Writ-C No. 4493 of 2022

Lal Bihari Yadav ...Petitioner
Versus
Chairman/Sabhapati, U.P. Legislative Council & Anr. ...Respondents

Counsel for the Petitioner:

Counsel for the Respondents:
Gaurav Mehrotra

Constitution of India, 1950 - Article 226 & 212 – Scope of Judicial Review by this Court under Article 226 of the Constitution of India in a case of recognition/derecognition of leader of opposition - Courts cannot inquire into the validity of any proceedings in the Legislature of a St. based on alleged procedural irregularities - High court will decline to interfere if the grievance brought before it is restricted to allegations of "irregularity of procedure" - However, if there is any allegation of gross illegality or violation of constitutional provisions, the power of Judiciary is not barred by Article 212 of the Constitution of India - An ouster clause attaching finality to a determination does ordinarily oust the power of the court to review the decision but not on grounds of lack of jurisdiction or it being a nullity for reason such as gross illegality, irrationality, violation of constitutional mandate, mala fides, non-compliance with rules of natural justice and perversity.

Constitution of India, 1950 - Article 208 - U.P. St. Legislature in exercise of the powers conferred by Article 208 of the Constitution of India has framed rules - U.P. Rajya Vidhan Mandal (Neta Virodhi Ki Suvidhayan) Niyamvali, 1981 –

Civil Law - Uttar Pradesh St. Legislature (Members, Emoluments and Pension) Act, 1980 - Section 2(h) - Leader of Opposition - Procedure for recognising the leader of the opposition - Uttar Pradesh St. Legislature (Members' Emoluments and Pension) Act, 1980 does not prescribes any mechanism for recognising a leader of opposition - Chairman of the Vidhan Parishad is not bound to be guided only with the criteria of recognising the leader of an opposition party, which has the greatest numerical strength - Rules provides for discretion of the Respondent no.1 to recognize and/or de-recognise a Leader of Opposition (Para 42)

Civil Law - Uttar Pradesh Legislative Council's Procedure and conduct of Business rules, 1956 - Rule 234 – By notification dated 07.07.2022 the recognition of the petitioner as the leader of the opposition in Uttar Pradesh Legislative Council was withdrawn, due to change in the number of members of the Samajwadi party from 12 to 9– No infirmity or violation of constitutional provisions in the impugned order dated 07.07.2022, by which the recognition of the petitioner as the leader of the opposition in Uttar Pradesh Legislative Council has been withdrawn (Para 6)

whenever the Speaker recognises any person as a leader of opposition he does so on the basis of precedent or practice of the Legislature in question, keeping in view at the same time, the definition in the Act - If the basis of recognition is not the Act in question but the practice prevailing then he has to follow the practice of recognising the leader of an opposition party which has not only the greatest numerical strength as required by the definition in the Act, but has also one-tenth of the total membership of the House –

(Delivered by Hon'ble Om Prakash Shukla, J.)

1. Heard Sri Mohd. Arif Khan, learned Senior Counsel assisted by Sri K.K. Pal for the petitioner and Sri Gaurav Mehrotra, learned counsel for the respondents.

2. This proceeding has been initiated under Article 226 of the Constitution of India by the petitioner seeking two fold reliefs, (i) A direction has been sought in the nature of mandamus commanding the respondents to stay the operation of the impugned notification dated 07.07.2022 by which the recognition of the petitioner as the leader of the opposition in Uttar Pradesh Legislative Council has been withdrawn; and (ii) A direction has also been sought in the nature of Certiorari, seeking quashing of the said impugned notification dated 07.07.2022 by which the recognition of the petitioner as the leader of the opposition in Uttar Pradesh Legislative Council has been withdrawn.

FACTS

3. Article 168 of the constitution of India provides for a Legislature in every state of the country. The same article mentions that where there are two Houses of the Legislature of a State, one shall be known as the Legislative Council (Vidhan Parishad in Hindi) and the other as the Legislative Assembly (Vidhan Sabha in Hindi), popularly known as the upper house and lower house respectively. While all the states of India and even some union territory have Legislative Assembly, however the presence of Legislative Council is restricted to only few larger states, including the state of Uttar Pradesh. As of now, there are six states which have legislative council namely the state of Andhra Pradesh, Bihar, Karnataka, Maharashtra, Telangana and the State of Uttar Pradesh.

4. This court is concerned with the legislative Council/ Vidhan Parishad/ Upper house of the state of Uttar Pradesh which is a permanent House, consisting of 100 Members, (90 elected + 10 nominated). (Annexure-2 of the writ) and the issue relating to the validity of the impugned notification dated 07.07.2022 by which the recognition of the petitioner as the leader of the opposition in Uttar Pradesh Legislative Council has been withdrawn.

5. The petitioner Lal Bihari Yadav is an elected member of the Uttar Pradesh Legislative Council since 2020 (Annexure-3 of the writ) and also a candidate of the political party, the Samajwadi party. The petitioner was recognized as a leader of the opposition in the Legislative Council (Vidhan Parishad) under section 2(h) of the Uttar Pradesh State Legislature (Members, Emoluments and Pension) Act, 1980 vide a letter dated 27.05.2022 (Annexure-4 of the Writ) issued by the Principal Secretary, Vidhan Parishad, Uttar Pradesh. Apparently, no reason or any criteria have been mentioned in the said letter relating to the appointment of the petitioner as the "Leader of the Opposition" and the only reference made in the said letter is that the petitioner is being appointed as "Leader of Opposition" in terms of section 2(h) of the Act, mentioned supra.

6. It is the case of the petitioner that as on 05.07.2022, the number of members of Samajwadi Party in Uttar Pradesh Vidhan parishad was 12 (Twelve) and it was decreased on 06.07.2022/07.07.2022 to 9 (Nine) and as such the petitioner's recognition as leader of opposition was withdrawn, which according to the petitioner was illegal, unconstitutional and in an arbitrary manner, without affording any opportunity of hearing. Thus, the petitioner has approached this court under the present writ petition.

CONTENTIONS

7. Heard Shri Mohd. Arif Khan, Senior Advocate assisted by Shri K.K. Pal for the petitioner, ld. Counsel appearing for the Petitioner while explaining the definition of "Leader of Opposition" as found in section 2(h) of the Uttar Pradesh Legislative Council, 1980, sought to draw pari-materia reference to the meaning of a leader of opposition in the houses of Indian Parliament. According to him, the leader of opposition is a statutory post and is defined in the salaries and allowances of leaders of opposition in parliament Act, 1977 as the leader of numerically biggest party in opposition to the government and as such recognised by the Speaker/Chairman. The Ld. Counsel has also drawn reference of definition of leader of opposition as defined in section 2(b) of the Gujarat Assembly (Leader of Opposition) salary and allowances Act, 1979 to contend that even in the said Act, the leader of the opposition has been defined to mean the member of the assembly who is for the time being the leader in the assembly of the party in opposition to the state government having the greatest numerical strength in the assembly.

8. The learned counsel in order to further buttress his point has also drawn reference to section 2 of the salary and allowances of the leader of opposition in the Assam Legislative Assembly Act, 1979 and section 2 of the leader of opposition in Maharashtra Legislature Salaries and Allowances Act, 1978. The crux of the argument of the petitioner by drawing inferences from these Act is the leader of the opposition ought to be the person, who is the leader of the opposition in the house, having the greatest numerical strength. It has been argued that the procedure for recognising the leader of the opposition is well laid down and on a request being made by the numerically largest party in opposition that its designated leader be recognised as the leader of the opposition, the speaker is bound to examine his or her request and recognise the said person as leader of the opposition.

9. According to the learned counsel for the petitioner, there is no power of discretion vested with the speaker in the matter of recognising the leader of opposition as the discretion vested with the speaker is neither political nor arithmetical but a statutory decision. Thus, as per the petitioner, the speaker has to merely ascertain whether the party claiming the post of leader of opposition is the largest party only and therefore to say that the party cannot claim the post of leader of opposition because it does not have at last 10% of the membership of the house is devoid of any merits. Thus, the learned counsel in order to vindicate his stand has given illustration of the Delhi Assembly, wherein the opposition party got the post of leader of opposition although it has only three members in an assembly of 70 members.

10. The petitioner has painstakingly pointed out that the impugned notification dated 07.07.2022, issued by the office of principal secretary, Uttar Pradesh relating to his de-recognition as the leader of the opposition in the Uttar Pradesh Legislative Council due to change in the number of members of the Samajwadi party from 12 to 9 by referring to rule 234 of the Uttar Pradesh Legislative Council's Procedure and conduct of Business rules, 1956 is illegal and unconstitutional.

11. Mr. Gaurav Mehrotra, learned counsel appearing for the respondents has vehemently opposed the writ petition and filed a Convenience Compilation/ primary point of Arguments. Mr. Mehrotra has resisted the writ filed by the petitioner on several grounds. However, the fulcrum of his argument was basically on four points namely (i) Jurisdiction/power and authority of the Chairman of the Uttar Pradesh Legislative Council to recognize/ derecognize the Leader of Opposition; (ii)The writ petition being not maintainable against the impugned order dated 07.07.2022; (iii) Merits of the Impugned order dated 07.07.2022; (iv) Petitioner cannot claim the position of leader of opposition as a matter of right and opportunity of hearing.

12. It has also been argued by the learned counsel for the respondents that the petitioner has failed to point out any constitutional provisions or any statutory provisions in the statute applicable on U.P Legislative whereby any right to be appointed or to continue as leader of opposition has been conferred upon the petitioner. According to the Ld. Counsel, it was the discretion of the respondent No.1 to recognize the petitioner as leader of opposition vide order dated 27.05.2022 and discretion to de-recognize him vide the impugned order dated 07.07.2022 has been exercised judiciously when his party lost the minimum number of members required to transact business in the Council as per Rules of Procedure and Conduct of Business Rules, 1956.

13. Both the sides have referred to various Judgments to espouse their contentions, which included:

(i) Karpoori Thakur Vs State of Bihar & Anr. 1982 SCC OnLine Pat 136

(ii) Kailash Nath Singh Yadav Vs Speaker, Vidhan Sabha, Lucknow & Another, 1992 SCC OnLine ALL 117

(iii) State of Kerala Vs K. Ajith & Otehrs, 2021 SCC Online SC 510

(iv) Ashish Shelar and Otehrs Vs Maharashtra Legislative Assembely & Anr., 2021 SCC OnLine SC 312

(v) Kihoto Hollohan Vs Zachillhu & Ors, 1992 Supp(2) SCC 651

(vi) N. Mani Vs Sangeetha Theatre and Others, (2004) 12 SCC 278

(vii) Raja Ram Pal Vs Hon'ble Speaker, Lok Sabha & Ors., (2007) 3 SCC 184

(ix) K. Lakshminarayan Vs Union of India & Anr. (2020) 14 SCC 664

DISCUSSION & ANALYSIS

14. Having heard learned counsels for the parties at considerable length, the following question falls for this court consideration:

A. What is the scope of interference by this Court under Article 226 of the Constitution of India in a case of recognition/derecognition of leader of opposition?

B. Whether the chairman of the Legislative Council has power to de-cognize and/or recognize the Leader of Opposition.

C. Whether the petitioner has a right to be appointed as a Leader of Opposition merely as being the leader of the numerically largest party in opposition in the Legislative council.

15. The learned counsel for the respondents has submitted that the instant writ petition challenging the order dated 07/07/2022 vide which the Chairman of the Legislative Council has derecognized the petitioner as the Leader of Opposition in the Legislative Council is not maintainable as the same is barred by the provision contained in Article 212 of the Constitution of India and has referred to the judgments delivered by a coordinate bench of this Court in the case of Kailash Nath Singh Yadav v/s Speaker, Vidhan Sabha, Lucknow, and Anr., 1992 SCC Online All 117 and a judgment delivered by the Patna High Court in Karpoori Thakur v/s State of Bihar reported in 1982 SCC Online Pat 136. It was also submitted that in the classic case of Bradlaugh v/s Gossett reported in (1884) 12 QBD 271, it has been held that the House of Commons is not subject to the control of Her Majesty's Courts in its administration of that part of the statue-law which has relation to its own internal proceedings. Thus, it was emphasized that what is said or done within the walls of the legislature with respect to conduct of business of the House, cannot be called in question in a court of law. The learned Counsel exuberantly also referred to the Commentary on the Constitution of India by D.D. Basu, wherein on page no, 10245, while discussing Article 212 of the Constitution of India, the Author has stated inter-alia "When the Speaker recognizes a member as leader of opposition, he exercises that power with respect to conduct of business of the House and cannot be called in question in a court of Law." Thus, it was submitted that the present writ petition is not maintainable.

16. This Court has given a thoughtful consideration to the arguments addressed by the learned counsel for the respondent at the Bar as well as the Convenience Compilation/ primary point of Arguments filed by him. In the understanding of this Court, our Constitution while defining "State" in Article 12 of the Constitution has included not only the Government but also the Parliament of India and Legislature of each of the States. The mention of the phrase "Parliament of India and Legislature of the state" has special significance. From time-to-time controversy has arisen as to whether the Legislature while exercising its functions under the Constitution is subject to judicial scrutiny by courts. On behalf of the Legislature, it has been always asserted that it has inherent right to conduct its affairs without interference from any court of law and it is the sole Judge of its own procedure as being sovereign in its own sphere. However, now in view of series of judgments of the Apex Court it is almost established that Legislature in India is not a sovereign body uncontrolled and with unlimited powers and in many respects their actions can be matter of judicial scrutiny. The first judgment on the said aspect could be found in re. Article 143, Constitution of India and Delhi Laws Act (1912) etc. (AIR 1951 SC 332), wherein it was observed as follows:

".....the principal point of distinction between the British Parliament and the Indian Parliament remains and that is that the Indian Parliament is the creature of the Constitution of India and its powers, rights, privileges and obligations have to be found in the relevant Articles of the Constitution of India. It is not a sovereign body, uncontrolled with unlimited powers."

17. The Constitution Bench of the Apex Court has consistently expounded that the judicial scrutiny regarding exercise of legislative privileges is constricted but not altogether barred. Although, there is complete immunity from judicial review in matters of irregularity of procedure, however the same is not correct for issues relating to allegation of gross illegality or violation of constitutional provisions. The Constitution Bench of the Apex Court in the case of Raja Ram Pal Vs Hon'ble Speaker, Lok Sabha & Ors., (2007) 3 SCC 184, enumerated the principles based on a catena of decisions and noted in the said decision as follows:

"Summary of the principles relating to parameters of judicial review in relation to exercise of parliamentary provisions:

431. We may summarise the principles that can be culled out from the above discussion. They are:

(a) Parliament is a coordinate organ and its views do deserve deference even while its acts are amenable to judicial scrutiny;

(b) The constitutional system of government abhors absolutism and it being the cardinal principle of our Constitution that no one, howsoever lofty, can claim to be the sole judge of the power given under the Constitution, mere coordinate constitutional status, or even the status of an exalted constitutional functionaries, does not disentitle this Court from exercising its jurisdiction of judicial review of actions which partake the character of judicial or quasi judicial decision;

(c) The expediency and necessity of exercise of power or privilege by the legislature are for the determination of the legislative authority and not for determination by the courts;

(d) The judicial review of the manner of exercise of power of contempt or privilege does not mean the said jurisdiction is being usurped by the judicature;

(e) Having regard to the importance of the functions discharged by the legislature under the Constitution and the majesty and grandeur of its task, there would always be an initial presumption that the powers, privileges, etc. have been regularly and reasonably exercised, not violating the law or the constitutional provisions, this presumption being a rebuttable one;

(f) The fact that Parliament is an august body of coordinate constitutional position does not mean that there can be no judicially manageable standards to review exercise of its power;

(g) While the area of powers, privileges and immunities of the legislature being exceptional and extraordinary its acts, particularly relating to exercise thereof, ought not to be tested on the traditional parameters of judicial review in the same manner as an ordinary administrative action would be tested, and the Court would confine itself to the acknowledged parameters of judicial review and within the judicially discoverable and manageable standards, there is no foundation to the plea that a legislative body cannot be attributed jurisdictional error;

(h) The judicature is not prevented from scrutinising the validity of the action of the legislature trespassing on the fundamental rights conferred on the citizens;

(i) The broad contention that the exercise of privileges by legislatures cannot be decided against the touchstone of fundamental rights or the constitutional provisions is not correct;

(j) If a citizen, whether a non-member or a member of the legislature, complains that his fundamental rights under Article 20 or 21 had been contravened, it is the duty of this Court to examine the merits of the said contention, especially when the impugned action entails civil consequences;

(k) There is no basis to the claim of bar of exclusive cognizance or absolute immunity to the parliamentary proceedings in Article 105(3) of the Constitution;

(l) The manner of enforcement of privilege by the legislature can result in judicial scrutiny, though subject to the restrictions contained in the other constitutional provisions, for example Article 122 or 212;

(m) Article 122(1) and Article 212(1) displace the broad doctrine of exclusive cognizance of the legislature in England of exclusive cognizance of internal proceedings of the House rendering irrelevant the case law that emanated from courts in that jurisdiction; inasmuch as the same has no application to the system of governance provided by the Constitution of India;

(n) Article 122(1) and Article 212(1) prohibit the validity of any proceedings in legislature from being called in question in a court merely on the ground of irregularity of procedure;

(o) The truth or correctness of the material will not be questioned by the court nor will it go into the adequacy of the material or substitute its opinion for that of the legislature;

(p) Ordinarily, the legislature, as a body, cannot be accused of having acted for an extraneous purpose or being actuated by caprice or mala fide intention, and the court will not lightly presume abuse or misuse, giving allowance for the fact that the legislature is the best judge of such matters, but if in a given case, the allegations to such effect are made, the court may examine the validity of the said contention, the onus on the person alleging being extremely heavy;

(q) The rules which the legislature has to make for regulating its procedure and the conduct of its business have to be subject to the provisions of the Constitution;

(r) Mere availability of the Rules of Procedure and Conduct of Business, as made by the legislature in exercise of enabling powers under the Constitution, is never a guarantee that they have been duly followed;

(s) The proceedings which may be tainted on account of substantive or gross illegality or unconstitutionality are not protected from judicial scrutiny;

(t) Even if some of the material on which the action is taken is found to be irrelevant, the court would still not interfere so long as there is some relevant material sustaining the action;

(u) An ouster clause attaching finality to a determination does ordinarily oust the power of the court to review the decision but not on grounds of lack of jurisdiction or it being a nullity for some reason such as gross illegality, irrationality, violation of constitutional mandate, mala fides, non-compliance with rules of natural justice and perversity."

18. Further, even on a plain reading of Article 212 of the Constitution brings us to the forth that framers of our Constitution have barred an enquiry in respect of any proceeding in the Legislature on the ground of any alleged irregularity of procedure. However, if the procedure followed is unconstitutional or illegal then the jurisdiction of the court to examine the validity of a proceeding based on such procedure has not been ousted. Thus, there is no absolute bar of the jurisdiction of any courts as is wrongly understood under Article 212 of the constitution of India. This aspect of the matter has also been examined by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the well-known reference under Article 143 of the Constitution of India and the opinion is reported in AIR 1965 SC 745; where while considering the scope of Article 212 it was pointed as follows (at p. 768):

"Article 212 (1) seems to make it possible for a citizen to call in question in the appropriate court of law the validity of any proceedings inside the Legislative Chamber if his case is that the said proceedings suffer not from mere irregularity of procedure, but from any illegality. If the impugned procedure is illegal and unconstitutional, it would be open to be scrutinised in a court of law, though such scrutiny is prohibited if the complaint against the procedure is no more than this that the procedure was irregular."

19. From the aforesaid pronouncements as also the Constitutional provisions, it is crystal clear that the exercise of any power or privilege by the Legislative council is immune only to the extent as indicated in Article 212(1), that is to say this court will decline to interfere if the grievance brought before it is restricted to allegations of "irregularity of procedure". However, in case there is any allegation of gross illegality or violation of constitutional provisions, the power of Judicial will not be barred by Article 212 of the Constitution of India.

20. Thus, the question would be, whether the petitioner by filing the present petition has questioned any "irregularity of procedure" or has alleged any violation of constitutional provisions. Apparently, the petitioner has challenged the impugned notification dated 07.07.2022 not only on the grounds of irregularity but also on the ground of violation of principle of natural justice and Jurisdiction of the Chairman/Speaker of the Legislative Council i.e., the Respondent no.1 to derecognize a leader of opposition in the Council.

Whether the chairman of the Legislative Council has power to de-cognize and/or recognize the Leader of Opposition.

21. On behalf of the petitioner, it was submitted that the Chairman of the Legislative Council has no power to derecognize a Leader of Opposition. Although, the term or post of the "Leader of Opposition' has neither been defined nor finds any reference in the Constitution of India, however as commonly understood through past practise & precedence, a Leader of the Opposition is considered as the official spokesperson of the minority party in a parliament as has been commonly understood in the legislative jargon. It owes its existence to parliamentary convention according to which he is leader of the largest recognised opposition party in the House. In British Parliament, he can be regarded as the shadow Prime Minister; that is, in case the government falls or resigns, the Leader of the Opposition can lay claim to forming the next government. A Leader of opposition is usually the leader of the political party with the second largest number of seats in the House of Commons. Sometimes, he is also the overall Leader of the Opposition, viz., the leader of the opposition for both the houses of parliament taken together, which is, the House of Lords and the House of Commons. He or she receives a statutory salary and perquisites equal to those of a cabinet minister. Under the Ministerial and Other Salaries Act, 1975, the Speaker's decision on the identity of the Leader of the Opposition is final.

22. As far as the Indian Parliament is concerned, post-independence, the concept of the opposition took root in 1969, after the split of the Indian National Congress, and Ram Subhag Singh, the leader of the Indian National Congress (Organisation), was regarded as the Leader of the Opposition Party. However, it was only in 1977, with the passage of The Salary and Allowances of Leaders of Opposition in Parliament Act, 1977, that the position of the Leader of opposition came to be formally recognised along with certain emoluments and perks. Having said so, it is to be noted that neither the Constitution of India nor the Rules of Procedure and Conduct of Business in the Lok Sabha or the Rajya Sabha make any provision or provides for any procedure for appointment of a Leader of the Opposition. Even the Act providing for the salary and allowances of leader of opposition in parliament enacted in the year 1977 does not provide for any procedure and merely defines a leader of opposition for the purposes of that act only. Thus, section 2 inter-alia states:

"2. Definition: In this Act, "Leader of the Opposition", in relation to either House of Parliament, means that member of the Council of States or the House of the People, as the case may be, who is, for the time being, the Leader in that House of the party in opposition to the Government having the greatest numerical strength and recognised as such by the Chairman of the Council of States or the Speaker of the House of the People, as the case may be.

Explanation. --Where there are two or more parties in opposition to the Government, in the Council of States or in the House of the People having the same numerical strength, the Chairman of the Council of States or the Speaker of the House of the People, as the case may be, shall, having regard to the status of the parties, recognise any one of the Leaders of such parties as the Leader of the Opposition for the purposes of this section and such recognition shall be final and conclusive.

23. Apparently, the aforesaid Act does not provide for any mechanism or procedure for appointment of a leader of opposition. Thus, one has to search for other collateral law enabling the speaker for recognition of a leader of opposition. This brings us immediately to Article 118 of the constitution of India, which inter-alia provides for making of rules for regulating each house of parliament, its procedure and the conduct of its business, wherein the "Rules of Procedure and conduct of business in Lok Sabha" have been framed. Rule 389 of the said Rues provides residuary powers to the Speaker to regulate all matters not specifically provided for in these rules and all questions relating to the detailed working of these rules. Since, no specific rule has been provided for the said purposes, time and again the speaker while recognising a leader of opposition has relied on Directions issued under Rule 389. It is in terms of this rules that Direction 121 of the Directions by the Speaker of the Lok Sabha has been provided, which inter-alia provides that in recognising a parliamentary party or group, the Speaker shall take into consideration the following principles:

"(1) An association of members who propose to form a Parliamentary Party--(a) shall have announced at the time of the general elections a distinct ideology and programme of Parliamentary work on which they have been returned to the House;

(b) Shall have an organisation both inside and outside the House; and

(c) shall have at least a strength equal to the quorum fixed to constitute a sitting of the House, that is one-tenth of the total number of members of the House.

(2) An association of members to form a Parliamentary Group shall satisfy the conditions specified in parts (a) and (b) of clause (1) and shall have at least a strength of 30 members."

24. Thus, in exercise of Rule 389 of the Rules and Procedures and Conduct of Business in the House of People, the aforesaid directions were issued by the First Speaker of Lok Sabha i.e., G.V. Mavlankar which are popularly known as "Mavlankar rule'. Direction 121 (c) of the aforesaid directions states that party having at least 10% of the strength of the House be recognized as a Parliamentary Party and leader of the largest such Parliamentary party in opposition is designated as Leader of Opposition.

25. Further, this court cannot be oblivious of the fact that Section 2 Salaries and Allowances of the Leader of Opposition in Parliament Act, 1977, defines "Leader of Opposition' as leader of the party in opposition to the government having the greatest numerical strength and recognized by the Chairman of Council of States or Speaker of House of People. However, due to the above 10% rule {Direction 121(c)} currently there is no leader of opposition in the 17th Lok Sabha as the strength of the party in opposition is less than 10% of the total strength of the House of People. As rightly pointed by the Ld. Counsel for the respondent, it was for this reason that the 1st, 2nd, 3rd, 5th,7th, 8th, and 16th Lok Sabha as well as 1st, 2nd, 3rd, 5th,7th and 8th Rajya Sabha had no leader of opposition recognized by the Speaker/ Chairman, due to the applicability of 10% rule in all these years, since no single opposition party had more than 10% of the total membership of house. It may be pertinent to mention herein that the present Lok Sabha also does not have any leader in opposition and in fact as reported in the news, an application of the numerically largest party to be appointed as a leader of opposition was rejected by the speaker of the Lok Sabha by stating inter-alia that "After consideration of applicable provisions of relevant statutes, Directions by the Speaker, Lok Sabha (Directions 120 and 121) and several past precedents repeatedly followed for the last nearly 60 years which have been based upon decision taken by many eminent Speakers in the past, it has not been found possible to accede to your request."

26. Now, coming back to the issue on hand. As far as the state of Uttar Pradesh is concerned, the said state has also enacted The Uttar Pradesh State Legislature (Members' Emoluments and Pensions) Act, 1980, wherein Section 2(h) of the Act reads as under:

"2(h): "Leader of Opposition' as the member of the Assembly or the Council who is for the time being recognized as such by the Speaker, or the Chairman, Deputy Chairman or Parliamentary Secretary."

27. The phrase "greatest numerical strength" is conspicuously missing from the aforesaid definition, which bestows a discretion power on the speaker/ chairman of the assembly/council in choosing a Leader of Opposition. Further, Article 208 of the Constitution of India makes a provision with respect to Rules of Procedure for State Legislature and Article 208(1) of the Constitution of India confers power upon the concerned House of the Legislature of a State to make rules for regulating procedure and conduct of its business.

28. The U.P. State Legislature in exercise of the powers conferred by Article 208 of the Constitution of India has framed rules viz. U.P. Rajya Vidhan Mandal (Neta Virodhi Ki Suvidhayan) Niyamvali, 1981, wherein rule 3 of U.P. Rajya Vidhan Mandal (Neta Virodhi Ki Suvidhayan) Niyamvali, 1981 makes a provision with respect to payment of salary to the members of the opposition party. Rule 3(2) of the aforesaid rules, 1981 specifically provides that if the Chairman of the Legislative Council derecognizes a leader of opposition or if the aforesaid statutory posts otherwise falls vacant, the salary would be payable on the very next day. Thus, the seat of the leader of opposition falling vacant and the salary being payable immediately on the very next date has been envisaged by the Act, which also brings us to the fore that de-recognition is not something which is foreign to the said Act as the seat of leader of opposition may fall vacant due to various reasons, including the reason of decrease in the numerical strength of the members of the opposition party.

29. Further, there is another aspect of the matter. It cannot be lost sight of the fact that Section 2(h) of the Uttar Pradesh State Legislature (Members' Emoluments and Pensions) Act, 1980 enables but does not make it incumbent upon the Speaker or Chairman to recognize a member as Leader of Opposition. However, a perusal of Rule 3(2) of the U.P. Rajya Vidhan Mandal (Neta Virodhi Ki Suvidhayan) Niyamvali, 1981, makes it evident that the Chairman or the Speaker as the case may be has been given the power and authority to derecognize a Leader of Opposition. Hence, it is not correct on the part of the petitioner to submit that the Chairman of the U.P. Legislative Council i.e. the Respondent no.1 has exceeded jurisdiction or has exercised authority not vested in him to derecognize the petitioner.

30. The power conferred by Section 2(h) is a discretionary power and is like any other statutory power to be exercised bona fide and in reasonable manner. In the absence of any statutory guideline, it would be a reasonable exercise of power under Section 2(h) if recognition is given to a Member as Leader of Opposition in conformity with the well-established Parliamentary conventions which are not in conflict with and do not contravene the provisions of the Constitution or any other law for the time being in force. A provision analogous to that of Section 2(h) contained in Bihar Legislature (Leaders of the Opposition Salary and Allowances) Act, 1978 came up for consideration before the Patna High Court in Karpoori Thakur v. State, AIR 1983 Pat 86, wherein the learned Judge held that the basis of recognition is not the Act in question but the prevailing practice and convention and, therefore, if the Speaker recognizes any person as Leader of Opposition, he has to follow the requirements of such practice and convention also.

31. Further, Rule 234 of the Rules of Procedure and Conduct of Business Rules, 1956 has been made, wherein although Rule 234 does not talk about de-recognition of the Leader of Opposition, but it defines the "quorum' to run and conduct business in the House. That Rules 234 of the Rules of the Procedure and Conduct of Business Rules, 1956 entails inter-alia:

"Rule 234: When the attention of the Chairman is drawn by a member to a fact that less than ten members present in the Council, he shall cause a warning bell to be rung for two minutes. If the required number of members is still not present, the Chairman shall adjourn the Council to a later hour on the same day or to a future date to be named by him."

32. Thus, Rule 234 provides for the quorum for conducting business in the Council and provides that in case the number of members in the House is less than 10 members then no business can be transacted as the quorum would be incomplete. Pertinently, the Mavlankar rule, also gives great significance to the concept of Quorum in choosing a Leader of Opposition. As a corollary, in case the leader of opposition when does not enjoy even the strength of forming a quorum, obviously there cannot be any business transacted in the House and thus would be merely a ceremonial leader, without any relevance. Thus, there is no infirmity in placing reliance on Rule 234 of the Procedure and Conduct of Business Rules, 1956 as has been done in the impugned order dated 07/07/2022 since the rational is that the Leader of Opposition along with his opposition party should be capable of transacting business in the Council even in absence of the remaining members. Relevant to the context, as has been rightly pointed out by the learned Counsel for the respondent that in the Commentary on the Constitution of India, 9th Edition Volume 8 by D.D. Basu, page no. 7933 it has been stated by the great Author as follows:

"The Leader of Opposition in each house is recognized as the leader of the opposition provided that the party has the strength which would enable it to keep the house i.e., the number should not be less than the quorum fixed to constitute a sitting of the house which is one-tenth of the total membership of the house."

33. Similar views have been expressed by other constitutional experts like Subhash C. Kashyap, who in his Book titled Parliamentary Procedure, The Law, Privileges, Practice and Precedents, (Volume 2, Chapter 2) has stated that the leader of the opposition in each house is recognized as the leader of the opposition provided that the party has a strength which would enable it to keep the house, i.e., the number should not be less than the quorum fixed to constitute a sitting of the house which is one-tenth of the total membership of the house.

34. Thus, from the aforesaid, it is evident that the impugned order dated 07/07/2022 wherein reliance has been placed on Rule 234 of the Rules of Procedure and Conduct of Business Rules, 1956 does not suffers from any legal infirmity since the quorum to transact business in the U.P. Legislative Council is 10 and apparently the strength of the opposition party has fallen to 09 therefore, such an opposition party alone would not be able to transact any business in the Legislative Council. In the present case, as soon as the Respondent no. 1 was satisfied that the strength of the opposition party in the Council has fallen below 10 i.e., the minimum number required to complete the quorum to enable the opposition party alone to transact business in the Council, the Petitioner was de-recognized by the impugned order.

Whether the petitioner has a right to be appointed as a Leader of Opposition merely as being the leader of the numerically largest party in opposition in the Legislative council.

35. It has been argued by the learned Counsel for the petitioner that the petitioner is entitled to be appointed as the leader of the opposition by placing reliance on the Rules of various other State Legislative Assemblies and Councils like Assam, Maharashtra and Gujarat, wherein the leader of the numerically largest party in opposition is chosen as the leader of Opposition. It is the submission of the learned counsel that the petitioner may be treated in the similar manner for the UP legislative assembly as he continues to be the leader of the numerically largest party in opposition.

36. Since, Article 208 of Constitution of India, provides that every state legislature is empowered to frame its own rules for conduct of its business, therefore, Rules of Assam, Maharashtra and Gujarat Assemblies and Councils have got no relevance as far as the state of Uttar Pradesh is concerned, especially when as far as the U.P. State Legislative Council is concerned, the U.P. Rajya Vidhan Mandal (Neta Virodhi Ki Suvidhyan) Niyamvali, 1981 has been enacted and it is this rules, which are applicable to the case of the petitioner.

37. Further, their does not exists any mandate under the constitution for appointment of leader of opposition. Merely because the petitioner is the leader of the numerically largest party in opposition in the legislative council does not gives him an inalienable right to be recognized as a leader of opposition and the onus is on the Petitioner to make a case for himself. Reliance in the aforesaid regard may be placed on the dictum of the Hon'ble

Delhi High Court in the case of Imran Ali v/s Union of India and others reported in 2015 SCC Online Del 6707, wherein, one of the arguments of the Assistant Solicitor General before the Hon'ble Delhi High Court was that the speaker is not bound to recognize anyone as a leader of opposition and ultimately the Hon'ble Delhi High Court was pleased to dismiss the petition vide its Judgement and order dated 14/01/2015.

38. The Hon'ble Apex court in the case of Kihoto Hollohan vs Zachillhu and Others, 1992 SCC Supl. (2) 651, although answering to the adjudicatory functions vested in the speaker/ chairman under the anti-defection law, held that the speaker/chairman holds a pivotal position in the scheme of parliamentary democracy and are guardians of the rights and privileges of the House. They are expected to and do take far-reaching decisions in the functioning of parliamentary democracy. The Hon'ble Apex court went on to observe at paragraph 116 and 117 as follows:

"116. Mavalankar, who was himself a distinguished occupant of that high office, says:

"In parliamentary democracy, the office of the Speaker is held in very high esteem and respect. There are many reasons for this. Some of them are purely historical and some are inherent in the concept of parliamentary democracy and the powers and duties of the Speaker. Once a person is elected Speaker, he is expected to be above parties, above politics. In other words, he belongs to all the members or belongs to none. He holds the scales of justice evenly irrespective of party or person, though no one expects that he will do absolute justice in all matters; because, as a human being he has his human drawbacks and shortcomings. However, everybody knows that he will intentionally do no injustice or show partiality. "Such a person is naturally held in respect by all."

[See : G. V. Mavalankar : The Office of Speaker, Journal of Parliamentary Information, April 1956, Vol. 2, No. 1, p.33]

117. Pandit Nehru referring to the office of the Speaker said:

"....The speaker represents the House. He represents the dignity of the House, the freedom of the House and because the House represents the nation, in a particular way, the Speaker becomes the symbol of the nation's freedom and liberty. Therefore, it is right that that should be an honoured position, a free position and should be occupied always by men of outstanding ability and impartiality. [See: HOP. Deb. Vol.IX (1954), CC 3447-48]

Referring to the Speaker, Erskine may say:

"The Chief characteristics attaching to the office of Speaker in the House of Commons are authority and impartiality. As a symbol of his authority he is accompanied by the Royal Mace which is borne before him when entering and leaving the chamber and upon state occasions by the Sergeant at Arms attending the House of Commons, and is placed upon the table when he is in the chair. In debate all speeches are addressed to him and he calls upon Members to speak - a choice which is not open to dispute. When he rises to preserve order or to give a ruling on a doubtful point he must always be heard in silence and no Member may stand when the Speaker is on his feet. Reflections upon the character or actions of the Speaker may be punished as breaches of privilege. His action cannot be criticized incidentally in debate or upon any form of proceeding except a substantive motion. His authority in the chair is fortified by many special powers which are referred to below. Confidence in the impartiality of the Speaker is an indispensable condition of the successful working of procedure, and many conventions exist which have as their object not only to ensure the impartiality of the Speaker but also to ensure that his impartiality is generally recognised....."

[See: Erskine May - Parliamentary Practice - 20th edition p. 234 and 235]

M.N. Kaul and S.L. Shakdher in `Practice and procedure of Parliament' 4th Edition, says:

"The all-important conventional and ceremonial head of Lok Sabha is the Speaker. Within the walls of the House his authority is supreme. This authority is based on the Speaker's absolute and unvarying impartiality - the main feature of the office, the law of its life. The obligation of impartiality appears in the constitutional provision which ordains that the Speaker is entitled to vote only in the case of equality of votes. Moreover, his impartiality within the House is secured by the fact that he remains above all considerations of party or political career, and to that effect he may also resign from the party to which he belonged."

39. In the present facts & circumstances, apparently Section 2(h) of the Uttar Pradesh State Legislature (Members' Emoluments and Pension) Act, 1980 defines "Leader of Opposition' as the member of the Assembly or the Council who is for the time being recognized as such by the Speaker, or the Chairman, Deputy Chairman or Parliamentary Secretary. What is the scope of the power of Speaker while recognising a person as the leader of opposition? In the Act there is no indication as to what factors have to be taken into consideration by the Speaker or the chairman for purpose of recognition. In fact, none of the sections of the Act in terms imposes any duty on the Speaker or the chairman to recognise any Leader of Opposition. This court has already referred to the different provisions of the Act. Its sole object is to make provisions for payment of salary, allowances and certain other benefits to leader of opposition. With that object in view, the Act gives the definition of leader of opposition. There is no provision in the Act which enjoins any mechanism or mandates the Speaker to recognise the leader of a party having the greatest numerical strength, to be the leader of opposition. The power of recognition of any such leader by the Speaker is not to be exercised under this Act. If the Speaker recognises any person who is the leader of a party in opposition having greatest numerical strength as the leader of opposition, he is doing so on the basis of the practice prevailing and, therefore, has to follow the other requirements of such practice and convention.

40. Thus, in the considered view of this court, whenever the Speaker recognises any person as a leader of opposition he does so on the basis of precedent or practice of the Legislature in question, keeping in view at the same time, the definition in the Act, If the basis of recognition is not the Act in question but the practice prevailing then he has to follow the practice of recognising the leader of an opposition party which has not only the greatest numerical strength as required by the definition in the Act, but has also one-tenth of the total membership of the House. In that event, it is difficult to hold that the impugned decision is illegal or unconstitutional. It would be pertinent to quote the concluding paragraph of the judgement passed by a co-ordinate division bench of this Court, wherein the Ld. Division Bench was called upon to answer a similar question as has been raised in the present case. The Ld. Division Bench in the case of Kailash Nath Singh Yadav Vs Speaker, Vidhan Sabha, Lucknow & Another, 1992 SCC OnLine ALL 117 at paragraph 23 held as follows:

"23. The leader or opposition in a Parliament any functionary inextricably connected with the business of the House and its functioning. According recognition to a member of the House as Leader of Opposition is a function which relates to the conduct of business of the House. Whatever is done by the Speaker who is an Officer of the Assembly is done by him for carrying on the business of the House as understood in the wider sense, except in regard to those functions which he has to perform under the Constitution, in his own right as Speaker or as a statutory authority under any law for the time being in force. It has already been noticed that the statutory recognition given to the Leader of Opposition has not made any substantial changes as to the manner in which recognition may be given to him by the Speaker. Thus, when the Speaker accords recognition to a member of the House as Leader of Opposition, he exercises power with respect to conduct of business of the House. That being so, he shall not be subject to the jurisdiction of any court in respect of the exercise by him of that power in view of the mandatory provisions of clause (2) of Art. 212. If a member of the House has any grievance against the action of the Speaker in exercise of the powers vested, in him, it is open to such member to ventilate his grievance and seek redress in some other appropriate forum according to law. In view of the aforesaid discussion, we have come to the conclusion that the petitioner has failed to make out a case for our interference in the exercise of jurisdiction under Art. 226 of the Constitution."

41. Thus the petitioner cannot, as a matter of right, claim any continuation as leader of opposition of the Council as even in Section 2(h) of the Uttar Pradesh State Legislature (Members' Emoluments and Pension) Act, 1980, no such right has been conferred upon the petitioner.

CONCLUSION

42. In view of the discussion and the prevailing law, the petitioner do not have an inalienable right to be appointed or to continue as Leader of Opposition. The Uttar Pradesh State Legislature (Members' Emoluments and Pension) Act, 1980 does not prescribes any mechanism for recognising a leader of opposition. The Chairman of the Vidhan Parishad was not bound to be guided only with the criteria of recognising the leader of an opposition party, which has the greatest numerical strength. The rules provides for discretion of the Respondent no.1 to recognize and/or de-recognise a Leader of Opposition. The reliance of the Respondent No.1 on rule 234 of the Rules of Procedure and Conduct of Business Rules, 1956 is a fair & judicious exercise of discretion in derecognising the petitioner as leader of opposition and is also in conformity to the precedent and practise of the legislative council.

43. Accordingly, for all the aforesaid reasons, we do not find any infirmity or violation of constitutional provisions in the impugned order dated 07.07.2022. Thus, this writ application as being devoid of any merits is dismissed, but, in the circumstances, there will be no order as to costs.

List of Cases cited:

P. Kartikalakshmi Vs Sri Ganesh & anr. (2017 vol. 3 SCC 347.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Mrs. Manju Rani Chauhan, J.)

1. Heard Mr. Bairister Singh, learned counsel for the applicant, Mr. Dinesh Chandra Yadav, learned counsel for the opposite party no.2 and Mr. Amit Singh Chauhan, learned AGA for the State as well as perused the entire records.

2. This application has been filed by the applicant with a prayer to quash the order dated 30.11.2021 passed by Additional District and Sessions Judge/Special Judge, POCSO Act, Court no.2, Varanasi in S.S.T. No.30/2018 (State vs. Sonu Maurya and Others) arising out of Case Crime No.686/2017, under Sections 354A, 504, 506 IPC and Section 7/8 of POCSO Act, P.S.-Phoolpur, District-Varanasi, pending before the Additional District and Sessions Judge/Special Judge, POCSO Act, Court no.2, Varanasi.

3. Brief facts of the case are that an FIR was lodged on 14.09.2017 against the applicant under Sections 354A, 504, 506 IPC with the allegations that when the daughter of opposite party no.2 went to tube-well for washing clothes, the applicant misbehaved with her and when the opposite party no.2 went to house of applicant, he, after using abusive language, threatened to kill. After investigation charge sheet was submitted and the charges were framed under Sections 354A, 504, 506 IPC as well as section 7/8 of POCSO Act. Subsequently, the court below proceeded with the trial and the victim has been examined as P.W.-1. The chief-examination of the victim, P.W.-1 has been recorded on 30.11.2021 by Additional District and Sessions Judge/Special Judge, POCSO Act, Court no.2, Varanasi. During course of examination of the victim, P.W.-1, the counsel for the accused-applicant found contradictions regarding age of the victim, therefore, an application was filed being Paper No.15Kha, 16Kha and 17Kha on 04.03.2021 requesting the court below to proceed with the trial only after taking evidence regarding the age of the victim and deciding the same. However, the aforesaid application has been rejected vide order dated 30.11.2021 on the ground that the question regarding age of the victim cannot be decided at this stage and the same can be done only after the entire evidences is collected.

4. Learned counsel for the applicant submits that in an earlier case, which was registered by the victim in the year 2015 being Case Crime No.345/2015, Under Sections 323, 376 IPC, Police Station-Phoolpur, District-Varanasi, the age of the victim as determined by the Doctor was said to be 19 and a half years. In the aforesaid case, the statement of the victim was recorded wherein she stated that she was studying in Class-Xth at Sant Azayab Singh Maharaj Public School, Karikhiyava, Varanasi and also accepted that she was 19 years old. However, in the present case, the educational certificate has been produced in which date of birth of the victim is mentioned as 24.04.2001. Therefore, without deciding the issue regarding age of the victim, the court below cannot proceed with the trial and has rejected the application in a mechanical manner. He further submits that the concerned court below has illegally passed the impugned order dated 30.11.2021 rejecting the application of the applicant without considering the grievance of the applicant, hence, the same is liable to be quashed by this Court.

5. Per contra, learned A.G.A. has opposed the contention raised by the learned counsel for the applicant by submitting that though section 216 Cr.P.C. provides power to the court concerned to alter or add any charge at any time before judgment is pronounced, but no party, neither de facto complainant nor the accused or for that matter the prosecution has any vested right to seek any addition or alteration of charge, because it is not provided under Section 216 Cr.P.C. If such a course to be adopted by the parties is allowed, then it will be well nigh impossible for the Criminal Court to conclude its proceedings and the concept of speedy trial will get jeopardized. The aforesaid has been held by the Apex Court in the case of P. Kartikalakshmi v. Sri Ganesh and Another reported in (2017) 3 SCC 347. Learned AGA further submits that there is no illegality or infirmity in the impugned order dated 30.11.2021 and the concerned court below has rightly considered the application of the applicant and rejected the same.

6. Having regard to the facts and circumstances of the case and having considered the submissions made by the learned counsel for the parties as well as material available on record prima-facie, the concerned court below has not committed any illegality in rejecting the application of the applicant. There is no illegality or infirmity in the impugned order dated 30.11.2021 passed by the concerned court below. Therefore, no interference is required at this stage.

7. In view of the above, the application is, accordingly, dismissed.

Power Corporation Limited Employees (Discipline and Appeal) Regulations, 2020: Regulation 11; Bihar Electricity Act: Section 3(1) – Alternative Remedy - When a right is created by the statute, which itself prescribes the remedy or procedure for enforcing the right or liability, resort must be had to that particular statutory remedy before invoking the discretionary remedy u/Article 226 of the Constitution. This Rule of exhaustion of statutory remedies is a rule of policy, convenience and discretion. In cases where there are disputed questions of fact, the High Court may decide to decline jurisdiction in a writ petition. (Para 11)

In present case, the punishment order has been challenged not only on grounds of violation of Principle of Natural Justice but also on merits by saying that the Inquiry Report on which such punishment order is based is completely non-speaking and has tried to convince this Court on the merits of the claim of the petitioner that he is in no way responsible for the alleged misconduct which led to the passing of the impugned order. Disputed questions of fact have been tried to be raised in this petition by means of filing affidavits including supplementary affidavit showing that the respondents themselves have acted upon the noting made on the file by the petitioner. This Court in Writ jurisdiction finds itself unable to appreciate disputed questions of fact only on the basis of affidavit. Present petition assails order dated 10.01.2022, passed by Chairman, U.P. Power Corporation Limited, Lucknow.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Mrs. Sangeeta Chandra, J.)

(Oral)

1. Heard Sri R. K. Ojha, learned Senior Advocate assited by Sri Prathamesh Upadhyay, learned counsel for the petitioner and Sri Abhishek Srivastava, learned counsel for the respondent no. 2.

2. This petition has been filed challenging the Order dated 10.01.2022 passed by the respondent no. 2 forfeiting the entire pension of the petitioner as punishment for alleged misconduct when the petitioner was an employee of the Respondent Corporation.

3. Learned counsel for the respondent has raised a preliminary objection regarding the maintainability of the petition saying that against the punishment order passed by the respondent no. 2, the petitioner has remedy for filing an appeal under Regulation 11 of the U.P. Power Corporation Limited Employees (Discipline and Appeal) Regulations, 2020. Learned counsel for the respondent has placed before this Court a Division Bench judgement in Special Appeal No. 566 of 2022, Smt. Shaheen Badar Vs. U.P. Power Corporation Limited and others where the Writ Court had rejected, the writ petition by its order dated 02.09.2022 on the ground of statutory remedy being available, under the Regulations of 2020. The Division Bench observed that if a punishment order is passed in Disciplinary Proceedings by the Chairman, against such an order statutory remedy of filing an Appeal under Regulation 11 is provided to the Board of Directors of the Corporation.

4. It has been argued by the learned counsel appearing on behalf of the petitioner that the order impugned was passed without jurisdiction and in violation of Principles of Natural Justice and in view of the law settled by a recent judgement of the Supreme Court by a three Judges Bench rendered on 24.09.2021 in Civil Appeal No. 5728 of 2021, 'M/s Magadh Sugar & Energy Ltd. vs. The State of Bihar & Others', the existence of a statutory remedy would not be a bar for the High Court for exercising extraordinary jurisdiction under Article 226 of the Constitution.

5. It has been argued by the learned counsel for the petitioner that the petitioner was engaged initially as an Assistant Engineer, and thereafter, promoted as Executive Engineer, and Superintending Engineer, and then promoted as a Chief Engineer before he retired on 31.03.2021. After his retirement charge sheet was issued to him on 17.11.2021 by an Inquiry Committee constituted by the Respondent No.2 without jurisdiction, as there is no provision in the Employees Regulations which gives power to the Respondents to initiate Disciplinary Proceedings against a retired employee without sanction of the Competent Authority.

6. It has further been submitted that the punishment order has been passed on the basis of an Inquiry Report submitted in complete violations of Principles of Natural Justice as no date time and place of hearing were fixed by the Inquiry Officer after the petitioner submitted his reply to the charge sheet. Moreover the Inquiry report is non-speaking in nature.

7. Sri Abhishek Srivastava, has placed reliance upon the mention made in the impugned order of punishment that looking into grave charges of misconduct, the Chairman of the Corporation had in his capacity as the Competent Authority given sanction for initiation of Disciplinary Proceedings under Article 351-A of the Civil Services Regulations on 17.11.2021.

8. Learned counsel for the respondent has placed reliance upon a Division Bench judgement of this Court in Special Appeal Defective No. 646 of 2021 decided on 23.10.2021, 'UPPCL vs. Anil Kumar

Sharma', where this Court has considered the applicability of Article 351-A of the Civil Services Regulations to Employees of Statutory Corporations such as the UPPCL, and after placing reliance upon Supreme Court Judgements has observed that the language of Article 351-A of the Civil Services Regulations shall mutatis mutandis apply in such cases and Competent Authority would mean the Chairman of the Corporation who can grant sanction, but such sanction has to be granted by a reasoned and speaking order for initiation of proceedings for a retired employee, in case, the alleged misconduct is of a time when the employee was working and within four years of his date of retirement.

9. I have considered the arguments raised by the learned counsel for the parties and have carefully gone through the judgement rendered in M/s Magadh Sugar & Energy Ltd. vs. The State of Bihar & Others (Supra) where the appellant had invoked the writ jurisdiction of the High Court to challenge the imposition of Electricity Duty and penalty on the electricity that it was supplying to Bihar State Electricity Board. The appellant being a Sugar Mill Company was producing electricity out of waste of sugarcane, which it was supplying to Bihar State Electricity Board since March, 2008, under the Bihar Electricity Duty Act, 1948 as amended in 2002, which also provided that the State of Bihar could levy tax on the basis of value of units of energy consumed or sold at the rate specified by it in its notification. The appellant had challenged the notifications issued regarding rates notified by the State Government before the High Court. The High Court struck down the notifications on the ground that there were no guideline in the Statute for the notifications for construing the expression "value of energy". The State of Bihar being aggrieved filed a Special Leave Petition before the Supreme Court where the matter is pending. The State of Bihar amended the Bihar Electricity Act and defined the term "value of energy". Such amendment was challenged by the Bihar Sugar Mills Association in writ jurisdiction before the Patna High Court and the Writ Petition was pending. In the meanwhile, the fourth respondent issued notice to the appellant for failure to file returns with regard to levy of taxes and duties. The Assistant Commissioner, Commercial Tax rejected the arguments raised by the appellant that it was supplying energy to the State of Bihar. In the mean while, the National Thermal Power Corporation Limited had also filed a Writ Petition challenging the imposition of Electricity Duty on its supply of Electricity to various Electricity Boards including the Bihar State Electricity Board. The High Court held that Electricity Duty cannot be included under Section 3 (1) of the Bihar Electricity Act on a power generation company supplying Electricity to a Licensee Electricity Board. The Respondents filed Special Leave Petitions which were dismissed by the Supreme Court.

10. The High Court by its judgement dated 18.09.2018 dismissed the Writ Petition instituted by the appellant holding the liability of the appellant to file returns would require a factual determination on the nature of the supply of electricity made to Bihar State Electricity Board, and observed that the appellant should invoke statutory remedy provided in the Act. The appellant approached the Supreme Court against such order the Supreme Court in Paragraph 19 of the Judgement has observed as under:-

"19. While a High Court would normally not exercise its writ jurisdiction under Article 226 of the Constitution if an effective and efficacious alternate remedy is available, the existence of an alternate remedy does not by itself bar the High Court from exercising its jurisdiction in certain contingencies. This principle has been crystallized by this Court in Whirpool Corporation v. Registrar of Trademarks, Mumbai and Harbanslal Sahni v. Indian Oil Corporation Ltd. Recently, in Radha Krishan Industries v. State of Himachal Pradesh & Ors a two judge Bench of this Court of which one of us was a part of (Justice DY Chandrachud) has summarized the principles governing the exercise of writ jurisdiction by the High Court in the presence of an alternate remedy. This Court has observed:

"28. The principles of law which emerge are that:

(i) The power under Article 226 of the Constitution to issue writs can be exercised not only for the enforcement of fundamental rights, but for any other purpose as well;

(ii) The High Court has the discretion not to entertain a writ petition. One of the restrictions placed on the power of the High Court is where an effective alternate remedy is available to the aggrieved person;

(iii) Exceptions to the rule of alternate remedy arise where (a) the writ petition has been filed for the enforcement of a fundamental right protected by Part III of the Constitution; (b) there has been a violation of the principles of natural justice; (c) the order or proceedings are wholly without jurisdiction; or (d) the vires of a legislation is challenged

(iv) An alternate remedy by itself does not divest the High Court of its powers under Article 226 of the Constitution in an appropriate case though ordinanly, a writ petition should not be entertained when an efficacious alternate remedy is provided by law.

(v) When a right is created by a statute, which itself prescribes the remedy or procedure for enforcing the right or liability, resort must be had to that particular statutory remedy before invoking the discretionary remedy under Article 226 of the Constitution. This rule of exhaustion of statutory remedies is a rule of policy, convenience and discretion; and

(vi) In cases where there are disputed questions of fact, the High Court may decide to decline jurisdiction in a writ petition. However, if the High Court is objectively of the view that the nature of the controversy requires the exercise of its writ jurisdiction, such a view would not readily be interfered with."

The principle of altemate remedies and its exceptions was also reiterated recently in the decision in Assistant Commissioner of State Tax v. M/s Commercial Steel Limited. In State of HP v. Gujarat Ambuja Cement Ltd this Court has held that a writ petition is maintainable before the High Court if the taxing authorities have acted beyond the scope of their jurisdiction. This Court observed:

"23. Where under a statute there is an allegation of infringement of fundamental rights or when on the undisputed facts the taxing authorities are shown to have assumed jurisdiction which they do not possess can be the grounds on which the writ petitions can be entertained. But normally, the High Court should not entertain writ petitions unless it is shown that there is something more in a case, something going to the root of the jurisdiction of the officer, something which would show that it would be a case of palpable injustice to the writ petitioner to force him to adopt the remedies provided by the statute. It was noted by this Court in L. Hirday Narain v. ITO [(1970) 2 SCC 355: AIR 1971 SC 33] that if the High Court had entertained a petition despite availability of alternative remedy and heard the parties on merits it would be ordinarily unjustifiable for the High Court to dismiss the same on the ground of non-exhaustion of statutory remedies: unless the High Court finds that factual disputes are involved and it would not be desirable to deal with them in a writ petition".

11. This Court finds that the Supreme Court has reiterated the long settled law as propounded by the Constitution Bench judgement in the case of N. P. Ponnuswami vs. Returning Officer 1952 SCR 218; and has observed that when a right is created by the statute, which itself prescribes the remedy or procedure for enforcing the right or liability, resort must be had to that particular statutory remedy before invoking the discretionary remedy under Article 226 of the Constitution. This Rule of exhaustion of statutory remedies is a rule of policy, convenience and discretion. In cases where there are disputed questions of fact, the High Court may decide to decline jurisdiction in a writ petition.

12. In the case of the petitioner, he has challenged the punishment order not only on grounds of violation of Principle of Natural Justice but also on merits by saying that the Inquiry Report on which such punishment order is based is completely non-speaking and has tried to convince this Court on the merits of the claim of the petitioner that he is in no way responsible for the alleged misconduct which led to the passing of the impugned order. Disputed questions of fact have been tried to be raised in this petition by means of filing affidavits including supplementary affidavit showing that the respondents themselves have acted upon the noting made on the file by the petitioner.

13. This Court in Writ jurisdiction finds itself unable to appreciate disputed questions of fact only on the basis of affidavit, more so when the matter is so technical as that of the petitioner where the charge sheet itself shows imputation malafide intention on the part of the petitioner to help M/s Gaur Sons Realty Pvt. Ltd., Gaur Sundaram Greater Noida, Gautam Budh Nagar, by giving new electricity load of 5200 KV from under Construction 220/132 KV Sub-Station, Sector 123, Noida through 33 KV independent "bay" and refers in detail to the Technical Feasibility Report and the Electricity Audit conducted, thereafter.

14. This Writ Petition is dismissed as not maintainable on account of statutory remedy of filing an appeal before the Board of Directors and the Regulation 11 of the Regulations of 2020.

15. If such an appeal is filed within three weeks from today, the Board of Directors shall not reject it on ground of delay, but shall consider and decide the same on merits.

Civil Law- the Constitution of India- Article 162 - U.P. State Universities Act, 1973- Section 60-E- The condition incorporated in Government Order dated 31.08.1999 and consequent order dated 22.03.2001, by which a rider has been imposed in payment of salary to teachers and other employees against 64 sanctioned posts- No government order, notification or circular can be a substitute of the statutory rules framed with the authority of law. The petitioners were selected by the Selection Committee having fulfilled requisite eligibility criteria by following procedure prescribed in the Act of 1973. When the recommendation made by the Selection Committee was not approved by respondent No.3 within stipulated time, they joined duty on their respective posts, however, they have not been paid even a single penny so far. Even a scheme issued under Article 162 of the Constitution of India, would not prevail over statutory rules. Any scheme by way of an executive instruction in terms of Article 162 of the Constitution of India, if violative of such statutory rules, would not be legally sustainable. The sanction granted with rider has adversely affected the employees of the colleges. Once the posts have been sanctioned, the rider imposed under the Government Order dated 31.08.1999 and 22.03.2001 are erroneous in nature and contrary to the statutory provisions of law provided under Section 60-E of U.P. State Universities Act, 1973 and the liability for payment of salary lies upon the State Government.

Where Section 60-E of the Act, 1973 mandates that the state government shall be liable for payment of salaries of teachers and employees of every college due in respect of any period after March 31, 1975, then no rider or condition by way of any executive instructions, can be imposed in violation of the said statutory mandate and any such rider is liable to be struck down as being legally unsustainable. 2. This bunch of writ petitions is being decided by means of a common judgment and order treating WRIT-A No.-6006 of 2002 to be leading writ petition.

3. Brief facts of the writ petitions, separately, are as under:

a) On 22.04.1999, an order was passed by this Court in Writ Petition No.17179 of 1999, whereby direction was issued to the respondents to decide the representation of the Committee of Management taking into consideration the norms fixed by the Government as well as the recommendations of Director Higher Education.

b) On 31.08.1999, a High Power Committee decided the representation of Committee of Management and sanctioned 64 posts of non teaching staffs in D.A.V. College, Kanpur and D.B.S. College, Kanpur by sanctioning one post of Animal Catcher, one post of Glass Blower, one post of Gas Man and one post of Peon by imposing condition that the State shall not bear any liabilities with regard to payment of salary and the management would have to bear the burden.

c) In pursuance to aforesaid sanction, name of petitioner Nos.1 to 4 were called from employment exchange and the meeting of selection committee was held on 27.02.2000 and selection of the petitioners was made.

d) The petitioners were appointed by the committee of management on the respective posts and when no action was taken by respondent No.3 on the communication dated 02.03.2000, they joined the duties on 13.12.2000.

e) Since then, the petitioners are discharging duty on their respective posts to the satisfaction of concerned authorities, however, they have not been paid salary, as the Committee of Management of the college has taken a stand that they do not have funds to pay in as much as, 80% of the fee collection is being deposited with the State Government, however, the respondents are not releasing the salary of the petitioners in view of condition imposed in the order dated 31.08.1999.

f) For the payment of salary to the petitioners, the committee of management has made several representations, but no heed has been paid to the same.

g) Petitioner No.3 -Rajendra Kumar died in the year 2008 and on his place, his wife has been granted appointment, who is getting regular salary month by month.

7. In bunch of writ petitions with leading Writ Petition No.2586 (S/S) of 2002, an interim order was granted by this Court on 26.08.2002, which reads as under:

"..... .....

All the three petitions have been filed by the non-teaching personnel. Petitioner of Writ Petition No.2586 (SS) of 2002 is working in D.B.S. College, Kanpur, whereas the petitioners of Writ Petition

Nos.3126 (SS) of 2002 and 4574 (SS) of 2002 are working in D.A.V. College, Kanpur. The petitioners' contention is that they have not been paid their salary or any allowances for the last two years because of a condition levied by the Government while sanctioning creation of 64 posts. A perusal of the Sanctioned Order dated August 31, 1999 (Annexure 1) would reveal that as many as 64 posts were sanctioned by the Government for D.A.V. College and D.B.S. College, Kanpur, however, with the condition that the expenditures on account of salary and other allowances pertaining to these 64 posts will be borne by the Management of the Colleges. Learned Counsel appearing on behalf of the petitioners has placed reliance upon a citation reported in [(2001) 8 SCC 378] Laxman Dundappa Dhamanekar and another Vs. Management of Vishwa Bharata Seva Samiti and another and the provisions of Section 60-E of the U.P. State Universities Act, 1973. As a matter of fact, under the state Universities Act, it is the liability of the State Government to pay salaries to the teachers and employees of every college. The terms of Section - 60-E are mandatory which make it obligatory for the State Government to bear the financial load so far as the payment of salary to the teachers and employees is concerned. In its counter - affidavit filed in writ petition no. 3126 (SS) of 2002, the State Government has conceded that the condition regarding payment of salaries to the 64 posts sanctioned for D.A.V. College and D.B.S. College, Kanpur was incorporated in the Order referred to above as the Government had financial constraints. However, the fact remains that the mandatory provision of Section 60-E of the Universities Act cannot be subjugated to the factum of the poor economy of the State. In other words, financial constraints of the Government cannot override the provisions of Section 60-E of the Universities Act. Learned Counsel appearing on behalf of the Colleges had not at the relevant time of the sanction being granted submitted any undertaking conceding its liability to make payment of the salary to the 64 employees, who might be appointed.

Subject to any assurance or undertaking, if any, submitted by the Managements of the Colleges, it is provided -- that if the petitioners are in continuous services of the Colleges, the State Government is directed to pay the petitioners' salary while discharging its obligation under Section 60-E of the Universities Act."

8. Learned Senior Counsel for the petitioners submitted that the Government Order dated 31.08.1999 and consequent order dated 22.03.2001 are ultra vires to the provisions of Section 60-B&E of U.P. State Universities Act, 1973 (hereinafter referred to as, 'Act of 1973') as it seeks to supplant and render otiose the provisions of the said section by an executive order.

9. He further submitted that under the provisions of Section 60-E of Act of 1973, the State Government has been held liable for payment of salary of teachers and other employees of every college due in respect of any period after 31st March, 1975.

10. He next submitted that the manner of appointment of non teaching staff is regulated by the provisions contained under Chapter 20 of the Ist Statute of Kanpur University, whereas Statute 21.01, which is in reference to Section 49(e) of Act of 1973, defines a salaried employee not being a teacher of a college and Statute 21.02(1) confers power upon the management to make appointments of non teaching staffs.

Under Statute 21.03 (4), the appointments made by the Committee of Management and the Principal are required to be submitted for approval before the Director, Higher Education and in case the same is not approved within two months from the date of its receipt, the appointments shall be deemed to have been approved.

11. He further submitted that in view of Section 60-E of Act of 1973, any action or order contrary to any authority or committee being per se illegal and arbitrary is liable to be quashed.

12. He next submitted that appointment of the petitioners has been made strictly in accordance with Act of 1973, therefore, payment of salary to them from State Government cannot be denied.

13. He next submitted that one Purushottam Singh, who has been appointed on the post of Cataloguer in DAV College, Kanpur vide order dated 22.12.1999 is being paid salary from the State Government, as there has been no embargo levied while sanctioning his post, therefore, discrimination between the petitioners while sanctioning the post by imposing rider to not pay salary from the State Government is in breach of provisions of Articles 14 & 16 of the Constitution of India.

14. Learned Senior Counsel for the petitioners further submitted that salary is the property of the employees and it cannot be denied by levelling a rider in contravention to statutes of Act of 1973 and the same is in contravention to provisions of Article 300-A of the Constitution of India.

15. He further submitted that the State Government cannot impose conditions through executive fiat, which are inconsistent with the statutory provisions. In support of his submissions, he placed reliance upon certain judgments, which are as under:

a) Dr. Rajinder Singh Vs. State of Punjab and others; [(2001) 5 SCC 482].

b) Commissioner of Central Excise, Bolpur Vs. Ratan Melting & Wire Industries; [(2008) 13 SCC 1].

c) T.N. Housing Board Vs. N. Balasubramaniun and others; [(2004) 6 SCC 85].

d) Punjab Water Supply and Sewerage and others Vs. Ranjodh Singh and others; [(2007) 2 SCC 491].

e) Mahadeo Bhau Khilare (MANE) and others Vs. State of Maharashtra and others; [(2007) 5 SCC 524].

f) Sandur Micro Circuits Limited Vs. Commissioner of Central Excise, Belgaum; [(2008) 14 SCC 336].

g) Ajaya Kumar Das Vs. State of Orissa and others; [(2011) 11 SCC 136].

16. On the other hand, learned A.C.S.C. submitted that it is the Committee of Management, who is aggrieved party due to non providing of funds to ensure payment of salary to the petitioners. He further submitted that against non sanctioned posts, liability of payment of salary lies upon the Committee of Management and not upon the State Government. In support of his submissions, he placed reliance upon a full bench judgment in the case of State of U.P. and others Vs. C/M Sri Sukhpal Intermediate College, Tirhut, Sultanpur and others; [2015 (33) LCD 1398].

17. I have considered the submissions advanced by learned counsel for the parties and perused the material on record.

18. To resolve the controversy involved in the present writ petition, the judgments relied upon by learned counsel for the parties are being quoted below:

Judgments cited by learned senior counsel for the petitioners:

a) Dr. Rajinder Singh Vs. State of Punjab and others (Supra):

"7. The settled position of law is that no government order, notification or circular can be a substitute of the statutory rules framed with the authority of law."

b) Commissioner of Central Excise, Bolpur Vs. Ratan Melting & Wire Industries (Supra):

"7. Circulars and instructions issued by the Board are no doubt binding in law on the authorities under the respective statutes, but when the Supreme Court or the High Court declares the law on the question arising for consideration, it would not be appropriate for the court to direct that the circular should be given effect to and not the view expressed in a decision of this Court or the High Court. So far as the clarifications/circulars issued by the Central Government and of the State Government are concerned they represent merely their understanding of the statutory provisions. They are not binding upon the court. It is for the court to declare what the particular provision of statute says and it is not for the executive. Looked at from another angle, a circular which is contrary to the statutory provisions has really no existence in law."

c) Laxman Dundappa Dhamanekar and another Vs. Management of Vishwa Bahrata Seva Samiti and another (Supra):

"11. The aforesaid non-statutory rule was substituted in the Code by government order dated 17.6.67 and whereas the statutory Rules governing the method of appointment of teacher came to be published in the gazette on 31.1.78. It is, therefore, manifest that non-statutory Rule 16 was never intended to supplement the statutory Rules and, therefore, not applicable in the case of appointment of teacher in private government aided institutions. Yet, there is another reason why the non-statutory Rule 16 is not applicable in the case of appointment of teachers in the institution. The administrative instructions pertaining to grant-in-aid for secondary schools have been issued with the object of extending and improving institutions, and for that purpose a sum of money is annually allocated by the government for distribution as grant-in-aid to schools subject to observance to the conditions specified therein. The conditions embodies in Rule 16 of the grant-in-aid code provide for the conditions under which financial assistance would be made available to the Management of the institution by the government. If there is a breach of the conditions of the grants-in-aid, it is open to the government either to suspend or cancel the financial grant to the institution. But, such breach of conditions of the grant-in-aid code would not make the appointment of a teacher in the institutions invalid when the method of appointment of teachers in the institution is fully covered by the Act and the statutory rules. It is, however, true that for breach of administrative instructions which have no statutory force, a public servant or the person guilty of such a breach can be subjected to disciplinary action; but the same cannot be pressed into service for action which has the effect of modifying the statutory rules. We are, therefore, of the view, that breach of non- statutory Rule 16 would not render the appointments of appellant invalid.

12. So far the second question that arises for consideration is whether the appellants having been appointed on probation they would be deemed to have become regular teachers on expiry of probationary period, we are not inclined to go into that question in view of the fact that even though the appellants were probationers, their services could not be ceased to have effect either by non approval by the Head of the Department or by their remaining absent from their respective duties. There is no provision either in the Act or the Rules providing for automatic termination of services of a teacher on account of being absent without leave. If any teacher remains absent without any leave, it is open to the Management to terminate the services of such teachers only after complying with the provisions of the Act and the rules or principles of natural justice. In the present case, we do not find any provision either in the Act or Rules providing for automatic termination of service of a teacher in the event of a teacher remaining absent without leave. In the absence of such a provision in the Act or Rules, the alleged deemed termination of services of the appellants without giving any opportunity to the appellants was unlawful and deserves to be set aside."

d) T.N. Housing Board Vs. N. Balasubramanium and others (Supra):

"6. .... It is not in dispute that the said eligibility criteria are mandatory in nature and the validity thereof had not been questioned. If a Draftsman is to be promoted to the post of Assistant Executive Engineer, he must complete 15 years of service in the said capacity, whereas the Junior Engineer may have to complete only 10 years in the said post. Once the eligibility criteria are considered to be a prerequisite for giving effect to the statutory Regulations, the purported executive instructions would not be applicable. Once it is held that relying on the basis of executive instructions in terms of Regulation 28(a), the Draftsman who have been getting higher salary are given preference over the diploma-holder Junior Engineers, the eligibility criteria contained in the statutory Regulations would become otiose; the logical corollary thereof would be that the executive instructions would prevail over the statutory Regulations. Such a consequence would lead to an absurdity and in that view of the matter, it must be held that the executive instructions cannot be given effect to."

e) Punjab Water Supply and Sewerage Board Vs. Ranjodh Singh and others (Supra):

"10. ..... Neither can the statutory bodies refuse to fulfil such constitutional duty, nor can the State issue any direction contrary to or inconsistent with the constitutional principles adumbrated under Articles 14 and 16 of the Constitution of India. The purported directions of the State were otherwise bad in law insofar as thereby the statutory rules were sought to be superseded. A circular letter furthermore is not a statutory instrument. It was not even issued by the State in exercise of the power under Article 162 of the Constitution of India. Even a scheme issued under Article 162 of the Constitution of India, would not prevail over statutory rules.

14. Once it is held that the terms and conditions of service including the recruitment of employees were to be governed either by the statutory rules or rules framed under the proviso to Article 309 of the Constitution of India, it must necessarily be held that any policy decision adopted by the State in exercise of its jurisdiction under Article 162 of the Constitution of India would be illegal and without jurisdiction.

16. ..... To accede to such a proposition would be to introduce a new head of appointment in defiance of rules or it may have the effect of setting at naught the rules.

19. ..... It failed to notice that a policy decision cannot be adopted by means of a circular letter and, as noticed hereinbefore, even a policy decision adopted in terms of Article 162 of the Constitution of India in that behalf would be void. Any departmental letter or executive instruction cannot prevail over statutory rule and constitutional provisions. Any appointment, thus, made without following the procedure would be ultra vires.

20. This Court, recently in Indian Drugs & Pharmaceuticals Ltd. v. Workman opined that rules of recruitment cannot be relaxed and the courts/tribunals cannot direct regularisation of temporary appointees dehors the rules, nor can it direct continuation of service of a temporary employee (whether called a casual, ad hoc or daily - rate employee) or payment of regular salaries to them."

f) Mahadeo Bhau Khilare (MANE) and others Vs. State of Maharashtra and others (Supra):

"7. Indisputably, the State of Maharashtra has framed recruitment rules. Any scheme by way of an executive instruction in terms of Article 162 of the Constitution of India, if violative of such statutory rules would not be legally sustainable.

11. Appointments made without following the statutory rules by the State and that too without any remuneration whatsoever was itself unconstitutional."

g) Sandur Micro Circuits Limited Vs. Commissioner of Central Excise, Belgaum (Supra):

"6. The issue relating to effectiveness of a circular contrary to a notification statutorily issued has been examined by this Court in several cases. A circular cannot take away the effect of notifications statutorily issued. In fact in certain cases it has been held that the circular cannot whittle down the exemption notificatino and restrict the scope of the exemption notification or hit it down. In other words, it was held that by issuing a circular a new condition thereby restricting the scope of the exemption or restricting or whittling it down cannot be imposed. The principle is applicable to the instant cases also, though the controversy is of different nature."

h) Ajaya Kumar Das Vs. State of Orissa and others (Supra):

"14. Neither the Circular dated 18-6-1982 nor the subsequent Circular dated 18-6-1982 can override the statutory provision contained in Rule 74(b) of the Code if it results in reduction of pay of the employee on promotion. That the Orissa Service Code has been framed under Article 309 of the Constitution of India is not in dispute. It is well settled that the statutory rules framed under Article 309 of the Constitution can be amended only by a rule or notification duly made under Article 309 and not otherwise. Whatever be the efficacy of the executive orders or circulars or instructions, statutory rules cannot be altered or amended by such executive orders or circulars or instructions nor can they replace the statutory rules. The Rules made under Article 309 of the Constitution cannot be tinkered by the administrative instructions or circulars.

15. Seen thus, upon promotion of the appellant to the rank of Assistant Engineer from SER, his pay in the timescale of Assistant Engineer has to be fixed as per statutory Rule 74(b), more particularly, in a situation such as the present one because by relying upon the Government Circulars dated 18-6-1982 or 19-3-1983 or 16-4-1971, the appellant's scale of pay gets reduced. The State Government has not challenged the applicability of Rule 74(b) of the Code in the matter. That being the position, the appellant's pay has to be fixed in accordance with Rule 74(b) of the Code and not otehrwise."

Judgments relied upon by learned Additional C.S.C.:

State of U.P. and others Vs. C/M Sri Sukhpal Intermediate College (Supra):

"11. In our view, the field of dispute in the present case is governed by the judgment of the Full Bench in Gopal Dubey (Supra). The judgment in Gopal Dubey clearly holds that the Act of 1971 operates in a field which is distinct from the Act of 1921. The mere fact that recognition has been granted to an institution or, for that matter, for conducting a new course or subject or for an additional section, would not give rise to a presumption of a financial sanction having been granted to the creation of a post. A financial liability cannot be foisted on the State to reimburse the salary payable to the employee or the teacher on the basis of such a presumption. For the purpose of creating a new post of a teacher or other employee, the management has to obtain the prior approval of the Director as required under Section 9 of the Act 1971. Without the prior approval of the Director, a new post cannot be sanctioned or created. Section 9 is mandatory. This principle in Gopal Dubey's case follows specifically the judgment of the Supreme Court in Gajadhar Prasad Verma's case which was rendered while interpreting the provisions of Section 9 of the Act of 1971. The High Court cannot issue a direction contrary to the mandate of Section 9. Orders under Article 226 must conform to law and cannot be contrary to the mandate of law. No mandamus can issue-interim or final-for the payment of salary by the State in the absence of the prior approval of the Director."

19. On perusal of afore-quoted judgments, it is evident that settled position of law is that no government order, notification or circular can be a substitute of the statutory rules framed with the authority of law.

20. Here, in the present case, On 22.04.1999, an order was passed by this Court in Writ Petition No.17179 of 1999, whereby direction was issued to the respondents to decide the representation of the Committee of Management taking into consideration the norms fixed by the Government as well as the recommendations of Director Higher Education and in pursuance thereof, a High Power Committee decided the representation of Committee of Management on 31.08.1999 and sanctioned 64 posts of non teaching staffs in D.A.V. College, Kanpur and D.B.S. College, Kanpur by imposing condition that the State shall not bear any liabilities with regard to payment of salary and the management would have to bear the burden.

21. In pursuance thereof, name of petitioners were called from employment exchange / advertisement was issued in the news papers and petitioners applied in pursuance thereof and on the recommendation of Selection Committee, the petitioners were appointed by the Committee of Management on their respective posts when no action was taken by respondent No.3 on the communication made by Selection Committee and since then, the petitioners are discharging duty on their respective posts to the satisfaction of concerned authorities, however, they have not been paid salary in view of condition imposed in the order dated 31.08.1999. For the payment of salary to the petitioners, the Committee of Management has made several representations, but no heed has been paid to the same.

22. Meaning thereby, the petitioners were selected by the Selection Committee having fulfilled requisite eligibility criteria by following procedure prescribed in the Act of 1973. When the recommendation made by the Selection Committee was not approved by respondent No.3 within stipulated time, they joined duty on their respective posts, however, they have not been paid even a single penny so far.

23. It is also relevant that one Purushottam Singh, who has been appointed on the post of Cataloguer in DAV College, Kanpur vide order dated 22.12.1999 is being paid salary from the State Government, as there has been no embargo levied while sanctioning his post, therefore, discrimination has been caused between the petitioners while sanctioning the post by imposing rider to not pay salary from the State Government, which is in breach of provisions of Articles 14 & 16 of the Constitution of India.

24. Section 60-E of U.P. Universities Act, 1973 reads as under:

"60E- Liability in respect of salary - (1) the state government shall be liable for payment of salaries of teachers and employees of every college due in respect of any period after March 31, 1975.

(2) the state government may recover any amount in respect of which any liabilities incurred by it under sub-section (1) by attachment of the income from the property belonging to or vested in the college as if that amount were in arrears of land revenue due from such college.

(3) nothing in this section shall be deemed to derogate from the liability of the college for any such dues to the teacher or employee."

25. On its perusal, it is evident that the State Government is liable for payment of salaries of teachers and other employees of colleges due in respect of any period after 31.03.1975.

26. In the case of Dr. Rajinder Singh (Supra), it has been held that the settled position of law is that no government order, notification or circular can be a substitute of the statutory rules framed with the authority of law. Likewise, in the case of Commissioner of Central Excise, Bolpur (Supra), it has been observed that so far as the clarifications/circulars issued by the Central Government and of the State Government are concerned, they represent merely their understanding of the statutory provisions and they are not binding upon the Court. It is for the Court to declare what the particular provision of statute says and it is not for the executive and even if it is looked from another angle, a circular, which is contrary to the statutory provisions, has really no existence in law. Similar view has been adopted in the case of Punjab Water Supply and Sewerage Board (Supra), by saying that neither can the statutory bodies refuse to fulfil such constitutional duty, nor can the State issue any direction contrary to or inconsistent with the constitutional principles adumbrated under Articles 14 and 16 of the Constitution of India. The purported directions of the State were otherwise bad in law insofar as thereby the statutory rules were sought to be superseded. A circular letter furthermore is not a statutory instrument. It was not even issued by the State in exercise of the power under Article 162 of the Constitution of India. Even a scheme issued under Article 162 of the Constitution of India, would not prevail over statutory rules. In the case of Mahadeo Bhau Khilare (Supra), the Court has observed that any scheme by way of an executive instruction in terms of Article 162 of the Constitution of India, if violative of such statutory rules, would not be legally sustainable. Similarly, in the case of Sandur Micro Circuits Limited (Supra), it has been held that a circular cannot take away the effect of notifications statutorily issued.

27. On overall consideration of facts and circumstances of the case and law reports cited by learned counsel for the parties, the arguments advanced by learned Additional C.S.C. are not found acceptable in view of the fact that the sanction granted with rider has adversely affected the employees of the colleges. Once the posts have been sanctioned, the rider imposed under the Government Order dated 31.08.1999 and 22.03.2001 are erroneous in nature and contrary to the statutory provisions of law provided under Section 60-E of U.P. State Universities Act, 1973 and the liability for payment of salary lies upon the State Government.

28. In view of reasons recorded above, the condition incorporated in Government Order dated 31.08.1999 and the consequent order dated 22.03.2001, by which the rider has been imposed in payment of salary to teachers and other employees against 64 sanctioned posts in D.A.V. College, Kanpur and D.B.S. College, Kanpur are not found in consonance with Article 162 of Constitution of India, therefore, are liable to be quashed.

29. The writ petitions succeed and are allowed.

30. The condition incorporated in Government Order dated 31.08.1999 so far as it imposes the rider in payment of salary to teachers and other employees against 64 sanctioned posts in D.A.V. College, Kanpur and D.B.S. College, Kanpur and the consequent order dated 22.03.2001, are hereby quashed.

31. The respondents are directed to make payment of regular monthly salary month by month to the petitioners in as much as arrears of salary from the date of their joining in the respective institutions. The aforesaid exercise shall be completed within a period of three months from the date of production of a certified copy of this order.

State of U.P. & Ors. ...Respondents

Counsel for the Petitioner:
Sri Siddharth Khare, Sri Himanshu Singh, Sri Ashok Khare (Senior Counsel)

Counsel for the Respondents:

C.S.C.

A. Service Law – Selection/Appointment - Uttar Pradesh Sub-Inspector and Inspector (Civil Police) Service Rules, 2015: Rule 15(f) - The post which has to be filled up by way of compassionate appointment cannot be kept vacant if there is a deserving candidate. No purpose would be served to keep the post vacant in a case where there are number of candidates who scored same marks. (Para 10, 12)

The very purpose of providing facility for compassionate appointment is that the dependents of the deceased employee are provided an immediate relief as the main bread earner of their family is no more. In present case, the petitioner has secured the same marks as those of last three selected candidates in the list of 183 which has been prepared on the basis of merit, i.e. written examination etc. Learned Standing Counsel also could not demonstrate as to what purpose would be served to keep a post vacant which is earmarked to be filled by way of compassionate appointment if there is a candidate available who has secured the same marks in the written examination as those three last candidates in the select list. (Para 11, 12)

The writ petition is disposed of with a direction to UP Police Recruitment & Promotion Board (respondent No. 3) to consider the case of the petitioner for appointment on compassionate ground on the post of Sub Inspector of Civil Police along with other five candidates who have secured the identical marks against one post lying vacant due to withdrawal of one selected candidate, in accordance with law… (Para 13)

Writ petition disposed off. (E-4)

Precedent followed:

1. State of U.P. & ors. Vs Vatsyayan Shukla & anr., Special Appeal Defective No. 452 of 2020 (Para 9)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Karunesh Singh Pawar, J.)

1. Heard Mr. Siddharth Khare, learned Senior Advocate for the petitioner and learned Standing Counsel for the State.

2. By means of this writ petition, the petitioner has prayed for a direction to respondents to grant appointment on the post of Sub Inspector in Civil Police on the basis of select list published on 12.11.2021 against the post remaining vacant on account of non-joining of Atul Kumar son of Surendra Singh within a stipulated period of time, with a further direction to respondents to permit the petitioner to function as Sub Inspector in Civil Police and pay her regular monthly salary of the said post.

3. Learned counsel for the petitioner submits that the petitioner applied for the post of Sub Inspector of Civil Police in 2020 against 183 posts under Uttar Pradesh Sub-Inspector and Inspector (Civil Police) Service Rules, 2015 (in short 2015 Rules). Subsequently, it transpired that the candidates in excess of 183 posts have qualified the physical efficiency test and therefore, even though, they have qualified physical efficiency test, a written examination was notified as per the Government Order dated 18.9.2015, read with Rule 5(i) of 2015 Rules.

4. Admit cards were issued. The petitioner participated in the written examination. Result of the aforesaid examination was declared on 12.11.2021.

5. The select list was published in two parts. The first part of the list includes the names of 183 candidates selected for appointment. The second part of the select list comprises of 79 such candidates who have not been selected. It is submitted that in the non-selected candidates, name of the petitioner figures at Serial No.1. In the remark column against her name, it is mentioned as not selected in Tie-breaker.

6. It is further submitted that a total of nine candidates, viz Mahesh Mishra, Chakravarti Vishal Maurya, Vikash Kumar Dube, Vivek Kumar Bharti, Vivek Kumar Singh, Vibha Yadav (the petitioner), Sahiba Ali, Amod Kumar and Vipin Kumar secured same marks, i.e. 171.0692. Out of nine candidates, first three were selected against 183 posts in List-1. The name of the petitioner who has also secured the same marks in the tie breaker figures at Serial No.1 in the left out candidates. It is submitted that tie breaker test was conducted in accordance with Note provided under Rule 15 (f) of Rules of 2015 which is extracted below :

"NOTE- If two or more than two candidates obtain equal marks then their seniority shall be decided by the procedure laid in following order

(1) If two or more candidates obtain equal marks then such candidate will be given preference who possesses preferential qualification, if any (in the same order as stated in Rule 9). Candidate having more than one preferential qualification shall get the benefit of only one preferential qualification.

(2) Even then if two or more candidates have equal marks then candidate older in age shall be given preference.

(3) If despite the aforementioned more than one candidates are equal, then preference to such candidate shall be determined according to the order in English Alphabets of their names mentioned in High School Certificate. "

7. It is further submitted that one Atul Kumar son of Surendra Singh and whose name figures at Serial No.67 in the first list has relinquished his claim by filing an affidavit to the extent that he is not desirous of joining of service and does not claim appointment. A communication in this regard has been sent by the Superintendent of Police, Karmic dated 31.3.2022 which is annexed as Annexure No.5 to the petition. It is thus submitted that appointment on one post remains unfilled on account of refusal of Atul Kumar.

8. The written examination and the entire selection process has already been completed. The petitioner has also secured similar marks as other candidates selected at Serial Nos. 181, 182 and 183. In the so called waiting list (second list), the name of the petitioner finds place at serial No.1. It is further submitted that since it is a compassionate appointment against 5% of vacant posts to be filled by direct recruitment as against the vacancies arising in the previously sanctioned posts of Sub Inspector of Police, as provided in Rule 5(i) of 2015 Rules, carry forward rule for the vacant posts does not apply in this case. Rule 5(i) of 2015 Rules is extracted below :

"5. Recruitment to the various categories of post in the service shall be made from the following sources :

(1) Sub Inspector

(i) Fifty percent by direct recruitment through the Board.

Note : Dependents of personnel of police department deceased during service who apply for the post of Sub Inspector of police in the dependents of deceased category shall be recruited by the Board as per the policy decided by the Government. Restriction being that every year such posts shall not be more than five per cent of the posts to be filled by direct recruitment as against the vacancies arising in the previously sanctioned posts of Sub Inspector of Police.

9. Learned Standing Counsel has opposed the petition and has submitted that admittedly, the petitioner has not been selected in the first list and therefore, she has no claim to be appointed on compassionate ground. In support of his contention, learned counsel for the petitioner has relied on judgment dated 8.2.2021 passed by a Division Bench of this Court in Special Appeal Defective No.452 of 2020 State of UP. and others versus Vatsyayan Shukla and another. Relevant part of the judgment is extracted below :

"We have considered the rival submissions and find case in hand to be peculiar. It is in view of the fact that on the cut off marks of open category, there were 73 candidates out of which 21 were given appointments based on the age as none of them were having preferential qualification. If we strictly go as per rules 15 (4), there is no illegality in the action of the appellant, as the result was declared to the size of vacancy. The fact however remains that out of the total candidates offered appointment based on the list sent to the department, 81 open category candidates did not join the post. In absence of waiting list, the candidates scored same marks could have been given appointment as for that list of candidates next in the merit was not required to be called. It is considered to be calling of name from wait list. There would be no purpose to keep post vacant in a case where there are number of candidates scored same marks. It is not a case where the department was not having the list of the candidates who can be offered appointment which otherwise remain in the shape of waiting list and to be called. In fact the list of candidates obtained same marks was lying with the State thus State was not required to indulge in the exercise to call for the name of the candidates below the cut off."

10. The judgment provides that no purpose would be served to keep the post vacant in a case where there are number of candidates who scored same marks.

11. Learned Standing Counsel could not demonstrate as to what purpose would be served to keep a post vacant which is earmarked to be filled by way of compassionate appointment if there is a candidate available who has secured the same marks in the written examination as those three last candidates in the select list.

12. On due consideration to the argument advanced by learned counsel for the petitioner, perusal of the record as also judgment quoted above, I am of the view that the contention of the State that the petitioner has no claim on the vacant post to be appointed on compassionate ground is mis-conceived. The very purpose of providing facility for compassionate appointment is that the dependents of the deceased employee are provided an immediate relief as the main bread earner of their family is no more. The post which has to be filled up by way of compassionate appointment cannot be kept vacant if there is a deserving candidate. In this case, the petitioner has secured the same marks as those of last three selected candidates in the list of 183 which has been prepared on the basis of merit, i.e. written examination etc.

13. In view of the above, the writ petition is disposed of with a direction to respondent No.3 to consider the case of the petitioner for appointment on compassionate ground on the post of Sub Inspector of Civil Police along with other five candidates who have secured the identical marks against one post lying vacant due to withdrawal of one selected candidate Atul Kumar, in accordance with law, within a period of three months from the date of production of a certified copy of this order.

14. Needless to say that while considering such claim of the petitioner, the competent authority shall take note of that the petitioner is placed at Serial No.1 in the second list of 79 candidates and she is also older in age than five candidates who have secured equal marks as the petitioner, in the light of Note provided under Rule 15.

A. Service Law – Promotion - Mere pendency of a criminal case, prima-facie, cannot be taken as a ground to deny promotion. The Competent Authority cannot withhold the claim indefinitely on the ground of having adopted Sealed Cover Procedure, due to the pendency of criminal case. (Para 12)

Facts of the case are undisputed. Petitioner was appointed on the post of Sub-Inspector in Civil Police Department in the year 1990 and chargesheet was submitted against him in the year 1999. Thereafter, he was promoted on the post of Inspector in the year 2006 and first DPC for promotion on the post of DSP was also held on 01.01.2018, in which name of petitioner was considered, but due to pendency of criminal proceeding, his name was kept in a sealed cover envelop and juniors to him have been granted promotion. Further, as per comments of ADGP, Administration dated 20.08.2020, several excellent entries were given to the petitioner in last ten years of his service coupled with this fact that no punishment, either minor or major was awarded to the petitioner and after promotion, he has never misused his post in any way. (Para 10, 12)

Mere pendency of a criminal case coupled with this fact that petitioner has been permitted to continue in service and also granted promotion, cannot be a ground for denying promotion. Further, additional fact may be taken into consideration i.e. subsequent service record of petitioner while opening the sealed cover envelop and in case subsequent service record of petitioner is found excellent, unblemished, without any punishment, the same should have been an additional ground to grant him promotion. (Para 13)

Impugned order dated 12.8.2021 is contrary to the provisions of GOs dated 28.05.1997 & 09.01.2018 as well as law laid down by this Court in the matter of Neeraj Kumar Pandey (infra), which is not sustainable and hereby set aside.

Writ petition allowed. (E-4)

1. Neeraj Kumar Pandey Vs The St. of U.P. & ors. (Writ-A No. 8151 of 2022) (Para 7)

Present petition assails order dated 12.08.2021, passed by Addl.

Chief/Principal Secretary, Home, Uttar Pradesh Shasan, Secretariat, Lucknow.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Neeraj Tiwari, J.)

1. Heard Sri Vijay Gautam, learned Senior Counsel assisted by Ms. Atipriya Gautam, learned counsel for petitioner and learned standing counsel for State-respondents.

2. Pleadings have been exchanged between the parties, with the consent of the parties, the instant writ petition is being finally decided at the admission stage.

3. By way of present petition, petitioner is seeking following reliefs:-

"(ii) issue, a writ order or direction, in the nature of certiorari, quashing the impugned order dated 12.08.2021, passed by respondent No. 1, enclosed as Annexure-1, to the writ petition.

(iii) issue, a writ, order or direction, in the nature of mandamus, commanding the Respondent Authorities, to open the Seal Cover Envelop and promote the petitioner on the post of Dy.S.P. in pursuance of the Government Order No. 13/21/89-Ka-1-1997, dated 28/05/1997, & Government Order No. 1/2018-13(6)/2017/Ka-1-2018, dated 09/01/2018, with all consequential benefits.

(v) issue, a writ, order or direction, in the nature of mandamus, commanding the Respondent Authorities, to consider the claim of the petitioner for Ad-hoc promotion on the post of Dy.S.P., in pursuance of the Government Order No. 13/21/89-Ka-1-1997, dated 28/05/1997, & Government Order No. 1/2018-13(6)/2017/Ka-1-2018, dated 09/01/2018, with all consequential benefits."

4. Learned Senior Counsel appearing for petitioner submitted that petitioner was appointed on the post of Sub-Inspector in Civil Police Department on 17.09.1990. While petitioner was posted at Jaunpur, an F.I.R. has been lodged by one Chhedi Lal against three persons namely Jagarnath Chaudhary, Asha Devi and mother of Asha Devi namely Babana Devi, which was registered as Case Crime No. 172 of 1999 u/s 302, 201, 506 IPC at Police Station Jaunpur, District Jaunpur on 05.06.1999, in which petitioner was not named. Ultimately, charge sheet was submitted in the year 1999, in which petitioner was also charge sheeted under section 217, 218, 201 & 120-B IPC whereas against other accused, charge sheet has been submitted under sections 302, 201, 506, 217, 218 IPC. Feeling aggrieved by the said charge sheet, petitioner has filed Criminal Misc. Application No. 6323/2003 (U/s 482 Cr.P.C.), in which this Court vide order dated 10.09.2003 was pleased to stay the further proceedings, which continued upto year 2020.

5. It is further submitted that during the pendency of the said criminal proceeding, petitioner was given out of turn promotion on 14.09.2006 on the post of Inspector, till then he is performing his duty to the full satisfaction of the authorities and no other disciplinary or criminal proceeding has ever been initiated against him. It is next submitted that meeting of Departmental Promotion Committee (in short, "DPC') was held on 01.01.2018 for promotion on the post of Deputy Superintendent of Police, in which case of petitioner was also considered, but due to pendency of criminal proceeding, his name was kept in a sealed cover envelop and juniors to petitioner were granted promotion. Thereafter, meeting of DPC was also held in the years 2020 & 2021 and other juniors to petitioner have also been promoted.

6. It is next submitted that when the name of petitioner was kept in a sealed cover envelop, petitioner has filed Writ Petition No. 7758 of 2019, which was disposed of by this Court vide order dated 07.02.2020 directing respondent No. 1 to decide the representation of petitioner. Thereafter, comments were called from the Additional Director General of Police, Administration (hereinafter referred to as "ADGP, Administration") and vide communication dated 20.08.2020, comments were sent to Secretary Home (Police Services), Secretariat U.P., Lucknow and in the comments, it is mentioned that since last ten years, petitioner was awarded excellent entries and never been penalized either major or minor penalty. It was also stated in the comments that character role of petitioner is excellent and after promotion on the post of Inspector, upto 17 years, petitioner has never misused his post, but without considering the comments, impugned order has been passed rejecting the claim of petitioner on two grounds; first of all, petitioner has helped the accused and secondly, offence against the petitioner is serious in nature. It is also stated in the impugned order that petitioner was chargesheeted in Case Crime No. 172 of 1999, under Sections 217, 218 & 120-B IPC.

7. He firmly submitted that comments so given by ADGP, Administration had not been considered while passing the impugned order. He further submitted that trial of main accused has been concluded and ultimately, they have been convicted vide order dated 02.09.2014 passed by Additional Session Judge, Court No. 2, Jaunpur under section 304 IPC, which itself shows that petitioner is not guilty for any charges coupled with this fact that petitioner has excellent service record and also he has been promoted on the post of Inspector during the pendency of criminal proceeding. He further placed reliance upon the Government Order No. 13/21/89-Ka-1-1997, dated 28.05.1997 and submitted that para-10 is having specific provision that after considering the promotion of first time charged employee and keeping his name in a sealed cover envelop, after completion of one year, the same shall be considered for ad hoc promotion. Again in Government Order No. 1/2018-13(6)/2017/Ka-1-2018, dated 09.01.2018, it is stated that in case of pendency of criminal case in different courts, cases has to be examined for further proceeding subject to final decision of the cases pending before the Court. After examination, if it is found proper, further proceeding should have been ensured. In support of his contention, he has placed reliance upon the judgment of this Court passed in Neeraj Kumar Pandey vs. The State of U.P. and 5 others (Writ-A No. 8151 of 2022) and submitted that on the similar set of facts where the name of petitioner was kept in a sealed cover envelop, Court after considering the Government Orders dated 28.5.1997 & 9.1.2018 directed to open the same to grant promotion. Therefore, under such facts of the case, Court may please to quash the impugned order and issue necessary direction for promotion of petitioner.

8. Learned standing counsel, on the basis of counter affidavit, has vehemently opposed the submissions made by learned counsel for petitioner, but could not dispute the factual as well as legal submissions made by learned Senior Counsel appearing on behalf of petitioner.

9. I have considered rival submissions advanced by learned counsels for parties and perused the records.

10. Facts of the case are undisputed. Petitioner was appointed on the post of Sub-Inspector in Civil Police Department in the year1990 and chargesheet was submitted against him in the year 1999. Thereafter, he was promoted on the post of Inspector in the year 2006 and first DPC for promotion on the post of Deputy Superintendent of Police was also held on 01.01.2018, in which name of petitioner was considered, but due to pendency of criminal proceeding, his name was kept in a sealed cover envelop and juniors to him have been granted promotion. Further, as per comments of ADGP, Administration dated 20.08.2020, several excellent entries were given to the petitioner in last ten years of his service coupled with this fact that no punishment, either minor or major was awarded to the petitioner and after promotion, he has never misused his post in any way.

11. I have also perused the judgment of this Court passed in Neeraj Kumar Pandey (Supra). In the said judgment, after DPC, name of petitioner was kept in sealed cover envelop denying the promotion. Court has considered this fact that even after pendency of criminal proceeding, petitioner has continued in service, directed the State to open the envelop to grant promotion. While allowing the petition, Court has also considered the Government Orders dated 28.5.1997 & 9.1.2018.

12. So far as case of petitioner is concerned, it is on better footing than the case of Neeraj Kumar Pandey (Supra). Undisputedly, even after initiation of criminal proceeding, petitioner was granted promotion on the post of Inspector on 14.09.2006 upon which he is still working without any misuse of post. Further, petitioner was granted excellent entries for last 10 years as mentioned in the comments of ADGP, Administration dated 20.08.2020. Not only this, even the criminal proceeding so initiated against the petitioner along with other co-accused, trial of co-accused was completed and Additional Session Judge vide order dated 2.9.2014 awarded the punishment under Section 304 IPC for seven years only, which also shows that petitioner was not at fault in the said criminal proceeding so initiated against him. Relevant paragraphs of judgment passed in Neeraj Kumar Pandey (Supra) is quoted below:-

"17. Having heard the learned counsel for petitioner, the learned standing counsel for State-respondents and upon perusal of record, the Court finds that it is an undisputed fact that irrespective of pendency of criminal case, petitioner has been allowed to continue. Therefore, mere pendency of a criminal case, prima-facie, cannot be taken as a ground to deny promotion of petitioner. The Competent Authority cannot withhold the claim of petitioner indefinitely on the ground of having adopted Sealed Cover Procedure, due to the pendency of criminal case.

18. In view of the discussion made above this writ petition is disposed of finally with a direction to the Competent Authority to consider the claim of petitioner for opening the Sealed Cover within a period of two months from the date of production of a certified copy of this order in the light of observations made herein-above."

13. After considering the entire facts of the case as well as law laid down by this

Court in Neeraj Kumar Pandey (Supra), this Court is of the firm view that mere pendency of a criminal case coupled with this fact that petitioner has been permitted to continue in service and also granted promotion, cannot be a ground for denying promotion. Further, additional fact may be taken into consideration i.e. subsequent service record of petitioner while opening the sealed cover envelop and in case subsequent service record of petitioner is found excellent, unblemished, without any punishment, the same should have been an additional ground to grant him promotion.

14. Therefore, under such facts and circumstances, impugned order dated 12.8.2021 passed by respondent No. 1 is contrary to the provisions of Government Orders dated 28.05.1997 & 09.01.2018 as well as law laid down by this Court in the matter of Neeraj Kumar Pandey (Supra), which is not sustainable and hereby set aside.

15. Accordingly, the writ petition is allowed. No order as to costs.

16. Respondent No. 1 is directed to take necessary action to open the sealed cover envelop and grant promotion to the petitioner maximum within six weeks from the date of production of certified copy of this order with all consequential benefits.

Virendra Kumar Srivastava ...Petitioner

Versus

State of U.P. & Ors. ...Respondents

Counsel for the Petitioner:
Mohd. Ghayasuddin Khan

C.S.C.

A. Service Law – Pension and Gratuity – Civil Services Regulations - Article 351-A, Regulation 919A - During the pendency of disciplinary proceedings the government servant is not entitled to gratuity but is entitled only to provisional pension. Pendency of departmental/judicial proceedings or any inquiry or enquiry to be instituted after retirement would not empower the state government to withhold pension, but Government servant maybe sanctioned provisional pension, computed as per rules. It follows that the full pension has to be computed on conclusion of proceedings/inquiry as the case may be. (Para 13, 15, 16)

Article 351-A empowers the governor to withhold or withdraw pension or a part of it permanently off a specified period and order recovery from pension for pecuniary loss caused to the government because of the pensioner in departmental proceedings or Judicial proceedings where he has been found (i) guilty of grave misconduct or (ii) do of course back in early loss to the government by misconduct or negligence during his service period. The proviso to the article spells out the circumstances/conditions in which the departmental proceedings/Judicial proceedings are required to be instituted for the purpose of withholding/withdrawing pension. (Para 11)

The State Governments/Governor reserves to itself the power and right to withhold or withdraw pension or part thereof, whether permanently or for specified period or to order recovery from pension or part thereof, whether permanently or for a specified. Or to order recovery from pension of the whole or part of any pecuniary loss caused to the government upon conclusion of the disciplinary/judicial proceedings. (Para 12)

In the present case the criminal proceedings are pending against the petitioner where the FIR was lodged on 16.07.1998 and the charge sheet was filed on 29.01.2000 and the trial is underway. And it is only because of the pendency of the criminal proceedings against the petitioner that his post retiral dues including pension have been withheld. The case of the petitioner is covered by the judgment of the full bench in the case of Shiv Gopal (infra) and according to regulation 919A, the petitioner is not entitled for gratuity till the criminal proceedings are pending, but he is entitled to provisional pension and other post retiral dues for which there is no legal embargo. (Para 18, 20)

Precedent followed:

1. Shivagopal Vs St. of U.P. & ors., Special Appeal No. 40 of 2017, decided on 08.05.2019 (Para 7)

Precedent distinguished:

1. Udai Naraian Ojha Vs State of U.P. & ors. Writ-A No. 27391 of 2012 delivered on 02.11.2020 (Para 5)

2. St. of Jharkhand & ors. Vs Jitendra Kumar Srivastava passed in Civil Appeal No. 6770 of 2013 (Para 17)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Alok Mathur, J.)

1. The question which falls for consideration before this court in the present is whether the government servant is entitled for full pension and gratuity where criminal proceedings are pending against him?

2. It has been submitted by learned counsel for the petitioner that the petitioner was appointed as Assistant Wireless Operator in the Department of the Wireless, Police, Mahanagar, Lucknow on 16.6.1979 and has superannuated from the post of Principal/Head Wireless Operator one 31.3.2019. During his service a first information report was lodged against him in Case Crime No.249/1998 under sections - 417/467/468/471/218 IPC at Police Station, Mahanagar, Lucknow. The chargesheet has been filed in the said case on 29.01.2000 and the trial is in progress.

3. Subsequent to the lodging of the first information report the petitioner was suspended from service and disciplinary proceedings were also initiated against him which were concluded in favour of the petitioner where he was exonerated, and the order of suspension was revoked on 10.09.2004.

4. That subsequent to his retirement it has been submitted that no disciplinary proceeding are pending against him, but by means of the impugned orders the respondents have withheld the regular pension and gratuity on account of the fact that the criminal case is pending against him.

5. In support of his submissions the counsel for the petitioner has relied upon the judgement of this court rendered by coordinate bench of this court in the case of Udai Naraian Ojha vs State of U.P and others Writ A no. 27391 of 2012 delivered on 02.11.2020.

6. It was submitted that in the case of Udai Narayan Ojha (supra), the petitioner therein had superannuated on 31.12.2011 from the post of Assistant Sub Inspector in U.P Police and a criminal case was lodged against him in 2007 under section 409 IPC which was pending investigation. Subsequently the charge sheet was filed on 20.4.2013 subsequent to his superannuation and the opposite parties had withheld his gratuity. The court had considered the question:-

"whether the amount of gratuity payable to retired employee of state could be withheld merely on account of pendency of criminal investigation against him at the time of retirement. The connected issue is whether the charge sheet filed against the petitioner, subsequently, would justify withholding of gratuity even if the charges relate to a period which date back to more than 4 years from the date of superannuation?"

7. The SingleJudge after considering the Full Bench of this court in Special Appeal no. 40 of 2017 (Shivagopal versus state of U.P and four others) decided on 08.05.2019, as well as provisions of Article 351/351A and the Civil Services Regulations and allowed the writ petition after recording the following :-

"8. The power of State to withhold pension and gratuity, therefore, must be exercised strictly as per the applicable law and if the State action is not found to be in consonance with it, the withholding of gratuity would violate Article 300-A of the Constitution of India. The denial of such constitutional right, therefore, would be liable to be interfered with by this Court under Article 226 of the Constitution of India.

9. Even otherwise, the period of 4 years is a reasonable period from the date of the event, leading to submission of charge-sheet and the employee cannot be made to suffer for any un-explained or undue delay on the part of the State or the investigating agency. It is, otherwise, not shown by the respondents that such delay was attributed to any act or omission on part of the petitioner. The right 9 of State to proceed in accordance with law, is otherwise available by virtue of Article 351 of Civil Services Regulations if the charges are found proved in judicial proceedings and the public interest also would not be adversely affected, if the gratuity due is paid to the government servant. In view of the above discussions, this Court has no hesitation in holding that action of respondents in withholding payment of gratuity to petitioner is wholly illegal, arbitrary and cannot be sustained. 10. Writ petition succeeds and is allowed. The order dated 28.1.2012 passed by the respondent no. 3, so far as it relates withholding of gratuity payable to petitioner is concerned, is set aside. A writ of mandamus is issued to the respondents to forthwith release the withheld amount of gratuity together with 6% interest. In case the amount is not paid within four months from today, the petitioner shall be entitled to enhanced rate of interest at the rate of 8% per annum, and it shall be open for the authorities of the State to realise the additional interest from the salary of the officer found responsible for not ensuring release of gratuity to petitioner in terms of this order."

8. It has been submitted by the counsel for the petitioner the facts of the case in the case of Udai Narain Ojha are quite similar. In the case of Udai Narain Ojha the decision to withhold gratuity was taken subsequent to filing of the charge sheet against him when the criminal trial/ Judicial proceedings were pending against him, and accordingly prayed that his petition may be allowed in similar terms.

9. Per contra, the learned Standing counsel has opposed the prayer made in the writ petition and submitted that the controversy involved in the present case is fully covered by the judgement of the full bench in the case of Shivagopal vs state of U.P Special appeal no.40 of 2017 decided on 08.05.2019. It has been submitted that before the Full Bench the question which was considered as stated in para 3 of the Judgment was:-

"3. In the batch of writ petitions the controversy involved is with regard to the entitlement of the government servant to receive death come retirement gratuity on superannuation or otherwise pending judicial proceedings."

10. While answering the aforesaid question the Full Bench considered that the civil servants' claim to pension and gratuity is regulated by regulations/rules in force at the time when the officer demits office on attaining the age of superannuation or otherwise from the service of the government. The Full Bench concurred with the judgement of the division bench in the case of Sri Pal Vaish vs U.P Power corporation limited and another and Jayprakash and disagreed with the judgement in the case of Bhagwati Prasad Verma Vs state of U. P and others to hold that "pension includes gratuity" under the civil services regulations In a reference to article 351-A.

11. The Full bench considered that article 351-A empowers the governor to withhold or withdraw pension or a part of it permanently off a specified period and order recovery from pension for pecuniary loss caused to the government of the pensioner in departmental proceedings or Judicial proceedings where he has been found (i) guilty of grave misconduct or (ii) do of course back in early loss to the government by misconduct or negligence during his service period. The proviso to the article spells out the circumstances/ conditions in which the departmental proceedings/ Judicial proceedings are required to be instituted for the purpose of withholding/withdrawing pension.

12. It was also observed that the State Governments/Governor reserves to itself the power and right to withhold or withdraw pension or part thereof, whether permanently or for specified period or to order recovery from pension or part thereof, whether permanently or for a specified. Or to order recovery from pension of the whole or part of any pecuniary loss caused to the government upon conclusion of the disciplinary/judicial proceedings.

13. The Full Bench also considered the provisions applicable where the departmental or judicial proceedings are pending on the date of retirement. It considered the provisions of article 351AA inserted vide notification rated 24th October 1980, according to which where the proceedings or inquiry are pending against the government servant on date of superannuation, the government servant shall be entitled to provisional pension. In other words, pendency of departmental/judicial proceedings or any inquiry or enquiry to be instituted after retirement would not empower the state government to withhold pension, but Government servant maybe sanctioned provisional pension, computed as per rules. It follows that the full pension has to be computed on conclusion of proceedings/inquiry as the case may be.

14. The full bench further noticed the provisions of article 919A of the civil services regulation and held that:-

"56. Sub-Clause (3) to Article 919-A is negatively worded, it categorically mandates that gratuity shall not be paid to the government servant until conclusion of the departmental/or judicial proceedings or enquiry by the Administrative Tribunal. On plain reading, it is clear that in the event of pending proceedings/enquiry there is an embargo mandating that government servant shall not be entitled to gratuity until conclusion of the pending proceedings and final orders being issued thereon by the competent authority. That what was subservient/inert in the definition of pension that "pension includes gratuity" (Article 41) was made explicit and in contradiction to pension that gratuity is not payable to government servant pending disciplinary proceedings/or judicial proceedings, but the provision {Sub Clause (1)} is positively worded entitling the government servant provisional pension equal to maximum pension, admissible to the government servant on the basis of the qualifying service up to the date of retirement or suspension as the case may be. The provision (Sub-clause (3)) employs the word 'shall' thus making it mandatory. Article 351-AA uses the word 'may', thus leaving it to the competent authority to sanction provisional pension. We have not come across any provision in the Civil Service Regulations that prohibits or imposes restriction on sanction of provisional pension. The government servant in our opinion is entitled to provisional pension pending proceedings/enquiry.

57. Article 351-AA and 919-A get invoked in the event of pending departmental/judicial proceedings or an enquiry by Administrative Tribunal against the government servant. As against Article 351 and 351-A invoked upon the outcome of the disciplinary/judicial proceedings. It follows that where the government servant retires on attaining the age of superannuation or otherwise and against whom any departmental/judicial proceedings or any enquiry by the Administrative Tribunal is pending on the date of retirement or to be instituted after retirement, the following consequences flow: (i) government servant is entitled to provisional pension equal to maximum pension; (ii) no gratuity is payable pending departmental/judicial proceedings or the enquiry; (iii) full pension (commutation of pension) and gratuity is payable upon conclusion of the pending departmental/judicial proceedings/enquiry and final order being passed thereon by the competent authority."

15. After the above discussion it was held that during the pendency of disciplinary proceedings the government servant is not entitled to gratuity but are entitled only to provisional pension, in the following terms:-

"64. In view of the specific provision viz. Article 351-AA and 919-A, a government servant against whom disciplinary/judicial proceedings is pending on retirement or to be instituted, the government servant is not entitled to gratuity, but to provisional pension subject to the outcome of the proceedings/enquiry. It is not open to the government servant at that stage/or during pendency of the disciplinary/judicial proceedings to contend that since allegations of 'grave misconduct' or pecuniary loss to the Government, prima facie, is not made out from the charge(s), therefore, he is entitled to full pension and gratuity. The stage to entertain such a plea has not arisen yet.

64. We are in agreement with and approve the ratio of Sri Pal Vaish and Jai Prakash on the proposition of law that government servant is not entitled to gratuity but to provisional pension during pendency of proceedings/enquiry.

65. We accordingly hold that during pendency of proceedings/enquiry government servant shall be sanctioned provisional pension and no gratuity is payable for the period upto conclusion of the proceedings/enquiry and orders being passed thereon by the competent authority.

66. The question that arises is whether the government servant/pensioner can seek intervention at a stage before the competent authority has had the occasion to pass appropriate order upon conclusion of the disciplinary/judicial proceedings/or enquiry by Administrative Tribunal. We are of the opinion that such a course is not available to the pensioner and if allowed would entail serious consequences, otherwise not mandated by the Regulations. It is not open to the government servant/pensioner, in view of the conjoint reading of the Articles to pre-empt the pending proceedings/enquiry by walking away with pension/gratuity without awaiting the outcome/conclusion of the disciplinary/judicial proceedings/enquiry. The competent authority upon conclusion of the proceedings would be in a position to apply its mind on the outcome of the proceedings/enquiry and pass order thereon either withholding/withdrawing/reduction of pension or directing recovery of pecuniary loss from pension under Articles 351/351-A of the Civil Service Regulations."

16. The full bench in the case of Shivagopal (supra) has considered the provisions of article 919A of the civil services regulations it has in unequivocal terms held that during pendency of disciplinary or judicial proceedings gratuity cannot be paid.

17. The counsel for the petitioner has relied upon the judgment of the Supreme Court in the case of state of Jharkhand and others versus jitendra Kumar Srivastava passed in civil appeal number 6770 off 2013 while interpreting provisions of rule 43(b) of the Bihar pension held that :-

"11. Reading of Rule 43(b) makes it abundantly clear that even after the conclusion of the departmental inquiry, it is permissible for the Government to withhold pension etc. ONLY when a finding is recorded either in departmental inquiry or judicial proceedings that the employee had committed grave misconduct in the discharge of his duty while in his office. There is no provision in the rules for withholding of the pension/ gratuity when such departmental proceedings or judicial proceedings are still pending."

18. In the present case the criminal proceedings are pending against the petitioner where the First Information report was lodged on 16.07.1998 and the charge sheet was filed on 29.01.2000 and the trial is underway. And it is only because of the pendency of the criminal proceedings against the petitioner that is post retiral dues including pension have been withheld. The case of the petitioner is covered by the judgment of the full bench in the case of Shiv Gopal (supra) and according to regulation 919A of the Civil Service Regulation, the petitioner is not entitled for payment of gratuity during pendency of criminal case.

19. The judgement of the Supreme Court in the case of State of Jharkhand versus jitendra Kumar Srivastav is not applicable in the present case as the Supreme Court therein has interpreted the provisions of Rule 43(b) of Bihar pension rules which lay down a very different procedure and criteria for grant of pension and post retiral dues and hence the benefit of the same cannot be claimed by the petitioner. The benefit of the judgment in the case of Uday Narayan Ojha is also not applicable in case of the practitioner as it is seen that the charge sheet was filed prior to his retirement and within 4 years of lodging of the first information report, enhanced the criminal proceedings are also not hit by the provisions of article 351A of the CSR.

20. Considering the aforesaid, this Court is of the considered view that the petitioner is not entitled for gratuity till the criminal proceedings are pending, but he is entitled to provisional pension and other post retiral dues for which there is no legal embargo.

21. In light of the above, subject to the observations made above, the writ petition is bereft of merits and is accordingly dismissed.

THE HON'BLE KARUNESH SINGH PAWAR, J.

Smt. Kiran Verma ...Petitioner
Versus
State of U.P. & Ors. ...Respondents

Counsel for the Petitioner:
Sri Deepak Kumar Verma, Smt. Akansha Verma

Counsel for the Respondents:
C.S.C.

A. Service Law – Maternity leave - Maternity Benefit Act, 1961 - Section 2, 3(e) r/w Section 2(1) - Fundamental Rules - Rule 153 - In view of the 3rd Proviso to Rule 153 of the Fundamental Rules, no maternity leave shall be admissible to a government servant until for the period of 2 years from the date of expiry of the last maternity leave granted under the Rules. (Para 7, 8, 10)

B. Applicability of Maternity Benefit Act, 1961 – Provisions of grant of maternity leave under the Maternity Benefit Act, 1961 are applicable to every establishment being a factory, mine or plantation including any such establishment belonging to Government and to every establishment wherein persons are employed for the exhibition or equestrian, acrobatic and other performances. It also applies to establishment within the meaning of any law for the time being in force in relation to shops and establishments in a State, in which ten or more person are employed, or were employed, on any day of the preceding twelve months. (Para 12)

It is not disputed that petitioner is a government servant and it is also not disputed that she is an employee of the State Government and the Fundamental Rules 153 applies for service of Government employees as also for the grant of maternity leave. Petitioner is not an employee under an establishment as defined in Section 3(e) of the Maternity Benefit Act, 1961, r/w Section 2(1), i.e., petitioner is not an employee in the department, mine or plantation in a establishment so as to exhibit of equestrian, acrobatic and other performance etc. Hence it is evident that petitioner is not an employee of establishment. (Para 14, 15)

Petitioner's second application for maternity leave (from 05.07.2022 to 31.12.2022) is within two years from the date of expiry of the first maternity leave (which was sanctioned till 27.12.2021) and in view of 3rd proviso to Rule 153 of the Fundamental Rules, the maternity leave could not be granted to the petitioner. (Para 11, 16)

Writ petition dismissed. (E-4)

Precedent followed:

1. Renu Chaudhary Vs State of U.P. & ors., 2022 (2) ADJ 14 (Para 15)

Present petition assails order dated 16.07.2022, passed by District Panchayat Raj Officer, Fatehpur.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Karunesh Singh Pawar, J.)

1. Heard learned counsel for the petitioner and learned Additional Chief Standing Counsel for respondents no. 1 to 3.

2. By means of this writ petition, the petitioner has prayed to quash the impugned order dated 16.07.2022 passed by respondent no.3 District Panchayat Raj Officer, Fatehpur by which the maternity leave of the petitioner has been rejected.

3. Further a writ of mandamus directing respondent no.2 Deputy Director (Panchayat) Prayagraj Division Prayagraj to sanction the maternity leave and pay salary in accordance with rule has also been prayed to be issued.

4. Admitted facts between the parties are as under:-

5. Petitioner was appointed on the post of Assistant District Panchayat Raj Officer (Pravi) on 18.06.2014. She joined in the month of June, 2014. After the marriage, she became pregnant and consequently she moved a representation before respondent no.2 praying for sanction of maternity leave from 01.07.2021 to 27.12.2021 which was sanctioned by order dated 30.06.2021. After one year, the petitioner again moved an application on 24.06.2022 for maternity leave for second issue before the respondent no.3 with a prayer to sanction maternity leave from 05.07.2022 to 31.12.2022 under the Maternity Benefit Act, 1961. The aforesaid application remained pending, however on a reminder dated 12.07.2022 given by the petitioner, impugned order dated 16.07.2022 has been passed, rejecting the maternity leave application given by the petitioner.

6. Learned counsel for the petitioner submits that in view of provisions of the Maternity Benefit Act, 1961, she is entitled for maternity leave. The provisions of the Act have been violated while rejecting her maternity leave. It is also submitted that the impugned order has been passed by non application of mind.

7. Sri Pramod Kumar Srivastava, learned Additional Chief Standing Counsel for the respondents submits that under the provisions of the Maternity Benefit Act, 1961, aforesaid benefit is not applicable in the case of the petitioner, who is government employee.

8. Second submission of the learned Additional Chief Standing Counsel is that in view of of the 3rd Proviso to Rule 153 of the Fundamental Rules, no maternity leave shall be admissible to the said employee until for the period of 2 years from the date of expiry of the last maternity leave granted under the Rules. He further submitted that first maternity leave lapsed on 21.12.2021 and therefore, the second application for maternity leave can be considered after expiry of two years from 27.12.2021, that is 27.12.2023, and not prior to that.

9. Rule 153 of the Fundamental Rules provides for grant of maternity leave to female government servant whether permanent or temporary provided that no such leave shall be admissible unless a period of 2 years have elapsed from the date of expiry of the last maternity leave granted under this rules.

10. Rule 153 of Financial Handbook is extracted as under:-

153. Maternity leave on full pay which a female Government servant, whether permanent or temporary, may be drawing on the date or proceeding on such leave may be granted to her by the head of the department or by a lower authority to whom power may be delegated to this behalf subject to the following:

(1) In cases of confinement the period of maternity leave may extend up to the end of three months from the date of the commencement of leave:

Provided that such leave shall not be granted for more than three times during entire service including temporary service;

Provided also that if any female Government servant has two or more living children. she shall not be granted maternity leave even though such leave may otherwise be admissible to her. If. However. either of the two living children of the female Government servant is Suffering from incurable disease or is disabled or crippled since birth or contracts some incurable disease or becomes disabled or crippled later, she may. as an exception. Be granted maternity leave till one more child is born to her subject to the overall restriction that maternity leave shall not be granted for more than three times during the entire service:

Provided further that no such leave shall be admissible until a period of at least two years has elapsed from the date of expiry of the last maternity leave granted under this rule.

(2) In cases of miscarriage. including abortion, the period of maternity leave may extend up to a total period of six weeks on each occasion, irrespective of the number of surviving children of the female Government servant concerned. provided that the application for leave is supported by a certificate from the Authorised Medical Atterndant.

11. It is not disputed between the parties that first maternity leave was sanctioned on 27.12.2021 and therefore, second maternity leave which was sought by the petitioner within two years, is not admissible under Rule 153.

12. So far as grant of maternity leave under the Maternity Benefit Act, 1961 is concerned, the same are applicable to every establishment being a factory, mine or plantation including any such establishment belonging to Government and to every establishment wherein persons are employed for the exhibition or equestrian, acrobatic and other performances. It also applies to establishment within the meaning of any law for the time being in force in relation to shops and establishments in a State, in which ten or more person are employed, or were employed, on any day of the preceding twelve months.

13. Section 2 of the Maternity Benefit Act, 1961 is extracted below

2. Application of Act.-[(1) It applies, in the first instance,

(a) to every establishment being a factory, mine or plantation including any such establishment belonging to Government and to every establishment wherein persons are employed for the exhibition of equestrian, acrobatic and other performance;

(b) to every shop or establishment within the meaning of any law for time being in force in relation to shops and establishment in a State in which ten or more persons are employed, or were employed, on any day of the preceding twelve months:

Provided that the State Government may, with the approval of the Central Government, after giving not less than two month's notice of its intention of so doing. by notification in the Official Gazette, declare that all or any of the provisions of this Act shall apply also to any other establishment or class of establishments, industrial, commercial, agricultural or otherwise.

(2) Save as otherwise provided in sections 5-A and 5-B, nothing contained in this Act shall apply to any factory or other establishment to which the provisions of the Employees' State Insurance Act, 1948 (34 of 1948), apply for the time being.

14. It is not disputed that petitioner is a government servant and it is also not disputed that she is an employee of the State Government and the Fundamental Rules 153 applies for service of Government employees as also for the grant of maternity leave. Petitioner is not an employee under an establishment as defined in Section 3 of sub-section (e) of the Maternity Benefit Act, 1961, read with Section 2 of sub-section (i).

15. Obviously, the petitioner is not an employee in the department, mine or plantation in a establishment so as to exhibit of equestrian, acrobatic and other performance etc. as provided under Act, 1961. Hence it is evident that petitioner is not an employee of establishment. This question has been considered and decided by this Court in Renu Chaudhary Versus State of U.P. and others 2022 (2) ADJ 14.

16. From the aforesaid, it is clear that second application for maternity leave of the petitioner is within two years from the date of expiry of the first maternity leave and in view of 3rd proviso to Rule 153 of the Fundamental Rules, the maternity leave could not be granted to the petitioner. The petitioner is a government employee and not an employee as provided in Section 3 (e) of the Maternity Benefit Act,1961 read with section 2 (1) thereof.

17. In view of the above, the writ petition is dismissed.

THE HON'BLE ASHUTOSH SRIVASTAVA, J.

Smt. Vimla Devi ...Petitioner
Versus
State of U.P. & Ors. ...Respondents

Counsel for the Petitioner:
Sri Rama Yadav, Sri Tripurari Pal

Counsel for the Respondents:
C.S.C.

A. Service Law – Compassionate Appointment - Pension – Dying in Harness Rules, 1974 - Civil Service Regulations and the U.P. Retirement Benefit Rules, 1961 - Rule 6, Rule 7 of part-III; The Hindu Marriage Act, 1956 - Sections 4, 5, 11 & 29 - U.P. Government Servant Conduct Rules, 1956 - Rule 29 - Mere nomination of a stranger, who is not a family member of the deceased employee is not be entitled to family person. (Para 28)

In the case of two wives, the nomination in favour of the second wife cannot defeat the claim of the legally wedded wife, only legally wedded wife is entitled to retrial benefits, provident fund and appointment under Dying-in-Harness Rules. (Para 24)

Civil Service Regulations and the U.P. Retirement Benefit Rules, 1961: Rule 7 - A bare perusal of the Rules, 1961, is indicative that the definition of "family' does not include the second wife, it only refers to 'wife', and family pension, as per Rule 7(1), is granted to the member of the 'family' of an officer. Sub-rule 3(e) of Rule 7 provides that pension is not payable to a person who is not a member of the deceased/officer's family. Sub-rule 4(a)(i) provides that pension shall be sanctioned under Part III to the eldest surviving widow and the note appended to the rule clarifies the expression "eldest surviving widow" should be construed with reference to the seniority according to the date of marriage with the officer and not with reference to the age of surviving widows. (Para 15)

The scheme of the Rules provide that in case the Government Servant leaves behind two wives, the second wife, not being a member of the family, is not eligible to family pension, as long as, the first wife survives. Further, there could not have been any nomination in favour of the second wife as she was ineligible to have been nominated under sub-rule (5), being not a member of the family of the employee, thus, ineligible to receive pension under sub- rule (3) of Rule 7. (Para 16)

In the present case, since the first wife is alive on the date on which the family pension became due, the second wife cannot set up a claim for family pension even on the consent of the first wife, further, nomination in favour of second wife would be invalid as she being not a member of the government servant's family. (Para 17)

The second wife does not fall within the definition of 'Family' and cannot be entitled to the terminal dues of the deceased Manoj Kumar. The petitioner cannot be a regarded as a family member of the deceased Manoj Kumar by virtue of her being the real sister of the first wife of Manoj Kumar. The petitioner cannot be entitled to compassionate appointment on the demise of Manoj Kumar in harness. (Para 28, 29)

B. Where the Government servant being a Hindu having two wives died while in service, the second marriage being void under the Hindu law, hence, the second wife having no status of widow is not entitled to anything, however, children from the second wife would equally share the benefits of gratuity and family pension as per law. (Para 25)

The Hindu Marriage Act, 1956: Ss. 11, 29 - As per the scheme of the Hindu Marriage Act, marriage between two Hindus solemnized before the commencement of the Hindu Marriage Act, which was otherwise legal and valid, would be saved u/s 29 of the Act and would not be void u/s 11. (Para 22)

U.P. Government Servant Conduct Rules, 1956: Rule 29 - Hindus cannot contract marriage after the enforcement of the Hindu Marriage Act, if any of them is having a living spouse, the marriage would be a nullity and would also not be protected under the Conduct Rules, as well as, the pension rules, therefore, it follows that the "second wife" as referred to under the Rules, 1961 would only include second wife whose marriage was otherwise permissible under the personal law or law prevalent at the time of marriage, but in the case of Hindus the second wife will have no right, whatsoever, as the law prohibits second marriage, as long as, the government servant has a spouse who is alive. Thus for harmonious construction of the Rules governing pension, wherever, the rule provides for ''wives', it has to be interpreted as per the law governing marriage as applicable to the government servant and in cases where the second marriage is void under the law, second wife will have no status of a widow of the government servant. In the present case, admittedly the second marriage is stated to have been contracted after enforcement of the Hindu Marriage Act, therefore, the marriage is void. The petitioner would have no right in law to claim family pension, nor can she claim the status of widow of the deceased employee. (Para 26, 27)

C. Recovery of the amount of terminal dues and family pension already disbursed to the petitioner - There is no allegation that the amount received towards the terminal dues of late Manoj Kumar and the family pension has been usurped/misappropriated by the petitioner. In such circumstances, the Court is of the opinion that the amount already disbursed to the petitioner shall not be recovered from her. Petitioner has been looking after her elder sister Smt. Pushpa Devi the lawfully wedded wife of deceased Manoj Kumar as also the children begotten from the marriage of Pushpa Devi and Manoj Kumar. However, in future the family pension shall be drawn up in the name of Smt. Pushpa Devi, the legally wedded wife of deceased and the dependent children as per law instead of the petitioner. (Para 30)

D. Words and Phrases – 'void' - The appellation 'void' in relation to a juristic act, means without legal force, effect or consequence; not binding; invalid; null; worthless; cipher; useless; and ineffectual etc. (Para 23)

Writ petition is partly allowed. The impugned order dated 25.03.2022 and the consequential order dated 29.03.2022, so far as they direct for stoppage of family pension and recovery against the petitioner are set aside. The order dated 25.03.2022, is modified to the extent that the family pension shall now be drawn in the name of Smt. Pushpa Devi. (Para 31) (E-4)

Precedent followed:

1. Nutan Kumar Vs IInd A.D.J., Banda & ors., AIR 1994 Alld. 298 (Para 23)

2. Shakuntala Devi (Smt.) Vs Executive Engineer, Electricity Transmission Ist U.P. Electricity Board, Allahabad & anr., 2001 (1) UPLBEC 869 (Para 24)

3. Rameshwari Devi Vs St. of Bihar & ors., 2000 (1) ESC 577 (SC) (Para 25)

Present petition assails order dated 25.03.2022, passed by District Basic Education Officer, Kaushambi and also order dated 29.03.2022, passed by Finance & Account Officer, Basic Education, Kaushambi.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Ashutosh Srivastava, J.)

1. Heard Sri Tripurari Pal, learned counsel for the petitioner and learned Standing Counsel for the State-Respondents.

2. Considering the nature of the order that is proposed to be passed the notice upon the Respondent No.5 is being dispensed with.

3. The writ petition has been filed assailing the order dated 25.03.2022 passed by the Respondent No.3, District Basic Education Officer, Kaushambi, whereby and whereunder a direction has been issued to the Respondent No.4, the Finance & Account Officer, Basic Education District Kaushambi, to stop the payment of family pension to the petitioner and calculate the payment of Fund, Group Insurance and other benefits already paid for its recovery from the petitioner as also the consequential order dated 29.03.2022 passed by the Respondent No.4, Finance & Account Officer, Basic Education, Kaushambi, whereby the payment of the family pension has been stopped.

4. Learned counsel for the petitioner submits that in view of the admitted facts as set out in the writ petition and in the impugned order the writ petition may be decided on merits. Learned Standing

Counsel does not dispute the above proposition, accordingly the Court proceeds to decide the writ petition at the admission stage without calling for a counter affidavit.

5. The facts shorn of necessary details necessary for the adjudication of the controversy involved in the instant writ petition briefly stated are that the writ petitioner claims to be the second wife of late Manoj Kumar, who was working as Assistant Teacher in Janta Junior High School, Faridpur (Audhan) Newada District Kaushambi, The institution is an aided institution run by a private management. The said Manoj Kumar is stated to have died-in-harness on 29.09.2017 leaving behind his wife Smt. Pushpa Devi, two daughters and two sons as well as old age parents. It is the admitted case of the petitioner that the first wife of the late Manoj Kumar namely Smt. Pushpa Devi is insane since last more than 17 years and the petitioner who happens to be the real younger sister of Smt. Pushpa Devi was got married to the said Manoj Kumar by the father of the petitioner who is stated to have consented to the marriage. It is also the case of the petitioner that in the service book of late Manoj Kumar the name of the petitioner and four children have been mentioned as nominee and after the death of Manoj Kumar the family pension was being paid to the petitioner since July, 2019. It is also the case of the petitioner that she is well educated with qualification of M.A. and B. Ed. to her credit and has also qualified TET Examination. The petitioner is stated to have claimed compassionate appointment on the death of Manoj Kumar the deceased Assistant Teacher under the Dying-in-Harness Rules 1974, as a dependent of the said Manoj Kumar. When no orders were being passed on the said application the petitioner is stated to have approached this Court by means of Writ (A) No.3854 of 2021 (Smt. Vimla Devi Vs. State of U.P. & others) which writ petition was disposed of vide order dated 21.06.2021 with a direction to the District Basic Education Officer, Kaushambi to consider the claim of the petitioner and take a decision thereon within four months. The Respondent No.3, the District Basic Education Officer, Kaushambi in compliance of the order dated 21.06.2021 passed in Writ (A) No.3854 of 2021 has passed the impugned order dated 25.03.2022 directing the stoppage of the payment of family pension to the petitioner and also directed for the recovery of the amount paid by way of Fund, Group Insurance and other benefits. The Respondent No.4, the Finance & Account Officer, Kaushambi, has proceed to pass the consequential order dated 29.03.2022. Both the orders dated 25.03.2022 and 29.03.2022 are under challenge in the writ petition.

6. Learned counsel for the petitioner has assailed the impugned orders principally on the following grounds:-

The impugned orders are ex-facie illegal and against the law in as much as the Respondent No.3, the District Basic Education Officer, Kaushambi, travelled beyond the direction of this Court in Writ (A) No.3854 of 2021. The Respondent No.3 was required to consider the claim of compassionate appointment of the petitioner instead he proceeded to decide the matter regarding payment of family pension

The Respondent No.3 has nowhere discussed the claim of the petitioner regrading the compassionate appointment and as such the impugned orders cannot be sustained.

The petitioner is the second wife of late Manoj Kumar and the real younger sister of the first wife. He first wife is insane since last more than 17 years and her marriage has been performed with Manoj Kumar with her consent and she is looking after the children of late Manoj Kumar and her name is entered in the service book of late Manoj Kumar. No objection was ever raised in that regard.

7. It is thus submitted that the impugned orders are liable to be set aside. The payment of family pension is liable to be resumed and her claim for compassionate appointment is liable to be considered.

8. Learned Standing Counsel in opposition to the writ petition submits that the District Basic Education Officer, Kaushambi, while passing the impugned order has considered all aspects of the matter and even got an inspection done through the Tehsildar, Chail, who recorded the statements of the family members of the deceased Manoj Kumar and concluded that late Manoj Kumar never entered into any marriage with the petitioner even though she is stated to have taken care and brought up the children of her sister Smt. Pushpa Devi, the wife of late Manoj Kumar. The conclusion so arrived at by the District Basic Education Officer cannot be faulted as the petitioner is not the legally wedded wife of the deceased and cannot be entitled to the terminal dues and family pension. It is, accordingly, prayed that the writ petition is liable to be dismissed.

9. Heard learned Counsel for the petitioner as also the learned Standing Counsel for the State-Respondents and perused the record.

10. The moot question for consideration can be enumerated as under:-

(1) Whether on the admitted facts, the petitioner who claims herself to be the second wife of the deceased Manoj Kumar even during the subsistence of the marriage and the first wife being alive is entitled to the terminal dues and family pension?

(2) Whether the amount already paid to the petitioner by way of the terminal dues of late Manoj Kumar and the family pension consequent to the death of Manoj Kumar is liable to be recovered from the petitioner?

(3) Whether the petitioner can claim compassionate appointment consequent to the death of Manoj Kumar as his second wife during the life time of the first wife and subsistence of the first marriage?

(4) Whether the impugned order can be sustained on the admitted facts?

11. The facts, inter-se parties are not in dispute. The family pension is governed by the provisions of the Civil Service Regulations and the U.P. Retirement Benefit Rules, 1961. "Family" is defined under sub Rule (3) of Rule 3, which reads as under:-

"(3) "Family" means the following relatives of an officer:

(i) wife, in the case of any male officer;

(ii) husband, in the case of a female officer;

(iii) sons (including step-children and adopted children)

(iv) unmarried and widowed daughters. (Including step-children and adopted children)

(v) brothers below the age of 18 years and unmarried and widowed sisters (including step-brothers and step-sisters);

(vi) father;

(vii) mother;

(viii) married daughters (including step-daughters), and

(iv) children of a pre-deceased son"

12. Rule 6 provides for nomination of one or more persons the right to receive any gratuity that may be sanctioned. The proviso clarifies that at the time of making nomination if the officer has a family, the nomination shall not be in favour of any person other than one or more members of the family. Rule 6 is extracted:

"6. Nomination. – (1) A Government Servant shall, as soon as he acquires or if he already holds a lien on a permanent pensionable right to receive any grauity that may be sanctioned under sub-rule (2) or sub-rule (3) of rule 5 and gratuity which after becoming admissible to him under sub-rule (1) of that rule is not paid to him before death :

Provided that if at the time of marking the Nomination the officer has a family, the nomination shall not be in favour of any person other than one or more of the members of the family."

13. Rule 7 of Part-III of the Rules provides that family pension may be granted to the family of the officer who dies, whether after retirement or while still in service after completion of not less than twenty years' qualifying service. Sub-Rule (4) of Rule 7 provides who shall be entitled to receive pension in the event the deceased employee had two wives. Sub-rule (4) is extracted:

(4) "Except as may be provided by a nomination under sub-rule (5) below:

(a) a pension sanctioned under this Part shall be granted—

(i) to the eldest surviving widow, if the deceased was a male officer or to the husband, if the deceased was a female officer;

(ii) failing the widow or husband, as the case may be, to the eldest surviving son;

(iii) failing (i) and (ii) above, to the eldest surviving unmarried daughter;

(iv) these failing, to the eldest widowed daughter; and

(b) in the event of the pension not becoming payable under clause (a) the pension may be granted—

(i) to the father;

(ii) failing the father, to the mother;

(iii) failing the father and mother both, to the eldest surviving brother below the age of 18;

(iv) these failing, to the eldest surviving unmarried sister;

(v) these failing (i) to (iv) above, to the children of a predeceased son in the order it is payable to the children of the deceased officer under clause (a) (ii), (iii) and (iv), above.

Note.—The expression "eldest surviving widow" occurring in clause (a) (i) above, should be construed with reference to the seniority according to the date of marriage with the officer and not with reference to the age of surviving widows."*

14. Claim of the petitioner towards family pension can be considered provided she falls within the scope and ambit of the definition "family' as defined in Rules, 1961.

15. A bare perusal of the Rules, 1961, is indicative that the definition of "family' does not include the second wife, it only refers to 'wife', and family pension, as per Rule 7(1), is granted to the member of the 'family' of an officer. Sub-rule 3(e) of Rule

7 provides that pension is not payable to a person who is not a member of the deceased/officer's family. Sub-rule 4(a)(i) provides that pension shall be sanctioned under Part III to the eldest surviving widow and the note appended to the rule clarifies the expression "eldest surviving widow" should be construed with reference to the seniority according to the date of marriage with the officer and not with reference to the age of surviving widows.

16. Sub-rule (5) requires the Government Servant to make nomination indicating the order in which pension sanctioned would be payable to the members of his 'family', provided the nominee is not ineligible, on the date on which the pension may become payable to him or her to receive the pension under the provisions of sub-rule (3) of rule 7. Thus, the scheme of the Rules provide that in case the Government Servant leaves behind two wives, the second wife, not being a member of the family, is not eligible to family pension, as long as, the first wife survives. Further, there could not have been any nomination in favour of the second wife as she was ineligible to have been nominated under sub-rule (5), being not a member of the family of the employee, thus, ineligible to receive pension under sub- rule (3) of Rule 7.

17. Taking a case that there was nomination in favour of the second wife, the family pension would have been payable in accordance to such nomination provided the nominee is not ineligible, on the date on which the family pension became payable to her under sub-rule (3) of Rule 7. In the facts of the present case, since the first wife is alive on the date on which the family pension became due, the second wife cannot set up a claim for family pension even on the consent of the first wife, further, nomination in favour of second wife would be invalid as she being not a member of the government servants family [sub-rule (3)(e) of Rule 7].

18. The Hindu Marriage Act, 1956 came into force on 18 May 1955, the Act amended and codified the law relating to marriage among Hindus. Section 4 provides that the Act has an overriding effect. Section 4 is extracted:

"4. Overriding effect of Act.-Save as otherwise expressly provided in this Act.-

(a) any text rule or interpretation of Hindu law or any custom or usage as part of that law in force immediately before the commencement of this Act shall cease to have effect with respect to any matter for which provision is made in this Act;

(b) any other law in force immediately before the commencement of this Act shall cease to have effect in so far as it is inconsistent with any of the provisions contained in this Act."

19. Section 5 provides the the conditions for Hindu marriage between two Hindus and one of the condition provides that neither party should have a spouse living at the time of marriage. Section 5(i) is reproduced:-

"5. Conditions for a Hindu marriage.- A marriage may be solemnized between any two Hindus, if the following conditions are fulfilled, namely:-

(i) neither party has a spouse living at the time of marriage;"

20. Section 11 provides for void marriages. Section 11 reads thus:

"11. Void Marriages.- Any marriage solemnized after the commencement of this Act shall be null and void and may, on a petition presented by either party thereto [against the other party], be so declared by a decree of nullity if it contravenes any one of the conditions specified in clauses (i), (iv) and (v) of section 5."

21. Section 29 of the Hindu Marriage Act saves the marriages performed between Hindus before the commencement of the Act. Section 29(1) is reproduced:-

"29. Savings.-(1) A marriage solemnized between Hindus before the commencement of this Act, which is otherwise valid, shall not be deemed to be invalid or ever to have been invalid by reason only of the fact that the parties thereto belonged to the same gotra or pravara or belonged to different religions, castes or sub-divisions of the same caste."

22. Thus as per the scheme of the Hindu Marriage Act, marriage between two Hindus solemnized before the commencement of the Hindu Marriage Act, which was otherwise legal and valid, would be saved under Section 29 of the Act and would not be void under Section 11. The marriage as per the case of the petitioner between the deceased employee Manoj Kumar and the petitioner came to be solemnized after the enactment of the Hindu Marriage Act. The employee contracted the second marriage with the petitioner after the commencement of the Hindu Marriage Act, the marriage, therefore, is void and a nullity in the eye of law, petitioner would have no right of being a legally wedded wife.

23. In a Full Bench decision of this Court in the case of Nutan Kumar versus IInd Additional District Judge, Banda and others; (AIR 1994 Alld 298) in paragraph 8 of the majority judgement, the Court has observed as under:

"The appellation 'void' in relation to a juristic act, means without legal force, effect or consequence; not binding; invalid; null; worthless; cipher; useless; and ineffectual etc."

24. This Court in Shakuntala Devi (Smt.) Versus Executive Engineer, Electricity Transmission Ist U.P. Electricity Board, Allahabad and another, [2001(1) UPLBEC 869] while dealing with two wives wherein the nomination was in favour of the second wife it was held that it cannot defeat the claim of the legally wedded wife, only legally wedded wife is entitled to retiral benefits, provident fund and appointment under Dying-in-Harness Rules.

25. In Rameshwari Devi Versus State of Bihar and others, [2000(1) ESC 577 (SC)] where the Government servant being a Hindu having two wives died while in service, Supreme Court held that the second marriage was void under the Hindu law, hence, the second wife having no status of widow is not entitled to anything, however, children from the second wife would equally share the benefits of gratuity and family pension as per law.

26. Further, the U.P. Government Servant Conduct Rules, 1956, which came into force on 28th July, 1956, Rule 29 prohibits a Government Servant from bigamous marriage. Rule 29 reads thus:

"29. Bigamous marriages-(1) No Government servant who has a wife living shall contract another marriage without first obtaining the permission of the Government, notwithstanding that such subsequent marriage is permissible under the personal law for the time being applicable to him."

27. Thus, Hindus cannot contract marriage after the enforcement of the Hindu Marriage Act, if any of them is having a living spouse, the marriage would be a nullity and would also not be protected under the Conduct Rules, as well as, the pension rules, therefore, it follows that the "second wife" as referred to under the Rules, 1961 would only include second wife whose marriage was otherwise permissible under the personal law or law prevalent at the time of marriage, but in the case of Hindus the second wife will have no right, whatsoever, as the law prohibits second marriage, as long as, the government servant has a spouse who is alive. Thus for harmonious construction of the Rules governing pension, wherever, the rule provides for "wives', it has to be interpreted as per the law governing marriage as applicable to the government servant and in cases where the second marriage is void under the law, second wife will have no status of a widow of the government servant. In the facts of the case in hand admittedly the second marriage is stated to have been contracted after enforcement of the Hindu Marriage Act, therefore, the marriage is void. The petitioner would have no right in law to claim family pension, nor can she claim the status of widow of the deceased employee.

28. Having regard to the facts and circumstances brought on record it is not in dispute that the petitioner claims to be the second wife of the deceased Manoj Kumar though the impugned order dated 25.03.2022 of the Basic Education Officer records that no formal marriage took place between Manoj Kumar and the petitioner as per the report of the Naib Tehsildar, Chail, Kaushambi. In any case even if it is assumed that the petitioner did enter into a marriage with the deceased Manoj Kumar the second marriage cannot have any sanctity in law and is void as the first wife is very much alive and no divorce has taken place. The second wife does not fall within the definition of Family and cannot be entitled to the terminal dues of the deceased Manoj Kumar. The petitioner cannot be a regarded as a family member of the deceased Manoj Kumar by virtue of her being the real sister of the first wife of Manoj Kumar. Mere nomination of a stranger, who is not a family member of the deceased employee is not be entitled to family person.

29. Likewise, the petitioner cannot be entitled to compassionate appointment on the demise of Manoj Kumar in harness. The claim of the petitioner for compassionate appointment is thus not tenable in law and does not merit consideration for the reasons stated herein before. Besides the Court on the perusal of the pleadings in the writ petition finds that though grounds and pleadings have been set up with regard to compassionate appointment but no relief in that regard has been claimed by the petitioner and the relief has been confined to quashing of the impugned orders and grant of family pension.

30. Now coming to the question as to whether the respondents are entitled to the recovery of the amount of terminal dues and family pension already disbursed to the petitioner as per the impugned orders. In this regard the Court finds that the petitioner has been looking after her elder sister Smt. Pushpa Devi the lawfully wedded wife of deceased Manoj Kumar as also the children begotten from the marriage of Pushpa Devi and Manoj Kumar. The marriage of the elder daughter namely Jigyasa has also been solemnized by the petitioner. There is is no allegation that the amount received towards the terminal dues of late Manoj Kumar and the family pension has been usurped/misappropriated by the petitioner. In such circumstances, the Court is of the opinion that the amount already disbursed to the petitioner shall not be recovered from her. However, in future the family pension shall be drawn up in the name of Smt. Pushpa Devi, the legally wedded wife of late Manoj Kumar and the dependent children as per law instead of the petitioner.

31. In view of the above, the writ petition is partly allowed. The impugned order dated 25.03.2022 passed by the District Basic Education Officer, Kaushambi and the consequential order dated 29.03.2022 passed by the Finance and Accounts Officer, Basic Education, Kaushambi, so far as they direct for stoppage of family pension and recovery against the petitioner are set aside. The order dated 25.03.2022 passed by the District Basic Education Officer, Kaushambi, is modified to the extent that the family pension shall now be drawn in the name of Smt. Pushpa Devi, the legally wedded wife of late Manoj Kumar and the dependent children and the same shall be released month to month as and when the same falls due. Necessary orders to the above effect shall be passed by the District Basic Education Officer, Kaushambi, within three weeks of receipt of the certified copy of this order.

32. It is clarified that the amount already disbursed to the petitioner shall not be recovered.

A. Service Law – Compassionate Appointment – Dying-in-Harness Rules, 1974 - Rule 2(C)(iii); Employees Service Regulations, 1980 - Rule 104 - U.P. Cooperative Societies Employees Service Regulations, 1975 - Regulation 104(5) - The Rule of Compassionate Appointment for dependents of deceased Government Employee Dying-in-Harness has been carved out as an exception of the general rule of equal opportunity in employment u/Article 16 of the Constitution. The reason for carving out for such exception is to save a dependent of a deceased employee from destitution and penurious conditions. (Para 11)

The petitioner's case has not been rejected on the ground of failure of the petitioner to prove her dependence on her dead mother. The Respondents have not said that the petitioner is not a deserted woman left to fend for herself and her two children and that she was not living with her mother at the time of her death. The rejection of the petitioner's case has never been on the merits of the case of the petitioner for seeking compassionate appointment because of the indigent circumstances, she was facing. The Respondents have always relied upon the technical grounds to defeat the claim of the petitioner. Every time such order has been passed rejecting the claim of the petitioner on technical ground, this Court has intervened in extraordinary jurisdiction u/Article 226 of the Constitution and rejected the grounds taken by the respondents. The petitioner has been forced to face repeated litigation for no fault on her part. The petitioner was not responsible for the financial condition of PCF, therefore, in case, the PCF has suffered financial loses since the time of the death of the petitioner's late mother, it cannot be said that the petitioner should be deprived of her legitimate right to be adjusted as a Class-IV employee in the establishment of the Respondents. (Para 11)

The order dated 12.03.2021 is set aside. This writ petition is disposed of with a direction to the respondents to consider the claim of the petitioner for appointment on compassionate grounds and pass appropriate orders thereon. (Para 12, 13)

Present petition assails order dated 12.03.2021 received alongwith covering letter dated 17.08.2021, passed by Uttar Pradesh Cooperative Federation Limited (PCF), Lucknow.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Mrs. Sangeeta Chandra, J.)

(Oral)

1. Heard learned counsel for the petitioner and Sri Arun K. Singh Deshwal, learned counsel for the respondents no. 2 and 3.

2. This petition has been filed by the petitioner challenging the Order dated 12.03.2021 received alongwith covering letter dated 17.08.2021 passed by the Respondent No.2 and praying for a Mandamus to be issued to the respondent No. 2 and 3 to appoint the petitioner on compassionate ground within a stipulated time period.

3. It is the case of the petitioner that the mother of the petitioner Smt. Shakuntala Devi was working as a Sweeper with the Respondent No.2 & 3 and she died in harness on 14.01.2006 leaving behind her husband, who expired on 28.05.2015 and her three daughters, Smt. Baby i.e. the petitioner, Smt Neelam W/o Moolchand and Smt. Sunita W/o Pradeep, who also died on 22.01.2010. After the death of Smt. Shakuntala her brother's son Sri Anil Kumar produced a bogus Adoption Deed dated 18.11.1996 and tried to get compassionate appointment on the basis of such Adoption Deed. The petitioner challenged the said Adoption Deed by filing Original Suit No. 352 of 2012, which was allowed on 20.03.2014, by declaring the Adoption Deed as void. The order passed by the trial court was not challenged in any Appeal and it attained finality. After judgement and decree dated 20.03.2014, the petitioner moved an application on 05.06.2014 before the Senior Regional Manager on PCF, Agra for appointment on compassionate ground, such application was forwarded to the Respondent No.4. Although in the application made by the petitioner, she had clearly stated that she was living with her mother as her husband had deserted her and she had one son and one daughter to take care of, her application was rejected on 20.10.2015 on the ground that she is a married daughter and married daughter does not come within the list of dependents/family members as per the 1975 Regulations governing Cooperative Societies.

The petitioner challenged the order dated 20.10.2015 in Writ Petition, namely, Writ-A No. 1446 of 2016, 'Smt. Baby vs. State of U.P. and Others, which was disposed of by this Court on 20.01.2016 by making observations that in view of the ratio laid down by the Division Bench of this Court in Writ Petition No. 60881 of 2015, "Smt. Vimla Srivastava vs. State of U.P. decided on 04.12.2015, the respondents should reconsider the application of the petitioner. The order dated 20.10.2015 was set aside.

In Writ-C No. 60881 of 2016, Smt. Vimla Srivastava (Supra) a Division Bench of this Court had held that the claim of the writ petitioner for compassionate appointment cannot be rejected on the ground that the definition of family in Rule 2(C) of the Dying-in-Harness Rules, 1974 does not contain the expression "married daughter'. The Court held the exclution of married daughters from the Rules as illegal and unconstitutional being violation of Article 14 and 15 of the Constitution of India. The Court struck down the word "unmarried' in Rule 2(C) (iii) of the Dying-in-Harness Rules, 1974.

The case of the petitioner was considered by the Respondents again, but it was rejected on 20.05.2016, on the ground that the application that made by the petitioner for compassionate appointment on 07.06.2014 was beyond the time limit fixed in the Government Order No. 06/12/73-Ka/93 dated 16.04.1993 which provided for an appointment on compassionate grounds to be given within five years of the death of the deceased employee.

The petitioner challenged the Order dated 20.05.2016 in Writ-A No. 31054 of 2016 which Writ Petition was allowed and the order dated 20.05.2016 was quashed by referring to the observations made by the Full Bench of this Court in Shiv Kumar Dubey Vs. State of U.P. and Others (2014) 2 ADJ 312 , where the Full Bench had held that Rule 5 mandates that ordinarily, an application for compassionate appointment must be made within five years of the death of the deceased employee. The power conferred by the first proviso is a discretion to relax the period in case of undue hardship and for dealing with the case in a just and equitable manner. Although there is no general right which can be claimed by the dependent of the deceased employee for compassionate appointment, in case a member of the family/dependent is a minor at the time of the death of the Government Servant or there are any other genuine reasons which caused the delay in approaching the employers, the reasons and justifications of such delay shall be considered by the employer and the power to relax can be exercised in favour of a dependent of a deceased employee, if sufficient reasons to the satisfaction of the employer can be shown by the dependent claiming compassionate appointment. The Court while allowing Writ-A No. 31054 of 2016 and set aside the order dated 20.05.2016, observed that in case the family of the deceased is living in a financial destitution and penurious conditions, the application can be considered subject to evidence led by the applicant that the family is still living in indigent circumstances.

4. After the order passed by this Court on 11.08.2016, the petitioner made a representation detailing all circumstances for delay caused in approaching the employer i.e. the Respondents No. 2 and 3 in application for compassionate appointment. Such application of the petitioner was rejected by order dated 23.11.2016 by the Managing Director, Uttar Pradesh Cooperative Federation Limited (PCF) on the ground that under the Employees Service Regulations of 1980, Rule 104 provided the definition of family which still excluded "married daughter', and the petitioner challenged such order in another Writ Petition, namely, Writ-C No. 1475 of 2017, where a Division Bench of this Court allowed the Writ Petition on 30.10.2019 setting aside the order dated 23.11.2016 and also declaring Rule 104 (5) of the Employees Service Rules, 1980 as ultra-virus to the extent it excludes "married daughter' from the definition of "family'. The respondents were directed to reconsider the claim of the petitioner for compassionate appointment.

When the order passed by this Court dated 30.10.2019 was not complied with the petitioner was forced to file a Contempt Application (Civil) No. 1476 of 2021, the Court disposed of the Contempt Application with liberty to the petitioner to move a fresh application before the respondent, who shall decide the same within two months from the date of production of copy of the order before the authority concerned.

5. The petitioner moved a representation in compliance of the Order passed by this Court in Contempt Petition before the Respondents, which has been rejected by the impugned Order dated 12.03.2021 with the observations that the respondent is a Apex Level Cooperative Society/Federation which has to bear the cost of salary and allowances of its employees from its own resources and under the U.P. Cooperative Societies Act, 1965, no establishment cost/subsidy or grant is made available by the Government of U.P. or any other Authority for the Federation to give salary to its employees. It is suffering financially since long and has to take loans from banks to meet its expenses. In the Balance Sheet of the year 2019-2020, a total of Rs. 489 Crores were shown as accumulated losses. Under the U.P. Cooperative Societies Employees Service Regulations, 1975, the Federation is incapable of bearing the financial costs of even its existing employees and that the Federation has not engaged any dependent of deceased employee on compassionate ground since 2018. As and when, the financial status of the Federation improves the case of the petitioner for grant of compassionate appointment shall be considered.

6. The petitioner has challenged the order passed by the Respondents rejecting her application now on the ground of lack of financial resources by saying that at least till 2018, the Federation was making appointment of dependent of deceased employee on compassionate ground. The petitioner's claims was filed initially in June, 2014. It could not have been rejected as her right crystallized in 2014 itself. Had the respondents considered the application for compassionate appointment in the right perspective when it was initially filed in 2014, she would have been granted compassionate appointment, as it is the own case of the respondents that they continued to give compassionate appointments to dependents of deceased employees till 2018. The petitioner has been forced to approach this Court thrice in Writ Petitions earlier and once in Contempt jurisdiction only because of intransigence of the Respondents.

7. Sri Arun Kumar Singh Deshwal, on the basis of his counter affidavit, has submitted that the application of the petitioner for compassionate appointment was made on 05.06.2014 much after five years limitation period prescribed for the same. The petitioner was a married daughter and did not come within the definition of dependent of the deceased employee as per the Regulation 104 (5) of the U.P. Cooperative Societies Employees Service Regulations,1975, therefore, her claim was rejected earlier.

8. It has further been submitted that no objection certificate given by Smt. Neelam, the elder sister of the petitioner is not on a notarized stamp paper, and therefore, it cannot be looked into. The gratuity of Late Shakuntala Devi has been sanctioned by an order dated 02.12.2006 which was communicated by letter dated 07.02.2007 of the General Manager (Administration), PCF to the legal heirs of Late Shakuntala Devi through the District Manager, PCF, Agra with the requirement that such legal heir should submit the Death Certificate, Succession Certificate, No Objection Certificate of other legal heirs, and complete all formalities, but the petitioner has not completed any formalities, and therefore, gratuity of Late Shakuntala Devi has also not been released.

9. It has further been submitted that the claim of the petitioner for compassionate appointment was rightly rejected as Regulation 104 (5) of U. P. Cooperative Societies Employees Service Regulations, 1975 did not include "married daughter' in the definition of family initially. Also the financial condition of PCF is very poor. It has suffered loss of more than Rs.488 Crores in the financial year 2020-2021, therefore, no appointment on compassionate ground can be made and in fact has not been made since 2018. The financial condition of PCF is so poor that even arrangement for salaries of its officers and employees has become very difficult, and therefore, the benefit of the Seventh Pay Commission has not been given to the employees of the PCF. As soon as the PCF's financial conditions improves the petitioner's case shall be considered for appointment on compassionate ground.

10. This Court having heard the learned counsel for the parties finds that the respondents have not disputed the candidature of the petitioner on the ground that there is a dispute amongst the legal heirs/dependents of Late Shakuntala Devi. The case of the petitioner was initially rejected on the ground that she was a married daughter. When this Court allowed her writ petition and directed the respondents to consider her case in the light of judgement rendered in Smt. Vimla Srivastava (Supra), the respondents rejected the claim of the petitioner on the ground of being delayed. The petitioner approached this Court and this court clarified that there was no delay in approaching the respondents and even if there was delay it had been sufficiently explained. Again, when her case was considered, it was rejected on the ground that under the Employees Service Regulation of 1975, married daughter was excluded from the definition of family under Rule 104 (5). The petitioner was forced to approach this Court again by filing a writ petition, which writ petition was again allowed by a Division Bench quashing Rule 104 (5), insofar as, it excluded married daughter within the definition of family/dependents. The petitioner's case was not being considered, therefore, she filed a Contempt Petition and the Contempt Petition was disposed of with the direction to the respondents to consider the case of the petitioner afresh in the light of the judgement of this Court in earlier Writ Petitions filed by the petitioner. Now, a new ground has been raised by the Respondents saying that they do not have the financial capacity to engage a Class-IV employee or to give salary to a Sweeper. The petitioner is only asking to be adjusted/appointed on compassionate ground as a Sweeper, it is not the case of Respondents that they have not made any fresh appointments, or that they have not been making any fresh appointment after the PCF started running into loss.

11. This Court finds from a perusal of the judgements passed earlier in the case of the petitioner by this Court that the petitioner has been unduly harassed by the respondents for one reason or the other. Now a fresh ground is being raised that the PCF does not have financial capacity to engage the petitioner as Sweeper on compassionate ground. No doubt, the PCF may be suffering from financial loss and no doubt appointment on compassionate ground cannot be claimed as a reservation or as an indefeasible right by a dependent of a deceased employee. However, the law as settled by the Hon'ble Supreme Court and by a Full Bench of this Court clearly provides that the Rule of Compassionate Appointment for dependents of deceased Government Employee Dyingin-Harness has been carved out as an exception of the general rule of equal opportunity in employment under Article 16 of the Constitution. The reason for carving out for such exception is to save a dependent of a deceased employee from destitution and penurious conditions. The petitioner's case has not been rejected on the ground of failure of the petitioner to prove her dependence on her dead mother. The Respondents have not said that the petitioner is not a deserted woman left to fend for herself and her two children and that she was not living with her mother at the time of her death. The rejection of the petitioner's case has never been on the merits of the case of the petitioner for seeking compassionate appointment because of the indigent circumstances, she was facing. The Respondents have always relied upon the technical grounds to defeat the claim of the petitioner. Every time such order has been passed rejecting the claim of the petitioner on technical ground, this Court has intervened in extraordinary jurisdiction under Article 226 of the Constitution and rejected the grounds taken by the respondents. The petitioner has been forced to face repeated litigation for no fault on her part. The petitioner was not responsible for the financial condition of PCF, therefore, in case, the PCF has suffered financial loses since the time of the death of the petitioner's late mother, it cannot be said that the petitioner should be deprived of her legitimate right to be adjusted as a Class-IV employee in the establishment of the Respondents.

11. The order dated 12.03.2021 is set aside,

12. This writ petition is disposed of with a direction to the respondents to consider the claim of the petitioner for appointment on compassionate grounds and pass appropriate orders thereon, keeping in mind the observations made herein above within a period of six weeks from the date of copy of this order is produced before them.

A. Service Law – Dismissal – Punishment - U.P. Police Officers of Subordinate Rank (Punishment and Appeal) Rules, 1991 - Rule 14(1) – No violation of rules of natural justice – All 3 delinquent constables have been sent the copy of the charge-sheet to which they (2 petitioners herein) have submitted their reply/explanation which has been considered in inquiry. Even after notifying the date of examination of witnesses the delinquent constables did not appear which implies that they intentionally did not participate in the proceedings. (Para 13)

B. Scope of Judicial Review - The Constitutional Court while exercising its jurisdiction of judicial review U/Article 226 or Article 136 of the Constitution would not interfere with the findings of fact arrived at in the departmental enquiry proceedings except in a case of malafides or perversity, i.e., where there is no evidence to support a finding or where a finding is such that no man acting reasonably and with objectivity could have arrived at that findings and so long as there is some evidence to support the conclusion arrived at by the departmental authority, the same has to be sustained. (Para 12)

It is true that strict Rules of evidence are not applicable to departmental enquiry proceedings. However, the only requirement of law is that the allegation against the delinquent must be established by such evidence acting upon which a reasonable person acting reasonably and with objectivity may arrive at a finding upholding the gravity of the charge against the delinquent employee. It is true that mere conjecture or surmises cannot sustain the finding of guilt even in the departmental enquiry proceedings. (Para 12)

It is settled that the power of judicial review, of the Constitutional Courts, is an evaluation of the decision-making process and not the merits of the decision itself. It is to ensure fairness in treatment and not to ensure fairness of conclusion. The Court/Tribunal may interfere in the proceedings held against the delinquent if it is, in any manner, inconsistent with the Rules of natural justice or in violation of the statutory Rules prescribing the mode of enquiry or where the conclusion or finding reached by the disciplinary authority if based on no evidence. If the conclusion or finding be such as no reasonable person would have ever reached or where the conclusions upon consideration of the evidence reached by the disciplinary authority is perverse or suffers from patent error on the face of record or based on no evidence at all, a writ of certiorari could be issued. To sum up, the scope of judicial review cannot be extended to the examination of correctness or reasonableness of a decision of authority as a matter of fact. (Para 12)

C. Proportionality of punishment – Delinquent constables had the duty to safely get the criminals back to Moradabad. But they not only went to criminals' relatives' house but had food at a hotel and consumed alcohol. They were so drunk that the criminals ran away after opening their handcuffs and constables kept sleeping. This amounts to grave misconduct and indolence on their part. The punishment of dismissal is absolutely appropriate. (Para 19)

तथ्यात्मक रुपरेखा-

1. याचिकाकर्ता आरक्षीगण (ऋषिपाल सिंह व प्रेमपाल सिंह) व एक अन्य आरक्षी के विरुद्ध, निम्नलिखित घटना, घटित होने के कारण उत्तर प्रदेश अधीनस्थ श्रेणी के पुलिस अधिकारियों कर्मचारियों एवं अपील नियमावली 1991 (संक्षेप में नियमावली 1991) के अंतर्गत अनुशासनिक कार्यवाही प्रारम्भ करी गयी:

"आरक्षी 234 स0पु0 प्रेमपाल सिंह, आरक्षी 241 स0पु0 दिनेश चन्द्र गुप्ता एवं आरक्षी 96 स0पु0 ऋषिपाल सिंह के विरुद्ध दिनांक 09.7.2004 को रायफल कारतूस, हथकड़ी सहित केन्द्रीय कारागार बरेली से अभियुक्तगण राजेश, मनोज, जमील को मान0 न्यायालय में पेशी के उपरान्त मुरादाबाद से बरेली लाते समय अभियुक्तगण द्वारा दी गयी एल्कोहल का सेवन करके, बेहोश हो जाने व पुलिस अभिरक्षा से अभियुक्तगण के भाग जाने एवं बेहोशी हालत में स्टेशन पर उतारे जाने व मेडिकल परीक्षा में शराब का सेवन करने की पुष्टि हुई।"

2. उपरोक्त घटना के फलस्वरुप दिनांक 09.07.2004 से निलम्बित पाये जाने सम्बन्धी प्रकरण में उत्तर प्रदेश अधीनस्थ श्रेणी के पुलिस अधिकारियों/कर्मचारियों की दण्ड एवं अपील नियमावली, 1991 के नियम 14 (1) के अन्तर्गत विभागीय कार्यवाही पीठासीन अधिकारी को अभिविष्ट की गयी जिसने 24.03.2005 को आरोप पत्र तैयार किया व उसी दिन आरोपित आरक्षीगण को प्रेषित किया गया व स्पष्टीकरण मांगा गया परन्तु दो अवसर देने के उपरान्त दोनों याचिकाकर्ता ने अपना-अपना स्पष्टीकरण प्रस्तुत किया, जिसमें मात्र कहा कि प्रकरण माननीय न्यायालय, मुरादाबाद में विचाराधीन है, अतः विभागीय कार्यवाही को स्थगित करा जाये व पुलिस रेगुलेशन के प्रस्तर 494 का अवलोकन किया जाये।

3. आरक्षीगण को दो बार नोटिस प्रेषित किया गया, कि वो साक्ष्य लेखबद्ध की कार्यवाही में सम्मलित हो परन्तु, नोटिस प्राप्त होने के उपरान्त भी वो कार्यवाही में सम्मिलित नहीं हुए। अतः उनकी अनुपस्थिति में 28.05.2005 को कुछ साक्षीगण के साक्ष्य लेखबद्ध किये गये। पुनः नोटिस प्रेषित किया गया व शेष साक्षी के कथन 10.6.2005 को लेखबद्ध किये गये, परन्तु आरक्षीगण कार्यवाही में उपस्थित नहीं रहे। इस कारणवश उनकी ओर से कोई जिरह

"दिनांक 9.7.2004 को वह व आरक्षी 534 मुकेश बाबू, कां0-45 उदयवीर, कां0 4620 प्रभुनाथ व हेड सैक्शन पी0ए0सी0 24 वीं वाहिनी मुरादाबाद के साथ थाने से रवाना होकर प्लेटफार्म जंक्शन बरेली पर जहर खुरानी गिरोह से सम्बन्धित संदिग्ध व्यक्तियों को चैकिंग में मामूर था। गाड़ी सं. 4312 डा0 गांधी धाम एक्सप्रेस के प्लेटफार्म नं0 1 पर चेकिंग करते हुए ए0सी0 कोच से आगे लगे हुए स्लीपर में जब वह व हमराह स्टाफ पहुँचे तो आमने सामने की सीटों पर तीन सिपाही बार्बदी दुरुस्त लेटे मदहोश हालम में मिले। उनकी रायफले हथकड़ी व एक बैग पास में रखा था। तीनों सिपाहियों को उठाया तो नहीं उठे। एक सिपाही जिसे नशा कम था उठा और अपना नाम आरक्षी 234 ए0पी0 प्रेमपाल सिंह पुलिस लाइन बरेली बताया व साथी आरक्षियों का नाम 241 स0पु0 दिनेश चन्द्र गुप्ता, कां0 227 स0पु0 ऋषिपाल सिंह बताया। इसके अतिरिक्त आरक्षी प्रेमपाल सिंह ने बताया कि "हम तीनों आरक्षी सेंट्रल जेल बरेली से अभि0 गण छोटा जमील, राजेश व मनोज कुमार को मान0 न्यायालय मुरादाबाद में पेशी हेतु ले गये थे। पेशी के बाद जब रेलवे स्टेशन मुरादाबाद आये थे तब काशीनाथ विश्वनाथ एक्सप्रेस निकल चुकी थी तब अभि0 छोटा जमील के कहने पर वह सब लोग उसके रिश्तेदार के घर मिलने चढ्ढा सिनेमा के पास ले गये थे उसके बाद छोटा जमील के कहने पर एक होटल में खाना खाने गये थे अभि0 छोटा जमील ने पैसे देकर एक बैगपाइपर (अंग्रेजी शराब की बोतल) व 4 कोल्ड ड्रिंक्स अपने आदमी को पैसे देकर मंगाये। हम तीनों व उक्त तीनों अभियुक्तगण ने कोल्ड ड्रिंक्स में मिलाकर शराब पिलाई थी तथा स्वयं कोल्ड ड्रिंक्स पी थी तथा सबने मुर्गा साथ साथ खाया। वहां पर नशा अधिक हो गया था तभी उक्त तीनों मुल्जिमानों ने अपने हाथों से हथकड़ी निकाल ली थी और जब बरेली आने के लिये रेलवे स्टेशन मुरादाबाद जा रहे थे तभी स्टेशन के पास से तीनों अभियुक्त कोल्ड ड्रिंक्स लेने चले गये, इन्हे ज्यादा नशा हो गया था इसलिये यह लोग नहीं गये और बरेली आने वाली इस ट्रेन में बरेली के लिय बैठ गये। उकने व साथी हमराह कर्मचारियों द्वारा उक्त तीनों आरक्षियों को गाड़ी से उतार उनके सामान को कब्जे में लेकर थाना जी0आर0पी0 जंक्शन बरेली आये थे। आरक्षियों की रायफल सं0 6480, 0224 व 60 कारतूस दो हथकड़ी संख्या 250 व 712 दो रस्सा सूत व भोगें हुए तीनों अभियुक्तों के वारण्ट थाने पर दाखिल किये। उक्त तीनों आरक्षियों को बास्ते उपचार जिला अस्पताल बरेली में वह व हमराही लेकर गये वहां पर सिपाहियों को उपचार हेतु दाखिल कर थाना वापस आये। उक्त घटना के सम्बन्ध में उनके द्वारा थाना जी0 आर0पी0 जंक्शन बरेली पर मु0अ0सं0 352/2004 धारा 221/223/223/225 ए भा0 द0 के विरुद्ध आरक्षी 241 स0 पु0 दिनेश चन्द्र 96 स0पु0 ऋषिपाल सिंह, 234 स0पु0 प्रेमपाल सिंह पुलिस लाइन बरेली बन्दी राजेश पुत्र तेजपाल निवासी बेहटा जयसिंह थाना बहजोई मुरादाबाद, बन्दी मनोज पुत्र तेजपाल सिंह निवासी चितौरा थाना बहजोई मुरादाबाद, बन्दी जमील उर्फ छोटा पुत्र लल्लू अमीन निवासी हसइल्स बाली मस्जिद थाना मुगलपुरा जिला मुरादाबाद पंजीकृत करावाया। उक्त अभियोग का घटना स्थल जनपद मुरादाबाद रेलवे स्टेशन का होना पाये जाने पर थाना जी0 आर0पी0 जंक्शन मुरादाबाद में मु0 अ0 सं0 571/2004 धारा 221/223/224/225 ए भा0द0 व पंजीकृत होकर विवचेना की गयी है।" (महत्ता दी गयी)

4. जाँच अधिकारी ने अभिलेख साक्ष्य का विश्लेषण किया व इस निष्कर्ष पर पहुँचे कि सभी आरक्षीगण के विरुद्ध आरोप सत्य है व उपरोक्त कृत अत्यन्त लापरवाही पूर्ण, उदासीनता, अकर्मण्यता व अनुशासनहीनता पूर्ण है व स्पष्ट रुप से दोषी पाये जाने के कारण उनके आरक्षी पद की सेवा से पदच्युत किये जाने की संस्तुति करी गई। निष्कर्ष का महत्वपूर्ण अंश निम्न है:

"इस प्रकार सम्पूर्ण तथ्यों से यह पाया गया कि आरक्षीगण 234 स0 पु0 प्रेमपाल सिंह, आरक्षी 241 स0 पु0 दिनेशचन्द्र गुप्ता एवं आरक्षी 96 स0 पु0 ऋषिपाल सिंह द्वारा अभियुक्तों राजेश, मनोज व जमील उर्फ छोटा को मान0 न्यायालय में पेशी के उपरान्त जानबूझकर लालचवश उनके कहने पर घर ले जाकर परिजनों से मिलवाया गया तथा अभियुक्तों के साथ एक होटल पर बैठक अभियुक्तों द्वारा मंगाई गयी अंग्रेजी शराब/ कोल्ड ड्रिंक्स का सेवन करने के

5. उपरोक्त जांच आख्या को अनुशासनिक प्राधिकारी (वरिष्ठ पुलिस अधीक्षक) को प्रेषित की गयी। जिसके उपरान्त अलग-अलग 'कारण बताओ नोटिस' दिनांक 03.01.2006 को आरक्षीगण को प्रेषित किया गया कि वो अपना-अपना स्पष्टीकरण प्रस्तुत करें। दोनों याचिकाकर्ता ने नोटिस का जबाव दिया, जिसके द्वारा घटना से इंकार नहीं किया गया परन्तु अपराधीगण के शातिर किस्म के होने व उनके द्वारा धोखे से शराब पिलाने के कारण घटना घटित हुई ऐसा स्पष्टीकरण दिया तथा डाक्टरी परीक्षण करने वाले डाक्टर का ब्यान अंकित न करना भी जाँच आख्या गलत होने का एक कारण बताया व प्रार्थीगण को जाँच कार्यवाही के दौरान नैसर्गिक न्याय के सिद्धान्तों से वंचित किया गया। एक स्पष्टीकरण के मुख्य अंश निम्न है:

"2. यह कि दिनांक 09.07.2004 को तीनों अभियुक्तों की पेशी मुरादाबाद में होने के पश्चात् मय अभियुक्त व दो अन्य सहयोगियों के साथ गांधी धाम ट्रैन से मुरादाबाद से बरेली जा रहा था तो अभियुक्तगण प्रार्थी को एल्कोहल का सेवन करवाया और जिसका लाभ उठाकर उक्त तीनों अभियुक्त पुलिस अभिरक्षा से भागने में सफल रहे। प्रार्थी व प्रार्थी के साथी बेहोशी हालत में मय दो अदद राइफल, 60 कारतूस व दो हथकड़ी थाना जी0आर0पी0 बरेली के कर्मचारियों द्वारा बरेली स्टेशन पर बरामद किया गया तथा प्रार्थी को बेहोशी हालत में ट्रेन से उतारा गया।

5. यह कि प्रार्थी को अभियुक्तगण ने बेहोश कर भाग गये इस स्थिति में घोर लापरवाही की कोई बात ही नहीं बनती।

6. यह कि यहां तक कि प्रार्थी के खिलाफ कोई भी विभागीय जांच नहीं की गयी और बिना विभागीय जांच के ही सीधे नैसर्गिक न्याय सिद्धान्त का उल्लंघन कर बिना किसी प्रकार का अवसर प्रदान किये गये प्रार्थी की सेवाओं की समाप्ति का नोटिस दे दिया गया जो कि विधि विरुद्ध है।

8. यह कि प्रार्थी के कोई इस तरह का कार्य नहीं किया है जिससे पुलिस फौजी फोर्स की बदनामी हो प्रार्थी को शराब पिलाकर एवं बेहोश कर शातिर किस्म के अपराधी प्रार्थी की बेहोशी का लाभ उठाकर भाग गये इस तरह अभियुक्त ने एक और अपराध किया है जिसके वे सजा के पात्र हैं।" (महत्ता दी गयी)

6. वरिष्ठ पुलिस अधीक्षक बरेली ने आरक्षीगण का स्पष्टीकरण व जांच आख्या का अध्ययन व मनन कर, आरक्षीगण के स्पष्टीकरण के तथ्यों को निराधार माना व अलग-अलग आदेश दिनांक 24.1.2006 के द्वारा आरक्षीगण को तत्काल प्रभाव से पुलिस विभाग की सेवा से हटाये (पदच्युत) किये जाने का आदेश पारित किया, जिसके मुख्य अंश निम्न हैं:

"आरोपी कान्स0 का उक्त कथन मान्य नहीं है, और निराधार है, क्योंकि आरोपी के विरुद्ध

अभियुक्तों के साथ लगाई गयी महत्वपूर्ण डियूटी के दौरान अभियुक्तों के साथ शराब पीने, खाना खाने, तथा नशे में हो जाने पर अभियुक्तों के इनकी अभिरक्षा से भाग जाने के गम्भीर आरोप है और इस प्रकार के गम्भीर आरोपों के संबंध में विभागीय कार्यवाही इस उद्देश्य से की जा सकती है कि वह अनुशासन एवं कार्य की योग्यता की दृष्टि से विभाग में बने रहने के योग्य है अथवा नहीं, तथा अपराधिक कार्यवाही केवल उसके द्वार घटित किये गये अपराध के संबंध में दण्डित किये जाने के उद्देश्य से की जाती है। और जिसका प्राविधान माननीय उच्चतम् न्यायालय द्वारा कैप्टन एम.पाल. एन्थनी बनाम भारत गोल्ड माइन्स लिमिटेड एवं अन्य (1999) 3 एस.एस.सी. के निर्णय के प्रस्तर-20 एवं 22 में दिया गया है, इसी प्रकार माननीय उच्चतम् न्यायालय द्वारा राजस्थान बनाम बी.के. मीना एवं अन्य एस.एस.सी. 1996 (6) में भी प्राविधान दिया गया है।

4. आरोपी कान्स0 द्वारा अपने प्रस्तुत स्पष्टीकरण में दूसरा बिन्दु यह अंकित किया है कि जांचकर्ता अधिकारी द्वारा जांच के दौरान उसके बयान अंकित करके उसे अपना पक्ष प्रस्तुत करने का अवसर प्रदान नहीं किया गया है। आरोपी का यह कथन बिल्कुल असत्य एवं निराधार है क्यों कि प्रकरण में प्रा0 जांचकर्ता अधिकारी द्वारा आरोपी से पूछताछ की गयी है, और आरोपी द्वारा अपने साथी कां. 96 स.पु. रिषीपाल सिंह के बयानों का समर्थन किया गया है, इसके अतिरिक्त विभागीय कार्यवाही के दौरान भी पीठासीन अधिकारी द्वारा इन्हे अपना पक्ष प्रस्तुत करने का पूरा-पूरा अवसर प्रदान किया गया है, जैसा कि दण्ड पत्रावली पर उपलब्ध अभिलेखों से स्पष्ट है।

5. आरोपी कान्स0 द्वारा अपने प्रस्तुत स्पष्टीकरण में तीसरा तथ्य यह अंकित किया गया है कि विभागीय जाचं के मध्य डाक्टरी परीक्षण हेतु ले जाने वाले अधिकारी एवं डाक्टर का बयान अंकित नहीं किया गया है। आरोपी का यह कथन भी पत्रावली पर उपलब्ध अभिलेखों के अनुसार असत्य एवं निराधार है क्योंकि पीठासीन अधिकारी द्वारा कार्यवाही के दौरान जी.आर.पी. थाना जंक्शन बरेली में नियुक्त हे.कां. प्रो0 के0 दिग्विजय शर्मा का कथन अंकित किया गया है, और जिसके द्वारा अपने बयानों में आरोपी को मेडीकल परीक्षण हेतु मय हमराह जिला अस्पताल ले जाना व्यक्त किया है, तथा मेडीकल परीक्षण रिपोर्ट पत्रावली पर उपलब्ध है, जिनसे आरोपी द्वारा शराब का सेवन किये जाने की पुष्टि होती है।

7. प्रार्थीगण द्वारा उपरोक्त दण्ड आदेश के विरुद्ध नियमावली 1991 के नियम 20 के अन्तर्गत पृथक-पृथक अपील की गई, जो अपीलीय प्राधकारी पुलिस उपमहानिरीक्षक, बरेली परिक्षेत्र, बरेली के द्वारा गुण-दोष पर पृथक-पृथक आदेश दिनांक 28.4.2007 द्वारा अस्वीकार की गई। आदेश के महत्वपूर्ण अंश निम्न है:

"समस्त तथ्यों के आधार पर मैं इस निष्कर्ष पर पहुँचा हूँ कि याची विचाराधीन बंदी राजेश, मनोज, जीमल जिन्हे यह माननीय न्यायालय ए.सी.जे.एम. द्वितीय, मुरादाबाद में पेशी हेतु केन्द्रीय करागार बरेली लेकर वापस आ रहे थे इनके द्वारा रास्ते में शराब का सेवन किया गया नशे हो जाने के कारण अभियुक्तगण इनकी अभिरक्षा से भाग गये। मेडीकल परीक्षण में इनके द्वारा शराब का सेवन किया जाना पाया गया। अपीलकर्ता द्वारा घोर अनुशानहीनता, कर्तव्य के प्रति घोर लापरवाही, अकर्मण्यता का परिचय दिये जिसके लिए पूर्णतः

दोषी है. पुलिस विभाग की छवि धूमिल हुई। इनके विरुद्ध सम्पूर्ण कार्यवाही विधिवत की गई है जिसमें कोई त्रुटि अथवा अनियमितता नहीं है दण्डाधिकारी द्वारा पूर्ण साक्ष्यों के आधार पर याची को सेवा से हटाये जाने का आदेश पारित किया है वह पूर्णतयः नियमता है अतः याची की अपील अस्वीकार की जाती है।" (महत्ता दी गयी)

8. उपरोक्त संदर्भित आदेश दिनांक 24.1.2006 व 28.4.2007 प्रार्थीगण द्वारा पृथक-पृथक याचिका के माध्यम से आक्षेपित किये गये हैं।

याचिकाकर्ता का पक्ष-

9. श्री अशोक खरे, वरिष्ठ अधिवक्ता अपने सहयोगी सिद्धार्थ खरे, अधिवक्ता के साथ याचिकाकर्ताओं का पक्ष रखा कि जांच की कार्यवाही पूर्णतः मौखिक साक्ष्य, जिसका कोई प्रतिपरीक्षा नहीं हुई के आधार पर एक पक्षीय पूर्ण की गई जो नैसर्गिक सिद्धान्त के विपरित है। याचिकाकर्ताओं की चिकित्सा जांच की आख्या, जाँच प्रक्रिया के दौरान पत्रावली पर नहीं लाई गयी, जिससे यह साबित हो सके कि याचिकाकर्ता पूर्णतः शराब के नशे में थे। अगर यह मान भी लिया जाये की याचिकाकर्ता के विरुद्ध आरोप सिद्ध होता है, फिर भी दिया गया दण्ड, आश्चर्यजनक रुप से अनुपातहीन है। दण्ड आदेश पारित करते हुए याचिकाकर्ता के पूर्व आचरण का संज्ञान किया गया जो अनुचित था, क्यों कि इस नाते उनको, कोई नोटिस या स्पष्टीकरण नहीं मांगा गया था। अतः यह न्यायालय आक्षेपित आदेश को अपास्त करे।

10. श्री विक्रम बहादुर यादव, स्थाई अधिवक्ता ने उपरोक्त कथन का विरोध किया और प्रतिवेदन किया कि जांच अधिकारी ने आरक्षीगण को आरोप पत्र की एक प्रति भेजी व स्पष्टिकरण मांगा परन्तु मात्र एक याचिकाकर्ता द्वारा अपना स्पष्टीकरण दिया गया, जिसका उल्लेख पूर्व में किया जा चुका है। दोनों याचिकाकर्ता को नोटिस दिनांक मई 2005 द्वारा यह सूचना दी गई कि 11.05.2005 से 14.05.2005 के मध्य अभियोजन साक्षियों के कथन अभिलिखित किये जायेंगे, इसके लिये वो जाँच अधिकारी के समक्ष उपस्थित रहें। परन्तु उक्त तिथियों में कोई कार्यवाही न होने के कारण अग्रिम तिथि 28 व 29.05.2005 निर्धारित की गई व इस नाते याचिकाकर्ता को पुनः नोटिस दिनांक 17.05.2005 भेजा गया, परन्तु दोनों याचिकाकर्ता नोटिस प्राप्त होने के उपरान्त भी 28.05.2005 को अनुपस्थित रहे। उस दिन जांच अधिकारी ने कुछ अभियोजन साक्षियों के कथन लेखबद्ध किये और अन्य के लिये दिनांक 10.06.2005 नियत की व पुनः एक नोटिस दिनांक 06.06.2005 आरक्षीगण को प्रेषित किया गया। उक्त नोटिस को याचिकाकर्ता प्रेमपाल सिंह द्वारा 08.06.2005 को प्राप्त किया परन्तु वो व अन्य आरक्षी 10.06.2005 को उपस्थित नहीं हुए उस दिन साक्षी हे.कां. (प्रो.) दिग्विजय सिंह का कथन लेखबद्ध किया परन्तु दोनों याचिकाकर्ता की अनुपस्थित के कारण जिरह नहीं हो सकी। याचिकाकर्ता को पूर्व सूचना होते हुए भी जांच कार्यवाही में भाग न लेना से विदित है, कि नैसर्गिक न्याय के सिद्धान्तों का पूर्व पालन हुआ व याचिकाकर्ता को जानकारी के होते हुये भी, जांच कार्यवाही में भाग न लेने के उपरान्त, उनका यह कथन की समस्त कार्यवाही, एक पक्षीय हुई, मान्य नहीं हो सकता है।

11. स्थाई अधिवक्ता ने आगे प्रतिवेदन किया कि हे.का. प्रो. 630 दिग्विजय शर्मा ने अपने साक्ष्य में स्पष्ट रुप से कहा कि दोनों याचिकाकर्ता व अन्य आरक्षी डा0 गांधी धाम एक्सप्रेस में स्लीपर कोच में लेटे हुए मदहोश हालत में मिले और होश आने पर घटना का विवरण दिया जिसके आधार पर आरोप प्रेषित किया गया। अनुशासनिक अधिकारी के समक्ष प्रस्तुत स्पष्टीकरण में भी घटना घटित होने से इंकार नहीं किया गया है। परन्तु समस्त दोष अपराधीगण पर डालने का प्रयास किया गया, जो जाँच अधिकारी/ अनुशासनिक पदाधिकारी व अपीलीय अधिकारी ने सिरे से खारिज कर दिया, जो विधिक रुप से मान्य भी है।

12. अनुशासनात्मक कार्यवाही की न्यायिक समीक्षा की विधि :

"22. भारत के संविधान के अनुच्छेद 226 या अनुच्छेद 32 या अनुच्छेद 136 के अंतर्गत

"अनुशासनिक प्राधिकारी, तथ्यों का एकमात्र न्यायाधीश होता है और जहां अपील प्रस्तुत की जाती है तो अपील प्राधिकारी के पास साक्ष्य या दंड की प्रकृति का पुनर्मूल्यांकन करने की सह अस्तित्व व्यापक शक्ति होती है। एक अनुशासनात्मक जांच में, विधिक साक्ष्य की ठोस प्रमाणिकता व उस साक्ष्य पर निष्कर्ष, प्रासंगिक नहीं होते हैं। साक्ष्य की पर्याप्तता या साक्ष्य की विश्वसनीयता को न्यायालय या प्राधिकरण के समक्ष परखने की अनुमति नहीं दी जा सकती है। भारत संघ बनाम एच.सी. गोयल :(1964) 4 एससीआर 718*, में इस न्यायालय ने प्रस्तर 728 में यह निर्धारित किया कि अनुशासनिक प्राधिकारी द्वारा साक्ष्य पर विचार करने पर, दिया गया निष्कर्ष यदि विकारग्रस्त है या प्रत्यक्ष रुप से त्रुटिग्रस्त है या कोई साक्ष्य ही नहीं है, तब उत्प्रेषण लेख जारी किया जा सकता है।"*

23. तत्पश्चात् इस न्यायालय के हिमाचल प्रदेश राज्य विद्युत बोर्ड लिमिटेड बनाम महेश दहिया : 2017(1) एस सी सी 768*, के निर्णय व हाल ही में इस न्यायालय की तीन न्यायाधीशों की खंडपीठ ने* प्रवीण कुमार बनाम भारत संघ और अन्य : 2020(9) एस सी सी 471 के निर्णय में इसका लगातार अनुगमन किया जा रहा है।

24. इस प्रकार यह अवधारित किया गया है कि संवैधानिक न्यायालयों की न्यायिक समीक्षा की शक्ति, निर्णय लेने की प्रक्रिया का मूल्यांकन है, न कि निर्णय के गुण दोष का। यह प्रक्रिया में निष्पक्षता सुनिश्चित करने के लिए है न कि निष्कर्ष की निष्पक्षता सुनिश्चित करने के लिए। न्यायालय/प्राधिकरण, अपचारी के विरुद्ध नियोजित कार्यवाही में हस्तक्षेप कर सकता है, यदि यह किसी भी तरह से प्राकृतिक न्याय के नियमों के असंगत है या उन वैधानिक नियमों का उल्लंघन हुआ है जो जांच के तरीके को निर्धारित करते हैं या जहाँ अनुशासनिक प्राधिकारी द्वारा जो निष्कर्ष दिया गया हो वो किसी भी साक्ष्य के आधारित न हो या निष्कर्ष इस तरह का हो जिस पर कोई भी तर्कसंगत व्यक्ति कभी नहीं पहुँच पाये या जहां अनुशासनिक प्राधिकारी द्वारा साक्ष्य पर विचार करने पर निष्कर्ष विकृत होता है या पत्रावली के संदर्भ में प्रत्यक्ष रूप से आधारभूत त्रुटि से ग्रस्त होता है या किसी भी साक्ष्य पर आधारित नहीं होता है, तो उत्प्रेषण लेख जारी किया जा सकता है। संक्षेप में, वस्तुतः न्यायिक समीक्षा का दायरा, किसी प्राधिकरण के निर्णय की यथार्थता या तर्कसंगतता की परीक्षा की सीमा तक विस्तार नहीं किया जा सकता है।"

"27. यह सच है कि विभागीय जांच कार्यवाही पर साक्ष्य के सख्त नियम लागू नहीं होते हैं। हालांकि, विधि की एकमात्र आवश्यकता यह है कि अपचारी के विरुद्ध आरोप को ऐसे साक्ष्यों द्वारा स्थापित किया जाना चाहिए, जिसके आधार पर एक तर्कसंगत व्यक्ति यथोचित एवं वस्तुपरक होकर दोषी कर्मचारी के विरुद्ध, निष्कर्ष पर पहुंच सकता है कि आरोप की गंभीरता को क़ायम रख पाये। यह सच है, कि विभागीय जांच कार्यवाही में भी केवल अनुमान या अटकलों पर आधारित अपराध बोध का निष्कर्ष मान्य नहीं किया जा सकता है।

28. संवैधानिक न्यायालय संविधान के अनुच्छेद 226 या अनुच्छेद 136 के तहत न्यायिक समीक्षा के अपने अधिकार क्षेत्र का प्रयोग करते हुए विभागीय जांच कार्यवाही में तथ्यों के निष्कर्षों में हस्तक्षेप नहीं करेगा, सिवाय दुर्भावना या दुराग्रह के मामले में जहां निष्कर्ष के समर्थन में कोई भी साक्ष्य न हो या जहां कोई ऐसा निष्कर्ष हो, जो कोई भी यथोचित व्यक्ति तटस्थ होकर उस निष्कर्ष को मान्य कर सके और जब तक विभागीय प्राधिकारी द्वारा दिये गए निष्कर्ष का समर्थन करने के लिए कुछ साक्ष्य हैं, उसे बनाए रखा जायेगा।"

13. सर्वप्रथम यह निर्धारित करना है कि अनुशासनात्मक कार्यवाही के दौरान नैसर्गिक न्याय के सिद्धान्तों का पालन हुआ है या नहीं। जैसा की आक्षेपित आदेश में पूर्ण स्पष्ट रुप से वर्णन किया गया है कि तीनों आरक्षीगण को आरोप की प्रति भेजी गयी व दोनों याचिकाकर्ता ने स्पष्टीकरण भी प्रेषित किया, जिस पर विचार भी किया गया, परन्तु साक्षीगण के कथन के लेखबद्ध होने के तिथि की पूर्व सूचना होते हुए भी आरक्षीगण का अनुपस्थित होना तथा जिसके कारण उनकी ओर से जिरह का न हो पाना, यह निर्धारित करता है कि नैसर्गिक न्याय के सिद्धान्तों का पालन किया गया परन्तु आरक्षीगण ने अपनी इच्छा से कार्यवाही में भागीदारी नहीं करी। ऐसी स्थिति में वरिष्ठ अधिवक्ता का कथन की नैसर्गिक न्याय के सिद्धान्तों का पालन नहीं हुआ व कार्यवाही एक पक्षीय करी गई, असत्य व पत्रावली पर उपस्थित तथ्यों के विपरीत होने के कारण बलहीन है, इसलिये है, इसलिये अस्वीकार किया जाता है।

14. आरक्षीगण के अनुशासनात्मक प्राधिकारी के समक्ष स्पष्टीकरण से यह स्पष्ट है कि घटना घटित होने से इंकार नहीं किया गया व यह भी इंकार नहीं किया गया कि आरक्षीगण शराब के सेवन के कारण मदहोश थे, जिसका लाभ उठाकर अपराधीगण रेलगाड़ी से मुरादाबाद से बरेली लाते समय हिरासत से भाग गये। अतः मात्र इस कारण से कि शराब सेवन की आरक्षीगण की चिकित्सा आख्या या डाक्टर जिसने मेडिकल किया, उसका साक्ष्य लेखबद्ध नहीं किया गया तो समस्त जाँच कार्यवाही दूषित हो गयी ऐसा नहीं माना जा सकता है। वो भी जब शराब सेवन से आरक्षीगण ने इंकार नहीं किया है।

15. इस नाते साक्षी हे0कां0 दिग्विजय शर्मा का कथन महत्वपूर्ण हो जाता है जिससे आरक्षीगण को शराब के सेवन के कारण मदहोश हालत में रेलगाड़ी के डिब्बे में देखा और सर्वप्रथम घटना का विवरण सुना व कार्यवाही का कथन किया।

16. जाँच कार्यवाही के दौरान उपरोक्त साक्षी के कथन से यह विदित होता है कि आरक्षीगण, अभियुक्तगण के कहने पर उनके रिश्तेदार के घर गये और सभी एक होटल में खाना खाने गये, वहां न केवल खाना खाया अपितु शराब का अत्यधिक सेवन

भी किया जिससे नशा हो गया और बरेली जाने वाली ट्रेन में जब बैठे तब अभियुक्तगण कोल्ड ड्रिंक्स के बहाने हथकड़ी खोल कर भाग गये और आरक्षीगण रेलगाड़ी में मदहोश होकर सोते रहे। उपरोक्त तथ्यात्मक परिणाम को अनुच्छेद 226 के अन्तर्गत सीमित समीक्षा का अधिकार के अंतर्गत अमान्य नहीं किया जा सकता।

17. जैसा की ऊपर विधि का उल्लेख किया गया है कि 'संभावना की प्रबलता' के सिद्धान्त व इस न्यायालय द्वारा अपीलीय अधिकारी की तरह शक्ति का उपयोग न करने के कारण उपरोक्त तथ्यात्मक परिणाम में हस्तक्षेप नहीं किया जा सकता है। अनुशासनात्मक कार्यवाही में किसी भी प्रकार का दोष नहीं है। नैसर्गिक न्याय के सिद्धान्तों का पूर्ण रुप से परिपालन किया गया। आरक्षीगण ने यह माना है कि उन्होने शराब का सेवन किया जिससे वो मदहोश हो गये जिसका लाभ उठाकर अपराधीगण फरार हो गये। उपरोक्त तथ्य की पुष्टि हे◌ेकां. दिग्विजय शर्मा के साक्ष्य से पूर्ण रुप से होती है।

18. अतः जांच आख्या व अनुशासनिक अधिकारी द्वारा लिये गये निर्णय, जिसके द्वारा आरक्षीगण द्वारा किया गया कृत सिद्ध होता है व उनके कृत से अनुशासनहीनता, घोर लापरवाही, अकर्मण्यता का परिचय होता है, में कोई भी विधिक त्रुटि नहीं है।

19. अन्त में न्यायालय को यह विचार करना है कि क्या दण्ड आश्चर्यजनक रुप से अनुपातहीन है। आरक्षीगण का यह कर्तव्य था कि वो अपराधियों को सकुशल मुरादाबाद से वापस बरेली ले कर आते। परन्तु उन्होने घोर लापरवाही की व अपराधीगण के साथ न केवल उनके रिश्तेदार के घर गये बल्कि उनके साथ होटल में खाना खाया और अधिक मात्रा में शराब का सेवन किया, जिससे उनको इतना भी होश नहीं रहा कि अपराधीगण हथकड़ी खोल फरार हो गये व आरक्षीगण मदहोश होकर सोये रहे। यह कृत न केवल अनुशासनहीनता का द्योतक है अपितु कर्तव्य के प्रति घोर लापरवाही व अकर्मण्यता का परिचय है। अतः 'सेवा से हटाने' का दण्ड किसी भी प्रकार से अनुपातहीन नहीं है। अतः दण्ड विधिक रुप से मान्य है। इसमें किसी भी प्रकार से हस्तक्षेप नहीं किया जा सकता।

20. उपरोक्त विश्लेषण का एक ही निष्कर्ष है कि दोनों याचिकायें निरस्त किये जाने योग्य है। अतः निरस्त की जाती है।

DATED: ALLAHABAD 15.12.2021

BEFORE

THE HON'BLE PRAKASH PADIA, J.

Writ-A No. 45098 of 2017

Manendra Singh ...Petitioner
Versus
Union of India & Ors. ...Respondents

Counsel for the Petitioner:
Sri Tejasvi Misra

Counsel for the Respondents:
A.S.G.I., Sri Pawan Kumar Mishra

A. Service Law – Recruitment – Concealment of material information - For determining suppression or false information attestation/verification form has to be specific, not vague. Only such information which was required to be specifically mentioned has to be disclosed. If information not asked for but is relevant comes to knowledge of the employer the same can be considered in an objective manner while addressing the question of fitness. However, in such cases action cannot be taken on basis of suppression or submitting false information as to a fact which was not even asked for. (Para 17)

The crucial question which, therefore, needs be answered is whether the lodging of the F.I.R. could result in the petitioner being liable to answer the question w.r.t.

a case pending against them in a court of law in the affirmative. (Para 15)

It is important to note that the attestation form did not require the petitioner to disclose the registration of the F.I.R. No part of para 12 of attestation form obliged the petitioner to disclose information w.r.t. a FIR that may have existed. Paragraph 12 specifically required the petitioner to truthfully declare whether he had either been convicted or if any case was pending against him in a court of law. Undisputedly the petitioner does not stand convicted in the criminal cases of which reference is made in the impugned order. The mere existence of a FIR did not, therefore, oblige the petitioner to answer either of these questions in paragraph 12 in the affirmative. As has been noted, the impugned order does not rest on the allegation that the petitioner was arrested, detained or fined in connection with the criminal case.

While it cannot be therefore said that the petitioners had suppressed material information, it is still open to the respondents to adjudge his suitability for appointment in the force since knowledge of the criminal case has come to light, albeit during the course of verification. On an overall consideration of the aforesaid aspects, it is manifest that the impugned order cannot be sustained. (Para 13, 17, 18)

B. Before a person is held guilty of suppressio veri or suggestio falsi, knowledge of the fact must be attributable to him. (Para 17)

In the present case, it is clear that Case Crime No. 35 of 2011 u/Ss.323, 504 and 506 I.P.C. was registered but it is not clear that on which date, the Court concerned took cognizance on the aforesaid case and even though the Court had taken cognizance and if so presume, then it cannot be stated that there was a case pending against the petitioner in the Court of law since the petitioner was never informed at any point of time regarding pendency of the aforesaid case before submission of attestation form. (Para 16)

This Court is of the opinion that the petitioner has neither concealed any material information while filling up his attestation form deliberately nor is there any wilful intention to suppress the material facts. (Para 20)

Writ petition allowed. (E-4)

Precedent followed:

1. Avtar Singh Vs U.O.I. & ors., 2016 (8) SCC 471 (Para 4)

2. Kalamuddin Ansari & anr. Vs U.O.I. & ors., Writ-A No. 33265 of 2017, decided on 31.10.2018 (Para 21)

Present petition assails discharge letter/order dated 15.03.2017, passed by IG-Cum-Chief Security Commissioner/ RPF, Eastern Railway, Kolkata.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Prakash Padia, J.)

1. Heard learned counsel for the parties.

2. The petitioner has preferred the present petition with the following prayers:-

(A) Issue writ, order or direction in the nature of Certiorari quashing impugned discharge letter dated 15.03.2017 (annexure No.4) of this petition

(B) Issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of mandamus commanding the respondent(s) to reinstate the petitioner into services, with all consequential benefits.

3. Facts in brief as contained in the petition are that an advertisement being Advertisement No.1/2011 was issued by the respondent No.3 for recruitment on the post of Constable (G.D.) in Railway Protection Special Force. Pursuant to the aforesaid advertisement, the petitioner submitted his application form and he received Admit Card for appearing in the said examination. The petitioner duly appeared in the examination and qualified the same. Subsequently, the petitioner received appointment letter wherein he was directed to join his training at Panjab Police Taining Center Jahankalan on 01.11.2014.. During the period of training, the Police Verification Report was sought from the District Magistrate Pratapgarh regarding pendency of any criminal case against the petitioner. A report was submitted in this regard stating therein that Case Crime No.35 of 2011 under Sections 323, 504 and 506 I.P.C. was registered against the petitioner on 03.05.2011 at Jethwara Police Station, Pratapgarh in which local police has taken action under Section 110(G) of Cr.P.C. but the petitioner did not disclose the aforesaid information in Column No.12 of the attestation form, hence his selection is liable to be cancelled. After the aforesaid report, the petitioner was discharged from his training and in this regard a letter was served upon the petitioner on 27.04.2015. Aggrieved against the aforesaid, the petitioner filed a petition before this Court being Writ A No.45626 of 2015 (Manendra Singh and another Vs. Union of India and others) and the aforesaid writ petition was finally decided by a Co-ordinate Bench of this Court vide its judgement and order dated 06.12.2016. Pursuant to the aforesaid order, the petitioner was called for personal hearing on 11.01.2017 and after hearing the petitioner, the respondent No.4 passed the order dated 15.03.2017 cancelling the candidature of the petitioner on the ground of intentional suppression of the material fact while filling up his attestation form. Aggrieved against the order dated 15.03.2017, the petitioner preferred the present writ petition.

4. It is argued by learned counsel for the petitioner that insofar as Case Crime No.35 of 2011 under Sections 323, 504 & 506 I.P.C. is concerned, the petitioner has absolutely no information. It is further stated in the writ petition that neither any information in this regard was ever served upon the petitioner nor he was ever charge-sheeted in the aforesaid case. It is stated in paragraph 14 of the writ petition that the order passed by respondent No.4 dated 15.03.2017 is hit by the equality clause enshrined in the Constitution of India since on similar facts, candidatures of various candidates were found to be fit and they were reinstated. The names of candidates are Subhash Kumar, Bittu Jaiswal, Mehdi Hasan and Kuldeep Kumar and the orders passed for reinstatement of them were appended as Annexure Nos.5, 5A, 5B and 5C to the writ petition respectively. It is argued that the candidature of the petitioner was rejected in view of the fact that correct facts were not disclosed by the petitioner in Column 12 of the Attestation Form. It is argued by learned counsel for the petitioner that there is no cloumn in the Attestation Form regarding declaration of only F.I.R. and as such there is no suppression of material facts, therefore, it is wrong to say that any fact whatsoever has been suppressed by the petitioner. It is further argued that in identical circumstance, only on the basis of lodging of F.I.R., candidatures of various candidates were cancelled but after orders were passed by this Court in the writ petitions filed by them, speaking orders were passed by the authorities in their favour and permitting them to join their duties. The orders were passed by the authorities in favour of those candidates mentioning therein that there is no column in the Attestation Form regarding declaration of only F.I.R. Learned counsel for the petitioner also relied upon the judgement of Hon'ble Supreme Court passed in the case of Avtar

Singh Vs. Union of India and others 2016 (8) SCC 471.

5. A counter affidavit has been filed on behalf of the respondents. In Paragraph (6) of the counter affidavit, it is stated that the petitioner has not mentioned in his attestation form about pendency of Criminal Case as "No". It is further stated in the counter affidavit that the attestation form of petitioner was sent for verification to the District Magistrate Pratapgarh regarding his character & antecedents. The District Magistrate Pratapgarh forwarded the same to the Jethwara Police Station. A report was submitted by the Jethwara Police Station which was duly endorsed by the Superintendent of Police Pratapgarh in which it is mentioned that N.C.R. No.35/11 dated 03.05.2011 under Sections 323, 504 & 506 IPC was registered against the petitioner and the local police has taken action on the basis of the aforesaid report on 23.05.2011 under Section 110 (G) Cr.P.C. and thereafter a case was registered as Case Crime No.161 of 2011 under Sections 323, 504 & 506 I.P.C.

6. It is argued that since the aforesaid facts were not disclosed by the petitioner in Column 12 of the Attestation Form correctly, therefore, his candidature was rightly cancelled.

7. In response to the counter affidavit, a rejoinder affidavit has been filed. The contents of Paragraph 6 of the counter affidavit has been denied in paragraph 4 of the rejoinder affidavit. It is stated that the petitioner has absolutely no information regarding lodging of F.I.R. at the time filling of the attestation form. It is argued that the petitioner first time came to know regarding the aforesaid fact when he was discharged from training. When he received the discharge order, then he knew that a criminal case was pending against him since 2011 and in this view of the matter it is wrong to say that any material fact has been concealed by the petitioner while filling up the attestation form. It is further stated in the rejoinder affidavit that the petitioner was neither arrested nor any police personal had ever approached him for investigation regarding the aforesaid case, therefore, the petitioner could nor filled up in the attestation form regarding the pendency of the aforesaid case. It is further stated in rejoinder affidavit that no prosecution has ever been initiated against him. It is further stated in rejoinder affidavit that the respondents have considered the case of various similarly placed candidates and all of them also provided joining on a premise that there is no column in attestation form which requires disclosure of F.I.R.

8. After exchange of counter and rejoinder affidavits, this Court passed order dated 13.12.2018 directing the petitioner to file further supplementary affidavit disclosing whether the petitioner was ever arrested or detained in respect of the aforesaid case crime number in question at any time prior to the execution of the attestation form.

9. In response to the same, a supplementary affidavit has been filed by the petitioner on 06.03.2019. In paragraph 5 of the aforesaid supplementary affidavit, it is stated that the petitioner was neither arrested nor prosecuted. It is further stated that the petitioner was never detained nor any fine was ever imposed upon him at any point of time by any Court of law. It is further stated that since the petitioner has never been convicted for any offence, hence

Clause (f) of Column No.12, he again replied in negative. In this view of the matter, it is argued by learned counsel for the petitioner that reply tendered by the petitioner in paragraph 12(a) to (12)(f) in the attestation form was absolutely correct. Insofar Case Crime No.35 of 2011 is concerned, the petitioner has absolutely no knowledge about it inasmuch as neither any police personal ever contacted nor he was ever examined under Section 161 Cr.P.C.

10. In reply to the aforesaid affidavit, supplementary counter affidavit has been filed by the respondents. In paragraph 3 of the aforesaid affidavit, it is again reiterated that the petitioner deliberately suppressed the factual information regarding registration of Police Case to mislead the Administration. It is further argued that the verification of the character and antecedents is one of the important criteria to test whether the selected candidate is suitable for the post of constable in the disciplined force like R.P.F. as per Rule 52 of R.P.F. Rule 1987.

11. Heard learned counsel for the parties and perused the record.

12. Pursuant to the advertisement No.1 of 2011, the petitioner submitted the application form for recruitment on the post of Constable, the petitioner was directed to submit attestation form, copy of which is appended along with counter affidavit filed by the respondents. In paragraph 12 of the aforesaid attestation form, the petitioner was directed to submit various informations. The information seeking in tthe Column 12 of the Attestation Form are quoted below:-

"12. (a) Have you ever been arrested? Yes/No

(b) Have you ever been prosecuted? Yes/No

(c) Have you ever been kept under detention? Yes/No

(d) Have you ever been bound down? Yes/No

(e) Have you ever been fined by a Court of law? Yes/No

(f) Have you ever been convicted by a Court of Law for any offence? Yes/No

(g) Have you ever been debarred from any examination or rusticated by any University or any other educational authority/institution? Yes/No

(h) Have you ever been debarred/disqualified by any Public Service Commission/Staff Selection Commission for any of their examination/selection? Yes/No

(i) If any case pending against you in any court of law at the time of filling up this Attestation Form? Yes/No

(j) Is any case pending against you in any University or any other educational authority/institution at the time of filling up this Attestation Form? Yes/No

(k) Whether discharged/expelled/withdrawn from any training institution under the Govt. or otherwise? Yes/No

(l) If the answer to any of the above-mentioned question is "Yes", give full particulars of the case/ arrest/detention/fine/conviction/sentence /punishment/acquittal etc. and/or the name of the case pending in the Court/ University/Educational Authority etc. at the time of filling up this Form? Yes/No"

13. As it evident from the questions comprised in paragraph 12, the petitioner was called upon to disclose information in respect of whether he had ever been arrested, prosecuted, detained or fined by a court of law. The further disclosures which were required were in respect of whether he had been convicted by a court of law for any offence and whether any case in any court of law at the time of filling up the Attestation Form was pending. The other clauses of paragraph 12 dealing with the debarment from examinations or the pendency of any case in a University or other educational institution or whether the candidate had been discharged, expelled or withdrawn from any training institution are really not relevant to the case at hand.

14. Having noticed the salient questions comprised in paragraph 12, upon which the allegations of non-disclosure is liable to be tested, this Court notices that it is not the case of the respondents that the petitioner had been arrested, detained, prosecuted or fined by a court of law. That leaves the Court to only consider whether the petitioner could be held guilty of suppressing material information while answering questions relating to whether he had been convicted by a court of law for any offence or whether any case was pending against him at the time of filling up of the Attestation Forms.

15. Undisputedly the petitioner does not stand convicted in the criminal cases of which reference is made in the impugned order. The crucial question which, therefore, needs be answered is whether the lodging of the F.I.R. could result in the petitioner being liable to answer the question with respect to a case pending against them in a court of law in the affirmative.

16. Insofar as the present petition is concerned, it is clear that Case Crime No.35 of 2011 under Sections 323, 504 and 506 I.P.C. was registered but it is not clear that on which date, the Court concerned took cognizance on the aforesaid case and even though the Court had taken cognizance and if so presume, then it cannot be stated that there was a case pending against the petitioner in the Court of law since the petitioner was never informed at any point of time regarding pendency of the aforesaid case before submission of attestation form.

17. In this regard, it is important to note that the attestation form did not require the petitioner to disclose the registration of the F.I.R. The Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Avtar Singh (supra) following principles ruled out:-

"38. We have noticed various decisions and tried to explain and reconcile them as far as possible. In view of the aforesaid discussion, we summarise our conclusion thus:

38.1. Information given to the employer by a candidate as to conviction, acquittal or arrest, or pendency of a criminal case, whether before or after entering into service must be true and there should be no suppression or false mention of required information.

38.2. While passing order of termination of services or cancellation of candidature for giving false information, the employer may take notice of special circumstances of the case, if any, while giving such information.

38.3. The employer shall take into consideration the government orders/instructions/rules, applicable to the employee, at the time of taking the decision.

38.4. In case there is suppression or false information of involvement in a criminal case where conviction or acquittal had already been recorded before filling of the application/verification form and such fact later comes to knowledge of employer, any of the following recourses appropriate to the case may be adopted:

38.4.1. In a case trivial in nature in which conviction had been recorded, such as shouting slogans at young age or for a petty offence which if disclosed would not have rendered an incumbent unfit for post in question, the employer may, in its discretion, ignore such suppression of fact or false information by condoning the lapse.

38.4.2. Where conviction has been recorded in case which is not trivial in nature, employer may cancel candidature or terminate services of the employee.

38.4.3. If acquittal had already been recorded in a case involving moral turpitude or offence of heinous/serious nature, on technical ground and it is not a case of clean acquittal, or benefit of reasonable doubt has been given, the employer may consider all relevant facts available as to antecedents, and may take appropriate decision as to the continuance of the employee.

38.5. In a case where the employee has made declaration truthfully of a concluded criminal case, the employer still has the right to consider antecedents, and cannot be compelled to appoint the candidate.

38.6. In case when fact has been truthfully declared in character verification form regarding pendency of a criminal case of trivial nature, employer, in facts and circumstances of the case, in its discretion, may appoint the candidate subject to decision of such case.

38.7. In a case of deliberate suppression of fact with respect to multiple pending cases such false information by itself will assume significance and an employer may pass appropriate order cancelling candidature or terminating services as appointment of a person against whom multiple criminal cases were pending may not be proper.

38.8. If criminal case was pending but not known to the candidate at the time of filling the form, still it may have adverse impact and the appointing authority would take decision after considering the seriousness of the crime.

38.9. In case the employee is confirmed in service,holding departmental enquiry would be necessary before passing order of termination/removal or dismissal on the ground of suppression or submitting false information in verification form.

38.10. For determining suppression or false information attestation/verification form has to be specific, not vague. Only such information which was required to be specifically mentioned has to be disclosed. If information not asked for but is relevant comes to knowledge of the employer the same can be considered in an objective manner while addressing the question of fitness. However, in such cases action cannot be taken on basis of suppression or submitting false information as to a fact which was not even asked for.

38.11. Before a person is held guilty of suppressio veri or suggestio falsi, knowledge of the fact must be attributable to him."

18. No part of paragraph 12 obliged the petitioner to disclose information with regard to a First Information Report that may have existed. Paragraph 12 specifically required the petitioner to truthfully declare whether he had either been convicted or if any case was pending against him in a court of law. The mere existence of a FIR did not, therefore, oblige the petitioner to answer either of these questions in paragraph 12 in the affirmative. As has been noted, the impugned order does not rest on the allegation that the petitioner was arrested, detained or fined in connection with the criminal case. The case of the petitioner would, therefore, squarely fall for consideration in light of the principles elucidated in paragraph 30(10) of Avtar Singh (supra). While it cannot be therefore said that the petitioners had suppressed material information, it is still open to the respondents to adjudge his suitability for appointment in the force since knowledge of the criminal case has come to light, albeit during the course of verification. On an overall consideration of the aforesaid aspects, it is manifest that the impugned order cannot be sustained.

19. From perusal of the record, this Court is of the opinion that in similar circumstances, where the fact regarding filing of F.I.R. was not disclosed by the applicants, orders were passed by the respondents for reinstatement of them stating that there is no cloumn in the Attestation Form regarding declaration of only F.I.R. and as such there is no suppression of material facts, therefore, it is wrong to say that any fact whatsoever has been suppressed by the applicant.

20. In the facts and circumstance of the case as stated above, this Court is of the opinion that the petitioner has not concealed any material information while filling up his attestation form deliberately or any wilful intention to suppress the material facts.

21. Similar view was also taken by this Court in Writ A No.33265 of 2017 (Kalamuddin Ansari And Another Vs. Union Of India and others) decided on 31.10.2018.

22. Accordingly, the writ petition is allowed and the discharge order dated 15.03.2017 passed by the respondent is hereby set aside.

23. The matter stands remitted to the respondents for deciding the claims of the petitioner afresh and in light of the observations made hereinabove. The aforesaid exercise be completed within a period of two months from the date of production of certified copy of this order.

2. The instant writ petition has been filed for quashing the judgment and order dated 15.04.2005 and 30.03.2005 passed by respondent No.1 i.e. Board of Revenue, U.P. Allahabad and order dated 30.01.2001 passed by Up Ziladhikari, Phoolpur, Allahabad.

3. Brief facts of the case are that petitioner belongs to scheduled caste community, her father was in possession of plot No.78 area 0.401 hectares and plot No.79-Ka area 0.009 hectare situated in village Bagautipur @ Khuthana, Pargana and Tehsil-Soraon, District-Allahabad. Petitioner's father died leaving behind his widow Smt. Sundari Devi as his legal heir and after death of Sundari Devi, land in dispute duly devolved upon the petitioner being her daughter. Smt. Sundari Devi had also executed a registered will in favour of the petitioner. Accordingly, petitioner is continuing in actual possession of land in dispute. Petitioner filed a Suit under Section 229-B/122-B (4F) of U.P.Z.A.&L.R. Act impleading the Gram Panchayat and State of U.P. as defendants. The trial court vide judgment and decree dated 30.01.2001 dismissed the plaintiff-suit, hence the petitioner filed an Appeal before Commissioner, the same was heard by Additional Commissioner (2nd) Allahabad and appeal was allowed by Judgment and decree dated 22.04.2003 recording the finding of fact that appellant is in possession of the disputed plot since long and belongs to scheduled caste community as such appellant is entitled to benefit of Section 122 B (4F) of U.P.Z.A. & L. R. Act. Against the judgment and the decree of the first appellate Court Gaon Sabha through Ex-pradhan (Chandra Kala Devi) filed a Second Appeal, which has been allowed without condoning the delay in filing the second appeal as well as without framing the substantial question of law. Against the judgment and decree of second appellate court, petitioner filed a Review Application, the Review Application was also rejected vide order dated 15.05.2005, hence this writ petition.

4. Learned counsel for the petitioner submitted that suit under Section 229-B/122-B (4F) of U.P.Z.A.&L.R. Act filed by the petitioner was dismissed by the trial court vide order dated 30.01.2001, against the same an Appeal was filed by the petitioner which was allowed and suit was decreed by the Additional Commissioner vide judgment and decree dated 22.11.2003 recording finding of fact that petitioner is in possession over the disputed plot before the relevant date and being member of Scheduled Caste community, petitioner is entitled to the benefit of Sectio122-B (4F) of U.P.Z.A.&L.R.Act. He further submitted that against the first appellate court judgment, the Second Appeal was filed on behalf of Gaon Sabha through Ex Pradhan who was not empowered to file the Second Appeal and the Second Appeal was allowed without framing the substantial questions of law, even finding of fact record by the first appellate Court was not set aside and second appeal has been outrightly allowed. Counsel for the petitioner placed reliance upon paragraph Nos.128 and 131 of Gaon Sabha Manual which are as follows:

"128.The conduit of Gaon Sabha Litigation shall not depend upon the individual discretion of the Chairman of the Bhumi Prabandhak Samiti (Land Management Committee) but shall be a matter of a resolution of the Bhumi Prabandhak Samiti (Land Management Committee) as a whole. In urgent cases, however, the Chairman can take action on his ow and seek ratification of the Bhumi Prabandhak Samiti (Land Management Committee) afterwards by including in the agenda of the next ensuing meeting.

131. Lawyers have been appointed who shall represent the Bhumi Prabandhak Samiti (Land Management Committee) and give it legal advice where necessary. the Committee shall not engage any lawyer other than the penal lawyer appointed. In important cases, however special lawyers can be engaged with the specific provisions of the Collector in writing.

There is a Vakil or mukhtar in each tehsil and one civil and one revenue lawyer at the district headquarters. the District Government Counsel in in charge of the whole work.

The Bhumi Prabandhak Samiti (Land Management Committee) requiring the advice of a lawyer should request the Tahsildar or the Sub-divisional Officer to arrange for it.

The Chairman of Bhumi Prabandhak Samiti (Land Management Committee)shall consult the penal lawyer in all cases in which he is summoned or is impleaded as defendant.

If in any case the Bhumi Prabandhak Samiti (Land Management Committee) refuse to sign a plaint or to defend a case, as advised by the panel lawyer or the special lawyer, if engaged, as the case may be, or as instructed by the Tahsildar or the sub-divisional Officer, the lekhpal as Secretary of the Bhumi Prabandhak Samiti (Land Management Committee) shall act for the Bhumi Prabandhak Samiti (Land Management Committee) under orders of the Tahsildar for the above purpose only."

5. Counsel for the petitioner placed reliance upon the Judgment of this Hon'ble Court on the point of para Nos. 128 and 131 of Gaon Sabha Manual in Case of Jagdish Pandey (dead) through Lrs Vs. Additional Collector (City) Gorakhpur and others reported in 2011 (114) RD 106 in which it is held that provisions of para Nos.128 and 131 of Gaon Sabha Manual are mandatory in nature.

6. Learned counsel for the petitioner further submitted that second appeal was barred by limitation also but delay was not condoned and second appeal has been allowed.

7. On the other hand, learned counsel for the Gaon Sabha-Mr. Azad Rai, submitted that suit filed by the plaintiff was dismissed as property belonged to the gaon sabha and the second appeal was also rightly allowed as there is no requirement for framing substantial question of law by Board of Revenue under Section 331 (4) of U.P.Z.A. & L.R. Act, although they could not explained how second appeal was filed before the Board of Revenue, through Ex pradhan and how second appeal was allowed without setting aside the finding of facts.

8. I have considered the arguments advanced by the learned counsel for the parties .

9. There is not dispute about the fact that petitioner filed suit under Section 229-B/122-B (4F) of U.P.Z.A.& L.R. Act and the suit was dismissed by the trial court but in appeal suit was decreed and finding of fact has been recorded that plaintiff/petitioner being member of scheduled caste community was in possession of the plot in dispute (Plot Nos.78 area 0.401 hectares and 79Ka area 0.009 hectare) since before the relevant date, the second appellate court without condoning the delay in filing the second appeal as well as without setting aside the finding of fact recorded by the first appellate court has arbitrarily allowed the second appeal and set aside the judgment and decree of the fist appellate Court.

10. Perusal of the order passed by the second appellate court fully demonstrate that there is no finding with respect of the fact that petitioner is not in a possession of the disputed plot, there is no order for condonation of delay and even the Second Appeal has been filed at the instance of Ex-pradhan who had no authority to file second appeal before Board of Revenue in view of provisions contained in para 131 of Gaon Sabha Manual, which are mandatory in nature as held in Jagdish pandey (supra) in para No.12 and 13 which are as follows:

"12. In the instant case, it is admitted on record that the Gram Pradhan had refused to sign the memo of revision. On the contrary, the respondent no.4, Komal in his individual capacity signed the same. The respondent no.4 had no authority to do so and be a substitute of the Lekhpal, who is enjoined with this duty. Under the provisions of paragraph-131, the District Government Counsel ought to have called upon the Tehsildar to send the Lekhpal for appropriate signatures in order to file a memo of revision and that having not been done, the District Government Counsel failed to apply the provisions of paragraph-131. He could not have made Sri Komal a substitute in place of the Lekhpal of the village.

13. The provisions of Para 131 appear to be binding and peremptory in nature. The procedure therein cannot be bypassed or else it would lead to a chaos. If any person or villager is allowed to sign documents the same would be not only inappropriate but also illegal as such a person will have no authority to represent a Gaon Sabha. The said provision cannot be wished off merely as directory in view of he language employed therein."

11. He further submitted that second appeal has been arbitrarily allowed by the cryptic judgment.

12. In view of the facts and circumstances of the case, specially that delay was not condoned in filing the second appeal and Second Appeal was entertained on behalf of the Ex-pradhan who was not empowered to file second appeal in view of the provisions contained in para Nos.128 and 131 of Gaon Sabha Manual as laid down in Jagdish Pandey (Supra), the impugned judgments and orders dated 15.04.2005 and 31.03.2005 passed by the respondent No.1 (Second Appellate Court) are hereby set aside and the judgment passed by the first appellate court dated 22.11.2003 is hereby maintained. The Writ petition stands allowed. No order as to costs.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Pankaj Bhatia, J.)

1. Supplementary Affidavit filed by the petitioner is taken on record.

2. Heard Sri Ashish Mishra, the counsel for the petitioner and the learned Standing Counsel, who appears for the respondents.

3. The present petition has been filed challenging the order dated 17.10.2018 purportedly to be passed in exercise of the power under Section 129 of the CGST Act as well as the order dated 31.10.2020 passed by the respondent no.4 whereby the appeal preferred by the petitioner has been dismissed.

4. The counsel for the petitioner states that as the Tribunal contemplated under the Act has not been constituted, as such, the petitioner is availing the remedy under Article 226 of the Constitution of India and the same is being entertained in view of the admitted position that the Tribunal contemplated under the Act has not been constituted till date.

5. The facts, in brief, are that the petitioner company is a company incorporated under the Companies Act and has a warehouse situate at Lucknow as well as at Haryana Gurgaon. The company for the purposes of transportation of the goods from Lucknow to Haryana hired a transporter for transporting the said goods on which a bilty tax invoice and Part-A of the e-way bill were generated and are contained in Annexure no.1. It is stated that the petitioner paid the tax as were required under the IGST Act, however, on account of an inadvertence Part-B of the e-way bill was not generated prior to the commencement of the transport of goods. It is on record that the driver commenced the journey on 24.09.2018 at 9.30 pm from the warehouse of the petitioner company and was intercepted on 25.09.2018 at 4.43 am.

6. The case of the petitioner's company is that although the Part-B of the e-way bill was not generated, the same was attributable to the transporter, however, before the goods were actually seized, the e-way bill was generated at about 7.34 am in the morning on the next date i.e. 25.09.2018. It is stated that despite the fact that the petitioner had uploaded the Part-B of the e-way bill at about 7.34 am, the respondents authorities proceeded to pass a detention order on 29.09.2018 mainly on the ground that till 4.43 am on 25.09.2018, the Part-B of the e-way bill had not been generated.

7. The counsel for the petitioner has drawn my attention to the inspection memo of the vehicle in question which was carried out on 29.09.2018 at about 5.47 pm.

8. As the goods were not being released, the petitioner approached this court by filing a Writ Petition Misc. Bench No.33276 of 2018, which was disposed off on 16.11.2018 directing the release of the goods on the petitioner furnishing the security in terms of section 129 read with section 67 of the CGST Act 2017. It is stated that in terms of the said order, the goods were released on the petitioner furnishing a bank guarantee to the respondents on 07.12.2018 amounting to Rs.1,25,49,539/-.

9. It is stated that prior to the release of the goods, a show cause notice was issued to the petitioner company on 29.09.2018, which is contained in Annexure no.9 whereby the petitioner was called upon to show cause as to why the proposed tax and the penalty may not be levied against the petitioner. The said show cause notice was issued under section 129 (3) read with section 20 of the CGST Act. The petitioner submitted a detailed reply to the show cause notice and prayed that the show cause notice be dropped mainly on the ground that the tax was duly paid as was required under the Act and the Part-B of the e-way bill was also uploaded prior to the passing of the detention order. It is claimed that despite the submission of the reply, the department without considering the same imposed a tax liability of Rs.62,74,769.40 and levied an equal penalty of Rs.62,74,769.40 by means of an order dated 17.10.2018 as contained in Annexure no.12.

10. It is argued that the petitioner was never served with a copy of the order dated 17.10.2018, as such, the petitioner could not prefer the appeal within the prescribed time as a result whereof the respondent has threatened to encash the bank guarantee and to avoid the same, the petitioner deposited the amount as was determined against the petitioner in view of the order dated 17.10.2018. The petitioner thereafter preferred an appeal no.3 of 2019 which too has been dismissed by means of the order dated 31.10.2020.

11. The counsel for the petitioner argues that the appeal has been wrongly dismissed mainly agreeing with the findings recorded by the assessing authority which in turn had passed the order against the petitioner solely placing reliance on the judgment of the High Court of Madhya Pradesh which was passed placing reliance on the judgment in the case of VSL Alloys (India) Pvt. Ltd. vs. State of U.P and others reported in 2018 (67) NTN-DX 1.

12. The contention of the counsel for the petitioner is that the order imposing tax liability as well as the appellate order are bad in law and contrary to the mandate of the provisions of the CGST Act. He argues that from the plain reading of the section 129 of the Act, it is clear that on the goods being detained, the same are to be released on the owner of the goods or any other person coming forward and offering to pay the amount as indicated in clause-a, clause-b and clause-c of Section 129(1) of the Act. He argues that to determine the amount which is liable to be paid under clause-a, clause-b and clause-c of Section 129 (1), the proper officer is empowered to specify the penalty payable. He argues that although the proper officer is empowered to specify the penalty which should be paid or offered to be paid under clause-a, clause-b or clause-c of Section 129(1) of the Act, there is no power to determine the penalty payable which can be done only in terms of the mandate of Section 122 of the CGST Act.

13. He further argues that admittedly no proceedings for determination of the penalty or for determination of the tax outstanding have been initiated either under section 73 or 74 of the CGST Act or under section 122 of the CGST Act. He further argues that in any event there was never any dispute that the tax which is required to be paid for transport of the goods was not paid and thus, the demand as well as the imposition of the penalty is neither justified nor proper exercise of the power. He further argues that no proceedings under section 73, 74 or 75 of the Act have also been initiated against the petitioner for determination of the tax liability. Thus, in short the submission of the counsel for the petitioner is that in terms of the mandate of section 129, the proper officer is neither authorized nor justified in determining the tax or imposing the penalty as has been done by means of the impugned orders and thus, the impugned orders are liable to be set aside and the amount deposited by the petitioner is liable to be refunded.

14. The Standing Counsel, on the other hand, argues that admittedly Part-B of the e-way bill was not uploaded by the petitioner prior to the commencement of the transport, which is a mandatory requirement under Rule 138 of the Rules framed under the Act and once it is admitted by the petitioner that Part-B of the e-way bill was not uploaded, no error can be found with the orders passed by the authority in exercising of the power under section 129 of the Act. He further argues that a duty is cast upon the petitioner to have uploaded Part-B of the e-way bill, which has not been discharged. In light of the said, he argues that the petition lacks merit and is liable to be dismissed.

15. The counsel for the petitioner has placed reliance on the judgment passed by this Court in Writ Tax No.763 of 2018 decided on 09.5.2018 (Modern Traders vs. State of U.P.) ; the judgment in Writ Tax No.344 of 2018 decided on 07.02.2020 (Skipper Limited vs. Union of India); the judgment in Writ Tax No.360 of 2020 decided on 17.12.2020 (Metenere Ltd. vs. Union of India and others).

16. The Standing Counsel, on the other hand, places reliance on the judgment of the M.P. High Court in the case of Gati Kintetsu Express Ltd. vs. Commercial Tax of M.P. and others decided on 05.7.2018 reported at (2018) 56 GSTR 114. He also places reliance on the judgment of the Madras High Court in Writ Petition No.1431 of 2020 (M/s Ideal Movers Private Limited vs. The State Tax Officer (ENF), Roving Squad, Vellore) decided on 24.01.2020. In the light of the said, it is ultimately argued that the writ petition is liable to be allowed.

17. Considering the submissions made at the bar, it is essential to see the mandatory provisions and scheme of the CGST Act which cover the issue in question particularly Sections 73, 74 and 75 read with section 122 and 129 and the Rule 138 of the CGST Rules.

18. CGST Act is provided into 21 Chapters. Chapter III of the said Act provides for levy and collection of the tax. Chapter IV concerns with the time and value of the supply. Chapter X of the Act provides for liability of the payment of tax. Chapter XV of the Act in question, with which we are concern, provides for manner and demands or recovery.

19. Section 73 of the Act provides for determination of tax which is not paid or short paid or erroneously refunded or on account of wrong availment inputs tax credit for any reason other than fraud or any wilful misstatement or suppression of facts. Section 73 is quoted herein below :

73. Determination of tax not paid or short paid or erroneously refunded or input tax credit wrongly availed or utilised for any reason other than fraud or any willful-misstatement or suppression of facts.-- (1) Where it appears to the proper officer that any tax has not been paid or short paid or erroneously refunded, or where input tax credit has been wrongly availed or utilised for any reason, other than the reason of fraud or any wilful-misstatement or suppression of facts to evade tax, he shall serve notice on the person chargeable with tax which has not been so paid or which has been so short paid or to whom the refund has erroneously been made, or who has wrongly availed or utilised input tax credit, requiring him to show cause as to why he should not pay the amount specified in the notice along with interest payable thereon under section 50 and a penalty leviable under the provisions of this Act or the rules made thereunder.

(2) The proper officer shall issue the notice under sub-section (1) at least three months prior to the time limit specified in sub-section (10) for issuance of order.

(3) Where a notice has been issued for any period under sub-section (1), the proper officer may serve a statement, containing the details of tax not paid or short paid or erroneously refunded or input tax credit wrongly availed or utilised for such periods other than those covered under sub-section (1), on the person chargeable with tax.

(4) The service of such statement shall be deemed to be service of notice on such person under sub-section (1), subject to the condition that the grounds relied upon for such tax periods other than those covered under sub-section (1) are the same as are mentioned in the earlier notice.

(5) The person chargeable with tax may, before service of notice under subsection (1) or, as the case may be, the statement under sub-section (3), pay the amount of tax along with interest payable thereon under section 50 on the basis of his own ascertainment of such tax or the tax as ascertained by the proper officer and inform the proper officer in writing of such payment.

(6) The proper officer, on receipt of such information, shall not serve any notice under sub-section (1) or, as the case may be, the statement under sub-section (3), in respect of the tax so paid or any penalty payable under the provisions of this Act or the rules made thereunder.

(7) Where the proper officer is of the opinion that the amount paid under sub-section (5) falls short of the amount actually payable, he shall proceed to issue the notice as provided for in sub-section (1) in respect of such amount which falls short of the amount actually payable.

(8) Where any person chargeable with tax under sub-section (1) or sub-section (3) pays the said tax along with interest payable under section 50 within thirty days of issue of show cause notice, no penalty shall be payable and all proceedings in respect of the said notice shall be deemed to be concluded.

(9) The proper officer shall, after considering the representation, if any, made by person chargeable with tax, determine the amount of tax, interest and a penalty equivalent to ten per cent of tax or ten thousand rupees, whichever is higher, due from such person and issue an order.

(10) The proper officer shall issue the order under sub-section (9) within three years from the due date for furnishing of annual return for the financial year to which the tax not paid or short paid or input tax credit wrongly availed or utilised relates to or within three years from the date of erroneous refund.

(11) Notwithstanding anything contained in sub-section (6) or sub-section (8), penalty under sub-section (9) shall be payable where any amount of self-assessed tax or any amount collected as tax has not been paid within a period of thirty days from the due date of payment of such tax.

20. Section 74 of the said Act confers power of determination of tax not paid or short paid or erroneously refunded or in case of wrongful availment of input tax credit availed or utilized by the reasons of fraud or any wilful misstatement or suppression of facts. Section 74 is quoted herein below :

74. Determination of tax not paid or short paid or erroneously refunded or input tax credit wrongly availed or utilised by reason of fraud or any willful-misstatement or suppression of facts.--

(1) Where it appears to the proper officer that any tax has not been paid or short paid or erroneously refunded or where input tax credit has been wrongly availed or utilised by reason of fraud, or any wilful-misstatement or suppression of facts to evade tax, he shall serve notice on the person chargeable with tax which has not been so paid or which has been so short paid or to whom the refund has erroneously been made, or who has wrongly availed or utilised input tax credit, requiring him to show cause as to why he should not pay the amount specified in the notice along with interest payable thereon under section 50 and a penalty equivalent to the tax specified in the notice.

(2) The proper officer shall issue the notice under sub-section (1) at least six months prior to the time limit specified in sub-section (10) for issuance of order.

(3) Where a notice has been issued for any period under sub-section (1), the proper officer may serve a statement, containing the details of tax not paid or short paid or erroneously refunded or input tax credit wrongly availed or utilised for such periods other than those covered under sub-section (1), on the person chargeable with tax.

(4) The service of statement under sub-section (3) shall be deemed to be service of notice under sub-section (1) of section 73, subject to the condition that the grounds relied upon in the said statement, except the ground of fraud, or any wilful-misstatement or suppression of facts to evade tax, for periods other than those covered under subsection (1) are the same as are mentioned in the earlier notice.

(5) The person chargeable with tax may, before service of notice under sub-section (1), pay the amount of tax along with interest payable under section 50 and a penalty equivalent to fifteen per cent. of such tax on the basis of his own ascertainment of such tax or the tax as ascertained by the proper officer and inform the proper officer in writing of such payment.

(6) The proper officer, on receipt of such information, shall not serve any notice under sub-section (1), in respect of the tax so paid or any penalty payable under the provisions of this Act or the rules made thereunder.

(7) Where the proper officer is of the opinion that the amount paid under sub-section (5) falls short of the amount actually payable, he shall proceed to issue the notice as provided for in sub-section (1) in respect of such amount which falls short of the amount actually payable.

(8) Where any person chargeable with tax under sub-section (1) pays the said tax along with interest payable under section 50 and a penalty equivalent to twenty-five per cent of such tax within thirty days of issue of the notice, all proceedings in respect of the said notice shall be deemed to be concluded.

(9) The proper officer shall, after considering the representation, if any, made by the person chargeable with tax, determine the amount of tax, interest and penalty due from such person and issue an order.

(10) The proper officer shall issue the order under sub-section (9) within a period of five years from the due date for furnishing of annual return for the financial year to which the tax not paid or short paid or input tax credit wrongly availed or utilised relates to or within five years from the date of erroneous refund.

(11) Where any person served with an order issued under sub-section (9) pays the tax along with interest payable thereon under section 50 and a penalty equivalent to fifty per cent of such tax within thirty days of communication of the order, all proceedings in respect of the said notice shall be deemed to be concluded.

Explanation 1.--For the purposes of section 73 and this section,--

(i) the expression "all proceedings in respect of the said notice" shall not include proceedings under section 132;

(ii) where the notice under the same proceedings is issued to the main person liable to pay tax and some other persons, and such proceedings against the main person have been concluded under section 73 or section 74, the proceedings against all the persons liable to pay penalty under sections 122 and 125 are deemed to be concluded.

Explanation 2.--For the purposes of this Act, the expression "suppression" shall mean non-declaration of facts or information which a taxable person is required to declare in the return, statement, report or any other document furnished under this Act or the rules made thereunder, or failure to furnish any information on being asked for, in writing, by the proper officer.

21. Thus, Sections 73 and 74 deal with situations of determination of tax in case of non-payment simplicitor or for the reasons of fraud or wilful misstatement or suppression of facts respectively.

22. Chapter XIX of the said Act provides for offences and penalties. Section 122 of the Act provides for the quantum of penalty leviable in the event of a taxable person falling on the grounds mentioned under section 122(1) clause (i) to clause (xxi). The quantum of penalty is also specified under section 122 (1) of the Act. Section 122(1) is quoted herein below :

122. Penalty for certain offences.-- (1) Where a taxable person who--

(i) supplies any goods or services or both without issue of any invoice or issues an incorrect or false invoice with regard to any such supply;

(ii) issues any invoice or bill without supply of goods or services or both in violation of the provisions of this Act or the rules made thereunder;

(iii) collects any amount as tax but fails to pay the same to the Government beyond a period of three months from the date on which such payment becomes due;

(iv) collects any tax in contravention of the provisions of this Act but fails to pay the same to the Government beyond a period of three months from the date on which such payment becomes due;

(vi) fails to collect tax in accordance with the provisions of sub-section (1) of section 52, or collects an amount which is less than the amount required to be collected under the said sub-section or where he fails to pay to the Government the amount collected as tax under sub-section (3) of section 52;

(vii) takes or utilises input tax credit without actual receipt of goods or services or both either fully or partially, in contravention of the provisions of this Act or the rules made thereunder;

(viii) fraudulently obtains refund of tax under this Act;

(ix) takes or distributes input tax credit in contravention of section 20, or the rules made thereunder;

(x) falsifies or substitutes financial records or produces fake accounts or documents or furnishes any false information or return with an intention to evade payment of tax due under this Act;

(xi) is liable to be registered under this Act but fails to obtain registration;

(xii) furnishes any false information with regard to registration particulars, either at the time of applying for registration, or subsequently;

(xiii) obstructs or prevents any officer in discharge of his duties under this Act;

(xiv) transports any taxable goods without the cover of documents as may be specified in this behalf;

(xv) suppresses his turnover leading to evasion of tax under this Act;

(xvi) fails to keep, maintain or retain books of account and other documents in accordance with the provisions of this Act or the rules made thereunder;

(xvii) fails to furnish information or documents called for by an officer in accordance with the provisions of this Act or the rules made thereunder or furnishes false information or documents during any proceedings under this Act;

(xviii) supplies, transports or stores any goods which he has reasons to believe are liable to confiscation under this Act;

(xix) issues any invoice or document by using the registration number of another registered person;

(xx) tampers with, or destroys any material evidence or document;

(xxi) disposes off or tampers with any goods that have been detained, seized, or attached under this Act,

Shall be liable to pay a penalty of ten thousand rupees or an amount equivalent to the tax evaded or the tax not deducted under section 51 or short deducted or deducted but not paid to the Government or tax not collected under section 52 or short collected or collected but not paid to the Government or input tax credit availed of or passed on or distributed irregularly, or the refund claimed fraudulently, whichever is higher.

23. In the same Chapter, there is a procedure prescribed under section 129 which is invocable in respect of the goods and conveyances in transit. Section 129 is quoted herein below :

"129. Detention, seizure and release of goods and conveyances in transit.--(1) Notwithstanding anything contained in this Act, where any person transports any goods or stores any goods while they are in transit in contravention of the provisions of this Act or the rules made thereunder, all such goods and conveyance used as a means of transport for carrying the said goods and documents relating to such goods and conveyance shall be liable to detention or seizure and after detention or seizure, shall be released,--

(a) on payment of penalty equal to two hundred per cent of the tax payable on such goods and, in case of exempted goods, on payment of an amount equal to two per cent of the value of goods or twenty-five thousand rupees, whichever is less, where the owner of the goods comes forward for payment of such penalty;

(b) on payment of penalty equal to the fifty per cent of the value of the goods or two hundred percent of the tax payable on such goods, whichever is higher, and in case of exempted goods, on payment of an amount equal to five percent of the value of goods or twenty five thousand rupees, whichever is less, where the owner of the goods does not come forward for payment of such penalty;

(c) upon furnishing a security equivalent to the amount payable under clause (a) or clause (b) in such form and manner as may be prescribed:

Provided that no such goods or conveyance shall be detained or seized without serving an order of detention or seizure on the person transporting the goods.

(3) The proper officer detaining or seizing goods or conveyance shall issue a notice within seven days of such detention or seizure, specifying penalty payable, and thereafter, pass an order within a period of seven days from the date of service of such notice, for payment of penalty under clause (a) or clause (b) of sub-section (1).

(4) No penalty shall be determined under sub-section (3) without giving the person concerned an opportunity of being heard.

(5) On payment of amount referred in sub-section (1), all proceedings in respect of the notice specified in sub-section (3) shall be deemed to be concluded.

(6) Where the person transporting any goods or the owner of such goods fails to pay the amount of penalty under sub-section (1) within fifteen days from the date of receipt of the copy of the order passed under sub-section (3), the goods or conveyance so detained or seized shall be liable to be sold or disposed of otherwise, in such manner and within such time as may be prescribed, to recover the penalty payable under sub-section (3):

Provided that the conveyance shall be released on payment by the transporter of penalty under sub-section (3) or one lakh rupees, whichever is less:

Provided further that where the detained or seized goods are perishable or hazardous in nature or are likely to depreciate in value with passage of time, the said period of fifteen days may be reduced by the proper officer."

24. Thus, in the Act in question, the power of inspection, search and seizure can be carried out under Chapter XIV or in case of goods in transit under section 129. Section 129, on the plain reading, can be equated with an alternative dispute redressal mechanism and provides an opportunity to the owner of the goods or any other person to pay amounts as specified under section 129 (1)(a) or (b) or (c) of the said Act.

25. On a plain reading of clause 129(1)(a) of the Act, which provides for payment of penalty equal to 200% of the tax payable on such goods or penalty equal to 50% of the value of the goods, further incorporates provisions for determination of quantum of penalty under section 129(3). Thus, under the scheme of the Act, the procedure for determination of tax and penalty is contained in Chapter XV read with section 122, 123, 125, 126, 127 and 128 of the Act and a parallel procedure is prescribed under section 129 of the Act in case of goods, which are in transit.

26. Section 129, can be invoked by the department with regard to the goods in transit and the goods can be released only in the event the owner of the goods comes forward for payment of penalty as specified in clause (a) or (b) or (c) of Section 129 (1) of the Act and on payment of the said amount, the intent is to give quietus to the litigation.

27. The question that arises here is that what happened the owner of the goods or the person does not volunteer to pay the penalty as prescribed under clause (a), (b), (c) of Section 129 (1) of the Act. In the said case, the department is will equipped to initiate proceedings by taking recourse to Section 73, 74, 75 of the Act read with section 122 for determination of tax and the penalty leviable which, subject to the appeal would govern the issues in between the department and the assessee.

28. In the present case, the department has proceeded to determine the tax liability as well as penalty only under the provisions of Section 129 of the Act, which is not contemplated or intended. On a plain reading of Section 129, there is no provision under section 129 for determination of tax due, which can be done only by taking recourse to the provisions of Section 73 or 74 of the CGST Act, as the case may be.

29. As the proceedings have been initiated and concluded only under section 129 and the owner of the goods has not come forward for payment of such penalty as has been determined, the entire action of determining the tax and penalty under section 129(1) as has been done by means of the impugned order and upheld in the appellate proceedings, impugned before this Court, I have no hesitation in holding that the order passed on 17.10.2018 and as upheld by the order dated 31.10.2020 are not legally substitutable and are accordingly set aside. The amount paid by the petitioner for release of the goods shall be refunded to the petitioner with all expedition preferably within a period of two months from today.

30. With the said observations, the writ petition is allowed.

1. Heard learned counsel for the petitioner and Sri Varun Pandey, learned counsel for the Union of India.

2. The personal liberty of the petitioner is the subject matter of contest in Crl. Misc. Writ Petition No.8213 of 2022. The arrest of the petitioner pursuant to the F.I.R. lodged against him under Sections 419, 420, 467, 468, 471 I.P.C. has been stayed in the aforesaid writ petition vide order dated 7.10.2021.

3. The present writ petition relates to re-issuance of the passport, which has already expired on 10.02.2021. The bar as regards issuance of passport or its re-issuance operates by virtue of Section 6(2)(f) of the Passport Act, 1967 which for ready reference is extracted below :-

*"6. Refusal of passports, travel documents, etc.

(2) Subject to the other provisions of this Act, the passport authority shall refuse to issue a passport or travel document for visiting any foreign country under clause (c) of sub-section (2) of section 5 on any one or more of the following grounds, and on no other ground, namely:?

(f) that proceedings in respect of an offence alleged to have been committed by the applicant are pending before a criminal court in India;"

4. The Central Government in the eventuality where the criminal proceedings are pending has issued a notification dated 25th August 1993, according to which, the exemption of any condition as regards issuance of passport may be prayed for before the competent criminal court where the proceedings are pending. The notification dated 25.8.1993 is extracted below:-

"GOVERNMENT OF INDIA

MINISTRY OF EXTERNAL AFFAIRS

NOTIFICATION

New Delhi, the 25th August, 1993

G.S.R. 570(E). - In exercise of the powers conferred by clause (a) of section 22 of the Passports Act, 1967 (15 of 1967) and in supersession of the notification of the Government of India in the Ministry of External Affairs no. G.S.R.298(E), dated the 14th April, 1976, the Central Government, being of the opinion that it is necessary in public interest to do so, hereby exempts citizens of India against whom proceedings in respect of an offence alleged to have been committed by them are pending before a criminal court in India and who produce orders from the court concerned permitting them to depart from India, from the operation of the provisions of Clause (f) of sub-section (2) of Section 6 of the said Act, subject to the following conditions, namely:-

(a) the passport to the issued to every such citizen shall be issued--

(i) for the period specified in order of the court referred to above, if the court specifies a period for which the passport has to be issued; or

(ii) if no period either for the issue of the passport or for the travel abroad is specified in such order, the passport shall be issued for a period one year,

(iii) if such order gives permission to travel abroad for a period less than one year, but does not specify the period validity of the passport, the passport shall be issued for one year; or

(iv) if such order gives permission to travel abroad for a period exceeding one year, and does not specify the validity of the passport, then the passport shall be issued for the period of travel abroad specified in the order.

(b) any passport issued in terms of a(ii) and a(iii) above can be further renewed for one year at a time, provided the applicant has not travelled abroad for the period sanctioned by the court; and provided further that, in the meantime, the order of the court is not cancelled or modified;

(c) any passport issued in terms of a(i) above can be further renewed only on the basis of a fresh court order specifying a further period of validity of the passport or specifying a period for travel abroad;

(d) the said citizen shall give an undertaking in writing to the passport issuing authority that he shall, if required by the court concerned, appear before it at any time during the continuance in force of the passport so issued".

5. In the present case, however, personal liberty of the petitioner is the subject matter of consideration in the aforesaid writ petition wherein the arrest of the petitioner has been stayed pending investigation. The issuance of passport is a part and parcel of personal liberty protected under Article 21 of the Constitution of India.

6. The petitioner is at liberty to make an application in the pending writ petition and in case any such application is made the same may be dealt with in accordance with law. However, the writ petition cannot be entertained as an independent cause for the relief sought herein particularly when the legality of Section 6(2)(f) remains intact in view of the judgment rendered by Delhi High Court in Writ Petition(c) 1524 of 2015; Prashant Bhushan versus Union of India and another which we are in agreement with.

7. The writ petition is accordingly disposed of with the liberty open to the petitioner.

ORDER

1. The petitioner challenges the order dated 30.10.2019 passed by the Chief Executive Officer, NOIDA, refusing additional compensation for his acquired land, claimed on the basis of a right hereinafter detailed.

2. The petitioner's land comprising Khasra No. 545 admeasuring 7-14-15 situate in village Tugalpur, Pargana Dadari, Tehsil Sadar, District Gautam Buddh Nagar was proposed to be acquired by the State Government vide notification issued under Section 4(1) read with Section 17(4) of the Land Acquisition Act, 1894 (for short "the Act') dated September 9, 1997. A declaration under Section 6 read with Section 17 (1) of the Act dated October 9, 1998 followed. The acquired land of Khasra No. 545 (supra) shall hereinafter be referred to as "the land in dispute'.

3. The land in dispute was acquired according to the notification under Section 4(1) and the declaration under Section 6(1) for the purpose of "planned industrial development" for Greater Noida Industrial Development Authority. Besides the land in dispute, lands of other tenure holders of village Tugalpur were also acquired. Award in respect of the acquired land in the village including the land in dispute was pronounced on March 31st, 2010 under Section 11(2) of the Act. After pronouncement of the award, compensation for individual tenure holders has been drawn up in Form 11, which includes compensation for the land in dispute.

4. Number of notifications relating to different villages within the development area of Greater Noida Industrial Development Authority and the New Okhla Industrial Development Authority were challenged before this Court. One of the challenge that was laid by the landholders related to village Patwari. Civil Misc. Writ Petition No.17068 of 2009, Har Karan Singh vs. State of U.P. and others was filed relating to the subject acquisition in village Patwari. The writ petition aforesaid, along with connected writ petitions, also relating to the same village, were allowed and the acquisition notifications quashed.

5. Later on, a Division Bench of this Court, hearing a challenge to the same notifications dated March 12, 2008 and June 30, 2008 that was in issue in Har Karan Singh's case (supra) in Writ Petition No. 37443 of 2011, Gajraj and others vs. State of U.P. and others along with similar petitions, doubted the correctness of the judgment in Har Karan Singh's case. A reference was made for the constitution of a Larger Bench.

6. Shorn of unnecessary detail, the Full Bench that was constituted pursuant to the reference, proceeded to decide a large bunch of writ petitions challenging the land acquisition notifications relating to various villages falling in the development area of Greater Noida and Noida vide judgment in Gajraj and others vs. State of U.P. and others, 2011 (11) ADJ 1 (FB). In Gajraj's case (supra) the following directions were issued :

"482. In view of the foregoing conclusions we order as follows:

1. The Writ Petition No. 45933 of 2011, Writ Petition No. 47545 of 2011 relating to village Nithari, Writ Petition No. 47522 of 2011 relating to village Sadarpur, Writ Petition No. 45196 of 2011, Writ Petition No. 45208 of 2011, Writ Petition No. 45211 of 2011, Writ Petition No. 45213 of 2011, Writ Petition No. 45216 of 2011, Writ Petition No. 45223 of 2011, Writ Petition No. 45224 of 2011, Writ Petition No. 45226 of 2011, Writ Petition No. 45229 of 2011, Writ Petition No. 45230 of 2011, Writ Petition No. 45235 of 2011, Writ Petition No. 45238 of 2011, Writ Petition No. 45283 of 2011 relating to village Khoda, Writ Petition No. 46764 of 2011, Writ Petition No. 46785 of 2011 relating to village Sultanpur, Writ Petition No. 46407 of 2011 relating to village Chaura Sadatpur and Writ Petition No. 46470 of 2011 relating to village Alaverdipur which have been filed with inordinate delay and laches are dismissed.

2(i) The writ petitions of Group 40 (Village Devla) being Writ Petition No. 31126 of 2011, Writ Petition No. 59131 of 2009, Writ Petition No. 22800 of 2010, Writ Petition No. 37118 of 2011, Writ Petition No. 42812 of 2009, Writ Petition No. 50417 of 2009, Writ Petition No. 54424 of 2009, Writ Petition No. 54652 of 2009, Writ Petition No. 55650 of 2009, Writ Petition No. 57032 of 2009, Writ Petition No. 58318 of 2009, Writ Petition No. 22798 of 2010, Writ Petition No. 37784 of 2010, Writ Petition No. 37787 of 2010, Writ Petition No. 31124 of 2011, Writ Petition No. 31125 of 2011, Writ Petition No. 32234 of 2011, Writ Petition No. 32987 of 2011, Writ Petition No. 35648 of 2011, Writ Petition No. 38059 of 2011, Writ Petition No. 41339 of 2011, Writ Petition No. 47427 of 2011 and Writ Petition No. 47412 of 2011 are allowed and the notifications dated 26.5.2009 and 22.6.2009 and all consequential actions are quashed. The petitioners shall be entitled for restoration of their land subject to deposit of compensation which they had received under agreement/award before the authority/Collector.

2(ii) Writ petition No. 17725 of 2010 Omveer and others v. State of U.P. (Group 38) relating to village Yusufpur Chak Sahberi is allowed. Notifications dated 10.4.2006 and 6.9.2007 and all consequential actions are quashed. The petitioners shall be entitled for restoration of their land subject to return of compensation received by them under agreement/award to the Collector.

2(iii) Writ Petition No. 47486 of 2011 (Rajee and others v. State of U.P. and others) of Group-42 relating to village Asdullapur is allowed. The notification dated 27.1.2010 and 4.2.2010 as well as all subsequent proceedings are quashed. The petitioners shall be entitled to restoration of their land.

3. All other writ petitions except as mentioned above at (1) and (2) are disposed of with following directions:

(a) The petitioners shall be entitled for payment of additional compensation to the extent of same ratio (i.e. 64.70%) as paid for village Patwari in addition to the compensation received by them under 1997 Rules/award which payment shall be ensured by the Authority at an early date. It may be open for Authority to take a decision as to what proportion of additional compensation be asked to be paid by allottees. Those petitioners who have not yet been paid compensation may be paid the compensation as well as additional compensation as ordered above. The payment of additional compensation shall be without any prejudice to rights of land owners under Section 18 of the Act, if any.

(b) All the petitioners shall be entitled for allotment of developed Abadi plot to the extent of 10% of their acquired land subject to maximum of 2500 square meters. We however, leave it open to the Authority in cases where allotment of abadi plot to the extent of 6% or 8% have already been made either to make allotment of the balance of the area or may compensate the land owners by payment of the amount equivalent to balance area as per average rate of allotment made of developed residential plots.

4. The Authority may also take a decision as to whether benefit of additional compensation and allotment of abadi plot to the extent of 10% be also given to ;

(a) those land holders whose earlier writ petition challenging the notifications have been dismissed upholding the notifications; and

(b) those land holders who have not come to the Court, relating to the notifications which are subject matter of challenge in writ petitions mentioned at direction No. 3.

5. The Greater NOIDA and its allottees are directed not to carry on development and not to implement the Master Plan 2021 till the observations and directions of the National Capital Regional Planning Board are incorporated in Master Plan 2021 to the satisfaction of the National Capital Regional Planning Board. We make it clear that this direction shall not be applicable in those cases where the development is being carried on in accordance with the earlier Master Plan of the Greater NOIDA duly approved by the National Capital Regional Planning Board.

6. We direct the Chief Secretary of the State to appoint officers not below the level of Principal Secretary (except the officers of Industrial Development Department who have dealt with the relevant files) to conduct a thorough inquiry regarding the acts of Greater Noida (a) in proceeding to implement Master Plan 2021 without approval of N.C.R.P. Board, (b) decisions taken to change the land use, (c) allotment made to the builders and (d) indiscriminate proposals for acquisition of land, and thereafter the State Government shall take appropriate action in the matter."

7. Some of the land owners, aggrieved by the judgment of the Full Bench of this Court in Gajraj, petitioned the Supreme Court seeking Special Leave to Appeal. Leave was granted and Civil Appeal No. 4506 of 2015, Savitri Devi vs. State of U.P. and others along with connected matters was decided by the Supreme Court vide judgment and order dated May 14, 2015, reported as (2015) 7 SCC 21. In Savitri Devi (supra) the following orders were passed by their Lordships:

"48. To sum up, the following benefits are accorded to the landowners:

48.1. Increasing the compensation by 64.7%;

48.2. Directing allotment of developed abadi land to the extent of 10% of the land acquired of each of the landowners;

48.3. Compensation which is increased @ 64.7% is payable immediately without taking away the rights of the landowners to claim higher compensation under the machinery provided in the Land Acquisition Act wherein the matter would be examined on the basis of the evidence produced to arrive at just and fair market value.

50. Keeping in view all these peculiar circumstances, we are of the opinion that these are not the cases where this Court should interfere under Article 136 of the Constitution. However, we make it clear that directions of the High Court are given in the aforesaid unique and peculiar/specific background and, therefore, it would not form precedent for future cases."

(Emphasis by Court)

8. In between the decision of the Full Bench of this Court in Gajraj and the judgment of the Supreme Court in Savitri Devi as well as post Savitri Devi, there was lot of turmoil about the rights of parties relating to the additional compensation of 64.70% and allotment of 10% land to the ousted landholders. The Greater Noida Board and the Noida Board adopted resolutions determining the entitlement of parties in terms of the decision of the Full Bench in Gajraj and later reviewed those decisions after the decision in Savitri Devi.

9. The issue that arose before the Authority related to demand for additional compensation and allotment of 10% developed land proportionate to the area of landholders acquired, put forward by those, whose writ petitions were not before the Full Bench in Gajraj or whose writ petitions had been dismissed upholding the notifications. This demand came because of the directions appearing in sub-paragraph 4 of para 482 in the judgment in Gajraj. Later on, this part of the direction was modified by their Lordships of the Supreme Court, making it clear that the directions of this Court in Gajraj were issued in the peculiar and specific background of the case and would not serve as precedent for other cases.

10. In between the judgment of the Full Bench of this Court in Gajraj and the modifications of the directions there by the Supreme Court in Savitri Devi, there was again a lot of turmoil arising out of claims made by landholders whose notifications were either not under challenge in Gajraj or their challenge had failed already. All such persons or most of them have from time to time come forward with the demand for additional compensation of 64.70 % besides allotment of 10% developed land by the Authority concerned. About these claims, resolutions were adopted by the Greater Noida and the Noida, but the State Government intervened. A detail about the developments in the Board resolutions of the Greater Noida and the Noida, besides orders of the State Government, find eloquent mention in the decision of this Court in Runwell India Pvt. Ltd. vs. State of U.P. and others, Writ - C No. - 14113 of 2017 decided on May 31, 2022 and need not be recapitulated.

11. It is pellucid from the directions issued by the Full Bench in Gajraj as modified by the Supreme Court in Savitri Devi that the benefit of additional compensation to the tune of 64.70% of the awarded compensation besides allotment of 10% Abadi land to the oustees, is confined to landholders who were before the Court in Gajraj and not those who staked their claim post decision in Gajraj playing the proverbial fence sitter. This issue fell for consideration before a Division Bench of this Court in Ashok Kumar and others vs. State of U.P. and others, Writ - C No.

32969 of 2021 decided on March 3, 2022, where it has been held:

"5. After hearing the learned counsel for the parties, we do not find that any case is made out for issuing directions, as prayed for by the petitioners. Hon'ble the Supreme Court in the case of Savitri Devi v. State of U.P. (2015)7 SCC 21, in paragraph 50 has specifically held that the directions issued by this Court in Gajraj's case (supra) will not be a precedent for future as the judgment was delivered in peculiar facts and circumstances of that case. Referring to Savitri Devi's case (supra) the same view has again been expressed by Hon'ble the Supreme Court in paragraph 48 of the judgment in Khatoon and others v. State of U.P. and others (2018)14 SCC 346. Further, a perusal of the judgments sought to be relied by the learned counsel for the petitioners suggest that those were passed on the concession given by the learned counsel for the State that the issues raised are squarely covered by the Full Bench judgment in Gajraj's case (supra). This Court has not decided the issues on merits.

6. Once it is not in dispute that the acquisition in question was not the subject matter of consideration before the Full Bench of this Court in Gajraj's case (supra), no benefits granted therein shall accrue to the petitioners."

12. The writ petitioner here had not challenged the notification dated September 9, 1997 issued under Section 4(1) of the Act relating to the land in dispute or the declaration under Section 6(1) dated October 9, 1998 through a writ petition that was subject matter of consideration before the Full Bench in Gajraj. The petitioner has come with a mammoth delay to claim the benefit of the directions for payment of additional compensation of 64.70%, going by the directions in Gajraj. Interestingly, the petitioner has pleaded his right on the basis of the decision of the Full Bench in Gajraj but has not said, as much as by a whisper, about the modification of the relevant directions for payment of additional compensation by the Supreme Court in Savitri Devi's case (supra). The petitioner asserts that in a writ petition filed much later after the decision in Gajraj, a Division Bench of this Court in Jai Pal and others vs. State of U.P. and others, Writ - C No. 7938 of 2012 decided on 21.05.2014, has extended the benefit of 64.70% of additional compensation to the ousted landholders, following the directions in Gajraj, though the petitioners there had not challenged the acquisition through a writ petition that was before the Full Bench in Gajraj. Referring to Savitri Devi's case (supra) the same view has again been expressed by Hon'ble the Supreme Court in Paragraph 48 of the judgement in Khatoon and others vs. State of U.P. and others, (2018) 14 SCC 346.

13. It is also pointed out that the writ petitioners in Jai Pal (supra) had entered into an agreement for payment of compensation under the U.P. Land Acquisition (Determination of Compensation & Declaration of Compensation and Declaration of Award by Agreement) Rules, 1997. They had received compensation in terms of the said rules. Yet, going by the directions in the Gajraj's case (supra), they were ordered to be paid additional compensation.

14. The submission of the learned counsel for the petitioner is that the petitioner's case stands on a better footing and he is entitled to additional compensation on the same principles. These issues have already been examined by the Division Bench in Runwell India Pvt. Ltd. and the Division Bench of this Court in Ashok Kumar (supra), where the ratio was clear and unmistakable. It is to this effect: any claim for additional compensation based on the directions in the Full Bench directions in Gajraj which have been issued in the special facts of the case and confined to the landholders who were before the Court in Gajraj cannot be entertained. The benefit cannot be extended to the fence-sitters, who now raise claims for additional compensation. This is the clear purport of the directions of the Supreme Court in Savitri Devi modifying the relative directions in Gajraj.

15. It is for this reason that the petitioner's claim for additional compensation, for his lands acquired long ago, canvassed by petitioning the Greater Noida Industrial Development Authority, was turned down by means of the order dated October 30, 2019 that he has impugned in this petition.

16. For all the reasons indicated hereinabove, we do not find any infirmity in the order impugned passed by the Chief Executive Officer, Greater Noida Industrial Development Authority.

17. The writ petition fails and is hereby, dismissed. There shall be no order as to costs.

4. Writ C No. 5098 of 2017; Ajay Pratap Singh Vs St. of U.P. & ors. decided on 6.7.2022

(Delivered by Hon'ble Pankaj Bhatia, J.)

1. Both the petitions involve the interpretation of provisions of law which is similar, as such, they are being decided by means of the common judgment.

2. Facts of Writ - C No.9330 of 2016:

i. The petitioner was granted a license for retail sale of foreign liquor at Mohammadabad, District Gazipur for the excise year 2009 - 10 under the Uttar Pradesh Excise (Settlement of License for Model Shop of Foreign Liquor) Rules, 2003 (hereinafter referred to as "the 2003 Rules') and the said license was renewed up to the year 2015-16. It is alleged that an FIR was lodged against the petitioner, which was registered as Case Crime No.67 of 2015 at P.S. Mardaha, District Gazipur under Section 60 of the U.P. Excise Act read with Section 392, 411 & 120B IPC. In pursuance to the said FIR, the joint residential premises of the petitioner as well as his brother Krishna Gopal Rai was searched and a seizure memo was prepared on 17.4.2015 (Annexure - 6 to the petition). In the said seizure memo, it was averred that in the house, which is jointly owned by the petitioner as well as his brother, at the instance of the informer, a raid was carried out and in the boundary wall inside the house at the North West corner 14 crates of liquor were recovered and a sample was drawn from each of the said crates.

ii. Based upon the said recovery, the petitioner was issued with a show-cause notice dated 23.4.2015 calling upon the petitioner to show-cause as to why, in exercise of powers under Section 34(3) of the United Provinces Excise Act (hereinafter referred to as "the Act') read with Rule 17(3) of the 2003 Rules, steps may not be taken for cancellation of the license and entire amounts such as renewal fee, license fee and security etc. may not be confiscated.

iii. The petitioner submitted a reply to the said show-cause notice, which did not find favour with the Collector, Gazipur who proceeded to pass an order on 1.6.2015 cancelling the license and directed for confiscation of the entire fees etc., as well as the goods which were kept in the licensed premises of the petitioner.

iv. The petitioner preferred an appeal against the order dated 1.6.2015, which too was dismissed on 27.7.2015 and the revision preferred was also dismissed on 17.3.2016. The said orders are under challenge.

3. Learned counsel for the petitioner fairly states that the shop cannot be restituted to the petitioner and confines his submissions to the illegal confiscation of the renewal fees, license fees and the security deposit as well as the confiscation of goods which were lying at the licensed premises of the petitioner and have been subsequently auctioned.

4. Facts leading to filing of Writ - C No.9388 of 2016 is as follows:

i. The petitioner was granted license for retail sale of country liquor shops at Dubiha and Bathor, District Gazipur for the Excise Year 2009-10 and 2011-12 in terms of the provisions of Uttar Pradesh Excise (Settlement of Licenses for Retail Shop of Country Liquor) Rules, 2002 (hereinafter referred to as "the 2002 Rules'). The said two licenses granted to the petitioner were renewed up to 2015-16 and subsequently on the basis of an FIR lodged against the petitioner, a search was carried out at the premises which was being used as a residence by the petitioner alongwith his brother Ramesh Chandra Rai. In the said seizure memo prepared on 17.4.2015 (Annexure - 6), 14 crates of liquor were recovered from the North West portion of the house. In view of the said recovery, a show-cause notice was issued to the petitioner on 23.4.2015 (Annexure - 7) calling upon the petitioner to show-cause as to why steps may not be taken in purported exercise of powers under Section 34(3) of the Act read with Rule 21(3) of the Rules for cancellation of the license and for confiscation of the entire amounts deposited by the petitioner.

ii. The petitioner gave a reply to the said show-cause notice on 5.5.2015, however, the same did not find favour with the District Magistrate who proceeded to cancel the license of the petitioner vide order dated 1.6.2015 (Annexure - 3) and also directed that the entire amounts deposited by the petitioner, including the basic license fee, the renewal fee and the security deposit be forfeited and steps be taken for auction of the goods lying in the license premises of the petitioner.

iii. Aggrieved against the said order, the petitioner preferred an appeal which was dismissed on 27.7.2015. The petitioner preferred a revision which too has been dismissed on 3.2.2016. The said orders are under challenge in the present petition.

5. Learned counsel for the petitioner fairly states that the license cannot be restituted to the petitioner and confines the present writ petition to the refund of the amounts illegally confiscated as well as for refund of the amounts lying with the government on account of auction of goods lying in the licensed premises of the petitioner in pursuance to the order dated 1.6.2015.

6. Submission of learned counsel for the petitioners is that neither Section 34(3) of the Act nor Rule 17(1)(C) and Rule 17(3) of the 2003 Rules (in respect of Ramesh Chandra Rai - petitioner of Writ - C No.9330 of 2016) entitle the respondents to confiscate the amounts as has been done nor does it authorize them to sell the goods which were lying in the licensed premises.

7. Similarly, in Writ - C No.9388 of 2016 it is argued that neither under Section 34 of the Act nor under the 2002 Rules, the respondents were authorized to confiscate the amounts and the goods lying in the petitioner's premises and thus, the orders to that extent are bad in law.

8. To appreciate the controversy as raised it is essential to refer to Section 34 of the United Provinces Excise Act, 1910, which reads as under:

"34. Power to cancel or suspend licences, etc. - (1) Subject to such restrictions, as the State Government may prescribe, the authority granting any licence, permit or pass under this Act may cancel or suspend it-

(a) if any duty or fee payable by the holder thereof be not duly paid; or

(b) in the event of any breach by the holder of such licence, permit or pass or by his servants, or by any one acting on his behalf with his express or implied permission of any of the terms or conditions of such licence, permit or pass; or

(c) if the holder thereof is convicted of any offence punishable under this Act or any other law for the time being in force relating to revenue, or of any cognizable and non-bailable offence, or of any offence punishable under the Dangerous Drugs Act, 1930 or under the Merchandise Marks Act, 1889, or of any offence punishable under Sections 482 to 489 (both inclusive) of the Indian Penal Code; or

(d) where a licence, permit or pass has been granted on the application of the grantee of an exclusive privilege under this Act, on the requisition in writing of such grantee; or

(e) if the conditions of the licence or permit provide for such cancellations or suspension at will.

(2) When a licence, permit and pass held by any person is cancelled under clauses (a), (b) or (c) of sub-section (1), the authority aforesaid may cancel any other licence, permit or pass granted to such person by, or by the authority of the State Government under this Act or under any other law for the time being in force relating to excise revenue or under the Opium Act, 1878.

(3) The holder shall not be entitled to any compensation for the cancellation or suspension of his licence, permit or pass under this section nor to a refund of any fee paid or deposit made in respect thereof."

9. Rule 17(1)(C) and Rule 17(3) of the 2003 Rules are as under:

"17. Suspension or cancellation of the license.- (1) Licensing Authority may suspend or cancel the licence-*

(c) If any liquor or intoxicating drug is found in the possession of the licensee against the provisions of the Act or rules.

(2).....

(3) The licensee shall not be entitled to claim any compensation or refund for suspension or cancellation of license under this rule.

10. Rule 21 of the 2002 Rules reads as under:

"21. Suspension and cancellation of the licence and penalties - (1) Licensing Authority may suspend or cancel the license -*

(a) if any bottle or container of country liquor is found in the licensed premises on which duty has not been paid and which does not carry security hologram duly approved by the Excise Commissioner as a proof of payment of duty;

(b) if any bottle or container of any other kind of liquor or intoxicating drug (for which licence is not granted) is found in the licensed premises;

(c) if any liquor or intoxicating drug is found in the possession of the licensee against the provisions of the Act or rules;

(d) if the affidavit submitted by the licensee at the time of application is found incorrect and assertions made therein are found to be false;

(e) if it is found that the licence has been obtained in a false name or the licensee is holding the licence on behalf of some other person.

(f) if the licensee fails to deposit monthly instalment of licence fee or replenish the deficit in security amount within prescribed period;

(g) if the licensee is convicted of an offence punishable under the Act or of any cognizable and nonbailable offence, or any offence punishable under Narcotics Drugs and Psychotropic Substances Act, 1985 or of any offence punishable under Sections 482 to 489 of the Indian Penal Code.

(2) The Licensing Authority shall immediately suspend the licence and issue a show cause notice for cancellation of licence and forfeiture of security. The licensee shall submit his explanation within 7 days of the receipt of notice. There after the Licensing Authority shall pass suitable orders after giving due opportunity of hearing to the licensee.

(3) In case the licence is cancelled the basic licence fee, licence fee deposited by him shall stand forfeited in favour of the Government and licensee shall not be entitled to claim any compensation or refund. Such licensee may also be blacklisted and debarred from holding any other exercise licence."

11. Learned counsel for the petitioners argues that for exercising the powers under the Rules, which are quoted herein above, it is essential that the licensing authority can pass an order of suspension or cancellation only if the "liquor is found in the licensed premises' or in the "possession of the licensee', which is not the case in the present case. He further argues that the possession of the licensee referred to under the 2003 Rules as well as the 2002 Rules has to be "conscious possession' which is not recorded even in the seizure memo. He takes me to the seizure memo, which is on record, to argue that the seizure and recovery was not in accordance with the provisions of Section 42 of the Cr.P.C. and in any case there is no reference in the seizure memo that the recovery was from the "conscious possession' of the petitioners.

12. To buttress his submissions, he places reliance on the judgment of the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Patel Jethabhai Chatur v. State of Gujarat; (1976) 4 SCC 522 wherein the Hon'ble Supreme Court had the occasion of interpreting Section 66(1) of the Bombay Prohibition Act, 1949 and the Hon'ble Supreme Court after interpreting the said provisions specifically with regard to the possession recorded as under:

"6. That takes us to the second limb of the contention directed against the order of retrial on the further charge of possession of liquor. It is true that originally when the case was tried before the learned Judicial Magistrate, there was no charge against the appellant and Accused 3 to 8 for the offence of consuming liquor and the appeal of the State was also directed only against their acquittal for the offence of consuming liquor. But there can be no doubt that if, while hearing the appeal, the High Court found that, on the material before him, the learned Judicial Magistrate should have framed a further charge against the appellant and Accused 3 to 8 but he failed to do so, the High Court could certainly direct the learned Judicial Magistrate to frame such further charge and try the appellant and Accused 3 to 8 on such further charge. The High Court could legitimately in the exercise of its jurisdiction, set right the error committed by the learned Judicial Magistrate in not framing a proper charge. Here, the High Court, on a consideration of the material which was before the learned Judicial Magistrate, came to the conclusion that this material warranted the framing of a further charge against the appellant and Accused 3 to 8 for possession of liquor and it, therefore, directed that the case should go back to the learned Judicial Magistrate and he should try the appellant and Accused 3 to 8 on such further charge. The High Court clearly had jurisdiction to make such an order. But then, the complaint made on behalf of the appellant was that the material before the learned Judicial Magistrate did not justify the framing of a charge against the appellant and Accused 3 to 8 for possession of liquor and hence the order directing their trial on such further charge was not justified. This is, however a complaint on facts and we do not see any reason why we should, in the exercise of our extraordinary jurisdiction under Article 136 of the Constitution, entertain such a complaint. It is true that there are certain observations made by the High Court which are a little too wide but it cannot be gainsaid that even a person who participates in a drinking party can in conceivable cases be guilty of the offence of possession of liquor. Suppose a person is found at a drinking party and he has a glass with him with liquor in it at the time when the raid is carried out, would it not be correct to say that he was at the relevant time in possession of liquor? The liquor in his glass would be liquor in his possession. But at the same time it would not be correct to say that merely because a participant in a drinking party can stretch his hand and take liquor for his use and consumption, he can be held to be in possession of liquor. The question is not whether a participant in a drinking party can place himself in possession of liquor by stretching his hand and taking it but whether he is actually in possession of it. Possession again must be distinguished from custody and it must be conscious possession. If, for example, a bottle of liquor is kept by someone in the car or house of a person without his knowledge, he cannot be said to be in possession of the bottle of liquor. It cannot, therefore, be laid down as an absolute proposition that whoever is present at a drinking party must necessarily be guilty of the offence of possession of liquor and must be charged for such offence. Whether an accused is in possession of liquor or not must depend on the facts and circumstances of each case. Here in the present case, the prosecution will have to establish at the trial by leading satisfactory evidence that the appellant and the other accused were in possession of liquor or else the prosecution on the charge of possession of liquor will fail. The order directing trial of the appellant and the other accused for the offence of possession of liquor must, therefore, be maintained, but we think it would be desirable if this trial is taken up after the disposal of the appeal by the High Court in regard to the acquittal of the appellant for the offence of consuming liquor.

13. He further places reliance on the judgment of the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of State of Punjab v. Balbir Singh; (1994) 3 SCC 299 wherein the Hon'ble Supreme Court dealt with the manner of search and seizure and recorded as under:

"8. But if on a prior information leading to a reasonable belief that an offence under Chapter IV of the Act has been committed, then in such a case, the Magistrate or the officer empowered have to proceed and act under the provisions of Sections 41 and 42. Under Section 42, the empowered officer even without a warrant issued as provided under Section 41 will have the power to enter, search, seize and arrest between sunrise and sunset if he has reason to believe from personal knowledge or information given by any other person and taken down in writing that an offence under Chapter IV has been committed or any document or other article which may furnish the evidence of the commission of such offence is kept or concealed in any building or in any place. Under the proviso if such officer has reason to believe that search warrant or authorisation cannot be obtained without affording opportunity for the concealment of the evidence or facility for the escape of the offender, he can carry out the arrest or search between sunset and sunrise also after recording the grounds of his belief. Sub-section (2) of Section 42 further lays down that when such officer takes down any information in writing or records grounds for this belief under the proviso, he shall forthwith send a copy thereof to his immediate official superior."

14. He further places reliance on the judgment of the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Sanjay Dutt v. State Through C.B.I., Bombay (II); (1994) 5 SCC 410 wherein the Hon'ble Supreme Court interpreted the word "possession' and recorded as under:

"19. The meaning of the first ingredient of "possession' of any such arms etc. is not disputed. Even though the word "possession' is not preceded by any adjective like "knowingly', yet it is common ground that in the context the word "possession' must mean possession with the requisite mental element, that is, conscious possession and not mere custody without the awareness of the nature of such possession. There is a mental element in the concept of possession. Accordingly, the ingredient of "possession' in Section 5 of the TADA Act means conscious possession. This is how the ingredient of possession in similar context of a statutory offence importing strict liability on account of mere possession of an unauthorised substance has been understood."

15. He also places reliance on the judgment of this Court in Writ - C No. 5098 of 2017 (Ajay Pratap Singh v. State of U.P. & Ors.) decided on 6.7.2022 wherein this Court in similar circumstances had the occasion to interpret the scope of Section 21 of the 2002 Rules as well as Rule 18 of the Uttar Pradesh Excise [Settlement of Licenses for Retail Sale of Foreign Liquor (Excluding Beer and Wine Rules)] Rules, 2001 which are pari materia with Rule 17(1)(C) and Rule 21(3) of the 2003 Rules and held as under;

"15. The action as taken against the petitioner under the orders impugned herein was clearly an 'expropriatory action' and the provision in the Rules are also 'expropriatory'. It is well settled that expropriatory powers conferred on State through statutes are required to be interpreted strictly and the orders passed have to pass the 'strict scrutiny test'. On a plain reading of the provisions of the Rules 18 and 21 in the 2001 and 2002 Rules respectively, it is clear that the steps for suspension and cancellation of the licence can be taken only in the event that (i) any liquor is found in the licensed premises or (ii) it is found in the possession of the licensee. The other conditions specified in Rule 21 and Rule 18 need not detain this Court as the same do not arise in the present case. The words "licensed premises" has not been defined under the Act and the Rules referred above, however while granting of licence, the premises for which the licence has been granted is clearly delineated and specified in the licence itself and thus for the purposes of interpreting the word "licensed premises", reference has to be drawn to the premises referred to in the licence. Any infraction or possession of liquor or intoxicating drugs other than authorized in the 'licensed premises' would certainly empower the authority concerned to take action under Rules 18 or Rule 21 of the aforesaid Rules as the case may be. Similarly the possession of any liquor or intoxicating drugs other than the authorized in the possession of the licensee would also trigger the powers to be exercised under Rules 18 and 21 of the aforesaid Rules. In the absence of any allegation of any recovery from any place in the 'licensed premises' or in the 'possession of the licensee', the powers to suspend and cancel cannot be resorted to under the Act or the Rules referred above."

16. The Court further allowing the writ petition passed the following order in Para - 22:

"22. As no direction for renewal of the licences can be issued in view of the change in the policy of the State Government, the writ petition is disposed off with a direction to refund the proportionate basic license fee, the proportionate license fee and the security deposit as forfeited by means of the order dated 24.02.2016 within a period of two months from the date of the petitioner moving an appropriate application before the District Magistrate, District Amethi."

17. In the present case, admittedly the recovery was not from the licensed premises and the liquor was recovered from the residential premises jointly owned by both the petitioners. In the seizure memo on record, there is no mention that the petitioners were in "conscious possession' of the said liquor crates, the seizure memo on record does not even record the presence of the petitioners; it nowhere records that the petitioners were conscious of the said liquor. There are no independent witness to the seizure which started on 16.4.2015 but was signed on 17.4.2015.

18. I have already held that the liquor was not seized from the licensed premises which is admitted case of the parties. Further, there being no material to come to an opinion that the liquor allegedly seized from the residential premises of the petitioners was in their conscious possession, in terms of the Rules, the cancellation of the license and the consequent seizure was clearly de hors the Rules.

19. Now coming to the second question as to whether the District Magistrate could have directed the sale of liquor seized from the licensed premises and legally under the custody of the petitioners by virtue of they being license holder, an interesting feature in the petition is that in the show-cause notice, the petitioners were never called upon to show-cause as to why the liquor legally under the custody of the petitioners and lying in the licensed premises may not be sold. The show-cause notice on record as Annexure - 7 only proposes to confiscate the amounts deposited by the petitioners and does not even proposes the punishment of sale of liquor which was in the legal custody of the petitioners. In view thereof, the District Magistrate could not have passed an order directing for sale of liquor which was legally under the custody of the petitioners in the licensed premises. Even otherwise, the sale could not have been directed as was done by the District Magistrate as there is no power under the rules for sale of the liquor kept legally in the licensed premises. Thus, on both grounds the order passed by the District Magistrate and as affirmed in appeal and revision are clearly not sustainable.

20. Accordingly, both the writ petitions are allowed.

21. Orders dated 17.03.2016, 27.07.2015 & 01.06.2015 (Annexures - 1, 2 and 3 respectively in Writ - C No.9330 of 2016) as well as Orders dated 03.02.2016, 27.07.2015 & 01.06.2015 (Annexures - 1, 2 & 3 respectively in Writ - C No.9388 of 2016) are set aside.

22. Respondents are directed to refund the proportionate basic license fee, proportionate license fee and the security deposit as forfeited vide order dated 1.6.2015 to the petitioners.

Respondents are further directed to refund the amount obtained by them through auction of the liquor which was directed to be sold from the licensed premise of the petitioner in Writ - C No.9330 of 2016 and that of the petitioner in Writ - C No.9338 of 2016.

23. The amounts as directed above, shall be paid to the petitioners within a period of four months from the date of them moving an appropriate application before respondent no.5.

ORDER

1. By means of present petition, the petitioners, who are 05 in numbers, are seeking a direction to the respondents either to clear the land in question or to pay suitable compensation of their land, which is submerged due to construction of water reservoir situated at Gwalior Road, Jhansi commonly known as "Pahunj Band Pariyojna'.

2. Brief facts of the case are that the petitioners are stated to be the occupants of the land in question as hereditary tenant having bhumidhar with transferable rights after commencement of U.P. Zamindari Abolition and Land Reforms Act, 1950. The detailed descriptions of the land relating to the petitioners have been mentioned in para 4 of the present petition. It is stated that in the year 1909, a water reservoir commonly known as "Pahunj Band Pariyojna' situated at Gwalior Road, Jhansi, was constructed with the consent of villagers, on account of which some land was permanently submerged and some land was used for water flow during rainy season. The petitioners are claiming compensation on account of loss of their crop / submerged land caused by water reservoir.

3. The learned counsel for the petitioner urged that the petitioners are recorded owner of their respective land, which are affected by conservation of water more than the prescribed limit due to which the land in question have been submerged. As the land in question was never acquired, the petitioners are claiming compensation for the loss. For the said purpose, the petitioners had made objection before the concerned authority but of no avail. The petitioners also made several representations in this respect but no action was taken. It has been further stated that the petitioners are deprived from cultivation of their valuable land as such suitable compensation may be awarded to them for their loss. It is further urged that since the height of the water reservoir has been raised, the petitioners are facing hardship and due to which they seek a direction to the respondent authority to pay adequate compensation for the loss.

4. Per contra, the learned State Law Officer submitted that the land falling under the submerged area of the water reservoir was willingly given by the villagers for its construction in the year 1909-10 and it was consented that no compensation could be claimed on account of damage of swamping which may cause after construction of reservoir. It is further urged that since the date of construction, the height of the water reservoir is maintained at 786 feet. The petitioners have failed to bring any material on record to show that the height of the water reservoir was ever enhanced. Counsel further urged that the present petition has been filed after huge delay. The petitioners have failed to explain the reason in approaching to this Court after such a huge delay. He prays for dismissal of the present petition on the ground of latches also.

5. After hearing the arguments of the learned counsel for the parties, the Court has perused the records.

6. It is not in dispute that the water reservoir was constructed way back in the year 1909-10 with due consent of the villagers. Pursuant to that an agreement was also executed on 7.7.1910, copy of which has been filed as Annexure No. 1 to the counter affidavit of the respondents. The record shows that in the year 2009, a proposal was only made for raising the height of the water reservoir from 786 feet by 1.27 meters, however, the said proposal was dropped by the High Level Committee of the Government in the meeting held on 21.6.2013. In the said meeting it was decided to construct a retaining wall /non over flow section. Since the height of the water reservoir was not raised and is maintained as 786 feet therefore no loss of any kind could be suffered by the petitioners. There is no question for payment of any compensation to the petitioners for the land in question.

7. The reservoir was constructed in the year 1909-10. The issue sought to be raised by the petitioners for the first time in the year 2010, after more than a century especially when the petitioners were no where in the picture, when the land was taken. No explanation has been submitted for the latches caused in filing the petition. The only bald allegation has been made that they were approaching the authorities and filed representations which were not decided.

8. Recently this Court in Writ C No. 10967 of 2022 titled as Smt. Pushpa Devi Vs. State of U.P. decided on May 5, 2022, after considering the various judgements of the Hon'ble Apex Court has held that the petition filed with the huge delay is required to be dismissed at the threshold.

9. This Court in Writ C No. 4796 of 2022 titled as Ram Avtar Sharma Vs. State of U.P. and others decided on March 7, 2022 has dismissed the petition on the ground of delay and latches. Relevant paras of the said judgement are extracted below:-

"3. After hearing learned Senior Counsel for the petitioner, we do not find any case is made out for interference in the present writ petition, on account of huge delay and laches. The impugned order was passed by the Secretary of the Department concerned on February 10, 2012 and the writ petition has been filed more than a decade thereafter. As to how the petition, filed after huge delay, has to be dealt with has been considered by the Courts on number of occasions and the opinion expressed is that these petitions are required to be dismissed at the threshold.

4. In P. S. Sadasivasway v. State of Tamil Nadu, (1975) 1 SCC 152, wherein it has been laid down that a person aggrieved by an order of promoting a junior over his head should approach the court at least within six months or at the most a year of such promotion. It is not that there is any period of limitation for the Courts to exercise their powers under Article 226 nor is it that there can never be a case where the Courts cannot interfere in a matter after the passage of a certain length of time, but it would be a sound and wise exercise of discretion for the Courts to refuse to exercise their extraordinary powers under Article 226 in the case of persons who do not approach it expeditiously for the relief.

5. In New Delhi Municipal Council v. Pan Singh and others, (2007) 9 SCC 278, the Court has opined that though there is no period of limitation provided for filing a writ petition under Article 226 of the Constitution of India, yet ordinarily a writ petition should be filed within a reasonable time. In the said case the respondents had filed the writ petition after seventeen years and the court, as stated earlier, took note of the delay and laches as relevant factors and set aside the order passed by the High Court which had exercised the discretionary jurisdiction.

6. In State of Uttaranchal and another v. Sri Shiv Charan Singh Bhandari and others 2013 (6) SLR 629, Hon'ble the Supreme Court, while considering the issue regarding delay and laches observed that even if there is no period prescribed for filing the writ petition under Article 226 of the Constitution of India, yet it should be filed within a reasonable time. Relief to a person, who puts forward a stale claim can certainly be refused relief on account of delay and laches. Anyone who sleeps over his rights is bound to suffer.

7. In Chennai Metropolitan Water Supply and Sewerage Board and others v. T. T. Murali Babu 2014 (4) SCC 108, Hon'ble the Supreme Court opined as under:-

"13. First, we shall deal with the facet of delay. In Maharashtra State Road Transport Corporation v. Balwant Regular Motor Service, Amravati and others, AIR 1969 SC 329, the Court referred to the principle that has been stated by Sir Barnes Peacock in Lindsay Petroleum Co. v. Prosper Armstrong Hurd, Abram Farewall, and John Kemp, (1874) 5 PC 221, which is as follows:-

"Now the doctrine of laches in Courts of Equity is not an arbitrary or a technical doctrine. Where it would be practically unjust to give a remedy, either because the party has, by his conduct, done that which might fairly be regarded as equivalent to a waiver of it, or where by his conduct and neglect he has, though perhaps not waiving that remedy, yet put the other party in a situation in which it would not be reasonable to place him if the remedy were afterwards to be asserted in either of these cases, lapse of time and delay are most material. But in every case, if an argument against relief, which otherwise would be just, is founded upon mere delay, that delay of course not amounting to a bar by any statute of limitations, the validity of that defence must be tried upon principles substantially equitable. Two circumstances, always important in such cases, are, the length of the delay and the nature of the acts done during the interval, which might affect either party and cause a balance of justice or injustice in taking the one course or the other, so far as relates to the remedy."

15. In State of M. P. and others etc. etc. vs. Nandlal Jaiswal and others etc. etc., AIR 1987 SC 251, the Court observed that it is well settled that power of the High Court to issue an appropriate writ under Article 226 of the Constitution is discretionary and the High Court in exercise of its discretion does not ordinarily assist the tardy and the indolent or the acquiescent and the lethargic. It has been further stated therein that if there is inordinate delay on the part of the petitioner in filing a petition and such delay is not satisfactorily explained, the High Court may decline to intervene and grant relief in the exercise of its writ jurisdiction. Emphasis was laid on the principle of delay and laches stating that resort to the extraordinary remedy under the writ jurisdiction at a belated stage is likely to cause confusion and public inconvenience and bring in injustice.

16. Thus, the doctrine of delay and laches should not be lightly brushed aside. A writ court is required to weigh the explanation offered and the acceptability of the same. The court should bear in mind that it is exercising an extraordinary and equitable jurisdiction. As a constitutional court it has a duty to protect the rights of the citizens but simultaneously it is to keep itself alive to the primary principle that when an aggrieved person, without adequate reason, approaches the court at his own leisure or pleasure, the court would be under legal obligation to scrutinize whether the lis at a belated stage should be entertained or not. Be it noted, delay comes in the way of equity. In certain circumstances delay and laches may not be fatal but in most circumstances inordinate delay would only invite disaster for the litigant who knocks at the doors of the court. Delay reflects inactivity and inaction on the part of a litigant "a litigant who has forgotten the basic norms, namely, "procrastination is the greatest thief of time" and second, law does not permit one to sleep and rise like a phoenix. Delay does bring in hazard and causes injury to the lis. ... A court is not expected to give indulgence to such indolent persons- who compete with `Kumbhakarna' or for that matter 'Rip Van Winkle'. In our considered opinion, such delay does not deserve any indulgence and on the said ground alone the writ court should have thrown the petition overboard at the very threshold."

8. In State of Jammu & Kashmir vs. R. K. Zalpuri and others 2015 (15) SCC 602, Hon'ble the Supreme Court considered the issue regarding delay and laches in raising the dispute before the Court. It was opined that the issue sought to be raised by the petitioners therein was not required to be addressed on merits on account of delay and laches. The relevant paras thereof are extracted below:-

"27. The grievance agitated by the respondent did not deserve to be addressed on merits, for doctrine of delay and laches had already visited his claim like the chill of death which does not spare anyone even the one who fosters the idea and nurtures the attitude that he can sleep to avoid death and eventually proclaim "Deo gratias - thanks to God".

28. Another aspect needs to be stated. A writ court while deciding a writ petition is required to remain alive to the nature of the claim and the unexplained delay on the part of the writ petitioner. Stale claims are not to be adjudicated unless non-interference would cause grave injustice. The present case, need less to emphasise, did not justify adjudication. It deserves to be thrown overboard at the very threshold, for the writ petitioner had accepted the order of dismissal for half a decade and cultivated the feeling that he could freeze time and forever remain in the realm of constant present."

9. The aforesaid view was followed by Hon'ble the Supreme Court in Union of India and others v. Chaman Rana 2018 (5) SCC 798.

10. Subsequently, a Constitution Bench of Hon'ble the Supreme Court in Senior Divisional Manager, Life Insurance Corporation v. Shree Lal Meena (2019) 4 SCC 479, considering the principle of delay and laches, opined as under:-

"36. We may also find that the appellant remained silent for years together and that this Court, taking a particular view subsequently, in Sheel Kumar Jain v. New India Assurance Company Limited, (2011)12 SCC 197 would not entitle stale claims to be raised on this behalf, like that of the appellant. In fact the appellant slept over the matter for almost a little over two years even after the pronouncement of the judgment.

37. Thus, the endeavour of the appellant, to approach this Court seeking the relief, as prayed for, is clearly a misadventure, which is liable to be rejected, and the appeal is dismissed."

11. Recently, in Bharat Coking Coal Ltd. And othyers v. Shyam Kishore Singh (Civil Appeal No.1009 of 2020, decided on 5.2.2020), the issue regarding the delay and laches, was considered by Hon'ble the Supreme Court and a petition filed belatedly, seeking change in the date of birth in the service record, was dismissed.

12. Relying on T.T. Murali Babu' case (supra) and R.K. Zalpuri'case (supra), same view has been expressed by Hon'ble the Supreme Court in Union of India and others Vs. N. Murugesan and others (2022) 2 SCC 25 observing:

"We have already dealt with the principles of law that may have a bearing on this case. ... there was an unexplained and studied reluctance to raise the issue .... Hence, on the principle governing delay, laches ... Respondent No. 1 ought not to have been granted any relief by invoking Article 226 of the Constitution of India."

13. In the case in hand, after hearing learned counsel for the parties and taking the above authorities into account, in our opinion, the petitioner is not entitled to any relief. It is, however, sought to be contended that the order dated February 10, 2012 was communicated vide Communication dated December 30, 2021, which is sought to be relied upon to show that the order was communicated to the petitioner quite late in the year 2021. However, a perusal thereof shows that it is not addressed to him. It is merely an inter-departmental communication from the Joint Secretary in the State of U.P. to the Greater NOIDA. In any case, the same cannot be taken to be a reasonable explanation for condoning huge delay in filing the present writ petition. In this case, the direction was issued by this Court about a decade back. The petitioner should have been vigilant and enquired about the status of the application filed by him before the competent authority. There is nothing on record to suggest that he ever made any representation or enquired about the order passed on his representation. In any case, the release of land under Section 48 of the Act is not a matter of right with the landowner. It is a power conferred on the Government."

10. In the case in hand, it is evident that after construction of water reservoir in the year 1909-10, the representations were made for the first time in the year 2010. Thereafter no efforts were taken by the petitioners. In our opinion, the petitioners should have been vigilant enough and enquire about the status of their representation so made before the authorities concerned. There is nothing on record to suggest that the petitioners ever made any inquiry, whatsoever, in respect of the representations so made. It is the definite stand of the State that height of the dam has not been increased and whatever was there a century before, has been retained. Thus in our view, the petitioners are not entitled for any relief.

11. In view of above, the petition is devoid of merit. No interference is called for by this Court. The writ petition is, accordingly, dismissed.

12. There shall be no order as to costs.

(Para 10, 12 and 13)

Writ petition dismissed. (E-1)

List of Cases cited:-

1. U.P. Awas Evam Vikas Parishad Vs Gyan Devi (Dead) By LRS. & ors.; (1995) 2 SCC 326

(Delivered by Hon'ble Manoj Kumar Gupta, J.
Hon'ble Dr. Yogendra Kumar Srivastava, J.)

1. Heard counsel for the petitioner, learned Standing Counsel for the State respondents and Sri Vijay Kumar Dixit on behalf of Zila Panchayat, Bijnor (respondent no. 2).

2. The petitioner has called in question an order dated 30.3.2022, passed by District Magistrate, Bijnor (respondent no. 3), in an appeal filed by the petitioner under Section 251 of U.P. Kshettra Panchayat and Zila Panchayat Adhiniyam, 1961, challenging order of Zila Panchayat dated 9.9.2019.

3. The case of the petitioner is that she got a plan sanctioned on 24.4.1995 for construction of a residential building. The petitioner admits that near her house, there is Dak Bungalow, belonging to Zila Panchayat, Bijnore. The petitioner claims right of way to her house through the Dak Bungalow. It is alleged that respondent no. 2 had closed the rasta to her house by constructing a wall. The petitioner being aggrieved by the said action of respondent no. 2, preferred Writ Petition No. 13478 of 2018, which was disposed of with liberty to the petitioner to move a representation before Zila Panchayat, with direction to Zila Panchayat to decide the same within two months.

4. It seems that in terms of the said order, the petitioner filed a representation in which prayer made was for removal of the wall constructed by Zila Panchayat and thus, provide free access to the petitioner to her house from the main road. The representation of the petitioner was decided by Apar Mukhya Adhikari by an order dated 9.9.2019. In the said order, specific finding has been recorded that Nihal Singh (husband of the petitioner), was an employee of Zila Panchayat/Zila Parishad and he retired on 31.10.2017. Even after his retirement, he did not vacate the servant quarter, which was in his possession as an employee of Zila Panchayat/Zila Parishad. He is making false and fake claim regarding rasta through Dak Bungalow to exert pressure on the authorities, so that they may not ask him to vacate the quarter or pay rent for the same. It is specifically recorded in the order that the claim made by the petitioner on basis of an alleged certificate by Adhyaksh or Apar Mukhya Adhikari, Prithvi Singh Chauhan, admitting existence of any common passage, is not acceptable, as at the relevant time, there was no officer by that name. It is a fake document. It is also held that the petitioner already has a passage on the northern side of the wall of Dak Bungalow through which she has access to her house. The representation was thus found to be devoid of merit and was rejected.

5. Being aggrieved by the said order, the petitioner filed an appeal purportedly under Section 251 of U.P. Kshettra Panchayat and Zila Panchayat Adhiniyam, 1961. It seems that while the appeal remained pending, the petitioner approached this Court by way of Writ Petition No. 35772 of 2019 for a direction to the Appellate Authority to decide the appeal. The said writ petition was dismissed by an order dated 7.11.2019, observing that the petitioner had not enclosed along with the writ petition, any evidence relating to submission of the memo of appeal in the office of District Magistrate and consequently, no positive direction could be issued. It was left open to the petitioner to obtain details from the Postal Department regarding service and approach the Appellate Authority with such details and pray for early disposal of the appeal. On 24.12.2019, the appeal was dismissed, observing that the petitioner had not preferred any appeal against the order dated 9.9.2019.

6. The petitioner once again approached this Court by way of Writ Petition No. 33062 of 2021, alleging that there was a typographical error in mentioning the date of presentation of the appeal as 19.7.2019 in the order of this Court. The correct date was 17.9.2019. It was also corrected by this Court. The petitioner also took a plea that she had preferred a recall application, seeking recall of the order of District Magistrate and prayed for decision on merits. The writ petition was disposed of on 20.12.2021 with direction to District Magistrate to pass appropriate orders on the pending recall application, as well as pending appeal, on merits, within a specified time frame.

7. The Appellate Authority has now passed the impugned order dated 30.3.2022, wherein it is noted that the alleged appeal is in fact a representation addressed to Apar Mukhya Adhikari, Zila Panchayat, Bijnor, with copy thereof being forwarded to various authorities, including the District Magistrate. However, the Appellate Authority after noting said fact, has proceeded to consider the grievance on merits and has observed that the petitioner has separate access from the main road and that her claim for a passage through the Dak Bungalow, is wholly without any basis. Accordingly, the claim made by the petitioner for removal of the wall of Dak Bungalow and thereby providing access to her through Dak Bungalow, has been turned down. In the concluding part, it has been observed that as a matter of fact, no appeal has been filed by the petitioner, but the matter is being decided in compliance of the order of this court dated 20.12.2021.

8. Learned counsel for the petitioner submitted that respondent no. 3 has wrongly observed that as a matter of fact, no appeal was preferred by the petitioner against order dated 9.9.2019. It is urged that the petitioner is an illiterate woman and therefore, could not file appeal in proper format. It is submitted that since there was specific direction of this Court to decide the appeal on merits and therefore the observations made in the impugned order with regard to non-filing of any appeal against the order dated 9.9.2019, is incorrect.

9. The provision with regard to appeals from order of Zila Panchayat is contained under Section 251 of the U.P. Kshettra Panchayat And Zila Panchayat Adhiniyam, 1961. The relevant provision is being extracted below:-

"251. Appeals from order of Zila Panchayat. - (1) Any person aggrieved by any order or direction made by a Zila Panchayat or a Kshettra Panchayat, as the case may be, under the powers conferred upon it by Sections 165(1), 171, 184, 191(6), 193, 202, 216, 218, 221 or under a bye-law made under sub-head (a) of Heading D and under Heading E of sub-section (2) of Section 239, may within thirty days from the date of such direction or order, exclusive of the time requisite for obtaining a copy thereof, appeal to such officers as the State Government may appoint, for the purpose of hearing such appeals or any of them or, failing such appointment, to the District Magistrate.

(2) The appellate authority may, if it thinks fit, extend the period allowed by sub-section (1) for appeal.

(3) No appeal shall be dismissed or allowed in part or whole unless reasonable opportunity of showing cause or being heard has been given to the parties."

10. It is noteworthy that under Section 251, appeal lies against any order or direction made by Zila Panchayat in exercise of powers conferred upon it by Section 165(1), 171, 184, 191(6), 193, 202, 216, 218, 221 or under a bye-law made under sub-head (a) of Heading D and under Heading E of sub-section (2) of Section 239. On specific query made by the Court as to under which of these provisions, order passed by Zila Panchayat dated 9.9.2019 would fall, counsel for the petitioner is not in a position to point out to any of the above sections whereunder the Zila Panchayat had exercised its power in passing order dated 9.9.2019, rejecting the representation of the petitioner.

11. We are of considered opinion that the order dated 9.9.2019, rejecting the prayer of the petitioner to demolish boundary of Dak Bungalow and thereby provide access to the petitioner to her house, would not fall under any of the above sections. Consequently, no appeal would lie against such an order.

12. It has been consistently held that the right to appeal is a creature of statute and unless such right is clearly and expressly provided for under an statute, it does not exist. In order for a litigant to invoke the remedy of an appeal, such right must be expressly conferred by the statute. The Constitution Bench of the Supreme Court in the case of U.P. Awas Evam Vikas Parishad v. Gyan Devi (Dead) By LRS. And Others, has held that right to appeal is a statutory right and the courts cannot confer or infer it. It was further held that what is legislatively not permitted cannot be read by implication, not in respect of right of appeal, as it is a creature of statute and granting such right in the absence of express statutory provision would be legislating and not interpreting.

13. The direction of this Court in the earlier round of litigation to decide the recall application and appeal on merits could not therefore be construed as conferring jurisdiction upon respondent no. 3 to act as appellate authority. Consequently, the direction of this Court has to be construed in the light of the above settled legal position.

14. Accordingly, in our opinion, even if we assume that the representation dated 17.9.2019 was an appeal preferred before respondent no. 2, as is sought to be contended, it was not maintainable. Moreover, the Appellate Authority as well as Apar Mukhya Adhikari, Zila Panchayat, Bijnore, have considered the plea of the petitioner on merits and have held that the petitioner is already having separate passage for ingress and egress to her house from a lane on the northern side of the wall of Dak Bungalow and that she does not have any right of passage through the Dak Bungalow.

15. We find no illegality or perversity in the said finding to warrant interference in exercise of writ jurisdiction.

16. The petition is accordingly dismissed.

A. Tax Law – Constitution of India – Article 265 – UP Entertainment and Betting Tax Act, 1979 – Sections 2(l) (iii) & 12 – Entertainment tax – It's imposition on the costume used in the water park – Legality challenged – Held, the costume used in the water park would neither fall within the definition of words 'instrument' or 'contrivance' – The renting on 'costumes' cannot be included in the term 'payment for admission' as defined under Section 2(l) – Held further, the tax can be levied only when specially provided for and not by intendment – Assessment order was held beyond the authority of law and is violative of Article 265 of the Constitution of India. (Para 15 and 16)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Pankaj Bhatia, J.)

1. Heard Sri Aditya Tewari, learned Counsel for the petitioner and Sri Rajesh Kumar Shukla, learned Counsel appearing on behalf of the State.

2. The present petition has been filed challenging the order dated 31.08.2010 whereby the entertainment tax of Rs.3,17,378.04/- was imposed in exercise of powers conferred under Section 12 of The Uttar Pradesh Entertainment and Betting Tax Act, 1979 (hereinafter referred to as "The 1979 Act") along with penalty of Rs.20,000/-. The petitioner also challenges the order dated 21.01.2016 whereby the statutory appeal preferred by him was rejected as well as the order dated 30.03.2017 whereby the application for recall of the appellate order was also rejected.

3. The facts in brief are that the petitioner is a Company incorporated under

The Companies Act, 1956 and is a Proprietor of a water park situate at Faizabad Road, Lucknow and runs a water park in the said premises in accordance with the permission obtained from the requisite authorities.

4. The contention of the Counsel for the petitioner is that the entertainment tax levied on the water park was exempted vide order dated 22.05.1998, however, the said issue need not detain us as the issue in the present case arises out of a survey conducted at the premises of the petitioner on 21.04.2010 and on the basis of the said survey, a show cause notice was issued to the petitioner on 05.05.2010 stating therein that on the date of the survey as conducted at the premises, on an inquiry, it was found that Rs.30/- per male and Rs.60/- per female was being charged towards costume and despite notice, the assessee has not come forward to disclose the said fact. It is further stated that the costume would also be subject to levy of entertainment tax in view of the provisions contained in Section 2(l)(iii) of the 1979 Act, thus it was proposed in the said show cause notice as to why the assessment may not be done at Rs.3,17,378.04/- and a penalty of Rs.20,000/- may not be imposed.

5. The petitioner preferred a reply to the said show cause notice denying all the allegations and also requesting that the petitioner may be provided with the copy of the survey report, proposed to be relied upon against the petitioner during the course of assessment proceedings, however, without giving any opportunity of hearing and without providing the said survey report, an order came to be passed on 31.08.2010. Assessing the entertainment tax on the renting of the costume at Rs.3,17,378.04/- and further a penalty of Rs.20,000/- was imposed upon the petitioner in purported exercise of powers under Section 12 of the 1979 Act. The petitioner preferred an appeal against the said order and took specific ground with regard to the non-providing of the survey report, however, the appeal was dismissed without granting opportunity of hearing and ex-parte in the absence of the petitioner. The petitioner preferred an order recall application which too was dismissed. The said three orders are under challenge before this Court.

6. The contention of the Counsel for the petitioner is that very foundation for charging entertainment tax on the 'costume' as alleged against the petitioner is wholly illegal, inasmuch as, in terms of the mandate of Section 2(l)(iii) of the 1979 Act, the costume would not come within the meaning as described, as such, very foundation based upon which the order has been passed is without any authority of law. He further argues that the petitioner had opened a separate counter at the park and has authorized a special contractor to give costumes on rent to whosoever desires and the said facility was not being managed by the petitioner and thus the petitioner was in any case not liable.

7. The Counsel for the petitioner further argues that taking of the costume was voluntary and was not a part of the 'payment for admission' and thus, the petitioner cannot be made liable even if for the sake of argument, all the allegations are treated to be correct. He further argues that the manner in which the quantum has been fixed is wholly arbitrary, inasmuch as, it is common knowledge that in winter months, the water park remains closed whereas the assessment has been made for the period 13.03.2009 to 21.04.2010 which is contrary to the powers conferred upon the authorities under Section 12 of the 1979 Act. He specifically refers to the manner in which the said powers are to be exercised on the basis of best judgment assessment. He argues that the 'best judgment assessment' is to be interpreted in the light of the materials which are existent and cannot confer arbitrary exercise of powers on the authorities and in the present case, the manner in which the assessment has been done would not qualify as 'best judgment assessment'. The Counsel for the petitioner further argues that even otherwise in terms of the mandate of Section 12 of the 1979 Act, it is incumbent that an opportunity of hearing be granted prior to passing of the order which has not been done. He further argues that the entire assessment has been done based upon one survey which is neither a proper exercise of power nor does it give any indication to come to the conclusion with regard to the quantum of tax due. He places reliance on the specific averments regarding not providing an opportunity of hearing made in the writ petition which have not been denied in the counter affidavit and thus it is argued that the writ petition is liable to be allowed.

8. Learned Standing Counsel, on the other hand, argues that the survey was conducted at the premise of the petitioner. He further refers to an earlier survey conducted on 05.08.2009 wherein, as per the said survey the petitioner had accepted the charging of Rs.30/- per costume per male and Rs.60/- per costume per female. In the light of the said, he thus argues that the authorities has not exceeded its jurisdiction to access in terms of the mandate of Section 12 and thus argues that the writ petition is liable to be dismissed.

9. On the basis of the submissions made at the bar this Court is to consider the scope of Section 2(l)(iii) of the 1979 Act and as to whether the orders impugned which are without any opportunity of hearing, satisfies the tax under Section 12 of the 1979 Act?

10. To consider the first submission that the charge of costume would not fall within the definition of Section 2 (l)(iii) of the 1979 Act. It is essential to produce Section 2(l)(iii), which is as under:

"(l). 'payment for admission' includes -

(i) ...

(ii) ...

(iii) any payment made for the loan or use of any instrument or contrivance which enables a person to get a normal or better view or hearing or enjoyment of the entertainment, which without the aid of such instrument or contrivance such person would not get."

11. The payment for admission, includes any payment made for loan or use of any 'instrument' or 'contrivance' which enables a person to get a normal or a better view or hearing or enjoyment of the entertainment which without the aid of such instrument or contrivance such person would not get. Thus to include any amount under Section 2(l)(iii), it is essential that there should be a use of 'instrument' or 'contrivance' which enables the person to use the benefits and without which such entertainment or enjoyment is not possible. A costume used in the water park, as stated by the Counsel for the petitioner, is provided to the persons who wants to take it on rent. There is no material on record to suggest that the costumes would be an 'instrument' or 'contrivance'. Further there is no material to state that such costume enhances the enjoyment of the persons to enjoy the entertainment of water park and further there is no material on the record to state that without such costume being provided, the person entering into the water park would not in a position to enjoy the entertainment.

12. The words 'instrument' or 'contrivance' have not been defined under the Act, as such, the dictionary meaning of the said two words is to be resorted to. The Cambridge Dictionary defines the word 'Contrivance' as "the act of intentionally arranging for something to happen by clever planning, or something that is arranged in this way" and "a clever device or object that has been invented for a particular purpose".

13. Similarly the 'Instrument', which has not been defined under the Act, under the Cambridge Dictionary, it is defined as "an object such as a piano, guitar, or drum, that is played to produce musical sounds" or "a tool or other device, especially one without electrical power, used for performing a particular piece of work" and also defines the "Instrument' as "a way of achieving or causing something".

14. In The Oxford English Dictionary, the word 'Contrivance' defines as "the action of contriving or ingeniously endeavouring the accomplishment of anything; the bringing to pass by planning, scheming, or stratagem; maneuvering, plotting; deceitful practice'. In the said dictionary, the word 'Instrument' reads as "that which is used by an agent in or for the performance of an action; a thing with or through which something is done or effected; anything that serves or contributes to the accomplishment of a purpose or end; a means.

15. In the present case, the costume used in the water park would neither fall within the definition of words 'instrument' or 'contrivance', thus I am inclined to accept the submission of the Counsel for the petitioner that the renting on 'costumes' cannot be included in the term 'payment for admission' as defined under Section 2(l), thus on that score alone, the assessment order is beyond the authority of law and is violative of Article 265 of the Constitution of India.

16. It is well settled that the tax can be levied only when specially provided for and not by intendment. If the legislation was of the view that the renting of the costume should be included for the purpose of determination of the taxes, it could have specifically provided for under the Act which has not been done, thus, I have no hesitation in holding that demand of levy of tax as well as the penalty is without authority of law.

17. I am not going into the second question as I have already held that levy itself is without authority of law.

18. Accordingly, the writ petition stands allowed. The impugned orders dated 31.08.2010, 21.01.2016 and 30.03.2017 are set aside.

19. The amount deposited by the petitioner as pre condition of appeal shall be refunded to the petitioner within a period of three months from today.

5. Aligarh Muslim University & ors. Vs Mansoor Ali Khan;(2000) 7 SCC 529

(Delivered by Hon'ble Jayant Banerji, J.)

1. Heard Sri Alok Dwivedi, learned counsel for the petitioner and the learned Standing Counsel appearing for respondents.

2. Sri Yogish Kumar Saxena, learned counsel states that he had filed a caveat application on 17.5.2022 on behalf of the President of the Committee of Management.

3. Background of the case are that the petitioner's institution is recognised under the U.P. Intermediate Education Act, 1921 and the Rules and Regulation framed thereunder. The institution is under grant-in-aid list of the State Government and payment of salary of its teachers and employees is being made under the provisions of the U. P. High School and Intermediate Colleges (Payment of Salaries of Teachers and other Employees) Act, 1971.

4. There is an approved scheme of administration and thereunder, the election of the Committee of Management of the institution was duly held on 25.4.2018, in which the petitioner no.2 was elected as Manager of the institution. The Inspector, Kanput Dehat had recognized this election and attested the signatures of petitioner no.2 as Manager of the institution. It is stated that model scheme of administration was issued by the Education Department by means of Government Order dated 25.8.2011 and the Committee of Management of the institution adopted the new amended model scheme of administration by a resolution dated 11.9.2020, which amended scheme of administration was approved by the Joint Director of Education by means of his order dated 18.12.2020. It is stated in the writ petition, that in terms of clause X of the newly adopted scheme of administration, the term of the Committee of Management of the institution would be five years that is to say the term of the Committee of Management elected on 25.4.2018 would be upto 24.4.2023. It is stated that the salary of teachers and employees of the institution was being duly paid under the signature of petitioner no.2 and the Finance and Accounts Officer and there was no default. Even for the month of March 2022, the salary of teachers and employees were paid under the signature of petitioner no.2 as Manager and Finance and Accounts Officer in the office of Inspector, Kanput Dehat. However, the Inspector, by means of the impugned order dated 11.4.2022 passed an order of single operation of the salary distribution account of the petitioner's institution on the ground that after expiry of three years from the date of election dated 25.4.2018, the Committee of Management has become time-barred.

5. Under challenge in the present writ petition is an order dated 11.4.2022, passed by the respondent no.3, District Inspector of Schools, Kanpur Dehat bearing order No.Ma-Derapur/345-49/2022-23, whereby an order of single operation has been passed and also directing the President of the petitioner's institution to place a time-table/proposal, whereby the observer for election can be appointed and the election in accordance with the scheme of administration can be effected.

6. The contention of the learned counsel for the petitioner is that the old scheme of administration provided three years term for the Committee of Management. Under the old scheme of administration, the last admitted election was held on 25.4.2018. It is contended that during the sustenance of term of that Committee of Management, an amendment in the scheme of administration was proposed for extending the period of the Committee of Management from three years to five years which came to be approved by the order of the Joint Director of Education dated 18.12.2020 that has been enclosed as Annexure-3 to the writ petition. Learned counsel has vehemently argued that in view of the aforesaid approval granted by the Joint Director of Education, the previous approved scheme of administration was rendered redundant and, therefore, in view of the judgement of a full Bench of this Court in Committee of Management Saltnat Bahadur Post Graduate College, Badlapur, Jaunpur and another V. State of U.P. and others, the existing Committee of Management would have its term extended with immediate effect.

7. It is also contended by the learned counsel for the petitioner that the petitioner continued to function as Manager of the Committee of Management and was forwarding bills for payment of salary of the teachers and other staffs of the institution, illustrative of which are documents that has been enclosed as Annexure-5 to the writ petition. Learned counsel states that there is no situation existing in the management that could support the order of single operation. It is further contended that no opportunity of hearing was provided to the petitioner prior to passing of the instant order of single operation, hence the same is in violation of principles of natural justice and is liable to be set aside by this Court.

8. Learned counsel for the petitioner in support of his contention has also relied upon judgements of this Court in the matter of Committee of Management, Janta Higher Secondary School and another Vs. State of U.P. and others, Committee of Management, Janta Inter College, Jaitpur Kalan, District Agra and another Vs. State of U.P. and others.

9. Learned Standing Counsel and Sri Yogish Kumar Saxena, learned counsel have vehemently opposed the writ petition and stated that the term of the amended scheme of administration as approved by the Joint Director of Education regarding extension of term of the present Committee of Management for a period of five years would not enure to the benefits of the petitioner's Committee of Management. Learned counsel has further stated that Full Bench decision of this Court in Saltnat Bahadur (supra) has been explained and clarified by the Division Bench of this Court in Committee of Management, Janta Inter College and another Vs. State of U.P. and others. It is further contended that in view of the Division Bench judgement of 2014 aforesaid, the term of Committee of Management elected on 25.4.2018 would not extend beyond the period of three years, that is, uptill 24.4.2021 in terms of the unamended scheme of administration. It is further stated that under the circumstances, the petitioner had no vested right to continue as Manager of the institution beyond the period of three years with effect from 25.4.2018 as specified in the previous scheme of administration.

10. Having considered the rival contentions of the learned counsel for the parties, it would be appropriate to look into the impugned order of single operation passed by the Inspector that appears at page 50 of the writ petition which is as follows:-

11. It is admitted to the parties that the previous election that was held on 25.4.2018 was under the unamended scheme of administration in which the period of Committee of Management was three years, that is uptill 24.4.2022. It is also admitted that by the order dated 18.12.2020, the approval to the amended scheme of administration was granted by the Joint Director of Education rendering the previous scheme of administration ineffective. At this stage, it would be pertinent to refer to the two questions referred to the Full Bench of this Court in the case of Saltnat Bahadur (supra) which were as follows:

"(1) Whether the amendment will become effective from the date of the amendment?

(2) Whether the amendment, extending the term of the Committee of Management, will apply to the existing Committee of Management, which has made the amendment or it applies to the Committee of Management which will be formed after the election being held after the amendment?"

12. While answering the second question referred, the Full Bench observed as follows:

"12. Following the same, the second question is answered by holding that the amendment, extending or curtailing the term of the Committee of Management, will become effective immediately and as a result, then existing Committee shall have its term extended or modified in accordance with the amendment. We may add here by way of precaution that if the authority competent to make the amendment itself chooses to specify that the amendment shall be effective from a future date then the amendment shall apply from such later date as may be specified. Similarly, if the approving authority has the necessary powers to lay down similar stipulation, then the amendment may apply as per conditions or stipulations laid down by the approving authority. In absence of such special feature or stipulation, the amendment shall apply to the Committee of Management existing on the date amendment comes into force."

13. In the case of Committee of Management, reported in 2014(1) ADJ 111(supra), this Court had the occasion to consider the judgement of the Full Bench in Saltnat Bahadur (supra). The Court referred to the circular of Director dated 4.8.2003 and held as under:-

Since the Director is vested with a statutory power to grant or refuse his prior approval, incidental to the exercise of power, it is open to the Director to stipulate that the approval shall not enure to the body which has proposed by a resolution, the enhancement of the term. Secondly, the Director has, by his circular of 4 August 2003, clarified the matter beyond doubt by stipulating that when the term of a Committee of Management is enhanced from three years to five years by an amendment in the scheme of administration, the benefit of the amendment will enure only to the Committee of Management that would be elected after fresh elections are held."

14. The Full Bench, inter alia, held that for want of a special feature or stipulation by the authority competent to make the amendment to the Scheme of Administration to make the amendment effective from a future date, the amendment shall apply to the Committee of Management existing on the date the amendment comes into force. Given the mandate of the Division Bench clarifying the answer to question no. 2 of the Full Bench, in view of the circular dated 4.8.2003, and given the fact situation of the present case, it is evident that the term of the Committee of Management, which was elected on 25.4.2018 under the unamended scheme of administration, came to an end on expiry of three years on 24.4.2021. It is pertinent to mention here that the existence, currency and validity of the aforesaid circular of 4.8.2003 is not disputed.

15. Though a photocopy of salary bill for the month of March 2022 signed by the Manager of the institution and the Finance & Accounts Officer is on record, in view of the legal position regarding the term of the Committee of Management as discussed above, no benefit of that can accrue to the petitioner. Merely for the reason that no default regarding payment of salary has occurred, the order of single operation cannot be struck down unless the petitioners establish and demonstrate that the Committee of Management could legally continue beyond the term of three years on the strength of the amended Scheme of Administration, which they have failed to do.

16. In view of the aforesaid position, it needs to be examined whether the petitioner was entitled to an opportunity of hearing under the facts and circumstances of the case.

17. In the present case, it is iterated that in view of the aforesaid Division Bench judgement of this Court clarifying the answer of the question by the Full Bench in Saltnat Bahadur(supra), the petitioner has no vested right to continue as Manager of the institution beyond the stipulated period of three years as provided in the previous scheme of administration.

18. It has been repeatedly held by this Court as well as by the Apex Court that in addition to demonstrating breach of natural justice, proof of prejudice is also to be demonstrated. The petitioner having no right to continue beyond the period of three years, is no longer entitled to continue as Manager of the Committee of Management. At this stage, it is pertinent to refer to the judgment of the Supreme Court in Aligarh Muslim University and others Vs. Mansoor Ali Khan;(2000) 7 SCC 529, in which it has been held as under:

"23. Chinnappa Reddy, J, in S.L. Kapoor case laid down two exceptions (at SCC p. 395) namely, if upon admitted or indisputable facts only one conclusion was possible, then in such a case, the principle that breach of natural justice was in itself prejudice, would not apply. In other words if no other conclusion was possible on admitted or indisputable facts, it is not necessary to quash the order which was passed in violation of natural justice. Of course, this being an exception, great care must be taken in applying this exception.

24. The principle that in addition to breach of natural justice, prejudice must also be proved has been developed in several cases. In K.L. Tripathi V. State Bank of India Sabyasachi Mukharji, J (as he then was) also laid down the principle that not mere violation of natural justice but de facto prejudice (other than non-issue of notice) had to be proved. It was observed, quoting Wade's Administrative Law (5th Edn., pp. 472-75), as follows: (SCC p. 58, para 31).

"It is not possible to lay down rigid rules as to when the principles of natural justice are to apply, nor as to their scope and extent.... There must also have been some real prejudice to the complainant; there is no such thing as a merely technical infringement of natural justice. The requirements of natural justice must depend on the facts and circumstances of the case, the nature of the inquiry, the rules under which the tribunal is acting, the subject-matter to be dealt with, and so forth."

Since then, this Court has consistently applied the principle of prejudice in several cases. The above ruling and various other rulings taking the same view have been exhaustively referred to in State Bank of Patiala V S.K. Sharma. In that case, the principle of "prejudice" has been further elaborated. The same principle has been reiterated again in Rajendra Singh V. State of M.P.

26. It will be sufficient, for the purpose of the case of Mr. Mansoor Ali Khan to show that his case will fall within the exceptions stated by Chinnappa Reddy, J. in S.L. Kapoor V. Jagmohan, namely, that on the admitted or indisputable facts, only one view is possible. In that event no prejudice can be said to have been caused to Mr. Mansoor Ali Khan though notice has not been issued."

19. In the judgement cited by the learned counsel for the petitioner, which is reported in 2013 (1) ADJ 300 (supra), there was a dispute with regard to the Committee of Management which was pending before the Joint Director of Education and an order of single operation was passed. The argument advanced was that the same cannot be a ground to invoke the provisions of U.P. Act No. 24 of 1971, unless default is established. In this view, the Court observed as follows:-

"5. Having heard learned counsel for the parties, this is not a case where the Court should await any filing of further Affidavits as the impugned order on the face of it is in teeth of the provisions of U.P. Act No. 24 of 1971, which mandatorily requires the issuance of a notice prior to passing of an order of single operation. Admittedly, no notice was issued to the petitioner-Committee of Management. Apart from this, the mere pendency of a dispute cannot be the reason for passing of an order of single operation inasmuch as there is nothing in the order to indicate that the payment of salary was ever obstructed. In such a situation, the passing of the order is absolutely unjustified."

In such a situation, the order impugned was held to be unjustified. However, the fact scenario of the present case are different.

20. In the other matter cited by the learned counsel for the petitioner, reported in 2021 (12) ADJ 235 (supra), it appears that during the sustenance of term of the Committee of Management, 16 new members were enrolled, out of which, petitioner no.2 therein was also enrolled as a member. The Manager of the Committee of Management died, as a result, a casual vacancy came into existence and the petitioner no.2 being a valid member was elected as manager for the residue period under a resolution which was duly approved by the Inspector. It was only on the complaint made by the Principal of the institution, the proceeding of single operation was initiated without providing an opportunity of hearing. It was, therefore, in view of the facts of that case, the order of single operation was set aside.

21. Therefore, the aforesaid two judgements are of no help to the petitioner.

22. In view of the aforesaid facts and circumstances of this case, though notice may not have been given to the petitioners prior to issuance of the impugned order of single operation of the account, no prejudice has been caused to them. In the aforesaid judgement in Aligarh Muslim University, the Supreme Court held that not mere violation of natural justice but de facto prejudice (other than non-issue of notice) has to be proved. In view of the indisputable facts of the present case, only one view is possible, and that is, that the petitioner Committee of Management had no right to continue beyond 24.4.2021. The benefit of the extended term of the Committee of Management, brought about by the amendment in the Scheme of Administration, would not inure to the petitioner Committee of Management which was existing on the dates of adoption and approval of the amended Scheme of Administration.

23. In view of the aforesaid facts and circumstances of the case, in the opinion of the Court, the petition has no legs to stand and it is, accordingly, dismissed.

1. Shri Amit Saxena, learned Senior Advocate assisted by Shri Siddharth Singhal & Shri Ravi Nanda, learned counsel for the petitioner and Shri Sarthak under the authority of Shri Kaushalendra Nath Singh, learned counsel for the respondent No. 2.

2. The writ petitioner is a private limited company registered under the provisions of the Companies Act, 1956, with its registered office at 3016/5, Second Floor, Street No. 12A, Ranjeet Nagar, New Delhi. The petitioner is engaged in the development of residential as well as commercial projects.

3. The writ petition was initially filed seeking the following reliefs:-

"i) a writ, order or direction in the nature of mandamus directing the respondent no.2 to handover the vacant, physical and peaceful possession of the Encroached Portion of the Subject Plot admeasuring 17261 sqm forming part of Plot No. SC02/C, Sports City, Sector 150, Noida Gautam Budh Nagar allotted to the petitioner.

ii) a writ, order or direction in the nature of mandamus directing the respondent no. 2 to give "zero period" from the date of execution of the Lease Deed i.e. 19-12-2014 till the time the petitioner is given the vacant, physical and peaceful possession of the said Encroached Portion of the Subject Plot being Plot No. SC-02/C, Sports City, Sector 150, Noida Gautam Budh Nagar allotted to the petitioner.

iii) a writ, order or direction in the nature of mandamus directing the respondent no. 2 to defer the payment of annual lease rent for the period commencing from the date of execution of Lease Deed dated 19-12-2014 till the date on which the vacant, physical and peaceful possession of the Encroached Portion of the Subject Plot is handed over to the petitioner:

iv) a writ, order or direction in the nature of mandamus directing the respondent no. 2 to grant extension of time with regard to the time period stipulated in the lease deed for completion of the project commencing from the date of execution of lease deed i.e. 19-12-2014 till the date on which the vacant, physical and peaceful plot of Encroached Portion of the Subject Plot is handed over to the petitioner; and

v) a writ, order or direction in the nature of mandamus directing the respondent no. 2 to not issue any demand note or any further or subsequent default notices till the time the petitioner is given the vacant, physical and peaceful possession of the Encroached Portion of the Subject Plot being Plot No. SC02/C, Sports City, Sector 150, Noida Gautam Budh Nagar allotted to the petitioner; and

vi) any other writ, order or direction as this Hon'ble Court may deem fit and proper in the circumstances of the case to meet the ends of justice.

vii) Award cost of the petition to the petitioner."

4. The writ petition was amended and the following reliefs were incorporated:-

"viii) a writ, order or direction in the nature of certiorari quashing the impugned order dated 11-02-2021 issued by New Okhla Industrial Development Authority i.e. respondent no.2 (Annexure no.18 to this writ petition) in relation to Plot being SC-02/C, Sports City, Sector 150, Noida, Gautam Budh Nagar, U.P.

ix) a writ, order or direction in the nature of mandamus directing the respondent no. 2 to not take any coercive steps/actions pursuant to the Impugned Order dated 11-02-2021.

x) a writ, order or direction in the nature of mandamus directing the respondent no. 2 to expeditiously grant approval of the building plans submitted vide application dated 12-03-2020 (Annexure 19 to this writ petition) in respect of group housing project of the petitioner in the Subject Plot."

5. It is contended on behalf of the petitioner that the respondent No. 2 floated a scheme, being Scheme 2014-15 (Sports City) for development of Sports City in Plot No. SC-02 in Sector 150, NOIDA and invited bids from interested parties for being awarded the project under the scheme. The petitioner submitted its bid as a consortium member and the bid was accepted by the respondent No. 2 vide letter of acceptance dated 7.7.2014 issued in favour of the consortium addressed to Lotus Greens Constructions Pvt. Ltd., as lead member. The consortium was allotted Plot No. SC-02, Sector 150, NOIDA ad-measuring 12,00,000 square meters @ Rs.19,400/- per square meter. A sum of Rs.96,40,00,000/- was deposited by the consortium including the petitioner after adjusting earnest money of Rs.20 crores. As per the understanding by the petitioner and other consortium members, the petitioner would be entitled to an area of 60,000 square meters out of the said Sports City, Plot No. SC-02/C. The petitioner deposited a sum of Rs.23,28,00,000/- being 20% of the total consideration in respect of the plot in question. The respondent No. 2 on 19.12.2014 executed a lease deed in respect of the 60,000 square meters for a period of 90 years. However, the possession of the plot i.e. SC 02-C (area 60,000 square meters) could not be handed over on account of disputes with farmers and land owners regarding the acquisition of the land. The petitioner on account of not being handed over possession of the leased plot could not commence the project. The petitioner under the aforesaid circumstances applied for grant of zero period benefit and for different of payment of installments lease premium and annual lease rent which was accorded by the respondent No.2 from the date of allotment i.e. 07.07.2014 upto 30.09.2016 vide letter dated 12.09.2016.

6. The lead member of the consortium M/s Lotus Greens Constructions Pvt. Ltd. for itself and also on behalf of its members including the petitioner also applied to the respondent No.2 for grant of zero period benefit till the vacant, peaceful and physical possession of the land allotted was handed over to the Consortium Members. When there was no response from the respondent No.2 M/s Lotus Greens Constructions Pvt. Ltd., filed Writ Petition No.18798 of 2017 which was disposed of directing the respondent No.2 to decide the application regarding handing over of possession and grant of zero period benefit within one month vide order dated 29.05.2019. The respondent No.2 did not comply with the order dated 29.05.2019.

7. The petitioner under the zero period policy of the respondent No.2 made an application for re-schedulement of the outstanding dues of lease premium and deposited a sum of Rs.10,26,20,453/- as re-schedulement fee as per the policy. The respondent No.2 instead of allowing the re-schedulement raised a demand of Rs.10.88 Crores. The petitioner contested the said demand on the ground that such demand could not be raised during the period, the petitioner was not handed over vacant physical possession of the plot allotted. When the Respondent No.2 did not take any decision in the matter, the petitioner filed Writ Petition No.7962 of 2020 which was disposed of vide order dated 05.03.2020 directing the respondent No.2 to decide the application seeking grant of zero period benefit and regarding annual lease rent within six weeks by order dated 05.03.2020 in the light of the observation made in the order. The respondent No.2 in compliance of the order dated 05.03.2020 has decided the representation of the petitioner and arbitrarily rejected the same by the impugned order dated 11.02.2021.

8. In the aforesaid factual backdrops the petitioner submits that the inaction on the part of the respondent No. 2 in arranging vacant peaceful and physical possession of the encroached portion of 17261 square meter of the plot allotted to the petitioners even after more than 5 years of execution of the lease deed is causing serious financial loss and the request for grant of zero period benefit was liable to be allowed. Instead the respondent No. 2 has proceeded to reject the same. Admittedly, the respondent No. 2 did not have possession over the encroached area of the plot and the encroachment was removed only on 21.8.2020 after six years of the allotment of the land, the petitioner was certainly entitled to the benefit of the zero period policy. Further, the petitioner cannot be forced to pay the lease premium and annual lease rent in respect of the plot substantial portion of which has not been handed over to the petitioner. The petitioner cannot be penalized for the fault/lapse of the respondent No. 2 who, admittedly, failed to clear the plot allotted to the petitioner of the encroachment existing over it at the time of allotment of the plot and consequently, the petitioner was deprived from utilizing the full potential of the allotted plot. It is, thus, prayed that the writ petition be allowed.

9. A counter affidavit sworn by Shri Anil Kumar Singh son of late Shri Ram Shanker Singh posted as AGM in New Okhla Industrial Development Authority (NOIDA), Gautam Budh Nagar has been filed in response to the writ petition on behalf of respondent No. 2 stating therein that the petitioner was given possession of the plot SC-02/, Sector 150 having an area of 60,000 square meters on 26.12.2014 and there was no encroachment on the said plot. The entire land allotted to the petitioner was acquired land of the NOIDA authority and there was no disturbance with the farmers. The land of the farmers is on the other side of the road. The petitioner never applied for approval of map to raise constructions and the request for grant of zero period benefit is unjustified. The lead member of the petitioners consortium M/s Lotus Greens Construction Pvt. Ltd., has already been given the benefit of zero period vide letter dated 12.9.2016 and the petitioner was also extended the benefit of zero period from 10.9.2014 to 30.9.2016. The NOIDA authority does not have policy to declare zero period in respect of lease rent and as such, the relief in that regard prayed for cannot be granted to the petitioner. The representation of the petitioner has been rightly rejected by the impugned order. If the petitioner is still aggrieved, it may avail the remedy of approaching the State Government under Section 41 (3) of the U.P. Urban Planning & Development Act, 1973 read with Section 12 of U.P. Industrial Area Development Act, 1976.

10. In the rejoinder affidavit, the petitioner has reiterated its stand taken in the writ petition and highlighted the contrary stand of the respondent No. 2 in the counter affidavit.

11. We have heard the learned counsel for the parties and have perused the record.

12. We find that the respondent No. 2 while passing the impugned order has not considered the case of the petitioner in correct perspective. The respondent No. 2 was required to decide the representation in compliance of the order dated 5.3.2020 passed in Writ Petition No. 7962 of 2020 (Allure Developers Pvt. Ltd. versus State of U.P. and 2 others). The operative portion of the order dated 5.3.2020 reads as under:

"The writ petition is disposed of with the direction to the Chief Executive Officer, NOIDA-respondent no.3 to pass a fresh order only with regard to lease rent, which has been charged from 2015 upto 2020, especially in view of the fact that the 'zero period' has been allowed upto 30.9.2016 and why the petitioner should be saddled with extra lease rent, once the property in question was not handed over to the petitioner and 'zero period' having been declared by the authority itself. The said decision shall be taken by the Chief Executive Officer-respondent no.3 within a period of six weeks from the date a certified copy of this order is presented before the authority concerned.

Till such decision is taken by the Chief Executive Officer, so far as lease rent is concerned, no coercive steps shall be taken against the petitioner pursuant to the demand notice dated 6.9.2019 only with regard to lease rent. The said demand shall be subject to final decision that may be taken by the Chief Executive Officer."

13. A perusal of the orders of the co-ordinate Bench dated 5.3.2020 shows that this Court required the Chief Executive Officer to take a decision regarding charging of lease rent for the period possession of the plot not having handed over to the allottee. We find that the respondent No. 2 while rejecting the representation of the petitioner has not gone into this question at all and simply has stated that there is no such policy of the authority.

14. We also find that the respondent No. 2 under the impugned order dated 11.2.2021 has noted that the encroachment ad-measuring 17621 square meter was removed only on 21.8.2020. It necessarily flows that the petitioner was not put in possession of the entire land allotted to it on 26.12.2014 consequent to the execution of the lease deed on 19.12.2014. In such view of the matter, we are of the view that the respondent No. 2 was not justified to restrict the zero period benefit from 19.12.2014 up to 30.9.2016 only. In the circumstances that stood attracted to the case of the petitioner, it was liable to get zero period benefit from 19.12.2014 up to 21.8.2020 when the encroachment was admittedly cleared from the plot allotted. We also find that the respondent No. 2 is not justified to charge the lease rent @ 2.5% of the total premium from 19.12.2014 up to 21.8.2020.

15. Accordingly, the writ petition stands allowed. The order dated 11.2.2021 passed by the respondent No. 2 in relation to Plot No. SC-02/C, Sports City, Sector 150, Noida, Gautam Budh Nagar, U.P., is set aside. The respondent No. 2 is directed to grant benefit of zero period to the petitioner from 19.4.2014 up to 21.8.2020 and not charge the lease rent in respect of the area of the plot, the possession of which has not been handed over at the time of allotment.

16. So far as the relief regarding grant of approval to the building plans submitted vide application dated 12.3.2020 is concerned, we expect the Authority to do the needful in accordance with law considering the observations made hereinabove.

A. Civil law – Dispute between two private parties – Separation of judicial and executive power – Duty of administrative authorities – First appeal before the Court of District Judge was pending – During the course, the District Magistrate directed for inspection of the property, in question – Revenue authority forcibly disposed the petitioner – Legality challenged – Held, although the District Magistrate was fully well aware about the dispute relating to the boundary issue and pendency of the civil proceedings between the parties relating to the disputed land before the civil court, he has overreached his jurisdiction by entering into the disputes to be adjudicated by the revenue court or the civil court – Held further, in our Constitution, there is clear separation of judicial and executive powers – Administrative Officials cannot enter into any such dispute in exercise of the power conferred on them under the provisions of Cr.P.C. and the Revenue Code to fill in the gap and pass executive orders which explicitly belongs to the realms of Civil Court or the revenue court respectively. (Para 20 and 26)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Om Prakash Shukla, J.)

1. Heard Sri Kamlesh Sharma, learned counsel for the petitioner, Sri K.R. Singh, learned Chief Standing Counsel appearing for the State and Ms. Shreya Gupta, learned counsel for the respondent no. 7.

2. The petitioner has knocked the doors of this Court under Article 226 of the Constitution of India being aggrieved by the action on the part of the Sub-Divisional Magistrate, Tehsil - Kasimabad, District - Ghazipur in foraying into the dispute relating to private property on the application filed by the respondent no. 7 before the District Magistrate, Ghazipur and as such has prayed, inter alia, for the following reliefs:

(I) Issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of mandamus directing the respondent no. 3 to restore the land of the petitioner in its previous position which was dispossessed by he respondents during pendency of the Appeal No. 11 of 2022 (Natthe & anothr Vs. Vikrama) pending before the learned District Judge, Ghazipur.

(II) Issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of mandamus directing the respondent no. 1 to take disciplinary action against the respondent nos. 2 to 6 who have illegally dispossessed the petitioner from his land without adopting any legal procedure.

3. This Court while issuing notice in the present writ petition vide interim order dated 20.7.2022 has expressed its reservation to the manner in which the authorities got indulged in a private dispute and knowingly or unknowingly side with one of the contesting parties to the litigation, resulting in filing of similar kinds of writ petitions in the past. In the said background, this Court had called upon the District Magistrate, Ghazipur, and Sub-Divisional Magistrate, Tehsil - Kasimabad, Ghazipur to file their respective personal affidavits explaining as to how they had entered into the dispute between private parties relating to the immovable property and that too during the pendency of the proceedings between parties before the Civil Court. This Court has also directed the Principal Secretary (Revenue), Government of UP, Lucknow to take action against the erring officers by initiating disciplinary proceedings.

4. The personal affidavits of DM, Ghazipur and SDM, Kasimabad, Ghazipur have been filed and the same were taken on record. Vide order dated 4.8.2022, the explanation received by the Chief Standing Counsel from the office of the Principal Secretary, Government of UP, Lucknow was also taken on record on the same date.

5. The facts of the present case lie within a narrow compass. It is the contention of the petitioner that he is Bhumidhar of Araji No. 932 measuring area 0.0900 hectare and respondent no. 7 is Bhumidhar of Arjai No. 933-A situated at village Kodari, Pargana - Pachotar, Tehsil - Kasimadabad, District - Ghazipur. Since both the Arajis are continguous, there is ensuing dispute lead to filing of Original Suit No. 679 of 2008 for permanent injunction by respondent no. 7 before the learned Additional Civil Judge (Junior Division), Ghazipur against the petitioner.

6. It is the case of the petitioner that the aforesaid suit was decided in favour of respondent no. 7 on 4.1.2022 and aggrieved therefrom the petitioner has preferred an appeal bearing No. 11 of 2022 before the District Judge, Ghazipur on 15.3.2022 which is still pending and, as such, according to him the matter is sub judice.

7. It is further the case of the petitioner that although the respondent no. 7 has neither filed execution of the judgment / order dated 4.2.2022 of the Additional Civil Judge (Junior Division), Ghazipur, nor has filed any demarcation proceedings under Section 24 of the UP Revenue Code, 2006 during the pendency of the civil appeal, but in order to short circuit the entire civil proceedings, has filed an application on 18.4.2022 before the District Magistrate, Ghazipur for demarcation and possession of the land in dispute.

8. It seems that on the said application, the DM, Ghazipur had issued direction to the SDM, Tehsil - Kasimabad, District - Ghazipur, to make inquiry on the spot. The spot inspection and measurement of the plot in question then followed under the instruction of the DM, Gahzipur whereafter reports dated 26.4.2022, 3.5.2022 and 18.5.2022 were submitted by the Revenue Inspector. Pursuant to the said reports the petitioner contends that the SDM, Kasimabad, Ghazipur alongwith revenue authorities visited the spot on 26.5.2022 and directed both the contesting parties to maintain status quo. However, subsequently, revenue authorities alongwith local police again visited the spot on 11.6.2022 and allegedly put on pressure upon the petitioner and after obtaining his signatures had forcibly dispossessed him and gave possession of the disputed land to respondent no. 7.

9. After the said dispossession, the petitioner has moved a representation to the Superintendent of Police, Ghazipur on 13.6.2022 and the DM, Ghazipur on 14.6.2022, disputing his signatures on the alleged spot memo dated 11.6.2022 and complaining about the action on the part of the local police and the revenue authorities.

10. This Court has taken pain in narrating the facts in details to convince itself and yet again this is the case wherein the respondent-authorities have embarked on the path of interjecting into the dispute relating to the immovable property between private person during the pendency of the civil litigation, which has been deprecated by this Court on several occasions.

11. This Court in the case of Jitendra Bahadur Singh Vs. State of UP and others in Civil Misc. Writ Petition No. 50033 of 2015 has directed the Principal Secretary (Revenue) to take disciplinary action against officers concerned, who entered into the dispute between two private parties in respect of immovable property. Pursuant thereto, the Government Order was issued on 16.10.2015 as reminder to the District Magistrates in the State of UP to desist from taking any action in a dispute of immovable properties of private persons and especially those where matter is pending in the Civil Court. It means that the orders issued by the State Government are being ignored by the Administrative Officers as the Court is receiving petitions against such orders almost on daily basis.

12. In a recent decision on 13.6.2022 in Civil Misc. Writ Petition No. 17951 of 2022 Shree Energy Developers Pvt Ltd. Vs. State of UP ans 6 others), the Principal Secretary, Government of UP, Lucknow was directed to look into the matter and to issue direction to the District Magistrates of all the Districts in the State of UP not to interfere into any kind of private dispute relating to immovable property. The Principal Secretary, Government of UP was directed to submit action taken report to this Court through the Registrar General of this Court. No such report had been brought before us and, moreover, this Court is flooded with this kind of litigations where the District Magistrate, Sub-Divisional Magistrates and the police authorities on the complaint of private parties are passing administrative orders to deal with their disputes relating to immovable property.

13. In the aforesaid compelling circumstances, this Court found its bounden duty to call upon the administrative authorities for explanation. The respondent no. 2 in the affidavit filed in his personal capacity has justified his act by stating that before 14.6.2022 neither the petitioner nor the respondent no. 7 ever informed in writing or orally about the pendency of any civil suit or appeal in Civil Court.

14. He states that he came to know about the civil suit / appeal when he received the order dated 20.7.2022 passed by this Court in the present writ petition. In the first blush the justification seems to be bonafide and this Court expected restitution in the light of its earlier judgment and Government Order as stated herein above. However, it seems that the respondent no. 2 has taken deep inquiry into the matter, wherein he has not only taken pain to justify his stand but has also went a step further in entering an arena shadowed with dispute essentially belonging to the competent civil or criminal courts.

15. Apparently, the respondent no. 7 had filed representation dated 18.4.2022 to the respondent no. 2, wherein he claimed seeking resolution of the boundary disputes with the petitioner and as such had prayed for intervention of the District Magistrate. It is this representation which formed the basis of the whole gamut of actions and highhandedness of the respondent no. 2 to dispossess the petitioner. This Court find absolutely absurd as to how the respondent no. 2 can claim to justify in his affidavit that action under Section 129 of the UP Revenue Code, 2006 can be initiated against the petitioner, whereas foundation seems to be essentially the boundary dispute covered under Section 24 of UP Revenue Code. Further this Court find it unable to understand as to how the respondent no. 2 has shown such teary hurry in calling for a report on the said representation given in 'Janata Darshan'. Although the procedure for initiating process under Section 24 or Section 29 of the UP Revenue Code is altogether different and governed under the UP Revenue Code and the Rules framed thereunder.

16. This Court is also convinced that the respondent no. 2 has deliberately either ignored the reports dated 26.4.2022 and 3.5.2022 of the revenue authorities or proposal, remained silent about the same in his affidavit, which sufficiently indicates that the issue was relating to boundary dispute and could be resolved in an appropriate proceeding under Section 24 of the UP Revenue Code and, in any case, the reports in clear terms indicated that the same was made on the basis of consideration of the court cases pending between the parties and as such the parties were required to maintain status quo and all further action in the matter was subject to the resolution of the boundary dispute and the decision of the competent court of law.

17. Although the respondent no. 2 has mentioned in the affidavit that the application dated 25.5.2022 of the respondent no. 7 also did not indicate about any civil suit or order passed by the civil court, but this Court find the said stand to be meaningless in the presence of the reports dated 26.4.2022 and 3.5.2022 of the revenue authorities. There was no occasion for the respondent no. 2 to claim that no action was taken by the SDM concerned and call for another report dated 31.5.2022 issuing fresh direction to take action, which has led to the revenue officials going on the spot on 26.5.2022 and ultimately dispossessing the petitioner on 11.6.2022. The explanation offered by respondent no. 2 is an effort to misguide this Court. The appropriate cause of action for the District Magistrate was to direct the applicant/respondent no. 7 to approach the competent revenue / civil court to seek appropriate remedy, soon after the presentation of the application on 18.4.2022 in 'Janta Darshan' as the dispute was about an immovable property between private persons. No explanation could be given by him about this digression from the settled legal principle at the first instance.

18. Secondly, even after the reports were submitted by the revenue officials dated 26.4.2022 and 3.5.2022 giving clear opinion that the applicant/respondent no. 7 has to wait for the outcome of the litigation pending in the Court, the respondent no. 2/ District Magistrate, Ghazipur entertained another application on 25.5.2022 of the respondent no. 7 and issued direction to take action against a private person, the petitioner herein.

19. We are afraid to accept that the reports dated 26.4.2022 & 3.5.2022, which were forwarded to the higher authorities, did not come to the knowledge of the District Magistrate. Had it been otherwise, the District Magistrate/respondent no. 2, instead of issuing fresh direction on the application dated 25.5.2022, ought to have sought reports from the SDM about the action taken on his previous directions. In any case, the justification of the respondent no. 2/ District Magistrate of his action is not convincing.

20. Thus, this Court finds that the respondent no. 2 has proceeded in a reckless manner resulting in the dispossession of the petitioner in the first instance and later seeking to take shelter under Section 129 of the UP Revenue Code in his personal affidavit filed in this Court. In any case, this Court is unable to appreciate the manner in which the respondent no. 2 has conducted himself and the proceedings in the present case as he has sought to justify his highhandedness under Section 129 of the UP Revenue Code. Although he was fully well aware about the dispute relating to the boundary issue and pendency of the civil proceedings between the parties relating to the disputed land before the civil court. The respondent no. 2 has overreached his jurisdiction by entering into the disputes to be adjudicated by the revenue court or the civil court.

21. There is another aspect of the matter, the respondent no. 2 has after receipt of the order dated 20.7.2022 passed by this Court, promptly directed the SDM concerned to make an inquiry and submit a report relating to the allegations made by the petitioner in his letter dated 14.6.2022. The SDM concerned gave the report dated 30.7.2022 that the petitioner was not only present on the spot on 11.6.2022 and the demarcation was done in his presence but also reported that respondent no. 7 was given possession of the disputed land in the presence of the petitioner and he had also appended his signatures on the said alleged spot memo. This Court find it difficult to appreciate the teary hurry of the SDM and especially when he was made aware about the pendency of the Civil case between the parties in the reports dated 26.4.2022 and 3.5.2022 submitted by the revenue officials. It was expected that once the respondent no. 3 was made aware of the pendency of the case in the Civil Court, he ideally would have submitted his report to the District Magistrate instead of proceeding to dispossess the petitioner on 11.6.2022, despite having knowledge of the private dispute relating to immovable property between two private individuals rather than justify his actions and highhandedness in his action on 11.6.2022.

22. Further, the respondent no 2 in his affidavit has also tried to justify his action by stating that the patta in the name of the petitioner's mother was canceled vide order dated 30.7.2014 and although the revision filed by the petitioner before the Additional Commissioner, Varanasi was allowed by virtue of the order dated 2.11.2018 by which the patta cancellation order was set aside and the matter was remanded back to the concerned authority for deciding afresh, but as a Writ-C No. 5086 of 2019 has been filed against the said revisional order wherein an interim order staying the order passed by the Additional Commissioner has been passed on 20.2.2019, the patta cancellation order stood revived. The said petition is still pending consideration before this Court and hence the action taken by him under the shield of Section 129 of the Revenue Code is justified. Be that as it may, this Court does not intend to dwell into the merits of the claim in the writ petition, which obviously would be decided on its own merit, but the factum of there being proceedings pending relating to the immovable property before the Civil Court and the court of competent jurisdiction cannot be negated.

23. The respondent no. 3 further stated in his affidavit that after he joined as SDM, Kasimabad only on 29.6.2022, an order dated 14.7.20122 has been issued by him to the effect that as the case is pending before the Civil Court and further that with respect to the map correction is pending before the Additional District Magistrate (LR), both the contesting parties should maintain the status quo on the spot and may not raise any new constructions on the spot. Both the parties, however, started quarreling on the spot and as such a challani report under section 151, 107, 116 Cr.P.C. has been submitted. Both of the parties also lodged NCR on 17.7.2022 against each other. The officer now posted as the sub-division officer, however, showed his ignorance about the previous action taken in the matter.

24. The specific query of this Court in the order dated 20.7.2022 seeking explanation from the DM and SDM as to how they entered into private dispute relating to immovable property remained unanswered in the affidavit of both the officers.

25. From the aforesaid conspectus of the fact, it is evident that the situation of law and order that has arisen on the spot due to the dispute involving immovable property belonging to private individuals could have been easily avoided, had the respondent authorities observed restrained and guided themselves by the orders passed by this Court as well as the Government Orders.

26. In our Constitution, there is clear separation of judicial and executive powers. The civil disputes are to be decided by the Civil Court and unsuccessful litigant has a right to file an appeal. The Administrative Officials cannot enter into any such dispute in exercise of the power conferred on them under the provisions of Cr.P.C. and the Revenue Code to fill in the gap and pass executive orders which explicitly belongs to the realms of Civil Court or the revenue court respectively. The due process of law has to be followed in all respect and the executive authorities are not supposed to usurp the the power bestowed on the civil / revenue courts as it would not only be exercise of excessive jurisdiction not permissible under law but would also lead to overlapping jurisdiction which is against the tenets of the basic structure of our Constitution.

27. The present case is a glaring example of encroaching and over reaching the realm of the Civil Court on the part of the respondent-authorities. Although the respondent no. 2 has taken a stand that he was not aware of the pendency of the civil appeal, but the action of the respondent no. 2 even after submission of the reports by the revenue officials does not seem convincing to this Court from any angle. The authorities concerned ought not to have exercised administrative power for entering into the disputed property and issue order for delivery of possession etc against one or the other party. This primarily should be left to the competent court of civil jurisdiction.

28. The very issuance of advisory by the Government of UP dated 3.8.2022 vide No. 1291/EK-2022/9-RA-9 pursuant to the Government order dated 16.10.2015 is evident of the fact that even the Government of UP is not oblivious to the exercise of excessive administrative powers by the execution in civil dispute relating to immovable properties between private individuals. It is high time that the said advisory acts like yet another reminder to all the executive authorities to desist from taking any action in a dispute relating to immovable properties of private persons and especially when the matter is pending in a civil court as in the present case.

29. Having noted the effort of the Government of UP in issuing the aforesaid advisory, this Court further expects that the Government should also prescribe consequential effect against the erring officers and provide for remedial steps by framing high level committee of senior officers at the Government level, which should include the Revenue Secretary so that not only accountability can be fixed but a redressal forum be available to the victims and this Court is not flooded with similar kinds of litigations in future.

30. For all above reasons, we are inclined to allow this writ petition. This court without expressing any view on the merits of the dispute pending before the competent courts and in the peculiar facts and circumstances of the present case directs the District Magistrate, Ghazipur and the SDM, Tehsil - Kasimabad, District - Ghazipur to ensure that the parties are restored possession as was existed prior to 11.6.2022 in order to bring them to their original position. Needless to say that such arrangement shall be subject to the out come of the civil appeal and other litigations pending between the petitioner and respondent no. 7. We clarify that we have not expressed anything on the merit of the contention of the parties, which may be permissible to the parties as per law and as such we did not find any reason to issue notice to respondent no. 7 before passing this order.

31. Further, before parting with this judgment, this Court issues strict warning to the respondent no. 2 the officer posted as the District Magistrate, Ghazipur for trying to mislead this Court, to refrain from repeating any such mistake in future. We call upon the departmental head to issue a Warning to the District Magistrate, Ghazipur to be kept in his service record. A Warning be also issued to all such erring officials, to be circulated widely, so that they shall desist from repeating such acts in future and that any such repetitive act must entail disciplinary action against them as per the Rules.

32. With the aforesaid observations and directions, the writ petition stands disposed of.

33. No order as to cost.

Writ petition dismissed. (E-1)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Manoj Kumar Gupta, J.
Hon'ble Ram Manohar Narayan Mishra, J.)

1. Heard Sri Ashish Kumar Singh for the petitioners, learned standing counsel for respondents no.1 & 4 and Mrs. Anjali Upadhya for respondents 2 & 3.

2. The petitioners have prayed for quashing of an order dated 13.5.2022 passed by respondent no.1 i.e. Chief Executive Officer, NOIDA, Gautam Budh Nagar. By the said order, the representation filed by the petitioners in response to a notice dated 20.12.2021 issued by respondent no.2 (NOIDA) has been decided in compliance of order dated 28.1.2022 passed by this Court in Writ-C No.692 of 2022. The objection of the petitioners has been rejected and it has been held that the constructions raised by the petitioners over Khasra No.734 are illegal and unauthorised and are therefore liable to be demolished.

3. In brief, the facts necessary for disposal of the instant petition are that a demolition notice was issued to the petitioners on 20.12.2021 by respondents no.3 and 4 mentioning that Khasra No.734 is land notified as 'industrial development area' under Section 2 (d) of the U.P. Industrial Area Development Act, 1976. It is flood plain zone of river Yamuna and whereupon the petitioners were found raising illegal constructions. The notice makes reference to Section 10 of the Act and directs the petitioners to forthwith stop further development and remove the constructions made so far, failing which, the same will be demolished by the Authority and the expenses incurred in this behalf shall be recovered from the petitioners as arrears of land revenue. The notice further mentions that in case the petitioners have any sanctioned plan or rely on any other document, it shall be open to them to file their reply within fifteen days, failing which, it will be assumed that the petitioners have nothing to say in the matter.

4. The petitioners being aggrieved by the said notice approached this Court by way of Writ-C No.692 of 2022 contending that the constructions are old and were made prior to constitution of the NOIDA Authority in the year 1976. It was also the case of the petitioners that they had already replied to the demolition notice, but without deciding the same, the NOIDA Authority was threatening to demolish the constructions. The writ petition was disposed of by an order dated 28.1.2022 with direction to respondent no.2 to pass a reasoned order, taking into consideration the objections filed by the petitioners. It is in compliance of the said direction that the impugned order has now been passed.

5. The impugned order records as follows:-

(a) Plot No.734 is notified as 'industrial development area' and is flood plain zone of river Yamuna.

(b) The notification of the village in which Khasra No.734 lies as industrial development area under Section 2 (d) of the Act, was issued on 11.07.1989. No development work in any area notified under Section 2 (d) can be undertaken without the permission of NOIDA Authority.

(c) The State Government had issued a Government Order dated 16.3.2010 directing that all unauthorized constructions in flood plain zone be removed forthwith.

(d) Tehsildar, Dadari in his report dated 20.4.2022 has mentioned that Khasra No.734 is recorded as banjar in khatauni of 1427 - 1432 fasali. There is no evidence of the said plot being allotted for agricultural purposes.

(e) Since Khasra No.734 is notified as 'industrial development area' and is flood plain zone, therefore, the constructions raised by the petitioners without approval of NOIDA Authority are in clear violation of Section 2 (d) read with Section 10 of the Act.

6. On 21.07.2022, the following order was passed:-

"Supplementary affidavit filed today is taken on record.

It is submitted by Sri Kaushalendra Nath Singh, learned counsel appearing on behalf of Noida Authority that except for a bald plea that constructions were old and raised prior to the area being declared as notified area no evidence in this behalf was led by the petitioners. This was despite the fact that notice specifically mentioned that the petitioners were found raising new constructions without obtaining any permission from the authority.

Sri Ashish Kumar Singh, learned counsel for the petitioners seeks time to ascertain whether any evidence was filed by the petitioners before the respondent authority to show that the constructions were old constructions, raised before the area was declared as notified area under the provisions of U.P. Industrial Area Development Act, 1976.

List as fresh on 25.07.2022."

7. In compliance of the above order, a supplementary affidavit has been filed in which it is admitted that the petitioners are not having any electricity connection over the premises in question. It is stated that the property is in shape of a Gher and is being used as such. It is also admitted that the property is situated near the river embankment and for this reason, no electricity connection has been provided. No evidence has been filed alongwith the supplementary affidavit to show the extent of constructions or that they were old constructions.

8. It is not disputed before us that after an area has been notified as industrial development area, the occupier thereof is not entitled to raise constructions over it without obtaining permission from the Authority. This is in view of the mandate of Section 9 which stipulates that- no person shall erect or occupy any building in any industrial development area in contravention of any building regulations made under sub-section (2). Regulation 4 of the New Okhala Industrial Development Area Building Regulation, 2010 provides that no person shall erect any building or a boundary wall or fencing without obtaining a prior permission thereof from the Chief Executive Officer or an officer authorised by the Chief Executive Officer for this purpose. Regulation 5 stipulates that any person who intends to erect a building within the industrial development area shall give application in the Form given at Appendix-1 and subject to compliance of the provisions laid down under the Regulations, permission shall be granted/refused. Regulation 20.3 stipulates that in case of unauthorized development, the Chief Executive Officer or an officer authorized by the Chief Executive Officer shall take suitable action which may include demolition of unauthorized work, sealing of premises, prosecution and criminal proceedings against the offenders in pursuance of relevant Acts in force.

9. Before this Court, the petitioners have only raised plea of constructions being old, but no such evidence was filed before the Authority nor even before this Court.

10. Sri Ashish Kumar Singh, learned counsel for the petitioners fairly admits that there is no evidence with the petitioners to show that the constructions were raised before the area was notified as industrial development area so as to take the same outside the clutches of the Building Regulations framed by the Authority. He, however, submitted that the observation in the impugned order that Khasra No.734 is recorded as banjar and there is no evidence of settlement of the said land with any person, is an incorrect observation.

11. Mrs. Anjali Upadhya, learned counsel appearing on behalf of NOIDA Authority submitted that the observation is based on a report of Tehsildar, Dadari. It is a mere passing observation and the dispute relating to right, title or interest in the subject land was not decided by the Authority.

12. We find considerable force in her submission. The observation made in the impugned order in respect of subject land being recorded as banjar land and there being no evidence of allotment thereof in favour of any person is not an adjudication made by the Authority qua the rights of the petitioners in the subject land. We therefore clarify that the petitioners are free to get their rights adjudicated in this behalf in appropriate proceedings and wherein the above observation will have no adverse effect.

13. However, as noted above, since the petitioners have failed to prove that the constructions over the subject land were old or were raised prior to the area being declared as Industrial Development Area and also in view of the admitted fact that the subject land is flood plain zone of river Yamuna, we find no illegality in the impugned order in so far as it holds that the constructions raised by the petitioners are illegal and unauthorized and are liable to be demolished.

14. The petition lacks merit and is dismissed subject to the above clarification.

4. Deepak Kumar Singh Vs St. of U.P. & ors.; MANU/UP/1820/2019

(Delivered by Hon'ble Pankaj Bhatia, J.)

1. Heard Sri Om Prakash Mani Tripathi, learned Counsel for the petitioner and Sri Savitra Vardhan Singh, learned Additional Chief Standing Counsel.

2. The present petition has been filed challenging the order dated 07.07.2021 passed by the Director, Secondary Education, Uttar Pradesh, Lucknow whereby the request of the petitioner's institution for granting approval to the selection made on Class-III post has been rejected as well as the order dated 07.10.2021 passed on similar grounds by the respondent no.2.

3. The averments in brief are that the petitioner Society is running an institution in the name of Sohan Lal Balika Inter College and is managing the affairs of the institution. On 31.07.2020, the regular clerk posted in the institution was retired, as a result whereof, a vacancy accrued on 01.08.2020.

4. As the institution was suffering on account of the vacancy, a request was made on 07.08.2020 to the Director, Secondary Education through the District Inspector of Schools informing that the clerk working in the institution has retired and one post of clerk sanctioned for the College is laying vacant since 01.08.2020, as such, permission may be granted to fill up the vacant post through direct recruitment. Thereafter, the District Inspector of Schools communicated the request of the petitioner to the Director, Secondary Education giving reference to the request made by the petitioner. The said letter is contained in Annexure-3 to the writ petition.

5. It is stated that despite the request, no orders were being passed, as such, the petitioner approached this Court by filing a Writ Petition No.21223 (MS) of 2020 seeking a direction upon the respondents to decide the application of the petitioner for making the selection. The said writ petition was disposed off vide order dated 19.11.2020 directing the respondent no.2 therein to consider and decide the application of the petitioner by speaking order within six weeks. It is argued that despite the said directions, no decision was taken within six weeks, as such, the Managing Committee once again sent a reminder on 30.01.2021 with a request to take a decision.

6. As no decision was being taken despite the directions, the Committee of Management constituted a Committee for selection of a candidate to the post of Junior Clerk and issued an advertisement in the newspaper, namely Swatantra Chetna on 05.02.2021 (Annexure-7). The Committee took interview of the eligible candidates and on the basis of the quality points selected one Mr. Vibhanshu Maurya for being appointed on the Class-III posts. A resolution to that effect was passed on 29.04.2021. The process of selection was intimated to the District Inspector of School-II, Lucknow on 27.05.2021, however, it is stated that he refused to accept the documents, as such, the same was sent through registered post which was received back with the remark "refused to receive".

7. As no action was being taken for approval of the selection made by the Committee, another writ petition was filed by the petitioner being Writ Petition No.13593 (MS) of 2021 which was disposed off vide order dated 06.07.2021 by this Court directing the respondents to take a decision within a period of one months. However, on the very next day, an order came to be passed which is contained as Annexure-1 to the writ petition, stating that the said order was being passed in compliance of the earlier directions given by this Court vide order dated 19.11.2020. By means of the said order which is impugned in the writ petition, the Director, Secondary Education proceeded to reject the request of the petitioner on various grounds.

8. A perusal of the order impugned (Annexure-1) reveals that the District Inspector of Schools found that two posts were vacant in Class-III category (The Counsel for the petitioner states that the same has been wrongly recorded and was rightly held to be one post in the subsequent order dated 07.10.2021 which is also impugned). The order further records that process of selection undertaken was contrary to the mandate of the High Court in its judgment dated 19.11.2020. It further records that the District Inspector of Schools, Lucknow in his report has stated that the selection of Vibhanshu Maurya has been done without any prior approval, as such, it is improper to approve the said selection. It further records that a ban has been imposed by the State Government on 30.10.2019 in respect of 26 colleges. It also places reliance on another Government Order dated 19.01.2021 which relates to the colleges except 26 colleges mentioned in the Government Order dated 30.10.2019 and thereafter concluded that for the reasons as disclosed, it would not be proper to grant approval as sought by the petitioner. Subsequently, another order came to be passed on 07.10.2021 (Annexure-15 added through an amendment) which was also challenged through an amendment application. In the order dated 07.10.2021, while deciding the representation of the petitioner as directed by this Court vide order dated 06.07.2021, it was observed that there was one post of Class-III was vacant in the petitioner's institution. It further records that although no procedure for filling the vacancy is specified, as such, any selection may result in nepotism in the process of selection. It also places reference to the Government Order dated 26.04.2014 and holds that any selection made without any prior approval, could not be entitled for salary from the State exchequer. The said two orders are under challenge.

9. The Counsel for the petitioner argues that Regulation 101 in Chapter III of The Uttar Pradesh Intermediate Education Act, 1921 confers power of appointment subject to approval by the District Inspector of Schools. He argues that the scope of Regulations 101 to 104 came up for interpretation before this Court in the case of Jagdish Singh vs State of U.P. and others; (2006) 2 UPLBEC 1851 wherein the Division Bench of this Court was of the view that prior approval contemplated under Regulation 101 is required after the process of selection and before the issuance of the appointment letter to the selected candidate. He further places reliance on the judgment of this Court in the case of Abhishek Tripathi vs State of U.P.; (2015) 2 UPLBEC 1272 wherein this Court following the earlier judgment rendered in the case of Preet Kumar Srivastava vs State of U.P. and others; 2011 (9) ADJ 591 as well as Jagdish Singh (Supra) has held that necessity for prior approval would arise only subsequent to the selection and prior to issuance of the appointment letter.

10. In the light of the said two judgments, learned Counsel for the petitioner argues that the orders impugned are bad in law, inasmuch as, it refused the approval for selection which is contrary and in the teeth of the aforesaid two judgments of this Court. He further argues that mention of the Government Order restraining the appointment in 26 colleges would not apply to the case of the petitioner, inasmuch as, the name of the petitioner 's College does not find mention in the list of the said 26 colleges. He argues that the Director, Secondary Education ought to have applied his mind with regard to the manner in which the selection was made which does not exist in the said impugned order and thus, the same are bad in law. He further argues that as the selection has already been done and the person is working, a direction is liable to be issued for payment of salary. In support of that he places reliance on the judgment of this Court in the case of Sunil Kumar vs State of U.P. and others (Service Single No.2341 of 2010) decided on 03.12.2018.

11. Sri Savitra Vardhan Singh, learned Additional Chief Standing Counsel appears on behalf of the State has tried to justify the orders impugned on the strength of judgment of this Court in the case of Deepak Kumar Singh vs State of U.P. and others; MANU/UP/1820/2019.

12. A perusal of the said judgment makes it clear that this court while deciding the issue considered the earlier judgment of this court in the case of Jagdish Singh (Supra) and held that the member of the Committee of Management cannot issue an appointment letter or permit joining of a candidate without there being a prior approval.

13. Considering the submissions made at the bar, in the present case, there is no dispute that one substantive vacancy existed in the institution in question, the Committee of Management has made selection without there being prior approval and after completing the selection process issued letter to the selected candidate and in view of the law laid down by this Court in the case of Jagdish Singh (Supra) followed in the cases of Preet Kumar Srivastava (Supra) and Abhishek Tripathi (Supra), it is clearly settled that no prior approval is required for initiating the selection process, however, prior approval is required before issuance of any appointment letter.

14. From the perusal of the orders impugned, it reflect that there is no application of mind in respect of the selection made by the petitioner. The respondents have proceeded to pass the order on the analogy that prior approval for the selection was not taken which stand is contrary to the judgments of this Court as referred above. The other ground that the action of the petitioner was contrary to the order of this court passed on 19.11.2020 also merits rejection, inasmuch as, this Court while passing the order dated 19.11.2020 had simply directed the respondents to take a decision in terms of the request made by the petitioner within six weeks, which the respondents did not do. The other reasoning mentioned in the impugned orders that in terms of the Government Order, there was a bar for making appointment in respect of the 26 colleges also does not find favour of this court in view of the fact that the petitioner Institution is not named in the list of the 26 colleges as referred to in the Government Order, thus for all the reasons recorded above and in the light of the judgments of this Court rendered in the case of Jagdish Singh (Supra) followed in the cases of Preet Kumar Srivastava (Supra) and Abhishek Tripathi (Supra), the orders impugned dated 07.07.2021 and 07.10.2021 are set aside.

15. The matter is relegated to the Director, Secondary Education for passing a fresh order after considering the observations made hereinabove and the law laid down by this Court in the case of Jagdish Singh (Supra) followed in the cases of Preet Kumar Srivastava (Supra) and Abhishek Tripathi (Supra).

16. The Director, Secondary Education shall take decision with all expeditions preferably within a period of two months from the date of production of certified copy of this order.

17. The Director shall take decision in terms of regulations and shall pass orders on the request of the petitioner to grant of approval for selection on the Class-III posts.

18. It is made clear that the question of the petitioner not taking prior approval before the selection process shall not be a ground for passing the orders as directed above.

19. So far as the prayer of the petitioner for granting approval with all consequential benefits cannot be accepted in terms of the orders passed by this Court, inasmuch as, the law is well settled that before issuance of appointment letter and permitting a person to join, prior approval is necessary. The entitlement of salary to the selected candidate shall be subject to the outcome of the fresh order to be passed by the Director as directed hereinabove.

20. For the reasons recorded above, the writ petition is disposed off.

(Delivered by Hon'ble J.J. Munir, J.)

1. This writ petition is directed against the judgment and award passed by the Presiding Officer, Labour Court, U.P., Lucknow in Adjudication Case No. 170 of 2007 dated 18th March, 2010, published on 3rd March, 2011.

2. Ganga Rai, respondent no.2 to this petition, was employed as a driver with the Uttar Pradesh State Road Transport Corporation in the year 1979. Ganga Rai shall hereinafter be referred to as 'the workman'. The two petitioners here, who are substantially one and the same, that is to say, the Uttar Pradesh State Road Transport Corporation, represented by their General Manager for the Azamgarh Region, Azamgarh, shall hereinafter be called 'the employers'.

3. Shorn of unnecessary details, the workman was placed under suspension pending inquiry by the employers on 09.12.1987. Two charge-sheets, carrying distinct charges, were issued to the workman by the employers, one dated 20.11.1987 and the other dated 01.01.1988. He was required to file his reply to the charge-sheets within the time specified. An Inquiry Officer was appointed to inquire into the charges and submit a report. It is common ground between parties that the workman participated in the ensuing inquiry. The workman was exonerated of the charges carried in the charge-sheet dated 20.11.1987. However, of the three charges carried in the charge-sheet dated 01.01.1988, the workman was exonerated in regard to Charge No. 1, but held guilty on Charges Nos. 2 and 3.

4. The Assistant Regional Manager of the employers issued a show cause notice to the workman on 04.12.1989, to which the workman submitted his reply. The Assistant Regional Manager vide his order dated 31.03.1990 ordered the workman's removal from service and forfeiture of the balance of all emoluments for the period of suspension. A departmental appeal was preferred from the said order, which was rejected by the departmental appellate authority vide order dated 26.10.1990. This order was communicated to the workman on 22.01.1991.

5. The workman invoked the provisions of the Uttar Pradesh Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (for the short, 'the Act of 1947') claiming the termination of his services by the employers to be unlawful. The following reference was made by the Deputy Labour Commissioner, Gorakhpur vide order dated 08.04.1991 (translated into English from Hindi):

Whether termination of services of the workman, Sri Ganga Rai (Driver) son of Sri Suryabali Rai, by the employers on 31.03.1990 is just and/ or lawful? If not, to what relief is the concerned workman entitled and with what other benefits?

6. On the aforesaid reference, Adjudication Case No. 209 of 1991 was registered on the file of the Labour Court, Gorakhpur. Later on, by a Government Order dated 31.07.2007, the industrial dispute was transferred to the Labour Court, Lucknow. After registration of the case before the Labour Court at Lucknow, notice was issued to both parties, directing them to appear. The workman appeared and put in his written statement, where after detailing the course of proceedings, already extracted hereinabove, the workman pleaded that termination of his services was unlawful and unjust. It was also the workman's case that the Inquiry Officer was not apponted by the competent officer, empowered in this behalf. The workman was not afforded any opportunity to defend himself or produce evidence in his defence. The entire disciplinary proceedings were held in utter disregard of the principles of natural justice. It was pleaded on behalf of the workman that he had not done any such act, on account of which the employers would have sustained injury. It was pleaded that he was falsely implicated by and at the behest of some persons, harbouring personall ill-will and malice against him, who conspired to implicate him.

7. The employers in their written statement pleaded that the workman was suspended and charge-sheeted on various charges, which include refusing to operate the Delux Bus on its route on 23.11.1987, misbehaving with Pramod Kumar Mishra, Senior Clerk on 08.12.1987 and on the same day threatening the Assistant General Manager, R.N. Tiwari with death. It was in consequence of these charges that the workman was suspended from service on 09.12.1987, regarding which he was served with a charge-sheet dated 01.01.1988. On the workman's reply not being found satisfactory by the employers, an Inquiry Officer was appointed on 30.12.1988. The Inquiry Officer held inquiry after summoning both parties. The workman was given due opportunity to defend himself by the Inquiry Officer, who submitted his inquiry report on 16.05.1989. The rest of the averments are about the course of proceedings, leading to the order of removal, most of which have already been recounted. It was particularly pleaded in Paragraph No. 9 of the written statement filed on behalf of the employers that if the Labour Court is of opinion that there has been any flaw in holding the inquiry or that no inquiry has been held at all, the employers have the right to prove the charges against the workman before the Labour Court by leading necessary evidence. There is a prayer carried in the written statement that in case the Labour Court reaches conclusion about any flaw in the inquiry, the employers may be given opportunity to prove the charges before the Labour Court. There is pleading to the effect, albeit in words more ceremonial than substantial, that the order of reference is bad and that the Labour Court had no jurisdiction to decide any dispute beyond the terms of reference.

8. The Labour Court, after hearing parties on 25.08.1993, framed an issue about the validity of the domestic inquiry to the effect whether the said inquiry was fair, lawful and bona fide. The Labour Court, by an order dated 08.04.1999, held that despite opportunity being afforded to the employers on the issue about the fairness of the domestic inquiry, they chose not lead any evidence or to prove any documents. It was held that the domestic inquiry was not fair and proper. The employers were, therefore, granted opportunity to lead evidence on 02.08.1999 in support of the charges before the Labour Court.

9. The Labour Court, after consideration of the evidence led by the employers, passed the impugned award holding the charges not proved by the evidence on record. The reference was answered in terms that the termination of services of the workman by the employers on 31.03.1990 was not lawful and proper. It was further directed that the workman was entitled to be reinstated in service with continuity. The workman was awarded 20% back-wages for the period of his disengagement. The Labour Court has also invoked its powers under Section 6(2-A) of the Act of 1947 in making the impugned award.

10. Heard Mr. S.M. Mishra, learned Counsel for the employers and Mr. Sandeep Kumar Rai, learned Counsel appearing for the workman.

11. It is argued by Mr. S.M. Mishra, learned Counsel for the employers that the Labour Court has concluded in manifest error that Pramod Kumar Mishra, who was a Senior Clerk, could not prove the charge of misbehaviour with him against the workman by his evidence adduced before the Labour Court. Likewise is the submission regarding the conclusions on the charge relating to misbehaviour with the Assistant Regional Manager. It is argued by Mr. Mishra that these two witnesses, no doubt the complainants, could not be disbelieved by the Labour Court for the reason alone that they were complainants with regard to the relative charges. It is also argued that the Labour Court committed a manifest illegality in relying upon the workman's testimony to disbelieve the employers' witnesses. The entitlement of the workman to receive back-wages has been scathingly criticized by Mr. Mishra with the submission that back-wages cannot be claimed as a matter of right, when the order of removal is set aside by the Labour Court. In this connection, he has drawn the attention of the Court to the decision of the Supreme Court in Management of Regional Chief Engineer, Public Health and Engineering Department, Ranchi vs. Their Workmen represented by District Secretary, (2019) 18 SCC 814. In Management of Regional Chief Engineer, PHED (supra), it was held:

10. In our considered opinion, the courts below completely failed to see that the back wages could not be awarded by the Court as of right to the workman consequent upon setting aside of his dismissal/termination order. In other words, a workman has no right to claim back wages from his employer as of right only because the Court has set aside his dismissal order in his favour and directed his reinstatement in service.

11. It is necessary for the workman in such cases to plead and prove with the aid of evidence that after his dismissal from the service, he was not gainfully employed anywhere and had no earning to maintain himself or/and his family. The employer is also entitled to prove it otherwise against the employee, namely, that the employee was gainfully employed during the relevant period and hence not entitled to claim any back wages. Initial burden is, however, on the employee.

12. It is argued that it was a duty of the workman to prove that he was not gainfully employed during the period he was out of employment, which he has not done. It is submitted that this burden not being discharged by the workman, the award of 20% back-wages is bad in law.

13. Mr. Sandeep Kumar Rai, learned Counsel for the workman, on the other hand, submits that the workman had urged that he was not given opportunity by the Inquiry Officer and the inquiry was not fair. On the pleadings of parties, an issue was farmed, whereon it was held against the employers by the Labour Court on 08.04.1999. The employers were granted opportunity to lead evidence, which they did. It is submitted that the employers produced the two complainants alone as witnesses, whereas regarding the incident relative to the two charges, there were a number of named witnesses, such as Shiv Nath Singh, Shiv Badan Singh, Shri Prakash Mishra and Radhey Shyam Singh, none of whom were produced by the employers. The witnesses by their own evidence utterly failed to prove the charges, as held by the Labour Court.

14. It is further submitted that the Labour Court has considered the entire evidence and reached a plausible conclusion that the charges were not established by the testimony of the two witnesses produced on behalf of the employers. It is also argued that the employers acquiesced to the order of the Labour Court dated 08.04.1991, discarding the domestic inquiry as unfair and vitiated. The employers have led evidence before the Labour Court to prove the charges, which strengthens the case of acquiescence to the said order. At this stage, the employers cannot question the said order and can only say what they may in criticism of the Labour Court's award on merits relating to the charges, which the employers attempted to establish.

15. This Court has carefully considered the submissions advanced on behalf of both parties and perused the record.

16. This Court must remark that the order dated 08.04.1991, whereby the fairness of the inquiry has been held vitiated by the Labour Court, with a direction to the employers to produce evidence, is one that cannot stand scrutiny about its validity. The order dated 08.04.1999 reads (translated into English from Hindi):

"The employers have been given many opportunities to produce evidence, but they have not produce any evidence nor have they proved any document. I order that the domestic inquiry is not proper and fair and the employers are granted opportunity to adduce evidence in support of the charges on 02.08.1999."

17. The burden to prove that the domestic inquiry is one that is held in violation of principles of natural justice or the conclusions are not bona fide or the inquiry is unfair, lies on the workman; not the employers. The order passed by the Labour Court on 08.04.1999 to hold the inquiry vitiated places the burden on the wrong shoulder. By application of no principle or yardstick, could the employers be required to prove by evidence that the inquiry held was fair, just and bona fide. It is presumed to be so unless the workman proves to the contrary.

18. The aforesaid principle is well elucidated by the following remarks of the Delhi High Court in Uco Bank vs. The Presiding Officer and another, 1999 SCC OnLine Del 657:

17. In the present case petitioner Bank has held the enquiry conducted against workman on the basis of which workman has been dismissed from service. It is the workman who has raised dispute against his dismissal. He has filed statement of claim contending that enquiry conducted against him is not proper and that there is violation of principles of natural justice. Therefore, normally it is for him to prove as to how enquiry conducted against him is illegal or invalid.

18. As stated above, this issue is to be treated as preliminary issue. Only if this preliminary issue is decided against the employer and it is held that the enquiry conducted is not valid, then the burden would shift and squarely lie upon the employer to show by adducing evidence on merits that the action taken against the workman was justified and for this Bank will have to lead evidence to establish that the charges levelled against the workman were proved. Insofar as question of validity of the enquiry is concerned, initial burden lies upon the workman to prove that the enquiry conducted against him was not fair or proper.

19. In the opinion of this Court, therefore, the Labour Court committed a manifest and patent error law in proceeding to hold the inquiry unfair by requiring the employers to establish that it was fair, just and bona fide. The consequential action of the Labour Court to require the employers to produce evidence and establish the charges would, therefore, be vitiated.

20. The next question, that arises, is whether the employers are entitled to question the order of the Labour Court dated 08.04.1999, holding the inquiry vitiated on ground that it is unfair and defective, while challenging the Labour Court's award passed after the adjudication case has reached conclusion. This issue is raised by the learned Counsel for the workman, relying on the principle of acquiescence to submit that once the order of the Labour Court, holding the inquiry unfair, has not been challenged when made, and to the contrary accepted by the employers by leading evidence in support of the charges before the Labour Court, they cannot turn around and question the validity of the order dated 08.04.1999, on the foot of which proceedings in the adjudication case have taken their course and reached a terminus in terms of the award. This submission, though attractive at the first blush, crumbles down in the face of authority to the contrary in Cooper Engineering Limited v. Shri P.P. Mundhe, (1975) 2 SCC 661, where it was held:

22. We are, therefore, clearly of opinion that when a case of dismissal or discharge of an employee is referred for industrial adjudication the Labour Court should first decide as a preliminary issue whether the domestic enquiry has violated the principles of natural justice. When there is no domestic enquiry or defective enquiry is admitted by the employer, there will be no difficulty. But when the matter is in controversy between the parties that question must be decided as a preliminary issue. On that decision being pronounced it will be for the management to decide whether it will adduce any evidence before the labour court. If it chooses not to adduce any evidence, it will not be thereafter permissible in any proceeding to raise the issue. We should also make it clear that there will be no justification for any party to stall the final adjudication of the dispute by the Labour Court by questioning its decision with regard to the preliminary issue when the matter, if worthy, can be agitated even after the final award. It will be also legitimate for the High Court to refuse to intervene at this stage. We are making these observations in our anxiety that there is no undue delay in industrial adjudication.

21. In view of the holding in Cooper Engineering Limited (supra), there is no force in the submission of the learned Counsel for the workman that the employers are not entitled to question the validity of the order dated 08.04.1999 passed by the Labour Court at the early stages of proceedings, holding the inquiry to be unfair, later on while challenging the award. Once the order dated 08.04.1999, holding the inquiry to be unfair, is held to be vitiated, the subsequent proceedings before the Labour Court on the foot of the said order, are also bad. The first question, that the Labour Court has to determine, is whether the inquiry that has been questioned as unfair by the workman, is indeed unfair and defective. This has to be done by requiring the workman to affirmatively prove that it is so.

22. If the workman succeeds in establishing the inquiry to be unfair or the result of a fundamentally flawed procedure, it could be the end of the matter, subject to the employers' right to lead evidence before the Labour Court on the merits of the charges against the workman. Should the contingency arise before the Labour Court that the inquiry is found vitiated on the ground of it being unfair or defective, it would then have to be seen whether the employers have, at the appropriate stage, elected to exercise their right to lead evidence as aforesaid. How and at what stage the employers could exercise that right, has been the subject matter of consideration by the Constitution Bench of the Supreme Court in Karnataka State Road Transport Corporation v. Lakshmidevamma (Smt.) and another, (2001) 5 SCC 433. The guidance on the issue is clear and by high authority, which need not be recapitulated.

23. In the result, this petition succeeds and is allowed in part. The impugned award dated 18.03.2010, published on 03.03.2011 passed in Adjudication Case No. 170 of 2007 by the Presiding Officer, Labour Court, U.P., Lucknow, is hereby quashed. The adjudication case is restored to the file of the Labour Court with a direction to re-hear the matter in accordance with the guidance in this judgment and pass an award afresh answering the reference. The Labour Court shall decide the reference within a period of six months of the date of receipt of a copy of this order. There shall be no order as to costs.

24. Let a copy of this order be communicated to the Presiding Officer, Labour Court, U.P., Lucknow, or whichever be the Court now exercising that jurisdiction, by the Registrar (Compliance).

Hon'ble Sanjay Kumar Pachori, J.)

1. Heard Mr. Arvind Kumar, learned counsel for the petitioners and Mr. Badrul Hasan, learned Additional Government Advocate appearing on behalf of the State.

2. By means of the present petition the petitioners have sought the following reliefs:

"(I) issue a writ order or direction in the nature of Mandamus commanding the opposite parties to take immediate positive decision on representation dated 12.09.2022 contained as Annexure no.1 to this writ petition by which petitioners are seeking utilization of modern scientific technique of ?brain mapping test? like ?NARCO? or ?lie detector test? upon the petitioners as well as complainant to lead the investigation in right direction and contract out the truth of case pertaining to F.I.R. no.86/2022 dated 04.03.2022, U/S 302, 201 I.P.C. Police Station-Mohd. Pur Khala, District Barabanki.

(II) issue a writ order or direction in the nature of mandamus commanding opposite party no.-4 to obtain viscera analysis report from Forensic Scientfic Laboratory Lucknow pertaining case/ F.I.R.

no.86/2022 dated 04.03.2022, U/S 302, 201 I.P.C. Police Station-Mohd. Pur Khala, District Barabanki.

(III) issue a writ order or direction in the nature and manner which deemed just and proper in the circumstances of the case.

(IV) allow the writ petition with costs."

3. The petitioners are the accused in F.I.R. No.86 of 2022, under Sections 302, 201 I.P.C. Police Station Mohd. Pur Khala, District Barabanki. They have filed this petition seeking a writ of mandamus commanding the opposite parties to take immediate positive decision on representation dated 12.09.2022 annexed as Annexure No.1 to the petition by which the petitioners have sought utilization of modern scientific technique of ?brain mapping test? like ?NARCO? or ?lie detector test? upon petitioners as well as complainant to lead the investigation in right direction and to extract the truth of the case. Another relief has been sought in the nature of mandamus commanding opposite party no.4 to obtain viscera analysis report from Forensic Scientific Laboratory, Lucknow pertaining to the aforesaid case as viscera has been preserved.

4. Learned counsel for the petitioners has relied upon a judgment of this Court dated 21.08.2015 rendered in the case of Madhuri Devi Vs. State of U.P. and others; Writ Petition No.7590 (MB) of 2015. He has also relied upon another judgment dated 15.11.2019 rendered in the case of Ram Prasad Vs. State of U.P. and others; Writ Petition No.31348 (MB) of 2019 in support of his case.

5. On the other hand learned A.G.A. Mr. Badrul Hasan has placed before the Court a judgment of Single Judge Bench of the Kerala High Court in the case of Louis Vs. State of Kerala and others; Crl. MC No.4007 of 2021 wherein a similar request at the behest of the accused was denied on the ground that such narco analysis test etc. are not admissible as evidence and also that the accused does not have any such enforceable right.

6. We specifically asked the learned counsel for the petitioners as to whether such tests as are referred in the relief clause i.e. narco or lie detector test or brain mapping test are admissible in evidence under the Indian Evidence Act or not, learned counsel for the petitioners fairly submitted that they are not admissible in evidence, however, they would help in giving direction to the investigation and to reveal the truth.

7. We have gone through the decision of a Coordinate Bench of this Court in the case of Madhuri Devi (supra). That was a writ petition filed by the informant seeking a writ of mandamus directing the investigating agency to take action against the accused, respondents 4 to 9 in the course of investigation of the case. In effect, the petition sought issuance of a writ directing the investigating agency to conduct proper investigation. In the said judgment the Coordinate Bench referred to a decision of Hon?ble the Supreme Court in the case of Union of India and another Vs. W.N. Chadha; 1993 Cr.L.J. 859. In para 92 of the judgment it has been categorically observed that the accused has no right to have any say as regards the manner and method of investigation. Save under certain exceptions under the entire scheme of the Code, the accused has no participation as a matter of right during the course of the investigation of a case instituted on a police report till the investigation culminates in filing of a final report under Section 173(2) of the Code or in a proceeding instituted otherwise than on a police report till the process is issued under Section 204 of the Code, as the case may be. The Court further observed that at the same time there are certain provisions under the Code empowering the Magistrate to give an opportunity of being heard under certain specified circumstances. It also referred to other decisions specifically the decision of the Hon?ble Supreme Court in the case of State of Bihar v. J.A.C. Saldanha, 1967 (3) SCR 668 wherein it was opined that the field of investigation of any cognizable offence is exclusively within the domain of the investigating agencies over which the courts cannot have control and have no power to stifle or impinge upon the proceedings in the investigation so long as the investigation proceeds in compliance with the provisions relating to investigation. In para 38 of the decision in the case of Madhuri Devi (supra) relevant extracts of the judgment in the case of W.N. Chadha (supra) have been considered. The Court has nevertheless observed that although an accused would have no right of hearing, however, a duty is cast on the investigating agency to conduct fair and impartial investigation. If the investigator receives relevant information in regard to the facts of a case under investigation, be it from the complainant informant, a witness or even the accused, a duty is cast on the said investigating officer to investigate that aspect. In case the investigation is select and one sided, the truth cannot be unearthed. If facts or some evidence/material is brought to the notice of the investigator, on consideration of which it can be demonstrated that the accused is not connected with commission of the crime, surely in such cases, the investigating agency would be obliged to investigate that aspect, in the interest of fair play and purity of administration of criminal justice. For this purpose, the information given by the accused cannot be ignored on the analogy that he has no right to be heard. The Coordinate Bench referred to decisions of Hon?ble Supreme Court in the case of Ram Lal Narang versus State (Delhi Administration), (1979)2 SCC 322 wherein also it has been indicated that When it comes to the notice of the investigating agency that a person already accused of an offence has a good alibi, it would be a duty of that agency to investigate the genuineness of the plea of alibi. In para 42 of the decision in the case of Madhuri Devi (supra) it has also been observed that in a case of mala fide implication of an accused if the investigating officer also considers the version of the accused in that context and takes into consideration the evidence/material then there would nothing be wrong in it. We are in agreement with the above view expressed by the Coordinate Bench, however, in the case at hand the facts are very different. Here it is not a case where some relevant facts as defined in the Indian Evidence Act is available and the same is not been taken into consideration by the Investigating Officer. In fact in this context we may like to refer to the definition of investigation as contained in Section 2 (h) of Cr.P.C. The said term is defined to include all the proceedings under this Code for the collection of evidence conducted by a police officer or by any person (other than a Magistrate) who is authorised by a Magistrate in this behalf. Now, admittedly, the result of Narco test etc. would not be admissible as evidence as already noticed herein above. We may in this context refer to the decision relied upon by learned

Additional Government Advocate as rendered by a Single Judge Bench of the Kerala High Court in the case of Louis Vs. State of Kerala (supra) wherein the court had considered the definition of ?evidence? in Section 3 of the Indian Evidence Act and the definition of term ?fact? contained therein as also the submission of the Public Prosecutor that the said definition of fact provides that that only mental condition of which any person is conscious comes under the definition of fact. The Kerala High Court has thereafter opined in the abovesaid case which is extracted as under:

"18. So when a Narco Analysis test is conducted with the intervention of some medication, when a person is not conscious and make some revelations from the sub conscious mind the credibility of that revelation stands far short of the fact described under the Evidence Act. The possibility of some persons concocting fanciful stories in the course of hypnotic stage also cannot be ignored. The responses of different individual in such circumstances would vary the result of not having any uniform criteria for evaluating the efficacy of the Narco Analysis technique is a matter of another concern as per the dictum in the Selvi's case.

19. The possibility of the testimony being not voluntary even if the person freely consents to undergo the test also is there. The danger of the person not being able to exercise an effective choice of remaining silent and imparting personal knowledge is CRL.M.C.4007/21 also there since the results are derived from the psychological responses. Apex court also had foreseen the danger of such test being permitted at the instance of prosecution since on the principle of parity of procedure if the accused files such application that also has to be allowed. That would result in re opening of cases or even can be used for the purpose of attacking the credibility of witnesses during trial.

20. Hence even if the petitioner voluntarily submits for subjecting himself for Narco Analysis Test, there is no guarantee that the statements would be voluntary. So even if the court permits the petitioner to undergo a Narco Analysis test, it has no acceptability in the eye of law.

21. The learned counsel for the de facto complainant brought to my attention Vipin Kushwaha v. The State of M.P. in M.Cr.C.No.11699/2021 dated 6.9.2021 of Madhya Pradesh High Court. That was also a petition filed under Section 482 of the Code aggrieved by an order rejecting an application filed by the applicant seeking direction to perform his Narco Test. In that decision the High Court quoted Yogesh @ Charu Ananda Chandane v. State of Maharashtra, an order passed in M.Cr.C.No.11699/2021, petition No.2420/2016 wherein the High Court of Bombay rejected the similar prayer for Narco Analysis. The relevant paragraph No.7 has been quoted in the above CRL.M.C.4007/21 decision which reads thus : -

"In fact, the order passed by the learned Sessions Judge does not warrant any interference. That the evidence which is recorded in the course of the Narco Analysis Test or Polygraph Test is not admissible in evidence. It would be a hazardous situation to permit any/every accused to undergo narco analysis test for proving his innocence. It is incumbent upon the prosecution to substantiate its case and prove the guilt of the accused beyond reasonable doubt. Criminal Jurisprudence contemplates that an accused has a right to silence and it is the duty of the prosecution to prove its case beyond reasonable doubt.

The technique such as polygraph test and narco analysis test would be helpful technology for the investigating agency or to seek a direction in the course of investigation.

"We must also account for the uses of this technique by persons other than investigators and prosecutors. Narco Analysis tests could be requested by defendants who want to prove their innocence."

22. In the present case also, the petitioner wanted to subject himself to Narco Analysis Test which according to the learned counsel, is necessary to buttress his statements under Section 313 Cr.P.C. The above settled principles of law unequivocally lay down the position that the revelations brought out during Narco Analysis under the influence of a particular drug cannot be taken as a conscious act or statement given by a person. The possibility of accused himself making exculpatory statements to CRL.M.C.4007/21 support his defence also cannot be ruled out. There is no mechanism or the present Investigating Agency is also not equipped to assess the credibility of such revelations of the accused. The Investigating Officers also would find themselves difficult to come to a definite conclusion regarding the veracity of the revelations so made and the other evidence already collected by them. So the contention of the learned counsel for the petitioner that in order to buttress his statements under Section 313 Cr.P.C , these materials collected through Narco Analysis Test can be used as corroborative piece of evidence etc, is not at all sustainable in law.

23. In the result, Crl.M.C is found to be devoid of any merit and hence dismissed."

8. The evidenciary value of a narco analysis test has been considered threadbare and it has been recorded that revelations brought out during Narco Analysis under the influence of a particular drug cannot be taken as a conscious act or statement given by a person. The possibility of accused himself making exculpatory statements to support his defence also cannot be ruled out. There is no mechanism or the present Investigating Agency is also not equipped to assess the credibility of such revelations of the accused. The Investigating Officers also would find themselves difficult to come to a definite conclusion regarding the veracity of the revelations so made and the other evidence already collected by them.

9. The Court rejected the contention of learned counsel for the petitioner therein that in order to buttress his statements under Section 313 Cr.P.C, these materials collected through Narco Analysis Test can be used as corroborative piece of evidence etc. as not being sustainable in law. The Court clearly held that the Narco Analysis Test or Polygraph Test is not admissible in law.

10. We are also in agreement with the opinion expressed by the Kerala High Court considering the aforesaid discussions as the result of the brain mapping test or narco or lie detector test would not be admissible in evidence, therefore, we see no reason to issue any such mandamus for disposal of the petitioners/accused application for undertaking such exercise by the Investigating Officer. This of course does not mean that if the Investigating Officer on his own decides to get the said tests conducted then he cannot do so, meaning thereby that if he so decides he can always get the test conducted subject to consent of the accused.

11. So far as the judgment of a Coordinate Bench in the case of Ram Prasad (supra) is concerned the same does not consider or lay down the law on the subject. It is only the ratio of a judgment which is binding and not its operative portion.

12. Now we proceed to consider the other relief prayed for regarding the viscera analysis report. We find from the postmortem report that though the cause of death mentioned therein is due to asphyxia as a result of ante mortem drowning however to rule out poisoning viscera for chemical examination has been preserved. Therefore as for as this relief is concerned the Investigating Officer shall consider this aspect of the matter as per law.

13. We accordingly reject the relief no.1 and dispose of the petition as far as relief no.2 is concerned with the aforesaid observations.

14. The petition is disposed of.

15. No orders as to the costs.

1. These criminal appeals emanate from the judgment and order dated 21.04.1999 passed by the learned Vth Additional Sessions Judge, Meerut in Sessions Trial No. 647 of 1997 (State Vs. Ganesh and others), S.T. No. 863 of 1997 (State Vs. Sriram), S.T. No. 1042 of 1997 (State Vs. Charan Singh), S.T. No. 1559 of 1997 (State Vs. Raju and others), arising out of Crime No. 08 of 1997, under Sections 147, 148, 149, 302, 307 IPC, Police Station Hashtinapur, District Meerut, whereby the appellants-Sriram, Ganesh, Rajveer s/o Harbans, Rajveer s/o Naththu, Shekhar, Pramod, Vijendra @ Banti and Rohtash, each have been convicted and sentenced under Section 148 IPC for three years rigorous imprisonment with fine of Rs. 1000/-, in default of payment of fine they have to undergo additional imprisonment for a period of six months; under Section 307/149 IPC for seven years rigorous imprisonment with fine of Rs. 5000/-, in default of payment of fine they have to undergo additional imprisonment for a period of two years and Section 302/149 IPC for life imprisonment with fine of Rs.10,000/-, in default of payment of fine they have to undergo additional imprisonment for a period of three years. All the punishments are to run concurrently. Accused Charan Singh, Raju and Pintu were acquitted of the charges.

2. During pendency of the appeal, appellant Ganesh had died, therefore, appeal on his behalf stood abated.

3. The prosecution case, in brief, is that on 17.1.1997 at about 3.10 a.m., an F.I.R. was lodged at the Police Station Hashtinapur, District Meerut by the informant Ved Prakash r/s Village Rustampur Bhikund, P.S. Hashtinapur, District Meerut by filing a written report stating therein that on 16/17.1.1997, in the mid night he along with his uncle Rohtash, Mauli, Narendra, Sanjay, Baleshwar residents of Bhikund were sleeping in their house. He and his uncle Rohtash were sleeping in the varandan where lantern was lit up. At about 12 o'clock in the mid night, near about one dozen people in the police attire equipped with weapons came to their house and woke up his uncle, asked him to get the door opened. The informant was told by his uncle Rohtash that that was the gang of dacoit Sriram resident of Kishunpur. He and his uncle Rohtash identified Sriram, Ganesh, Rajveer Jatav, Banti Jatav, Pramod, Shekhar, Rajveer s/o Natthu but remaining six persons could not be identified. As soon as the door was opened, Sriram and Ganesh along with their other companions started firing on the sons of Rohtash, who were sleeping inside. Due to fear the informant hid himself in a nearby hut. When the assailants came out, the informant heard that Sriram was abusing to "Gurjars' and saying that he took revenge of ''Ikwara Kand'. The accused person thereafter went to the baithaka of Kartar Singh and made fire while abusing the ''Gurgars' and then went away towards the forest. The informant then went to his Dukriya (room) where he saw in the torch light that Rohtash and his son Baleshwar were lying injured and Narendra, Mauli and Sanjay sons of Rohtash were lying dead. In the meantime, Dhan Singh came there and told him that the gang of dacoit Sriram had murdered his cousin Kartar Singh and Babu as also his son Subhash. The informant went to the police station with his injured uncle Rohtash, brother Baleshwar and Dhan Singh on the same day at about 3.10 a.m. and filed the written report, on the basis of which the case was registered as Crime No. 08 of 1997 under Sections 147, 148, 149, 302/307 IPC. The detail of the case was entered into the G.D. as report No. 6 dated 17.01.1997.

4. The investigation of the case was handed over to the Station House Officer R.P. Gupta.

5. Investigating Officer along with S.I. Brij Mohan Singh Rana went to the place of occurrence where on the direction of the investigating officer, S.I. Brij Mohan Singh Rana conducted the inquest of the deceased persons and inquest reports were prepared by him along with other relevant papers required for the purpose of post-mortem. Dead bodies were sealed and handed over to constables Ravindra Singh and Jagpal who took them to the Mortuary. Injured Narendra was sent to the Medical College where he was declared dead and his inquest was conducted by S.I. A.K. Sharma and inquest report along with relevant papers was prepared, the dead body was sealed and sent to mortuary.

6. The post-mortems of the dead bodies of six deceased persons were conducted on 18.1.1997 by Dr. Ashok Kumar Yadav. The antemortem injuries found on the person of deceased Mauli are as under:

I. Gun shot wound entry 2 cm x 1 cm x muscle deep on front of left and upper arm, upper part connecting to wound of Exit 2 cm x 1 cm on the inner side of arm.

12. S.I. B.N. Rana collected pieces of board, plain and blood stained soil, empty cartridges from the place of occurrence. After inspection of the place of occurrence, prepared the site plan and recorded statements of the witnesses conversant to the facts of the case. He arrested all the accused persons and submitted the charge sheets against Ganesh, Rajveer s/o Harbansh, Rajveer s/o Nathu, Shekhar, Pramod, Brijesh, Banti and Rohtash to the court concerned. Later on, the investigation was handed over to S.I. Rajendra Prasad Yadav who conducted the identification parade of accused Charan Singh, Raju and Pintu and collected evidence, filed the charge sheets against Sriram, Charan Singh, Raju and Pintoo in the court concerned.

13. Learned Chief Judicial Magistrate took cognizance of the offence and provided copies of the prosecution papers in compliance of Section 207 Cr.P.C. to the accused persons and committed the case to the Court of sessions for trial.

14. The trial court after taking into consideration the material on record, framed the charges under Sections 148, 302/149 and 307/149 IPC against all the accused/appellants.

15. Charges were read-over and explained to the accused/appellants who pleaded not guilty, denied the charges and demanded trial. Consequently, the case was fixed for prosecution evidence.

16. In support of its case, the prosecution examined P.W.1 Ved Prakash who is the first informant; P.W.2 Rohtash; P.W. 3 Baleshwar, P.W.4 Dhan Singh, P.W. 5 H.C. Buddh Raj Singh who prepared the check report; P.W. 6 Dr. Ashok Kumar Yadav who conducted the autopsy and prepared the postmortem reports; P.W. 7 S.I. Brijmohan Rana who conducted inquest of the deceased persons and prepared inquest reports and other relevant papers; P.W. 8 constable Ravindar Singh who brought the dead bodies to the mortuary for post-mortem; P.W. 9 Mitthan Lal Jain who conducted identification parade; P.W. 10 Inspector R.P. Gupta who investigated the case and submitted charge sheet; P.W. 11 Adesh Dhankar who operated the injured Baleshwar and P.W. 12 Rajesh Prasad Yadav who conducted the investigation of the case after inspector R.P. Gupta and submitted the charge sheets.

17. On conclusion of the prosecution evidence, statements of the appellants were recorded under Section 313 Cr.P.C. wherein they had denied all the allegations made against them.

18. The defence opportunity was given to the accused persons but no evidence was adduced.

19. The learned trial court passed the order dated 21.4.1999 convicting and sentencing the appellants as aforesaid, hence this appeal.

20. Heard Sri Dharmendra Singh and Sri Akhilesh Kumar Mishra, learned Advocates for the appellants, Sri Dharmendra Singh, learned Amicus Curiae appearing on behalf of appellant Sri Ram and learned A.G.A. for the State and perused the record.

21. Learned counsel for the appellants submits that learned trial court had not made proper appreciation of evidence on record but passed the judgment and order against the established principles of law. There was no motive with the accused persons, to commit murder of the deceased persons. The incident took place in the mid of the night when identification of accused persons was not possible. There was no source of light. All the prosecution witnesses could not identify the accused but they have deposed on the basis of hearsay. There are contradictions in the statements of Prosecution Witnesses. No any public witness was present to see the incident except the relatives of the deceased whose testimony cannot be said to be reliable they being interested witnesses. Though Prosecution Witnesses had stated that accused persons had committed murder of deceased persons but no specific role had been assigned to any of the accused. In this way, the conviction as recorded by the learned trial court is not sustainable and it is to be set aside.

22. Learned A.G.A., in rebuttal, urged that though there was no personal enmity or motive with the accused against the deceased persons but there was communal rivalry between two gangs and that was the reason for the murder. At the time of incident, there was light of lantern and lamp at the place of occurrence wherein accused persons were identified by the Witnesses, who had also sustained injuries in the same occurence. Accused persons were well identified by the Witnesses and the contradictions in the statements of witnesses are minor which do not affect their credibility. The Prosecution Witnesses are though relatives but they are natural witnesses and injured in the same occurence which fact prove their presence on the spot. In this way, the learned trial court has convicted the accused persons on the basis of the evidence on record and the decision cannot be said to be illegal but these appeals lack merit and are liable to be dismissed.

23. From the submissions made by the learned counsels for parties, the following questions emerge for consideration by this Court- (i) as to whether there was motive to commit murder of the deceased persons, (ii) source of light in which accused were identified, (iii) contradictions in the testimony of witnesses affecting the very root of the prosecution case and (iv) Prosecution Witnesses being relatives and interested are reliable.

24. Before we deal with the contentions of the learned counsel for the appellants, it would be convenient to take note of the evidence adduced by the prosecution.

25. P.W. 1 Ved Prakash who is informant, deposed that on the date of the incident, i.e. 16/17.1.1997 in the night, he was sleeping with his uncle Rohtash Singh in the Varandah where lantern was lit inside Dukdiya (a room) Mauli, Sanjay, Narendra, Baleshwar, Vijendra were sleeping. At about 12 o'clock, Sriram and his companions came there and woke up his uncle Rohtash and told him to get the door opened. His uncle then told the informant that accused were the members of Sriram gang and he knew them. They were 12-13 in number, out of which Sriram had rifle and others were equipped with countrymade pistols and rifles. Seeing them, the informant hid under the hut on the eastern side of the place. In the meantime, he heard the sound of firing and accused persons were abusing that they had taken the revenge of "Ikwara Kand'. Accused persons were carrying torches and went away. Thereafter, the informant came inside where members of his family were lying dead and lamp was lit. He saw in the light of the torch that Mauli, Sanjay and Narendra were lying dead and his uncle Rohtash, brother Baleshwar both were injured. Vijendra his cousin, ran away from the gate on the eastern side and accused persons went away towards the side of the river Ganga while abusing. Thereafter, Dhan Singh came there and told that Sriram Gang had killed his cousins Kartar Singh, Babu and his son Subhash and the incident took place in the room (baithaka) of Kartar Singh. Dhan Singh also disclosed the names of accused persons namely, Sriram, Rajveer, Ganesh, Banti, Rajveer s/o Natthu, Shekhar, Pramod. He along with Dhan Singh, injured Rohtash and Baleshwar went to the police station by tractor where he gave the written report. P.W.1 proved the written report in his handwriting and signature as Ext. Ka-1. P.W.1 further stated that police went to his village with him and seeing that Narendra was breathing, took him to the hospital. Police prepared the memos relating to torch, lantern & lamp and handed over to him after taking his signature on the memo which he proved as Exhibit- 1, 2 & 3.

This witness was cross-examined by the defence at length wherein he asserted the facts stated before. Nothing adverse to the prosecution could come out in his cross-examination.

26. P.W. 2 Rohtash, an injured witness, deposed that there was dispute between Sriram Harijan and Karodi Gurjar wherein several people were murdered from both sides. On 5.1.1997, Karodi committed murder of six Harijans in the forest of Ikwara. On 16/17.1.1997, in the night at about 12 o'clock, He and his nephew Ved Prakash were sleeping in the Varandah. In the meantime, Sriram, Ganesh, Rajveer, Banti, Pramod, Shekhar, Rajveer s/o Natthu Alipur Morna Wala and 4-5 other persons to whom he knew came there. Sriram had rifle and other six persons had pistols. Lantern was lit where he was sleeping up in the light of which he had identified aforesaid seven persons. Sriram woke up him and asked to get the door of dukdiya opened at which he made a call to his sons. Those who were sleeping inside were named as, Mauli, Vijendra, Baleshwar, Narendra and Sanjay when the door was opened all the accused persons took P.W.2 also inside where they started firing causing injuries to Sanjay, Mauli and Narendra. He thought that all the three persons dead but Narendra did not die and Baleshwar also sustained fire arm injuries. Vijendra ran away and did not sustain any injury. P.W.2 himself also sustained fire arm injury on his hand which was caused from the distance of 2½ -3 feet. Thereafter, accused persons came out abusing Gurjar community. Sriram said that he took revenge of Ikwara Kand and the accused then went to the house of Kartar where they made fires causing injuries to Kartar, Babu and Subhash who had died on the spot from where Dhan Singh escaped and came to him and told about the incident. Later on the assailants went towards the Jungal. The report regarding the incident was lodged by his nephew Ved Prakash (P.W.1) then P.W.2 was brought by the police to Meerut for medical examination. Narendra whom he knew to be dead was also brought to Meerut by Dhan Singh for treatment where he had died as a result of fire arm injury in the Medical College, Meerut.

This witness was also subjected to lengthy cross-examination by the learned counsel for defence wherein he had asserted the facts stated before and no contradicting fact could be brought in his cross examination may affect the credibility of this witness.

27. P.W.3 Baleshwar deposed that prior to the alleged incident, gangs of Sriram and Khaleel of Bastaura were active. There was struggle between both the gangs and they committed murders of people from both sides. In the meantime, gang of Karodi became active and there were strained relations between Sriram and Karodi who had committed murders of six Harijans by cutting their throats on 5.1.1997. Sriram was shocked and on 16/17.1.1997, he along with his companions Ganesh, Rajveer, Pramod, Shekhar, Bhagwandas, bastaura ka Banti, Rohtas and Rajveer s/o Natthu came to their house. Four other persons who were with them were not known tohim. At that time, he,P.W.3. his elder brother Mauli, younger brother Narendra, youngest brother Sanjay were sleeping inside the room and Vijendra was also with them. His father Rohtash and cousin Ved Prakash were sleeping in the Varandah outside the room. At about 12 o'clock in the night, his father called him to open the door at which he opened the latch. As soon as he opened the latch, Sriram and his companions came inside the room and started firing. Vijendra ran away from the spot. Mauli, Sanjay and Narendra were shot, out of which Sanjay, Mauli had died on the spot but Narendra was breathing. He (P.W.3.) himself sustained fire-arm injuries and fell down and while lying down he identified all the accused persons, who were wearing police dress. He (P.W.3) saw the accused persons in the light of lamp lit in the room, they were known to him from before as they used to visit in the village, from before. The houses of Harijans. He and his father sustained injuries in the incident, thereafter, gang of Sriram and his companion went to the house of Kartar which was situated at a distance of 15-20 steps from his house. P.W.3 classified that sounds of firing came from the house of Kartar Singh and on the basis of which he stated that Sriram and others went there. Kartar, Babu and Subhash s/o Dhan Singh were murdered but Dhan Singh escaped and came there and narrated the incident to his father. Thereafter he (P.W.3) was brought to Hashtinapur in unconscious state. He was brought to P.L. Sharma Hospital in a jeep of police from Hashtinapur and then Lokpriya Hospital where he was treated. He sustained fire arm injury on his temple, right shoulder and left thigh. Prior to this incident, Sriram used to meet the people belonging to Gurjar caste but since Karodi committed murder of Harijans, he became opposed to "Gurjar' caste.

This witness was also subjected to lengthy cross-examination but nothing adverse could be brought out. This witness categorically asserted the involvement of the appellants in the incident.

28. P.W. 4 Dhan Singh deposed that he lived in Hashtinapur. He was ordinary resident of Bhikund where his agricultural land was situated. On 16.1.1997 he, along with his son Subhash went to Bhikund for managing his agriculture field. Being late in the evening, he and his son stayed in the village at the Chaupal of his cousins Kartar Singh and Babu. He and Babu were lying asleep in Varandah and his son Subhash was sleeping inside the room behind the window. In the night at about 12.15 p.m., he woke up with the sounds of firing from the side of Rohtash, and heard the noise that we took revenge of Ikwara Kand and killed Gurjars. As he heard the noise, he hid himself in the room for buffalo and in the meantime, accused persons came near the cot of Kartar and Babu. There was lantern placed on the window in the light of which he had identified the accused persons as Rajveer, Ganesh, Rohtash, Sriram, Banti, Shekhar, Pramod and Rajveer. There were 4-5 other persons whom he could identify with face but they were not known to him from before. P.W.4 also identified the aforesaid named eight accused persons in the Court. P.W.4 stated that the accused persons made fires at Kartar, Babu, then at Subhash. All the three persons had died on the spot. He saw the accused persons while making fires at the deceased. The place where he was hiding the cots of Kartar and Babu were visible and also the place where Subhash was lying asleep as window into the door was fitted. Karodi Gurjar had committed Ikwara Kand prior to the present occurrence wherein Harijans (chamar) were killed and on account of which, the accused persons had attacked on them being "Gurjars'. The accused went towards the Jungle on the side of the river Ganga while abusing Gurjars. When the accused were going back, he threw light with his torch on which they cried that someone had been left and thereafter they fled away. He went to the house of Rohtash where he met the injured Rohtash who was weeping and saying that his three sons were killed and also he and his son Baleshwar were injured. P.W.4 stated that he told Ved Prakash that the accused persons had also killed his son Subhash, cousins Kartar and Babu. Thereafter taking the injured Rohtash and Baleshwar in a tractor-Buggi they went to the police station Hashtinapur. On the way, he got off the tractor and went to inform his father and wife. His house was located at Ramleela Ground Hashtinapur. Information was given by Rohtash (P.W.2) at the police station and the report was given by Ved Prakash (P.W.2). After giving information in his house, P.W.3 again went back to the village Bhikund at about 4.30 o'clock. He further deposed that he went to the Jail, Meerut for identifying the accused persons in the identification parade and identified the accused namely Charan Singh and Raju. He saw them at the place of the occurrence and from then till the time of identification, he never saw those two accused persons. P.W.4 also identified accused Charan Singh in the court.

This witness was also subjected to lengthy cross-examination wherein he categorically reiterated the facts stated before.

29. P.W.5 H.C. Bachchhraj Singh deposed that he was posted as the head constable at the police station on 16.1.1997 and lodged the F.I.R. as Crime No. 08 of 1997 under Sections 147, 148, 149, 302, 307 IPC on the basis of the written report. He proved the check F.I.R. in his hand-writing and signature as Ext. Ka-3 and G.D. entry as Ext. Ka-4.

30. P.W. 6 Dr. Ashok Kumar Yadav who conducted the postmortem of dead bodies of the deceased persons deposed that on 18.1.1997, he was posted at Pyare Lal Sharma hospital, Meerut where he conducted the postmortem of deceased Mauli, Sanjay, Babu, Subhash, Kartar Singh, Narendra and prepared postmortem reports describing the injuries on their persons in his hand-writing and signature and proved them as Ext. Ka-5 to 10.

31. P.W. 7 Brij Mohan Rana deposed that, on 17.1.1997, he was posted at the police station Hashtinapur as S.I. and on that day, Crime No. 08 of 1997 under Sections 147, 148, 149, 302, 307 IPC was registered. The investigation of which was handed over to Station Officer R.P. Gupta with whom he also went to the place of occurrence and conducted inquest of the deceased persons on the direction of the Investigating Officer and also prepared the inquest reports and other relevant papers for postmortem in his hand-writing and signature which he proved as Ext. Ka-11 to 35. P.W.7 further deposed that the inquest of the deceased Narendra was conducted by S.I. A.K. Sharma who prepared the inquest report with relevant papers for postmortem, which he also proved as Ext. Ka-35 to 40 recognising the hand-writing of S.I. A.K. Singh. P.W.7 proved the recovery memos relating to the samples of cushion, blood stained and plain soil, empty cartridges, blood stained quilt, bedsheet taken from the place of occurrence as Ext. Ka-41-51 and also proved the sealed bundles of articles taken into possession from the place of occurrence as Material Ext. 1 to 28.

32. P.W. 8 Constable Ravindra Singh deposed that he was posted as constable at P.S. Hashtinapur on 17.1.1997 and he along with constable Jagpal was handed over the sealed dead bodies of the deceased persons to carry them for postmortem. He took the sealed dead bodies with papers for postmortem. After postmortem, he handed over the bodies to the members of their family.

33. P.W. 9 Mitthan Lal Jain, Special Executive Magistrate deposed that on 2.6.1997 he conducted the identification parade of accused Charan Singh in the District Jail, Meerut and prepared identification memo in his hand-writing and signature as Ext. Ka-52. He further deposed that on 12.3.1997 he conducted the identification parade relating to the accused Pintu and Raju and prepared the identification memo in his hand-writing and signature which he proved as Ext. ka-53.

34. P.W.10 Inspector R.P. Gupta who investigated the case deposed that, on 17.1.1997, he was posted as the Station Officer at Police Station Hashtinapur. On that day, Crime No. 08 of 1997 under Sections 147, 148, 149, 302, 307 IPC was registered on the basis of the written report given rendered by the informant Ved Prakash and the investigation was handed over to him. During investigation, he visited the place of occurrence, after copying the report and F.I.R. in the case diary he recorded the statements of the informant and eye witness Dhan Singh, instructed S.I. V.M. Rana to conduct the inquest of the deceased persons. He also inspected the spot and prepared the site plan in his hand-writing and signature which he proved as Ext. Ka-54. P.W.10 further deposed that he also prepared the memo relating to lantern and torch in his hand-writing and signature which he proved as Ext. Ka-55. He made arrests of the accused persons and recorded statements of other witnesses relating to the incident and after concluding the investigation, submitted the charge sheet in his hand-writing and signature against accused Sriram, Ganesh, Rajveer s/o Harbans, Rajveer s/o Natthu, Shekhar, Pramod, Vijendra @ Banti and Rohtash which he proved as Ext. Ka-56. He also proved the test reports obtained from F.S.L. Agra as Ext. Ka-57 to 63.

35. P.W. 11 Dr. Adesh Dhankar deposed that he was posted as the Plastic Surgeon in Lokpriya Hospital on 17.1.1997. He conducted operation of injured Baleshwar and recovered a bullet from below his eye regarding which he had prepared the report in his hand-writing and signature and proved as Ext. Ka-64.

36. P.W. 12 S.I. Rajendra Prasad Yadav deposed that, on 17.1.1997, he was posted at P.S. Hashtinapur and Crime No. 8 of 1997 under Sections 147, 148, 149, 302, 307 IPC was investigated by Station Officer R.P. Gupta after whose transfer the investigation was handed over to him. He made arrests of the accused Sriram, Charan Singh and Raju and submitted charge sheets against them in his hand-writing and signature which he proved as Ext. Ka-65 to 67.

37. Now, we are required to consider the testimony of witnesses of fact as to whether they are reliable and trustworthy. P.Ws. 1 to 4 are witnesses of fact. P.W.1 Ved Prakash, P.W. 2 Rohtash and P.W.3 Baleshwar were lying asleep in one place, which was the house of Rohtash. All these witnesses were present on the spot at the time of the incident and saw the accused-appellants in the light of lantern and lamp which was lit up. There in the varandah and also the room where deceased Mauli, Sanjay and Narendra were sleeping with P.W. 3 Baleshwar, who also sustained gunshot injuries on his person. P.W.2 Rohtash also sustained injuries in the same occurence. P.W. 1 stated that the names of the accused appellants were disclosed to him by P.W.2 Rohtash who had identified them. P.W.3 Baleshwar also identified the accused-appellants on his own. P.W.4 Dhan Singh was lying asleep in the house of his cousins Kartar Singh and Babu where his deceased son Subhash were also asleep. The accused-appellants who by making fires had killed three persons in the house of the deceased were identified by P.W.4 Dhan Singh in the light of lantern. The cause of murders was revenge of Ikwara Kand wherein six Harijans were done to death by cutting their throats by the gang of Karodi Gurjars who was opponent to Sri Ram gang, by causing six murders of Gurjars were killed in the present incident. P.W.1 and P.W.3 heard the appellants uttering the words at the time of occurrence that they took the revenge of Ikwara Kand.

38. Learned counsel for appellants argued that there are contradictions in the statements of the prosecution witnesses which make them unreliable. In this regard, it is to note that P.Ws. 1 to 4 have been subjected to lengthy cross-examination which was done in several parts and after a year from the incident wherein six persons were murdered. In such a situation, it cannot be expected from the witnesses that they would remember each and every event without any slip particularly where the witnesses are villagers and unaware to the tricks of wise counsels and their style of putting questions before them. In spite of this, all the witnesses had answered the questions as they remembered. Though there are some minor variations relating to some facts but those variations are not of such nature that can be said to make their testimony unbelievable. There appears to be no exaggeration in the statements of four witnesses they had narrated the incident in a natural way as it had happened. There is no contradiction or variation regarding identification of the accused persons involved in the incident. The contradictions and variations in the testimony of witnesses are natural and of cosmetic nature which cannot affect the very root of the case and, therefore, negligible. It is well settled in law that minor discrepancies are not to be given undue emphasis and the evidence is to be considered from the point of view of trustworthiness. It is only the serious contradictions and omissions which materially affect the case of the prosecution but not every contradiction or omission, to be given undue importance.

39. The learned counsel for the appellants also drew the attention of the Court towards the absence of personal motive to commit the murder. He urged that the prosecution had failed to prove motive on the part of the appellants to commit the crime.

40. In this regard, it is fairly well settled that while motive does not have major role to play in cases based on eye witness account of the incident, it assumes significance in cases that rest on circumstantial evidence. There is no such principle or rule of law that where the prosecution fails to prove motive for commission of the crime, it must necessarily result in acquittal of the accused. Where ocular evidence is found to be trustworthy and reliable and finds corroboration from the medical evidence, a finding of guilt can safely be recorded even if the motive for the commission of crime has not been proved.

41. In State of Himachal Pradesh Vs. Jeet Singh 1999 (38) ACC 550 SC, it was held that no doubt it is a sound principle to remember that every criminal act was done with a motive but it's corollary is not that no offence was committed if the prosecution failed to prove the precise motive of the accused to commit it as it is almost an impossibility for the prosecution to unravel full dimension of the mental deposition of an offender towards the person whom he offended.

42. This Court has also made such observations in the case of Rameshwar and others vs. State 2003 (46) ACC 581 that when there is direct evidence, the motive was not important. Likewise in the case of State of Haryana vs. Sher Singh and others 1981 Cr. Ruling 317 SC it has been held that the prosecution is not bound to prove the motive, more so, when crime is proved by direct evidence.

43. In the case at hand, it has been stated by the prosecution witnesses that there was rivalry between Sri Ram Gang and Karori Gurjar Gang. Karori Gurjar committed murder of six harijans by cutting their throats in Ikwara jungle which shocked Sri Ram and he also promised to take revenge. In pursuance thereto he committed six murders of six Gurjars in the present incident. The witnesses (P.W.1 and P.W.3) categorically stated that they heard the cries that the appellants took revenge of Ikwara Kand. In this way, there was communal rivalry which became the main cause of the commission of this massacre though there was no individual grudge with the deceased persons. Where there is communal rivalry, no one thinks about individual interest of others but to show their power or feeling of revenge, they commit such incident based on the particular community or caste. The present incidents was also committed by the accused persons with the view to take revenge for their community.

44. It has also been argued that the incident took place in the mid night and all the accused persons were equipped with firearms, therefore, it was not possible for the witnesses to identify them. In this regard, PW.1 and PW.2 have categorically stated that they were sleeping in the veranda where lantern was lit and PW.3 was sleeping in the room (Dukaria) where lamp was lit. In the light of lantern and lamp, the witnesses had identified the accused persons. PW.2 Rohtash was woken up by the accused persons and told to get the door opened. He called his sons who opened the door of the room from inside, where PW.3 Baleshwar was also sleeping with his other brothers. Since there was light of lantern and lamp and there was conversation between PW.2 with the assailants, therefore, PW.2 had sufficient opportunity for identifying the accused persons. It cannot be said that on account of darkness, he could not identify them. Likewise, PW.3 Baleshwar who was also inside the room where his other three brothers were shot dead and he himself was injuried, had all the opportunity to identify the accused persons. It has also been stated by the witnesses that the accused persons used to come to their village, so they were known to them. Sri Ram used to come in the house of Gurjars in the village but got annoyed with the incident wherein Karori Gurjar Gang committed murder of six Harijans in the jungle of Ekwara by cutting their throats. PW.4 Dhan Singh was also sleeping in the verandah of house of Kartar Singh. When he saw the accused persons coming towards his house and heard their utterance that they had taken revenge of Ekwara Kand, he hid himself in the room where buffalos were kept and saw the accused persons in the light of lantern placed at the open window. Even during the cross-examination of these witnesses nothing could be brought on record so as to make the identification of accused persons doubtful. In this way, there is no any doubt in the identification of accused persons by the Prosecution Witnesses.

45. Regarding the accused/appellant Rohtash, it has been argued by the learned counsel the appellant that PWs.1 & 2 had not named him as an accused, except P.W.3, therefore, his involvement cannot be said to be proved. It is true that the name of Rohtash was not mentioned in F.I.R. which was lodged by P.W.1 Ved Prakash. P.W.2 also did not name him. P.W.3 Baleshwar, however, had named him to be a member of the gang. PW.3 is an injured witness and he was within the room where his three brothers were murdered. His account about the incident cannot be brushed away. Likewise PW.4 Dhan Singh also stated about his involvement of appellant Rohtash in the incident. In this way, according to eye-witness account of injured witness PW.3 and PW.4, the involvement of accused/appellant Rohtash is also proved. There is nothing on record to show that his involvement is doubtful.

46. From PW-1 to 4, all are related to each other and also to the deceased persons regarding which the argument had been made that all these witnesses being relatives and highly interested, are not reliable in the lack of account of an independent witnesses in support of their case. No doubt the prosecution witnesses from PW-1 to 3 relating to the fact as examined in the case are members of the same family. P.W. 1 Ved Prakash is nephew of P.W. 2 Rohtash and P.W. 3 is son of P.W. 2 who is also father of deceased Mauli, Sanjay and Narendra. Likewise, P.W.4 Dhan Singh is father of deceased Subhash. Thus, all of them are related to the deceased persons but their relationship itself is not a ground to reject the testimony of the witnesses, rather a family member would be last person to leave the real culprits and falsely implicate any other innocent person.

47. In this case, the incident took place in the mid of night in the houses of Rohtash and of deceased Kartar Singh where Dhan Singh (P.W.4) and his son Subhash were sleeping. At that time, presence of other persons of the village was not be possible. Except the family members, no one else could be the natural witnesses of the incident.

48. In the case of Brahm Swaroop and another vs. State of U.P. (2011) 6 SCC 288 the Apex Court in Para No.21 has observed as under "merely because the witnesses were related to the deceased persons, their testimonies cannot be discarded. Their relationship to one of the parties is not a factor that affects the credibility of a witness, more so, a relation would not conceal the real culprit and make allegations against an innocent person. A party has to lay down a factual foundation and prove by leading impeccable evidence in respect of its false implication. However, in such cases the Court has to adopt a careful approach and analyse the evidence to find out whether it is cogent and credible evidence."

49. The Court also referred cases of Dalip and others vs. State of Punjab A.I.R. (1953) SC 364; Masalti vs. State of U.P. (A.I.R.) 1965 SC 202.

50. In Masalti vs. State of U.P. A.I.R. 1965 SC 202, the Apex Court observed in Para No.14

"but it would, we think, be unreasonably to contend that evidence given by witnesses should be discarded only on the ground that it is evidence of partisan or interested witnesses. The mechanical rejection of such evidence on sole ground that it's partisan would inveriably lead to failure of justice. No hard and fast rule can be laid down as to how much evidence should be appreciated. Judicial approach has to be cautious in dealing with such evidence; but the plea that such evidence should be rejected because it's partisan cannot be accepted as correct.

51. It is common knowledge that village (mohalla) life is faction ridden and involvement of one or the other in the incidents is not unusual. One has also to be cautious about the fact that wholly independent witnesses are seldom available or are otherwise not inclined to comeforth. Lest they may invite trouble for themselves for future. Therefore, relationship of eye-witnesses inter se, cannot be a ground to discard their testimony. There is no reason to suppose the false implication of the appellants at the instance of the eye-witnesses. It would also be illogical to think that witnesses would screen the real culprits and substitute the appellants for them.

52. This Court has also made such observations in Para No.14 of Rameshwar and others vs. State 2003 (46) ACC 581.

53. It is pertinent to note that PW-2 Rohtash and PW-3 Baleshwar are injured witnesses and their presence on the place of occurrence cannot be disputed. It can also not be said that they would conceal the names of real assailants and implicate the false ones.

54. It is a settled law that testimony of injured witness is considered to be very reliable and is accorded a special status in law. The statement of an injured witness is generally considered to be very reliable and it is unlikely that he has spared the actual assailants in order to falsely implicate someone else. The testimony of an injured witness has its own relevancy and efficacy as he has sustained injuries at the time and place of occurrence and this lends support to his testimony that he was present at the time of occurrence. There must be convincing evidence on record to discredit the testimony of an injured witness.

55. In the case of State of U.P. v. Naresh & Ors. (2011) 4 SCC 324, it was held that the evidence of an injured witness cannot be doubted merely because there is a background of previous dispute or enmity between the parties because this could well be the motive of causing assault by the accused on injured witnesses. The evidence of an injured witness has to be appreciated keeping in view that ordinarily a person, who has been assaulted by someone would not allow him to go scot free and falsely implicate persons other than those who actually assaulted him. The evidence of an injured witness stand on different pedestal as compared to any other witness cited by the prosecution as eye witness, who claims to have seen the incident. Where an injured witness clearly named the persons and the assault made on him by those persons which is broadly corroborated with what has been found in the medical report, even though there may not be any mathematical precision with regard to the manner of assault, the evidence of an injured eye witness cannot be lightly thrown because of certain minor contradictions and omissions. It cannot be a case of some exaggeration or it could even be some discrepancy in recollecting the whole incident with exactitude and certainty but on certain minor discrepancy disbelieving altogether the testimony of an injured eye witness, would be against the settled principle of appreciation of evidence.

56. In the case of Bhajan Singh Vs. State of Haryana (2011) 7 SCC 421 it was observed that in Para No.21 :-

21. The evidence of the stamped witness must be given due weightage as his presence on the place of occurrence cannot be doubted. His statement is generally considered to be very reliable and it is unlikely that he has spared the actual assailant in order to falsely implicate someone else. The testimony of an injured witness has its own relevancy and efficacy as he has sustained injuries at the time and place of occurrence and this lends support to his testimony that he was present at the time of occurrence. Thus, the testimony of an injured witness is accorded a special status in law. Such a witness comes with a built-in guarantee of his presence at the scene of the crime and is unlikely to spare his actual assailant(s) in order to falsely implicate someone. "Convincing evidence is required to discredit an injured witness". Thus, the evidence of an injured witness should be relied upon unless there are grounds for the rejection of his evidence on the basis of major contradictions and discrepancies therein. (Vide: Abdul Sayeed v. State of Madhya Pradesh (2010) 10 SCC 259; Kailas & Ors. v. State of Maharashtra (2011) 1 SCC 793; Durbal v. State of Uttar Pradesh, (2011) 2 SCC 676; and State of U.P. v. Naresh & Ors., (2011) 4 SCC.

57. Therefore, in the light of law reproduced as above and applying the same to the facts of the present case, it can be categorically stated that the testimony of the injured witnesses in the present case is absolutely clear and cogent and free from any kind of discrepancies, embellishments and concoctions. Thus, no ground is made out for brushing aside the testimony of the injured witnesses. There are no grounds for rejection of the evidence of PW-2 and PW-3 as discussed above unless and until there are no major contradictions and discrepancies in the testimony of injured witnesses,there arises no reason for either doubting their presence at the spot of incident or for that matter questioning the injuries suffered by them. Moreover, in the case at hand, the testimony of PW-2 and PW-3 is not only firm, cogent and convincing but is also in consonance with the medical evidence on record.

58. Injuries on the person of deceased Mauli, Sanjay, Naredra, Kartar, Babu and Subhash were caused by fire arms as stated by P.Ws. 1 to 4. Ext. Ka-5 to 10 are the postmortem reports wherein gun shot injuries were found on the persons of the deceased and P.W. 6 Dr. Ashok Kumar Yadav had proved the injuries and stated that except deceased Narendra, all the deceased persons had died due to fire arm injuries and the death of Narendra was caused as a result of injuries caused with sharp edged weapon like farsa. He also stated that the death of all the deceased persons was possible in the mid night at about 12 o'clock on 16/17.1.1997. It is noteworthy that in postmortem of the deceased Narendra, an incised wound was found on his head and one entry and exit wound was also found on the upper part of the right shoulder which was caused by fire arm. During his cross-examination, nothing has been stated by the witness (P.W.6) as to infer that the injuries as aforesaid were not caused by fire arms and at about the aforesaid time. In this way, the injuries on the body of the deceased persons are proved to have been caused by fire arms in the night at about 12 o'clock on 16/17.1.1997 and it also corroborate the manner of causing injuries resulting into death as stated by P.Ws. 1 to 4. In this way, the eye witness account finds support with the medical evidence available on record.

59. The incident is said to have taken place in the house of Rohtash and Kartar. In the site plan Ext. Ka-54, the place of occurrence has been shown to be the house of Rohtash and Kartar. Blood was also found there. The investigating Officer S.I. R.P. Gupta had proved the site plans and no question relating to the place of occurrence was put to him during his cross-examination. Blood stained and plain soil were collected from those places by the Investigating Officer regarding which the reports were obtained from F.S.L. which are on record as Ext. Ka-57 to 63, and thus indicate that the samples as positive.

60. P.Ws. 1 to 4 also stated about the place of occurrence being the house of Rohtash and Kartar, thus the place of occurrence stood proved and no dispute in this regard could be raised by the learned counsel for the appellants.

61. There is no delay in lodging the F.I.R., occurrence took place at about 12 o'clock in the night of 16/17.1.1997 and the F.I.R. was lodged at 3.10 am on 17.1.1997 after three hours and ten minutes of the incident. The distance between the place of occurrence and the police station was 7 km. The time gap of three hours in lodging the F.I.R. cannot be treated to be a delay. In such a situation, where six persons were gunned down and others were injured and the incident took place in the mid night the time taken by the witnesses to reach at the police station and lodge F.I.R is justifiable. The F.I.R. was thus, prompt which does not leave room for any doubt or deliberations.

62. There is not even an iota of evidence on record which could suggest that PW-1 to PW-4 had any other grudge against the appellants in any case to implicate them falsely.

63. To sum up, we do not find any major contradiction either in the evidence of the P.Ws. 1 to 4 or conflict in the medical and ocular evidence of P.Ws. 1 to 4 which would tilt the balance in favour of the appellants. The minor improvements, embellishments etc, apart from being for yield of human faculties are insignificant and ought to be ignored since the evidence of the witnesses otherwise overwhelmingly corroborate each other in the material particulars. The testimony of P.Ws. 1 to 4 gets support with the medical as well as other evidence on record. The method, time and manner of causing death, the weapon used, the place of occurrence and promptness in lodging the F.I.R., all these factors corroborate the occular testimony of the prosecution witnesses. The presence of witnesses on the spot cannot be said to be doubtful, as a result of the evidence of P.Ws. 1 to 4 Ved Prakash, Rohtash, Baleshwar and Dhan Singh being wholly reliable and trustworthy.

64. Having regard to the evidence on record, we are of the opinion that the trial court has correctly analyzed the material on record in the factual as well as legal perspectives to arrive at its conclusion. The judgment and order of conviction and sentence passed by the learned Sessions Judge, Meerut stands intact and is hereby affirmed. The appeals filed by the appellants being devoid of merit are liable to be dismissed.

65. These appeals are hereby dismissed.

66. The appellants are in jail, they will serve out the remaining period of sentence.

67. Copy of this judgment alongwith the original record be transmitted to the Court concerned for necessary compliance. A compliance report be sent to this Court within one month. The office is directed to keep the compliance report on record.

68. Sri Dharmendra Singh, learned Amicus Curiae rendered valuable assistance to the Court. The Court quantifies Rs.15,000/- to be paid to Sri Dharmendra Singh, Advocate towards fee for the able assistance provided by him in hearing of this Criminal Appeal. The said payment shall be made to Sri Dharmendra Singh Advocate by the Registry of the Court within the shortest possible time.

A. Criminal Law -Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973- Section 374(2) - Indian Penal Code, 1860 - Sections 302 & 201- Challenge to- Conviction- Murder- Circumstantial evidence- accused married to the deceased-she was died of coma as a result of ante-mortem injuries-accused administered diazepam and disfigured her face-weapon recovered-body of the deceased was not recovered from the house of appellant but from the mustard field-Confessional statement given to police officers not admissible -The I.O. have not proved that they had separately recorded the recovery statement of the appellant in the case diary as per provision of law, they only mentioned the alleged disclosure statement in the recovery memo-weapon of offence recovered as a consequence of disclosure of statement is admissible in evidence, but it only shows that the accused had the knowledge of the place where recovered items were kept, it does not prove that the weapon of offence and other items were used by the appellant-no link evidence to connect the appellant with the murder of deceased-Prosecution failed to discharge its duty of proving charge against the appellant beyond reasonable doubt- Hence, in the absence of any convincing explanation by the appellant, no presumption can be drawn that he committed the murder of deceased/wife- Hence, the appellant is entitled to get the benefit of doubt. (Para 1 to 31)

B. In order to sustain the conviction on the basis of circumstantial evidence, the circumstances, taken cumulatively, should form a chain so complete that there is no escape from the conclusion that within all human probability the crime was committed by the accused and none else, and it should also be incapable of explanation on any other hypothesis than that of the guilt of the accused. (Para 19)

The appeal is allowed. (E-6)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Surendra Singh-I, J.)

1. This appeal arises out of judgment and order of conviction and sentence dated 27.01.2016 passed by Additional Session Judge, Court No. 6, Aligarh, in Sessions Trial No. 604/2013, State of Uttar Pradesh Vs. Rajendra Sharma, arising out of Case Crime No. 1161/2012, Police Station- Gandhipark, District- Aligarh, convicting the appellant, Rajendra Sharma, u/s 302, 201 I.P.C. and sentencing him to undergo imprisonment for life and a fine of Rs.20,000/- u/s 302 I.P.C. and imprisonment of 3 years and a fine of Rs.5,000/- u/s 201 I.P.C. with default stipulation in both sections.

2. According to prosecution case, informant, Radhey Lal, son of late Uttam Chandra Sharma, submitted written report (Ext.Ka.1) on 21.12.2012 in Police Station- Gandhipark, District- Aligarh, to the effect that accused-appellant, Rajendra Sharma, son of Roshanlal, ran a dye factory on Ravanteela road. The informant's son, Suraj, visited the factory for getting training in the dyeing work. The accused-appellant, Rajendra Sharma, often visited the house of informant, for calling his son to the factory. During course of such visits, accused-appellant, Rajendra Sharma, and informant's daughter, Rani, fell in love with each other. The informant, his wife and his son had no knowledge that accused-appellant, Rajendra Sharma, was earlier married to Ballo. Accused-appellant left his wife, Ballo, and seduced his daughter, Rani, and married her in some temple about three years earlier to her murder. The informant's daughter, Rani, started living with accused-appellant, Rajendra Sharma. Their marital relation was cordial for one year. After this period, accused-appellant, Rajendra Sharma, started torturing and beating his daughter, alleging that she is characterless. The informant's daughter, Rani, requested the informant on phone that he may save her from the accused-appellant otherwise he will murder her as he has expelled his first wife, Ballo, after beating her. Two days earlier in the evening at 7 p.m., accused-appellant, Rajendra Sharma, had informed the informant's son, Suraj, that Rani had left his home. If she has reached her parental home, she may be sent back. After getting this information, informant Radhey Lal, visited the residence of accused-appellant, Rajendra Sharma, and enquired about his daughter, Rani, but Rajendra could not give any satisfactory explanation about the disappearance of Rani. After not getting proper explanation from the appellant about the whereabout of her daughter, Rani, the informant searched for his daughter, Rani, at different places. On 21.12.2012 at 2 p.m., on getting information, he visited village- Bhadesi, with his son, Suraj, and son-in-law, Deepak, where he found the dead body of his daughter, Rani. After murdering his daughter, her face was burnt to make her unidentifiable.

3. On the written report of the informant, a first information report against accused-appellant, Rajendra Sharma, was registered on 21.12.2012 at 16.10 hours in Police Station- Gandhipark, District-

Aligarh (Ext.Ka.4) as Case Crime No. 1161 of 2012 u/s 302, 201 I.P.C. The lodging of the first information report was mentioned in the G.D. of the case at the same time which is as (Ext.Ka.5).

4. The inquest proceedings of the dead body of Rani was conducted on 21.12.2012 at 1700 hours and inquest report was prepared as (Ext.Ka.2).

5. The postmortem on the dead body of Rani, wife of Rajendra Sharma, was done by P.W.3 Dr. K.R. Ahmad, Deputy D.D.O. (T.B. Abolition), District- Aligarh, on 22.12.2012 at 03.30 p.m. He prepared the postmortem report as (Ext.Ka.3). The deceased was average body built. Rigor mortis had passed the dead body. During postmortem proceedings, following antemortem injuries were found on the body of deceased Rani :-

(i) Incised wound 14 cm x 12 cm x bone deep present over face. Most of the facial bone, frontal bones and mandibles are fractured. Both eyes with eyeball and socket of eyeball, most of the facial bones, muscles of face and skin are missing. Grey matter of brain is visible and coming out from wound.

(ii) Incised wound 5 cm x 3 cm present on right side of face, underlying bone fractured.

(iii) Incised wound 3 cm x 2 cm x bone deep present on right ear, underlying bone fractured.

(iv) Incised wound 3 cm x 2 cm x bone deep present on head in midline, underlying bone fractured.

According to the opinion of the doctor conducting postmortem, the death was caused due to coma as a result of antemortem injuries.

6. The Investigating Officer, P.W.6 S.I. Jitendra Pal Singh, visited village- Bhadesi and on the pointing out of informant, Radhey Lal, prepared the site plan of the place where the dead body of Rani was found in the mustard field of Suresh Chandra. The site plan proved as (Ext.Ka.7). Accused-appellant, Rajendra Sharma was arrested on 27.12.2012. He told the Investigating Officer that he was heavily indebted to money-lenders who used to harass him for refund of money. His wife, Rani, taunted him and spoke ill towards him. He became enraged with her ill-spoken words. He administered diazepam laced tea to her. When she became unconscious, then at 2 o' clock at night, he smashed her face against the floor and murdered her. After murdering her, he inflicted incised wounds on her face and disfigured her face so that she could not be recognized/identified. He carried her dead body in Maruti Zen car, bearing registration no. U.P. 14 F-8105 and threw it in the mustard field in village- Bhadesi.

7. On the pointing out of accused-appellant, Rajendra Sharma, on 27.12.2012 at 6.40 a.m. in his rented house in Mohalla-Dharmpuri, Vikasnagar, District- Aligarh, from below his mattress, a strip of diazepam containing 8 pills was recovered as well as one knife as a weapon of assault from the terrace of the room. Accused-appellant led the police party to the house of Vishnu Sharma, son of Rampal Sharma, situated at Qwarsi, Aligarh, where Maruti Zen car bearing registration no. U.P. 14 F-8105 of sky blue colour was recovered on his pointing out. Accused-appellant told that he had carried the dead body of his wife on the back-seat of Maruti Zen in the night of 18.12.2012 and threw it in the mustard field of village- Bhadesi.

8. After investigation, the Investigating Officer P.W.6 S.I. Jitendra Pal Singh submitted charge-sheet (Ext.Ka.5) u/s 302, 201 I.P.C. against accused-appellant, Rajendra Sharma.

9. On 12.09.2013, Additional Sessions Judge, Court No. 6, Aligarh, framed charge u/s 302, 201 I.P.C. against the accused, Rajendra Sharma. The accused denied the charge and claimed trial.

10. To prove the charge, the prosecution examined P.W.1 Radhey Lal, who proved the written report as (Ext.Ka.1), P.W.2 Suraj and P.W.7 Yagyadutt Sharma as witnesses of fact and P.W.3 Dr. K. R. Ahmad, who proved the postmortem report as (Ext.Ka.3) and P.W.4 Yashvir Singh, proved the first information report (Ext.Ka.4) and G.D. relating to lodging of F.I.R (Ext.Ka.5), P.W.5 R.P. Chaudhary proved the recovery memo of weapon of offence, knife (Ext.Ka.6) and P.W.6 Jitendra Pal Singh, who proved the site plan of place of occurrence (Ext.Ka.7), site plan of place of recovery of diazepam (Ext.Ka.9) and Maruti Zen car (Ext.Ka.10) and the charge-sheet, he also proved the cloth in which the knife was wrapped as material Ext.1 and knife as material Ext.2 and clothes worn by the deceased as material Exts.3 to 9, were examined as formal witnesses.

11. On 06.10.2015, the court recorded the statement of the accused, Rajendra Sharma, u/s 313 Cr.P.C., who stated that the witnesses were giving false evidence and they have falsely proved the documentary and material exhibits. He was wrongly prosecuted due to enmity.

12. Accused-appellant further stated that his wife, Rani, was a college student where she got involved in bad company. The goon students killed her and he was falsely implicated due to his being her husband.

13. Accused-appellant, Rajendra Sharma, examined D.W.1 S.I.(m) Hargovind Singh and D.W.2 S.I.(m) Harishankar Sharma in his defence.

14. It has been argued on behalf of the appellant that the prosecution case is based on circumstantial evidence which does not complete the entire chain of evidence to convict the accused. The medical evidence collected by the Investigating Officer does not corroborate the prosecution case. The appellant has already discharged his burden u/s 106 of the Evidence Act in order to prove his innocence. The prosecution has not proved the motive of the appellant to kill deceased, Rani.

15. Sri HMB Sinha, learned A.G.A. for the State has argued that, admittedly, deceased, Rani, was the wife of the appellant, Rajendra Sharma. She was staying with him. On 21.12.2012, the dead body of Rani was recovered from village-Bhadesi, at a distance of 2-4 kms. from the house of accused-appellant. Thus, it was the responsibility of the appellant u/s 106 of the Indian Evidence Act to explain as to under what circumstances the deceased left her home and soon thereafter, her dead body was recovered. The appellant has not given proper explanation how after leaving her house, Rani, was killed and her dead body was recovered thereafter. It has also been argued on behalf of the State how the prosecution has proved the case against the appellant through firm and convincing circumstantial evidence. The prosecution has proved that soon before her disappearance and death, Rani had informed her father that appellant, Rajendra Sharma, tortured and beaten her and she has apprehension that she would be killed by the appellant. The prosecution has proved all the circumstances forming the chain on the basis of which, the conclusion can be drawn against the appellant that he must have committed the murder of the deceased, Rani. It was also being argued on behalf of the State that as the chain of circumstantial evidence, the prosecution has proved the recovery of weapon of offence i.e. knife, and strip of diazepam containing 8 pills on the pointing out of the appellant which was used in first making Rani unconscious by giving her diazepam laced tea and thereafter, disfiguring her face by assaulting it with the knife. It has further been argued on behalf of the State that the prosecution has proved the important chain of circumstantial evidence that by recovery of Maruti Zen car bearing registration no. U.P. 14 F-8105 of sky blue colour which was procured by the appellant, Rajendra Sharma from its owner P.W.7 Yagyadutt Sharma for driving test before purchasing it, which was used by him for carrying the dead body of Rani from his residence and throwing it in the mustard field of village-Bhadesi, from where it was recovered. Thus, the prosecution discharged its duty in proving, by circumstantial evidence, to the guilt that appellant, Rajendra Sharma, committed murder of his wife, Rani and threw her dead body and disposed it of.

16. We have heard learned counsel for the parties present and perused the entire lower court record.

17. Admittedly, there is no eye-witness who has seen the appellant, Rajendra Sharma, murdering and disposing of the dead body of Rani. The prosecution has produced circumstantial evidence to prove the charge framed against the appellant.

18. The prosecution has proved the confession given by the appellant, Rajendra Sharma, to the Investigating Officers, P.W.5 R.P. Chaudhary and P.W.6 Jitendra Pal to the effect that he has committed the murder of his wife and disposed of her dead body accordingly.

19. Law in respect of circumstantial evidence has been well-settled by a catena of decisions of Hon'ble Supreme Court which are as follows :-

In Sattatiya @ Satish Rajanna Kartalla Vs. State of Maharashtra, (2008) 3 SCC 210, the Hon'ble Supreme Court, while dealing with circumstantial evidence, observed as under :.

"11. In Hanumant Govind Nargundkar v. State of M.P. [AIR 1952 SC 343], which is one of the earliest decisions on the subject, this court observed as under:

"10. ..... It is well to remember that in cases where the evidence is of a circumstantial nature, the circumstances from which the conclusion of guilt is to be drawn should be in the first instance be fully established and all the facts so established should be consistent only with the hypothesis of the guilt of the accused. Again, the circumstances should be of a conclusive nature and tendency and they should be such as to exclude every hypothesis but the one proposed to be proved. In other words, there must be a chain of evidence so far complete as not to leave any reasonable ground for a conclusion consistent with the innocence of the accused and it must be such as to show that within all human probability the act must have been done by the accused."

12. In Padala Veera Reddy v. State of AP [(1989) Supp (2) SCC 706], this court held that when a case rests upon circumstantial evidence, the following tests must be satisfied:

"(1) the circumstances from which an inference of guilt is sought to be drawn, must be cogently and firmly established;

(2) those circumstances should be of a definite tendency unerringly pointing towards guilt of the accused;

(3) the circumstances, taken cumulatively, should form a chain so complete that there is no escape from the conclusion that within all human probability the crime was committed by the accused and none else."

13. In Sharad Birdhichand Sarda v. State of Maharashtra [(1984) 4 SCC 116], it was held that the onus was on the prosecution to prove that the chain is complete and falsity or untenability of the defence set up by the accused cannot be made basis for ignoring serious infirmity or lacuna in the prosecution case. The Court then proceeded to indicate the conditions which must be fully established before conviction can be based on circumstantial evidence. These are:

(1) the circumstances from which the conclusion of guilt is to be drawn should be fully established. The circumstances concerned must or should and not may be established;

(2) the facts so established should be consistent only with the hypothesis of the guilt of the accused, that is to say, they should not be explainable on any other hypothesis except that the accused is guilty;

(3) the circumstances should be of a conclusive nature and tendency;

(4) they should exclude every possible hypothesis except the one to be proved; and

(5) there must be a chain of evidence so complete as not to leave any reasonable ground for the conclusion consistent with the innocence of the accused and must show that in all human probability the act must have been done by the accused." In Satpal Vs. State of Haryana, (2018) 6 SCC 610, the Hon'ble Supreme Court has observed as under :

"If the accused offers no explanation, or furnishes a wrong explanation, absconds, motive is established, and there is corroborative evidence available inter alia in the form of recovery or otherwise forming a chain of circumstances leading to the only inference for guilt of the accused, incompatible with any possible hypothesis of innocence, conviction can be based on the same. If there be any doubt or break in the link of chain of circumstances, the benefit of doubt must go to the accused. Each case will therefore have to be examined on its own facts for invocation of the doctrine."

In Devi Lal Vs. State of Rajasthan, in Criminal Appeal No. 148 of 2010 decided on 08.01.2019, the Hon'ble Supreme Court, while dealing with circumstantial evidence, observed as under :

14. The classic enunciation of law pertaining to circumstantial evidence, its relevance and decisiveness, as a proof of charge of a criminal offence, is amongst others traceable decision of the Court in Sharad Birdhichand Sarda Vs. State of Maharashtra 1984 (4) SCC 116. The relevant excerpts from para 153 of the decision is assuredly apposite:

153. A close analysis of this decision would show that the following conditions must be fulfilled before a case against an accused can be said to be fully established:

(1) the circumstances from which the conclusion of guilt is to be drawn should be fully established.

It may be noted here that this Court indicated that the circumstances concerned "must or should" and not "may be" established. There is not only a grammatical but a legal distinction between "may be proved" and "must be or should be proved" as was held by this Court in Shivaji Sahabrao Bobade & Anr. Vs. State of Maharashtra [(1973) 2 SCC 793 where the observations were made:

"Certainly, it is a primary principle that the accused must be and not merely may be guilty before a court can convict and the mental distance between 'may be' and 'must be' is long and divides vague conjectures from sure conclusions."

(2) the facts so established should be consistent only with the hypothesis of the guilt of the accused, that is to say, they should not be explainable on any other hypothesis except that the accused is guilty,

(3) the circumstances should be of a conclusive nature and tendency,

(4) they should exclude every possible hypothesis except the one to be proved, and there must be a chain of evidence so complete as not to leave any reasonable ground for the conclusion consistent with the innocence of the accused and must show that in all human probability the act must have been done by the accused."

15. It has further been considered by this Court in Sujit Biswas Vs. State of Assam 2013 (12) SCC 406 and Raja alias Rajinder Vs. State of Haryana 2015 (11) SCC 43. It has been propounded that while scrutinising the circumstantial evidence, a Court has to evaluate it to ensure the chain of events is established clearly and completely to rule out any reasonable likelihood of innocence of the accused. The underlying principle is whether the chain is complete or not, indeed it would depend on the facts of each case emanating from the evidence and there cannot be a straight jacket formula which can be laid down for the purpose. But the circumstances adduced when considered collectively, it must lead only to the conclusion that there cannot be a person other than the accused who alone is the perpetrator of the crime alleged and the circumstances must establish the conclusive nature consistent only with the hypothesis of the guilt of the accused."

In Digamber Vaishnav Vs. State of Chhattisgarh, AIR 2019 SC 1367, decided on 05.03.2019, the Apex Court has held as under (with respect to circumstantial evidence) :

15. One of the fundamental principles of criminal jurisprudence is undeniably that the burden of proof squarely rests on the prosecution and that the general burden never shifts. There can be no conviction on the basis of surmises and conjectures or suspicion howsoever grave it may be. Strong suspicion, strong coincidences and grave doubt cannot take the place of legal proof. The onus of the prosecution cannot be discharged by referring to very strong suspicion and existence of highly suspicious factors to inculpate the accused nor falsity of defence could take the place of proof which the prosecution has to establish in order to succeed, though a false plea by the defence at best, be considered as an additional circumstance, if other circumstances unfailingly point to the guilt.

16. This Court in Jaharlal Das v. State of Orissa, (1991) 3 SCC 27, has held that even if the offence is a shocking one, the gravity of offence cannot by itself overweigh as far as legal proof is concerned. In cases depending highly upon the circumstantial evidence, there is always a danger that the conjecture or suspicion may take the place of legal proof. The court has to be watchful and ensure that the conjecture and suspicion do not take the place of legal proof. The court must satisfy itself that various circumstances in the chain of evidence should be established clearly and that the completed chain must be such as to rule out a reasonable likelihood of the innocence of the accused. In order to sustain the conviction on the basis of circumstantial evidence, the following three conditions must be satisfied:

i.) the circumstances from which an inference of guilt is sought to be drawn, must be cogently and firmly established; ii.) those circumstances should be of a definite tendency unerringly pointing towards the guilt of the accused; and iii.) the circumstances, taken cumulatively, should form a chain so complete that there is no escape from the conclusion that within all human probability the crime was committed by the accused and none else, and it should also be incapable of explanation on any other hypothesis than that of the guilt of the accused."

In Anjan Kumar Sarma and Ors. Vs. State of Assam; (2017) 14 SCC 359, the Hon'ble Supreme Court has observed as under :

"14. Admittedly, this is a case of circumstantial evidence. Factors to be taken into account in adjudication of cases of circumstantial evidence laid down by this Court are:

(1) The circumstances from which the conclusion of guilt is to be drawn should be fully established. The circumstances concerned "must' or "should' and not "may be' established;

(2) The facts so established should be consistent only with the hypothesis of the guilt of the accused, that is to say, they should not be explainable on any other hypothesis except that the accused is guilty;

(3) The circumstances should be of a conclusive nature and tendency;

(4) They should exclude every possible hypothesis except the one to be proved; and

(5) There must be a chain of evidence so complete as not to leave any reasonable ground for the conclusion consistent with the innocence of the accused and must show that in all human probability the act must have been done by the accused. (See: Sharad Birdhichand Sarda v. State of Maharashtra (1984) 4 SCC 116 (para 185 & 153); M.G. Agarwal v. State of Maharashtra AIR 1963 SC 200 (para 18).

20. The trial court in its judgement has relied on following evidence for convicting the appellant Rajendra Sharma :-

(i) After the disappearance of deceased Rani from the house of appellant Rajendra Sharma on 18.12.2012, her dead body was found on 21.12.2012. Thus, soon before her death, Rani was living with the appellant Rajendra Sharma, and he did not explain why she left his house and how she was murdered. Thus, relying on Section 106 of the Indian Evidence Act, the trial court held that an important chain of the incident was proved due to the failure of appellant Rajendra Sharma in giving any proper explanation how Rani left his house and she was murdered.

(ii) On the confessional statement of accused-appellant, Rajendra Sharma, given to the Investigating Officers, P.W.5 S.I. R.P. Chaudhary and P.W.6 S.I. Jitendra Pal Singh to the effect that due to failure of his business and closure of his factory, he was heavily indebted to the borrowers who were harassing him for the refund of their loan and Rani used to taunt on the appellant for his inability to pay the loan amount. Due to her harsh words, he got enraged and murdered Rani and got her body disposed of, disfiguring her face with a knife. The trial court has also relied on the evidence of recovery of material exhibits on the pointing out of appellant, Rajendra Sharma, which included knife as material Ext.2 and strip of diazepam which included 8 pills and 2 pills missing wrongly mentioned as material Ext. 2 and Maruti Zen car no. U.P. 14 F-8105 allegedly used by accused-appellant, Rajendra Sharma, for disposing of the dead body of Rani.

(iii) According to P.W.3 Dr. K.R. Ahmad, who conducted postmortem on the dead body of Rani, the death of Rani was caused due to coma as a result of antemortem injury. P.W.3 Dr. K.R. Ahmad has also stated in his evidence that the face of deceased was not disfigured to the extent that it may become unidentifiable. The trial court has also relied on the evidence of P.W.3 Dr. K.R. Ahmad that the injury found on the body of deceased could have been caused in the manner alleged by the prosecution i.e. by smashing the face of deceased Rani on the floor and then disfiguring her face by scratching it with knife.

(iv) The trial court refused to rely on the defence plea taken by accused-appellant, Rajendra Sharma, that the deceased Rani was studying in degree college. She came in the company of bad students and due to that reason, she was murdered by goons.

21. We find that there is no direct eye-witness to the incident of the murder of deceased Rani by appellant Rajendra Sharma. P.W.1 Radhey Lal, father of the deceased, has only given evidence that her daughter deceased Rani has complained earlier to him about the torture, misbehaviour and beating done by appellant, Rajendra Sharma and she had expressed her apprehension that she may be killed by her husband, appellant, Rajendra Sharma. P.W.1 Radhey Lal Sharma has also given evidence that two days before the recovery of the dead body of Rani, appellant Rajendra Sharma, had phoned to his son, P.W.2 Suraj, that Rani, is missing and if she has gone to her parental home, she may be sent back to him. P.W.1 Radhey Lal has also given evidence that on receiving the phone call of the appellant regarding the missing of Rani from his home, then he along with his son, Suraj, visited the house of the appellant, Rajendra Sharma and inquired about Rani, but he was evasive and could not give any satisfactory answer regarding her whereabout. He has also deposed that the dead body of his daughter, Rani, was recovered about 2-4 kms. away from the place, Vikasnagar, where she was residing with the appellant, Rajendra Sharma. P.W.2 Suraj, has also given evidence similar to that of P.W.1 Radhey Lal. Thus, P.W.1 Radheylal and P.W.2 Suraj have not given any direct or clinching circumstantial evidence about the involvement of appellant, Rajendra Sharma in the murder of deceased Rani.

22. Another witness of fact relied upon by the prosecution P.W.7 Yagyadutt Sharma, whose vehicle was allegedly involved in disposing of the dead body of deceased Rani by appellant Rajendra Sharma, has only deposed in his evidence that appellant, Rajendra Sharma, on 18.12.2012 borrowed his Maruti Zen car U.P. 14 F-8105 on the pretext of prior test drive before purchasing it and he returned the car the next day. P.W.7 Yagyadutt Sharma informed that the appellant refused to purchase the car, as it was much costly. He has given evidence that the aforesaid vehicle was detained by the police being involved in the murder of Rani which was later released by the court on his application in favour of its registered owner, B.M. Agarwal. P.W.7 Yagyadutt Sharma has admitted that when he received back the vehicle, there were no blood stains on it. He has added that it appeared that the vehicle was washed. Thus, there is nothing in the evidence of P.W.7 Yagyadutt Sharma involving the appellant, Rajendra Sharma, in committing the murder of deceased Rani and using Maruti Zen car bearing registration no. U.P.-14 F-8105 in disposing of her dead body.

23. The other evidence relied by the trial court in convicting the appellant, Rajendra Sharma, is his disclosure statement given by him to the Investigating Officers, P.W.5 S.I. R.P. Chaudhary and P.W.6 S.I. Jitendra Pal Singh, while he was in their custody to the effect that since his business collapsed and his factory was shutdown, he fell in great debts and was unable to pay the loan taken by him from the money-lenders.

24. The aforesaid disclosure statement is confessional statement given to police officers which is totally not admissible in evidence being hit by the provisions of Section 25 of the Indian Evidence Act.

25. P.W.5 S.I. R.P. Chaudhary and P.W.6 S.I. Jitendra Pal Singh have only mentioned the alleged disclosure statement in the recovery memo. The Investigating Officers have not proved that they had separately recorded the recovery statement of appellant, Rajendra Sharma, in the case diary as per the provision of law. Thus, the prosecution has failed to prove the disclosure statement of appellant, Rajendra Sharma, as per the requirement of law.

26. According to the evidence of P.W.5 S.I. R.P. Chaudhary and P.W.6 S.I. Jitendra Pal Singh as per the disclosure statement of appellant, Rajendra Sharma, the weapon of offence i.e. knife, strip of diazepam (from which 2 pills were used in making Rani unconscious before committing her murder) and Maruti Zen car, bearing registration no. U.P. 14 F-8105 by which appellant disposed of dead body of Rani, were recovered on the pointing out of the appellant.

27. The Hon'ble Supreme Court has held in Mangal alias Bhanu & others Vs. State of U.P., 2000 (41) ACC 303 that weapon of offence recovered as a consequence of disclosure statement is admissible in evidence, but it only shows that accused had the knowledge of the place where weapons of offence and other recovered items were kept. It does not prove that the weapon of offence and other items were used by the appellant, Rajendra Sharma, in committing the offence. Thus, other than the alleged confessional statement given by the appellant, Rajendra Sharma, to aforesaid police officers, there is no link evidence to connect the appellant with the murder of deceased Rani.

28. It has been argued on behalf of the State that principle of house murder as propounded by Hon'ble Supreme Court in Trimukh Maroti Kirkan Vs. State of Maharashtra, (2006) 10 SCC 681 shall be applicable and according to the provisions of Section 106 of the Evidence Act, it is the burden of appellant to explain out the circumstances under which Rani left her home and later on, her dead body was recovered.

29. Since the dead body of Rani was not recovered from the house of appellant, Rajendra Sharma, but according to prosecution, from mustard field in village- Bhadesi, which is situated about 2-4 kms. away from Vikasnagar where the appellant was living with deceased Rani, the principle of house murder as propounded by Hon'ble Supreme Court in aforesaid case will not be applicable and in the absence of any convincing explanation by the appellant, no presumption can be drawn that he committed the murder of deceased Rani. The provisions of Section 106 of the Indian Evidence Act becomes appealable only after prosecution has discharged its initial duty of proving that the offence was committed by the accused (here appellant) but since the prosecution has not discharged its duty of proving the charge against the accused by legal, convincing and clinching evidence, there is no burden on appellant, Rajendra Sharma, to explain out the circumstances under which deceased Rani went missing from his house and later her dead body was recovered from mustard field of village- Bhadesi.

30. Taking the cumulative effect of the evidence, we find it difficult to uphold the conviction of the appellant, Rajendra Sharma. He is entitled to get the benefit of doubt.

31. Accordingly, the appeal succeeds and is allowed and the impugned judgement is set-aside.

32. The appellant, Rajendra Sharma, is in jail. He be set free forthwith, if not required in any other case.

33. The appellant, Rajendra Sharma, is further directed to file personal bond and two sureties each in the like amount to the satisfaction of the court concerned in compliance of Section 437-A of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973.

34. Let a copy of this judgment and the original record be transmitted to the trial court concerned forthwith for necessary information and compliance.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Dr. Kaushal Jayendra Thaker, J.
Hon'ble Gautam Chowdhary, J.)

1. Heard learned counsel for the petitioner and learned A.G.A. for the State.

2. By way of this petition, the accused-petitioner prays for quashment of the impugned first information report dated 15.01.2022 registered in Case Crime No.0028 of 2022 under Sections 420, 468, 469, 481, 482, 483, 485, 486, 487, 488 I.P.C., Section 63, 65 of Copy Right Act (Amendment) 1957 and Sections 103, 104 of Trade Mark Act, 1999, Police Station Tajganj, District Agra and also for staying his arrest in respect of the aforesaid first information report.

3. Learned counsel for the petitioner submits that neither there is infringement of Copy Right (Amended) Act 1957 nor Trade Marks Act, 1999 and due to business rivalry, the respondent no.4 has lodged the F.I.R. when in fact, the petitioner has nowhere used the name of Panchi Petha, which is the firm of the respondent no.4. He further submits that the learned Magistrate has allowed the application under Section 156 (3) Cr.P.C. which has resulted into lodgement of the impugned F.I.R. He further argued that the petitioner has been falsely implicated on the ground that he is running a business of Petha and Dalmoth in the name and style of Petha Dalmoth without using the trademark of Panchi Petha. Learned counsel has next argued that prior to running of aforesaid business by the petitioner, the petitioner was working as a Manager in the firm of Panchi Petha since 2015 to 2020, whereas the petitioner started his own business after the lockdown in the country. It is lastly argued that since the petitioner was working as Manager in the firm of Panchi Petha, thereafter started his own business, due to which the petitioner has been falsely implicated in the present case.

4. We have perused the documentary evidence. Panchi logo on the petitioner's firm before the word "Petha" give us impression that the firm is representing "Panchi Petha", which is the firm of the respondent no.4. This fact prima facie can very well be ascertained with the photograph annexed at page 30 and 32 of the paper book. Therefore, we cannot entertain this petition, as it cannot be said that no prima facie case is made out. The exercise of extra-ordinary writ jurisdiction under Article 226 of the Constitution of India cannot be exercised against the petitioner.We fortified our view in view of the judgement of Hon'ble Apex Court in the matter of Arun Bhandari Vs. State of U.P. and others reported in 2013 (2) S.C.C.

5. In that view of the matter, the present writ petition is devoid of merit and is dismissed.

B. As a general rule, the Court can and may act on the testimony of a single eye witness provided he is wholly reliable. There is no legal impediment in convicting a person on the testimony of a solitary witness. That is the logic of Section 134 of the Evidence Act, 1872. It is observed that in first two category there may be no difficulty in accepting or discarding the testimony of single witness. The difficulty arises in the third category of cases. The Court has to be circumspect and has to look for corroboration in material particulars by reliable testimony, direct or circumstantial, before acting upon the testimony of a single witness. (Delivered by Hon'ble Subhash Chandra Sharma, J.)

1. Heard Sri Jitendra Singh, learned counsel for appellant Kripa Shankar Dubey, Sri Manvendra Singh, learned Advocate for the appellant Uma Shankar Dubey and Sri Rupak Chubey, learned A.G.A. for State and perused the record.

2. These appeals emanate from the judgment and order dated 18.02.2009 passed by Additional Session Judge/Special Judge E.C. Act, Fatehpur in S.T. No.169 of 2006 (State vs. Kripa Shanker Dubey and another) arising out of Case Crime No.213 of 2005, under Section 302 read with Section 34 I.P.C. sentencing the appellants with life imprisonment and fine of Rs.10,000/- and in default of payment of fine to undergo additional one year rigorous imprisonment by each and in S.T. No.170 of 2006 (State vs. Kripa Shanker Dubey) arising out of Crime No.218 of 2005, under Section 25 Arms Act, Police Station Lalauli, District Fatehpur whereby the appellant Kripa Shanker Dubey has been sentenced with two years rigorous imprisonment with fine of Rs.1000/- and in default of payment of fine to undergo additional six months rigorous imprisonment.

3. The prosecution case in brief is that on 22.12.2005 at about 8:00 P.M. an F.I.R. was lodged at the Police Station Lalauli, District Fatehpur by the informant Suresh Kumar S/o Ramasrey resident of Kichaucha, Police Station Lalauli, District Fatehpur by filing a written report stating therein that on 22.12.2005 at about 6:00 P.M. his elder brother Umesh @ Pappu aged about 27 years went to the hand pump to fetch water and as he (deceased) reached near the hand pump Kripa Shanker Dubey S/o Ram Vishal and his brother Uma Shanker Dubey residents of the same village equipped with country-made pistol came with the intention of committing murder and shot fire at him (deceased) causing injuries in his stomach, as a result it he died and accused persons fled away towards the field. The incident was witnessed by his bua (aunt) Maun Shree and Surajpal.

4. The investigation of the case was handed over to S.H.O. Manoj Kumar Pandey who after receiving the information went to the place of occurrence alongwith other officials and conducted the inquest of the dead body of deceased Umesh @ Pappu and prepared the inquest report and other relevant papers required for the purposes of post-mortem. The dead body was sealed and handed over to constable Baburam and Devmani who took it to the Mortuary District Hospital, Fatehpur.

5. The post-mortem was conducted on 23.12.2005 at 3:30 P.M. by Dr. A.S. Khan who found the dead body in sealed cloth intact which tallied the sample seal. The external condition of the dead body as described therein is as under :-

Average built body. Rigor mortis present.

Antemortem Injuries

1. Fire arm wound of entry 2 cm x 2 cm x cavity deep in right side of the abdomen 15 cm outer to umbilicus at 9 O'clock position. Blackening present around the wound. Intestines were protruded out from wound.

2. Contusion of 6 cm x 3 cm in right side of the abdomen 20 cm below the right nipple.

3. A mattelic bullet recovered from left side of pelvic muscles which was sealed in an envelop and sent to S.P., Fatehpur through C.M.S.

Cause of death was mentioned as shock and hemorrhage as a result of antemortem fire arm injury

6. During investigation, the statement of informant Suresh Kumar was recorded and after making spot inspection at the instance of the informant, site plan was prepared by the I.O. On 25.12.2005, accused persons Kripa Shanker Dubey and Uma Shanker Dubey were arrested near the bus stand. A country-made pistol of 315 bore and one cartridge, from the pocket of the accused and another cartridge from the chamber of the country-made pistol were recovered from the possession of accused Kripa Shanker Dubey. Recovery memo was prepared and a separate case because of the recovery of the country-made pistol and cartridge was registered u/s 25 Arms Act as Crime No.218 of 2005 at the police station, investigation of which was handed over to S.I. Ram Chandra Mishra. Further the statement of other witnesses were recorded by the I.O and on the basis of the material collected during the investigation, a prima facie case under Section 302/34 I.P.C. was found to be made out against the accused persons, as a result, the charge-sheet was submitted to the court concerned. Later on reports from the F.S.L. were received and submitted to the Court through supplementary case diary.

7. In crime no.218 of 2005 u/s 25 Arms Act, the investigating officer recorded the statement of informant Manoj Kumar Pandey and constable Sarfaraz Haider and after spot inspection at the instance of the informant prepared the site plan. After recording the statements of other witnesses and obtaining the prosecution sanction from the District Magistrate, he filed charge-sheet before the court concerned.

8. The learned court took cognizance of the offence and provided copies of the prosecution papers in compliance of Section 207 Cr.P.C. to the appellants and committed the case for trial.

9. The learned trial court after taking into consideration the material on record framed the charges against both the appellants u/s 302 read with Section 34 I.P.C. and u/s 25 Arms Act against the appellant Kripa Shanker Dubey. The charges were read over and explained to the appellants. They pleaded not guilty but denied the charges and claimed for trial. Consequently, the cases were fixed for prosecution evidence. Since both the cases were connected to each other, therefore, consolidated and tried together.

10. In support of its case, the prosecution examined PW-1 Suresh Kumar, the first informant and brother of the deceased; Pw-2 Sheetla Devi as eye-witness of the incident and mother of the deceased; PW-3 Dr. A. S. Khan who conducted post-mortem of dead body of the deceased; PW-4 Constable Kunwar Singh who prepared chick F.I.R. and entered the detail in G.D.; PW-5 S.I. Manoj Kumar Pandey the investigating officer of crime no.213 of 2005 u/s 302 I.P.C. and PW-6 S.I. Ram Chandra Mishra who investigated the case registered u/s 25 Arms Act relating to crime no.218 of 2005.

11. On conclusion of prosecution evidence statement of accused persons were recorded u/s 313 Cr.P.C. wherein appellants Kripa Shanker Dubey and Uma Shanker Dubey asserted the incident and statements of witnesses relating thereto, false. In relation to recovery of arm and cartridge appellant Kripa Shanker Dubey termed it to be false and stated that he was arrested by the police from his house and false recovery of country-made pistol was shown against him. In defence, no evidence was adduced on the part of the appellants.

12. After hearing the arguments on behalf of the appellants as well as for the State, the trial court passed the judgment and order dated 18.02.2009 convicting the appellants as aforesaid against which these appeals are preferred.

13. Learned counsel for the appellants submits that the impugned judgment and order of conviction is bad in law being against the evidence on record. The trial court has erred in convicting the appellants without making proper appreciation of the evidence. The appellants had no motive to commit the murder of the deceased. The F.I.R. is ante-time. PW-1 & PW-2 are relatives of the deceased, therefore, they are interested witnesses, their testimony is full of contradictions. The statement of PW-2 u/s 161 Cr.P.C. was not recorded by the investigating officer during investigation but she was introduced by the prosecution for the first time before the trial court so her testimony cannot be relied upon. The presence of PW-1 is not mentioned in the F.I.R. so he cannot be said to be an eye-witness. In this way, the testimony of PW-1 being not present on the spot at the time of alleged incident and PW-2 being not examined by the investigating officer and not named in the F.I.R. as eye-witness cannot be made the basis of conviction. The witnesses those were named in the F.I.R. have not been examined by the prosecution. As a result, the whole prosecution story becomes doubtful and the benefit of doubt is to be extended to the accused appellants. Thus, the prosecution could not prove its case beyond reasonable doubt and the appellants are entitled for acquittal.

14. Learned A.G.A. opposed the contentions raised by the learned counsel for the appellants and urged that in this case the informant as well as PW-2 both were present on the spot and they had narrated the whole prosecution story as well. They are eye-witnesses, therefore, motive looses its importance. The testimony of PW-2 cannot be discarded only on the basis that her statement u/s 161 Cr.P.C. was not recorded by the investigating officer. No prejudice is caused to the accused appellants. The presence of PW-1 on the spot is not disputed. From the reading of the F.I.R., it is clear that PW-1 was present on the spot at the time of the incident. The prosecution witnesses, though relatives but their testimony cannot be discarded on this account only if they are reliable and trustworthy otherwise. The contradictions in the testimony of the witnesses are minor in nature and are not likely to affect the veracity of the statements, hence immaterial. The death of deceased Umesh Kumar Singh is said to be caused with fire arm which gets support from the post-mortem. In this way, the prosecution had proved its case beyond reasonable doubt against the appellants. The trial court has passed the judgment and order on the basis of evidence on record after appreciating the evidence according to the settled principles of law. There is no error in the judgment under challenge. These appeals being devoid of merit are liable to be dismissed.

15. From the submissions and perusal of the record, the questions which emerge for consideration of this Court are :- as to whether the F.I.R is ante-time; motive is absent; the witnesses being relatives; no independent witnesses having been examined would have adverse affect on the prosecution case; as to whether the alleged contradictions in the testimony of witnesses make it unreliable and non-recording the statement of PW-2 u/s 161 Cr.P.C. by the investigating officer would cause prejudice to the appellants.

16. Before we deal with the contentions raised by the learned counsel for the appellants, it would be convenient to take note of the evidence adduced by the prosuection.

17. PW-1 Suresh Kumar is the first informant and brother of the deceased who deposed that there was enmity on account of village pradhani elections between both the families of the accused and the deceased. On 22.12.2005 at about 6:00 P.M., his elder brother Umesh Kumar went to fetch water at the hand pump in front of his house. As his brother reached near the hand pump, appellant Kripa Shanker Dubey opened fire which hit in the stomach of his brother on the right side near the umbilicus and after 10-15 minutes, he died. P.W.1 took the injured inside the house and made him lie down on the cot where he died. This incident was witnessed by he himself, his bua (aunt) Maun-Shree, another aunt Rajrani and Surajpal. The accused persons fled away after shooting the deceased. At the time of the incident, he (the informant) was at his gate and his bua (aunt) and another aunt were at the hand pump and Surajpal was talking to his brother (deceased). He himself wrote the written report and gave it at the police station Lalauli, which he proved in his hand writing as Ex Ka-1.

18. PW-2 Sheetla Devi mother of the deceased deposed that she knew the accused Kripa Shanker Dubey and Uma Shanker Dubey who were residents of her village. The murder of her son Umesh Kumar was committed at about 6:00 P.M. near the hand pump in front of her house where his son went there to fetch water. Kripa Shanker came there and made fire on the stomach of his son Umesh @ Pappu. No other person was with Kripa Shanker Dubey. PW-2 stated that she was at her gate at that time from there she was watching everything. The incident was witnessed by Surajpal, his wife and Maushree. Suresh also saw the incident. She further stated that Uma Shanker Dubey was on the back side and he did nothing. She stated that she narrated all these facts to the police.

Both the witnesses were cross-examined on behalf of the appellants at length.

19. PW-3 Dr. A. S. Khan has proved the post-mortem report as Ex Ka- 2 in his hand writing and signature. He told that the injury was caused with fire arm like country-made pistol at about 6:00 P.M. as a result, the deceased died. He also opined that the cause of death was shock and hemorrhage due to antemortem fire arm injury. During post-mortem, a bullet was recovered from the abdomen of the deceased which was sealed and sent to S.P., Fatehpur through C.M.S.

20. PW-4 constable Kunwar Singh has proved the check F.I.R. which was prepared by him on the basis of written report in his hand writing and signature as Ex Ka-3 and G.D. as Ex Ka-4.

21. PW-5 S.I. Manoj Kumar Pandey who investigated the case has proved the investigation and the papers prepared by him relating to the inquest as Ex Ka-5 to 10, recovery memo as Ex Ka-11, country-made pistol and cartridge as material Ex.- 1 to 3, charge-sheet as Ex Ka-12 and F.S.L. report as Ex Ka- 13 & 14.

22. PW-6 S.I. Ram Chandra Mishra has proved the investigation relating to the Crime No.218 of 2005 registered u/s 25 Arms Act, site plan as Ex Ka-15, charge-sheet as Ex Ka-16, prosecution sanction as Ex Ka-17 and check F.I.R. in the hand writing of constable Ramkripal Pandey as Ex Ka-18 and G.D. as Ex Ka-20.

23. Relating to the F.I.R, it is argued that it is antetime. In this regard, it is to note that the incident took place on 22.12.2005 at 6 p.m. and F.I.R. was lodged at 8.p.m on the same day at the police station concerned, 12 km away from the place of occurrence. P.W.4 constable Kunwar Singh deposed that he lodged the F.I.R. on 22.12.2005 at 8 O'clock on the basis of the written report given by informant Suresh Kumar and entered its detail in the G.D. report no. 26 in the presence of the Station House Officer of the police station and, thereafter, sent him to the place of occurrence. P.W. 5. Manoj Kumar Pandey, the station house officer deposed that he had gone to attend the OR of ASP at the Fatehpur Police Office, while returning he was informed on the RT set that Umesh Kumar had been murdered in the village Kichhauchha. He reached at the village directly and conducted the inquest and prepared relevant papers. It shows that PW-5 was not present at the Police Station at 8 p.m. as stated by P.W.4 but arrived at the police station after conducting the inquest and sending the dead body for post-mortem from the place of the incident.

24. P.W.1 informant has stated that he wrote the written report and gave it in the police station Lalauli, which he proved as Ex. Ka-1. During cross examination, P.W.1 stated that he called the police by phone call from the police station. The Station Officer was somewhere else from where he came on the spot. Then P.W.1 told him (P.W.5) about the incident who got him write down the report. P.W.1 showed the place of occurrence to the Investigating Officer. P.W.1 did not take the dead body to the police station. The inquest was conducted at home, then he went with the Investigating Officer to lodge the FIR. The Investigating Officer dictated, he wrote and gave that written report to him. This statement of P.W.1 clearly shows that the station house officer was not present at the police station. The informant called the police by phone and did not go to the police station for lodging the FIR on his own but after the Station Officer visited the place of the occurrence and conducted inquest, P.W.1 went with him to the police station and lodged the FIR by giving the report, written by him on the dictation of the Station Officer. The inquest shows that the proceedings were started at 20.23 p.m. and completed on 23.35 pm. It infers that the station house officer reached at the police station after 23.35 p.m. with the informant and then FIR was lodged on the basis of the written report given by the informant, mentioning therein the time of receiving information at 8 pm, which proves that the FIR was lodged ante-time.

25. It is also argued that PW2 Sheetla Devi mother of the deceased and PW 1, had not witnessed the incident. P.W.2 was not present at the time of the incident. Her statement was neither recorded by the Investigating Officer nor her name was mentioned in the list of witnesses in the charge sheet, therefore, she cannot be relied on. In this regard, it is true that the informant did not mention her name in the F.I.R. with other witnesses who had witnessed the incident. Her statement was not recorded by the Investigating Officer under Section 161 Cr.P.C. and also her name was not included in the list of prosecution witnesses in the charge sheet but she was produced before the trial court as P.W.2 projecting her as eye witness of the incident. On 4.4.2007, after one and half year, for the first time, she (P.W.2) deposed that the incident was seen by her.

26. P.W. 2 stated that she was present at the gate of her house at the time of the incident. She further stated that she came from the tubewell and reached at her house and in the meantime, occurrence took place. She went back on the gate of the house and stood there. Suresh (P.W.1) was also there at the gate.

27. P.W.1 Suresh had not disclosed the presence of this witness i.e., P.W.2 at the place of occurrence in the F.I.R. and Section 161 Cr.P.C. statement, though during his examination in the court, P.W.1 stated about the presence of his bua Maunshree, bhabhi Rajrani and Surajpal, who were not examined during the trial. In his cross-examination, P.W. 1 also stated that his mother was in the house. At the time of occurrence, he was out of the gate and Surajpal Rakesh, Rajshree and Maunshree were collecting water. He heard the sound of firing. All people present there disbursed and accused persons fled away. He remained there alone and brought his brother, the deceased inside the house. When he brought the deceased to some distance, his mother came, then both of them took the deceased and lay his body on the cot. In this way, the version of P.W. 2 that she was present at the gate with P.W. 1 Suresh and witnessed the incident, does not get support from the statement of Suresh but it seems that she (PW-2) was in the house and came outside after the incident had occurred and while P.W. 1 Suresh was carrying the deceased from the place of occurrence to his house. Thus, the presence of P.W. 2, on the spot, at the time of the incident, is not established. Her testimony that she witnessed the accused persons making fire at the deceased does not inspire confidence of the court.

28. The names of other witnesses namely, Maunshree and Surajpal were mentioned in the F.I.R. who witnessed the incident and were present there at the time of the occurrence. But both these witnesses have not been examined by the prosecution, for the reasons best known to them. The testimony of P.W.2 about his presence is unreliable and is nothing but an improvement on the material aspect of the case.

29. It is to be noted that a witness, whose name was not mentioned in the F.I.R. as an eye witness, and whose statement was not recorded by the Investigating Officer under Section 161 Cr.P.C. and is not shown in the list of witnesses in the charge sheet but examined before the trial court to the first time years after the occurrence, his testimony cannot be considered safe to rely on, for it may cause prejudice to the accused.

30. It has been held by The Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Ram Lakhan Singh And Ors. vs. The State Of U.P. AIR1977 SCC 1996 that "It is true that no enmity or grudge is suggested against this witness, but we find that this witness was not even examined by the police nor was he cited in the chargesheet. In a grave charge like the present, it will not be proper to place reliance on a witness who never figured during the investigation and was not. named in the chargesheet. The accused who are entitled to know his earlier version to the police are naturally deprived of an opportunity of effective cross-examination and it will be difficult to give any credence to a statement which was given for the first time in court after about a year of the occurrence. We cannot, therefore, agree that the High Court was right in accenting the evidence of this witness as lending assurance to the testimony of other witnesses on the basis of which alone perhaps, the High Court felt unsafe to convict the accused."

31. Now there remains the testimony of P.W.1 Suresh, who is the brother of the deceased and the informant.

32. It is argued by the learned counsel for the appellants that the testimony of this witness cannot be relied upon he being an interested witness. In this regard, it is true that P.W. 1 Suresh is the real brother of the deceased and comes in the category of related witness. It has also been stated by P.W. 1 that the appellants committed murder of his brother owing to the enmity relating to the village pradhan election but only on account of enmity and being related witness his evidence cannot be disbelieved, rather his testimony is to be scrutinized with case and circumspection because of the alleged enmity.

33. In Piara Singh and Ors. Vs. State of Punjab, AIR 1977 SC 2274 (1977) 4 SCC 452, Hon'ble The Supreme Court held: "It is well settled that the evidence of interested or inimical witnesses is to be scrutinised with care but cannot be rejected merely on the ground of being a partisan evidence. If on a perusal of the evidence the Court is satisfied that the evidence is creditworthy there is no bar in the Court relying on the said evidence." In such cases, their evidence is to be scrutinized with great circumspection.

34. Further it is contended by the learned counsel for the appellants that no independent witness has been examined by the prosecution, therefore, the testimony of P.W. 1 cannot be relied upon in absence of corroboration with some independent source. It is to note that in the F.I.R., P.W. 1 named his bua (aunt) Maunshree and Surajpal as eye witnesses of the incident but both of them had not been examined before the trial court and there was no other witness said to be present at the time of occurrence. On the basis of non-examination of these two eye witnesses, the testimony of P.W. 1 cannot be discarded at all because ordinarily in village, no person wants to become a witness by putting his life in risk of inviting enmity with other villagers named as accused, therefore, non examination of independent eye witness cannot affect the reliability of related witness.

35. In the case of Darya Singh Vs. State of Punjab AIR 1965 SC 328, Hon'ble The Supreme Court observed that "It is well-known that in villages where murders are committed as a result of factions existing in the village or in consequence of family feuds, independent villagers arc generally reluctant to give evidence because they are afraid that giving evidence might invite the wrath of the assailants and might expose them to very serious risks. It is quite true that it is the duty of a citizen to assist the prosecution by giving evidence and helping the administration of criminal law to bring the offender to book, but it would be wholly unrealistic to suggest that if the prosecution is not able to bring independent witnesses to the Court because they are afraid to give evidence, that itself should be treated as an infirmity in the prosecution case so as to justify the defence contention that the evidence actually adduced should be disbelieved on that ground alone without examining its merits."

36. It is also argued that there are omissions, discrepancies and contradictions in the testimony of P.W. 1 which do not inspire confidence. It is well settled law that minor discrepancies are not to be given undue emphasis and the evidence is to be considered from the point of view of trustworthiness. The test is whether the same inspires confidence in the mind of the Court. If the evidence is incredible and cannot be accepted by the test of prudence, then it may create a dent in the prosecution version. If an omission or discrepancy goes to the root of the matter and ushers in incongruities, the defence can take advantage of such inconsistencies. It needs no special emphasis to state that every omission cannot take place of a material omission and, therefore, minor contradictions, inconsistencies or insignificant embellishments do not affect the core of the prosecution case and should not be taken to be a ground to reject the prosecution evidence. The omission should create a serious doubt about the truthfulness or creditworthiness of a witness. It is only serious contradictions and omissions which materially affect the case of the prosecution but not every contradiction or omission. (See Rammi @ Rameshwar Vs. State of M.P., (1999) 8 SCC 649; Leela Ram (dead) through Duli Chand Vs. State of Haryana and Another, (1999) 9 SCC 525; Bihari Nath Goswami Vs. Shiv Kumar Singh & Ors., (2004) 9 SCC 186; Vijay @ Chinee Vs. State of Madhya Pradesh, (2010) 8 SCC 191; Sampath Kumar Vs. Inspector of Police, Krishnagiri, (2012) 4 SCC 124; Shyamal Ghosh Vs. State of West Bengal, (2012) 7 SCC 646 and Mritunjoy Biswas Vs. Pranab @ Kuti Biswas and Anr., (2013) 12 SCC 796).

37. It is also contended that there was no motive to commit the murder of the deceased by the appellants, even though the trial court has convicted the appellants. As per the F.I.R., there was enmity between both the parties relating to the election of the village Pradhan and that was the reason of the appellants to commit murder of the deceased, as stated by P.W. 1 during his examination before the court. Further it is settled legal proposition that even if there is absence of motive, as argued, that itself is of no consequence and it pales into insignificance when direct evidence establishes the crime. In case there is direct, trustworthy evidence of the witnesses as to commission of an offence, motive looses its significance and if genesis of the incident or motive of the occurrence is not proved, the ocular testimony of the witnesses as to the occurrence can not be discarded only on the ground of absence of motive if otherwise the evidence is worthy of reliance.

38. Last argument on the part of the learned counsel for the appellants is that the presence of P.W.1 at the place of occurrence is also disputed because he did not fix his presence in the F.I.R. and his statement before the trial court is nothing but an improvement of the other witnesses who as per the statement in the F.I.R. had seen the occurrence were not examined.

39. In this regard, it is noteworthy that in the written report given by P.W.1

himself, he did not mention of having witnessed accused persons firing at the deceased but wrote clearly that the incident was witnessed by his bua (aunt) Maunshree and Surajpal "इस घटना को मेरी बुआ मौनश्री व सूरजपाल ने देखा है ।" which infers that this witness himself had not seen the occurrence.

40. During his examination before the trial court, PW-1 projected himself as a witness of the incident. In the cross-examination, he stated that his brother was taking water when the accused persons came from the North side of the way. There was sound of fire which he heard. About the presence of PW-2, he stated that his mother Sheetla Devi (PW-2) was inside the house alongwith other family members such as his sister-in-law and wife with children. He then stated that when the appellants shot the deceased, all persons present there were disbursed and he alone was left there. He carried the deceased to his house who was alive at that time. When he carried his brother to some distance, his mother came and then both of them put the deceased on a cot. Thereafter, he went to Jindpur to the doctor who did not meet and then PW-2 stated that he went for arranging the vehicle to bring the doctor and when could not get the vehicle he came back from Jindpur which was around 1 KM from his village. When he came back, his brother had already died. He then stated that he put his brother in a tractor to take to the doctor and then saw he did not have pulse, so came back. His three uncles and brother were with him. Then police was called through telephone from the police station. The Station House Officer came on his own from somewhere. The incident was narrated to him and he noted it down. He went to lodge the first information report alongwith the Investigating Officer after the inquest was concluded and the body was sent for the postmortem. PW-1 stated that whatever was dictated by the Investigating Officer, he wrote the same. In this testimony, PW-1, stated that he was outside the gate of his house at the time of the incident and other witnesses were near the handpump. The mother of the deceased Sheetla Devi (PW-2) stated that at the time of the incident she came back from the tube well and reached inside the house. The incident had occurred at that point of time and she immediately returned back. In the same breath, PW-2 stated that she was standing at the gate and was waiting for the deceased to come back so that she could talk to him. PW-1 was also with her at the gate and then stated that at that time itself, the deceased was hit and she was standing facing towards the west.

41. The postmortem report indicates only one firearm injuries on the person of the deceased which means that only one fire was shot. In light of this medical evidence, when the testimony of PW-2 is examined, her version is that she having returned from the tube well, reached inside the house and then the incident had occurred and she immediately came back. According to PW-1, the accused persons immediately ran away having shot his brother. When PW-2, mother of the deceased was inside the house she could have come out hearing the sound of fire which was one only. In all probabilities, testing the version of PW-2, she did not witness the appellants accused opening fire at the deceased. Beyond that nothing has been stated by PW-2 on confrontation, in cross, about the presence of the accused appellants. Her statement in the examination-in-chief that the appellant Kripa Shanker Dubey came and fired at her son while she was standing at her gate could not be substantiated from her version in the cross-examination. Her statement in cross-examination is found to be inconsistent with the version of PW-2 in her examination-in-chief. It, thus, appears that PW-2 had reached at the place of the incident soon after the incident had occurred but she did not witness the incident i.e. the accused opening fire at the deceased or them being the assailants.

42. As a general rule, the Court can and may act on the testimony of a single eye witness provided he is wholly reliable. There is no legal impediment in convicting a person on the testimony of a solitary witness. That is the logic of Section 134 of the Evidence Act, 1872. As regards the PW-1, from his version that he wrote the written report at the dictation of the Investigating Officer and then went to the police station, non-mentioning of his name as a witness of the incident in the F.I.R. becomes relevant. PW-1, the informant, thus, remains a solitary witness of the incident.

43. The law of evidence does not require any particular principle of witness to be examined in proof of a given fact. However, faced with the testimony of a single witness, the Court may classify the oral testimony into three categories namely :- (i) wholly reliable; (ii) wholly unreliable; (iii) neither wholly reliable nor wholly unreliable.

44. In Vadivelu Dhevar vs. State of Madras AIR 1957 SC 614, while laying the principle of appreciation of testimony of solitary witness, as noted above, it was observed that in first two category there may be no difficulty in accepting or discarding the testimony of a single witness. The difficulty arises in the third category of cases. The Court has to be circumspect and has to look for corroboration in material particulars by reliable testimony, direct or circumstantial, before acting upon the testimony of a single witness.

45. In light of the above principle, when we examine the statement of PW-1 there are material improvement on the aspect of him being eye witness, coupled with the fact that first information report was found to be ante time and the presence of PW-1 on the spot was sought to be fixed by him for the first time during his deposition in the Court, when the report itself was scribed by him, the testimony of this witness would fall in the third category as this witness is neither wholly reliable nor wholly unreliable. We can neither place reliance nor totally discard the testimony of this witness. We find his testimony to have been substantially improved at the trial than what it was to began with when the first information report of the incident was lodged.

46. In the said scenario, we cannot, therefore, agree with the Sessions Court in accepting the evidence of P.W.2 as lending assurance to the testimony of P.W. 1 on the basis of which alone perhaps, the trial Court itself felt unsafe to convict the accused.

47. So far as the recovery of the country-made pistol is concerned, it was made by the Investigating Officer during the investigation at the time of arrest of accused persons from the Bus Stand near the tea stall on the basis of an information given by informer at about 21.25 o'clock. It has been proved by the P.W. 5, S.I. Manoj Kumar Pandey who made arrest and recovery, the place where-from appellants were arrested was a public place, a tea stall near the bus stand. Ext. Ka-6 site plan of the recovery shows that there were so many shops of tea, eggs and P.C.O. near the place of the arrest, where presence of people cannot be disputed at early hours in the night but no public witness was found by the arresting officer. It makes the recovery doubtful. Further it is noteworthy that the arrest of the accused person was made on 25.12.2005 after three days of the alleged incident of murder while they were allegedly carrying the same country-made pistol with used cartridge in its chamber and another cartridge in his pocket. It seems improbable that the culprit who is a named accused in the F.I.R. would carry the country-made pistol with used cartridge in its chamber after three days of committing murder with the same weapon. Even the police personnel accompanying him at the time of the arrest had not been examined. During the cross-examination, PW-5 expressed his inability to explain the orientation of the place of arrest and recovery. The recovery of country-made pistol and cartridge, as such, cannot be believed being beyond the shadow of reasonable doubt.

48. After having examined the entire evidence and considering the circumstances of the case at hand in totality, we are afraid to affirm the conviction on the oral testimony of the prosecution witnesses (PW-1 & PW-2) and to hold that the prosecution has established the charges against the accused persons beyond reasonable doubt. The benefit of reasonable doubt, therefore, has to go to the accused persons and they are liable to be acquitted of all the charges. The judgment and order of the Sessions Court convicting and sentencing the appellants is hereby set aside.

49. The appellant Kripa Shanker Dubey is in jail who shall be released from the detention forthwith, if not wanted in any other case.

50. Appellant Uma Shanker Dubey is on bail. He need not to surrender, his bail bonds are cancelled and sureties are discharged.

51. These appeals are, accordingly, allowed.

52. Copy of this judgment alongwith the original record be transmitted to the Court concerned for necessary compliance. A compliance report be sent to this Court within one month. The office is directed to keep the compliance report on record.

Counsel for the Opposite Party:

A. Criminal Law-Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973-Section 374(2) - Indian Penal Code, 1860-Sections 498-A, 304-B, 302/34 - ¾ Dowry Prohibition Act,1961-Challenge to-Conviction- dying declaration-deceased died due to septicemia caused by burn injuries-Statement of PW-1 & proves that the ingredient of 'soon before death' has not established at all- death caused by the accused was not premeditated-husband was not present at the time of incident-As per evidence of PW-1 and PW-2, On account of property dispute the deceased and her husband were kicked out by the in-laws -From the statement of PW-6, PW-7 it is clear that there was no tutoring in the whole process of the recording of the dying declaration-Trial court convicted the accused on the solitary evidence of dying declaration- the deceased died after three days of incident due to the poisonous infection developed in her burn injuries, hence it cannot be said that the deceased was murdered -Hence, the case falls within the ambit of Section 304 IPC and not under Section 302 IPC-The sentence of accused persons is reduced to the period of 10 years with remission-the period already undergone can be sustained in the full period of incarceration. (Para 1 to 53)

B. The law on the issue of dying declaration can be summarized to the effect that in case the court comes to the conclusion that the dying declaration is true and reliable, has been recorded by a person at a time when the deceased was fit physically and mentally to make the declaration and it has not been made under any tutoring, it can be the sole basis for recording conviction. In such an eventuality no corroboration is required. (Para 32)

C. While determining the quantum of sentence, the court should bear in mind the 'principle of proportionality'. Sentence should be based on facts of a given case. Gravity of offence, manner of commission of crime, age and sex of accused should be taken into consideration. Discretion of Court in awarding sentence cannot be exercised arbitrarily or whimisically.(Para 43 to 47)

The appeal is partly allowed. (E-6)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Nalin Kumar Srivastava, J.)

1. This criminal appeal is directed against the judgement and order dated 25.2.2014 and sentence dated 27.2.2014 passed by learned Additional Sessions Judge, Court No.6, Deoria in Sessions Trial No. 246 of 2010 arising out of Case Crime No. 221 of 2010 under Section 302 I.P.C., P.S.- Bhatparani, District- Deoria convicting and sentencing the appellant under Section 302 I.P.C. to undergo life imprisonment with a fine of Rs.20,000/- and in default of payment of fine further one year simple imprisonment.

2. The prosecution story as emerged out from the FIR is that Chandni, the sister of the informant was married with Rajan Gupta on 12.12.2006 but the husband was not satisfied with the dowry given in the marriage and always used to quarrel over that. On 8.6.2010, the informant came to know that the in-laws of the deceased had set ablaze his sister. On the next day when the informant went to the District Hospital, Deoria, he found his sister in a bitterly burnt condition and she told that her mother-in-law, Guddi Devi (Chacheri), father-in-law Shriprakash Gupta caught hold her and her mother-in-law Guddi Devi, sister-in-law Km. Rani and husband Rajan Gupta set her ablaze. The deceased (then injured) referred to the Medical College, Gorakhpur and during treatment she died on 12.6.2010. Subsequently FIR, Ex.Ka-3 was lodged on the written report Ex.Ka-1 on 16.6.2010 and G.D. Ex.Ka-4 was also prepared. The inquest of the deceased was performed and autopsy report was also prepared by Dr. Arvind Kumar Gupta, who found injuries as whole on the body of the deceased.

(i) Septic burn all over body except some part of abdomen and scalp. Superficial to deep first layer present at some place.

3. In the injury report the doctor also opined that the death was caused due to septic shock as a result of anti mortem burning. After completion of investigation charge sheet Ex.Ka-16 was submitted by the I.O against the Guddi Devi and Shriprakash Gupta, mother-in-law and father-in-law respectively of the deceased. The I.O. Inspected the spot and prepared site plan Ex.Ka-13, Inspection memo Ex.Ka-14 and submitted charge sheet Ex.Ka16 to the Court.

4. During the trial of the case accused Smt. Guddi Devi died and the case was abated against her.

5. The accused Shriprakash Gupta were charged under Section 498A, 304 B I.P.C. and Section 3/4 D.P. Act. He was also charged under Section 302/34 I.P.C. The accused denied of the charges and claimed to be tried.

6. The prosecution in order to prove its case in oral evidence has relied upon the testimonies of P.W.1 Santosh Kumar Gupta, the informant/ brother of the deceased, P.W.2 Urmila Devi, mother of the deceased, P.W.3 Cons. Kalicharan Yadav, the witness of the inquest, P.W.4 Head Moharir Veer Bahadur Yadav scribe of the FIR, P.W.5 S.I. Amarjeet Singh Yadav, witness of the inquest, P.W.6 Gulab Singh, retired Nayab Tehsildar, witness of the dying declaration and P.W.7 Dr. Arvind Kumar Gupta, who performed autopsy of the deceased.

7. The prosecution also relied upon documentary evidence and written report Ex.Ka-1, panchayatnama Ex.Ka-2, Chick FIR Ex.Ka-3, Kayami Rapat Ex.Ka-4, papers prepared for the purpose of autopsy as Ex.Ka-5, Ex.Ka-6, Ex.Ka-7, Ex.Ka-8, Ex.Ka-9, Ex.Ka-10, photo nash Ex.Ka-11, dying declaration Ex.Ka-12, site plan Ex.Ka-13, inspection memo Ex.Ka-14, arresting memo Ex.Ka-15 and charge sheet Ex.Ka-16.

8. It is pertinent to mention here that the genuineness of the site plan and charge sheet has been admitted by the defence side, hence the I.O. was not examined during the trial. In his statement under Section 313 Cr.P.C., the accused stated that he has been falsely implicated. The dying declaration is a forged document and the total incident is false. It has also been stated that at the time of the incident, the husband of the deceased Rajan Gupta had gone to the market. When the information of burning was given to him he brought the injured to District Hospital, Deoria and subsequently to the Medical College, Gorakhpur where she was admitted and during treatment she was died. The cremation was also performed by her husband Rajan Gupta. The charge sheet has been filed without any evidence on false grounds and it was not a case of homicidal or dowry death. However, no defence evidence has been adduced by the convict/ appellant.

9. The trial Court after considering the entire evidence on record, recorded the acquittal of the convict/ appellant Shriprakash. Gupta under Section 498A, 304B and 3/4 D.P. Act and at the same time recorded his conviction under Section 302 I.P.C. and sentenced him for life imprisonment and a fine to the tune of Rs.20,000/-

10. Being aggrieved and dissatisfied with the aforesaid judgement and order passed by the learned trial Court, the appellant has preferred the present appeal.

11. Heard Shri Naushad Ahmad Siddiqui, learned counsel for the appellant and Shri N.K. Srivastava, learned A.G.A. for the State.

12. Learned counsel for the appellant has submitted that no offence as alleged has been committed by the accused. It is further submitted that the accused had no motive to do away with the deceased and that the death of the deceased was due to medical negligence and occurred was after a considerable period of time from the date of commission of occurrence.

13. It has been vehemently argued by learned A.G.A. for the State that the offence alleged is gruesome and is conclusively proved by dying declaration. Learned counsel has taken us through the evidence on record. He further submitted that life imprisonment awarded to the accused in the facts and circumstances of the case was the only punishment which could be awarded to the accused-appellant and requested for dismissal of appeal.

14. Before we start considering the evidence which we are not elaborately discussing, the reason being it is proved conclusively that the accused has caused injuries to the deceased and set her ablaze which was primarily responsible for her death. The alternative prayer about lesser punishment is to be considered.

15. After perusal of the impugned judgement, we find that the learned trial Court was not convinced as to the ingredients of Section 304B of Indian Penal Code and fully establishing in the present case on appreciation of the evidence of P.W.1 and P.W.2, who happened to be the brother and mother of the deceased respectively. The trial Court has opined that the ingredients of Section 304B, 498A I.P.C. and Section 3/4 Dowry Prohibition Act were not established. The impugned judgement leads us towards the definition of Section 304B I.P.C. Necessary ingredients of the offence of dowry death under Section 304B I.P.C. reads as follows:

304B. Dowry death.--

(1) Where the death of a woman is caused by any burns or bodily injury or occurs otherwise than under normal circumstances within seven years of her marriage and it is shown that soon before her death she was subjected to cruelty or harassment by her husband or any relative of her husband for, or in connection with, any demand for dowry, such death shall be called "dowry death", and such husband or relative shall be deemed to have caused her death. Explanation.--For the purpose of this sub-section, "dowry" shall have the same meaning as in section 2 of the Dowry Prohibition Act, 1961 (28 of 1961).

(2) Whoever commits dowry death shall be punished with imprisonment for a term which shall not be less than seven years but which may extend to imprisonment for life.]

16. From the above definition the following ingredients to establish the offence under Section 304B I.P.C. are follows:

(i) the death of a woman must have been caused by burns or bodily injury or otherwise than under normal circumstances;

(ii) such death must have occurred within seven years of her marriage;

(iii) soon before her death, the woman must have been subjected to cruelty or harassment by her husband or any relatives of her husband;

(iv) such cruelty or harassment must be for, or in connection with, demand for dowry".

17. The aforesaid ingredients have been reiterated in a catena of decisions of the Hon'ble Apex Court and of this High Court also and very recently in Devendra Singh Vs. State of Uttrakhand AIR 2022 SC 2965 also.

18. We have gone through the evidence of P.W.1 and P.W.2 and find that although the factum of demand of dowry and harassment caused to the deceased finds place in their deposition but they have made only general allegations against all the in-laws of the deceased and no specific role of any of the in-laws including the present accused has been stated in their entire testimony. The trial court considering the aforesaid deposition has also held that no case is made out against the accused under Section 498A I.P.C. and Section 3/4 D.P. Act. So far as the offence under Section 304B I.P.C. is concerned the essential ingredients of 'soon before' does not find place any where in the respective testimonies of P.W.1 and P.W.2.

19. The phrase 'soon before' has not been defined any where in the Indian Penal Code rather it has been explained in a catena of decisions of the Hon'ble Apex Court and of this Court.

20. In Mustafa Shahdal Shaikh Vs. State of Maharashtra, AIR 2013 SC 851, the Hon'ble Apex Court held that "Soon before her death' means interval between cruelty and death should not be much. There must be existence of a proximate and live links between the effect of cruelty based on dowry demand and the concerned death. If the alleged incident of cruelty is remote in time and has become state enough not to disturb the mental equilibrium of the woman concerned, it would be of no consequence.

21. Also in Kaliyaperumal Vs. State of Tamil Nadu AIR 2003 SC 3828, the Hon'ble Apex Court held that " The expression "soon before her death' used in the substantive section 304B, I.P.C. and Section 113B of the Evidence Act is present with the idea of proximity text. No definite period has been indicated and the expression "soon before her death' is not defined. The determination of the period which can come within the term " soon before' is left to be determined by the courts, depending upon facts and circumstances of each case. Suffice, however, to indicate that the expression' soon before would normally imply that the interval should not be much between the concerned cruelty or harassment and the death in question. There must be existence of a proximate and live-link between the effect of cruelty based on dowry demand and the concerned death. If alleged incident of cruelty is remote in time and has become stale enough not to disturb mental equilibrium of woman concerned, it would be of no consequence.

22. The trial Court has come to the conclusion that since the essential ingredient of 'soon before' is also absent in the testimonies of the witnesses, the death occurred of the deceased cannot be termed as dowry death in the facts and circumstances of this case. It is to be noted here that the formal evidence adduced by the prosecution support the prosecution case in many aspects. P.W.4 Head Moharrir Veer Bahadur Yadav has fully proved the Chick FIR and G.D. of the case as Ex.Ka-3 and Ka-4 and has stated that the FIR was lodged on the basis of the application given by the informant Santosh Kumar, which has been proved by the informant P.W.1 Santosh Kumar as Ex.Ka-1. Like wise the performance of inquest has been proved by Constable Kalicharan P.W.3 and also by P.W.5 S.I. Amarjeet Singh Yadav. P.W.5 has also proved the papers prepared for the purpose of autopsy as Ex.Ka-5, Ex.Ka-6, Ex.Ka-7, Ex.Ka-8, Ex.Ka-9 and Ex.Ka-10. Both the witnesses have also proved that the inquest was performed on 13.6.2010 at the mortuary house of the B.R.D. Medical College, Gorakhpur.

23. P.W.7 Dr. Arvind Kumar Gupta has performed the autopsy of the deceased and he has proved the autopsy report as Ex.Ka-12 and has found that the death of the deceased was caused due to septic shock as a result of anti mortem burning . The post mortem has been conducted on 13.6.2010 and the deceased died on 12.6.2010.

24. The learned trial Court has relied upon the dying declaration of the deceased (then injured) recorded by P.W.6 retired Nayab Tehsildar Gulab Singh.

25. P.W.6 in his deposition has stated that by order of S.D.M. Sadar, Deoria he had recorded the dying declaration of Chandni Devi on 9.6.2010 in the female ward of District Hospital, Deoria. He has proved the dying declaration as Ex.Ka-11 and has also stated that the dying declaration was prepared by him in his own hand writing and signature.

26. The deceased (then injured) in her dying declaration has stated like this

"मैं बयान करती हूँ कि मेरी उम्र 23 वर्ष है मेरे दो बच्चे हैं। मेरे सासु व ससुर जलाये है। मेरे उपर मिट्टी का तेल छिड़क कर जलाये तथा मारे पीटे है मेरे पति गाड़ी से लेकर अस्पताल लेकर देवरिया आये अस्पताल भर्ती कराये। मेरे सासु ससुर मुझे व मेरे पति को घर से निकाल रहे हैं कहते हैं तुम लोगों का हक हिस्सा नहीं है। भसुर मेरा ठीक है। केवल मेरे सासु ससुर ही बदमाश है वही जलाये हैं बयान सुनकर तस्दीक किया।"

27. P.W.6 in his testimony has stated that the thumb impression of Chandni Gupta was taken over the dying declaration. He has also clarified that at the time of statement, the victim was bitterly burnt but was in a condition to make statement. He had orally taken permission from the doctor concerned who had told him that the victim is in a condition to make statement. He has further stated that the statement of the victim was verified by the duty doctor.

28. The trial Court has examined the veracity of the dying declaration Ex.Ka-11 in detail in the impugned judgement. From the perusal of the whole deposition of P.W.6, we do not find any adversity in his statement. The learned trial Court has made the dying declaration to be the sole basis of the conviction in the facts and circumstances of the present case. We are duty bound to examine the legal position of the dying declaration. The dying declaration to be the sole basis of the conviction.

29. Legal position of dying declaration to be the sole basis of conviction is that it can be done so if it is not tutored, made voluntarily and is wholly reliable. In this regard, Hon'ble Apex Court has summarized the law regarding dying declaration in Lakhan vs. State of Madhya Pradesh [(2010) 8 Supreme Court Cases 514], in this case, Hon'ble Apex Court held that the doctrine of dying declaration is enshrined in the legal maxim nemo moriturus praesumitur mentire, which means, "a man will not meet his Maker with a lie in his mouth". The doctrine of dying declaration is enshrined in Section 32 of Evidence Act, 1872, as an exception to the general rule contained in Section 60 of Evidence Act, which provides that oral evidence in all cases must be direct, i.e., it must be the evidence of a witness, who says he saw it. The dying declaration is, in fact, the statement of a person, who cannot be called as witness and, therefore, cannot be cross-examined. Such statements themselves are relevant facts in certain cases.

30. The law on the issue of dying declaration can be summarized to the effect that in case the court comes to the conclusion that the dying declaration is true and reliable, has been recorded by a person at a time when the deceased was fit physically and mentally to make the declaration and it has not been made under any tutoring/duress/prompting; it can be the sole basis for recording conviction. In such an eventuality no corroboration is required. It is also held by Hon'ble Apex Court in the aforesaid case, that a dying declaration recorded by a competent Magistrate would stand on a much higher footing than the declaration recorded by office of lower rank, for the reason that the competent Magistrate has no axe to grind against the person named in the dying declaration of the victim.

31. P.W.6 is absolutely independent witness. In the wake of aforesaid judgment of Lakhan (supra), dying declaration cannot be disbelieved, if it inspires confidence. On reliability of dying declaration and acting on it without corroboration, Hon'ble Apex Court held in Krishan vs. State of Haryana [(2013) 3 Supreme Court Cases 280] that it is not an absolute principle of law that a dying declaration cannot form the sole basis of conviction of an accused. Where the dying declaration is true and correct, the attendant circumstances show it to be reliable and it has been recorded in accordance with law, the deceased made the dying declaration of her own accord and upon due certification by the doctor with regard to the state of mind and body, then it may not be necessary for the court to look for corroboration. In such cases, the dying declaration alone can form the basis for the conviction of the accused. Hence, in order to pass the test reliability, a dying declaration has to be subjected to a very close scrutiny, keeping in view the fact that the statement has been made in the absence of the accused, who had no opportunity of testing the veracity of the statement by cross-examination. But once, the court has come to the conclusion that the dying declaration was the truthful version as to the circumstance of the death and the assailants of the victim, there is no question of further corroboration.

32. In Ramilaben Hasmukhbhai Khristi vs. State of Gujarat, [(2002) 7 SCC 56], the Hon'ble Apex Court held that under the law, dying declaration can form the sole basis of conviction, if it is free from any kind of doubt and it has been recorded in the manner as provided under the law. It may not be necessary to look for corroboration of the dying declaration. As envisaged, a dying declaration is generally to be recorded by an Executive Magistrate with the certificate of a medical doctor about the mental fitness of the declarant to make the statement. It may be in the from of question and answer and the answers be written in the words of the person making the declaration. But the court cannot be too technical and in substance if it feels convinced about the trustworthiness of the statement which may inspire confidence such a dying declaration can be acted upon without any corroboration.

33. In the present case though the certificate of the doctor was oral, and not in written form but this fact cannot be ignored that P.W.6 has recorded the statement on the instructions of S.D.M. Sadar in his official capacity and he had no grudge or enmity with the accused.

34. There is no possibility of false implication of the accused by this independent witness.

35. From the above precedents, it clearly emerges that it is not an absolute principle of law that a dying declaration cannot form the sole basis of conviction of an accused when such dying declaration is true, reliable and has been recorded in accordance with established practice and principles and if it is recorded so then there cannot be any challenge regarding its correctness and authenticity.

36. In context of the dying deceleration of the deceased, it is also relevant to note that deceased died after three days of recording it. It means that she remained alive for three days after making dying declaration, therefore, truthfulness of dying declaration can further be evaluated from the fact that she survived for three days after making it from which it can reasonably be inferred that she was in a fit mental condition to make the statement at the relevant time.

37. Thus, the dying declaration in this case is a trust worthy, cogent, reliable and innocent peace of evidence, which has correctly been relied upon by the trial Court.

38. However, the question which falls for our consideration is whether, on reappraisal of the peculiar facts and circumstances of the case, the conviction of the appellant under Section 302 of I.P.C. should be upheld or the conviction deserves to be converted under Section 304 Part-I or Part-II of the Indian Penal Code. It would be relevant to refer Section 299 of the Indian Penal Code, which reads as under:

"299. Culpable homicide: Whoever causes death by doing an act with the intention of causing death, or with the intention of causing such bodily injury as is likely to cause death, or with the knowledge that he is likely by such act to cause death, commits the offence of culpable homicide."

39. The academic distinction between "murder' and "culpable homicide not amounting to murder' has always vexed the Courts. The confusion is caused, if Courts losing sight of the true scope and meaning of the terms used by the legislature in these sections, allow themselves to be drawn into minute abstractions. The safest way of approach to the interpretation and application of these provisions seems to be to keep in focus the keywords used in the various clauses of Section 299 and 300 of I.P.Code. The following comparative table will be helpful in appreciating the points of distinction between the two offences.

Section 299	Section 300
A person commits culpable homicide if the act by which the death is caused is done-	Subject to certain exceptions culpable homicide is murder is the act by which the death is caused is done.
INTENTION
(a) with the intention of causing death; or	(1) with the intention of causing death; or
(b) with the intention of causing such bodily injury as is likely to cause death; or	(2) with the intention of causing such bodily injury as the offender knows to be likely to cause the death of the person to whom the harm is caused;
KNOWLEDGE	KNOWLEDGE
(c) with the knowledge that the act is likely to cause death.	(4) with the knowledge that the act is so immediately dangerous that it must in all probability cause death or such bodily injury as is likely to cause death, and without any excuse for incurring the risk of causing death or such injury as is mentioned above.

40. From the upshot of the aforesaid discussions, it appears that the death was caused by the accused in unison and it was a homicidal death whether the same was not premeditated or premeditated will have to be seen. From perusal of the dying declaration itself, it is evident that the crime was committed due to the property dispute. It transpires from the evidence of P.W.1 and P.W.2 that on account of property dispute the deceased and her husband were kicked out by the in-laws of the deceased from their house. Under these circumstance, it can be concluded that though the injuries over the body of the deceased were sufficient in the ordinary course of nature to have caused death, the accused had no intention to do away with the deceased, hence the instant case falls under the Exceptions 1 and 4 to Section 300 of IPC. While considering Section 299 as reproduced herein above offence committed will fall under Section 304 Part-I as per the observations of the Apex Court in Veeran and others Vs. State of M.P. Decided, (2011) 5 SCR 300 which have to be also kept in mind.

41. On overall scrutiny of the facts and circumstances of the present case coupled with the opinion of the Medical Officer and considering the principle laid down by the Apex Court in the Case of Tukaram and Ors Vs. State of Maharashtra, reported in (2011) 4 SCC 250 and in the case of B.N. Kavatakar and Another Vs. State of Karnataka, reported in 1994 SUPP (1) SCC 304, we are of the considered opinion that the offence would be one punishable under Section 304 part-I of the IPC. The deceased no doubt as per the the opinion of the doctor, has died due to septic shock.

42. In Mohd. Giasuddin Vs. State of AP, [AIR 1977 SC 1926], explaining rehabilitary & reformative aspects in sentencing it has been observed by the Supreme Court:

"Crime is a pathological aberration. The criminal can ordinarily be redeemed and the state has to rehabilitate rather than avenge. The sub-culture that leads to ante-social behaviour has to be countered not by undue cruelty but by reculturization. Therefore, the focus of interest in penology in the individual and the goal is salvaging him for the society. The infliction of harsh and savage punishment is thus a relic of past and regressive times. The human today vies sentencing as a process of reshaping a person who has deteriorated into criminality and the modern community has a primary stake in the rehabilitation of the offender as a means of a social defence. Hence a therapeutic, rather than an 'in terrorem' outlook should prevail in our criminal courts, since brutal incarceration of the person merely produces laceration of his mind. If you are to punish a man retributively, you must injure him. If you are to reform him, you must improve him and, men are not improved by injuries."

43. 'Proper Sentence' was explained in Deo Narain Mandal vs. State of UP [(2004) 7 SCC 257] by observing that Sentence should not be either excessively harsh or ridiculously low. While determining the quantum of sentence, the court should bear in mind the 'principle of proportionality'. Sentence should be based on facts of a given case. Gravity of offence, manner of commission of crime, age and sex of accused should be taken into account. Discretion of Court in awarding sentence cannot be exercised arbitrarily or whimsically.

44. In Ravada Sasikala vs. State of A.P. AIR 2017 SC 1166, the Supreme Court referred the judgments in Jameel vs State of UP [(2010) 12 SCC 532], Guru Basavraj vs State of Karnatak, [(2012) 8 SCC 734], Sumer Singh vs Surajbhan Singh, [(2014) 7 SCC 323], State of Punjab vs Bawa Singh, [(2015) 3 SCC 441], and Raj Bala vs State of Haryana, [(2016) 1 SCC 463] and has reiterated that, in operating the sentencing system, law should adopt corrective machinery or deterrence based on factual matrix. Facts and given circumstances in each case, nature of crime, manner in which it was planned and committed, motive for commission of crime, conduct of accused, nature of weapons used and all other attending circumstances are relevant facts which would enter into area of consideration. Further, undue sympathy in sentencing would do more harm to justice dispensations and would undermine the public confidence in the efficacy of law. It is the duty of every court to award proper sentence having regard to nature of offence and manner of its commission. The supreme court further said that courts must not only keep in view the right of victim of crime but also society at large. While considering imposition of appropriate punishment, the impact of crime on the society as a whole and rule of law needs to be balanced. The judicial trend in the country has been towards striking a balance between reform and punishment. The protection of society and stamping out criminal proclivity must be the object of law which can be achieved by imposing appropriate sentence on criminals and wrongdoers. Law, as a tool to maintain order and peace, should effectively meet challenges confronting the society, as society could not long endure and develop under serious threats of crime and disharmony. It is therefore, necessary to avoid undue leniency in imposition of sentence. Thus, the criminal justice jurisprudence adopted in the country is not retributive but reformative and corrective. At the same time, undue harshness should also be avoided keeping in view the reformative approach underlying in our criminal justice system.

45. Keeping in view the facts and circumstances of the case and also keeping in view criminal jurisprudence in our country which is reformative and corrective and not retributive, this Court considers that no accused person is incapable of being reformed and therefore, all measures should be applied to give them an opportunity of reformation in order to bring them in the social stream.

46. During course of argument, learned counsel for the appellant has made an alternative prayer for reduction of the sentence and has submitted that the sentence of life imprisonment awarded to the appellant by the trial Court is very harsh. He has also submitted that the appellant is languishing in jail for the past more than 10 years and at present he is aged about 70 years and the co-accused, the mother-in-law of the deceased died during the course of trial itself. Hence a prayer has been made to reduce the sentence of the convict to 10 years.

47. As discussed above, 'reformative theory of punishment' is to be adopted and for that reason, it is necessary to impose punishment keeping in view the 'doctrine of proportionality'. It appears from perusal of impugned judgment that sentence awarded by learned trial court for life term is very harsh keeping in view the entirety of facts and circumstances of the case and gravity of offence. Hon'ble Apex Court, as discussed above, has held that undue harshness should be avoided taking into account the reformative approach underlying in criminal justice system.

48. We are unable to agree with the submission of learned learned A.G.A. as far as it relates to the finding of the court below that the death was a premeditated murder and falls within provisions of Section 300 of IPC and the sentence under Section 302 IPC is just and proper. The reason for the same is that the deceased did not die an insistence death; had it been a premeditated murder, the injuries on the body would have caused her immediate death.

49. One more glaring fact is that from the record of the medical papers it is evident that the deceased survived for four days. She was admitted in Medical College, Gorakhpur and thereafter she developed fissure and later on during treatment, she breathed her last due to septicemia. Though we concur with learned Trial Judge that the death was homicidal death we are unable to accept the submission of Sri Vikas Goswami, learned A.G.A.

50. The judgment of the Apex Court in State of Uttar Pradesh Vs. Subhash @ Pappu (supra) and Khokan @ Khokhan Vishwas Vs. State of Chhattisgarh (supra) will ensure for the benefit for the accused-appellant as the death occurred after four days of the occurrence, was not premeditated.

51. We come to the definite conclusion that the death was due to septicemia. The judgments cited by the learned counsel for the appellant would permit us to uphold our finding which we conclusively hold that the offence is not under Section 302 of I.P.C. but is culpable homicide.

52. The accused is in jail for more than 10 years. The Apex Court in such cases has converted the conviction under Section 302 of I.P.C. to Section 304 Part I of I.P.C. which will come to the aid of the accused.

53. In view of the aforementioned discussion, we are of the view that the appeal has to be partly allowed, hence, appeal is partly allowed.

54. The conviction of the appellant under Section 302 of Indian Penal Code is converted to conviction under Section 304 (Part-I) of Indian Penal Code and the appellant is sentenced to undergo 10 years of incarceration with remission but the fine and default sentence are maintained.

55. The convict- appellant shall be released on completion of said period, if not required in any other case. The judgement and order impugned in this appeal shall stand modified accordingly.

A. Criminal Law-Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973-Section 374(2) - Indian Penal Code, 1860-Sections 302/34-Challenge to-Conviction-Murder-No premeditation-incident occurred at the spur of moment-accused though had knowledge and intention that his act would cause bodily harm but did not want to do away with the deceased-Hence, the instant case falls under the Exception 1 and 4 to Section 300 of IPC-Therefore, by adopting reformative theory of punishment, the accused are convicted for the offence punishable u/s 304 Part I of IPC.(Para 1 to 30)

B. The infliction of harsh and savage punishment is thus a relic of past and regressive times. 18. Sumer Singh Vs Surajbhan Singh (2014) 7 SCC 323

19. St. of Punj. Vs Bawa Singh (2015) 3 SCC 441

20. Raj Bala Vs St. of Har. (2016) 1 SCC 463

(Delivered by Hon'ble Kaushal Jayendra Thaker, J.)

1. Both these appeals arise out of common judgment and order dated 25.2.2012 passed by the Additional Sessions Judge, Court No.4, Jalaun, in Sessions Trial No.280 of 2009 whereby the learned Additional Sessions Judge has convicted the accused-appellants, Babloo Kori alias Santosh Kumar and Manish Kori for commission of offence under Section 302 read with Section 34 of Indian Penal Code, 1860 (for short 'IPC') and sentenced them to undergo imprisonment for life with fine of Rs.20,000/- and in case of default in payment of fine, further to undergo one year simple imprisonment.

2. The matter was kept for pronouncement of judgment on 14.9.2022, but due to paucity of time, the judgment could not be pronounced on the said date.

3. Heard Sri Raj Kumar Sharma, learned counsel for the accused-appellants and learned A.G.A. for the State.

4. Brief facts as culled out from the record are that on 19.10.2009, F.I.R. being Case Crime No. 1657 of 2009 came to be lodged with Police Station Kotwali, Orai District Jalaun on the basis of the complaint made by one Amar Singh Chauhan, the father of the deceased stating that on the same day at about 7.30 p.m., accused-appellant, Babloo Kori had called out his son-Sardar Singh, alias Lalla Singh (deceased) from his house and near the house of Brij Mohan where accused-appellant-Manish Kori and two unknown persons were already present. Two persons were holding the hand of his son and Babloo Kori was beating his son with iron rod in his hand. It was also alleged in the complaint that accused-appellant Manish Kori was also beating the deceased on his head and hand by iron rod in his hand. Persons who were holding the hand of the deceased were shouting "Don't let him escape, kill him". It was also alleged by the informant that the Kapil Singh, son of the deceased, had seen the accused-appellant Babloo Kori calling his father out and Veer Singh, brother of the deceased, had seen the deceased being beaten by accused-appellants, Babloo Kori and Manish Kori and other two unknown persons. On hearing the shouting of the informant and Veer Singh, the accused-persons had fled away. Beer Singh, brother of the deceased, got Sardar Singh alias Lalla Singh admitted in the hospital where he died during treatment.

5. Initially the First Information Report was registered under Section 304 of IPC but after investigation and recording of statements of all the witnesses charge-sheet was submitted by the Investigation Officer to the learned Magistrate under Section 302 read with Section 34 of Indian Penal Code against the accused-appellants and two other accused-persons.

6. The learned Magistrate summoned the accused and committed the case to the Sessions Court as the offences alleged to have been committed were triable by the Sessions Court.

7. On being summoned, the accused-persons pleaded not guilty and wanted to be tried.

8. On 5.11.2009, the charges were framed under Section 302 read with Section 34 of IPC by learned Sessions Judge.

9. The Trial started and the prosecution examined 11 witnesses who are as follows:

1	Amar Singh Chauhan	PW1
2	Veer Singh	PW2
3	Dr. Shrikant Tiwari	PW3
4	Hansharam	PW4
5	Arun Prakash Singh	PW5
6	Subhash Chandra	PW6
7	Anil Kumar Verma	PW7

10. In support of ocular version following documents were filed and proved:

1	F.I.R. & G.D.	Ex.Ka.11 & Ex. Ka.21
2	Written Report	Ex.Ka.1
3	Recovery memos	Ex. Ka.14, Ka.15, Ka.16 & Ka.18
4	Postmortem Report	Ex.Ka.2
5	Panchayatnama	Ex.Ka.8
6	Charge-sheet	Ex.Ka.20
7	Site Plan	Ex.Ka.13 & 17

11. Apart from the above, Sheelbhadra Gautam and Kanhaiya Lal were examined as Court witness. At the end of the trial and after recording the statements of the accused under section 313 of Cr.P.C., and hearing arguments on behalf of prosecution and the defence, the learned Sessions Judge convicted the accused-appellants, Babloo Kori alias Santosh Kumar and Manish Kori and acquitted the other two accused as mentioned above.

12. It is submitted by learned counsel for the appellant that the incident occurred at the spur of moment and the accused had not premeditated to do away with the deceased.

13. In support of his arguments, learned counsel for the appellants has relied on the decisions in Didar Singh versus State of Haryana, 1992 (2) Crimes 308 SC, Baldev Singh & another versus State of Punjal, 1995 SCC (6) 593, Mer Dhana Sida versus State of Gujarat, AIR 1985 SC 386, Dalip Singh versus State of Haryana, AIR 1993 SC 2302, Ashiq Lal versus State of U.P., 1998 of CrLJ 1972.

14. It is further submitted that conviction under Section 302 IPC is not made out as no overt act as per Section 300 IPC is made out. In alternative, it is submitted that at the most, the death can be homicidal death not amounting to murder and punishable under Section 304 II or Section 304 I of I.P.C. If the Court decides that the accused is guilty under Section 302 of IPC, then the accused may be granted fixed term punishment of incarceration as accused are in jail for more than 14 years with remission.

15. Learned A.G.A. has submitted that ingredients of Section 300 of IPC are rightly held to be made out by the learned Sessions Judge who has applied the law to the facts in case. It is submitted that the decision of the learned Sessions Judge is just and proper and does not call for any interference/modification as both the accused-appellants have direct role assigned to kill the deceased by beating him with iron rods.

16. While considering the evidence of P.W.1 to P.W.5 in cumulative nature, the death can be said to be homicidal death. Postmortem report goes to show that the injuries on the body of the deceased would be the cause of death and that it was was homicidal death.

17. We are convinced that it was homicidal death but, it would be seen whether it is homicidal death punishable under Section 302 or Section 304 Part I or Part II of IPC?

18. It would be relevant to refer to Section 299 of the Indian Penal Code, which read as under:

"299. Culpable homicide: Whoever causes death by doing an act with the intention of causing death, or with the intention of causing such bodily injury as is likely to cause death, or with the knowledge that he is likely by such act to cause death, commits the offence of culpable homicide."

19. The academic distinction between "murder' and "culpable homicide not amounting to murder' has always vexed the Courts. The confusion is caused, if Courts loose sight of the true scope and meaning of the terms used by the legislature in these sections, and allow themselves to be drawn into minute abstractions. The safest way of approach to the interpretation and application of these provisions seems to be is to keep in focus the keywords used in the various clauses of Section 299 and 300 of I.P.Code. The following comparative table will be helpful in appreciating the points of distinction between the two offences.

Section 299	Section 300
A person commits culpable homicide if the act by which the death is caused is done-	Subject to certain exceptions culpable homicide is murder is the act by which the death is caused is done.
INTENTION
(a) with the intention of causing death; or	(1) with the intention of causing death; or
(b) with the intention of causing such bodily injury as is likely to cause death; or	(2) with the intention of causing such bodily injury as the offender knows to be likely to cause the death of the person to whom the harm is caused;
KNOWLEDGE	KNOWLEDGE
(c) with the knowledge that the act is likely to cause death.	(4) with the knowledge that the act is so immediately dangerous that it must in all probability cause death or such bodily injury as is likely to cause death, and without any excuse for incurring the risk of causing death or such injury as is mentioned above.

20. In latest decision in Khokan@ Khokhan Vishwas v. State of Chattisgarh, 2021 LawSuit (SC) 80, where the facts were similar to this case, the Apex Court has allowed the appeal of the accused appellant and altered the sentence. The decision of the Apex Court in the case of Anversinh v. State of Gujarat, (2021) 3 SCC 12 which was related to kidnapping from legal guardian, wherein it was established that the Court while respecting the concerns of both society and victim, propounded that the twin principle of deterrence and correction would be served by reducing the period of incarceration already undergone by the accused. In our case, this is not that gruesome matter where the accused cannot be dealt with in light of all these judgments. Decisions in Pravat Chandra Mohanty v. State of Odisha, (2021) 3 SCC 529 & Pardeshiram v. State of M.P., (2021) 3 SCC 238 will also enure for the benefit of the accused.

21. On overall scrutiny of the facts and circumstances of the present case coupled with the opinion of the Medical Officer and considering the principle laid down by the Apex Court in the Case of Tukaram and Ors Vs. State of Maharashtra, reported in (2011) 4 SCC 250 and in the case of B.N. Kavatakar and Another Vs. State of Karnataka, reported in 1994 SUPP (1) SCC 304, we are of the considered opinion that it was a case of homicidal death not amounting to murder.

22. From the upshot of the aforesaid discussions, it appears that the death caused by the accused was not premeditated, accused though had knowledge and intention that her act would cause bodily harm to the deceased but did not want to do away with the deceased. Hence the instant case falls under the Exceptions 1 and 4 to Section 300 of IPC. While considering Section 299 as reproduced herein above offence committed will fall under Section 304 Part-I as per the observations of the Apex Court in Veeran and others Vs. State of M.P. Decided, (2011) 5 SCR 300 which have to be also kept in mind.

23. We come to the definite conclusion that the death was not premeditated. The precedents discussed by us would permit us to uphold our finding which we conclusively hold that the offence is not punishable under Section 302 of I.P.C. but is culpable homicide not amounting to murder, punishable U/s 304 (Part I) of I.P.C.

24. This takes us to the alternative submission of learned counsel for the appellant that the quantum of sentence is too harsh and requires to be modified. In this regard, we have to analyse the theory of punishment prevailing in India.

25. In Mohd. Giasuddin Vs. State of AP, [AIR 1977 SC 1926], explaining rehabilitary & reformative aspects in sentencing it has been observed by the Supreme Court:

"Crime is a pathological aberration. The criminal can ordinarily be redeemed and the state has to rehabilitate rather than avenge. The sub-culture that leads to ante-social behaviour has to be countered not by undue cruelty but by reculturization. Therefore, the focus of interest in penology in the individual and the goal is salvaging him for the society. The infliction of harsh and savage punishment is thus a relic of past and regressive times. The human today vies sentencing as a process of reshaping a person who has deteriorated into criminality and the modern community has a primary stake in the rehabilitation of the offender as a means of a social defence. Hence a therapeutic, rather than an 'in terrorem' outlook should prevail in our criminal courts, since brutal incarceration of the person merely produces laceration of his mind. If you are to punish a man retributively, you must injure him. If you are to reform him, you must improve him and, men are not improved by injuries."

26. 'Proper Sentence' was explained in Deo Narain Mandal Vs. State of UP [(2004) 7 SCC 257] by observing that Sentence should not be either excessively harsh or ridiculously low. While determining the quantum of sentence, the court should bear in mind the 'principle of proportionality'. Sentence should be based on facts of a given case. Gravity of offence, manner of commission of crime, age and sex of accused should be taken into account. Discretion of Court in awarding sentence cannot be exercised arbitrarily or whimsically.

27. In Ravada Sasikala vs. State of A.P. AIR 2017 SC 1166, the Supreme Court referred the judgments in Jameel vs State of UP [(2010) 12 SCC 532], Guru Basavraj vs State of Karnatak, [(2012) 8 SCC 734], Sumer Singh vs Surajbhan Singh, [(2014) 7 SCC 323], State of Punjab vs Bawa Singh, [(2015) 3 SCC 441], and Raj Bala vs State of Haryana, [(2016) 1 SCC 463] and has reiterated that, in operating the sentencing system, law should adopt corrective machinery or deterrence based on factual matrix. Facts and given circumstances in each case, nature of crime, manner in which it was planned and committed, motive for commission of crime, conduct of accused, nature of weapons used and all other attending circumstances are relevant facts which would enter into area of consideration. Further, undue sympathy in sentencing would do more harm to justice dispensations and would undermine the public confidence in the efficacy of law. It is the duty of every court to award proper sentence having regard to nature of offence and manner of its commission. The supreme court further said that courts must not only keep in view the right of victim of crime but also society at large. While considering imposition of appropriate punishment, the impact of crime on the society as a whole and rule of law needs to be balanced. The judicial trend in the country has been towards striking a balance between reform and punishment. The protection of society and stamping out criminal proclivity must be the object of law which can be achieved by imposing appropriate sentence on criminals and wrongdoers. Law, as a tool to maintain order and peace, should effectively meet challenges confronting the society, as society could not long endure and develop under serious threats of crime and disharmony. It is therefore, necessary to avoid undue leniency in imposition of sentence. Thus, the criminal justice jurisprudence adopted in the country is not retributive but reformative and corrective. At the same time, undue harshness should also be avoided keeping in view the reformative approach underlying in our criminal justice system.

28. Keeping in view the facts and circumstances of the case and also keeping in view criminal jurisprudence in our country which is reformative and corrective and not retributive, this Court considers that no accused person is incapable of being reformed and therefore, all measures should be applied to give them an opportunity of reformation in order to bring them in the social stream.

29. As discussed above, 'reformative theory of punishment' is to be adopted and for that reason, it is necessary to impose punishment keeping in view the 'doctrine of proportionality'. It appears from perusal of impugned judgment that sentence awarded by learned trial court for life term is very harsh keeping in view the entirety of facts and circumstances of the case and gravity of offence. Hon'ble Apex Court, as discussed above, has held that undue harshness should be avoided taking into account the reformative approach underlying in criminal justice system.

30. Therefore, accused-appellants, Babloo Kori alias Santosh Kumar and Manish Kori are convicted for the offence punishable under Section 304 (Part I) of IPC and sentenced to 10 years rigorous imprisonment. The fine is reduced to Rs.10,000/-. The fine if they have yet not deposited, will deposit the same within four weeks from the date of release from jail. The jail authority shall see that the accused-appellants are lodged in the jail to re-incarcerate for the default period if fine is not paid after they are released. The accused be released on completion of their respective sentences

31. In view of the above, both the criminal appeals are partly allowed. Record and proceedings be sent back to the Court below forthwith.

THE HON'BLE ARVIND KUMAR MISHRA-I, J.
THE HON'BLE MAYANK KUMAR JAIN, J.

Criminal Appeal No. 3098 of 1984

Girish Singh ...Appellant

Versus

State of U.P. ...Opposite Party

Counsel for the Appellant:
Sri N.B. Singh, Sri Jai Prakash Singh, Sri Rajrshi Gupta, Sri Rahul Yadav

Counsel for the Respondent:
D.G.A.

A. Criminal Law-Criminal Procedure Code, 1972-Section 374(2) - Indian Penal Code, 1860-Section 302-Challenge to-Conviction-Murder-Accused stabbed the deceased with Ballam-testimony of witnesses PW-1 and PW-2 of fact is contradictory and full of infirmities-PW-3 did not support the prosecution version-both the witnesses ie. PW-1 and PW-2 were inimical towards the appellant and the fact of grudge and animosity is proved-Trial court could not appraise substantive facts and testimony of this case in right perspective-Prosecution failed to prove its case beyond reasonable doubt against the appellant-Hence, the accused is entitled to the benefit of doubt.(Para 1 to 34)

B. It is settled principle of criminal jurisprudence that in cases where evidence and circumstances when weighed substantially and taken cumulatively raised strong suspicion about the manner and style of the occurrence that it was in fact so caused by the accused-appellant, then benefit of doubt would be the only reasonable outcome of judicial scrutiny and this benefit of doubt always works in favour of the appellants.(Para 32)

The appeal is allowed. (E-6)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Arvind Kumar Mishra-I, J.

Hon'ble Mayank Kumar Jain, J.)

1. By way of instant criminal appeal, challenge has been made to the validity and sustainability of the judgment and order of conviction dated 31.10.1984 passed by IV Additional Sessions Judge, Ghazipur, in Session Trial No.37 of 1984, State Vs. Girish Singh, arising out of Case Crime No.76 of 1983, under Section 302 I.P.C., Police Station- Khanpur, District- Ghazipur whereby the appellant Girish Singh has been sentenced to life imprisonment.

2. Heard Mr. Rajrshi Gupta, Mr. Rahul Yadav and Jai Prakash Singh, learned counsel for the appellant, Mr. Om Prakash, Mr. Alok Kumar Tripathi, Mr. Sunil Kumar Tripathi and Mr. M.P. Singh Gaur, A.G.As. for the State and perused the record.

3. The prosecution story as unfolded through the record reflects that one Rani Devi wife of late Jainath Singh, resident of Village Nayakdih, Police Station Khanpur, District Ghazipur, lodged the written report at Police Station Khanpur on 19.06.1983 at 7:45 a.m. regarding some incident that took place yesterday night at 11:45 p.m. in village Nayakdih which was 9 kms. away from the police station Khanpur, with the description that the informant is the resident of within Police Station Khanpur. Her nephew Ramagya Singh son of Dashrath Singh was not having any issue and had given his landed property to the son of his uncle, Ujagir Singh, Shriraj Singh, Giriraj Singh by way of the Will. It so happened that for the last one year, there was some dispute with Shriraj Singh, therefore, the deceased Ramagya Singh began to reside with the son of his uncle, Jairaj Singh. Some property was sold out by the deceased and the sale consideration was given to Jairaj Singh due to which the accused were inimical with the deceased.

4. It so happened that on 18.06.1983 in the night, the deceased Ramagya Singh was sleeping on the cot in front of the door of Bhagwati. It was around 11:30 p.m. when Girish Singh came to the house of the informant and asked whereabouts of Jairaj Singh whereupon she told that Jairaj singh has gone to attend marriage ceremony. Upon this, the accused said that he will kill Ramagya Singh today and he will see as to how he sold out his land. He went away from there. As soon as Girish Singh left her home, she raised alarm whereupon Rama Shanker Singh from her neighbourhood got up and intercepted the accused by saying that have you become mad, whereupon Girish Singh went away from the scene and saying that he proceeded on to take tobacco (Surti) and proceeded towards tubewell where the informant along with Rama Shanker Singh arrived. Thereafter, they rested in front of their houses.

5. It was around 11:45 p.m., the appellant possessing lance (Ballam) proceeded towards Rama Shanker Singh where he was sleeping and threatened him that in case he got up, he will be killed. Thereafter, the appellant proceeded towards house of Ramagya whereupon Rama Shanker Singh raised alarm then Kripa Shanker Singh and others rushed to the spot lightening torches in their hands. At that point of time, the appellant assaulted Ramagya Singh on his stomach with lance (Ballam). Ramagya Singh shouted that he will be killed. Thereafter, Kripa Shanker Singh, Rama Shanker Singh and the informant reached near Ramagya Singh. They saw lance (Ballam) being extracted by the appellant Girish Singh from the stomach (of deceased) in the torch light. Upon seeing the informant and others, the appellant fled away from the scene. Thereafter, lance (Ballam) was taken out of stomach of Ramagya Singh. No one chased the appellant out of fear. The informant could not come to lodge the first information report in the night. The report was scribed / written in the following morning and the matter was reported as such. The written report is Ext. Ka-1.

6. Contents of the aforesaid information were taken down in the Check FIR on 19.06.1983 at 7:45 a.m. at aforesaid police station at Case Crime No.76 of 1983 under Section 302 I.P.C. Check FIR is Ext. Ka-6. On the basis of entries so made in the check F.I.R., a case was registered in the relevant G.D. at serial no.10 on 19.06.1983 at 07:45 a.m. at aforesaid case crime number at Police Station Khanpur, under aforesaid section of I.P.C. against appellant, which is Exhibit Ka-7.

7. The investigation ensued and was taken over by S.P. Shukla, PW-5. He arrived on the spot. In his investigation, he has proved several documents apart from Check FIR, registration of the case in the general diary, and statement of the informant as recorded by him under Section 161 Cr.P.C. Thereafter, inquest report of the deceased Ramagya Singh was prepared by the Investigating Officer. Inquest report reveals that process commenced around 9:55 a.m. and ended at 11:55 p.m. on 19.06.1983. Inquest report is Ext. Ka-9. In the opinion of inquest witnesses, it was thought proper to send the dead body for post mortem examination so that cause of death could be ascertained properly.

8. Thereafter relevant papers were prepared for sending the dead body for post mortem examination which paper are; Police Form 13 Challan of dead body Ext. Ka-10, Photonash Ext. Ka-11, letter to R.I. Ext. Ka-12, letters to C.M.O. Ghazipur Ext. Ka-13 and Ext. Ka-14, Specimen Seal Ext. Ka-15. Post mortem examination on the dead body of the deceased Ramagya was conducted by Dr. P.C. Srivastava, at District Hospital Ghazipur on 20.06.1983 at 2:00 p.m. wherein following ante mortem injuries were noted:

9. Punctured wound, margin sharp - mid line - on the abdomen 10 cm above umbilicus at 12 O' Clock position, oblique downward direction. 3 cm x 2 cm x abdominal cavity deep loops of bowel seen coming out of wound with faecal matter.

10. Cause of death was opined to be shock and haemorrhage as result of ante mortem injury no.1. Duration of death was said to be one and half day. This post mortem examination report is Ext. Ka-5.

11. During course of the investigation, Kathari, a sort of mattress used by the villagers was taken into possession, memo whereof was prepared by the investigation officer. The weapon of assault lance (Ballam) has been proved as material Ext. 1. The investigation officer also prepared site plan of the place of occurrence which is Ext.16. The Investigating Officer after completing other formalities filed charge-sheet Ext. Ka-17 against the appellant.

12. Thereafter, the case was committed to the court of Sessions from where it was made over for hearing and disposal to the aforesaid court of IV-Additional Sessions Judge, Ghazipur, who after hearing the prosecution and accused-appellant on the point of charge was satisfied with prima facie case and framed charge against the accused-appellant under Section 302 IPC. Charge was readover and explained in Hindi to the accused-appellant who abjured charge and opted for trial.

13. In turn, the prosecution was asked to adduce its testimony whereupon the prosecution produced in all 5 witnesses. A brief sketch of witnesses is as under:-

14. Kripa Shanker Singh PW-1 and Rama Shanker Singh PW-2 both claim themselves to be witnesses of the incident and have given eye-account testimony of the occurrence. The informant Rama Devi PW-3 has turned hostile. Insofar as Dr. P.C. Srivastava PW-4 is concerned, he has conducted post mortem examination on the body of the deceased Ramagya Singh and noted ante mortem injury during course of the post mortem examination. S.P. Shukla, PW-5 is the investigation officer in this case.

15. No further evidence was adduced by the prosecution. Therefore, evidence for the prosecution was closed. The statement of the accused was recorded under Section 313 Cr.P.C. wherein in reply to the question no.11 and 12, specific statement has been made as to how and why PW-1 and PW-2 are deposing against the appellant basically on account of enmity in collusion with the police. PW-1 and PW-2 are agents of the police. No evidence, whatsoever, has been led by the appellant.

16. The case was heard on merit by the learned trial Judge who after appraisal of facts and evaluation of the evidence and circumstances of the case, returned finding of conviction against appellant under Section 302 I.P.C. and sentenced the appellant to life imprisonment under Section 302 I.P.C.

17. Consequently, this appeal.

18. It has been vehemently submitted by learned counsel for the appellant that insofar as testimony of both PW-1 and PW-2 is concerned, when read cumulatively, it would come out that they did not see actual assailant causing injury with Ballam (lance) to the deceased Ramagya Singh. There was some incident of extending threat alone regarding which both the prosecution witnesses have testified with variation. However, if testimony of one is taken to be true then it is noticeable that PW-1 Kripa Shanker Singh, who happened to be a doctor by profession, he cannot be expected to be a rustic man and unaware of the situation and not responding properly on the spot at the time of commission of the offence, for the reasons that the deceased Ramagya Singh remained alive after the occurrence for about 30 minutes. But this witness (PW-1) has tried to improve the case by stating that at the time when he reached to the spot, the deceased told him that he has been stabbed with Ballam (lance). The deceased Ramagya Singh was crying that the appellant had assaulted him. However, the statement under Section 161 Cr.P.C. is found not supported by him on this particular aspect of the case. It is noticeable that he being scribe (PW-1) of the report has not stated even a single word about the same in the first information report. If this piece of testimony is believed and taken to be true then it works in contrast to the testimony of Rama Shanker Singh PW-2.

19. As per testimony of PW-1, he did not see anyone committing the crime in question. When he arrived on the spot, he did not see anyone committing assault on the deceased with Ballam (lance). Either of the two versions of PW-1 or PW-2 may be true. As per testimony of Rama Shanker Singh PW-2, he arrived on the spot along with Kripa Shanker Singh PW-1. There is no case that Kripa Shanker Singh PW-1 did not arrive on the spot in company with Ram Shanker Singh.

20. It has been further submitted that insofar as the first information report is concerned that this is highly belated, for which no plausible reason has been assigned in the testimony of the informant PW-3 as to how the first information report was so belatedly lodged by her. However, it has been stated in the first information report that it being night hours, the first information report could not be lodged with the police station concerned that by itself is nothing but deliberate attempt to avoid the prevailing situation.

21. It is noticeable that in the testimony of Kripa Shanker Singh PW-1, it has surfaced that the police had arrived on the spot prior to 10:00 a.m. on 19.06.1983 and after deliberation with the police, Daroga Ji asked that report should be written / scribed, thereafter, the report was written and lodged with the police station concerned, that fact by itself is fair enough to throw away the entire prosecution case, for the reason that as per the prosecution claim, the first information report was lodged at 7:45 a.m. on 19.06.1983, Police Station Khanpur, District Ghazipur, whereas, testimony of PW-2 is reflective of fact that the dead body was taken to the police station on tractor prior to arrival of Daroga Ji at 10:00 a.m.

22. Based upon that fact position and testified by PW-2, claim is that insofar as preparation of inquest report Ext. Ka-9 is concerned, arrival of the police on the spot was stated to be around 9:45 a.m. It was time when the preparation of inquest commenced, however the inquest was completed around 11:55 a.m. That being admitted position how can the dead body be brought to the police station Khanpur prior to 11:55 a.m. But as per testimony of the prosecution witnesses, the dead body had already been taken to the police station Khanpur, that by itself is connotative to fact that the police were acting hand in glove with the scribe and the other prosecution witnesses of this case.

23. Insofar as PW-3, informant of this case is concerned, she has denied, out and out lodging of any first information report in the shape as claimed by the prosecution witnesses. She has not supported the prosecution version. She has not accused the appellant of any act of assault being caused by him as such. The enmity with the appellant on the one hand and Kripa Shanker Singh PW-1 and Rama Shanker Singh PW-2 on the other hand is admitted. In view of the statement of the accused under Section 313 Cr.P.C. as given in reply to question no.11, both the witnesses were inimical towards the appellant, and the fact of grudge and animosity is very much proved. It is highly improbable that the appellant had killed the deceased Ramagya Singh.

24. Learned counsel for the appellant has further contended that testimony of witnesses of fact is, on the face, contradictory and full of inherent infirmities. There is no point for making charge under Section 302 I.P.C. Charge itself is erroneous. Learned trial Judge while appraising facts and evaluating evidence and circumstances misread the same and recorded erroneous and illegal finding of conviction and sentence.

25. Per contra, the learned A.G.A. retorted to aforesaid arguments by submitting that the entire scene has been described in the testimony of the Kripa Shanker Singh PW-1 and Rama Shanker Singh PW-2. Ram Devi PW-3 has not supported the prosecution case although circumstances of the case are consistently proved by PW-1 and PW-2 that prior to the incident, the appellant was threatening and he proceeded possessing Ballam (lance) towards the house / spot where the deceased Ramagya Singh was sleeping in front of the door of Bhagawati.

26. The learned counsel proceeded to add that no doubt can be raised on the innocuous testimony of PW-1 and PW-2 which positively proves guilt of the accused-appellant beyond reasonable doubt. There is no material contradiction in the testimony of the prosecution witnesses. Learned trial court has judiciously recorded conviction and has passed appropriate sentence.

27. We have also considered the rival submissions and taken into consideration rival claims.

28. In view of above, the point for determination of this appeal relates to fact as to whether the offence under Section 302 I.P.C. was committed by the accused-appellant by stabbing the deceased Ramagya Singh with Ballam (lance) on 19.06.1983 around 11:45 p.m. and he was seen by the witnesses and the prosecution has proved charge under Section 302 I.P.C. beyond reasonable doubt?

29. In that regard, we would like to discuss the point of the first information report to be ante timed as raised by the learned counsel for the appellant. In that regard, we come across detailed testimony of the scribe (PW-1) of the first information report who has testified to the ambit as appear on page 24 of the paper-book that Daroga Ji arrived on the spot around 9:00 a.m. - 10:00 a.m. and the report was written after 10 to 15 minutes of his arrival. That piece of testimony reveals in no uncertain terms fact that the first information report was not existing at 10:00 a.m. on 19.06.1983. Moreover, Daroga Ji who arrived on the spot had surveyed the spot, prior to the report being scribed, took stock of the situation and directed the persons present over there to sribe the report.

30. It has been stated by PW-1 on page no.25 of the paper-book that Daroga Ji took the dead body to the police station concerned on tractor. This aspect of F.I.R. being ante timed overshadows the entire prosecution case, for the reason that the entire things looked vitiated and full of ambiguity cannot be believed on its face value. It appears that Daroga Ji played hand in glove with PW-1 and PW-2. PW-2 if taken to be true then his testimony vindicates that he neither saw the appellant commit the crime nor did he see the appellant in the nearby place (of occurrence) after the occurrence.

31. The prosecution has not clarified about the piece of testimony of PW-1 appearing on page no.24 of the paper-book, as discussed above, regarding arrival of Daroga Ji on the spot around 9:00 a.m. - 10:00 a.m. on 19.06.1983 and that piece of testimony by itself is established and admitted case against the prosecution and re-examination of PW-1 on this point as was required of the prosecution was waived off by it. That being the case, the other aspects of this case need not be looked into at this stage, for the reason that the informant PW-3 has not supported the prosecution story and has stated in categorical terms that report was not written on her dictation, for the reasons best known to her. Nothing adverse of the sort has emerged in the cross-examination of PW-3 by the prosecution itself.

32. It is settled principle of criminal jurisprudence that in cases where evidence and circumstances when weighed substantially and taken cumulatively raised strong suspicion about the manner and style of the occurrence that it was in fact so caused by the accused-appellant (as claimed by the prosecution), then benefit of doubt would be the only reasonable outcome of judicial scrutiny and this benefit of doubt always works in favour of the appellants.

33. The learned trial court could not appraise substantive facts and testimony of this case in right perspective and considered things from narrow angle without properly scrutinizing the same on its entirety and intrinsic potency, instead it read testimony and circumstances only on its face value, whereas, proper scrutiny of fact vis a vis testimony on record would have brought truth on the surface. It is very easy to consider and examine testimony recorded in examination in chief, whereas, the Court has to cautiously contemplate on the entire testimony as a whole and particularly as emerging from the cross examination and then to proceed to record finding on merit for arriving at just conclusion.

34. We may record our satisfaction that arguments extended on behalf of the present appellants carry force and the same are approved and sustained by us. Consequently we hold in unambiguous term that the prosecution has not been able to prove its case beyond reasonable doubt against the appellant. Thus charge framed against him become doubtful and he is entitled to the benefit of doubt.

35. In the wake of above discussion, we may sum up that the finding of conviction recorded by the trial court is on the face erroneous and perverse and the same cannot be sustained in the eye of law. Therefore, the judgment and order of conviction dated 31.10.1984 passed by IV Additional Sessions Judge, Ghazipur, in Session Trial No.37 of 1984, State Vs. Girish Singh, arising out of Case Crime No.76 of 1983, under Section 302 I.P.C., Police Station- Khanpur, District-Ghazipur, is hereby set aside. Accused-appellant is acquitted of charge as above. Accordingly, the instant appeal is allowed.

36. In this case, the accused-appellant is already on bail. He need not surrender in this case. His bail bonds cancelled and sureties discharged. However, he shall furnish surety bonds in compliance with Section 437A Cr.P.C.

37. Let a copy of this judgment/order be certified to the court concerned for necessary information and follow up action.

A. Criminal Law - Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973-Section 374(2) - Indian Penal Code, 1860-Section 302-Challenge to-Conviction- dying declaration-deceased died due to septicemia caused by burn injuries-Four witnesses turned hostile-Witnesses involved in recording the dying declaration fully supported the prosecution case-role of appellant is clear from the dying declaration and other evidences--Hence, Learned trial court has committed no error on acting on the sole basis of dying declaration-The case falls within the ambit of Section 304 IPC and not under Section 302 IPC as the deceased died after 14 days of incident due to the poisonous infection developed in her burn injuries-Thus, The conviction of appellant u/s 302 IPC is converted into section 304 (Part –I) IPC.(Para 1 to 40)

B. The testimony of hostile witnesses can be relied upon to the extent it supports the prosecution case. It is settled legal position that the evidence of a prosecution witness cannot be rejected in toto merely because the prosecution chose to treat him as hostile and cross-examined him. The evidence of such witness cannot be treated as effaced or washed off the record altogether.(Para 15 to 17)

C. The law on the issue of dying declaration can be summarized to the effect that in case the court comes to the conclusion that the dying declaration is true and reliable, has been recorded by a person at a time when the deceased was fit physically and mentally to make the declaration and it has not been made under any tutoring, it can be the sole basis for recording conviction. In such an eventuality no corroboration is required. (Para 20 to 25)

The appeals are partly allowed. (E-6)

Hon'ble Nalin Kumar Srivastava, J.)

1. These Criminal Appeals have been directed against the judgment and order dated 28.7.2016 passed by the Additional Sessions Judge/ Fast Track Court No.1, Agra in Sessions Trial No. 525 of 2013 (Case Crime No. 19 of 2013), P.S. Kheda Rathaur, District Agra convicting and sentencing the appellants under Section 302 I.P.C. for life imprisonment and a fine of Rs. 25,000/- each with stipulation of default clause.

2. Brief facts, as culled out from the record, are that a First Information Report was lodged by the informant, Ram Kishun son of Shri Ram Ratan, resident of Nagla Behari, Police Station Etmaddaula, Agra, at Police Station Khera Rathaur, District Agra with the averments that marriage of her daughter, Smt. Rima Devi, was solemnized with Nathu Ram son of Pahalwan Singh, resident of Nadgawan Mod, District Khera Rathour, on 12.3.2007 according to hindu rites and rituals in which the informant had given sufficient dowry but the in-laws of her daughter, namely, Nathu Ram husband, Pahalwan Singh, father-in-law, Harpyari, mother-in-law, Ashok Kumar, Jeth, Geeta Devi, Jethani, Smt. Chhoti Devi, Nanad, were not happy with the same. They started torturing her daughter mentally as well as physically for demand of Rs.1,00,000/- cash and a motorcycle as additional dowry. Despite the Panchayat many times, they kept demanding additional dowry again and again. On 16.2.2013, with common intention, all the aforesaid members set her ablaze by pouring kerosene oil. Information about the occurrence was not given to the informant by the in-laws, rather same was given to him by the villagers next day. When the informant, alongwith many people of the village, reached the matrimonial house of her daughter, he was informed that her daughter was admitted in Yashwant Hospital in an injured condition. Thereafter, for better treatment, informant got her hospitalized in Akash Hospital, Ram Bagh, Agra, where her condition was critical. She was 80% burnt. Since informant was busy with her treatment, he could not give information about the occurrence to the police.

3. On 17.2.2013, dying declaration of the victim (Ext. ka-2) was recorded by the Additional City Magistrate -III, Agra. She also took her thumb impression over the same. Victim was conscious at the time of statement.

4. On the basis of the written report (Ext. ka-1), chik First Information Report (Ext. Ka-12) was registered at Police Station concerned on 27.2.2013 at 15.20 p.m. against Nathu Ram (husband), Pahalwan Singh (father-in-law), Smt. Harpyari (mother-in-law), Ashok Kumar (Jeth), Geeta Devi (Jethani), Smt. Chhoti Devi (Nanad) at case crime no. 19 of 2013 under Sections 326, 498-A IPC and ¾ Dowry Prohibition Act.

4. Matter was being investigated by the Station House Officer of the concerned Police Station but during investigation victim died on 2.3.2013, hence, Section 304-B was added and investigation was entrusted to Circle Officer Ratnesh Chaturvedi. During course of investigation, the Investigating Officer recorded the statement of witnesses, prepared site plan, inquest report was prepared and post mortem was performed. After making thorough investigation, charge sheet was submitted against the accused appellants. The learned Magistrate summoned the accused and committed the case to Court of Sessions, as prima facie charges were for the sessions triable offences.

6. The charges framed were under Section 498-A, 304B of IPC and Section 4 of D.P. Act. In alternative, charge under Section 302 IPC read with Section 34 of IPC was also framed. The accused-persons pleaded not guilty and wanted to be tried. Trial started and in support of it case, prosecution examined 11 witnesses, who are as follows:

1	Kishan	PW-1 (uncle of the deceased)
2	Ram Kishan	PW-2 (informant) (father of deceased)
3	Kishan Devi	PW-3 (mother of deceased)
4	Sharda Devi	PW-4 (aunt of deceased)
5	Smt. Rekha S. Chauhan	PW-5 (City Magistrate, Agra, who recorded the dying declaration of deceased)
6	Atul Singh	PW-6 (witness of inquest)
7	Dr. Amitabh Chauhan	PW-7 (performed the post mortem of the deceased)
8	Ratnesh Chaturvedi	PW-8 (Investigating Officer, IInd)
9	Jaswant Mohal	PW-9 (Investigating Officer, Ist)
10	Dr. Surendra Singh	PW-10 (who endorsed certificate over dying declaration)
11	S.I. Vijay Pal	PW-11 (scribe of the F.I.R.)

7. In support of oral version, following documents were filed and proved on behalf of the prosecution:

1	Written report	Ext. A-1
2	Dying Declaration	Ext. A-2
3	Inquest Report	Ext. A-3
4	Letter to C.M.O.	Ext. A-6
5	Letter to R.I.	Ext. A-4
6	Challan Nash	Ext. A-5

7	Photo Nash	Ext. A-7
8	Post Mortem Report	Ext. A-8
9	Charge Sheet	Ext. A-9
10	Site Plan of residence of deceased	Ext. A-10
11	Memo of recovery of the articles taken from the spot	Ext. A-11
12	Chik F.I.R.	Ext. A-12
13	G.D. Entry	Ext. A-13

8. Deceased was hospitalised after the occurrence by her in-laws themselves. She died after 14 days of the occurrence during the course of treatment.

9. Heard Shri Anil Kumar Srivastava, Advocate holding brief for Shri Rakesh Kumar Verma, learned counsel for the appellants in both matters and Shri N.K. Srivastava, learned AGA for the State in Criminal Appeal No. 3950 of 20116 and Shri Vikas Goswami, learned AGA in Criminal Appeal No. 4177 of 2016.

10. Learned counsel for the appellants submitted that accused persons have been falsely implicated in this case. They have not committed the present offence. It is further submitted by learned counsel that all the witnesses of fact have turned hostile. PW-1 is uncle of the deceased. He has not supported the prosecution case and declared hostile. PW-2 informant is father of the deceased. Though he supported the prosecution case in examination in-chief yet in the cross-examination he did not support the case of prosecution. He has also denied the demand of any amount or any sort of torturing her daughter by the accused persons. PW-3 is the mother of the deceased. She has not supported the prosecution version. PW-4 is also a witness of fact and has turned hostile. All these witnesses have not supported the prosecution version and on the basis of analysis of their evidence, no guilt against the accused appellants is established and proved.

11. Learned counsel for the appellants next submitted that dying-declaration of the deceased was recorded when she was surviving, but this dying-declaration has no corroboration with any prosecution evidence. All the witnesses of fact have turned hostile and nobody supported the version, which is mentioned in dying-declaration. Therefore, learned trial court committed grave error by convicting the accused on the basis of dying-declaration only when it was not corroborated at all.

12. Learned counsel for the appellants additionally submitted that if, for the sake of argument, it is assumed that appellants have committed the offence, in that case also no offence under Section 302 IPC is made out. Maximum this case can travel up to the limits of offence under Section 304 IPC because the deceased died after 14 days of the occurrence due to developing the infection in her burn-wounds, i.e., septicaemia. As per catena of judgments of Hon'ble Apex Court and this Court, offence cannot travel beyond section 304 IPC, in case the death occurred due to septicaemia. Learned counsel for the appellants also submitted that autopsy report also shows that cause of death was septicaemia as a result of ante mortem burn injuries. Learned counsel relied on the judgment in the case of Maniben vs. State of Gujarat [2009 Lawsuit SC 1380], and the judgment in Criminal Appeal Nos.1438 of 2010 and 1439 of 2010 dated 7.10.2017 and judgment of Criminal Appeal No.2558 of 2011 delivered on 1.2.2021 by this Court and several other judgments.

13. No other point or argument was raised by the learned counsel for the appellants and confined his arguments on above points only.

14. Learned AGA, per contra, vehemently opposed the arguments placed by counsel for the appellants and submitted that conviction of accused can be based only on the basis of dying-declaration, if it is wholly reliable. It requires no corroboration. Moreover, testimony of hostile witnesses can also be relied on to the extent it supports the prosecution case. Learned trial court has rightly convicted the appellants under Section 302 IPC and sentenced accordingly. There is no merit in the appeals and the same may be dismissed.

15. First of all learned counsel for the appellants has raised the issue relating to the hostility of the witnessess. Four witnesses of the fact, namely, PW-1 Kishan, PW-2 Ram Kishan, PW-3 Kishan Devi and PW-4 Sharda Devi were examined before learned trial court. All these witnesses have turned hostile but the testimony of hostile witnesses cannot be thrown away just on the basis of the fact that they have not supported the prosecution case and were cross-examined by the prosecutor. The testimony of hostile witnesses can be relied upon to the extent it supports the prosecution case. Needless to say that the testimony of hostile witnesses should be scrutinized meticulously and very cautiously.

16. Hon'ble Apex Court in Koli Lakhmanbhai Chandabhai vs. State of Gujarat [1999 (8) SCC 624], as held that evidence of hostile witness can be relied upon to the extent it supports the version of prosecution and it is not necessary that it should be relied upon or rejected as a whole. It is settled law that evidence of hostile witness also can be relied upon to the extent to which it supports the prosecution version. Evidence of such witness cannot be treated as washed off the record. It remains admissible in the trial and there is no legal bar to base his conviction upon his testimony if corroborated by other reliable evidence.

17. In Ramesh Harijan vs. State of U.P. [2012 (5) SCC 777], the Hon'ble Apex Court has also held that it is settled legal position that the evidence of a prosecution witness cannot be rejected in toto merely because the prosecution chose to treat him as hostile and cross-examined him. The evidence of such witness cannot be treated as effaced or washed off the record altogether.

18. In State of U.P. vs. Ramesh Prasad Misra and another [1996 AIR (Supreme Court) 2766], the Hon'ble Apex Court held that evidence of a hostile witnesses would not be totally rejected if spoken in favour of the prosecution or the accused but required to be subjected to close scrutiny and that portion of the evidence which is consistent with the case of the prosecution or defence can be relied upon. Thus, the law can be summarized to the effect that evidence of a hostile witness cannot be discarded as a whole, and relevant part thereof, which are admissible in law, can be used by prosecution or the defense.

19. Perusal of impugned judgment shows that learned trial court has scrutinised the evidence on record very carefully.

20. As far as the dying-declaration is concerned, it was recorded by Smt. Rekha S. Chauhan, Additional City Magistrate-III, Agra, who was examined as PW-5. Dying-declaration was recorded by her after obtaining the certificate of mental-fitness from doctor in the hospital. After completion of dying-declaration also the said doctor has given certificate that during the course of statement, the victim remained conscious.

21. Learned counsel for the appellants has argued that dying declaration is doubtful and not corroborated by witnesses of fact, hence, it cannot be the sole basis of conviction. Legal position of dying declaration to be the sole basis of conviction is that it can be done so if it is not tutored, made voluntarily and is wholly reliable. In this regard, Hon'ble Apex Court has summarized the law regarding dying declaration in Lakhan vs. State of Madhya Pradesh [(2010) 8 Supreme Court Cases 514], in this case, Hon'ble Apex Court held that the doctrine of dying declaration is enshrined in the legal maxim nemo moriturus praesumitur mentire, which means, "a man will not meet his Maker with a lie in his mouth". The doctrine of dying declaration is enshrined in Section 32 of Evidence Act, 1872, as an exception to the general rule contained in Section 60 of Evidence Act, which provides that oral evidence in all cases must be directed, i.e., it must be the evidence of a witness, who says he saw it. The dying declaration is, in fact, the statement of a person, who cannot be called as witness and, therefore, cannot be cross-examined. Such statements themselves are relevant facts in certain cases.

22. The law on the issue of dying declaration can be summarized to the effect that in case the court comes to the conclusion that the dying declaration is true and reliable, has been recorded by a person at a time when the deceased was fit physically and mentally to make the declaration and it has not been made under any tutoring/duress/prompting; it can be the sole basis for recording conviction. In such an eventuality no corroboration is required. It is also held by Hon'ble Apex Court in the aforesaid case, that a dying declaration recorded by a competent Magistrate would stand on a much higher footing than the declaration recorded by office of lower rank, for the reason that the competent Magistrate has no axe to grind against the person named in the dying declaration of the victim.

23. Deceased survived for 14 days after the incident took place. Her dying declaration was recorded by Smt. Rekha S. Chauhan, Additional City Magistrate, Agra after obtaining the certificate of medical fitness from the concerned doctor. This dying declaration was proved by her. This witness is absolutely an independent witness and has no grudge or enmity to the convicts at all. In the wake of aforesaid judgment of Lakhan (supra), dying declaration cannot be disbelieved, if it inspires confidence. On reliability of dying declaration and acting on it without corroboration, Hon'ble Apex Court held in Krishan vs. State of Haryana [(2013) 3 Supreme Court Cases 280] that it is not an absolute principle of law that a dying declaration cannot form the sole basis of conviction of an accused. Where the dying declaration is true and correct, the attendant circumstances show it to be reliable and it has been recorded in accordance with law, the deceased made the dying declaration of her own accord and upon due certification by the doctor with regard to the state of mind and body, then it may not be necessary for the court to look for corroboration. In such cases, the dying declaration alone can form the basis for the conviction of the accused. Hence, in order to pass the test reliability, a dying declaration has to be subjected to a very close scrutiny, keeping in view the fact that the statement has been made in the absence of the accused, who had no opportunity of testing the veracity of the statement by cross-examination. But once, the court has come to the conclusion that the dying declaration was the truthful version as to the circumstance of the death and the assailants of the victim, there is no question of further corroboration.

24. In Ramilaben Hasmukhbhai Khristi vs. State of Gujarat, [(2002) 7 SCC 56], the Hon'ble Apex Court held that under the law, dying declaration can form the sole basis of conviction, if it is free from any kind of doubt and it has been recorded in the manner as provided under the law. It may not be necessary to look for corroboration of the dying declaration. As envisaged, a dying declaration is generally to be recorded by an Executive Magistrate with the certificate of a medical doctor about the mental fitness of the declarant to make the statement. It may be in the from of question and answer and the answers be written in the words of the person making the declaration. But the court cannot be too technical and in substance if it feels convinced about the trustworthiness of the statement which may inspire confidence such a dying declaration can be acted upon without any corroboration.

25. From the above case laws, it clearly emerges that it is not an absolute principle of law that a dying declaration cannot form the sole basis of conviction of an accused when such dying declaration is true, reliable and has been recorded in accordance with established practice and principles and if it is recorded so then there cannot be any challenge regarding its correctness and authenticity.

26. In dying declaration of deceased (Ex.ka-2), it is also important to note that it was recorded on 17.2.2013 and the deceased died on 2.3.2013 while the incident took place on 16.2.2013. It means that she remained alive for 13 days after making dying declaration. Therefore, truthfulness of dying declaration can further be evaluated from the fact that she survived for 13 days after making it from which it can reasonably be inferred that she was in a fit mental condition to make the statement at the relevant time. Moreover, in the dying declaration, the deceased did not unnecessarily involved the other family members of the accused appellants. She only attributed the role of burning to her Jeth and Jethani, who were actual culprit.

27. In such a situation, the hostility of witnesses of fact cannot demolish the value and reliability of the dying declaration of the deceased, which has been proved by prosecution in accordance with law and is a truthful version of the event that occurred and also of the circumstances leading to her death.

28. As already noticed, none of the witnesses or the authorities involved in recording the dying declaration had turned hostile. On the contrary, they have fully supported the case of prosecution. The dying declaration is reliable, truthful and was voluntarily made by the deceased, hence, this dying declaration can be acted upon without corroboration and can be made the sole basis of conviction. Hence, learned trial court has committed no error on acting on the sole basis of dying declaration. Learned trial court was completely justified in placing reliance on dying declaration Ex. Ka-2 and convicting the accused-appellants on the basis of it.

29. Now we come to the point of argument raised by learned counsel for the appellants that deceased died due to septicaemia, hence this case falls within the ambit of Section 304 IPC and not under Section 302 IPC. In this regard, learned counsel has submitted that deceased died after 14 days of incident due to the poisonous infection developed in her burn injuries, which could be avoided by good treatment. There was no intention of the appellants to cause the death of the deceased.

30. It is admitted fact that the deceased died after 14 days of burning and post mortem report goes to show that she died due to septicaemia as a result of ante mortem burn injuries. Dr. Amitabh Chauhan has been examined as PW-7, who had conducted the autopsy of the deceased. He has specifically mentioned in the post mortem report Ext. ka-8 and deposed before the learned trial court that the cause of death was septicaemia due to burn injuries. Hence, the death of the deceased was septicaemial death.

31. The finding of fact regarding the presence of witnesses at the place of occurrence cannot be faulted with. Death of deceased was a homicidal death. The fact that it was a homicidal death takes this Court to most vexed question whether it would fall within the four-corners of murder or culpable homicide not amounting to murder. Therefore, we are considering the question whether it would be a murder or culpable homicide not amounting to murder and punishable under Section 304 IPC.

32. In State of Uttar Pradesh vs. Mohd. Iqram and another, [(2011) 8 SCC 80], the Apex Court has made the following observations in paragraph 26, therein:

"26. Once the prosecution has brought home the evidence of the presence of the accused at the scene of the crime, then the onus stood shifted on the defence to have brought-forth suggestions as to what could have brought them to the spot in the dead of night. The accused were apprehended and, therefore, they were under an obligation to rebut this burden discharged by the prosecution and having failed to do so, the trial-court was justified in recording its findings on this issue. The High Court committed an error by concluding that the prosecution had failed to discharge its burden. Thus, the judgment proceeds on a surmise that renders it unsustainable."

33. In Bengai Mandal alias Begai Mandal vs. State of Bihar [(2010) 2 SCC 91], incident occurred on 14.7.1996, while the deceased died on 10.8.1996 due to septicaemia caused by burn injuries. The accused was convicted and sentenced for life imprisonment under Section 302 IPC, which was confirmed in appeal by the High Court, but Hon'ble The Apex Court converted the case under Section 304 Part-II IPC on the ground that the death ensued after twenty-six days of the incident as a result of septicaemia and not as a consequence of burn injuries and, accordingly, sentenced for seven years' rigorous imprisonment.

34. In Maniben vs. State of Gujarat [(2009) 8 SCC 796], the incident took place on 29.11.1984. The deceased died on 7.12.1984. Cause of death was the burn injuries. The deceased was admitted in the hospital with about 60 per cent burn injuries and during the course of treatment developed septicaemia, which was the main cause of death of the deceased. Trial-court convicted the accused under Section 304 Part-II IPC and sentenced for five years' imprisonment, but in appeal, High Court convicted the appellants under Section 302 IPC. Hon'ble The Apex Court has held that during the aforesaid period of eight days, the injuries aggravated and worsened to the extent that it led to ripening of the injuries and the deceased died due to poisonous effect of the injuries. Accordingly, judgment and order convicting the accused under Section 304 Part-II IPC by the trial-court was maintained and the judgment of the High Court was set aside.

35. In Chirra Shivraj vs. State of Andhra Pradesh [(2010) 14 SCC 444], incident took place on 6. Deceased was hospitalised after the occurrence by the accused persons themselves. She died after 4 days of the occurrence during the course of treatment.

36. We can safely rely upon the decision of the Gujarat High court in Criminal Appeal No.83 of 2008 (Gautam Manubhai Makwana Vs. State of Gujarat) decided on 11.9.2013 wherein the Court held as under:

"12. In fact, in the case of Krishan vs. State of Haryana reported in (2013) 3 SCC 280, the Apex Court has held that it is not an absolute principle of law that a dying declaration cannot form the sole basis of conviction of an accused. Where the dying declaration is true and correct, the attendant circumstances show it to be reliable and it has been recorded in accordance with law, the deceased made the dying declaration of her own accord and upon due certification by the doctor with regard to the state of mind and body, then it may not be necessary for the court to look for corroboration. In such cases, the dying declaration alone can form the basis for the conviction of the accused. But where the dying declaration itself is attended by suspicious circumstances, has not been recorded in accordance with law and settled procedures and practices, then, it may be necessary for the court to look for corroboration of the same.

13. However, the complaint given by the deceased and the dying declaration recorded by the Executive Magistrate and the history before the doctor is consistent and seems to be trustworthy. The same is also duly corroborated with the evidence of witnesses and the medical reports as well as panchnama and it is clear that the deceased died a homicidal death due to the act of the appellants in pouring kerosene and setting him ablaze. We do find that the dying declaration is trust worthy.

14. However, we have also not lost sight of the fact that the deceased had died after a month of treatment. From the medical reports, it is clear that the deceased suffered from Septicemia which happened due to extensive burns.

15. In the case of the B.N. Kavatakar and another (supra), the Apex Court in a similar case of septicemia where the deceased therein had died in the hospital after five days of the occurrence of the incident in question, converted the conviction under section 302 to under section 326 and modified the sentence accordingly.

15.1 Similarly, in the case of Maniben (supra), the Apex Court has observed as under:

"18. The deceased was admitted in the hospital with about 60% burn injuries and during the course of treatment developed septicemia, which was the main cause of death of the deceased. It is, therefore, established that during the aforesaid period of 8 days the injuries aggravated and worsened to the extent that it led to ripening of the injuries and the deceased died due to poisonous effect of the injuries.

19. It is established from the dying declaration of the deceased that she was living separately from her mother-in-law, the appellant herein, for many years and that on the day in question she had a quarrel with the appellant at her house. It is also clear from the evidence on record that immediately after the quarrel she along with her daughter came to fetch water and when she was returning, the appellant came and threw a burning tonsil on the clothes of the deceased. Since the deceased was wearing a terylene cloth at that relevant point of time, it aggravated the fire which caused the burn injuries.

20. There is also evidence on record to prove and establish that the action of the appellant to throw the burning tonsil was preceded by a quarrel between the deceased and the appellant. From the aforesaid evidence on record it cannot be said that the appellant had the intention that such action on her part would cause the death or such bodily injury to the deceased, which was sufficient in the ordinary course of nature to cause the death of the deceased. Therefore, in our considered opinion, the case cannot be said to be covered under clause (4) of Section 300 of IPC. We are, however, of the considered opinion that the case of the appellant is covered under Section 304 Part II of IPC."

16. In the present case, we have come to the irresistible conclusion that the role of the appellants is clear from the dying declaration and other records. However, the point which has also weighed with this court are that the deceased had survived for around 30 days in the hospital and that his condition worsened after around 5 days and ultimately died of septicemia. In fact he had sustained about 35% burns. In that view of the matter, we are of the opinion that the conviction of the appellants under section 302 of Indian Penal Code is required to be converted to that under section 304(I) of Indian Penal Code and in view of the same appeal is partly allowed.

37. On the overall scrutiny of the facts and circumstances of the case coupled with medical evidence and the opinion of the Medical Officer and considering the principle laid down by the Courts in above referred case laws, we are of the considered opinion that in the case at hand, the offence would be punishable under Section 304 (Part-I) IPC.

38. From the upshot of the aforesaid discussions it appears that the death caused by the accused persons was not pre-meditated. Hence the instant case falls under the exceptions (1) and (4) to Section 300 of IPC. While considering Section 299 IPC, offence committed will fall under Section 304 (Part-I) IPC.

39. In view of the aforesaid discussions, we are of the view that appeals are liable be partly allowed and the conviction of the appellants under Section 302 IPC is liable to be converted into conviction under Section 304 (Part-I) IPC and fine amount is liable to be reduced. The convicts / appellants are in jail for the last more than 9 years.

40. Accordingly, appeals are partly allowed and the appellants are convicted for the offence under Section 304 (Part-I)

IPC and are sentenced to undergo ten years of incarceration with remission with fine of Rs. 10,000/-. We maintain the default sentence, which will start if fine is not deposited after ten years with remission.

41. Record and proceedings be sent back to the Court below forthwith.

42. This Court is thankful to learned Advocates for ably assisting the Court.

Criminal Appeal No. 4094 of 2016

Smt. Angoori Devi & Ors. ...Appellants
Versus
The State of U.P. ...Opposite Party

Counsel for the Appellant:
Sri Ashutosh Yadav, Abhilasha Singh, Sri Shyam Lal, Sri Yogesh Kumar Srivastava

Counsel for the Respondent:

A. Criminal Law -Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973-Section 374(2) - Indian Penal Code,1860-Sections 498-A, 304-B & 302/34 - ¾ Dowry Prohibition Act,1961-Challenge to-Conviction- dying declaration-deceased died due to septicemia caused by burn injuries-Statement of PW-1 proves that the ingredient of 'soon before death' has not established at all- death caused by the accused was not premeditated-husband was not present at the time of incident and he had been acquitted while others had been found guilty on the basis of dying declaration -From the statement of PW-6, PW-7 it is clear that there was no tutoring in the whole process of the recording of the dying declaration- the deceased died after two and a half months of incident due to the poisonous infection developed in her burn injuries, hence it cannot be said that the deceased was murdered -Hence, the case falls within the ambit of Section 304 IPC and not under Section 302 IPC-The sentence of accused persons is reduced to the period of 10 years with remission-the period already undergone can be sustained in the full period of incarceration. (Para 1 to 44)

B. The law on the issue of dying declaration can be summarized to the effect that in case the court comes to the conclusion that the dying declaration is true and reliable, has been recorded by a person at a time when the deceased was fit physically and mentally to make the declaration and it has not been made under any tutoring, it can be the sole basis for recording conviction. In such an eventuality no corroboration is required. (Para 43)

The appeal is partly allowed. (E-6)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Nalin Kumar Srivastava, J.)

1. Heard Sri Yogesh Kumar Srivastava, learned counsel for the appellants and Sri N.K. Srivastava, learned AGA appearing for the State and perused the record.

2. The instant criminal appeal has been filed against the judgment and order dated 28.07.2016/29.07.2016 passed by Additional Sessions Judge/Fast Track Court No. 1, Hathras, in S.T. No. 493 of 2014, State vs. Arjun Singh and one another, S.T. No. 194 of 2015, State vs. Bachchoo Singh and one another and S.T. No. 146 of 2015, State vs. Sukhvir, arising out of Case Crime No. 322 of 2014, under Sections 498A, 304B IPC and Section ¾ Dowry Prohibition Act, P.S. Chandpa, District Hathras, whereby the applicants have been convicted under Section 302/34 IPC and sentenced to imprisonment for life with a fine of RS. 10,000/- each and in default to undergo 6 months additional simple Imprisonment.

3. All the three sessions trials were consolidated with S.T. No. 493 of 2014, State vs. Arjun Singh and the another, which was mentioned as leading case.

4. The factual scenario as emerged out from the FIR (Ext. K-3) is that Smt. Hema, sister of the informant Sunil Kumar was married to the accused Arjun Singh on 01.05.2013. After marriage she was harassed and subjected to cruelty for demand of dowry by her husband Arjun Singh, mother in-law Anguri Devi, Jeth Bachchoo Singh and *Jeth*ani Anjali Devi, who were not satisfied with the dowry given in the marriage and were demanding Rs. 50,000/- more as dowry. When the informant and his father shown their inability to pay this huge amount, they set ablaze the aforesaid Hema on 03.05.2014 at her matrimonial home. The informant on information went there and took away his sister to the hospital and when they have no money left for treatment, they left away Smt. Hema to her matrimonial home on 03.05.2014. The in-laws of the deceased took no interest in her treatment and ultimately she died on 19.07.2014.

A written report Ext. K-1 was was given to the station officer at P.S. Chandpa, District Hathras by the informant and FIR was lodged on 19.07.2014 at 09:15 a.m.

5. The investigation of the case was conducted by C.O. Narendra Dev, who recorded the statements of witnesses and made a site plan (Ext. K-6) after inspection of the house of the accused persons. The inquest report Ext. K-2 was prepared on 19.07.2014 by Tehsildar Ram Jeevan Verma and necessary papers for postmortem were also prepared. The postmortem of the deceased was performed by Dr. R.P. Singh on 19.07.2014 and autopsy report Ext. K-5 was prepared by him, who found the following antemortem injuries on the person of deceased as mentioned below :-

1.Superficial to deep burn (old) on neck and chest and face, surface of skin is covered with granulated tissues.

2.Superficial to deep burn (old) on both asens (Anteriorly and posteriorly). Surface of skin is covered with granulatial tissues.

3. Superficial to deep burn (old) on back of chest where skin surface is covered with granulated tissues.

It was opined that the cause of death was septicemic shock as a result of old burn .

6. After investigation three charge-sheets Ext. K-7, Ext. K-8 and Ext. K-9 was submitted by the Investigating Officer. Meanwhile the dying declaration (Ext. K-10) of Smt. Hema aforesaid was recorded by Sri P.S. Rana, Additional City Magistrate on 04.05.2014 at Maraj Hospital, Aligarh.

7. The accused persons were appeared before the court and their cases being exclusively triable by the Sessions court were committed to the court of Sessions.

8. Accused Arjun Singh and Anguri Devi were charged under Sections 498A, 304B read with Section 302/34 IPC and Section 4 D.P. Act, accused Bachchoo and Smt. Anjali were charged under Sections 498A, 304B read with Section 302/34 IPC as alternative charge and Section ¾ D.P. Act and charges under Sections 498A, 304B read with Section 302/34 IPC as alternative charge and Section 4 D.P. Act were framed against accused Sukhvir.

9. Accused persons pleaded not guilty and claimed to be tried and the trial started.

10. The prosecution to bring home the charges against the accused person has relied upon oral and documentary evidence.

11. In oral evidence P.W. 1 Sunil Kumar, informant/brother of the deceased, P.W. 2 Raju Singh, witness of inquest report, P.W. 3 Constable Clerk Narendra Singh scribe, P.W. 4 Dr. Ravindra Pratap Sing, P.W. 5 C.O. Narendra Dev, the Investigating Officer and P.W. 6 Pooran Singh, Tehsildar, the witness of dying declaration and P.W. 7 Dr. Mairaj Ali, Mairaj Hospital, Aligarh have been examined.

12. As documentary evidence, written report Ext. K-1, inquest report Ext. K-2, Chick FIR Ext. K-3, Case registration GD Ext. K-4, Autopsy Report Ext. K-5, site plan Ext. K-6, charge-sheet Ext. K-7, 8 and 9 and dying declaration Ext. K-10 have been produced by prosecution.

13. After the prosecution evidence is over, the incriminating circumstances and evidence adduced against accused persons were put before them. In their statements under section 313 Cr.P.C., they claimed whole prosecution evidence as false and fabricated. Accused Arjun Singh, Sukhvir, Anjali and Bachchoo Singh have taken defence of separate leaving and also claimed the suicidal death of the deceased and false implication of the accused persons.

14. Accused Arjun Singh, husband of the deceased has stated that at the time of occurrence he has not present in the village. His wife was short tempered. He has also stated that he bore of the expenses regarding treatment of his wife and has also claimed that she herself has committed suicide by pouring kerosene oil upon her and all the accused persons have been falsely implicated.

15. On behalf of accused persons DW-1, Pawan Kumar, who is the resident of the village of the appellants has been examined to prove the ill tempered nature of the deceased and also the factum of suicide committed by her.

16. As oral evidence PW-1 Sunil Kumar, the brother of the deceased has been examined who in his Examination-In-Chief has corroborated the prosecution story and proved the written report Ext. Ka-1 was reiterated the fact.

17. The main ingredients of the offence under Section 304-B required to be established are determined by the Hon'ble Apex Court in a catena of decisions and recently in Devendra Singh and others v. State of Uttarakhand, AIR 2022 SC 2965 they have been reiterated as follows: -

"(i) that soon before the death, the deceased was subjected to cruelty and harassment in connection with the demand of dowry;

CRIMINAL APPEAL NO.383 OF 2018

(ii) the death of the deceased was caused by any burn or bodily injury or some other circumstance which was not normal;

(iii) such a death has occurred within 7 years from the date of her marriage;

(iv) that the victim was subjected to cruelty or harassment by her husband or any relative of her husband;

(v) such a cruelty or harassment should be for, or in connection with the demand of dowry; and

(vi) it should be established that such cruelty and harassment were made soon before her death."

18. In the aforesaid matter the Hon'ble Apex Court explaining the Provision of Section 113B of Indian Evidence Act has laid down that :-

"Section 304BIPC read along with Section 113B of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872 makes it clear that once the prosecution has succeeded in demonstrating that a woman has been subjected to cruelty or harassment for or in connection with any demand for dowry soon after her death, a presumption shall be drawn against the said persons that they have caused dowry death as contemplated under Section 304B IPC. The said presumption comes with a rider inasmuch as this presumption can be rebutted by the accused on demonstrating during the trial that all the ingredients of Section 304B IPC have not been satisfied. [Ref.: Bansi Lal vs. State of Haryana, (2011)11 SCC 359: AIR 2011 SC 691, Maya Devi and Anr. vs. State of Haryana,(2015) 17 SCC 405: AIR 2016) SC 125, G.V. Siddaramesh v. State of Karnataka (2010) 3 SCC 152: 2010 AIR SCW 1387 and Ashok Kumar vs. State of Haryana (2010) 12 SCC 350: AIR 2010 SC 2839]."

19. In the light of relevant provisions, ingredients of the offences and the evidence adduced, the case has to be scrutinized. PW-1 Sunil Kumar, brother of the deceased, in his statement has reiterated the fact of dictating written report and lodging of FIR and has stated that the deceased. Hema was married with the accused Arjun Singh on 1.5.2013. She was harassed and subjected to cruelty by her in-laws with a demand of Rs. 50,000/- as additional dowry. He has further submitted that on 3.5.2014 accused persons Arjun Singh, Anguri Devi, Anjali Devi, Bachchu Singjh and Sukhbir Singh with the common object set ablaze his sister by pouring kerosene oil and ultimately she died on 19.7.2014.

20. In his cross-examination, he has stated that his sister deceased Hema was very loose tempered and irritable and used to come to her parents without informing her in-laws. He has also admitted in his cross-examination that she used to make quarrel with her in-laws on the issue of the partition of the house and had grudge with them. His brother-in-law never demanded any dowry and he was not present on spot on the day of occurrence. He has further stated that one day before the occurrence, his sister came to her parental house but she was bitterly harassed there and was sent back to her inlaws. Since, she was a peevish and ill tempered lady, she set ablazed herself. The accused persons neither set ablazed her nor assaulted.

21. PW-2 Raju Singh, witness of Panchayanama, is a resident of the village of accused persons. It is to be noted that PW-1 has also proved the inquest report as Ext. K-2 and PW-2 has also identified his signature over the inquest report. PW-3, Constable Narendra Singh is the scribe of FIR and he has proved the Chik FIR Ext. K-3 and case Registration GD as Ext. K-4. In his cross-examination, he has stated that it is true that the informant or any of his family members never informed the police regarding the said incident for a period of 2 months and 16 days.

22. PW-4 Dr. Ravindra Pratap Singh has proved autopsy report as Ext. K-5. In his cross-examination, he has stated that the deceased had died due to Septesemia and infection and pus was found in the both lungs of the deceased at the time of post mortem.

23. PW-5, Circle Officer Narendra Dev, is the Investigating Officer of the case, he has proved the topography of the place of occurrence and the site plan Ext. K-6. He has recorded the statement of the informant, scribe of the FIR, witness of the inquest report and also made a copy of the dying declaration in the case diary. After completion of investigation, he also submitted charge-sheets Ext. K-7, 8 and 9 in the court. In his cross-examination he had admitted that during investigation witness Netrapal had stated that the deceased Hema was very ill tempered and irritable lady.

24. PW-6, Tehsildar, Pooran Singh Rana, in his deposition has categorically stated that on 4.5.2014 at 11:53 am he has recorded the dying declaration of Smt. Hema at Mairaj Hospital, Aligarh, and prior to the recording of that statement he obtained the certificate from the doctor that she was fully conscious and, in a position to record her statement. After recording the dying declaration, he obtained certificate from the doctor that during the course of recording the statement, she had been fully conscious and, in a position to record her statement. PW-6 has proved the dying declaration as Ext. K-10.

25. PW-7 Dr. Mairaj Ali, has also proved the process of recording of dying declaration in his deposition and has confirmed this fact that dying declaration was recorded on 4.5.2014 at 11:50 am in Mairaj Hospital, Aligarh, by Sri P.S Rana, Additional City Magistrate I, Aligarh, he has also confirmed his certificate mentioned upon Ext. K-10.

26. In his cross-examination, PW-7 has deposed that at the time of admission in his Hospital, she was 50%-60% burnt where she remained admitted in the hospital along with her parents for 4-5 days.

27. It is a settled principle of law that the defence evidence to be weighed in the same manner as the prosecution evidence. On this aspect, shalter can be taken of Mahendra Singh vs State of M.P. (2022) 7 SCC 157.

28. DW-1 Pawan Kumar Sharma who is a resident of the village of the appellants/accused persons has stated that at the time of occurrence he was present at the house of the deceased and saw that the deceased set ablazed herself and was crying. He had also tried to save the deceased. In his cross-examination he has stated that he was also burnt when he was trying to save the deceased. However, he has admitted that the deceased had not set ablazed herself before him. Hence, the deposition of D.W. 1 is of no help of the accused persons.

29. On taking note of the evidence and other aspects of the matter it is evident that the death of the deceased had occurred within seven years from the date of her marriage. From the Medical Evidence, it has been proved beyond reasonable doubt that death of the deceased had occurred in such circumstances which were not normal. Thus, the fact of unnatural death of the deceased within 7 years of her marriage has been fully established. Now, the question arises for consideration as to whether the allegations made by the prosecution would be sufficient to satisfy the ingredients of Section 304-B IPC with regard to demand of dowry, perpetration of cruelty and harassment in connection with demand of dowry. Further, if such cruelty and harassment suffered by the deceased was continuous and had put to her life miserable so as to bring her home death. It is well settled that such cruelty or harassment are to be linked with the close proximity of time soon before her death.

30. It is pertinent to mention here that there is no witness of fact on record to corroborate the deposition of PW-1 who is the brother of the deceased. No other family member from the parental side of the deceased has been examined. The evidence of PW-1 if taken as a whole, is shaky and is of uncertain character so far as the dowery death in concerned. Whereas in his examination in chief he has stated about harassment and demand of dowry from his sister, in the cross-examination, he has stated that she was very ill tempered and after used to come to her parental house without any information to her in-laws to which she was scolded and rather beaten by her parents and this incident happened just before her death. Hence, the statement of PW-1 ultimately proves that the ingredient of "soon before death' has also not been established at all. Since the prosecution failed to establish the necessary ingredient of "soon before death' which was a must to prove the guilt of the accused persons under Section 304-B IPC, it can be concluded that the offence under Section 304-B is not established from the evidence on record and therefore, no presumption can be drawn under Section 113B of the Indian Evidence Act, which means that the burden of proof remains upon the prosecution and it is not shifted on the defence side by virtue of non-application of section 113B of the Indian Evidence Act. Depending upon the facts and circumstances of the case reference can be made in Kailash vs. State of Madhya Pradesh, AIR 2007 SC 107, wherein it has been held that the word "soon before death' in section 113B cannot be limited by fixing time limit. It is left to be determined by the Courts, depending upon the facts and circumstances of the case. It has been held by Hon'ble Apex Court in Devinder vs. State of Haryana, (2010) 10 SCC 763: 2012 (10) JT 249 that Section 113B read with Section 4 of the Act would mean that unless and until it is proved otherwise, the Court shall hold that a person has caused dowry death of a woman if it is established before the Court that soon before her death such woman has been subjected by such person to cruelty or harassment for, or in connection with any demand for dowry. The similar view has been taken in G.V. Siddaramesh vs. State of Karnataka, (2010) 3 SCC 152 wherein it has been held that there must be material to show that soon before the death of woman, such woman was subjected to cruelty or harassment for or in connection with demand of dowry, then only a presumption can be drawn that a person has committed the dowry death of a woman.

31. It is pertinent to mention here that alternative charge under Section 302 IPC has been framed against the accused persons and the learned Trial Court has relied upon the dying declaration of the deceased Ext. K-10, as a proof thereof.

32. The learned counsel for the appellant has vehemently argued that the dying declaration in this case is not a valid piece of evidence. It has not been corroborated by any cogent evidence. On the other hand the learned AGA has relied upon the case law of Hon'ble Apex Court in State v. Veer Pal and Others (2022) 2 SCC (Criminal) 224 wherein it has been held as under :-

16 Now, on the aspect, where in the absence of any corroborative evidence, there can be a conviction relying upon the dying declaration only is concerned, the decision of this Court in Munnu Raja (Munnu Raja vs. State of M.P., (1976) 3 scc 104: 1976 SCC (Cri) 376) and the subsequent decision in Paniben vs. State of Gujrat [Paniben v. State of Gujarat, (1992) 2 SCC 474: 1992, SCC (Cri) 403] are required to be referred to. In the aforesaid decisions, it is specifically observed and held that there is neither a rule of law nor of prudence to the effect that a dying declaration cannot be acted upon without a corroboration. It is observed and held that if the Court is satisfied that the dying declaration is true and voluntary it can base its conviction on it, without corroboration. Similar view has also been expressed in State of U.P. Vs. Ram Sagar Yadav [State of U.P. vs. Ram Sagar Yadav] (1985) 1 SCC 552; 1985 ACC (Cri) 127] and Ramawati Devi vs. State of Bihar. [Ramwati Devi vs. State of Bihar] (1983) 1 SCC 211: 1983 SCC (Cri) 169]. Therefore, there can be a conviction solely based upon the dying declaration without corroboration.

33. In the present case, PW-6 has recorded the dying declaration of the deceased in the Mairaj Hospial, Aligarh on 4.5.2014 at 11:53 a.m. and has proved it as Ext. K-10. What the deceased had spoken is verbatim written in Ext. K-10 like this:-

" आग कैसे लगी- मेरे सास, जेठानी अंजली, जेठ बच्चू सिह, देवर सुखवीर ने 3-4 दिन पहले मारा था। शुक्रवार को इन लोगो ने मिट्टी तेल डाल कर आग लगाई। यह घटना सुवह की है। तुम कहाँ थी- मैं कपड़े धो रही थी। आग क्यों लगाई- मुझे निकालने को कहते थे। घरवाला कहाँ था- काम पर गये थे। शादी कब हुई- एक साल हो गया है। बच्चे हैं- नहीं । मुझे कहते थे तीन लाख रूपया कर्जा हटाने के लिये लाओ लोन का।"

34. A certificate has been given by Dr. Mairaj Ali PW-7 before and after recording of the dying declaration which has been endorsed on Ext. K-10 to the effect that Smt. Hema Devi is all conscious and will oriented with time, place and person and is fit for recording of statement. He has also certified that the patient remained conscious and oriented till the end of recording of statement. From the statement of PW-6 and PW-7 it is absolutely clear that there is no tutoring in the whole process of the recording of the dying declaration of Ext. K-10 and it is genuine and innocent statement. PW-6 Pooran Singh Rana, the then Additional City Magistrate I, Aligarh, is a responsible officer and an interested witness. No material circumstance comes out from the analysis of the evidence on record to establish that the Magistrate had any orientation against the accused hence, question of doubt on declaration recorded by PW-6, does not arrive at all.

35. Learned counsel for the appellant submitted that the medical evidence shows that the deceased died due to Septicemic shock after about two and a half months from the date of occurrence and, therefore, it cannot be said that the deceased was done to death and she was murdered.

36. The Trial Court has also relied upon the dying declaration made by Smt. Hema and has found that offence under Section 304 B IPC is not made out against the accused persons but they could not get rid of the charge under Section 302/34 IPC. It has also been observed by learned Trial Court that perusal of dying declaration Ext. K-10 shows that accused Arjun, husband of the deceased, was not present at the time of occurrence and as such he has been acquitted from all the charges by Trial court. Accordingly, the present appellants have also been acquitted from the charges under Section 498A, 304B and Section 4 Dowry Prohibition Act, but at the same time on the basis of dying declaration they have been found guilty under Section 302/34 IPC and have been sentenced accordingly.

37. While replying to the plea of the learned counsel for the appellants that since the death was caused due to septicaemia and it took place after about two and half months from the date of occurrence, dying declaration is not reliable and inadmissible, the learned AGA has relied upon the case of B. Sanghikala v. State of Andhra Pradesh, 2005 SCC (Criminal) 171, wherein it has been held that there is no legal requirement that dying declaration could be admissible in evidence only when made under expectation of death.

38. While considering the conclusion arrived at by the learned Trial court and the sentence imposed upon by it, we would have to see as to whether the deceased was done to death, however, the cause of death due to Septisemic Shock will not take out from the purview of Section 300 IPC.

39. However, the question which falls for our consideration is whether, on reappraisal of the peculiar facts and circumstances of the case is that the conviction of the appellant under Section 302 of I.P.C. of the Indian Penal Code should be upheld or the conviction deserves to be converted under Section 304 Part-I or Part-II of the Indian Penal Code. It would be relevant to refer Section 299 of the Indian Penal Code, which reads as under:

"299. Culpable homicide: Whoever causes death by doing an act with the intention of causing death, or with the intention of causing such bodily injury as is likely to cause death, or with the knowledge that he is likely by such act to cause death, commits the offence of culpable homicide."

40. The academic distinction between "murder' and "culpable homicide not amounting to murder' has always vexed the Courts. The confusion is caused, if Courts losing sight of the true scope and meaning of the terms used by the legislature in these sections, allow themselves to be drawn into minute abstractions. The safest way of approach to the interpretation and application of these provisions seems to be to keep in focus the keywords used in the various clauses of Section 299 and 300 of I.P.Code. The following comparative table will be helpful in appreciating the points of distinction between the two offences.

Section 299	Section 300
A person commits culpable homicide if the act by which the death is caused is done-	Subject to certain exceptions culpable homicide is murder is the act by which the death is caused is done.
INTENTION
(a) with the intention of causing death; or	(1) with the intention of causing death; or
(b) with the intention of causing such bodily injury as is likely to cause death; or	(2) with the intention of causing such bodily injury as the offender knows to be likely to cause the death of the person to whom the harm is caused;
KNOWLEDGE	KNOWLEDGE
(c) with the knowledge that the act is likely to cause death.	(4) with the knowledge that the act is so immediately dangerous that it must in all probability cause death or such bodily injury as is likely to cause death, and without any excuse for incurring the risk of causing death or such injury as is mentioned above.

41. On overall scrutiny of the facts and circumstances of the present case coupled with the opinion of the Medical Officer and considering the principle laid down by the Apex Court in the Case of Tukaram and Ors Vs. State of Maharashtra, reported in (2011) 4 SCC 250 and in the case of B.N. Kavatakar and Another Vs. State of Karnataka, reported in 1994 SUPP (1) SCC 304, we are of the considered opinion that the offence would be one punishable under Section 304 part-I of the IPC.

42. From the upshot of the aforesaid discussions, it appears that the death caused by the accused was not premeditated, accused had no intention to cause death of deceased, the injuries were though sufficient in the ordinary course of nature to have caused death, accused had no intention to do away with deceased, hence the instant case falls under the Exceptions 1 and 4 to Section 300 of IPC. While considering Section 299 as reproduced herein above offence committed will fall under Section 304 Part-I as per the observations of the Apex Court in Veeran and others Vs. State of M.P. (2011) 5 SCR 300 which have to be also kept in mind.

43. We can safely rely upon the decision of the Gujarat High court in Criminal Appeal No.83 of 2008 (Gautam Manubhai Makwana Vs. State of Gujarat) decided on 11.9.2013 wherein the Court held as under:

"12. In fact, in the case of Krishan vs. State of Haryana reported in (2013) 3 SCC 280, the Apex Court has held that it is not an absolute principle of law that a dying declaration cannot form the sole basis of conviction of an accused. Where the dying declaration is true and correct, the attendant circumstances show it to be reliable and it has been recorded in accordance with law, the deceased made the dying declaration of her own accord and upon due certification by the doctor with regard to the state of mind and body, then it may not be necessary for the court to look for corroboration. In such cases, the dying declaration alone can form the basis for the conviction of the accused. But where the dying declaration itself is attended by suspicious circumstances, has not been recorded in accordance with law and settled procedures and practices, then, it may be necessary for the court to look for corroboration of the same."

13. However, the complaint given by the deceased and the dying declaration recorded by the Executive Magistrate and the certificate given by the doctor are consistent and seem to be trustworthy. The same is also duly corroborated with the evidence of witnesses and the medical reports as well as panchnama and it is clear that the deceased died a homicidal death due to the act of the appellants in pouring kerosene oil and setting her ablaze. We do find that the dying declaration is trust worthy.

14. However, we have also not lost sight of the fact that the deceased had died after about two and half months of treatment. From the medical reports, it is clear that the deceased suffered from Septicemia which happened due to extensive burns.

15. In the case of the B.N. Kavatakar and another (supra), the Apex Court in a similar case of septicemia where the deceased therein had died in the hospital after five days of the occurrence of the incident in question, converted the conviction under section 302 to under section 326 and modified the sentence accordingly.

15.1 Similarly, in the case of Maniben vs. State of Gujrat, 2009 (8) SCC 796, the Apex Court has observed as under:-

"18. The deceased was admitted in the hospital with about 60% burn injuries and during the course of treatment developed septicemia, which was the main cause of death of the deceased. It is, therefore, established that during the aforesaid period of 8 days the injuries aggravated and worsened to the extent that it led to ripening of the injuries and the deceased died due to poisonous effect of the injuries.

19. It is established from the dying declaration of the deceased that she was living separately from her mother-in-law, the appellant herein, for many years and that on the day in question she had a quarrel with the appellant at her house. It is also clear from the evidence on record that immediately after the quarrel she along with her daughter came to fetch water and when she was returning, the appellant came and threw a burning tonsil on the clothes of the deceased. Since the deceased was wearing a terylene cloth at that relevant point of time, it aggravated the fire which caused the burn injuries.

20. There is also evidence on record to prove and establish that the action of the appellant to throw the burning tonsil was preceded by a quarrel between the deceased and the appellant. From the aforesaid evidence on record it cannot be said that the appellant had the intention that such action on her part would cause the death or such bodily injury to the deceased, which was sufficient in the ordinary course of nature to cause the death of the deceased. Therefore, in our considered opinion, the case cannot be said to be covered under clause (4) of Section 300 of IPC. We are, however, of the considered opinion that the case of the appellant is covered under Section 304 Part II of IPC."

44. In the present case, we have come to the irresistible conclusion that the role of the appellants is clear from the dying declaration and other records. However, the point which has also weighed with this court are that the deceased had survived for around two and half months after the occurrence and ultimately died of septicemia. In that view of the matter, we are of the opinion that the conviction of the appellants under section 302 of Indian Penal Code is required to be converted to that under section 304(I) of Indian Penal Code and in view of the same appeal is partly allowed and the sentence of the accused persons/ appellant is reduced to the period of 10 years with remission. The period already under gone can be sustained in the full period of incarceration.

45. The fine is reduced to Rs. 5000/- each to be paid to the original complainant. The default sentence would be 6 months with remission and will run after completion of 10 years incarceration. The accused persons have been languishing in jail since long, at least each of them has suffered for about 8 years of imprisonment and must have repented to their deed which was out of anger.

45. It is to be made clear that accused/appellant Smt. Anguri Devi, has already been released from the prison on the basis of mercy petition of 4.8.2022 hence, she need not under go any imprisonment.

Accordingly, the appeal is partly allowed. Record and proceedings be sent back to the court below forthwith

A. Criminal Law - Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973-Section 374(2) - Indian Penal Code, 1860-Sections 498-A, 304-B, 201, 302 - 3/4 Dowry Prohibition Act,1961-Challenge to-Conviction-Accidental death converted into dowry death-Applicant and his wife met accident while returning home on a motorcycle-wife succumbed to injuries-informant gave a colour of accidental death to dowry death-applicant proved the medical reports of the treatment while trial court did not consider the Panchnama in proper manner upon which signature of informant was taken and he was also present in the cremation-Hence, on the basis of defence evidence, both oral and documentary and in the circumstances of the case, the convicts/appellants have succeeded to create a doubt about the genuineness of the prosecution case-It is well settled principle of law that when the genesis and the manner of the incident is doubtful, the accused cannot be convicted-Thus, the appellants are acquitted of the charges leveled against them and the impugned order is set aside.(Para 1 to 49)

B. In a criminal trial, if the accused succeeds to create a reasonable doubt in the mind of the Court as regards to his guilt and on the basis of evidence-oral, documentary or circumstantial adduced in his defence, it is sufficient for his acquittal because the burden to prove its case lies heavily and solely beyond reasonable doubt upon the prosecution. (Para 41 to 46)

The appeals are allowed. (E-6)

1. These criminal appeals have been preferred by appellants Smt. Seema, Devendra Singh and Praveen Singh against the judgment and order dated 15.09.2015 passed by Additional District & Sessions Judge / Fast Track Court No.2, Moradabad in Sessions Trial No.1549 of 2008 (State Versus Devendra Singh and others) arising out of case crime no.701 of 2005 under sections 498-A, 304-B, 201, 302 IPC and section 3/4 Dowry Prohibition Act, Police Station Asmauli, District Moradabad convicting and sentencing all the appellants for the offence under section 498-A IPC to undergo 2 years rigorous imprisonment with fine of Rs.5000/- and in default of payment of fine, three months further rigorous imprisonment, for the offence under section 304-B IPC to undergo imprisonment for life, for the offence under section 201 IPC to undergo 2 years rigorous imprisonment with fine of Rs.5000/- and in default of payment of fine, three months further rigorous imprisonment and for the offence under section 4 Dowry Prohibition Act to undergo one year rigorous imprisonment with fine of Rs.5000/- and in default of payment of fine, three months further rigorous imprisonment. All sentences were directed to run concurrently.

2. Factual scenario as culled out from the F.I.R. is that the informant (P.W.1) solemnized the marriage of his daughter with Devendra Singh (accused) on 8.4.2004 in which he spent around six lac rupees, but her husband and in-laws' were not satisfied with the dowry and they used to blame the daughter of the informant for not fulfilling their demand. Daughter of the informant had told this fact to him and other family members when she returned from her matrimonial house. On 30.6.2004, when the informant went to meet his daughter at her in-laws' house, she told that her jeth, jethani and mother-in-law had made a demand of rupees five lacs and started extending torture to her. On 31.10.2004, the informant went to her daughter's place on the occasion of karwachauth and made complaint to Devendra, the husband, regarding harassment and additional demand of dowry. On 18.11.2004, the informant again visited her daughter's matrimonial house, but no one was found over there. On query being made, the neighbours informed that Devendra, his mother, his brother and bhabhi have committed the murder of her daughter due to demand of dowry and also destroyed the evidence thereof. Informant was not informed regarding the death of his daughter. The Police did not lodge any F.I.R. despite efforts of the informant and ultimately by order of the Court, F.I.R. was lodged.

3. Initially, the investigation was made by C.O. Harendra Pratap Singh (P.W.4), but subsequently it was transferred to C.O. Brijesh Kumar Srivastava (P.W.5), who conducting the proceedings of investigation, recorded statements of witnesses, prepared site plan Ext. A4 and after completion of entire formalities, charge-sheets Ext. A5 and Ext. A6 were submitted to the Court by the last I.O. Dpy. S.P. Sushil Kumar (P.W.6).

4. Magistrate concerned took cognizance in the matter and the case, being exclusively triable by the Sessions Court, was committed to the Court of Sessions.

5. The Trial Court framed charges against accused Devendra Singh, Praveen Singh and Smt. Seema for the offence under Sections 498A, 304-B, 302, 201, 3/4 Dowry Prohibition Act on 18.7.2011.

6. Accused denied the charges framed against them, pleading not guilty and claimed to be tried.

7. Accused Smt. Krishna died before framing of charge and the case was abated against her.

8. In order to prove its case, prosecution examined six witnesses. Out of them, P.W.1 is Bhagwant Singh, the informant, P.W.2 Sudeep, the brother of the deceased, P.W.3 Hukum Singh, the uncle of the deceased, P.W.4 Circle Officer Harendra Pratap Singh, the first investigating officer, P.W.5 Brijesh Kumar Srivastava, the subsequent investigating officer and P.W.6 Circle Officer Sushil Kumar, the last investigating officer.

9. As per documentary evidence, application under section 156 (3) Cr.P.C. Ext. A-1, affidavit Ext. A-2, Chik F.I.R. Ext. A-3, Site Plan Ext. A-4, Charge-sheet Ext. A-5 and A-6 and application Ext. A-7 have been filed.

10. On conclusion of prosecution evidence, statement of accused-persons were recorded under section 313 Cr.P.C. wherein they denied all the allegations and incriminating evidence against them and stated that their implication in the present case is totally false. Narrating the story, they have stated that on 16.11.2004, Devendra was returning home along with his wife (deceased) on a motorcycle bearing registration no.UP-81 - 8427 and when they reached village Nandpur Beeta at 7:30 P.M., an unknown DCM vehicle hit their motorcycle, due to which Devendra and his wife became injured and thereafter his wife succumbed to the injuries. Devendra also received injuries in the said accident. He got treated at Sai Hospital, Moradabad, Sainik Hospital, Meerut and lastly at Army Hospital, Kocchi. It was further stated that accidental case was converted into a case of dowry death. Panchnama was prepared on spot in the presence of informant and his family members who were also present at the time of cremation.

11. Accused persons in their defence have examined D.W.1 Harpal Singh, D.W.2 Ranjit Singh, D.W.3 Tirmal Singh, D.W.4 Dr. Anurag Agarwal, D.W.5 Rajendra Singh, D.W.6 C.P. 93 Harvir Singh, D.W.7 Devendra Singh (Accused), D.W.8 Chandan Giri Goswami and D.W.9 S.I. Anil Kumar.

12. Bed Head Ticket of Sai Hospital Ext. Kha-1, Panchnama Ext. Kha-2, Discharge Slip Ext. Kha-3, Medical Report Ext. Kha-4, Medical Treatment Report Ext. Kha-5, Treatment paper and discharge slip Ext. Kha-6, Kha-7 respectively have been produced as documentary evidence by defence.

13. Trial Court, having heard learned counsels for parties and going through entire record, vide impugned judgment and order, convicted and sentenced the accused-appellants as above. Hence, feeling aggrieved with said judgment and order, accused-appellants have filed this appeal.

14. Heard Sri Rajarshi Gupta, learned counsel for the appellants, Sri N.K. Srivastava, learned A.G.A for the State and perused the entire record.

15. P.W.1 Bhagwant Singh has proved the application moved before the Court under section 156 (3) Cr.P.C. as Ext. A-1 and he has also proved the facts of the marriage of her daughter with accused Devendra Singh on 8.4.2004. He has also deposed that accused-persons Devendra, Praveen, Seema and Krishna used to demand rupees five lacs as additional dowry from her and she was subjected to cruelty for the demand of dowry. He has further deposed that his daughter used to tell those incidents to him and when on 18.11.2004 he went to the house of the accused-persons to meet his daughter, the neighbours told that the accused-persons have murdered his daughter and the dead body was set to fire. In his cross-examination, he has expressed his ignorance about the alleged motorcycle accident wherein accused Devendra got injured and subsequently hospitalized and his daughter died. He does not know the cause of death of his daughter Sarita.

16. P.W.2 Sudeep is the brother of the deceased and he has also corroborated the deposition of P.W.1 and has categorically stated that the accused-persons used to demand additional dowry from his sister and she was continuously subjected to cruelty for demand of dowry.

17. P.W.3 Hukum Singh is the brother of the informant. He has also corroborated the statement of P.W.1 and supported the prosecution version in his deposition.

18. P.W.4 C.O. Harendra Pratap Yadav has deposed as secondary witness for H.M. Ganga Singh, the scribe of the F.I.R. and has proved the chik F.I.R. as Ext. A-3. This witness is also the first I.O. of the case and he had recorded the statement of H.M. Ganga Singh.

19. P.W.5 C.O. Brijesh Kumar Srivastava is the second I.O. of the case who has proved the site-plan Ext. A-4 prepared after inspection of the spot, which was prepared on the basis of the identification of the informant. He has also recorded the statement of the informant and other witnesses.

20. P.W.6 Dy. S.P. Sushil Kumar is the third I.O. of the case, who has proved the proceedings of investigation in his deposition and has also proved charge-sheets Ext. A-5 and A-6.

21. After prosecution evidence was over, the incriminating circumstances and evidence were put to the accused-persons. The accused-persons in their statement under section 313 Cr.P.C. has denied the prosecution story and told the whole evidence as false and fabricated. They have taken a specific defence that on 16.11.2004, accused Devendra was coming from his in-laws' house by motorcycle. At about 7:30 P.M., near village Nandpur Beeta, one unknown DCM vehicle collided with his motorcycle and both of them got injured. Deceased Sarita died of the injuries and accused Devendra was admitted into Sai Hospital, Moradabad and subsequently Sainik Hospital and later on he was treated in Sainik Hospital, Meerut and Sainik School Hospital, Kocchi (Kerala). The informant has maliciously gave a colour of dowry death to an accidental case. It has also been stated that in the pressure of the informant of the case, a panchnama was also prepared and all the family members of the deceased were present at the time of cremation.

22. To give support to the contention of whatsoever stated in the statement under Section 313 Cr.P.C., the convicts have adduced oral and documentary evidence also.

23. Assailing the findings, learned counsel appearing for appellants argued that the prosecution case is totally baseless and from the evidence available on record, no case is made out as against the convicts / appellants. The impugned judgment is based on surmises and conjectures. There was no eye-witness or even any circumstantial evidence to connect the convicts / appellants with the crime alleged against them. It has been further submitted that the learned trial court has misinterpreted the evidence available on record and has not given any weightage to the defence evidence which was against the norms of the established legal principles. It has been submitted that no ingredients to bring home the guilt of the accused under section 304-B IPC was proved by the prosecution.

24. Per contra, the learned A.G.A. has contended that the impugned judgment suffers with no lacuna or error and the appeals, being devoid of merit, are liable to be dismissed.

25. Before appreciating the rival submissions made by both the sides, we have to put a glance upon relevant provisions of law.

Section 304-B IPC - Dowry death.--"(1) Where the death of a woman is caused by any burns or bodily injury or occurs otherwise than under normal circumstances within seven years of her marriage and it is shown that soon before her death she was subjected to cruelty or harassment by her husband or any relative of her husband for, or in connection with, any demand for dowry, such death shall be called "dowry death', and such husband or relative shall be deemed to have caused her death.

Explanation.-- For the purpose of this sub-section, "dowry' shall have the same meaning as in Section 2 of the Dowry Prohibition Act, 1961 (28 of 1961).

(2) Whoever commits dowry death shall be punished with imprisonment for a term which shall not be less than seven years but which may extend to imprisonment for life."

26. In a catena of decisions, the ingredients to be proved in order to convict an accused for the offence punishable under Section 304-B IPC are promulgated. In Maya Devi and Another Versus State of Haryana (2015) 17 Supreme Court Cases 405, it has been reiterated that the following essentials must be satisfied to successfully charge under section 304-B IPC :

(i) the death of a woman must have been caused by burns or bodily injury or otherwise than under normal circumstances;

(ii) such death must have occurred within seven years of her marriage;

(iii) soon before her death, the woman must have been subjected to cruelty or harassment by her husband or any relatives of her husband;

(iv) such cruelty or harassment must be for, or in connection with, demand for dowry.

27. P.W.1 says that the marriage between the deceased and accused Devendra was solemnized on 8.4.2004 and this fact has been corroborated by P.W.2 and P.W.3 also. The death of the deceased was caused on 18.11.2004. This is an admitted position of fact that the deceased died within seven years of her marriage.

28. The prosecution alleges that the accused-persons, to fulfill their demand of dowry, caused the dowry death of the deceased and a specific defence has been taken by the accused-persons that the deceased died in a road accident wherein accused Devendra was also got injured. It is argued that in such circumstances, one has no hesitation to say that the death of the deceased may be called as unnatural death.

29. It has also been submitted by the learned A.G.A. that P.W.1, P.W.2 and P.W.3 have narrated in their deposition that the deceased was subjected to cruelty for the demand of additional dowry by her in-laws and they used to harass her to fulfill the demand of rupees five lacs. They have also stated that the accused-persons forcibly obtained the signature of the deceased on withdrawal form and withdrew rupees two lacs from the Bank account of the deceased. P.W.1 has also stated that he went to the in-laws of his daughter and requested them not to harass the deceased, but they did not pay any attention to it. In their cross-examination, P.W.1, P.W.2 and P.W.3, besides minor contradictions, have corroborated the each other's version so far as the fact of demand of additional dowry and cruelty caused to the deceased is concerned. The learned A.G.A. has also submitted that element of "soon before" has been established by the prosecution evidence. P.W.1 in his examination-in-chief has stated that when, on 31.10.2004, he went to the in-laws of his daughter on the occasion of Karwachauth, the deceased told her regarding the demand of rupees five lacs and also her harassment for this demand, of which he had also complained to the accused-persons and some days after, on 18.11.2004, he was informed of the murder of her daughter. This ingredient of "soon before" has also been proved by P.W.2 in his deposition.

30. The learned A.G.A. has submitted that in this way, the prosecution has proved its case beyond reasonable doubt and the learned trial court has committed no error in holding the accused-persons guilty of the offence of dowry death.

31. The learned counsel for the appellants has vehemently argued that no evidence has been adduced by the prosecution to show as to the death of the deceased was unnatural. He has submitted that the accused-persons / appellants have a specific defence that the death of the deceased was caused in a road accident when she was going by motorcycle with her husband accused Devendra. He has also argued that sufficient evidence in this respect has been adduced by the convicts, but the learned trial court with a preoccupied mind did not analyze the defence evidence in proper manner and rejected it out-rightly without giving any weight, which was improper.

32. In Neel Kumar alias Anil Kumar Versus State of Haryana (2012) 5 Supreme Court Cases 766 (paragraph-30), the Hon'ble Apex Court has held - "It is the duty of the accused to explain the incriminating circumstance proved against him while making a statement under Section 313 Cr.P.C. Keeping silent and not furnishing any explanation for such circumstance is an additional link in the chain of circumstances to sustain the charges against him."

33. In Janak Yadav and Others Versus State of Bihar, 1999 SCC (Criminal) 558 (559), it was held that Section 313 Cr.P.C. prescribes a procedural safeguard for an accused facing the trial to be granted an opportunity to explain the facts and circumstances appearing against him in the prosecution's evidence. That opportunity is a valuable one and cannot be ignored.

34. The learned counsel for the appellants has submitted that to support their version in the statement under Section 313 Cr.P.C., oral and documentary evidence has also been adduced from the defence side. He has relied upon the decision of the Hon'ble Apex Court in Munshi Prasad Versus State of Bihar (2002) 1 SCC 351 wherein it has been held that the evidence tendered by the defence witnesses cannot always be termed to be a tainted one by reason of the factum of the witnesses being examined by the defence. The defence witnesses are entitled to equal respect and treatment as that of the prosecution. The issue of credibility and trustworthiness ought also to be attributed to the defence witnesses on a par with that of the prosecution. A lapse on the part of the defence witnesses cannot be differentiated and be treated differently than that of the prosecutors' witnesses. The judgment was followed in Adam Bhai Suleman Bhai Ajmeri Versus State of Gujarat (2014) 7 SCC 716.

35. D.W.7 accused Devendra Singh himself has supported his evidence in statement given under Section 313 Cr.P.C. He has affirmed this fact that on 16.11.2004, when he was driving motorcycle with his wife sitting behind him, at about 7:00 P.M., one vehicle hit his motorcycle from behind wherein he got injured and his wife succumbed to injuries. He was admitted in Sai Hospital, Moradabad and subsequently sent to the Military Hospital, Meerut and Sanjeevini Hospital, Cochin and the record of the treatment was deposited in Mumbai Cabs. He has proved the discharge slip of the Meerut Hospital executed by Sri Jaideep Chaudhary, Surgeon Commander as Ext. Kha-3. He has also proved the medical reports of Sanjeevini Hospital executed by the same Jaideep Chaudhary as Ext. Kha-4, 5, 6 and 7, which include the treatment report and discharge slip as well. He has also narrated this fact that report in the accident case was lodged under Sections 279, 337, 338, 304-A IPC against unknown driver, however subsequently charge-sheet against the accused / driver Narendra Singh was submitted and criminal case is pending.

36. It also transpires from the record that when F.I.R. in the accidental case was not lodged, an application under Section 156 (3) Cr.P.C. was moved by Praveen Singh, the brother of the husband / accused Devendra Singh before the Court and by order of the Court dated 11.10.2012, the application was allowed and S.O. Asmauli was directed to lodge an F.I.R. and investigate into the matter. This order (Ext. Kha-12) is available on the trial court record. Ext. Kha-11 is the copy of the judgment of the revisional court wherein the order dated 11.10.2012 was challenged and the revision was dismissed. Ext. Kha-9 and Ext. Kha-10 are the copies of F.I.R. and charge-sheet relating to the case of the accident registered as Crime No.288 of 2012 wherein the date and time of the accident is mentioned as on 16.11.2004 at 7:00 P.M. Charge-sheet into the matter has also been submitted against the accused / driver Narendra Singh. All these papers are available on the record of the trial court and proved.

37. The learned counsel for the appellants has submitted that the learned trial court has not considered the aforesaid documents in right perspective. It has been submitted that the learned trial court has emphasized upon the requirement of inquest and postmortem of the body of the deceased in an accidental case, but he has not considered Ext. Kha-2 Panchnama in proper manner.

38. It has been vehemently argued that statement of P.W.1 Bhagwant Singh has been given weightage by the trial court wherein he has stated that he was not present at the time of Panchnama and he has also relied upon the statement of cross-examination of D.W.5 wherein he has stated that when he reached on the spot, Bhagwant Singh was not present over there. The learned counsel for the appellants has drawn the attention of this Court towards the statement of P.W.1 Bhagwant Singh himself, who, in his cross-examination at page no.15 has admitted that " मैं अपने दस्तखत पहचानता हूँ काo संo 64 A / 3 प्रदर्श खा-2 पर भी मेरे हस्ताक्षर हैं l It is pertinent to mention that Paper No. Ext. Kha-2 is the Panchnama, which has been written by Rajendra Singh, D.W.5 at the place of accident. It also bears the signature of Bhagwant Singh, Surendra Singh, Gajendra Singh, Roop Singh, Jitendra Singh, Hari Om Singh and Satveer Singh. In Ext. Kha-2, it has been mentioned that the death of the deceased Sarita has been caused on spot in a road accident at Simli - Nandpur Beeta Road and Devendra Singh has been admitted into Sai Hospital, Moradabad in injured condition for treatment. It has also been mentioned that the family members of Devendra Singh and deceased Sarita are present on the spot along with several other persons. All the Panchas are of the opinion that since it is a case of sudden accidental death, no legal formality is required and with the consent of all the persons, the cremation of the deceased ought to be performed. It has been submitted that accordingly the cremation of the deceased was performed in the presence of the family members of the deceased.

39. Learned counsel for the appellants has submitted that since Bhagwant Singh - P.W.1, the father of the deceased, was himself present on spot and was very well aware of the fact that it was an accidental death and he was also consenting for the cremation of her deceased daughter, there is no doubt that it was not a case of homicidal or dowry death rather it was a case of accidental death.

40. We have focused upon the issue of burden of proof lying upon the accused in a criminal proceeding.

41. In Rishi Kesh Singh and others Versus State, AIR 1970 All 51 (FB), which is the leading case on the subject, the issue of burden of proof of the accused has been discussed. The principle enumerated in V.D. Jhingran Versus State of U.P., AIR 1966 SC 1762 has been quoted in the aforesaid judgment, which reads like this -

"It is sufficient if the accused person succeeds in proving a preponderance of probability in favour of his case. It is not necessary for the accused person to prove his case beyond a reasonable doubt or in default to incur a verdict of guilty. The onus of proof lying upon the accused person is to prove his case by a preponderance of probability."

42. Similarly, Harbhajan Singh Versus State of Punjab, AIR 1966 SC 97 has also been quoted wherein it has been held that "Where the burden of an issue lies upon the accused, he is not required to discharge that burden by leading evidence to prove his case beyond a reasonable doubt. That, no doubt, is the test prescribed while deciding whether the prosecution has discharged its onus to prove the guilt of the accused; but that is not a test which can be applied to an accused person who seeks to prove substantially his claim that his case falls under an Exception. Where an accused person is called upon to prove that his case falls under an Exception, law treats the onus as discharged if the accused person succeeds in proving a preponderance of probability."

43. In Rishi Kesh Singh's case (supra) the abovementioned principle has been accepted.

44. In Bhikari Verus State of U.P., AIR 1966 SC Page-1, the Court held that "The doctrine of burden of proof in the context of the plea of insanity may be stated in the following propositions: (1) The prosecution must prove beyond reasonable doubt that the accused had committed the offence with the requisite mens rea; and the burden of proving that always rests on the prosecution from the beginning to the end of the trial. (2) There is a rebuttable presumption that the accused was not insane, when he committed the crime.....the accused may rebut it by placing before the court all the relevant evidence - oral, documentary or circumstantial, but the burden of proof upon him is no higher than that rests upon a party to civil proceedings."

45. From the above, it is to be summed up that in a criminal trial, if the accused succeeds to create a reasonable doubt in the mind of the Court as regards to his guilt and on the basis of evidence - oral, documentary or circumstantial adduced in his defence, it is sufficient for his acquittal because the burden to prove its case lies heavily and solely beyond reasonable doubt upon the prosecution. In the present case also, on the basis of the defence evidence, both oral and documentary and in the circumstances of the case, the convicts / appellants have succeeded to create a doubt about the genuineness of the prosecution case.

46. In Pankaj Versus State of Rajasthan, 2016 AIAR (Criminal) 886 (Supreme Court), it has been held that "it is well-settled principle of law that when the genesis and the manner of the incident is doubtful, the accused cannot be convicted". The evidence produced by the prosecution has neither quality nor credibility, it would be unsafe to rest conviction upon such evidence. (Emphasis supplied)

47. In the facts and circumstances of the present case, the aforesaid law is clearly applicable. On the basis of defence evidence, the convicts / appellants have succeeded to provide an alternative approach to the Court to consider that they might be innocent and the incident did not occur in such a manner and at such place as the prosecution claims. The defence evidence adduced by the convicts / appellants helps their case by a preponderance of probability. The learned trial court did not appreciate the defence evidence and brushed it out in an improper manner.

48. As a result thereof, in our view, the appeals succeeds and the conviction judgment and order of the learned trial court is liable to be set-aside.

49. The Appeals are accordingly allowed. The impugned judgment and order of the Trial Court dated 15.09.2015 convicting and sentencing the convicts / appellants is hereby set aside and the appellants are acquitted of the charges levelled against them. Appellants Smt. Seema and Praveen Singh are on bail, their personal bonds are cancelled and sureties are discharged. Appellant Devendra Singh is in jail. He shall be released forthwith, if not wanted in any other case.

50. Let a copy of this judgment along with lower court record be sent forthwith to court concerned for compliance.

THE HON'BLE DR. KAUSHAL JAYENDRA THAKER, J.
THE HON'BLE NALIN KUMAR SRIVASTAVA, J.

Criminal Appeal No. 6351 of 2007

Naresh Chandra ...Appellant
Versus
State of U.P. ...Respondent

Counsel for the Appellant:
Sri R.P.S. Chauhan, Sri Narendra Kumar, Sri Rabindra Bahadur Singh, Sri Sahabuddin

Counsel for the Respondent:
Govt. Advocate

A. Criminal Law -Criminal Procedure Code, 1973-Section 374(2) - Indian Penal Code, 1860-Section 302-Challenge to-Conviction-One stranger killed a woman with knife-no enmity-no motive- PW-4 and PW-5 had given ocular evidence that they had seen the accused stabbing the deceased and had also caught him on the spot with murder weapon-defence witnesses found not reliable-no defect or irregularity found in the investigation of the case-medical evidence also supports the prosecution case-death caused by accused was not premeditated-injury caused was not on the vital part of the body-accused though had knowledge and intention to cause bodily harm to the deceased but did not want to do away with the deceased-Hence, the Instant case falls under the Section 304 Part I IPC. (Para 1 to 80)

B. The infliction of harsh and savage punishment is thus a relic of past and regressive times. The human body vies sentencing as a process of reshaping a person who has deteriorated into criminality and the modern community has a primary stake in the rehabilitation of the offender as a means of a social defence. Hence, a therapeutic, rather than an 'in terrorem' outlook should prevail in our criminal courts, since brutal incarceration of the person merely produces laceration of his mind. While determining the quantum of sentence, the court should bear in mind the 'Principle of Proportionality'.(Para 75, 76)

The appeal is partly allowed. (E-6)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Dr. Kaushal Jayendra Thaker, J.
Hon'ble Nalin Kumar Srivastava, J.)

1. This criminal appeal has been preferred by the appellant against the judgement and order dated 13.09.2007 passed by the Additional District & Sessions Judge, Court No.9, Moradabad in Session Trial No.127 of 2004 (State vs.

Naresh Chandra) (case crime no. 211 of 2003) convicting and sentencing the appellant for the offence punishable under Section 302 IPC to undergo life imprisonment and a fine of Rs. 10,000/- with stipulation of default clause.

2. Brief facts of the case, as unfolded by the informant Shyam Lal son of Daulat in the First Information Report (in short 'F.I.R.'), are that on 9.10.2003 at about 9.30 a.m. while the informant alongwith his son Natthu and daughter-in-law Shakuntala was standing at Sirswan crossing in village Manpur in front of Stall (khokha) of Pandit Ji, Naresh, son of his brother Masih Charan, suddenly came from behind the Stall and catching the hair bun of Shakuntala, stabbed with knife many times on her body due to which she fell down on another side of the road. The son of the informant made noise but no one turned-up to save her. When the informant rushed towards the Chauki Manpur situated nearby, he saw one Inspector and two Sepoy coming there. Having seen the policemen, Naresh ran away at once towards the Vidhya Niketan School but the policemen caught him alongwith the knife. Recovery memo Ext. A-4 was prepared and, thereafter, informant took away injured Shakuntala to hospital where she was declared dead. The dead body of deceased was sent to Manpur Chauki and accused Naresh was also brought to the Police Station concerned.

3. On the basis of the written report (Ext. ka-1) scribed by one Rajveer Singh, chik First Information Report (Ext. Ka-5) was registered at Police Station concerned on 9.10.2003 at 12.10 p.m. mentioning all the details as described in Ext. Ka-.1. G.D. entry was also made at the same time, which is Ext. Ka-6.

4. Investigation was entrusted to sub-Inspector Sanjiv Kumar (PW-7). He inspected the spot and prepared site plan - Ext. ka-7. He also prepared the inquest report of the deceased (Ext. ka-8) and papers relating to post mortem Ext. A-9 to Ext. A-14. The Investigating Officer also took the sample of plain earth and bloodstained earth from the place of occurrence and prepared the memo Ext. ka-15.

5. Autopsy report (Ext. ka-19) was prepared by Dr. Allauddin Saifi after performing the post mortem of the deceased on 10.10.2003 at 2.00 p.m. On examination of the dead body of the deceased, following ante-mortem injuries were found:

"i. A stabbed wound 3.0 x 2.0 cms. x cavity deep in left axilla.

ii. A stabbed wound 3.5 x 2.5 cms. x muscle deep on anterior surface of left arm 4.0 cms below top of shoulder (Not exposed).

iii. Multiple abrasion in an area 20 x 6.0 cms. on posterior lateral surface of left arm with elbow

iv. An abrasion 6.0 x 4.0 cms. on left side of back of chest 8.0 cms. below left shoulder."

6. In the opinion of the doctor, death was caused due to haemorrhage and shock as a result of ante-mortem injuries.

7. After completing the investigation, charge-sheet (Ext. ka-16) against the appellant was filed. Concerned Magistrate took the cognizance. The case being exclusively triable by sessions court, was committed to the Court of sessions.

8. Appellant appeared before the trial court and charge under Section 302 IPC was framed against him. He denied the charge and claimed his trial.

9. Trial proceeded and in order to prove its case prosecution has examined in all seven witnesses, namely, PW-1 Shyam Lal (informant), PW-2 Natthu (eye witness), PW-3 Dr. Alauddin, PW-4 Sub-Inspector Anil Kumar Yadav (eye witness), PW-5 Constable Shyam Singh (eye witness), PW-6 H.C.P. Khem Singh (scribe of F.I.R.) and PW-7 Sub-Inspector Sanjiv Kumar, the Investigating Officer.

The following documents were exhibited :

10. Written report Ext. A-1, Recovery and arresting memo Ext. A-2, Ext. A-3 and Ext. A-4, F.I.R. Ext. A-5, G.D. Ext. A-6, site plan - Ext. A-7, inquest report Ext. A-8, photo lash Ext. A-9, paper No.33 Ext. A-10, challan lash Ext. A-11, letter to R.I. Ext. A-12, letter to C.M.O. Ext. A-13, sample seal Ext. A-14, seizure memo of plain and bloodstained soil Ext. A-15, charge sheet Ext. A-16, Analysis report from Forensic Science Laboratory Ext. A-17 and Ext. A-18, Autopsy report Ext. A-19.

11. After closure of evidence, incriminating materials appearing in the prosecution evidence were put to the appellant in his statement under Section 313 CrPC. He denied all the incriminating evidence including the alleged recovery of knife by claiming it to be false and bogus and also claimed false implication due to enmity.

12. Appellant in his defence has examined DW-1 Shomit Kumar, DW-2 Dal Chandra, DW-3 Narendra Sharma and DW-4 Constable Brajmohan Rana. DW-4 has proved the copy of G.D. as Ext. kha-1.

Evidence led by the Prosecution :

13. PW-1 Shyam Lal is the informant and eye witness of the occurrence. In his examination in chief he has stated that he reached the spot after receiving the information of murder and he did not see as to who has murdered the deceased. No one even told him the name of the accused. In his deposition he has proved the written report as Ext. A-1 and has stated that he had dictated the report to Rajveer Singh and whatsoever he has stated the same was written in the report. He has also stated that on his report F.I.R. was lodged. The witness was declared hostile by the prosecution and in his cross examination he denied so many contents of the written report Ext. ka-1. On the recovery memo of murder weapon "knife' he has identified his thumb impression which has been exhibited as Ext. A-2 but he has deposed that his thumb impression was taken on a blank paper by the police. When the witness was cross-examined by the defence, he has stated that since he was not in a fit mental condition, he could not understand as to what was written in the Tehrir and the villagers had dictated the report to Rajveer Singh.

14. PW-2, minor son of the informant, is also said to be the eye witness of the occurrence. He is also a hostile witness and has categorically stated that at the time of occurrence he was not present over there and he does not know as to who murdered the deceased. He has also shown his ignorance about the presence of his father Shyam Lal on the spot. In his cross-examination the witness has identified his signature over the recovery memo and Ext. A-3 has been marked over it but he has denied his statement under Section 161 CrPC given to the Investigating Officer. This witness has also stated that his signature was obtained on a blank paper at the Police Chauki, Manpur. Accused Naresh was not arrested before him and no knife was recovered from the accused before him.

15. PW-3 Dr. Alauddin Saifi has performed the autopsy of deceased and has proved the autopsy report as Ext. A-19.

16. PW-4 S.I. Anil Kumar Yadav is said to be present over the place of occurrence at the time of crime. He has stated in his examination in-chief that on 9.10.2003 about 9.30 a.m. while coming to P.S. Bhagatpur from Chauki Manpur alongwith Constable Shyam Singh and Constable Brijesh Kumar Tyagi, he saw from a distance of 50 yards (gaj) that at Sirswan Mod one person was stabbing a lady with knife and other person and a boy were shouting to save her. The aggressor fled towards Tanda but the policemen chased and caught him in front of Vidhya Niketan College at about 9.45 a.m., with a knife in his right hand. He was arrested on the spot. Murder weapon "knife' was also taken into possession by the police and seizure memo Ext. A-4 was prepared on the spot. This witness has also proved the murder weapon "knife' as Material Ext.-1. In his cross-examination PW-4 has stated that he did not give any information to Tanda Police and he brought the deceased alongwith the accused to the Hospital. Deceased at that time was alive.

17. PW-5 Shyam Singh is also said to be the eye witness of the occurrence. In his deposition he has corroborated the evidence of PW-4 and has proved the factum of arrest of accused as well as recovery of murder weapon from his possession. He, claiming himself to be the eye witness of the occurrence, has identified his signature over recovery memo Ext. A-1.

18. PW-6 Head Constable Khem Singh is the scribe of the F.I.R. and has proved the chik F.I.R. and G.D. Rapat No. 24 at 12.10 p.m. as Ext. A-5 and Ext. A-6 respectively. In his cross-examination he has deposed that the scribe of report Rajveer Singh did not come to the police station alongwith the complainant.

19. PW-7 Sub-Inspector Sanjiv Kumar, the Investigating Officer of the case, has proved the proceedings of investigation in his examination-in-chief and also proved the site plan - Ext. A-7. Inquest of the body of the deceased has been performed by this witness and papers relating to the post mortem have also been prepared by him. He has proved the inquest report, photo nash, Form No. 33, challan nash, letter to R.I., letter to C.M.O. and specimen seal as Ext. A-8 to A-14 respectively in his evidence. He has also collected the bloodstained and plain soil from the place of occurrence and its seizure memo Ext. A-15 has also been proved by him. In his cross-examination he has stated that as per the memo, the deceased was taken to the hospital by her father in-law Shyam Lal and his companions but the police had not accompanied the informant Shyam Lal, according to the memo. He has also narrated that in the memo the doctor has endorsed that the stabbing was caused by an unknown person.

Evidence led by the Defence :

20. DW-1 Shomit Kumar, DW-2 Dal Chandra and DW-3 Narendra Sharma, the witnesses produced by the accused, have stated in their deposition that at the time of occurrence they were present on the spot and had seen an unknown person stabbing a lady and accused Naresh Chandra was not present over there at that time. They have also stated that they know the accused very well and they were present at their respective shops at the time and place of occurrence.

21. DW-4 Constable Brajmohan Rana has deposed that on 9.10.2003 at 10.00 a.m. sweeper Awadhesh working at C.H.C. Tanda had given a memo to him at the police station bearing seal of C.H.C. Tanda and signature of doctor, which was entered by him in G.D. Rapat No.17 at 11.00 a.m.. The information was sent to police station Bhagat Pur, District Moradabad through wireless. DW-4 has proved the carbon copy of the G.D. as Ext. kha-1.

22. On the basis of aforesaid evidence, learned trial court came to the conclusion that the prosecution has succeeded to establish the guilt against the accused person on the basis of cogent, consistent and reliable evidence and charge against accused was proved beyond reasonable doubt and accordingly conviction order was passed.

23. Learned counsel for the appellant has assailed the impugned judgment and order on various grounds. It has been argued that prosecution version rests upon the ocular testimony of PW-1, PW-2, PW-3 and PW-4. PW-1 and PW-2 are hostile witnesses and do not support the prosecution version at all. PW-3 and PW-4 are the police officials, who are the chance witnesses and their presence over the place of occurrence is not proved by any cogent evidence. No independent witness has been examined by the prosecution in support of its case. It has also been submitted that the place of occurrence is doubtful and there is no clinching evidence as to fact that the alleged occurrence happened at the same place as the prosecution claims. It has further been argued that the accused had no motive to kill the deceased. It has further been submitted that medical evidence does not corroborate the ocular version. It has also been submitted that the learned trial court has illegally relied upon the statement of accused given to the Investigating Officer during the course of investigation and in arbitrary and illegal manner has passed the conviction order on the basis thereof.

24. Per contra, learned AGA appearing for the State respondent has vehemently argued that the prosecution case was proved on the basis of cogent and reliable evidence. There is no merit in the appeal and the appeal is liable to be dismissed.

25. We have carefully gone through the record and have given our thoughtful consideration to the rival contentions of the parties.

26. Place of occurrence has always been an essential part of the prosecution story, which is necessary to be proved by prosecution by cogent evidence in order to succeed.

27. Reliance has been placed upon Syed Ibrahim vs. State of Andhra Pradesh, JT 2006 (6) SC 597 where it has been expressly held that it would not be proper to accept the prosecution case when the place of occurrence itself has not been established. Also in Asraf Biswas vs. The State of West Bengal, 2016 SCC OnLine Cal. 4342 which was relied upon by the learned counsel for the appellant, it was found from the evidence on record that the place of occurrence was not proved beyond all reasonable doubts. The Calcutta High Court held that "Once it is held that the place of occurrence has not been established beyond all reasonable doubts, then the other circumstances are hardly sufficient to establish the guilt of the accused".

28. In light of the aforesaid observations, the learned counsel for the appellant has pointed-out that in the present matter the place of occurrence is highly suspicious and from the evidence on record a genuine doubt arises in respect of the certainty of the place of occurrence. He has submitted that in the F.I.R. (Ext. A-5) place of occurrence is mentioned at Sirsawa Tiraha, Village Manpur, P.S. Bhagat Pur, District Moradabad. In the written report Ext. A-1 it has been mentioned that at the time of occurrence, informant alongwith his son and daughter-in-law, was standing in front of Khokha of Pandit Ji at Sirsawa Tiraha, Village Manpur and that was the place where the incident occurred. It has also been mentioned in Ext. A-1 that when the accused tried to escape towards Vidhya Niketan School, two policemen caught him.

29. Learned counsel for the appellant, referring to the written report Ext. A-1 has submitted that after the occurrence informant immediately rushed towards Police Chauki, Manpur but in the site plan (Ext. A-7) this fact has not been shown. It has also been submitted that place of occurrence has not been proved by the so called eye witnesses of the incident, namely, PW-1 and PW-2.

30. We made a close scrutiny of the oral and documentary evidence on record in view of the aforesaid submissions made by the learned counsel for the appellant.

31. PW-1 and PW-2 have been declared hostile and have stated that they were not present on the spot at the time of occurrence. What is the value of their evidence as hostile witness will be evaluated later on in this judgment but so far as the place of occurrence is concerned PW-1 in the opening part of his deposition has clearly stated that occurrence happened at Manpur Tiraha.

32. PW-4 and PW-5 are the two policemen, who happened to be present on the spot when crime was being committed by the accused and they are the persons who caught the accused with the murder weapon. PW-4 has clearly stated that he had seen one person stabbing a woman by knife at Sirawa Turn (Mod) and when he tried to escape and ran away towards Tanda, he and his associate policeman chased and caught him in front of Vidhya Niketan College alongwith knife. PW-5, who was accompanying PW-4 at the time of occurrence, has also narrated the same facts in his statement.

33. PW-7 the Investigating Officer has proved the site plan Ext. A-7 in his deposition. It is pertinent to mention that nothing adverse has been stated by this witness in his cross-examination on the point of place of occurrence.

34. A perusal of the site plan Ext. A-7 reveals that the Khokha (small shop), where the informant was said to be standing alongwith his son and deceased, is situated at Tiraha and at the same place the accused assaulted the deceased and she fell down. Accused ran away towards Vidhya Niketan College trying to escape but policemen, who were coming from Chauki Manpur, saw the incident and grabbed him in front of Vidhya Niketan College. All this topography has been shown in clear terms in Ext. A-7 with specific points and in this way the place of occurrence as mentioned in Ext. A-1 and Ext. A-5 finds support from the oral evidence as well as from the site plan Ext. A-7. Learned AGA has also pointed out that seizure memo of plain and bloodstained soil has been proved as Ext. A-15 by PW-7 the Investigating Officer, as PW-7 has deposed that from the place of occurrence he had collected it and thus the place of occurrence is fixed with the aid of Ext. A-15 also.

35. We, therefore, do not find any force in the contentions of the learned counsel for the appellant regarding the fixation of place of occurrence.

. The prosecution has a definite case that the deceased was assaulted with knife by the accused and, therefore, it is very significant to search out from the evidence on record whether the death of the deceased was caused by use of knife or not. Learned counsel for the appellant has vehemently argued that the medical evidence on this point does not support the prosecution version and at this juncture the whole prosecution story fails.

37. The post mortem report is on record, which has been proved by the Dr. Alauddin Saifi - PW-3. PW-3 while proving the autopsy report Ext. A-2 has clearly and in specific terms stated that death of the deceased was caused due to haemorrhage and shock and injury no. 1 and 2 may have been inflicted by knife. He has also pointed out that death may have occurred on 9.10.2003 at 12.00 noon. It is to be reminded here that injury no. 1 and 2 are stab wounds. PW-3 in his cross examination has clarified that injury no. 1 and 2 were sufficient to cause death.

38. It is noteworthy that in the inquest report Ext. A-8 the panchas have also opined that death of deceased seems to be caused by stabbing.

39. Learned trial court has discussed the prosecution evidence with a view to find out whether it is in conformity with the medical evidence or not and has correctly opined that the prosecution version finds corroboration with the medical evidence. Hence, we are of the considered view that the prosecution story is fully supported with the medical evidence and on this point the objections raised by the learned counsel for the appellant are proved to be futile.

40. The point, which has been most vehemently argued by the learned counsel for the appellant is that there is no independent witness of the occurrence except PW-1 and PW-2, who are the father-in-law and brother-in-law of the deceased respectively. Two other persons allegedly the eye witness of the occurrence are the police personnels and are only the chance witnesses and their presence on the spot is highly improbable. No other independent witness has been examined and more over PW-1 and PW-2 have been declared hostile by the prosecution and they do not support the prosecution version at all.

41. PW-1, the informant / father in-law of the deceased, has stated in his examination in-chief that he reached the spot after being informed regarding the murder of his daughter-in-law. He did not see as to who was the author of the crime. He has been declared hostile by the prosecution. In his cross examination he, though identifying his thumb impression on seizure memo of knife Ext. A-2, has stated that it was a plain paper when his thumb impression was taken over it. He also resiled from his statement made to the Investigating Officer under Section 161

CrPC and has also stated in the cross-examination that the written report was written by Rajveer Singh on the dictation of villagers and he never narrated this fact to Rajveer Singh, the scribe, that this was the accused Naresh who had assaulted his daughter in-law with knife and was caught on the spot.

42. PW-2 was also declared hostile by the prosecution when he stated in his examination in- chief that at the time of occurrence he was not present over there and he even does not know who has murdered the deceased. He has also resiled from his statement under Section 161 CrPC and has identified his signature as Ext. A-3 over the seizure memo - Ext. A-2. It has also been stated by him that his signature was obtained by police on plain paper. He has also deposed that accused was never arrested before him nor any recovery of knife was made from him.

43. In an honour killing case reported as Bhagwan Dass vs. State (NCT) of Delhi, AIR 2011 SC 1863 (C), the Hon'ble Supreme Court found that the mother of the accused stated before the police that her son (the accused) had told her that he had killed the deceased but when she was confronted with this statement in Court she resiled from her earlier statement and was declared hostile. The Hon'ble Apex Court held that her subsequent denial in the Court is not believable because she obviously had afterthoughts and wanted to save her son (the accused) from punishment. The Hon'ble Supreme Court further held that "we are of the opinion that the statement of Smt. Dhillo Devi to the police can be taken into consideration in view of the proviso to Section 162(1) CrPC and her subsequent denial in Court is not believable because she obviously had afterthoughts and wanted to save her son (the accused) from punishment."

44. The principle laid down in the aforesaid judgment is clearly applicable in this case where PW-1 and PW-2, father and brother of the accused, respectively are trying to save the accused and with this motive they have resiled from their statement given to the Investigating Officer under Section 161 CrPC.

45. The law, so far as the evidentiary value of a hostile witness is concerned, is settled. In a catena of decisions the Hon'ble Supreme Court and this High Court have held that the evidence of a hostile witness would not be rejected if spoken in favour of prosecution but it can be subjected to close scrutiny and that portion of the evidence, which is consistent with the case of prosecution, may be accepted. In C. Muniappan v. State of T.N., (2010) 9 SCC 567, the Hon'ble Apex Court settled the legal position as "the evidence of a prosecution witness cannot be rejected in toto merely because the prosecution chose to treat him as hostile and cross-examined him. The evidence of such witnesses cannot be treated as effaced or washed off the record altogether but the same can be accepted to the extent their version is found to be dependable on a careful scrutiny thereof."

46. In State of Gujarat vs. Anirudhsing and another, (1997)6 SCC 514, it has been held that :

"29. In view of the above settled legal position, merely because some of the witnesses have turned hostile, their ocular evidence recorded by the court cannot be held to have been washed off or unavailable to the prosecution. It is the duty of the court to carefully analyse the evidence and reach a conclusion whether that part of the evidence consistent with the prosecution case, is acceptable or not. It is the salutary duty of every witness who has the knowledge of the commission of crime, to assist the State in giving evidence; unfortunately for various reasons, in particular deterioration in law and order situation and the principle of self-preservation, many a witness turn hostile and in some instances even direct witnesses are being liquidated before they are examined by the Court....."

47. Virtually it is a legal duty of the Trial Judge or the Appellate Judge to scan the evidence, test the anvil of human conduct and reach a conclusion whether the evidence brought on record even if the witnesses turning hostile would be sufficient to bring home the commission of crime. In continuity of this discussion this fact is also to be examined whether ocular evidence of PW-4 and PW-5 are credible of evidence or not on the two fold tests : (i) they are police personnel, and (ii) they are the chance witnesses.

48. In the impugned judgment the trial court has discussed the evidence of PW-1 and PW-2 at length and has found that according to the written report Ext. A-1 accused is the son of Masih Charan, who is the brother of informant and PW-2 is the son of PW-1, hence, accused is the nephew of PW-1 and cousin of PW-2. The trial court has also found that deceased Shakuntala is the wife of accused. On the basis of the scrutiny of evidence of PW-1 and PW-2, the learned trial court has come to the conclusion that PW-1 probably does not want his nephew to be convicted for murder of the deceased and that is why he turned hostile. It is also noteworthy that PW-1 in his examination in-chief has clearly stated that it was he who dictated the written report Ext. A-1 to scribe Rajveer Singh and whatsoever he had spoken was written over it but in his cross examination he resiled from his earlier statement and stated that the written report was dictated by the villagers. Learned counsel for the appellant failed to explain as to why the earlier statement made by PW-1 in his examination-in-chief should not be relied upon. This makes it clear that PW-1 has deliberately trying to hide the truth and at this juncture we find ourselves in full agreement with the conclusion arrived at by the learned trial court so far as the evidence of PW-1 is concerned. Same is the position of PW-2, whose signature finds place over the arresting and recovery memo Ext. A-2. In his cross examination he has stated that his signature was obtained by the police at Chauki Manpur but according to his statement if he was not present on the spot, how and why he reached police chauki, Manpur and when his signature was obtained on Ext. A-2 has not been clarified by this witness. Hence, this witness is also trying to hide the correct facts of the case. In Rajesh Yadav and another vs. State of U.P., 2022 SCC OnLine SC 150 the Hon'ble Supreme Court held as under:

"21.....Once evidence is completed, the said testimony as a whole is meant for the court to assess and appreciate qua a fact. Therefore, not only the specific part in which a witness has turned hostile but the circumstances under which it happened can also be considered, particularly in a situation where the chief examination was completed and there are circumstances indicating the reasons behind the subsequent statement, which could be deciphered by the court. It is well within the powers of the court to make an assessment, being a matter before it and come to the correct conclusion."

49. According to the prosecution story at the time of occurrence PW-4 and PW-5, the police personnels, were coming from Police Chauki, Manpur when they saw the occurrence and caught the accused with the murder weapon. In this way they may be termed as "chance witness'. Whether a chance witness is devoid of trust and only by levelling him as chance witness whether his evidence can be shattered as without any foundation, has been discussed in the judgment of State of A.P. vs. K. Srinivasulu Reddy and another, (2003) 12 SCC 660 wherein the Apex Court has held that :

"(13).....In a murder trial by describing the independent witnesses as "chance witnesses" it cannot be implied thereby that their evidence is suspicious and their presence at the scene doubtful. Murders are not committed with previous notice to witnesses; soliciting their presence. If murder is committed in a dwelling house, the inmates of the house are natural witnesses. If murder is committed in a street, only passers-by will be witnesses. Their evidence cannot be brushed aside or viewed with suspicion on the ground that they are mere "chance witnesses".

50. When we translate the aforesaid principle with their application to the facts of this case, we gather an impression that the learned trial court has rightly relied upon the evidence of PW-4 and PW-5. It is to be noted that for the purpose of the present case PW-4 and PW-5 shall be taken as independent witnesses. There was not even single suggestion to these witnesses that they had any animosity to the accused. There was no reason why these witnesses could falsely implicate the accused in a murder case. Learned counsel for the appellant has vehemently argued that no Rawangi G.D. has been produced before the Court to show that PW-4 and PW-5 were coming indeed from Police Chauki, Manpur. We do not find any force in this contention. Mere absence of Rawangi G.D. on record so as to show the presence of PW-4 and PW-5 on the spot at the time of occurrence does not affect the prosecution case adversely. The whole evidence of PW-4 and PW-5 is reliable and trustworthy. They were not present on the spot as police personnels but they are simply eye witnesses of the occurrence. They may be dealt with for violation of any rule to leave the Police Chauki without rawangi G.D. but this does not make their presence on the spot improbable, if a murder suddenly took place before them. They have not only grabbed the accused red handed in front of Vidhya Niketan College but also recovered the murder weapon "knife' from his possession and arrest and seizure memo Ext. A-2 was also prepared by PW-4. The T.I. and signatures of PW-1 and PW-2 and of the police personnels present over there were also obtained. No material contradiction or unnatural statement may be found in the version of PW-4 and PW-5. They are wholly reliable witnesses of fact and their ocular version finds support from other evidence available on record.

51. It has been held by Hon'ble Supreme Court in State of Gujarat vs. Anirudhsing case (supra) that merely because the witnesses are police officers, their evidence cannot and must not be rejected outright as unreliable or unworthy of acceptance. It requires to be subjected to careful evaluation like any other witness of occurrence.

52. Learned counsel for the appellant has taken us through the evidence on record and has submitted that no motive has been assigned to the accused to commit the alleged crime. He has pointed out that no witness even PW-1 and PW-2, who are said to be family members of the deceased, no where mentioned in their entire deposition that the accused had any enmity with the deceased or he had any motive to kill her.

53. Although learned trial court has relied upon the statement of accused given to the Investigating Officer during course of investigation to determine the motive behind the crime, yet it has been submitted by the learned AGA that the present case rests upon the direct evidence wherein motive has no significance. Emphasis has been laid down upon the decisions of the Apex Court in Bikau Pandey Vs. State of Bihar (2003) 12 SCC 616, Anil Rai Vs. State of Bihar (2001) 7 SCC 318 and Deepak Verma Vs. State of Himachal Pradesh (2011) 10 SCC 129.

54. If we go through the evidence of PW-4 and PW-5, we have no hesitation to say that both the witnesses have given ocular evidence regarding the occurrence. They have seen the accused stabbing the deceased and have also caught him on the spot with murder weapon. They are reliable and trustworthy witnesses having no grudge or enmity with the accused. In these circumstances, we feel that the prosecution was never under any obligation to prove the motive in the present case and accordingly no force is found in the plea of the learned counsel for the appellant so far as the motive is concerned.

55. The genuineness of the written report Ext. A-1 and the F.I.R. Ext. A-5 has also been put under challenge by the learned counsel for the appellant, who has referred the statement of PW-1 and submitted that this witness has given contradictory statements in his examination in-chief and cross-examination as to whether written report was dictated to the scribe Rajveer Singh by him or it was dictated by the villagers. It has been pointed out earlier that if any witness turns hostile, as PW-1 was declared, the portion of his evidence which supports the prosecution version may be acted upon. In his examination in-chief PW-1 has clearly stated that he himself had dictated the written report to the scribe Rajveer Singh. Learned counsel for the appellant was unable to explain as to why this portion of his examination in-chief could be rejected or overlooked. The occurrence is said to be happened on 9.10.2003 at 9.30 a.m. and F.I.R. Ext. A-5 has been lodged on the same day at 12.10 p.m.. It is mentioned in Ext. A-5 that the police station is at a distance of 10 kilometers from the place of occurrence and in the evidence it has been shown that the deceased was immediately taken to the hospital after the occurrence to save her life but she could not be survived and, hence, the F.I.R. is prompt and not a result of deliberations or after thought. PW-6, the scribe of the F.I.R., has proved chik F.I.R. and registration G.D. as Ext. A-5 and Ext. A-6 and there is no adversity in his testimony.

56. Learned AGA has drawn our attention towards the F.S.L. report Ext. A-18, which reveals that blood clots were found over all the materials sent to the forensic laboratory i.e. plain and bloodstained soil, knife, clothings of the deceased and belongings found over her body. No doubt the F.S.L. report has also supported the prosecution version.

57. Learned counsel for the appellant vehemently argued that from the defence side four witnesses in all have been examined and documentary evidence has also been adduced but the learned trial court has completely ignored the same and he has misinterpreted the defence evidence. It has also been argued that the evidence adduced by the defence also gets the same weight as the prosecution evidence. Reliance has been placed on a decision of the Apex Court in Munshi Prasad vs. State of Bihar, (2002) 1 SCC 351.

58. Learned counsel for the appellant has referred the evidence of DW-1, DW-2, DW-3 and DW-4.

59. DW-1 Shomit Kumar has stated that he is the Barber and at the time of occurrence he was at his shop when an unknown person stabbed a woman with knife and on noise his neighbours Dal Chandra and some other persons reached there and he escaped from there. He is ac*qua*inted with the accused Naresh Chandra and he was not present at the place of occurrence. He has also stated that the police has enquired with him. In his cross-examination he has stated that accused Naresh comes to his shop for hair cutting and he does not know his wife. On the fateful day he had opened his shop at about 9.00 a.m. he had heard that some person had stabbed a woman by knife and he does not know whether the accused was caught with knife or not.

60. DW-2 Dal Chandra has stated that he knows the accused Naresh present in the Court. He was not present at the time of occurrence. He has stated that he has a shop at Sirswa Chauraha and the occurrence took place about 3- 3 ¼ years before at about 9.30 a.m.. One stranger had stabbed a woman on the road by knife and when she cried, Shomit, Narendra Sharma and he himself and several other persons scolded him and he ran away with knife in his hand. The police had enquired with him. In his cross-examination he has stated that he resides outside the house of accused Naresh but he had never seen the wife of Naresh and he does not know the woman who got injured.

61. DW-3 Narendra Sharma has a beetle shop at Sirsawa Chauraha. He has stated that on 9.10.2003 about 9.30 a.m. when he was present at his shop, he saw that a male stranger stabbed a lady by knife, who had come from the direction of village Niwad and ran away. The occurrence was seen by Dal Chandra, Shomit etc. and by him also. They went to the police chauki and on their information police came over there and brought the injured lady to the hospital. He knows the accused Naresh, who is present in the Court but he was not present on the date, time and place of the occurrence. He has also stated that he had narrated the entire story to the Investigating Officer. In his cross examination he has stated that at that time there was a huge crowd over the Chauraha.

62. Learned counsel for the appellant argued that the real picture, which comes out from the evidence of DW-1, DW-2 and DW-3 is that the accused was not present at the place and time of occurrence and he is not the guilty of the alleged offence. DW-1, DW-2 and DW-3 are the independent witnesses and there is no reason to disbelieve their version.

63. Learned AGA has countered by arguing that DW-1, DW-2 and DW-3 are not the reliable witnesses and they are telling a lie before the Court. They have stated that the Investigating Officer had enquired from them regarding the incident but the Investigating Officer PW-7 no where states that he ever recorded the statement of any of the three defences witnesses or made any query form them. No suggestion is given to PW-7 by the defence side that he had recorded the statement of DW-1, DW-2 and DW-3 or enquired the matter from them. Since the arrest of the accused by the police personnels with the murder weapon "knife' is proved by the cogent and reliable evidence, this fact must have been known to the defence witnesses as well but they do not speak even a single word that the person who had stabbed the deceased was also caught then and there by the policemen with knife and this makes their whole evidence unreliable and false.

64. DW-4 Constable Brijmohan Rana has stated that on 9.10.2003 he was working as Constable Clerk at Thana Tanda, Rampur and a memo was received by him by the sweeper Awadhesh bearing seal of C.H.C., Tanda and signature of doctor regarding death of a deceased lady, who was admitted by her father-in-law Shyamlal. Copy of this memo was entered by him in the general diary Rapat No. 17 at 11.00 am.. Carbon copy of G.D. has been proved as Ext. kha-1 by DW-4. He has also stated that through wireless he had sent the information to the police station Bhagatpur, District Moradabad but he was informed that they have already got the information about the occurrence.

65. Learned AGA submitted that this memo Ext. kha-1 actually supports the prosecution version and shows that immediately after reaching the hospital the doctor sent the memo for information to the concerned police station and hence this document also is of no help to the appellant. We are in full agreement with the learned AGA.

66. Learned trial court has also analysed the defence evidence, oral and documentary, in the impugned judgment and has correctly found it as not reliable.

67. Therefore, from the defence evidence also the accused appellant gets no help at all.

68. Learned counsel for the appellant has also argued that the Investigating Officer has been negligent in performing the investigation and the investigation is faulty. However, he could not point out any material defect or irregularity in the investigation of the case. We also feel that the investigation conducted by the Investigating Officer in this case suffers with no material omission or irregularity. If there are some minor irregularities they are ignorable in the light of all other reliable and cogent evidence produced by the prosecution.

69. In a catena of decisions, it has been settled that for certain defects in the investigation the accused cannot be acquitted if the prosecution case is proved by other cogent evidence. In C. Muniappan vs. State of T.N. case (supra), it has been held that :

"55. There may be highly defective investigation in a case. However, it is to be examined as to whether there is any lapse by the IO and whether due to such lapse any benefit should be given to the accused. The law on this issue is well settled that the defect in the investigation by itself cannot be a ground for acquittal. If primacy is given to such designed or negligent investigations or to the omissions or lapses by perfunctory investigation, the faith and confidence of the people in the criminal justice administration would be eroded. Where there has been negligence on the part of the investigating agency or omissions, etc. which resulted in defective investigation, there is a legal obligation on the part of the court to examine the prosecution evidence dehors such lapses, carefully, to find out whether the said evidence is reliable or not and to what extent it is reliable and as to whether such lapses affected the object of finding out the truth. Therefore, the investigation is not the solitary area for judicial scrutiny in a criminal trial. The conclusion of the trial in the case cannot be allowed to depend solely on the probity of investigation."

70. Considering the evidence of the witnesses and also considering the medical evidence including the post mortem report there is no doubt left in our mind about the guilt of the convict - appellant Naresh Chandra.

71. However, the question which falls for our consideration is whether, on reappraisal of the peculiar facts and circumstances of the case, the conviction of the appellant under Section 302 of the Indian Penal Code should be upheld or the conviction deserves to be converted under Section 304 Part-I or Part-II of the Indian Penal Code. It would be relevant to refer Section 299 of the Indian Penal Code, which reads as under:

"299. Culpable homicide: Whoever causes death by doing an act with the intention of causing death, or with the intention of causing such bodily injury as is likely to cause death, or with the knowledge that he is likely by such act to cause death, commits the offence of culpable homicide."

72. The academic distinction between "murder' and "culpable homicide not amounting to murder' has always vexed the Courts. The confusion is caused, if Courts losing sight of the true scope and meaning of the terms used by the legislature in these sections, allow themselves to be drawn into minute abstractions. The safest way of approach to the interpretation and application of these provisions seems to be to keep in focus the keywords used in the various clauses of Section 299 and 300 of I.P.Code. The following comparative table will be helpful in appreciating the points of distinction between the two offences.

Section 299	Section 300
A person commits culpable homicide if the act by which the death is caused is done-	Subject to certain exceptions culpable homicide is murder is the act by which the death is caused is done.
INTENTION
(a) with the intention of causing death; or	(1) with the intention of causing death; or
(b) with the intention of causing such bodily injury as is likely to cause death; or	(2) with the intention of causing such bodily injury as the offender knows to be likely to cause the death of the person to whom the harm is caused;
KNOWLEDGE	KNOWLEDGE
(c) with the knowledge that the act is likely to cause death.	(4) with the knowledge that the act is so immediately dangerous that it must in all probability cause death or such bodily injury as is likely to cause death, and without any excuse for incurring the risk of causing death or such injury as is mentioned above.

73. From the upshot of the aforesaid discussions, it appears that the death caused by the accused was not premeditated, injury caused was not on the vital part of the body, accused though had knowledge and intention to cause bodily harm to the deceased but did not want to do away with the deceased. Hence the instant case falls under the Exceptions 1 and 4 to Section

300 of IPC. While considering Section 299 IPC as reproduced herein above offence committed will fall under Section 304 Part-I IPC as per the observations of the Apex Court in Veeran and others Vs. State of M.P., (2011) 11 Supreme Court Cases 367 which have to be also kept in mind.

74. This takes us to the alternative submission of learned counsel for the appellant that the *qua*ntum of sentence is too harsh and requires to be modified. In this regard, we have to analyse the theory of punishment prevailing in India.

75. In Mohd. Giasuddin Vs. State of AP, [AIR 1977 SC 1926], explaining rehabilitary & reformative aspects in sentencing it has been observed by the Supreme Court:

"Crime is a pathological aberration. The criminal can ordinarily be redeemed and the state has to rehabilitate rather than avenge. The sub-culture that leads to ante-social behaviour has to be countered not by undue cruelty but by reculturization. Therefore, the focus of interest in penology in the individual and the goal is salvaging him for the society. The infliction of harsh and savage punishment is thus a relic of past and regressive times. The human today vies sentencing as a process of reshaping a person who has deteriorated into criminality and the modern community has a primary stake in the rehabilitation of the offender as a means of a social defence. Hence a therapeutic, rather than an 'in terrorem' outlook should prevail in our criminal courts, since brutal incarceration of the person merely produces laceration of his mind. If you are to punish a man retributively, you must injure him. If you are to reform him, you must improve him and, men are not improved by injuries."

76. 'Proper Sentence' was explained in Deo Narain Mandal Vs. State of UP [(2004) 7 SCC 257] by observing that Sentence should not be either excessively harsh or ridiculously low. While determining the *qua*ntum of sentence, the court should bear in mind the 'principle of proportionality'. Sentence should be based on facts of a given case. Gravity of offence, manner of commission of crime, age and sex of accused should be taken into account. Discretion of Court in awarding sentence cannot be exercised arbitrarily or whimsically.

77. In Ravada Sasikala vs. State of A.P. AIR 2017 SC 1166, the Supreme Court referred the judgments in Jameel vs State of UP [(2010) 12 SCC 532], Guru Basavraj vs State of Karnatak, [(2012) 8 SCC 734], Sumer Singh vs Surajbhan Singh, [(2014) 7 SCC 323], State of Punjab vs Bawa Singh, [(2015) 3 SCC 441], and Raj Bala vs State of Haryana, [(2016) 1 SCC 463] and has reiterated that, in operating the sentencing system, law should adopt corrective machinery or deterrence based on factual matrix. Facts and given circumstances in each case, nature of crime, manner in which it was planned and committed, motive for commission of crime, conduct of accused, nature of weapons used and all other attending circumstances are relevant facts which would enter into area of consideration. Further, undue sympathy in sentencing would do more harm to justice dispensations and would undermine the public confidence in the efficacy of law. It is the duty of every court to award proper sentence having regard to nature of offence and manner of its commission. The supreme court further said that courts must not only keep in view the right of victim of crime but also society at large. While considering imposition of appropriate punishment, the impact of crime on the society as a whole and rule of law needs to be balanced. The judicial trend in the country has been towards striking a balance between reform and punishment. The protection of society and stamping out criminal proclivity must be the object of law which can be achieved by imposing appropriate sentence on criminals and wrongdoers. Law, as a tool to maintain order and peace, should effectively meet challenges confronting the society, as society could not long endure and develop under serious threats of crime and disharmony. It is therefore, necessary to avoid undue leniency in imposition of sentence. Thus, the criminal justice jurisprudence adopted in the country is not retributive but reformative and corrective. At the same time, undue harshness should also be avoided keeping in view the reformative approach underlying in our criminal justice system.

78. Keeping in view the facts and circumstances of the case and also keeping in view criminal jurisprudence in our country which is reformative and corrective and not retributive, this Court considers that no accused person is incapable of being reformed and therefore, all measures should be applied to give them an opportunity of reformation in order to bring them in the social stream.

79. As discussed above, 'reformative theory of punishment' is to be adopted and for that reason, it is necessary to impose punishment keeping in view the 'doctrine of proportionality'. It appears from perusal of impugned judgment that sentence awarded by learned trial court for life term is very harsh keeping in view the entirety of facts and circumstances of the case and gravity of offence. Hon'ble Apex Court, as discussed above, has held that undue harshness should be avoided taking into account the reformative approach underlying in criminal justice system.

80. Recently in Khokan Alias Khokhan Vishwas vs. State of Chhattisgarh, (2021) 2 Supreme Court Cases 365, the Hon'ble Supreme Court in almost similar circumstances modified the sentence under Section 302 IPC for life imprisonment for the offence under Section 304 Part-I IPC sentencing the convict to the period already undergone by him that was 14.5 years in that case.

81. For the reasons recorded herein above and following the dictum given by the Hon'ble Apex Court in Khokan Alias Khokhan Vishwas case (supra), we hold the accused-appellant, Naresh Chandra, guilty of commission of offence under Section 304 Part I IPC and sentence him to 10 years rigorous imprisonment. The fine and default sentence is maintained. If the accused-appellant, Naresh Chandra, is not wanted in any other offence, he shall be set free.

82. Appeal is partly allowed, as modified above.

83. Record and proceedings be sent back to the Court below forthwith.

Criminal Appeal No. 6842 of 2009

Sageer & Anr. ...Appellants
Versus
State of U.P. ...Respondent

Counsel for the Appellants:
Sri R.P. Tiwari, Sri R.N. Maurya, Sri Ravi Shankar Tripathi

Counsel for the Respondent:
Govt. Advocate

A. Criminal Law-Criminal Procedure Code, 1973-Section 374(2) - Indian Penal Code, 1860-Section 304-B - ¾ Dowry Prohibition Act,1961-Challenge to-Conviction- acid attack-dying declaration-deceased died due to septicemia caused by burn injuries-deceased survived for more than two months after making dying declaration-deceased was subjected to cruelty and was made victim of acid attack soon before her death-PW-1,PW-2 & PW-3 turned hostile-PW-8 who recorded the the dying declaration fully supported the prosecution case-defence statements are contradictory-role of appellants is clear from the dying declaration and other evidences-Accused failed to discharge their burden of proof u/s 113B of Indian Evidence Act-Ingredients of Section 304-B are fulfilled-Hence, Learned trial court has committed no error on acting on the sole basis of dying declaration-Convicts have been in jail for more than 12 years i.e. sufficient for them-Hence, they may be set free.(Para 1 to 58)

B. The testimony of hostile witnesses can be relied upon to the extent it supports the prosecution case. It is settled legal position that the evidence of a prosecution witness cannot be rejected in toto merely because the prosecution chose to treat him as hostile and cross-examined him. The evidence of such witness cannot be treated as effaced or washed off the record altogether.(Para 29)

C. The law on the issue of dying declaration can be summarized to the effect that in case the court comes to the conclusion that the dying declaration is true and reliable, has been recorded by a person at a time when the deceased was fit physically and mentally to make the declaration and it has not been made under any tutoring, it can be the sole basis for recording conviction. In such an eventuality no corroboration is required. (Para 38 to 52)

The appeal is partly allowed. (E-6)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Nalin Kumar Srivastava, J.)

1. This criminal appeal is directed against the judgement and order dated 4.11.2009 in Sessions Trial No. 949 of 2003 (Crime No. 323 of 2002) State Vs. Sageer and Ors, under Sections 304B I.P.C. and 3/4 Dowry Prohibition Act, P.S.- Ijjat Nagar, District-Bareilly convicting and sentencing the appellants under Section 304-B I.P.C. to undergo life imprisonment and under Section 3/4 Dowry Prohibition Act to undergo imprisonment for two years, further imposing fine of Rs. 10,000/- each and in default of payment of fine to undergo 2 months additional imprisonment.

2. The prosecution story as culled out from the FIR is that the deceased, the sister of the informant, was married with accused Sageer. The in-laws of the deceased were demanding colour T.V. and motorcycle as additional dowry and she was subjected to cruelty on account of that demand. She used to tell the incidents of cruelty to her family members, who expressed their inability to the accused persons but they did not pay any attention to it and the harassment continued. On 27.4.2002 on information by a villager, the informant along with his family members reached the house of the accused persons where he found his sister bitterly burnt and she told that her husband Sageer, mother-in-law Jaitoon, brother-in-law Naseer and Ameer and sister-in-law Munija Begum caught hold her in the night about 9.00 pm. and her husband poured acid upon her in order to do away with her.

3. The FIR was lodged and investigation started. During investigation the injured died and Section 304-B I.P.C. was added to the matter.

4. The I.O. proceeded to record the statement of witnesses, performed inquest, sent the body of the deceased for autopsy, inspected the place of occurrence and submitted charge sheet against the accused persons

5. The accused persons appeared before the Magisterial Court, the case being exclusively triable by the Sessions Court was committed to the Court of Sessions by the Magistrate.

6. Charge under Section 304-B I.P.C. and 3/4 Dowry Prohibition Act was framed against the accused persons who denied of the charges and claimed to be tried.

7. The trial started and the prosecution in order to prove its case examined 12 witnesses in all as P.W.1 the informant/ brother of the deceased, P.W.2 Smt. Shahjahan, mother of the deceased, P.W.3 Altaf, brother of the deceased, P.W.4 Constable Dharampal Singh, Scribe of the FIR, P.W.5 S.D.M Karmveer Singh, witness of inquest report, P.W.6 Dr. A.K. Jain, who performed the autopsy of the dead body of the deceased, P.W.7 Dr. Kripal Singh, who prepared injury report of the deceased when she was alive, P.W.8 Tehsildar Shiv Bhajan, who recorded the dying declaration of the deceased, P.W.9 Rajendra Kumar Additional S.P. and second I.O. of the case, P.W.10 Constable Rakesh Dubey, who has been examined as secondary witness for the first I.O. S.I. Bihari Lal Yadav.

8. In documentary evidence, the prosecution relied upon written report Ex. Ka-1, application for post mortem Ex.-Ka-2, inquest report Ex.Ka-3, FIR Ex.Ka-4, G.D. Ex.Ka-5, specimen seal Ka-6, photo nash Ex.Ka-7, letter to R.I. Ex.Ka-8, letter to C.M.O. Ex.Ka-9, chalan lash Ex.Ka-10, autopsy report Ex.Ka-11, injury report

Ex.Ka-12, dying declaration Ex.Ka13, charge sheets Ex.Ka-14, Ex.Ka-16 and site plan Ex.Ka-15.

9. After completion of prosecution evidence, the incriminating circumstances and evidences were put to the accused persons in their statements recorded under Section 313 Cr.P.C. wherein they told the whole prosecution story and evidence as false and fabricated and claimed to be innocent. Accused Sageer stated that at the time of incident he was at Bikaner in connection with his job and came back on 27.04.2002 on being informed by his mother by telephone regarding the incident of the burning of his wife. After coming back when he went to the hospital, the treatment of his wife was going on but the police arrested him in the same evening. He has further stated that he had married with Parveen in the year 2002 and they had a son, who is no more. He and his younger brother live separately in a rented house in the same village. His brother Naseer had gone to the house of his in-laws in the very night of the occurrence, who reached in the morning and got Parveen admitted in the hospital since his mother was alone in the night. Parveen could not be admitted in the hospital in the night. The police reached after lodging of the FIR. He does not know as to when Parveen died in the hospital. Co-accused Naseer has also narrated the same version in his statement under Section 313 Cr.P.C.

10. Co-accused Smt. Jaitoon, the mother-in-law of the deceased died during pendency of the trial and the case was abated against her vide order dated 21.11.2005.

11. We are of the considered opinion that a perusal and analysis of the oral evidence along with documentary evidence is desirable to reach the correct conclusion.

12. P.W.1, the informant has proved the written report Ex.Ka-1 and has narrated the story like this that about 4-1/4 years ago his sister Parveen was living in her matrimonial house. In the morning a villager informed him that his sister is lying ablaze in her house. When he reached there along with his family members he found Parveen unconscious and burnt. He came to the police station along with Parveen, dictated the report to Sharakat Khan and on the basis of that written report case was registered in the police station. He has proved the written report as Ex.Ka-1, however, he has stated that the written report was not read over him by the scribe. He has also stated that the factum of pouring acid upon Parveen was not dictated by him and also he did not dictate this fact that his sister had told him that the accused persons caught hold of her in the night and in order to kill her, his husband threw acid upon her. He has also proved his application given to S.P. City for performing the post mortem of the body of her sister as Ex.Ka-2. He has been declared hostile by the prosecution. He has denied all the allegations of demand of dowry and cruelty caused by the accused persons to her sister. In his cross-examination he has stated that his sister never told him about the demand of dowry or harrasment caused to her by the accused persons. He has also narrated that there was no electricity connection in the house of the accused persons and they used a dibbi of kerosene oil for light.

13. P.W.2 Smt. Shahjahan, the mother of the deceased has also not supported the prosecution version in her examination-in-chief and has been declared hostile. All the allegations against the accused persons in respect of demand of dowry and cruelty to her daughter and even her statement under Section 161 Cr.P.C. have been denied by her in her deposition.

14. P.W.3 Altaf is the brother of the deceased and following the statements of P.W.1 and P.W.2, he has also submitted that accused persons are innocent, they have never demanded dowry from her sister and never subjected any kind of cruelty to her. On the inquest report he has proved his thumb impression as Ex.Ka-3 and has denied that the I.O. had ever taken his statement under Section 161 Cr.P.C.

15. P.W.4 Constable Dharampal Singh is the scribe of the FIR, who has proved the Chik FIR and G.D. of the case as Ex. Ka-4, Ka-5 respectively.

16. P.W.5 S.D.M. Karmendra Singh has conducted the inquest proceedings and in his statement he has affirmed his signature over inquest report Ex.Ka-3 and has also proved the papers sent for the post mortem of the deceased as Ex.Ka-6, Ex.Ka-7, Ex.Ka-8, Ex.Ka-9 and Ex.Ka-10.

17. P.W.6 Dr. A.K. Jain has performed the autopsy of the deceased. He has proved the autopsy report Ex.Ka-11. Following anti mortem injuries were found by him over the body of the deceased

मृत्यु पूर्व चोटें-

1- सतह से गहराई तक आंशिक रूप से भर चुका जला हुआ घाव गर्दन के सामने व पीछे की तरफ सीने व पेट के हिस्से पर सामने की तरफ पेट के निचले हिस्से मे सामने दाहिनी तरफ, सिर के पीछे नीचे की तरफ, दोनों पैर आंशिक रूप से सीने के पीछे की तरफ।

2- पैडसोल सीने व पेट के पीछे की तरफ।

18. He had performed the autopsy on 4.7.2002 at 4.15 p.m. and has opined that the death was caused due to septicemia/ toxacemia.

19. P.W.7 Dr. Kripal Singh has medically examined the deceased, when she was alive. He was found that several burn injuries on various parts of the body of the injured as head, face, neck, below the elbow, chest, abdomen, thigh, hips etc. and she was burnt about 75%. He has proved the injury report as Ex.Ka-12.

20. P.W.8 Tehsildar Shiv Bhajan has recorded the dying declaration of the deceased on 27.4.2002 and has narrated that the doctor present over there had identified her and her family members were turned out by him at the time of recording the statement. He has also narrated that the statement was recorded after her medical examination by the doctor. He has proved the dying declaration as Ex.Ka-13 and read over it before the Court, wherein it was mentioned like this.

"बहोशोहवास ब्यान किया कि दिनांक 26.4.02 को दोपहर के समय मेरे पति शकील पुत्र बाबू सास जैतुन पत्नी बाब, देवर लियाकत पुत्र बाबू, दूसरा देवर मतलो पुत्र बाबू आदि ने मिलकर मुझे पीटा तथा मुझ पर तेजाब डालकर मुझे जला दिया। ब्यान सुनकर तसदीक किये।"

21. P.W.9 Additional Superintendent of Police Rajendra Kumar is the second

I.O. of the case. He has narrated the proceedings of investigation conducted by him and has proved the charge sheet as Ex.Ka-14.

22. P.W.10.Constable Rakesh Dubey has been examined as secondary witness for the first I.O. of the case S.I. Bihari Lal Yadav and he has proved his hand writing and signature over the site plan Ex.Ka-15 and charge sheet Ex.Ka-16.

23. The trial Court relying upon the aforesaid evidence found the dying declaration as cogent and reliable evidence and opined that the prosecution has proved its case beyond reasonable doubt and passed conviction order against the accused Sageer and Naseer under Section 304-B I.P.C. and Section 3/4 D.P. Act and sentenced them accordingly.

24. Heard Shri Ravi Shankar Tripathi, for the appellants, Shri N.K. Srivastava for the State and perused the record.

25. The learned counsel for the appellants has submitted that the prosecution is guilty of suppressing the genesis of the incident, therefore, an adverse inference ought to be drawn against the prosecution. Assailing the impugned judgement on various grounds, he has firstly taken us to the depositions of the witnesses P.W.1, P.W.2 and P.W.3, who are hostile witnesses and on the basis of their statements he has vehemently argued that the ingredients of Section 304-B I.P.C. which the prosecution is bound to prove to bring home the charge against the accused, are totally absent in the present matter and no case as such is made out against the appellants.

26. To appreciate the arguments advanced by the learned counsel for the appellants we have to keep in our mind the ingredients which the prosecution has to prove in order to convict the accused for the offence under Section 304-B I.P.C. The ingredients have been settled in a catena of judgements of Hon'ble Apex Court. In Maya Devi Vs. State of Haryana (2015) 17 SCC 405 it has been held as herein under-

"In order to convict an accused for the offence punishable under Section 304B IPC, the following essentials must be satisfied:

(i) the death of a woman must have been caused by burns or bodily injury or otherwise than under normal circumstances;

(ii) such death must have occurred within seven years of her marriage;

(iii) soon before her death, the woman must have been subjected to cruelty or harassment by her husband or any relatives of her husband;

(iv) such cruelty or harassment must be for, or in connection with, demand for dowry".

27. Recently in State of M.P. Vs. Joginder (2022) 5 SCC 401, the Hon'ble Apex Court has reiterated the aforesaid principle.

28. In the light of the aforesaid preposition, the evidence on record has to be scrutinized. The informant, who has denied the contents of his written report Ex.Ka-1 is certainly trying to hide facts from the Court. He has expressly stated that the written report was dictated by him to Sharakat Khan and whatsoever he has stated the same was written in it. He had identified his thumb impression upon the tehrir and has also clarified that in the police station he had given the same tehrir and the case was lodged thereupon. Subsequently, he turned hostile and denied the contents of Ex.Ka-1.

29. The law in respect of the hostile witness is absolutely settled in a catena of decisions. The Hon'ble Supreme Court and this High Court have held that the evidence of a hostile witness would not be rejected, if not spoken in favour of the prosecution but it can be subjected to close scrutiny and that portion of the evidence consistent with the case of prosecution may be accepted.

30. In State Of Gujarat vs Anirudh Singhh and Another (1997) 6 SCC 514, it has been held that virtually it is a legal duty of the trial Judge or the appellate Judge to scan the evidence, test it on the anvil of human conduct and reach a conclusion whether the evidence brought on record even of the turning hostile witnesses would be sufficient to bring home the commission of the crime.

31. In Rajesh Yadav and Another Vs. State of U.P. 2022 SCC Online SC 150 it has been held like this:

".....21.The expression "hostile witness" does not find a place in the Indian Evidence Act. It is coined to mean testimony of a witness turning to depose in favour of the opposite party. We must bear it in mind that a witness may depose in favour of a party in whose favour it is meant to be giving through his chief examination, while later on change his view in favour of the opposite side. Similarly, there would be cases where a witness does not support the case of the party starting from chief examination itself. This classification has to be borne in mind by the Court. With respect to the first category, the Court is not denuded of its power to make an appropriate assessment of the evidence rendered by such a witness. Even a chief examination could be termed as evidence. Such evidence would become complete after the cross examination. Once evidence is completed, the said testimony as a whole is meant for the court to assess and appreciate qua a fact. Therefore, not only the specific part in which a witness has turned hostile but the circumstances under which it happened can also be considered, particularly in a situation where the chief examination was completed and there are circumstances indicating the reasons behind the subsequent statement, which could be deciphered by the court. It is well within the powers of the court to make an assessment, being a matter before it and come to the correct conclusion".

32. The evidence of P.W.2 and P.W.3 stand on the same footings as is of P.W.1. The learned counsel for the appellants has failed to explain as to why the informant went to the police station with the deceased, who was ablaze at that time if she was not subjected to acid attack by her husband and in-laws. The learned counsel for the appellants has quoted the statements of P.W.1, who has tried to explain the reason behind taking away her sister to the police station before got her admitted into the hospital. In his cross-examination P.W.1 has stated that some persons had told him that without the police intervention the persons who are got injured in accident or by burning are not admitted into the hospital and that is why he went to the police station for lodging of FIR before going to the hospital.

33. We are of the considered view that this statement of P.W.1 is false and fabricated. If the deceased was burnt accidentally and the informant wanted police intervention before any medical treatment he could have only inform the police regarding the incident of burning of his sister. He had no need to lodge an FIR in respect of that incident, merely an information was sufficient to take the police into action, if any how informant was under impression that the police ought to be informed prior to the injured taking to the hospital.

34. In Bable vs State Of Chattisgarh AIR 2012 SC 2621 it has been held that "FIR by itself is not a substantive piece of evidence but it certainly is a relevant circumstance of the evidence produced by the Investigating Agency. Merely because the informant had turned hostile, it cannot be said that the FIR would lose of all its relevancy and cannot be looked into for any purpose". It is very important to note that after lodging of the FIR the investigation was started and culminated into a charge sheet.

35. The trial Court has appreciated the evidence of P.W.1, P.W.2 and P.W.3 and has opined that the witnesses are deliberately trying to hide the facts. He has also impressed upon Ex.Ka-2, which is an application given by the informant P.W.1 to S.P. City, Bareilly for performing the post mortem of the deceased alleging therein that it was a bride burning case and the accused persons killed the deceased by acid attack. Why Ex.Ka-2 was given by him to the high police official, has no where been explained by P.W.1 in his entire deposition.

36. We are of the considered opinion that the learned trial Court has rightly impressed upon the evidentiary value of Ex.Ka-2 and has reached the correct conclusion.

37. While the FIR has been found a credible piece of evidence, we can successfully relied upon the contents found therein. It has been clearly mentioned in the FIR that the marriage took place two years before the occurrence and the in-laws of the deceased were in continuous demand of colour t.v & motor cycle and she was subjected to cruelty and harassment for demand of dowry, and the deceased always used to tell all the story to her family members, several times the accused persons kicked her out of the house and the informant and his family members kept on requesting them not to torture the deceased, but in vain.

38. The dying declaration of the deceased has been recorded by the Tehsildar P.W.8. The learned counsel for the appellants has vehemently argued that the dying declaration is not a fair and reliable piece of evidence in this matter and the circumstances surrounding it are suspicious.

39. The trial Court has examined the veracity of the dying declaration Ex.Ka-13 in detail in the impugned judgement. From the perusal of the whole deposition of P.W.8, we do not find any adversity in his statement. So far as the dying declaration is concerned, the doctor has given his certificate before recoding it that Mrs. Parveen is conscious to give her statement and after the statement is recorded he has again certified that Mrs. Parveen remained in her senses throughout the recording of statement.

40. Legal position of dying declaration to be the sole basis of conviction is that it can be done so if it is not tutored, made voluntarily and is wholly reliable. In this regard, Hon'ble Apex Court has summarized the law regarding dying declaration in Lakhan vs. State of Madhya Pradesh [(2010) 8 Supreme Court Cases 514], in this case, Hon'ble Apex Court held that the doctrine of dying declaration is enshrined in the legal maxim nemo moriturus praesumitur mentire, which means, "a man will not meet his Maker with a lie in his mouth". The doctrine of dying declaration is enshrined in Section 32 of Evidence Act, 1872, as an exception to the general rule contained in Section 60 of Evidence Act, which provides that oral evidence in all cases must be directed, i.e., it must be the evidence of a witness, who says he saw it. The dying declaration is, in fact, the statement of a person, who cannot be called as witness and, therefore, cannot be cross-examined. Such statements themselves are relevant facts in certain cases.

41. The law on the issue of dying declaration can be summarized to the effect that in case the court comes to the conclusion that the dying declaration is true and reliable, has been recorded by a person at a time when the deceased was fit physically and mentally to make the declaration and it has not been made under any tutoring/duress/prompting; it can be the sole basis for recording conviction. In such an eventuality no corroboration is required. It is also held by Hon'ble Apex Court in the aforesaid case, that a dying declaration recorded by a competent Magistrate would stand on a much higher footing than the declaration recorded by office of lower rank, for the reason that the competent Magistrate has no axe to grind against the person named in the dying declaration of the victim.

42. P.W.8 is absolutely independent witness. In the wake of aforesaid judgment of Lakhan (supra), dying declaration cannot be disbelieved, if it inspires confidence. On reliability of dying declaration and acting on it without corroboration, Hon'ble Apex Court held in Krishan vs. State of Haryana [(2013) 3 Supreme Court Cases 280] that it is not an absolute principle of law that a dying declaration cannot form the sole basis of conviction of an accused. Where the dying declaration is true and correct, the attendant circumstances show it to be reliable and it has been recorded in accordance with law, the deceased made the dying declaration of her own accord and upon due certification by the doctor with regard to the state of mind and body, then it may not be necessary for the court to look for corroboration. In such cases, the dying declaration alone can form the basis for the conviction of the accused. Hence, in order to pass the test reliability, a dying declaration has to be subjected to a very close scrutiny, keeping in view the fact that the statement has been made in the absence of the accused, who had no opportunity of testing the veracity of the statement by cross-examination. But once, the court has come to the conclusion that the dying declaration was the truthful version as to the circumstance of the death and the assailants of the victim, there is no question of further corroboration.

43. In Ramilaben Hasmukhbhai Khristi vs. State of Gujarat, [(2002) 7 SCC 56], the Hon'ble Apex Court held that under the law, dying declaration can form the sole basis of conviction, if it is free from any kind of doubt and it has been recorded in the manner as provided under the law. It may not be necessary to look for corroboration of the dying declaration. As envisaged, a dying declaration is generally to be recorded by an Executive Magistrate with the certificate of a medical doctor about the mental fitness of the declarant to make the statement. It may be in the from of question and answer and the answers be written in the words of the person making the declaration. But the court cannot be too technical and in substance if it feels convinced about the trustworthiness of the statement which may inspire confidence such a dying declaration can be acted upon without any corroboration.

44. From the above precedents, it clearly emerges that it is not an absolute principle of law that a dying declaration cannot form the sole basis of conviction of an accused when such dying declaration is true, reliable and has been recorded in accordance with established practice and principles and if it is recorded so then there cannot be any challenge regarding its correctness and authenticity.

45. In dying deceleration of the deceased, it is also relevant to note that deceased died after more than two months of recording it. It means that she remained alive for more than two months after making dying declaration, therefore, truthfulness of dying declaration can further be evaluated from the fact that she survived for more than two months after making it from which it can reasonably be inferred that she was in a fit mental condition to make the statement at the relevant time.

46. From the above, it is also clear that the deceased was subjected to cruelty and was made a victim of acid attack soon before her death.

47. Hence, we find that all the ingredients to bring home charge against the accused under Section 304-B I.P.C are fulfilled and the prosecution has successfully established all the conditions in order to enable it to ask for conviction of the accused persons in the present case of dowry death.

48. The provisions of Section 113 B of Indian Evidence Act come into picture at this juncture. Section 113 B of Indian Evidence Act reads like this.

"[113B. Presumption as to dowry death.--When the question is whether a person has committed the dowry death of a woman and it is shown that soon before her death such woman has been subjected by such person to cruelty or harassment for, or in connection with, any demand for dowry, the Court shall presume that such person had caused the dowry death. Explanation.--For the purposes of this section, "dowry death" shall have the same meaning as in section 304B, of the Indian Penal Code, (45 of 1860).]"

49. A bare perusal of the aforesaid provisions makes it clear that if the prosecution succeeds in establishing the pre-conditions to obtain a benefit of presumption under Section 113B of the Indian Evidence Act in a case under Section 304-B I.P.C. it will be presumed that the accused has committed the offence and the burden of proof is shifted upon the accused that he was innocent.

50. It is pertinent to mention here that no defence evidence has been adduced by the accused persons. In his statement under Section 313 Cr.P.C., accused Sageer has taken a defence that he was at Bikaner in the fateful night and after getting information from his mother he came back in the morning but at the same time his brother co-accused Naseer in his statement has stated that accused Sageer had gone to Bareilly for labour work. It is a major contradiction. Secondly, co-accused Naseer has stated that when he saw the deceased (then injured) ablaze he immediately went away to the house of the in-laws of accused Sageer and stayed there at night and returned in the morning. The statement is totally unnatural. When the mother of the accused persons was alone in the house and the deceased was in bitterly burnt condition why co-accused Naseer went away to the house of the in-laws of accused Sageer and why he did not make any effort to provide medical treatment to the deceased immediately, are the questions un-answered by the defence.

51. The trial Court has fairly discussed these aspects in his judgement and has found that the accused persons are telling a lie and moreover, no defence evidence to prove the aforesaid narrations has been adduced by the appellants, which makes their statement totally false. They have failed to discharge their burden of proof under Section 113 B of Indian Evidence Act after a presumption was raised against them.

52. At the same time we have also found that the medical evidence is quite clear and corroborates the facts and circumstances of the case, the minor contradictions will have to be ignored and they cannot form the dent in the prosecution of the accused persons/ appellants. All the family members of the deceased have become hostile as witnesses but this fact also has failed to provide any help to the appellants. The dying declaration goes in toto in favour of the prosecution and, therefore, there is no doubt left in our mind about guilt of the present appellants and we concur with the finding of the learned trial Court. However, the question which falls in our minds is whether on re-appraisal of the peculiar facts and circumstances of the cases, the sentence of life imprisonment imposed by the trial Court is proper or not.

53. We have given our thoughtful consideration to the request made by the learned counsel for the appellants that they have been languishing in jail for many years in this case and keeping in view the incarceration of the accused persons they should be released as undergone.

54. While considering the aforesaid aspects our attention is drawn towards the fact that it is a case of septicemial death and the death of the deceased is occurred after more than two months of the occurrence.

55. 'Proper Sentence' was explained in Deo Narain Mandal Vs. State of UP [(2004) 7 SCC 257] by observing that Sentence should not be either excessively harsh or ridiculously low. While determining the quantum of sentence, the court should bear in mind the 'principle of proportionality'. Sentence should be based on facts of a given case. Gravity of offence, manner of commission of crime, age and sex of accused should be taken into account. Discretion of Court in awarding sentence cannot be exercised arbitrarily or whimsically.

56. In Ravada Sasikala vs. State of A.P. AIR 2017 SC 1166, the Supreme Court referred the judgments in Jameel vs State of UP [(2010) 12 SCC 532], Guru Basavraj vs State of Karnatak, [(2012) 8 SCC 734], Sumer Singh vs Surajbhan Singh, [(2014) 7 SCC 323], State of Punjab vs Bawa Singh, [(2015) 3 SCC

441], and Raj Bala vs State of Haryana, [(2016) 1 SCC 463] and has reiterated that, in operating the sentencing system, law should adopt corrective machinery or deterrence based on factual matrix. Facts and given circumstances in each case, nature of crime, manner in which it was planned and committed, motive for commission of crime, conduct of accused, nature of weapons used and all other attending circumstances are relevant facts which would enter into area of consideration. Further, undue sympathy in sentencing would do more harm to justice dispensations and would undermine the public confidence in the efficacy of law. It is the duty of every court to award proper sentence having regard to nature of offence and manner of its commission. The supreme court further said that courts must not only keep in view the right of victim of crime but also society at large. While considering imposition of appropriate punishment, the impact of crime on the society as a whole and rule of law needs to be balanced. The judicial trend in the country has been towards striking a balance between reform and punishment. The protection of society and stamping out criminal proclivity must be the object of law which can be achieved by imposing appropriate sentence on criminals and wrongdoers. Law, as a tool to maintain order and peace, should effectively meet challenges confronting the society, as society could not long endure and develop under serious threats of crime and disharmony. It is therefore, necessary to avoid undue leniency in imposition of sentence. Thus, the criminal justice jurisprudence adopted in the country is not retributive but reformative and corrective. At the same time, undue harshness should also be avoided keeping in view the reformative approach underlying in our criminal justice system.

57. Keeping in view the facts and circumstances of the case and also keeping in view criminal jurisprudence in our country which is reformative and corrective and not retributive, this Court considers that no accused person is incapable of being reformed and therefore, all measures should be applied to give them an opportunity of reformation in order to bring them in the social stream.

58. The dictum given in the recent judgment of State of M.P Vs. Jogendra (supra) (para-20) can be followed in the facts and circumstances of this case. Hence, we conclude that as the convicts have been in jail for more than 12 years i.e sufficient for them, hence they may be set free if not required in any other offence. As far as Section 3/4 D.P. Act is concerned, they have already undergone the punishment and if the fine is not paid, the default sentence would also have been over by now which would begin from the date after the period awarded by the trial court is over. As far as Section 304-B of I.P.C. is concerned, we punish all accused to 12 years of imprisonment. The fine is maintained as imposed by the trial Court and default sentence will be 6 months imprisonment. If the convicts have served out their sentence they be released, if not wanted in other offence.

59. The default sentence shall begin after 12th year of incarceration.

60. Accordingly, the appeal is partly allowed with the modification of the sentence as above.

61. Record and proceedings be sent back to the Court below forthwith.

62. A copy of this order be sent to the jail authorities for following this order and doing the needful.

1. Heard Sri Abhishek Mayank learned counsel for the appellants in all the connected appeals, Sri Ronak Chaturvedi learned counsel for the first informant and Sri Patanjali Mishra learned A.G.A. for the State-respondents.

2. These appeals emanate from the judgment and order dated 30.09.2008 passed by the Additional Session Judge, Court No.5, Aligarh in S.T. No.934 of 2004 (State vs. Kaptan Singh and others) arising out of Crime No.122 of 2003, under Sections 148, 302/149 & 120-B I.P.C., Police Station Khair, District Aligarh whereby the appellants have been convicted and sentenced for a period of 18 months rigorous imprisonment under Section 148 I.P.C.; life imprisonment u/s 302 readwith section 149 I.P.C. with fine of Rs.5000/- for each of the appellants, and in default of payment of fine to undergo three months additional imprisonment. All the sentences are to run concurrently.

3. During the pendency of the appeal, appellant Om Prakash had died and the appeal on his behalf has been abated.

4. The prosecution case in brief is that informant Sanjeev Kumar S/o Jugveer Singh, resident of Village Bisara, Police Station Khair, District Aligarh lodged an F.I.R. on 04.06.2003 at about 13:25 P.M. at the Police Station Khair, District Aligarh being brother of deceased Bablu and nephew of deceased Harveer Singh @ Munna. The written report was filed by him stating therein that on 18.03.2003 Manveer S/o Om Prakash, resident of his village, was murdered wherein his brother Banti and father Jugveer Singh and other persons of the village were implicated falsely by the brother of the deceased Manveer namely Kaptan Singh. As a result his brother and father were lodged in jail. On 04.06.2003, the date was fixed for hearing of their bail applications in relation to which the informant, his brother Bablu @ Virendar Singh, his uncle Harveer Singh @ Munna, one Alchendra Singh and Subhash went to Aligarh to do pairvi of the case but hearing was adjourned. His uncle Harveer Singh @ Munna, brother Bablu @ Virendar Singh on one motorcycle and the informant, Alchendra Singh and Subhash on another motorcycle were returning to their village Bisara. Bablu and Harveer Singh were ahead of them and when they reached near Lavkush Uchchatar Madhyamik Vidyalaya, Andala, a Maruti Car bearing no. DL 2CB-2483 crossed the motorcycle of the informant. They saw that it was being driven by Bhoora S/o Nepal Singh R/o Bisara and wherein Kaptan Singh S/o Om Prakash, Om Prakash S/o Raghunath Singh, Tikam Singh S/o Pratap Singh, Rajan @ Rajendra Singh S/o Satyaveer residents of the same village and Rohtash S/o Shanker Singh (son of phuphi of Kaptan Singh) resident of Sarua Ka Nagla Police Station Chandaus were sitting. After crossing the bike of the informant, they started firing indiscriminately at the brother and uncle of the informant namely Bablu and Harveer Singh who were on the motorcycle at the turning of Lavkush Uchchatar Madhyamik Vidyalaya at that time. Their motorcycle fell into the pit and both the deceased ran to escape but the accused persons came down from the car, surrounded them and killed both on the spot. The informant and other two persons witnessed the incident hiding there but could not gather courage to go ahead. The accused persons went away in the car while making fire creating terror on the spot. It was further stated that Hoshiyar Singh S/o Raj Bahadur Singh, Suresh S/o Roshan Singh and Habib Khan S/o Naseer Khan residents of the village told him four days prior to the incident that Bhoora, Kaptan Singh, Om Prakash, Tikam Singh, Dharmwati, Buddha, Shyam Singh and Rajan @ Rajendra were collected at the house of village Pradhan Kaptan Singh where Rohtash was also present and they were talking that they would take revenge of the murder of Manveer Singh by killing at least two persons of informant side. The informant stated that he did not give much importance to the said information but now he realised that the murder of the brother and uncle of the informant was committed at about 12:45 P.M. by the abovenamed persons in execution of the conspiracy hatched by them.

5. On the basis of the written report scribed by Vinod Kumar, case was registered as Crime No.122 of 2003, under Sections 147, 148, 149, 302, 120-B I.P.C. & under Section 2/3 Gangster and Anti Social Activities (Prevention) Act. The detail of the case was entered into the G.D. as report no.32 The investigation of the case was handed over to S.I. Lakhan Lal.

6. The inquest of deceased Harveer Singh and Bablu @ Virender Singh was conducted by S.I. Rajendra Prasad Singh on the same day and the inquest reports were prepared by him along with other relevant papers required for the purposes of postmortem. The dead bodies of both the deceased persons were sealed and handed over to Constable Harpal Singh and Home Guard Bhoori Singh who took them to Mortuary at District Hospital, Aligarh.

7. The postmortem of both the deceased persons was conducted on 05.06.2003 at about 10:00 A.M. and 10:40 A.M.; respectively by Dr. S.K. Porwal who mentioned in the postmortem reports that dead bodies were brought by Constable Harpal Singh and Home Guard Bhoori Singh in sealed state sent by S.H.O., Khair. The sample seal was compared and found correct.

10. During the investigation blood stained soil, plain soil, one bullet motorcycle, 17 empty cartridges 315 bore, two bullets 315 bore were taken into possession and recovery memos were prepared by the investigating officer. After recording the statement of the informant and inspection of the place of occurrence site plan was prepared and statements of the witnesses conversant to the facts of the case were also recorded. On the basis of the material collected during the investigation prima facie case was found to be made out against the accused persons except Smt. Dharmwati Devi u/s 147, 148, 149, 302, 120-B I.P.C. and the charge-sheet was submitted before the court concerned.

11. Cognizance of the offences was taken by the learned C.J.M. who provided the copies of prosecution papers to the appellants in compliance of Section 207 Cr.P.C. and committed the case to the court of session for trial.

12. Learned trial court framed the charges under Sections 148, 302 readwith Section 149 and 120-B I.P.C. on the basis of the material on record after giving opportunity of hearing to the appellants, charges were read over and explained to them. They pleaded not guilty, denied the charges and claimed for trial and consequently the case was fixed for prosecution evidence.

13. The prosecution examined PW-1 Alchendra Singh as witness of fact, PW-2 Vinod Kumar scribe of written report, PW-3 Constable Sarvesh Kumar who had prepared the chick F.I.R. on the basis of tehrir and entered the detail in the G.D., PW-4 Habib Khan witness relating to the criminal conspiracy, PW-5 S.I. Rajednra Prasad Singh who had prepared the inquest report and other relevant papers, PW-6 Dr. R.K. Porwal who conducted the post-mortem of the bodies of both the deceased and prepared the post-mortem reports, PW-7 S.I. Lakhan Lal who conducted investigation of the case, PW-8 S.I. Suresh Chandra Omhare who concluded the investigation of the case after PW-7 and submitted the charge-sheet.

14. After conclusion of the prosecution evidence the statements of appellants under Sections 313 Cr.P.C. were recorded wherein they negated the statements made by the witnesses before the court and stated that they had been falsely implicated on account of enmity and the witnesses made false statements. The appellant Bhoora Singh also stated that the case against the brother and father of informant was proved and they had been convicted and that he was not present on the place of occurrence. Prior to this incident, brother of Kaptan Singh namely Manveer Singh was murdered wherein Alchendra, Rajjo, Anees S/o Habib Khan were accused and he was the witness of recovery of knife and that was the enmity for his false implication. Appellant Rajan @ Rajendra also stated that Hoshiyar Singh brother of Alchendra Singh was an accused and convicted in the case under Section 307 I.P.C. wherein he was witness and on account of this enmity he was falsely implicated. Appellant Rohtash stated that he was falsely implicated on account of village party bandi as being cousin of Kaptan Singh and he was resident of another village. Appellants had produced Kunwar Pal Singh as DW-1 in defence.

15. Learned counsel for the appellants argued that the judgment of the trial court is against the evidence available on record. It is bad in the eye of law being based on the testimony of interested witness related to the deceased who was not present on the spot and his testimony was full of contradictions. No independent witness had been examined though the occurrence took place at a public place. The prosecution had failed to establish the motive for committing the offence. There was no evidence of unlawful assembly and of common object. The appellants were named in the F.I.R. due to enmity but the trial court did not consider these facts while appreciating the evidence on record and illegally sentenced all the appellants. As the prosecution could not prove its case beyond reasonable doubt the appellants are entitled for acquittal and the appeals deserve to be allowed.

16. Learned A.G.A. opposed the contentions raised by the learned counsel for the appellants and urged that in this case there was proved enmity between the parties relating to the murder of Manveer S/o Kaptan Singh and the appellants, in revenge had planned the murder of the deceased persons who were making pairavi for bail of the accused persons Banti and Jugveer Singh who were in jail. The informant Sanjeev Kumar was also murdered later on and PW-1 Achlendra Singh who was an eye-witness of the incident had deposed about the incident. The testimony of PW-1 is wholly reliable and cannot be discarded only on the ground of he being relative of the deceased persons, as his presence on the spot could not be disputed. The F.I.R. was lodged promptly without any delay which rules out the possibility of concoction. The place of occurrence and the death of deceased persons due to fire arm injury could not be disputed. There are no material contradictions in the testimony of PW-1 Achlendra Singh which would go to the very root of the case. His testimony is wholly reliable and conviction as recorded by the trial court is based on the evidence available on record, it cannot be said to be erroneous from any angle. The appeals being devoid of merit are liable to be dismissed.

17. From the statements and perusal of the record, the following questions emerge for consideration of this Court; as to whether there was motive to commit the murder of the deceased persons; witness being relative and interested is reliable and trustworthy; non-examination of independent witness would have adverse effect on the prosecution case; the contradictions in the statements of witness are material which make the testimony unreliable; further whether the appellants have been implicated falsely due to enmity.

18. Before we deal with the contentions of the learned counsel for the appellants, it would be convenient to take note of the witness account as adduced by the prosecution.

19. PW-1 Achlendra Singh, the informant had deposed that on 04.06.2003

he went to the District Court, Aligarh for doing pairavi for bail of Jugveer Singh and others. Sanjeev Kumar, Subhash, Bablu @ Virendra, Munna @ Harveer were also with him. On 18.03.2003 Manveer brother of Kaptan Singh, son of Om Prakash of his village was murdered. In the said murder case, Jugveer Singh, Banti, Manish and Rabbo were accused. Kaptan Singh was the village pradhan. On 04.06.2003, the hearing was adjourned so they were returning to their village. Munna @ Harveer and Bablu on one motorcycle and he, Sanjeev Kumar alongwith Subhash on other motorcycle were going towards the village. When they reached at the Indian Gas Plant, Munna @ Harveer and Bablu went ahead on the motorcycle. Sanjeev and Bablu were driving two motorcycles. When they reached near the Uchchatar Madhyamik Vidyalaya, Andala, Police Station Khair, one Maruti Car driven by one Bhoora Singh overtook his motorcycle wherein appellants Kaptan Singh, Om Prakash, Tikam Singh, Rajan @ Rajendra Singh R/o Bisara and Rohtash son of phuphi of Kaptan Singh R/o Sarua were sitting. All those persons started firing at Munna and Bablu. As a result, their motorcycle fell on the side of the road in a pit. They tried to escape but were chased by the accused persons surrounded and shot dead on the spot. All the accused persons were equipped with fire arms. He, Sanjeev Kumar and Subhash witnessed the incident while hiding themselves. The accused persons were working as a gang for extracting money unlawfully. The occurrence took place at about 12:45 P.M. The F.I.R. was lodged by Sanjeev Kumar at the police station. It was further stated that 3-4 days prior to this incident, Suresh, Habib Khan, Hoshiyar, Bhoora, Kaptan Singh, Om Prakash, Tikam Singh, Rajan @ Rajendra Singh, Shriniwas, Buddha, Dharmwati and Rohtash were conspiring to take revenge of murder of Manveer by killing two persons on the informant side. These people in conspiracy committed murder of Munna and Bablu. Later on 02.03.2005, the informant Sanjeev Kumar was also murdered. This witness was subjected to gruelling cross-examination by the defence counsel but he could not be shaken and nothing was found in his deposition which weakens his testimony. PW1 has confirmed the fact of firing and murder committed by the appellants though, he categorically stated the fact of enmity relating to the murder of Manveer wherein his son Rabbo was also an accused and has been convicted. PW1 also admitted that in the said murder case, he was also an accused under Section 120-B I.P.C., but deceased Munna and Bablu were not accused persons in the murder case of Manveer. The impact of the admitted enmity will be discussed alongwith the argument of the learned counsel for the appellants at a later stage in this judgment.

20. PW-2 Vinod Kumar had deposed that informant Sanjeev Kumar who was murdered on 02.03.2005 was his nephew. Munna, his real brother and Bablu real nephew were murdered on 04.06.2003. The written report of this incident was scribed by him on the dictation of Sanjeev Kumar. Whatever was dictated by Sanjeev Kumar he wrote the same and readover the contents thereof and then informant Sanjeev Kumar put his signature on it. PW2 proved paper no.6 Ka the report written in his hand writing and bearing the signature of informant Sanjeev Kumar as Ex Ka-1.

This witness was also subjected to lengthy cross-examination but he asserted the fact that on the information given on telephone by Sanjeev Kumar about the murder at about 1 O'clock, he came to the police station by Marshal Jeep where he met to Sanjeev Kumar out of the gate of the police station and wrote the F.I.R./Tehrir. Afterwards he went back to his house to console the family members. Nothing adverse could be pointed out from the testimony of this witness.

21. PW-3 Constable Sarvesh Kumar deposed that on 04.06.2003 he was posted as Constable Clerk at the Police Station Khair. He prepared the check report no.77 on the basis of the written tehrir presented by informant Sanjeev Kumar and he entered the detail thereof in the report no.32 of the G.D. at 13:25 O'clock. He proved the check F.I.R. to be in his hand writing and signature as Ex Ka- 2. He also proved the carbon copy of G.D. by comparing it with the original being in his hand writing and signature as Ex Ka-3. During the cross-examination, nothing adverse was found in his testimony.

22. PW-4 Habib Khan deposed that prior to this incident brother of Kaptan Singh namely Manveer was murdered. He stated that four days prior to the present incident at about 6:30 P.M. while he was passing by the house of Kaptan Singh where on the terrace of Kaptan Singh other persons namely Hoshiyar Singh, Suresh, Kaptan Singh, Om Prakash, Tikam Singh, Dharmwati, Srinivas, Rohtash, Buddha, Bhoora, Rajan @ Rajendra Singh were talking, he heard Kaptan Singh saying that they would kill two persons instead of one murder by the informant side and every person there agreed to him and stated that they were with him and see that the work be done. He told about this conversation to deceased Munna, Bablu and informant Sanjeev Kumar but they did not pay attention and replied that they did not believe him. Later on, deceased Munna and Bablu were murdered.

This witness was also subjected to gruelling cross-examination by the defence wherein it was disclosed that his son Anees was accused in the murder of Manveer and remained in jail for a period of 8-10 months. Prior to the incident, Kaptan Singh and others shot fires on Anees at the home for which a case under Section 307 I.P.C. was registered. The statement of this witness also disclosed the enmity with appellant Kaptan Singh and it will also be dealt with in the later part of this judgment with the submissions of the learned counsel for the appellants.

23. PW-5 S.I. Rajendra Prasad Singh deposed that on 04.06.2003, he was posted as Sub-Inspector at the Police Station Khair. He went to conduct the inquest with Inspector Lakhan Lal and S.S.I. Baljit Singh. He conducted inquest, prepared the inquest report and other relevant papers and also sealed the dead body of the deceased persons and handed over to Constable Harpal and Home Guard Bhoori Singh to carry for the post-mortem. He proved the inquest report relating to deceased Bablu @ Virendra Singh being in his hand writing and signature as Ex Ka- 4 and other papers as Ex Ka-5 to 9; the inquest of dead body of Munna @ Harveer Singh be as Ex Ka-11 to 15. During cross-examination nothing adverse could be found in his testimony.

24. PW-6 Dr. S.K. Porwal deposed that on 05.06.2003 he was posted at the District Hospital, Aligarh and conducted post-mortem of the dead body of deceased Bablu @ Virendra aged about 30 years S/o Jugveer Singh R/o Bisara, Police Station Khair at 10:00 A.M. He proved the contents of the post-mortem report as prepared by him in his hand writing and signature as Ex Ka- 16. He also opined that the death of the deceased was caused by shock and hemorrhage as a result of ante-mortem injuries one day prior to the post-mortem and that the death was possible at about 12:45 P.M. on 04.06.2003. He further stated that on 10:40 A.M., on the same day, he conducted the post-mortem of the dead body of Munna @ Harveer Singh and also proved the contents of the post-mortem report as prepared by him in his hand writing and signature as Ex Ka- 17. The cause of death was stated as a result of ante-mortem injuries at about 12:45 P.M. on 04.06.2003. This witness was also subjected to gruelling cross-examination but nothing adverse was found in his deposition.

25. PW-7 Inspector Lakhan Lal deposed that on 04.06.2003 he was posted as the Officer In-charge at the Police Station Khair and in his presence at about 13:25 P.M. F.I.R. of this case was lodged on the basis of written report Ex Ka-1 presented by informant Sanjeev Kumar and the investigation of the case was handed over to him. He went to the place of occurrence where he recorded the statement of informant Sanjeev Kumar and other witnesses. He also inspected the place of occurrence as narrated by the informant and witnesses and prepared the site plan in his hand writing and signature which he proved as Ex Ka- 18. He got the inquest prepared and sent the dead bodies for the post-mortem. On the place of occurrence one Bullet Motorcycle was found and Memo relating thereto was prepared which was proved as Ex Ka- 13. From the spot, 17 empty cartridges 315 bore and two bullets 315 bore were taken into possession, Memo of which was prepared and proved as Ex Ka- 20. Blood stained and plain earth was also taken and sealed for sample and Memo was prepared which he proved as Ex Ka- 21. Thereafter, PW-7 tried to arrest the accused persons but they had absconded. PW-7 was transferred and the investigation was handed over to S.S.I. Baljit Singh.

This witness was also subjected to lengthy cross-examination by the defence counsel.

26. PW-8 S.I. Suresh Chandra Omhare stated that on 31.03.2004 he was posted in the office of S.I.S., I.G. Zone, Kanpur and the investigation of this case was handed over to him by the order of I.G., Zone Kanpur. He recorded the statements of witnesses conversant to the facts of the case and after concluding the investigation submitted the charge-sheet which he proved as Ex Ka- 23 being in his hand writing.

This witness was also subjected to lengthy cross-examination by the defence counsel.

27. The informant Sanjeev Kumar was murdered on 02.03.2005, before he could be examined.

28. PW-1 Alchendra Singh is the sole witness of fact who was produced as eye witness of the occurrence. PW-2 Vinod Kumar was not an eye-witness but only scribe of the written report given by the informant Sanjeev Kumar. Likewise PW-4 Habib Khan was also not an eye-witness of the occurrence but he had only narrated overhearing the conspiracy hatched by the appellants for committing murder of the deceased persons but the charge of conspiracy under Section 120-B I.P.C. was not found to have been proved beyond reasonable doubt, therefore, the appellants were acquitted of the charges under Section 120-B I.P.C. No appeal against the acquittal under the said offence is before us. The testimony of this witness (PW-4), thus, is of no use.

29. Now reliability and veracity of the testimony of the sole witness PW-1 Alchendra Singh is to be tested before this Court in the context of the submissions made by the learned counsel for the appellants.

30. Learned counsel for the appellants submits that PW-1 is an interested witness and is inimical to the appellants. He as such is not a reliable witness. No doubt Rabbo Singh S/o Alchendra Singh (PW-1) was an accused in the case of murder of Manveer Singh wherein brother of informant, Banti and his father Jugveer Singh were also accused persons. Manveer was related to appellants. On the date of the incident, PW-1 Alchendra Singh and informant Sanjeev Kumar along with the deceased went to the District Court, Aligarh for doing pairavi for bail of accused persons namely Banti and Jugveer Singh. Further PW-1 also admitted in his cross-examination that in the murder case of Manveer, his son was also convicted and enlarged on bail and he was also an accused in that case for the offence under Section 120-B I.P.C. PW1 further admitted that his son contested the election of Village pradhani against Kaptan Singh and Jugveer & Sanjeev were on their side. A case was registered under Section 307 I.P.C. against Hoshiyar brother of PW-1 Alchendra Singh. All these facts clearly indicate that there was adequate evidence of enmity between PW-1 Alchendra Singh and the family of the appellants. The PW1, thus, clearly falls in the category of an interested witness but merely on the ground of being an interested witness, his evidence cannot be disbelieved outrightly unless it can be discerned from the record that his testimony as a whole deserves to be rejected being untrustworthy. There is an excuse to save the real culprits and to implicate the appellants falsely which is lacking.

31. On the issue of appreciation of evidence of interested witnesses, Dalip Singh Vs. State of Punjab, AIR 1953 SC 364, is one of the celebrated cases. It was held therein:-

"A witness is normally to be considered independent unless he or she springs from sources which are likely to be tainted and that usually means unless the witness has cause, such as enmity against the accused, to wish to implicate him falsely. Ordinarily, a close relative would be the last to screen the real culprit and falsely implicate an innocent person. It is true, when feelings run high and there is personal cause for enmity, that there is a tendency to drag in an innocent person against whom a witness has a grudge along with the guilty, but foundation must be laid for such a criticism and the mere fact of relationship far from being a foundation is often a sure guarantee of truth."

32. Similarly, in Piara Singh and Ors. Vs. State of Punjab, AIR 1977 SC 2274, the Supreme Court held:

"It is well settled that the evidence of interested or inimical witnesses is to be scrutinised with care but cannot be rejected merely on the ground of being a partisan evidence. If on a perusal of the evidence the Court is satisfied that the evidence is creditworthy there is no bar in the Court relying on the said evidence."

33. In Hari Obula Reddy and Ors. Vs. The State of Andhra Pradesh, (1981) 3 SCC 675, a three-judge Bench of the Supreme Court observed:

".. it is well settled that interested evidence is not necessarily unreliable evidence. Even partisanship by itself is not a valid ground for discrediting or rejecting sworn testimony. Nor can it be laid down as an invariable rule that interested evidence can never form the basis of conviction unless corroborated to a material extent in material particulars by independent evidence. All that is necessary is that the evidence of interested witnesses should be subjected to careful scrutiny and accepted with caution. If on such scrutiny, the interested testimony is found to be intrinsically reliable or inherently probable, it may, by itself, be sufficient, in the circumstances of the particular case, to base a conviction thereon."

34. Again, in Ramashish Rai Vs. Jagdish Singh, (2005) 10 SCC 498, the following observations were made by the Supreme Court:

"The requirement of law is that the testimony of inimical witnesses has to be considered with caution. If otherwise the witnesses are true and reliable their testimony cannot be thrown out on the threshold by branding them as inimical witnesses. By now, it is well-settled principle of law that enmity is a double-edged sword. It can be a ground for false implication. It also can be a ground for assault. Therefore, a duty is cast upon the court to examine the testimony of inimical witnesses with due caution and diligence."

35. The learned counsel for the appellants has also urged that in absence of testimony of an independent witnesses, the prosecution story is liable to be discarded. We are not impressed with this submission in the light of the observations made by this Court in Darya Singh Vs. State of Punjab, AIR 1965 SC 328, wherein it was observed:

"It is well-known that in villages where murders are committed as a result of factions existing in the village or in consequence of family feuds, independent villagers are generally reluctant to give evidence because they are afraid that giving evidence might invite the wrath of the assailants and might expose them to very serious risks. It is quite true that it is the duty of a citizen to assist the prosecution by giving evidence and helping the administration of criminal law to bring the offender to book, but it would be wholly unrealistic to suggest that if the prosecution is not able to bring independent witnesses to the Court because they are afraid to give evidence, that itself should be treated as an infirmity in the prosecution case so as to justify the defence contention that the evidence actually adduced should be disbelieved on that ground alone without examining its merits."

36. Similarly, in Raghubir Singh Vs. State of U.P., (1972) 3 SCC 79, it was held that the prosecution is not bound to produce all the witnesses who are said to have seen the occurrence. Material witnesses considered necessary by the prosecution for unfolding the prosecution story alone need be produced without unnecessary and redundant multiplication of witnesses. In this connection, general reluctance of an average villager to appear as a witness and get himself involved in cases of rival village factions when tempers on both sides are running high, has to be borne in mind.

37. Further, in Appabhai and Anr. Vs. State of Gujarat, 1988 Supp (1) SCC 241, the Supreme Court has observed :

"Experience reminds us that civilized people are generally insensitive when a crime is committed even in their presence. They withdraw both from the victim and the vigilante. They keep themselves away from the Court unless it is inevitable. They think that crime like civil dispute is between two individuals or parties and they should not involve themselves. This kind of apathy of the general public is indeed unfortunate, but it is there everywhere whether in village life, towns or cities. One cannot ignore this handicap with which the investigating agency has to discharge its duties. The Court, therefore, instead of doubting the prosecution case for want of independent witness must consider the broad spectrum of the prosecution version and then search for the nugget of truth with due regard to probability, if any, suggested by the accused."

38. Another reason for which the learned counsel for the appellants insists to disbelieve the prosecution story is that there are improvements and exaggerations in the testimony of PW 1. We find it difficult to agree with this argument in light of the judgment in the case Leela Ram Vs. State of Haryana, (1999) 9 SCC 525, wherein it was observed:

"It is indeed necessary to note that one hardly comes across a witness whose evidence does not contain some exaggeration or embellishment - sometimes there could even be a deliberate attempt to offer embellishment and sometimes in their over anxiety they may give a slightly exaggerated account. The court can sift the chaff from the grain and find out the truth from the testimony of the witnesses. Total repulsion of the evidence is unnecessary. The evidence is to be considered from the point of view of trustworthiness. If this element is satisfied, it ought to inspire confidence in the mind of the court to accept the stated evidence though not however in the absence of the same."

39. Similarly, in Subal Ghorai and Ors. Vs. State of West Bengal, (2013) 4 SCC 607, the Supreme Court stated as follows:

"Experience shows that witnesses do exaggerate and this Court has taken note of such exaggeration made by the witnesses and held that on account of embellishments, evidence of witnesses need not be discarded if it is corroborated on material aspects by the other evidence on record."

40. It is also argued that there are discrepancies and contradictions in the testimony of PW-1 which do not inspire confidence. It is well settled in law that minor discrepancies are not to be given undue emphasis and the evidence is to be considered from the point of view of trustworthiness. The test is whether the same inspires confidence in the mind of the Court. If the evidence is incredible and cannot be accepted by the test of prudence, then it may create a dent in the prosecution version. If an omission or discrepancy goes to the root of the matter and ushers in incongruities, the defence can take advantage of such inconsistencies. It needs no special emphasis to state that every omission cannot take place of a material omission and, therefore, minor contradictions, inconsistencies or insignificant embellishments do not affect the core of the prosecution case and should not be taken to be a ground to reject the prosecution evidence. The omission should create a serious doubt about the truthfulness or creditworthiness of a witness. It is only the serious contradictions and omissions which materially affect the case of the prosecution but not every contradiction or omission. (See Rammi @ Rameshwar Vs. State of M.P., (1999) 8 SCC 649; Leela Ram (dead) through Duli Chand Vs. State of Haryana and Another, (1999) 9 SCC 525; Bihari Nath Goswami Vs. Shiv Kumar Singh & Ors., (2004) 9 SCC 186; Vijay @ Chinee Vs. State of Madhya Pradesh, (2010) 8 SCC 191; Sampath Kumar Vs. Inspector of Police, Krishnagiri, (2012) 4 SCC 124; Shyamal Ghosh Vs. State of West Bengal, (2012) 7 SCC 646 and Mritunjoy Biswas Vs. Pranab @ Kuti Biswas and Anr., (2013) 12 SCC 796).

41. Learned counsel for the appellants also submitted that there was no motive to commit murder of the deceased persons, however, the learned trial court held that there was sufficient motive with the accused persons to commit the murder of the deceased persons. Admittedly, there was enmity between the appellants and the deceased. As disclosed in the F.I.R. by the informant Sanjeev Kumar that the murder of Manveer S/o Om Prakash was committed on 18.03.2003 wherein brother of informant namely Banti and his father Jugveer Singh were implicated who were in jail. The hearing of their bail was fixed on 04.06.2003 and the deceased persons and the informant all went to the court for doing pairavi of the bail case. While coming back from the Court on the way, the incident took place and the appellants committed murder of the deceased Bablu @ Virender Singh and Munna @ Harveer, both son and brother of accused Jugveer Singh. This infers the deep rooted motive in the minds of the appellants to commit the murder of the deceased persons who belonged to the family of accused Jugveer Singh in the murder case of Manveer S/o Om Prakash one of the appellants. In this way, there was strong motive to take revenge for murder of Manveer Singh. Further it is settled legal proposition that even if there is absence of motive, it is of no consequence and it becomes insignificant when direct evidence establishes the crime. In case there is direct trustworthy evidence of witness as to the commission of offence, motive looses its significance and if genesis of the occurrence is not proved, the ocular testimony of the witnesses to the occurrence can not be discarded. In the present case, however, motive due to enmity of the parties is fully established from the material on record.

42. It was further contended that the F.I.R. was lodged ante-time. It is to be noted that occurrence took place at 12:45 P.M. and F.I.R. was lodged on 13:25 P.M. i.e. 40 minutes after the occurrence. The place of the occurrence was turn of Lavkush Uchchatar Madhyamik Vidyalay, Andala 9 kms. from the Police Station Khair. PW-1 stated that when the incident took place, Sanjeev Kumar lodged the F.I.R. at the police station. Further stated that after the accused persons went away he and Sanjeev Kumar went to the police station and Vinod also came there from the village. They went to the police station straightway by motorcycle and it took 20-25 minutes time to reach there. They did not go to their village which was situated 11 kms. away from the police station. Keeping in view the incident and the distance between the place of occurrence and police station, taking of 20-25 minutes time in reaching there is natural. F.I.R. was lodged on the basis of written report given by the informant at the police station. PW-3 Constable Sarvesh Kumar who was constable clerk posted at the police station on 04.06.2003 clearly asserted that he lodged the F.I.R. on the basis of the written report given by Sanjeev Kumar and entered its detail in G.D. as report no.32 at 13:25 O'clock. He also proved the F.I.R. and G.D. Though suggestions regarding the lodging of the F.I.R. ante-time was given to him but it was negated by the witness. After lodging the F.I.R., S.H.O. Lakhan Lal and S.I. Rejendra Prasad Singh went to the place of the occurrence for conducting the inquest and investigated the matter. He reached on the spot and started inquest of deceased persons at 14:30 P.M. in the presence of the witnesses who signed on the inquest report. There is entry of crime number on the inquest report and also other relevant papers prepared at that time. S.I. Rajendra Prasad Singh and Inespector Lakhan Lal also made similar statement about the time of lodging of the F.I.R. There appears no infirmity in this regard. The contention of the learned counsel for the appellants that the F.I.R. was ante-time, thus, can not be sustained.

43. The place of occurrence was said to be near the pit besides the road at Lavkush Uchchatar Madhyamik Vidyalaya, Andala. The dead bodies were found lying there as indicated in the inquest. The bullet motorcycle on which deceased persons were riding was also found lying at the aforesaid place. The blood stained and plain earth was collected from the same place of occurrence and the F.S.L. report on record proves that both match in properties. The investigating officer found 17 empty cartridges 315 bore and 2 bullets 315 bore on the spot, took them in possession and prepared the Memo. He has also proved the Memo during the examination before the court. The site plan prepared by the investigating officer also corroborates the place of occurrence. All these pieces of evidence establish the place of occurrence to be near the pit besides the Lavkush Uchchtar Madhyamik Vidyalay, Andala. PW-1 has also deposed the same place being the place of occurrence. In this way, the place of occurrence is established from the evidence led by the prosecution.

44. Undisputably, the death of deceased Bablu @ Virendra Singh and Munna @ Harveer was caused as a result of ante-mortem fire arm injuries. PW-1 Alchendra Singh had clearly stated that appellants made fire at the deceased persons and they were done to death on the spot. In the post-mortem reports Ex Ka- 16 & 17, the ante-mortem firearm injuries were found on the person of both the deceased. Two bullets were recovered from the dead body of deceased Bablu and they were sent to F.S.L. for examination, those bullets were found to be blood stained having been fired through cartridges of 315 bore. During the inquest proceedings, fire arm injuries were seen on the dead bodies. PW-6 Dr. S.K. Porwal, who conducted the post-mortem and prepared the post-mortem reports, had opined that the injuries were found on the person of the deceased caused by fire arm and a bullet was recovered from the heart and another from the head of the deceased caused about one day prior to the date of the post mortem, i.e. on 04.06.2003 at about 12:45 P.M. PW-1 Alchendra Singh who is eye-witness of the incident also stated the same about the manner and the cause of the death of the deceased persons. In this way, the death of both the deceased persons was proved to have been caused on 04.06.2003 at about 12:45 P.M. by fire arm injuries.

45. To sum up, we do not find any major contradiction either in the evidence of the PW-1 or any conflict in the medical or occular evidence as deposed by PW-1 which would tilt the balance in favour of the opponents. The minor improvements, embelishments etc, apart from being for yield of human faculties are insignificant and ought to be ignored since the evidence of the witnesses otherwise overwhelmingly corroborate each other in material particulars. The testimony of PW-1 gets support from medical as well as other evidence on record. The method, time and manner of causing the death, the weapon used, the place of occurrence and promptness in lodging the F.I.R.,and the motive, all these factors corroborate the testimony as deposed by the occular witness Alchendra Singh. His presence on the spot cannot be said to be doubtful. As a result, the evidence as deposed by PW-1 Alchendra Singh is wholly reliable and trustworthy.

46. Finally, having regard to the evidence on record, we are of the opinion that the trial court has correctly analyzed the material on record in the factual as well as legal perspective while arriving at its conclusion. The judgment and order of conviction and sentence passed by the learned Sessions Judge, Aligarh requires no interference and is hereby affirmed. The appeals filed by the appellants being devoid of merit are liable to be dismissed.

47. All the appeals are accordingly, dismissed.

48. The appellant Teekam Singh is on bail. The court concerned is directed to take the appellant namely Teekam Singh in custody forthwith and send him to jail to serve out the remaining sentence.

49. The appellants Kaptan Singh, Bhoora Singh @ Nepal Singh and Rohtash Singh are in jail.

50. The appellant Rajan @ Rajendra has been released on 15.02.2020 from jail on remission of his sentence in pursuance of the Government Order dated 11.02.2020.

51. The office is directed to transmit back the lower court record alongwith a certified copy of this judgment for information and necessary compliance.

52. Certify this judgment to the court below immediately for necessary action.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Dinesh Pathak, J.)

1. Heard learned counsel for the petitioner, learned counsel for the private respondents No. 4 and learned standing counsel representing respondents No. 1 to 3 and 5 and perused the record.

2. Petitioner has invoked the extraordinary jurisdiction of this Court by way of filing the instant writ petition under Article 226 of the Constitution of India challenging the order dated 20.4.2022 passed by the Deputy Director of Consolidation affirming the order dated 25.1.2022 passed by Settlement Officer of Consolidation, arising out of order dated 15.7.2021 passed by Consolidation Officer in a proceeding under Section 9A (2) of UP Consolidation of Holdings Act (In brevity, 'U.P.C.H. Act').

3. Facts culled out from the averments made in the writ petition are that the present writ petition is arising out of objection dated 15.6.2009 under Section 9A (2) of UP Consolidation of Holdings Act filed on behalf of the present petitioner with a prayer that plot No. 245 area 1.0790 hectare, plot No. 260 area 1.0030 hectare and plot No. 289 area 1.6190 hectare situated in village Ghar, Tehsil Bhognipur, District Kanpur Dehat may be kept out of consolidation operation on the ground that with respect to these plots, civil suit is going on between the parties. It is averred in the application that property belongs to Shiv Lal (father of the petitioner), who was of unsound mind, and taking benefits of his mental illness respondent No. 4 has got sale deed dated 8.9.2011 executed in his favour. On the basis thereof, he got his name mutated in the revenue record. Objection goes on alleging that Shiv Lal had filed a civil suit being Original Suit No. 573 of 2011 against Dharmendra Kumar (respondent No. 4), which is pending consideration. Civil Court has granted interim order dated 19.9.2011 for maintaining status quo on spot. Consolidation Officer has rejected the objection moved by the petitioner, vide its order dated 15.7.2021 (annexure No. 3), with an observation that plot No. 260 is already out of consolidation operation and exchange value of plot No. 289 and 245 and their surrounding plots has already been fixed in the consolidation operation, therefore, prayer, to keep the aforesaid plots out of consolidation operation, cannot be accepted. Order dated 15.7.2021 passed by Consolidation Officer was affirmed by Settlement Officer of Consolidation vide its order dated 25.1.2022 and Deputy Director of Consolidation vide its order dated 20.4.2022, which are under challenge in the present writ petition.

4. Learned counsel for the petitioner submits that the suit for injunction has been filed against the private respondent No. 4 and interim order is granted in the aforesaid suit for maintaining status quo over the land in question, therefore, consolidation authorities have got no jurisdiction to continue any type of proceeding relating to the subject matter of the suit. In support of his contention, he has cited the decision of the co-ordinate Bench of this Court in Kanchan Kumar Chaudhary Vs. District Judge, Mau and others, reported in 1999 (1) AWC 152. By interpreting the provisions as enunciated under Section 5 (2) of U.P.C.H. Act, learned counsel for the petitioner has tried to submit that the consolidation courts have got no jurisdiction to examine the legality and validity of the sale deed said to have been executed in favour of the respondent No. 4. It is further submitted that the pendency of the civil suit bars the jurisdiction of the consolidation court to examine the right and title of the parties over the land in question. According to learned counsel for the petitioner, the consolidation courts have passed the order without application of mind and without considering the provisions of law, as enunciated under the U.P.C.H. Act, therefore, orders impugned are illegal and suffers from infirmities and, therefore, are liable to be quashed.

5. Per contra, learned counsel for the respondents No. 4 contended that Shiv Lal had executed the registered sale deed dated 8.9.2011, in a sound state of mind, in favour of the respondent No. 4, which still stands unchallenged. Civil Suit i.e. Original Suit No. 573 of 2011 has been filed only for the permanent injunction against the defendant/respondent No. 4 with prayer not to interfere in the possession of the plaintiff, which is evident from the plaint annexed in the writ petition, therefore, right and title of the respondent No. 4 on the basis of the registered sale deed cannot be questioned. The name of the respondent No. 4 is already recorded in the revenue record by the orders passed by revenue authorities and the same was affirmed by this Court, vide its order dated 23.10.2013 passed in Writ Petition No. 58029 of 2013, which became final between the parties. It has further been contended that in the basic consolidation record, name of the respondent No. 4 was recorded, therefore, consolidation authorities have rightly fixed the exchange value of the aforesaid plot in the name of respondent No. 4. Interim order dated 19.9.2011 passed by the civil court was a time bound interim order only upto 10.11.2011 but, thereafter, there is nothing on record to show as to what has happened after 10.11.2011. Supporting the impugned orders passed by consolidation courts, learned counsel for the respondents No. 4 contended that the legality and validity of the sale deed cannot be questioned at this juncture and there is no ambiguity, perversity or infirmity in the said orders so as to warrant any indulgence of this Court in exercise of extraordinary jurisdiction under Article 226 of the Constitution of India, therefore, the present writ petition is liable to be dismissed with cost.

6. Carefully considered the rival submissions advanced by the learned counsel for the parties and perused the record.

7. Question for consideration in the instant matter lies in a narrow compass as to whether the consolidation authorities have got jurisdiction to fix the exchange value of the plots in question and carve out chak in the name of respondent No. 4 (recorded tenure holder) over there, which is a subject matter of civil suit.

8. Section 4 of the U.P.C.H. Act denotes the provision for gazette notification of any particular area for the purposes of the consolidation operation. The effect of the notification under Section 4 of U.P.C.H. Act, as enunciated under Section 5 (2) of the U.P.C.H. Act, denotes the abatement of proceedings regarding the correction of record & civil suit and proceeding, in respect of declaration of right, title or interest in any land lying in the area, or for declaration or adjudication of any other right in regard to which proceeding can or ought to be taken under the U.P.C.H. Act. For ready reference relevant portion of Section 5 (2) of U.P.C.H. Act is quoted hereinunder-

Section 5 (2)- "Upon the said publication of the notification under sub-section (2) of Section 4, the following further consequences shall ensue in the area to which the notification relates, namely -

(a) every proceeding for the correction of records and every suit and proceeding in respect of declaration of rights or interest in any land lying in the area, or for declaration or adjudication of any other right in regard to which proceedings can or ought to be taken under this Act, pending before any Court or authority whether of the first instance or of appeal, reference or revision, shall, on an order being passed in that behalf by the Court or authority before whom such suit or proceeding is pending, stand abated :

Provided ... ...

Provided ... ...

(b) such abatement shall be without prejudice to the rights of the persons affected to agitate the right or interest in dispute in the said suits or proceedings before the appropriate consolidation authorities under and in accordance with the provisions of this Act and the rules made thereunder.]

Explanation- ... ... "

9. Conjoint reading of sub-clause (a) & (b) of clause 2 of Section 5 evince the protection to the rights of the persons, who are affected owing to abatement of suit or proceeding, as enumerated under sub-clause (a), to agitate their right or interest under the relevant provisions of U.P.C.H. Act and the rules made thereunder.

10. In this respect, provisions as enunciated under Section 49 of U.P.C.H. Act, though not much relevant in facts of the present writ petition, is also required to be entertained, which creates a bar to the civil court jurisdiction with respect to the right and title of the parties over the land in question, which falls within the ambit of notification under Section 4 of the U.P.C.H. Act.

11. Drawing distinction between Section 5 (2) and Section 49 of the U.P.C.H. Act, in case of Kanchan Kumar Chaudhary (supra), this Court explained that both the sections operates with the same object but deals with two distinct and different fields, but in respect of same class of cases. While section 5 (2) of U.P.C.H. Act deals with the pending cases, Section 49 of U.P.C.H. Act deals with the institution of cases. Both the sections are complimentary to each other for the self same object in two different situations. Inasmuch as Section 5 freezes pendency of cases while section 49 forbids institution of fresh cases of the class of cases enumerated therein which are common in both. Both the sections are part of the same scheme.

12. Full Bench decision of this Court in the matter of Ram Padarth Vs. Additional District Judge, Sultanpur, reported in 1989 RD 21 has diluted the distinction between the void and voidable document with respect to the filing a suit for cancellation of document before the appropriate Court i.e. Civil Court or Revenue Court. It is held that the person, who is recorded tenure holder, having prima facie title in his favour, can hardly be directed to approach the revenue court in respect of seeking relief for cancellation of the void document. Meaning thereby, a person who is not a recorded tenure holder can take a shelter in the revenue court/consolidation court for establishing his/her right and title over the property in dispute. The relevant paragraph of the verdict given by the Full Bench in the case of Ram Padarath (supra) is reproduced hereunder:

The jurisdiction of the consolidation authorities is wider than civil and revenue court. Section 5 (2) of U.P. Consolidation of Holdings Act provides that any suit pending in the trial court or in appeal before any appellate court in which right, title and interest over land is involved will stand abated. In view of the said provision any appeal, may it be a special appeal, pending before Hon'ble Supreme Court, would abate. Adjudication of right, title and interest over "land" by the consolidation authorities is final. Section 8 of the U.P. Consolidation of Holdings Act provides for revision of the village map after provisional consolidation Scheme for unit is prepared. Section 8-A of the said Act provides for preparation of principles, while section 9 provides for issue of extracts from records and statements and publication of records mentioned in section 8 and section 8-A and issue of notice for inviting objection. Section 9-A provides for disposal of cases relating to claim to land and partition of joint holding. The order passed by the consolidation officer is subject to appellate and revisional jurisdiction. Even if rights are claimed on the basis of void sale deed or questioned before the consolidation authorities, the consolidation authorities, after recording a finding on the same that it was void sale deed, can determine the rights, title and interest in the land in accordance with law, ignoring the said deed on the ground that it was void. The entries are to be corrected by the consolidation authorities themselves and one has not to approach the authorities under U.P. Land Revenue Act after decision by civil or revenue court to correct the papers in accordance with their judgment and decree. If a document is cancelled by civil court then entry is to be made by the registering officer on the copy as provided in Section 31 (2) of the Specific Relief Act, which gives seal to the legal infectiveness of the said document. But after determination by consolidation authorities the right, title of the parties taking into consideration void document, the entries will be corrected. After consolidation operations are over, the question cannot be raised or raked up before any civil or revenue court thereafter in view of section 49 of U.P. Consolidation of Holdings Act which puts a bar on the jurisdiction of civil or revenue court not only to adjudicate such right and title or interest over land adjudicated by consolidation authorities or which could have been raised before them, but was not raised. The jurisdiction of consolidation authorities is thus wider than that of civil court and revenue court.

... ...

We are of the view that the case of Indra Dev v. Smt. Ram Piari (1982 AlR 517 (HC LB) has been correctly decided and the said decision requires no consideration, while the Division Bench Case, Dr. Ayodhya Prasad v. Gangotri (1981 AWC 469) is regarding the jurisdiction of consolidation authorities, but so far as it holds that suit in respect of void document will lie in the revenue court, it does not lay down a good law. Suit or action for cancellation of void document will generally lie in the civil court and a party cannot be deprived of his right getting this relief permissible under law except when a declaration of right or status as a tenure-holder is necessarily needed, in which event relief for cancellation will be surplusage and redundant. A recorded tenure-holder having prima facie title in his favour can hardly be directed to approach the revenue court in respect of seeking relief for cancellation of a void document which made him to approach the court of law and in such case he can also claim ancillary relief even though the same can be granted by the revenue court.

13. Judgment of Ram Padarath (supra) subsequently relied upon in several decisions of Hon'ble Court. In the matter of Sri Ram and another Vs. 1st Additional District Judge and others, reported in 2001 (92) RD 241, Hon'ble Supreme Court succinctly held that normally tenure holder having prima facie title and in possession, files a suit in the civil court for cancellation of sale deed having obtained on the ground of fraud or impersonation, cannot be directed to file a suit for declaration in the revenue court. But the position would be different where a person not being a recorded tenure holder seeks cancellation of sale deed by filing a suit in the civil Court on the ground of fraud and misrepresentation. Relevant paragraph No. 6 of the aforesaid judgment is quoted hereinunder:

6. On analysis of the decisions cited above, we are of the opinion that where a recorded tenure holder, having a prima facie title and in possession files suit in the civil court for cancellation of sale deed having obtained on the ground of fraud or impersonation cannot be directed to file a suit for declaration in the revenue court-reason being that in such a case, prima facie, the title of the recorded tenure holder is not under cloud. He does not require declaration of his title to the land. The position would be different where a person not being a recorded tenure holder seeks cancellation of sale deed by filing a suit in the civil court on the ground of fraud or impersonation. There necessarily the plaintiff is required to seek a declaration of his title and, therefore, he may be directed to approach the revenue court, as the sale deed being void has to be ignored for giving him relief for declaration and possession.

14. Even in the matter where co-tenancy has been claimed on the ground that collateral descendant was recorded in the representative capacity, Hon'ble Supreme Court has normally held in the case of Sita Ram Vs. Chhota Bhondey and others, reported in 1990 RD 439 that such claims falls within the ambit of Section 52 of U.P.C.H. Act. Relevant paragraph of the aforesaid judgment is quoted herebelow:

"In the instant case respondent No. 1 was claiming an interest in the land lying in the area covered by notification issued under section 4 (2) on the basis that he is the son of Chhota, brother of Nanha and that the lands were recorded in the name of Nanha in a representative capacity on behalf of himself and his other brothers. This claim which fell within the ambit of Section 5 (2) had to be adjudicated by the consolidation authorities. Since it was a matter falling within the scope of adjudicatory functions assigned to the consolidation authorities under the Act the jurisdiction of the Civil Court to entertain the suit in respect of the said matter was expressly barred by Section 49 of the Act and the suit of the appellant was rightly dismissed on that ground."

15. In another case of Smt. Dulari Devi Vs. Janardan Singh and others, reported in 1990 RD 193, Hon'ble Supreme Court has held that where sale deed has been obtained fraudulently by any person, suit for its cancellation or right of the vendor, is not maintainable before the civil court by reason of bar contained in the U.P.C.H. Act.

16. In another case of Narendra Singh Vs. Jai Bhagwan and others reported in 2006 (RD) 69, Hon'ble Supreme Court has discarded the claim of a person being a joint owner of the property in question on the ground that he had to approach before the competent authority under the provisions of the U.P.C.H. Act.

17. It is admitted, in the matter in hand, that respondent No. 4 was recorded tenure holder of the land in question on the basis of the registered sale deed dated 8.9.2011 said to have been executed by Shiv Lal (father of the petitioner). Mutation order dated 1.4.2013 passed by the Naib Tehsildar was confirmed by Additional Commissioner vide order dated 19.7.2013. Ultimately, proceedings was culminated in favour of the respondent No. 4 vide order dated 23.10.2013 passed by High Court in writ petition No. 58029 of 2013, which became final between the parties. It appears that Shiv Lal (father of the petitioner) had filed a suit dated 19.9.2011 for permanent injunction against the respondent No. 4 and Ram Natha Yadav. A copy of the plaint is annexed in the petitioner as annexure No. 4 (page 62 to 69). Perusal of plaint reveals that it was filed for the permanent injunction not for the cancellation of the sale deed, though before filing suit sale deed had already been executed. Interim order dated 19.9.2011 was granted for a limited period for maintaining status quo on spot, that too, up to only the next date fixed i.e. 10.10.2011. There is nothing on record to show as to what happened to the interim injunction application or as to whether stay order was extended or not.

18. It appears that the name of the respondent No. 4 was recorded in the basic consolidation record and, accordingly, exchange value of the plot in question was fixed by the Consolidation Officer and chak was carved out in his name. The Deputy Director of Consolidation, on the basis of report submitted by Consolidator, has given a categorical finding that in basic year Khatauni 1422 to 1427 Fasli, name of Dharmendra Kumar, respondent No. 4 was recorded over Khata No. 99, which consists of plot No. 245 and 260. Apart from that, name of Vishal and Dharmendra Kumar was recorded over Khata No. 269, which consists of plot No. 289. It is further observed that plot No. 260 was kept out of consolidation proceeding but exchange value of plots No. 245 and 289 was fixed in the consolidation operation. Considering all these aspects of the matter, the Deputy Director of Consolidation came to the conclusion that the exchange value of the aforesaid plots No. 245 and 289 has rightly been fixed by the consolidation authorities, therefore, at this juncture, it would not be befitting to keep them out of consolidation operation. It has further been observed by the Deputy Director of Consolidation that the order passed by the competent court qua plots No. 245 and 289 would be adhered to in future.

19. Counsel for the respondents has hammered his submissions on the basis of the observation made by co-ordinate Bench of this Court in the matter of Kanchan Kumar Chaudhari (supra) in which Section 5 (2) of U.P.C.H. Act has been dealt with and it has been held that suit for the injunction does not come within the ambit of U.P.C.H. Act. The facts of Kanchan Kumar Chaudhari (supra) are different and same is not fully applicable in the instant matter. Full Bench decision of this Court in the matter of Ram Padarath (supra) lay all the controversy at rest qua jurisdiction of civil or revenue/consolidation court.

20. Having regard to the judgments, as discussed above, submissions of the learned counsel for the parties and the record on Board, this Court is of considered opinion that all the three consolidation courts have rightly decided the matter discarding the prayer of the petitioners to keep the plots in question out of consolidation operation. Once the village is notified under Section 4 of the U.P.C.H. Act, the person, who is recorded in the basic consolidation record cannot be denied from his valuable rights over the property in question unless the genuineness of entry and his right and title is challenged under the relevant provisions of U.P.C.H. Act. In this eventuality, consolidation authority are competent to examine the right and title of the parties with respect to the land in question, which is covered by notification under Section 4 of the U.P.C.H. Act, therefore, consequence of such notification has to follow as enunciated under Section 5 of U.P.C.H. Act.

21. In this conspectus as above, learned counsel for the petitioner fails to substantiate his submission in assailing the impugned orders passed by three consolidation courts whereby prayer made by the petitioner to keep the plot No. 245 and 289 out of consolidation operation has been denied. There is no illegality, ambiguity and infirmity in the impugned orders passed by all the three consolidation courts,which may warrant indulgence of this Court in exercise of extraordinary jurisdiction under Article 226 of the Constitution of India.

22. Resultantly, the instant writ petition, being devoid of merits and misconceived, is dismissed with no order as to the cost.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Manoj Kumar Gupta, J.
Hon'ble Ram Manohar Narayan Mishra, J.)

1. The instant petition is directed against the notification dated 10.12.2020 issued under Section 4(1) of the Uttar Pradesh Municipalities Act, 1916 (hereinafter referred as 'the Act') and the notification dated 22.07.2022 issued under Section 3 (1) of the Act read with Article 243-Q of the Constitution of India. The petitioner has also prayed for a mandamus directing the respondents not to initiate exercise for fresh election of the newly constituted Nagar Palika and also restrain the respondents from interfering in the functioning of the petitioner as elected Gram Pradhan of Village Ahara, District Sant Kabir Nagar for period upto 3.05.2026.

2. The case of the petitioner is that he was elected as Gram Pradhan of Village Ahara, Block Haisar Bazar, Tehsil Dhanghatta, District Sant Kabir Nagar on 3.05.2021. His term of five years as Gram Pradhan would expire on 3.05.2026 in view of Article 243-E of the Constitution of India. However, by impugned notification, a transitional area has been constituted in the name of Nagar Panchayat, Haisar Bazar, District Sant Kabir Nagar. It includes the area of Gram Panchayat Bahara as well, of which the petitioner is Gram Pradhan, and now the respondents are intending to hold election of Nagar Panchayat, Haisar Bazar. As a result, the petitioner will automatically be ousted from his office of Pradhan of Gram Panchayat Ahara.

3. By impugned notification issued under clause (2) of Article 243-Q of the Constitution of India read with Section 3 of the Act, the Governor has notified the local limits of a transitional area by the name of Haisar Bazar. Article 243-Q is reproduced below :-

"243-Q. Constitution of Municipalities. --

(1) There shall be constituted in every State,--

(a) a Nagar Panchayat (by whatever name called) for a transitional area, that is to say, an area in transition from a rural area to an urban area.

(b) a Municipal Council for a smaller urban area; and

(c) a Municipal Corporation for a larger urban area, in accordance with the provisions of this Part:

Provided that a Municipality under this clause may not be constituted in such urban area or part thereof as the Governor may, having regard to the size of tile area and the municipal services being provided or proposed to be provided by an industrial establishment in that area and such other factors as he may deem fit, by public notification, specify to be an industrial township.

(2) In this article, "a transitional area', "a smaller urban area' or "a larger urban area' means such area as the Governor may, having regard to the population of the area, the density of the population therein, the revenue generated for local administration, the percentage of employment in non-agricultural activities, the economic importance or such other factors as he may deem fit, specify by public notification for the purposes of this Part."

4. Section 3(1) of the Act, relevant for our purpose is also produced below :-

"3. Declaration etc. of transitional area and smaller urban area- (1) Any area specified by the Governor in a notification under clause (2) of Article 243-Q of the Constitution with such limits as are specified therein to be a transitional area or a smaller urban area, as the case may be."

5. Constitution defines a 'Panchayat' under Article 243(d) as an institution of self-government constituted under Article 243-B, for the rural areas. Article 243-E mandates that every Panchyat, unless sooner dissolved under any law, for the time being in force, shall continue for five years from the date appointed for its first meeting and no longer.

6. Similarly under Section 12 of the U.P. Panchayat Raj Act, 1947, the term of the Gram Panchayat is five years. Our Constitution is a living document. The Parliament while introducing the 74th Amendment, 1992 conferring constitutional status to institutions of self-Government like Panchayats and Municipalities, was alive of the reality that urbanisation is making inroads in the rural areas. The constitutional scheme envisages constitution of a Nagar Panchayat for a transitional area that is to say, an area in transition from a rural area to an urban area; Municipal Council for a smaller urban area; and Municipal Corporation for a larger urban area.

7. In Smt. Mohini Sharma vs. State of U.P., 2016 (10) ADJ 221, a similar issue arose for consideration before this Court. It was answered as follows :-

"18. A bare perusal of the Section 5 of U.P. Municipalities Act, 1916, would go to show that whereby a notification referred to in sub-section (2) of Section 3 the Governor includes any area in a transitional area or smaller urban area, such area shall thereby become subject to all notifications, rules, regulations, bye-laws, orders, directions, issued or made under this or any other enactment and in force throughout the transitional area or smaller urban area, at the time immediately preceding the inclusion of the area. Thus the affairs of the same will have to be governed under the provisions of U.P. Municipalities Act, 1916 and it may be true that Pradhan in question has been elected for a period of five years but once the very identity of the Gram Panchayat in question has been lost on account of inclusion of such area, then the provisions of U.P. Panchayat Raj Act, 1947, would not at all operate and same will have to be governed under the provisions of the U.P. Municipalities Act, 1916. Any other view would tantamount to diluting the provisions of Section 5 of U.P. Municipalities Act, 1916.

19. Apex Court in the case of State of Maharashtra Vs. Deep Narain Chavan, 2002 (10) SCC 565, while considering the arguments advanced that once Municipal Council is constituted, then its duration shall be five years in accordance with constitutional provisions contained in Article 243-Q, has ruled while considering the expression "unless sooner dissolved under any law for the time being in force", that the moment Corporation is constituted in accordance with law, the elected Municipal Council would cease to function.

20. Article 243-E deals with duration of Panchayat, Article 243-U deals with duration of Municipalities and both the constitutional provisions share in common the expression "unless sooner dissolved under any law for the time being in force". Once Governor takes a call for constitution of municipality in exercise of authority conferred under the constitution namely Article 243-Q that specifically refers to three type of municipalities i.e. Nagar Panchayat for transitional area, a Municipal Council for a smaller urban area and Municipal Corporation for a larger urban area, the moment declaration is made under Article 243-Q read with Section 3 of the U.P. Municipalities Act, 1916, by the State Government, then the said municipal body would be a sovereign body having both constitutional and statutory status. As already noted in the earlier part of the judgement, the constitutional as well as statutory provisions pertaining to 'Panchayats' would go to show that object of Part IX of the Constitution was to introduce the panchayat system at grass root level and strengthen the panchayat system by giving uniform constitutional vibrant units of administration in the rural area so that there can be rapid implementation of rural development sector. Once there is complete transformation from rural area to urban area having regard to population of area, the density of population therein, the revenue generated from local administration, the percentage of employment in non-agricultural activities, the economic importance and other factors, made by the State Government, then the said area is denoted in the notification would be out from the purview of Part IX of the Constitution and the provisions of U.P. Panchayat Raj Act, 1947 and the affairs of the said area treating the same to be urban area would be covered by the provisions of Part IX A of Constitution alongwith the provisions of U.P. Municipalities Act, 1916."

8. Again, while interpreting Article 243-Q, which preserves five years tenure of Municipality, it has been held by this Court in Nagar Palika Parishad and others Vs. State of U.P. and others, 2010 (3) ADJ 703 that the tenure contemplated under the said provision will not apply where an area of one description is converted into an area of another description. The dissolution of municipality of lower description was held to be a fate accompli. The relevant portion is extracted below :-

"Apart from what is said above, Article 243U of the Constitution of India suggests and means the duration of the same type of Municipality coming to an end and the same type of successor Municipality taking over as a consequence of term of the previous Municipality coming to an end either prior to the period of 5 years or at the end of 5 years. In other words Article 243U cannot be pressed into service in a case where the area of one description is converted into an area of another description and one description of Municipality is ceased by constituting another Municipality of a better description, that is to say that where the dissolution is fait accompli and the Municipality cannot be revived as it was before, the same cannot be termed a dissolution as envisaged under Article 243U and in such an event the provisions of Article 243U are not at all violated if an Administrator is appointed under Section 8-AA . "

9. Under Section 3-A(2) of the Act, every Nagar Panchayat or Municipal Council constituted under sub-section (1) is a body corporate. Thus, with the issuance of the impugned notification, an entirely new body in the name of Nagar Panchayat - Haisar Bazar has come into existence. It has a separate and distinct identity from its predecessor i.e., the Gram Panchayats whose territories have been merged in constituting the Nagar Panchayat. The provision of Article 243-E and Section 12 of the U.P. Panchayat Raj Act cannot be read in isolation but harmoniously, alongwith the other provisions of the Constitution and the Act. Under Section 333 of the Act, the District Magistrate has been invested with power to perform the functions and duties of the newly constituted Municipality until the holding of first election. Section 333 is quoted below :-

"333. Exercise by District Magistrate of Municipality's power pending establishment of Municipality.- When a new municipality is created under this Act, the District Magistrate, or other officer, or committee, or authority appointed by him in this behalf, may until a Municipality is established, exercise the powers and perform the duties and functions of the Municipality, and, he or it shall, for the purposes, aforesaid be deemed to be the Municipality.

Provided always that the District Magistrate or such other officer, or committee, or authority shall, as early as possible, make preliminary arrangements for the holding of first elections and generally of expediting the assumption by the Municipality of its duties when constituted."

10. The Gram Panchayat of which the petitioner was Pradhan, had ceased to exist in view of the constitutional scheme and the provisions of the Act. The petitioner is left with no subsisting right to continue to function as Pradhan or to resist holding of election of the newly constituted Nagar Panchayat.

11. The petition lacks merit and is dismissed.

Appeal allowed. (E-9)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Manoj Kumar Gupta, J. & Hon'ble Jayant Banerji, J.)

1. Heard Sri Vivek Saran, learned counsel for the appellant and Sri Rajesh Chandra Dwivedi for the respondent. With their consent, the instant appeal is being disposed of finally at this stage itself.

2. The instant appeal is directed against the order dated 17.5.2022, passed by Presiding Officer, Commercial Court, Varanasi, in Arbitration Misc. Case No. 4/2022, allowing the application of the respondent, purportedly filed under Section 9 of the Arbitration and Conciliation Act, 1996. The appellant has been directed to pay a sum of Rs. 12,72,783/- to the respondent within one month, along with interest @ 7% per annum, since 24.1.2022, by way of damages. Thereby the application under Section 9 is "decreed with cost".

3. The brief facts of the case are that a work order dated 17.12.2018 was issued by the appellant in favour of the respondent for supply of bottles of mineral water. The respondent had deposited Rs. 30,000/- as security money, in terms of the work order. The work order was for limited period, till permanent arrangement in this behalf is made by the Headquarter at Lucknow.

4. The case of the respondent is that it had supplied the goods in pursuance of the contract, but a sum of Rs. 20,90,744/- was due and payable to it. The appellant had declined to pay the same by its letter dated 24.1.2022. The respondent accordingly, approached the Commercial Court by way of an application, praying inter alia for a direction to the appellant to make payment of the remaining sum of Rs. 20,90,744/-, plus interest @ 8% per annum and cost of litigation.

5. The application does not specify the provision under which it was filed. However, it seems that it was registered as a miscellaneous case and has been decided, treating it to be an application filed under Section 9 of the Arbitration and Conciliation Act, 1996. The appellant had filed objection to the arbitration application, specifically raising the issue that the rates at which the goods were supplied, were contrary to the rates prescribed by the Headquarter. Consequently, certain deductions were made and that the claim of the respondent for payment of any additional sum is not sustainable. The appellant also mentioned that only a sum of Rs. 3,16,363/- is due and steps were being taken to make payment of the said amount.

6. Learned counsel for the appellant submitted that the directions issued by the court below in purported exercise of power under Section 9 of the Act are without jurisdiction. It is urged that the power under Section 9 of the Act, cannot be exercised to allow the entire claim, or to decide the issues on merits. It is also submitted that there is no indication in the application filed by the respondent, nor in the impugned order, that there was any arbitration clause, or any intention on part of the respondent to commence the arbitration proceedings.

7. Learned counsel for the respondent fairly stated that he is not in position to defend the order.

8. Section 9 of the Act relates to interim measures, etc. by Court and reads as follows: -

9. Interim measures, etc., by Court.? (1)] A party may, before or during arbitral proceedings or at any time after the making of the arbitral award but before it is enforced in accordance with section 36, apply to a court?*

(i) for the appointment of a guardian for a minor or person of unsound mind for the purposes of arbitral proceedings; or

(ii) for an interim measure of protection in respect of any of the following matters, namely:?

(a) the preservation, interim custody or sale of any goods which are the subject-matter of the arbitration agreement;

(b) securing the amount in dispute in the arbitration;

(c) the detention, preservation or inspection of any property or thing which is the subject-matter of the dispute in arbitration, or as to which any question may arise therein and authorising for any of the aforesaid purposes any person to enter upon any land or building in the possession of any party, or authorising any samples to be taken or any observation to be made, or experiment to be tried, which may be necessary or expedient for the purpose of obtaining full information or evidence;

(d) interim injunction or the appointment of a receiver;

(e) such other interim measure of protection as may appear to the Court to be just and convenient, and the Court shall have the same power for making orders as it has for the purpose of, and in relation to, any proceedings before it.

(2) Where, before the commencement of the arbitral proceedings, a Court passes an order for any interim measure of protection under sub-section (1), the arbitral proceedings shall be commenced within a period of ninety days from the date of such order or within such further time as the Court may determine.

(3) Once the arbitral tribunal has been constituted, the Court shall not entertain an application under sub-section (1), unless the Court finds that circumstances exist which may not render the remedy provided under section 17 efficacious.

9. The object of the said provision is to invest power in the Court to order interim measures, before or during arbitral proceedings, or at any time after the making of the arbitral award, but before it is enforced. The interim measure could be in respect of appointment of a guardian for the minor, or a person of unsound mind; for protection, preservation, interim custody or sale of any goods which are subject matter of the arbitration agreement; securing the amount in dispute in the arbitration; the detention, preservation or inspection of any property, etc.; interim injunction or the appointment of a receiver and such other interim measure or protection as may appear to the Court to be just and convenient.

10. The Court, while passing the interim measures, has to first examine as to whether there is an arbitral agreement between the parties covering the subject matter of dispute. The interim measure should be of such nature as may preserve the subject matter of the arbitration agreement, or secure the amount, or the property by such measure as may appear to be just and convenient. While exercising power under Section 9, the Court cannot decide the claim on merits, or pass an order which has the effect of decreeing the claim of one party or the other. At best, the Court could issue a direction to secure the amount that may prima facie appear to be due or payable to a party and for such purpose, it is vested with power to issue necessary directions. In the instant case, the court below has entered into the merits and has held that the deductions made by the appellant were not permissible under the contract. It has also proceeded to quantify the amount said to be due and payable to the respondent, despite specific plea that only Rs. 3,16,363/- was due and was in process of being paid. This, in our considered opinion, could not have been done.

11. The proceeding under Section 9 is not a substitute to the adjudication that has to be made by the arbitral tribunal. While exercising limited power under Section 9, the claim could not be decreed, as has been done in the instant case. We feel that the learned Judge has completely misunderstood the scope of Section 9 and has exceeded its jurisdiction in passing the impugned order.

12. Sri Vivek Saran, at this stage, states that payment of Rs. 3,16,363/- which is admittedly due, if not already made, will be made to the appellant within four weeks. He further states that the appellant is ready to furnish security to secure the interest of the respondent.

13. In view of the foregoing discussion, the impugned order is hereby set aside, but with direction to the appellant to make payment of Rs. 3,16,363/-, if not already made (as undertaken by counsel for the appellant) and furnish security (other than cash or bank guarantee) in a sum of Rs. 10 lakhs, before the court below, within four weeks from today.

14. It is left open to the respondent to initiate arbitral proceedings as per the mandate of Section 9(2) of the Act.

15. In the result, the appeal succeeds and is allowed.

16. The Registrar General shall call for explanation from the Presiding Officer, in relation to the manner in which the case has been decided and place it before the concerned Administrative Judge for consideration.

2. The present anticipatory bail application has been filed on behalf of the applicant in Criminal Case No.690 of 2021, Crime No. RC0062019A0008, under Sections 13(2) r/w 13(1)(e) of PC Act, 1988 and Section 109 IPC, Police Station CBI/ACB, District Lucknow, with a prayer to enlarge him on anticipatory bail.

Brief Facts:-

3. The present case has been registered on the basis of a written complaint by Shri Anmol Sachan, PI/CBI/ACB/Lucknow, dated 23/05/2019 against Dr. Sunita Gupta, the then Sr. D.M.O., Northern Railway (N.R.), Divisional Hospital, Charbagh, Lucknow and her husband Dr. Rajeev Gupta, Professor, KGMU, Lucknow, U/s 109 IPC & Section 13(2) r/w 13(1)(e) of P.C. Act, 1988. It is alleged in the complaint that Dr. Sunita Gupta, the then Sr. D.M.O., Northern Railways, Divisional Hospital, Charbagh, Lucknow was in possession of disproportionate assets to her known sources of income to the tune of Rs 1,80,96,585.33 during the period 01/01/2009 to 12/07/2016, which she can not satisfactorily account for. Dr. Rajeev Gupta husband of Dr. Sunita Gupta also abetted the possession of assets disproportionate to known sources of income by Dr. Sunita Gupta.

4. The investigation revealed that Dr. Sunita Gupta was posted as Sr. D.M.O., N.R., Division Hospital, Lucknow up to October, 2015. She was transferred to Modern Coach Factory, Rae Bareli in same capacity wherein she joined on 16/11/2015 in compliance of Order No. 940E/1A/Medical Officer, dated 05/11/2015, DRM, Lucknow. Since then she is serving in MCF, Rae Bareli and staying in the Guest House of MCF, Rae Bareli. Occasionally, she comes to Lucknow. Dr. Sunita Gupta retained Government Accommodation allotted to her at Lucknow, with due permission from competent authority. While Dr. Sunita Gupta resided in Rae Bareli, her husband Dr. Rajeev Gupta resided in her official residence at Type IV-24, Church Road, Railway Colony Lucknow.

5. During investigation of RC/006/2016/A/002, by Shri Anmol Sachan, searches were conducted by Sh Sandeep Pandey. PI/CBI/ACB/Lko in presence of the CBI Team & independent witnesses at official residential premises of Dr. Sunita Gupta at IV-24, Church Road, Railway Colony, near Fatehli Chauraha, Charbagh, Lucknow on 12/07/2016. At the time of searches. Dr. Sunita Gupta was posted at Rae Bareli. Her husband Dr. Rajeev Gupta was present in the official residence of Dr. Sunita Gupta at Lucknow.

6. During the course of house search, a Search List was prepared vide which total six items including documents and cash was seized. Two Steel Almirah were kept in the Drawing Room which were opened with the keys provided by Dr. Rajeev Gupta. The Almirah contained huge currency notes. Total Rs 1,59,00,000/ were found in the Almirah. Enquiry was made from Dr. Rajeev Gupta about the source of money. He took the plea that the said cash has been earned by him through private practice. The plea taken by Dr. Rajeev Gupta was not found satisfactory. Hence, the said amount was seized. In addition to Rs 1,59,00,000/-, an amount of Rs 70,700/- was also found in the Steel Almirah, which was left for their day to day expenditure. During searches various documents pertaining to investments by Dr. Sunita Gupta and Dr. Rajeev Gupta were found and seized vide Search List, dated 12/07/2016 by Sh Sandeep Pandey, the then PI/CBI/ACB/Lko i.e. "List of Insurance Policies & FDs, "List of NSC/KVP", "List of SB A/c detail and PPF A/c, Currency Notes Rs 1.59,00,000/ seized vide "Details of Currency Notes". In the said house of the wife of the applicant, the house hold items/articles a separate Inventory Memo was prepared, annexed with the search list. In the Inventory Memo details i.e. date, time, cost of requisition, mode of acquisition and details of items/articles was noted. During the house search of Dr. Sunita Gupta, a locker key of Locker No 203C, Central Bank of India, Alambagh Branch, Lucknow was seized and the said locker was operated by Sh Atul Dikshit, PI/CBI/ACB/Lucknow, in the presence of Dr. Sunita Gupta and independent witnesses and vide "Bank Locker Operation Cum Seizure Memo", dated 12/07/2019 amount of Rs. 9,43,000/- was seized from the said locker. The I.O. of the present case seized relevant documents. recovered cash amount from Shri Anmol Sachan vide Handing Over/Taking Over taking Memo dated 10/06/2019.

7. The pay details of Dr. Sunita Gupta and Dr. Rajeev Gupta, for the check period were collected and relevant witnesses examined to prove their income Further, Sh Sandeep Pandey, PI/CBI/ACB/Lko and his CBI team including independent witnesses to the search conducted on the official residence of Dr. Sunita Gupta were examined and they proved the Search List along with Inventory Memo dated 12/07/2016. Dr. Rajeev Gupta was present during the searches and was provided a copy of Search List dated 12/07/2016. They corroborated the seizure of Rs 1.59 crore from the official residential premises of Dr. Sunita Gupta on 12/07/2016 along with other seized documents.

8. During investigation, the I.O. collected the records from various banks pertaining to accounts maintained by Dr. Sunita Gupta & Dr. Rajeev Gupta and examined relevant witnesses for ascertaining balance at the start of the check period and at the end of the check period. The I.O. also calculated the interest received in the account and balance in the account at the end of check period.

9. The I.O. collected the records from School, Colleges to prove the expenditures incurred by Dr. Rajeev Gupta & Dr. Sunita Gupta and recorded the statements of the relevant witnesses. The I.O. collected the records from Post Offices to give the due benefit to accused regarding their income during the check period. The I.O. also collected the records from Post Offices to prove investments in the name of Dr. Rajeev Gupta & Dr. Sunita Gupta during the check period and recorded the statement of relevant witnesses.

10. On 12/07/2019, the CBI team in presence of independent witnesses had found & seized currency notes amounting Rs 1.59 crore from official residence of Dr. Sunita Gupta. At the time of searches, Dr. Sunita Gupta was posted at Rae Bareli and not present in the house. The currency notes were kept in different shelves of almirah. A large number of envelopes of different shape, size & colour were found in the almirah. The envelopes were opened & inside the envelopes currency notes of different denominations were found tied with rubber bands. On the envelopes some details regarding cash in the envelope was mentioned. All the currency notes were taken out from a large number of different envelopes. Denomination wise the currency notes were segregated, counted with the help of Currency Note Counting Machine. Thereafter, denomination wise bundles were made & seized. The envelopes/paper slips, rubber band were not seized, as the same were not required. Dr. Rajeev Gupta had claimed that every envelope (inside which the currency notes were wrapped with rubber band) had the paper slip containing details of the patient name along with the amount received by the individual patient and that the CBI team took the cash from the envelopes and taken the envelopes with slip and left rubber bands. However, the CBI team stated that only Rs. 1.59 crore cash was seized and no such slip or envelope was taken/seized by them. Hence, accused Dr. Rajeev Gupta was having all the opportunity to keep the said envelops, paper slips with himself in safe custody so that he might produce the same as documentary evidence in his defence, as he has claimed that the said envelope/paper slip were having details of patients and amounts received by him through private practice. This shows that the said envelopes/paper slips were not having any information/details of patients/amount as claimed by Dr. Rajeev Gupta.

11. Dr. Sunita Gupta has taken the plea that the amount of Rs. 1.59 crore seized in the case has no relation with her and stated that as the amount was seized from the almirah of Dr. Rajeev Gupta, he will inform the source. Applicant/Dr. Rajeev Gupta had claimed during the searches that the recovered amount of Rs. 1.59 crore from the official residence of Dr. Sunita Gupta belonged to him, earned by him through private practice. He was issued Order (U/s 91 Cr.PC.) to produce documents/source showing income pertaining to recovery of cash amount of Rs. 1.59 crore on 12/07/2016.

12. In response to notice U/s 91 Cr.P.C., applicant/Dr. Rajeev Gupta stated that after marriage in 1993, he himself & his wife Dr. Sunita Gupta started a clinic at their residence at Mahanagar ("Mamta Mother & Child Care Center"). On 24/03/2000, they shifted to the Railway Quarter allotted to his wife and he was doing practice from there. Patients were coming to him for treatment of Cancer, consultancy in emergency and he charged regular fees from the patients. He is paid by various Doctors, owners of Nursing Home & patients for his professional advice, wherein he treated cancer patients after office hours. He named such Doctors and Nursing Homes. The amount received from such practice always became a handsome amount every month. He also visited some patients for their treatment. He attended Hepatitis B Immunization & Cancer Awareness Program in Lucknow in 2005 along with Dr. Uttam Tiwari, who used to run NGO Research India. He gave consultancy to patients and earned money. He used to get large number of patients through this NGO for treatment of Cancer disease. Dr. Rajeev Gupta further named various Doctors and Hospital owners who sent him Cancer patients for consultation, prescription of medicine/ test. chemotherapy, radiation etc. and requested for their examination.

13. The statements of the following witnesses were taken under Section 161 Cr.P.C. by the I.O.:-

(a) Dr. Rakesh Mishra, BSc, MBBS, MD. (Physician), "Urmila Hospital", Priyadarshani Colony, Sitapur Road, (In front of Vidhyanchal Mandir Railway Crossing), Lucknow.

(c) Dr. Rukhsana Khatoon, Managing Director "Rukhsana Medical & Trauma Centre, 20 Deen Dayal Road, Ashaarfabad, Lucknow.

(d) Dr. Ishtiyaq Ahmed, BUMS, Managing Director "Star Hospital", Hardoi Road, Tahseenganj, P.S Thakurganj. Lucknow.

(f) Dr. Neeraj Tandon, Prop. "Day Care Chemo Therapy Center" from 25 to 27 Vasundhara Complex, Sector 16, Behind Easy Day, Near Petrol Pump, Lucknow.

14. The aforesaid witnesses have stated that Dr. Rajeev Gupta attended patients in their hospital, after office hours, gave consultation, prescriptions for medicines/tests & also conducted Chemotherapy of the patients. If any patients treated by Dr. Rajeev Gupta needed Radiation, he helped in getting Radiotherapy treatment at KGMC for which patient made payments to KGMC Hospital. Dr. Rajeev Gupta received payments from patients for their treatment, through the hospital staff. They furnished the estimated payments made to Dr. Rajeev Gupta towards treatment of cancer patients done by him. Dr. Uttam Tiwari, who used to run NGO Research India could not be examined as he has already expired around 2015. Further Dr. Ranjeet Singh, MBBS, MS., S/o S. P. Singh, Managing Director "Amrit Hospital". Super Specialty Hospital & Trauma Center, Gandhi Colony, Kashipur Road, Rudrapur, Uttarakhand and Dr. Mahender Pal, S/o Sh Pritam Ram, Ex MLA, R/o Vill Ami, PO Gahluya, PS Jahanbad, Pilibhit, U.P. on examination stated that they sent a large number of patients to Dr. Rajeev Gupta for their treatment of cancer and Dr. Rajeev Gupta took his consultation/treatment charges on his own. Dr. Pankaj Agrawal, M.S., FIAGES, Managing Director "Rajchandra Hospital. 554, Ga/256 Damodar Nagar, VIP Road, Alambagh, Lucknow also stated that Dr. Rajeev Gupta treated few cancer patients at his hospital. The above said Doctors were directed to furnish the documentary evidence pertaining to details of the patients treated in their hospitals/clinic/on their reference by Dr. Rajeev Gupta. However, they could not furnish any documentary evidence in this regard to prove the treatment of the cancer patients by Dr. Rajeev Gupta, they expressed their inability to furnish the records of patient treatment sought for the period 2010-2016. The same being very old one and due to lack of storage area and Medical Council of India guidelines they are not required to maintain records of the period more than 3 years and as such the same is burnt/destroyed.

15. The applicant or any other person (Doctors/Hospital Owners) summoned/examined during the investigation could not produce any valid documentary evidence in support of their statement or explanation offered by applicant that the total amount of Rs. 1.59 crore seized from the official residence of Dr. Sunita Gupta on 12/07/2016 was actually earned by applicant by indulging in private practice, after office hours.

16. In respect of the applicant, the Sanction for Prosecution, has been accorded by the competent authority and the same has been received vide Letter No. KGMU/C/79/2021, dated 30/06/2021, issued by Lt. Gen. (Dr.) Bipin Puri. Vice Chancellor, King George Medical University, U.P., Lucknow for launching prosecution U/s 109 IPC r/w 13(2) r/w 13(1)(e) of P.C. Act, 1988.

Rival Contentions:-

17. Learned counsel for the applicant has stated that the applicant has been falsely implicated in the matter. The money recovered from his possession is his genuine and hard earned money. Learned counsel for the applicant has further placed reliance on the statement of various doctors which have been examined by the Investigating Officer during investigation, who have categorically stated that the applicant used to treat various cancer patients in private and the money is a result of the said private practice.

18. Learned counsel for the applicant has further stated that the applicant is the Head of Department (Radio Therapy) in K.G.M.U., Lucknow. In case, the applicant is released on anticipatory bail, he will not misuse the liberty of bail and the applicant is ready to cooperate in trial.

19. Per contra, Sri Dharmendra Pratap Singh, Advocate holding brief of Sri Anurag Kumar Singh, learned counsel for the C.B.I. has vehemently opposed the anticipatory bail application on the ground that the accused has not appeared in court on summons. The present application has been filed after the bailable warrants have been issued against the applicant. The sanction for prosecution has already been received and the charge-sheet has been filed in court.

20. Learned counsel for the CBI has further stated that the applicant is a radio therapist and in the said field of radio therapy, no private practice is ever seen. The said field is a specialized field and is undertaken in large Institutions and the set up required for practicing in radio therapy goes to the tune of multi crores.

Conclusion:-

21. Learned counsel for the applicant has failed to accord any tenable explanation for the recovered amount. He has further argued that the applicant is not authorized to take private practice as he is employed in a Government institution.

22. The Apex Court in para 92.3 and 92.4 of Sushila Aggarwal and Others vs. State (NCT of Delhi) and Another reported in (2020) 5 SCC 1 has observed as under:-

"92.3. .....While considering an application (for grant of anticipatory bail) the court has to consider the nature of the offence, the role of the person, the likelihood of his influencing the course of investigation, or tampering with evidence (including intimidating witnesses), likelihood of fleeing justice (such as leaving the country), etc. The courts would be justified - and ought to impose conditions spelt out in Section 437(3), Cr. PC [by virtue of Section 438(2)]. The need to impose other restrictive conditions, would have to be judged on a case-by-case basis, and depending upon the materials produced by the State or the investigating agency. Such special or other restrictive conditions may be imposed if the case or cases warrant, but should not be imposed in a routine manner, in all cases. Likewise, conditions which limit the grant of anticipatory bail may be granted, if they are required in the facts of any case or cases; however, such limiting conditions may not be invariably imposed.

92.4. Courts ought to be generally guided by considerations such as the nature and gravity of the offences, the role attributed to the applicant, and the facts of the case, while considering whether to grant anticipatory bail, or refuse it. Whether to grant or not is a matter of discretion; equally whether and if so, what kind of special conditions are to be imposed (or not imposed) are dependent on facts of the case, and subject to the discretion of the court."

23. In the case of P.S. Kirupanandhan Vs State, Cri. A. No. 381 of 2017 and Cri MP No. 8256 of 2017, the Hon'ble Madras High Court has rejected the submissions made by the accused/applicant and decided that in DA cases, the explanation offered by the accused must be supported with valid documentary evidences. Hence, the explanation/argument of the accused/other person cited in defence is not tenable/valid and lawful. The arguments tendered on behalf of the applicant are not based on concrete facts but are vague and general. The case is not fit for the anticipatory bail.

24. The medical practitioner administer an oath at the time of convocation as provided by Indian Medical Association which is an extension of Hippocratic oath taken the world over. The oath is not merely a formality. It has to be observed and followed in letter and spirit. It is on these lines that the apex medical education regulator, National Medical Commission has suggested that the Hippocratic oath be replaced by 'CHARAK SHAPATH' during the convocation ceremony for graduates in medical services. The medical and legal fields are more a service than a profession especially the stream of oncology which deals with life and death.

25. Corruption is a termite in every system. Once it enters the system, it goes on increasing. Today, it is rampant and has become a routine. Corruption is root cause of all the problems, such as poverty, unemployment, illiteracy, pollution, external threats, underdevelopment, inequality, social unrest. The menace has to be put to account. The offence is against the society. The Court has to balance the fundamental rights of the accused to the legitimate concerns of the society at large vis-a-vis the investigating agency.

26. The task of the Court is manifold. Firstly, it has to ensure that there is no unwarranted misuse or abuse of process to encroach upon life and liberty of the applicant as enshrined under Article 21 of the Constitution. Secondly, it has to seen that the Rule of law is followed and the administration of justice is not hampered, the guilty is brought to book.

27. In view of the above, the present anticipatory bail application is dismissed.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Rajesh Singh Chauhan, J.)

1. Heard Sri Purnendu Chakravarty, learned counsel for the applicant and Sri Kuldeep Srivastava, learned counsel for the Enforcement Directorate, the opposite party.

2. As per learned counsel for the applicant, the present applicant is apprehending his arrest in Complaint Case No.1003 of 2021 in ECIR No.ECIR/01/LKZO/2018 dated 18.02.2018, under Sections 3/4 of the Prevention of Money-Laundering Act, 2002, Police Station - Directorate of Enforcement, Lucknow.

3. Counter affidavit and rejoinder affidavit have been filed and the parties have requested that the matter may be heard and disposed of finally.

4. Sri Purnendu Chakravarty, learned counsel for the applicant has submitted that the present applicant is a retired Chief Engineer. One FIR was lodged by the Central Bureau of Investigation (hereinafter referred to as "CBI") on 30.11.2017 at RC-26A/2017 against so many persons including the present applicant. The CBI has filed charge sheet against so many persons but no charge sheet has been filed against the present applicant as nothing incriminating has been found against him by the CBI.

5. As per Sri Chakravarty, the Enforcement Directorate (hereinafter referred to as "E.D.") lodged one ECIR No.01/LKZO/2018 on 18.02.2018 pursuant to the FIR and investigation so carried out by the CBI in the year 2017. In such complaint, E.D. investigated the aspect relating to money laundering against all persons either have been charge sheeted by the CBI or have not been charge sheeted by the CBI. However, nothing incriminating has been received from the possession of the present applicant and nothing incriminating was found by the CBI against the present applicant, even then the E.D. summoned the present applicant couple of times for recording his statement and producing material. Specific recital to this effect has been given in para-16 of the application wherein the applicant has indicated the dates when the applicant appeared before the investigating agency i.e. E.D. and recorded his statement under Section 50 of the Prevention of Money-Laundering Act, 2002 (hereinafter referred to as "PMLA, 2002") i.e. 25.05.2018, 07.06.2018, 26.06.2018, 23.07.2018 and 19.06.2019. Sri Chakravarty has submitted that the E.D. has recorded statements of various persons including one Sri Amit Yadav, the Contractor, on various dates i.e.

29.01.2019 and 05.02.2019. As per E.D., the said Contractor Sri Amit Yadav has stated in his statement dated 29.01.2019 and 05.02.2019 that he (Sri Amit Yadav) had withdrawn a sum of Rs.15 lakh in cash through his "self cheque" and he paid this amount to the present applicant. Sri Chakravarty has submitted that except the aforesaid statement of Sri Amit Yadav, the Contractor, E.D. is having no material to suggest that there was any involvement of the present applicant in the instant matter. Sri Chakravarty has further submitted that there was no eye witness to say that the aforesaid amount of Rs.15 lakh has been given to the present applicant by Sri Amit Yadav. Besides, after the aforesaid statement of Sri Amit Yadav being recorded by the E.D. on 29.01.2019 and 05.02.2019, the present applicant was summoned to record his statement under Section 50 of the PMLA, 2002 on 19.06.2019, but the present applicant has not been confronted with such statement of Sri Amit Yadav and no question relating to such alleged transaction has been asked from the present applicant. Therefore, that material i.e. the statement of Sri Amit Yadav dated 29.01.2019 and 05.02.2019 may not, prima facie, be treated as sufficient material to suggest that such amount has been withdrawn by Sri Yadav to make payment the same to the present applicant. As per Sri Chakravarty, the Bank Accounts etc. of the present applicant have been investigated by the E.D. and the aforesaid allegation of Sri Yadav has not been corroborated. The applicant has not been named as an accused in the charge sheet arising out of the FIR No.RC-26A/2017 and no independent investigation has been conducted by the E.D. as the investigation conducted by the CBI is reiterated in the complaint filed by the E.D.

6. Therefore, as per Sri Chakravarty, if the applicant has not been named as an accused in the charge sheet arising out of the FIR No.RC-26A/2017 of CBI predicate offence and no independent investigation has been conducted by the E.D. as the investigation conducted by the CBI is reiterated in the complaint filed by the E.D., the present applicant may not be implicated, only on the basis of statement of one co-accused Sri Amit Yadav against whom the CBI has filed charge sheet, in absence of any corroborative evidence.

7. Not only the above, when the present applicant has cooperated with the investigation so conducted by the CBI and never flouted the process of law, then no adverse inference of any kind whatsoever may be drawn against him. Despite being not charge sheeted by the CBI, the present applicant always appeared before the E.D. to record his statement on each and every date. The present applicant has not been confronted by the E.D. in respect of the statement so given by Sri Amit Yadav against the present applicant, therefore, the E.D. may not implicate the present applicant in the present case in any manner whatsoever. The present applicant is an old aged retired Government Officer, who is having no criminal history of any kind whatsoever and there is no possibility of the applicant to flee from justice, therefore, there may not be any requirement for his custodial interrogation. Hence, as per Sri Chakravarty, liberty of the present applicant may be protected till conclusion of the trial proceedings pending before the learned trial court as the present applicant undertakes that he shall cooperate with the proceedings pending before the learned trial court and shall not misuse the liberty of bail, if so granted.

8. Per contra, Sri Kuldeep Srivastava, learned counsel for the opposite party has opposed the aforesaid prayer of Sri Purnendu Chakravarty, learned counsel for the applicant. Sri Srivastava has submitted that bail application of one co-accused, namely, Roop Singh Yadav, who has filed his regular bail application before this Court bearing Criminal Misc. Bail Application No.1831 of 2022, has been rejected on 29.04.2022, therefore, the anticipatory bail application of the present applicant may be rejected and he may be directed to file his regular bail application. He has also submitted that the present applicant while serving on the post of Chief Engineer did not follow the financial rules to deposit the centage charges whereas the due amount was Rs.71 crore. Sri Srivastava has also pressed the statement of Sri Amit Yadav, the Contractor, dated 29.01.2019 and 05.02.2019 wherein such Contractor has stated that he had withdrawn a sum of Rs.15 lakh cash from the Bank through his "self cheque" and paid this amount to the present applicant.

9. However, on being confronted Sri Kuldeep Srivastava, learned counsel for the opposite party as to whether the present applicant has been asked/ confronted on such statement of Sri Amit Yadav when the statement of the present applicant was recorded under Section 50 of the PMLA, 2002 on 19.06.2019, Sri Srivastava has fairly submitted that the present applicant has not been confronted/ asked on such statement of Sri Amit Yadav, the Contractor. On being further confronted Sri Srivastava as to whether on the basis of aforesaid statement of Sri Amit Yadav anything incriminating has been recovered from the possession of the present applicant or found by the E.D., no satisfactory reply could be given by the learned counsel for the opposite party. Sri Srivastava has also been asked a pin point query to the effect that when the CBI has not charge sheeted the present applicant where the applicant was accused in the FIR and the E.D. has not conducted any independent investigation except to reiterate the charge sheet filed by the CBI; as to what material has been recovered by the E.D. to implicate the present applicant in the present case of E.D., Sri Srivastava has only reiterated the aforesaid submission that on the basis of the statement of Sri Amit Yadav, the Contractor, the present applicant has been implicated. However, he could not demonstrate any material/ document to show that the present applicant has been confronted on the statement of Sri Amit Yadav, the Contractor.

10. Thereafter, Sri Srivastava has raised one legal submission referring Section 45 of the PMLA, 2002 wherein Sub Section (1) (i) & (ii) lays down the following conditions:-

"45. Offences to be cognizable and non-bailable.?(1) [Notwithstanding anything contained in the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 (2 of 1974), no person accused of an offence [punishable for a term of imprisonment of more than three years under Part A of the Schedule] shall be released on bail or on his own bond unless?]

(i) the Public Prosecutor has been given an opportunity to oppose the application for such release; and

(ii) where the Public Prosecutor opposes the application, the court is satisfied that there are reasonable grounds for believing that he is not guilty of such offence and that he is not likely to commit any offence while on bail:"

11. As per Sri Srivastava, the Apex Court in re; Assistant Director, Enforcement Directorate vs. V.C.

Mohan, Criminal Appeal No.21 of 2022 (Arising out of SLP (Crl.) No.8441 of 2021), observed as under:-

".....It is one thing to say that Section 45 of the PMLA Act to offences under the ordinary law would not get attracted but once the prayer for anticipatory bail is made in connection with offence under the PMLA Act, the underlying principles and rigors of Section 45 of the PMLA Act must get triggered - although the application is under Section 438 of the Code of Criminal Procedure....."

12. The Hon'ble Apex Court in re; Vijay Madanlal Choudhary & Ors. Vs. Union of India & Ors, in its judgment dated 27.07.2022 passed in Special Leave Petition (Criminal) No.4634 of 2014, observed as under:-

".....As a result, we have no hesitation in observing that in whatever form the relief is couched including the nature of proceedings, be it under Section 438 of the 1973 Code or for that matter, by invoking the jurisdiction of the Constitutional Court, the underlying principles and rigors of Section 45 of the 2002 must come into play and without exception ought to be reckoned to uphold the objectives of the 2002 Act, which is a special legislation providing for stringent regulatory measures for combating the menace of money-laundering....."

(emphasis supplied)

13. Sri Kuldeep Srivastava, learned counsel for the opposite party has submitted that the present anticipatory bail application may be rejected.

14. Heard learned counsel for the parties and perused the material available on record.

15. At the very outset, I would like to observe that this is a case wherein FIR No.RC-26A/2017 has been lodged by the CBI wherein so many persons including the present applicant were accused but after thorough investigation by the CBI, no charge sheet has been filed against the present applicant, meaning thereby nothing incriminating has been recovered from the possession of the present applicant nor found during investigation. Notably, the present applicant has properly cooperated with the investigation being conducted by the CBI and has never flouted the process of law. Thereafter, on the basis of aforesaid investigation of the CBI, E.D. started recording statement of some persons including the present applicant as no independent investigation has been conducted by the E.D. and the present applicant has been summoned to record his statement under Section 50 of the PMLA, 2002 on various dates i.e. 25.05.2018, 07.06.2018, 26.06.2018, 23.07.2018 and 19.06.2019. It is not a case of the E.D. that the present applicant has ever flouted the process of the law or he did not appear to record his statement on the aforesaid dates. The present applicant has been implicated on the basis of statement of one Sri Amit Yadav, the Contractor, which was recorded by the E.D. on 29.01.2019 and 05.02.2019 wherein he has stated that he had withdrawn a sum of Rs.15 lakh cash from the Bank through his "self cheque" and paid this amount to the present applicant but there is no eye witness/ witness/ document of any kind whatsoever to suggest that the aforesaid sum of Rs.15 lakh has been given to the present applicant. Even after recording the aforesaid statement of Sri Amit Yadav on 29.01.2019 and 05.02.2019, the present applicant was summoned on 19.06.2019 to record his statement under Section 50 of the PMLA, 2002, but he has not been confronted on the aforesaid statement of Sri Yadav nor anything has been asked from the present applicant regarding the aforesaid statement of Sri Amit Yadav. Therefore, even if one Contractor in the name of Sri Amit Yadav has levelled any allegation against the present applicant, the same allegation has not been verified from the present applicant during investigation. As a matter of fact, no exercise has been carried out by the E.D. to collect any corroborative evidence.

16. Since no material has been filed with the counter affidavit of the opposite party to suggest that the allegation so levelled against the present applicant by Sri Amit Yadav, the Contractor, has been verified or corroborated and during the course of the arguments, Sri Kuldeep Srivastava, learned counsel for the opposite party has been asked to demonstrate the Court that the E.D. is having any corroborative material or any piece of material suggesting the involvement of the present applicant in accepting a sum of Rs.15 lakh, except the bald allegation of Sri Amit Yadav through his statement, Sri Kuldeep Srivastava could not demonstrate anything suggesting, prima facie, involvement of the present applicant. However, trial proceedings are going on and the allegations may be proved or disproved before the learned trial court by adducing the evidences from both the sides, therefore, I am not giving any finding on this point inasmuch as this is the domain of the learned trial court to conduct and conclude the trial independently strictly in accordance with law and without being influenced from any observation of this order. So far as argument of Sri Srivastava that regular bail of one co-accused Roop Singh Yadav has been rejected by this Court vide order dated 29.04.2022 (supra) is concerned, notably, the CBI had filed charge sheet against Roop Singh Yadav whereas no charge sheet was filed against the present applicant by the CBI. Further, Roop Singh Yadav had not filed any anticipatory bail application whereas the present applicant has filed the present anticipatory bail application. Law is trite that there may not be parity in rejection of bail.

17. Therefore, on the basis of aforesaid facts and circumstances, I am convinced that the twin requirements of Section 45 of PMLA, 2002 are satisfied inasmuch as the Public Prosecutor has been given ample opportunity to establish his case as the counter affidavit so filed and his arguments so advanced have been considered. Further, since thorough investigation has been conducted by the CBI pursuant to one FIR wherein the present applicant was accused and when nothing incriminating has been found against the present applicant, he has not been charge sheeted. The E.D. has not conducted its independent investigation and has reiterated the investigation of the CBI, therefore, prima facie, it appears that the present applicant is not guilty of such offence and being an old aged retired employee, his liberty may be protected. It further appears that he may not likely to commit such offence while on anticipatory bail.

18. The Hon'ble Apex Court in re; Vijay Madanlal Choudhary & Ors. vs Union of India & Ors. [Special Leave Petition (Criminal) No.4634 of 2014], has observed as under:-

"187..... (d) The offence under Section 3 of the 2002 Act is dependent on illegal gain of property as a result of criminal activity relating to a scheduled offence. It is concerning the process or activity connected with such property, which constitutes the offence of money-laundering. The Authorities under the 2002 Act cannot prosecute any person on notional basis or on the assumption that a scheduled offence has been committed, unless it is so registered with the jurisdictional police and/or pending enquiry/trial including by way of criminal complaint before the competent forum. If the person is finally discharged/acquitted of the scheduled offence or the criminal case against him is quashed by the Court of competent jurisdiction, there can be no offence of money laundering against him or any one claiming such property being the property linked to stated scheduled offence through him."

19. The Hon'ble Apex Court in re; Parvathi Kollur & Anr. vs. State by Directorate of Enforcement [Criminal Appeal No.1254 of 2022], observed as under:-

"Thereafter, the Trial Court, by its judgment and order dated 04.01.2019, allowed the application and discharged the appellants from the offences pertaining to the Act of 2002 while observing that occurrence of a scheduled offences was the basic condition for giving rise to "proceeds of crime"; and commission of scheduled offence was a precondition for proceeding under the Act of 2002."

(emphasis supplied)

20. As per this Judgement, the case of the applicant is fully covered within the ratio because pre-condition of "scheduled offence" is not there against the applicant.

21. This Court in re; Rajeev Wadhwa vs. Union of India Thru. Joint Dir. Directorate of Enforcement [Bail No.5867 of 2016], has observed as under:-

"Learned counsel for the applicant has next argued that the court below has erroneously held that the applicant is accused of "Schedule Offence" The F.I.R. No.17/15, Police Station Kavi Nagar, Ghaziabad shows that the applicant is not an accused in the said F.I.R. He submits that the entire matter has basically been investigated by the Directorate of Revenue Intelligence and the F.I.R has been lodged against co-accused Manish Jain and Rakesh Jain only, hence the applicant is entitled for bail."

22. Since no charge sheet was filed against Rajeev Wadhwa, he was granted bail. The ratio of this judgement is applicable, as admittedly, for applicant also, CBI has not filed charge sheet for scheduled offence.

23. There is one more aspect in the present case that the present applicant has cooperated with the investigation being conducted by the CBI and after completion of the investigation, no charge sheet has been filed against the present applicant. He has further cooperated with the Enforcement Directorate as he always appeared before the E.D. to record his statement under Section 50 of the PMLA, 2002, therefore, there is no need to take him into judicial custody inasmuch as liberty of a person may not be infringed mechanically.

24. In the judgment of Apex Court rendered in re: Joginder Kumar vs. State of Utter Pradesh, (1994) 4 SCC 260, wherein it has been observed that arrest is not mandatory if an accused person co-operates with the investigation as well as in the trial proceedings unless there is any specific or cogent reason to arrest him. The issuance of direction regarding arrest is the prerogative of the learned trial court concerned but such discretion should not be unreasoned inasmuch as the liberty of any person, which is guaranteed under Article 21 of the Constitution of India, may not be compromised in a cursory manner. Therefore, before issuing such order to arrest such person the settled

25. The Apex Court in re: Siddharth vs. State of U.P. and another, (2021) 1 SCC 676, has observed as under:

"We are in agreement with the aforesaid view of the High Courts and would like to give out imprimatur to the said judicial view. It has rightly been observed on consideration of Section 170 of the Cr.P.C. that it does not impose an obligation on the Officer-in-charge to arrest each and every accused at the time of filing of the charge-sheet. We have, in fact, some across cases where the accused has co-operated with the investigation throughout and yet on the charge-sheet being filed non-bailable warrants have been issued for his production premised on the requirement that there is an obligation to arrest the accused and produce him before the court. We are of the view that if the Investigating Officer does not believe that the accused will abscond or disobey summons he/ she is not required to be produced in custody. The word "custody" appearing in Section 170 of the Cr.P.C. does not contemplate either police or judicial custody but it merely connotes the presentation of the accused by the Investigating Officer before the court while filing the charge-sheet."

26. The Apex Court in re: Aman Preet Singh vs. C.B.I. through Director, Criminal Appeal No.929 of 2021, has observed as under:

"Insofar as the present case is concerned and the general principles under Section 170 Cr.P.C., the most apposite observations are in sub-para (v) of the High Court judgment in the context of an accused in a non-bailable offence whose custody was not required during the period of investigation. In such a scenario, it is appropriate that the accused is released on bail as the circumstances of his having not been arrested during investigation or not being produced in custody is itself sufficient to entitled him to be released on bail. The rationale has been succinctly set out that if a person has been enlarged and free for many years and has bot even been arrested during investigation, to suddenly direct his arrest and to be incarcerated merely because charge-sheet has been filed would be contrary to the governing principles for grant of bail. We could not agree more with this."

27. In view of the aforesaid facts and circumstances as well as the settled legal proposition, I find it appropriate that liberty of the present applicant may be protected till conclusion of the trial proceedings in view of the dictum of the Hon'ble Apex Court in re; Sushila Aggarwal vs. State (NCT of Delhi), 2020 SCC online SC 98.

28. Therefore, it is directed that in the event of arrest, applicant- Siddh Narain Sharma shall be released on anticipatory bail in the aforesaid complaint case number till conclusion of trial on his furnishing a personal bond of Rs.2,00,000/- with two sureties of Rs.1,00,000/- each before the court concerned with the following conditions:-

I. that the applicant shall not, directly or indirectly make any inducement, threat or promise to any person acquainted with the facts of the case so as to dissuade him from disclosing such facts to the court or to any police officer or tamper with the evidence;

II. that the applicant shall not leave India during pendency of the trial without prior permission from the concerned court and shall also surrender his passport, if any, before the concerned court forthwith;

III. that the applicant shall not pressurize/ intimidate the prosecution witness;

IV. that the applicant shall appear before the trial court on each date fixed unless personal presence is exempted;

V. that in case of breach of any of the above conditions, the court below shall have the liberty to cancel the bail.

29. Accordingly, the instant anticipatory bail application is allowed.

Akhilendra Singh, Advocate and also perused the material available on record.

2. The present anticipatory bail application has been filed on behalf of the applicant in Criminal Case No.10 of 2012 arising out of Case Crime No. R.C.0062011A0008 of 2011, under Sections 120-B, 420, 467, 468 and 471 IPC and Sections 13(2) read with 13(1)(d) of Prevention of Corruption Act, 1988, Police Station CBI, ACB, District Lucknow, with a prayer to enlarge him on anticipatory bail.

BRIEF FACTS OF THE CASE

3. As per the allegations of the FIR, the applicant, who is the Director of M/s Drolia Coke Industries Private Limited, Chandauli which manufactures Special Smokeless Fuels and are receiving the raw materials from the coal mine projects of NCL under the New Distribution Policy of Government of India on subsidized rates, does not actually process the coal, instead sale it in the black market at a high premium and earning huge wrongful gains. In pursuance of a credible information through a squealer, a surprise check was taken at the factory premises and it was found that the factory was running below par i.e. less than half of its capacity. Out of four furnaces, only one was found running and only four labourers were found working in the factory. There was no electricity connection although 125 KVA generator was found there. A shortage of 35.25 MT of coal was found. As the Coal India Limited has represented by NCL in this case, the connivance of unknown officers/officials of the NCL in the illegal sale of coal by the company was suspected. The wrongful pecuniary gain were calculated to the tune of Rs.8.36 crores by the company during the period of 2010-11.

RIVAL CONTENTIONS

4. Sri Ajit Kumar Sinha, learned Senior Counsel for the applicant has stated that the applicant is innocent and has nothing to do with the said offence. The matter is of civil nature and the applicant is being harassed by the agency by adding criminal colour to it, thus, no useful purpose would be served by keeping the applicant in custody. There is no apprehension of the applicant fleeing away from the justice or tampering with any evidence which is in the possession of C.B.I. and E.D.

5. Learned Senior Counsel has placed reliance on Clause-4.4 and 15.5.5 of the Fuel Supply Agreement (Annexure-4 to the affidavit annexed with the bail application) wherein the penalty for diversion of coal in the open market is provided as the forfeiture of security money and termination of the contract. Learned Senior Counsel has further stated that the coal supplied to it at the notified price fixed by the Coal India Limited as per the New Coal Distribution Policy dated 18.10.2007. He has further argued that on 28.04.2008, the applicant furnished a bank guarantee to the NCL to the tune of Rs.33,12,913/- and an additional bank guarantee of Rs.3,39,858/- on 05.12.2009. Learned counsel has next submitted that the Company represented by the applicant is a private company and the provisions of Prevention of Corruption Act are not attracted to its case. Learned counsel on behalf of the applicant has undertaken that there is no possibility of the applicant fleeing from the judicial proceedings and in the light of the judgement of the Apex Court in Bhadresh Bipinbhai Sheth Vs. State of Gujarat1 and Siddharth Vs. State of Uttar Pradesh and another2, the applicant may be enlarged on anticipatory bail.

6. Learned Senior Counsel has further argued that the charge-sheet has already been filed in the matter way back on 31.05.2012 and the applicant has not misused or abused the interim protection granted to him by various courts since then. Much reliance has been placed on the fact that in the charge-sheet filed by the CBI, no prosecution has been initiated against any of the erring officials of the NCL. It has further been argued that no subsidy was involved in the said coal supply as the information supplied by the Coal India Limited to the RTI application filed on behalf of the Company (Annexure-8 to the affidavit annexed with the bail application). Learned Senior Counsel has also stated that the Enforcement Directorate, Allahabad had provisionally attached the Flat No. T-22-06-01, CWG Village, near Akshardham Temple at Noida Crossing located off NH-24, Delhi-110092 to the extent of Rs.70,25,716.40/- which alleged to be the proceeds of the Agreement held in the name of the applicant being the Director of M/s Jai Durga Industries and M/s Drolia Coke Industries Private Limited. The applicant had preferred a Writ Petition bearing No.6314 of 2020 before the High Court of Delhi wherein the High Court directed that the aforesaid provisionally attached property shall be released subjected to the defendants therein depositing Rs.70,25,716.40/- which was the alleged proceeds of the Agreement. Learned Senior Counsel has stated that the applicant had deposited a sum of Rs.70,25,716.40/- before the Registrar General of High Court in compliance of the order dated 15.10.2020 (Annexure-14 to the affidavit annexed with the bail application). Learned Senior Counsel has also stated that as the present subject matter pertains to an amount of Rs.70,25,716.40/- which has already been deposited by the applicant, no cause of action remains in the subject matter. It has further been stated that neither the Coal India Limited nor the NCL has filed any complaint against the applicant at any forum.

7. Per contra, Sri Anurag Kumar Singh, learned counsel for the CBI assisted by Sri Akhilendra Singh, Advocate has vehemently opposed the anticipatory bail application on the ground that the applicant had diverted the coal provided to him at the controlled rate to the black market and as per the joint surprise check and the independent technical inspection team, the factory had been found functional partly. As per the records of the EPFO, it had only four employees while it would have needed much more employee i.e. about 100 employees to make the factory operational.

8. Learned Senior Counsel for the applicant has also relied upon the judgement of the Apex Court in the case of Sushila Aggarwal Vs. State (NCT of Delhi)3, wherein it has been held in paras-63, 69 and 75 which read as under:-

"63. Clearly, therefore, where Parliament wished to exclude or restrict the power of courts, under Section 438 of the Code, it did so in categorical terms. Parliament's omission to restrict the right of citizens, accused of other offences from the right to seek anticipatory bail, necessarily leads one to assume that neither a blanket restriction can be read into by this court, nor can inflexible guidelines in the exercise of discretion, be insisted upon- that would amount to judicial legislation.

69. It is important to notice here that there is nothing in the provisions of Section 438 which suggests that Parliament intended to restrict its operation, either as regards the time period, or in terms of the nature of the offences in respect of which, an applicant had to be denied bail, or which special considerations were to apply. In this context, it is relevant to recollect that the court would avoid imposing restrictions or conditions in a provision in the absence of an apparent or manifest absurdity, flowing from the plain and literal interpretation of the statute (Ref. Chandra Mohan v. State of Uttar Pradesh). In RBI v. Peerless General Finance and Investment Co. Ltd., the relevance of text and context was emphasized in the following terms:

"33. Interpretation must depend on the text and the context. They are the bases of interpretation. One may well say if the text is the texture, context is what gives the colour. Neither can be ignored. Both are important. That interpretation is best which makes the textual interpretation match the contextual. A statute is best interpreted when we know why it was enacted. With this knowledge, the statute must be read, first as a whole and then section by section, clause by clause, phrase by phrase and word by word. If a statute is looked at, in the context of its enactment, with the glasses of the statute-maker, provided by such context, its scheme, the sections, clauses, phrases and words may take colour and appear different than when the statute is looked at without the glasses provided by the context. With these glasses we must look at the Act as a whole and discover what each section, each clause, each phrase and each word is meant and designed to say as to fit into the scheme of the entire Act. No part of a statute and no word of a statute can be construed in isolation. Statutes have to be construed so that every word has a place and everything is in its place."

75. For the above reasons, the answer to the first question in the reference made to this bench is that there is no offence, per se, which stands excluded from the purview of Section 438, except the offences mentioned in Section 438(4). In other words, anticipatory bail can be granted, having regard to all the circumstances, in respect of all offences. At the same time, if there are indications in any special law or statute, which exclude relief under Section 438(1) they would have to be duly considered. Also, whether anticipatory offences should be granted, in the given facts and circumstances of any case, where the allegations relating to the commission of offences of a serious nature, with certain special conditions, is a matter of discretion to be exercised, having regard to the nature of the offences, the facts shown, the background of the applicant, the likelihood of his fleeing justice (or not fleeing justice); likelihood of co-operation or non-co-operation with the investigating agency or police, etc. There can be no inflexible time frame for which an order of anticipatory bail can continue.

91.1. Regarding Question No. 1, this court holds that the protection granted to a person under Section 438 Cr.PC should not invariably be limited to a fixed period; it should enure in favour of the accused without any restriction on time. Normal conditions under Section 437(3) read with Section 438(2) should be imposed; if there are specific facts or features in regard to any offence, it is open for the court to impose any appropriate condition (including fixed nature of relief, or its being tied to an event) etc."

10. On the other hand, Sri Anurag Kumar Singh, learned counsel for the CBI has further placed reliance upon the judgement of Supreme Court in the case of Satender Kumar Antil Vs. Central Bureau of Investigation and another4 and has stated that according to the said judgement, the case of the applicant falls in the Category- B and D, hence, the provisions of Section 438 Cr.P.C. do not apply to the present case but he could not dispute the fact that the amount of Rs.70,25,716.40/- has been deposited by the applicant.

11. Learned Senior Counsel for the applicant has placed much reliance on the order passed by the Apex Court in Miscellaneous Application No.1849 of 2021 passed in SLP (Criminal) No. 5191 of 2021, Satender Kumar Antil Vs. Central Bureau of Investigation and another dated 16.12.2021, wherein it has been clarified by the Apex Court as under:-

"We are also putting a caution that merely by categorizing certain offences as economic offences which may be non-cognizable, it does not mean that a different meaning is to be given to our order."

12. It has further been argued by the learned Senior Counsel for the applicant that there are no criminal antecedents of the applicant except two cases instituted against him at the same time.

13. As per the judgment of the Supreme Court in the case of Bhadresh Bipinbhai Sheth Vs. State of Gujarat5, it has held that the nature and gravity of the accusation and the exact role of the accused must be properly comprehended, the previous criminal antecedents of the applicant whether he has previously undergone imprisonment on conviction, the possibility of applicant to flee and where the accusation has been made only with the object of injuring or humiliating the applicant by arresting him, are the circumstances that are to be taken into account as per Section 438 Cr.P.C.

14. It was observed by V.R. Krishnaiyer, J. in Gudikanti Narasimhulu and Others Vs. Public Prosecutor, High Court of Andhra Pradesh6 that:

"1. ..... The issue of (Bail) is one of liberty, justice, public safety and burden of the public treasury, all of which insist that a developed jurisprudence of bail is integral to a socially sensitized judicial process.

.... After all, personal liberty of an accused or convict is fundamental, suffering lawful eclipse only in terms of 'procedure established by law'. The last four words of Article 21 are the life of that human right."

15. Considering the facts and circumstances of the case and upon hearing the learned counsel for the parties and also perusing all the judgements referred hereinabove, this Court is of the view that the Division Bench of this Court has left open the question to the Court whether to undertake the anticipatory bail application directly at the High Court in Criminal Misc. Anticipatory Bail Application u/s 438 Cr.P.C. No.1094 of 2020, Ankit Bharti Vs. State of U.P. and another. Furthermore, as the charge-sheet was filed on 31.05.2012 and the applicant has not misused the liberty granted to him vide various orders, the applicant is entitled to be released on anticipatory bail in this case.

16. In view of the above, the anticipatory bail application of the applicant is allowed. In the event of arrest, let the accused-applicant Ratan Singh, be released forthwith in Criminal Case No.10 of 2012 arising out of Case Crime No. R.C.0062011A0008 of 2011, under Sections 120-B, 420, 467, 468 and 471 IPC and Sections 13(2) read with 13(1)(d) of Prevention of Corruption Act, 1988, Police Station CBI, ACB, District Lucknow, on bail on furnishing a personal bond with two sureties each in the like amount to the satisfaction of the Station House Officer of the police station concerned with the following conditions:-

(i) that the applicant shall make himself available for interrogation by a police officer as and when required;

(ii) that the applicant shall not, directly or indirectly make any inducement, threat or promise to any person acquainted with the facts of the case so as to dissuade him from disclosing such facts to the court or to any police officer or tamper with the evidence;

(iii) that the applicant shall surrender his passport, if any, to the concerned trial Court forthwith. His passport will remain in custody of the concerned trial Court;

(iv) that the applicant shall not leave India during the pendency of trial without prior permission from the concerned trial Court;

(v) that in default of any of the conditions mentioned above, the investigating officer shall be at liberty to file appropriate application for cancellation of anticipatory bail granted to the applicant;

(vi) that it is directed that the trial may be concluded in accordance with law expeditiously, preferably, within a period of one year from the date of this order, independently without being prejudiced by any observations made by this court while considering or deciding the present anticipatory bail application of the applicant;

(vii) that in case charge-sheet is submitted the applicant shall not tamper with the evidence during the trial;

(viii) that the applicant shall not pressurize/ intimidate the prosecution witness;

(ix) that the applicant shall appear before the trial court on each date fixed unless personal presence is exempted;

17. In case of breach of any of the above conditions the court below shall have the liberty to cancel the bail.

2. The present anticipatory bail application has been filed on behalf of the applicant in Criminal Case No.12 of 2012 arising out of Case Crime No. R.C.0062011A0006 of 2011, under Sections 120-B, 420, 467, 468 and 471 IPC and Sections 13(2) read with 13(1)(d) of Prevention of Corruption Act, 1988, Police Station CBI, ACB, District Lucknow, with a prayer to enlarge him on anticipatory bail.

BRIEF FACTS OF THE CASE

3. A coal linkage was granted to M/s Jai Durga Industries, Chandauli in the year 1987. A new coal distribution policy was introduced on 18.10.2007 by the Ministry of Coal, envisaging a new mechanism of coal distribution by way of entering into the Fuel Supply Agreement in compliance with the directions of the Supreme Court in M/s Ashoka Smokeless Vs. Union of India and in connected matters1. As per new policy, the prices were to be fixed by Coal India Limited. Pursuant to the said newly devised system, a Fuel Supply Agreement was entered into between the M/s Jai Durga Industries and the Coal Company. It is alleged in the FIR that the coal supplied was at the notified price fixed by the Coal India Limited to streamline the rates across the country. The applicant is the Director in the Company M/s Jai Durga Industries and the said Company is alleged to have sold the coal supplied to it in the open market, thus, extricated undue gain by black marketing.

RIVAL CONTENTIONS

4. Sri Ajit Kumar Sinha, learned Senior Counsel for the applicant has stated that the applicant is innocent and has nothing to do with the said offence. The matter is of civil nature and the applicant is being harassed by the agency by adding criminal colour to it, thus, no useful purpose would be served by keeping the applicant in custody. There is no apprehension of the applicant fleeing away from the justice or tampering with any evidence which is in the possession of C.B.I. and E.D.

5. Learned Senior Counsel has placed reliance on Clause-4.4 and 15.5.5 of the Fuel Supply Agreement (Annexure-4 to the affidavit annexed with the bail application) wherein the penalty for diversion of coal in the open market is provided as the forfeiture of security money and termination of the contract. Learned Senior Counsel has further stated that the coal was supplied to it at the notified price fixed by the Coal India Limited as per the new Coal Distribution Policy dated 18.10.2007. He has further argued that on 28.04.2008, the applicant furnished a bank guarantee to the NCL to the tune of Rs.33,12,913/- and an additional bank guarantee of Rs.3,32,363/- on 19.11.2009. Learned counsel has further submitted that the Company represented by the applicant is a private company and the provisions of Prevention of Corruption Act are not attracted to its case. Learned counsel for the applicant has undertaken that there is no possibility of the applicant fleeing from the judicial proceedings and in the light of the judgement of the Apex Court in Bhadresh Bipinbhai Sheth Vs. State of Gujarat2 and Siddharth Vs. State of Uttar Pradesh and another3, the applicant may be enlarged on anticipatory bail.

6. Learned Senior Counsel has further argued that the charge-sheet has already been filed in the matter way back on 31.05.2012 and the applicant has not misused or abused the interim protection granted to him by various courts since then. Much reliance has been placed on the fact that in the charge-sheet filed by the CBI, no prosecution has been initiated against any of the erring officials of the NCL. It has further been argued that no subsidy was involved in the said coal supply as the information supplied by the Coal India Limited to the RTI application filed on behalf of the Company (Annexure-8 to the affidavit annexed with the bail application). It has further been argued by the learned Senior Counsel that during investigation, a total wrongful gain of Rs.77,17,664.64/- has been proved by providing the said coal in black market to M/s Drolia Coke Industries Private Limited. Learned Senior Counsel has also stated that the Enforcement Directorate, Allahabad had provisionally attached the Flat No. T-22-06-01, CWG Village, near Akshardham Temple at Noida Crossing located off NH-24, Delhi-110092 to the extent of Rs.70,25,716.40/- which alleged to be the proceeds of the Agreement held in the name of the applicant being the Director of M/s Jai Durga Industries and M/s Drolia Coke Industries Private Limited. The applicant had preferred a Writ Petition bearing No.6314 of 2020 before the High Court of Delhi wherein the High Court directed that the aforesaid provisionally attached property shall be released subjected to the defendants therein depositing Rs.70,25,716.40/- which was the alleged proceeds of the Agreement. Learned Senior Counsel has stated that the applicant had deposited a sum of Rs.70,25,716.40/- before the Registrar General of High Court in compliance of the order dated 15.10.2020 (Annexure-14 to the affidavit annexed with the bail application). Learned Senior Counsel has also stated that as the present subject matter pertains to an amount of Rs.70,25,716.40/- which has already been deposited by the applicant, no cause of action remains in the subject matter. It has further been argued that neither the Coal India Limited nor the NCL has filed any complaint against the applicant at any forum.

7. Per contra, Sri Anurag Kumar Singh, learned counsel for the CBI assisted by Sri Akhilendra Singh, Advocate has vehemently opposed the anticipatory bail application on the ground that the applicant had diverted the coal provided to him at the controlled rate to the black market and as per the joint surprise check and the independent technical inspection team, the factory had not been found functional for the last couple of years. As per the records of the EPFO, it had only one employee while it would have needed much more employee i.e. about 99 employees to make the factory functional.

8. Learned Senior Counsel for the applicant has also relied upon the judgement of the Apex Court in the case of Sushila Aggarwal Vs. State (NCT of Delhi)4, wherein it has been held in paras-63, 69 and 75 which read as under:-

"63. Clearly, therefore, where Parliament wished to exclude or restrict the power of courts, under Section 438 of the Code, it did so in categorical terms. Parliament's omission to restrict the right of citizens, accused of other offences from the right to seek anticipatory bail, necessarily leads one to assume that neither a blanket restriction can be read into by this court, nor can inflexible guidelines in the exercise of discretion, be insisted upon- that would amount to judicial legislation.

69. It is important to notice here that there is nothing in the provisions of Section 438 which suggests that Parliament intended to restrict its operation, either as regards the time period, or in terms of the nature of the offences in respect of which, an applicant had to be denied bail, or which special considerations were to apply. In this context, it is relevant to recollect that the court would avoid imposing restrictions or conditions in a provision in the absence of an apparent or manifest absurdity, flowing from the plain and literal interpretation of the statute (Ref. Chandra Mohan v. State of Uttar Pradesh). In RBI v. Peerless General Finance and Investment Co. Ltd., the relevance of text and context was emphasized in the following terms:

"33. Interpretation must depend on the text and the context. They are the bases of interpretation. One may well say if the text is the texture, context is what gives the colour. Neither can be ignored. Both are important. That interpretation is best which makes the textual interpretation match the contextual. A statute is best interpreted when we know why it was enacted. With this knowledge, the statute must be read, first as a whole and then section by section, clause by clause, phrase by phrase and word by word. If a statute is looked at, in the context of its enactment, with the glasses of the statute-maker, provided by such context, its scheme, the sections, clauses, phrases and words may take colour and appear different than when the statute is looked at without the glasses provided by the context. With these glasses we must look at the Act as a whole and discover what each section, each clause, each phrase and each word is meant and designed to say as to fit into the scheme of the entire Act. No part of a statute and no word of a statute can be construed in isolation. Statutes have to be construed so that every word has a place and everything is in its place."

75. For the above reasons, the answer to the first question in the reference made to this bench is that there is no offence, per se, which stands excluded from the purview of Section 438, except the offences

mentioned in Section 438(4). In other words, anticipatory bail can be granted, having regard to all the circumstances, in respect of all offences. At the same time, if there are indications in any special law or statute, which exclude relief under Section 438(1) they would have to be duly considered. Also, whether anticipatory offences should be granted, in the given facts and circumstances of any case, where the allegations relating to the commission of offences of a serious nature, with certain special conditions, is a matter of discretion to be exercised, having regard to the nature of the offences, the facts shown, the background of the applicant, the likelihood of his fleeing justice (or not fleeing justice); likelihood of co-operation or non-co-operation with the investigating agency or police, etc. There can be no inflexible time frame for which an order of anticipatory bail can continue.

9. Learned Senior Counsel for the applicant has also placed reliance on para-91.1 of Sushila Aggarwal (Supra) which reads as under:-

91.1. Regarding Question No. 1, this court holds that the protection granted to a person under Section 438 Cr.PC should not invariably be limited to a fixed period; it should enure in favour of the accused without any restriction on time. Normal conditions under Section 437(3) read with Section 438(2) should be imposed; if there are specific facts or features in regard to any offence, it is open for the court to impose any appropriate condition (including fixed nature of relief, or its being tied to an event) etc."

10. On the other hand, Sri Anurag Kumar Singh, learned counsel for the CBI has further placed reliance upon the judgement of Supreme Court in the case of Satender Kumar Antil Vs. Central Bureau of Investigation and another5 and has stated that according to the said judgement, the case of the applicant falls in the Category- B and D, hence, the provisions of Section 438 Cr.P.C. do not apply to the present case but he could not dispute the fact that the alleged amount has been deposited by the applicant.

11. Learned Senior Counsel on behalf of the applicant has placed much reliance on the order passed by the Apex Court in Miscellaneous Application No.1849 of 2021 passed in SLP (Criminal) No. 5191 of 2021, Satender Kumar Antil Vs. Central Bureau of Investigation and another dated 16.12.2021, wherein it has been clarified by the Apex Court as under:-

"We are also putting a caution that merely by categorizing certain offences as economic offences which may be non-cognizable, it does not mean that a different meaning is to be given to our order."

12. It has further been argued by the learned Senior Counsel for the applicant that there are no criminal antecedents of the applicant except two cases instituted against him at the same time.

13. As per the judgment of the Supreme Court in the case of Bhadresh Bipinbhai Sheth Vs. State of Gujarat6, it has held that the nature and gravity of the accusation and the exact role of the accused must be properly comprehended, the previous criminal antecedents of the applicant whether he has previously undergone imprisonment on conviction, the possibility of applicant to flee and where the accusation has been made only with the object of injuring or humiliating the applicant by arresting him, are the circumstances that are to be taken into account as per Section 438 Cr.P.C.

14. It was observed by V.R. Krishnaiyer, J. in Gudikanti Narasimhulu and Others Vs. Public Prosecutor, High Court of Andhra Pradesh7 that:

"1. ..... The issue of (Bail) is one of liberty, justice, public safety and burden of the public treasury, all of which insist that a developed jurisprudence of bail is integral to a socially sensitized judicial process.

.... After all, personal liberty of an accused or convict is fundamental, suffering lawful eclipse only in terms of 'procedure established by law'. The last four words of Article 21 are the life of that human right."

15. Considering the facts and circumstances of the case and upon hearing the learned counsel for the parties and also perusing all the judgements referred hereinabove, this Court is of the view that the Division Bench of this Court has left open the question to the Court whether to undertake the anticipatory bail application directly at the High Court in Criminal Misc. Anticipatory Bail Application u/s 438 Cr.P.C. No.1094 of 2020, Ankit Bharti Vs. State of U.P. and another. Furthermore, as the charge-sheet was filed on 31.05.2012 and the applicant has not misused the liberty granted to him vide various orders, the applicant is entitled to be released on anticipatory bail in this case.

16. In view of the above, the anticipatory bail application of the applicant is allowed. In the event of arrest, let the accused-applicant Ratan Singh, be released forthwith in Criminal Case No.12 of 2012 arising out of Case Crime No. R.C.0062011A0006 of 2011, under Sections 120-B, 420, 467, 468 and 471 IPC and Sections 13(2) read with 13(1)(d) of Prevention of Corruption Act, 1988, Police Station CBI, ACB, District Lucknow, on bail on furnishing a personal bond with two sureties each in the like amount to the satisfaction of the Station House Officer of the police station concerned with the following conditions:-

(i) that the applicant shall make himself available for interrogation by a police officer as and when required;

(ii) that the applicant shall not, directly or indirectly make any inducement, threat or promise to any person acquainted with the facts of the case so as to dissuade him from disclosing such facts to the court or to any police officer or tamper with the evidence;

(iii) that the applicant shall surrender his passport, if any, to the concerned trial Court forthwith. His passport will remain in custody of the concerned trial Court;

(iv) that the applicant shall not leave India during the pendency of trial without prior permission from the concerned trial Court;

(v) that in default of any of the conditions mentioned above, the investigating officer shall be at liberty to file appropriate application for cancellation of anticipatory bail granted to the applicant;

(vi) that it is directed that the trial may be concluded in accordance with law expeditiously, preferably, within a period of one year from the date of this order, independently without being prejudiced by any observations made by this court while considering or deciding the present anticipatory bail application of the applicant;

(vii) in case charge-sheet is submitted the applicant shall not tamper with the evidence during the trial;

(viii) that the applicant shall not pressurize/ intimidate the prosecution witness;

(ix) that the applicant shall appear before the trial court on each date fixed unless personal presence is exempted;

17. In case of breach of any of the above conditions the court below shall have the liberty to cancel the bail.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Krishan Pahal, J.)

1. Heard Sri Himanshu Suryavanshi and Sri Amit Kumar Kaushal, learned counsels appearing on behalf of the applicant as well as Sri Anurag Kumar Singh, learned counsel for the Central Bureau of Investigation assisted by Sri Akhilendra Singh, Advocate and also perused the material available on record.

2. The present anticipatory bail application has been filed on behalf of the applicant in Case Crime No. R.C.0062011A0006, under Sections 120-B, 420, 467, 468 and 471 IPC and Sections 13(2) read with 13(1)(d) of Prevention of Corruption Act, 1988, Police Station- CBI, ACB, District- Lucknow, with a prayer to enlarge him on anticipatory bail.

BRIEF FACTS OF THE CASE

3. A coal linkage was granted to M/s Jai Durga Industries, Chandauli in the year 1987. A new coal distribution policy was introduced on 18.10.2007 by the Ministry of Coal, envisaging a new mechanism of coal distribution by way of entering into the Fuel Supply Agreement in compliance with the directions of the Supreme Court in M/s Ashoka Smokeless Vs. Union of India and in connected matters1. As per new policy, the prices were to be fixed by Coal India Limited. Pursuant to the said newly devised system, a Fuel Supply Agreement was entered into between the M/s Jai Durga Industries and the Coal Company.

4. During the course of investigation, it has been found that the coal supplies have been made to M/s. Jai Durga Industries after taking certificate of the operational status from the State Industries Department i.e. District Industries Centre (DIC). After allotment of coal by the concerned coal companies, the coal companies used to write to the units directly for verification and send the copy of the letter to the DICs and the Directorate of Industries. Upon receipt of such letters from the coal companies, the DICs used to verify and send their report directly to the concerned coal companies.

5. It has been alleged that in connivance of unknown officers/officials of DIC, Chandauli and Northern Coal Fields Limited (NCL), Ms. Jai Durga Industries, Chandauli had lifted coal from NCL at an average price of Rs.1700/- per MT during the period of 2010-11 of which the average market price of same grade coal was Rs.4200/- per MT. It has further been alleged that the coal supplied was at the notified price fixed by the Coal India Limited to streamline the rates across the country.

6. As per the charge-sheet submitted by the CBI on 31.05.2012, the co-accused Ramji Singh, the then General Manager of DIC Chandauli and the applicant, who was the Assistant Manager therein, are alleged to have indulged in criminal conspiracy and abused their official position in connivance with Ratan Singh, by issuing forged certificates regarding the existence of unit and its operational status on the basis of which the supplies of coal were made to the alleged companies.

RIVAL CONTENTIONS

7. Sri Himanshu Suryavanshi and Sri Amit Kumar Kaushal, learned counsels appearing for the applicant have stated that the applicant is innocent and has been falsely implicated in the present case. The applicant is just a scapegoat and he was not involved in any illegal activities as alleged against him by the prosecution. The matter is purely civil in nature and the applicant is being harassed by the agency by adding criminal colour to it, thus, no useful purpose would be served by keeping the applicant in custody. There is no apprehension of the applicant fleeing away from the justice or tampering with any evidence which is in the possession of C.B.I. and E.D.

8. Learned counsel for the applicant has also submitted that the applicant is a old aged person and he has had a Cardiac Bypass Surgery on 14.07.2010 and his wife is also suffering from fatal disease of kidney failure. He has further submitted that the charge-sheet has already been filed in the matter way back on 31.05.2012 and the applicant has not misused or abused the interim protection granted to him by various courts since then. Much reliance has been placed on the fact that in the charge-sheet filed by the CBI, no prosecution has been initiated against any of the erring officials of the NCL. The co-accused Ratan Singh, who is the Director of the alleged erring Company, had preferred a Writ Petition bearing No.6314 of 2020 before the High Court of Delhi wherein the High Court directed that his attached property shall be released subject to depositing of Rs.70,25,716.40/- which was the alleged proceeds of the Agreement. Learned counsel has next submitted that the co-accused Ratan Singh had already deposited the said amount before the Registrar General of Delhi High Court in compliance of the order dated 15.10.2020 passed in OC No.1263 of 2020. Learned counsel has next submitted that as the present subject matter pertains to the amount of Rs.70,25,716.40/- which has already been deposited by the co-accused Ratan Singh, no cause of action remains in the subject matter. It has further been submitted that there is no criminal history of the applicant except two cases instituted by the CBI at a time pertaining to the alleged two coal companies, namely, M/s Jai Durga Industries and M/s Drolia Coke Industries Private Limited. It was directed by the High Court to expedite the trial of the case but the same has proceeded in a snail's pace. It has further been argued that no complaint whatsoever has been lodged by the NCL or the Coal India Limited. The provision of Section 438 Cr.P.C. are attracted to the present case. Learned counsel for the applicant has further undertaken that there is no possibility of the applicant fleeing away from the judicial proceedings and in the light of the judgement of the Apex Court in Bhadresh Bipinbhai Sheth Vs. State of Gujarat2 and Siddharth Vs. State of Uttar Pradesh and another3, the applicant may be enlarged on anticipatory bail.

9. Per contra, Sri Anurag Kumar Singh, learned counsel for the CBI assisted by Sri Akhilendra Singh, Advocate has vehemently opposed the anticipatory bail application on the ground that the co-accused Ratan Singh, who is the Director of the alleged Company, with the help of the applicant, who was the Assistant Manager of the DIC, Chandauli, were indulged in diverting the coal at the controlled rate to the black market and extricated undue gain.

10. Learned counsel for the applicant has also relied upon the judgement of the Apex Court in the case of Sushila Aggarwal Vs. State (NCT of Delhi)4, wherein it has been held in paras-63, 69 and 75 which read as under:-

"63. Clearly, therefore, where Parliament wished to exclude or restrict the power of courts, under Section 438 of the Code, it did so in categorical terms. Parliament's omission to restrict the right of citizens, accused of other offences from the right to seek anticipatory bail, necessarily leads one to assume that neither a blanket restriction can be read into by this court, nor can inflexible guidelines in the exercise of discretion, be insisted upon- that would amount to judicial legislation.

69. It is important to notice here that there is nothing in the provisions of Section 438 which suggests that Parliament intended to restrict its operation, either as regards the time period, or in terms of the nature of the offences in respect of which, an applicant had to be denied bail, or which special considerations were to apply. In this context, it is relevant to recollect that the court would avoid imposing restrictions or conditions in a provision in the absence of an apparent or manifest absurdity, flowing from the plain and literal interpretation of the statute (Ref. Chandra Mohan v. State of Uttar Pradesh). In RBI v. Peerless General Finance and Investment Co. Ltd., the relevance of text and context was emphasized in the following terms:

"33. Interpretation must depend on the text and the context. They are the bases of interpretation. One may well say if the text is the texture, context is what gives the colour. Neither can be ignored. Both are important. That interpretation is best which makes the textual interpretation match the contextual. A statute is best interpreted when we know why it was enacted. With this knowledge, the statute must be read, first as a whole and then section by section, clause by clause, phrase by phrase and word by word. If a statute is looked at, in the context of its enactment, with the glasses of the statute-maker, provided by such context, its scheme, the sections, clauses, phrases and words may take colour and appear different than when the statute is looked at without the glasses provided by the context. With these glasses we must look at the Act as a whole and discover what each section, each clause, each phrase and each word is meant and designed to say as to fit into the scheme of the entire Act. No part of a statute and no word of a statute can be construed in isolation. Statutes have to be construed so that every word has a place and everything is in its place."

75. For the above reasons, the answer to the first question in the reference made to this bench is that there is no offence, per se, which stands excluded from the purview of Section 438, except the offences mentioned in Section 438(4). In other words, anticipatory bail can be granted, having regard to all the circumstances, in respect of all offences. At the same time, if there are indications in any special law or statute, which exclude relief under Section 438(1) they would have to be duly considered. Also, whether anticipatory offences should be granted, in the given facts and circumstances of any case, where the allegations relating to the commission of offences of a serious nature, with certain special conditions, is a matter of discretion to be exercised, having regard to the nature of the offences, the facts shown, the background of the applicant, the likelihood of his fleeing justice (or not fleeing justice); likelihood of co-operation or non-co-operation with the investigating agency or police, etc. There can be no inflexible time frame for which an order of anticipatory bail can continue.

11. Learned counsel for the applicant has also placed reliance on para-91.1 of Sushila Aggarwal (Supra) which reads as under:-

91.1. Regarding Question No. 1, this court holds that the protection granted to a person under Section 438 Cr.PC should not invariably be limited to a fixed period; it should enure in favour of the accused without any restriction on time. Normal conditions under Section 437(3) read with Section 438(2) should be imposed; if there are specific facts or features in regard to any offence, it is open for the court to impose any appropriate condition (including fixed nature of relief, or its being tied to an event) etc."

12. On the other hand, Sri Anurag Kumar Singh, learned counsel for the CBI has further placed reliance upon the judgement of Supreme Court in the case of Satender Kumar Antil Vs. Central Bureau of Investigation and another5 and has stated that according to the said judgement, the case of the applicant falls in the Category- B and D, hence, the provisions of Section 438 Cr.P.C. do not apply to the present case but he could not dispute the fact that the amount in question has already been deposited by the applicant.

13. Learned counsel on behalf of the applicant has placed much reliance on the order passed by the Apex Court in Miscellaneous Application No.1849 of 2021 passed in SLP (Criminal) No. 5191 of 2021, Satender Kumar Antil Vs. Central Bureau of Investigation and another dated 16.12.2021, wherein it has been clarified by the Apex Court as under:-

"We are also putting a caution that merely by categorizing certain offences as economic offences which may be non-cognizable, it does not mean that a different meaning is to be given to our order."

14. As per the judgment of the Supreme Court in the case of Bhadresh Bipinbhai Sheth Vs. State of Gujarat6, it has held that the nature and gravity of the accusation and the exact role of the accused must be properly comprehended, the previous criminal antecedents of the applicant whether he has previously undergone imprisonment on conviction, the possibility of applicant to flee and where the accusation has been made only with the object of injuring or humiliating the applicant by arresting him, are the circumstances that are to be taken into account as per Section 438 Cr.P.C.

15. It was observed by V.R. Krishnaiyer, J. in Gudikanti Narasimhulu and Others Vs. Public Prosecutor, High Court of Andhra Pradesh7 that:

"1. ..... The issue of (Bail) is one of liberty, justice, public safety and burden of the public treasury, all of which insist that a developed jurisprudence of bail is integral to a socially sensitized judicial process.

.... After all, personal liberty of an accused or convict is fundamental, suffering lawful eclipse only in terms of 'procedure established by law'. The last four words of Article 21 are the life of that human right."

16. Considering the facts and circumstances of the case and upon hearing the learned counsel for the parties and also perusing all the judgements referred hereinabove, this Court is of the view that since the charge-sheet was filed on 31.05.2012 and the applicant has not misused the liberty granted to him vide various orders, he is entitled to be enlarged on anticipatory bail.

17. In view of the above, the anticipatory bail application of the applicant is allowed. In the event of arrest, let the accused-applicant Yogendra Nath Pandey, be released forthwith in Case Crime No. R.C.0062011A0006, under Sections 120-B, 420, 467, 468 and 471 IPC and Sections 13(2) read with 13(1)(d) of Prevention of Corruption Act, 1988, Police Station- CBI, ACB, District- Lucknow, on bail on furnishing a personal bond with two sureties each in the like amount to the satisfaction of the Station House Officer of the police station concerned with the following conditions:-

(i) that the applicant shall make himself available for interrogation by a police officer as and when required;

(ii) that the applicant shall not, directly or indirectly make any inducement, threat or promise to any person acquainted with the facts of the case so as to dissuade him from disclosing such facts to the court or to any police officer or tamper with the evidence;

3. The present anticipatory bail application has been filed on behalf of the applicant in Criminal Case No.12 of 2012 arising out of Case Crime/R.C. No. 0062011A0006 of 2011, under Sections 120-B, 420, 467, 468 and 471 IPC and Sections 13(2) read with 13(1)(d) of Prevention of Corruption Act, 1988, Police Station- CBI, ACB, Lucknow, District-Lucknow, with a prayer to enlarge him on anticipatory bail.

BRIEF FACTS OF THE CASE

4. A coal linkage was granted to M/s Jai Durga Industries, Chandauli in the year 1987. A new coal distribution policy was introduced on 18.10.2007 by the Ministry of Coal, envisaging a new mechanism of coal distribution by way of entering into the Fuel Supply Agreement in compliance with the directions of the Supreme Court in M/s Ashoka Smokeless Vs. Union of India and in connected matters1. As per new policy, the prices were to be fixed by Coal India Limited. Pursuant to the said newly devised system, a Fuel Supply Agreement was entered into between the M/s Jai Durga Industries and the Coal Company.

5. During the course of investigation, it has been found that the coal supplies have been made to M/s. Jai Durga Industries after taking certificate of the operational status from the State Industries Department i.e. District Industries Centre (DIC). After allotment of coal by the concerned coal companies, the coal companies used to write to the units directly for verification and send the copy of the letter to the DICs and the Directorate of Industries. Upon receipt of such letters from the coal companies, the DICs used to verify and send their report directly to the concerned coal companies.

6. It has been alleged that in connivance of unknown officers/officials of DIC, Chandauli and Northern Coal Fields Limited (NCL), Ms. Jai Durga Industries, Chandauli had lifted coal from NCL at an average price of Rs.1700/- per MT during the period of 2010-11 of which the average market price of same grade coal was Rs.4200/- per MT. It has further been alleged that the coal supplied was at the notified price fixed by the Coal India Limited to streamline the rates across the country.

7. As per the charge-sheet submitted by the CBI on 31.05.2012, the applicant Ramji Singh, the then General Manager of DIC Chandauli in connivance with other co-accused persons, are alleged to have indulged in criminal conspiracy and abused his official position, issuing forged certificates regarding the existence of unit and its operational status on the basis of which the supplies of coal were made to the alleged companies.

RIVAL CONTENTIONS

8. Sri Himanshu Suryavanshi and Sri Amit Kumar Kaushal, learned counsels appearing for the applicant have stated that the applicant who is now old person aged about 70 years, has been falsely implicated in the present case. The applicant was neither named in the FIR lodged by the CBI nor committed any such offence as alleged in the FIR. Absolutely vague allegations have been made against the applicant in the FIR that he has concealed the real fact that the alleged Firm/Company was not functional and has given false status report to the Directors of Industries for onwards transmission of NCL. The matter is purely civil in nature and the applicant is being harassed by the agency by adding criminal colour to it, thus, no useful purpose would be served by keeping the applicant in custody. There is no apprehension of the applicant fleeing away from the justice or tampering with any evidence which is in the possession of C.B.I. and E.D.

9. Learned counsel for the applicant has also submitted that the charge-sheet has already been filed in the matter on 31.05.2012 and the applicant has not misused or abused the interim protection granted to him by various courts since then. Much reliance has been placed on the fact that in the charge-sheet filed by the CBI, no prosecution has been initiated against any of the erring officials of the NCL. The co-accused Ratan Singh, who is the Director of the Company M/s Jai Durga Industries Private Limited, had preferred a Writ Petition bearing No.6314 of 2020 before the High Court of Delhi wherein the High Court directed that his attached property shall be released subject to depositing of Rs.70,25,716.40/- which was the alleged proceeds of the Agreement. Learned counsel has next submitted that the co-accused Ratan Singh had already deposited the said amount before the Registrar General of Delhi High Court in compliance of the order dated 15.10.2020 passed in O.C. No.1263 of 2020. Learned counsel has next submitted that as the present subject matter pertains to the amount of Rs.70,25,716.40/- which has already been deposited by the co-accused Ratan Singh, no cause of action remains in the subject matter. It has further been submitted that there is no criminal history of the applicant except the present case. It was directed by the High Court to expedite the trial of the case but the same has proceeded in a snail's pace. It has further been argued that no complaint whatsoever has been lodged by the NCL or the Coal India Limited. Learned counsel for the applicant has further stated that the provision of Section 438 Cr.P.C. are attracted to the present case and there is no possibility of the applicant fleeing away from the judicial proceedings and in the light of the judgement of the Apex Court in Bhadresh Bipinbhai Sheth Vs. State of Gujarat2 and Siddharth Vs. State of Uttar Pradesh and another3, the applicant may be enlarged on anticipatory bail.

10. Per contra, Sri Anurag Kumar Singh, learned counsel for the CBI assisted by Sri Akhilendra Singh, Advocate has vehemently opposed the anticipatory bail application on the ground that the co-accused Ratan Singh, who is the Director of the alleged Company, with the help of the applicant, who was the then the then General Manager of DIC Chandauli, were indulged in diverting the coal at the controlled rate to the black market and extricated undue gain.

11. Learned counsel for the applicant has also relied upon the judgement of the Apex Court in the case of Sushila Aggarwal Vs. State (NCT of Delhi)4, wherein it has been held in paras-63, 69 and 75 which read as under:-

"63. Clearly, therefore, where Parliament wished to exclude or restrict the power of courts, under Section 438 of the Code, it did so in categorical terms. Parliament's omission to restrict the right of citizens, accused of other offences from the right to seek anticipatory bail, necessarily leads one to assume that neither a blanket restriction can be read into by this court, nor can inflexible guidelines in the exercise of discretion, be insisted upon- that would amount to judicial legislation.

69. It is important to notice here that there is nothing in the provisions of Section 438 which suggests that Parliament intended to restrict its operation, either as regards the time period, or in terms of the nature of the offences in respect of which, an applicant had to be denied bail, or which special considerations were to apply. In this context, it is relevant to recollect that the court would avoid imposing restrictions or conditions in a provision in the absence of an apparent or manifest absurdity, flowing from the plain and literal interpretation of the statute (Ref. Chandra Mohan v. State of Uttar Pradesh). In RBI v. Peerless General Finance and Investment Co. Ltd., the relevance of text and context was emphasized in the following terms:

"33. Interpretation must depend on the text and the context. They are the bases of interpretation. One may well say if the text is the texture, context is what gives the colour. Neither can be ignored. Both are important. That interpretation is best which makes the textual interpretation match the contextual. A statute is best interpreted when we know why it was enacted. With this knowledge, the statute must be read, first as a whole and then section by section, clause by clause, phrase by phrase and word by word. If a statute is looked at, in the context of its enactment, with the glasses of the statute-maker, provided by such context, its scheme, the sections, clauses, phrases and words may take colour and appear different than when the statute is looked at without the glasses provided by the context. With these glasses we must look at the Act as a whole and discover what each section, each clause, each phrase and each word is meant and designed to say as to fit into the scheme of the entire Act. No part of a statute and no word of a statute can be construed in isolation. Statutes have to be construed so that every word has a place and everything is in its place."

75. For the above reasons, the answer to the first question in the reference made to this bench is that there is no offence, per se, which stands excluded from the purview of Section 438, except the offences mentioned in Section 438(4). In other words, anticipatory bail can be granted, having regard to all the circumstances, in respect of all offences. At the same time, if there are indications in any special law or statute, which exclude relief under Section 438(1) they would have to be duly considered. Also, whether anticipatory offences should be granted, in the given facts and circumstances of any case, where the allegations relating to the commission of offences of a serious nature, with certain special conditions, is a matter of discretion to be exercised, having regard to the nature of the offences, the facts shown, the background of the applicant, the likelihood of his fleeing justice (or not fleeing justice);

likelihood of co-operation or non-co-operation with the investigating agency or police, etc. There can be no inflexible time frame for which an order of anticipatory bail can continue.

12. Learned counsel for the applicant has also placed reliance on para-91.1 of Sushila Aggarwal (Supra) which reads as under:-

91.1. Regarding Question No. 1, this court holds that the protection granted to a person under Section 438 Cr.PC should not invariably be limited to a fixed period; it should enure in favour of the accused without any restriction on time. Normal conditions under Section 437(3) read with Section 438(2) should be imposed; if there are specific facts or features in regard to any offence, it is open for the court to impose any appropriate condition (including fixed nature of relief, or its being tied to an event) etc."

13 . On the other hand, Sri Anurag Kumar Singh, learned counsel for the CBI has further placed reliance upon the judgement of Supreme Court in the case of Satender Kumar Antil Vs. Central Bureau of Investigation and another5 and has stated that according to the said judgement, the case of the applicant falls in the Category- B and D, hence, the provisions of Section 438 Cr.P.C. do not apply to the present case but he could not dispute the fact that the amount in question has already been deposited by the applicant.

14. Learned counsel on behalf of the applicant has placed much reliance on the order passed by the Apex Court in Miscellaneous Application No.1849 of 2021 passed in SLP (Criminal) No. 5191 of 2021, Satender Kumar Antil Vs. Central Bureau of Investigation and another dated 16.12.2021, wherein it has been clarified by the Apex Court as under:-

"We are also putting a caution that merely by categorizing certain offences as economic offences which may be non-cognizable, it does not mean that a different meaning is to be given to our order."

15. As per the judgment of the Supreme Court in the case of Bhadresh Bipinbhai Sheth Vs. State of Gujarat6, it has held that the nature and gravity of the accusation and the exact role of the accused must be properly comprehended, the previous criminal antecedents of the applicant whether he has previously undergone imprisonment on conviction, the possibility of applicant to flee and where the accusation has been made only with the object of injuring or humiliating the applicant by arresting him, are the circumstances that are to be taken into account as per Section 438 Cr.P.C.

16. It was observed by V.R. Krishnaiyer, J. in Gudikanti Narasimhulu and Others Vs. Public Prosecutor, High Court of Andhra Pradesh7 that:

"1. ..... The issue of (Bail) is one of liberty, justice, public safety and burden of the public treasury, all of which insist that a developed jurisprudence of bail is integral to a socially sensitized judicial process.

.... After all, personal liberty of an accused or convict is fundamental, suffering lawful eclipse only in terms of 'procedure established by law'. The last four words of Article 21 are the life of that human right."

17. Considering the facts and circumstances of the case and upon hearing the learned counsel for the parties and also perusing all the judgements referred hereinabove, this Court is of the view that since the charge-sheet was filed on 31.05.2012 and the applicant has not misused the liberty granted to him vide various orders, he is entitled to be enlarged on anticipatory bail.

18. In view of the above, the anticipatory bail application of the applicant is allowed. In the event of arrest, let the accused-applicant Ramji Singh, be released forthwith in Criminal Case No.12 of 2012 arising out of Case Crime/R.C. No. 0062011A0006 of 2011, under Sections 120-B, 420, 467, 468 and 471 IPC and Sections 13(2) read with 13(1)(d) of Prevention of Corruption Act, 1988, Police Station- CBI, ACB, Lucknow, District- Lucknow, on bail on furnishing a personal bond with two sureties each in the like amount to the satisfaction of the Station House Officer of the police station concerned with the following conditions:-

(i) that the applicant shall make himself available for interrogation by a police officer as and when required;

(ii) that the applicant shall not, directly or indirectly make any inducement, threat or promise to any person acquainted with the facts of the case so as to dissuade him from disclosing such facts to the court or to any police officer or tamper with the evidence;

(iii) that the applicant shall surrender his passport, if any, to the concerned trial Court forthwith. His passport will remain in custody of the concerned trial Court;

(iv) that the applicant shall not leave India during the pendency of trial without prior permission from the concerned trial Court;

(v) that in default of any of the conditions mentioned above, the investigating officer shall be at liberty to file appropriate application for cancellation of anticipatory bail granted to the applicant;

(vi) that it is directed that the trial may be concluded in accordance with law expeditiously, preferably, within a period of one year from the date of this order, independently without being prejudiced by any observations made by this court while considering or deciding the present anticipatory bail application of the applicant;

(vii) that in case charge-sheet is submitted the applicant shall not tamper with the evidence during the trial;

(viii) that the applicant shall not pressurize/ intimidate the prosecution witness;

(ix) that the applicant shall appear before the trial court on each date fixed unless personal presence is exempted;

19. In case of breach of any of the above conditions the court below shall have the liberty to cancel the bail.

Civil Law- The Limitation Act, 1963- Section 5- Inordinate delay of 15 years- The merits of this order are not of relevance so far as the present application under Section 5 of the Limitation Act is concerned. It must be remarked that there is nothing so startling or shockingly perverse about the order that may impel this Court, by a certain principle of remote resort, to cast aside the bar of a very long delay. There is indeed no mischief to be undone that may require the delay of 15 years in moving the present revision to be condoned. The explanation given by the applicant-revisionist, though involving the death of his Counsel, both father and son, instructed to appear in the case, yet those events too do not explain the long time period of 15 years and more in moving this Court against the order impugned.

Settled law that while considering an application for condonation of delay, where the delay is inordinate ,gross negligence on the part of the counsel or litigant is to be taken note of along with the lack of bonafides, conduct and behaviour of the party and the prejudice caused and merits of the case are not relevant.(Para 21)

Application for condonation of delay and memo of revision accordingly rejected. (E-3)

Order on Civil Misc. Delay Condonation Application No.426225 of 2015

1. This is a delay condonation application filed under Section 5 of the Limitation Act seeking to condone the delay in preferring the present Civil Revision under Section 115 of the Code of Civil Procedure.

2. The office has reported a delay of 15 years and 244 days, and by the present application, the applicant-revisionist asks this Court to condone the said delay.

3. The facts leading to this delay condonation application are required to be briefly recounted in order to appreciate whether a sufficient cause is made out to condone the long delay of 15 years and 244 days in preferring the Revision. The defendant is the judgment debtor of Original Suit No. 11 of 1982, which was decreed in favour of the plaintiff-opposite party no.1 on 19.05.1983. The suit was one for specific performance of contract relating to sale of land. The applicant-revisionist and the opposite party no.2 preferred a First Appeal to this Court being First Appeal No. 274 of 1983. The First Appeal aforesaid was partly allowed on 19.12.1997 and this Court directed the plaintiff-opposite party no.1 to deposit Rs.25,000/- within a period of four months. The plaintiff-opposite party no.1 was held entitled to adjustment of Rs.5,000/- while making the deposit, in case he had already made good that amount before the Execution Court.

4. Defendant no.2 to the suit i.e. the applicant-revisionist was ordered to join Dharampal, the defendant-proforma opposite party here, in execution of the sale deed in respect of whatever interest he acquired under the sale deed executed in his favour by Dharampal, subsequent to the suit agreement. It was further provided that in case the plaintiff fails to make good the deposit within the period of four months, it will be deemed that he is not ready and willing to perform his part of the suit agreement and the suit shall stand dismissed.

5. The plaintiff-opposite party no.1 moved Civil Misc. Time Extension No. 15351 of 1998 before this Court in First Appeal No. 274 of 1983 and prayed for extension of time by two months to deposit the sum of Rs.25,000/-, as directed by this Court. It appears that on 09.10.2003, Civil Misc. Time Extension Application No. 15351 of 1998 was rejected. On 01.07.1998, when Civil Misc. Time Extension Application aforesaid was pending before this Court, the plaintiff-opposite party no.1 moved Execution Case No. 5 of 1998 without depositing the balance consideration of Rs.20,000/-, the sum of Rs.5,000/- having already been deposited.

6. It is the judgment debtor's case that the opposite party did not comply with the judgment dated 19.12.1997 passed by this Court in First Appeal No. 274 of 1983, in consequence whereof his suit stands dismissed, in terms of the judgment and decree passed. It is averred in Paragraph No.10 of the affidavit that all these proceedings taken in appeal before this Court and the Execution Court were not within the applicant-revisionist's knowledge for reason that at the relevant time, the revisionist was a minor aged about six years. However, in the next Paragraph, it is averred that the time extension application was pending before this Court and for the said reason, the applicant-revisionist had no occasion to imagine that the the plaintiff-opposite party no.1 would go to the Execution Court and levy execution. It is also averred that no notice of execution was served upon the applicant-revisionist. There is an averment further that concealing all facts about the pendency of the time extension application and disobeying the orders of this Court dated 19.12.1997, by not depositing the additional sum of money towards consideration, as directed by this Court, the plaintiff-opposite party succeeded in his fraud to secure the impugned order dated 12.01.2000. It is submitted that when the plaintiff-opposite party no.1 came to take possession in the year 2006, the revisionist-judgment debtor became aware for the first time about the order dated 12.01.2000 passed in Execution Case No. 5 of 1998.

7. It is further pleaded that the applicant-revisionist came to know about the order dated 12.01.2000 in the month of December, 2006 and thereupon approached Mr. U.S.M. Tripathi, Advocate, High Court, who assured the revisionist that the order dated 12.01.2000 being one obtained by playing fraud upon the Execution Court, is liable to be set aside. It is also asserted that Mr. U.S.M. Tripathi, Advocate was ill at that time, when the revisionist met him, and he assured the revisionist that once he regains health, he would take appropriate action to get the order dated 12.01.2000 set aside. It is then asserted in Paragraph No.16 that the revisionist lost his son, Prince and himself developed some eye ailment. There are some medical reports annexed in support of the aforesaid averments. It is the revisionist's further case that when no status about the proceedings taken by Mr. U.S.M. Tripathi, Advocate against the order under challenge were intimated to him, he inquired about the current status of the case. The revisionist was informed by the learned Counsel that he had not been able to attend Court in all this while and, therefore, nothing has happened so far. It is asserted further that Mr. U.S.M. Tripathi, Advocate assured the revisionist that he would take necessary steps in the case at the earliest.

8. There is then a further averment that the applicant-revisionist has become blind in the left eye and met his Counsel, Mr. U.S.M. Tripathi, Advocate asking him to return his papers so that he could engage some other Counsel. It is asserted that on all these occasions that the applicant-revisionist contacted his Counsel, Mr. U.S.M. Tripathi, Advocate, the learned Counsel assured him that on regaining health, he would take the necessary steps. Unfortunately, in the year 2011, Mr. U.S.M. Tripathi, Advocate passed away after a long ailment. The aforesaid facts came to the revisionist's knowledge through a postcard sent by the office of Mr. Satyendra Mani Tripathi, Advocate, who had taken over Mr. U.S.M. Tripathi, Advocate's Chamber. He assured the applicant-revisionist that he would contest the case. The revisionist signed a fresh Vakalatnama, furnishing the necessary power to Mr. Satyendra Mani Tripathi, Advocate.

9. It is the applicant-revisionist's further case that in the month of January, 2013, Mr. Satyendra Mani Tripathi, Advocate filed Civil Misc. Application No. 38991 of 2013, under Article 215 of Constitution before this Court in First Appeal No. 274 of 1983, detailing all irregularities and fraud done by the plaintiff-opposite party no.1 before the Execution Court. The said application, however, was dismissed by this Court on 25.05.2015 with an observation that the applicant has a remedy under the Code of Civil Procedure. Thereupon, the applicant-revisionist was advised to prefer present a Civil Revision against the impugned order dated 12.01.2000 with the assurance that the cause would be pursued as per remedy available under the law.

10. It is stated that the learned Counsel for the applicant-revisionist, Mr. Satyendra Mani Tripathi, Advocate fell seriously ill and medical investigations revealed some serious health problems that prevented him from carrying out his daily routine of life. He underwent treatment at the Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai and unfortunately died in the month of September, 2015. The revisionist, hearing of the sad news, went to Mr. Satyendra Mani Tripathi's house in the second week of October, 2015, where his wife met the revisionist and asked him to come over after a week to collect his papers. Thereupon, on 26.12.2015, the applicant-revisionist collected the papers from the late Satyendra Mani Tripathi, Advocate's residence.

11. On 11.11.2015, the applicant-revisionist met Mr. Sanjeet Kumar Yadav, Advocate and left papers with him with a request that he may look into the case. On 16.11.2015, Mr. Sanjeet Kumar Yadav, Advocate advised the revisionist to file a civil revision against the impugned order dated 12.01.2000 before this Court. On 05.12.2015, the applicant-revisionist came over to him with the necessary expenses to institute the present civil revision against the order impugned dated 12.01.2000. Mr. Sanjeet Kumar Yadav, Advocate drafted the revision and upon completion of papers instituted the same on 09.12.2015.

12. It is on the basis of all these facts and events that the applicant-revisionist says that there is sufficient cause to condone the long delay of 15 years and 244 days in preferring the revisionist.

13. Heard Mr. Shrawan Kumar Pandey, learned Counsel for the applicant-revisionist in support of the delay condonation application and Mr. Kunal Ravi, learned Counsel for the respondents.

14. The delay is indeed very huge and the learned Counsel for plaintiff-opposite party no.2 submits that even without a counter affidavit, there is absolutely no cause to condone this mammoth delay of 15 years and much more in preferring the present civil revision.

15. The question about the principles on which a prayer for condonation of delay, particularly long ones, are to be considered and dealt with, were enumerated by the Supreme Court in Esha Bhattacharjee v. Managing Committee of Raghunathpur Nafar Academy and others, (2013) 12 SCC 649. In Esha Bhattacharjee (supra), it was held:

21. From the aforesaid authorities the principles that can broadly be culled out are:

21.1. (i) There should be a liberal, pragmatic, justice-oriented, non-pedantic approach while dealing with an application for condonation of delay, for the courts are not supposed to legalise injustice but are obliged to remove injustice.

21.2. (ii) The terms "sufficient cause" should be understood in their proper spirit, philosophy and purpose regard being had to the fact that these terms are basically elastic and are to be applied in proper perspective to the obtaining fact-situation.

21.3. (iii) Substantial justice being paramount and pivotal the technical considerations should not be given undue and uncalled for emphasis.

21.4. (iv) No presumption can be attached to deliberate causation of delay but, gross negligence on the part of the counsel or litigant is to be taken note of.

21.5. (v) Lack of bona fides imputable to a party seeking condonation of delay is a significant and relevant fact.

21.6. (vi) It is to be kept in mind that adherence to strict proof should not affect public justice and cause public mischief because the courts are required to be vigilant so that in the ultimate eventuate there is no real failure of justice.

21.7. (vii) The concept of liberal approach has to encapsulate the conception of reasonableness and it cannot be allowed a totally unfettered free play.

21.8. (viii) There is a distinction between inordinate delay and a delay of short duration or few days, for to the former doctrine of prejudice is attracted whereas to the latter it may not be attracted. That apart, the first one warrants strict approach whereas the second calls for a liberal delineation.

21.9. (ix) The conduct, behaviour and attitude of a party relating to its inaction or negligence are relevant factors to be taken into consideration. It is so as the fundamental principle is that the courts are required to weigh the scale of balance of justice in respect of both parties and the said principle cannot be given a total go by in the name of liberal approach.

21.10. (x) If the explanation offered is concocted or the grounds urged in the application are fanciful, the courts should be vigilant not to expose the other side unnecessarily to face such a litigation.

21.11. (xi) It is to be borne in mind that no one gets away with fraud, misrepresentation or interpolation by taking recourse to the technicalities of law of limitation.

21.12. (xii) The entire gamut of facts are to be carefully scrutinised and the approach should be based on the paradigm of judicial discretion which is founded on objective reasoning and not on individual perception.

21.13. (xiii) The State or a public body or an entity representing a collective cause should be given some acceptable latitude.

22. To the aforesaid principles we may add some more guidelines taking note of the present day scenario. They are:

22.1. (a) An application for condonation of delay should be drafted with careful concern and not in a haphazard manner harbouring the notion that the courts are required to condone delay on the bedrock of the principle that adjudication of a lis on merits is seminal to justice dispensation system.

22.2. (b) An application for condonation of delay should not be dealt with in a routine manner on the base of individual philosophy which is basically subjective.

22.3. (c) Though no precise formula can be laid down regard being had to the concept of judicial discretion, yet a conscious effort for achieving consistency and collegiality of the adjudicatory system should be made as that is the ultimate institutional motto.

22.4. (d) The increasing tendency to perceive delay as a non-serious matter and, hence, lackadaisical propensity can be exhibited in a nonchalant manner requires to be curbed, of course, within legal parameters.

16. In Majji Sannemma alias Sanyasirao v. Reddy Srivedi and others, 2021 SCC OnLine SC 1260, the Supreme Court very recently reversed an order of the High Court, condoning a delay of 1011 days in filing a second appeal, subject to payment of Rs.2000/- in cost. In Majji Sannemma alias Sanyasirao (supra), it was held:

"20. In the case of Basawaraj (supra), it is observed and held by this Court that the discretion to condone the delay has to be exercised judiciously based on facts and circumstances of each case. It is further observed that the expression "sufficient cause" cannot be liberally interpreted if negligence, inaction or lack of bona fides is attributed to the party. It is further observed that even though limitation may harshly affect rights of a party but it has to be applied with all its rigour when prescribed by statute. It is further observed that in case a party has acted with negligence, lack of bona fides or there is inaction then there cannot be any justified ground for condoning the delay even by imposing conditions. It is observed that each application for condonation of delay has to be decided within the framework laid down by this Court. It is further observed that if courts start condoning delay where no sufficient cause is made out by imposing conditions then that would amount to violation of statutory principles and showing utter disregard to legislature.

21. In the case of Pundlik Jalam Patil (supra), it is observed by this Court that the court cannot enquire into belated and stale claims on the ground of equity. Delay defeats equity. The Courts help those who are vigilant and "do not slumber over their rights".

22. Applying the law laid down by this Court in the aforesaid decisions to the facts of the case on hand and considering the averments in the application for condonation of delay, we are of the opinion that as such no explanation much less a sufficient or a satisfactory explanation had been offered by respondent Nos. 1 and 2 herein - appellants before the High Court for condonation of huge delay of 1011 days in preferring the Second Appeal. The High Court is not at all justified in exercising its discretion to condone such a huge delay. The High Court has not exercised the discretion judiciously. The reasoning given by the High Court while condoning huge delay of 1011 days is not germane. Therefore, the High Court has erred in condoning the huge delay of 1011 days in preferring the appeal by respondent Nos. 1 and 2 herein - original defendants. Impugned order passed by the High Court is unsustainable both, on law as well as on facts."

17. The sequence of events leading to the impugned order have to be seen in order to ascertain, whether the applicant-revisionist had knowledge of the proceedings and the order impugned order and whether he acted with due diligence, to entitle him to the condonation of delay spanning over a period of more than 15 years.

18. For one, First Appeal No. 274 of 1983 arose out of Original Suit No. 11 of 1982, decided by the District Judge of Fatehpur vide judgment and decree dated 19.05.1983. The applicant-revisionist/ judgment debtor, Sant Kumar was impleaded as a party to the suit as soon as the plaintiff-opposite party no.1, Nanku Singh learnt about execution of the sale deed in favour of Sant Kumar Singh by Dharampal, subsequent to the suit agreement in the plaintiff's favour..

19. The other relevant fact is that Sant Kumar Singh though a minor of six years when the suit was filed, impleading him through his guardian ad litem, Udaibhan Singh, but he came of age pending proceedings. The First Appeal was admitted to hearing on 19.05.1983, but decided on 19.07.1997. By that time, the revisionist, Sant Kumar Singh, who was a party to the First Appeal, must have turned a young man of 20 years. There is no reason why he would not know of the proceedings, after the appellate decree of this Court, including those of the Execution Case. Besides the aforesaid facts, it is beyond cavil that parties to the lis are relatives.

20. It has been recorded by this Court in the judgment rendered in First Appeal No. 274 of 1983 that the plaintiff, Nanaku Singh is admittedly the father-in-law of the defendant, Dharampal's daughter, Kamla. Sant Kumar Singh is the son of another daughter of Dharampal's, to wit, Natthi. In the conspectus of a close relationship between parties, it is difficult to infer lack of knowledge about proceedings taken before the Execution Court. The impugned order passed by the Execution Court is the result of an attempt by the judgment debtor to frustrate the decree, passed by this Court in First Appeal, on the ground that the enhanced sale consideration directed was not deposited within limitation.

21. For whatever reason assigned, the District Judge held that the sum of Rs.20,000/- required to be deposited under the decree of this Court was deposited within time, in terms of this Court's decree. The merits of this order are not of relevance so far as the present application under Section 5 of the Limitation Act is concerned. It must be remarked that there is nothing so startling or shockingly perverse about the order that may impel this Court, by a certain principle of remote resort, to cast aside the bar of a very long delay. There is indeed no mischief to be undone that may require the delay of 15 years in moving the present revision to be condoned. The explanation given by the applicant-revisionist, though involving the death of his Counsel, both father and son, instructed to appear in the case, yet those events too do not explain the long time period of 15 years and more in moving this Court against the order impugned.

22. In the considered opinion of this Court, there is no sufficient cause made out to condone the delay on the basis of which this Court may exercise its discretion in favour of the applicant-revisionist.

23. The application is, accordingly, dismissed.

Order on CIVIL REVISION DEFECTIVE No. - 253 of 2015

24. The delay condonation application filed in aid of the present belated revision having been rejected by my order of date, the memo of revision is rejected as barred by time.

Civil Law – Civil Procedure Code, 1908 - Section 24: - Transfer Application – to transfer the original Suit from district Basti to new district Sant Kabir Nagar – on the ground that the property in question & both the parties of suit are belongs to district Sant kabir Nagar - question of maintainability - suit was instituted in year 1994 at a time when the new district Sant Kabir Nagar had not been exist later on, in year 2008 said new district has been carved out - court find that, the venue of litigation, subject to territorial and other jurisdiction, ought to be convenient to parties - thus, transfer application is succeeds and is allowed - However, since suit is pending since last 27 years - therefore, the Trial Court shall proceed with the suit and shall conclude the trial within four months - direction accordingly.(Para – 6, 7, 9)

Transfer Application Allowed. (E-11)

(Delivered by Hon'ble J.J. Munir, J.)

1. This is an application, seeking transfer of Original Suit No.1099 of 1994, Sakir Vs. Ilake and others, from the Court of the Additional Civil Judge (Jr. Div.) Vth, Basti be transferred to the Court of competent jurisdiction at Sant Kabir Nagar.

2. Heard Mr. Hanuman Deen, learned Counsel for the applicants and Mr. Sheetala Prasad Pandey, learned Counsel appearing on behalf of the opposite party.

3. The opposite party has not filed a counter affidavit. As such, the averments in the affidavit remain unrebutted. However, the learned Counsel for the opposite party vehemently opposes the prayer for transfer on ground that will shortly be indicated.

4. According to the applicants, both parties are residents of Sant Kabir Nagar and the property is also located there. The suit was instituted prior to carvation of new District Sant Kabir Nagar in the year 1997. The Court was established later on. The submission is that now the said case ought to be transferred to the new judgeship of Sant Kabir Nagar.

5. The learned Counsel for the opposite party submits that the ground on which transfer sought is not tenable, because the trial of the suit at Basti is at a fairly advanced stage, where witnesses have been examined.

6. Upon consideration of the entire facts and circumstances, it is evident that the suit was instituted at a time when the new district of Sant Kabir Nagar had not been carved out of the existing District Basti. It is also not in dispute that the new district of Sant Kabir Nagar has been carved out in the year 2008. It is also common ground between parties that the suit property is located in the district of Sant Kabir Nagar now; not Basti. Quite apart, there is an averment in Paragraph No. 7 of the affidavit filed in support of the transfer application that both parties reside at District Sant Kabir Nagar and face much trouble in reaching the Court at Basti. The distance of District Court, Sant Kabir Nagar from the residence of both parties is about 10 kilometers. Moreover, the Courts at District Sant Kabir Nagar are now well established and promptly delivering judgments. It is also the applicants' case that the suit, that was instituted in the year 1994, is pending at Basti for the last 27 years.

7. This Court is of opinion that looking to the entire circumstances, the Court at Sant Kabir Nagar appears to be the Court within the local limits of which the immovable property, subject matter of the suit, is situate. More than that, both parties live in the district of Sant Kabir Nagar at a place that is close by to the new District Court, that has been established there. The venue of litigation, subject to territorial and other jurisdiction, ought to be that which is convenient to parties. The contention of the opposite party that the trial of the suit is at a fairly advanced stage at Basti, would be relevant as a plea against transfer, if and only if the opposite party were able to demonstrate that the Judge at Basti, before whom the witnesses have been examined, is the same learned Judge, who has heard these witnesses. This is neither the pleaded case of the opposite party, who has not filed a counter affidavit in any case nor any material on record pointed out that the ongoing trial at Basti is before a Judge, who has heard all witnesses and can deliver judgment. If some other Judge, different from the one who has heard witnesses at Basti, is to deliver judgment, it is of no consequence, whether the suit is heard at Basti or Sant Kabir Nagar. A Trial Judge gains his peculiar position by the fact that he is the same Judge, who has heard witnesses. If that be not so, the Trial Judge hardly fills the description of one. Since there is nothing to show that the Judge at Basti, who is hearing the matter is indeed the Judge, who has heard all witnesses or a substantial number of them, the Court at Sant Kabir Nagar, that is located closer to the residence of parties and is also the Court of territorial jurisdiction, ought to try the suit.

8. In the circumstances, this transfer application succeeds and is allowed.

9. Original Suit No.1099 of 1994, Sakir Vs. Ilake and others, is withdrawn from the file of the Additional Civil Judge (Jr. Div.) Vth, Basti and transferred to the District Judge at Sant Kabir Nagar, who shall assign the suit to the Court of competent jurisdiction for trial in accordance with law. In the circumstances that the suit is pending for the past 27 years, it is ordered that the Trial Court shall proceed with the suit, fixing two dates of effective hearing every week and shall conclude the trial within four months next after hearing parties and their witnesses, who have already not been examined. The District Judge, Basti shall cause the records of the case to be transmitted forthwith to the District Judge, Sant Kabir Nagar. .

10. Let a copy of this order be communicated to the Additional Civil Judge (Jr. Div.) Vth, Basti through the learned District Judge, Basti, the District Judge, Basti and the District Judge, Sant Kabir Nagar by the Registrar (Compliance).

15. Gautam Manubhai Makwana Vs St. of Guj., Criminal Appeal No.83 of 2008, decided on 11.9.2013

(Delivered by Hon'ble Nalin Kumar Srivastava, J.)

1. The instant Criminal Appeal has been directed against the judgment and order dated 2.3.2013 passed by the Special Judge (SC/ST Act) / Additional Sessions Judge, Ghaziabad in Sessions Trial No. 402 of 2008 (Case Crime No. 230 of 2007), P.S. Babugarh, District Ghaziabad convicting and sentencing the appellants under Section 302 I.P.C. read with Section 34 I.P.C. for life imprisonment and a fine of Rs. 10,000/- each with stipulation of default clause, under Section 354 IPC for one year rigorous imprisonment, under Section 452 IPC for two years rigorous imprisonment and under Section 3 (2)(v) The Scheduled Castes and the Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Act (in short "the SC/ST Act') for life imprisonment each and a fine of Rs. 5,000/- with stipulation of default clause.

2. Brief facts, as culled out from the record, are that a First Information Report was lodged by the informant, Sukhpal son of Ram Chandra, resident of village Garhi Hoshiyarpur, Police Station Babugarh, Ghaziabad, at Police Station Babugarh, District Ghaziabad with the averments that on 16.7.2007 at 11.30 a.m. when her niece Km. Laxmi, daughter of Kripal (Julaha), was present in the house, Pintu and Deepak sons of Satpal @ Sattu entered in the house and asked her as to why outstanding rent of Rs. 100/- for the video C.D. was not paid by her. Pintu inquired that many days ago he had given a letter to her and why she had not given answer? To this, niece of the informant objected and started scolding them. This angered the accused. Deepak brought the canister containing kerosene oil, opened the lid and poured upon the niece of informant at once and Pintu set her ablaze. On her shrieks, informant and other persons reached there and they both ran away. She was severely burnt and sent to Hapur for treatment.

3. On 19.7.2007, dying declaration of the victim (Ext. ka-9) was recorded by the Tehsildar. He also took her signature over the same. Victim was conscious at the time of statement.

4. On the basis of the written report (Ext. ka-1), chik First Information Report (Ext. Ka-5) was registered at Police Station concerned on 16.7.2007 at 12.35 p.m. against the accused appellants as case crime no. 230 of 2007. G.D. entry was also registered at the same time.

5. The F.I.R. was investigated by the Sub-Inspector of the concerned Police Station and subsequently it was investigated by the Station House Officer of the concerned Police Station. During course of investigation, the Investigating Officer recorded the statement of witnesses and victim, prepared site plan, inquest report was prepared and post mortem was performed. The investigation was over and after completing all formalities, charge sheet was submitted against the accused appellants. The learned Magistrate summoned the accused and committed the case to Court of Sessions, as prima facie charges were for the sessions triable offences.

6. The Court of Sessions framed the charges as accused were summoned in commission of the offence under Sections 452, 354, 302/34, 504, 506 IPC and Section 3(2)(v) SC/ST Act. The accused pleaded not guilty and wanted to be tried. Trial started and in support of its case, prosecution examined 14 witnesses, who are as follows:

1	Kripal	PW-1 (father of the deceased)
2	Sukhpal	PW-2 (informant) (uncle of deceased)
3	Mithlesh	PW-3
4	Savitri	PW-4 (aunt of deceased)
5	Kamlesh	PW-5
6	Raju @ Raj Kumar	PW-6
7	Ummed Singh	PW-7
8	Rumal Singh	PW-8
9	Indrajeet	PW-9 (witness of recovery)
10	Praveen Kumar Tyagi	PW-10 (Investigating Officer-II)
11	H.C.P. Rampal Singh	PW-11 (scribe of the F.I.R.)
12	S.I. Bijendra Singh	PW-12 (Investigating Officer-I)
13	Harish Chandra Pandey	PW-13 (Technical Assistant posted in G.T.B. Hospital, Delhi, who proved the writing and signature of Dr R.P. Singh, who performed the post mortem of the deceased.

14	Suryabhan Giri	PW-14 (Tehsildar, who recorded the dying declaration of the deceased)

7. In support of oral version, following documents were filed and proved on behalf of the prosecution:

1	Written report	Ext. A-1
2	Memo of recovery of vacant canister	Ext. A-2
3	Letter of deceased	Ext. A-3
4	Memo of recovery of cloths of deceased	Ext. A-4
5	Chik F.I.R.	Ext. A-5
6	G.D.	Ext. A-6
7	Post Mortem Report	Ext. A-7
8	Charge sheet	Ext. A-8
9	Dying declaration of the deceased	Ext. A-9

8. Deceased was hospitalised after the occurrence. She died after 17 days of the occurrence during the course of treatment.

9. After conclusion of evidence, statements of accused were recorded under Section 313 of Cr.P.C., in which they pleaded their innocence and false implication. In support of its case defence has examined DW-1 Kajal, DW-2 Pramod Kumar and DW-3 Ashok Kumar.

10. Heard Shri Satish Trivedi, learned Senior Advocate assisted by Shri Sheshadri Trivedi, learned counsel for the appellants and Shri Patanjali Mishra, learned AGA for the State.

11. Learned Senior Advocate appearing for the appellants submitted that accused persons have been falsely implicated in this case. They have not committed the present offence. It is further submitted by learned counsel that all the witnesses of fact have turned hostile and have not supported the prosecution version and on the basis of analysis of their evidence, no guilt against the accused appellants is established and proved. Learned Senior Counsel for the appellants next submitted that in this case there are two dying declarations i.e. one recorded by the Investigating Officer in the form of statement under Section 161 CrPC and the other by the Tehsildar. When two sets of dying declarations are available and same are contrary to each other, the subsequent dying declaration implicating the appellants could not have been believed and accepted and on the basis of the said dying declaration the appellants could not have been held guilty for a serious offence of murder. It is further submitted that the dying-declarations of the deceased were recorded when she was surviving, but the same have no corroboration with any prosecution evidence. All the witnesses of fact have turned hostile and nobody supported the prosecution version. Therefore, learned trial court committed grave error by convicting the accused on the basis of dying-declaration only when it was not corroborated at all. Offence under Section 3(2) (v) SC/ST Act is not made out, as F.I.R. nowhere states that the deceased was belonging to a particular community. No documentary evidence to prove that the deceased was belonging to Scheduled Caste or Scheduled Tribe, has been produced either before Investigating Officer or Sessions Court.

12. Learned Senior Counsel for the appellants additionally submitted that if, for the sake of argument, it is assumed that appellants have committed the offence, in that case also no offence under Section 302 IPC is made out. Maximum this case can travel up to the limits of offence under Section 304 IPC because the deceased died after 17 days of the occurrence due to developing the infection in her burn-wounds, i.e., septicaemia. As per catena of judgments of Hon'ble Apex Court and this Court, offence cannot travel beyond section 304 IPC, in case the death occurred due to septicaemia. Learned Senior Counsel for the appellants also submitted that autopsy report also shows that cause of death was septicaemic shock due to ante mortem flame burning. Learned counsel relied on the judgment in the case of Maniben vs. State of Gujarat [2009 Lawsuit SC 1380], and the judgment in Criminal Appeal Nos.1438 of 2010 and 1439 of 2010 dated 7.10.2017 and judgment of Criminal Appeal No.2558 of 2011 delivered on 1.2.2021 by this Court and several other judgments.

13. No other point or argument was raised by the learned Senior Counsel for the appellants and he confined his arguments on above points only.

14. Learned AGA, per contra, vehemently opposed the arguments placed by counsel for the appellants and submitted that conviction of accused can be based only on the basis of dying-declaration, if it is wholly reliable. It requires no corroboration. Moreover, testimony of hostile witnesses can also be relied upon to the extent it supports the prosecution case. Learned trial court has rightly convicted the appellants under Section 302 IPC and sentenced accordingly. Offence under Section 3(2)(v) SC/ST Act is clearly made out against the appellants. There is no merit in the appeal and the same may be dismissed.

15. First of all learned counsel for the appellants has raised the issue relating to the hostility of the witnesses. Witnesses of the fact were examined before learned trial court. All the witnesses have turned hostile but the testimony of hostile witnesses cannot be thrown away just on the basis of the fact that they have not supported the prosecution case and were cross-examined by the prosecutor. The testimony of hostile witnesses can be relied upon to the extent it supports the prosecution case. Needless to say that the testimony of hostile witnesses should be scrutinized meticulously and very cautiously.

16. While examining the testimonies of witnesses of fact PW-1, PW-2, PW-3, PW-4, PW-5, PW-6, PW-7, PW-8 and PW-9, it appears that they have denied the fact as to who was the main assailant and who set ablaze the victim and on this point they have been declared hostile by the prosecution and cross-examination has been conducted by the prosecution but it is very significant to note that from the entire deposition of the aforesaid witnesses it is quite clear that they admitted some significant points which are helpful to the prosecution case. They have admitted the burning of the victim, her hospitalization, date, time and place of the occurrence, hence except the name of the offenders, they have admitted all the facts relating to the occurrence.

17. Hon'ble Apex Court in Koli Lakhmanbhai Chandabhai vs. State of Gujarat [1999 (8) SCC 624], as held that evidence of hostile witness can be relied upon to the extent it supports the version of prosecution and it is not necessary that it should be relied upon or rejected as a whole. It is settled law that evidence of hostile witness also can be relied upon to the extent to which it supports the prosecution version. Evidence of such witness cannot be treated as washed off the record. It remains admissible in the trial and there is no legal bar to base the conviction upon testimony of such witness if corroborated by other reliable evidence.

18. In Ramesh Harijan vs. State of U.P. [2012 (5) SCC 777], the Hon'ble Apex Court has also held that it is settled legal position that the evidence of a prosecution witness cannot be rejected in toto merely because the prosecution chose to treat him as hostile and cross-examined him. The evidence of such witness cannot be treated as effaced or washed off the record altogether.

19. In State of U.P. vs. Ramesh Prasad Misra and another [1996 AIR (Supreme Court) 2766], the Hon'ble Apex Court held that evidence of a hostile witnesses would not be totally rejected if spoken in favour of the prosecution or the accused but required to be subjected to close scrutiny and that portion of the evidence which is consistent with the case of the prosecution or defence can be relied upon. Thus, the law can be summarized to the effect that evidence of a hostile witness cannot be discarded as a whole, and relevant part thereof, which are admissible in law, can be used by prosecution or the defence.

20. Perusal of impugned judgment shows that learned trial court has scrutinised the evidence on record very carefully.

21. As far as the dying-declaration is concerned, it was recorded by Shri Surya Bhan Giri, Tehsildar, who was examined as PW-14. Dying-declaration was recorded by him after obtaining the certificate of mental-fitness from doctor in the hospital.

22. Learned Senior Counsel for the appellants has argued that in this matter two dying declarations have been recorded and same are doubtful and not corroborated by witnesses of fact, hence, it cannot be the sole basis of conviction. Legal position of dying declaration to be the sole basis of conviction is that it can be done so if it is not tutored, made voluntarily and is wholly reliable.

23. PW-12, the Investigating Officer, who is said to be recorded the statement under Section 161 CrPC of the deceased when she was injured but utter surprise to the Court not a single word has been stated by him in examination-in-chief regarding recording of statement of injured / deceased under Section 161 CrPC (then alive). It is for the first time in his cross-examination, PW-12 has stated whatsoever was stated by the deceased in her statement under Section 161 CrPC (then alive). No doubt statement recorded by the Investigating Officer during course of the investigation of the victim or injured may be treated as dying declaration if subsequently he / she dies so far as it relates to the cause of death but law of evidence requires that such statement must be proved in the Court in due course of law. The said statement should find place in verbatim in the statement of the Investigating Officer and the relevant portion of the statement should be exhibited before the Court during deposition of the Investigating Officer as prosecution witness. But in the matter in hand the aforesaid procedure has not been followed and that is why whatsoever was stated allegedly by the deceased (then alive) cannot be termed the statement of the victim as dying declaration in strict legal sense. That is why we are bound to opine that in the present case the statement under Section 161 CrPC of the victim recorded by the Investigating Officer cannot be termed as "dying declaration' and as such there is only one dying declaration on record which was recorded by the PW-14.

24. Hon'ble Apex Court has summarized the law relating to dying declaration in Lakhan vs. State of Madhya Pradesh [(2010) 8 Supreme Court Cases 514], in this case, Hon'ble Apex Court held that the doctrine of dying declaration is enshrined in the legal maxim nemo moriturus praesumitur mentire, which means, "a man will not meet his Maker with a lie in his mouth". The doctrine of dying declaration is enshrined in Section 32 of Evidence Act, 1872, as an exception to the general rule contained in Section 60 of Evidence Act, which provides that oral evidence in all cases must be direct, i.e., it must be the evidence of a witness, who says he saw it. The dying declaration is, in fact, the statement of a person, who cannot be called as witness and, therefore, cannot be cross-examined. Such statements themselves are relevant facts in certain cases.

25. The law on the issue of dying declaration can be summarized to the effect that in case the court comes to the conclusion that the dying declaration is true and reliable, has been recorded by a person at a time when the deceased was fit physically and mentally to make the declaration and it has not been made under any tutoring/duress/prompting; it can be the sole basis for recording conviction. In such an eventuality no corroboration thereof is required. It is also held by Hon'ble Apex Court in the aforesaid case, that a dying declaration recorded by a competent Magistrate would stand on a much higher footing than the declaration recorded by office of lower rank, for the reason that the competent Magistrate has no axe to grind against the person named in the dying declaration of the victim.

26. Deceased survived for 17 days after the incident took place. Her dying declaration was recorded by PW-14, Tehsildar after obtaining the certificate of medical fitness from the concerned doctor. This dying declaration was proved by him as Ext. ka-9. This witness is absolutely an independent witness and has no grudge or enmity to the convicts at all. PW-14 in his deposition has stated that the victim / injured in her statement had narrated that:

"वह दिनांक 16.07.2007 को सुबह 7.30 बजे स्कूल जाने के लिए अपने भाई बहिनों को तैयार कर रही थी। क्योंकि मेरी मां घर पर नहीं थी। वह हमारे पिताजी के पास दिल्ली गयी थी। हमारे पिताजी दिल्ली में मेहनत मजदूरी करते थे। इसलिये उस दिन घर पर नही थी। उसने आगे बताया कि मै अपने भाई बहिनों को तैयार कर स्कूल छोड़कर घर वापस आ गयी, घर वापस आने पर मैं अपने घर पर काम कर रही थी। तभी दीपक व पिन्टू मेरे घर में घूसे और मां के बारे में पूछा तो उसने आगे बताया कि मैंने उन्हें माँ के घर में न होने की बात कही तभी

दोनों पिन्टू व दीपक ने मेरे साथ मेरी इज्जत लूटने के लिए बेइज्जती करने लगे। मैं बहुत छटपटाई और आंह?-2 मैं चिल्लाती रही। मेरे चिल्लाना देखकर उन दोनों ने (पिन्टू व दीपक) ने पास में पड़ी मिट्टी के (कागज फटा) की ढिबरी जिसमें मिट्टी का तेल पड़ा हुआ था (कागज फटा) उपर मिट्टी का तेल उढेलकर आग लगा दी। आग लगते ही जलन को मैं छटपटाने लगी तथा वहां से उठकर मेरे पड़ोस में अपने ताई के घर भाग कर गई, जहां ताई के परिवार वालों ने मेरी आग बुझाई।'

27. In the wake of aforesaid judgment of Lakhan (supra), dying declaration cannot be disbelieved, if it inspires confidence. On reliability of dying declaration and acting on it without corroboration, Hon'ble Apex Court held in Krishan vs. State of Haryana [(2013) 3 Supreme Court Cases 280] that it is not an absolute principle of law that a dying declaration cannot form the sole basis of conviction of an accused. Where the dying declaration is true and correct, the attendant circumstances show it to be reliable and it has been recorded in accordance with law, the deceased made the dying declaration of her own accord and upon due certification by the doctor with regard to the state of mind and body, then it may not be necessary for the court to look for corroboration. In such cases, the dying declaration alone can form the basis for the conviction of the accused. Hence, in order to pass the test of reliability, a dying declaration has to be subjected to a very close scrutiny, keeping in view the fact that the statement has been made in the absence of the accused, who had no opportunity of testing the veracity of the statement by cross-examination. But once, the court has come to the conclusion that the dying declaration was the truthful version as to the circumstance of the death and the assailants of the victim, there is no question of further corroboration.

28. In Ramilaben Hasmukhbhai Khristi vs. State of Gujarat, [(2002) 7 SCC 56], the Hon'ble Apex Court held that under the law, dying declaration can form the sole basis of conviction, if it is free from any kind of doubt and it has been recorded in the manner as provided under the law. It may not be necessary to look for corroboration of the dying declaration. As envisaged, a dying declaration is generally to be recorded by an Executive Magistrate with the certificate of a medical doctor about the mental fitness of the declarant to make the statement. It may be in the from of question and answer and the answers be written in the words of the person making the declaration. But the court cannot be too technical and in substance if it feels convinced about the trustworthiness of the statement which may inspire confidence such a dying declaration can be acted upon without any corroboration.

29. From the above case laws, it clearly emerges that it is not an absolute principle of law that a dying declaration cannot form the sole basis of conviction of an accused when such dying declaration is true, reliable and has been recorded in accordance with established practice and principles and if it is recorded so then there cannot be any challenge regarding its correctness and authenticity.

30. In dying declaration of deceased, it is also important to note that it was recorded on 19.7.2007 and the deceased died on 2.8.2007 while the incident took place on 16.7.2007. It means that she remained alive for 14 days after making dying declaration. Therefore, truthfulness of dying declaration can further be evaluated from the fact that she survived for 14 days after making it from which it can reasonably be inferred that she was in a fit mental condition to make the statement at the relevant time. Moreover, in the dying declaration, the deceased did not unnecessarily involved the other family members of the accused appellants. She only attributed the role of burning to the accused appellants, who were actual culprit.

31. In such a situation, the hostility of witnesses of fact cannot demolish the value and reliability of the dying declaration of the deceased, which has been proved by prosecution in accordance with law and is a truthful version of the event that occurred and also of the circumstances leading to her death.

32. As already noticed, none of the witnesses or the authorities involved in recording the dying declaration had turned hostile. On the contrary, they have fully supported the case of prosecution. The dying declaration is reliable, truthful and was voluntarily made by the deceased, hence, this dying declaration Ext. ka-9 can be acted upon without corroboration and can be made the sole basis of conviction. Hence, learned trial court has committed no error on acting on the sole basis of dying declaration. Learned trial court was completely justified in placing reliance on dying declaration and convicting the accused-appellants on the basis thereof.

33. Although no specific defence has been taken in their statement under Section 313 CrPC by the convicts / appellants but they have adduced oral evidence and have relied upon the statement of DW-1, DW-2 and DW-3, who stated that the deceased herself set her ablaze at the time of occurrence and there was no fault of the accused persons.

34. DW-1 is the sister of the deceased. In her examination-in-chief she has stated that on the fateful day she was present at her house when the accused persons came over there and demanded Rs. 100/- for C.D. and a quarrel took place; her sister herself poured kerosene over her and set her ablaze herself but in the cross-examination she has admitted that on the day of occurrence, she had gone to her school and does not remember whether the deceased herself set her ablaze or any one else set her ablaze.

35. DW-2 in his examination-in-chief has also stated that there was some letter of the deceased which was in the possession of Bala. Feeling ashamed of this Laxmi herself had set her ablaze by pouring kerosene over her. He was present at the time of occurrence and the accused persons did not set her ablaze. He has also stated that occurrence took place at 11.00-11.30 a.m.. However, in his cross-examination he has admitted that he usually goes to his field in the morning at 7.00 a.m.. He has not clarified this fact in his deposition that as to why he was present on the spot at about 11.00 - 11.30 a.m. when at 7.00 a.m. only he used to go to his field.

36. Hence, DW-1 and DW-2 both are not reliable witnesses and same is the position of the deposition of DW-3 who has admitted that he has reached the spot after the deceased was set ablaze. Hence, he is not the eye witness of the occurrence.

37. Learned trial court has discussed the evidence of DW-1, DW-2 and DW-3 and has opined that the defence gets no help from the depositions of the aforesaid witnesses and we concur with the same.

38. So far as the submission that offence under Section 3(2)(v) SC/ST Act is not made out against the appellants is concerned, in this matter the F.I.R., in the case at hand, was lodged by the brother of the deceased. Whether it can be said that the incident was committed on the ground that the deceased belonged to a particular community falling in the term 'Scheduled Castes' or 'Scheduled Tribes' so as to attract the provision of Section 3 (2) (v) of SC/ST Act, the F.I.R. is silent about this aspect. Documentary evidence showing as to what caste to the deceased belonged, has not been brought on record. For attracting the provisions of Section 3(2) (v) of SC/ST Act, there should be corroboration by way of documentary evidence to prove that the injured / deceased, to whom the act is committed, belongs to 'Scheduled Castes' or 'Scheduled Tribes'. Just because a person belongs to and says so, will it be a piece of evidence? It is nobody's case that the appellants committed this crime on the ground that the deceased belonged to a particular community. Even if we believe that there is no documentary evidence and that the deceased belongs to the community which is alleged then also can it be said that the offence has been committed as she belongs to a particular community? This is moot question which arises before us.

39. In Ram Das vs. State of U.P., AIR 2007 SC 155 wherein there was rape on woman belonging to Scheduled Caste, it was held that these could be no ground to convict the accused under Section 3 (2) (v) when there was no evidence to support the charge under Section 3 (2) (v) of SC/ST Act. Mere fact that victim happened to be a girl belonging to Scheduled Caste did not attract provisions of SC/ST Act.

40. In Dharmendra vs. State of U.P., 2011 Cri LJ 204 (All), the Court has held that there was no evidence on record to show that incident was caused by the accused on the ground that victim belonged to Scheduled Caste. Fact of victim, belonging to Scheduled Caste by itself was not sufficient ground to bring case within the purview of Section 3 (2) (v) of Act. Conviction under Section 3 (2) (v) was improper.

41. In State of Gujarat v. Munna, 2016 Cri LJ 4097 (Guj), the Court held as under:

"In the instant case, so far as the charge against the accused for the offence punishable under Section 3 (2) (v) of the Atrocity Act, 1989 was concerned, from the deposition of the witnesses it had not come out that the accused committed the offence against the deceased on the ground that deceased was a member of Scheduled Caste or Scheduled Tribe. In absence of such evidence it could not be said that the original accused had committed the offence punishable under Section 3 (2) (v) of the Atrocity Act, 1989. Under the circumstances on the basis of the evidence of record the accused could not be held guilty for the aforesaid offence."

42. Decision of the Division Bench of this Court in case of Criminal Appeal No. 204 of 2021 (Vishnu vs. State of U.P.) decided on 28.1.2021 penned by one of us (Dr. K.J. Thaker, J.) held as under :

"38. Section 3(2)(v) of Scheduled Casts and Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Act, 1989 is concerned, the FIR and the evidence though suggests that any one or any act was done by the accused on the basis that the prosecutrix was a member of Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes then the accused can be convicted for commission of offence under the said provision. The learned Trial Judge has materially erred as he has not discuss what is the evidence that the act was committed because of the caste of the prosecutrix. The sister-in-law of the prosecutrix had filed such cases, her husband and father-in-law had also filed complaints. We are unable to accept the submission of learned AGA that the accused knowing fully well that the prosecutrix belongd to lower strata of life and therefore had caused her such mental agony which would attract the provision of Section 3(2)(v) of the Atrocities Act. The reasoning of the learned Judge are against the record and are perverse as the learned Judge without any evidence on record on his own has felt that the heinous crime was committed because the accused had captured the will of the prosecutrix and because the police officer had investigated the matter as a attrocities case which would not be undertaken within the purview of Section 3(2)(v) of Atrocities Act and has recorded conviction under Section 3(2)(v) of Act which cannot be sustained. We are supported in our view by the judgment of Gujarat High Court in Criminal Appeal No.74 of 2006 in the case of Pudav Bhai Anjana Patel Versus State of Gujarat decided on 8.9.2015 by Justice M.R. Shah and Justice Kaushal Jayendra Thaker (as he then was).

39. Learned Judge comes to the conclusion that as the prosecutrix belonged to community falling in the scheduled caste and the appellant falling in upper caste the provision of SC/ST Act are attracted in the present case.

40. While perusing the entire evidence beginning from FIR to the statements of PWs-1, 2 and 3 we do not find that commission of offence was there because of the fact that the prosecutrix belonged to a certain community.

41. The learned Judge further has not put any question in the statement recorded under Section 313 of the accused relating to rape or statement which is against him.

42. In view of the facts and evidence on record, we are convinced that the accused has been wrongly convicted, hence, the judgment and order impugned is reversed and the accused is acquitted. The accused appellant, if not warranted in any other case, be set free forthwith."

43. Initially the case was registered under Sections 452, 326 IPC. Section 3(2)(v) SC/ST Act was added during investigation but on what basis it was added has no where been clarified by PW-12 and PW-10 in their testimonies, who are said to be the I and II Investigating Officers of the case, respectively. It is pertinent to mention here that neither in the F.I.R. nor in the depositions of the witnesses of fact it has been mentioned any where that the deceased belonged to SC/ST community and the offence was committed due to her caste.

44. In the case at hand, no independent witness has been examined who would have deposed that the accused committed the offence on the ground that deceased belonged to a community covered under SC/ST Act. This omission proves fatal to the prosecution in such a vital matter where punishment is for life imprisonment. There is no deeming provision under SC/ST Act. In view of the above, we cannot concur with the learned Sessions Judge as the evidence which has been laid before the learned judge has been misread by learned Sessions Judge in this context and he has misconstrued the provisions of Section 3 (2) (v) of SC/ST Act. Hence, conviction and sentence under Section 3 (2) (v) SC/ST Act of the accused-appellants is, set aside.

45. Now we come to the point of argument raised by learned Senior Counsel for the appellants that deceased died due to septicaemia, hence this case falls within the ambit of Section 304 IPC and not under Section 302 IPC. In this regard, learned counsel has submitted that deceased died after 17 days of incident due to the poisonous infection developed in her burn injuries, which could be avoided by good treatment. There was no intention of the appellants to cause the death of the deceased.

46. It is admitted fact that the deceased died after 17 days of burning and post mortem report goes to show that she died due to septicaemic shock by reason of ante mortem flame burning. Though doctor, who has performed the autopsy of the deceased, could not be examined yet the Technical Assistant posted in G.T.B. Hospital, Delhi, has proved the writing and signature of Dr R.P. Singh before the Court and he has been examined as PW-13. It has been specifically mentioned in the post mortem report that the cause of death was septicaemic shock due to ante mortem flame burning. Hence, the death of the deceased was septicaemial death.

47. The finding of fact regarding the presence of witnesses at the place of occurrence cannot be faulted with. Death of deceased was a homicidal death. The fact that it was a homicidal death takes this Court to most vexed question whether it would fall within the four-corners of murder or culpable homicide not amounting to murder. Therefore, we are considering the question whether it would be a murder or culpable homicide not amounting to murder and punishable under Section 304 IPC.

48. In State of Uttar Pradesh vs. Mohd. Iqram and another, [(2011) 8 SCC 80], the Apex Court has made the following observations in paragraph 26, therein:

"26. Once the prosecution has brought home the evidence of the presence of the accused at the scene of the crime, then the onus stood shifted on the defence to have brought-forth suggestions as to what could have brought them to the spot in the dead of night. The accused were apprehended and, therefore, they were under an obligation to rebut this burden discharged by the prosecution and having failed to do so, the trial-court was justified in recording its findings on this issue. The High Court committed an error by concluding that the prosecution had failed to discharge its burden. Thus, the judgment proceeds on a surmise that renders it unsustainable."

49. In Bengai Mandal alias Begai Mandal vs. State of Bihar [(2010) 2 SCC 91], incident occurred on 14.7.1996, while the deceased died on 10.8.1996 due to septicaemia caused by burn injuries. The accused was convicted and sentenced for life imprisonment under Section 302 IPC, which was confirmed in appeal by the High Court, but Hon'ble The Apex Court converted the case under Section 304 Part-II IPC on the ground that the death ensued after twenty-six days of the incident as a result of septicaemia and not as a consequence of burn injuries and, accordingly, sentenced for seven years' rigorous imprisonment.

50. In Maniben vs. State of Gujarat [(2009) 8 SCC 796], the incident took place on 29.11.1984. The deceased died on 7.12.1984. Cause of death was the burn injuries. The deceased was admitted in the hospital with about 60 per cent burn injuries and during the course of treatment developed septicaemia, which was the main cause of death of the deceased. Trial-court convicted the accused under Section 304 Part-II IPC and sentenced for five years' imprisonment, but in appeal, High Court convicted the appellants under Section 302 IPC. Hon'ble The Apex Court has held that during the aforesaid period of eight days, the injuries aggravated and worsened to the extent that it led to ripening of the injuries and the deceased died due to poisonous effect of the injuries. Accordingly, judgment and order convicting the accused under Section 304 Part-II IPC by the trial-court was maintained and the judgment of the High Court was set aside.

51. In Chirra Shivraj vs. State of Andhra Pradesh [(2010) 14 SCC 444], incident took place on 6. Deceased was hospitalised after the occurrence by the accused persons themselves. She died after 4 days of the occurrence during the course of treatment.

52. We can safely rely upon the decision of the Gujarat High court in Criminal Appeal No.83 of 2008 (Gautam Manubhai Makwana Vs. State of Gujarat) decided on 11.9.2013 wherein the Court held as under:

"12. In fact, in the case of Krishan vs. State of Haryana reported in (2013) 3 SCC 280, the Apex Court has held that it is not an absolute principle of law that a dying declaration cannot form the sole basis of conviction of an accused. Where the dying declaration is true and correct, the attendant circumstances show it to be reliable and it has been recorded in accordance with law, the deceased made the dying declaration of her own accord and upon due certification by the doctor with regard to the state of mind and body, then it may not be necessary for the court to look for corroboration. In such cases, the dying declaration alone can form the basis for the conviction of the accused. But where the dying declaration itself is attended by suspicious circumstances, has not been recorded in accordance with law and settled procedures and practices, then, it may be necessary for the court to look for corroboration of the same.

13. However, the complaint given by the deceased and the dying declaration recorded by the Executive Magistrate and the history before the doctor is consistent and seems to be trustworthy. The same is also duly corroborated with the evidence of witnesses and the medical reports as well as panchnama and it is clear that the deceased died a homicidal death due to the act of the appellants in pouring kerosene and setting him ablaze. We do find that the dying declaration is trust worthy.

14. However, we have also not lost sight of the fact that the deceased had died after a month of treatment. From the medical reports, it is clear that the deceased suffered from Septicemia which happened due to extensive burns.

15. In the case of the B.N. Kavatakar and another (supra), the Apex Court in a similar case of septicemia where the deceased therein had died in the hospital after five days of the occurrence of the incident in question, converted the conviction under section 302 to under section 326 and modified the sentence accordingly.

15.1 Similarly, in the case of Maniben (supra), the Apex Court has observed as under:

"18. The deceased was admitted in the hospital with about 60% burn injuries and during the course of treatment developed septicemia, which was the main cause of death of the deceased. It is, therefore, established that during the aforesaid period of 8 days the injuries aggravated and worsened to the extent that it led to ripening of the injuries and the deceased died due to poisonous effect of the injuries.

19. It is established from the dying declaration of the deceased that she was living separately from her mother-in-law, the appellant herein, for many years and that on the day in question she had a quarrel with the appellant at her house. It is also clear from the evidence on record that immediately after the quarrel she along with her daughter came to fetch water and when she was returning, the appellant came and threw a burning tonsil on the clothes of the deceased. Since the deceased was wearing a terylene cloth at that relevant point of time, it aggravated the fire which caused the burn injuries.

20. There is also evidence on record to prove and establish that the action of the appellant to throw the burning tonsil was preceded by a quarrel between the deceased and the appellant. From the aforesaid evidence on record it cannot be said that the appellant had the intention that such action on her part would cause the death or such bodily injury to the deceased, which was sufficient in the ordinary course of nature to cause the death of the deceased. Therefore, in our considered opinion, the case cannot be said to be covered under clause (4) of Section 300 of IPC. We are, however, of the considered opinion that the case of the appellant is covered under Section 304 Part II of IPC."

16. In the present case, we have come to the irresistible conclusion that the role of the appellants is clear from the dying declaration and other records. However, the point which has also weighed with this court are that the deceased had survived for around 30 days in the hospital and that his condition worsened after around 5 days and ultimately died of septicemia. In fact he had sustained about 35% burns. In that view of the matter, we are of the opinion that the conviction of the appellants under section 302 of Indian Penal Code is required to be converted to that under section 304(I) of Indian Penal Code and in view of the same appeal is partly allowed.

53. On the overall scrutiny of the facts and circumstances of the case coupled with medical evidence, the opinion of the Medical Officer, the dying declaration and considering the principle laid down by the Courts in above referred case laws, we are of the considered opinion that in the case at hand, the offence would be punishable under Section 304 (Part-I) IPC. It is pertinent to note here that the offence under Sections 452 and 354 IPC are also proved beyond reasonable doubt on the basis of dying declaration.

54. From the upshot of the aforesaid discussions it appears that the death caused by the accused persons was not pre-meditated. Hence the instant case falls under the exceptions (1) and (4) to Section 300 of IPC. While considering Section 299 IPC, offence committed will fall under Section 304 (Part-I) IPC.

55. In view of the aforesaid discussions, we are of the view that appeal is liable to be partly allowed and the conviction of the appellants under Section 302 / 34 IPC is liable to be converted into conviction under Section 304 (Part-I) IPC and fine amount is liable to be maintained. The convicts / appellants are in jail for the last more than 12 years. As such they have completed their sentence alongwith the default sentence for Sections 452 and 354 IPC.

56. Accordingly, appeal is partly allowed and the appellants are convicted for the offence under Section 304 (Part-I) IPC and are sentenced to undergo ten years of incarceration with remission. We maintain the fine and default sentence which will be deposited by the appellants within twelve weeks from the date of release.

57. Record and proceedings be sent back to the Court below forthwith.

58. This Court is thankful to learned Advocates and Mr. Mohd. Furkan Khan, Law Clerk (Trainee) of this Court for ably assisting the Court.

List of Cases cited:

Radhika (Juvenile) Vs St. of U.P. Criminal Appeal No. 4418 of 2019, dated 5.8.2019.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Mohd. Aslam, J.)

1. Heard Sri Tryambak Nath Mishra, learned counsel for appellant, Sri L.D. Rajbhar, learned A.G.A. for the State, Sri Mahabir Yadav, learned counsel for opposite party no.2 and perused the record.

2. The instant criminal appeal has been preferred on behalf of appellant-juvenile under Section 101 of POCSO Act against the impugned order dated 19.5.2020 passed by learned Additional District & Sessions Judge/Special Judge (POCSO Act), Allahabad by which the 2nd Bail Application No.1299 of 2020 moved on behalf of father of appellant for releasing him on bail and giving under the custody of his father was rejected.

3. The brief facts necessary for disposal of this appeal is that informant/opposite party no.2 Deep Chand lodged a first information report alleging therein that on 9.8.2019 at about 12:00 "o'clock, his daughter victim X aged about 11 years was alone at the house and rest family members went to the field to plant paddy. His daughter went to take water from the hand pump installed at the Haata of his neighbor Ram Babu Vishwakarma son of Chhote Lal, who called his daughter at his house on the pretext of giving her water, when she went there, he forcibly dragged her into his room and committed rape upon her. She kept on protesting and shouting, while the appellant pacified victim X by pressing her mouth and told her Chamarin quietly go to home otherwise he will kill her and her family members. When the said incident was complained to Bhabhi and mother of appellant, they also abused complainant and said that if she complained about it anywhere, then his family members will not be able to show their faces in the society.

4. The informant supported the prosecution version in his statement recorded under Section 161 Cr.P.C. The wife of informant Smt. Amrawati also supported the incident in her statement recorded under Section 161 Cr.P.C. and also stated that she noticed the blood coming from the private parts of victim X and took her to the doctor, where doctor told her that some bad thing happened with her and advised her mother to ask from the victim X regarding bad deed happened with her. On asking, the victim X narrated the entire incident to her mother and family members, thereafter, she and her husband complained the incident to the Bhabhi and mother of appellant, they banished them after abusing and stated that whatever they liked they can do. The statement of victim X under section 161 Cr.P.C. was recorded during investigation in which she has supported the entire incident. She was medically examined on 15.8.2019 at 03:30 p.m. to 03:40 p.m. At the time of medical examination, the victim X told her age about 11 years. She narrated the entire incident to the doctor that on 9.8.2019 in the noon, she had gone to take water for cows and buffaloes from hand pump situated at the Haata of her neighbor Chhote Lal, where the appellant was present, she asked him to handle the hand pump, thereupon, he told that he will do it after finishing his food. Thereafter, the victim X was returning after taking water then the appellant requested her to give him water for drinking, upon which she gave him water and thereupon the appellant dragged her into the room and tied her legs and hands with lace of saari and forcibly committed rape upon her. After some time when the Bhabhi and mother of the appellant arrived there, the victim X narrated the entire incident to them, but they threatened her not to disclose the incident to anyone. Next day she also visited to Bhabhi of appellant on noticing that bleeding was continued, she stated to them regarding bleeding, thereupon they abused her and threatened to kill her and advised her to tell her family members that see sustained injury from hand pump. On returning to her house, she narrated to her mother regarding bleeding then her mother took her to the doctor and get her treatment, but she did not get any relief. Upon which, her mother took her to the house of her parents and get her treatment by another doctor, where she came to know that some bad deed happened with her. On inquiry, the victim X narrated the entire incident to her mother and family members. She was treated there for two days, thereafter, the first information report was lodged. The victim X stated that her legs and hands were tied by the appellant with lace of saari. She has also stated to the doctor that threat to kill was extended. She has also stated that sexual intercourse was committed by the appellant. She has also told that the incident was taken place prior to seven days of her medical examination. Abrasion mark on outer surface of labia majora was found. Hymen was found torn, bleeding was present. On ossification test, the age of the victim X was found about 11 years and up to 16 years. The statement of victim X under Section 164 Cr.P.C. was recorded, wherein she has given details of the incident. The appellant was adjudged juvenile by Juvenile Justice Board, Prayagraj and his age was ascertained above 16 years and date was fixed for proceeding under Section 15 of Juvenile Justice Act.

5. It is submitted by learned counsel for the appellant that the date of birth of appellant is recorded as 13.4.2003 in High School Marksheet. It is further submitted that District Probation Officer, Prayagraj found nothing adverse against juvenile in the social report. It is further submitted that at the time of incident the appellant was 16 years 3 months and 28 days. It is further submitted that the Juvenile Justice Board, Prayagraj has adjudged the appellant juvenile vide order dated 13.12.2019 and found his age about 16 years. It is further submitted that in medical examination report of victim, the doctor has reserved his opinion regarding sexual intercourse after receipt of the report of Forensic Science Laboratory. It is further submitted that no spermatozoa was found in pathology report. It is further submitted that medical report of victim X not supported the version of the prosecution. It is further submitted that the appellant is in observation home since 16.8.2019. It is further submitted that the Investigating Officer after investigation has submitted charge-sheet against appellant on 10.10.2019 under Sections 376, 504, 506 I.P.C., 5/6 of POCSO Act and 3(2)(5) of SC/ST Act. It is also submitted that the appellant is a student and due to detention in observation home his entire educational career is being badly affected. It is further submitted that the appellant has no criminal history except the present case. It is further submitted that the opposite party no.2 is father of victim X, who has falsely implicated the appellant in the present case and the appellant is not neighbor of the informant. It is further submitted that according to medical report of victim X no injury has been found on her body. It is further clarified that the first bail application was filed before the court of Special Judge (SC/ST Act), which was dismissed as not pressed and thereafter the second bail application was moved before the court having jurisdiction of Special Judge (POCSO Act), which was rejected on merit by impugned order dated 19.5.2020. It is further submitted that there is contradiction in the statements of victim X under Sections 161 & 164 Cr.P.C. It is further submitted that from perusal of the first information report and evidence available on record, no case under Sections 376, 504, 506 I.P.C., 5/6 of POCSO Act and 3(2)(5) SC/ST Act is made out. It is further submitted that the juvenile cannot be kept in observation home beyond 3 years.

6. Sri L.D. Rajbhar, learned A.G.A. for the State and Sri Mahabir Yadav, learned counsel for opposite party no.2 have opposed the appeal against rejection of bail application by the court below and submitted that the age of the victim X at the time of occurrence was found about 11 years and up to 16 years. It is further submitted that at the time of medical examination, the victim X in her statements recorded under Sections 161 & 164 Cr.P.C., she has stated her age as 11 years and further stated that she was studying in Class-VIth. It is further submitted that while the appellant was taking food and asked her to give him water, she gave him water on trusting upon him, but he misused her trust and forcibly dragged her into the room and tied her both legs and hands with lace of saari and committed rape upon her forcibly and even on her protest he pressed her mouth and threatened her that if she disclosed the incident to anyone, he will kill her and her family members. It is also submitted that when she complained about incident to the Bhabhi and mother of appellant, they also threatened her not to disclose the incident to anyone. It is further submitted that next day she also visited to the Bhabhi of appellant on noticing of bleeding coming from her private parts and complained them, but they again abused and threatened to kill her and advised her to tell her family members that see sustained injury from hand pump. It is further submitted that under the circumstances, the alleged rape committed by appellant shows that if he is released on bail, it would defeat the ends of justice. It is further submitted that juvenile appellant has committed rape in well-planned manner by tying the hands and legs of the victim X with lace of saari. It is further submitted that in above circumstances the appeal is liable to be dismissed.

7. I have given thoughtful consideration to the contentions raised by learned counsel of the parties and perused the record. In this case the Juvenile Justice Board, Prayagraj has obtained the report from Dr. Pawan Kumar Paswan, MD regarding preliminary assessment into heinous offence by the court under Section 15 of Juvenile Justice (Care and Protection of Children), Act 2015, wherein it is reported that mental and physical ability to understand the consequences of offence by the juvenile is as such that he is able to understand the consequences of this Act. Thereupon, the Juvenile Justice Board has held that his mental and physical capacity is such that he knows the nature of offence and consequences of the Act and circumstances in which he has committed rape and was directed to be produced before the competent court. The Government by notification has invested the power of Children Court to the Special Judge (POCSO Act). The Probation Officer submitted the social inquiry report of the juvenile, copy of which is annexed as Annexure No.7. It is also mentioned in the social report of the juvenile that there was no reason to commit the offence. For the purpose of deciding this appeal it is necessary to notice the increasing cases of crime committed by children in age group of 16-18 years in recent years and make the evidence that the current provision and system under Juvenile Justice (Care and Protection of Children) Act, 2015 for trial of such juvenile in serious illness offences after the assessment of the mental and physical condition to be tried by children court. Since the appellant is languishing in jail for offence punishable under Section 376, 504, 506 I.P.C., 5/6 of POCSO Act and 3(2)(5) of SC/ST Act, falls within the category of serious and heinous offences. Although remedy is available to juvenile for release on bail under Section 12 of the Act, which provides that the bail should be awarded to the person who are juvenile as a matter of right as the word "shall" has been used in the provision itself, giving a mandatory indication. On the other hand, the delinquent juvenile are allegedly involved in serious offence committed by them who have crossed the age of 16 and after the assessment by the Board with regard to their mental and physical capacity to commit such offence and ability to understand the consequences and the circumstances in which he has allegedly committed the offence has to be tried by Children Court as adult.

8. The relevant portion of Section 18 (3) of Juvenile Justice Act is reproduced herein below:-

"(3) Where the Board after preliminary assessment under section 15 pass an order that there is a need for trial of the said child as an adult, then the Board may order transfer of the trial of the case to the Children's Court having jurisdiction to try such offences."

9. As per provision of Section 12 of Juvenile Justice Act, 2015, mandate to release the juvenile on bail except three conditions according to proviso attached to sub-section 1, which follows as under:-

"Provided that such person shall not be so released if there appears reasonable grounds for believing that the release is likely to bring that person into association with any known criminal or expose the said person to moral, physical or psychological danger or the person's release would defeat the ends of justice, and the Board shall record the reasons for denying the bail and circumstances that led to such a decision."

10. In paragraph 4 of the statement of objects and reasons of Juvenile Justice Act (Care and Protection of Children) Act, 2015 it is stated that for the increasing cases of crime committed by children in the age group of 16-18 years in recent years makes it evident that the current provisions and system under the Juvenile Justice (Care and Protection of Children) Act, 2000, are ill equipped to tackle child offenders in this age group. The data collected by the National Crime Records Bureau establishes that crimes by children in the age group of 16-18 years have increased especially in certain categories of heinous offences.

11. The combined reading of Juvenile Justice Act and POCSO Act would be discretion of the Court which shall addition to those proviso provided under Section 12 of Juvenile Justice Act and also to take into account with regard to his mental, physical capacity, ability to understand and the gravity of that offence including his participation in crime and the circumstances under which he allegedly committed the particular grave and serious offence. All these factors are determinative factors while averaging the bail application of juvenile offender in the age group of 16-18, as it would be mockery of legislation and the object of the legislation would reduce naught. The above legal position is laid down by Single Judge of this High Court in "Radhika (Juvenile) Vs. State of U.P." decided on 5.8.2019 in Criminal Appeal No.4418 of 2019. Although the juvenile in conflict with law is detained in observation home since 16.8.2019, but keeping in view the facts and circumstances of the case and for achieving the object of Juvenile Justice (Care and Protection of Children), Act and the evidence available on the record, I find that if the appellant juvenile is released on bail it would defeat the ends of justice and the object of Act. In this case when the victim X complained to the mother and Bhabhi of appellant, they threatened her to meet dire consequences and also stated that if she disclosed anybody she and her family members will not be able to show their faces to the society. In above circumstances, I do not find it proper to release the juvenile on bail and give in custody of his father due to reasons mentioned above. Accordingly, the instant appeal is dismissed.

12. However, the concerned court below is directed to conclude the trial expeditiously, preferably, within a period of two months from the date of receipt of the certified copy of this order.

13. Let the lower court record be returned back to the concerned court below forthwith.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Ashwani Kumar Mishra, J.)

1. This Criminal Appeal arises out of judgment and order of conviction and sentence dated 27.04.2006, passed by the Additional Session Judge, Fast Track Court No.2, Fatehpur in Session Trial No. 72 of 2004 arising out of Case Crime No.161 of 2003, whereby accused appellant no.1 Shyam Babu, appellant no.2 Suresh @ Dhandhu and appellant no.3 Lalli @ Kalawati have been convicted and sentenced to life imprisonment under Section 304B IPC and have also been convicted and sentenced to three years imprisonment under Section 498A IPC with a fine of Rs.1,000/- and in default of fine they have to undergo one year additional imprisonment. They have also been convicted and sentenced to one year imprisonment under section 3/4 of Dowry Prohibition Act with a fine of Rs.2,000/- and in default of fine they have to undergo one year additional imprisonment. All the sentences are directed to run concurrently.

2. Prosecution case, in brief, is that deceased Rupa Devi got married to the accused appellant no.1 on 20.04.2003. On 28.08.2003 the first informant (PW-1), who happens to be the father of the deceased, received an information that the deceased has been killed by the accused appellants by hanging as he had failed to meet the dowry demand. The incident is of 28.08.2003 and a written report scribed by one Ashok Kumar was given on 29.08.2003 on the basis of which a First Information Report was registered as Case Crime No.161 of 2003 under Sections 498A, 304B IPC and 3/4 of Dowry Prohibition Act, Police Station Thariyaon, District Fatehpur.

3. After registering FIR the Investigating Officer came on spot and an inquest was conducted in the presence of inquest witnesses as also in the presence of Naib Tahsildar. The dead body of deceased was found in the house of accused appellant no.1. In the opinion of inquest witnesses the death of deceased was caused on account of hanging as also on account of injuries and, therefore, postmortem was required to be conducted to ascertain the cause of death. The dead body was accordingly sealed and sent to mortuary where the postmortem was conducted by Dr. Sanjay Gupta (PW-3). In the postmortem report following injuries have been found on the deceased and cause of death has been ascertained as asphyxia as a result of ante-mortem strangulation:-

"(i) Ligature mark all around neck 30cm x 2cm, 7cm below, 5cm each on both side below ear. Groove base is pale margins ecchymosed hard lathery and parchment like. Nylon string with knot present all around the neck cut away from knot preserved sealed and sent to SP Fatehpur.

On internal examination - Muscles of neck ruptured large muscle contused hyoid bone fractured present.

(ii) Contusion on right side of scalp at temporal region size 6cm x 4cm underlying muscles contused, underlying facture parietal bone present.

(iii) Abrasion on left side of abdomen in hypochondrium 9cm above umbilicus size 6cm x 3cm.

(iv) Abrasion on back of left side of chest 5cm left to midline at T 10 level size 3x2cm.

4. Upon conclusion of statutory investigation under Chapter XII of the Criminal Procedure Code charge sheet (Ex.Ka.9) came to be submitted against the accused appellants by the Investigating Officer on 29.10.2003. Having taken cognizance of the charge sheet the Magistrate committed the case to the court of session where proceedings were registered as Session Trial No.72 of 2004. On 25.11.2004 the court concerned framed charges against the accused appellants under Sections 498A, 304B IPC and 3/4 of Dowry Prohibition Act. The accused appellants denied the charges levelled against them and demanded trial.

5. In order to bring home the charge the prosecution has adduced oral testimony of PW-1 and PW-2, who are the parents of deceased and are the two witnesses of fact. Oral testimony has also been adduced of Dr. Sanjay Gupta as PW-3 who conducted the postmortem. PW-4 Suresh Kumar was the Naib Tahsildar, who has verified the inquest whereas PW-5 Lal Bahadur Singh is the Investigating Officer. PW-6 Arvind Kumar Yadav is the Circle Officer, who has proved the charge sheet. The prosecution has also adduced documentary evidence including written report as Ex.Ka.1, postmortem report as Ex.Ka.2, inquest report as Ex.Ka.3, charge sheet as Ex.Ka.9 and site plan with index as Ex.Ka.8.

6. The witness of fact namely PW-1 has stated that the marriage of deceased with the accused appellant no.1 was solemnized on 20.04.2003 in which dowry was settled as Rs.7000, 10gm gold, one buffalo and a cycle but he could only give Rs.7000 cash, utensils of Rs.4500 and clothes of Rs.3000 and due to his poor financial condition he could not give 10gm gold, one buffalo and cycle. It was deposed that due to not providing of such dowry articles the deceased was harassed by all the accused appellants and she was physically assaulted from time to time. Every time when the deceased used to visit her parents she was asked to get the remaining dowry. It was also stated that information with regard to unnatural death of deceased was given to PW-1 and PW-2 by one Ashok Kumar and when they came to the house of accused appellant no.1 they found the dead body on the floor and tied from two sides with a green colour rope. It was further stated that when PW-1 came on spot the accused appellants were not there and written report was given next day after it was scribed by Ashok Kumar.

In the cross-examination PW-1 has admitted that the dead body was found in the new house of accused appellant no.1, although it was alleged that all the accused appellants were living together in the same house. PW-1 has also admitted that prior to this incident he had not made any complaint with regard to demand of dowry or harassment meted out to deceased and that he only tried to counsel the family members not to harass his daughter.

7. PW-2 has also made similar disclosure in her statement. She has also denied the suggestion given to her during cross-examination that house of accused appellant no.1 is separate and distinct from the house occupied by accused appellant nos.2 and 3. PW-2, however, has admitted that last rites of deceased were performed by the accused appellants.

8. PW-3 Dr. Sanjay Gupta, who conducted the postmortem, has clearly stated that the deceased died due to injuries noticed above.

9. PW-5, who is the Investigating Officer, in his cross-examination has noted availability of two houses with the accused appellants' family one of which has been addressed as the house of accused appellant no.1 which is towards end of Abadi and the other referred to the house of appellant nos.2 and 3 within the Abadi. The statement of PW-5, in that regard, is extracted hereinafter:-

"मुलजिम श्यामबाबू का मकान गांव के आवादी के किनारे है उसके मकान के पूर्व मिले हुए खेत है घटना के समय धान की फसल खडी थी।

अभियुक्त झल्ली व श्रीमती लल्ली का माकान जो आबादी के अन्दर है उसे भी देखा है। श्याम बाबू के मकान के दक्षिण की खेत है जिनमें घटना के समय धान की फसल खडी थी।"

10. The incriminating material surfaced during the course of trial against the accused appellants was confronted to them under section 313 Cr.P.C. and the accused appellants have stated that the deceased and accused appellant no.1 were residing in the new house constructed towards the end of Abadi while accused appellant nos.2 and 3 were residing in the old house existing in midst of Abadi. The allegation with regard to demand of dowry or strangulating the deceased have been specifically denied. The postmortem report has been questioned by the accused appellants and it has been stated that the report itself is manipulated.

11. On the basis of evidence brought before the court below in the form of oral testimony and documentary evidence the trial court has come to the conclusion that the deceased was subjected to demand of dowry and her death has occurred within seven years from the date of marriage. It has also been held that the deceased was strangulated and, therefore, her death has occurred in unnatural circumstances and necessary ingredients to attract offence under section 304B IPC are clearly made out. The court below has also returned a finding that the deceased was subjected to demand of dowry and consequently appellants have also been convicted under section 498A IPC and 3/4 D.P. Act.

12. Learned counsel for the accused appellants submits that the appellants were arrested and sent to jail on 31.08.2003. The accused appellant no.1 has remained in jail ever since then and has been enlarged on bail by this Court vide order dated 08.09.2022 and, therefore, the actual period of incarceration of accused appellant no.1 is 19 years and with remission period of 4 year 3 months 7 days the incarceration would be more than 23 years. So far as the accused appellant nos.2 and 3 are concerned they have been enlarged on bail by this Court vide order dated 13.09.2006.

13. Learned counsel for the accused appellants further contends that the deceased had actually committed suicide and the finding returned by the court below that it was a case of strangulation is unsustainable. It is also argued that the accused appellant no.1 was living separately with the deceased in the new house while accused appellant nos.2 and 3 were residing in old house situated within the Abadi area and as the accused appellant nos.2 and 3 had a separate living they cannot be implicated and convicted for the offence under section 304B IPC. It is also contended that allegations of demand of dowry are vague and general in nature and there is no specific incident asserted by the prosecution in respect of such demand nor any complaint was ever made to the police with respect to alleged demand of dowry. Learned counsel further urges that the manner in which the body has been found with bangles in her hands as per inquest report clearly shows that she has not been tortured prior to her death and even the last rites were performed by the accused appellants. It is also submitted that punishment accorded to appellant no.1 is highly excessive.

14. Sri Arun Kumar Singh, learned A.G.A. for the State submits that the injuries found on the body of deceased together with the fact that the death occurred due to strangulation would clearly show that the offence was committed by more than one person. It is also submitted that the accused appellants have not adduced any defence evidence to show that the accused appellant nos.2 and 3 had a separate living and the positive evidence of PW-1 and PW-2 that accused appellant nos.2 and 3 were living together with deceased in the same house remains unrebutted.

15. We have heard learned counsel for the parties and perused the materials brought on record.

16. The facts as have been noticed above clearly reveal that the marriage of deceased with accused appellant no.1 was solemnized on 20.04.2003 and the incident leading to unnatural death occurred on 28.08.2003 which is nearly four months after the marriage. So far as the allegation with regard to demand of dowry is concerned PW-1 and PW-2 have clearly stated that at the time of marriage it was agreed that in addition to the dowry items given the informant had to give 10gm gold, one buffalo and cycle, which could not be given and the deceased was being consistently harassed for getting such dowry items. The statement of PW-1 and PW-2 in that regard is specific. Although it is admitted to PW-1 and PW-2 that no formal complaint in respect of demand of dowry was lodged by them, yet, their statement that they were attempting to persuade the family members not to harass the deceased by making them personal requests seems credible. It is otherwise natural that parents of bride would make all efforts to ensure peaceful living of their daughter and only if their efforts fail that a formal complaint would ordinarily be lodged. The gap in the period of marriage and death is only about four months and, therefore, non lodgement of any formal complaint would not mean that there existed no demand of dowry. Except to deny such accusations under section 313 Cr.P.C. the appellants have not produced any evidence to rebut the allegations made by PW-1 and PW-2 with regard to demand of dowry. The finding of the court below that the deceased was subjected to demand of dowry immediately prior to her death is, therefore, found to be based on evidence available on record and we find no infirmity in it.

17. So far as the cause of death of deceased is concerned the postmortem report has been proved by the concerned doctor (PW-3) and from its perusal it is apparent that the deceased was strangulated to death. Hyoid bone of deceased was found fractured. The body of the deceased otherwise had injury marks which clearly supports the prosecution version that the deceased was tortured and she was strangulated to death. The finding by the court below that the deceased died due to unnatural circumstances is thus clearly borne out from the records. We, therefore, find that necessary ingredients to attract offence under section 304B IPC are clearly shown to exist in the facts of the case. The finding of court below with regard to demand of dowry and consequential implication of accused appellant no.1 in offences under section 304B, 498A IPC and 3/4 D. P. Act is, therefore, sustained.

18. So far as the argument advanced on behalf of the accused appellant nos.2 and 3 on the premise that they had a separate living and, therefore, they cannot be convicted for the above offences is now taken up for consideration.

19. The evidence on record about separate or joint living of appellant nos.1 and 2 with the deceased is primarily in the nature of oral statement of witnesses which needs to be examined. PW-2 in her examination-in-chief has stated that father of appellant no.1 had died prior to the marriage of the deceased and that the deceased after marriage was living with her husband together with Jeth and Jethani (appellant nos.2 and 3) in the house of appellant no.2. In her cross-examination she has, however, admitted that dead body of the deceased was found in the house of accused appellant no.1. The statement of PW-2 clearly shows existence of two houses i.e. one belonging to accused appellant no.2 (Jeth) while the other was the house of husband (appellant no.1). PW-5, who is the Investigating Officer, has visited and seen the place of occurrence and in his cross-examination has clearly stated that the house of appellant no.1 is towards corner of Abadi and abuts the paddy field whereas the house of accused appellant nos.2 and 3 is within the Abadi area. The statement of PW-5 therefore clearly corroborates the statement of PW-2 insofar as existence of two houses belonging to accused appellants in the same village is concerned. PW-1 and PW-2 have, however, denied the suggestion that accused appellant nos.2 and 3 were living separately in their house situated within the old Abadi while accused appellant no.1 was living in his new house constructed towards the end of Abadi, but we do not find their statement to be reliable since on this aspect their statement are contradictory and the statement of PW-5, who is an independent person, appears to be more reliable. Inference of two separate houses belonging to Jeth and husband of deceased are clearly discernible from their statements. Existence of two houses, which are specifically described as house of accused appellant no.1 Shyam Babu and house of accused appellant no.2 Suresh @ Dhandhu together with statement of PW-2 that the deceased alongwith her husband was residing in the house of accused appellant no.2, makes it clear that the appellants family had two houses in the same village. Inconsistency in the statement of PW-2 that all the appellants were living in the house of Jeth whereas body of deceased was found in the house of appellant no.1 coupled with the statement of PW-5 clearly proves that accused appellant no.1 had a separate living with the deceased while appellant nos.2 and 3 were separately residing in the old house within the abadi. The evidence in that regard is corroborated by the specific defence taken by the accused appellants in their statement under section 313 Cr.P.C. that the accused appellant nos.2 and 3 were living separately in old house situated in Abadi.

20. We may, at this stage, notice an additional fact regarding marriage itself was solemnized between the accused appellant no.1 with the deceased. PW-1 has admitted that prior to marriage of deceased the father of appellant no.1 had died and the trial court has also noticed that their marriage was settled on the intervention of mother and Nana of appellant no.1 Shyam Babu. The prosecution witnesses of fact have not included the name of Jeth and Jethani (appellant nos.2 and 3) as the persons instrumental in solemnizing the marriage. This also lends support to the evidence otherwise available on record that Jeth and Jethani (appellant nos.2 and 3) were living separately. Trial court although has noticed this aspect of the matter but has rejected the plea of separate living on the ground that no evidence was led by the appellants to substantiate the plea of separate living. After noticing the existence of two houses belonging to appellants in same village the trial court has observed that either ancestral house within the Abadi has fallen or may have been sold. This remark is based completely on surmises. We are, therefore, not inclined to accept the reasoning assigned by the trial court in coming to the conclusion that despite the existence of two houses in the same village the two families were living in the house of accused appellant no.1. Moreover, as the existence of two houses was clearly admitted and the PW-5 had also indicated that old house within the Abadi was of accused appellant no.2 while the new house belonged to accused appellant no.1 there was no other requirement of adducing any voter list etc. to substantiate the plea of separate living on part of the accused appellant nos.2 and 3.

21. In view of the above deliberations made on the factual aspects we are persuaded to the view that accused appellant nos.2 and 3 had a separate living in their old house within the Abadi. The statement of PW-2 that all the members were living in the house of Jeth (appellant no.2) otherwise cannot be accepted in view of the admitted position that the dead body of the deceased was found in the house of accused appellant no.1. We are, therefore, of the view that the trial court has not considered the evidence in correct perspective and its refusal to accept the plea of separate living of accused appellant nos.2 and 3 cannot be sustained. The finding in that regard is thus reversed. We accept the contention advanced on behalf of the accused appellant nos.2 and 3 that they had a separate living and, therefore, that they cannot be implicated for the offences under section 304B IPC. We further find that the allegations with regard to demand of dowry by accused appellant no.2 and 3 are clearly vague as no specific date, time or manner of demand of dowry by them has been disclosed by any of the prosecution witnesses, as such we hold that the conviction of accused appellant nos.2 and 3 under sections 498A IPC and ¾ D.P. Act also cannot be sustained.

22. This takes us to the last facet of this appeal i.e. the argument with regard to quantum of punishment awarded to the accused appellant no.1 in the matter. Section 304B defines "dowry death' in following manner:-

"304B. Dowry death. - (1) Where the death of a woman is caused by any burns or bodily injury or occurs otherwise than under normal circumstances within seven years of her marriage and it is shown that soon before her death she was subjected to cruelty or harassment by her husband or any relative of her husband for, or in connection with, any demand for dowry, such death shall be called "dowry death", and such husband or relative shall be deemed to have caused her death.

Explanation. For the purposes of this sub-section, "dowry" shall have the same meaning as in section 2 of the Dowry Prohibition Act, 1961 (28 of 1961).

(2) Whoever commits dowry death shall be punished with imprisonment for a term which shall not be less than seven years but which may extend to imprisonment for life."

23. Upon evaluation of evidence on record we have already returned a finding that the unnatural death of the deceased was on account of demand of dowry and the conviction of appellant no.1 under section 304B has been affirmed. Sub-section (2) of section 304B IPC then provides for punishment of dowry death. The imprisonment for offence under section 304B IPC cannot be less than seven year but it may extend to imprisonment for life. What exactly be the appropriate punishment to be awarded under section 304B IPC would depend upon the facts and circumstances of each case. The death of the deceased in the present case has occurred on account of strangulation and injury marks have otherwise been found on the body of the deceased. The death has otherwise occurred nearly four months of the marriage itself. We are, therefore, of the view that this is not a case in which minimum punishment prescribed under section 304B IPC ought to be awarded to the accused appellant no.1. A harsher punishment would certainly be warranted in the facts of this case. However, we find that accused appellant no.1 has already suffered actual incarceration of more than 19 years and together with remission the total period would extend to more than 23 years. Considering the facts and circumstances of the case and upon overall evaluation of evidence on record we are of the view that the sentence of more than 23 years already undergone by appellant no.1 would adequately meet the end of justice and, therefore, we accept the argument advanced on behalf of appellants that the sentence of life imprisonment awarded to accused appellant no.1 be modified and be substituted by the sentence already undergone by him. Subject to the above modification on the quantum of sentence the conviction of accused appellant no.1 is sustained.

24. The appeal at the instance of accused appellant no.1 is, accordingly, allowed in part and the sentence awarded to him of life imprisonment under section 304B IPC is substituted with sentence already undergone by him. Judgment and order of the court below dated 27.04.2006 is accordingly modified. Since the accused appellant no.1 is on bail, his sureties and bonds shall stand discharged and he shall be set at liberty, unless is wanted in any other case subject to compliance of section 437A Cr.P.C.

So far as the appeal at the instance of accused appellant nos.2 and 3 is concerned it succeeds and is allowed. Judgment and order dated 27.04.2006, to the extent of appellant nos.2 and 3, is set aside. Since the accused appellant nos.1 and 2 are on bail, their sureties and bonds shall stand discharged and they shall be set at liberty, unless they are wanted in any other case subject to compliance of section 437A Cr.P.C.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Ashwani Kumar Mishra, J. & Hon'ble Shiv Shanker Prasad, J.)

1. Accused appellant Suresh has been convicted under Section 302 IPC and sentenced to rigorous life imprisonment

alongwith fine of Rs. 1000/- and on failure to pay the fine to undergo six months additional imprisonment; while his two brothers Hansu and Rakesh who were charged under Section 302/34 IPC have been acquitted vide a composite judgment and order of the Additional Sessions Judge (Fast Track Court No. 4), Firozabad, dated 21.6.2002 and 22.6.2002. Thus aggrieved the accused appellant Suresh is before this Court in the present appeal filed under Section 374 of the Code of Criminal Procedure. No appeal is preferred by the State against the acquittal of the two co-accused Hansu and Rakesh, who are the real brothers of accused appellant Suresh.

2. A written report was given by the first informant Harish Kumar Fanda (PW-1) stating that the accused appellant at about 10.30 in the morning came to his shop to purchase Tobacco for Rs. 2.00. The informant refused to accept the tender as the Two Rupee Note offered was torn. The accused appellant went back after threatening that he would see the informant and his family. At about 11.30 accused appellant armed with a knife, his two brothers Hansu armed with a bottle of Acid and Rakesh armed with two iron rods (saria) rushed towards him. The informant out of fear closed the door of the shop. The accused then rushed to enter the adjoining house of the informant, which was objected by the wife of informant Karuna Fanda, when the accused appellant inflicted knife blow below her chest. Accused Hansu is stated to have thrown acid bottle towards Karuna Fanda which ricocheted and the acid got sprinkled on Hansu and Suresh. The informant rushed his wife to the hospital where she died. The incident is said to have been seen by Ram Lal Fanda (PW-2), Sumitra Devi (mother of informant) and Banwari. Sumitra Devi has not been adduced in evidence while Banwari has died. On the basis of such written report scribed by PW-2 the first information report in Case Crime No. 509 of 1995, under Section 302 IPC, Police Station Shikohabad, District - Firozabad, was registered at 12.45 pm on 7.11.1995 in respect of the incident occurring at 11.30 am on the same day.

3. The Investigating Officer recovered two iron rods (saria), edge of one of which was pointed while the other was flat near the place of occurrence vide Exhibit Ka-2. Bloodstained earth from the spot was also recovered vide Exhibit Ka-3. Panchayatnama was conducted at the hospital, where the dead body was kept, and the cause of homicidal death appeared to be the wound six fingers below the chest of the deceased. Panch witnesses were of the view that the deceased has died on account of stab wound. The dead body was accordingly sealed and sent to mortuary where the postmortem was conducted by Dr. R.K. Garg (PW-4). In the postmortem, the cause of death has been determined as shock and bleeding on account of following ante-mortem injury:-

"1. Incised wound 4.0 cm x 1.0 cm x chest cavity deep on (Lt) side front of chest 9.5 cm below and lateral to left nipple at 5 "O' clock position."

4. The investigation proceeded and ultimately a charge sheet (Ex. Ka. 11) was submitted by the police against the accused appellant and his two brothers Rakesh and Hansu. The Magistrate took cognizance and committed the case to the court of sessions where the charges were framed against them. Vide order dated 23.10.1998, the accused appellant was charged of offence under Section 302 IPC, while his two brothers namely Hansu and Rakesh were charged under Section 302/34 IPC by a separate order. The charges were read out to the accused who denied them and demanded trial.

5. The prosecution in order to establish the charges against accused appellants produced oral testimonies of following witnesses:-

"1. Harish Kumar Fanda PW-1
2. Ram Lal Fanda PW-2
3. Yogesh Kumar PW-3
4. Dr. R.K. Garg PW-4
5. Shiv Charan Pal PW-5
6. Siyaram Sharma CW-1
7. Dr. Lakhan Singh CW-2"

6. Documentary evidences have also been adduced by the prosecution consisting of FIR as Ex.Ka. 12; written report as Ex.Ka.1; recovery memo of Iron "Saria' as Ex.Ka. 2; recovery memo of blood from stairs as Ex. Ka.3; Postmortem Report as Ex.Ka. 10; Panchayatnama as Ex. Ka. 4 and Charge Sheet as Ex. Ka. 11.

7. PW-1 is the first informant who has supported the prosecution case by stating that the accused appellant Suresh is a resident of Punjabi Colony Shikohabad who came to his shop and offered a two rupee torn note for purchasing Kapoori Tobacco and as the note was torn, the informant refused to accept it, on which Suresh threatened the informant that he would see him and his family. After about an hour, on the same day, Suresh armed with a knife alongwith Hansu and Rakesh who had acid bottle and iron rods in their hands rushed towards the shop of the informant. On seeing this PW-1 put the shutters down. The accused then rushed towards the house of the informant hurling abuses. Informant's wife was standing near the gate/shutter and she objected to their entry on which the accused appellant Suresh stabbed her. Acid bottle was also allegedly thrown by Hansu but the acid got sprinkled on Suresh and Hansu. PW-1 has proved the written report (Ex.Ka-1) and has also supported the recoveries of plain earth; bloodstained earth and two iron rods by signing on the memo of recovery.

8. In the cross-examination PW-1 has admitted that accused Suresh, Hansu and Rakesh are the sons of his real uncle, which indicates that the accused and the informant are first cousin. He has also admitted that the lane passing between the house of accused and his house is rather narrow. At the time of incident accused appellant Suresh was not working while Hansu was working in a hotel running a tandoor. He has stated that one of the two iron rods recovered had a sharp edge while the other was flat and these rods were used for preparing chapatis in tandoor. He has stated that these iron rods have not been used for commissioning of offence and there was no scuffle of accused with any of the witnesses. He has shown ignorance about the arrest of Hansu or his medical examination. He has also admitted that no injuries from acid have been caused to first informant or the deceased or any of the witnesses. He has further admitted that at the time of collection of bloodstained earth no empty bottle of acid was found. PW-1 further stated that acid bottles were taken by the accused persons and non mentioning of such facts cannot be explained by him. He has further admitted that acid stained earth have not been recovered from the spot, nor any acid was found and even on the wall or the channel of his gate no stains of acid were found. PW-1 has stated that he saw accused appellant stabbing his wife while standing at a distance of 4 ft. in the gallery from the place of occurrence. PW-1 denied the suggestion that there was any dispute on account of his father having grabbed the ancestral house of the accused or that Hansu was attacked with knife by informant while he was going for work or that acid was thrown on Hansu by the deceased and the deceased while turning after throwing the acid got accidentally stabbed with the knife in the hands of the informant. He has further denied the suggestion that he did not allow the report of Hansu to be registered when he had gone to the police station or that Hansu was falsely implicated.

9. PW-2 is the father of informant who has similarly supported the prosecution case. In the cross-examination he has stated that he saw the incident from the road in front of the shop of the informant. In cross-examination he has also denied the suggestion that he wanted to grab the ancestral house of the accused or that the incident occurred when his son (PW-1) attempted to stab Hansu and the deceased threw acid and that she got accidentally stabbed while turning back.

10. PW-3 Yogesh Kumar was posted in the concerned Police Station and has proved the panchayatnama as also site plan. He has admitted that he was not the Investigating Officer, but he had made the recoveries on the asking of the SHO. The iron rods recovered, however, have not been produced before the Court.

11. Dr. R.K. Garg is PW-4 who has conducted the autopsy on the deceased. He has stated that there was only one injury on the deceased and her 8th rib was cut. Both sides of injury were sharp. He has also stated that it was not necessary that the weapon of assault in this case be necessarily sharp for causing the aforesaid injury.

12. PW-5 Shivcharan Pal, Investigating Officer, has proved the chargesheet and has stated that PW-3 Yogesh Kumar was orally directed to undertake investigation and that there was no order by him in writing to conduct investigation by him. He has also stated that plain earth was not taken from the place of occurrence and the place from where the bloodstained earth has been taken has also not been specified in the site plan. This witness has clearly stated that neither any acid has been found on the spot, nor the place where bottle of acid fell has been specified. It has also not been specified as to what happened to the acid bottle.

13. Siyaram Sharma, Pharmacist, R.N.M. Hospital, Shikohabad has appeared as CW-1 and has produced the records in respect of the injury caused to Hansu S/o Deshraj. The original register has also been produced by him. Dr. Lakhan Singh has also been adduced as CW-2 who had examined Hansu at 5.15 pm on 7.11.95 and following injuries have been found on him by the concerned doctor:-

''चोट नं0 1 – जलने की चोट (निशान) पूरे चेहरे के आधे हिस्से मे, गर्दन छाती पेट दोनो हाथों के अगले हिस्सो में दोनो जॉघो के अगले हिस्से में ये चोट सुपरफिशियल थी। लगभग 45: शरीर के हिस्से पर थी लाल रंग की थी। फुोले नहीं थे।''

It was, however, opined by the doctor that these injuries were superficial and could be caused by chemical burn. He has also certified that injuries were fresh and could come from acid. The doctor has further stated that Hansu was kept under observation and although he described the injury as superficial but it could prove fatal since burn percentage was more than 20% and he was referred to the district hospital. The doctor was not informed of any further development in the matter.

14. Trial Court found the testimony of PW-1 and PW-2 to be truthful and reliable and on its basis came to the conclusion that deceased has been stabbed by the accused appellants and consequently convicted the accused appellant for offence under Section 302 IPC. So far as injuries on Hansu is concerned the court below has not given much importance to it as the injuries were allegedly superficial and thus ignored. A finding has been returned that accused persons were present on the spot. The court below however found that prosecution has not been able to prove the guilt of Hansu and Rakesh beyond reasonable doubt and they were acquitted by giving them benefit of doubt.

15. Sri Saghir Ahmad, learned Senior Counsel assisted by Sri Raghib Ali, has appeared as Amicus Curiae for the appellant, and submits that the prosecution has not established the genesis of crime in the manner disclosed by it on the strength of prosecution evidence. He further submits that the cause of death and the manner of death have not been proved. He also argues that injuries of Hansu have not been explained and as the witnesses are interested witnesses their testimony is not reliable and trustworthy and consequently the accused appellant is entitled to benefit of doubt. He further submits that the acquittal of Hansu and Rakesh by the trial court despite offences alleged under section 34 IPC, on the basis of same set of evidence, is also a ground to extend same benefit to the accused appellant. Contention is that PW-1 and PW-2 since are not reliable witnesses and are otherwise interested persons and the injuries on Hansu have not been explained and the weapon of assault i.e. the knife has not been recovered, as such, the conviction of accused appellant is bad in law.

16. Learned AGA, on the other hand states that the ocular evidence matches the postmortem report and since PW-1 and PW-2 have specifically seen the incident, in which solitary stab wound was caused by the accused appellant, as such, the conviction recorded by the court below is valid.

17. Having heard the respective counsels, we have examined the original records of the case in order to determine whether the prosecution has succeeded in establishing the guilt of accused appellant, beyond reasonable doubt?

18. The first information report in the present case has been lodged on the basis of written report wherein the genesis of crime is alleged to be a dispute regarding non acceptance of tender of Rs. 2.00 on the ground that the note was torned. This, according to the prosecution, is the cause of provocation and also the motive on account of which the accused appellant came armed with a knife alongwith his two brothers and attacked the informant with knife, acid and iron rods.

19. The genesis of crime is thus required to be examined in the facts of the present case before adverting to the credibility and reliability of the two eye-witnesses, whose testimony forms the basis of conviction of accused appellant. The FIR version as also the statement in chief of PW-1 suggests that accused is a stranger and on flimsy premise has stabbed the deceased. This apparent impression, however, is not supported by the evidence on record.

20. Firstly, the dispute regarding non acceptance of two rupee note does not, on its own, constitutes sufficient provocation for the assault on the informant and deceased. Moreover, in the cross-examination of PW-1 it is clearly admitted that the three accused are the uncle's son of informant and, therefore, informant is the first cousin of the three accused. PW-1 moreover has admitted in his cross-examination that the mother of accused has been subsequently murdered wherein the informant is the prime accused.

21. Although there is no defence evidence substantiating any alternative genesis of crime or motive for occurrence of incident or false implication but a suggestion has been given to PW-1 that his father wanted to grab the ancestral house, in which the accused also had a share, which suggestion is nevertheless denied. It is also to be noticed that according to the site plan the accused and informant live in close vicinity and their houses are just across a narrow lane. The close relationship between the parties as also the admission of PW-1 that he is accused of murdering the mother of accused appellant clearly goes to show that relationship between them was not cordial.

22. In the facts of the case there are only two eye-witnesses who are interested witnesses being the husband and father-in-law of deceased. Law is settled that testimony of interested witnesses can always be looked into but only after subjecting it to cautious and careful scrutiny.

23. As we have already seen from the evidence brought on record that the genesis of crime disclosed by the prosecution is not entirely reliable and eye-witnesses are close relatives of the deceased the facts asserted by the prosecution will have to be minutely scrutinized.

24. The prosecution witnesses have stated that the accused appellant alongwith his two brothers rushed towards the informant's shop on account of the motive disclosed i.e. non acceptance of two rupee note. Accused appellant is alleged to have carried a knife which admittedly is neither recovered nor produced before the court. The two rupee torn note, which was the bone of contention as per prosecution and provided the genesis has also not been recovered or produced in evidence. So far as Hansu possessing acid bottle is concerned neither any acid has been found on the ground at the place of crime nor any acid marks were noticed on the nearby walls/shutter. These are circumstances which adds to the cloud on the prosecution case. The further fact that the informant or the deceased did not sustain any chemical burn injuries despite the prosecution case that acid was thrown on them by Hansu also puts a question on the prosecution case.

25. PW-1 has disclosed that Hansu threw acid bottle and the acid fell on Suresh and Hansu. No burn injuries from acid attack is found on Suresh. Such injuries are found only on Hansu. The statement of PW-1 that acid fell on Suresh is thus found incorrect.

26. It is difficult to believe that acid thrown on deceased/informant from close distance would not cause any injuries upon them nor any signs of acid would be available on the nearby walls/shutter/floor. No acid bottle has been recovered either.

27. Although there is no defence witness on this aspect, yet, it may be worth noticing that the accused Hansu in his statement under section 313 Cr.P.C. has denied that he was carrying acid. Moreover, he has stated that he was going to hotel for work when the deceased threw acid on him and the deceased was hit by knife of informant by which the informant intended to assault him. The reply of Hansu to question no.13 is relevant and is reproduced hereinafter:-

''मै होटल पर काम करने जा रहा था। करूणा फण्डा ने मेरे पर तेजाब डाला था। हरीश चाकू मेरे मार रहा था जो करूणा फण्डा के लगा। मेरा भाई राकेश रिपोर्ट करने मुझे रिपोर्ट करने थाने ले गया पुलिस ने मुझे जली हुई अवस्था में वहीं बैठा लिया तथा रिपोर्ट प्राप्त कर मेरे भाई को दे दी तथा मुझे मेडिकल कराने के नाम पर वहीं बैठा लिया।''

28. Accused appellant has also stated under section 313 Cr.P.C. that deceased was hit by the knife of informant and that the deceased threw acid on Hansu.

29. Dr. Lakhan Singh has appeared as court witness and proved that burn injuries were caused to Hansu on his half face, neck, chest, both hands and thighs which was on 45% of his body. He has opined that such burn injuries could be caused by acid attack. He has further stated that though he recorded the injuries to be superficial but as the burn was above 20% and could be fatal as such the patient was kept under observation and was referred to S.N.M. Hospital, Firozabad.

30. It is not clear whether Hansu was actually referred to S.N.M. Hospital, Firozabad. No complaint/report at the instance of Hansu is otherwise on record. The only explanation furnished under section 313 Cr.P.C. is that Hansu went to police station for lodging the report but he was detained and the report was received by the police.

31. The trial court has ignored the injuries caused to Hansu only on the ground that such injuries were superficial. The statement of Dr. Lakhan Singh that burn was above 20% and could be fatal or that Hansu was referred to the district hospital has been completely overlooked.

32. On the basis of evidence led by the prosecution on the aspect relating to alleged throwing of acid by Hansu, and his sustaining burn injuries as acid also fell/sprinkled on him, we are not impressed by the reasoning assigned by the trial judge for ignoring the injuries caused to Hansu. We are not inclined to accept that burn injuries would be sustained on 45% of the body only because some acid fell/got sprinkled on Hansu while throwing the acid bottle upon the informant or the deceased, particularly when no burn injuries are found on the deceased or the informant, although acid was allegedly thrown on them.

33. Learned Senior Counsel for the appellant submits that where the genesis of crime is suppressed and the injuries on accused are not explained the evidence of prosecution witnesses relating to the incident cannot be treated as true or at any rate not wholly true and cannot be relied upon to convict an accused. Reliance is placed upon a judgment of Supreme Court in Kumar Vs. State Represented by Inspector of Police, 2018 (6) JT 85, wherein the Court observed as under in para 27 to 29 of the report, which is reproduced hereinafter:-

"27. Another point put forth by the learned counsel on behalf of the accused--appellant is that the prosecution has not explained the injuries suffered by the accused and hence prosecution case should not be believed. At the outset, it would be relevant to note the settled principles of law on this aspect. Generally failure of the prosecution to offer any explanation in that regard shows that evidence of the prosecution witnesses relating to the incident is not true or at any rate not wholly true [See : Mohar Rai and Bharath Rai v. The State of Bihar, 1968 CriLJ 1479].

28. In Lakshmi Singh and Ors. v. State of Bihar, 1976 CriLJ 1736 this Court observed:

"Where the prosecution fails to explain the injuries on the accused, two results follow :

(1) that the evidence of the prosecution witnesses is untrue; and

(2) that the injuries probabilise the plea taken by the appellants.

It was further observed that:

In a murder case, the non-explanation of the injuries sustained by the accused at about the time of the occurrence or in the course of altercation is a very important circumstance from which the Court can draw the following inferences :

(1) that the prosecution has suppressed the genesis and the origin of the occurrence and has thus not presented the true version;

(2) that the witnesses who have denied the presence of the injuries on the person of the accused are lying on a most material point and, therefore, their evidence is unreliable;

(3) that in case there is a defence version which explains the injuries on the person of the accused assumes much greater importance where the evidence consists of interested or inimical witnesses or where the defence gives a version which competes in probability with that of the prosecution one."

29. In the case on hand, admittedly, the accused--appellant was also injured in the same occurrence and he too was admitted in the hospital. But, prosecution did not produce his medical record, nor the Doctor was examined on the nature of injuries sustained by the accused. The trial Court, instead of seeking proper explanation from the prosecution for the injuries sustained by the accused, appears to have simply believed what prosecution witnesses deposed in one sentence that the accused had sustained simple injuries only."

34. Recently, a three judge bench of the Supreme Court in Ramanand @ Nandlal Bharti vs. State of Uttar Pradesh, Criminal Appeal Nos. 64-65 of 2022, decided on 13.10.2022, has again examined the issue and reiterated the law on the subject in paras 111 to 115, which are reproduced hereinafter:-

"111. In Dhananjay Shanker Shetty v. State of Maharashtra, (2002) 6 SCC 596, in paragraph 10 in reference to the circumstantial evidence, in the case of murder, the nonexplanation of injuries on accused by prosecution was held to be significant when there are circumstances which makes prosecution case doubtful. For the relevant purpose, the relevant extract of paragraph 10 is extracted as below:

"10. ....But nonexplanation of injuries assumes significance when there are material circumstances which make the prosecution case doubtful. Reference in this connection may be made to recent decisions of this Court in the cases of Takhaji Hiraji v. Thakore Kubersing Chamansing [(2001) 6 SCC 145 : 2001

SCC (Cri) 1070] and Kashiram v. State of M.P. [(2002) 1 SCC 71 : 2002 SCC (Cri) 68]. In the present case, nonexplanation of injuries on the appellant by the prosecution assumes significance as there are circumstances which make the prosecution case, showing the complicity of the appellant with the crime, highly doubtful."

112. In Mohar Rai and Bharath Rai v. State of Bihar, AIR 1968 SC 1281, it was observed:

"6. .....In our judgment the failure of the prosecution to offer any explanation in that regard shows that evidence of the prosecution witnesses relating to the incident is not true or at any rate not wholly true. Further those injuries probabilise the plea taken by the appellants."

[Emphasis supplied]

113. In another important case Lakshmi Singh and Others v. State of Bihar, (1976) 4 SCC 394, after referring to the ratio laid down in Mohar Rai (supra), this Court observed:

"12. .....where the prosecution fails to explain the injuries on the accused, two results follow: (1) that the evidence of the prosecution witnesses is untrue; and (2) that the injuries probabilise the plea taken by the appellants....."

114. It was further observed that:

"12. .....in a murder case, the nonexplanation of the injuries sustained by the accused at about the time of the occurrence or in the course of altercation is a very important circumstance from which the court can draw the following inferences:

(1) that the prosecution has suppressed the genesis and the origin of the occurrence and has thus not presented the true version;

(2) that the witnesses who have denied the presence of the injuries on the person of the accused are lying on a most material point and therefore their evidence is unreliable;

(3) that in case there is a defence version which explains the injuries on the person of the accused it is rendered probable so as to throw doubt on the prosecution case....."

115. In Mohar Rai (supra) it is made clear that failure of the prosecution to offer any explanation regarding the injuries found on the accused may show that the evidence related to the incident is not true, or at any rate, not wholly true. Likewise in Lakshmi Singh (supra) it is observed that any nonexplanation of the injuries on the accused by the prosecution may affect the prosecution case. But such a nonexplanation may assume greater importance where the defence gives a version which competes in probability with that of the prosecution. But where the evidence is clear, cogent and creditworthy and where the court can distinguish the truth from falsehood, the mere fact that the injuries are not explained by the prosecution cannot itself be a sole basis to reject such evidence, and consequently the whole case. Much depends on the facts and circumstances of each case. These aspects were highlighted by this Court in Vijay Singh and Ors. v. State of U.P., (1990) CriLJ 1510."

35. It appears that the trial court itself was not entirely convinced with the prosecution case and that is why it granted benefit of doubt to the co-accused Hansu and Rakesh on the basis of same set of evidence. Since the two co-accused were also charged under section 34 IPC, therefore, their acquittal on the basis of same set of evidence is also a ground available for the accused appellant to claim benefit of doubt.

36. Upon overall evaluation of the evidence led in the matter we are not convinced of the genesis of crime as disclosed by the prosecution nor are we satisfied with the explanation offered by the prosecution regarding injuries sustained by the accused Hansu in the matter. The testimony of the two eye witnesses PW-1 and PW-2, in our considered view, cannot be entirely relied upon to convict the accused appellant when on the same set of evidence two other accused have been acquitted by granting them benefit of doubt.

37. In Raghunath vs. State of Haryana, (2003) 1 SCC 398 the Supreme Court in similar circumstances observed as under in paragraph 22 to 24 and 33, which are reproduced hereinafter:-

"22. As already pointed out, accused Ram Kishan sustained as many as six injuries on his body, Injuries 3 and 4 stated to be grievous in nature. Both the trial court and the High Court accepted the version of PW 2 that the injuries were caused in self-defence. We have already disbelieved the version of PW 2. No explanation whatsoever has been afforded by the prosecution with regard to the injuries on the person of the accused Ram Kishan.

23. The question whether the prosecution is obliged to explain the injuries sustained by the accused in the same occurrence and failure to explain injuries on the accused would construe that the prosecution has suppressed the truth and also the origin and genesis of the occurrence, has been in controversy before this Court in a catena of decisions. A three-Judge Bench of this Court in Ram Sunder Yadav v. State of Bihar [(1998) 7 SCC 365 : 1998 SCC (Cri) 1630] (at SCC p. 366, para 3) referred to another three-Judge Bench decision of this Court in Vijayee Singh v. State of U.P. [(1990) 3 SCC 190 : 1990 SCC (Cri) 378] , SCC at p. 202, para 10, which held as under:

"In Mohar Rai case [Mohar Rai v. State of Bihar, AIR 1968 SC 1281 : 1968 Cri LJ 1479] it is made clear that failure of the prosecution to offer any explanation regarding the injuries found on the accused may show that the evidence related to the incident is not true or at any rate not wholly true. Likewise in Lakshmi Singh case [Lakshmi Singh v. State of Bihar, (1976) 4 SCC 394 : 1976 SCC (Cri) 671] also it is observed that any non-explanation of the injuries on the accused by the prosecution may affect the prosecution case. But such a non-explanation may assume greater importance where the evidence consists of interested or inimical witnesses or where the defence gives a version which competes in probability with that of the prosecution. But where the evidence is clear, cogent and creditworthy and where the court can distinguish the truth from falsehood the mere fact that the injuries are not explained by the prosecution cannot by itself be a sole basis to reject such evidence, and consequently the whole case."

24. In the present case, as noticed earlier, the prosecution evidence consists of interested or inimical witnesses. Therefore, non-explanation of the injuries sustained by Ram Kishan may assume greater importance. There is also the defence version which competes in probability with that of the prosecution. In our view, therefore, non-explanation of the injuries sustained by the accused Ram Kishan, which are grievous in nature, renders the prosecution story not wholly true.

33. In the facts and circumstances recited above, we are clearly of the view, that the prosecution has not come up with the true story. It has suppressed the facts. If that be the case, the whole prosecution story would stand on quicksand. The prosecution has failed to establish its case beyond reasonable doubts. It is now a well-settled principle of law that if two views are possible, the one in favour of the accused and the other adversely against it, the view favouring the accused must be accepted."

38. In Khema and others vs. State of U.P. and others, AIR 2022 SC 3765, the Supreme Court has reiterated the previous judgment of the Court in Vadivelu Thevar vs. State of Madras, 1957 SCR 981, wherein the Court emphasized that well established rule of law is that the Court is concerned with quality and not the quantity of evidence necessary for proving or disproving a fact. Generally speaking, oral testimony may be classified into three categories, namely: (1) wholly reliable, (2) wholly unreliable and (3) neither wholly reliable nor wholly unreliable. In the first category the court may acquit or convict on the testimony of a single witness, if it found to be above reproach or suspicion of interestedness, incompetence or subornation. In the second category the court has equally no difficulty in coming to its conclusion. It is in the third category of cases that the court has to be circumspect and has to look for corroboration in material particulars by reliable testimony, direct or circumstantial.....

39. On the conspectus of above consideration, we are of the opinion that prosecution has not succeeded in proving the guilt of accused appellant beyond reasonable doubt on the basis of evidence led by it.

40. For the reasons recorded above, this appeal succeeds and is allowed. The accused appellant is held entitled to the benefit of doubt and consequently, the judgment and order dated 21/22.6.2002, passed by the Additional Sessions Judge (FTC-4), Firozabad in Sessions Trial No. 157 of 1997, State Vs. Rakesh and others; whereby the appellant Suresh has been convicted under section 302 IPC in Case Crime No.509/1995, Police Station Shikohabad, District Firozabad and sentenced to rigorous life imprisonment alongwith fine of Rs. 1000/- and on failure to pay the fine to undergo six months additional imprisonment, is set aside.

41. The accused appellant Suresh since is already on bail, his bail bond and sureties shall stand discharged and he shall be set at liberty, unless he is wanted in any other case subject to compliance of Section 437A Cr.P.C.

42. We also record our appreciation for the pro bono services rendered by Sri Saghir Ahmad, learned Senior Counsel, who has appeared as Amicus Curiae for the appellant. Sri Raghib Ali, Advocate, who has assisted the senior counsel shall however be entitled to his fee from the High Court Legal Service Authority.

3. All the above noted bail applications arise from a common judgment and order, accordingly are being heard and decided jointly.

4. Brief history of the prosecution unfolds that the informant 5 Bacchu Singh, lodged a First Information Report, being Case Crime No. 5 of 2013, under Sections-147, 148, 149, and 302 I.P.C., at Police Station-Refinery, District-Mathura, on 06.01.2013 at 9.40 a.m. against the appellants/applicants- Hakim Singh S/o Girraj Singh, Lauki, Azad @ Ajju, Kishani, Ravi and Hakim Singh S/o Niranjan Singh. In the First Information Report it is alleged that on 06.01.2013, informant's brother-Suresh Chandra, in the morning went to the village to attend nature's call. Vikram s/o deceased Suresh Chandra and his father Lakkho, also followed him to attend nature's call. His son Suresh Chandra reached to the border line of the field, wherein mustered crop was standing, where all the accused were hiding and waiting for the deceased, suddenly came out of the crop field, and at around 8.30 a.m. they started indiscriminate firing with illegal fire arms, and they also assaulted the deceased with blow of Farsa and knives, and on their reaching, on the spot, all the accused fired in air and fled away from the spot of incident.

5. Informant and others, named above, reached on the spot and found that Suresh Chandra had succumbed to injuries. In the First Information Report it is also noted that the dead body of Sureshdeceased, was lying on the place of occurrence and informant came to Police Station to lodge the First Information Report. During investigation the Investigating Officer collected plain and blood stained soil and the same was sealed separately at the place of occurrence on the same day i.e. 06.01.2013 and also the investigating Officer collected three empty cartridges of .315 bore, and prepared exhibit Ka-11, in the presence of the witnesses. Inquest report, Pradarsh Ka-2, in the presence of witnesses 6 (Panchan) was also got prepared to ascertain cause of death of the deceased. The dead body, along with police papers, was transmitted to Mortuary for conducting the autopsy on the dead body.

6. Dr. K.K. Gupta, on 06.01.2017 conducted the post mortem on body of the deceased and prepared autopsy report, Ka-7, accordingly. In autopsy report, there are as many as five injuries on the person of the deceased. Out of the injuries, injury nos. 1 and 2 were of fire arm shot, whereas, injury nos. 3 to 5 were found to have been allegedly caused by sharp edged weapons on the vital part of the body of the deceased.

7. In the opinion of Doctor-K.K.Gupta, the cause of death of the deceased was ante mortem injuries due to oozing of excessive blood from the body of the deceased. 8. The investigating Officer collected prima facie evidence under Section 161 Cr.P.C. and submitted charge sheet against all the named accused persons/ appellants. However, during investigation one of the accused/ appellant Kishni could be arrested, whereas the other accused/appellant/applicants, namely Hakim S/o late Girraj, Lauki, Hakim S/o Niranjan, Ajai @ Ajju and Ravi absconded and for ensuring their presence to record their statements under Section 161 Cr.P.C. the Investigating Officer got their properties attached and filed chalan against accused Hakim Singh and four others, during their absconding.

9. Under Sections 147, 148, 149 & 302 I.P.C. after receiving Challan against above accused/appellants/applicants and other relevant materials cognizance under Sections 190 (1) Cr.P.C. for 7 aforementioned offences against all the accused/appellants/applicants, was taken and then the learned Chief Judicial Magistrate committed criminal case to the Court of District and Sessions Judge.

10. In the mean time, accused/appellant/applicants Hakim and four others surrendered before the Court and the Court of Additional Sessions Judge, Court No. 7, Mathura, framed charges under Sections 147, 148, and 302 read with Section 149 I.P.C., vide orders dated 12.06.2014 and 04.01.2014. All the accused/appellant/applicants, on denial of their charges, commenced trial for aforesaid sections.

11. Prosecution produced informant-P.W.-1-Bacchu Singh son of Lakkho, P.W.-2 Vikram, S/o deceased as witnesses of fact, whereas, P.W.-3 to P.W.-7 are formal witnesses. 12. On closure of the evidence on behalf of the prosecution, statements of the accused under Section 313 Cr.P.C. were recorded. All the accused claimed themselves innocent and also explained that in the instant case they have been falsely roped in.

13. Accused Kishni and Hakim in their statements stated that due to enmity Bacchu and Vikram has given evidence against them and their false implication as a result of enmity with the informant and others. However, Ajai @ Ajju, in his statement under Section 313 Cr.P.C. has stated that he had no enmity with the deceased, as such there was no motive against him to commit such incident nor there was any plausible reason for his complicity in the crime and further stated that on the advice of some villagers, who want to sell his property, he has been falsely implicated in this matter. 8

14. All the accused, except accused Ajai @ Ajju, in their statements under Section 313 Cr.P.C. had declined to adduce evidence in their defence on behalf of the co-accused. D.W.-1 Bhagwan Singh, has been examined.

15. On the conclusion of trial, against all the the accused persons, after considering the entire evidence on record, learned Additional Sessions Judge found clinching evidence against all the accused/appellants under Sections-147, 148, 302, read with 149 I.P.C. and sentenced all the five accused/appellant as noted above. 16. It is clarified that co-accused Ravi on being found juvenile, on the date of alleged occurrence, was tried before the competent Court as his file was got separated by the Court concerned vide order dated 27.07.2013, from the file of aforesaid five accused, against whom the trial, before the learned trial Court, stood concluded.

17. All the aforesaid bail applications are taken together for their disposal by this common order.

18. On behalf of the accused/appellant/applicants it is submitted that during the pendency of their appeals, before the present Court, accused/appellant/applicants be released on bail because the judgment and order dated 25.07.2019 is not sustainable in the eyes of law due to its perversity and the same is also based on false assumptions and surmises and not in the right perspective, the evidence on record, has not been appreciated.

19. Learned counsel for the appellants also submits that First Information Report is anti time and having been lodged at the police Station after post mortem of the body of the deceased, as 9 such, the alleged incident was not seen by the P.W.-1 Bacchu Singh and P.W.-2 Vikram Singh as they were present at the time of alleged occurrence of the incident; thus, FIR was lodged at Police Station after the autopsy of the dead body of the deceased had taken place.

20. In the opinion of P.W.-4, Dr. Gupta, the time of death of the deceased was found 1/3 day old.

21. Learned counsel for the accused/appellant/applicants have also taken us to Post Mortem Report, exhibit-Ka 7, and deposition of P.W.-4 Dr. Gupta and it has been shown that only two fire arm shot injuries were found on the body, whereas, the case of prosecution is that all the accused/appellant/applicants had fired with their fire arm indiscriminately at the deceased; specific role to the accused/appellant/ applicants have also not been assigned; this also goes to show that P.W.-1-Bacchu Singh and P.W.-2 Vikram Singh, were not present at the place of occurrence.

22. It is also the contention of learned counsel for the accused/appellant/applicants that P.W.-4, Dr. Gupta, found only two fire arm injuries on the body of the deceased whereas P.W.-2 Vikram Singh has stated that three accused were having Tamancha and in the first information report it is alleged that all the accused had fired indiscriminately with their weapons at the deceased. As such, the allegations levelled in the First Information Report, depositions of P.W.-1 and P.W.-2 are motivated and not worthy of credit.

23. Out of the witnesses only P.W.-1, Bacchu and P.W.-2 Vikram Singh, who are brother and son of the deceased, respectively, it is 10 urged that they being partisan and interested, have been examined and for want of corroboration of their testimonies by the independent impartial witness/ witnesses, the conviction and sentence of the accused/appellant/applicants is bad and not sustainable; moreover, not only their presence at the place of occurrence is doubtful but their testimonies are contradictory and inconsistent with each other, are not reliable, and, by placing reliance upon them (P.W.-1 and P.W.-2), learned lower Court has misled itself to err and the standard to prove the prosecution case, set by law, has not been met.

24. Next argument put forth on behalf of the accused/appellant/applicants is that they are detained in judicial custody and it is not certain how many years their pending appeals would see the light of the day.

25. Lastly, it is urged that the appellants are entitled to bail. 26. Per contra, learned A.G.A. vehemently opposes the submissions advanced by the learned counsel for the accused/appellant/applicants and submits that P.W.-1 Bacchu Singh lodged the First Information Report, Exhibit Ka-1, at Police Station promptly and it is not essential for the First Information Report to be an encyclopedia; the allegations of the First Information Report are substantiated by the cogent evidence on record. He also submits that the First Information Report is not anti time and the contention pertaining to rigor mortis is not tenable as the rigor mortis varies from person to person. Moreover, he submits that these are only hyper technical arguments and hold no water.

27. Learned A.G.A. also contradicts the contention of the learned 11 counsel for the appellant/applicants by saying that in the village it is normal practice that in the morning as per their convenience villagers go, to attend nature's call and even few persons together attend nature's call but, it does not mean that they excrete together at one place.

28. Learned A.G.A. also refutes the contention of learned counsel for appellants regarding the medical evidence that P.W.4, Dr. K.K. Gupta, had found half of the bladder filled hence the deceased before his death might have eaten some eatable. He further drew our attention to the evidence of P.W.-4, Dr. K.K. Gupta, wherein he deposed that it is not a hard and fast rule that the bladder of the deceased, if found half, be assumed that deceased had eaten some eatable just before his death.

29. Learned A.G.A. further states there is no major inconsistencies so as to shift the place of occurrence as depicted in the site plan by the investigating officer and corroborated in oral account of witnesses P.W.-1-Bacchu Singh and P.W.-2 Vikram Singh. He submits there is just a minor variance of few feets and therefore, merely on such basis the place of occurrence does not shift. Eventually, he argues that bail applications be rejected.

30. We have perused carefully the material placed on record and also heard learned counsel and learned A.G.A., for both the parties.

31. The First Information Report, exhibit-Ka-1, was lodged, by the informant Bacchu Singh, at the concerned Police Station on 06.01.2013 at 9.40 a.m.; the distance from alleged place of occurrence to concerned police station is noted in the First 12 Information Report Chik, Exhibit-Ka 8, as six kilometers, whereas, P.W.-2, Dr. K.K. Gupta, states in his testimony that the post mortem over the body of the deceased was conducted on 06.01.2013 at 4.10 p.m.

32. P.W.-4, Dr. K.K. Gupta, has also noted in the autopsy report Pradarsh-7Ka, the proximate time of death of deceased was 1/3 day, meaning eight hours before the time of autopsy. As such, as per Dr. K.K. Gupta, time of death of deceased approximately is fixed at 8.10 a.m., whereas, in the First Information Report P.W.-1 Bacchu Singh has stated the time of occurrence around 8.30 a.m. P.W.-1, Bacchu Singh and P.W.-2 Vikram Singh, have not been cross examined on the point whether at the time of their alleged presence on the spot they had worn wrist watch, nor these witnesses have disclosed that at the time of occurrence any one of them was wearing wrist watch. Considering the material on record we are of the opinion that time of death 8.30 a.m. was approximately noted in the First Information Report, Pradarsh Ka- 1.

33. As there is just a difference of a few minutes about the proximate time of death of the deceased in the alleged First Information Report, Pradarsh-Ka-1 and in oral accounts of two witnesses (P.W.-1 and P.W.-2) and also in the deposition of P.W.- 4, therefore, we do not find that the First Information Report is ante time.

34. From perusal of the testimonies of P.W.-1 and P.W.-2 it is found that their evidence is trustworthy and also their presence in the circumstances of the case was natural at the place of 13 occurrence. Mere non production of Lakkho, does not dismantle prosecution case.

35. In view of the decision of the Supreme Court in Hari Obula Reddy v. State of A.P., (1981) 3 SCC 675 & Jalpat Rai v. State of Haryana, (2011) 14 SCC 208, the law is settled that the testimony of an interested witness is not necessarily unreliable and there is no invariable rule that interested evidence can never form the basis of conviction unless corroborated to a material extent in material particulars by independent evidence. What is required is that testimony of such a witness should be subjected to careful scrutiny. If, on such scrutiny, the testimony is found to be intrinsically reliable or inherently probable, it may, in the facts and circumstances of a case, form the basis of conviction.

36. Thus the contention of the learned counsel that the evidence adduced by P.W.-1 Bacchu Singh and P.W.-2 Vikram Singh, be thrown out is not tenable.

37. Hon'ble Apex Court in so many cases has reiterated the legal settled position that the testimony of a relative unless proved otherwise cannot be discarded or disbelieved merely on the basis of relation, as such their depositions cannot be treated as unreliable.

38. As far as the contention on behalf of the appellants regarding rigor mortis is concerned, we are of the view that the incident is said to have occurred on 06.01.2013 and the month of January, in north India, is of acute cold and further the deceased at the time of his unnatural death was about 40 years. Generally rigor mortis in the dead body of such an aged person, in the first week of 14 January, starts after three hours after death and process takes about nine hours to complete and its cycle is repeated in a period of further nine hours to end. Recycle to complete the rigor mortis takes further nine hours.

39. Perusal of Post Mortem Report shows that column at serial no. 6A is blank and in this connection P.W.-4 Dr. K.K. Gupta has not been put to cross examination.

40. Hon'ble Apex Court has also consistently laid down in plethora of cases that from a witness of fact it is not expected to remember nitty-gritty of alleged incident, it is not necessary to assign specific weapon of offence to each accused and to remember number of shots and blows.

41. From the perusal of the record, it is evident that the allegations of the First Information Report find support not only from the testimonies of eye witnesses P.W.-1 Bacchu Singh and P.W.-2 Vikram Singh but also from the medical evidence and other depositions of the formal witnesses.

42. It is also pertinent to say that as far as question of process of autopsy on the body of the deceased is concerned, it is a scientific examination to ascertain cause of death of the deceased but the question regarding the probable time of death in the autopsy report, is merely an opinion of the Doctor, which falls within the ambit of Section 45 of the Evidence Act.

43. P.W.-4, Dr. K.K. Gupta, has himself stated in his statement that the exact time of the death cannot be fixed in the post mortem report; time of death 1/3 day is proximate one. Likewise, time of alleged incident in the First Information Report is 15 proximate , because the word "Lagbhag' (about) has been noted in the First Information Report.

44. Learned trial Court has given its verdict with regard to conviction and sentence in view of the material on record and at this stage, we do not find the impugned judgment and order is based on surmises or false assumptions and the learned trial Court does not appear to have erred in appreciation of evidence on record.

45. With regard to final disposal of appeal it is submitted that it will take time, we find this submission as inconsequential because the instant appeals on behalf of the appellants/applicants having been filed in the year, 2019, considering the backlog of the appeals in this Court, it is true that the disposal of present appeals would take time but merely because of above factor, the appellant/ applicants cannot be granted bail.

46. Having due regard to the aforementioned discussion, prosecution evidence and manner in which the alleged incident has occurred, accused/appellant/ applicants have failed to persuade us to disagree with the trial Court judgment and order that it is perverse and suffers from illegalities in the findings arrived at by the learned trial court. Thus, we do not find the accused/appellant/ applicants entitled to obtain bail, as such, all the aforesaid bail applications, as well as, Jail Appeal No. 151 of 2019, are liable to be rejected and is accordingly rejected.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Dr. Kaushal Jayendra Thaker, J. & Hon'ble Nalin Kumar Srivastava, J.)

1. Present criminal appeal challenges judgment and order dated 26.10.2017 passed by the Additional Sessions Judge (Fast Track Court), Hamirpur, in Sessions Trial No.27 of 2014 whereby the learned Additional Sessions Judge has convicted the accused-appellants, Naresh & Smt. Rajjan for commission of offence under Section 302 of Indian Penal Code, 1860 (for short 'IPC') and sentenced them to undergo imprisonment for life with fine of Rs.20,000/- and in case of default in payment of fine, further to undergo two year simple imprisonment.

2. Accused-appellant, Naresh, is in jail since 31.10.2013 and Smt. Rajjan is in jail since 26.10.2017.

3. Heard Sri Raj Kumar Sharma, learned counsel for the accused-appellants and learned A.G.A. for the State.

4. Brief facts as culled out from the record are that the mother of the deceased lodges an F.I.R. on 20.10.2013 at about 9.30 a.m. against the accused-appellants and two other family members which is registered as Case Crime No.940 of 2013 under Sections 498A & 307 of Indian Penal Code and Section 3/4 of Dowry Prohibition Act at P.S. Maudaha, District Hamirpur. In the F.I.R. it is alleged that the daughter of the informant namely Rinki was married with accused-appellant No.1, Naresh, two years' ago and the in-laws were given sufficient dowry but after two years of marriage the appellants and other co-accused persons started demanding Rupees Two Lakhs as additional dowry and in the course of said demand on 16.10.2013 they set her daughter ablaze by pouring kerosene oil. She was admitted in the Hospital by the neighbors. During treatment, the deceased breathed her last on 4.11.2013 due to septicemic shock.

5. On investigation being put into motion, the investigating officer recorded the statements of all the witnesses and submitted the charge-sheet to the learned Magistrate against accused Naresh, Ramadheen and Smt. Rajjan under Sections 498A, 304B of IPC and Section 3/4 of Dowry Prohibition Act.

6. The learned Magistrate summoned the accused and committed the case to the Sessions Court as the offences alleged to have been committed were triable by the Sessions Court. The learned Sessions Judge has framed the charges against the above accused under Sections Sections 498A, 304B of IPC and Section 3/4 of Dowry Prohibition Act and additional charge under Section 302 of IPC.

7. On being summoned, the accused-persons pleaded not guilty and wanted to be tried.

8. The Trial started and the prosecution examined 10 witnesses who are as follows:

1	Budhiya	PW1
2	Ramroop	PW2
3	Lallu	PW3
4	Musaram Tharu	PW
5	Smt. Savitri	PW5
6	Laxmi Prasad	PW6
7	Rubi	PW7
8	Rahim Bax	PW8
9	Dr. R.S. Prajapati	PW9
10	Dhananjay Singh	PW 10

9. In support of ocular version following documents were filed and proved:

1	F.I.R. & G.D.	Ex.Ka.8 & Ex. Ka.9
2	Written Report	Ex.Ka.1
3	Recovery memo	Ex. Ka.12
4	Postmortem Report	Ex.Ka.13
5	Panchayatnama	Ex.Ka.2

6	Dying Declration	Ex. Ka. 7
7	Charge-sheet	Ex. Ka.15
8	Site Plan	Ex.Ka.10

10. At the end of the trial and after recording the statements of the accused under section 313 of Cr.P.C., and hearing arguments on behalf of prosecution and the defence, the learned Sessions Judge convicted the accused-appellants as mentioned above.

11. It is submitted by learned counsel for the appellant that the incident occurred on the spur of moment and the accused had not premeditated to do away with the deceased and the death was after couple of days. The cause of death according to doctor who conducted the postmortem of deceased was septicemia.

12. It is further submitted that conviction under Section 302 IPC is not made out as no overt act as per Section 300 IPC is made out. In alternative, it is submitted that at the most, the death can be homicidal death not amounting to murder and punishable under Section 304 II or Section 304 I of I.P.C. If the Court decides that the accused is guilty under Section 302 of IPC, then the accused may be granted fixed term punishment of incarceration as the death is not a gruesome act on part of accused.

13. Learned counsel for the State has submitted that though it is septicemic death, the dying declaration and evidence of other prosecution witnesses will not permit this Court to show any leniency in the matter. It is further submitted by learned A.G.A. that ingredients of Section 300 of IPC are rightly held to be made out by the learned Sessions Judge who has applied the law to the facts in case.

14. In the light of the decision in Govindappa and others Versus State of Karnataka, (2010) 6 SCC 533, there is no reason for us not to accept the dying declaration recorded by the Magistrate and its evidentiary value under Section 32 of Evidence Act, 1872.

15. Principle for accepting dying declaration will permit us to concur with the finding of the learned Sessions Judge that dying declaration could have been acted upon as there is no material contradictions in the dying declaration. The dying declaration when taken in its totality goes to show that the husband and mother-in-law of deceased had set her ablaze.

16. While considering the evidence of witnesses and the Postmortem report which states that the injuries on the body of the deceased would be the cause of death and that it was was homicidal death, we concur with this finding of the Court below. She died after several days out of septicemic death and, therefore, we are convinced that it is homicidal death but, it would be seen whether it is homicidal death punishable under Section 302 or Section 304 Part I or Part II of IPC?

17. It would be relevant to refer to Section 299 of the Indian Penal Code, which reads as under:

"299. Culpable homicide: Whoever causes death by doing an act with the intention of causing death, or with the intention of causing such bodily injury as is likely to cause death, or with the knowledge that he is likely by such act to cause death, commits the offence of culpable homicide."

18. The academic distinction between "murder' and "culpable homicide not amounting to murder' has always vexed the Courts. The confusion is caused, if Courts loose sight of the true scope and meaning of the terms used by the legislature in these sections, and allow themselves to be drawn into minute abstractions. The safest way of approach to the interpretation and application of these provisions seems to be is to keep in focus the keywords used in the various clauses of Section 299 and 300 of I.P.Code. The following comparative table will be helpful in appreciating the points of distinction between the two offences.

Section 299	Section 300
A person commits culpable homicide if the act by which the death is caused is done-	Subject to certain exceptions culpable homicide is murder if the act by which the death is caused is done.
INTENTION
(a) with the intention of causing death; or	(1)with the intention of causing death; or
(b) with the intention of causing such bodily injury as is likely to cause death; or	(2) with the intention of causing such bodily injury as the offender knows to be likely to cause the death of the person to whom the harm is caused;
KNOWLEDGE	KNOWLEDGE
(c) with the knowledge that the act is likely to cause death.	(4) with the knowledge that the act is so immediately dangerous that it must in all probability cause death or such bodily injury as is likely to cause death, and without any excuse for incurring the risk of causing death or such injury as is mentioned above.

19. We can safely rely upon the decision of the Gujarat High court in Criminal Appeal No.83 of 2008 (Gautam Manubhai Makwana Vs. State of Gujarat) decided on 11.9.2013 wherein the Court held as under:

"12. In fact, in the case of Krishan vs. State of Haryana reported in (2013) 3 SCC 280, the Apex Court has held that it is not an absolute principle of law that a dying declaration cannot form the sole basis of conviction of an accused. Where the dying declaration is true and correct, the attendant circumstances show it to be reliable and it has been recorded in accordance with law, the deceased made the dying declaration of her own accord and upon due certification by the doctor with regard to the state of mind and body, then it may not be necessary for the court to look for corroboration. In such cases, the dying declaration alone can form the basis for the conviction of the accused. But where the dying declaration itself is attended by suspicious circumstances, has not been recorded in accordance with law and settled procedures and practices, then, it may be necessary for the court to look for corroboration of the same.

13. However, the complaint given by the deceased and the dying declaration recorded by the Executive Magistrate and the history before the doctor is consistent and seems to be trustworthy. The same is also duly corroborated with the evidence of witnesses and the medical reports as well as panchnama and it is clear that the deceased died a homicidal death due to the act of the appellants in pouring kerosene and setting him ablaze. We do find that the dying declaration is trust worthy.

14. However, we have also not lost sight of the fact that the deceased had died after a month of treatment. From the medical reports, it is clear that the deceased suffered from Septicemia which happened due to extensive burns.

15. In the case of the B.N. Kavatakar and another (supra), the Apex Court in a similar case of septicemia where the deceased therein had died in the hospital after five days of the occurrence of the incident in question, converted the conviction under section 302 to under section 326 and modified the sentence accordingly.

15.1 Similarly, in the case of Maniben (supra), the Apex Court has observed as under:

"18. The deceased was admitted in the hospital with about 60% burn injuries and during the course of treatment developed septicemia, which was the main cause of death of the deceased. It is, therefore, established that during the aforesaid period of 8 days the injuries aggravated and worsened to the extent that it led to ripening of the injuries and the deceased died due to poisonous effect of the injuries.

19. It is established from the dying declaration of the deceased that she was living separately from her mother-in-law, the appellant herein, for many years and that on the day in question she had a quarrel with the appellant at her house. It is also clear from the evidence on record that immediately after the quarrel she along with her daughter came to fetch water and when she was returning, the appellant came and threw a burning tonsil on the clothes of the deceased. Since the deceased was wearing a terylene cloth at that relevant point of time, it aggravated the fire which caused the burn injuries.

20. There is also evidence on record to prove and establish that the action of the appellant to throw the burning tonsil was preceded by a quarrel between the deceased and the appellant. From the aforesaid evidence on record it cannot be said that the appellant had the intention that such action on her part would cause the death or such bodily injury to the deceased, which was sufficient in the ordinary course of nature to cause the death of the deceased. Therefore, in our considered opinion, the case cannot be said to be covered under clause (4) of Section 300 of IPC. We are, however, of the considered opinion that the case of the appellant is covered under Section 304 Part II of IPC."

16. In the present case, we have come to the irresistible conclusion that the role of the appellants is clear from the dying declaration and other records. However, the point which has also weighed with this court are that the deceased had survived for around 30 days in the hospital and that his condition worsened after around 5 days and ultimately died of septicemia. In fact he had sustained about 35% burns. In that view of the matter, we are of the opinion that the conviction of the appellants under section 302 of Indian Penal Code is required to be converted to that under section 304(I) of Indian Penal Code and in view of the same appeal is partly allowed.

17. The conviction of the appellants - original accused under Section 302 of Indian Penal Code vide judgment and order dated 19.12.2007 arising from Sessions Case No. 149 of 2007 passed by the Additional Sessions Judge, Fast Track Court No. 6, Ahmedabad is converted to conviction under Section 304 (Part I) of Indian Penal Code. However, the conviction of the appellants - original accused under section 452 of Indian Penal Code is upheld. The appellants - original accused are ordered to undergo rigorous imprisonment for a period of ten years and fine of Rs. 5000/- each in default rigorous imprisonment for six months under section 304 (Part I) of Indian Penal Code instead of life imprisonment and sentence in default of fine as awarded by the trial court under section 302 IPC. The sentence imposed in default of fine under section 452 IPC is also reduced to two months. Accordingly, the appellants are ordered to undergo rigorous imprisonment for a period of ten years and fine of Rs. 5000/-, in default, rigorous imprisonment for six months for offence punishable under section 304(I) of Indian Penal Code and rigorous imprisonment for a period of five years and fine of Rs. 2,000/-, in default, rigorous imprisonment for two months for offence punishable under section 452 of Indian Penal Code. Both sentences shall run concurrently. The judgement and order dated 19.12.2007 is modified accordingly. The period of sentence already undergone shall be considered for remission of sentence qua appellants - original accused. R & P to be sent back to the trial court forthwith."

20. In latest decision in Khokan@ Khokhan Vishwas v. State of Chattisgarh, 2021 LawSuit (SC) 80, where the facts were similar to this case, the Apex Court has allowed the appeal of the accused appellant and altered the sentence. The decision of the Apex Court in the case of Anversinh v. State of Gujarat, (2021) 3 SCC 12 which was related to kidnapping from legal guardian, wherein it was established that the Court while respecting the concerns of both society and victim, propounded that the twin principle of deterrence and correction would be served by reducing the period of incarceration already undergone by the accused. In our case, this is not that gruesome matter where the accused cannot be dealt with in light of all these judgments. Decisions in Pravat Chandra Mohanty v. State of Odisha, (2021) 3 SCC 529 & Pardeshiram v. State of M.P., (2021) 3 SCC 238 will also enure for the benefit of the accused.

21. On overall scrutiny of the facts and circumstances of the present case coupled with the opinion of the Medical Officer and considering the principle laid down by the Apex Court in the Case of Tukaram and Ors Vs. State of Maharashtra, reported in (2011) 4 SCC 250 and in the case of B.N. Kavatakar and Another Vs. State of Karnataka, reported in 1994 SUPP (1) SCC 304, we are of the considered opinion that it was a case of homicidal death not amounting to murder.

22. From the upshot of the aforesaid discussions, it appears that the death caused by the accused was not premeditated, accused though had knowledge and intention that their act would cause bodily harm to the deceased but did not want to do away with the deceased. Hence the instant case falls under the Exceptions 1 and 4 to Section 300 of IPC. While considering Section 299 as reproduced herein above offence committed will fall under Section 304 Part-I as per the observations of the Apex Court in Veeran and others Vs. State of M.P. Decided, (2011) 5 SCR 300 which have to be also kept in mind.

23. We come to the definite conclusion that the death was not premeditated. The precedents discussed by us would permit us to uphold our finding which we conclusively hold that the offence is not punishable under Section 302 of I.P.C. but is culpable homicide not amounting to murder, punishable U/s 304 (Part I) of I.P.C.

24. This takes us to the alternative submission of learned counsel for the appellants that the quantum of sentence is too harsh and requires to be modified. In this regard, we have to analyse the theory of punishment prevailing in India.

25. In Mohd. Giasuddin Vs. State of AP, [AIR 1977 SC 1926], explaining rehabilitary & reformative aspects in sentencing it has been observed by the Supreme Court:

"Crime is a pathological aberration. The criminal can ordinarily be redeemed and the state has to rehabilitate rather than avenge. The sub-culture that leads to ante-social behaviour has to be countered not by undue cruelty but by reculturization. Therefore, the focus of interest in penology in the individual and the goal is salvaging him for the society. The infliction of harsh and savage punishment is thus a relic of past and regressive times. The human today vies sentencing as a process of reshaping a person who has deteriorated into criminality and the modern community has a primary stake in the rehabilitation of the offender as a means of a social defence. Hence a therapeutic, rather than an 'in terrorem' outlook should prevail in our criminal courts, since brutal incarceration of the person merely produces laceration of his mind. If you are to punish a man retributively, you must injure him. If you are to reform him, you must improve him and, men are not improved by injuries."

26. 'Proper Sentence' was explained in Deo Narain Mandal Vs. State of UP [(2004) 7 SCC 257] by observing that Sentence should not be either excessively harsh or ridiculously low. While determining the quantum of sentence, the court should bear in mind the 'principle of proportionality'. Sentence should be based on facts of a given case. Gravity of offence, manner of commission of crime, age and sex of accused should be taken into account. Discretion of Court in awarding sentence cannot be exercised arbitrarily or whimsically.

27. In Ravada Sasikala vs. State of A.P. AIR 2017 SC 1166, the Supreme Court referred the judgments in Jameel vs State of UP [(2010) 12 SCC 532], Guru Basavraj vs State of Karnatak, [(2012) 8 SCC 734], Sumer Singh vs Surajbhan Singh, [(2014) 7 SCC 323], State of Punjab vs Bawa Singh, [(2015) 3 SCC 441], and Raj Bala vs State of Haryana, [(2016) 1 SCC 463] and has reiterated that, in operating the sentencing system, law should adopt corrective machinery or deterrence based on factual matrix. Facts and given circumstances in each case, nature of crime, manner in which it was planned and committed, motive for commission of crime, conduct of accused, nature of weapons used and all other attending circumstances are relevant facts which would enter into area of consideration. Further, undue sympathy in sentencing would do more harm to justice dispensations and would undermine the public confidence in the efficacy of law. It is the duty of every court to award proper sentence having regard to nature of offence and manner of its commission. The supreme court further said that courts must not only keep in view the right of victim of crime but also society at large. While considering imposition of appropriate punishment, the impact of crime on the society as a whole and rule of law needs to be balanced. The judicial trend in the country has been towards striking a balance between reform and punishment. The protection of society and stamping out criminal proclivity must be the object of law which can be achieved by imposing appropriate sentence on criminals and wrongdoers. Law, as a tool to maintain order and peace, should effectively meet challenges confronting the society, as society could not long endure and develop under serious threats of crime and disharmony. It is therefore, necessary to avoid undue leniency in imposition of sentence. Thus, the criminal justice jurisprudence adopted in the country is not retributive but reformative and corrective. At the same time, undue harshness should also be avoided keeping in view the reformative approach underlying in our criminal justice system.

28. Keeping in view the facts and circumstances of the case and also keeping in view criminal jurisprudence in our country which is reformative and corrective and not retributive, this Court considers that no accused person is incapable of being reformed and therefore, all measures should be applied to give them an opportunity of reformation in order to bring them in the social stream.

29. As discussed above, 'reformative theory of punishment' is to be adopted and for that reason, it is necessary to impose punishment keeping in view the 'doctrine of proportionality'. It appears from perusal of impugned judgment that sentence awarded by learned trial court for life term is very harsh keeping in view the entirety of facts and circumstances of the case and gravity of offence. Hon'ble Apex Court, as discussed above, has held that undue harshness should be avoided taking into account the reformative approach underlying in criminal justice system.

30. Therefore, accused-appellants are convicted for the offence punishable under Section 304 (Part I) of IPC and sentenced to period undergone. The fine is reduced to Rs.10,000/-. The accused-appellants be set free if not warranted in any other offence. The fine if they have yet not deposited, will deposit the same within four weeks from the date of release from jail. The jail authority shall see that the accused-appellants are lodged in the jail to re-incarcerate for the default period if fine is not paid after they are released.

31. In view of the above, both the criminal appeals are partly allowed. Record and proceedings be sent back to the Court below forthwith.

...Petitioners
Versus
The State of U.P. & Ors. ...Respondents

Counsel for the Petitioners:

A. Service Law – Termination – Uttar Pradesh Basic Education (Teachers) Service Rules, 1981 - Uttar Pradesh Basic Education Staff Rules, 1973 - Rule 3, 3(vi), 5(3) - Civil Service (Classification, Control and Appeal) Rules 1930 - Uttar Pradesh Government Servant (Discipline and Appeal) Rules, 1999 - On the conviction of an employee of a criminal charge, the order of punishment cannot be passed unless the conduct which has led to his conviction is also considered. The scrutiny of conduct of an employee leading to his conviction is to be done ex parte and an opportunity of hearing is not to be provided for this purpose to the employee concerned. (Para 15)

It is well-settled that Article 311(2) proviso (a) of the Constitution is pari materia to Clause (i) of the 4th proviso to Rule 7 of the 1999 Rules empowering the disciplinary authority to impose a major penalty on a person without holding the enquiry on the basis of "conduct which has led to conviction". It is also a settled that punishment is not automatic and based on the mere conviction but the order imposing punishment must show application of mind on the part of the disciplinary authority on the conduct which has led to the conviction of the employee and appropriate punishment which he is liable to suffer. (Para 12 to 15)

The Court finds that the impugned orders do not conform to the 1999 Rules in as much as the Basic Shiksha Adhikari, Maharajganj/Respondent No. 3 has not taken into consideration the entire conduct of the petitioners, the gravity of misconduct committed by them, the impact which the misconduct is likely to have etc. and has passed the order simply recording that the petitioners were suspended vide order dated 16.4.2016 on their being convicted in Case No. 186 of 2013, u/Ss. 302/34, 323/34, 504, 506 IPC vide order of the Additional Sessions Judge, Maharajganj. The services of the petitioners are being terminated with immediate effect on their conviction vide order dated 2.4.2016 in compliance of the procedure laid down in the GO dated 12.10.1979 and the U.P. Government Servants (Discipline and Appeal) Rules, 1999. (Para 17)

B. Applicability of the 1999 Rules in place of the 1930 Rules - It is not in dispute that the Civil Services (Classification, Control and Appeal) Rules 1930 stands superceeded by the Uttar Pradesh Government Servant (Discipline and Appeal) Rules 1999. Although the U.P. Basic Education Staff Rules, 1973 has not been amended and Rule 5(3) continues to refer to the Civil Service (Classification, Control and Appeal) Rules, the Court is of the opinion that the disciplinary proceedings, appeals and representations shall be governed under the Uttar Pradesh Government Servant (Discipline and Appeal) Rules, 1999 on the principle of Legislative reference. (Para 8)

Writ petition allowed. (E-4)

Present petition assails order dated 28.10.2021, passed by Basic Shiksha Adhikari, Maharajganj.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Ashutosh Srivastava, J.)

1. The writ petitioners, who claim to have been appointed as Assistant Teachers in a Primary School run and established by the Basic Shiksha Parishad after facing selection have approached this Court assailing an order dated 28.10.2021 (Annexure Nos.9 & 10 to the writ petition) passed by the Basic Shiksha Adhikari, Maharajganj/Respondent No.3, whereby services of the petitioners as Assistant Teachers have been terminated.

2. It is the case of the writ petitioners that they have been appointed as Assistant Teachers under the provisions of the Uttar Pradesh Basic Education (Teachers) Services Rules, 1981 after facing selection. The Petitioner No.1 was appointed under the order of the Basic Shiksha Adhikari dated 23.10.2008 and was permitted to join as Assistant Teacher in Urdu in Primary School, Kamhariya Khurd, Block Farenda, District Maharajganj. Later on, the Petitioner No.1 was promoted as Headmaster in Primary School/Assistant Teacher in Junior High School on 26.11.2011 and had been working in such capacity in Purv Madhyamik Vidyalaya Parsia Bujurg Block Farenda, District Maharajganj. Likewise, the Petitioner No.2 was appointed as Assistant Teacher by the order of the Basic Shiksha Adhikari dated 24.10.2008 and joined in Primary School, Sonbarsa Block Farenda, District Maharajganj. The Petitioner No.2 was also promoted as Headmaster in Primary School, Sonbarsa Block Farenda District Maharajganj.

3. In the year 2013, an F.I.R. came to be lodged against the petitioners giving rise to the Case Crime No.907 of 2013 under Sections 302/34, 323/34, 504, 506 I.P.C. and a charge sheet was submitted against the petitioners. The petitioners were arrested and consequently placed under suspension, however, were subsequently released on bail. The petitioners were convicted in the offence in Trial No.186 of 2013 vide conviction order dated 02.04.2016. The petitioners were again arrested and put in jail on their conviction. The conviction order has been assailed in Criminal Appeal No.1712 of 2016 which is pending consideration before this Court and the petitioners have been released on bail. The petitioners were reinstated in service under orders of the District Basic Education Officer, Maharajganj dated 30.06.2018 respectively. However, the order dated 30.06.2018 reinstating the petitioners in service was withdrawn by order dated 28.07.2018 and the petitioners were again placed under suspension. Now by the impugned order dated 28.10.2021 the Basic Shiksha Adhikari has proceeded to terminate the services of the petitioners which order has been impugned in the present writ petition.

4. It is contended by the learned counsel for the petitioners that the petitioners are regular appointee and no enquiry is contemplated under the Uttar Pradesh Basic Education Staff Rules, 1973 read with the Uttar Pradesh Basic Education (Teachers) Service Rules, 1981 and as such in the absence of any enquiry the services of the petitioners cannot be terminated.

5. This Court vide order dated 22.03.2022 while entertaining the writ petition had directed the respondents to file counter affidavit. Pursuant to the said order, a counter affidavit has been filed on behalf of the Basic Shiksha Adhikari, Maharajganj, Respondent No.3. Sri R. K. Ojha, learned Senior Counsel assisted by Sri K. B. Parihar, learned counsel for the petitioner submits that he has already filed rejoinder affidavit and further as the issue involved is a legal issue the same can be decided even in the absence of rejoinder affidavit.

6. The short question for adjudication in this writ petition is as to whether the services of a permanent Assistant Teacher in a Primary School run and established by the Board of Basic Education convicted in an offence under Sections 302/34, 323/34, 504, 506 IPC be terminated without holding an enquiry.

7. There is no dispute that the service conditions of the writ petitioners are governed by the Uttar Pradesh Basic Education (Teachers) Services Rules, 1981 read with the Uttar Pradesh Basic Education Staff Rules, 1973. The 1981 Rules do not provide for punishment and the same is provided under Rule 3 of the 1973 Rules. Rule 3(vi) of the 1973 Rules talks about dismissal from service of the Board which ordinarily disqualifies him from future employment. Rule 5(3) of the 1973 Rules provides that the procedure laid down in Civil Services (Classification, Control and Appeal) Rules as applicable to servants of the Uttar Pradesh Government shall as far as possible be followed in disciplinary proceedings, appeals and representations under the said Rules. When the 1973 Rules were promulgated the Civil Service (Classification, Control and Appeal) Rules 1930 were referred to in the Rules, however, the 1930 Rules have since been repealed and stand superceeded by the Uttar Pradesh Government Servant (Discipline and Appeal) Rules, 1999.

8. It is not in dispute that the Civil Services (Classification, Control and Appeal) Rules 1930 stands superceeded by the Uttar Pradesh Government Servant (Discipline and Appeal) Rules 1999. Although the U.P. Basic Education Staff Rules, 1973 has not been amended and Rule 5(3) continues to refer to the Civil Service (Classification, Control and Appeal) Rules, the Court is of the opinion that the disciplinary proceedings, appeals and representations shall be governed under the Uttar Pradesh Government Servant (Discipline and Appeal) Rules, 1999 on the principle of Legislative reference. The question of the applicability of the 1999 Rules in place of the 1930 Rules was elaborately considered by a Coordinate Bench of this Court in the case of Ziledar Singh Vs. State of U.P. and others, reported in 2010 (81) ALR 270. Para 42 and 43 of the aforesaid decision are being reproduced here under:-

"42. Considering in the light of the principles laid down above, I am of the view that it is "legislation by reference" with respect to procedure prescribed in 1930 Rules with respect to disciplinary proceedings, appeals and representations and its subsequent amendments and supercession, recession by 1999 Rules would also cover the field and would apply to Rule 5 (3) of 1973 Rules. Both the statutes travel in the same field. Since the purpose of referring to 1930 Rules in 1973 Rules is in respect to import procedure of departmental enquiry instead of repeating the same, to my mind the exception referred in P.C. Agarwala (supra) clearly attracted here also and it would be prudent to apply 1999 Rules which supersede 1930 Rules, since the amended and detailed procedure provided in 1999 Rules makes the enquiry more transparent and consistent with the known principles of natural justice. The intent of rule framing authority also does not appear to be otherwise.

43. The subsequent amendment, modification etc. in the statutes would, therefore, also be applicable to 1973 Rules but only and specifically with respect to the procedure for departmental inquiry, appeals and representations and not beyond that. "

9. Rule 7 of the 1999 Rules deals with the procedure for imposing major penalties.

10. A bare perusal of the Rule 5(3) of the 1973 Rules, and Rules 6, 7 & 8 of 1999 would go to show that full fledged procedure has been provided for in the matter of procedure to be adhered to while making departmental enquiry, being in consonance with principles of natural justice and rule of fair play. However, the 4th proviso to Rule 7 of the 1999 Rules provides that the Rule 7 shall not apply in the following cases.

(i) Where any major penalty is imposed on a person on the ground of conduct which has led to his conviction on a criminal charge; or

(ii) Where the Disciplinary Authority is satisfied, that for reason to be recorded by it in writing, that it is not reasonably practicable to hold an inquiry in the manner provided in these rules; or

(iii) Where the Governor is satisfied that, in the interest of the security of the State, it is not expedient to hold an inquiry in the manner provided in these rules."

11. A perusal of the Clause (i) of the 4th proviso shows that the order contemplates therein is one which can be passed imposing a major penalty on a person on the ground of "conduct which has led to his conviction" on a criminal charge and not mere conviction.

12. The contingencies where a person can be imposed major penalty without any enquiry on the ground of his conviction is no more res integra. It is now well settled that Article 311(2) proviso (a) of the Constitution is pari materia to Clause (i) of the 4th proviso to Rule 7 of the 1999 Rules empowering the disciplinary authority to impose a major penalty on a person without holding the enquiry on the basis of "conduct which has led to conviction". It is also a settled exposition of law that punishment is not automatic and based on the mere conviction but the order imposing punishment must show application of mind on the part of the disciplinary authority on the conduct which has led to the conviction of the employee and appropriate punishment which he is liable to suffer.

13. The question as to whether the order must disclose application of mind on the part of the disciplinary authority that it has considered the question of conduct which has led to conviction of the employee before passing punishment is also no more res integra. The Apex Court in Union of India Vs. Tulsi Ram Patel [1985(3) SCC 398] while considering the pari materia provisions under Article 311 of the Constitution of India held as under:-

"The second proviso will apply only where the conduct of a government servant is such as he deserves the punishment of dismissal, removal or reduction in rank. If the conduct is such as to deserve a punishment different from those mentioned above, the second proviso cannot come into play at all because Article 311(2) is itself confined only to these three penalties. Therefore, before denying a government servant his constitutional right to an inquiry, the first consideration would be whether the conduct of the concerned, government servant is such as justified the penalty of dismissal, removal or reduction in rank. Once that conclusion is reached and the condition specified in the relevant clause of the second proviso is satisfied, that proviso becomes applicable and the government servant is not entitled to an enquiry."

(Emphasis added)

14. A similar question came up for consideration before a Division Bench of this Court in Shyam Narain Shukla Vs. state of U.P. (1988) 6 LCD 530 and this Court held as under:-

"In view of the above decision of the Supreme Court, it has to be held that whenever a Government servant is convicted of an offence, he cannot be dismissed from service merely on the ground of conviction but the appropriate authority has to consider the conduct of such employee leading to his conviction and then to decide what punishment is to be inflicted upon him. In the matter of consideration of conduct as also the quantum of punishment the employee has not to be joined and the decision has to be taken by the appropriate authority independently of the employee who, as laid down by the Supreme Court, is not to be given an opportunity of hearing at that stage.

(Emphasis added)

15. Similarly another Division Bench of this Court in Sadanand Mishra Vs. State of U.P., 1993 LCD page 70 held that on the conviction of an employee of a criminal charge, the order of punishment cannot be passed unless the conduct which has led to his conviction is also considered. Further, it is held that the scrutiny of conduct of an employee leading to his conviction is to be done ex parte and an opportunity of hearing is not to be provided for this purpose to the employee concerned.

16. The above view was taken by this Court in Chandra Bhuwan Tripathi Vs. State of U.P. & others (Civil Misc. Writ Petition No. 45364 of 2003) decided on 8.12.2006. "

17. Now testing the impugned order dated 28.10.2021 on the anvil of the ratio of the aforesaid decisions, the Court finds that the impugned orders do not conform to the 1999 Rules in as much as the Basic Shiksha Adhikari, Maharajganj/Respondent No.3 has not taken into consideration the entire conduct of the petitioners, the gravity of misconduct committed by them, the impact which the misconduct is likely to have etc. and has passed the order simply recording that the petitioners were suspended vide order dated 16.04.2016 on their being convicted in Case No.186 of 2013, under Sections 302/34, 323/34, 504, 506 IPC vide order of the Additional Sessions Judge, Maharajganj. The services of the petitioners are being terminated with immediate effect on their conviction vide order dated 02.04.2016 in compliance of the procedure laid down in the Government Order dated 12.10.1979 and the U.P. Government Servants (Discipline and Appeal) Rules, 1999.

18. In the result, the writ petition is allowed. The impugned orders dated 28.10.2021 (Annexure No.9 & 10 to the writ petition) respectively passed by the Basic Shiksha Adhikari, Maharajganj, Respondent No.3 are quashed.

19. However, it shall be open to the Respondent No.3 to pass a fresh order in accordance with law.

State of U.P. & Ors. ...Respondents

Counsel for the Petitioners:
Sri Pradeep Kumar Upadhyay

A. Service Law – Appointment/Selection - Intermediate Education Act, 1921 - Regulation 101 Chapter III - Where proceedings are initiated for selection by issuing advertisement, the selection should normally be regulated by the then existing rules and Government Orders and any amendment of the rules or the Government Order pending the selection should not affect the validity of the selection made by the selecting authority or the Public Service Commission unless the amended rules or the amended Government orders issued in exercise of its statutory power either by express provision or by necessary intendment indicate that amended Rules shall be applicable to the pending selections. (Para 8)

The vacancy occurred on 30.11.2014 and was advertised on 16.11.2021 and as such selection process was to be governed by the Rules and GOs in existence on the date on which the process was initiated i.e. Regulation 101 Chapter III of the Intermediate Education Act, 1921 existing on that date would govern the field and not the GO dated 25.11.2021. (Para 8, 10)

B. Approval by the DIOS is to be accorded after selection is held and before appointment. The Regulations 101 also contemplate the same stage i.e. after the selection process is over but before making appointment to the post. Prior approval is not required for holding the selection from the DIOS and the selection process cannot be held to be illegal on the score that prior approval had not been obtained.

Therefore, in the present case, the approval to the selection process could not have been denied on the ground that prior permission had not been obtained by the Committee of Management before proceeding with the recruitment. (Para 10)

C. The Court further finds that the order has been passed behind the back of the petitioners and appears to be ante dated inasmuch as by an order of even date i.e. 23.3.2022 bearing official index No. 13370 the petitioners were required to furnish certain information and the petitioners also submitted their reply on 2.4.2022 but the impugned order dated 23.3.2022 was passed without considering the reply called for. Present petition assails order dated 23.03.2022, passed by District Inspector of Schools.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Ashutosh Srivastava, J.)

1. Heard Sri Pradeep Kumar Upadhyay, learned counsel for the petitioners and the learned Standing Counsel for the State respondents.

2. The writ petitioners who are the Committee of Management of Shivaji Inter College, Sahson Prayagraj (Allahabad) and its Manger, initially approached this Court seeking the issuance of mandamus commanding the District Inspector of Schools, Prayagraj/respondent No.3 to consider and accord approval to the selection of one Sri Sudhir Kumar Dwivedi

s/o Late Rajmadhi Dwivedi as Assistant Clerk in the Institution in question and ensure the payment of admissible salary alongwith other service benefits to him. During the pendency of the writ petition an order dated 23.3.2022 came to be passed by the District Inspector of Schools, Prayagraj whereby disapproving the appointment and selection of Sri Sudhir Kumar Dwivedi as Assistant Clerk in the Institution. The said order has now been impugned in the writ petition by amending the writ petition.

3. The facts necessary for the adjudication of the controversy involved in the instant writ petition briefly stated are that there is an educational Institution in the name and style of Shivaji Inter College, Sahson, Prayagraj duly recognised and aided. The petitioner No.1 is its Committee of Management while the petitioner No.2 is its Manager. The Institution has an approved teaching / non teaching strength of 01 Principal, 12 lecturers, 25 Assistant Teachers, 01 Head Clerk, 03 Assistant Clerks and 13 peons. The Institution is recognised and duly permitted to run Science and Art streams upto Intermediate level and has a total student strength of 1652 which includes boys and girls. The details of the number of students in each class for the current session have been stated in para-7 of the writ petition. Two posts of Assistant Clerks in the Institution fell vacant on 31.1.2013 and 30.11.2014 on the retirement of Sri Shiyaram Singh and Sri Raj Bahadur Singh. The vacancies were intimated to the respondents vide letters dated 2.3.2019, 2.4.2019 and 15.9.2019 (Annexure-2 to the writ petition). The petitioner Committee of Management also resolved to fill up the post of Assistant Clerk and sought permission to fill up at least 01 post vide letters dated 1.10.2021 and 20.10.2021 (Annexure-3 to the writ petition). No response having been received from the Competent Authorities and considering the emergent situation, the petitioners proceeded to advertise 01 post of the Assistant Clerk in the interest of the Institution and the students in widely circulated Newspaper namely "Hindustan" and "Aaj" on 16.11.2021. The District Inspector of Schools, Prayagraj, respondent No.3 was also intimated about the advertisement vide letter dated 26.11.2021 (Annexure-5 to the writ petition). Thereafter, a duly constituted Committee undertook the selection process and 08 eligible candidates appeared and underwent the selection process which comprised of typing test and computer knowledge test. On the basis of the quality point marks obtained by the candidates one Sri Sudhir Kumar Dwivedi was placed at Serial No.1 with total quality point marks of 139.3, Sri Indra Prakash Tiwari was placed at Serial No.2 with 137.45 quality point marks and Sri Naresh Kumar Nishad was placed at Serial No.3 with 135.10 quality point marks. The petitioner Committee of Management accepted the select panel of the Selection Committee and the requisite papers were forwarded to the respondent No.3 vide letter dated 11.12.2021. When nothing was heard for considerable time from the office of the respondent No.3, the petitioners sent reminders on 30.12.2021, 10.1.2022 and 18.1.2022. Since no response was received from the office of the District Inspector of Schools, Prayagraj / respondent No.3 and the requisite papers submitted with the respondent No.3 on 11.12.2021 was still pending decision, the petitioners were constrained to approach this Court by filing the instant writ petition. During the pendency of the instant writ petition the District Inspector of Schools, Prayagraj / respondent No.3 has proceeded to pass the impugned order declining to accord approval to the selection of Sri Sudhir Kumar Dwivedi for the post of Assistant Clerk in the Institution on the ground that the procedure prescribed for selection of clerical category / non teaching posts in recognized unaided Inter Colleges by Government Order dated 25.11.2021 has not been followed. Besides the above certain other shortcomings in the process adopted has been pointed out.

4. Learned counsel for the petitioners has assailed the impugned order on the following grounds that:-

(i) the approval to the selection process could not have been denied on the ground that prior permission had not been obtained by the Committee of Management before proceeding with the recruitment as has been held by this Court in the case of Abhishek Tripathi vs. State of U.P. and others, reported in 2015 (4) ADJ 270 and in the case of Jagdish Singh vs. State of U.P. & others*, reported in* 2006 (4) ADJ 162;

(ii) the objection that the procedure prescribed by Government Order dated 25.11.2021 had not been followed is misconceived inasmuch as the process of selection had commenced with Advertisement dated 16.11.2021 and as such there was no occasion to follow the procedure laid down under the Government Order dated 25.11.2021;

(iii) the impugned order has been passed behind the back of the petitioners without giving them any opportunity to explain and substantiate their case;

(iv) the impugned order dated 23.3.2022 bearing official index No. 13371/-72 is ante dated inasmuch as by another order dated 23.3.2022 bearing official index No. 13370 the petitioners were required to furnish certain information which order was received on 31.3.2022 and the petitioners in response thereto submitted their reply on 2.4.2022.

5. Learned counsel for the petitioner thus prays that the impugned order is liable to be set aside and the writ petition is liable to be allowed.

6. Learned Standing Counsel appearing for the respondents No. 1 to 3 has resisted the writ petition by submitting that the Government Order dated 25.11.2021 provides for constitution of Selection Committee but the appointing authority did not adopt the proper procedure after constitution of the Selection Committee and hence the selection of Sudhir Kumar Dwivedi as Assistant Clerk is not liable to be approved. The permission was not taken from the Department nor the typing examination was conducted under the supervision of typing specialist of State Industrial Training Centre. In para-7 of the counter affidavit in response to para-14 of the writ petition it has been stated that for transparent and clear selection of clerical grade and non-teaching staff (Class-IV Employees) for a selection and appointment under the selection procedure was under consideration before the competent authority and hence no permission was granted to fill up the post of Assistant Clerk in the Institution. It is also stated that the Advertisement dated 16.11.2021 is bad being issued in contravention of Chapter III Regulation 101 of the U.P. Intermediate Education Act, 1921.

7. Rival contentions fall for consideration.

8. Learned counsel for the petitioners submits that the vacancy was advertised on

16.11.2021 and as such the selection process was to be governed by the Rules and Government Orders in existence on the date on which the process was initiated. Reliance is placed upon the decision of the Apex Court in the case of N.T. Devin Katti vs. Karnataka Public Service Commission, reported in 1990 (3) SCC 157 in which it has been held as follows:-

"Where proceedings are initiated for selection by issuing advertisement, the selection should normally be regulated by the then existing rules and Government Orders and any amendment of the rules or the Government Order pending the selection should not affect the validity of the selection made by the selecting authority or the Public Service Commission unless the amend- ed rules or the amended Government orders issued in exercise of its statutory power either by express provision or by necessary intendment indicate that amended Rules shall be applicable to the pending selections. See P. Mahendra & Ors. v. State of Karnataka & Ors., [1989] 4 Judgment Today SC 459."

9. Reliance is also placed upon the decision of the Apex Court in the case of The Assam Public Service Commission & others vs. Pranjal Kumar Sarma & others, reported in 2019 0 Supreme (SC) 1302 where in para-13 it has been held as under:-

"13. The law with regard to applicability of the Rules which are brought anew during the selection process have been crystalized by this Court. It has been held that the norms selection existing begins, alteration process to the will the unless on control norms the date the would new when process selection not Rules the affect are and the to of the ongoing be given retrospective effect. (See State of Bihar and Others vs. Mithilesh Others Kumar 1). vs. Similarly Karnataka in Public N.T. Devin Service Katti and Commission and Others 2 , this Court held that a candidate has a limited right of with the being Rules considered as they for selection existed in on accordance the date of advertisement and he cannot be deprived of that limited right by amendment of the Rules during the pendency of the selection, unless the Rules are to be applied retrospectively."

10. Learned counsel for the petitioner contends that the vacancy occurred on 30.11.2014 and was advertised on 16.11.2021 and as such the Regulation 101 Chapter III of the Intermediate Education Act, 1921 existing on that date would govern the field and not the Government Order dated 25.11.2021 as being suggested by the respondents and also made basis of the impugned order. Placing reliance upon the decision in the case of Preet Kumar Srivastava vs. State of U.P. and others (2011 (9) ADJ 591), it is contended that the controversy as to what would be the stage of grant of approval by the District Inspector of Schools has been set at rest and it has been held that approval is to be accorded after selection is held and before appointment. The Regulations 101 also contemplate the same stage that is after the selection process is over but before making appointment to the post. A coordinate Bench of this Court has also reiterated the proposition argued by the learned counsel for the petitioner in the case of Abhishek Tripathi vs. State of U.P. & others, reported in 2015 (4) ADJ 270. Thus, the Court finds force in the submission of the learned counsel for the petitioner that prior approval was not required for holding the selection from the District Inspector of Schools and the selection process cannot be held to be illegal on the score that prior approval had not been obtained.

11. The Court also finds substance in the contention of the counsel for the petitioners that the procedure prescribed by the Government Order dated 25.11.2021 which had admittedly been issued after the commencement of the selection process was not liable to be followed in view of the law laid down by the Apex Court in 1990 (3) SCC 157 and 2019 0 Supreme (SC) 1302 referred to hereinbefore.

12. The Court further finds that the order has been passed behind the back of the petitioners and appears to be ante dated inasmuch as by an order of even date i.e. 23.3.2022 bearing official index No. 13370 the petitioners were required to furnish certain information and the petitioners also submitted their reply on 2.4.2022 but the impugned order dated 23.3.2022 was passed without considering the reply called for.

13. It is not borne out from the recitals of the impugned order that any other infirmity was found in the selection process adopted by the petitioners for filling up the vacancy in question.

14. Consequently, in view of the above, the order passed by the District Inspector of Schools dated 23.3.2022 cannot be sustained and is accordingly quashed. The matter is remitted back with a direction to the District Inspector of Schools, Prayagraj to pass a reasoned and speaking order strictly in accordance with the provisions contained in Regulation 101 Chapter III, Intermediate Education Act, 1921 and the observations made herein above, expeditiously preferably within a period of 45 days from the date of service of this order.

15. The writ petition stands allowed, accordingly.

THE HON'BLE NEERAJ TIWARI, J.

Writ-A No. 4083 of 2021

Lal Chand ...Petitioner
Versus
State of U.P. & Ors. ...Respondents

Counsel for the Petitioner:
Sri Arun K. Singh Deshwal

Counsel for the Respondents:
C.S.C.

A. Service Law – Pension and other retiral benefits - The Uttar Pradesh Retirement Benefit Rules, 1961- Rule 3(8); The Uttar Pradesh Qualifying Service For Pension And Validation Ordinance, 2020; Constitution of India: Article 14 - Complete service rendered by the petitioner i.e. period of service shall be considered for grant of pensionary benefits. Service rendered against the temporary establishment converted into permanent post shall be considered for qualifying service to grant pension as well as retiral benefits. Ad hoc service rendered by the petitioner shall be considered for reckoning his seniority and other consequential benefits. (Para 15, 16, 17)

B. Words and Phrases – (a) 'Qualifying Service' - Rule 3(8) of Rules, 1961 is very much clear, which provides that "qualifying service" means service which qualifies for pension in accordance with the provisions of Article 368 of the Civil Service Regulations and includes continuous temporary or officiating service under the Government of Uttar Pradesh followed without interruption by confirmation in the same or any other post.

(b) 'Service' - Service does not qualify unless the officer holds a substantive office on a permanent establishment. An establishment, the duties of which are not continuous but are limited to certain fixed periods in each year, is not a temporary establishment. Service in such an establishment, including the period during which the establishment is not employed qualifies but the concession of counting as service the period during while the establishment is not employed does not apply to an officer who was not on actual duty when the establishment was discharged, after completion of its work, or to an officer who was not on actual duty on the first day on which the establishment was again re-employed. (Para 12, 13)

In the present case, petitioner had continuously worked after his appointment on the post of Cooperative Supervisor (District Ballia on 21.07.1978) and ultimately, he was temporarily promoted on the post of Assistant Development Officer (Cooperative) vide order dated 17.08.1999. Not only this, after retirement, his case was also considered in D.P.C. conducted on 04.01.2017 by U.P. Public Service Commission and his service was regularized against the vacancy of the recruitment year 2007-08. While regularizing his service, no reason has been assigned as to why his service has not been regularized from the date, when service of his juniors were regularized, and ultimately, he was deprived from the pensionary benefits and other retiral benefits, which is absolutely bad in law and in teeth of Rules, 1961 as well as law laid down by the Apex Court and this Court. It is also undisputed that promotion of petitioner was not considered only due to unavailability of A.C.R., for which petitioner was not responsible. (Para 10, 13, 19)

In light of Rule 3(8) of Rules, 1961, qualifying service is derived from Article 368 of the Civil Service Regulations coupled with continuous temporary or officiating service under the Govt. of UP and ultimately, confirmation on the same post or any other post without interruption. Irrespective of the date of promotion/regularization, for the purpose of pension, his all service period has to be considered, if it is in accordance with Rule 3(8) of Rules, 1961 and there cannot be any other interpretation for the same. (Para 19)

While granting him promotion or regularizing his service, petitioner must have been given at least same date of promotion as well as regularization from which juniors to him were promoted/regularized. In the present case, it is very surprising that without any fault on the part of petitioner, he was made to suffer and subjected to litigation on three occasions for payment of his pensionary benefits as well as other post retiral benefits. (Para 13)

Therefore, apart from many other grounds, this alone ground is sufficient to grant full pensionary benefits to the petitioner considering his continuous service started from his appointment on the post of Cooperative Supervisor to his superannuation on the post of Assistant Development Officer (Cooperative). It is required on the part of respondent-authorities to grant notional promotion as well as regularization from the date his juniors were awarded promotion and regularization. (Para 19)

Writ petition allowed. (E-4)

5. Writ-A No. 50207 of 2014, Order dated 04.11.2020 (Para 10)

Present petition assails order dated 07.01.2021, passed by Joint Commissioner and Joint Registrar, Co-operative Azamgarh Region, Azamgarh.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Neeraj Tiwari, J.)

1. Heard learned counsel for petitioner and learned standing counsel for State-respondents.

2. Present petition has been filed seeking following reliefs:-

"v) Issue appropriate writ, order or direction in the nature of certiorari quashing the order dated 07.01.2021 passed by respondent No. 4.
vi) Issue appropriate writ, order or direction in the nature of mandamus directing the respondents to treat the service of petitioner from the date of his promotion (17.08.1999) on the post of Assistant Development Office (Co-operative) as qualifying service for pension and release the pension and other retiral benefits of the petitioner."

3. Pleadings are exchanged between the parties. With the consent of counsels for parties, writ petition is being decided at the admission stage.

4. Learned counsel for petitioner submitted that petitioner was appointed on the post of Cooperative Supervisor in District Ballia on 21.07.1978 under Schedule Caste Category. In the seniority list of Cooperative Supervisors, petitioner was at Serial No. 699 while some juniors to petitioner, who were at Serial Nos. 702, 704, 709 & 710 in the same seniority list, were promoted from the post of Cooperative Supervisor to the post of Assistant Development Officer (Cooperative). Petitioner was not promoted in lack of Annual Confidential Report (in short, "A.C.R.') compelling him to file Writ Petition No. 42401 of 1998 before this Court which was disposed of vide order dated 08.01.1999 directing respondent-authorities to consider the grievance of petitioner. Thereafter, petitioner has filed representation, which was considered by respondent-authorities and petitioner was temporarily promoted on the post of Assistant Development Officer (Cooperative) vide order dated 17.08.1999 subject to confirmation of promotion by the Departmental Promotion Committee. It is next submitted that case of petitioner never placed before the Departmental Promotion Committee (hereinafter referred to as "D.P.C.') and petitioner has retired from service on 31.07.2014. On the date of his retirement, order dated 31.07.2014 was passed mentioning therein that service rendered by the petitioner on ad hoc basis cannot be considered for grant of pensionary and other retiral benefits. In the very same order, it is accepted that Officers, who are junior to petitioner have been given the said benefits. Petitioner has challenged the order dated 31.07.2014 by filing Writ-A No. 50207 of 2014, which was disposed of by this Court vide order dated 04.11.2020 with direction to reconsider the case of petitioner in light of fact that juniors to the petitioner have been provided all benefits, which are claimed by the petitioner. During the pendency of Writ-A No. 50207 of 2014, after retirement of petitioner, D.P.C. was conducted on 04.01.2017 by U.P. Public Service Commission and promotion of petitioner was confirmed and his service was also regularized against the vacancy of the recruitment year 2007-08. A direction was also sought vide letter dated 27.02.2019 from respondent No. 2-Registrar Cooperative Societies about the payment of post retiral benefits to the petitioner on the basis of regularization. .

5. In compliance of order of this Court dated 04.11.2020, petitioner moved representation dated 11.11.2020 along with certified copy of order for release of pensionary and other retiral benefits considering his promotion from the date his juniors were promoted. Complying order dated 04.11.2020 passed in Writ-A No. 50207 of 2014, impugned order dated 07.01.2021 has been passed rejecting the claim of petitioner.

6. Learned counsel for petitioner assailed the impugned order basically on two grounds. He firstly submitted that for the purpose of retiral benefits, service of petitioner is governed by the provisions of The Uttar Pradesh Retirement Benefits Rules, 1961 (hereinafter referred to as "Rules, 1961'), therefore, qualifying service includes continuous temporary or officiating service under the Government of Uttar Pradesh followed without interruption by confirmation on the same or any other post. Undisputedly, petitioner was continuous in service and ultimately, he was temporarily promoted on the post of Assistant Development Officer (Cooperative) vide order dated 17.08.1999, therefore, for the pensionary benefits, service rendered by the petitioner in temporary or officiating capacity must have been considered while calculating qualifying service. The second ground so taken by learned counsel for the petitioner is that, it is admitted fact that juniors to petitioner who have been promoted in the year 1994 have also been granted all pensionary and post retiral benefits calculating the qualifying service in light of Rule 3(8) of Rules, 1961, therefore, there cannot be a discrimination in the matter of petitioner. In support of his contention, he has placed reliance upon the judgments of this Court passed in Bhuneshwar Rai v. State of U.P. and others, 2014(9) ADJ 4(DB), State of U.P. vs. Riyaz Ali; 2015(8) ADJ 148 (DB)(LB), Love Prasad Dwivedi and others vs. State of U.P. and others; 2015(5) ADJ 170 and Man Singh vs. State of U.P. and others; 2018(7) ADJ 679.

7. Per contra, learned standing counsel opposed the submissions of learned counsel for petitioner, but could not dispute this fact that juniors to petitioner have been given promotion and also all pensionary and retiral benefits given to them, which are claimed by the petitioner. He only submitted that earlier service of petitioner was governed by The Uttar Pradesh Qualifying Service For Pension And Validation Ordinance, 2020 (hereinafter referred to as "Ordinance, 2020') when he was working on the post of Cooperative Supervisor whereas after promotion on the post of Assistant Development Officer (Cooperative), his service was governed by Rules, 1961, therefore, he is not entitled for the pensionary and other retiral benefits as claimed by him.

8. Being confronted by the Court, learned standing counsel could not dispute that service of juniors to petitioner, who were granted promotion earlier, were also governed by the provisions of Ordinance, 2020 as well as Rules, 1961, but they have been given all the benefits. He also admitted that while promotion was granted to the juniors to petitioner, A.C.R. of petitioner was incomplete, for which petitioner is not responsible.

9. I have considered rival submissions advanced by learned counsels for parties and perused the records as well as judgments relied upon.

10. Facts of the case are undisputed. In seniority list, petitioner was higher in rank to the other employees, who have been promoted prior to petitioner. It is also undisputed that promotion of petitioner was not considered only due to unavailability of A.C.R., for which petitioner was not responsible. In fact, while remanding the matter, this Court vide order dated 04.11.2020 passed in Writ-A No. 50207 of 2014 has considered this fact. Relevant paragraph of judgment and order dated 04.11.2020 is quoted below:-

"10. From perusal of the record, it is clear that though the petitioner was given promotion on the post of Co-operative Inspector Category-II/Assistant Development Officer on 17.08.1999. on ad-hoc basis but the benefits in this regard were not granted to the petitioner. At the relevant time as has been provided to the persons junior to the petitioner, Department Promotion Committee was convened on 04.01.2017 and the claim for promotion of the petitioner has been duly recommended. Since the petitioner has already been superannuated, directions were sought for from respondent No.3 to the respondent No.4 vide letter dated 27.02.2019. It is surprising that in spite of the fact that considerable time has already been lapsed but till date no decision whatsoever has been taken by the respondent No.4 in the matter. "

11. Apart that, Rules 3(8) of Rules, 1961 is very much clear, which provides that qualifying service includes continuous temporary or officiating service under the Government of Uttar Pradesh followed without interruption by confirmation in the same or any other post. Rule 3(8) of Rules, 1961 is quoted below:-

"3(8). "Qualifying service" means service which qualifies for pension in accordance with the provisions of Article 368 of the Civil Service Regulations:

Provided that continuous temporary or officiating service under the Government of Uttar Pradesh followed without interruption by confirmation on the same or any other post except-

(i) periods of temporary or officiating service in a non-pensionable establishment;

(ii) periods of service in a work-charged establishment, and

(iii) periods of service in a post, paid from contingencies, shall also count as qualifying service."

12. Regulation 368 and 369 of the Civil Services Regulations are also quoted below:-

"368. Service does not qualify unless the officer holds a substantive office on a permanent establishment.

369. An establishment, the duties of which are not continuous but are limited to certain fixed periods in each year, is not a temporary establishment. Service in such an establishment, including the period during which the establishment is not employed qualifies but the concession of counting as service the period during while the establishment is not employed does not apply to an officer who was not on actual duty when the establishment was discharged, after completion of its work, or to an officer who was not on actual duty on the first day on which the establishment was again re-employed."

13. This fact is also not disputed that petitioner had continuously worked after his appointment on the post of Cooperative Supervisor and ultimately, he was temporarily promoted on the post of Assistant Development Officer (Cooperative) vide order dated 17.08.1999. Not only this, after retirement, his case was also considered in D.P.C. conducted on 04.01.2017 by U.P. Public Service Commission and his service was regularized against the vacancy of the recruitment year 2007-08. While regularizing his service, no reason has been assigned as to why his service has not been regularized from the date, service of his juniors were regularized. For unavailability of A.C.R., petitioner cannot be responsible and it is upon respondent-authorities to provide A.C.R. and consider the same in the D.P.C. In case of unavailability of A.C.R., petitioner cannot be made to suffer. While granting him promotion or regularizing his service, petitioner must have been given at least same date of promotion as well as regularization from which juniors to him were promoted/regularized. In the present case, it is very surprising that without any fault on the part of petitioner, he was made to suffer and subjected to litigation on three occasions for payment of his pensionary benefits as well as other post retiral benefits.

14. Contention of learned standing counsel that service of petitioner prior to promotion governed by Ordinance, 2020 is also having no force for the reasons that service condition of juniors to petitioner were also governed by Ordinance, 2020 before their promotion on the post of Assistant Development Officer (Cooperative). Later on they have also been put to retirement under the provisions of Rules, 1961 giving full pensionary and retiral benefits. Therefore, the ground so taken by learned standing counsel is very vague and in violation of Article 14 of Constitution of India.

15. Similar issue was also before this Court in the matter of Bhuneswar Rai (Supra) in which this Court after considering the judgment of Apex Court has held that complete service rendered by the petitioner i.e. period of service shall be considered for grant of pensionary benefits. Relevant paragraph is quoted below:-

"In support of his aforesaid contention, learned counsel for the appellant has relied upon the judgment rendered by the Apex Court in the case of Punjab State Electricity Board and another v. Narata Singh, 2010-Laws (SC)-2-40, which has been relied upon by the learned Single Judge of this Court in the case of Mohd. Mustafa v. State of U.P., (2010) (1) ADJ (All)(LB). Holding that where the petitioner has put in 23 years of service including 113 months and 11 days i.e. 9 years 5 months & 11 days of regular service then denial of pension for not having completed 10 years of regular service, was not proper. In that case, the Court directed the respondents to grant pensionary benefit to the petitioner considering him to have completed 10 years of regular service and pay him regularly every month from the date of retirement. The State of U.P. preferred an appeal against the aforesaid judgment in re: Mohd. Mustafa v. State of U.P. (Special Appeal Defective No. 254 of 2013), State of U.P. and others v. Prem Chandra and others, wherein the Court relying upon the judgment of the Apex Court in Punjab Electricity Board (supra) vide its judgment dated 13.05.2013 held that the provisions of regulation 370 of the U.P. Civil Service Regulation have to be read down in line with the judgment of the Apex Court. Aggrieved, the State of U.P. preferred SLP (Civil) No. CC 22271 of 2013, State of U.P. and others v. Prem Chandra and others, before the Apex Court, which was dismissed vide judgment and order dated 07.01.2014."

16. Similar issue came up before this Court in the matter of Love Prasad

Dwivedi (Supra), in which this Court relying upon the judgment of Bhuneshwar Rai (Supra) as well as considering the provisions of Rule, 3(8) of Rules, 1961 as well as Regulations 368 & 369, has held that service rendered against the temporary establishment converted into permanent post shall be considered for qualifying service to grant pension as well as retiral benefits. Relevant paragraph Nos. 13 & 14 of the said judgment is quoted below:-

"13. Proviso to Rule 3(8) itself prescribes that continuous temporary service without interruption followed by confirmation shall count as qualifying service. Thus, it is wholly immaterial that the service of the petitioner was regularised on 1.2.2001, as he was continuously working since the date of initial appointment. Though earlier his working was against a temporary establishment, as there was no sanctioned post but after temporary post was sanctioned and later on converted into permanent post, the service so rendered, fully qualifies for being counted for purpose of payment of pension and retiral benefits.

14. For the aforesaid reasons, the Court finds that the petitioners had rendered qualifying pensionary service with effect from the date of his promotion in the year 1988 and which shall be treated as service qualifying for pension."

17. Again, similar issue was came up before Division Bench of this Court in the matter of State of U.P. (Supra) and Division Bench after relying upon the judgment of Apex Court, has held that ad hoc service rendered by the petitioner shall be considered for reckoning his seniority and other consequential benefits. Relevant paragraph Nos. 5, 8, 9 & 10 are quoted below:-

"5. The law in respect of counting such services for the purposes of seniority has been summarized by Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of Direct Recruit Class II Engineering Officers' Association v. State of Maharashtra and others, (199) 2 SCC 715. Hon'ble Apex Court in this case has summed up that once an incumbent is appointed to a post according to rule, his seniority is to be counter from the date of his appointment and not from the date of his confirmation. The Apex Court further stated in the said judgment that corollary of the above rule is that where the initial appointment is only adhoc and not according to rules and made as a stop-gap arrangement, the officiation in such post cannot be taken into account for considering the seniority. Hon'ble Apex Court in the said judgment has further observed as under:

"B. If the initial appointment is not made by following the procedure laid down by the rules but the appointee continues in the post uninterruptedly till the regularisation of his service in accordance with the rules, the period of officiating service will be counted.'

8. The entire controversy, however, appears to have been set at rest by Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of Secretary, Minor Irrigation Department RES v. Narendra Kumar Tripathi, (2015)2 UPLBEC 1161, wherein the benefit of the principle propounded by Hon'ble Apex Court in para 47 - B in the case of Direct Recruit (supra) has been extended to Narendra Kumar Tripathi who like the respondent No. 1 was also initially appointed on ad-hoc basis and subsequently under the regularization rules, his services were also regularized.

9. The tentative senior list of the Assistant Junior Engineers working in the Rural Engineering Department shows the name of respondent No. 1 at serial No. 88 and his date of substantive appointment has been shown to be 23rd August, 1986. The name of Sri Narendra Kumar Tripathi in the said seniority list is shown at serial No. 172 and his date of substantive appointment has been shown to be 16.12.1989. The date of substantive appointment of respondent No. 1 as well as Sri Narendra Kumar Tripathi as mentioned in the seniority list referred to herein above, are the dates on which their services were regularized under the regularization rules.

10. The controversy raised before Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Secretary, Minor Irrigation Department RES (Supra) was akin to the controversy which is engaging the attention of this Court in this case. In the case of Narendra Kumar Tripathi Hon'ble Supreme Court has allowed all the benefits of ad-hoc services rendered by Sri Tripathi for the purposes of reckoning his seniority and other consequential benefits."

18. This Court in the matter of Man Singh (Supra) has again held that petitioner is entitled for notional promotion as well as all notional benefits. Relevant paragraph No. 17 is quoted below:-

"17. Therefore, after consideration of the entire facts and legal issues involved in this case, the respondent No. 3 is directed to grant notional promotion to the petitioner with effect from the date when his immediate junior, Sri Mahesh Chandra Agnihotri, was regularized on the post of Junior Clerk and subsequently to the higher posts of Clerk, Head Clerk, etc. The petitioner has also stated that his junior employees, Sri Triveni Prasad Dubey, Sri Subhash Chandra Pandey and Paras Nath Gupta were promoted to the post of Office Superintendent on 31.05.2014, when the petitioner retired from service on 31.07.2016, while working on the post of Head Clerk only. The notional benefits of the post of Office Superintendent shall also be calculated and paid to the petitioner. All the notional benefits shall be calculated and paid to the petitioner within a period 2 months from the date of presentation of the certified copy of this order before the respondent No. 3."

19. So far as present case is concerned, it is on much better footing than the cases so relied upon by counsel for petitioner. There is no dispute upon the appointment of petitioner on the post of Cooperative Supervisor in District Ballia on 21.07.1978 coupled with this fact that he was senior to others who have been granted promotion on the post of Assistant Development Officer (Cooperative) and petitioner has not been promoted only due to unavailability of A.C.R., for which he is absolutely not responsible. Further, vide order dated 17.08.1999, petitioner has been granted ad hoc promotion and his service was also regularized vide meeting of D.P.C. dated 04.01.2017 against the vacancy of the recruitment year 2007-08 without assigning any reason as to why he has not given promotion/regularization from the date his juniors were promoted and ultimately, he was deprived from the pensionary benefits and other retiral benefits, which is absolutely bad in law and in teeth of Rules, 1961 as well as law laid down by the Apex Court and this Court. In fact, in light of Rule, 3 (8) of Rules, 1961, qualifying service is derived from Article 368 of the Civil Service Regulations coupled with continuous temporary or officiating service under the Government of Uttar Pradesh and ultimately, confirmation on the same post or any other post without interruption. Irrespective of the date of promotion/regularization, for the purpose of pension, his all service period has to be considered, if it is in accordance with Rule 3(8) of Rules, 1961 and there cannot be any other interpretation for the same. Therefore, apart from many other grounds, this alone ground is sufficient to grant full pensionary benefits to the petitioner considering his continuous service started from his appointment on the post of Cooperative Supervisor to his superannuation on the post of Assistant Development Officer (Cooperative). There is also no dispute on this point that once petitioner is not at fault, he is fully entitled for all pensionary and other retiral benefits from the date his juniors were promoted. In present case, petitioner has not been promoted due to want of A.C.R., and his service was not regularised, but later on he has been promoted/regularized from a later date from which his juniors were promoted/regularized is bad and cannot be accepted. It is required on the part of respondent-authorities to grant notional promotion as well as regularization from the date his juniors were awarded promotion and regularization.

20. Therefore, under such facts of the case as well as law laid down by this Court, impugned order dated 07.01.2021 is bad and hereby set aside.

21. Accordingly, writ petition is allowed.

22. No order as to costs.

23. Respondent-authorities are directed to grant full pensionary and other retiral benefits to the petitioner considering his full service i.e. from the date of appointment to the date of superannuation as qualifying service for grant of retiral benefits. Further, petitioner shall also be entitled for all other financial benefits, which have been granted to his juniors treating him notionally promoted/regularized from the date his juniors were promoted/regularized.

THE HON'BLE MRS. SANGEETA CHANDRA, J.

Writ-A No. 31858 of 2017

Raj Kumar & Anr. ...Petitioners
Versus
Union of India & Ors. ...Respondents

Counsel for the Petitioners:
Sri Tejasvi Misra, Sri R.K. Rai

Counsel for the Respondents:
A.S.G.I., Sri Rajnish Kumar Rai, S.C., Sri Shiv Kumar Pal

Civil Law- Juvenile Justice (Care and Protection) Act, 2015- Section 24- From a perusal of the facts as mentioned by the Trial court it is evident that the incident in question leading to the lodging of the FIR was of 31.10.2003, when the petitioner no. 1 Rajkumar was only nine years old. The court had therefore acquitted the accused of the charges levelled against them-It is evident from perusal of Section 24 of the Juvenile Justice Act 2015 that in all cases except cases related to heinous offences, a child in conflict with the law would not suffer any disqualification in the future and for such purposes records relating to the case had to be destroyed after passage of a specified period and in the manner as prescribed under the Rules -Even if a Juvenile is convicted under the provisions of 2015 Act such conviction is not liable to be viewed as disqualification which may otherwise and ordinarily stand attached upon a person being convicted-

The petitioner no.1 being a juvenile at the time of criminal prosecution being concluded against him and having culminated in acquittal deserves to be reinstated in service, the order dated 01.03.2017 is quashed.

Implication in a criminal case of a child in conflict will law will not be a ground to disentitle or disqualify the person in future. (Para 28, 32)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Mrs. Sangeeta Chandra, J.)

1. This writ petition has been filed by two writ petitioners challenging orders of discharge dated 1 March 2017and 18 February 2017 respectively and for issuance of a mandamus commanding the respondents to reinstate the petitioners into service with all consequential benefits.

2. It is the case of the petitioners that in pursuance of Advertisement number 1/2011 issued by the Respondent No.3 for recruitment on the post of Constable (GD) in Railway Protection Special Force (RPSF) the petitioners applied and were selected. Before their training and appointment the petitioners had to submit their attestation forms where in column 12 they had to disclose their character and antecedents and as to whether any criminal case was pending against them or whether they had ever been tried. To this the petitioners answered in the negative as at that point of time no criminal case was pending against them. During the course of training, police verification reports of the petitioners were sought from the District Magistrates of their respective districts. In the police verification reports it came out that FIR was lodged against them individually but they were acquitted. However, since they had not disclosed this fact in the attestation form both the petitioners were discharged from their service .

3. It has been argued by the learned counsel for the petitioner that the petitioner no.1, Rajkumar had submitted his attestation form on 22 June 2014 wherein he did not disclose his character and antecedents in Column 12 with regard to Case Crime No. 131 of 2003 under Sections 323 and 504 I.P.C. He was sent for training at ITBP Training Centre AALO, West Slang, Arunachal Pradesh on 30 October 2014. In the police verification report sought from district Allahabad it was informed that he was prosecuted but acquitted from the Court of ACJM. However, as a result of this verification report he was discharged while undergoing training 31 March 2015. The Respondents had failed to appreciate that the petitioner no.1 was cleanly acquitted from criminal charges by an order dated 24 September 2007 by the Court of Additional Chief Judicial Magistrate. At the time of filing of his application form and at the time of signing of the attestation form no criminal case was pending. Also, petitioner no.1 was a juvenile at the time when the FIR was lodged against him as he was just nine years old. He was tried in a Regular Court instead of by Juvenile Justice Board and he was 13 years old when he was cleanly acquitted by the Court of ACJM.

4. The petitioner no.1 had moved this Court and by way of Writ Petition No. 57707/2015, "Rajkumar vs. Union of India and Others" and this court by an order dated 29 November 2016 had quashed the discharge order and remitted the matter to the respondents for fresh consideration of his candidature in the light of the law laid down by the Supreme Court in the case of Avtar Singh. In pursuance of such order passed by the High Court the petitioner no.1 was called for personal hearing on 28 February 2017 but the Respondent No.4 in his order dated 1 March 2017 again proceeded to cancel the candidature of the petitioner on the ground of intentional suppression of material facts at the time of filling up of the attestation form.

5. It has been argued that the nature of the offence of which the petitioner had been accused along with his family members was trivial involving minor punishment. The petitioner was acquitted not as an outcome of benefit of doubt but he was honourably exonerated. This Court in its Order dated 29.11.2016 had directed the Respondent No.4 to adjudge the suitability of the candidate with reference to the nature of suppression, and the nature of the criminal case. Instead of considering whether the petitioner no.1 was suitable for appointment to the post of Constable the respondent had acted mechanically by holding the petitioner no.1 unfit for the post alleging that he had furnished an affidavit stating incorrect facts at the time of his recruitment.

6. In the case of petitioner no.2, Sasikala, she had submitted her attestation form on 22.06.2014, where she did not disclose in column number 12 Case Crime No. 128A/11/2003 under sections 147, 148, 452, 338, 323, 504, 506 IPC which was lodged after filling up of the application form and was concluded before the attestation form was filed. The petitioner no.2 joined her training at Himachal Pradesh Police Training Centre Palampur, on 17.11.2014. In the police verification report sent from the office of District Magistrate Gorakhpur it was disclosed that she had been tried and acquitted by the Court. However, she was discharged from training on this ground alone on 26.05.2015. Aggrieved by the order of discharge dated 26.05.2015, the petitioner filed Writ Petition No. 45917 of 2015, "Shashikala Singh vs. Union of India and Others". This court by its order dated 29.11.2016 quashed the discharge letter and remitted the matter back to the respondents for fresh consideration of her candidature in the light of the law laid down by the Apex Court in Avtar Singh's case. In pursuance of such order passed by this Court the petitioner no.2 was called for personal hearing on 17.01.2017. After hearing her the respondent no.5 in his order dated 18 February 2017 reiterated the position and canceled her candidature on the ground of intentional suppression of material facts at the time of filling up of the attestation form.

7. It has been argued by the learned counsel for the petitioner that the petitioner had filed her application form in March, 2011 whereas the FIR was lodged against her on 13.04.2011. She was acquitted by the competent court on 21.01.2014 and therefore it cannot be said that any case was pending at the time of filling up of the application form or at the time of signing of the attestation form by her. It cannot therefore be said that the petitioner no.2 had resorted to suppression of material facts. Moreover, petitioner no.2 being a female never went to the Court for pursuing the case. The case had been slapped on the entire family out of spite, and therefore the elders of the family had pursued it at their end. The petitioner no.2 was acquitted not by giving her benefit of doubt but it was an honourable exoneration from all charges levelled against her.

8. It has been argued that the case of the petitioners are squarely covered by law laid down by this Court in "Harendra Pawar vs. State of UP and Others 2012 (4) ADJ 488" where this Court had observed that -

"..mere involvement in a criminal case is not an impediment for appointment to the post of constable. Moreover, stigma attached to a person is obliterated on acquittal and as such the applicant cannot be denied appointment. Moreover a conviction results in ineligibility for appointment in government service but since the applicant had already been acquitted of the criminal charges he is eligible for appointment...".

9. The learned counsel for the petitioner has also placed reliance upon three Judges Bench decision of the Supreme Court in the case of "T. S. Vasudevan Naiyar vs. Director of Vikram Sarabhai Space Centre (1998 supplement SCC 795)"; whereby the Supreme Court had set aside order cancelling the offer of appointment of the applicant made because he had not disclosed that during emergency he had been convicted for having shouted slogans against the government on one occasion.

10. It has been argued that in the case of "Dnyaneshwar Kure vs. Union of India"; the Bombay High Court by an Order dated 06.05.2016 had quashed the discharge order and remitted the matter to the respondents with a direction that -

"....the respondent no.4 shall objectively assess the suitability of the petitioner for continuance of the petitioner in the services on the basis of verification report received from the Superintendent of Police Nanded, and more particularly having concern to the acquittal recorded in favour of the petitioner in the criminal case against him and take appropriate decision as expeditiously as possible."

11. It has been argued that against the orders passed by the Bombay High Court on 6.05.2016, SLP bearing no. 24195 of 2016 was filed by the respondents but it was dismissed by the Supreme Court on 02.01.2017. Hence the order passed by the Bombay High Court was affirmed and in pursuance of such orders, the respondents had reinstated Dnyaneshwar Kure as Constable RPSF ,having found him to be fit, though at the time when he had been initially appointed and sent for training he had been facing criminal trial and was acquitted later on and his character was not unblemished at the time of filling up of the attestation form.

12. The learned counsel for the petitioner has also referred to the judgement rendered in the case of GNCT vs. Robin Singh 2015 (118) DLT 168; where the Delhi High Court had observed that every wrong information may not necessarily be a deception.

"A person may be wrong, but under a bona fide belief that he is right, he furnishes the information. This would not be deception though erroneous, the forming of bona fide belief that once he stands acquitted in a criminal case, the same is not required to be mentioned, since the acquittal puts him in the same position as if no FIR had ever been lodged against him. Thus a person under a mistaken legal belief writes or omits to mention something, the charge of deception as lead in the allegation is not sustainable".

13. It has been argued on the basis of said judgement of the Delhi High Court that the application forms and affidavits were filed by the petitioners under a bona fide belief that only if a criminal case is pending, or a person is convicted, the same is required to be mentioned. Therefore the order discharging the services of the petitioners on the sole ground of concealment of their having been tried in the distant past was absolutely unjustified and illegal.

14. In the counter affidavit filed by the Respondents it has been stated that the petitioners had applied for the post of Constable in Railway Protection Force/Railway Protection Special Force under Advertisement No. 1/2011. After qualifying in all selections that were held the petitioners were allotted the respective Zonal Railways and sent for initial training subject to police verification of their character and antecedents. The District Magistrates of the respective districts had informed about the lodging of criminal cases against the petitioners under different Sections of the IPC and their acquittal on different dates.

Consequently, the Chief Security Commissioner had discharged the petitioners from training on the ground of suppression of facts in the attestation form. Consequent to the Writ Petitions being filed by them and their initial order of discharge being quashed, the Zonal Chief Security Commissioner had given personal hearing to the petitioners individually and passed fresh orders which are challenged in the writ petition.

15. It has been argued by the learned counsel for Respondents that in paragraph 9 note (f) of the Advertisement No.1/2011 it had been clearly mentioned that :-

"candidates found to be having an adverse report on their antecedents and character may not be appointed in RPF including RPSF. False declaration is an offence under the law and will lead to disqualification of the applicant, institution of criminal case and also dismissal from service, if appointed".

The petitioners being aware of the warning mentioned in the advertisement, had filled up their application forms. Even in the attestation form in paragraph 1 and 2 of the attestation form it was clearly stated that :-

"if detained, arrested, prosecuted, bound down, fined , Convicted, debarred, acquitted et cetera subsequent to the completion and submission of this form, the details should be communicated immediately to the authority to whom the attestation has been sent earlier, failing which it will be deemed to be a suppression of factual information."

In paragraph number-3 of the attestation form it had also been mentioned that -

"If the fact, that false information has been furnished or that there has been a suppression of any factual information in the attestation form, comes to notice at any time during the service of a person, his service would be liable to be terminated".

16. It has been pointed out that in the counter affidavit the Respondents have also mentioned Rule 52 of the RPF Rules 1987 which relate to verification. Rule 52.1 provides that "As soon as the recruit is selected but before he is formally appointed to the force, his character and antecedent shall be got verified in accordance with the procedure prescribed by the Central Government from time to time".

Under Rule 52.2, it is provided that "where after verification, recruit is not found suitable for the Force, he shall not be appointed as a member of the Force."

17. It has been submitted in the counter affidavit that the orders discharging the petitioners have been passed by the Zonal Chief Security Commissioner on the ground of suppression of facts in the attestation form. The petitioners have deliberately suppressed vital information of criminal cases having been lodged against them and they being tried before the competent court.

In the attestation form under column 12, the following information was sought from the applicant/petitioners: -

(A) Have you ever been arrested?

(B) Have you ever been prosecuted?

(C) Have you ever been kept under detention?

(D) Have you ever been bound down?

(E) Have you ever been fined by a court of law?

(F) Have you ever been convicted by a court of law?

(G) Have you ever been debarred from any examination or restricted by any university or any other educational authority/institution?

(H) Have you ever been debarred /disqualified by any public service commission/staff selection commission for any of their examination/selection?

(I) Is any case pending against you in any university or any other educational authority/institution at the time of filling up this form?

(G) Is any case pending against you in any court of law at the time of filling of this form ?

(K) Whether discharge/ expelled/ withdrawn from any training institution under the government or otherwise?

(L) If the answer to any of the above mentioned questions is "yes" give full particulars of the case/arrest/ detention/fine/conviction/punishment/acquittal et cetera as the case maybe, and/or name the university/court/educational authority, etc, where any case is pending at the time of filling up of this form.

18. It has been submitted that the petitioners had suppressed information of the prosecution in the criminal cases as required under column 12 of the attestation form. No matter whether the petitioners were acquitted or not and no criminal cases were pending against them at the time of filling up of the attestation form, since the attestation form required disclosure of past prosecution as well, the Zonal Chief

Security Commissioner has rightly held that the petitioners had deliberately suppressed Vital/factual information Of the prosecution. The Railway Protection Force/Railway Protection Special Force is a paramilitary force of the Union and the petitioner's conduct has become doubtful at the initial stage itself. Honesty and integrity which is of utmost importance for the post applied for, cannot be disregarded. The respondent no.4 four has rightly passed the orders impugned in observance of Rule 67.2 of the RPF Rules 1987 after giving due opportunity of hearing to the petitioners. Also, it is not the question of stigma of registration of criminal case against the petitioners and their acquittal therein, it is a question of deliberate suppression of information with regard to character and antecedents which has led to the competent authority coming to the conclusion that the petitioners are not suitable to be appointed as Constables in RPF/RPSF.Moreover the petitioners have not been discharged from service. They were only sent for training as selected candidates. They were not formally appointed as Constables.

The respondents have emphasized the observations made by the Supreme Court in the case of Avtar Singh vs. Union of India in paragraph 30.1 where it was observed that - "information given to the employer by a candidate as to conviction, acquittal or arrest, or pendency of criminal case, whether before or after entering into service must be true and there should be no suppression or false mention of required information."

Although it is not denied by the petitioners that they were prosecuted before they filed their attestation forms but they have deliberately suppressed vital/critical information from their employers which amounts to wilful misrepresentation and giving of false affidavit and misleading the administration at the very beginning of their career in a Disciplined Armed Forces of the Union. Copies of attestation forms submitted by the petitioners have been filed also as Annexures to the Counter Affidavit.

19. The Respondents have referred to judgement rendered by this Court on 24.02.2015 in Writ Petition No. 27584 of 2009, "Kaptan Yadav vs. Union of India and Others"; and in Special Appeal No. 2435 of 2011, "Ramakant Prasad and Others vs. Union of India and Others" decided on 07.01.2013; and Special Appeal No. 2510 of 2011, "Krishna Pratap Yadav vs. Union of India and Others" decided on 03.04.2014.

20. In the rejoinder affidavit filed by the petitioners they have referred to orders passed by the respondents themselves in the case of one Devendra Singh who had been tried and acquitted under Section 323, 324, 294, 336, 506 (B), and Section 452 IPC on 12.05.2017; speaking order passed in the case of one Bali Ram Kumar who had been tried and acquitted under Section 147, 148, 149, 452, 323, 324,504, 506, 427 IPC on 08.06.2017; and in the case of one Mohit Kumar who had been tried and acquitted under Section 379 IPC on 13.05.2017 and in the case of one Manish Kumar who had been tried under Section 323, 341, 354 and 34 IPC and who was also reinstated on 12.05.2017.

In all such cases the respondents had considered the representation of the candidates and come to the conclusion that at the time of filling up of attestation form the character of the candidate was unblemished. Since the candidate was acquitted much earlier he did not record so in the attestation form. It was a fact that he had made an incorrect statement of having never been involved in any criminal case in his life but the respondents had observed that they had reason to believe that it must have been done in good faith since the candidate was acquitted in the criminal case long before filling up of the attestation form. The action of the candidate being in good faith, they were reinstated in service. All such orders have been passed by the Inspector General cum Chief Security Commissioner, Railway Protection Force, New Delhi ,after remitting of the matter by the High Court to him for reconsideration.

21. The Division Bench of this Court in Ramakant Prasad and Others was considering the order passed by the Chief Security Commissioner, RPF/RPSF, where the appellants had filed their attestation forms when criminal cases were pending against them without disclosing such pendency though acquitted subsequently ,and the offences in which they were involved were of trivial nature. The Division Bench had observed that the appellants had started their career with falsehood, preventing the authority from verifying the character as also their suitability/eligibility for appointment. A candidate is expected to answer the questions without any misrepresentation, suppression or false statement. Such falsehood would demonstrate a conduct and character not befitting of a uniformed Force. Neither the gravity of the offences nor the ultimate acquittal is the prime consideration for their entitlement in service.

The Division Bench in Ramakant Prasad (Supra) observed -

"The point for consideration is not that the petitioners/appellants were involved in trivial criminal cases wherein they have been acquitted prior to the furnishing of details or prior to induction in service. When the question put to them was whether the criminal case was pending against the petitioners/Appellants or they were cleared of the charges or acquitted and the answer was given in the negative, it would amount to suppression of material factual information holding them liable to be prosecuted for the act of perjury and fraud and the employer is empowered to remove them from service on the ground of furnishing false information about their involvement in criminal cases...".

22. In Krishna Pratap Yadav, a Division Bench of this Court was considering reliance placed upon judgement rendered by the Supreme Court in the case of Commissioner of Police and Others vs. Sandeep Kumar 2011 (2) UPLBEC 1497; by the counsel for the Appellant. Counsel for the appellant had pointed out that the Appellant honestly disclosed the pendency of criminal case against him at the time of filling up of the attestation form. However the Division Bench relied upon observations made by the Supreme Court in the case of Commissioner of Police New Delhi and another vs. Meher Singh 2013 (7) SCC 685; which reiterated the principle which was laid down in Delhi Administration vs. Sushil Kumar 1996 (11) SCC 605; Commissioner of Police vs. Dhaval Singh 1999 (1) SCC 246; Ghurey Lal vs. State of UP 2008 (10) SCC 450. The Supreme Court had observed in paragraph nos. 34, 35, 36 and 37 as under:-

"34. The respondents are trying to draw mileage from the fact that in their application and/or attestation form they have disclosed their involvement in a criminal case. We do not see how this fact improves their case. Disclosure of these facts in the application/attestation form is an essential requirement. An aspirant is expected to state these facts honestly.Honesty and integrity are inbuilt requirements of the police force. The respondents should not therefore expect to score any brownie points because of this disclosure. Besides, this has no relevance to the point in issue. It bears repetition to state that while deciding whether a person against whom a criminal case was registered and who was later acquitted or discharged should be appointed to a post in the police force what is relevant is the nature of the offence, the extent of his involvement, whether the acquittal was a clean acquittal or an acquittal by giving benefit of doubt because the witnesses turned hostile or because of some serious flaw in the prosecution, and the propensity of such person to indulge in similar activities in future. This decision in our opinion, can only be taken by the Screening Committee created for that purpose by the Delhi police. If the Screening Committee's decision is not malafide or actuated by extraneous considerations, then it cannot be questioned.

35. The police force is a disciplined force. It shoulders the great responsibility of maintaining law and order and public order in society. People repose great faith and confidence in it. It must be worthy of that confidence. A candidate wishing to join the police force must be a person of utmost rectitude. He must have impeccable character and integrity. A person having criminal antecedents will not fit in this category. Even if he is acquitted or discharged in the criminal case that acquittal or discharge order will have to be examined to see whether he he has been completely exonerated in the case because even a possibility of his taking to the life of crimes poses a threat to the discipline of the police force. The standing order, therefore has entrusted the task of taking decisions in these matters to the Screening Committee. The decision of the Screening Committee must be taken as final unless it is malafide. In recent times, the image of the police force is tarnished. Instances of police personnel behaving in a wayward manner by misusing power are a matter of concern. The reputation of the police force has taken a beating. In such a situation, we would not like to dilute the importance and efficacy of a mechanism like the Screening Committee created by the Delhi Police to ensure that persons who were likely to erode its credibility do not enter the police force. At the same time, the Screening Committee must be alive to the importance of trust reposed in it and must treat all candidates with even hand.

36. The Screening Committee''s proceedings have been assailed as being arbitrary, and guided and unfettered. But, in the present case we see no evidence of this. However, certain instances have been pointed out where allegedly persons involved in serious offences have been recommended for appointment by the Screening Committee. It is well settled that to such cases the doctrine of equality enshrined in Article 14 of the Constitution of India is not attracted. This doctrine does not envisage negative equality (Fuljit Kaur) It is not meant to perpetuate illegality or fraud because it embodies a positive concept. If the Screening Committee which is constituted to carry out the object of the comprehensive policy to ensure that people with doubtful background do not enter the police force, deviates from the policy, makes exception and allows entry of undesirable persons, it is undoubtedly guilty of committing an act of grave disservice to the police force but we cannot allow that illegality to be perpetuated by allowing the respondents to rely on such cases. It is for the Commissioner of Police , Delhi to examine whether the Screening Committee has compromised the interest of the police force in any case and to take remedial action if he finds that it has done so. Public interest demands an in-depth examination of this allegation at the highest level. Perhaps, such deviations from the policy are responsible for the spurt in police excesses. We expect the Commissioner of Police, Delhi to look into the matter and if there is substance in the allegations to take necessary steps forthwith, so that the policy in the Standing Order is strictly implemented.

37. Our attention is drawn to certain orders of this Court where, according to the respondents, Special Leave Petitions filed by the State arising out of similar fact situations have been dismissed. It is not necessary for us to state that in limine dismissal of Special Leave Petition does not mean that this Court has affirmed the judgement or the action impugned therein. The order rejecting the Special Leave Petition at the threshold without detailed reasons does not constitute any declaration of law or a binding precedent. This submission is, therefore, rejected."

23. The Division Bench of this Court in Krishna Pratap Yadav (supra) noted that the judgement in Ram Kumar Vs. State of UP 2011 (4) SCC 644, and Commissioner of Police and Others Vs. Sandeep Kumar 2011 (2) UPLBEC 1497; had been referred to the Larger Bench by the Supreme Court itself in the case of Jainendra Singh Vs. State of UP and Others 2012 (8) SCC 748; and the judgement in the case of Meher Singh was of a later point in time. It dismissed the appeals following the law settled in Mehar Singh.

24. In the case of Kaptan Yadav, a Coordinate Bench of this Court placed reliance upon observations made by the Supreme Court in the case of Jainendra Singh Vs. State of UP and Others 2012 (8) SCC 748; where in paragraph 29 the Supreme Court had after considering judgements rendered by it earlier culled out cardinal principles. In paragraph 29.4 onwards the Supreme Court had observed as under -

"29.4 A candidate having suppressed material information and/or giving false information cannot claim right to continue in service and the employer, having regard to the nature of employment as well as other aspects, has the discretion to terminate his services.

29.5 The purpose of calling for information regarding involvement in any criminal case or detention or conviction is for the purpose of verification of the character/antecedents at the time of required recruitment and suppression of such material information will have a clear bearing on the character and antecedents of the candidate in relation to his continuity in service.

29.6 The person who suppressed the material information and/or gives false information cannot claim any right for appointment or continuity in service.

29.7 The standard expected of a person intended to serve in uniform service is quite distinct from other services and, therefore, any deliberate statement or omission regarding a vital information can be seriously viewed and the ultimate decision of the appointing authority cannot be faulted.

29.8 Employee on probation can be discharged from service or maybe refused employment on the ground of suppression of material information or making false statement relating to his involvement in the criminal case, in as much as such a situation would make a person undesirable or unsuitable for the post.

29.9 An employee in the uniformed service presupposes a higher level of integrity, such a person is expected to uphold the law and on the contrary such a service born in deceit and subterfuge cannot be tolerated.

29.10 The authorities entrusted with the responsibility of appointing constables, are under a duty to verify the antecedents of a candidate to find out whether he is suitable for the post of a constable and so long as the candidate has not been acquitted in the criminal case, he cannot be held to be suitable for appointment to the post of constable."

25. Now I shall consider the case of petitioner no. 1 as he was a juvenile at the time criminal proceedings took place against him. I have also carefully gone through the order of acquittal of Raj Kumar the petitioner no. 1 passed by the Additional Chief Judicial Magistrate on 24.09.2001 in Criminal Case No. 1958 of 2007, "State versus Rajkumar and others'. From a perusal of the facts as mentioned by the Trial court it is evident that the incident in question leading to the lodging of the FIR was of 31.10.2003, when the petitioner no. 1 Rajkumar was only nine years old. The Court had found that the victim herself had made a statement that she had fallen down in the commotion caused due to a lot many people crowding around her. She had denied having been beaten up by the accused Rajkumar or any of the other accused. The court had therefore acquitted the accused of the charges levelled against them.

26. In Shivam Maurya Vs. State of UP and Others 2020 (5) ADJ; a Division Bench of this Court had held the cancellation of candidature of the appellant petitioner vitiated. The Appellant had suppressed the information regarding his involvement in criminal case in his attestation form. The Court held that the appointing authority had failed to take into account Section 19 of the Juvenile Justice (Care and Protection of Children) Act 2000; which refers to removal of disqualification attached to conviction and which started with non obstante clause giving it an overriding effect. Discussing the definition of "juvenile in conflict with law" which meant a juvenile who is alleged to have committed an offence and has not completed 18 years of age on the date of commission of such offence, it observed that Section 19 of the Act of 2000 had been included in order to give a juvenile an opportunity to lead his life with no stigma and to wipe out the circumstances of his past. Under Rule 99 of Juvenile Justice (Care and Protection of Children) Rules 2007, the records or documents in respect of a juvenile or child in conflict with the law shall be kept in a safe place for a period of seven years and thereafter were to be destroyed by the Officer in Charge or the Board or the Committee, as the case may be. Section 21 of the Act of 2000 prohibits publication of the name of the juvenile in conflict with law with the object to protect him from adverse consequences on account of his conviction for an offence he committed as a juvenile. Disclosure of name of juvenile in conflict with law is punishable with fine. The Court observed that the Act being a beneficial legislation, concealment of pendency of criminal case against the appellant petitioner was of no consequence. As per the requirement of law a conviction in an offence will not be be treated as a disqualification for a juvenile. The records of the case pertaining to his involvement in a criminal matter have to be obliterated after a specified period of time. The intention of the legislature is clear that in so far as juveniles are concerned their criminal records are not to stand in the way in their lives. The Court set aside the cancellation of candidature of the petitioner appellant as it was contrary to the object sought to be achieved by the Juvenile Justice Act.

27. In a judgment rendered by a Coordinate Bench in Writ Petition No. 38380 of 2017, "Upendra Chauhan Vs. Union of India and 5 Others, decided on 20.02.2019, the candidature of the petitioner had been cancelled on the ground that he had deliberately suppressed the fact of his involvement in two criminal cases. Initially the petitioner's Writ Petition was disposed off requiring the respondents to reconsider the case of the petitioner bearing in mind the principles enunciated by the Supreme Court in the case of Avtar Singh Versus Union of India and others 2016 (8) SCC 471; the respondents thereafter by the impugned order had rejected the candidature of the petitioner again. They admitted that he had declared about criminal cases in his attestation form but observed that because of such criminal cases his character was not unblemished at the time of filling up of the attestation form. The Coordinate Bench had found that the petitioner was tried as a juvenile in those cases under the provisions of Juvenile Justice (Care and Protection of Children) Act 2015, and ultimately the said cases came to a close after the filling up of the form, with the petitioner being released back in the custody of his father, with an advice and warning. The Court considered Section 24 of the 2015 Act where it has been provided that notwithstanding anything contained in any other law for the time being in force, a child who has committed an offence and has been dealt with under the provisions of the Act, shall not suffer disqualification, if any, attached to a conviction of an offence under such law with the Proviso making the Sub-section (1) inapplicable in the case of a child who is above the age of 16 years, and is found to be in conflict with the law by the Children's Court under clause (i)of Sub-section (1) of Section 19, which deals with heinous crimes. Under Sub-section (2) of Section 24 the Juvenile Justice Board shall make an order directing the Police, or the Registry of the Children's Court that relevant records of such conviction shall be destroyed after expiry of the period of appeal or as the case maybe, a reasonable period as may be prescribed. In case of heinous offences however, where the child is found to be in conflict with the law under clause (i) of Sub-section (1) of Section 19 the relevant records of the conviction under the Act shall be retained by the Children's Court.

28. It is evident from perusal of Section 24 of the Juvenile Justice Act 2015 that in all cases except cases related to heinous offences, a child in conflict with the law would not suffer any disqualification in the future and for such purposes records relating to the case had to be destroyed after passage of a specified period and in the manner as prescribed under the Rules. The Court had observed that the nature of offences were trivial in character which could be passed off and attributed to the exuberance and intemperance of youth and could not be viewed as disqualification for entry in government service. The court referred to paragraph 38.6 in the case of Avtar Singh(Supra) where it was left open to the employer's discretion to appoint a candidate who had truthfully declared in the character verification form regarding pendency of a criminal case of trivial nature subject to its final outcome. The Court observed that under Section 24 even if a Juvenile is convicted under the provisions of 2015 Act such conviction is not liable to be viewed as disqualification which may otherwise and ordinarily stand attached upon a person being convicted.

29. The learned counsel for the petitioner has also placed reliance upon judgement rendered by a Division Bench of the Delhi High Court in "Akhilesh Kumar Vs. Union of India and Others' where the petitioner had been selected for the post of constable in Railway Protection Force. He was sent for training before being appointed. He had filled up an attestation form mentioning therein that no criminal case was registered against him however on police verification it was revealed that FIR under Section 323/325/506/504 IPC had been registered against him. On the basis of police verification the respondents discharged the petitioner from training for suppression of facts. The petitioner filed a Writ Petition which was partly allowed. The Court had aside the order of discharge giving liberty to the respondents to reconsider the matter and pass a fresh order in the light of observations made in the case of Avtar Singh(Supra). The representation of the petitioner was considered and rejected on the ground that at the time of filling up of the attestation form he had not mentioned about the registration of criminal case and that it was pending against him although he had been subsequently acquitted in the said case. The attestation form was unequivocally clear, specific and not vague in nature and also bilingual i.e. is it was printed in Hindi and in English. The consequence of suppression of information was reiterated in numerous paragraphs of the attestation form, hence it could not be treated to be a case of ignorance/lack of understanding/error. The petitioner had to serve in a uniformed service and any deliberate statement or omission regarding vital information from a member of the disciplined force is liable to be judged on a higher pedestal. The matter of suppression regarding registration and pendency of a criminal case against him was deliberate and not due to any misconception, thus rendering him unfit for appointment in Railway Protection Force. The petitioner had sought quashing of the order impugned mainly on the ground that on the date of registration of FIR against the petitioner and his family members he was a juvenile, thus entitled to protection under the provisions of Juvenile Justice (Care and Protection) Act 2000.

30. The Delhi High Court observed that it was not disputed that the petitioner was a juvenile at the time of the incident. All the four accused persons including the petitioner were acquitted later on as the complainant did not make any incriminating statement against the petitioner and his family members. The Court observed that in Pratap Singh Vs. State of Jharkhand and Another reported in 2005 (3) SCC 551 a Constitution Bench had held that reckoning date for determination of the age of juvenile is the date of commission of the offence and not the date when he is produced before the Competent Authority or Court. The petitioner a juvenile, was tried along with the adult co-accused persons in a regular court while denying him the benefit of Juvenile Justice (Care and Protection) Act 2000. The Court observed that Section 19 of the Act of 2000 related to removal of disqualification attached to conviction and it also provided that the relevant records of such conviction would be removed after a period of seven years. The court quoted with approval the observations of the Madhya Pradesh High Court in a case where the petitioner being less than 16 years of age at the time of occurrence of the alleged criminal incident was a juvenile and he could not have been prosecuted except by a Juvenile Board. Hence it held that the prosecution of the petitioner by a court of regular Magistrate was without jurisdiction in terms of the Juvenile Justice Act 1986, which was in force at the time of such trial.

31. The respondents had argued that failure to mention his criminal antecedents by the petitioner needed to be viewed seriously as he was required to serve in a uniformed force. The Court observed on the basis of Section 19 of the Juvenile Justice Act 2000 that the provisions of the Act give an opportunity to the juvenile to lead a life with no stigma and to wipe out the circumstances of his inglorious past. The Court observed that there was no dispute that at the time of the alleged offence the petitioner was only 12 years old. At the time of applying for appointment to the post of constable the case was pending against him before the Juvenile Justice Board which later on was decided in his favour. Even if a conviction had been recorded by the Juvenile Justice Board Section 19 of the Juvenile Justice Act, 2000 stipulated that the juvenile shall not suffer any disqualification attached to such conviction and all relevant records relating to such conviction had to be destroyed after a certain period of time. Section 21 of the Act prohibits publication of the name of the juvenile in conflict with the law. The underlying object of such provision is to protect a juvenile from any adverse consequences on account of conviction for an offence committed as a juvenile. Once the juvenile has been extended a protective umbrella under the said enactment there was no good reason for the respondents to have insisted that the petitioner ought to have disclosed the information relating to the allegation against him pertaining to an offence that was committed during his childhood where he was tried by the Juvenile Justice Board and subsequently acquitted. The Court observed that even when police verification in respect of the petitioner was being conducted on the direction of the respondents, the concerned police officers ought to have refrained from revealing information pertaining to the petitioner since he was a juvenile at that point of time. This was in fact a gross breach of confidentiality contemplated under the act.

32. In view of the observations made by this Court and the Delhi High Court, and the provisions of Juvenile Justice (Care and Protection) Act, 2015 this Court is of the considered opinion that the petitioner no.1 being a juvenile at the time of criminal prosecution being concluded against him and having culminated in acquittal deserves to be reinstated in service, the order dated 01.03.2017 is quashed, the Writ Petition stands allowed. The petitioner no.1 shall get all consequential benefits of service including seniority and pay fixation except salary for the period he did not work. The order for reinstating him be passed by the respondents within six weeks of production of a copy of this order before them.

Counsel for the Petitioner:

Counsel for the Respondents:

A. Local body – GO dated 05.12.2019 – Zero period benefit – Entitlement – Plot was allotted, but due to non-construction of the approach road and non-approval of the revised layout plan, the development over the allotted plot could not be carried out – Authority refused to grant zero period benefit – Legality challenged – Held, once the GO dated 05.12.2019 was in existence, the claim of the petitioner was required to be considered in terms of the parameters laid down it – Rejection of the claim of the petitioner for grant of zero period benefit by the impugned order was held wholly unjustified and the petitioner was held entitled for grant of zero period benefit. (Para 10)

Writ petition partly allowed. (E-1)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Pritinker Diwaker, J. & Hon'ble Ashutosh Srivastava, J.)

1. Sri Nikhil Agarwal, learned counsel for the petitioner, Smt. Anjali Upadhyay, learned counsel for the Respondent No.2, 3 & 4 and learned Standing Counsel for the State respondents.

2. The writ petitioner which is a Company incorporated under the Companies Act, 1956, engaged in the business of real estate and development of integrated township, construction and sale of flats etc. is aggrieved by the order dated 23.12.2019 passed by the Additional Chief Executive Officer, Greater Noida Industrial Development Authority, whereby and whereunder the claim of the petitioner for grant of the zero period benefit from the date of allotment dated 25.04.2011 till the date of passing of revised layout plan in respect of FH-02, Agricultural Green, Grater Noida is passed by the Respondent Authority has been rejected. Several other prayers have been made in the writ petition.

3. It is contended on behalf of the petitioner that the Greater Noida floated a scheme on 11.01.2011 for allotment of large group housing/ builders residential plots in which the minimum reserve price of Rs.2600/- per sq. meter was fixed. The bid of the petitioner was accepted @ Rs.2785/- per sq. meter and land ad-measuring 404879 sq. meter was allotted in favour of the petitioner vide allotment letter dated 25.04.2011. A lease deed was executed on 03.11.2012 for a consideration of Rs.112,73,68,000/- payable in 12 installments as per the schedule mentioned in the lease deed. The petitioner was handed over possession of 4,01,710.41 sq. meters of the land out of 4,04,879 sq. meters and balance land of 3168501 sq. meters was to be handed over later. On getting the possession of the land the petitioner submitted a layout plan which was duly approved by the Competent Authority. The plot allotted to the petitioner was not free from encroachment and was hampering the development work in as much as the land was still occupied by the villagers, there was a public road in the middle of the plot which was still being used by villagers. The petitioner submitted a revised lease plan and also requested the authority for declaration of zero period form the date of allotment i.e. 25.04.2011 to the date of approval of the revised lease plan and adjust the amount paid by the petitioner till that date against the outstanding principal amount and issue a new payment plan for future installments to be paid by the petitioner. It is further contended that the petitioner requested for issuance of revised lease plan. The Development Authority executed two supplementary lease deeds on 04.12.2015 and 13.01.2017 whereafter the petitioner vide letter dated 23.01.2017 submitted building plans and other required documents for approval of revised sanction of the layout plan upon Plot No. FH-02 Sector Agricultural but no decision upon the revised layout plan submitted has been taken. On account of non-construction of approach road and non approval of revised layout plan submitted the petitioner could not carry out any development or construction actively upon the leased plot.

4. It is next contended that the Respondent Authority in its Board Meeting held on 24.12.2016 (107th Board Meeting) took a decision to grant zero period benefit to the allottees amongst other grounds on the ground that if the authority has delivered possession to the allottee and lease deed was executed but the allottee is unable to access the plot as a result of which development is impossible to commence, the allottee is entitled to the benefit of zero benefit upto the date on which the alternate access is provided. The Authority did not extend the benefit of zero period to the petitioner even though it stood covered by it. The petitioner approached this Hon'ble Court my means of Writ (C) No.21878 of 2018 which was disposed of vide order dated 21.06.2018 directing the authority to decide the representation of the petitioner in accordance with law and the policy decision taken in the 104th Board Meeting dated 14.03.2016 by a reasoned and speaking order. In compliance of the order of this Court dated 21.06.2018 though the petitioner had to invoke the contempt jurisdiction of this Court to ensure its compliance, the Respondent Authority on grounds untenable in law has now rejected the representation of the petitioner by order dated 23.12.2019 harbouring under an erroneous assumption that the petitioner was not entitled to the benefit of zero period as the petitioner had possession of the plot ignoring that there was continuous hindrance created by farmers upon the land and also the approach road was not constructed which led to undue hardship to the petitioner as it could not commence construction on the affected area. It is thus submitted that the denial of the benefit of zero period, as claimed by the petitioner is unjustified, particularly, in view of the fact that in similar circumstances the benefit of zero period was extended to M/s Rajhans Infratech Pvt. Ltd. writ petitioner of Writ (C) No.12462 of 2020 but the petitioner was denied the benefit.

5. Smt. Anjali Upadhyay, learned counsel representing the Respondent Authority has filed counter affidavit on behalf the Respondents No.2, 3 & 4. In the counter affidavit, it has been averred that the petitioner was allotted Plot No. FH-02, Agriculture Green, Greater Noida, with area of 40,4800 sq. meter at the rate of Rs.2785/- per sq. meter on 25.04.2011. As per the allotment letter, 10% of the premium of the plot i.e. Rs.11,27,36,800/- was to be deposited within 60 days apart from the reservation money of Rs.6,27,36,800/- which had already been deposited. The remaining 80% of the premium of the plot was to be deposited with an interest of 13% per annum in 12 half yearly equal installments. On 02.11.2012 lease deed in respect of an area of 4,01,710.41 sq. meter was executed and it was mentioned that area of 3168.59 sq. meters would be allotted later. On 27.09.2016, a revised lease plan of 40,4879 sq. meters was again issued which mentioned that the lease plan would be subject to orders passed in Writ Petition No.12300 of 2010, Writ Petition No.12303 of 2010, Writ Petition No.32438 of 2012. Subsequently, a supplementary lease deed was executed. The benefit of zero period was to be considered as per the approved proposal in Item No.103/2014 of the 103rd Board Meeting of the Authority. The counter affidavit states that the policy approved in the 103rd Board Meeting was not effective and hence the matter could not be settled under this policy. The counter affidavit further states that the zero period benefit was allowed for 21.10.2011 to 24.08.2012 as per earlier decision as the allottees plot being in a village other than village Patwari. The petitioner's project falls in village Bisrikh and no ground was found for obstructing the work by farmers on the land of Bisrikh falling under the petitioner's project and the petitioner has undisputed possession of 404879 sq. meters of the allotted land. The Project Department Report has found that the 18 meter road has been included in the layout approved by the Planning Department and the contention of the petitioner that the 18 meter road has been taken out from the middle of the plot is incorrect. The petitioner has physical possession of entire plot and the sub lease deed has also been done by the petitioner for the aforesaid plot. In such view of the matter, the benefit of zero period has been allowed from 21.10.2011 to 24.08.2012 only.

6. In the rejoinder affidavit, the petitioner has controverted the stand of the Respondent Authority taken in the counter affidavit. The petitioner submits that in view of the stand of the Respondent Authority in para 8 of the counter affidavit, the case of the petitioner is established beyond reasonable doubt that the petitioner could not have commenced any activity upon the leased land in view of the admission of the respondents that on 27.09.2016 a revised leased plan of 40,4879 sq. meters was issued by the Project Department where it was mentioned that the lease plan would be subject to High Court order in Writ Petition No.2300 of 2010, Writ Petition No.12303 of 2010 and Writ Petition No.32438 of 2012. A supplementary lease deed was executed in favour of petitioner on 09.01.2017 wherein it has been stated that due to revision in the sector layout plan of Sector Agricultural Greens 18 meter wide road has been incorporated to facilitate the villagers of Bisrakh to reach their cremation grounds straight from the community centre side village road resulting in the execution of the revised lease plan to be executed which has been made subject to the outcome of the writ petitions. The petitioner has been constantly requesting the Authority to remove the obstruction caused by the villagers in commencing actively upon the leased land as ins evident from letters dated 01.11.2013 and 0.08.2014. It is also stated that the State Government vide its order dated 05.12.2019 has evolved the policy for grant of zero period benefit. The Government Order dated 05.12.2019 has been duly adopted by the Respondent Authority in its 117th Board Meeting and an Officer Order dated 03.03.2010 has been issued. The zero period benefit is required to be given on the parameters laid down under the Officer Order dated 03.03.2020. The respondents are erroneously referring to and relying upon 103rd Board Meeting whereas the Court clearly mentioned 104th Board Meeting. However, now the Respondent Authority has issued the Office Order dated 03.03.2020 regarding grant of zero period benefit which itself is base on the Government Order dated 05.12.2019 the claim of the petitioner was liable to be considered in terms of the Government Order date 05.12.2019. The rejection of the claim vide the impugned order dated 23.12.2019 subsequent to the issue of the Government Order dated 05.12.2019 is thus vitiated.

7. This Court in view of the above factual background is required to examine as to whether the consideration of the zero period benefit by the impugned order dated 23.12.2019 is justified or the same is liable to be interfered in exercise of powers under Article 226 of the Constitution of India.

8. A perusal of the impugned order dated 23.12.2019 passed by the Additional Chief Executive Officer, Greater Noida Industrial Development Authority reveals that the petitioner was allotted Plot No.FH-2 area 404879 sq. meters on 25.04.2011 but lease deed of only an area of 401710.41 sq. meters was got executed on 02.11.2012. Lease of an area of 3168.59 sq. meters was admittedly not got executed. The petitioner soon after execution of the lease deed dated 02.11.2012 appraised the Authority on 09.11.2013 annexing on site photographs that the plot allotted was not free from encroachments of farmers who were preventing the petitioner to construct boundary wall. A supplementary lease deed dated 04.12.2015 was got executed in respect of balance area of 3168.59 sq. meters. On 27.09.2016 a fresh modified lease plan was issued by the Authority which was subject to the outcome of Writ Petition No.12300 of 2010, Writ Petition No.12303 of 2010 and Writ Petition No.32438 of 2012. A fresh lease deed dated 09.01.2017 was got executed which mentioned a 18 meters road across the plot allotted. The impugned order further records that the claim of the petitioner for grant of the zero period benefit was to be considered in terms of the direction of the Court dated 21.06.2018 passed in Writ Petition No.21878 of 2018 according to the prevailing policy of the Authority but the same has not been done.

9. We find that the Authority has proceeded to consider the claim of the petitioner on the basis of the agenda No.103/14 in the 103rd Board Meeting even though the direction in the writ petition No. 21878 of 2018 was to decide as per the policy decision taken in 104th Board Meeting held on 14.03.2014. In fact the authority has proceeded to hold that the claim of the petitioner for grant of the zero period benefit cannot be considered as the policy under the 103rd meeting was not approved by the Government and thus was not effective and the claim is to be considered as per the prevailing policy. However, we find that the authority has not accorded consideration of the claim of the petitioner as per the prevailing policy for grant of zero period benefit rather has proceeded to reject the claim by holding that the claim cannot be considered under the policy under the 103rd Board Meeting. Thus the action of the Development Authority is not in accordance with law.

10. This Court further finds that when the claim of the petitioner for zero period benefit was pending consideration, the State Government issued Government Order dated 05.12.2019 laying down the parameters for grant of the zero period benefit. The said Government Order was adopted by the authority. Once the Government Order dated 05.12.2019 was in existence, the claim of the petitioner was required to be considered in terms of the parameters laid down in the Government Order dated 05.12.2019. We also take note of the fact that subsequently the authority has issued an office order dated 03.03.2020 adopting the Government Order dated 05.12.2019. This being so, we are of the view that the rejection of the claim of the petitioner for grant of zero period benefit by the impugned order dated 23.12.2019 is wholly unjustified and the petitioner is entitled for grant of zero period benefit.

11. Accordingly, the writ petition is partly allowed and the impugned order dated 23.12.2019 rejecting the claim of the petitioner for grant of zero period benefit is set aside. It is held that the petitioner is entitled for grant of zero period benefit from the date of allotment, i.e. 25.04.2011 to till date. The respondents-Authority are also directed to consider the sanctioning of the revised layout plan regarding FH-02, Agricultural Green, Greater Noida, in accordance with law considering the observations made herein-above.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Surya Prakash Kesarwani, J. & Hon'ble Saurabh Srivastava, J.)

1. Heard Sri Ranjeet Asthana, learned counsel for the petitioner and Sri Amit Kumar Singh, learned Additional Chief Standing Counsel for the State-respondents.

2. This writ petition has been filed praying for the following relief:

"i) Issue a writ order or direction in the nature of certiorari to quash the order dated 10.04.2022 passed by respondent no.2 which contains a Annexure no.10 to the writ petition.

ii) Issue a writ order or direction in the nature of Mandamus commanding to the respondents no to stop the petitioner for any sale or any kind use pendency of the writ petition.

iii) issue a writ order or direction in the nature of Mandamus commanding to the respondents not to take any action upon the application of the respondent no 5, in the interest of justice;"

3. Learned counsel for the petitioner submits that land of Khevat No.26 measuring 10 acres 14 decimal situated at village Rajpur, was purchased by the ancestor of the petitioner namely Sri Radha Prasad and thus, the petitioner is rightful owner. He further submits that earlier there were 11 plot numbers, which, after consolidation, were converted into one plot number being khasra Plot No.502, Village Rajpur Bangar, Tehsil and District Mathura. He further submits that there is a decree of civil court and the rights of the petitioner in the land in question stand settled and, therefore, the respondents cannot interfere with the rights of the petitioner in the land in question.

4. Learned Additional Chief Standing counsel submits that neither ancestor of the petitioner nor the petitioner is the owner of the land in question. He submits that the land in question was purchased by Sri Thakur Radhamohan Ji Maharaj Virajman Mandir through Manager Radha S/o Makkhan Lal by a registered sale deed dated 28.05.1915. The compromise decree obtained by the father of the petitioner was a collusive decree in which there was no compromise by the Deity which is the actual owner of the property in question. He referred to various papers of the affidavit of compliance/ short counter affidavit dated 07.09.2022 filed today in court on behalf of respondent Nos.2 and 3. He submits that the copy of the aforesaid sale deed dated 28.05.1915 stands admitted to the petitioner inasmuch as he himself has filed it along with supplementary affidavit dated 05.09.2022. He further submits that the name of the Deity stands recorded in the revenue records from decades together and the revenue entries particularly Akar Patra 45 and the orders passed by the Assistant Consolidation Officer are in conformity with the sale deed dated 28.05.1915. He further submits that the petitioner is not the owner of the land in question and, therefore, he has no right to sell it.

Discussion and Findings:-

5. We have carefully considered the submissions of the learned counsels for the parties and perused the records of the present writ petition. On 22.08.2022, this court passed the following order:

"Supplementary affidavit filed today is taken on record.

Heard learned counsel for the petitioner, the learned standing counsel for the State respondents and Shri Satyendra Pandey, learned counsel for respondent no.5.

Petitioner and respondent no.5 are the real brothers.

Grievance of the petitioner is that disputed property being khasra plot no.502, Rajpur Bangar is a private property and it does not belong to the Deity and therefore in terms of the compromise decree dated 26.5.2005 for partition, no interference can be made by any one for sale of his share in the property by the petitioner.

Prima-facie records of this writ petition indicate that the property belongs to the Deity viz. "Thakur Radha Mohn Ji Maharaj Virajman Mandir Baag Agar Bihari, Vrindavan".The petitioner's father was merely a sevayat. Primafacie it appears that petitioner's father and his sons colluded to grab the property belonging to the Deity and for that purpose an Injunction Suit No. 751 of 2003 was filed. After a detailed order dated 16.02.2004 was passed by the Civil Judge (Senior Division), Mathura, they filed a compromise deed between them. There is no whisper in the compromise decree regarding the compromise by the Deity.

Matter is serious and primafacie appears to be a case of grabbing of land belonging to the Deity.

In view of the aforesaid, we direct the District Magistrate, Mathura to cause an inquiry and submit a detailed report regarding all immovable properties of Deity "Thakur Radha Mohn Ji Maharaj Virajman Mandir Baag Agar Bihari, Vrindavan" and submit a detailed report alongwith copies of all relevant revenue records i.e, khatauni and copy of the deed by which the properties, including aforesaid khasra plot no. 502, Rajpur Bangar were endowed. The District Magistrate, Mathura shall also file a true copy/translated copy of the registered sale deed dated 28.5.2019 which has been referred at page 92 of the writ petition. The aforesaid page appears to be part of affidavit of Narayan Prasad Sharma (father of the petitioner) filed by him in Suit No. 657 of 1999. Relevant portion of paragraphs 6, 11 and 15 of the aforesaid affidavit filed as Annexure-8 to the writ petition is re-produced below:-

"पैराग्राफ–6. वास्तव में बात यह है कि ठाकुर राधामोहन जी की स्थापना मुझ शपथकर्ता के बाबा स्वर्गीय की माखन लाल ने अर्सा लगभग 84 वर्ष पूर्व की थी तथा प्रश्नगत सम्पति को ठाकुर जी के हक मे रजिस्टर्ड बैनामा दि0 28.5.1915 द्वारा अपने पुत्र यानि मुझ शपथकर्ता के पिता श्री राधा प्रसाद शर्मा के नाम खरीदा था।

पैराग्राफ– 15. मुझ शपथकर्ता को इस बात का पूर्ण अधिकार प्राप्त है कि मै शपथकर्ता ठाकुर जो की किसी भी सम्पत्ति को ठाकुर जी के हितो के लिए अस्थाई रूप से इस तरह से अन्तरित कर सकूँ जिससे ठाकुर जी के हितों की सुरक्षा भी हो सकें। तथा ठाकुर जी को सम्पत्ति की उन्नति होकर ठाकुर जी की सम्पत्ति उनके स्वामित्व में बनी रहे।"

The respondent nos. 2 and 3 shall ensure that till the next date fixed, no 3rd party right may be created by any one in respect of the properties in question.

Petitioner is also directed to file a Supplementry Affidavit before the next date fixed enclosing therewith complete details relating to the immovable properties of the deity, copy of endowment deed and sale deed etc.

Put up as fresh on 30.8.2022, at 10 A.M."

6. In compliance to the aforequoted order dated 22.08.2022, the respondent Nos.2 and 3 have filed today an affidavit of compliance/ short counter affidavit dated 07.09.2022 in which they have given complete details regarding the property in question. Copies of various documents are khataunies etc. have been filed along with the aforesaid affidavit.

7. Perusal of the registered sale deed dated 28.05.1915 clearly establishes that the property in question i.e. land of Khevat No.26 measuring 10 acres 14 decimal was originally owned by Sri Thakur Pulan Bihari Ji Maharaj Virajmaan Mandir Mohalla Gyan. One Mahant Radha Raman Das was the manager of the aforesaid temple. For the benefit of the aforesaid Deity, he sold the property in question to "Sri Thakur Radhamohan Ji Maharaj Virajmaan Mandir Mohalla Baag, Agar Bihari Vrindavan through Manager Radha S/o Makkhan Lal". Thus, it stands established on record that the property in question is the property owned by the Deity namely Sri Thakur Radhamohan Ji Maharaj Virajmaan Mandir Mohalla Baag, Agar Bihari Vrindavan.

8. Along with the aforesaid short-counter affidavit, the respondent Nos.2 and 3 have filed copies of khasra of 1359 Fasli, khataunies of 1360 Fasli, 1363 Fasli to 1365 Fasli, 1366 Fasli to 1369 Fasli, 1373 Fasli to 1375 Fasli, 1376 Fasli to 1378 Fasli, 1379 Fasli to 1381 Fasli, 1382 Fasli to 1387 Fasli, Akar Patra 45 and copy of khatauni of 1426 Fasli to 1431 Fasli. Perusal of these records shows that there appears the name of father of the petitioner namely Narayan Prasad and uncles Govind Prasad, Kishanchand, Premchand, Radhacharan, all sons of Radha Prasad as Manager. In 1360 Fasli, an order in Case No.790 was passed by the Tehsildar, Mathura dated 31.07.1953 whereby the name of Sri Ganga Devi was expunged from the khatauni and in place, the name of the aforesaid persons as Manager of the Deity was entered. This entry continued till 1381 Fasli. As per khatauni 1382 Fasli to 1387 Fasli, there was an order passed by Assistant Consolidation Officer, Vrindavan in Case No.406+407 dated 27.07.1977 which was followed by another order in Case No.771/14.12.1977 whereby the name of the Deity namely "Sri Thakur Radhamohan Ji Maharaj Virajmaan Mandir Mohalla Baag Agar Bihari Vrindavan" through Narayan Prasad Sharma S/o Radha Prasad Sharma, was ordered to be entered in the revenue records. The revenue records were accordingly corrected in consolidation proceedings. Since the the Fasli Year 1382-1387 Fasli till today, the name of the Deity, namely Sri Thakur Radhamohan Ji Maharaj Virajmaan Mandir Mohalla Baag Agar Bihari Vrindavan is the recorded owner of the property in question as per revenue records. Thus, it stands clearly established that the Deity "Sri Thakur Radhamohan Ji Maharaj Virajmaan Mandir Mohalla Baag Agar Bihari Vrindavan" is the owner of the land of Khasra Plot No.502 measuring 2.6340 hectares as per the registered sale deed dated 28.05.1915 and the revenue records. The petitioner has no right, title or interest in the landed property of Khasra Plot No.502. The owner is the aforesaid Deity, namely "Sri Thakur Radhamohan Ji Maharaj Virajmaan Mandir Mohalla Baag Agar Bihari Vrindavan." The ancestors of the petitioner have been merely Manager of the temple. Owner is the aforesaid Deity. Therefore, merely because for a very little period in Khasra of 1359 Fasli, the name of the petitioner's ancestors for whatever reasons stood mentioned, it shall not confer any right, title or interest upon the petitioner with respect to the land in question. The compromise decree in O.S. No.751 of 2003 as referred in our aforequoted order dated 22.08.2022, cannot confer any right, title or interest upon the petitioner or his ancestors in respect of the land in question inasmuch as the Deity was not the party to the compromise.

9. Neither any document has been filed along with the writ petition nor any averment has been made in the writ petition by the petitioner which may indicate ownership of the petitioner or his ancestors in the immovable property in question, i.e. Khasra Plot No.502. On the contrary, copy of the registered sale-deed dated 28.05.1915 executed by the original owner Sri Thakur Pulan Bihari Ji Maharaj Virajmaan Mandir in favour of Sri Thakur Radhamohan Ji Maharaj Virajmaan Mandir Mohalla Baag, Agar Bihari, Vrindavan, filed by the respondent nos.2 and 3, i.e. District Magistrate, Mathura and the Sub-Divisional Magistrate, Mathura dated 07.09.2022 and own supplementary affidavit of the petitioner dated 05.09.2022 annexing therewith a copy of the aforesaid registered sale-deed dated 28.05.1915, leaves no manner of doubt that the aforesaid Deity, namely Sri Thakur Radhamohan Ji Maharaj Virajmaan Mandir Mohalla Baag Agar Bihari Vrindavan is the owner of the immovable property, i.e. Khasra Plot No.502, measuring 2.6340 hectares. Therefore, the alleged compromise decree in O.S. No.751 of 2003 is not binding upon the Deity, i.e. owner of the property in question inasmuch as the Deity was not party to the suit or the compromise.

10. In Meghmala v. G. Narasimha Reddy, (2010) 8 SCC 383 (paras 28 to 36), Hon'ble Supreme Court has referred to large number of its earlier judgments on the point of fraud and collusion, and its effect and held as under:-

"28. It is settled proposition of law that where an applicant gets an order/office by making misrepresentation or playing fraud upon the competent authority, such order cannot be sustained in the eye of the law. "Fraud avoids all judicial acts, ecclesiastical or temporal." (Vide S.P. Chengalvaraya Naidu v. Jagannath, (1994) 1 SCC 1) In Lazarus Estates Ltd. v. Beasley, (1956) 1 QB 702 : (1956) 2 WLR 502 : (1956) 1 All ER 341 (CA) the Court observed without equivocation that: (QB p. 712) "No judgment of a court, no order of a Minister, can be allowed to stand if it has been obtained by fraud. Fraud unravels everything."

29. In A.P. State Financial Corpn. v. GAR Re-Rolling Mills, (1994) 2 SCC 647 and State of Maharashtra v. Prabhu, (1994) 2 SCC 481 this Court observed that a writ court, while exercising its equitable jurisdiction, should not act as to prevent perpetration of a legal fraud as the courts are obliged to do justice by promotion of good faith. "Equity is always known to defend the law from crafty evasions and new subtleties invented to evade law."

30. In Shrisht Dhawan v. Shaw Bros., (1992) 1 SCC 534 it has been held as under: (SCC p. 553, para 20)

"20. Fraud and collusion vitiate even the most solemn proceedings in any civilised system of jurisprudence. It is a concept descriptive of human conduct."

31. In United India Insurance Co. Ltd. v. Rajendra Singh, (2000) 3 SCC 581 this Court observed that "Fraud and justice never dwell together" (fraus et jus nunquam cohabitant) and it is a pristine maxim which has never lost its temper over all these centuries.

32. The ratio laid down by this Court in various cases is that dishonesty should not be permitted to bear the fruit and benefit to the persons who played fraud or made misrepresentation and in such circumstances the Court should not perpetuate the fraud. (See Vizianagaram Social Welfare Residential School Society v. M. Tripura Sundari Devi, (1990) 3 SCC 655, Union of India v. M. Bhaskaran, 1995 Supp (4) SCC 100, Kendriya Vidyalaya Sangathan v. Girdharilal Yadav, (2004) 6

SCC 325, State of Maharashtra v. Ravi Prakash Babulalsing Parmar, (2007) 1 SCC 80, Himadri Chemicals Industries Ltd. v. Coal Tar Refining Co. (2007) 8 SCC 110 and Mohd. Ibrahim v. State of Bihar, (2009) 8 SCC 751.

33. Fraud is an intrinsic, collateral act, and fraud of an egregious nature would vitiate the most solemn proceedings of courts of justice. Fraud is an act of deliberate deception with a design to secure something, which is otherwise not due. The expression "fraud" involves two elements, deceit and injury to the person deceived. It is a cheating intended to get an advantage. [Vide Vimla (Dr.) v. Delhi Admn., AIR 1963 SC 1572, Indian Bank v. Satyam Fibres (India) (P) Ltd., (1996) 5 SCC 550, State of A.P. v. T. Suryachandra Rao, (2005) 6 SCC 149, K.D. Sharma v. SAIL, (2008) 12 SCC 481 and Central Bank of India v. Madhulika Guruprasad Dahir, (2008) 13 SCC 170.

34. An act of fraud on court is always viewed seriously. A collusion or conspiracy with a view to deprive the rights of the others in relation to a property would render the transaction void ab initio. Fraud and deception are synonymous. Although in a given case a deception may not amount to fraud, fraud is anathema to all equitable principles and any affair tainted with fraud cannot be perpetuated or saved by the application of any equitable doctrine including res judicata. Fraud is proved when it is shown that a false representation has been made (i) knowingly, or (ii) without belief in its truth, or (iii) recklessly, careless whether it be true or false. Suppression of a material document would also amount to a fraud on the court. (Vide S.P. Chengalvaraya Naidu, (1994) 1 SCC 1, Gowrishankar v. Joshi Amba Shankar Family Trust, (1996) 3 SCC 310, Ram Chandra Singh v. Savitri Devi, (2003) 8 SCC 319, Roshan Deen v. Preeti Lal, (2002) 1 SCC 100, Ram Preeti Yadav v. U.P. Board of High School & Intermediate Education, (2003) 8 SCC 311 and Ashok Leyland Ltd. v. State of T.N., (2004) 3 SCC 1.

35. In Kinch v. Walcott, 1929 AC 482 : 1929 All ER Rep 720 (PC) it has been held that:

"... mere constructive fraud is not, at all events after long delay, sufficient but such a judgment will not be set aside upon mere proof that the judgment was obtained by perjury".

Thus, detection/discovery of constructive fraud at a much belated stage may not be sufficient to set aside the judgment procured by perjury.

36. From the above, it is evident that even in judicial proceedings, once a fraud is proved, all advantages gained by playing fraud can be taken away. In such an eventuality the questions of non-executing of the statutory remedies or statutory bars like doctrine of res judicata are not attracted. Suppression of any material fact/document amounts to a fraud on the court. Every court has an inherent power to recall its own order obtained by fraud as the order so obtained is non est."

Status of Manager or Shebait:

Deity- A minor, duty of Shebait/Manager to protect interest of Deity and not to usurp property for own gains:-

11. In the present set of facts, the aforesaid Deity is the owner of the property in question on the basis of the title deed dated 28.05.1915. Ancestors of the petitioner have been manager of the temple/Deity. It is bounden duty of Shebait or Manager to protect the temple property. He cannot usurp such property for his own gains. A Shebait,

Manager or Archaka etc. is the person functioning as a manager/trustee of such temple. He is the guardian of the idol and conducts all transactions on its behalf, solely for the benefit of the idol and not otherwise. In the case of Bishwanath And Anr vs Shri Thakur Radhaballabhji & Ors, AIR 1967 SC 1044, Hon'ble Supreme Court held that three legal concepts are well settled : (i) An idol of a Hindu temple is a juridical person; (ii) when there is a Shebait, ordinarily no person other than the Shebait can represent the idol; and (iii) worshippers of an idol are its beneficiaries, though only in a spiritual sense. An idol is in the position of a minor; when the person representing it leaves it in the lurch, a person interested in the worship of the idol can certainly be clothed with an ad hoc power to protect its interest. The aforesaid settled principles have been reiterated by Hon'ble the Supreme Court in large numbers of judgments including the judgment in the case of Sri Ganapathi Dev Temple Trust vs Balakrishna Bhat (D) Thr. Lrs. (2019) 9 SCC 495 (para 12).

12. In a recent judgment in the State of M.P. v. Pujari Utthan Avam Kalyan Samiti, (2021) 10 SCC 222 (Para 23 to 26), Hon'ble Supreme Court considered the status of a Pujari with respect to management of the property of the Deity and held that Pujari is only a grantee to manage the property of the Deity. He does not have any right in the land and his status is only that of a manager. Rights of a Pujari or Shebait do not stand on the same footing as that of a Mourushi in the ordinary sense. If a Pujari or Manager claims proprietary rights over the property of temple, then it is an act of mismanagement. Paragraphs 23, 24, 25 and 26 of the aforesaid judgment are reproduced below:-

"23. This question has already been considered by the courts in Panchamsingh v. Ramkishandas Guru Ramdas, 1971 SCC OnLine MP 26, which has further been affirmed by Kanchaniya6. The law is clear on the distinction that the Pujari is not a Kashtkar Mourushi i.e. tenant in cultivation or a government lessee or an ordinary tenant of the muafi lands but holds such land on behalf of the Aukaf Department for the purpose of management. The Pujari is only a grantee to manage the property of the deity and such grant can be reassumed if the Pujari fails to do the task assigned to him i.e. to offer prayers and manage the land. He cannot be thus treated as a Bhumiswami. The Kanchaniya v. Shiv Ram, 1992 Supp (2) SCC 250 further clarifies that the Pujari does not have any right in the land and his status is only that of a manager. Rights of pujari do not stand on the same footing as that of Kashtkar Mourushi in the ordinary sense who are entitled to all rights including the right to sell or mortgage.

24. In a judgment reported as Ramchand v. Janki Ballabhji Maharaj, (1969) 2 SCC 313, it was held that if the Pujari claims proprietary rights over the property of the temple, it is an act of mismanagement and he is not fit to remain in possession or to continue as a Pujari.

25. The contrary view expressed by the High Court in Ghanshyamdas v. State of M.P., 1995 Revenue Nirnaya (RN) 235, Sadashiv Giri v. Commr., 1985 RN 317 and Shrikrishna v. State of M.P., 1995 SCC OnLine MP 161 : (2012) 4 MP LJ 466 does not lay down good law in view of binding precedent of the Division Bench of the High Court in Panchamsingh7 as also of this Court in Kanchaniya6. All these judgments presenting a contrasting view had not noticed the said binding precedents dealing with the rights of priest under the Gwalior Act.

26. Taking into consideration the past precedents, and the fact that under the Gwalior Act, Pujari had been given the right to manage the property of the temple, it is clear that that does not elevate him to the status of Kashtkar Mourushi (tenant in cultivation)."

13. For all the reasons aforesaid, we do not find any merit in this writ petition. Consequently, the writ petition is dismissed.

14. After this judgment was dictated in open court, learned counsel or the petitioner states that the petitioner may be permitted to withdraw this writ petition.

15. We are not inclined to accept the request of learned counsel for the petitioner inasmuch as we have heard at length the writ petition on merit and dictated judgment in open court. After the judgment has been dictated, the request of the petitioner to withdraw the writ petition cannot be accepted. Hence, the request is rejected.

16. Learned Chief Standing Counsel shall intimate this order in writing to the respondent Nos.2 and 3 within ten days, who shall take all steps to protect the aforesaid property of the Deity being Khasra Plot No.502.

(Para 15)

B. Civil law – Public contract – Blacklisting of the contractor – No opportunity of hearing – Held, the order of blacklisting involves civil consequences and has the effect of creating a disability by preventing a person from the privilege and advantage of entering into lawful relationship with the government – A fair hearing to the party before being blacklisted thus becomes an essential pre-condition for a proper exercise of the power – The applicability of the principle of audi alteram partem and the necessity of issuance of show cause notice also becomes imperative before passing of any such order of blacklisting – However, High Court held the challenge to the show cause notices premature for the reason that the mere indication of the grounds and the penalty proposed, would not give rise to a cause of action – High Court refused to exercise the extraordinary jurisdiction under Article 226 of the Constitution of India to interfere in the matter, leaving it open to the petitioners to submit their response to the show cause notices. (Para 30, 39, 41 and 42)

C. Constitution of India – Article 14 – Principle of natural justice – Principle of audi alteram partem* – The principle of audi alteram partem has been held to be a sina qua non and a basic tenet underlying the principles of natural justice. (Para 33)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Dr. Yogendra Kumar Srivastava, J.)

1. The two writ petitions arise out of similar set of facts and seek to raise challenge to notices bearing date 18.6.2022 directing the petitioners to show cause in respect of the proposed action of blacklisting/debarment. Accordingly, with the consent of the parties, the two petitions have been heard and are being disposed of by means of a common order.

2. Heard Sri Prashant Chandra, learned Senior Counsel assisted by Sri Kartikeya Dubey and Sri Ujjawal Satsangi for the petitioners and Sri Udit Chandra, learned counsel for the respondents.

3. Pleadings have been exchanged between the parties in both the petitions.

4. At the very outset, it would be relevant to take notice of the fact that the writ petitioner in Writ C No. 18053 of 2022 (M/S Bcits Pvt. Ltd vs. Purvanchal Vidhyut Vitaran Nigam Ltd. And Another) had approached this Court earlier in Writ C No. 15363 of 2022 (M/s Bcits Pvt. Ltd. vs. Purvanchal Vidhyut Vitaran Nigam Ltd. And Another) seeking to challenge notice dated 18.5.2022 whereby the petitioner had been directed to show cause in respect of a proposed action of blacklisting/debarment.

5. The writ court allowed the writ petition by means of a judgement dated 26.5.2022 taking into consideration the fact that in the aforestated notice the authority concerned had already recorded its conclusion with regard to explanation furnished by the petitioner earlier and had found the same to be unsatisfactory. The Court held that since the respondent authority had already expressed its mind, the exercise which was to follow would be an empty formality. Accordingly, the notice was quashed leaving it open to the respondent corporation to issue a fresh notice in accordance with law, if so advised.

6. Against a similarly worded notice bearing same date i.e. 18.5.2022, the petitioner in Writ C No. 18052 of 2022 (M/S Nsoft (India) Services Pvt. Ltd. vs. Purvanchal Vidyut Vitaran And Another) had also preferred an earlier petition being Writ C No. 17169 of 2022 (M/s Nsoft India Services vs. Purvanchal Vidyut Vitaran And Another) and following the judgement in Writ C No. 15363 of 2022 (M/s Bcits Pvt. Ltd. vs. Purvanchal Vidhyut Vitaran Nigam Ltd. And Another), the writ petition was disposed of in the same terms by means of a judgment dated 16.6.2022.

7. It is pursuant to the judgments in the earlier round of litigation, referred to above, that the respondent no.2 issued notices dated 18.6.2022 bearing Reference No. 162/PuVVNL(Varanasi)/ Commercial/Billing and Reference No. 161/PuVVNL(Varanasi)/ Commercial/ Billing respectively, against the petitioners in the two writ petitions, in terms of which they were directed to show cause as to why in the light of the facts stated in the notices, the petitioner firms be not blacklisted/debarred for a period of two years.

8. Challenging the aforesaid notices, the present petitions have been filed.

9. Counsel appearing for the respondents has raised a preliminary objection by submitting that the notices dated 18.6.2022 which are sought to be challenged only direct the petitioners to answer the charges which have been levelled against the petitioner firms with a further mention as to why it should not be blacklisted for a period of two years and the decision whether to blacklist the petitioners or not would be taken only after objection to the show cause notices have been submitted by the petitioners and in view thereof, the present petitions are premature and not maintainable.

10. Learned Senior Counsel appearing for the petitioners while assailing the show cause notices dated 18.6.2022 issued by the respondent no.2, submits as under:

10.1 The notices dated 18.6.2022 though stated to be for the purpose of giving the petitioners a show cause, is infact in the nature of an order which has been issued with premeditation with malice writ large in issuing the said notices.

10.2 The notices are founded on incorrect and incomplete facts which have been selectively stated to prejudice the petitioners. The entire exercise sought to be undertaken is arbitrary and opposed to the mandate of Article 14 of the Constitution.

10.3 The show cause notices conveniently conceal the factum of issuance of earlier notices which had been suitably responded by the petitioners. The successive show cause notices issued for the self-same reasons go to show that the respondent authority is proceeding with premeditation to somehow punish the petitioners.

10.4 The tenor of the notices is indicative of the fact that the respondent authority has already made up its mind to pass an order of blacklisting against the petitioners and therefore, the entire exercise which is proposed to be undertaken in furtherance of the notice would be an empty formality and a futile exercise. To support his submission, learned Senior Counsel has placed reliance upon the decisions in Siemens Ltd. vs. State of Maharashtra & Others1 and Oryx Fisheries Pvt. Ltd vs. Union of India & Others2.

10.5 An attempt has also been made to draw attention of the Court to the merits of the case and the defence which is sought to be put up by the petitioner firms in response to the imputations made in the show cause notices.

11. The respondents have filed counter affidavits in both the petitions in which it has been categorically averred that the notices dated 18.6.2022 simply call upon the petitioner firms to submit an explanation for violation of the various conditions under the agreement. It is submitted that the notices have been issued strictly in accordance with the liberty granted by this Court in terms of the judgements dated 26.5.2022 and 16.6.2022 passed in the earlier writs being Writ C No. 15363 of 2022 and Writ C No. 17169 of 2022, respectively.

12. It is further submitted that the first part of the notices contains statement of imputations regarding alleged breaches and default committed by the petitioners with specific details having been given so as to enable the petitioners to precisely know the exact case or allegations levelled against them in order to enable them to give a reply to the allegations. The second part of the notices indicates the punishment which is proposed, in case the replies submitted by the petitioners are held to be not satisfactory, and also the quantum of punishment which the respondent authorities propose to impose on the petitioners. It has been averred that in the entire show cause notice there is no whisper of any premeditation as alleged by the petitioners. It has been further averred that the respondent authorities have issued the show cause notice with an open mind calling upon the petitioners to submit reply to the allegations which have been levelled and it is only after reply of the petitioners is submitted that the authority would take a decision whether to drop the show cause notice or to pass an order with regard to blacklisting of the petitioners.

13. On behalf of the respondents, reliance is sought to be placed on the decision in the case of Gorkha Security Services vs. Government (NCT of Delhi) & Others3 for the proposition that in order to fulfill the requirements of principles of natural justice, a show cause notice in addition to proposing the penalty/action proposed to be taken is also required to state the materials/grounds on the basis of which the department proposes to take the action.

14. Rival contentions which have been raised across the bar would require appreciation of the parameters under which a show cause notice particularly in reference to a proposed order of blacklisting/debarment may be issued and the circumstances under which the validity of a show cause notice may be assailed in writ jurisdiction.

15. The maintainability of a writ petition against a show cause notice was subject matter of consideration in the case of Siemens Ltd. wherein it was held that ordinarily a writ court may not exercise its discretionary jurisdiction in entertaining a writ petition questioning a notice to show cause unless it is without jurisdiction; however, when a notice is issued with premeditation, writ petition would be maintainable. Referring to the earlier decisions in State of U.P. vs. Brahm Datt Sharma4 Special Director vs. Mohd. Ghulam Ghouse5, Union of India vs. Kunisetty Satyanarayana6, K.I. Shephard vs. Union of India7 and V.C., Banaras Hindu University vs. Shrikant8, it was observed as follows:-

"9. Although ordinarily a writ court may not exercise its discretionary jurisdiction in entertaining a writ petition questioning a notice to show cause unless the same inter alia appears to have been without jurisdiction as has been held by this Court in some decisions including State of U.P. v. Brahm Datt Sharma, Special Director v. Mohd. Ghulam Ghouse and Union of India v. Kunisetty Satyanarayana, but the question herein has to be considered from a d-ifferent angle viz. when a notice is issued with premeditation, a writ petition would be maintainable. In such an event, even if the court directs the statutory authority to hear the matter afresh, ordinarily such hearing would not yield any fruitful purpose. (See K.I. Shephard v. Union of India.) It is evident in the instant case that the respondent has clearly made up its mind. It explicitly said so both in the counter-affidavit as also in its purported show-cause notice.

10. The said principle has been followed by this Court in V.C., Banaras Hindu University v. Shrikant, stating: (SCC p. 60, paras 48-49)

"48. The Vice-Chancellor appears to have made up his mind to impose the punishment of dismissal on the respondent herein. A post-decisional hearing given by the High Court was illusory in this case.

49. In K.I. Shephard v. Union of India this Court held: (SCC p. 449, para 16)

"It is common experience that once a decision has been taken, there is a tendency to uphold it and a representation may not really yield any fruitful purpose.' "

(See also Shekhar Ghosh v. Union of India9 and Rajesh Kumar v. D.C.I.T.10)

11. A bare perusal of the order impugned before the High Court as also the statements made before us in the counter-affidavit filed by the respondents, we are satisfied that the statutory authority has already applied its mind and has formed an opinion as regards the liability or otherwise of the appellant. If in passing the order the respondent has already determined the liability of the appellant and the only question which remains for its consideration is quantification thereof, the same does not remain in the realm of a show-cause notice. The writ petition, in our opinion, was maintainable."

16. The question as to what would be the proper contents of a notice to show cause, so as to be in consonance with the principles of natural justice was considered in the case of Oryx Fisheries (supra) and it was observed that the notice directing show cause must state the charges only and not definite conclusions of alleged guilt otherwise the entire proceeding would stand vitiated by unfairness and bias. It was stated thus:-

"24. ... It is well settled that a quasi-judicial authority, while acting in exercise of its statutory power must act fairly and must act with an open mind while initiating a show-cause proceeding. A show-cause proceeding is meant to give the person proceeded against a reasonable opportunity of making his objection against the proposed charges indicated in the notice.

25. Expressions like "a reasonable opportunity of making objections" or "a reasonable opportunity of defence" have come up for consideration before this Court in the context of several statutes. A Constitution Bench of this Court in Khem Chand v. Union of India11, of course in the context of service jurisprudence, reiterated certain principles which are applicable in the present case also.

26. S.R. Das, C.J. speaking for the unanimous Constitution Bench in Khem Chand held that the concept of "reasonable opportunity" includes various safeguards and one of them, in the words of the learned Chief Justice, is : (AIR p. 307, para 19)

"(a) An opportunity to deny his guilt and establish his innocence, which he can only do if he is told what the charges levelled against him are and the allegations on which such charges are based;"

27. It is no doubt true that at the stage of show cause, the person proceeded against must be told the charges against him so that he can take his defence and prove his innocence. It is obvious that at that stage the authority issuing the charge-sheet, cannot, instead of telling him the charges, confront him with definite conclusions of his alleged guilt. If that is done, as has been done in this instant case, the entire proceeding initiated by the show-cause notice gets vitiated by unfairness and bias and the subsequent proceedings become an idle ceremony.

28. Justice is rooted in confidence and justice is the goal of a quasi-judicial proceeding also. If the functioning of a quasi-judicial authority has to inspire confidence in the minds of those subjected to its jurisdiction, such authority must act with utmost fairness. Its fairness is obviously to be manifested by the language in which charges are couched and conveyed to the person proceeded against.

29. ...

30. ...

31. It is of course true that the show-cause notice cannot be read hypertechnically and it is well settled that it is to be read reasonably. But one thing is clear that while reading a show-cause notice the person who is subject to it must get an impression that he will get an effective opportunity to rebut the allegations contained in the show-cause notice and prove his innocence. If on a reasonable reading of a show-cause notice a person of ordinary prudence gets the feeling that his reply to the show-cause notice will be an empty ceremony and he will merely knock his head against the impenetrable wall of prejudged opinion, such a show-cause notice does not commence a fair procedure especially when it is issued in a quasi-judicial proceeding under a statutory regulation which promises to give the person proceeded against a reasonable opportunity of defence.

32. Therefore, while issuing a show-cause notice, the authorities must take care to manifestly keep an open mind as they are to act fairly in adjudging the guilt or otherwise of the person proceeded against and specially when he has the power to take a punitive step against the person after giving him a show-cause notice.

33. The principle that justice must not only be done but it must eminently appear to be done as well is equally applicable to quasi-judicial proceeding if such a proceeding has to inspire confidence in the mind of those who are subject to it."

17. The scope of judicial review in matters relating to challenge to show-cause notice was subject matter of consideration in Union of India and another Vs. Vicco Laboratories12, and while holding that non-interference at the stage of issuance of show-cause notice is the normal rule, it was stated that where a show-cause notice is issued either without jurisdiction or in an abuse of process of law, the writ court would not hesitate to interfere even at the stage of issuance of show-cause notice. The observations made in the judgment in this regard are as follows:-

"31. Normally, the writ court should not interfere at the stage of issuance of show-cause notice by the authorities. In such a case, the parties get ample opportunity to put forth their contentions before the authorities concerned and to satisfy the authorities concerned about the absence of case for proceeding against the person against whom the show-cause notices have been issued. Abstinence from interference at the stage of issuance of show-cause notice in order to relegate the parties to the proceedings before the authorities concerned is the normal rule. However, the said rule is not without exceptions. Where a show-cause notice is issued either without jurisdiction or in an abuse of process of law, certainly in that case, the writ court would not hesitate to interfere even at the stage of issuance of show-cause notice. The interference at the show-cause notice stage should be rare and not in a routine manner. Mere assertion by the writ petitioner that notice was without jurisdiction and/or abuse of process of law would not suffice. It should be prima facie established to be so. Where factual adjudication would be necessary, interference is ruled out."

18. The principle that a writ petition should normally not be entertained against mere issuance of show-cause notice was reiterated in Commissioner of Central Excise, Haldia Vs. M/S. Krishna Wax (P) Ltd.13 and it was held that the concerned person must first raise all the objections before the authority which had issued a show-cause notice and the redressal in terms of the existing provisions of law could be taken resort to if an adverse order was passed against such person.

19. A similar view had been taken in a decision in Malladi Drugs and Pharma Ltd. Vs. Union of India14, and the judgment of the High Court dismissing the writ petition against a show-cause notice was upheld.

20. Again in Union of India and others Vs. Coastal Container Transporters Association and others15, while examining the scope of powers under Article 226 with regard to quashment of a show-cause notice, it was held that the same would not be permissible unless there is lack of jurisdiction or violation of principles of natural justice.

21. In the two cases before us, the factum of service of the notices dated 18.06.2022 by the respondent-Corporation on the petitioners requiring them to show cause as to why an order of blacklisting be not passed, is not in dispute. It is rather sought to be argued that since the show cause notice specifies the imputations, the same is indicative of the fact that the respondent authority has already made its mind to pass an order of blacklisting against the petitioners and that the notices are, therefore premeditated and the entire exercise proposed to be undertaken in furtherance thereof would be an empty formality.

22. In Gorkha Security Services3 (supra), the question pertaining to the form and content of a show cause notice that is required to be served before deciding as to whether the noticee is to be blacklisted or not was subject matter of consideration and it was held that it is a mandatory requirement to give such a show cause notice to mention that action of blacklisting is proposed so as to provide adequate and meaningful opportunity to show cause against the same. Accordingly, it was observed that this would require the statement of imputations detailing out the alleged breaches and defaults so that the noticee gets an opportunity to rebut the same. The guidelines laid down as to the contents of show cause notice pursuant to which an order of blacklisting may be passed, in the aforesaid decision, are in the following terms:-

"21. The central issue, however, pertains to the requirement of stating the action which is proposed to be taken. The fundamental purpose behind the serving of show-cause notice is to make the noticee understand the precise case set up against him which he has to meet. This would require the statement of imputations detailing out the alleged breaches and defaults he has committed, so that he gets an opportunity to rebut the same. Another requirement, according to us, is the nature of action which is proposed to be taken for such a breach. That should also be stated so that the noticee is able to point out that proposed action is not warranted in the given case, even if the defaults/breaches complained of are not satisfactorily explained. When it comes to blacklisting, this requirement becomes all the more imperative, having regard to the fact that it is harshest possible action.

22. The High Court has simply stated that the purpose of show-cause notice is primarily to enable the noticee to meet the grounds on which the action is proposed against him. No doubt, the High Court is justified to this extent. However, it is equally important to mention as to what would be the consequence if the noticee does not satisfactorily meet the grounds on which an action is proposed. To put it otherwise, we are of the opinion that in order to fulfil the requirements of principles of natural justice, a show-cause notice should meet the following two requirements viz:

(i) The material/grounds to be stated which according to the department necessitates an action;

(ii) Particular penalty/action which is proposed to be taken. It is this second requirement which the High Court has failed to omit.

We may hasten to add that even if it is not specifically mentioned in the show-cause notice but it can clearly and safely be discerned from the reading thereof, that would be sufficient to meet this requirement."

23. The manner in which a show cause notice is to be issued to constitute a valid basis of a blacklisting order in the context of government contracts and tenders was subject matter of consideration in a recent decision in the case of UMC Technologies Private Ltd. Vs. Food Corporation of India and another16 and after explaining the principles in regard to the same in detail, it was held that it is essential for the notice to specify the particular grounds on which an action is proposed to be taken so as to enable the noticee to answer the case against him and in the absence of the same a person cannot be said to be granted a reasonable opportunity of being heard. It was stated thus:-

"13. At the outset, it must be noted that it is the first principle of civilised jurisprudence that a person against whom any action is sought to be taken or whose right or interests are being affected should be given a reasonable opportunity to defend himself. The basic principle of natural justice is that before adjudication starts, the authority concerned should give to the affected party a notice of the case against him so that he can defend himself. Such notice should be adequate and the grounds necessitating action and the penalty/action proposed should be mentioned specifically and unambiguously. An order travelling beyond the bounds of notice is impermissible and without jurisdiction to that extent. This Court in Nasir Ahmad v. Custodian General, Evacuee Property [Nasir Ahmad v. Custodian General, Evacuee Property, (1980) 3 SCC 1] has held that it is essential for the notice to specify the particular grounds on the basis of which an action is proposed to be taken so as to enable the noticee to answer the case against him. If these conditions are not satisfied, the person cannot be said to have been granted any reasonable opportunity of being heard.

14. Specifically, in the context of blacklisting of a person or an entity by the State or a State Corporation, the requirement of a valid, particularised and unambiguous show-cause notice is particularly crucial due to the severe consequences of blacklisting and the stigmatisation that accrues to the person/entity being blacklisted. Here, it may be gainful to describe the concept of blacklisting and the graveness of the consequences occasioned by it. Blacklisting has the effect of denying a person or an entity the privileged opportunity of entering into government contracts. This privilege arises because it is the State who is the counterparty in government contracts and as such, every eligible person is to be afforded an equal opportunity to participate in such contracts, without arbitrariness and discrimination. Not only does blacklisting take away this privilege, it also tarnishes the blacklisted person's reputation and brings the person's character into question. Blacklisting also has long-lasting civil consequences for the future business prospects of the blacklisted person."

24. The adverse impact of an order of blacklisting and the need for strict observance of the principles of natural justice before passing of an order of blacklisting was emphasized in M/s Erusian Equipment & Chemicals Ltd. Vs. State of West Bengal and another17 and it was observed as follows:-

"12...The order of blacklisting has the effect of depriving a person of equality of opportunity in the matter of public contract. A person who is on the approved list is unable to enter into advantageous relations with the Government because of the order of blacklisting. A person who has been dealing with the Government in the matter of sale and purchase of materials has a legitimate interest or expectation. When the State acts to the prejudice of a person it has to be supported by legality.

15...The blacklisting order involves civil consequences. It casts a slur. It creates a barrier between the persons blacklisted and the Government in the matter of transactions. The blacklists are "instruments of coercion".

xxx

17...The activities of the Government have a public element and, therefore, there should be fairness and equality. The State need not enter into any contract with any one but if it does so, it must do so fairly without discrimination and without unfair procedure. Reputation is a part of a person's character and personality. Blacklisting tarnishes one's reputation.

xxx

19. Where the State is dealing with individuals in transactions of sales and purchase of goods, the two important factors are that an individual is entitled to trade with the Government and an individual is entitled to a fair and equal treatment with others. A duty to act fairly can be interpreted as meaning a duty to observe certain aspects of rules of natural justice. A body may be under a duty to give fair consideration to the facts and to consider the representations but not to disclose to those persons details of information in its possession. Sometimes duty to act fairly can also be sustained without providing opportunity for an oral hearing. It will depend upon the nature of the interest to be affected, the circumstances in which a power is exercised and the nature of sanctions involved therein.

20. Blacklisting has the effect of preventing a person from the privilege and advantage of entering into lawful relationship with the Government for purposes of gains. The fact that a disability is created by the order of blacklisting indicates that the relevant authority is to have an objective satisfaction. Fundamentals of fair play require that the person concerned should be given an opportunity to represent his case before he is put on the blacklist."

25. The aforementioned proposition that no order of blacklisting could be passed without affording opportunity of hearing to the affected party was reiterated in the case of Raghunath Thakur Vs. State of Bihar & Ors.18 wherein it was stated as follows:-

"4. Indisputably, no notice had been given to the appellant of the proposal of blacklisting the appellant. It was contended on behalf of the State Government that there was no requirement in the rule of giving any prior notice before blacklisting any person. Insofar as the contention that there is no requirement specifically of giving any notice is concerned, the respondent is right. But it is an implied principle of the rule of law that any order having civil consequence should be passed only after following the principles of natural justice. It has to be realised that blacklisting any person in respect of business ventures has civil consequence for the future business of the person concerned in any event. Even if the rules do not express so, it is an elementary principle of natural justice that parties affected by any order should have right of being heard and making representations against the order..."

26. The requirement of grant of opportunity to show cause before blacklisting was restated in the case of Gronsons Pharmaceuticals (P) Ltd. & Anr. Vs. State of Uttar Pradesh & Ors.19 and it was held that since the order blacklisting of an approved contractor results in civil consequences, the principle of audi alteram partem is required to be observed.

27. The power to blacklist a contractor was held to be inherent in the party allotting the contract and the freedom to contract or not to contract was held to be unqualified in the case of private parties; however when the party is State, the decision to blacklist would be open judicial review on touchstone of proportionality and the principles of natural justice. The relevant observations made in this regard in the case of M/s Kulja Industries Limited Vs. Chief General Manager, W.T. Project, BSNL & Ors.20 are as under:-

"17. That apart, the power to blacklist a contractor whether the contract be for supply of material or equipment or for the execution of any other work whatsoever is in our opinion inherent in the party allotting the contract. There is no need for any such power being specifically conferred by statute or reserved by contractor. That is because "blacklisting" simply signifies a business decision by which the party affected by the breach decides not to enter into any contractual relationship with the party committing the breach. Between two private parties the right to take any such decision is absolute and untrammelled by any constraints whatsoever. The freedom to contract or not to contract is unqualified in the case of private parties. But any such decision is subject to judicial review when the same is taken by the State or any of its instrumentalities. This implies that any such decision will be open to scrutiny not only on the touchstone of the principles of natural justice but also on the doctrine of proportionality. A fair hearing to the party being blacklisted thus becomes an essential precondition for a proper exercise of the power and a valid order of blacklisting made pursuant thereto. The order itself being reasonable, fair and proportionate to the gravity of the offence is similarly examinable by a writ court."

28. The aforesaid legal position has been recently considered in M/s Baba Traders Vs. State of U.P. and others21 and Amit Kumar Vs. State of U.P. and another.22

29. It would therefore be seen that an order of blacklisting has the effect of depriving a person equality of opportunity in the matter of public contract and in a case where the State acts to the prejudice of a person it has to be supported by legality. The activities of the State having the public element quality must be imbued with fairness and equality.

30. The order of blacklisting involves civil consequences and has the effect of creating a disability by preventing a person from the privilege and advantage of entering into lawful relationship with the government therefore fundamentals of fair play would require that the concerned person should be given an opportunity to represent his case before he is put on the blacklist. A fair hearing to the party before being blacklisted thus becomes an essential pre-condition for a proper exercise of the power and a valid order of blacklisting made pursuant thereto. The applicability of the principle of audi alteram partem and the necessity of issuance of show cause notice also becomes imperative before passing of any such order of blacklisting.

31. It would therefore follow as a legal proposition that in order for a show cause notice to constitute a valid basis for passing of an order of blacklisting, the notice must spell out the imputations specifying the alleged breaches and defaults indicating the intent of the issuer of the notice to blacklist the noticee so as to ensure that the noticee has an adequate informed and meaningful opportunity to rebut the allegations and to show cause against the proposed blacklisting.

32. In order to ensure conformity with the principles of natural justice, a show cause notice is required to specify as to what would be the consequences if the noticee does not satisfactorily meet the grounds on which the action is proposed. The notice apart from being adequate is also required to state the grounds necessitating the action and the penalty proposed is also required to be mentioned specifically and unambiguously. A show cause notice, particularly in a case where it proposes to impose an order of blacklisting, is required to adhere to the principles of natural justice and for the said reason is to fulfill the twin requirements of stating in unambiguous terms the grounds which according to the department necessitates an action, and also the penalty which is proposed to be taken in case the noticee is unable to furnish an adequate response to the grounds stated in the notice.

33. The principle of audi alteram partem has been held to be a sina qua non and a basic tenet underlying the principles of natural justice. In Re K. (H.) (an infant)23, Lord Parker C.J., described natural justice as 'a duty to act fairly'. The rule of 'fair hearing' requires that the party which is likely to be visited with adverse consequences is given an opportunity to meet the case against it effectively. Right to 'fair hearing' or 'reasonable opportunity of hearing' casts a sacrosanct obligation on the adjudicatory authority to ensure fairness in procedure and action. It covers within its fold every stage through which an administrative adjudication passes - starting from notice to final determination.

34. Procedural fairness requires that persons liable to be affected by a proposed administrative decision be given adequate notice of what is proposed so that they are not taken unfairly by surprise, and also that they are in a position to make representation against the proposed action; to appear at the hearing or the inquiry; and to effectively answer the charges which they have to meet. A proper hearing must always include an opportunity to know the opposing case. We may refer to the observations of Lord Denning in Kanda vs. Government of Malaya24, which are as follows:-

"If the right to be heard is to be a real right which is worth anything, it must carry with it a right in the accused man to know the case which is made against him. He must know what evidence has been given and what statements have been made affecting him: and then he must be given a fair opportunity to correct or contradict them."

35. The right to know and to effectively respond to the charges has been recognized as a fundamental feature of any administrative adjudicatory process. It is a fundamental principle of fairness that a party should have prior notice of the case against him and an opportunity to properly respond to the same. The charges are to be made known specifically and with particularity so as to ensure that the party liable to be affected is not taken by surprise, and has an effective opportunity of putting forward its defence.

36. The contention raised on behalf of the petitioners that the issuance of the show cause notice is an empty formality for the reason that imputations have been stated in the notice which are indicative that the authority concerned has already made up its mind, cannot be accepted for the reason that the grounds/imputations specified in the notice are with a view to elicit the response of the petitioners in respect of the grounds on which the action is proposed. Needless to say, it is open to the petitioners to rebut the allegations specified in the notice by submitting their reply and it would be incumbent upon the respondent authority to accord consideration to the same and thereafter, pass an order affording reasonable opportunity to the petitioners.

37. The respondents have taken a categorical stand in their counter affidavits that the show cause notices have been issued with an open mind calling upon the petitioners to submit reply to the allegations which have been levelled and it is only after replies of the petitioners are submitted that the authority would take a decision whether to drop the show cause notice or to pass an order with regard to blacklisting.

38. It is legally well settled that mere issuance of show cause notice does not amount to an adverse order, which may be held to affect the rights of the parties. The necessity for issuing a show cause notice and the requirement of specifying the grounds on which the action is proposed is in fact a necessary prerequisite, so as to ensure that the noticee is aware of the grounds on which action is proposed and has an adequate opportunity to rebut the same. If the show cause notice does not specifically state the grounds on which it is being issued and the proposed action, the noticee would be taken by surprise and would not have adequate opportunity to rebut the allegations during the course of inquiry which is to follow.

39. We are of the view that the challenge to the show cause notices in the instant petitions is premature for the reason that the mere indication of the grounds and the penalty proposed, would not give rise to a cause of action, as it is open to the petitioners to present their case and rebut the imputations, whereupon it would be incumbent upon the respondent authority to proceed with the inquiry and pass an appropriate speaking and reasoned order after giving adequate opportunity to the petitioners and ensuring due compliance of the principles of natural justice. The outcome of the inquiry which is proposed in terms of the show cause notice would only be a matter of conjecture at this stage, inasmuch as it is equally possible that after considering the response of the petitioners and holding due inquiry, the respondent authority may drop the proceeding or may reject the reasons given by the noticee. It is only upon conclusion of the proceedings where any order is passed by the respondent authority which is prejudicial to their interest, the petitioners may have cause of action to raise a challenge to the same.

40. Having regard to the aforestated facts and circumstances, we are of the view that the challenge raised to the show cause notices, at this stage, is premature.

41. Accordingly, we are not inclined to exercise our extraordinary jurisdiction under Article 226 of the Constitution of India to interfere in the matter.

42. It would be open to the petitioners to submit their response to the show cause notices dated 18.6.2022, within a period of two weeks from date whereupon the concerned respondent authority would be expected to conclude the proceedings within a further period of two weeks, after affording proper opportunity of hearing to the petitioners and according due consideration to the defence set up by the petitioners in the replies to the show cause notices and pass reasoned and a speaking orders thereupon.

43. The petitions stand disposed of accordingly.

Majji Sannemma @ Sanyasirao Vs Reddy Sridevi & ors. in Civil Appeal No. 7696 of 2021 dated 16.12.2021, 2021 SCC Online SC 1260

(Delivered by Hon'ble Dinesh Pathak, J.)

1. Heard Sri Pavan Kumar Srivastava, learned counsel for the petitioners, Sri Vineet Kumar Singh, learned counsel for private-respondent no.5 and learned Standing Counsel representing respondent nos. 1 to 4.

2. By way of present writ petition, the petitioners have invoked extraordinary jurisdiction of this Court under Article 226 of the Constitution of India challenging the order dated 23.9.1975 passed by Commissioner, Allahabad Division, Allahabad and order dated 17.8.2021 passed by Board of Revenue, Allahabad rejecting the highly time barred restoration application dated 3.7.2019 filed against the order dated 30.9.1986 passed in Revision No. 106 of 1975-76/Fatehpur.

3. Facts culled out from the averment made in the writ petition are that proceeding has been initiated for realization of the loan amount as land revenue. The property of Sankata Prasad (father of present petitioners) was sold in auction sale dated 25.7.1974 in favour of Balbir (respondent no.5). Feeling aggrieved against the said auction sale, Sankata Prasad had filed objection under Section 281 of U.P.Z.A. & L.R. Act read with Rules 285-I and 285-J of U.P.Z.A. & L.R. Rules, inter alia, on the grounds that the share of Sankata Prasad is only 1/4 but auction had illegally been taken place showing his half share (1/2) in the property in question. The objection filed by Sankata Prasad was rejected by order dated 23.9.1975 passed by Commissioner, Allahabad Division, Allahabad on the basis of the report of Lekhpal and other documents, showing the ownership of the Sankata Prasad to the extent of half share (1/2) in the property in question, therefore, auction sale dated 25.7.1974 was held valid with respect to his half share. Having been aggrieved against the order dated 23.9.1975, Sankata Prasad had preferred revision being Revision No. 106 of 1975-76/Fatehpur before the Board of Revenue, which was also dismissed vide order dated 30.9.1986. After the death of Sankata Prasad, his sons (the present petitioners) have filed highly belated restoration application dated 3.7.2019, which was rejected being time barred vide order dated 17.8.2021 passed by Board of Revenue, which is under challenged in the present writ petition.

4. It is submitted by counsel for the petitioners that more than the valid share of Sankata Prasad had been put to auction sale, but the same has illegally been ignored by the court below and unfortunately, restoration application, filed on behalf of present petitioners was rejected on the ground of latches. After the death of Sankata Prasad on 4.11.2018, while the contesting respondent has tried to sell the property in question, petitioners came to know about the entire facts. It is further submitted that the petitioners could not know the previous proceeding, therefore, they could not file the restoration application within time. Orders passed by the Board of Revenue are illegal and suffers from infirmity and irregularity, therefore, these orders should be quashed and one opportunity should be given to the petitioners to defend their case.

5. Per contra, learned counsel appearing on behalf of respondent no.5 (auction purchasers) contended that the orders dated 23.9.1975 and 30.9.1986 were passed in the presence of Sankata Prasad (father of the petitioners). It is evident from the perusal of the aforesaid orders, which are annexed as annexure-3 and 5 respectively to the writ petition, that the auction sale has already attained finality in the year 1974 and after such a belated stage there is no justification for challenging said auction proceedings. It is further contended that since 1974, respondent no.5 is in the possession over the property in question and all rights pertains to the subject matter of auction sale, are vested with him. No sufficient ground has been assigned by the petitioners in filing the restoration application at a belated stage. The impugned orders passed by Board of Revenue and Commissioner, Allahabad Division, Allahabad requires no interference by this Court and the present writ petition is liable to be dismissed with cost.

6. Having considered the rival submissions advanced by learned counsel for the parties and pleading on record, it is a admitted position to both the parties that auction proceeding took place for realization of the loan amount, as a land revenue, and the property of Sanakata Prasad was put to auction sale on 25.7.1974. So far as the share of the Sankata Prasad in the subject matter of auction proceeding is concerned, Commissioner and the Board of Revenue, vide their orders dated 23.9.1975 and 20.9.1986 respectively, have recorded concurrent finding that the Sankata Prasad was entitled for half share in the property in question. Finding of facts given by them was supported by the report of the Collector and the Lekhpal. In the sale proclamation half (½) share of Sankata Prasad was stipulated. The Board of Revenue has also emphasized one another aspects of the matter that the other co-sharers in the property in question did not come forward against the auction sale claiming their right and title over the subject matter of auction sale, who may have affected due to auction of property more than the valid share of Sankata Prasad as stated by him. There is nothing on record to show that any other co-sharer of the subject matter of the auction proceeding came forward to contest the case claiming his right/title over the property in question. As per the case of the petitioners, their father was alive from 30.9.1986 to

4.11.2018, but during these long period, he had never made any endeavour to challenge the order dated 30.9.1986 in his life time. This Court note with utmost surprise how affected person (Sankata Prasad) had shown his ignorance when orders passed against him came to this serious and dangerous consequence prejudicing his right and title over the property in question. Prima facie, it appears that after the death of Sankata Prasad (father of present petitioners), dishonesty prevailed in their mind and they deliberately moved a restoration application dated 3.7.2019 at a belated stage on very flimsy grounds. Auction sale dated 25.7.1974 has already attained finality and, at this juncture, there is no justification to interfere in the aforesaid auction proceeding, after such a long time. No sufficient and justifiable ground has been offered to explain such inordinate delay in filing the restoration application at the behest of the petitioners, who are claiming their right/title over the property in question being sons of Sanakata Prasad. On the face of it restoration application appears to be misconceived and devoid of merits.

7. Perusal of the record reveals that there is a gross negligence, recklessness and deliberate inaction at the part of the petitioners who have filed the restoration application at a very belated stage, without sufficiently explaining the inordinate delay, challenging the order dated 30.9.1986 coupled with the validity of the auction proceeding which took place in the year 1974. The highly belated restoration application is nothing but abuse of process of law. It is a sham, illusory and inspired by nefarious and vexatious designs which should be throttled at the threshold.

8. Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Majji Sannemma @ Sanyasirao Vs. Reddy Sridevi & Ors. in Civil Appeal No. 7696 of 2021 decided on 16.12.2021, reported in 2021 SCC Online SC 1260, has expounded that adopting a liberal approach and deciding the delay condonation application does not give a jurisdiction to extend period of limitation on the ground of equity. The relevant paragraph 7, 7.1, 7.2, 7.3, 7.4 and 7.5 of the aforesaid judgment is quoted hereinbelow:

"7. At this stage, a few decisions of this Court on delay in filing the appeal are referred to and considered as under:-

7.1 In the case of Ramlal, Motilal and Chhotelal (supra), it is observed and held as under:-

In construing s. 5 it is relevant to bear in mind two important considerations. The first consideration is that the expiration of the period of limitation prescribed for making an appeal gives rise to a right in favour of the decree-holder to treat the decree as binding between the parties. In other words, when the period of limitation prescribed has expired the decree-holder has obtained a benefit under the law of limitation to treat the decree as beyond challenge, and this legal right which has accrued to the decree-holder by lapse of time should not be light-heartedly disturbed. The other consideration which cannot be ignored is that if sufficient cause for excusing delay is shown discretion is given to the Court to condone delay and admit the appeal. This discretion has been deliberately conferred on the Court in order that judicial power and discretion in that behalf should be exercised to advance substantial justice. As has been observed by the Madras High Court in Krishna v. Chattappan, (1890) J.L.R. 13 Mad. 269*, "s. 5 gives the Court a discretion which in respect of jurisdiction is to be exercised in the way in which judicial power and* discretion ought to be exercised upon principles which are well understood; the words 'sufficient cause' receiving a liberal construction so as to advance substantial justice when no negligence nor inaction nor want of bona fide is imputable to the appellant."

7.2 In the case of P.K. Ramachandran (supra), while refusing to condone the delay of 565 days, it is observed that in the absence of reasonable, satisfactory or even appropriate explanation for seeking condonation of delay, the same is not to be condoned lightly. It is further observed that the law of limitation may harshly affect a particular party but it has to be applied with all its rigour when the statute so prescribes and the courts have no power to extend the period of limitation on equitable grounds. It is further observed that while exercising discretion for condoning the delay, the court has to exercise discretion judiciously.

7.3 In the case of Pundlik Jalam Patil (supra), it is observed as under:-

"The laws of limitation are founded on public policy. Statutes of limitation are sometimes described as "statutes of peace". An unlimited and perpetual threat of limitation creates insecurity and uncertainty; some kind of limitation is essential for public order. The principle is based on the maxim "interest reipublicae ut sit finis litium", that is, the interest of the State requires that there should be end to litigation but at the same time laws of limitation are a means to ensure private justice suppressing fraud and perjury, quickening diligence and preventing oppression. The object for fixing time-limit for litigation is based on public policy fixing a lifespan for legal remedy for the purpose of general welfare. They are meant to see that the parties do not resort to dilatory tactics but avail their legal remedies promptly. Salmond in his Jurisprudence states that the laws come to the assistance of the vigilant and not of the sleepy."

7.4 In the case of Basawaraj (supra), it is observed and held by this Court that the discretion to condone the delay has to be exercised judiciously based on facts and circumstances of each case. It is further observed that the expression "sufficient cause" cannot be liberally interpreted if negligence, inaction or lack of bona fides is attributed to the party. It is further observed that even though limitation may harshly affect rights of a party but it has to be applied with all its rigour when prescribed by statute. It is further observed that in case a party has acted with negligence, lack of bona fides or there is inaction then there cannot be any justified ground for condoning the delay even by imposing conditions. It is observed that each application for condonation of delay has to be decided within the framework laid down by this Court. It is further observed that if courts start condoning delay where no sufficient cause is made out by imposing conditions then that would amount to violation of statutory principles and showing utter disregard to legislature.

7.5 In the case of Pundlik Jalam Patil (supra), it is observed by this Court that the court cannot enquire into belated and stale claims on the ground of equity. Delay defeats equity. The Courts help those who are vigilant and "do not slumber over their rights"."

9. Having regard to the facts and circumstances of the present case and dictum of Hon'ble Apex Court, in the conspectus as above, I am of the view that petitioners have not come with clean hands before this Court. A clear cut recklessness and gross negligence is made out at their part in adopting the legal recourse against the orders dated 30.9.1986 and 23.9.1975. Even, the original affected person, who was alive at the relevant time and died in the year 2018, had never made any endeavour to challenge the said order and kept silent accepting the order passed by the Board of Revenue and the learned Commissioner.

10. Resultantly, for the reason stated above, there is no force in the instant writ petition. I do not find any substance in the submissions advanced by counsel for the petitioners assailing the impugned orders. The Board of Revenue has rightly rejected the restoration application of the petitioners on the ground of latches, which was filed without assigning any reliable and cogent reason for inordinate delay.

11. As such, present writ petition, being misconceived and devoid of merits, is dismissed. No order as to costs.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Dinesh Kumar Singh , J.)

1. The present petition under Section 482 Cr.P.C. has been filed seeking quashing of the entire proceedings of Case Crime No.5694 of 2019 (State Vs. United Breweries Limited and others), arising out of FIR No.0260 of 2018 initially registered under Section 406 IPC, Police Station Husainganj, District Lucknow against Akhil Sharda, Branch Manager (Sales) Uttar Pradesh and Uttarakhand, Himanshu Tiwari and Arvind Padhi of M/s United Breweries Limited, office address at 626, 6th Floor, DLF, Tower-B, DDA, District Center, Jasaula, New Delhi-110044 having bond at Chapraula, G.T. Road, Tehsil Dadri, Noida-201301. During the course of investigation, Sections 420, 467, 468, 471 and 120-B IPC were added.

2. A challenge has also been made to the summoning order dated 3.4.2019 issued pursuant to the supplementary charge sheet dated 24.3.2019, upon which the learned Ist Additional Chief Judicial Magistrate, Court No.25, Lucknow took cognizance vide order dated 3.4.2019 and summoned the petitioners for facing the trial.

3. The petitioners have also challenged the judgment and order dated 24.12.2019 passed by the Additional Sessions Judge, Court No.1, Lucknow in Criminal Revision No.379 of 2019 filed by the petitioners against the order of cognizance and summoning dated 3.4.2019 passed by the learned trial court.

4. The facts of the case, in brief, are that the United Breweries Limited (Hereinafter referred to as "the Company") is a company registered under the provisions of the Companies Act, 1956 having its registered office at UB Tower, VB City, 24, Vittal Mallya Road, Bangalure, Karnataka. The company is engaged in manufacture and sale of beer and other alcoholic beverages in India and worldwide. Petitioner Nos.1, 3, 5, 6, 7, 8 and 9 are part-time non-executive Directors, whereas petitioner nos.2 and 4 are former non-executive directors, whose term got completed on 4.9.2019 in the company. The specific stand of the petitioners in paragraph 30 of the petition is that the petitioners being non-executive directors, are not involved in operations relating to production and supply/delivery of goods of the company or in day-to-day business of the company.

5. Petitioner no.10 is the Company Secretary and authorized representative of the company, but he is also not involved in operations relating to production and supply/delivery of the goods of the company. In paragraph 31 of the petition, the particulars of the petitioners such as their designation, nature of work, their dates of appointment in the company as non-executive directors and the company secretary are given in a tabular form, which would read as under:-

Sl. No.	Name	Designation	Date of Appointment/ Cessation
1.	A.K. Ravi Nedungadi	Non-Executive Director	09.08.2022
2.	Chhaganlal Jain	Former Non-Executive Independent Director	27.01.2003 (04.09.2019)
3.	Sunil Kumar Alagh	Former Non-Executive Independent Director	29.04.2005
4.	Chugh Yoginder Pal	Former Non-Executive Independent Director	29.04.2005 (04.09.2019)
5.	Madhav Narayan Bhatkuly	Former Non-Executive Independent Director	26.10.2009
6.	Kiran Mazumdar Shaw	Former Non-Executive Independent Director	26.10.2009
7.	Stephen Friedhelm Genlich	Former Non-Executive Independent Director	02.07.2010
8.	Christiaan A J Van Steengergen	Non-Executive Director	08.11.2017
9.	Rudolf Gijsbert Servaas Van Den Brink	Non-Executive Director	14.11.2018
10.	Govind Rangrajan Iyengar	Company Secretary	16.05.2022

6. Opposite party no.2 is Manager of Licensee Firm F.L.2B (Beehive Alcoveb) and this firm is engaged in business of sale of Beer etc, after purchasing the same from the company and other manufacturers.

7. As per the contents of the FIR lodged on a complaint of opposite party no.2 at Police Station Husainganj. Lucknow on 15.9.2018 against three employees of the company named in the FIR, the complainant placed an order for three trucks of Beer on 7.9.2018 and on 11.9.2018 through e-mail to Akhil Sharda, Branch Manager (Sales) Uttar Pradesh and Uttarakhand and made payment of Rs.65,66,152/- on 7.9.2028 and Rs.27,32,750/- on 11.9.2018, total amount of Rs.92,98,902/- by his banker, Federal Bank Limited, Cantt. Road, Lucknow. Despite making of the payment for there trucks of Beer, Akhil Sharda did not ensure the supply of the ordered Beer nor any proper reply was being given. The complainant was apprehensive that three employees named in the FIR had no intention to supply the ordered Beer and they wanted to misappropriate the amount paid by the complainant as under the Excise Rules, the supply was to be made within 72 hours of the order.

8. The first charge sheet was filed by the investigating officer on 10.2.2019 against the four accused persons, namely, Akhil Sharda, Himanshu Tiwari, Arvind Padhi and the United Breweries Limited, the company, under Sections 406, 420, 467, 468, 471 and 120-B IPC alleging that the four accused had prepared forged and fabricated documents in furtherance of the criminal conspiracy, and have caused loss to the excise revenue of the Government of Uttar Pradesh and, they had also cheated the complainant. Thereafter, two supplementary charge sheets dated 24.3.2019 and 27.6.2019 came to be submitted by the investigation officer.

9. In the first supplementary charge sheet dated 24.3.2019, name of the petitioners got figured as accused for committing the offences under Sections 406, 420, 467, 468, 471 and 120-B IPC. It is alleged that the petitioners together and in furtherance of criminal conspiracy had committed financial crime and these accused petitioners are habitual offenders against whom the offences under Sections 406, 420, 467, 468, 471 and 120-B IPC are very well made out on the basis of the evidence collected during the course of investigation.

10. Second supplementary charge sheet came to be filed against Abdul Haque, Happy Arora and Vivek Tiwari of three transport companies, namely, Sical Logistics Limited, New Fatehpur Calcutta Transport Company and Tiwari Transport Company respectively, and against the officers and share holders of the company alleging that they had prepared forged truck numbers and the driving licenses.

11. Petitioner no.5, Rudolf Gijsbert Servaas Van Den Brink was appointed as non-executive director only on 14.11.2018. Petitioner No.8, Christiaan A J Van Steenbergen and petitioner no.9 Stephen F Gerlich are permanently residing abroad.

12. Opposite party no.2 placed a demand order for two trucks load of Beer through e-mail, total 2360 cases to the company on 7.9.2018. This e-mail was also sent to the Assistant Excise Commissioner Web Distillery, Aligarh. As the next two days i.e. Saturday and Sunday were holidays, the process for supply of goods for which order was placed by opposite party party no.2, was initiated on 10.9.2018. In pursuance of the indent/demand order dated 7.9.2018 placed by opposite party no.2, the company directed its transporter Sical Logistics Limited to arrange vehicles for delivery of goods from its godown located at Noida to the Licensee at Lucknow. The transport permit (Form FL-36) was issued by the concerned Excise Officer on 11.9.2018 for supply of Beer by 13.9.2018. The consignment of Beer was dispatched on 11.9.2018 for delivery to the Licensee at Lucknow after payment of excise duty in advance through transporter of the company by Truck Nos.UP32 HN 3209 and UP32 FN 8048.

13. It is the case of the petitioners that the company sent the entire goods/Beer in respect to the demand order dated 7.9.2018 loaded aforesaid two trucks provided by its registered transporter namely, Sical Logistics Limited having GPS system in those trucks as mandated by the Excise Department's Track and Trace Policy. It is further said that Sical Logistics Limited, registered transporter of the company, had arrangement for providing trucks for transportation services with New Fatehpur Calcutta Transport Company, who in turn hires trucks from open market. In this particular transaction, New Fatehpur Calcutta Transport Company had hired Truck Nos.UP32 HN 3209 and UP32 FN 8048 from Tiwari Transport Company for delivery of consignment of opposite party no.2 at Lucknow.

14. The aforesaid two trucks had to reach the destination on 13.9.2018. On 13.9.2018, location of both the trucks was tracked through GPS upto the outer limit of the Lucknow city, which was near about one and a half kilometer from the hotel Ramada Palace of opposite party no.2 and, thereafter, the GPS device of both trucks lost contact with GPS Tracker Agency, namely, QTS Solutions Private Limited after 11.41 hours on 13.9.2018. QTS Solutions Private Limited sent a message through e-mail on 14.9.2018 at 4.15 PM of one Mr. Dharam Chand, Depot In-charge of the company.

15. It is stated that Ashok Kumar Jaiswal, who manages the business of opposite party no.2, also runs Hotel Ramada, Near Bani Junabganj, Banthara, Lucknow, which is located at a distance of 1.5 Kms. from the place from where the trucks loaded with Beer went missing and which is specifically the same place from where the GPS fitted in the trucks stopped giving the track of the two trucks on 13.9.2018.

16. The Depot In-charge also informed to the officers of the company as well as the transporter, Sical Logistics Limited about the loss of trucks. The officers of the company also inquired about the trucks' location from opposite party no.2 through telephone, but opposite party no.2 informed the company that the trucks had not yet reached the designated place i.e. 18, Station Road, Lucknow.

17. The fact of trucks loaded with Beer from the Depot of the company going missing, was brought to the notice of the District Excise Officer, who directed the company on 14.9.2018 to lodge the FIR at Police Station Badalpur, Gautam Budh Nagar. When the whereabouts of the trucks were not known, on 21.9.2018 the company requested consent of the licensee, opposite party no.2, through e-mail for re-supply of Beer against the order dated 7.9.2018 as the consent was required for issuance of transport permit (FL-36) afresh. The consent for re-supply was given by opposite party no.2 through e-mail on 22.9.2018. The licensee also informed the company that criminal proceedings have already been initiated at Police Station Husainganj, Lucknow with regard to non-supply of Beer and civil proceedings would be initiated for the losses suffered. After consent was given by the licensee on 22.9.2018, fresh Form FL-36 was issued by the concerned Excise Officer on 22.9.2018 itself and Beer was supplied on 22.9.2018 against the order dated 7.9.2018 after payment of excise duty in advance through transporter of the company. The supply of goods/Beer were delivered at the address of the licensee at Lucknow on 24.9.2018, which were accepted by the licensee, however, acknowledgment was not given by the licensee even after receipt of the goods. As the licensee did not acknowledge the delivery of goods, the drivers of the trucks contacted Excise Department and the Excise Inspector was deputed to verify the delivery of beer. The concerned Excise Officer inspected the location of the licensee and submitted his report dated 27.9.2018 that Beer ordered was duly received by the licensee at his premises.

18. The licensee had also placed another order dated 11.9.2018 at 8.30 PM through e-mail for delivery of 1180 cases of Beer at Varanasi. Since the vehicles of transportation of Beer to Varanasi could not be arranged and the transport Form FL-36 could not be issued, the licensee on 15.9.2018 modified its original order dated 11.9.2018 through e-mail instructing that the ordered beer be delivered at Lucknow instead of Varanasi. After receipt of revised order on 15.9.2018 with changed location, the vehicle was arranged and Form FL-36 was issued by the concerned Excise Officer on 17.9.2018 and on the same day, consignment of beer was dispatched after payment of excise duty in advance through transporter of the company, namely, Buland Logistic Limited by Truck No.UP81 BT 5285 from Aligarh to Lucknow and the consignment of beer was delivered and received by the licensee on 19.9.2018. It is stated that the goods were duly delivered as per the orders dated 7.9.2018 and 11.9.2018.

19. This Court in its detail interim order dated 17.1.2020 has noted the undisputed facts as under:-

"It is undisputed that for re-supply of the Beer, excise duty was duly paid to the Excise department, after which F.L. 36 was issued and the goods were supplied by the Company, which was duly received by the informant's side. It is also undisputed that initially, in Case Crime No. 260 of 2018 (supra), final report was prepared by the Investigating Officer on 13.10.2018. (Conclusion of the final report is appended at page 183 of the application). However, on the request of the Ashok Kumar Jaiswal, investigation was transferred to the Crime branch and charge sheet was prepared by the 2nd Investigating Officer on 10.02.2019 with the observation that there is a loss of U.P. Excise revenue. The charge sheet was prepared against the Company, Akhil Sharda, Arvind Padhi and Himanshu Tiwari with the allegation that by preparing a forged documents, the Company cheated the informant and also cause U.P. excise revenue loss. Thereafter, impugned supplementary charge sheet was prepared against the applicants on 24th March, 2019, which is annexed at pages 55 to 70 of the application."

20. Sri G.S. Chaturvedi, learned Senior Advocate representing the petitioners has submitted that the opposite parties have not denied the averments made in paragraphs 30 and 31 of the petition, and if there is no evidence brought on record to show any involvement of the petitioners in the alleged offence, the criminal liability cannot be fixed only on the allegation that the accused are directors/share holders of the company without disclosing any role played by such a person in the entire transaction, which form part of the offence and subject matter of the FIR, and the charge sheet. He has further submitted that the impugned proceedings against the petitioners are nothing but a sheer abuse of process of law and Court and are manifestly unjust and illegal. The investigation has also been closed, and no further investigation is pending in the offence and the continuation of the proceedings against the petitioners would result only in their further harassment for alleged offences, which are not made out against them inasmuch as there is no evidence against them for their involvement in any manner for commission of alleged offences.

21. Sections 2(47), 149 and 150 deal with the independent directors which read as under :-

"2(47) "independent director" means an independent director referred to in sub-section (6) of section 149;

149. Company to have Board of Directors.__(1) Every company shall have a Board of Directors consisting of individuals as directors and shall have--

(a) a minimum number of three directors in the case of a public company, two directors in the case of a private company, and one director in the case of a One Person Company; and

(b) a maximum of fifteen directors:

Provided that a company may appoint more than fifteen directors after passing a special resolution:

Provided further that such class or classes of companies as may be prescribed, shall have at least one woman director.

(2) Every company existing on or before the date of commencement of this Act shall within one year from such commencement comply with the requirements of the provisions of sub-section (1).

[(3) Every company shall have at least one director who stays in India for a total period of not less than one hundred and eighty-two days during the financial year:

Provided that in case of a newly incorporated company the requirement under this sub-section shall apply proportionately at the end of the financial year in which it is incorporated];

(4) Every listed public company shall have at least one-third of the total number of directors as independent directors and the Central Government may prescribe the minimum number of independent directors in case of any class or classes of public companies.

Explanation.-- For the purposes of this sub-section, any fraction contained in such one-third number shall be rounded off as one.

(5) Every company existing on or before the date of commencement of this Act shall, within one year from such commencement or from the date of notification of the rules in this regard as may be applicable, comply with the requirements of the provisions of sub-section (4).

(6) An independent director in relation to a company, means a director other than a managing director-- or a whole-time director or a nominee director,

(a) who, in the opinion of the Board, is a person of integrity and possesses relevant expertise and experience;

(b) (i) who is or was not a promoter of the company or its holding, subsidiary or associate company;

(ii) who is not related to promoters or directors in the company, its holding, subsidiary or associate company;

(c) who has or had no 2[pecuniary relationship, other than remuneration as such director or having transaction not exceeding ten per cent. of his total income or such amount as may be prescribed,] with the company, its holding, subsidiary or associate company, or their promoters, or directors, during the two immediately preceding financial years or during the current financial year;

3[(d) none of whose relatives--

(i) is holding any security of or interest in the company, its holding, subsidiary or associate company during the two immediately preceding financial years or during the current financial year:

Provided that the relative may hold security or interest in the company of face value not exceeding fifty lakh rupees or two per cent. of the paid-up capital of the company, its holding, subsidiary or associate company or such higher sum as may be prescribed;

(ii) is indebted to the company, its holding, subsidiary or associate company or their promoters, or directors, in excess of such amount as may be prescribed during the two immediately preceding financial years or during the current financial year;

(iii) has given a guarantee or provided any security in connection with the indebtedness of any third person to the company, its holding, subsidiary or associate company or their promoters, or directors of such holding company, for such amount as may be prescribed during the two immediately preceding financial years or during the current financial year; or

(iv) has any other pecuniary transaction or relationship with the company, or its subsidiary, or its holding or associate company amounting to two per cent. or more of its gross turnover or total income singly or in combination with the transactions referred to in sub-clause (i), (ii) or (iii);]

(e) who, neither himself nor any of his relatives

(i) holds or has held the position of a key managerial personnel or is or has been employee of the company or its holding, subsidiary or associate company in any of the three financial years immediately preceding the financial year in which he is proposed to be appointed;

4[Provided that in case of a relative who is an employee, the restriction under this clause shall not apply for his employment during preceding three financial years.]

(ii) is or has been an employee or proprietor or a partner, in any of the three financial years immediately preceding the financial year in which he is proposed to be appointed, of

(A) a firm of auditors or company secretaries in practice or cost auditors of the company or its holding, subsidiary or associate company; or

(B) any legal or a consulting firm that has or had any transaction with the company, its holding, subsidiary or associate company amounting to ten per cent. or more of the gross turnover of such firm;

(iii) holds together with his relatives two per cent. or more of the total voting power of the company; or

(iv) is a Chief Executive or director, by whatever name called, of any nonprofit organisation that receives twenty-five per cent. or more of its receipts from the company, any of its promoters, directors or its holding, subsidiary or associate company or that holds two per cent. or more of the total voting power of the company; or

(f) who possesses such other qualifications as may be prescribed.

(7) Every independent director shall at the first meeting of the Board in which he participates as a director and thereafter at the first meeting of the Board in every financial year or whenever there is any change in the circumstances which may affect his status as an independent director, give a declaration that he meets the criteria of independence as provided in sub-section (6).

Explanation.-- For the purposes of this section, nominee director means a director nominated by any financial institution in pursuance of the provisions of any law for the time being in force, or of any agreement, or appointed by any Government, or any other person to represent its interests.

(8) The company and independent directors shall abide by the provisions specified in Schedule IV.

(9) Notwithstanding anything contained in any other provision of this Act, but subject to the provisions of sections 197 and 198, an independent director shall not be entitled to any stock option and may receive remuneration by way of fee provided under sub-section (5) of section 197, reimbursement of expenses for participation in the Board and other meetings and profit related commission as may be approved by the members.

5[Provided that if a company has no profits or its profits are inadequate, an independent director may receive remuneration, exclusive of any fees payable under sub-section (5) of section 197, in accordance with the provisions of Schedule V.]

(10) Subject to the provisions of section 152, an independent director shall hold office for a term up to five consecutive years on the Board of a company, but shall be eligible for reappointment on passing of a special resolution by the company and disclosure of such appointment in the Board's report.

(11) Notwithstanding anything contained in sub-section (10), no independent director shall hold office for more than two consecutive terms, but such independent director shall be eligible for appointment after the expiration of three years of ceasing to become an independent director:

Provided that an independent director shall not, during the said period of three years, be appointed in or be associated with the company in any other capacity, either directly or indirectly.

Explanation.-- For the purposes of sub-sections (10) and (11), any tenure of an independent director on the date of commencement of this Act shall not be counted as a term under those sub-sections.
(12) Notwithstanding anything contained in this Act,--

(i) an independent director;

(ii) a non-executive director not being promoter or key managerial personnel, shall be held liable, only in respect of such acts of omission or commission by a company which had occurred with his knowledge, attributable through Board processes, and with his consent or connivance or where he had not acted diligently.

(13) The provisions of sub-sections (6) and (7) of section 152 in respect of retirement of directors by rotation shall not be applicable to appointment of independent directors.

150. Manner of selection of independent directors and maintenance of data bank in independent directors.__

(1) Subject to the provisions contained in sub-section (6) of section 149, an independent director may be selected from a data bank containing names, addresses and qualifications of persons who are eligible and willing to act as independent directors, maintained by any body, institute or association, as may by notified by the Central Government, having expertise in creation and maintenance of such data bank and put on their website for the use by the company making the appointment of such directors:

Provided that responsibility of exercising due diligence before selecting a person from the data bank referred to above, as an independent director shall lie with the company making such appointment.

(2) The appointment of independent director shall be approved by the company in general meeting as provided in sub-section (2) of section 152 and the explanatory statement annexed to the notice of the general meeting called to consider the said appointment shall indicate the justification for choosing the appointee for appointment as independent director.

(3) The data bank referred to in sub-section (1), shall create and maintain data of persons willing to act as independent director in accordance with such rules as may be prescribed.

(4) The Central Government may prescribe the manner and procedure of selection of independent directors who fulfil the qualifications and requirements specified under section 149."

22. Sri Chaturvedi has further submitted that the petitioners are independent non-executive directors of the company, they are in no manner responsible for day-to-day affairs of the company. Under the scheme of the Companies Act, such directors are engaged in the company for their expertise and special knowledge in a particular discipline and they are not responsible and in-charge of the management of the company. The non-executive director is not involved in the day-to-day affairs of the company or running of its business. Such director is not at all responsible for the day-to-day running of business of the company. There is no evidence collected during the course of investigation to suggest that the petitioners, who are non-executive directors and the secretary of the company, are responsible for conduct of the business of the company. He has, therefore, submitted that continuation of the proceedings against the petitioners is nothing but a gross abuse of process of the Court and to secure the ends of justice, the impugned proceedings are liable to be quashed.

23. In support of his contention, learned counsel for the petitioners has placed relation upon the recent judgement of the Supreme Court in the case of Sunita Palita Vs. M/s Panchami Stone Quarry, (2022) SCC Online SWC 945.

24. On the other hand, Sri Prashant Chandra, learned Senior Advocate assisted by Ms. Radhika Singh, learned counsel for opposite party no.2 has submitted that the initial charge sheet filed against Akhil Sharda and three others in the present case, was challenged before this Court in a petition under Section 482 Cr.P.C. being Criminal Misc. Case No.2005 of 2019 and this Court vide judgement and order dated 6.3.2020 quashed the charge sheet. Against the said order dated 6.3.2020, Criminal Appeal Nos.840 and 841 of 2020 were filed before the Supreme Court and the Supreme Court directed for restoration of the proceedings before the trial court. The Supreme Court has observed in its judgment and order dated 11.7.2022 that the High Court has not properly appreciated and/or considered the larger conspiracy and that both the FIR Nos.260 of 2018 and 227 of 2019 relating to disappearance of the trucks loaded with beer and by forging the documents etc. for evasion of excise duty are interconnected. It had come during the investigation that there were other instances of disappearance of the trucks loaded with beer indicating that there was syndicate operating with connivance of the company and its officers and the modus operandi which had been adopted for evasion of the excise duty, was a serious matter. Therefore, involvement of the petitioners would not be ruled out at this stage.

25. Learned counsel for opposite party no.2 has further submitted that considering the judgement and order dated 11.7.2022 passed by the Supreme Court, any interference in the impugned proceedings against the petitioners, would be overreaching the decision of the Supreme Court. He has also submitted that even if it is assumed that there is some distinction in the facts of the present case than the facts of Case Crime No.205 of 2019, the only course open to the petitioners would be to seek an appropriate direction from the Supreme Court. Whether the petitioners have a criminal intent and direct nexus with the alleged offence, is a matter of trial. The responsibility of the director is a matter, which is to be examined only during the trial. There is a charge of criminal conspiracy levelled against all the directors of the company for consistent disappearance of the trucks coupled with evasion of the excise duty, their involvement and the role played by each director can be decided only in a trial.

26. In support of the aforesaid submission, learned counsel for opposite party no.2 has placed reliance upon the judgment of the Supreme Court rendered in the case of Shiv Kumar Jatia Vs. State of NCT of Delhi, (2019) 17 SCC 193.

27. Learned counsel for opposite party no.2 has further submitted that the reliance placed by the learned counsel for the petitioners on the case of Sunita Palita (supra) is not appropriate as the said case was arising out of a complaint and not from the FIR. The necessity to be precise and specific in the complaint, cannot be compared within the generality of an FIR inasmuch as the FIR is not an encyclopedia of facts, and it is not expected from a victim to give every detail of the incident either in the FIR or in the brief history given to the doctor. The said case of Sunita Palita (supra) was a case under Section 141 of Negotiable Instrument Act and the same is not relevant to the facts of the present case.

28. Learned counsel for opposite party no.2 has further submitted that non-executive director not being a promoter or a team managerial personnel can be held liable in respect of such acts of omission or commission by a company which had occurred with his knowledge, attributable through Board proceedings, and with his consent or connivance or where he had not acted diligently as provided under sub-section 12 (ii) of Section 149 of the Companies Act. He has also submitted that the charge sheet discloses the connivance of all the directors and, therefore, to quash the proceedings only on the ground that the petitioners are non-executive directors, would frustrate the very trial. Merely because one or two directors have taken a plea of being far away from the place of incident, all the petitioners cannot be discharged or exempted from facing the trial. The trial alone can determine the extent of involvement and conspiracy for which there cannot be any evidence which can be seen before the commencement of the trial. The complicity is all what is required to be present and this attribute is conspicuously glaring on the face of record. He has further submitted that the Supreme Court consistently has held not to nip the trial in the bud. (paragraph 30 of Ramveer Upadhyay and another Vs. State of U.P. and another (2022) SCC Online SC 484)

29. Learned counsel for opposite party no.2 has further submitted that there is a charge of criminal conspiracy under Section 120-B IPC. The doctrine of attribution and imputation has to be applied. The degree of control exercised by a person, can only be determined upon trial. The charge of conspiracy is not amenable to examination under Section 482 Cr.P.C as it is the domain of the trial court to weigh the evidence and come to a conclusion as to the degree of the control exercised by the person and in doing so the principle of alter ego is applied. Here the question is not of vicarious liability inasmuch as all the directors were involved, including the petitioners, and they conspired, which is evident from detailed discussions in the board meetings, in which even the agreement between the tainted transporters and the company had been ratified. The agreement with the transporter was executed with the consent and sanction of all the high officials of the company, including the petitioners. The directors had full knowledge of the repercussions of the conscious decision they had taken on account of which the criminal acts were committed, and in fact were being committed, as is apparent from regular disappearances of trucks loaded with beer. A systematic activity in the company cannot be without the knowledge, consent and connivance of the petitioners-directors. He has further submitted that this Court while exercising the power under Section 482 Cr.P.C., should not weigh the evidence. This Court should allow the trial to proceed in which the complicity of the petitioners can be determined. This Court is not required to interfere by holding a roving inquiry. He has also submitted that in view of the judgement of the Supreme Court dated 11.7.2022, the petition is liable to be dismissed.

30. I have heard Mr. G.S. Chaturvedi, learned Senior Advocate, assisted by Mr. Purnendu Chakravarthy and Mr. Baljeet Singh, appearing for the petitioners, Mr. V.K. Shahi, learned Additional Advocate General and Mr. Anurag Varma, learned Additional Government Advocate, representing opposite party nos.1, 3 and 4, as well as Mr. Prashant Chandra, learned Senior Advocate, assisted by Ms. Radhika Singh, Advocate, representing opposite party no.2.

31. The powers of the High Court to quash criminal proceedings in exercise of its jurisdiction under Section 482 Cr.P.C. is well-known. The High Court may not enter into determination of the disputed questions of fact at the stage of its exercise of powers under section 482 Cr.P.C, however, the Court may examine and take note of the facts and allegations in order to find out whether the impugned proceedings are in abuse of the process of the court and law and their continuance would result in miscarriage of justice or not.

32. In the present case the facts, as noted above, are not in dispute. The petitioners are/were part-time non-executive Directors of the Company. Neither the FIR nor the charge-sheet would disclose as to how and what manner the petitioners were responsible for the day-to-day conduct of business of the Company or otherwise responsible in its day to day functioning.

33. The question which arises for consideration in the present case is that whether the petitioners are personally liable for any offence even if the allegations in the FIR and charge-sheet are taken on their face value to be correct in entirety. The Company is a body incorporated under the Companies Act. Vicarious criminal liability of its Directors and Shareholders would arise provided any provision exists in that behalf in the statute. The Statute must contain provision fixing such a vicarious liability. Even for the said purpose, it would be obligatory on the part of the complainant and the investigating agency to make requisite allegations and collect evidence in support thereof which would attract provisions constituting vicarious liability.

34. In the facts of the present case, it is not in dispute that order for supply of beer by respondent No.2 was placed through Ahkil Sarda, Depot Manager. The petitioners have no role in receiving the order of effecting the supply. They are the part time Directors based on different locations who have been appointed as independent Directors under the provisions of Section 149/150 of the Companies Act, 2013 having regard to their qualifications, expertise etc. If the petitioners have not been involved in the alleged transactions at any point of time, vicarious criminal liability cannot be fixed upon the petitioners.

35. The Supreme Court in the case of Pepsi Foods Ltd. v. Special Judicial Magistrate, (1998) 5 SCC 749 has held that summoning of an accused in a criminal case is a serious matter. Criminal law cannot be set in motion as the matter of course for alleged offences. It would be apt to take notice of para 28 of the aforesaid judgment which reads as under:-

"28. Summoning of an accused in a criminal case is a serious matter. Criminal law cannot be set into motion as a matter of course. It is not that the complainant has to bring only two witnesses to support his allegations in the complaint to have the criminal law set into motion. The order of the Magistrate summoning the accused must reflect that he has applied his mind to the facts of the case and the law applicable thereto. He has to examine the nature of allegations made in the complaint and the evidence both oral and documentary in support thereof and would that be sufficient for the complainant to succeed in bringing charge home to the accused. It is not that the Magistrate is a silent spectator at the time of recording of preliminary evidence before summoning of the accused. The Magistrate has to carefully scrutinise the evidence brought on record and may even himself put questions to the complainant and his witnesses to elicit answers to find out the truthfulness of the allegations or otherwise and then examine if any offence is prima facie committed by all or any of the accused."

36. The petitioners have been made accused with the aid of Section 120B IPC. It is well settled that individual who has perpetrated commission of offence on behalf of the Company can be made an accused along with the Company, if there is sufficient evidence of his active role coupled with criminal intent. A person working in a Company also can be made an accused and implicated if there is specific role/allegation which attracts doctrine of vicarious liability. In absence of any of two aforesaid situations, when the Company is offender, vicarious liability of the Directors cannot be imputed automatically.

37. The Supreme Court in the case of Sunil Bharti Mittal v. CBI, (2015) 4 SCC 609 while dealing with the issue of vicarious liability of the Officers, Directors, Managing Directors, Chairman of the Company in para 42 to 44 has held as under:-

"42. No doubt, a corporate entity is an artificial person which acts through its officers, Directors, Managing Director, Chairman, etc. If such a company commits an offence involving mens rea, it would normally be the intent and action of that individual who would act on behalf of the company. It would be more so, when the criminal act is that of conspiracy. However, at the same time, it is the cardinal principle of criminal jurisprudence that there is no vicarious liability unless the statute specifically provides so.

43. Thus, an individual who has perpetrated the commission of an offence on behalf of a company can be made an accused, along with the company, if there is sufficient evidence of his active role coupled with criminal intent. Second situation in which he can be implicated is in those cases where the statutory regime itself attracts the doctrine of vicarious liability, by specifically incorporating such a provision.

44. When the company is the offender, vicarious liability of the Directors cannot be imputed automatically, in the absence of any statutory provision to this effect. One such example is Section 141 of the Negotiable Instruments Act, 1881. In Aneeta Hada [Aneeta Hada v. Godfather Travels & Tours (P) Ltd., (2012) 5 SCC 661 : (2012) 3 SCC (Civ) 350 : (2012) 3 SCC (Cri) 241] , the Court noted that if a group of persons that guide the business of the company have the criminal intent, that would be imputed to the body corporate and it is in this backdrop, Section 141 of the Negotiable Instruments Act has to be understood. Such a position is, therefore, because of statutory intendment making it a deeming fiction. Here also, the principle of "alter ego", was applied only in one direction, namely, where a group of persons that guide the business had criminal intent, that is to be imputed to the body corporate and not the vice versa. Otherwise, there has to be a specific act attributed to the Director or any other person allegedly in control and management of the company, to the effect that such a person was responsible for the acts committed by or on behalf of the company."

38. While issuing summons against the petitioners, the Magistrate has not recorded his satisfaction by mentioning role played by the petitioners which would bring them within offence allegedly committed on behalf of the Company. It is sine qua non for taking cognizance for an offence, the application of mind by the learned Magistrate and his satisfaction with the allegations that if proved, would constitute an offence. The Magistrate is bound to consider the question while taking cognizance on a complaint or a police report as to whether the same discloses commission of offence against a person who is being summoned.

39. Paragraphs 48 to 50 of the judgment rendered in the case of Sunil Bharti Mittal (supra), which are relevant, read as under:-

"48. Sine qua non for taking cognizance of the offence is the application of mind by the Magistrate and his satisfaction that the allegations, if proved, would constitute an offence. It is, therefore, imperative that on a complaint or on a police report, the Magistrate is bound to consider the question as to whether the same discloses commission of an offence and is required to form such an opinion in this respect. When he does so and decides to issue process, he shall be said to have taken cognizance. At the stage of taking cognizance, the only consideration before the court remains to consider judiciously whether the material on which the prosecution proposes to prosecute the accused brings out a prima facie case or not.

49. Cognizance of an offence and prosecution of an offender are two different things. Section 190 of the Code empowered taking cognizance of an offence and not to deal with offenders. Therefore, cognizance can be taken even if offender is not known or named when the complaint is filed or FIR registered. Their names may transpire during investigation or afterwards.

50. Person who has not joined as accused in the charge-sheet can be summoned at the stage of taking cognizance under Section 190 of the Code. There is no question of applicability of Section 319 of the Code at this stage (see SWIL Ltd. v. State of Delhi [(2001) 6 SCC 670 : 2001 SCC (Cri) 1205]). It is also trite that even if a person is not named as an accused by the police in the final report submitted, the court would be justified in taking cognizance of the offence and to summon the accused if it feels that the evidence and material collected during investigation justifies prosecution of the accused (see Union of India v. Prakash P. Hinduja [(2003) 6 SCC 195 : 2003 SCC (Cri) 1314]). Thus, the Magistrate is empowered to issue process against some other person, who has not been charge-sheeted, but there has to be sufficient material in the police report showing his involvement. In that case, the Magistrate is empowered to ignore the conclusion arrived at by the investigating officer and apply his mind independently on the facts emerging from the investigation and take cognizance of the case. At the same time, it is not permissible at this stage to consider any material other than that collected by the investigating officer."

40. An Officer, Director, Managing Director or Chairman of the Company can be made an accused along with the Company only if there is sufficient material to prove his active role coupled with criminal intent. Indian Penal Code does not contain any provision for vicarious liability. For Managing Director or Director to be accused and their implications in the offence allegedly committed on behalf of the company, when the accused is a Company, the complaint/FIR or Charge-sheet must contain requisite allegations of commission of the offence by such individual(s).

41. The Supreme Court in the case of Shiv Kumar Jatia (supra) in paras 21 and 22 while dealing with vicarious liability of Managing Director of the Company has held as under:-

"21. By applying the ratio laid down by this Court in Sunil Bharti Mittal [Sunil Bharti Mittal v. CBI, (2015) 4 SCC 609 : (2015) 2 SCC (Cri) 687] it is clear that an individual either as a Director or a Managing Director or Chairman of the company can be made an accused, along with the company, only if there is sufficient material to prove his active role coupled with the criminal intent. Further the criminal intent alleged must have direct nexus with the accused. Further in Maksud Saiyed v. State of Gujarat [Maksud Saiyed v. State of Gujarat, (2008) 5 SCC 668 : (2008) 2 SCC (Cri) 692] this Court has examined the vicarious liability of Directors for the charges levelled against the Company. In the aforesaid judgment this Court has held that, the Penal Code does not contain any provision for attaching vicarious liability on the part of the Managing Director or the Directors of the Company, when the accused is a company. It is held that vicarious liability of the Managing Director and Director would arise provided any provision exists in that behalf in the statute. It is further held that statutes indisputably must provide fixing such vicarious liability. It is also held that, even for the said purpose, it is obligatory on the part of the complainant to make requisite allegations which would attract the provisions constituting vicarious liability.

22. In the judgment of this Court in Sharad Kumar Sanghi v. Sangita Rane [Sharad Kumar Sanghi v. Sangita Rane, (2015) 12 SCC 781 : (2016) 1 SCC (Cri) 159] while examining the allegations made against the Managing Director of a Company, in which, company was not made a party, this Court has held that when the allegations made against the Managing Director are vague in nature, same can be the ground for quashing the proceedings under Section 482 CrPC. In the case on hand principally the allegations are made against the first accused company which runs Hotel Hyatt Regency. At the same time, the Managing Director of such company who is Accused 2 is a party by making vague allegations that he was attending all the meetings of the company and various decisions were being taken under his signatures. Applying the ratio laid down in the aforesaid cases, it is clear that principally the allegations are made only against the company and other staff members who are incharge of day-to-day affairs of the company. In the absence of specific allegations against the Managing Director of the company and having regard to nature of allegations made which are vague in nature, we are of the view that it is a fit case for quashing the proceedings, so far as the Managing Director is concerned."

42. A Director that too a part time Director and the Secretary are not in charge or responsible of the conduct of the business of the Company. Even otherwise a full time Director who was not in charge or responsible of conduct of the business of the Company at the relevant time cannot be liable for a criminal offence allegedly committed on behalf of the Company at the relevant time.

43. The Supreme court in recent judgment in the case of Sunita Palita (supra), which was rendered in respect of criminal liability of a part time Director for offence committed under Section 138/141 in respect of liability of Directors has held as under :-

"42. A Director of a company who was not in charge or responsible for the conduct of the business of the company at the relevant time, will not be liable under those provisions. As held by this Court in, inter alia, S.M.S. Pharmaceuticals Ltd. (supra), the liability under Section 138/141 of the NI Act arises from being in charge of and responsible for the conduct of the business of the company at the relevant time when the offence was committed, and not on the basis of merely holding a designation or office in a company. It would be a travesty of justice to drag Directors, who may not even be connected with the issuance of a cheque or dishonour thereof, such as Director (Personnel), Director (Human Resources Development) etc. into criminal proceedings under the NI Act, only because of their designation.

43. Liability depends on the role one plays in the affairs of a company and not on designation or status alone as held by this Court in S.M.S. Pharmaceuticals Ltd. (supra). The materials on record clearly show that these Appellants were independent, non-executive Directors of the company. As held by this Court in Pooja Ravinder Devidasani v. State of Maharashtra (supra) a non-Executive Director is not involved in the day-to-day affairs of the company or in the running of its business. Such Director is in no way responsible for the day-to-day running of the Accused Company. Moreover, when a complaint is filed against a Director of the company, who is not the signatory of the dishonoured cheque, specific averments have to be made in the pleadings to substantiate the contention in the complaint, that such Director was in charge of and responsible for conduct of the business of the Company or the Company, unless such Director is the designated Managing Director or Joint Managing Director who would obviously be responsible for the company and/or its business and affairs."

44. In view of the aforesaid discussion and the law, this Court is of the considered view that the petitioners who are/were part time Directors of the Company cannot be held responsible for the alleged offence committed on behalf of the Company inasmuch as there is nothing on record which would suggest that they were responsible in any manner for receiving the order for supply of beer or alleged evasion of excise duty. Continuance of the proceedings against the petitioners would be wholly unjustified and uncalled for and end of justice would meet if the impugned proceedings are quashed against the petitioners.

45. In the result, petition is allowed and the entire proceedings of Case Crime No.5694 of 2019 (State Vs. United Breweries Limited and others), arising out of FIR No.0260 of 2018, under Sections 406, 420, 467, 468, 471 and 120-B IPC, Police Station Husainganj, District Lucknow, pending in the court of Ist Additional Chief Judicial Magistrate, Court No.25, Lucknow in respect of the petitioners, are hereby quashed.

6. Manish Kumar Yadav & ors Vs St. of U.P. & ors. , Application u/s 482 No. 1262 of 2020

(Delivered by Hon'ble Shree Prakash Singh, J.)

1. Heard Sri Vashu Deo Mishra, learned counsel for the applicant, Sri Anirudh Kumar Singh, learned AGA for the State and perused the record.

2. The instant application under Section 482 Cr.P.C has been instituted, for quashing of the entire proceedings of complaint Case No. 07 of 2021, under Sections 406, 504, 506 IPC, Police Station-Manikpur, District Pratapgarh as well as the summoning order dated 28.10.2021 passed by Additional Chief Judicial Magistrate, Kunda, District Pratapgarh.

3. Factual matrix of the case is that the complainant who is a managing partner of Anuna Education Pvt. Ltd, had entered into an agreement with the complainant's "NSQF Franchisees". As per the agreement, the complainant has accorded training to the students under the scheme namely Prime Minister Kaushal Vikas Yojana (P.M.K.V.Y.), which runs under the National Skill Development Corporation (N.S.D.C.). The complainant had served but the applicant's company did not pay the full wages as was required to be paid as per terms and conditions of said scheme. Being aggrieved, an application under Section 156(3) Cr.P.C. was instituted before the Magistrate, wherein a date was fixed on 08.12.2020. On 8th February, 2021 it was treated as complaint case for recording statement of complainant under Section 200 Cr.P.C.

4. The statement of the complainant was recorded under Section 200 Cr.P.C. and the statement of witnesses namely Sanjay Kumar and Manoj Kumar were also recorded on 8th March 2021. Allegedly the present applicant resides outside the territorial jurisdiction of the Magistrate concerned and complainant itself arrayed the present applicant as respondent by transcribing the address, which is outside the territorial jurisdiction of the Magistrate concerned.

5. The submission of learned counsel for the applicant is that the mandate of Section 202 Cr.P.C. is very specific with regard to the provisions that as soon, a complaint comes before a Magistrate, he will enquire or pass an order for an investigation, if the accused is residing outside the territorial jurisdiction of the Court concerned.

6. Provisions of Section 202 Cr.P.C. is read as under:-

202. Postponement of issue of process.- (1) Any Magistrate, on receipt of a complaint of an offence of which he is authorised to take cognizance or which has been made over to him under section 192, may, if he thinks fit, [and shall, in a case where the accused is residing at a place beyond the area in which he exercises his jurisdiction] postpone the issue of process against the accused, and either inquire into the case himself or direct an investigation to be made by a police officer or by such other person as he thinks fit, for the purpose of deciding whether or not there is sufficient ground for proceeding:

Provided that no such direction for investigation shall be made-

(a) where it appears to the Magistrate that the offence complained of is triable exclusively by the Court of Session; or

(b) where the complaint has not been made by a Court, unless the complainant and the witnesses present (if any) have been examined on oath under section 200.

2. In an inquiry under sub-section (1), the Magistrate may, if he thinks fit, take evidence of witnesses on oath: Provided that if it appears to the Magistrate that the offence complained of is triable exclusively by the Court of Session, he shall call upon the complainant to produce all his witnesses and examine them on oath.

3. If an investigation under sub-section (1) is made by a person not being a police officer, he shall have for that investigation all the powers conferred by this Code on an officer- in- charge of a police station except the power to arrest without warrant.

7. Learned counsel for the applicant has drawn attention towards an amendment named as Code of Criminal Procedure (Amendment) Act, 2005 (Central Act 25 of 2005), which came into force w.e.f. 23rd June 2006. He submits that in fact the intent of legislature is to put safeguard to proposed accused, who is not residing in territorial jurisdiction of the Court concerned. While the enactment/amendment, the legislature found that false complaints are being filed against the persons residing at far off place, simply with a view to harass them and in order to see that innocent persons are not harassed by unscrupulous and unwanted persons, this clause seeks to amend sub-section (1) of Section 202 to make it obligatory upon the Magistrate that before summoning the accused residing beyond his jurisdiction, he shall enquire into the case himself or direct for the investigation to be made by a Police Officer or by such other person as he thinks fit; for finding out, whether or not, there was sufficient ground for proceeding against prospective accused.

8. Adding his argument, the learned counsel for the applicant further submits that in fact the Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of National Bank of Oman vs. Barakara Abdul Aziz, (2013) 2 SCC 488, has very specifically held that the outside territorial jurisdiction, a Magistrate receiving complaint, follow the due procedure provided under Section 202 of Cr.P.C. (Act 2005). Extract of the judgment reads as under:

"and shall, in a case where the accused is residing at a place beyond the area in which he exercises jurisdiction"

Further the note on clause for abovementioned amendment was also taken into consideration which is read as follows;

"False complaints are filed against persons residing at far off places simply to harass them. In order to see that the innocent persons are not harassed by unscrupulous persons, this clause seeks to amend sub-sections (1) of Section 202 to make it obligatory upon the Magistrate that before summoning the accused residing beyond his jurisdiction he shall enquire in to the case himself or direct investigation to be made by a police officer or by such other person as he thinks fit, for finding out whether or not there was sufficient ground for proceedings against the accused"

9. Further contention of learned counsel for the applicant is that Hon'ble Apex Court, after considering abovesaid amendment, held that since the accused was residing outside the jurisdiction of CJM Ambedkar Nagar but the Magistrate did not acknowledge the provisions aforesaid and passed the orders and thus the High Court has rightly quashed the proceeding of complaint as the Magistrate without considering and taking into account the aforesaid amended portion of the Act had proceeded in the matter. He added that the case of the present applicant is squarely covered with the ratio of the above judgment.

10. Learned counsel appearing for the applicant further placed reliance upon the case of Pawan Kumar Yadav and other vs State of U.P. and other reported in 2014 (1) JIC 221 (All)(LB), wherein it has been settled that if Magistrate decides to order for investigation, the person to whom, investigation is entrusted, should be clearly mentioned by giving a reasonable time to complete the investigation.

11. He submits that from perusal of the aforesaid finding, it is clear from the mandate of Section 202(1) Cr.P.C. after amending of the Cr.P.C., the Magistrate, prior to issuance of any process, has to look into that whether respondent and the complainant are residing in his territorial jurisdiction or not.

12. Further placing reliance on, the case of Pepsi Foods Limited and another vs. Special Judicial Magistrate and others reported in 1998 SCC (Crl) 1400 has drawn attention towards paragraph 28, which is extracted as under;

"28. Summoning of an accused in a criminal case is a serious matter. Criminal law cannot be set into motion as a matter of course. it is not that the complainant has to bring only two witnesses to support his allegations in the complaint to have the criminal law set into motion. The order of the magistrate summoning the accused must reflect that he has applied his mind to the facts of the case and the law applicable thereto. He has to examine the nature of allegations made in the complaint and the evidence both oral and documentary in support thereof and would that be sufficient for the complainant to succeed in bringing charge home to the accused. It is not that the Magistrate is a silent spectator at the time of recording of preliminary evidence before summoning of the accused. Magistrate has to carefully scrutinise the evidence brought on record and may even himself put questions to the complainant and his witnesses to elicit answers to find out the truthfulness of the allegations or otherwise and then examine if any offence is prima facie committed by all or any of the accused."

13. Referring the abovesaid judgment, he added that ratio, which has been upheld in para 28 of the judgment is to the effect that the criminal cases are always having serious far-reaching consequences and as a matter of course, no criminal proceeding can be set into motion. Summoning of the accused must reflect in the order itself and the Magistrate has to be careful in consideration and may question the complainant and witness to alleged answer to find out the fact.

14. He further contended that there is nothing on record, which reflects that the Magistrate has considered the fact with regard to the territorial jurisdiction. He next submits that since it is up to the Magistrate, while taking the note of the mandate of Section 202 (1) Cr.P.C., to inquire or to direct the investigation and to reach out to the fact that the respondent of the said complaint resides outside the territorial jurisdiction or not.

15. Concluding his argument he submits that from bare perusal of the order dated 28.10.2021 and the statements of the complainant as well as the witnesses, recorded by the learned Magistrate, it reveals that while coming to the conclusion for issuance of process, learned Magistrate shall inquire into the case himself or direct for any investigation to be made by police officers and thus, he has violated the mandate of provision of Section 202(1) Cr.P.C. and, as such, the order dated 28.10.2021 is not sustainable in the eyes of law.

16. On the other hand, learned AGA vehemently opposed the contention and prayer made aforesaid and submits that in fact the process under Section 202 Cr.P.C. is itself an inquiry, as has been held by the Apex Court in several decisions. In support of his contention, he has placed reliance on the decision in the case of Udai Shankar Awasthi vs State of U.P. Manu/SC/0018/2013: 2013 (2) SCC 435, the ratio thereof is extracted as follows:

"It is clear that if a prospective accused resides outside the territorial jurisdiction of the Magistrate, the compliance of provisions of Section 202 (1) Cr.P.C. is mandatory before issuance of any process against the prospective accused persons, however, as stated earlier, the examination of witnesses by Magistrate under Section 202 Cr.P.C. also falls within the realm of such inquiry."

17. He submits that in fact it has been held that the proceeding under Section 202 Cr.P.C. is an inquiry as per the definition held by the Hon'ble Apex Court. He also stated that in fact there is no separate inquiry required outside the purview under Section 202 Cr.P.C. He submits that there is no specific inquiry required under any provision of the Cr.P.C., so far as the mandate of Section 202 is concerned.

18. Learned counsel for the applicant has also placed reliance upon the decision rendered in the case of Vijnay Dhanuka vs Najima Mamtaz reported in MANU/SC/0251/2014. He mainly placed reliance on paragraph 11 and 12 of the said judgment and the same are extracted as under;

11. Section 202 of the Code, inter alia, contemplates postponement of the issue of the process "in a case where the accused is residing at a place beyond the area in which he exercises his jurisdiction" and thereafter to either inquire into the case by himself or direct an investigation to be made by a police officer or by such other person as he thinks fit. In the face of it, what needs our determination is as to whether in a case where the accused is residing at a place beyond the area in which the Magistrate exercises his jurisdiction, inquiry is mandatory or not. The words "and shall, in a case where the accused is residing at a place beyond the area in which he exercises his jurisdiction" was inserted by section 19 of Code of Criminal Procedure (Amendment) Act (Central Act 25 of 2005) w.e.f. 23rd of June, 2006. The aforesaid amendment, in the opinion of the legislature, was essential as false complaints are filed against persons residing at far off places in order to harass them. The note for the amendment reads as follows:

"False complaints are filed against persons residing at far off places simply to harass them. In order to see that innocent persons are not harassed by unscrupulous persons, this clause seeks to amend sub-section (1) of Section 202 to make it obligatory upon the Magistrate that before summoning the accused residing beyond his jurisdiction he shall enquire into the case himself or direct investigation to be made by a police officer or by such other person as he thinks fit, for finding out whether or not there was sufficient ground for proceeding against the accused."

12. The use of the expression "shall' prima facie makes the inquiry or the investigation, as the case may be, by the

Magistrate mandatory. The word "shall" is ordinarily mandatory but sometimes, taking into account the context or the intention, it can be held to be directory. The use of the word "shall" in all circumstances is not decisive. Bearing in mind the aforesaid principle, when we look to the intention of the legislature, we find that it is aimed to prevent innocent persons from harassment by unscrupulous persons from false complaints. Hence, in our opinion, the use of the expression "shall" and the background and the purpose for which the amendment has been brought, we have no doubt in our mind that inquiry or the investigation, as the case may be, is mandatory before summons are issued against the accused living beyond the territorial jurisdiction of the Magistrate.

19. He submits that while deciding the aforesaid issue the Hon'ble Apex Court has quoted the words "and shall" , in case where the accused residing beyond area exercise his jurisdiction was inserted vide amendment in Code of Criminal Procedure known as (Central Act 25 of 2005) w.e.f. 23rd June 2006. The aforesaid intention of the legislature was essential to the fact that no false complaint is filed against the person to harass them.

20. He further place reliance on the decision in the case of Manish Kumar Yadav and ors vs State of U.P. and others decided in Application u/s 482 No. 1262 of 2020 decided on 14.05.2020 and has drawn attention of Para 17 of the judgment. The same is extract as under;

"17. The next question for consideration is, what does "enquiry" means. The expression has been defined in Section 2(g) of the Code, which means, every enquiry, other than trial, under this code by a Magistrate or "Court." It is evident from the aforesaid provision, every enquiry other than trial conducted by Magistrate or a court is an enquiry, no specific mode or manner is provided viz; 201(1) Cr.P.C. The enquiry envisage U/s 202 Cr.P.C., the witnesses are examined whereas U/s 200 Cr.P.C. examination of complainant is necessary with the option of examining of witnesses present, if any. This exercise by the Magistrate with the sole objective and purpose for deciding whether or not there is sufficient grounds for proceeding against an accused, is nothing but an enquiry envisage U/s 202 Cr.P.C. The under-line idea is that, before exercising power U/s 203/204 Cr.P.C. it is incumbent upon the Magistrate to took into the allegations made in the complaint, statements recorded U/s 200, 202 Cr.P.C. and if there are witnesses to the incident, then take the help of those witnesses while arriving to a particular conclusion. There cannot be a straight jacketed design or formula in holding the enquiry."

21. He submits that in fact the expression "inquiry" has been defined in Section 2(g) of the Code, which means every inquiry other than trial, under this code by a Magistrate or Court. He has pointed out that no specific mode or manner of inquiry has been provided, so far as Sections 200 and 202 are concerned, he submits that ratio of this judgment is that the inquiry is sufficient so far as the magistrate started a proceeding under Section 202 of the Cr.P.C. Thus submission is that order impugned with the instant application is not erroneous or perverse.

22. This Court has taken into consideration the rival submissions made by learned counsel representing the respective parties and have also gone through the records available.

23. The issue, which emerges for consideration and reflect in this case is as to whether, in view of the provisions contained in Section 202(1) of Cr.P.C., the inquiry by the Magistrate himself or the direction for investigation is mandatory requirement, as soon as the fact borne out before the Magistrate concerned is that the accused is residing outside the territorial jurisdiction of the Magistrate concerned.

24. From bare perusal of the order impugned dated 28.10.2021 as well as the statement recorded under Sections 200 and 202 of Cr.P.C., it emerges that no inquiry has been done by the Magistrate prior to issuance of process and even the Magistrate did not direct the police officer for investigation in the matter.

25. Admittedly, prior to the amendment in Cr.P.C. i.e., before the year 2005, this provision was not in existence but, thereafter, vide an amendment of Act No. 25 of 2005, it has been inserted in Section 202(1) of Cr.P.C. This amendment also shows the intent of the legislature that for avoiding the harassment of prospective accused, who is sitting at far-reaching place the instant provision has given effect to.

26. While examining all the proceedings, which was conducted by the Magistrate, there seems to be no whisper regarding the fact that the Magistrate has inquired or get investigated the matter with regard to the fact that applicant is residing outside the territorial jurisdiction or not.

27. Emphasis was also laid that since the proceedings under Sections 200 is qua an inquiry proceeding under Section 202 (1) and therefore if a Magistrate has proceeded or inquired during the investigation under Sections 200 and 202 of Cr.P.C., separate proceeding for inquiry or investigation is not required. In the instant matter, neither the Magistrate in the proceeding under Sections 200 and 202 Cr.P.C. tried to inquire regarding the issue of territorial jurisdiction nor he has separately done any inquiry or directed for any investigation.

28. This Court is of the considered opinion that it is a settled law that if a thing is to be done in a manner prescribed in a statue, then that has to be done in the same manner not otherwise. In the instant matter, it is, prima facie, a case where the mandate of provision of Section 202 (1) of Cr.P.C. has clearly been violated and thus, the order impugned is not tenable.

29. Resultantly, the instant application is allowed. The order dated 28.10.2021 passed in Complaint Case No. 07 of 2021 (Shiv Naresh Maurya vs. Amit Iqbal Srivastava and others), is hereby set aside.

30. However, the matter is remitted back to the Magistrate concerned to proceed afresh and pass the order accordingly.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Ajai Kumar Srivastava-I, J.)

1. Heard learned counsel for the applicants, learned A.G.A. for the State and perused the entire record.

2. The instant application under Section 482 Cr.P.C. has been filed by the applicants praying inter alia the following reliefs:-

"a. Issue and order for quashing the Proceedings and Set aside the Bail Cancellation Order dated 01.09.2022 under the Sessions Trial No. 812/2021 in re: State of U.P. v. Ram Bachan and Ors delivered by the Ld. Sessions Judge annexed as Annexure No. 1.

b. Issue an order directing the Police to release the Applicants from Judicial Custody on Bail."

3. In view of the order which is proposed to be passed today, notice to opposite party No.2 is hereby dispensed with.

4. From the pleadings, it transpires that the applicants were granted bail vide order dated 22.11.2021 passed by the learned Sessions Judge, Raebareli in Bail Application No.2638 of 2021 arising out of Sessions Trial No.812 of 2021 (State vs. Ram Bachan and others).

5. The learned trial court was informed that the witnesses and the complainant of the aforesaid Sessions Trial No.812 of 2021 are being threatened of dire consequences by the applicants herein. The aforesaid Sessions Trial No.812 of 2021 was fixed on 01.09.2022 for recording evidence of prosecution witnesses. However, taking note of the fact that the present applicants are threatening the witnesses and the complainant to desist from prosecuting the case, the learned trial court kept the application moved to the aforesaid effect on record and a copy of the same was directed to be sent to Superintendent of Police, Raebareli for appropriate action directing him also to provide necessary security to the witnesses by the learned trial court.

6. The learned trial court thereafter found that by the order dated 22.11.2021 passed in the Bail Application No.2683 of 2021, the applicants herein were enlarged on bail, inter alia, on the condition that they shall not temper with the evidence and shall also not intimidate the witnesses. They shall also not seek any adjournment, if the witnesses are present for being examined. In case of seeking adjournment when the prosecution witnesses are present, the same shall be considered as misuse of liberty of bail granted to the applicants. Thereafter, the learned trial court found the aforesaid conduct of the applicants to be violation of conditions of bail subject to which they were enlarged on bail vide order dated 22.11.2021. Therefore, the learned trial court directed to the applicants to be taken into custody and also passed the impugned order dated 01.09.2022 canceling the bail granted to the applicants vide order dated 22.11.2021 passed in Bail Application No.2638 of 2021. Consequently, the applicants were directed to be lodged in the District Jail.

7. In aforesaid factual background, it has been submitted by the learned counsel for the applicants that the impugned order is patently illegal insofar as it has been passed on the basis of vague allegations levelled against the applicants. It has also been submitted that it is settled law that parameters for grant of bail and for cancelling an order granting bail are settled and specified. The cancellation of bail is a serious matter and should be dealt with accordingly as the same concerns, the personal liberty of the persons who have been enlarged on bail.

8. Learned counsel for the applicants has further submitted that in case, there was any grievance to the victim, the complainant or any witness as aforesaid, they were at liberty to move an application for cancellation of bail of the applicants who would have got an opportunity of showing cause by filing a reply to the same and thereafter appropriate order based on the facts and circumstances of this matter, could have been passed by the learned trial court. However, the impugned order has come to be passed in flagrant violation of the settled procedure in respect of cancellation of bail which is not sustainable at all.

9. Per contra, learned A.G.A. has opposed the prayer by stating that the impugned order has been passed by the learned trial court to ensure proper conduct of trial of Sessions Trial No.812 of 2021. However, he has very fairly stated that the same could not have been passed without issuing notice to the opposite party No.2 and without affording a reasonable opportunity of showing cause to the applicants.

10. Having heard the learned counsel for the applicants, learned A.G.A. for the State and upon perusal of record, it requires to be made clear that it is settled law that once bail has been granted by a competent court after due consideration of facts and circumstances of the case, the same should not be cancelled in a mechanical manner without there being any supervening circumstance(s) which are not conducive to the fair trial. It cannot be cancelled on a prayer or request from the side of the complainant/ investigating agency/ victim, unless and until, it is shown to the satisfaction of the court concerned that the same is being misused and is no longer conducive, in the interest of justice, to allow the accused persons any further to remain on bail. No doubt, the bail can be cancelled only in those discerning few cases where it is established that a person to whom the concession of bail has been granted, is misusing the same.

11. The Hon'ble Supreme Court in Samarendra Nath Bhattacharjee vs. State of W.B. and another reported in (2004) 11 SCC 165, has pointed out as to what should be the approach of the court dealing with the matter of cancellation of bail. In the instant case, the High Court cancelled the bail which was earlier granted to the accused. The Hon'ble Supreme Court observed that the High Court has approached the case as if it is an appeal against the conviction by giving findings on factual issues which are yet to be decided. Thus, the Hon'ble Supreme Court found the matter to be too premature which is likely to prejudice the trial. That apart, since the only ground on which the cancellation of bail could have been ordered being the ground of intimidation, the same was not satisfactorily proved. Therefore, in view of the Hon'ble Supreme Court, the High Court erred in cancelling the bail granted to the accused.

12. In the case at hand too, the fact of alleged intimidation or extending threat to the complainant and witnesses, was intimated to the learned trial court. No application stating the facts of such intimidation was moved to the learned trial court. Be that as it may, the learned trial court atleast ought to have provided a reasonable and sufficient opportunity to the applicants/ accused persons to show cause against such an application or prayer made by the prosecution for cancellation of the bail granted to the applicants as the same was likely to affect personal liberty of the applicants/ accused persons adversely.

13. In Mehboob Dawood Shaikh vs. State of Maharashtra reported in (2004) 2 SCC 362, it has been held by the Hon'ble Supreme Court that the cancellation of bail are never be resorted to lightly.

14. The Hon'ble Supreme Court in Gurdev Singh and another vs. State of Bihar and another reported in (2005) 13 SCC 286, has held that cancellation of bail cannot done without giving notice to the accused and giving him an opportunity of being heard.

15. In P.K. Shaji alias Thammanam Shaji vs. State of Kerala reported in (2005) 13 SCC 283, the Hon'ble Supreme Court has again held that the accused must be heard before his bail is cancelled.

16. In view of the aforesaid settled legal propositions, this court finds the impugned order which came to be passed by the learned trial court without issuing notice to the applicants and without affording them a reasonable and sufficient opportunity of hearing is patently illegal being in flagrant violation of whatever has been held by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in Samarendra Nath Bhattacharjee's case (supra), Mehboob Dawood Shaikh's case (supra), Gurdev Singh's case (supra) and in P.K. Shaji alias Thammanam Shaji's case (supra). it has, thus, caused miscarriage of justice to the applicants.

17. The upshot of aforesaid discussion is that the instant application under Section 482 Cr.P.C. deserves to be allowed and the impugned order dated 01.09.2022 passed by the learned Sessions Judge, Raebareli in Sessions Trial No.812 of 2021 (State vs. Ram Bachan and others) also deserves to be set aside to the extent it concerns cancellation of bail granted to the applicants and taking them into custody as a consequence thereof only.

18. Accordingly, the instant application under Section 482 Cr.P.C. is allowed. The impugned order dated 01.09.2022 passed by the learned Sessions Judge, Raebareli in Sessions Trial No.812 of 2021 (State vs. Ram Bachan and others) is hereby set aside as indicated above.

19. The learned trial court is directed to release the applicants after obtaining the fresh personal bonds and two sureties each in the like amount to the satisfaction of the court concerned.

20. It is also made clear that the learned trial court shall be at liberty to issue notice to the applicants stating therein the grounds which are to be considered by it for cancellation of bail granted to the applicants. It shall thereafter decide the same expeditiously in accordance with law after affording reasonable opportunity of hearing to the parties.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Ajai Kumar Srivastava-I, J.)

1. Heard Sri Saurabh Yadava, learned counsel for the applicant and learned A.G.A. for the State.

2. The instant application under Section 482 Cr.P.C. has been filed by the applicant inter alia praying for following relief:-

(i) Quash the impugned order dated 28.02.2022 passed by the Additional Session Judge Fast Track Court (ADJ FTC 1), Ambedkar Nagar in Criminal Revision No.53/2018, CNR No.UPAN010032102018 "Jwala Prasad Maurya Versus Kasha Prasad Tivari HCP Thana Maharua, District Ambedkar Nagar.

(ii) Quash the impugned order dated 23.06.2018 passed by Civil Judge (J.D.)/Judicial Magistrate, Ambedkar Nagar in the matter of charge sheet no. NIL/2015 dated 30.10.2015 in "State Vs. Jwala Prasad Maurya" in respect of Criminal Case No.239/2018 arising out of NCR No.19/2013, U/s 323, 504 I.P.C., dated 09.03.2013, Police Station Mahrua, District Ambedkar Nagar.

(iii) Quash the impugned charge sheet no. NIL/2015 dated 30.10.2015 in "State Vs. Jwala Prasad Maurya" in respect of Criminal Case No.239/2018 arising out of NCR No.19/2013, U/s 323, 504 I.P.C. dated 09.03.2013, Police Station Mahrua, District Ambedkar Nagar.

3. Learned counsel for the applicant submitted that an NCR No.19/2013 came to be registered against the present applicant on 09.03.2013 under Section 323 and 504 I.P.C. only. The matter was investigated vide order dated 05.04.2013 by means of an application filed by the opposite party no.2 under Section 155 (2) Cr.P.C. The charge sheet was submitted in the court on 30.10.2015, therefore, his submission is that the learned trial court was incompetent to take cognizance of the offence after lapse of period of limitation provided under 468 Cr.P.C. specially when the complaint / charge sheet came to be filed after a lapse of three years, three months and twenty days and thereafter cognizance of the case was taken after a lapse of five years, three months and fourteen days. His further submission is that while passing impugned order, learned trial court did so in utter violation of provision contained under Sections 467, 468, 469 Cr.P.C. which are part of Chapter XXXVI. Learned trial court could not have taken cognizance of the matter as the same was barred by limitation. He, thus, submits that such order, which has been passed in flagrant violation of statutory bar, is nothing but a gross abuse of process of this Court, which deserves to be quashed.

4. Per contra learned A.G.A. has controverted the aforesaid submissions and has also submitted that in the fact of this case, the impugned order rightly came to be passed by placing reliance on the law laid down by Hon'ble the Supreme Court in Bharat Damodar Kale & another vs. State of Andhra Pradesh1.

5. Having heard learned counsel for the applicant at length, learned A.G.A. for the State and upon perusal of record, it requires to be clarified at the outset that there is no dispute regarding the fact that the alleged incident, in respect of which, an NCR bearing no.19/2013, Police Station Mahrua, District Ambedkar Nagar came to be registered at the behest of opposite party no.3 on 09.03.2013. This is also not in dispute that thereafter the opposite party no.3 moved an application dated 05.04.2013 seeking permission of investigation of this case under Section 155 (2) Cr.P.C. which came to be allowed and the matter was investigated by the Investigating Officer. Thereafter, a charge sheet came to be filed which was actually prepared on 30.10.2015 and the same was forwarded to C.O., Bheeti on 15.06.2016 and charge sheet no.19/2013 was submitted to the court of Civil Judge (J.D.) / Judicial Magistrate-First Class, Ambedkar Nagar on 29.06.2016 i.e. after a period of three years, three months and twenty days from the date of occurrence.

6. At this stage, it deserves to be mentioned that the learned trial court consciously took cognizance of this case vide its order dated 23.06.2018 and since the charge sheet was filed under Section 323 and 504 I.P.C. only, accordingly, the same was directed to be registered as a complaint case keeping in view the provisions contained in Section 2(d) Cr.P.C.

7. The questions which fell for consideration by the Constitution Bench in the case of Sarah Mathew vs. The Institute of Cardio Vascular Diseases and others2 are as follows :-

"3.1.(i) Whether for the purposes of computing the period of limitation under Section 468 CrPC the relevant date is the date of filing of the complaint or the date of institution of the prosecution or whether the relevant date is the date on which a Magistrate takes cognizance of the offence?

3.2.(ii) Which of the two cases i.e. Krishna Pillai or Bharat Kale (which is followed in Japani Sahoo) lays down the correct law?"

10. The term 'cognizance' in the context of the provisions of the Code and the earlier decisions in the case of Jamuna

Singh Vs. Bhadai Shah6, R.R.Chari Vs. State of U.P.7, Gopal Das Sindhi Vs. State of Assam8, and Chief Enforcement Officer Vs. Videocon International Ltd.9, was discussed and it was observed that 'taking cognizance' is entirely an act of the Magistrate and that the same may be delayed because of several reasons including systematic reasons. The conflicting view points as to whether the date of taking cognizance or the date of filing complaint is material for computing limitation was considered and it was observed as follows:-

"34. Thus, a Magistrate takes cognizance when he applies his mind or takes judicial notice of an offence with a view to initiating proceedings in respect of offence which is said to have been committed. This is the special connotation acquired by the term "cognizance" and it has to be given the same meaning wherever it appears in Chapter XXXVI. It bears repetition to state that taking cognizance is entirely an act of the Magistrate. Taking cognizance may be delayed because of several reasons. It may be delayed because of systemic reasons. It may be delayed because of the Magistrate's personal reasons.

35. In this connection, our attention is drawn to the judgment of this Court in Sharadchandra Dongre. It is urged on the basis of this judgment that by condoning the delay, the court takes away a valuable right which accrues to the accused. Hence, the accused has a right to be heard when an application for condonation of delay under Section 473 CrPC is presented before the court. Keeping this argument in mind, let us examine both the view points i.e. whether the date of taking cognizance or the date of filing complaint is material for computing limitation. If the date on which complaint is filed is taken to be material, then if the complaint is filed within the period of limitation, there is no question of it being time-barred. If it is filed after the period of limitation, the complainant can make an application for condonation of delay under Section 473 CrPC. The court will have to issue notice to the accused and after hearing the accused and the complainant decide whether to condone the delay or not. If the date of taking cognizance is considered to be relevant then, if the court takes cognizance within the period of limitation, there is no question of the complaint being time barred. If the Court takes cognizance after the period of limitation then, the question is how will Section 473 CrPC work. The complainant will be interested in having the delay condoned. If the delay is caused by the Magistrate by not taking cognizance in time, it is absurd to expect the complainant to make an application for condonation of delay. The complainant surely cannot explain that delay. Then in such a situation, the question is whether the Magistrate has to issue notice to the accused, explain to the accused the reason why delay was caused and then hear the accused and decide whether to condone the delay or not. This would also mean that the Magistrate can decide whether to condone delay or not, caused by him. Such a situation will be anomalous and such a procedure is not known to law...

37. We are inclined to take this view also because there has to be some amount of certainty or definiteness in matters of limitation relating to criminal offences. If, as stated by this Court, taking cognizance is application of mind by the Magistrate to the suspected offence, the subjective element comes in. Whether a Magistrate has taken cognizance or not will depend on facts and circumstances of each case. A diligent complainant or the prosecuting agency which promptly files the complaint or initiates prosecution would be severely prejudiced if it is held that the relevant point for computing limitation would be the date on which the Magistrate takes cognizance. The complainant or the prosecuting agency would be entirely left at the mercy of the Magistrate, who may take cognizance after the limitation period because of several reasons; systemic or otherwise. It cannot be the intention of the legislature to throw a diligent complainant out of the court in this manner. Besides it must be noted that the complainant approaches the court for redressal of his grievance. He wants action to be taken against the perpetrators of crime. The courts functioning under the criminal justice system are created for this purpose. It would be unreasonable to take a view that delay caused by the court in taking cognizance of a case would deny justice to a diligent complainant. Such an interpretation of Section 468 CrPC would be unsustainable and would render it unconstitutional. It is well settled that a court of law would interpret a provision which would help sustaining the validity of the law by applying the doctrine of reasonable construction rather than applying a doctrine which would make the provision unsustainable and ultra vires the Constitution. (U.P. Power Corporation Ltd. v. Ayodhaya Prasad Mishra)."

8. Referring to the legal maxim 'nullum tempus aut locus occurrit regi', 'vigilantibus et non dormientibus, jura subveniunt' and actus curiae neminem gravabit', it was observed as follows :-

"39. As we have already noted in reaching this conclusion, light can be drawn from legal maxims. Legal maxims are referred to in Bharat Kale, Japani Sahoo and Vanka Radhamanohari. The object of the criminal law is to punish perpetrators of crime. This is in tune with the well- known legal maxim 'nullum tempus aut locus occurrit regi', which means that a crime never dies. At the same time, it is also the policy of law to assist the vigilant and not the sleepy. This is expressed in the Latin maxim 'vigilantibus et non dormientibus, jura subveniunt'. Chapter XXXVI CrPC which provides limitation period for certain types of offences for which lesser sentence is provided draws support from this maxim. But, even certain offences such as Section 384 or 465 IPC, which have lesser punishment may have serious social consequences. The provision is, therefore, made for condonation of delay.Treating date of filing of complaint or date of initiation of proceedings as the relevant date for computing limitation under Section 468 of the Code is supported by the legal maxim 'actus curiae neminem gravabit' which means that the act of court shall prejudice no man. It bears repetition to state that the court's inaction in taking cognizance i.e. court's inaction in applying mind to the suspected offence should not be allowed to cause prejudice to a diligent complainant. Chapter XXXVI thus presents the interplay of these three legal maxims. The provisions of this Chapter, however, are not interpreted solely on the basis of these maxims. They only serve as guiding principles."

(emphasis supplied)

9. The question as to what would be the relevant date for the purpose of computing the period of limitation under Section 468 was answered by the Constitution Bench judgment in the case of Sarah Mathew (supra), as follows:-

"51. In view of the above, we hold that for the purpose of computing the period of limitation under Section 468 CrPC the relevant date is the date of filing of the complaint or the date of institution of prosecution and not the date on which the Magistrate takes cognizance. We further hold that Bharat Kale which is followed in Japani Sahoo lays down the correct law. Krishna Pillai will have to be restricted to its own facts and it is not the authority for deciding the question as to what is the relevant date for the purpose of computing the period of limitation under Section 468 CrPC."

(emphasis supplied)

10. It would also be relevant to refer to the decisions in the case of Bharat Damodar Kale Vs. State of A.P.3, and also in the case of Japani Sahoo Vs. Chandra Sekhar Mohanty4, which were held to have laid down the correct law in the aforementioned decision of the Constitution Bench in the case of Sarah Mathew (supra).

11. The observations made in the case of Bharat Damodar Kale, (supra) that the limitation prescribed under Chapter XXXVI of the Code is only for filing of the complaint or initiation of prosecution and not for taking cognizance, are quoted hereinbelow :-

"10. On facts of this case and based on the arguments advanced before us, we consider it appropriate to decide the question whether the provisions of Chapter XXXVI of the Code apply to the delay in instituting the prosecution or to the delay in taking cognizance. As noted above, according to the learned counsel for the appellants, the limitation prescribed under the above Chapter applies to taking of cognizance by the court concerned, therefore even if a complaint is filed within the period of limitation mentioned in the said Chapter of the Code, if the cognizance is not taken within the period of limitation the same gets barred by limitation. This argument seems to be inspired by the chapter-heading of Chapter XXXVI of the Code which reads thus: "Limitation for taking cognizance of certain offences". It is primarily based on the above language of the heading of the Chapter, the argument is addressed on behalf of the appellants that the limitation prescribed by the said Chapter applies to taking of cognizance and not filing of complaint or initiation of the prosecution. We cannot accept such argument because a cumulative reading of various provisions of the said Chapter clearly indicates that the limitation prescribed therein is only for the filing of the complaint or initiation of the prosecution and not for taking cognizance. It of course prohibits the court from taking cognizance of an offence where the complaint is filed before the court after the expiry of the period mentioned in the said Chapter. This is clear from Section 469 of the Code found in the said Chapter which specifically says that the period of limitation in relation to an offence shall commence either from the date of the offence or from the date when the offence is detected. Section 470 indicates that while computing the period of limitation, time taken during which the case was being diligently prosecuted in another court or in appeal or in revision against the offender should be excluded. The said section also provides in the Explanation that in computing the time required for obtaining the consent or sanction of the Government or any other authority should be excluded. Similarly, the period during which the court was closed will also have to be excluded. All these provisions indicate that the court taking cognizance can take cognizance of an offence the complaint of which is filed before it within the period of limitation prescribed and if need be after excluding such time which is legally excludable. This in our opinion clearly indicates that the limitation prescribed is not for taking cognizance within the period of limitation, but for taking cognizance of an offence in regard to which a complaint is filed or prosecution is initiated beyond the period of limitation prescribed under the Code. Apart from the statutory indication of this view of ours, we find support for this view from the fact that taking of cognizance is an act of the court over which the prosecuting agency or the complainant has no control. Therefore, a complaint filed within the period of limitation under the Code cannot be made infructuous by an act of court. The legal phrase "actus curiae neminem gravabit" which means an act of the court shall prejudice no man, or by a delay on the part of the court neither party should suffer, also supports the view that the legislature could not have intended to put a period of limitation on the act of the court of taking cognizance of an offence so as to defeat the case of the complainant..."

12. The aforementioned view in the case of Bharat Kale (supra) was affirmed and followed in the case of Japani Sahoo (supra) and it was held that the date relevant for computation of period of limitation under Section 468 is the date when the complaint is filed or criminal proceedings are initiated and not the date when the Court/Magistrate takes cognizance or issues process. Applying the doctrine of "actus curiae neminem gravabit", it was held that taking a contrary view would lead to injustice and defeat the primary object of procedural law. The observations made in the judgment in this regard are as follows :-

"47. We are in agreement with the law laid down in Bharat Damodar. In our judgment, the High Court of Bombay was also right in taking into account certain circumstances, such as, filing of complaint by the complainant on the last date of limitation, non availability of Magistrate, or he being busy with other work, paucity of time on the part of the Magistrate/court in applying mind to the allegations levelled in the complaint, postponement of issuance of process by ordering investigation under sub-section (3) of Section 156 or Section 202 of the Code, no control of complainant or prosecuting agency on taking cognizance or issuing process, etc. To us, two things, namely, (1) filing of complaint or initiation of criminal proceedings; and (2) taking cognizance or issuing process are totally different, distinct and independent.

48. So far as complainant is concerned, as soon as he files a complaint in a competent court of law, he has done everything which is required to be done by him at that stage. Thereafter, it is for the Magistrate to consider the matter, to apply his mind and to take an appropriate decision of taking cognizance, issuing process or any other action which the law contemplates. The complainant has no control over those proceedings.

49. Because of several reasons (some of them have been referred to in the aforesaid decisions, which are merely illustrative cases and not exhaustive in nature), it may not be possible for the court or the Magistrate to issue process or take cognizance. But a complainant cannot be penalized for such delay on the part of the court nor can he be non-suited because of failure or omission by the Magistrate in taking appropriate action under the Code. No criminal proceeding can be abruptly terminated when a complainant approaches the court well within the time prescribed by law. In such cases, the doctrine "actus curiae neminem gravabit" (an act of court shall prejudice none) would indeed apply. (Vide Alexander Rodger v. Comptoir D'Escompte.) One of the first and highest duties of all courts is to take care that an act of court does no harm to suitors.

50. T he Code imposes an obligation on the aggrieved party to take recourse to appropriate forum within the period provided by law and once he takes such action, it would be wholly unreasonable and inequitable if he is told that his grievance would not be ventilated as the court had not taken an action within the period of limitation. Such interpretation of law, instead of promoting justice would lead to perpetuate injustice and defeat the primary object of procedural law.

51. The matter can be looked at from different angle also. Once it is accepted (and there is no dispute about it) that it is not within the domain of the complainant or prosecuting agency to take cognizance of an offence or to issue process and the only thing the former can do is to file a complaint or initiate proceedings in accordance with law, if that action of initiation of proceedings has been taken within the period of limitation, the complainant is not responsible for any delay on the part of the court or Magistrate in issuing process or taking cognizance of an offence. Now, if he is sought to be penalized because of the omission, default or inaction on the part of the court or Magistrate, the provision of law may have to be tested on the touchstone of Article 14 of the Constitution. It can possibly be urged that such a provision is totally arbitrary, irrational and unreasonable. It is settled law that a court of law would interpret a provision which would help sustaining the validity of law by applying the doctrine of reasonable construction rather than making it vulnerable and unconstitutional by adopting rule of litera legis. Connecting the provision of limitation in Section 468 of the Code with issuing of process or taking of cognizance by the court may make it unsustainable and ultra vires Article 14 of the Constitution.

52. In view of the above, we hold that for the purpose of computing the period of limitation, the relevant date must be considered as the date of filing of complaint or initiating criminal proceedings and not the date of taking cognizance by a Magistrate or issuance of process by a court. We, therefore, overrule all decisions in which it has been held that the crucial date for computing the period of limitation is taking of cognizance by the Magistrate/court and not of filing of complaint or initiation of criminal proceedings."

13. Learned counsel for the applicant though not disputing the law laid down in the aforesaid authoritative pronouncements on the question of limitation has tried to carve out a distinction by pointing out that in the case at hand the proceedings have been initiated with the lodging of an FIR and not by way of a criminal complaint. The aforesaid contention cannot be accepted for the reason that the view taken in the Constitution Bench decision is that for the purpose of computing the period of limitation under Section 468 Cr.PC. the relevant date is the date of filing of the complaint or the date of institution of prosecution. The expression 'institution of prosecution' would be wide enough to include within its ambit institution of prosecution - either by filing of a complaint or by lodging of an FIR.

14. The 'institution of prosecution' under the Code can be by giving of information relating to commission of a cognizable offence under Section 154, or by lodging a written complaint before the Magistrate. In this regard reference may be had to the decision in the case of Darshan Singh Saini Vs. Sohan Singh and another5, wherein following the law laid down in the case of Sarah Mathew, and noticing the fact that the complainant after repeatedly visiting the police station to lodge his complaint, when the police did not interfere, lodged a written complaint before the Magistrate, within the period of limitation under Section 468, it was held that the bar under the said section would not apply on the basis of cognizance having been taken on a date beyond the prescribed period. The observations made in the judgment, in this regard are as follows :-

"4. It is also apparent from the pleadings of this case, that according to the respondent, the police did not interfere, when the respondent repeatedly visited the police station, to lodge his complaint. It is therefore, that the respondent-Sohan Singh lodged a written complaint on 24-01-2008, before the Learned Additional Chief Judicial Magistrate, Nalagarh, District Solan, Himachal Pradesh.

5. The appellant-Darshan Singh Saini, approached the High Court under Section 482 of the Criminal Procedure Code, when he was summoned by the Judicial Magistrate, First Class, Nalagarh, District Solan, Himachal Pradesh through an order dated 06-02-2009. A perusal of the order dated 06-02-2009 reveals, that the appellant was summoned under Sections 341 and 506, read with Section 34 of the Penal Code, 1860.

6. The High Court, by the impugned order dated 08-04-2010, while partly accepting the prayer of the appellant, quashed the proceedings initiated against the appellant under Sections 341 and 506 of the Penal Code, but arrived at the conclusion, that there was reasonable ground to proceed against the appellant under Section 323 of the Penal Code.

7. It was the vehement contention of the learned counsel for the appellant, that the impugned order passed by the High Court is not acceptable in law, on account of the fact, that cognizance in the matter could not have been taken against the appellant, on account of the period of limitation depicted under Section 468 of the Code of Criminal Procedure. In this behalf, it was the pointed contention of the learned counsel for the appellant, that whilst the instant incident was of 15-01-2008, cognizance thereof was taken on 06.02.2009. This contention of the learned counsel for the appellant was premised on the fact, that though the complaint had been made on 24-01-2008, cognizance thereof was taken beyond a period of limitation of one year(on 06-02-2009).

8. We have considered the aforesaid contention advanced at the hands of the learned counsel for the appellant. It is apparent from the submissions advanced by the learned counsel for the appellant, that he is calculating limitation by extending the same to the order passed by the Judicial Magistrate, First Class, Nalagarh, on 06.02.2009. The instant contention is wholly misconceived on account of the legal position declared by a Constitution Bench of this Court in Sarah Mathew vs. Institute of Cardio Vascular Diseases, wherein in para 51, this Court has held as under : (SCC p.102)

"51. In view of the above, we hold that for the purpose of computing the period of limitation under Section 468 CrPC the relevant date is the date of filing of the complaint or the date of institution of prosecution and not the date on which the Magistrate takes cognizance. We further hold that Bharat Kale which is followed in Japani Sahoo lays down the correct law. Krishna Pillai will have to be restricted to its own facts and it is not the authority for deciding the question as to what is the relevant date for the purpose of computing the period of limitation under Section 468 CrPC."

9. In the above view of the matter, we are satisfied, that keeping in mind the allegations levelled against the appellant by the respondent, the date of limitation had to be determined with reference to the date of incident and the date when the complaint was filed by the respondent. Since the complaint was filed by the respondent on 24-01-2008, with reference to an incident of 15.01.2008, we are of the view, that Section 468 of the Criminal Procedure Code would not stand in the way of the respondent, in prosecuting the complaint filed by him."

15. Reference may also be had to the case of Johnson Alexander Vs. State by C.B.I.6 where the proceedings were held to be vitiated, in view of the bar under Section 468 for the reason that there was no application by the prosecution explaining the delay from the date of the alleged occurrence till the date of filing the complaint and registering the FIR.

16. The aforementioned authorities in the case of Darshan Singh Saini (supra) and Johnson Alexander (supra), would go to show that 'institution of prosecution' would refer to the date of filing of the complaint or registering of the FIR, and in a case where the same is within the period of limitation, proceedings cannot be held to be barred by Section 468 merely for the reason that the order of cognizance or issuance of process is made on a subsequent date.

17. Thus, the view taken in the judgments in the case of Bharat Damodar Kale (supra), Japani Sahoo (supra) and Sarah Mathew (supra) to the effect that for the purpose of computing the period of limitation under Section 468 of the Code the relevant date is the date of 'institution of prosecution' and not the date on which the Magistrate takes cognizance, is primarily for the reason that so far as the complainant/informant is concerned, as soon as he files a complaint, he has done everything which is required to be done by him and thereafter he has no control over the proceedings or the delay in taking cognizance which may be for reasons which are systemic or otherwise cannot be a ground to non-suit a diligent complainant. The aforesaid reason, would also be applicable where the case is instituted with the lodging of an FIR by the informant/complainant diligently and within the period of limitation. In this situation also the complainant/informant cannot be non-suited for any subsequent delay in taking cognizance, issuing process or any other action contemplated under law, for which the informant/complainant has no control.

18. Recently Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Amritlal v. Shantilal Soni7 has held as under :-

Therefore, the enunciations and declaration of law by the Constitution Bench do not admit of any doubt that for the purpose of computing the period of limitation under Section 468 CrPC, the relevant date is the date of filing of the complaint or the date of institution of prosecution and not the date on which the Magistrate takes cognizance of the offence. The High Court has made a fundamental error in assuming that the date of taking cognizance i.e., 04.12.2012 is decisive of the matter, while ignoring the fact that the written complaint was indeed filed by the appellant on 10.07.2012, well within the period of limitation of 3 years with reference to the date of commission of offence i.e., 04.10.2009.

19. Adverting to the facts of the present case, it is not disputed that the date of alleged incident mentioned in the N.C.R. bearing No.19/2013 is 09.03.2013 at 17:30 Hours. The said N.C.R. was lodged on the same day i.e. on 09.03.2013 itself. Therefore, in the aforesaid view of the matter, this Court does not find any substance in the argument of learned counsel for the applicant that since the charge sheet came to be filed after a lapse of five years, three months and fourteen days from the date of registration of NCR and the same was barred by limitation and no cognizance on the basis thereof could have been taken.

20. As referred above, the charge sheet under Sections 323 and 504 I.P.C. was submitted by the Investigating Officer upon conclusion of investigation after collecting the credible evidence, therefore, the learned trial Court has rightly taken cognizance of this case and directed the same to be treated as a complaint case keeping in view the provisions contained in Section 2(d) Cr.P.C.

21 . In view of the aforesaid discussion, this Court does not find any illegality, impropriety and incorrectness in the proceedings under challenge. There is no abuse of court's process either.

22. The instant application under Section 482 Cr.P.C. lacks merit, which deserves to dismissed and the same is hereby, dismissed, accordingly.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Brij Raj Singh, J.)

1. Heard Sri Paavan Awasthi, learned counsel for the applicant, Sri Tilak Raj Singh, the learned A.G.A. for the State.

2. The present application U/s 482 Cr.P.C. has been filed with a prayer to quash the proceedings of Complaint Case No. 3219 of 2018 (Satya Prakash Singh Vs. Vijay Kumar Banka and Others), under Sections 406, 420 I.P.C., pending in the court of Chief Judicial Magistrate, Lucknow, with a further prayer to stay the operation and implementation of the order dated 25.03.2022 passed in the aforesaid complaint case.

3. The facts of the case are that Satya Prakash Singh, the complainant filed an application under Section 156(3) Cr.P.C. before C.J.M. Lucknow making allegation that he was looking for a plot in Lucknow measuring an area of 100 sq. ft. and in that regard he met the applicant along with his associates Rajendra Prasad Chaudhary, Pawan Kumar Sharma, Suddhakar Singh and Raghvendra Singh. The complainant mentioned in the application that he was shown a plot in Tiwari Ganj and was informed that the cost of the plot is Rs.4,50,000/- plus registry expenses and that half of the total amount is required to be deposited in cash and remaining half to be paid as per the convenience of the complainant. It is stated in the complainant that he deposited Rs.2,00,000/- in cash with the applicant and sought 15 days' time to pay the remaining amount. Thereafter, the complainant was contacted by the applicant prior to 15 days' and he was asked to deposit the remaining amount within four days with an instruction that in case of non-payment of remaining amount within four days, the applicants will sell the plot to some other person/customer. The complainant enquired about the plot situate in Tiwari Ganj and he was informed that the plot which was shown to the complainant was not belonging to the applicant, namely, Vijay Kumar Banka.

4. The complainant requested the applicants to refund the amount already deposited by him but the applicant and his associates visited the house of the complainant and offered him another plot situate at different location. As per the complaint, the complainant rejected their offer and asked them to refund the advance of Rs.2,00,000/- paid by him. The applicant and his associates gave assurance to refund the amount and therefore many times the complainant requested to refund the amount on phone but the amount was not refunded back.

5. Fueling the apathy of the complainant that even on repeated request the money was not refunded to him and one day the petitioner and his associates came to the house of the complainant with weapons, abused the complainant and threatened him to kill and refused to refund the money. It is also mentioned in the complaint that the complainant made a report to the concerned police station but his report was not lodged. Thereafter, he also made a complaint to Superintendent of Police, Lucknow but that too in vain. The application under Section 156(3) Cr.P.C. was treated as complaint.

6. The statement of the complainant was recorded under Section 200 Cr.P.C. and he supported the version of the complaint. The statements of Purnamasi Sharma & Mr. Brajendra Kumar, the witnesses of the case, were recorded under Section 202 Cr.P.C. They also supported the statements of fact narrated by the complainant.

7. On the basis of the statement of the complainant recorded under Section 200 Cr.P.C., the Chief Judicial Magistrate, Lucknow passed the impugned order on 25.03.2022, by which the applicant has been summoned under Sections 406, 420 I.P.C. which is being challenged by the applicant in the present application.

8. Counsel for the applicant has submitted that the entire allegation is completely vague and fictitious and no offence as such is made out against the applicant. Counsel for the applicant has submitted that the false and concocted complainant has been filed just to harass and blackmail the applicant and that too after a delay of more than eight years. Counsel for the applicant has further submitted that while issuing summons, the Magistrate committed error and the legal course of Section 202(1) Cr.P.C. has not been followed. According to his argument, as the Section 202(1) Cr.P.C. provides, the Magistrate is required to postpone issuance of process where the accused is residing at a place beyond the area in which he exercises his jurisdiction and shall enquire into the case himself or directs the investigation to be made by a police officer or by such other person as he thinks fit for the purposes of deciding whether or not there is sufficient ground for proceeding. Counsel for the applicant has vehemently argued that the petitioner is a resident of Gorakhpur but while summoning the applicant enquiry under Section 202(1) Cr.P.C. has not been conducted by the court below and without doing enquiry and investigation by police the impugned order has been passed which is wholly illegal. Counsel for the applicant in support of his submissions/arguments has relied upon the following judgments. [I] Abhijit Pawar Vs. Hemant Madhukar Nimbalkar and Another reported in (2017) 3 SCC 528; [II] Birla Corporation Limited Vs. Adventz Investments and Holdings Limited and Others reported in (2019) 16 SCC 610; [III] Kishan Singh (Dead) Through Lrs. Vs. Gurpal Singh and Others reported in (2010) 8 SCC 775 and [IV] Pawan Kumar Yadav and Others Vs. State of U.P. and Another reported in 2013 SCC OnLine All 13108.

9. On the other hand, Sri Tilak Raj Singh, learned A.G.A. has submitted before this Court that a detailed complaint was filed by the complainant and the statements under Sections 200 and 202 Cr.P.C. of the complainant as well as the witnesses were considered and examined, thereafter summons have been issued. Learned A.G.A. has submitted that in the impugned order, the Chief Judicial Magistrate, Lucknow has applied his mind and while exercising his power, he has discussed the case of complaint in nut shell and thereafter summons have been issued. He has further submitted that the provision of Section 202 Cr.P.C. has been followed while issuing the process against the accused because the Magistrate had got three options: (I) firstly, in case the accused is residing in other jurisdiction of the Magistrate, he will enquire by himself; (ii) secondly, or with the help of police and (iii) thirdly, in any other manner. Sri Singh, the learned A.G.A. has vehemently argued that the Magistrate has applied the first procedure and he himself has enquired about the factum of the case and once the order is speaking and his satisfaction is based on material, this is the enquiry done by the Magistrate because the Magistrate has no other option to enquire about the accused who is residing outside his jurisdiction, he has chosen the first procedure of enquiry that was done by him himself.

10. Now, I have to see the procedure of Section 202 Cr.P.C. as well as the various judgments relied upon by the counsel. In this regard, provisions of Section 202 Cr.P.C. is relavant to be seen which is quoted below:

"202. Postponement of issue of process.-(1) Any Magistrate, on receipt of a complaint of an offence of which he is authorised to take cognizance or which has been made over to him under section 192, may, if he thinks fit, and shall, in a case where the accused is residing at a place beyond the area in which he exercises his jurisdiction postpone the issue of process against the accused, and either inquire into the case himself or direct an investigation to be made by a police officer or by such other person as he thinks fit, for the purpose of deciding whether or not there is sufficient ground for proceeding:

Provided that no such direction for investigation shall be made-

(a) where it appears to the Magistrate that the offence complained of is triable exclusively by the Court of Session; or

(b) where the complaint has not been made by a Court, unless the complainant and the witnesses present (if any) have been examined on oath under Section 200.

(2) In an inquiry under sub-section(1), the Magistrate may, if he thinks fit, take evidence of witnesses on oath:

Provided that if it appears to the Magistrate that the offence complained of is triable exclusively by the court of Session, he shall call upon the complainant to produce all his witnesses and examine them on oath.

(3) If an investigation under sub-section(1) is made by a person not being a police officer, he shall have for that investigation all the powers conferred by this Code on an officer in charge of a police station except the power to arrest without warrant."

11. Counsel for the applicant Sri Paavan Awasthi has relied upon a judgment rendered by Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Vijay Dhanuka and Others Vs. Najima Mamtaj and Others reported in MANU/SC.0251/2014 and had drawn the attention of the Court to para -14 of the said judgment, which is quoted below:

"14. It is evident from the aforesaid provision, every inquiry other than a trial conducted by the Magistrate or Court is an inquiry. No specific mode or manner of inquiry is provided under Section 202 of the Code. In the inquiry envisaged under Section 202 of the Code, the witnesses are examined whereas under Section 200 of the Code, examination of the complainant only is necessary with the option of examining the witnesses present, if any. This exercise by the Magistrate, for the purpose of deciding whether or not there is sufficient ground for proceeding against the accused, is nothing but any inquiry envisaged under Section 202 of the Code. In the present case, as we have stated earlier, the Magistrate has examined the complainant on solemn affirmation and the two witnesses and only thereafter he had directed for issuance of process."

12. Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Vijay Dhanuka (supra) has observed that no specific mode or manner of inquiry is provided under Section 202 of the Code. The court below is obliged to inquire into the case by examining the complainant as well as other witnesses and their statements. It has observed that the court has to proceed on the basis of the material available and if it is found that there is sufficient material, the court can issue process.

13. Sri Awasthi, counsel for the applicant has further relied upon a judgment rendered in Abhijit Pawar Vs. Hemant Madhukar Nimbalkar and Another reported in (2017) 3 SCC 528 and has relied upon the relevant paragraphs 24 and 25, which paras are extracted hereinbelow:

"24. The essence and purpose of this amendment has been captured by this Court in Vijay Dhanuka v. Najima Mamtaj in the following words: (SCC p. 644, paras 11-12)

"11. Section 202 of the Code, inter alia, contemplates postponement of the issue of the process "in a case where the accused is residing at a place beyond the area in which he exercises his jurisdiction' and thereafter to either inquire into the case by himself or direct an investigation to be made by a police officer or by such other person as he thinks fit. In the face of it, what needs our determination is as to whether in a case where the accused is residing at a place beyond the area in which the Magistrate exercises his jurisdiction, inquiry is mandatory or not.

12. The words "and shall, in a case where the accused is residing at a place beyond the area in which he exercises his jurisdiction' were inserted by Section 19 of the Code of Criminal Procedure (Amendment) Act (Central Act 25 of 2005) w.e.f. 23-6-2006. The aforesaid amendment, in the opinion of the legislature, was essential as false complaints are filed against persons residing at far off places in order to harass them. The note for the amendment reads as follows:

"False complaints are filed against persons residing at far off places simply to harass them. In order to see that innocent persons are not harassed by unscrupulous persons, this clause seeks to amend sub-section (1) of Section 202 to make it obligatory upon the Magistrate that before summoning the accused residing beyond his jurisdiction he shall enquire into the case himself or direct investigation to be made by a police officer or by such other person as he thinks fit, for finding out whether or not there was sufficient ground for proceeding against the accused.'

The use of the expression "shall" prima facie makes the inquiry or the investigation, as the case may be, by the Magistrate mandatory. The word "shall" is ordinarily mandatory but sometimes, taking into account the context or the intention, it can be held to be directory. The use of the word "shall" in all circumstances is not decisive. Bearing in mind the aforesaid principle, when we look to the intention of the legislature, we find that it is aimed to prevent innocent persons from harassment by unscrupulous persons from false complaints. Hence, in our opinion, the use of the expression "shall" and the background and the purpose for which the amendment has been brought, we have no doubt in our mind that inquiry or the investigation, as the case may be, is mandatory before summons are issued against the accused living beyond the territorial jurisdiction of the Magistrate."

25. For this reason, the amended provision casts an obligation on the Magistrate to apply his mind carefully and satisfy himself that the allegations in the complaint, when considered along with the statements recorded or the enquiry conducted thereon, would prima facie constitute the offence for which the complaint is filed. This requirement is emphasised by this Court in a recent judgment Mehmood Ul Rehman Vs. Khazir Mohammad Tunda (2015) 12 SCC 420 in the following words: (SCC pp.429-30, paras 20 & 22)

"20. The extensive reference to the case law would clearly show that cognizance of an offence on complaint is taken for the purpose of issuing process to the accused. Since it is a process of taking judicial notice of certain facts which constitute an offence, there has to be application of mind as to whether the allegations in the complaint, when considered along with the statements recorded or the inquiry conducted thereon, would constitute violation of law so as to call a person to appear before the criminal court. It is not a mechanical process or matter of course. As held by this Court in Pepsi Foods Ltd. [Pepsi Foods Ltd. v. Judicial Magistrate, (1998) 5 SCC 749 to set in motion the process of criminal law against a person is a serious matter.

22. The steps taken by the Magistrate under Section 190(1)(a) CrPC followed by Section 204 CrPC should reflect that the Magistrate has applied his mind to the facts and the statements and he is satisfied that there is ground for proceeding further in the matter by asking the person against whom the violation of law is alleged, to appear before the court. The satisfaction on the ground for proceeding would mean that the facts alleged in the complaint would constitute an offence, and when considered along with the statements recorded, would, prima facie, make the accused answerable before the court. No doubt, no formal order or a speaking order is required to be passed at that stage. The Code of Criminal Procedure requires speaking order to be passed under Section 203 CrPC when the complaint is dismissed and that too the reasons need to be stated only briefly. In other words, the Magistrate is not to act as a post office in taking cognizance of each and every complaint filed before him and issue process as a matter of course. There must be sufficient indication in the order passed by the Magistrate that he is satisfied that the allegations in the complaint constitute an offence and when considered along with the statements recorded and the result of inquiry or report of investigation under Section 202 CrPC, if any, the accused is answerable before the criminal court, there is ground for proceeding against the accused under Section 204 CrPC, by issuing process for appearance. The application of mind is best demonstrated by disclosure of mind on the satisfaction. If there is no such indication in a case where the Magistrate proceeds under Sections 190/204 CrPC, the High Court under Section 482 CrPC is bound to invoke its inherent power in order to prevent abuse of the power of the criminal court. To be called to appear before the criminal court as an accused is serious matter affecting one's dignity, self-respect and image in society. Hence, the process of criminal court shall not be made a weapon of harassment."

14. A perusal of the aforesaid extract shows that while exercising power for issuance of process in complaint case, the court has got three options (I) either the court will call report from the police concerned; (ii) or he will inquire himself; (iii) or by such other person as he thinks fit. In the present case the Magistrate himself has examined the case and has issued the summons. He has to apply his mind carefully by considering the statement of the complainant as well as the witnesses.

15. He has further relief upon paras 31 to 35 of the judgment rendered in Birla Corporation Limited Vs. Adventz Investments and Holdings Limited and Others reported in (2019) 16 SCC 610, which is quoted below:

30. Under the amended sub-section (1) to Section 202 Cr.P.C., it is obligatory upon the Magistrate that before summoning the accused residing beyond its jurisdiction, he shall enquire into the case himself or direct the investigation to be made by a police officer or by such other person as he thinks fit for finding out whether or not there is sufficient ground for proceeding against the accused.

31. By Code of Criminal Procedure (Amendment) Act, 2005, in Section 202 Cr.P.C. of the Principal Act with effect from 23.06.2006, in sub-section (1), the words "...and shall, in a case where accused is residing at a place beyond the area in which he exercises jurisdiction..."

were inserted by Section 19 of the Criminal Procedure Code (Amendment) Act, 2005. In the opinion of the legislature, such amendment was necessary as false complaints are filed against persons residing at far off places in order to harass them. The object of the amendment is to ensure that persons residing at far off places are not harassed by filing false complaints making it obligatory for the Magistrate to enquire. Notes on Clause 19 reads as under:-

"False complaints are filed against persons residing at far off places simply to harass them. In order to see that the innocent persons are not harassed by unscrupulous persons, this clause seeks to amend sub-section (1) of Section 202 to make it obligatory upon the Magistrate that before summoning the accused residing beyond his jurisdiction he shall enquire into the case himself or direct investigation to be made by a police officer or by such other person as he thinks fit, for finding out whether or not there was sufficient ground for proceeding against the accused."

32. Considering the scope of amendment to Section 202 Cr.P.C., in Vijay Dhanuka and Others v. Najima Mamtaj and Others (2014) 14 SCC 638, it was held as under:-

"12. ....The use of the expression "shall" prima facie makes the inquiry or the investigation, as the case may be, by the Magistrate mandatory. The word "shall" is ordinarily mandatory but sometimes, taking into account the context or the intention, it can be held to be directory. The use of the word "shall" in all circumstances is not decisive. Bearing in mind the aforesaid principle, when we look to the intention of the legislature, we find that it is aimed to prevent innocent persons from harassment by unscrupulous persons from false complaints. Hence, in our opinion, the use of the expression "shall" and the background and the purpose for which the amendment has been brought, we have no doubt in our mind that inquiry or the investigation, as the case may be, is mandatory before summons are issued against the accused living beyond the territorial jurisdiction of the Magistrate."

Since the amendment is aimed to prevent persons residing outside the jurisdiction of the court from being harassed, it was reiterated that holding of enquiry is mandatory. The purpose or objective behind the amendment was also considered by this Court in Abhijit Pawar v. Hemant Madhukar Nimbalkar and Another (2017) 3 SCC 528 and National Bank of Oman v. Barakara Abdul Aziz and Another (2013) 2 SCC 488.

33. The order of the Magistrate summoning the accused must reflect that he has applied his mind to the facts of the case and the law applicable thereto. The application of mind has to be indicated by disclosure of mind on the satisfaction.

Considering the duties on the part of the Magistrate for issuance of summons to the accused in a complaint case and that there must be sufficient indication as to the application of mind and observing that the Magistrate is not to act as a post office in taking cognizance of the complaint, in Mehmood Ul Rehman, (2015) 12 SCC 420, this Court held as under:-

"22. ....the Code of Criminal Procedure requires speaking order to be passed under Section 203 Cr.P.C. when the complaint is dismissed and that too the reasons need to be stated only briefly. In other words, the Magistrate is not to act as a post office in taking cognizance of each and every complaint filed before him and issue process as a matter of course. There must be sufficient indication in the order passed by the Magistrate that he is satisfied that the allegations in the complaint constitute an offence and when considered along with the statements recorded and the result of inquiry or report of investigation under Section 202 Cr.P.C., if any, the accused is answerable before the criminal court, there is ground for proceeding against the accused under Section 204 Cr.P.C., by issuing process for appearance. The application of mind is best demonstrated by disclosure of mind on the satisfaction. If there is no such indication in a case where the Magistrate proceeds under Sections 190/204 Cr.P.C., the High Court under Section 482 Cr.PC. is bound to invoke its inherent power in order to prevent abuse of the power of the criminal court. To be called to appear before the criminal court as an accused is serious matter affecting one's dignity, self-respect and image in society. Hence, the process of criminal court shall not be made a weapon of harassment."

(emphasis supplied)

16. Birla Corporation Ltd. (supra) has also pronounced the same dictum and the Magistrate has to satisfy himself after considering the statements of the complainant as well as witnesses and thereafter forming opinion whether offence is made out or not. In case the offence is not made out, he would drop the proceeding and if he comes to a conclusion that material constitute offence against the accused, he has to issue the process.

17. Reliance is also placed on the judgment rendered in Pawan Kumar Yadav and Others Vs. State of U.P. and Another and more emphatically on Paras 12, 13, 14 and 15, which are extracted hereinbelow:

"12.The question for consideration before this Court is;

While discharging its obligation under this mandatory provision court how to act?

13. The perusal of provision give discretion to Magistrate either to enquire into the case himself or direct investigation to be made by a police officer or by such other person as he thinks fit. The enquiry contemplated prior to insertion of this provision was limited to the ascertainment of truth or falsehood of the allegations made in the complaint:

(i) on the materials placed by the complainant before the court;

(ii) for the limited purpose of finding out whether a prima facie case for issue of process has been made out; and

(iii) for deciding the question purely from the point of view of the complainant without at all averting to any defence that the accused may have.

14. The insertion of provision was intended to put a safe guard to those proposed accused who are not residing in the territorial jurisdiction of the Court. The legislature found that false complaints are filed against persons residing at far off places simply to harass them. In order to see that innocent persons are not harassed by unscrupulous persons, this clause seeks to amend sub-section (1) of Section 202 to make it obligatory upon the Magistrate that before summoning the accused residing beyond his jurisdiction he shall enquire into the case himself or direct investigation to be made by a police officer or by such other person as he thinks fit, for finding out whether or not there was sufficient ground for proceeding against the accused.

15. To fulfil the intention of statute the Magistrate before issuing process after invoking this provision should satisfy himself that the complaint filed against the person residing out side jurisdiction of the court is not for his harassment. How the Magistrate satisfy himself must reflect from proceedings conducted by him. Therefore, a conscious decision has to be taken. Specific order is required to be passed regarding postponement of issuing process and for initiation of enquiry either by himself or ordering investigation, as the case may be. If the Magistrate decided to enquire himself he should put necessary questions with the witnesses and also to the complainant, like; identity of accused, acquaintance of complainant and witness with the accused, relationship in between accused and complainant and in between complaint and witnesses etc."

18. Pawan Kumar Yadav (supra) is based on same analogy. As per the this judgment, the court has to proceed in accordance with the provisions of Section 202(1) Cr.P.C. and while summoning the accused who is living beyond his jurisdiction, he shall inquire either himself or direct investigation to be made by a police officer or by such other persons as he thinks fit for finding out whether or not there was sufficient ground for proceeding against the accused. The Magistrate while exercising his power under Section 202(1) Cr.P.C. if he chooses to inquire himself about the person residing beyond his jurisdiction then he has to take a conscious decision which should be based on material available on record by a speaking order.

19. Further reliance was placed upon the judgment rendered in Kishan Singh (Dead) Through Lrs. Vs. Gurpal Singh and Others and the relevant para 22 is quoted below:

"22. In cases where there is a delay in lodging an FIR, the court has to look for a plausible explanation for such delay. In the absence of such an explanation, the delay may be fatal. The reason for quashing such proceedings may not be merely that the allegations were an afterthought or had given a coloured version of events. In such cases the court should carefully examine the facts before it for the reason that a frustrated litigant who failed to succeed before the civil court may initiate criminal proceedings just to harass the other side with mala fide intentions or the ulterior motive of wreaking vengeance on the other party. Chagrined and frustrated litigants should not be permitted to give vent to their frustrations by cheaply invoking the jurisdiction of the criminal court. The court proceedings ought not to be permitted to degenerate into a weapon of harassment and persecution. In such a case, where an FIR is lodged clearly with a view to spite the other party because of a private and personal grudge and to enmesh the other party in long and arduous criminal proceedings, the court may take a view that it amounts to an abuse of the process of law in the facts and circumstances of the case. (Vide Chandrapal Singh v. Maharaj Singh (1982) 1 SCC 466; State of Haryana v. Bhajan Lal 1992 Supp (1) SCC 335; G. Sagar Suri v. State of U.P. (2000) 2 SCC 636; and Gorige Pentaiah v. State of A.P. (2008) 12 SCC 531.

20. In the case of Kishan Singh (supra), the point of delay has been considered wherein it is provided that frustrated litigants should not be permitted to give vent to their frustrations by cheaply invoking the jurisdiction of the criminal court. The proceeding for harassment should not be allowed after long delay. In the present case, the complaint indicates that complainant had advanced money for purchasing a plot and the plot which was shown to him by the applicant was not given to him and the complainant was cheated by applicant. The complainant requested the applicant that the money advanced by him be returned to him but the complainant was threatened and was asked not to demand the money.

21. I have considered the argument advanced by both parties and have gone through the judgment relied upon carefully. I come to a conclusion that while issuing process the court has applied his mind. The court has observed that the complainant - Satya Prakash Singh was examined under Section 200 Cr.P.C. who submitted that the applicant had come to his house along with co-accused Ram Khiladi Yadav and Pawan Kumar Sharma, on 15.12.2010 and took Rs.2,00,000/-. They had further asked the complainant to deposit Rs.2,00,000/- in an account of S.B.I. Bank. When he met the applicant to provide the plot he stated that his partnership had come to an end and he will provide plot to some other site, on which the complainant asked that he will not take plot on other site and he requested to refund his mind. Thereafter, the applicant disappeared. When the complainant filed complaint to police, the applicant consulted him. The complainant requested the applicant to refund his money but the applicant did not return the same. The applicant and the other co-accused intimidated the complainant and asked him not to raise voice for refund of money and keep his mouth shut. The statements of witnesses, namely, Purnamasi Sharma and Brajendra Kumar under Sections 200 Cr.P.C. was also recorded before the court which was also seen and taken into account by the court along with the aforesaid contents of the complaint. The process has been issued after getting satisfaction by the court. It cannot be said that the order is non-speaking rather it has been passed after recording the satisfaction based on the statement under Sections 200/201 Cr.P.C.

22. While court exercises it power under Section 202(1) Cr.P.C., he has opted to inquire the case by himself. In the present case if the Magistrate has proceeded himself then what is the mode by which he can get satisfaction regarding accused residing outside the territorial jurisdiction of the Magistrate. The Magistrate while exercising his power under Section 204 Cr.P.C., has to see the material available on record filed by the complainant. In the present case the statement of the complainant was recorded under Section 200 Cr.P.C. which was available to the court. Thereafter the statements under Section 202 Cr.P.C. of the witnesses were also available before the court. He has discussed the statements of the complainant supported by the statements of the witnesses under Section 202 Cr.P.C. and therefore the part of inquiry is complete. It cannot be said that he has not made inquiry. While issuing the process under Section 204 Cr.P.C., he has discussed the evidences of the complainant supported by the witnesses, thus he has not committed any error.

23. In view of the aforesaid discussion, I am of the opinion that the order passed by the court below needs no interference. The application is consequently dismissed.

1. Shri Mohd. Imran Khan, Advocate, has filed vakalatnama on behalf of opposite party No. 2, which is taken on record.

2. Heard Shri Sameer Singh, the learned counsel for applicant, Dr. Gyan Singh, the learned A.G.A. for the State as well as Shri Mohd. Imran Khan, the learned counsel for the opposite party No. 2 and perused the record.

3. This application under Section 482 Cr.P.C. has been filed with the prayer to quash the entire proceeding of Case Crime No. 0050 of 2020, under Sections 498-A, 323, 504, 506 I.P.C., Police Station Mahila Thana, District Lucknow as well as charge sheet dated 25.02.2021 and summoning order dated 01.11.2021 passed by learned Civil Judge (J.D.) F.T.C. Court No. 50, District Lucknow.

4. Learned counsel for the applicant submits that in compliance of the order dated 19.09.2022 passed by a coordinate Bench of this Court in Application under Section 482 Cr.P.C. No. 6426 of 2022, the applicant filed compromise deed dated 09.09.2022 before the court of learned Civil Judge (Junior Division)/ Judicial Magisytrate, F.T.C., Lucknow and the concerned court vide its order dated 27.09.2022 verified the said compromise in presence of the applicant and opposite party no. 2, copy of which is annexed as Annexure-3 to the affidavit filed in support of the present application.

5. Learned counsel for the opposite party No. 2 submits that his client is not interested to contest the case.

6. Learned A.G.A. has submitted that since parties have entered into compromise, which has also been verified by the court below, therefore, no useful purpose would be served if the proceedings of the aforesaid case go on further.

7. Learned counsel for the parties has drawn attention of this Court and placed reliance on the following judgments of Hon'ble Apex Court in support of their case.

(i) B.S. Joshi Vs. State of Haryana & Others 2003 (4) ACC 675.

(ii) Gian Singh Vs. State of Punjab 2012 (10) SCC 303.

(iii) Dimpey Gujral And Others Vs. Union Territory Through Administrator 2013 (11) SCC 697.

(iv) Narendra Singh And Others Vs. State of Punjab And Others 2014 (6) SCC 466.

(v) Yogendra Yadav And Others Vs. State of Jharkhand 2014 (9) SCC 653.

8. Summarizing the ratio of all the above cases the latest judgment pronounced by Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of Parbatbhai Aahir @ Parbatbhai

Bhimsinhbhai Karmur & Ors. Vs. State of Gujarat & Anr,; reported in (2017) 9 SCC 641 and in paragraph no.16, the Hon'ble Apex Court has summarized the broad principles with regard to exercise of powers under Section 482 Cr.P.C. in the case of compromise/settlement between the parties which emerges from precedent of the subjects as follows:-

i. "Section 482 preserves the inherent powers of the High Court to prevent an abuse of the process of any court or to secure the ends of justice. The provision does not confer new powers. It only recognizes and preserves powers which inhere in the High Court.

ii.The invocation of the jurisdiction of the High Court to quash a First Information Report or a criminal proceeding on the ground that a settlement has been arrived at between the offender and the victim is not the same as the invocation of jurisdiction for the purpose of compounding an offence. While compounding an offence, the power of the court is governed by the provisions of Section 320 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973. The power to quash under Section 482 is attracted even if the offence is non-compoundable.

iii. In forming an opinion whether a criminal proceeding or complaint should be quashed in exercise of its jurisdiction under Section 482, the High Court must evaluate whether the ends of justice would justify the exercise of the inherent power;

iv. While the inherent power of the High Court has a wide ambit and plenitude it has to be exercised; (i) to secure the ends of justice or (ii) to prevent an abuse of the process of any court;

v. The decision as to whether a complaint or First Information Report should be quashed on the ground that the offender and victim have settled the dispute, revolves ultimately on the facts and circumstances of each case and no exhaustive elaboration of principles can be formulated;

vi. In the exercise of the power under Section 482 and while dealing with a plea that the dispute has been settled, the High Court must have due regard to the nature and gravity of the offence. Heinous and serious offences involving mental depravity or offences such as murder, rape and dacoity cannot appropriately be quashed though the victim or the family of the victim have settled the dispute. Such offences are truly speaking not private in nature but have a serious impact upon society. The decision to continue with the trial in such cases is founded on the overriding element of public interest in punishing persons for serious offences;

vii. As distinguished from serious offences, there may be criminal cases which have an overwhelming or predominant element of a civil dispute. They stand on a distinct footing in so far as the exercise of the inherent power to quash is concerned;

viii. Criminal cases involving offences which arises from commercial, financial, mercantile, partnership or similar transactions with an essentially civil flavour may in appropriate situations fall for quashing where parties have settled the dispute;

ix. In such a case, the High Court may quash the criminal proceeding if in view of the compromise between the disputants, the possibility of a conviction is remote and the continuation of a criminal proceeding would cause oppression and prejudice; and

x. There is yet an exception to the principle set out in propositions (viii) and (ix) above. Economic offences involving the financial and economic well-being of the state have implications which lie beyond the domain of a mere dispute between private disputants. The High Court would be justified in declining to quash where the offender is involved in an activity akin to a financial or economic fraud or misdemeanour. The consequences of the act complained of upon the financial or economic system will weigh in the balance."

9. The Apex Court has also laid down the guidelines where the criminal proceedings could be interfered and quashed in exercise of its power by the High Court in the following cases:-(i) R.P. Kapoor Vs. State of Punjab, AIR 1960 S.C. 866, (ii) State of Haryana Vs. Bhajanlal, 1992 SCC (Crl.)426, (iii) State of Bihar Vs. P.P. Sharma, 1992 SCC (Crl.)192 and (iv) Zandu Pharmaceutical Works Ltd. Vs. Mohd. Saraful Haq and another, (Para-10) 2005 SCC (Cri.) 283.

10. From the aforesaid decisions the Apex Court has settled the legal position for quashing of the proceedings at the initial stage. The test to be applied by the court is to whether uncontroverted allegation as made prima facie establishes the offence and the chances of ultimate conviction is bleak and no useful purpose is likely to be served by allowing criminal proceedings to be continue. In S.W. Palankattkar & others Vs. State of Bihar, 2002 (44) ACC 168, it has been held by the Hon'ble Apex Court that quashing of the criminal proceedings is an exception than a rule. The inherent powers of the High Court under Section 482 Cr.P.C itself envisages three circumstances under which the inherent jurisdiction may be exercised:-(i) to give effect an order under the Code, (ii) to prevent abuse of the process of the court ; (iii) to otherwise secure the ends of justice. The power of High Court is very wide but should be exercised very cautiously to do real and substantial justice for which the court alone exists.

11. With the assistance of the aforesaid guidelines, keeping in view the nature and gravity and the severity of the offence which are more particularly is private dispute and differences it is deem proper and meet to the ends of justice. The proceeding of the aforementioned case be quashed.

12. The present 482 Cr.P.C. application stands allowed. Keeping in view the law laid down by the Hon'ble Apex Court in the above referred judgment and in view of the statement/compromise made by the applicant as well as opposite party no.2 and the observation made above, the entire proceedings of Case Crime No. 0050 of 2020, under Sections 498-A, 323, 504, 506 I.P.C., Police Station Mahila Thana, District Lucknow, are hereby quashed.

13. The party shall file computer generated copy of such order downloaded from the official website of High Court Allahabad or certified copy issued from the Registry of the High Court, Allahabad.

14. The concerned Court/Authority/ Official shall verify the authenticity of such computerized copy of the order from the official website of High Court Allahabad and shall make a declaration of such verification in writing.

No abuse of court's process. (Para -12,13)

2. Rajbir Singh Vs St. of U.P., AIR 2006 SC 1963

(Delivered by Hon'ble Ajai Kumar Srivastava-I, J.)

1. Heard learned counsel for the applicant and learned A.G.A. for the State.

2. In view of the order proposed to be passed, notice to the opposite party no.2 is dispensed with.

3. The instant application under Section 482 Cr.P.C. has been filed for quashing the impugned order dated 29.08.2022 passed by learned Additional Sessions Judge-7, Sultanpur, whereby the application of the applicant under Section 227 Cr.P.C. bearing No.8Kha has been rejected in Sessions Trial No.707/2021 "State vs. Om Prakash Maurya and others" in F.I.R. No.424 of 2020, under Sections 323, 324, 504, 506, 308, 304 I.P.C., Police Station Jamo, District Amethi.

4. It is submitted by learned counsel for the applicant that false first information report came to be lodged against the applicant inter alia stating therein that he along with other accused persons assaulted the injured person and thereafter they fled away from the spot. His further submission is that in fact, due to some injuries in his leg, the applicant was operated and a steel plate was filled in his leg, due to which, hewas unable to move swiftly. Therefore, this fact itself belies the entire prosecution story that the applicant after allegedly assaulting the deceased ran away from the spot. The learned trial Court failed to appreciate this material aspect of the matter and wrongly held that there was enough material available on record to frame charge. Even otherwise, no material could be collected during investigation which warrants framing of charge against the applicant.

5. In view of the aforesaid, it is further submitted by learned counsel for the applicant that in view of the aforesaid, the impugned order being palpably illegal deserves to be set aside and a direction needs to be issued to learned court below to reconsider the matter afresh.

6. Per contra, learned A.G.A. has vehemently opposed the prayer by submitting that in fact the first information report came to be lodged by the first informant/opposite party no.2 bearing no.0424 of 2020 dated 28.11.2020 at 20:31 Hrs. under Sections 323, 324, 504, 506, 308, 304 I.P.C. against three accused persons including the present applicant. It has been stated in the first information report that on 28.11.2020 at about 7 :00 P.M. when the first informant along with his uncle were returning to their home after buying some household articles, they were assaulted by accused persons, who nourished grudge against the first informant and his uncle due to property dispute. In this incident, injured, Surya Lal was assaulted by lathi, danda and knife, who was taken to hospital for medical treatment.

7. Learned A.G.A. has also pointed out that afterwards, injured, Surya Lal succumbed to his injures which led to offence of Section 302 I.P.C. in this matter. Therefore, he submits that at this stage, according to settled legal position availability of prima facie material warranting framing of charge against the applicant is enough. No roving or meticulous enquiry is either stipulated or warranted at this stage. Therefore, learned trial Court, after appreciating the law correctly, had passed the impugned order wherein no interference by this Court is warranted.

8. Having heard learned counsel for the applicant, learned A.G.A. for the State and upon perusal of the record, it transpires that the first information report came to be lodged by the first informant/opposite party no.2 bearing no.0424 of 2020 dated 28.11.2020 at 20:31 Hrs. under Sections 323, 324, 504, 506, 308, 304 I.P.C. against the three accused persons including the present applicant. The injured, Surya Lal died due to head injuries and therefore, Section 302 I.P.C. came to be added in this matter. The applicant is named in the first information report and all the accused persons have been assigned the role of assaulting the injured by lathi, danda and knife.

9. At the stage of framing charge, only prima facie case is to be seen, whether case is beyond reasonable doubt is not to be seen at this stage. If the court comes to the conclusion that the commission of offence is a probable consequence, a case for framing charge exists. At the stage of framing charge, probative value of materials on record cannot be gone into. At this stage, it is not necessary for the prosecution to establish beyond all reasonable doubts that the accusation which they are bringing against the accused person is bound to be brought home against him. At the stage of framing charge, the Court has to see if there is sufficient ground for presuming that the accused has committed an offence. If the answer is in affirmative, the order of discharge cannot be passed and the accused has to face trial.

10. To substantiate aforesaid proposition, the judgment rendered by Hon'ble the Apex Court in State of Maharashtra v. Som Nath Thapa, AIR 1996 SC 1744 and Rajbir Singh vs. State of U.P., AIR 2006 SC 1963 may be usefully referred to.

11. Therefore, in view of the aforesaid settled legal position, at this stage, only prima facie availability of material warranting framing of charge against the applicant is enough and no roving enquiry is required to ascertain veracity or otherwise of the prosecution's case.

12. Thus, on the basis of the aforesaid discussion, this Court does not find illegality or infirmity in the impugned order under challenge. There is no abuse of court's process either.

13. In view of the aforesaid, the instant application under Section 482 Cr.P.C. lacks merit and deserves to be dismissed.

14. Accordingly, the instant application under Section 482 Cr.P.C.is dismissed.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Rajesh Bindal,C. J.

Hon'ble Samit Gopal, J.)

1. This is bunch of 83 cases with different reliefs. The matter has been placed before this Court on the reference made by the learned Single Judge disagreeing with the view taken by another learned Single Judge in the case of Soni Devi vs. State of U.P.1 Alongwith the main petition, other petitions and appeals have been tagged with similar issues involved.

2. The question of difference between the two learned Judges is on the second question as framed in the case of Soni Devi's case (supra) which is in para-15 of the said judgment. It reads as under:

"15. The second question for consideration before this Court is as to whether Special Judge can treat the application under Section 156(3) Cr.P.C. as a complaint case or not."

3. The answer given to the second question is in para-18 of the said judgement which is as follows:

"18. .... Therefore answer to the second question that Special Judge can treat the application under Section 156 (3)Cr.P.C. as a complaint case or not ? Answer is "No" in view of Rule 5(1) of the Amended Act."

4. While giving reasons for differing with the said answer and making a reference, learned Single Judge has referred the question as follows:

"18. Thus, this Court differs with the view taken in the case of Soni Devi (Supra) in its second question as decided as to whether it is correct ?"

5. The petitions are in which applications filed under Section 156 (3) Cr.P.C. have been treated as a complaint and the accused persons therein have been summoned to face trial. The accused persons thus are before this Court challenging the validity and legality of the orders passed against them.

6. Sri Arvind Kumar Singh, learned counsel appearing in the main petition has argued that as per the scheme of the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Act, 1989 (hereinafter referred to as "the Act") lodging of a first information report is mandatory if an act has been complained of, which is an offence. He argued that since the Act is a Special Act, the same overrides any other Act. The Special Court designated under the Act cannot take cognizance of an offence on itself by treating an application under Section 156 (3) Cr.P.C. as a complaint. Even Rule 12 of the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Rules, 1995 (hereinafter referred to as "the Rules") and Schedule (1) of the Rules provide for payment of compensation to the victim at different stages, starting from lodging of the first information report. It does not makes any provision for payment of compensation in the event the offence as complained of is treated as a complaint case.

7. Sri Geetam Singh, learned counsel appearing in Criminal Appeal No. 4141 of 2022 while referring to Rule 7 of the Rules argued that the same only provides for investigation without any option of enquiry. He further places Rule 8 (via) and (vii) of the Rules and argues that the same also refers to the proceedings of investigation only. He also argued that if the court takes cognizance directly on an application moved under Section 156 (3) Cr.P.C., the benefit of Rule 12 and Schedule (1) of the Rules will not be extended to the victim unless appropriate compensation is directed to be given. It is argued that as such the scheme and the intention of the legislation is only for lodging of a first information report for offences under the Act and not any other remedy.

8. Sri Prateek J. Nagar, learned counsel appearing in Criminal Appeal No. 5974 of 2021 argued that the Act is silent with regards to process, procedure and filing of a complaint and refers to first information report only at every place. He states that as such lodging of the first information report is mandatory and complaint is not maintainable.

9. Per contra, Sri Syed Ali Murtaza and Sri Ankit Srivastava, learned counsels for the State appearing in all the matters argued that the inception of a criminal case is on the basis of a first information report or a complaint. It is argued that Section 4(2)(b) of the Act provides for duties of a public servant, which shall include to register a complaint or a first information report under this Act and other relevant provisions and to register it under appropriate Sections of this Act. It is argued that a public servant is defined under Section 2 (bg) of the Act, which includes persons as defined under Section 21 of the Indian Penal Code (45 of 1860) and thus as per third clause of Section 21 I.P.C. a Judge is a public servant. Thus looking at the provision of Section 4(2)(b) of the Act it is argued that a public servant is under a duty to take cognizance on a complaint or register a first information report under this Act and other relevant provisions as the case may be, thus filing of a complaint and/or treating an application under Section 156 (3) Cr.P.C. as a complaint is not barred. It is further argued that even the second proviso of Section 14 of the Act gives power to the Special Court or Exclusive Special Court so established or specified to directly take cognizance of offences under this Act and as such even taking cognizance under the Act is not prohibited but is expressly provided.

10. Heard Mr. Arvind Kumar Singh, Mohd Zaid, Mr. Prateek J. Nagar, Mr. Geetam Singh, Mr. Shree Prakash Giri, Mr. Anil Kumar, Advocates in their respective matters and Mr. Syed Ali Murtaza, Mr. Neeraj Kumar Srivastava, Mr. Shobhit Yadav, Mr. Ankit Srivastava, Mr. Kartikey Pandey, learned counsels for the State of U.P. and perused the records.

11. Section 14 of the Act reads as follows:-

"14. Special Court and Exclusive Special Court.--(1) For the purpose of providing for speedy trial, the State Government shall, with the concurrence of the Chief Justice of the High Court, by notification in the Official Gazette, establish an Exclusive Special Court for one or more Districts:

Provided that in Districts where less number of cases under this Act is recorded, the State Government shall, with the concurrence of the Chief Justice of the High Court, by notification in the Official Gazette, specify for such Districts, the Court of Session to be a Special Court to try the offences under this Act:

Provided further that the Courts so established or specified shall have power to directly take cognizance of offences under this Act.

(2) It shall be the duty of the State Government to establish adequate number of Courts to ensure that cases under this Act are disposed of within a period of two months, as far as possible.

(3) In every trial in the Special Court or the Exclusive Special Court, the proceedings shall be continued from day-to-day until all the witnesses in attendance have been examined, unless the Special Court or the Exclusive Special Court finds the adjournment of the same beyond the following day to be necessary for reasons to be recorded in writing:

Provided that when the trial relates to an offence under this Act, the trial shall, as far as possible, be completed within a period of two months from the date of filing of the charge sheet."

12. The second proviso to Section 14 of the Act makes it clear that the Special Court so established or specified shall have powers to directly take cognizance of offence under this Act.

13. The Apex Court in the case of Shantaben Bhurabhai Bhuriya vs. Anand Athabhai Chaudhari and others2, in para- 9.1 ruled that in view of insertion of proviso to Section 14 of the Act and considering the object and purpose for which the same has been inserted, it is advisable that the court so established or specified in exercise of powers under Section 14 of the Act for the purpose of providing speedy trial, directly take cognizance of offences under the Atrocities Act. The para 9.1 is quoted herein-below:-

"9.1. On fair reading of Sections 207, 209 and 193 of the Code of Criminal Procedure and insertion of proviso to Section 14 of the Atrocities Act by Act No.1 of 2016 w.e.f. 26.1.2016, we are of the opinion that on the aforesaid ground the entire criminal proceedings cannot be said to have been vitiated. Second proviso to Section 14 of the Atrocities Act which has been inserted by Act 1 of 2016 w.e.f. 26.1.2016 confers power upon the Special Court so established or specified for the purpose of providing for speedy trial also shall have the power to directly take cognizance of the offences under the Atrocities Act. Considering the object and purpose of insertion of proviso to Section 14, it cannot be said that it is not in conflict with the Sections 193, 207 and 209 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973. It cannot be said that it takes away jurisdiction of the Magistrate to take cognizance and thereafter to commit the case to the Special Court for trial for the offences under the Atrocities Act. Merely because, learned Magistrate has taken cognizance of the offences and thereafter the trial / case has been committed to Special Court established for the purpose of providing for speedy trial, it cannot be said that entire criminal proceedings including FIR and charge-sheet etc. are vitiated and on the aforesaid ground entire criminal proceedings for the offences under Sections 452, 323, 325, 504, 506(2) and 114 of the Indian Penal Code and under Section 3(1)(x) of the Atrocities Act are to be quashed and set aside. It may be noted that in view of insertion of proviso to Section 14 of the Atrocities Act and considering the object and purpose, for which, the proviso to Section 14 of the Atrocities Act has been inserted i.e. for the purpose of providing for speedy trial and the object and purpose stated herein above, it is advisable that the Court so established or specified in exercise of powers under Section14, for the purpose of providing for speedy trial directly take cognizance of the offences under the Atrocities Act. But at the same time, as observed herein above, merely on the ground that cognizance of the offences under the Atrocities Act is not taken directly by the Special Court constituted under Section 14 of the Atrocities Act, the entire criminal proceedings cannot be said to have been vitiated and cannot be quashed and set aside solely on the ground that cognizance has been taken by the learned Magistrate after insertion of second proviso to Section 14 which confers powers upon the Special Court also to directly take cognizance of the offences under the Atrocities Act and thereafter case is committed to the Special Court/Court of Session." (emphasis supplied)

14. The same thus makes it clear that a special court or courts specified can take cognizance directly.

15. The said judgement has been relied upon by the Apex Court subsequently in the case of Ramveer Upadhyay and another vs. State of U.P. and another 3 and the argument of learned counsel in the said case was that the Additional District and Sessions Judge had no jurisdiction to take cognizance or issue summons or orders, has been held that it cannot be sustained. Paras- 21, 22 and 23 of the said judgement are quoted herein-below:-

"21. Emphasizing Section 14 of the Atrocities Act, Mr. Ranjit Kumar argued that only the Special Judge under the Atrocities Act was competent to pass an order for issuance of summons. He argued that the order of the Additional District and Sessions Judge, Court No.2, Hathras being without jurisdiction the High Court should have quashed the same in exercise of its power under Section 482 of the Cr.P.C. Mr. Ranjt Kumar also argued that Complaint Case No.19/2018 patently a case of malicious prosecution which stemmed from political rivalry and was in gross abuse of the process of Court.

22. In Shantaben Bhurabhai Bhuriya v. Anand Athabhai Chaudhari and others: 2021 SCC Online SC 974, cited by Mr. Siddharth Dave, learned senior counsel, appearing on behalf of the Respondent No.2, this Court rejected the contention that only Special Court could take cognizance of offences under the Atrocities Act and held:

23. Therefore, the issue/question posed for the consideration of this Court is, whether in a case where cognizance is taken by the learned Magistrate and thereafter the case is committed to the learned Special Court, whether entire criminal proceedings can be said to have been vitiated considering the second proviso to Section 14 of the Atrocities Act which was inserted by Act 1 of 2016 w.e.f. 26.1.2016?

24. While considering the aforesaid issue/question, legislative history of the relevant provisions of the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Act, 1989, more particularly, Section 14 pre-amendment and post amendment is required to be considered. Section 14 as stood pre-amendment and post amendment reads as under:

Provided that in Districts where less number of cases under this Act is recorded, the State Government shall, with the concurrence of the Chief Justice of the High Court, by notification in the Official Gazette, specify for such Districts, the Court of Session to be a Special Court to try the offences under this Act;

Provided further that the Courts so established or specified shall have power to directly take cognizance of offences under this Act."

X X X X

28. Considering the aforesaid legislative history which brought to insertion of proviso to Section 14 of the Atrocities Act, by which, even the Special Court so established or specified for the purpose of providing for speedy trial the power to directly to take cognizance of offences under the Atrocities Act, 1989, the issue/question posed whether in a case where for the offences under Atrocities Act, the cognizance is taken by the learned Magistrate and thereafter the case is committed to the Court of Sessions/Special Court and cognizance is not straightway taken up by the learned Special Court/Court of Session, whether entire criminal proceedings for the offences under the Atrocities Act, 1989 can be said to have been vitiated, as so observed by the High Court in the impugned judgment and order ?

29. On fair reading of Sections 207, 209, and 193 of the Code of Criminal Procedure and insertion of proviso to Section 14 of the Atrocities Act by Act No. 1 of 2016 w.e.f. 26.1.2016, we are of the opinion that on the aforesaid ground the entire criminal proceedings cannot be said to have been vitiated. Second proviso to Section 14 of the Atrocities Act which has been inserted by Act 1 of 2016 w.e.f. 26.1.2016 confers power upon the Special Court so established or specified for the purpose of providing for speedy trial also shall have the power to directly take cognizance of the offences under the Atrocities Act. Considering the object and purpose of insertion of proviso to Section 14, it cannot be said that it is not in conflict with the Sections 193, 207 and 209 of the Criminal Procedure Code, 1973. It cannot be said that it takes away jurisdiction of the Magistrate to take cognizance and thereafter to commit the case to the Special Court for trial for the offences under the Atrocities Act. Merely because, learned Magistrate has taken cognizance of the offences and thereafter the trial/case has been committed to Special Court established for the purpose of providing for speedy trial, it cannot be said that entire criminal proceedings including FIR and charge-sheet etc. are vitiated and on the aforesaid ground entire criminal proceedings for the offences under Sections 452, 323, 325, 504, 506(2) and 114 of the Penal Code, 1860 and under Section 3(1)(x) of the Atrocities Act are to be quashed and set aside. It may be noted that in view of insertion of proviso to Section 14 of the Atrocities Act and considering the object and purpose, for which, the proviso to Section 14 of the Atrocities Act has been inserted i.e. for the purpose of providing for speedy trial and the object and purpose stated herein above, it is advisable that the Court so established or specified in exercise of powers under Section14, for the purpose of providing for speedy trial directly take cognizance of the offences under the Atrocities Act. But at the same time, as observed herein above, merely on the ground that cognizance of the offences under the Atrocities Act is not taken directly by the Special Court constituted under Section 14 of the Atrocities Act, the entire criminal proceedings cannot be said to have been vitiated and cannot be quashed and set aside solely on the ground that cognizance has been taken by the learned Magistrate after insertion of second proviso to Section 14 which confers powers upon the Special Court also to directly take cognizance of the offences under the Atrocities Act and thereafter case is committed to the Special Court/Court of Session.

30. In support of the above conclusion, the words used in second proviso to Section 14 are required to be considered minutely. The words used are "Court so established or specified shall have power to directly take cognizance of the offences under this Court". The word "only" is conspicuously missing. If the intention of the legislature would have to confer the jurisdiction to take cognizance of the offences under the Atrocities Act exclusively with the Special Court, in that case, the wording should have been "that the Court so established or specified only shall have power to directly take cognizance of offences under this Act". Therefore, merely because now further and additional powers have been given to the Special Court also to take cognizance of the offences under the Atrocities Act and in the present case merely because the cognizance is taken by the learned Magistrate for the offences under the Atrocities Act and thereafter the case has been committed to the learned Special Court, it cannot be said that entire criminal proceedings have been vitiated and same are required to be quashed and set aside."

23. In view of the judgment of this Court in Shantaben Bhurabhai Bhuriya (supra), the Argument of Mr. Ranjit Kumar that the Additional District Judge and Sessions Judge, Court No.4 Hathras had no jurisdiction to take cognizance or issue summons/orders cannot be sustained."

16. As far as other argument of learned counsels with regard to Rule 12 and Schedule Annexure-I is concerned, merely non mentioning of stage for award of compensation in cases where the applications under Section 156(3) Cr.P.C. are treated as a complaint case and also in complaint cases, would not oust the jurisdiction of the courts concerned to award compensation to the victims at the appropriate stage as the case may be.

17. While further dilating the issue it is relevant to look into section 4 of the Act. The same reads as follows:-

"4. Punishment for neglect of duties. -

(1) Whoever, being a public servant but not being a member of a Scheduled Caste or a Scheduled Tribe, wilfully neglects his duties required to be performed by him under this Act and the rules made thereunder, shall be punishable with imprisonment for a term which shall not be less than six months but which may extend to one year.

(2) The duties of public servant referred to in sub-section (1) shall include-

(a) to read out to an informant the information given orally, and reduced to writing by the officer in-charge of the police station, before taking the signature of the informant;

(b) to register a complaint or a First Information Report under this Act and other relevant provisions and to register it under appropriate sections of this Act;

(c) to furnish a copy of the information so recorded forthwith to the informant;

(d) to record the statement of the victims or witnesses;

(e) to conduct the investigation and file charge sheet in the Special Court or the Exclusive Special Court within a period of sixty days, and to explain the delay, if any, in writing;

(f) to correctly prepare, frame and translate any document or electronic records;

(g) to perform any other duty specified in this Act or the rules made thereunder:

Provided that the charges in this regard against the public servant shall be booked on the recommendation of an administrative enquiry.

(3) The cognizance in respect of any dereliction of duty referred to in sub-section (2) by a public servant shall be taken by the Special Court or the Exclusive Special Court and shall give direction for penal proceedings against such public servant.

18. Public servant is defined in Section 2(bg) of the Act which reads as under:-

"2(bg) "public servant" means a public servant as defined under Section 21 of the Indian Penal Code (45 of 1860), as well as any other person deemed to be a public servant under any other law for the time being in force and includes any person acting in his official capacity under the Central Government or the State Government, as the case may be;"

19. At this juncture it is relevant to refer to the definition of the word "public servant" as per Section 21 of the Indian Penal Code, 1860, which reads as under:-

"21. "Public servant".- The words "public servant" denote a person falling under any of the descriptions hereinafter following; namely:-

First.- Omitted

Second.- Every Commissioned Officer in the Military, Naval or Air Forces of India;

Third.- Every Judge including any person empowered by law to discharge, whether by himself or as a member of any body of persons, any adjudicatory functions;

Fourth.- Every officer of a Court of Justice (including a liquidator, receiver or commissioner) whose duty it is, as such officer, to investigate or report on any matter of law or fact, or to make, authenticate, or keep any document, or to take charge or dispose of any property, or to execute any judicial process, or to administer any oath, or to interpret, or to preserve order in the Court, and every person specially authorized by a Court of Justice to perform any of such duties;

Fifth.- Every juryman, assessor, or member of a panchayat assisting a Court of Justice or public servant;

Sixth.- Every arbitrator or other person to whom any cause or matter has been referred for decision or report by any Court of Justice, or by any other competent public authority;

Seventh.- Every person who holds any office by virtue of which he is empowered to place or keep any person in confinement;

Eighth.- Every officer of the Government whose duty it is, as such officer, to prevent offences, to give information of offences, to bring offenders to justice, or to protect the public health, safety or convenience;

Ninth.- Every officer whose duty it is, as such officer, to take, receive, keep or expend any property on behalf of the Government, or to make any survey, assessment or contract on behalf of the Government, or to execute any revenue process, or to investigate, or to report, on any matter affecting the pecuniary interests of the Government, or to make, authenticate or keep any document relating to the pecuniary interests of the Government, or to prevent the infraction of any law for the protection of the pecuniary interests of the Government;

Tenth.- Every officer whose duty it is, as such officer, to take, receive, keep or expend any property, to make any survey or assessment or to levy any rate or tax for any secular common purpose of any village, town or district, or to make, authenticate or keep any document for the ascertaining of the rights of the people of any village, town or district;

Eleventh.- Every person who holds any office in virtue of which he is empowered to prepare, publish, maintain or revise an electoral roll or to conduct an election or part of an election;

Twelfth.- Every person -

(a) in the service or pay of the Government or remunerated by fees or commission for the performance of any public duty by the Government;

(b) in the service or pay of a local authority, a corporation established by or under a Central, Provincial or State Act or a Government company as defined in section 617 of the Companies Act, 1956 (1 of 1956).

20. Section 4(2)(b) of the Act referred to the duty of a "public servant" referred to in sub-section (1) which provides for registration of a complaint or a First Information Report under this Act and other relevant provisions and to register it under the appropriate sections of this Act.

21. Third clause of Section 21 of IPC makes it clear that a Judge is also a "public servant".

22. A conjoint reading of Section 4 of the Act, the definition of a "public servant' as per the Act and also the Indian Penal Code, would leave no doubt that a complaint or a First Information Report, as given, has to be registered. The Act thus draws a distinction in Section 4(2)(b) in the nature of information given by the concerned person, which can be through a complaint or a First Information Report and thus the court concerned has a discretion to look into it and proceed as per its wisdom.

23. In view of our aforesaid discussions, a Special Judge or court so established can treat an application under Section 156(3) Cr.P.C. as a complaint and proceed further in accordance with law.

24. This Court thus answers the reference as referred by learned Single Judge as follows:-

"The view taken in the case of Soni Devi vs. State of U.P. and others: 2022(5)ADJ 64 that an application under Section 156(3) Cr.P.C. cannot be treated as a complaint case is incorrect. The court concerned while exercising its judicial discretion can treat the said application as a complaint case also."

25. While answering the questions referred to by the learned Single Judge, let the present petitions and appeals be now placed before the appropriate Bench on October 20,2022.

(A) Criminal Law - The Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 - Section 482 - Inherent power - Indian Penal Code, 1860 - 420, 467, 468, 471 and 120-B - "process of law" - ''abused' - if the matter is essentially of civil nature and has been given a cloak of criminal offence, therefore, applying the principles, a High Court can exercise its jurisdiction provided under Section 482 Cr.P.C.- merely to take advantage of a relatively quick relief granted in a criminal case any contrast to a civil dispute - such an exercise is nothing but an abuse of process of law which must be discouraged in its entirety. (Para - 10)

Question of validity of agreement to sale of property - subjudiced before Civil Court - contrary stands taken by parties - Applicants challenging F.I.R., charge sheet, summoning order and entire proceedings - civil dispute given a dark and bright colour of a criminal offence - elements of conspiracy completely absent - proceedings malacious - ingredients of offence prima-facie not made out. (Para - 4,5,9)

HELD:-Criminal proceedings initiated against the applicants are a glaring example of ''abuse of process of law' where a dispute of civil nature has been given colour of criminal offence. Prima facie essential ingredients of alleged offence not present. Criminal proceedings itself became vexatious and oppressive. (Para -14)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Saurabh Shyam Shamshery, J.)

1. To what extent the "process of law" could be "abused' that the criminal proceedings exfacie became vexatious and oppressive and facts of the present case are glaring example of it. It is a legal battle among advocates of a good standing at District Court, Kanpur. Both the applicant/accused as well as opposite party No.2/complainant are advocates. The facts further unfolds that the Lawyers' Association, Kanpur Nagar through its Secretary filed a civil suit bearing No. RS/000/712/216 against some advocates and private persons including one Smt. Renu Nigam to declare an agreement to sale dated 26.03.2008 being void ab initio on the ground being fraud. The said suit is still pending. The applicant No.1 was an advocate for the Association, however, on being certain dispute, he was later on discharged. An F.I.R. was lodged by one advocate on somewhat similar facts wherein opposite party No.2/complainant herein was also an accused. The further proceedings thereof are not on record.

2. Further facts are that the opposite party No.2 posted a letter dated 05.09.2019 by a speed post addressed to the Senior Superintendent of Police, Kanpur Nagar that his neighbour one Renu Nigam in connivance with other persons has filed certain documents in the above referred suit, therefore, inquiry be conducted and criminal action be taken against her. No further proceedings on the said application are placed on record except Renu Nigam submitted duly sworn affidavit dated 10.12.2019 addressed to the A.D.G., Kanpur that the applicant No.1 herein had committed forgery and submitted documents in the above referred suit without her consent. Similarly Renu Nigam also filed an affidavit somewhat on similar averments/allegations duly sworn on 24.02.2021 in the civil suit. There is nothing on record how the opposite party No.2 got possession of the said affidavit submitted before A.D.G., Kanpur and on basis of said affidavit, the present F.I.R.

dated 30.12.2020 was lodged against applicant No.1 and Renu Nigam for committing offence under Sections 420, 467, 468, 471 and 120-B I.P.C. alleging that the applicant No.1 and Renu Nigam hatched conspiracy and prepared forged document in order to grab the property in question.

3. The allegations made by Renu Nigam which are relied upon by the complainant/opposite party No.2 are still subject matter of the suit and only on basis of said document, the F.I.R. was lodged. The police machinery investigated the case and came to a conclusion that a case was made out against applicant No.1 for committing offence under Sections 420, 467, 468, 471, 120-B and 384 I.P.C., and no evidence was found against Renu Nigam and therefore she was exonerated. However, the allegations were found to be true against one other advocate (applicant No.2) for committing the said offences, accordingly, charge sheet was submitted and cognizance was taken.

4. In these circumstances, the applicants are before this Court challenging the F.I.R., charge sheet, summoning order and entire proceedings arising out of Case Crime No. 0356 of 2020 under Sections 420, 467, 468, 471, 120-B and 384 I.P.C., Police Station- Kotwali, District- Kanpur Nagar.

5. Sri Vishnu Prakash Srivastava, learned counsel for applicants has vehemently placed the case of the applicants that civil dispute has been given a dark and bright colour of a criminal offence. The opposite party No.2 has already been made an accused for committing forgery and with malafide intention, the applicant No.1 was discharged from being advocate for the Association in the above referred suit. Initially Renu Nigam was not even a party to the suit but later on by handwriting on plaint she was made party. Renu Nigam has submitted an affidavit which still has to be scrutinized and if necessary subjected to cross examination during the suit proceedings however only on basis of the said document, an F.I.R. was lodged and unfair investigation was conducted and despite no material to support the allegations, a charge sheet was filed against the present applicants. A document which still has to be declared being forged, the criminal proceedings have pre-determined it to be a forged document and in the present case, no forgery or cheating was committed. Consequently, no offence under Section 384 Cr.P.C. can be made out as there was no dishonestly or inducement to deliver any valuable property. The elements of conspiracy are also completely absent. The proceedings are malacious and the ingredients of the offence are prima-facie not made out, therefore, the prayers of this application be allowed.

6. Per contra, Sri Chandan Agarwal, learned A.G.A. for the State and Sri Vipul Pandey, learned counsel for opposite party No.2/complainant have supported the investigation that the applicants being committed cheating and forgery and thus induced to deliver valuable security, therefore, the offences of cheating, forgery and extortion are prima-facie made out. Learned counsel further submitted that since the prima-facie case was made out, therefore, the circumstance does not warrant any interference under inherent jurisdiction.

7. The law in regard to inherent powers under Section 482 Cr.P.C. is discussed hereinafter :-

"Inherent Power of the High Court under Section 482 Criminal Procedure Code 1973 :-

(I) "Inherent Power" of the High Court under Section 482 Cr.P.C., an extraordinary power is with purpose and object of advancement of justice, which is to be exercised "to give effect to any order under the Cr.P.C.", or "to prevent abuse of process of any Court", or "to secure ends of justice", making arena of the power very wide, yet it is to be exercised sparingly, with great care and with circumspection, that too in the rarest of rare case.

(II) It is no more res integra that exercise of inherent power could be invoked to even quash a criminal proceeding/First Information Report/complaint /chargesheet, but only when allegation made therein does not constitute ingredients of the offence/offences and /or are frivolous and vexatious on their face, without looking into defence evidence, however such power should not be exercised to stifle or cause sudden death of any legitimate prosecution. Inherent power does not empower the High Court to assume role of a trial court and to embark upon an enquiry as to reliability of evidence and sustainability of accusation, specifically in a case where the entire facts are incomplete and hazy. Similarly quashing of criminal proceedings by assessing the statements under section 161 Cr.P.C. at initial stage is nothing but scuttling a full fledged trial.

(III) There can not be any straight jacket formula for regulating the inherent power of this Court, however the Supreme Court has summarised and illustrated some categories in which this power could be exercised in catena of judgments. Some of them are State of Haryana Vs Bhajan Lal : 1992 Supp (1) SCC 335, Zandu Pharmaceutical Works Ltd Vs Mohd Sharaful Haque: (2005) 1 SCC 122, Ahmed Ali Quarashi and Anr Versus The State of Uttar Pradesh : 2020 SCC Online SC 107, Joseph Salvaraja A v. State of Gujarat (2011) 7 SCC 59, Sushil Sethi and another Vs The State of Arunachal Pradesh and others (2020) 3 SCC, 240, Priti Saraf and Anr Vs State of NCT of Delhi and Anr : 2021 SCC Online SC 206. Some categories/ circumstances as illustrations but not exhaustive are : allegations made in FIR / complaint, if are taken at their face value and accepted do not prima facie constitute any offence or are so absurd and inherently improbable to make out any case or no cognizable offence is disclosed against the accused, criminal proceedings is maliciously instituted with an ulterior motive and with a view to spite the accused due to private and personal grudge, or where there is a specific legal bar engrafted in any of the provisions of the Code or in the concerned Act to the institution and continuance of the proceedings or when dispute between the parties constitute only a civil wrong and not a criminal wrong, further Courts would not permit a person to be harassed although no case for taking cognizance of the offence has been made out.

(IV) In Sau. Kamal Shivaji Pokarnekar v. The State of Maharashtra : (2019) 14 SCC 350, the Apex Court has laid emphasis on the principles laid down in two of its previous judgements namely, State of Karnataka v. M. Devendrappa : 2015 (3) SCC 424 and Indian Oil Corporation v. NEPC India Ltd. & Ors.: (2006)6 SCC 736 and held that quashing of criminal proceedings is called for only when the complaint does not disclose any offence, or the complaint is frivolous, vexatious, or oppressive and further clarified that defences available during a trial and facts/aspects whose establishment during the trial may lead to acquittal cannot form the basis of quashing a criminal complaint. The criminal complaints cannot be quashed only on the ground that the allegations made therein appear to be of a civil nature, if the ingredients of the alleged offence are prima facie made out in the complaint.

(V) The Supreme Court in M/s Neeharika Infrastructure Pvt. Ltd Versus State of Maharashtra and Others : (2020) 10 SCC 118, has categorically held that High Court is not justified in passing the order of not to arrest and or no coercive steps either during the investigation or till the final report/ charge sheet is filed under Section 173 Cr.P.C., while dismissing/disposing petition under Section 482Cr.P.C. and/or under Article 226 of the Constitution and even in exceptional cases where High Court is of the opinion that a prima facie case is made out for stay of further investigation,such order has to be with brief reasons, though such orders should not be passed routinely, casually and/or mechanically.

(VI) Whether the allegations are true or untrue, would have to be decided in the trial. In exercise of power under Section 482 of the Cr.P.C., the Court does not examine the correctness of the allegations in a complaint except in exceptionally rare cases where it is patently clear that the allegations are frivolous or do not disclose any offence. (see Ramveer Upadhyay & Anr. versus State of U.P. & Anr. 2022 SCC Online SC 484)

(VII) "A careful reading of the complaint, the gist of which we have extracted above would show that none of the ingredients of any of the offences complained against the appellants are made out. Even if all the averments contained in the complaint are taken to be true, they do not make out any of the offences alleged against the appellants. Therefore, we do not know how an FIR was registered and a charge-sheet was also filed.....It is too late in the day to seek support from any precedents, for the proposition that if no offence is made out by a careful reading of the complaint, the complaint deserves to be quashed." (See, Wyeth Limited & others vs, State of Bihar & another, Criminal Appeal No.1224 of 2022 (Special Leave Petition (Crl.) No.10730 OF 2018), decided on 11th August, 2022)."

8. I n the abovereferred facts, submissions and discussion of law, this Court proceeds to consider the rival submissions.

9. Undisputedly, the question of validity of agreement to sale of the property is subjudiced before the Civil Court wherein contrary stands have been taken by the parties by way of filing an affidavit and the suit is still pending, therefore, at this stage, to arrive at a conclusion that any forgery had taken place for the purpose of execution of sale deed would not be a correct approach.

10. The police machinery have acted only on the basis of an application of complainant and affidavit of Renu Nigam alleging allegations against the applicant No.1 only. A similar affidavit has also been filed in the suit proceedings. The documents are still to be scrutinized before the Civil Court, therefore, at this stage, the police authorities ought to have kept constraint not to proceed with the investigation as there was no evidence that the documents in question were in fact forged and the element of deceit was present. There is no bar that on the basis of overlapping facts, both civil and criminal proceedings can go on simultaneously, however, the Supreme Court in the case of Indian Oil Corporation v. NEPC India Ltd. & Ors (2006) 6 SCC 736 has taken a note of growing tendency to convert purely civil dispute into criminal cases with the parties to settle the civil dispute and depreciated such criminal prosecution. Earlier also, in G. Sagar Suri and another vs. State of U.P. and others, (2000) 2 SCC 636, the Supreme Court has held that if the matter is essentially of civil nature and has been given a cloak of criminal offence, therefore, applying the principles, a High Court can exercise its jurisdiction provided under Section 482 Cr.P.C.

11. In recent judgment of Mitesh Kumar J. Sha Vs. State of Karnataka and others, 2021 SCC OnLine SC 976, the Supreme Court held that the Court has enumerable circumstances expressed its disapproval for imparting criminal colour to a civil dispute, merely to take advantage of a relatively quick relief granted in a criminal case any contrast to a civil dispute and further held that such an exercise is nothing but an abuse of process of law which must be discouraged in its entirety.

12. The Court further proceeds to consider whether the ingredients of the alleged offence are prima-facie made out or not. Sections 480, 420 I.P.C. (Cheating and dishonestly induces a person to deliver the property) pre-supposes cheating and thereby dishonestly inducing the person deceived to deliver any property. Such intention would only be satisfied if it is concluded that the "sale deed' is a forged document or executed with fraud. However, the said issue is still pending in the civil suit. Therefore, at this stage, the element of cheating or dishonest cannot be held to be present. Similarly the allegations of forgery i.e. making of any false document with intent to cause damage to any person or to support any claim or title is also one of the subject matter in the civil proceedings and only on the basis of an affidavit submitted by Renu Nigam who is also a party respondent in the suit and also filed her reply thereto cannot be a basis to initiate criminal proceedings when the documents are still to be scrutinized. The element of intention will only be determined once the document is declared to be forged or declared to be void ab-initio on the ground of fraud.

13. The allegations of extortion are presupposed cheating and forgery, therefore, the same is also not made out at the present stage. The investigating officer has rushed to the conclusion only on the basis of allegations and statement that the document was forged without considering that the civil suit is still pending where such issues are still to be addressed and as such in absence of dishonest intention and that the document was forged, the ingredients of the alleged offence are absent. In this regard, paragraph 46 of Mitesh (supra) is relevant :-

"46. Recently, this Court in case of Randheer Singh v.The State of U.P.1, has again reiterated the long standing principle that criminal proceedings must not be used as instruments of harassment. The court observed as under:--

"33. ....There can be no doubt that jurisdiction under Section 482 of the Cr.P.C. should be used sparingly for the purpose of preventing abuse of the process of any court or otherwise to secure the ends of justice. Whether a complaint discloses criminal offence or not depends on the nature of the allegation and whether the essential ingredients of a criminal offence are present or not has to be judged by the High Court. There can be no doubt that a complaint disclosing civil transactions may also have a criminal texture. The High Court has, however, to see whether the dispute of a civil nature has been given colour of criminal offence. In such a situation, the High Court should not hesitate to quash the criminal proceedings as held by this Court in Paramjeet Batra (supra) extracted above.""

(emphasis supplied)

14. The outcome of the above discussion is that criminal proceedings initiated against the applicants are a glaring example of "abuse of process of law' where a dispute of civil nature has been given colour of criminal offence and further prima facie essential ingredients of alleged offence are not present and therefore, the criminal proceedings itself became vexatious and oppressive.

15. In view of above, the proceedings of Case No. 122095 of 2021 (State vs. Akhilesh Kumar Gupta and another) in Case Crime No. 0356 of 2020 u/s 420, 467, 468, 471, 120-B and 384 I.P.C., Police Station- Kotwali, District- Kanpur Nagar, pending in the Court of learned Chief Metropolitan Magistrate, Kanpur Nagar are hereby quashed.

16. The application stands allowed.

List of Cases cited:

Vinod Kumar Vs Smt. Mohrawati , 1990 Crl. LJ 2018

(Delivered by Hon'ble Shree Prakash Singh, J.)

1. Heard learned counsel for the applicants, learned counsel for the State-respondent and perused the record.

2. By instituting the instant application, a prayer has been made for quashing of the order dated 18.06.2022 passed by the learned Additional Sessions Judge, Court No.12, Moradabad in Criminal Revision No.94 of 2020 arising out of Case Crime No.1378 of 2017, under Section 420, 467, 468, 471, 120-B IPC, Police Station-Civil Lines, District-Moradabad, which is pending in the court of learned Additional Sessions Judge, Moradabad.

3. Factual matrix of the case is that, one of the owner of the property Smt. Ram Kali Devi sold out her half of the portion from the land in question to the three persons namely, Vineet Kishore Jain, Sitaram and Shiv Autar Agarwal vide registered sale deed dated 15.03.1990 and out of sale consideration amounting Rs.1,50,000/- Rs.20,000/- was paid at the time of execution of sale deed and remaining amount of Rs.1,30,000/- was agreed to be paid and later on the same was also paid. After receiving the entire sale consideration, Smt. Ram Kali Devi challenged the said sale deed by way of filing a Original Suit No.348 of 1991. Thereafter, written statement was filed on 13.08.1991. The suit was decreed on 13.03.2015, in favour of vendor. Further, another petition was filed by the applicants under Article 227 bearing No.5000 of 2018, which was dismissed by this Court on 18th July, 2018. The vendee, Vineet Kishore Jain filed an application under Order IX Rule 13 of C.P.C. for setting aside the ex parte judgment and decree dated 13.03.2015 and the aforesaid application was allowed and the ex parte judgment was recalled vide order dated 09.01.2022. He submits that an FIR was lodged on 30.11.2017 by one Sunita Singhal, under Sections 420, 467, 468, 471, 506 IPC against the present applicants as the applicants claimed their right in property in question on the basis of "Hibanama". The matter was investigated by the police and charge sheet was filed and thereafter cognizance was taken by the court below. The applicant filed an application under Section 245(2) of Cr.P.C. which was dismissed vide order dated 2.11.2020 by the Chief Judicial Magistrate and fixed the date on 18.11.2020 for framing of charges.

4. Being aggrieved with the order dated 2.11.2020, the applicants filed, Revision No.94 of 2020 on 11.11.2020 in which a prayer was made by the present applicants that there are certain additional documents and evidence, which may be permitted to file and the same may be taken on record for the proper adjudication of the matter. The aforesaid revision was rejected vide order dated 18.06.2022, by Additional Sessions Judge, Court No. 2, Moradabad wherein the following findings have been recorded, which are read as under:-

"उपरोक्त प्रावधानों से स्पष्ट होता है कि माननीय उच्च न्यायालय को द० प्र० सं० धारा

401 की उपधारा -1 में प्रदत्त शक्ति का प्रयोग सेशन न्यायालय द्वारा धारा 399(1) द० प्र० सं० के अंतर्गत तभी किया जा सकता है जब अभिलेख सेशन न्यायालय ने स्वयं मंगवाया हो।"

5. The submissions of the learned counsel for the applicants are that, the Additional Sessions Judge can exercise all the powers of Session Judge, given in Chapter XXX of the Cr.P.C. in respect with any case transferred to him by general or special order of the Sessions Judge.

6. He added that under the provision of Section 400 of Cr.P.C., it has specifically been mentioned that an Additional Sessions Judge shall have and may exercise all the powers of a Sessions Judge under this Chapter in respect of any case which may be transferred to him by or under any general or special order of the Sessions Judge. He next submits that under the mandate of the aforesaid provision, the Additional Sessions Judge while hearing the matter in a revision exercised all the powers of Session Judge which is envisaged under Chapter XXX of Cr.P.C. which are referred to him by an special or general order of the Sessions Judge. In support of his contention he has referred the judgment of Vinod Kumar Vs. Smt. Mohrawati reported in 1990 Crl. LJ 2018 and submits that in this matter the Court has held that the Sessions Judge can take additional evidence in revision.

7. Placing reliance on the aforesaid judgment, he added that the Court has very categorically held that since the learned Sessions Judge examined the question of taking the additional evidence in view of the powers conferred on him by sub-Section (1) of Section 399 of Cr.P.C. which is the analogous provisions of Section 401 of Cr.P.C., therefore additional evidence in revision can very well be taken by the learned Sessions Judge.

8. He further placed reliance on a judgment in case of Vishram Singh Vs. State of U.P. and another reported in (37326) under Section 482) 2018 and has referred the ratio of the judgment wherein, it has been held that Appellate Court if it thinks fit, can take additional evidence wherever, it is necessary and shall record reasons himself or by directing it to the Magistrate concerned to do so. The relevant paragraph of the aforesaid judgment reads as under:-

"Section 399 of Cr.P.C. deals with Sessions Judge's powers of revision. As per sub-section (1) of Section 399 Cr.P.C. the Sessions Judge may exercise all or any of the powers which may be exercised by the High Court under sub-section (1) of Section 401 Cr.P.C. Sub-section (1) of Section 401 Cr.P.C. confers power upon the High Court, while acting in revisional jurisdiction to exercise any of the powers conferred on a Court of Appeal by Section 391 Cr.P.C. As quoted above in sub-section (1) of Section 391 Cr.P.C., the Appellate Court, if it thinks additional evidence to be necessary, shall record its reason and may either take such evidence itself, or direct it to be taken by a Magistrate. A combined reading of above mentioned provisions of Code of Criminal Procedure clearly shows that the power of Sessions Court while acting in revisional jurisdiction is the same as that of High Court with regard to taking additional evidence in revisional jurisdiction. It also becomes so clear that the High Court's powers of revision includes the powers conferred on a Court of Appeal by Section 391 of Code of Criminal Procedure which provides to take additional evidence while hearing the appeal. That brings the Court of Session and the High Court on the same footing so far as it relates to the power of taking additional evidence during the course of its hearing in revision."

9. Referring the aforesaid judgment, he submits that it has been settled that learned Sessions Judge under Section 399 of Cr.P.C. is having an analogous powers as has envisaged under Section 401 of Cr.P.C. He next submits that in Section 400 of Cr.P.C. the Additional Sessions Judge has empowered to exercise all the powers of Sessions Judge under Chapter XXX thus, the Additional Sessions Judge can call additional evidence. Thus, submission is that the finding recorded by the learned Additional Sessions Judge, under challenge in this application, is perverse and erroneous and is liable to be set aside.

10. On the other hand, learned counsel appearing for the State submitted that the order passed by the learned Additional Sessions Judge is not assailing any illegality or infirmity and, as such, the same he is not liable to be interfered.

11. He added that Section 399 (1) of Cr.P.C. is very clear on this point that Sessions Judge in the case of any proceeding where the record of which has been called by himself can exercise all the powers as the High Court exercise its power under Section 401 of Cr.P.C. He submits that this is not open to the Additional Sessions Judge for calling additional evidence as is evident from the bare perusal of the Section 400 of Cr.P.C.

12. Having heard learned counsel for the parties and after perusal of records, it reveals that Additional Sessions Judge while passing the order dated 18.06.2022 has recorded the finding that Sessions Judge can exercise the powers under Section 399 of Cr.P.C. which is analogous to Section 401 of Cr.P.C., in an event where the Sessions Judge himself has called for the record.

13. Before entering into the question that whether criminal revisional court is empowered to take additional evidence in the revisional proceedings or not, the provisions which attracts i.e., Section 399, 401, 391 of Cr.P.C. are liable to be quoted "399. Sessions Judge's powers of revision.

(1) In the case of any proceeding the record of which has been called for by himself the Sessions Judge may exercise all or any of the powers which may be exercised by the High Court under Sub-Section (1) of section 401.

(2) Where any proceeding by way of revision is commenced before a Sessions Judge under Sub-Section (1), the provisions of Sub-Sections (2), (3), (4) and (5) of section 401 shall, so far as may be, apply to such proceeding and references in the said subsections to the High Court shall be construed as references to the Sessions Judge.

(3) Where any application for revision is made by or on behalf of any person before the Sessions Judge, the decision of the Sessions Judge thereon in relation to such person shall be final and no further proceeding by way of revision at the instance of such person shall be entertained by the High Court or any other Court.

14. Above said section deals with the provisions of regarding power of Sessions

Judge in revision and the analogous power as envisaged under Section 401 of Cr.P.C. in respect with power of revision to the High Court.

15. The revisional power of High Court has been envisaged under Section 401 (1) of Cr.P.C.

(1) In the case of any proceeding the record of which has been called for by it self or which otherwise comes to its knowledge, the High Court may, in its discretion, exercise any of the powers conferred on a Court of Appeal by sections 386, 389, 390 and 391 or on a Court of Session by section 307 and, when the Judges composing the court of revision are equally divided in opinion, the case shall be disposed of in the manner provided by section 392.

(2) No order under this section shall be made to the prejudice of the accused or other person unless he has had an opportunity of being heard either personally or by pleader in his own defence.

(3) Nothing in this section shall be deemed to authorise a High Court to convert a finding of acquittal into one of conviction.

(4) Where under this Code an appeal lies and no appeal is brought, no proceeding by way if revision shall be entertained at the instance of the party who could have appealed.

(5) Where under this Code an appeal lies but an application for revision has been made to the High Court by any person and the High Court is satisfied that such application was made under the erroneous belief that no appeal lies thereto and that it is necessary in the interests of justice so to do, the High Court may treat the application for revision as a petition of appeal and deal with the same accordingly.

16. From bare reading of Section 401 of Cr.P.C. it is evident that High Court may in its discretion exercise any of the power conferred on a court of appeal of Section 386, 389, 390, 391 meaning thereby the High Court while exercising the power under the aforesaid provision, can call for additional evidence, if necessary.

Section 391 of Cr.P.C:-

(1) In dealing with any appeal under this Chapter, the Appellate Court, if it thinks additional evidence to be necessary, shall record its reasons and may either take such evidence itself, or direct it to be taken by a Magistrate, or when the Appellate Court is a High Court, by a Court of Session or a Magistrate.

(2) to (4) .....

17. When this Court examine the order dated 18.06.2022 passed by the Additional District and Sessions Judge, it reveals that court below is conclusive that the Sessions Judge can exercise the power under Section 399 (1) which is the analogous provision to Section 401 (1) of Cr.P.C. The court below, though is of the aforesaid view but has erred to consider that in Section 401 (1) of Cr.P.C., the High Court is empowered to exercise its discretion which is conferred upon a court of appeal, by virtue of Section 386, 389, 390, and 391 of Cr.P.C.

18. This Court is of considered opinion that as per the provision of Section 391 of Cr.P.C., the appellate court is empowered and can call additional evidence. Further as per the provisions of Section 401, the High Court, in its discretion, exercise any of the powers conferred on a court of appeal by Section 386, 389, 390 and 391. Thus, once the High Court is empowered to call the additional evidence, while exercising its revisional power, then Sessions Judge under Section 399(1) of Cr.P.C. by operation of law, is also empowered to call an additional evidence.

19. So far as the power of Additional Sessions Judge under Section 400 of Cr.P.C. is concerned, bare reading reveals that 'Additional Sessions Judge shall have exercised all the powers of Sessions Judge' under chapter XXX of Cr.P.C. Had their been any intent of the legislature, not to give the power to Additional Sessions Judge equivalent to the Sessions Judge, certainly there would have been overt provisions, in this section. This Court is of considered opinion that the power of Sessions Judge under Section 399 of Cr.P.C., vest in toto, in an Additional Sessions Judge, when he exercises the powers under Section 400 of Cr.P.C.

20. In view of the submissions and discussions aforesaid, the order dated 18.06.2022 passed by the learned Additional Sessions Judge, Court No. 12 Moradabad in Criminal Revision No. 94 of is erroneous and hence is not sustainable.

21. Consequently, the order dated 18.06.2022 in Criminal Revision No. 94 of 2022 is hereby set aside.

22. The matter is remitted back to the court below to proceed in accordance with observations made above.

22. The instant application is allowed accordingly.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Sameer Jain, J.)

1. Heard Sri Radhey Shyam Yadav, learned counsel for the applicant and Dr. S.B. Maurya, learned AGA-I for the State.

2. The instant application has been moved on behalf of the applicant with following prayers:-

"It is, therefore, most respectfully prayed the this Hon'ble Court may kindly be pleased to allow this application and quash the order dated 24.06.2022 passed by Special Judge, SC/ST (P.A.) Act, Etah in Criminal Misc. Case No. 239 of 2022, Rajesh Dayal versus Rajpal and others, Police station-Marhara, District-Etah, pending in the court of Special Judge, SC/ST (P.A) Act, Etah.

It is further prayed that this Hon'ble Court may kindly be pleased to direct to court below to pass a fresh, reason and speaking order in accordance with law in Criminal Misc. 3. Learned counsel for the applicant submitted that applicant moved an application under Section 156(3) Cr.P.C. with a prayer to direct the police station concerned to register the case and investigate the matter but instead of doing so, the court below treated the said application as complaint. He next submitted that as Special Judge SC/ST Act is not empowered to take cognizance on private complaint, therefore, order dated 24.06.2022 is illegal. He further submitted that if an application under Section 156(3) Cr.P.C. is moved before Special Judge SC/ST Act then he is having no authority to treat the said application as criminal complaint and only option before the Special Judge is that either he dismiss the application moved under Section 156(3) Cr.P.C. or direct the local police to register the case and investigate the matter. Learned counsel for the applicant confined his argument only to the extent that the court below is not having any authority to treat the application under Section 156(3) Cr.P.C. as a criminal complaint.

4. Learned counsel for the applicant placed reliance in the case of Soni Devi Vs. State of U.P. and others 2022 (5) ADJ 64 and submitted that the issue as to whether an application under Section 156(3) Cr.P.C can be treated as complaint or not by Special Judge SC/ST Act is no more res-integra but it has been authoritatively decided by the co-ordinate Bench of this Court in above noted case of Soni Devi (supra) and according to the law laid down in Soni Devi case (supra) an application under Section 156(3) Cr.P.C. cannot be treated as criminal complaint by Special Judge SC/ST Act and only option before the court is to direct for registration of the case and to investigate the matter. Learned counsel for the applicant next submitted that as the impugned order dated 24.06.2022 is contrary to the law laid down by this Court in case of Soni Devi (supra), therefore, it is liable to be quashed as Special Judge SC/ST Act was not having any authority to treat the application moved by applicant under Section 156(3) Cr.P.C. as complaint and he had to pass a direction to register the FIR and to investigate the matter as application moved by the applicant under Section 156(3) Cr.P.C. prima facie disclosed cognizable offences against opposite party nos. 2 to 6.

5. Per contra, learned AGA submitted that there is no illegality in the impugned order dated 24.06.2022 as Special Judge SC/ST Act is having jurisdiction either to direct for investigation under Section 156(3) Cr.P.C. or to treat the application moved under Section 156(3) Cr.P.C. as a criminal complaint. Learned AGA next submitted that by virtue of amendment of 2016 as per Section 14 of Scheduled Caste and Scheduled Tribe (Prevention of Atrocities) Act, 1989 (hereinafter referred to as "the Act' in short), Special Judge SC/ST Act is having power to directly take cognizance of the offence under the provisions of the Act, therefore, Special Judge, SC/ST Act being court of original jurisdiction is having all the powers and law is settled that if any application under Section 156(3) Cr.P.C. is moved then court is not bound to pass a direction to register the FIR and investigate the matter. Learned AGA next submitted that if the court is of the view that there is no necessity to pass such direction under Section 156(3) Cr.P.C. then it can treat the application moved under Section 156(3) as a criminal complaint, therefore, by treating the application moved by applicant under Section 156(3) Cr.P.C. as a complaint, court below did not commit any illegality.

6. I have heard both the parties and perused the record of the case.

7. I have gone through the judgment passed by the co-ordinate Bench of this Court in case of Soni Devi (supra).

8. In the case of Soni Devi (supra) two questions were framed. The first question is not being referred as the same does not relate to the present dispute. The second question as framed therein in paragraph no. 15 is as follows:-

"15. The second question for consideration before this Court is as to whether Special Judge can treat the application under Section 156(3) Cr.P.C. as a complaint case or not."

9. The answer is given to the second question in paragraph no.18 in Soni Devi case (supra) as follows:-

"18. .... Therefore answer to the second question that Special Judge can treat the application under Section 156 (3)Cr.P.C. as a complaint case or not ? Answer is "No" in view of Rule 5(1) of the Amended Act."

10. As per section 14 of the Act Special court established under the Act for the purpose to provide speedy trial. Section 14 of the Act runs as follows:-

"14. Special Court and Exclusive Special Court.--(1) For the purpose of providing for speedy trial, the State Government shall, with the concurrence of the Chief Justice of the High Court, by notification in the Official Gazette, establish an Exclusive Special Court for one or more Districts:

Provided that in Districts where less number of cases under this Act is recorded, the State Government shall, with the concurrence of the Chief Justice of the High Court, by notification in the Official Gazette, specify for such Districts, the Court of Session to be a Special Court to try the offences under this Act:

Provided further that the Courts so established or specified shall have power to directly take cognizance of offences under this Act.

(2) It shall be the duty of the State Government to establish adequate number of Courts to ensure that cases under this Act are disposed of within a period of two months, as far as possible.

(3) In every trial in the Special Court or the Exclusive Special Court, the proceedings shall be continued from day-to-day until all the witnesses in attendance have been examined, unless the Special Court or the Exclusive Special Court finds the adjournment of the same beyond the following day to be necessary for reasons to be recorded in writing:

Provided that when the trial relates to an offence under this Act, the trial shall, as far as possible, be completed within a period of two months from the date of filing of the charge sheet."

11. According to the proviso clause of Section 14(1) of the Act, the special court so established shall have power to directly take cognizance of the offences under the Act.

12. Therefore, from the perusal of the proviso clause of Section 14(1) of the Act, it appears that Special Judge so established under the Act is having jurisdiction to directly take the cognizance.

13. The law is settled that if an application under Section 156(3) Cr.P.C. is moved then the Magistrate is having two option;

(a) either give a direction to register the case and investigate the matter; or

(b) to treat the application under Section 156(3) Cr.P.C. as complaint

(See Mona Panwar Vs. High Court of Judicature at Allahabad (2011) 3 SCC 496).

14. Therefore, the question arises whether Special Judge SC/ST Act so established under the Act is having the same power as enjoyed by the Magistrate under the provisions of Section 156(3) Cr.P.C.

15. In view of the Soni Devi case (supra) the Special Judge so established under the Act is not having any authority to treat the application under Section 156(3) Cr.P.C. as criminal complaint. From the perusal of the judgment of Soni Devi (supra) it reflect that the co-ordinate Bench of this Court in view of the Rule 5(1) of the amended Act held that Special Judge cannot treat the application under Section 156(3) Cr.P.C. as complaint.

16. Rule 5 of The Scheduled Caste and Scheduled Tribe (Prevention of Atrocities) Act, 1995 reads as under:-

"5. (1) Every information relating to the commission of an offence under the Act, if given orally to an officer in-charge of a police station shall be reduced to writing by him or under his direction, and be read over to the informant, and every such information, whether given in writing or reduced to writing as aforesaid, shall be signed by the persons giving it, and the substance thereof shall be entered in a book to be maintained by that police station.

(2) A copy of the information as so recorded under sub-rule (1) above shall be given forthwith, free of cost, to the informant.

(3) Any person aggrieved by a refusal on the part of an officer in-charge of a police station to record the information referred to in sub-rule (1) may send the substance of such information, in writing and by post, to the Superintendent of Police concerned who after investigation either by himself or by a police officer not below the rank of Deputy Superintendent of Police, shall make an order in writing to the officer in-charge of the concerned police station to enter the substance of that information to be entered in the book to be maintained by the police station."

17. Therefore, from the perusal of Rule 5(1) of the amended Act it reflects that it is duty of an officer incharge of police station that he shall lodge the FIR on the basis of every information relating to the commission of offene under the Act even if it given orally.

18. Therefore, the Rule 5(1) of the amended Act is almost similar to Section 154 Cr.P.C., which runs as follows:-

"154. (1) Every information relating to the commission of a cognizable offence, if given orally to an officer in charge of a police station, shall be reduced to writing by him or under his direction, and be read over to the informant; and every such information, whether given in writing or reduced to writing as aforesaid, shall be signed by the person giving it, and the substance thereof shall be entered in a book to be kept by such officer in such form as the State Government may prescribe in this behalf:

Provided that if the information is given by the woman against whom an offence under section 326A, section 326 B, section 354, section 354A, section 354B, section 354C, section 354D, section 376, section 376A, section 376AB, section 376B, section 376C, section 376D, section 376DA, section 376DB, section 376E or section 509 of the Indian Penal Code (45 of 1860) is alleged to have been committed or attempted, then such information shall be recorded, by a woman police officer or any woman officer:

Provided further that -

(a) in the event that the person against whom an offence under section 354, section 354A, section 354B, section 354C, section 354D, section 376, section 376A, section 376AB, section 376B, section 376C, section 376D, section 376DA, section 376DB, section 376E or section 509 of the Indian Penal Code (45 of 1860) is alleged to have been committed or attempted, is temporarily or permanently mentally or physically disabled, then such information shall be recorded by a police officer, at the residence of the person seeking to report such offence or at a convenient place of such person's choice, in the presence of an interpreter or a special educator, as the case may be;

(b) the recording of such information shall be videographed;

(c) the police officer shall get the statement of the person recorded by a Judicial Magistrate under clause (a) of sub-section (5A) of section 164 as soon as possible.

(2) A copy of the information as recorded under sub-section (1) shall be given forthwith, free of cost, to the informant.

(3) Any person, aggrieved by a refusal on the part of an officer in charge of a police station to record the information referred to in sub-section (1) may send the substance of such information, in writing and by post, to the Superintendent of Police concerned who, if satisfied that such information discloses the commission of a cognizable offence, shall either investigate the case himself or direct an investigation to be made by any police officer subordinate to him, in the manner provided by this Code, and such officer shall have all the powers of an officer in charge of the police station in relation to that offence."

19. It is settled law that if any information given to police officer discloses cognizable offences then it is the duty of the police officer to register the case and investigate the matter. The Constitution Bench of the Apex Court in case of Lalita Kumari Vs. Government of Uttar Pradesh and others (2014) 2 SCC 1 held that the registration of FIR is mandatory under Section 154 of the Code, if the information discloses commission of a cognizable offence and no preliminary inquiry is permissible in such a situation (See para 120.1).

20. Therefore, in my considered view, the Rule 5(1) of the amended Act does not ousted the jurisdiction of Special Judge to treat the application under Section 156(3) Cr.P.C. as complaint.

21. The issue with regard to the power of Special Judge has come before Constitution Bench of the Apex Court in case of A.R. Antulay Vs. Ramdas Sriniwas Nayak and another (1984) 2 SCC 500 in respect of Criminal Law Amendment Act, 1952.

22. Section 6, 7 and 8 of Criminal Law Amendment Act, 1952 runs as follows:-

"6. Power to appoint special judges. (1) The State Government may, by notification in the Official Gazette, appoint as many special judges as may be necessary for such area or areas as may be specified in the notification to try the following offences, namely:-

(a) an offence punishable under section 161, section 165 or section 165A of the Indian Penal Code (Act XLV of 1860) or sub-section (2) of section 5 of the Prevention of Corruption Act, 1947 (11 of 1947);

(b) any conspiracy to commit or any attempt to commit or any abetment of any of the offences specified in clause (a).

(2) A person shall not be for qualified for appointment as a special judge under this Act unless he is, or has been, a sessions judge or an additional sessions judge or an assistant sessions judge under the Code of Criminal Procedure 1898 (Act V of 1898).

7. Cases triable by special judges.- (1) Notwithstanding anything contained in the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898 (Act V of 1898) or in, any other law the offences specified in sub-section (1) of section 6 shall be triable by special judges only*

(2) Every offence specified in sub-section (1) of section 6 shall be tried by the special judge or the area within which it was committed, or where there are more special judges than one for such area, by such one of them as may be specified in this behalf by the State Government.

(3) When trying any case, a special judge may also try any offence other than an offence specified in section 6 with which the accused may, under the Code of Criminal Procedure. 1898, be charged at the same trial.

8. Procedure and powers of special judges-(1) A special judge may take cognizance of offences without the accused being committed to him for trial, and in trying the accused persons, shall follow the procedure prescribed by the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898 (Act V of 18981), for the trial of warrant cases by Magistrates.*

(2) A special judge may, with a view to obtaining the evidence of any person supposed to have been directly or indirectly concerned in, or privy to, an offence, tender a pardon to such person on condition of his making a full and true disclosure of the whole circumstances within his knowledge relating to the offence and to every other person concerned, whether as principal or abettor, in the commission thereof; and any pardon so tendered shall, for the purposes of sections 339 and 339A of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, be deemed to have been tendered under Sections 338 of that Code.

3. Save as provided in sub-section (1) or sub-section (2), the provisions of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898 shall, so far as they are not in consistent with this Act, apply to the proceedings before a special judge; and for the purposes of the said provisions, the court of the special judge shall be deemed to be a court of session trial cases without a jury or without the aid of assessors and the person conducting a prosecution before a special judge shall be deemed to be a public prosecutor.

(4) A special judge may pass upon any person convicted by him any sentence authorised by law for the punishment of the offence of which such person is convicted."

23. Section 6 of the Criminal Law Amendment Act, 1952 empowers the State Government to appoint as many Special Judges as are necessary to try the specified categories of offences. Section 7 makes it clear that such offences should be tried only by the Special Judges. Section 8 expressly empowers the Special Judge to take cognizance of offences without the accused being committed or tried and that in trying the accused shall follow the procedure prescribed by the Old Code for trial of warrant cases by the Magistrates.

24. From the perusal of A.R. Antulay case (supra) it appears that a private complaint was filed against A.R. Antulay alleging commission of offence triable by Special Judge under the Act of 1952. The Special Judge took cognizance of the offences upon the complaint and adjourned the case for recording evidence of the complainant and on the adjourned day, A.R. Antulay appeared and contended, inter alia, that Special Judge cannot take cognizance upon a private complaint. Section 5-A of the Prevention of Corruption Act, 1947 requires a prior investigation by Police Officer of the designated rank.

25. The Constitution Bench of the Apex Court while discussing the matter observed in para 18 as:-

"It is a well-established canon of construction that the court should read the section as it is and cannot rewrite it to suit its convenience; nor does any canon of construction permit the court to read the section in such manner as to render it to some extent otiose. Sec. 8 (1) says that the special Judge shall take cognizance of an offence and shall not take it on commitment of the accused. The Legislature provided for both the positive and the negative. It positively conferred power on special Judge to take cognizance of offences and it negatively removed any concept of commitment. It is not possible therefore, to read Sec. 8 (1) as eanvassed on behalf of the appellant that cognizance can only be taken upon a police report and any other view will render the safeguard under Section 5A illusory."*

*(Section 5A Prevention of Corruption Act, 1947)

26. The Apex Court in case of A.R. Antulay (supra) disapproved the contention that a private complaint is not maintainable in absence of unambiguous provision in Criminal Law Amendment Act, 1952 to that effect. The Apex Court referred the express provision of Section 8 of the Act, 1952 and noticed that these express provisions did not bar initiation of proceedings of a private complaint.

27. The Apex Court at the beginning of paragraph no. 27 stated as:-

"It is, however, necessary to decide with precision and accuracy the position of a Special Judge and the Court over which he presides styled as the Court of a Special Judge because unending confusions have arisen by either assimilating him with a Magistrate or with a Sessions Court."

28. The Apex Court after referring to Section of the old Code according to which, there are four types of criminal

Courts functioning under the High Court, namely, Court of Session, Judicial Magistrate of the First Class, Judicial Magistrate of the Second Class and Executive Magistrate observed as:-

"As already pointed out, there were four types of criminal Courts functioning under the High Court. To this list was added the court of a Special Judge."

29. The Apex Court further observed:-

"Now that a new Criminal Court was being set up, the Legislature took the first step of providing its comparative position in hierarchy of Courts under Section 6, Criminal Procedure Code by bringing it to level more or less comparable to the Court of Session, but in order to avoid any confusion arising out of comparison by level, it was made explicit in Section 8(1) itself that it is not a Court of Session because it can take cognizance of offences without commitment as contemplated by Section 193, Criminal Procedure Code. Undoubtedly, in Section 8(3), it was clearly laid down that subject to the provisions of sub-sections (1) and (2) of Section 8, the Court of Special Judge shall be deemed to be a Court of Session trying cases without a jury or without the aid of assessors. In contradistinction to the Sessions Court this new Court was to be a Court of original jurisdiction. The legislature then proceeded to specify which out of the various procedures set out in the Code, this new Court, shall follow for trial of offences before it."

30. Dealing with the question whether Special Judge is a Magistrate or the Court of Session, the Apex Court further observed:-

"This is the fallacy of the whole approach. In fact, in order to give full effect to Section 8(1), the only thing to do is to read Special Judge in Sections 238 to 250 wherever the expression 'Magistrate' occurs. This is what is called legislation by incorporation. Similarly, where the question of taking cognizance arises, it is futile to go in search of the fact whether for purposes of Section 190 which conferred power on the Magistrate to take cognizance of the offence. Special Judge is Magistrate? What is to be done is that one has to read the expression 'Special Judge' in place of Magistrate, and the whole thing becomes crystal clear. The Legislature wherever it found the gray area clarified it by making specific provision such as the one in sub-section (2) of Section 8 and to leave no one in doubt further provided in sub-section (3) that all provisions of the Criminal Procedure Code so far as they are not inconsistent with the Act apply to the proceedings before a Special Judge. At the time when the 1952 Act was enacted, what was in operation was the Criminal Procedure Code, 1898. It did not envisage any Court of a Special Judge and the Legislature never wanted to draw up an exhaustive Code of Procedure for this new Criminal Court which was being set up. The net outcome is that a new Court of original jurisdiction was set up and wherever a question arose as to what are its powers in respect of specific question brought before it as Court of original criminal jurisdiction, it had to refer to the Criminal Procedure Code undaunted by any designation clantrap. When taking cognizance a Court of Special Judge enjoyed powers under Section 190. When trying cases, it is obligatory to follow the procedure for trial of warrant cases by a Magistrate though as and by way of status it was equated with a Court of Session. The entire argument inviting us to specifically decide whether a Court of a Special Judge for a certain purpose is a Court of Magistrate or a Court of Session revolves round a mistaken belief that a Special Judge has to be one or the other and must fit in the shot of a Magistrate or a Court of Session. Such an approach would strangulate the functioning of the Court and must be eschewed. Shorn of all embellishment, the Court of a Special Judge is a Court of original criminal jurisdiction. As a Court of original criminal jurisdiction in order to make it functionally oriented, some powers were conferred by the statute setting up the Court. Except those specifically conferred and specifically denied, it has to function as a Court of original criminal jurisdiction not being hidebound by the terminological status description of Magistrate or a Court of Session. Under the Code, it will enjoy all powers which a Court of original criminal jurisdiction enjoys, save and except the ones specifically denied."

31. Further, the Apex Court in para 28 observed as:-

"Therefore, there is no gainsaying the fact that a new criminal court with a name, designation and qualification of the officer eligible to preside over it with powers specified and the particular procedure which it must follow has been set up under the 1952 Act. The court has to be treated as a court of original criminal jurisdiction and shall have all the powers as any court of original criminal jurisdiction has under the Code of Criminal Procedure, except those specifically excluded."

32. Therefore, from the perusal of the above observation and the law laid down by the Apex Court in the case of A.R. Antulay (supra) it is abundantly clear that Special Judge under the 1952 Act is a Court of original jurisdiction enjoys all the powers except the one specifically denied.

33. The provisions of Section 8 (1) of the 1952 Act is akin to the proviso clause of Section 14(1) of the Act, which clearly states that Special Judge so established under the Act can directly take the cognizance of the offences under the Act and in view of Constitution Bench of the Apex Court special judge so established under the Act can take cognizance even on private complaint as there is no specific denial to that effect under the Act.

34. Therefore, in view of the law laid down by the Constitution Bench of the Apex Curt in case of A.R. Antulay (supra) a Special Judge so established under the Act being the court of original jurisdiction is having all the powers which a court of original jurisdiction enjoys including the power either to direct for registration of the case under Section 156(3) Cr.P.C. or take cognizance on private complaint.

35. It is pertinent to mention here that the Full Bench of Madhya Pradesh High Court (Gwalior Bench) in the case of Anand Swaroop Tiwari Vs. Ram Ratan Jatav and others MANU/MP/0285/1995 after discussing the Constitution Bench case of A.R. Antulay (supra) concluded as:-

"In the result, we hold as follows :

(a) Special Courts under the Act are not to function as Sessions Court, but as Courts 'of original jurisdiction'.

(b) Proceedings of Special Court are governed by Section 190, Chapters XV, XVI (other than Section 209) as also Chapters XIX and XX as the case may be and such other provisions of the Code as are not inconsistent with the scheme and provisions of the Act, reading "Special Courts" wherever the expression "Magistrate" occurs.

(c) Section 193 of the Code of Criminal Procedure does not apply to proceedings under the Act and committal orders are not required.

(d) Special Court can take cognizance on private complaints after following the procedure provided in the Code in relation to private complaints.

(e) Where cognizance has already been taken on the basis of committal orders in Police challan cases, it is not necessary for the Courts to retrace their steps or to take cognizance afresh.

(f) Where cognizance has already been taken on the basis of committal orders in private complaint cases, the Special Courts may deal with the cases as if they are dealing with private complaints under Section 200 of the Code."

36. Therefore, from the above discussion, I am of the view that Special Judge so established under the Act can treat the application moved under Section 156(3) Cr.P.C. as a complaint and thus there is no illegality in impugned order dated 24.06.2022 passed by Special Judge SC/ST (P.A.) Act, Etah.

37. Therefore, I am in respectful disagreement with the view taken by co-ordinate Bench of this Court in case of Soni Devi (supra) that Special Judge so established under the Act is having no power or authority to treat the application moved under Section 156(3) Cr.P.C. as complaint.

38. As this Bench has taken a different view from the view taken in the case of Soni Devi (supra) with regard to the second question, therefore, let the matter be placed before Hon'ble The Chief Justice for nomination of appropriate Bench to decide following question:-

"Whether Special Judge so established under the Act is empowered to treat application moved under Section 156(3) Cr.P.C. as criminal complaint or not."

39. Recently, another co-ordinate Bench of this Court in Application under Section 482 Cr.P.C. No. 14443 of 2022 Naresh Kumar Valmiki Vs. State of U.P. and others took a different view from the view taken in the case of Soni Devi (supra) in respect of second question and referred the matter to larger Bench for appropriate decision.

40. As the instant issue has already referred to larger Bench in Application under Section 482 Cr.P.C. No. 14443 of 2022, therefore, in view of the matter connect the instant application along with Application under Section 482 Cr.P.C. No. 14443 of 2022.

41. Since, there is difference of opinion in respect of the view taken in the case of Soni Devi (supra) by co-ordinate Bench of this Court, therefore, prayer for staying the effect and operation of the impugned order is refused.

The aforesaid vehicle is in custody of police authority of Police Station Saiyadraja since 12.12.2020. The concerned police informed the applicant at the time of seizing of the Truck that driver of the Truck had ran away from the spot. Thereafter, applicant produced the driver before the court below who was released on bail by the court below. The applicant was granted anticipatory bail by this Court vide order dated 18.03.2021 passed in Criminal Misc. Anticipatory Bail Application No. 1854 of 2021, the copy of the order has been annexed as Annexure No.6 to the affidavit. The applicant had purchased the aforesaid Truck in the year, 2015 and since then there was no complaint regarding carrying of cow or its progeny. Prior two days of the incident, the driver of the aforesaid Truck had gone to carry paddy in district Chandauli without giving information to the applicant, and thereupon, the aforesaid Truck was caught by the police of police station Saiyadraja who informed the applicant about the seizure of Truck. The aforesaid offence was committed by the driver of Truck without knowledge of the applicant and applicant has no role in this regard. The applicant was unaware about committing of offence by the driver of the Truck. Due to seizure of Truck, the parts and tools of it are damaging and the aforesaid Truck is standing in the open place at concerned police station. In case, the aforesaid Truck is released by this Court, the applicant undertakes not to transfer the Truck to third-party. The applicant had also moved an application for release of the Truck in question before District Magistrate, Varanasi which was rejected vide impugned order dated 18.08.2021 without considering the release application of the applicant, copy of the impugned order has been annexed as Annexure No.7 to the affidavit. Thereafter, the applicant filed a criminal revision against the impugned order dated 18.08.2021 before District and Sessions Judge, Chandauli on the aforesaid ground which was registered as Criminal Revision No. 54 of 2021, copy of the memo of revision has been annexed as Annexure No.8 to the affidavit. The aforesaid revision was transferred to the court of Special Judge (SC/ST Act), Chandauli and the revisional court also without considering the record of the case in a routine manner rejected the revision vide order dated 13.10.2021, copy whereof has been annexed as Annexure No.9 to the affidavit.

5. In this case no counter affidavit has been filed on behalf of the State-opposite party no.1.

6. Learned counsel for the applicant submits that the applicant has moved release application before the District Magistrate, Varanasi stating therein that applicant is a registered owner of the vehicle in question which is duly registered at Transport Department, UP and is involved in transport business. When the alleged incident took place, the said vehicle was being driven by the driver who was carrying cow and its progeny without the knowledge of applicant. It is further submitted that applicant has no concern with the recovered cow progeny. The release application of the applicant has been rejected by District Magistrate vide order dated 18.08.2021 only on the ground that applicant has not taken reasonable care for the use of vehicle by which cow progeny were being illegally transported and has illegally confiscated the Truck under the proceeding of Section 5A UP Prevention of Cow Slaughter Act, 1955. The revision of the applicant has illegally been rejected vide order dated 13.10.2021. It is further submitted that the impugned orders of District Magistrate as well as of revisional court are illegal and liable to be set-aside and he has placed reliance on the law laid down by the Hon'ble Apex Court in Sunderbhai Ambalal Desai and C.M. Mudaliar vs. State of Gujarat [AIR 2003 SC 638]. Learned counsel of the applicant has also drawn the attention of the Court regarding the provisions of Sections 451 and 457 of Cr.P.C. He has also submitted that the applicant is ready to comply with all the conditions imposed upon him while releasing the vehicle.

7. Learned A.G.A. has vehemently opposed the prayer for release of the vehicle and submitted that before confiscation proceedings applicant has not taken plea that the transport medium (the Truck in question) was used in the commission of crime despite all its precaution and without its knowledge by the driver of the Truck. For the first time, in the present application it has been stated that the Truck was used for transportation of cow and its progeny without his knowledge. It is further submitted by learned A.G.A. that in objection before District Magistrate applicant had denied involvement of his vehicle in transporting of cow and its progeny and had taken the stand that his vehicle was 8falsely implicated in transportation of cow and its progeny. He had pleaded before District Magistrate that transportation of cow and its progeny within the State of UP requires no permit and it does not amount to an offence. He had further pleaded that he is a registered owner of the vehicle and all papers relating to vehicle are valid and he has no concern with the recovered cow and its progeny from his vehicle, thus, if the vehicle is not released it will get damaged as it is kept in the open space at the concerned police station. Learned A.G.A. has further submitted that cow and its progeny cannot be transported within the State of UP without permit as per Section 5A of Cow Slaughter Act which regulates transport of the cow etc. It is further submitted that by UP Act the sub-clauses (6), (7), (8), (9), (10) and (11) were inserted after sub-clause 5 to Section 5A which deal with the seizure of the cow and transport medium by which the beef or cow and its progeny is transported in violation of the provisions of this Act and the relevant rules, shall be confiscated and seized by law enforcement officers. The District Magistrate/or Commissioner of the police will do all proceedings of confiscation and release, as the case may be, unless it is not proved that the transport medium used in crime, despite all its precaution and without its knowledge, has been used by some other person for causing the offence.

8. Learned A.G.A. has further submitted that it cannot be alleged by the applicant under the confiscation proceedings before the District Magistrate that despite of all his precaution and without his knowledge, the said vehicle was used by some other person for causing the offence. In above circumstances, the impugned orders passed by the District Magistrate, Varanasi as well as revisional court are according to law, which warrant no interference by this Court.

9. I have given thoughtful consideration to the contentions raised by the counsel of the applicant as well as learned A.G.A. and gone through the file, relevant provisions of Cow Slaughter Act and the provisions of Code of Criminal Procedure.

10. Here the question involved in this case is that whether the applicant has violated any provisions of law in transporting cow and its progeny by the vehicle in question and the impugned orders of the District Magistrate, Varanasi dated 18.08.2021, confiscating the said vehicle and the impugned order passed by Special Judge (SC/ST Act), Chandauli dated 13.10.2021, dismissing the revision of the applicant, are according to law or not.

11. For deciding the instant application under Section 482 Cr.P.C., it is necessary to go through the relevant provisions of UP Cow Slaughter Act. Section 5-A of the Act provides for regulation on transport of cow, etc., which reads as under:-

"5-A. Regulation on transport of cow, etc.- (1) No person shall transport or offer for transport or cause to be transported any cow, or bull or bullock, the slaughter whereof in any place in Uttar Pradesh is punishable under this Act, from any place within the State to any place outside the State, except under a permit issued by an officer authorised by the State Government in this behalf by notified order and except in accordance with the terms and conditions of such permit.

(2) Such officer shall issue the permit on payment of such fee not exceeding [five hundred rupees] for every cow, bull or bullock as may be prescribed:

Provided that no fee shall be chargeable where the permit is for transport of the cow, bull or bullock for a limited period not exceeding six months as may be specified in the permit.

(3) Where the person transporting a cow, bull or bullock on a permit for a limited period does not bring back such cow, bull or bullock into the State within the period specified in the permit, he shall be deemed to have contravened the provision of sub-section (1).

(4) The form of permit, the form of application therefore and the procedure for disposal of such application shall be such as may be prescribed.

(5) The State Government or any officer authorised by it in this behalf by general or special notified order, may, at any time, for the purpose of satisfying itself, or himself, as to the legality or propriety of the action taken under this section, called for and examine the record of any case and pass such orders thereon as it or he may deemed fit.

[(6) Where the said conveyance has been confirmed to be related to beef by the competent authority or authorised laboratory under this Act, the driver, operator and owner related to transport, shall be charged with the offence under this Act, unless it is not proved that the transport medium used in crime, despite all its precautions and without its knowledge, has been used by some other person for causing the offence.

(7) The vehicle by which the beef or cow and its progeny is transported in violation of the provisions of this Act and the relevant rules, shall be confiscated and seized by the law enforcement officers. The concerned District Magistrate/ Commissioner of Police will do all proceedings of confiscation and release, as the case may be.

(8) The cow and its progeny or the beef transported by the seized vehicle shall also be confiscated and seized by the law enforcement officers. The concerned District Magistrate/Commissioner will do all proceedings of the confiscation and release, as the case may be.

(9) The expenditure on the maintenance of the seized cows and its progeny shall be recovered from the accused for a period of one year or till the release of the cow and its progeny in favour of the owner thereof whichever is earlier.

(10) Where a person is prosecuted for committing, abetting, or attempting to an offence under Sections 3, 5 and 8 of this Act and the beef or cow-remains in the possession of accused has been proved by the prosecution and transported things are confirmed to be beef by the competent authority or authorised laboratory, then the court shall presume that such person has committed such offence or attempt or abetment of such offence, as the case may be, unless the contrary is proved.

(11) Where the provisions of this Act or the related rules in context of search, acquisition, disposal and seizure are silent, the relevant provisions of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 shall be effective thereto.]"

12. Now, it is to be considered whether permit is required for transportation of the cow or its progeny within the State of Uttar Pradesh. This question came up for consideration before this Court in Criminal Revision No. 131 of 2005 (Kailash Yadav and Others vs. State of U.P. & others, 2008(10) ADJ 623), wherein it is held that no permit is required for transportation of cow or its progeny within the State of Uttar Pradesh. Sub-section 5A (6 to 8) provides for confiscation and release of vehicle by which beef or cow and its progeny is transported in violation of the provision of this Act and the relevant rules. Sub-section 5A (6 to 8) reads as follows:-

(6) Where the said conveyance has been confirmed to be related to beef by the competent authority or authorised laboratory under this Act, the driver, operator and owner related to transport, shall be charged with the offence under this Act, unless it is not proved that the transport medium used in crime, despite all its precautions and without its knowledge, has been used by some other person for causing the offence.

(7) The vehicle by which the beef or cow and its progeny is transported in violation of the provisions of this Act and the relevant rules, shall be confiscated and seized by the law enforcement officers. The concerned District Magistrate/ Commissioner of Police will do all proceedings of confiscation and release, as the case may be.

(8) The cow and its progeny or the beef transported by the seized vehicle shall also be confiscated and seized by the law enforcement officers. The concerned District Magistrate/Commissioner will do all proceedings of the confiscation and release, as the case may be.

13. From the perusal of sub-section (1 to 5) of Section 5A of this Act and the law laid down by this Court in Kailash Yadav and Others vs. State of U.P. & Others (supra), it is abundantly clear that there is no need of permit to transport cow and its progeny within the state of Uttar Pradesh. Therefore, transportation of a cow and its progeny within the state of Uttar Pradesh is not a violation of any of the provisions of the Cow Slaughter Act. Therefore, it cannot be said that the seized vehicle in question was used in violation of Section 5A (1) to (11) or any provisions of the Cow Slaughter Act, and therefore, police has no power or jurisdiction to seize or confiscate the vehicle in question. The District Magistrate, Varanasi has passed the impugned confiscation order dated 18.08.2021 in contravention of the law, as no permit is required to transport cow and its progeny within the state of Uttar Pradesh. In above circumstances, the impugned order dated 18.08.2021 passed by District Magistrate, Varanasi is without jurisdiction and the same is liable to be set-aside. Likewise, the revisional court has not considered the relevant provisions of Section 5A of Cow Slaughter Act while dismissing the criminal revision of the applicant, therefore, the impugned order dated 13.10.2021 passed by Special Judge (SC/ST Act), Chandauli is also against the provisions of law and is liable to be set-aside.

14. Accordingly, the instant application under Section 482 Cr.P.C. is allowed. The impugned orders dated 18.08.2021 passed by District Magistrate, Varanasi and the order dated 13.10.2021 passed by Special Judge (SC/ST Act) are, hereby, set-aside, consequently, the concerned court below is directed to release the vehicle in question forthwith, in accordance with law.

15. Let a copy of this order be transmitted to the concerned court below for necessary compliance forthwith.

Order on Criminal Misc. Correction Application dated 06.09.2022.

Learned counsel for the applicant prays for and is permitted to make correction of district in the memo as well as in the prayer clause of the Application U/S 482 during the course of the day.

Heard learned counsel for the applicant as well as learned A.G.A. for the State.

The instant correction application has been moved by the applicant with the prayer to correct the District Chandauli in place of District Varanasi in the paragraph nos.2, 10 and 14 of the judgement and order dated 25.08.2022.

In view of the above, the instant correction application is allowed.

Accordingly, the words "District Varanasi" transcribed in paragraph nos.2, 10 and 14 of the judgement and order dated 25.08.2022 be corrected and read as "District Chandauli".

(A) Criminal Law - The Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 - Section 482 - Inherent power - Indian Penal Code, 1860 - Sections 419, 420, 467, 468 & 471 - Will is always subject to proof - If it is not proved, it becomes of no importance - a civil dispute should not be given the colour of criminal offence - if there is no legal evidence adduced in support of the case or evidence adduced clearly or manifestly fails to charge, then proceedings of such cases can be quashed while exercising the power under Section 482 Cr.P.C. - Any effort to settle civil disputes and claims, which do not involve any criminal offence, by applying pressure though criminal prosecution should be deprecated and discouraged. (Para - 9,23,27,28)

Originally property recorded in the name of father of opposite part no. 2 - registered Will deed in favour of applicant no.- 2 and Others - mutation order in favour of applicant no.- 2 - long litigation between Informant and applicant no. 2 - mutation made by Tehsildar in favour of applicant No.3 - objection made by Informant - dispute mainly of civil nature - registered sale-deed in favour of applicant-no. -1 executed by applicant no.3 recorded tenure holder of the property - Informant moved an application, under Section 156(3) Cr.P.C. against applicants - FIR does not disclose any offence against applicants - no whisper of how and in what manner, applicants are involved in any criminal offence.(Para -3,31,32)

HELD:-Opposite party no.2 gave colour of criminal offence to a purely civil dispute. No evidence that registered Will was forged one . Only competent civil court having jurisdiction over the matter could decide the issue whether the Will in dispute was forged one or not . Informant wanted to settle his dispute through criminal proceedings as criminal proceedings can be very easily initiated and can harass the applicants too . Allowing prosecution to continue against the applicants is abuse of process of law and it should be quashed.(Para -29,32)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Rajendra Kumar - IV, J.)

1. Heard learned counsel for parties and perused the materials available on record.

2. This application under Section 482 Cr.P.C. has been filed by Smt. Madhu Gupta, Mahesh Chandra Gupta, Dwarika Prasad Jaiswal, Sanjai Singh and Rajneesh with the prayer to quash the charge sheet dated 05.04.2010 and entire criminal proceedings in Criminal Case No. 3609 of 2010, under Section 419, 420, 467, 468 and 471 IPC, Police Station Siddharth Nagar, District Siddharth Nagar with the following prayers : -

"to quash the further proceeding of criminal case no. 3609 of 2010 under section- 419, 420, 467, 468, 471 IPC, Police Station and District Siddharth Nagar pending before Chief Judicial Magistrate, Siddharth Nagar and or may pass such other and further order as this Hon'ble court may deem fit proper under the facts and circumstances of the case, otherwise the applicants shall suffer irreparable loss and injury."

3. Brief facts of the case giving rise to the present application, are as under :-

i. Informant moved an application, under Section 156(3) Cr.P.C. against the applicants herein, alleging them Informant's father Satya Narayan executed a will-deed in favour of Dwarika, Ayodhya sons of Balram, Ashish and Alok sons of Kanhiya Lal on 11.07.1996 in respect of his movable and immovable property. After the Will was made, they stopped serving and caring of Satya Narain, father of Informant, on which Informant and his wife in view of his father's illness etc., started treating his father with care and medicine, due to which, his father Satya Narain cancelled the first Will executed in favour of Dwarika and others and executed the second Will in favour of his three sons on 25.07.1997. It is further alleged in application that Dwarika Prasad filed an application 156(3) Cr.P.C. before CJM concerned, which came to be dismissed. There against, criminal revision was also filed by him before Sessions Judge, which was also dismissed on 1.12.2005. Saying his failure Dwarika made a sale deed dated 19.5.2009 of Plot No.399 (c) in favour of Madhu Gupta on the basis of Will, to which he had no right. When Informant came to know this fact, he went Police Station to lodge the FIR but no action was taken in the matter.

ii. Upon the application 156(3) Cr.P.C. made by the Informant, an FIR was directed to be lodged, whereupon FIR in Case Crime No. 285 of 2010 was registered in Police Station concerned. Investigating Officer undertook investigation, collected the evidence and filed charge-sheet in the matter, which is under challenge in the present application.

4. Learned counsel for the applicants submits that property was recorded in the name of Satya Narain, who had three sons namely Balram, Kanhaiya and Sriram. Satya Narain, during his life time, had executed a registered will-deed in favour of Ayodhya, Dwarika, Ashish and Alok. As per allegations, Satya Narain himself, during his life time, got cancelled earlier will-deed.

5. Learned counsel next contended that after the death of Satya Narain, name of Dwarika Prasad and others, in whose favour Will was executed, was mutated by revenue authorities, even after the submission of objection of Informant. Thus, name of Dwarika Prasad and others got mutated in the revenue record and they have been recorded tenure holder of the property. Learned counsel further submits that applicant No.1 had purchased the land / plot No. 399 (c) after giving full consideration through registered sale deed and she is a bona fide purchaser. She got her house constructed over the land and she is living peacefully in that house. Matter is of civil nature, cancellation of will-deed is not pending in any court but Informant tried to settle his dispute of civil nature by roping the applicants in criminal case. Prosecution of applicants in criminal case is abuse of process of court, which should not be permitted to continue. Learned counsel further submits that it appears that Dwarika Prasad had moved an application under Section 156(3) Cr.P.C. against the Informant, prior to this application, thus, Informant in retaliation thereto filed present application against the applicants. Learned counsel for applicants referred the some judgments in favour of his contentions.

6. Learned AGA opposed the submissions made by learned counsel for the applicants but conceded the factual submissions made and admitted that it is a case of civil dispute. He could not show the manner in which offence is committed by accused-applicants except saying that applicants are named in the FIR and FIR was registered on the application of 156(3) Cr.P.C. and Investigating Officer submitted charge sheet in the matter. Learned AGA further submits that constitution of any offence may be debated at the time framing charge.

7. It has been mainly stated in the counter affidavit that Tehsildar illegally decided the mutation in favour of applicant No.3 and other paras of counter affidavit are general in nature denying the contentions of the applicants' affidavit. In paragraph 5 of the counter affidavit, it has been stated that father of Informant Satya Narain executed another Will deed on 25.2.1997 by canceling the earlier will dated 11.07.1996 and all movable and immovable property distributed in his all three sons including the Opposite Party No.2.

8. It is also mentioned in the counter affidavit that unregistered Will deed in favour of Opposite Party No.2 has also been challenged by applicant No.3-Dwarika Prasad but the application filed by Dwarika Prasad under Section 156(3) Cr.P.C. before CJM, Siddharth Nagar has also been dismissed, not finding any offence. Copy of CJM's order dated 12.05.2005 is annexed as Annexure No.2 to the counter affidavit.

9. It is admitted fact by the parties that at the time of alleged sale deed, property was recorded in the name of Dwarika Prasad, applicant Madhu Gupta purchased the plot in question from its recorded owner through registered sale deed after paying a due consideration and from the date of sale deed, she is in possession. Execution of sale deed is neither in question nor disputed. It is also admitted fact that applicant No.2 is the husband of applicant no.1 and applicant nos. 4 and 5 are the marginal witnesses of alleged sale deed. Will deed in favour of Dwarika Prsad was not challenged nor it was cancelled. It is settled law that Will is always subject to proof. If it is not proved, it becomes of no importance.

10. In the instant case, the first information report has been registered under Sections 419, 420, 467, 468 and 471 IPC. The allegations leveled in the first information report are of (1) cheating and (2) forgery. I shall deal with the Section 420 IPC. Cheating is defined in Section 415 IPC and is punishable under Section 420 IPC. Section 415 is set out below:

"415. Cheating. Whoever, by deceiving any person, fraudulently or dishonestly induces the person so deceived to deliver any property to any person, or to consent that any person shall retain any property, or intentionally induces the person so deceived to do or omit to do anything which he would not do or omit if he were not so deceived, and which act or omission causes or is likely to cause damage or harm to that person in body, mind, reputation or property, is said to cheat.

Explanation. A dishonest concealment of facts is a deception within the meaning of this section.

Section 415 IPC thus requires

1. deception of any person.

2. (a) fraudulently or dishonestly inducing that person-

(i) to deliver any property to any person; or

(ii) to consent that any person shall retain any property; or

(b) intentionally inducing that person to do or omit to do anything which he would not do or omit if he were not so deceived, and which act or omission causes or is likely to cause damage or harm to that person in body mind, reputation or property.

On a reading of the aforesaid section, it is manifest that in the definition there are two separate classes of acts which the person deceived may be induced to do. In the first class of acts he may be induced fraudulently or dishonestly to deliver property to any person. The second class of acts is the doing or omitting to do anything which the person deceived would not do or omit to do if he were not so deceived. In the first class of cases, the inducing must be fraudulent or dishonest. In the second class of acts, the inducing must be intentional but need not be fraudulent or dishonest. Therefore, it is the intention which is the gist of the offence. To hold a person guilty of cheating it is necessary to show that he had a fraudulent or dishonest intention at the time of making the promise. From his mere failure to subsequently keep a promise, one cannot presume that he all along had a culpable intention to break the promise from the beginning.

11. I shall now deal with the ingredients of Section 467 IPC. Section 467 IPC reads as under:

"467. Forgery of valuable security, will etc. Whoever forges a document which purports to be a valuable security or a will, or an authority to adopt a son, or which purports to give authority to any person to make or transfer any valuable security, or to receive the principal, interest or dividends thereon, or to receive or deliver any money, moveable property, or valuable security, or any document purporting to be an acquittance or receipt acknowledging the payment of money, or an acquittance or receipt for the delivery of any moveable property or valuable security, shall be punished with imprisonment for life, or with imprisonment of either description for a term which may extend to ten years, and shall also be liable to fine. The following ingredients are essential for commission of the offence under section 467 IPC:

1. the document in question so forged;

2. the accused who forged it.

3. the document is one of the kinds enumerated in the aforementioned section.

The basic ingredients of offence under Section 467 are altogether missing even in the allegations of the FIR against the appellants. Therefore, by no stretch of the imagination, the appellants can be legally prosecuted for an offence under Section 467 IPC.

Even if all the averments made in the FIR are taken to be correct, the case for prosecution under Section 420 and 467 IPC is not made out against the applicants. To prevent abuse of the process and to secure the ends of justice, it becomes imperative to quash the FIR and any further proceedings emanating therefrom.

The court must ensure that criminal prosecution is not used as an instrument of harassment or for seeking private vendetta or with an ulterior motive to pressure the accused. On analysis of the aforementioned cases, we are of the opinion that it is neither possible nor desirable to lay down an inflexible rule that would govern the exercise of inherent jurisdiction. Inherent jurisdiction of the High Courts under Section 482 Cr.P.C. though wide has to be exercised sparingly, carefully and with caution and only when it is justified by the tests specifically laid down in the Statute itself and in the aforementioned cases. In view of the settled legal position, the impugned judgment cannot be sustained."

12. The Supreme Court, in Inder Mohan Goswami v. State of Uttaranchal, (2007)12 SCC 1, observed as under :

"The veracity of the facts alleged by the appellants and the respondents can only be ascertained on the basis of evidence and documents by a civil court of competent jurisdiction. The dispute in question is purely of civil nature and respondent no.3 has already instituted a civil suit in the court of Civil Judge. In the facts and circumstances of this case, initiating criminal proceedings by the respondents against the appellants is clearly an abuse of the process of the court. Scope and ambit of courts powers under Section 482 Cr.P.C.

This court in a number of cases has laid down the scope and ambit of courts powers under Section 482 Cr.P.C. Every High Court has inherent power to act ex debito justitiae to do real and substantial justice, for the administration of which alone it exists, or to prevent abuse of the process of the court. Inherent power under Section 482 Cr.P.C. can be exercised:

(i) to give effect to an order under the Code; (ii) to prevent abuse of the process of court, and (iii) to otherwise secure the ends of justice."

13. The Supreme Court, in Madhavrao Jiwajirao Scindia and Others v. Sambhajirao Chadrojirao Angre and Others, (1988) 1 SCC 692, observed as under : -

"The legal position is well-settled that when a prosecution at the initial stage is asked to be quashed, the test to be applied by the court is as to whether the uncontroverted allegations as made prima facie establish the offence. It is also for the court to take into consideration any special features which appear in a particular case to consider whether it is expedient and in the interest of justice to permit a prosecution to continue. This is so on the basis that the court cannot be utilised for any oblique purpose and where in the opinion of the court chances of an ultimate conviction is bleak and, therefore, no useful purpose is likely to be served by allowing a criminal prosecution to continue, the court may while taking into consideration the special facts of a case also quash the proceeding even though it may be at a preliminary stage."

14. The three judge Bench of the Apex Court in the case of R.P. Kapur Vs. State of Punjab AIR 1960 SC 866 after discussing the power of this Court under Section 561A old code (pari materia with Section 482 Cr.P.C.) observed in paragraph no.6 as:-

"6. Before dealing with the merits of the appeal it is necessary to consider the nature and scope of the inherent power of the High Court under Section 561-Aof the Code. The said section saves the inherent power of the High Court to make such orders as may be necessary to give effect to any order under this Code or to prevent abuse of the process of any court or otherwise to secure the ends of justice. There is no doubt that this inherent power cannot be exercised in regard to matters specifically covered by the other provisions of the Code. In the present case the magistrate before whom the police report has been filed under Section 173of the Code has yet not applied his mind to the merits of the said report and it may be assumed in favour of the appellant that his request for the quashing of the .proceedings is not at the present stage covered by any specific provision of the Code. It is well-established that the inherent jurisdiction of the High Court can be exercised to quash proceedings in a proper case either to prevent the abuse of the process of any court or otherwise to secure the ends of justice. Ordinarily criminal proceedings instituted against an accused person must be tried under the provisions of the Code, and the High Court would be reluctant to interfere with the said proceedings at an interlocutory stage. It is not possible, desirable or expedient to lay down any inflexible rule which would govern the exercise of this inherent jurisdiction. However, we may indicate some categories of cases where the inherent jurisdiction can and should be exercised for quashing the proceedings. There may be cases where it may be possible for the High Court to take the view that the institution or continuance of criminal proceedings against an accused person may amount to the abuse of the process of the court or that the quashing of the impugned proceedings would secure the ends of justice. If the criminal proceeding in question is in respect of an offence alleged to have been committed by an accused person and it manifestly appears that there is a legal bar against the institution or continuance of the said proceeding the High Court would be justified in quashing the proceeding on that ground. Absence of the requisite sanction may, for instance, furnish cases under this category. Cases may also arise where the allegations in the First Information Report or the complaint, even if they are taken at their face value and accepted in their entirety, do not constitute the offence alleged; in such cases no ques- tion of appreciating evidence arises; it is a matter merely of looking at the complaint or the First Information Report to decide whether the offence alleged is disclosed or not. In such cases it would be legitimate for the High Court to hold that it would be manifestly unjust to allow the process of the criminal court to be issued against the accused person. A third category of cases in which the inherent jurisdiction of the High Court can be successfully invoked may also arise. In cases falling under this category the allegations made against the accused person do constitute an offence alleged but there is either no legal evidence adduced in support of the case or evidence adduced clearly or manifestly fails to prove the charge. In dealing with this class of cases it is important to bear in mind the distinction between a case where there is no legal evidence or where there is evidence which is manifestly and clearly inconsistent with the accusation made and cases where there is legal evidence which on its appreciation may or may not support the accusation in question. In exercising its jurisdiction under Section 561-A the High Court would not embark upon an enquiry as to whether the evidence in question is reliable or not. That is the function of the trial magis- trate, and ordinarily it would not be open to any party to invoke the High Court's inherent jurisdiction and' contend that on a reasonable appreciation of the evidence the accusation made against the accused would not be sustained. 15. Again Supreme Court discussed the power of this Court under Section 482 Cr.P.C. very elaborately in the case of State of Haryana and others Vs. Bhajan Lal and others 1992 Supp (1) SCC 335 and in paragraph 102 enumerated 7 categories of the cases where power under Section 482 Cr.P.C. can be exercised by this Court which is quoted below:-

"In the backdrop of the interpretation of the various relevant provisions of the Code under Chapter XIV and of the principles of law enunciated by this Court in a series of decisions relating to the exercise of the extraordinary power under Article 226 or the inherent powers under Section 482 of the Code which we have extracted and reproduced above, we give the following categories of cases by way of illustration wherein such power could be exercised either to prevent abuse of the process of any court or otherwise to secure the ends of justice, though it may not be possible to lay down any precise, clearly defined and sufficiently channelised and inflexible guidelines or rigid formulae and to give an exhaustive list of myriad kinds of cases wherein such power should be exercised.

(1) Where the allegations made in the first information report or the complaint, even if they are taken at their face value and accepted in their entirety do not prima facie constitute any offence or make out a case against the accused.

(2) Where the allegations in the first information report and other materials, if any, accompanying the FIR do not disclose a cognizable offence, justifying an investigation by police officers under Section 156 (1) of the Code except under an order of a Magistrate within the purview of Section 155 (2) of the Code.

(3) Where the uncontroverted allegations made in the FIR or complaint and the evidence collected in support of the same do not disclose the commission of any offence and make out a case against the accused.

(4) Where, the allegations in the FIR do not constitute a cognizable offence but constitute only a non-cognizable offence, no investigation is permitted by a police officer without an order of a Magistrate as contemplated under Section 155 (2) of the Code.

(5) Where the allegations made in the FIR or complaint are so absurd and inherently improbable on the basis of which no prudent person can ever reach a just conclusion that there is sufficient ground for proceeding against the accused.

(6) Where there is an express legal bar engrafted in any of the provisions of the Code or the concerned Act (under which a criminal proceeding is instituted) to the institution and continuance of the proceedings and/or where there is a specific provision in the Code or the concerned Act, providing efficacious redress for the grievance of the aggrieved party.

(7) Where a criminal proceeding is manifestly attended with mala fide and/or where the proceeding is maliciously instituted with an ulterior motive for wreaking vengeance on the accused and with a view to spite him due to private and personal grudge."

16. Recently the three Judge Bench of the Apex Court in the case of M/s. Neeharika Infrastructure Pvt. Ltd. Vs. State of Maharashtra and others reported in AIR 2021 Supreme Court 1918 again discussed the scope of Section 482 Cr.P.C. and Article 226 of Constitution of India in detailed manner and summarised in paragraph-23 as under:-

"23. In view of the above and for the reasons stated above, our final conclusions on the principal/core issue, whether the High Court would be justified in passing an interim order of stay of investigation and/or "no coercive steps to be adopted", during the pendency of the quashing petition under Section 482 Cr.P.C and/or under Article 226 of the Constitution of India and in what circumstances and whether the High Court would be justified in passing the order of not to arrest the accused or "no coercive steps to be adopted" during the investigation or till the final report/chargesheet is filed under Section 173 Cr.P.C., while dismissing/disposing of/not entertaining/not quashing the criminal proceedings/complaint/FIR in exercise of powers under Section 482 Cr.P.C. and/or under Article 226 of the Constitution of India, our final conclusions are as under:

i) Police has the statutory right and duty under the relevant provisions of the Code of Criminal Procedure contained in Chapter XIV of the Code to investigate into a cognizable offence;

ii) Courts would not thwart any investigation into the cognizable offences;

iii) It is only in cases where no cognizable offence or offence of any kind is disclosed in the first information report that the Court will not permit an investigation to go on;

iv) The power of quashing should be exercised sparingly with circumspection, as it has been observed, in the "rarest of rare cases (not to be confused with the formation in the context of death penalty).

v) While examining an FIR/complaint, quashing of which is sought, the court cannot embark upon an enquiry as to the reliability or genuineness or otherwise of the allegations made in the FIR/complaint;

vi) Criminal proceedings ought not to be scuttled at the initial stage;

vii) Quashing of a complaint/FIR should be an exception rather than an ordinary rule;

viii) Ordinarily, the courts are barred from usurping the jurisdiction of the police, since the two organs of the State operate in two specific spheres of activities and one ought not to tread over the other sphere;

ix) The functions of the judiciary and the police are complementary, not overlapping;

x) Save in exceptional cases where non-interference would result in miscarriage of justice, the Court and the judicial process should not interfere at the stage of investigation of offences;

xi) Extraordinary and inherent powers of the Court do not confer an arbitrary jurisdiction on the Court to act according to its whims or caprice;

xii) The first information report is not an encyclopaedia which must disclose all facts and details relating to the offence reported. Therefore, when the investigation by the police is in progress, the court should not go into the merits of the allegations in the FIR. Police must be permitted to complete the investigation. It would be premature to pronounce the conclusion based on hazy facts that the complaint/FIR does not deserve to be investigated or that it amounts to abuse of process of law. After investigation, if the investigating officer finds that there is no substance in the application made by the complainant, the investigating officer may file an appropriate report/summary before the learned Magistrate which may be considered by the learned Magistrate in accordance with the known procedure;

xiii) The power under Section 482 Cr.P.C. is very wide, but conferment of wide power requires the court to be more cautious. It casts an onerous and more diligent duty on the court;

xiv) However, at the same time, the court, if it thinks fit, regard being had to the parameters of quashing and the self-restraint imposed by law, more particularly the parameters laid down by this Court in the cases of R.P. Kapur (supra) and Bhajan Lal (supra), has the jurisdiction to quash the FIR/complaint;

xv) When a prayer for quashing the FIR is made by the alleged accused and the court when it exercises the power under Section 482 Cr.P.C., only has to consider whether the allegations in the FIR disclose commission of a cognizable offence or not. The court is not required to consider on merits whether or not the merits of the allegations make out a cognizable offence and the court has to permit the investigating agency/police to investigate the allegations in the FIR; xvi) The aforesaid parameters would be applicable and/or the aforesaid aspects are required to be considered by the High Court while passing an interim order in a quashing petition in exercise of powers under Section 482 Cr.P.C. and/or under Article 226 of the Constitution of India. However, an interim order of stay of investigation during the pendency of the quashing petition can be passed with circumspection. Such an interim order should not require to be passed routinely, casually and/or mechanically. Normally, when the investigation is in progress and the facts are hazy and the entire evidence/material is not before the High Court, the High Court should restrain itself from passing the interim order of not to arrest or "no coercive steps to be adopted" and the accused should be relegated to apply for anticipatory bail under Section 438 Cr.P.C. before the competent court. The High Court shall not and as such is not justified in passing the order of not to arrest and/or "no coercive steps" either during the investigation or till the investigation is completed and/or till the final report/chargesheet is filed under Section 173 Cr.P.C., while dismissing/disposing of the quashing petition under Section 482 Cr.P.C. and/or under Article 226 of the Constitution of India.

xvii) Even in a case where the High Court is prima facie of the opinion that an exceptional case is made out for grant of interim stay of further investigation, after considering the broad parameters while exercising the powers under Section 482 Cr.P.C. and/or under Article 226 of the Constitution of India referred to hereinabove, the High Court has to give brief reasons why such an interim order is warranted and/or is required to be passed so that it can demonstrate the application of mind by the Court and the higher forum can consider what was weighed with the High Court while passing such an interim order.

xviii) Whenever an interim order is passed by the High Court of "no coercive steps to be adopted" within the aforesaid parameters, the High Court must clarify what does it mean by "no coercive steps to be adopted" as the term "no coercive steps to be adopted" can be said to be too vague and/or broad which can be misunderstood and/or misapplied." (Emphasis supplied)

17. Therefore, Section 482 Cr.P.C. deals with the inherent power of this Court to prevent the abuse of process of any Court or to secure the ends of justice.

18. The three judges Bench of the Apex Court in the case of Parbatbhai Aahir alias Parbatbhai Bhimsinhbhai Karmur and others Vs. State of Gujarat and another (2017) 9 SCC 641 held that Section 482 Cr.P.C. is prefaced with an overriding provision and this Court being a superior Court has the inherent power to make such orders as are necessary (i) to prevent an abuse of the process of any Court; or (ii) otherwise to secure the ends of justice.

19 . Recently, the Apex Court in the case of Kapil Agarwal and8 others Vs. Sanjay Sharma and others (2021) 5 SCC 524 observed in respect of power of this court under Section 482 Cr.P.C. as:-

"As observed and held by this Court in catena of decisions, inherent jurisdiction under Section 482 Cr.P.C. and/or under Article 226 of the Constitution is designed to achieve salutary purpose that criminal proceedings ought not to be permitted to degenerate into weapon of harassment. When the Court is satisfied that criminal proceedings amount to an abuse of process of law or that it amounts to bringing pressure upon accused, in exercise of inherent powers, such proceedings can be quashed."

20. The Supreme Court, in Mohd. Ibrahim v. State of Bihar (2009) 8 SCC 751, observed as under:

"19. To constitute an offence under Section 420, there should not only be cheating, but as a consequence of such cheating, the accused should have dishonestly induced the person deceived (i) to deliver any property to any person, or (ii) to make, alter or destroy wholly or in part a valuable security (or anything signed or sealed and which is capable of being converted into a valuable security).

20. When a sale deed is executed conveying a property claiming ownership thereto, it may be possible for the purchaser under such sale deed, to allege that the vendor has cheated him by making a false representation of ownership and fraudulently induced him to part with the sale consideration. But in this case the complaint is not by the purchaser. On the other hand, the purchaser is made a co-accused.

21. It is not the case of the complainant that any of the accused tried to deceive him either by making a false or misleading representation or by any other action or omission, nor is it his case that they offered him any fraudulent or dishonest inducement to deliver any property or to consent to the retention thereof by any person or to intentionally induce him to do or omit to do anything which he would not do or omit if he were not so deceived. Nor did the complainant allege that the first appellant pretended to be the complainant while executing the sale deeds. Therefore, it cannot be said that the first accused by the act of executing sale deeds in favour of the second accused or the second accused by reason of being the purchaser, or the third, fourth and fifth accused, by reason of being the witness, scribe and stamp vendor in regard to the sale deeds, deceived the complainant in any manner.

22. As the ingredients of cheating as stated in Section 415 are not found, it cannot be said that there was an offence punishable under Section 417, 418, 419 or 420 of the Code.

23. When we say that execution of a sale deed by a person, purporting to convey a property which is not his, as his property, is not making a false document and therefore not forgery, we should not be understood as holding that such an act can never be a criminal offence. If a person sells a property knowing that it does not belong to him, and thereby defrauds the person who purchased the property, the person defrauded, that is the purchaser, may complain that the vendor committed the fraudulent act of cheating. But a third party who is not the purchaser under the deed may not be able to make such complaint.

24. The term `fraud' is not defined in the Code. The dictionary definition of `fraud' is "deliberate deception, treachery or cheating intended to gain advantage". Section 17 of the Contract Act, 1872 defines `fraud' with reference to a party to a contract.

27. The term "fraudulently" is mostly used with the term "dishonestly" which is defined in Section 24 as follows :

"24. Dishonestly'- Whoever does anything with the intention of causing wrongful gain to one person or wrongful loss to another person is said to do that thing "dishonestly".

28. To `defraud' or do something fraudulently is not by itself made an offence under the Penal Code, but various acts when done fraudulently (or fraudulently and dishonestly) are made offences. These include:

(i) Fraudulent removal or concealment of property (sec.206, 421, 424)

(ii) Fraudulent claim to property to prevent seizure (sec. 207).

(iii) Fraudulent suffering or obtaining a decree (sec. 208 and 210)

(iv) Fraudulent possession /delivery of counterfeit coin (sec.239, 240, 242 and 243).

(v) Fraudulent alteration/ diminishing weight of coin (sec. 246 to 253)

(vi) Fraudulent acts relating to stamps (sec. 255-261)

(vii) Fraudulent use of false instruments/weight/measure (sec.264 to 266)

(viii) Cheating (sec. 415 to 420)

(ix) Fraudulent prevention of debt being available to creditors (sec. 422).

(x) Fraudulent execution of deed of transfer containing false statement of consideration (sec. 423).

(xi) Forgery making or executing a false document (sec. 463 to 471 and 474)

(xii) Fraudulent cancellation/ destruction of valuable security etc.(sec. 477)

(xiii) Fraudulently going through marriage ceremony (sec.496).

It follows therefore that by merely alleging or showing that a person acted fraudulently, it cannot be assumed that he committed an offence punishable under the Code or any other law, unless that fraudulent act is specified to be an offence under the Code or other law.

Section 504 Penal Code

29. The allegations of the complaint do not also make out the ingredients of an offence under Section 504 of the Penal Code. Section 504 refers to intentional insult with intent to provoke breach of peace.

The allegation in the complainant is that when he enquired with accused 1 and 2 about the sale deeds, they asserted that they will obtain possession of land under the sale deeds and he can do whatever he wants. The statement attributed to appellants 1 and 2, it cannot be said to amount to an "insult with intent to provoke breach of peace". The statement attributed to accused, even if it was true, was merely a statement referring to the consequence of execution of the sale deeds by first appellant in favour of the second appellant.

Conclusion

30. The averments in the complaint if assumed to be true, do not make out any offence under Section 420, 467, 471 and 504 of the Code, but may technically show the ingredients of offences of wrongful restraint under Section 341 and causing hurt under Section 323 of IPC."

21. Applying the law laid down by the Apex Court referred to herein-above, now I will proceed to discuss the fact of the present case.

22. The impugned complaint / FIR was filed by opposite party no.2 against the applicants with the allegation that on the basis of forged Will of his father, applicant no.3 got mutated his name while, later on, his father executed unregistered Will in his favour. Admittedly Will in favour of Dwarika was registered one and on the basis of registered Will after hearing both the parties, the mutation court passed the order in favour of applicant No.3 and except the bald allegation, there is no evidence on record on the basis of which, it can be said that the alleged registered Will was forged one.

23. The Apex Court in case of R.P. Kapur (supra) observed that if there is no legal evidence adduced in support of the case or evidence adduced clearly or manifestly fails to charge, then proceedings of such cases can be quashed while exercising the power under Section 482 Cr.P.C.

24. In the present case except bald allegation there is no legal evidence on record which can show that either applicants prepared the forged Will or they executed the forged Will, rather there is order of mutation dated 16.12.2008, which shows that after hearing both the parties, on the basis of registered Will, the name of applicant-Dwarika was mutated and opposite party no.2 did not even challenge the order of mutation, therefore, in view of the law laid down in R.P. Kapur (supra), the instant application succeeds.

25. Further, opposite party no.2 did not even challenge the alleged registered Will dated 11.07.1996 in any competent civil court and directly filed impugned FIR. As per FIR/ complaint itself the present dispute is of civil nature, therefore, question arises, whether in such cases, which are purely civil in nature, criminal proceedings should be permitted to continue.

26. The Apex Court in the case of G. Sagar Suri and another Vs. State of U.P. and others (2000) 2 SCC 636 observed in paragraph no. 8 as:-

"Jurisdiction under Section 482 of the Code has to be exercised with a great care. In exercise of its jurisdiction High Court is not to examine the matter superficially. It is to be seen if a matter, which is essentially of civil nature, has been given a cloak of criminal offence. Criminal proceedings are not a short cut of other remedies available in law. Before issuing process a criminal court has to exercise a great deal of caution. For the accused it is a serious matter. This Court has laid certain principles on the basis of which High Court is to exercise its jurisdiction under Section 482 of the Code, Jurisdiction- under this Section has to be exercised to prevent abuse of the process of any court or otherwise to secure the ends of justice."

27. The Supreme Court in the case of Indian Oil Corporation Vs. NEPC India Limited and others (2006) 6 SCC 736 observed as:-

"13. xxxxx There is also an impression that if a person could somehow be entangled in a criminal prosecution, there is a likelihood of imminent settlement. Any effort to settle civil disputes and claims, which do not involve any criminal offence, by applying pressure though criminal prosecution should be deprecated and discouraged"

28. The three judge Bench of the Apex Court in the case of M. Subramaniam and another Vs. S. Janki and another (2020) 16 SCC 728 cautioned that a civil dispute should not be given the colour of criminal offence.

29. If I apply the above principles on the facts of the case at hand then I find that opposite party no.2 has given the colour of criminal offence to a purely civil dispute. As per facts, on the basis of Will, the mutation proceeding was ended in favour of the applicant-Dwarika Prasad and there is no evidence that the registered Will was forged one, therefore, only competent civil court having jurisdiction over the matter could decide the issue whether the Will in dispute was forged one or not but opposite party no.2 did not choose to file any suit for cancellation of Will, therefore, it appears that Informant wanted to settle his dispute through criminal proceedings as criminal proceedings can be very easily initiated and can harass the applicants too. Therefore, from this point of view too, the present application filed on behalf of the applicants can succeed.

30. In this case, it appears that criminal proceedings are being taken recourse to as a weapon of harassment against a purchaser and his marginal witnesses.

31. The FIR does not disclose any offence so far as the applicants are concerned. There is no whisper of how and in what manner, these applicants are involved in any criminal offence. There can be no doubt that jurisdiction under Section 482 of the Cr.P.C. should be used sparingly for the purpose of preventing abuse of the process of any court or otherwise to secure the ends of justice.

32. In view of the facts and circumstances of the present case, rival submissions made, admitted fact that originally property was recorded in the name of Satya Narain, registered Will deed was in favour of Dwarika Prasad and Others, mutation order in favour of Dwarika Prsad, their being a long litigation between the Informant and Dwarika Prasad, mutation made by Tehsildar in favour of the applicant No.3 after ignoring the objection made by Informant and dispute mainly being of civil nature, their being a registered sale-deed in favour of applicant-Madhu Gupta executed by applicant No.3 Dwarika Prasad recorded tenure holder of the property, I am of the considered opinion that allowing the prosecution to continue against the applicants is abuse of process of law and it should be quashed.

33. In view of above, application, under Section 482 Cr.P.C. succeeds and is, accordingly, allowed. Charge-sheet dated 05.04.2010 and entire criminal proceedings in Criminal Case No. 3609 of 2010, under Sections 419, 420, 467, 468 and 471 IPC, arising out of Case Crime No. 285 of 2010, Police Station Siddharth Nagar, District Siddharth Nagar, are hereby quashed.

34. The petition stands disposed of accordingly.

35. Certify the judgment to trial court concerned through District Judge for compliance forthwith.

11. Brahm Singh & ors. Vs St. of U.P. & ors., 2016 (95) ACC 950

(Delivered by Hon'ble Ram Manohar Narayan Mishra, J.)

1. Heard learned counsel for the applicants and learned AGA for the State and perused the record.

2. The present 482 Cr.P.C. application has been filed to quash the order dated 28.3.2018 passed by the Judicial Magistrate Etah rejecting the Discharge Application filed by the applicants in Criminal Case No.3125 of 2016 (State vs. Geeta Devi and another) arising out of Case Crime No.0063 of 2015, under Sections 419, 420, 467, 468 I.P.C., P.S. Naya Gaon, District Etah, pending before the Additional Civil Judge, Court No. 26 and also quash the revisional order dated 22.6.2022, passed by the Additional Session Judge, Court No.1, Etah, in Criminal Revision No.64 of 2018, Smt. Geeta @ Pinki and another vs. State of U.P. and another, on grounds taken in affidavit accompanied with the petition.

3. Learned counsel for the applicants submitted that in present case false and fabricated first information report was lodged against the applicants. The applicants filed Criminal Misc. Writ Petition No.18182 of 2015 before this Court for quashing the FIR dated 16.7.2015 and the same was disposed of on 30.7.2015, in which this Court had granted stay order in favour of the applicants till submission of charge-sheet. The investigation was done by the Investigating Officer in perfunctory manner and charge-sheet was submitted illegally against the applicants. After filing of charge-sheet, the applicants again filed an application Under Section 482 No. 24597 of 2016, which was disposed of on 17.8.2016 with observation that Court below shall proceed in the light of judgment dated 8.7.2016 passed in Criminal Misc. Writ Petition No. 15609 of 2016 (Brahm Singh 2 others vs. Sate of U.P. and 2 others). The applicants filed a discharge application under Section 239, 227 Cr.P.C. before the Chief Judicial Magistrate, stating therein that Pinki Gautam and Geeta Devi are same person and in support of this contention, the applicants have submitted 24 documents but learned Chief Judicial Magistrate concerned illegally rejected the discharge application without giving any finding, on assumption that charge-sheet has been submitted on 1.7.2016 and the applicants have not appeared before the Court ill date whereas applicants were already appeared before the court concerned through their counsel. The applicants had filed a criminal revision before court of session against the order of learned Magistrate rejecting their discharge application. However, the said criminal revision has also been dismissed vide order dated 22.6.2022 by Additional Session Judge, Court No.1, Etah. No case is made out against the applicants under Section 419, 420, 467, 468 I.P.C. on the basis that applicant No.1 is still working as Anganbadi Worker, posted in village Nagla Mai, Village Panchayat Ubhai Asad Nagar, Block Aliganj, District Etah. Applicants are innocent and falsely implicated in the case.

4. In the present case, no role has been assigned to accused-applicant No.2, who is husband of applicant No.1. An enquiry was conducted by District Programming Officer, Etah about applicant No.1, in which it was found that opposite party No.2 has filed false complaint against applicant No.1, prompted by ulterior motive and in that enquiry it has also been found that Pinki and Geeta are same person and complaint of opposite party No.2 was rejected. A copy of enquiry report is filed with the affidavit in the present case. Applicant No.1 had never taken admission in D.A.V. Inter College, Aligarh and her school leaving Certificate of that school is a fake document, fabricated by opposite party No.2 in the name of Geeta Kumari, in which date of birth of applicant No.1 is 7.3.1982. Father of applicant No.1 also submitted affidavit before S.S.P., Etah, wherein he has stated that he is blessed with three sons namely, Anoop, Amit Kumar, Abhishek and three daughters namely, Pinki Gautam @ Geeta, Rinki and Rashmi. District Programming Officer, Etah has reported to District Magistrate, Etah by letter dated 28.12.2015 that the domestic name of Smt. Pinki Gautam is Geeta, who has not filed academic documents of her younger siblings Rinki and Rashmi and she was duly selected as Anganbadi worker on the basis of seniority.

5. On the basis of first information report and material placed on record, factual matrix of the prosecution case is that informant Ajit Pratap Singh lodged FIR with police station concerned on 16.5.2015 on the basis of written report stating therein that her co-villager Geeta Devi had married with Ashok Kumar after elopment with him without knowledge of her father and her father had lodged an FIR in the matter. In the course of time, case was compromised and Ashok Kumar purchased a plot of area 5 bigha in the year 1997 in the name of Geeta Devi and three children born out of the wedlock. In primary school Nagla, the name of mother of elder daughter of Geeta Devi is entered as Smt. Geeta Devi and Gram Panchayat

Namawali-2009 and Parivar Register also her name is entered as Smt. Geeta Devi. She has received education from D.A.V. Inter College, Aligarh up to Class IIX and was selected as Anganwadi Worker in the 2009 and therefore, she projected herself as Pinki Gautam whereas there are only two daughters of Sadhuram i.e. Geeta Devi and Pinki Devi. Husband of Pinki is in military service. Geeta Devi has also changed her name as Pinki Devi in Voter ID Card and in this way, she procured the service of Anganbadi worker by presenting herself as Pinki Devi.

6. Learned A.G.A. submitted that the accused-applicants have not appeared before the court concerned in person. They have moved discharge application before the trial court without surrender and moving bail application and they are still not bailed out. The discharge application cannot be moved by applicants in a serious offence like present one without appearing before the Court and seeking bail. There is no direction of superior Court in this respect that they could move discharge application through counsel. The role of applicant No.2- husband of applicant No.1 is that of facilitator and assisted applicant No.1 in the present case of cheating and forgery. This fact has been stated in the impugned order of revisional court that the accused applicants have moved discharge application without appearing before the court.

7. In the present case, the identity of Geeta Devi and Pinki Gautam is in question. According to the prosecution case version, both are different persons whereas the accused persons tried to established that both are same person and they have placed reliance on the report of District Programming Officer, Etah under whom applicant No.1- Smt. Pinki Gautam wife of Ashok Kumar was working. In sale deed executed by accused applicants in favour of Prateek Kumar dated 8.10.2012, the name of vendor No.2 is mentioned as Geeta Kumari @ Pinki, wife of Ashok Kumar. An FIR at the instance of Pinki Gautam @ Geeta was lodged against the Ajeet Pratap and another unknown, on 16.5.2015 under Sections 332, 353, 354, 504, 506 I.P.C. & 3(I)(XI) of SC/ST Act and the present FIR is said to be counter blast of that FIR. In copy of family register of Sadhuram, name of his three daughters Geeta @ Pinki, Rinki and Rashmi is mentioned.

8. Hon'ble Supreme Court has again discussed the scope of 227 and 228 Cr.P.C. in Sunil Kumar Jha and Others Vs. State of Bihar in Crl. Misc. Case No. 22050 of 1996 decided on 5.2.1997. Para 6 is herein under:-

"From bare perusal and comparison of the aforesaid two provisions it appears that while in the case of discharge of an accused under Section 227 of the Code it is obligatory for the Judge to record his reasons for doing so. But while framing charge under Section 228 of the Code the provision does not say in a very specific word that the Court msut record reasons. Nevertheless Section 228 provides that while framing charge, the Court must be of the opinion that there is ground for presuming that the accused has committed an offence. In other words, there must be valid reasons and foundation for framing an opinion that the accused has committed an offence."

9. The case decided by Allahabad High Court in Smt. Kalawati Vs. State of U.P. decided on 11.7.1990 passed in Crl. Revision No. 1012 of 1990 wherein it has been held that though the full statements of the witnesses need not be discussed but prima facie case should be briefly indicated. Para 3 is herein under :

"It is true that for determining prima facie case court need not weigh or sift the evidence or make roving enquiry. It need not give full statements of the witnesses. Evidently for a judicial speaking order it is necessary that the evidence constituting prima facie case should be briefly indicated and should not be substituted by vague words or by conclusion alone."

10. On perusal of impugned order of learned Magistrate, it appears that the prima facie case has been made out for framing of charge. This fact has been cited in discharge application that arrest of the accused persons was stayed by Hon'ble High court till filing of chargesheet. They have not appeared in the court in person. The learned Revisional Court in revision has passed an elaborate order in which the case of both sides have been discussed and Session Judge also passed a judicial speaking order citing the evidence constituting prima facie case against the applicants for framing of charge. He has passed a speaking order while rejecting the revision filed by the accused applicants and dismissing the documentary evidence filed in support of prosecution case alongwith case diary and has observed that it is evident that Geeta Devi and Pinki Gautam are different women. As there are two versions of same question, the matter is liable to be tried as only on the basis of evidence recorded during trial, this disputed question can be finally settled that whether Geeta Devi and Pinki Gautam are same woman or different. The accused-applicants have filed some documentary evidence in support of their version that both are same person. It appears that these documents are not part of investigation or case diary and in this connection the law laid down by Supreme Court in the case of State of Orisa Vs. Devendra Nath Padhi, 2003 Vol. II SCC 711 Paragarah 11, although this judgment relates to Prevention of Corruption Act and not applicable although paragraphs No.11 of the said judgment of quoted below:-

Para11:" From the above judgments referred to by the learned counsel for the appellant, it is clear that all the court has to do a the time of framing a charge is to consider the question of sufficiency of ground for proceeding against the accused on a general consideration of the material placed before it by the investigating agency. There is no requirement in law that the court at that stage should either give an opportunity to the accused to produce evidence in defence or consider such evidence the defence may produced at that stage".

11. In Amit Kapoor vs Ramesh Chandra and Another, (2012) 9 SCC 460, Hon'ble Apex Court had discussed the extent of scop of power exercisable by High Court under Section 397 independently or read with Section 482 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 and held that framing of a charge is an exercise of jurisdiction by the trial court in terms of Section 228 of the Code, unless the accused is discharged under Section 227 of the Code. Under both these provisions, the court is required to consider the ?record of the case? and documents submitted therewith and, after hearing the parties, may either discharge the accused or where it appears to the court and in its opinion there is ground for presuming that the accused has committed an offence, it shall frame the charge. Once the facts and ingredients of the Section exists, then the Court would be right in presuming that there is ground to proceed against the accused and frame the charge accordingly. This presumption is not a presumption of law as such. The satisfaction of the court in relation to the existence of constituents of an offence and the facts leading to that offence is a sine qua non for exercise of such jurisdiction. At the initial stage of framing of a charge, the court is concerned not with proof but with a strong suspicion that the accused has committed an offence, which, if put to trial, could prove him guilty. All that the court has to see is that the material on record and the facts would be compatible with the innocence of the accused or not. The final test of guilt is not to be applied at that stage.

12. In Union of India Vs. Praful Kumar Samal, reported in 1979 (3) SCC 4 Hon'ble Apex Court had held that by and large however if two views are equally possible and the Judge is satisfied that the evidence produced before him while giving rise to some suspicion but not grave suspicion against the accused, he will be fully within his right to discharge the accused.

13. Keeping in view the facts and circumstances of the case and the law laid down in above cites cases, this Court is of the considered opinion that the courts below have not committed illegality by rejecting discharge application of accused-applicants as while considering discharge application the courts below are not expected to go through the documents placed before it in support of their case forming not a part of police report.

14. It is well settled law that disputed law of facts cannot be adjudicated upon by this Court under Section 482 Cr.P.C. At this stage only prima facie case is to be seen in the light of the law laid down by Supreme Court in cases of R.P. Kapur Vs. State of Punjab, A.I.R. 1960 S.C. 866, State of Haryana Vs. Bhajan Lal, 1992 SCC (Cr.) 426, State of Bihar Vs. P.P.Sharma, 1992 SCC (Cr.) 192 and lastly Zandu Pharmaceutical Works Ltd. Vs. Mohd. Saraful Haq and another (Para-10) 2005 SCC (Cr.) 283. The disputed defence of accused cannot be considered at this stage.

15. The prayer for quashing the entire proceeding of the aforesaid case is refused.

16. Accordingly, the present application is disposed of and trial court is required to frame charges against the accused-applicants in appropriate sections which are made out on the basis of material place on record.

17. As the accused-applicants are admittedly not enlarged on bail, it is directed that in case the applicants appear and surrender before the court below within 30 days from today and apply for bail, their prayer for bail shall be considered and decided in view of the settled law laid by Apex Court in the cases of Satender Kumar Antil vs. Central Bureau of Investigation and another, (2021) 10 SCC 773 and Brahm Singh and others vs. State of UP and others, 2016 (95) ACC 950.

18. For a period of 30 days, no coercive measure shall be taken against the applicants in the aforesaid case.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Sameer Jain, J.)

1. Heard Sri Ashok Kumar Singh, learned counsel for the applicants and Dr. S.B. Maurya, learned AGA for the State-respondent.

2. The instant application has been moved by the applicants with a prayer to quash the entire proceeding of criminal case no. 1093 of 2020 under sections 147, 148, 149, 307, 504, 506 IPC, pending in the court of Civil Judge (Junior Division)/ Judicial Magistrate, Garhmukteshwar, Hapur District Hapur as well as charge sheet dated 26.8.2020 and cognizance order dated 1.10.2020.

Brief facts of the case

3. Opposite party no. 2 lodged FIR of the present case on 7.5.2020 against the applicants under Sections 147, 148, 149, 307, 504, 506 IPC at P.S. Simbhawali District Hapur and according to the FIR, applicants who are 14 in numbers assaulted with intention to commit murder of Inam and Danish (injured persons of the case) and they opened fire from countrymade pistols and in the incident, Inam and Danish sustained serious injuries. After registration of the FIR, investigation of the matter was commenced and during investigation, Investigating Officer recorded the statements of opposite party no. 2, the informant and injured persons Inam and Danish and also recorded the statement of other eye-witnesses and obtained the injury reports of both the injured and submitted charge sheet against the applicants on 26.8.2020 under sections 147, 148, 149 307, 504, 506 IPC.

4. In the incident two persons Inam and Danish sustained injuries and according to the statement of injured-Inam, applicant no. 2 caused fire arm injury to him and Danish through countrymade pistol. Another injured-Danish in his statement recorded during investigation also stated that applicants assaulted them with intention to commit murder and applicant nos. 2 and 6 opened fire from countrymade pistols and due to fire opened by them he and Inam sustained injuries. Injury reports of both the injured persons, Inam and Danish are on record.

5. From the perusal of the injury report of Inam, it appears that he received a lacerated wound bone deep on the right side of scalp and bleeding was present and Doctor also noted that at the time of his medical examination, three episodes of vomiting and one episode of seizure occurred and was advised to C.T. Scan of head. From the perusal of his C.T. Scan report which is copied by the Investigating Officer in the case diary during investigation which is annexed alongwith annexure-2, it reflects that a hemorrhage in right parietal temporal region and depressed fracture of frontal bone was found and according to Doctor, injury was dangerous to life.

6. Another injured-Danish was also medically examined on 15.5.2020 and according to his injury report he sustained one abrasion of right side of forehead and a contusion of right side of upper back of scapular region and according to the Doctor both the injuries were simple in nature and caused by hard and blunt object.

7. From the perusal of the injury report of both the injured persons, it appears that injured Inam sustained serious fire arm injury which was, according to the Doctor who conducted C.T. Scan, dangerous to his life.

8. It appears that after submission of the charge sheet on 26.8.2022, cognizance was taken and notices were issued to the applicants and during the pendency of the case before committal, applicants, opposite party no. 2-informant and injured persons Inam and Danish compromised the matter and in this regard, they executed a compromise on 31.5.2022 (annexed as annexure-6 to the affidavit). Applicants want to quash proceedings pending before trial court on the basis of settlement dated 31.5.2022.

Submissions on behalf of the applicants

9. Learned counsel for the applicants submitted that applicants have been made accused in the present case on the basis of false and frivolous allegations and they neither assaulted nor they caused any injury to anyone but in spite of that charge sheet has been submitted against them in the present matter. He next submitted that applicants and opposite party no. 2, the informant and injured persons are residents of same village and locality and they also having some relation, therefore, with the interference of the respected persons of the locality, they have settled their dispute and in this regard, a compromise has been executed between them on 31.5.2022 which is annexed as annexure-6 to the affidavit in support of the present application and therefore, the proceedings pending against the applicants may be quashed on the basis of compromise executed between the parties. He next submitted that he is pressing the instant application only on the basis of compromise executed between the parties and not o

10. Learned counsel further submitted that as both the parties have amicably settled their dispute, therefore, no fruitful result would be served if prosecution will continue as ultimate result of the trial would be the acquittal. He next submitted that if proceeding of the present case is quashed on the basis of the compromise executed between the parties then their relationship would be cordial one and they can live peacefully, therefore, he submits even if, the case is of Section 307 IPC, proceeding pending against the applicants may be quashed on the basis of compromise executed between the parties.

Submissions on behalf of the State

11. Per contra, learned AGA submitted that as there are serious allegations against the applicants and present matter relates to sections 147, 148, 149 307, 504,506 IPC, therefore, on the basis of compromise, proceeding pending against the applicants should not be quashed. He next submitted that although this Court can exercise its power under Section 482 Cr.P.C. to scuttle the proceeding, on the basis of compromise even in non-compoundable offences but where the offences are serious and heinous in nature which affects the society at large then this Court should not quash the proceedings pending against the accused persons on the basis of compromise arrived between the parties. Learned AGA vehemently submitted that there is specific allegation against the applicants who are fourteen in numbers that they attacked upon injured persons, Inam and Danish with intention to commit their murder. Applicant nos. 2 and 6 also opened fire from their respective countrymade pistols and due to the fire opened by them, two persons i.e. Inam and Danish sustained injures and one injury of injured-Inam was on his head which was found dangerous to life, therefore, instant case cannot be said to be a case of private dispute and as applicants attempted to commit murder of two persons with country made pistols, therefore, it is clearly a crime against the society and in such heinous cases, proceedings cannot be nibbed from its bud on the basis of the compromise executed between the accused persons, informant and injured persons, therefore, the instant application moved by applicants being devoid of merit is liable to be dismissed.

Analysis by the Court

11. I have given my anxious consideration on the rival submissions and perused the record of the case.

The brief facts of the case have already been narrated in previous paragraphs. The gist of the allegation is that applicants who are fourteen in numbers assaulted and tried to commit murder of two persons Inam and Danish and applicant nos. 2 and 6 opened fire from their countrymade pistols and due to the shot made by them, two persons, Inam and Danish sustained injuries. Although injuries sustained by Danish were found simple in nature but injury sustained by Inam on his head was dangerous to life and both the injured persons in their statements, recorded during investigation, categorically stated that all the applicants participated in the incident and according to injured-Inam, applicant no. 2 opened fire while as per injured-Danish, applicant no. 2 and 6 both opened fire from their countrymade pistols and due to the fire opened by them, they sustained injuries. Therefore, from the perusal of the entire evidence available on record, it is apparent that a prima facie cognizable offence under sections 147, 148, 149 307, 504, 506 IPC is made out against the applicants.

12. In case at hand, the question is, whether on the basis of compromise executed between the parties proceeding of such cases can be quashed.

13. The Apex Court in catena of judgements held that this Court can exercise its power vested under section 482 Cr.P.C. beyond the boundaries of Section 320 Cr.P.C. which states that only compoundable offence can be compounded and this Court can even quash the proceedings relate to non-compoundable offences on the basis of the compromise executed between the parties but at the same time Apex Court cautioned that the proceeding of serious and heinous offences which affects the society at large, should not be quashed on the basis of compromise executed between the parties.

14. The three Judges Bench of the Apex Court in Gian Singh Vs. Punjab, reported in (2012)10 SCC 303 discussed the circumstances very elaborately and held that this Court can quash the proceedings in the cases of non-compoundable offences on the basis of settlement arrived at between the parties and observed as follow:-

"58. Where the High Court quashes a criminal proceeding having regard to the fact that the dispute between the offender and the victim has been settled although the offences are not compoundable, it does so as in its opinion, continuation of criminal proceedings will be an exercise in futility and justice in the case demands that the dispute between the parties is put to an end and peace is restored; securing the ends of justice being the ultimate guiding factor. No doubt, crimes are acts which have harmful effect on the public and consist in wrongdoing that seriously endangers and threatens the well-being of the society and it is not safe to leave the crime-doer only because he and the victim have settled the dispute amicably or that the victim has been paid compensation, yet certain crimes have been made compoundable in law, with or without the permission of the court. In respect of serious offences like murder, rape, dacoity, etc., or other offences of mental depravity under IPC or offences of moral turpitude under special statutes, like the Prevention of Corruption Act or the offences committed by public servants while working in that capacity, the settlement between the offender and the victim can have no legal sanction at all. However, certain offences which overwhelmingly and predominantly bear civil flavour having arisen out of civil, mercantile, commercial, financial, partnership or such like transactions or the offences arising out of matrimony, particularly relating to dowry, etc. or the family dispute, where the wrong is basically to the victim and the offender and the victim have settled all disputes between them amicably, irrespective of the fact that such offences have not been made compoundable, the High Court may within the framework of its inherent power, quash the criminal proceeding or criminal complaint or FIR if it is satisfied that on the face of such settlement, there is hardly any likelihood of the offender being convicted and by not quashing the criminal proceedings, justice shall be casualty and ends of justice shall be defeated. The above list is illustrative and not exhaustive. Each case will depend on its own facts and no hard-and-fast category can be prescribed".

15. In Nareinder Singh Vs. State of Punjab reported in (2014) 9 SCC 466*, the Supreme Court held that in case of heinous and serious offences, which are generally to be treated as crime against society, it is the duty of the State to punish the offender. Hence, even when there is a settlement, the view of the offender will not prevail since it is in the interest of society that the offender should be punished to deter others from committing a similar crime.*

16. The Three Judges Bench of the Apex Court in the case of Parbatbhai Aahir Alias Parbathbhai Bhimsinhbhai Karmur and Others V. State of Gujrat and Another reported in [(2017) 9 SCC 641], after discussing its earlier judgements observed as follows:-

"16. The broad principles which emerge from the precedents on the subject, may be summarised in the following propositions:

16.1. Section 482 preserves the inherent powers of the High Court to prevent an abuse of the process of any court or to secure the ends of justice. The provision does not confer new powers. It only recognises and preserves powers which inhere in the High Court.

16.2. The invocation of the jurisdiction of the High Court to quash a first information report or a criminal proceeding on the ground that a settlement has been arrived at between the offender and the victim is not the same as the invocation of jurisdiction for the purpose of compounding an offence. While compounding an offence, the power of the court is governed by the provisions of Section 320 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973. The power to quash under Section 482 is attracted even if the offence is non-compoundable.

16.3. In forming an opinion whether a criminal proceeding or complaint should be quashed in exercise of its jurisdiction under Section 482, the High Court must evaluate whether the ends of justice would justify the exercise of the inherent power.

16.4. While the inherent power of the High Court has a wide ambit and plenitude it has to be exercised (i) to secure the ends of justice, or (ii) to prevent an abuse of the process of any court.

16.5. The decision as to whether a complaint or first information report should be quashed on the ground that the offender and victim have settled the dispute, revolves ultimately on the facts and circumstances of each case and no exhaustive elaboration of principles can be formulated.

16.6. In the exercise of the power under Section 482 and while dealing with a plea that the dispute has been settled, the High Court must have due regard to the nature and gravity of the offence. Heinous and serious offences involving mental depravity or offences such as murder, rape and dacoity cannot appropriately be quashed though the victim or the family of the victim have settled the dispute. Such offences are, truly speaking, not private in nature but have a serious impact upon society. The decision to continue with the trial in such cases is founded on the overriding element of public interest in punishing persons for serious offences.

16.7. As distinguished from serious offences, there may be criminal cases which have an overwhelming or predominant element of a civil dispute. They stand on a distinct footing insofar as the exercise of the inherent power to quash is concerned.

16.8. Criminal cases involving offences which arise from commercial, financial, mercantile, partnership or similar transactions with an essentially civil flavour may in appropriate situations fall for quashing where parties have settled the dispute.

16.9. In such a case, the High Court may quash the criminal proceeding if in view of the compromise between the disputants, the possibility of a conviction is remote and the continuation of a criminal proceeding would cause oppression and prejudice; and

16.10. There is yet an exception to the principle set out in propositions 16.8. and 16.9. above. Economic offences involving the financial and economic well-being of the State have implications which lie beyond the domain of a mere dispute between private disputants. The High Court would be justified in declining to quash where the offender is involved in an activity akin to a financial or economic fraud or misdemeanor. The consequences of the act complained of upon the financial or economic system will weigh in the balance."

17. The Three Judge Bench of the Apex Court in State of Madhya Pradesh V. Laxmi Narayan & Ors. reported in (2019) 5 SCC 688 laid down the following principles:-

15. Considering the law on the point and the other decisions of this Court on the point, referred to hereinabove, it is observed and held as under:

15.1. That the power conferred under Section 482 of the Code to quash the criminal proceedings for the non-compoundable offences under Section 320 of the Code can be exercised having overwhelmingly and predominantly the civil character, particularly those arising out of commercial transactions or arising out of matrimonial relationship or family disputes and when the parties have resolved the entire dispute amongst themselves;

15.2. Such power is not to be exercised in those prosecutions which involved heinous and serious offences of mental depravity or offences like murder, rape, dacoity, etc. Such offences are not private in nature and have a serious impact on society;

15.3. Similarly, such power is not to be exercised for the offences under the special statutes like the Prevention of Corruption Act or the offences committed by public servants while working in that capacity are not to be quashed merely on the basis of compromise between the victim and the offender;

15.4. Offences under Section 307 IPC and the Arms Act, etc. would fall in the category of heinous and serious offences and therefore are to be treated as crime against the society and not against the individual alone, and therefore, the criminal proceedings for the offence under Section 307 IPC and/or the Arms Act, etc. which have a serious impact on the society cannot be quashed in exercise of powers under Section 482 of the Code, on the ground that the parties have resolved their entire dispute amongst themselves. However, the High Court would not rest its decision merely because there is a mention of Section 307 IPC in the FIR or the charge is framed under this provision. It would be open to the High Court to examine as to whether incorporation of Section 307 IPC is there for the sake of it or the prosecution has collected sufficient evidence, which if proved, would lead to framing the charge under Section 307 IPC. For this purpose, it would be open to the High Court to go by the nature of injury sustained, whether such injury is inflicted on the vital/delicate parts of the body, nature of weapons used, etc. However, such an exercise by the High Court would be permissible only after the evidence is collected after investigation and the charge-sheet is filed/charge is framed and/or during the trial. Such exercise is not permissible when the matter is still under investigation. Therefore, the ultimate conclusion in paras 29.6 and 29.7 of the decision of this Court in Narinder Singh (supra) should be read harmoniously and to be read as a whole and in the circumstances stated hereinabove;

15.5. While exercising the power under Section 482 of the Code to quash the criminal proceedings in respect of non-compoundable offences, which are private in nature and do not have a serious impact on society, on the ground that there is a settlement/compromise between the victim and the offender, the High Court is required to consider the antecedents of the accused; the conduct of the accused, namely, whether the accused was absconding and why he was absconding, how he had managed with the complainant to enter into a compromise, etc."

18. The Apex Court in the case of Arun Singh and Others v. State of Uttar Pradesh Through its Secretary and Another reported in 2020 (3) SCC 736, held as under:-

"14. In another decision in Narinder Singh v. State of Punjab (supra) it has been observed that in respect of offence against the society it is the duty to punish the offender. Hence, even where there is a settlement between the offender and victim the same shall not prevail since it is in interests of the society that offender should be punished which acts as deterrent for others from committing similar crime*. On the other hand, there may be offences falling in the category where the correctional objective of criminal law would have to be given more weightage than the theory of deterrent punishment. In such cases, the court may be of the opinion that a settlement between the parties would lead to better relations between them and would resolve a festering private dispute and thus may exercise power under Section 482 CrPC for quashing the proceedings or the complaint or the FIR as the case may be.*

19. The Apex Court in case of Ram Gopal & Another Vs. State of Madhya Pradesh reported in [2021 0 Supreme (SC) 529] had occasioned to discuss the issue and observed in paragraph -14 as follows:-

14. In other words, grave or serious offences or offences which involve moral turpitude or have a harmful effect on the social and moral fabric of the society or involve matters concerning public policy, cannot be construed betwixt two individuals or groups only, for such offences have the potential to impact the society at large. Effacing abominable offences through quashing process would not only send a wrong signal to the community but may also accord an undue benefit to unscrupulous habitual or professional offenders, who can secure a "settlement' through duress, threats, social boycotts, bribes or other dubious means. It is well said that "let no guilty man escape, if it can be avoided."

20. The Supreme Court in case of Daxaben Vs. The State of Gujarat & others 2022 LiveLaw (SC) 642 observed as follows:-

"38. However, before exercising its power under Section 482 of the Cr.P.C. to quash an FIR, criminal complaint and/or criminal proceedings, the High Court, as observed above, has to be circumspect and have due regard to the nature and gravity of the offence. Heinous or serious crimes, which are not private in nature and have a serious impact on society cannot be quashed on the basis of a compromise between the offender and the complainant and/or the victim. Crimes like murder, rape, burglary, dacoity and even abetment to commit suicide are neither private nor civil in nature. Such crimes are against the society. In no circumstances can prosecution be quashed on compromise, when the offence is serious and grave and falls within the ambit of crime against society.

39. Orders quashing FIRs and/or complaints relating to grave and serious offences only on basis of an agreement with the complainant, would set a dangerous precedent, where complaints would be lodged for oblique reasons, with a view to extract money from the accused. Furthermore, financially strong offenders would go scot free, even in cases of grave and serious offences such as murder, rape, brideburning, etc. by buying off informants/complainants and settling with them. This would render otiose provisions such as Sections 306, 498A, 304-B etc. incorporated in the IPC as a deterrent, with a specific social purpose.

"40. In Criminal Jurisprudence, the position of the complainant is only that of the informant. Once an FIR and/or criminal complaint is lodged and a criminal case is started by the State, it becomes a matter between the State and the accused. The State has a duty to ensure that law and order is maintained in society. It is for the state to prosecute offenders. In case of grave and serious non-compoundable offences which impact society, the informant and/or complainant only has the right of hearing, to the extent of ensuring that justice is done by conviction and punishment of the offender. An informant has no right in law to withdraw the complaint of a non-compoundable offence of a grave, serious and/or heinous nature, which impacts society."

21. The Supreme Court in the case of P. Dharmraj Vs. Shanmugam and others decided on 8th September 2022 in Crl. Appeal Nos. 1515-1516 of 2022, after discussing in earlier judgements observed in para-42 as follows:-

"Thus it is clear from the march of law that the Court has to go slow even while exercising jurisdiction under Section 482 Cr.PC or Article 226 of the Constitution in the matter of quashing of criminal proceedings on the basis of a settlement reached between the parties, when the offences are capable of having an impact not merely on the complainant and the accused but also on others."

22. From the decisions noticed above, the law as it stands is that although this Court can invoke its jurisdiction u/s 482 Cr.P.C. even in non-compoundable offence and can quash the proceedings on the basis of settlement arrived at between the parties even in the cases of non-compoundable offences but while exercising its jurisdiction this Court must consider the fact that whether the proceeding relates to any serious and heinous offences and whether the crime in question has impact over the society. In cases of serious nature which affects the society at large this Court should not exercise its jurisdiction under section 482 Cr.P.C. for quashing the proceedings on the basis of compromise executed between the parties.

23. The three Judges Bench of the Supreme Court in case of Laxmi Narayan (supra) specifically observed that an offence u/s 307 IPC is serious offence which affects the society at large and proceedings of such offence should not be quashed on the basis of compromise executed between the parties, however, the Apex Court also held that considering the nature of injury and weapon used proceedings relate to an offence u/s 307 IPC an also quashed by this Court on the basis of settlement arrived at between the parties.

24. Bearing in mind, the above principles laid down by the Apex Court, I would analyze the fact of the present case.

25. The present case relates to the offence u/s 307 IPC in which as many as fourteen accused persons were involved and fire arms weapons were used. Two persons sustained injuries and injury of one injured was found dangerous to life and after investigation, chargesheet against the applicants has been filed u/s 147, 148, 149, 307, 504, 506 IPC. Thus, prima facie it appears that all the applicants with common object participated in commission of crime. Such offences have serious impact upon the society and trial should continue in the public interest and accused persons of such serious and heinous offences should be punished to deter others from committing similar offences. In the case in hand, offences for which applicants are facing prosecution are neither offences arising out of commercial, financial, mercantile, partnership or such similar transactions or has any element of civil dispute, therefore, if in such cases settlement even if arrived at between the accused persons and complainant-injured persons, the same cannot constitute a valid ground to quash the charge sheet or proceeding pending against the accused persons.

26. The case in hand is a State case in which after investigation, complicity of the applicants were found correct and charge sheet against them has been submitted, therefore, it has become a matter between the State and the accused and it is the duty of the State to ensure the law and order and to prosecute offender and in such cases, informant or the victim has no right in law to drop the case of non-compoundable offence of serious and heinous nature which badly affects the society.

27. Therefore in my view the offences alleged to have been committed by applicants are crime against the society and it can not be said that the present dispute is private in nature and does not affect the society at large. Therefore, proceedings of such cases should not be quashed on the basis of settlement arrived at between the parties.

28. Therefore, from the above discussion, I find no merit in the argument advanced by learned counsel for the applicants. Accordingly, the instant application is devoid of merit and is, hereby dismissed.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Mrs. Manju Rani Chauhan, J.)

1. Heard Mr. Ashok Kumar Yadav, learned counsel for the applicant, Mr. Deepak Yadav, learned counsel for the opposite party no.2 and Mr. Pankaj Srivastava, learned AGA for the State.

2. The instant application under section 482 Cr.P.C. has been filed for quashing of the order dated 03.09.2021 passed by Additional District and Sessions Judge, Sambhal at Chandausi in S.T. No. 70 of 2019 (State Vs. Devendra Yadav), arising out of Case Crime No.662 of 2017, under sections 344, 376D, 354, 323, 504, 506, 115, 34 IPC, Police Station-Hayatnagar, District-Sambhal by which the application under section 311 Cr.P.C. moved by the applicant has been rejected.

3. Brief facts of the case are that an FIR was lodged on 22.12.2017 by the applicant against as many as five persons under Sections 344, 376D, 354, 323, 506, 115, 34 IPC, Police Station-Hayatnagar, District-Sambhal. After recording the statements of the victim/applicant under Sections 161 and 164 Cr.P.C., the charge sheet has been submitted, pursuant to which, the trial court has proceeded to record the statement of victim/applicant, who has been examined as P.W.-1. Subsequently, on 03.09.2021, the applicant/victim has filed an application under Section 311 Cr.P.C. before the trial court to summon her for giving further evidence with respect to certain photographs and documents, which were necessary for proper adjudication of the case. However, the said application has been rejected by the concerned court below vide order dated 03.09.2021 on the ground that the statement of the applicant/victim has already been recorded on 25.02.2020 and all the evidences are available on record. The victim has also been cross-examined, hence the said application under Section 311 Cr.P.C. has been moved only to delay the trial.

4. Learned counsel for the applicant submits that the order dated 03.09.2021 by which the application moved under section 311 Cr.P.C. was rejected by the court below, has been passed in a mechanical manner without applying judicious mind.

The reason assigned in the application under section 311 Cr.P.C. is that it is necessary to take some photographs and documents on record, which shows that the applicant/victim was kidnapped by the accused as they are necessary for proper adjudication of the trial, but the same has not been considered while rejecting the application.

5. Per contra, learned Additional Government Advocate appearing on behalf of the State-respondent submits that the statement of the applicant/victim has already been recorded on 25.02.2020, therefore, the applicant has moved the application under section 311 Cr.P.C. on 03.09.2021 only with a view to delay the disposal of the trial. The court below has not committed any error in passing the impugned order, therefore, it does not call for any interference by this Court. Hence, he submits that the present application is liable to be rejected.

6. I have considered the submissions made by the learned counsel for the parties and gone through the records of the present application.

7. Before fathoming correctness of the submissions made by the learned counsel for the parties, it will be worthwhile to refer to Section 311 Cr.P.C., which reads as under:-

"311. Power to summon material witness, or examine person present:-. Any Court may, at any stage of any inquiry, trial or other proceeding under this Code, summon any person as a witness, or examine any person in attendance, though not summoned as a witness, or recall and re- examine any person already examined; and the Court shall summon and examine or recall and reexamine any such person if his evidence appears to it to be essential to the just decision of the case."

8. Assiduous scrutiny of aforesaid provision clearly suggests that court enjoys vast power to summon any person as a witness or recall and re-examine a witness, provided, same is essentially required for just decision of the case. Moreover, such exercise of power can be at any stage of inquiry, trial or proceedings under the Code, meaning thereby, applicant can file an application at any time before conclusion of trial. Very object of Section 311 is to bring on record evidence not only from the point of view of accused and prosecution, but also from the point of view of the orderly society.

9. The scope and object of the provision is to enable the Court to determine the truth and to render a just decision after discovering all relevant facts and obtaining proper proof of such facts, to arrive at a just decision of the case. Power must be exercised judiciously and not capriciously or arbitrarily, as any improper or capricious exercise of such power may lead to undesirable results. An application under Section 311 of Cr.P.C. must not be allowed only to fill up a lacuna in the case of the prosecution, or of the defence, or to the disadvantage of the accused, or to cause serious prejudice to the defence of the accused, or to give an unfair advantage to the opposite party. Further, the additional evidence must not be received as a disguise for retrial, or to change the nature of the case against either of the parties. Such a power must be exercised, provided that the evidence that is likely to be tendered by a witness, is germane to the issue involved. An opportunity of rebuttal however, must be given to the other party. The power conferred under Section 311 Cr.P.C. must therefore, be invoked by the Court only in order to meet the ends of justice, for strong and valid reasons, and the same must be exercised with great caution and circumspection. The very use of words such as 'any Court', 'at any stage', or 'or any enquiry, trial or other proceedings', 'any person' and 'any such person' clearly spells out that the provisions of this section have been expressed in the widest possible terms, and do not limit the discretion of the Court in any way. There is thus no escape if the fresh evidence to be obtained is essential to the just decision of the case. The determinative factor should therefore be, whether the summoning/recalling of the said witness is in fact, essential to the just decision of the case.

10. Fair trial is the main object of criminal procedure, and it is the duty of the court to ensure that such fairness is not hampered or threatened in any manner. Fair trial entails the interest of the accused, the victim and of the society, and therefore, fair trial includes the grant of fair and proper opportunities to the person concerned, and the same must be ensured as this is a constitutional, as well as a human right. Thus, under no circumstances can a person's right to fair trial be jeopardized. Adducing evidence in support of the defence is a valuable right. Denial of such right would amount to the denial of a fair trial. Thus, it is essential that the rules of procedure that have been designed to ensure justice are scrupulously followed, and the court must be zealous in ensuring that there is no breach of the same.

11. Close scrutiny of aforesaid provision of law further suggests that Section 311 has two parts; first part reserves a right to the parties to move an appropriate application for re-examination of a witness at any stage; but definitely the second part is mandatory that casts a duty upon court to re-examine or recall or summon a witness at any stage if his/her evidence appears to be essential for just decision of case because, definitely the underlying object of aforesaid provision of law is to ensure that there is no failure of justice on account of mistake on the part of either of parties in bringing valuable piece of evidence or leaving an ambiguity in the statements of witnesses examined from either side.

12. In this backdrop, it would be useful to make a reference to certain decisions rendered by the Supreme Court on the interpretation of Section 311 of the Code, wherein the Apex Court highlighted the basic principles which are to be borne in mind while dealing with an application under Section 311of the Code.

13. In Natasa Singh v. C. B. I., reported in (2013) 5 SCC 741, the Apex Court, after referring the various decisions of the Supreme Court, has observed that the power conferred under Section 311 Cr.P.C. must therefore, be invoked by the court only in order to meet the ends of justice and such power should be exercised with great caution and circumspection.

14. The scope of Section 311 Cr.P.C. has been dealt in the case of Raja Ram Prasad Yadav vs. State of Bihar and another, reported in (2013)14 SCC 461, wherein the Apex Court has held that power under Section 311 Cr.P.C. to summon any person or witness or examine any person already examined can be exercised at any stage provided the same is required for just decision of the case. It may be relevant to take note of the following paras of the judgment:-

"14. A conspicuous reading of Section 311 Cr.P.C. would show that widest of the powers have been invested with the Courts when it comes to the question of summoning a witness or to recall or re-examine any witness already examined. A reading of the provision shows that the expression "any" has been used as a pre-fix to "court", "inquiry", "trial", "other proceeding", "person as a witness", "person in attendance though not summoned as a witness", and "person already examined". By using the said expression "any" as a pre-fix to the various expressions mentioned above, it is ultimately stated that all that was required to be satisfied by the Court was only in relation to such evidence that appears to the Court to be essential for the just decision of the case. Section 138 of the Evidence Act, prescribed the order of examination of a witness in the Court. Order of re-examination is also prescribed calling for such a witness so desired for such re-examination. Therefore, a reading of Section 311 Cr.P.C. and Section 138 Evidence Act, insofar as it comes to the question of a criminal trial, the order of re-examination at the desire of any person under Section 138, will have to necessarily be in consonance with the prescription contained in Section 311 Cr.P.C. It is, therefore, imperative that the invocation of Section 311 Cr.P.C. and its application in a particular case can be ordered by the Court, only by bearing in mind the object and purport of the said provision, namely, for achieving a just decision of the case as noted by us earlier. The power vested under the said provision is made available to any Court at any stage in any inquiry or trial or other proceeding initiated under the Code for the purpose of summoning any person as a witness or for examining any person in attendance, even though not summoned as witness or to recall or re-examine any person already examined. Insofar as recalling and re-examination of any person already examined, the Court must necessarily consider and ensure that such recall and re-examination of any person, appears in the view of the Court to be essential for the just decision of the case. Therefore, the paramount requirement is just decision and for that purpose the essentiality of a person to be recalled and re-examined has to be ascertained. To put it differently, while such a widest power is invested with the Court, it is needless to state that exercise of such power should be made judicially and also with extreme care and caution."

15. In this context, I also wish to make a reference to the judgment of the Apex Court in Mannan SK and others vs. State of West Bengal and another reported in AIR 2014 SC 2950, wherein the the Apex Court Court has held as under:-

"10. The aim of every court is to discover truth. Section 311 of the Code is one of many such provisions of the Code which strengthen the arms of a court in its effort to ferret out the truth by procedure sanctioned by law. It is couched in very wide terms. It empowers the court at any stage of any inquiry, trial or other proceedings under the Code to summon any person as a witness or examine any person in attendance, though not summoned as witness or recall and re-examine already examined witness. The second part of the Section uses the word 'shall'. It says that the court shall summon and examine or recall or re-examine any such person if his evidence appears to it to be essential to the just decision of the case. The words 'essential to the just decision of the case' are the key words. The court must form an opinion that for the just decision of the case recall or reexamination of the witness is necessary. Since the power is wide it's exercise has to be done with circumspection. It is trite that wider the power greater is the responsibility on the courts which exercise it. The exercise of this power cannot be untrammeled and arbitrary but must be only guided by the object of arriving at a just decision of the case. It should not cause prejudice to the accused. It should not permit the prosecution to fill-up the lacuna. Whether recall of a witness is for filling-up of a lacuna or it is for just decision of a case depends on facts and circumstances of each case. In all cases it is likely to be argued that the prosecution is trying to fill-up a lacuna because the line of demarcation is thin. It is for the court to consider all the circumstances and decide whether the prayer for recall is genuine."

16. Further in the case of V.N. Patil vs. K. Niranjan Kumar and Ors. reported in (2021) 3 SCC 661 wherein the Apex Court has held that the aim of every Court is to discover the truth. Section 311 Cr.P.C. is one of many such provisions which strengthen the arms of a court in its effort to unearth the truth by procedure sanctioned by law. At the same time, the discretionary power vested under Section 311 Cr.P.C. has to be exercised judiciously for strong and valid reasons and with caution and circumspection to meet the ends of justice.

17. The principles related to the exercise of the power under Section 311 Cr.P.C. have been well settled by this Court in Vijay Kumar vs. State of Uttar Pradesh and Another, reported in 2011 (8) SCC 136:-

"17. Though Section 311 confers vast discretion upon the court and is expressed in the widest possible terms, the discretionary power under the said section can be invoked only for the ends of justice. Discretionary power should be exercised consistently with the provisions of the Code and the principles of criminal law. The discretionary power conferred under Section 311 has to be exercised judicially for reasons stated by the court and not arbitrarily or capriciously. Before directing the learned Special Judge to examine Smt Ruchi Saxena as a court witness, the High Court did not examine the reasons assigned by the learned Special Judge as to why it was not necessary to examine her as a court witness and has given the impugned direction without assigning any reason."

10.

18. This principle has been further reiterated in Mannan Shaikh and Others vs. State of West Bengal and Another, reported in 2014 (13) SCC 59 and thereafter in the case of Ratanlal vs. Prahlad Jat and Others, 2017 (9) SCC 340 and Swapan Kumar Chatterjee vs. Central Bureau of Investigation, 2019 (14) SCC 328. The relevant Paras of Swapan Kumar Chatterjee (supra) are as under:-

"10. The first part of this section which is permissive gives purely discretionary authority to the criminal court and enables it at any stage of inquiry, trial or other proceedings under the Code to act in one of the three ways, namely: (i) to summon any person as a witness; or (ii) to examine any person in attendance, though not summoned as a witness; or (iii) to recall and reexamine any person already examined. The second part, which is mandatory, imposes an obligation on the court (i) to summon and examine or (ii) to recall and reexamine any such person if his evidence appears to be essential to the just decision of the case.

11. It is well settled that the power conferred under Section 311 should be invoked by the court only to meet the ends of justice. The power is to be exercised only for strong and valid reasons and it should be exercised with great caution and circumspection. The court has vide power under this section to even recall witnesses for reexamination or further examination, necessary in the interest of justice, but the same has to be exercised after taking into consideration the facts and circumstances of each case. The power under this provision shall not be exercised if the court is of the view that the application has been filed as an abuse of the process of law."

19. Aforesaid exposition of law clearly suggests that a fair trial is main object of criminal jurisprudence and it is duty of court to ensure such fairness is not hampered or threatened in any manner. It has been further held in the aforesaid judgments that fair trial entails interests of accused, victim and society and therefore, grant of fair and proper opportunities to the persons concerned, must be ensured being a constitutional goal, as well as a human right. The Apex Court has categorically held in the aforesaid judgment that adducing evidence in support of the defence is a valuable right and denial of such right would amount to denial of a fair trial.

20. The Apex Court, while culling out certain principles required to be borne in mind by the courts while considering applications under Section 311, has held that exercise of widest discretionary powers under Section 311 should ensure that judgment should not be rendered on inchoate, inconclusive and speculative presentation of facts. Hon'ble Apex Court has further held that if evidence of any witness appears to be essential for the just decision of the case, it is the duty of the court to summon and examine or recall and re-examine any such person because very object of exercising power under Section 311 is to find out truth and render a just decision. Most importantly, in the judgment referred to herein above, the Apex Court has held that court should bear in mind that no party in trial can be foreclosed from correcting errors and that if proper evidence was not adduced or a relevant material was not brought on record due to any inadvertence, the Court should be magnanimous in permitting such mistakes to be rectified.

21. From perusal of the records of the present application and applications filed by the application under Section 311 Cr.P.C. as well as from examining the order impugned, it is an admitted position that the victim/applicant has already been examined and cross-examined. From the application made by the applicant under Section 311 Cr.P.C., it is apparently clear that the same has been filed only for lingering on the trial of the case.

22. The fairness of trial has to be seen not only from the point of view of the victim, but also from the point of view of the accused and the society. It is not possible to lay down precise situations when such power can be exercised. The Legislature in its wisdom has left the power undefined. Thus, the scope of power under Section 311 Cr.P.C. has to be considered from case to case.

23. The victim/applicant cannot have the witness recalled for re-examination as a matter of right and extraordinary provision cannot be used as an afterthought to fill the gaps.

24. Considering the materials brought on record and keeping the principles laid down by the Hon'ble Supreme Court for exercise of power under section 311 Cr.P.C., this Court is of the opinion that observations and findings recorded by the trial Court in rejecting the application under Section 311 Cr.P.C. of the applicant under the facts and circumstances of the case are fully sustainable. The trial Court has committed no illegality or infirmity in the order impugned by rejecting the application of the applicant. There appears no abuse of process of the Court also. There is no evidence on record to satisfy this Court that trial would be seriously prejudiced if the victim/applicant is not recalled for re-examination or further examination.

25. In view of the above, the application of the applicant having no merit deserves to be rejected. In the result, the application is rejected.

26. The office is directed to communicate this order to the court concerned to proceed with the case in accordance with law.

2. This application u/s 482 Cr.P.C. has been filed by the applicant with prayer to quash the order dated 24.11.2021 passed by Additional Sessions Judge, Court No.1, Varanasi in Session Trial No.269 of 2020 (State Vs. Neeraj Vishwakarma and others), arising out of Case Crime No.0517 of 2019, under Section 302 I.P.C., Police Station-Sarnath, District-Varanasi as well as entire proceeding, pending before the aforesaid Court.

3. Brief facts of the case are that an F.I.R. was lodged on 08.09.2019 at about 11:17 hours for an offence under Section 307 I.P.C. at P.S. Sarnath, District Varanasi by opposite party no.2 against one Neeraj Vishwakarma and one unknown person, alleging therein that few days ago, marriage of daughter of first informant was solemnized with one Kranti Vishwakarma but the co-accused namely, Neeraj Vishwakarma was having an affair with his daughter, therefore, she was enticed by Neeraj Vishwakarma. It is also alleged that co-accused Neeraj Vishwakarma, after marrying daughter of opposite party no.2, approached the High Court at Allahabad but after passage of sometime, his daughter returned and started residing with opposite party no.2. Annoyed by the same, co-accused Neeraj Vishwakarma, on 08.09.2019 between 5:45 to 6:00 O' clock came along with his friend on a motorcycle and opened fire upon mother of opposite party no.2, who is about 70 years old, with intention to kill her, after firing, both the persons fled away.

4. In the aforesaid case, though the Investigating Officer recorded the statement of first informant but statement of the injured could not be recorded due to her critical condition. Site plan, showing the place of incident was also prepared. In the meantime, on 09.09.2019 injured old mother of opposite party no.2 passed away, therefore, the case was converted for an offence under Section 302 I.P.C., entry in this regard was made by the Investigating Officer vide parcha no.2 in the case diary. On 11.10.2019, Neeraj Vishwakarma was arrested and for the first time name of applicant, Sujeet Kumar Vishwakarma, surfaced in his confessional statement as recorded by the Investigating Officer. Two witnesses namely, Raj Kumar Vishwakarma and Ashish Vishwakarma, were introduced by the Investigating Officer and their statements under Section 161 Cr.P.C. were recorded, in which they also for the first time disclosed the name of the applicant. After coming to know about the fact that applicant has been falsely implicated, he surrendered and has been released on bail. After collecting evidence, charge sheet has been submitted on 14.11.2019. Applicant came to know that the Investigating Officer had received information that the applicant and another person who were sent to jail, were not in any way involved in the incident, two persons, namely Bache Lal Vishwakarma and his son Ravindra Vishwakarma @ Lucky were the real culprit, therefore, an application was moved by Investigating Officer, before the Senior Superintendent of Police, Varanasi, requesting for permission for further investigation in the matter. After permission being granted, the Investigating Officer proceeded to collect the other evidences like call detail record and also recorded the statements of Rahul Sonkar and Ravindra Vishwakarma under Section 161 Cr.P.C. Statement of first informant was also recorded for the second time, in which he has not supported his earlier version and has also stated that why the name of applicant has been taken by him. On the basis of aforesaid evidences, the Investigating Officer filed Second and Third charge sheet on 01.11.2020 and 10.12.2020. However, the fourth charge sheet was filed on 20.01.2021 wherein the Investigating Officer has mentioned that report regarding involvement of Neeraj Vishwakarma and Sujeet Vishwakarma, was to be placed before the competent Court. The Investigating Officer while submitting the supplementary charge sheet under Section 173(8) Cr.P.C. has stated that as charge sheet has already been submitted against the applicant on 14.11.2019 wherein cognizance has already been taken, therefore, the matter with respect to the applicant will be decided by the competent Court.

5. Learned counsel for the applicant has moved discharge application on 19.02.2021 on the ground that the applicant was not named in the F.I.R., his name surfaced in the confessional statement of named accused. He was not present at the place of incident on that date. There is no evidence against the applicant on the basis of which charge sheet was submitted. He further submits that discharge application has been rejected in a mechanical manner, therefore, the order dated 24.11.2021 as well as the entire proceedings may be quashed.

6. Per contra, learned A.G.A. for the State has opposed the contention raised by the learned counsel for the applicant and states that there is no illegality or infirmity in the order dated 24.11.2021 passed by the concerned court below, by which, discharge application of the applicant has been rejected. He further submits that there is no reliable evidence on record to show that applicant was not present at the place of incident. Therefore, there is no infirmity or perversity in the aforesaid order, which has been passed after considering the evidence available on record. No case is made out for discharge of the applicant, who have to face the trial, inasmuch as, in the facts and circumstances of the present case, their complicity in commission of crime can, prima facie, be inferred and the offence is made out against him.

7. All the contentions raised by the learned counsel for the applicant relates to disputed questions of fact. The court has also been called upon to adjudge the testimonial worth of prosecution evidence and evaluate the same on the basis of various intricacies of factual details which have been touched upon by the learned counsel. The veracity and credibility of material furnished on behalf of the prosecution has been questioned and false implication has been pleaded.

8. Before proceeding to adjudge the validity of the impugned order it may be useful to cast a fleeting glance to some of the representative cases decided by the Hon'ble Supreme Court which have expatiated upon the legal approach to be adopted at the time of framing of the charge or at the time of deciding whether the accused ought to be discharged. It shall be advantageous to refer to the observations made by the Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of State of Bihar vs. Ramesh Singh reported in 1977 (4) SCC 39 which are as follows :-

"4. Under S. 226 of the Code while opening the case for the prosecution the prosecutor has got to describe the charge against the accused and State by what evidence he proposes to prove the guilt of the accused. Thereafter, comes at the initial stage, the duty of the Court to consider the record of the case and the documents submitted therewith and to hear the submissions of the accused and the prosecution in that behalf. The Judge has to pass thereafter an order either u/s. 227 or u/s. 228 of the Code. If "the Judge considers that there is not sufficient ground for proceeding against the accused, he shall discharge the accused and record his reasons for so doing", so enjoined by s. 227. If, on the other hand, "the Judge is of opinion that there is ground for presuming that the accused has committed an offence which .....

(b) in exclusively triable by the court, he shall frame in writing a charge against the accused," as provided in S. 228.

Reading the two provisions together in juxtaposition, as they have got to be, it would be clear that at the beginning and the initial stage of the trial the truth, veracity and effect of the evidence which the prosecutor proposes to adduce are not to be meticulously judged. Nor is any weight to be attached to the probable defence of the accused. It is not obligatory for the Judge at that stage of the trial to consider in any detail and weigh in a sensitive balance whether the facts, if proved, would be incompatible with the innocence of the accused or not. The standard of test and judgment which is to be finally applied before recording a finding regarding the guilt or otherwise of the accused is not exactly to be applied at this stage of deciding the matter under s. 227 and 228 of the Code. At that stage the court is not to see whether there is sufficient ground for conviction of the accused or whether the trial is sure to end in his conviction. Strong suspicion against the accused, if the matter remains in the region of suspicion, cannot take the place of proof of his guilt at the conclusion of the trial. But at the initial stage if there is a strong suspicion which leads the court to think that there is ground for presuming that the accused has committed an offence then it is not open to the court to say that there is no sufficient ground for proceeding against the accused. The presumption of the guilt of the accused which is to be drawn at the initial stage is not in the sense of the law governing the trial of criminal cases in France where the accused is presumed to be guilty unless the contrary is proved. But it is only for the purpose of deciding prima facie whether the court should proceed with the trial or not. If the evidence which the Prosecutor proposes to adduce to prove the guilt of the accused even if fully accepted before it is challenged in cross-examination or rebutted by the defence, if any, cannot show that the accused committed the offence, there will be no sufficient ground for proceeding with the trial. An exhaustive list of the circumstances to indicate as to what will lead to one conclusion or the other is neither possible nor advisable. We may just illustrate the difference of the law by one more example. If the scales of pan as to the guilt or innocence of the accused are something like even at the conclusion of the trial, then, on the theory of benefit of doubt the case is to end in his acquittal. But if, on the other hand, it is so at the initial stage of making an order under S. 227 or S. 228, then in such a situation ordinarily and generally the order which will have to be made will be one under S. 228 and not under S. 227."

9. Aforesaid case was again referred to in another judgemnt of the Hon'ble Apex Court's in the case of Superintendent and Remembrancer of Legal Affairs, West Bengal Versus Anil Kumar Bhunja reported in AIR 1980 (SC) 52 and the Hon'ble Apex Court proceeded to observe as follows:-

"18. It may be remembered that the case was at the stage of framing charges; the prosecution evidence had not yet commenced. The Magistrate had, therefore, to consider the above question on a general consideration of the materials placed before him by the investigating police officer. At this stage, as was pointed out by this Court in State of Bihar v. Ramesh Singh, AIR 1977 SC 2018, the truth, veracity and effect of the evidence which the prosecutor proposes to adduce are not to be meticulously judged. The standard of test, proof and judgment which is to be applied finally before finding the accused guilty or otherwise, is not exactly to be applied at the stage of Section 227 or 228 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973. At this stage, even a very strong suspicion founded upon materials before the Magistrate, which leads him to form a presumptive opinion as to the existence of the factual ingredients constituting the offence alleged; may justify the framing of charge against the accused in respect of the commission of that offence."

10. In yet another case of Palwinder Singh Vs. Balvinder Singh reported in AIR 2009 SC 887 the Hon'ble Apex Court had the occasion to reflect upon the scope of adjudication and its ambit at the time of framing of the charge and also about the scope to consider the material produced by the accused at that stage. Following extract may be profitably quoted to clarify the situation: -

"12. Having heard learned counsel for the parties, we are of the opinion that the High Court committed a serious error in passing the impugned judgment insofar as it entered into the realm of appreciation of evidence at the stage of the framing of the charges itself. The jurisdiction of the learned Sessions Judge while exercising power under Section 227 of the Code of Criminal Procedure is limited. Charges can be framed also on the basis of strong suspicion. Marshalling and appreciation of evidence is not in the domain of the Court at that point of time. This aspect of the matter has been considered by this Court in state of Orissa v. Debendra Nath Padhi, (2005) 1 SCC 568 wherein it was held as under :

"23. As a result of the aforesaid discussion, in our view, clearly the law is that at the time of framing charge or taking cognizance the accused has no right to produce any material. Satish Mehra's Case holding that the trial Court has powers to consider even materials which the accused may produce at the stage of Section 227 of the Code has not been correctly decided."

11. The following observations made by the Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of Sanghi Brothers (Indore) Pvt. Ltd. v. Sanjay Choudhary reported in AIR 2009 SC 9 also reiterated the same position of law :-

"10. After analyzing the terminology used in the three pairs of sections it was held that despite the differences there is no scope for doubt that at the stage at which the Court is required to consider the question of framing of charge, the test of a prima facie case to be applied.

11. The present case is not one where the High Court ought to have interfered with the order of framing the charge. As rightly submitted by learned counsel for the appellant, even if there is a strong suspicion about the commission of offence and the involvement of the accused, it is sufficient for the Court to frame a charge. At that stage, there is no necessity of formulating the opinion about the prospect of conviction. That being so, the impugned order of the High Court cannot be sustained and is set aside. The appeal is allowed."

12. In a recent judgment in the case of M.E. Shivalingamurthy vs. Central Bureau of Investigation reported in (2020) 2 SCC 768, Hon'ble Supreme Court has considered the judgment of P. Vijayan vs. State of Kerala, (2010) 2 SCC 398 and reproduced the principle laid down in aforesaid judgment. Relevant paragraphs 17, 18, 28, 29, 30 and 31 are being quoted below: -

"17. This is an area covered by a large body of case law. We refer to a recent judgment which has referred to the earlier decisions, viz., P. Vijayan v. State of Kerala and another2 and discern the following principles:

17.1 If two views are possible and one of them gives rise to suspicion only as distinguished from grave suspicion, the Trial Judge would be empowered to discharge the accused.

17.2 The Trial Judge is not a mere Post Office to frame the charge at the instance of the prosecution.

17.3 The Judge has merely to sift the evidence in order to find out whether or not there is sufficient ground for proceeding. Evidence would consist of the statements recorded by the Police or the documents produced before the Court.

17.4 If the evidence, which the Prosecutor proposes to adduce to prove the guilt of the accused, even if fully accepted before it is challenged in cross-examination or rebutted by the defence evidence, if any, "cannot show that the accused committed offence, then, there will be no sufficient ground for proceeding with the trial".

17.5 It is open to the accused to explain away the materials giving rise to the grave suspicion.

17.6 The court has to consider the broad probabilities, the total effect of the evidence and the documents produced before the court, any basic infirmities appearing in the case and so on. This, however, would not entitle the court to make a roving inquiry into the pros and cons.

17.7 At the time of framing of the charges, the probative value of the material on record cannot be gone into, and the material brought on record by the prosecution, has to be accepted as true.

17.8 There must exist some materials for entertaining the strong suspicion which can form the basis for drawing up a charge and refusing to discharge the accused."

"18. The defence of the accused is not to be looked into at the stage when the accused seeks to be discharged under Section 227 of the Cr.P.C. The expression, "the record of the case", used in Section 227 of the Cr.PC, is to be understood as the documents and the articles, if any, produced by the prosecution. The Code does not give any right to the accused to produce any document at the stage of framing of the charge. At the stage of framing of the charge, the submission of the accused is to be confined to the material produced by the Police."

28. It is here that again it becomes necessary that we remind ourselves of the contours of the jurisdiction under Section 227 of the Cr.PC. The principle established is to take the materials produced by the prosecution, both in the form of oral statements and also documentary material, and act upon it without it been subjected to questioning through cross-examination and everything assumed in favour of the prosecution, if a scenario emerges where no offence, as alleged, is made out against the accused, it, undoubtedly, would enure to the benefit of the accused warranting the Trial Court to discharge the accused."

29. It is not open to the accused to rely on material by way of defence and persuade the court to discharge him.

30. However, what is the meaning of the expression "materials on the basis of which grave suspicion is aroused in the mind of the court's", which is not explained away? Can the accused explain away the material only with reference to the materials produced by the prosecution? Can the accused rely upon material which he chooses to produce at the stage?

31. In view of the decisions of this Court that the accused can only rely on the materials which are produced by the prosecution, it must be understood that the grave suspicion, if it is established on the materials, should be explained away only in terms of the materials made available by the prosecution. No doubt, the accused may appeal to the broad probabilities to the case to persuade the court to discharge him."

13. In fact the scope to discharge the accused u/s 245(2) Cr.P.C. is extremely limited. There are only exceptional circumstances which may justify such discharge after passing of the summoning order without any further evidence of such a nature being produced which may completely absolve or exonerate the accused and the charge against them may appear to be groundless. There may also be such circumstances which may be brought to the notice of the court like the absence of legally required sanction or any such legal embargo which prohibits the continuation of proceedings against accused. Ordinarily it is indeed very hard to succeed in obtaining a discharge successfully on the basis of same set of evidence which was found sufficient by the court for the purpose of summoning the accused to face the trial but because the possibility, however limited it be, does exist to get a discharge even without recording any evidence after summoning that the applications u/s 245(2) Cr.P.C. are moved and are, as they should be, entertained by the courts.

14. Illumined by the case law referred to herein above, this Court has adverted to the entire record of the case.

15. The submissions made by the applicant's learned counsel call for adjudication on pure questions of fact which may adequately be adjudicated upon only by the trial court and while doing so even the submissions made on points of law can also be more appropriately gone into by the trial court in this case. This Court does not deem it proper, and therefore cannot be persuaded to have a pre-trial before the actual trial begins. So far as the argument placed by learned counsel for the applicant that applicant was not involved in any way in the incident, this Court is of the opinion that in the present case, the involvement of the applicant is clear from the narration of facts regarding assistance of Neeraj Vishwakarma in enticing away the daughter of opposite party no.2 in the version of the F.I.R. as well as the statement of the informant.

16. A threadbare discussion of various facts and circumstances, as they emerge from the allegations made against the accused, is being purposely avoided by the Court for the reason, lest the same might cause any prejudice to either side during trial. But it shall suffice to observe that the perusal of the complaint, the summoning order and also all other the material available on record makes out a prima facie case against the accused at this stage and this Court does not find any justifiable ground to set aside the impugned order refusing the discharge of the accused. This court has not been able to persuade itself to hold that no case against the accused has been made out or to hold that the charge is groundless.

17 . The prayer for quashing or setting aside the impugned order dated 24.11.2021 is refused as I do not see any illegality, impropriety and incorrectness in the impugned order or the proceedings under challenge. There is absolutely no abuse of court's process perceptible in the same. The present matter also does not fall in any of the categories recognized by the Supreme Court which might justify interference by this Court in order to upset or quash them.

18. The present application u/s 482 Cr.P.C. lacks merit and is, accordingly, dismissed.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Rajesh Singh Chauhan, J.)

1. Heard Sri Nadeem Murtaza, learned counsel for the applicant and Sri S.P. Tiwari, learned Additional Government Advocate for the State. No one has appeared on behalf of the complainant nor any adjournment slip has been moved.

2. As per learned counsel for the applicant, the present applicant is apprehending her arrest in FIR No. 111 of 2021, under Section 306 IPC, Police Station Cantt, Lucknow East, District Lucknow.

3. Learned counsel for the applicant has further submitted that the applicant has falsely been implicated in this case as she has not committed any offence, as alleged in the prosecution story.

4. The attention has been drawn towards the impugned FIR which has been lodged on 15.07.2021, wherein the allegation has been levelled against the present applicant that on the basis of instigation of the present applicant, the victim has committed suicide. The basis of such allegation is one suicide note of the victim which was send to the social media. As per the suicide note, the victim has indicated that the responsible person for suicide of the victim is the present applicant who is mother-in-law of the victim.

5. Sri Nadeem Murtaza, learned counsel for the applicant has placed reliance on the judgment of Hon'ble Apex Court in Re:Madan Mohan Singh Vs. State of Gujrat and Another reported in (2010) 8 SCC 628; Rajesh Vs. State of Haryana reported in (2020) 15 SCC 359; and Arnab Manoranjan Goswami Vs. State of Maharashtra and Others reported in (2021) 2 SCC 427, by submitting that the basic ingredients of Section 306 IPC are suicidal death and abetment thereof. To constitute abetment, intention and involvement of accused to aid or instigate commission of suicide is imperative. Any severance or absence of any of these constituents would militate against said indictment. For the convenience, Para 10 and 14 in Re: Madan Mohan Singh (supra) are being reproduced below:

"10. We are convinced that there is absolutely nothing in this suicide note or the FIR which would even distantly be viewed as an offence much less under Section 306 IPC. We could not find anything in the FIR or in the so-called suicide note which could be suggested as abetment to commit suicide. In such matters there must be an allegation that the accused had instigated the deceased to commit suicide or secondly, had engaged with some other person in a conspiracy and lastly, that the accused had in any way aided any act or illegal omission to bring about the suicide.

14. As regards the suicide note, which is a document of about 15 pages, all that we can say is that it is an anguish expressed by the driver who felt that his boss (the accused) had wronged him. The suicide note and the FIR do not impress us at all. They cannot be depicted as expressing anything intentional on the part of the accused that the deceased might commit suicide. If the prosecutions are allowed to continue on such basis, it will be difficult for every superior officer even to work." (emphasis supplied)

6. Para 9 in of the judgment of Hon'ble Apex Court in Re: Rajesh (supra) is being reproduced herein-below:

"9. Conviction under Section 306 IPC is not sustainable on the allegation of harassment without there being any positive action proximate to the time of occurrence on the part of the accused, which led or compelled the person to commit suicide. In order to bring a case within the purview of Section 306 IPC, there must be a case of suicide and in the commission of the said offence, the person who is said to have abetted the commission of suicide must have played an active role by an act of instigation or by doing certain act to facilitate the commission of suicide. Therefore, the act of abetment by the person charged with the said offence must be proved and established by the prosecution before he could be convicted under Section 306 IPC. (See Amalendu Pal alias Jhantu v. State of West Bengal1)." (emphasis supplied)

7. On the basis of aforesaid submissions, Sri Nadeem Murtaza has submitted that in the present case, there is no overt act on the part of the present applicant and unless and until there is any overt act or positive act on the part of the applicant/accused to instigate/abete to commit suicide, the ingredients of Section 306 IPC would not be attracted. Therefore, Sri Murtaza has submitted that in the present applicant may not be implicated under Section 306 IPC.

8. He has further submitted that investigation is going on and the present applicant is willing to participate with the investigation, therefore, her liberty may be protected till completion of the investigation and filing of the chargesheet, if any, under Section 173(2) Cr.P.C.

9. Learned AGA opposed the prayer for anticipatory bail but could not dispute the facts as argued by learned counsel for the applicant.

10. Therefore, without entering into the merits of the issue, considering the arguments of learned counsel for the parties, the dictum of the Hon'ble Apex Court in re; Madan Mohan Singh (supra), Rajesh (supra) and Arnab Manoranjan Goswami (supra), contents and allegation of the FIR, other material available on record and the undertaking of the applicant that she shall cooperate with the investigation, I find it appropriate that the liberty of the present applicant may be protected till completion of the investigation and filing of the chargesheet, if any, under Section 173(2) Cr.P.C. in view of the dictum of Hon'ble Apex Court in Re: Sushila Aggarwal vs. State (NCT of Delhi), 2020 SCC online SC 98.

11. It is directed that in the event of arrest, applicant-Kiran Singh shall be released on anticipatory bail in the aforesaid case crime number till conclusion of the trial on her furnishing a personal bond of Rs.50,000/- with two sureties each in the like amount to the satisfaction of the arresting authority/ court concerned with the following conditions:-

1. that the applicant shall make herself available for interrogation by a police officer as and when required;

2. that the applicant shall not, directly or indirectly make any inducement, threat or promise to any person acquainted with the facts of the case so as to dissuade her from disclosing such facts to the court or to any police officer or tamper with the evidence;

3. that the applicant shall not leave India without the previous permission of the court;

4. that in default of any of the conditions mentioned above, the investigating officer shall be at liberty to file appropriate application for cancellation of anticipatory bail granted to the applicant;

5. that the applicant shall not pressurize/ intimidate the prosecution witness;

6. that the applicant shall appear before the trial court on each date fixed unless personal presence is exempted;

7. that in case of breach of any of the above conditions the court below shall have the liberty to cancel the bail.

Civil Law- Code of Civil Procedure, 1908 - Order 47 Rule 1-Motor Vehicles Act 1988- Section 173 - The present review petition raises issue of deduction of personal expenses and calculation of compensation being faulty-Review is not an appeal in disguise - Rehearing of the matter is impermissible in the garb of review. It is an exception to the general rule that once a judgment is signed or pronounced, it should not be altered.

Settled law that the power of review cannot be exercised on merits of the case as that is the domain of the appellate court, however the power of review may be exercised only where some mistake or error apparent on the face of the record is found or to prevent miscarriage of justice or to correct grave and palpable errors committed by it and may be exercised on the discovery of new and important matter or evidence which, after the exercise of due diligence was not within the knowledge of the person seeking the review or could not be produced by him at the time when the order was made and for any other sufficient reason.

Civil Law - Code of Civil Procedure, 1908 - Order 47 Rule 1-Motor Vehicles Act 1988- Section 173- Here father cannot be said to be dependant as it is not demonstrated that father was dependant. The minor children would take one quotient between two of them and one count for mother hence instead of 1/4 it has to be 1/3 for personal expenses- There is an error apparent on the face of the record in the judgment. The calculation is based on a grave mistake the court instead of considering amount payable has calculated on basis of deduction of personal expenses. In fact, the claimants should have also filed review application as what has been calculated is considering the amount which was to be deducted as personal expenses instead of considering grantable datum amount- From the date of claim petition till amount is deposited, the amount would carry 7.5% rate of interest. The amount as recalculated be deposited within 8 weeks from today failing which entire amount will carry 9% rate of interest after expiry of the period.

As error apparent on the face of the record has been found in as much as the appellate court has calculated the amount payable on the basis of personal expenses and one-fourth cannot be deducted even if there are more dependents as sisters and brothers and father cannot be said to be dependent on the deceased- Amount therefore recalculated. (Delivered by Hon'ble Dr. Kaushal Jayendra Thaker, J.
Hon'ble Ajai Tyagi, J.)

1. Heard Sri Rahul Anand Gaur, Counsel for the original respondent now applicant for the review petitioner and Sri Satish Chandra Pandey, Counsel for the respondents - original claimants.

2. The present review petition raises issue of deduction of personal expenses and calculation of compensation being faulty. There is no dispute with respect to liability. The age of the deceased is 21 years which is not in dispute.

3. Learned Counsel for the review petitioner has heavily relied on the decisions in Sube Singh and another Vs. Shyam Singh (Dead) and others, reported in 2018 0 Supreme (SC) 126. Learned counsel has also relied on the decision titled Meena Pawaia and others Vs. Ashraf Ali and others, published in 2021 LawSuit (SC) 743*; The learned counsel for review petitioner has even placed reliance on* Suresh Chandra Bagmal Doshi and another Vs. The New India Assurance Company Limited and others, 2018 0 Supreme (SC) 357; and Dr. Anoop Kumar Bhattacharya and another Vs. National Insurance Co. Ltd., 2021 0 Supreme (All) 1277, so as to contend that the deduction for personal expenses of a bachelor has to be only one half and the appeal court under section 173 of Motor Vehicles Act 1988 cannot deduct one-fourth even if there are more dependents as sisters and brothers and father cannot be said to be dependent on the deceased. The learned counsel for review petitioner has contended that this is error apparent on the record and requires to be reviewed.

4. The judgments relied by Sri Gaur appearing for the applicant - respondent are considered by us and the submission that in case of death of bachelor 1/2 and not 1/4th be deducted for personal expenses is not the law propounded. It is normally dependent on how many dependents are on the deceased.

5. It is submitted by the Counsel for the review petitioner that the deceased was a bachelor and the father was an earning member and hence deduction of 1/4th should not have been made, it should have been 50% of the income earned by deceased.

6. While considering the facts, we have categorically mentioned in paragraph no.4 "It is submitted by learned counsel for the appellant that the deceased was 21 years of age survived by his parents and brothers and sister who were minor at the time of accident. He was JCB mechanic. In the year 2014, the Tribunal has assessed the income of the deceased to be Rs.3,000/-, which is on the lower side. Further the Tribunal has not granted any amount under the head of future loss of income. Multiplier of 17 was applied which should be 18. Further amount under the head of non-pecuniary damages has been awarded on lower side. Further rate of interest has been considered to be 7% which should be 9%. Thus, quantum of compensation is required to be enhanced."

7. It is submitted by Counsel for original claimants that the deceased was survived by his parents, brothers and sisters, who are minor at the time of accident. The deceased was bachelor. The family was dependant on him and, therefore, this Court had deducted 1/4th.

8. It is submitted by Sri Gaur, learned counsel for review petitioner that father of the deceased cannot be said to be the dependant on the son. It is submitted that claimants are under a duty to prove that father of deceased was dependent on the income of deceased. There were minor brothers and sisters though are legal representative of the deceased but is not proved that they were dependant on deceased, therefore, this review requires to be allowed in view of the following authoritative pronouncements:-

9. In Thungabhadra Industries Ltd. Vs. The Government of Andhra Pradesh AIR 1964 SC 1372, the Court said:

"A review is by no means an appeal in disguise whereby an erroneous decision is reheard and corrected, but lies only for patent error."

10. In Aribam Tuleshwar Sharma Vs. Aribam Pishak Sharma 1979 (4) SCC 389 the Court said:

"... there is nothing in Article 226 of the Constitution to preclude a High Court from exercising the power of review which inheres in every Court of plenary jurisdiction to prevent miscarriage of justice or to correct grave and palpable errors committed by it. But, there are definitive limits to the exercise of the power of review. The power of review may be exercised on the discovery of new and important matter or evidence which, after the exercise of due diligence was not within the knowledge of the person seeking the review or could not be produced by him at the time when the order was made; it may be exercised where some mistake or error apparent on the face of the record is found; it may also be exercised on any analogous ground. But, it may not be exercised on the ground that the decision was erroneous on merits. That would be the province of a Court of Appeal. A power of review is not to be confused with appellate powers which may enable an Appellate Court to correct all manner of errors committed by the Subordinate Court."

11. Again, in Meera Bhanja v. Nirmala Kumari Choudhury AIR 1995 SC 455 while quoting with approval the above passage from Abhiram Taleshwar Sharma Vs. Abhiram Pishak Shartn (supra), the Court once again held that review proceedings are not by way of an appeal and have to be strictly confined to the scope and ambit of Order 47 Rule 1 CPC.

12. In Parsion Devi and others Vs. Sumitri Devi and others 1997 (8) SCC 715 it was held that an error, which is not self evident and has to be detected by process of reasoning, can hardly be said to be error apparent on the face of the record justifying the court to exercise powers of review in exercise of review jurisdiction.

13. In Rajendra Kumar Vs. Rambai, AIR 2003 SC 2095, the Apex Court has observed about limited scope of judicial intervention at the time of review of the judgment and said:

"The limitations on exercise of the power of review are well settled. The first and foremost requirement of entertaining a review petition is that the order, review of which is sought, suffers from any error apparent on the face of the order and permitting the order to stand will lead to failure of justice. In the absence of any such error, finality attached to the judgement/ order cannot be disturbed."

14. Thus, Review is not an appeal in disguise. Rehearing of the matter is impermissible in the garb of review. It is an exception to the general rule that once a judgment is signed or pronounced, it should not be altered. In Lily Thomas Vs. Union of India AIR 2000 SC 1650, the Court said that power of review can be exercised for correction of a mistake and not to substitute a new. Such powers can be exercised within limits of the statute dealing with the exercise of power. The aforesaid view is reiterated in Inderchand Jain Vs. Motilal (2009) 4 SCC 665.

15. In Kamlesh Verma Vs. Mayawati and others 2013 (8) SCC 320, the Court said:

"19. Review proceedings are not by way of an appeal and have to be strictly confined to the scope and ambit of Order 47 Rule 1 of CPC. In review jurisdiction, mere disagreement with the view of the judgment cannot be the ground for invoking the same. As long as the point is already dealt with and answered, the parties are not entitled to challenge the impugned judgment in the guise that an alternative view is possible under the review jurisdiction.

Summary of the Principles:

20. Thus, in view of the above, the following grounds of review are maintainable as stipulated by the statute:

20.1. When the review will be maintainable:-

(i) Discovery of new and important matter or evidence which, after the exercise of due diligence, was not within knowledge of the petitioner or could not be produced by him;

(ii) Mistake or error apparent on the face of the record;

(iii) Any other sufficient reason.

The words "any other sufficient reason" has been interpreted in Chhajju Ram vs. Neki, AIR 1922 PC 112 and approved by this Court in Moran Mar Basselios Catholicos vs. Most Rev. Mar Poulose Athanasius & Ors., AIR 1954 SC 526*, to mean "a reason sufficient on grounds at least analogous to those specified in the rule". The same principles have been reiterated in* Union of India vs. Sandur Manganese & Iron Ores Ltd. & Ors., 2013 (8) SCC 337.

22.2. When the review will not be maintainable:-

(i) A repetition of old and overruled argument is not enough to reopen concluded adjudications.

(ii) Minor mistakes of inconsequential import.

(iii) Review proceedings cannot be equated with the original hearing of the case.

(iv) Review is not maintainable unless the material error, manifest on the face of the order, undermines its soundness or results in miscarriage of justice.

(v) A review is by no means an appeal in disguise whereby an erroneous decision is reheard and corrected but lies only for patent error.

(vi) The mere possibility of two views on the subject cannot be a ground for review.

(vii) The error apparent on the face of the record should not be an error which has to be fished out and searched.

(viii) The appreciation of evidence on record is fully within the domain of the appellate court, it cannot be permitted to be advanced in the review petition.

(ix) Review is not maintainable when the same relief sought at the time of arguing the main matter had been negatived." (emphasis supplied)

16. Having heard the learned counsels for the parties We do not disturb the findings as far as monthly income of the deceased as decided by this court. Supreme Court in Meena Pawaia (supra) has held that if deceased is bachelor but has more family members who are dependant on the deceased

, the deduction can vary. Here father cannot be said to be dependant as it is not demonstrated that father was dependant. The minor children would take one quotient between two of them and one count for mother hence instead of 1/4 it has to be 1/3 for personal expenses in view of discussion in latest judgment in Dr. Anoop Kumar (supra).

17. We even find that there is an error apparent on the face of the record in the judgment. The calculation is based on a grave mistake the court instead of considering amount payable has calculated on basis of deduction of personal expenses. In fact, the claimants should have also filed review application as what has been calculated is considering the amount which was to be deducted as personal expenses instead of considering grantable datum amount. Therefore, we recalculate the amount as under:-

i. Income Rs.4,000/-

ii. Percentage towards future prospects : 40% namely Rs.1,600/-

iii. Total income : Rs. 4,000 + 1,600 = Rs. 5,600/-

iv. Income after deduction of 1/3rd : Rs. 3,733/-

v. Annual income : Rs. 3,733 x 12 = Rs. 44,796/-

vi. Multiplier applicable : 18

vii. Loss of dependency: Rs. 44,796 x 18 = Rs. 8,06,328/- viii. Amount under non pecuniary heads : Rs. 40,000/-

ix. Total compensation : Rs. 8,46,328/-

18. We have been conveyed by Sri Gaur that no amount has yet been deposited except the amount awarded by the Tribunal. This review petition is filed immediately after the judgment. Hence, the enhanced amount would be deposited with 7.5% interest at flat rate of interest. We even modify paragraph no.10 as no amount has been deposited by the applicant-review petitioner herein and it is not a very old matter.

19. We are thankful to Uttrakhand Transport Corporation for having brought these glaring mistakes to our notice by way of filing this review.

20. The Uttrakhand Transport Corporation should have deposited the amount which was on lower side as there was mistake in calculation which unfortunately overlooked by this court. The amount could have been deposited even under protest but the review petitioner has not deposited the same. May that as it may be, from the date of claim petition till amount is deposited, the amount would carry 7.5% rate of interest. The amount as recalculated be deposited within 8 weeks from today failing which entire amount will carry 9% rate of interest after expiry of the period .

21. The rest of the directions are not altered. The record, if yet not transmitted, be sent to Tribunal. The amount of Rs. 25,000/-, if not transmitted, be transmitted expeditiously.

22. The review petition is partly allowed.

A. Criminal Law -Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973-Sections 374(2) & 383 - Indian Penal Code, 1860-Sections 302, 504 - Arms Act,1959 - Section 25-challenge to-conviction-broad day light murder-motive as well as direct evidence of two eye-witnesses available- an altercation took place between deceased and appellant over the relationship of appellant's wife with the deceased-both the eye-witnesses PW-2 and PW-5 were present at the place of occurrence-recovery as well as medical evidence fully supported the prosecution version-PW-1, PW-2 and PW-5 who being real brothers and sister of the deceased are interested witnesses, therefore, their testimony has no value, does not inspire confidence-there is no bar in law on examining family members or any other person as witnesses if they disclose truthful or actual facts leading to the occurrence-It is well settled that interested evidence is not necessarily unreliable evidence-Hence, Trial court rightly convicted the accused.(Para 1 to 46)

The appeal is dismissed. (E-6)

1. This jail appeal is by the appellant-Sultan against the judgment and order dated 5th October, 2011 passed by the First Additional Sessions Judge, Baghpat in Sessions Trial No. 132 of 2008 (State Vs. Sultan) arising out of Crime No. 304 of 2007, under Sections 302, 504 I.P.C., Police Station-Singhawali Aheer, District Baghpat and in Sessions Trial No. 133 of 2008 (State Vs. Sultan) arising out of Crime No. 317 of 2007, under Section 25 Arms Act, Police Station-Singhawali Aheer, District-Baghpat, whereby the accused-appellant has been convicted and sentenced to undergo (i) life imprisonment for the offence under Section 302 I.P.C. with a fine of Rs. 50,000/-, in default thereof, he has to further undergo one year additional simple imprisonment, (ii) six months imprisonment for the offence under Section 504 I.P.C. and (iii) one year for the offence under Section 25 of the Arms Act, that all the sentences were to run concurrently.

2. We have heard Ms. Archana Singh, learned Amicus Curiae on behalf of the appellant and Mrs. Archana Singh, learned A.G.A. for the State as also perused the entire materials available on record.

3. The prosecution story, as transpired from the records of the present appeal, is as follows:

On the written report (Exhibit-Ka-1) given by the P.W.-1/informant Aflatoon son of Bunddu Darji, a first information report (Exhibit-Ka-4) has been lodged on 3rd November, 2007 at 10:30 a.m. against the accused-appellant, which was registered as Crime No. 304 of 2007 under Sections 302 and 504 I.P.C. In the said report, it has been alleged that on 3rd November, 2007 at about 09:00 a.m. in the morning, when the brother of the informant, namely, Jamil was coming to his house from Gher, on the way the accused-appellant met Jamil and said that he has separated his wife from him and started abusing him. After explaining that he is not responsible for the same, he came to his house. After that when the accused-appellant was on the roof of his house, he asked Jamil to come to his roof stating that his behavior with him earlier was wrong for which he was apologizing. Believing the accused Sultan, the brother of the informant i.e. Jamil reached roof/terrace of one Iliyash and the accused-appellant also came to roof/terrace of Iliyash, where the accused-appellant while talking him, took out a Katta (country-made pistol) and shot Jamil in his neck and fled. The time of occurrence was 09:30 a.m. and at that time the younger sister of the informant, namely, Hazra also went behind his brother Jamil on the terrace. The said incident occurred in her presence. The younger brother of the informant, namely, Vakeel had also seen the incident. The dead body of the informant was lying on the roof covered in blood and he had come to the Police Station for lodging the first information report. On registration of the said case, P.W.-6 Sub-Inspector Rajeev Kumar Kaushik after mentioning the said report in the General Diary, reached the place of occurrence on the identification of the informant. P.W.-6 has also recorded the statement of the informant along with other witnesses and prepared site plan. P.W.-6 has also recovered blood stained and plain earth from the place of occurrence and prepared recovery memo (Exhibit-Ka-12) on the same day i.e. 3rd November, 2007.

4. The inquest of the deceased was conducted on the same day at 1330 hours in the presence of P.W.-6 and the statements of witnesses were taken on the inquest report (Exhibit-Ka-2) by P.W.-6. The inquest witnesses opined that since the cause of death of the deceased was due to gun shot, the post-mortem was necessary.

5. Thereafter the dead body of the deceased was sealed and sent to Mortuary. The autopsy of the deceased was conducted on the same day i.e. 3rd November, 2007 at 04:10 p.m. by Dr. Yatish Kumar (P.W.-3). In the opinion of P.W.-3, the cause of death of deceased Jamil was shock and haemorrhage due to following ante-mortem injuries:

"(1) Gun shot wound of entry of size 1.75 cm. x 1.5 cm. on right side of neck just above the clavicle right side margins everted, tattooing present on the right side of the face and neck in the area of 13 cm x 11 cm.

(2) Gun shot wound of exist of size 2.5 cm. x 2 cm on the back just medial to right scapula upper inner border margins everted.

Injury no.1 and 2 are correspond to each other by prolong on resection blood vessels of right side of the neck are damaged due to injury no.1"

6. The investigation proceeded and on 21st November, 2007, the accused-appellant was arrested from the tube-well of one Mool Chand Sharma and from whose possession a country-made pistol 315 bore, two live cartridges 315 bore and one empty cartridge of 315 bore have been recovered by the Police and in that regard the arrest-cum-recovery memo has been prepared by P.W.-5 (Exhibit-Ka-11). After completion of statutory investigation in terms of Chapter XII Cr.P.C., the Investigating Officer submitted the charge-sheet dated 2nd January, 2008 (Exhibit-Ka-13) against the accused-appellant. The Magistrate concerned took cognizance of the offence on the charge-sheet and as the case was triable by the court of sessions, committed the case to the court of Sessions Judge resultantly, the same were registered as Sessions Trial No. 132 of 2008 (State Vs. Sultan) arising out of Crime No. 304 of 2007, under Sections 302, 504 I.P.C., Police Station-Singhawali Aheer, District Baghpat and Sessions Trial No. 133 of 2008 (State Vs. Sultan) arising out of Crime No. 317 of 2007, under Section 25 Arms Act, Police Station-Singhawali Aheer, District-Baghpat.

7. On 3rd May, 2008, the learned Trial Court framed following charges against the accused-appellant for the offence under Sections 302 and 504 I.P.C.:

"मै, एस.के.सिंह, प्रथम, अपर सत्र न्यायाधीश, बागपत, आप सुल्तान को निम्न आरोपो से आरोपित करता हूँ:-
