ Petition No.367 (MS) of 2012, Writ Petition No.430 (MS) of 2012, Writ Petition No.4528 (MS) of 2010 and Writ Petition No.5443 (MS) of 2005. The President and the Joint Secretary of the former Committee of Management as well as other persons, who were in possession of the records of the Society and Institutions run by it were directed to hand over the same to the Interim Committee forthwith after making an inventory of the same. The matter was directed to be listed for further hearing.

42. In pursuance of the interim order of this Court dated 13.2.2012, the Interim Committee of Justice Khem Karan (Retd.) and Shri Ram Arun took over charge of the Society on 21.2.2012.

43. On 21.2.2012, an impleadment application was filed by Professor Lal Amarendra, namely, Application No.17772 of 2012, praying for impleadment as opposite party no.9 in the writ petition. Professor Lal Amrendra stated in his affidavit that Mrs. Usha Chaudhary had no right to file the petition and only the Honorary General Secretary or such other person, who may be nominated by the Governing Council could file the writ petition. Mrs. Usha Chaudhary had not been nominated by the Governing Council to file the writ petition. The applicant Professor Lal Amrendra's Civil Suit and his two writ petitions being pending against orders passed by the Governing Council and by the Deputy Registrar, he was entitled to be impleaded as opposite party no.9 in the writ petition. This application remained pending and now with the death of Professor Lal Amrendra on 17.12.2019, it has become infructuous.

44. On 17.9.2012, an application for dismissal of the writ petition was filed by opposite party no.4 Vishnu Bhagwaan Agarwal, saying that the writ petition filed on behalf of the Society through Mrs. Usha Chaudhary, Joint Secretary was not maintainable in view of Rule 25 of the Bye-laws. Nagendra Nath Singh was elected as President of the Governing Council on 31.12.2008 and his term came to an end on 30.12.2011. Moreover, he died on 25.8.2012. After the demise of Nagendra Nath Singh, there was no dispute left and the writ petition could not continue only for academic purpose.

45. Writ Petition Nos.4528 (M/S) of 2010, 367 (M/S) of 2012 and 430 (M/S) of 2012, were dismissed for non-prosecution on 07.01.2013. An application for restoration and recall of the order dated 7.1.2013 was filed on 10.1.2013 on behalf of the Society by Mrs. Usha Chaudhary, which remained pending. An application for dismissal of application for recall was then filed, stating that by means of order dated 11.1.2013, the Deputy Registrar has declared the result of elections held on 9.2.2012. The new office bearers had taken over charge as the Interim order granted by this Court on 13.2.2012 was discharged and the Interim Committee appointed on 13.2.2012 to look after day-to-day affairs of the Society stopped functioning on dismissal of the writ petition on 7.1.2013. The new office bearers of the Society had filed Writ Petition No.918 (MS) of 2013 against the order of the Deputy Registrar passed on 29.1.2013, restraining the new office bearers from taking any policy decision on financial matters during pendency of Recall Application in Writ Petition No.367 (MS) of 2012. This Court passed an order on 8.2.2013 connecting Writ Petition No.918 (MS) of 2013 with all pending writ petitions.

46. In Writ Petition No.918 (M/S) of 2013, the Motilal Memorial Society through its President Vimal Kumar Sharma approached this Court, challenging the order dated 29.1.2013 passed by the Deputy Registrar, Firms, Societies and Chits, Lucknow, directing that only day-to-day affairs of the Society shall be managed by the Committee of Management, but no policy decision shall be taken by them. This order was passed on a representation moved by one Professor Lal Amrendra, wherein he had stated that there were legal infirmities in the election held in February, 2012.

47. In the said writ petition, the order of the Deputy Registrar was challenged on the ground that the Deputy Registrar was already aware of the fact that Writ Petition No.367 (MS) of 2012 had been dismissed for want of prosecution by this Court on 7.1.2013. The election that was held on 9.2.2012 under the orders of the Deputy Registrar himself had led to a Committee of Management being elected with Vimal Kumar Sharma as its President, Vishnu Bhagwaan Agarwal as its Secretary and Narsingh Narain Tiwari as its Vice President. On the dismissal of the writ petition by the order dated 7.1.2013, the elected Committee of Management of Vimal Kumar Sharma, Vishnu Bhagwaan Agarwal and Narsingh Narain Tewari moved a representation before the Deputy Registrar on 8.1.2013, enclosing a copy of the order dated 7.1.2013 and praying that result of elections of the Society held on 9.2.2012 be declared. On 11.1.2013, the Deputy Registrar declared the results of the elections and Vimal Kumar Sharma was elected as President, Vishnu Bhagwaan Agarwal was elected as General Secretary and Narsingh Narain Tiwari was elected as Vice President of the Society. It has been alleged that on 28.1.2013, Professor Lal Amrendra moved a representation before the Deputy Registrar, saying that the elections were disputed and the Deputy Registrar on mere asking of such member, directed the Committee of Management to file its reply and at the same time, passed the order impugned, by means of which, only day-to-day affairs of the Society were ordered to be managed by the Society, but no policy decision was directed to be taken.

48. It was submitted that the order dated 29.1.2013 was without jurisdiction as under Section 25(1) of the Society Registration Act, only the Prescribed Authority has the power, on a reference being made to it, either by the Registrar or by at least 1/4th members of the Society, to decide in a summary manner any dispute relating to election or continuance in office of the office bearers.

49. On the first day of hearing of Writ Petition No.918 (M/S) of 2013 as fresh, Sri Vivek Raj Singh, learned Advocate, appeared for opposite party no.3- Professor Lal Amrendra and submitted that Writ Petition No.367 (MS) of 2012 along with Writ Petition No.430 (MS) of 2012, Writ Petition No.4528 (MS) of 2010 and Writ Petition No.5443 (MS) of 2005 were being heard together and were listed on 7.1.2013. Due to non-appearance of counsel for the petitioners, the cases were dismissed in default. An application for recall was moved within two days and the said cases were now listed on 11.2.2013.

50. Sri Prashant Chandra, learned Senior Advocate, appearing for petitioners Vimal Kumar Sharma and others, on the other hand, argued that in case any application for recall had been moved in Writ Petition No.367 (MS) of 2012, the same was not maintainable, as the person making such application was not authorized to move it after the declaration of result and the new Committee of Management coming into existence.

51. This Court took into account the fact that in Writ Petition No.367 (MS) of 2012, this Court had constituted an Interim Committee of a retired High Court Judge and one retired Director General of Police to look into the affairs of the institutions run by the Society. The Deputy Registrar realising the complications and high stakes involved in the matter had subsequently recalled his order dated 11.1.2013 by which, result of election held on 9.2.2012 was declared. The Court on 08.02.2013, therefore, directed Writ Petition No.918 (MS) of 2013 to be connected with the bunch, the leading case of which was, Writ Petition No.367 (MS) of 2012. It seems that no orders were passed thereafter in Writ Petition No.918 (MS) of 2013.

52. Against the order dated 8.2.2013 passed by this Court in Writ Petition No.918 (MS) of 2013, a Special Appeal was filed by Vimal Kumar Sharma and others, namely, Special Appeal No.99 of 2013. The Division Bench requested the Writ Court for early disposal of application for Recall and also directed that all orders passed by the Deputy Registrar after taking over of the Society by the New Committee of Management at various stages consequent upon the dismissal of the writ petition in default, shall remain in abeyance and till the application for recall is decided, the New Committee of Management would also not take any decision on policy matters, which may be prejudicial to the interest of the Society. The Special Appeal was disposed of on 21.2.2013.

53. An application for disposal of application for recall was filed also by the petitioners. In the affidavit filed in support of such application the subsequent events like declaration of result by the Registrar on 11.01.2013 and taking over of charge by the newly elected Office bearers of the Society and the filing of Writ Petition No.918 (M/S) of 2013 by them challenging the order passed by the Deputy Registrar on 29.01.2013 and 08.02.2013 were brought on record. The order of the Court directing connection of Writ Petition Nos.918 (M/S) of 2013, along with Writ Petition No.367 (M/S) of 2013, Writ Petition No.430 (M/S) of 2012, and Writ Petition No.4528 (M/S) of 2010 being challenged in Special Appeal No.99 of 2013, was also brought to the notice of the Court.

54. An Application No.33998 of 2013 was filed in Writ Petition No.367 (M/S) of 2012 on behalf of Kunwar Reoti Raman Singh also by Sri Vivek Raj Singh on 09.04.2013, saying that the application for Recall of order dated 07.01.2013 had been filed by Mrs. Usha Chaudhary. Nagendra Nath Singh had died on 25.08.2012 and the applicant Kunwar Reoti Raman Singh was the Foundation member of the Society and was working as Vice President of the Society before the passing of the order impugned in the writ petition. Under Rule 24 sub-Rule 2 of the Constitution of the Society, the Vice President could exercise the powers of the President during his absence or when on leave. The President could also delegate any office functions, duties and powers to the Vice President for any specified time. Under the Byelaws Rule 23 (d) the Committee of Management whose tenure had expired on 30.12.2011, would continue to function till holding of fresh election and taking over charge by the newly elected Office bearers. Hence, a prayer was made in the application for permission to be granted to Kunwar Reoti Raman Singh to pursue the Writ Petition No.367 (M/S) 2012. This application remained pending.

55. Writ Petition No.4528 (M/S) of 2010 and Writ Petition No.367 (M/S) of 2012 were restored on 26.04.2013 and Writ Petition No.430(M/S) of 2012 was restored on 17.05.2013. This Court passed an order restoring the writ petition despite objections being raised by the counsel for the contesting-respondent Shri Anil Tiwari. This Court observed that before passing of the order dated 07.01.2013, the Court was considering the question of maintainability of the writ petition. The recall application having being filed, unless the writ petition was restored, the issue of maintainability of the writ petition could not be decided. Moreover, the Court observed that the Interim Committee appointed earlier by the Court dated 13.02.2012 would continue to function till further orders of the Court. In pursuance of the order dated 26.04.2013 the Interim Committee took over the affairs of the Society and the Institutions on 29.04.2013.

56. An Application No.61901 of 2013 was filed by Kunwar Reoti Raman Singh on 16.07.2013 for amendment in the writ petition praying that the name of Petitioner No.3 Nagendra Nath Singh in his personal capacity be deleted and in his place the name of the applicant Kunwar Reoti Raman Singh be substituted as Petitioner No.3. In the affidavit filed in support of such application the deponent stated that the membership of Professor Lal Amrendra had been restored by the Deputy Registrar by order dated 30.11.2012. From the time of suspension of Professor Lal Amrendra from the post of General Secretary till the time of his restoration on such post, Mrs. Usha Chaudhary who was Joint Secretary was assigned the duties of General Secretary and therefore was competent to institute the writ petition. In pursuance of Sub-clause (2) of Rule 24 in the absence of the President, the Vice President discharges the duties of the President. On death of Nagendra Nath Singh on 25.08.2012, Kunwar Reoti Raman Singh who was Vice President was liable to be substituted. In the proceedings dated 5.12.2008, Item No.2 showed that in the place of Vishnu Bhagwaan Agarwal, Shri Ram Arun, in the place of Vimal Kumar Sharma, Kunwar Reoti Raman Singh, in place of Narsingh Narain Tiwari, Raja Anand Singh had been inducted.

57. This application was filed on the basis of proceedings dated 05.12.2008 and 31.12.2008. In this application, the proceedings dated 31.12.2008, of the Society for elections have also been annexed which show Nagendra Nath Singh, Veer Sen, Chatra Pal Sharma, Virender Vikram, Raja Anand Singh, Professor Lal Amrendra, Mata Prasad, Kunwar Reoti Raman Singh, Shri Ram Arun, Justice (Retd.) Dinesh Kumar Trivedi and Mrs. Usha Chaudhary were present. Dr. Dauji Gupta, Justice (Retd.) Umesh Chandra Srivastava, Narain Dutt Tiwari, Umakant Mishra and J.R. Tripathi had informed that due to personal reasons they could not attend the meeting. In Elections that were held Nagendra Nath Singh was appointed as President, Kunwar Reoti Raman Singh was elected as Vice President, and Professor Lal Amrendra was elected as General Secretary, Shri Ram Arun was elected as Treasurer and Mrs. Usha Chaudhary was elected as Joint Secretary. This application too remained undisposed of.

58. After restoration of the Writ Petition No.367 of 2012 and a reiteration of earlier interim order for the Interim Committee to manage the affairs of the Society, the Deputy Registrar passed an order on 30.4.2013 recalling his order dated 11.01.2013, saying that it was subject to the order passed by the Court on Restoration application.

59. An objection to the amendment application was filed by the Opposite Party No.4 Vishnu Bhagwaan Agarwal through his counsel Apurva Tiwari saying that the term of office of the Committee of Management elected on 31.12.2008 had already expired and Kunwar Reoti Raman Singh had no right or locus to file the Amendment Application. Objections to the application for amendment filed by Kunwar Reoti Raman Singh were also filed by Opposite Party No.5 Vimal Kumar Sharma saying that under Rule 25 of the Byelaws litigation can be pursued only by the Secretary of the Society. Neither Nagendra Nath Singh nor Mrs. Usha Chaudhary could have filed a writ petition. Kunwar Reoti Raman Singh therefore, could not seek any amendment in the writ petition and substitution in place of Nagendra Nath Singh as Petitioner No.3.

60. On 27.08.2014 when the matter was being heard by another Hon'ble Single Judge a suggestion was made that the dispute in the writ petition may be decided by retired Justice Khem Karan, a member of the Interim Committee, the Court passed an order accordingly.

61. A Special Appeal No.572 of 2014 was preferred against the order dated 27.08.2014. The Special Appeal was dismissed on 25.09.2014 with the observation that the order dated 27.08.2014 had been passed with the consent of both the parties. Now that the counsel for the appellant submitted that there was no occasion for giving consent, the question, whether the appellant's counsel had given consent or not is a question of fact for which it would be open for him to approach the same Writ Court.

62. An application was therefore preferred for Review/recall of order dated 27.08.2014 with a prayer that the preliminary objection regarding maintainability of the petition be decided and that the writ petition be dismissed as having abated.

63. On the order of the Court dated 27.08.2014, a report was submitted by Justice Khem Karan on 29.10.2014, wherein he stated that out of the four petitions Writ Petition No.4528 (M/S) of 2010 challenging the order dated 26.07.2010 of the Deputy Registrar appears to be more important as the questions involved therein is whether the Deputy Registrar was justified in setting aside the expulsion of Vimal Kumar Sharma, Vishnu Bhagwaan Agarwal and Narsingh Narain Tiwari as Foundation members of the Governing Council of the Society and in restoring their membership, the second important writ petition is Writ Petition No.367 (M/S) of 2012 which involved the validity or otherwise of the Election schedule given by the Deputy Registrar and the elections that were held pursuant thereto in January and February 2012. The very same persons who had been expelled earlier and whose membership was restored on 26.07.2010 i.e. Vimal Kumar Sharma, Vishnu Bhagwaan Agarwal and Narsingh Narain Tiwari were elected as President and General Secretary and Vice President respectively in such elections. Four other persons were elected as members for a period of three years so as to complete the full strength of 17 members of the Governing Council. The remaining two Writ Petitions No.5443 (M/S) of 2005 relating to Election of 2005 filed by Sri Ramakrishna, and Writ Petition No.430 (M/S) of 2012 in regard to operation of accounts may now not be of much relevance after the Elections of 2008 and 2012 and Constitution of Interim Committee. Since Vimal Kumar Sharma was not agreeable to the terms as suggested by Kunwar Reoti Raman Singh and Professor Lal Amrendra no compromise was possible.

64. Justice Khem Karan in his report stated also that so long as the dispute with regard to membership of Vimal Kumar Sharma and two others is not settled and so long as these persons were unwilling to budge from the stand they were taking in the context of Election of 2012, there was no possibility of compromise.

65. Another Application No. 52702 of 2018 was filed on 07.05.2018, for vacation of Interim Order by the Opposite Party No.5 saying that the writ petitions were not maintainable as the term of the elected members had come to an end but by an interim order dated 13.02.2012 an Interim Committee was appointed to manage the day to day affairs of the Society. After the passing of the order dated 13.02.2012 Nagendra Nath Singh died on 25.08.2012, and the writ petition was consequently dismissed for non-prosecution on 07.01.2013. An Application for restoration was filed on 10.01.2013 and the writ petition was eventually restored on 26.04.2013. The Interim Committee of two members, as earlier constituted, took over charge again to manage the day to day affairs of the Society. On the death of Nagendra Nath Singh, the three writ petitions stood abated, although an application was preferred by Kunwar Reoti Raman Singh seeking amendment in the array of the parties and for substitution in place of Nagendra Nath Singh as Petitioner No.3, no orders were passed thereon. The Society was running 17 Charitable Institutions including Schools, Colleges, Hospitals, Museums, Libraries, Students Hostels and the like and all such Institutions required full-time Supervision and management by the elected members of the Society. It was not humanly possible for two member Interim Committee to look after and manage the affairs of the Society. Shri Ram Arun was reported to be confined to bed due to illness. The Balance Sheet for Financial year ending 31.03.2015 showed total receipts of more than Rs.27,00,00,000 (Rs.27 Crores) as income of the Parent Society. Other entities of the Society also have transactions running into crores of rupees. The Interim Committee is not being able to manage the affairs of the Society, in view of the vastness of the area of operations and the various activities and businesses in which the Society is engaged. Huge losses were being incurred by the Society, for instance, the Lawns at Moti Mahal were let out for holding of various functions. Earlier the daily collection ran into lakhs of rupees but the Lawns were now leased out on a long-term basis for a paltry sum of Rs.40 lakhs per year and that too payable in installments. The lessees have been earning huge profits by sub letting the premises.

66. In the meantime, a joint request was made by the members of Interim Committee on 11.10.2017 to the Court that they may be relieved from the responsibilities of running the day-to-day affairs of the Society and the Institutions run by it, as over five years had passed from the date of Interim order passed on 13.02.2012 and 26.04.2012, and because of advancing age and failing health, the members of the Interim Committee found that they could not efficiently perform the duties assigned by the High Court.

Another letter was sent on 03.07.2018 by Justice Khem Karan and Shri Ram Arun praying to be relieved of the responsibilities assigned by the Interim orders of the Court.

67. Application No.96998 of 1018 was filed on 06.09.2018 on behalf of the petitioners for deleting the name of Opposite Party No.4 and Opposite Party No.6, as they were both dead and Application No.101811 of 2018 was filed on 17.09.2018 for impleadmeant of Professor Lal Amrendra as he was reinstated as Foundation member by the order of the Deputy Registrar dated 30.11.2012. The Deponent prayed for permission that the Petitioner No.1 Society be represented through its Honorary Secretary Professor Lal Amrendra in place of Joint Secretary Mrs. Usha Chaudhary. This application too remain pending and has now become infructuous.

It is interesting to note that Writ Petition No.918 (M/S) of 2013 was filed by the Society through its President Vimal Kumar Sharma whereas under the Byelaws as alleged by private respondents in Writ Petition No.367 of 2012 and Writ Petition No.4528 of 2010 litigation on behalf of the Society could be undertaken by the General Secretary or a person authorized in this behalf by the Governing Council.

68. After application for Restoration was allowed by this Court on 26.04.2013, the Deputy Registrar recalled his order dated 11.01.2013 declaring Vimal Kumar Sharma, Vishnu Bhagwaan Agarwal and Narsingh Narain Tiwari as elected office bearers. In pursuance of repeated requests of Justice Khem Karan and Shri Ram Arun to be relieved of their responsibilities, this Court passed an order on 19.09.2018 replacing the members of the Interim Committee by Justice S.U. Khan (retired) and Sri Viresh Kumar (retired IAS) 1983 batch U.P. Cadre Officer. This Interim Committee took charge on 29.09.2018.

69. An Application No.127211 of 2019 has been filed on 01.11.2019 after arguments were heard and judgement was reserved, stating that the aforesaid writ petitions stood abated and the interim order dated 13.02.2012 stood discharged. The affidavit has been sworn by Vimal Kumar Sharma again repeating the preliminary objections regarding maintainability of the writ petition. The argument raised by the learned counsel for the private respondent is that after death of Nagendra Nath Singh on 25.08.2012, the writ petition abated as Nagendra Nath Singh was seeking continuance as President of the Society, even though its tenure had to come to an end on 31.12.2011. A complaint has also been made in Paragraph-4 of the affidavit in support of this Application that the Interim Committee constituted to look after the affairs of the Society and the Institutions run by it has not been able to safeguard the interest of the Society whose functions are humongous and that two retired individuals who got together two to three times a week for just an hour could not supervise the functioning of such a Society and its institutions effectively. In Paragraph-5 of the affidavit, it has been mentioned that elections were held on 09.02.2012, but on account of Interim Order they were not given effect to, as a result, their three years term/tenure has also expired, the management of the Society has been usurped permanently under Interim Order passed by this Court.

70. While arguing the matter, Sri Prashant Chandra has emphasised the preliminary objections raised by him through his various applications praying for dismissal of the writ petition.

71. The learned counsel for the private respondents has argued against the maintainability of Writ Petition No.4528 (M/S) of 2010. It has been submitted that Writ Petition No.4528 (M/S) of 2010 has been filed arraying the Committee of Management of the Society through its President Nagendra Nath Singh as petitioner no.1. The second petitioner is Nagendra Nath Singh as President of the Society and the third petitioner is Kunwar Reoti Raman Singh, who has only mentioned his address but has not mentioned in which capacity he has filed the petition, so it may be presumed that he has filed the writ petition in his personal capacity. It has been submitted that as per the Bye laws of the Society, the Secretary alone is competent to institute a petition on behalf of the Society. If the Secretary is unavailable, then the Governing Council may authorize a person to file the petition on its behalf. Since the Secretary has not filed the petition, nor there is any Resolution of the Governing Council authorizing any specific person to file the writ petition, the writ petition filed through the President of the Society is not maintainable. Moreover, petitioner no.2 Nagendra Nath Singh died on 25.08.2012 and he has not been substituted by any person, so the writ petition abated in so far as Nagendra Nath Singh is concerned. With regard to the petitioner no.3, it has been submitted that the Governing Council on 22.08.2010 had allegedly authorized only Nagendra Nath Singh to contest the proceedings before the Deputy Registrar. It had been decided by the Governing Council that it will not contest the proceedings before the Deputy Registrar where expulsion of three members was challenged. A copy of said Resolution has been filed by Nagendra Singh in his Supplementary affidavit. It was clear that Nagendra Nath Singh alone could personally if he so desired, contest the proceedings before the Deputy Registrar. In the meeting of the Governing Council where such Resolution was passed, the names of nine Foundation Members have been mentioned as signatories of such a Resolution. The petitioner no.3, who alleges that he was inducted on 05.12.2008 as a Foundation Member is not mentioned in such a Resolution.

72. It has been submitted that the Resolution dated 15.03.2008 had been challenged before the Deputy Registrar by three members who had been expelled. Such Resolution had not inducted any person as a member in place of the three persons who were expelled. Therefore, only those three persons who were expelled and the President Nagendra Nath Singh were entitled to be heard. The petitioner no.3- Kunwar Reoti Raman Singh could not have been heard. He could therefore not say that there was any denial of the principles of natural justice by the Deputy Registrar while passing the order impugned. It has further been submitted that Nagendra Nath Singh had filed a written submission before the Deputy Registrar in which he alleged that on expulsion of three members, two members were inducted. There is no mention of Kunwar Reoti Raman Singh. It has been further argued that Nagendra Nath Singh who was responsible for expulsion of three members was appearing before the Deputy Registrar in the proceedings held on the representation of Vishnu Bhagwaan Agarwal and he never stated anywhere that Kunwar Reoti Raman Singh was also inducted in the resultant vacancy. The Deputy Registrar was not supposed to issue notice to persons likely to be affected when the very existence of such member or his induction was not brought to the knowledge of the Deputy Registrar at any stage. It has further been argued that Kunwar Reoti Raman Singh having being ousted by the Deputy Registrar's order dated 26.07.2010 and Professor Lal Amrendra not being substituted in time, the writ petition abated automatically.

73. It has also been argued that the Writ Petition No.367 (M/S) of 2012 is not maintainable as it has been filed by Nagendra Nath Singh as President of the Society in his personal capacity, and that the order that was passed by him on 28.12.2011 allegedly promulgating an Agenda for holding of elections was without any authority in law as only the Secretary can circulate such an Agenda for elections. The order issued by Nagendra Nath Singh on 28.12.2011 being in his personal capacity, he alone was aggrieved with the setting aside of the said Agenda by the order of the Deputy Registrar dated 10.01.2012 and on his death nobody else can be substituted in his place as the petitioner, as no one else is aggrieved by such an order. The new Committee of Management whose election results were declared on 11.01.2013 by the Deputy Registrar has already resolved that there shall be no contest further in this writ petition.

74. It has further been submitted that even otherwise the Writ Petition No.367 (M/S) of 2012 being confined to holding or non-holding of elections was not maintainable in view of the law settled by the Supreme Court in N.P. Ponnuswami vs Returning Officer, Namakkal Constituency and others; AIR 1952 SC 64, that once an election is notified it should not be challenged in any form except by way of an election petition after such election is over. It has been submitted that when the Court passed the interim order on 9.02.2012 and 13.02.2012, the Interim Committee appointed by the Court took over but on dismissal of the writ petition in default such Interim Committee also lost its reason for existence. The election results were declared on 11.01.2013 and the new committee took over, therefore, the Writ Petition No. 367 (M/S) of 2012 itself become infructuous.

75. It has further been argued that on the dismissal of the writ petition for non-prosecution, Professor Lal Amarendra who had been re-inducted as Foundation Member on order of the Registrar dated 30.11.2012, could not have filed an application for recall of order as the Professor had not been substituted in place of Nagendra Nath Singh and his application for recall of order dated 07.01.2013 was not maintainable.

76. It has also been submitted that Kunwar Reoti Raman Singh has consciously filed an application for amendment and no application for Substitution. Under Order 22 Rule 1 and 2 of the C.P.C., the locus of persons who can apply for setting aside of abatement and for substitution is mentioned. Hence consciously no application for substitution and setting aside of abatement was moved and only an amendment application was moved referring to by Rule 24(2) of the Bye-laws of the Society to say that in the absence of the President, the Vice President shall perform the duties of the President. It has been argued that deponent of the affidavit resorted to misrepresentation to make out as if the President was on leave or was absent for some other reason. He did not disclose that the President had died on 25.08.2012. Moreover, he also did not disclose that he was not the acting Vice President as his induction as a result of vacancies created on the Resolution of the Governing Council dated 15.03.2008 expelling three members, was no longer valid. The Resolution dated 15.03.2008 being set aside by the Deputy Registrar on 26.07.2010, Kunwar Reoti Raman Singh stood automatically expelled. Reference has been made to 2012 (11) SCC 531 and paragraphs 42, 44 and 47 to say that since Kunwar Reoti Raman Singh had resorted to suppression of material facts, his application be rejected. It has further been argued that the application was made six years after the original petition was filed. In the affidavit filed in support of the application, it was made out that the applicant was the Foundation Member and, therefore, entitled to pursue the writ petition. A Foundation Member is not equivalent to a Founder Member as the Foundation Member can be inducted by the President. It was Nagendra Nath Singh who had inducted Kunwar Reoti Raman Singh.

77. Also, in the order dated 10.01.2012 passed by the Registrar, another order passed by the Nagendra Nath Singh dated 04.01.2012 removing the Manager of Chandra Bhan Shiksha Manav Vikas Kendra, Lucknow had been set aside. Setting aside of an order passed by Nagendra Nath Singh in his personal capacity would not give rise to any cause of action to the society to pursue the writ petition. In Writ Petition No. 367 (M/S) 2012, the Society has been arrayed as petitioner no.1 through Joint Secretary Mrs Usha Chaudhary. The post of Joint Secretary is not a necessarily duly created post and its incumbent Mrs Usha Chaudhary was never authorized to file the writ petition on behalf of the Society by the Governing Council. Reference has been made to the judgement rendered in Umesh Chandra and another Vs. Mahila Vidyalay Society and others; 2006 (24) LCD 1373 to buttress the argument.

78. Dr. L. P. Mishra in response to arguments of the counsel for the Private Respondent regarding maintainability of the Writ Petition No. 4528 (M/S) of 2010 has submitted that Kunwar Reoti Raman Singh was inducted as a Foundation member on 05.12.2008 along with Shri Ram Arun and Raja Anand Singh, in the vacancy arising consequent to expulsion of Vishnu Bhagwaan Agarwal, Narsingh Narain Tiwari, and Vimal Kumar Sharma. If the expulsion of these three Foundation members was going to be set aside by the Deputy Registrar then it was incumbent upon the Registrar to have issued notice to him and heard him. His membership being invalidated, he had a cause of action independently to approach this Court in Writ Petition No.4528 (M/S) of 2010. The learned counsel for the petitioner has referred to Kunwar Reoti Raman Singh being inducted as a Foundation member on 05.12.2008 and is being elected as Vice President in the Election held on 31.12.2008. It has also been submitted that the election of Kunwar Reoti Raman Singh has not been challenged by the respondents.

79. It has been submitted further that under section 7 of the Societies Registration Act, a Society can sue or be sued as an independent juristic person capable of perpetual succession. The Society is akin to a Corporation and can continue with the litigation initiated on its behalf by any of its members, even if in a minority to protect the interest of the Society, if the cause of action survives. The learned counsel for the petitioner has also referred to section 6 of the Societies Registration Act and to the judgement rendered by the Bombay High Court reported in 1946 Bombay Law Reports 341 in Satyavart Sidhantalankar Vs. The Arya Samaj. It has been submitted that the judgement rendered by the Bombay High Court has been followed by the Allahabad High Court in a judgement reported in Shanti Sarup vs Radhaswami Satsang Sabha, AIR 1969 Allahabad 248, and by the Patna High Court in a judgement in Khiri Ram Gupta and Another Vs. Nanalal J. Parekh, reported in AIR 1964 Patna 114.

80. It has been submitted that under Order 22 Rule 4 A of C.P.C., this Court can also nominate anyone to pursue the cause of the Society. It has been pointed out that Professor Lal Amarendra had also filed an application for impleadment on having been restored to the position of General Secretary by the Deputy Registrar by order dated 30.11.2012. This Impleadment Application remained pending. The order passed by the Deputy Registrar on 30.11.2012 restoring Professor Lal Amarendra as Secretary has not been challenged. The order dated 30.11.2012 has attained finality.

81. Dr. Mishra, has also referred to an amendment application moved by Kunwar Reoti Raman Singh which is pending disposal before this Court in which Kunwar Reoti Raman Singh has requested for deletion of the names of Nagendra Nath Singh from the array of the petitioners and the inclusion of the name of Kunwar Reoti Raman Singh being Vice President and entitled to continue the litigation on behalf of the Society.

82. It has been submitted further that in the absence of the President and the Secretary, the Vice President could continue the litigation on behalf of the Society, in view of Rules 23, 24, and 25 of the bye-laws of the Society. It has also been submitted that no election has taken place after 31.12.2008. The Election which was held in February 2012, on the orders of the Registrar, the result of which was declared in January 2013 has been initially stayed by the Deputy Registrar himself subject to further orders in the writ petition. Reference has been made to the order dated 30.04.2013 passed by the Deputy Registrar by which he has recalled the results of the elections declared by him on 11.01.2013 after restoration of the writ petition on 26.04.2013.

83. It has been submitted by Dr. Mishra, that Nagendra Nath Singh was not defending his personal property or personal Estate. The Writ Petition was filed to protect the interest of the Society. If he was dead, the Court as guardian of the Society cannot allow the interest of the Society to suffer, even in cases of individual Estate this Court has Power Under Order 22 Rule 4A of the C.P.C., in the absence of legal representative, to allow somebody to pursue the litigation. On 09.02.2012, itself this Court passed an interim order in Writ Petition No.367 of 2012 that till further orders of the Court, the orders dated 10.01.2012 and 16.01.2012 shall remain in abeyance and any action taken in pursuance of orders dated 10.01.2012 and 16.01.2012 shall remain stayed. The order was communicated on the same day to the Deputy Registrar by the office of the CSC in pursuance of which declaration of results for the Committee of Management was put in abeyance. On 13.02.2012, this Court appointed the Interim Committee. On the Restoration Application being filed, the Deputy Registrar put on hold the operation of accounts by the newly elected Committee of Management by his order dated 16.01.2013. It has been argued by Dr. L. P. Misra, that the result of the Elections declared on 11.01.2013 was made subject to further orders of the Court in writ petition, therefore, there was no necessity to assail them besides Deputy Registrar has passed an order on 30.04.2013 cancelling the result declared and recalling his order dated 11.01.2013. Dr. Mishra has referred to Section 6 of the Societies Registration Act which refers to the Phrase "as shall be determined by Rules and Regulation". Similarly, it also refers to the phrase "as determined by the Governing Body", it has been submitted that it is only a procedure for convenience and not of mandatory character. The Society by itself is a legal entity and has an independent and perpetual existence separate from its office bearers. Its interest can be considered as paramount interest to be protected by the Court which is the Guardian as "Parens Patriae". The learned counsel for the petitioner has referred to Rule 4 and Rule 4A of Order 22 of the C.P.C. to submit that these Rules deal with situation where the cause of action survives but there is no heir or legal representative to pursue the case, it has been submitted that the Court can even appoint a representative on its own in such matters.

84. It has also been submitted that the notice issued by the Deputy Registrar in 13.05.2009 was to the President of the Society as in the eyes of the Deputy Registrar Nagendra Nath Singh was competent to represent the Society at the time of filling the writ petition. There was no General Secretary as the General Secretary Professor Lal Amrendra had already been removed. Notice was issued to the President and not to the General Secretary. The President was considered competent to represent the Society to defend the decisions of the Governing Council expelling three Foundation members. The reply submitted by Nagendra Nath Singh on 29.05.2009 to the Show Cause Notice issued by the Deputy Registrar was on behalf of the Society. The lis before the Deputy Registrar was between the Society and the Opposite Party Nos. 4 to 6. It was the internal affairs of the Society which were brought into question by Opposite Party Nos.4 to 6 by moving a representation to the Deputy Registrar. Reference has been made to Rule 24 of the Byelaws which appoint the President as the Chief Executive Officer of the Society entitled to take decision on its behalf and only ratification of the General Council is required of action taken by the President. It has been submitted that in the case this Court accepts the argument made by counsel for the Private Respondent regarding resolution dated 22.07.2010, it would mean that the Society was never put to notice and would vitiate the whole proceedings before the Deputy Registrar. It has been submitted that in the case of Mahila Vidyalaya (supra), an individual member had approached the Court against the decision taken by the Deputy Registrar against the Society. On the other hand in Writ Petition No.4528 (M/S) of 2010 and Writ Petition No.367 (M/S) of 2012, it is not just any individual member but the President or the Chief Executive Officer challenging the order passed by the Deputy Registrar without any jurisdiction interfering in the internal affairs of the Society. It has also been submitted that Rule 24 and 25 of the Byelaws should be read together which Section 6 of the Societies Registration Act. Section 6 of the Act is an enabling provision which allows the continuation of a suit or legal proceeding. Dr. L. P. Mishra has also referred to Paragraphs 50 & 51 of Mahila Vidyalay (supra) judgement.

85. It has been further submitted by Dr. L.P. Mishra that the outgoing Committee of Management of which, Sri Nagendra Nath Singh was the President, Professor Lal Amrendra was the Secretary, Kunwar Reoti Raman Singh was the Vice President and Mrs. Usha Chaudhary was the Joint Secretary, should be deemed to be in existence as no valid Committee of Management had come to take its place thereafter. The elections were indeed held by the Deputy Registrar and result was declared after Writ Petition No.367 (MS) of 2012 was dismissed for want of prosecution by this Court, but such elections were not recognized by this Court when it passed an order for restoration of writ petition on 26.4.2013. This Court had earlier appointed an Interim Committee by an order dated 13.2.2012 and had observed that the Interim Committee appointed by the order dated 13.2.2012 shall continue to function. It has been submitted that the Deputy Registrar after passing of the courts order dated 26.4.2013 had himself withdrawn his earlier order dated 11.1.2013. The interim Committee continues to function but it does not represent the Society. The Society can only be represented by the Committee of Management duly elected on 31.12.2008 as no successors have been elected to take over the management of the Society.

86. It has also been submitted by Dr.L.P. Mishra that under Rule 24(2) of the Bye-laws, in the absence of the President, the Vice President can perform all functions of the office of the President. In this case, Sri Nagendra Nath Singh may have died during the pendency of the writ petition, but Kunwar Reoti Raman Singh, who is the Vice President, continues to be so and in the absence of President, for any reason whatsoever, he can also act as the Chief Executive Officer of the Society in terms of Rule 24.

87. Learned counsel for the petitioner has submitted that the order passed by the Deputy Registrar on 26.7.2010 could not have been passed as it related to removal of three members on disciplinary ground, which is an internal matter of the Society. These three members were removed on 15.3.2008. Sri Vishnu Bhagwaan Agarwal filed a representation against his removal before the Deputy Registrar. The Deputy Registrar could not have seen the validity of the removal before the amendment in the Societies Registration Act, and introduction of Section 4B of the Act in October, 2013. Yet the Deputy Registrar issued a notice to the President of the Society Nagendra Nath Singh, a copy of the notice has been filed at Pages 91 and 92 of the petition.

88. It has been submitted that the Deputy Registrar recognized the President Nagendra Nath Singh as representing the Governing Council and the Society's interest. Had it not been so, notice would not have been issued to Sri Nagendra Nath Singh as President of the Society. Even if the Governing Council adopted a resolution on 22.7.2010 that the Society is not interested in contesting such case before the Deputy Registrar and Nagendra Nath Singh may do whatever he deems proper, Nagendra Nath Singh was in fact defending the resolution passed on 15.3.2008 by the Governing Council before the Deputy Registrar in the said proceedings.

89. Learned counsel for the petitioner has referred to Annexure-13 to the writ petition, which is the reply submitted by Sri Nagendra Nath Singh on behalf of the Society to the Deputy Registrar on 29.5.2009. It has been submitted that the lis that was being decided by the Deputy Registrar was between the Society and Sri Vishnu Bhagwaan Agarwal, Narsingh Narain Tewari and Vimal Kumar Sharma. Yet when Vishnu Bhagwaan Agarwal approached this Court by filing Writ Petition No.2353 (MS) of 2010, praying for a direction to the Deputy Registrar to decide his representation against his expulsion, the Society was not impleaded as a party in the said writ petition. The writ petition was disposed of on 28.5.2010 without notice to the Society by an innocuous order, asking the Deputy Registrar to decide the representation in case the same was pending before him in accordance with law. However, the Deputy Registrar while deciding the representation, had in fact issued notice to the Society through its President and the reply was submitted by the Society through its President.

90. It has also been submitted that any individual member can approach a Court of law to protect the interest of the Society and when the High Court finds that injustice would result that would affect the interest of the Society, then the High Court can entertain a petition filed even by a single member or by minority of members against an order passed by the Executive Authority, which would result in prejudice to the Society. It has been submitted that this Court should also take into account that in earlier rounds of litigation, the High Court had come to a definite conclusion that Vishnu

Bhagwaan Agarwal and other members expelled from the Society have resorted to fraud and misrepresentation and this Court should, therefore, entertain the petition to protect the interest of the Society and should reject the preliminary objection that were raised in earlier litigation by the private respondents. Since the Society was aggrieved, the Society could have been represented by the President or the Joint Secretary in the absence of the General Secretary.

91. Referring to the insistence of the counsel for the private respondents that this Court must decide the preliminary objections regarding maintainability first, Dr. L.P. Misra has referred to 1976 Amendment to the Civil Procedure Code, which made it discretionary for the Court concerned to pass an order deciding a preliminary issue first before entering into the merits of the controversy. It has been submitted on the basis of a Full Bench decision of this Court in Sunni Central Board of Waqfs Vs. Sri Gopal Singh Visharad; reported in 1990 LCD 417, that the word "shall" has been replaced by the word "may" and it has been left open to the discretion of the Court to consider the preliminary objection along with the merits of the controversy. This Court had observed that only in such cases where the jurisdiction of the Court itself is being challenged either territorial or pecuniary, or where there is a bar against entertainment of suit in any other law for the time being in force, that the Court is enjoined to first consider the preliminary objection and then enter into the merits of the controversy. In the aforesaid decision, the Full Bench observed that if the maintainability of the suit is so interlinked with the merits of the controversy that they cannot be decided separately, they can both be considered and orders can be passed.

92. A Counter Affidavit has been filed by the Deputy Registrar, Firms, Societies and Chits to the Writ Petition No.367 (M/S) of 2012 in which he had stated that by an order dated 22.12.2011 passed by him election had been fixed. Ten valid members of the Governing Council would meet first and complete the membership for the Administrative Council and then hold elections for the Committee of Management, the membership of the Administrative Council had been determined on the basis of order dated 28.05.2010 passed in Writ Petition No.3353 (M/S) of 2010, Vishnu Bhagwaan Agarwal Versus Deputy Registrar.

Professor Lal Amrendra had also filed Writ Petition No.2877 (M/S) of 2010 which was pending since the term of the Administrative Council of the Society expired on 30.12.2011, the said Committee had become time barred and therefore, order was passed under Section 25 (2) for Reconstitution of the Administrative Council. After such order was passed, under Section 25 (3) of the Act, nobody could start any process for election of office bearers. There was a valid list of ten members of the Administrative Council of the Society determined as per the Order No.1903, dated 22.12.2011. The Deputy Registrar in his counter affidavit stated that he had passed the order dated 10.01.2012 to protect the interest of the Society and cancelled the election schedule announced by the then President Nagendra Nath on 28.12.2011. The Elections that were proposed by time barred Committee were not found in the interest of the Society and therefore, the election proposed by election programme dated 28.12.2011 was legally and rightly cancelled.

93. In Writ Petition No. 430 (M/S) of 2012, an Application No.101811 of 2018 has been filed for impleadment by Professor Lal Amrendra which has not been pressed by any counsel and is rejected for non-prosecution.

An application for dismissal of Writ Petition No.430 (M/S) of 2012; i.e. Application No. 81522 of 2012 has been filed by Professor Lal Amrendra which has not been pressed by any counsel and is rejected for non prosecution.

An application No.97002 of 2018 has been filed on 04.09.2018 by the writ petitioner for deleting the name of respondents nos. 4 and 6 by the counsel for the petitioners which is allowed as respondent nos. 4 and 6 are no more.

94. An application has been filed on 6.2.2020 by Professor Ashok Sharma, Brij Bhushan Jindal, Som Prakash Gupta, Vijender Kumar Agarwal, and Raj Kishore Rastogi, praying for dismissal of the writ petitions as having abated on the death of Nagendra Nath Singh on 25.8.2012. In the said application, it has been stated that the last election of the Society was held on 9.2.2012. The results were declared on 11.1.2013 wherein Vimal Kumar Sharma was elected as President, Vishnu Bhagwaan Agarwal was elected as General Secretary and Narsingh Narain Tewari was elected as Vice President. A meeting of the Governing Council was held thereafter on 20.2.2013 where Professor Ashok Sharma was inducted as a Foundation Member of the Society. The minutes of the meeting were verified by the then General Secretary Vishnu Bhagwaan Agarwal. It has been submitted that the applicant nos.2 to 4 are the Patron Members of the Society and applicant no.5-Raj Kishore Rastogi is a Founder Member of the Society. Besides the applicants, there are three other Foundation Members of the Society i.e. Dr. Dauji Gupta, Mata Prasad and J.R. Tripathi, who are alive. Since eight members are alive, the writ petition be dismissed and the Management of the Society be handed over to these members. It has been stated in this application that the elected members were restrained from functioning as such by an interim order of this Court dated 26.4.2013. This Court appointed an Interim Committee of two members, which has been functioning ever since. After death of Nagendra Nath Singh, the writ petition stood automatically dismissed as having abated w.e.f. 25.8.2012 and the affairs of the Society now stood vested in the Committee constituted in the election of 2012-13, which had already taken a decision that the aforesaid writ petition be not pursued on behalf of the Society.

95. Sri Madan Mohan Pandey, learned Additional Advocate General of State of U.P., had been requested by this court to appear on behalf of the State-respondents and also as a friend of the court to address the Court on the question of abatement of writ petition on the death of Nagendra Nath Singh, Vishnu Bhagwaan Agarwal, Vimal Kumar Sharma and Narsingh Narain Tiwari during the pendency of the writ petition.

96. Sri Madan Mohan Pandey assisted by Sri Shashank Bhasin, learned Standing Counsel, has placed before this Court Section-7 of the Societies

Registration Act which clearly provides that no suit or proceedings shall abate in case the designated person/officer of the Society dies or ceases to hold office. It has been submitted that even otherwise Order 22 of CPC is not applicable in view of Section 141 of CPC and its Explanation added by way of amendment in 1977. It has been submitted that there cannot be any automatic abatement of writ petition. No application under Order 22 is maintainable as the order is not applicable in writ jurisdiction as has been held by the Supreme Court in Puran Singh Vs. State of Punjab; 1996 (2) SCC 205 and paragraphs 4,5,7,10 and 11 of the report have been read out by him to buttress his submissions. It has also been submitted on the basis of the judgment rendered by the Supreme Court in 1974(2) SCC 706 and Para 10 thereof that in so far as abatement is concerned in writ jurisdiction since Order 22 of C.P.C. is not applicable as it is extraordinary jurisdiction, this Court should consider the facts and circumstances and is free to pass an order looking into the grievance raised by the litigant. It has been submitted that even if the contesting respondents 4,5 and 6 are dead now, the question of validity of the orders passed by the Deputy Registrar on 26.7.2010 and 10.1.2012 are in issue in these writ petitions and these orders have been passed by the State respondents and the legality thereof can be considered by this Court.

97. Having heard the learned Additional Advocate General, this Court shall first consider the argument raised by learned counsel for the private respondents that these writ petitions have abated. The Legislature while amending Section 141 of the Code and while adding the explanation was conscious of the fact that various High Courts and the Supreme Court conferred with powers under extraordinary jurisdiction cannot be subject to the fetters of the technical procedure for the purpose of achieving remedial measures for enforcing the rights of the citizen. It is for this reason, the Explanation has been added to Section 141 of the Code. In the Statement of Objects and Reasons while introducing the Bill which ultimately was passed on 1.2.1977, it has been mentioned in Clause-5 thus:

"The applicability of Section 141 to various types of proceedings has been the subject of controversy, particularly whether the Section applies where an application to set aside ex-parte proceedings or orders of dismissal for default or cases decided ex-parte. The High Court of Bombay held that in such cases, Section 141 applies. The Supreme Court, however, came to a contrary conclusion. In the circumstances, Section 141 is being amended to clarify that this Section applies to proceedings under Order 9. The question whether an application under Article 226 of the Constitution is within the meaning of civil proceedings and Section 141 shall apply to such proceedings, has been the subject matter of a controversy. While the Andhra High Court holds that Section 141 applies to such proceedings. The Allahabad, Calcutta, Madras and Punjab High Courts have held that Section 141 does not apply to such proceedings. In the circumstances, it is being clarified that Section 141 does not apply to proceedings under Article 226 of the Constitution of India....."

98. The effect of explanation being added to Section 141 CPC has been considered specifically by the Supreme Court in Puran Singh (supra). The Supreme Court observed in relation to proceedings of Consolidation of Holdings Act arising out of an order passed in favour of the respondents by the Additional Director of Consolidation in Revision that delay in bringing on record the legal heirs and representatives of the respondents, would not lead to dismissal of the writ petition as abated. The Supreme Court in the case of Puran Singh (supra), observed in paragraph 10, 11 and 12 as under:

"10. On a plain reading, Section 141 of the Code provides that the procedure provided in the said Code in regard to suits shall be followed "as far as it can be made applicable, in all proceedings". In other words, it is open to make the procedure provided in the said Code in regard to suits applicable to any other proceeding in any court of civil jurisdiction. The explanation which was added is more or less in the nature of proviso, saying that the expression "proceedings' shall not include any proceeding under Article 226 of the Constitution. The necessary corollary thereof shall be that it shall be open to make applicable the procedure provided in the Code to any proceeding in any court of civil jurisdiction except to proceedings under Article 226 of the Constitution. Once the proceeding under Article 226 of the Constitution has been excluded from the expression "proceedings' occurring in Section 141 of the Code by the explanation, how on basis of Section 141 of the Code any procedure provided in the Code can be made applicable to a proceeding under Article 226 of the Constitution? In this background, how merely on basis of Writ Rule 32 the provisions of the Code shall be applicable to writ proceedings? Apart from that, Section 141 of the Code even in respect of other proceedings contemplates that the procedure provided in the Code in regard to suits shall be followed "as far as it can be made applicable". Rule 32 of Writ Rules does not specifically make provisions of Code applicable to petitions under Articles 226 and 227 of the Constitution. It simply says that in matters for which no provision has been made by those rules, the provisions of the Code shall apply mutatis mutandis insofar as they are not inconsistent with those rules. In the case of Rokyayabi v. Ismail Khan [AIR 1984 Kant 234 : (1984) 2 Kant LC 114] in view of Rule 39 of the writ proceedings rules as framed by the Karnataka High Court making the provisions of Code of Civil Procedure applicable to writ proceedings and writ appeals, it was held that the provisions of the Code were applicable to writ proceedings and writ appeals.

11. We have not been able to appreciate the anxiety on the part of the different courts in judgments referred to above to apply the provisions of the Code to writ proceedings on the basis of Section 141 of the Code. When the Constitution has vested extraordinary power in the High Court under Articles 226 and 227 to issue any order, writ or direction and the power of superintendence over all courts and tribunals throughout the territories in relation to which such High Court is exercising jurisdiction, the procedure for exercising such power and jurisdiction have to be traced and found in Articles 226 and 227 itself. No useful purpose will be served by limiting the power of the High Court by procedural provisions prescribed in the Code. Of course, on many questions, the provisions and procedures prescribed under the Code can be taken up as guide while exercising the power, for granting relief to persons, who have invoked the jurisdiction of the High Court. It need not be impressed that different provisions and procedures under the Code are based on well-recognised principles for exercise of discretionary power, and they are reasonable and rational. But at the same time, it cannot be disputed that many procedures prescribed in the said Code are responsible for delaying the delivery of justice and causing delay in securing the remedy available to a person who pursues such remedies. The High Court should be left to adopt its own procedure for granting relief to the persons concerned. The High Court is expected to adopt a procedure which can be held to be not only reasonable but also expeditious.

12. As such even if it is held that Order 22 of the Code is not applicable to writ proceedings or writ appeals, it does not mean that the petitioner or the appellant in such writ petition or writ appeal can ignore the death of the respondent if the right to pursue remedy even after death of the respondent survives. After the death of the respondent it is incumbent on the part of the petitioner or the appellant to substitute the heirs of such respondent within a reasonable time. For purpose of holding as to what shall be a reasonable time, the High Court may take note of the period prescribed under Article 120 of the Limitation Act for substituting the heirs of the deceased defendant or the respondent. However, there is no question of automatic abatement of the writ proceedings. Even if an application is filed beyond 90 days of the death of such respondent, the Court can take into consideration the facts and circumstances of a particular case for purpose of condoning the delay in filing the application for substitution of the legal representative. This power has to be exercised on well-known and settled principles in respect of exercise of discretionary power by the High Court. If the High Court is satisfied that delay, if any, in substituting the heirs of the deceased respondent was not intentional, and sufficient cause has been shown for not taking the steps earlier, the High Court can substitute the legal representative and proceed with the hearing of the writ petition or the writ appeal, as the case may be. ....."

99. In Puran Singh (supra), the Supreme Court has reiterated the same principles after the referring to the Explanation added by the Parliament to Section 141 of the CPC. It was held that the High Court is not bound by the provisions of Order 22 Rule 4 of CPC and if the High Court comes to the conclusion that the delay on the part of the petitioner in substituting the legal representatives of the respondents is unintentional and sufficient cause for the delay is shown, it can allow the substitution of the legal representatives even after the period of 90 days prescribed under Article 120 of the Limitation Act has expired.

100. In Babubhai Muljibhai Patel versus Nandlal Khodidas Barot and others (1974) 2 SCC 706, the Supreme Court has observed that the object of Article 226 of the Constitution of India is to provide a quick and inexpensive remedy to the aggrieved party and that the power has been vested in the High Court to issue to any person or authority, orders or writs including Writs in the nature of Habeas Corpus, Mandamus, Prohibition, Quo Waranto and Certiorari. If the procedure of a suit has to be adhered to in the case of a writ petition, the entire purpose of having a quick and inexpensive remedy would be defeated. It has been observed that the proceedings under Article 226 of the Constitution of India are essentially different from a suit and it would be incorrect to assimilate and incorporate the procedure of a suit into such proceedings. The relevant extract from the aforesaid judgment is reproduced as under:-

"10. It is not necessary for this case to express an opinion on the point as to whether the various provisions of the Code of Civil Procedure apply to petitions under Article 226 of the Constitution. Section 141 of the Code, to which reference has been made, makes it clear that the provisions of the Code in regard to suits shall be followed in all proceedings in any court of civil jurisdiction as far as it can be made applicable. The words "as far as it can be made applicable" make it clear that, in applying the various provisions of the Code to proceedings other than those of a suit, the court must take into account the nature of those proceedings and the relief sought. The object of Article 226 is to provide a quick and inexpensive remedy to aggrieved parties. Power has consequently been vested in the High Courts to issue to any person or authority, including in appropriate cases any government, within the jurisdiction of the High Court, orders or writs, including writs in the nature of habeas corpus, mandamus, prohibition, quo warranto and certiorari. It is plain that if the procedure of a suit had also to be adhered to in the case of writ petitions, the entire purpose of having a quick and inexpensive remedy would be defeated. A writ petition under Article 226, it needs to be emphasised, is essentially different from a suit and it would be incorrect to assimilate and incorporate the procedure of a suit into the proceedings of a petition under Article 226."

It is apparent from the reading of the judgment rendered by the Supreme Court in Babubhai Muljibhai Patel (supra), which was rendered before the amendment to the Code was carried out by the Legislature by adding an Explanation, that writ jurisdiction being an extra ordinary jurisdiction conferred upon the High Court by the Constitution, the power to regulate its own procedure to deliver justice in an inexpensive and expeditious way avoiding the delays in regular civil proceedings.

101. Their Lordships have also observed in State of U.P. and others versus Dr. Vijay Anand Maharaj, AIR 1963 SC 946, that the jurisdiction of the High Court under Article 226 of the Constitution of India should not be confused with the ordinary civil jurisdiction of the High Court. When the Constitution has vested extraordinary power in the High Court under Article 226/227 to issue any order, writ or direction, and the power of the superintendence over all Courts and Tribunals throughout the territories, in relation to which such Court is exercising jurisdiction, the procedure for enforcement of the mandate in exercising such power and jurisdiction has to be found in Article 226/227 of the Constitution itself and that no useful purpose would be served by limiting the powers of the High Court by procedural provisions prescribed in the Code.

However, the provisions of procedure prescribed under the Code can be taken up as a guide while granting relief to the persons. It has also been observed that many procedures prescribed in the Code are responsible for delaying the delivery of justice and causing delay in securing the remedy available to a person, as such, the High Court should be left to adopt its own procedure for granting relief to the persons concerned.

102. In Commissioner of Endowments and others versus Vittal Rao and others, (2005) 4 SCC 120, the Supreme Court again held that even though Rule 24 of the Andhra Pradesh Writ Proceedings Rules, 1977 says that the provisions of the CPC have been made applicable to the civil proceedings as far as possible, but proceedings under Article 226 are not included within the expression "proceedings" in Explanation to Section 141 of CPC and observed that even if the Writ Court had not followed the procedure prescribed under Order 23 Rule 3 of CPC and believed the submissions of the counsel for the parties that they had come to a compromise and did not feel it appropriate to cross-examine the deponents of the affidavits concerned, the High Court cannot be faulted with in not following Order 23 Rule 3 of CPC. It observed that "It would not be correct to say that the terms of Order 23 Rule 3 should be mandatorily complied with while exercising jurisdiction under Article 226 of the Constitution. Otherwise an anomalous situation would arise such as before disposing of the writ petition, issue should be framed or evidence should be recorded, etc. Proceedings under Article 226 of the Constitution stand on a different footing when compared to the proceedings in suits or appeals arising therefrom.'

103. Also, in Sardar Amarjit Singh Kalra (dead) by Lrs. and others versus Pramod Gupta (Smt.) (dead) by Lrs. and others, (2003) 3 SCC 272, a Constitution Bench of the Supreme Court has observed that even in cases where Order 22 of the CPC is applicable, even assuming that the decree appealed against or challenged is joint and inseverable, as and when it is found necessary to interfere with the judgment and decree challenged before it, the Court can always declare the legal position in general and restrict the ultimate relief to be granted by confining it to those before the Court only rather than denying the relief to one and all on account of a procedural lapse or action or inaction of one or the other of the parties before it. As far as possible, the Court must always aim to preserve and protect the rights of the parties and extend help to enforce them rather than denying the relief, and thereby render the rights themselves otiose, "ubi Jus Ibi remedium" (where there is a right, there is a remedy) being the basic principle of jurisprudence. Such a course would be more conducive and better conform to a fair reasonable and proper administration of justice. Laws of procedure are meant to regulate effectively, assist and aid the object of doing substantial and real justice and not to foreclose even an adjudication on the merits of substantial rights of citizen under personal, property and other laws. Procedure has always been viewed as a handmaiden of justice and not meant to hamper the cause of justice or sanctify miscarriage of justice.

104. A full reading of the provisions contained in Order 22 of CPC as well as the subsequent amendments thereto, would lend credit and support to the view that they were devised to ensure the continuation and culmination in an effective adjudication and not to retard the further progress of the proceedings and thereby non suit the others similarly placed, as long as their distinct and independent rights to property or any claim remain intact and are not lost forever due to the death of one or the other in the proceedings. The provisions contained in Order 22 of CPC are not to be construed as a rigid matter of principle, but must be viewed as a flexible tool of convenience in the administration of justice. The Supreme Court observed that the interest of justice would have been better served had the High Court adopted a positive and constructive approach than merely scuttled the whole process to foreclose an adjudication of the claims of others on merits. The rejection by the High Court of the application to set aside abatement, condonation and bringing on record the legal representatives did not appear to be a just or reasonable exercise of the Court's power or in conformity with the avowed object of the Court to do real, effective and substantial justice. With the march and progress of law, the new horizons explored and modalities discerned and the fact that the procedural laws must be liberally construed to really serve as a handmaiden and make it workable and advance the ends of justice, technical objections which tend to be the stumbling blocks to defeat and deny substantial and effective justice should be strictly viewed for being discouraged, except where the mandate of the law inevitably necessitates it.

105. Mr. Prashant Chandra has placed reliance upon AIR 2008 SC 2866, Jaladi Suguna (deceased) through LRs. versus Satya Sai Central Trust and others and (2010) 8 SCC 685, Balwant Singh (dead) versus Jagdish Singh and others, to substantiate his arguments regarding automatic abatement of the writ petition on failure to substitute legal heirs and representatives by filing appropriate application for substitution under Order 22 of CPC.

106. However, this Court finds that in writ jurisdiction, which is an extraordinary jurisdiction exercised by this Court, the judgments cited by the learned counsel for the respondents are inapplicable.

107. The question of abatement of writ petition having been dealt with, I will now consider the preliminary objections raised along with the merits of the case set up by the parties. In the Full Bench decision of the Court rendered in Sunni Central Board of Waqfs Vs. Sri Gopal Singh Visharad, reported in 1990 (8) LCD 417, paragraphs- 8, 9, 10, 29, 30 and 31 make useful reading. The appellant therein had argued on the basis of Order XIV Rule 2 of the C.P.C. as it stood before its amendment in the year 1976. It was provided therein that where issues of both law and facts arise and the "court is of the opinion" that the case or any part thereof may be disposed of on the issues of law only, it shall try those issues first, and for that purpose "if it thinks fit," postpone the settlement of issues of fact until after the issues of law have been determined. It was argued that the Court had no discretion in the matter as the words used in the Section were "it shall try those issues first". Later on the Order XIV Rule 2 was amended which reads as follows:-

"(1) Notwithstanding that a case may be disposed of on a preliminary issue, the Court shall, subject to the provisions of sub-rule (2), pronounce judgment on all issues.

(2) Where issues both of law and of fact arise in the same suit, and the Court is of opinion that the case or any part thereof may be disposed of on an issue of law only, it may try that issue first if that issue relates to-

(a) the jurisdiction of the Court, or

(b) a bar to the suit created by any law for the time being in force, and for that purpose may, if it thinks fit, postpone the settlement of the other issues until after that issue has been determined, and may deal with the suit in accordance with the decision on that issue"

108. This court observed that the word "shall" used in the old Order XIV Rule 2 has been replaced in the present Rule by the words "may". Thus now it is discretionary for the Court to decide the issue of law as a preliminary issue or to decide it along with the other issues. It is no longer obligatory for the Court to decide an issue of law as a preliminary issue. Another change has been brought about by the amended provisions to the effect that not all issues of law can be decided as preliminary issues. Only those issues of law can be decided as preliminary issues which fall within the ambit of Clause (a) and (b) of Sub-Rule 2 of Order XIV.

109. The Court after considering the issues framed by the learned trial court came to the conclusion that none of the issues could be brought within the bar created by the Limitation Act or the Muslim Waqfs Act. The Court observed in paragraphs 30 and 31 as follows:-

"30. We have observed hereinabove that after the amendment brought about in the year 1976 it is discretionary with the Court to take up an issue as a preliminary issue. The court is not bound to take up any issue as a preliminary issue. All judicial discretions have to be exercised reasonably.....From this it would appear that dispute between the parties is pending for the last 10 years. The dispute raised in these suits is of vital importance to the country. It is not a suit between two individuals. It is a dispute between two major communities of the country. Off and on, leaders of these communities adopt hostile postures. The entire nation is waiting for resolution of the dispute by this Court. Delay in resolution of the dispute threatens to disturb peace in one or the other part of the country. It is, therefore, desirable that all the suits should be decided as early as possible. Our decisions on the so called preliminary issues will not be final. Appeal may be preferred against our decision and further hearing in the suits may be stayed. This will cause delay in the final solution of the dispute. Accordingly we are of the opinion that issues 3 and 5 (f) should not be decided as preliminary issues even if they fall within the ambit of clauses (a) and (b) of Rule 2 of Order 14 of the Code of Civil Procedure.

31. In Major S.S. Khanna vs. Brig. F.J. Dillon AIR 1964 Supreme Court 497 their Lordships have observed that normally all issues in a suit should be tried by the Court as not to do so especially when the decision on issues even of law depends upon the decision of issue of fact, would result in a lop-sided trial of the suit. This observation of their Lordships now finds statutory recognition in sub-rule (1) of Order 14 Rule 2 of the Code of Civil Procedure reproduced hereinabove. According to this sub-rule normal rule is to decide all the issues together. Sub-rule (2) carves out exception to this normal rule. For the reasons already stated hereinbefore the present case does not fall in the exception carved out by sub-rule (2) of Order 14 Rule 2."

110. In the judgement of the Full Bench in the case of Gopal Singh Visharad (supra), the Court interpreted Order XIV Rule 2 as it now exists on the statute book after its amendment in 1976 and held that it is not mandatory for the Court to decide the preliminary issues first before deciding issues of fact as there are some issues of fact and issues of law which are so intertwined that they cannot be decided separately. It is the discretion of the Court to decide them together.

111. In Satyavrata Siddhantalankar Vs. The Arya Samaj (supra), the plaintiffs had filed a suit being members of the Arya Samaj Bombay, on behalf of themselves and all the members of the Society against the first defendant who was the President of the said society, as representing the Society of Arya Samaj Bombay and against defendant nos.2 to 4, who were the Members of the Managing Committee of the Society, for a declaration that the Resolutions passed at an extraordinary General Meeting of the Society were ultra vires and a fraud on the minority and null and void and for further other reliefs. The minority of members of the said Society was over borne by the vote of the majority who were acting against the interest of the Society and its objects. The question was raised regarding the maintainability of the suit as the plaintiffs had not obtained the sanction and consent of the Society for the institution of the said suit. The argument before the Court was that the "Arya Samaj Bombay' is a Society registered under the Societies Registration Act and the plaintiffs are admittedly in a minority. The majority of the members of the Society were with the Committee of Management which was arrayed as a defendant. The plaintiffs had wrongly filed a suit in a representative capacity on behalf of themselves and all other members of the Society making out that a Society itself is in the position of the plaintiff. The President of the Society and other defendants also office bearers of the Society, had not sanctioned the filing of the suit. No meeting of the Society had been called for considering the advisability or otherwise of the institution of the suit.

112. It was argued that an Association of individuals which comes into existence and is registered as a Society is different from any other Association or Corporation whose members cannot sue in the name of the Secretary of such a club or association under the provisions of Order I Rule 8 C.P.C. It would not be competent for the Secretary or other members of the governing body of a club or association to sue or be sued alone in respect of matters in which the governing body or the club or association is interested, even though authority in that behalf has been conferred on them by all members of the Association. A partnership Firm is also an association of individuals who have come together for carrying on business in the name of the partnership. Even in case of a partnership it would not be competent to file a suit on behalf of or against the partnership as such, but for the provision of Order 30 of the C.P.C. Under Order 30 C.P.C., the Firm's name can be used for the purpose of filing a suit by or against the partnership. A society is however quite distinct from a partnership. It has nothing in common with a partnership. A Corporation or a Limited Company which is incorporated under the Indian Companies Act has a corporate existence apart from the members constituting the same. A Corporation has been defined as a collection of individuals united into one artificial form under a special denomination having been vested by the policy of law with the capacity of acting in several respects as an individual. The ideas inherent in the definition of a Corporation are; (1) That its identity is continuous, (2) That it is intangible, it is only an abstract in the intendment and consideration of law, (3) It is a thing distinct from its members. Section 23 of the Indian Companies Act enacts that from the date of incorporation the subscribers of the Memorandum of Association together with such other persons as may from time to time become members of that Company, which shall be a body corporate be capable of exercising all functions of an incorporated company and having perpetual succession and a common seal but with limited liability on the part of the members to contribute to the assets of the company in the event of it being wound up. The Corporations and Companies are conferred the right of being sued and are capable of suing as an independent legal entity. On the other hand, an Association of individuals or partnership Firms are not capable of suing or being sued except in accordance with the statutory provisions contained in the Code. On the registration of the Society under the Societies Registration Act, seven or more persons associated for any literary, scientific or charitable purpose or for any such purpose as described under Section 20 of the Act, as mentioned in the Memorandum of Association, can be registered as a Society. Under Section 6 of the Societies Registration Act, the Society must sue or be sued in the name of the President, Chairman, or the Secretary or Trustees, as will be determined by the rules and regulations of the Society and in default of such determination, in the name of such person as shall be appointed by the Governing Body for the occasion.

113. The Bombay High Court held that any person having a claim or demand against the Society may sue the President or the Chairman or the Secretary of the Society even in the absence of such determination. The Court gave a finding regarding the legal position of a Society registered under the Societies Registration Act. It was observed that the Society is an Association of individuals which is neither a Corporation nor a Partnership nor an individual, which are the only entities is known to law as capable of suing or being sued. Under section 7 of the Act, no Suit or proceeding is to abate or discontinue by reason of the person by or against whom such Suit or proceedings shall have been brought up or continued, dying or seizing to fill the character in the name of which he shall have sued or been sued, but the same Suit or proceeding shall be continued in the name of or against the successor of such person. The judgment delivered against the person or officer named on behalf of the Society, is not to be put in force against the property movable or immovable, of such person or officer but against the property of the Society. The Court observed that the members of the Society are a fluctuating body who may be admitted in accordance with the rules and regulations thereof after having paid the subscription and signing the roll of membership, but such members may either resign or be removed on incurring a disqualification or on misconduct. The members of the Governing Body as well are not always the same, therefore, the Legislature thought it fit to provide that no Suit or civil proceedings shall abate or discontinue by reason of the person by or against whom such Suit or proceeding may have been brought or continued, dying or seizing to fill the character in which he had been sued, but the same Suit or proceedings shall continue in the name of the successor of such person. Even though the members of the Society or the governing body fluctuate from time to time, the identity of the Society is sought to be made continuous by reason of Section 7 of the Act. A partnership under similar circumstances would come to an end but not the Society. The Society continues to exist and to function as such until the dissolution thereof under the provisions of the Act. The Society by reason of its registration under the Act becomes a legal entity apart from the members constituting the same. The Society once registered enjoys the status of a legal entity apart from the members constituting the same and is capable of suing or being sued. Although it was argued that under Section 6 of the Act that suits by or against the society have got to be filed in a particular manner, but it was held to be not mandatory. The Bombay High Court relied upon judgement rendered in the case of Taff Vale Railways vs. Amalgamated Society of Railway Servants; 1901 (1) QB170.

114. The speech made by Lord Lindley in Taff Vale Railway Corporation Versus Amalgamated Society of Railway Servants reported in 1901 AC 425 was quoted with approval. The Amalgamated Society of Railway Servants was a Trade Union which was registered under the Trade Union Act, 1871 and it could acquire property only in the name of its trustees but that property so held was the property of the Union and it was sufficient to treat the registered name of the Amalgamated Society of Railway Servants as one which may be used to denote the Union as an unincorporated Society in legal proceedings as well as for business and other purposes. Any claim against the Society could be enforced against the property of the Trade Union and to reach that property it may not be found necessary to sue the trustees.

The Bombay High Court relied on the observation of the Law Lords that the registered Trade Union is a species of quasi corporation. A registered Trade Union though not a Corporation, is a legal entity governed by Special Rules and reference was made to the Trade Union laws of England. Once it is registered it becomes a legal entity distinct from the unregistered Trade Union and its registered name is applied in legal proceedings.

115. In Shanti Sarup vs Radhaswami Satsang Sabha (supra), Division Bench of this Court was considering a First Appeal by the defendant appellant against Radha Swami Satsang Sabha, Dayal Bagh, Agra. One of the questions which was raised in the First Appeal was that the Suit could not have been filed by the plaintiff Society in its own name through its Secretary. It was alleged that Under Section 6 of the Act, The Societies Rules and Regulations should name one of its officers to enable the Society to sue or be sued in that name. The Suit being brought in the name of the Sabha through Secretary was bad in as much as it had been brought in the name of the Society itself and not in the name of the Secretary. The Division Bench of this Court relied upon an earlier Division Bench observation in AIR 1950 Allahabad 480, that a Society when it is registered under the Act, even if it is not a Corporation in the full sense of the term becomes a legal person and letters of administration could be granted to such Society. The right vested in the Society to sue or be sued and the provisions in Section 6 of the Act which begin with the words "may sue or be sued" in the name of one of its officers cannot take away the right of the Society itself to sue or be sued in its own name. Section 6 is merely an enabling provision that the suit be brought by the Society itself or in the name of the President, Chairman or the Principal Secretary or the trustees. The Division Bench at Allahabad came to the conclusion that Section 6 of the Act is merely permissive and the Suit could have been validly filed in the name of the plaintiff Sabha alone which was a registered Society.

116. In Nabadweep Bhajan Ashram Versus Commissioners of Navdeep Municipality (supra), the Calcutta High Court Division Bench was considering the question whether Navdeep Bhajan Ashram a Society registered under the Societies Registration Act as a religious and charitable institution could have instituted a suit against the commissioners of the Municipality praying for a declaration that certain holdings belonging to it situated in the Municipality were not liable to Municipal taxes on the ground that the holdings were exclusively used as places of worship to which the public have the right of free access. The Trial Court had dismissed the Suit as not maintainable as framed in the name of Navdeep Bhajan Ashram alone. The Division Bench observed that in the Memorandum of Association of the Society Rule 17 provided that the Association shall sue or be sued in the name of the Association or the Honorary Secretary for the time being. The Trial Court held that the Suit could not have been instituted in the name of the Ashram itself as per the provisions of Sections 6 and 7 of the Act a registered society could not sue or be sued in its own name but should sue or be sued in only in the manner indicated in the Sections in the name of either the Chairman or the President or the Principal Secretary or Trustees thereof, or some other person or Officer nominated by the Society. The Division Bench quoted with approval the observations of Justice Bhagwati in Satyavrata Siddhantalankar (supra) that these provisions are not mandatory, based upon the judgement rendered by the House of Lords in Taff Vale Railway Company Versus Amalgamated Society of Railway Servants. Section 6 of the Act does not take away the inherent right of the Society registered thereunder to sue or be sued in its own name. The Society does not lose the right as a result of such a section but it develops the character of a quasi Corporation. It may be true that under the Act, there is no express provision made that a Society registered thereunder can sue or be sued in its own name but that fact alone is not to be taken as sacred on that point. Under the Act, the power is given to the registered Society for acquiring and disposing of any property and therefore, it could sue in its own name alone as a plaintiff.

117. In Khiri Ram Gupta (supra), the Patna High Court was dealing with a Second Appeal filed by the respondent-appellant. A suit was filed by the plaintiff which was a Society registered under the Societies Registration Act with regard to a declaration of title over two plots of land used by the Society as a private land for the convenience of the Institutions set up near it by the Society. The Society had purchased the two plots of land through registered sale deed from the original tenants thereof. Later on, a Sub-tenant of the original tenants sold of the plot of land to the respondent-appellant. Both the Courts below had found that the Suit as framed was maintainable and the disputed land was the private land of the Society and the plaintiff had title to the land in dispute. When the matter went up in Second Appeal it was argued by the appellants that under Sections 6 and 7 of the Societies Registration Act, the suit filed in the name of the Society alone as plaintiff was not maintainable. Reference was made to the language of Section 6 of the Act which prescribes that either the President or the Chairman or Principal Secretary or the Trustees as determined by the Rules and Regulations of the Society and in default of such determination, such person shall be appointed by the Governing Body of the Society alone shall be competent for suing or being sued to advance a claim or demand for or against the Society. Since the Suit was instituted in the name of the Society alone as the sole plaintiff it was not maintainable. The learned Courts below had relied on the decision of Satyavrata Siddhantalankar Versus Arya Samaj reported in Bombay AIR 1945 Bombay 516 and Navdeep Bhajan Ashram Versus Commissioner Navdeep Municipality reported in AIR 1959 Calcutta 361, and came to the conclusion that the suit as framed was maintainable in law. It was also argued by the appellant that any registration made under the Act of 1860, does not make the Society a corporation. The respondents, however, argued that although the registration of a Society does not make it into a Corporation in the technical sense of the word, it does at least constitute a quasi corporation. It may sue or be sued in its own name even though there is no provision made in this respect.

118. In all the aforesaid cases, the various High Courts have relied upon English case laws. The observations made by Lord Brampton and Lord Lindley were quoted by the Courts where it was observed that the Union being an unincorporated Society could use the name given to it at the time of its registration. In Taff Vale Railway Corporation (supra), it appears that while the Appeals Court proceeded on the view that since there was no provision in the Trade Unions Act empowering a Trade Union to sue or be sued in its own name, therefore, it could not do so, the decision of the House of Lords was based on the absence of any provision in the said Act authorizing and directing that it shall sue or be sued in any other name than its registered name. Stress was laid on the fact that a Trade Union on registration came into existence as a separate legal entity created by the Statute which should be known by its registered name for all purposes. Section 9 of the English Trade Unions Act, 1871 contained provisions almost similar to those in Section 6 of the Societies

Registration Act, and there were no provisions in the Societies Registration Act authorizing and directing a registered society to sue or be sued in any other name. It was held by the Division Benches of various High Courts that Sections 6 and 7 of the Societies Registration Act merely contained provisions for institution of suits by or against a registered society and are not mandatory and do not militate against a registered Society suing or being sued in its registered name in the absence of any express provision in the statute barring the Institution of suits by or against the Society in its registered name it could not be said that the suit as framed was not maintainable.

119. This Court is of the considered opinion that the opening phrase of Section 6 use the words "may" and therefore such Section is not mandatory but permissive. The language of the proviso to Section 6 uses the expression "it shall be competent" that is only an enabling expression and it does not prohibit the Society to come to the Court to protect its interests.

120. Learned counsel for the private respondents has relied upon Shri Sant Sadhguru Janardhana Swamy Moin Giri Maharaj. V State of Maharashtra reported in 2001 (8) SCC 509, and Paragraph 12 thereof to submit that the preparation of electoral roll being an intermediate stage in the process of election which having been set in motion, the High Court should not interfere in the election process.

121. Similarly in Shafi K. Joseph Versus V. Vishwanath & Others reported in 2016 (4) SCC 429, the the Hon'ble Supreme Court had observed in Paragraphs 15 and 16 on the basis of judgement rendered in N.P. Ponnuswami (supra), that once the election programme had been published and there was a statutory remedy available, the High Court should not have interfered with the process of election which had commenced. Several judgements relating to the same issue of maintainability of writ petition after election programme is published have been cited by the learned counsel for the private respondents but they are irrelevant for the controversy as when Writ Petition No.367 (M/S) of 2012 was entertained by this Court and an interim order was granted on 09.02.2012 which was reiterated in the order of this Court dated 26.04.2013, the respondent had approached the Division Bench in Appeal against the order of the Writ Court, the Division Bench had refused to interfere in the order and the Interim Committee constituted by the interim order of this Court continue to function and manage the affairs of the Society and the Institutions run by it till date. Deputy Registrar realizing his mistake had also initially declared the results of the elections on dismissal of the petition but on its restoration, had cancelled his order dated 11.01.2013, by an order dated 30.04.2013 which has been placed before this Court by the learned counsel for the petitioners. The order dated 30.04.2013 was never challenged by the respondents and has attained finality.

122. Although much arguments have been raised regarding the restoration of the Writ Petition No.367 (M/S) of 2012 and Writ Petition No.4528 of 2010 by this Court in April 2013, and restoration of the interim order by it and appointing of an Interim Committee again this Court cannot go behind the order dated 26.04.2013, as the order passed by this Court was challenged in Special Appeal and the Division Bench has refused to interfere but only observed that the writ Court may decide the writ petition expeditiously along with several applications pending in it, say within a period of three months. The writ petitions have remained pending for more than six years thereafter. Judgement was reserved twice by different Judges but the bunch was eventually released.

123. The Society runs seventeen Institutions like MMS Birla House and a Girls Hostel, National Inter College, National PG College, all at Rana Pratap Marg. Moti Lal Nehru Homeopathic Hospital, Bal Vidya Mandir, Bal Chikitsalaya, Bal Sangrahalaya, Bal Pustakalaya Ravindralay, Bal Ravindralay, MMS Auto Mobile Training Centre. A Nursing School and A Technical Training Centre etc. at Charbagh, Lucknow, and a Homeopathic Hospital and Technical Training Institute at Lakhimpur Kheri. It is obviously a Society which has contributed much to the educational and social well being of the people at large with its charitable work in the past. It has still more to contribute in the future and this Court cannot only on a preliminary objection being raised regarding the form in which the writ petition is drafted, ignore the valid and important questions of law raised regarding the jurisdiction of the Registrar/ Deputy Registrar in interfering with the functioning of the Society.

124. Now let us consider the case set up by the learned counsel for the parties on merits. For this, I shall have to consider the Bye-laws of the Society first. Under the Memorandum of Association of the Society, Para (3) provides for a Governing Council which will consist of 17 members and would include 13 Foundation members and four other members who shall be elected or nominated as prescribed under the Rules framed by the Society. The Council means the Governing Council of Moti Lal Memorial Society. The General Body means all members of the Society taken together consisting of Foundation members, Life members, Associate members, the Patrons and the Ordinary Members.

Rule (3) describes the Categories of Members Rule (4) the Foundation members, and says that only 13 Foundation members shall hold office for life unless any of them resigns or is removed under Rule 10 (1) or Rule 11 (1) of the Rules. All vacancies occurring in Foundation members shall be filled up induction in a meeting of Foundation members. Four members shall form a quorum and a person who is chosen by them to fill up the vacancy caused amongst Foundation members shall become a Foundation member for all purposes.

Rule 6 refers to Life members. A Life member means a person who was enrolled and registered as such by the Governing Council before 31.05.1964 or who shall thereafter, be admitted as such by the Council on the ground of his distinguished and devoted public service. Persons enrolled and registered as Life members of the Sansthan shall also become life members of the Society. The word "Sansthan" has not been defined in the bye-laws or the Memorandum of Association.

Rule 7 refers to Associate members meaning a person who was enrolled as such before 31.05.1964, or who thereafter, paid a donation of Rs.500/- in a lumpsum or gifted property worth that amount or more to the Society. A person registered as Associate member of the Sansthan shall also become an Associate member of the Society.

Rule 7A refers to Ordinary members as person who pays donation of Rs.25/- annually and is admitted as such by the Council and agreed in writing to promote the objects of the Society and to abide by its Rules and Bye-laws. Patron members are described in Rule 8 as persons who were enrolled and registered as Patrons before 31.05.1964 or persons who paid Rs.1000/- or more in lumpsum to the Society and agreed in writing to promote the objects of the Society and are admitted as such by the Council. A person enrolled and registered as patron of the Sansthan shall also become a patron of the Society.

Rule 9 provides that the President and General Secretary of the Sansthan shall supply a certified list of Patrons, Life members and Associate members of the Sansthan before 15th April every year to the Society and the Society shall register the names of such Patrons, Life members, and Associate members, in the Register of its members also.

Under Rule 10 (1) the Governing Council may remove a Foundation member, a Patron, a Life member, an Associate member or an Ordinary Member from membership if he incurs any of the ineligibilities given under Sub-Clause (a) to (g) of Rule 10 (1). The Proviso to the Sub-rule says that a person against whom action under Rule 10 (1) is contemplated may be afforded an opportunity to be heard in camera before action is finally taken but he will not be given anything in writing in relation to allegations against him.

Under Rule 11 the Composition of the Governing Council has been given in detail. The Governing Council would be composed of 17 members in accordance with Article 3 of the Memorandum of Association out of which four members, referred to in Clause (b) of Article 3 of the Memorandum of Association would be elected members. The Governing Council has to elect three from amongst Patrons and Life members and one from amongst Associate and Ordinary members. All casual vacancies among the members, other than Foundation members of the Governing Council, were to be filled up by election by other members of the Council present in the Meeting specially convened for the purpose of which 15 days notice had been given to each member of the Council. The term of an elected members was three years and he was eligible for re-election. Under Rule 11 (I) a Member of the Governing Council could be removed if he incurred any of the ineligibility is mentioned in Sub-clause 1 to 5 of Rule 11 (I). No member of the Governing Council could be removed from his office, unless a resolution to that effect has been passed by the Governing Council at a Special Meeting convened for the purpose, by a majority of not less than three-fourth of the total members present and voting and of which at least 30 days notice had to be given to each member.

Under Rule 12 all the affairs of the Society and the Management and Control of its Institutions and Organizations run by the Society alongwith its property of every nature was to vest in the Governing Council. Under Rule 12 (2) (I) the Governing Council was competent to institute, conduct, defend, compound or abandon any legal proceedings by or against the Society.

Under Rule 12 (3) the Governing Council may subject to its general control and supervision, and such instructions as it may like to impose, delegate all or any of its powers to any person. Under Rule 16, the notice of meeting of the Council had to be served seven days before the date of the meeting. An emergent meeting of the council would be called at 48 hours notice.

125. This meant that for an Ordinary meeting of the Governing Council seven days notice was required. Fifteen days notice was required for a meeting of the Council to induct a Foundation member. In case of Removal of a member of the Council, "not being a Foundation member", thirty days notice was required to be given.

Under the Rule 17 the General body was to be composed of all members of each category including the Patrons. The quorum for a meeting for the General body was eight members. Under Rule 23 (a), the office bearers or the Committee of Management of the Society have been given as the President, Vice President and Honorary General Secretary elected by the Governing Council from amongst the Foundation members. In case of a Vice President or a Joint Secretary, they could be elected Members of the Council. Governing Council could also a Treasurer or a Joint Secretary. The term of the office bearers was three years but could be curtailed by the Governing Council under special circumstances. The retiring office bearers were eligible for re-election.

Under Rule 23 the outgoing office bearers would carry on discharging their duties until their successors in office were elected or appointed as the case may be, and had taken over charge. Under Rule 24 (1) the President would be the Chief Executive Head of the Society. He would function for and on behalf of the Society during the absence of the Council. All such actions shall be brought to the notice of the Council in due course. Under Rule 24 (2) the Vice President would exercise the powers of the President during his absence or when on leave. The President could delegate any functions, duties, and powers to the Vice President for any specified time.

Under Rule 24 (3), all functions of the Council/Executive Business of the Society were to be carried out by the Honorary General Secretary. The General Secretary was to place all policy and other important matters before the President and obtain orders thereon. The President would call for any papers from the General Secretary and pass such orders on them as he deemed fit and the Secretary was to follow the directions issued by the President. Under Rule 25 the Society was to sue or be sued in the name of the General Secretary or such other person who may be appointed by the Governing Council for the said purpose.

126. Under the Societies Registration Act, the Registrar does not have power to interfere in the normal functioning and internal affairs of the Society. If during the ordinary course of business, action is taken against a member, he cannot examine the resolution and its validity. The powers of the Registrar in interfering in the affairs of the Society are given under Section 24 of the Act and in case the Committee of Management does not hold the election within time i.e. it does not announce an election programme before the end of its tenure, the Societies Registration Act provides that the Registrar under Section 25(2) of the Act can declare the Committee of Management as time barred and take over the power to hold elections either by himself or by his nominee. Under Section 24 of the Act, on information received under Section 22 or otherwise or in circumstances referred to in sub-section (3) of Section 23, if the Registrar is of the opinion that there is an apprehension that the affairs of the Society registered under the Act are being so conducted so as to defeat the objects of the Society or that the Society or its Governing Body or any officer in control thereof is guilty of mismanaging its affairs or any breach of fiduciary or other obligations, then Registrar may either himself or by any person appointed by him in that regard, investigate and inspect the affairs of the Society or of any institution being run by it, the Registrar may call for the records and inspect the same and on conclusion of such inspection, may pass orders and give such directions to the Society or to its Governing Body or the office bearers, as he may think fit, for the removal of any defects or deficiencies within such time, as may be specified by him and in the event of default in taking action, the Registrar may proceed to take action under Section 12-D or Section 13-B as the case may be. As far as working of the Society is concerned, the Registrar cannot go beyond the powers mentioned under Section 24 of inspection and investigation and giving directions and orders to remove defects by the office bearers or to take action against such office bearers under Section 12 or Section 13 of the Act. Insofar as the working of the Society on a day-to-day basis is concerned, in respect to the induction into the membership or expulsion of certain members from the membership of the Society, which comes within the ordinary course of business of the Society, the Registrar has no role to play.

127. Further, Section 4-B of the Act was introduced by way of amendment by U.P. Act No.23 of 2013 in October, 2013. Only under this newly added Section, at the time of Registration, Renewal of the Society, the list of members of the General Body of that Society, shall be filed with the Registrar, mentioning the name, parentage, address and occupation of the members and the Registrar shall examine the correctness of the list of members of the General Body of such Society on the basis of the Register of members of the General Body and the Minutes Book thereof, the Cash Book, Receipt Book of Membership fee, and Bank Passbook of the Society.

128. Sub-section (2) of Section 4-B provides that if there is any change in the list of members of the General Body of the Society referred to in sub-section (1), on account of induction, removal, resignation or death of any member, a modified list of General Body members shall be filed with the Registrar within one month from the date of such change.

129. Sub-section (3) of Section 4-B provides that the list of General Body members should be signed by two office bearers and two Executive Members of the Society. The impugned order passed by the Deputy Registrar on 26.7.2010 interfering with the resolution of the Society regarding expulsion of certain members for misconduct, could not have been looked into by the Registrar before the introduction of Section 4-B by way of amendment in October, 2013. The feeble attempt made by the learned counsel for the private respondents to argue that the Registrar derived jurisdiction to look into the expulsion of members because of judgment and order of the Court in Writ Petition No.2353 (M/S) of 2010 falls flat on its face as no Court can confer jurisdiction on any authority against the provisions of the Statute as has been held by a Constitution Bench in A.R. Antulay Vs. R.S. Nayak and another*; 1988 (2) SCC 602.

130. Even on merits, in the order dated 26.07.2010, one of the grounds taken by the Registrar for cancelling the resolution dated 15.3.2008 was that on perusal of the Proceedings Register, it was apparent that the Minutes of the meetings were mentioned in a haphazard manner, i.e. meetings which took place later on were mentioned before the Minutes of meetings, which took place before them. Vishnu Bhagwaan Agarwal in his representation dated 23.12.2008 did not take any such ground. Even in the show cause notice issued by the Deputy Registrar on 25.09.2009 to Nagendra Nath Singh, there was no mention of any such objection. Had he mentioned such objection, the petitioner no.2 would have given an explanation to the same. Vishnu Bhagwaan Agarwal expelled Nagendra Nath Singh in the meeting dated 27.4.2007 and was thereafter, at the helm of the affairs of the Society. Even after the order passed on 7.7.2007 by the Deputy Registrar, restoring Nagendra Nath Singh as President of the Society, Vishnu Bhagwaan Agarwal filed Writ Petition No.3299 (MS) of 2007, where there was an interim order operating since 10.7.2007 till the disposal of Special Appeal No.615 of 2007 on 17.7.2007. Even thereafter, Vishnu Bhagwaan Agarwal did not return the Proceedings Register till dismissal of Writ Petition No.3299 (MS) of 2007 by this Court on 15.2.2008. He continued to withhold the Proceedings Register thereafter also despite judgment of this Court against him on 12.8.2008. After filing of Review Petitions by Nagendra Nath Singh, Veer Sen and Vishnu Bhagwaan Agarwal, this Court entertained the same and passed an order on 17.9.2008 after which, the Proceedings Register was returned by Vishnu Bhagwaan Agarwal.

131. Since a show cause notice was issued by the Deputy Registrar on the representation of Vishnu Bhagwaan Agarwal to Nagendra Nath Singh as President of the Society and was addressed to him in his personal capacity, the Governing Council of the Society met on 22.7.2010 and authorized Nagendra Nath Singh to present the Society's case before the Deputy Registrar. An application for adjournment was moved by Nagendra Nath Singh on 24.7.2010, saying that an application for recall of the order dated 28.5.2010 had been filed on 23.7.2010, which was pending disposal before the Court, therefore, the hearing on the representation of Vishnu Bhagwaan Agarwal be postponed. The Deputy Registrar, however, passed the order on 26.07.2010 without waiting for disposal of the recall application. The order passed by the Deputy Registrar on 26.07.2010, having been passed without jurisdiction, is set aside.

132. Section 25 Sub-section 2 of the Societies Registration Act is being quoted here in below :- "where on an order being made under subsection (1) an election is set aside or the office bearers are held no longer entitled to continue in office or the Registrar is satisfied that any election of office bearers of the society has not been held within the time specified in the rules of that Society, he may call meeting of the General Body of the Society, for electing such office bearer or office bearers and such meeting shall be presided over and be conducted by the Registrar or by any officer authorized by him in this behalf, and the provisions in the Rules of the Society relating to meetings and election shall apply to such meeting and elections with necessary modifications."

Under Section 25 Sub-clause (3) where a meeting is called by the Registrar under Sub-section (2) no other meeting shall be called for the purpose of election by any other authority or by any person claiming to be an office bearer of the Society.

A bare perusal of the aforesaid Sub Sections to Section 25 would establish that the right to convene a meeting for the purpose of holding of election of the office bearers of the Society is not lost in the outgoing Committee of Management after the expiry of the term automatically. It is only when the Registrar passes an order under Sub-section (2) of Section 25 of the Act for convening a meeting of the General Body of the Society for the purpose of holding a fresh Election of the Committee of Management that the outgoing office bearers are debarred from convening a meeting for the said purpose. The Byelaws of the Society prescribed a term of three years for the office bearers but there is no provision in the Byelaws that makes the elected office bearers defunct after three years.

133. In fact under Rule 23 (d) of the Byelaws of the Society, there is a specific provision that the office bearers shall continue to hold office till such time that their successors are elected, as such no vacuum is contemplated in the Byelaws even after the term of the Committee of Management expires. When the Deputy Registrar issued a direction to the President of the Society to hold elections after completion of induction of Foundation members in accordance with the Byelaws of the Society, and in pursuance thereof Nagendra Nath Singh had issued an Election Programme on 28.12.2011 i.e. before the term of the office bearers expired on 31.12.2011, there was no occasion for the Deputy Registrar to pass the order impugned dated 10.01.2012 directing for holding of elections by him under Section 25 (2) of the Act the Registrar. The order dated 10.01.2012 has completely ignored the provisions of the Byelaws of the Society which clearly prescribed under Rule 23 (d) for the office bearers to continue till their successors are appointed and take over charge. The Registrar has not expressed any satisfaction as is required in accordance with the language of subsection (2) of Section 25 that the election of the office bearers of the Society had not been held within the period specified under the Byelaws of the Society. The order passed on 10.01.2012 being completely without jurisdiction, this Court is satisfied that any person who was a valid member of the Society could have challenged such an order and it was not necessary for the Governing Council of the Society to authorize a person in the absence of the Secretary, to file a writ petition challenging the same issue. Nagendra Nath Singh in his capacity as the outgoing President was also the Chief Executive Officer of the Society as per the Byelaws of the Society, he was entitled to approach this Court in his personal capacity also. He nevertheless approached this Court by making the Moti Lal Memorial Society as Petitioner No.1 through the Joint Secretary Mrs. Usha Chaudhary as the then Secretary of the Society Professor Lal Amarendra was no longer a member since August 2010.

134. This Court in a Division Bench judgment rendered in Ratan Kumar Solanki versus State of U.P., 2010 (1) UPLBEC 369, has held in its judgment and order dated 16.11.2009 that if a person can show that he has come on behalf of the Society and is also a person aggrieved, he has locus standi to file a writ petition.

135. In Ratan Kumar Solanki (supra), this Court observed in Paragraph 24 as under:

"24. What is discernible from the above discussion is where the right of an individual is affected or infringed, and, he has no other effective remedy, if such rights of the individual concerned are borne out from the statute or the provision of bye-laws etc. having the flavour of statute, a writ petition at his instance may be maintainable subject to attracting the condition where the Court may decline to interfere namely availability of alternative remedy, delay, laches etc. but where a legal right of an individual is not directly affected, a writ petition expousing the cause of the collective body or other members of the collective body would not be maintainable at the instance of an individual who himself is not directly affected. We may add here that in a given case, if it is found that an election was held by an imposter and he is supported by DIOS or other educational authorities, such an action of DIOS as also the election can be challenged by the individual member since it cannot be said that he is not a person aggrieved but whether a writ petition at his instance would be maintainable or he can challenge the election by filing a civil suit etc., would be a different aspect of the matter and has to be considered in each and every case considering the facts, relevant provision and other relevant aspects of the matter."

136. On the other hand, a Division Bench of this Court while considering the law as settled in Ratan Kumar Solanki (supra) in its judgment and order dated 7.9.2010 in Special Appeal No.1380 of 2008: Rajveer Singh versus State of U.P. and others, observed as under:

"This Court is already over-burdened with the writ petitions filed by the rival Committees of Management, or the members, who have taken part in the elections, and did not succeed, in the matters arising out of thousands of educational institutions across the State. Every year thousands of writ petitions are being filed. In fact every election of the Committee of Management of educational institution is challenged in the High Court, on the question of its recognition by the Regional Deputy Director of Education (now the Regional Level Committee), under Section-16A (7) of the UP Intermediate Education Act, 1921. A single Judge has been assigned determination relating to only such matters. The valuable time of the Court for deciding important questions of law to reduce inequities and injustice in the society, is spent in resolving disputes between rival groups to gain control over the educational institutions for the purpose of access to the funds provided by the State Government. In most of the cases the Courts find that the elections are set up only on papers, without holding election meetings.

If the individual members of the general body of the educational society not directly affected by the election results, are also allowed to file objections and to challenge the elections, the fight for gaining control over the school funds will flood the High Courts with litigation. The election may be challenged by members of the general body separately after raising objections before the educational authorities, and thereafter filing writ petitions on variety of grounds.

We may add here that an individual member in such case, is not without remedy. He may file a suit challenging the elections, to enforce his right of association guaranteed under Section 19 (1) (g) of the Constitution of India."

137. In Panna Lal (supra), this Court observed in Paragraph-19 thus:

"19. In my view, the principle of law which emerges is that though there is no absolute prohibition for maintainability of writ petition at the instance of an individual member but it is a matter of judicial discretion to entertain such writ petition or not. For the said purpose, the Court is guided by well established legal principles on basis of which writ petition is entertained. If it transpires that the individual member is not directly affected by the elections' result but is expousing the cause of the collective body or the members of the collective body, this Court may decline to go into the controversy at his instance. While considering the said question, the totality of facts and circumstances of the case have to be taken into consideration."

138. This Court in Jagdambika Prasad Pandey vs. State of U.P. and others, 2019 SCC Online All 4195, after placing reliance upon several such observations made by co-ordinate Benches and also the Division Benches of this Court, came to a conclusion that in case the action of the authorities is, on the face of it, illegal or without jurisdiction, it can be challenged even by individual members of the society. Such a challenge shall be entertained to protect the Right of Association of such a member guaranteed under Article 19(1)(c) of the Constitution of India.

139. Moreover, the Supreme Court in its judgment rendered in K. Venkatachalam vs. A.Swamickan and others (1999) 4 SCC 526, has held in Paragraphs 27 and 28 that if a decision is totally without jurisdiction and against the provisions of the Act, the High Court could well interfere in the matter in writ jurisdiction.

140. In K.Venkatachalam (supra), the Supreme Court observed that alternative remedy cannot be said to be an absolute bar. The High Court in writ jurisdiction has a very wide powers, which cover all violations of the law or the Constitution when recourse to other remedies provided by law are inappropriate due to their complexity, which result in delays. The Supreme Court observed in Paragraphs 27 of the said judgment that Article 226 is cast in the widest possible terms and unless there is a clear bar to the jurisdiction of the High Court, its powers under Article 226 can be exercised where there is any act, which is against any provision of law or violative of constitutional provisions and when recourse cannot be there to the provisions of the Act for the appropriate relief. The Supreme Court was considering a case where a person was not even qualified to be an elector of the constituency impersonated another in the nomination papers and then contested the election and sat and voted in the legislative assembly of Tamil Nadu. The Supreme Court observed that such a person knew that he was disqualified, yet he impersonated another person and filed his nomination on an affidavit and he may also be held to be criminally liable for such action. If in such a case, he is allowed to continue to sit and vote in the assembly, his action would be a fraud on the Constitution. The High Court rightly exercised its jurisdiction in entertaining the writ petition and declared that the appellant was not entitled to sit in the Tamil Nadu Legislative Assembly and put a consequent restraint order on him.

141. Now I shall deal with all the applications that have been filed by respective parties to the litigation in order of their filing.

In Writ Petition No.4528 (M/S) of 2010, an application for dismissal of the writ petition raising preliminary objection as to its maintainability was filed by Vimal Kumar Sharma registered as Application No.68852 of 2012. This application having been considered along with the counter affidavit filed by the respondent no. 5 to the writ petition itself needs no separate orders to be passed there on.

In the same writ petition, an Application No.81569 of 2012 was filed on 17.09.2012 by the respondent no.4 who is no more. It also relates to the objection regarding maintainability of the petition and after death of Vishnu Bhagwaan Agarwal, it has become infructuous and is dismissed as such.

In Writ Petition No.4528 (M/S) of 2010, an Application No.50531 of 2013 was filed on 22.05.2013 by Professor Lal Amrendra that he had been restored on the position of General Secretary by the Deputy Registrar's order dated 30.11.2012 and he be impleaded as an opposite party. No counsel has pressed this application and it is rejection for non-prosecution.

In the same writ petition Application No.61899 of 2013 was filed by Sri Vivek Raj Singh, on 16.07.2013 where the deponent Kunwar Reoti Raman Singh prayed for amendment in the array of the parties. This application is allowed and Kunwar Reoti Raman Singh is permitted to Pursue the writ petition on behalf of the Society in view of the observations made here in above in this judgement.

Moreover, in North Eastern Railway Administration Gorakhpur vs. Bhagwaan Das; 2008 (8) SCC 511, the Hon'ble Supreme Court observed in paragraph-16 that Order VI Rule 17 C.P.C. postulates amendment of pleadings at any stage of the proceedings. In Pirgonda Hongonda Patil vs. Kalgonda Shidgonda Patil and others; (1957) SCR 595, which still holds the field, it was held that all amendments are to be allowed which satisfy the two conditions: "(A) of not working injustice to the other side, and (B) of being necessary for the purpose of determining the real question which is in controversy between the parties. Amendments should be refused only if the other party cannot be placed in the same position as if the pleading had been originally correct but the amendment would cause him an injury which could not be compensated in costs."

An application was also filed on 04.09.2018 by the counsel for the petitioners which has remained pending for deleting the names of opposite party no.4 and 6 as they were both dead registered as Application No.97000 of 2018. This application is allowed.

In Writ Petition No.367 (M/S) of 2012, Application No.17772 of 2012 has been filed on 22.12.2012 by Professor Lal Amrendra paying for substitution which application has not been pressed by any counsel and is rejected for non-prosecution.

Application No.98 of 2013 has been filed on 19.04.2013 praying for permission to persue the writ petition on behalf of the Society by Kunwar Reoti Raman Singh, this application is allowed in view of the observations made here in above in this judgement.

An Application No.61901 of 2013 has also been filed by Kunwar Reoti Raman Singh on 16.07.2013 for amendment in the array of the petitioners and for substitution of the name of the Kunwar Reoti Raman Singh in place of President Late Nagendra Nath Singh, as sitting Vice President of the Society. This application is also allowed.

In the same writ petition, an application for dismissal has been filed Registered as Application No.52702 of 2018 on 07.05.2018 with a prayer for vacation of interim order dated 13.02.2012 on behalf of Vimal Kumar Sharma Which has become infructuous, as a Special Appeal was filed praying for the same relief as mentioned in this Application which has been disposed of by the Division Bench without granting this prayer to the respondent. This application thus stands rejected.

142. The orders dated 10.01.2012 and 16.01.2012 challenged in Writ Petition No.367 (M/S) of 2012 and Writ Petition No.430 (M/S) of 2012 for the reasons aforesaid, are set aside. All consequential actions taken in pursuance of orders dated 26.07.2010, 10.01.2012 and 16.01.2012 are also rendered null and void ab initio.

143. Writ Petition No.4528 (M/S) of 2010, Writ Petition No.367 (M/S) of 2012 and Writ Petition No.430 (M/S) of 2012 stand allowed and Writ Petition No.918 (M/S) of 2013 stands dismissed.

144. It has been submitted by the learned counsel for the petitioner that after 31.12.2008 no valid elections have been held. The elections held on the orders of the Deputy Registrar in February 2012 have lost their efficacy after the orders of the Deputy Registrar himself on 30.04.2013. It has also been submitted that the Judgement in these writ petitions has to be declared by this Court on the basis of facts as are pleaded before this Court at the time when the writ petition were filed. Reference has been made to Rule 23(d) of the Byelaws which states that the Committee of Management shall continue till the successors are appointed.

This Court, however, finds on due consideration of all submissions made before it that since the Society runs several Educational and Charitable Institutions and there is great animosity generated amongst the members of the Society due to repeated litigations, it would be appropriate that this Court constitutes a Committee of respected and responsible citizens to look after the affairs of the Institutions run by it.

During the time when this bunch of petitions was heard and judgment was reserved, this Court received a written request dated 13.11.2019 from Justice S.U. Khan (Retd.) to be relieved of the responsibilities given to him by this Court's order dated 26.04.2013.

This Court is also convinced that a Committee of two Members only shall not be able to discharge the responsibility of running the Society and its Institutions in the period during which the elections to the various constituents of the Governing Council are held and new office bearers take charge.

I, therefore, nominate four persons as Members of the new Interim Committee to look after the affairs of the Society and the institutions, namely, employees and staff run by it.

Justice (Retd) Arun Tandon, Allahabad High Court has graciously consented to be the Chairman of the Interim Committee. Sri Birendra Chaubey, Retired Special Secretary, Finance Department, U.P., Sri Murli Dhar Rai, Retired Officer-on-Special Duty, Finance Department, U.P. and Sri V.K. Mathur, Senior Auditor, Retired from Department of Industries, U.P., shall be the three others members of the Interim Committee.

Rs. One Lakh per month shall be given to the Chairman Hon'ble Mr. Justice Arun Tandon (Retd.) and Rs.75,000/- per month to each of the other members of the Committee along with actual expenses from the funds of the Society as honorarium in appreciation of their efforts to bring back the Society on its feet.

All papers, documents, files shall be handed over by the present Interim Committee to this Committee of five Members. The Registrar, Firms, Societies and Chits, U.P. and Deputy Registrar, Lucknow Region, Lucknow, shall provide all necessary assistance regarding documents available in their office to the members of the Interim Committee.

145. There are undisputedly five Foundation Members who are alive; they being Kunwar Reoti Raman Singh, Raja Anand Singh, Dr. Dauji Gupta, J.R. Tripathi and Mata Prasad. For filling up nine vacancies of Foundation Members, steps be taken first. Thereafter, steps be taken to fill up four vacancies in the Governing Council for which elections be held, in accordance with the procedure prescribed under the Bye-laws of the Society.

The last undisputed election to the Society were held under the supervision of the Registrar, Firms, Societies and Chits, U.P on 31.12.2008. The Interim Committee shall procure the list of the Members of the General Body of the Society utilized in the elections held on 31.12.2008 from the office of the Deputy Registrar, Firms, Societies and Chits, Lucknow Region, Lucknow and shall publish this list within one month in two widely read newspapers of the State, one English Daily and one Hindi Daily and invite objections to the said list. All objections are to be filed within three weeks and the list be finalized thereafter within a further period of three weeks. After the list is finalized, it will be utilized for the purpose of election of four elected members of the Governing Council.

It is expected that the Interim Committee constituted by this order of the Court shall be extended all cooperation by the existing staff of the Society and the office of the Deputy Registrar. The election as aforesaid, shall be held within a maximum period of six months under the guidance of this Interim Committee which shall hand over charge to the newly elected office bearers soon thereafter.

The Registry of this Court shall inform about the order passed today by this Court to the Chairman and Members of the Interim Committee appointed by this Court as aforesaid along with a copy of this order.

HELD:- The Court is of the view that there has been compliance of the provisions of Section 50 (1) of the Act of 1985, the sample was duly taken, lack of independent witnesses would not vitiate the recovery and arrest of the applicant and merely because the applicant has no criminal history, would not entitle him automatically for grant of bail.(Para - 27)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Abdul Moin, J.)

1. Heard Sri Arun Sinha, learned counsel for the applicant, and Sri Rao Narendra Singh, learned Additional Government Advocate for the State through video conferencing in terms of orders passed by Hon'ble Chief Justice taking into consideration COVID-19 situation.

2. Present bail application has been filed by the applicant Mohd. Irshad, who is involved in Case Crime No.75 of 2019 registered under the provisions of Sections 8 and 21 of the Narcotic Drugs and Psychotropic Substances Act, 1985 (hereinafter referred to as the Act of 1985), Police Station Masauli, District Barabanki.

3. From perusal of the first information report dated 24.02.2019 it comes out that on 24.02.2019 the police party noticed two persons moving in suspicious circumstances, who upon seeing the police personnel, tried to run away. The police personnel managed to catch hold of one person namely the applicant while the other person managed to escape. On being arrested, the said person disclosed his name as Mohd. Irshad i.e. the applicant. Upon being asked as to why he tried to run away, the applicant replied that he is carrying morphine in a bag and the person who ran away was his friend/elder brother Mohd. Junaid. The police personnel informed the applicant that he has to be searched by a gazetted officer or a magistrate under the provisions of Section 50 of the Criminal Procedure Code (as indicated in the first information report) to which the applicant informed that as he is carrying morphine, he does not wish to be searched by any other person and that the police personnel may themselves search the applicant. Upon such consent being given by the applicant, the Station Officer searched the applicant and in the bag being carried by the applicant, it was noticed that a polythene was kept. The applicant informed about the contents of the polythene as morphine. The said morphine was weighed in the weighing scale by the police personnel from which it came out that the weight of morphine was one kilogram and ten grams, being brown in colour which was sealed. The applicant was also arrested and the witnesses were said to be the police personnel inasmuch as despite various persons being present none came forward to be a witness on account of not being willing to be involved. The applicant is said to be in jail since 24.02.2019.

4. Sri Arun Sinha, learned counsel for the applicant, on the basis of averments contained in the bail application argued that the provision of Section 50 (1) of the Act of 1985 was not complied with despite a personal search being carried out which is the mandatory requirement and in the absence of the same, the entire arrest and recovery becomes vitiated in the eyes of law and thus the applicant deserves to be released on bail. In this regard, Sri Sinha has placed reliance on the following judgments:-

(i) 2014 (2) SCC (Crl.) 563 - State of Rajasthan vs. Parmanand and another;

(ii) 2019 (1) SCC (Crl.) 371 - S.K. Raju alias Abdul Haque alias Jagga vs. State of West Bengal;

(iii) (2011) 1 SCC (Crl.) 497 - Vijaysinh Chandubha Jadeja vs. State of Gujarat, and

(iv) 1998 SCC (Crl.) 1516 - Namdi Francis Nwazor vs. Union of India and another.

5. Sri Sinha further argued that no sample was drawn from the article being carried by the applicant which was a mandatory requirement and also there were no independent witnesses to the seizure of the morphine and thus the same vitiates the entire arrest and recovery. It is also argued that the applicant does not have any criminal history and thus deserves to be released on bail. No other ground has been argued.

6. On the ground of Section 50 (1) of the Act of 1985 having been violated at the time of arrest, much emphasis has been placed on the judgments of Hon'ble Apex Court in the cases of Parmanand (supra), S.K. Raju (supra) and Vijaysinh Chandubha Jadeja (supra) to contend that even if for the sake of argument the applicant gave his consent for being searched by the police personnel yet the mandatory requirement of Section 50 (1) of the Act of 1985 is that the applicant should have been informed that it is his right to be searched by a gazetted officer or a magistrate and in the absence of police personnel informing the applicant of such right, the arrest and recovery of morphine are vitiated in the eyes of law.

7. On the other hand, Sri Rao Narendra Singh, learned Additional Government Advocate, on the basis of averments contained in the counter affidavit has argued that the applicant was arrested from a public place. The applicant had been given an option of being searched by either a gazetted officer or by a magistrate under the provisions of Section 50 (1) of the Act of 1985 to which he submitted that he wished to be searched by the police party itself and thus there was consent of the applicant for being searched not by a gazetted officer or the magistrate but by the police personnel themselves. It is thus contended that once the applicant was specifically informed about his right under Section 50 (1) of the Act of 1985 and he waived off his right then at this stage the applicant cannot be allowed to argue that the mandatory provisions of Section 50 (1) of the Act of 1985 not having been complied with, the same would vitiate the arrest and recovery of the morphine. In this regard, Sri Rao has placed reliance on the following judgments:-

(i) (2010) 2 SCC (Crl.) 475 - Ajmer Singh vs. State of Haryana;

(ii) 2005 Cri.LJ 1001 - Major Singh vs. State of U.P.;

(iii) 2004 SCC (Crl.) 1571 - State of Haryana vs. Jarnail Singh and others, and

(iv) (2007) 3 SCC (Crl.) 189 - Ravindran alias John vs. Superintendent of Customs

8. Heard learned counsel for the parties and perused the records. From perusal of the first information report, it comes out that the applicant had been arrested and morphine weighing one kilogram and ten grams was also recovered from the bag which the applicant was carrying. The main emphasis by the learned counsel for the applicant is upon not following the provisions of Section 50 (1) of the Act of 1985. For the sake of convenience, Section 50 of the Act of 1985 is reproduced below:-

"50. Conditions under which search of persons shall be conducted.-

(1) When any officer duly authorised under section 42 is about to search any person under the provisions of section 41, section 42 or section 43, he shall, if such person so requires, take such person without unnecessary delay to the nearest Gazetted Officer of any of the departments mentioned in section 42 or to the nearest Magistrate.

(2) If such requisition is made, the officer may detain the person until he can bring him before the Gazetted Officer or the Magistrate referred to in sub-section (1).

(3) The Gazetted Officer or the Magistrate before whom any such person is brought shall, if he sees no reasonable ground for search, forthwith discharge the person but otherwise shall direct that search be made.

(4) No female shall be searched by anyone excepting a female.

(5) When an officer duly authorised under section 42 has reason to believe that it is not possible to take the person to be searched to the nearest Gazetted Officer or Magistrate without the possibility of the person to be searched parting with possession of any narcotic drug or psychotropic substance, or controlled substance or article or document, he may, instead of taking such person to the nearest Gazetted Officer or Magistrate, proceed to search the person as provided under section 100 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 (2 of 1974).

(6) After a search is conducted under sub-section (5), the officer shall record the reasons for such belief which necessitated such search and within seventy-two hours send a copy thereof to his immediate official superior."

9. Section 50 (1) of the Act of 1985 has been considered by a Constitution Bench of the Apex Court in the case of State of Punjab vs. Baldev Singh - (1999) 6 SCC 172. The Apex Court has concluded regarding the provisions of Section 50 (1) of the Act of 1985 as under:-

"(1) That when an empowered officer or a duly authorised officer acting on prior information is about to search a person, it is imperative for him to inform the person concerned of his right under sub-section (1) of Section 50 of being taken to the nearest gazetted officer or the nearest Magistrate for making the search. However, such information may not necessarily be in writing.

(2) That failure to inform the person concerned about the existence of his right to be searched before a gazetted officer or a Magistrate would cause prejudice to an accused.

(3) That a search made by an empowered officer, on prior information, without informing the person of his right that if he so requires, he shall be taken before a gazetted officer or a Magistrate for search and in case he so opts, failure to conduct his search before a gazetted officer or a Magistrate, may not vitiate the trial but would render the recovery of the illicit article suspect and vitiate the conviction and sentence of an accused, where the conviction has been recorded only on the basis of the possession of the illicit article, recovered from his person, during a search conducted in violation of the provisions of Section 50 of the Act."

Subsequently, another Constitution Bench of the Apex Court in the case of Vijaysinh Chandubha Jadeja (supra) after considering the judgment of Baldev Singh (supra) has held as under:-

"29. In view of the foregoing discussion, we are of the firm opinion that the object with which right under Section 50(1) of the NDPS Act, by way of a safeguard, has been conferred on the suspect, viz. to check the misuse of power, to avoid harm to innocent persons and to minimise the allegations of planting or foisting of false cases by the law enforcement agencies, it would be imperative on the part of the empowered officer to apprise the person intended to be searched of his right to be searched before a gazetted officer or a Magistrate. We have no hesitation in holding that in so far as the obligation of the authorised officer under sub-section (1) of Section 50 of the NDPS Act is concerned, it is mandatory and requires a strict compliance. Failure to comply with the provision would render the recovery of the illicit article suspect and vitiate the conviction if the same is recorded only on the basis of the recovery of the illicit article from the person of the accused during such search. Thereafter, the suspect may or may not choose to exercise the right provided to him under the said provision."

10. From perusal of two Constitution Bench judgments of the Apex Court, it comes out that the object of the right under Section 50 (1) of the Act of 1985 has been conferred on the suspect by way of a safeguard to check the misuse of power at the hands of the authorities and to avoid harm to innocent persons and to minimise the allegations of planting or foisting of false cases by the law enforcement agencies and thus it has been made mandatory on the part of the empowered officer to apprise the person intended to be searched of his right to be searched before a gazetted officer or a magistrate. Failure to comply with the provisions of Section 50 (1) of the Act of 1985 would render the recovery of the illicit article suspect and vitiate the conviction if the same is recorded only on the basis of the recovery of the illicit article from the person of the accused during the search.

11. Being armed with the aforesaid interpretation, as given by two Constitution Benches of the Apex Court, this Court proceeds to consider as to whether provisions of Section 50 (1) of the Act of 1985 were followed in the present case.

12. From perusal of the first information report, it comes out that as the morphine was admitted of being carried by the applicant in a bag, as such, the applicant was informed that in terms of Section 50, he should get himself searched by a gazetted officer or a magistrate to which the applicant consented for having himself searched by the police party itself. This would be apparent from a persual of the following words in the first information report:-

"पकड़े गए व्यक्ति से पूछने पर अपना नाम मोहम्मद इरशाद पुत्र मोहम्मद नसरुद्दीन निवासी चौखंडी थाना सफदरगंज बाराबंकी बताया। भागने का कारण पूछने पर बताया कि साहब मेरे हाथ में जो थैला है इसमें ekjQhuहै। इसी कारण डरकर भागा था मेरे साथ मेरा दोस्त मेरा बड़ा भाई मोहम्मद tquSn पुत्र मोहम्मद नसरुद्दीन भी था जो डर कर भाग गया। पकड़े गए व्यक्ति us बताया कि आप बता रहे हो कि मेरे पास झोले में ekjQhu रखा है तो आपको अपनी तलाशी किसी राजपत्रित अधिकारी या मजिस्ट्रेट के समक्ष अपनी तलाशी चलकर अंतर्गत धारा 50 सीआरपीसी देनी होगी। तो बताया कि साहब जब आप पकड़ ही लिए हैं तो आप ही मेरी तलाशी ले ले मेरे पास ekjQhu है तो ekjQhuही रहेगी। मुझे किसी और के पास तलाशी देकर अपने विरुद्ध और अधिक सबूत एकत्र नहीं करना है।"

Thus, the essential condition of Section 50 (1) of the Act of 1985 of the person being arrested being informed of having a right of being searched by the gazetted officer or magistrate stood satisfied when the police personnel informed the applicant and the applicant waived off his right and allowed the police personnel to search him. Interestingly in the bail application there is no averment by the applicant of the police personnel not having informed the applicant of having the right of being searched by a gazetted officer or a magistrate in terms of Section 50 (1) of the Act of 1985 rather in paragraph 14 of the bail application, it has been contended that there has been non-compliance of mandatory provisions of Section 50 of the Act of 1985 as the applicant was not taken to the nearest gazetted officer for his search nor the gazetted officer was called for by the complainant for search. From perusal of the aforesaid, it thus clearly comes out that the applicant was informed about his right under the provisions of Section 50 (1) of the Act of 1985 though indicated as Cr.P.C in the F.I.R which provided for a search to be made by a gazetted officer or a magistrate which was specifically waived off by the applicant and thereafter the search was conducted by the Station Officer to which also there is no denial in the bail application of such information not having been given to the applicant and consequently the Court is of the view that the mandatory requirement of Section 50 (1) of the Act of 1985 stood satisfied.

13. Another aspect of the matter is that it is admitted that the recovery of drugs was made from the bag which the applicant was carrying and not from his person. The Apex Court in the case of Ravindran alias John (supra) has held that if any drug was recovered from the personal search of the accused, he could take the plea of Section 50 of the Act of 1985 to challenge his personal search. However, where the drug is recovered not from the person of the accused but from a separate bag, then Section 50 (1) of the Act of 1985 shall not be applicable. For the sake of convenience, the relevant observations of the Apex Court in the case of Ravindran alias John (supra) are reproduced below:-

"11. In our view this question does not survive for our consideration because we have earlier held that Section 50 was not attracted to the facts of this case. If any drug was recovered from the personal search of the appellant as explained in Pawan Kumar's case, the appellant could advance this argument to challenge his personal search. That not being the case, the submission must be rejected. An argument was advanced before us that if the search is found to be illegal that is fatal to the case of the prosecution. Apart from the fact that this question does not arise in the instant case, it cannot be said as a general principle of law that the illegality of the seizure would in all cases prove fatal to the case of the prosecution. As held by this Court in 2006 (9) SCALE 644 Ritesh Chakarvarti Versus State of Madhya Pradesh although the effect of the illegal search may not have any direct effect on the prosecution case, it would all the same have a bearing on the appreciation of evidence of the official witnesses and other materials depending on the facts of each case."

However, the aforesaid question may not detain this Court as it has not been disputed by learned Additional Government Advocate that the personal search of the applicant was not carried out and even otherwise, this Court has held that the condition of Section 50 (1) of the Act, 1985 stood complied with.

14. So far as the judgment in the case of Parmanand (supra) is concerned over which strong reliance has been placed by learned counsel for the applicant, the same was a case in which two persons namely Parmanand and Surajmal had been arrested. The Sub-Inspector leading the police party gave a written notice to them informing them about their right under the provisions of Section 50 of the Act of 1985. Upon this, accused Surajmal gave consent in writing in Hindi for himself and for Parmanand and stated that they were ready to get themselves searched by the Sub-Inspector in the presence of Superintendent and he also put his thumb impression and thereafter search was carried out from which opium was found and both Parmanand and Surajmal were charged of the offence under the Act of 1985. Both the accused were convicted by the trial court and upon appeal the High Court acquitted the accused by holding that there was no compliance of Section 50 of the Act of 1985. Upon an appeal being filed by the State, the Apex Court after going through the records, found that the notice given by the police personnel of informing the accused persons of their right under Section 50 of the Act of 1985 had only been signed by one accused namely Surajmal and the same was not signed by accused Parmanand. There was also nothing on record to show that Parmanand had given his independent consent. The Apex Court after considering the Constitution Bench judgment of Baldev Singh (supra) was of the view that once Parmanand was not informed about his right of being searched under Section 50 of the Act of 1985 then merely because the written communication was given to one of the accused who signed on behalf of Parmanand the same would not be considered to be sufficient compliance of Section 50 of the Act of 1985.

15. The aforesaid judgment is clearly distinguishable inasmuch as in the instant case there is no denial in the bail application that the applicant was not informed of having a right of being searched under Section 50 of the Act of 1985 by a gazetted officer or magistrate consequently the judgment of Parmanand (supra) will have no applicability in the facts of the present case.

16. As regards the judgment of Vijaysin Chandubha Jadeja (supra), the same only indicates about the mandatory nature of Section 50 of the Act of 1985 which this Court has already held had been followed in the case of the applicant.

17. As regards the case of S.K. Raju alias Abdul Haque alias Jagga (supra), the same would also not be applicable in the facts of the present case as in the said case the Apex Court held that where the search of the accused person is also carried out then provisions of Section 50 of the Act of 1985 would be attracted and that there had to be compliance of the requirement of Section 50(1) of the Act of 1985.

18. As regards the case of Namdi Francis Nwazor (supra), the same arises out of Section 50 of the Act of 1985 wherein the search of a person and search of the person's luggage has been considered separately. In the instant case, as it was not disputed by the learned Additional Government Advocate that the search of the person of applicant was made consequently the Court has proceeded on the ground that Section 50 of the Act of 1985 was applicable with regard to the search of the applicant including his person and luggage. Thus, the instant judgment would have no applicability in the facts of the present case.

19. As regards the second ground taken by learned counsel for the applicant of no sample being drawn of the drug that was seized, a specific plea has been taken in paragraph 32 of the bail application to the said effect. However, in paragraphs 5 and 30 of the counter affidavit, it has been contended that of the recovered goods, a sample had been taken and had been sent to laboratory which report mentions the seized goods as being heroine. Copy of the said report has been brought on record as Annexure CA-2 to the counter affidavit. Incidentally paragraphs 5 and 30 of the counter affidavit which mentioned about the sample being taken and a report having been taken which reveals the sample as heroine has not been specifically denied in paragraph 5 of the rejoinder affidavit. Further, in paragraph 21 of the rejoinder affidavit wherein para 30 of the counter affidavit has been replied, it is admitted that a sample seal was prepared. Thus, the Court has no option but to hold that a sample had been taken which revealed the seized goods from the applicant as heroine.

20. As regards the ground of there being no independent witness(s) to the arrest and recovery of drugs, learned Additional Government Advocate has placed reliance on the judgment of Apex Court in the case of Ajmer Singh (supra) wherein the Apex Court has held that it cannot be possible to find independent witnesses at all places at all time. The obligation to take public witnesses is not absolute and if after making efforts, the police officer is not able to get public witnesses to associate with the raid or arrest of the culprit, the arrest and the recovery made would not be necessarily vitiated. For the sake of convenience, the relevant observations of the Apex Court in the case of Ajmer Singh (supra) are reproduced below:-

"20. We cannot forget that it may not be possible to find independent witness at all places, at all times. The obligation to take public witnesses is not absolute. If after making efforts which the court considered in the circumstances of the case reasonable, the police officer is not able to get public witnesses to associate with the raid or arrest of the culprit, the arrest and the recovery made would not be necessarily vitiated. The court will have to appreciate the relevant evidence and will have to determine whether the evidence of the police officer was believable after taking due care and caution in evaluating their evidence."

21. From perusal of the judgment in the case of Ajmer Singh (supra) and a perusal of the first information report wherein it has been recorded that despite a few persons of the public having been asked to become witness they all declined, goes to show that efforts were made by the police personnel to find witnesses but they declined and thus lack of independent witnesses, as in this case, in view of this Court and taking into consideration the law laid down by the Apex Court in the case of Ajmer Singh (supra), would not vitiate the arrest and recovery of drugs from the possession of the applicant.

22. As regard the ground taken by learned counsel for the applicant that the applicant has got no criminal history, suffice to state that in cases involving the Act of 1985, prior to grant of bail the Court would have to consider the provisions of Section 37 of the Act of 1985. For the sake of convenience, Section 37 of the Act of 1985 is reproduced below:-

"37. Offences to be cognizable and non-bailable.--(1) Notwithstanding anything contained in the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 (2 of 1974)--

(a) every offence punishable under this Act shall be cognizable;

(b) no person accused of an offence punishable for [offences under section 19 or section 24 or section 27A and also for offences involving commercial quantity] shall be released on bail or on his own bond unless--

(i) the Public Prosecutor has been given an opportunity to oppose the application for such release, and

(ii) where the Public Prosecutor opposes the application, the court is satisfied that there are reasonable grounds for believing that he is not guilty of such offence and that he is not likely to commit any offence while on bail.

(2) The limitations on granting of bail specified in clause (b) of sub-section (1) are in addition to the limitations under the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 (2 of 1974), or any other law for the time being in force on granting of bail."(emphasis supplied)

23. The Apex Court has laid down broad parameters to be followed while considering the application for bail moved by the accused involved in offences under NDPS Act. In Union of India Vs. Ram Samujh and Ors. 1999(9) SCC 429, it has been elaborated as under:-

"7. It is to be borne in mind that the aforesaid legislative mandate is required to be adhered to and followed. It should be borne in mind that in a murder case, the accused commits murder of one or two persons, while those persons who are dealing in narcotic drugs are instrumental in causing death or in inflicting death-blow to a number of innocent young victims, who are vulnerable; it causes deleterious effects and a deadly impact on the society; they are a hazard to the society; even if they are released temporarily, in all probability, they would continue their nefarious activities of trafficking and/or dealing in intoxicants clandestinely. Reason may be large stake and illegal profit involved. This Court, dealing with the contention with regard to punishment under the NDPS Act, has succinctly observed about the adverse effect of such activities in Durand Didier v. Chief Secy., Union Territory of Goa [(1990) 1 SCC 95)] as under:

24. With deep concern, we may point out that the organised activities of the underworld and the clandestine smuggling of narcotic drugs and psychotropic substances into this country and illegal trafficking in such drugs and substances have led to drug addiction among a sizeable section of the public, particularly the adolescents and students of both sexes and the menace has assumed serious and alarming proportions in the recent years. Therefore, in order to effectively control and eradicate this proliferating and booming devastating menace, causing deleterious effects and deadly impact on the society as a whole, Parliament in its wisdom, has made effective provisions by introducing this Act 81 of 1985 specifying mandatory minimum imprisonment and fine.

8. To check the menace of dangerous drugs flooding the market, Parliament has provided that the person accused of offences under the NDPS Act should not be released on bail during trial unless the mandatory conditions provided in Section 37, namely,

(i) there are reasonable grounds for believing that the accused is not guilty of such offence; and

(ii) that he is not likely to commit any offence while on bail are satisfied. The High Court has not given any justifiable reason for not abiding by the aforesaid mandate while ordering the release of the respondent-accused on bail. Instead of attempting to take a holistic view of the harmful socio-economic consequences and health hazards which would accompany trafficking illegally in dangerous drugs, the court should implement the law in the spirit with which Parliament, after due deliberation, has amended."

24. The scheme of Section 37 reveals that the exercise of power to grant bail is not only subject to the limitations contained under Section 439 of the CrPC, but is also subject to the limitation placed by Section 37 which commences with non-obstante clause. The operative part of the said section is in the negative form prescribing the enlargement of bail to any person accused of commission of an offence under the Act, unless twin conditions are satisfied. The first condition is that the prosecution must be given an opportunity to oppose the application; and the second is that the Court must be satisfied that there are reasonable grounds for believing that he is not guilty of such offence. If either of these two conditions is not satisfied, the ban for granting bail operates.

25. The expression "reasonable grounds" means something more than prima facie grounds. It contemplates substantial probable causes for believing that the accused is not guilty of the alleged offence. The reasonable belief contemplated in the provision requires existence of such facts and circumstances as are sufficient in themselves to justify satisfaction that the accused is not guilty of the alleged offence. A similar view has been taken by the Apex Court in the case of State of Karela Vs. Rajesh reported in (2020) SCC Online SC 81.

26. Being armed with Section 37 of the Act of 1985, the law as laid down by the Apex Court in the case of Ram Samujh (supra) and Durand Didier (supra), what this Court finds is that prior to grant of bail under the Act of 1985 the Court should be satisfied that there are reasonable grounds for believing that the accused is not guilty of such offence and that he is not likely to commit any offence while on bail. As per the discussions made above, it is apparent that only a technical plea has been raised on behalf of the applicant to somehow or the other make the seizure/recovery of drugs and his arrest suspicious but the Court is satisfied that the applicant is guilty of the offence. In this view of the matter also the Court does not deem the instant case as fit for grant of bail.

27. Taking into consideration the aforesaid discussions, the Court is of the view that there has been compliance of the provisions of Section 50 (1) of the Act of 1985, the sample was duly taken, lack of independent witnesses would not vitiate the recovery and arrest of the applicant and merely because the applicant has no criminal history, would not entitle him automatically for grant of bail.

28. Accordingly, the bail application is rejected. However, it is provided that none of the observations made above would be considered by the trial court in its trial against the applicant and the trial would proceed in accordance with law.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Jaspreet Singh, J.)

1. The Court has heard Sri Pranshu Agarwal, learned counsel for the applicant and Shri J.S. Tomar, learned AGA via video conference.

2. On application for Amendment in the memo of Bail Application

3. At the outset, it will be relevant to mention that the learned counsel for the applicants had moved an application for amendment in the bail application and had sought to add two more Sections, in the bail application, with which the applicants have been challaned and remanded.

4. The copy of the amendment application was served on the learned A.G.A. on 30.05.2020 who has reecieved his instructions and all necessary documents in respect of the above bail application.

5. The learned A.G.A. has filed his written instructions, as well as the copyof the case diary, which is taken on record.

6. Considering the amendment application, it is not disputed by the learned A.G.A. that two Sections namely Section 3 (3) of Passports (Entry into India) Act, 1920 and Section 51 of Diasaster Management Act, 2005, which as per the learned counsel for the applicants were inadvertently left out, are also pressed against the applicants, hence the application for amendment shall stands allowed.

7. The bail application shall be considered in respect of the two above mentioned Sections as well which have been inadvertendly left out which will find place in the later part of the order.

8. The learned counsel for the applicants shall carry out the necessary amendments in terms of circular of the High Court dated 14.04.2020.

On merits

9. The applicants before this Court are foreign nationals who are in Jail since 18.04.2020. All the applicants are citizens of Kyrgyzstan and all of them have been accused of offences under Sections 188 I.P.C., Section 3 of Epidemic Disease Act, 1897, Section 12(3) of the Passport Act, 1967 and Sections 3(2) and Section 3 (3) Passports (Entry into India) Act, 1920 and Section 14/14-C of the Foreigners Act, 1946 and Section 51 of the Disaster Management Act, 2005. All the above applicants are accused in Case Crime No. 81 of 2020

10. As per the averments contained in the First Information Report, the Administration on 22.03.2020 had imposed Section 144 C.r.P.C. within the area of Lucknow Commissionarate. It is alleged that the same was widely publicised amongst the public. Information was received that in a Markaz Mosque situated at Dr. B. N. Verma Road within P.S. Kaiserbagh, District Lucknow, 6 foreign nationals who had entered India on a tourist Visa were being given shelter in the said mosque by its Manager namely Ali Hasan. The aforesaid foreign nationals had attended the religious congregation at Nizamuddin in New Delhi and thereafter had come to Lucknow and without getting their medical examination done, they were residing in the Markaz Mosque.

11. It is also alleged that the Manager of the Mosque had given shelter to these foreign nationals for the purposes of propagating and disseminating religious discourse and these persons have violated the norms and were staying at one place. It is also alleged that the local police/Administration were not informed regarding these 6 foreign nationals. The applicants were medically examined and on 31.03.2020 and they were kept at the Lok Bandu Hospital under 14 day's quarantine under medical supervision. It is alleged that the applicants have deliberately violated the Government Orders and have worked against the provisions of law and for the aforesaid they have been accused of having committed offence under the Sections as hereinabove mentioned.

12. Before dealing with the respective submissions of the parties, it would be relevant to notice that Corona Virus (hereinafter referred to as COVID-19) was declared as a pandemic as it affected various countries across the world. Respective countries resorted to stern measures for the containment of the disease and for the benefit of their citizens. The aforesaid disease assumed a gigantic proportion and consequently assessing the sensitivity and severity of COVID-19, the Government of India had announced a nation wide lockdown. The aforesaid lockdown resulted in cessation of all modes of transport, both inter-state and Intra-State, air travel both domestic as well as international was also prohibited and all persons were directed to stay within their homes and only certain sections of the Society who were engaged and dealing with essential services were permitted to work while remaining activities including all other economic activities not precribed as the essential services were brought to a stand still.

13. It is in this backdrop that Sri Agarwal has submitted that the applicants are absolutely innocent and merely by fortuitous circumstances have been implicated without any fault. It has further been submitted that all the applicants are valid passport holders and were granted valid Visa to arrive in the territory of India. The applicants arrived at New Delhi on different dates and thereafter all the applicants reached Lucknow on 13.03.2020. It is the specific case of the applicants that they had provided all the necessary details regarding their travel and stay within the territory of India including at Lucknow with the Foreigner Regional Registration Office, Lucknow (hereinafter referred to as FRRO), Lucknow which is under the Ministry of Home Affairs, Government of India.

14. Sri Agarwal has also submitted that all the applicants had duly filled in Form-C, copies of which relating to each of the applicants has been annexed as Annexure No. 3. It has been submitted that from the perusal of Form-C, it would indicate that the name of the respective applicant, the address, city, mobile numbers, personal details as well as various other details including the passport and Visa including its number, date of issue, its expiry, place of issue and period of its validity have been clearly mentioned. The said Form-C was duly filled in by each of the applicant and was submitted before the appropriate authority. The learned counsel for the applicants has also specifically stated that apart from submitting Form-C with the FRRO Office, the requisite details in respect of the arrival of the applicants in Lucknow and their programme details were also sent to the Officer of Intelligence Bureau posted at the FRRO Office namely Sri Tiwari on his whatsapp mobile number and the screen shot of the said message sent has also been annexed as Annexure No. 4 with the bail application.

15. It is also submitted that the applicants arrived in Lucknow on 13.03.2020 and as per their disclosed programmes, they were to stay in Lucknow for a period of 22 days. It is during this period that on 22.03.2020 initially a Janta Curfew was observed and thereafter the Government of India announced a National Lockdown due to which the movement of the applicants was completely restricted and they were confined to the place of their stay and could not more or travel out of Lucknow or even the Counrty and thus by circumstances the applicants were confined and because of certain perceptions against the members who attended the Markaz congregation at

New Delhi, the applicants have been framed and various Sections have been imposed against the applicants even though they are completely innocent and are facing incarcaration on foreign soil since 18.04.2020.

16. Sri Agarwal has submitted that since the applicants had already submitted their details including the place of residence at Lucknow, accordingly, the Government already had the details and whereabouts of the applicants. It is in view of the aforesaid, that the police visited the Markaz Mosque at Dr. B.N. Road, Lucknow and from there the applicants were taken in custody. It has been stated that they were taken to the Lok Bandu Hospital where they were put in quarantine for 14 days and during this period they were tested thrice and on all the occasions, all the applicants tested negative for COVID-19 and thereafter they have been put in Jail on 18.04.2020 under the sections as mentioned above.

17. Sri Agarwal has vehemently urged that all the aforesaid Sections which have been levied against the applicants are apparently not met out, inasmuch as, it is not a case where the applicants entered within the territory of India either on a false passport or under false details. The applicants have not violated any Government Order and the Sections which have been imposed against the applicants are all bailable entailing a sentence of 6 months to one year and fine or both except Section 14 and 14-C which provides for a sentence which may extended to 5 years and fine. It has been submitted that the Visa of all the applicants in question was valid till their intended period of stay and only on account of lockdown, their movement was prohibited. On account of COVID-19 lockdown in India which commenced from 25th March till 14th April, 2020 and was thereafter extended from 15.04.2020 till 03.06.2020 and again from 04th May till 17th May, 2020 and yet again was extended from 18th May to 31st May, 2020. Therefore, it cannot be said that the applicants have stayed in the territory of India for a period exceeding the period for which the Visa was issued to them or the applicants violated the condition of Visa deliberately. Any violation, if any, though, not admitted, is purely on account of the pandemic and the affected countries have passed orders to deal with such over stay in the country.

18. Sri Agarwal has also submitted that the applicants are innocent persons and there is no chance for the applicants to abscond as their passports have already been impounded by the police and they are ready to comply with any condition as imposed by the Court and neither there is any criminal history against any of the applicants and consequently, they are languishing in jail since 18.04.2020 and are entitled to be enlarged on bail.

19. Sri Tomar while vehemently opposing the bail application has submitted that the applicants came to the Country under a tourist Visa. A person who enters the territory of India under a tourist Visa is not entitled to participate or undertake any religious seminar or involve onself in any religious discourses. It has also been submitted that the applicants while being within the territory of India did not disclose that they attended the Markaz congregation at Nizamuddin in New Delhi and the fact that thereafter since some persons from the Markaz Congregation in New Delhi had tested positive of COVID-19 and various announcements were made on public platforms requiring all persons who had attended such a congregation to voluntarily come forward for testing for COVID-19 to contain the spread of virus but all the applicants did not come forward and they remained a threat to the society at large.

20. Sri Tomar has also submitted that it is only when the police received information regarding the foreign nationals being given shelter in the Markaz Mosque at Lucknow that the applicants were rounded and were medically examined and as per the guidelines issued by the Ministries of Home Affairs and Health Affairs, the applicants were put in quarantine for 14 days. It has been further submitted by Sri Tomar that the applicants who are foreign nationals and having no permanent abode in India, hence, if the applicants are enlarged on bail, it will be difficult to keep a track and chances of them absconding and not being available for trial looms large, thus, under the aforesaid circumstances, it would be appropriate that the applicants are not enlarged on bail, coupled with the fact that the investigation is still underway and the charge sheet has yet not been filed.

21. The Court has given anxious considerations to the rival submissions and also perused the record. The question before the Court for consideration is whether in the facts and circumstances, the applicants are entitled to be granted bail, who are foreign nationals.

22. In order to answer the aforesaid questions, it will be important to note that Article 21 of the Constitution of India uses the word "personal liberty'. The addition of the word "personal' before the word "liberty' as used in Article 21 indicates that it is an anti-thesis of physical restrain or coercion. It is a basic right of an individual to be free from restrictions or encroachment on his person.

23. Article 21 is often termed as the heart and soul of the fundamental rights as enshrined in Part III of the Constitution. Needless to mention that Article 21 guarantees every man whether he be a citizen of the country or a foreigner that he shall not be deprived of his personal life and liberty except in accordance with the procedure established by law.

24. Thus, it would be seen that personal liberty is a very precious fundamental right and it can be curtailed only when it becomes imperative according to the peculiar facts and circumstances of the case and that too only in accordance with the procedure established by the law.

25. Liberty of a person ought not to be lightly dealt with, since deprivation of liberty has immense impact on the mind of a person. Personal liberty in our country has been exalted to a high pedestal and is also important to any civilized society. Our constitution has conferred certain rights on every human being and certain rights on citizens, however, every person is entitled to equality before the law and equal protection of law. So also no person can be deprived of his life or personal liberty except in accordance with the procedure established by law, and in this context, every person would include a foreign national as well.

26. The applicants who have prayed for bail even though are foreign nationals, cannot be deprived of their personal liberty except in procedure established by law and that they are also entitled to equal protection of law and equality before law. Therefore, unless and until extreme circumstances are pointed out, it cannot be considered that the parameters for considering a bail application for a national or a foreigner would be on a different footing before the Court of law.

27. The law does not permit any differentiation between Indian nationals and foreign citizens in the matter relating to grant of bail. What is permissible while considering the facts and circumstances of each case, the Court can impose different conditions which may be necessary to ensure that the accused is made available for facing the trial and an application for bail cannot be rejected solely on the ground the applicants are foreign nationals.

28. It is now fairly well settled and does not require much elaboration that the object of bail is neither punitive nor preventive. Deprivation of liberty is considered a punishment unless it is requires to ensure that an accused person will stand trial when called upon. It would be quite contrary to the concept and idea of personal liberty as enshrined in our Constitution that any person should be punished in respect of any matter upon which he has yet not been convicted or that in any circumstances, he would not be deprived of his liberty only upon the belief that he may tamper with the evidence or a witness if he is granted the liberty, save in extraordinary circumstances. In our criminal jurisprudence, bail is the Rule and committal to the Jail is an exception. Speedy justice is also a fundamental right which has been recognized by the Apex Court flowing from Article 21 of the Constitution of India.

29. Apparently, from the material available on record, the learned A.G.A. could not dispute that all the applicants entered the country with a valid passport and a valid Visa. The record indicates that the applicants arrived in India between the months of December, 2019 and March, 2020. All the applicants arrived in Lucknow on 13.03.2020 and all of them had given prior information regarding their programme of stay at Lucknow for a period of 22 days. The validity of Visa of the applicant no. 1 is till 24.06.2020, while the Visa of the applicant no. 2 was valid till 22.05.2020, the validity of Visa of the applicant no. 3 was till 02.06.2020, validity of the Visa of the applicant no. 4 was till 26.05.2020, the validity of the Visa of the applicant no. 5 is till 20.02.2021 and the Visa of the applicant no. 6 is also valid till 17.02.2021.

30. The record also indicates that the Form-C submitted by the applicants with the FRRO has indicated the address as Dr. B.N. Verma Road, Markaz Wali Maszid, Aminabad Road, Lucknow. In the aforesaid Form-C under the head of other details, it is clearly mentioned regarding their stay at Delhi in Nizamuddin. The learned A.G.A. could not dispute the aforesaid fact nor could give a reply to the clear averments made in the bail application that the aforesaid Form-C was duly submitted before the FRRO as well as sent on the whatsapp mobile of Intelligence Oficer Sri Tiwari, as specifically mentioned in paragraph 6 and 7 of the bail application.

31. It also could not be disputed by the learned A.G.A. that the stay of the applicants in the country was under a valid passport and Visa which is valid up to the months of May, 2020 and June, 2020 in respect of some of the applicants and even up to the year 2021 in case of two applicants but the fact remains that as per the declared itinery of the applicants they were to remain in Lucknow w.e.f. 13.03.2020 a period of 22 days, thus, in any case, their stay in the city of Lucknow was scheduled till 05.05.2020. The Visa of the applicant no. 1 is to expire on 24.06.2020 while that of applicant no. 2 on 22.06.2020, that of the applicant no. 3 on 22.06.2020 that of the applicant no. 4 on 26.05.2020 and that of the applicant nos. 5 and 6 in the month of February, 2021. It is also not disputed that the national lockdown became effective from 25.03.2020 for 21 days till 14.04.2020 and then extended from time to time,in phases, till 31st May, 2020 when lockdown 4.0 came to be an end. Neither any material could be pointed out at this stage by the learned A.G.A. to indicate that the applicants were engaged in activity regarding propogating or disseminating any religious discourse.

32. Also to be noted that the applicants were tested thrice and each time they all tested negative for COVID-19. The efforts of the administration and the police establishment while dealing with containment of COVID-19 pandemic and enforcement of law and order has been praiseworthy, however, that in itself does not give a blanket clearance to all their acts rather each case, as it comes before the Court, has to be seen and judged on its own peculiar facts and circumstances and the material placed before it.

33. In the aforesaid backdrop if the Sections with which the applicants are accused of are noticed, it would indicate that Section 188 I.P.C. entails a maximum sentence of 6 months or fine or both. Section 3 of the Epidemic Act is merely an enabling Section and the punishment is co-related to Section 188 I.P.C. Section under the Passport (Entry into India), 1920 entails a sentence for a term which may up to 5 years or penalty or with both. While the offence under Section 12 (3) of the Passport Act entails a sentence of 3 months or fine or both, while under Section 51 of the Disaster Management Act, 2005, the punishment as prescribed is upto 1 year or fine or both.

34. The parameters for grant of bail has been the subject matter of various decisions of the Apex Court and it is now fairly well settled that various factors which are kept in mind while considering the application for grant of bail includes the nature of seriousness of the offence, the stage of the investigation, severity of punishment, a reasonable possibility of the presence of the accused being secured at the trial, reasonable apprehension of the evidence being tampered or circumstances regarding chance of the witness being influenced.

35. The Court gainfully relies upon the decision of the Apex Court in the case of Anil Kumar Yadav Vs. State (NCT of Delhi) and another reported in 2018 (12) SCC Pg. 129 wherein the Apex Court relying upon earlier decision has held as under :-

17. While granting bail, the relevant considerations are: (i) nature of seriousness of the offence; (ii) character of the evidence and circumstances which are peculiar to the accused; and (iii) likelihood of the accused fleeing from justice; (iv) the impact that his release may make on the prosecution witnesses, its impact on the society; and (v) likelihood of his tampering. No doubt, this list is not exhaustive. There are no hard-and-fast rules regarding grant or refusal of bail, each case has to be considered on its own merits. The matter always calls for judicious exercise of discretion by the Court.

18. While considering the basic requirements for grant of bail, in State of U.P. v. Amarmani Tripathi [State of U.P. v. Amarmani Tripathi, (2005) 8 SCC 21 : 2005 SCC (Cri) 1960 (2)] , this Court has held as under: (SCC p. 31, para 18)

"18. It is well settled that the matters to be considered in an application for bail are (i) whether there is any prima facie or reasonable ground to believe that the accused had committed the offence; (ii) nature and gravity of the charge; (iii) severity of the punishment in the event of conviction; (iv) danger of the accused absconding or fleeing, if released on bail; (v) character, behaviour, means, position and standing of the accused; (vi) likelihood of the offence being repeated; (vii) reasonable apprehension of the witnesses being tampered with; and (viii) danger, of course, of justice being thwarted by grant of bail [see Prahlad Singh Bhati v. State (NCT of Delhi) [Prahlad Singh Bhati v. State (NCT of Delhi), (2001) 4 SCC 280 : 2001 SCC (Cri) 674] and Gurcharan Singh v. State (NCT of Delhi) [Gurcharan Singh v. State (NCT of Delhi), (1978) 1 SCC 118 : 1978 SCC (Cri) 41]]. While a vague allegation that the accused may tamper with the evidence or witnesses may not be a ground to refuse bail, if the accused is of such character that his mere presence at large would intimidate the witnesses or if there is material to show that he will use his liberty to subvert justice or tamper with the evidence, then bail will be refused. We may also refer to the following principles relating to grant or refusal of bail stated in Kalyan Chandra Sarkar v. Rajesh Ranjan [Kalyan Chandra Sarkar v. Rajesh Ranjan, (2004) 7 SCC 528 : 2004 SCC (Cri) 1977] : (SCC pp. 535-36, para 11)

"11. The law in regard to grant or refusal of bail is very well settled. The court granting bail should exercise its discretion in a judicious manner and not as a matter of course. Though at the stage of granting bail a detailed examination of evidence and elaborate documentation of the merit of the case need not be undertaken, there is a need to indicate in such orders reasons for prima facie concluding why bail was being granted particularly where the accused is charged of having committed a serious offence. Any order devoid of such reasons would suffer from non-application of mind. It is also necessary for the court granting bail to consider among other circumstances, the following factors also before granting bail; they are:

(a) The nature of accusation and the severity of punishment in case of conviction and the nature of supporting evidence.

(b) Reasonable apprehension of tampering with the witness or apprehension of threat to the complainant.

(c) Prima facie satisfaction of the court in support of the charge. (See Ram Govind Upadhyay v. Sudarshan Singh [Ram Govind Upadhyay v.

Sudarshan Singh, (2002) 3 SCC 598 : 2002 SCC (Cri) 688] and Puran v. Rambilas [Puran v. Rambilas, (2001) 6 SCC 338 : 2001 SCC (Cri) 1124] .)'" (emphasis in original

19. The test to be applied for grant of bail was also considered in Jayendra Saraswathi Swamigal v. State of T.N. [Jayendra Saraswathi Swamigal v. State of T.N., (2005) 2 SCC 13 : 2005 SCC (Cri) 481] , wherein it was held as under: (SCC pp. 21-22, para 16)

"16. ... The considerations which normally weigh with the court in granting bail in non-bailable offences have been explained by this Court in State v. Jagjit Singh [State v. Jagjit Singh, (1962) 3 SCR 622 : AIR 1962 SC 253 : (1962) 1 Cri LJ 215] and Gurcharan Singh v. State (NCT of Delhi) [Gurcharan Singh v. State (NCT of Delhi), (1978) 1 SCC 118 : 1978 SCC (Cri) 41] and basically they are -- the nature and seriousness of the offence; the character of the evidence; circumstances which are peculiar to the accused; a reasonable possibility of the presence of the accused not being secured at the trial; reasonable apprehension of witnesses being tampered with; the larger interest of the public or the State and other similar factors which may be relevant in the facts and circumstances of the case."

36. Considering the rival submissions, material available on record as well as balancing the apprehensions of both sides, the nature of accusations against the applicants, severity of punishment if the applicants are convicted and also to ensure their presence at trial, hence, this Court at this stage, without expressing any opinion on merits, is of the considered view that the applicants are entitled to be enlarged on bail.

37. Any observations made by this Court in the order shall not be taken as an expression on the merits of the case and the material considered by this Court is only for the purposes of adjudication of the bail application and shall not affect the trial.

38. The registry of this Court has pointed out certain defects. Learned counsel for the applicants has given undertaking to cure the same soon after the COVID-19 lockdown ends. In this regard. the High Court has issued certain guidelines in terms of Circular dated 14.04.2020. The relevant portion thereof reads as under:-

(iii) Each applicant shall file an undertaking to the effect that he shall not seek any adjournment on the dates fixed for evidence when the witnesses are present in court. Order on Criminal Misc. Correction Application No. 02 of 2020

1. The notice of the above noted anticipatory bail application was served online on the Government Advocate on 09.05.2020. By the order dated 20.05.2020 the above noted application was decided by this court since despite grant of time to learned Government Advocate no objection was received and the applicant was granted anticipatory bail till the submission of police report under Section 173 (2) Cr.P.C.

2. Correction application has been filed on behalf of applicant on the ground that in the present case chargesheet has been filed by the Investigating Officer therefore the grant of limited anticipatory bail till the submission of report under Section 173(2) is not justified, in view of the recent Apex Court's judgment in the case of Sushila Aggarwal vs. State (NCT of Delhi) -2020 SCC online SC 98. It has further been stated that this court in the case of Siddharth Varadarajan vs. State of U.P and another passed in Bail No. 2778 of 2020 (anticipatory bail) on 13.05.2020 has granted bail to the applicant without any limitation.

3. The facts of the case as pleaded in the affidavit in support of anticipatory bail application are that the prosecutrix lodged the First Information Report dated 29.08.2018 against co-accused, Jai Shankar Upadhyay and two unknown persons under Sections 376-D, 376(2)(n) 420, 506 of I.P.C alleging therein that she works in Delhi and when she was coming to her hometown, she met one Jai Shankar Upadhyay who claimed himself to be Lekhapal, Tehsil Bansi, District-Siddharth Nagar. He promised her to provide job and demanded certain amount for payment to higher officers. Prosecutrix gave him the demanded amount but the said Jai Shankar Prasad did not provided her job and raped her continuously for three years by taking advantage of his position and her helplessness. It was further alleged that he also made her obscene video and when she opposed it, co-accused, Jai Shankar Upadhyay, started hatching conspiracy of her murder with his friends. Jai Shankar Upadhyay is threatening her that he will make the video viral on account of which she had to made complaints to his higher officers. Applicant is not named in the First Information report. He is neither driver nor friend of co-accused, Jai Shankar Upadhyay.

4. During the investigation, the investigating officer recorded the statement of prosecutrix under Section 161 Cr.P.C on 30.08.2018. In her statement she narrated the same story as mentioned in the First Information Report. The statement of the prosecutrix was recorded under section 164 of Cr.P.C. before learned Magistrate on 01.09.2018. In her statement, she reiterated the allegations against Jai Shankar Upadhyay regarding commission of rape and video recording. She very specifically stated that it is Jai Shankar who made the video of rape. She further alleged that she gave about Rs. 4.5 Lacs between 2015 to 2017 to co-accused, Jai Shankar Upadhyay, Lekhpal, by borrowing money from the applicant, Parvez and one Krishna.

5. It is clear from the perusal of the statement of the prosecutrix, that the applicant is well known to her and she borrowed money from him. There is not a single allegation against the applicant in the statement of prosecutrix recorded under section 164 Cr.P.C. before Magistrate.

6. Co-accused, Jai Shankar Upadhyay, Lekhpal is very influential person. The investigating officer, Mahendra Kumar Chaturvedi colluded with him. First, he threatened the prosecutrix to change her statement and withdraw case against Jai Shankar Upadhyay. When she did not relent, she was mercilessly beaten by the police including the investigating officer. In the said circumstances, the prosecutrix filed a Criminal Misc. Writ Petition No. 27214 of 2018 before this court with the prayer to change of investigating officer and to set an inquiry conducted as to why she was beaten by police. This Court vide order dated 28.09.2018 disposed of the said petition directing the S.P., Basti to inquire into the matter and further directed to ensure the investigation of the case be conducted by competent Investigating Officer in a fair manner, but in vain.

7. Co-accused, Jai Shankar Upadhyay, succeeded in his design and got the applicant falsely implicated along with one Krishna in the case with the help of the Investigating officer. The Investigating officer made entry of false and fabricated statement dated 19.09.2018 of Prosecutrix in the case diary. In the said statement, it has been alleged that the applicant, Parvez and co-accused, Krishna, recorded the video when Jai Shankar was committing rape on the prosecutrix. Thus, on the basis of the said statement, the investigating officer made the applicant and Krishna accused in the case under Section 120-B for offence conspiracy of rape.

8. Prosecutrix moved several applications for the compliance of the order dated 29.09.2018 passed by this this Court in writ petition before S.P., Basti but S.P., Basti neither passed any order on the applications submitted by the prosecutrix nor changed the Investigating officer. She again moved an application/ reminder dated 6.01.2019 before S.P., Basti and prayed for compliance of the order dated 29.09.2018 passed by this Court in Criminal Writ No. 27214 of 2018. In her application she very specifically stated that she has no grievance with the applicant Parvez and the Investigating Officer, Mahendra Kumar Chaturvedi, is falsely implicating him on personal grudge. But the S.P., Basti remained silent and did not take any action on the said application.

9. Despite the repeated requests and order of this Court, the investigating officer was not changed and ultimately a charge-sheet dated 09.03.2019 was submitted against Jai Shankar Upadhyay, Krishna and the applicant under section 376- D, 420, 506, and 120B I.P.C. by the same investigating officer i.e., Mahendra Pratap Chaturvedi.

10. As soon as, prosecutrix came to know about the false implication of the applicant she moved an application before the Circle Officer, Kotwali, District Basti along with Affidavit to the effect that applicant Parvez is not involved in the case and he has been falsely implicated by the police and she further requested that Investigating Officer be directed to not to proceed against the applicant.

11. The Circle Officer did not take any action on the application of the Prosecutrix and forwarded the charge-sheet before the concerned Court. The learned Court below, took cognizance of offences on the charge sheet vide order dated 05.07.2019 and summoned the accused persons.

12. Applicant filed a Criminal Misc. Application (U/S 482 of Cr.P.C.) No. 30523 of 2019 before this Court against the charge-sheet dated 09.03.2019 and cognizance order dated 05.07.2019. The said application is still pending before this Court.

13. Co-accused, Krishna ,who has been assigned similar role has already been released on bail by this Court vide order dated 04.01.2019. Main accused of this case, namely, Jai Shankar Upadhyay, has also been granted bail in the aforesaid case by this Court vide order dated 4.01.2019 passed in Criminal Misc. Bail Application No. 45975 of 2019.

14. The sole allegation against the applicant is that he along with co-accused, Krishna, recorded the video when the co-accused, Jai Shankar Upadhyay, was committing rape. However, the said version is not supported by the prosecutrix either in her statement under section 161 Cr.P.C. or 164 Cr.P.C.

15. The police is regularly visiting the house of the applicant. It is taking coercive action against the applicant despite the fact that Criminal Misc. Application (under Section 482 Cr.P.C) challenging the charge sheet and impugned cognizance order of the court below is still pending before this Court. Applicant is not having any other criminal case registered against him and he is not a previous convict.

16. Before proceeding with this case further the concept of anticipatory bail and its application to the state of Uttar Pradesh is required to be considered.

17. The word 'anticipatory bail' has not been defined anywhere in the Cr.P.C. Under Section 438 Cr.P.C there is no use of term 'anticipatory bail' anywhere. It only provides that where any person has reason to believe that he may be arrested on accusation of having committed a non-bailable offence he may apply to the High Court or the Court of Session under this Section that in the event of such arrest he shall be released on bail. Therefore it is clear that anticipatory bail is granted before the arrest of the accused takes place. It is pre-arrest bail as distinguished from post arrest bail granted by the High Court or the Court of Session under Section 439 Cr.P.C. Under Section 439 Cr.P.C the High Court or the Court of Session have been vested with power to grant bail to any person accused of an offence and in custody. Therefore it is clear that bail under Section 439 Cr.P.C can only be granted to an accused person when he has been arrested or has surrendered to the custody of the court. In the case of anticipatory bail the custody of accused person is not with the court or the police at the time of grant of bail. The custody of accused person only comes to the court when he is arrested and subsequently released on anticipatory bail on furnishing personal bond and sureties to the satisfaction of the court or the police officer concerned.

18. In the state of Uttar Pradesh the concept of anticipatory bail was introduced in Cr.P.C. by 1973 amendment but vide U.P. Act No. 16 of 1976 (w.e.f., 28.11.1975) it was omitted during emergency. After about 43 years the anticipatory bail has been restored in Uttar Pradesh vide U.P. Amendment to Section 438 Cr.P.C. The amendment bill received the approval of the President on 01.06.2019 and has been brought into force w.e.f., 06.06.2019. The said provision can be invoked by a person who has a "reasonable apprehension" that he may be arrested for committing a non-bailable offence. The main purpose for incorporating Section 438 in Cr.P.C. was that the liberty of an individual should not be unnecessarily jeopardised. Right to life and personal liberty are the important fundamental rights guaranteed by the constitution and therefore, no person should be confined or detained in any manner unless he has been held guilty. The provision of 438 Cr.P.C., (U.P. Amendment) is reproduced hereinbelow:-

"438. (1) Where any person has reason to believe that he may be arrested on accusation of having committed a non-bailable offence, he may apply to the High Court or the Court of Session for a direction under this section that in the event of such arrest he shall be released on bail; and that Court may, after taking into consideration, inter alia, the following factors, namely:-

i. the nature and gravity of the accusation;

ii. the antecedents of the applicant including the fact as to whether he has previously undergone imprisonment on conviction by a Court in respect of any cognizable offence;

iii. the possibility of the applicant to flee from justice; and

iv. where the accusation has been made with the object of injuring or humiliating the applicant by having him so arrested; either reject the application forthwith or issue an interim order for the grant of anticipatory bail:

Provided that where the High Court or, as the case may be, the Court of Session, has not passed any interim order under this sub-section or has rejected the application for grant of anticipatory bail, it shall be open to an officer in-charge of a police station to arrest, without warrant, the applicant on the basis of the accusation apprehended in such application.

(2) Where the High Court or, as the case may be, the Court of Session, consider it expedient to issue an interim order to grant anticipatory bail under sub section (1), the Court shall indicate therein the date, on which the application for grant of anticipatory bail shall be finally heard for passing an order thereon, as the Court may deem fit, and if the Court passes any order granting anticipatory bail, such order shall include inter alia the following conditions, namely:-

(i) that the applicant shall make himself available for interrogation by a police officer as and when required;

(ii) that the applicant shall not, directly or indirectly, make any inducement, threat or promise to any person acquainted with the facts of the case so as to dissuade him from disclosing such facts to the Court or to any police officer;

(iii) that the applicant shall not leave India without the previous permission of the Court; and

(iv) such other conditions as may be imposed under sub-section (3) of section 437, as if the bail were granted under that section.

Explanation:- The final order made on an application for direction under sub-section (1); shall not be construed as an interlocutory order for the purpose of this Code

(3) Where the Court grants an interim order under sub-section (1), it shall forthwith cause a notice being not less than seven days notice, together with a copy of such order to be served on the Public Prosecutor and the Superintendent of Police, with a view to give the Public Prosecutor a reasonable opportunity of being heard when the application shall be finally heard by the Court

(4) On the date indicated in the interim order under sub-section (2), the Court shall hear the Public Prosecutor and the applicant and after due consideration of their contentions, it may either confirm, modify or cancel the interim order.

(5) The High Court or the Court of Session, as the case may be, shall finally dispose of an application for grant of anticipatory bail under sub-section (1), within thirty days of the date of such application.

(6) Provisions of this section shall not be applicable -

(a) to the offences arising out of -

(i) the Unlawful Activities (Prevention) Act, 1967;

(ii) the Narcotic Drugs and Psychotropic Substances Act, 1985;

(iii) the Official Secret Act, 1923;

(iv) the Uttar Pradesh Gangsters and Anti-Social Activities (Prevention) Act, 1986.

(b) in the offences, in which death sentence can be awarded.

(7) If an application under this section has been made by any person to the High Court, no application by the same person shall be entertained by the Court of Session."

19. On account of omission of the provision of anticipatory bail from Cr.P.C regarding the State of Uttar Pradesh for long time there is considerable uncertainty regarding the scope of anticipatory bail in the State of Uttar Pradesh. The air of uncertainty has been cleared by the Apex Court by its Constitution Bench judgment Sushila Aggarwal vs. State (NCT of Delhi)- 2020 SCC Online SC 98.

20. The Apex Court in the case of Sushila Aggarwal vs. State (NCT of Delhi)- 2020 SCC Online SC 98. has resolved the conflicting views of different Benches of the Apex Court. Constitution Bench had considered the Constitution Bench judgment in the case of Gurbaksh Singh Sibbiya and others vs. State of Punjab (1980) 2 SCC 565; Siddharam Satlingappa Mhetri vs. State of Maharashtra, (2011) 1 SCC 694; Bhadresh Bipinbhai Sheth vs. State of Gujarat, (2016) 1 SCC 152 on one side which provide that there is no limit to the currency of an order of anticipatory bail and on the other side the judgment of Salauddin Abdulsamad Shaikh vs. State of Maharashtra, (1996) 1 SCC 667 followed in the cases of K.L. Verma vs. State and another (1998) 9 SCC 348; Sunita Devi vs. State of Bihar (2005) 1 SCC 6087; Nirmal Jeet Kaur vs. State of M.P., 7 SCC 558; HDFC Bank Limited vs. J.J. Mannan, (2010) 1 SCC 679 and Satpal Singh vs. State of Punjab, (2018) 4 SCC 303 which laid down restrictive conditions or terms limiting the grant of anticipatory bail to a definite period.

21. The Apex Court in the Constitution Bench judgment framed two questions for consideration:-

"1. Whether the protection granted to a person under Section 438 Cr.P.C should be limited to a fixed period so as to enable the person to surrender before the Trial Court and seek regular bail.

2. Whether the life of an anticipatory bail should end at the time and stage when the accused is summoned by the court."

22. The Apex Court has in an elaborate judgment after considering both the sets of judgments mentioned above has answered the above questions as follows:-

(1) Regarding Question No. 1, this court holds that the protection granted to a person under Section 438 Cr. PC should not invariably be limited to a fixed period; it should inure in favour of the accused without any restriction on time. Normal conditions under Section 437 (3) read with Section 438 (2) should be imposed; if there are specific facts or features in regard to any offence, it is open for the court to impose any appropriate condition (including fixed nature of relief, or its being tied to an event) etc. (2) As regards the second question referred to this court, it is held that the life or duration of an anticipatory bail order does not end normally at the time and stage when the accused is summoned by the court, or when charges are framed, but can continue till the end of the trial. Again, if there are any special or peculiar features necessitating the court to limit the tenure of anticipatory bail, it is open for it to do so.

1. This court, in the light of the above discussion in the two judgments, and in the light of the answers to the reference, hereby clarifies that the following need to be kept in mind by courts, dealing with applications under Section 438, Cr. PC:

(1) Consistent with the judgment in Shri Gurbaksh Singh Sibbia and others v. State of Punjab, when a person complains of apprehension of arrest and approaches for order, the application should be based on concrete facts (and not vague or general allegations) relatable to one or other specific offence. The application seeking anticipatory bail should contain bare essential facts relating to the offence, and why the applicant reasonably apprehends arrest, as well as his 1980 (2) SCC 565 side of the story. These are essential for the court which should consider his application, to evaluate the threat or apprehension, its gravity or seriousness and the appropriateness of any condition that may have to be imposed. It is not essential that an application should be moved only after an FIR is filed; it can be moved earlier, so long as the facts are clear and there is reasonable basis for apprehending arrest.

(2) It may be advisable for the court, which is approached with an application under Section 438, depending on the seriousness of the threat (of arrest) to issue notice to the public prosecutor and obtain facts, even while granting limited interim anticipatory bail.

(3) Nothing in Section 438 Cr. PC, compels or obliges courts to impose conditions limiting relief in terms of time, or upon filing of FIR, or recording of statement of any witness, by the police, during investigation or inquiry, etc. While considering an application (for grant of anticipatory bail) the court has to consider the nature of the offence, the role of the person, the likelihood of his influencing the course of investigation, or tampering with evidence (including intimidating witnesses), likelihood of fleeing justice (such as leaving the country), etc. The courts would be justified ? and ought to impose conditions spelt out in Section 437 (3), Cr. PC [by virtue of Section 438 (2)]. The need to impose other restrictive conditions, would have to be judged on a case by case basis, and depending upon the materials produced by the state or the investigating agency. Such special or other restrictive conditions may be imposed if the case or cases warrant, but should not be imposed in a routine manner, in all cases.

Likewise, conditions which limit the grant of anticipatory bail may be granted, if they are required in the facts of any case or cases; however, such limiting conditions may not be invariably imposed.

(4) Courts ought to be generally guided by considerations such as the nature and gravity of the offences, the role attributed to the applicant, and the facts of the case, while considering whether to grant anticipatory bail, or refuse it. Whether to grant or not is a matter of discretion; equally whether and if so, what kind of special conditions are to be imposed (or not imposed) are dependent on facts of the case, and subject to the discretion of the court.

(5) Anticipatory bail granted can, depending on the conduct and behavior of the accused, continue after filing of the charge sheet till end of trial.

(6) An order of anticipatory bail should not be "blanket" in the sense that it should not enable the accused to commit further offences and claim relief of indefinite protection from arrest. It should be confined to the offence or incident, for which apprehension of arrest is sought, in relation to a specific incident. It cannot operate in respect of a future incident that involves commission of an offence.

(7) An order of anticipatory bail does not in any manner limit or restrict the rights or duties of the police or investigating agency, to investigate into the charges against the person who seeks and is granted pre-arrest bail.

(8) The observations in Sibbia regarding "limited custody" or "deemed custody" to facilitate the requirements of the investigative authority, would be sufficient for the purpose of fulfilling the provisions of Section 27, in the event of recovery of an article, or discovery of a fact, which is relatable to a statement made during such event (i.e deemed custody). In such event, there is no question (or necessity) of asking the accused to separately surrender and seek regular bail. Sibbia (supra) had observed that "if and when the occasion arises, it may be possible for the prosecution to claim the benefit ofSection 27 of the Evidence Act in regard to a discovery of facts made in pursuance of information supplied by a person released on bail by invoking the principle stated by this Court in State of U.P. v Deoman Upadhyaya." (9) It is open to the police or the investigating agency to move the court concerned, which grants anticipatory bail, for a direction under Section 439 (2) to arrest the accused, in the event of violation of any term, such as absconding, non-cooperating during investigation, evasion, intimidation or inducement to witnesses with a view to influence outcome of the investigation or trial, etc. (10) The court referred to in para (9) above is the court which grants anticipatory bail, in the first instance, according to prevailing authorities.

(11) The correctness of an order granting bail, can be considered by the appellate or superior court at the behest of the state or investigating agency, and set aside on the ground that the court granting it did not consider material facts or crucial circumstances. (See Prakash Kadam & Etc. Etc vs Ramprasad Vishwanath Gupta & Anr; Jai Prakash Singh (supra) State through C.B.I. vs. Amarmani Tripathi). This does not amount to "cancellation" in terms of Section 439 (2), Cr. PC.

(12) The observations in Siddharam Satlingappa Mhetre v. State of Maharashtra & Ors (and other similar judgments) that no restrictive conditions at all can be imposed, while granting anticipatory bail are hereby overruled. Likewise, the decision in Salauddin Abdulsamad Shaikh v. State of Maharashtra and subsequent decisions (including K.L. Verma v. State & Anr; Sunita Devi v. State of Bihar & Anr ; Adri Dharan Das v.

State of West Bengal; Nirmal Jeet Kaur v. State of M.P. & Anr62; HDFC Bank Limited v. J.J. Mannan 63; Satpal Singh v.

(2011) 6 SCC 189 (2005) 8 SCC 21 2011 (1) SCC 694 (1996 (1) SCC 667) 1998 (9) SCC 348 2005 (1) SCC 608 2005 (4) SCC 303 2004 (7) SCC 558 2010 (1) SCC 679 the State of Punjab and Naresh Kumar Yadav v Ravindra Kumar) which lay down such restrictive conditions, or terms limiting the grant of anticipatory bail, to a period of time are hereby overruled.

2. The reference is hereby answered in the above terms."

23. Now considering the present case in the light of the above consideration of the Apex Court's Judgment this court finds that from the allegation on record it is clear that the prosecutrix is not implicating the applicant for any offence. Her stand is that the applicant was infact helping her. No allegation of gang rape has been alleged against the applicant. The only allegation against the applicant is that he was doing videography when the prosecutrix was subjected to rape by the main accused, Jai Shankar Upadhyay. This allegation has also not been accepted by the prosecutrix and she had approached this court by way of Criminal Misc. Writ Petition No. 27214 of 2018 praying that fair investigation may be conducted. She prayed before this court that the Investigating Officer had beaten her and is harassing her for changing her statement against the main accused. This court directed the Superintendent of Police, Basti to entrust the investigation to a competent Investigating Officer to conduct fair investigation by the order dated 28.09.2018. On 11.03.2019 the prosecutrix herself give application to his Circle Officer, Police Station- Kotwali, District- Basti duly supported by affidavit that the applicant had no role in the incident and he has been falsely implicated but nothing was done. The co-accused, Krishna Gopal Yadav @ Krishna Yadav, has already been granted regular bail by this court vide Criminal

Misc. Bail Application No. 43622 of 2018. The main accused, Jai Shankar Upadhyay, has already been granted bail vide Criminal Misc. Bail Application No. 45759 of 2018 on 04.01.2019. There is specific averment in paragraph 24 of the affidavit in support of the bail application that the police is regularly approaching the house of the applicant and is trying to arrest him. In view of the fact that the two co-accused persons were arrested and then enlarged on bail there appears to be definite apprehension of arrest against the applicant. Hence the applicant is directed to be enlarged on anticipatory bail as per the Constitution Bench judgment of the Apex Court in the case of Sushila Aggarwal vs. State (NCT of Delhi)- 2020 SCC Online SC 98. The future contingencies regarding anticipatory bail being granted to applicant shall also be taken care of as per the aforesaid judgment of the Apex Court.

24. Without expressing any opinion on the merits of the case and considering the nature of accusations and his antecedents, the applicant is entitled to be released on anticipatory bail in this case.

25. In the event of arrest of the applicant- Parvez Ahmad, involved in Case Crime No. 585 of 2018, under Sections- 376D, 420, 506, 120-B IPC, Police Station- Kotwali, District- Basti, he shall be released on anticipatory bail on furnishing a personal bond of Rs. 25,000/- with two sureties each in the like amount to the satisfaction of the trial court concerned with the following conditions:-

1. The applicant shall not leave India during the currency of trial without prior permission from the concerned trial Court.

2. The applicant shall surrender his passport, if any, to the concerned trial Court forthwith. His passport will remain in custody of the concerned trial Court.

3. That the applicant shall not, directly or indirectly, make any inducement, threat or promise to any person acquainted with the facts of the case so as to dissuade him from disclosing such facts to the Court or to any police officer;

4. The applicant shall file an undertaking to the effect that he shall not seek any adjournment on the dates fixed for evidence and the witnesses are present in court. In case of default of this condition, it shall be open for the trial court to treat it as abuse of liberty of bail and pass orders in accordance with law to ensure presence of the applicant.

5. In case, the applicant misuses the liberty of bail, the trial Court concerned may take appropriate action in accordance with law and judgment of Apex Court in the case of Sushila Aggarwal vs. State (NCT of Delhi)- 2020 SCC Online SC 98.

6. The applicant shall remain present, in person, before the trial court on the dates fixed for (i) opening of the case, (ii) framing of charge and (iii) recording of statement under Section 313 Cr.P.C. If in the opinion of the trial court default of this condition is deliberate or without sufficient cause, then it shall be open for the trial court to treat such default as abuse of liberty of his bail and proceed against him in accordance with law.

7. The party shall file computer generated copy of such order downloaded from the official website of High Court Allahabad.

8. The concerned Court/Authority/Official shall verify the authenticity of such computerized copy of the order from the official website of High Court Allahabad and shall make a declaration of such verification in writing.

26. The order dated 20.05.2020 passed by this court stands corrected and replaced by the present order.

27. The correction application is allowed.

(A) Criminal law - Bail cancellation - Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 - Section 439 - Special powers of high court or court of session regarding bail - Indian Penal Code, 1860 - Sections 147, 302, 307, 504, 506, 120-B - Rejection of bail stands on one footing but cancellation of bail is a harsh order since it interferes with liberty of individual and must not be lightly resorted to - While considering degree of burden of prove lie upon prosecution or complainant/Informant, when an application for cancellation of bail moved, is not to the extent of proving by a mathematical certainty or beyond reasonable doubt but it must establish its case by showing on a preponderance of probabilities that accused has attempted or may attempt to or tamper or has tampered with witnesses - It may also be proved by test of balance of probabilities that accused has abused his liberty or it may show that there is reasonable apprehension that he will interfere with course of justice. Para-14,16

HELD:- Accused/opposite party 2 is not only contacting witnesses but also involving Police officials to influence witnesses and this is a serious aspect. Such a person if continue to remain on bail, there is every likelihood of trial being influenced and may not proceed fairly and objectively. I refrain myself in making further observations as it may prejudice trial but have no hesitation in holding that it is a fit case where bail granted to accused opposite party 2 cannot be held to be a valid exercise of discretion and bail deserves to be cancelled. As such the informant lodged an NCR against the respondent no.2 on 17.12.2017 U/s 506 IPC with respect to the incident occurred on 15.12.2017 at 17.:15 hours. In the said NCR the respondent no.2 inflicted threat against the informant because the informant consistently pursuing her sister's murder case against the respondent no.2 P.C. Sharma. 19. That the third condition imposed by this Hon'ble Court against the respondent no.2 to appear on the date fixed by the Trial Court. Now the respondent no.2 consistently seeks adjournment before the trial court in S.T. No. 566/2016 (State vs. P.C.Sharma & Ors.) U/s 307, 302 IPC registered at P.S. Ujhani, District Budaun. The respondent through his counsel to mislead the court, endorsed section 304-B IPC in place of section 307 and 302 IPC, so that his applications seeking adjournments may not be used for cancellation of his bail application before this Hon'ble Court. Ultimately on 26.08.2017 the resondent no.2 corrected the said offence alleged against him and transcribed the correct section U/s 302, 120-B IPC and seeks adjournment for his non appearance. The Sharma as a absconder of Rs.5000/-. It is further pointed out that the respondent-accused deliberately absent from the court proceeding to avoid the court proceeding and seeks regular adjournment by filing adjournment application. Accordingly the informant prayed that the Trial Court may pleased to direct the accused-respondent no.2 to appear before the court on the next date fixed, otherwise the trial court may forfeit his personal bail bond and sureties. Upon the said application the Trial Court is directed to place on record and be listed on the next date i.e. 12.09.2017 along with the Court's order sheet. The copy of application dated 08.09.2017 is being filed here with and marked as Annexure No.9 to this affidavit.

21. That on 12.09.2017 the Trial Court issued N.B.W. against P.C.Sharma because the court is of the view that the no counsel appearing on behalf of accused P.C. Sharma. The said finding of fact is against the record because the adjournment application filed on behalf of P.c. Sharma is being preferred by one Vivek Sharma counsel, represented before the court on 24.07.2017, 02.08.2017 and filed his vakalatnama on 08.08.2017. Thereafter again adjournment application was filed on behalf of P.C. Sharma by Rohtash Saxena Advocate on 26.08.2017 and 08.09.2017. As such the Trial Court without perusal of an application passed an order on 12.09.2017 and recorded perverse finding which is against material available on record.

22. That in application dated 26.09.2017 the informant pointed out before the Trial Court that the accused-respondent no.2 consistently absconding in the court proceeding related to case crime no.268/2017 U/s 2/3 Gangster Act and avoid the court process issued by the Gangster Court. Accordingly upon the prayer of informant, the Trial Court pleased to issue the N.B.W. Against the accused-respondent no.2 on 12.09.2017 and next date fixed on 26.09.2017 for appearance but the accused-respondent no.2 not appear on 26.09.2017 is being filed here with and marked as Annexure No.10 to this affidavit.

23. That in reply to the said application and order dated 12.09.2017 passed by the Trial Court against P.C. Sharma, the respondent-accused admitted in his application dated 05.10.2017 that he has pursuing his case before the High Court and suffering illness due to which against whom the N.B.W. Was issued by the court. It is further urged that the said error was not occurred deliberately, as such the trial court may pleased to recall the NBW issued against him. The said application was allowed by the Trial Court without keeping in mind of earlier application filed by his counsel namely Vivek Sharma and Rohtas Saxena and accepted his explanation which is absolutely false and frivolous and cannot be accepted by any common prudent man. The copy of application dated 05.10.2017 is being filed here with and marked as Annexure No.11 to this affidavit.

24. That the informant consistently prayed before this Hon'ble Court that the respondent-accused being designer of the crime hatched conspiracy for murder of existing D.G.C. Criminal Sadhana Sharma to grab her property and eliminate her. The respondent-accused after release on bail by this Hon'ble Court consistently violated the term and condition of the bail bond and sureties and the direction issued by this Hon'ble Court. The said application was preferred before the C.J.M. Budaun on 13.08.2019. In the said application P.C.Sharma appended the conversation of call recording of taken place between Gopichand Yadav (I.O.), Munendra Gangwar (witness), Surendra Satoriya (witness), Inspector Naresh Pal Yadav, S.I. A.K.Singh and verified their call recording by sending pen drive before truth forensic lab services mark as item no.1 and after analysis the lab found that the pen drive mark item no.1 did not contained any sign of physical damage like cracks scratch marks and it was in working condition at the time of examination. However it is admitted case of the respondent no.2 in his application u/s 156(3) Cr.P.C. that he regularly negotiated with the witnesses and the Investigating Officers with a view to influence the investigation, threatened the witnesses and destroy the evidence for that purposes he has regularly recorded the conversation taken place between them. As such on the face of record the respondent no.2 admitted in h is application U/s 156(3) Cr.P.C. that he is regularly trying to threatened and influence the witnesses in any manner even against whom an application U/s 156(3) Cr.P.C. was filed to achieve their goal so that they may not be deposed their testimony because of his fear that respondent no. 2 may involved them in anywhere in false cases. However, the accused-respondent no.2 who filed the application u/s 156(3) Cr.P.C. before C.J.M. Budaun is unable to get any benefit of the fats given by him in his application under section 156(3) Cr.P.C., but the ordinary people fears and trembled by any court cases falsely imposed upon him. Copy of application U/s 156(3) Cr.P.C. dated 13.08.2019 along with its annexure and call recording are being filed here with and marked as Anneuxre No.12 to this affidavit.

26. That under the aforesaid facts and circumstances it is evident that the respondent no.2 regularly violated the terms and conditions imposed by this Hon'ble Court and trying to destroy the evidence by making pressure upon the witnesses. It is further relevant to point out here that the respondent no.2 is regularly influence the witnesses so that they may not be permitted to deposed their testimony before the court against him. As such the free and fair trial and investigation cannot be conducted in the said circumstances because the respondent no.2 has regularly inflicted threat and making pressure upon the witnesses including the S.H.O. Ujhani namely Vinod Kumar who has accepted the bail bond of his wife under the pressure of P.C.Sharma."

8. During course of arguments, Informant/Applicant, who had appeared in person before Court, placed order sheets of Trial Court to demonstrate that opposite party 2 is not attending trial, avoiding on artificial pretext and also placed before Court own document filed by opposite party 2 along with application filed under Section 156(3) Cr.P.C. to show the manner in which he is regularly and constantly contacting witnesses and trying to influence and threatening them so as to pursue them not to adduce evidence against him in pending trial.

9. Sri N.I.Jafri, Senior Advocate, assisted by Sri Pankaj Satsangi, Advocate, has appeared on behalf of opposite party 2. While disputing contention of Informant/Applicant that opposite party 2 is violating terms and conditions on which bail has been granted, he however could not dispute order sheets showing non appearance of opposite party 2 in Court below and also recorded telephonic conversation showing access of opposite party 2 with witnesses with the help of local Police also.

10. It is in this backdrop, this Court has to examine whether opposite party 2 is behaving in a manner so as to justify cancellation of bail or not?

11. Now before going further in detail on this aspect, I find it appropriate to have a bird eye view of judicial precedents on the question as to in what circumstances, bail already granted can be cancelled or must be cancelled.

12. Considerations and relevant aspects by a Court while granting a bail are different than those when an application for cancellation of bail has come up before the Court.

13. A three-Judges Bench of Supreme Court in State (Delhi Administration) vs. Sanjay Gandhi (1978) 2 SCC 411 had an occasion to consider an order dated 11.04.1978 passed by Delhi High Court rejecting Delhi Administration's application for cancellation of bail of respondent Sanjay Gandhi. Court observed that rejection of bail, when bail applied is one thing; cancellation of bail already granted is quite another. It is easier to reject a bail application in a non-bailable case than to cancel a bail granted in such a case. Cancellation of bail necessarily involves review of a decision already made and can, by and large, be permitted only, if, by reason of supervening circumstances, it would be no longer conducive to a fair trial to allow accused to retain his freedom during the trial.

14. While considering degree of burden of prove lie upon prosecution or complainant/Informant, when an application for cancellation of bail moved, is not to the extent of proving by a mathematical certainty or beyond reasonable doubt but it must establish its case by showing on a preponderance of probabilities that accused has attempted or may attempt to or tamper or has tampered with witnesses. It may also be proved by test of balance of probabilities that accused has abused his liberty or it may show that there is reasonable apprehension that he will interfere with course of justice. Court approved Bombay High Court decision in Madhukar Purshottam Jondkar vs. Talab Haji Hussain 60 Bombay Law Reporter 465 that test adopted by the Court would be, whether material placed before it is such as to lead to the conclusion that there is a strong prima facie case that accused if allowed to be at large he would tamper with prosecution witnesses and impede course of justice. Mere unfounded apprehension or self imagined threat by prosecution or Informant-Complainant would not justify cancellation of bail, granted to accused.

15. In Raghubir Singh vs. State of Bihar (1986) 4 SCC 481, Court said that grounds for cancellation of bail under Sections 437(5) and 439(2) are identical, namely, bail granted under Section 437(1) or (2) or Section 439(1) can be cancelled where (i) accused misuses his liberty by indulging in similar criminal activity, (ii) interferes with the course of investigation, (iii) attempts to tamper with evidence or witnesses, (iv) threatens witnesses or indulges in similar activities which would hamper smooth investigation, (v) there is likelihood of his fleeing to another country, (vi) attempts to make himself scarce by going underground or becoming unavailable to the investigating agency, (vii) attempts to place himself beyond the reach of his surety, etc.

16. It was also held that above grounds are illustrative and not exhaustive. Rejection of bail stands on one footing but cancellation of bail is a harsh order since it interferes with liberty of individual and must not be lightly resorted to.

17. Above decision was followed in Manjit Prakash and Ors. vs. Shobha Devi and Anr. (2009) 13 SCC 785 as also in Pooja Bhatia vs. Vishnu Narain Shivpuri and others (2014)13 SCC 492.

18. In Pooja Bhatia (supra), considering conduct of accused i.e. charge of throwing acid on complainant, Court held that it was a serious aspect and therefore, accused is not entitled to continue with the benefit of bail.

19. In Dolat Ram and others vs. State of Haryana (1995) 1 SCC 349, Court said that rejection of bail in a non-bailable case at initial stage and cancellation of bail so granted, has to be dealt with and considered on different basis. Very cogent and overwhelming circumstances are necessary for an order directing cancellation of bail, already granted. Court further said that generally speaking grounds of cancellation of bail, broadly i.e. illustrative and not exhaustive are : (i) interference or attempt to interfere with the due course of administration of justice; (ii) evasion or attempt to evade due course of justice; (iii) abuse of the concession granted to the accused in any manner; (iv) Satisfaction of Court, on the basis of material placed on record of possibility of accused absconding.

20. Court also reminded that bail once granted should not be cancelled in a mechanical manner without considering whether any supervening circumstances have rendered it no longer conducive to a fair trial to allow the accused to retain his freedom by enjoying concession of bail during trial.

21. In Prahlad Singh Bhati vs. NCT, Delhi (2001) 4 SCC 280 Court said that while granting bail, nature of accusations, severity of punishment, if accusation entails a conviction, nature of evidence in support of the accusations should be kept in mind. Further, reasonable apprehensions of witnesses being tampered with or apprehension of there being a threat for complainant also need be weighed by Court. No discussion of entire evidence to form an opinion whether evidence would established guilt beyond reasonable doubt is expected at the stage of considering matter of bail but prima facie satisfaction of Court in support of charge must be there. Lastly, Court should also consider whether prosecution has element of genuineness or there is some fragility. In case of any doubt as to genuineness, normal course is to grant bail. To the same effect are the observation made in Chaman Lal vs. State of U.P. (2004) 7 SCC 525.

22. In Ram Govind Upadhyay vs. Sudarshan Singh (2002) 3 SCC 598 it was held that grant of bail though discretionary in nature, yet such exercise cannot be arbitrary, capricious and injudicious. Heinous nature of crime warrants more caution.

23. In CBI, Hyderabad vs. Subramani Gopalakrishnan and others (2011) 5 SCC 296, in para 23, Court said :

"....that there is difference between yardstick for cancellation of bail and appeal against the order granting bail. Very cogent and overwhelming circumstances are necessary for an order directing the cancellation of bail already granted. Generally speaking, the grounds for cancellation of bail are, interference or attempt to interfere with the due course of administration of justice or evasion or attempt to evade the due course of justice or abuse of the concessions granted to the accused in any manner. These are all only few illustrative materials. The satisfaction of the Court on the basis of the materials placed on record of the possibility of the accused absconding is another reason justifying the cancellation of bail. In other words, bail once granted should not be cancelled in a mechanical manner without considering whether any supervening circumstances have rendered it no longer conducive to a fair trial to allow the accused to retain his freedom by enjoying the concession of bail during the trial."

24. Position, influence and resources of accused have also been held relevant factors to adjudge whether accused is likely to interfere with administration of justice, trial or tamper with witness or evidence.

25. In State Represented by the C.B.I. vs. Anil Sharma (1997) 7 SCC 187, anticipatory bail was granted by Himachal Pradesh High Court and C.B.I. approached for cancellation of bail stating that accused was a former Minister of Himachal Pradesh and being a high authority in power is likely to disrupt even investigation but High Court did not accept application for cancellation of bail. On appeal, Supreme Court accepted C.B.I. contention and observed that in case of such highly influenced political person, the very interrogation and investigation may become a mere ritual hence Court cancelled order of anticipatory bail.

26. In Padmakar tukaram Bhavnagare and Ors. vs. The State of Maharashtra and Ors. (2012) 13 SCC 720, Supreme Court while confirming order of anticipatory bail took into accunt that accused are aged and rustic, not influential persons holding high office who can bring pressure upon investigating agency and it is unlikely that Police would find it difficult to interrogate them because they are protected by an order granting anticipatory bail. That is how judgment in State Represented by the C.B.I. vs. Anil Sharma (supra) was also distinguished. However, Court also clarified that grounds for cancellation of bail, broadly, are interference or attempt to interfere with due course of justice or abuse of concession granted to the accused in any manner but an order of bail can also be cancelled where it is found to be perverse, passed ignoring evidence on record or taking into considering irrelevant material. Relying on Dinesh M.N. (S.P.) vs. State of Gujarat (2008) 5 SCC 66 Court said that such vulnerable bail order must be quashed in the interest of justice.

27. In State of Maharashtra and Ors. vs. Pappu (2014) 11 SCC 244, accused was convicted under Section 302 read with 120-B IPC for hatching criminal conspiracy in killing of deceased Inder Bhatija. In appeal, High Court while admitting appeal, enlarged accused on bail and this order of bail was challenged in Supreme Court by the State on the ground that accused was involved in as many as 52 cases, out of which 20 cases offences were registered against him before going to jail and while he was in jail; and 32 cases were registered when he was released by Court on conditional bail. The defence taken on behalf of accused, besides other, was that he has already spent 9 years in jail during pendency of trial and no witness has supported prosecution case and that it was a political rivalry in which he was falsely implicated. Supreme Court said that reason given by High Court that father and wife of deceased have turned hostile, cannot be a ground to grant bail since there were other witnesses and material available. High Court should not have ignored the fact that accused was involved in as many as 52 cases out of which 20 were registered before going to jail and during stay in jail, and whenever he was on bail or conditional bail, 32 cases were registered. Court also found that in some cases accused was acquitted but still 15 trials were pending in which two cases were under Section 302 read with 120B IPC. Having said so, Court observed that since accused was in jail for 9 years and as per pendency, High Court would have taken a large number of years in deciding appeal, therefore, Court should decide appeal expeditiously and with the above direction, appeal was allowed and order of bail granted by High Court was set aside.

28. In Neeru Yadav vs. State of U.P. (2014)16 SCC 508, this Court had granted bail to accused for offences punishable under Sections 147, 148, 149, 302, 307, 394, 411, 454, 506, 120B and 34 IPC on the ground of parity as another accused Ashok was already enlarged on bail. The wife of deceased filed appeal for setting aside order of bail granted by this Court. Court considered various earlier authorities and said in para 13 of judgment as under :

"...It is well settled in law that cancellation of bail after it is granted because the accused has misconducted himself or of some supervening circumstances warranting such cancellation have occurred is in a different compartment altogether than an order granting bail which is unjustified, illegal and perverse. If in a case, the relevant factors which should have been taken into consideration while dealing with the application for bail and have not been taken note of bail or it is founded on irrelevant considerations, indisputably the superior court can set aside the order of such a grant of bail. Such a case belongs to a different category and is in a separate realm. While dealing with a case of second nature, the Court does not dwell upon the violation of conditions by the accused or the supervening circumstances that have happened subsequently. It, on the contrary, delves into the justifiability and the soundness of the order passed by the Court."

29. Thereafter, referring to 15 cases registered again accused showing that he was a history-sheeter and mostly under Section 302 IPC, order of bail was set aside. Court observed that there has to be a balance between personal liberty of an individual and peace and harmony of Society. No individual interest can be allowed to create a concavity in the stem of social stream otherwise it would bring chaos and anarchy in the Society. Relevant observations made in this regard are reproduced as under :

"....We are not oblivious of the fact that the liberty is a priceless treasure for a human being. It is founded on the bed rock of constitutional right and accentuated further on human rights principle. It is basically a natural right. In fact, some regard it as the grammar of life. No one would like to lose his liberty or barter it for all the wealth of the world. People from centuries have fought for liberty, for absence of liberty causes sense of emptiness. The sanctity of liberty is the fulcrum of any civilized society. It is a cardinal value on which the civilisation rests. It cannot be allowed to be paralysed and immobilized. Deprivation of liberty of a person has enormous impact on his mind as well as body.

A democratic body polity which is wedded to rule of law, anxiously guards liberty. But, a pregnant and significant one, the liberty of an individual is not absolute. The society by its collective wisdom through process of law can withdraw the liberty that it has sanctioned to an individual when an individual becomes a danger to the collective and to the societal order. Accent on individual liberty cannot be pyramided to that extent which would bring chaos and anarchy to a society. A society expects responsibility and accountability from the member, and it desires that the citizens should obey the law, respecting it as a cherished social norm. No individual can make an attempt to create a concavity in the stem of social stream. It is impermissible. Therefore, when an individual behaves in a disharmonious manner ushering in disorderly things which the society disapproves, the legal consequences are bound to follow. At that stage, the Court has a duty. It cannot abandon its sacrosanct obligation and pass an order at its own whim or caprice. It has to be guided by the established parameters of law." (emphasis added)

30. In Virupakshappa Gouda and Ors. Vs. The State of Karnataka and Ors. (2017) 5 SCC 406, application for bail was rejected by Sessions Judge as also High Court. Even second bail application was rejected by Sessions Judge as also High Court. This time accused went to Supreme Court also but Special Leave Petition was also rejected. Then a third application was filed before Additional Sessions Judge, Raichur, which was allowed and accused were enlarged on bail. Informant brought the mater to High Court under Section 439(2) Cr.P.C. seeking cancellation of bail. He succeeded and High Court cancelled bail. Thereafter accused brought the matter to Supreme Court. Court made serious observations in respect of approach of Trial Court in granting bail by treating filing of charge-sheet as a change of circumstance but ignoring that already two bail applications were rejected and one has attained finality up to Supreme Court. Court said that bail application cannot be allowed solely or exclusively on the ground that in criminal jurisprudence accused is presumed to be innocent till found guilty by the Court. Trial Court has relied on Supreme Court judgment in Sanjay Chandra vs. Central Bureau of Investigation (2012) 1 SCC 40 wherein it was observed that object of bail is to secure appearance of accused at trial and not punitive or preventive. Deprivation of liberty should be considered a punishment. Court should appreciate that punishment begins after conviction and every man is deemed to be innocent until duly tried and found guilty. Supreme Court said that above observations in Sanjay Chandra (supra) have their relevance but cannot be made applicable in each and every case for grant of bail. It all depends upon factual matrix of each case, nature of crime and manner in which it was committed. A bail application is not to be entertained on the basis of certain observations made in a different context. There has to be application of mind and appreciation of factual score and understanding of pronouncements in the field. Court relied on Prasanta Kumar Sarkar vs. Ashis Chatterjee and Anr. (2010) 14 SCC 496 where it was opined that while exercising power for grant of bail, Court must to keep in mind certain circumstances and factors as under :

"(i) whether there is any prima facie or reasonable ground to be believed that the Accused had committed the offence.

(ii) nature and gravity of the accusation;

(iii) severity of the punishment in the event of conviction;

(iv) danger of the Accused absconding or fleeing, if released on bail;

(v) character, behaviour, means, position and standing of the accused;

(vi) likelihood of the offence being repeated;

(vii) reasonable apprehension of the witnesses being influenced; and

(viii) danger, of course, of justice being thwarted by grant of bail."

(emphasis added)

31. It also held that where a bail is granted considering irrelevant materials or keeping out of consideration relevant material, the order becomes vulnerable and warrants annulment. The order of High Court setting aside bail granted by Trial Court was upheld by Supreme Court.

32. In Dataram Singh vs. State of Uttar Pradesh and Ors. (2018) 3 SCC 22 Court enlarged to certain more aspects for granting bail, whether accused was arrested during investigation when he had best opportunity to tamper with evidence and influence witness or Investigating Officer found it not necessary to arrest accused during investigation and this factor would go in favour of accused. Similarly, whether accused was participating in investigation regularly and not absconding or avoiding investigation. Further, whether accused is a first-time offender or is accused of other offences and if yes, nature of such offences and his general conduct. Poverty or deemed indigent status of an accused, Court held, is also an important factor to be taken note. It observed that grant of bail is a rule and refusal is an exception. Finding that accused was not said to be a person of shady character and there was no history of his involvement in any unacceptable activity etc., accused was granted bail, though it was rejected by Trial Court as well as High Court.

33. In State of Orissa and Ors. Vs. Mahimananda Mishra and Ors. (2018) 10 SCC 516, accused was granted bail by High Court and it was set aside by Supreme Court. Court observed that accused was a powerful and influential person in his locality and even Investigating Officer apprehends that he may influence witnesses by intimidating them and this may influence trial by creating fear in the minds of witnesses. Court also looked into past attempt of accused to evade process of law and then found that order of grant of bail was not proper and it was set aside.

34. In X vs. The State of Telangana and Ors. (2018)16 SCC 511, accused, a Film Producer, based in Mumbai, was charged of offences under Sections 376, 342, 493, 506, 354(C) of IPC. Accused got anticipatory bail from Sessions Judge on 13.01.2017 and had advantage of that order for about eight months. The said order was cancelled by Sessions Judge on the ground that accused has not disclosed that he was also accused in 2G Spectrum case. This cancellation order was affirmed by High Court and also by Supreme Court. Thereafter accused moved a bail application under Section 439 Cr.P.C., which was allowed by High Court and accused was released on bail. This order was challenged in appeal before Supreme Court. Upholding the said order, Court said that bail once granted should not be cancelled unless a cogent case, based on supervening event has been made out.

35. In Seema Singh vs. Central Bureau of Investigation and Ors. (2018) 16 SCC 10 bail granted to accused by High Court in the case registered under Sections 498-A, 302, 120-B IPC was challenged in appeal before Supreme Court. Court noticed that accused-2's bail application was rejected by Special Judicial Magistrate, CBI, Ghaziabad and thereafter bail was granted by High Court. Court said that gravity of offence is a relevant factor but not the sole ground to deny bail if there are other overwhelming circumstances justifying grant of bail. Noticing special feature, Court upheld order of High Court granting bail.

36. Thus, the broad principles, which are to be considered by this Court while granting bail and when bail is already granted but an application for cancellation has come up for consideration, as discussed above, show that there is no thumb rule in both the situations. However, it is true that factors relevant for grant of bail are different and approach required to be adopted while considering application for cancellation of bail is different.

37. A perusal of order dated 26.04.2017 granting bail passed by this Court shows that while granting bail, this court relied on following circumstances and factum:

(i) Opposite party 2 is not named in FIR wherein six persons have been specifically named.

(ii) Informant-applicant is not an eye witness;

(iii) FIR was lodged on the basis of information received from Bihari, eye witness, who was driving scooty on which deceased was pillion rider.

(iv) Bihari in his statement under Section 161 Cr.P.C. has not named opposite party 2;

(v) Opposite party 2 had no motive to commit the crime;

(vi) After a period of one month one Shamsad was introduced, who changed prosecution story and gave description of opposite party 2.

(vii) Role of hatching conspiracy was assigned to Shamshad and Girish Mishra, co-accused;

(viii) Later on confessional statement of Kallu was recorded and in second statement of Bihari, which was recorded, name of opposite party 2 was introduced and he was assigned motive.

(ix) After four months, one Manoj who was introduced, claimed to be an eye witness who said while he was trying to help victim, she uttered that "पी सी शर्मा तूने मुझे मरवा दिया।"

(x) Co-accused Girish Mishra, who was granted bail on 18.11.2016 and case of opposite party 2 was similar.

(xi) Call details relied by Police were still to be verified after adducing evidence.

(xii) Opposite party 2 has no criminal history.

38. No criminal history of accused/opposite party 2 has been placed on record but cancellation of bail is pressed on alleged violation of terms and conditions, on which bail was granted and such terms and conditions, allegedly violated by opposite party 2 are :

i) The applicant shall not tamper with the prosecution evidence.

ii) The applicant shall not threaten or harass the prosecution witnesses.

iii) The applicant shall appear on the date fixed by trial court.

iv) The applicant shall not directly make any inducement, threat or promise to any person acquainted with the facts of the case so as to dissuade the applicant from disclosing such facts to the Court or to any police officer or tamper with the evidence.

39. In order to demonstrate that applicant is not appearing in Court and instead continuously delaying process, my attention has been drawn to proceedings of various dates which may be reproduced as under :

A. On 24.7.2017 opposite party 2 sought adjournment stating as under :

''निवेदन है कि प्रार्थी उपरोक्त वाद में आरोपित है परन्तु प्रार्थी निजी काम से बाहर चला गया है। किसी कारण वश आज हाजिर अदालत नहीं आ सका है।

अतः प्रार्थना है कि प्रार्थी की आज की हाजिरी द्वारा वकील कायम करने की कृपा करें।''

"It is humbly requested that the applicant is an accused in the above case but due to personal work, he has gone out of station. He is unable to appear in the court.

Hence, it is requested that today's presence of the applicant may be marked through his counsel."

(English Translation by Court)

B. On 02.8.2017 opposite party 2 sought adjournment stating as under :

''निवेदन है कि प्रार्थी उपरोक्त वाद में आरोपित है परन्तु प्रार्थी गम्भीर रूप से बिमार है। जिसकी वजह से आज हाजिर अदालत नहीं आ सका है।

अतः प्रार्थना है कि प्रार्थी की आज की हाजिरी द्वारा वकील कायम करने की कृपा करें।''

"It is humbly requested that the applicant is an accused in the above case but the applicant is seriously ill due to which he has not appeared in the Court, today.

Hence, it is requested that today's presence of the applicant may be marked through his counsel."

(English Translation by Court)

C. On 26.8.2017 opposite party 2 sough adjournment stating as under :

''निवेदन है कि प्रार्थी उपरोक्त वाद में आरोपित है परन्तु प्रार्थी किसी कारण से इलाहाबाद गया है। इसलिए हाजिर अदालत नहीं आ सका है।

अतः प्रार्थना है कि प्रार्थी की आज की हाजिरी द्वारा वकील कायम करने की कृपा करें तथा अथवा कार्यवाही हेतु कोई अन्य तारीख नियत कर आज की तारीख मुल्तवी फरमाई जाने की कृपा करें।''

"It is humbly requested that the applicant is an accused in the above case but due to some reason, the applicant has gone to Allahabad. Therefore, he cannot appear in Court.

Hence, it is requested that today's presence of the applicant may be marked through his counsel and it is requested to fix another date for the proceedings and today's date be deferred."

(English Translation by Court)

D. On this application Court passed following order:

''माननीय उच्च न्यायालय का त्वरित निस्तारण का आदेश है। नियत तिथि को अभियुक्त व्यक्तिगत रूप से हाजिर हो, अन्यथा दण्डात्मक आदेश पारित किया जायेगा।''

"Honorable High court has ordered for expeditious disposal. The accused should appear personally on the fixed date otherwise punitive order would be passed."

(English Translation by Court)

E. On 08.9.2017 opposite party 2 sought adjournment stating as under

''सविनय निवेदन है कि प्रार्थी उच्च न्यायालय गैगस्टर के मामले में पैरवी हेतु गया हुआ है। जिस कारण हाजिर अदालत आने में असमर्थ है। तथा आगामी तिथि पर निश्चित रूप से हाजिर अदालत होगा।

अतः श्रीमान जी से प्रार्थना है कि प्रार्थी की आज की हाजिरी द्वारा वकील कायम की जाय।''

"It is humbly requested that the applicant has gone to High court for pleading a case under Gangster Act, due to which he is unable to appear in the Court and he would definitely appear in the Court on next date.

Hence, it is kindly requested to your good-self that todya's presence of the applicant may be marked through his counsel." (English Translation by Court)

F. On 05.10.2017 opposite party 2 sought cancellation of N.B.W. stating as under :

"निवेदन है कि प्रार्थी को उपरोक्त मामले में आरोपित किया गया है। प्रार्थी पिछली तिथियों पर माननीय उच्च न्यायालय उपचार हेतु गया हुआ था तथा पिछली तिथि पर गम्भीर रूप से बीमार होने के कारण नहीं आ सके। जिस कारण प्रार्थी के विरूद्ध एन0बी0डब्लू0 व एन0एस0 हो गये। प्रार्थी ने यह गलती जानबूझकर नहीं की है और न भविष्य में करेगा। अतः श्रीमान जी से प्रार्थना है कि प्रार्थी के विरूद्ध जारी एन0बी0डब्लू0 अपास्त करने की कृपा करें।"

"It is humbly requested that the applicant is an accused in the above case. On the previous dates, the applicant had been to the Hon'ble Court for treatment (?) and could not appear on previous dates on account of being seriously ill due to which N.B.W. and N.S. were issued against him. The applicant has not committed this mistake willingly and he would not do the same in future.

Hence, it is requested to your goodself that the N.B.W. issued against the applicant may be discharged."

40. This Court enquired from Sri Jafri, learned Senior Counsel about the illness suffered by opposite party 2 due to which he did not attend Court below but no reply on this aspect could be given.

41. नरेश पाल–हॉ हॉ

*पी–आपने उसे उस समय हल्के में लिया, बाद में सोचा कि कोई आदमी बतायेगा नहीं कि जैसा कि अभी आप बता रहे थे . . ये सब स्थितियां बनी सर। गोपी चंद साब ने काफी सपोर्ट कर रहे हैं वो बेचारे बोले मैं अभी आउँगा बताउगा, ऐ सर? तो सर हमें क्या मिल सकता है ऐसा कुछ जो हमारे डिफेंस में काम आ जाय

पी–नहीं भाईसाब देखों, आपने कहा था कि डाईवर तो आपका ही था वो

मुनेन्द्र– ड्राईवर था, हमारे पास आज भी है वो

पी–अब उससे मनोज से बात कर के देख लेते एक बार। मनोज तो मुझसे ये कह रहा था कि वो मुनेन्द्र भाई साहब ने कहा था, मंत्री जी के कहने पे, तो मैंने ऐसा कह दिया

मुनेन्द्र–मेरी बात सुनो, गौतम जी हैं इसमें इन्वाल्ब, ठीक है? मगर मैं अकेले कोई डिसिजन लेने में सक्षम नहीं हूँ, भगवत जी डिसीजन लेने में सक्षम हैं, भगवत जी ने कह दिया कि गौतम जी जैसा कहें वैसा करों, हैं ना?

पी–नहीं भाई साब, मनोज तो ये कह रहा था कि हमने तो मुनेन्द्र भाई साहब के कहने से ऐसा कह दिया

मुनेन्द्र–हूँ

पी–जो मनोज का कहना है वो तो ये है कि हमने मुनेन्द्र भाई साहब के कहने से किया है, और उन्होंने, मंत्री जी ने उनसे कहा मुनेन्द्र से, मुनेन्द्र ने मुझसे कहा। ये बात कह रहा था मुझसे, और कह रहा था कि मैं तो कर नहीं रहा था फिर वो ये भी बता रहा था कि वो उनके संग आए थे और उनकी वजह से वो 25–30 हजार रूपये लडकी डाल गयी जबरदस्ती विपर्णा हमारे पास, ये भी कह रहा था मनोज मुझसे।

मुनेन्द्र– हूँ

*मुनेन्द्र–आपके पारिवारिक रिश्ते रहे हैं तो आप बात करों न विपर्णा जी से एक बार

पी–ऐसा है न, मैं बात करूँ लेकिन वो . . जब थोडा सा आप लोग कहेंगे तो . . . अगर वो तैयार हो तो हम बात करने को तैयार हैं, हमारा तो कतई निजी मामला था

मुनेन्द्र–हाँ पारिवारिक मैटर था पारिवारी रिश्ते थे आपके और आपके लिंक ऐसे रहे होंगे . . चूँकि आप अगर परिवार में इस तरह रहे हैं तो रिश्तेदारी में भी संबंध होंगे

पी–बिलकुल भाई साब, सब संबंध हैं

मुनेन्द्र– एक बार बैठ कर निपटारा करो, खत्म करो हैं न? जो उनका लेन देन है या जो उनका देना है

पी–नहीं वो सारा पर्चा मैने उनको दे दिया और उसने अपने बयानो में भी कहा है आप . . आप ही बात कर लीजिए

मुनेन्द्र– हूँ हूँ

पी–भाई सारी चीजें उनके नाम हैं, जो प्रापर्टी उनके नाम है विपर्णा के नाम है, उनकी मां के नाम है और सारा पर्चा उसके पास है, वो कहें और हम तो ये भी चाहते हैं कि उनके मर्डर के जो लोग दोषी हैं उनकी सजा भी हो

मुनेन्द्र–हूँ

पी–हमारे पास सारे साबूत हैं, वो हम उसे दे देंगे। मैंने उससे कहा, मैंने व्हाटसएप पे कई बार मैसेज भी किये, मैने कहा पारूल, विपर्णा के घर का नाम पारूल है, मैंने कहा गहराई से सोंचों, चिन्तन करो। पूछो अधिकारियों से, अधिकारियों को सब मालूम है

मुनेन्द्र–हूँ, क्या बोली फिर?

पी–नहीं, मैसेज सीन तो कर लेती थी वो, जवाब नहीं दिया कुछ भी, मैने बहुत बार मैसेज किये

मुनेन्द्र–हॉ जो भी पैसा लेना देना है, दे दवा के बात खत्म करो निपटाओं बैठ के आपस में है न?

पी– भाईसाब मैंने वो पूरा हिसाब दे रखा है उसे, वो कहें तो हम उसको कहां मना कर रहे हैं। हमने तो ये भी कहा कि अगर तुम्हे प्रापर्टी नहीं चाहिए तो जो एमाउण्ट है, वो ले लीजिए और . .

मुनेन्द्र– एमाउण्ट कितना बन रहा है, आपके ऊपर उनका?

पी–ऐं?

मुनेन्द्र–एमाउण्ट कितना बन रहा है?

पी–शायद, एग्जेक्ट नहीं पता, बाकी तो उसको मालूम है, पूरा पर्चा बनाके पूरा बुकलेट बना के पूरा सब दे आये हैं हम उसे,

मुनेन्द्र– नहीं लगभग कितना बना रहा है आपके हिसाब से लगभग, पूरा एग्जेक्ट नहीं लगभग कितना बन रहा है

पी–लगभग . . . प्रॉपर्टी अगर लगाते हैं, वैसे तो हमने उनसे जो रूपया लिया था, चालीस लाख पचास हजार रूपया लिया था उसमें से बाकी उनके नाम प्रापर्टी है तो वो अगर पूरा रूपया चाहते हैं तो पूरा रूपया देने को तैयार हैं, प्रॉपर्टी हम . . . वो बेच दे वो ले ले, या फिर प्रॉपर्टी लेना चाहती हो जो पैसा निकाले वो पैसा ले ले अपना, भाई साब हम तो कम की बात छोडो, एक्स्ट्रा कहें, एक्स्ट्रा भी दे देंगे, कोई दिक्कत नहीं है हमे, लेकिन हम चाहते हैं कि ये काम जरूर करें कि जो लोग दोषी हैं उनको जरूर इसमें दण्डित होना चाहिए बस, इतना चाहते हैं हम तो . . . तो आप एक बार बात करके देख लीजिए कि ऐसे ऐसे मेरे पास फोन आया था पी0सी0 शर्मा का। आप चाहो तो हम बरेली आ जायेगे उसके पास, अगर वो आप के पास आ जाती है तो बरेली आ जायेगे हम

मुनेन्द्र– मैं बात करता हूँ हैं न?

x x x x x x

मुनेन्द्र–नहीं जो आपने डा0 अमित से कहा कि मेरे पास एविडेन्स है, क्या एवीडेन्स हैं?

पी– मैं अब भी कह रहा हूँ न, मैं अब भी तो कह रहा हूँ, मना तो नहीं कर रहा हूँ, मैंने अमित जी से नहीं, विपर्णा जी को मैंने व्हाट्सएप पे मैसेज किये हैं ये, उन्होंने मेरा बेल कैसिलेशन मूव किया है वहॉ पर ये सारी चीजे लगी हुई हैं। हाईकोर्ट पूछेगा तो हाईकोर्ट में दिखाउॅगा–बताउॅगा। आप पूछियेगा अमित जी से, विपर्णा जी ने हाईकोर्ट में हमारा बेल कैसिलेशन मूव कर दिया है और उसमें सारी चीजे लगायी जो मैंने व्हाट्सएप पर मैसेज किये थे, तो हाईकोर्ट ने मुझे नोटिस दिया है, हाईकोर्ट जब मुझसे पूछेगा तो हाईकोर्ट में बताउॅगा,

मुनेन्द्र– हूँ हूँ

x x x x x x

मुनेन्द्र– लेकिन उस दिन जब आपसे कहा तब भी आपने नहीं बताया कि एविडन्स क्या है? फिर डा0 अमित से आप कह रहे एविडेन्स क्या है, अब या तो आप बताना नहीं चाह रहे हो एविडेन्स क्या है। अगर आप मदद चाहते हो तो मुझे बता दो न एविडेन्स क्या है फिर मैं बात कर लूॅगा उनसे कि गलत आदमी को फंसाया है या सही आदमी को फंसाया है, ये बात तब तय होगी जब एविडेन्स होगे

पी–देखा ऐसा है न भाई साहब, आपने इतनी बात कही जब मैं कह रहा हूँ कि मैने मुझे ध्यान से सुनिये मैंने विपर्णा जी को व्हाट्सएप पर मैसेज किये कि मेरे पास सबूत हैं मेरे पास सब चीज है, ठीक ?

मुनेन्द्र–भाई, भाई अच्छा सुनो, सुनो . जो विपर्णा जी को क्या मैसेज किये आपने क्या नहीं किये इस बात से मुझे मतलब नहीं है कि मेरे पास सबूत है, जब आप मुझसे मदद चाह रहे हो कि विपर्णा से बात करूॅ मैं विपर्णा जी से आप ये चाह रहे हो कि मेरे पास एविडेन्स है फिर अमित से कह रहे हो मेरे पास एविडेन्स है, तो बताओं न, बता दो आप, आज ही बात कर लूॅगा अभी

पी– नहीं तो मैं यही तो चाह रहा हूँ, आप उन्हें बुला लिजिए मैं आ जाउॅगा, आप होंगे

मुनेन्द्र– नहीं ये तो बुलाने की बात बाद में होगी, एक चीज मानते हो कि हत्या तो हुई है, इस परिवार में सबसे बड़ी लेडी थी सबके पूरे घर का जो था, पूरा परिवार अनाथ हो गया, बुढी मॉ हैं, विकलांग बहन है, मानसिक विकलांग, अकेली लड़की वो, सब कुछ वो ही कर रही है बेचारी, कैसे
कर रही है वो ही जानती होगी, है न?

*मुनेन्द्र–आप भी मान रहे हैं मर्डर हुआ है

*पी–मैं मान रहा हूँ मर्डर हुआ है, अरे मैंने कुछ सबूत इक्ट्ठे किये हैं तभी तो बता रहा हूँ मैं?"

" Gopichand- Hello

x x x x x

P- Sir, wanted to meet you someday sir, I wanted to see you in case you are to come to Bareilly or Budaun someday.

Gopichand- No, presently I am at Deyoria Kalan.

P- No, Sir that I know sir, I had asked AK Singh Saab. Sir, I wanted to meet you a little.

Gopichand- Tell, Tell

P- Oh, Sir in connection with this very case now we ... whatever was to happen to us has happened. Sir now ... we need some such points...something which may give strength to us, so that I can prove myself innocent.

Gopichand- Ok I will tell you...will tell. As of now I am here at Deyoria Kalan.

x x x x

Naresh Pal - Hallo

P- Hallo, Jayhind Sir

Naresh Pal - Jayhind brother

P--Sir, is Naresh Pal Singh Saab speaking?

Naresh Pal- Yes brother, I am speaking.

P- Sir, I am PC Sharma speaking from Budaun.

Naresh Pal- Ok, tell.

P- Sir, does Saab visit Budaun now? Sir, I wanted to meet you Saab.

Naresh Pal- Tell, tell.

P- Did Saab recognize, did not recognize?

Naresh Pal- No, you tell .. tell.

P- Yes, yes... sir, I have been implicated in Sadhna murder case.

Naresh Pal- Ok, ok.

P- Whatever was destined, has taken place, I have undergone the imprisonment. Gangster Act was leveled and I have undergone that too, sir.

Naresh Pal- Yes, yes.

P- Sir, in this regard I want that if I could get some such information from you because I have not committed any offense sir; I had talked to AK Singh sahab as well and he assured that he would tell whatever happens and would help. Sir, I wanted to meet you and have a chat with you a bit.

Naresh Pal- No. What is to be done... tell me what to do?

P- Sir I...now you will tell, what I sir... how could I get something in my defense.

Naresh Pal- You have been granted bail, isn't it?

P- Sir, you see that the Judicial is very strict now-a-days, giving punishment, I have not committed any offense and have been punishment.

x x x x x

P- Sir, I have to tell you only that how they managed such as the Tavera vehicle; I had talks with Surendra also, and he too, was saying that it was brought from the hospital.

x x x x x

P- No sir, you are not a witness. Sir, that is why I am saying that you could give me some tips that could be useful in my defense; might be extracted something which I...

Naresh Pal- See sir, the thing is that if I peruse the case diary, I could find some points in that. It is not a big issue. Just take the case diary and it should be read and perused then some...

P- Sir... the vehicle was shown to have been recovered from your place; it was not shown means I came to know that it was...

Naresh Pal- No, paper work was not done at my place.

P- Yes, yes.

Naresh Pal- I had not done any paper work; If the matter is of Ujhani, let the people of Ujhani handle it.

P- No sir... Surendra.... I had complete conversation with Surendra the Better, on which he also ... Yes he also disclosed that car was in the name of some lady and we were implicated unnecessarily. I ..... such things do happen so leave it. On this he told me that this was not the car, car had been brought from hospital and that person himself called on which I cam to know that you had no information, I have been told that you were having meal, such was informed to me by someone and he telephoned you that an accident of a lady was committed by me.

Naresh Pal- Yes Yes

P- You took him lightly at that time, later on thought that no person would disclose anything as you were telling right now.. Sir such circumstances got woven. Gopi Chand Sir have been very supportive, poor guy said that I shall arrive right now and tell, hello Sir? So Sir what can we gather which can help us in our defence.

x x x x x

P- No See, you had said that the driver was your's only

Munendra- Driver was there; he is with me even today

P- Now we can for once, try to talk to him, to Manoj. Manoj was telling me that Munendra Sir had said that, I said such thing on verbal directions of minister.

Munendra- Listen to me, Gautam is also involved in it ok ? However I am not competent alone to take the decision, Bhagwat Ji is competent to take the decision, Bhagwat ji had said that proceed as per the directions of Gautam, ok?

P- No Sir, Manoj was saying that we said such thing on the verbal directions of Mundendra Sir.

Munendra- Hmm

P- What Manoj is saying is that we proceeded on the directions of Munendra Sir who in turn got the green signal from minister and Munendra directed me. He was telling me this and said that I was not doing it, then he also disclosed that he arrived with him and due to him, that lady forcefully gave me 25-30 thousand rupees viparna(?), Manoj was also telling me

Munendra-Hmm

P- Thus he was telling that we shall only act on his directions so you know Sir that without any axe to grind..... and now even Viparna knows that who committed the murder, how was it committed, case has been unravelled in totality and

You..... Inspector is Jagdish Arora and other persons who are there know about the entire case and I think that Viparna would also be knowing. Brother, if possible, please talk to Viparna once.

Munendra- you are relative, so you please talk to Viparnaji once.

P- If you say..... I will talk... if he is ready, we are ready to talk, it was strictly our personal matter.

Munendra- Yes, it was a family matter, family relations, your link would have been such.... since you have been in a family in such a way, there must be relations as well.

P- Definitely brother, all are relations.

Munendra- Wrap it up once for all, put it to an end, right? Whatever be the transactions, or whatever has to pay ?

P- No, I have given him all parchas and he has stated in his depositions you ... you may talk

Munendra- Yes

P- Brother, all the things are executed in his favour, property executed in his favour is executed in favour of Viparna, his mother and all parchas are with him, we want that those who are guilty of murder be punished

Munendra- Yes

P- We have all the evidences, we shall furnish these to him. I stated to him, I send messages on WhatsApp too, I stated that Viparna's nickname is Parul, I asked to think thoroughly, ask the officers, they know everything Munendra- Yes, what did she say then?

Pi- No, she saw messesage but did not reply; I messaged many times.

Munendra:- Yes, whatever you have to pay, pay it and put it to an end.

Pi- Brother, I have already given him the complete account and if he asks then I am not refusing him. I have even said that if he does not require property, accept the amount whatever and.....

Munendra:- How much amount is due to him ?

Pi- A?

Munendra - What is the amount ?

P- perhaps, I don't know exactly, he knows the rest, we have already handed over everything including the complete receipt and booklet to him.

Munendra -No, according to you, how much it is approximately, not exactly, but tell me approximately how much is it ?

P- approximately...if we evaluate the property, anyway, the money we had received from him was forty lakh fifty thousand. Rest out of it amounts the property in his name. In that condition, if he wants full amount, we are ready to give him the money. If we ... the property.... she sells it, she can take it or if she wants property, she can takes the money of its sale. Dear, we do not want to give less rather we will give extra if she says so, we have no problem. But we want that she must get the people punished who are guilty in this. We want this much only. ..... so, you please talk to her and try to convince explaining that in such way P. C. Sharma's call came to me. We will come to her in Bareilly if you want us to and if she comes to you, we will come to Bareilly.

Munendra - I will talk to her, ok ?

x x x x x x

Munendra - Listen me, do have any evidence as you spoke to Dr. Amit that you had evidence ?

P - I am still saying, ain't I, I still saying it, am I denying?, I have sent these messages to Viparna on WhatsApp not Amit. She has moved my bail cancellation, all these things have been attached there. I will explain in the High Court if I am asked to do so. You please ask Amit whether Aparna has moved out bail cancellation in High Court and enclosed everything what I had messaged her on WhatsApp. High Court has sent me a notice, when the High Court will ask me, I will explain it there.

x x x x x

Munendra - but on that day, you didn't tell me when I asked you what the evidences were ? Then you asking Dr. Amit what was the evidence? Now may be you do not want to tell me what the evidence is? If you want to help me, tell me what the evidence is, and then I will speak to him whether an innocent has been implicated or a guilty has been caught. This will be decided when evidences exist.

P - See dear, I have said so much, now, I am asking you to listen me carefully that I have messaged it to Aparna on WhatsApp that I have the evidences and I have everything, ok ? Munendra- Brother, brother, please listen, listen...it does not matter to me what message you sent to Viparna Ji and what not, and that I have evidence, when you want help from me to the effect that I should talk to Viparna; you want it from Viparna Ji that I have evidence (sic.), then you are telling to Amit that you have evidence, then tell please, you tell (me), (I) will talk today itself right now.

P- No, I just want that you call him, I will come, you will be present.

Munendra- No, the matter of calling would be discussed later on, you accept one thing that the death has been caused, she was the eldest lady in this family, amongst all in the home; the entire family became orphan, there are old mother, disabled sister, mentally disabled; the only girl is doing everything, and how the poor girl is managing the same, only she must be knowing, isn't it?

x x x x x x

Munendra- You too are admitting that the death has been caused.

P- I am admitting, the death has been caused; I have collected some evidences, therefore I am stating.

(English Translation by Court)

42. The above conversations show that opposite party 2 is not only contacting witnesses but also involving Police officials to influence witnesses and this is a serious aspect. In my view, such a person if continue to remain on bail, there is every likelihood of trial being influenced and may not proceed fairly and objectively. I refrain myself in making further observations as it may prejudice trial but have no hesitation in holding that it is a fit case where bail granted to accused opposite party 2 cannot be held to be a valid exercise of discretion and bail deserves to be cancelled.

43. Application is accordingly allowed. Bail order dated 26.04.2017 passed by this Court in Criminal Misc. Bail Application No.41324 of 2016, whereby opposite party 2, Prem Chandra Sharma son of Late Banshidhar Sharma, has been enlarged on bail, is hereby cancelled. The accused-opposite party 2 shall surrender in Court below on 20.03.2020. If not, Police shall ensure arrest of accused-opposite party 2 and send him jail. Trial Court shall expedite trial and make all endeavour to complete it within a year.

A. Indian Penal Code, 1860-Sections 420,406, Indian Stamp Act, 1899-Sections 69, Uttar Pradesh Apartment (Promotion of Construction, Ownership & Maintenance) Act, 2010 & Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973-Section 439(2)-application-bail cancellation-rejection-Cancellation of bail can be done in cases where bail has been granted and the order suffers from serious infirmities which would result in miscarriage of justice, the court while granting bail ignores relevant material showing prima facie involvement of the accused or it takes into account irrelevant material which has no relevance to the question of grant of bail to an accused-the court below is just and proper in granting the bail to the accused-hence, no interference requires.(Para 4 to 12)

B. The object of bail is to secure the appearance of the accused person at his trial. The object of bail is neither punitive nor preventative. The courts owe more than verbal respect to the principle that punishment begins after conviction, and that every man is deemed to be innocent until duly tried and duly found guilty. (Para 7,8,9)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Samit Gopal, J.)

1. Heard Sri Santosh Kumar Giri, learned counsel for the applicant, the learned A.G.A and perused the record.

2. This is an application preferred under Section 439 (2) of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 for cancelling the bail of Yuvraj Singh, the opposite party no. 2 which has been allowed by the Chief Judicial Magistrate, Bareilly vide order dated 29.11.2019 in Case Crime No. 629 of 2018 under Sections 420, 406 of the Indian Penal Code, 1860 under Section 69 of Indian Stamp Act, 1899 & under Section 25 of Uttar Pradesh Apartment (Promotion of Construction, Ownership & Maintenance) Act, 2010 registered at Police Station Baradari, District Bareilly.

3. Learned counsel for the applicant argued that the opposite party no. 2 is the Director of Alliance Builders and Construction Limited, Bareilly. He had developed a colony in the year 2007 in the name of Super City in Bareilly in which the first informant and others took flats and paid money for it. It is further argued that in the present matter a suit has been filed by the accused himself which was after lodging of the F.I.R. The filing of the said suit was a mischievous act of the accused just in order to take benefit of the same in the present matter. It is further argued that the court below erred in allowing the bail application of the accused by overlooking the fact that during investigation sufficient evidence has been collected against the accused and as per the law laid down by the Apex Court it is for the trial court to weigh the statement and the evidence collected during investigation and arrive at its own conclusion. To make an enquiry into reliability and genuineness of the allegations made in the First Information Report and the material collected during investigation on the basis of which charge-sheet is submitted at the time of deciding a bail application is not a proper appreciation by the court below and the court below overstepped its jurisdiction. It is further argued on the basis of averments in para 10 of the affidavit that though the opposite party no. 2 / accused has delivered the possession of the land / house in dispute several years back, but sale deed has not been executed by him. Further on the pleading in para 11 of the affidavit it is argued that the opposite party no. 2 did not have title of the said property and hence he could not have executed any sale deed in favour of the allottees. It is then argued as per para 12 of the affidavit that the intention of the opposite party no. 2 / accused was dishonest from the very inception itself. The petition for quashing of charge-sheet dated 24.12.2018 in the matter has been dismissed by a co-ordinate Bench of this Court vide order dated 01.10.2019, the copy of which is annexed as Annexure- 2 to the affidavit. It is then argued that on the basis of para 15 of the affidavit that opposite party no. 2 / accused surrendered on the same day i.e. on 29.11.2019, moved his bail application on the same day which has been allowed on the same day itself. It is further argued that the opposite party no. 2 / accused after being released on bail is misusing the liberty of bail and is also tampering with the prosecution witnesses. It is thus argued that the present matter is a heinous and a grievous criminal case and as such the bail granted to opposite party no. 2 is liable to be cancelled.

4. The parameters for cancellation of bail have been laid down by the Apex Court in large number of cases. In Raghubir Singh v. State of Bihar (1986) 4 SCC 481 the Apex Court held that bail can be cancelled where:-

(i) the accused misuses his liberty by indulging in similar criminal activity,

(ii) interferes with the course of investigation,

(iii) attempts to tamper with evidence or witnesses,

(iv) threatens witnesses or indulges in similar activities which would hamper smooth investigation,

(v) there is likelihood of his fleeing to another country,

(vi) attempts to make himself scarce by going underground or becoming unavailable to the investigating agency,

(vii) attempts to place himself beyond the reach of his surety, etc.

Apart from the above grounds for cancellation of bail it is to be kept in mind that rejection of bail and cancellation of bail are two different things wherein the cancellation of bail is a harsh step as it interferes with the liberty of an individual and thus the same should not be resorted to lightly.

5. Cancellation of bail can be done in cases where bail has been granted and the order suffers from serious infirmities which would result in miscarriage of justice, the Court while granting bail ignores relevant material showing prima facie involvement of the accused or it takes into account irrelevant material which has no relevance to the question of grant of bail to an accused.

6. The Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of Dataram Singh v. State of U.P. (2018) 3 SCC 22 held that freedom of an individual can not be curtailed for indefinite period, especially when his/her guilt is yet to be proved. It has further been held by the Hon'ble Apex Court in the aforesaid judgment that a person is believed to be innocent until found guilty. The Hon'ble Apex Court has held as under:

"2. A fundamental postulate of criminal jurisprudence is the presumption of innocence, meaning thereby that a person is believed to be innocent until found guilty. However, there are instances in our criminal law where a reverse onus has been placed on an accused with regard to some specific offences but that is another matter and does not detract from the fundamental postulate in respect of other offences. Yet another important facet of our criminal jurisprudence is that the grant of bail is the general rule and putting a person in jail or in a prison or in a correction home (whichever expression one may wish to use) is an exception. Unfortunately, some of these basic principles appear to have been lost sight of with the result that more and more persons are being incarcerated and for longer periods. This does not do any good to our criminal jurisprudence or to our society.

3. There is no doubt that the grant or denial of bail is entirely the discretion of the judge considering a case but even so, the exercise of judicial discretion has been circumscribed by a large number of decisions rendered by this Court and by every High Court in the country. Yet, occasionally there is a necessity to introspect whether denying bail to an accused person is the right thing to do on the facts and in the circumstances of a case.

4. While so introspecting, among the factors that need to be considered is whether the accused was arrested during investigations when that person perhaps has the best opportunity to tamper with the evidence or influence witnesses. If the investigating officer does not find it necessary to arrest an accused person during investigations, a strong case should be made out for placing that person in judicial custody after a charge sheet is filed. Similarly, it is important to ascertain whether the accused was participating in the investigations to the satisfaction of the investigating officer and was not absconding or not appearing when required by the investigating officer. Surely, if an accused is not hiding from the investigating officer or is hiding due to some genuine and expressed fear of being victimised, it would be a factor that a judge would need to consider in an appropriate case. It is also necessary for the judge to consider whether the accused is a first-time offender or has been accused of other offences and if so, the nature of such offences and his or her general conduct. The poverty or the deemed indigent status of an accused is also an extremely important factor and even Parliament has taken notice of it by incorporating an Explanation to Section 436 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973. An equally soft approach to incarceration has been taken by Parliament by inserting Section 436A in the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973.

5. To put it shortly, a humane attitude is required to be adopted by a judge, while dealing with an application for remanding a suspect or an accused person to police custody or judicial custody. There are several reasons for this including maintaining the dignity of an accused person, howsoever poor that person might be, the requirements of Article 21 of the Constitution and the fact that there is enormous overcrowding in prisons, leading to social and other problems as noticed by this Court in In Re-Inhuman Conditions in 1382 Prisons."

7. It is well settled that gravity alone cannot be a decisive ground to deny bail, rather competing factors are required to be balanced by the court while exercising its discretion. It has been repeatedly held by the Hon'ble Apex Court that object of bail is to secure the appearance of the accused person at his trial. The object of bail is neither punitive nor preventative. The Hon'ble Apex Court in Sanjay Chandra versus Central Bureau of Investigation (2012) 1 SCC 40 has been held as under:-

"The object of bail is to secure the appearance of the accused person at his trial by reasonable amount of bail. The object of bail is neither punitive nor preventative. Deprivation of liberty must be considered a punishment, unless it can be required to ensure that an accused person will stand his trial when called upon. The Courts owe more than verbal respect to the principle that punishment begins after conviction, and that every man is deemed to be innocent until duly tried and duly found guilty. Detention in custody pending completion of trial could be a cause of great hardship. From time to time, necessity demands that some unconvicted persons should be held in custody pending trial to secure their attendance at the trial but in such cases, "necessity" is the operative test. In India , it would be quite contrary to the concept of personal liberty enshrined in the Constitution that any person should be punished in respect of any matter, upon which, he has not been convicted or that in any circumstances, he should be deprived of his liberty upon only the belief that he will tamper with the witnesses if left at liberty, save in the most extraordinary circumstances. Apart from the question of prevention being the object of refusal of bail, one must not lose sight of the fact that any imprisonment before conviction has a substantial punitive content and it would be improper for any court to refuse bail as a mark of disapproval of former conduct whether the accused has been convicted for it or not or to refuse bail to an unconvicted person for the propose of giving him a taste of imprisonment as a lesson."

8. In Manoranjana Sinh alias Gupta versus CBI, (2017) 5 SCC 218, Hon'ble Apex Court has held as under:

"This Court in Sanjay Chandra vs. Central Bureau of Investigation (2012) 1 SCC 40, also involving an economic offence of formidable magnitude, while dealing with the issue of grant of bail, had observed that deprivation of liberty must be considered a punishment unless it is required to ensure that an accused person would stand his trial when called upon and that the courts owe more than verbal respect to the principle that punishment begins after conviction and that every man is deemed to be innocent until duly tried and found guilty. It was underlined that the object of bail is neither punitive nor preventive. This Court sounded a caveat that any imprisonment before conviction has a substantial punitive content and it would be improper for any court to refuse bail as a mark of disapproval of a conduct whether an accused has been convicted for it or not or to refuse bail to an unconvicted person for the purpose of giving him a taste of imprisonment as a lesson. It was enunciated that since the jurisdiction to grant bail to an accused pending trial or in appeal against conviction is discretionary in nature, it has to be exercised with care and caution by balancing the valuable right of liberty of an individual and the interest of the society in general. It was elucidated that the seriousness of the charge, is no doubt one of the relevant considerations while examining the application of bail but it was not only the test or the factor and that grant or denial of such privilege, is regulated to a large extent by the facts and circumstances of each particular case. That detention in custody of under-trial prisoners for an indefinite period would amount to violation of Article 21 of the Constitution was highlighted."

9. The Apex Court in Prasanta Kumar Sarkar versus Ashis Chatterjee and another (2010) 14 SCC 496, has laid down the following principles, while deciding petition for bail:

(i) whether there is any prima facie or reasonable ground to believe that the accused had committed the offence;

(ii) nature and gravity of the accusation;

(iii) severity of the punishment in the event of conviction;

(iv) danger of the accused absconding or fleeing, if r released on bail;

(v) character, behaviour, means, position and standing of the accused;

(vi) likelihood of the offence being repeated;

(vii) reasonable apprehension of the witnesses being influenced; and

(viii) danger, of course, of justice being thwarted by grant of bail.

The object of granting of bail is to secure the attendance of an accused in trial. The normal rule is of bail and not jail. The Court has to keep in mind the nature of acquisitions, nature of evidence in support thereof, severity of punishment, character of the accused and the circumstances which are peculiar to the accused involved in the matter.

10. Per contra learned A.G.A opposed the prayer for cancellation of bail on the ground that the court below after perusing the entire material came to a correct and a just decision of allowing the bail application and granting bail to the opposite party no. 2. It is further argued that the requirement for cancellation of bail is not made out and spelled out in any of the paragraphs of the affidavit. No misuse of bail has been alleged and even there is no averment regarding the accused tampering with evidence. Since charge-sheet has been submitted the investigation has concluded.

11. In the case in hand it is not the case of the first informant that irrelevant considerations have been taken into account while granting bail to the opposite party no. 2 / accused. The order granting bail specifically mentions therein that as per the charge-sheet there is no reported criminal antecedent of the accused. There is no averment whatsoever that while the investigation was continuing the accused has tampered or was tampering with evidence. The charge-sheet has been submitted against the opposite party no. 2 / accused. The accused was not arrested during investigation and a notice under Section 41 (1) of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 was served upon him. The allegations as referred to in paragraph 19 and 20 of the affidavit are vague and without any corroboration whatsoever. The same are extracted herein below:-

"19. That accused i.e. (opposite party no. 02) after having being released on bail is misusing the liberty of bail and is also tampering prosecution witnesses.

20. That intention of grant of bail is not to misuse liberty of bail, while in the present case accused i.e. (opposite party no. 02) after being released on bail is tampering First Informant / Applicant to prosecute the Criminal Case against accused i.e. (opposite party no. 02)."

12. After hearing the learned counsel for the parties and perusing the material on record, in my opinion there is no specific ground which would warrant interference by way of cancelling the bail of the opposite party no. 2 granted by the court below. The discretion as exercised vide order dated 29.11.2019 is just and proper and not demanding any interference whatsoever.

13. The present bail cancellation application is thus devoid of any merit and is hereby, dismissed.

Applicant/complainant sought transfer of bail application from Court of Special Judge SC/ST - alleging accused persons & concerned Presiding Officer both are Brahmin by caste, therefore accused will get relief from that court - Held - allegations leveled wholly vague & general in nature - not supported by any material on record - nothing on record to indicate that the presiding officer did any act calculated to create such an apprehension in the mind of the applicant that applicant would not get justice from Court where case is pending (Para 10)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Sanjay Kumar Singh, J.)

1. Heard Shri Ram Bahadur Singh learned counsel for the applicant, Shri N.D. Rai learned Additional Government Advocate-1st assisted by Shri Virendra Kumar Maurya learned A.G.A. for the state of U.P./ opposite party no.1 and perused the record.

2. This transfer application u/s 407 Cr.P.C. has been moved by applicant with the prayer to transfer the bail application No. 693 of 2019 (State Vs. Chandra Kumar Mishra), under Sections 323, 307, 504, 506 IPC and 3(2)5 SC/ST Act, Police Station Cantt., District Bareilly from the court of Special Judge SC/ST Bareilly to any other competent court of District court Bareilly.

3. Relevant facts of the case in brief as mentioned by the applicant in the present application are that the applicant is complainant, who has filed complaint dated 20.05.2016 against opposite party no.2 (Chandra Kumar Mishra) for the alleged offence under Sections 323, 325, 307, 357 IPC and 3(2)5 SC/ST Act, on which opposite party no.2 was summoned vide order dated 19.04.2018 by Special Judge, SC/ST Act, Bareilly to face trial. On 05.10.2019, opposite party no.2 filed his bail application praying therein to release him on bail. Thereafter applicant filed transfer application dated 11.10.2019 before District and Sessions Judge, Bareilly alleging that accused persons told the applicant that they are Brahmin by caste and the concerned Presiding Officer, who is their distant relative is also Brahmin by caste, therefore, they will get the relief from that court. It is also alleged that the opposite party no.2 has been spotted on several occasions by the applicant while coming out of the Court of the concerned judge and prayed therein to transfer bail application of opposite party no.2 from the court of Special Judge SC/ST Bareilly to any other competent court. On the aforesaid transfer application of the applicant, comment was called from the concerned presiding officer by the District Judge, Bareilly, who in turn submitted his report mentioning that apprehension expressed by the applicant is baseless, imaginary and fabricated. Neither he has any concern with the accused or complainant nor has any relation with them. On behalf of opposite party no.2 oral objection was raised before the District Judge, Bareilly, who after giving opportunity of hearing to the parties concerned rejected the transfer application (3 ka) of the applicant vide order dated 20.02.2020. Grounds of transfer of case as mentioned in transfer application are reproduced here in below:-

"1. अभियुक्तगण सम्बन्धित मामले के प्रार्थी से कहते है कि हम जाति से ब्राह्मण है और जो जज साहब एस०सी०ध्एस०टी कोर्ट मे हैए वो भी ब्राह्मण हैए जिनसे हमारी दूर की रिश्तेदारी हैए जिस कारण हमें इस न्यायालय से बहुत राहत मिलेगी।

2. सम्बन्धित मामले के प्रार्थी ने उक्त अभियुक्तगणों को एस०सी०ध्एस०टी० न्यायालय के जज साहब के चैम्बर से निकलते कई बार देखा है।

3. प्रार्थी को एस०सी०ध्एस०टी० न्यायालय के जज साहब से निष्पक्ष न्याय की कोई उम्मीद नही हैए क्योंकि सम्बन्धित मामले के अभियुक्तगण की जज साहब से काफी नजदीकी है।"

4. Learned counsel for the applicant reiterating the aforesaid allegations submits that on the said facts, applicant apprehends that he will not get justice from the court where the bail application of the opposite party no.2 is pending. No other submission has been raised on behalf of the applicant. Lastly, it is submitted that transfer application of the applicant is liable to be allowed.

5. Learned Additional Government Advocate countered the aforesaid submissions of learned counsel for the applicant by contending that the District Judge, Bareilly has rightly rejected the transfer application (3 ka) of the applicant vide order dated 20.02.2020. Except the oral allegation levelled by the applicant there is no material on record in support of allegation levelled by the applicant. It is also submitted that no detail has been given by the applicant on how the opposite party no.2 is related with the concerned presiding officer. The transfer application has been moved by the applicant for ulterior motive on flimsy grounds, therefore same is liable to be dismissed.

6. Here it is apposite to mention that in view of sub-section (1) of Section 407 Cr.P.C. a case can be transferred, whenever it is made to appear to High Court-

(a) that a fair and impartial inquiry or trial cannot be had in any criminal court subordinate thereto,or

(b) that some question of law of unusual difficulty is likely to arise; or

(c) that an order under this section is required by any provision of the code of criminal procedure,or will tend to the general convenience of the parties or witness,or is expedient for the ends of justice.

7. The Apex court has on several occasions considered the issue of transfer of cases in different circumstances and after elaborate and wholesome treatment laid down guidelines in this regard, which would be useful to quote here.

(i) In Gurcharan Dass Chadha Vs. State of Rajasthan AIR 1966 SC 1418, the Apex Court held:-

"13. .....A case is transferred if there is a reasonable apprehension on the part of a party to a case that justice will not be done. A petitioner is not required to demonstrate that justice will inevitably fail. He is entitled to a transfer if he shows circumstances from which it can be inferred that he entertains an apprehension and that it is reasonable in the circumstances alleged. It is one of the principles of the administration of justice that justice should not only be done but it should be seen to be done. However, a mere allegation that there is apprehension that justice will not be done in a given case does not office. The Court has further to see whether the apprehension is reasonable or not. To judge the reasonableness of the apprehension the State of the mind of the person who entertains the apprehension is no doubt relevant but that is not all. The apprehension must not only be entertained but must appear to the Court to be a reasonable apprehension."

(ii) In Maneka Sanjay Gandhi Vs. Rani Jethmalani (1979) 4 SCC 167, the Apex Court has observed as under:-

"2. Assurance of a fair trial is the first imperative of the dispensation of justice and the central criterion for the court to consider when a motion for transfer is made is not the hypersensitivity or relative convenience of a party or easy availability of legal services or like mini-grievances. Something more substantial, more compelling, more imperilling, from the point of view of public justice and its attendant environment, is necessitous if the Court is to exercise its power of transfer. This is the cardinal principle although the circumstances may be myriad and vary from case to case. We have to test the petitioner's grounds on this touchstone bearing in mind the rule that normally the complainant has the right to choose any court having jurisdiction and the accused cannot dictate where the case against him should be tried. Even so, the process of justice should not harass the parties and from that angle the court may weigh the circumstances."

(iii) In K.P. Tiwari Vs. State of M.P. 1994 SCC (Cri) 712 Apex court has held :-

"4....It has also to be remembered that the lower judicial officers mostly work under a charged atmosphere and are constantly under a psychological pressure with all the contestants and their lawyers almost breathing down their necks - more correctly up to their nostrils. They do not have the benefit of a detached atmosphere of the higher courts to think coolly and decide patiently. Every error, however gross it may look, should not, therefore, be attributed to improper motive."

(iv) In Abdul Nazar Madani Vs. State of Tamil Nadu (2000) 6 SCC 204, the Apex Court observed as follows:-

"7. The purpose of the criminal trial is to dispense fair and impartial justice uninfluenced by extraneous considerations. When it is shown that public confidence in the fairness of a trial would be seriously undermined, any party can seek the transfer of a case within the State under Section 407 and anywhere in the country under Section 406 of the Cr.P.C. The apprehension of not getting a fair and impartial inquiry or trial is required to be reasonable and not imaginary, based upon conjectures and surmises. If it appears that the dispensation of criminal justice is not possible impartially and objectively and without any bias, before any Court on even at any place, the appropriate Court may transfer the case to another Court where it feels that holding of fair and proper trial is conducive. No universal or hard and fast rules can be prescribed for deciding a transfer petition which has always to be decided on the basis of the facts of each case. Convenience of the parties including the witnesses to be produced at the trial is also a relevant consideration for deciding the transfer petition. The convenience of the parties does not necessarily mean the convenience of the petitioners alone who approached the Court on misconceived notions of apprehension. Convenience for the purposes of transfer means the convenience of the prosecution, other accused, the witnesses and the larger interest of the society."

(v) In K. Anbazhagan Vs. Superintendent of Police (2004) 3 SCC 767 the Apex Court had held as follows:-

"30. Free and fair trial is sine qua non of Article 21 of the Constitution. It is trite law that justice should not only be done but it should be seen to have been done. If the criminal trial is not free and fair and not free from bias, judicial fairness and the criminal justice system would be at stake shaking the confidence of the public in the system and woe would be the rule of law. It is important to note that in such a case the question is not whether the petitioner is actually biased but the question is whether the circumstances are such that there is a reasonable apprehension in the mind of the petitioner."

(vi) In Zahira Habibulla H. Sheikh Vs. State of Gujarat (2004) 4 SCC 158 Apex court propounded that fair trial obviously would mean a trial before an impartial judge, a fair prosecutor and atmosphere of judicial calm. Fair trial means a trial in which bias or prejudice for or against the accused, the witnesses, or the cause which is being tried is eliminated.

(vii) In the case of Captain Amarinder Singh Vs. Parkash Singh Badal and others (2009) 6 SCC 260, the Apex Court while dealing with two transfer applications preferred under section 406 of the Code, on the ground that with the change in State Government, the trial was suffering setback due to the influence of the new Chief Minister as also the lack of interest by the Public Prosecutor, has observed in paras 18, 19 and 20 as follows:-

"18. For a transfer of a criminal case, there must be a reasonable apprehension on the part of the party to a case that justice will not be done. It is one of the principles of administration of justice that justice should not only be done but it should be seen to be done. On the other hand, mere allegations that there is apprehension that justice will not be done in a given case does not suffice. In other words, the court has further to see whether apprehension alleged is a reasonable or not. The apprehension must not only be entertained but must appear to the court to be a reasonable apprehension.

19. Assurance of a fair trial is the first imperative of the dispensation of justice. The purpose of the criminal trial is to dispense fair and impartial justice uninfluenced by extraneous considerations. When it is shown that the public confidence in the fairness of a trial would be seriously undermined, the aggrieved party can seek the transfer of a case within the State underSection 407and anywhere in the country underSection 406Cr.P.C.

20. However, the apprehension of not getting a fair and impartial inquiry or trial is required to be reasonable and not imaginary. Free and fair trial is sine qua non of Article 21of the Constitution. If the criminal trial is not free and fair and if it is biased, judicial fairness and the criminal justice system would be at stake, shaking the confidence of the public in the system. The apprehension must appear to the Court to be a reasonable one."

(viii) In the case of Nahar Singh Yadav and another Vs. Union of India and others JT 2010 (12) 641, the Apex Court has observed as follows:-

"Thus, although no rigid and inflexible rule or test could be laid down to decide whether or not power under Section 406 of the Cr.P.C. should be exercised, it is manifest from a bare reading of sub-sections (2) and (3) of the said Section and on an analysis of the decisions of this Court that an order of transfer of trial is not to be passed as a matter of routine or merely because an interested party has expressed some apprehension about the proper conduct of a trial. This power has to be exercised cautiously and in exceptional situations, where it becomes necessary to do so to provide credibility to the trial. Some of the broad factors which could be kept in mind while considering an application for transfer of the trial are:-

(i) when it appears that the State machinery or prosecution is acting hand in glove with the accused, and there is likelihood of miscarriage of justice due to the lackadaisical attitude of the prosecution;

(ii) when there is material to show that the accused may influence the prosecution witnesses or cause physical harm to the complainant;

(iii) comparative inconvenience and hardships likely to be caused to the accused, the complainant/the prosecution and the witnesses, besides the burden to be borne by the State Exchequer in making payment of travelling and other expenses of the official and non-official witnesses;

(iv) a communally surcharged atmosphere, indicating some proof of inability of holding fair and impartial trial because of the accusations made and the nature of the crime committed by the accused; and

(v) existence of some material from which it can be inferred that the some persons are so hostile that they are interfering or are likely to interfere either directly or indirectly with the course of justice."

(ix) In Lalu Prasad Vs. State of Jharkhand (2013) 8 SCC 593, Apex court has observed as under. :-

"20. Independence of judiciary is the basic feature of the Constitution. It demands that a Judge who presides over the trial, the Public Prosecutor who presents the case on behalf of the State and the lawyer vis-a-vis amicus curiae who represents the accused must work together in harmony in the public interest of justice uninfluenced by the personality of the accused or those managing the affairs of the State. They must ensure that their working does not lead to creation of conflict between justice and jurisprudence. A person whether he is a judicial officer or a Public Prosecutor or a lawyer defending the accused should always uphold the dignity of their high office with a full sense of responsibility and see that its value in no circumstance gets devalued. The public interest demands that the trial should be conducted in a fair manner and the administration of justice would be fair and independent."

(x) This Court in case of Amit Agarwal Vs. Atul Gupta 2014 (11) ADJ 414 (All.) considering the scope of transfer in such a matter has held that:-

"24. Mere suspicion by the party that he will not get justice would not justify transfer. There must be a reasonable apprehension to that effect. A judicial order made by a Judge legitimately cannot be made foundation for a transfer of case. Mere presumption of possible apprehension should not and ought not be the basis of transfer of any case from one case to another. It is only in very special circumstances, when such grounds are taken, the Court must find reasons exist to transfer a case, not otherwise. (Rajkot Cancer Society vs. Municipal Corporation, Rajkot, AIR 1988 Gujarat 63; Pasupala Fakruddin and Anr. vs. Jamia Masque and Anr., AIR 2003 AP 448; and, Nandini Chatterjee vs. Arup Hari Chatterjee, AIR 2001 Culcutta 26)

25. Where a transfer is sought making allegations regarding integrity or influence etc. in respect of the Presiding Officer of the Court, this Court has to be very careful before passing any order of transfer.

26. In the matters where reckless false allegations are attempted to be made to seek some favourable order, either in a transfer application, or otherwise, the approach of Court must be strict and cautious to find out whether the allegations are bona fide, and, if treated to be true on their face, in the entirety of circumstances, can be believed to be correct, by any person of ordinary prudence in those circumstances. If the allegations are apparently false, strict approach is the call of the day so as to maintain not only discipline in the courts of law but also to protect judicial officers and maintain their self esteem, confidence and above all the majesty of institution of justice."

(xi) The Apex Court in case of Usmangani Adambhai Vahora Vs. State of Gujarat and another (2016) 3 SCC 370 considering the previous judgments of the Supreme Court has held:-

"Seeking transfer at the drop of a hat is inconceivable. An order of transfer is not to be passed as a matter of routine or merely because an interested party has expressed some apprehension about proper conduct of the trial. The power has to be exercised cautiously and in exceptional situations, where it becomes necessary to do so to provide credibility to the trial. There has to be a real apprehension that there would be miscarriage of justice."

8. In view of dictum and guidelines laid down by the Apex court, as mentioned above, this court is also of the view that the power of transfer of a case must be exercised meticulously with precision under compelling circumstances, where on the basis of material on record it appears to the court that there is strong reason for doing so and by not transferring the case there would be miscarriage of justice. No universal or hard and fast rules can be applied for deciding a transfer application which has always to be decided on the basis of facts of each case. It is also well settled that the apprehension concerned, has to be one which would establish that justice will not be done. The apprehension of not getting a fair and impartial justice is required to be reasonable based on strong material and not hypothetical. Merely making vague allegation that there is an apprehension in the mind of applicant that justice will not be done in a given case alone does not suffice.

9. Considering the facts and circumstances of the case and submissions of learned counsel for the parties in the light of guidelines laid down by the Apex court, I find that allegations leveled by the applicant as mentioned above are wholly vague and general in nature, which are not supported by any material on record. Now a days such kind of frivolous allegations and triviality are being used unflinchingly by one party of a case as a tool to pressurize the presiding officer to settle its personal score. Entertaining such kind of frivolous allegations without any strong material on record will indirectly cast stigma upon the concerned Presiding Officer for no fault of his. Any such attempt made by any person must be discarded in order to maintain judicial discipline, otherwise on each and every step of proceeding either party will try to hamper the judicial proceeding adopting different modus operandi in justice delivery system and it will very difficult for them to discharge their judicial function with free mind. In the opinion of this court apprehension expressed by the applicant is not reasonable. There is no basis for the apprehension of the applicant that he will not get proper justice. There is nothing on record to indicate that the presiding officer has done any act calculated to create such an apprehension in the mind of the applicant. Illegitimate apprehension without any basis/material on record cannot constitute a legitimate ground to transfer a case from one court to another court. The grounds set out by the applicant do not justify the transfer of case as prayed by the applicant. I do not find any good ground to interfere in the matter. There is no error or illegality in the order dated 20.02.2020 passed by District Judge, Bareilly.

10. Consequently transfer application being sans merit stands dismissed.

11. Office is directed to communicate this order to the concerned court below within two weeks.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Rajan Roy, J.)

1. This is a revision under Section 25 of the Provincial Small Causes Courts Act, 1887 (herein after referred as Act, 1887) by the tenant challenging the judgment and decree dated 16.12.2008 passed by the SCC Court in SCC Suit no. 2 of 2006.

2. The facts of the case in brief are that a suit was filed by the respondent landlord before the SCC Court bearing no. 2 of 2006 for arrears of rent, damages and eviction after determining the tenancy. The suit in question was decreed ex-parte on 18.08.2006. The revisionist herein who was the defendant in the suit filed an application under Order IX Rule 13 CPC for setting aside the ex-parte decree on 04.09.2006 which was registered as Miscellaneous Case no. 12 of 2006. On 30.11.2006 an application bearing no. 16(g) was filed for passing the tender for deposit of Rs. 15,775/- which was the decretal amount as per ex-parte decree dated 18.08.2006, under Section 17 of the Act, 1887 which requires the deposit of such amount. The said application was allowed on 08.12.2006 by the Court with the observation that deposit may be made by the applicant tenant at his own risk. Accordingly, on the said date itself the aforesaid deposit was made. Subsequently on 06.10.2007 another application bearing no. 29(g) was filed and was allowed for depositing additional amount of Rs. 3570/- under Section 17 of the Act, 1887. The application under Order IX Rule 13 was allowed by the SCC Court on 13.11.2007 and the ex-parte decree dated 18.08.2006 was set aside. After the decree being set aside, the amount deposited under Section 17 of the Act, 1887 was available to the revisionist tenant for being withdrawn but he did not do so and this fact is not in dispute.

3. It is not out of place to mention that the aforesaid amount under Section 17 of the Act, 1887 is in the nature of security for the decreetal amount as per the ex-parte decree, meaning thereby, in the event the application under Order IX

Rule 13 is rejected then the said deposit can be utilised for satisfying the ex-parte decree. However, if the decree is set aside then there is no question of its satisfaction and the tenant can withdraw the same unless he has filed an application or otherwise requested that that the said amount be treated as a deposit under Section 20(4) of the U.P. Urban Buildings (Regulation of Letting, Rent and Eviction) Act, 1972, (herein after referred as Act, 1972) if the said provision applies, in a given case.

4. After the setting aside of the decree, 20.12.2007 was fixed as the date for filing of written statement which was further extended to 09.01.2008, 16.01.2008 and then to 23.01.2008 when the written statement was filed by the revisionist.

5. It is not out of place to mention that in an SCC Suit issues are not required to be framed and every date is a date of hearing as the procedure to be followed is summary in nature.

6. Thereafter, the matter was proceeded by the SCC Court and the suit was again decreed after hearing the parties on 16.12.2008. The SCC Court found the landlord tenant relationship to be established and it also found that tenancy had been determined by a valid notice. On the question of rate of rent as there was a dispute, the Court recorded a finding that the rent was Rs. 100/- per month and not Rs. 375/- per month as was being claimed by the landlord. It needs to be mentioned that the landlord has not challenged this finding. The SCC Court also recorded a finding about the tenant being in arrears of rent. However, on the question of application of Section 20(4) of the Act, 1972, as the said Act was applicable to the facts of the case a plea was raised on behalf of the tenant that the deposit already made under Section 17 of the Act, 1887 should be treated as a deposit under Section 20(4) along with the deposits made under Section 30 of the said Act and the rent paid during pendency of the suit, which, according to him satisfied the requirements of Sub-Section 4 of Section 20. The SCC Court did not accept this plea on the ground that in view of the decision of a Single Judge Bench of this Court in the case of Bhragu Dutt Singh Vs. Shyam Kishore, 1980 LLJ Page 62 it was impermissible to treat or adjust the deposit made under Section 17 of the Act, 1887 as a deposit under Section 20(4) of the Act, 1972. It needs to be mentioned that the Court below did not reject the plea on the ground that no such application for treating the deposit under Section 17 of the Act, 1887 as a deposit under Section 20(4) of the Act, 1972 was made by the tenant on the first date of hearing or thereafter but it was rejected on merits as being impermissible.

7. Accordingly, the suit was decreed in favour of the plaintiff and it was ordered that the defendant would pay to the plaintiff rent of 3 years @ Rs. 100/- per month i.e. Rs. 3600/-, arrears of water tax of 3 years i.e. Rs. 1350/- and damages for illegal use and occupation of the premises for 3 years @ Rs. 100/- i.e. Rs. 3600/- and Rs. 550/- as cost of the notice along with 6% simple interest thereon and shall hand over vacant possession of the tenanted premises to the plaintiff decree holder. If the aforesaid order was not complied by 12.02.2009 then the plaintiff would have a right to get the judgment and decree executed through the Court.

8. Shri B.K. Saxena, learned counsel for the petitioner confined his argument only on the question of permissibility of the deposit made under the proviso to Section 17 of the Act, 1887 being adjusted or treated as a deposit under Section 20(4) of the Act, 1972 he contended that the Court below erred in holding that it was impermissible. It was also his argument that the Court did not even determine the "first date of hearing'. In this regard, he relied upon Single Judge Bench decisions of this Court reported in (1982) 1 ARC Page 16, Sunt Ram Gupta Vs. Ratan Prakash; (1984) 1 ARC Page 4 Lacchi Ram Vs. Ist ADJ; (1987) (1) AWC 354 Badi Uzzaman Vs. DJ, Kanpur; (1990) 1 ARC 293, Mahadeo Singh Vs. Sheshnarayan Pathak; (2006) 63 ALR 269 (All.), Satish Kumar Dutta Vs. Additional District Judge, Kanpur and judgment dated 14.08.2012 rendered in the case of Ravi Shankar Kansal Vs. District Judge, Aligarh, Writ A no. 53074 of 1999.

9. Learned counsel for the respondent, Shri Mohd. Sayeed contended that revisionist having not made the deposit under Section 20 (4) at any point of time it was not necessary for the Court below to determine the first date of hearing for the purposes of Section 20(4) of the Act, 1972. He submitted that the said provision was discretionary in the sense that the tenant could, if he so chose, make the said deposit to avoid eviction, therefore, it was necessary for the revisionist to have filed an application evincing his intent to avail the benefit of the said provision with the request for treating the amount deposited under the proviso to Section 17 of the Act, 1887 as a deposit under Section 20 (4) of the Act, 1972, which was never done, therefore, the plea was not liable to be accepted and has rightly been rejected by the Court. However, on being asked as to whether it is permissible in law to treat a deposit made under the proviso to Section 17 of the Act, 1887 as a deposit under Section 20(4) of the Act, 1972 and to adjust it accordingly, the learned counsel fairly stated that it was permissible but an application was necessarily requried to be filed in this regard. He also contended that there was no compliance of Order XV Rule 5 CPC in response to which Shri B.K. Saxena submitted that this was not the ground of rejection by the SCC Court and in any case the amount had already been deposited under the proviso to Section 17 of the Act, 1887. He has relied upon the decisions reported in 2003 (1) SCC, E. Palanisamy Vs. Palanisamy; 2003 SCC 433, Balwant Singh and others Vs. Anand Kumar Sharma and others; 2016 (3) ARC 459, Moinuddin alias Mamo and 2 others Vs. State of U.P. and others; 2004 (57) ALR 776, Krishna Kumar Gupta Vs. Additional District Judge 14th, Allahabad and others.

10. The only question which this Court is required to consider in this revision is as to whether the Court below was right in rejecting the plea of the revisionist-tenant regarding permissibility of adjustment of the deposit made under the proviso to Section 17 of the Act, 1887 as a deposit under Section 20 (4) of the Act, 1972 by placing reliance upon the decision of this Court in the case of Bhragu Dutt Singh (Supra) and whether it was right in not deciding thereafter, as to whether after such adjustment the requirements of Section 20 (4) were satisfied so as to enable the tenant to avoid eviction or not.

11. The findings of the SCC Court with regard to other issues have not been challenged and no arguments were advanced by Shri Saxena on these findings, therefore, the said findings have attained finality between the parties including the finding as to the rate of rent being Rs. 100/- as claimed by the tenant and not Rs. 375/- as claimed by the landlord.

12. On a perusal of the decision of this Court in Bhragu Dutt Singh (Supra), which has been relied upon by the Court below, it is found that the said decision nowhere says that the amount deposited under proviso to Section 17 of the Act, 1887 cannot be adjusted or treated as an amount deposited under Section 20(4) of the Act, 1972. In fact, in the said case the question before the Court below was as to whether such deposit under the proviso to Section 17 could be adjusted or treated as a deposit contemplated under Order XV Rule 5 CPC. The Courts below rejected the plea that it was permissible for treating the said amount as a deposit under Order XV Rule 5 CPC. The High Court discussed the nature of the deposit under the proviso to Section 17 and held that the said amount stands as security only against the ex-parte decree. Once the ex-parte decree is set aside, the defendant is entitled to take back that amount. The amount is not to remain in deposit until the satisfaction of the decree that may ultimately be passed thereafter on contest. It is, however, undisputed that it was not open to the plaintiff-opposite party to have withdrawn that amount. Until a specific order of the Court was passed, the amount lying in deposit could not be treated as available for payment of rent or damages for use and occupation which the defendant is liable to pay under Order XV Rule 5 CPC. Now these observations by this Court nowhere say that the amount deposited under the proviso to Section 17 of the Act, 1887 cannot be treated as available for payment under Order XV Rule 5 CPC. In fact, these observation clearly state that if a specific order of the Court is passed then it can be so treated. Furthermore, the Court set aside the order of the Court below in the said case on the ground that the provisions of Order XV Rule 5 CPC which are penal in nature should be liberally construed in as much as the defendant is being shut out from pleading even true facts in his defence and that in the said case the Courts below had not approached the matter from this angle. It observed that it was incumbent on the Courts below to have considered the question of Condonation of the default. The money was lying in custodia legis. Furthermore, the High Court referred to its decision in Lakhveer Singh vs. Sarla Devi, (Civil Misacellaneous Case no. 4 of 1975) decided on 02.08.1979 to record that it had opined in the said case that while Section 20 (4) was to be construed strictly against the tenant, in as much as the tenant, who had become liable to eviction under Section 20 (2) (a), is seeking relief against the liability, the provisions of Order XV Rule 5 CPC, which are penal in nature should be liberally construed in as much as a defendant is being shut out from pleading even true facts in his defence. It observed that in the instant case the Courts below had not approached the matter from this angle and that it was incumbent on the Courts below to have considered the question of condonation of the default as the money was lying in custodia legis. It also observed that it is true that until 01.01.1977, the landlord did not have a right to withdraw the amount without an order of the Court but in these circumstances there was no substantial prejudice to the landlord. It referred to a decision of the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Duli Chand Vs. Moman Chand, AIR 1979 SC 1307; wherein it was held by their Lordships that it was open to the Court to order payment of the money which was in custodia legis to the landlord.

13. The High Court further observed that although provision construed in that case by the Supreme Court was different the fact that requisite money was lying in custodia legis was a relevant consideration which had been wrongly ignored by the Courts below, and on this ground the revision was allowed by the High Court and the orders of the Courts below rejecting the plea were set aside. In this view of the matter except for the passing observations regarding strict construction of Section 20 (4), there is nothing in the said judgment which could persuade the Court below to arrive at the conclusion that a deposit under Section 17 of the Act, 1887 could not be adjusted or treated as a deposit under Section 20 (4) of the Act, 1972. The Court below has clearly misconstrued the said judgment. In fact, the reliance placed in the said judgment upon the decision of the Supreme Court in Duli Chand, wherein it has been held that it was open to the Court to order payment of the money which was in custodia legis to the landlord, far from going against the tenant was in his favour in the facts of the present case also. The question as to whether such deposit could be treated as one under Section 20 (4) of the Act, 1972 was, strictly speaking, not directly involved in Bhragu Dutt Singh.

14. In fact, there are other decisions of this Court wherein it has been held that a liberal interpretation of Section 20 (4) of the Act, 1972 should be given for protecting the object of the said provision which is in favour of the tenant. In the decision of this Court in the case of Lacchi Ram (Supra) the issues specifically considered by the Court were firstly, whether deposit under Section 17 of Provincial Small Causes Courts Act, 1887 for setting aside ex-parte decree could be taken into account for relieving the tenant from liability of eviction under Sub-section 4 of Section 20 of the Act, 1972. Secondly, whether deposit made prior to the date of first hearing, within meaning of aforesaid Sub-section could be deemed to have discharged the tenant of his application only if an application was made to that effect on or before the said date. The Court in the said judgment held as under on Paragraph 2, 4 and 7.

" 2. .....Sub-section (4) manifests Legislature's anxiety to save the tenant from ejectment. By very nature of the objective sought to be achieved by this sub-section it has to be construed liberally....."

4. Unconditional, payment or deposit by the tenant of arrears interest and cost is the other requirement. The sub-section does not provide the manner of deposit. Nor does it require filing of an application. In fact it could not because unconditional governs not only deposit in Court but also to tendering of amount or payment to landlord. Whether deposit or payment was unconditional, therefore, shall depend on facts and circumstances of each case. It cannot depend on filing or non-filing of application. In a case where deposit is made in Court what is of prima importance is if the amount as required has been deposited before first date of hearing. If it has been, then it does not become conditional merely because no application had been filed. Nor any oral or written request by way of application filed after date of hearing can be ignored as it was not made on or first date of hearing. If deposit is made with no string attached to it then it can be clarified, if necessary by subsequent application which should relate back to the relevant time that is first date of hearing. Moreover, if deposit as required, is made then the last part of the section that is relieving the tenant against his liability for eviction comes into operation automatically Although word is "may' but in the context in which it has been used and the purpose it seeks to achieve it has to be read as "shall'. A decree for eviction in a suit filed under Section 20(2)(a) of the Act where the tenant has deposited the arrears, interest, and costs of the suit at the first date of hearing shall be illegal. Therefore, it is the duty of Court under this sub-section to see it deposit made with it after deducting deposit under Section 30 of the Act is sufficient to relieve the tenant from his liability of eviction or not. It is not the making of application, but deposit as contemplated at the first date of hearing which is material.

5. So far facts of the case are concerned, the Courts below appear to have committed manifest error of law in refusing to extend the benefit of sub-section (4) of Section 20 to petitioner either because no application was filed or the one filed did not indicate that deposit was unconditional. It has already been seen that no application is necessary Manifestation of unconditional deposit could be written or oral either by tenant of his own or at the instance of the Court. In the application filed on 24th April, 1975 it was mentioned, "arrears of rent have been deposited up-to-date in the Court of City Munsif, Meerut under Section 30 is admitted to the plaintiffs also. Now the disputed rent along with costs of the suit have also been deposited in Court of Judge Small Causes by the defendants. If the Court also came to the conclusion that defendant had not paid the disputed arrears of rent to the plaintiff then for the purposes of default benefit of Section 20 (4) be given to the defendant as he has already deposited the disputed rent again, plus costs of the suit. Otherwise so extra deposited rent be returned to the defendant. It clearly mentioned about the deposit of rent and cost of the suit etc. Benefit was claimed under Section 20 (4). Refund was claimed of excess. This could not be construed as rendering deposit conditional. Nor the prayer that if Court finds that petitioner had not paid rent it may be taken as deposit under Section 20(4). What is required to be deposited is the arrears fo rent, interest and costs. If it had been paid and petitioner by way of abundant caution deposited the amount again claiming that if it was found that he was in arrears the amount deposited may be adjusted, it could not be held to be conditional deposit.

6. Now comes the most crucial controversy namely if deposit of Rs. 736.75/- made under Section 17 of S.C.C. Act could be treated as deposit under Section 20(4). The suit was decreed ex parte. Petitioner applied for setting aside of ex parte decree under Section 17 of Small Cause Courts Act, and deposited Rs. 736.75/-, the entire decretal amount, the condition precedent for moving the application. The decree was set aside and order decreeing suit ex parte was recalled. Although under law the amount could have been withdrawn by petitioner but he did not do so and it continued to remain in deposit with Court at the first date of hearing What would be nature of this deposit. It could not continue to be deposit under Section 17 of the Small Cause Courts Act. At the same time it cannot be disputed that it comprised of arrears of rent found due till then, costs of suit etc. What is urged is that once decree was set aside ownership reverted to petitioner. It did not vest in Court. Not could the opposite party appropriate it under Sub-section (6) of the Act And that being one of the incidents of the deposit under Sub-section (4), the deposit under Section 17 could not be taken into account. The argument proceeds on misapprehension. The amount deposited by tenant for setting aside of ex parte decree is in custody of Court. It continues to be so even after the application was allowed nd the deree was set aside. Even in respect of deposit under Sub-section (4) the landlord does not get any right. The amount becomes available and it can be withdrawn by landlord only after filing of application. Therefore, there is no charm or magic whether deposit was made in once capacity or the other so long it is deposited with Court before first date of hearing. If from circumstances it appears that the tenant in order to save himself from misery or eviction was a bona fide depositing or had deposited and complied with stringent and harsh conditions provided in Sub-section (4), then he should not be denied the benefit on one or the other pretext by finding loophole due to mistake in not making the application or not withdrawing the deposit under Section 17 and then redepositing it under Sub-section (4). The word deposit should not be construed in pedantic manner. It should be understood and interpreted so as to advance the object of the provision. The amount deposited under Section 17 exhausted its purpose one ex parte decree was set aside and it became deposit with Court.

7. Reliance was placed by learned counsel for opposite party on Prem Pal Gupta Vs. Baboo Ram Garg, 1978(1) All India Rent Control Journal 446, and it was urged that the amount deposited under Section 17 does not become ipso facto available for purposes of Sub-section(4). In that case no application was made for treating the deposit under Section 17 of Small Cause Court as deposit under Sub-section (4). In this case, however, the petitioner moved an application on 24th May 1975 stating that now he had deposited costs of suit etc. Although it was not said that deposit under Section 17 may be treated as deposit under Sub-section (4) but apart from deposit under Section 7C of Act III of 1947 and Section 30 of the Act the only other deposit was under Section 17. The averment in the application that cost etc. had now been deposited could not refer to any other deposit except the deposit which had been made under Section 17. Claiming of benefit under Sub-section (4) for deposit made before Judge Small Cause Court left no room for doubt that petitioner had prayed that earlier deposit may be treated as deposit for purpose of granting immunity from eviction. The application may be vague or there may be some technical flaw. Yet there being no misgiving about its content and petitioner's anxiety to save himself from eviction he could not be refused relief because of bad drafting of the application for which petitioner may not have been responsible."

15. The Court categorically held that Sub-section 4 of the Section 20 manifests legislatures anxiety to save the tenant from ejectment. By very nature of the objective sought to be achieved by this Sub-section it has to be construed liberally. It went on to hold that Sub-section 4 of the Section 20 does not require filing of an application Sine qua non of Section 20 (4) is whether the amount as required has been deposited in the Court before the first date of hearing or not? It was also held that any oral or written request after the first date of hearing cannot be ignored in this regard on the ground that it was not made on or before first date of hearing. If deposit is made on or before the first date of hearing without any strings attached then it could be clarified, if necessary, by subsequent application which should relate back to the relevant time i.e. first date of hearing. It is not the making of application but deposit as contemplated at the first date of hearing which is material. Thus, what follows, from the said decision is that if a deposit has been made under the provisio to Section 17 of the Act, 1887 on or before the first date of hearing as referred in Section 20 (4) of the Act, 1972, then, when on the first date of hearing or even thereafter an oral or written request is made for creating such deposit under the proviso to Section 17 of the Act, 1887, as one under Section 20 (4) of the Act, 1972, then firstly it is permissible to do so and the fact that such request had been made subsequent to the date of first hearing would be immaterial if the deposit has been made prior to it, Secondly, in such eventuality it would be for the Court to see if the deposit made with it is sufficient to relieve the tenant from liability of eviction or not?

16. In the said case an application was filed on date of first hearing and the same was treated to be good enough for the purpose of Section 20 (4).

17. It has also been held in the aforesaid decision that once the decree was set aside under law although the amount deposited under the proviso to Section 17 of the Act, 1887 could have been withdrawn by the petitioner(tenant) in the said case but he did not do so and it continued to remain in deposit with Court at the first date of hearing. It then considered the position as to What would be the nature of such deposit? It held that the nature of this deposit could not continue to be a deposit under Section 17 of the Act, 1887 as the decree has been set aside, but at the same time, it could not be disputed that it comprised of arrears of rent found due till then cost of suit etc. The Court repelled the argument that once the decree was set aside ownership of the amount deposited reverted to the petitioner and it did not vest in the Court nor could the opposite party appropriate it under Sub-section 6 of the Section 2 of the Act, 1972 and that it being one of the incidents of the deposit under Sub-section (4), the deposit under Section 17 could not be taken into account. The Court held that the amount deposited by the tenant for setting aside of ex-parte decree is in custody of the Court and it continues to be so. It is not out of place to once again refer to the reliance placed by the High Court in Bhragu Dutt Singh case upon the decision of the Supreme Court in Phool Chand (Supra) wherein it was held that it was open to the Court to order payment of the money which was in custodia legis, to the landlord. In Lacchhi Ram case, the same reasoning has been followed. The High Court in Lacchhi Ram further held the amount to be in the custody of the Court even after the application was allowed and the decree was set aside. Even in respect of the deposit in Sub-section 4 of the Section 20 landlord does not get any right. The amount becomes available and it can be withdrawn by the landlord only after filing of application by him, which is obviously a reference to Sub-section 6 of Section 20 which requires an application to be filed by the landlord for withdrawal of the amount deposited under Sub-section 4, therefore, the Court observed that there was no charm or magic whether deposit was made in one capacity or the other so long as it is deposited with Court before first date of hearing. Most importantly, it went on to observe that if from circumstances it appears that the tenant in order to save himself from misery or eviction was bonafide depositing or had deposited and complied with stringent and harsh conditions provided in Sub-section (4), then he should not be denied the benefit on one or the other pretext by finding loopholes due to mistake in making the application or not withdrawing the deposit under Section 17 and then redeposit it under sub-section (4). The word deposit should not be construed in pedantic manner. It should be understood and interpreted so as to advance the object of the provision. The amount deposited under Sub-section 17 exhausted its purpose once ex-parte decree was set aside and it became deposit with Court. The Court thus held that it was permissible to treat such deposit as one under Section 20 (4) of the Act, 1972. Reference may also be made in this regard to other decisions rendered in the case of Badi Uzzaman (Supra) wherein a deposit made under the proviso to Section 17 of the Act, 1887 was held to be liable for consideration as a deposit under Section 39 of the Act, 1972. Likewise is the decision of this Court in the case of Mahadeo Singh(Supra) wherein it was held that an amount deposited under Section 20 (4) of the Act, 1972 could be taken into consideration for the purpose of satisfaction of the requirement of proviso to Section 17 of the Act, 1887 and vice versa. Paragraph 7 to 12 of this decision are quoted herein below.

" 7. To appreciate the point raised, it may first be seen what is the purpose for which the decretal amount or security in lieu thereof is required to be deposited as condition precedent to entertain an application for setting aside the ex parte deree passed by Judge, Small Cause Court. Clearly, the purpose is that so long the application for setting aside ex parte decree is not disposed of, the decretal amount or the security should be at the disposal of the Court, so that in case the application for setting aside ex parte decree is dismissed, the decree may be satisfied from the amount deposited or form the security furnished by the judgment debtor. In this connection, observations made in a case reported in 1981 ALJ 989, Smt. Krishna devi Vs. Shobha Chandra, can be beneficially noted.

8. The trial Court has attached mush importance to the fact that the amount in deposit was not an unconditional deposit as the same was deposited under Section 20(4) of the Act No. 13 of 1972 under protest, challenging the rate of rent. As a matter of fact, it is here that the trial Court has misdirected itself. The question of conditional deposit under Section 20 (4) of Act No. 13 of 1972 has no relevance for the purposes of consideratio of question whether the deposit could be accepted as security, if so offered, under proviso to Section 17(1) of the Provincial Small Cause Courts Act. Without recording any finding, whether the deposit made was conditional or unconditional, it may be observed that so far the prayer for taking this deposit as security is concerned, there was no condition attached to it for the purposes of treating it as security under Section 17 (1) of the Provincial Small Cause Courts Act. It cannot be said that any condition was attached for that purpose. The question whether it was a conditional deposit or not, under Section 20(4) of the Act No. 13 of 1972, would be a matter for consideration while disposing of the case on merits as well as the effect of such a deposit. The amount in depoist in the court is more than the amount as decreed under ex parte decree. In case the application for setting aside the ex parte decree is dismissed, the decretal amount can very well be realised from the deposit for which a request was made to take it as security under proviso to Section 17(1) of the Provincial Small Cause Courts Act. No doubt it has been metioned in the application, moved for accepting the amount in deposit as security, that the said amount was deposited under Section 20(4) of the Act No. 13 of 1972, under protest, but no condition has been attached for accepting it as security; rather the prayer is that the amount of Rs. 7,349.70/- which the applicant had deposited, may be treated as security. In this connection, it may also be observed that as soon as the decree has been passed and so long it subsits the dispute as regards rate of rent will also be taken to have been decided by the ex parte decree, decreeing the rent at the rate of Rs. 100/- per month as claimed by the plaintiff opposite party. After a decree had been passed accepting the rate of rent as claimed by the plaintiff, it could not be said that out of the deposit made, only an amount at the rate of Rs 40/- per month as claimed by the defendant revisionist, could only be realised. The amount in deposit is also more than the amount decreed at the rate of Rs. 100/- per month as rent. In the above circumstances, the trial Court manifestly erred when it thought that the security of the amount deposited could not be accepted as it was a conditional deposit.

9. The trial Court has observed that the defendant can take back the amount once ex parte decree is set aside, but such amount cannot be withdrawn by the plaintiff under Order XV, Rule 5, CPC unless specific order is passed. No specific order for amount in question can be passed because still it is said to be a deposit under protest. The above ground given by the trial Court for not accepting the request for taking the said amount as security is not sustainable. It has already been observed that once a decree has been passed at the rate of rent as claimed by the plaintiff, the question of dispute about the rate of rent ceased to exist. Whole amount under the decree can be realised from the security offered by the defendant-revisionist. In case ex parte decree is set aside, the character of the deposit as security will also cease and it would again be treated as amount deposited under Section 20(4) of the Act No. 13 of 1972 and under Order XV, Rules 5, CPC, if any amount has been deposited under that provision. If under the law, the defendant is entitled to withdraw such a amount, he will certainly be liable to face the consequences which may flow in view of the provisions contained under Section 20(4) of Act No. 13 of 1972 and Order XV, Rule 5, CPC,Consideration of such a situation or condition at this stage, as a matter of fact does not arise.

10. I find no merit in the submission made by the opposite party that the revisionist could withdraw the amunt and re-deosit the same under Section 17 of the Provincial Small Cause Courts Act. Such an exercise would be holly unnecessary Once the amount was still in deposit with the Court, it could easily be adjusted for satisfying the ex parte decree in case it was not set aside. In this connection, a case reported in 1984 ALJ 189; 1984 (1) ARC 4 Lachhi Ram Vs. First Additional District Judge, Meerut and others, may be referred. In that case, the deposits were made under Section 17 of the Provincial Small Cause Courts Act. On setting aside the ex parte decree, it was applied on the first date of hearing that the deposits already made under Section 17 of the Provincial Small Cause Courts Act may be considered for extending the benefit of Section 20(4) of Act No. 13 of 1972. It was held that if the conditions of Section 20(4) of the Act No. 13 of 1972 are fulfilled, the deposit made under Section 17 of the Provincial Small Cause Courts Act can be taken into account for extending benefit under Section 20(4) of the Act No. 13 of 1972. It was further held that so long the amount was in deposit and was available, it is immaterial whether it was made in one capacity or the other. The relevant passage may be quoted as follows:

"Therefore, there is no charm or magic whether deposit was made in one capacity or the other so long it is deposited with Court before first date of hearing. If from circumstances it appears the tenant in order to save himself from misery of eviction was bona fide depositing or had deposited and complied with stringent and harsh conditions provided in sub-section (4) then he should not be denied the benefit on one or the other pretext by finding loopholes due to mistake in not making the application or not withdrawing the deposit under Section 17 and then redepositing it under sub-section 4. The word deposit should not be construed in pedantic manner. It should be understood and interpreted so as to advance the object of the provision. The amount deposited under Section 17 exhausted its purpose once ex parte decree was set aside."

11. Though the above case was in relation to a situation where the amount deposited under Section 17 of the Provincial Small Cause Courts Act was to be taken into account as payments made under the provisions of Section 20(4) of the Act No. 13 of 1972, but what is clear is that even though the amount may have been deposited under some other provisions and it was available with the Court for the purposes of satisfying decretal amount under the ex parte decree, the same could very well be accepted as security under Section 17 of the Provincial Small Cause Courts Act.

12. It is thus clear that the prayer of the applicant for treating the amount already deposited in Court, as security under Section 17 of the Provincial Small Cause Courts Act was not at all conditional. In case the ex parte decree is not set aside, the decretal amount can very well be satisfied from the said deposit. It was not at all necessary to deposit the amount twice. The question whether the depoist under Section 20(4) of the Act No. 13 of 1972 was conditional or not and what would be the effect of conditional deposit under the said provision, was not at all relevant at the present stage. In this view of the matter, the order passed by the trial Court is liable to be set aside. "

On the same lines is the decision of this Court in the case of Satish Kumar Dutta (Supra) wherein also the decision in the case of Lacchi Ram has been relied upon. Paragraph 3 and 4 of the said decision read as under:

"3. The only point involved in this writ petition and argued by learned counsel for both the parties is as to whether tenant had deposited complete amount under Seciton 39 of the U.P. Act No. 13 of 1972 for getting benefit of the said section and consequently of section 20 of the Act or not. Revisional Court has recorded the finding that building would be deemed to have been constructed on01.04.1978. The Revisional Court found that within one month from the said date i.e. by 30.04.1978 tenant had deposited the amount of Rs. 15,600/- which was more than required by Section 39 of the Act however an amount of Rs. 7015/- out of the total amount of Rs. 15,600/- could not be taken into consideration as it was deposited under Section 17 of Provincial Small Cause Courts Act (P.S.C.C. Act in short). An authority of this Court in Lachchi Ram Vs. A.D.J 1 was cited before the Revisional Court. The Revisional Court distinguished the said authority on the ground that in the said authority on the ground that in the said authority it was held that amount deposited under Section 17 of the PSCC Act, could be taken into consideration while granting benefit of Section 20(4) of the Act. In my opinion same principle will apply while considering as to whether tenant is entitled to the benefit of Setion 39 of the Act or not. Learned counsel for the landlord respondent has argued that unless an application is made by the tenant to the effect that amount deposited under Section 17 of PSCC Act, may be treated to have been deposited under Section 39 also, it cannot be taken into consideration. In this regard learned Counsel has placed reliance upon the authorities mentioned in the aforesaid authority of Lachhi Ram. It is undisputed that the amount deposited by the tenant under Section 17 of the PSCC Act, was never withdrawn by him. Tenant since beginning is asserting that he is entitled to the benefit of Section 39 of the Act. In view of this I am of the opinion that the amount deposited under Section 17 PSCC Act can very will be taken into consideration while granting benefit of any of the aforesaid sections to the tenant. I cannot approve too technical approach in this regard.

4. Accordingly, I am of the opinion that tenant was entitled to the benefit of Section 39 of the Act."

18. In the said case benefit of the deposit under the proviso to Section 17 of the Act, 1887 was held to be available in law to the deposit referred in Section 39 of the Act, 1972.

19. In view of the aforesaid, this Court is of the view that the Court below erred in relying upon the decision in Bhragu Dutt Singh(Supra) to reject the plea of the revisionist for treating the amount deposited by him under the proviso to Section 17 of the Act, 1887 as a deposit referred in Section 20(4) of the Act, 1972. The legal position is settled that it was permissible to treat such deposit as one under Section 20 (4). After treating it to be so, how far the requirements of Section 20 (4) of the Act, 1972 were satisfied was another aspect which was required to be considered by the Court below but it has not done so. As regards the contention of learned Counsel Mohd. Sayeed that no application had been filed by the revisionist for treating the aforesaid amount as one under Section 20 (4), in view of the decision in Lacchhi Ram, such request could be oral or written. The essence of the matter is as to whether there was a deposit with the Court (custodia legis) on or prior to the date of hearing or not. If it was, then intimation of such deposit with a request to treat it as a deposit under Section 20 (4) and adjust it accordingly is sufficient. This intimation and request could be made in writing or orally. In fact, it would be better if it is made in writing as it would avoid unnecessary disputes on this issue, but even if an oral request is made as was done in this case at the time of arguments as has been mentioned in the judgment itself, then, in such an event, once cognizance of such request has been taken by the Court below, as has been done in this case, then, there was no way this plea could be rejected as impermissible.

20. As regards the case of Prem Pal Gupta Vs. Baboo Ram Garg (Supra) same has already been considered in the decision of Lacchi Ram (Supra).

21. Reference may also be made to another decision of this Court in the case of Sunt Ram Gupta Vs. Ratan Prakash Garg (Supra) wherein adjustment of the amount deposited under the proviso to Section 17 as a deposit under Section 20 (4) of the Act, 1972 was approved however, with the observation that the only flaw in the decision of the Court below was that it did not say in the operative portion of this judgment clearly that the plaintiff is entitled to withdraw that amount and adjust it towards arrears of rent demanded by him. As regards, reliance placed by the learned counsel for the opposite party upon the decision of this Court in Moinuddin Mammo and others (Supra), the said decision dwells barely on facts before the Court and there is no discussion supported by any reasoning nor is there any binding precedent laid down therein that an application has necessarily to be filed for claiming the benefit under Section 20 (4) of the Act, 1972, whereas, this aspect of the matter has been specifically considered in a detailed and reasoned manner and has been accordingly decided in Lacchi Ram case which has further been explained as above.

22. In view of the discussion made hereinabove, the conclusion and the finding of the Court below on this issue cannot be said to be in accordance with law. Whether after treating the said amount as one under Section 20 (4), the requirements of the said provisions were satisfied or not for avoiding liability of eviction, would depend upon an inquiry into the nature and breakup of the deposits made in the light of the provisions contained in Sub-section 4 of Section 20 and this would be a different aspect, meaning thereby, even after treating such amount as one under Section 20 (4), in a given case, if the amount falls short of the amount referred in Section 20 (4) or it is found that it was not deposited on or before the first date of hearing then the benefit of the said provision may not be available to the tenant, but, in this case the Court below rejected the plea as being impermissible in the first place and has not ventured into the consequential inquiry as to the satisfaction of the Section 20 (4) referred herein above.

23. In view of the above while sustaining the finding recorded by the Court below on other issues, the conclusion and finding recorded by it on the applicability of Section 20 (4) of the Act, 1887 and the impermissibility of the deposit made by the tenant under the proviso to Section 17 of the Act, 1887, as a deposit under Section 20 (4) of the Act, 1972, as also, the operative portion of the judgment, is hereby set aside. Consequent to this, SCC suit no. 2 of 2006 shall stand restored before the SCC Court which shall now proceed to consider the issue of applicability of Section 20 (4) after treating the deposit made by the petitioner under the proviso to Section 17 of the Act, 1887, as one made under Sub-section 4 of Section 20 of the Act, 1972. Consequences shall follow accordingly as per law.

24. The revision is allowed in aforesaid terms.

25. The Lower Court Record which are available shall be returned to the District Court concerned for further proceedings as aforesaid.

26. Considering the fact that this revision has remained pending for almost 10 years, the parties, who are represented before this Court, are directed to appear before the Court below on 01.07.2020 for further proceedings. The SCC Court is directed to conclude the proceedings as aforesaid within a period of 3 months subject to regular Court proceedings resuming which are at present affected by COVID-19 pandemic, if need be by conducting the proceedings on day to day basis. The issues which have already attained finality as observed hereinabove, shall not be open for reconsideration.

A. Civil Law - Intermediate Education Act, 1921 – Section 16-FF – Appointment on the post of Lecturer or Assistant Teacher – Approval – Deemed approval – No appointment on the post of Lecturer or Assistant Teacher in L.T. Grade can be made in the institution recognized under the Act of 1921 without approval of the District Inspector of Schools – On submission of papers in case the District Inspector of Schools do not pass any order within a period of 1 month, the selection is deemed to have been approved. (Para 35)

Held –

36. Here, in the present case, this court issued direction to the DIOS to examine the selection of the petitioners in the light of the provisions contained under Section 16-FF of the Act of 1921. The objection raised in rejecting the claim of the petitioners for grant of approval was taken into consideration by this court in above referred judgment and direction was issued to reconsider the claim of the petitioners for grant of approval. The DIOS in utter disregard of the orders passed by this court has proceeded to pass the impugned order.

37. Once, this court upon examination of material on record issued direction to the DIOS to consider and pass appropriate order in the light of the observation made in the judgment and order referred herein above, it was incumbent upon the DIOS to take notice of the observation made by this court and to pass appropriate order.

Writ Petition allowed (E-1)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Irshad Ali, J.)

1) The rejoinder affidavit filed today may be taken on record.

2) Heard Sri Ashok Khare, learned Senior Advocate assisted by Sri K.M. Asthana, learned counsel for the petitioners and Sri Dashrath Prasad, learned standing counsel for respondent Nos.1 to 4.

3) By means of present writ petition, the petitioners have assailed the order dated 11.11.2019 passed by the District Inspector of Schools (DIOS), Mathura - respondent No.3, whereby claim of the petitioners for grant of approval to the selection has been rejected.

4) Factual matrix of the case is that Jain Inter College, Chaurasi, Mathura is a recognized institution under the provisions of U.P. Intermediate Education Act, 1921 and is receiving grant in aid from the State Government. In view of that, the provisions of U.P. Act No.24 of 1971 is applicable to the said institution. The institution is a minority institution recognized under the provisions of Article 30(1) of the Constitution of India. The Committee of Management initiated a proceeding of selection in pursuance to an advertisement issued in two daily newspapers; one in hindi and another in english as per provisions contained under Regulation 17 of the regulations framed under Chapter II of U.P. Intermediate Education Act, 1921 (for short, "Act of 1921").

5) In the advertisement, 11 posts of Lt. Grade teachers were advertised. The petitioners applied in pursuance to the advertisement issued on 24.08.2015 and the Selection Committee made recommendation for appointment to the Committee of Management.

6) In view of the provisions contained under Section 16-FF of U.P. Intermediate Education Act, 1921, before making appointment, prior approval of the DIOS is required for issuance of appointment letter.

7) Accordingly, the Committee of Management submitted papers to the DIOS for grant of approval on 21.07.2016. The DIOS, Mathura raised objection that in view of the provisions contained under Regulation 20 of Chapter II of the Act of 1921, approval cannot be granted as no sanction was obtained for revival of the posts.

8) The Manager of the institution forwarded all the papers to the Director of Education (Secondary) and a letter was also sent to the DIOS in this regard on 31.08.2016, whereupon order was passed by the Director of Education (Secondary) and the posts were revived as per norms provided under the government order for sanction of post. After passing the order by the Director of Education (Secondary), the Committee of Management requested to accord approval to the selection on 11 posts.

9) The DIOS passed an order on 19.04.2017 and 03.05.2017, whereby direction was issued to initiate fresh proceeding of selection in pursuance to the order passed by the Director of Education (Secondary) for revival of posts.

10) The petitioners preferred Writ-A No.26088/2018, which was decided vide judgment and order dated 11.12.2018, whereby direction was issued to the DIOS, Mathura to accord fresh consideration to the claim of the petitioners in the light of the judgment of Hon'ble Supreme Court taking into consideration the provisions contained under Section 16-FF of the Act of 1921.

11) In pursuance to the direction issued by this Court, an order was passed by the DIOS on 13.02.2019, whereby the selection of the petitioners was disapproved. The order of the disapproval dated 13.02.2019 was again challenged before this Court in Writ -A No.8069/2019 and the similar order passed by the DIOS was subject matter of challenge in Writ-A No.4791/2019; Smt. Shweta Tiwari Vs. State of U.P. and others, which was allowed and the impugned order of the same date was quashed and the matter was remanded back to the DIOS, Mathura to pass fresh order.

12) The writ petition filed by the petitioners was also allowed vide judgment and order dated 20.05.2019, whereby the DIOS was directed to pass fresh order in the light of the observation made in the judgment. The DIOS taking the same view, disapproved the appointment of the petitioners. The same date order was under challenge before this Court in Writ-A No.18983/2019; Smt. Babita and others Vs. State of U.P. and others, wherein after noticing the entire facts of the case this Court passed the following order :

"Be that as it may, this Court while rendering judgement in the case of petitioners in Writ Petition No.7856 of 2019 has already rejected the objection taken by the respondent no.3 regarding non-compliance of the procedure provided in the Government Order dated 12.03.2018 in making selection and the selection of the petitioners on the non-existent post, therefore, the said objection taken by the respondent no.3 is misconceived as judgement of this Court in Writ Petition No.7856 of 2019 has become final between the parties. Further, this Court while deciding the issue in Writ Petition No.7856 of 2019 has granted liberty to the respondent no.3 to examine the documents in respect of election of committee of management and this Court finds that respondent no.3 while passing the impugned order has not adverted to any of the documents filed by the petitioners to verify the validity of the Committee of Management, who initiated the selection procedure. The respondent no.3 has placed reliance upon the letter dated 08.12.2017 of the then District Inspector of School in paragraph 9 of the order which nowhere mentions about the validity of committee of management, and thus, facts of the case clearly establishes that respondent no.3 has completely ignored the orders of this Court while passing the impugned order, and thus, has wilfully flouted the orders of this Court. In this view of the fact, this Court finds substance in the argument of learned Senior Counsel for the petitioners.

Thus, in view of above, let notice be issued to respondent no.3, District Inspector of Schools, District Mathura, to show cause as to why the matter should not be referred to the contempt Court for initiating contempt proceedings against him and why his personal responsibility in the matter be not fixed. He shall remain present personally on the next date alongwith his reply.

Put up on 20.01.2020 in the additional cause list."

13) In pursuance to the order, the DIOS appeared before this Court on the date fixed and assured that the order impugned of the writ petition of Writ-A No.18983/2019 shall be recalled, in case short time is granted to him.

14) Accordingly, the order of disapproval of the appointment of the petitioners of the aforesaid writ petition was recalled vide order dated 23.01.2020 and appointment of the petitioners of the above referred writ petition was accorded approval. The said order was placed before this Court in Writ-A No.18983/2019 and the petition has been dismissed as rendered infructuous.

15) The controversy involved in the present writ petition also pertains to the same selection and similar order of DIOS is under challenge.

16) Assailing the order impugned, submission of learned senior counsel for the petitioners is that the DIOS while passing the impugned order ignored the specific reasons assigned in the order dated 20.05.2019 passed in Writ-A No.8069/2019.

17) His next submission is that the DIOS while exercising the power under Section 16-FF of Act of 1921 is confined and restricted to the scope of inquiry and the said aspect of the matter was duly considered in Writ-A No.26088/2018 decided on 11.12.2018, whereby the writ petition was disposed of in terms of the judgment and order dated 28.11.2018 passed in Writ Petition No.25087/2018.

18) He further submitted that the DIOS has proceeded beyond the scope of inquiry and illegally disapproved the selection and appointment of the petitioners on erroneous consideration, thus, the order impugned cannot sustain in law.

19) In regard to the objection taken in the impugned order that the committee of management is not validly elected committee of management, submission of learned senior counsel for the petitioners is that the election of the committee of management was held on 16.06.2013 and the salary of the teachers and other employees of the institution have been disbursed under the signature of the signature of the manager of the institution, who made the selection, therefore, the objection in this regard is absolutely perverse and vitiated in law.

20) He next submitted that the committee of management with Sri Munish Kumar Jain was elected in earlier election also and continued to discharge duties and functions without any dispute, who held the next election and no dispute of rival claim of election was raised at any stage.

21) His further submission is that the post against which the petitioners have been granted appointment are duly sanctioned posts and the selection has been made by following the procedure prescribed under Section 16-FF and Regulation 17 of Chapter 2 of the regulations framed under the Act of 1921, therefore, the order passed by the DIOS is illegal and legally not sustainable in the eyes of law.

22) His last submission is that in compliance of the judgment and order passed in Writ Petition No.18983/2019; Smt. Babita and others Vs State of U.P. and others and Writ Petition No.7856/2019 decided vide judgment and order dated 17.05.2019, the same date order dated 11.11.2019 was recalled and order of approval was granted to the selection made by the same committee of management, therefore, the petitioners are also entitled to get the same relief in the present writ petition.

23) On the other hand, learned standing counsel submitted that the impugned order dated 11.11.2019 is just and valid and does not suffer from any infirmity or illegality but he does not dispute the fact that in compliance of the order passed by this court, the DIOS has recalled the order dated 11.11.2019 in regard to same selection proceeding and accorded approval to the selection of petitioners of Writ Petition Nos.18983/2019 and 7856/2019. He further invited attention of this court on certain paragraphs of the counter affidavit in regard to proceeding of selection and dispute in the committee of management.

24) I have considered the rival contentions advanced by learned counsel for the parties and perused the material on record and the judgments relied upon by learned counsel for the parties.

25) On perusal of the material on record, it is evident that the petitioners filed Writ Petition No.26088/2018 challenging the order of DIOS dated 03.05.2017 and 19.04.2017, wherein after examining the material on record, the writ petition was finally disposed of vide judgment and order dated 11.12.2018 in terms of order dated 28.11.2018 passed in Writ Petition No.25087/2018. Relevant portion of the judgment is being quoted below:

"One of the other similarly placed person, as the petitioners in this petition, had approached this Court against the same impugned order by filing Writ Petition No. 25087 of 2018, wherein following orders have been passed on 28.11.2018:-

"Jain Inter College, Chaurasi Mathura is a recognized minority institution situated at Mathura. Provisions of Payment of Salaries Act, 1971 are also applicable upon the institution. It appears that a post of Assistant Teacher in L.T. Grade had fallen vacant in the institution concerned, upon which the committee of management proceeded to appoint the petitioner and papers were transmitted to the District Inspector of Schools for according approval to it. The District Inspector of Schools vide its order dated 3.5.2017 has rejected the proposal on the ground that the post itself had lapsed by virtue of Regulation -20 of Chapter-II, framed under the U.P. Intermediate Education Act, 1921. The order records that since the post itself was not available and the revival of post has been allowed granted by the authorities after making of the appointment itself, the Committee of Management would have to initiate fresh process for appointment in the institution concerned.

Learned counsel for the submits that the limited scope of scrutiny available with the Inspector in a minority institution would be as per Section 16-FF of the Act of 1921. Submission is that the petitioner has been duly appointed and he possess the requisite qualification and, therefore, the direction of the concerned authority for recruitment to be undertaken afresh would result in an exercise which would serve no purpose. It is also stated that a Division Bench of this Court in Tariq Maqbool and others Vs. State of U.P. and others, reported in 2015(1) ADJ, 650 had taken a view that even in a minority institution the institution would not be competent to make an appointment once the post itself stood lapsed by virtue of Regulation-20. This judgment was assailed before the Hon'ble Supreme Court in Special Leave to Appeal No. 5871-5872 of 2015 in which the Special Leave to Appeal has been disposed of vide following orders:-

"After haring the matter at length, learned counsel appearing for the parties agree that the matter may be resolved in the following way;

The common respondent no. 5-College shall, in pursuance of the directions given by the High Court vide the impugned order dated11.12.2014 in Special Appeal Nos. 1359 of 2013, make an application to the competent maturity for fresh sanction of posts and to retify the posts according to the selection of the petitioners already made. The competent authority shall consider granting sanction for the vacant posts either retrospectively or with effect from the date the application is made. We find there is dispute that the petitioners are either unqualified or otherwise not suitable.

We Ravindra Shrivastava, learned Senior Counsel appearing for the petitioners, states that the petitioners would not claim any arrears of their salaries even if their appointment is ratified from the retrospective date.

We order accordingly.

The instant special leave petitions stand disposed of in the above terms.

As a sequel to the above, pending interlocutory applications, if any, stand disposed of."

Learned counsel for the petitioner submits that the petitioner, herein, also undertakes to give up her claim for salary from the retrospective date and that the authority be directed to consider the petitioner's for appointment in accordance with law.

Learned Addl. Chief Standing Counsel for the respondents, although disputes the submission, but does not dispute that the post has already been revived in the institution concerned and that the limited scope for examination to the Inspector would be confined to the parameters laid down in Section 16-FF of the Act of 1921.

Considering the facts and circumstances, noticed above, it would be appropriate to direct the District Inspector of Schools, Mathura to accord consideration to petitioner's claim in light of the orders passed by Hon'ble Supreme Court, extracted above, within a period of three months from the date of presentation of certified copy of this order, after affording an opportunity of hearing to respondent no. 5.The Inspector shall be at liberty to examine the qualification of petitioner and his scope of inquiry would be confined to Section 16-FF of the Act of 1921. No useful purpose would be served in directing a fresh exercise to be undertaken inasmuch as the scope of inquiry by the Inspector, otherwise, would be restricted to Section 16-FF of the Act of 1921.

The order impugned dated 3.5.2017 and 19.4.2017 shall remain subject to the fresh orders to be passed by the Inspector, as intimated above".

Learned Standing Counsel does not dispute that same orders are challenged in the present writ petition also and the controversy raised is identical.

In that view of the matter, this petition is also disposed of in terms of the order dated 28.11.2018 passed in Writ Petition No. 25087 of 2018."

26) The DIOS again passed an order on 13.02.2019, whereby the claim of the petitioners for payment of salary was rejected without considering the parameters of Section 16-FF of the Act of 1921 as directed by this court in earlier litigation came before this court.

27) The order dated 13.02.2019 was assailed by the petitioners in Writ-A No.8069/2019; Dr. Hemant Chaudhary and others Vs State of U.P. and others. The same date order was also challenged by Smt. Shweta Tiwari in Writ-A No.4791/2019, which was allowed vide judgment and order dated 11.04.2019 considering each and every aspect of the matter and the order dated 13.02.2019 was set aside with the direction to accord fresh consideration to the claim of petitioners for grant of approval to the selection vide judgment and order dated 11.04.2019. Relevant portion of the judgment is being quoted below:

"In pursuance thereof, instructions have been furnished to learned standing counsel, which is taken on record. According to it, the term of the last validly elected Committee came to an end on 3.7.2009 and thereafter no valid election was held. It has also been stated that the selection made by the Committee whose term had expired would not be valid. When the said fact came to the knowledge of the District Inspector of Schools, he, by letter dated 23.12.2017, required the Management to hold elections within one month. Thereafter, fresh election was held on 21.1.2018 and which was recognised on 11.7.2018. It is also stated in paragraph 11 of the instructions furnished to learned standing counsel that out of eleven posts, only seven posts were revived.

The first objection that only seven posts were revived by order dated 14.12.2017 does not appear to be correct. The petitioner has brought on record the order dated 16.3.2018 passed by Director of Education, Madhyamik, Uttar Pradesh, Lucknow, whereby four more posts of assistant teachers was revived.

It is noteworthy that the validity of Regulation 20 of Chapter II, which provided that in case a post remains unadvertised for three months, it would lapse unless fresh approval for its revival is obtained, was subjected to challenge before the Supreme Court in Special Leave to Appeal No.5871 - 5872 of 2015 and which was disposed of by the Supreme Court by the following order:-

"After hearing the matter at length, learned counsel appearing for the parties agree that the matter may be resolved in the following way:

The common respondent no. 5-College shall, in pursuance of the directions given by the High Court vide the impugned order dated 11.12.2014 in Special Appeal Nos. 1359 and 1360 of 2013, make an application to the competent maturity for fresh sanction of posts and to ratify the posts according to the selection of the petitioners already made. The competent authority shall consider granting sanction for the vacant posts either retrospectively or with effect from the date the application is made. We find there is no dispute that the petitioners are either unqualified or otherwise not suitable.

Mr. Ravindra Shrivastava, learned Senior Counsel appearing for the petitioners, states that the petitioners would not claim any arrears of their salaries even if their appointment is ratified from the retrospective date.

We order accordingly.

The instant special leave petitions stand disposed of in the above terms.

As a sequel to the above, pending interlocutory applications, if any, stand disposed of."

It has also not been disputed before this Court that when on a previous occasion the District Inspector of Schools declined to grant approval to the appointments in question, the petitioner alongwith other selected candidates filed Writ-A No.26403 of 2018 and Writ-A No.25087 of 2018. These writ petitions were disposed of by this Court with the following directions:-

"Considering the facts and circumstances, noticed above, it would be appropriate to direct the District Inspector of Schools, Mathura to accord consideration to petitioner's claim in light of the orders passed by Hon'ble Supreme Court, extracted above, within a period of three months from the date of presentation of certified copy of this order, after affording an opportunity of hearing to respondent no. 5.The Inspector shall be at liberty to examine the qualification of petitioner and his scope of inquiry would be confined to Section 16-FF of the Act of 1921. No useful purpose would be served in directing a fresh exercise to be undertaken inasmuch as the scope of inquiry by the Inspector, otherwise, would be restricted to Section 16-FF of the Act of 1921.

The order impugned dated 3.5.2017 and 19.4.2017 shall remain subject to the fresh orders to be passed by the Inspector, as intimated above".

It is also not disputed by learned standing counsel that the combined effect of the above orders would be that even if the selection was made prior to revival of the posts, but once the selection is approved having regard to the factors stipulated under Section 16-F, the selected candidates would become entitled for payment of salary atleast from the date of revial of the posts. The orders dated 13.12.2018 and 18.11.2018 in Writ-A No.26403 of 2018 and Writ-A No.25087 of 2018 directing the District Inspector of Schools to confine the scope of enquiry to Section 16-FF has attained finality. In such view of the matter, the District Inspector of Schools was not justified in declining to grant approval to the selection of the petitioner on the same ground that the post came to be revived later on, a dispute which stood settled by the orders passed in earlier writ petitions. All that he could have done was to impose a condition that the salary would become payable from the date post was revived in case the appointment is otherwise found to be valid. In fact, learned counsel for the petitioner has fairly conceded to the said legal position and has stated that the petitioner would not claim salary for the earlier period.

Coming to the second objection regarding selection having been made by the Committee which is not duly recognised, it is noteworthy that in the instructions furnished, the District Inspector of Schools has not said a word as to how salary bills were being passed under signatures of Munish Kumar Jain, the Manager of the Committee of Management, which held the selection in question. This is despite a specific direction by this Court vide order dated 30.3.2019. The petitioner has come up with the case that the election was duly held on 16.6.2013 in which Munish Kumar Jain was re-elected. Although no document has been brought on record to show that the election was communicated to the educational authorities but the fact which remains undisputed is that the salary bills for the period in question were duly passed under signatures of Munish Kumar Jain. The District Inspector of Schools, while raising the objection in question, has not alluded to the said aspect, therefore, the objection taken in this regard requires re-consideration at his end, being a dispute of factual nature.

The third objection that the procedure prescribed by Government Order dated 12.3.2018 has not been followed, does not survive in view of the discussion made above while dealing with the first objection.

In consequence and as a result of discussion made above, the impugned order dated 13.2.2019 is quashed. The matter is remitted back to the District Inspector of Schools, the third respondent to accord fresh consideration to the claim of the petitioner for grant of approval to her selection having regard to the observations made above. It is desirable that before passing any fresh order, in case any additional representation or document is filed before the District Inspector of Schools by the petitioner or by Committee of Management of the institution, the same shall be duly considered. The decision in this regard shall be taken expeditiously, preferably within a period of eight weeks from the date of receipt of a certified copy of this order.

The writ petition stands allowed to the extent indicated above."

28) The writ petition of the petitioners which was numbered as Writ Petition No.8069/2019 was also allowed and the order dated 13.02.2019 was quashed in the same terms as was decided in Writ-A No.4791/2019 vide judgment and order dated 11.04.2019.

29) Now, again the DIOS on the same set of facts and grounds has proceeded to pass the impugned order dated 11.11.2019. The said order was also assailed by the teachers of the same selection proceeding in Writ-A No.18983/2019, wherein this court after examining the material on record issued notice to the DIOS that why the order passed at earlier point of time by this court in writ petitions have not been followed and why the matter may not be placed before the contempt court in compliance of the order passed by this court. Thereafter, the DIOS recalled the order dated 11.11.2019 and accorded approval to the petitioners of Writ-A No.18983/2019.

30) To decide the merit of the selection of the petitioner, it is relevant to look into the provisions governing the initiation of selection proceeding in a recognized minority institution under the Act of 1921. The provisions of Section 16-FF of U.P. Intermediate Education Act, 1921 and Regulation 17 of Chapter-II of the Regulations framed under U.P. Intermediate Education Act, 1921 are relevant provision to be taken into consideration in making selection and appointment on the post of Principal, Lecturer and Assistant Teacher in a recognized institution under U.P. Intermediate Education A

31) To resolve the controversy involved in the present writ petition, the provision of Regulation 17 of Chapter-II of the Regulations framed under U.P. Intermediate Education Act, 1921 is quoted below:

"17. The procedure for filling up the vacancy of the head of institution and teachers by direct recruitment in any recognised institution referred to in Section 16-FF, shall be as follows:

(a) After the management has determined the number of vacancies to be filled up by direct recruitment, the posts shall be advertised by the manager of the institution in at least one Hindi and one English newspaper having adequate circulation in the State giving particulars as to the nature (i.e., whether temporary/permanent) and number of vacancies, descriptions of post (i.e., Principal or Headmaster, Lecturer or L.T., C.T. or J.T.C./B.T.C. grade teacher including the subject or subjects in which the lecturer or teacher is required), scale or pay and other allowances, experience required minimum qualification and age prescribed, if any, for the post and prescribing a date which should not ordinarily be less than two weeks from the date of advertisement) by which the applications shall be received by the Manager. A copy of the advertisement shall be simultaneously sent to the Inspector concerned.

Notes-(1) All vacancies in the posts of teachers and the head of institution existing at the time of advertisement shall be advertised.

(2) No new post shall be advertised unless sanction of the appropriate authority for the creation thereof has been received by the management.

(b) All applications shall be made in the form prescribed by the management and shall contain all necessary particulars about qualifications, teaching experience and other activities and be accompanied by certified copies of all the necessary certificates and testimonials. The management may charge cost of the application form not exceeding the amount referred to in Clause (2) of Regulation 10.

(c) An application by a person employed in an institution and applying for a post elsewhere or in the same institution shall not be withheld by his employer but shall be forwarded to the authority concerned immediately.

(d) All applications received from the candidates shall be serially numbered and entered in a register and particulars of the candidates noted under appropriate columns. The candidates to be called for interview shall be seven for each post (the number of applicants, permitting). The Manager shall intimate by registered post all the members of the Selection Committee as well as all such candidates as are called for interview, the date, time and place of selection at least ten days before it is held. The Selection Committee will hold the selection accordingly. If on account of any unavoidable reason, the expert selected by the Committee of Management under Clause (a) of the proviso to sub-section (1) of Section 16-FF is unable to attend the selection on the date fixed the meeting of the Selection Committee shall be postponed.

(e) The provisions of Clauses (e) and (f) of Regulation 10 and those of Regulations 11, 12 and 16 shall mutatis mutandis apply to selections made under this regulation.

(f) A panel of experts consisting of fifteen or more persons selected from category (a) referred to in Regulation 14 shall be drawn by the Director for each region and be sent to the Regional Deputy Director of Education concerned, The Regional Deputy Director of Education shall out of the said panel communicate the names of three experts in a sealed cover to the management through its Manager as soon as he receives any request for supply of names of experts from him. The regional panel of experts shall, however, remain valid until it is replaced by a new one.

(g) किसी पद के लिए समस्त अभ्यर्थियों का साक्षात्कार कर लिए जाने के पश्चात् चयन समिति का सभापति किये गए चयन की कार्यवाहियों पर दो प्रतियों में एक टिपण्णी तैयार कराएगा जिसमे चुने गए अभ्यर्थी का नाम तथा प्रतीक्षा सूची के दो अन्य अभ्यर्थियों के नाम उल्लिखित किये जायेंगे, इस प्रकार तैयार के गई टिप्पणी पर चयन समिति के सभापति तथा अन्य सदस्य हस्ताक्छर करेंगे और अपना अपना पूर्ण नाम, पद नाम और पता तथा दिनांक उल्लिखित करेंगे, सभापति इस टिपण्णी की एक प्रति तथा विनियम 10 के खंड (च) में निर्दिष्ट विवरण की एक प्रति धारा 16 - चच के अधीन यथा अपेक्षित अनुमोदन के लिए, यथास्तिथि, संभागीय उप-शिक्षा निदेशक या निरीक्षक को तुरंत अग्रसारित करेगा, सम्बंधित अभिलेखों के प्राप्त होने के दिनांक के एक माह के भीतर यथास्तिथि संभागीय उप शिक्षा निदेशक या निरीक्षक, उन पर अपना निर्णय दे देंगे और ऐसा न करने पर अनुमोदन प्रदान कर दिया गया समझा जाएगा।"

32) On perusal of the provisions contained under the aforesaid regulation, the existing vacancy is to be advertised in two newspapers one in Hindi and other in English.

33) In the present case, the vacancy was advertised in daily newspapers; one in hindi and other in english, which are widely circulated newspapers.

34) The candidates, eligible and qualified, including the petitioners, applied for and a selection committee constituted under the Act of 1921 on the basis of quality point marks, selected the petitioners and recommended for the appointment. Papers were duly submitted to the District Inspector of Schools for the grant of approval as required under Section 16-FF, which is being quoted below:

""16-FF. Savings as to minority institutions.-(1) Notwithstanding anything in sub-section (4) of Section 16-E, and Section 16-F, the Selection Committee for the appointment of a Head of Institution or a teacher of an institution established and administered by a minority referred to in Clause (1) of Article 30 of the Constitution shall consist of five members (including its Chairman) nominated by the Committee of Management :

Provided that one of the members of the Selection Committee shall-

(a) in the case of appointment of the Head of an institution, be an expert selected by the Committee of Management from a panel of experts prepared by the Director;

(b) in the case of appointment of a teacher, be the Head of the Institution concerned.

(2) The procedure to be followed by the Selection Committee referred to in sub-section (1) shall be such as may be prescribed.

(3) No person selected under this section shall be appointed, unless-

(a) in the case of the Head of Institution the proposal of appointment has been approved by the Regional Deputy Director of Education; and

(b) in the case of a teacher such proposal has been approved by the Inspector.

(4) The Regional Deputy Director of Education or the Inspector, as the case may be, shall not withhold approval for the selection made under this section where the person selected possesses the minimum qualification prescribed and is otherwise eligible.

(5) Where the Regional Deputy Director of Education or the Inspector, as the case may be, does not approve of a candidate selected under this section the Committee of Management may, within three weeks from the date of receipt of such disapproval, make a representation to the Director in the case of the Head of Institution, and to the Regional Deputy Director of Education in the case of teacher.

(6) Every order passed by the Director or the Regional Deputy Director of Education on a representation under sub-section (5) shall be final.""

35) On perusal of Section 16-FF, it is evident on the face of it that without approval of the District Inspector of Schools, no appointment on the post of Lecturer or Assistant Teacher in L.T. Grade can be made in the institution recognized under the Act of 1921. It is further clarified that on submission of papers in case the District Inspector of Schools do not pass any order within a period of 1 month, then the selection is deemed to have been approved. "

36) Here, in the present case, this court issued direction to the DIOS to examine the selection of the petitioners in the light of the provisions contained under Section 16-FF of the Act of 1921. The objection raised in rejecting the claim of the petitioners for grant of approval was taken into consideration by this court in above referred judgment and direction was issued to reconsider the claim of the petitioners for grant of approval. The DIOS in utter disregard of the orders passed by this court has proceeded to pass the impugned order.

37) Once, this court upon examination of material on record issued direction to the DIOS to consider and pass appropriate order in the light of the observation made in the judgment and order referred herein above, it was incumbent upon the DIOS to take notice of the observation made by this court and to pass appropriate order.

38) On perusal of the judgment and order dated 11.12.2018 passed in Writ-A No.26088/2018, judgment and order dated 11.04.2019 passed in Writ-A No.4791/2019 as well as judgment and order dated 20.05.2019 passed in Writ-A No.8069/2019, it is evident that while passing the impugned order, the DIOS has not applied his mind and on wholly erroneous assumption has proceeded to pass the impugned order.

39) In the judgment and order dated 11.04.2019, the objection in regard to order passed by the Director of Education Secondary, U.P. at Lucknow dated 16.03.2018, this court found the post to be revived and the DIOS was confined to the scope of inquiry to Section 16-FF of the Act of 1921 and nothing beyond that.

40) Due to non consideration of aforesaid aspect of the matter, the DIOS has totally failed to decide the actual controversy involved in the matter.

41) The objection raised by learned standing counsel was considered in earlier litigation, which came into existence before this court in regard to same selection proceeding and by recording finding on the point, the matter was re-delegated to the DIOS for reconsideration.

42) In regard to initiation of proceeding of selection by a committee of management, this court while examining the material has recorded finding by holding that once the salary of the teachers and other employees has been disbursed under the signature of Sri Manish Kumar Jain, therefore, the objection in this regard cannot be sustained. Therefore, the order taking the same ground in rejecting the claim of approval of DIOS cannot be sustained.

43) Moreover, in regard to similar selection, the DIOS has recalled his order dated 11.11.2019 and accorded approval to the selection of the teachers of the same selection, therefore, refusal to grant approval to the petitioners cannot be termed to be valid and justified.

44) In view of the above, I am of the view that the DIOS while passing the impugned order has travelled beyond his scope of consideration. The order impugned is in utter disregard of the judgment and order passed in earlier proceeding by this court and teachers of the same selection have been accorded approval by the DIOS, therefore, refusal vide impugned order is illegal and cannot be sustained. Accordingly, the impugned order dated 11.11.2019 is hereby set aside.

45) The writ petition succeeds and is allowed.

46) However, the DIOS is directed to pass appropriate reasoned and speaking order of approval to the selection of the petitioners on the post of assistant teachers within a period of four weeks from the date of production of a certified copy of this order.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Raj Beer Singh, J.)

1. This appeal has been preferred against the impugned judgment dated 24.10.2013 and order dated 25.10.2013, passed by learned Addl. District & Sessions Judge, Court No, 11, Agra in Session Trial No 1222/08 (State V Ajay & others) under Sections 302, 201, 376 and 120-B of Indian Penal Code (hereinafter referred as IPC), arising out of crime No. 246/08, PS Sadar, Agra, whereby accused-appellants Ajay and Vijay have been convicted under sections 302/34 and Section 376 of IPC and sentenced to imprisonment for life, with a fine of Rs.10,000/- and ten years rigorous imprisonment, with fine of Rs. 5000/- respectively. In default of payment of fine imposed under Section 302/34 IPC, appellants have to undergo one year additional rigorous imprisonment and in case of default of payment of fine imposed under Section 376 IPC, appellants have to undergo six months additional imprisonment. Both the sentences were directed to run currently. Co-accused Jamuna Devi was acquitted of charge u/s 120-B of IPC.

2. Prosecution version is that house of one Navratan Singh was being constructed in the premises adjoining to the house of complainant/PW-1 Lajjawati. On the night of 02.05.2008 at 8:00 PM, complainant's daughter Km. Manisha, aged about 9 years, was taking meal at the roof of her house and at that time, accused Ajay and Vijay were consuming liquor on the roof of under construction house of Navratan Singh. They have given a piece of ice to the complainant's daughter and she brought the same at her house, but she again went at the roof. At around 9:00 pm, complainant searched Manisha at roof, but she was not there. Accused-appellant Ajay and Vijay were also not there. While making search of deceased in and around, one Narayan Singh told the complainant that deceased Manisha was being taken away by accused Ajay and Vijay. However, despite sufficient efforts, Manisha could not be traced. On next day morning at about 6:00 am, complainant was informed that dead body of her daughter is lying in field of dairy farm. Complainant went there and saw that dead body of her daughter Manisha was lying there and that there were injuries on her body and she was bleeding at her private parts. Complainant has alleged that her daughter was molested and killed by accused Ajay and Vijay and thereafter, her dead body was concealed in the field of dairy farm.

3. Complainant/PW-1 Lajjawati, reported the matter to police by submitting written complaint Ex. Ka-1, and on that basis, case was registered against both the accused persons on 03.05.2008 at 8:35 AM under Section 376, 302, 201 of IPC vide FIR Ex. Ka-2.

4. Inquest proceedings were conducted by PW-8 S.I. Surendra Kumar Singh vide inquest report Ex. Ka-2 and the dead body of the deceased was sealed and sent for postmortem.

5. Postmortem on the dead body of deceased was conducted on 03.05.2008 by PW-4 Dr. Surendra Pakhwar, vide postmortem report Ex. Ka-4 and following injuries were found on the person of deceased:

(i) Rigor mortis present on lower part of body.

(ii) Two abrasions 1 cm x .5 cm right side of face distance between 1.5 cm.

(iii) Abrasion 5 cm x 3 cm area on the front of neck surrounding area- swelled.

(iv) pubic area labia majora swelled.

(v) Hyoid bone fractured.

As per Autopsy Surgeon, cause of death of the deceased was due to asphyxia caused by strangulation.

6. Investigation of case was taken up by PW-6 S.S.I. Surendra Nath. He has recorded the statements of witnesses and after completion of investigation, charge-sheet was filed in Court.

7. Trial Court framed charge under Sections 376, 302/34 and 120-B IPC against both the accused persons and they pleaded not guilty and claimed trial.

8. In order to bring home the guilt of accused-appellants, prosecution has examined eight witnesses. After prosecution evidence, accused persons were examined under Section 313 of Cr.P.C., wherein, they have denied the prosecution evidence and claimed false implication.

9. After hearing and analyzing the evidence on record, trial Court convicted both the accused appellants under Sections 302/34 and 376 IPC vide impugned judgment dated 24.10.2013 vide order dated 25.10.2013 they were sentenced, as stated in paragraph no.1 of this judgment.

10. Being aggrieved by the impugned judgment and order accused-appellants have preferred the present appeal.

11. Heard Sri Ajay Singh, learned Amicus Curiae for the appellants and Sri Amit Sinha, learned A.G.A for the State and perused the record.

12. Learned counsel for the appellants has submitted:

(i) that there is no eye-witness account to the alleged incident and that alleged evidence of 'last seen' by PW-3 Jaswant is highly improbable and there is no legal evidence against the appellants.

(ii) that alleged extra judicial confession made before PW-5 Tej Pal Singh, is not reliable. It was stated that PW-5 Tej Pal is uncle of deceased and it cannot be believed that accused persons would make extra judicial confession before uncle of deceased. Further, PW-5 Tej Pal has made inconsistent statement and his version is suffering from various infirmities and thus testimony of PW-5 is not reliable.

(iii) that prosecution case is based on circumstantial evidence, but chain of circumstances is not complete and that no incriminating circumstance has been proved against the appellants. There is absolutely no evidence that deceased was subjected to rape by the appellants.

(iv) that there are several material contradictions and inconsistencies in the statements of witnesses, which make the involvement of appellants fully doubtful.

13. Per contra, it has been submitted by learned State counsel that deceased was last seen in the company of accused persons and that both the accused-appellants have failed to put up any such case that deceased has parted away their company. Besides that, both the appellants have made extra judicial confession before PW-5 Tej Pal, which has been proved in accordance with law. It was submitted that chain of circumstances is complete and all circumstances proved by prosecution point out the guilt of accused-appellants and that trial court was justified in convicting the appellants.

14. We have considered rival submissions and perused the record.

15. In evidence, PW-1 Lajjawati has stated that deceased, aged about 9 years, was her daughter. On 02.05.2008 at 8:00 pm deceased was having meal at her roof and adjacent to her house, on the roof of under construction house of one Jamuna Devi, accused Vijay and Ajay were consuming liquor. They have given ice piece to deceased and consequently, deceased has given the same to her, but deceased has again went at her roof. At around 9:00 pm, PW-1 Lajjawati searched her daughter at roof, but she was not found there and that Ajay and Vijay, who were sitting in adjacent roof, were also not there. While deceased was being searched, one Narayan Singh told her that he has seen accused Ajay and Vijay taking away her daughter and when he has asked them as to where they were taking away the deceased, they have told that they were taking her to shop to provide sweet dish. On the next day morning, PW-1 came to know that dead body of her daughter was lying in field of dairy farm. She went there and saw that there were injuries on the body of deceased and she was bleeding at her private parts. PW-1 Lajjawati has further stated that about 15 days prior to incident, on account of some dispute over purchasing some items from shop of Jamuna Devi, she has threatened to ruin her family and children. PW-1 has stated that Jamuna Devi has hatched a conspiracy with accused Ajay and Vijay and thereafter deceased was raped and murdered by Ajay and Vijay.

16. PW-2 constable Umesh Kumar is a formal witness, who has recorded FIR.

17. PW-3 Jaswant has stated that both accused Ajay and Vijay used to work at house of Jamuna Devi. On 02.05.2008 at about 9:00 PM, when he was coming to his home, accused Ajay and Vijay were taking away deceased Manisha and when he inquired, they have told that they were taking deceased to provide her some sweet dish. When he reached in front of house of Jamuna Devi, she has also told that accused Ajay and Vijay have taken away deceased to provide her some sweet dish. On next day morning, he came to know that deceased has gone missing and after that he came to know that deceased has been murdered. As per PW-3 Jaswant, deceased was raped and murdered by accused Ajay and Vijay and that Jamuna Devi was also involved in this incident and she has got committed this crime from Ajay and Vijay.

18. PW-4 Dr. Surendra Kumar has conducted postmortem on the dead body of deceased vide postmortem report Ex. Ka-4.

19. PW-5 Tej Pal stated that on 02.05.2008 at around 8:30 pm when he was present at Sewla stand, accused Ajay has met him and told that he (PW-5 Tej Pal) has good relations with MLA Gorelal and he needs his help. PW-5 Tej Pal stated that Ajay told him that under influence of liquor, they both have done evil act with deceased Manisha and thereafter he and Vijay have committed her murder and thus Ajay has sought help from PW-5 Tej Pal but he has refused to help them.

20. PW-7 S.S.I. Anand Kumar Singh, has conducted initial investigation. He has prepared site plan of spot vide Ex. Ka-5. Sleepers and underwear of deceased were taken into possession vide seizure memo Ka-6. Clothes of accused Ajay were also seized vide Ex Ka-7. PW-6 SSI Surendra Nath has conducted subsequent investigation. He has recorded statements of witnesses and has filed charge-sheet

21. PW-8 S.I. Surendra Kumar, has conducted the inquest proceedings.

22. In this case, there is no eye-witness account to the alleged incident and that the case is based on circumstantial evidence. It is well settled that though conviction can be based on circumstantial evidence alone, but for that prosecution must establish chain of circumstances, which consistently points to the guilt of accused and accused alone and is inconsistent with their innocence. It is further essential for the prosecution to cogently and firmly establish the circumstances from which inference of guilt of accused is to be drawn. These circumstances then have to be taken into consideration cumulatively. They must be complete to conclude that within all human probability, accused and none else have committed the offence. In landmark judgment of Supreme Court in Sharad Birdhichand Sarda Vs. State of Maharashtra, AIR 1984 SC 1622, Hon'ble Apex Court held as under:-

"152. A close analysis of this decision would show that the following conditions must be fulfilled before a case against an accused can be said to be fully established:

(1) the circumstances from which the conclusion of guilt is to be drawn should be fully established.

It may be noted here that this Court indicated that the circumstances concerned 'must or should' and not 'may be ' established. There is not only a grammatical but a legal distinction between 'may be proved' and 'must be or should be proved as was held by this court in Shivaji Sahebaro Bobade V State of Maharashtra 1973 CriLJ1783 where the following observations were made:

Certainly, it is primary principle that the accused must be and not merely may be guilty before a Court can convict, and the mental distance between 'may be' and 'must be' is long and divides vague conjectures from sure conclusions.

(2) the facts so established should be consistent only with the hypothesis of the guilt of the accuses, that is to say, they should not be explainable on any other hypothesis except that the accused is guilty.

(3) the circumstances should be of a conclusive nature and tendency.

(4) they should exclude every possible hypothesis except the one to be proved, and

(5) there must be a chain of evidence so complete as not to leave any reasonable ground for the conclusion consistent with the innocence of the accused and must show that in all human probability the act must have been done by the accused.

153. These five golden principles, if we may say so, constitute the panchsheel of the proof of a case based on circumstantial evidence".

In Joseph vs. State of Kerala, [(2000) 5 SCC 197], court has explained under what circumstances conviction can be based purely on circumstantial evidence. It observed:-

"it is often said that though witnesses may lie, circumstances will not, but at the same time it must cautiously be scrutinized to see that the incriminating circumstances are such as to lead only to a hypothesis of guilt and reasonably exclude every possibility of innocence of the accused. There can also be no hard and fast rule as to the appreciation of evidence in a case and being always an exercise pertaining to arriving at a finding of fact the same has to be in the manner necessitated or warranted by the peculiar facts and circumstances of each case. The whole effort and endeavor in the case should be to find out whether the crime was committed by the accused and the circumstances proved form themselves into a complete chain unerringly pointing to the guilt of the accused."

Similar view has been expressed in Padala Veera Reddy v. State of Andhra Pradesh, (AIR 1990 SC 79). In C. Chenga Reddy and others v. State of Andhra Pradesh, AIR 1996 SC 3390, the Court held:-

"In a case based on circumstantial evidence, the settled law is that the circumstances from which the conclusion of guilt is drawn should be fully proved and such circumstances must be conclusive in nature. Moreover, all the circumstances should be complete and there should be no gap left in the chain of evidence. Further, the proved circumstances must be consistent only with the hypothesis of the guilt of the accused and totally inconsistent with his innocence."

In State of U.P. vs. Ashok Kumar Srivastava, [(1992) 2 SCC 86], it was pointed out that great care must be taken in evaluating circumstantial evidence and if evidence relied on is reasonably capable of two inferences, the one in favour of accused must be accepted. It was also pointed out that circumstances relied upon must be found to have been fully established and cumulative effect of all the facts so established must be consistent only with the hypothesis of the guilt.

In State of Himachal Pradesh Vs. Raj Kumar, reported in (2018) 2 SCC 69, the Court was considering a case based on circumstantial evidence and taking note of the well settled legal position, in Paragraph 9 and 10, the court held:-

"9. Prosecution case is based on circumstantial evidence. It is well settled that in a case based on circumstantial evidence, the circumstances from which an inference of guilt is sought to be drawn must be cogently and firmly established and that those circumstances must be conclusive in nature unerringly pointing towards the guilt of the accused. Moreover all the circumstances taken cumulatively should form a complete chain and there should be no gap left in the chain of evidence. Further the proved circumstances must be consistent only with the hypothesis of the guilt of the accused and totally inconsistent with his innocence.

10. In a case, based on circumstantial evidence, the inference of guilt can be drawn only when all the incriminating facts and circumstances are found to be incompatible with the innocence of the accused. In Trimukh Maroti Kirkan v. State of Maharashtra (2006) 10 SCC 681*, it was held as under:-*

"12. .....The normal principle in a case based on circumstantial evidence is that the circumstances from which an inference of guilt is sought to be drawn must be cogently and firmly established; that those circumstances should be of a definite tendency unerringly pointing towards the guilt of the accused; that the circumstances taken cumulatively should form a chain so complete that there is no escape from the conclusion that within all human probability the crime was committed by the accused and they should be incapable of explanation on any hypothesis other than that of the guilt of the accused and inconsistent with their innocence."

The same principle was reiterated in State of Rajasthan v. Kashi Ram (2006) 12 SCC 254, Ganesh Lal v. State of Rajasthan (2002) 1 SCC 731, State of Maharashtra v. Suresh (2000) 1 SCC 471 and State of Tamil Nadu v. Rajendran (1999) 8 SCC 679.

In Vijay Shankar Vs. State of Haryana, reported in (2015) 12 SCC 644, although the case was based on last seen theory, the Court discussed the principles in respect of evidentiary value and held in Paragraph 8 as under:-

"8. There is no eye-witness to the occurrence and the entire case is based upon circumstantial evidence. The normal principle is that in a case based on circumstantial evidence the circumstances from which an inference of guilt is sought to be drawn must be cogently and firmly established; that these circumstances should be of a definite tendency unerringly pointing towards the guilt of the accused; that the circumstances taken cumulatively should form a chain so complete that there is no escape from the conclusion that within all human probability the crime was committed by the accused and they should be incapable of explanation of any hypothesis other than that of the guilt of the accused and inconsistent with their innocence vide Sharad Birdhichand Sarda vs. State of Maharashtra, (1984) 4 SCC 116. The same view was reiterated in Bablu vs. State of Rajasthan, (2007) 2 SCC (Cri). 590."

In Varkey Joseph Vs. State of Kerala, reported in AIR 1993 SC 1892, Court held that suspicion cannot take place of proof. The Court concluded as under:-

"12. Suspicion is not the substitute for proof. There is a long distance between 'may be true' and 'must be true' and the prosecution has to travel all the way to prove its case beyond all reasonable doubt. We have already seen that the prosecution not only has not proved its case but palpably produced false evidence and the prosecution has miserably failed to prove its case against the appellant let alone beyond all reasonable doubt that the appellant and he alone committed the offence. We had already allowed the appeal and acquitted him by our order dated April 12, 1993 and set the appellant at liberty which we have little doubt that it was carried out by date. The appeal is allowed and the appellant stands acquitted of the offence under S. 302, IPC"

In Raja @ Rajinder Vs. State of Haryana, reported in (2015) 11 SCC 43, Court noted down the circumstance with which the court should be satisfied in a case based on circumstantial evidence alone and held as under:-

"10. As the factual matrix would show, the case of the prosecution entirely hinges on circumstantial evidence. When a case rests on circumstantial evidence, the Court has to be satisfied that:

"(1) the circumstances from which an inference of guilt is sought to be drawn, must be cogently and firmly established;

(2) those circumstances should be of a definite tendency unerringly pointing towards guilt of the accused;

(3) the circumstances, taken cumulatively, should form a chain so complete that there is no escape from the conclusion that within all human probability the crime was committed by the accused and none else; and (4) the circumstantial evidence in order to sustain conviction must be complete and incapable of explanation of any other hypothesis than that of the guilt of the accused and such evidence should not only be consistent with the guilt of the accused but should be inconsistent with his innocence."

In Balwinder Singh v. State of Punjab, 1995 Supp (4) SCC 259, it has been laid down that:-

"4. ..the circumstances from which the conclusion of guilt is to be drawn should be fully proved and those circumstances must be conclusive in nature to connect the accused with the crime. All the links in the chain of events must be established beyond a reasonable doubt and the established circumstances should be consistent only with the hypothesis of the guilt of the accused and totally inconsistent with his innocence. In a case based on circumstantial evidence, the court has to be on its guard to avoid the danger of allowing suspicion to take the place of legal proof and has to be watchful to avoid the danger of being swayed by emotional considerations, howsoever strong they may be, to take the place of proof."

The law with regard to appreciation of circumstantial evidence has been clearly enunciated in the case of Hanumant v. State of Madhya Pradesh AIR 1952 SC 343, 1953 CriLJ 129, wherein the Apex Court held as follows:

"10.....It is well to remember that in cases where the evidence is of a circumstantial nature, the circumstances from which the conclusion of guilt is to be drawn should in the first instance be fully established, and all the facts so established should be consistent only with the hypothesis of the guilt of the accused. Again, the circumstances should be of a conclusive nature and tendency and they should be such as to exclude every hypothesis but the one proposed to be proved. In other words, there must be a chain of evidence so far complete as not to leave any reasonable ground for a conclusion consistent with the innocence of the accused and it must be such as to show that within all human probability the act must have been done by the accused."

In case of Chandru @ Chandrasekaran Versus State rep. By Dy Superintendent of police CB CID & Anr, Criminal Appeal No. 1193 of 2011 decided on 12.02.2019, after referring to above stated case of Hanumant v. State of Madhya Pradesh (supra), it has been observed by the Hon'ble Supreme Court that this law has been consistently followed and has been repeated in catena of authorities. It is not necessary to refer to all the authorities. The law can be summarised in the following terms:

1, The circumstances relied upon by the prosecution which lead to an inference to the guilt of the accused must be proved beyond doubt;

2, The circumstances should unerringly point towards the guilt of the accused;

3, The circumstances should be linked together in such a manner that the cumulative effect of the chain formed by joining the links is so complete that it leads to only one conclusion i.e. the guilt of the accused;

4, That there should be no probability of the crime having been committed by a person other than the accused.

From the aforesaid authorities, it is clear that in a case based on circumstantial evidence, Court is required to evaluate circumstantial evidence to see that the chain of events have been established clearly and completely to rule out any reasonable likelihood of innocence of the accused. Needless to say whether the chain is complete or not would depend on the facts of each case emanating from the evidence and no universal yardstick should ever be attempted [See Ujjagar Singh v. State of Punjab, (2007) 13 SCC 90 : (2009) 1 SCC (Cri) 272]. The principle that emerges from the above discussed decisions is that conviction can be based solely on circumstantial evidence, but it should be tested on the touchstone of law relating to circumstantial evidence laid down by the Hon'ble Apex Court.

23. Keeping in view the above stated position of law, when we revert to the facts of present case, one of the circumstance relied by prosecution is that deceased was last seen in the company of both accused persons. In this regard, statement of PW-1 Lajjawati is to the effect that on 02.05.2008 at 8:00 PM, on the roof of adjoining under construction house, both the accused appellants Ajay and Vijay were having liquor and that they have given an ice piece to deceased girl, which was given by deceased to PW-1 Lajjawati and that deceased girl again went to the roof and at around 9:00 PM, when PW-1 went at the roof to look the deceased, she was not found there and both the accused appellants were also not there. PW-1 Lajjawati has also stated that while making search for deceased, Narayan Singh and Jaswant Singh have told her that they have seen that deceased was being taking away by both the accused persons and that accused persons have told that they were taking the deceased for providing her some sweet dish. It is not in dispute that dead body of deceased was recovered next day morning in the field near the dairy farm. Alleged Narayan Singh has not been examined by the prosecution. In her cross-examination, PW-1 Lajjawati has admitted that above stated Jaswant is her brother and that she has neither seen the incident, nor she has seen the accused persons taking away her daughter. She has clarified that she has not seen as to when her girl has gone, but deceased has brought an ice piece at around 8.00-9.00 PM and she has told her that it was given by accused persons. Considering statement of PW-1 Lajjawati in its entirety, it is apparent that there is no categorical version of PW-1 Lajjawanti that she has seen the deceased girl with accused appellants at the alleged adjoining roof of under construction house, rather her version is that she was told by her daughter (deceased) that she was given an ice piece by accused appellants. Thus, it is clear that PW 1 Lajjawanti has not seen the deceased in the company of accused persons and her version is that when she was searching her daughter, PW 3 Jaswant has told that he has seen that the deceased was being taken away by accused persons.

24. So far as testimony of PW 3 Jaswant is concerned, it may be noticed that he is brother of complainant. PW-1 Lajwanti has stated in her cross-examination that Jaswant has told her on the same night that he has seen accused appellants Ajay and Vijay taking away the deceased girl but in the night no report was lodged. PW-3 Jaswant has stated that on 02.05.2008 at around 9:00 PM, he has seen that deceased girl was being taken away by accused-appellants Ajay and Vijay and on inquiry, they have told that they were taking the deceased girl to provide her some sweet dish and that when PW-3 Jaswant reached in front of the house of Jamuna Devi, he was told by Jamuna Devi that accused persons have taken away deceased girl by informing her. In his cross-examination, PW-3 Jaswant has stated that at the time of incident, he was with his sister Lajjawati, whereas on other hand he has stated that it was at about 6:00 AM on next day, when he came to know that Manisha (deceased) was missing and that he has not made any search for Manisha. Thus, on the other hand, PW 3 Jaswant states that on 02.05.2008 at about 09.00 PM, he has seen that accused-appellants were taking away the deceased and he has told this fact to PW 1 Lajjawanti and that on that night he was with Lajjawanti and on the other, he says that he came to know next day at 06.00 AM that deceased was missing. Further, version of PW 1 Lajjawanti is that when she was making search of deceased, she was told by PW-3 Jaswant that deceased was taken away by accused-appellants, but PW-3 Jaswant has stated that he has not made any search of deceased on that night and he came to know on next day morning that deceased was missing. All these facts raise doubt about authenticity of the version of PW 3 Jaswant. It may be seen that PW-1 Lajjawati has stated that when she was making search for her daughter, she has also made inquiry from accused Ajay and Vijay, but they have told that deceased girl was not with them, whereas her version in examination-in-chief is that while she was making search for her daughter, she was told by PW-3 Jaswant that deceased was seen going with accused Ajay and Vijay. If it was so, it was quite natural that report must have been lodged against accused Ajay and Vijay in the night of that day itself, but FIR has been lodged on the next day after recovery of dead body. Further statement of PW-3 Jaswant, in his cross-examination, is to the effect that he came to know on the next day morning at 6:00 AM that deceased was missing. Here, it may also be stated that PW-3 Jaswant is brother of PW-1 Lajjawati and that PW-1, in her cross-examination, has stated that her brother Jaswant was not residing in Agra, rather he was residing in Bharatpur, but he used to run a shop in Agra. Considering the inconsistencies and infirmities emerged in statement of PW-3 Jaswant, his statement, that he has seen that deceased was being taken away by accused appellants, does not inspires confidence.

25. After considering the entire evidence, it is apparent that PW-1 Lajjawanti has not seen the deceased in the company of accused-appellants and that statement of PW 3 Jaswant, that he has seen the accused-appellants while they were taking away deceased, is also suffering from material inconsistencies and infirmities and does not inspire confidence. Here, it has also to be kept in mind that PW-3 Jaswant is brother of PW-1 Lajjawant and that independent witness of alleged 'last seen' namely Narayan, has not been examined by the prosecution. Considering the entire evidence in attending facts and circumstances of the case, it is clear that there is no cogent evidence that deceased was last seen in the company of accused-appellants.

26. Here it may be stated that in Mohibur Rahman and Anr. v. State of Assam (2002) 6 SCC 715, the Hon'ble Apex Court held that the circumstance of last seen does not by itself necessarily lead to the inference that it was the accused who committed the crime. It depends upon the facts of each case. There may however be cases where, on account of close proximity of place and time between the event of the accused having been last seen with the deceased and the factum of death, a rational mind may be persuaded to reach an irresistible conclusion that either the accused should explain how and in what circumstances the victim suffered the death or should own the liability for the homicide. Similarly in Arjun Marik and Ors. V. State of Bihar 1994 Supp (2) SCC 372, it was reiterated by the Hon'ble Supreme Court that the solitary circumstance of the accused and victim being last seen will not complete the chain of circumstances for the Court to record a finding that it is consistent only with the hypothesis of the guilt of the accused. No conviction on that basis alone can, therefore, be founded. So also in Godabarish Mishra v. Kuntala Mishraand Another (1996) 11 SCC 264, the Supreme Court held that the theory of last seen together is not of universal application and may not always be sufficient to sustain a conviction unless supported by other links in the chain of circumstances. In Bharat v. State of M.P (2003) 3 SCC 106; two circumstances on the basis whereof the appellant had been convicted were (i) the appellant having been last seen with the deceased and (ii) Recovery of ornaments made at his instance. The Supreme Court held:

"Mere non-explanation cannot lead to the proof of guilt against the appellant. The prosecution has to prove its case against the appellant beyond reasonable doubt. The chain of circumstances, in our opinion, is not complete so as to sustain the conviction of the appellant."

Applying the aforesaid legal preposition in the present case, it is quite apparent that the neither the chain of circumstances is complete nor the alleged circumstance of last seen has been established.

27. So far as alleged extra judicial confession made by accused Ajay before PW-5 Tej Pal is concerned, it may be stated that PW 5 Tej Pal has admitted in his cross-examination that he is real uncle of deceased Manisha and thus, it appears highly improbable that accused would make any such confession before him. Further, there is nothing to indicate that PW-5 Tej Pal was a person of such status or position that he could have helped the accused in said case. Even otherwise, the version of this witness PW-5 Tej Pal is quite inconsistent. In his cross-examination, he goes to say that deceased girl was killed in his presence, while there is absolutely no such prosecution version that incident took place in front of PW-5 Tej Pal. No such statement was made by him during investigation. After recovery of dead body, PW-5 Tej Pal has neither informed this fact to the complainant nor to the police. However, in his further cross-examination, he back-tracks and says that he has not seen the incident by his own eyes and that the fact stated by him earlier, that he has seen the incident, is false. He has also stated that at the time of recovery of dead body, accused Ajay has also met there and he was dragged by him to the house of Lajjawati, while there is no such prosecution version. In view of cross-examination of PW-5 Tej Pal, he appears thoroughly unreliable witness. The trial court has also disbelieved the evidence of this witness. In view of all these facts, it is apparent that prosecution could not establish alleged extra judicial confession.

28. In view of evidence available on record, it appears that there is no categorical and reliable evidence that deceased was last seen with the accused persons. Similarly, alleged extra judicial confession could also not be established. Here it would be relevant to mention that no recovery of any incriminating article has been made from accused-appellants or at the instance of accused-appellants. Though alleged circumstance of 'last seen' has not been established, but it would also be relevant to mention that there is time gap of whole night between alleged last seen and recovery of dead body of deceased. It is established from medical evidence that before her murder, deceased was subjected to rape, however, there is no such forensic report to connect the accused-appellants with said rape and murder of deceased.

29. No doubt, the incident in question is quite heinous as a nine years old innocent girl was ravished and brutally done to death, however suspicion howsoever grave, cannot take place of proof. As held in the case of Balwinder Singh (supra), in a case based on circumstantial evidence, the court has to be on its guard to avoid the danger of allowing suspicion to take the place of legal proof and has to be watchful to avoid the danger of being swayed by emotional considerations, howsoever strong they may be, to take the place of proof. In this case, after taking into consideration the totality of the facts and circumstances of the case and the evidence led on record by the prosecution, we find that many important links are missing so as to form the complete chain of evidence, which could conclusively establish the guilt of the accused persons. The only incriminating evidence against the accused persons, that the deceased was last seen in their company, has not been fully established. The circumstantial evidence relied upon by the prosecution does not satisfy the test laid down by the Hon'ble Apex Court through various pronouncements. Suspicion is not the substitute for proof. There is a long distance between 'may be true' and 'must be true' and the prosecution has to travel all the way to prove its case beyond all reasonable doubt. We have already seen that the prosecution has miserably failed to prove its case against the appellants beyond reasonable doubt that the appellants and they alone committed the offence.

30. In view of the above, it will not be safe to uphold the conviction of the accused appellants Ajai and Vijai in commission of rape and murder of the deceased. The accused-appellants Ajai and Vijai deserve for benefit of doubt.

31. Appeal succeeds and is allowed. The impugned judgment and order dated 24.10.2013/25.10.2013 passed by the Trial Court is hereby set aside and both accused-appellants Ajay and Vijay, are acquitted of the charges levelled against them. Both accused-appellants Ajai and Vijai are in jail, they shall be released forthwith if not required in any other case.

32. We appreciate the assistance rendered Sri Ajay Singh, learned Amicus Curiae and it is directed that he shall be paid Rs 7000/ (Rs Seven thousands) by State Government.

33. A copy of this judgment be sent to the court concerned forthwith for necessary compliance.
