"It is well settled as a result of several decisions of this Court that two distinct conditions must be satisfied before the Income Tax Officer can assume jurisdiction to issue notice under section 147 (a). First, he must have reason to believe that the income of the assessee has escaped assessment, and, secondly, he must have reason to believe that such escapement is by reason of the omission or failure on the part of the assessee to disclose fully and truly all material facts necessary for his assessment. If either of these conditions is not fulfilled, the notice issued by the Income Tax Officer would be without jurisdiction*. The important words under section 147 (a) are "has reason to believe" and these words are stronger than the words "is satisfied".* The belief entertained by the Income Tax Officer must not be arbitrary or irrational*. It must be reasonable or in other words* it must be based on reasons which are relevant and material*. The Court, of course, cannot investigate into the adequacy or sufficiency of the reasons which have weighed with the Income Tax Officer in coming to the belief, but the* Court can certainly examine whether the reasons are relevant and have a bearing on the matters in regard to which he is required to entertain the belief before he can issue notice under section 147 (a). If there is no rational and intelligible nexus between the reasons and the belief, so that, on such reasons, no one properly instructed on facts and law could reasonably entertain the belief, the conclusion would be inescapable that the Income Tax Officer could not have reason to believe that any part of the income of the assessee had escaped assessment and such escapement was by reason of the omission or failure on the part of the assessee to disclose fully and truly all material facts and the notice issued by him would be liable to he struck down as invalid."

(emphasis added)

25. In Commissioner of Income Tax, Delhi Vs Kelvinator of India Limited, (2010) 2 SCC 723, Court, referring to legislative intention for introducing condition of "reason to believe" said that it is not a power of review. There is a conceptual difference between power to review and power to re-assess. Assessing Officer has not power to review, he has power to re-assess. But re-assessment has to be based on fulfillment of certain pre-condition and if the concept of "change of opinion" is removed, then, in the garb of re-opening the assessment, review would take place. Court said that "change of opinion", if introduced in the context of Section 147, it would confer arbitrary powers upon Assessing Officer to review assessment at any stage and at any point of time. Court observed "one needs to give a schematic interpretation to the words "reason to believe" failing which, we are afraid, Section 147 would give arbitrary powers to the Assessing Officer to re-open assessments on the basis of "mere change of opinion", which cannot be per se reason to re-open." Thus in order to show that there was a reason to believe, an Assessing Officer must have a "tangible material' to come to the conclusion that there is escapement of income from assessment. Reasons must have a live link with the formation of belief.

26. In Phool Chand Bajrang Lal And Anr. vs Income-Tax Officer, (1993) 4 SCC 77, referring to Section 147 and 148, Court said as under:-

"From the plain phraseology of the above Sections of the Act, it appears that two conditions precedent which are required to be satisfied before an Income Tax Officer can acquire jurisdiction to proceed under Clause (a) of Section 147 read with Sections 148 and 149 of the Act, beyond the period of four years but within a period of eight years, from the end of the relevant year, are: (a) that the Income Tax Officer must have reason to believe that the income, profits or gains chargeable to tax had either been under assessed or escaped assessment and (b) that the ITO must have reason to believe that such escapement or under-assessment was occasioned by reason, of omission or failure on the part of the assessee to disclose fully and truly all material facts necessary for the assessment. Both these conditions must co-exist in order to confer jurisdiction on the Income Tax Officer*. The Income Tax Officer is obliged, before initiating proceedings under Section 148 of the Act to record the reasons for the formation of his belief to reopen the assessment."*

(emphasis added)

27. Court further said that, an Income Tax Officer confers with jurisdiction to re-open assessment under Section 147 (a) read with Section 148 of Act 1961 only, if, on the basis of specific, reliable and relevant information, coming to his possession subsequently, he has reasons which he must record, to believe, that by reason of omission or failure on the part of the assessee to make a true and full disclosure of all material facts, necessary for his assessment, during the concluded assessment proceedings, any part of his income, profit or gains chargeable to income tax has escaped assessment. He may start reassessment proceedings either because some fresh facts come to light which were not previously disclosed or some information with regard to the facts previously disclosed comes into his possession which tends to expose untruthfulness of those facts. In such situations, it is not a case of mere change of opinion or the drawing of a different inference from the same facts as were earlier available but acting on fresh information. No doubt sufficiency of reasons for forming the belief, is not for the Court to judge, but it is open to an assessee to establish that there, in fact, existed no belief or that the belief was not at all a bona fide one or was based on vague, irrelevant and non-specific information. Only to that limited extent, Court may look into the conclusion arrived at by Income-tax Officer and examine whether there was any material available on the record from which the requisite belief could be formed by Income-tax

Officer and further whether that material had any rational connection or a live link for the formation of requisite belief.

28. In Assistant Commissioner of Income Tax Vs Rajesh Jhaveri Stock Brokers Pvt. Ltd., 2008 (14) SCC 208, Court said that the word "reason" in the phrase "reason to believe" would mean cause or justification. If Assessing Officer has cause or justification to know or suppose that income had escaped assessment, it can be said to have "reason to believe" that an income had escaped assessment. The expression cannot be read to mean that Assessing Officer should have finally ascertained the fact by legal evidence or conclusion. The function of Assessing Officer is to administer the statute with solicitude for the public exchequer with an inbuilt idea of fairness to taxpayers. Final outcome of the proceeding is not relevant. Only for the purpose of initiation stage, what is required is "reason to believe', but not the established fact of escapement of income.

29. All these authorities have been considered and reiterated recently in State of Uttar Pradesh and others Vs M/s Aryaverth Chawal Udyog & Others, 2016 (91) VST 1 (SC), Court after referring its earlier authorities, said that consistently it has been held that, such material on which Assessing Authority bases its opinion must not be arbitrary, irrational, vague, distant or irrelevant. It must bring home the appropriate rationale of action taken by Assessing Authority in pursuance of such belief. In case of absence of such material, Court in clear terms has held that the action taken by Assessing Authority on such "reason to believe" as arbitrary and bad in law. The standard of reason exercised by Assessing Authority is laid down as that of an honest and prudent person who would act on reasonable grounds and come to a cogent conclusion. The necessary sequitur is that a mere change of opinion while perusing the same material, cannot be a "reason to believe" that a case of escaped assessment exists requiring assessment proceedings to be reopened. If a conscious application of mind is made to the relevant facts and material available or existing at the relevant point of time while making assessment, and again a different or divergent view is reached, it would tantamount to "change of opinion". If an Assessing Authority forms an opinion during original assessment proceedings on the basis of material facts and subsequently finds it to be erroneous; it is not a valid reason under the law for reassessment. Thus, "reason to believe" cannot be said to be the subjective satisfaction of Assessing Authority but means an objective view on the disclosed information in the particular case and must be based on firm and concrete facts that some income has escaped assessment. In case of there being a change of opinion, there must necessarily be a nexus that requires to be established between "change of opinion" and the material present before Assessing Authority. Discovery of an inadvertent mistake or non-application of mind during assessment would not be a justified ground to re-initiate proceedings on the basis of change in subjective opinion.

30. Learned counsel for petitioner has also relied on certain judgments of this Court and other High Courts also which have been followed in similar line and exposition of law and we may only refer to those judgments i.e. Assistant Commissioner of Income Tax Vs Greater Noida Industrial Development Authority (2015) 379 ITR 14 (All); Greater Noida Industrial Development Authority Vs Commissioner of Income Tax (Writ Tax no. 985/2015-order dated 23.12.2015); Ishwar Chandra Vs Union of India & others. (decided by Hon'ble Allahabad High Court on 04.02.2015); Indra Prastha Chemicals Pvt. Ltd. & others Vs Commissioner of Income Tax & another (2004) 271 ITR 113 (All); Aroni Commercials Ltd. Vs Deputy Commissioner of Income Tax & another (2014) 362 ITR 403 (Bom); Asian Paints Ltd. Vs Deputy Commissioner of Income Tax & another (2008) 296 ITR 90 (Bom); Commissioner of Income Tax Vs TCP Ltd. (2010) 323 ITR 346 (Mad);

31. In the light of above exposition of law, when we go through various reasons in respect to orders dated 08.01.2016, passed in all A.Ys. except 2009-10, we find that there is either a statement of fact as to what has been disclosed by YEIDA in Returns submitted by it and documents appended thereto or there is guesswork that either TDS was deductable and if not deducted, then there is default which has to be verified. This in itself shows that authority concerned has no subsequent material to form opinion but it is factual guesswork or conjectures on the part of authority concerned so as to include and make it part of reasons to justify re-assessment under Section 147/148 of Act 1961.

32. The reasons communicated to YEIDA, we have already quoted in respect to A.Y's. 2010-11, 2011-12, 2012-13 and 2013-14. One of the ground is that Sundry Creditors have decreased and it needs verification. This is a fact disclosed by Assessee in the Returns and it was always open to the Assessing Officer to verify it at the stage of regular proceedings. If in the regular proceedings, Assessing Officer did not find any reason for verification what prompted it or made it obligatory to make verification now, is not clear and this ground in our view is nothing but change of process of opinion, not even a complete change of opinion, and cannot be justified to be a valid ground for reassessment unless there is something further to show that material was available before Assessing Authority so as to cause reason to believe that something has escaped assessment. The process of decrease of Sundry Creditors in the concerned A.Y. and previous year as mentioned by the Assessing Officer can be placed in the form of Chart as under:-

2010-11	798.77 crores	2827.83 crores
2011-12	2827.83 crores	3933.63 crores
2013-14	3617.41 crores	3800.58 crores

33. The non-application of mind of Assessing Officer is writ large from the fact that there is no consistent increase or decrease but it is in both ways. The Assessing Authority in the reasons, however, has consistently mentioned that Sundry Creditors have decreased and needs verification. When the difference is on both ways i.e. decrease and increase, mention of only one way i.e. decrease by Assessing Authority, not only shows non-application of mind but also shows that it is only conjecture and there is no material to constitute "reasons to believe".

34. There are three grounds relating to non-deduction of TDS:-

(a) TDS on interest of payment was not deducted under Section 194A and it was dis-allowable under Section 40(a), 1(a).

(b) Non-deduction of TDS under Section 194C on advertisement expenses.

(c) Non-deduction of TDS on consultancy expenses under Section 194J.

35. For all the aforesaid allegations of non-deduction of TDS, Assessing Authority after referring to the same has said that the matter requires verification with respect to deduction of TDS on interest payment it has also referred to an order passed by ACIT (TDS) under Sections 201(1) and 201(1)(a) of Act, 1961 on 27.03.2015.

36. Without looking into the question, whether Assessee was liable for deduction of TDS and deposit with Tax Authorities and whether he was liable to face consequences under Section 201 of Act, 1961 for failure to deduct or pay TDS, for us, it is sufficient to mention that Assessing Authority admits disclosure of various payments and expenses incurred by YEIDA on different heads i.e. payment of interest, advertisement and consultancy. These three expenses are disclosed in the documents filed along with return since this is evident from the reasons given by Assessing Authority that on the examination of Balance-sheet, Income and Expenditure Account these facts are evident. If that be so, every material was before the Authority concerned, nothing new has come, nothing has been discovered and nothing was detained by YEIDA and there is no non-disclosure of correct particulars.

37. Besides, there are several conditions under Section 194 A, 194 C and 194 J, and thereunder whether the TDS was actually deductable or not is a matter of investigation and inquiry. But it was always open to make this inquiry in regular proceedings when disclosure of payment under various heads as noted above was already there in the Income and Expenditure Account and Balance-sheet of YEIDA. But when Assessing Authority did not find any justification to make verification at that stage, for change of opinion now, in our view Sections 147/148 would not be attracted.

38. We also find that in respect to TDS, Assessing Authority has said that matter needs verification. We have already given a chart showing that petitioner claimed refund of TDS amount in Returns meaning thereby whatever TDS was deducted and deposited, it had claimed refund. It is nowhere stated that any information was concealed by YEIDA or has been wrongly disclosed or has not been disclosed at all. We also find from record that under Section 201, ACIT (TDS) already enquired from petitioner with respect to A.Y.'s 2011-12, 2012-13 and 2013-14, whether it has deducted tax on the amount of interest paid to NOIDA whereupon YEIDA admitted on oath that as per legal consultation they were advised that no deduction paid to YEIDA was required. Thereupon ACIT (TDS) held that such deduction was necessary and consequently passed order on 19.03.2015 raising demand of tax liability for A.Y.'s 2011-12, 2012-13, 2013-14, as under:-

Financial Year	A.Y.	Interest paid	Short/Non-Deduction under section 201	Default months	Interest under section 201(1A)	Total Tax liability

2012-13	2013-14	2224316262	222431626	36	80075385	302507047

39. If that be so, with regard to TDS, issue was already clear. We find that at the stage, when notices for re-assessment were issued, it cannot be said that there was anything which was not disclosed by Assessee or any subsequent fact or material had come to the notice of DCIT for justifying re-assessment.

40. Last reason/justification, that, YEIDA claimed depreciation on electrical equipment at the rate of 15% instead of 10%, which is prima facie inadmissible, is also unsustainable for the reason that it is a clear case of change of opinion. Assessee at the time of filing Return was not found incorrect but now a different opinion is being formed that depreciation should be lesser than that actually claimed.

41. In order dated 10.08.2016, height of non application of mind is evident from the fact that Assessing Authority while rejecting objection has observed that here is a case of seizure operation though admittedly there was no search and seizure matter. This clearly shows that while passing order dated 10.08.2016, competent authority did not care even to go through relevant record and apply its mind. When confronted, learned Additional Solicitor General has nothing to offer except his regret accepting that here is a clear case of non application of mind on the part of authority concerned.

42. In the entirety of facts and circumstances as discussed above, we are satisfied that the so called reasons mentioned by authority concerned, for all Assessment Years in question, for justifying re-assessment proceedings under Section 147/148 of Act 1961, are illegal, showing non application of mind and an arbitrary exercise on the part of authority concerned.

43. The writ petitions are allowed to the extent of notices issued by authority concerned under Section 148 and orders rejecting objection filed by petitioner against re-assessment under Section 147/148 of Act 1961, are hereby quashed. Petitioner shall be entitled to cost which we quantify Rs. 25,000/- in each set of case.

44. However, we make it clear that this judgment shall not preclude respondents from proceeding afresh in accordance with law for re-assessment, if it is so permissible for valid and just grounds as contemplated in law and relevant provisions.

45. We also make it clear that this judgment shall not effect in any manner the regular assessment already made and if the matter is pending at any other stage but any order of reassessment pursuant to the impugned notice which have been quashed by this judgment shall also stand quashed.

THE HON'BLE ANIL KUMAR, J.
THE HON'BLE ANIL KUMAR SRIVASTAVA-II, J.

Criminal Appeal No.- 809 Of 1982

Raju & Ors. ...Appellants
Versus
State Of U.P. ...Respondent

Counsels for Appellants:
Arun Sinha, Kirti Prakash Singh, Nagendra Mohan

Counsel for Respondent:
Govt. Advocate.

Acts/Sections Referred:
Indian Penal Code, 1860 — Sections 147, 148, 149, 302, 307, 379; Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 — Section 174 (Inquest).

FACTS:
The appellants were tried in Sessions Trial No. 413 of 1979 for offences under Sections 147, 148, 302/149 and 379 IPC arising out of a double murder committed on 09.02.1979 at about 6.00 p.m. near the pulia of Ugu Minor, within the limits of Police Station Fatehpur Chaurasi, District Unnao. The prosecution case traced its origin to a long-standing enmity between the families of the complainant and the accused, arising from earlier cross-murders and criminal litigation between them. On the date of occurrence, the complainant's brothers — Amar Nath alias Suman and Mahendra Nath alias Babua — along with an armed companion, Manna alias Ram Swaroop (PW-1), were returning on foot from Unnao after attending court proceedings, when they were waylaid by the accused persons armed with farsa, gadasa, banka, countrymade pistols and a gun. PW-1 was overpowered, assaulted and thrown into a bamba after his licensed gun was snatched; the two deceased were thereafter fatally assaulted by firearm and sharp-edged weapons and died at the spot. A first information report was lodged the same evening at 7.00 p.m. by the complainant, who died before he could be examined at trial. The trial court, appreciating the ocular and medical evidence, convicted the accused and sentenced them variously to life imprisonment and lesser terms under the aforesaid sections. During the pendency of the appeal, one of the appellants, Piare, died, and his appeal abated.
Before the High Court, the appellants challenged the conviction principally on the grounds that: (i) the FIR was ante-timed, as evidenced by overwriting/cutting of the recorded time in the inquest papers and the unusually long duration taken to complete inquest proceedings; (ii) the inquest report did not mention the weapons used, casting doubt on whether the FIR had in fact been lodged before the inquest; (iii) PW-1 Ram Swaroop, the injured witness, had not himself witnessed the actual assault resulting in the deaths, and his dying declaration recorded by the Additional City Magistrate (proved only as a defence document, DW-1) did not name all the accused or specify their weapons; (iv) PW-4 Ram Singh, the sole eyewitness to the murders, was a chance witness whose presence at the spot on a working day was doubtful; (v) PW-2 Usman Ali, an eyewitness who turned hostile, could not support the prosecution; (vi) no firearm injury was found on the body of the deceased Mahendra Nath despite the prosecution's case of firing upon him; and (vii) the investigation was defective inasmuch as the Investigating Officer neither verified the pendency of the Arms Act case nor explained the summoning of a dog squad, said to be inconsistent with the accused being known assailants.

POINTS FOR DETERMINATION:

(i) Whether the first information report was ante-timed so as to render the prosecution version doubtful?
(ii) Whether non-mention of the weapons of assault and the manner of occurrence in the inquest report, and the overwriting/delay therein, vitiates the prosecution case?
(iii) Whether the testimony of the injured witness PW-1 Ram Swaroop, who did not witness the actual killing and whose earlier statement to the Magistrate did not name all accused, is reliable?
(iv) Whether PW-4 Ram Singh, described as a chance witness, can be relied upon as an eyewitness to the murders?
(v) Whether the partly favourable testimony of a hostile witness (PW-2 Usman Ali) can be used in support of the prosecution?
(vi) Whether absence of firearm injury on the body of the deceased Mahendra Nath discredits the prosecution version?
(vii) Whether alleged lapses in investigation entitle the accused to acquittal?

HELD:

(i) An ante-timed or suspicious FIR does not by itself render the prosecution case vulnerable; the court must carefully analyse the evidence in support of the prosecution case (Anand Mohan v. State of Bihar, (2012) 7 SCC 225, relied upon). On facts, the occurrence took place at 6.00 p.m., the FIR was lodged within an hour at a distance of three miles by the complainant, whose writing and signature stood proved by an eyewitness, and there was no material to hold the report ante-timed.
(ii) The scope of an inquest under Section 174 Cr.P.C. is limited to ascertaining the apparent cause of death; it need not, and ordinarily does not, record the manner of occurrence, the weapons used or the names of assailants/eyewitnesses, and omissions of these particulars do not discredit the prosecution case (Radha Mohan Singh v. State of U.P., (2006) 2 SCC 450; Amar Singh v. Balwinder Singh, (2003) 2 SCC 518; Guiram Mondal v. State of West Bengal, (2013) 15 SCC 284; Khujji v. State of M.P., (1991) 3 SCC 627; Shakila Khader v. Nausheer Cama, (1975) 4 SCC 122, relied upon). The overwriting in the inquest papers and the time taken therein stood satisfactorily explained by the Investigating Officer on account of the crowd, night hours and lantern failure, and did not go to the root of the prosecution case.
(iii) An injured witness ordinarily commands a higher degree of credibility, there being no reason for him to falsely implicate persons and shield the real culprits (Abdul Sayeed v. State of M.P., (2010) 10 SCC 259 and other authorities, relied upon). PW-1's earlier statement to the Magistrate was recorded while he was in a precarious, injured condition and could be used only for corroboration or contradiction; minor omissions therein did not render his presence at the spot, or the assault upon him, improbable. His restraint in not claiming to have witnessed the actual killings — despite being an interested witness with every opportunity to embellish — enhanced rather than diminished his credibility.
(iv) The label "chance witness" is inapposite in a rural setting where the presence of a passer-by at the place of occurrence cannot be viewed with suspicion merely because he does not reside at that spot (Thangaiya v. State of T.N., (2005) 9 SCC 650, relied upon). PW-4's explanation for his presence — returning from Safipur after enquiring about cement — stood substantially established, minor discrepancies as to detail notwithstanding, and natural variations in the account of a rustic witness recalling events without reference to a watch do not detract from reliability (State of Karnataka v. M.V. Manjunathegowda, (2003) 2 SCC 188, relied upon).
(v) The evidence of a hostile witness is not to be rejected in toto; that part of the testimony which is consistent with and supports the case of the prosecution or the defence may be relied upon after careful scrutiny (State of U.P. v. Ramesh Prasad Misra, (1996) 10 SCC 360; Vinod Kumar v. State of Punjab, (2015) 3 SCC 220, relied upon). PW-2's testimony, though he declined to name the accused out of fear, corroborated the time, place and manner of the assault and the presence of the injured and the deceased, and to that extent supported the prosecution.

(vi) The absence of firearm injury on the body of Mahendra Nath does not contradict the prosecution case, since the prosecution version and the eyewitness account establish that firearms as well as sharp-edged weapons were used by different assailants upon the two deceased, and the medical evidence of incised wounds on Mahendra Nath was consistent with the eyewitness account.

(vii) A defective or negligent investigation does not by itself entitle an accused to acquittal; the court must examine the ocular and other evidence dehors such lapses to determine reliability, and cannot allow the omission or lapse of an investigating officer to defeat a case otherwise proved (Dayal Singh v. State of Uttaranchal, 2012 (3) J.I.C. 428, relied upon). Failure to verify the pendency of the Arms Act case and the summoning of a dog squad, without more, were held to be at best investigative lapses not causing prejudice to the accused or discrediting the otherwise credible ocular testimony.

RESULT:

Appeal dismissed. Conviction and sentence recorded by the learned 7th Additional Sessions Judge, Unnao in Sessions Trial No. 413 of 1979 confirmed. Bail of the appellants cancelled and sureties discharged; appellants directed to be taken into custody to serve out their sentences. Appeal of appellant Piare, who died during pendency, held to have abated.

On 13.7.1974 Ashok Pande, Chhunia Brahmin and Gauri Kurmi have murdered his father Paras Nath Shukla. Munai alias Kashi Prasad Vani Devi and Lature Pahlwan alias Rameshwar of his village have conspired murder of his father. Trial was pending in the Court. On 22.5.1975 Lature Pahlwan alias Rameshwar was killed. Suman alias Amar Nath and Babuwa alias Mahendra Nath brother of complainant were tried and were acquitted by the court. Appeal preferred by the family members of Lature Pahlwan was dismissed by the High Court due to which they were inimical and were planning to kill the brothers of the complainant.

5. On 09.02.1979, case of Babuwa alias Mahendra Nath was listed in the court in which complainant alongwith his brother Suman alias Amar Nath, Babuwa alias Mahendra Nath, Manna alias Ram Swaroop, Ram Sewak and Buche alias Usman resident of village Ugu went to Unnao for pariavi. Manna alias Ram Swaroop was carrying double barrel gun. In the evening all of them came to Hulasi Kuwan by bus and were going to their village Ugu on foot. Amar Nath tried to help Babua then Piare and Babu fired upon him by countrymade pistol and gun which hit Suman alias Amar Nath in his chest and right side of abdomen. He also fell down along the side of Babuwa. Raju, Munna, Rajjan attacked them by farsa, gadasa and banka. On raising an alarm by complainant and his companions Ram Sigh Kurmi, Mulla Pasi Mahmood came and raised alarm. Thereafter, there was a hue and cry from the side of Jasra and shots were fired. Then accused ran away towards northern side by firing from their arms. They also took away with them the double barrel gun of Manna alias Ram Swaroop. Both the brothers of complainant received several injuries and died at the spot. Manna alias Ram Swaroop was hiding himself behind tree. He was also seriously injured. At the spot police force of outpost Ugu and other person came. Manna was sent to the hospital. Thereafter, complainant lodged the FIR at police station Fatehpur Chaurasi on the same day, i.e., 9.2.1979 at 7.00 PM whereby a case crime no.35/79 under section 147, 148, 149, 302, 307 IPC was registered and investigation was handed over to the Investigating Officer.

6. Investigating Officer reached at the spot and prepared the inquest memo which began on 9.2.1979 at 8.30 PM and continued up to 10.7.1979 up to 2:30 PM. 9. PW-4 Ram Singh is an eyewitness. PW-5 Dr.S.K. Srivastava medico-legally examined the injured Ram Swaroop on 9.2.1979 at 10.45 PM at District Hospital Unnao and found following injuries on his body :-

(i) Incised wound 5 cm x 2 cm x bone deep at the right side of the forehead with cut of the upper plato of the skull, kept under observation, advised X-ray.

10. According to Doctor, all the injuries were caused by sharp edged weapons. Injuries no.2, 3 and 4 were simple while injury no.7 was grievous in nature. Injury no. 5, 6 and 1 were kept under observation. Duration was fresh. According to doctor, this injury could have been caused on 9.2.1979 at 6.00 PM by sharp edged weapon.

11. PW-7 S.I. Vivekanand is Investigating Officer who has conducted the investigation and submitted charge sheet against the accused.

12. PW-8 Constable Gyan Prakash is a formal witness who took the dead bodies for postmortem.

13. Accused Piare, Pappu alias Sheo Mangal, Raju Kurmi and Manna were charged under section 302 IPC, 148, Raju was also charged under section 307 IPC, Jagroop was charged under section 107, 379 IPC.

14. Accused have denied the allegations levelled against them and stated that they were falsely implicated due to enmity.

15. Witness DW-1 K.N. Tandon Additional City Magistrate Kanpur was produced in defence as DW-1. Eight papers were also filed in defence. After appreciating the evidence on record learned trial court has recorded a finding of guilt against the accused and convicted and sentenced them accordingly.

16. Learned counsel for the appellants submitted that the first information report is ante-time. In order to elaborate the argument, it is submitted that in the inquest report there are cuttings on the time of lodging FIR at the police station. Initially, it was shown as 08:00 PM which subsequently interpolated as 07:00 PM as the FIR was allegedly lodged at the police station at 07:00 PM. It was further submitted that the bare perusal of the written report shows that it was written by the scribe in a very calm and quite condition but as per the prosecution version occurrence took place at 06:00 PM and the FIR was lodged at the police station at 07:00 PM while the distance is three miles. It is further submitted that inquest proceedings began at 08:30 PM which continued up to 03:00 A.M. On 10.2.1979. What was the reason for taking such a long time in preparation of the inquest report. It is further submitted that as per the statement of PW-7 Investigating Officer reached at the spot at about 06:00 or 06:15 PM while first information report was lodged at 07:00 PM. How he reached at the spot prior to lodging of the FIR? Further it was incumbent upon him to mention the weapons in the inquest report but no such weapon was mentioned which creates a doubt that the first information was not lodged till inquest proceedings were conducted. Only after conclusion of the inquest proceedings first information report was lodged.

17. It is further submitted that prosecution story is fully doubtful. PW-1 Ram Swaroop is not an eyewitness of the incident of murder. According to the prosecution version he was assaulted, thereafter, thrown into the bamba so he could not see the incident wherein murder took place. It is further submitted that evidence of PW-4 Ram Singh is not reliable, trustworthy. He is an inimical witness. Both these witnesses were not present at the spot. It is further submitted that PW-2 Usman Ali has turned hostile. Prosecution cannot take any advantage of his evidence.

18. Further it is submitted that the Ram Swaroop was referred to Kanpur. Additional City Magistrate was called for recording the dying declaration who has recorded the same but prosecution did not produce neither the dying declaration nor additional City Magistrate. Rather Additional City Magistrate was produced as DW-1 who has proved the dying declaration given by PW-1 Ram Swaroop wherein names of two accused were not mentioned. In the dying declaration it is not mentioned that what weapon was being carried by which accused. Further learned trial court has recorded a finding that the condition of the injured was precareous. Presence of eyewitness PW-1 Ram Swaroop at the spot becomes doubtful.

19. It is further submitted that no firarm injury was found on the body of Mahendra Nath. Complainant Padam Nath Shukla could not be produced in the court as he died prior to recording of his evidence.

20. It is further submitted that evidence of PW-4 Ram Singh is totally unreliable, untrustworthy. He is a chance witness. He could not establish his presence at the place of occurrence. No injury was caused to him. If he was present there then he should have also suffered certain injuries. It shows that Ram Singh was not present at the spot. Further Ram Singh has also not stated anything about the injuries of Ram Swaroop. His statement was recorded after three days of incident. Investigating Officer has failed to give explanation for the delay.

21. It is further submitted that dog squad was called at the spot. If the accused were known that what was the need of calling the dog squad which itself shows that the accused were not known to the complainant prior to the incident. Some unknown persons have committed the murder in dark. It is further submitted that according to the prosecution version deceased was coming back to his home after attending his court case pending against him under section 25 Arms Act. It was the duty of the Investigating Officer to verify as to whether any case under section 25 Arms Act was fixed on that date or not but no such effort was made, hence, whole prosecution version becomes doubtful.

22. Per contra, learned A.G.A. Submits that the prosecution has successfully proved its case beyond reasonable doubt. Evidence of PW-1 Ram Swaroop and PW-4 Ram Singh is fully reliable, trustworthy. PW-1 Ram Swaroop is an injured witness who received the injuries in the same incident. After causing injuries to Ram Swaroop accused thrown him in the babma. Thereafter, murder of Mahendra Nath was committed. This incident of murder was seen by PW-4 Ram Singh. It is further submitted that first information report was lodged promptly without unnecessary delay. Investigation on the case was done in accordance with law. Accused were rightly held guilty for the offence committed by them.

23. Before dealing with the ocular evidence of the witnesses firstly we would discuss the postmortem report of deceased Amar Nath and Mahendra Nath and medico-legal report of injured Manna alias Ram Swaroop. Postmortem of the body of deceased Mahendra Nath alias Babua was conducted on 10.02.1979 at 04:00 PM while the postmortem of the body of Amarnath alias Suman was conducted on 10.02.1979 at 05:00 PM by PW-3 Dr. A. Akram, who was posted as Medical Officer, District Hospital Unnao. According to Dr. A. Akram, deceased Mahendra Nath alias Babua had suffered 12 incised wounds as have been mentioned above and he died due to the shock and haemorrhage due to ante- mortem injuries. Injuries could have been caused on 09.02.1979 at 06:00 PM by sharp edged weapon like farsa, gadasa and banka.

24. According to Dr. Akram deceased Amarnath alias Suman had suffered multiple gun shot injuries as well as incised wounds and his death was result of ante-mortem injuries which were sufficient to cause death. These injuries could have been caused on 9.2.1979 at 06:00 PM. Injury No.3 to 6 could have been caused by firearm while other incised wound could have been caused by sharp edged weapon like farsa, gadasa and banka. In the cross-examination Dr. Akram has admitted that there could be a natural variation of four to six hours in the time of death. Duration of death is shown as one day at the time of postmortem.

25. PW-5, Dr. S.K. Srivastava has conducted the medico-legal examination of the injured Ram Swaroop on 9.2.1979 at 10:45 PM at District Hospital Unnao where he was posted as Medical Officer. Dr. Srivastava found seven incised wound on the body of injured which could have been caused by sharp edged weapon. These injuries could have been caused on 9.2.1979 on 06:00 PM by some sharp edged weapon. Dr. Srivastava has stated that these injuries could not be caused at the time when the injured is in a lying position.

26. Statement of these two medical experts shows that the injuries of deceased as well as injured could have been caused on 9.2.1979 at 06:00 PM. Further the gun shot injuries of deceased Amar Nath could have been caused by some firearm while all the other injuries of incised wound could have been caused by sharp edged weapon.

27. Now, in the background of the medico-legal opinion it is to be seen as to whether prosecution has been successful in establishing the charges against the accused appellants?

28. It has been submitted by the learned counsel for the appellants that the first information report in this case is ante-time. It is further submitted that if the first information report is ante-time then it becomes doubtful and when the first information report is itself doubtful then whole prosecution story becomes doubtful. It has been held in Anand Mohan v. State of Bihar (2012) 7 SCC 225 that if the date and time of FIR is suspicious, the prosecution version is not rendered vulnerable but the Court is required to make a careful analysis of the evidence in support of the prosecution case.

29. According to the prosecution version, occurrence has taken place on 9.2.1979 at 06:00 PM while the first information report was lodged at the police station Fatehpur Chaurasi at 7:00 PM on the same day while the distance of the police station is about three miles. First information report was lodged by Padam nath Shukla son of Paras Nath Shukla who is the brother of the deceased but Padam Nath Shukla could not be produced in evidence as after lodging the FIR he died. In such circumstances PW-4 Ram Singh has proved the first information report. PW-4 Ram Singh is an eyewitness of the incident of murder of decased Amar Nath and Mahendra Nath. So far as the question of trustworthiness of the statement of PW-4 Ram Singh is concerned, we would analyse and scrutinize the same at the later stage of the judgment but at this stage so far as question of proving the exhibit ka-3 written report is concerned PW-4 Ram Singh has stated that he has seen Padam Nath writing and signing. He identified his writing and signatures and proved the same. It is further stated that in his presence Padam Nath has written the report and went to the police station to lodge the first information report. During cross-examination even it was asked as to whether he knows some peculiar type of writing of Padam Nath then the witness states that word 'e' 'j' and 't' were having a special type of writing. This witness was asked to give in writing these three words in court which he has submitted. Thereafter, these writing of Padam Nath in written report is not further challenged. No expert reprot is brought on record which could disprove the fact that this report exhibit ka-3 is not written by Padam nath, hence, we are of the considered view that exhibit ka-3 written report was written by Padam Nath.

30. Learned counsel for the accused has drawn our attention towards the inquest report as well as police papers which were sent alongwith dead body and submits that there is overwriting at the time as shown in the inquest report when the FIR was lodged. PW-7 Vivekanand is the Investigating Officer of the case who has admitted that there are some cuttings and overwritings in the inquest report but he cannot say as to what was the reason for the overwriting. It is further admitted by him that in the inquest report there is no mention as to what were weapons used by the accused in the commission of crime. So far as the importance of inquest report is concerned it is settled law that the purpose of preparation of inquest report is very limited.

31. It has been held in Guiram Mondal vs. State of West Bengal, (2013) 15 SCC 284 that:-

"The inquest report normally would not contain the manner in which the incident took place or the names of eyewitnesses as well as the names of accused persons. The basic purpose of holding an inquest is to report regarding the cause of death, namely, whether it is suicidal, homicidal, accidental, etc. Reference may be made to the judgments of this Court in Pedda Narayana v. State of A.P. (1975) 4 SCC 153 And Amar Singh v. Balwinder Singh, (2003)2 SCC 518.

In Radha Mohan Singh v. State of U.P., (2006) 2 SCC 450, This Court held that the scope of inquest is limited and is confined to ascertainment of apparent cause of death. Inquest is concerned with discovering whether in a given case the death was accidental, suicidal or homicidal, and in what manner or by what weapon or instrument the injuries on the body appear to have been inflicted. The details of overt acts need not be recorded in the inquest report. The High Court has rightly held that the manner and approach of the trial court in disbelieving the prosecution story by placing reliance on the inquest report was erroneous and bad in law."

32. In Amar Singh vs. Balwinder Singh and others, (2003) 2 SCC 518 Hon'ble Apex Court has held as under :-

"The provision of holding of an inquest and preparing an inquest report is contained in Section 174 Cr.P.C. The heading of the section is "Police to enquire and report on suicide etc." Sub-section (1) of this section provides that when the officer in charge of a police station or some other police officer specially empowered by the State Government in that behalf receives information that a person has committed suicide, or has been killed by another or by an animal or by machinery or by an accident, or has died under circumstances raising a reasonable suspicion that some other person has committed an offence, he shall immediately give information to the nearest Executive Magistrate and shall proceed to the place where the body of such deceased person is, and there, in the presence of two or more respectable inhabitants of the neighbourhood, shall make an investigation, and draw up a report of the apparent cause of death describing such wounds, fractures, buries, and other marks of injury as may be found on the body and stating in what manner, or by what weapon or instrument (if any), such marks appear to have been inflicted. The requirement of the section is that the police officer shall record the apparent cause of death describing the wounds as may be found on the body and also the weapon or instrument by which they appear to have been inflicted and this has to be done in the presence of two or more respectable inhabitants of the neighbourhood. The section does not contemplate that the manner in which the incident took place or the names of the accused should be mentioned in the inquest report. The basic purpose of holding an inquest is to report regarding the apparent cause of death, namely, whether it is suicidal, homicidal, accidental or by some machinery etc. The scope and purpose of Section 174 Cr.P.C. Was explained by this Court in Pedda Narayana v. State of A.P. (1975) 4 SCC 153 and it will be useful to reproduce the same :

The proceedings under Section 174 have a very limited scope. The object of the proceedings is merely to ascertain whether a person has died under suspicious circumstances or an unnatural death and if so what is the apparent cause of the death. The question regarding the details as to how the deceased was assaulted or who assaulted him or under what circumstances he was assaulted is foreign to the ambit and scope of the proceedings under Section 174. Neither in practice nor in law was it necessary for the police to mention those details in the inquest report.

It is therefore not necessary to enter all the details of the overt acts in the inquest report. Their omission is not sufficient to put the prosecution out of court.

33. In Khujji v. State of M.P. (AIR para 8) (1991) 3 SCC 627 this Court, after placing reliance upon the abovequoted decision, rejected the contention raised on behalf of the accused that the evidence of eyewitnesses could not be relied upon as their names did not figure in the inquest report prepared at the earliest point of time. In Shakila Khader v. Nausheer Cama (AIR para 5) (1975) 4 scc 122, 125 it was held that an inquest under Section 174 Cr.P.C. Is concerned with establishing the cause of the death only. The High Court was, therefore, clearly in error in holding that as the facts about the occurrence were not mentioned in the inquest report, it would show that at least by the time the report was prepared the investigating officer was not sure of the facts of the case.

34. Admittedly, there are overwritings in the inquest report but it is clear that in the inquest report itself where there is overwriting 19 is written above it in the bracket in the inquest report of Amar Nath alias Suman. In clear words 19 is again written which goes to show that there might be some accidental or clerical error which was subsequently detected by the concerned officer conducting the inquest proceedings and he rectified the same at the same time. Likewise in police form no.13 of deceased Amar Nath alias Suman and deceased Mahendra Nath alias Babua there is overwriting of 19 for which the PW-7 Investigating Officer has given a categorical statement that these overwritings are there but he cannot explain why these overwritings were made. It could be an accidental error which do not goes to the root of the case.

35. Inquest proceedings began on 9.2.1979 at 8:30 PM and continued up to 02:30 AM on 10.2.1979. It took about six hours to complete the inquest proceedings. PW-7 SI Vivekanand has given an explanation that since two murders of real brothers were committed, there was huge crowd at the spot. Further, it was night time so it took a long time to complete the proceedings. Further, proceedings were completed in the light of patromax. One patromax got out of order then another was called, hence, it took a lot of time to complete the proceedings. We do not find any discrepancy in the statement of PW-7 Vivekanand regarding time taken in the inquest proceedings. PW-6 Constable Ram Awadh Verma is the scribe who prepared the chik FIR as well as made a note of the same in the GD who has specifically denied that the first information report was lodged ante-time.

36. At this stage, statement of eyewitnesses PW-1 Ram Swaroop and PW-4 Ram Singh assumes importance regarding time of the incident because learned counsel for the accused argued that the occurrence has not taken place at 06:00 PM as shown by the prosecution, rather it took place in the dark during night and ante-time report was lodged showing the time of incident 06:00 PM so that the accused can be falsely implicated by the prosecution. PW-1 Ram Swaroop has stated that he was accompanying the deceased alongwith Hari Om, Ram Sewak, Buche alias Usman when they had gone to Unnao in the pairavi of a case under section 25 of Arms Act proceeding against Babua alias Mahendra Nath. They came by bus from Unnao to Hulasi Kuwan and started proceeding towards their home. At about 06:00 PM when they reached on the pulia of Ugu Minor then occurrence took place. This witness has been cross-examined at length regarding time of occurrence. It is stated by him that they reached Hulasi Kuwan at 5:30 PM, thereafter, they proceeded towards their village by pucca sadak. Although, there was another route which is not a convenient route. It is specifically stated that Ugu is about three kilometers from Hulasi Kuwan on constructed road while Ugu is about two and half kilometers from Mathar but this road is uneven and there is a nullah so they used to go to their village from Hulasi Kuwan. It is further specifically stated by the witness that he has stated the time approximately as he has not seen the watch at that time. PW-4 Ram Singh is also an eyewitness who has stated that when he came from his village he stayed at Safipur for about two and half hours. He left his village at 2:00 PM, reached Safipur at about 03:00 PM. He got down from bus at Hulasi Kuwan bus stand at about 5:45 PM. These two witnesses have specifically stated that they are stating the time approximately. Distance of Hulasi Kuwan bus stand from Safipur is about three miles. Bus did not stop on the way. After reaching at Hulasi Kuwan bus stand after two to three minutes he left the place.

37. It has been held by the Hon'ble Apex Court in State of Karnataka vs. M.V. Manjunathegowda & Another (2003) 2 SCC 188 that :-

"One should not fail to take note that the witnesses are rustic villagers. It is difficult to expect them to remember the events with mathematical precision after a lapse of more than two years. It is a common knowledge that ordinarily human memories are apt to blur with the passage of time. More so in the present case, when witnesses are rustic villagers. In such a situation, there are bound to occur certain discrepancies, which are in the form of omission and they cannot be considered as fatal to their evidentiary value, otherwise trustworthy. At the same time, they are unexposed to the technicalities of urban life and they speak plainly what they saw and did. They are straightforward looking people, truthful and trustworthy. Their testimony cannot be thrown out on the ground that it lacks spontaneity."

Natural discrepancy and variation are bound to occur in the statement of rustic witnesses who belong to rural background. We may also observe that it is not always possible for any person to have an eye over his watch at all the times. Both the witnesses were never knowing that some incident is likely to occur so they must see their watch to remember the time of occurrence. It is quite natural that difference of few minutes could always be there in stating the time. We are of the considered view that the prosecution has successfully established the time of occurrence as 6:00 PM as mentioned in the first information report. We are further of the view that the first information report is not ante- time.

38. Occurrence took place at 06:00 PM while the distance of the police station from the place of occurrence is three miles. First information report was lodged at 07:00 PM. First information report was scribed by Padam nath Shukla who is the real brother of the deceased. It has already come in the evidence that Paras Nath Shukla father of Padam Nath Shukla was murdered on 13.7.1974. There is a long drawn enmity with the complainant Padam nath Shukla, his brothers Amar Nath and Mahendra Nath with the accused which we will discuss in the later part of the judgment but at this stage, it can very well be seen that number of criminal cases were lodged against the deceased as well as accused. In this background if complainant Padam nath Shukla has promptly lodged the first information report then it could not be assumed that the first information report was ante-time as it could not have been lodged within a short span of time of one hour while two real brothers of the complainant were murdered. He left their dead bodies and went to the police station to lodge the first infromation report. Since number of criminal cases were already proceeding between the parties, hence, the complainant must be aware of the fact that the first information report should be lodged promptly. We have no reason to hold that the first information report is ante-time or the occurrence has not taken place at 06:00 PM.

39. Incident in question is in two parts. According to the prosecution version, PW-1 Ram Swaroop alongwith the deceased Mahendra Nath and Amar Nath was coming back from Unnao after attending the court case which was pending against Babua alias Mahendra Nath. Hari Om Ram Sewak and Buche alias Usman were also accompanying them. They left the bus at Hulasi Kuwan bus stand and were going on foot. PW-1 Ram Swaroop was carrying his licensed gun with him. When Jagroop caught hold of him from the back side and all other accused started attacking him by their sharp edged weapons. Raju inflicted injuries by farsa. He fell down on receiving the injuries. His gun was snatched by the accused and he was thrown in the bamba. This is one part of the incident. Second part relates to the murder of Suman alias Amar Nath and Babua alias Mahendra Nath. When Ram Swaroop was thrown in the bamba thereafter deceased ran away then accused inflicted injuries upon them in which Amar Nath alias Suman received gun shot injuries coupled with incised wounds while Mahendra Nath received incised wounds. Second part of the incident was seen by witness Ram Singh.

40. At this stage, now it is to be seen as to whether evidence of PW-1 Ram Swaroop who himself is an injured iwtness whose left leg was amputated and PW-4 Ram Singh is reliable or not. Further it is to be seen as to whether the statement of PW-2 Usman who was declared hostile should be thrown out as a whole or some part of his statement can be relied upon.

41. Now, we will examine the veracity of the statement of witnesses. At the very outset, PW-1 Ram Swaroop has stated the facts up to the stage when he was attacked by the accused. He was thrown away in the bamba. He has nowhere stated a single word about the murder of the deceased that he has seen the accused committing murder of the deceased.

42. Normally, an injured witness would enjoy greater credibility because he is the sufferer himself and thus, there will be no occasion for such a person to state an incorrect version of the occurrence, or to involve anybody falsely and in the bargain protect the real culprit. We need not discuss more elaborately the weightage that should be attached by the Court to the testimony of an injured witness. In fact, this aspect of criminal jurisprudence is no more res integra, as has been consistently stated by this Court in uniform language. See, Abdul Sayeed v. State of M.P., (2010) 10 SCC 259; Jarnail Singh v. State of Punjab, (2009) 9 SCC 719; Balraje v. State of Maharashtra, (2010) 6 SCC 673; Ramlagan Singh v. State of Bihar, (1973) 3 SCC 881; Malkhan Singh v. State of U.P., (1975) 3 SCC 311; Machhi Singh v. State of Punjab, (1983) 3 SCC 470; Appabhai v. State of Gujarat, 1988 Supp SCC 241; Bonkya v. 43. In this background, we have to thoroughly examine the statement of PW-1 Ram Swaroop. Admittedly, this witness was having inimical relations with accused. In the examination-in-chief he has stated that he was accompanying the deceased. He was coming back from Unnao after attending a Court case under section 25 Arms Act which was pending against deceased Mahendra Nath alias Babua. It means, that he was having good relations with the deceased, that is the reason that he accompanied him to attend his court case. PW-1 Ram Swaroop was the complainant in the case of murder of Paras Nath who was father of complainant Padam Nath as well as deceased Mahendra Nath and Amar Nath. Ashok Chhunia, Gauri Kurmi, Vani Dutt, Munai, Lature were accused in that case which trial ended in the acquittal. In the year 1975, Lature Pehalwan alias Rameshwar were also murdered in which Mahendra alias Babua and Amar Nath alias Suman deceased in this case were accused that also ended in acquittal. Further some criminal cases were also filed against this witness. In one of the cases he was a party alongwith deceased Amarnath and Mahendra Nath in a case under section 107/117 Cr P.C. It is also admitted by this witness that a lease of some land and bond was executed in his favour by Paras Nath which was cancelled on the application of Vani Dutt. Admittedly, there was a long drawn enmity between the parties. This witness has been cross-examined at length on the point of enmity. Enmity itself is a double edged weapon which can be used either way. It was held in Sunil Kundu versus State of Jharkhand (2013) 4 SCC 422, that enmity is a double edged weapon but possibility of false involvement because of deep rooted enmity also cannot be ruled out.

44. Now, we have to scrutinize the evidence of PW-1 Ram Swaroop in this background.

45. At the initial stage, we would like to mention that statement of PW-1 Ram Swaroop was recorded by DW-1 K.N. Tandon Additional City Magistrate, Kanpur on 10.02.1979 in the Emergency Ward of L.L.R. Hospital Kanpur. In the said statement the witness have stated the names of Raju, Jagroop, Manna, Pappu, Kashi Prasad. He has narrated the story as to how he reached at the place of occurrence. For the sake of convenience we are quoting the whole statement of the witness which was recorded by K.N. Tandon Additional City Magistrate. This statement was recorded as dying declaration but subsequently Ram Swaroop survived, hence, the statement can only be used as a previous statement of the witness which has the evidentiary value for corroboration or contradiction.

"राम सरूप उम्र करीब 48 साल बयान किया कि कल शाम को उन्नाव से मैं अपने गांव जा रहा था। कल शाम को करीब 0-0 1/4 बजे मैं बस से हुलासी कुवा बस अड्डे पर उतरा। वहां से हमारा घर करीब 3 किलोमीटर है। बस से उतर कर खड़ खड़े से गांव जाते है। परन्तु कल अड्डे पर खड़ खड़े नहीं थे। हम बस अड्डे पर शाम को उतरे तो वहां 2-3 सवारी और उतरी और सवारियां जो उत्तरी उनमें अमरनाथ पुत्र पारसनाथ साकिन उगू पदमनाथ पुत्र पारसनाथ, रामसेवक पुत्र हुलासी साकिन उगू वगैरा थे। हम सब लोग बस अड्डे से शाम को करीब सवा छः साढ़े छः बजे गांव के लिये पैदल चल दिया। गरीब एक किलोमीटर गये होंगे कि अचानक माइनर की पुलिया के नीचे से तथा पास ही में बाग से करीब 5-6-7 आदमी निकले और उनमें से पीछे से आकर मुझे एक आदमी ने दबोच लिया हमारे पास दोनाली बन्दूक थी उसके साथी हमारी बन्दूक छीनने लगे हमने रोकने की कोशिश की तो हमारे उपर फावड़ा और फरसा से यह लोग वार करने लगे और मारकर घायल कर हमारी बन्दूक छीन लिया और हम को नाले में ढकेल दिया। हमारे साथी महोदय और अमरनाथ, राम सेवक गांव की ओर भागे। हमें नाले में ढकेल कर सभी बदमाश हमारे साथियों के पीछे भागे। थोड़ी देर बाद मुझे बन्दूक के फायर की आवाज सुनाई दी जिन बदमाशों ने हमें घेरा व मारा उनमें एक का नाम राजू पुत्र शंकर साकिन उगू जगरूप पुत्र नामालूम साकिन उगू लल्लू पुत्र नामालूम साकिन उगू पप्पू पुत्र नामालूम साकिन उगू काशी प्रसाद पुत्र रामेश्वर साकिन उगू व उनके साथ 2-1 और लोग थे जो उगू के ही हैं पहचानता हूं नाम नहीं जानता । मुझको जगरूप ने दबोचा था ।

1. जगरूप के पास से एक कटटा था, काशी प्रसाद के पास एक फरसा था औरों के पास भी फड़वा और फरसे थे। हमको जगरूप पकड़े थे और राजू ने हमको बाका से मारा। उन लोगों के साथियों ने भी सर पर फावड़ा और बाका से मारा। मेरी लाइसेन्सी बन्दूक थी जिसे राजू और जगरूप ने छीना। महेन्द्र व अमरनाथ के पिता पारसनाथ शुक्ला का कतल 13.07.1974 को हुआ था । उसमें हम मुददई थे इस कतल के समक्ष उनके साथ में था और एफआईआर दर्ज कराई थी। उसमें काशी प्रसाद मुलजिम है। मैं मुददई हूं इसी से काशी प्रसाद रंजिश मानते हैं । और बाकी सब काशी प्रसाद के ग्रुप के हैं। और कुछ नहीं कहना है।"

46. Learned counsel for the accused vehemently argued that the presence of PW-1 Ram Swaroop at the place of occurrence is doubtful. He was not present at the place of occurrence and did not received injuries in the incident. Admittedly, dying declaration was not produced in the evidence by the prosecution, rather it was proved by the defence. Statement recorded by Shri K.N. Tandon DW-1 shows that name of five persons were narrated by the witness Ram Swaroop at the time of statement his condition was precarious at that time as was held by the learned trial court as well as revealed in the evidence of DW-1 K.N. Tandon who has admitted that at the time of statement witness was in injured condition. If we peruse the injuries of PW-1 Ram Swaroop we found that there were seven incised wounds on his body which were caused by sharp edged weapon, four incised wounds were present on his forehead while one was on left leg with cutting of the bone of the leg through and through. This injury was grevious in nature. Further, left leg of the witness PW-1 Ram Swaroop was amputated. He remained in the hospital for about nineteen months. This shows that the condition of the witness at the time of giving the statement to the Magistrate was very serious. In such circumstances, even if name of two accused could not be stated by him or it is stated by him that one of the accused was carrying fawra does not make statement of witnesses improbable or his presence at the spot doubtful.

47. PW-1 Ram Swaroop has specifically stated that he was caught hold by Jagroop from his back and his licensed gun was snatched. Thereafter, Raju attacked him by his farsa. When he tried to save his gun then again Raju attacked on him by his farsa on his forehead and hand and left leg. He fell down, his gun was snatched and he was thrown in the bamba. If PW-1 Ram Swaroop is treated to be an interested witness then there was every possibility for him to extend his statement up to the stage that he had seen accused committing the murder of the deceased Amar Nath and Mahendra Nath but this witness has not stated a single word about the murder of Amar Nath and Mahendra Nath, rather he stopped himself at the stage when he was thrown away in the bamba. Subsequently, somehow he reached near a tree which was about 25 to 30 steps from the bamba. Thereafter, he got unconscious there. PW-1 Ram Swaroop has specifically stated that when he gave the statement before the Magistrate he was in great pain so he cannot exactly remember as to what weapon Raju was carrying but this witness has specifically denied the fact that all the accused was carrying fawra.

48. Referring to the judgment of the Constitution Bench of Apex Court in Laxman versus State of Maharashtra, (2002)6 SCC , it was held in Vijay Pal versus State (Government of NCT Delhi) 2015 (4) SCC 749 that :-

"19. The aforesaid judgment makes it absolutely clear that the dying declaration can be oral or in writing in any adequate method of communication whether by words or by signs or otherwise will suffice provided the communication is positive and definite. There cannot be any cavil over the proposition that a dying declaration cannot be mechanically relied upon. In fact, it is the duty of the court to examine a dying declaration with studied scrutiny to find out whether the same is voluntary, truthful and made in a conscious state of mind and further it is without any influence."

49. All the accused persons namely Raju armed with farsa, Manna armed with gadasa, Munai alias Kashi Prasad armed with countrymade pistol, Rajan Misra armed with banka, Pyare Kurmi armed with countrymade pistol, Pappu alias Shivmangal armed with gun and Jagroop are named in the first infromation reprot which was lodged promptly within an hour of the incident. Statement given by the witness PW-1 Ram Swaroop before the Additional City Magistrate assumes importance to the extent of its being a previous statement of the witness. This statement although bears his signatures but could only be used for corroboration or contradiction. When the witness himself is stating that he was having great pain at the time of giving the statement which was recorded on the very next day of incident, i.e., 10.02.1979 in the morning on 10:55 AM. Injuries of witnesses are grave in nature. In such circumstances even if some discrepancies are there they cannot be made basis for the disbelieving the prosecution version. Further statement of the witness under section 161 Cr.P.C. was also recorded by the Investigating Officer after nine days of the incident wherein witness has stated the whole story but no portion of the statement recorded under section 161 Cr.P.C. has been put to the witness to discredit his trustworthiness.

50. PW-1 Ram Swaroop was carrying his licensed gun at the time of incident which was snatched by the accused Jagroop. Thereafter he was attacked by farsa by accused Raju and thrown to bamba. We do not find any discrepancy in the statement of the witness to discredit his testimony or to find hsi presence at the spot doubtful. Hence, we are of the view that statement of PW-1 Ram Swaroop is fully reliable.

51. Second part of the incident begins after PW-1 Ram Swaroop was attacked and thrown to bamba thereafter deceased Mahendra Nath and Amar Nath were assaulted and fired which hit Amar Nath alias Suman and they were also attacked by the accused by their respective weapons causing incised wounds on their body resulting in their death. In order to prove this incident, PW-4 Ram Singh is produced. His temtimony is challenged on the ground that he is a chance witness. As he has stated that he went to Safipur to bring cement from Rajan while in the statement given to the Investigating officer he has said that he went to Safipur in order to find cement. It is further submitted that presence of this witness is doubtful as he is a teacher by profession. Timing of school are from 10:00 AM to 04:00 PM. On the fateful day this witness should have been in his school but he has stated that he took a short leave of two hours from his principal and left at 02:00 PM from his school. Thereafter, he went to Safipur. From Safipur he reached at Hulasi bus stand. When he reached near the place of occurrence about 100 steps ahead he heard the sound of firing thereafter he saw the accused attacking the deceased. He has further stated that he has not seen the fawra with any accused.

52. If we scritinize the statement of PW-4 Ram Singh we found that he was going back to his village from Safipur. He got down at Hulasi Kuwan and from there he proceeded towards his house on foot. After about two furlongs near Ugu Minor at about 06:00 PM he saw Jagroop and Pappu armed with guns Munai and Pyare armed with countrymade pistols and were saying that "Hkkxus uk ik;s tku ls ekj nks A" He saw that Raju by farsa, Manna by gadasa and Rajan by banka were attacking Suman and Babua. Prior to this he has heard the sound of three fires. At that time Hari Om alias Padam Nath, Ram Sewak and Buche alias Usman were also present there. Manna alias Ram Swaroop was found in the injured condition on the back of a tree.

53. It was held by the Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of Thangaiya vs. State of T.N. (2005)9SCC 650 that :-

"8. ..... If murder is committed in a dwelling house, the inmates of the house are natural witnesses. If murder is committed in a street, only passers-by will be witnesses. Their evidence cannot be brushed aside or viewed with suspicion on the ground that they are mere "chance witnesses". The expression "chance witnesses" is borrowed from countries where every man's home is considered his castle and everyone must have an explanation for his presence elsewhere or in another man's castle. It is quite unsuitable an expression in a country where people are less formal and more casual, at any rate in the matter of explaining their presence. ……..

54. PW-4 Ram Singh has stated that he went to Safipur to bring cement from Rajan. He had a talk with him regarding cement three to four days ago. There is a contradiction in the statement given by this witness to the Invesigating Officer wherein it is stated that he has gone to Safipur in search of Cement. PW-4 Ram Singh has further stated that he was in need of cement from the last six months. Rajan belongs to his own village. He told him that he has got a cement permit and he will give him cement out of that. On this score it is argued that the witness is a chance witness. It is further argued that he is a school teacher who should have been in the school at the time. He never went to Safipur and is deposing a false statement. PW-4 Ram Singh has no enmity with the accused. Defence tried to establish enmity by putting a suggestion that a murder trial of Dharmu chamar was instituted against PW-4 Ram Singh and his father wherein Ram Autar who is servant of accused jagroop has deposed against him. This fact is denied by the witness. Defence has failed to bring any evidence on record to prove any enmity of PW-4 Ram Singh with the accused. In the circumstnces, there is no reason as to why PW-4 Ram Singh will depose against the accused.

55. Further one fact is established from the evidence of PW-4 Ram Singh that he went to Safipur in search of cement. Even if he was trying to meet Rajan, that too was for the purpose of sucuring cement which was needed by Ram Singh PW-4. This fact is established that he went to Safipur to bring the cement. There might be some discrepancy as to whether he had a talk earlier with Rajan about the cement but this itself is not sufficient to discredit the statement of the witness. Further PW-4 Ram Singh has given a specific statement that on the fateful day he left his school at 2:00 PM and went to Safipur from where he was coming back to his house when he saw the incident. Nothing could be brought on record to disbelieve this statement. Although it is true that it is burden of the prosecution to prove the guilt against the accused beyond reasonable doubt but when prosecution has successfully discharged its burden and defence intends to discredit the evidence of the particular witness then the veracity of the testimony of the witness should have been demolished by the defence. In the present case so far as the question of PW-4 Ram Singh going to Safipur and coming back from Safipur to his house at the time of incident is concerned it is fully established that the witness PW-4 Ram Singh went to Safipur and was coming back to his house when he saw the incident, hence, we hold that PW-4 Ram Singh is not a chance witness.

56. PW-4 Ram Singh has stated that when he was about to reach near Ugu Minor he heard sound of three fires. He has seen Munai, Pyare, Jagroop and Pappu armed with firearms while Raju Manna and Rajan were attacking Suman and Babua by farsa, gadasa and banka respectively. There is one contradiction in the statement given by this witness to the Investigating Officer and the statement in the Court about the number of fires. In the statement of Investigating Officer hearing of fire is mentioned while in the Court the number is mentioned as three. This is not a such material contradiction which goes to the route of the matter. It is submitted that when Ram Singh PW-4 was also present there and also seen the occurrence then why he was not attacked by the accused. We do not find any force in the argument as the accused were not having any enmity with Ram Singh so as to why he should have been attacked by them. PW-4 Ram Singh has stated that he had seen Manna alias Ram Swaroop in injured unconscious condition behind a tree. An attempt is made by making a mathematical calculation of the time spent by the witness PW-4 Ram Singh at the spot to show that the first information report which was proved by this witness was not lodged at 07:00 PM. PW-4 Ram Singh has stated that he stayed with Manna for twenty minutes. Thereafter, he was sent to hospital thereafter he came back at the place where deceased were lying. Thereafter, information was sent to the house of deceased within 25 minutes. Family members came there. PW-4 Ram Singh stayed there for an hour. So far as FIR is concerned complainant Padam Nath Shukla was also accompanying deceased and injured. So even if the family members of deceased came there was ample time for Padam Nath to write the written report. Hence, we do not find any time gap which can show that the report was lodged ante time.

57. We hold that the evidence of PW-4 Ram Singh is fully reliable. He had seen the incident of murder of Amar Nath alias Suman and Mahendra Nath alias Babua. He has given a truthful statements of facts before the Court. His presence at the time of occurrence is fully established.

58. Another argument is raised that dog squad was called which shows that the identity of the accused could not be fixed. PW-7 SI Vivekanand also admitted that the dog squad was called at the spot but merely calling of the dog squad could not be a ground to believe that the identity of the accused was not established. No clarification was sought from the Investigating Officer as to why dog squad was called. Unless and until an opportunity is given to a witness to explain part of his statement could not be believed. It might be possible that dog squad was called to trace out the accused who was named in the first information report. We do not find any force in the argument.

59. Learned counsel for the accused- appellant argued that according to the prosecution version fires were shot at Mahendra Nath as well as Amar Nath but no injury of any firearm was found on the body of Mahendra Nath, hence, it belies the prosecution version. Admittedly, according to the postmortem report no firearm injury was found on the body of Mahendra Nath. According to the first information report it is stated that Pappu alias Shiv Mangal has fired upon Babua who fell down, thereafter, when Suman alias Amar Nath tried to help Babua then Pyare by countrymade pistol and Pappu by gun fired upon Suman alias Amar Nath which shot hit Suman alias Amar Nath on the chest and right side of abdomen. PW-4 Ram Singh has stated that he heard the sound of fire. When he reached near Ugu Minor he saw Jagroop and Pappu armed with guns, Munai and Pyare armed with countrymade pistol. Injuries of sharp edged weapon were also found on the body of both the deceased i.e., Amar Nath and Mahendra Nath. Chain of circumstances exclusively shows that the presence of the accused person at the spot is fully established by the evidence of PW-4 Ram Singh as well as PW-1 Ram Swaroop. Hence, we do not find any contradiction or discrepancy in the statement of witnesses as well as in the first information report.

60. PW-2 Usman Ali was also accompanying the deceased and injured Ram Swaroop when they were coming back from Unnao. This witness has initially supported the prosecution version to the extent that presence of this witness alongwith Ram Swaroop alias Manna who is injured coupled with deceased at the time of occurrence is stated. Further he stated that Manna alias Ram Swaroop was attacked by baka, farsa and gadasa and Babua and Suman were also killed but at the same time this witness has not named the accused so he was declared hostile by the prosecution. It is further stated by this witness in his cross-examination that at the time of incident although it was sunset but there was light of the day. This witness has also stated the place of occurrence. Further he has stated that the accused have formed one party and he is under pressure of the accused and afraid of them. It is admitted by him that he is not deposing against the accused because if he will depose against them he would also be killed. He was confronted with his statement under section 161 Cr PC recorded by the Investigating Officer and he accepted that he has given the statemetn implicating the accused appellant in the commission of the crime. This witness was cross-examined by the defence. Admittedly, this witness was also a witness in the case of murder of Paras Nath. He was co-accused alongwith Suman in the case of murder of Ramjan. It is admitted by him that he has not given any application regarding any threat from the accused. It is admitted by this witness that he has good relations with Paras Nath and his sons that is why he used to go with Suman for pairavi of his cases. It is further stated by this witness that when fires were made he was about 10 to 15 steps away. He could not state as to who was firing upon whom.

61. In State of U.P. v. Ramesh Prasad Misra and Anr. (1996) 10 SCC 360, this Court held that evidence of a hostile witness would not be totally rejected if spoken in favour of the prosecution or the accused but required to be subjected to close scrutiny and that portion of the evidence which is consistent with the case of the prosecution or defence can be relied upon. A similar view has been reiterated by this Court in Sarvesh Narain Shukla v. Daroga Singh and Ors. (2007) 13 SCC 360 ; Subbu Singh v. State by Public Prosecutor (2009) 6 SCC 462 ; C. Muniappan and Ors. v. State of Tamil Nadu (2010) 9 SCC 567; and Himanshu @ Chintu v. State (NCT of Delhi) (2011) 2 SCC 36.

In the case of Vinod Kumar Vs. State of Punjab reported in (2015) 3 SCC 220 Hon'ble the Apex Court has held in paragraph no. 31 as under:-

"31. ..... In Bhagwan Singh v. State of Haryana (1976) 1 SCC 389, it has been laid down that even if a witness is characterised has a hostile witness, his evidence is not completely effaced. The said evidence remains admissible in the trial and there is no legal bar to base a conviction upon his testimony, if corroborated by other reliable evidence. In Khuji @ Surendra Tiwari v. State of Madhya Pradesh (1991) 3 SCC 627, the Court after referring to the authorities in Bhagwan Singh (supra), Rabindra Kumar Dey v. State of Orissa (1976) 4 SCC 233 and Syad Akbar v. State of Karnataka (1980) 1 SCC 30, opined that the evidence of such a witness cannot be effaced or washed off the record altogether, but the same can be accepted to the extent it is found to be dependable on a careful scrutiny thereof. "

62. Evidence of hostile witness cannot be discarded as a whole. Such portion of the evidence can be relied upon which inspires confidene and supporting the prosecution version. In the present case, if we scrutinize the statement of PW-2 Usman Ali very carefully then we find that he has correctly narrated the place of occurrence, time of occurrence. Presence of Ram Swaroop is also established from the statement of Usman Ali. Further presence of both the deceased at the spot is also proved. So far as the question of attack by the accused are concerned, initially the witness has not named the accused but in the cross-examination he has admitted that due to the fear of accused he could not state their names. Even if we discard this much portion of his evidence thenthe remaining facts regarding time place injuries of deceased and injured are concerned they have been proved by this witness which fully corroborates and supports the prosecution version.

63. Another argument was raised that the statement of PW-4 Ram Singh was recorded after three days while PW-4 Ram Singh has stated that he was present at the spot when police came. Further Investigating Officer has stated that he could not record the statement of eyewitness in the night as no eyewitness was available at that time and he was busy in preparing inquest report. PW-4 Ram Singh has nowhere stated that Investigating Officer met him in the night so even if his statement was recorded after three days it does not adversely affect the prosecution version. It was argued that the Investigating Officer has not made any attempt to find out as to whether any case under section 25 of Arms Act of Suman was fixed at the Court of Unnao. It is further submitted that the Investigating Officer has not carried the investigation in accordance with law.

64. We have gone through the statement of PW-7 SI Vivekanand, Investigating Officer, who has stated that he was present at the Ugu outpost when he got the information of this case at about 6:15 PM. Information was given by villagers. On getting the information he reached at the spot. Thereafter, he received the papers of this case alongwith the first information report at about 08:00 of 08:30 PM. He started preparing inquest report at 08:30 PM but no eyewitness was present there. It is further stated by him that he did not think it proper to inquire about the case under section 25 Arms Act. So far as case under section 25 Arms Act is concerned even if no inquiry was made by the Investigating Officer about that case it can be said to be a defect of the investigation but presence of the injured as well as deceased alongwith PW-4 Ram Singh at the place of occurrence is fully established by the ocular evidence on record. We do not find any reason to disbelieve the statement of PW-1 Ram Swaroop and PW-4 Ram Singh. It is settled legal position that any defect in the investigation cannot extend any benefit in favour of the accused unless and until it is proved that prejudice was caused to him.

65. In Dayal Singh and others vs. State of Uttranchal 2012 (3) J.I.C. 428 Hon'ble Supreme Court propounded the law on defective or faulty investigation. It was held that -

"The investigating Officer, as well as the doctor who are dealing with the investigation of a criminal case, are obliged to act in accordance with the police manual and the known reasons of medical practice, respectively. They are both obliged to be diligent, truthful and fair in their approach and investigation. A default or breach of duty, intentionally or otherwise, can some times prove fatal to the case of the prosecution. An Investigating Officer is completely responsible and answerable for the manner and methodology adopted in completing his investigation. Where the default and omission is so flagrant that it speaks volumes of deliberate act or such irresponsible attitude of investigation, no court can afford to overlook it."

"Declaration in duty or carelessness is an abuse of discretion under a definite law and misconduct is a violation of indefinite law. Misconduct is a forbidden act whereas dereliction of duty is the forbidden quality of an act and is necessarily indefinite. One is a transgression of some established and definite rule of action, with least element of discretion, while the other is primarily an sabuse of discretion. This Court in the case of State of Punjab & Ors. Vs. Ram Singh Ex. Constable [(1992)4 SCC 54 : (AIR 1992 SC 2188 : 1992 AIR SCW 2595)] stated tht the ambit of these expressions had to be construed with reference to the subject-matter and the context where the terms occurs, regard being given to the scope of the statute and the public purpose it seeks to serve. The police service is a disciplined service and it requires maintenance of strict discipline. The consequences of these defaults should normally be attributable to negligence. Police officers and doctors, by their profession, are required to maintain duty decorum of high standards. The standards of investigation and the prestige of the profession are dependent upon the action of such specialized persons. The polce manual and even the provisions of the Cr.P.C. Require the investigation to be conducted in a particular manner and method which, in our opinion, stands clearly violated in the present case. ..... Also, in the same case, the court, while referring to the decision in Ram Bihari Yadav and others vs. State of Bihar & Ors. [(1995) 6 SCC 31 : (AIR 1996 SC 122 : 1995 AIR SCW 3810)] noticed that if primacy is given to such designed or negligent investigation, to the omission of lapses by perfunctory investigation or omissions, the faith and confidence of the people would be shaken not only in the law enforcement agency but also in the administration of justice."

"In the case of Sathi Prasad vs. The State of U.P. [(1972) 3 scc 613 : (AIR 1973 SC 448)], this court stated that it is well settled that if the polic records become suspect and investigation perfunctory, it becomes the duty of the court to see if the evidence given in the court should be relied upon and such lapses ignored. Noticing the possibility of investigation being designedly defective, this Court in the case of Dhanaj Singh alias Shera & Ors. Vs. Stateof Punjab [(2004) 3 SCC 654 : (AIR 2004 SC 1920 : 2004 AIR SCW 1609)], held, "in the case of a defective investigation the court has to be circumspect in evaluating the evidence. But it would not be right in acquitting an accused person solely on account of the defect; to do so would tentamount to playing into the hands of the investigating officer if the investigation is designedly defective."

"The court in the case of Paras Yadav vs. State of Bihar [AIR 1999 SC 644 : (1999 AIR SCW 296)], enunciated the principle, in conformity with the previous judgments, that if the lapse or omission is committed by the investigating agency, negligently or otherwise, the prosecution evidence is rquired to be examined dehors such omissions to find out whether the said evidence is reliable or not. The contaminated conduct of officials should nto stand in the way of evaluating the evidence by the courts, otherwise the designed mischief would be perpetuated and justice would be denied to the complainant party"....." Conducts which illegitimately affect the presentation of evidence in proceedings before the Courts have to be seriously and sternly dealt with. There should not be any undue anxiety to only protect the interest of the accused. That would be unfair, as noted above, to the needs of the society. On the contrary, efforts should be ensure needs of the society. On the contrary, efforts should be ensure fair trial where the accused and the prosecution both get a fair deal. Public interest in proper administration of justice must be given as much important if not more, as the interest of the individual accused. The courts have a vital role to play."

66. PW-7 Investigating Officer Vivekanand has stated that he reached at the spot at 06:15 on receiving information from number of persons about the incident. First information report of the case was lodged at 07:00 PM. Investigation officer got the papers including first information report at about 08:00 to 08:30 PM. It cannot be said as has been held in the earlier part of the judgment that the first information report is ante-time. It may so happen that when two murders have been committed and there was a hue and cry as is evident from the evidence of the witness than after the incident people from Jasra side also came and fired so definitely in such a hue and cry if information is received at the police outpost and police reached at the spot it does not vitiate the first information report or makes the FIR of the case doubtful.

67. Prosecution has successfully proved the charges against the accused. Evidence of PW-1 Ram Swaroop and PW-4 Ram Singh is fully reliable. Learned trial court has right appreciated the evidence on record and recorded a finding of conviction against the accused. We are of the considered view that the judgment of the learned trial court is based on the evidence on record. Accordingly, we are of the view that the appeal lacks merit and is liable to be dismissed and judgment and order of the learned trial court is to be confirmed. Accordingly, appeal is dismissed. Judgment and order of the learned trial court is confirmed. Accused are on bail. Their bail is cancelled and sureties are discharged. They shall be taken into custody to serve out the sentence as imposed by the learned trial court.

68. Office is directed to certify this order to the learned trial court to ensure compliance. Office is further directed to transmit the lower court record forthwith. Learned trial court shall send the compliance report within a period of six weeks from the date of receipt of the copy of the judgment.

First Appeal From Order No.- 2916 Of 2016

U.P.S.R.T.C. ...Appellant
Versus
Shyam Bihari & Ors. ...Respondents

Subject Matter

Motor Vehicles Act, 1988 - Section 173 - Compensation for death in motor accident - Addition towards future prospects in case of deceased in private employment on fixed wages, whose regular monthly salary was not established - U.P. Motor Vehicles Rules, Rule 220-A (as inserted by notification dated 26.09.2011) - Whether the age-based slabs for addition of future prospects under Rule 220-A apply irrespective of whether the deceased was salaried, self-employed, or on fixed wages, and irrespective of the pendency of the reference in National Insurance Co. Ltd. Vs. Pushpa, (2015) 9 SCC 166 - Held, yes; appeal dismissed in limine.

Facts

The Motor Accident Claims Tribunal/Special Judge (E.C. Act)/Additional District Judge, Azamgarh, by judgment and award dated 07.05.2016, awarded a sum of Rs. 7,03,500/- with simple interest at 6% per annum as compensation for the death of one Sunil Singh in an accident involving a bus belonging to the appellant, U.P. State Road Transport Corporation. The Tribunal found the deceased to be in the age group of 20-25 years and technically qualified, and accordingly added 50% of his determined income towards future prospects, in terms of Rule 220-A(3)(i) of the U.P. Motor Vehicles Rules. The Corporation preferred the present appeal under Section 173 of the Motor Vehicles Act, confining its challenge to the grant of future prospects, on the ground that the deceased was in private employment on fixed wages and the claimants had failed to establish his regular monthly salary, and further contending that the question of grant of future prospects to self-employed persons or those on fixed wages stood referred to a larger Bench of the Supreme Court in National Insurance Company Vs. Pushpa, S.L.P. (C) No. 16735 of 2014, vide order dated 02.07.2014.

Issue

Whether the Tribunal erred in awarding addition towards future prospects to the estate of a deceased who was in private employment on fixed wages and whose regular monthly salary was not established by the claimants, particularly having regard to the pendency of a larger Bench reference on the point before the Supreme Court.

Held

The question of addition towards future prospects for a self-employed person or one on fixed wages has evolved through a line of Supreme Court decisions - Sarla Verma (Smt.) & Ors. Vs. Delhi Transport Corporation & Anr., (2009) 6 SCC 121 (limiting addition to actual income save in rare and exceptional cases); Santosh Devi Vs. National Insurance Company Ltd. & Ors., (2012) 6 SCC 421 (holding a 30% addition warranted even for the self-employed/fixed-wage category, given the universal effect of rising cost of living); Reshma Kumari & Ors. Vs. Madan Mohan & Anr., (2013) 9 SCC 65 (a three-Judge Bench standardizing addition at 50% for permanent employees below 40 years and 30% for those between 40-50 years, but declining any addition for the self-employed/fixed-wage category); and Rajesh & Ors. Vs. Rajbir Singh & Ors., (2013) 9 SCC 54 (another three-Judge Bench extending age-based addition of 50%/30%/15% to the self-employed and fixed-wage category as well). These conflicting views of Benches of equal coram led to the reference in National Insurance Co. Ltd. Vs. Pushpa, (2015) 9 SCC 166, which remains pending before a larger Bench. However, the pendency of that reference does not impede adjudication in the present case, since the State of U.P. has, by notification dated 26.09.2011, introduced Rule 220-A in the U.P. Motor Vehicles Rules, prescribing addition towards future prospects on a graded age basis - 50% below 40 years, 30% between 40-50 years, 20% above 50 years, and 50% towards inflation/price index where wages are not sufficiently proved - without drawing any distinction between salaried, self-employed, or fixed-wage deceased persons. As the accident in the present case occurred on 18.01.2013, after the Rule came into force, it applied with full force. The Tribunal, having found the deceased to be in the 20-25 years age group and technically qualified, correctly added 50% towards future prospects strictly in accordance with Rule 220-A(3)(i). The sole ground urged by the appellant therefore did not merit consideration, and no other ground was pressed.

Result

Appeal dismissed in limine as bereft of merit. No order as to costs.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Krishna Murari, J.
Hon'ble Prashant Kumar, J.)

1. This appeal under Section 173 of the Motor Vehicles Act has been filed by U.P. State Road Transport Corporation challenging the judgment and award dated 07.05.2016 passed by Motor Accident Claims Tribunal/Special Judge (E.C. Act)/Additional District Judge, Azamgarh awarding a sum of Rs.7,03,500/- with simple interest at the rate of 6% per annum as compensation on death of one Sunil Singh in an accident involving the bus of the appellant.

2. Sole ground pressed before us, during the course of argument, is that Tribunal has wrongly awarded future prospect, even though the deceased was in private employment working on fixed wages and the claimants failed to establish his regular monthly salary. It is further submitted that the question of grant of future prospect to self-employed or person working on fixed wages, has been referred for adjudication to a larger Bench in the case of National Insurance Company Vs. Pushpa, S.L.P. (C) No. 16735 of 2014 vide order dated 2nd July, 2014.

3. The question of grant of future prospect, in cases, where the deceased was self-employed or was drawing a fixed salary, has been drawing the attention of the Hon'ble Apex Court in various cases. In the case of Sarla Verma (Smt.) & Ors. Vs. Delhi Transport Corporation & Anr., (2009) 6 SCC 121, the Hon'ble Apex Court while dealing with the issue of addition of income of future prospect, in paragraph 24 of the reports observed that where the deceased was self employed or was on a fixed salary (without provision for annual increments etc.), the Courts would only take annual income at the time of death and the departure therefrom shall be made only in rare and exceptional cases including special circumstances. Subsequently, in the case of Santosh Devi Vs. National Insurance Company Ltd. & Ors., (2012) 6 SCC 421, referring to paragraph 24 of the judgment in the case of Sarla Verma (supra), Hon'ble Apex Court observed as under.

"14. We find it extremely difficult to fathom any rationale for the observation made in paragraph 24 of the judgment in Sarla Verma's case that where the deceased was self-employed or was on a fixed salary without provision for annual increment, etc., the Courts will usually take only the actual income at the time of death and a departure from this rule should be made only in rare and exceptional cases involving special circumstances. In our view, it will be naive to say that the wages or total emoluments/income of a person who is self-employed or who is employed on a fixed salary without provision for annual increment, etc., would remain the same throughout his life.

15. The rise in the cost of living affects everyone across the board. It does not make any distinction between rich and poor. As a matter of fact, the effect of rise in prices which directly impacts the cost of living is minimal on the rich and maximum on those who are self- employed or who get fixed income/emoluments. They are the worst affected people. Therefore, they put extra efforts to generate additional income necessary for sustaining their families.

16. The salaries of those employed under the Central and State Governments and their agencies/instrumentalities have been revised from time to time to provide a cushion against the rising prices and provisions have been made for providing security to the families of the deceased employees. The salaries of those employed in private sectors have also increased manifold. Till about two decades ago, nobody could have imagined that salary of Class IV employee of the Government would be in five figures and total emoluments of those in higher echelons of service will cross the figure of rupees one lac.

17. Although, the wages/income of those employed in unorganized sectors has not registered a corresponding increase and has not kept pace with the increase in the salaries of the Government employees and those employed in private sectors, but it cannot be denied that there has been incremental enhancement in the income of those who are self-employed and even those engaged on daily basis, monthly basis or even seasonal basis. We can take judicial notice of the fact that with a view to meet the challenges posed by high cost of living, the persons falling in the latter category periodically increase the cost of their labour. In this context, it may be useful to give an example of a tailor who earns his livelihood by stitching cloths. If the cost of living increases and the prices of essentials go up, it is but natural for him to increase the cost of his labour. So will be the cases of ordinary skilled and unskilled labour, like, barber, blacksmith, cobbler, mason etc.

18. Therefore, we do not think that while making the observations in the last three lines of paragraph 24 of Sarla Verma's judgment, the Court had intended to lay down an absolute rule that there will be no addition in the income of a person who is self-employed or who is paid fixed wages. Rather, it would be reasonable to say that a person who is self-employed or is engaged on fixed wages will also get 30% increase in his total income over a period of time and if he/she becomes the victim of an accident then the same formula deserves to be applied for calculating the amount of compensation."

4. In the case of Reshma Kumari & Ors. Vs. Madan Mohan & Anr., (2013) 9 SCC 65, a three Judges Bench of the Hon'ble Apex Court was constituted on a reference made by a two Judges Bench. One of the referred question was as under.

"Whether for determination of the multiplicand, the 1988 Act provides for any criterion, particularly as regards determination of future prospects?"

5. The issue was answered in paragraph 39 and 43 of the report, which reads as under.

"39. The standardization of addition to income for future prospects shall help in achieving certainty in arriving at appropriate compensation. We approve the method that an addition of 50% of actual salary be made to the actual salary income of the deceased towards future prospects where the deceased had a permanent job and was below 40 years and the addition should be only 30% if the age of the deceased was 40 to 50 years and no addition should be made where the age of the deceased is more than 50 years. Where the annual income is in the taxable range, the actual salary shall mean actual salary less tax. In the cases where the deceased was self-employed or was on a fixed salary without provision for annual increments, the actual income at the time of death without any addition to income for future prospects will be appropriate. A departure from the above principle can only be justified in extraordinary circumstances and very exceptional cases.

43. While making addition to income for future prospects, the Tribunals shall follow para 24 of the judgment in Sarla Verma."

6. Again in the case of Rajesh & Ors. Vs. Rajbir Singh & Ors., (2013) 9 SCC 54, a three Judges Bench of Hon'ble Apex Court held that in case of self-employed or persons with fixed wages where the victim was below 40 years of age, there must be an addition of 50% to the actual income while computing the future prospect. In case, where the deceased was in the age group of 45 to 50 years, addition should be 30%. However, in case, where the deceased is between the age group of 50 to 60 years, there should be an addition of 15% towards future prospect. It may be relevant to quote from paragraphs 8 and 9 from the said report, which reads as under.

"8. Since, the Court in Santosh Devi case actually intended to follow the principle in the case of salaried persons as laid down in Sarla Verma case and to make it applicable also to the self-employed and persons on fixed wages, it is clarified that the increase in the case of those groups is not 30% always; it will also have a reference to the age. In other words, in the case of self-employed or persons with fixed wages, in case, the deceased victim was below 40 years, there must be an addition of 50% to the actual income of the deceased while computing future prospects. Needless to say that the actual income should be income after paying the tax, if any. Addition should be 30% in case the deceased was in the age group of 40 to 50 years.

9. In Sarla Verma case, it has been stated that in the case of those above 50 years, there shall be no addition. Having regard to the fact that in the case of those self-employed or on fixed wages, where there is normally no age of superannuation, we are of the view that it will only be just and equitable to provide an addition of 15% in the case where the victim is between the age group of 50 to 60 years so as to make the compensation just, equitable, fair and reasonable. There shall normally be no addition thereafter."

7. Subsequently, noticing aforesaid conflicting views in the case of Rajesh (supra) and Reshma Kumari (supra) by a Bench of equal coram, the issue was referred for adjudication by a larger Bench in the case of National Insurance Co. Ltd. Vs. Pushpa, (2015) 9 SCC 166, vide order dated 02.07.2014.

8. Thus, this issue is still pending adjudication by a larger Bench. However, the conflicting views expressed by two Benches of equal coram and pendency of reference will not stand in the way in proceeding with the matter, inasmuch as the State of U.P. has introduced Rule 220-A in the Motor Vehicles Rules vide notification dated 26.09.2011 providing for future prospect to be added in actual salary or minimum wages of the deceased. It may be relevant to produce relevant part of Rule 220-A of the Rules.

"220-A. Determination of compensation. –

(2).....

(3) The future prospects of a deceased, shall be added in the actual salary or minimum wages of the deceased as under -

(i) Below 40 years of age : 50% of the salary,

(ii) Between 40-50 years of age : 30% of the salary.

(iii) More than 50 years of age : 20% of the salary.

(iv) When wages not sufficiently proved : 50% towards inflation and price index."

9. A perusal of the Rule goes to show that it does not make any distinction between the self-employed or salaried person. Further the Rule was introduced in Statute book vide notification dated 26.09.2011 and admittedly the accident, in the case in hand, took place on 18.01.2013, i.e., after enforcement of Rule 220-A, and thus, the same stands attracted with full force.

10. The Tribunal found that the deceased was falling between the age group of 20-25 years and was technically qualified and, thus, added 50% of the income, of the deceased determined by it, towards future prospect, which is strictly in accordance with the Rule 3 (i) of Rule 220 A of the Rules.

11. In view of aforesaid facts and circumstances, the sole ground urged before us does not enure to any benefit of the appellant and the arguments advanced in support of the said ground do not merit any consideration. No other ground was pressed before us.

12. The appeal, thus, being bereft of merit, stands dismissed in limine.

13. However, in the facts and circumstances, we do not make any orders as to costs.

Subject Matter
Negotiable Instruments Act, 1881 - Section 138 - Criminal revision against concurrent conviction of trial court and lower appellate court - Scope of interference with concurrent findings of fact in revisional jurisdiction - Sentencing in summons trial cases - Absence of specific hearing on quantum of sentence - Mitigation of sentence considering absence of criminal antecedents, advanced age, employment in jeopardy, and part-undergone incarceration - Held, conviction confirmed; sentence of imprisonment modified to period already undergone, subject to enhanced default sentence on fine, while quantum and distribution of fine retained.

Facts
In Complaint Case No. 1333 of 2014 (Vibhor Agrawal Vs. Anokhey Lal Saini), the Additional Chief Judicial Magistrate, Court No. 6, Moradabad, by judgment dated 18.4.2016, convicted the accused Anokhey Lal for an offence under Section 138 of the Negotiable Instruments Act, sentencing him to six months' simple imprisonment and a fine of Rs. 2,00,000/- (with a further two months' simple imprisonment in default of payment), directing that Rs. 1,90,000/- of the fine be paid to the complainant and the remaining Rs. 10,000/- to the State Government. The accused's appeal, Criminal Appeal No. 63 of 2016 (Anokhey Lal Vs. State of U.P. and Another), was dismissed by the Sessions Judge, Moradabad, by judgment dated 9.9.2016. The present revision was preferred against the judgments of both the trial court and the lower appellate court.

Issues
1. Whether the concurrent findings of the trial court and the lower appellate court holding the charge under Section 138 N.I. Act proved against the revisionist warranted interference in revisional jurisdiction.
2. Whether the sentence of six months' simple imprisonment, imposed without any specific hearing on the point of sentence (as is not mandated in summons trial cases), was liable to be mitigated having regard to the revisionist's advanced age, absence of criminal antecedents, government employment placed in jeopardy by the conviction, and period already undergone in custody.

Held

The concurrent findings of fact recorded by the trial court and the lower appellate court, arrived at after appreciation of evidence and due application of judicial mind, are not to be disturbed in revisional jurisdiction merely because another view is possible on the same evidence, especially where such findings are neither infirm nor perverse. The conviction under Section 138 N.I. Act was accordingly confirmed. On the question of sentence, since the case was a summons trial, the accused was not entitled, as a matter of right, to a separate hearing on quantum of sentence as would be available in warrant or sessions triable cases; the absence of discussion on sentencing reasons by the courts below was attributable to this, and to the fact that submissions on sentence were not specifically pressed before them. The cardinal principle of sentencing requires that punishment be proportionate to the gravity of the offence, having regard to the facts, the manner of commission, motive, conduct of the accused, and the interests of both the victim and society, and undue sympathy resulting in inadequate sentence undermines public confidence in the efficacy of law. Nevertheless, on the facts of the present case - absence of criminal history, advanced age of the revisionist, his government service and family responsibilities, the jeopardy to his employment consequent upon conviction, the fact that the cheque was issued towards repayment of a loan, the period of over two weeks already undergone in custody, and his willingness to deposit the amount due - these were held to be relevant mitigating factors warranting modification of the sentence of imprisonment, subject to deposit of the fine amount awarded by the trial court.

Result

Revision partly allowed. Conviction of the revisionist Anokhey Lal in Complaint Case No. 1333 of 2014 under Section 138 N.I. Act confirmed. Sentence of imprisonment modified to the period already undergone; fine of Rs. 2,00,000/- retained, in default of payment whereof the revisionist shall undergo additional imprisonment of four months. Of the amount recovered, Rs. 1,90,000/- to be paid to the complainant as compensation and the remainder to the State Government. Office directed to send a copy of the order to the trial court for compliance.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Pramod Kumar Srivastava, J.)

1. Heard Sri K.K.Singh, and Sri M.B Mathur, learned counsels for the revisionist, learned AGA for opposite party no.-1 State, Sri Rajesh Yadav, Advocate who has filed vakalatnama on behalf of opposite party no. 2, and perused the records.

2. Criminal complaint case no. 1333 of 2014 (Vibhor Agrawal Vs. Anokhey Lal Saini) was filed by complainant. The trial was concluded, after affording opportunity of hearing to accused the Additional Chief Judicial Magistrate, Court No. 6, Moradabad had convicted the accused Anokhey Lal for charge under section 138 N.I. Act by judgment dated 18.4.2016, and sentenced him with simple imprisonment of six months and fine of Rs. 2,00,000/- (in default of payment of fine, two months additional simple imprisonment). Trial court had also directed that from the amount of fine, Rs. 1,90,000/- will be paid to complainant and remaining Rs. 10,000/- would go to State Government.

3. Against the judgment of trial court, criminal appeal no.63 of 2016 (Anokhey Lal Vs. State of U.P. and Another) was preferred, which was heard and dismissed by the judgment dated 9.9.2016 of Sessions Judge, Moradabad.

4. Against the judgments of trial court as well as lower appellate court, present revision has been preferred.

5. Learned counsel for the revisionist contended that from evidences, the prosecution case was not proved, therefore the revision should be allowed. His alternative argument was that since it is first fault of revisionist, who has no other criminal history and he is an old man, the punishment of six months' imprisonment is on higher side, therefore, this sentence should be modified and mitigated.

6. So far contentions of revisionist side on point of proof of charges are concerned, from perusal of record, it appears that there has been concurrent finding of trial court as well as lower appellate court that charges against revisionist Anokhey Lal relating to allegations of section 138 N.I. Act are proved. These findings were given by lower courts after appreciation of evidences and after using judicial mind. By such appreciation of evidences, after discussing the arguments of defence side, the lower courts had reached to conclusion that prosecution case was proved. Such concurrent finding should not be interfered in revision for the reason that on those evidences there may be probability of reaching to a conclusion different from that of trial court, especially when the findings of lower courts are not infirm or perverse. Therefore, judgments on point of conviction are confirmed.

7. This contention of learned counsel for the revisionist is found acceptable that appropriate reasons were not discussed by trial court or lower appellate court at the time of passing sentence. But the reason of this may be that being summons case, accused-revisionist was not entitled for right of hearing on point of quantum of sentence like that of warrant cases or sessions triable cases. It also appears that at the time of argument before trial court or lower appellate court, contentions on point of sentences were not placed before concerned courts.

8. The cardinal principle of sentencing policy is that the sentence imposed on an offender should reflect the crime he has committed and it should be proportionate to the gravity of the offence. The facts and given circumstances in each case, the nature of the crime, the manner in which it was planned and committed, the motive for commission of the crime, the conduct of the accused and all other attending circumstances are relevant facts which would enter into the area of consideration. The undue sympathy to impose inadequate sentence would do more harm to the justice system to undermine the public confidence in the efficacy of law. It is the duty of every court to award proper sentence having regard to the nature of the offence and the manner in which it was executed or committed. The court must not only keep in view the rights of the victim of the crime but also the society at large while considering the imposition of appropriate punishment.

9. Although, in summons trial cases, no specific provision is there for hearing on point of sentence, but it is always appropriate that in interest of justice, trial courts should consider relevant factors, which may have effect on quantum of sentence. These points are being considered at this stage.

10. There has been no criminal history of the revisionist. It is also found that although revisionist is a elderly man, and also and has his family to maintain. He is in government service, and after this conviction his employment is at jeopardy. He had issued the cheque for repaying the amount of loan due against him. He is in jail for about more than two weeks. These points should be considered for mitigating his sentence. Apart from it, the counsel for the revisionist informs that revisionist is ready and willing to pay amount due against him and sentence of imprisonment may be mitigated. After considering these facts, it appears appropriate that after deposition of amount of fine awarded by trial court, his sentence of imprisonment is modified for sentence already undergone.

11. On the basis of above discussion, this revision is partly allowed. The conviction of revisionist Anokhey Lal in Complaint Case No. 1333 of 2014 is confirmed, but his sentence is modified. His imprisonment for the charge under section 138 N.I. Ac is modified to period already undergone by this time, and fine of Rs. 2,00,000/-. In default of payment of which, he will undergo additional imprisonment for four months. From the amount recovered from revisionist Rs. 1,90,000/- will be paid to complainant as compensation, and remaining amount would go to State Government.

12. Office is directed to immediately send the copy of this order to trial court for compliance.

Kallu Kanchhi and Kallu Kahar), arising out of Case Crime No. 139 of 2004, under Sections 452, 376, 504, 506 I.P.C., P.S. Giranwa, District Banda. The trial court convicted appellant Kallu Kanchhi under Section 114 I.P.C., sentencing him to five years' rigorous imprisonment and a fine of Rs. 3,000/-, and convicted appellant Kallu Kahar under Sections 376 and 450 I.P.C., sentencing him to ten years' rigorous imprisonment with a fine of Rs. 6,000/- under Section 376 I.P.C., and five years' rigorous imprisonment with a fine of Rs. 3,000/- under Section 450 I.P.C., with default clauses.

As per the F.I.R. lodged by the prosecutrix on 21.8.2004, on 12.8.2004 at about 10:00 p.m., while she was sleeping alone in her house — her husband being away in Punjab for work — the accused-appellants, armed with firearms, allegedly entered her house by unbolting the door-kundi from outside, overpowered her, and while Kallu Kanchhi stood guard with a pistol, Kallu Kahar committed rape on her. On her alarm after the accused fled through the rear door, her Jeth (brother-in-law) Raj Bahadur and Jethani (sister-in-law) Munni Bai, along with villagers, allegedly arrived and saw the accused leaving the house.

The prosecution examined Raj Bahadur (P.W.-1), the prosecutrix (P.W.-2), the Medical Officer (P.W.-3), a Head Constable (P.W.-4), and the Investigating Officer (P.W.-5). The defence filed documentary evidence of an earlier acquittal of Kallu Kanchhi and others in Case Crime No. 101 of 1987, and contended that the prosecutrix was in an illicit relationship with P.W.-1, that the F.I.R. was lodged after an unexplained delay of nine days, that the medical examination (conducted ten days after the incident) revealed no injury, and that material witnesses — including the prosecutrix's husband, mother-in-law, and independent villagers who allegedly witnessed the occurrence — were not produced.

ISSUES FOR CONSIDERATION

(i) Whether the unexplained delay of nine days in lodging the F.I.R., despite the husband's arrival at the village one day after the incident, was fatal to the prosecution case.
(ii) Whether the mode of entry and exit of the accused, and their alleged conduct of remaining stationed near the scene until identified by witnesses, was natural and probable.
(iii) Whether the testimony of the prosecutrix and P.W.-1 (her Jeth), being closely interested witnesses with an alleged motive of enmity and illicit relationship, could be relied upon in the absence of independent corroboration.
(iv) Whether the non-production of the prosecutrix's husband, mother-in-law, the village Pradhan, and other persons who allegedly witnessed the accused near the scene warranted an adverse inference against the prosecution.
(v) Whether the medical evidence, which revealed no injury on examination conducted ten days after the incident, supported or contradicted the prosecution's version.
(vi) Whether any evidence existed to sustain the charge of abetment under Section 114 I.P.C. against appellant Kallu Kanchhi.

HELD

The Court held that although the sole testimony of a prosecutrix can, in principle, sustain a conviction for rape, such testimony — where the witness is an interested party — must be scrutinised with care and caution, and tested against the probabilities of the case. On analysis of the record, the Court found the prosecution version highly improbable: the accused's choice of the longer, more exposed route of entry over an available shorter and lonelier route was implausible; unbolting an inside chain-kundi from outside was found physically improbable; the conduct of the accused in remaining stationed near the scene, risking identification, rather than fleeing or concealing themselves in their adjoining house, was found unnatural; the timeline of events — including the time required for the prosecutrix to compose herself, for P.W.-1 and his wife to wake, cross to the house, and arrive at the spot — did not support the version that the accused were seen standing at the location; and the delay in lodging the F.I.R. for nine days, despite the husband's arrival at the village a day after the incident, remained unexplained.
The Court further held that the non-production of the prosecutrix's husband, mother-in-law, the village Pradhan, and other persons allegedly present at the scene, despite their availability, warranted an adverse inference against the prosecution for withholding the best available evidence, relying on the principle laid down by the Supreme Court in Gopal Krishnaji Ketkar v. Mohamed Haji Latif, AIR 1968 SC 1413. The medical evidence, which did not disclose any injury even ten days after the incident, was found not to support the prosecution case. The Court also found no evidence to connect appellant Kallu Kanchhi with any act of abetment under Section 114 I.P.C., particularly having regard to his acquittal of the charge under Section 450 I.P.C. Accordingly, the prosecution was held to have failed to establish the charges against either appellant by cogent, reliable, and independent evidence beyond reasonable doubt.

RESULT

Both appeals allowed. The impugned judgment and order of conviction and sentence dated 15.9.2005 passed by the Additional Sessions Judge, F.T.C. No. 4, Banda, in Sessions Trial No. 60 of 2005, is set aside. Appellant Kallu Kanchhi is acquitted of the charge under Section 114 I.P.C., and appellant Kallu Kahar is acquitted of the charges under Sections 376 and 450 I.P.C. The appellants, being on bail, need not surrender; their bail bonds and surety bonds are cancelled and sureties discharged. Any fine amount deposited is to be refunded to the appellants on application.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Harsh Kumar, J.)

1. The present two appeals have been filed against the judgment and order dated 15.9.2005 passed by Additional Sessions Judge, F.T.C. No.4, Banda in Sessions Trial No.60 of 2005 "State Vs. Kallu Kanchhi and Kallu Kahar", under Sections 452, 376, 504, 506 I.P.C., Case Crime No.139 of 2004, P.S. Giranwa, District Banda, by which the accused appellant of Criminal Appeal No. 4168 of 2005 Kallu Kanchhi was convicted for the offence under Section 114 I.P.C. and sentence with five years rigorous imprisonment and Rs.3,000/- fine and accused appellant of Criminal Appeal No.4840 of 2005 Kallu Kahar was convicted for the offence under Sections 376 and 450 I.P.C. and sentenced with ten years rigorous imprisonment and Rs.6,000/- fine under Section 376 I.P.C. and five years rigorous imprisonment and Rs.3,000/- fine under Section 450 I.P.C. with respective default clauses.

2. The F.I.R. of this case was lodged by prosecutrix on 21.8.2004 at 2:10 p.m. with the averments that, "on 12.8.2004 at about 10:00 p.m. when she was sleeping all alone in her house, as her husband was out to Punjab for earning livelihood, both the accused appellants armed with fire arms entered in her house by opening the door which was bolted by KUNDI from inside by inserting their hands, caught hold of her and when she tried to raise alarm she was over-powered and was threatened of life and while accused appellant Kallu Kanchhi remain standing there with pistol in his hand, the appellant Kallu Kahar committed rape on her and when they left by rear door she raised alarm upon which her sister-in-law (Jethani) Munni Bai and brother-in-law (Jeth) Raj Bahadur as well as persons of village and neighborhood arrived there and saw the two culprits going out from the house of victim. It is also alleged that when the brother-in-law of prosecutrix/victim asked the appellants Kallu Kanchhi and Kallu Kahar that they have committed a wrong, they threatened him of life in case the matter is reported."

3. Upon investigation, charge-sheet was submitted against the two accused-appellants under Sections 452, 376, 504, 506 I.P.C. and the case was committed to Sessions. The Sessions Judge, Banda framed charges under Sections 450 and 376 I.P.C. against Kallu Kahar and under Sections 450 and 114 I.P.C. against Kallu Kanchhi. The accused-appellants denied from charges and claimed trial.

4. The prosecution in order to prove its case has produced Raj Bahadur, the Jeth of prosecutrix as P.W.-1, prosecutrix as P.W.-2, Medical Officer Dr. Smt. R.D. Singh as P.W.-3, Head Constable Raj Kishore as P.W.-4 and Investigating Officer Sabhapati Yadav as P.W.-5. After completion of prosecution evidence, the statements of accused-appellants were recorded under Section 313 Cr.P.C. The accused-appellants did not produce any witness in defence evidence but filed documentary evidence, the certified copy of F.I.R. of Case Crime No.101 of 1987 as well as the certified copy of judgment dated 9.1.1991 in above matter in Criminal Case No.638/IX/1990 per list 47/B.

5. Heard learned counsel for the appellants in two appeals, learned A.G.A. for the State and perused the record.

6. Learned counsel for the appellants contended that impugned judgment and order of conviction is wrong on facts and law; that the prosecution failed to give any explanation for lodging the F.I.R. after inordinate delay of 9 days from the occurrence while the husband of the prosecutrix, who was alleged to be out of station had arrived the very next day; that there are material contradictions in the statement of prosecutrix; that the prosecution has failed to produce the husband and mother-in-law of prosecutrix as well as any independent eye witness of the occurrence while according to the F.I.R. on her alarm several persons of village and neighbourhood assembled at the spot and allegedly seen the accused persons coming out of the house of prosecutrix, as has also been stated by prosecutrix in her statement on oath before the trial court; that P.W.-1 Raj Bahadur and his wife Munni Devi are closely and doubly related with the prosecutrix as Munni Devi is real sister of prosecutrix while Raj Bahadur P.W.-1 is real brother of husband of prosecutrix and the real sister of prosecutrix has been married to real brother of her husband and thus Raj Bahadur and Munni Devi are real Jeth, Jethani as well as real Bahan, Bahnoi of the prosecutrix; that the medical report does not support the prosecution case and is in contradiction with the averments made in F.I.R. as no bodily injury is alleged to have been found on the person of prosecutrix; that it is proved from the evidence on record that prosecutrix was having illicit relations with P.W.-1 Raj Bahadur (her Jeth/Bahnoi); that the husband of prosecutrix was living out side for earning livelihood and had made the prosecutrix to reside in the house situated inside the village but due to illicit relationship with P.W.-1 Raj Bahadur (her Behnoi/Jeth), in absence of her husband she came to live in the house situated in Purwa adjoining to the house of P.W.-1 Raj Bahadur; that since accused-appellant Kallu Kahar had reported the husband of prosecutrix about the illicit relationship between prosecutrix and Raj Bahadur, due to enmity P.W.-1 Raj Bahadur has got him falsely implicated; that apart from it the father-in-law of prosecutrix (father of P.W.-1 Raj Bahadur) had lodged a false F.I.R. against accused-appellant Kallu Kachchi and five others at Case Crime No.101 of 1987 in which all the accused persons were acquitted vide judgment and order dated 9.1.1991 and so the P.W.-1 Raj Bahadur was having enmity with accused-appellant Kallu Kachchi and since accused-appellant Kallu Kahar joins him in cultivation, the P.W.-1 Raj Bahadur has falsely implicated both of them in order to settle score against the accused-appellant Kallu Kachchi due to enmity and against Kallu Kahar for reporting his illicit relationship with prosecutrix to the husband of prosecutrix as well as for being the associate of accused-appellant Kallu Kachchi; that Investigating Officer has not recorded the statement of husband of prosecutrix even under Section 161 Cr.P.C. and has not mentioned his name as a prosecution witness in the charge-sheet; that the prosecution has failed to produce Vijay Bahadur, the husband of prosecutrix, Munni Devi, the real sister/Jethani of prosecutrix, and village Pradhan etc. who allegedly arrived at the spot and seen the accused persons coming out of the house; that for not producing above material as well as independent witnesses, there is sufficient ground for drawing adverse inference against the prosecution for not producing the best evidence in his possession; that there are material contradictions in prosecution evidence as no source of light is mentioned in the F.I.R. and by way of improvement at one place it has been alleged that the light of a lamp (Diya) was there on the spot while on the other place the light of Brass Dhibari has been stated; that similarly at one place it has been stated by prosecutrix that the accused persons unbolted the inside Kundi of southern door from outside while in her statement under Section 164 Cr.P.C. she has stated that they broken the Kundi; that P.W.-1 & 2 Raj Bahadur and prosecutrix have stated that after committing rape by accused-appellant Kallu Kahar upon both the accused-appellants left from the rear/northern door the prosecutrix raised alarm, on which Raj Bahadur and Munni Devi arrived and seen the two accused-appellants standing in front of their adjoining home while prosecutrix kept standing on northern door of her house and when P.W.-1 Raj Bahadur asked the accused persons that they have committed wrong and will have to face consequences, they threatened him; that the entire prosecution story false is highly improbable as at the time of occurrence in the month of August (12.8.2004) the people usually continues movements till late in the night and while the house of accused-appellant Kallu Kachchi is adjoining in the East to the house of prosecutrix, the accused are alleged to have entered from the front door through Khalihan of the village at 10:00 p.m. while opted its rear door for leaving; that in view of the nature of offence in such matters despite availability of opportunity of making entrance from nearer and rear door with comparatively lonely surroundings, the alleged entrance of accused persons from front door is highly improbable and similarly after committing the alleged offence and leaving by rear door, their conduct of keeping themselves standing with the northern wall of the house of accused-appellant Kallu Kachchi and not attempting to hide themselves by entering inside his house with the door at few steps is again improbable, and may not be believed particularly in absence of any reliable evidence; that in any case, there is no motive or evidence against the accused-appellant Kallu Kachchi of his being abettor of the offence and there is nothing to show that he abetted the co-accused Kallu Kahar to commit rape on the prosecutrix; that learned trial court without considering the above arguments has acted wrongly in believing the untrustworthy evidence of the prosecutrix and most interested witness P.W.-1 Raj Bahadur, in holding the appellants guilty, without considering that there is presumption of innocent of accused he/they may not be convicted unless the charges are proved against them by cogent, independent and trustworthy evidence to the hilt beyond reasonable doubt; that the trial court has imposed sentence very excessively; that though the prosecution has failed to prove charges against appellants, if the Court finds otherwise their sentence may be reduced upto the period already undergone in view of the law laid down by the Apex court in the cases of Raj Kumar @ Raju Yadav @ Raj Kumar Yadav Vs. State of Bihar, (2006) 9 SCC 589 and Ravinder Vs. State of M.P., (2006) 9SCC 590.

7. Per contra, learned A.G.A. supported the impugned judgment and order of conviction and contended that there is no material contradiction in the prosecution evidence; that since the husband was not an eye witness, he was not required to be produced as witness; that it is wrong to say that the husband did not support the prosecution case in view of the fact that he along with his mother accompanied the prosecutrix to the police station for lodging F.I.R.; that the testimony of P.W.-1 Raj Bahadur may not be discarded because he was most natural and available eye witness; that since the prosecutrix is a married woman and rape was committed on her on pistol point so on the basis of medical examination report which was conducted after 10 days, it may not be inferred that rape was not committed on her; that in the matters of rape the statement of prosecutrix alone is sufficient for conviction and in such matters the independent witness may not be expected; that there is no reason for false implication; that the appeals have been filed with wrong and baseless allegations and are liable to be dismissed.

8. Upon hearing learned counsel for the parties and perusal of record, I find that as per F.I.R. the husband of prosecutrix had gone to Punjab for two months for earning livelihood by doing work as labour and on 12.8.2004 when the prosecutrix was sleeping in her house, at about 10:00 p.m., the accused-appellants entered her house after unbolting the Southern door (opening the Kundi from outside by inserting hand inside) and accused-appellant Kallu Kahar started committing rape on her and after committing rape when they left by the rear Northern door, she raised alarm on which her Jeth, Jethani Munni Devi and Raj Bahadur, Village Pradhan and several persons of village and neighbourhood arrived and seen the accused going out of her house. The P.W.-1 Raj Bahadur has stated in his statement on oath at page 3 that he had seen the accused running from northern door from a distance of 6-7 steps and stayed by the side of house of accused Kallu Kachchi when he told them that they have committed wrong and will have to face the consequences. The P.W.-1 has also stated that upon raising the alarm by him, Hira Lal Pradhan, Ram Baboo, Mool Chand, Prem Jamadar etc. 15-20 persons had arrived apart from which the prosecutrix had also come out of her house. He has also stated that on hearing the voice of prosecutrix, firstly his wife awaked and made him to awake and thereafter they came out of his house by Southern door and entered the house of prosecutrix by Southern door and saw the running accused persons from a distance of 6-7 steps and after the incident he informed his brother Vijay Bahadur, the husband of prosecutrix by telephone on 13.8.2004 and he as well as the mother-in-law of prosecutrix arrived home on 14.8.2004. The P.W.-2 the prosecutrix has stated that she has two residential houses, one in the village and other in Purwa (township). At page 11 she has stated that by the noise of opening of door by accused-appellants, she did not awake and was over-powered by accused during her sleep who started to commit rape for 10 minutes, in contradiction to the averments made in F.I.R. that upon entrance of accused persons, she had awaken. She has further stated that when the people of village arrived the accused appellants Kallu Kachchi and Kallu Kahar after making exit from her house, made themselves standing by the side of house of prosecutrix, at a few steps.

9. Upon analysis of above evidence on record and hearing the arguments of both the parties, I find that it may not be disputed that in matters relating to rape which are bound to be committed in isolation, the independent witness of the incident of commission of rape may not be expected and so the statement of prosecutrix itself may be sufficient to establish the charges. However, the statement of prosecutrix being the interested witness may not be believed as gospel truth and her statement is to be considered with great care and caution with other evidence on record. The law of probability will always apply to the facts and circumstances of each case.

10. Upon analysis of evidence on record, it is pertinent to mention the following aspects:-

(i) An ordinarily prudent person who is living adjacent to the house of prosecutrix and to whom a shorter way with loneliness to enter her house from rear door is available, may not be expected to choose the longer route and front door enhancing the possibility of his being seen/noticed by the village people or passersby.

(ii) The Kundi of main door towards South was allegedly opened by accused persons by inserting the hands from outside. It is highly improbable for a person to unbolt the Kundi which is admittedly a chain type Kundi inside the door, by a person from outside.

(iii) The two door leaves of main door after being bolted from inside by Kundi, may not have such a wide gap that the Kundi may be unbolted from outside, not only in view of the incident in question but otherwise also in view of safety and security reasons, because in such case, any miscreant may enter the house during night and take away all valuables and other articles. Even in case of such a wide gap a lady who was all alone (as her husband and mother-in-law were out of station) may not be expected to be so careless in leaving the main door without putting a lock over the Kundi for safety and security of valuables and articles of house.

(iv) Even if the prosecution version is believed that the prosecutrix was raped by accused-appellants, it is quite natural that after leaving of the miscreants, and getting relieved of the alleged terror created by them on pistol point, firstly she would have taken some time in putting all her clothes in order, before raising alarm in partly disrobed and ruined condition which may be as short as at least 2 minutes.

(v) As per statement of P.W.-1 Raj Bahadur, upon hearing the voice of the prosecutrix, firstly his wife Munni Devi awaked from sleep, and then she awaked P.W.-1 and thereafter by opening their main door in South they rushed to the adjoining house of prosecutrix and allegedly not only seen appellants running out and further he on coming out from rear and Northern door also seen them standing by the side of their house at a few steps, when on his asking for the consequences he was allegedly threatened by appellants.

(vi) In above circumstances the P.W.-1 Raj Bahadur and his wife would have taken at least 5 to 10 minutes in arriving upto the place of occurrence and till then it may not be expected from any person/miscreant of ordinary prudence as well as the accused-appellants as the case may be, to keep themselves standing for getting seen and identified as culprit persons.

(vii) Even on believing the prosecutrix with regard to entrance of appellants from Southern door by unbolting the Kundi from out side (on account of it having not been locked even for safety and security), in order to commit rape on the prosecutrix, considering the nature of crime of rape, the accused would have certainly bolted the door by Kundi from inside, as they are not supposed to have dared to commit rape by keeping the entrance door open for anybody or P.W.-1 to come from adjoining house and catch him red-handed in the mid of crime or being seen by some passerby from the open door. After committing the rape when the accused allegedly left by rear and Northern door, they are not supposed to reopen the Southern door so as to facilitate the arrival of P.W.-1 on alarm to be raised by prosecutrix and prosecutrix does not say that with raising alarm, she also opened the Southern door, and so the arrival of P.W.-1 and his wife immediately after the incident in the house of prosecutrix is also doubtful and there is every possibility of the opening of Southern door, upon their arrival and knocking of the door, which would also have taken further one minute or two.

(viii) Usually in every crime, after committing rape, theft or any other offence, the accused leaves the place of occurrence with an intention to hide himself as well as his identity and in view of the facts and circumstances mentioned hereinbefore the accused appellants had enough time to disappear in the darkness of night by entering in their house which is adjoining to the house of prosecutrix (in East) as per site plant Ext-A-7, and the contention that after fleeing from the spot they kept themselves standing at few steps by the side of Northern wall of their house, till arrival of P.W.-1, Village Pradhan and other people of village so that they may be identified as the miscreants, may not be believed under any imagination.

(ix) The village Pradhan and other persons who assembled there may not have assembled on alarm of prosecutrix from inside of her house on which arrival of only the arrival of P.W.-1 and his wife is possible and the village Pradhan and other persons may have arrived only on second call/alarm from outside the house. P.W.-1 Raj Bahadur in his examination-in-chief at page 13 of paper-book has stated that when he reached with his wife, the accused were running towards the room of Kallu Kanchhi and "मैंने शोर किया तो शोर करने पर प्रधान हीरालाल, बाबूराम आदि पहुँच गये".. In the circumstnaces when the incident is not alleged to be broad day light incident when above persons could be in Khalihan or nearby place, rather is an incident after 10:00 p.m. when people may be sleeping inside their houses, the arrival of above persons would have taken some more time and the contention that accused appellants still kept standing till their arrival is highly improbable and may not be believed.

(x) When the incident of rape came to the knowledge of village people and Pradhan and the husband of prosecutrix also arrived one day after the incident, no plausible reason has been assigned for lodging F.I.R. after 8 days.

(xi) In view of the prosecution case, if the accused/culprits were identified on the spot and kept themselves standing outside the house, at a distance of 15 steps (As per site-plan A-7), in ordinary course the P.W.-1, Jeth of prosecutrix under anger for the crime committed by them, could have committed mar-peet with miscreants and at least some scuffle could have taken place with the accused and the conduct of P.W.-1 in mere asking the miscreants that they have done wrong is quite unnatural and unbecoming of a family member (Jeth) of prosecutrix.

(xii) There is no evidence at all that the accused-appellants were seen at the time of entering in the house of prosecutrix or were going out from it, of any independent witness or of persons who had allegedly assembled there.

11. When the husband of prosecutrix had arrived on 14.8.2004 as stated by his brother P.W.-1 Raj Bahadur, the delay in lodging of F.I.R. on 21.8.2004 is found to have not been properly explained. It is also pertinent to mention that the trial court has ignored the medical report which do not support the prosecution case on the ground of medical examination has been conducted after 10 days and the prosecutrix being married lady. It is noteworthy that the delay was on the part of the prosecutrix herself and she may not be given benefit of her own wrong. Moreover in absence of any evidence of rape in medical examination report, due to delay or otherwise, it may not be presumed that evidence would have disappeared due to lapse of time and rape would have been committed.

12. The husband and mother-in-law of prosecutrix may not be the eye witness of the occurrence but would have been concerned with the rape having been committed with their wife/daughter-in-law and were essential witnesses to adduce their hearsay evidence. The non-production of husband, mother-in-law as well as sister/Jethani and independent persons viz. village Pradhan Hira Lal, Ram Baboo etc., who allegedly seen the accused persons who kept standing at 15 steps after leaving from the house after occurrence, makes sufficient ground for drawing adverse inference against the prosecution.

13. In the case of Gopal, Krishnaji Ketkar Vs. Mahomed Haji Latif & Ors, 1968 AIR 1413, a Three Judges Bench of Apex Court has held that:

"Where a party in possession of the best evidence, which would throw light on the issue in controversy withholds it - Court ought to draw an adverse inference against him notwithstanding that onus of proof does not lie on him."

14. It is also contended that in criminal case registered on the F.I.R. lodged by father of P.W.-1 and father-in-law of P.W.-2 against Kallu Kachchi and five others they were acquitted, which is proved from documentary evidence filed by defence per list 46/B (which are certified copies of judicial records and need not be proved by any other evidence). It is also alleged that the accused-appellant Kallu Kahar had reported the husband of prosecutrix about the illicit relationship between prosecutrix and P.W.-1 Raj Bahadur. In view of above facts, the possibility of false implication of accused persons in the case of rape at the instance of P.W.-1 Raj Bahadur may not be ruled out.

15. The evidence on record does not show any evidence of offence under Section 114 I.P.C. against the accused-appellant Kallu Kachchi particularly when he has been acquitted of the charges U/s 450 I.P.C. The nature of offence of rape allegedly committed by Kallu Kahar may not be supposed to have been committed on the alleged abetment of Kallu Kanchhi. The mere allegation that he had accompanied with Kallu Kahar with pistol in his hands is not supported by any other evidence and he is not alleged to have committed the offence in common intention with accused-appellant Kallu Kahar.

16. Upon analysis of entire oral and documentary evidence on record, I am of the considered view that prosecution story is highly improbable and unbelievable and the prosecution has failed to establish charges framed against accused-appellants by any trustworthy, cogent, reliable and independent evidence beyond reasonable doubt and to the hilt. The evidence of P.W.-1 Raj Bahadur and P.W.-2 prosecutrix may not be relied on account of material contradictions and improbabilities therein as discussed above as well as being the evidence of a most interested persons particularly in absence of any corroborative evidence of any independent witness.

17. In view of the discussions made above, the appeals are liable to be allowed and impugned judgment and order of conviction and sentence is liable to be set-aside.

18. Both the appeals are allowed accordingly and the impugned judgment and order of conviction and sentence of appellants Kallu Kachchi and Kallu Kahar dated 15.9.2015 passed by Additional Sessions Judge, F.T.C. No.4, Banda is set aside and the accused-appellant Kallu Kanchhi is held not guilty of the offences under Section 114 IPC and accused-appellant Kallu Kahar is held not guilty of the offences under Sections 376 and 450 I.P.C. respectively.

19. The prosecution case stands failed and the accused appellants Kallu Kachchi and Kallu Kahar are acquitted of the charges under Section 114 IPC and Sections 376 and 450 I.P.C. respectively.

20. The accused-appellants are on bail. They need not to surrender. Their bail bonds and surety bonds are cancelled and sureties stand discharged.

21. The amount of fine, if any, deposited by the appellants or any of them will be returned to them on their application, without any delay.

22. Let the lower court record be sent to the court below along with copy of this judgment and order.

Sudhanshu Ramesh Chandra Bhat ...Applicant

Versus

Union Of India Thru. Directorate Of Revenue Intelligence ...Opposite Party

Counsel for Applicant:
Shubham Tripathi

Counsel for Opposite Party:
Rajesh Singh Chauhan.

Subject Matter
Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 — Section 167(2), First Proviso — "Default bail" — Whether a bail order passed under the First Proviso to Section 167(2) stands automatically extinguished or cancelled on the mere filing of the charge-sheet/complaint, where the accused has not yet actually been released from custody on account of delay in furnishing/verification of sureties — Held, no.

Facts
The petitioner was arrested on 26.04.2016 by officials of the Directorate of Revenue Intelligence on allegations of an offence punishable under Section 135 of the Customs Act. His bail applications on merits were rejected. On 28.06.2016, invoking the First Proviso to Section 167(2) Cr.P.C., the petitioner sought bail on the ground of completion of 60 days in custody without completion of investigation. The Magistrate granted bail in the sum of Rs. 25,00,000/- with two like sureties. While verification of sureties was pending, a complaint was filed on 11.07.2016. On 13.07.2016, when sureties were offered, the Magistrate declined to accept them, holding that the bail order had become 'ineffective' since the complaint had been filed before actual release. The petitioner approached the Sessions Court, which modified the condition regarding local sureties but did not reduce the bail amount. Thereafter, by order dated 07.09.2016, the Special Chief Judicial Magistrate (Customs), Lucknow reaffirmed that the earlier bail order dated 28.06.2016 was inconsequential and ineffective, and refused to release the petitioner. The petitioner invoked the inherent/revisional jurisdiction of the High Court against the order dated 07.09.2016.

Issue
Whether a bail order passed in favour of an accused under the First Proviso to Section 167(2) of the Code of Criminal Procedure stands automatically extinguished or cancelled on the mere filing of the charge-sheet/complaint, where the accused has not actually been released from custody by that date owing to the pendency of the process of furnishing and verification of sureties.

Held

A bail order passed under the First Proviso to Section 167(2) Cr.P.C., although termed 'default bail', is as effective as bail granted on merits and does not stand cancelled automatically merely upon completion of investigation or filing of the charge-sheet/complaint. The right of an accused under the said proviso is 'availed of' the moment an application for bail is made and the accused is prepared to furnish bail, irrespective of whether the court has passed an order thereon or has indicated terms and conditions, relying on Uday Mohanlal Acharya v. State of Maharashtra, (2001) 5 SCC 453. A fortiori, where a bail order has actually been passed and only the process of furnishing/verification of sureties remains pending, the subsequent filing of a charge-sheet/complaint cannot extinguish or nullify that bail order. The distinction drawn by the Magistrate — that the right stood extinguished because the petitioner was not actually released from custody by the date of filing of the complaint — was patently incorrect and contrary to the law laid down by the Supreme Court. The delay in actual release, attributable to an unreasonably high bail amount and onerous surety conditions imposed by the Magistrate, could not be visited upon the petitioner. The order dated 07.09.2016 was patently illegal, contrary to law, justice and equity, and had resulted in undue hardship to the petitioner.

Result

Revision allowed. Order dated 07.09.2016 passed by the Special Chief Judicial Magistrate (Customs), Lucknow set aside. Original bail order dated 28.06.2016, as modified by the Sessions Court, revived.

Case Law Referred

Uday Mohanlal Acharya v. State of Maharashtra, (2001) 5 SCC 453

(Delivered by Hon'ble Abhay Mahadeo Thipsay, J.)

1. Heard the learned counsel for the petitioner and the learned counsel for the Union of India, opposite party.

2. By consent of the learned counsel, heard finally, forthwith.

3. Learned counsel for the opposite party waives service of notice.

4. The petitioner is aggrieved by an order dated 07.09.2016 passed by the Special Chief Judicial Magistrate (Customs), Lucknow whereby the Magistrate observed that the bail order passed by him earlier on 28.06.2016 was ineffective and refused to release the petitioner on bail. He has, therefore, approached this Court by invoking the inherent powers of this Court praying that the said order be set aside, and that the petitioner be released in accordance with the original bail order passed by the said Magistrate.

5. The order dated 07.09.2016 which has been impugned by filing the present petition came to be passed under the following circumstances.

6. The petitioner was arrested on 26.04.2016 by the officials of the Directorate of Revenue Intelligence on the allegations of the petitioner having committed an offence punishable under Section 135 of the Customs Act. The petitioner was remanded into custody from time to time. His prayer for bail was rejected. However, on 28.06.2016 the petitioner filed an application for bail under the First proviso to Section 167(2) of the Code of Criminal Procedure (the 'Code') contending that he had been in custody for a period of more than 60 days; and that investigation still being incomplete, the petitioner was entitled to be released on bail. The Magistrate granted bail in the sum of Rs. 25,00,000/- to the petitioner with 2 sureties in the like amount. While the process of furnishing the sureties and the verification of their solvency was going on, a complaint came to be filed before the Magistrate on 11.07.2016. On 13.07.2016 when the sureties were offered, the Magistrate observed that since the complaint had been filed by that time, there was no occasion to furnish the sureties. The Magistrate was of the view that the bail granted by him to the petitioner earlier under the First proviso to Section 167(2) of the Code was 'no longer effective' as a complaint had been filed before the petitioner was actually released from custody. Holding so, he refused to release the petitioner on bail and treated the earlier bail order as 'inconsequential' and 'ineffective'.

7. In my opinion, the Magistrate was clearly in error in understanding the relevant provisions of law.

8. Since the legal position is well settled, it is not necessary to refer to any specific decision of the Apex Court. All that needs to be observed is that a bail granted under the proviso to Section 167(2) of Code is, though termed as 'bail on default' is as effective as bail granted on merits, and does not get cancelled automatically on completion of investigation or charge-sheet being filed.

9. The question of interpretation of the first proviso to sub-section (2) of Section 167 of the Code keeps on coming before the Courts quite often. The provisions of the said proviso have been interpreted by the Superior Courts and the Apex Court from different angles for determining different questions arising in different situations.

10. The question that arises in the present case is as follows:

Whether the bail order passed in favour of an accused under the first proviso to sub-section (2) of Section 167(2) of the Code stands extinguished and/or cancelled automatically on the mere filing of the charge-sheet/complaint, if the accused, by that time has not actually been released from custody?

11. There can be no doubt, that the answer has to be in the negative.

12. I have carefully gone through the impugned order passed by the Special Chief Judicial Magistrate.

13. It was argued before the Magistrate that the bail order would not get cancelled automatically and that even sureties were being offered by the petitioner which should be accepted and the petitioner should be released on bail. It was argued on behalf of the prosecution that the right to be released on bail accrued to an accused under the said proviso to Section 167 (2) of the Code, if not already availed of, gets extinguished on the filing of the charge-sheet/complaint and cannot thereafter be enforced.

14. In this regard, the Special Chief Judicial Magistrate observed that an accused is entitled to be released on bail on the failure of the investigation agency to complete the investigation within the period stipulated by Section 167(2) of the Code, but the process of his furnishing the sureties, bail bonds, etc. should be over before a charge-sheet/complaint is filed; and if on the date of filing of the charge-sheet/complaint, the accused actually happens to be in custody, his right to get himself released on bail stands extinguished.

15. This is patently incorrect.

16. The attention of the Special Chief Judicial Magistrate was, inter-alia, drawn to a decision of the Supreme Court of India in the case of Udai Mohan Lal Acharya Vs. State of Maharashtra, reported in 2001(5) SCC 453. The Magistrate amongst other things, re-produced certain parts from the reported Judgment, but, the parts re-produced by him were not relevant to the question that arose before him; and if at all there was any relevancy, the said parts did not, at all, support the view of the Magistrate.

17. The disputes that generally arise before the courts in the context of the said proviso to Section 167 (2) of the Code relate to more complex questions, such as, whether the order releasing an accused on bail should be passed even without an application from an accused, how the said period is to be calculated, etc. The case law in that regard is basically in relation to the special statutes, like TADA, POTA, NDPS, where the Court has been empowered to extend the maximum period of detention pending investigation in certain cases. A view has been taken in such cases that if the accused does not avail of the right by making an application for bail, then he cannot seek bail under the said proviso, after a charge-sheet/complaint is filed. That, however, does not mean that just because an accused is not actually released from custody, in-spite of having secured a bail order, till the time a charge-sheet/complaint is filed, the bail order automatically gets cancelled.

18. The Special Chief Judicial Magistrate has emphasized that the right of the accused does not survive or does not remain enforceable after filing of the charge-sheet, 'if not already availed of' — a phrase used by Their Lordships of the Supreme Court of India — ignoring that simply making an application for his release on bail, has been held to amount to 'availing of the said right'.

19. The cases can be classified in 2 categories. The first would be those in which the accused makes an application for his release on bail in accordance with the said proviso, but while the application for bail is pending a charge-sheet comes to be filed. The other type of cases would be where the accused has made an application for bail in accordance with the said proviso and the bail order has also been passed; and when the process of furnishing sureties is pending, the charge-sheet is filed.

20. A perusal of the reported cases shows that the controversy as to 'whether the right of the accused to be released on bail in accordance with the said proviso could be enforced on the filing of the charge-sheet' has arisen only in the first type of cases. Nobody has seriously contended in any case that even if the bail order was passed, the subsequent filing of charge-sheet would extinguish the right of an accused to be released on bail. This would amount to automatic cancellation of the bail order on filing of the charge-sheet, which is, clearly not permissible.

21. It may be observed that even in the first type of cases, namely- where an application has been made, but no bail order has been passed, it has been held that the right of the accused that has accrued to him, cannot be defeated by the subsequent filing of the charge-sheet. Thus, making an application for bail, by itself, is sufficient to avail of his right. When such is the position, which ought to have been understood by the Chief Judicial Magistrate, if he had indeed gone through the case law referred to by him in his order, it was patently illegal on his part to have said that the right of the accused was 'not availed of' by him, merely because he was not actually released from custody.

22. Even otherwise, the facts of this case are quite gross. The process of the actual release of the petitioner was unreasonably delayed, without any fault on his part. In the first place, the Magistrate stipulated the bail amount to be Rs. 25,00,000/- (Twenty five lakhs) which was unreasonable. He insisted on not one, but two local sureties in the like amount, and that too from Lucknow only. The petitioner had to move the Sessions Court to get the unreasonable conditions modified and the Sessions Judge also did not reduce the amount of bail, though, he modified the condition regarding furnishing sureties from Lucknow. Then there came the verification of sureties, which also took time. When the solvency of sureties had been verified, and the question of accepting them arose, the Special Chief Judicial Magistrate said that there was no valid bail order, as the bail order had already been extinguished on filing of the charge-sheet. This was in itself unjust, improper and ought to have shocked the judicial conscience of the Special Chief Judicial Magistrate.

23. In the case of Udai Mohan Lal Acharya (supra), Their Lordships of the Supreme Court of India have categorically held as under :

"6. The expression 'if not already availed of' used by this Court in Sajay Dutts case (supra) must be understood to mean when the accused filed an application and is prepared to offer bail on being directed. In other words, on expiry of the period specified in paragraph (a) of proviso to Sub-section (2) of Section 167 if the accused files an application for bail and offers also to furnish the bail, on being directed, then it has to be held that the accused has availed of his indefeasible right even though the Court has not considered the said application and has not indicated the terms and conditions of bail, and the accused has not furnished the same."

24. The Special Chief Judicial Magistrate in-spite of re-producing a certain portion from this, in the impugned order, has acted contrary to what has been laid down therein. When the Supreme Court of India has time and again said that 'mere making of an application for bail would amount to availing of the right accrued to an accused under the said proviso irrespective of whether the Court has actually passed a bail order' or not, there was no question of refusing to release the petitioner on bail when an order for bail had actually been passed.

25. The impugned order is patently illegal, contrary to law, justice and equity. This has resulted in undue hardship to the petitioner.

26. The revision application is allowed.

27. The impugned order is set aside. Consequently, the original bail order dated 28.06.2016 as passed by the Magistrate and as modified by the court of Sessions stands revived.

Counsel for Petitioner:
Santosh Kumar Tripathi, Shailendra Singh

Counsel for Respondents:
A.S.G.I., N.C. Tripathi, Naresh Chandra Tripahti.

FACTS

The petitioner had responded to an advertisement dated 3.8.2015 inviting applications for grant of Short Service Commission in the Indian Army for the Judge Advocate General (JAG) Department, which notified 14 vacancies — 10 for male and 4 for female candidates — with selection to be made through a Service Selection Board process and, under Clause 6(e), 'final selection... in that order up to the number of vacancies available at that time.' The petitioner stood at Serial No. 12 in the merit list prepared for the April 2016 course. The petitioner challenged a subsequent advertisement dated 18.1.2016, which again notified 4 vacancies for female candidates, contending that any vacancies for female candidates becoming available should have been filled from the merit list generated under the first (August 2015) advertisement itself, and that had this been done, she — being within the increased number of vacancies for female candidates — would have been selected.

The respondents, in their counter affidavit, explained that JAG induction is planned course-wise (April and October each year) under Special Army Instructions dated 1.4.1998 and a Government of India letter dated 20.7.2006, with 14 vacancies (10 male, 4 female) per course. Owing to a shortfall of 12 officers inducted during 2014–2015 (44 against a planned 56), the competent authority decided on 25.2.2016 to make up the deficiency by increasing vacancies by 6 each in the April 2016 and April 2017 courses, split equally as 3 male and 3 female additional vacancies per course. This raised the female vacancies for the April 2016 course from 4 to 7. Of the female candidates on the April 2016 merit list, 8 were ultimately issued joining letters — one candidate initially found medically unfit (Serial No. 6) was later cleared by a Medical Review Board and selected, while another selected candidate (Serial No. 5) left training within two weeks, leading to selection of the candidate at Serial No. 9 as well.

ISSUES FOR CONSIDERATION

(i) Whether, under Clause 6(e) of the first advertisement, all vacancies for female candidates that became available by the time of final selection — including the additional vacancies arising from the 2014–2015 shortfall — were required to be filled from the merit list prepared under the first advertisement (April 2016), rather than being carried forward to a later recruitment year.
(ii) Whether the decision to fill only 3 of the 6 additional female vacancies (arising from the shortfall) in the April 2016 course, deferring the remaining 3 to the April 2017 course, was arbitrary or contrary to the terms of the advertisement.
(iii) Whether the selection of an 8th female candidate — one more than the revised quota of 7 for the April 2016 course — obliged the respondents to also select further candidates (including the petitioner) from the same merit list.

HELD

The Court held that planning and structuring of recruitment — including decisions on the source, mode, timing, and phasing of vacancies — falls within the exclusive domain of the employer, and judicial review is confined to instances of statutory or constitutional violation, patent arbitrariness, or mala fides, relying on the Supreme Court's observations in Union of India v. Pushpa Rani & Ors. On facts, the Court found that the decision dated 25.2.2016 to make up the backlog of 12 officers by increasing vacancies by 6 (3 male, 3 female) in each of the April 2016 and April 2017 courses, rather than filling the entire backlog in a single course, was a considered policy decision made to maintain even batch sizes and protect future promotional prospects of inducted officers, and could not be characterised as arbitrary.

The Court further held that the selection of an 8th female candidate for the April 2016 course did not create any entitlement for further candidates to be selected. The additional selection arose from specific circumstances — a candidate initially found medically unfit was subsequently cleared by a Medical Review Board after another selected candidate had already left training within two weeks — and represented a reasonable administrative choice to retain a candidate who had already undergone a substantial period of training, rather than cancelling her selection altogether. This isolated adjustment did not obligate the respondents to fill the entire additional quota of 6 vacancies (rather than 3) for female candidates in the April 2016 course itself. Since only 3 additional female vacancies (making a total of 7) were sanctioned for the April 2016 course, and the petitioner was not within that number, no case for her selection from the April 2016 merit list was made out.

RESULT

Writ petition dismissed. The petitioner was held not entitled to selection from the merit list prepared for the April 2016 course, the phased release of additional vacancies for female candidates over the April 2016 and April 2017 courses being a valid policy decision not shown to be arbitrary or contrary to the terms of the advertisement.

CASE REFERRED

Union of India Vs. Pushpa Rani & Ors

(Delivered by Hon'ble Dilip Gupta, J.
Hon'ble Manoj Kumar Gupta, J.)

1. The petitioner, who had responded to the advertisement issued on 3 August 20151 inviting applications from married/unmarried male or unmarried female candidates for grant of Short Service Commission in the Indian Army for Judge Advocate General Department2, has filed this petition for quashing the subsequent advertisement dated 18 January 20163 for the reason that the vacancies available against female candidates in the second advertisement were required to be filled-up by the first advertisement itself.

2. The first advertisement stipulated that the total number of vacancies were 14 out of which 10 were for male candidates and 4 were for female. The method of selection was indicated in Clause 6 of the advertisement, which is as follows :

"Method of Selection:

(a) Initial shortlisting of applications will be done by Recruiting Directorate, Integrated HQ of MoD (Army) and the decision of DG Recruiting will be final. Details of the shortlisted online applications will be put on Join Indian Army website. In this regard no representation will be entertained.

(b) The shortlisted candidates whose applications are found to be correct shall be detailed for SSB interview at allotted Selection Centres on specified dates.

(c) Two Stage Selection Procedure. Two stage selection procedure based on Psychological Aptitude Test is held at Selection Centres. All the candidates will face stage one test on first day of reporting at Selection Centres. The candidates who fail to pass stage one will be returned on the same day.

(d) Candidates who qualify stage II will submit self attested photocopies of educational documents to Selection Centre for completion of their Dossier/verification.

(e) Candidates who qualify at the Service Selection Board and are found medically fit by a Medical Board, will be placed in the order of merit. The final selection will be made in that order up to the number of vacancies available at that time."

3. The name of the petitioner appears at Serial No.12 in the merit list that was prepared. It is stated that initially there were only four vacancies for female candidates but later on the vacancies for female candidates were increased to 7. According to the petitioner, the second advertisement issued in January 2016 mentions four vacancies for female and so if such vacancies were available in January 2016, the merit list prepared in April 2016 should have included these 4 vacancies for female candidates in terms of the first advertisement and if that was so then the petitioner would have been selected since the total number of vacancies for female stood increased to 11 and one candidate had not joined. In this connection, petitioner has placed reliance on Clause 6(e) of the advertisement which provides that the final selection will be made upto the number of vacancies available at that time.

4. A counter affidavit has been filed by the respondents. In short it states that from 2014 to 2019, 28 candidates have to be inducted into JAG but these 28 vacancies are divided into two courses which commences in April and October every year. Thus, 14 vacancies are there in each course which include 10 for male and 4 for female candidates. During 2014 and 2015 only 44 officers were inducted in the training as against 56 and to make up the deficiency of 12 officers, the competent authority had decided to increase the vacancies by 6 in each year spreading over two years i.e. for April 2016 course and April 2017 course. Thus, for the 2016 course 6 additional officers had to be inducted into JAG. This would include 3 male and 3 female candidates. It is for this reason that the total number female candidates for 2016 was increased from 4 to 7. It will be useful to reproduce certain paragraphs of the counter affidavit to understand the procedure adopted by the respondents and the same are as follows:

4. That Indian Army Plans the quantum of induction through various entries based on future organizational requirement, well in advance and following a well defined procedure. The frequency of the courses every year has also been incorporated in various Army Instructions/Special Army Instructions issued by the Ministry of Defence, Government of India. JAG entry for women is a part of Short Service Commission Women (Non-Tech) entry (known as SSCW(NT) JAG. The entry is governed by Special Army Instructions dated 01.04.1998 and Government of India letter dated 20.07.2006. The photo copy of the aforesaid Special Army Instructions dated 01.04.1998 and Government of India letter dated 20.07.2006 are being filed as Annexure CA-1 and Annexure CA-2 respectively to this affidavit.

5. That in Short service Commission (Women Non-Technical) JAG (Judge Advocate General) is an entry whereby candidates fulfilling the eligibility criteria as laid down in the Army Instructions/Special army Instructions and by the letter issued by the Government of India apply and the selection is made by a Service Selection Board (SSB) adopting the well defined selection procedure.

6. That there are various entries for induction of officers into Indian Army Courses for NDA, CDS, 10+2 TES and TGC commence in January and July every year whereas for Short Service Commission (TEC) and Short Service Commission (Non-Tech) including JAG Courses commence in April and October of a year. It is respectfully stated that each Course is independent and does not have any bearing to other Courses. Each Course is also having independent and well determined vacancies without having any bearing to the vacancies of other Courses.

7. That as per perspective induction plan in JAG entry, 28 candidates are to be inducted into JAG during 2014 to 2019 and 16 candidates during the next 04 years i.e. from 2020 to 2023. Accordingly 28 vacancies were divided between two Courses which commence in April and October every year (14 Vacancies in each Course which includes 10 vacancies for Men and 4 vacancies for Women).

8. That it is relevant to point out here that during the years 2014 and 2015 total induction of Officers in JAG was only 44 against planned intake of 56 (28+28) Officers and this situation caused a deficiency of 12 Officers into JAG cadre. Accordingly to make up deficiency of 12 Officers in JAG cadre, the Competent Authority decided to increase the vacancies of two courses by six vacancies in each, spread over two different years i.e. to April, 2016 Course and to April, 2017 Course. This spread over of vacancies was done to ensure even batch sizes of JAG officers so as to protect these officers against adverse promotional avenues in future.

9. That for kind convenience and ready reference, the details of vacancies so released are given in the following Chart:

.No.	Name of Course	Vacancies as per initial plan	Vacancies as per revised plan
a)	SSC (NT) JAG= 16 (Men) Apr. 16	10	13 (10+3)
b)	SSC (NT) JAG= 16 (Women) Apr. 16	04	07 (4+3)
c)	SSC (NT) JAG= 17 (Men) Oct. 16	10	10
d)	SSC (NT) JAG= 17 (Women) Oct.16	04	04
e)	SSC (NT) JAG= 18 (Men) Apr. 17	10	13 (10+3)
f)	SSC (NT) JAG= 18 (Women) Apr. 17	04	07 (4+3)

5. Learned Senior Counsel appearing for the petitioner has made the following submissions:

(1) The first advertisement indicated that there were 14 vacancies out of which 10 were reserved for male and 4 for female. Even according to the Department, 6 additional female candidates had to be selected to make up the short fall in the two selections held in 2014 and 2015 and thus in terms of the conditions contained in Clause 6(e) of the first advertisement, all the additional 6 vacancies for female were required to be filled up from the merit list prepared in April 2016;

(2) The petitioner who was found to be medically fit was placed at Serial No.12 and, therefore, should have been granted selection since one candidate did not join; and

(3) Instead of selecting 7 female candidates in the April 2016 batch, the respondents have admittedly selected 8 female candidates. There is no reason why two more vacancies were not also increased.

6. Sri Ashok Mehta, learned Assistant Solicitor General of India assisted by Sri N.C. Tripathi and Sri S.K. Rai has, however, placed reliance upon the averments made in the counter affidavit and has submitted that a decision had been taken by the Department on 25 February 2016 to fill-up the backlog 12 vacancies that had arisen in recruitment years 2014 and 2015 but with a rider that 6 of such vacancies will be filled-up in the recruitment year 2016 and remaining 6 in the recruitment year 2017. His submission is that these 12 vacancies were divided equally between male and female candidates and out of the 6 vacancies for the recruitment year 2016, only 3 female candidates and 3 male candidates were required to be selected in April 2016. The remaining 3 female candidates vacancies would have to be filled-up in the recruitment year 2017. The selection of the fourth female candidate was made because of the reason that the candidate at Serial No.6 who was initially found not meeting the medical requirements was subsequently found medically fit by the Review Board after seven female candidates had been selected.

7. We have considered the submissions advanced by learned counsel for the parties.

8. The counter affidavit mentions that the Indian Army plans the quantum of induction based on future organisational requirements following a well defined procedure. For grant of Short Service Commission in the Indian Army (non-technical), the terms and conditions are contained in the Circular dated 1 April 1998. Paragraph 4 deals with the educational qualifications while paragraph 6 deals with the selection procedure. The grant of Short Service Commission (non-technical) to women officers is contained in the Circular dated 20 July 2006. It has also been stated in the counter affidavit that in accordance with the induction plan only 28 candidates are required to be inducted in JAG every year from 2014 to 2019 and thereafter 16 candidates for the following four years from 2020 to 2023. 28 vacancies for each year are divided into two courses which commence in April and October every year. Thus, 14 vacancies are available in each course out of which 10 are for male and 4 for female. In 2014 and 2015, the total number of officers who had been inducted in JAG was only 44 as against the planned intake of 56. Thus, there was a deficiency of 12 officers in JAG and to make up this deficiency of 12 officers, the competent authority had on 25 February 2016 decided to increase the vacancies every year in 2016 and 2017 by 6. Thus, for the April 2016 course, out of these six vacancies, 3 were to be filled up by male and 3 by female candidates. This would also be clear from the chart prepared by the Department in paragraph 9 of the counter affidavit which has been reproduced above.

9. In order to appreciate the issues raised in this petition, we consider it appropriate to reproduce the status of the joining letters issued to the candidates for the April 2016 course which has been enclosed as Annexure-3 to the writ petition and is as follows :

10. The petitioner is at Serial No.12 in the aforesaid list. If 7 vacancies (4+3) for women candidates were required to be filled up for the April 2016 course, then the first 8 upto Namrata Majhail should have been selected because the candidate at Serial No.6 was not meeting the medical requirements. Intimation letters were, accordingly, sent to eight candidates.

11. What has been stated by the petitioner is that the candidate at Serial No.5 joined the training but soon thereafter within two weeks left it as a result of which the candidate at Serial No.9 was selected. What has also been stated is that the candidate at Serial No.6 who was not meeting the medical requirements, was cleared by the Medical Review Board and she was also selected and an intimation letter was also issued in April 2016. Thus, in all instead of 7 female candidates who were required to be admitted, the respondents selected 8 female candidates.

12. It is for this reason that the learned Senior Counsel for the petitioner contended that if one additional female candidate had been selected, nothing prevented the Department from selecting 2 more female candidates from the merit list of April 2016. To support this contention, learned Senior Counsel has placed reliance upon paragraph 6(e) of the conditions contained in the advertisement which stipulates that the final selection will be made in order up to the number of vacancies available at that time. Learned Senior Counsel submitted that as 6 additional vacancies for female candidates were available in April 2016, 10 female candidates should have been selected from the merit list of April 2016 in view of the policy decision taken on 25 February 2016 and three vacancies for female should not have been carried forward for the recruitment year 2017.

13. It is not in dispute that that the advertisement issued in April 2016 was only for 14 vacancies. 10 out of these vacancies were reserved for male candidates and 4 for female candidates. This was the position when the first advertisement was issued on 3 August 2015. The dispute in the present petition is confined to the female candidates. It is a fact that out of the 56 candidates who had to be selected in 2014 and 2015, only 44 had been selected and there were 12 vacancies. The Army had taken a policy decision on 25 February 2016 to fill-up these 12 vacancies also. However, all these 12 vacancies were not to be filled up in the recruitment year 2016. The policy was to fill-up 6 vacancies in 2016 and the remaining 6 in 2017. Out of the 6 for the year 2016, 3 were required to be filled-up by male and 3 by female candidates. It is correct that in this way only 7 vacancies were required to be filled-up from the merit list prepared in April 2016 but in fact 8 female candidates have been selected. The Department has stated that initially the female candidate at Serial No.6 was not fulfilling the medical requirements and, therefore, the candidate next in order of merit at Serial No.8 was selected. One candidate at Serial No.5 joined the training but left within two weeks. Thus, the candidate at Serial No.9 was also selected. However, subsequently the Medical Review Board in August 2016 found that the candidate at Serial No.6 satisfied the medical requirements. In this way, respondent no.6 was also selected. This naturally increased the number of intake of female candidates from 7 to 8. The respondents could have cancelled the admission of candidate at Serial No.9 but instead of doing this they considered it appropriate to increase the intake. This could be for the reason that the candidates had undertaken the training for a substantial period of time. This decision cannot be said to be arbitrary in the facts and circumstances of the case. This was a policy decision.

14. In this connection, we feel tempted to quote a portion of the judgment rendered by the Supreme Court in the case of Union of India Vs. Pushpa Rani & Ors.4 which is as follows:

"Before parting with this aspect of the case, we consider it necessary to reiterate the settled legal position that matters relating to creation and abolition of posts, formation and structuring/restructuring of cadres, prescribing the source/mode of recruitment and qualifications, criteria of selection, evaluation of service records of the employees fall within the exclusive domain of the employer. What steps should be taken for improving efficiency of the administration is also the preserve of the employer. The power of judicial review can be exercised in such matters only if it is shown that the action of the employer is contrary to any constitutional or statutory provision or is patently arbitrary or is vitiated due to mala fides. ....."

15. We, therefore, do not find any substance in the submission of learned Senior Counsel for the petitioner that if the Department had increased the intake of female by one, it should have increased the intake of female candidates by 2 so as to fill-up all the 6 additional vacancies in the year 2016 instead of filling-up three in 2016 and then three in 2017. A policy decision had been taken by the Army to only increase the intake by 3. It is for this reason that we also do not find any substance in the submission advanced by learned Senior Counsel for the petitioner that if there were six vacancies available for female candidates in April 2016, then all 6 should have been filled-up from the merit list of April 2016 for the reason that the advertisement itself stipulated that all the vacancies existing at the time of final selection should be filled-up. As noted above, the intake of female candidates had been increased only by 3 for the recruitment year 2016 and the remaining 3 vacancies for female candidates were to be filled-up in the recruitment year 2017.

16. Such being the position, it does not lie in the mouth of the petitioner to contend that 6 vacancies for female were required to be filled-up in the April 2016 course. The petitioner, therefore, cannot contend that she should have been selected from the merit list prepared in April 2016.

17. Thus, for all the reasons stated above, no relief can be granted to the petitioner.

18. The writ petition is, accordingly, dismissed.

Misc. Single/ Writ Petition No.- 22784 Of 2016

Shankar Charan Tripathi ...Petitioner
Versus
Union Of India & Ors. ...Opposite Parties

Subject Matter

Constitution of India - Article 226 - Writ of Mandamus - NEET-2016 - Claim of reservation by an Ex-serviceman himself (as distinct from wards/dependents of Ex-servicemen) for admission to MBBS course - Whether absence of any provision for reservation to Ex-servicemen themselves in the NEET-2016 Information Brochure, as opposed to their wards/dependents, entitles a candidate to a writ of mandamus directing creation of such reservation and his nomination to a medical college - Held, no; reservation is a policy matter for the Central/State Government, not one that a writ court can create, and pre-requisites for mandamus (prior demand and refusal, subsisting legal right) were also not satisfied.

Facts

The petitioner, an Ex-serviceman discharged from the Indian Air Force in 1990 who thereafter served in the Madhya Pradesh PCS as Jail Superintendent and presently serves as Joint Commissioner, Commercial Tax Department, sought a direction to the respondents to extend the privilege and benefit of reservation for Ex-servicemen to him for admission to the MBBS course in Uttar Pradesh through NEET-2016, and for his nomination to a Medical College managed by the respondents. The petitioner, who also practises astrology, stated his intention to pursue MBBS to correlate medical science with medical astrology. He appeared in NEET-(UG)-II-2016 (Roll No. 81408640, Registration No. 6029827) securing 16.051601 percentile, and stated that his name appeared in the merit list prepared by JIPMER. He contended that the NEET-2016 scheme of categories nowhere provided reservation for Ex-servicemen despite his having declared that category while filling the form, and that his counseling at SGPGI, Lucknow, on 15.9.2016 was refused on the ground that reservation existed only for wards/dependents of Ex-servicemen and not for Ex-servicemen themselves, which he contended was unreasonable since an Ex-serviceman applicant ought to be preferred over wards of Ex-servicemen. He relied on Dilwan Singh and others Vs. State of Haryana and others, (1996) 8 SCC 369, and Ishwar Singh Vs. Kurukshetra University and others (Punjab & Haryana High Court, decided 11.4.2013). The respondents opposed the petition, contending that the petitioner had no legal or statutory right to nomination for the MBBS course, that the NEET-2016 Brochure provided vertical reservation for SC (21%), ST (2%) and OBC (27%), and horizontal reservation only for children of Freedom Fighters and Ex-servicemen (disabled during war/retired/martyr), with no provision for candidates who are themselves Ex-servicemen.

Issue

Whether a writ of mandamus could be issued directing the respondent authorities to extend reservation meant for wards/dependents of Ex-servicemen to an Ex-serviceman applicant himself, and to nominate the petitioner for admission to the MBBS course, in the absence of any such provision in the NEET-2016 Information Brochure and any prior demand for such reservation having been made and refused.

Held

A writ of mandamus must be preceded by a distinct demand for performance of the duty claimed and a clear refusal thereof, so that the court may be satisfied that the party complained against is determined not to perform what is demanded; mandamus is not a writ of right and is not granted as a matter of course (ex debito justitiae), its grant or refusal lying in the discretion of the court, to be exercised only where a clear legal right and subsisting statutory duty are shown and no alternative remedy is available, relying on Guruvayoor Devaswom Managing Committee Vs. C.K. Rajan, AIR 2004 SC 561. The decisions relied upon by the petitioner were distinguishable: in Dilwan Singh (supra), the grievance concerned a selection policy of considering Ex-servicemen together with dependent children of Ex-servicemen, which was held to impede Ex-servicemen; and in Ishwar Singh (supra), a specific quota for Ex-servicemen had in fact been fixed by the State Government and specified in the Information Brochure, and dependents were wrongly being preferred over such Ex-servicemen. In the present case, by contrast, the NEET-2016 Brochure contained no reservation whatsoever for Ex-servicemen themselves, only for their children/wards. The petitioner was aware of this position at the time of filling the online form and participated in the examination without protest, raising the plea only after failure to secure admission; he had also filed an earlier writ petition (Writ Petition No. 5681 of 2016 (MS)) regarding a software defect in form submission without raising this plea, and had not challenged the prospectus conditions before appearing in the examination. He had further failed to place on record any representation made to the concerned authorities seeking reservation as an Ex-serviceman that had gone unanswered. Reliance on a statement in JIPMER's counter affidavit in Writ Petition No. 22351 of 2016 before the Madras High Court, regarding nominations from central authorities having been discontinued from 2014-15, could not create any right in the petitioner's favour, since fixation of reservation is a policy decision of the Central/State Government and not a matter within the domain of the High Court to prescribe. Reference was also made to Sankalp Charitable Trust and another Vs. Union of India and others, (2016) 7 SCC 487, where the Apex Court held that NEET only provides for conducting the entrance test and prescribing eligibility criteria, and that reservation for any category is not the subject matter of NEET. Accordingly, no mandamus as claimed could be issued.

Result

Writ petition dismissed as devoid of merit. Costs easy.

Case Law Referred

Ishwar Singh Vs. Kurukshetra University and others, Punjab & Haryana High Court, decided 11.4.2013 (distinguished);

Sankalp Charitable Trust and another Vs. Union of India and others, (2016) 7 SCC 487.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Devendra Kumar Arora, J.)

1. Heard Sri Ashok Kumar Pandey, learned Counsel for the petitioner, Dr Deepti Tripathi, Counsel for the Union of India and Sri Sanjay Bhasin, Counsel for the State Government.

2. In the instant writ petition, petitioner has inter-alia sought for a direction to the respondents to extend the privileges and benefit of reservation of Ex-serviceman to the petitioner for admission in MBBS course in the State of Uttar Pradesh, for which examination has been conducted by NEET-2016. It has further been prayed that the respondents authorities be directed to nominate the petitioner for admission in MBBS course in any of the Medical Colleges being managed and controlled by the respondents.

3. According to learned Counsel for the petitioner, petitioner is an Ex-service man, who was discharged from the Indian Air Force in the year 1990. Thereafter the petitioner was selected in Madhya Pradesh PCS Examination and served as Jail Superintendent. While working as Jail Superintendent, he was selected in UPPCS and at present he is working as Joint Commissioner in Commercial Tax Department. The petitioner is an Astrologer and is serving the public through astrology including medical astrology but as he want to serve the humanity through Gathbandhan (Co-relation) of Medical Science and Medical Astrology and so, he wanted to pursue MBBS course.

4. In furtherance of pursuing MBBS course, petitioner appeared in NEET-(UG)-II-2016 with Roll No. 81408640 and Registration no. 6029827 and secured 16.051601 percentile whereas in JIPMER his name finds place in the merit list prepared by JIPMER.

5. It has been contended by the Counsel for the petitioner that in the distribution of seats and definition of categories, nowhere reservation for Ex-servicemen has been provided which is wholly unreasonable and unjustified when the petitioner at the time of filling up the form in NEET has mentioned his category as Ex-serviceman.

6. It has also been submitted that the petitioner participated for Counseling at SGPGI, Lucknow on 15.9.2016 alongwith his records but his Counseling was refused on the ground that reservation is for wards and dependents of Ex-servicemen and not for Ex-servicemen. It is relevant to mention here that wards and dependents are getting the reservation because of being dependent and wards of Ex-servicemen whereas when Ex-serviceman himself is applicant, he is legally entitled to be given preference over the wards of Ex-servicemen.

7. To strengthen the aforesaid assertions, the petitioner has relied upon the decisions of the Apex Court rendered in Dilwan Singh and others vs. State of Haryana and others (1996)8 SCC 369 and the decision of Punjab & Haryana High Court in Ishwar Singh vs. Kurukshetra University and others (decided on 11.4.2013).

8. Refuting the allegations of the petitioner, it has been argued on behalf of the respondents that the petitioner has no legal or statutory right for being nominated as one of the candidates to pursue MBBS Course in a Government Medical College. The petitioner has failed to show that there is a reservation for Ex-Service Man in the NEET-2016 and he has been denied the said benefit in an unjustified manner.

9. It has been submitted that in the Brochure for NEET-2016 vertical reservation has been provided to SC, ST and OBC in the ratio of 21%, 02% and 27% respectively. There is also provision for Horizontal Reservation in respect of children of Freedom Fighters and Ex-service man [disabled during war /retired/martyr]. However, there is no provision for admitting candidates, who themselves are Ex-servicemen.

10. Having examined the submissions made by the parties, firstly it would be apt to mention that before petitioning a writ of Mandamus, it must be preceded by a distinct demand for performance of the duty, in order to give the party an opportunity to consider whether he should comply or not, and such demand must be shown to have been met by a refusal either by words or conduct, so that the Court may be satisfied that the party complained of, is determined not to do what is demanded. In simple words, the demand must be made prior to the petition/application.

11. At this juncture, it would be relevant to mention that a writ of mandamus is issued only in such cases when either the State fails to perform its duty or when the discretion exercised by the State is not done legally . In Guruvayoor Devaswom Managing Committee v CK Rajan AIR 2004 SC 561 , it was held that although the Court ordinarily is reluctant to assume the functions of the statutory functionaries, it will step in by mandamus when the State fails to perform its duty . It shall also step in when the discretion is exercised but the same has not been done legally and validly . To put differently, a writ of mandamus is not a writ of right and is not granted as a matter of course (ex debito justitiae). Its grant (or refusal) is at the discretion of the court. Courts are obliged to refuse mandamus, unless, it is shown that there is a clear legal right of the applicant or statutory duty of the respondent and there is no alternative remedy available to the applicant. In order to obtain a writ or an order (or direction) in the nature of mandamus, the applicant has to satisfy (the court of law) that he has a legal right towards the performance of a legal duty by the party (or person) against whom mandamus is sought and such right must be subsisting on the date of the petition.

12. As far as case laws relied upon by the petitioner are concerned, it may be mentioned that in Dilwan Singh's case [supra] the controversy was altogether different as in the said case the Selection Board has adopted a policy of calling the ex-servicemen and the dependent children of ex-servicemen together to consider their cases for recruitment according to merit which was treated as an impediment to ex-servicemen. Similarly, in the case of Ishwar Singh [supra] the dependents of the defence personnel were given preference over the Ex-servicemen for admission in B.Ed (Regular) course. From the perusal of the said judgment it comes out that there was quota for Ex-servicemen fixed by the Government of Haryana and the same was specified in the Information Brochure issued by the University concerned. Here, the facts are different altogether as in the information brochure there is no provision of reservation in respect of Ex-servicemen but quota has been fixed for the children of Ex-servicemen [disabled during war/retired/martyr].

13. The instant case is to be decided in the light of the aforesaid factual and settled legal proposition. Undoubtedly, the Brochure of NEET-2016 was available with the petitioner at the time of filling the On-line application and was well aware that there is reservation for wards of Ex-servicemen and not for Ex-serviceman but he remained in deep slumber and participated in the examination without any protest and now has come with the plea as aforesaid. It may be noted that petitioner had earlier filed Writ petition No. 5681 of 2016 (MS) complaining non-acceptance of his form on account of there being defect in the software but at that time also he did not raise the plea as raised in the instant writ petition. It may be added that the petitioner has not annexed any application showing that he has given application to concerned authorities of the State Government/Central Government or CBSE Board which conducted the NEET-2016 with regard to reservation for Ex-serviceman and it was not acted upon. More, he has not challenged the conditions of the prospectus before appearing in the NEET-2016 though it was well within the knowledge of the petitioner that no reservation has been made in favour of Ex-servicemen.

14. The petitioner wanted his nomination merely on the basis of statement made by Jawaharlal Institute of Postgraduate Medical Education and Research, Puducherry (JIPMER) in the counter affidavit filed in Writ Petition No. 22351 of 2016 filed in Madras High Court. In paragraph 12 of the said counter affidavit it is has mentioned that the Institution followed only the nominations of such candidates from appropriate central authorities. However, Ministry of Health & Family Welfare had stopped sending nominations from the year 2014-2015. Merely, on the basis of averments made an affidavit, no right is created in favour of the petitioner. Moreso, fixation of reservation is the policy decision of the Central Government/State Government, as the case may be and it is not within the domain of the High Court to provide reservation to such candidates. The petitioner has failed to bring on record any document issued by the Central Government or State Government providing reservation for such candidate, which is not being adhered to by the concerned authorities.

15. Before parting with, it would be relevant to mention that in Sankalp Charitable Trust and another vs. Union of India and others (2016) 7 SCC 487, the Apex Court while holding that only NEET would enable students to get admission to MBBS or BDS studies observed that special provisions for reservation of any category are not subject matter of NEET nor are the rights of minority in any manner affected by NEET. NEET only provides for conducting entrance test and eligibility criteria for admission to the MBBS/BDS course.

16. For the reasons aforesaid, no mandamus as claimed/sought for by the petitioner can be issued to the authorities concerned. The writ petition being devoid of merits is liable to be dismissed.

17. Accordingly, the writ petition is dismissed. Costs easy.

Penal Code, 1860 — Section 306 — Abetment of suicide — Bail — Suicide note left by deceased alleging harassment by applicant (tenant) — Genuineness of suicide note disputed — Applicant contended signatures on suicide note dissimilar from admitted signatures of deceased on proceedings under Sections 107/116 Cr.P.C. — Report of private handwriting expert filed by applicant opining signatures to be dissimilar — Investigating Officer, despite efforts, could not obtain specimen handwriting/signatures of deceased from family members for comparison by government expert — No material available to rebut opinion of private handwriting expert — Held, in absence of reliable evidence to convincingly establish that suicide note was actually written and signed by deceased, applicant entitled to bail — Bail granted with liberty to prosecution to move for cancellation of bail before court below in the event government handwriting expert's opinion, obtained through proper investigation, establishes that suicide note was written and signed by the deceased.

Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 — Section 439 — Bail — Ingredients of abetment to suicide — Mere existence of landlord-tenant dispute, without tangible evidence of instigation or creation of circumstances impelling deceased to end his life, held insufficient to fasten liability of abetment — Sensitivity to commit suicide varies from person to person and depends on individual emotional threshold — Held, evidence on record deficient to establish that applicant instigated or abetted deceased to commit suicide.

Held:
(i) Bail granted, subject to conditions — (a) applicant not to tamper with prosecution evidence; (b) applicant to personally appear on every date, exemption from personal presence to be at discretion of trial court.
(ii) Breach of conditions to entitle court below to proceed for cancellation of bail.
(iii) Bail granted primarily on the ground of absence of reliable evidence, at this stage, to convincingly show that the suicide note was written and signed by the deceased; liberty reserved to prosecution/complainant to seek cancellation of bail before the court below if government handwriting expert's report, obtained through proper investigation, establishes authorship and signature of the deceased on the suicide note.
(iv) Observations made confined to disposal of the bail application and not to be construed as reflecting on the merits of the case.

RESULT
Application allowed.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Karuna Nand Bajpayee, J.)

1. Counter affidavit and two supplementary affidavits filed by the respective parties are taken on record.

2. This application has been filed seeking the release of the applicant on bail in Case Crime No. 494 of 2016 u/s 306 IPC, Police Station- Muradanagar, District- Ghaziabad .

3. Heard Sri A.C. Srivastava, learned counsel for the applicant, learned A.G.A.for the State and Sri S.K. Tyagi, learned counsel for the complainant.

4. Perused the record.

5. Submission of learned counsel for the applicant is that the applicant was the tenant of the house, while the deceased was landlord and it is said that the applicant was guilty of abetment, as a result of which, the deceased committed suicide. Further submission is that the prosecution evidence does not bring forth the necessary ingredients of abetment and the facts and circumstances are such which fall short of proving that the applicant either instigated the deceased to commit suicide or abetted the same. Further submission is that the primary evidence, which has been made the basis to implicate the accused-applicant in the crime is an alleged suicide note left by the deceased in which the only thing mentioned was this that the deceased was feeling so perturbed and harassed because of the applicant that he was constrained to commit suicide and that the applicant should be held responsible for the same. Contention is that sensitivity of a human being depends upon a number of factors and human traits including the level of emotions of a particular person play crucial role in this regard. The people may commit suicide even on a trifling reason just as they may withstand the pressure of strongly upsetting circumstances. In the present case, there was a dispute between the landlord and tenant. The dispute was not such which may, in all probability, be said to be sufficient to drive the deceased to commit suicide. There has to be tangible evidence in order to prove that a particular man instigated the victim to commit suicide. Further submission is that it is true that there may be cases where the direct evidence may not be available and there may be circumstances which may demonstrate that there were such impelling circumstances created by accused which were sufficient to drive any reasonable man to commit suicide. But the evidence available on record is very deficient in proving any such conduct of the applicant. Even if the contents of the suicide note are taken such, it is difficult to hold that the applicant actually instigated or abetted the deceased to commit suicide. But much emphasis has been laid by the counsel for the applicant in order to show that the suicide note and the signatures made therein are not actually that of the deceased. It was pointed out that the case diary would indicate that the Investigating Officer made an attempt to get some hand writings and the signatures of the deceased in order to get the same compared with the original suicide note but despite his efforts and visits which he made to the family members of the deceased, he was not provided necessary hand writings or signatures of the deceased for comparison. Learned counsel for the applicant has shown to the Court a part of the case diary wherein the visits of the I.O. are mentioned and also where inability for some reason or the other to provide the same has been shown by the wife of the deceased. Further submission is that actually there were also some proceedings under Section 107 and 116 of Cr.P.C. for which the deceased had submitted his bail-bonds. Learned counsel for the applicant has drawn the attention of the Court to Annexure-5, which is a paper relating to such proceedings, which contains the signatures of the deceased. Counsel has tried to emphasise that the signatures made therein on the very face of record are looking different from the signature on suicide note. Learned counsel for the applicant has also drawn the attention of the Court to the report of the private Hand Writing Expert which has been obtained on behalf of the accused by way of which the said signatures available on the proceedings under Sections 107 and 116 of Cr.P.C. have been compared with the aforesaid photocopy of the suicide note and the opinion has been given in negative and it has been opined that both the signatures are dissimilar. Further submission is that the prosecution has not been able to procure any material which may rebut the opinion of the private hand writing expert at this stage. The argument is that even if it is presumed that since there was a dispute between the landlord and the tenant, as a result of which the deceased committed suicide, then too it will be stretching things too far to hold the applicant responsible for abetment in the facts and circumstances of this particular case. Several other submissions in order to demonstrate the falsity of the allegations made against the applicant have also been placed forth before the Court. The circumstances which, according to the counsel, led to the false implication of the accused have also been touched upon at length. It has been assured on behalf of the applicant that he is ready to cooperate with the process of law and shall faithfully make himself available before the court whenever required. It has also been pointed out that the applicant is in jail since 22.6.2016 having no criminal history and that in the wake of heavy pendency of cases in the Court, there is no likelihood of any early conclusion of trial.

6. Learned A.G.A. opposed the prayer for bail.

7. After perusing the record in the light of the submissions made at the bar and after taking an overall view of all the facts and circumstances of this case and the nature of evidence available on record, this Court is of the view that the applicant may be enlarged on bail.

8. Let the applicant- Gaurav Tyagi involved in Case Crime No. 494 of 2016 u/s 306 IPC, P.S.- Muradnagar, District- Ghaziabad be released on bail on his executing a personal bond and two sureties each in the like amount to the satisfaction of the court concerned on the following conditions :-

(1) The applicant will not make any attempt to tamper with the prosecution evidence in any manner whatsoever.

(2) The applicant will personally appear on each and every date in the court and his personal presence shall not be exempted unless the court itself deems it fit to do so in the interest of justice.

9. It may be observed that in the event of any breach of the aforesaid conditions, the court below shall be at liberty to proceed for the cancellation of applicant's bail.

10. It may be further observed that bail of the applicant is being granted by this court primarily on the ground that there is no reliable evidence available on record so far, to convincingly show that the alleged suicide note was actually written and signed by the deceased. If at any stage in future, the Investigating Officer through proper investigation gets or procures the evidence of government handwriting expert to the effect that the suicide note was actually written by the deceased and signed by him, the prosecution/complainant will have the liberty to move cancellation of bail before the court below itself. In case of such eventuality, the court below shall itself have the right and liberty to proceed for cancellation of bail on the strength of this observation made by this Court.

11. It is clarified that the observations, if any, made in this order are strictly confined to the disposal of the bail application and must not be construed to have any reflection on the ultimate merits of the case.

Rajpal ...Applicant

FACTS

The present application under Section 482 Cr.P.C. was moved for quashing the order dated 9.8.2016 passed by the Additional Sessions Judge, Court No. 3, Etah, in S.T. No. 96 of 2012 (State v. Yadram and Others), arising out of Case Crime No. 208 of 2011, under Sections 323, 307, 504 I.P.C., P.S. Mirehchi, District Etah, whereby the trial court rejected the accused-applicant's application under Section 311 Cr.P.C. seeking recall of prosecution witness Somendra for further cross-examination.

The trial court had rejected the recall application on the ground that it did not disclose the points on which the witness was sought to be further cross-examined. It was contended on behalf of the applicant that the trial court had acted wrongly in rejecting the recall application. The State opposed the application, submitting that the law does not permit recall of a witness for further cross-examination in such circumstances and that the impugned order was correct.

ISSUES FOR CONSIDERATION

(i) Whether the trial court erred in rejecting the application under Section 311 Cr.P.C. for recall of the prosecution witness for further cross-examination, in the absence of any disclosed points on which such further cross-examination was sought.

(ii) Whether the applicant made out sufficient ground for exercise of inherent jurisdiction under Section 482 Cr.P.C. to quash the impugned order.

HELD

The Court held that although Section 311 Cr.P.C. confers wide powers on a court to summon or recall any witness at any stage, such powers must be exercised with restraint and judiciously, and the extraordinary provision cannot be used as an afterthought to fill up lacunae or gaps in the prosecution or defence case, relying on Shyam Kumar v. State of U.P., 2003 (47) ACC 290, where it was held that recall of a witness cannot be claimed as a matter of right and that circumstances such as change of counsel or questions left unasked are not sufficient grounds for recall.

On perusal of the record and the recall application itself, the Court found that the applicant had neither mentioned the date on which the witness was examined nor assigned any reason or indicated the points on which further cross-examination was sought. The impugned order rejecting the recall application was accordingly held to be correct and free from any illegality, irregularity, or impropriety.

RESULT

Application under Section 482 Cr.P.C. dismissed, the applicant having failed to show any sufficient ground for exercise of inherent powers to prevent abuse of the process of the court or to secure the ends of justice. The order dated 9.8.2016 passed by the Additional Sessions Judge, Court No. 3, Etah, in S.T. No. 96 of 2012, was upheld. Interim order, if any, stands vacated.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Harsh Kumar, J.)

1. Heard learned counsel for the applicant, learned A.G.A. for the State and perused the record.

2. The present application under Section 482 Cr.P.C. has been moved for quashing the order dated 9.8.2016 passed by Additional Sessions Judge Court No.3, Etah passed in S.T. No.96 of 2012 (State Vs. Yadram and others), under Sections 323, 307, 504 I.P.C., Case Crime No.208 of 2011, P.S. Mirehchi, District Etah.

3. Learned counsel for the applicant contends that Sessions Judge, Etah has acted wrongly in rejecting the application of accused-applicant under Section 311 Cr.P.C. for summoning the prosecution witness Somendra for further cross examination on the ground that it has not been disclosed in the application as to on which points the witness is sought to be further cross-examined.

4. Per contra, learned A.G.A. submits that impugned order is correct and law does not permit for recall of the witness for further cross examination.

5. Though under powers conferred by Section 311, a Court may summon or recall any witness at any stage, but it is settled principle of law that such powers are wide enough and ought to be exercised with restraint and judiciously and the Extra-ordinary provisions can not be used as an afterthought to fill up the lacuna/gaps. In the case of Shyam Kumar Vs. State of U.P., 2003(47) ACC 290, it was held that "Recalling of witness-- Powers very wide-- To be exercised with restraint and judiciously-- Not a tool to fill up the lacuna-- Change of counsel-- Certain questions left out from being asked from the witness-- Not sufficient to recall the witness for re-examination.

Accused cannot have the witness recalled for examination as a matter of right. Extra-ordinary provisions cannot be used as an afterthought to fill gaps."

6. The perusal of records as well as application for recall of prosecution witness Somendra shows that the applicant neither has mentioned the date when above was examined, nor has assigned any reason or questions, on which points his further cross examination is required. The impugned order is correct and does not suffer from any illegality, irregularity or impropriety.

7. Upon hearing learned counsel for the parties and perusal of record, I find that the applicant has failed to show any sufficient ground for exercise of inherent powers by this Court so as to prevent any abuse of process of court or otherwise to secure the ends of justice and there is no sufficient ground for for quashing the order dated 9.8.2016 passed by Additional Sessions Judge Court No.3, Etah passed in S.T. No.96 of 2012 (State Vs. Yadram and others), under Sections 323, 307, 504 I.P.C., Case Crime No.208 of 2011, P.S. Mirehchi, District Etah. The application is devoid of merits and is liable to be dismissed.

8. The application u/s 482 Cr.P.C. is dismissed accordingly.

9. Interim order, if any, stands vacated.

THE HON'BLE SURYA PRAKASH KESARWANI, J.

Writ A No.- 46710 Of 2016

Vijay Kumar Gupta ...Petitioner
Versus
State Of U.P. & Ors. ...Opposite Parties

Counsel for Petitioner:
Manoj Kumar Sharma

Counsels for Opposite Parties:
C.S.C., Qamrul Hasan Siddiqui.

Subject Matter
U.P. Government Servant (Discipline and Appeal) Rules, 1999 — Rules 10 and 12 — Disciplinary/Recovery order and Appellate order — Non-speaking orders — Requirement of reasons — Petitioner, a Junior Engineer, was held liable by the disciplinary authority for 50% of alleged financial loss caused in purchase and repair of three pumps, without considering his reply or assigning any reason — Appellate authority, while marginally reducing the recovery to 1/3rd of a reassessed lesser loss figure, likewise passed a wholly non-speaking order — Held, both orders passed in complete disregard of the mandatory requirements of Rules 10 and 12 of the Rules and of the principles of natural justice, being devoid of reasons and passed mechanically without consideration of the explanation/appeal filed by the petitioner.

Facts
The petitioner, working as Junior Engineer, was issued a show cause notice dated 5.5.2012 in connection with alleged irregularity in purchase of three pump-sets for a water intake well in district Banda, and alleged failure to discharge duties, in violation of the U.P. Government Servant Conduct Rules, 1956. By order dated 4.11.2015, the disciplinary authority (Chief Engineer) held the petitioner guilty and directed recovery of 50% of the alleged loss of Rs. 15.30 lakh, i.e., Rs. 7,65,000/-, to be recovered from his monthly salary at Rs. 20,000/- per month. The petitioner preferred an appeal, contending that he had no role in the purchase committee or in installation/release of security money. Pending appeal, the petitioner had earlier obtained an order dated 21.4.2016 in Writ Petition No. 17851 of 2016 directing the appellate authority to consider his prayer for interim protection and restraining recovery for a limited period. By the impugned order dated 12.5.2016, the appellate authority (Managing Director), on the basis of a report indicating actual expenditure on purchase of pumps at Rs. 13.20 lakh, held the petitioner liable for 1/3rd of this loss, i.e., Rs. 4,40,000/-, modifying the recovery order accordingly, again without discussing the petitioner's grounds of appeal or giving any reasons for the finding of guilt or for the quantum of liability fixed.

Issues

1. Whether the order of the disciplinary authority dated 4.11.2015, passed without considering the petitioner's explanation and without assigning reasons for holding him guilty and fixing quantum of recovery, is sustainable in law having regard to the mandate of Rule 10 of the U.P. Government Servant (Discipline and Appeal) Rules, 1999.
2. Whether the appellate order dated 12.5.2016, passed without addressing the three-fold test under Rule 12 read with Rule 13 of the Rules — namely, whether the facts on which the order was based have been established, whether such facts afford sufficient ground for action, and whether the penalty is excessive, adequate or inadequate — is a valid appellate order.

Held
Rule 10 of the Rules mandates that the disciplinary authority shall, after considering the explanation and relevant records, pass an order as it considers appropriate, and where a penalty is imposed, reasons there for must be recorded — Held, the order dated 4.11.2015 did not disclose consideration of the petitioner's explanation, consideration of relevant records, or reasons for imposition of penalty, and was passed in an irresponsible manner in disregard of the statutory mandate. Rule 12 of the Rules requires the appellate authority to consider (a) whether the facts on which the order was based have been established, (b) whether such facts afford sufficient ground for action, and (c) whether the penalty is excessive, adequate or inadequate, before passing orders under clauses (a) to (d) of Rule 13 — Held, the appellate order dated 12.5.2016 did not deal with any of these three mandatory considerations, was apparently non-speaking, and was passed mechanically without application of mind. Following Omar Salay Mohd. Sait v. CIT, Madras, AIR 1959 SC 1238; Udhav Das Kewat Ram v. CIT, 1967 (66) ITR 462; The Secretary & Curator, Victoria Memorial v. Howrah Ganatantrik Nagrik Samity and Ors., JT 2010(2) SC 566; Chandana Impex Pvt. Ltd. v. Commissioner of Customs, New Delhi, 2011(269) E.L.T. 433 (SC); and CCT v. Shukla & Bros., (2010) 4 SCC 785 — Held, recording of reasons is an essential requirement of natural justice and a sine qua non for judicial and quasi-judicial orders; reasons are the 'heartbeat' and 'linchpin' of every conclusion, ensuring transparency, enabling the aggrieved party to know why the decision has gone against him, and rendering the remedy of appeal/revision meaningful — Absence of reasons renders an order indefensible and unsustainable, particularly where it is subject to further challenge before a higher forum — Non-recording of reasons amounts to violation of principles of natural justice and denial of justice.

Result
The petitioner having already filed a revision under the Rules, which was pending before Respondent No. 6, the Court did not consider it proper to render any finding on the merits of the disciplinary proceedings at this stage. With the consent of learned counsel for the parties, the writ petition disposed of with a direction to Respondent No. 6 to decide the pending revision strictly in accordance with law by a speaking and reasoned order, within two months from production of a certified copy of the order. Considering the peculiar facts and in the interest of justice, it was further directed that no recovery shall be made from the petitioner pursuant to the impugned orders till the revision is decided.

2. This writ petition has been filed praying for the following relief:

(i) issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of certiorari to quash the impugned Punishment & Recovery Order dated 12.5.2016 passed by the Respondent no.5 against the petitioner, with its all consequential effects whatsoever throughout.

(ii) issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of certiorari to quash the impugned show cause notices dated 5.5.2012 and 12.6.2015 alongwith the punishment/recovery based thereupon vide orders dated 4.11.2015 and 19.11.2015 passed by the respondent nos. 2 and 3 respectively to the extent they are related with the petitioner with its all consequential effects whatsoever throughout.

(iii) issue a writ, order of direction in the nature of mandamus commanding the respondents to make the payment of regular full monthly salary of the petitioner with all other admissible service benefits and refund the deducted amount of his salary also along with admissible Bank Rate Interest, to him.

3. Learned counsel for the petitioner submits that neither the petitioner has any role in the purchase of three pumps in question nor he was member of the Purchase Committee nor he has any role in its installation or releasing the security money and yet without considering his reply and without assigning any reason the respondent no.2 has passed an order dated 4.11.2015 holding the petitioner liable for 50% of the alleged financial loss caused on account of purchase of the three pumps and the amount spent on its repair. He filed an appeal before the respondent no.5 who also decided the appeal in the same fashion without assigning any reason to hold the petitioner guilty of the alleged financial loss in purchase of pumps and also in fixing his liability to the extent of 1/3 cost of pumps. He submits that pursuant to the order dated 21.4.2016 passed in writ petition no.17851 of 2016, an interim protection for non recovery of the amount till decision in appeal was granted by the appellate-authority. He further submits that the order of the disciplinary authority as well as the order dated 12.5.2016 passed by the appellate authority both are totally non speaking and without application of mind. He submits that both the orders are wholly arbitrary and infact indicative of non discharge of statutory duty by the authorities concerned.

4. Sri Vimlesh Kumar Rai, learned counsel for the respondent nos. 2 to 6 submits that petitioner has already filed revision before the respondent no.6 which may be directed to be decided in accordance with law at an early date.

6. Perusal of the order of the disciplinary authority dated 4.11.2015 and the order dated 12.5.2016 passed by the appellate authority prima facie shows that both the authorities have passed the orders in an irresponsible manner, in complete disregard to the mandatory provisions of the Uttar Pradesh Government Servant (Discipline and Appeal) Rules 1999 (hereinafter referred to as "the Rules") and without assigning any reason to hold the petitioner guilty. They have completely ignored the stand taken by the petitioner in his reply as well as in the appeal. Such action of the aforesaid authorities is nothing but an abuse of power which shakes confidence of the aggrieved employee. Their action is also indicative of violation of the statutory provisions under the Rules and the settled principles of natural justice.

7. This Court is constrained to make the above observation in the light of the clear disobedience by the disciplinary authority the provisions of Rule 10 of the Rules which mandates that the disciplinary authority shall, after considering the explanation, if any, and the relevant records, pass such order as he considers appropriate and when a penalty is imposed, reason thereof shall be given. Three important factors which are required in an order of the disciplinary authority under Rule 10 of the Rules, namely, consideration of the explanation, consideration of the relevant records and reasons for impositions of penalty do not prima facie appear in the order.

8. Rule 12 of the Rules mandates the appellate authority to pass such orders as mentioned in Clauses (a) to (d) of Rule 13 of these Rules, in the appeal as he thinks proper after considering:-

(a) Whether the facts on which the order was based have been established,

(b) Whether the facts established afford sufficient ground for taking action; and

(c) Whether the penalty is excessive, adequate or inadequate.

9. Perusal of the order of the appellate authority dated 12.5.2016 prima facie reveals that not a single word has been mentioned in it in terms of the mandate of Rule 12 of the Rules as aforenoted. The order is apparently non speaking and contains no reason for conclusions and has been passed mechanically.

10. In the case of Omar Salay Mohd. Sait Vs. Commissioner of Income Tax, Madras, AIR 1959 SC 1238, Hon'ble Supreme Court held in para 42 as under :

"42. We are aware that the Income-tax Appellate Tribunal is a fact finding Tribunal and if it arrives at its own conclusions of fact after due consideration of the evidence before it this court will not interfere. It is necessary, however, that every fact for and against the assessee must have been considered with due care and the Tribunal must have given its finding in a manner which would clearly indicate what were the questions which arose for determination, what was the evidence pro and contra in regard to each one of them and what were the findings reached on the evidence on record before it*. The conclusions reached by the Tribunal should not be coloured by any irrelevant considerations or matters of prejudice and if there are any circumstances which required to be explained by the assessee, the assessee should be given an opportunity of doing so.* On no account whatever should the Tribunal base its findings on suspicions, conjectures or surmises nor should it act on no evidence at all or on improper rejection of material and relevant evidence or partly on evidence and partly on suspicions, conjectures or surmises and if it does anything of the sort, its findings, even though on questions of fact, will be liable to be set aside by this court."

(Emphasis supplied by me)

11. In the case of Udhav Das Kewat Ram Vs. CIT 1967 (66) ITR 462, Hon'ble Supreme Court held that Tribunal must consider with due care all material facts and record its findings on all contentions raised before it and the relevant law.

12. An order without valid reasons cannot be sustained. To give reasons is the rule of natural justice. Highlighting this rule, Hon'ble Supreme Court held in the case of The Secretary & Curator, Victoria Memorial v. Howrah Ganatantrik Nagrik Samity and ors., JT 2010(2)SC 566 para 31 to 33 as under :

"31. It is a settled legal proposition that not only administrative but also judicial order must be supported by reasons, recorded in it. Thus, while deciding an issue, the Court is bound to give reasons for its conclusion. It is the duty and obligation on the part of the Court to record reasons while disposing of the case. The hallmark of an order and exercise of judicial power by a judicial forum is to disclose its reasons by itself and giving of reasons has always been insisted upon as one of the fundamentals of sound administration justice - delivery system, to make known that there had been proper and due application of mind to the issue before the Court and also as an essential requisite of principles of natural justice. The giving of reasons for a decision is an essential attribute of judicial and judicious disposal of a matter before Courts, and which is the only indication to know about the manner and quality of exercise undertaken, as also the fact that the Court concerned had really applied its mind. " [Vide State of Orissa Vs. Dhaniram Luhar (JT 2004(2) SC 172 and State of Rajasthan Vs. Sohan Lal & Ors. JT 2004 (5) SCC 338:2004 (5) SCC 573].

32. Reason is the heartbeat of every conclusion. It introduces clarity in an order and without the same, it becomes lifeless. Reasons substitute subjectivity by objectivity. Absence of reasons renders the order indefensible/unsustainable particularly when the order is subject to further challenge before a higher forum. [Vide Raj Kishore Jha Vs. State of Bihar & Ors. AIR 2003 SC 4664; Vishnu Dev Sharma Vs. State of Uttar Pradesh & Ors. (2008) 3 SCC 172; Steel Authority of India Ltd. Vs. Sales Tax Officer, Rourkela I Circle & Ors. In State of Punjab and Ors. v. Surinder Kumar (1992) 1 SCC 489, while noticing the jurisdictional distinction between Article 142 and Article 226 of the Constitution of India, the Supreme Court stated that powers of the Supreme Court under Article 142 are much wider and the Supreme Court would pass orders to do complete justice. The Supreme Court further reiterated the principle with approval that the High Court has the jurisdiction to dismiss petitions or criminal revisions in limine or grant leave asked for by the petitioner but for adequate reasons which should be recorded in the order. The High Court may not pass cryptic order in relation to regularisation of service of the respondents in view of certain directions passed by the Supreme Court under Article 142 of the Constitution of India. Absence of reasoning did not find favour with the Supreme Court. The Supreme Court also stated the principle that powers of the High Court were circumscribed by limitations discussed and declared by judicial decision and it cannot transgress the limits on the basis of whims or subjective opinion varying from Judge to Judge.

13. In Hindustan Times Ltd. v. Union of India (1998) 2 SCC 242, the Supreme Court while dealing with the cases under the Labour Laws and Employees' Provident Funds and Miscellaneous Provisions Act, 1952 observed that even when the petition under Article 226 is dismissed in limini, it is expected of the High Court to pass a speaking order, may be briefly.

14. Consistent with the view expressed by the Supreme Court in the aforereferred cases, in State of U.P. v. Battan and Ors.(2001) 10 SCC 607, the Supreme Court held as under:(SCC p.608, para 4)

'4.The High Court has not given any reasons for refusing to grant leave to file appeal against acquittal. ...The manner in which appeal against acquittal has been dealt with by the High Court leaves much to be desired. Reasons introduce clarity in an order. On plainest consideration of justice, the High Court ought to have set forth its reasons, howsoever brief, in its order. The absence of reasons has rendered the High Court order not sustainable."

15. Similar view was also taken by the Supreme Court in the case of Raj Kishore Jha v. State of Bihar and Ors. JT 2003 Supp(2) SC 354.

16. In a very recent judgment, the Supreme Court in State of Orissa v. Dhaniram Luhar (2004) 5 SCC 568 while dealing with the criminal appeal, insisted that the reasons in support of the decision was a cardinal principle and the High Court should record its reasons while disposing of the matter. The Court held as under: (SDC p. 572, para 8)

'8. Even in respect of administrative orders Lord Denning, M.R. In Breen v. Amalgamated Engg. Union, (1971)2 QB 175, observed:(QB p.191 C)

"The giving of reasons is one of the fundamentals of good administration." In Alexander Machinery (Dudley) Ltd. v. Crabtree it was observed: "Failure to give reasons amounts to denial of justice." "Reasons are live links between the mind of the decision-taker to the controversy in question and the decision or conclusion arrived at." Reasons substitute subjectivity by objectivity. The emphasis on recording reasons is that if the decision reveals the "inscrutable face of the sphinx", it can, by its silence, render it virtually impossible for the Courts to perform their appellate function or exercise the power of judicial review in adjudging the validity of the decision. Right to reason is an indispensable part of a sound judicial system; reasons at least sufficient to indicate an application of mind to the matter before Court. Another rationale is that the affected party can know why the decision has gone against him. One of the salutary requirements of natural justice is spelling out reasons for the order made; in other words, a speaking-out. The "inscrutable face of the sphinx" is ordinarily incongruous with a judicial or quasi-judicial performance."

17. Following this very view, the Supreme Court in another very recent judgment delivered on 22-2-2008, in State of Rajasthan v. Rajendra Prasad Jain, (2008)15 SSC 711 stated that 'reason is the heartbeat of every conclusion, and without the same it becomes lifeless.'

18. Providing of reasons in orders is of essence in judicial proceedings. Every litigant who approaches the Court with a prayer is entitled to know the reasons for acceptance or rejection of such request*. Either of the parties to the lis has a right of appeal and, therefore, it is essential for them to know the considered opinion of the Court to make the remedy of appeal* meaningful. It is the reasoning which ultimately culminates into final decision which may be subject to examination of the appellate or other higher Courts. It is not only desirable but, in view of the consistent position of law, mandatory for the Court to pass orders while recording reasons in support thereof, however, brief they may be*. Brevity in reasoning cannot be understood in legal parlance as absence of reasons. While no reasoning in support of judicial orders is impermissible, the brief reasoning would suffice to meet the ends of justice at least at the interlocutory stages and would render the remedy of appeal purposeful and meaningful. It is a settled canon of legal jurisprudence that the Courts are vested with discretionary powers but such powers are to be exercised judiciously, equitably and in consonance with the settled principles of law.* Whether or not, such judicial discretion has been exercised in accordance with the accepted norms, can only be reflected by the reasons recorded in the order impugned before the higher Court. Often it is said that absence of reasoning may ipso facto indicate whimsical exercise of judicial discretion. Patricia Wald, Chief Justice of the D.C. Circuit Court of Appeals in the Article, "The problem with the Courts: Black-robed Bureaucracy Or Collegiality Under Challenge" 42 Md.L. Rev. 766, 782 (1983), observed as under:-

'My own guiding principle is that virtually every appellate decision requires some statement of reasons. The discipline of writing even a few sentences or paragraphs explaining the basis for the judgment insures a level of thought and scrutiny by the Court that a bare signal of affirmance, dismissal, or reversal does not.'

19. The Court cannot lose sight of the fact that a losing litigant has a cause to plead and a right to challenge the order if it is adverse to him. Opinion of the Court alone can explain the cause which led to passing of the final order. Whether an argument was rejected validly or otherwise, reasoning of the order alone can show. To evaluate the submissions is obligation of the Court and to know the reasons for rejection of its contention is a legitimate expectation on the part of the litigant*. Another facet of providing reasoning is to give it a value of precedent which can help in reduction of frivolous litigation. Paul D. Carrington, Daniel J Meador and Maurice Rosenburg, Justice on Appeal 10 (West 1976), observed as under:-*

*'When reasons are announced and can be weighed, the public can have assurance that the correcting process is working. Announcing reasons can also provide public understanding of how the numerous decisions of the system are integrated. In a busy Court, the reasons are an essential demonstration that the Court did in fact fix its mind on the case at hand.* An unreasoned decision has very little claim to acceptance by the defeated party, and is difficult or impossible to accept as an act reflecting systematic application of legal principles*. Moreover, the necessity of stating reasons not infrequently changes the results by forcing the judges to come to grips with nettlesome facts or issues which their normal instincts would otherwise cause them to avoid.'*

20. The reasoning in the opinion of the Court, thus, can effectively be analysed or scrutinized by the Appellate Court. The reasons indicated by the Court could be accepted by the Appellate Court without presuming what weighed with the Court while coming to the impugned decision. The cause of expeditious and effective disposal would be furthered by such an approach. A right of appeal could be created by a special statute or under the provisions of the Code governing the procedure. In either of them, absence of reasoning may have the effect of negating the purpose or right of appeal and, thus, may not achieve the ends of justice.

21. It will be useful to refer words of Justice Roslyn Atkinson, Supreme Court of Queensland, at AIJA Conference at Brisbane on 13-9-2002 in relation to Judgment Writing. Describing that some judgment could be complex, in distinction to routine judgments, where one requires deeper thoughts, and the other could be disposed of easily but in either cases, reasons they must have. While speaking about purpose of the judgment, he said, 'The first matter to consider is the purpose of the judgment. To my mind there are four purposes for any judgment that is written: -

(1) to clarify your own thoughts;

(2) to explain your decision to the parties;

(3) to communicate the reasons for the decision to the public; and (4) to provide reasons for an appeal Court to consider.'

22. Clarity of thought leads to proper reasoning and proper reasoning is the foundation of a just and fair decision. In Alexander Machinery (Dudley) Ltd. v. Crabtree 1974 ICR 120 (NIRC), the Court went to the extent of observing that 'Failure to give reasons amounts to denial of justice'. Reasons are really linchpin to administration of justice. They are the link between the mind of the decision-taker and the controversy in question. To justify our conclusion, reasons are essential. Absence of reasoning would render the judicial order liable to interference by the higher court. Reasons are the soul of the decision and its absence would render the order open to judicial chastism. The consistent judicial opinion is that every order determining rights of the parties in a Court of law ought not to be recorded without supportive reasons. Issuing reasoned order is not only beneficial to the higher courts but is even of great utility for providing public understanding of law and imposing self- discipline in the Judge as their discretion is controlled by well- established norms. The contention raised before us that absence of reasoning in the impugned order would render the order liable to be set aside, particularly, in face of the fact that the learned Judge found merit in the writ petition and issued rule, therefore, needs to be accepted. We have already noticed that orders even at interlocutory stages may not be as detailed as judgments but should be supported by reason howsoever briefly stated. Absence of reasoning is impermissible in judicial pronouncement. It cannot be disputed that the order in question substantially affect the rights of the parties. There is an award in favour of the workmen and the management had prayed for stay of the operation of the award.

The Court has to consider such a plea keeping in view the provisions of Section 17-B of the Industrial Disputes Act, where such a prayer is neither impermissible nor improper. The contentions raised by the parties in support of their respective claims are expected to be dealt with by reasoned orders. We are not intentionally expressing any opinion on the merits of the contentions alleged to have been raised by respective parties before the learned single Judge. Suffice it to note that the impugned order is silent in this regard. According to the learned Counsel appearing for the appellant, various contentions were raised in support of the reliefs claimed but all apparently, have found no favour with the learned Judge and that too for no reasons, as is demonstrated from the order impugned in the present appeals."

24. Reason is the very life of law. When the reason of a law once ceases, the law itself generally ceases (Wharton's Law Lexicon). Such is the significance of reasoning in any rule of law. Giving reasons furthers the cause of justice as well as avoids uncertainty. As a matter of fact it helps in the observance of law of precedent. Absence of reasons on the contrary essentially introduces an element of uncertainty, dissatisfaction and give entirely different dimensions to the questions of law raised before the higher/appellate courts. In our view, the court should provide its own grounds and reasons for rejecting claim/prayer of a party whether at the very threshold i.e. at admission stage or after regular hearing, howsoever concise they may be.

25. We would reiterate the principle that when reasons are announced and can be weighed, the public can have assurance that process of correction is in place and working. It is the requirement of law that correction process of judgments should not only appear to be implemented but also seem to have been properly implemented. Reasons for an order would ensure and enhance public confidence and would provide due satisfaction to the consumer of justice under our justice dispensation system. It may not be very correct in law to say, that there is a qualified duty imposed upon the Courts to record reasons.

26.Our procedural law and the established practice, in fact, imposes unqualified obligation upon the Courts to record reasons. There is hardly any statutory provision under the Income Tax Act or under the Constitution itself requiring recording of reasons in the judgments but it is no more res integra and stands unequivocally settled by different judgments of this Court holding that, the courts and tribunals are required to pass reasoned judgments/orders. In fact, Order 14 Rule 2 read with Order 20 Rule 1 of the Code of Civil Procedure requires that, the Court should record findings on each issue and such findings which obviously should be reasoned would form part of the judgment, which in turn would be the basis for writing a decree of the Court.

27. By practice adopted in all Courts and by virtue of judge-made law, the concept of reasoned judgment has become an indispensable part of basic rule of law and, in fact, is a mandatory requirement of the procedural law. Clarity of thoughts leads to clarity of vision and proper reasoning is the foundation of a just and fair decision*. In Alexander Machinery (Dudley) Ltd. v. Crabtree, 1974 ICR 120(NIRC), there are apt observations in this regard to say "failure to give reasons amounts to denial of justice". Reasons are the real live links to the administration of justice. With respect we will contribute to this view.* There is a rationale, logic and purpose behind a reasoned judgment. A reasoned judgment is primarily written to clarify own thoughts; communicate the reasons for the decision to the concerned and to provide and ensure that such reasons can be appropriately considered by the appellate/higher court. Absence of reasons thus would lead to frustrate the very object stated hereinabove."

15. The appellate authority is under the statutory obligation under Rule 12 of the Rules to consider with due care every fact for and against the delinquent employee and to record its finding in a manner which would clearly indicate as to whether the facts on which the order was passed have been established? Whether the facts so established afford sufficient ground for taking action? and whether penalty is excessive, adequate or inadequate? Absence of the findings to disclose reasons in an appellate order in the manner indicated above renders the order to be indefensible/unsustainable.

16. Reason is the heart beat of every conclusion. In the absence of reasons the order becomes lifeless. Non recording of reasons renders the order to be violative of principles of natural justice. Reasons ensures transparency and fairness in decision making. It enables litigant to know reasons for acceptance or rejection of his prayer. It is statutory requirement of natural justice under Rule 12 of the Rules Reasons are really linchpin to administration of justice. It is link between the mind of the decision taker and the controversy in question. Thus failure to give reasons amounts to denial of justice.

16. Aforenoted observations have been made merely for the purpose that the concerned authorities should properly discharge their function entrusted to them by law.

17. The petitioner has already filed a revision which is pending and as such I do not feel it proper to pass any order at this stage on the merits of the case.

18. In view of the aforesaid and with the consent of learned counsel for the parties this writ petition is disposed of with the direction to the respondent no.6 to decide the revision of the petitioner strictly in accordance with law by a speaking and reasoned order within two months from the date of production of a certified copy of this order. Considering the peculiar facts of the case as aforenoted and in the interest of justice it is provided that till the Revision is decided no recovery shall be made from the petitioner pursuant to the impugned orders.

Counsel for Respondents:
C.S.C., A.S.G.I.

FACTS

The petitioner, working as a Postal Assistant in the Department of Posts, challenged a charge sheet dated 6.5.2016 issued to him under Rule 14 of the Central Civil Services (Classification, Control & Appeal) Rules, 1965, by filing Original Application No. 1135 of 2016 before the Central Administrative Tribunal, Allahabad. The charge against the petitioner was that the caste (Scheduled Tribe — Meena) certificate dated 20.8.1981, on the basis of which he had obtained appointment, had been cancelled by order dated 25.11.2010 after an enquiry revealed that he was never a resident of village Gahlawata, District Alwar, as represented, but was in fact a permanent resident of village Khushalpur, Tehsil Bilsi, District Budaun — thus charging him with procuring appointment on the basis of false information.

The petitioner sought interim relief before the Tribunal for stay of the disciplinary proceedings pending the charge sheet, which was rejected by the impugned order dated 9.9.2016, with the next date fixed as 27.9.2016. It was pointed out on behalf of the petitioner that he had instituted Civil Suit No. 7 of 2011 before the Civil Judge (Junior Division), Laxmangarh, District Alwar, challenging the cancellation of his caste certificate, and that the Rajasthan High Court, in a writ petition arising from interim injunction proceedings in that suit, had directed the civil suit to be decided within 12 months. On this basis, it was contended that since the validity of the caste certificate cancellation was sub judice, the disciplinary proceedings ought to be stayed, relying on the Supreme Court's decision in M/s Stanzen Toyotetsu India (P) Ltd. v. Girish V & Others.

ISSUES FOR CONSIDERATION

(i) Whether the pendency of a civil suit instituted by the petitioner challenging the cancellation of his caste certificate warranted a stay of the departmental disciplinary proceedings initiated against him on the basis of that cancellation.

(ii) Whether the principles governing stay of disciplinary proceedings pending a criminal trial — to avoid prejudice to the employee's defence — apply with equal force to a pending civil suit instituted by the employee himself.

(iii) Whether the Tribunal was justified in declining interim relief and directing the disciplinary proceedings to continue.

HELD

The Court held that it is well settled that departmental and criminal proceedings can proceed simultaneously, and a stay of disciplinary proceedings pending a criminal trial is warranted only where both are founded on the same set of facts and evidence, such that disclosure of the employee's defence in the departmental proceedings before the prosecution has led its evidence in the criminal trial would cause serious prejudice — and even this bar is not absolute, as unduly delayed criminal proceedings do not justify indefinite stay of the disciplinary proceedings, relying on the principles laid down by the Supreme Court in Divisional Controller, KSRTC v. M.G. Vittal Rao and Capt. M. Paul Anthony v. Bharat Gold Mines Ltd., as considered in Stanzen Toyotetsu India (P) Ltd. v. Girish V & Others.

The Court held that these principles, evolved in the context of criminal prosecutions — which serve a different purpose from disciplinary proceedings and are governed by a different standard of proof — could not be extended to a civil suit, more so one instituted by the petitioner himself, since no comparable risk of prejudicial disclosure of defence arises in such a suit. The Court noted that the interim stay initially granted in the civil suit had been set aside in appeal, that the only direction from the Rajasthan High Court was for expeditious disposal of the suit within 12 months (a period about to expire), and that the petitioner had not placed the plaint or the current status of the suit on record. In these circumstances, the Tribunal was correct in holding that it was not in the interest of justice to stay the disciplinary proceedings pending an uncertain and undisclosed timeline for conclusion of the civil suit.

RESULT

Writ petition disposed of without interfering with the impugned order of the Tribunal declining interim relief. The second respondent was directed to conclude the pending disciplinary proceedings against the petitioner expeditiously, provided the petitioner cooperates in the same.

CASE REFFERED

M/s Stanzen Toyotetsu India P. Ltd. Vs. Girish V & others3 .
Divisional Controller, Karnataka State Road Transport Corporation Vs. M.G. Vittal Rao4 , Capt. M. Paul Anthony Vs. Bharat Gold Mines Ltd.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Dilip Gupta, J.)
Hon'ble Manoj Kumar Gupta, J.)

1. The petitioner, who is working as Postal Assistant in the Department of Posts, challenged the charge sheet dated 6.5.2016 issued to him by the department under Rule 14 of the Central Civil Services (Classification, Control & Appeal) Rules, 19651 by filing Original Application No.1135 of 2016 before the Central Administrative Tribunal, Allahabad2. The main charge against the petitioner was that the caste certificate dated 20 August 1981 issued by Tehsildar, Lakshmangarh, district Alwar, Rajasthan certifying that the petitioner belongs to the scheduled tribe (Meena) had been cancelled by order dated 25 November 2010. The cancellation was effected after holding an enquiry in which it transpired that the petitioner had never been a resident of village Gahlawata, District Alwar as represented by him while obtaining the caste certificate. He was found to be a permanent resident of village Khushalpur, Tehsil Bilsi, District Budaun. He has thus been charged of procuring appointment by furnishing wrong information.

2. Before the Tribunal, the petitioner also made a prayer for grant of interim relief for staying the proceedings in pursuance of the impugned charge sheet. However, by the impugned order dated 9 September 2016, the prayer for interim relief has been rejected fixing 27 September 2016 as the next date in the main case.

3. It is pointed out by learned counsel for the petitioner that the petitioner has instituted Civil Suit No.7 of 2011 before the Civil Judge (Junior Division) Laxmangarh, district Alwar challenging the orders passed by the authorities cancelling the caste certificate dated 20 August 1981. It is further pointed out that in a writ petition filed by the petitioner before the Rajasthan High Court arising out of proceedings for grant of interim injunction, a direction was issued to the Civil Court to decide the proceedings of the suit within a period of 12 months. It is urged that since the issue relating to the validity of the orders cancelling the caste certificate is res integra and thus, the disciplinary proceedings initiated against the petitioner with the issuance of the impugned charge sheet, deserves to be stayed. In support of the said contention, learned counsel for the petitioner has placed reliance on a decision of the Supreme Court in the case of M/s Stanzen Toyotetsu India P. Ltd. Vs. Girish V & others3.

4. On the other hand, learned counsel for the Union of India vehemently opposed the submissions made by learned counsel for the petitioner and submitted that the Tribunal rightly did not grant any interim relief to the petitioner.

5. In the case cited on behalf of the petitioner, the issue before the Supreme Court was whether the disciplinary proceedings initiated by the appellant Company against its employees should remain stayed pending conclusion of criminal case in respect of the same incident. The Supreme Court placed reliance on its earlier decision in Divisional Controller, Karnataka State Road Transport Corporation Vs. M.G. Vittal Rao4, wherein the following principles have been laid down:-

"(i) There is no legal bar for both proceedings to go on simultaneously.

(ii) The only valid ground for claiming that the disciplinary proceedings may be stayed would be to ensure that the defence of the employee in the criminal case may not be prejudiced. But even such grounds would be available only in cases involving complex questions of facts and law.

(iii) Such defence ought not to be permitted to unnecessarily delay the departmental proceedings. The interest of the delinquent officer as well as the employer clearly lies in a prompt conclusion of the disciplinary proceedings.

(iv) Departmental Proceedings can go on simultaneously to the criminal trial, except where both the proceedings are based on the same set of facts and the evidence in both the proceedings is common."

6. The Supreme Court also referred to the broad principles laid down in Capt. M. Paul Anthony Vs. Bharat Gold Mines Ltd.5, which are as follows :-

"(i) Departmental proceedings and proceedings in a criminal case can proceed simultaneously as there is no bar in their being conducted simultaneously, though separately.

(ii) If the departmental proceedings and the criminal case are based on identical and similar set of facts and the charge in the criminal case against the delinquent employee is of a grave nature which involves complicated questions of law and fact, it would be desirable to stay the departmental proceedings till the conclusion of the criminal case.

(iii) Whether the nature of a charge in a criminal case is grave and whether complicated questions of fact and law are involved in that case, will depend upon the nature of offence, the nature of the case launched against the employee on the basis of evidence and material collected against him during investigation or as reflected in the charge sheet.

(iv) The factors mentioned at (ii) and (iii) above cannot be considered in isolation to stay the Departmental proceedings but due regard has to be given to the fact that the depart-mental proceedings cannot be unduly delayed.

(v) If the criminal case does not proceed or its disposal is being unduly delayed, the departmental proceedings, even if they were stayed on account of the pendency of the criminal case, can be resumed and proceeded with so as to conclude them at an early date, so that if the employee is found not guilty his honor may be vindicated and in case he is found guilty, administration may get rid of him at the earliest."

7. After considering the aforesaid broad principles, the Supreme Court in that particular case was of the opinion that the courts below before whom suit was instituted for restraining the disciplinary authorities from proceeding further with the disciplinary enquiry having exercised their discretion in favour of the employee, it would not be proper to interfere with their discretion. The appeals were disposed of by directing that criminal proceedings be concluded expeditiously. It has further been provided that in case criminal trial is not concluded within one year despite the efforts by the trial court, the disciplinary proceedings shall be resumed and the enquiry concluded.

8. It is now well settled that departmental proceedings and proceedings in a criminal case can proceed simultaneously. The main consideration for deciding whether disciplinary proceedings should be continued or not during the pendency of criminal trial is based on ascertainment of the fact as to whether the defence of the employee in the criminal case is likely to be prejudiced if the departmental proceedings are permitted to continue. If both the proceedings are based on the same set of facts and the evidence, the disclosure of the defence by the delinquent in the disciplinary proceedings, even before the prosecution has led evidence in the criminal case may cause serious prejudice to him. Even there, the bar is not absolute. In case the proceedings of the criminal trial are being unduly delayed, the disciplinary proceedings, if lying stayed, could be resumed and concluded. It is for the reason that the criminal prosecution is launched for alleged violation of a duty that the offender owes to the society whereas the departmental enquiry is aimed at maintaining discipline and efficiency in service. The difference in the standard of proof and the application of the rules of evidence to one and inapplicability to the other distinguishes the one from the other. Conceptually, these two proceedings operate in different spheres and are intended to serve distinctly different purposes. In the instant case, indisputably, no criminal proceedings are pending against the petitioner. On the other hand, the petitioner has instituted the civil suit in question. The copy of the plaint has not been brought on record and thus, it is not clear as to what relief has been sought in the suit. However, according to learned counsel for the petitioner, the relief claimed in the suit is for cancellation of the order by which caste certificate dated 20 August 1981 has been cancelled. Be that as it may, it is not disputed that in the civil suit though initially a stay order was passed in favour of the petitioner but it was set aside in appeal filed by the defendant to the suit. Even in the writ petition, filed by the petitioner before the High Court of Rajasthan, the only direction issued was for deciding the suit within a period of 12 months. A period of one year is about to expire since the date of issuance of the direction by the High Court. The petitioner has also not disclosed the status of the civil suit. The Tribunal having regard to these facts has rightly observed that it is not certain when the proceedings of the suit would conclude and it would not be in the interest of justice to stay the disciplinary proceedings until the suit is decided.

9. Having regard to the facts noted above, we do not find any illegality in the view taken by the Tribunal which may warrant interference by this Court. As noted above, pendency of the civil suit cannot be equated with criminal proceedings, where in certain cases, disciplinary proceedings are stayed to prevent prejudice being caused to the employee in disclosing his defence before the disciplinary authorities even before the prosecution has led its evidence in the criminal trial. Concededly, no such contingency is likely to occur in a civil suit, that too, instituted by the petitioner himself.

10. At this stage, learned counsel for the petitioner submitted that the disciplinary authority be directed to conclude the disciplinary proceedings expeditiously, to which learned counsel appearing on behalf of respondents no.1 and 2 does not have any objection.

11. Accordingly, without interfering with the impugned order, this writ petition is disposed of with direction to the second respondent to conclude the disciplinary proceedings pending against the petitioner expeditiously provided he cooperates in the same.

12. The petition is, accordingly, disposed of.

Counsel for Respondents:
C.S.C., A.S.G.I.

FACTS

The petitioner, proprietor of a concern that constructed a residential building known as 'Neelkanth Apartment' at Navapura, Daranagar, Varanasi, challenged an assessment order dated 31.5.2016 passed by the Assessing Officer & Deputy Labour Commissioner, Varanasi, under Rule 7(5) of the Building and Other Construction Workers Welfare Cess Rules, 1998, assessing cess of Rs. 2,92,328/- at 1% of the construction cost, along with the consequential order dated 26.8.2016 rejecting his representation dated 19.8.2016. The petitioner also challenged Notifications dated 20.11.2009 and 15.9.2010, issued by the State of U.P. under Rules 2(f) and 2(g) of the Cess Rules, 1998, appointing various categories of officers — including District Magistrates and, in specified cases, the Regional Additional/Deputy/Assistant Labour Commissioners — as 'Assessing Officer' and 'Cess Collector' for assessment and collection of cess under the Building and Other Construction Workers Welfare Cess Act, 1996.

It was contended on behalf of the petitioner that the entire proceedings were without jurisdiction, since the State Government had no authority to appoint an Assessing Officer or Cess Collector. The respondents contended that the assessment was validly made in exercise of powers under Rule 2(g) of the Cess Rules, 1998, and that a statutory remedy of appeal against the assessment was available under Rule 14, rendering the writ petition premature.

ISSUES FOR CONSIDERATION

(i) Whether the State Government had the authority under the Building and Other Construction Workers Welfare Cess Act, 1996 and the Rules framed thereunder to appoint Assessing Officers and Cess Collectors, including through the Notifications dated 20.11.2009 and 15.9.2010.

(ii) Whether the impugned assessment order dated 31.5.2016 and the order dated 26.8.2016 rejecting the petitioner's representation were without jurisdiction.

(iii) Whether, in view of the availability of a statutory appellate remedy under Rule 14 of the Cess Rules, 1998, the writ petition was maintainable.

HELD

The Court held that the Notifications dated 20.11.2009 and 15.9.2010 were issued in valid exercise of the powers conferred under Rules 2(f) and 2(g) of the Building and Other Construction Workers Welfare Cess Rules, 1998, read with Section 5 of the Cess Act, 1996 and Rule 7 of the Rules, appointing District Magistrates and other specified officers as Assessing Officers and Cess Collectors within their respective jurisdictions for assessment and collection of cess on building and other construction work, including private residential buildings with construction cost of Rs. 10 lakh and above. The contention that the State Government lacked authority to make such appointments was found unsustainable on a plain reading of the statutory scheme.

The Court further noted that the constitutionality of the Cess Act and Rules had already been upheld by the Delhi High Court in Builders Association of India v. Union of India, 2007 SCC OnLine Del 327, and by the Supreme Court in Deewan Chandra Builders and Contractors v. Union of India, (2012) 1 SCC 101, where the levy was held to be a fee and not a tax. Reliance was also placed on A. Prabhakara Reddy & Co. v. State of Madhya Pradesh, (2016) 1 SCC 600, where the Supreme Court held that the Cess Act and the parent BOCW Act are beneficial welfare legislations for construction workers, that the levy of cess is not conditional upon prior registration of workers or crediting of the welfare fund, and that such welfare measures should not be defeated by technical objections to the timing or mode of assessment.

Since the notifications appointing the Assessing Officer and Cess Collector were held valid and the assessment was accordingly not without jurisdiction, and since a statutory remedy of appeal with wide powers was available under Rule 14 of the Cess Rules, 1998, the Court held that the petitioner ought to avail that alternative remedy rather than invoke writ jurisdiction.

RESULT

Writ petition dismissed on the ground of availability of alternative statutory remedy of appeal under Rule 14 of the Building and Other Construction Workers Welfare Cess Rules, 1998.

Petitioner has stated that proceedings for assessment of cess under Rule 7 (5) of Building and Other Construction Workers Welfare Cess Rules, 1998 was initiated on 31.5.2016 and assessment to the tune of Rs. 2,92,328/- cess was assessed at the rate of 1% over the construction cost. The relevant extract of the said impugned order is quoted below;

"अतएवं भवन एवं अन्य सन्निर्माण कर्मकार उपकर अधिनियम, 1996 तत्सम्बंधी नियमावली, 1988 के नियम 7 (5) के अन्तर्गत प्रदत्त शक्तियों का प्रयोग करते हुए एकपक्षीय आधार पर श्री अशोक कुमार लोहिया सी 33/2 चन्दुआ सट्टी, भारत माता मन्दिर, वाराणसी द्वारा 57/21 डी०ए०बी० रोड, दारानगर, वाराणसी में (काशी गोमती संयुक्त ग्रामीण बैंक के बगल में) कराये गये व्यावसायिक आवासीय नीलकण्ठ अपार्टमेन्ट के निर्माण पर उपरोक्त निर्माण लागत का 01 प्रतिशत रू0 2,92,328/- (रू० दो लाख बानबे हजार तीन सौ अट्ठाईस) मात्र उपकर निर्धारित किया जाता है।

3. Petitioner, thereafter, represented the matter and same has been rejected. Petitioner is contending before this Court that the entire proceedings, so undertaken, are unjustifiable and, accordingly, requisite relief be accorded to him.

4. Learned counsel for the petitioner has contended before us that the entire proceedings, so initiated, are totally without jurisdiction and not at all subscribed under law and, as such, this Court should come to rescue and reprieve of the petitioner.

5. Learned Standing Counsel, on the other hand, has contended that rightful assessment has been made by the Assessing Officer and Cess Collector under exercise of power conferred under Rule 2 (g) of Building and Other Construction Workers Welfare Cess Rules, 1998 and against the said assessment there is remedy of appeal provided for, as such, no interference be made by this Court and writ petition is liable to be dismissed.

6. Parliament in the year 1996 enacted following two Acts, whose preamble are given below under the name of the Act;

(i) Building & other Construction Workers (Regulation of Employment & Condition of Service) Act, 1996 (hereinafter referred to as BOCW Act of 1996) (Main Act). The Governor, State of U.P., framed rules in exercise of power u/s 62 read with Section 40, which is known as U.P. 7. The purpose of BOCW Cess Act, 1996 is to create resources of "Building and Other Construction Workers Welfare Board constituted under the BOCW Act, 1996. Thus BOCW Cess Act, 1996, is complementary to BOCW Act, 1996. 8. As per Section 1 (4) of the BOCW Act of 1996, the Act applies to every establishments which employs or had employed on any day of preceding 12 months 10 or more workers I any 'Building or other Construction Work'. Section 3 of BOCW Cess Act, 1996 says that cess shall be collected for the purposes of BOCW Act of 1996 at a rate not exceeding 2% but not less than 1% of the cost of construction. Rule 14 of Building & Other Construction Workers Cess Act, 1996 is reproduced below;

(f) the authority to which an appeal may be filed under sub-section (1) of section 11 and the time within which and the form and manner in which such appeal may be filed;

(g) the fees which shall accompany an appeal under sub-section (2) of section 11; and

(h) any other matter which has to be, or may be, prescribed."

Building & Other Construction Workers Welfare Cess Rules, 1998

"Rule 2 (f) "Cess Collector" means an officer appointed by the State Government for collection of cess under the Act;

Rule 2 (g) "Assessing Officer" means a gazetted officer of a State Government or an officer of a local authority holding an equivalent post to a gazetted officer of the State Government appointed by such State Government for assessment of Cess under the Act;"

9. By means of notification dated 20.11.2009 in exercise of the powers conferred under Sub-rules (f) and (g) of Building and Other Construction Workers Welfare Cess Rules, 1998 and with a view to perform the duties and responsibilities as envisaged under Section 5 of Building and Other Construction Workers Welfare Cess Act, 1996 read with Rule 7 of the rules, the Governor has appointed officers mentioned in Column 2 for their respective jurisdiction mentioned in Column 3 to be 'Assessing Officer' and 'Cess Collector' as mentioned in Columns 4 and 5 of the Schedule mentioned hereinunder for purposes of assessment of Cess and collection thereof, in respect of all Building and Other Construction Work completed or being carried out by Government, Semi Government, Agencies, Corporations, Co-operative Societies, Private Agencies, Companies, Firms or Construction Agencies and also owners of such Private Residential Buildings with total construction cost of Rs. 10 lakhs and above, as envisaged under Building and Other Construction Workers Welfare Cess Act, 1996 (Act 28 of 1996).

16	Zila Basic Shiksha Adhikari	All construction works undertaken either directly or within their control within the area of their local jurisdiction	Cess Assessment Officer	Cess Collector

14. The abovementioned officers have been made fully responsible for assessment and collection of cess under Building and Other Construction Workers Welfare Cess Act, 1996 (Act No. 28 of 1996) and Building and Other Construction Workers Welfare Cess Rules, 1998. The cess, so collected, has to be deposited within 30 days of cess collection in the account of "the U.P. Building and Other Construction Workers Welfare Board."

15. The abovesaid officers, for the purpose of assessment of cess, are obligated to follow the same procedures, guidelines, directions and standards as are already applicable in their respective department with the approval of State Government and, in case, in any department such approved procedure, guidelines, directions and standards are not available, then in that case, recourse has to be taken to such approved procedure, guidelines and directions as are already in practice in similar matters in any other department of Government for the purposes of assessment of cess.

16. The Regional Additional/Deputy Assistant Labour Commissioners of the Department of Labour, who are appointed Assessment Officers and Cess Collectors as hereinabove, in their respective territorial jurisdiction, are obligated to closely monitor the assessment of cess and collection thereof with a view to their effective implementation and shall also, in case for want of clarity, provide clarifications to officers of their Department as and when required.

17. A bare perusal of the notification would go to show that in exercise of the powers conferred under Sub-rules (f) and (g) of Building and Other Construction Workers Welfare Cess Rules, 1998 and with a view to perform the duties and responsibilities as envisaged under Section 5 of Building and Other Construction Workers Welfare Cess Act, 1996 read with Rule 7 of the rules, the Governor has been pleased to appoint officers mentioned in Column 2 for their respective jurisdiction mentioned in Column 3 to be Assessing Officer and Cess Collector as mentioned in Columns 4 and 5 of the schedule mentioned hereinunder for the purposes of assessment of cess and collection thereof, in respect of all

Building and Other Construction Work completed or being carried out by Government, Semi Government, Agencies, Corporations, Co-operative Societies, Private Agencies, Companies, Firms or Construction Agencies and also owners of such Private Residential Buildings with total construction cost of Rs. 10 lakhs and above, as envisaged under Building and Other Construction Workers Welfare Cess Act, 1996. Once in exercise of such an authority Assessing Officer and Cess Collectors have been appointed, then the averments mentioned by the petitioner that there is no authority conferred upon State Government to appoint Assessing Officer or Cess Collectors is unjustifiable. The authority in question under which such arrangements have been made is clearly referable to the provisions quoted, in view of this, the arguments, that have been so advanced, that Assessing Officer has been wrongly nominated by the State Government, cannot be accepted by us.

18. Constitutionality of Cess Act and Rules framed thereunder was subjected to challenge before the Delhi High Court in the case of Builders Association of India Vs. Union of India, 2007 SCC online Delhi 327. Delhi High Court upheld the validity of said provisions. The matter was taken to Apex Court in the case of Deewan Chandra Builders and Contractors Vs. Union of India, 2012 (1) SCC 101, the Apex Court, in its turn, has dismissed the challenge and has taken the view that the levy is in fact a 'fee' and not a 'tax'.

19. Apex Court in the case of A. Prabhakara Reddy & Company Vs. State of Madhya Pradesh & others, 2016 (1) SCC 600, has taken the view that the provisions are beneficial measures for the welfare of the workers and provisions provided thereof should not defeat the rights of workers whose protection is the primary aim. Relevant paragraphs 11, 12, 13 and 14 are extracted below;

"11. The learned counsel highlighted the provisions in the Cess Act and Rules framed thereunder such as Rules 3, 4, 5 & 7 providing for levy of cess; time and manner of collection; transfer of the proceeds of the cess to the Board; and assessment of the cess, to support his contention that there is no basis under the law to support the plea of the appellants that the contracts or work orders finalized before constitution of Board must be made immune from levy of cess on the ground that cost of construction must always be treated as a single entity and therefore incapable of two divisions, one pertaining to pre-Board period and the other relating to after the constitution of the Board. He supported the views of the High Court that there can be no estoppel against statute and hence, even if a contract or work order does not provide for payment of recovery of cess by the contractor or the principal, the statute providing for cess cannot become ineffective. It is also the stand of the respondents that had the cess been a tax, the liability to pay the same would be coterminous with the entire cost, if construction was after coming into force of the Cess Act but since it has been held to be a fee, the respondents have acted reasonably and effected its levy by raising demands only to cover such cost of construction which coincides with and begins from the constitution of the Board.

12. Although the learned Senior Counsel for the appellants had taken us through the entire scheme of the Main Act as well as the Cess Act and also the Rules framed thereunder, but nothing helps the appellants' case and in view of limited issues arising from determination, we do not feel persuaded to go into details of the Cess Act and the Rules unnecessarily. We are of the considered view that after the Cess Act and the Rules came into effect and the Board was constituted, with the notification specifying the rate of cess to be levied upon the cost of construction incurred by the employer already in place, the respondents were duty bound to collect the cess by raising the demands in respect of the on going construction works if the workers in such construction activities were eligible for benefits under the BOCW Act.

13. The fact that the task of registering the workers and providing them the benefit may take sometime, would not affect the liability to pay the levy as per the Cess Act. Any other interpretation would defeat the rights of the workers whose protection is the principal aim or primary concern and objective of the BOCW Act as well as the Cess Act. The Cess is a fee for service and hence, its calculation, as per settled law is not to be strictly in accordance with quid pro quo rule and does not require any mathematical exactitude. The scheme of the BOCW Act, the Cess Act and the Rules warrant that the lawfully imposable cess should be imposed, collected and put in the statutory welfare fund without delay so that the benefits may flow to the eligible workers at the earliest. The scheme of the BOCW Act or the Cess Act does not warrant that unless all the workers are already registered or the welfare fund is duly credited or the welfare measures are made available, no cess can be levied. In other words the service to the workers is not required to be a condition precedent for the levy of the cess. The rendering of welfare services can reasonably be undertaken only after the cess is levied, collected and credited to the welfare fund.

14. We also find no merit in other submission advanced on behalf of the appellants that there is legal impediment in charging levy on the cost of construction incurred by the employer from a particular period on account of constitution of Board from a particular date or for any other reason. This argument is fallacious. Such beneficial measures for the welfare of workers are applicable even to the construction activity which may have commenced before coming into force of the BOCW Act and the Cess Act, if they are subsequently covered by the provisions of these Acts. There can be no legal obstacle in ignoring the construction cost incurred before the cess became leviable by distinguishing it from the cost of construction incurred later, from a date when the Board is available to render service to the Building and other construction workers. Levy of cess in these facts and circumstances cannot be faulted for any reason. Demand of cess in the given facts cannot amount to retrospective application of the Cess Act. Hence the appeals must fail."

20. Learned counsel for the petitioner has miserably failed to demonstrate that the State Government has got no authority whereas under the scheme of the Act and Rules framed thereunder it is the State that has got full authority to make such arrangement, in view of this, the challenge made on the said score is unsustainable. Once the notification in question is valid and the assessment in question has been made, then against the said assessment in question there is statutory remedy of appeal provided for under Rule 14 of the Building and Other Construction Workers Welfare Cess Rules, 1998 and the appellate forum has all wide powers to decide the appeal in question, in accordance with law.

21. Writ petition is dismissed, accordingly, on the ground of alternative remedy.

Counsels for Petitioner:

Counsels for Respondents:
C.S.C., Neeraj Tiwari.

Subject Matter
Constitution of India - Articles 14, 16(1) - Doctrine of 'equal pay for equal work' - Two candidates selected pursuant to the same advertisement, same selection process and same post (Lecturer, Biotechnology) placed on different pay - one on consolidated salary and the other in regular pay scale - Whether such differential treatment, unexplained in the counter affidavit, is arbitrary and discriminatory - Whether delay of about three years in filing the writ petition disentitles relief where the disparity constitutes a continuing cause of action - Held, discrimination made out; relief granted prospectively from the date of filing of the writ petition, without retrospective arrears, given the delay.

Facts
Pursuant to a single advertisement issued by the respondent-University for two vacancies of Lecturer (Biotechnology and Environmental Science) in the Institute of Bio-Science and Biotechnology, the petitioner and one Dr. Varsha Gupta were both selected by the Selection Committee for the post of Lecturer (Biotechnology) in the Institute of Bio-Science and Biotechnology (SFS), and both were issued appointment letters on the same date, 03.04.2006. However, the petitioner was appointed on a consolidated salary of Rs. 9,000/- per month, while Dr. Varsha Gupta was appointed in the regular pay scale of Rs. 8,000-13,500/-, all other terms and conditions in both appointment letters being identical. The petitioner contended that this differential treatment, despite identical selection, post and duties, was arbitrary, illegal and violative of Articles 14 and 16(1) of the Constitution. Respondents 2 to 4 filed a counter affidavit stating, in paragraph 17, only that the petitioner was highly qualified and educated, but assigned no reason whatsoever for the distinction in salary between the petitioner and Dr. Varsha Gupta. The University's sole defence was that the writ petition, filed in November 2009 in respect of an appointment made in 2006, after the petitioner had already worked for about three years, was barred by delay/laches.

Issues
1. Whether delay of about three years in approaching the Court disentitles the petitioner to relief, where the salary disparity complained of is a continuing, month-to-month cause of action.

2. Whether payment of consolidated salary to the petitioner, as against regular pay scale to another candidate selected on the same post pursuant to the same advertisement, recruitment process and criteria, without any distinction shown in duties, responsibilities or qualifications, violates the doctrine of 'equal pay for equal work' under Articles 14 and 16 of the Constitution.

Held

On delay, since the disparity in pay scale continued from month to month and constituted a continuing cause of action, delay in approaching the Court could at most disentitle the petitioner to relief for the past period on the ground of laches, but could not defeat prospective relief against ongoing discrimination. On the substantive question, the doctrine of equal pay for equal work, deducible from Articles 14 and 16 read with the Preamble and Article 39(d) of the Constitution, is not an abstract doctrine but one of substance, applicable to cases of unequal pay based on no or irrational classification where persons under the same employer perform identical work, following Randhir Singh Vs. Union of India and Ors., (1982) 1 SCC 618. Parity in pay depends on factors such as source and mode of recruitment, qualifications, nature and value of work, responsibility, reliability and experience, and the equality clause can be invoked only where there is wholesale identity between the two posts, following R.D. Gupta and Ors. Vs. Lt. Governor, Delhi Administration and Ors., (1987) 3 SCC 505; Jaipal and Ors. Vs. State of Haryana and Ors., (1988) 3 SCC 354; Grih Kalyan Kendra Workers' Union Vs. Union of India and Ors., JT 1991 (1) SC 60; State of Orissa and Ors. Vs. Balaram Sahu and Ors., (2003) 1 SCC 250; State Bank of India and Anr. Vs. M.R. Ganesh Babu and Ors., (2002) 4 SCC 556; Deb Narayan Shyam and others Vs. State of West Bengal and others, (2005) 2 SCC 286; State of Madhya Pradesh and others Vs. Ramesh Chandra Bajpai, 2009 (11) SCALE 619 and (2009) 13 SCC 635; and A.K. Behra Vs. Union of India & Anr., JT 2010 (5) SC 290. On facts, the petitioner and Dr. Varsha Gupta were selected on identical posts (Lecturer, Biotechnology) pursuant to the same advertisement, the same recruitment process and the same selection criteria, with identical terms in their appointment letters save for salary; the University's counter affidavit conceded the petitioner's high qualification and offered no explanation whatsoever for the differential in salary. In such circumstances, denying the petitioner regular pay scale amounted to treating equals as unequals, in violation of Articles 14 and 16, and the University's action in discriminating between the two similarly placed appointees was accordingly held illegal.

Result

Writ petition allowed. Respondents directed to pay the petitioner salary in the regular pay scale (Rs. 8,000-13,500/-) applicable to the post of Lecturer (Biotechnology), with the benefit of regular pay scale and arrears operating prospectively from the date of filing of the writ petition (November 2009); no arrears payable for the period from the date of appointment till the date of filing of the writ petition. For purposes of increment, pay fixation and other consequential benefits, the regular pay scale shall be treated as applicable from the date of the petitioner's original appointment. Petitioner awarded costs of Rs. 25,000/- against Respondent No. 2.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Sudhir Agarwal, J.
Hon'ble Dr. Kaushal Jayendra Thaker, J.)

1. Heard learned counsels for parties and perused the record.

2. The grievance of petitioner is that pursuant to same advertisement published by Chhatrapati Sahu Ji Maharaj University, Kanpur Nagar (hereinafter referred to as "University") advertising same nature of posts in the same department, petitioner and another person, namely, Dr. Varsha Gupta, were appointed as Lecturer (Biotechnology). Still respondent-University has discriminated petitioner by appointing on a consolidated salary of Rs. 9000/- per month, while Dr. Varsha Gupta simultaneously has been given salary in regular pay scale of Rs. 8000-13,500/-.

3. An advertisement was published by University (copy whereof is Annexure-2 to writ petition) which advertised two vacancies on the post of Lecturer (Biotechnology and Environmental Science) in Institute of Bio-Science and Biotechnology . Selection Committee selected petitioner and one Dr. Varsha Gupta for the post of Lecturer (Biotechnology) in the Institute of Bio-Science and Biotechnology (SFS). Both were issued appointment letters on the same date, i.e., 03.04.2006 but petitioner's appointment has been made on the post of Lecturer (Biotechnology) on a consolidated salary of Rs. 9000/- while Dr. Varsha Gupta has been appointed as Lecturer (Biotechnology) in regular pay scale of 8000-13,500/-. All other terms and conditions of appointment letters are same as is evident from Annexure-3, copy of appointment letter of petitioner, and, Annexure-5, which is copy of appointment letter of Dr. Varsha Gupta.

4. Grievance of petitioner is that there is no justification for making discrimination in the matter of salary, when both were appointed pursuant to same advertisement on the post of Lecturer (Biotechnology) and this is patently arbitrary, illegal and violative of Articles 14 and 16(1) of the Constitution of India.

5. Respondents 2 to 4 have filed counter affidavit and in para 17 thereof, it is said that petitioner is a highly qualified and educated person and has been appointed on consolidated salary of Rs. 9000/-. With respect to distinction between salary of petitioner and Dr. Varsha Gupta, no reason has been assigned in the entire counter affidavit and respondents have kept conspicuous silence on this aspect.

6. The only objection raised by learned counsel for University is that appointment was made in 2006 and after appointment, petitioner worked for three years. This writ petition has been filed after almost three years, and, therefore, petitioner is not entitled for any relief.

7. However, we find no force in the above objection raised on behalf of respondent-2. Disparity in the matter of pay scale has continued from month to month and provides continuous cause of action. If a petitioner approaches a Court with delay in a case where cause of action is continuous, he may not be given relief for the past period treating him to be guilty of laches, but if he is being discriminated, Court may grant relief prospectively.

8. In the present matter, it is a clear case of denial of the principle of "equal pay for equal work" inasmuch same posts in the same Department for discharging same duties in the same recruitment have been filled in. While petitioner has been appointed as Lecturer (Biotechnology) on consolidated salary of Rs. 9000/-, another candidate appointed as Lecturer (Biotechnology) has been placed in regular pay scale of Rs. 8000-13,500/-. Neither in respect to the duties nor performance nor responsibilities nor otherwise, any distinction, whatsoever, has been pointed out or pleaded by respondent-University in respect to petitioner vis-a-vis Dr. Varsha Gupta who both have been appointed on the same post, i.e., Lecturer (Biotechnology) after undergoing same process of selection/recruitment and same criteria. Even it is admitted by respondent-University that petitioner is highly qualified and educated person. We find it difficult as to how and why respondent-University in such circumstances can discriminate petitioner vis-a-vis other similarly placed persons in the matter of salary/wages. Principle of equal pay for equal work is well recognized and in the past 30 years and more it has been reiterated time and again by the Courts that if in all other aspects, duties, responsibilities, obligations etc. two persons are similarly placed performing same duties, they cannot be denied equal pay and any otherwise treatment would amount to treating equals as un-equals and shall violate fundamental right of equality enshrined under Article 14 and 16 of Constitution of India.

9. In Randhir Singh v. Union of India and Ors., (1982) 1 SCC 618, Apex Court considering principle of equal pay for equal work held that it is not an abstract doctrine but one of substance. Construing Articles 14 and 16 in the light of Preamble and Article 39(d) of the Constitution, Apex Court held that principle of equal pay for equal work is deducible from those Articles and may be properly applied to cases of unequal scales of pay based on no classification or irrational classification though those drawing different scales of pay do identical work under the same employer.

10. In R.D. Gupta and Ors. v. Lt. Governor, Delhi Administration and Ors. (1987) 3 SCC 505, the Apex Court applying principle of equal pay for equal work, in para 20 of the judgment, considered correctness of defence taken by employer justifying non application of said principle, and held -

"the ministerial staff in the NDMC constitute a unified cadre. The recruitment policy for the selection of the ministerial staff is a common one and the recruitment is also done by a common agency. They are governed by a common seniority list. The ministerial posts in the three wings of the BDNC viz, the general wing, the electricity wing and the waterworks wing are interchangeable posts and the postings an made from the common pool according to administrative convenience and exigencies of service and not on the basis of any distinct policy or special qualifications. Therefore, it would be futile to say that merely because a member of the ministerial staff had been given a posting in the electricity wing, either due to force of circumstances or due to voluntary preferment, he stands on a better or higher footing or in a more advantageous position than his counterparts in the general wing. It is not the cast of the respondents that the ministerial staff in the electricity wing perform more onerous or more exacting duties than the ministerial staff in the general wing. It therefore follows that all sections of the ministerial staff should be treated alike and all of them held entitled to the same scales of pay for the work of equal nature done by them." (para 20)

11. In Jaipal and Ors. v. State of Haryana and Ors., (1988) 3 SCC 354, the Apex Court held:

"The doctrine of equal work equal pay would apply on the premise of similar work, but it does not mean that there should be complete identity in all respects. If the two classes of persons do same work under the same employer, with similar responsibility, under similar working conditions the doctrine of 'equal work equal pay would apply and It would not be open to the State to discriminate one class with the other in paying salary. The State is under a constitutional obligation to ensure that equal pay is paid for equal work." (para 6)

12. In Grih Kalyan Kendra Workers' Union v. Union of India and Ors. JT 1991 (1) SC 60, it was observed:

"the question of parity in pay scale cannot be determined by applying mathematical formula. It depends upon several factors namely nature of work, performance of duties, qualifications, the quality of work performed by them*. It is also permissible to have classification in services based on hierarchy of posts, pay scale, value of work and responsibility and experience. The classification must, however, have a reasonable relation to the object sought to be achieved." (para 7) (emphasis added)*

13. In State of Orissa and Ors. v. Balaram Sahu and Ors. (2003) 1 SCC 250 : 2003 (1) AWC 273 (SC), Court observed as under:

"Though "equal pay for equal work" is considered to be a concomitant of Article 14 as much as "equal pay for unequal work" will also be a negation of that right, equal pay would depend upon not only the nature or the volume of work, tint also on the qualitative difference as regards reliability and responsibility as well and though the functions may be the same, but the responsibilities do make a real and substantial difference." (para 11)

14. In State Bank of India and Anr. v. M.R. Ganesh Babu and Ors. (2002) 4 SCC 556, the Court observed in para 16:

"The principle of equal pay for equal work has been considered and applied in may reported decisions of this Court. The principle has been adequately explained and crystallized and sufficiently reiterated in a catena of decisions of this Court. It is well settled that equal pay must depend upon the nature of work done."

15. In Deb Narayan Shyam and others Vs. State of West Bengal and others, 2005(2) SCC 286, the Court summarized as to when doctrine of equal pay for equal work would apply in the light of exposition of law laid down in catena of its earlier decisions and said:

"Large number of decisions have been cited before us with regard to the principle of 'equal pay for equal work' by both sides. We need not deal with the said decisions to overburden this judgment. Suffice it to say that the principle is settled that if the two categories of posts perform the same duties and function and carry the same qualification, then there should not be any distinction in pay scale between the two categories of posts similarly situated. But when they are different and perform different duties and qualifications for recruitment being different, then they cannot be said to be equated so as to qualify for equal pay for equal work."

16. In State of Madhya Pradesh and others Vs. Ramesh Chandra Bajpai, 2009(11) SCALE 619 the Court said that it is well settled that the doctrine of equal pay for equal work can be invoked only when the employees are similarly situated. Similarity in designation or nature or equation of work is not determinative for equality in the matter of pay scales. The Court has to consider the factors like the source and mode of recruitment/appointment, qualifications, nature of work, the value thereof, responsibility, reliability, experience, confidentiality, functional need, etc. In other words the equality clause can be invoked in the matter of pay scale only when there is a whole sale identity between the two posts.

17. In State of Madhya Pradesh and Ors. Vs. Ramesh Chandra Bajpai, 2009(13) SCC 635, the Court said that doctrine of equal pay for equal work can be invoked only when the employees are similarly situated and that similarity of the designation or nature or quantum of work is not determinative of equality in the matter of pay scales and that the Court has to consider several factors and only when there was wholesale identity between the holders of two posts, equality clause can be invoked and not otherwise.

18. In A.K.Behra Vs. Union of India & Anr., JT 2010 (5) SC 290, the Court, in paras 84 and 85, said:

"84. The principle underlying the guarantee of Article 14 is not that the same rules of law should be applicable to all persons within the Indian territory or that the same remedies should be made available to them irrespective of differences of circumstances. It only means that all persons similarly circumstanced shall be treated alike both in privileges conferred and liabilities imposed.

85. The law can make and set apart the classes according to the needs and exigencies of the society and as suggested by experience. It can recognize even degree of evil, but the classification should never be arbitrary, artificial or evasive."

19. Looking to the entire dispute in the case in hand from various determining factors enumerated in the above authorities, we find no reason to discriminate petitioner vis-a-vis another incumbent appointed on the same post, i.e., Lecturer (Biotechnology) pursuant to the same advertisement, same recruitment process, same criteria and same selection etc. particularly when none has been pointed out by respondent-University in the counter affidavit.

20. Ex-facie, therefore, we have no hesitation in holding that respondent-University has acted illegally in discriminating petitioner vis-a-vis another incumbent appointed on the post of Lecturer (Biotechnology) in the matter of pay by providing a consolidated salary of 9000/- per month to petitioner while another counterpart, Dr. Varsha Gupta, has been appointed in regular pay scale of Rs. 8000 to 13,500/-. In our view, both are entitled to be treated alike and should have been given same salary.

21. The writ petition is allowed accordingly. Respondents are directed to pay salary to petitioner in regular pay scale applicable to the post of Lecturer (Biotechnology) but no arrears of salary shall be paid to petitioner from the date of his appointment till the date of filing this writ petition which has been filed in November' 2009. Benefit of salary in regular pay scale of Rs. 8000-13,500/- and arrears shall be made applicable to petitioner from the date of filing of this writ petition. However, for the purpose of increment, pay fixation and other benefits etc. regular pay scale shall be treated to be applicable to petitioner from the date of his appointment.

22. Petitioner shall also be entitled to cost which we quantify to Rs. 25,000/- against respondent-2.

Subject Matter
Service Law - Departmental/Disciplinary Enquiry - Regional Rural Banks Act, 1976 - Fatehpur Kshetriya Gramin Bank (Officer and Employee) Service Regulations, 2001, Regulation 40 - Principles of natural justice in domestic enquiry - Repeated ex-parte proceedings by Enquiry Officer despite genuine and verified reasons (arrest/custody, medical illness certified by Bank's own doctor, critical illness of parent) for delinquent's absence - Refusal to supply copies of documents relied upon by the employer despite demand - Denial of request to nominate a Defence Assistant - Closure of oral enquiry without affording opportunity to lead defence evidence - Held, enquiry vitiated in its entirety for violation of principles of natural justice; punishment orders of removal and recovery set aside.

Facts
The petitioner, who joined the respondent Bank (a Regional Rural Bank sponsored by Bank of Baroda) as Clerk/Cashier on 07.09.1981 and was later promoted to Field Officer (redesignated Probationary Officer, Junior Management Grade) in 1989, was placed under suspension on 21.05.2004 while posted at Mavaiganeshpur Branch. An FIR dated 03.07.2004 was lodged against him under Sections 467, 468, 471 and 409 IPC, pursuant to which he was arrested on 23.08.2004 and released on bail on 26.08.2004. A chargesheet dated 22.07.2004 containing eleven charges was served on him, and an Enquiry Officer was appointed under Regulation 40 of the Regulations, 2001. The enquiry proceeded through a series of dates - 18.08.2004 (date-fixing letter served only on the date itself), 26.08.2004 (petitioner in judicial custody/awaiting release on bail), 02.09.2004 and 17.09.2004/23.09.2004 (petitioner medically certified unfit, verified by the Bank's own doctor, Dr. Tejman Singh), 25.09.2004 (petitioner's request for copies of proceedings and time to prepare declined), 01.10.2004 (request to nominate a Defence Assistant and for copies of relied-upon documents declined), and 08.10.2004/12.10.2004 (petitioner unable to attend due to his father's critical illness, and due to late service of the next date's intimation) - on each of which the Enquiry Officer either proceeded ex-parte recording prosecution witnesses' statements or otherwise declined the petitioner's requests, culminating in closure of the oral enquiry on 12.10.2004 without affording the petitioner opportunity to cross-examine witnesses or lead defence evidence. The Enquiry Officer submitted a report dated 04.01.2005 holding Charges 1 to 9 proved.

The Chairman issued a show-cause notice dated 07.01.2005 and, despite the petitioner's hospitalization and request dated 19.01.2005 for further time and personal hearing, passed an order the same day imposing the penalty of removal and recovery of Rs. 57,550/-. The petitioner's departmental appeal was rejected by the Board of Directors in its meeting dated 26.05.2005, communicated on 06.06.2005. The present writ petition sought certiorari quashing both orders, reinstatement, and consequential benefits.

Issue

Whether, in the facts and circumstances of the case, the petitioner was afforded adequate and reasonable opportunity of defence in the disciplinary enquiry, or whether the enquiry was conducted in violation of the principles of natural justice so as to vitiate the resultant orders of punishment.

Held

An order of punishment can be passed only after affording reasonable opportunity of defence to the delinquent employee. Examining the enquiry chronologically, the Court found that on at least three dates (26.08.2004, 02.09.2004 and 23.09.2004) the Enquiry Officer proceeded ex-parte, recording statements of the Bank's witnesses, despite the petitioner's absence being for genuine and undisputed reasons - custody pursuant to arrest, and illness independently verified by the Bank's own medical consultant, Dr. Tejman Singh, acting under the disciplinary authority's own directions. When the petitioner first appeared on 25.09.2004, his innocuous request for copies of earlier proceedings and time to prepare was declined without justification, and a further witness's statement was recorded; on 01.10.2004, his request to nominate a Defence Assistant - a right not disputed by the Bank under the governing Rules - and for copies of documents relied upon by the Bank were both declined without reason. Non-supply of documents relied upon by the employer in support of disciplinary charges, despite demand, vitiates the entire proceedings, following State of U.P. and others Vs. Saroj Kumar Sinha, (2010) 2 SCC 772, which in turn relied on Kashinath Dikshita Vs. Union of India, (1986) 3 SCC 229, Trilok Nath Vs. Union of India, 1967 SLR 759 (SC), and State of Punjab Vs. Bhagat Ram, (1975) 1 SCC 155, for the proposition that a delinquent employee is entitled to all relevant statements, documents and material to enable an effective defence, including cross-examination of witnesses. Subsequently, despite the petitioner's genuine inability to attend on 08.10.2004 (his father's critical illness, duly supported by documents) and 12.10.2004 (late service of the date's intimation), the Enquiry Officer closed the oral enquiry on 12.10.2004 without affording any opportunity to lead defence evidence. The cumulative conduct of the Enquiry Officer - proceeding ex-parte on valid dates of absence, declining a statutorily recognized right to a Defence Assistant, withholding relied-upon documents despite demand, and closing the enquiry without defence opportunity - reflected a lack of impartiality and fairness amounting to 'malice in law', an oral enquiry being a substantive statutory right and not a mere formality, following A. Savariar Vs. The Secretary, Tamil Nadu Public Service Commission and another, 2013 JT (3) SC 170 (relying on Roop Singh Negi Vs. Punjab National Bank, (2009) 2 SCC 570), which held that departmental proceedings are quasi-judicial in character and must observe principles of natural justice, an enquiry vitiated by their breach rendering the resultant punishment bad. The enquiry as a whole was accordingly held to be wholly illegal and arbitrary, denying the petitioner adequate opportunity of defence.

Result

Writ petition allowed. Order of punishment dated 19.01.2005 and appellate order dated 06.06.2005 set aside. Petitioner held entitled to all consequential benefits, together with costs quantified at Rs. 25,000/-.

1. Heard Sri Prateek Chandra, Advocate, holding brief of Sri Ashok Khare, learned Senior Counsel, appearing on behalf of petitioner and Sri Y.K. Sinha, counsel for respondent Bank.

2. Aggrieved by order dated 19.01.2005 read with corrigendum dated 16.03.2005, passed by Chairman/Disciplinary Authority, Fatehpur Khestriya Gramin Bank, Fatehpur (hereinafter referred to as "Bank") imposing punishment of removal and recovery of Rs. 57,550/- from petitioner, as also appellate order dated 06.06.2005 communicating decision of appellate authority i.e. Board of Directors taken in its meeting dated 26.05.2005, this writ petition has been filed by petitioner Ashok Kumar who has lost his employment as also become liable for recovery of Rs. 57,550/- under the impugned orders.

3. A prayer has been made for issue of a writ of certiorari for quashing aforesaid orders and to grant all consequential benefits, reinstatement with continuity in service and other benefits.

4. Brief facts necessary to understand the dispute giving rise to present writ petition may be stated hereinafter;

5. Bank is a Regional Rural Bank governed by the provisions of Regional Rural Bank's Act 1976 (hereinafter referred to as "Act 1976") and sponsored by Bank of Baroda. Petitioner was appointed as Clerk/Cashier and joined Bank on 07.09.1981. He was promoted as Field Officer on 18.05.1989. The post of Field Officer was redesignated as Probationary Officer in Junior Management Grade. While working at Mavaiganeshpur Branch of Bank, petitioner was placed under suspension vide order dated 21.05.2004 passed by Chairman of the Bank. A First Information Report (hereinafter referred to as "FIR") dated 03.07.2004 was also lodged at Police Station Hussainganj, District Fatehpur under Sections 467, 468, 471 and 409 Indian Penal Code being Case Crime no. 41 of 2004. Petitioner was served with a chargesheet dated 22.07.2004 containing eleven charges. Pursuant to FIR dated 03.07.2004, petitioner was arrested on 23.08.2004 and enlarged on bail by Sessions Judge, Fatehpur, vide order dated 26.08.2004. In the meantime disciplinary authority i.e. Chairman of Bank appointed one Chandra Prakash Gadi, Manager as Enquiry Officer under Regulation 40 of Fatehpur Kshetriya Gramin Bank (Officer and Employee) Service Regulations 2001 (hereinafter referred to as "Regulations 2001") to enquire into the charges levelled against petitioner vide chargesheet dated 27.07.2004 and submit report to disciplinary authority.

6. Enquiry Officer vide letter dated 17.08.2004 fixed 18.08.2004 as the date for preliminary hearing in the Head Office of Bank at Fatehpur and required petitioner to attend the proceedings. This letter was served upon petitioner on 18.08.2004. Oral hearing was to commence at 10.30 a.m. on the same day hence petitioner could not attend enquiry proceedings. This fact was communicated by petitioner to Enquiry Officer. The next date fixed by Enquiry Officer was 26.08.2004 but there was no occasion for petitioner to attend proceedings on the said date since he was in jail having been arrested by police on 23.08.2004 and bail was granted on 26.08.2004. The factum that petitioner was in jail on 26.08.2004 was also in the knowledge of Enquiry Officer, yet instead of adjourning the matter, Enquiry Officer proceeded further. Presenting Officer submitted copies of documents relied by Bank in respect of charges and also submitted list of witnesses proposed to be examined by Bank. Enquiry Officer fixed next date as 02.09.2004. After release from jail, on bail, petitioner fell ill on 01.09.2004. Along with medical certificate issued by a Physician administering treatment to him, an application seeking adjournment was submitted by petitioner to Enquiry Officer. Disciplinary authority through letter dated 04.09.2004 directed petitioner to get his illness verified by Bank's doctor, Tejman Singh, G.T. Road, Fatehpur and obtain a certificate regarding illness from him and submit to Bank by 07.09.2004. In compliance with such direction of disciplinary authority, petitioner appeared before Dr. Tejman Singh who, vide certificate dated 06.09.2004, confirmed petitioner's illness and agreed with earlier medical certificate, advising rest for fifteen days i.e. 01.09.2004 to 15.09.2004. However, Enquiry Officer discarded aforesaid facts and proceeded with oral enquiry by recording statements of Smt. Shyamwati, Dhyan Singh, Ram Bhawan Singh, Dhanraj Singh, Shiv Saran Singh and Ramesh Chand Rahi on 02.09.2004 resulting in denial of opportunity of cross examination of such witnesses by petitioner.

7. Enquiry Officer then fixed 09.09.2004 as next date for hearing but in view of medical certificate granted by Dr. Tejman Singh, under the directions of disciplinary authority, adjourned proceedings to 17.09.2004. Since petitioner did not recover he was further advised for rest and some further treatment was administered vide medical certificate dated 15.09.2004. Again disciplinary authority vide letter dated 17.09.2004 required petitioner to get himself medically examined by Dr. Tejman Singh and in compliance thereof Dr. Tejman Singh examined petitioner and certified his continuity of illness, giving following certificate:-

"This is to certify that I have examined Sri Ashok Kumar s/o Sri Ram Saran Singh, r/o Hariharganj, Fatehpur. I find him fit to resume his duty w.e.f. Tomorrow 25.09.2004"

8. In the meantime Enquiry Officer adjourned proceedings on 17.09.2004 and fixed 23.09.2004. Due to illness as verified by Dr. Tejman Singh, petitioner could not attend proceedings on 23.09.2004 but ignoring this, Enquiry Officer proceeded to record statement of Bank's witness Sri Shiv Shanker, Branch Manager and then fixed 25.09.2004, as the next date. On 25.09.2004 after getting fit, petitioner appeared before Enquiry Officer and requested to supply copy of earlier proceedings and give time to prepare the matter. Enquiry Officer neither supplied copies of earlier proceedings nor granted any time and instead proceeded further by recording statement of Dharampal, Bank's witness.

9. The next date fixed was 01.10.2004 when petitioner appeared and requested Enquiry Officer to allow him to nominate Defence Assistant and also prayed for supply of copies of documents relied by Bank in support of charges. Enquiry Officer did not accept either of the request of petitioner and fixed 08.10.2004 as the next date for enquiry.

10. On 07.10.2004 petitioner requested Enquiry Officer to defer proceedings fixed on 08.10.2004 since petitioner's father Ram Saran Singh was seriously ill. Application was duly supported by several documents demonstrating critical condition of petitioner's father. This request was rejected by Enquiry Officer vide order dated 07.10.2004 which was served upon petitioner on 08.10.2004 at 10.00 a.m. Petitioner could not attend enquiry on 08.10.2004 and Enquiry Officer fixed next date as 12.10.2004. This information was given to petitioner by a registered letter, served upon him at 2.30 p.m. on 12.10.2004. Due to late communication, he had no occasion to participate in the proceedings on 12.10.2004. This fact was communicated to Enquiry Officer vide letter dated 13.10.2004.

11. On 12.10.2004, Enquiry Officer proceeded to close oral hearing and granted time to Presenting Officer to submit written brief by 22.10.2004. When petitioner received information about Enquiry Officer's closure of oral enquiry on 12.10.2004, he made representation dated 20.10.2004, requesting Enquiry Officer to grant opportunity to cross examine Bank's witnesses and thereafter give opportunity to produce defence witnesses. Enquiry Officer did not accept the request and instead, served a copy of written brief submitted by Presenting Officer along with covering letter dated 23.10.2004 and directed petitioner to submit reply on or before 09.11.2004. In compliance thereto petitioner submitted his written brief on 09.11.2004.

12. Enquiry Officer submitted report dated 04.01.2005 holding charges 1 to 9 proved. Thereupon Chairman of Bank proposed penalty of 'Removal' and 'Recovery' and required petitioner to show cause vide letter dated 07.01.2005. Petitioner in the meantime fell ill and was hospitalized, hence could not submit reply on 18.01.2005. A representation dated 19.01.2005 was submitted by petitioner requesting disciplinary authority to give further time for personal hearing but Chairman proceeded to pass order in the meantime on 19.01.2005 imposing penalty of 'Removal' and 'Recovery' of Rs. 57,550/-. Thereagainst petitioner preferred appeal which has been rejected by Board of Directors in its meeting dated 26.05.2005, communicated by Chairman's letter dated 06.06.2005.

13. Sri Prateek Chandra, learned counsel for petitioner submitted that the above facts make it very clear that there was no honest and bonafide attempt on the part of Enquiry Officer to give effective and adequate opportunity of defence to petitioner. Enquiry Officer proceeded with enquiry on various dates in absence of petitioner though for valid reasons, petitioner was not present on such dates. Hence impugned orders are wholly illegal being in utter violation of principles of natural justice. Petitioner has been denied right to earn livelihood and serious stringent punishment of 'Removal' had been imposed without conducting an enquiry consistent with principles of natural justice.

14. Respondent Bank has filed counter affidavit in which basic facts are not disputed. It is however said repeatedly that petitioner himself did not avail opportunity granted by Enquiry Officer as well as Bank by fixing various dates for oral enquiry, hence has to blame himself and cannot make any complaint that order of punishment had been passed without affording opportunity of hearing to him.

15. We have heard learned counsel for parties and perused the record.

16. It goes without saying and is also admitted by parties that under Rules, an order of punishment could have been passed only after affording reasonable opportunity of defence to delinquent employee. Now the only question up for consideration is, "whether in the facts and circumstances of this case, can it be said that petitioner was afforded adequate opportunity of defence or hearing or here is a case where opportunity was afforded repeatedly but petitioner failed to avail the same and hence cannot make any complaint."

17. We may examine this aspect on summarizing the facts relating to various dates fixed by Enquiry Officer for oral hearing and proceedings which took place on those dates as also the reasons of absence or presence of petitioner, etc.

18. We shall examine various dates and proceedings chronologically; 18.08.2004 first date was fixed for preliminary hearing, but letter dated 17.08.2004, fixing 18.08.2004 was served on 18.08.2004, hence there was no occasion for petitioner to attend enquiry proceedings before Enquiry Officer which commenced at 10.30. p.m. on 18.08.2004. We do not find any justification to issue letter on 17.08.2004 fixing very next day i.e. 18.08.2004 without ensuring communication of date in time. Then next date fixed is 26.08.2004. Petitioner in the meantime was arrested by police on 23.08.2004 and Sessions Judge, Fatehpur, passed order on 26.08.2004 itself releasing petitioner on bail. After passing of bail order, it had to be communicated to jail concerned and thereafter petitioner could have been released. Hence there was no occasion or possibility of attending enquiry proceedings on 26.08.2004 before Enquiry Officer. This factum of arrest was well within knowledge of Enquiry Officer, and is a fact which is not disputed by Bank. Still we find it surprising that Enquiry Officer treated petitioner's absence deliberate and proceeded with oral enquiry, by permitting Presenting Officer to submit documents relied by Bank in support of charges and also list of witnesses proposed to be examined by Bank. Enquiry Officer did not care to supply all these documents and list of witnesses to petitioner so that petitioner may come well prepared on the next date.

19. On the contrary Enquiry Officer, after exparte proceedings on 26.08.2004, fixed next date as 02.09.2004. Petitioner fell ill on 01.09.2004 and his illness was duly certified by medical certificate issued by Physician with whom petitioner was under treatment and this illness was duly verified by Bank's doctor Tejman Singh who examined petitioner under the orders of disciplinary authority and issued certificate to this effect on 07.09.2004. Enquiry Officer in total disregard of all these facts, proceeded to record statements of several witnesses in support of charges on 02.09.2004 and here again entire proceedings were exparte. Bank's medical consultant doctor Tejman Singh verified petitioner's illness and advised rest upto 15.09.2004. Enquiry Officer fixed 17.09.2004, on which date also petitioner could not attend proceedings due to his continued illness. This continued illness was also verified by Bank's consultant Dr. Tejman Singh in his certificate dated 24.09.2004. Dr. Tejman Singh, Bank's medical consultant examined petitioner under the orders of disciplinary authority, therefore on 17.09.2004 absence of petitioner was neither deliberate nor for reasons within his control but it was on account of genuine reason of illness. Enquiry Officer totally unmindful of all these facts proceeded on 23.09.2004 to record statements of Bank's witnesses Shiv Shanker, Branch Manager and this was again exparte and illegal.

20. Petitioner could attend enquiry proceedings for first time on 21.09.2004, by which time on three dates, exparte proceedings were held by Enquiry Officer i.e. on 26.08.2004, 02.09.2004 and 23.09.2004. On these three dates, as we have already held, absence of petitioner was for just, valid and genuine reasons, still Enquiry Officer proceeded exparte which was patently illegal and resulted in denial of adequate opportunity of defence to petitioner.

21. On 25.09.2004 when petitioner appeared before Enquiry Officer for the first time, he requested to supply copies of earlier proceedings and to give time to prepare the matter. This was a very innocuous and genuine prayer and we find no just and valid reason for Enquiry Officer in not accepting the same. Strangely Enquiry Officer had something other in his mind and neither he supplied copies of earlier proceedings nor granted time to petitioner to prepare the matter and instead proceeded further to record statement of Bank's another witness namely Dharampal. For all practical purposes, we have no hesitation in holding that even this proceeding is virtually exparte or in any case in utter violation of principles of natural justice, denying adequate and effective opportunity of defence to petitioner.

22. The next date fixed by Enquiry Officer is 01.10.2004 on which date petitioner requested Enquiry Officer to permit him to nominate a Defence Assistant and also to supply copies of documents relied by Bank in support of charges. Learned counsel for Bank, did not dispute that under the Rules governing disciplinary proceedings, a delinquent employee, if so desires, has a right to nominate Defence Assistant to represent him in oral enquiry. At the earliest opportunity available to petitioner, he made this request and there was no justification for declining the aforesaid request but Enquiry Officer did so. He also did not supply copies of documents relied by Bank in support of charges and no reason was given as to why those copies were not to be supplied to petitioner though it was incumbent upon employer as also Enquiry Officer to supply copies of documents relied upon in support of charges by employer and this is mandatory.

23. In some cases where the documents relied by employer, in support of case, if very bulky and there is some difficulty in supply of such documents the delinquent employee is allowed inspection of all the documents and ought to have those documents whenever oral proceedings are held but this is not the reason for which Enquiry Officer denied copies of relied upon documents. We fail to understand as to why Enquiry Officer did not supply copies of relied upon documents to petitioner and in our view, here again the Enquiry Officer denied adequate opportunity of defence to petitioner.

24. In State of U.P. and others Vs Saroj Kumar Sinha, (2010) 2 SCC 772, it was held that non supply of documents relied by department in support of charges vitiate the entire proceedings. Court referred to and relied earlier decision in Kashinath Dikshita Vs Union of India, (1986) 3 SCC 229, and said:

"When a government servant is facing a disciplinary proceeding, he is entitled to be afforded a reasonable opportunity to meet the charges against him in an effective manner. And no one facing a departmental enquiry can effectively meet the charges unless the copies of the relevant statements and documents to be used against him are made available to him. In the absence of such copies, how can the concerned employee prepare his defence, cross-examine the witnesses, and point out the inconsistencies with a view to show that the allegations are incredible."

25. Court also observed:

"It is difficult to comprehend why disciplinary authority assumed an intransigent posture and refused to furnish the copies notwithstanding specific request made by appellant in this behalf. The defence of employer that no prejudice would be caused cannot be accepted for the reason that delinquent employee is entitled to have an access to the documents and statements throughout the course of the inquiry. He would have needed these documents and statements in order to cross-examine the witnesses who are produced in the inquiry to establish the charges against him."

26. Again following earlier decision in Trilok Nath Vs Union of India 1967 SLR 759 (SC), Court said in State of U.P. and others Vs Saroj Kumar Sinha (supra):

"Non-disclosure of documents having a potential to cause prejudice to a government servant in the enquiry proceedings would clearly be denial of a reasonable opportunity to submit a plausible and effective rebuttal to the charges being enquired into against the government servant."

27. Referring to another judgment in State of Punjab Vs Bhagat Ram (1975) 1 SCC 155, Court in State of U.P. and others Vs Saroj Kumar Sinha (supra), said:

"The proposition of law that a government employee facing a department enquiry is entitled to all the relevant statement, documents and other materials to enable him to have a reasonable opportunity to defend himself in the department enquiry against the charges is too well established to need any further reiteration."

28. Hence, non-supply of relied on documents to petitioner, that too despite demand, vitiates the entire proceedings.

29. The next date fixed is 08.10.2004, which petitioner could not attend due to critical condition of his father and communicated this reason by sending letter on 07.10.2016, duly supported with medical documents showing critical condition of petitioner's father but here again Enquiry Officer proceeded to ignore petitioner's request but adjourned proceedings to 12.10.2004. Communication of the said date was made to petitioner by registered letter which was served on 2.30 p.m. on 12.08.2004, as a result whereof petitioner obviously could not attend enquiry proceedings. On this very date without looking into reason for petitioner's absence, Enquiry Officer closed oral enquiry and allowed time to Presenting Officer to submit written brief. In our view, if Bank's evidence concluded on 12.10.2004 even then it was incumbent upon Enquiry Officer to adjourn proceedings to another date to give opportunity of defence evidence to petitioner but that was not done.

30. In the entirety of facts and circumstances, we have no manner of doubt in holding that here is a case where petitioner has been denied adequate opportunity of defence and enquiry has been conducted in a wholly illegal and arbitrary manner. In fact we express our adverse inference about conduct of Enquiry Officer for the manner in which he has proceeded. It appears that he was adamant and there appears to be some unknown reason on his part to proceed with enquiry ignoring petitioner's absence for valid reasons. This kind of attempt on the part of Inquiry Officer shows his lack of impartiality, and, unfairness and can be termed "Malice in law". An oral enquiry is not a mere formality but substantive statutory right of an employee and cannot be denied to him unless for just and valid reasons.

31. In A. Savariar Vs The Secretary, Tamil Nadu Public Service Commission and another, 2013 JT (3) SC 170, Court relying on Roop Singh Negi v. Punjab National Bank (2009) 2 SCC 570, said that departmental proceeding is a quasi-judicial proceeding. Enquiry Officer performs a quasi-judicial function. Enquiry Officer has a duty to arrive at a finding upon taking into consideration materials brought on record by the parties after giving due opportunity to the delinquent employee. Opportunity of oral hearing is not a mere formality but a matter of substance. Court also held that an oral enquiry must be held observing principles of natural justice. It is necessary and mandatory. The requirement of reasonable opportunity cannot be characterized as a paper formality inquiry but has to be held in accordance with principles of natural justice. If the enquiry is vitiated being in violation of principles of natural justice, the order of punishment would be bad.

32. In the light of the aforesaid exposition of law and facts and circumstances of this case as discussed above, we find that not only oral enquiry was held on various dates by Enquiry Officer exparte in a wholly illegal and arbitrary manner but it has also caused denial of adequate opportunity to petitioner by failing to supply relied upon documents in support of charges, despite demand by petitioner and also failed to give time to petitioner to prepare the matter, knowing well that on certain dates, absence of petitioner was for just, valid and genuine reasons, duly verified by relevant material by petitioner before disciplinary authority as well as Enquiry Officer which facts could not be disputed before us also.

33. In view of above discussion, impugned orders of punishment cannot be sustained, since petitioner has been punished in an illegal and arbitrary manner and for the entire laxity and illegality in enquiry, none else but respondent Bank and its official are to be blamed. In our view petitioner is entitled for all consequential benefits.

34. Writ petition is allowed. Impugned order of punishment dated 19.01.2005 as well as appellate order dated 06.06.2005 are hereby set aside. Petitioner shall be entitled to all consequential benefits and also cost which we quantify to Rs. 25,000/-.

Central Bank Of India Thru' A.G.M. & Ors. ...Respondents

Counsel for Petitioner:
Pulak Ganguly, R.K. Agarwal

Counsel for Respondents:
S. Tewari, K.R. Singh Jadaun.

Subject Matter
Service Law - Departmental Enquiry - Bank employee - Dismissal from service for misappropriation/embezzlement of Bank funds and creation of fictitious loan accounts - Whether ex-parte conclusion of oral enquiry vitiated the proceedings where the delinquent employee himself failed, without adequate reason, to participate and refused to cross-examine witnesses - Whether punishment of dismissal was excessive, disproportionate or shocking to conscience - Held, no denial of natural justice where delinquent employee's own conduct caused the ex-parte proceeding; dismissal for breach of trust and lack of integrity by a Bank official holding a position of trust is neither excessive nor disproportionate; writ petition dismissed.

Facts
The petitioner, who joined the respondent Bank as Assistant Cashier in 1964 and rose to the post of Deputy Manager/Branch Manager, was placed under suspension on 26.04.1996 following two FIRs dated 11.07.1996 and 12.07.1996 alleging criminal misappropriation and embezzlement of Bank funds (Sections 409, 420, 467 IPC). A chargesheet dated 27.11.1996 containing six charges was served on him on 28.11.1996. After successive changes in Enquiry Officer (S.P. Singh, then B.S. Pandey, and finally T.N. Sharma, who concluded the oral hearing on 11.08.1998), the enquiry proceeded through disputed dates: the petitioner and his Defence Assistant failed to attend on 25.07.1998 without prior intimation; on 28.07.1998 the petitioner appeared belatedly and sought adjournment citing his Defence Assistant's absence, whereupon the Enquiry Officer granted a final adjournment to 30.07.1998 with a caution against further delay and liberty to engage a locally available Defence Assistant; on 30.07.1998, despite the petitioner's continued plea of inability to contact his Defence Assistant, the Enquiry Officer required him to cross-examine the Bank's witnesses, which the petitioner refused to do, following which he left the proceedings midway. The Enquiry Officer's report dated 14.08.1998 held all six charges proved; the disciplinary authority concurred, and after considering the petitioner's reply, imposed the penalty of dismissal by order dated 21.11.1998. The petitioner's first appeal was rejected on 05.02.2000, but this order was set aside as non-speaking in Writ Petition No. 1657 of 2000 by judgment dated 06.05.2004, with a direction to the appellate authority to reconsider specific grounds; the appellate authority, on reconsideration, again rejected the appeal on 05.08.2004. The petitioner challenged both the punishment order and the appellate order in the present writ petition, contending denial of opportunity to cross-examine witnesses and disproportionate punishment; the Bank contended that the petitioner's own conduct in avoiding participation and refusing to cross-examine witnesses precluded any such grievance, and that the seriousness of the proved charges justified dismissal.

Issues

1. Whether the petitioner was denied adequate opportunity of defence, vitiating the order of punishment, where the oral enquiry proceeded and concluded in circumstances of the petitioner's own non-participation and refusal to cross-examine witnesses.
2. Whether the punishment of dismissal imposed upon the petitioner was excessive, unjust, or disproportionate to the charges found proved, so as to warrant interference under Articles 14 and 16 of the Constitution of India.

Held

On the first issue, the record showed that the petitioner and his Defence Assistant failed, without valid reason or prior intimation, to attend the enquiry on 25.07.1998; despite the Enquiry Officer's accommodation by a further adjournment with an express caution and liberty to change the Defence Assistant, the petitioner persisted in citing his Defence Assistant's unavailability, ultimately refused to cross-examine the Bank's witnesses when called upon to do so, and left the proceedings in the midst on 30.07.1998. A delinquent employee who has himself failed to participate in the enquiry cannot be permitted to complain of denial of adequate opportunity of hearing, following Union of India and others Vs. B.K. Srivastava, AIR 1998 SC 300. The Enquiry Officer was accordingly justified in proceeding notwithstanding the petitioner's conduct, and no violation of natural justice was made out. On the second issue, since the delinquent held the position of Branch Manager/Deputy Manager and the charges found proved involved lack of integrity and honesty, breach of trust, and creation of fictitious loan accounts causing monetary loss to the Bank, the Court held that judicial review of quantum of punishment is confined to cases where the punishment shocks the conscience of the Court or is wholly irrational/perverse, relying on Ranjit Thakur Vs. Union of India and others, (1987) 4 SCC 611, as explained in Union of India Vs. R.K. Sharma, (2001) 9 SCC 492, and reiterated in Union of India and others Vs. Bodupalli Gopalaswami, (2011) 13 SCC 553, and Prem Nath Bali Vs. Registrar, High Court of Delhi and others, AIR 2016 SC 101 (further followed in Commissioner of Police and others Vs. Sat Narayan Kaushik, AIR 2016 SC 1464). Where an employee holds a position of trust involving handling of public money or acting in a fiduciary capacity, the highest degree of integrity is an inbuilt requirement, and misconduct in such cases must be dealt with strictly, following Regional Manager, U.P.S.R.T.C., Etawah and others Vs. Hotilal and another, (2003) 3 SCC 605 (followed in West Bengal State Electricity Board and Ors. Vs. Hari Bhakta Ghosh, 2015 (1) SCT 73 SC), and Union of India and others Vs. Diler Singh. It is the loss of confidence in the employee, not the quantum of money misappropriated, that is the primary relevant factor for assessing proportionality of punishment for financial misconduct, following Divisional Controller, N.E.K.R.T.C. Vs. H. Amaresh, 2006 SCC 187, and Divisional Controller, KSRTC (NWKRTC) Vs. A.T. Mane, (2005) 3 SCC 254, with the gravity of corruption-related misconduct not to be judged by the amount involved, following Niranjan Hemchandra Sashittal and another Vs. State of Maharashtra, (2013) 4 SCC 642, and Rajasthan State TPT Corporation and another Vs. Bajrang Lal, (2014) 4 SCC 693, which held that no punishment other than dismissal is appropriate in cases of proven corruption. On facts, given the seriousness of the proved charges of dishonesty, breach of trust, and causing loss to a Bank of which the petitioner was custodian of public money, the punishment of dismissal was held to be neither excessive, unjust, nor arbitrary.

Result

Writ petition dismissed as devoid of merit.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Sudhir Agarwal, J.
Hon'ble Dr. Kaushal Jayendra Thaker, J.)

1. Heard Sri Pulak Ganguly, learned counsel for petitioner and Sri K.R. Singh Jadaun, counsel for respondent Bank.

2. This writ petition under Article 226 of Constitution of India is directed against punishment of dismissal imposed upon petitioner vide order dated 21.11.1998 and appellate order dated 14.08.2004 whereby petitioner's appeal has been dismissed.

3. Petitioner, Prem Narain Khanna, who held office of Deputy Manager in Central Bank of India (hereinafter referred to as "Bank") has been found guilty of serious charges, constituting misconduct hence punishment with penalty of dismissal from service was imposed vide order dated 21.11.1998 and his appeal has been rejected by Zonal Manager of Bank, vide order dated 05.08.2004, hence this writ petition under Article 226 of Constitution of India challenging both the aforesaid orders.

4. Petitioner joined Bank in 1964 on the post of Assistant Cashier and thereafter got due promotions from time to time. He was placed under suspension on 26.04.1996. Two First Information Reports dated 11.07.1996 and 12.07.1996 were lodged against him being Case no. 90 of 1996 under Sections 409, 420, 467 I.P.C. at Police Station Bisharatganj, Bareilly and Case Crime no. 412 of 1996 under Sections 409, 420 I.P.C. Police Station Qila, District Bareilly alleging criminal misappropriation and embezzlement of Bank's funds.

5. Since charges also constitute major misconduct in the discharge of official duty, disciplinary proceedings were also initiated against petitioner. Chargesheet dated 27.11.1996 was served upon him containing six charges.

6. Disciplinary authority appointed one Sri S.P. Singh as Enquiry Officer and after his transfer one B.S. Pandey, Senior Manager was appointed Enquiry Officer vide order dated 01.09.1997. He held proceedings on certain dates whereafter T.N. Sharma was appointed Enquiry Officer vide order dated 01.04.1998. He concluded oral hearing on 11.08.1998 and submitted enquiry report dated 14.08.1998 holding charges proved. Disciplinary authority agreed with the enquiry report, furnished copy thereof to petitioner and permitted him to submit representation. After considering petitioner's reply, the disciplinary authority passed order of punishment of dismissal on 21.11.1998.

7. Petitioner thereafter filed appeal vide memo of appeal dated 01.01.1999 which has been rejected by appellate authority vide order dated 05.02.2000. This order was challenged in Writ Petition no. 1657 of 2000 and this Court held that appellate order is non speaking. Thus it was set aside vide judgment dated 06.05.2004 and Court directed appellate authority to consider grounds taken by petitioner in paras 6 to 12 in memo of appeal and thereafter decide appeal. Pursuant thereto, impugned appellate order has been passed rejecting appeal on 05.08.2004.

8. Assailing impugned punishment and appellate orders, learned counsel for petitioner contended that oral enquiry was conducted exparte and petitioner was not given opportunity to cross examine witnesses hence entire proceedings are in utter violation of principles of natural justice.

9. Learned counsel appearing on behalf of Bank, on the contrary, submitted that despite repeated opportunity, petitioner himself did not avail opportunity of oral hearing, hence Enquiry Officer had no option but to proceed exparte. In these circumstances, petitioner cannot be heard to complain that he was not given adequate opportunity.

10. The punishment has also been challenged on the ground that it is excessive, unjust and does not commensurate to the charges found proved against petitioner, hence arbitrary and in violation of Article 14 and 16 of Constitution of India.

11. In reply to this conduct, learned counsel for Bank submitted that allegations of misappropriation and embezzlement of Bank's fund, due to collusion of petitioner, are such serious charges that if proved, guilty person cannot be allowed to continue in the service of Bank since Bank deals with public money and no person in service can be allowed in service who plundered with public money.

12. Two questions which we need to adjudicate in this writ petition are: (i) whether petitioner was denied adequate opportunity of defence vitiating order of punishment and (ii) whether punishment imposed upon petitioner is just, adequate and commensurate with the charges proved or arbitrary and illegal.

13. Six charges were leveled against petitioner vide chargesheet dated 27.11.1996 issued by Regional Manager, Bareilly in the capacity of disciplinary authority. It was served upon petitioner on 28.11.1996. Initially, one S.P. Singh was appointed as Enquiry Officer vide order dated 26.05.1997 but he was transferred and, therefore, Sri B.S. Pandey, Senior Manager, Bareilly Branch was appointed as Enquiry Officer vide order dated 01.09.1997. Later on Sri T.N. Sharma, Senior Manager, Regional Office, Agra was appointed as Enquiry Officer vide order dated 01.04.1998 who continued oral enquiry from the stage left by Sri B.S. Pandey. It appears that in oral enquiry which was conducted before 25.07.1998, petitioner along with Defence Assistant participated but he did not attend enquiry held on 25.07.1998. Petitioner did not inform about his absence on 25.07.1998 but later on he told that his Defence Assistant was not ready to attend proceedings on that date, having some other engagement, hence petitioner also did not participate in oral enquiry on 25.07.1998. Proceedings next continued on 28.07.1998 when also in the morning session petitioner did not appear before Enquiry Officer but came to attend oral enquiry at 1.30 p.m. Though he attended enquiry but requested for adjournment on the ground that his Defence Assistant is not present and therefore, he will not examine management witness MW-2 and requested for adjournment of enquiry. Enquiry Officer did not appreciate the manner in which Defence Assistant dealt with proceedings particularly since he did not care to inform Enquiry Officer about his absence. Still proceedings were adjourned upto 30.07.1998 with direction to petitioner to participate in the proceedings properly, and if Defence Assistant is not careful enough to attend regular proceedings, he may change and engage a Defence Assistant working at Bareilly itself. Enquiry Officer also informed petitioner that enquiry would not to be adjourned further.

14. Then petitioner informed Enquiry Officer that he will not change his Defence Assistant and on 30.07.1998 when oral hearing resumed, petitioner was present but informed Enquiry Officer that he could not contact his Defence Assistant. Enquiry Officer, however found that a letter dated 27.07.1998 sent by Defence Assistant to Regional Manager, Bareilly complaining against Enquiry Officer and requested intervention in oral proceedings. Petitioner again sought adjournment but it was not accepted by Enquiry Officer and it required petitioner to cross examine management witnesses to which petitioner refused. Hence enquiry continued. Subsequently petitioner left oral enquiry in the midst.

15. In these facts and circumstances, we do not find that petitioner can be permitted to raise objection that he was denied adequate opportunity of defence and enquiry was conducted exparte. Petitioner had no licence to keep enquiry proceedings adjourned at his own whims and caprice. When enquiry was fixed on 25.07.1998 there was no justification for the petitioner or his Defence Assistant not to attend enquiry on that date particularly without even taking care to inform Enquiry Officer about absence. No valid reason has been shown to abstain from inquiry on 25.07.1998.

16. So far as opportunity of cross examination of witnesses is concerned, minutes and proceedings of oral enquiry placed on record along with counter affidavit shows that petitioner was asked to cross examine management witnesses but he refused and in the midst left enquiry on 30.07.1998. Enquiry Officer in the circumstances, was justified in continuing to proceed with oral enquiry.

17. We also find that Enquiry Officer found that all the six charges were proved which have been concurred by disciplinary authority and thereupon punishment of dismissal had been imposed.

18. In Union of India and others Vs B.K. Srivastava, AIR 1998 SC 300, it was held that a delinquent employee if has himself failed to participate in enquiry, cannot be allowed to raise objection that he was denied adequate opportunity of hearing.

19. In the circumstances, we are not inclined to accept the contention that petitioner was denied adequate opportunity of defence. Therefore, first question is answered against petitioner.

20. Then comes the second question, whether punishment imposed upon petitioner is excessive, unjust and does not commensurate with the charges proved against him.

21. Petitioner was Branch Manager in a Bank. The charges levelled against him which have been found proved are lack of integrity, honesty, devotion to duty, causing serious breach of trust, besides monetary loss to Bank. It is alleged that petitioner caused fictitious loan accounts drawing fund from Bank, as a result whereof, Bank suffered losses.

22. Dealing with the case of a Bank employee, in Bank of India and others Vs T. Jogram, 2007 (7) SCC 236, Court held;

"in absence of any material to show that there was procedural irregularity/illegality in conducting enquiry and there is no case of violation of principles of natural justice or malafide in a matter of punishment of Bank employee, Court shall not exercise power of judicial review in the matter of punishment."

23. Again in Regional Manager, U.P.S.R.T.C., Etawah and others Vs Hotilal and another, 2003 (3) SCC 605, Court said;

"If the charged employee holds a position of trust where honesty and integrity are inbuilt requirements of functioning, it would not be proper to deal with the matter leniently. Misconduct in such cases has to be dealt with iron hands. Where the person deals with public money or is engaged in financial transaction or acts in a fiduciary capacity, highest degree of integrity and trust-worthiness is must and unexceptionable. Judged in that background, conclusions of the Division Bench of the High Court do not appear to be proper. We set aside the same and restore order of learned Single Judge upholding order of dismissal."

24. The above view has been followed in West Bengal State Electricity Board and Ors. Vs Hari Bhakta Ghosh, 2015 (1) SCT 73 SC.

25. Interference with punishment, imposed by disciplinary authority after considering gravity of charge, is not a routine matter but limited to the case where punishment is such so as to shock the conscience and only then Court may interfere and not otherwise.

26. In Ranjit Thakur Vs Union of India and others, (1987) 4 SCC 611, Court held;

"judicial review generally speaking, is not directed against a decision, but is directed against the "decision making process". The question of the choice and quantum of punishment is within the jurisdiction and discretion of the competent authority. But the sentence has to suit the offence and the offender. It should not be vindictive or unduly harsh. It should not be so disproportionate to the offence as to shock the conscience and amount in itself to conclusive evidence of bias. If one can say that punishment imposed is wholly irrational and perverse it is a recognised ground of judicial review."

27. This judgment was explained in Union of India Vs R.K. Sharma, 2001 (9) SCC 492, and Court said;

"in Ranjit Thakur, the charge was ridiculous, the punishment was harsh and disproportionate and it was on such gross facts that this Court had held that the punishment was so strikingly disproportionate that it called for interference; and the said observations in Ranjit Thakur are not to be taken to mean that a court can, while exercising the power of judicial review, interfere with the punishment merely because it considers the punishment to be disproportionate. It was held that only in extreme cases, which on their face, show perversity or irrationality, there could be judicial review and merely on compassionate grounds, courts should not interfere."

(emphasis added)

28. Both the aforesaid judgments have been noticed and reiterated in Union of India and others Vs Bodupalli Gopalaswami, (2011) 13 SCC 553.

29. In Prem Nath Bali Vs Registrar, High Court of Delhi and others, AIR 2016 SC 101, question arose, 'whether punishment of compulsory retirement was excessive, unjust and does not commensurate with the charge proved against delinquent employee. Court said;

"once the charges leveled against the delinquent employee are proved then it is for the appointing authority to decide as to what punishment should be imposed on the delinquent employee as per the Rules. The appointing authority, keeping in view the nature and gravity of the charges, findings of the inquiry officer, entire service record of the delinquent employee and all relevant factors relating to the delinquent, exercised its discretion and then imposed the punishment as provided in the Rules.

Once such discretion is exercised by the appointing authority in inflicting the punishment (whether minor or major) then the Courts are slow to interfere in the quantum of punishment and only in rare and appropriate case substitutes the punishment.

Such power is exercised when the Court finds that the delinquent employee is able to prove that the punishment inflicted on him is wholly unreasonable, arbitrary and disproportionate to the gravity of the proved charges thereby shocking the conscious of the Court or when it is found to be in contravention of the Rules."

30. The above observations are reiterated in Commissioner of Police and others Vs Sat Narayan Kaushik, AIR 2016 SC 1464. In the matter of punishment it is always relevant, to consider the position, delinquent employee was holding, what was nature of his duties, degree of trust, integrity etc. maintained by such person and other relevant factors.

31. In the matter of a member of disciplined force, who left campus without prior permission, proceeded to the market, consumed liquor and quarrelled with the civilians, it was held that punishment of dismissal cannot be said to be disproportionate or excessive. In Union of India and others Vs Diler Singh, MANU/SC/0719/2016, Court held,

"when a member of the disciplined force deviates to such an extent from the discipline and behaves in an untoward manner which is not conceived of, it was difficult to hold that the punishment of dismissal as was imposed was disproportionate and shocking to the judicial conscience."

32. In Divisional Controller, N.E.K.R.T.C. Vs. H. Amaresh, 2006 SCC 187, dealing with the question of quantum of punishment, Court held,

"mis-appropriation of the funds by the delinquent employee was only Rs. 360.95 but it is not question of quantum of money misappropriated by delinquent employee but it is a question of loss of confidence and the basic aptitude of lack of integrity on the part of such person. Court said "This Court in a catena of judgments held that the loss of confidence as the primary factor and not the amount of money mis-appropriated and that the sympathy or generosity cannot be a factor which is impermissible in law. When an employee is found guilty of pilferage or of mis-appropriating a Corporation's funds, there is nothing wrong in the Corporation losing confidence or faith in such an employee and awarding punishment of dismissal. In such cases, there is no place for generosity or misplaced sympathy on the part of the judicial forums and interfering therefore with the quantum of punishment."

33. In Divisional Controller, KSRTC (NWKRTC) Vs. A.T. Mane, (2005) 3 SCC 254, the amount found to be in possession of unaccounted money was only Rs. 93/-, but dealing with the question of quantum of punishment, Court said;

"..... question of quantum of punishment, one should bear in mind the fact that it is not the amount of money misappropriated that becomes a primary factor for awarding punishment, on the contrary, it is the loss of confidence which is the primary factor to be taken into consideration. In our opinion, when a person is found guilty of misappropriating corporation's fund, there is nothing wrong in the corporation losing confidence or faith in such a person and awarding a punishment of dismissal."

34. In Niranjan Hemchandra Sashittal and another Vs State of Maharashtra, (2013) 4 SCC 642, Court in para 25 of judgment said;

"In the present day scenario, corruption has been treated to have the potentiality of corroding the marrows of the economy. There are cases where the amount is small and in certain cases, it is extremely high. The gravity of the offence in such a case, is not to be adjudged on the bedrock of the quantum of bribe. An attitude to abuse the official position to extend favour in lieu of benefit is a crime against the collective and an anathema to the basic tenet of democracy, for it erodes the faith of the people in the system. It creates an incurable concavity in the Rule of Law....."

35. In Rajasthan State TPT Corporation and another Vs. Bajrang Lal, (2014) 4 SCC 693, Court said;

" in cases involving corruption-there cannot be any other punishment than dismissal. Any sympathy shown in such cases is totally uncalled for and opposed to public interest. The amount misappropriated may be small or large; it is the act of misappropriation that is relevant."

36. We do not propose to multiply the authorities on this aspect and suffice it to mention that dishonesty, lack of integrity on the part of an official of Bank going to the extent of helping a scrupulous person to the extent that it may cause loss to Bank, of which, the official is custodian and holding position in trust, is a very serious matter. It is the aptitude of a person who leans towards dishonesty and corruption or bad conduct, that needs be punished. The circumstances or quantum of loss or amount of misappropriation or other things cannot be considered as a justification for such misconduct on the part of official concerned, so as to justify a lenient view on the issue of punishment.

37. A Bank official holds a position where public money is kept in trust and he is custodian thereof. If he causes any loss to public money on account of any lack of good conduct on his part such person must be dealt with iron hands and there is no question of leniency or sympathy. In fact any indulgence in such matter will make even Court a party to such dishonest action, which has to be avoided, prevented and is totally uncalled for, since a Court cannot be a party to a misdeed of a person. On the contrary, once a person had indulged in misconduct, lack of integrity or honesty etc., adequate preventive punishment which may be a lesson to others also, is need of the day.

38. In the present case, looking to seriousness of charges which have been proved against petitioner, we have no hesitation in holding that the same, neither can be said to be excessive, nor unjust, nor otherwise arbitrary, justifying any interference. Hence second question is also answered against petitioner. No other point has been argued.

39. Writ petition lacks merit and is accordingly dismissed.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Pankaj Mithal, J.)

1. Heard Sri Anshul Kumar Singhal, learned counsel for the petitioner and perused the pleadings exchanged between the parties.

2. The name of the petitioner company was ordered to be struck off vide notification dated 11.05.2010 issued by the Registrar of the Companies U.P. and Uttarakhand in exercise of powers under Section 560 (5) of the Companies Act, 1956 (hereinafter referred as the 'Act') and the same is said to have been published in the gazette for the period 22nd May, 2010 to 28th May, 2010.

3. The above action of the Registrar of the Companies has been impugned by the petitioner by filing this petition under Section 560 (6) of the Act.

4. The Registrar of the Companies filed a counter affidavit and this Court vide order dated 02.02.2016 permitted him to bring on record the details of the entire procedure followed by him sequence wise for striking the name of the petitioner company along with the supporting documents.

5. In pursuance to the above order the Registrar of the Companies has filed supplementary affidavit.

6. The submission of learned counsel for the petitioner is that the procedure laid down under Section 560 of the Act was not followed by the Registrar of the Companies in passing the impugned order and directing for striking of the name of the petitioner company. He submits that the second letter was not sent within time; there is no publication of any notice in the gazette, the notice of the publication in the gazette was not sent to the petitioner company by registered post; and that the final order was also not published in the official gazette as contemplated by Section 560 (5) of the Act.

7. Section 560 of the Act prescribe that the Registrar of the Companies is empowered to strike the name of any company from the register of the companies provided he has reasonable cause to believe that the company is not carrying on business or is in operation. However, before passing any such order so as the inquire whether the company is carrying on business or not he is required to send to the company concerned a letter by post inquiring whether the company is functional or not.

8. If the Registrar does not receive any reply to the aforesaid letter within one month, he is required to send a second letter by post within fourteen days after the expiry of one month, informing the company that if no answer is received within a month a notice shall be published in the gazette with the view to strike off the name of the company.

9. Even then if no reply is received to the second letter within one month, he shall cause a notice to be published in the official gazette expressing intention to strike off the name of the company from the register of the company at the expiration of three months unless cause is shown to the contrary. It is thereafter on the expiry of time mentioned in the gazette if no cause to the contrary is shown, the Registrar may strike off the name of the company and publish a notice thereof in gazette, whereupon the company shall stand dissolved.

10. The above procedure is mandatory before passing an order for striking the name of the company and to make publication in the official gazette that the company stand dissolved.

11. In the instant case, the Registrar of the Companies as per his own showing had sent the first letter by post to the company on 15.10.2009. Therefore, the second letter by registered post was to be sent by him within fourteen days on the expiry of one month thereof i.e. up to 30th November, 2009, but the Registrar of the Companies issued the second letter by Registered/Speed post on 18.12.2009 much after the expiry of stipulated period of fourteen days from the expiry of one month of the first letter. Thus, committing breach of Section 560 (2) of the Act in sending the second letter.

12. After the second letter was sent by registered post, the Registrar of the Companies is said to have published a notice in the official gazette for the period 24th April, 2010 to 30th April, 2010 with the view to strike off name of the petitioner company but no such notice has been brought on record to show the contents of the notice published in the gazette. In fact a perusal of annexure-5 to the supplementary affidavit reveals that no notice as contemplated by Section 560 (3) of the Act was published in the gazette except the names of the proposed companies including that of the petitioner company which were to be struck off. Such a notification without expressing any intention to strike off the name of the company is no publication as mandated under the provisions of Section 560 (3) of the Act.

13. The notice intimating that the name of the company shall be struck off and it will stand dissolved on the expiry of three months required to be sent by registered post was sent on 11.02.2010, but there is nothing on record to indicate that it was sent by registered post. Not even an averment to this effect has been made in the affidavit that it was sent by registered post. Thus, again breach of Section 560 (3) occurred on part of the Registrar of the Companies.

14. The Registrar of the Companies finally vide notification dated 11.05.2010 passed an order that the name of the company has been struck off and that it has been dissolved. This order/notification required to be published in the official gazette in accordance with the provisions of Section 560 (5) of the Act. According to the Registrar of the Companies it has been published in the gazette on 22nd May to 28th May, 2010, but again the said gazette only contains the name of the company but no recital to the effect that the name of the company has been struck off and it has been dissolved . Thus, the said publication is incomplete and is not in accordance with law.

15. Apart from the above, the first publication was made in the gazette dated 24th April 2010 to 30th April, 2010. The registered post notice thereof was issued on 11.02.2010. The publication in the official gazette and the notice by registered post allows three months time before taking a final decision to strike off the name of the company. However, the final order to struck off the name of the company was passed on 11.05.2010 even before the period of three months had expired from the publication of the gazette by taking three months period from the date of the notice. The date of the notice is not relevant and material when a notice to that effect was also to be published in the gazette. In that case the date of publication of the notice in the gazette would be taken to be the date of notice for the purposes of allowing three months period for striking off the name of the company. The Registrar of the Companies thus, manifestly erred in passing the order dated 11.5.2010 even before the period of three months had expired from the notice contemplated under Section 560 (3) of the Act. Moreover, it may not be out of context to state that none of the notice issued by the Registrar of the Companies mentioned that he has reason to believe that the company is not carrying on business or is not in operation or that in the absence of reply given by the company he is satisfied that the company is non-functional. In such circumstances, not only there is violation of procedure prescribed for striking off the name of the company from the register of the company but there appears to be no reason on part of the Registrar of the Companies to believe that the company is defunct.

16. In view of the aforesaid facts and circumstances, the impugned order dated 11.05.2010 and publication of the name of the petitioner company in the gazette of 22nd May 2010 to 28th May, 2010 are set aside and the name of the company is directed to be restored to its original place in the register of the Companies maintained by the Registrar of the Companies U.P. and Uttarakhand.

17. The company petition stands allowed.

Proceeding:

Writ Petition under Article 226 of the Constitution of India (Writ Tax) challenging illegal detention of vehicle by Commercial Tax Authorities and seeking compensation for arbitrary and unauthorized exercise of power by public officials.

Issue:
Whether Commercial Tax Authorities have jurisdiction under the relevant Tax Statute to seize or detain a vehicle while intercepting goods in transit, and whether unauthorized detention of vehicle by a public servant entitles the petitioner to compensatory costs and disciplinary action against the erring officer.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Sudhir Agarwal, J.
Hon'ble Dr. Kaushal Jayendra Thaker, J.)

1. Heard Sri Ashok Kumar, learned counsel for petitioners and Sri C.B. Tripathi, learned Standing Counsel for respondents.

2. Grievance of petitioner is that respondent-3 intercepted petitioner's vehicle, i.e., Truck No. RG-01 GB-5544 carrying certain goods at National Highway-24 and asked petitioner-2 to hand over all documents relating to goods. The documents available with petitioner-2 were handed over to which respondent-3 alleged that there are certain discrepancies and therefore seized the goods along with vehicle on 03.10.2014 despite request of Driver to unload the goods and release vehicle. However, without any power or authority of seizure of vehicle and without seizing the vehicle with due process of law, respondent-3 illegally detained vehicle for more than 25 days and thereafter lodged report bearing Case Crime No. 1755 dated 31.10.2014 under Section 420, 120B, 467, 468, 470, 471 and 472 I.P.C. at Police Indirapuram but vehicle in question was not handed over to Police but remained under custody of respondent-3. It is only when all these facts were brought to the notice of this Court and this Court passed following order on 22.1.2015, vehicle in question was released:

"Sri C.B. Tripathi, the learned Special Counsel for the State has received instructions indicating that the vehicle has been detained on the instructions of the Investigating Officer pursuant to the lodging of an FIR and on that ground, the vehicle has not been released in favour of the petitioner.

The learned Special Counsel further submitted that appropriate orders may be passed by the Court for release of the vehicle forthwith. The learned Special Counsel further stated that a short time may be given to file a counter affidavit to bring all these facts on record.

The law is settled, namely, that the commercial tax authorities cannot detain and seize the vehicle under the Act. Such detention of the vehicle for over 3 and a 1/2 months is prima facie without any sanction of law. We further find that the police authorities has not been seized the truck under any provision of the criminal law pursuant to the lodging of an FIR against the petitioner. In that event, the commercial tax authorities had no justification to detain the truck in question.

Consequently, we are of the opinion that heavy cost/compensation is to be awarded to the petitioner, which will be recovered from the erring officials of the commercial tax department.

For this limited purpose the respondents may file a counter affidavit within a week.

List on 29th January, 2015.

In the meanwhile, we direct that the Vehicle No.RJ01 GB 5544 detained by the Assistant Commissioner, Commercial Tax, Mobile Squad Unit No.2-respondent no.3 shall be released forthwith.

Certified copy of this order shall be made available to the learned counsel for the petitioner on payment of usual charges today itself.

3. Today, learned counsel appearing for respondents could not dispute that under the Statute, Tax authorities can seize goods but there is no power for seizure of vehicle. He also could not explain as to how respondent-3 could detain vehicle from 03.10.2014 to 31.10.2014, when for the first time, first information report was lodged and even thereafter when Police did not take custody of vehicle why the vehicle remain to be detained by respondent-3.

4. Petitioner claimed that vehicle has been financed by Bank and petitioner has been incurring continuous liability but on account of wholly illegal, unauthorized and arbitrary action on the part of respondent-3, said vehicle remained detained with respondent-3 for almost three months causing huge loss to petitioner. It could not ply for all this period only because of the high handedness of respondent-3.

5. Since it is not in dispute that respondent-3 had no authority to seize vehicle in question, we are satisfied that detention of vehicle on 03.10.2014 by respondent 3 and thereafter was wholly illegal, unauthorized and without jurisdiction. This has caused avoidable loss to petitioner only for illegal act of respondent-3.

6. Respondent-3 being a Public Servant and holder of a civil post exercising certain authority under Tax statute, is supposed to act strictly in accordance with law and not to act arbitrarily, to satisfy his own ego or harass a common man. A Government official holding a high position is under a duty and obligation to ensure that a citizen and a common man is actually served by him since he is representing a welfare State instead of causing harassment in one or the other way. Nobody holding howsoever high Office can treat law on to himself so as to act in any manner which is irrational, unreasonable and even unconstitutional. It is really surprising as to how respondent-3, when lacked any authority to seize and detain vehicle in question, continued to do so. When this Court made certain observations, respondent-3 immediately released vehicle which shows that there was no justification or valid cause for such detention. Thus unauthorized act on the part of respondent-3 is illegal, besides socially and morally obnoxious, for the reason that it has resulted in causing huge burden upon petitioner- owner of vehicle not only to continue to incur liability of interest etc. on the loan it has taken for purchase of vehicle, but also to suffer loss of income which petitioner could have earned while plying the vehicle during this period and for this loss if anyone is responsible, he is only respondent-3.

7. The respondents being "State" under Article 12 of the Constitution of India, its officers are public functionaries. In our Constitution, sovereignty vest in the people. Every limb of constitutional machinery therefore is obliged to be people oriented. Public authorities acting in violation of constitutional or statutory provisions oppressively are accountable for their behaviour. It is high time that this Court should remind respondents that they are expected to perform in a more responsible and reasonable manner so as not to cause undue and avoidable harassment to the public at large. Respondents have support of entire machinery and various powers of statute. An ordinary citizen or a common man is hardly equipped to match such might of State or its instrumentalities. Harassment of a common man by public authorities is socially abhorring and legally impressible. This may harm the common man personally but the injury to society is far more grievous. Crime and corruption, thrive and prosper in society due to lack of public resistance. An ordinary citizen instead of complaining and fighting, mostly succumbs to the pressure of undesirable functioning in offices instead of standing against it. It is on account of, sometimes, lack of resources or unmatched status which gives feeling of helplessness to a common man. Nothing is more damaging than the feeling of helplessness. Even in ordinary matters a common man who has neither political backing nor financial strength to match inaction in public oriented departments, gets frustrated and it erodes credibility in the system. This is unfortunate that matters which require immediate attention are allowed to linger on and remain unattended. No authority can allow itself to act in a manner which is arbitrary. Public administration no doubt involves a vast amount of administrative discretion which shields action of administrative authority but where it is found that the exercise of power is capricious or other than bona fide, it is the duty of Court to take effective steps and rise to occasion otherwise confidence of common man is likely to be shaken. It is the responsibility of Court, in such matters, to immediately rescue such common man so that he may have the confidence that he is not helpless but a bigger authority is there to take care of him and to restrain arbitrary and arrogant, unlawful action/inaction or illegal exercise of power on the part of public functionaries.

8. In our system, Constitution is supreme, but the real power vests in the people of India. Constitution has been enacted "for the people, by the people and of the people". A public functionary cannot be permitted to act like a dictator causing harassment to a common man.

9. Echoing harassment, a common man suffers, and most of times silently, having no capacity to counter or protest, Court in Lucknow Development Authority Vs. M.K. Gupta JT 1993 (6) SC 307, referring to observations of Lord Hailsham in Cassell & Co. Ltd. Vs. Broome, 1972 AC 1027 and Lord Devlin in Rooks Vs. Barnard and others 1964 AC 1129, said as under:

"An Ordinary citizen or a common man is hardly equipped to match the might of the State or its instrumentalities. That is provided by the rule of law..... A public functionary if he acts maliciously or oppressively and the exercise of power results in harassment and agony then it is not an exercise of power but its abuse. No law provides protection against it. He who is responsible for it must suffer it.....Harassment of a common man by public authorities is socially abhorring and legally impermissible. It may harm him personally but the injury to society is far more grievous." (para 10)

10. Said observations have been reiterated and followed in a subsequent judgment in Ghaziabad Development Authority Vs. Balbir Singh JT 2004 (5) SC 17.

11. In a democratic system governed by rule of law, Government does not mean a lax Government. The public servants hold their offices in trust and are expected to perform with due diligence particularly so that their action or inaction may not cause any undue hardship and harassment to a common man. Whenever it comes to the notice of this Court that Government or its officials have acted with gross negligence and unmindful action causing harassment of a common and helpless man, this Court has and never would be a silent spectator but always react to bring authorities within rule book or to make them accountable.

12. In Registered Society Vs. Union of India and Others (1996) 6 SCC 530, court said:

"No public servant can say "you may set aside an order on the ground of mala fide but you can not hold me personally liable" No public servant can arrogate in himself the power to act in a manner which is arbitrary".

13. In Shivsagar Tiwari Vs. Union of India (1996) 6 SCC 558, Court has held:

"An arbitrary system indeed must always be a corrupt one. There never was a man who thought he had no law but his own will who did not soon find that he had no end but his own profit."

14. In Delhi Development Authority Vs. Skipper Construction and Another AIR 1996 SC 715 Court has held as follows:

"A democratic Government does not mean a lax Government. The rules of procedure and/or principles of natural justice are not meant to enable the guilty to delay and defeat the just retribution. The wheel of justice may appear to grind slowly but it is duty of all of us to ensure that they do grind steadily and grind well and truly. The justice system cannot be allowed to become soft, supine and spineless."

15. In the present case also, we find, when a vehicle like a Truck of petitioner is stopped by an Officer of Government, whether in Tax department of elsewhere, without any authority on the spot, the person present on the site finds it difficult, how to protect its rights. The dilemma and helplessness of petitioner is writ large. It has suffered illegal detention of vehicle by respondent-3 for more than two months. Thereafter finding no other way, invoked extraordinary equitable jurisdiction of this Court. If these activities are not taken seriously and ignored, may encourage others to perpetuate such activities of illegal detention and would give them an opportunity to negotiate with sufferer(s) to either part away some illegal consideration for release of vehicle else continue to suffer. The attitude and action on the part of respondent-3 in detention of vehicle is nothing but a blatant example of dishonest and corrupt act on the part of a Government servant. The public authorities like respondent-3 find various ways in depriving common man of his simple right of speech, movement, business, profession etc. and time and again create obstruction knowing it well that an option of litigation, in the present scenario, is a much more costly, time consuming and difficult process which will deter sufferer from availing such option of knocking doors of justice and instead doers of wrong would be successful in negotiating terms in an illegal manner with sufferer. We can not be oblivious of these practices and activities and illegal deprivation on the part of officials having authority and in the garb of such authority harassing public by illegal demonstration of such authority.

16. Looking into entire facts and circumstances, we are satisfied that here is a case where petitioner deserves to be compensated by respondent-3 with an exemplary cost which is compensatory as also an illustration of preventative measure against recurrence of such activities on the part of respondents.

17. We, therefore dispose of this writ petition with cost of Rs. 2 lacs which shall be paid at the first instance by respondent-1 since respondent-3 is the official and agent of respondent-1, but it shall have liberty to recover such amount from authority concerned who is responsible for such illegal action of detention of petitioner's vehicle on 03.10.2014 and onwards.

18. Besides, we also direct respondent-1 to look into the matter and take appropriate disciplinary action against concerned Officer who had indulged in such an illegal activity and pass appropriate order by completing disciplinary proceeding within a period of three months.

19. A compliance report shall be submitted by respondent-1 within four months through an affidavit of respondent-1.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Amreshwar Pratap Sahi, J.
Hon'ble Dr. Vijay Laxmi, J.)

1. This appeal has been filed in the name and on behalf of the Committee of Management Shri Adarsh Sanskrit Vidyalaya which is a Society registered under the Societies Registration Act, 1860 through its alleged Manager Shri Sarju Prasad Dubey. It questions the judgment of the learned Single Judge dated 5.7.2016 whereby the petition filed by the respondent Nos.1 and 2 herein has been allowed, and the order of the Deputy Registrar, Faizabad dated 6.8.2013 giving directions to hold fresh elections and the consequential orders finalizing the election schedule and membership dated 23.8.2013 as well as the elections held on 1.9.2013 has been quashed.

2. The Society has been allowed to be managed in the meantime under the supervision of the Principal of a Government Inter College as was directed earlier by a learned Single Judge vide judgment dated 13.3.2013 in Writ Petition No.5043 (MS) of 2010.

3. The Deputy Registrar has been further directed to re-consider the entire matter particularly the objections raised by the respondent Nos.1 and 2 with regard to the allegations of forgery, concoction and fabrication of documents resulting in the passing of the previous orders of the Deputy Registrar.

4. The Society has established a Sanskrit School and was being managed by a Committee of Management. The said Committee that had been previously elected and was in power had held elections on 10.8.2005 on the strength whereof renewal was sought and the Society was renewed under the 1860 Act on 19.3.2008 for a period of five years w.e.f. 10.10.2005.

5. According to the contesting respondents, a letter was dispatched on 12.2.2007 to the Deputy Registrar informing him about the aforesaid elections dated 10.8.2005 and alongwith the letter the proceedings dated 10.8.2005 were also sent containing the name of all 26 members of the General Body which did not include the name of either one Hriday Narayan Mishra or the appellant Sarju Prasad Dubey.

6. The dispute began thereafter when Hriday Narayan Mishra, who according to the respondent Nos.1 and 2 was a rank trespasser, operated hand in gloves with one Maan Singh hatching a conspiracy in the office of the Deputy Registrar, and manipulated the status of all genuine documents by replacing them and changing them with documents bearing forged signatures of the respondent No.2, including altering of the entire membership of the General Body as also the list of office bearers that had been filed before the Deputy Registrar, Firms, Societies and Chits. According to the respondent Nos.1 and 2, this was again attempted by Sri Hriday Narayan Mishra through some forged documents dated 9.9.2009 and a forged letter allegedly signed by the appellant informing of the holding of fresh elections held on 10.8.2009 that was allegedly confirmed on 6.9.2009. This document for the first time indicated Mr. Man Singh as the President and the appellant/Sarju Prasad Dubey as the Vice-President and Sri Hriday Narayan Mishra as the Manager. It also reflected the respondent No.2 as a Member of the Committee of Management and according to the respondents, the signatures of the respondent No.2 were forged on the said letter. This letter finds place as Annexure - 9 to the original record of the writ petition.

7. On discovering this development, the respondent No.2, who claims himself to be the then Manager filed a complaint and also requested for supply of all the documents that were forged and fabricated and inserted into the file including the list of members of the general body vide representation dated 26.10.2009. Since Sri Hriday Narayan Mishra had been shown to be the Manager and against whom the complaint had been filed, he also submitted a reply giving a list of Members of the General Body 25 in number claiming that they are all Life Members of the Society and they had deposited the fee. This was countered by a detailed reply by the respondent No.2 on 29.1.2010. A copy of the same is Annexure - 12 to the record of the writ petition and it categorically states that documents at pages 370 to 385 be all cancelled as they are fake and manipulated. At the same time, it was also alleged that the entire membership of the General Body as reflected by Hriday Narayan Mishra was fake and a particular grievance was raised about Hriday Narayan Mishra that his membership that was being claimed w.e.f. 12.7.1976 was fake, inasmuch as his date of birth as shown in his records is 6.7.1967. It was therefore alleged that if the date of birth of Hriday Narayan Mishra was 6.7.1967, then he was a minor as on the date of the alleged acquisition of membership on 12.7.1976 being only 9 years old and this established his forgery and fake identify to somehow or the other to enter into the Society. It was also alleged by the contesting respondents that under the Right to Information Act, the Membership List was provided to the respondent No.2 for the years 1982 till 1986 which nowhere mentioned the name of either Man Singh or Hriday Narayan Mishra or any of their associates. A copy of the list has been filed as Annexure - 13 to the writ petition which also does not find the name of the appellant Sri Sarju Prasad Dubey. The forgery by introducing fake lists of office bearers and members of the general body subsequently and removing the original ones reflected otherwise and these fake lists had never seen the light of the day before the dispute arose. It is this forgery and fabrication that was complained of by the respondents.

8. On the strength of his alleged fake elections dated 10.8.2009 as Manager/Hriday Narayan Mishra succeeded in getting the signatures attested from the District Inspector of Schools on 12.3.2010 but that was stayed by the Joint Director on 12.3.2010 itself.

9. The contesting respondents thereafter made complaints before the Registrar and Deputy Registrar respectively on 17.5.2010 and 24.5.2010 alleging that these manipulations and fake documents were inserted with the connivance of the officials of the Registrar, particularly one Shekhar Babu (Office Staff) who with great difficulty disclosed the contents of the order sheet after avoiding to the best of his ability. Alongwith the said letters, the respondent No.2 also submitted the Membership Lists of 1989, 1990, 1993 and of the year 2000 stating therein that these documents were available on the record of the file at particular pages to demonstrate that Hriday Narayan Mishra and his associates were never members and they have tried to usurp the Society by inserting a Membership List and list of office bearers which are fake. Not only this, other documents pertaining to the institution were also forged by endorsing the fake signatures of Ram Nath Mishra/respondent No.2.

10. Despite this entire material being placed on record, the objections filed by the respondent No.2 were rejected and vide order dated 13.7.2010, the Deputy Registrar acknowledged the documents and membership of Hriday Narayan Mishra and held him to be the validly elected Manager. The said order of the Deputy Registrar dated 13.7.2010 was challenged in the High Court before the learned Single Judge in Writ Petition No.5043 (MS) of 2010 that was enclosed with the counter affidavit filed on behalf of the Deputy Registrar in the petition giving rise to this appeal which is on record.

11. There was a previous dispute of the Society that had commenced in 1993 but the same would not be relevant for the purpose of the present controversy except for the fact that the dispute of elections was decided by the Prescribed Authority, Jalalpur, Faizabad vide his order dated 18.6.1999 recognizing Sri Ram Nath Mishra and his Committee as the valid committee subject to any challenge being raised in this regard. The fact however remains that Ram Nath Mishra was throughout contesting the claims as against his Committee of Management, and with this new dispute also raised all the aforesaid pleas against Hriday Narayan Mishra and his associates before the Deputy Registrar/ who on 13.7.2010 held that Hriday Narayan Mishra was a valid member since 1976 and had been elected as a Manager on 12.8.2008. These elections were also according to the Deputy Registrar recognized by the District Inspector of Schools in respect of the institution.

12. The aforesaid order dated 13.7.2010 was challenged by Ram Nath Mishra/respondent No.2 by filing Writ Petition No.5043 (MS) of 2010 as noted above where one of the principal grounds of challenge was the continuance of Sri Hriday Narayan Mishra as Manager and recognized by the District Inspector of School being invalid on the very fundamental issue of his date of birth as referred to here-in-above and additionally, the manipulations made in the records of the Deputy Registrar's office by inserting papers and files of fake lists that had been detailed in the representations on record and mentioned here-in-above. The said writ petition was contested by Sri Hriday Narayan Mishra and after contest, the learned Single Judge of this Court vide judgment dated 13.3.2013 came to the conclusion that the Deputy Registrar has adopted an incorrect course of appreciating the evidence on the issue relating to the date of birth of Hriday Narayan Mishra and accordingly directed a High Level Enquiry to be conducted by the Secretary of the Secondary Education with regard to the correct date of birth of Hriday Narayan Mishra. The Deputy Registrar was directed to proceed to decide the issue afresh after addressing to the submissions of the parties concerned and a direction was given to examine the matter again after receiving the report from the Secretary, Secondary Education about the date of birth as claimed by Sri Hriday Narayan Mishra.

13. In the meantime, the Society was directed to be managed by the Principal of the Government Inter College, Ambedkar Nagar. Thus, under the orders of the Court, the management of the Society stood superseded with the directions of deciding the matter in the light of the observations made in the judgment dated 13.3.2013 where a serious doubt had been expressed by the Court itself about the date of birth of Hriday Narayan Mishra who was claiming himself to be the Manager as against the respondent No.2/Ram Nath Mishra. The said judgment is Annexure - 18 to the writ petition.

14. When the matter returned back before the Deputy Registrar as per the aforesaid judgment of this Court, the Deputy Registrar was informed by the Secretary of the U.P. Board of Secondary Education vide letter dated 1.5.2013 that Sri Hriday Narayan Mishra, S/o Durga Prasad Mishra had appeared in the High School Examinations of 1975 who passed the High School in 3rd division with a roll number and his date of birth as reflected therein was 6.5.1960 and not 6.5.1958 as alleged by Hriday Narayan Mishra nor 6.7.1967. Thus, it was established that Hriday Narayan Mishra had filed a fake document and had depicted a wrong date of birth, i.e., 6.5.1958 before the Deputy Registrar.

15. On receiving this information, the Deputy Registrar proceeded to again re-hear the matter and Hriday Narayan Mishra also contested the same by filing his application on 15.7.2013. The respondent No.2 also filed his objections, written submissions and letters alleging the manipulations in the entire Membership List of the General Body and the office bearers once again and also levelling allegations against the manipulations that were made in the file with the connivance of the officials of the office of the Deputy Registrar. Allegations were also made against the Deputy Registrar about mala fides and his personal conduct before the Registrar and the District Magistrate by the respondent No.2 stating that there was total non-cooperation by the officials and that the entire office of the Deputy Registrar, Faizabad was bent upon to help Hriday Narayan Mishra. The applications and the written submissions filed by the respondent No.2 indicate a clear allegation being made about the issue of the forgery and fake documents being replaced and inserted in the file including the membership of the General Body and the list of office bearers.

16. The Deputy Registrar while reconsidering the matter recorded a clear finding that the date of birth of Sri Hriday Narayan Mishra, if taken to be 6.5.1960, as correct, then on 12.7.1976 he was a minor and therefore his membership was declared to be a nullity under the order dated 6.8.2013.

17. The Deputy Registrar however abruptly closed the matter by declaring that the list of 25 members as submitted by Sri Hriday Narayan Mishra would be treated to be valid for holding of fresh elections except his name and therefore, the General Body List of 24 members excluding Hriday Narayan Mishra was accepted by the Deputy Registrar which also formed the basis of the directions issued on 23.8.2013 to hold fresh elections. This list included Man Singh as also Sarju Prasad Dubey, the appellant who were throughout being contested by the respondent No.2 as being fake members for various reasons as indicated in their objections and representations. The list of 24 members was entirely contrary to what that was relied upon by the respondent No.2.

18. The respondent No.2 had clearly asserted that the lists which had been received by him under the Right to Information Act from the office of the Deputy Registrar for certain periods as referred to here-in-above nowhere indicated the names of either Hriday Narayan Mishra or Sarju Prasad Dubey and their associates who find place in the list approved by the Deputy Registrar. The respondent No.2 throughout disputed his signatures that had been forged by Hriday Narayan Mishra to manipulate the documents and inserting them in the file of the office of the Deputy Registrar.

19. The Deputy Registrar nowhere addressed himself to this issue of the electoral college which went to the root of the matter, namely, the persons entitled to participate in the elections. The constitution of the electoral college would obviously have a material bearing directly on the holding of the elections and if the same has a fake foundation then any election held on the strength of such a list without adjudicating the controversy of the said membership would be an erroneous exercise of holding of elections as contemplated under Section 25 of the Societies Registration Act, 1860.

20. The respondent No.2 aggrieved by this order filed Writ Petition No.5518 (MS) of 2013. After the said writ petition was filed, the respondent No.2 also came to know about the directions issued by the Deputy Registrar on 23.8.2013 to hold the elections on the basis of the disputed list of membership which was held on 1.9.2013 in which the appellant Sarju Prasad Dubey claimed himself to have been elected as Manager. Consequently, the said writ petition was got dismissed as withdrawn vide judgment dated 4.9.2013 with liberty to file a fresh writ petition if there is a fresh cause of action.

21. The fresh writ petition No. 6484 (MS) of 2013 was filed challenging the order dated 6.8.2013, the consequential order dated 23.8.2013 and the elections held on 1.9.2013, which has given rise to the present appeal. The learned Single Judge while addressing himself to all the issues raised as well as the preliminary objections raised by the appellant therein came to the conclusion that the writ petition filed by the respondent No.1 was entertainable and maintainable. Secondly, the Deputy Registrar had completely misdirected himself in not proceeding to touch the issue of membership which was the bone of contention as the disputed membership lists had been depicted by none else than Hriday Narayan Mishra whose own membership had been found to be invalid. The learned Single Judge came to the conclusion that the correctness of the electoral rolls, namely, the list of entire 25 members as depicted by the appellants through Hriday Narayan Mishra had to be examined, and having not done so and having limited the enquiry only to the membership of Hriday Narayan Mishra, was an erroneous approach which was not the intention of the learned Single Judge while disposing of Writ Petition No.5043 (MS) of 2010 on 13.3.2013. Accordingly, the order dated 6.8.2013 and the consequential actions were quashed and the status of management as was existing on 13.3.2013 as directed by the learned Single Judge through the Principal of the Government Inter College, Ambedkar Nagar was maintained.

22. Assailing the aforesaid judgment, Dr. L.P. Mishra alongwith Pt. S. Chandra for the appellants contend that the Deputy Registrar was perfectly justified in confining himself only to the issue of membership of Hriday Narayan Mishra as directed by the learned Single Judge in the judgment dated 13.3.2013 and there was no scope for him to travel beyond the same and decide the issue of the entire membership of the General Body. They contend that if the respondent No.1 was aggrieved by any such membership dispute then he ought to have filed a Civil Suit. Even otherwise the said respondent had no authority to maintain a writ petition in the name of the Committee of Management of the Society alleging himself to be the Manager which did not exist. Dr. Mishra submits, by bringing on record the membership list of 1977-78 that was filed alongwith the counter affidavit of the appellant as Annexure No.11, that the said list is also countersigned by the respondent No.2 and being a valid list the same also contains the name of the appellant-Sarju Prasad Dubey as well as Hriday Narayan Mishra and the respondent No.2 himself. This list also contains the name of Man Singh.

23. He also submits that once the elections have been held on 1.9.2013, it is a fait accompli and the dispute of the election can now only be raised before the Prescribed Authority under Section 25 of the Societies Registration Act, 1860 and cannot be a subject matter of writ petition which aspect has been overlooked by the learned Single Judge. He therefore asserts that this question of fact also could not have been entertained in the writ jurisdiction and therefore, the interference by the learned Single Judge was uncalled for. He submits that the legal position is settled through several decisions on the aforesaid issues and therefore, the same should be invoked and the judgment of the learned Single Judge deserves to be set aside.

24. Countering the said submissions, Sri Manish Kumar, learned Counsel for the respondent Nos.1 and 2 submits that the preliminary objection of maintaining the writ petition has been correctly dealt with by the learned Single Judge holding that it was the answering respondents tho were contesting the claim throughout and the respondent No.2 was the Manager when the lis arose and even continues to have a grievance as on date as all the orders have been passed on the dispute raised by the answering respondent No.2. Thus, to say that the respondent No.2 did not have any locus to maintain the petition and there was a wrong description of parties does not hold water.

25. He submits that any judgment or precedent that is sought to be relied upon by the learned counsel for the appellants will not come to their aid in view of the peculiar facts of this case where two orders were passed by the Deputy Registrar on the merits of the claim and both the writ petitions were filed by the answering respondent No.2. He further submits that no such plea was either entertained or accepted when the first writ petition was decided on 13.3.2013 which judgment was never assailed either by Sri Hriday Narayan Mishra or the faction to which the appellant also belongs. He then submits that fraud is writ large and has vitiated the entire proceedings before the Deputy Registrar. The Deputy Registrar committed a manifest error by avoiding to decide the issue of membership of the general body. He further submits that this error in procedure of the decision making process is clearly amenable to judicial review by this Court as it amounts to a perversity and which did not require any facts to be established. This is a clear case of non-consideration of a vital issue in it's entirety. It is undisputed that the Deputy Registrar has not decided the dispute of the electoral college and has confined himself only to the issue of the membership of Hriday Narayan Mishra. This flaw in the decision making process therefore deserved to be corrected by a writ of certiorari and to that extent, the writ petition was very much maintainable. He therefore contends that the Court itself was not deciding the issue of membership but was rather proceeding to decide the manner in which the decision has been rendered which was obviously not in accordance with law. It is thus urged by Sri Manish Kumar that the learned Single Judge was fully justified in quashing the order and remitting the matter back to the Deputy Registrar to decide the issue raised with regard to the correctness of the electoral college and the rolls maintained in the office of the Deputy Registrar as projected by the faction of the appellant and the answering respondents.

26. This having not been done the very foundation of the elections held on 1.9.2013 falls through as it directly and materially affects the elections. He contends that judicial notice can be taken of this flaw in the decision making process and therefore the answering respondent does not deserve to be relegated to avail the remedy of a Suit for this purpose. The failure to discharge his obligation renders the order of the Deputy Registrar to be invalid for which the issuance of a writ was necessary and accordingly, no error has been committed by the learned Single Judge while allowing the writ petition.

27. He has further submitted that on the merits of the claim, the answering respondents reiterate that they had raised all these issues about the membership and it was not only confined to the fakeness of the documents from pages 370-385 of the file of the Deputy Registrar as urged on behalf of the appellants. He has invited the attention of the Court to various paragraphs of the objections that were again taken after the judgment dated 13.3.2013 reasserting the issue of fake membership of the entire General Body.

28. The learned Standing Counsel has also invited the attention of the Court to the counter affidavit of the Deputy Registrar that was filed on behalf of the respondent-State.

29. Respondent No.7/Man Singh is of the same faction of the appellant Sarju Prasad Dubey as he has been shown to be the President of the Committee said to have been elected of which the appellant No.3 claims to be the Manager. It may be mentioned that Man Singh has also sought impleadment for being heard before the Deputy Registrar to which objections were filed by the respondent No.2.

30. Thus, all parties are represented and we have heard learned Counsel for the parties at length and perused the entire records.

31. The first issue is about the maintenance of the writ petition on behalf of the respondent Nos. 1 and 2. It may be put on record that the tenure of the Committee of Management is stated to be five years. The respondent No.2 claimed himself to be the Manager of the Committee when the dispute arose. The fact that the dispute arose in 2010 after the alleged elections of 2008 therefore cannot be ignored. It is the pendency of this tenure of five years between 2008-2013 that the dispute was decided twice by the Deputy Registrar one on 13.7.2010 and the next on 6.8.2013. The respondent Nos.1 and 2 therefore had a right to depict themselves for raising a challenge to the orders passed by the Deputy Registrar which had proceeded to recognize the faction of Hriday Narayan Mishra in 2010 and then his successor Sri Sarju Prasad Dubey on 6.8.2013. In this background, the respondent No.2 was an aggrieved person and he had a right to challenge the orders of the Deputy Registrar before whom he had been contesting his right to manage the affairs of the Society throughout. In this background, the learned Single Judge was perfectly justified in rejecting the preliminary objections that had been raised before him and we do not find any reason to differ from the said view. Thus, the argument of locus standi and incorrect description of parties is rejected as raised on behalf of the appellants.

32. The next issue is with regard to the status of the order dated 13.7.2010 which was under challenge in Writ Petition No.5043 (MS) of 2010. The appellants contend that the said order of the Deputy Registrar had not been quashed and the only observation that was made was about the membership of Hriday Narayan Mishra. Thus, the decision of the learned Single Judge dated 13.3.2013 which has become final, and was not assailed by any of the parties should be read so as to confine the decision by the Deputy Registrar only in respect of Hriday Narayan Mishra. We are unable to accept the aforesaid proposition for the reasons already recorded by the learned Single Judge in the impugned judgment and also for the reason that the genesis of the dispute arose from the alleged fake claim of Hriday Narayan Mishra who was representing the management and had been recognized as such alongwith his membership by the Deputy Registrar under the order dated 13.7.2010. From the representations and objections that had been previously filed before the Deputy Registrar by Ram Nath Mishra when the decision was rendered on 13.7.2010, we find that the entire issue of membership of the General Body had been raised in the objections filed. The order of the Deputy Registrar dated 13.7.2010 was not accepted by this Court under the judgment dated 13.3.2013 mainly on the ground of the issue of the membership of Hriday Narayan Mishra. However, while deciding the matter, the learned Single Judge did not recognize the elections of Hriday Narayan Mishra and his alleged committee, and rather superseded the Committee by handing over the control and the affairs of the Society to the Principal of the Government Inter College, Ambedkar Nagar . A further direction was given to the Deputy Registrar that he would accordingly examine the issue of elections afresh. This is clearly stated in the judgment and is extracted herein "and accordingly shall examine the issue of election afresh". The intention and observations were therefore clearly directed not only to decide the issue of membership of Hriday Narayan Mishra but of the entire election set up by him based on the disputed electoral college that had been recognized by the Deputy Registrar on 13.7.2010. The main point that impelled the learned Judge was definitely the issue of the date of birth of Hriday Narayan Mishra. The only inference which can be drawn from a reading of the entire judgment is that the Deputy Registrar was required to go into the entire issue as his order dated 13.7.2010 had not been approved. Thus, the contention on behalf of the appellants that the said judgment is final and the issue of the membership of the General Body cannot be reopened is thus liable to be rejected, inasmuch as the issue of the membership of the General Body was directly involved with the issue of elections set up by Hriday Narayan Mishra. Any other conclusion would be contrary to the intention of the judgment dated 13.3.2013. The issue of membership of the General Body had to be determined which was the bone of contention including the membership of Hriday Narayan Mishra. We therefore hold that the issue of membership had to be decided and was very much open for determination before the Deputy Registrar including the status of the elections as depicted by Hriday Narayan Mishra.

33. We are further fortified in our view on account of the subsequent order of the Deputy Registrar dated 6.8.2013 which is the subject matter of challenge in this controversy. The Deputy Registrar ultimately found the membership of Hriday Narayan Mishra to be invalid as he was a minor. Not only his election therefore automatically fell through and he could not be recognized as Manager. This order of the Deputy Registrar dated 6.8.2013 has not been questioned by Hriday Narayan Mishra. It is thus clear that the issue of Hriday Narayan Mishra has become a fait accompli and therefore, the elections setup by him were found to be invalid. The question is if the very creator of the electoral college was found to be not a valid member of the Society, was it not the obligation of the Deputy Registrar to have entered into the aforesaid issue? To our mind, this was incumbent upon the Deputy Registrar to have entered into the objections with regard to the membership of the entire electoral college but the Deputy Registrar abruptly without any decision or finding, approved all the 24 members who had allegedly participated in the elections held on 1.9.2013.

34. On the issue of the power of the Deputy Registrar to decide membership, Dr. L. P. Mishra, learned counsel for the appellants could not dispute the legal position that such a power is available to the Deputy Registrar under Section 4-B of the Societies Registration Act, 1860 as applicable in the State of U.P. In our opinion also, the Deputy Registrar has failed to exercise his authority in this regard on the most important issue which ought to have been gone into for holding of any fresh elections. Further, the fact that the previous elections setup by Hriday Narayan Mishra would not be recognized and fresh elections deserve to be held was accepted by the faction of Hriday Narayan Mishra including the appellant who was shown to be a member of the General Body as depicted by Hriday Narayan Mishra. The appellant also did not question the authority of the Deputy Registrar to hold fresh elections.

35. In such a situation, if the Deputy Registrar was to hold fresh elections, and if objections had been filed against the membership again before him before holding of the elections on 1.9.2013, then the Deputy Registrar was under an obligation to have decided the issue of membership. It is apparent from the objections raised by the respondent No.2 at every stage that he had been contesting the very electoral college of 24 members of the Deputy Registrar indicating it to be the fake list which was not adjudicated upon considering the objections of the respondent No.2 in the order dated 6.8.2013. In our opinion, this was a blatant flaw in the order of the Deputy Registrar who under a wrong impression or otherwise a deliberate wrong procedure adopted by him, did not choose to decide the issue of the dispute of membership and the electoral college entitled to participate in the elections. The decision making process was therefore clearly vitiated and the Deputy Registrar failed to decide an issue that went to the root of the matter. Accordingly, the learned Single Judge did not commit any error in exercising a writ of Certiorari and issuing a direction to decide the matter again. We therefore fully endorse the view taken by the learned Single Judge on this count as well.

36. We for all the reasons recorded here-in-above decline to interfere with the impugned judgment with a direction to the Deputy Registrar to decide the issue of the membership of the General Body keeping in view the objections raised by the respondent No.2 from time to time and after giving an opportunity of hearing to both the parties.

37. Since the Principal, Government Inter College, Ambedkar Nagar had continued to manage the affairs of the Society after 13.3.2013 under the directions of the learned Single Judge and which was not challenged, we do not find any reason to interfere with the aforesaid direction as well under the impugned judgment.

38. We however clarify that the Deputy Registrar shall decide the issue of membership in the light of the observations made by the learned Single Judge and what has been stated above, but since the parties are not at variance on the issue of membership of Hriday Narayan Mishra being rightly annulled, quashing of the order dated 6.8.2013 would not amount to reviving the issue of the decision of the membership of Hriday Narayan Mishra which would be treated to have become final between the parties to this appeal.

39. The Special Appeal stands disposed off accordingly.

Ram Chander & Ors. ...Revisionists
Versus
State Of U.P. ...Opposite Party

Counsel for Revisionists:
S.C. Srivastava, Ramakar Shuka

Counsel for Opposite Party:
Govt. Advocate

Procedure:
Revision against concurrent findings of conviction under Sections 323/34 and 452 IPC passed by the Trial Court and affirmed in Criminal Appeal. The revision was filed challenging the severity of sentence and non-consideration of benefit under the Probation of Offenders Act, 1958.

Issue:
Whether the High Court, in revisional jurisdiction, can interfere with concurrent findings of fact and conviction?
Whether failure of courts below to consider Sections 3 & 4 of the Probation of Offenders Act, 1958 vitiates the sentence?
Whether the accused are entitled to benefit of probation considering lapse of time and nature of offence?

Headnotes:
Revisional jurisdiction is limited and does not permit re-appreciation of evidence unless there is manifest illegality, perversity, or miscarriage of justice.
Concurrent findings of fact recorded by courts below cannot be interfered with in absence of glaring defects.
However, non-consideration of the Probation of Offenders Act by the trial and appellate courts amounts to legal error, especially when such benefit is applicable.
Courts are under a statutory obligation (Section 361 Cr.P.C.) to record reasons if benefit of probation is denied.
Considering that the incident was of 1984 and long lapse of time had occurred, the case was found fit for extending benefit of probation.

Case Law Discussed:

(Delivered by Hon'ble Mrs. Ranjana Pandya, J.)

1. This revision has been preferred against the judgment and order dated 18.10.2003 passed by the Additional District & Sessions Judge/Special Judge, E.C. Act Court, Court Room No.9, Sultanpur, passed in Criminal Appeal No. 22 of 1999 (Ram Chander and Others Vs. State of U.P.), arising out of Criminal Case No.1451 of 1985, under Sections 323/34, 452 I.P.C., Police Station-Kotwali Nagar, District-Sultanpur, by which the learned lower court convicted the accused and sentenced them to undergo two years rigorous imprisonment and 500/- fine to each appellant under Section 452 I.P.C. and three months rigorous imprisonment and 200/- fine to each appellant under Section 323/34 I.P.C. with default stipulation was confined.

2. Filtering out unnecessary details, prosecution case is that on 14.10.1984 at about 3.30 p.m. day time, the revisionist Ram Chander, Dashrath, Guddu and Pappu were abusing the family members of the informant, when the informant asked them not to do so, the revisionist entered into the house of the informant with iron rod (Gahdala) and started beating him. Informant had received several injuries on different parts of body. The witnesses saw the incident and save the informant and his brother. Hence, the FIR was lodged, investigation was entrusted which turned into the chargesheet.

3. The prosecution examined six witnesses PW-1 is the informant (Ram Surat Mishra), who proved the written report as Exhibit K-1, PW-2 Ram Shankar Mishra, eye witness he is also said to be injured witness, PW-3 (Badri Nath) and PW-4 (Ram Sukh Mishra) are also said to be a eye witnesses, PW-5 (Geeta Pandey) is a head constable, who scribe a chik report, which was proved by the witnesses as Kxhibit-2, PW-6 Dr. R.K. Gupta, who examined to injured and proved the medical report as Exhibit K.6 and 7.

4. After the prosecution witness was closed, the statements of the accused persons were recorded under Section 313 Cr.P.C who denied the incident and stated that they had been falsely implicated due to enmity.

5. The learned trial court after perusal of the evidence on record convicted the accused.

6. Feeling aggrieved against the judgment of the lower court, the appellant filed an appeal bearing no. 22 of 1999, which was dismissed. Hence, the present revision was preferred.

7. I have heard learned counsel for the revisionist, learned A.G.A for the State and perused the record.

8. Learned counsel for the revisionist has submitted that the punishment imposed on the revisionist is too hard and severe and the revision is liable to be allowed.

9. It is settled principle of law that the revisional jurisdiction is not as wide as the appellate jurisdiction and under the revisional jurisdiction, the High Court is required to exercise its powers where there is material irregularity or manifest error of law or procedure, or there is misconception or misreading of evidence or where the court below has failed to exercise jurisdiction vested in it or has exercised the jurisdiction wrongly and perversely or where the facts admitted or proved do not discloses any offence.

10. As a broad proposition, the interference of revisional court may be justified in cases (i) where the decision is grossly erroneous (ii) where there is no compliance with the provision of law (iii) where the finding of fact affecting the decision is not based on evidence on record (iv) where the material evidence of parties has not been considered (v) where the court below has misread or mis-appreciated the evidence on record (vi) where the judicial discretion has been exercised arbitrarily or perversely.

11. In exercise of revisional jurisdiction the court may not exercise jurisdiction to reassess the evidence and reappraisal of evidence is not permissible within the revisional jurisdiction. Hon'ble the Apex Court in A.I.R. 1999 Supreme Court 981 in the case of State of Kerela Vs. Putthumana Illath Jathavedan Namboodiri has held:-

"the High Court while hearing revision does not work as an appellate court and will not re-appreciate the evidence, unless some glaring mistake is pointed out to show that injustice has been done".

12. In A.I.R. 2002 Supreme Court 2229 in the case of Jagannath Chaudhary Vs. Ramayan Singh, Hon'ble Apex Court has held:-

"revisional jurisdiction is normally to be exercised only in exceptional cases where there is a glaring defect in the procedure or there is a manifest error on point of law resulting in miscarriage of justice".

Similarly In A.I.R. 2002 Supreme Court 107 in the case of Munni Devi Vs. State of Rajasthan and others it was held by Hon'ble Apex Court has held:-

"while exercising the revisional power the High Court has no authority to re-appreciate the evidence in the manner as the trial court and appellate courts are required to do".

13. In another case A.I.R. 1993 Supreme Court 1126 in the case of State of Karnataka Vs. Appa Balu Ingale and others it has been held by the Hon'ble Apex Court that:-

" generally speaking, concurrent findings of fact arrived at by two courts below are not to be interfered with by the High Court in absence of any special circumstances or unless there is any perversity."

14. Considering the limited scope of revisional jurisdiction it is apparent that the evidence recorded by trial court and reappreciated by the appellate court is not required to be reappreciated again on the point raised by the learned counsel for the revisionist. The appellate court has given findings after detailed discussions and has found no substance in the arguments of accused-appellant. The findings of facts recorded by two courts below may not be interfered with in this revision.

15. The arguments advanced by the learned counsel for the revisionist are that there was no ground for conviction of the accused persons and if at all the courts below had grounds to convict the accused person, no reasons were given by the courts below for not granting probation to the present revisionist, which is erroneous in law and is not liable to be sustained.

16. Learned counsel for the revisionist has further argued that the effect of Sections 3 and 4 of the Probation of Offenders Act, 1958, in the background of what is stated in Section 360 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973, has not been kept in view. Thus, the residual question is applicability of Sections 3 and 4 of the Probation of Offenders Act, 1958 and Section 360 of the Code of Criminal Procedure.

17. Where the provisions of Probation of Offenders Act are applicable, the employment of Section 360 of the Code is not to be made. In cases of such application, it would be an illegality resulting in highly undesirable consequences, which the legislature, who gave birth to the Probation of Offenders Act and the Code Criminal of Procedure wanted to obviate. Yet the legislature in its wisdom has obliged the Court under Section 361 of the Code of Criminal Procedure to apply one of the other beneficial provisions; be it 360 of the Code of Criminal Procedure or the provisions of the Probation of Offenders Act. It is only by providing special reasons that their applicability can be withheld by the Court. The comparative elevation of the provisions of the Probation of Offenders Act are further noticed in sub section (10) of Section 360 of the Code of Criminal Procedure which makes it clear that nothing in the said Section shall affect the provisions of the Probation of Offenders Act. Those provisions have a paramountacy of their own in the respective areas where they are applicable.

18. Section 360 of the Code relates only to persons not under 21 years of age convicted for an offence punishable with fine only or with imprisonment for a term of 7 years or less, to any person under 21 years of age or any woman convicted of an offence not punishable with sentence of death or imprisonment for life. The scope of Section 4 of the Probation of Offenders Act is much wider. It applies to any person found guilty of having committed an offence not punishable with death or imprisonment for life. Section 360 of the Code does not provide for any rule for Probation Officers in assisting the courts in relation to supervision and other matters while Probation of Offenders Act does make such a provision. While Section 12 of the Probation of Offenders Act states that the persons found guilty of an offence and dealt with under Section 3 or 4 of the Probation of Offenders Act shall not suffer disqualification, if any, attached to conviction of an offence under any law, the Code does not contain parallel provision. Two statutes with such significant differences could not be intended to co-exist at the same time in the same area. Such co-existence would lead to anomalous results. The intention to retain the provisions of Section 360 of the Code and the provisions of the Probation of Offenders Act as applicable at the same time in a given area cannot be gathered from the provision of Section 360 or any other provision of the Code. Therefore, by virtue of Section 8(1) of the General Clauses Act, where the provisions of the Act have been brought into force. The provisions of Section 360 of the Code are wholly inapplicable.

19. Enforcement of Probation Act in some particular area excludes the applicability of the provisions of Section 360, 361 of the Code in that area. Section 3 of the Probation of Offenders Act reads as follows:-

"3. Power of court to release certain offenders after admonition.- When any person is found guilty of having committed an offence punishable under section 379 or section 380 or section 381 or section 404 or section 420 of the Indian Penal Code, (45 of 1860) or any offence punishable with imprisonment for not more than two years, or with fine, or with both, under the Indian Penal Code, or any other law, and no previous conviction is proved against him and the court by which the person is found guilty is of opinion that, having regard to the circumstances of the case including the nature of the offence, and the character of the offender, it is expedient so to do, then, notwithstanding anything contained in any other law for the time being in force, the court may instead of sentencing him to any punishment or releasing him on probation of good conduct under section 4 release him after due admonition.

Explanation.- For the purposes of this section, previous conviction against a person shall include any previous order made against him under this section or section 4."

20. Thus, this was the bounden duty of the learned trial and also the appellate court to consider why they did not proceed to grant the benefit of Probation of Offenders Act. Section 4 of the Probation of Offenders Act reads as follows:

"4. Power of court to release certain offenders on probation of good conduct.-(1) When any person is found guilty of having committed an offence not punishable with death or imprisonment for life and the court by which the person is found guilty is of opinion that, having regard to the circumstances of the case including the nature of the offence and the character of the offender, it is expedient to release him on probation of good conduct, then, notwithstanding anything contained in any other law for the time being in force, the court may, instead of sentencing him at once to any punishment direct that he be released on his entering into a bond, with or without sureties, to appear and receive sentence when called upon during such period, not exceeding three years, as the court may direct, and in the meantime to keep the peace and be of good behaviour:

Provided that the court shall not direct such release of an offender unless it is satisfied that the offender or his surety, if any, has a fixed place of abode or regular occupation in the place over which the court exercises jurisdiction or in which the offender is likely to live during the period for which he enters into the bond.

(2)Before making any order under sub-section (1), the court shall take into consideration the report, if any, of the probation officer concerned in relation to the case.

(3) When an order under sub-section (1) is made, the court may, if it is of opinion that in the interests of the offender and of the public it is expedient so to do, in addition pass a supervision order directing that the offender shall remain under the supervision of a probation officer named in the order during such period, not being less than one year, as may be specified therein, and may in such supervision order, impose such conditions as it deems necessary for the due supervision of the offender.

(4) The court making a supervision order under sub-section (3) shall require the offender, before he is released, to enter into a bond, with or without sureties, to observe the conditions specified in such order and such additional conditions with respect to residence, abstention from intoxicants or any other matter as the court may, having regard to the particular circumstances, consider fit to impose for preventing a repetition of the same offence or a commission of other offences by the offender.

(5) The court making a supervision order under sub-section (3) shall explain to the offender the terms and conditions of the order and shall forthwith furnish one copy of the supervision order to each of the offenders, the sureties, if any, and the probation officer concerned.

21. Protection of society and stamping out criminal proclivity must be the object of law, which must be achieved by imposing appropriate sentence. Therefore, law as a cornerstone of the edifice should meet the challenges confronting the society. Therefore, in operating the sentencing system, law should adopt the corrective machinery or deterrence based on factual matrix. By deft modulation, sentencing process be stern where it should be, and tempered with mercy where it warrants to be. The facts and given circumstances in each case, the nature of the crime, the manner in which it was planned and committed, the motive for commission of the crime, the conduct of the accused, the nature of weapons used and all other attending circumstances are relevant facts which would enter into the area of consideration. It is, therefore, the duty of every court to award proper sentence having regard to the nature of the offence and the manner in which it was executed or committed. As justice demands that courts should impose punishment befitting the crime so that the courts reflect public abhorrence of the crime. The court will be failing in its duty if appropriate punishment is not awarded for a crime which has been committed not only against the individual victim but also against the society to which both the criminal and the victim belong.

22. Just punishment is the collective cry of the society. While the collective cry has to be kept uppermost in the mind, simultaneously the principle of proportionality between the crime and punishment cannot be totally brushed aside. The principle of just punishment is the bedrock of sentencing in respect of a criminal offence.

23. The occurrence relates to the year 1984 and the present revision is pending since year 2003. I find no illegality, irregularity or impropriety in the conviction. But, before concluding a discussion on the point why the benefit of Section 3 and 4 of the Probation of Offenders Act or Section 360 was given to the accused, has to be looked into.

24. The learned trial judge did not even bother to discuss why it was a case in which the aforesaid benefit could not be extended to the accused persons. As far as the Judgment of the appellate court is concerned, but the appellate court also adopted an inhuman attitude and did not assign any reason for not granting benefit of Probation of Offenders Act.

25. Thus, as already said, I hold that the occurrence relates to the year 1984 and this revision is pending since 2003, I find no illegality, irregularity or impropriety in the impugned Judgments and I feel that the conviction should be maintained but the sentence should be modified.

26. The revision is partly allowed with the following modification.

27. The conviction of the revisionist is upheld.

28. Instead of sending the revisionist to jail, the revisionist shall get the benefit of Section 4 of the Probation of Offenders Act. Therefore, instead of sentencing them to undergo two years rigorous imprisonment along with fine of Rs. 500/- each under Section 452 I.P.C., and three months rigorous imprisonment along with fine of Rs. 200/- each under Section 323/34 I.P.C. and in default of payment of fine three months additional imprisonment, they shall file two bonds to the tune of Rs.25,000/- coupled with personal bonds to the effect that they shall not commit any offence and shall be of good behaviour and shall maintain peace during the period of one year. If there is breach of any of the conditions, he will subject himself to undergo sentence before the Magistrate as per Rules. The bonds aforesaid be filed by the accused persons within two months from the date of the Judgment.

29. Let a certified copy of this order be sent to the court concerned for compliance.

Special Appeal No.- 894 Of 2011

Ashok Kumar Sen ...Appellant
Versus
State Of U.P. & Ors. ...Respondents

Counsel for the Appellant:
Shikha Singh

Counsel for the Respondents:
C.S.C., K.K. Roy, Vivek Mishra

HEADNOTES:
Although provisions of Order I C.P.C. do not strictly apply to writ proceedings, the principles underlying impleadment of necessary parties are applicable by necessary implication.
Under Order I Rule 9 C.P.C., a suit shall not fail due to mis-joinder or non-joinder of parties, but the proviso makes an exception in case of non-joinder of necessary parties.
The scheme of Order I Rule 10(2) C.P.C. indicates that the Court has power at any stage to direct addition of parties necessary for complete and effective adjudication.
A writ petition should ordinarily not be dismissed at the threshold for non-impleadment of necessary parties unless the petitioner fails to comply with directions of the Court to implead such parties.
Dismissal of a writ petition on the ground of non-impleadment of necessary parties does not operate as res judicata, since the rights of such parties were never adjudicated on merits.
In absence of any statutory bar similar to Order IX Rule 9 C.P.C., a second writ petition is maintainable after removing the defect of non-impleadment of necessary parties.
Once the writ petition is dismissed for non-impleadment of necessary parties, other observations on merits lose significance.
The proper remedy available to the petitioner is to file a fresh writ petition after impleading necessary parties, which shall be decided independently on merits.

PROCEDURE:
The present intra-court Special Appeal was filed against the judgment of the learned Single Judge dated 11.04.2011, whereby the writ petition challenging appointments made pursuant to an advertisement issued by the District Panchayat, Kaushambi was dismissed on the grounds of:
Non-impleadment of necessary parties (selected candidates were not made respondents), and Non-filing of appointment letters of the selected candidates.
The Division Bench examined the legal effect of non-impleadment of necessary parties in writ proceedings and the applicability of principles contained in Order I Rule 9 and Order I Rule 10(2) C.P.C.

ISSUE:

Whether a writ petition can be dismissed solely on the ground of non-impleadment of necessary parties.
Whether principles of Order I Rule 9 and Rule 10(2) C.P.C. are applicable in writ proceedings.
Whether dismissal of a writ petition for non-impleadment of necessary parties operates as res judicata.
Whether a second writ petition is maintainable after curing the defect of non-impleadment of necessary parties.
Whether other findings recorded by the learned Single Judge survive once the writ petition is dismissed on the ground of non-impleadment.

SECTIONS:
Code of Civil Procedure, 1908
Order I Rule 9 – Mis-joinder and non-joinder of parties
Order I Rule 10(2) – Power of Court to add or strike out parties Order IX Rule 9 – Bar of fresh suit after dismissal in default

CONCLUSION:
The Special Appeal was disposed of with liberty to the appellant to file a fresh writ petition after curing the defect of non-impleadment of necessary parties.
It was held that dismissal of a writ petition for non-impleadment does not bar a subsequent petition, nor does it operate as res judicata, as no adjudication on merits has taken place.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Arun Tandon, J.
Hon'ble Mrs. Sunita Agarwal, J.)

1. Heard Sri Om Prakash Pandey, Advocate, holding brief of Sri Rajesh Kumar, appearing for the petitioner and Ms. Smriti Kartikaya, learned counsel appearing for the respondent.

2. This intra code appeal is directed against the judgement and order of the learned Single Judge dated 11.04.2011. The order reads as follows:-

"The petitioner is aggrieved by the appointment made pursuant to the advertisement issued by the office of the District Panchayat, Kaushambi.

The petitioner has not placed on record the appointment orders and nor he has impleaded the appointed persons as respondents. No relief, therefore, can be granted to the petitioner.

The writ petition is, accordingly, dismissed."

3. From the aforesaid it is clear that the writ petition has been dismissed on two grounds (a) non impleadment of necessary parties (b) non filing of the appointment order of the persons who have been appointed.

4. In our opinion, once it is found that the writ petition suffered from non impleadment of necessary parties then the writ petition should have been dismissed on that ground alone and all other observations are not required to be made.

5. We shall, therefore, address our self to the first issue with regard to the dismissal of the writ petition on the ground of non impleadment of necessary parties. The provisions of Order-1 do not apply to writ proceedings, but principle in general of this provision are made applicable, as guidelines for the writ Court.

6. The legal principles applicable in the matter of impleadment of necessary parties in writ petition has to be regulated by the provisions of Civil Procedure Code by necessary implication, as there is no other statutory provision regulating the impleadment of parties in a writ petition. At least no other provision in the matter to implead of parties has been brought to the notice of the Court.

7. The joining of parties to the suit is regulated by Order-1 C.P.C. The provisions of Order-1 Rule-1 and Order-1 Rule-3 deal with the persons who may join as plaintiff and with those who may be impleaded as defendant respectively.

8. For our purposes what is relevant is Order-1 Rule-9 of C.P.C. which reads as follows:-

"9. Mis-joinder and non-joinder.- No suit shall be defeated by reason of the mis-joinder or non-joinder of parties, and the Court may in every suit deal with the matter in controversy so far as regards the rights and interests of the parties actually before it:

Provided that nothing in this rule shall apply to non-joinder of a necessary party."

9. It will be seen that main provision of Order 1 Rule 9 specifically declares that no suit shall be defeated by the reasons of the non joinder or mis-joinder of parties and the Court may in every suit deal with the controversy so far as the rights and interest of the parties actually before it. But the proviso to the said Rules 9, provides that nothing in the said Rule shall apply to non joinder of necessary parties. Meaning thereby that the Court may not proceed with suit where a necessary party has not been impleaded. At this stage we may also refer to Order 1, Rule-10 Sub Clause-2 of C.P.C., which reads as follows:-

"10. (2) Court may strike out or add parties.-The court may at any stage of the proceedings, either upon or without the application of either party, and on such terms as may appear to the court to be just, order that the name of any party improperly joined, whether as plaintiff or defendant, be struck out, and that the name of any person who ought to have been joined, whether as plaintiff or defendant, or whose presence before the court may be necessary in order to enable the court effectually and completely to adjudicate upon and settle all the questions involved in the suit, be added."

10. From a simple reading of the same it is clear that the Court may at any stage of the proceeding either upon or without the application of the either parties and on such terms, as may appear to the Court, to be just, order that name of any party improperly joinded whether as plaintiff or defendant be deleted and the name of any persons, who ought to have been joined whether as plaintiff or defendant or it is necessary to enable the Court effectively and completely adjudicate the questions involved in the suit be added. Order 1 does not contemplate any consequences of non-impleadment of a necessary party.

11. In our opinion from the scheme of Order-1 it is apparent that not only the plaintiff is under an obligation to implead all necessary parties, the Court is also required to exercise its discretion and to ensure that all parties for effective and complete adjudication of the issues raised are made party to the suit. Therefore, the intention of the legislature is that normally no suit is to be dismissed for non impleadment of necessary parties unless and until the Courts direct the plaintiff to implead a person, as a party to the suit and the plaintiff refuses to comply with the orders and in that circumstances alone the Court will be left with no alternative but to dismiss the suit for non compliance of its order for impleadment of necessary party.

12. From the provisions of Rule-10 Sub Rule 2, it is further clear that impleadment of a party to the suit can be directed at any stage of the proceeding which further supports the conclusion of this Court that dismissal of a suit for non impleadment of a necessary party should be in a case, where the plaintiffs fails to comply with the directions of the Court refuses to implead the necessary party and not otherwise.

13. Another aspect of the matter which does need consideration by us is as to whether on a suit being dismissed for non impleasment of necessary party can a second suit be filed after removing the defect or not.

14. We find that the principles of res-judicata will not apply when a suit is dismissed for non implement of necessary party, in as much as no issue has been tried between the parties by the court concerned as the other person was not a party to the proceeding, even if any finding are returned by the court concerned. Therefore, such an order will not operate as res-judicata. Even otherwise, suits is to be dismissed for non impleadment of necessary party without adjudicating upon any rights, qua that party as claimed in the suit, i.e. the person, who is a necessary party and has not been implicated.

15. We also take not of the fact that where the legislature wanted that no second suit be maintain even when the earlier suit has been dismissed. It has specifically provided, so reference be had to Order-9 Rule 13, wherein it has been disclosed that when a suit is dismissed in default then no second suit for the same relief would be maintainable. Order-9 Rule 9 of C.P.C. reads as follows:-

"9. Decree against plaintiff by default bars fresh suit.- (1) Where a suit is wholly or partly dismissed under rule 8, the plaintiff shall be precluded from bringing a fresh suit in respect of the same cause of action, But he may apply for an Order to set the dismissal aside, and if he satisfies the court that there was sufficient cause for his non appearance when the suit was called on for hearing, the court shall make an Order setting aside c the dismissal upon such terms as to costs or otherwise as it thinks fit, and shall appoint a day for proceeding with the suit.

(2) No Order shall be made under this rule unless notice of the application has been served on the opposite party."

No similar provision has been made under Order-1 of C.P.C.

16. In view of the aforesaid, we are of the considered opinion that a second suit for same cause would be maintainable after removing the defect of non impleadment of necessary parties, where the first suit has been dismissed by the Court for non impleadment of necessary party.

17. This is, however, without prejudice the rights of the plaintiff to challenge the order of the Court on the ground that a particular party is not a necessary party and therefore, dismissed of the suit on that ground is unjustified.

18. So far as the other finding returned by the learned Single Judge on the issue of non filing of the appointment letter of the selected candidates is concerned. It is submitted before us that the petitioner, who is a third party, to the contract of appointment acess to the appointment letter which has been issued by the department in favour of the selected candidates. Even otherwise, it is stated that copy of one such letter was brought on record by the petitioner, which has not been taken note of.

19. Be that it may, since the first writ petition has been dismissed amongst other on the ground of non impleadment of necessary parties by the petitioner, all other observations loose significance. Therefore, we disposed of the present Special Appeal by providing that the proper remedy available to the petitioner to file a second writ petition by removing the defect of non impleadment of necessary party. The said writ petition is to be considered on its own merit irrespective of the order passed in the first writ petition.

20. Accordingly the Special Appeal is disposed of.

21. All the issues may be raised in the second writ petition, as were raised in the first writ petition.

1. The arguments of this appeal concluded on 14.09.2016. Following order was passed by us on that date:

"Heard Shri Viresh Mishra, Senior Advocate assisted by Shri Sandeep Kumar Dubey, learned counsel appearing on behalf of the appellants and Shri A.N. Mulla, learned AGA for the State.

We will give reasons later but we make the operative order now.

The appeal is allowed. The impugned judgment and order dated 2.5.1983 passed by the Vth Additional Sessions Judge, Aligarh in Sessions Trial No. 415 of 1980, arising out of Case Crime No. 6 of 1980; State Vs. Shree Pal and others, convicting the appellants, Shree Pal and Girraj under Sections-147, 307/149 and 324/149 I.P.C. and sentencing them to one year's R. I. on the first count, seven years' R. I. on the second count and two years' R. I. on the third count respectively is hereby set aside. The appellants Shree Pal and Girraj are acquitted of all the charges framed against them. Since the appellants are on bail, their bail bonds are cancelled and their sureties discharged.

There shall be no order as to cost."

Here are the reasons:-

2. The instant Criminal Appeal was initially preferred by five accused persons but was maintainable at the instance of first four appellants Shree Pal, Girraj, Rukum Pal and Bhudeo while Sheoraj Singh- appellant no.5 was declared juvenile by the trial court and accordingly he was not sent to jail but appropriate orders were passed for maintaining good behaviour for three years, under the supervision of concerned Information/ Probation Officer, Aligarh, therefore, the present appeal is confined only in respect of aforesaid four appellants.

3. Appropriate to mention that during the course of appeal the other two accused persons- namely, Rukum Pal and Bhudeo expired, therefore, their appeal stood abated against them vide order of this Court dated 27.7.2016. Now we are left with merit of only two appellants Shree Pal and Girraj.

4. This Criminal Appeal is directed against the judgment and order of conviction dated 2.5.1983 passed by court of Additional Sessions Judge Vth, Aligarh in Sessions Trial No.415 of 1980, under Sections 302, 307, 147, 148, 149 IPC, Police Station- Akrabad, District Aligarh arising out of Case Crime no. 6 of 1980, State Vs. Shree Pal and others, whereby Rukum Pal and Bhudeo have been sentenced to one year R.I. each under Section 147 IPC, sentenced to life imprisonment under Section 302/149 IPC, sentenced to 7 years R.I. each under Section 307/149 IPC and sentenced to 2 years R.I. each under Section 324/149 IPC. Similarly, appellants Girraj and Shree Pal have been sentenced to one year R.I. each under Section 147 IPC, sentenced to 7 years R.I. each under Section 307/149 IPC and two years R.I. each under Section 324/149 IPC. The aforesaid sentences to run concurrently.

5. Heard Sri Viresh Mishra, learned Senior Advocate assisted by Sri Sandeep Kumar Dubey, learned counsel appearing on behalf of the appellants and Sri A.N. Mulla, learned AGA for the State.

6. Prosecution story as unfolded by first information report- Exhibit Ka-1- lodged by Bhagwan Singh son of Uttam Singh, R/o Village- Kishanpur, Police Station- Akrabad, District Aligarh, on 12.1.1980 at 10.15 A.M. against five accused persons including the present appellants- Shree Pal and Girraj with allegations that informant's brother Roop Singh has been using tap water for about twenty years whose water flows down the drainage in the street outside his house. This water also flows in front of room of Rukam Pal Singh son of Jodh Singh, which lies to the western side of the street. In the morning of 12.1.1980 around 6.30-7.00 A.M. Shree Pal son of Bhudeo Singh and Girraj son of Anek Singh, raised clay barrier and stopped flow of water (from drainage of Roop Singh), whereupon Ramdevi wife of Roop Singh, Malkhan, Pooran Singh son of Bhagwan Singh and Roop Singh son of Uttam Singh arrived on the spot and asked them not to raise clay barrier, whereupon they (accused) started abusing them. As soon as, the informant side tried to remove the clay barrier, when Rukam Pal son of Jodh Singh, Bhudev Singh son of Khyaliram exhorted 'maaro salo ko', whereupon Sheoraj Singh son of Rookam Pal Singh fired 3-4 times from SBBL gun. First shot hit Ramdevi wife of Roop Singh. She died on the spot and pellet injury was also caused to Malkhan and Poorn Singh son of Bhagwan Singh. In the meanwhile, various persons including Sheoraj Singh son of Ranchur Singh and other villagers also arrived on the spot and saw the incident. Dead body of Ramdevi was lying on the spot while injured Malkhan Singh and Pooran Singh have been brought by bullock-cart to the police station. Report be lodged and action be taken. Contents of this written report were taken in the concerned check FIR at Crime No. 6 of 1980, under Sections 147, 148, 149, 302, 307 IPC, Police Station- Akranbad, District Aligarh on 12.1.1980 at 10.15 A.M. Check FIR is Exhibit ka-4.

7. On the basis of aforesaid entries in Check FIR, a case was registered against the accused persons at Serial No.17 in the General Diary dated 12.1.1980 at aforesaid crime number under aforesaid Sections of IPC at aforesaid police station. The relevant G.D. Entry is Exhibit Ka-5. Investigation of the case ensued and Sri Brajwasi Lal P.W.7 took over the investigation. He prepared site plan of the place of occurrence and also recorded statement of various persons, prepared inquest report of deceased Ramdevi and took clay roll, simple and blood stained from the spot- Exhibit Ka-8. Besides, he also took blood stained cloths of Malkhan Singh and Pooran Singh and prepared memo of the same Exhibit Ka-10.

8. It is reflected from record that inquest of deceased Ramdevi was held on 12.1.1980 and it was completed around 3 P.M. Inquest witnesses were appointed by the Investigating Officer and in the opinion of the inquest witnesses, it was thus decided to send the dead body for postmortem examination for ascertaining the real cause of death. Inquest report is Exhibit Ka-7. Thereafter relevant papers were prepared for sending the dead body for postmortem examination. Postmortem examination of deceased Ramdevi was conducted at mortuary, Aligarh on 13.1.1980 at 3.45 P.M. by Dr. A.K. Sharma P.W.10, who found the following ante-motem injuries:-

All the three injuries kept under observation for determination of nature of injury and advised X-rays and patient referred to M.S. Hospital, Aligarh for expert opinion and treatment.

Both the injury reports are Exhibit Ka-2 and Ka-3, respectively.

13. The investigating Officer (Brajwasi Lal- P.W.7) also took various other steps and thereafter the investigation was taken over by another Investigating Officer namely Shyamveer Singh- P.W.9, on 15.1.1980. He, besides, taking statement of various witnesses, has also filed charge-sheet, vide Exhibit Ka-11.

14. Thereafter, this case was committed to the court of Sessions, from where, it was made over for trial and disposal to the aforesaid court of Additional Sessions Judge Vth, Aligarh, who heard the appellants on the point of charge and prima facie ground was found existing for framing charges under Sections 147, 302/149, 307/149, 324/149 IPC. Sheoraj (juvenile) was separately charged under Sections 148, 302, 307 and 324 IPC. The charges were read over and explained to the accused, who abjured charges and opted for trial.

15. Thereafter, the prosecution was asked to adduce its testimony, whereupon the prosecution examined as many as ten witnesses on its behalf. Brief sketch of the same is being made herein below:

Bhagwan Singh P.W.1 is the first informant and the eyewitness of the incident. He has lodged written report Exhibit Ka-1.

Pooran P.W.2 is injured eye-witness and has described about the incident. He is son of P.W.1 Bhagwan Singh.

Malkhan Singh P.W.3 is also injured eye-witness. He has also testified on the same line as Pooran P.W.2.

Shyodan P.W.4 is also eyewitness of the incident and has narrated the incident in his testimony.

Constable Sri Krishna P.W.5 is the formal witness and has conveyed over, the dead body of Ramdevi, to the hospital and has proved the process.

Dr. S.B. Sharma P.W.6 is the formal witness, who examined injured Pooran Singh and Malkhan Singh at PHC Akarabad on 12.1.1980 at 10.40 A.M. and 11.10 A.M., respectively and noted injuries found on their persons and has proved these injury reports as Exhibits Ka-2 and Ka-3, respectively.

Sri Brajwasti Lal P.W.7, the Investigating Officer has conducted investigation of this case at initial stages and has proved several prosecution papers, Check FIR, Exhibit Ka-4., the relevant GD entry for registering case against accused as Exhibit ka-5. He also made site plan of the occurrence and has proved it as Exhibit ka-6. He also processed inquest of deceased Ramdevi and proved it as Exhibit Ka-7. Simple and blood stained soil was collected from the spot and memo of the same was prepared as Exhibit Ka-8. He also took into possession blood stained clothes of both the injured Malkhan and Pooran, prepared memo of the same as Exhibit Ka-10. This witness has stated in his examination-in-chief in the last paragraph of page-68 of the paper book that investigation was subsequently taken over by the Investigating officer Shyamveer Singh, S.O. (P.W.9) and he had filed charge-sheet against the accused persons and he has identified his signature on the charge-sheet and has proved the same as Exhibit Ka-11.

Dr. Pradeep Kumar P.W.8 has operated on injured Pooran (injured P.W.2) and has proved that he extricated two pellets from his right shoulder after administering anesthesia on him. He has proved his process and the relevant bed-head ticket containing such description as Exhibit Ka-12 and Ka-13, respectively.

Shyamveer Singh P.W.9 is the subsequent Investigating Officer who took over the investigation on 15.1.1980, recorded statement of various witnesses and prepared charge-sheet already exhibited as Exhibit ka-11.

Dr. A.K. Sharma P.W.10 has conducted autopsy on the cadaver of deceased Ramdevi wife of Roop Singh at mortuary, Aligarh on 13.1.1980 around 3.45 P.M. This witness has proved the postmortem Exhibit ka-14.

16. Thereafter, the evidence for the prosecution was closed and the statement of the accused persons recorded under Section 313 Cr.P.C. wherein they claimed their implication without any basis and on account of enmity.

17. The defence produced Suresh Chandra Agrawal D.W.1, Bhagwan Das D.W.2 and Chaub Singh D.W.3. The testimony of all these defence witnesses is irrelevant for the purposes of this appeal for the reason that all these defence witnesses have deposed on point of date of birth of another co-accused Sheoraj Singh, who has already been declared juvenile (by the trial court) and was released on probation for maintaining good conduct for three years period while the trial court delivered its judgment in the concerned Sessions Trial no. 415 of 1980, on 2.5.1983.

18. The learned trial court after hearing the parties on merit and after considering the record returned with aforesaid verdict of conviction and and sentence dated 2.5.1983. Consequently, this appeal.

19. Learned counsel for the appellants initially invited our attention to fact that in this case initially the appeal was filed by all the five appellants but appellant no.5 Sheoraj Singh was declared juvenile by the trial court and obviously he has already suffered the entire sentence (Probation for good conduct for three years) and no appeal was preferred by the State against him. However, during the course of pendency of this appeal the other two accused persons- namely, Rukum Pal and Bhudeo, expired, therefore, their appeal abated vide order of this Court dated 27.7.2016. Therefore, the present appeal is basically confined to two co-accused- namely, Shree Pal and Girraj, i.e. appellant no.1 and appellant no.2, respectively.

20. It has been claimed on behalf of both the appellants that role of Shree Pal and Girraj, the two appellants, is distinguishable in its entirety from the role of the other co-accused persons, and role of present two appellants and rest of the other appellants cannot be clubbed together. Prosecution version alleges, certains particular overt act of raising clay barrier in the street across drainage of Roop Singh because the water flowing from the tap of Roop Singh's house flowed out through the drainage in the street in front of house of both the appellants. Thereafter, allegation proceeds on describing another part of incident, which occurred subsequently to vituperation. The latter part of incident followed after intervention of the informant's side with the present appellants. The other three accused persons Rukum Pal, Bhudeo and Sheoraj Singh formed another group and had no prior or on the spot, nexus with the present appellants and objective of both the set of accused was quite different. They (Rukum Pal, Bhudeo and Sheoraj) conjointly fired on the first informant side, which resulted into death of Ramdevi. The prosecution witnesses of fact, in order to falsely, involve the present two appellants deliberately, improved their version describing the incident narrowly and assigned role of causing assault by shovel to appellant Shree Pal, which description of incident stands exposed by fact that no such statement was ever recorded under Section 161 Cr.P.C. or was described in the first information report, itself then what to say, about the assault, being caused by Shree Pal, on the spot to Roop Singh. There is no whisper of any shovel being possessed by the two appellants in the first information report itself. Viewing from that angle it is crystal clear that the present two appellants- Shree Pal and Girraj did not commit any offence at all. They only safeguarded their interest by raising clay barrier so that water from drainage of Roop Singh may not flow on the street in front of their house and that act cannot be said to have been committed within any criminal intent. Therefore, the act and the role of both the appellants do not fall within the periphery of any criminal liability. The two appellants apart from above over act did not do anything more and their objective was complete.

21. Per contra, learned AGA has retorted to the above submissions by claiming that the act imputed against the present appellants, was the base, on which, the entire episode stands. The base of the story was laid down by none other than the present two appellants. These two appellants not only raised the mud/soil barrier by placing earth across the drainage of Roop Singh, but also, they insisted that no one should remove this barrier and, in the meanwhile, altercation ensued in the presence of all the offenders, who were present on the spot. The offenders first made unlawful assembly and their object was one and the same that the water from Roop Singh's house should not flow out in the street in front of houses of all the accused persons. This specific act has not only been alleged in the first information report, but also testified by the prosecution witnesses of fact before the trial court and the testimony on point of specific role being played by the appellants has been specifically attributed by the prosecution witnesses. It has emerged in the testimony of prosecution witnesses that during the course of incident one of the present appellants, Shree Pal caused blow/assault with shovel on Roop Singh. All this act when taken as a whole, is sufficient to fasten joint liability contemplated under Section 149 Cr.P.C. Minor inconsistencies, if any, appearing in the statement of the prosecution witnesses by itself, are not sufficient to throw away the entire prosecution case. Latches committed by the Investigating Officer cannot be fatal. The case of the prosecution has been proved beyond reasonable doubt.

22. We have also considered the respective submissions of both the sides.

23. At the very outset, upon perusal of contents of first information report, we come across facts that some drainage was opened from the house of Roop Singh, wherefrom, water from inside the house, used to flow out in the street towards the houses of accused persons and on the day of occurrence, around 6.30/7.00 A.M. Shree Pal and Girraj- present two appellants came in front of Roop Singh's house and raised clay barrier across his drainage, whereupon Ramdevi, wife of Roop Singh, Malkhan Singh, Pooran Singh son of Bhagwan Singh, Roop Singh son of Uttam Singh asked them to refrain from doing so, whereupon the accused persons started abusing. As soon as, the informant's side tried to remove clay barrier, in the meanwhile, Rookam Pal son of Jodh Singh, Bhudev Singh son of Khyaliram exhorted Sheoraj Singh son of Rookam pal Singh to open fire on the spot, whereupon Sheoraj Singh fired three to four times and the alleged first fire hit Ramdevi wife of Roop Singh as a result of which she fell down and died. Some Pellets also hit Malkhan and Pooran Singh son of Bhagwan Singh. In the meanwhile, Jagpal Singh, Shivraj Singh son of Ranchour Singh, Prasadi Lal of the village arrived on the spot and saw the incident. The first informant Bhagwan Singh while leaving the spot, left behind the dead body of Ramdevi on the spot and went to the police station along with Malkhan Singh and Pooran Singh, in bullock-cart and then report was lodged around 10.15 A.M.

24. After considering the entire allegations made against the present appellants, prosecution case and the claim of present appellants, the moot point that crops up for adjudication of this appeal, relates to fact whether, the prosecution has been able to prove beyond reasonable doubt, the charges against the appellants or whether, the participation of the appellants in the crime was doubtful ?

25. In the backdrop of aforesaid factual aspects of this case, we have to scrutinize and make a comparative analogy of circumstances vis-a-vis facts and evidence on record in order to arrive at just and proper decision in the case.

26. We have scanned carefully, the testimony of prosecution witnesses of fact- Bhagwan Singh P.W.1, Pooran P.W.2, Malkhan P.W.3, Shydan P.W.4 and testimony of formal prosecution witnesses and particularly statement of prosecution witnesses of fact recorded under Section 161 Cr.P.C. by the Investigating Officer Brajwasi Lal P.W.7. It emerges out from construction of testimony of aforesaid four prosecution witnesses of fact that incident occurred on 12.1.1980 around 6.30/7.00 A.M. Shree Pal and Girraj raised clay-bund across drainage in front of house of Roop Singh due to which flow of water from drainage was stopped. At this, informant's brother Roop Singh, his wife Ramdevi and informant's son Malkhan and Pooran including the informant also, went to them and asked them to desist from doing so, whereupon some altercation took place and in the meanwhile, Bhudeo, Rukum Pal Singh and Sheoraj Singh also arrived on the spot and Rukum Pal son of Jodh Singh, Bhudev Singh son of Khyaliram exhorted 'maaro salo ko', whereupon, Sheoraj Singh son of Rukum Pal Singh took out the SBBL gun and fired by it, which fire hit Ramdevi. She fell down and died on the spot. Second fire hit Pooran Singh. He also fell down and third fire hit Malkhan Singh. He also fell down. Fourth fire hit on the wall. Informant and his brother, somehow, managed to save their lives. It has been specifically stated by all the prosecution witnesses of fact that Shree Pal and Girraj were raising clay-bund with their shovel when altercation took place and Shree Pal gave blow with shovel to Roop Singh on his hand, which caused him injury.

27. Testimony as a whole and record reveals that postmortem report of Ramdevi Exhibit ka-14 specifies ante-mortem injuries in shape of a number of pellets hitting her body on shoulder, leg, arm and chest and the opinion of the doctor these injuries could have been caused by use of gun-fire and both the ante-mortem injuries may possibly be caused by gunshot. Obviously, the cause of death is due to shock and haemorrhage. It is obvious that the shot was fired by Sheoraj due to which Ramdevi died on the spot. In so far as, use of shovel for causing assault to Roop Singh is concerned, we, on scrutinizing statements of all the prosecution witnesses recorded under Section 161 Cr.P.C. discover that use of shovel for causing assault by shovel was never recorded by the Investigating Officer. When, the prosecution witnesses were confronted on such omissions, in their statements under Section 161 Cr.P.C., they could not assigned any sanguine reason for the same. In this view of the matter, it trickles out that the prosecution version, on point of use of shovel at the time of raising clay barrier on the spot, cannot be believed to be the exact position, but the prosecution witnesses are found to be improving gradually on this aspect in order to actively involve the two appellants in overt criminal act.

28. Further, the testimony on record of prosecution witnesses of fact itself suggests that it so happened that informant's side was aggrieved by the soil barrier raised on the spot in-front of house (of Roop Singh) and when initially the informant's side asked the two accused Shree Pal and Girraj, to removed the same, they abused the informant side and in the meanwhile, the three other co-accused persons, namely, Rukum Pal, Bhudeo, and Sheoraj Singh arrived at the spot and Rukum Pal exhorted Sheoraj to assault informant's side, whereupon, Sheoraj brought SBBL gun from inside room and fired on informant's side, thus causing death of Ramdevi and injuring the other two persons, namely, Pooran Singh and Malkhan Singh. Perusal of their injury reports, Exhibit Kha-2 and Ka-3, respectively, verifies fact that injuries could have been caused by gunshot. Therefore, it is obvious that the two persons sustained pellets injuries on their person because of the incident and in consequence of firing done by Sheoraj. Legal premise crops up as to whether, the act of all the accused persons, can be cumulatively construed as a single work with common object and all the accused persons were sharing common object on the spot. Here, we notice that the appellants Shree Pal and Girraj initially raised the clay barrier and thereafter some abuse was extended by them on informant's side and in the meanwhile, another neighbour Rukum Pal Singh, Bhudeo and Sheoraj Singh also arrived at the spot and when only they with their own action caused incident of firing which caused death of one lady, besides, causing injuries on the persons of Pooran Singh and Malkhan Singh, the two sons of the informant.

29. Before we indulge in deliberation on that aspect, it would be appropriate to have a look on Section 149 IPC, which prescribes for acts done by an unlawful assembly in prosecution of the common object of that assembly, which runs as under:

"149. Every member of unlawful assembly guilty of offence commit-ted in prosecution of common object-If an offence is committed by any member of an unlawful assembly in prosecution of the common object of that assembly, or such as the members of that assembly knew to be likely to be committed in prosecution of that object, every person who, at the time of the committing of that offence, is a member of the same assembly, is guilty of that offence."

30. Here, testimony on record, shows that initially only the appellants Shree Pal and Girraj alone were present and the other three accused persons reached on the spot when abuses were extended by the appellants for informant's side. Here ,in this case, it is obvious that there are two sets of accused persons. One set includes Shree Pal, Girraj and the another set includes Rukum Pal, Bhudeo and Sheoraj Singh.

31. Obviously, both the groups are neighbours and resident of the same vicinity and their houses are adjoining to and infront of Roop Singh's house. It can be easily understood, under circumstances of this case, that all the five people had grievance against flow of water, which flowed down in the street from tap of Roop Singh (informant's brother). The point is that initially there were only two persons present on the spot and their object was completed the moment when they raised the mud barrier and thereafter they did no overt act, except exchanging abuses, there is no whisper, either in the first information report or in the statement recorded by the Investigating Officer of the prosecution witnesses that Shree Pal and Girraj did anything more than that. Possibility of use of shovel as a weapon of assault, as discussed above, cannot be accepted in view of absence of any statement recorded by the Investigating Officer to that effect under Section 161 Cr.P.C.

32. Further, it has been stated by the prosecution witnesses that Shree Pal caused assault by shovel on Roop Singh from blunt side, which caused injury on his arm but no medical examination was done nor any such report brought on record. To form an unlawful assembly, it is one of the essential ingredients that the persons forming unlawful assembly as defined under Section 149 IPC, must have common object and all the members present in the assembly, must know and have reason to believe the likelihood of the act committed by any member of the unlawful assembly that this sort of act may be committed. In legal parlance, it can be conveniently construed on the basis of testimony of prosecution witnesses that two sets of accused persons- one in group of two persons and other in group of three persons- though appeared on the spot but they never shared the common object of either causing death or injury on the informant's side. In this case the act of the second set of three accused person had its own isolated object to given vent to their grievance in their own style and and when the occasion comes for that. The act of appellants Shree Pal and Girraj was as per factual testimony on record confined only to raising of mud barrier and beyond that their act seized to exit. It travelled further only to the level of vituperation extended by them on informant side. The other three accused persons, Rukum Pal, Bhudeo and Sheoraj Singh took advantage of this vulnerable situation and finding it opportune moment all the three aforesaid co-accused, with a view, to give concrete shape to their hidden design, committed the crime. The two accused persons Shree Pal and Girraj, neither expected nor knew about any such design. Consequently, the act of the three other co-accused persons Rukum Pal, Bhudeo and Sheoraj Singh cannot fasten any vicarious liability on the appellants Shree Pal and Girraj.

33. On perusal of testimony of the Investigating Officer Brajwasi Lal P.W.7, unfolds entire things and circumstances and exposes to the hilt that on the aspect of actual occurrence, the prosecution witnesses of fact are improving their version just to implicate and categorize all the accused in one circle which circle need be bifurcated between the two halves. On careful analogy of testimony and circumstances we may easily conclude that the fact of actual occurrence becomes crystal clear, therefore, no joint liability can be fixed on the present appellants- Shree Pal and Girraj for separate and exclusive act of other co-accused- Rukum Pal, Bhudeo and Sheoraj Singh. It has not come in the testimony of any prosecution witnesses of fact that all the five persons had common design or object or had reason to believe that such act or offence would be the outcome of embankment, so raised by accused Shree Pal and Girraj. They did not exhort anyone.

34. The learned trial court while appraising evidence and marshalling facts of this case did not heed to certain vital aspects and circumstance which are self evident on point of participation of the appellants and on point of vicarious liability for act of others.

35. Here, we give benefit of doubt to both the appellants Shree Pal and Girraj. The above discussion of testimony, facts and circumstances of this case lead us to the conclusion that the charges framed against the appellants- Shree Pal and Girraj- have not been proved beyond reasonable doubt and no liability can be fastened on them by use of Section 149 IPC. Consequently, their conviction recorded by the trial court under Sections 147, 307/149, 324/149 IPC becomes erroneous and perverse and they are acquitted of the same. Both the appellants are on bail. They need not surrender in this case. Their personal bonds and bail bonds are cancelled and sureties are discharged.

36. These are the reasons upon which we set aside the impugned judgment and order of conviction dated 2.5.1983 passed by the Additional Sessions Judge Vth, Aligarh in Sessions Trial No.415 of 1980 (State Vs. Shree Pal and others) arising out of Case Crime no. 6 of 1980, under Sections under Sections-147, 307/149 and 324/149 I.P.C., Police Station- Akrabad, District Aligarh.

37. However, we direct that the appellants will ensure compliance of provisions of Section 437A Cr.P.C. by appearing before the concerned trial court at the earliest.

38. Let a copy of this order be certified to the concerned trial court for its intimation and follow up action.

Criminal Appeal No.- 1475 Of 2015

State Of U.P. (State Appeal) ...Appellant
Versus
Arjun & Anr. ...Respondents

Counsel for Appellant:
Govt. Advocate

Counsel for Respondents:
Piyush Kumar Singh

CrPC, 1973 — Appeal against Acquittal — Sections 498-A, 304-B IPC & Section 3/4 Dowry Prohibition Act — Scope of interference — Dowry death — Presumption under Section 113-B Evidence Act — Ingredients not proved — No evidence of cruelty "soon before death" — Acquittal upheld.

Headnote:

Where prosecution fails to establish demand of dowry and cruelty or harassment in connection therewith soon before death, mere proof of unnatural death within seven years of marriage is not sufficient to sustain conviction under Section 304-B IPC.

In an appeal against acquittal, unless the findings of the trial court are perverse, unreasonable, or wholly unsupported by evidence, interference is not warranted.

Trial court's view being plausible and supported by evidence, acquittal affirmed.

Procedural History (Proceedings):

State appeal against judgment dated 08.12.2014 passed by Additional Sessions Judge, Barabanki.

Trial Court acquitted accused under Sections 498-A, 304-B IPC and Section 3/4 Dowry Prohibition Act (alternate charge under Section 302 IPC also framed).

Appeal filed by State challenging acquittal.

Facts:

Deceased Renu (aged 21 years) married to accused Arjun about 3½ years prior to incident.

Allegation: demand of golden chain as dowry and harassment.

On assurance by accused, deceased was sent to matrimonial home; within four days, she died by hanging.

FIR lodged by father; investigation culminated in charge-sheet.

Post-mortem revealed ligature mark only, no external injuries indicating assault.

Defence:
Deceased was in depression due to death of her elder sister.
Committed suicide; no dowry demand; father-in-law living separately.

Issues:
Whether prosecution proved ingredients of Section 304-B IPC?
Whether there was cruelty/harassment for dowry "soon before death"?
Whether trial court's acquittal was perverse warranting interference?

Court's Findings / Conclusion:
Unnatural death within 7 years of marriage established.
However:
No reliable evidence of dowry demand.
No proof of cruelty or harassment.
No proximate link ("soon before") between alleged harassment and death.
Testimony of parents inconsistent; no complaint to mediator; relations cordial.
Medical evidence ruled out physical assault.
Defence version of suicide due to depression found plausible.
Trial Court's findings not perverse; view taken is reasonable.

Ratio Decidendi:
For conviction under Section 304-B IPC, prosecution must prove:
(i) Unnatural death within 7 years of marriage,
(ii) Cruelty/harassment,
(iii) Such cruelty for dowry,
(iv) Occurring soon before death (proximate link).
Presumption under Section 113-B Evidence Act arises only when foundational facts are proved.
In appeal against acquittal, double presumption of innocence operates; interference only when judgment is perverse or wholly unsustainable.

Judgment of acquittal affirmed.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Ravindra Nath Mishra-II, J.)

1. Challenge is to the judgment dated 8.12.2014 passed in Sessions Trial No. 404 of 2013, arising out of Crime No. 166 of 2013 under Sections 498A, 304B I.P.C and ¾ Dowry Prohibition Act, Police Station Dewa, District Barabanki, whereby learned Additional Sessions Judge, Barabanki has acquitted respondent Arjun and Ambika Prasad of charges levelled against them.

2. Brief facts as revealed from written complaint dated 26.5.2013 (Exhibit Ka-1) are that complainant Suraj Lal son of Gaya Prasad, resident of Village Chandoora, Police Station Mohamamdpur Khala District Barabanki had married her daughter Renu aged 21 years to Arjun son of Ambika Prasad Resident of Village Chandauli, Police Station Dewa, District Barabanki. After three years of her marriage, her daughter Renu went to her matrimonial home in "Gauna". When his daughter came back from her matrimonial home, she complained about demand of golden chain by accused persons. She also complained that accused persons were threatening her to bring golden chain in dowry otherwise they would kill her. Hence his daughter Renu insisted on not to return to her matrimonial home. However, on 21.5.2013 accused persons came to complainant's house and requested for "vidai" of Renu and promised not to harass her again. After intervention of relatives and advice of family members, the complainant sent her daughter to her matrimonial home along with husband Arjun and father-in-law, Ambika Prasad, but only after four days respondent-accused killed her by hanging. The complainant Suraj Lal lodged written complaint (Exhibit-ka 1) in Police Station Dewa, District Barabanki on 26.5.2013, on the basis of which, case crime no-166 of 2013 was registered under Sections 498A, 304B I.P.C and Section ¾ Dowry Prohibition Act against respondent-accused in police station Dewa, Barabanki vide chick report (Exhibit-ka-9). Corresponding entries were made in General Diary of Police Station (Exhibit Ka-10). Inquest of dead body of Renu Devi was conducted and inquest report. was prepared by Umesh Singh, Deputy Tehsildar, Tehsil Sadar, District Barabanki. Investigating officer Vishal Vikram Singh, Circle Officer City Barabanki sent dead body for post-mortem along with Photonash (Exhibit Ka-3), Chalanlash (Exhibit Ka-4), letter to R.I. (Exhibit Ka-5), letters to C.M.O. Barabanki (Exhibit Ka-6). Dr. Shashi Bhushan Singh conducted autopsy of cadaver of Smt. Renu and prepared post-mortem report (Exhibit Ka-8). On the same day, investigating officer visited place of occurrence and prepared Site Plan (Exhibit Ka-11) on the pointing of complainant. He recorded statements of witnesses under section 161 of Cr.P.C. The investigation culminated in submission of charge-sheet (Exhibit Ka-12) in the Court.

3. On the basis of charge-sheet accused persons were summoned by the Court and case was committed to the court of sessions on 23.7.2012, where charges were framed against accused persons Arjun and Ambika Prasad under Section 498A, 304-B I.P.C. and Section ¾ Dowry Prohibition Act. Alternatively charge under Section 302 I.P.C was also framed. Accused persons denied the charges and claimed to be tried.

4. To substantiate the charges, prosecution examined P.W.-1, complainant Suraj Lal, P.W.-2 Smt. Ram Janki, P.W.-3 Umesh singh, P.W.-4 Dr. Shashi Bhushan Singh, P.W.-5 Head Constable Ram Raj and P.W.-6 Circle Officer Vishal Vikram Singh.

5. After conclusion of prosecution evidence, statement of respondent-accused was also recorded under Section 313 Cr.P.C. in which marriage was admitted, but they denied that they ever demanded any dowry or harassed deceased for dowry. Accused Arjun, who was husband of the deceased, inter alia, pleaded that about 15 to 20 days before the incident her elder sister had died due to which she was in depression and she did not want to come to her matrimonial home. When forced to come she committed suicide by hanging herself on 4th day of her coming to her matrimonial home. He has also pleaded that at that time he was not present on the spot. He had gone in another village for cooking food in marriage. Accused Ambika Prasad, who happened to be father-in-law of the deceased has pleaded that he lived separately from accused Arjun. The deceased was in severe depression, due to death of her elder sister. She did not want to come to her matrimonial house. On persuasion of her relatives and insistence of accused to come to matrimonial home she came, but committed suicide by hanging herself when she found loneliness.

6. Respondent-accused examined D.W.-1 Devi Sharan, D.W.-2 Sohan LaL and D.W.-3 Ram Lakhan in their defense.

7. After hearing submissions made by prosecution and respondent-accused and appreciation of evidence, trial Court acquitted respondent-accused of charges framed against them concluding that prosecution has failed to prove demand of dowry and harassment in connection with dowry.

8. Feeling aggrieved by the judgment dated 08.12.2014, passed by the trial court, State has preferred this appeal.

9. Learned Additional Government Counsel, Smt. Smiti Sahay has vehemently argued that trial Court has wrongly and illegally acquitted the respondents without considering material evidence available on record. Deceased has died within seven years of her marriage and there is sufficient evidence available on record to prove demand of golden chain in dowry. She was also subjected to physical as well as mental cruelty soon before her death. Trial Court has committed error in law in acquitting the respondents. She has also argued that since judgment and order of trial Court is perverse, as it is against the weight of evidence, interference by the appellate court is required.

10. Per contra, learned counsel for the respondent-accused repelling the argument of learned A.G.A. has contended that except unnatural death of deceased within seven years of her marriage, none of ingredients of Sections 498A & 304B I.P.C. is proved. Trial Court has rightly held that deceased was in severe depression and therefore she committed suicide. There was no mark of injury on her body to conclude that it was a homicidal death. He has also argued that respondent-accused Ambika Prasad was living separate from his son accused Arjun. Trial Court after appreciating the evidence available on record has rightly concluded that charges are not proved. There is no perversity in the judgment, conclusion drawn by the trial court is plausible and if conclusion is plausible, it cannot be interfered in appeal against judgment of acquittal. Reversal of judgment is possible only if it is perverse or not supported by reasons.

11. Though so far as powers of the appellate court are concerned, no distinction has been made in the Criminal Procedure Code between an appeal from acquittal and an appeal from conviction and the appellate court has full power to review the evidence and to arrive at its own independent conclusion but keeping in view presumption of innocence of accused which is golden web of criminal jurisprudence and administration of criminal justice and the fact that after acquittal by the trial Court this presumption of innocence is further strengthened and reaffirmed, certain rule of caution has been propounded by the Apex Court that has to be kept in mind. An accused enjoys double protection in criminal jurisprudence after acquittal by a competent court of Law.

12. There is plethora of cases on the power of appellate Court to interfere in judgment of acquittal. However summarizing broader principles on the point laid down in leading decisions of Hon'ble Apex Court, following principles have been culled out in Chandrappa and others v. State of Karnakata 2007 (4) SCC 415:

"(1) An appellate Court has full power to review, reappreciate and reconsider the evidence upon which the order of acquittal is founded.

(2) The Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 puts no limitation, restriction or condition on exercise of such power and an appellate Court on the evidence before it may reach its own conclusion, both on questions of fact and of law.

(3) Various expressions, such as, 'substantial and compelling reasons', 'good and sufficient grounds', 'very strong circumstances', 'distorted conclusions', 'glaring mistakes', etc. are not intended to curtail extensive powers of an appellate Court in an appeal against acquittal. Such phraseologies are more in the nature of 'flourishes of language' to emphasize the reluctance of an appellate Court to interfere with acquittal than to curtail the power of the Court to review the evidence and to come to its own conclusion.

(4) An appellate Court, however, must bear in mind that in case of acquittal, there is double presumption in favour of the accused. Firstly, the presumption of innocence is available to him under the fundamental principle of criminal jurisprudence that every person shall be presumed to be innocent unless he is proved guilty by a competent court of law. Secondly, the accused having secured his acquittal, the presumption of his innocence is further reinforced, reaffirmed and strengthened by the trial court.

(5) If two reasonable conclusions are possible on the basis of the evidence on record, the appellate court should not disturb the finding of acquittal recorded by the trial court."

(Emphasis is supplied by us)

13. The above view has been further endorsed in subsequent decisions of Hon'ble Apex Court. In Maloth Somaraju vs. State Of A.P. (2011) 10 SCR 349 it is observed;

"5. The law dealing with the judgments of acquittal is now settled. There can be no two opinions that merely because the acquittal is found to be wrong and another view can be taken, the judgment of acquittal cannot be upset. The appellate Court has more and serious responsibility while dealing with the judgment of acquittal and unless the acquittal is found to be perverse or not at all supportable and where the appellate Court comes to the conclusion that conviction is a must, the judgment of acquittal cannot be upset. We have to examine as to whether the High Court, while upsetting the acquittal, has taken such care and it is quite clear from the High Court's judgment that the High Court has certainly taken that care."

14. in the backdrop of above broad principles relating to power of appellate court, the impugned judgment has to be examined as to Whether conclusion drawn by the trial court is perverse, distorted and not plausible and there is any substantial and compelling reason for interference?

15. Normal rule of evidence is that a person is presumed to be innocent until he is proved guilty; it is therefore the duty of the prosecution to prove its case by establishing both the actus reus of the crime and the mens rea. It must first satisfy the evidential burden to show that its allegations have something to support them. However there are some exceptions to the normal rule that the burden of proof is upon the prosecution. Some of the exceptions may be given as follows for example- (1) where the defendant pleads right of private defence after admitting the elements of the crime (the actus reus and mens rea), the evidential burden is upon the defendant to prove his defence. (2) Where the defendant pleads automatism, the evidential burden is upon him. (3) Where insanity is pleaded by the defendant as defence, both the evidential burden is upon him. (4) In some cases statute expressly places burden on the defendant; for example, a person who carries an offensive weapon in public is guilty of an offence unless he proves that he had lawful authority for carrying it. Similarly by the introduction of section 8A of the Dowry Prohibition Act the burden of proof was reversed in respect of prosecution for taking or abetting the taking or demanding of any dowry by making the person concerned responsible for proving that he had not committed any such offence.

16. Contemporaneously, Section 304B was introduced into IPC. Section 304-B I.P.C. spells out "dowry death" in following words:

"304B. Dowry death.--(1) Where the death of a woman is caused by any burns or bodily injury or occurs otherwise than under normal circumstances within seven years of her marriage and it is shown that soon before her death she was subjected to cruelty or harassment by her husband or any relative of her husband for, or in connection with, any demand for dowry, such death shall be called "dowry death", and such husband or relative shall be deemed to have caused her death.

Explanation.-For the purposes of this sub-section, "dowry" shall have the same meaning as in section 2 of the Dowry Prohibition Act, 1961 (28 of 1961).

(2) Whoever commits dowry death shall be punished with imprisonment for a term which shall not be less than seven years but which may extend to imprisonment for life."

17. Thus in order to seek a conviction against a person prosecution has to prove that:

a) the death of a woman caused by burns or bodily injury or had occurred otherwise than under normal circumstances;

b) such death should have occurred within seven years of her marriage;

c) the deceased was subjected to cruelty or harassment by her husband or by any relative of her husband;

d) such cruelty or harassment should be for or in connection with the demand of dowry; and

e) to such cruelty or harassment, the deceased should have been subjected soon before her death.

If above conditions are fulfilled then a presumption of dowry death shall be drawn against the accused persons under Section 113-B of Indian Evidence Act and the burden of proof shifts upon the accused to prove that he is innocent. Section 113-B of Indian Evidence Act is extracted below:

"113-B. Presumption as to dowry death.--When the question is whether a person has committed the dowry death of a woman and it is shown that soon before her death such woman has been subjected by such person to cruelty or harassment for, or in connection with, any demand for dowry, the Court shall presume that such person had caused the dowry death.

Explanation.--For the purposes of this section, "dowry death" shall have the same meaning as in section 304B, of the Indian Penal Code, (45 of 1860).]"

18. Explaining the reason for introducing Section 113-B of Indian Evidence Act Hon'ble Apex Court has observed in State of Punjab v. Iqbal Singh AIR 1991 SC 1532 that

"The legislative intent is clear: to curb the menance of dowry deaths, etc., with a firm hand. We must keep in mind this legislative intent. It must be remembered that since such crimes are generally committed in the privacy of residential homes and in secrecy, independent and direct evidence is not easy to get. That is why the legislature has by introducing sections 113A and 113B in the Evidence Act tried to strengthen the prosecution hands by permitting a presumption to be raised if certain foundational facts are established and the unfortunate event has taken place within seven years of marriage."

19. A conjoint reading of Section 113-B of Indian Evidence Act and Section 304-B I.P.C. shows that there must be some material to show that soon before the death the victim was subjected to cruelty and harassment by her husband or relative of husband for dowry in connection of marriage. There must exists live link between the effect of cruelty based on dowry demand and death.

20. Now adverting to the facts of present case, It has been alleged in written complaint (Exhibit-Ka 1) that the deceased was subjected to physical assault and then she was hanged. After her death an autopsy was conducted of her dead body. According to autopsy report (Exhibit-Ka 8) following injuries were found on the body of deceased at the time of examination:

"1. An oblique ligature mark of 25 cm present all around the neck with a gap of 5 cm on Lt. Side. Ligature mark present above thyroid cartilage in front passing obliquely upward and backward along the line of mandilble.

2. Ligature mark is 1.5. cm in broad, 6 cm below Rt. Ear, 3 cm below Lt. Ear and 4 cm away from chin.

3. Base of groove of ligature mark is hard and parchment like on opening subcutaneous and areolar tissue underneath ligature mark is glistening white in colour."

21. According to P.W-4 Dr. Shashi Bhushan Singh, who had conducted autopsy, no other injury except injuries mentioned above was found on the body of deceased at the time of examination. It negates any physical torture or assault before her death. Though physical assault of the deceased is not established by autopsy report and testimony of P.W.-4, but it is established beyond doubt that her death had occurred otherwise than under normal circumstances. It is also not disputed by respondent-accused.

22. Case of the prosecution is that deceased Renu, aged 21 years was married to accused Arjun about three and half years before her death. This fact is also proved by P.W.-1 Suraj Lal and P.W.-2 Smt. Ram Janki, father and mother of deceased. Father and mother are the best person to depose about age of marriage. From the perusal of statement of P.W.1 Suraj Lal and P.W.-2 Ram Janki, it transpires that the age of marriage is not disputed rather accused in their statements under Section 313 Cr.P.C. have admitted the factum of marriage with deceased Renu within seven years of her marriage. Thus it is established that deceased had died within seven years of her marriage.

23. In order to bring home charges under Section 304- B I.P.C., prosecution has also to prove that the deceased was subjected to cruelty or harassment by the husband or any relative of her husband before her death. Cruelty or harassment may be mental or physical. In the instant case, there appears no physical cruelty. In complaint (Exhibit-Ka 1), there is no allegation of any physical assault. It has been stated in Exhibit-Ka 1 that on 21.5.2013 when accused came to his house to take deceased to her matrimonial home, deceased refused to go. It has also been stated that on their undertaking and assurance that they would not harass her in future, he allowed her to go with the accused persons. The relevant portion may be quoted as below:

लगभग 8 या 9 महीना हुए दिन मंगलबार ता० 21-5-13 को लड़की विदा कराने आये वे मेरे विदा न करने को कहने पर खाफी खुशामद करने लगे कि अब लड़की को किसी भी बात पर प्रताडित नहीं करेंगे

Except above quoted lines nothing is written in report (Exhibit-Ka 1) with regard to harassment to constitute cruelty. The conduct of the complainant should be "grave and weighty". It must be something serious than ordinarily "wear and tear of married life" Petty quibbles, trifling differences should not be exaggerated and magnified as cruelty. From the perusal of the statement of P.W.-1 and P.W.-2 it is evident that the factum of harassment has not been proved by the prosecution.

24. Prosecution has also to prove that cruelty or harassment, if any, should be for or in connection with demand of dowry. Unless there is demand of dowry any kind of harassment whether mental or physical does not come within definition of Section 304-B I.P.C. Explanation appended to Sub-Section (1) of Section 304-B I.P.C. says that "dowry for the purposes of the this Section shall have the same meaning as in Section 2 of the Dowry Prohibition Act, 1961 (for short 28 of 1961). Section 2 of Section 1961 Act defines "dowry" as follows:

"2. Definition of "dowry'. --In this Act, "dowry" means any property or valuable security given or agreed to be given either directly or indirectly--

(a) by one party to a marriage to the other party to the marriage; or

(b) by the parent of either party to a marriage or by any other person, to either party to the marriage or to any other person,at or before 1 [or any time after the marriage] 2 [in connection with the marriage of the said parties, but does not include] dower or mahr in the case of persons to whom the Muslim Personal Law (Shariat) applies. 3 [] Explanation II.-- The expression "valuable security" has the same meaning as in section 30 of the Indian Penal Code (45 of 1860)."

25. The definition of "dowry" reproduced above would show that the term is defined comprehensively to included properties of all sorts as it rests within its hold "any property" or "valuable security" given or agreed to be given in connection with marriage either directly or indirectly. It is not confined merely to the demand of money, property or valuable security. Expression "at or before or any time after the marriage" and in connection with marriage of the said parties were introduced by amending Act, 63 of 1984 and Act 43 of 1986 in the year 1985 and 1986 respectively. These amendments appear to have been made with the intention to recover all demands before and even after the marriage of the said parties.

26. In the instant case demand of golden chain is alleged to have been made by accused-respondents. Burden lies on prosecution to prove that accused persons demanded golden chain in dowry. In order to prove the demand of dowry, prosecution has examined P.W.-1, Suraj Lal and P.W.-2 Ram Janki, who are father and mother of the deceased respectively. The trial court has concluded that prosecution was not able to prove the demand of dowry. In this respect the trial court has referred some of the statements of P.W.-1 wherein he has stated that accused never demanded any dowry directly from him when he visited matrimonial home of her daughter. She also did not tell her about any demand. In written complaint (Exhibit-Ka 1) also there is nothing to indicate that accused demanded any article directly from P.W-1. Trial court on the basis of statement of P.W-1 has concluded that they never complained about any demand to the mediator. This fact also negates the allegation of demand of dowry. The mediator Devi Saran has been examined as D.W-1, who has stated against any demand. The statement of P.W-1 and P.W-2 also shows that the relationship between complainant and accused was also very cordial.

27. P.W.-1 and P.W.-2 themselves have admitted that their daughter and son-in-law Arjun were living separately in the same house. This fact also makes prosecution story of demand of dowry doubtful.

28. Thus we do not find the conclusion of trial Court regarding demand of dowry to be baseless or perverse.

29. Explaining terms "soon before" and "cruelty" as used in sections 113-B of the Evidence Act and 304-B IPC Hon'ble Apex Court in Surinder Singh v. State of Haryana (2014) 4 SCC 129, has said:

"17. Thus, the words "soon before" appear in Section 113-B of the Evidence Act, 1872 and also in Section 304-B IPC. For the presumptions contemplated under these sections to spring into action, it is necessary to show that the cruelty or harassment was caused soon before the death. The interpretation of the words "soon before" is, therefore, important.The question is how "soon before"? This would obviously depend on the facts and circumstances of each case. The cruelty or harassment differs from case to case. It relates to the mindset of people which varies from person to person. Cruelty can be mental or it can be physical. Mental cruelty is also of different shades. It can be verbal or emotional like insulting or ridiculing or humiliating a woman. It can be giving threats of injury to her or her near and dear ones. It can be depriving her of economic resources or essential amenities of life. It can be putting restraints on her movements.It can be not allowing her to talk to the outside world. The list is illustrative and not exhaustive. Physical cruelty could be actual beating or causing pain and harm to the person of a woman. Every such instance of cruelty and related harassment has a different impact on the mind of a woman. Some instances may be so grave as to have a lasting impact on a woman. Some instances which degrade her dignity may remain etched in her memory for a long time. Therefore, "soon before" is a relative term. In matters of emotions we cannot have fixed formulae. The time-lag may differ from case to case. This must be kept in mind while examining each case of dowry death."

29A. Thus as observed in above judgment a conjoint reading of Section 113-B of Indian Evidence Act and Section 304-B I.P.C. shows that in order to draw presumption of dowry death, prosecution has to prove that soon before her death the victim was harassed in connection of dowry. The word "soon before" is relevant evidence in that regard has to be led by the prosecution. No straight jacket formula can be laid down as to what would constitute of period of soon before the occurrence. It is a relative term and it would depend upon the circumstances of each case. No definite period can be given to bring the case within the expression "soon before". The expression "soon before" her death as used in Section 304-B I.P.C. and Section 113-B of the Indian Evidence Act is pregnant with the idea of proximity. The expression normally implies that the interval should not be much between the cruelty or harassment and the death in question. There must be existence of a proximate and live link between the effect and cruelty based on dowry demand and the death concerned. If the alleged incident of cruelty is remote in time and has become stale enough not to disturb the mental equilibrium of the women concerned, it would be of no consequence.

30. As has been seen above, the harassment part of offence is absolutely lacking in this case. P.W.-1 in his statement himself has admitted that after death of her elder daughter, accused persons came to his house and wanted to take Renu (deceased) to their home and at that time they promised not to harass her. Thus matter appears to have been resolved. For the sake of argument, if in any way it is concluded that deceased was ever harassed, there is no evidence on record to show that after this promise and taking the deceased to her matrimonial home, she was harassed or subjected to any cruelty. Thus there is no proximity between so-called harassment and her death. Post-mortem (Exhibit-Ka 8) also negates any kind of harassment committed before her death. Case of accused is that, after death of her elder sister Renu was very much dejected and had gone in depression. She (deceased) committed suicide finding herself in loneliness. D.W.-1 Devi Sharan and D.W.-3 Ram Lakhan have supported the story of defense. The defense also finds support from the statement of P.W-1 where he has stated that after death of her elder sister to whom deceased was very much affectionate, she remained dejected and had gone in depression.

31. Thus the conclusion drawn by trial Court is very much supported by evidence on record, it cannot be called perverse or palpably wrong. Hence no interference is required. Therefore, this appeal is liable to be dismissed.

32. The appeal is dismissed.

CITATION:
Sadhu Saran Singh Vs. State of U.P. and others, 2016 (2) JIC 172 – Distinguished.
HELD:
Conduct of the sole eye witness (father of deceased) was found unnatural as he did not attempt to save his son during the alleged assault consisting of multiple knife blows.
Presence of eye witness on the spot became doubtful due to unexplained passive conduct.
Tes:timony of PW-2 Hulasi Ram was contradictory and it was proved that he reached the spot after 10–15 minutes of occurrence and therefore was not an eye witness.
Medical evidence showed 12 ante-mortem injuries of varying dimensions and doctor admitted possibility of use of more than one weapon, contradicting prosecution story of single knife.
Medical evidence also created doubt regarding time of death, suggesting death could have occurred earlier than time alleged in FIR.
Place of occurrence became doubtful due to contradictions in testimony of witnesses and site plan.
Recovery of knife from open place was not reliable; Investigating Officer failed to satisfactorily prove recovery.
Prosecution failed to prove guilt beyond reasonable doubt.
Trial court failed to properly appreciate contradictions emerging from cross examination of prosecution witnesses.
Benefit of doubt must go to accused.

CONCLUSION:

District Bareilly, whereby the accused appellant has been sentenced to life imprisonment coupled with fine Rs. 10,000/- and fine stipulates six months' additional simple imprisonment under section 302 I.P.C., and one year rigorous imprisonment under section 4/25 Arms Act. Sentences to run concurrently.

2. Heard Sri D.S. Mishra, Advocate assisted by Sri Chandrakesh Mishra, learned counsel for the appellant, Sri A.N. Mulla and Kumari Meena, learned A.G.A. for the State and also perused the record.

3. The prosecution story as emanates from the record is based on first information report lodged by first informant Bholey Shanker son of Umray, resident of village Purana Mohanpur Police Station Cantt. District Bareilly, on 30.6.2001 at 11.10 A.M. at Police Station Cantt, District Bareilly at crime no. 183 of 2001 under section 302 I.P.C. with the allegation that the first informant's son Shanker Kashyap aged about 17 years was a confectioner. He had some quarrel with children of one Gajruddin of the same village on 30.06.2001 in the morning wherein the matter was reconciled. Informant's son Shanker Kashyap prior to incident had sustained some burn injury on his hand on account sprinkling of hot Ghee and first informant was taking him to doctor (Jagdish Saran) in the village for bandage/dressing. As soon as he reached in front of hospital of Dr. Jagdish Saran, he saw Badey son of Gajruddin, resident of Mohanpur, possessing Lathi in his hand, standing over there. When they reached near him, he suddenly gave lathi blow on the head of informant's son (deceased Shanker Kashyap) due to which he fell down then Badey @ Mustaq (accused) whipped out a knife and gave several knife blows to his son. In the meanwhile Hulashi Ram son of Khemraj and informant's brother Nand Ram arrived on the spot. They tried to save Shanker and also tried to catch Badey son of Gajruddin, but the accused fled away from the scene. When occurrence took place, Sujata daughter of Nanhey Lal was also standing over there. This incident occurred around 9:30 A.M. Informant took his son to district hospital in a Jeep where he expired. His body was kept in district Hospital, therefore, request was made for lodging the report and action be taken. This written report is Ext. Ka. 1.

4. Entries of contents of written report were taken down in Check FIR at police Station Cantt. on 30.6.2001 at 11.10 A.M. at crime no. 183 of 2001 under Section 302 I.P.C. Check FIR is Ext. Ka. 17. On the basis of entries so made in Check FIR, the case was registered at concerned G.D. Entry No. 22 at 11.10 A.M. on 30.6.2001 which is Ext. Ka-18. Thereafter, Investigating Officer Arvind Pal Singh PW-8 took over investigation on 30.06.2001 and made arrangement through S.I. R.N. Singh to prepare the inquest report of deceased Shanker Kashyap on 30.6.2001 itself. Inquest commenced at 12.00 noon and completed at 1.00 P.M. Investigating Officer concurred with the opinion of inquest witnesses that the dead body be sent for post mortem examination in order to ascertain real cause of death. Thereafter, relevant papers were prepared and body of deceased was sent to mortuary Bareilly for conduction of post mortem examination. Post mortem examination was conducted by Dr. Ram Niwas PW-4 on 30.6.2001 at 3.45 A.M. wherein following ante mortem injuries were noted by the doctor:

1. Incised wound 2.5 x 1 cm x muscle deep over the left chin 0.2 cm below the left angle of mouth. Margins clear cut.

2. Incised wound 1 cm x 5 cm x muscle deep under the skin 1 cm away from injury no. 1

3. Incised wound 1 cm x 5 cm x muscle deep over right side neck 8 cm below right ear, sharp margins.

4. Incised wound 1.5 x 1 cm over left side of chest cavity deep 7 cm above left nipple at 12 O' clock position

5. Incised wound 1.5 cm x 1cm x muscle deep left side of chest 6 cm above left nipple at 10 O' clock position.

6. Incised wound 2 cm x 1 cm x cavity deep right side of chest 10 cm below right nipple at 6 O'clock position.

7. Incised wound 2 cm x 1 cm x muscle deep over ring finger of right hand.

8. Multiple small incised wound in one area 5 x 2 cm over the chest cavity deep left side of chest 6 cm below left nipple at 4 O ' clock position.

9. Multiple incised wound in the area of 17x 16 cm over the left arm and fore arm and elbow.

10. Incised wound 1 cm x 0.5 cm x muscle deep in left arm 5 cm above wrist joint.

11. Incised wound 4 cm x 1 cm over thumb of the left hand.

12. Multiple incised wound 5 x 1 cm over left side of the angle of left scapula.

In the opinion of doctor, duration between time of death and post mortem examination was noted about ½ day and cause of death was described due to shock and haemorrhage as a result of ante mortem injuries. Dr. Ram Niwas PW-4 has proved post mortem examination report as Ext. Ka-3.

5. Thereafter, various steps were taken by the Investigating Officer for recording the statement of the prosecution witnesses. He prepared site plan of the incident and also arrested the accused on 02.07.2001 and recovered knife from him and made recovery memo of the same which is Ext Ka-6. The Investigating Officer also prepared memo of blood stained and simple soil from spot which Ext. Ka-14. The Investigating Officer sent certain clothes and the blood stained soil and the recovered knife etc. for chemical examination to Chemical Laboratory at Agra and report was obtained on 07.08.2001 which is Ext. Ka-16. The site plan of place of recovery and arrest was also prepared by the Investigating Officer which is Ext. Ka-4. Site plan of the main occurrence under section 302 I.P.C. is Ext. Ka- 13 and Investigating Officer also prepared site plan Ext. Ka. 14-A. After completing the investigation, the Investigating Officer submitted charge sheet Ext. Ka-2.

6. It is also gathered from record that in this case, accused Baday @ Mustaq was arrested by Inspector Arvind Pal Singh, Investigating Officer PW-8 on 02.07.2001 around 2:35 p.m. and the knife allegedly used in the commission of offence was also recovered from his pointing out and a report regarding the same was lodged at case crime no. 183-A of 2001 under section 4/25 Arms Act on 02.07.2001 at 17.25 hours against the appellant at Police Station Cantt., District Bareilly. This check FIR is Ext. Ka-20. Recovery memo as discussed above has already been proved as Ext. Ka-6. The site map of place of recovery as discussed above was also made by Arvind Pal Singh PW-8 which is Ext. Ka. 14-A. Relevant G.D. entries whereby case under section 4/25 Arms Act against appellant was registered is Ext. Ka. 21 and has been proved by Arvind Pal Singh PW-8.

7. It is also reflected from record that investigation of this case pertaining to Arms Act was carried out by Suresh Pal Singh PW-6. He recorded statement of the first informant, Arvind Pal Singh, S.H.O., S.I. Jagdish Kumar and also recorded statement of other witnesses and prepared site plan of the occurrence which is Ext. Ka-4. Thereafter he submitted charge sheet dated 04.07.2001 under section 4/25 Arms Act against accused which Ext. Ka-5.

8. Thereafter, the case was committed to the court of Sessions where both the aforesaid Case Crime Nos. 183 of 2001 and 183-A of 2001 were tried together in the aforesaid Sessions Trial No. 150 of 2002. The accused appellant was heard on point of charge and he was charged under section 302 I.P.C. and section 4/25 Arms Act. Charges were read over and explained to the accused who denied the charges and claimed to be tried.

9. In order to prove its case, the prosecution produced in all 8 witnesses. Brief description of whom is herein under:

10. Bholey Shanker PW-1 is first informant and eye witness. Hulasi Ram PW-2 is witness of fact and he claims to be an eye witness. S.I. Raj Pal Singh PW-3 is subsequent Investigating Officer of the case pertaining to case crime no. 183 of 2001 and he has stated that previous Investigating Officer was Arvind Pal Singh. He completed rest of the investigation and filed charge sheet Ext. Ka. 2. Dr. Ram Niwas PW-4 has conducted the post mortem examination on the cadaver of the deceased and has proved the same as Ext. Ka. 3. Anoop PW-5 is witness of fact. Suresh Pal Singh PW-6 is Investigating Officer of the case regarding the case registered at case crime no. 183-A of 2001 under the Arms Act and he has detailed his investigation. He has also filed charge sheet under relevant section of Arms Act as Ext. Ka-5. S.I. Raghu Nath Singh PW-7 is witness to fact of recovery of knife from the accused-appellant and he has also held inquest of deceased Shanker Kashyap on 30.6.2001 and also prepared relevant papers for sending dead body of Shanker Kashyap for post mortem examination. Arvind Pal Singh PW-8 is the previous Investigating Officer of this case under section 302 I.P.C. and he has detailed various steps he took during the course of investigation. He has also prepared recovery memo of knife at the pointing out of the accused-appellant on 02.07.2001 and has proved recovery memo as Ext. Ka-6. Besides, he has also proved relevant check FIR and entries made in the concerned G.D. whereby offence under section 302 I.P.C. was registered at police station Cantt. on 30.6.2001 as Ext. Ka-17 and Ext. Ka-18, respectively. He has also proved check FIR and relevant G.D. Entries as Ext. Ka-20 and Ka-21 pertaining to case crime no. 183-A of 2001 under section 4/25 Arms. Act.

11. Thereafter the evidence for prosecution was closed and statement of accused was recorded under section 313 Cr.P.C. wherein he has denied his involvement in this case and claimed false implication on account of enmity and he has also stated that at the time of occurrence, he was at the residence of his sister.

12. The defence has led testimony of one Smt. Purnima Sharma DW-1. She was Principal of Shyam Bihari Memorial Junior High School. She has stated fact about the date of birth of the accused-appellant as 28.05.1986 as noted in scholar register. Thereafter the evidence for the parties was closed and the matter was posted for hearing of argument.

13. The learned Trial Court after hearing both the parties on merit and considering the evidence on record and appraisal of facts, recorded aforesaid finding of conviction vide judgment and order dated 20.03.2016.

14. Consequently this appeal.

15. It has been vehemently urged on behalf of the accused-appellant that the conviction recorded under section 302 I.P.C. and 4/25 Arms Act by the trial court vide judgment and order dated 20.3.2006 and awarding sentence of life imprisonment and one year rigorous imprisonment coupled with fine is absolutely erroneous illegal and is based on misreading of evidence, whereas, the fact is that the incident has neither been witnessed by any person nor has it been reasonably proved by testimony of the prosecution witnesses.

16. The very nature of ante mortem injuries found on the dead body of deceased Shanker Kashyap describe the injuries of varying dimensions particularly, measurements of injuries on the face speak loud about use of different weapons rather than use of only one weapon i.e. knife. How is it possible that the father who was accompanying his son aged 17 years, when intercepted by the accused-appellant around 9:30 a.m. in the month of June, brutally assaulted with knife his son shall remain passive and mute spectator to the incident. Admittedly, the appellant was alone and was stated to have been possessing Lathi. He gave Lathi blow first to the deceased Shanker Kashyap and when he fell down, he was severely assaulted by the knife which knife blows were not one or two but were discovered to be 12 in number as reflected from post mortem examination report Ext. Ka-3.

17. The fact is that on account of some unfounded enmity, the appellant has been roped in, in this case, whereas, the fact is that the deceased Shanker Kashyap was found to be involved in eve-teasing and was killed by some unknown persons. His body was thrown behind the school. When the first informant came to know about these facts, he out of imagination in collusion with the police gave live picture to an unfounded incident and claimed himself to be an eye witness which is falsified by the attendant circumstances of the case. The first informant, father of the deceased neither sustained any mark of injury on his person nor did he actively try to save his son so brutally assaulted before him, this conduct on his part is most unnatural and unbecoming of a natural eyewitness.

18. The doctor has suggested that such type of death may have occurred between 8 to 20 hours from the time of post mortem examination. The death could have been caused from from 3:00 p.m. on 29.6.2001 to 3:00 a.m. on 30.6.2001. The doctor has also suggested that deceased might have taken food 5 to 6 hours before his death and thus, under circumstances, is a pointer to reality that the death of Shanker Kashyap took place sometime in the darkness of night. The place of incident is neither proved by the first informant nor by the Investigating Officer.

19. The testimony of the witnesses of fact is contradictory in material particulars and presence of Hulasi Ram PW-2 on the spot is managed by the prosecution. In the testimony of PW-1 itself, it emerges out that Hulasi Ram PW-2 arrived on the spot after 10-15 minutes of the incident. Hulasi Ram saw first informant carrying dead body of Shanker Kashyap in Rikshaw upto Naktiya police out post from where a jeep was arranged for conveying the dead body. This fact per se, shows that the dead body was taken from the open land where it was lying and this particular fact has been deliberately concealed by PW-1. and the Investigating Officer Arvind Pal Singh PW-8 is found to have been supporting the first informant all the time on such concealment of vital fact (regarding place of incident).

20. The recovery of knife is absolutely false. Nothing incriminating was recovered from possession of accused. The investigating Officer of crime (183A/2001) pertaining to recovery of knife has himself proved that he was not shown the place of recovery/occurrence by the first informant from where recovery of knife was effected on 2.7.2001 at the pointing out of the appellant. The Investigating Officer also did not see the knife which was recovered at the pointing out of the appellant, therefore, conviction under section 4/25 of Arms Act is based on imagination and misreading of fact and evidence.

21. Learned AGA while replying to aforesaid arguments, has submitted that the case of the prosecution has been proved consistently. Each and every particulars of incident, motive for committing the crime, fair investigation by the police have also been established. Injuries caused on the deceased have been very much proved by the testimony of PW-1 Bholey Shanker. He is an eye witness of the incident. Hulasi Ram PW-2 also witnessed the incident and merely because the first informant did not receive any injury and did not intervene when the assault was being caused to his son wound not nullify his presence on the spot.

22. The absence of Lathi blow on the head of the deceased both in the inquest report as well as in post mortem examination report will not nullify the ocular testimony of PW-1 that Lathi blow was not given. In more or less similar matter, where Lathi blow was not found, where blow was stated to have been given the Hon. Apex Court in the matter of Sadhu Saran Singh Vs. State of U.P. and others 2016(2) JIC 172 has held that non mention of such blow would not prejudice the prosecution case if ocular testimony of the occurrence is found to be cogent and consistent.

23. After considering the aforesaid submissions and after perusing the record, the core consideration that engages our attention for deciding this appeal, relates to fact; whether the prosecution has been able to bring home charges under section 302 IPC and 4/25 Arms Act against the accused-appellant and has proved charges beyond reasonable doubt and the first informant, and Hulasi Ram happen to be eye witness of the occurrence and whether the conviction and sentence so recorded is justified?

24. We may start with the allegations made in the first information report wherein very motive assigned for committing the crime has been stated to be some altercation between children of Gajruddin and children of first informant. It is stated that first informant scolded his son Shanker Kashyap and got the matter reconciled. This episode took place in the morning on 30.6.2001.

25. It further contains detail regarding fact that the informant's son Shanker Kashyap sustained some burn injury on his right hand prior to the incident, therefore, first informant was taking him for dressing to village doctor Jagdish Saran. As soon as he reached in front of Jagdish Saran's hospital, he saw the appellant standing over there possessing Lathi in his hand. He suddenly abused and gave Lathi blow on the head of Shanker Kashyap due to which, he fell down and the accused-appellant whipped out knife and gave several knife blows to the deceased Shanker Kashyap (when only he fell down). In the meanwhile Hulasi Ram and his brother Nand Ram arrived on the spot. They tried to catch the accused appellant but he escaped from the scene. Sujata daughter of Nanhey Lal also witnessed the incident. It was around 9.30 A.M. and in the concluding part of the first information report, it has been stated that the first informant took his son Shanker Kashyap to the hospital in a jeep where he expired. The dead body has been kept in the hospital. Report be lodged and appropriate action be taken.

26. Therefore, it is obvious that no previous motive for committing the crime has been given in the first information report. However, the motive for committing crime arose the very same day on 30.6.2001 and thereafter a brief description of the incident has been made in the first information report. In such factual background of incident, we have to scrutinize carefully testimony of eyewitnesses qua facts and circumstances of the case and particularly on the point regarding the presence of both the eyewitnesses PW-1 and PW-2, on the spot.

27. But before we proceed with the scrutiny of eye account testimony of witnesses, it would be convenient to take note of ante mortem injuries as appearing in the post mortem report Ext. Ka-3.

28. We notice that as many as 12 ante mortem injuries were found on the body of the deceased as has been mentioned in the preceding paragraphs of our judgment. We may observe that few ante mortem injuries i.e. injuries no. 2, 3 and 10 are of measurement of incised wound 1 cm x 5 cm x muscle deep under the skin 1 cm away from injury no. 1. Incised wound 1 cm x 5 cm x muscle deep over right side neck 8 cm below the right ear, sharp margins and incised wound 1 cm x 0.5 cm x muscle deep in the left arm 5 cm above wrist joint.

29. Similarly, other injuries no. 1 incised wound 2.5 x 1 cm x muscle deep over the left chin 0.2 cm below the left angle of mouth. Margins clear cut, then injuries no. 4 and 5 are Incised wound 1.5 x 1 cm over the left side of the chest cavity deep 7 cm above left nipple at 12 O' clock position and incised wound 1.5 cm x 1cm x muscle deep left side of chest 6 cm above left nipple at 10 O' clock position, respectively. Injuries no. 6 and 7 are Incised wounds 2 cm x 1 cm x cavity deep right side of the chest 10 cm below right nipple at 6 O'clock position and incised wound 2 cm x 1 cm x muscle deep over ring finger of the right hand, respectively.

30. These injuries are very specific for our consideration because of varying dimensions mentioned in the post mortem examination report, Ext. Ka-3. We will discuss its impact and effect at subsequent relevant stage of our judgment.

31. We may now move to the meritorial aspect of this case which is centred to the point of occurrence, manner of causing occurrence and presence of eye witnesses on the spot as claimed by the prosecution. In this process, we may examine the prosecution witnesses of fact and particularly, first informant Bholey Shanker, PW-1, who happens to be father of deceased Shanker Kashyap. He claims himself to be an eyewitness of the occurrence and he has lodged written report and has claimed to have seen the entire incident.

32. Before divulging any opinion on point of occurrence, it would be convenient to take motive part of incident to the effect as to what prompted the accused to commit the crime. We gather from the first information report that on the fateful day i.e. 30.6.2001, some altercation took place between children of first informant and Gajruddin which was pacified by interference of first informant Bholey Shanker who reprimanded his son Shanker Kashyap not to indulge in such act. Thereafter, it is claimed that the appellant Baday alias Mustaq was not satisfied with all this, therefore, he assaulted Shanker Kashyap son of first informant with Lathi and knife blows due to which Shanker Kashyap died.

33. Now, we may switch over to the description of the occurrence as emerging from the testimony of prosecution witnesses of fact. Perusal of testimony of Bholey Shanker PW-1 reflects that his son Shanker Kashyap had sustained some burn injuries on his hand and he was being taken to doctor Jagdish Saran at village Mohanpur. When first informant reached near hospital of Jagdish Saran, he saw Baday alias Mustaq standing over there possessing Lathi in his hand. As soon as they reached near the accused, he gave Lathi blow on the head of Shanker Kashyap due to which informant's son fell down on the ground, whereupon, the accused whipped out his knife and gave knife blows to his son. This incident took place around 9.30 A.M. on 30.06.2001.

34. On alarm being raised by the first informant, Hulasi Ram and Nand Ram arrived on the spot and they saw the incident. They tried to save the deceased Shanker Kashyap and the accused Baday @ Mustaq fled away towards western side by waving Lathi and knife. In the examination in chief on page 18 of the paper book, it has been stated that the first informant took his son to the district hospital Bareilly in a jeep, and on way they met with one constable at the police out post who also boarded in the jeep and accompanied them to the hospital. In the hospital, the doctor declared Shanker Kashyap dead.

35. The first informant got scribed his written report from one Lal Bahadur Saxena of his village thereafter, the same was read over and explained to him. He appended his thumb impression on the report and went to the police station, gave the report to Diwanji, whereupon, the case was registered. He has been cross examined at length on several different aspects of this case including the incident. He has also stated that this main road from village Mohanpur is heavily used by public from 7.00 a.m. onwards.

36. At this stage, we may take into consideration site plan of the incident which is Ext. Ka. 13. As per this site plain, hospital of Dr. Jagdish Saran has been shown to the western side of road and place 'A' in front of this hospital is the place which is marked as spot where the accused caused knife blow to the deceased and place 'B' is shown to be spot where the first informant was standing and watching incident. Place 'C' is the place from where Hulasi Ram and Nand Ram saw the incident and place 'D' is the place from where Sujata witnessed the incident.

37. Obviously, Sujata and Nand Ram has not been produced as prosecution witnesses and only Hulasi Ram, has been examined as PW-2. We come across the testimony of PW-1 at page 25. In his cross examination at page 25 of the paper book, after alarm was raised, his brother-in-law, (Hulasi Ram) and brother (Nand Ram) arrived on the spot after 11 to 15 minutes. This by itself is sufficient for construing absence of Hulasi Ram at the actual time of occurrence on the spot. Therefore, the claim of Hulasi Ram that he also witnessed the incident is very much disclaimed by the testimony of first informant itself.

38. Now, only eye witness remains to be examined is Bholey Shanker PW-1. Obviously, inquest report of deceased Shanker Kashyap and his post mortem report do not certify the fact regarding causing of any Lathi blow on head of deceased which by itself is leading to the conclusion that in fact no Lathi blow was given to Shanker Kashyap. We may consider the happening in its practical shape by reviving the incident/happening as described by the prosecution.

39. We have before us, testimony of PW-1 that in the morning there was little altercation between children of first informant and Gajruddin and the matter was settled by the first informant Bholey Shanker himself but the elder son of Gajruddin (present accused) was not satisfied with that and he had some grudge against the first informant. On 30.6.2001 around 9.30 A.M., the first informant was accompanying his son Shanker Kashyap (deceased) to the hospital of Dr. Jagdish Saran of his village for dressing of his hand as some burn was caused on his right hand because of engagement of the deceased at some confectionery shop since he was a confectioner.

40. Indisputably, the age of the deceased Shanker Kashyap was 17 years. As soon as the first informant and his son reached near Dr. Jagdish Saran Hospital, the accused was standing over there possessing Lathi in his hand. He gave Lathi blow on the head of Shanker Kashyap, who fell down and thereafter the accused gave several knife blows to the deceased. First informant watched his son in the meanwhile.

41. Fact is that the accused was alone and son of first informant was seriously assaulted by knife blow not once or twice on one part of the body, but on various parts of his body twelve times by causing knife blows thus causing twelve injuries specific, thus, the point engages our consideration on possibility of a man remaining passive throughout the entire incident (i.e. act of assault) and watching his son being assaulted with knife brutally and mercilessly by another person. If there is no compelling reason for not extending immediate help to the victim by his own natural father, then obviously, the father, whose son is being assaulted so brutally before him, will never resist temptation and will be infuriated at such ghastly assault and will immediately intervene and will try to protect and rescue his child from such murderous assault.

42. We are surprised that not a single act of interference or rescuing his son was done by the father of the deceased Shanker Kashyap which may suggest active interference of first informant while the crime was being committed in his presence. He was admittedly accompanying his son and he had every opportunity at least to react to the situation, but most expected reaction on the part of first informant was altogether missing, which particular aspect is fair enough to give rise to suspicion regarding actual presence of the first informant on the spot. Thus, presence of informant on the spot when the incident occurred becomes doubtful. Had he been present on the spot, there would have been explanation for his remaining passive and mute spectator to such atrocious assault being caused to his son. Therefore, the natural behaviour of first informant itself speaks loud about his absence on the spot at the time of occurrence. His behaviour in not reacting to the assault and doing nothing to save his son, raises doubt on his presence on the spot. No explanation was given by the prosecution.

43. Now, we may also discuss about the incident as to how it happened its manner and style of happening as alleged. Prosecution asserts that the incident has been consistently proved by the testimony of PW-1 Bholey Shankar which inspires confidence and circumstances fully establish the incident and the theory of assault caused by the accused. But the argument does not hold for the reason that very perusal of post mortem examination report Ext. Ka-3 reveals that as many as 12 specific assaults were caused on the body of the deceased and these assaults are of varying description and dimensions and their respective measurements itself speak the reality that the entire process of assault must have taken its own time and it cannot be said that during entire span of such assaults, no time was left for the father (PW-1) of the deceased to rush to the rescue of his son. How and why, he remained passive spectator to the occurrence is beyond our apprehension and no worthy explanation and no express or implied circumstance demonstrate that intriguing action.

44. We have also discussed above several injuries of varying dimensions. Ante mortem injuries no. 2, 3 and 10 are virtually of same measurement. Similarly injuries no. 4 and 5 have been described to be of different measurement as 1.5 cm x 1 cm each and then injuries no. 6 and 7 measuring 2 cm x 1 cm x cavity deep and 2 cm x 1 cm x muscle deep on chest and right hand respectively. Injury no.1 incised wound of measurement 2.5 cm x 1 cm x muscle deep on face and injury no. 8 reflects dimension in shape 3 cm x 2 cm over chest cavity deep on the left side of chest and then injury no. 9 in form of small incised wounds extending in area 17 cm x 16 and similarly, we notice injuries no. 11 and 12 as incised wounds of varying dimensions say 4 cm x 1 cm and 5 cm x 1 cm on left hand thump and back of scapular region, respectively.

45. Contention has been raised in relation to above varying dimensions of injuries that all the aforesaid injuries cannot be result of use of one weapon i.e. one knife. In this context, argument on the face, holds good because of varying dimensions of injuries. Had there been only one knife which was used for causing such injuries then, at least it would have given more or less identical cuts resembling similarity with each other.

46. This contention gets support from testimony of Dr. Ram Niwas PW-4 who conducted post mortem examination on the body of the deceased Shanker Kashyap. In his testimony as appearing in cross examination on page 42 of the paper book, on being queried by the defence on the point of varying dimensions of injuries, he replied that these injuries might have been caused by use of 2 or three weapons, therefore, argument that the varying dimension of various incised wounds cannot be caused by use of one knife carries force and under circumstances of the case, we cannot ignore varying dimensions of injuries numbering 12 in all. Not only this, in so far as time of death is concerned, this doctor witness in his cross examination on page 41 has also testified that possible time of death may commence from 3.00 P.M. in the evening of 29.6.2001 to 3.00 A.M. in the morning of 30.6.2001. It means that the claim of the first informant that knife blow was given at 9.30 A.M. becomes suspicious and doubtful.

47. It is true that in the examination in chief, this witness (PW-4) on page 40 of the paper book, has stated that these injuries could have been caused at 9.30 A.M. on 30.6.2001 by use of knife and he has also stated at some places that these injuries could have been caused only when someone caught the deceased in standing position and then knife blows were caused.

48. Obviously, the varying description of time of death as emerging from the cross examination of doctor (PW-4) can be treated to be in additional to his testimony in examination in chief pertaining to the time of death and it cannot be read in isolation, but in line with attendant facts, testimony and circumstances of this case and that factual aspects when properly weighed tilts testimonial probability more in favour of suggestion made by defence than the time of occurrence told by PW-1. A reasonable query arose at this stage, as to how things can take shape in such a manner? Then we may have recourse to testimony of prosecution witnesses itself.

49. First informant Bholey Shanker PW-1 has stated on page 25 in cross examination that he had informed Darogaji that 50 to 100 people had gathered on the spot where his son was lying (dead). It means that when he saw his son Shanker Kashyap (deceased), 50-100 people had thronged on the spot. This witness on same (page 25 of the paper book), has also stated that Hulasi Ram and his brother Nand Ram arrived on the spot after 10-15 minutes after he raised alarm. Hulasi Ram in his testimony in his examination in chief, has claimed himself to be an eyewitness and has stated that he saw the incident himself. He has stated that they tried to take in grip Baday @ Mustaq, then he said that in case they proceed any further, they will also be treated in the same way, but this piece of testimony cannot be taken to be correct in the face of testimony of PW-1 regarding arrival of these witnesses on the spot after 10-15 minutes of the incident.

50. Again on page 33 of the paper-book, this witness (PW-2) has stated that the dead body was taken in a rickshaw upto Naktiya and from there, it was conveyed in a Jeep, but there is no such whisper like carrying the dead body in any rickshaw, either in the first information report or in the ocular testimony of Bholey Shanker PW-1. Theory of carrying away dead body of the deceased in Rickshaw, is totally unknown to the first informant and that part of the story has been concealed. It smells of something fishy and beacons of embellishment.

51. Not only this, this witness has also stated on page 34 that he had informed Darogaji that father of the deceased had conveyed dead body of deceased in a rickshaw upto Naktiya. At this stage, he has been suggested by the defence that dead body of Shanker Kashyap was not taken from a place lying 100 meters away to the northern side of his house in Rickshaw upto Naktiya. The suggestion has been denied by this witness and he has categorically stated that it is incorrect to say so. Meaning thereby that dead body of Shankar Kashyap was found somewhere at a place 100 meters away from house of Hulasi Ram PW-2.

52. He has been further suggested that the first informant and Hulasi Ram received information that dead body of Shanker Kashyap is lying away in north side to the house of this witness whereupon they went there and they falsely implicated the accused. Witness (PW-2) has denied such a suggestion.

53. Thus, it is obvious that place of occurrence becomes doubtful. At this stage we notice that the Investigating Officer Arvind Pal Singh PW-8 has stated on page 69 of the paper book in his cross examination that Bholey Shankar did not tell him that his house is lying half kilometer away from hospital of Dr. Jagdish Saran. Therefore, it is obvious that the place of occurrence cannot be ascertained with certainty as all the prosecution witnesses are blowing hot and cold on this aspect of the case.

54. Both PW-1 and PW-2 are residents of Purana Mohanpur police station Cantt. District Bareilly. Now, above testimony stands corroborated by the testimony of Anoop PW-5 who happens to be witness of fact that on the fateful day in the morning he went to take milk from dairy of Gajruddin father of the accused at 7.30 a.m. when he heard Gajruddin saying to Baday @ Mustaq (accused) that Shanker Kashyap has an evil eye on his daughter and he has blocked his drainage, therefore, eliminate him today i.e. on the day of occurrence. But in his cross examination, he has stated that prior to four years, his wife eloped with Ilias, resident of Thiriya. Now it is obviously a pointer that he was inimical towards Mohamdans of the area because his wife had eloped with one Muslim of the area. On page 47, it has been specifically testified in the last but one paragraph of his testimony that it is correct to say that the dead body of Shanker Kashyap was found behind the school and he cannot tell about time.

55. Upon careful perusal of site plan Ext. Ka 13-the place of occurrence, we notice school of Shyam Behari shown in the northern side of site plan. If dead body was lying behind the school, then it is obvious that the place of occurrence is changed. Time and again the prosecution witnesses of fact have been confronted with specific suggestion that in fact Shanker Kashyap was killed by some unknown person in the darkness of night and after death of Shanker Kashyap, fact of his death came to the knowledge of first informant then he deliberated upon the matter and falsely implicated the accused on account of enmity.

56. This suggestion carries force in view of the above discussion on the point of role of first informant on the spot when the incident occurred and he remained passive. He has tried to insert Hulasi Ram as eye witness which attempt was exposed by himself in his cross examination when he says that Hulasi Ram arrived on the spot 10-15 minutes after alarm was raised. PW-1 has himself stated on page 24 that his son was lying 100 meters away to the northern side of his house. The fact that the dead body was conveyed through rickshaw, at last up to Naktiya Police outpost, has been testified by Hulasi Ram PW-2 which is quite consistent with theory that the dead body was lying somewhere else than the place shown and marked by letter 'A' in the site plan-in front of hospital of Dr. Jagdish Saran. How can PW-1 testify in such manner that the dead body was lying 100 meters away in the northern side of his house. PW-1 has not received not a single injury while his son was so severely assaulted by one accused only. Testimony of doctor witness PW-4 that death of deceased could have occurred from 3.00 P.M. on 29.6.2011 upto 3.00 A.M. in the morning of 30.6.2001 causes dent in the actual time of death and thus creates lots of doubt on the timings of occurrence. On page 41 of the paper book, doctor witness has stated in his cross examination that death of deceased might have been caused 8 to 20 hours prior to conduction of post mortem examination. Manner of injuries being caused can be caused in standing posture if one has caught the deceased in that position-is also worth consideration. And at cost of repetition we may add that it is highly doubtful that all the ante-mortem injuries were caused by use of one knife.

57. Now, we may scrutinize the testimony of the Investigating Officer in so far as fact of use of rickshaw for conveying dead body of Shanker Kashyap from the place where the dead body was in fact taken upto the place Naktiya from where the dead body was placed in Jeep and taken to the hospital. On page 69 of the paper-book, Investigating Officer Arvind Pal Singh PW-8 in his cross examination has stated that during the course of investigation, he did not come across any such fact regarding conveyance of the dead body by rickshaw and he cannot say any thing on point that first informant found his son 100 meters north to his house.

58. At this stage, he (PW-8) has been queried by suggesting on page 70 of paper book that he has deliberately changed the place of occurrence and has shown the same to be located at a place half kilometer away from the house of first informant. He has denied this suggestion. Again suggestion has confronted Investigating Officer that it was solely on this count that he did not record statement of residents of nearby/surrounding area of the place of occurrence, but he again dened. He has also admitted that recovery memo of simple and blood stained clay roll (Ext. Ka-14) was taken from the spot but no specific mention of any identifiable particular spot has been made. This fact by itself raises serious doubt on the place of occurrence.

59. Obviously, at this stage we have occasion to discuss point of recovery of knife, as accused claimed to have been made on 2nd July 2001 by Arvind Pal Singh-Investigating Officer-after arrest of the accused-appellant.

60. First of all, it is worth consideration that the place of recovery is an open place and it can be easily planted by another person and this fact is admitted to Arvind Pal Singh-Investigating Officer PW-8- on page 71 (of paper book) of his testimony. The Investigating Officer of case crime no. 183A of 2001 is PW- 6 Suresh Pal Singh. He has stated that he inspected the place of recovery and prepared site plan Ext. Ka-4. His cross examination on page 49 of paper book is quite interesting because he has categorically stated that he did not see the recovered knife during investigation of this case. He was not shown the place of occurrence by PW-8 Arvind Pal Singh-the informant of case pertaining to Case Crime No.183A of 2001. This specific testimony obviously shows that the recovery of knife in fact is fake and wholly unreliable. Place of recovery itself is doubtful. Therefore, the prosecution could not establish the fact that all ante mortem injuries (12 in numbers), could have been caused by use of this recovered knife alone.

61. In such scenario, we have every opportunity to record our satisfaction that Bholdey Shanker PW-1 though claiming to be eyewitness of the occurrence was neither present on the spot nor did he witness the incident because of his inexplicable inaction on the spot and remaining passive during assault on his deceased son Shanker Kashyap, is highly unnatural and unbecoming of a father who was around 35 years of age. It is obvious that the accused was alone while he committed the crime. Thus the overall reaction/conduct of PW-1 as an eye witness on the spot is most unnatural, therefore, his presence on the spot becomes doubtful.

62. In so far as aforesaid citation of Sadhu Saran Singh Vs. State of U.P. and others 2016(2) JIC 172 is concerned, we may observe that we have carefully perused this judgment and upon perusal, we find that both on the factual as well as legal count, this case in hand is distinguishable from the case of Sadhu Saran Singh (supra), for the reason that prosecution testimony and circumstances of the case (in hand) are apparently pointing to non-presence of PW-1 on the spot at the relevant time of occurrence and in so far as the place of occurrence is concerned, the same has not been satisfactorily proved by the prosecution. Therefore, the State shall not get any advantage of aforesaid citation of Hon'ble Apex Court.

63. Consequently, the version of PW-1 regarding the incident and the manner of causing assault upon the deceased Shanker Kashyap by the accused is wholly unreliable. It appears that he arrived on the spot only after he received information of death of his son and dead body of his son was spotted 100 meters away to the north side of his house. The investigating Officer has also not investigated fairly certain on vital facts of incident. The testimony of prosecution witnesses on the whole does not inspire confidence.

64. It is obvious that Hulasi Ram PW-2 was not an eye witness but being relative of PW-1 was tried to be produced as an eyewitness which bid is discovered to be false and stands exposed in the cross examination of PW-1 himself. The whole prosecution story is improbable that accused committed murder of his son at 9.30 A.M. on 30.6.2001. We have every reason to discredit the claim of prosecution that the murder was committed by the accused and genuine doubt is created in the prosecution story and charges framed against the accused cannot be said to have been proved beyond doubt.

65. The learned trial court could not appreciate substantive facts and testimony of this case in right perspective and consider things from narrow angle without properly scrutinizing the same on its entirety but only on its face value, whereas, proper scrutiny of fact vis a vis testimony on record would have brought truth on the surface. It is very easy to consider and examine testimony recorded in examination in chief, whereas, the Court has to cautiously contemplate on testimony as emerging from cross examination and then to scrutinize the same on merit for arriving at just conclusion.

66. Thus, the finding of conviction recorded by the trial court is on the face erroneous and perverse and the same cannot be sustained in the eye of law, as such the prosecution has not been able to prove its charges beyond reasonable doubt. Therefore, judgment and order of conviction dated 20.03.2006 passed by the Additional Sessions Judge, Court No. 13, Bareilly, in Sessions Trial No.150 of 2002, arising out of case crime nos. 183 of 2001 and 183-A of 2001 under sections 302 I.P.C. and Section 4/25 Arms Act, Police Station Cantt. District Bareilly, is hereby set aside. Accordingly, the instant appeal is allowed.

67. In this case, the accused-appellant is in jail since 2001. He is acquitted of aforesaid charges under aforesaid sections of I.P.C. and Arms Act, respectively. He be released forthwith if not wanted in connection with any other case after ensuring compliance of Section 437A Cr.P.C.

68. Let a copy of this judgment/order be certified to the court concerned for necessary informant and follow up action.

First Appeal From Order No.- 2844 Of 2016

The National Insurance Co. Ltd. ...Appellant
Versus
Smt. Rajni Devi & Ors. ...Respondents

Counsel for the Appellant:
Vinay Kumar Khare

PROCEDURE:

Appeal under Section 173 of the Motor Vehicles Act, 1988 against the award dated 30.04.2016 passed by Motor Accident Claims Tribunal, Kushinagar, awarding compensation of Rs. 5,61,000/- with 7% interest. Tribunal directed insurer to pay compensation with liberty to recover from owner due to non-production of valid driving licence.

ISSUE:

Whether, in absence of proof of a valid driving licence (breach of policy conditions), the insurance company can still be directed to satisfy the award at the first instance with liberty to recover the amount from the owner of the offending vehicle?

Headnotes:

the insurer is statutorily liable under Section 149 of the Motor Vehicles Act to satisfy the award in favour of third-party claimants even in case of breach of policy conditions, with right to recover the amount from the insured.

LEGAL PRINCIPLES:

Section 149(1) creates a statutory obligation upon the insurer to satisfy awards against insured persons in respect of third-party risks.
Even where insurer establishes a defence under Section 149(2) (e.g., absence of valid driving licence), it does not absolve the insurer from initial liability to pay.
Under Section 149(4) & (5), insurer is entitled to recover the amount from the insured after satisfying the award.
The Motor Vehicles Act is a beneficial legislation, intended to protect victims of accidents.
The principle of "pay and recover" is well settled and consistently upheld by the Supreme Court.

CONCLUSION:

The direction of the Tribunal requiring the insurer to pay the compensation to claimants and thereafter recover the same from the owner is legally justified.
Insurance company directed to deposit the awarded amount, and recovery to be effected in accordance with law as per Full Bench guidelines.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Krishna Murari, J.
Hon'ble Prashant Kumar, J.)

1. This appeal under Section 173 of the Motor Vehicles Act has been filed by the National Insurance Company Limited challenging the judgment and award dated 30.04.2016 passed by the Additional District Judge (Court No. 3)/Motor Accident Claims Tribunal, Kushinagar at Padrauna awarding a sum of Rs.5,61,000/- along with 7% simple interest as compensation on death of Satya Prakash Dwivedi, predecessor-in-interest of the claimant-respondents in a motor accident. Tribunal further gave insurance company a right to recover the awarded amount from the owner of the offending vehicle as driving license of the driver of the offending vehicle was not produced.

2. Learned counsel for the appellant contends that once driving license of the driver of offending vehicle was not produced in evidence, it shall be presumed that driver was not having a valid driving license and vehicle was being driven in violation of the insurance policy and thus, the appellant - insurance company was not liable to pay the award and the tribunal committed manifest error of law in fastening the said liability upon the insurance company.

3. The issue for consideration is whether in such a circumstance the insurance company can be fastened with the liability to satisfy the amount and recover the same from the insured.

4. Section 149 of the Motor Vehicles Act 1988, herein after referred to as the 'Act' prescribes the duty of insurers to satisfy judgments and awards against persons insured in respect of third party risks, which reads as under :

"149. Duty of insurers to satisfy judgments and awards against persons insured in respect of third party risks.

(1) If, after a certificate of insurance has been issued under sub-section (3) of section 147 in favour of the person by whom a policy has been effected, judgment or award in respect of any such liability as is required to be covered by a policy under clause (b) of sub-section (1) of section 147 (being a liability covered by the terms of the policy) [or under the provisions of section 163-A] is obtained against any person insured by the policy, then, notwithstanding that the insurer may be entitled to avoid or cancel or may have avoided or cancelled the policy, the insurer shall, subject to the provisions of this section, pay to the person entitled to the benefit of the decree any sum not exceeding the sum assured payable thereunder, as if he were the judgment debtor, in respect of the liability, together with any amount payable in respect of costs and any sum payable in respect of interest on that sum by virtue of any enactment relating to interest on judgments.

(2) No sum shall be payable by an insurer under sub-section (1) in respect of any judgment or award unless, before the commencement of the proceedings in which the judgment or award is given the insurer had notice through the Court or, as the case may be, the Claims Tribunal of the bringing of the proceedings, or in respect of such judgment or award so long as execution is stayed thereon pending an appeal; and an insurer to whom notice of the bringing of any such proceedings is so given shall be entitled to be made a party thereto and to defend the action on any of the following grounds, namely:--

a. that there has been a breach of a specified condition of the policy, being one of the following conditions, namely:--

i. a condition excluding the use of the vehicle--

a. for hire or reward, where the vehicle is on the date of the contract of insurance a vehicle not covered by a permit to ply for hire or reward, or

b. for organised racing and speed testing, or

c. for a purpose not allowed by the permit under which the vehicle is used, where the vehicle is a Transport vehicle, or

d. without side-car being attached where the vehicle is a motor cycle; or

(ii) a condition excluding driving by a named person or persons or by any person who is not duly licensed, or by any person who has been disqualified for holding or obtaining a driving licence during the period of disqualification; or

(iii) a condition excluding liability for injury caused or contributed to by conditions of war, civil war, riot or civil commotion; or

b. that the policy is void on the ground that it was obtained by the non-disclosure of a material fact or by a representation of fact which was false in some material particular.

(3). Where any such judgment as is referred to in sub-section (1) is obtained from a Court in a reciprocating country and in the case of a foreign judgment is, by virtue of the provisions of section 13 of the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908 (5 of 1908) conclusive as to any matter adjudicated upon by it, the insurer (being an insurer registered under the Insurance Act, 1938 (4 of 1938) and whether or not he is registered under the corresponding law of the reciprocating country) shall be liable to the person entitled to the benefit of the decree in the manner and to the extent specified in sub-section (1), as if the judgment were given by a Court in India:

Provided that no sum shall be payable by the insurer in respect of any such judgment unless, before the commencement of the proceedings in which the judgment is given, the insurer had notice through the Court concerned of the bringing of the proceedings and the insurer to whom notice is so given is entitled under the corresponding law of the reciprocating country, to be made a party to the proceedings and to defend the action on grounds similar to those specified in sub-section (2).

(4). Where a certificate of insurance has been issued under sub- section (3) of section 147 to the person by whom a policy has been effected, so much of the policy as purports to restrict the insurance of the persons insured thereby by reference to any conditions other than those in clause (b) of sub-section (2) shall, as respects such liabilities as are required to be covered by a policy under clause (b) of sub-section (1) of section 147 be of no effect:

Provided that any sum paid by the insurer in or towards the discharge of any liability of any person which is covered by the policy by virtue only of this sub-section shall be recoverable by the insurer from that person.

(5). If the amount which an insurer becomes liable under this section to pay in respect of a liability incurred by a person insured by a policy exceeds the amount for which the insurer would apart from the provisions of this section be liable under the policy in respect of that liability, the insurer shall be entitled to recover the excess from that person.

(6). In this section the expressions "material fact" and "material particular" means, respectively, a fact or particular of such a nature as to influence the judgment of a prudent insurer in determining whether he will take the risk and, if so, at what premium and on what conditions, and the expression "liability covered by the terms of the policy" means a liability which is covered by the policy or which would be so covered but for the fact that the insurer is entitled to avoid or cancel or has avoided or cancelled the policy.

(7). No insurer to whom the notice referred to in sub-section (2) or sub-section (3) has been given shall be entitled to avoid his liability to any person entitled to the benefit of any such judgment or award as is referred to in sub-section (1) or in such judgment as is referred to in sub-section (3) otherwise than in the manner provided for in sub-section (2) or in the corresponding law of the reciprocating country, as the case may be.

Explanation.--For the purpose of this section, "Claims Tribunal" means a Claims Tribunal constituted under section 165 and "award" means an award made by that Tribunal under section 168.

5. A bare reading of the aforesaid provision goes to show that after certificate of insurance has been issued under Section 147 (3) of the Act and a judgment or award has been made in respect of a liability covered by Section 147 (1) (b) against a person insured by the policy then even if the insurer is entitled to avoid or cancel or has avoided or cancelled the policy shall pay to the person entitled to the benefit of the award any sum not exceeding the sum assured as if he was the judgment debtor. Section 149 (1) puts obligation upon insurer to satisfy award made against a person insured by the policy. This obligation is depended upon three conditions, namely, (i) that a certificate of insurance has been issued under Section 147 (3); (ii) that the judgment or award is in respect of a liability required to be covered by Section 147 (1) (b); and (iii) that the judgment or award is against the person insured by the policy. The liability of the insurer is based upon legal fiction i. e. insurer must pay as if he is the judgment debtor.

6. In view of the provisions of sub-section (4) of Section 149, the insurer is under liability to pay even if it is entitled to cancel or avoid the policy or has actually cancelled or avoided it. The provisions of sub-section (4) enables the insurer to recover any sum paid by it towards the discharge of a liability of any person covered by the policy from him. Proviso provides statutory remedy to the insurer to recover the amount paid by it in discharge of the liability imposed upon the insured under a judgment or award.

7. It is undisputed that Motor Vehicles Act is a beneficent statute. The social need of the victim or his dependents to be compensated was subject matter of consideration by the Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of British India General Insurance Co. Vs. Capt. Itbeer Singh, (1960) 1 SCR - 168 and it was observed as under :

"Again, we find the contention wholly unacceptable. The statute has no doubt created a liability in the insurer to the injured person but the statute has also expressly confined the right to avoid that liability to certain grounds specified in it. It is not for us to add to those grounds and therefore, to the statute for reasons of hardship. We are furthermore not convinced that the statute causes any hardship. First, the insurer has the right, provided has has reserved it by the policy, to defend the action in the name of the assured and if he does so, all defences open to the assured can then be urged by him and there is no other defence that he claims to be entitled to urge. He can thus avoid all hardship if any, by providing for a right to defend the action in the name of the assured and thus he has full liability to do so. Secondly, if he has been made to pay something which on the contract of the policy he was not bound to pay, he can under the proviso to sub-section (3) and under sub-section (4) recover it from the assured. It was said that the assured might be a man of straw and the insurer might not be able to recover anything from him. But the answer to that is that if is the insurer's bad luck. In such circumstances the injured person also would not have been able to recover the damages suffered by him from the assured, the person causing the injuries."

8. The same view has been reaffirmed by the Hon'ble Apex Court in Skandia Insurance Company Limited Vs. Kokilaben Chandrvadan and others (1987) 2 SCC-654, Sohan Lal Passi Vs. P. Sesh Reddy and others (1996) 5 SCC-21.

9. In the case of National Insurance Co. Ltd., Vs. Swaran Singh 2004 (2) AWC 1589 SC, while analysing the provision of Section 149, it has again been held that once the assured proved that the accident was covered by the compulsory insurance clause, it was for the insurer to prove that it falls within an exception. The liability of the insurer was held to be statutory and its liability to satisfy the decree passed in favour of the third party was also held to be of the same character. The Apex Court emphasised that if the insurer was made to satisfy the award even though it was not bound to pay the same under the contract of insurance. It was open to him to recover it from the assured. In this context, the Hon'ble Apex Court in paragraph 81 of the reports has observed as under :

"81. Sub-section (5) of Section 149 which imposed a liability on the insurer must also be given its full effect. The insurance company may not be liable to satisfy the decree and, therefore, its liability may be zero but it does mean that it did not have initial liability at all. Thus, if the insurance company is made liable to pay any amount, it can recover the entire amount paid to the third party on behalf of the assured. If this interpretation is not given to the beneficent provisions of the Act having regard to its purport and object, we fail to see a situation where beneficent provisions can be given effect to. Sub-section (7) of Section 149 of the Act, to which pointed attention of the Court has been drawn by the learned counsel for the petitioner, which is in negative language may now be noticed. The said provision must be read with sub-section (1) thereof. The right to avoid liability in terms of sub-section (2) of Section 149 is restricted as has been discussed hereinbefore. It is one thing to say that the insurance companies are entitled to raise a defence but it is another thing to say that despite the fact that its defence has been accepted having regard to the facts and circumstances of the case, the Tribunal has power to direct them to satisfy the decree at the first instance and then direct recovery of the same from the owner. These two matters stand apart and require contextual reading."

10. Hon'ble Apex Court summed by the conclusion in respect of point in issue in paragraphs 101 and 102 of the reports as under :

"101. It is, therefore, evident from the discussions made hereinbefore that the liability of the insurance company to satisfy the decree at the first instance and to recover the awarded amount from the owner or driver thereof has been holding the field for a long time."

"102. Apart from the reasons stated hereinbefore, the doctrine of stare decisis persuades us not to deviate from the said principle."

11. In the case of National Insurance Co. Ltd. Vs. Challa Upendra Rao, (2004) 8 SCC 517, it has been observed as under :-

"Considering the beneficial object of the Act, it would be proper for the insurer to satisfy the award, though in law it has no liability. In some cases the insurer has been given the option and liberty to recover the amount from the insured. For the purpose of recovering the amount paid from the owner, the insurer shall not be required to file a suit. It may initiate a proceeding before the concerned executing Court as if the dispute between the insurer and the owner was the subject matter of determination before the Tribunal and the issue is decided against the owner and in favour of the insurer. Before release of the amount to the claimants, owner of the offending vehicle shall furnish security for the entire amount which the insurer will pay to the claimants. The offending vehicle shall be attached, as a part of the security. If necessity arises the executing Court shall take assistance of the Regional Transport Authority concerned. The executing Court shall pass appropriate orders in accordance with law as to the manner in which the owner of the vehicle shall make payment to the insurer. In case there is any default it shall be open to the executing court to direct realization by disposal of the securities to be furnished or from any other property or properties of the owner of the vehicle i.e. the insured. In the instant case considering the quantum involved it is in the discretion of the insurer to decide whether it would take steps for recovery of the amount from the insured.

12. Same principle was reiterated by the Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of Oriental Insurance Co Ltd Vs Nanjappan, AIR 2004 SC 1630 in the following words:-

"For the purpose of recovering the same from the insured, the insurer shall not be required to file a suit. It may initiate a proceeding before the concerned Executing Court as if the dispute between the insurer and the owner was the subject matter of determination before the Tribunal and the issue is decided against the owner and in favour of the insurer. Before release of the amount to the insured, owner of the vehicle shall be issued a notice and he shall be required to furnish security for the entire amount which insurer will pay to the claimants. The offending vehicle shall be attached, as a part of the security. If necessity arises the Executing Court shall take assistance of the concerned Regional Transport Authority. The Executing Court shall pass appropriate orders in accordance with law as to the manner in which the insured, owner of the vehicle shall make payment to the insurer. In case there is any default it shall be open to the Executing Court to direct realization by disposal of the securities to be furnished or from any other property or properties of the owner of the vehicle, the insured.

13. It may also be pertinent to point out that in the case of National Insurance Co. Vs. Roshan Lal passed in SLP (C) No. 5669 of 2006 vide order dated 19th January, 2007 the issue whether direction can be issued to the insurance company to discharge the liability under the award first and then recover it from the owner has been referred for adjudication by a larger Bench. Similarly, in National Insurance Co. Ltd. Vs. Parvathneni (2009) 8 SCC 785, the Apex Court has referred the following identical question for consideration by a larger Bench :

(1) If an insurance company can prove that it does not have any liability to pay any amount in law to the claimants under the Motor Vehicles Act or any other enactment, can the court yet compel it to pay the amount in question giving it liberty to later on recover the same from the owner of the vehicle.

(2) Can such a direction be given under Article 142 of the Constitution, and what is he scope of Article 142?"

14. During the pendency of adjudication of the aforesaid questions by larger Bench, the matter again came up for consideration before Apex Court in the case of Manager, National Insurance Co. Ltd. Vs. Saju P. Paul, (2013) 2 SCC 41 and it was held that pendency of consideration of the above questions by a larger Bench does not mean that the law laid down by the judgment in the case of Baljit Kaur and Challa Upendra Rao (supra) should not be followed particularly. Accordingly, the insurance company was permitted to recover the amount paid from the owner by following the procedure laid down in Challa Upendra Rao. Undoubtedly, the issue as to whether a direction can be issued to the insurance company to pay the amount in the first instance and to recover it thereafter from the owner, following the procedure which is laid down in Challa Upendra Rao is a matter pending reconsideration before a larger Bench of the Supreme Court. However, as observed, pendency of the reference to a larger Bench by itself does not mean that the same course should not be followed in the meantime.

15. While considering the question of right of the insurance company to file an appeal under Section 173 of the Act where the insurer has been directed to pay the compensation awarded to the claimant and thereafter to recover it from the owner of the offending vehicle, a Full Bench of our Court in the case of United India Insurance Company Limited Vs. Smt. Shashi Prabha Sharma and others, 2015 (5) AWC - 4774 has held as under :

"In these circumstances, we hold that where the insurer is directed to pay the amount in the first instance despite having been held not to be under a legal liability to pay the awarded amount, while permitting the insurer to recover the amount from the owner, the procedure which has been laid down in Challa Upendra Rao (supra) would have to be followed. This would envisage that before the amount is released to the claimant, the owner of the offending vehicle shall furnish security for the amount which the insurer has to pay to the claimants. The offending vehicle is to be attached as a part of the security for the purpose of recovering the amount from the insured. The insurer shall not be required to file a suit and may initiate a proceeding before the executing Court. The executing Court may pass appropriate orders in accordance with law as to the manner in which the insured, namely the owner of the vehicle, shall make payment to the insurer. In the event that there is any default, it is open to the executing Court to direct realisation by the disposal of the securities to be furnished or from any other property or properties of the owner of the vehicle. In the event that the person on whose behalf payment has been made by the insurer, does not furnish security or is not in a position to furnish security to the insurer, the insurer should promptly move the executing Court. The executing Court shall then duly ensure that it exercises all its available powers in execution in accordance with law so that while on one hand payment is made to the person to whom it is due, the concerns of the insurer are duly balanced. We may only add here that all necessary and proper steps should be taken by the executing Court to ensure that the intent and object of the legislature in enacting the beneficial provisions of the Act is duly preserved and are expeditiously implemented."

16. In view of the aforesaid settled legal proposition by judicial pronouncements of the Apex Court as well as Full Bench of this Court, we do not find any force in the argument advanced by the learned counsel for the appellant that since there was a breach of the terms and conditions of the policy the insurance company cannot be put under a responsibility to satisfy the award and to recover it from the insured thereafter. The appeal is, thus, devoid of merits and accordingly stands dismissed.

17. The insurance company shall proceed to deposit the entire awarded amount with the tribunal who in turn shall release the same to the claimants after following the direction and procedure prescribed for release of the amount by the Full Bench of this Court in the case of United India Insurance Co. Ltd. (supra).

Hence, it cannot be treated as loss of dependency.
Tribunal erred in including Rs.1,20,000/- rental income.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Krishna Murari, J.

1. This appeal has been filed by Insurance Company against the judgement and award dated 28.5.2016 passed by the Motor Accident Claims Tribunal/District Judge, Kanpur Nagar in M.A.C.P. No. 813 of 2014 (Smt. Sarita Kapoor and others vs. Abhijeet Singh Sanga and others) awarding a sum of Rs.21,52,800/- as compensation.

2. Facts, in brief, giving rise to dispute are as under :

An application seeking compensation to the tune of Rs.45 Lac was made by the claimant-respondents on the allegations that on 2.4.2004 at about 12.30 p.m. when Durgesh Kapoor, the predecessor-in-interest of the claimant-respondents, was going on his scooter from Sachan Guest House to Barra, he was hit from behind by Safari car bearing registration no. UP-78DV-2879, which was being driven very rashly and negligently. He suffered grievous injuries in the said accident and died while being taken to hospital. The deceased was aged about 54 years and was a contractor with Kanpur Development Authority having annual income of Rs.3,50,000/-.

3. The proceedings were contested by the respondents no. 3 & 4, the owner and driver of the offending vehicle as well as the appellant Insurance company by filing written statement.

4. The Tribunal on analysis of evidence both oral and documentary brought on record by the parties returned a finding that the accident was caused due to rash and negligent driving of the offending vehicle and there was no contributory negligence on the part of the deceased. It was further held that the driver of the offending vehicle was having a valid driving license and the offending vehicle was duly insured with the insurance company and it was having all valid documents.

5. In so far as the quantum is concerned, the Tribunal, on the basis of the income tax return for the last three financial years i.e. 2010-11, 2011-12 and 2012-13 filed in evidence, determined the average income of the deceased to be Rs.3,32,460/-. The Tribunal added 20% towards future prospect in accordance with Rule 220-A of the Motor Vehicles Rules and after deducting 1/3 towards personal expenses determined a sum of Rs.2,65,975/- as annual income of the deceased. After applying a multiplier of 8, a sum of Rs.21,27,800/- was determined by the Tribunal as compensation payable. The Tribunal also awarded a sum of Rs.5000/- towards funeral expenses, Rs.10000/- towards loss of consortium and Rs.10000/- towards loss of estate. In this manner, a sum of Rs.21,52,800/- was determined as total compensation payable to the claimant-respondents.

6. At the outset, learned counsel for the appellant confines the scope of this appeal only to the question of quantum.

7. Learned counsel for the appellant submits that a sum of Rs.1.2 Lac reflected in the income-tax return for the financial year 2012-13 towards rental income has wrongly been taken into account inasmuch as even after death, the rental income would be received by the dependent and thus, the said amount is not liable to be taken into consideration while determining the average income.

8. From a perusal of the income tax return for the financial year 2012-13, we find that Rs.1.20 Lac is reflected as rental income which ought not to have been taken by the Tribunal while determining the average income of the deceased.

9. Learned counsel for the appellant is right in contending that rental income would be continued to be received by the heirs of the deceased and thus the same was not liable to be taken into account while determining the average income.

10. In view of above, the average income of the deceased is to be calculated taking into account the income reflected in the income tax return for last three financial years after deducting a sum of Rs.1.2 Lac received as rental income. The said amount works out to Rs.2,32,460/-. Adding 20% towards future prospects in accordance with the Rule 220A, the amount works out to Rs.3,50,961/-. After deducting 1/3 towards personal expenses, the amount comes to Rs.2,33,974/-.

11. From the perusal of the impugned judgement and award, we find that the Tribunal has applied multiplier of 8 in accordance with the Second Schedule of the Motor Vehicles Act. However, Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of Sarla Verma vs. Delhi Transport corporation, reported in (2009) 6 SCC 121 has held that multiplier to be used should be as mentioned in Column-4 of the said judgement. Multiplier prescribed by the Hon'ble Apex court in the age group of 51-55 years is 9. It may be relevant to quote 21 of the said judgment, which reads as under :

"We, therefore, hold that the multiplier to be used should be as mentioned in Column (4) of the Table above (prepared by applying Susamma Thomas, Trilok Chandra and Charlier) which starts with an operative multiplier of 18 (for the age groups of 15 to 20 and 21 to 25 years), reduced by one unit for every five years, that is M-17 for 26 to 30 years, M-16 for 31 to 35 years, M-15 for 36 to 40 years, M-14 for 41 to 45 years, and M-13 for 46 to 50 years, then reduced by two units for every five years, that is, M-11 for 51 to 55 years, M-9 for 56 to 60 years, M-7 for 61 to 65 years and M-5 for 66 to 70 years."

12. In view of dictum of the Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of Sarla Verma (Supra), we are of the considered opinion that the Tribunal has wrongly applied multiplier of 8. Whereas multiplier of 11 ought to have been applied by the Tribunal. If a multiplier of 11 is applied, the amount of compensation works out to Rs.25,73,740/-.

13. We also find from a perusal of the impugned award that only a sum of Rs.5000/- has been awarded towards funeral expenses, Rs.10000/- towards loss consortium and Rs.10000/- towards loss of estate. The amount awarded by the Tribunal under the non-pecuniary headsis extremely on the lower side.

14. Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of Rajesh and others v. Rajbir Singh and others, (2013) 9 SCC 54 and Kalpanaraj and others vs. Tamil Nadu State Transport Corporation, 2014(3) TAC 707(SC) held that guiding principle for determining compensation is that it must be just and reasonable and the Court should not succumb to niceties or technicalities, in such matters while considering the issue of award of compensation under non-pecuniary damages such as loss of consortium, loss of love, care and guidance to children and funeral expenses. It has been observed in paragraph 17 as under :

"17. The ratio of a decision of this Court, on a legal issue is a precedent. But an observation made by this Court, mainly to achieve uniformity and consistency on a socio-economic issue, as contrasted from a legal principle, though a precedent, can be, and in fact ought to be periodically revisited, as observed in Santosh Devi. We may therefore, revisit the practise of awarding compensation under conventional heads: loss of consortium to thee spouse, loss of love, care and guidance to children and funeral expenses. It may be noted that the sum of Rs. 2500 to Rs. 10,000 in those heads was fixed several decades ago and having regard to inflation factor, the same needs to be increased. In Sarla Verma case, it was held that compensation for loss of consortium should be in the range of Rs. 5000 to 10,000. In legal parlance. "consortium" is the right of the spouse to the company, care, help, comfort, guidance, society, solace, affection and sexual relations with his or her mate. That non-pecuniary head of damages has not been properly understood by our courts. The loss of companionship, love, care and protection. etc., the spouse is entitled to get, has to be compensated appropriately. The concept of non-pecuniary damage for loss of consortium is one of the major heads of award of compensation in other parts of the world more particularly in the United State of America, Australia, etc. English courts have also recognized the right of a spouse to get compensation even during the period of temporary disablement. By loss of consortium, the courts have made an attempt to compensate the loss of spouse's affection, comfort, solace, companionship, society, assistance, protection, care and sexual relations during the future years. Unlike the compensation awarded in other countries and other jurisdictions, since the legal heirs are otherwise adequately compensated for the pecuniary loss, it would not be proper to award a major amount under this head. Hence, we are of the view that it would only be just and reasonable that the courts awards at least rupees one lakh for loss of consortium."

15. Again in the case of Kalpanaraj and others (supra), Hon'ble Apex Court raised compensation of Rs.30,000/- awarded towards loss of consortium and Rs.20,000/- towards loss of love and affection of the minor children to Rs.1,00,000/- each under the said heads finding the sum awarded to be on the lower side in the light of principles laid down in the case of Rajesh (supra).

16. In view of the aforesaid law laid down by the Hon'ble Apex Court, we feel that the claimants are entitled to be awarded a sum of Rs.25000/- towards funeral expenses, a sum of Rs.50000/- to the respondent-wife towards loss of consortium and Rs.50000/- towards loss of estate.

17. At this stage, learned counsel for the appellant vehemently contended that non-pecuniary damages have rightly been awarded in accordance with the Rule 220A of the Motor Vehicle Rules and the two judgements of the Hon'ble Apex Court in the Rajesh (Supra) and Kalpanaraj (Supra) are clearly distinguishable on the ground that they do not deal with a situation where Rule has been framed by the State for determination of compensation. It is also submitted that in an appeal filed by the Insurance Company, no order can be passed adverse to the appellant by increasing the amount of compensation without there being any cross-appeal by the claimants.

18. In so far as the first submission of the learned counsel for the appellant in respect of Rule 220A of the Motor Vehicles Rules is concerned, we do not find any reason to distinguish the aforesaid two judgements of the Hon'ble apex court on the ground that they do not deal with a situation where Rule was framed by the State for determination of compensation. Hon'ble Apex Court has clearly ruled that main guiding principle for determining the compensation is that it must be just and reasonable and the court and tribunal are not required to frugal with regard to award compensation towards funeral expenses and other non-pecuniary damages.

19. The other argument advanced by learned counsel for the appellant that amount of compensation cannot be increased in an appeal filed by the Insurance Company in the absence of cross-appeal by the claimant, is also without any force.

20. Order XLI Rule 33 of the Code of Civil Procedure prescribing the power of court of appeal clearly provides that the Appellate Court shall have power to pass any decree and make any order which ought to have been passed or made as the case may require, and this power may be exercised in favour of all or any of the respondents or parties though they may not file any appeal or objection. Order XLI Rule 33 of the Code reads as under :

"33. Power of Court of Appeal - The Appellate Court shall have power to pass any decree and make any order which ought to have been passed or made and to pass or make such further or other decree or order as the case may require, and this power may be exercised by the Court notwithstanding that the appeal is as to part only of the decree and may be exercised in favour of all or any of the respondents or parties, although such respondents or parties may not have filed any appeal or objection [any may, where there have been decrees in cross-suits or where two or more decrees are passed in one suit, be exercised in respect of all or any of the decrees, although an appeal may not have been filed against such decrees]

[Provided that the Appellate Court shall not make any order under Section 35A, in pursuance of any objection on which the Court from whose decree the appeal is preferred has omitted or refused to make such order.]

21. The provisions of Order XLI Rule 33 C.P.C. was explained by the Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of Mahant Dhangir v. Madan Mohan, AIR 1988 SC 54 in following words :

"The sweep of the power under Rule 33 is wide enough to determine any question not only between the appellant and respondent, but also between respondent and co-respondents. The appellate Court could pass any decree or order which ought to have been passed in the circumstances of the case. The appellate court could also pass such other decree or order as the case may require. The words "as the case may require" used in Rule 33 Order 41 have been put in wide terms to enable the appellate Court to pass any order or decree to meet the ends of justice. What then should be the constraint ? We do not find many. We are not giving any liberal interpretation. The rule itself is liberal enough. The only constraint that we could see, may be these : That the parties before the lower Court should be there before the appellate Court. The question raised must properly arise out of the judgment of the lower Court. If these two requirements are there, the appellate Court could consider any objection against any part of the judgment or decree of the lower Court. It may be urged by any party to the appeal. It is true that the power of the appellate Court under Rule 33 is discretionary. But it is a proper exercise of judicial discretion to determine all questions urged in order to render complete justice between the parties. The Court should not refuse to exercise that discretion on mere technicalities."

22. The same view has again been reiterated in a later decision by the Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of Delhi Electric Supply Undertaking v. Basanti Devi, AIR 2000 SC 43.

23. We are of the considered view that the conditions as laid down in provisions of Order XLI Rule 33 are satisfied in the present case. In Delhi Electric Supply Undertaking (Supra) the Hon'ble Apex Court has observed that when circumstances exist which necessitate the exercise of discretion conferred by Rule 33, the court cannot be found wanting when it comes to exercise its powers.

24. Thus the argument in this regard made by the learned counsel for the appellant has no legs to stand and is not liable to be sustained.

25. In view of above facts and discussions, we are of the considered opinion that the claimant-respondents are entitled to be awarded a total sum of Rs.26,98,740/- as compensation along with 7% simple interest from the date of making of the application till the date of actual payment.

26. Accordingly, though the appeal filed by the appellant Insurance Company stands dismissed but the award stands modified to the extent directed above.

27. In the facts and circumstances, we do not make any order as to costs.

Counsel for the Revisionists:

Procedure: Section 323 Cr.P.C. – Scope of committal to Sessions Court
The power under Section 323 Cr.P.C. can be exercised by a Magistrate at any stage before judgment if it appears that the case ought to be tried by the Court of Session. However, such discretion must be exercised judicially, cautiously, and on proper grounds, and not on mere conjectures or slight pretext.

Issue: Legality of summoning under Section 376 IPC at a later stage
Whether the Magistrate was justified in allowing application under Section 323 Cr.P.C. and summoning the revisionists under Section 376 IPC when allegations of rape were not disclosed in earlier statements under Sections 161 Cr.P.C. or in the application under Section 156(3) Cr.P.C.

Headnotes:
The prosecutrix did not allege rape in:
Statement under Section 161 Cr.P.C.
Application under Section 156(3) Cr.P.C. by her husband
Allegation of rape was made for the first time during deposition without details of date, time, and place.
In cross-examination, prosecutrix denied physical relations and made contradictory statements.
Husband (PW-1) did not support allegation of rape.
The Magistrate failed to properly analyse the evidence and exercised jurisdiction under Section 323 Cr.P.C. mechanically and under misapprehension of offence.
Revisional Jurisdiction – Section 397 Cr.P.C.
Revisional powers are limited and do not permit re-appreciation of evidence; however, interference is justified where the order suffers from illegality, impropriety, or incorrect exercise of jurisdiction.

Case Law Discussed:

Conclusion:
The impugned order dated 21.10.2013 passed by the Magistrate allowing the application under Section 323 Cr.P.C. and summoning the revisionists under Section 376 IPC was held to be illegal and passed without proper application of mind. The order was set aside and the criminal revision was allowed.

(ii). The prosecutrix, Smt. XYZ has never stated about the commission of rape upon her in her statement recorded under Section 161 Cr.P.C. by the Investigating Officer.

(iii). This alleged incident of commission of rape upon Smt. XYZ by the accused persons has never been disclosed even by her husband in his application dated 5th May, 2011 preferred under Section 156(3) Cr.P.C.

(iv). The prosecutrix, Smt. XYZ has abruptly levelled charges of commission of rape upon her by the accused persons without mentioning the date, time and place in her deposition before the learned Magistrate at the very first time.

(v). Learned Magistrate has erroneously analysed the definition of the offence under Section 498 I.P.C.

4. Sri Awadh Bihari Pandey, Advocate, holding brief of Sri Sandeep Kumar Singh, learned counsel for the opposite party no.2 and Ms. Anita Srivastava, learned A.G.A. have opposed the arguments advanced by the leaned counsel for the revisionist. They have argued as follows:-

(i) PW-2, prosecutrix Smt. XYZ has deposed on dated 12.4.2013 in her examination-in-chief that the rape was committed upon her by all the five accused persons.

(ii) PW-2, prosecutrix Smt. XYZ, in her cross-examination has deposed that she has stated about the incident of rape to 'Daroga Ji' when he visited the village. She has also deposed before the court of the learned Magistrate that she has disclosed about the incident of rape to her husband. Further, she has also deposed that she is discussing about the incident of rape at the first time in the court.

5. Heard Sri Rajul Bhargava, learned Senior counsel, learned counsel for the revisionists as well as Sri Awadh Bihari Pandey, Advocate, holding brief of Sri Sandeep Kumar Singh, learned counsel for the opposite party no.2 and Ms. Anita Srivastava, learned A.G.A. for the State and perused the record.

6. Section 323 of Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 is quoted verbatim as follows:-

"323. Procedure when, after commencement of inquiry or trial, Magistrate finds case should be committed.-- If, in any inquiry into an offence or a trial before a Magistrate, it appears to him at any stage of the proceedings before signing judgment that the case is one which ought to be tried by the Court of Session, he shall commit it to that Court under the provisions hereinbefore contained (and thereupon the provisions of Chapter XVIII shall apply to the commitment so made) added by Cr.P.C. (Amendment) Act, 1978, S.26"

7. Section 397 of Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 is quoted verbatim as follows:-

"397. Calling for records to exercise of powers of revision.--(1) The High Court or any Sessions Judge may call for and examine the record of any proceeding before any inferior Criminal Court situate within its or his local jurisdiction for the purpose of satisfying itself or himself as to the correctness, legality or propriety of any finding, sentence or order, recorded or passed, and as to the regularity of any proceedings of such inferior Court, and may, when calling for such record, direct that the execution of any sentence or order be suspended, and if the accused is in confinement, that he be released on bail or on his own bond pending the examination of the record.

Explanation.--All Magistrates, whether Executive or Judicial, and whether exercising original or appellate jurisdiction, shall be deemed to be inferior to the Sessions Judge for the purposes of this sub-section and of Section 398.

(2) The powers of revision conferred by sub-section (1) shall not be exercised in relation to any interlocutory order passed in any appeal, inquiry, trial or other proceeding.

(3) If any application under this section has been made by any person either to the High Court or to the Sessions Judge, no further application by the same person shall be entertained by the other of them."

8. The revisional jurisdiction does not postulate re-appreciation of evidence, but that should be appreciated in the light of the limitation on the right to go in appeal, Islamuddin v. State, 1975 Cri LJ 841, 842 (Del HC). G. Vasudevan v. K.M. Malabari, 1978 Mad LJ (Cri) 617; Bundoo v. Smt. Mahrul Nisa, 1978 All LJ 1002 (All HC).

9. A bare reading of Section 323 Cr.P.C., 1973 reveals that the trial should be before the court of Magistrate and order under this Section may be passed by him at any stage of proceedings before signing the judgment or in other words, before culmination of the trial by pronouncement of the verdict. In the meantime, when the proceedings are pending and it appears to the Magistrate that the case deserves to be one which should be tried by the court of Session then he shall commit it to the court of Session and thereafter provisions of chapter XVIII of Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 shall apply in the case.

10. Now the word 'appears' is of paramount importance, it does not require the Magistrate to analyse and discuss all the evidence before him and this power may be exercised by the Magistrate at any stage of proceedings before signing the judgment but at the same time it is also true that at the very slight pretext, such type of power should not be exercised. The discretion should be exercised with abundant caution.

11. On the other hand, it should be also borne in mind of the trial Magistrate that no injustice is caused to either of the parties. The word 'appears' denotes objective as well as subjective satisfaction of the trial Magistrate.

12. In the revisional jurisdiction, re-analysing of the evidence is not possible. It has also narrow compass to re-appreciate the evidence.

13. In the present case in hand, PW-2, prosecutrix Smt. XYZ in her cross-examination has clearly denied regarding the fact of making physical relationship with her by anyone.

14. She has also deposed that she has disclosed the incident of rape to her husband but her husband PW-1, Surya Dev has not deposed as such before the trial Magistrate. PW-1 Surya Dev in his application under Section 156(3) Cr.P.C. has not mentioned about the commission of rape with his wife. PW-2 prosecutrix Smt. XYZ has denied about the commission of rape upon her in her statement recorded under Section 161 Cr.P.C.

15. The learned Magistrate should have exercised his discretion after analysing the evidence. No anarchic approach should have been adopted which appear to affront the basic principles of law. Since, the discretion given to the Magistrate is judicial one; it should be exercised with care and on some proper ground. Every circumstance of aggravation must be carefully weighed.

16. This committal has been made under misapprehension of the correct offence.

17. Thus, the revision deserves to be allowed and the impugned order dated 21.10.2013 passed by the learned Additional Chief Judicial Magistrate, Court No.4, District- Mathura is liable to be set aside.

18. Resultantly, the criminal revision is allowed and the impugned order dated 21.10.2013 passed by the learned Additional Chief Judicial Magistrate, Court No.4, District- Mathura is hereby set aside.

HEADNOTES:
Dowry Death – Sections 304B, 498A IPC and Section 4 Dowry Prohibition Act – Death within 7 years of marriage – Demand of motorcycle and cash – Presumption under Section 113B Evidence Act – Role of relatives – Sentence modification
Marriage of deceased Seema was solemnized with Varunendra Kumar Singh on 21.05.2004 and her death occurred on 08.09.2004 within four months of marriage in unnatural circumstances. FIR alleged persistent demand of dowry in the form of motorcycle (Splendor Plus) and Rs.50,000/- and cruelty by husband and his relatives namely mother-in-law, father-in-law, jeth and jethani.
Postmortem report revealed ligature mark and multiple ante-mortem contusions on legs indicating physical violence prior to death. Defence plea of suicide due to frustration was not supported by evidence. Testimony of PW-1 (brother) and PW-2 (mother) proved consistent demand of dowry and harassment soon before death.
Court held that essential ingredients of Section 304B IPC were satisfied as:
Death occurred otherwise than under normal circumstances.
Death occurred within 7 years of marriage.
Evidence established cruelty and harassment soon before death.
Cruelty was connected with demand of dowry.
Presumption under Section 113B Evidence Act was rightly drawn against accused persons.
However, High Court distinguished role of husband from other relatives and held that life imprisonment awarded by trial court to all relatives was disproportionate in facts of the case. Sentence modified considering degree of involvement and relationship of accused with deceased.
Conviction under Sections 304B, 498A IPC and Section 4 Dowry Prohibition Act affirmed. Sentence under Section 304B IPC reduced:
Father-in-law and mother-in-law – 10 years RI
Jeth and Jethani – 7 years RI
Appeal partly allowed on point of sentence.

ISSUE:
Whether prosecution proved essential ingredients of dowry death under Section 304B IPC?
Whether cruelty or harassment soon before death in connection with dowry demand was established?
Whether conviction under Section 498A IPC and Section 4 Dowry Prohibition Act was justified?
Whether sentence of life imprisonment awarded to relatives of husband was disproportionate and liable to modification?

PROCEEDING:
Appeal against judgment dated 19.12.2005 passed by Special Judge (E.C. Act)/Additional Sessions Judge, Varanasi in Sessions Trial No.876 of 2004 convicting appellants under Sections 498A, 304B IPC and Section 4 Dowry Prohibition Act.
Trial court awarded life imprisonment under Section 304B IPC and lesser sentences under Section 498A IPC and Section 4 Dowry Prohibition Act.
High Court reappreciated evidence including FIR, postmortem report, testimony of prosecution witnesses and defence evidence and examined applicability of presumption under Section 113B Evidence Act.

CONCLUSION:
Conviction of appellants under Sections 304B, 498A IPC and Section 4 Dowry Prohibition Act upheld.
Sentence modified on ground of proportionality considering role of relatives distinct from husband.
Life imprisonment awarded by trial court under Section 304B IPC reduced:
10 years RI each to father-in-law and mother-in-law
7 years RI each to jeth and jethani
Appeal partly allowed only to extent of modification of sentence. Remaining conviction and sentences maintained.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Arvind Kumar Mishra-I, J.)

respectively, was sent to the Juvenile Justice Board, Varanasi, for passing appropriate orders on the point of sentence.

4. Heard Sri R.K. Singh, learned Advocate assisted by Sri Yogesh Srivastava, learned counsel for the appellants and Sri Saghir Ahmad, learned A.G.A. assisted by Sri Hasan Abdi, brief holder for the State and perused the records available on file.

5. Prosecution case giving rise to this appeal has its seed in the first information report lodged by the first informant, Pankaj Singh (brother of the deceased) son of late Doodhnath Singh, resident of Gram-Mahada, Police Station Cholapur, District Varanasi, at Police Station Shivpur, Sub-District Sadar, District Varanasi, on 08.09.2004 at 18.30 hours to the effect that his sister Seema had tied her nuptial knot with Varunendra Kumar Singh son of Samar Bahadur Singh on 21st May, 2004. His sister Seema was tortured by her in-laws for not bringing sufficient dowry and they were threatening her of life for not bringing Splendor Plus motorcycle. Today i.e. 08.09.2004, some unknown person informed about death of his sister saying that her in-laws are trying to dispose of corpse of Seema. When the first informant Pankaj Kumar Singh in company of his co-villagers went to the spot at Shyampuri Colony, he saw that his sister was murdered by hanging and her in-laws were trying to dispose of the corpse. In the latter part of first information report, it has been specifically alleged that because of non-fulfillment of dowry, his sister, Seema was murdered by Varunendra Kumar Singh (husband), Trivendra Kumar Singh (Jeth), Smt. Minto (Jethani), Smt. Vidya Devi (mother-in-law) and Samar Bahadur Singh (father-in-law). Report be lodged and appropriate action be taken. Scribe of this report is Ram Pratap Singh. This report is Exhibit Ka-1.

6. The contents of aforesaid information were taken down in Check FIR on 08.09.2004 at 18.30 hours at Crime No.214 of 2004, under Sections 498A, 304B IPC and 3/4 Dowry Prohibition Act, Police Station Shivpur, District Varanasi. Check FIR is Exhibit Ka-6 on record. On the basis of entry so made in Check FIR, a case was registered against the aforesaid accused persons in the General Diary vide Entry No.39 at 18.30 hours on 08.09.2004, which is Exhibit Ka-7. Thereafter investigation ensued.

7. As the investigation proceeded further inquest report of deceased Seema wife of Varunendra Kumar Singh was got prepared by Murli Dhar Mishra PW-3,(A.S.D.M. Sadar, Varanasi). The preparation of inquest commenced on 09.09.2004 at 10:00 a.m. and ended at 2:00 p.m. the same day. This inquest report is Ext. Ka-2. In the opinion of inquest witnesses, it was suggested that dead body of deceased Seema be sent for postmortem examination, for ascertaining real cause of death. In this way, certain relevant papers were prepared for sending the dead body for postmortem examination. Letter to Chief Medical Officer is also marked as Exhibit Ka-7. Relevant to mention at this stage that the concerned General Diary entry whereby the case was registered against the aforesaid appellants had already been marked, as Exhibit Ka-7, therefore, this letter to CMO may be read for the sake of convenience in this judgment, as Exhibit Ka-7A. Letter to S.H.O. Lanka, Varanasi is Exhibit Ka-8. Photonash is Exhibit Ka-9 and Police Form-13 Challan dead body is Exhibit Ka-10.

8. Thereafter, the dead body of Seema was sent for autopsy at mortuary BHU, Varanasi, where Dr. S.K. Tripathi PW-7 conducted postmortem examination on the dead body of Seema on 09.09.2004 at 5.15 p.m. Following ante-mortem injuries were found on the dead body of the deceased (Seema) by Dr. S.K. Tripathi PW-7, which are extracted herein below:-

Ante-mortem injuries

2- Contusion 2 cm x 1 cm on the front of left leg shin area 6 cm below right Knee.

3- Contusion 2 cm x ½ cm on the shin left leg 12 cm blow left Knee.

Cause of death was stated to be due to asphyxia as a result of hanging. Duration from time of death upto time of postmortem examination was said to be 1-¾ day.

Dr. S.K. Tripathi PW-7 has proved this postmortem examination report, as Exhibit Ka-6.

9. The Investigating Officer, Santosh Kumar, Circle Officer, PW-5 Cantt., Varanasi proceeded to the spot and prepared site plan, which is Exhibit Ka-3 on record. He recorded statement of the arrested accused in Parcha No.2 dated 09.09.2004. He also recorded statement of the concerned Magistrate and inquest witnesses in Parcha No.2A on the same day. He also obtained marriage card of deceased Seema Devi with accused Varunendra Kumar Singh and has proved the same as Exhibit Ka-4. After completing various formalities, he filed charge-sheet against the accused persons under Sections 498A, 304B IPC and 3/4 Dowry Prohibition Act, at Crime No.214 of 2004, on 20.9.2004 and has proved the same as Exhibit Ka-5 on record.

10. Thereafter, the case of the appellants was committed to the Court of Sessions from where it was made over of the aforesaid trial court for conduction of trial and disposal. The learned trial Judge heard the appellants on the point of charge and found prima facie ground existing for framing charges under Sections 498A, 304B IPC and Section 3/4 of the Dowry Prohibition Act vide his order dated 18.11.2004. After framing charges under aforesaid sections of IPC and the Dowry Prohibition Act the same were read over and explained to the accused persons, who denied charges and opted for trial.

11. The prosecution in order to prove guilt of the accused persons examined as many as eight prosecution witnesses. Brief reference of the same is sketched herein under:-

12. Pankaj Kumar Singh PW-1 is the first informant and brother of the deceased Seema Devi. He has proved written report Exhibit Ka-1. Smt. Radhika Singh PW-2 is the mother of the deceased. She has testified fact about dowry demand and torture meted to her daughter by the accused persons. Murli Dhar Mishra, A.S.D.M. (Sadar), Varanasi is PW-3. He got inquest report prepared on 09.09.2004 and has proved the same as Ext. Ka-2. Constable Rajesh Kumar Singh is P.W.4. He has participated in the proceeding meant for inquest report and has also testified fact that he conveyed corpse of the deceased Seema at mortuary, BHU, Varanasi. Santosh Kumar, Circle Officer, Cantt. Varanasi is PW-5. He has detailed about various steps taken by him for completing the investigation. Besides proving a number of papers, he has also proved charge sheet Ext. Ka-5. Constable Shyam Sunder Giri PW-6 has prepared Check FIR and has made entry in General Diary at Serial No.39 dated 08.09.2004 at 6.30 p.m. and has proved Ext. Ka-6 and Ext. Ka-7, respectively. Dr. S.K. Tripathi PW-7 has conducted postmortem examination on dead body of the deceased Seema and has proved postmortem examination report Ext. Ka-6. Virendra Vikram Singh, Sub-Inspector, Police Station Rohaniya, Varanasi PW-8 has prepared inquest report under supervision of Additional City Magistrate-III and has verified facts of preparation of inquest report and other papers prepared at the time of preparation of inquest report for sending the dead body of the deceased for postmortem examination.

13. Thereafter the evidence for prosecution was closed and statement of appellants was recorded under Section 313 Cr.P.C. The appellants in their statement under Section 313 Cr.P.C. took plea that neither any demand for dowry was ever made by them nor was the deceased ever tortured for the same.

14. The accused Samar Bahadur Singh (father-in-law) has stated in his statement that at the time of occurrence, he was posted as constable at Police Station Bairiya and he was not present on the spot. His wife Smt. Vidya Devi (mother-in-law) also resided with him. Smt. Seema (deceased) committed suicide out of frustration. No demand of dowry was ever made and the marriage of deceased with his son Varunendra Kumar Singh took place because Seema was daughter of a widow and she was educated and was under employment.

15. Thereafter, the defence also led ocular testimony and has produced Ajay Kumar Singh DW-1. He has testified fact that he was a mediator in the marriage of Seema (deceased) and Varunendra Kumar Singh (husband). Besides, he has also testified certain relevant points.

16. Chandra Shekhar DW-2 claims himself to be a compounder at Dr. Sudha Surgical Hospital, Tagore Town, Varanasi. He has testified certain facts regarding treatment of deceased and has proved papers of treatment of the deceased as Exhibit Kha-1. Constable 496 Rama Kant Singh, DW-3, Police Station Bairiya, District Ballia has proved certain GD entry dated 07.09.2004 and 08.09.2004, as Exhibit Kha-2 and Kha-3.

17. Thereafter evidence for the defence was closed and the matter was posted for arguments. Learned trial court after hearing both the parties and appreciation of evidence and marshalling of facts passed the aforesaid judgment and order of conviction dated 19.12.2005 and sentenced the appellants under Sections 498A, 304B IPC and Section 4 of Dowry Prohibition Act as aforesaid. Appellants were acquitted of charge under Section 3 of The Dowry Prohibition Act, 1961 by the trial court.

18. Consequently, this appeal.

19. It has been vehemently claimed on behalf of the appellants that in this case, the conviction is without any base and against evidence on record, hence the same is vitiated, for the reason that essential ingredients of dowry death as contained under Section 304B IPC are neither made out nor have been legally proved in this case against the appellants. The appellants had no motive to commit death of a lady, who was employed as 'Shikshamitra'. The deceased was herself an asset for her in-laws and they knew it better that the deceased will fetch good fortune in future and condition of her parental house (maiyka) was well known to the appellants. There is no proof regarding any physical or mental torture given by the appellants to the deceased for non-fulfillment of dowry demand soon before the death.

20. It is obvious in the testimony of prosecution witnesses that no dowry was demanded at the time of marriage. The reason for death of deceased has been explained by the appellants by producing DW-1 Ajay Kumar Singh and DW-2 Chandra Shekhar, who have given a number of reasons for death of deceased. In this regard, testimony of Chandra Shekhar DW-2 is quite convincing. The relationship between the two families was cordial and peaceful and no such disagreement ever took place for demand of dowry as alleged in the first information report.

21. Appellant-Samar Bahadur Singh (father-in-law) is a constable and was employed at Police Station- Bairiya, District Ballia at the time of occurrence. At the relevant point of time, his presence on the spot can neither be anticipated nor has it been so proved by the prosecution witnesses. The appellants cannot be said to be beneficiary of dowry demand. In this case, implication of all the appellants is false and without any reason. The deceased herself committed suicide out of frustration given by her own mother and brother by demanding the stipend/remuneration, which she was getting as 'Shikshamitra'.

22. Lastly, learned counsel also contended that in this case, punishment awarded against the appellants is too harsh and is not justified under facts and circumstances of the case. Smt. Vidya Devi (mother-in-law), Smt. Minto (Jethani), Samar Bahadur Singh (father-in-law) and Triveni Kumar Singh (Jeth) of the deceased have been awarded sentence of life imprisonment, which is extreme penalty prescribed for offence under Section 304B IPC and is not justifiable looking to the attendant facts and circumstances of the case and the same is disproportionate to the offence proved and the relationship of accused with the deceased. Therefore, the trial court ought to have taken lenient view, which the trial court failed to take and this particular aspect may be considered in right perspective by this Court and just order may be passed in this case on quantum of sentence in the interest of justice.

23. Learned AGA, while replying to the aforesaid arguments, has submitted that testimony of all the prosecution witnesses is consistent, clinching and inspiring confidence. All ingredients of Section 304B IPC have been proved and every aspect, as required under law, has been established. The appellants were unable to bring out and establish their case of suicide by the deceased. Presumption under Section 113B has been rightly drawn by the trial court against the appellants and their conviction under Sections 304B, 498A IPC and Section 4 of the Dowry Prohibition Act is based on material on record. The trial court has considered all the substantial facts and circumstances of the case comprehensively and based its judgment of conviction on the same, which cannot be faulted with.

24. He further added that so far as sentencing part of the judgment is concerned, the same is also justified, for the reason that a helpless and innocent lady was brutally murdered for non-fulfillment of dowry demand, which is inhuman and barbaric against her, apart from being a social crime. The sentence awarded by the trial court is reasonable and justified under the facts and circumstances of the case.

25. Also considered above submissions.

26. The moot point involved for adjudication of this appeal relates to fact whether the prosecution has not been able to prove dowry death under Section 304B IPC and cruelty to deceased under Section 498A IPC and demand of dowry subsequent to marriage of Seema with Varunendra Kumar Singh under Section 4 of the Dowry Prohibition Act and whether the sentence imposed on the appellants particularly under Section 304B IPC is disproportionate and not justifiable?

26A. Before proceedings further with the case it would be relevant to reflect on certain relevant facts at this stage. In this case both the sides admit factum of marriage between Seema and Varunendra Kumar Singh on 21st May, 2004. Also both the sides admit death of Seema Devi to be unnatural. The only point in controversy remains to be decided revolves around factum of cruelty, demand of dowry and dowry death of Seema whether committed by the accused?

27. Thereafter, our consideration of the case is confined particularly to the appraisal of facts, circumstances and evidence on aforesaid aspects of dowry demand, cruelty and on point of dowry death or theory of proposed suicide committed by the deceased Seema out of frustration?

28. At the very outset, a glance at the contents of first information report reveals allegation of dowry death of Seema Devi by and at the hands of the appellants. It is named FIR against Varunendra Kumar Singh (husband of the deceased), Trivendra Kumar Singh (Jeth), Smt. Minto (Jethani), Smt. Vidya Devi (mother-in-law) and Samar Bahadur Singh (father-in-law) of the deceased Seema who allegedly caused her dowry death on 08.09.2004.

29. At this stage, we may scrutinize testimony of Dr. S.K. Tripathi P.W.7, wherein, he has described ligature mark with dimension 29 cm x 2-3 ½ cm obliquely placed over high up neck, 3 cm below right ear knot impression and 5 cm below left ear. On cut - ecchymosis found on the subcutaneous. Injury No.1- Contusion 3 cm x 1 cm on the front of right leg shin area 12 cm below right knee. Injury No.2- Contusion 2 cm x 1 cm on the front of left leg shin area 6 cm below right Knee. Injury No.3- Contusion 2 cm x ½ cm on the shin left leg 12 cm blow left Knee. Injury No.4- Contusion 3 cm x ½ cm on front of left thigh 8 cm above left knee.

30. Obviously, these injuries have been proved by Dr. S.K. Tripathi, PW-7. In the opinion of the doctor, the death could have taken place prior to 1-¾ days. One thing is apparent that apart from above referred ligature mark, the deceased also sustained several injuries on her legs. The point for consideration arises as to whether these injuries as found on both legs can be attributed to case where a person has committed suicide? The answer is certainly in the negative, for the reason that there is no such attendant circumstance or independent corroboration that may establish or allude to the possibility that these injuries on legs of the deceased could have been caused by instrumentality of the deceased herself or by instrumentality of other object on the spot, because in this case, it is virtually established that when the corpse of Seema was seen by the first informant-Pankaj Kumar Singh, it was kept in the lobby of the house. The defence has also asked certain relevant question with Murli Dhar Mishra PW-3 (A.S.D.M. Sadar, Varanasi) in his cross-examination, wherein he has stated that he did not see the room where the deceased was stated to have been hanging from the ceiling of the house.

31. Special mention may be made from testimony emerging in cross-examination of Investigating Officer Santosh Kumar, Circle Officer, PW-5, Cantt., Varanasi on page 28 of paper book, wherein certain particular questions have also been put to this witness in cross-examination on point whether the room (where hanging was alleged to have taken place) was not bolted from inside? The answer was given that it was not bolted from inside the room simlarily answer has been given that there was no chair found inside the room with some table on it.

32. Now, the point for consideration regarding presence of appellant Samar Bahadur Singh whether on duty at District Ballia or at the place of occurrence (at Varanasi) assumes importance. In this context, the defence has led testimony of Constable-496 Rama Kant Singh, DW-3, Police Station Bairiya, District Ballia. As per his testimony, some information was received at the Bairiya police station and he has proved relevant GD dated 08.09.2004. It emerges from his testimony, that some information regarding serious condition of Seema was received on that date (8.9.2004) around 12 noon when appellant Samar Bahadur Singh gave leave application and started off for his house (at Varanasi). The relevant GD entries have been placed on record as Ext. Kha-2 and Ext. Kha-3, respectively.

33. However, this special aspect was also investigated into by Investigating Officer Santosh Kumar, Circle Officer, PW-5, Cantt., Varanasi. He has stated in his cross-examination on page-29 of the paper book that during investigation, he did not come across any such material that Samar Bahadur Singh was on duty at the time of incident.

34. Here one relevant aspect need be elaborated by us that Samar Bahadur Singh was posted as a Constable at Police Station Bairiya. There is nothing on record from which we may either infer or whisper that police personnel are trying to scale down fact of engagement of the appellant Samar Bahadur Singh at Police Station Bairiya and instead making his presence at his house. There is no point for holding that police personnel, who are engaged in the investigation of this case have any grudge against the appellant Samar Bahadur Singh.

34A. It has also come in the testimony of DW-3 that the distance between the place of occurrence (Shyampuri Colony Sector B Meerapur Basahi, P.S. Shivpur, District Varanasi) and Police Station Bairiya can be covered by road travel within 4-5 hours. Therefore, assuming it to be; that any person is on duty at Bairiya police station, even then he can manage things in his own way within 4 or 5 hours and he may easily return from his house at Varanasi to Ballia. Therefore, merely because an application for leave was given at Police Station Bairiya at 12.00 noon on 8.9.2004, would not be fair enough to show that the appellant Samar Bahadur Singh had no occasion to be present at the place of occurrence (at Varanasi) at relevant point of time.

35. Now coming to the merit of the case, we may consider factum of demand of dowry. Pankaj Kumar Singh PW-1 (brother of the deceased) and Smt. Radhika Singh PW-2 (mother of the deceased), are the two witnesses of fact. They have proved fact of dowry demand subsequent to marriage of the deceased Seema with Varunendra Kumar Singh. Evidence of the two witnesses of fact establishes demand of dowry in the shape of motorcycle and Rs.50,000/- by all the appellants from deceased Seema. In this case, the deceased Seema had occasion to visit her parental home (maiyaka) and she used to remain there from Monday to Saturday almost every week and then she used to go back to her husband and in-laws house in the evening of Saturday and then again she used to leave her in-laws house in the morning of following Monday, because the deceased was working as 'Shikshamitra' in village Mahda for which she was being paid fixed stipend.

36. The defence has tried to suggest that the deceased was suffering from severe mental tension because her mother and brothers insisted for obtaining her remuneration/stipend, while she was not willing to give the same to them. But evidence on record does not support such a situation that the deceased was ever under mental pressure. Had it been so, she would not have committed suicide in the house of her in-laws, but could have easily expressed her anguish first in some manner and then she would have taken extreme decision to end her life and she would not have gone over to her parental home (maiyaka) and would have resided there every week from Monday to Saturday. As per testimony on record, factum of demand of dowry and non-fulfillment of the same by the complainant side has been well established and rightly so concluded by the trial court regarding which, we see no reason to interfere in the same at this stage.

37. At this juncture, it would be relevant to refer Sections 304 B and 498A IPC for correct appreciation of law and fact under context, these sections are extracted herein below:-

[304B. Dowry death.--(1) Where the death of a woman is caused by any burns or bodily injury or occurs otherwise than under normal circumstances within seven years of her marriage and it is shown that soon before her death she was subjected to cruelty or har-assment by her husband or any relative of her husband for, or in connection with, any demand for dowry, such death shall be called "dowry death", and such husband or relative shall be deemed to have caused her death.

Explanation.--For the purpose of this sub-section, "dowry" shall have the same meaning as in section 2 of the Dowry Prohibition Act, 1961 (28 of 1961).

(2) Whoever commits dowry death shall be punished with imprison-ment for a term which shall not be less than seven years but which may extend to imprisonment for life.]

498A. Husband or relative of husband of a woman subjecting her to cruelty.-- Whoever, being the husband or the relative of the husband of a woman, subjects such woman to cruelty shall be pun-ished with imprisonment for a term which may extend to three years and shall also be liable to fine.

Explanation.--For the purpose of this section, "cruelty" means--

(a) any wilful conduct which is of such a nature as is likely to drive the woman to commit suicide or to cause grave injury or danger to life, limb or health (whether mental or physical) of the woman; or

(b) harassment of the woman where such harassment is with a view to coercing her or any person related to her to meet any unlawful demand for any property or valuable security or is on account of failure by her or any person related to her to meet such demand.

38. It has come in the testimony of both the witnesses of fact namely Pankaj Kumar Singh PW-1 and Smt. Radhika Singh PW-2 that her daughter used to tell them about harassment and torture meted out to her at the hands of her in-laws for non-fulfillment of dowry demand. In this way factum of harassment also stands proved. Thus, death of the deceased Seema as we discussed above admittedly took place within 7 years of her marriage with Varunendra Kumar Singh (husband) and she was subjected to cruelty and harassment soon before her death repeatedly by her husband and in-laws in connection with demand for dowry stands proved against the present appellants.

39. Thus each and every essential ingredient of Section 304B IPC and 498A IPC has been proved by the prosecution satisfactorily and the evidence on record profusely establishes the same beyond reasonable doubt. The persistent demand of dowry has been proved to have occurred after marriage, therefore, demand of dowry subsequent to marriage is also well proved and is punishable as such under Section 4 of the Dowry Prohibition Act. Entirety of the prosecution testimony on record also reveals that the case of the prosecution regarding dowry demand, and causing of dowry death stands established and proved against the accused persons.

40. We may also take note of contention raised on behalf of the appellants that in case this Court comes to the conclusion that charges against the appellants under Section 304B, 498A IPC and 4 Dowry Prohibition Act are found to have been proved, then they should be given some latitude on point of quantum of sentence, as the sentence awarded by the trial court is not proportionate to the alleged crime. Several circumstances have been placed before us for consideration, which we will discuss when the context so requires.

41. In the final count, we find that the charges under Sections 498A, 304B IPC and under Section 4 of the Dowry Prohibition Act have been reasonably proved and the suggestion by defence in regard to commission of suicide committed by the deceased Seema has neither any relevance nor any force under prevailing facts and circumstances of the case. Therefore, we see every reason to concur with the finding of conviction recorded against the appellants by the trial court vide its judgment and order dated 16.12.2005 under aforesaid sections of IPC and Section 4 of Dowry Prohibition Act, 1961.

42. On sentencing point, as discussed above, some contention has been raised that the sentence awarded against the appellants is disproportionate to the offence committed and the same may be modified in the interest of justice. In this regard, submission raised on behalf of the appellants need be mentioned.

43. Firstly; the husband of deceased Varunendra Kumar Singh has been declared juvenile, as he claimed juvenility and has been given benefit thereof by sending him to the Juvenile Justice Board, Varanasi on sentencing point, secondly, the other accused persons and particularly the present appellants - Trivendra Kumar Singh (Jeth), Smt. Minto (Jethani), Smt. Vidya Devi (mother-in-law) and Samar Bahadur Singh (father-in-law) bear and stand in different relationship with the deceased Seema Devi, whose role is distinguishable from the husband, as they are distant relative, and they cannot be said to be direct beneficiaries of dowry demand, had it been fulfilled. Thirdly, may be that, the role of Samar Bahadur Singh (father-in-law) and Smt. Vidya Dev (mother-in-law) would assume greater responsibility for demanding dowry but Trivendra Kumar Singh (Jeth) and Smt. Minto (Jethani) would not have been beneficiary in the event of fulfillment of dowry demand.

44. More so, in this case it was exclusively upto the husband to have taken care of his wife and could have refused to bow down to the insolent behavior of Samar Bahadur Singh (father-in-law) and Smt. Vidya Devi (mother-in-law), if they insisted for any demand of dowry. Therefore, role of Samar Bahadur Singh (father-in-law) and Smt. Vidya Devi (mother-in-law) under the facts and circumstances of the case is placed at different footing with the two other co-accused, namely, Trivendra Kumar Singh (Jeth) and Smt. Minto (Jethani).

45. We have given our thoughtful consideration to entirety of facts and circumstances, as appearing and proved in this case and also taken note of respective position of each appellant and the nature of offence. No doubt, the husband has primary responsibility to take care of his wife and his case can be distinguished, from all other co-accused persons of this case.

46. In this case, we also notice that Samar Bahadur Singh (father-in-law) was an employed person and a police constable and was earning member of his family. In such a family set up like that of the present appellants we cannot not resist factual reality and strong reason for believing that dowry demand would have directly benefited husband of deceased- Varunendra Kumar Singh rather than the appellants. Therefore, the present appellants cannot be said to be direct beneficiary of dowry demand, if fulfilled.

47. In this view of the matter, sentence of life imprisonment awarded by the trial court against aforesaid four appellants under Section 304B IPC appears to be disproportionate to the offence proved (304B IPC), under particular facts and circumstances of the case and the respective positions held by Samar Bahadur Singh (father-in-law) and Smt. Vidya Devi (mother-in-law) vis-a-vis position of Trivendra Kumar Singh (Jeth) and Smt. Minto- Jethani of deceased Seema. We find it just and appropriate to modify/alter sentence of life imprisonment awarded against all the four appellants to the period of 10 years rigorous imprisonment each for Samar Bahadur Singh (father-in-law) and Smt. Vidya Devi (mother-in-law) and further 7 years rigorous imprisonment each for Trivendra Kumar Singh (jeth) and Smt. Minto (Jethani), as that would meet the ends of justice.

48. Rest of the sentence imposed by the trial court on all the appellants for offences under Section 498A IPC and Section 4 Dowry Prohibition Act is justified and is proportionate to the offence committed in the wake of facts and circumstances of this case, as such requires no interference by us. Accordingly, the sentencing part of the impugned judgment stands modified to the extent aforesaid.

49. In view of above churning of the facts and circumstances and evidence on record, the present appeal is liable to be allowed partly on point of quantum of sentence only i.e., confined to (Section 304B IPC), while maintaining the conviction and sentence of the present appellants passed by the trial court for charges under Section 498A IPC and under Section 4 of the Dowry Prohibition Act, 1961. Accordingly, this appeal is allowed partly in the terms aforesaid.

50. All the aforesaid sentences to run concurrently.

51. It is obvious that the imprisonment part of sentence has been suffered by Samar Bahadur Singh, however, sentence of fine, as imposed by the trial court, if not deposited, shall be dealt with in accordance with law. However it is directed that the period of detention suffered by Samar Bahadur Singh which is found to be exceeding 10 years period in jail, then the sentence of fine shall be liable to be adjusted in proportion to the period exceeding 10 years incarceration. If it is found that Samar Bahadur Singh has suffered entire sentence imposed upon him then he shall be set free forthwith if not wanted in connection with any other case. Rest of the appellants Smt. Vidya Devi (mother-in-law), Trivendra Kumar Singh (Jeth), Smt. Minto (Jethani) are on bail. Their personal bonds are cancelled and sureties are discharged. They shall be taken into custody forthwith to serve out the remaining part of their respective sentences.

52. Let a copy of this order be certified to the concerned trial court for its intimation and follow up action.

Indian Penal Code, 1860 — Sections 302/34, 307/34, 201 — Common intention — Murder and attempt to murder — Conviction upheld
Where the accused persons jointly assaulted the complainant party with deadly weapons (sword and country-made pistol), resulting in death of one person and injuries to another, the prosecution case was found reliable on the basis of consistent testimony of injured eyewitness and corroborative medical evidence.

Minor discrepancies in testimony do not affect the core prosecution case when ocular evidence inspires confidence and is supported by medical evidence.

Absence of specific motive against deceased does not weaken prosecution case when direct eyewitness account establishes participation of accused and common intention under Section 34 IPC.

Recovery of dead body from canal side does not create doubt when Investigating Officer explained that villagers had taken out the body from canal prior to arrival of police.

Conviction under Sections 302/34, 307/34 and 201 IPC held justified.

All sentences to run concurrently.

2. We have heard Smt. Archana Tyagi, learned counsel for the appellant and AGA Shri Saghir Ahmad assisted by Sri J.K. Upadhyay, Sri Hasan Abidi brief holders for the State and perused the records.

3. The prosecution story as unfolded in the first information report appears to be; that the first informant Vijay Singh Negi son of late Chandan Singh Negi resident of Devi Marg, Kotdwar, District Pauri, lodged written report at Police Station Najibabad, Bijnor on 22.10.1999 at 11.20 A.M. against the two accused persons Kulwant Singh @ Kattha and Sanjay Thapa @ Dinesh Thapa to the effect that first informant was going to attend court's proceeding at 10.20 a.m. in the court of Additional Chief Judicial Magistrate, Nagina by his Jeep No. U.P. 21A-6899. He was being accompanied by his friends Abhay Tripathi and Surendra Singh. He stopped his Jeep 3 km ahead of Nazibabad on Kotwali road in village Shravanpur near temple and was checking radiator, two persons Kulwant Singh @ Kattha and his friend Sanjay Thapa riding TVS Suzuki motor cycle, appeared on the scene of occurrence with whom first informant was acquainted on account of landed property dispute and they tried to give sword blow on his head with intention kill him. The first informant tried to ward off attack/blow by raising his hands as a result of which he sustained injuries on thumb of his right hand and on left side head. In order to save himself, he ran away towards Najibabad and his friend Surendra also ran away with him. But his companion Abhay Tripathi was killed by giving sword blow besides causing fire arm injuries by country made pistol. Thereafter, accused persons took away Jeep of first informant placed Abhay Tripathi inside the jeep took him near and threw him in the canal. When the first informant was running away he was threatened with life. Report be lodged and action be taken. This written report is Ext. Ka-1.

4. The contents of this written report were taken down in Check FIR on 22.10.1999 at 11.20 A.M. at Police Station Najibabad at Case Crime No.770 of 1999 under sections 302, 201, 307, 427, 506 I.P.C. Check FIR is Ext. Ka-4. On the basis of entry made in Check FIR, a case was registered against accused persons under aforesaid sections of I.P.C. in the relevant General Diary, rapat no. 29 on 22.10.1999 at Crime No.770 of 1999, at the same Police Station, copy whereof is Ext. Ka-5.

5. Thereafter investigation of the case took place and injured first informant Vijay Singh Negi was sent for medical examination at Primary Health Centre Najibabad, Bijnor, where he was medically examined by Dr. Vinod Kumar at 12.50 P.M. same day who found following injuries on his persons:

5A. After receipt of information, the police arrived on the spot and also recovered dead body of deceased Abhay Tripathi from the southern side of canal and after appointing inquest witnesses, prepared inquest report of Abhay Tripathi. It commenced at 14.45 hours and completed at 15.35 hours. Inquest report is Ext. Ka-6.

6. In the opinion of inquest witnesses and Investigating Officer, it was found appropriate to send dead body for post mortem examination in order to ascertain real cause of death. Therefore, necessary formalities were completed and relevant papers were prepared and dead body was sent for post mortem examination at mortuary Bijnor where post mortem examination on dead body of Abhay Tripathi was conducted by Dr. Ghanshyam Singh on 23.10.1999 at 1.00 A.M. who noted following ante mortem injuries:

1. Multiple fire arm wounds of entrance (pellets) each of size 0.5 cm x 0.5 cm x muscle to bone deep in an area of 17 cm x 12 cm on left side of face and neck, margins are inverted and blackish approximately wounds are 20.

Cause of death was stated to be shock and hemorrhage as a result of ante mortem injuries. Duration was said to be one day. This post mortem examination report is Ext. Ka-3.

7. It is further reflected from records that the Investigating Officer also recorded statement of various witnesses and prepared recovery memo of blood stained and simple soil from the place of occurrence which is Ext. Ka- 13. He also prepared recovery memo of blood stained clothes of informant Vijay Singh Negi which is Ext. Ka-15. Report from Vidhi Vigyan Prayogshala dated 24.1.2000 is Ext. Ka. 17. The investigating Officer also prepared site plan of the place from where dead body of Abhay Tripathi was recovered near canal which is Ext. Ka-11. The Investigating Officer also prepared site plan of place of incident which is Ext. Ka-12. The Investigating Officer after completing the investigation, filed charge sheet against accused persons Kulwant Singh @ Kattha and present appellant Sanjay Thapa @ Dinesh Thapa in abscondence, which is Ext. Ka. 14.

8. Thereafter, the case of the appellant was committed to the court of Session from where the case was made over to the court of Additional Sessions Judge, Court No. 6 Bijnor, for trial and disposal. The learned Trial Judge, after hearing the appellant on the point of charge, found, prima facie, ground existing for framing charges under sections 302/34, 201, 307/34 and 427/34 I.P.C. Charges were readover and explained to the accused who denied the charges and opted for trial.

9. The prosecution was asked to adduce its testimony for proving guilt. The prosecution produced in all 10 witnesses, brief description of whom is herein below:-

Vijay Singh Negi PW-1 is first informant and injured eye witness. Surendra Singh PW-2 is also witness of fact and he is stated to be eye witness of the incident. Dr. Vinok Kumar PW-3 has medically examined the injured informant Vijay Singh. Dr. Ghanshyam Singh PW-4 has conducted post mortem examination on the dead body of Abhay Tripathi. Constable Sant Ram PW-5 took the dead body to mortuary at Bijnor. Constable Yashpal Singh PW-6 has prepared Check FIR Ext. Ka-4 and relevant G.D. registering the case against accused-appellant Ext. Ka-5. Sunderlal Kanaujiya PW-7, Investigating Officer has detailed various steps which he took during investigation and later on it was taken over by another Investigating Officer Kiran Pal Singh PW-8 who has also detailed about investigation conducted by him on certain aspects of the case. Thereafter investigation was handed over to R.P. Sharma PW-9 who filed charge sheet against accused Kulwant Singh @ Kattha and present appellant Sanjay Thapa @ Dinesh Thapa which is Ext. Ka-14 on record. Shri Prempal Singh PW-10 took into his possession blood stained clothes of Vijay Singh Negi and prepared recovery memo of such clothes in his hand writing and has proved it as Ext. Ka-15.

10. Thereafter the evidence for prosecution was closed and the statement of accused appellant Sanjay Thapa @ Dinesh Thapa was recorded under Section 313 Cr.P.C., wherein he stated that another co-accused Kulwant Singh @ Kattha was his friend and Kulwant Singh @ Kattha was having dispute regarding some property with the first informant Vijay Singh Negi due to which, he has been falsely implicated in this case. He was not present on the spot. No evidence whatsoever has been led by the defence.

11. The trial court, after hearing both the sides on merit, recorded findings of conviction against the appellant under aforesaid sections of I.P.C. imposed aforesaid sentence on him vide impugned judgment and order dated 04.12.2003.

12. Consequently this appeal.

13. It has been vehemently claimed by learned counsel for the appellant that presence of the appellant on the spot is doubtful. Neither the incident was caused by the appellant nor had he any motive to commit such crime. The appellant has admitted his friendship with Kulwant Singh @ Kattha. Since Kulwant Singh @ Kattha was having enmity with Vijay Singh Negi relating to some landed property, therefore, the name of appellant has been dragged in falsely by the first informant in this case. The presence of first informant is doubtful. His description in respect of the incident is self contradictory and also in contrast with testimony of so called other prosecution witnesses of fact. No injury whatsoever was caused on the person of first informant Vijay Singh Negi. The appellant had no apparent motive to commit the crime, at no point of time, he participated in the crime.

14. It is next contended that assuming it to be; some enmity was persisting between first informant and Kulwant Singh @ Kattha regarding some landed property then commission of crime against Abhay Tripathi is beyond any reason. Why Abhai Tripathi was killed by the appellant has not been explained by the prosecution. The appellant had no motive nor intention to commit offence and participate in such crime then his conviction by invoking help of section 34 I.P.C. is erroneous and misapplication of law. Injuries found on the person of Vijay Singh Negi were not caused by the appellant but it was caused by another person, which was his isolated act and nature of injuries as appearing after medical examination of injured Vijay Singh Negi (injury report-Ext. Ka-2) reveals that these injuries were simple in nature, therefore, conviction under sections 307/34 and 302/34 I.P.C. is not legally justified. The place of incident is most uncertain.

15. Learned counsel for the appellant has further added that the first informant's claim is that accused persons took away Abhay Tripathi (deceased) in Jeep (of informant) to the canal and threw away his dead body into the canal but dead body was recovered from southern side of canal, thus, there is no explanation as to how and when dead body was taken out of canal and placed on southern side of canal. Facts indicate that Abhay Tripathi was killed somewhere else by some unknown persons and his dead body was placed at southern side of canal and a cooked up story has been brought forward by the first informant on account of enmity with Kulwant Singh @ Kattha indirectly hitting at the appellant, for the reason that he happens to be friend of Kulwant Singh @ Kattha. The incident is not supported by independent witness. No active role whatsoever has been assigned to the appellant for causing any specific injury either upon the first informant or upon Abhay Tripathi (deceased). It is a case of blind murder.

16. While refuting aforesaid arguments, it has been submitted by the learned A.G.A. that it is well established that the appellant is named in the first information report. The occurrence took place in broad day light around 10.20 a.m. on 22.10.1999. The first information report was promptly lodged within one hour of the incident at 11.20 a.m. at Police Station Najibbad. Medical examination of the injured-first informant was conducted at 12.50 p.m. on 22.10.1999 i.e. to say soon after the incident, post mortem examination on the dead body of Abhay Tripathi was conducted by Dr. Ghanshyam Singh PW-4, on 23.10.1999 at 1.00 A.M.

17. Learned AGA has further added that the presence and participation of the appellant in the incident is proved by testimony of prosecution witnesses. How the dead body was carried over from the place of incident upto canal has also been substantiated by eye witnesses. After arrival of the police, inquest report was prepared. The inquest commenced at 14.45 hours and ended at 15.35 hours. In view of participation of the appellant in the crime, his conviction with the help of section 34 I.P.C. is wholly justified. The place of incident is certain and site plan has been proved by the Investigating Officer and place of recovery of dead body has also been proved by the concerned Investigating Officer.

18. We have considered above submissions.

19. The question involved in this appeal relates to fact whether the prosecution has been able to prove charges beyond reasonable doubt and whether the conviction recorded with the help of section 34 I.P.C. against appellant is erroneous and illegal and he has been falsely roped in, in this case?

20. After careful scrutiny of testimony of the prosecution witnesses on record and, particularly testimony of eyewitnesses PW-1 Vijay Singh Negi and PW-2 Surendra Singh respectively, it emerges out that both the eyewitnesses were going to attend proceedings of some case before court of Additional Chief Judicial Magistrate at Nagina, by Jeep No. U.P 21A-6899. They were also accompanied by the deceased Abhay Tripathi. As soon as, jeep reached 3 Kms. ahead of Najibabad at Village Shravanpur, near temple, then engine thereof got heated and it was stopped for checking its radiator.

21. The first informant was checking radiator, it was around 10.20 A.M. on 22.10.1999 in the meanwhile a TVS motorcycle being driven by Kulwant Singh @ Kattha with pillion rider Sanjay Thapa @ Dinesh Thapa, stopped near first informant. Kulwant Singh @ Kattha was possessing sword and Sanjay Thapa @ Dinesh Thapa was possessing 12 bore countrymade pistol. Kulwant Singh @ Kattha gave sward blows with intention to kill first informant Vijay Singh Negi and in order to word off blow, the first informant raised his right hand, due to which, he sustained injury on his hand and head. In the meanwhile, both the first informant and Surendra Singh extricated themselves from the assailants and ran towards Najibabad, but both the accused Kulwant Singh @ Kattha and Sanjay Thapa @ Dinesh Thapa caught Abhay Tripathi and began to assault him. Sanjay Thapa @ Dinesh Thapa fired on him, whereas, Kulwant Singh @ Kattha gave sword blows on him. The first informant and his friend Surendra Singh raised alarm from the short distance, whereupon, the accused person put Abhay Tripathi inside Jeep which was driven by Kulwant Singh @ Kattha and motorcycle was driven by Sanjaya Thapa @ Dinesh Thapa. Abhay Tripathi expired. The accused persons took the dead body in the jeep and threw it away into canal. This piece of specific testimony as appearing in the testimony of both the witnesses of fact PW-1 and PW-2 corroborates material contents of first information report.

22. The motive attributed for committing the offence has been stated to be dispute on account of landed property and pending litigation regarding the same. In this context, Vijay Singh Negi PW-1 has stated in his examination in chief that he had purchased 12 acres of land in the name of his mother Bhagirathi at village Aurangjebpursali nearly 10-11 years ago within periphery of police station Nageena Dehat. The consolidation proceedings qua the land took place and possession of the land was handed over to the first informant. Accused Kulwant Singh @ Kattha and his family members tried forcibly to take possession of this land and litigation regarding the same was pending in the court of Munsif Nageena, on criminal and civil side.

23. Thus so far as the motive part of the incident is concerned, obviously, the first information report entails point of enmity between first informant and Kulwant Singh @ Kattha. In testimony of PW-1 Vijay Singh Negi, details of landed property and litigation pending between the accused Kulwant Singh @ Kattha and first informant has been testified to the satisfaction of the trial court. In this regard, we may record that finding on the point of motive is based on material on record.

24. Contention has been raised by the appellant's counsel at this stage that assuming it to be that enmity between first informant and Kulwant Singh @ Kattha, was persisting in respect of some landed property but there was no occasion to cause death of Abhay Tripathi. The death of Abhay Tripathi would have been caused somewhere else by some unknown person than the present appellant Sanjay Thapa @ Dinesh Thapa.

25. Further contention raised relates to specific point that appellant Sanjay Thapa @ Dinesh Thapa has no sufficient motive either to participate in the crime or to cause death of Abhay Tripathi because he was not having any specific motive to commit crime. Appellant Sanjay Thapa @ Dinesh Thapa had no enmity with the deceased Abhay Tripathi. Both the eye witnesses have given vivid and lively description of the incident and both of them have been cross examined and their cross examination corroborated the version of the prosecution as described in the first information report. The point of enmity on account of landed property between accused Kulwant Singh @ Kattha and the first informant Vijay Singh Negi has been satisfactory established. It is correct that Surendra Singh and Abhay Tripathi, both colleagues of the first informant who accompanied him at the relevant point of time, were unconcerned with such litigation. It is gathered from their testimony that they being friend, accompanied the first informant for the time being. Both the eye witnesses have identified Sanjay Thapa @ Dinesh Thapa and they have stated that they knew him as he used to come along with Kulwant Singh @ Kattha during the proceedings in the court at Nageena.

26. Regarding participation of the present appellant in the incident, it has emerged in cross examination of PW-1 on page 18 of the paper book that two shots were fired on the spot. No shot was fired on the first informant. Kulwant Singh @ Kattha assaulted him with sword. The appellant Sanjay Thapa @ Dinesh Thapa did not assault the first informant. It has been deposed that motor cycle was driven by Kulwant Singh @ Kattha and he had kept his sword into sheathe which was tightened with waist of Kulwant Singh @ Kattha. First informant was not under impression that Kulwant Singh @ Kattha will cause any assault on him, therefore, he did not run away from the scene. It has been stated on page 19 of the paper book that after sword blow was given to him, he did not fell. Surendra Singh also ran away with him towards Najibabad for about 15-20 steps and raised alarm. Then the assailants did not chase them instead they surrounded Abhay Tripathi and gave him several blows. They witnessed the incident from a distance of 15 steps. The entire incident lasted for about 2-3 minutes. They remained at the place of occurrence for about one minute or two and thereafter they went towards Najibabad by three wheeler. They have also stated that they reached at the police station within one hour. Before reaching police station, Vijay Singh Negi got his report written by Rajesh Rawat, scribe of the report, who met Vijay Singh Negi just before the police station. The report was written within 5 to 10 minutes. Only the first informant and Surendra Singh went to the police station, the scribe of the report did not accompany them and they remained inside the police station for about one hour.

27. Record reveals that after the first information was lodged, the injured first informant was taken to Primary Health Centre, Najibabad for medical examination wherein he was medically examined by Dr. Vinod Kumar PW-3 on 22.10.1999 at 12.50 P.M. Perusal of this injury report shows that Injury no.1 is incised wound 8.0 x 0.5 cm bone deep on left side of skull, 8.5 cm above from left ear. Margins are clear cut. Fresh blood present. Colour is reddish. Injury no.2 is incised wound on palmar aspect of right thumb 4.5 cm x 1.0 cm x 0.3 cm deep, 10.5 cm distal from right wrist joint. Margins are clear cut, fresh blood present. Colour is reddish. Injury no.3 is complaint of pain on left side of chest posteriorly in scapula region.

28. In the opinion of doctor, injuries no. 1 and 2 were caused by some sharp edged object and simple in nature. Duration is about 1-2 hours. No opinion was given in respect of injury no.3.

29. In this view of the matter, we have before us testimony of doctor witness (PW-3) wherein he has stated that injury nos. 1 and 2 may be caused by some sharp edged weapon like sword. This injury report is Ext. Ka-2 on record. Dr. Vinod Kumar PW-3 has specifically stated on page 34 of the paper book in his examination in chief that these injuries could have caused at 10.20 on 22.10.1999 through instrumentality of sword. He has stated in his cross examination that the injured was taken to hospital by constable. He has also stated that in case there is any fall headlong on some incised weapon then these injuries can be caused. No specific challenge has been made to the point that these injuries could not have been caused around 10.20 A.M. on 22.10.1999. Timing and duration of these injuries have synchronized with the time of incident. Fresh blood was found present. Therefore, presence of at least PW-1 on the spot cannot be doubted. Two injuries one on his head and the other on his right hand thumb virtually corroborate his ocular testimony that he was given sword blow and in order to ward off the blow, he raised his right hand.

30. It is indisputable that specific testimony of doctor regarding date and time of injury being caused to Vijay Singh Negi PW-1 has not been put to challenge by the defence. In so far as above contention raised on point of absence of motive on the part of the appellant Sanjay Thapa @ Dinesh Thapa to commit any crime against Abhay Tripathi is concerned, the same loses relevance in view of eyewitness account of incident given by PW-1 and PW-2. Surendra Singh PW-2 has not shown to be inimical towards appellant and he is not interested in availing conviction of the present appellant. At this stage, motive is relegated to the background of the case and eye witness account of the incident is consistently proved, and so the incident in its entirety also stands proved, therefore, factum of absence of any motive for committing murder of Abhay Tripathi gives no advantage to the appellant.

31. We have also been persuaded to believe that the conviction of the appellant by aid of section 302/34 and 307/34 IPC is not sustainable in the eye of law. At this stage, we may observe that the commission of crime as per testimony of PW-1 culminated into death of Abhay Tripathi and injuries have been caused to Vijay Singh Negi PW-1, therefore, commission of crime and its outcome apparently establishes joint participation of both the accused on the spot and both appear to have been showing common intention to commit crime. It may even be taken to have developed on the spot.

32. It is obvious that Sanjay Thapa @ Dinesh Thapa was possessing country made pistol and he used that weapon for commission of the crime and other co-accused Kulwant Singh @ Kattha, who was possessing sword, gave sword blow to the injured Vijay Singh Negi and deceased Abhay Tripathi. Therefore, the commission of crime as a whole and entire acts reflect sharing of common intention between the accused persons. They had every intent to open assault on the complainant side which may cause extreme damage to them. The entire act, as per testimony of the prosecution witnesses on record, is established reasonably to have been done in furtherance of common intention of both the accused persons.

33. At this stage, it would be relevant to have reference to Section 34 of the Indian Penal Code which is extracted herein below:

"34. Acts done by several persons in furtherance of common intention. -When a criminal act is done by several persons in furtherance of the common intention of all, each of such persons is liable for that act in the same manner as if it were done by him alone."

34. Thus, it is obvious that act of the appellant was in furtherance of common intention of both the accused and as per mandate as contained in section 34 I.P.C., the persons participating in the commission of crime shall be liable for outcome of consequence of crime as if act was done by him alone.

35. At this juncture, we may scrutinize the post mortem examination report. Post mortem examination on the cadaver of deceased Abhay Tripathi was conducted by Dr. Ghanshyam Singh on 23.10.1999 at 1.00 a.m. As many as 9 ante mortem injuries have been noted on external examination. The post mortem examination report has been proved by Dr. Ghanshyam Singh PW-4 as Ext. Ka-3. Duration between death and timing of post mortem examination was stated to be about one day. Cause of death was stated to be shock and hemorrhage as a result of ante mortem injuries.

36. On being cross examined, PW-4 Ghanshyam Singh has testified that injury nos. 1 and 2 could have been caused from a distance of 1 to 2 ft and the same can be caused by the two fires. Except as above, no further cross examination has been done by the defence from doctor witness PW-4, whereas, it has been specifically stated in the examination in chief on page 37 of the paper book in the last line of paragraph that death could have been caused possibly at 10.20 a.m. on 22.10.1999. Therefore, factum of death of the deceased Abhay Tripathi at the relevant point of time described in the FIR and in the testimony of prosecution witnesses of fact stands corroborated in this case.

37. The argument on the point that these injuries could not have been caused in such way by headlong fall on sharp edged weapon also does not hold ground, evidence for no such factual aspect exists nor does any circumstance support it. Perusal of post mortem examination report Ext. Ka-3 reveals two gun shot injuries, whereas, injury no.3 to injury no. 9 are incised wounds of varying sizes. The testimony of doctor witness PW-4 has not been put to challenge even in the least by the defence, therefore, causing of injuries on the deceased Abhay Tripathi by both the accused persons stands proved even by medical testimony on record.

38. We have also been persuaded to believe that the first information report is ante timed and all the proceedings undertaken by the Investigating Officer were mechanically completed at the police station itself. However, we hardly find any force in the aforesaid contention, for several reasons. In so far as point of FIR being ante time is concerned, we have before us testimony of Yashpal Singh PW-6 who has proved presentation of written report by the first informant Vijay Singh Negi and contents of this written report were taken down by this witness PW-6 in the concerned check FIR no. 330 of 1999 which check FIR has been proved as Ext. Ka-4. On the basis of such entries, the case was registered at serial no.29 of the concerned G.D. dated 22.10.1999 at 11.20 A.M. at Police Station Najibabad which G.D. Entry has been proved as Ext. Ka-5. There is nothing adverse emerging from cross examination of PW-6 which may render his testimony doubtful or unreliable. Therefore, contention regarding first information report being ante timed remains a suggestion only. Moreover filing of the written report has also been proved by the cogent testimony of PW- 1 Vijay Singh Negi.

39. The various steps taken by the Investigating Officer Sunder Lal Kanaujiya P.W. 7 has been proved. He has proved preparation of inquest report as Ext. Ka-6 which commenced at 2.45 P.M. and completed at 3.35 P.M. Similarly, the Investigating Officer also collected simple and blood stained soil from the place of occurrence on 22.10.1999 itself and prepared memo of the same as Ext. Ka-13. Therefore, the place of occurrence has also been proved and things have taken itself in due sequence and it cannot be said that sequence of incident was tried to be adjusted in any manner by the concerned police personnel. Moreover, the Investigating Officer has also proved site plan of place of occurrence as Ext. Ka-12.

40. The contention has been raised by the appellant's counsel that the dead body of Abhay Tripathi was kept on the southern side of canal, whereas, as per testimony of PW-1 and PW-2, the accused persons threw away the dead body into canal. In this context, we may take recourse to testimony of another Investigating Officer Sunderlal Kanaujiya PW-7, he categorically stated in his cross examination on page 44 of the paper book that the canal was full of water and the dead body was taken out by the villagers prior to his arrival on the spot, where the dead body of Abhay Tripathi was placed by the side of canal. We notice that this piece of testimony has not been put to any challenge by the defence which specific testimony remains intact and unimpeachable under prevailing circumstances.

41. The Investigating Officer Sunderlal Kanaujiya PW-7 has also prepared site plan of the place of recovery of dead body by the side of canal which place has been marked by word 'B' has been shown to be placed moored in water and place 'A' marked in the map shows the place where the dead body was placed after it was taken out of canal. It is obvious that PW-1 and PW-2 did not pursue the assailants/accused persons when they drew away jeep No. U.P. 21-A-6899 wherein they had placed the dead body of Abhay Tripathi, but it is very much obvious that the first information report contains details of fact that after commission of crime, accused persons placed Abhay Tripathi in side the jeep and thereafter threw away his body into canal and this specific description of first information report has been proved by both the witnesses in their ocular testimony as PW-1 and PW-2. This particular piece of testimony of the prosecution witnesses that the dead body was taken by the jeep upto the canal has not been put to any serious challenge by the defence.

41A. We also could not come across any such piece of testimony or any adverse circumstance which may throw any doubt on otherwise innocuous, clinching and consistent testimony of two witnesses of fact PW-1 and PW-2 respectively. It is correct that certain minor discrepancies in the statement of the prosecution witnesses have emerged but point for consideration is whether these discrepancies occurred substantially and hit at the root of the prosecution story or that they are trivial in nature which have capacity to take away from the point of commission of the offence. The minor discrepancies appearing in the testimony of prosecution witnesses do not extend any advantage to the appellant. It is cardinal principle of criminal law that the testimony of prosecution witnesses, if found to be clinching and upto the mark and proves consistently the case of the prosecution substantially and remains unimpeachable, which by careful scrutiny is found to be carrying high probity value then such testimony would inspire confidence for establishing guilt of the accused.

42. By perusal of the statement of the accused Sanjay Thapa @ Dinesh Thapa recorded under section 313 Cr.P.C., we do not come across any conspicuous reason explained as a factor for false implication of the appellant except one that he being friend Kulwant Singh @ Kattha, therefore, he was involved in this case. But the point based on reason guides us to observe here that the first informant side has no extraneous reason to rope in, the appellant deliberately in this case and sparing the real culprit. He has merely stated that he was not present on the spot at the time of occurrence but the point is that he could not describe about his presence elsewhere. Also we could not gather from facts and circumstances the claim of appellant that he was not present at the time of occurrence on the spot. Therefore, the plea of alibi taken by the appellant is of no advantage to him.

43. In view of above discussion, the prosecution has been able to establish reasonably guilt of the accused under charges brought against him and the prosecution has proved its case beyond reasonable doubt.

44. Learned trial court while appraising the evidence on record and marshaling facts considered every aspect of the case and has recorded just finding of conviction against the appellant and has imposed proper sentence under section 302/34 and 307/34 against him which warrants no interference by us in instant appeal. We uphold the judgment and order of conviction dated 04.12.2003 passed by the Additional Sessions Judge, Court No.6, Bijnor in Sessions Trial No.423 of 2000 arising out of Case Crime No.770 of 1999 under section 302/34, 307/34 and 201 IPC, Police Station Najibabad, District Bijnor.

45. In the result, the instant appeal being devoid of merit is dismissed. In this case, appellant Sanjay Thapa @ Dinesh Thapa is in jail. He shall serve out his remaining sentence imposed upon him by the trial court.

46. Let a copy of this judgment/order be certified to the court concerned for necessary information and follow up action.

Union of India* not applicable — Supreme Court in *General Manager, Northern Railway Vs. PROCEDURE:
Petition under Article 226 of the Constitution of India filed against judgment and order dated 13.10.1998 passed by Central Administrative Tribunal, Allahabad in O.A. No. 1843 of 1998 whereby Tribunal directed protection of pay of respondent in Group-C scale after his regularization in Group-D post.

ISSUE:
Whether an employee absorbed and regularized in Group-D is entitled to protection of pay of Group-C post on the ground that he had earlier worked on Group-C post for certain period.

NOTICE:
Court considered the applicability of judgments in Ram Kumar Vs. Union of India and Union of India Vs. Motilal in light of later judgment of Supreme Court in General Manager, Northern Railway Vs. Jageshwar (Civil Appeal No. 6413 of 2002 decided on 01.04.2009).

CONCLUSION:
Direction of Tribunal granting protection of pay of respondent in Group-C scale (Rs. 950-1500) despite regularization in Group-D held unsustainable and set aside. However, excess amount already paid shall not be recovered as there was no fraud or misrepresentation on part of employee. Petitioners permitted to refix pay prospectively.
Writ petition partly allowed. No costs.

Hon'ble Dr. Kaushal Jayendra Thaker, J.)

1. Heard Sri Prashant Mathur, learned counsel for the petitioners and Sri Ali Hasan, Advocate for respondent-Shyam Sunder Sharma.

2. This writ petition under Article 226 of the Constitution of India has come up against judgment and order dated 13.10.1998 passed by Central Administrative Tribunal, Allahabad (hereinafter referred to as the "Tribunal") in Original Application No. 1843 of 1998, whereby referring to judgment of Supreme Court in Ram Kumar and others Vs. Union of India and others, 1987 SCALE (2) 1192 Tribunal has directed petitioners to protect pay of respondent-Shyam Sunder Sharma in Group-C which he was getting before his absorption and regularization in Group-D.

3. Sri Prashant Mathur, learned counsel for petitioners, has objected to this part of judgment whereby it has directed petitioners to protect pay of respondent-Shyam Sunder Sharma in pay scale of Rs. 950-1500 which was applicable to Group-C though respondent-Shyam Sunder Sharma was screened and regularized in Group-D. It is submitted that judgment in Ram Kumar (supra) has no application to the facts this case and on the contrary in General Manager, Northern Railway and others Vs. Jageshwar and others (Civil Appeal No. 6413 of 2002), decided on 01.04.2009 Supreme Court has clearly said, when a casual employee is regularized in Group-D, mere fact that for some time he has worked on a post in Group-C, his pay cannot be protected in higher scale for the reason that in Railway, Group-C post are liable to be filled in only by promotion. Therein Tribunal has followed Supreme Court's judgment in Union of India Vs. Motilal, 1996(7) SCC 481 but Court in its judgment dated 01.04.2009 in General Manager, Northern Railway and others Vs. Jageshwar (supra) said that judgment in Union of India Vs. Motilal (supra) has no application. In paras 3, 4 and 5 Court held:

"3. Motilal (supra) has no application. In that case, respondents were directly appointed as casual mates in Class III, though the post of made was an exclusive promotion post. They were regularized in a lower post. The Tribunal directed that they should be regularized as 'mates'.This Court held that respondents were not entitled to be regularized in Group III posts. But having regard to their long service of 22 to 25 years, this Court in exercise of powers under Article 142 left their regularization as mates undisturbed making it clear that the direction should not be treated as precedent.

4. This Court in Motilal case (supra) did not lay down any proposition that when an employee is absorbed in a different organization, his previous pay should be protected. Absorption in Railways was not in pursuance of any legal right*. To avoid hardship to the employees of the construction organization on humanitarian grounds, the Railways chose to consider the surplus labour of that organization for absorption after screening them.* When being so screened and absorbed, an employee cannot counted that he should be absorbed in a post equivalent to a post he was holding in the previous organization nor could the Tribunal or High Court direct that his pay should be protected.

5. In view of the above, the appeal is allowed, the orders of the High Court and Tribunal are set aside and as a consequence the original application is dismissed."

4. When confronted, Sri Ali Hasan, learned counsel appearing for respondent, could not dispute this fact and also could not show anything from judgment in Ram Kumar (supra) that said judgment was applicable in the case in hand. In these facts and circumstances, direction of Tribunal to petitioners to protect pay of respondent in pay scale of Group-C till he gets promotion in Group-C cannot be sustained and to this extent impugned judgment dated 13.10.1998 is hereby set aside.

5. However, we may also providethat whatever amount already paid to respondent shall not be recovered by petitioners under this order but they will be at liberty for re-fixation of pay and other benefits which shall be applicable prospectively. We reiterate that excess amount, if any, already paid to respondent shall not be recovered for the reason that there is no fraud or misrepresentation on his part and it would be unjust now to allow petitioners to recover amount already paid after more than one and half decades.

6. Subject to aforesaid clarification and direction the writ petition is partly allowed.

7. No costs.

Counsel for Petitioners:

Counsel for Respondents:
Govt. Advocate

PROCEDURE:
Petition under Article 226 of the Constitution of India was filed seeking issuance of a writ of certiorari for quashing FIR/Case Crime No.118 of 2016 under Sections 363 and 366 IPC, Police Station Bangarmau, District Unnao.
During pendency, interim protection was granted and further investigation was directed by the Superintendent of Police. A short counter affidavit was filed indicating that in further investigation, no offence was made out. The prosecutrix's statements under Sections 161 and 164 Cr.P.C., along with medical evidence, were placed on record.

ISSUES:
Whether ingredients of offences under Sections 363 and 366 IPC are made out when the prosecutrix voluntarily leaves her parental home and marries the accused.
Whether criminal proceedings can be quashed under Article 226/Section 482 Cr.P.C. when the material on record clearly negates the allegations in the FIR.
Whether continuation of prosecution in such circumstances amounts to abuse of process of law.

CITATIONS:
Shaheen Parveen vs. State of U.P. & Ors., W.P. No.3519 (M/B) of 2015
S. Varadarajan vs. State of Madras, (1965) 1 SCR 243
Rajiv Thapar vs. Madan Lal Kapoor, (2013) 3 SCC 330
State of Haryana vs. Bhajan Lal, AIR 1992 SC 604

Headnotes:
The prosecutrix was found to be major (19 years) as per medical evidence and consistently stated in her statements under Section 164 Cr.P.C. that she had voluntarily left her home and married petitioner no.2.
Essential ingredients of Sections 363 and 366 IPC, namely kidnapping, inducement, or coercion, were not satisfied.

Where a girl of the age of discretion voluntarily accompanies the accused without inducement or force, no offence of kidnapping is made out, even if parental consent is absent.
The material on record was of sterling and unimpeachable quality, clearly displacing the allegations in the FIR, satisfying the test laid down in Rajiv Thapar.
The case squarely falls within the categories laid down in Bhajan Lal, particularly where allegations do not disclose any offence and proceedings are maliciously instituted due to personal grudge.
Continuation of proceedings would be an exercise in futility and an abuse of process of law, especially when the prosecutrix herself does not support the prosecution case.
Accordingly, the writ petition was allowed, and FIR/Case Crime No.118 of 2016 along with all consequential proceedings were quashed.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Ravindra Nath Mishra-II, J.)

1. This petition seeks issuance of a writ in the nature of certiorari quashing F.I.R./Case Crime No.118 of 2016, under Sections 363, 366 I.P.C., Police Station Bangarmau, District Unnao (Annexure No.1).

2. Short counter affidavit has been filed on behalf of the investigating agency in deference to order dated 8.8.2016. Order dated 8.8.2016 reads as under :-

"1. This petition seeks issuance of a writ in the nature of certiorari quashing Case Crime No.118/2016 under Sections 363, 366 I.P.C., P.S.Bangarmau, district Unnao (Annexure-1).

2. Learned counsel appearing for the petitioners has argued that petitioner No.1 willingly got married to petitioner No.2. The marriage has not been accepted by respondent No.4, therefore, the petitioners were being tormented. The petitioners approached this Court by way of filing Writ Petition No.9791(M/B) of 2016 Smt. Basanti and another versus State of U.P. and others to seek protection. Order in that regard has been placed on record as Annexure-3 dated 5.5.2016.

3. It has been pleaded that in abuse of process of the law and process of the Court, impugned proceedings have been initiated. In the course of investigation, petitioner No.1 has been found to be nineteen years as per her medical examination. In the statement given by petitioner No.1 under Section 164 CrPC (Annexure-5), it has been made evident that petitioner No.1 was not kidnapped; rather got married to the accused.

4. It has been pleaded by learned counsel for the petitioners that the case is squarely covered by judgment dated 23.7.2015, rendered by a Division Bench of this Court in Writ Petition No.3519(M/B) of 2015 Shaheen Parveen and another versus State of U.P. and others.

5. In Shaheen Parveen's case (supra), the following (relevant portion) has been held :

"6. Petitioner no.-2 is accused of committing an offence under Sections 363/366 of the Indian Penal Code.

7. Section 363 of the Indian Penal Code inheres that whoever kidnaps any person from lawful guardianship shall be punished in terms of sentence provided in the provision.

8. "Kidnapping from lawful guardianship" has been defined under Section 361 of the Indian Penal Code. The provision when extracted reads as under:-

*"Whoever takes or entices any minor under [sixteen] years of age if a male, or under [eighteen] years of age if a female, or any person of unsound mind, out of the keeping of the lawful guardian of such minor or person of unsound mind, without the consent of such guardian, is said to kidnap such minor or person from lawful guardianship.

Explanation: - The words "lawful guardian" in this section include any person lawfully entrusted with the care or custody of such minor or other person.

Exception: - This section does not extend to the act of any person who in good faith believes himself to be the father of an illegitimate child, or who in good faith believes himself to be entitled to the lawful custody of such child, unless such act is committed for an immoral or unlawful purpose."

9. Section 366 of the Indian Penal Code inheres that whoever kidnaps or abducts any woman with intent that she may be compelled, or knowing it to be likely that she will be compelled to marry any person against her will, or in order that she may be forced or seduced to illicit intercourse, shall be punished with a sentence, as provided in the provision.

10. At the time of considering whether on admitting the allegations made in the F.I.R., offence has been committed or not, the ingredients of the offence are required to be considered, in context of the evidence collected during the course of investigation.

11. In the peculiar facts and circumstances of this case, the Court has minutely examined the facts that have emerged on investigation of the case.

14. The Investigating Agency is concluding that at the point in time when the victim left in the company of the accused, she was a few months less than 18 years, which is the relevant age mentioned in Section 361 of the Indian Penal Code, above extracted. Clearly, the Investigating Agency is taking a hypertechnical view of the issue. The other relevant facts and circumstances of the case are being ignored.

15. The issue whether the victim was kidnapped or abducted is required to be examined in context of the statement of the prosecutrix recorded under Section 164 Cr.P.C.

16. If the statement of the prosecutrix, above noted, is taken into account, it becomes evident that ingredients of the offence under Sections 363/366 of the Indian Penal Code in regard to coercion, kidnapping or abduction allegedly committed by Sarfaraj, are not satisfied. The provisions of Section 363 of the Indian Penal Code are required to be considered in context of provisions of Section 361 of the Indian Penal Code. So as to satisfy the ingredients of Section 361 of the Indian Penal Code, it has to be established by the prosecuting agency that the accused/sarfaraj took or enticed the prosecutrix out of the keeping of the lawful guardian of the prosecutrix, without the consent of the guardian/respondent no. 4. In the case in hand, it is the case of the prosecutrix herself that she of her free will went with Sarfaraj, lived with him, wants to live with him and is expecting his child. Element of coercion and enticement by Sarfaraj is absent, although consent of the guardian had not been taken.

17. The writ court, being a court of equity, must take into consideration all relevant factors brought before it to deliver substantial justice. Equity justifies bending the rules, where fair play is not violated, with a view to promote substantial justice. A writ court cannot contemplate any limitation on its power to deliver substantial justice. It has to be ensured that a consumer of justice gets complete justice, instead of going into the nicety of law. Under the circumstances, the court cannot be a mere onlooker if injustice is likely to be caused.

18. Petitioner No.1 the victim/prosecutrix would be the best witness, rather the only witness of commission of offence under Sections 363/366 I.P.C. Surely, the victim will not support the prosecution case, as has been made evident by her in her statement, recorded in the course of investigation under Section 164 Cr.P.C., and therefore the trial would result in acquittal. During course of trial, considerable number of man hours would be wasted in prosecution/ defending and judging the case. No useful purpose would be served and the entire exercise of trial would be in futility because the victim has declared that she was not victimised or kidnapped.

19. The facts that have emerged from the record make it evident that the impugned criminal proceedings have been initiated because mother of the Prosecutrix/victim (respondent no.-4) has not accepted the marriage of her daughter with petitioner No.2.

20. In case, despite the evidence that has come on record, as noted above, proceedings are not quashed, petitioner no.-2 would be required to face criminal charges and undergo the agony of a trial.

21. We have also taken into account the fact that in case the petitioner No.2 is allowed to be prosecuted, the matrimonial life of petitioner No.1/the alleged victim would be disrupted. Her husband would be incarcerated and there would be no one to take care of her child, who is yet-to-be-born.

22. If a minor, of her own, abandons the guardianship of her parents and joins a boy without any role having been played by the boy in her abandoning the guardianship of her parents and without her having been subjected to any kind of pressure, inducement, etc and without any offer or promise from the accused, no offence punishable under Section 363 I.P.C. will be made out when the girl is aged more than 17 years and is mature enough to understand what she is doing. Of course, if the accused induces or allures the girl and that influences the minor in leaving her guardian's custody and the keeping and going with the accused, then it would be difficult for the Court to accept that minor had voluntarily come to the accused. In case the victim/ prosecutrix willingly, of her own accord, accompanies the boy, the law does not cast a duty on the boy of taking her back to her father's house or even of telling her not to accompany him.

23. A girl who has attained the age of discretion and was on the verge of attaining majority and is capable of knowing what was good and what was bad for her, cannot be said to be a victim of inducement, particularly when the case of the victim/girl herself is that it was on her initiative and on account of her voluntary act that she had gone with the boy and got married to him. In such circumstances, desire of the girl/victim is required to be seen. Ingredients of Section 361 I.P.C. are required to be considered accordingly, and not in mechanical or technical interpretation.

24. Ingredients of Section 361 I.P.C. cannot be said to be satisfied in a case where the minor having attained age of discretion, alleged to have been taken by the accused person, left her guardian's protection knowingly (having capacity to know the full import of what she was doing) and voluntarily joins the accused person. In such a case, it cannot be said that the victim had been taken away from the keeping of her lawful guardian.

25. So as to show an act of criminality on the part of the accused, some kind of inducement held out by the accused person or an active participation by him in the formation of the intention of the minor to leave the house of the guardian, is required to be shown. Conclusion might be different in case evidence is collected by the investigating agency to establish that though immediately prior to the minor leaving the guardian's protection, no active part was played by the accused, he had at some earlier stage solicited or persuaded the minor to do so. (The Court in above regards takes a cue from the judgment rendered by Hon'ble Supreme Court of India reported in (1965)1 SCR 243 S. Varadarajan versus State of Madras).

26. When the above noted situation is considered in context of the facts and circumstances of the present case, it would become evident that the victim (petitioner No.1) was a few months short of attaining age of 18 years. The said petitioner had attained age of discretion, however, not age of majority. Petitioner No.1, the victim in her statement recorded under Section 164 CrPC has clearly demonstrated that it was she who went of her free will and accord on 10.2.2014 with Mohd. Sarfaraj, without any coercion, and stayed with him, and got married to him willingly. It is a consensual act on the part of petitioner No.1 all through. Such clear stand of the victim makes it evident that Mohd. Sarfaraj respondent No.2 cannot be attributed with coercing petitioner No.1, inducing petitioner No.1 or kidnapping or abducting her in commission of offence, as alleged. Surely, a girl who has attained an age more than 17 years and who is already carrying pregnancy cannot be stated to have not attained age of discretion. In such circumstances, a technicality in law would not be attracted. The Court has not been shown any material which would indicate coercion, inducement or forceful act on the part of Sarfaraj (petitioner No.2) so as to conclude that offence has been committed by him.

27. The writ Court considering totality of fact and circumstances, cannot ignore or disregard the welfare of the petitioners, particularly when the exercise of trial is going to be in futility, as observed hereinabove.

28. In view of the facts and circumstances of the case noted above, the Court is convinced that the impugned proceedings have been initiated in abuse of process of the Court and process of the law. A personal grudge against marriage of choice of the daughter is being settled by virtue of initiating impugned criminal proceedings, which would not be permissible in law. Such prosecution would abrogate constitutional right vested in the petitioners to get married as per their discretion, particularly when there is no evidence to indicate that the marriage is void.

30. In view of above, petitioner No.2 cannot be said to have committed offence either under Section 363 I.P.C. read with Section 361 I.P.C. or under Section 366 I.P.C.

31. In the above noted facts and circumstances, we are of the view that ends of justice would be served if the petition is allowed."

6. Issue notice to serve respondent No.4, returnable on 16.9.2016.

7. Learned counsel for the State, in view of the medical evidence and statement of prosecutrix recorded under Section 164 CrPC has not been able to dispute that the case would be covered by Shaheen Parveen's case (supra).

8. We direct Superintendent of Police, Unnao to take notice of the facts and circumstances, review the entire investigation conducted till date and if necessary get the matter further investigated in the light of Shaheen Parveen's case (supra) and file his affidavit as to under what circumstances, despite no evidence of kidnapping having come on record, the petitioners are proceeded against.

9. Till the next date of listing, petitioners shall not be taken in custody.

10. Further proceedings shall remain stayed, till the next date of listing.

11. List on 16.9.2016."

3. In deference to contents of paragraph 8 of the order above extracted, it appears that Superintendent of Police, Unnao directed further investigation as is evident from the order passed by Superintendent of Police, Unnao placed on record as Annexure Nos.SCA-5 appended with the short counter affidavit. It appears that further investigation has been conducted. The relevant evidences have been placed on record. The evidences available on record have been reviewed.

4. Allegedly, the accused committed offence under Sections 363 and 366 I.P.C. Ingredients of Sections 363 and 366 I.P.C. have been considered by this Court in judgement dated 23.7.2015, rendered by a Division Bench of this Court in Writ Petition No.3519 (M/B) of 2015 : Shaheen Parveen and another Vs. State of U.P. And others. The following is the relevant portion :-

"7. Section 363 of the Indian Penal Code inheres that whoever kidnaps any person from lawful guardianship shall be punished in terms of sentence provided in the provision.

8. "Kidnapping from lawful guardianship" has been defined under Section 361 of the Indian Penal Code. The provision when extracted reads as under:-

*"Whoever takes or entices any minor under [sixteen] years of age if a male, or under [eighteen] years of age if a female, or any person of unsound mind, out of the keeping of the lawful guardian of such minor or person of unsound mind, without the consent of such guardian, is said to kidnap such minor or person from lawful guardianship.

Explanation: - The words "lawful guardian" in this section include any person lawfully entrusted with the care or custody of such minor or other person.

Exception: - This section does not extend to the act of any person who in good faith believes himself to be the father of an illegitimate child, or who in good faith believes himself to be entitled to the lawful custody of such child, unless such act is committed for an immoral or unlawful purpose."

9. Section 366 of the Indian Penal Code inheres that whoever kidnaps or abducts any woman with intent that she may be compelled, or knowing it to be likely that she will be compelled to marry any person against her will, or in order that she may be forced or seduced to illicit intercourse, shall be punished with a sentence, as provided in the provision.

10. At the time of considering whether on admitting the allegations made in the F.I.R., offence has been committed or not, the ingredients of the offence are required to be considered, in context of the evidence collected during the course of investigation.

22. If a minor, of her own, abandons the guardianship of her parents and joins a boy without any role having been played by the boy in her abandoning the guardianship of her parents and without her having been subjected to any kind of pressure, inducement, etc and without any offer or promise from the accused, no offence punishable under Section 363 I.P.C. will be made out when the girl is aged more than 17 years and is mature enough to understand what she is doing. 23. A girl who has attained the age of discretion and was on the verge of attaining majority and is capable of knowing what was good and what was bad for her, cannot be said to be a victim of inducement, particularly when the case of the victim/girl herself is that it was on her initiative and on account of her voluntary act that she had gone with the boy and got married to him. In such circumstances, desire of the girl/victim is required to be seen. Ingredients of Section 361 I.P.C. are required to be considered accordingly, and not in mechanical or technical interpretation.

24. Ingredients of Section 361 I.P.C. cannot be said to be satisfied in a case where the minor having attained age of discretion, alleged to have been taken by the accused person, left her guardian's protection knowingly (having capacity to know the full import of what she was doing) and voluntarily joins the accused person. (The Court in above regards takes a cue from the judgment rendered by Hon'ble Supreme Court of India reported in (1965)1 SCR 243 S. Varadarajan versus State of Madras)."

5. The petition has been filed on the strength of the pleadings that petitioner no.1, who is daughter of respondent no.4 fell in love with petitioner no.2 and wanted to marry him. Respondent no.4 was not ready to accept the marital arrangement, rather no.4 threatened the petitioners by saying that if petitioner no.1 did not break the relationship with petitioner no.2, they would be killed.

6. Petitioner no.1 did not relent and left the house of the complainant/the parental house and eloped with petitioner no.2 of her free will for solemnising the marriage. Marriage was solemnised on 26.4.2016. In evidence of the fact that they are married, document Annexure No.2 has been placed on record.

7. In view of the fact that the petitioners felt threatened from the family of petitioner no.1, the petitioners approached this Court by way of filing a joint petition vide Writ Petition No.9791 (M/B) of 2016 : Smt. Basanti and another Vs. State of U.P. and others. The plea taken by the petitioners in the said petition, appears to be to the effect that the petitioners have attained age of majority and have married of their free will, however, members of their families are not accepting the marriage and under the pressure of the family members, police are harassing them. This court vide order dated 5.5.2016 directed the respondents not to interfere in the peaceful matrimonial life of the petitioners, unless criminal proceedings are initiated.

8. De hors the repeated stand of petitioner no.1, impugned proceedings were initiated at the instance of respondent no.4 vide impugned F.I.R. with the allegation that petitioner no.1 is 16 years of age and had been enticed/induced by petitioner no.2 to go with him.

9. After registration of the impugned F.I.R., the petitioners have approached this Court for quashing of the F.I.R.

10. Petitioner no.1, Basanti has filed her affidavit in endorsement of the facts pleaded in the writ petition. Petitioner no.1 Basanti is the prosecutrix and the victim of offence, allegedly the kidnappee. By virtue of this petition, Basanti has again reiterated her stand that she had not been enticed or induced by petitioner no.2, rather she willingly got married to petitioner no.2. The age given by petitioner no.1 in the affidavit is 20 years.

11. Alongwith the petition, the petitioners have placed on record medical examination report of petitioner no.1, according to which petitioner no.1, the prosecutrix, has been found to be 19 years of age. The petitioners have also filed statement given by petitioner no.1 in the course of investigation under Section 164 Cr.P.C. As per the statement, the prosecutrix/the alleged kidnappee has stated that her marriage was scheduled with Nar Singh. They were both in love with each other, however, her parents refused to get them married and therefore she left her parental home of her free will. Nar Singh met her near Kali Mitti and both got married in a Mandir and have been living as husband and wife. Petitioner no.1 has clearly stated that she got married to petitioner no.2 of her free will after running away from her house.

12. Perusal of the counter affidavit indicates that the investigation has been conducted in context of age of the prosecutrix so as to consider whether offence under Section 363 I.P.C. has been committed or not. The fact that petitioner no.1 has attained age of majority, has been endorsed by the investigating agency while relying on medical certificate, Annexure No.SCA-3. Age of petitioner no.1 has been found to be 19 years.

13. So as to consider whether petitioner no.1 had been kidnapped or not, statements of the prosecutrix have been recorded under Section 161 Cr.P.C. as also under Section 164 Cr.P.C. Both the statements have been placed on record as Annexure No.SCA-1 and 2. Investigating agency has concluded in further investigation that petitioner no.1 had not been kidnapped.

14. It has been stated in the counter affidavit in paragraph 15 that although the investigating officer proposes to file a police report in terms of judgement rendered in Smt. Shaheen Parveen's case (supra), however, the court below refused to return the chargesheet. In paragraph 16 of the affidavit, it has specifically been stated that the chargesheet which had earlier been filed needs to be cancelled, however, only photo copy of the chargesheet has been returned by the court concerned and there is a legal impediment in finalising the final report.

15. We have taken note of the law as declared by the Hon'ble Supreme Court of India in Rajiv Thapar and others versus Madan Lal Kapoor : (2013)3 SCC 330. In the said judgement, the following has been held in the relevant portion :-

"29. The issue being examined in the instant case is the jurisdiction of the High Court under Section 482 of the Cr.P.C., if it chooses to quash the initiation of the prosecution against an accused, at the stage of issuing process, or at the stage of committal, or even at the stage of framing of charges. These are all stages before the commencement of the actual trial. The same parameters would naturally be available for later stages as well. The power vested in the High Court under Section 482 of the Cr.P.C., at the stages referred to hereinabove, would have far reaching consequences, inasmuch as, it would negate the prosecutions/ complainants case without allowing the prosecution/ complainant to lead evidence. Such a determination must always be rendered with caution, care and circumspection. To invoke its inherent jurisdiction under Section 482 of the Cr.P.C. the High Court has to be fully satisfied, that the material produced by the accused is such, that would lead to the conclusion, that his/their defence is based on sound, reasonable, and indubitable facts; the material produced is such, as would rule out and displace the assertions contained in the charges levelled against the accused; and the material produced is such, as would clearly reject and overrule the veracity of the allegations contained in the accusations levelled by the prosecution/ complainant. It should be sufficient to rule out, reject and discard the accusations levelled by the prosecution/ complainant, without the necessity of recording any evidence. For this the material relied upon by the defence should not have been refuted, or alternatively, cannot be justifiably refuted, being material of sterling and impeccable quality. The material relied upon by the accused should be such, as would persuade a reasonable person to dismiss and condemn the actual basis of the accusations as false. In such a situation, the judicial conscience of the High Court would persuade it to exercise its power under Section 482 of the Cr.P.C. to quash such criminal proceedings, for that would prevent abuse of process of the court, and secure the ends of justice.

30. Based on the factors canvassed in the foregoing paragraphs, we would delineate the following steps to determine the veracity of a prayer for quashing, raised by an accused by invoking the power vested in the High Court under Section 482 of the Cr.P.C.:-

(i) Step one, whether the material relied upon by the accused is sound, reasonable, and indubitable, i.e., the material is of sterling and impeccable quality?

(ii) Step two, whether the material relied upon by the accused, would rule out the assertions contained in the charges levelled against the accused, i.e., the material is sufficient to reject and overrule the factual assertions contained in the complaint, i.e., the material is such, as would persuade a reasonable person to dismiss and condemn the factual basis of the accusations as false.

(iii) Step three, whether the material relied upon by the accused, has not been refuted by the prosecution/ complainant; and/or the material is such, that it cannot be justifiably refuted by the prosecution/complainant?

(iv) Step four, whether proceeding with the trial would result in an abuse of process of the court, and would not serve the ends of justice?

If the answer to all the steps is in the affirmative, judicial conscience of the High Court should persuade it to quash such criminal proceedings, in exercise of power vested in it under Section 482 of the Cr.P.C. Such exercise of power, besides doing justice to the accused, would save precious court time, which would otherwise be wasted in holding such a trial (as well as, proceedings arising therefrom) specially when, it is clear that the same would not conclude in the conviction of the accused."

38. We are persuaded to conclude from the facts and circumstances of the case exhaustively discussed in the foregoing paragraphs, that all the steps delineated in the paragraph 23 above, can be answered in the affirmative, on the basis of the material relied by the accused, more particularly, the post-mortem examination report dated 28.9.1992 conducted by a Medical Board comprising of four doctors, whose integrity has not been questioned by the respondent-complainant; the chemical analysis findings contained in the Central Forensic Science Laboratorys report dated 9.2.1993 which has not been disputed by the respondent-complainant; the inquest report of the SDM, Delhi, dated 6.7.1993, findings whereof have been painstakingly recorded by involving the respondent-complainant; the letter of Rajiv Kapoor (the brother of the deceased) dated 22.9.1992 addressed to Dr. Monica Thapar just four days before her death, the contents and authenticity whereof are not subject matter of challenge at the hands of the respondent-complainant; and finally, the telephone bills produced by the appellants-accused substantiating consistent and regular contact between the rival families, which have not been questioned. We, therefore, have no hesitation in concluding, that the judicial conscience of the High Court ought to have persuaded it, on the basis of the material examined by it, to quash the criminal proceedings initiated against the appellants-accused. We, therefore, hereby quash the aforesaid proceedings.

39. Despite the conclusion recorded hereinabove, we are of the view, that in the facts and circumstances of this case, there should have been no difficulty whatsoever for the High Court to have exercised its judicial conscience for invoking the power vested in it under Section 482 of the Cr.P.C. From the narration of the facts recorded above, it emerges, that even though the respondent-complainant Madan Lal Kapoor, in his complaint dated 6.7.1993, adopted a clear and categoric stance, that his daughter Dr. Monica Thapar had been poisoned to death, before the Additional Sessions Judge, Delhi, the respondent-complainant ventured to suggest, that the appellants-accused had strangulated her. The Additional Sessions Judge, Delhi, summoned two of the doctors who were members of the Medical Board which had conducted the post-mortem examination, and sought clarifications from them. He also recorded the statement of one of the said doctors. The Additional Sessions Judge, thereupon, ruled out the plea of strangulation. When the respondent-complainant himself was uncertain about the manner in which his daughter had allegedly died, the High Court should have viewed the matter keeping in mind the likelihood of the hurt caused to a father who had lost his daughter within one year of her marriage. The matter needed to have been evaluated, on the basis of one of the parameters laid down in State of Haryana & Ors. Vs. Bhajan Lal & Ors., 1992 Supp. (1) SCC 335, namely, whether the criminal proceedings initiated by Madan Lal Kapoor (the respondent-complainant) were actuated by malice and ulterior motive for wreaking vengeance on the accused with a view to spite him due to some private/personal grudge.

40. There is yet another reason emerging from the facts of the case which needed to be kept in mind. Madan Lal Kapoor (the respondent-complainant) had continued to represent before the SDM, Delhi, that he would produce the mother of the deceased, who knew the facts best of all. Despite that, the mother of the deceased did not appear in the inquest proceedings to record her statement, even though a number of opportunities were afforded to the respondent-complainant to produce her. The permissible inference is that he was himself not privy to the facts. The fact that the mother of the deceased had not appeared to record a statement against the appellants-accused has to have some reason/justification. Would a mother who believes that her daughter had been poisoned/strangulated, restrain herself from recording her statement, despite the persuasion of her husband? Probably not. The instant factual position has been recorded hereinabove, not for the sake of determination of the present controversy. In a factual situation not as clear as the one in hand, facts such as these, could be taken into consideration by a High Court for recording its satisfaction, on the parameters formulated above.

41. For the reasons recorded hereinabove, criminal proceedings against the appellants-accused are hereby set aside. The order of the High Court is accordingly also set aside, but on grounds different from those taken into consideration by the High Court. The instant appeal, accordingly succeeds."

(Emphasised by us)

16. A perusal of the above extracted portion of the judgement would indicate that the High Court can invoke jurisdiction to quash proceedings at the stage of issuing process, or at the stage of committal, or even at the stage of framing of charges. These are all stages before the commencement of the actual trial. The same parameters would naturally be available for later stages as well. The power vested in the High Court under Section 482 Cr.P.C. at the stages referred to hereinabove, would have far reaching consequences inasmuch as, it would negate the prosecutions/complainants case, without allowing the prosecution/ complainant to lead evidence.

17. Under the circumstances, we are of the considered opinion that there is no impediment of stage of proceedings at which the High Court can interfere and consider quashing of proceedings if it would prevent abuse of the process of the law and process of the court, and secure the ends of justice.

18. Perusal of the above extracted portion of the judgement rendered in Rajiv Thaper's case (supra) would also indicate that the High Court can take into account the material produced by the accused in his/their defence. The material should be based on sound, reasonable and indubitable facts ; the material should be such as would rule out and displace the assertions contained in the charges levelled against the accused ; the material such as would disprove and overrule the veracity of the allegations contained in the accusations levelled by the prosecution/ complainant.

19. In the case in hand, the relevant evidences have already been collected as noticed above. The plea of kidnappee herself is that she has not been kidnapped. Under the circumstances, we have no hesitation in holding that case of the petitioners is covered by judgement rendered by the Hon'ble Supreme Court of India in State of Haryana and others versus Ch. Bhajan Lal and others AIR 1992 SC 604. The Hon'ble Supreme Court of India in the said judgement has laid down certain conditions that may be considered by the court for quashing the criminal proceedings. The following has been held in Para 108 :

"108. In the backdrop of the interpretation of the various relevant provisions of the Code under Chapter XIV and of the principles of law enunciated by this Court in a series of decisions relating to the exercise of the extraordinary power under Article 226 or the inherent powers under Section 482 of the Code which we have extracted and reproduced above, we give the following categories of cases by way of illustration wherein such power could be exercised either to prevent abuse of the process of any court or otherwise to secure the ends of justice, though it may not be possible to lay down any precise, clearly defined and sufficiently channelised and inflexible guidelines or rigid formulae and to give an exhaustive list of myriad kinds of cases wherein such powers should be exercised.

1. Where the allegations made in the First Information Report or the complaint, even if they are taken at their face value and accepted in their entirety do not prima facie constitute any offence or make out a case against the accused.

2. Where the allegations in the First Information Report and other materials, if any, accompanying the F.I.R. do not disclose a cognizable offence, justifying an investigation by police officers under Section 156(1) of the Code except under an order of a Magistrate within the purview of Section 155(2) of the Code.

3. Where the uncontroverted allegations made in the FIR or complaint and the evidence collected in support of the same do not disclose the commission of any offence and make out a case against the accused.

4. Where, the allegations in the F.I.R. do not constitute a cognizable offence but constitute only a non-cognizable offence, no investigation is permitted by a police officer without an order of a Magistrate as contemplated under Section 155(2) of the Code.

5. Where the allegations made in the FIR or complaint are so absurd and inherently improbable on the basis of which no prudent person can ever reach a just conclusion that there is sufficient ground for proceeding against the accused.

6. Where there is an express legal bar engrafted in any of the provisions of the Code or the concerned Act (under which a criminal proceeding is instituted) to the institution and continuance of the proceedings and/or where there is a specific provision in the Code or the concerned Act, providing efficacious redress for the grievance of the aggrieved party.

7. Where a criminal proceeding is manifestly attended with malafide and/or where the proceeding is maliciously instituted with an ulterior motive for wreaking vengeance on the accused and with a view to spite him due to private and personal grudge."

(Emphasised by us)

20. The facts and circumstances noted above make it evident that the ingredients of Sections 363, 366 I.P.C. are not satisfied. In this regard, at the cost of repetition, we again refer to judgement rendered by this Court in Shaheen Parveen's case (supra). The case of the petitioners is covered by the judgement rendered in Ch. Bhajan Lal's case (supra), in particular sub paras 3 and 7 which have been emphasised by us in the extracted portion. Investigating officer has also come to the conclusion, though in further investigation, that offence has not been committed.

21. It would be absurd to conclude that petitioner no.1 had been kidnapped, although petitioner no.1 has been repeatedly saying before different forums, including this court, that she had not been kidnapped, rather is married to petitioner no.2.

22. We are of the considered view that continuance of proceedings shall be an exercise in futility. Petitioner no.1 the alleged kidnappee is the best witness and the only victim of the incident of kidnapping. It is the case of petitioner no.1, that she had not been kidnapped, rather had gone with petitioner no.2 of her own accord. In such circumstances, prosecution of the case would result in wastage of precious court time.

23. We are of the view that criminal proceedings have been initiated at the instance of respondent no.4 in malacious prosecution because her daughter petitioner no.1 refused to abide by directions of parents in not getting married to petitioner no.2. It is evident that the impugned proceedings have been initiated in abuse of the process of the law and process of the court. The ends of justice would be secured by putting an end to this lis.

24. Sub Inspector Uttam Singh Rathore of Police Station Bangarmau, District Unnao is present in court and also endorses this fact. Shri Rathore has further informed the court that husband and wife(prosecutrix) are happily living in their matrimonial home.

25. Considering the facts and circumstances of the case in context of the law as noted above, we hereby allow this petition. Impugned F.I.R./Case Crime No.118 of 2016, under Sections 363, 366 I.P.C., Police Station Bangarmau, District Unnao (Annexure No.1) and all consequent proceedings are hereby quashed.

26. Let a copy of this order be forwarded to the Sessions Judge, Unnao for onward transmission to the trial court. Let a copy of this order be also forwarded to Station House Officer, Police Station Bangarmau, District Unnao.

27. Senior Registrar of the Court to ensure compliance.

RATIO DECIDENDI:
Criminal proceedings against bank officials for actions taken in good faith under the SARFAESI Act are liable to be quashed where the dispute is essentially civil in nature and the FIR is lodged to exert pressure, especially in view of statutory protection under Section 32 of the Act.

CONCLUSION:
The impugned FIR is an abuse of the process of law and lacks ingredients of criminal offences. Accordingly, the FIR is quashed, and the writ petition is allowed, with no order as to costs.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Ramesh Sinha, J.)

1. This petition has been filed by the petitioner with a prayer to quash the F.I.R. dated 19.4.2015 registered as case crime no. 540 of 2015 under sections 448, 457, 380, 420 I.P.C., police station Sahibabad, District Ghaziabad.

2. The prosecution story as mentioned in the F.I.R. is that Oriental Bank of Commerce under the Provisions of Securitization and Reconstruction of Financial Assets and Enforcement of Security Interest Act, 2002 (hereinafter referred to as 'the Act') requested the District Magistrate, Ghaziabad for taking possession of Flat No. UG-2, situated at Plot No. B-1/154, DLF, Dilshad Extension-2, Bhopura, Ghaziabad. Pursuant thereto under the order of District Magistrate Ghaziabad dated 20.7.2010, the possession of the aforesaid Flat No. UG-2 was made to the Oriental Bank of Commerce with the aid of Senior Superintendent of Police, Ghaziabad. On 1.5.2011, the Oriental Bank of Commerce issued an advertisement in the daily newspaper Amar Ujala/Dainik Jagran by which the aforesaid property was offered to be auctioned pertaining to Iftkhar Ali son of Noor Mohammad and Smt. Farhana wife of Iftkhar Ali. In the aforesaid auction proceeding, the respondent no. 4 was declared to be highest bidder and as such he deposited the requisite amount. On 16.9.2011 when the respondent no. 4 went to inspect the aforesaid Flat No. UG-2, he saw after opening lock of flat that one Raish Ahmad and some other persons were present inside the flat and in this regard when the respondent no. 4 made complaint to the Oriental Bank of Commerce, they asked him to deposit rest of the amount first, thereafter they will ensure the possession to be handed over the respondent no. 4. It is further alleged that pursuant to the aforesaid the respondent no. 4 had deposited the entire amount and the sale has been confirmed and he was put in possession of the aforesaid Flat No. UG-2. On 1.11.2011, the respondent no. 4 stated to have decorated his flat with table, bed, washing machine, almirah, dressing table, dining table etc. It is further stated that on 15.7.2014, the respondent no. 4 after locking his aforesaid flat went to his native place at Bulandshahar. On 2.8.2014, in absence of the respondent no. 4, the petitioner along with Prem Kumar Rajpal, Ravindra Nath, who are the officers of Union Bank of India in connivance with his associate Raj Bhan Singh, Ex-Manager, Oriental Bank of Commerce, Builder Pawan Kumar Sharma and Raish Ahmad and other, after breaking the lock of the flat of the respondent no. 4 stolen all the articles present in the aforesaid flat and also they have taken illegal possession of the same. When the respondent no. 4 went to Union Bank of India, Raj Nagar Branch, Ghaziabad for taking possession back, they informed him that the flat which was taken into possession by the Union Bank of India is Flat No. UG-4 and not UG-2. All the articles found in the flat are articles of Flat No. UG-4. Therefore, they asked the respondent no. 4 to contact the Oriental Bank of Commerce and threatened him that in case he comes again he will be falsely implicated in case of theft and loot. While the respondent no. 4 was talking with the bank officers at the same time Raish Ahmad, Zahir Ahmad and Pawan Kumar Sharma were suddenly reached there. Thereafter, the respondent no. 4 was said to have contact the Oriental Bank of Commerce where the Manager of Union Bank of India was also present. He narrated the entire story to the Manager of the Oriental Bank of Commerce and he was told by the officers of the Oriental Bank that he will have to contact Union Bank of India, as the work of Oriental Bank of Commerce is over, as they have taken money and given him possession, hence the respondent no. 4 lodged the present F.I.R. against the petitioner and other co-accused persons, who are also employees of the bank.

3. Pleadings have been exchanged between the parties.

4. The respondent no. 4 has not responded to the notice issued to him in the present petition.

5. Heard Sri Anil Kumar Bajpai, learned counsel for the petitioner and Sri Irshad Hussain, learned A.G.A. for the State.

6. Learned counsel for the petitioner submits that in fact one Mr. Binu Nair and Mrs. Geeta Nair moved an application to the Union Bank of India, Raj Nagar Branch, Ghaziabad for grant of housing loan in order to purchase Flat No. UG-4, situated at Plot No. B-1/154, DLF, Dilshad Extension-2, Bhopura, Ghaziabad. The said loan was sanctioned by the Union Bank of India in favour of Mr. Binu Nair and Mrs. Geeta Nair after completing all the formalities on 18.3.2011. Mr. Rais Ahmad stood as guarantor of the said loan for which he has executed a letter of guarantee in favour of the bank on the same day. Mr. Binu Nair and Mrs. Geeta Nair thereafter purchased Flat No. UG-4 with the loan amount through a registered sale deed dated 25.5.2011 and thereafter on 29.9.2011 the memorandum of title deed was prepared containing deposit of title deed specifying the description of the title deed/documents which includes the sale deed in favour of Mr. Binu Nair and Mrs. Geeta Nair on 29.9.2011. He submitted that Mr. Binu Nair and Mrs. Geeta Nair defaulted in payment of EMI and therefore, the Union Bank of India proceeded under the provisions contained under the Act and by invoking the provisions of Section 13 (2) and 13 (4) of the Act, a notice to take possession of Flat No. UG-4 was issued to Mr. Binu Nair and Mrs. Geeta Nair under the signature of authorized officer on 5.10.2013. The notice under sections 13 (2) and 13 (4) of the Act had been served upon the borrower as they failed to make payment and their account has been declared Non Performing Assets, thereafter the Branch Manager, Union Bank of India, Raj Nagar Branch, Ghaziabad requested the District Magistrate, Ghaziabad under section 14 of the Act to secure taking over possession by the Union Bank of India and pursuant thereto, the District Magistrate vide order dated 15.4.2014 directed the Senior Superintendent of Police, Ghaziabad to provide security after getting the requisite amount deposited by the Bank so that possession may be taken over. In pursuance of the aforesaid order of the District Magistrate, the Union Bank of India has deposited Rs. 27,810/- and the Senior Superintendent of Police Ghazibad vide letter dated 21.7.2014 acknowledged the receipt of payment and directed the Station House Officer, Police station Sahibabad to provide adequate police force so that the Union Bank of India may take possession of Flat No. UG-4. On 2.8.2014, the Bank has taken possession through the police force of local police station in presence of Panchs and police officials and in this regard an inventory was prepared in which no article was found from Flat No. UG-4. Along with inventory a Panchnama was also prepared which was duly signed by the Panch, the authorized officer and authorized officer.

7. It was further pointed out that the informant respondent no. 4 had purchased Flat No. UG-2 in auction from the Oriental Bank of Commerce in his favour through sale certificate dated 26.6.2011 which is situated just above Flat No. UG-4 at Plot No. B-1/154, DLF, Dilshad Extension-2, Bhopura, Ghaziabad. He argued that Flat No. UG-2 has different description which is evident from the sale deed dated 14.7.2008 of UG-2 Flat executed in favour of its buyer/borrower, namely, Smt. Farana wife of Iftikhar Ali, who had taken loan from Oriental Bank of Commerce and defaulted in payment of its installment to Oriental Bank of Commerce. He next argued that the respondent no. 4 due to oblique motive concocted a false story in the F.I.R. to grab Flat No. UG-4 under the pretext that the same is Flat No. UG-2.

8. It was next submitted that the informant prior to lodging of the impugned F.I.R. had filed Original Suit No. 131 of 2015 on 28.1.2015 before the Civil Judge (S.D.), Ghaziabad seeking permanent injunction and possession of Flat No. UG-2, measuring area 69-67 Sq. Meters situated at Plot No. B-1/154, DLF, Dilshad Extension-2, Bhopura, Tehsil Loni, District Ghaziabad. In the aforesaid suit, the Civil Judge (S.D.) Ghaziabad issued summon to the Union Bank of India, Raj Nagar Branch, Ghaziabad through its Branch Manager for appearance on 12.2.2015 fixing 5.4.2015/12.3.2015 for service of summon and filing of written statement respectively by the Bank.

9. He urged that the dispute, if any, between the parties is purely civil in nature and all the act done by the petitioner is under the capacity of Authorized Officer under the Act. He submits that the petitioner enjoys protection under section 32 of the Act, hence the impugned F.I.R. is liable to be quashed on this ground alone. Section 32 of the Act is quoted hereinbelow:-

"32. Protection of action taken in good faith.-

No suit, prosecution or other legal proceedings shall lie against any secured creditor or any of his officers or manager exercising any of the rights of the secured creditor or borrower for anything done or omitted to be done in good faith under this Act."

10. In support of his contention, learned counsel for the petitioner has placed reliance on the judgment of the Apex Court in the case of Priyanka Srivastava & another vs. State of U.P. & others reported in (2015) 6 SCC 287 wherein it was held by the Apex Court that "borrower of housing loan failing to repay the loan to Bank/FI concerned on action being taken against borrower by Bank authorities under the Act, borrower, instead of resorting to remedy available under relevant Act, taking recourse to S. 156 (3) Cr.P.C. and getting various FIRs (including the present one) registered against Bank authorities merely to harass them with sole intent to avoid loan by said criminal action, bank authorities compelled to concede to borrower's request for one time settlement. In the facts and circumstances of the case, order passed by Judicial magistrate under section 156 (3) Cr.P.C. directing registration of impugned F.I.R. against the appellant Bank authorities without any application of mind by merely narrating allegations made in application under section 156 (3) Cr.P.C. and ignoring Section 32 of the Act which given protection to a secured creditor or its officers for acts done in good faith under the said Act, held not sustainable in law. The F.I.R. registered pursuant to the said order is liable to be quashed".

11. He submitted that the petitioner Anil Mehrotra, who is presently posted as Chief Manager, petitioner Prem Kumar Rajpal is Senior Managar and petitioner Ram Nath is also official of Union Loan Point, Union Bank of India, Ghaziabad and have performed their official duty. The F.I.R. lodged by respondent no. 4 does not disclose any offence against them, hence the same is liable to be quashed.

12. Learned A.G.A. opposed the prayer for quashing but could not dispute the fact that the respondent no. 4 was auction purchaser of Flat No. UG-2, situated at Plot No. B-1/154, DLF, Dilshad Extension-2, Bhopura, Ghaziabad under the SARFESAI Act and physical possession of the same was handed over to him by the Oriental Bank of Commerce.

13. Considered the submissions advanced by learned counsel for the parties and perused the impugned F.I.R. and relevant material on record. Admittedly, the respondent no. 4 has purchased Flat No. UG-2, situated at Plot No. B-1/154, DLF, Dilshad Extension-2, Bhopura, Ghaziabad in an auction from the Oriental Bank of India for which a sale certificate was issued on 26.6.2011 in his favour by the said Bank and he was given physical possession of the same. He has also filed a civil suit for restoring the possession of the said flat against the Oriental Bank of Commerce and the petitioner Bank prior to lodging of the F.I.R. which is still pending for adjudication. The respondent no. 4 for his ulterior motive has lodged the present F.I.R. against the petitioner and other officials of Union Bank of India, who have performed their official duty and are duly protected under section 32 of "the Act". Moreover, the First Information Report lodged against the petitioner also does not disclose any offence against them. It appears that just to harass them, in order to put pressure on them to compromise in Original Suit No. 131 of 2015 filed by respondent no. 4, the impugned F.I.R. has been lodged by him against the petitioner. Hence the present F.I.R. is liable to be quashed.

14. In view of the foregoing discussion, the impugned F.I.R. is hereby quashed.

15. The petition stands allowed.

16. However, no order as to costs.

HEADNOTES: Centralized counselling based on NEET ensuring single window procedure is a valid regulatory measure to ensure merit, transparency and fairness and does not violate rights of private unaided or minority institutions under Articles 19(1)(g) and 30(1) of the Constitution.
Private institutions have no absolute right to conduct independent counselling. State is competent under Entry 25 List III to regulate admission process in larger public interest to prevent malpractices and ensure merit-based selection.
Policy creating 50% subsidized seats funded through enhanced fee on remaining students held arbitrary, irrational and legally unsustainable. State cannot compel one class of students to bear financial burden of subsidy for another class without statutory backing.
Reservation based on residence in private institutions cannot exceed reasonable limits and must not compromise merit reflected in NEET list.
Minority institutions entitled to admit students of their community through centralized counselling from NEET merit list to permissible extent without disturbing inter-se merit.
Impugned orders prescribing centralized counselling upheld, but clauses relating to subsidized seats and consequential fee fixation quashed with liberty to State to frame legally sustainable policy.
Writ petitions partly allowed.

Proceeding:
Petitioners, association of unaided private medical colleges including minority institutions, challenged Government Orders providing centralized counselling based on NEET-2016 for admission to MBBS/BDS courses in Government, private and minority institutions in Uttar Pradesh. Challenge was also made to Government Order dated 02.09.2016 creating 50% subsidized seats with tuition fee of Rs.36,000/- limited to residents of U.P. and enhanced fee for remaining seats.

Petitioners contended violation of fundamental rights under Articles 19(1)(g) and 30(1) of the Constitution and lack of competence of State Government to impose centralized counselling and fee structure.

Issue:
(i) Whether State Government can mandate centralized counselling (single window system) based on NEET for admission in private and minority professional institutions.
(ii) Whether private unaided and minority institutions have a right to conduct independent counselling for admission.
(iii) Whether classification of seats into 50% subsidized and 50% non-subsidized seats with differential fee structure is constitutionally valid.
(iv) Whether reservation based on residence/domicile in U.P. for subsidized seats is permissible.
(v) Whether State Government can regulate admission process and fee structure of private professional institutions consistent with Articles 19(1)(g) and 30(1).

1. Heard Shri S.K.kalia, S.C. Misra and Sri Jaideep Narain Mathur Learned senior Advocate along with Sri Sandeep Dixit Learned Avocate for the petitioners and Dr L.P. Misra along with Sri Sanjay Bhasin, Sri Prafull Tewari for the state, Sri S.B.Pandey for the Union of India and Sri Gyanendra Srivastava for the Medical council of India.

2. All these writ petitions involve similar questions of fact and law, therefore, they have been heard together and are being decided by a common judgment.

3. For convenience writ petition No. 20575 (MB) of 2016 has been treated as the leading writ petition.

4. Petitioner of this writ petition is an Association of Un-aided Medical Colleges. The petitioners in other writ petitions are universities/colleges imparting education in medical courses such as MBBS etc., some of which claim to be minority institutions.

Factual Background of the case

5. The facts leading to this writ petition are as follows:-

A common entrance test is held by the Medical Council of India under Regulation 5(5) of the Regulations known as Regulations on Graduate Medical Education, 1997 as amended vide Notification dated 21.12.2010, the vires of which is pending adjudication before the Supreme Court. This test is known as National Eligibility-cum-Entrance test (for short 'NEET'). It is part of the single window procedure for admission as envisaged in T.M.A. Pai Foundation and others vs. State of Karnataka and others reported in (2002) 8 SCC 481, P.A. Inamdar and others vs. State of Maharashtra and others reported in (2005) 6 SCC 537. It is applicable to Government as well as Private (aided and unaided) institutions, including minority institutions. It is a centralized test. Based on this test an All India Eligibility-cum-Merit list is prepared. Based on such list firstly, counselling is held for admissions to All India quota, in which the private institutions do no participate. On its completion, counselling is held for State seats. In such counselling the students are called on the basis of their ranking in the NEET list to choose the institution in which they want to take admission for MBBS/BDS first year course, as the case may be. The highest in rank is called to exercise his option first. On such option being exercised the seat and the institution opted for, is locked and is not available for the subsequent candidates in the said counselling. The option/choice is exercised so on and so forth by the students as per their ranking in the NEET list which reflects their merit in the NEET test, accordingly, till the seats are exhausted.

6. Such counselling also entails the verification of original testimonials of the students, their identification based on photograph and Bio-metric data collected by MCI or its agency which conducts NEET. In the present case such data has been provided to the State of U.P. and not to any private institution.

7. The Notification dated 21.12.2010 introducing NEET had earlier been declared ultra-vires the Constitution and the Medical Council Act, 1956, by the Supreme Court in Christian Medical College Vellore and others V. Union of India (2014) 2 SCC 305, but, on a petition being filed for review of the said judgment, the same was recalled on 09.05.2016 and the petitions were restored for a decision afresh, thereby reviving the aforesaid notification as also NEET for Academic Year 2016-17.

8. In the meantime AIPMET and CPMET 2016 had already been held in some States, which stood nullified by the aforesaid developments, consequently the candidates were required to re-appear in NEET 2016 and those who could not for them the date was extended for such appearance in the test held in July, 2016. In the meantime, on 25.04.2016 an Ordinance bearing No. 4 of 2016 was issued amending the Regulations of 1997 and providing an option to the States to opt out of NEET and hold their own tests for the academic year 2016-17 in respect of State seats at the undergraduate level. The State of U.P. Opted to adhere to NEET, consequently, it issued Government orders dated 11.08.2016,20.8.2016, 22.08.2016 and 31.08.2016 prescribing a centralized counselling for admission to MBBS/BDS in all colleges/universities in the State including private colleges as also minority institutions. These decision were modified on 02.09.2016 inter-alia inserting a requirement that the students should be domicile of State of U.P. in respect of 50% of the sanctioned intake of private institutions(excluding minority institutions) after deducting the pool of 15% for All India Quota. These seats have been termed as subsidized seats with only Rs.36,000/- payable as tuition fee. Thus, in addition to seats in Government colleges and Universities for which a student had to be a domicile of State of U.P. This condition was applied to private institution also albeit to the extent of 50% of its seats, as aforesaid.

9. The fee for remaining 50% non-subsidized seats is payable at an enhanced rate, almost double the normal fee which would have to be determined as per clause 1 and 2 of the order dated 02.09.2016 and Section 10 of U.P. Private Professional Educational Institutions (Regulations of Admission and Fixation of Fee) Act, 2006(for short the Act 2006) so as to fund the subsidy for the 50% subsidized seats.

10. Ostensibly, this would not result in loss to the private colleges but they contend that such arbitrary, irrational and discriminatory arrangement would dissuade the students to take admission against non subsidized seats thereby rendering the running of the unaided institutions un-viable, consequently violating their rights under Article 19(1)(g) of the Constitution of India. The students would opt out for better and more economical options in other States leaving the private institutions high and dry.

11. The All India Quota admission process has not yet been completed, consequently, though, some students have been allotted institutions against the centralized counselling held by the State, for the State seats, the same is not yet final. The second round of counselling for filling up remaining seats is yet to take place. The academic session was to start from 3rd September 2016. The last date for joining of the candidates allotted seats in second round of counselling, is 26.09.2016. The last date for admitting the students against vacancies arising due to any reason is 30.09.2016, however, adherence to this time schedule prescribed vide a notification dated 05.08.2016 has been delayed for the aforesaid reason.

12. In the meantime, these petitions have been filed.

In the State of U.P. there are 12 Government colleges, 2 Government Medical Universities. For MBBS courses in these institutions, there are 1544 seats in the first year after deducting 296 of the All India Quota. For BDS, the seats are 51 after deducting 60 for the All India Quota, thus, there are total 1595 seats in Government institutions as State seats.

13. In addition to the above, there are 26 private Medical Colleges and 23 Dental Medical Colleges. For MBBS course in such institutions, there are 3100 seats and for BDS there are 2300 seats in the first year. Thus, the total number of MBBS seats are 4644, whereas BDS seats are 2351. The total combined seats are 6995. Out of these 50% are subsidized seats as per order dated 02.09.2016. In NEET list 2016, sixty two thousand (62000) students found eligible are domiciles of State of U.P. out of which 27537 have applied for centralized counselling by the State Government in pursuance to the advertisement dated 28.08.2016 till the mid-night of 31.08.2016. It is not out of place to mention that 50% was the cut off mark for NEET 2016.

14. A procedure for such counselling has been laid down in these government orders, which, inter alia, state that counselling shall take place on the basis of the registration and the merit-list prepared by the Central Board of Secondary Education which held the NEET 2016. A video conferencing of the counselling shall be held in terms of the government order dated

5.7.2011. The counselling shall be held at SGPGI Lucknow, State Medical Colleges at Meerut, Kanpur and Allahabad i.e. at 4 places . 2 rounds of counselling are to be held, followed by a mop-up round counselling for filling up left over seats.

15. ISSUES

(i) Whether this counselling should be centralized and should be held by the State or its agency or the association of private institutions is entitled to hold the same in view of their alleged rights under Article 19(1)(g) and/or Article 30(1) of the Constitution of India, is one of the question which falls for consideration in this case along with the validity of the impugned orders in this context.

(ii) The other question raised is regarding competence, permissibility or sustainability of the prescription of 50% subsidized seats with the stipulations and conditions as contained in the order dated 02.09.2016, specially the condition that only a domicile of State of U.P. could be considered for admission against such seats and imposing financial burden of the subsidy upon those admitted against the remaining 50% non-subsidized seats.

(iii) A question has also been raised as regards the applicability of reservation policy of the State as contained in the U.P. Admission to Educational Institutions (Reservation for Scheduled Caste, Scheduled Tribe and other Backward Classes) Act, 2006 which prescribes the application of reservation in favour of scheduled caste, scheduled tribes and other backward classes in admission to educational institutions including private institutions whether aided or unaided, by the State, other than the minority educational institutions referred to in clause (1) of Article 30 of the Constitution of India on the terms referred therein.

(iv) The application of the impugned decisions for holding centralized counselling for minority institutions and regulation of fee chargeable by them as also the extent of such regulation has also been questioned, more so, in the context of the Integral University which has been constituted under a State Act namely the Integral University Act, 2004 which permits it to provide not more than 50% reservation for the minority community under section 6 of the said Act. Similar benefit is being claimed by one of the petitioners Era Medical College, Lucknow.

16. Contention on behalf of the petitioners is that being private educational institutions imparting professional education, they have a fundamental right under Article19 (1)(g) of the Constitution of India to run their institutions and admit Students of their choice by holding their own counselling, albeit, from the same NEET List 2016, without compromising fairness, transparency and merit. The action of the State Government in issuing orders for holding a combined counselling for the State run universities and medical colleges as well as private colleges, is violative of this right. A similar right exists in favour of the minority educational institutions under Article 30(1) of the Constitution of India, rather a better right than the non-minority Institutions and the impugned orders which prescribe a Combined Counselling even for these Institutions are clearly impermissible. It is further contended that the Medical Council of India having framed regulations notified on 5th August 2016 with the approval of the Central Government in exercise of its powers under section 33 of the Medical Council Act which is a Central Legislation and as it deals with counselling based on the NEET list for the year 2016-17, therefore, the field being already occupied by the said Regulations which have statutory force, the jurisdiction of the State Government under Entry 25 of the Concurrent List stands ousted, therefore, for this reason also, the impugned orders are not sustainable.

17. The other challenge is to the order dated 2.9.2016, by which seats for admission have been classified into subsidized and non-subsidized seats with the condition that subsidized seats with fee of only Rs.36000/- per student shall be filled only by those students who are domicile of State of U.P., meaning thereby, those higher in rank as per NEET 2016, but, not domicile of U.P., will not be considered against these 50% seats, thereby, compromising merit and violating the dictum of the Supreme Court as also negating the concept of a single window procedure. Furthermore the financial burden of subsidized Seats has been shifted to the remaining 50% students, with the result, they would be reluctant to take admission in such a scenario where they will have to pay not only their fee, but also that of another student, thus, double the fee normally payable, which is quite irrational and constitutionally and legally unsustainable especially in view of the dictum of T.M.A. Pai (supra) where a somewhat similar arrangement of free and payment seats brought about in Unnikrishnana has been disapproved. It was contended that it would make the institution economically unviable which would ultimately have to be closed down as they would not be able to bear the expenditure for running the same and would not be able to maintain the standards prescribed by the Medical Council of India.

18. It is not in dispute that a Common Entrance Test has been held by the Medical Council of India through the Central Board of Secondary Education known as National Eligibility-cum-Entrance Test 2016 (for short "NEET 2016') under Clause 5(5) of the Regulations on Graduate Medical Education 1997 (for short "Regulations 1997') made by the Medical Council of India in exercise of powers under section 33 of the Medical Council of India Act 1956 (hereinafter referred as "Act 1956'). None of the petitioners has raised any dispute as regards the said Entrance Examinations. In fact they have admitted to the fact that admissions are to be made on the basis of the Eligibility/Merit list prepared on the basis of NEET 2016 and not otherwise.

Rights of the petitioners, if any, and its scope

19. First and foremost we deem it necessary to consider the alleged right of the petitioners, violation of which is being alleged, as also its scope, in the light of precedents laid down by the Supreme court on the subject. Reference may be made in this regard to the case of P.A. Inamdar (supra), wherein, the rights of such un-aided private institutions including the minority institutions, as considered in TMA Pai and Islamic Academy, was considered by a Seven Judge Bench and the law in this disregard was clarified.

20. While considering question No. 2 framed by the Supreme Court, in para 27 it was observed that even in respect of minority un-aided institutions that to admit students being one of the components of the right to establish and administer any institution the State cannot interfere therewith. Upto the level of undergraduate education the minority unaided educational institutions enjoy total freedom. However, different considerations would apply for graduate and postgraduate level of education, as also for technical and professional educational institutions. Excellence in education and maintenance of high standards at this level are a must. To fulfill these objectives the State can and rather must, in national interest, step in. The education, knowledge and learning at this level possessed by individuals collectively constitutes National wealth.

21. In paragraph 135 it was observed that in minority institutions, aided or unaided, admissions shall be at the State level. Transparency and merit shall have to be assured.

22. Thereafter, while further considering question No. 2 under the heading "Admission procedure of unaided educational institutions' their Lordships categorically supported the holding of a Common Entrance Test for one group of institutions imparting same or similar education. Such institutions situated in more than one State may join together and hold a Common Entrance Test or the State may itself or through its agency arrange for holding such test. Out of such common merit list the successful candidates can be identified and chosen for being allotted to different Institutions depending on the courses of study offered, the number of seats, the kind of minority to which the Institution belongs and other relevant factors. The observations in para 136 relate not only to non-minority unaided Institutions, but also to minority institutions. Furthermore, the Supreme Court held such an agency conducting the Common Entrance Test must be one enjoying utmost credibility and expertise in the matter. It observed that this would better ensure the fulfillment of twin objects of transparency and merit. combined entrance test is necessary in the interest of achieving the said objectives and also for saving the student community from harassment and exploitation, holding of such Common Entrance Test followed by Centralized counselling, or in other words, a Single Window System regulating admissions does not cause any Dent in the right of minority un-aided educational institutions to admit students of their choice. Such choice can be exercised from out of the list of successful candidates prepared at Combined Entrance Test without altering the order of merit inter-se of students, so chosen. These observations apply to the minority as well as the minority unaided private educational institutions. The satisfaction of triple test including adherence to merit is also equally applicable to minority institutions, as is evident on a conjoint reading of para 136 and 137 of the said judgment.

23. In para 138 it was categorically mentioned that having regard to the larger interest and welfare of the student community to promote merit, achieve excellence and curb mal-practices it would be permissible to regulate admissions by providing a centralized and Single Window procedure. Such a procedure, to a large extent, can secure grant of merit based admissions on a transparent basis.

24. Relying upon certain observations made in para 137 of P. A. Inamdar case (supra) it was contended before the Supreme Court in the subsequent case of Modern Dental College and Research Centre and others vs. State of Madhya Pradesh and others reported in (2016) 7 SCC

353 that the State could hold a Common Entrance Test and counselling only when the admission procedure adopted by a private institution or Group of Institutions fails to satisfy all or any of triple test indicated therein and it is only then that the State can take over by substituting its own procedure, which was repelled by the Supreme Court and it was held that the satisfaction of the triple test and adherence to merit is to be ensured at the initial stage, and not as suggested by the private institutions by way of a post audit scrutiny.

25. Suffice it to say at this stage that the principle laid down in P A Inamdar was for strict adherence to the triple test of fairness, transparency and non-exploitativeness as also adherence to merit and also that a centralized process of admission and a Single Window procedure be adopted, as, such a procedure to a large extent would secure grant of merit based admissions on a transparent basis. Legislation or Regulations were required to be made in this regard by the State.

26. Now coming to the judgment of the Supreme Court in Modern Dental College case. In this case the vires of a legislative enactment by the State legislature of Madhya Pradesh prescribing a common entrance test followed by Centralized counselling to be held by the State, was put to challenge. The challenge therein was on similar lines as in this case, the only difference being that in the said case there was a legislative enactment, the vires of which was assailed, whereas, in the present case what is under challenge are government orders issued by the State Government somewhat on same lines. The Supreme Court considered the rights of un-aided educational institutions including minority institutions. In this context it is relevant to quote para 33 and 34 of the said judgment :

"33. The history of the dispute regarding Government control over the functioning of private medical colleges is quite old now but the tug of war continues. There seems to be some conflict of interest between the State Government and the bodies that establish institutions and impart professional medical education to the youth of this country. While on the one hand the State Governments want to control the institutions for sociopolitical considerations and on the other the people who invest, set up and establish the institutions have a genuine desire to run and exercise functional control over the institution in the best interests of the students, it cannot be disputed that the State does not enjoy monopoly in the field of imparting medical education and the private medical colleges play a very significant role in this regard. The State lacks funds that is imperative to provide best infrastructure and latest facilities to the students so that they emerge as the best in their respective fields.

34. In the modern age, therefore, particularly after the policy of liberalization adopted by the State, educational institutions by private bodies are allowed to be established. There is a paradigm shift over from the era of complete Government control over education (like other economic and commercial activities) to a situation where private players are allowed to mushroom. But at the same time, regulatory mechanism is provided thereby ensuring that such private institutions work within such regulatory regime. When it comes to education, it is expected that unaided private institutions provide quality education and at the same time they are given 'freedom in joints' with minimal Government interference, except what comes under regulatory regime.

Though education is now treated as an 'occupation' and, thus, has become a fundamental right guaranteed Under Article 19(1)(g) of the Constitution, at the same time shackles are put insofar as this particular occupation is concerned which is termed as 'noble'. Therefore, profiteering and commercialization are not permitted and no capitation fee can be charged. The admission of students has to be on merit and not at the whims and fancies of the educational institutions. Merit can be tested by adopting some methodology and few such methods are suggested in T.M.A. Pai Foundation, which includes holding of CET. It is to be ensured that this admission process meets the triple test of transparency, fairness and non-exploitativeness."

27. The observations made above by the Supreme Government leave no doubt that regulatory mechanism to ensure the satisfaction of triple test and adherence to merit are permissible in respect of such institutions, rather they are necessary.

28. The Supreme Court in para 38 while accepting that the right of professional institutions to establish and manage educational institutions, is an occupation, even if there is no element of profit generation (paragraph 25 of TMA Pai), and that this right encompassed a right to admit students; a right to set up a reasonable fee-structure, but, in paragraph 40 in Modern Dental College, while considering the scope of this right it observed that the Supreme Court in TMA Pai's case was categorical that this activity (occupation) could not be treated as Business or Profession. Education is treated a noble profession on no-profit-no-loss basis. Those who establish and manage educational institutions are not expected to indulge in profiteering or commercializing this noble activity. Keeping this objective in mind, the court did not give complete freedom to the educational institutions in respect of right to admit the students and also with regard to fixation of fee. As far as admission of students is concerned, the court was categorical that such admissions have to be on the basis of merit, when it comes to higher education, particularly in professional institutions.

29. In paragraph 41 the contention of one of the learned counsel that TMA Pai Foundation expounded on the nature and extent of its control on the basis of level of education was approved by the Supreme Court by observing, "when it comes to higher education, that too, in professional institutions, merit has to be the sole criteria." It referred to paragraph 58 of TMA Pai in this regard which is relevant and is as under:-

"58. For admission into any professional institution, merit must play an important role. While it may not be normally possible to judge the merit of the applicant who seeks admission into a school, while seeking admission to a professional institution and to become a competent professional, it is necessary that meritorious candidates are not unfairly treated or put at a disadvantage by preferences shown to less meritorious but more influential applicants. Excellence in professional education would require that greater emphasis be laid on the merit of a student seeking admission. Appropriate regulations for this purpose may be made keeping in view the other observations made in this judgment in the context of admissions to unaided institutions".

30. In paragraph 42 the Supreme Court with reference to the observations in TMA Pai Foundation delved into the question as to how the objective of ensuring the triple test, referred above, could be achieved for determining such merit, it referred to the observation in para 59 thereof that such merit should be determined either by the marks that students obtain at qualifying examinations or at combined entrance test conducted by the Institutions or in the case of professional colleges by government agencies. It quoted para 59 of TMA Pai case wherein for professional colleges Common Entrance Test by government agencies was held to be a methodology for ensuring the satisfaction of triple test including merit. Para 42 of Modern Dental College is quoted hereinbelow:

"42. In order to see that merit is adjudged suitably and appropriately, the Court candidly laid down that procedure for admission should be so devised which satisfies the triple test of being fair, transparent and non-exploitative. The next question was as to how the aforesaid objective could be achieved? For determining such merit, the Court showed the path in paragraph 59 by observing that such merit should be determined either by the marks that students obtained at qualifying examination or at CET conducted by the institutions or in the case of professional colleges, by Government agencies. Paragraph 59 suggesting these modes reads as under:

'59. Merit is usually determined, for admission to professional and higher education colleges, by either the marks that the student obtains at the qualifying examination or school-leaving certificate stage followed by the interview, or by a common entrance test conducted by the institution, or in the case of professional colleges, by government agencies.'

This paragraph very specifically authorises CET to be conducted by Government agencies in the case of professional colleges."

31. We are of the view that the observations, referred hereinabove apply on all its fours to Centralized Counselling also, as, it is part of the admission process wherein also the Triple Test and adherence to merit have to be ensured.

32. The Supreme Court thereafter referred to paragraphs 67 and 68 of TMA Pai and in paragraph 44 of its judgment, it considered the contention that State could not usurp the very function of conducting this admission test by the educational institutions and that such Combined Entrance Test is to be conducted by the educational institutions themselves, whereas the government could only frame regulations to regulate such admission tests to be conducted by the educational institutions and could not take away the functioning of holding Combined Entrance Test, and in paragraph 45 it rejected this contention in view of the unambiguous and categorical interpretation given by the Supreme Court in P.A. Inamdar with respect to certain observations, particularly in para 68 in TMA Pai Foundation.

32A. In para 47 of its judgment the Supreme Court noticed the observations in P.A. Inamdar case wherein, it was noted that the earlier judgment kept in mind "the sad reality that there are a number of professional colleges which indulge in profiteering and/or charging capitation-fees".It went on to observe that it was impossible to control profiteering/charging of capitation-fees, unless admission was on merit. It was observed that requiring a student to appear at more than one entrance test lead to more hardship as the student has to pay application fee for each institute, arrange and pay for the transport to appear in the individual tests. Thus, the management could select students either on the basis of Combined Entrance test conducted by the state or Association of All Colleges for a Particular Type for example, medical, engineering or technical etc. In this context it is relevant to reiterate and refer to the observations made in P.A. Inamdar in para 136 and 138 that holding of a Common Entrance Test followed by a Centralized counselling with a Single Window procedure to a large extent ensures adherence to the triple test and merit. Reference may again be made to paragraph 59 of T.M.A. Pai wherein a single window procedure by Government Agencies was specifically advocated in case of professional colleges as was also done in paragraph 27 in P.A.Inamdar's case and paragraph 41 of Modern Dental College. Thus, at the level of higher Education specially in professional courses /Institutions the role of the government in providing a single window procedure of admission has been emphasized.

33. It is also relevant to point out that in the present case as far as the leading writ petition is concerned, admittedly, it is an association of only 18 medical colleges including some universities, whereas, the number of such institutions in the State is larger, therefore, it does not represent all the medical colleges/universities in the State.

34. Furthermore, in paragraph 48 their lordships have referred to paragraph 145 of P.A. Inamdar (supra) wherein it was observed "unless the admission procedure and fixation of fees is regulated and controlled at the initial stage, the evil of unfair practice of granting admission on available seats guided by the paying capacity of the candidates would be impossible to curb." Based on this, the Supreme Court in Modern Dental College (supra) repelled the contention of the private colleges for post audit checks after the institutions adopted their own admission procedure and fee-structure. It noticed that until the Central Government and State Governments came out with a detailed well thought out legislation setting up a suitable mechanism for regulating admission procedure and fee structure, the committees set up in Islamic Academy were allowed to continue.

34A. It further observed in the context of para 68 in TMA Pai case (supra) as explained in PA Inamdar (supra) that observation therein permitting the management to reserve certain seats was meant for poorer and backward sections as per local needs. It did not seem to ignore the merit. It was also held that Combined Entrance Test could be held, otherwise merit becomes casualty. There is, thus, no bar to Combined Entrance Test being held by State Agencies when the law so provides.

35. These observations are equally applicable with the same effectiveness with regard to holding of a Centralized counselling with a Single Window procedure by the State. In paragraph 49 the contention that the private medical colleges had absolute right to make admissions or to fix fee, was held to be inconsistent with the earlier decisions of the court i.e. TMA Pai (supra) and P.A. Inamdar.

36. The right of the State to introduce regulatory measures to ensure the aforesaid requirements was thus re-affirmed and the suggestion of a post audit measure after the merit had been compromised or capitation-fees had been charged by the private institutions, was rejected out-rightly. It was categorically mentioned that control was required at the initial stage itself, i.e. at the stage of Combined Entrance Test and counselling. The best way to ensure this was for the state or its agencies to hold a centralized test and counselling as transparency and accountability can be better secured by it vis a vis private agencies as has also been observed by the Supreme court in paragraph 96 and 97 in Modern Dental College.

37. Based on the aforesaid, the Supreme Court opined that though the occupation is a fundamental right, which gives right to the educational institutions to admit students and also fix fee, at the same time, scope of such rights was discussed and limitations imposed thereupon by the judgments in TMA Pai and P.A. Inamdar themselves were reiterated and the nature of limitations on these rights was also explained.

38. Thereafter the Supreme Court in Modern Dental College considered the reasonableness of the restrictions/measures imposed by the legislature of the State of Madhya Pradesh and in this context relying upon TMA Pai and PA Inamdar it was observed in para 55 that it becomes clear that insofar as such regulatory measures are concerned, the same can be adopted by the State in respect of minority run institutions as well.

"55. It would be necessary to clarify the position in respect of educational institutions run by minorities. Having regard to the pronouncement in T.M.A. Pai Foundation, with lucid clarifications to the said judgment given by this Court in P.A. Inamdar, it becomes clear that insofar as such regulatory measures are concerned, the same can be adopted by the State in respect of minority-run institutions as well. Reliance placed by the appellants in S. Stephen's College V. University of Delhi reported in (1992) 1 SCC 558 may not be of much help as that case did not concern with professional educational institutions.

39. It was further held in para 57 that the right under Article 19(1)(g) is not absolute in terms, but is subject to reasonable restrictions under Clause (6). Larger interest and welfare of student community to promote merit, achieve excellence and curb mal-practices, fee and admissions can certainly be regulated. The court has to strike a just balance between the fundamental rights and the larger interest of the society. The constitution is primarily for the common man. Larger interest and welfare of student community to promote merit, achieve excellence and curb malpractices, fee and admission can certainly be regulated.

40. In paragraph 62 of it observed that it is now almost accepted that there are no absolute constitutional rights and all such rights are related. In para 63 it considered the concept of proportionality as a criteria to strike a balance between the rights and limitations imposed upon such rights. The law imposing restrictions will be treated as proportional if it is meant to achieve a proper purpose, and if the measures taken to achieve such a purpose are rationally connected to the purpose and such measures are necessary. Article 19(6) referring to reasonable restrictions was considered. In paragraphs 67, 68 and 69 their lordships held as under :

"67. Undoubtedly, right to establish and administer educational institutions is treated as a fundamental right as it is termed "occupation", which is one of the freedoms guaranteed Under Article 19(1)(g). It was so recognized for the first time in T.M.A. Pai Foundation. Even while doing so, this right came with certain clutches and shackles. The Court made it clear that it is a noble occupation which would not permit commercialization or profiteering and, therefore, such educational institutions are to be run on "no profit no loss basis". While explaining the scope of this right, right to admit students and right to fix fee was accepted as facets of this right, the Court again added caution thereto by mandating that admissions to the educational institutions imparting higher education, and in particular professional education, have to admit the students based on merit. For judging the merit, the Court indicated that there can be a CET. While doing so, it also specifically stated that in case of admission to professional courses such a CET can be conducted by the State. If such a power is exercised by the State assuming the function of CET, this was so recognized in T.M.A. Pai Foundation itself, as a measure of "reasonable restriction on the said right". Islamic Academy of Education further clarified the contour of such function of the State while interpreting T.M.A. Pai Foundation itself wherein it was held that there can be Committees constituted to supervise conducting of such CET. This process of interpretative balancing and constitutional balancing was remarkably achieved in P.A. Inamdar by not only giving its prematur to deholding of CET but it went further to hold that agency conducting the CET must be the one which enjoys the utmost credibility and expertise in the matter to achieve fulfillment of twin objectives of transparency and merit and for that purpose it permitted the State to provide a procedure of holding a CET in the interest of securing fair and merit-based admissions and preventing maladministration.

68. We are of the view that the larger public interest warrants such a measure. Having regard to the malpractices which are noticed in the CET conducted by such private institutions themselves, for which plethora of material is produced, it is, undoubtedly, in the larger interest and welfare of the students community to promote merit, add excellence and curb malpractices. The extent of restriction has to be viewed keeping in view all these factors and, therefore, we feel that the impugned provisions which may amount to "restrictions" on the right of the Appellants to carry on their "occupation", are clearly "reasonable" and satisfied the test of proportionality.

69. Apart from the material placed before the High Court, our attention has also been drawn to a recent report of the Parliamentary Committee to which we will refer in later part of this judgment. The report notes the dismal picture of exploitation in making admissions by charging huge capitation fee and compromising merit. This may not apply to all institutions but if the Legislature which represents the people has come out with a legislation to curb the menace which is generally prevalent, it cannot be held that there is no need for any regulatory measure. "An enactment is an organism in its environment". It is rightly said that the law is not an Eden of concepts but rather an everyday life of needs, interests and the values that a given society seeks to realise in a given time. The law is a tool which is intended to provide solutions for the problems of human being in a society."

41. Thus, the fundamental right to occupation under Article 19(1)(g) came with certain clutches and shackles as mentioned in the aforesaid paragraphs. Educational institutions are to be run on 'No-Profit-No-Loss' basis. Admissions to the professional courses has to be based strictly on merit. Holding of Combined Entrance Test by a State was not only held to the permissible, but also a measure of reasonable restriction on the aforesaid right under Article 19(1)(g). In paragraphs 68 and 69 the Supreme Court categorically stated that larger Public Interest warrants such a measure as aforesaid. It also noticed the material before it including the report of a Parliamentary Committee providing a dismal picture of exploitation in making admissions or charging huge capitation fee and compromising merit. It also observed that this may not apply to all institutions, but if the legislature which represents the people has come out with a legislation to curb the menace which is generally prevalent, it can not be held that there is no need for any regulatory measure. These were the observations in the majority judgment.

42. In the context of reservation of seats for Scheduled Castes, Scheduled Tribes and other other backward classes the Supreme Court took notice of Article 15(5).Based on the aforesaid provision and also in view of the absence of any serious challenge to the legislation on the aforesaid issue, it repelled the same, especially as the constitutionality of Article 15(5) had already been upheld by a Constitution Bench Judgment in Paramati Educational & Cultural Trust v. Union of India, 2014 (8) SCC 1. Such reservation in private colleges (except minority institutions) was held to be in consonance with Article 15(5) of the constitution.

43. In paragraphs 96 and 97 the Supreme Court observed about the accountability and transparency in State actions which are relevant in the present case and the same are quoted hereinbelow :

"96. .....The accountability and transparency in State actions is much higher than in private actions. It is needless to say that the incidents of corruption in the State machinery were brought in the public eye immediately and have been addressed expeditiously. The same could never have been done in case of private actions. Even on a keel of comparative efficiency, it is more than evident that the State process is far more transparent and fair than one that is devised by the private colleges which have no mechanism of any checks and balances. The State agencies are subject to the Right to Information Act, Audit, State Legislature, Anti-Corruption agencies, Lokayukta, etc.

97. The very object of setting up institutions for the State is a welfare function, for the purpose of excelling in educational standards. On the other hand, the primary motivation for private parties is profit motive or philanthropy. When the primary motivation for institutions is profit motive, it is natural that many means to achieve the same shall be adopted by the private institutions which leads to a large degree of secrecy and corruption. As such, the mechanism of Regulations as envisaged under the impugned laws is legal, constitutional, fair, transparent and uphold the primary criteria of merit. The same does not infringe on the fundamental rights of either the minorities or the non-minorities to establish and administer educational institutions and must as such be upheld as valid."

44. Thus, the legislation providing for Common Entrance Test and Centralized counselling to be held by the State was held to be valid and that it did not infringe on the fundamental rights of either the minorities or the non-minorities to establish and administer educational institutions.

45. Justice R. Bhanumati rendering a supplementing judgment in Mordern Dental College case also delved into the relevant issues and referred to paragraph 144 in P.A. Inamdar (supra), wherein, it was held that the two committees for monitoring admission procedure and determining fee structure in the judgment of Islamic Academy are, in our view, permissible as regulatory measures aimed at protecting the interest of the student community as a whole as also the minorities themselves, in maintaining required standards of professional education on non-exploitative terms in their institutions. Legal provisions made by the State Legislatures or the scheme evolved by the court for monitoring admission procedure and fee-fixation do not violate a right of minorities under Article 30(1) or the right of minorities and non-minorities under Article 19(1)(g). They are reasonable restrictions in the interest of minority institutions permissible under Article 30(1) and in the interest of general public under Article 19(6) of the Constitution. Justice Bhanumati further considered the issue of Common Entrance Test, Single Window system for regulating a private professional educational institution and referring to the judgments in T.M.A. Pai and P.A. Inamdar (supra) held in para 168 that if private un-aided educational institutions are given unfettered right to devise their own admission procedure and fee-structure, it would lead to a situation where it would impinge upon the right to equality of the students who aspire to take admissions in such educational institutions. The prescription of a centralized and Single Window procedure was re-affirmed as being in the larger interest and welfare of the student community. The permissibility of State or its agency to hold such Common Entrance Test with a Single Window procedure including Centralized counselling was also re-affirmed and reiterated as ensuring equal opportunity to all meritorious and suitable candidates and also that it did not cause any dent on the fundamental rights of the institutions in running the institutions.

46. Even at the cost of repetition it needs to be emphasized that even in P.A. Inamdar, as noted in the majority judgment in Modern Dental College, as regards professional courses are concerned, the emphasis was on holding of a Common Entrance Test by the State or its agency. The relevant paragraphs have already been referred in the earlier part of this judgment.

47. In view of what has been stated hereinabove it is amply clear that the holding of Centralized counselling with a Single Window procedure based on the NEET 2016 by the State is not only a permissible regulatory measure which imposes reasonable restrictions on the rights of the un-aided private educational institutions, including the minority institutions, but, it also does not in any manner dent their fundamental rights either under Article 19(1)(g) or Article 30(1) of the Constitution of India. Thus, the first contention on behalf of petitioner's that it dented such right, has to be rejected and is accordingly rejected.

48. We also find merit in the contention of Dr Mishra that the counselling, inter alia, involved verification of all the original testimonials, verification of identity of the candidate based on bio-metric test and photographs, details of which had been provided to the State Government by the CBSE and not to the petitioners herein, as such, they cannot hold counselling, as, in the absence of such material it would be difficult to identify as to who is appearing, which would be quiet fatal. In such a scenario and based on past experience, participation of proxy candidates, so called Munna Bhais, so to say, cannot be completely ruled out . The credibility of government agencies in this regard is far greater when compared to private agencies.

49. Authority of the State to hold a centralised counselling through Government orders

50. As regard the authority of State which has been questioned, it is now very well settled that under Entry 25 of the VIIth Schedule of the Constitution of India the State Government has the authority to legislate on matters enumerated therein, which includes Medical Education, alongwith the Parliament and in the event the field being covered by an Act of Parliament including subordinate legislation therein, the latter will prevail over the former to the extent of inconsistency in view of Artice 254. The legislation by the State Legislature is subject to Entries 63 to 66 of the Union List. Entry 25 reads as under:

"25- Education including Technical Education, Medical Education and universities, subject to the provisions of Entries 63, 64, 65 and 66 of List 1; Vocational and Technical training of labour."

51. Entry 25 is wide enough to cover the field of admission to Universities and colleges imparting medical education.

52. The Parliament has enacted the Act 1956 to provide for the reconstitution of Medical Council of India and maintenance of a medical register for India and for matters connected therewith. Section 32 of the Act 1956 empowers the Central Government to make rules to carry out the purposes of the Act by notification in the official gazette. Section 33 empowers the Council with the previous sanction of the central government to make regulations generally to carry out the purposes of the said Act, and, without prejudice to the generality of this power, such regulations may provide for the subject matters mentioned as (a) to (n) of the said provision. Section 33(l) is relevant which reads as under:

"33(l). The conduct of professional examinations, qualifications of examiners and the conditions of admissions to such examinations."

53. The Medical Council of India has framed regulations in exercise of its powers under section 33, with the approval of the Central Government, which are known as "Medical Council of India Regulations on Graduate Medical Education 1997'. For the purposes of the issues involved herein it is Chapter II of the said regulations which are relevant as they deal with admission, selection, migration and training. As per the notification published on 21.12.2010 Clause 5(5) of the Regulations 1997 was substituted, thereby providing that there shall be a single-eligibility-cum-entrance examination namely NEET for admission to MBBS course' in each academic year. The overall superintendence, direction and control of the aforesaid test (NEET) vests with the Medical Council of India, however, it, with the previous approval of the Central Government, shall select organizations to conduct the said test. Clause (2) of Regulation 5(5) states that it shall be necessary for a candidate to obtain minimum of 50% marks in each paper of NEET held for the each academic year, however in respect of candidates belonging to Scheduled Caste, Scheduled Tribes and other backward classes the minimum percentage of marks shall be 40% in each paper and in respect of candidates with locomotory disability of lower limbs the minimum percentage of marks shall be 45% in each paper of NEET. The use of the words "respective categories' in the proviso to the said clause is a reference to the categories mentioned in Clause (2) i.e. Scheduled Caste, Scheduled Tribes and other backward classes and candidates with locomotory disability of lower limbs and not to management category or Quota, as was contended by Sri Mathur.

54. As already stated earlier the regulations prescribing "NEET' were put to challenge before the Supreme Court and were struck down in the case of Christian Medical College Vellore vs Union of India 2014 (2) SCC 305, however, on a review petition being filed the said judgment was recalled vide judgment dated 11.4.2016 passed in Review Petition (C) Nos. 2159-2268 of 2013 and connected petitions, Medical Council of India vs Christian Medical College Vellore and others. Consequent to the aforesaid the notification dated 21.12.2010 prescribing "NEET' stood revived.

55. On 5th of August 2016 the Medical Council of India amended the aforesaid regulations of 1997 vide Regulations on Graduate Medical Education 2016. As per the said regulations, in Clause 7(6) of the "Regulations on Graduate Medical Education 1997", after sub-clause 7(6) the following clause was added :

"7(6AA) . There shall be no admission of students in respect of any academic session beyond 30th September under any circumstance. The universities shall not register any student admitted beyond the said date.

The Universities and other authorities concerned for the academic year 2016-17 shall organize admission process in accordance with the time schedule indicated in appendix F."

56. Furthermore, it was provided that in the Regulations on Graduate Medical Education 1997, after Appendix "E' the following shall be added :

57. Much Reliance was placed by the learned Senior Advocates and other counsels appearing for the petitioners to contend that in view of this amendment, which according to them provides for counselling to be held by the Universities and other authorities concerned, the State Government had no authority to hold a combined counselling as Regulations having been made under a Central Legislation which have statutory character and the power of the State Government to legislate in respect of Entry 25 being subject to the power of the Parliament to legislate on the same subject, the State can neither legislate nor prescribe any counselling, much less a combined one. The contention was based on the use of the words "the universities and other authorities concerned ..... shall organize admission process." It was contended that as per said regulations the Universities and other authorities concerned are entitled to hold counselling, albeit, based on NEET 2016. It was further contended that the words "other authorities concerned" referred to the authorities of private medical colleges.

58. When confronted with the judgment of P.A. Inamdar (supra), which prohibited counselling by individual Institutions and prescribed a Single Window procedure as also Centralized counselling, specially paragraph 136 and 138 thereof, the learned counsel submitted that the words mentioned in clause 7(6AA) have to be understood as referring to the Association of medical Colleges who were permitted to hold a Common Entrance Test as also counselling, but, by no stretch of imagination could it be understood as empowering the state to hold such counselling even for the private colleges, including minority institutions. On the other hand Dr L.P. Mishra, learned Special Counsel appearing for the State, contended that the said regulation did not prescribe holding of a counselling nor as to who is to hold the same. It merely prescribed a time-table/schedule for completion of the admission process and as the admission process starts from the initiation of the process for holding NEET and ends with the actual admission in the colleges/universities, therefore, the reference to Universities and other authorities concerned has to be understood in this context,as, Universities and the authorities are concerned with this admission process at the time of granting admission as ultimately admissions are to be made by such institutions.

59. He also contended that the term "other authorities concerned" includes the State which is empowered to hold a Centralized counselling so as to ensure fairness, transparency, non-exploitativeness and adherence to merit, which, as per experience is easily compromised when private institutions are allowed to hold entrance test or counselling. He contended that in the absence of any legislation by the Parliament as to who should hold the counselling and in view of the recent judgment of the Supreme Court in Modern Dental College and Research Centre vs State of MP, 2016 (7) SCC Page 353, as also the subsequent judgment in the case of Sankalp Charitable Trust and another vs Union of India and others, Writ (C) No. 261 of 2016 and connected petitions and interlocutory applications therein, dated 9th May 2016, the State Government is empowered to hold such counselling. He invited the attention of the court to the aforesaid judgments to demonstrate the interplay of Entry 25 of the Concurrent List and Entry 66 of Union List to buttress the argument that the State was within its jurisdiction to issue the impugned orders prescribing a combined counselling for all medical colleges including the private unaided colleges/universities as also the minority institutions.

60. The Supreme Court in Modern Dental College case also considered the competence of the State to legislate on the subject based on Entry 25 of List III and opined that the said entry granted concurrent power to both the Parliament and State legislature to legislate with respect to all the other aspects of Education except that which was specifically covered by List 1 Entry 63 to 66 and relying upon the earlier decisions in Gujarat University vs Krishan Raghunath ALR 1963 SC 703; State of Tamil Nadu vs Adhiyamaan Educational and Research Institute, 1995 (4) SCC 104; Preeti Srivastava vs State of Madhya Pradesh 1999 (7) ACC 120; and state of Maharashtra vs Sant . Shikshan Shashtra Mahavidyalaya, 2006 (9) SCC 1, it held that entire gamut of education was not covered by List 1 Entry 66. No doubt List III Entry 25 is subject to List 1 Entry 66. It is not possible to exclude the entire gamut of admissions from List III Entry 25, however, exercise of any power under List III Entry 25 has to be subject to a central law referable to entry 25.

61. Based on the aforesaid, the Constitution Bench held that there was no violation of right or autonomy of educational institutions in Combined Entrance Test being conducted by the State or an agency nominated by the State or in fixing fee. The right of a State to do so is subject to a central law. Once the notification under the central statute for conducting Combined Entrance Test on the basis of NEET becomes operative, it will be a matter between the States and union territories which will have to be sorted out on the touchstone of Article 254 of the constitution.

62. Now coming to the regulations of the Medical Counsel of India, specially Regulation 7(6AA), as inserted by the notification dated 5th of August 2016, On a perusal of the same the court finds that though there is a reference to Counselling in the said Regulation, but, it does not provide as to who is to hold the counselling - whether the State, the private colleges or any other agency. Use of the words "universities and other authorities concerned" is only for organizing the admission process for the year 2016-17 in accordance with the time-schedule indicated in "Appendix F'. It cannot be understood or interpreted to mean that the universities and other authorities concerned are entitled to hold the Centralized counselling nor can the words "other authorities concerned" be understood as referring to the authorities of private universities and colleges, as, it would be against the dictum in P.A. Inamdar's case (supra) which clearly bar the holding of such entrance test or counselling individually by universities or colleges. The contention of Shri Mathur to the contrary cannot be accepted. His suggestion that the words "universities and other authorities concerned" can be understood as referring to an association of un-aided professional colleges which could hold such a Common Entrance Test or counselling as per the judgment in P.A. Inamdar, can also not be accepted, as, this court cannot read into the said regulations something which is not mentioned therein. The court cannot supply a caussus omissus to Regulation 7 (6AA).

63. Furthermore, as far as the right of Associations of such colleges to hold a Centralized counselling is concerned, if permitted, the Single Window procedure which has been much emphasized by the Seven Judges Bench in P.A. Inamdar's case as also in the Constitution Bench decision in Modern Dental College will have to be given a go by. Furthermore, in view of the observations in Modern Dental College and in P.A. Inamdar which have already been discussed in the earlier part of this judgment, such a procedure would not fully secure the adherence to the triple test and merit in the admission process. In Modern Dental College there is a reference to a report of a parliamentary committee, in this regard, which has also been referred by us earlier, moreover even at the cost of repetition, we would like to emphasize that as far as professional colleges are concerned in T.M.A. Pai (supra), as well as in P.A. Inamdar (supra) and Modern Dental College (supra), it has been held that the Common Entrance Test and a Single Window procedure be adopted by the State or its agency, meaning thereby this should not be left in the hands of private institutions even if they are universities, specially in respect of Professional colleges.

64. We find merit in the contention of Dr. L.P. Mishra that in effect what is provided in Clause 7 (6AA) is a time schedule for completion of the admission process and the reference to universities and other concerned authorities, therein, is a general observation referable to the universities and the other authorities concerned with the admission process as the institutions also have a role to play in adherence to the time-schedule at least at the time of granting admissions, which is also mentioned therein, but, these words cannot be interpreted to confer the power of holding Counselling by an individual institution or by an association of such institutions.

65. On a perusal of the said regulation we have no doubt that it does not deal with the subject as to who is to hold the counselling based on NEET 2016. We have not found any other provision either in the Act 1956 or Regulations 1977 made thereunder, which may contain any such provision, therefore, the conclusion is irresistible that there is no Central Legislation on the question as to who is to hold the Counselling, therefore, the field is open for the State Legislature to legislate on the subject.

66. Now the next question which falls for our consideration is as to whether the state could prescribe such centralized counselling in the form of a single window procedure by issuance of Government orders i.e without any legislation on the subject. We are of the view that it would have been better if the State Legislature had promulgated a legislation in keeping with the observations made in P. A. Inamdar etc., but, having said so, we are not inclined to accept this plea for the reason firstly, that under Article 162, subject to the provisions of the Constitution, the executive power of the State extends to the matters with respect to which the legislature of the state has power to make laws, subject to the proviso contained therein, which, in the facts of the case is not attracted.

67. We do not find any such exercise of executive power by the Central Government which may preclude the State Government from holding a centralized counselling, rather there is an advisory dated 9.8.2016, that, it may do so. The order impugned herein which has been issued by the Government of India on 9th August 2016 permits the state governments to go for Combined Counselling for admissions to MBBS/BDS Course in all medical/dental colleges including deemed universities. This order has been issued in consultation with the Law Ministry.

68. Another reason which persuades us to repel the contention is the larger Public Interest and the welfare of the Student Community, which, the impugned Government Orders seek to achieve in consonance with the dictum of the Supreme Court in T.M.A. Pai and P A Inamdar and Modern Dental College.

69. In this context we would like to refer to the Act 2006 which was promulgated so as to set into motion the regulatory measures in respect of admission process and fixation of fee after the pronouncement in P.A. Inamdar. Firstly, this Act excludes from its operation the minority institutions, therefore, as far as the minority institutions are concerned, there is no legislation for regulating admission process and fixation of fee in respect to them. Further, on a careful perusal of the said Act, we do not find any provision therein prescribing the agency which is to hold counselling. Section 5 refers to the eligibility for admission to a private aided or unaided professional educational institutions, which shall be such as may be notified by the State Government. Now after the notification dated 21.12.2010 prescribing a National Eligibility Cum Entrance Test. Section 5 of the Act 2006 as also section 7 thereof have virtually been rendered redundant as the field being occupied by a subordinate legislation under a Central Act, the said provisions would have to give way to the former.

70. It is noteworthy that the Act 2006 is absolutely silent on the question of holding of counselling, especially as to who is to hold it. The contention of Shri Mathur that admission being a continuing process, which includes counselling, the same should be read into the Act 2006, accordingly, under Act the private colleges have been entrusted all the responsibility of filling up the seats under the management quota while the remaining have to be filled by the State, therefore, management seats are to be filled by the private colleges by holding their own counselling, is clearly unacceptable, as, this court cannot read into the act something which is not mentioned therein, more so, as it would be contrary to what has been held in P.A. Inamdar and Modern Dental College. Shri Mathur endeavored hard to make out a case for the management seats by referring to the words "respective category" used in Regulation 5(5) of the regulations of 1997 made by the Medical Council of India under Section 33 of the Act 1956, by reading it conjointly with the Management, categorically mentioned in Sections 6 and 7 of the Act 2006.

71. We are of the considered view that the term "respective category" used in Regulation 5(5) refers to the categories mentioned in Clause (2) thereof, and not to the Management Category. This contention, therefore, has to be repelled, especially, as after the introduction of a common Entrance Test followed by Centralized Counselling the concept of State quota and Management Quota has melted away rendering the same otiose.

72. It is also a misconception that the state allots the institution, in fact, it is the student who chooses the institution and the State merely communicates it formally to the concerned. It only ensures adherence to a single window procedure and the triple test as also merit in the admission process.

73. In view of the above discussion, The Act of 2006 does not deal with counselling, therefore it can not be said that the impugned Government orders are inconsistent with the same.

74. As far as the competence of the State Government to hold a Centralized Counselling is concerned, in view of the discussions already made, the argument of Sri Mathur, based on jurisdictional incompetence, is repelled. As far as the order of the Central Government dated 09.08.2016 is concerned it has been stated by Sri S.B. Pandey learned Additional Solicitor General and has also been stated in the counter affidavit that the said order is merely an advisory which is not binding. We are also of the view that the said order has not been issued in exercise of statutory powers under the Medical Council of India Act, therefore, it has to be treated as an advisory and nothing more. However, we must add that we do not find any conflict therein with the notification dated 05.08.2016 amending Regulation 7(6AA) for the reasons already mentioned hereinabove.

Validity of G.O.'s dated 11.8.2016, 20.8.16, 22.8.16 and 31.8.16 and the order of the Central Government dated 9.8.16.

75. These Government orders dated 11.08.2016, 20.08.2016, 31.08.2016 prescribe a centralized counselling for admission to MBBS/BDS seats in all colleges/Universities of the State including private unaided colleges and minority institutions. In view of the discussion already made hereinabove, it is clear that in the absence of any central legislation on the subject matter of centralized counselling and specially in view of dictum of Modern Dental College case and Sankalp Charitable Trust case, the State Government is/was competent to prescribe a centralized counselling for such admissions in furtherance of a single window procedure envisaged in T.M.A. Pai, P.A. Inamdar as further explained and reaffirmed by the constitutional bench in Modern Dental College so as to ensure the satisfaction of triple test mentioned above and adherence to merit in admissions.

76. A single window procedure in the form of Centralized Entrance Test and Centralized Counselling is applicable to minority institutions also as per P.A. Inamdar and Modern Dental College case, therefore, the said Government orders cannot be faulted on this count specially as, exclusion of minority institution under Section 3(g) read with Section 6 etc. of the Act, 2006, from its purview has become redundant in view of a Centralized Eligibility and Entrance Test being prescribed by regulation 5(5) as amended vide notification dated 21.12.2010 under Section 33 of the Act, 1956, which is a Central Act and also in view of the judgment of the Supreme Court in Modern Dental College Case and Sankalp Charitable Trust case, which leave no room for any doubt in this regard. The said orders do not suffer from any error.

Validity of Order dated 2.9.2016

77. On 02.09.2016, a policy decision was taken by the State Government, just a day prior to start of counselling (the petitioners allege that it was issued in the mid-night of 2.9.16). This decision reiterated the centralized/combined counselling for all institutions, vide clause 3, but, clause 1 and 2 thereof, introduced a categorization of seats for admission in private institutions (excluding the minority institutions), as, subsidized and non-subsidized, with the condition that 50% of seats of such institutions shall carry a fee of only Rs.36,000/- per student per annum. The basis of this, as per Dr. L.P. Misra, was that this was the tuition fee payable in Government colleges. These seats are to be filled only by those who are domicile of State of U.P. Thus, this condition which was earlier not applicable to the seats for admission in private institutions was made applicable to the extent of 50% of their seats. These conditions were not applicable to the remaining 50% non-subsidized seats. In fact the students admitted against non-subsidized seats were now to fund the subsidy for the 50% subsidized seats.

78. As regards the remaining 50% non-subsidized seats students admitted against these would have to pay enhanced tuition-fee to be calculated on the basis of the resultant amount arrived at, after deducting the fee realized as against subsidized seats from the total fee receipts based on the fee per student determined by the Fee Regulation Committee. Vide another other dated 03.09.2016 which has been annexed with the connected writ petitions such fee has been determined at double the rate normally paid by the students.

79. As regards clause 1 and 2 referred above, Dr. L.P. Misra sought to justify the same with reference to Article 41 of the Constitution of India and the constitutional objective contained therein coupled with a corresponding obligation upon the State to cater to the need of poor students who according to him are also entitled to study MBBS/BDS course and join the medical profession, but were not able to do so on account of financial constraints, hence, the obligation of the State towards them was being discharged by prescription of subsidized seats for them. According to him the State was empowered to apportion part of the seats for this purpose as also to require the candidate to be a domicile of the State which would largely ensure that after passing out he will serve the people of the State and shall not move out.

80. Without in any manner doubting the intent or object of the State Government in introducing such a clause and also assuming for a moment its permissibility in law, we do not see how this avowed object can be achieved by the said provisions. No income criteria has been prescribed so as to determine the eligibility of a student for admission against subsidized seats. In the absence of a criteria or benchmark to determine who is a poor student it is inexplicable as to how admission of poor students against such seats can be assured. Clause 1 says that the scheme would be implemented on "first admission", basis, this itself defeats the object. As per Dr. L.P. Misra "First Admission Basis" means the first student as per rank in the NEET List to exercise his option for admission to a seat in a private institution will be entitled for a subsidized seat. Thus, one who is higher ranked in the NEET list will have a preferential advantage of admission against a subsidized seat. On being asked, Dr. Misra categorically stated that if the higher ranked, say, a student who is at serial no.1 in the NEET List, will be entitled to it, even if, he is financially well off, as, it would be in keeping with the requirement of adherence to merit which the impugned decisions also seeks to achieve but then, what he fails to see is, that it would defeat the very object of creating subsidized seats. A financially well off student will get admission against a seat carrying only Rs.36,000/- as tuition fee whereas a poor student, if such seats get exhausted, may be asked to pay double the fee, as, there is no guarantee that all poor students will figure in the zone of merit for 50 percent subsidized seats. This is not what the Cabinet decision, which has been perused by us, envisages. Clause 1 and 2 of order dated 02.09.2016 seem to be founded on a fallacious presumption that all or most of the high ranked students would be poor also. If, most, if not all such students, are financially well off based on the criteria to be fixed by the State and most of the seats get filled by such financially well off students, would it serve the constitutional objective being canvassed before us and whether such a situation can be sustained in the light of the objective sought to be achieved as per the decision of the Cabinet.

81. On the other hand if subsidized seats are filled only by poor students, irrespective of their lower merit, it will compromise the merit consideration, protection of which is paramount , specially as, admission is to a professional medical course which is related to the health and well being of the people. Such admission would also be against the judicial mandate already referred hereinabove, as, less meritorious students would be admitted, whereas, more meritorious shall be ousted considering the extent of subsidy i.e. 50% of the seats. The State has clearly failed to apply its mind appropriately to the relevant aspects of the matter before introducing such a provision.

82. Such a laudable object as is being professed, can be achieved and would be legally permissible, if poverty and merit go hand in hand. The student ranked at sl. no.1 in the NEET list, if he is also poor, for which a rational criteria will have to be laid down, he should be eligible and entitled to admission against a subsidized seat, not otherwise. If he is financially well off or above the criteria referred above, he should be admitted against non subsidized seats, unless the State devises a policy to encourage meritorious students to take up the medical profession and its study, in keeping with the constitutional provisions and principles, which is not the case here. Admission of such students against free seats was disapproved in T.M.A. Pai (para 30 and 45). This would be a reasonable mechanism which would stand the test of constitutional and statutory provisions and would also achieve the object of the State.

83. There is another aspect of the matter regarding competence and admissibility of such action of the State, which requires consideration. Under Section 4 read with section 10 of the Act, 2006 the fee chargeable by an institution is to be determined by a statutory committee constituted thereunder, that too, after taking into consideration the parameters mentioned in Section 10 and giving a right of hearing to the concerned institution, against whose decision a further remedy is prescribed by way of an appeal under Section 11 thereof. The Act does not empower the State Government to fix such fee nor does it classify the seats into subsidized or non-subsidized, therefore, the competence of the State Government in this regard under the said Act is non-existent. Exercise of such executive power by the State during subsistence of a statutory provision i.e. Section 4 and 10 of the Act, 2006 on the subject, cannot be sustained.

84. Furthermore the order dated 20.9.2016 introduces an entirely new provision or policy in the garb of the power vested in the State under Section 15 (1) of the Act, 2006 which in law, can be exercised, only for removal of any difficulty in the implementation of the said Act. In the present case there is no such difficulty. Section 15(1) does not envisage introduction of a new policy wholly un-related to any difficulty in the implementation of the said Act. Sri Mathur has rightly relied upon the judgment in the case of Mahadev Upendra Sinnai Vs. Union of India, (1975)3 SCC 765 (paragraph 39) in this regard.

85. Dr. Misra relied upon a judgment of the Supreme Court in the case of State of Sikkim vs. Dorjee Tshering Bhutia and others reported in (1991) 4 SCC 243 in support of his contention, which in our view does not apply in the facts of the present case. Assuming for a moment that even independent of Section 15(1), the State has the power to take such a policy decision, the fact is as is evident from the discussion made hereinabove and hereinafter, the policy contained in clause 1 and 2 of the order dated 2.9.16 is apparently unworkable, irrational and arbitrary.

86. During arguments it was contended that funding of subsidy would put great financial burden on the State but while filing the counter affidavit the State has been more cautious in choosing its words. In para 2 it has sought a short time for removing shortcomings in the policy, if some are found. In para 3(iii) it has been stated the cost has to be borne fully by the student and that it had not made budgetary provisions in this regard and at present there was no policy decision of the State Government to subsidize any higher study. The contention far from helping it reveals the casual manner in which the policy has been formulated.

87. Again, assuming for a moment that Section 10 relates to determination of fee of individual institutions and as regards policy matters and on principles an inherent power is vested in the State to meet larger public interest, the question still remains- where is the authority vested in it by law to burden one category of students with the obligation to fund the subsidy extended to another category, rather to compel them to bear the financial burden of such subsidy, which may result in deprivation of an otherwise meritorious students from admission, who may be in a position to bear the cost of his own study but not to bear the cost of another student also, in addition to his own. In present times students or their parents take loan for funding higher studies including in professional courses, now in view of the impugned policy, student will have to take loan of double the amount to fund the subsidy of another student, this could also be in the case of a poor student who may not be so high in the merit list so as to fall in the first 50% seats so as to get the subsidy, which is apparently unreasonable. Article 41 is a guide for the State, subject to its economic capacity, but, it does not permit the imposing of such a burden on others, that too, students, without any legislative backing as none has been shown.

88. It is relevant in this context to discuss the concept of subsidy and the meaning of the said term. The Supreme Court had the occasion to consider it in the case of Shri Ambika Mills Ltd. v. Textile Labour Association (1973) 3 SCC 787 in the context of the payment of Bonus Act 1965 etc. Their Lordships considered various decision of the word subsidy which are as under:-

Webster's New World Dictionary, 1962

.....a grant of money, specifically (a).....(b) a Government grant to a private enterprise considered of benefit to the public.

Shorter Oxford English Dictionary.

Help, aid, assistance.....financial and furnished by a state or a public corporation in furthering of an undertaking or the upkeep of a thing....

Chambers Twentieth Century Dictionary, Revised Edn.

Assistance and in money.....a grant of public money in aid of some enterprise, industry etc., or to keep down the price of a commodity....

The Reader's Digest Great Encyclopaedic Dictionary, Vol. II (M.Z).

Financial aid given by Government towards expenses of an undertaking or institution held to be of public utility; money paid by Government to producers of a commodity so that it can be sold to consumers at a low price...."

Definition given in "Words and Phrases, Permanent Edition, Vol. 40" where subsidy is described as follows:

"A subsidy is a grant of funds or property from a Government as of the state or municipal corporation to a private person or company to assist to the establishment or support of an enterprise deemed advantageous to the public; a subvention". Reference is made to 60 Corpus Juris.

Corpus Juris Secundum, Vol. 83, p. 760 gives the following under the beading of subsidy:

"Something, usually money, denoted or given or appropriated by the Government through its proper agencies; a grant of funds or property from a Government, as the state or a municipal corporation to a private person or company to assist in the establishment or support of an enterprise deemed advantageous to the public; a subvention.

Pecuniary premiums offered by the Government to persons enlisting in the public service, or engaging in particular industries, or performing specified services for the public benefit are treated in Bounties."

89. The Blacks Law Dictionary defines subsidy to mean a grant, usually made by the Government to any enterprise whose promotion is considered to be in the public interest. Although Government sometimes make direct payment such as (cash grant) subsidies are usually indirect. They may take the form of research and development supports tax breaks, a provision of raw material at below market prices or low interest loan or low interest export credits guaranteed by a Government agency.

90. The New Webster's Dictionary of the English Language College Edition, defines subsidy as a some of money granted by the Government to an organization, institution or industry, specially one benefiting the health and welfare of the country, charity, hospital, or public service; a gift of money; grant; in Britain as an aid and tax formally granted by Parliament to the Crown for special occasion a sum paid by one Government to another usually providing a return certain commercial advantages or other services.

91. Thus, essentially, it is an aid granted by a Government. Assuming that it could the extracted by The Government to fulfills the public need or higher public objective, it can not be done from the students without their consent, without even ascertaining their paying capacity and without there being any constitutional/ statutory backing in this regard nor any rational basis for the same.

92. In fact, such categorization of seats into free and payment seats and admission of wealthy students against free seats in Unnikrishanan's case was disapproved in TMA Pai's case (paragraphs 30 to 45).

93. The imposition of such an enhanced fee under NRI quota of 15%, wherever prevalent, stands on a different footing, as, it depends upon undisputed financial capacity of the said category. In the State of U.P. there is no NRI quota. A resident Indian may not have the same economic capacity as a Non-Resident-Indian. Moreover the scheme does not define the rich and the poor. It does not provide any criteria for such distinction. One could understand if the State opted to bear the subsidy or if it came out with a constitutionally and legally sustainable policy, but, not in its present form.

94. Thus, in its present form clause 1 and 2 of order dated 02.09.2016 not only defeat the object of facilitating admission of poor students but also compromises merit in admission to a professional medical course. The policy contained therein is unworkable, impractical, without any rational basis, arbitrary, and legally unsustainable. It is hit by Article 14 and 15 of the Constitution of India.

Reservation based on Residence in the Context of Clause 1 and 2 of order dated 02.09.2016.

95. It is also the grievance of the petitioners that though the earlier Government Orders did not impose any such condition that original residents of the State of U.P., alone would be entitled to admission against sanctioned seats in an unaided private institution but the order dated 02.09.2016, after creating a category of subsidized seats to the extent of 50% of the total sanctioned intake of a private institution puts such a condition vis-a-viz these seats which according to them is not only constitutionally impermissible in view of the judgment of the Supreme Court rendered in the case Dr. Pradeep Jain and others Vs. Union of India and others reported in (1984) 3 SCC 654; Magan Mehrotra and Others Vs. Union of India and Others reported in (2003) 11 SCC 186 and Nikhil Himthani Vs. State of Uttrakhan and Others reported in (2013) 10 SCC 237, but also compromises the merit as reflected in the NEET list 2016, as, 50% of the sanctioned intake in a private institution will be filled by an original resident of the State of U.P., even though, he may be placed lower in the NEET list 2016. This, according to the learned counsel appearing for the petitioners would be a clear violation of merit consideration which has been emphasized by the Supreme Court and is also sought to be professed and achieved by the State itself in issuing the impugned orders.

96. Dr. L.P. Misra appearing for the State on the other hand contended that reservation of certain percentage of seats for residents of the State of U.P. was constitutionally permissible as per the judgment of the Supreme Court in Dr. Pradeep Jain, and the case of Saurabh Chaudri and Others Vs. Union of India and Others reported in (2003) 11 SCC 146. He contended that there was a rational basis for the said provision that is those who study in the Medical Colleges or Universities of the State against subsidized seats and also belong to the State may serve its people instead of moving out to other places. There was a need for such reservation in the larger interest of the people of the State. He also emphasized that, if at all, this grievance could have been raised by a student who may be prejudiced by such a condition, but, it is surprising that the private institutions had rushed to Court challenging the same, though they are in no way prejudiced by it.

97. Having perused the brochure as also the counter affidavit and the form annexed therewith delineating the meaning of the term 'original resident' as applicable to the admission process in question, we do not find any mention of 'Place of Birth' as one of the criteria for availing the benefit of reservation on the basis of residence, therefore, the prohibition contained in Article 15(1) is not attracted. The word 'Domicile' is a special word indicating the status of a person in relation to a legal or political system, but, it has been loosely used as a synonym for 'residence', as was observed by the Supreme Court in Dr. Pradeep Jain's case, which in fact counselled the States not to misuse the said word in an admission process. Thus, the word 'Domicile' which is not mentioned either in the order dated 02.09.2016 nor in the brochure etc. has no relevance to the present controversy. Institutional reservation is also not an issue here.

98. The issue is, whether original residents of the State of U.P. as mentioned in the brochure etc. could be extended the benefit of reservation on the basis of residence against 50% of the seats in private unaided institutions in the matter of admission to professional under graduate courses, where, the emphasis is on merit and after introduction of NEET, it is the merit reflected therein, which is to be adhered.

99. On a perusal of the dictum of the Supreme Court in the Dr. Pradeep Jain's case which still holds the field, we find that making of some provision for reservation of certain percentage of seats for residents of the State is not completely barred which is evident from paragraphs no. 8, 9, 10, 13, 14, 15, 16, 19, 20 and 21 of the said judgment. In fact in Paragraph No. 19 it has been observed that even if at some stage it is decided to regulate admissions to the M.B.B.S course on the basis of an All India Entrance Examination, some provision would have to be made for allocation of seats amongst the selected candidates on the basis of residence so as to take into account the local factors mentioned in the said judgment. In Paragraphs No. 20 and 21, while considering the extent of such reservation a complete exclusion of the rest of the Country and wholesale reservation based on residence was clearly ruled out. As regards the exact percentage it was observed that it is not possible to provide a categorical answer to this question as the extent of such reservation would depend on several factors including opportunities for professional education in that particular area, the extent of competition, level of education, development of the area and other relevant factors. Referring to a Medical Education Review Committee's suggestion that the outer limit of reservation based on residence or institutional preference should not exceed 75%, the Supreme Court opined that it would be fair and just to fix the outer limits at 70%. This was done to reconcile the apparently conflicting claims of quality and excellence. It further made it clear that the outer limit fixed by it was subject to any reduction or attenuation which may be made by the Indian Medical Council. It further opined that this outer limit fixed must gradually over the years be progressively reduced but that it was a task to be performed by the Medical Council of India.

100. In view of the aforesaid, the argument advanced by Dr. L.P. Mishra justifying prescription of 50% seats in private institutions to be filled from residents of the States appears worth accepting at first blush. However, we can not loose sight of the fact that when the judgment was pronounced in the Dr. Pradeep Jain's case in the year 1984, the phenomenon of private educational institution had not bloomed and it is doubtful as to whether even the sapling had been planted. We can also not ignore the fact that thereafter the Supreme Court considered the criteria and parameters of admission to medical courses at the under Graduate and Post Graduate level, as is evident from the reading of the judgment of the Supreme Court in T.M.A. Pai and in P.A. Inamdar and the Constitution Bench Decision in Modern Dental College. It hardly needs to be emphasized, specially in view of the later judgment in Modern Dental College, that adherence to merit is the paramount consideration for admission in professional courses which should not be compromised. It being so, this issue is to be considered from this angle also. No doubt reservation of certain percentage of seats for the residents of the State is constitutionally permissible and may at times be necessary and the reasoning given by Dr Misra that people of the State should have the service of such medical professionals in a State which is lacking in such facilities and services, but, what would be its extent in such a scenario so as not to compromise merit in the admission process, is to be kept in mind.

101. In the present case, out of total of 1840 seats in M.B.B.S. courses in Government Colleges and Universities, 1540 seats are available for being filled as State seats i.e. apart from the All India Quota. All these seats are to be filled by students who are original residents of the State of U.P. In addition to it Clause 1 and 2 of the order dated 02.09.2016 introduces a reservation on the basis of residence in respect of 50% seats in private institutions also. The total seats in M.B.B.S. Courses which are available in private institutions are 3100, out of it, 1550 would be filled from the residents of the State. Thus, as far as the M.B.B.S. State seats are concerned, out of 4650 about 3090 would be reserved for residents of the State. In terms of percentage it comes to 66.45%.

102. If we include the All India Quota seats of M.B.B.S. also, then, the total seats come to 4940 and as, no such condition is prescribed for the All India Quota, therefore, out of the said figure, 3090 seats in total would be reserved for the residents of the State. In terms of percentage, based on total seats including the All India Quota, it comes to 62.55%. Same is the position with regard to the B.D.S. quota.

103. The percentage and figures mentioned hereinabove are on the basis of information given by Dr. L.P. Mishra and learned counsel for the petitioners, therefore, they are subject to any correction or adjustment upon correct calculation, but, they do give a picture as to the extent of reservation on the basis of residence, which, even after lapse of more than 30 years, is still about 62 to 65%, though, the outer limit fixed way back in the year 1984 by the Supreme court was 70%, that too, with the observations that it was subject to reduction and attenuation with passage of time by the Medical Council of India, but, it appears that it has not undertaken any such exercise.

104. The decision of the Cabinet placed before us, as also two counter affidavits filed by the State do not reveal any material or exercise undertaken in this regard to ascertain and fix the extent of such reservation so as to justify the same as a rational action in accordance with the views expressed in Dr. Pradeep Jain's case (supra), taken after undertaking an exercise with due application of mind, as, this has a bearing on the rights of other meritorious students who are not residents of the State, but, are citizens of this Country, specially, as the conflicting claims of quality and excellence, as observed in Dr. Pradeep Jain's case (supra), were required to be reconciled by fixing a reasonable percentage.

105. It is also not out of place to mention that the State does not contribute even a penny to the private institutions, therefore, imposition of such a condition in respect of admission in such institutions is a factor which weighs heavily against the reservation of seats to the extent of 62 to 65% in private institutions on the basis of residence, specially, as it can not be doubted that by doing so the merit reflected in the NEET list will be affected at least to some extent, as, if the candidate is a resident of the State, even if lower in merit, he would have a preferential right and would steal a march over a meritorious candidate who is not a resident of U.P., thereby, compromising merit in the admission process which would not be in consonance with the law declared by the Supreme Court as noticed herein above, therefore, balancing conflicting claims in the light of the said decisions and also considering requirement of adherence to merit, we are of the considered view that the prescription of reservation based on residence exceeding 50% total seats excluding the seats of the All India Quota but including the seats in Government institutions, is unreasonable and unsustainable, therefore, we confine such reservation to the extent of 50% as aforesaid. This would, however, be subject to any further revision keeping in mind the observation made in Dr. Pradeep Jain's case (supra). Clause 1 and 2 of order dated 02.09.2016 shall stand modified accordingly, so far as the condition of residence is concerned, subject however to the other observations made by us regarding the validity of the said clauses.

Validity of the Order date 3.9.2016

106. As far as order dated 03.09.2016 is concerned, by superseding clause 4 of the order dated 02.09.2016 and restoring Centralized Counselling to minority institutions also as was the case under the earlier Government orders, it does not violate any right of such institutions, as, it is permissible to do so in view of P.A. Inamdar and Modern Dental College case, therefore, this order does not suffer from any error of law.

Application of Reservation of seats for Scheduled Caste, Scheduled Tribe and Other Backward Classes etc. in Admission to Private Institutions including minority institution.

107. Even though the State legislature has promulgated an Act known as U.P. Admission to Educational Institution (Reservation of Scheduled Caste, Scheduled Tribe and Other Backward Classes) Act, 2006 Dr L.P. Misra appearing for the State made a categorical statement and the same is also contained in the counter affidavit filed by the State, to the effect that considering the paramount consideration of merit which is not to be compromised in the event of application of such reservation the State has decided not to apply the same in the matter of admission in question. In view of this, the issue does not fall for any further consideration by this Court.

Minority institutions

108. As far as minority institutions are concerned in view of clause 5(5) of the Regulations, 1997 made under Section 33 of the Act, 2006 which prescribes a single Eligibility cum Entrance Test for admission to graduate medical professional courses without making any distinction between minority and non minority institutions and the admissibility of such a regulatory measure by the Supreme Court in Modern Dental College case and Sankalp Charitable Trust case and as there is no challenge to the holding of such tests in these petitions even by petitioners who are minority institutions, therefore, on the same analogy and for the same reasoning as has been discussed hereinabove in the earlier part of the judgment, a Centralized Counselling for such a minority institution is also permissible and has been approved in Modern Dental College, therefore, the impugned orders in this regard do not suffer from any error. Exclusion of minority institutions from the purview of the Act, 2006 does not invalidate the impugned orders as the said Act does not dealt with centralized counselling. Condition no.4 of notification dated 02.09.2016 was contrary to the dictum of the Supreme as already referred above, therefore, it has rightly been superseded by a subsequent order dated 03.09.2016, reiterating the position under the earlier Government orders which was in consonance with law. A single window procedure in the form of Centralized Entrance Test and Centralized Counselling is applicable to minority institutions also as per P.A. Inamdar and Modern Dental College case, therefore, the impugned Government orders cannot be faulted on this count specially as exclusion of minority institution under Section 3(g) read with Section 6 etc. of the Act, 2006 has become redundant in view of a centralized entrance test being prescribed by regulation 5(5) as amended vide notification dated 21.12.2010 and the judgment of the Supreme Court in Modern Dental College case and Sankalp Charitable Trust case which leave no room of doubt in this regard.

109. Considering the mechanism of Common-Entrance-Test and Centralized Counselling from which even the minority institutions cannot escape as they are permissible regulatory measures to be adopted by the State and a reasonable restriction on constitutional rights which, in any case, are not absolute as held in Modern Dental College case and also as the process of admission includes counselling, where, admissions are granted on the basis of the eligibility-cum-merit list based on NEET Test 2016 without any liberty to the private institutions including the minority one's to hold any entrance test or counselling separately for themselves and also considering the fact that it is a students who opts for a particular institution, including a minority institution, and neither the State nor the private institution can have any role in exercise of this choice, the question of minority institutions being allowed to fill up their seats on their own does not arise as any such permission would contrary to the law declared by the Courts and would give room for exploitation of such students as has already been discussed at length in Modern Dental College case.

110. However, having held as above, we cannot ignore the fact that after all, the minority institutions by their very character are entitled to cater to the need of the minority albeit within reasonable limits in terms of protection granted to them under Article 30(1), therefore, while considerations of merit in the Common-Entrance-Test and counselling which are regulatory measures is necessarily applicable in respect of minority institutions also, which cannot be compromised, but, a balance is required to be struck in this regard with the rights of minority institutions to admit students of their community, especially, in respect to Integral University established under the State Act i.e. Integral University Act, 2004, Section 6 of which permits it to provide reservation for minorities not exceeding 50% in a year. Needless to say that similar is the position in respect of other minority institutions as these protections are under the constitutional provisions and not on the basis of a statute. These institutions can not hold an Entrance Test or Counselling but they are at liberty to choose, subject to the choice of the student, without deviating from merit of the students belonging to minority community as reflected in the NEET list 2016 and grant admission to them to the extent permissible, in exercise of their minority status and the benefit attached therewith as otherwise their minority status itself would be rendered meaning-less.

111. The dictum of the Supreme Court in this regard is binding on all courts under Article 141 of the Constitution of India and under Article 141 thereof all authorities civil and judicial in the territory of India are obligated to Act in the aid of the Supreme Court.

112. As far as regulation of fee chargeable by them is concerned it is not in dispute that the provisions applicable to other institutions are not being applied by the State in respect to them by the impugned orders, therefore, this issue does not require any consideration.

Objection to the maintainability of the writ petitions.

113. An objection was raised by the State regarding the very maintainability of these writ petitions in view of an order dated 28.04.2016 passed by the Supreme Court in the case of Sankalp Charitable Trust by referring to point no.6 therein. The issue involved in the said writ petition is/was regarding holding of NEET examination for admission to MBBS/BDS for academic session 2016-17. The cause of action for filing the present writ petitions has arisen subsequent to the said examination and it is based on the policy decision taken by the State Government regarding a subsequent action i.e. Centralized Counselling and fixation of fee etc. The observation contained at point no. 6 that any difficulty with regard to implementation of the order of this Court the Stake-holder may approach the Supreme Court has to be understood in the context in which it has been made, therefore, for the reasons aforesaid we do not find that the said order creates any bar in entertaining these writ petitions which are based on a subsequent and separate cause of action.

114. Another objection was sought to be raised by the State that none of the students had approached the Court and that it was premature to say that based on the policy of the State Government the requisite number of students would not take admission under 50% non-subsidized seats in private institutions thereby jeopardizing their viability. We are not impressed by this argument. The petitioners are private institutions who have challenged the policy decision of the State Government by which it has decided to hold Centralized Counselling as against their alleged right to hold such counselling as being claimed by these petitioners' institutions, as also the rationality behind creation of subsidized seats; introducing reservation on the basis of residence as against 50% seats in private institutions where the State has no financial stake, thereby, allegedly, compromising merit in violation of the dictum of the Supreme Court and encroaching on their rights. In view of what has been discussed hereinabove as the policy contained in the order dated 02.09.2016 in its present form is clearly unworkable, therefore, to say that petitioners cannot challenge the same is apparently fallacious. This policy is the basis for holding the admission process after issuance of NEET list, therefore, if its validity is not considered at this stage but at a later stage it might result in jeopardizing the admission process irreparably as also the career of the students. No trial and error can be permitted in such matters without there being due application of mind at the initial stage of formulating a policy, as, the triple test and merit consideration are to be ensured at this stage itself.

114A. Sri Gyanendra Srivastava learned counsel appearing for Medical Council of India informed the Court that in view of the dictum of the Supreme Court in Priya Gupta's case the time scheduled for such admissions cannot be tinkered by any one. We have perused the judgment in Priya Gupta's case and have kept the same in mind. If the illegality is palpable and fundamental which requires rectification while there is still time, we do not see how this could be done without interfering in the matter but of course the time scheduled has to be honoured.

115. As far as interim orders passed by Kerala and Bombay High Courts are concerned and which have been relied upon by the petitioners, as we are deciding the writ petitions finally and interim orders do not constitute binding precedent and also in view of detailed discussions made hereinabove which could not be done at the interim stage in the proceedings pending before the other High Courts as also other proceedings before this Court as a consequence of which earlier relevant aspects could not be considered in these interim orders, therefore, we do not feel that our hands are tied in any manner by those interim orders.

116. Before parting we would like to record our strong disapproval of the casual manner in which the State has proceeded with the matter by issuing the orders one after the other modifying the earlier one till the last moment of registration and thereafter till the very date of commencement of counselling i.e. 03.09.2016, even introducing a major change in the policy vide order dated 02.09.2016 just a day prior to it, thereby creating a state of confusion and uncertainty which should have been avoided. Even the policy relating to admission in private unaided institutions had not taken final shape and was uncertain till the issuance of the brochure which is stated to have been issued on 16.08.2016. The student should have been informed in advance about the Government policy with regard to admission process and fee fixation unambiguously and specifically so as to facilitate the exercise of their choice in respect thereof during the process of counselling.

117. In view of the above discussion we order as under:-

(i) Subject to what has been held hereinabove, the impugned orders prescribing a Centralized Counselling for all institutions for admission to MBBS/BDS medical courses in the State based on NEET 2016, do not suffer from any error.

(ii) Minority institutions shall be allowed to admit the students of their community based on Centralized Counselling held by the State on the basis of NEET 2016, to the extent permissible, but, without deviating from the merit of such students as reflected in the NEET list 2016, so as to sub-serve their minority status under Article 30(1) of the Constitution of India.

(iii) Clause 1 and 2 of the order dated 02.09.2016 shall not be given effect in their present form, however, considering the laudable object behind it, which the State wants to achieve in discharge of its constitutional obligation, if it chooses to prescribe subsidized seats for the poor it may do so, but, subject to following conditions:-

(a) it should fund the subsidy itself unless it is able to devise any other legally and constitutionally permissible means of doing so;

(b) in such an eventuality, it shall ensure that poor students are admitted against subsidized seats without compromising merit i.e. only when such students are within the zone of merit, in the normal course, for exercising his choice during counselling as per NEET list 2016 and not otherwise;

(c) reservation on the basis of residence for the purposes of subsidized seats, if the occasion so arises, shall be restricted to 50% of the seats excluding the All India Quota seats but including the seats in Government institutions and the number/percentage of such seats reserved in private institutions shall be re-fixed accordingly.;

118. The State may if it chooses reformulate its policy as aforesaid. If not, then clause 1 and 2 of the order dated 02.09.2016 shall be treated as inoperative.

(iv)As we have held clause 1 and 2 of the order of the State dated 02.09.2016 to be unsustainable in its present form and as they provide the basic principle and formula of fee fixation, for seats in private institutions, therefore, unless the State reformulates its policy as aforesaid, the orders passed by the fee Committee based thereon, in respect of individual institutions can also not be sustained nor given effect, and are accordingly quashed, therefore, subject to the above, the committee shall refix the fee chargeable by such institutions, accordingly.

It is made clear that we have not considered the other grounds of challenge to the decision of fee committee raised in separate writ petitions by individual petitioners and all such pleas shall be open to the parties, if the occasion so arises.

(v)As a consequence of the above Ist round of counselling, which has not yet been finalized, is required to be held again. It is therefore provided that the same shall be done with expedition and the admission process shall be completed, including the exercise/steps, if any, referred at point no. (iii) hereinabove, with the same expedition, keeping in mind the time schedule in regulation 7(6AA) of the Regulations, 1997 but no later than 25.09.2016.

119. In the end we would like to record our appreciation for the valuable assistance extended by all the learned counsel appearing for the parties which has facilitated the rendering of this judgment today, considering the time crunch.

120. Subject to the above, all the writ petitions are partly allowed.

Versus

Election Commission of India Thru. Chief Election Commission ...Respondents

Counsel for the Petitioner:
Ajmal Khan (In Person)

Counsels for the Respondents:
C.S.C., A.S.G., V.K. Dubey

HEADNOTES:

(A) Election Law – Election Manifesto – False Promises – Corrupt Practice – Scope

Mere promise made in election manifesto, even if subsequently not fulfilled, does not by itself amount to "corrupt practice" within the meaning of Section 123(2) of the Representation of the People Act, 1951. Allegation that promises such as distribution of laptops, grant of scheduled caste status to backward Muslim community, and providing solar rickshaws were false inducements, cannot be adjudicated in writ jurisdiction. Question of corrupt practice affecting election results can only be examined by way of election petition under the Representation of the People Act, 1951.

(B) Constitutional Law – Article 324 – Power of Election Commission – Reformative Measures – Judicial Direction

High Court under Article 226 of the Constitution can issue direction to the Election Commission of India to consider taking preventive or reformative measures for maintaining purity of elections where political promises may mislead voters on matters beyond constitutional competence of State Government. Court cannot frame guidelines where statute already occupies the field, but can require Commission to consider steps to preserve free and fair elections.

(C) Free and Fair Election – Democratic Principles – Voters' Right to Information

Purity of elections is part of basic democratic structure. Election Commission empowered under Article 324 to ensure fairness and transparency in electoral process. Courts may direct Commission to examine issues relating to misleading promises which may affect informed electoral choice of voters.

PROCEDURE:

Public Interest Litigation filed alleging that election manifesto of a political party in 2012 U.P. Assembly Elections contained promises which were beyond constitutional competence of State Government and amounted to corrupt practice and undue influence upon voters. Petitioner sought directions for de-recognition of the political party and issuance of reformative directions by Election Commission of India.

ISSUE:
Whether false or unfulfilled promises in election manifesto constitute corrupt practice under Section 123(2) of the Representation of the People Act, 1951?
Whether High Court can issue directions to the Election Commission of India under Article 226 of the Constitution to take reformative steps preventing misleading promises in election manifestos?

CITATION:

Ramchandra G. Kapse Vs. Haribansh Ramakbal Singh (1996) 1 SCC 206

Kuldip Nayar Vs. Union of India & Ors. AIR 2006 SC 3127

CONCLUSION:
Writ petition disposed of. Court held that unfulfilled promises in election manifesto do not constitute corrupt practice per se, and remedy relating to corrupt practice lies by way of election petition under the Representation of the People Act, 1951. However, liberty granted to petitioner to approach Election Commission of India with suggestions for reformative measures. Election Commission may consider exercising its powers under Article 324 of the Constitution to ensure fairness and purity of elections and prevent constitutionally impermissible promises by political parties.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Amreshwar Pratap Sahi, J.
Hon'ble Dr. Vijay Laxmi, J.)

1. Heard Sri Ajmal Khan Advocate in person, Sri V.K. Dubey, learned counsel for the Election Commission of India, Sri S.B. Pandey, learned Assistant Solicitor General of India and Sri Vijai Bahadur Singh, learned Advocate General on behalf of the respondent No.3 State of U.P.

2. It is not necessary to issue notice to the respondent No.4 keeping in view the nature of dispute involved at this stage and in view of the judgment that we are delivering today.

3. The present writ petition has been filed alleging that the election manifesto of the respondent No.4 Samajwadi Party while fielding its candidates for contesting Assembly Elections of the State in 2012 promulgated a manifesto with a view to influence voters and cast their votes in favour of the said said party, declaring false promises knowingly, which amounts to a corrupt practice and even otherwise, such practices in order to be prevented in future, should be taken notice of by the Election Commission of India for issuing necessary directions. He, therefore, submits that this public interest litigation should be entertained and directions be issued for appropriate action.

4. In order to substantiate his submissions, Sri Khan submits that so far as corrupt practice is concerned, any form of undue influence as defined under Section 123 (2) of the Representation of Peoples Act, 1951 would amount to a corrupt practice. The respondent Samajwadi Party on the basis of such false promise particularly with regard to distribution of laptops in the field of education, secondly with regard to giving the status of scheduled caste to the most backward

Muslim minority Community and thirdly, of providing electronically/ solar charged rickshaws to manual rickshaw pullers were all false promises, that were given knowingly and which were not within the capability of the party to extend. This would amount to an inducement of voters resulting in a corrupt practice. He, therefore, submits that such a political party should be de-recognized and deprived of its right and privileges under the Election Symbols (Reservation & Allotment) Order, 1968. Consequently, the Election Commission of India should withhold all such privileges to the Samajwadi Party.

5. Sri Khan further prays that a mandamus be issued directing the Election Commission of India to issue reformative orders to all political parties in order to avoid allurement of voters on false, deceptive and wrong promises for which the Election Commission of India has ample powers under Article 324 of the Constitution of India.

6. Replying to the said submissions, learned counsel for the respondents particularly, Sri Vijai Bahadur Singh, learned Advocate General has invited the attention of the Court to the Apex Court decision in the case of S. Subramaniam Balaji Vs. State of Tamil Nadu and others: (2013) 9 SCC 659 [paragraph-84] to submit that any promise made in an election manifesto of a political party, would not fall within the definition of a corrupt practice. Even otherwise, if a corrupt practice has resulted in materially affecting the results of any elections that were held in the year 2012, the same could be made subject matter of an election petition by the aggrieved person of a particular constituency which is not the case here, hence the writ petition for such a relief would not be maintainable.

7. On the second issue of issuing any orders for reformation, Sri Singh has relied on paragraph 79 of the above noted decision to urge that guidelines cannot be framed by the Court in this regard.

8. Countering the said submissions Sri Khan contends that the judgment in the case of S. Subramaniam Balaji (supra) as relied upon by the learned Advocate General is not on the issue so as to prevent this Court from issuing any directions to the Election Commission of India for taking up reformative measures. Sri Khan relies on the judgment in the case of Union of India Vs. Association for Democratic Reforms and another: AIR 2002 SC 2112 [paragraph-56], and Kuldip Nayar. Vs. Union of India & Ors.: AIR 2006 SC 3127 [paragraph-327], to contend that if the Election Commission has the power to take reformative steps, then this Court in exercise of jurisdiction under Article 226 of the Constitution of India can issue directions to the Election Commission for taking appropriate steps even if no guidelines can be directly framed by the Court. He, therefore, contends that the judgment relied upon by the learned Advocate General, does not in any way bar this Court to exercise its discretion in issuing a direction to the Election Commission of India for taking reformative steps particularly, in relation to such false promises being made by the political parties that can never be performed by them. Sri Ajmal Khan submits that the power to grant the status of a scheduled caste is nowhere available to the State Government and is exclusively within the domain of the Centre. Thus, a false promise of giving status of a scheduled caste to the extremely backward Muslims minorities was a promise that was knowingly false beyond the competence of the State and, therefore, the respondent No.4 political party does not deserve to enjoy the privilege of the 1968 Order. It is in this background that he submits that a direction be issued to the Election Commission of India to take appropriate steps.

9. Having given a thoughtful consideration to the submissions raised, we find that the judgment in the case of S. Subramaniam Balaji (supra), squarely covers the field in no uncertain terms in para 84.1 holding that a promise in a manifesto that remains unfulfilled by itself cannot be a corrupt practice. The Apex Court also relied on its earlier decision in the case of Ramchandra G. Kapse. Vs. Haribansh Ramakbal Singh: (1996) 1 SCC 206. Thus, the first argument of the petitioner does not hold water. As per the constitutional and legal mandate even otherwise the results of an Assembly Elections can be questioned on the ground of corrupt practice only through an election petition under the Representation of Peoples Act, 1951.

10. The second issue relating to issuing of directions to the Election Commission of India has to be understood in the context of the prayer made in this writ petition. In the case of S. Subramaniam Balaji (supra), while deciding issue No.3, what has been held is that the Court does not enjoy any inherent power to issue guidelines that are already provided under the Representation of Peoples Act, 1951 where Section 123 (2) enumerates a series of acts as falling within the definition of corrupt practices. Thus, in the absence of any legislative vacuum, it was held that the Court will not have any such inherent power.

11. Reiterating the restraint to be exercised by Courts through judicial interference, in para 84.4, of the Balaji case the Hon'ble Supreme Court ruled that unless the action of Government is unconstitutional or contrary to the statutory provisions, an interference should not be made merely on the ground that the action was not wise or that the extent of expenditure is not good for the State.

12. However, the aforesaid ratio of the decision does not prevent the Courts from issuing any appropriate direction for the consideration of any such steps to be taken by the Commission that may be necessary to curb any mal-practice that may be constitutionally not permissible. In the instant case, the petitioner has raised an issue that the promise of giving the status of scheduled caste to extremely backward Muslims was a false promise declared in the manifesto that was done knowingly to deceive the voters who are not well aware of the distinction of doctrine of separation of powers and doctrine of distribution of powers.

13. Admittedly, the status of scheduled caste can be granted by the Central Government during the Presidential Order or by bringing about any alteration in the same which is exclusively in the domain of the Central Government. The State Government in its exercise of authority constitutionally has no decisive role to play in the same. The petitioner, therefore, is not wrong in his submission that such an impression being given to the voters who are not well read to understand the above time distinctions of a working of the Constitution, might have been allured to vote for the respondent No.4 Samajwadi party whereas, no State Government would have power to do so. But the aforesaid impression can also be possibly explained by a political party to mean that the promise was to fight for such a status and not to grant it.

14. It is in this context that the petitioner has prayed for a direction to the Election Commission for bringing about reformative measures. The issue, therefore is, can a direction be issued by this Court to the Election Commission for a consideration of the same.

15. It is no doubt true that a free and fair election is a concept inherent in the democratic values adopted by our polity as has been indicated extensively in the Constitution Bench judgment relied upon by Sri Khan in the case of Kuldip Nayar (supra). It is no longer necessary to extract or repeat the observations made therein vis-a-vis a free and fair election to be ensured by the Commission of India. In this direction, Sri Khan has rightly referred to the Apex Court decision in the case of Union of India Vs. Association for Democratic Reforms and another (supra) where the Apex Court was considering the right of citizens to know about the criminal antecedents and other important steps which were necessary for choosing a candidate of one's choice. Thus, the directions which were issued by the High Court for a candidate to provide information, was found to be a step to maintain purity of elections. Consequently, Hon'ble Supreme Court upheld the exercise of power for issuing necessary directions to the Election Commission of India to invoke Article 324 of the Constitution of India calling upon a candidate to disclose the information about himself at the time of contesting elections. The Court, therefore, did exercise its power by issuing a mandamus to that effect and the argument in this regard as is being advanced by Sri Khan was upheld. The aforesaid judgment therefore, is not in conflict with the decision relied on by the learned Advocate General in the case of S. Subramaniam Balaji (supra). The judgment in the case of Union of India Vs. Association of Democratic Reforms (supra) is a three-Judges decision whereas, the judgment in the case of S. Subramaniam Balaji (supra) is a two-judges pronouncement of the Apex Court.

16. Consequently, we are of the opinion that in order to ensure fairness and purity and streamlining of any procedure, the Election Commission of India can be called upon by this Court to invoke its authority under Article 324 of the Constitution of India to take such preventive or reformative measures that the Commission may find necessary to avoid any such malady and prevent the political parties from deliberately promising something which otherwise, may not be constitutionally permissible for them to do so.

17. We, therefore, give liberty to the petitioner to approach the Election Commission of India for any such redressal along with his suggestions and it shall be open to the Election Commission of India to take any such steps that may fall within its authority under Article 324 of the Constitution of India in order to regulate the activities of the political parties so as to avoid any form of practice that may be necessary to maintain the purity of elections.

18. The petition stands disposed of with the said observations.

HEADNOTES:
High Court held that although Sessions Court and High Court possess jurisdiction to accept surrender and consider bail directly under Section 439 Cr.P.C., such extraordinary power cannot be exercised routinely.
Normal practice requiring surrender before Magistrate is a pragmatic and well established procedure necessary for verification of identity of accused, case status and other formalities before remand. No exceptional or special circumstance was shown by applicants warranting deviation from established procedure.
Conduct of applicants indicated repeated attempts to avoid due process of law despite grant of earlier protective orders. Inherent jurisdiction under Section 482 Cr.P.C. is extraordinary and must be exercised sparingly with circumspection.
Application held devoid of merit and dismissed.

Proceedings:
Application under Section 482 Cr.P.C. seeking direction to Sessions Judge, Rampur to accept direct surrender of the accused-applicants in Criminal Case No.1654 of 2006 arising out of Case Crime No.297 of 2006 under Sections 304 and 201 IPC, P.S. Civil Lines, District Rampur, and thereafter to consider interim and regular bail in light of law laid down in Sundeep Kumar Bafna vs. State of Maharashtra (2014) 16 SCC 623, along with prayer for protection against coercive measures.
F.I.R. was lodged regarding a major fire incident in Swati Menthol Factory, Rampur allegedly caused due to gross negligence and lack of adequate safety measures in handling highly inflammable mentha oil, resulting in death and burn injuries to several labourers. Initially charge-sheet was submitted under Sections 304-A, 285 and 287 IPC, however the Chief Judicial Magistrate, upon consideration of material on record, took cognizance under Sections 304 and 201 IPC.
Earlier proceedings were quashed by High Court but the said order was set aside by Hon'ble Supreme Court in Criminal Appeal No.1484 of 2010, restoring criminal proceedings. Non-bailable warrants were thereafter issued. Applicants approached High Court seeking direction permitting direct surrender before Sessions Court instead of Magistrate.

Issue:

Whether inherent powers under Section 482 Cr.P.C. can be exercised to direct Sessions Court to accept direct surrender of accused persons and consider bail application in cases triable exclusively by Court of Sessions, bypassing normal procedure of surrender before Magistrate.

Citation:
Sundeep Kumar Bafna vs. State of Maharashtra and another, (2014) 16 SCC 623.
Concurrent jurisdiction of High Court and Sessions Court under Section 439 Cr.P.C. to accept surrender and consider bail recognized, but such power to be exercised only in exceptional circumstances.

Conclusion:
High Court held that although Sessions Court and High Court possess jurisdiction to accept surrender and consider bail directly under Section 439 Cr.P.C., such extraordinary power cannot be exercised routinely.
Normal practice requiring surrender before Magistrate is a pragmatic and well established procedure necessary for verification of identity of accused, case status and other formalities before remand. (Delivered by Hon'ble Karuna Nand Bajpayee, J.)

1. This application u/s 482 of Cr.P.C. has been preferred seeking the direction to learned Sessions Judge, Rampur to accept, directly in his court, surrender of the accused-applicants to judicial custody in connection with Criminal Case No.1654 of 2006 u/s 304, 201 I.P.C., P.S.-Civil Lines, District-Rampur (State vs. Surendra Kumar Gupta and others) as per and in terms of interpretation of law given by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in case of Sundeep Kumar Bafna vs. State of Maharashtra and another-(2014) 16 SCC 623 and thereafter decide interim as well as regular bail plea of the accused-applicants in accordance with various guidelines issued by this Hon'ble Court from time to time on subject matter of consideration by courts below relating to bail and interim bail plea of any accused in any case involving cognizable and non-cognizable offences. It has also been prayed further that no coercive steps be taken against the accused-applicants in connection with aforesaid criminal proceedings pending in the court of learned C.J.M., Rampur.

2. Heard Shri A.C. Srivastava, Advocate holding brief of Shri Sushil Shukla, learned counsel for the applicants and learned A.G.A. and perused the record.

3. It appears from the record that one Har Narain s/o Shri Roshan Lal lodged a F.I.R. dated 15.2.2006 against the applicant no.1 Surendra Kumar Gupta and the Manager of Swati Menthol Factory, Rampur and also the Board of Management, Swati Menthol Factory, Rampur for offence which was registered as Case Crime No.297/2006 u/s 304 and 201 I.P.C., Police Station-Civil Lines, District-Rampur with allegations that the nephew of informant namely Laxmi Narain was working as Generator Operator in Swati Menthol Factory, Rampur. On 15.2.2006 at about 10.30 - 11.00 O'clock in the morning, a terrific fire incident took place in Swati Menthol Factory due to criminal negligence of its owner Mr. S.K. Gupta, the Managers and the Board of Management. It was further alleged that there was no proper management and arrangement of fire extinguishers and other such instruments in the factory and there was no arrangement for water etc. in order to extinguish the fire, even though the Mentha Oil product is highly inflammable. It was further alleged that several persons have received burn injuries including his nephew and few of them have died and there is no information regarding whereabouts of his nephew.

4. On the basis of this F.I.R., the investigation had proceeded and the charge sheet no.75/2006 dated 20.3.2006 was submitted before the Court of learned Chief Judicial Magistrate, Rampur against five accused persons including the applicants of instant petition for offences u/s 304A, 285, 287 of I.P.C. The Chief Judicial Magistrate, Rampur considered the material available on case diary on 21.3.2006 and found that the conclusion of the Investigating Officer about the commission of offences u/s 304-A, 285 and 287 I.P.C. is erroneous and there is sufficient material available on case diary disclosing the commission of offence u/s 304 and 201 I.P.C. against the accused persons Surendra Kumar Gupta, Sanchit Gupta, Ramendra Kumar Gupta, Nitin Gupta @ Sachin Gupta and Sanjai Agrawal. With such conclusion, the Chief Judicial Magistrate, Rampur took cognizance for the said offences and issued process against present applicants only as the other co-accused Ramendra Kumar Gupta and Sanjai Agrawal were already in jail, and hence, the warrants in respect of these two accused persons were issued u/s 309 of Cr.P.C.

5. It also appears from the record that the present applicants had preferred Criminal Misc. Writ Petition No.2213 of 2006 which was disposed of vide order dated 23.2.2006 refusing to interfere with the criminal case but granting stay of their arrest in criminal case for a period of only four weeks from the date of order. It was further observed that if they appeared or were produced before the court below within this period of four weeks then matter shall be dealt with in accordance with law.

6. It further appears from the record that the present applicants and other co-accused jointly preferred Criminal Misc. Application No.3216 of 2006 (Surendra Kumar Gupta and others vs. State of Uttar Pradesh and another) before this Court which was allowed vide order dated 6.10.2006 and the criminal proceedings of the criminal case and the charge sheet were quashed against those persons. The State of Uttar Pradesh feeling aggrieved with the said order dated 6.10.2006, challenged the same before the Hon'ble Apex Court by way of filing Criminal Appeal No.1484 of 2010 (State of U.P. vs. Surendra Kumar Gupta and others). This appeal was allowed by Hon'ble Apex Court vide order dated 29.7.2015, whereby the judgment and order dated 6.10.2006 passed by this Court in favour of accused was set aside and the trial court was given the liberty to proceed with the matter without being influenced by any of the observations made by the High Court in the said judgment and order. The aforesaid order passed by Hon'ble Apex Court was received by the trial court on 14.6.2016 and the non-bailable warrants were issued against the applicants and co-accused persons.

7. At this juncture, the accused-applicants preferred a Criminal Misc. Application u/s 482 Cr.P.C. No.23470 of 2016 (Surendra Kumar Gupta and two others vs. State of U.P.) against the said issuance of process of non-bailable warrants. The aforesaid application u/s 482 Cr.P.C. was disposed off by this Court vide order dated 9.8.2016 refusing to interfere with the order whereby non-bailable warrants were issued. However, this Court recorded the submission made by the counsel for the applicants of the said application regarding the desire of accused-applicants to obtain bail after surrendering in the court below and also their request seeking a protective direction to the lower court to decide the proposed bail application. In view of such desire and request of applicants, this court in the said order dated 9.8.2016 considered the peculiar facts and circumstances of the case and granted the protective order to the applicants staying coercive measures for a period of two months with a further observation/direction that in case the applicants after surrendering in the court, move application for bail within said period, the same shall be considered and decided in accordance with law.

8. With the aforesaid background of the facts, the accused-applicants have once again approached this Court by means of this application u/s 482 of Cr.P.C. with a prayer that appropriate direction be issued to the Sessions Judge, Rampur for accepting, directly in its Court, the surrender of the accused-applicants and take them into judicial custody in connection with criminal case in question as per and in terms of interpretation of applicable law given by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in case of Sundeep Kumar Bafna vs. State of Maharashtra and another-(2014) 16 SCC 623 and thereafter decide interim as well as regular bail plea of the accused-applicants in accordance with various guidelines issued by this Hon'ble Court from time to time. Submission of learned counsel for the applicants is that as the prevailing practice in the judgeship of District Rampur in relation to consideration of bail plea in cases involving the offences triable by the court of Sessions is that the accused-applicants will have to surrender first in the court of Chief Judicial Magistrate, thereafter they shall be taken into judicial custody and their bail applications shall be heard by the Chief Judicial Magistrate. But the matter is involving offences u/s 304 and 201 I.P.C., which are triable exclusively by the court of Sessions his bail shall in all likelihood shall get rejected and thereafter the accused-applicants will have to press their bail plea before the Sessions Judge, who alone will eventually consider their bail plea and during this period, the accused-applicants will have to remain in jail. Further submission is that the Hon'ble Apex Court in Sundeep Kumar Bafna's case (supra) has specifically held that the sessions court and the High Court have jurisdiction upon a such matters and accused of offences which are triable by court of sessions their surrender may be taken directly and they may, in fit cases, be released also directly.

9. Learned A.G.A., on the other hand, has vehemently opposed the relief sought by the accused applicants and has submitted that although there is no dispute about the proposition of law laid down in Sundeep Kumar Bafna's case (supra), but there is no good ground in the present case for grant of such relief as is being claimed by the accused-applicants.

10. After considering the rival submissions in the light of record of the case in hand as well as the position of law as it stands, this Court has no hesitation to hold that the High Court as well as the Sessions court have jurisdiction to entertain such petition of accused side seeking acceptance of their surrender before their Court and take or assume the accused in custody so as to further entertain the regular bail u/s 439 of Code of Criminal Procedure. However, it would be proper to reproduce the conclusion part of Sundeep Kumar Bafna's case (supra), which is as follows:

"33. In conclusion, therefore, we are of the opinion that the learned Single Judge erred in law in holding that he was devoid of jurisdiction so far as the application presented to him by the appellant before us was concerned. Conceptually, he could have declined to accept the prayer to surrender to the Court's custody, although, we are presently not aware of any reason for this option to be exercised. Once the prayer for surrender is accepted, the appellant before us would come into the custody of the Court within the contemplation of Section 439 Cr.P.C. The Sessions Court as well as the High Court, both of which exercised concurrent powers under Section 439, would then have to venture to the merits of the matter so as to decide whether the applicant-appellant had shown sufficient reason or grounds for being enlarged on bail."

11. A careful study of Sundeep Kumar Bafna's case (supra) would go to show that the Hon'ble Apex Court was dealing with an order of learned Single Judge of Bombay High Court, in which relief sought by the accused side, similar to the relief sought in case at hand, was rejected with an opinion that such plea cannot be accepted as the accused is required to be arrested or otherwise he has to surrender before the Court which can send him to remand either to the police custody or to the Magisterial custody and this can only be done u/s 167 of Cr.P.C. by the Magistrate and that order cannot be passed at the High Court level. After considering gamut of case laws, the Hon'ble Apex Court concluded in paragraph 33, as quoted above, that the learned Single Judge erred in law in holding that he was devoid of jurisdiction so far as the application presented to him by the accused before the Hon'ble Apex Court was concerned. However, while holding this conclusion, the Hon'ble Apex Court has also concluded that conceptually, learned Single Judge could have also declined to accept the prayer to surrender to the Court's custody, although there was nothing on record to show any reason for this option to be exercised.

12. In view of what has been considered and held by the Hon'ble Apex Court in the Sundeep Kumar Bafna's case (supra), the real question in present matter is not whether this Court has or has not the power to take the surrender itself or to direct the court of sessions to take surrender directly. The real question is also not whether this Court in a given case has or has not the power to directly entertain the bail application assuming the notional custody of a particular accused in certain circumstances or not. The High Court has no doubt the power to do so itself and also has the power to direct the court of sessions to do so directly. But the real question is whether this particular case deserves the exercise of any such power or not and whether this particular accused has some such peculiar circumstances that he should be dealt with differently from everybody else. To have the power to do something is different from having the desirable required circumstances under which such a power ought to be exercised. It is a self answering question and does not need any elaboration upon the same that it is wholly unpragmatic to suggest, as has been requested by counsel, that this Court should now directly start taking surrender of all the accused persons and entertain their bail applications directly without letting them go through the process of surrendering in the lower courts. This is also wholly unpragmatic to suggest that in all cases which are triable by the court of sessions, the already overburdened court of sessions should step into the shoes of Magistrates and undertake upon themselves the staggering burden of taking surrender in hundreds and thousands of cases themselves. What is being done in all district courts is a pragmatic necessity and the practice going on in District Rampur is just the same which is the practice of all the districts all over the province of Uttar Pradesh. There is nothing unusual about it and it is a time honoured practice well countenanced with by Higher Courts. The process of accepting the surrender requires a lot of formalities like identification of the accused, like the availability of material against them, like ascertaining the fact whether the accused persons are really wanted in the case or not and what is the current state of investigation and the charges against them. After the applications of the accused are accepted in the court of Magistrate, the process gets started up and the Public Prosecutor of that court utilizes his resources and ascertains all the above information and submits reports before the Magistrate about the necessary details and it is on the basis of such report that the Magistrate deems it fit to take the judicial custody of a particular accused. In fact there are certain situation in which even a Magistrate can take the bail of an accused even in a matter which is triable by the court of sessions. The sick and infirm and the women are known categories of accused with regard to whom exception has been carved out in the Code of Criminal Procedure itself. Sometimes in a given befitting case even a Magistrate can grant bail to such an accused charged under grave offences punishable even by life imprisonment. Though the Magistrates are not normally supposed to grant bail to the accused in offences triable by the court of sessions but it cannot be presumed as a matter of definite certainty that in no case and in no circumstances a Magistrate can grant bail to such an accused. There may be another eventualities which need not to be elaborated upon here, but even presuming that this case is not a case where the Magistrate would grant bail, this Court does not see any of those exceptional reasons which may justify the exercise of inherent jurisdiction for the purposes of directing the courts of sessions to take the surrender of the accused directly and entertain their bail directly without the accused appearing before the Court of Magistrate and without moving their bail application before the court of Magistrate. This Court also does not see any good reason to undertake any such exercise itself.

13. In fact the entire background of the case in hand is sufficient to indicate that the accused-applicants are wanted in respect of criminal case involving offences u/s 304 and 201 I.P.C. relating to the death of several persons/labourers of Swati Menthol Factory, Rampur which had occurred due to criminal reckless conduct and negligence of grossest level on the part of accused-applicants giving rise to their indictment under aforesaid sections. Due to improper and insufficient safety arrangements in a factory producing highly inflammable product i.e. Mentha Oil so many persons payed the price. The victims of such heart breaking incident of terrific fire were poor labourers, whose voices have been heard or have been left unheard is not known to this Court.

14. This Court also finds from the record that the accused-applicants had obtained protective order of short interim stay of their arrest not only once but twice vide order dated 23.02.2016 passed by the Division Bench of this Court in Criminal Misc. Writ Petition No.2213/2006 and vide order dated 9.8.2016 passed by this Court in application u/s 482 Cr.P.C. No.23470 of 2016. It may be pertinent to mention that in this subsequent petition No.23470/2016, accused had pressed forth their desire to surrender before the court below and to obtain bail and on the basis of such desire, the accused-applicants had obtained protective direction for a further period of two months, during which there was to remain a stay in respect of coercive measures against them. Yet the accused-applicants did not surrender before the court below and have approached this Court once again on the premise that they have been legally advised to obtain further direction from this Court.

15. Even in a case like this where the charge against the accused is of committing culpable homicide in which many lives got extinguished because of their conduct, it appears that being influential and moneyed persons the accused-applicants have almost been toying with the provisions of law and have been trying to exploit the same to avoid the process of law anyhow. The course of justice has simply been waiting for them for such a long drawn out period of time. Being owner of some factory or being any of its high echelons the accused persons may be having some higher social status or a higher economic status but before the Majesty of law all citizens are equal and they must expect to be treated alike. The applicants' counsel has not been able to show any such exceptional circumstance which may make the applicants' case distinguishable from thousands and thousands of other people who everyday surrender before the court below and submit to the jurisdiction of the court and get justice in due course.

16. As is evident, the accused have already approached this Court and in order to have a safe corridor un-intercepted by police they have also got protective direction obtaining interim stay on issuance of coercive measures against them. But all this magnanimity of the Court has not been taken by the accused in the right spirit, it appears. This court as far as it is practicable does take care to take steps to protect individual liberty of the citizens, but the liberal Majesty of law should not be presumed to be its weakness. The history of the conduct of applicants reflects their propensity for avoiding and fleeing from the course of justice in the name of law. There is difference between the use of law and misuse of the same. The law of the land which we have is man made and not divine. An unscrupulous accused can always find ways and means to defeat justice in the name of law. But the courts have always to be vigilant in order to see and screen through the bonafides of their intention. It appears to be quite audacious on the part of accused not to have surrendered so far in the court below even after the Hon'ble Apex Court set aside the order that was obtained from this Court by the accused in their favour. After Hon'ble Apex Court's order, the accused-applicants approached this Court and once again obtained the interim protective stay of coercive measures for further two months allowing them to appear before the court below in between that period and obtain bail but they have yet not chosen to appear before the court below and have rather insisted upon to be treated differently from everybody else.

17. This court has time and again held that the inherent jurisdiction u/s 482 of Cr.P.C. cannot be permitted to be used as a matter of course in a cavalier fashion. It is an extra-ordinary power and might be used sparingly with great circumspection. With all the deference for the individual rights and liberty and with all the recognition of their value, the facts and circumstances of this particular case do not make out a fit case which may inspire this Court to issue any such direction as has been sought by the accused in this particular case.

18. The application being sans merits stands dismissed.

PROCEDURE:
Application under Section 482 Cr.P.C. filed challenging the order dated 16.08.2016 passed by the trial court whereby the opportunity of the complainant to adduce evidence was closed, and subsequent order dated 31.08.2016 rejecting the recall application (Paper No. 75-Kha). The trial court thereafter proceeded to fix the case for recording statement under Section 313 Cr.P.C.

ISSUE:
Whether the High Court should exercise its inherent jurisdiction under Section 482 Cr.P.C. to quash the order closing the complainant's evidence and grant further opportunity to adduce evidence, despite repeated adjournments and delay attributable to the complainant.

Headnotes:
The High Court refused to interfere and held that:
The applicant/complainant had taken 21 adjournments and continuously failed to produce evidence.
Even after grant of last opportunities, the complainant did not comply and examined only himself as PW-1.
The conduct of the complainant reflected deliberate delay and misuse of the process of court.
The trial court rightly exercised its discretion in closing the evidence.
No illegality, impropriety, or irregularity was found in the impugned orders.
The inherent powers under Section 482 Cr.P.C. cannot be invoked to encourage dilatory tactics.

PRINCIPLES LAID DOWN:

Repeated adjournments without sufficient cause justify closure of evidence.
Inherent jurisdiction under Section 482 Cr.P.C. is not meant to revive opportunities lost due to negligence or misuse of process.
Right to fair trial includes the accused's right to expeditious justice.
Unexplained delay in criminal proceedings amounts to prejudice against the accused.

CITATION:
Nyay Prakash vs State of U.P. & Another, Application U/S 482 No. 27770 of 2016, decided on 15.09.2016 (Allahabad High Court)

CONCLUSION:
The application under Section 482 Cr.P.C. was dismissed, holding that the complainant had abused the process of law by repeated delays, and no ground was made out for interference. The trial court was directed to proceed expeditiously and conclude the trial.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Pramod Kumar Srivastava, J.)

1. Present Sri Akash Mishra, learned counsel for the applicant, learned AGA for opposite party no.-1, Sri P. Dixit, learned counsel for opposite party no.-2. Heard them and perused the records.

2. From perusal of the record, it is found that charges were framed against opposite party no.-2 on 5.5.2012. Thereafter dates in trial of complaint case no. 85 of 2004 (Nyay Prakash Vs. Aditya) were fixed for prosecution of evidences. From perusal of certified copy of the orders, it is found that applicant/ complainant had been not only negligent, but had been apparently and deliberately delayed the proceedings of trial and had not adduced the evidences. Then on 28.10.2015, trial court had passed order mentioning 21 adjournments sought by complainant/applicant and after observing that the next date, i.e., 19.11.2015 would be last opportunity for adducing evidence; but inspite of such directions and warning, no evidence was adduced. Then again trial court had warned for last opportunity of evidence on 1.3.2016. After it, on next date, the complainant had examined himself as PW-1, but after it on several dates he had not adduced any other evidence. On 16.08.2016 applicant/complainant was absent, then trial court had closed the opportunity of complainant's evidence and fixed the date for recording the statement of accused under Section 313 CrPC. On this next date, the applicant/ complainant's side has filed application under Section 75-Kha in court for recalling the order dated 16.8.2016. This application was considered on merit and was rejected on 31.08.2016 by trial court. After it, the date for recording statement of accused under section 313 CrPC was again fixed by trial curt. The proceedings of trial court along with order of closure of complainant's evidence has been challenged through present application u/s 482 CrPC.

3. Learned counsel for the applicant contended that order dated 16.08.2016 of trial court should be quashed so that complainant may get last opportunity to adduce all his evidences. His further submission is that in future no adjournment will be sought by complainant for adducing evidences.

4. Learned counsel for the opposite party no.-2 contended that more than sufficient time had already been afforded to complainant's side; and thereafter in his absence, trial court had closed the opportunity for adducing evidence on 16.8.2016. There is no illegality or impropriety in the aforesaid order and the proceedings carried out by trial court.

5. From perusal of the record, it is found that apparently applicant/ complainant has been misusing the process of court for getting the case adjourned again and again without adducing evidence, for which there appears no satisfactory explanation given; and when on 28.10.2015 the trial court had counted 21 adjournments on behalf of complainant and fixed the date as last opportunity of evidences, then said again this order was also not complied with. Thereafter again warning was given to applicant for adducing evidences and when he was again warned and afforded last opportunity on 1.3.2016, then he had examined only himself and no other witness was examined thereafter on several dates. In these circumstances, there appears no illegality, impropriety or irregularity in the order dated 16.08.2016 passed by trial court or proceedings carried out by the trial court.

6. There has been no satisfactory explanation on the part of applicant/complainant for not adducing all his evidences for such long time. The principle of opportunity of hearing and the principle of natural justice is not only available to applicant/ complainant but is also available to accused who has right to expect expeditious justice. Unnecessary delay in proceedings of criminal trial without satisfactory explanation amounts to denial of legal rights available to accused, when he is being unnecessarily dragged in criminal procedings. In present matter the accused had been harassed for years without any satisfactory explanation in this case that was initiated in the year 2004. There is no reason to accept the contentions of learned counsel for the applicant/complainant and interfere in the impugned order dated 16.8.2016 or proceedings carried out by trial court in exercise of inherent jurisdiction of this Court. In this matter trial court should make all attempt to conclude the trial expeditiously for reaching to its logical end.

7. In view of above, this application is dismissed.

Bail – Dowry Death – Sections 498A, 304B IPC and Section 3/4 Dowry Prohibition Act – Death within seven years of marriage – Viscera report showing aluminium phosphide poisoning – Plea of death due to disease (encephalitis) found false – Burden upon husband to explain unnatural death – Gravity of offence – Bail rejected
Where the deceased wife died within seven years of marriage in unnatural circumstances and the viscera report confirmed presence of aluminium phosphide poison, the plea of the husband that death occurred due to encephalitis was found to be contradicted by scientific evidence. Allegations of demand of dowry and cruelty were supported by material on record. The husband, being primarily responsible for the welfare of the deceased, failed to satisfactorily explain the unnatural death. Considering seriousness of offence and evidence indicating dowry death, no ground for grant of bail was made out.
Bail rejected.
PROCEDURE:
Application for bail filed in Case Crime No. 254 of 2014, under Sections 498A, 304B IPC and Section 3/4 Dowry Prohibition Act, Police Station Bidhanoo, District Kanpur Nagar. Counter affidavit filed by learned AGA taken on record.
ISSUE:
Whether the applicant, husband of the deceased, is entitled to bail where death of wife occurred within seven years of marriage and viscera report confirms consumption of poison despite defence plea of death due to disease.
CITATION:
Sections 498A, 304B IPC
Section 3/4 Dowry Prohibition Act
Principles relating to dowry death, burden to explain unnatural death of wife, and consideration of viscera report in bail matters.
CONCLUSION:
Considering the gravity of offence, allegations of dowry demand and cruelty, and the confirmatory viscera report establishing death due to poison, the Court held that the applicant failed to make out a case for bail.

Bail application rejected with clarification that observations are limited to disposal of bail application and shall not affect merits of trial.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Karuna Nand Bajpayee, J.)

1. Counter affidavit filed by the learned AGA is taken on record.

2. This application has been filed seeking the release of the applicant on bail in Case Crime No. 254 of 2014 u/ss 498A, 304B IPC and Section 3/4 of Dowry Prohibition Act, Police Station- Bidhanoo, District- Kanpur Nagar .

3. Heard learned counsel for the applicant and learned A.G.A.

4. Submission of learned counsel for the applicant is that actually the deceased had died as a result of encephalitis and she was treated for the same for a long period of time in various hospitals by the applicant. Learned counsel for the applicant has tried to show certain medical papers regarding her treatment. Further submission is that therefore, it does not appear to be a case of dowry death and, therefore, the applicant should be released on bail.

5. Learned AGA has opposed the prayer for bail and has drawn the attention of the Court to the allegations made in the FIR, according to which, the applicant along with other co-accused kept demanding additional dowry and also committed cruelty upon the deceased and there is also allegation that some poisonous substance was administered to the deceased. Learned AGA has also drawn the attention of the Court towards the viscera report of the deceased, according to which, aluminium phosphide has been found in the viscera of the deceased. Further submission is that the Chemical Examiner Report is confirmatory in nature leaving no doubt and actually the deceased died due to consumption of some poison. Further submission is that the death of the deceased occurred within 7 years of the marriage and the death of the deceased was also unnatural. The applicant is the husband of the deceased, who was having principal responsibility to ensure welfare and safety of his wife and is also having onus to explain the unnatural death of his wife for which he has utterly failed. Instead of coming forward with explanation for the unnatural death , false plea appears to have been raised and the plea of death as a result of some disease stands completely rebuffed by the findings of the viscera report which proves consumption of poison. Further submission is that in such circumstances, no liberal view is called for.

6. Looking to the nature of offence, its gravity and the evidence in support of it and the overall circumstances of this case, this Court is of the view that the applicant has not made out a case for bail. Therefore, the prayer for bail of the applicant is rejected.

7. It is clarified that the observations, if any, made in this order are strictly confined to the disposal of the bail application and must not be construed to have any reflection on the ultimate merits of the case.

PROCEDURE:
Multiple writ petitions filed challenging denial of participation in interview for the post of Gram Panchayat Adhikari (Advertisement No. 7(3)/2015).
Petitioners had qualified the written examination but were denied interview for non-possession of CCC certificate issued by DOEACC Society.
Petition also challenged validity of Para-8 of the advertisement.
Counter affidavit filed by the Commission defending requirement of CCC certificate based on Government Orders dated 22.11.2011 and 23.11.2012.
All connected writ petitions decided by common order.

ISSUES:
Whether possession of CCC certificate from DOEACC Society is mandatory when not prescribed under statutory Rules, 1978?
Whether candidates possessing higher qualifications in computer can be treated as fulfilling the requirement of CCC certificate?
Whether Government Orders can supplement statutory rules by introducing additional qualifications?
Whether rejection of candidates having higher computer qualifications is arbitrary and violative of Articles 14 & 16?

CASE LAW DISCUSSED:
Jyoti K.K. vs Kerala Public Service Commission, (2010) 15 SCC 596
Chandrakala Trivedi vs State of Rajasthan, (2012) 3 SCC 129
State of Haryana vs Abdul Gaffar Khan, (2006) 11 SCC 156
Dhananjay Malik vs State of Uttaranchal, (2008) 4 SCC 171

Manjit Singh vs State of Punjab (FB, P&H)
Sanjay Kumar Srivastava vs State of U.P. (DB Allahabad HC)

Alok Kumar Misra vs State of U.P.
Devendra Singh vs State of U.P.

Headnotes:
Rule 8 of the U.P. Gram Panchayat Adhikari Rules, 1978 does not prescribe CCC certificate as an essential qualification.
Government can supplement rules by executive instructions if rules are silent, provided such instructions are not inconsistent with statutory rules.
Requirement of CCC certificate introduced through Government Orders and incorporated in advertisement is valid.
However, higher qualification in the same field (computer science) which presupposes basic knowledge of CCC cannot be ignored.
Candidates possessing higher qualifications like B.Tech, BCA, MCA, Diploma, or Computer as a subject must be treated as satisfying CCC requirement.
Denial of consideration to such candidates is arbitrary and violative of equality principles.
Candidates lacking both CCC certificate and any computer qualification are not eligible.
Certificates issued by private institutions or non-DOEACC bodies without recognition cannot be treated as valid.

CONCLUSION:
Writ petition partly allowed.
Petitioners possessing higher or equivalent computer qualifications held eligible and cannot be denied participation in selection.
Petitioners without any computer qualification or with unrecognized certificates held ineligible.
Validity of Para-8 of advertisement upheld.
No order as to costs.

(Delivered by Hon'ble B. Amit Sthalekar, J.)

1. Since the controversy involved in all the above writ petitions is similar, therefore, the above writ petitions are being decided by this common order.

2. Heard Sri Ashok Khare, learned Senior Counsel assisted by Sri Siddharth Khare for the petitioners, Sri K.S. Kushwaha, learned counsel for the respondent no.4 and Sri Mata Prasad, learned Additional Chief Standing Counsel for the respondents no.1 to 3.

3. Initially writ petition no. 30313 of 2016 (Abha Tripathi and 24 others Vs. State of U.P. and others) was filed by the petitioners for a direction to the respondents to hold interview of the post of Gram Panchayat Adhikari in pursuance of the Gram Panchayat Adhikari Examination-2015 and further to treat them as fully qualified and eligible for the said post without raising any objection with regard to the non-possession of the Computer Concept Course (CCC) certificate awarded by the DOEACC Society. Subsequently, by way of an amendment application which was allowed, the petitioners also challenged para 8 of the Advertisement No. 7(3)/2015.

4. The petitioners of W.P. No. 30313 of 2016 who are 25 in number applied against the advertisement no.7(3)/2015 for the post of Gram Panchayat Adhikari under the Panchayat Raj Department of the State. They were issued admit cards and they also appeared in the written examination. The result of the written examination was published on 28.4.2016 and all the petitioners were shown to have qualified the written examination. Thereafter, the interviews were commenced from 30.5.2016 and are to continue till October, 2016. The petitioners have also been issued letters by the Uttar Pradesh Subordinate Services Selection Commission, Lucknow-respondent no.4 (hereinafter referred to as 'Commission') to participate in the interview on the date prescribed therein. The petitioners appeared in the interview on various dates but they were not permitted to participate in the interview on an objection raised by the Commission that the petitioners did not possess the CCC certificate awarded by the DOEACC Society.

5. The admitted case of the petitioners is that none of them possess the CCC certificate in computer from the DOEACC Society. The qualification of the petitioners as given in para 13 of the writ petition is as under:-

Sr. no.	Petitioner	Educational Qualification
1	Abha Tripathi	B.Sc. in Information Technology.

23	Pawan Kumar	Master's Degree in Computer Application.
24	Himansu Singh	Bachelor of Technology Degree in Electronics & Communication Engineering.
25	Abhay Pratap Singh	'O' Level Examination Certificate in Computer awarded by DOEACC Society.

6. Sri Ashok Khare, learned Senior Counsel appearing for the petitioners submitted that the requirement of a CCC certificate awarded by the DOEACC Society was not an essential qualification mentioned for the post of Panchayat Raj Adhikari in the Rules, 1978 as amended and therefore, the requirement of this certificate from the DOEACC Society was an importation in the impugned advertisement and was in violation of the provisions of Rule 8 of the Rules, 1978.

7. The second leg of the submission of the learned Senior Counsel is that all the petitioners are intermediate pass and they have obtained higher qualification in the subject of computer, therefore, insistence on a CCC certificate from the DOEACC Society was wholly unwarranted. Reference has been made to the following judgments of the Supreme Court:-

(a) 2010 (15) SCC 596 (Jyoti K.K. And Others Vs Kerala Public Service Commission and others);

(b) 2011(1) 115 (P&H)(FB) (Manjit Singh Vs State of Punjab And Others);

(c) 2012 (3) SCC 129 (Chandrakala Trivedi Vs State of Rajasthan and others);

(d) 2006 (11) SCC 156 (State of Haryana Vs Abdul Gaffar Khan)

8. Reliance has also been placed upon a judgment of the learned Single Judge dated 9.10.2015 passed in Writ petition no. 44281 of 2015 (Devendra Singh and Others Vs State of U.P. and another).

9. The submission is that the qualifications possessed by the petitioners are much higher than the CCC certificate awarded by the DOEACC Society which is a very basic qualification in the knowledge of computer operation. The contention is that the CCC certificate is an 80 hours course comprising 25 hours of theory studying, 50 hours of practical and 5 hours of tutorials which can be completed in 10 days. The petitioners also contend that for the post of Junior Assistant/Stenographer, a Government Order was issued on 26.5.2015, Annexure-4 to the writ petition mentioning therein that for the post of Junior Assistant/Stenographer for purposes of equivalence with the CCC certificate issued by the DOEACC Society, if any candidate has a Diploma or Degree in Computer Science, he would be eligible to apply for the post of Junior Assistant/Stenographer. The submission therefore, is that what has been held to be good for the post of Junior Assistant/Stenographer should not be a disqualification for the post of Gram Panchayat Adhikari.

10. Shri Khare also sought to draw a parallel with the post of Gram Vikas Adhikari under the Rural Development Department and submits that the said post is equal in rank and qualification to the post of Gram Panchayat Adhikari under the Panchayat Raj Department and carries the same pay scale and, therefore, in terms of the Government Order dated 26.5.2015, the respondents should not insist upon possession of the CCC certificate issued by the DOEACC Society and the qualifications possessed by the petitioners should suffice for appearing in the selection for the post of Gram Panchayat Adhikari.

11. Shri Khare has drawn the attention of the Court to para 3 of the terms and conditions laid down in the advertisement dated 17.8.2013 relating to the post of Gram Vikas Adhikari and submits that therein it was provided that the candidate must have the eligibility qualification of Intermediate pass (Science Group) or any other qualification declared by the Governor to be equivalent to Intermediate plus he must have the CCC certificate in computer from the DOEACC Society or a qualification higher than that of CCC and therefore, it is submitted that since the petitioners have a much higher qualification than CCC in computer from DOEACC Society, therefore, they cannot be held to be ineligible for the post of Gram Panchayat Adhikari.

12. It is further submitted that even in the selection to the District Courts in Group 'C' clerical cadre, CCC certificate in computer from the DOEACC Society was an essential qualification but later on a circular was issued by the High Court on 6.1.2016 directing that candidates who have higher qualification in Computer Science or equivalent to CCC certificate from a University or any Institute duly recognized by AICTE/UGC/Government of India/State Government with Computer as a subject would also be eligible.

13. A parallel was also sought to be drawn with an advertisement for the clerical post in the U.P. Jal Nigam and therefore, the decision of the Commission in insisting upon a CCC certificate from DOEACC Society has been assailed. The submission of the learned Senior Counsel further is that the Uttar Pradesh Gram Panchayat Adhikari Rules, 1978 (hereinafter referred to as Rules, 1978) which came into effect on 10.11.1981, prescribes the essential qualification for appointment and in Rule 8 lays down the academic qualifications and para 9 thereof specifies the preferential qualification required for the post of Gram Panchayat Adhikari. It is stated that in the Rules, 1978 there is no requirement of a candidate possessing a CCC certificate awarded by the DOEACC Society as an essential qualification for the post of Gram Panchayat Adhikari. The submission, therefore, is that the condition laid down in para 8 of the impugned advertisement being contrary to the statutory Rules, the same cannot be insisted upon or applied in the case of the petitioners.

14. A counter affidavit has been filed on behalf of the respondent no.4-Commission. Sri K.S. Kushwaha, learned counsel appearing for the Commission submits that the requisition was sent to the Commission by the Director, Panchayati Raj, Lucknow for filling up 3587 posts of Gram Panchayat Adhikari and along with the requisition the Rules governing the service conditions of Gram Panchayat Adhikari known as the Uttar Pradesh Panchayat Sewak Service Rules, 1978 (hereinafter referred to as Rules, 1978) as amended vide Notification dated 27.3.1980 alongwith Government Order dated 22.11.2011 issued by the Finance Department to the Secretary, Panchayati Raj and Government Order dated 23.11.2012 issued by the Special Secretary, Panchayati Raj was also made available. It is stated that the impugned advertisement was issued strictly in terms of the requisition sent by the Panchayati Raj Department.

15. The submission is that as per the terms and conditions of para 8 of the advertisement a candidate is required to have passed the Intermediate examination from the Secondary Education Board or any other examination recognised by the Government and equivalent to the same and also possess the CCC certificate from the DOEACC Society. So far as the possession of CCC certificate from the DOEACC Society is concerned, there is no equivalence clause mentioned in para 8 of the advertisement and therefore, the candidate has no option but to possess the CCC certificate awarded by the DOEACC Society. It is also stated that none of the petitioners are in possession of the CCC certificate awarded by the DOEACC Society.

16. Sri K.S. Kushwaha, learned counsel for the Commission, however raised a preliminary objection that the petitioners in their application form with regard to the column regarding possession of the requisite qualification of CCC certificate awarded by the DOEACC Society had made an express declaration that they indeed possessed the requisite qualification and it is for this reason that they were allowed to appear in the selection. The copies of application form of some of the petitioners has been filed as Annexure-1 to the counter affidavit.

17. Along with the counter affidavit, the application forms of the petitioners have also been filed and it is submitted that the petitioner no.1-Abha Tripathi and the petitioner no.2-Amod Chauhan have in Column No.2 under the head of essential qualification details, with regard to possession of CCC certificate awarded by the DOEACC Society have written 'YES' in their application form. Shri K.S. Kushwaha submits that this is a false declaration since on their own admission in the present writ petition the petitioners are not in possession of the CCC certificate awarded by the DOEACC Society and it is only on the basis of their false declaration that they were allowed to appear in the written test. Therefore, the petitioners cannot claim any benefit by asserting that they have already appeared in the written test, such appearance being on the basis of misleading information.

18. The stand of the respondents in para 21 of their counter affidavit is that the order dated 22.11.2011, Annexure-4 to the counter affidavit was infact a recommendation made by the Finance Ministry addressed to the Principal Secretary, Panchayati Raj, Government of U.P. laying down the eligibility conditions of CCC certificate in computer from the DOEACC Society in the Grade Pay of Rs.2000/- for the post of Panchayat Raj Adhikari whereas the Government Order dated 23.11.2012, page 52 of the counter affidavit was a letter written by the Government of U.P. to the Director, Panchayati Raj, Lucknow which referred to the letter of the Finance Ministry dated 22.11.2011 but for the post of Gram Panchayat Adhikari it laid down the eligibility qualification of CCC certificate in computer from the DOEACC Society in the Grade Pay of Rs. 2000/- with immediate effect. It is stated that neither the order of the Finance Ministry nor the order of the Government of U.P. dated 23.11.2012 mentions any qualification equivalent to CCC in computer from the DOEACC Society, therefore, the question of treating the qualifications acquired by the petitioners as being equivalent to CCC certificate from DOEACC Society does not arise.

19. The counsel for the Commission has also submitted that the petitioners have not challenged the validity of the Government Order dated 22.11.2011 and 23.11.2012 by which possession of the CCC certificate issued by the DOEACC Society was prescribed as an essential qualification for the post of Gram Panchayat Adhikari. It is also submitted that even if, the Rules are silent with regard to the possession of CCC certificate from the DOEACC Society but since the requirement of such a certificate has been introduced through the Government orders dated 22.11.2011 and 23.11.2012, the same would be an eligibility criteria necessary to be possessed by the petitioners. In support of the above submissions, Sri K.S. Kushwaha has placed reliance upon a judgment of the Supreme Court reported in 1992 (1) SCC 20 (Comptroller and Auditor General of India Vs Mohan Lal Mehrotra). Reliance has also been placed upon the judgment of the Supreme Court reported in 2008 (4) SCC 171 (Dhananjay Malik & Ors. Vs State of Uttaranchal & Ors.). Reference has also been made to a Single Judge judge of Lucknow Bench of the Allahabad High Court in Service Single No.6655 of 2016 (Alok Kumar Misra Vs State of U.P. and others) along with other connected petitions.

20. Further by way of illustration the submission of the learned counsel for the Commission is that the Rules, 1978 do not lay down the pay scale of the post but that does not in itself mean that the Government cannot determine the pay scale from time to time through Government Orders. He submits that the impugned Advertisement No. 7(3)/2015 itself mentions the pay scale of the post of Gram Panchayat Adhikari as Rs.5200-20200/- in the Grade Pay of Rs.2000/- and therefore, the submission is that likewise the requirement of a CCC certificate awarded by the DOEACC Society as an essential qualification was also prescribed through the Government Orders referred to hereinabove and mentioned in para 8 of the advertisement and the advertisement does not contain any equivalence clause making any other qualification as equivalent to a CCC certificate from the DOEACC Society. The only equivalence referred to is with regard to the intermediate examination held by the Secondary Education Board or any other equivalent Board.

21. Copy of the Uttar Pradesh Gram Panchayat Adhikari Rules, 1978 have been filed alongwith the rejoinder affidavit. Rule 8 thereof reads as under:-

"8. Academic Qualification.- A candidate for direct recruitment to the post of Panchayat Sewak must have passed Intermediate examination of the Board of High School and Intermediate Examination or an examination recognized as equivalent thereto."

22. From a perusal of Rule 8, it is noticed that "a candidate for direct recruitment to the Panchayat Sewak must have passed Intermediate examination of the Board of High School and Intermediate Examination or an examination recognized as equivalent thereto". Rule 3 (g) defines 'Service' to mean the Uttar Pradesh Gram Panchayat Adhikari Service and therefore, the term Panchayat Sewak must be read as being synonymous with Gram Panchayat Adhikari. It is not disputed by any of the parties that the Rules, 1978 do not provide for acquisition of knowledge of computer or a CCC certificate much less a CCC certificate awarded by the DOEACC Society. The requirement of CCC certificate from DOEACC Society was introduced by the Government Order dated 23.11.2012. The Government Order dated 23.11.2012 itself has not been subjected to any challenge in the present writ petition, however the submission of the learned Senior Counsel for the petitioners is that the petitioners possess a higher qualification in computer which presupposes the basic knowledge of computer as required in the CCC course certificate which is awarded by the DOEACC Society which would imply that the petitioners were otherwise eligible for the post of Gram Panchayat Adhikari.

23. In para 15 of the writ petition, it is stated that the CCC certificate awarded by the DOEACC Society is a basic qualification in the knowledge of computer operations. The said course is an 80 hours course comprising of 25 hours of theory study; 50 hours of practical and 5 hours of tutorial. The said course can also be completed in ten days full time intensive course.

24. In para 11 of the counter affidavit filed by the Commission, the averments of para 15 of the writ petition have not been categorically denied. All that has been stated is that the petitioners do not possess the qualification required by the advertisement and therefore, merely possessing a higher qualification would not mean possessing the requisite qualification.

25. Shri K.S. Kushwaha in support of his submission has referred to a judgment of a learned Single Judge of this Court in Service Single no. *6655 of 2016 (Alok Kumar Misra Vs State of U.P. and others) along with other connected writ petitions decided vide judgment and order dated 2.5.2016. The post in question in that case was of Junior Engineer. The selection was conducted by the Commission. Rule 8 of the Uttar Pradesh Irrigation Department Civil Engineers Subordinate Service Rules, 1992 provided that a candidate for direct recruitment or promotion to a post in the service must possess any of the following qualifications:-

a) Diploma in Civil Engineering awarded by an Institution or University established by law in India.

Or

b) Diploma in Civil Engineering awarded by the Board or Technical Education Uttar Pradesh.

Or

c) National Certificate in Civil Engineering awarded by All India Council of Technical Education.

Or

d) Three years Diploma in Civil and Rural Engineering by the Board of Technical Education Uttar Pradesh.

26. Rule 8 of the Uttar Pradesh Public Works Department Junior Engineer (Civil) (Group-'C') Service Rules, 2014 laid down the eligibility qualifications as under:-

A candidate for direct recruitment to the posts in the service must possess following qualification:-

(i) must have possessed the High School Examination of the Board of High School and intermediate Education, Uttar Pradesh or an Examination recognized by the Government as equivalent thereto.

(ii) Must possess three years Diploma in Civil Engineering from the Board of Technical Education, Uttar Pradesh or a qualification recognized by the Government as equivalent thereto.

27. The petitioners therein were all degree holders in Civil and Mechanical Engineering. The contention of the respondents was that the petitioners did not possess the requisite qualification and therefore, merely possessing a higher qualification of Degree in Engineering would not presuppose possession of lower qualification of Diploma. The learned Single Judge held that the possession of a Degree in Engineering is not the same as possession of a Diploma in Engineering as a candidate is not required to possess a Degree in Engineering in order to possess a Diploma in Engineering.

28. In my opinion the said judgment has no application to the present case as in that case the Junior Engineer (Civil) Group 'C' Service Rules, 2014 clearly mention possession of a Diploma as an essential qualification and the learned Single Judge has not held the Degree qualification to be equivalent to or higher than Diploma qualification.

29. The next judgment relied upon by the respondents is in Special Appeal No.829 of 2015 (Sanjay Kumar Srivastava and others Vs State of U.P. and others). That was a case relating to recruitment to the post of Additional Private Secretaries. The Uttar Pradesh Secretariat Personal Assistant Service (First Amendment) Rules, 2005 provided the qualifications in Rule 8 as under:-

(i) must possess Bachelor's degree from a University established by law in India or a qualification recognized by the Government as equivalent thereto;

(ii) must have a minimum speed of eighty words per minute and twenty five words per minute in Hindi shorthand and Hindi typewriting respectively;

(iii) must possess the knowledge of Computer in accordance with-

(a) the course prescribed for the Certificate Course in Computing (CCC) conducted by DOEACC Society,

(b) the course conducted by the Board of High School and Intermediate Education, Uttar Pradesh or a course recognized by the Government as equivalent thereto.

30. The contention of the petitioners before the Court was that they should be allowed to participate in the third and final stage of examination comprising of computer test without any objection pertaining to their eligibility with reference to computer knowledge. The Division Bench referring to the provisions of Rule 8 (iii) (a) held that the Rule required that a candidate should have passed either the certificate course in computer conducted by the DOEACC Society or the course conducted by the Board of High School or Intermediate or any course equivalent thereto recognized by the Government. The Court interpreted the provisions of Rule 8 (iii) (a) and (b) together and held that the claim of the petitioners that holding of a computer test by the Commission would render holding of a particular certificate as redundant and the submission that holding of a proficiency certificate in computer or any other prescribed skill from a specific institution is not mandatory because the selecting body is also going to hold an examination in computers was rejected by the Division Bench as unacceptable. The Division Bench further held that it was perfectly open for the Commission which conducts the selection to mandate both the holding of a qualification and the passing of an examination conducted by the Commission. One is not a substitute for the other. When Rule 8 (iii) requires a course prescribed for the Certificate Course in Computing conducted by DOEACC Society, the said certificate is an essential qualification.

31. In my opinion, the said judgment has no application to the facts of the present case since the claim of the petitioners before the Court was for a direction to the respondents to allow them to participate in the third and final stage of examination comprising of computer test without any objection pertaining to their eligibility with reference to computer knowledge. In the case before the Division Bench about 1244 candidates had produced certificates regarding computer qualifications awarded by private institutions which according to the Commission were not in accordance with the advertisement and therefore, the insistence upon a CCC certificate awarded by the DOEACC Society which was held to be an autonomous scientific society of the Department of Information Technology under the Ministry of Communication and Information Technology, Government of India. The CCC certificate grades a candidate according to his performance in Grade 'A', 'B', 'C' and 'D'. In that case the effect of possession of a higher qualification in Computers or with Computers as a subject was not in issue.

32. The next judgment relied upon by the respondents is a judgment of the Supreme Court in the case of Dhananjay Malik & Ors. Vs State of Uttaranchal & Ors. reported in (2008) 4 SCC 171. The contention of the learned counsel for the Commission is that even if the rules are silent with regard to a particular eligibility qualification, the same can always be introduced through executive/administrative orders as long as they are not in violation of the statutory rules and do not supersede the statutory rules. This principle was reiterated by the Supreme Court in Dhananjay Malik (supra). In that case, the requisite qualification for the post of Assistant Teacher (Physical Education) was graduation degree in physical education or diploma in physical education from any recognized institution. Subsequently, the rule was clarified by the Government of India, Ministry of Education to the effect that B.P.E. Degree holders should also be treated at par with those who hold B.A./B.Sc./B.Com degree plus a diploma in physical education and should not be required to possess an additional B.A., B.Sc/B.Com. degree for purposes of employment as Directors of Physical Education or on other similar posts. The Supreme Court in para 14 of the judgment referring to a judgment of the Constitution Bench of the Supreme Court in the case of Sant Ram Sharma Vs State of Rajasthan, AIR 1967 SC 1910 held that the Government cannot amend or supersede statutory Rules by administrative instructions but if the rules are silent on any particular point Government can fill up the gaps and supplement the rules and issue instructions not inconsistent with the rules already framed. Paragraph 14 of the said judgment reads as under:

"14. A Constitution Bench of this Court in Sant Ram Sharma v. State of Rajasthan, has pointed out at AIR p.1914 that the Government cannot amend or supersede statutory Rules by administrative instructions, but if the rules are silent on any particular point, Government can fill up the gaps and supplement the rules and issue instructions not inconsistent with the rules already framed."

33. The proposition of law laid down by the Supreme Court in Dhananjay Malik (supra) is indisputable. The judgment of the Supreme Court in Dhananjay Malik (Supra) in my opinion has no application to the facts of the present case. The question here is not whether the qualification possessed by the petitioners has been recognized to be equivalent to a CCC certificate issued by the DOEACC Society but whether the higher qualification possessed by the petitioners includes the basic knowledge of computers imparted through CCC course by the DOEACC Society.

34. Now taking up the case law cited by the learned Senior Counsel for the petitioners, the first judgment referred is (2012) 3 SCC 129, Chandrakala Trivedi Vs State of Rajasthan and others, para 8 thereof reads as under:-

"8. The word "equivalent" must be given a reasonable meaning. By using the expression "equivalent" one means that there are some degrees of flexibility or adjustment which do not lower the stated requirement. There has to be some difference between what is equivalent and what is exact. Apart from that, after a person is provisionally selected, a certain degree of reasonable expectation of the selection being continued also comes into existence."

35. Thus equivalent means that there are some degrees of flexibility or adjustment which do not lower the stated requirement. There has to be some difference between what is equivalent and what is exact. The respondents in their counter affidavit have not disputed that the qualifications possessed by the petitioners do not in any way cover the basic knowledge of computer imparted in the certificate course in computing (CCC) conducted by the DOEACC Society. The duration of the CCC course conducted by the DOEACC Society has been mentioned in para 15 of the writ petition which has not been denied by the respondents in para 11 of the counter affidavit except to say that the petitioners do not possess the requisite qualification.

36. In Jyoti K.K. And Others Vs Kerala Public Service Commission and Others, (2010) 15 SCC 596, the Supreme Court has held that higher qualification must clearly indicate or presuppose the acquisition of lower qualification prescribed for that post in order to attract that part of the rules to the effect that such of those higher qualification which presupposes the acquisition of lower qualification prescribed for the post shall also be sufficient for that post. Para 7 and 9 of the judgment read as under:-

"7. It is no doubt true, as stated by the High Court that when a qualification has been set out under the relevant rules, the same cannot be in any manner whittled down and a different qualification cannot be adopted. The High Court is also justified in stating that the higher qualification must clearly indicate or presuppose the acquisition of the lower qualification prescribed for that post in order to attract that part of the rule to the effect that such of those higher qualifications which presuppose the acquisition of the lower qualifications prescribed for the post shall also be sufficient for the post. If a person has acquired higher qualifications in the same faculty, such qualification can certainly be stated to presuppose the acquisition of the lower qualifications prescribed for the post. In this case it may not be necessary to seek far.

8. .....

9. In the event the government is of the view that only diploma holders should have applied to post of sub-engineers but not all those who possess higher qualifications, either this rule should have excluded in respect of candidates who possess higher qualifications or the position should have been made clear that degree holder shall not be eligible to apply for such post. When that position is not clear but on the other hand rules do not disqualify per se the holders of higher qualifications in the same faculty, it becomes clear that the rule could be understood in an appropriate manner as stated above. In that view of the matter the order of the High Court cannot be sustained. In this case we are not concerned with the question whether all those who possess such qualifications could have applied or not. When statutory rules have been published and those rules are applicable, it presupposes that everyone concerned with such appointments will be aware of such rules or make himself aware of the rules before making appropriate applications. The High Court, therefore, is not justified in holding that recruitment of appellants would amount to fraud on the public.

37. In (2006) 11 SCC 153, State of Haryana Vs Abdul Gaffar Khan, the post in question was of Unani Dispenser. The qualification prescribed was:-

(i) Unani Dispenser from any recognized University/Institution or Board or Faculty of Indian System of Medicine established by law in India or Upvaidya of any recognized University/Institution or Board or Faculty of Indian System of Medicine established by law in India having the knowledge of Urdu;

(ii) Matric or its equivalent.

(iii) Knowledge of Hindi and English upto Matric standard.

38. In that case the respondent-candidates possessed the qualification of Bachelor of Unani Medicine and Surgery from Kanpur University apart from Matric with Hindi and 10+2 with Science. The Supreme Court held that the Haryana Ayurvedic/Homeopathic and Unani Technical Group (C) Service Rules, 1977 do not expressly exclude the degree in Unani Medicine and Surgery for the post of Unani Dispenser and it was held that the respondent-candidate possessed the requisite qualifications from recognized University/Institution or Board and were eligible for appointment on the post of Unani Dispenser. Para 6 of the judgment reads as under:-

"6. Aggrieved against the order passed by the State, the respective respondents filed Writ Petitions in the High Court to quash the action of the State to deny the appointment to them as Unani Dispenser. The High Court by its order dated.11.04.2005 allowed the Writ Petitions filed by the respective respondents and directed the State to offer appointment to both the contesting respondents in these Civil Appeals on the posts of Unani Dispenser within a period of one month from the date of receipt of certified copy of the order. Aggrieved by the said order, the State of Haryana has preferred the above appeals in this Court."

39. The next case relied upon by the learned Senior Counsel for the petitioners is the Full Bench decision of the Punjab and Haryana High Court in Manjit Singh Vs State of Punjab and Others reported in 2011(1) ESC 115 (P&H)(FB). In that case also all the petitioners possessed qualifications higher than the basic and minimum qualification prescribed in the advertisement and they were denied consideration for appointment to the post of Physical Training Instructor. Paragraphs 6,10,23,25,26 and 27 of the said judgment read as under:-

"6. The grievance in all the writ petitions is that all of them possessed qualifications higher than the basic and minimum qualification prescribed in the advertisement and they all being eligible have been arbitrarily and illegally denied the right of consideration for appointment to the posts. When these matters were being heard by learned Single Judge, two Division Bench judgments of this Court were cited on behalf of the contesting parties. A Division Bench comprising Hon'ble Mr. Justice V.S. Aggarwal and Hon'ble Justice G.S. Singhvi, as their Lordships were at the relevant time vide its judgment rendered in CWP No. 5386 of 1997 titled as Samandeep Singh and others v. State of Punjab and others, decided on 14.1.1998 allowed the writ petition filed on behalf of the candidates whose candidature was rejected, despite having higher qualifications with the following observations.

10. It has been contended on behalf of the petitioners that the rejection of candidature of the petitioners who admittedly possess higher qualification is arbitrary and violative of Articles 14 and 16 of the Constitution of India. Mr. Khosla, learned Additional Advocate General appearing on behalf of the State has attempted to justify the action of the respondents rejecting the candidature of the petitioners having qualifications of M.P.Ed, B.P.Ed and D.P.Ed on the ground that the PTI Teachers are reecruited to impart physical education at the primary level. The targeted class of student being small children, specialized kind of training is required for them. The Curriculum for primary students is different than the curriculum for students of secondary classes who are mature enough and are to be trained in a different manner. He has placed before us a compilation to urge that for primary students, the curriculum includes recreation and yoga, health education and sports psychology which are part of the C.P.Ed curriculum whereas these components and curriculum are not taught at the higher level of Physical Education like B.P.Ed, D.P. Ed, B.P.E., M.P.Ed. etc.

23. The sheet anchor of the State's case is the Division Bench judgment of this Court in the case of Jagjit Singh v. State of Punjab and others, 2009 (1) SCT 744, which has ruled against the eligibility of candidates possessing higher qualification only on the ground of variation in the curriculum. We have carefully gone through the aforesaid judgment. Only one component of the curriculum is noticed by Hon'ble Division Bench i.e. "Recreation" which is said to be studied by students of C.P.Ed. And is not included in the course of studies of B.P.Ed. The Hon'ble Division Bench in the aforesaid case, while referring to courses available at Kurukshetra University, decided not to examine the same in detail. It is also pertinent to note that the judgment in the case of Multan (supra) was not brought to the notice of the Hon'ble Division Bench in the case of Jagjit Singh (supra). It is also relevant to mention that the Hon'ble Division Bench in the case of Jagjit Singh (supra) was persuaded by the judgment of the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Dilip Kumar Ghosh v. Chairman, 2005(7) SCC 567. In the case of Dilip Kumar Ghosh (supra) before the Hon'ble Supreme Court, the issue was whether a person possessing higher qualification is entitled to extra weightage of marks for appointment to the post. In the aforesaid case, candidates possession higher qualification of B.Ed than the minimum prescribed for the post claimed additional weightage for the higher qualification. Rejecting the contention, the Hon'ble Supreme Court observed as under:

"13.(i) In the case of the Junior Basic Training and Primary teachers Training Cetificate the emphasis is on the development of child. The Primary Education is upto IV standard. Thereafter there is middle education and the secondary and higher secondary education. But in the primary school one has to study the physiology and development of child at tender age. The person who is trained in B.Ed degree may not necessarily equipped to teach a student of primary class because he is not equipped to understand psychology of a child at that early stage...."

24. The above observations were made in the context of awarding extra weightage to the candidates possessing higher qualification. Another judgment relied upon by the Hon'ble Division Bench in the case of Jagjit Singh (supra) is Yogesh Kumar v. Government of NC.T., (2003) 3 SCC 548. In this case again the question whether B.Ed is a higher qualification than the T.T.C. Came to be examined. The Hon'ble Supreme Court made following observations:

"10. We find absolutely no force in the argument advanced by the respondents that B.Ed qualification is a higher qualification than TTC and therefore, the B.Ed candidates should be held to be eligible to compete for the post. On behalf of the applicants, it is pointed out before us that Trained Teacher's Certificate is given to teachers specially trained to teach small children in primary classes whereas for B.Ed degree, the training imparted in to teach students of classes above primary. B.Ed degree holders, therefore cannot necessarily be held to be holding qualification suitable for appointment as teachers in primary schools. Whether for a particular post, the source of recruitment should be from the candidates with TTC qualification or B.Ed qualification, is a matter of recruitment policy. We find sufficient logic and justification in the State prescribing qualification for the post of primary teachers as only TTC and not B.Ed. Whether Bed qualification can also be prescribed for primary teachers is a question to be considered by the authorities concerned but we cannot consider Bed candidates, for the present vacancies advertised as eligible."

25. Arguing on the same line Mr Khosla has strenuously argued that the persons possessing any qualification other than C.P.Ed are not eligible. With a view to appreciate the applicability of the aforesaid judgment, it is deemed appropriate to examine the rule position as prescribed under 1955 rules for the post of P.T.I. From the rule noticed in earlier part of this judgment, it appears that educational qualification like matric or 10+2 is not prescribed therein. Though in the advertisement, Senior Secondary Certificate or Intermediate or its equivalent basic qualification is an essential component for the post. Similarly, for professional qualifications, certificate in Physical Education C.P.Ed of a duration of not less than two years or its equivalent is prescribed. However, by virtue of the Corrigendum dated 24.10.2006, even a candidate with one year duration course of C.P.Ed is made eligible for recruitment in question. Similarly, in the rule, no equivalent qualification of C.P.Ed is referred to, though in the advertisement C.P.Ed or its equivalent qualification is also recognized as professional qualification. It cannot be ignored that the qualification prescribed under the rule and the advertisement is always the minimum qualification. It is not for us to identify any course which can be termed as equivalent to C.P.Ed course. At the same time, the curriculum of B.P.Ed and other higher courses, if include almost all the components of curriculum of C.P.Ed should not be construed to be a totally different and distinct qualification. In the case of Multan (supra), a Division Bench of this Court has clearly observed that D.P.Ed, B.P.Edc and M.P.Ed are higher qualifications in the same line. From the curriculum of courses like C.P.Ed, B.P.Ed, D.P.Ed, it is found that almost all components of

C.P.Ed course of one year or two years are taught in D.P.Ed course in almost all the Universities in the States of Punjab and Haryana. In sum and substance, the controversy revolves around the curriculum of two types of courses, one prescribed in the advertisement i.e. C.P.Ed and higher courses acquired by the petitioners. On facts, we are of the considered opinion that the curriculum of B.P.Ed, B.P.E, D.P.Ed includes the curriculum prescribed for C.P.Ed in major universities in the States of Punjab and Haryana. Higher qualifications being in the same subject and line cannot be ignored and candidates possessing higher qualification cannot be denied consideration for selection.

26. The distinction sought to be created to deny eligibility is arbitrary and illusory. It goes without saying that the higher qualification provides better knowledge, better sense and in sight and equip the person with better understanding of the issues and problems. It cannot be a "bane" but has to be a "boon". The Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Mohd. Riazul Usman Gani and others v. District & Sessions Judge, Nagpur, (2000) 2 SCC 606, had the occasion to consider whether the higher qualification than 8th Standard prescribed for the post of Peon renders a candidate ineligible. Examining the issue, it is observed as under:

"21. A criterion which has the effect of denying a candidate his right to be considered for the post on the principle that he is having a higher qualification than prescribed cannot be rational. We have not been able to appreciate as to why those candidates who possessed qualifications equivalent to SSC Examination could also not be considered. We are saying this on the facts of the case in hand and should not be understood as laying down as rule of universal application."

27. From the facts on record and dictum of above noticed judgments, it emerges that the candidate possessing higher qualification in the same line cannot be excluded from consideration for selection. It is a different matter that he/she may not be entitled to any additional weightage for higher qualification, but cannot be denied consideration at par with a candidate possessing minimum prescribed qualification. Denying consideration to a candidate having better and higher qualification in the same line and discipline would definitely result in breach of Articles 14 and 16 of the Constitution of India.

The reference is answered accordingly.

Let the writ petition be placed before the learned Single Judge for decision on merits."

40. The learned Senior Counsel for the petitioners next submitted that the petitioners had already appeared in the selection and if they were not eligible their candidature should have been rejected at the very outset itself. With reference to this submission reliance has been placed upon a decision of a learned Single Judge dated 9.10.2015 passed in Writ petition no.44281 of 2015 (Devendra Singh and others Vs State of U.P. and Another). In that case the selection was related to the post of Additional Private Secretary and the Court held that if some of the petitioners do not possess the CCC certificate from the DOEACC Society, the candidature of such candidates should be rejected at the very threshold of the recruitment process and the candidate who lacks the minimum qualification should not be allowed to participate at any stage of the examination. The Court however, acknowledged that the qualification possessed after the last date of submitting the application would not entitle the candidates to participate in the selection and therefore, the matter was disposed of with a direction to the Commission to verify such of the candidates who had obtained their CCC certificate after the last date of submission of the application and if their candidature is rejected on that ground, the Commission shall pay compensation to the candidates.

41. The Supreme Court in the case of Parvaiz Ahmad Parry Vs State of J & K and others reported in 2016 (1) ESC 54 (SC) held that the requisite qualification under the J & K Forest Service (Gazetted) Recruitment Rules, 1970 lays down the eligibility qualifications for the post of Range Officer Grade-I (Forest) which is B.Sc. Forestry or its equivalent from any University recognized by the Indian Council of Agricultural Research. The petitioner-candidate before the Supreme Court possessed the qualification of B.Sc. with Forestry as one of the major subjects and also Master's degree in Forestry but not B.Sc Forestry. The question was whether the higher qualification would render him eligible for the post of Range Officer Grade-I. The Supreme Court held that in fact acquiring higher qualification in the prescribed subject i.e. Forestry was sufficient to hold that the appellant had possessed the prescribed qualification. Paragraphs 22,23,24,25,26,27 and 28 of the said judgment read as under:-

"22. As would be clear from the undisputed facts mentioned above, the minimum qualification prescribed for applying to the post of J & K Forest Service Range Officers Grade-I was "B.Sc. (Forestry) or equivalent from any University recognized by ICAR". It is not disputed that the appellant was to his credit a qualification of B.Sc. with Forestry as one of the major subjects and Masters in Forestry, i.e. M.Sc.(Forestry), on the date when he applied for the post in question, which satisfied the eligibility criteria so far as the qualification was concerned.

23. We do not agree with the reasoning of the High Court that in order to be an eligible candidate, the appellant should have done B.Sc. in Forestry and since he had not done so, he was not considered as an eligible candidate. This reasoning, in our view, does not stand to any logic and is, therefore, not acceptable insofar as the facts of this case are concerned.

24. In our considered view, firstly, if there was any ambiguity or vagueness noticed in prescribing the qualification in the advertisement, then it should have been clarified by the authority concerned in the advertisement itself. Secondly, if it was not clarified, then benefit should have been given to the candidate rather than to the respondents. Thirdly, even assuming that there was no ambiguity or/and any vagueness yet we find that the appellant was admittedly having B.Sc. degree with Forestry as one of the major subjects in his graduation and further he was also having Masters degree in Forestry, i.e., M.Sc.(Forestry). In the light of these facts, we are of the view that the appellant was possessed of the prescribed qualification to apply for the post in question and his application could not have been rejected treating him to be an ineligible candidate for not possessing prescribed qualification.

25. In our view, if a candidate has done B.Sc. in Forestry as one of the major subjects and has also done Masters in the Forestry, i.e., M.Sc.(Forestry) then in the absence of any clarification on such issue, the candidate possessing such higher qualification has to be held to possess the required qualification to apply for the post. In fact, acquiring higher qualification in the prescribed subject i.e. Forestry was sufficient to hold that the appellant had possessed the prescribed qualification. It was coupled with the fact that Forestry was one of the appellant's major subjects in graduation, due to which he was able to do his Masters in Forestry.

26. Learned counsel for the respondents contended that if the appellant is held eligible on the basis of his qualification, the candidates alike him would be deprived of applying for the said post. The argument, in our view, has no merit.

27. In the first place, no such candidate or/and applied for the post and secondly, the argument being wholly hypothical in nature cannot be accepted.

28. In the light of foregoing discussion, we are not in agreement with the view taken by the High Court when it was held that the appellant did not possess the prescribed qualification. This finding, as held above, is unsustainable and thus cannot be upheld. The appeal thus succeeds and is accordingly allowed. Impugned order is set aside. As a consequence, the writ petition filed by the appellant succeeds and is accordingly allowed. Since the appellant has already cleared the written examination and had appeared in the interview and further one post was directed to be kept reserved for him by the orders of the High Court in the event, the appellant succeeds in this litigation, we consider it appropriate to direct the respondents to issue necessary appointment order in favour of the appellant for the said post after ensuring compliance of the procedural formalities within one month from the date of receipt of this judgment."

42. At this stage, certain facts relating to the petitioners must be noted. Among all the petitioners whose qualifications are already mentioned hereinabove, the petitioners no.11,15, and 24 do not possess any qualification relating to knowledge of computers and therefore, so far as these petitioners are concerned, in my opinion they neither have the requisite qualification of CCC certificate awarded by the DOEACC Society nor they have any higher qualification in the field of computers and therefore, the writ petition so far as these petitioners are concerned stands dismissed. So far as petitioner no. 17 is concerned though he is shown to have done his Diploma, the same is from a private Institution by the name of Media Institute of Information Technology. This is a registered Society under the Societies Registration Act as mentioned in the Certificate itself and is a purely private Institution not shown to be recognized either by the Central Government or the State Government. Therefore, such Diploma cannot be recognized to be a qualification higher than CCC Certificate of DOEACC Society. Therefore, the writ petition of petitioner no. 17 is also dismissed.

43. So far as the petitioners no. 4 and 6 are concerned, they are shown to have done their High School and Intermediate with Computer as a subject. In the case of selection for the post of Junior Assistant/Stenographer where the eligibility criteria of CCC Certificate from DOEACC

Society is the requirement, the State Government in its Notification dated 26.5.2015 Annexure-4 to the writ petition, has held that a candidate having computer in his High School and Intermediate Certificate issued by the Board of Secondary Education would also be said to be a valid qualification and it further provides that the persons having done their Diploma and Degree in Computer Science would also be eligible on the basis of equivalence with CCC Certificate issued by the DOEACC Society. In my opinion the question here in the present writ petition is not with regard to fitness for the post of Gram Panchayat Adhikari but with regard to a qualification other than CCC Certificate from DOEACC Society being equivalent to the said Certificate. Once the State Government itself has held High School and Intermediate Certificate with Computer as a subject being equivalent to the CCC Certificate issued by the DOEACC Society and Diploma and Degree to be equivalent to CCC Certificate issued by the DOEACC Society for the post of Junior Assistant/Stenographer it cannot make an arbitrary distinction when it comes to the post of Gram Panchayat Adhikari. The respondents cannot adopt dual standards with regard to CCC certificate issued by the DOEACC Society when it comes to the post of Gram Panchayat Adhikari. Therefore, in my opinion for the post of Gram Panchayat Adhikari if a candidate does not have a CCC Certificate issued by the DOEACC Society but has Computer as a subject in High School or Intermediate or has a Diploma or a Degree as a higher qualification the same would have to be treated as equivalent to CCC Certificate issued by the DOEACC Society. Therefore, the petitioners no. 4 and 6 cannot be non suited only on the ground that they do not possess the Computer Concept Course (CCC) certificate issued by the DOEACC Society.

44. So far as the remaining petitioners no. 1,2,3,5,7,8,9,10,12,13,14,16,18,19,20,21,22,23, and 25 are concerned, it is noticed that they possess the requisite higher qualification of Diploma or Degree or even Post Graduate Diploma in computers or with computers as a subject from recognised institutions/Universities and therefore, merely because they have not done the basic CCC course from the DOEACC Society it cannot be held that they lack knowledge or essential knowledge of computer. Petitioners with such high qualifications in computers cannot be non suited only on the ground that they do not possess the Computer Concept Course (CCC) certificate issued by the DOEACC Society.

45. So far as the validity of paragraph 8 of the Advertisement No. 7(3)/2015 is concerned I do not find any illegality or infirmity in the same as it is always open for the Government to introduce an additional eligibility qualification not otherwise provided for in the statutory Rules so long as the additional eligibility criteria is not inconsistent with or in abrogation of the criteria laid down in the Rules and does not supplant the Rules.

46. In the totality of the facts and the law laid down, the writ petition no. 30313 of 2016 (Abha Tripathi and others Vs. State of U.P. and others) stands partly allowed.

47. So far as the writ petition no. 36165 of 2016 (Sidh Nath Yadav Vs. State of U.P. and others) is concerned, it is noticed that the petitioner therein has stated in paragraph 9 of the writ petition that he has completed CCC Course from Future Soft Technology, which is stated to be accredited to NIELIT (Government of India) but is a private Institute. It is also stated that he has done his graduation from Deen Dayal Upadhyay University. The fact, however, remains that he does not state that he has done his graduation in computer or that he had computer as subject. He also does not possess the CCC certificate awarded by the DOEACC Society. This was one of the questions which had come up before this Court in the case of Sanjay Kumar Srivastava Vs. State of U.P. and another Special Appeal No. 829 of 2015 relating to the recruitment of Additional Private Secretaries wherein the Rules provided for a CCC certificate conducted by the DOEACC Society. The case of the petitioners therein was that they possessed certificates awarded by private Institutions. This was not accepted by the Division Bench of this Court and the Court held that a candidate who has passed either the Certificate Course in Computing (CCC) conducted by the DOEACC Society or the Course conducted by the Board of High School and Intermediate or any Course equivalent thereto recognized by the Government is eligible.

48. In this view of the matter since the petitioner possesses a Certificate issued by a private Institution regarding CCC Certificate which has not been issued by the DOEACC Society, he cannot be said to be holding the qualification as per the advertisement no.7(3)/2015 for the post of Gram Panchayat Adhikari.

49. The writ petition no. 36165 of 2016 (Sidh Nath Yadav Vs. State of U.P. and others) lacks merit and is accordingly dismissed.

50. So far as writ petition no. 30314 of 2016 (Ajay Tiwari Vs. State of U.P. and others) is concerned, the petitioner claims that he possesses the CCC Certificate issued by the U.P. Development Systems Corporation Ltd, which is stated to be a Government of U.P. undertaking but the fact remains that the advertisement itself requires a CCC certificate awarded by the DOEACC Society. Besides there is nothing in the Rules or advertisement or Government Order stating that the CCC certificate issued by the U.P. Development Systems Corporation Ltd. is equivalent to the Certificate issued by the DOEACC Society.

51. This controversy is no longer res integra having been settled by a Division Bench of this Court in the case of Sanjay Kumar Srivastava (supra) wherein the CCC certificates other than that issued by the DOEACC Society has been declined to be accepted as a valid qualification.

52. In this view of the matter since the petitioner possesses a CCC Certificate though issued by a Government undertaking Institution but the same has not been issued by the DOEACC Society, he cannot be said to be holding the qualification as per the advertisement no.7(3)/2015 for the post of Gram Panchayat Adhikari.

53. The writ petition no.30314 of 2016 (Ajay Tiwari Vs. State of U.P. and others) lacks merit and is accordingly dismissed.

54. There shall be no order as to cost.

Sanjeet ...Applicant
Versus
State Of U.P. ...Opposite Party

Counsel for the Applicant:
Satish Kumar Singh

Counsel for the Opposite Party:
Govt. Advocate

Procedure:
Application for bail moved under Sections 420, 406, 120-B IPC and Sections 66-A(c), 66-D of the Information Technology Act, arising out of Case Crime No. 395 of 2014, Police Station Civil Lines, District Meerut. The applicant was in judicial custody since 13.07.2014. Bail was sought on grounds of false implication, parity with co-accused, and alleged misuse of his bank account.

Issues:
Whether the applicant is entitled to bail in a case involving fraud by impersonation of a sitting High Court Judge.
Whether parity with co-accused granted bail is applicable to the applicant.
Whether the role of the applicant, being beneficiary and account holder, makes him distinguishable from co-accused.

Facts in Brief:
Fraud was committed by impersonating a sitting Judge of the High Court and inducing the Chief Judicial Magistrate, Meerut to transfer ₹90,000/-.
The amount was credited to the applicant's bank account and withdrawn on the same day through ATM transactions and purchase of gold.
The applicant claimed misuse of his account by co-accused and denied involvement in the conspiracy.
Co-accused persons had been granted bail earlier.

Headnotes:
The Court held that the applicant was the main beneficiary and prima facie mastermind of the offence.
The manner of withdrawal of money showed pre-planned and organized execution of fraud.
The offence involved serious misconduct by impersonating a High Court Judge and defrauding a judicial officer across State lines, which aggravated the gravity of the offence.
The applicant's case was found clearly distinguishable from co-accused, hence parity was not applicable.

Considering the seriousness of offence, complicity, and conduct of the applicant, the Court held that it was not a fit case for grant of bail, Bail Rejected.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Harsh Kumar, J.)

1. Heard learned counsel for the applicant, learned A.G.A. and perused the record.

2. Learned counsel for the applicant contended that the applicant has been falsely implicated in the present case; that as per averments made in F.I.R., a phone call was made to Chief Judicial Magistrate, Meerut under the name of the then Sitting Judge of this High Court Justice Imtiyaz Murtaza, asking the Chief Judicial Magistrate, Meerut to ascertain the admission of Ziyaul Haq Khan, in M.B.B.S. in Subharati University after negotiating its Director Atul Krishna and subsequently after a period of 15-20 days on 8.7.2014 again a call was made to C.J.M., Meerut in the name of same sitting Judge by the same mobile no.9934018301 stating emergency and asking the CJM to deposit money in his account and when he did not deposit, the call was repeated on 9.7.2014 followed by an SMS giving details of savings bank account no.33015017403 of S.B.I. by the name of Sanjeet Kumar, the applicant upon which he (the CJM) deposited a sum of Rs.90,000/- as per instructions of the alleged Hon'ble sitting Judge. It has also been stated in the F.I.R. that on 10.7.2014 another call was received by CJM, Meerut from the same number asking him for transferring some more money upon which the CJM, Meerut traced the number of Justice Imtiyaz Murtaza and gathered courage to make a call to him and upon calling him, the above Judge shown total ignorance and surprise and told that neither he made any recommendation for admission of any boy by above mobile number nor called for transferring the money in the given account nor above mobile number belongs to him and he (the CJM) must immediately lodge a F.I.R.; that during investigation on the basis of alleged CCTV footage of three culprits in the Nagar Mal Shiv Narayan and Sons Mall, Bhojpur, Bihar, the applicant and Aakash Kumar were arrested on 13.7.2014 at 4:40 a.m. and 5:30 a.m. Respectively, while the third one Rahul could not be traced; that upon arrest in confessional statement in police custody, the applicant is alleged to have admitted that the amount of Rs.90,000/- was credited in his account on 9.7.2014 and the same day he withdrawn a sum of Rs.40,000/- through 4 ATM transactions and made a purchase of gold worth Rs.50,000/- from Nagar Mal Shiv Narayan and Sons Mall, Bhojpur, Bihar; that the confessional statement of applicant in police custody is not admissible in evidence; that mobile number by which the call was made did not belong to applicant; that upon arrest the applicant had told the Investigating Officer that Aakash and Rahul are his friends and obtained from him his account number of S.B.I. on 9.7.2014 and sent a message whereafter a sum of Rs.90,000/- was credited to his account which was withdrawn and utilised by them for enjoyment and purchasing gold; that during investigation co-accused Rudal Kumar Yadav @ Satyendra Yadav in Patna Jail disclosed that the mobile no.9934018301 belongs to Ranjan Mishra, who was with him in the jail and had told him on phone that his younger brother Avinash Mishra @ Ritu Raj Mishra has provided a mobile number of CJM, Meerut stating that he may be trapped and money may be extracted from him; that the statement of Rudal Yadav and Avinash Mishra @ Ritu Raj Mishra are at Annexures 8 & 9; that during investigation a sum of Rs.30,000/- has been recovered from the possession of co-accused Vivek Upadhyay of Jharkhand; that above co-accused Vivek Upadhyay is alleged to have conspired with co-accused Akram as has been disclosed by Ziyaul Haq Khan (the person, who got admission in M.B.B.S. on the basis of above recommendation/call); that Ziyaul Haq Khan has stated that with a desire to become a Medical Officer he asked her uncle (Tau) Akram, who told him that co-accused Vivek Upadhyay was with him in District Jail, Badaun and can get his admission done in M.B.B.S. by making recommendations; that co-accused Akram, Vivek Upadhyay, Avinash Mishra and Aakash have been granted bail by other Benches of this Court vide orders dated 2.2.2015, 12.2.2015, 26.3.2015 & 1.2.2016 passed in Criminal Misc. Bail Application Nos.43934 of 2014, 5183 of 2015, 7578 of 2015 & 24625 of 2015, copies collectively filed at Annexure-11; that the applicant is a student of B.A. Honours; that the applicant has not committed any wrong; that the misuse of account of applicant has been made by co-accused Rahul, who has not been traced as yet; that co-accused Ranjan Mishra has also not been arrested as yet; that the copy of statement of account of applicant at page 27-30 of Annexure-3 makes it clear that the amount of Rs.90,000/- was credited in the account of applicant on 9.7.2014 out of which the sum of Rs.10,000/-, Rs.10,000/-, Rs.10,000/-, Rs.9,900/- were withdrawn by him through 4 ATM transactions and Rs.50,000/- were spent in purchasing Gold at Mall making payment through ATM card; that before and after deposit and withdrawal of above amount of Rs.90,000/- only a nominal amount has been in balance in applicant's above account; that the applicant is innocent and committed the only mistake in providing his account number to co-accused Rahul and accompanying him in making withdrawal of amount and in spending it for enjoyment and purchasing Gold through his ATM card at the Mall; that the applicant has no criminal history; that the applicant undertakes that he will not make misuse of the liberty of bail; that the applicant is in custody since 13.7.2014.

3. Learned AGA vehemently opposed the prayer of bail and contended that the applicant is the main culprit and master mind behind the entire offence wherein, the name of a sitting High Court Judge has been misused; that undisputedly, an amount of Rs.90,000/- has been credited in the account of applicant in S.B.I. at Gidha, Ara, Patna Road, District Bhojpur State of Bihar on 9.7.2014 to which he was not entitled, and moreover was withdrawn in organized and pre-planned manner through five transactions, firstly, by 4 transactions of withdrawal through A.T.M. for Rs.10,000/-, Rs.10,000/-, Rs.10,000/- and Rs.9,900/- and then by making payment on purchase of Gold of Rs.50,000/-, payment through A.T.M., all on the same day i.e. 9.7.2014; that the role of applicant is distinguishable from co-accused Akram, Vivek Upadhyay, Avinash and Akash, who are alleged to be conspirators for the offence; that the offence committed by applicant is of serious nature, in which the applicant sitting at District Bhojpur, Bihar has committed the fraud with the Chief Judicial Magistrate at Meerut (in another State) by making misuse of and putting undue pressure on him, in the name of a sitting Judge of Allahabad High Court; that it is not a case of applicant that he is illiterate and innocently provided the particulars of his bank account to someone, who misused his bank account by getting the money credited, rather it is crystal clear from the facts on record that the applicant is the real culprit and main accused and mastermind of the crime in question and committed fraud by making the phone calls to C.J.M., Meerut through co-accused, got the money credited in his own account, and withdrawn the same through four A.T.M. transactions and one shopping transaction in most cunning and planned manner; that it also pertinent to mention that since the withdrawal of Rs.40,000/- at the most is permitted through

A.T.M., the applicant made withdrawal at four times i.e. Rs.10,000/-, Rs.10,000/-, Rs.10,000/-, and Rs.9,900/-, restricting the fourth transaction of withdrawal to Rs.9,900/- so that it may remain within the limit of Rs.40,000/-and thereafter very cleverly withdrawn the balance Rs.50,000/- by purchasing Gold and making payment through ATM; that the applicant is a very clever person and main beneficiary, who has enjoyed the money credited to his account by purchasing gold and in other manners preferred by him; that the applicant is not entitled for bail on the ground of parity, as his case is clearly distinguishable from co-accused who have been granted bail.

4. Upon hearing learned counsel for the parties, perusal of record and considering the complicity of accused, severity of punishment, allegations of fraud from another State of Bihar on Judicial Officer (CJM), Meerut by making misuse of the name of a sitting Judge of Allahabad High Court as well as totality of facts and circumstances, without commenting on the merits of the case, I do not find it a fit case for bail.

5. The bail application of applicant Sanjeet in case crime nos.395 of 2014, under sections 420, 406, 120-B IPC and 66-A (C), 66-D of the Information and Technology Act, PS. Civil Lines, District Meerut, is rejected accordingly.

HEADNOTES:
Service Law — Suspension — Payment of salary for suspension period — Requirement of notice under Fundamental Rule 54-B — Principles of Natural Justice
Denial of full salary for the period of suspension cannot be treated as a punishment under the Civil Services (Classification, Control and Appeal) Rules, 1930 applicable in Uttar Pradesh. Where the competent authority proposes to pay less than full salary for the suspension period, the procedure prescribed under Fundamental Rule 54-B(3) and (5) must be followed.
The Rule mandates issuance of a show cause notice specifying the quantum proposed to be paid and consideration of representation submitted by the delinquent employee. Failure to follow the mandatory procedure renders the order illegal being violative of principles of natural justice.
Where the competent authority denies full salary for suspension period without issuing notice under Fundamental Rule 54-B, such order is liable to be set aside and the matter remitted for fresh decision in accordance with law.
Punishment of "Censure" having already been imposed and the employee having retired, the issue relating to punishment becomes infructuous, however denial of salary for suspension period remains subject to compliance of Fundamental Rule 54-B.

ACTS:
Fundamental Rule 54-B
Civil Services (Classification, Control and Appeal) Rules, 1930
Principles of Natural Justice

PROCEDURE:
The petitioner challenged the punishment order whereby he was awarded censure and denied full salary for the period of suspension. The petitioner contended that no show cause notice as required under Fundamental Rule 54-B was issued before passing the order denying full salary for suspension period.

Reliance was placed upon the judgment in Akhilesh Kumar Awasthi vs State of U.P. and others, 2008(8) ADJ 243 and Uma Shankar Purwar vs Principal Secretary, Food and Civil Supplies, Govt. of U.P.
The High Court examined the scope of Fundamental Rule 54-B and the requirement of compliance with principles of natural justice before denying full salary for the suspension period.

ISSUE:
Whether full salary for the suspension period can be denied without issuing show cause notice as required under Fundamental Rule 54-B?

CASE LAW DISCUSSED:
Akhilesh Kumar Awasthi Vs. State of U.P. and others, 2008(8) ADJ 243 = 2008(4) ESC 2679
Uma Shankar Purwar Vs. Principal Secretary, Food and Civil Supplies, Govt. of U.P., Writ Petition No. 9519 of 2007 decided on 14.09.2009

HELD:
Denial of full salary for the suspension period entails civil consequences and cannot be imposed without following the procedure prescribed under Fundamental Rule 54-B.
Issuance of show cause notice and consideration of representation is mandatory before determining quantum of salary payable for the suspension period.
Since no notice was issued to the petitioner, the impugned order denying full salary is illegal and liable to be set aside.

CONCLUSION:
Writ petition partly allowed.
Impugned order dated 20.02.2006 is set aside to the extent it denies full salary to the petitioner for the suspension period.
Matter remanded to the competent authority to take fresh decision in accordance with Fundamental Rule 54-B after giving opportunity to the petitioner.
No order as to costs.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Sudhir Agarwal, J.
Hon'ble Dr. Kaushal Jayendra Thaker, J.)

1. Heard Sri K.M. Misra, learned counsel for petitioner and learned Standing Counsel for respondent.

2. Impugned order of punishment is only of 'Censure' and since petitioner has retired, therefore, to that extent it has rendered infructuous. The next order which is under challenge is dated 20.02.2006 whereby the State Government has denied full salary to petitioner for the period he remained under suspension.

3. It is contended that under Fundamental Rule 54-B the competent authority shall take a decision about the amount to be paid to the Government Servant during the period of suspension (not less than the subsistence allowance already received by him) after giving show cause notice to him with respect to quantum proposed and after considering the representation, if any, made by him. But in the present case, no such notice was given to petitioner therefore, impugned order is in violation of principles of natural justice.

4. It is contended that denial of full salary during suspension is not one of the punishment provided in the Civil Services (Classification,Control and Appeal) Rules, 1930 as applicable in U.P. (hereinafter referred to as CCA Rules) which were the Rules applicable at the relevant time when the disciplinary proceedings were conducted against the petitioner and as such, full salary could have been denied only in accordance with the procedure prescribed in Fundamental Rule 54-B after following the procedure laid down therein. No show cause notice under Fundamental Rule 54-B was issued and the procedure laid down therein was not followed. Hence, it is contended that the order of punishment insofar as it denies full salary during the period of suspension by forfeiting the same imposing it as a punishment on the petitioner is wholly illegal and without jurisdiction.

5. This submission in our view has substance and deserves sustenance.

6. Fundamental Rule 54-B contemplates a show cause notice separately where disciplinary authority is of the view that the delinquent employee should not be paid full salary for the period he was under suspension. The Fundamental Rule 54-B, relevant extract, reads as under:-

"54-B. (1) When a Government servant who has been suspended is reinstated or would have been so reinstated but for his retirement on superannuation while under suspension, the authority competent to order reinstatement shall consider and make a specific order-

(a) regarding the pay and allowance to be paid to the Government servant or the period of suspension ending with reinstatement or the date of his reinstatement on superannuation as the case may be; and

(b) whether or not the said period shall be treated as a period spent on duty

. . . . . .

(3) Where the authority competent to order reinstatement is of the opinion that the suspension was wholly unjustified, the Government servant shall, subject to the provisions of sub-rule(8), to be paid the full pay and allowances to which he would have been entitled, had he not been suspended:

. . . . . .

(4) In a case falling under sub-rule (3) the period of suspension shall be treated as a period spent on duty for all purposes.

(5) In cases other than those falling under sub-rules (2) and (3), the Government servant shall subject to the provisions of sub-rules(8) and (9), be paid such amount (not being the whole) of the pay and allowances to which he would have been entitled had he not been suspended, as the competent authority may determine, after giving notice to the Government servant of the quantum proposed and after considering the representation, if any, submitted by him in that connection within such period (which in no case shall exceed sixty days from the date on which the notice has been served) as may be specified in the notice

. . . . . .

7. A perusal of Sub-rules (3) and (5) of Fundamental Rule 54-B shows that the competent authority shall take a decision about the amount to be paid to the Government Servant during the period of suspension (not less than the subsistence allowance already received by him) after giving notice to him with respect to quantum proposed and after considering the representation, if any, made by him. The scope of the aforesaid decision is entirely different. The question as to whether full salary should be paid to the Government Servant or not, is not a kind of punishment provided under CCA Rules, 1930 as applicable in Uttar Pradesh but it is other than the punishment enumerated therein. However, it cannot be doubted that when disciplinary authority thinks that entire salary should not be paid to Government Servant for the period of suspension, such an order entails into civil consequences to the delinquent employee. Therefore consistent with the principles of natural justice, Fundamental Rule 54-B, Sub Rules (3) and (5), contemplate issuance of a show cause notice and thereafter an order needs be passed by the competent authority after considering representation, if any, of the delinquent employee. It is thus evident that along with order of punishment no decision can be taken by a competent authority to deny full salary to delinquent employee unless procedure prescribed under Fundamental Rule 54-B is observed.

8. It is well settled, when law requires something to be done in a particular way, it has to be done in that manner alone and not otherwise. This Court considered Fundamental Rule 54-B in Akhilesh Kumar Awasthi Vs. State of U.P. and others, 2008(8) ADJ 243=2008(4) ESC 2679 and said as under:

"A bare perusal of the aforesaid provision makes it clear that before passing an order depriving the Government servant of full salary for the period of suspension or when he was out of employment, a show cause notice has to be issued to the concerned Government servant and only thereafter, the competent authority may pass appropriate order considering various aspects.

Admittedly, no such procedure has been followed, therefore, the impugned order, to the extent the petitioner has been denied arrears of salary for the period of suspension as well as during the period he was out of employment pursuant to the dismissal order, which was modified by the revisional order, is set aside. The writ petition is, accordingly, allowed partly. . . . . ."

9. Following Akhilesh Kumar Awasthi (Supra) this Court in Uma Shankar Purwar Vs. The Principal Secretary, Food and Civil Supplies, Government of U.P., Lucknow and others (Writ Petition No.9519 of 2007, decided on 14.9.2009) in para 7 held as under:

"7. Admittedly, no such procedure has been followed by the respondents in the case in hand and on the contrary treating as if withholding a salary for the period of suspension can also be imposed as a punishment under the rules though the same is not one of the punishment prescribed under the rules. As a result of departmental inquiry, the authority concerned is empowered to deny full salary during the period of suspension as a consequence of reinstatement but final order can be passed after deciding whether the period of suspension was wholly unjustified or not and then the quantum of amount."

10. Here also, admittedly, the procedure prescribed in Fundamental Rule 54-B has not been followed. Denial of full salary vide impugned order is without affording any opportunity to the petitioner by way of issuing a show cause notice. The impugned order in so far as it denies full salary during the period of suspension without any notice to the petitioner is thus illegal and liable to be set-aside.

11. In the result, the writ petition partly allowed. The impugned order dated 20.02.2006 imposing punishment is set aside only to the extent it denies full salary to the petitioner for the period of suspension. The order of the Tribunal shall stand modified to this extent. The matter is remanded to the respondent competent authority to take a fresh decision on this aspect of the matter in accordance with the procedure prescribed under Fundamental Rule 54-B and the observations made hereinabove.

12. No order as to costs.

HEADNOTES:
Indian Stamp Act, 1899 — Section 47-A — Limitation Act, 1963 — Section 5 — Recall/Restoration Application — Delay Condonation — Jurisdiction — Review by Quasi Judicial Authority — Maintainability of Recall — Ex parte Order — Power of Review — Order without Jurisdiction.
Where a recall/restoration application is filed beyond prescribed limitation along with an application under Section 5 of the Limitation Act, the authority cannot decide the recall application on merits unless delay is first condoned. Failure to decide the delay condonation application before allowing restoration renders the order wholly without jurisdiction.
An order passed after hearing both parties cannot subsequently be treated as an ex parte order merely because one party alleges ignorance of the order. In absence of statutory provision conferring power of review, a quasi judicial authority exercising powers under the Indian Stamp Act has no jurisdiction to review or recall its own final order.
An order passed without jurisdiction is a nullity and liable to be quashed.

Held: Paras 8 to 24
Once an application under Section 5 of the Limitation Act had been filed, the recall/restoration application could not have been decided unless delay was first condoned. The authority was under legal obligation either to condone the delay or to record a finding that the application was within limitation before proceeding on merits.
The order dated 23.05.2016 having been passed after hearing both parties, the same could not be treated as an ex parte order and therefore the recall application itself was not maintainable.
The Additional Collector exercising quasi judicial powers under the Indian Stamp Act possesses no power of review in absence of an express statutory provision conferring such jurisdiction.
A quasi judicial authority cannot review its own order unless power of review is expressly conferred by statute.
The impugned order dated 09.09.2016 recalling the earlier order and restoring the proceedings was wholly without jurisdiction and liable to be quashed.
An order passed without jurisdiction is a nullity and no legal consequences can flow from such order.

PROCEDURE:
Petition under Article 226 of the Constitution of India seeking issuance of a writ of certiorari quashing the order dated 09.09.2016 passed by the Additional Collector (Finance and Revenue), Hapur in Case No. D2016117300171 (State Vs. Sunil Kumar), whereby the earlier order dated 23.05.2016 dropping proceedings under Section 47-A of the Indian Stamp Act, 1899 was recalled and the case restored for fresh hearing and evidence.

BRIEF FACTS:
Proceedings under Section 47-A of the Indian Stamp Act, 1899 were initiated against the petitioner alleging deficiency of stamp duty. The petitioner filed objections and after hearing both sides, the Additional Collector (Finance and Revenue), Hapur by order dated 23.05.2016 dropped the proceedings holding that there was no deficiency of stamp duty.
Subsequently, the State respondents filed a recall/restoration application on 29.07.2016 on the ground that counsel for the State had no knowledge regarding passing of the order dated 23.05.2016. Along with the recall application, an application under Section 5 of the Limitation Act for condonation of delay was also filed.
Without deciding the delay condonation application, the Additional Collector allowed the recall application by order dated 09.09.2016 and restored the case to its original number fixing 14.09.2016 for hearing and evidence.
Aggrieved thereby, the petitioner filed the present writ petition.

CONCLUSION:
The writ petition was allowed. The impugned order dated 09.09.2016 passed by the Additional Collector (Finance and Revenue), Hapur in Case No. D2016117300171 (State Vs. Sunil Kumar) was quashed. However, the Court clarified that the respondents would be at liberty to proceed in accordance with law.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Ran Vijai Singh, J.)

1. Heard Sri Nipun Singh, learned counsel for the petitioner and learned standing counsel for the State-respondents.

2. Through this writ petition, prayer has been made to issue a writ of certiorari quashing the order dated 9.9.2016 passed by the Additional Collector (Finance and Revenue) Hapur by which the earlier order dated 23.5.2016 passed in Case No. D2016117300171 (State Vs. Sunil Kumar) has been set aside and 14.9.2016 has been fixed for hearing and evidence.

3. While assailing the aforesaid order, learned counsel for the petitioner has made following submissions :-

(i) The order impugned is patently illegal for the reason that the recall application itself was not maintainable as the counsel for the applicant seeking recall was heard, therefore the order was not exparte order.

(ii) Along with the recall application, an application under Section 5 of Limitation Act 1908 was filed on 29.7.2016 but without disposing of the application filed under Section 5 of the Limitation Act, the application seeking recall of the order dated 23.5.2016 has been allowed illegally.

(iii) Since no ground was taken in the application that on 23.5.2016, the counsel for the applicant has not argued the case, therefore the recall could not be sought and in absence of such assertion, recall application could not be allowed.

4. The facts of this case in brief are that the against the petitioner, a proceeding under Section 47-A of Indian Stamp Act,1899 was initiated, which was numbered as Stamp Case No.D2016117300171. The petitioner, herein, has filed his objection and after due deliberation, the Additional Collector (Finance and Revenue, vide order dated 23.5.2016, has dropped the proceeding after hearing both the parties by holding that there is no deficiency of the stamp duty. Thereafter on 29.7.2016, the State respondents through its counsel has filed an application seeking recall of the order dated 23.5.2016 on the ground that he was unaware of the fact that any order was passed on 23.5.2016. Along with the aforesaid application, an application under Section 5 of Limitation Act for condoning the delay was also filed. The Additional Collector (Finance and Revenue) has set aside the order dated 23.5.2016 and restored the case to its original number fixing 14.9.2016 for hearing and evidence.

5. Learned counsel for the applicant contended that the application was barred by time and there was an application for condonation of delay, therefore unless the delay was condoned, the restoration application could not be heard and allowed.

6. I find substance in the submissions of learned counsel for the petitioner as once the application under Section 5 of Limitation Act was filed, the restoration application could not be decided on merit unless the delay was condoned and the application filed under Section 5 of Limitation Act was allowed or the finding was recorded to the effect that there was no need of filing Section 5 application and the application was within time.

7. Here in this case, admittedly, the recall application was barred by time and it was accompanied with an application for condonation of delay, therefore, unless the delay was condoned, the recall application could not have been decided.

8. The view taken by me finds support from the decision of the apex Court in Noharlal Verma Vs. District Cooperative Central Bank Ltd. Jagdalpur 2008 14 SCC 445, where the Apex Court has held as under :-

1. " 32. Now, limitation goes to the root of the matter. If a suit, appeal or application is barred by limitation a court or an adjudicating authority has no jurisdiction, power or authority to entertain such suit, appeal or application and to decide it on merits.

33. Sub Section (1) of Section 3 of the Limitation Act, 1963 reads as under:

" 3. Bar of Limitation.- (1) Subject to the provisions contained in Sections 4 to 24 (inclusive) every suit instituted, appeal preferred, and application made after the prescribed period shall be dismissed although limitation has not be set up as a defence."

Bare reading of the aforesaid provision leaves no room for doubt that if a suit is instituted, appeal is preferred or application is made after the prescribed period, it has to be dismissed even though no such plea has been raised or defence has been set up. In other words, even in the absence of such plea by the defendant, respondent or opponent, the court or authority must dismiss such suit, appeal or application, if it is satisfied that the suit, appeal or application is barred by limitation."

9. In V.M. Salgaocar and Bros. Vs. Board of Trustees of Port of Mormugao and another 2005 Volume 4 SCC 613, following observation has been made by the Apex Court.

20 " The mandate of Section 3 of the Limitation Act is that it is the duty of the court to dismiss any suit instituted after the prescribed period of limitation irrespective of the fact that limitation has not been set up as a defence. If a suit is ex facie barred by the law of limitation, a court has no choice but to dismiss the same even if the defendant intentionally has not raised the plea of limitation."

10. In the case of Sneh Gupta Vs. Devi Sarup and others, (2009)6 SCC 194, in paragraph 70, the Apex Court has held that in absence of any application for condonation of delay, the court has no jurisdiction in terms of S. 3, Limitation Act, 1963 to entertain the application filed for setting aside of decree after expiry of period of limitation.

11. In 2001 (9) SCC 717, Ragho Singh Vs. Mohan Singh, the Apex Court has held as under:-

(6) " We have heard learned counsel for the parties. Since it is not disputed that the appeal filed before the Additional Collector was beyond time by 10 days and an application under Section 5 of the Limitation Act was not filed for condonation of delay, there was no jurisdiction in the Additional Collector to allow that appeal. The appeal was liable to be dismissed on the ground of limitation. The Board of Revenue before which the question of limitation was agitated was of the view that though an application for condonation of delay was not filed, the delay shall be deemed to have been condoned. This is patently erroneous. In this situation, the High Court was right in setting aside the judgment of the Additional Collector as also of the Board of Revenue. We find no infirmity in the impugned judgment. The appeal is dismissed. No costs."

12. The same view has been reiterated by this Court in Prabhu and Another Vs. Deputy Director of Consolidation and others 2013 (118) RD 48, wherein this Court has observed as under :-

(i) When the statute provides limitation for approaching the Court and a person approaches the Court after the expiry of the period of limitation, then he has to approach the Court along with an application under Section 5 of the Limitation Act praying extension of period of limitation or to condone the delay in approaching the Court.

(ii) Once the application under Section 5 of the Limitation Act is filed and unless the delay is condoned, no order can be passed on merit.

(iii) The delay cannot be condoned without having the version of otherside and for that, otherside is required to be noticed and heard.

13. Here in this case, both the things are missing as neither the application filed under Section 5 was decided nor any finding has been recorded that the application was within time.

14. Learned counsel for the petitioner further contended that in the restoration application, it was not the case of the respondents that the State was not heard on 23.5.2016 and unless it was the case that the order impugned dated 23.5.2016 is ex parte one, recall application was not maintainable.Here too, I find substance in the submissions of learned counsel for the petitioners that once the order was passed after hearing both the sides, the recall application was not maintainable and the order could not be treated as an exparte order. Otherwise also, the Additional Collector (Finance and Revenue) has no power to review his own order as there is no provision of review under the Indian Stamp Act while deciding such cases.

15. It can not be disputed that the impugned order has been passed by a quasi judicial authority and such authority cannot review its order in absence of power of Review conferred under the Statute.

16. The power of review of quasi judicial authority in absence of specific provision under the statute has been dealt with in several cases of this Court as well as by the Apex Court. The Apex Court in the case of Dr. (Smt.) Kuntesh Gupta v. Management of Hindu Kanya Mahavidyalaya, Sitapur (U.P. and Ors. reported in (1987) 4 Supreme Court Cases 525 has held that unless power of Review is expressly conferred on the authority by any statute under which it derives its' jurisdiction, the authority concerned has no power to Review its' earlier order. In Para-11 of the aforesaid judgment following observations has been made:

17. A quasi-judicial authority cannot review its own order, unless the power of review is expressly conferred on it by the statute under which it derives its jurisdiction. The Vice-Chancellor in considering the question of approval of an order of dismissed of the Principal, acts as a quasi-judicial authority. The provisions of the U.P. State Universities Act, 1973 or of the Statutes of the University do not confer any power of review on the Vice- Chancellor. In the circumstances, it must be held that the Vice- Chancellor acted wholly without jurisdiction in reviewing, his/her earlier order. The review order of the Vice-Chancellor was, therefore, a nullity.

18. In the case of G. Srinivas v. Govt. of A.P. and Ors. reported in MANU/SC/0634/2005 : AIR2005SC4455 . Hon'ble Apex Court has observed:

An order passed by mistake and ignorance of the relevant facts indisputably can be reviewed, if inter alia it is found that a fraud was practiced or there was willful suppression on the part of the appellant.

19. The Full Bench of this Court reported in 1997 (31) A.L.R. 680 (Smt. Shvraji and Ors. v. Dy. Director of Consolidation, Allahabad and Ors.) has held:

36. Coming to the provisions of the U.P. Consolidation of Holdings Act, it is our considered view that the consolidation authorities, particularly the Deputy Director of Consolidation while deciding a revision petition exercises judicial or quasi judicial power and, therefore his order is final subject to any power of appeal or revision vested in superior authority under the Act. The consolidation authorities, particularly the Deputy Director of Consolidation, is not vested with any power of review of his order and, therefore, cannot reopen any proceeding and cannot review or revise his earlier order. However, as a judicial or quasi judicial authority he has the power to correct any clerical mistake/arithmetical error, manifest error in his order in exercise of his inherent power as a tribunal.

20. In the case of Syed Madadgar Husain Rizvi and Anr. v. State of U.P. and Ors. reported in 2007 (9) ADJ 581 (DB) this Court has held:

A quasi judicial authority is not permitted to review its order unless it is so expressly conferred by the Statute itself.

21. In view of foregoing discussions, I am of the considered opinion that the impugned order dated 9.9.2016 is without jurisdiction and it cannot be sustained in the eyes of law. It is well settled that an order without jurisdiction is a nullity and no legal consequences can flow such orders. Reference may be made to the decisons of the Apex Court in Managing Director, Army Welfare Housing Organization vs. Sumangal Services Pvt. Ltd. (2004)9 SCC 619,Sarup Singh and Anr. vs. Union of India and Anr. (2011) 11 SCC 198 and a Division Bench decision of this Court in the case of Committee of Management Shri Jawahar Inter College and Anr. vs. State of U.P. and Ors. in Special Appeal No. 164 of 2012 decided on 25.1.2012 in which it has been held that the order without jurisdiction is a nullity.

22. In the result, the writ petition succeeds and is allowed. The impugned order dated dated 9.9.2016 passed by the Additional Collector (Finance and Revenue) Hapur in Case No. D2016117300171 (State Vs. Sunil Kumar) is hereby quashed. However allowing of this writ petition will not preclude the respondents to proceed in accordance with law.

Testamentary Case No.- 25 Of 2015

In The Matter Of Late Smt. Kalawati & Anr. ...Petitioners

Versus

Nagar Nigam, Jalaun ...Respondent

Counsel for Petitioners:
Narendra Mohan

Counsel for Respondent:
Rajeev Kumar Mishra

Indian Succession Act, 1925 -- Section 278 -- Grant of Letters of Administration -- Caveat -- Locus Standi of Caveator to Oppose -- Petitioner applied under Section 278 for grant of Letters of Administration in respect of the estate of the deceased on the basis of her registered Will dated 19.11.1984 -- Nagar Nigam, Jalaun entered a caveat contending that the properties mentioned in the schedule to the petition belonged to it and not to the deceased, that petitioner was not the heir and legal representative of the deceased, and that the death certificate filed was fictitious -- filing of a caveat renders the proceedings for grant of Letters of Administration contentious, making it necessary to examine the locus standi of the caveator before he is permitted to contest -- Held: only a person having an interest in the estate of the deceased, claiming title through the deceased and not independently of him, is entitled to lodge a caveat and oppose the grant of Letters of Administration -- a person disputing the testator's right to deal with the property as his own, or claiming the property adversely to or independently of the testator, has no locus standi to oppose the grant -- Nagar Nigam, Jalaun having claimed the scheduled properties independently of the deceased and not through her, held to have no caveatable interest -- caveat discharged. (Paras 4-8)

Indian Succession Act, 1925 -- Grant of Letters of Administration -- Scope of Enquiry -- Title to Properties not to be Adjudicated -- Held: in proceedings for grant of Letters of Administration, the title of the properties referred to either in the petition or in the Will of the deceased is not to be adjudicated upon at all; the Court is only concerned with the genuineness of the Will, its authenticity, its due execution in accordance with law, and the entitlement of the petitioner to administer the properties of the deceased -- the Court has no jurisdiction to adjudicate the title of the testator over such properties or even their existence. (Paras 9-10)

Caveat Discharged -- Nagar Nigam, Jalaun held to have no caveatable interest in the estate of the deceased Kalawati -- caveat filed by it in Testamentary Case No. 25 of 2015 discharged. (Para 11)

Case Law Discussed:-
1. Goods of Mrs Lydia and others, AIR 1952 Allahabad 543
2. D.S. Sriramiah Setty v. Smt. D. Kanthamma, AIR 1971 Mysore 148

(Delivered by Hon'ble Pankaj Mithal, J.)

1. The petitioner Arvind Kumar Dixit has applied under Section 278 of the Indian Succession Act, 1925 for the grant of Letters of Administration to him in respect of the estate of the deceased Kalawati W/o late Sri Brahmdeen, R/o Mohalla Chaudharana, Kasba and District Jalaun, on the basis of her registered Will dated 19.11.1984, annexed with the petition.

2. The Nagar Nigam, Jalaun has entered into a caveat and has filed counter to the petition seeking grant of Letters of Administration.

3. Sri R.K. Mishra, learned counsel appearing for the Nagar Nigam argues that the properties mentioned in the schedule of the properties with the petition for grant of Letters of Administration were not the properties of the deceased rather that of the Nagar Nigam, Jalaun. The petitioner is not the heir and legal representative of the deceased and the death certificate enclosed with the petition is fictitious.

4. The filing of a caveat has the effect of making proceedings for the grant of Letters of Administration contentuous matter, therefore, locus standi of a person lodging a caveat so as to oppose the grant is necessary to be looked into before he is allowed to contest the proceedings.

5. It is only a person who has interest in the estate of the deceased is entitle to lodge a caveat and to oppose the grant of Letters of Administration. Such a person must claim title in the property through the deceased and not independently of him. A person disputing the right of the testator to deal with the property as his own is not a person entitle to oppose the grant of Letters of Administration.

6. In the Goods of Mrs Lydia and others, AIR 1952 Allahabad 543, the Court was called upon to decide the locus of the person lodging the caveat to the grant of probate. His Lordship of this Court held that a caveator, who says that the property does not form part of the estate of the deceased is not a person claiming an interest in that estate and as such has no locus standi to oppose the grant of the probate of the Will.

7. The grant of probate of a Will or Letters of Administration of the estate with the Will annexed stand on the same footing in so far as the principle behind the lodging of a caveat.

8. The Nagar Nigam, Jalaun is not claiming right in the properties mentioned in the schedule to the petition through the deceased rather independently of her. It therefore, has no locus to file caveat and to contest the grant of Letters of Administration to the petitioner.

9. In the proceedings for the grant of Letters of Administration, the title of the properties referred to either in the petition or in the Will of the deceased is not to be adjudicated upon at all. In such proceedings, the genuineness of the Will or its authenticity or its due execution in accordance with law or the entitlement of the petitioner to administer the properties of the deceased alone is to be considered. The Court has no jurisdiction to adjudicate about the title of testator on the said properties as even about the existence of any of them.

10. In D.S. Sriramiah Setty Vs. Smt. D. Kanthamma, AIR 1971 Mysore 148, it was held that a person, who claims the property by paramount title or adversely to the testator or disputes, the testator's right to deal with the property sought to be disposed of by the Will, has no right to enter a caveat. The only question, which arises for decision in such an application for grant of Letters of Administration is whether the Will propounded was the Will made by the testator while he was of a sound disposing state of mind.

11. In view of the aforesaid facts and circumstances of the case, I am of the opinion that the Nagar Nigam, Jalaun has no caveatable interest in the matter and as such, the caveat filed by it is discharged.

Counsel for Respondent:
Government Advocate

Criminal Procedure -- Section 364A I.P.C. -- Kidnapping for Ransom -- Ingredients -- Held: relying on Suman Sood alias Kamaljeet Kaur v. State of Rajasthan, before Section 364A I.P.C. is attracted and a person convicted, the prosecution must prove that the accused kidnapped, abducted or detained a person, kept such person under custody or detention, and that such kidnapping, abduction or detention was for ransom. (Para 25)

Evidence -- Testimony of Rescued Abductee -- Reliability -- Detailed and Consistent Narration -- Abductee was kept in custody of the kidnappers for nine days and had ample opportunity to recognise them by name and face, having travelled and been confined with them throughout -- he specifically described the role of each appellant, including the appellant driving the vehicle used in the kidnapping -- Held: where the narration of the abductee is natural, consistent and free from material contradiction on cross-examination, and there is no discernible motive for false implication given absence of any prior acquaintance or enmity between the complainant's family and the accused, such testimony is wholly reliable and can safely found conviction. (Paras 33-38)

Evidence -- Maxim 'Falsus in Uno, Falsus in Omnibus' -- Inapplicability in India -- Acquittal on Connected Charges Not Fatal to Conviction under Section 364A I.P.C. -- Some of the appellants were separately tried and acquitted of charges under Sections 147, 148, 149, 307 I.P.C. and the Arms Act arising from an alleged exchange of fire at the time of their arrest, the evidence in that regard having been found unreliable -- Held: relying on Ramesh Harijan v. State of Uttar Pradesh, the maxim 'falsus in uno, falsus in omnibus' has no application in India and is merely a rule of caution -- even where a major portion of the evidence of a witness is found deficient, if the residue is sufficient to prove the guilt of the accused it is the duty of the court to separate the grain from the chaff -- acquittal in respect of the firing/arms charges, being based on a distinct and independent set of facts, does not affect the reliability of the evidence establishing the offence of kidnapping for ransom. (Paras 42-44)

Criminal Procedure -- Organised Crime -- Role of Driver of Vehicle Used in Kidnapping -- Constructive Involvement -- Held: in an offence of kidnapping for ransom committed by an organised gang, each member has an assigned role, and a member need not be directly visible or participate in every overt act to be held involved -- the appellant who drove the vehicle used to transport the abductee both on the first and last day of the offence, and who was apprehended along with the other accused and the abductee, cannot escape liability merely because no firearm was recovered from him and he did not participate in the firing upon the police party at the time of arrest. (Paras 45-46)

Evidence -- Identification of Absconding Accused Through Confessional Statement of Co-Accused -- Corroboration by Direct Testimony of Abductee -- Held: absconding accused whose names surfaced only through the confessional statement of co-accused, and who were not arrested along with the others, cannot be absolved merely on that ground where the abductee has, in his direct testimony, specifically described their role and the place, being a field belonging to one such accused, where he was confined for several days -- plea of false implication on account of alleged prior enmity, unsupported by corroborative evidence, is not acceptable in the face of such direct testimony. (Paras 47-48)

Criminal Appeals Dismissed -- Judgment and order dated 14.12.2007 passed by the Additional Sessions Judge/F.T.C.-III, Hardoi in S.T. No. 839 of 2005 connected with S.T. No. 370 of 2006, arising out of Case Crime No. 429 of 2005, Police Station Kotwali City, District Hardoi, convicting and sentencing appellants Karan Aarakh, Shiv Kumar Singh, Vikram Singh alias Puttaney, Dinesh Yadav, Manoj Yadav, Shri Pal and Satya Kumar under Section 364A I.P.C. for life imprisonment with fine, upheld -- appeals dismissed -- appellants on bail directed to be taken into custody forthwith to serve out the sentence; appellants already in jail to continue serving the sentence. (Paras 50-53)

Case Law Discussed:
1. Suman Sood alias Kamaljeet Kaur v. State of Rajasthan, (2007) 5 SCC 634
2. Sucha Singh v. State of Punjab, AIR 2003 SC 3617
3. Ramesh Harijan v. State of Uttar Pradesh, (2012) 5 SCC 777

(Delivered by Hon'ble Vinod Kumar Srivastava-III, J.)

1. All the aforesaid criminal appeals have been preferred against the judgment and order dated 14.12.2007 passed by the Additional Sessions Judge/F.T.C.-III Hardoi in S.T. No. 839 of 2005 (State Vs. Dinesh Yadav and others) connected with S.T. No. 370 of 2006 (State Vs. Brief Facts of the case:

3. The prosecution story in brief is that complainant Ravindra Kumar Srivastava (P.W.1) lodged a First Information Report on 29.5.2005 with P.S. Kotwali City District Hardoi in respect of the incident allegedly occurred on 22.5.2005 at about 6.30 P.M. alleging therein that his younger brother Awadesh Kumar (P.W. 2) had gone to Kannauj by boarding in D.C.M. The complainant sent his younger brother Mahesh Chandra Srivastava (P.W.3) along with one Manoj Tripathi, who reached at 2.30 P.M. at the said place, where three persons met them. U.P. 30-B 7616,relying upon the information, police force came to the place of incident. When the police party intercepted the said vehicle firing was made by the miscreants towards police party due to which constable Kajjan Khan (P.W.7) and constable Harvasav Rao received some injury. However ultimately police party successfully apprehended six miscreants , namely Dinesh Yadav, Shiv Kumar, Vikaram alias Puttaney, Rajeev Yadav, and Manoj Yadav from whose possession illegal firearms were also recovered and Karan Aarakh who was driving the vehicle along with abductee Awadesh Kumar. The name of the miscreants Sripal and Satya Kumar were also disclosed by them, who successfully escaped from the place of incident. No. 839 of 2005 (State Vs. Dinesh Yadav and others) connected with S.T. No. 370 of 2006(State Vs. Shripal and another).

Submissions and conclusions

25. Before proceeding to examine the ocular evidence adduced by the prosecution in support of its case, it may be noted that in order to prove the offence under section 364-A I.P.C. Hon'ble Supreme Court in case of Suman Sood alias Kamaljeet Kaur Vs. State of Rajasthan (2007) 5 SCC 634 had laiddown in paragraph-57 as under

"57. Before the above section is attracted and a person is convicted, the prosecution must prove the following ingredients;

(1) The accused must have kidnapped, abducted or detained any person;
(2) He must have kept such person under custody or detention; and (3) Kidnapping, abduction or detention must have been for ransom."

26. In the light of the aforesaid settled legal position, the evidence of the present case is required to be considered.

27. In support of the charge under section 364-A I.P.C. against the accused-appellants prosecution has examined three witnesses of fact namely P.W.1- Ravindra Kumar Srivastava (complainant), P.W.2- Awadesh Kumar (victim) and P.W.3- Mahesh Chandra Srivastava(brother of the victim) and two formal witnesses namely P.W.8- Constable Santu Lal, and P.W. 12- Ram Naresh Chawdhary(I.O.).

28. It may be noted that rest of prosecution witnesses namely P.W.4- Ritesh Bajpai, P.W.5- S.I. Satyanarayan Yadav, P.W.6- S.H.O. Murrari Lal Chadhaury, P.W.7- constable Kajjan Khan, P.W.9- constable Ram Lal and P.W.10- Inspector Sahab Singh Yadav (I.O.) and P.W.11- Goverdhan Lal Yadav (Chief Pharmacist) are related to the offence under section 147, 148, 149, 307 I.P.C. and under section 25 arms Act, registered at different case crime numbers and Sessions Trial Numbers, from which accused-appellants have been acquitted by the trial court,therefore, their evidence need not to be considered in the present appeals, which is only against the judgment and conviction order for the offence under section 364-A I.P.C., case crime no. 429 of 2005 as has been referred to herein above.

29. P.W.1- Ravindra Kumar Srivastava, is the informant and brother of the abductee Awadhesh Kumar Srivastava (P.W.2) has proved the First Information Report Ex.Ka-1 and reiterated the allegations made in the First Information Report. He has stated in his evidence that his younger brother Awadhesh Kumar had gone to Kannauj by boarding in D.C.M. Vehicle. Thereafter when his whereabouts could not be known, he lodged a missing report at Kotwali Shahar on 24.5.2005. A telephonic message came on 27.5.2005 at his home from unknown person that his brother is present with him and was told to meet on same day at 2 P.M. at the temple Kakrahiya Devi along with another person having red strip on right arms. He sent his younger brother Mahesh Chandra and one Manoj Tripathi at the said temple, who reached there at about 2.30 P.M. then three persons met them. When his brother Mahesh told them that first bring his brother Awadhesh Kumar before him and after relying on them he would talk to them, then they took mobile set of Mahesh and said that through this mobile his brother will call to you and thereafter come as told by them. On 29.5.2005 in the morning phone call came at his home and his brother only told his name, thereafter phone was taken by some other person who told to meet on 30.5.2005 at 2 P.M. at the same temple and threatened that if he would not come, his brother would be killed. On 29.5.2005 he gave a written report Ex.Ka 1 at P.S. Kotwail Sahar and lodged the First Information Report.

30. P.W.3- Mahesh Chandra Srivastava, is the brother of the abdcutee Awadhesh Kumar Srivastava (P.W.2) and has supported the prosecution case as alleged in the First Information Report and corroborated the statement of P.W.1-Ravindra Kumar Srivastava (complainant). P.W.3-Mahesh Chandra Srivastava has stated that his brother Awadhesh Kumar Srivastava had gone to Kannauj by boarding in D.C.M. vehicle on 22.5.2005 at 6.30 P.M., but thereafter his whereabouts could not be known, then his brother Ravindra Kumar Srivastava lodged missing report at P.S. Kotwali Sahar District Hardoi. On 27.5.2005 a telephonic message of unknown person came at his home that his brother is in his custody and Rs. five lacs was demanded as ransom . When he reached at the place as told by them along with one Manoj Kumar Tripathi three persons met him there .They took him to outside the temple and said that his brother is in their custody and demanded Rs. Five lacs. When he said that show me, his brother then they took his mobile phone and said that your brother will talk through this mobile. Thereafter phone call came and his brother told his name on phone.

31. On 29.5.2005 phone call of kidnappers came and it was said that if you can not arrange Rs. Five lacs then come with Rs. One lac at the same place otherwise they will kill his brother. On 30.5.2005 he went with police at the said temple but nobody met there.

32. P.W.3- Mahesh Chandra Srivastava has further stated that on 31.5.2005 he along with Ritesh Bajpai went with Hardoi Police to search Awadhesh Kumar. When they were going on Baramu Tera Road police personnel phoned to P.S. Arawal and S.I. and constable of P.S. Arawal reached there. After a while a Marshal bearing no. U.P. 30B-7616 came and police party intercepted the vehicle, miscreants got down from the vehicle and started firing on the police force. Due to firing by the miscreants constable Kajjan Khan and constable Harvasav Rao have received simple injury. Six miscreants were arrested on the spot at about 5.30 P.M., while two fled away . The arrested miscreants told their names as Dinesh Yadav, Shiv Kumar, Vikaram Singh alias Puttaney, Manoj Yadav,Rajeev and Karan Aarakh and they told the name of absconded miscreants as Sripal Kachhi and Satya Kumar Kachhi.The illegal firearms were also recovered from the possession of all the arrested miscreants except Karan Aarakh. His brother was sitting in the said vehicle. Police personnels inquired to him and he told all about the incident. Thereafter recovered illegal firearms were kept under sealed cover and Fard was prepared and he put his signature on it which is Ex. Ka-2 . Police party took him and his brother and recovered articles to P.S. Arwal where his brother Awadhesh Kumar was given in his custody.

33. P.W.-2- Awadhesh Kumar Srivastava (abductee) has stated that on 22.5.2005 at about 6.30 P.M., he was going to Kannauj by boarding in D.C.M. vehicle. When the vehicle reached at Bilgram crossing at 7.30 P.M., D.C.M. vehicle got some defect at Bilgram crossing. Therefore he left the D.C.M. vehicle and reached at Kannauj road by walking on foot and was standing there in waiting for bus. At that time a 'Marshal' vehicle bearing no. U.P. 30B-7616 came and stop there, calling passengers for Kannauj. Eight persons were sitting in the vehicle. He along with two other persons sat on the said vehicle. Two passengers got down from the said vehicle after traveling 3-4 Km., then after traveling 6-7 Km. the vehicle left the Kannauj road and turned to the right hand towards forest. When he protested, the sitting persons in the vehicle whipped out Tamancha and threatened to keep quiet otherwise they will shoot him. Thereafter they covered his eyes with a piece of cloth (Angauchha). After two hours of running of vehicle, they got him down and vehicle went back. When vehicle stopped the strip of the eyes was removed and he identified all the accused-persons. They all were talking each other by their name in the vehicle. The name of the driver of the vehicle was Karan. Dinesh was sitting on the front seat and Shiv Kumar, Vikaram alias Puttaney, Manoj, Rajeev, Shripal and Staya Kumar were sitting in the vehicle and talking to each other. Thereafter, they took him in the forest, in a field of sugarcane. There was a hut in the field of sugarcane, that field of sugarcane was of Shripal. They tied his legs and when he requested to release him, they said that he will be released after payment of money. They kept him there for six days and thereafter kept him for three days in the field of 'Beshram'. On 29.5.2005 he talked to his brother on mobile.

34. P.W.-2 Awadhesh Kumar Srivastava has further deposed that on 31.5.2005 same 'Marshal' vehicle came, they consulted to each other and after consultation, in order to keep him at some other place, they boarded him in the vehicle. They were talking to go to Mirjapur Katan. After running of 2 ½ -3 km. Police force surrounded the jeep, then they started firing . Due to firing of the kidnappers some police personnel's received injuries. This incident took place at 5-5.30 P.M. on 31.5.2005. Shripal and Satya Kumar fled away from the spot and rest of six accused persons were arrested, who disclosed their names before the police personnels as Dinesh, Shiv Kumar, Vikaram alias Puttaney, Manoj Yadav, Rajeev Yadav and Karan driver. On their personal search illegal firearms were recovered from the possession of all the arrested accused persons except Karan. At the time of the incident, his brother Mahesh and Ritesh Bajpai were also with the police force on the spot. The police personnels took the accused persons in custody, recovered articles were kept in sealed cover and 'fard'(memo) was prepared on the spot, on which he also put his signature, which is Ex. Ka-2.Thereafter he was released from the possession of the kidnappers by the police force.

35. P.W.-2 Awadhesh Kumar Srivastava is the abductee and main witness of the alleged offence of kidnapping for ransom, as he was in the custody of the kidnappers for nine days and has suffered mental torture during that period. Since the abductee Awadhesh Kumar Srivastava (P.W.2) was in the custody of the kidnappers for nine days,therefore, he had opportunity to recognize them by their name and face. He has narrated all the story of kidnapping from beginning to the end in a quite natural manner. There appears no exaggeration or embellishment in his statement and his testimony is reliable and dependable.

36. P.W-2- Awadhesh Kumar Srivastava has categorically described the role and involvement of all the accused-appellants and has specifically stated that the appellant Karan Aarakh was the driver of the same Marashal vehicle, which was used on first day of the kidnapping on 22.5.2005 and last day at the time of arrest on 31.5.2005. He has also stated that for six days he was kept in a hut made in the field of sugarcane, which was of Shripal, appellant. There is no any material contradiction in his cross examination to disbelieve his statement. Therefore his evidence cannot be disbelieved.

37. It is evident from the record that complainant P.W.-1-Ravindra Kumar Srivastava and his brothers P.W.-2-Awadhesh Kumar Srivastava and P.W.-3, Mahesh Chandra Srivastava are the resident of Harodi City, district Hardoi, while the accused-appellants Dinesh Yadav, Vikaram Singh alias Puttaney, Shripal and Satya Kumar are resident of district Farrukhabad and the appellants Karan Aarakh, Manoj Yadav and Shiv Kumar are resident of different villages of district Hardoi. The complainant and his brothers were not familiar to the appellants prior to the incident and there was no enmity between them. Therefore there was no motive or occasion to the complainant and his brothers to falsely implicate the appellants, thus theory of false implication is baseless and not acceptable at all.

38. The prosecution witnesses P.W.-1-Ravindra Kumar Srivastava (complainant), P.W-2-Awadhesh Kumar Srivastava (abdcutee) and P.W.3, Mahesh Chandra Srivastava have been cross examined at length, but inspite of lengthy cross examination, learned counsel for the appellants has failed to point out nothing, which could make out that prosecution witnesses were stating against the appellants due to enmity and revengeful attitude.

39. The accused-appellants have also not produced any credible evidence on record to show that the incident took place in any other manner,therefore, the case of false implication of accused-appellants on the basis of enmity and partybandi is not established and the defence plea has no substance.

40. The learned counsel for the accused- appellants submitted that accused-appellants Dinesh Yadav, Shiv Kumar, Vikaram Singh alias Pattenney, Manoj Yadav, Karan Arakh were allegedly arrested by the police force on 31.5.2005 and at the time of their arrest they made fire on the police party with illegal firearms, and illegal firearms were recovered from their possession, while accused-appellants Sripal and Staya Kumar had run away from the spot at the time of the said occurrence. Regarding this incident S.O. Bhagwant Singh had lodged the First Information Report against all the accused-appellants on 31.5.2005 with P.S. Arwal District Hardoi under sections 147, 148, 149, 307 I.P.C. and 7 Criminal Law Amendment Act at case crime no. 48 of 2005 and also under section 3/25 Arms Act at case crime no. 49 of 2005, 50 of 2005 , 51 of 2005 and 53 of 2005 against the accused appellants Dinesh Yadav, Shiv Kumar, Vikaram Singh alias Pattenney and Manoj Yadav; respectively. All the accused appellants were also tried for the aforesaid offences along with alleged offence under section 364-A I.P.C. at case crime no. 429 of 2005, but the prosecution could not prove the aforesaid allegations with credible evidence and trial court after appreciating the evidence of the prosecution witnesses have reached at the conclusion that the testimony of the prosecution witnesses was not reliable in connection with the alleged firing at the police personnel's by the accused-appellants at the time of their arrest on 31.5.2005 and the alleged recovery of illegal firearms from their possession and prosecution has failed to prove the alleged offences charged under sections 147, 148, 149, 307 I.P.C. and section 25 Arms Act beyond reasonable doubt. Therefore all the accused-appellants have been acquitted by the learned trial court for the aforesaid offences but on the other hand learned trial court has convicted the accused-appellants for the offences under section 364-A I.P.C. relying on the evidence of same prosecution witnesses and as such learned trial court has not appreciated the evidence of the prosecution witnesses in the right perspective and erred in convicting the accused-appellants.

41. The prosecution case runs in two parts. The first part is related to the offence of kidnapping for ransom under section 364-A I.P.C. at case crime no. 429 of 2005 for which all the accused- appellants have been convicted and the present appeals have been filed. The second part relates to the incident of 31.5.2005 when some of the accused-appellants, namely, Yadav Dinesh, Shiv Kumar, Vikaram Singh alias Pattenney, Manoj Yadav and Karan Arakh were arrested on the spot by the police force and during their arrest, they made fire on the police personnel and illegal firearms were recovered from their possession,regarding which separate First Information Report was lodged by S.O. Bhagwant Singh under sections 147, 148, 149, 307 I.P.C. and 7 Criminal Law Amendment Act at case crime no. 48 of 2005 and also under section 3/25 Arms Act at different crime numbers. All the accused- appellants were tried together for all the aforesaid offences but since the prosecution could not prove the alleged incident of firing on police personnels at the time of their arrest and recovery of illegal firearms from their possession by sufficient reliable evidence, therefore, trial court have acquitted them for the said offence and convicted only for the offence of kidnapping for ransom under section 364-A I.P.C. having found prosecution evidence reliable for the said offence.

42. It is pertinent to mention here that Hon'ble Supreme Court has time and again laid down that Maxim "Falsus in uno, Falsus in omnibus" is not applicable in India. It is merely a rule of caution. Thus even if major portion of the evidence is found to be deficient, in case residue is sufficient to prove the guilt of the accused, conviction can be maintained. A witness may be speaking untruth in some respect and it has to be appraised in each case, as to what extent the evidence is worthy of acceptance and merely because in some respect the court considers the same to be insufficient for placing reliance on the testimony of a witness,it does not necessarily follow as a matter of law that it must be disregard in all respects as well. Falsity of particular material witness on a material particular would not ruin it from beginning to end.

43. Hon'ble Supreme Court in case of Ramesh Harijan Vs. State of Uttar Pradesh(2012) 5 SCC 777 has laid down in paragraph-29 as follows:-

"29.In Sucha Singh v. State of Punjab, AIR 2003 SC 3617, this Court had taken note of its various earlier judgments and held that even if major portion of the evidence is found to be deficient, in case residue is sufficient to prove guilt of an accused, it is the duty of the court to separate grain from chaff. Falsity of particular material witness or material particular would not ruin it from the beginning to end. The maxim falsus in uno falsus in omnibus has no application in India and the witness cannot be branded as a liar. In case this maxim is applied in all the cases it is to be feared that administration of criminal justice would come to a dead stop. Witnesses just cannot help in giving embroidery to a story, however, true in the main. Therefore, it has to be appraised in each case as to what extent the evidence is worthy of credence, and merely because in some respects the court considers the same to be insufficient or unworthy of reliance, it does not necessarily follow as a matter of law that it must be disregarded in all respects as well."

44. In view of the above, the aforesaid submission of the learned counsel for the appellants appears to be baseless and not acceptable, when the evidence of prosecution witnesses have been found reliable in respect of the offence of kidnapping for ransom under section 364-A I.P.C.

45. Learned counsel for the appellants also submitted that as per prosecution story itself it is alleged that on 31.5.2005, when accused-appellants were allegedly arrested by the police personnel after the short encounter, the accused-appellant Karan Arakh was only driving the said vehicle on which the other accused-appellants along with abductee Awadehs Kumar Srivastava were sitting and he did not take part in firing and admittedly no illegal firearm was recovered from his possession. Therefore, he cannot be said to be involved in the alleged kidnapping along with other accused-appellants.

46. It may be noted that the offence of kidnapping for ransom is committed by the organized gang and each member of the gang has their assigned role in commission of the crime. Some members of the gang may be directly involved and may be visible, while some members of the gang remain behind the curtain and may not be visible to others, but they are completely involved in the commission of crime of kidnapping. Therefore we are of the opinion that accused appellant Karan Arkah being the driver of the vehicle carrying other accused-appellants along with abductee and arrested by the police force shows that he was playing the role of driver of the vehicle which was being used in kidnapping by the gang and as per evidence of P.W.2, Awadhesh Kumar Srivastava, abductee, his involvement in commission of crime along with other accused appellants cannot be discarded, only on the ground that he did not participate along with other accused-appellants in alleged firing on police personnels at the time of arrest.

47. It is further submitted by the learned counsel for the appellants that accused- appellant Shripal and Satya Kumar have not been arrested on 31.5.2005 at the spot alongwith other accused-appellants and their name have come into light only on the basis of confessional statement made by the arrested accused therefore, their case is distinguishable from other accused-appellants and their participation in commission of the alleged offence of kidnapping along with other accused appellants cannot be presumed, hence learned trial court has erred in convicting the accused-appellants Sripal and Satya Kumar.

48. Though the accused-appellant Sripal has stated in his statement under section 313 Cr.P.C. that he and his brother Satya Kumar(appellant) have been falsely implicated on the basis of statement of co-accused . They have enmity with co-accused and his family members prior to this incident and accused-appellant Satya Kumar had lodged the First Information Report at crime no. 199 of 2001 against Kalicharan and Ram Tirath, who are family members of the co-accused Dinesh Yadav, therefore, he has falsely implicated them in his confessional statement. But the said facts have not been proved by any reliable corroborative evidence, hence mere on the basis of statement it cannot be presumed that Kalicharan and Ram Tirath against whom the said First Information Report was lodged by the accused appellant Satya Kumar were the family members of the accused-appellant Dinesh Yadav having good family relation to each other and due to that accused-appellant Dinesh Yadav was having enmity with accused-appellant Sripal and Satya Kumar. Therefore,the aforesaid submissions of the learned counsel for the appellants have no substance, especially when P.W.2 Awadhesh Kumar Srivastava, abductee has stated their involvement in commission of alleged kidnapping along with other accused-appellants.

49. In view of the above oral evidence and circumstances and other relevant materials available on record, we find the testimonies of P.W.-1- Ravindra Kumar Srivastava(complainant), P.W-2-Awadhesh Kumar Srivastava (abdcutee) and P.W.3- Mahesh Chandra Srivastava are wholly reliable and see no reason, not to accept the same. Therefore, we are of the view that on the basis of evidence of aforesaid prosecution witnesses, it is established that accused-appellants namely Dinesh Yadav, Vikaram Singh alias Puttaney, Shiv Kumar, Manoj Yadav, karan Aarakh, Shripal and Satya Kumar were equally involved in committing the offence of kidnapping for ransom of Awadhesh Kumar Srivastava(P.W.2) and prosecution has proved their involvement and complicity for the offence charged under section 364-A I.P.C.

Final Order

50. In light of the the above discussion, we are of the opinion that trial court have meticulously considered the facts and circumstances and evidence produced by the prosecution, thereafter passed the judgement and order of conviction of the appellants dated 14.12.2007. The judgement and order of the Additional Sessions Judge/F.T.C. III, Hardoi is based on evidence and conclusion reached by the trial court is not erroneous. Therefore, no interference is required.

51. We find no merit in the appeals, the appeals are hereby dismissed.

52. The appellants Karan Aarakh, Shripal and Satya Kumar are on bail. Their bail bonds and sureties bonds are cancelled and sureties are discharged. They shall be taken into custody forthwith to serve out the sentence awarded by the trial court.The rest of the four appellants, namely, Shiv Kumar Singh,Vikram Singh alias Puttaney,Dinesh Yadav and Manoj Yadav are stated to be already in jail since 31.5.2005, they shall serve out the sentence awarded by the trial court.

53. Let a copy of this judgement be sent to the Sessions Judge, Hardoi for ensuring compliance.

Provincial Small Cause Courts Act, 1887 -- Section 17, Proviso -- Deposit of Decretal Amount -- Application to Set Aside Ex-Parte Decree -- Mandatory Nature -- Defendant-revisionists, substituted legal heirs of the original tenant, filed application under Order 9 Rule 13 C.P.C. for setting aside the ex-parte decree dated 16.2.2004 passed in SCC Suit No. 20 of 2002 for arrears of rent and eviction -- at the time of presenting the application they deposited Rs.76,918.44 as against the decretal amount of Rs.86,016.32, leaving a shortfall of Rs.9,097.88 -- trial court rejected the application for non-compliance with the proviso to Section 17 -- Held: the language of the proviso to Section 17 is plain and unambiguous and is couched in mandatory form through use of the word 'shall' -- deposit of the amount due under the decree, or furnishing of security in lieu thereof with the leave of the Court, at the time of presenting the application under Order 9 Rule 13 C.P.C., is a mandatory condition precedent, non-compliance whereof entails dismissal of the application -- a provision casting an obligation on a private party, as distinguished from a public functionary, to act within a specified manner is ordinarily mandatory in nature. (Paras 5-13)

Maxim 'De Minimis Non Curat Lex' -- Applicability to Shortfall in Deposit under Section 17 -- Held: the maxim 'de minimis non curat lex', meaning that the law does not concern itself with trifles, can be invoked to overlook a negligible shortfall in the deposit made under Section 17, the extent of negligibility depending on the facts of each case -- broadly speaking, a shortfall of about 1-2 percent of the amount required to be deposited may in some cases be regarded as trivial, but not more -- shortfall of Rs.9,098/-, being about 10% of the decretal amount of Rs.86,016/-, held not to be negligible, and the maxim held inapplicable. (Paras 14-20)

S.C.C. Revision Dismissed -- Order dated 28.1.2016 rejecting application under Order 9 Rule 13 C.P.C. for setting aside ex-parte decree dated 16.2.2004 passed in SCC Suit No. 20 of 2002, for non-compliance with the mandatory proviso to Section 17(1) of the Provincial Small Cause Courts Act, 1887, upheld -- revision dismissed with costs. Case Law Discussed:-
1. Kedarnath v. Mohan Lal Kesarwani and others, 2002 (1) ARC 186 : 2002 (2) SCC 16
2. Amar Nath Agarwal v. Ist Additional District Judge and others, 1982 ARC 734
3. Raj Kumar Makhija and others v. M/s. S.K. and Co. and others, 2012 (9) ADJ 337 (DB)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Pankaj Mithal, J.)

1. The defendant-revisionists have preferred this revision under Section 25 of the Provincial Small Cause Courts Act, 1887 against the order dated 28.1.2016 rejecting their application under Order 9 Rule 13 C.P.C. for setting aside the alleged ex-parte order dated 16.2.2004 and the consequent decree passed in SCC Suit No.20 of 2002.

2. The two sons and a daughter of late Anwar Ahmad Sabari instituted Suit No.20 of 2002 against Ismail Khan for arrears of rent and eviction. Ismail Khan expired after the institution of the suit leaving behind as alleged his widow, four sons and a daughter. On his death, his two sons Mohd. Israil and Atula were substituted and the suit proceeded against them. The notice of the suit could not be served upon them. Therefore, recourse to substituted service was taken and the notice was published in the news-paper. Thereafter the suit was decreed ex-parte on 16.2.2004 in their absence.

3. The aforesaid two defendants in the suit on 30.5.2014 filed an application under Order 9 Rule 13 C.P.C. contending that they had no knowledge of the aforesaid ex-parte decree. They came to know about it in May, 2014 when the same was put in execution. Accordingly, after inspection of the record on 29.5.2014 they have moved the above application.

4. Section 17 of the Act provides for application of the Code of Civil Procedure in suits cognizable by Small Cause Courts but lays down that in order to set-aside a decree passed ex-parte the applicant at the time of presenting his application has to either deposit the amount due under the decree or furnish security for its performance as the Court may direct on a previous application made in that behalf. Thus, the aforesaid defendants were supposed to deposit the amount due to them under the ex-parte decree at the time of presenting the application for setting aside the same.

5. There is no dispute that according the decree they were supposed to deposit `.86,016.32 at the time of presenting the application under Order 9 Rule 13 C.P.C. The defendants deposited only `.76,918.44 for the purposes of setting aside the ex-parte decree in compliance of Section 17 of the Act. Thus there was a shortage of `.9097.88 (`.9098 in round figure).

6. In view of the above, the application of the defendants for setting aside ex-parte decree was rejected by the impugned order dated 28.1.2016 as they failed to make the deposit of the entire amount due under the decree at the time of presentation of the application.

7. I have heard Sri J.J. Munir, learned counsel for the defendant-revisionists and Sri Pankaj Agarwal, learned counsel appearing for the respondents (landlords).

8. Sri Munir had argued that the defendants had no intention to disobey the mandate of Section 17 of the Act. They had bonafidely deposited the full amount which turned out to be short. The shortage was not substantial and looking to the small shortage, it ought to have been ignored and the tenants should not have been deprived of their valuable right to get their application filed under Order 9 Rule 13 C.P.C. adjudicated.

9. Sri Pankaj Agarwal has countered the submission by emphasising that the provisions of Section 17 of the Act are of mandatory nature and that there has to be strict compliance of the said provisions. Any delay or shortage in complying with the provisions of Section 17 of the Act dis-entitles the party to get the ex-parte order/decree set aside.

10. In view of the aforesaid facts and circumstances and the respective arguments of both the sides the only question which crops up for consideration is whether the shortage of `.9098/- in complying with the proviso to Section 17 of the Act can be regarded as negligible and ignored so as to enable the Court to consider the application under Order 9 Rule 13 C.P.C. on its merit.

11. In Kedarnath Vs. Mohan Lal Kesarwani and others 2002 (1) ARC 186 : 2002 (2) SCC 16 the Apex Court in considering the provisions of Section 17 of the Act laid down that a bare reading of it shows that the legislature have chosen to couch the language of the proviso in a mandatory form and there is no reason to interpret, construe and hold the nature of the proviso as directory. An application seeking to set aside an ex-parte decree passed by a Court of Small Causes must be accompanied by a deposit in the Court of the amount due from the applicant under the decree or in pursuance of the judgment. In the end, agreeing with the various pronouncements of the Allahabad High Court on the point, except for one, the Apex Court held that the provisions of Section 17 of the Act are mandatory and non compliance therewith would entail dismissal of the application for setting the ex-parte decree.

12. It may be relevant to state that the language of the proviso to Section 17 of the Act is plain and clear which leaves no ambiguity. The use of word 'shall' therein makes the provision mandatory in nature. It is settled in law that where the statutory provisions are plain and unambiguous, the Court shall not interpret the same in a different manner for the reason that the consequence therefrom may be harsh.

13. It is also well settled principle that if a statute requires an act to be performed by a private person within a specified time, the same would ordinarily be mandatory but the same is not the position when the duty to act is cast upon a public functionary in which case the provision would be directory in nature unless the consequence thereof are specified.

14. In view of the above principle also the provisions of Sections 17 of the Act which casts an obligation to deposit the amount under the decree upon a private party is certainly mandatory in nature. Accordingly, the deposit of the amount at the time of the presentation of the application under the decree sought to be set-aside is mandatory unless the Court otherwise directs for furnishing security.

15. In Amar Nath Agarwal Vs. Ist Additional District Judge and others, 1982 ARC 734 a Division Bench of this Court has held that if the deposit made by the tenant falls short of amount required to be deposited, the tenant will be deprived of the benefit, even if shortfall in such deposit was because of tenant's ignorance or without any mala fide intention. It means if there is any shortfall in the deposit, the tenant will be cease of his right to press the application on merits.

16. In view of the above mandatory provision the argument of substantial compliance may not be available to the defendants but for the maxim of "de minimis non curat lex".

17. The principle of "de minimis non curat lex" means that "the law does not concern itself about trifles". Thus, the question is if the shortage in deposit can be ignored by applying the said principle.

18. The aforesaid maxim in relation to Section 17 of the Act came up for consideration before a Division Bench of this Court in Raj Kumar Makhija and others Vs. M/s. S.K. and Co. and others 2012 (9) ADJ 337 (DB). The Division Bench explaining the principle observed that where the shortfall in deposit is of a negligible amount the aforesaid principle can be applied and the shortfall may be ignored. What would be a negligible amount would depend upon the facts of each case. In the above case before the Division Bench the tenants were required to deposit pendente lite and future damages at the rate of `.1,000/- per month but they deposited only at the rate of `.700/- per month. The Court refused to apply the above principle as the shortfall was not held to be of trivial amount.

19. The Court therein distinguished the case with those cases where the shortfall was held to be of no consequence, inasmuch as in those cases the mistake was in calculation on the part of the Court and those decisions were rendered in different factual background. Ultimately the Court held that on the basis of the above principle the Court can ignore shortfall in deposit of a negligible amount only, otherwise there has to be a strict compliance.

20. In one case referred by the Division Bench the amount required to be deposited was `.1,944/- and there was deficiency of `.104/-, the shortage was not held to be negligible to attract the principle.

21. In the case in hand admittedly the amount required to be deposited was `.86,016/- whereas the deposit made was of only `.76,918/- and there was a shortfall of `.9,018/-. The aforesaid shortfall, if examined in the light of the above two illustrations and percentage-wise keeping in mind the amount required to be deposited, it is around 10% of the amount. The shortage of 10% is not negligible to attract the principle of "de minimis non curat lex".

22. There cannot be any hard and fast rule as to the percentage which may be regarded as negligible in such cases but broadly speaking shortfall of about 1-2 percent of the total amount required to be deposited may in some cases be regarded trivial so as to apply the principle of "de minimis non curat lex" but not more. Accordingly, the shortage of `.9,098/- in deposit the amount under the decree is not trivial to be ignored.

23. In view of the aforesaid facts and circumstances, the court below has not committed any error of law in rejecting the application of the defendants filed under Order 9 Rule 13 C.P.C. for non compliance of the mandatory provision of proviso to Section 17(1) of the Act.

24. The revision has no merit and is dismissed with costs upon the parties.

State Of U.P. ...Respondent

Counsel for Appellant:
Jail Appeal (G.A.), Sri Ambrish Verma, Sri Anil Singh, Sri D.K. Singh Somvanshi, Sri Shachindra Dwivedi (for Mohan Sharma); Jail Appeal (G.A.), Sri Anil Kumar Pandey, Sri Anil Kumar Rai, Sri Anil Singh, Sri Bhup Chandra Singh, Sri D.K. Singh Sombansi (for Sohan Sharma); Sri Shiwa Kant Tiwari, Sri Ramanjeet Singh Johar, Sri Vivek Kumar Rai (for Rajesh Joshi)

Counsel for Respondent:
Government Advocate

Criminal Procedure -- Sections 364A, 342, 394 I.P.C. -- Kidnapping for Ransom -- Recovery of Abductee -- Some Accused Arrested at Spot, Others Absconding -- Missing report of minor abductee converted into F.I.R. registered as Case Crime No. 91 of 2006 on receipt of ransom call demanding Rs. 30 lacs -- on information of an informer, police party along with informant raided the house of accused Rajesh Joshi -- three persons, namely Raj Kumar Sharma, Ravindra Sharma and Sonu alias Amit, were found present with the chained abductee and arrested on the spot, while appellants Mohan Sharma, Sohan Sharma and Rajesh Joshi are alleged to have fled from the place of occurrence and were named by the informant -- fard recovery memo prepared and signed by the accused arrested on the spot -- charge-sheet submitted against those arrested, and a supplementary charge-sheet against the appellants -- trial court convicted all three appellants under Section 364A I.P.C. for life imprisonment, under Section 342 I.P.C. and under Section 394 I.P.C. (Paras 1-18)

Evidence -- Informant and Abductee Turning Hostile Qua Co-Accused Who Were Their Own Real Sons/Grandson -- Family Property Dispute -- Effect on Credibility -- Held: PW1 (informant/father) and PW2 (abductee) did not support the prosecution case against the accused arrested on the spot, namely Raj Kumar Sharma, Ravindra Sharma and Sonu alias Amit, who were the informant's own sons and grandson, and were declared hostile qua them, while deposing only against the appellants who were the informant's nephews -- it emerged that there was a family dispute regarding shares in property between the children of the informant's first wife and his second wife, of whom the abductee was a son -- PW1's explanation that the police had falsely implicated his sons and grandson on account of refusal to pay a bribe does not inspire confidence and is contrary to the contemporaneous fard recovery memo which records their presence with the chained abductee -- evidence of PW1, PW2 and PW3 cannot be said to be wholly reliable in these circumstances. (Paras 21-34)

Criminal Appeal -- Conviction of Accused Neither Arrested at the Spot Nor Subject of Any Recovery -- Reliance on Evidence of Interested and Hostile Witnesses -- Held: the two accused arrested on the spot along with the abductee who were sons of the informant died during trial and their appeal abated, while the third person so arrested, being grandson of the informant, was acquitted by the trial court since PW1 to PW3 did not support the case against him -- the appellants, by contrast, were neither arrested at the spot nor was any recovery effected from them, and their conviction rests solely on the evidence of witnesses shown to be motivated by desire to shield their own family members -- conviction of the appellants, including Rajesh Joshi from whose house the abductee was recovered, on the basis of such unreliable evidence is wholly unsafe and unsustainable. (Paras 32-35)

Criminal Appeals Allowed -- Impugned judgment and order dated 21.12.2010 passed by the Additional Sessions Judge, Fast Track Court No. 7, Lucknow in Sessions Trial No. 95B of 2007 and S.T. No. 95C of 2011, arising out of Case Crime No. 91 of 2006, under Sections 364A, 342, 394 I.P.C., Police Station Tal Katora, District Lucknow, convicting and sentencing appellants Mohan Sharma, Sohan Sharma and Rajesh Joshi, set aside -- appellants acquitted of all charges and directed to be released forthwith unless wanted in any other case. (Paras 36-39)

When Rohit had returned back to his house, he did not have any conversation with him nor his parents had told him that as to who had taken him. and Raj Kumar Sharma and the said fact was not disclosed by him to the police as he had personal knowledge about the same. This witness was declared hostile by the trial Court.

17. PW6-S.I. Sajeevan Lal has deposed that he was posted at Police Station-Tal Katora, District Lucknow and on 17.4.2006 a missing report was lodged by PW1-Shiv Kumar Sharma in which an inquiry was being made and during the course of inquiry on 27.4.2006, the informant had given another written report, on the basis of which an FIR was registered as Case Crime No.91 of 2006, under Section 364 I.P.C. which was also endorsed in the G.D. of the concerned police station and he has proved the G.D. as Ex.Ka.-3. He further has deposed that Mohan Sharma, Sohan Sharma and Rajesh Joshi were not found at the spot and about Mohan Sharma and Sohan Sharma the informant had informed him and the name of Rajesh Joshi was disclosed by the three accused who were arrested on the spot.

18. PW7-S.I. Sanjay Maurya has deposed before the trial Court that he was posted at Police Station Tal Katora, Lucknow as Station Officer and on 17.4.2006 a missing report was lodged by PW1-Shiv Kumar Sharma stating that since 16.4.2006 at about 6 P.M. his son Rohit Kumar Sharma alias Vikki was missing. He inquired about the missing report and ordered for inquiry about the missing by H.C.P. He has also proved the fard recovery memo of the abductee as Ex. Ka.-4 under his hand writing and H.C.P. Sajeevan Lal.

19. Heard Sri Anil Singh and Vivek Rai, learned counsel for the appellants and Sri Umesh Chandra, learned AGA for the State and perused the record.

20. It has been argued by learned counsel for the appellants that though the present two appeals have been preferred by Mohan Sharma and Sohan Sharma from jail and they have engaged a counsel of their own choice, i.e., Sri Anil Singh who has appeared on behalf of the said appellants and argued the case on their behalf and the third appellant, namely, Rajesh Joshi has been represented by Sri Vivek Rai, Advocate.

21. Learned counsel for the appellants submitted that PW1, namely, Shiv Kumar Sharma had two wives and Raj Kumar Shama and Ravindra Sharma and Ashok Kumar Sharma were his sons from the first wife and further he has three daughters, namely, Sudha, Manju and Madhvi from the first wife, whereas from the second wife he has one son, i.e., Rohit Sharma alias Vikki (abuctee) and one daughter, namely, Monika were born and there was a family dispute between them regarding shares in the property of the informant, namely, Shiv Kumar. The children of the first wife of the informant conspired to kidnap the son of the second wife, namely, Rohit Sharma alias Vikki and they demanded Rs. 30 lacs from their father PW1- Shiv Kumar Sharma for release of the abductee-Rohit Sharma Sharma alias Vikki. It was further argued that as per the recovery memo of the abductee dated 27.4.2006, it is evident that the abductee was confined in the house of one appellants, namely, Rajesh Joshi and when the police had raided at the said house, the two sons of the informant-PW1 from the first wife, namely, Raj Kumar Sharma and Ravindra Sharma and one grand son, namely, Sonu Sharma alias Amit who was the son of third son of PW1, namely Ashok Kumar Sharma were arrested on the spot by the police along with the abductee and the accused appellants are said to have fled from the place of occurrence and the PW1 who was accompanying the police party identified the two appellants, namely, Mohan Shama and Sohan Sharma but he could not identified the third accused. It is was further pointed out that the charge sheet was submitted against the accused Raj Kumar Sharma, Ravindra Sharma and Sonu alias Amit for the offence under Section 364A, 394, 342 I.P.C. by the Investigating Officer on 15.5.2006 being Charge Sheet No. 65 of 2006.

22. It was further submitted that though the two sons, namely, Ravindra Sharma and Raj Kumar Sharma and one grand-son, namely, Sonu Sharma alias Amit of the informant PW1 were arrested on the spot with the abductee and he turned hostile before the trial Court and did not give any evidnce against them. Moreover, he stated that he along with his two sons, namely, Raj Kumar Sharma, Ravindra Sharma and grand-son, namely, Sonu Sharma alias Amit had accompanied the police party for recovery of the abductee and when the abductee was recovered, his three sons along with him and abductee detained to the police station and the PW1 along with his sons and abductee were asked to go from the police station to have bath etc. on the pretext that two sons and grand son statements is to be recorded by the police and thereafter they would be left but the Station Officer had demanded Rs. 1 lacs from him and the informant refused to pay the same, on account of which his two sons and grand-son were implicated in the present case and were sent to jail. Thereafter, the abductee was called again at the police station and PW1 reached along with the abductee at 10.30 P.M. and they were sent by the police constable for medical examination. He argued that PW1 in order to save his two sons and grand- son has changed the version, hence, prosecution declared him hostile with respect to accused, namely, Raj Kumar Sharma, Ravindra Sharma and Sonu Sharma alias Amit, on which prosecution sought for his cross-examination but he denied the allegation against the said accused persons and submitted that there were cordial relationship between all the persons of his family and all his sons were living happily and they had a common kitchen and there was no ill-will or bad blood between them, but he deposed against the two appellants who were also his nephew, namely, Mohan Sharma and Sohan Sarma who were his real nephews.

23. Similarly, PW2 the abductee Rohit Shama alias Vikki has also turned hostile with respect to the accused persons, namely, Raj Kumar Sharma and Ravindra Sharma and Sonu alias Amit and only supported the case against the accused appellants and stated that his father and three real brother had come along with the police party to rescue him from the accused appellants who had fled away from the place of occurrence.

24. Similarly, PW3 Leela Sharma mother of the abductee and wife of PW1 has also denied the allegation against the accused appellants, namely, Raj Kumar Sharma and Ravindra Sharma and Sonu alias Amit and supported the case against appellants Mohan Sharma and Sohan Shrma.

25. It has been further argued that the trial Court acquitted the accused appellant namely, Sonu Sharma alias Amit as PW1, PW2 & PW3 have turned hostile against him and supported the prosecution case against the accused appellants by misleading their evidence, hence, conviction of the appellants is against the evidence on record and their conviction be set aside and they be acquitted by the charges.

26. Learned counsel for the appellants has further urged that the appellants, namely, Mohan Sharma and Sohan Sharma are in jail in since 28.1.2010 and appellant, namely, Rajesh Joshi in jail since 22.2.2011 respectively. He further pointed that the case of the appellants, namely, Mohan Sharma and Sohan Sharma could not be argued before the trial Court because there was no lawyer on their behalf as they could not engage a counsel of their choice and further on the question of sentence an Amicus Curiae was appointed by the Court who pleaded their case on the question of sentence only. He further submitted that so far as accused Rajesh Joshi is concerned, he could not appear before the trial Court on the date of the judgment due to some miscommunication of date by his counsel for delivery of judgment but he has surrendered on 22.2.2011 and as on date he is in jail.

27. Learned AGA opposed the prayer for quashing of the impugned order and submitted that the abductee, namely, Rohit Sharma alias Vikki was recovered from the house of accused appellant, namely, Rajesh Joshi and PW1 informant of the case, PW2 abductee and PW3 have supported the prosecution case against the accused appellants but he could not dispute the fact that three accused persons, namely, Raj Kumar Sharma, Ravindra Sharma and Sonu Sharma alias Amit who were arrested on the spot and charge sheeted, out of whom two accused, namely, Ravindra Sharma and Raj Kumar Sharma died during trial and their appeal was abated vide Court's order dated 30.11.2009 and third accused, i.e., Sonu Sharma alias Amit has been acquitted by the trial Court who happens to be grand-son of the PW1 and PW3.

28. Having considered the submissions advanced by learned counsel for the parties and perused the record.

29. It appears from the record that the abductee, namely, Rohit Sharma alias Vikki who was son of PW1 had left his house alone on 16.4.2006 at 6 P.M. in the evening and on the pretext that he is going attend a birthday party of his friend but when he did not return, then a search was made by his father and mother, i.e., PW1 and PW3 and a missing report was lodged on 17.4.2006 at police station-Tal Kotara, District Lucknow, Ex.Ka.1 and on 27.4.2006 another report was lodged by PW1 at the concerned police station stating that he received an information on phone that his son has been abducted by some persons and he has been asked to arrange Rs. 30 lacs for rescue of his son, failing which his son would be killed. On the basis of the same, the said report was converted into an FIR for the offence under Section 364 I.P.C. which was registered as Case Crime No. 91 of 2006. On 27.4.2006, PW7 Sanjay Maurya the Station Officer of the concerned Police Station along with the police party started search of the abductee and on an information received through an informer that the abductee was confined in the house of accused appellant Rajesh Joshi, the police party along with PW1 reached at the house of Rajesh Joshi and on seeing the police party, the accused appellants, namely, Mohan Sharma, Sohan Sharma and Rajesh Joshi had fled away from the place of occurrence and while they were fleeing they were identified to be Mohan Sharma, Sohan Sharma and the third person could not be identified by the informant. The police party entered in the house of Rajesh Joshi and found that the accused Raj Kumr Sharma, Ravindra Sharma and Sonu Sharma alias Amit was present along with the abductee who was chained by them and the abductee was rescued. Thereafter a fard recovery memo Ex.Ka.-4 was prepared by the police which was read over to said accused who were arrested and their signatures were also taken on the said fard recovery memo along with the signature of PW6 Sajeevan Lal, HCP and other police constables who were the part of the raiding team. The accused who were arrested and sent to jail and after investigation the Investigating Officer-PW7 submitted charge sheet against accused persons who were arrested on the spot being Charge Sheet No.65 of 2006, Case Crime No.91 of 2006, under Section 364A, 394, 342 I.P.C and also a supplementary charge sheet being Charge Sheet No.65A of 2006, under Sections 364A, 394, 342 I.P.C. was also submitted against accused appellants, namely, Mohan Sharma, Sohan Sharma and Rajesh Joshi.

30. The two accused who were arrested on the spot, namely, Ravindra Sharma and Raj Kumar Sharma who happens to be real sons of PW1 have died during the course of the trial and the other accused, namely Sonu Sharma alias Amit who happens to be grand-son of PW1 was acquitted by the trial Court on 1.11.2010 in S.T.No.95 of 2006 as the PW1, PW2 and PW3 have turned hostile and did not support the prosecution case against him but they supported the prosecution case against the accused appellants.

31. PW2- Rohit Sharma alias Vikki (the abductee) has given evidence against the accused appellants, namely, Mohan Sharma, Sohan Sharma and Rajesh Joshi and further deposed that they had abducted him and confined him in a room in the house of Rajesh Joshi and he further stated that he was being assaulted by them and also chained them and was asked to attain the nature call in the room where a pit was dug. He was offered meal once in a day and further a demand of ransom of Rs.30 lacs was made by them in his presence from this father. But he has stated that co-accused, namely, Ravindra Sharma, Raj Kumar Sharma and Sonu Sharma alias Amit along with his father had come with the police party and rescued him, hence, he was declared hostile by the trial Court against accused, namely, Ravindra Sharma,Raj Kumar Sharma and Sonu Sharma alias Amit.

32. The evidence of PW1 against the accused who were arrested on the spot, namely Raj Kumar Sharma, Ravindra Sharma and Sonu Sharma who happens to be his sons and grand-son respectively from whose custody the abductee was rescued after eleven days, he changed his stand before the trial Court to save them and stated that the police has falsely implicated them in the present case only on account of the fact that the when the Station Officer of Police Station-Tal Katora, District Lucknow had demanded Rs.1 lac by him and when he refused to pay the same, then the police implicated the Raj Kumar Sharma, Ravindra Sharma and Sonu Sharma in the present case though they had also accompanied the police at the time of recovery of abductee. Thus, the evidence of PW1 does not appears to be a reliable one as it is evident from the fard recovery memo dated 27.4.2006 Ex. Ka.5 which was prepared by the police from which it is evident that the three accused namely, Raj Kumar Sharma, Ravindra Sharma and Sonu Sharma who were arrested on the spot with the abductee whereas the accused appellants are said to have fled away from the place of occurrence. From the accused persons who were arrested, a mobile phone was also recovered from their possession and they had further confessed before the police that they had abducted the abductee Rohit Sharma alias Vikki due to family dispute between them and further demanded Rs. 30 lacs from PW1 who was father of the two accused, namely, Raj Kumar Sharma and Ravindra Sharma and grand-father of Sonu Sharma alias Amit.

33. In this respect statement of PW5, Head Constable Sanjeevan Lal and PW7 Sanjay Maurya is also be noteworthy that they have supported the fard recovery memo and further stated that accused, namely, Raj Kumar Sharma, Ravindra Sharma and Sonu Sharma alias Amit were arrested on the spot and accused appellants had escaped, hence a charge sheet was submitted against the said accused persons, namely, Raj Kumar Sharma, Ravindra Sharma and Sonu Sharma being Charge Sheet No.65 of 2006 and a supplementary charge sheet being Charge Sheet No.65A of 2006, under Sections 364A, 394, 342 I.P.C. was also submitted against accused Mohan Sharma, Sohan Sharma and Rajesh Joshi.

34. The contention of learned counsel for the appellants that PW1 had two wives and two accused, namely, Raj Kumar Sharma and Ravindra Sharma were his son and accused Sonu Sharma alias Amit was his grand-son, who was son of Ashok Kumar Sharma who was the son of PW1 from the first wife and there was family dispute of property of PW1 between them, on account of which abductee, namely, Rohit Sharma alias Vikki was abducted and PW1 and PW2 have not supported the prosecution case against them in order to save them but deposed against the accused appellants who also happens to be real nephew of the informant, namely, Mohan Sharma and Sohan Sharma has substance. Hence, the evidence of PW1, PW2 and PW3 cannot be said to be wholly reliable.

The trial Court has acquitted the accused, namely, Sonu Sharma alias Amit who was arrested on the spot with the abductee along with the two accused, namely, Ravindra Sharma and Raj Kumar Sharma who have died during the course of trial and their trial was ordered to be abated, whereas the convicted accused appellants, namely, Mohan Sharma and Sohan Sharma who were not arrested on the spot nor any recovery was made from the accused Sohan Sharma and Mohan Sharma. The conviction of the said accused appellants on the basis of the aforesaid witnesses who are not trustworthy is wholly unsafe, hence, the conviction and sentence of the said accused appellants by the trial Court is wholly unjustified.

35. So far as recovery of of the abductee from the house of appellant, namely, Rajesh Joshi is concerned, taking into account the fact that two sons and one grand-son of PW1-Shiv Kumar Sharma whose participation in the crime cannot be ruled out as per the evidence on record and as PW1 and PW2 have turned hostile for the accused arrested on the spot who wrongfully confined the abductee in his house and out of them two accused have died during trial and the third accused, namely, Sonu alias Amit has been acquitted by the trial Court, hence the conviction of the appellant, namely, Rajesh Joshi merely on the ground that the abductee was recovered from his house is also not proper as he was not arrested on the spot and fled from the place of occurrence with the other two accused appellants, namely, Mohan Sharma and Sohan Sharma. hence, his conviction and sentence by the trial Court is also not justified and proper.

36. The impugned judgment and order dated 21.12.2010 passed by the learned Additional Sessions Judge, Fast Track Court No.7, Lucknow convicting and the sentencing the appellants, namely, Mohan Sharma, Sohan Sharma and Rajesh Joshi is hereby set aside and they are acquitted of all the charges.

37. Accordingly, the appeals of appellants, namely, Mohan Sharma, Sohan Sharma and Rajesh Joshi stands allowed.

38. The appellants, namely, Mohan Sharma and Sohan Sharma are stated to be in jail since 28.1.2010 and the appellant, namely, Rajesh Joshi since 22.2.2011, they shall be released forthwith unless otherwise wanted in any other case.

39. Office is directed to send a certified copy of this order to the District Judge concerned for its compliance.

Connected with Civil Misc. Correction Application No.- 260738 Of 2016

New India Assurance Co. Ltd. ...Appellant
Versus
Smt. Sundari & Ors. ...Respondents

Civil Misc. Correction Application -- Recall of Order Wrongly Transcribed and Uploaded -- Substitution by Order Actually Passed in Open Court -- Application filed seeking correction of order dated 10.02.2016 on the ground that on account of an inadvertent mistake a wrong order was transcribed and uploaded, though the appeal had in fact been allowed and the matter remanded to the Tribunal, as verified from the shorthand book maintained by the stenographer -- Held: correction application allowed; order dated 10.02.2016 recalled and substituted by the order actually passed in open Court. (Paras 1-3)

Motor Vehicles Act, 1988 -- Sections 3, 4 and 9 -- Driving Licence -- Minimum Age -- Person below 18 Years Disqualified from Holding or Obtaining Licence -- Driving licence of the driver of the offending vehicle was issued on 01.03.2004 showing his age as 19 years, but his secondary school certificate recorded his date of birth as 09.07.1988, making him about 15 years 7 months of age on the date of issuance -- Tribunal held the licence valid and effective solely on the ground that its issuance was proved by an employee of the licensing authority, without examining the age issue -- Held: Sections 3 and 4 of the Act prohibit driving in a public place without an effective licence and bar issuance of a licence to a person below 18 years, except for a motorcycle not exceeding 50cc after attaining 16 years -- a person below 18 years is disqualified from holding or obtaining a driving licence under Section 9 -- proof that a licence was issued by the competent authority establishes only that it is not fake or forged, and is not by itself sufficient to establish it as a valid and effective licence where the holder's eligibility/competence is under challenge -- a licence obtained on the basis of deliberately furnished false or incorrect information as to age falls in the category of a licence obtained fraudulently, taking it out of the category of a valid and effective driving licence.

Motor Vehicles Act, 1988 -- Section 149(2)(a)(ii) -- Breach of Policy Condition Excluding Driving by Person Not Duly Licensed or Disqualified -- Insurer's Defence -- Burden of Proof -- Held: Section 149(2)(a)(ii) permits the insurer to defend a claim on the ground of breach of a policy condition excluding driving by a person not duly licensed or by a person disqualified from holding or obtaining a driving licence -- following Skandia Insurance Co. Ltd. v. Kokilaben Chandravadan, (1987) 2 SCC 654 and Sohan Lal Passi v. P. Sesh Reddy, (1996) 5 SCC 21, the insurer must establish that the breach was wilful and attributable to the insured, but where the insurer has specifically pleaded the driver's disqualification on account of age and filed evidence of his date of birth, the Tribunal cannot decline to examine the issue merely because the licence was proved to have been issued by the competent authority -- Tribunal, having proceeded solely on the ground that the licence was not shown to be fake or forged, without considering the specific pleading in the written statement and the secondary school certificate evidence regarding the driver's age, held to have erred in returning a finding that the licence was valid and effective. (Paras 12-28)

First Appeal From Order Partly Allowed -- Matter Remanded -- Correction application allowed; order dated 10.02.2016 recalled -- appeal against judgment and award dated 26.11.2015 of the Tribunal awarding Rs.12,35,000/- with 7% interest as compensation, partly allowed -- finding of the Tribunal on Issue No. 2 (validity of driving licence) set aside and remanded to the Tribunal for fresh decision in the light of the observations made; findings on the remaining issues confirmed; amount already deposited by the appellant - Insurance Company to continue in deposit, subject to the Tribunal's fresh adjudication on liability; Tribunal directed to conclude the proceedings within two months from production of a certified copy of the judgment by either party -- no order as to costs. (Paras 29-30)

Case Law Discussed:-
1. Skandia Insurance Co. Ltd. v. Kokilaben Chandravadan, (1987) 2 SCC 654
2. Sohan Lal Passi v. P. Sesh Reddy, (1996) 5 SCC 21

(Delivered by Hon'ble Krishna Murari, J.
Hon'ble Vivek Kumar Birla, J.)

1. This is an application seeking correction of the order dated 10.02.2016 transcribed and uploaded.

2. It is contended that after hearing learned counsel for the parties, the appeal was allowed and the matter was remanded back to the Tribunal for decision afresh, but on account of some inadvertent mistake, a wrong order has been transcribed and uploaded.

3. On verification from the shorthand book maintained by the stenographer, it appears that due to inadvertent mistake, a wrong order was transcribed and uploaded.

4. In view of above, correction application stands allowed. Order dated 10.02.2016 is recalled and is substituted by the following order, which was passed in open Court.

5. 'This appeal under Section 173 of the Motor Vehicles Act (for short the 'Act') has been filed by the Insurance company challenging the judgment and award dated 26.11.2015 awarding a sum of Rs.12,35,000/- along with 7% simple interest as compensation to the claimant-respondents.

6. Facts, in brief, are that an application under Section 166 read with Section 140 of the Act was filed by the claimant-respondents claiming compensation to the tune of Rs.60,20,000/- alleging that their predecessor-in-interest, Sunil Kumar died in an motor accident on 01.05.2012 at about 3 p.m. It was further pleaded that the accident was a result of rash and negligent driving of the offending vehicle by its driver. The proceedings were contested by the owner of the offending vehicle as well as insurance company by filing written statement. The Tribunal vide judgment dated 19.05.2015 allowed the claim petition and awarded compensation to the tune of Rs.30,80,000/- along with 7% interest. The Insurance company challenged the same by filing FAFO No. 2183 of 2015. A Division Bench of this Court vide judgment and order dated 20th August, 2015 allowed the appeal, set aside the award and remanded the matter back to the Tribunal with the direction to dispose of the case afresh in accordance with law and in the light of the observations made in the said judgment.

7. It may be relevant to quote the following from the aforesaid judgment.

"The claim was contested by the appellant insurer by filing the written statement wherein the averments made by the claimant in their claim petition were denied and also submitted that the driver of the offending vehicle did not possess any effective and valid driving licence at the time of accident. The insurance company also claimed that the salary certificate of the claimant has not been verified from the said Sugar Mill. He further contends that with regard to the employment as no documentary evidence has been produced to say that deceased was employed in the Sugar Mill.

In view of the material evidence on record, it would be evident that it is for the claimant to approach the sugar cane factory by filing an application and on the application sugar cane factory to issue certificate with regard to employment of deceased and salary certificate and certificate in respect of the period during which he worked, what was the salary being paid to the deceased on the date of accident and also depute someone on behalf of the employer before the court. Tribunal shall also issue notice to Sugar Mill and thereafter Tribunal shall pass appropriate order after giving opportunity of hearing to the parties.

In view of above, without going into the merits of the appeal, we think it proper that the impugned order should be set aside and the matter be remanded back to the Tribunal for deciding afresh.

Accordingly, the award passed by the Motor Accident Claims Tribunal/ Additional District Judge/ Special Judge (Prevention of Corruption Act), Meerut in M.A.C.P. No. 824 of 2012 is set aside and the matter is remanded back to the Tribunal with a direction to dispose of the case afresh in accordance with law and in the light of the observations made by us."

8. In pursuance to the aforesaid order of remand made by this Court, the claim petition was considered afresh by the Tribunal and decided vide judgment and award dated 26.11.2015, which is under challenge in this appeal. By means of the impugned award, the Tribunal awarded a sum of Rs.12,35,000/- along with 7% simple interest as compensation.

9. Issue no. 2 framed by the Tribunal was whether the driver of the offending vehicle was having a valid and effective driving licence. The driving licence of the driver of the offending vehicle, namely, Ankur Jain was available on the record of the Tribunal, which was issued on 01.03.2004 and was valid till 28.02.2024. The age of the licence holder was shown to be 19 years on the date of its issuance. Insurance company filed in evidence the secondary school certificate, 2004 of the Ankur Jain, wherein his date of birth was recorded as 9th July, 1988. On the basis of the secondary school certificate, it was contended that since on the date of issuance of the driving licence, Ankur Jain was only aged about 15 years, as such, he could not have been issued the licence and was disqualified for the same being less than 18 years of age, however, the Tribunal returned a finding that on the date of accident, the driver of the offending vehicle was having a valid and effective driving licence.

10. Learned counsel for the appellant contends that the aforesaid finding of the Tribunal is solely based on the fact that validity of the said driving licence was duly proved by producing an employee of the office of the Road Transport authority. It is further contended that the question raised that the age of the driver of the offending vehicle was less than 17 years on the date of issuance of the driving licence, has not at all been considered by the Tribunal only on the ground that no issue was raised by the Insurance company in the written statement that driving licence was forged or obtained by fraud.

11. In reply, learned counsel for the claimant-respondents has tried to justify the impugned judgment by contending that once the Insurance Company had not set up the case that the driving license was obtained by fraud and the same was duly proved by producing the employee of the issuing authority, the Tribunal rightly held that the license was valid.

12. We have considered the argument advanced by the learned counsel for the parties and perused the record.

13. The sum and substance of the controversy issued between the parties is not with respect to the effective and valid driving licence, but the question for consideration is whether a person, who is disqualified from holding a driving licence, even if he holds a licence, can be said to be duly licensed and whether the same can be raised as a defence in a claim petition by the insurer.

14. For an effective adjudication of the controversy between the parties, it may be relevant to notice certain relevant statutory provisions of the Statute.

15. Section 2 (10) of the Act defines driving licence as under.

"(10) "driving licence" means the licence issued by a competent authority under Chapter II authorising the person specified therein to drive, otherwise than as a learner, a motor vehicle or a motor vehicle of any specified class or description."

16. Section 3 of the Act prescribes the necessity for driving licence and prohibits of driving of any motor vehicle by any person in any public place unless he holds an effective driving licence. The said Section reads as under.

"3. Necessity for driving licence.- (1) No person shall drive a motor vehicle in any public place unless he holds an effective driving license issued to him authorising him to drive the vehicle; and no person shall so drive a transport vehicle [other than a motor cab or motor cycle hired for his own use or rented under any scheme made under sub-section (2) of section 75 unless his driving license specifically entitles him so to do.

(2) The condition subject to which sub-section (1) shall not apply to a person receiving instructions in driving a motor vehicle shall be such as may be prescribed by the Central Government."

17. Section 4 of the Act prescribes the minimum age limit for being eligible to drive a particular class of motor vehicle in a public place. The said section reads as under.

"(4) Age limit in connection with driving of motor vehicles.- (1) No person under the age of eighteen years shall drive a motor vehicle in any public place:

Provided that a motor cycle with engine capacity not exceeding 500cc may be driven in a public place by a person after attaining the age of sixteen years.

(2) Subject to the provisions of section 18, no person under the age of twenty years shall drive a transport vehicle in any public place.

(3) No learner's license or driving license shall be issued to any person to drive a vehicle of the class to which he has made an application unless he is eligible to drive that class of vehicle under this section."

18. Section 5 prescribes for responsibility of owners of motor vehicle for contravention of Sections 3 and 4.

(5) Responsibility of owners of motor vehicles for contravention of sections 3 and 4.- No owner or person in charge of a motor vehicle shall cause or permit any person who does not satisfy the provisions of section 3 or section 4 to drive the vehicle.

19. Section 9 provides for grant of driving licence. Relevant part of the said Section for the purposes of the case reads as under.

"9. Grant of driving licence.- (1) Any person who is not for the time being disqualified for holding or obtaining a driving licence may apply to the licensing authority having jurisdiction in the area-

(i) ----------

(ii) ----------"

20. A conjoint analysis of the aforesaid provisions of the Act goes to show that nobody can drive a motor vehicle in a public place without an effective driving license and no one under the age of 18 years is entitled to drive a motor vehicle in a public place with the exception that a motorcycle with engine capacity not exceeding 50cc can be driven by a person after attaining the age of 16 years. It is, thus, clear that a person unless he attained the age of 18 years, is not eligible to drive a motor vehicle and is disqualified to hold a licence to drive a motor vehicle.

21. Thus, a person below the age of 18 years is clearly disqualified from holding or obtaining a driving licence to drive a motor vehicle and cannot make an application for grant of the same in accordance with the provisions of Section 9 of the Act.

22. The next question which immediately arises for our consideration is whether in a fact situation where the driver of the offending vehicle though has a driving licence, but is below the age of 18 years, the fact can be set up as a defence by the Insurance company to avoid its liability as envisaged in sub-section (2) of Section 149 of the Act. Section 149 (1) castes a liability upon the insurer to satisfy judgment and awards against insured in respect of third party claims. Section 149 (2) enumerates defences available to the insurance companies, which on being established, the insurance company may not be liable to fulfil their statutory obligation under Section 149 (1) of the Act.

23. Relevant Section 149 (2) of the Act is being reproduced hereunder.

"149. Duty of insurers to satisfy judgments and awards against persons insured in respect of third party risks.-

(1) ---------

(2) No sum shall be payable by an insurer under sub-section (1) in respect of any judgment or award unless, before the commencement of the proceedings in which the judgment or award is given the insurer had notice through the Court or, as the case my be, the Claims Tribunal of the bringing of the proceedings, or in respect of such judgment or award so long as execution is stayed thereon pending an appeal; and an insurer to whom notice of the bringing of any such proceedings is so given shall be entitled to be made a party thereto and to defend the action on any of the following grounds, namely:-

(a) that there has been a breach of a specified condition of the policy, being one of the following conditions, namely:--

(i) a condition excluding the use of the vehicle--

(a) for hire or reward, where the vehicle is on the date of the contract of insurance a vehicle not covered by a permit to ply for hire or reward, or

(b) for organised racing and speed testing, or

(c) for a purpose not allowed by the permit under which the vehicle is used, where the vehicle is a transport vehicle, or

(d) without side-car being attached where the vehicle is a motor cycle; or

(ii) a condition excluding driving by a named person or persons or by any person who is not duly licensed, or by any person who has been disqualified for holding or obtaining a driving license during the period of disqualification; or

(iii) a condition excluding liability for injury caused or contributed to by conditions of war, civil war, riot or civil commotion; or

(b) that the policy is void on the ground that it was obtained by the non-disclosure of a material fact or by a representation of fact which was false in some material particular."

24. The opening words "that there has been a breach of a specified condition of the policy" of clause (a) of sub-section (2) of Section 149 implies that the insurer's defence of an action would depend upon the terms of the policy. The said sub-clause contains three conditions, which on being established, the insurer can get away from its liability.

1. driving of the offending vehicle by a named person or person specifically excluded under the terms of the policy.

2. driving of the offending vehicle by a person, who is not duly licensed; and

3. driving by a person disqualified from holding or obtaining a driving licence.

25. It is clear that the driving by a person disqualified from holding or obtaining a driving licence is one of the defence open to the Insurance company to avoid its liability for indemnifying the insurer.

26. The provisions of Section 149 (2) (b) (ii) of the Act has been subject matter of interpretation by the Hon'ble Apex Court in number of cases.

27. While interpreting the provisions of Section 96 of the old Act, which is in para materia with Section 149 (2), Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of Skandia Insurance Co. Ltd. Vs. Kokilaben Chandravadan, (1987) 2 SCC 654, has held as under.

"Section 96 (2) (b) (ii) extends immunity to the insurance company if a breach is committed of the condition excluding driving by a named person or persons or by any person who is not duly licensed, or by any person who has been disqualified from holding or obtaining a driving licence during the period of disqualification. The expression 'breach' is of great significance. The dictionary meaning of 'breach' is 'infringement or violation of a promise or obligation' (see Collins English Dictionary). It is therefore abundantly clear that the insurer will have to establish that the insured is guilty of an infringement or violation of promise that a person who is duly licensed will have to be in charge of the vehicle. The very concept of infringement or violation of the promise that the expression 'breach' carries within itself induces an inference that the violation or infringement on the part of the promisor must be a wilful infringement or violation. If the insured is not at all at fault and has not done anything he should not have done or is not amiss in any respect how can it be conscientiously posited that he has committed a breach? It is only when the insured himself places the vehicle in charge of a person of the breach of the promise that the vehicle will be driven by a licensed driver. It must be established by the insurance company that the breach was on the part of the insured and that it was the insured who was guilty of violating the promise or infringement of the contract. Unless the insured is at fault and is guilty of a breach the insurer cannot escape from the obligation to indemnify the insured and successfully contend that he is exonerated having regard to the fact that the promisor (the insured) committed a breach of his promise. Not when some mishap occurs by some mischance. When the insured has done everything within his power inasmuch as he has engaged a licensed driver and and has placed the vehicle in charge of a licensed driver, with the express or implied mandate to drive himself, it cannot be said that the insured is guilty of any breach."

28. The ratio of the decision rendered in the case of Skandia Insurance Co. LTD. (supra) has been approved by a three Judges Bench when the correctness thereof was referred to a larger Bench in the case of Sohan Lal Passi Vs. P. Sesh Reddy, (1996) 5 SCC 21. The three Judges Bench of the Hon'ble Apex Court noticing the ratio propounded in the Skandia's case (supra) observed as under.

"In other words, once there has been a contravention of the condition prescribed in sub-section (2) (b) (ii) of Section 96, the person insured shall not be entitled to the benefit of sub-section (1) of Section 96. According to us, Section (2) (b) (ii) should not be interpreted in a technical manner. Sub-section (2) of Section 96 only enables the insurance company to defend itself in respect of the liability to pay compensation on any of the grounds mentioned in sub-section (2) including that there has been a contravention of the condition excluding the vehicle being driven by an person who is not duly licensed. This bar on the face of it operates on the person insured. If the person who has got the vehicle insured has allowed the vehicle to be driven by a person who is not duly licensed then only that clause shall be attracted. In a case where the person who has got insured the vehicle with the insurance company, has appointed a duly licensed and if the accident takes place when the vehicle is being driven by a person not duly licensed on the basis of the authority of the driver duly authorised to drive the vehicle whether the insurance company in that event shall be absolved from its liability? The expression 'breach' occurring in Section 96 (2) (b) means infringement or violation of a promise or obligation. As such the insurance company will have to establish that the insured was guilty of an infringement or violation of a promise. The insurer has also to satisfy the Tribunal or the court that such violation or infringement on the part of the insured was wilful. If the insured has taken all precautions by appointing a duly licensed driver to drive the vehicle in question and it has not been established that it was the insured who allowed the vehicle to be driven by a person not duly licensed, then the insurance company cannot repudiate its statutory liability under sub-section (1) of Section 96."

29. In the backdrop of the aforesaid legal proposition, we now proceed to analyse the facts of the case in hand. A perusal of the written statement filed by the appellant-insurance company goes to show that it was specifically pleaded that driver of the offending vehicle was not having a valid and effective driving licence and the owner had entrusted it knowingly and deliberately to a person who was not legally authorised to drive it and, thus, the provisions of Motor Vehicle Act as well as terms of policy had been violated. It may be relevant to quote paragraph 29 of the written statement which contains pleading in this regard.

"29. That although the alleged accident with Car No. UK-07 U-9556 is not admitted but in alternative it is pleaded that at the time of accident, the said vehicle was being driven by its driver having no valid and effective driving license with the proper endorsements. The owner of this vehicle had entrusted it knowingly and deliberately, to a person who was not legally authorised to drive it, and thus he has violated the provisions Motor Vehicle Act 1988 as well as terms and conditions of the policy of insurance, if any is found in future."

30. In support of the averments, the insurance company filed certificate secondary school examination of 2004 of the driver, Ankur Jain, as paper no. "61 ga". The said certificate recorded his date of birth of 09.07.1988. The driving licence filed by the owner of the offending vehicle as paper no. 30 Ga/3 went to show that it was issued on 01.03.2004. Thus, in accordance with the date of birth recorded in the secondary school examination certificate, the age of the driver, on the date of issuance of driving licence was only 15 years and 7 months.

31. Motor Accident Claims Tribunal instead of adverting itself to this issue held the driving licence to be valid and effective solely on the ground that it was proved by producing an employee of the issuing authority in the witness box, hence, it cannot be said to be fake. The Tribunal also held that it was not pleaded by the insurance company that driving licence was fake or was got issued fraudulently. Insofar this issue is concerned, as already noticed above, the written statement filed by the insurance company contained a specific pleading.

32. Tribunal lost sight of the fact that issuance of fake or forged licence is altogether different issue. Licence issued to the driver of the offending vehicle may not be fake or forged but whether the same could have been issued to the holder in view of his disqualification on the ground of having not attained the minimum age prescribed by the Statute and such a licence whether can be termed as effective and valid licence was the issue required to be addressed by the Tribunal. Further if the licence is obtained by furnishing wrong and incorrect information, the same may not be fake but having been obtained on the basis of wrong or incorrect information deliberately furnished, would fall in the category of licence obtained fraudulently. Such a licence cannot fall in the category of valid and effective driving licence. Mere fact that an employee of issuing authority appears and proves the same, only goes to establish it was issued by the authority and was not fake or forged. However, such an evidence is not sufficient to establish it as valid and effective once the competence of the holder is challenged. The Tribunal has to advert to other evidence on record led by the party asserting the fact to come to a finding. In case, the evidence leads to a conclusion that on account of any bar prescribed by the Statute, the holder was disqualified, the licence even though not being fake or forged cannot be termed to be a valid and effective driving licence. The other consequence is a licence having been obtained on the basis of deliberate false and incorrect information would fall within the category of licence obtained fraudulently automatically taking it out of the category of valid and effective driving licence.

33. The Tribunal without entering into above aspects of the matter held the licence to be effective and valid only because the issuance of the same was proved by producing an employee in the witness box. It was incumbent upon the Tribunal to have considered the issue in the light of evidence adduced by the insurance company to establish the age of the licence holder.

34. In light of above discussions, the finding of the Tribunal on issue no. 2 is not liable to be sustained and is set aside. The matter is remanded back to the Tribunal to decide issue no. 2 afresh in accordance with law and in the light of observations made hereinabove. Findings on rest of issues stand confirmed. Liability to make payment of compensation to the claimant-respondents shall also be determined by the Tribunal in accordance with finding returned on issue no. 2.

35. Appeal to that extent stands allowed. However, in the facts and circumstances, we do not make any order as to costs."

36. After the aforesaid order was directed to be substituted, learned counsel for the appellant submits that in pursuance to the wrong order transcribed in the appeal, entire awarded amount has been deposited. Since the matter is being remanded back and the liability to make payment is also to be determined afresh by the Tribunal, the amount deposited by the appellant-insurance company shall continue to remain in deposit and shall be subject to the adjudication made by the Tribunal with respect to liability to make payment. The Tribunal is further directed to conclude the proceedings within two months from the date of production of certified copy of this judgment by either of the parties.

U.P. Municipalities Act, 1916 -- Sections 128, 140, 141, 141-A, 141-B, 142, 143 and 153 -- Assessment of House Tax and Water Tax -- Determination of 'annual value' and minimum monthly rate of rent -- Manner 'as may be prescribed' -- No Rules framed under the Act by the Rule Framing Authority -- Nagar Palika Parishad, Shikohabad, relying solely on a Government Order dated 18.03.2011, unilaterally fixed areawise minimum monthly rental rates through its Executive Officer and applied a multiplier of twelve to raise House Tax and Water Tax demands, without any Committee or Board authorisation and without the manner of determination being prescribed by Rules -- Held: The expression 'prescribed', as defined in Section 2(17)(i) of the Act, means prescribed by or under the Act or the Rules made thereunder, and where the Statute requires a thing to be done in a particular manner as prescribed by Rules, it can be done in that manner alone or not at all -- A Government Order cannot substitute for Rules required to be framed under the Act, nor can it confer power on a Municipality or its Executive Officer to determine annual value, rental rates or assessment on its own -- Since no Rules were framed under the U.P. Municipalities Act, 1916 prescribing the manner of fixation of minimum monthly rate of rent, areawise rental rates, or disposal of objections, the Nagar Palika Parishad had no jurisdiction to make any such assessment. (Paras 50-79)

U.P. Municipalities Act, 1916 -- Sections 141 and 142 -- Preparation and publication of areawise rental rates and assessment list -- Requirement of authorisation by Municipality -- Held: Preparation and publication of areawise rental rates or an assessment list can only be undertaken by the Municipality or by an Executive Officer specifically authorised by it in that behalf -- Nothing on record showing that the Executive Officer, Nagar Palika Parishad, Shikohabad, was so authorised prior to getting rental rates published in a newspaper on 12.10.2012 -- Action taken by the Executive Officer without such authorisation, and prior to any Rules being framed, is patently without jurisdiction and a nullity in the eye of law -- Objections to the proposed rates disposed of in a cursory manner without application of mind, contrary to the requirement of a reasoned disposal -- Committee constituted by the District Magistrate to determine minimum monthly rental rates had no statutory basis under the Act or the Rules, and Rules framed under the U.P. Municipal Corporation Act, 1959 (Municipal Corporations) could not be imported to fill the gap under the U.P. Municipalities Act, 1916 -- Both the exercise undertaken by the Executive Officer and the recommendations of the Committee held to be without jurisdiction. (Paras 68-82)

Writ Petitions Allowed -- Assessments made by the Nagar Palika Parishad, Shikohabad, and the demands raised against the petitioners in all five connected writ petitions, quashed -- Nagar Palika Parishad, Shikohabad, held liable to pay costs of Rs. 50,000/- in each set of petitions -- Any amount realised from the petitioners pursuant to the impugned assessments and recovery directed to be refunded with interest at the rate of 10% per annum, computed from the date of payment till the date of refund -- Liberty granted to the State Government to recover the amount of costs and interest from the Executive Officer or other persons found responsible for the illegal action, after due inquiry. (Paras 86-88)

1. In all these writ petitions, common questions of law are involved therefore same have been heard together and are being decided by this common judgment.

2. For the purpose of factual matrix, we find it appropriate to give brief facts of all writ petitions separately since that will help in understanding the dispute and the manner in which respondents' authorities have acted and given rise to this bunch of writ petitions.

Writ Tax No. 544 of 2016

3. There are two petitioners Ramesh Chandra Agrawal and Amar Singh. Petitioner-1 Ramesh Chandra Agrawal owns two storey building at plot no. 2118, situate at Mohalla Mohammad Mah Nai Basti, Shikohabad, District Firozabad. He also owns a small factory at plot no. 1461 at Sikohabad. Petitioner-2, Amar Singh owns a building at plot no. 1712 at Mohammad Mah, Sikohabad, District Firozabad where he is running a hotel called as 'Mayur Hotel'.

4. Shikohabad has a Nagar Palika Parishad (hereinafter referred to as 'NPP') which is a 'Municipality' as defined under Section 2 (9) of The Uttar Pradesh Municipalities Act, 1916 (hereinafter referred to as 'U.P. Act, 1916') read with Article 243-P (e) and 243-Q (1) (b) of the Constitution of India. Tax Assessment Officer (hereinafter referred to as 'TAO') of NPP sent notice dated 28.03.2015 to petitioner-1 under Sections 140/158/168/173 of U.P. Act, 1916 informing that in respect of House No. 2118, for Financial Years (hereinafter referred to as 'F.Y.') 2012-13 to 2014-15 he is liable to pay house tax at Rs. 57,600/-, Rs. 69,120/- and Rs. 69,120/- respectively. Petitioner-1, if had any objection, may file the same within 15 days along with sanctioned map and copy of sale deed. Further, petitioner-1 was required to deposit house tax of Rs. 69,120/- for F.Y. 2014-15 by 31.03.2015, and in respect to F.Ys., 2012-13 and 2013-14, within 15 days else would be recovered as arrears of land revenue. Similarly in respect of plot no. 1461, petitioner-1 received notice dated 18.03.2015 demanding House Tax for three F.Ys. as under:-

Serial Number	F.Y.	Amount of House Tax
1	2012-13	Rs. 52,272/-
2	2013-14	Rs. 62,724/-
3	2014-15	Rs. 62,724/-

5. Petitioner-2 was also served a notice dated 21.05.2014 under Sections 140, 147, 148, 158, 168, 173 of U.P. Act, 1916 with the direction to pay house tax in respect of House No. 1712, Mayur Hotel, which is a commercial building, for F.Ys. 2012-13, 2013-14 and 2014-15 to the tune of Rs. 2,59,200/-. Petitioner-2 filed objection dated 30.06.2014. Thereafter Executive Officer (hereinafter referred to as 'EO') passed order dated 24.07.2014 determining House Tax afresh, by treating open area as 1500 square foot and covered area as 6000 square foot, as under:-

Serial Number	F.Y.	Amount of House Tax
1	2012-13	Rs. 71,832/-
2	2013-14	Rs. 86,184/-
3	2014-15	Rs. 8,6184/-

The aforesaid amount was required to be deposited within 15 days.

6. Petitioners submitted representations/objections dated 11.08.2014 and 03.09.2015 stating that the area taken by NPP for the purpose of computing House Tax has been wrongly shown as there was no survey of property in dispute and further amount of house tax has been arbitrarily demanded inasmuch as earlier house tax paid by petitioner-1 in respect of House No. 2118 was only Rs. 500/- per annum which now has been increased to Rs. 57,600/- and Rs. 69,120/- respectively. They also pointed out that up to F.Y. 2012-13, required competent authority of 'NPP' to inform the details and relevant material on the basis of whereof, area was determined and House Tax was computed.

7. Petitioner-1 in respect of House No. 2118, furnished copy of map of the building showing area of building as under:-

(आ) व्यवसायिक भवन का विवरण (मूतल)	(ब) आवासीय भवन का विवरण
स्टोर - 858.86 वर्गफीट	स्टोर- 321.00 वर्गफीट
गोदाम - 272.16	कमरा - 670.83
बरामदा - 632.55	बरामदा - 856.45

आफिस - 272.16

8. Petitioner-2 also stated that the entire hotel is constructed only in 1875 square foot area and it has no open space. The open space is almost negligible but for the purpose of House Tax assessment, in an arbitrary manner, imaginary area has been taken into consideration. E.O. submitted a report dated 06.01.2015 in respect of 'Mayur Hotel' of petitioner-2, informing that area of building is 1975.90 square foot which is being used for commercial purpose and this is a double storey building and adjoining land, measuring 1500 square foot is being used as parking area but the same was not disclosed by petitioner- 2 in his objections/representations. Therefore, total area of building is 3,952 square foot and its carpet area comes to 3,162 square foot. House Tax and Water Tax assessment therefore in respect of the said building for F.Ys. 2012-13 and 2013-14 is as under-

Serial Number	F.Y.	Covered Area	House Tax	Water Tax
1	2012-13	1897 Square foot	Rs. 22,754/-	Rs.22,764/-
2	2013-14	2,428 square foot	Rs. 29,136/-	Rs. 25,500/-

9. With regard to open area also, E.O. submitted assessment of House Tax and Water Tax as under:-

Serial Number	F.Y.	Open Area	House Tax	Water Tax
1	2012-13	1,500 square foot	Rs. 1,356/-	Rs. 1,356/-
2	2013-14	144 square foot	Rs. 1,728/-	Rs. 1,512/-

10. Since petitioners were not communicated anything, petitioner-1 filed Writ (Tax) No. 813 of 2015 which was disposed of vide order dated 12.10.2015 directing E.O. to dispose of petitioner's objection after giving him an opportunity of hearing and by a speaking order.

11. Pursuant thereto, E.O. passed order dated 21.11.2015 informing that assessments have been revised in the light of amendment of Section 140 by U.P. Municipalities (Amendment) Act, 2011 (hereinafter referred to as Amendment Act, 2011, substituting Section 140 of U.P. Act, 1916. The assessment made as communicated by letter dated 07.08.2015 by treating area of building as 4000 square foot. However, the said assessment was revised in the light of lay out plan and map submitted by petitioner-1, taking non-residential area as 2036.03 square foot and residential area as 2048.28 square foot. House tax for F.Ys. 2012-13, 2013-14, 2014-15 and 2015-2016 therefore computed to Rs. 30,802/-; 36,954/-; 36,954/- and 36,954/- respectively.

12. Petitioner-1 again protested by letter dated 01.12.2015 stating that various submissions he made during oral hearing on 03.09.2015 have been omitted and ignored and arbitrary revised assessment has been made which is patently incorrect. He submitted that there was no provision of applying multiplier of twelve and further, monthly rent assumed is also imaginary and conjectural. A detailed objection was filed alleging that officials of 'NPP' are making frivolous, fictional and arbitrary excessive assessments just to harass residents of Shikohabad and the excessive assessment are also without authority of law, hence they should refrain from such illegal activities. Representation was made by petitioner-1 dated 11.04.2016 to Collector, Firozabad and thereafter present writ petition has been filed challenging impugned assessment of Property Tax on the ground that it is patently illegal and not consistent with Section 140 of U.P. Act, 1916, therefore said assessments be quashed and amount already recovered by coercive method be refunded.

13. Here petitioner Pankaj Agarwal owns House No. 75 situate at Mohalla, Padav, Shikohabad, District Firozabad. 'NPP' required petitioner and several others to deposit self assessed House Tax, by applying multiplier of twelve where against several objections were filed. The District Magistrate constituted a Committee, consisting of Additional District Magistrate (Finance & Reveue), E.O./City Magistrate, Firozabad and General Manager District Industries Centre (Firozabad) who submitted report that Nagar Palika Parisad, Firozabad's Self Assessment Scheme has been implemented w.e.f 01.04.2013 and at Shikohabad, it has been implemented w.e.f. 01.04.2012, therefore, concerned 'NPP' should proceed to recover House Tax for the period before enforcement of Self Assessment Scheme, as per earlier provisions, and after enforcement of scheme, according to the said scheme and disposed of objections accordingly.

14. Petitioner was required to deposit House Tax to the tune of Rs. 1,88,808/- which was subsequently revised Rs. 1,85,520/-. Recovery certificate was also issued. Petitioner in order to avoid complications due to coercive methods, deposited Rs. 90,000/- vide receipt dated 29.11.2014 and Rs. 95,525/- vide receipt dated 09.12.2014. Simultaneously he challenged the said assessment and demand, in Writ (Tax) No. 515 of 2014. It was disposed of on 08.09.2014 with the following order:-

"The Committee constituted by the District Magistrate, Firozabad has submitted a report on 23 July 2014 (Annexure 5). In the concluding part of its report, the Committee has stated that it could hear objections if any person has a grievance or objection in connection therewith. The petitioner has already submitted objections before that Committee. Hence, at this stage, it is not necessary or appropriate for this Court to express any opinion or to entertain these proceedings. It would be open to the petitioner to request the Committee to hold recovery action in abeyance until the objections are duly considered and disposed of.

The petition is, accordingly, disposed of. There shall be no order as to costs."

15. Thereafter, pursuant to the said judgment dated 08.09.2014, E.O. vide order dated 10.12.2014 furnished details of assessment of F.Ys. 2012-13 and 2013-14 to petitioner as under:-

Sr. No.	Particulars	F.Y. 2012-13	F.Y. 2013-14
(A)	Total area of land	5509 square foot	-do-
(B)	Open area of land	967 -do-	"

(C)	Construction on the ground floor and first floor	5766 "	"

(E)	Annual assessment on constructed area	Rs. 55,056/-	"
(F)	Annual assessment on open area	Rs. 1,164/-
(G)	House Tax on constructed area	Rs. 41,292/-	Rs. 52,848/-
(H)	Water Tax	Rs. 41,292/-	Rs. 46,248/-

(J)	Water Tax on open area	Rs. 876/-	Rs. 972/-
(K)	Total House Tax and Water Tax	Rs. 84,336/-	Rs. 1,01,184/-

16. Petitioner filed Writ (Tax) No. 690 of 2014 challenging order dated 10.11.2014 passed by E.O. On the ground of alternative remedy of appeal the writ petition was dismissed on 25.11.2014. The petitioner then filed appeal which was allowed by District Magistrate, Firozabad vide order dated 16.02.2015. Appellate Authority found that order dated 10.11.2014 was passed without affording opportunity of hearing to petitioner, hence appeal was partly allowed and matter was remanded to E.O. to pass appropriate order after hearing petitioner.

17. Thereafter, petitioner filed a detailed objection dated 02.03.2015 before E.O. who communicated a parawise reply to petitioner's objection vide letter dated 08.04.2016 affirming its earlier demand raised vide order dated 10.11.2014. Thereafter, for F.Y. 2015-16, vide notice dated 28.04.2016 demanding House Tax to the tune of Rs. 1,11,392/- and Water Tax to Rs. 97,864/- was raised. It was issued under Section 168 and 173 of U.P. Act, 1916 and petitioner was required to pay the said amount within 15 days.

Writ Tax No. No. 624 of 2016

18. For the year 2012-13 'TAO' vide notice dated 15.02.2014, under Section 140, 147 and 148, required petitioner Smt. Shashi Tikmani to pay House Tax, Water Tax and Property Tax of Rs. 82,932/- and penalty of Rs. 15,000/-. Along with requisite documents petitioner filed representation dated 03.03.2014 disclosing total area of building as 2617 square foot, carpet area 2094 square foot (80% of total area), monthly rent at Rs. 2,094/- and annual value at Rs. 25,128/-. Thus House Tax for 2012 -13 comes to Rs. 18,852/- and the same amount of Water Tax. Similarly for F.Y. 2013-14, House Tax comes to Rs. 24,120/- and Water Tax at Rs. 21,108/-. It was submitted that any higher assessment is illegal. E.O. Vide letter dated 12.03.2014 stated that demand and assessment made, already communicated is correct and no reconsideration is required. However amount already deposited by petitioner was adjusted and balance amount was required to be paid.

19. Petitioner then filed another objection dated 19.03.2014 before E.O. A press notice was published in daily newspaper 'Amar Ujala' dated 26.04.2014 wherein petitioner was required to deposit assessed amount as mentioned in earlier demand notice i.e. Rs. 67,832/- after adjusting Rs.

18,000/- deposited by petitioner. She filed Writ (Tax) No. 310 of 2014 which was dismissed on the ground of alternative remedy of appeal. Petitioner preferred appeal before Chief Judicial Magistrate, Firozabad under Section 160 of U.P. Act, 1916 which has been decided vide judgment and order dated 08.02.2016; after setting aside the assessment and demand raised by 'NPP' on the ground that application of multiplier of twelve was patently illegal since multiplier was to be fixed by Rule and since no Rule was framed therefore 'NPP' itself could not have applied multiplier of twelve. After declaring assessment illegal Appellate Authority directed 'NPP' to make fresh assessment of property tax in accordance with relevant statutory provisions.

20. Petitioner communicated the said judgment to E.O. and requested that the excess amount realized from petitioner, in respect of F.Y. 2012-13 to 2014-15 should be refunded or be adjusted against property tax payable for F.Y. 2015-16. E.O. communicated to petitioner vide letter dated 04.03.2016 that as per agreement dated 16.08.2012, executed by petitioner with Bank of India, with respect to disputed property no. 2864, Mohalla Mohd. Mah. total area is 2617 square foot. If petitioner has any objection in regard to aforesaid area, may file the same. It was also informed that demand of refund along with interest was not correct. Petitioner was further required to pay Rs. 24,720/- towards House Tax and Rs. 21,408/- towards Water Tax for F.Y. 2015-16.

21. Petitioner again demanded, vide letter dated 09.03.2016, that penalty of Rs. 15,000/- has been declared illegal by Appellate Authority i.e. Chief Judicial Magistrate, Firozabad vide judgment dated 08.02.2016 and assessment of property tax has also been illegal, therefore, excess amount realized by E.O. should be refunded. E.O. did not pass any order as directed by Appellate Authority and instead, communicated a minor correction dated 20.06.2016 informing that for the year 2015-16, House Tax amount should be read as Rs. 24,120/- instead of Rs. 24,720/- and Water Tax as Rs. 21,108/- instead of Rs. 21,408/- and the total amount payable for year 2015-16 is Rs. 45,228/-. This demand has been challenged by petitioner in this writ petition and application of multiplier of twelve has also been challenged on the ground that same are illegal and without jurisdiction.

Writ Tax No. 625 of 2016

22. Petitioner Gopal Jain is owner of House No. 21, Mohalla Bara Bazar, Shikohabad, District Firozabad which is let out to State Bank of India. For F.Ys. 2012-13 and 2013-14, 'NPP' demanded property tax of Rs. 1,85,888/-. Petitioner protested but E.O. advised to pay entire amount and in the meantime he would seek clarification with regard to multiplier from Government. Petitioner thus deposited aforesaid amount vide receipt dated 11.06.2014. Petitioner, pursuant to report submitted by Committee constituted by District Magistrate, Firozabad, made representation dated 23.01.2015 to review, assessment by excluding multiplier of twelve, and refund the amount paid in excess by petitioner. 'TAO' on the contrary, vide notice dated 18.05.2015, issued under Section 168/173 of U.P. Act, 1916 informed petitioner that it has to pay property tax for F.Y. 2014-15 at Rs. 1,08,864/- and same amount for F.Y. 2015- 16. Petitioner was required to pay thus total sum of Rs. 2,17,728/- within 15 days. Petitioner deposited Rs. 1,08,864/- vide receipt dated 08.06.2015 whereupon 'TAO' issued demand notice dated 20.07.2016 for Rs. 1,08,864/- for F.Y.

2015-16. Since no valid assessment has been made by excluding multiplier of twelve, and arbitrarily assessed amount was compelled to be deposited, the same has been challenged in this writ petition.

Writ Tax No. 626 of 2016

23. Petitioner, Satyendra Kumar Jain owns property no. 1630-1631, Mohalla Rukunpur, Mainpuri Road, Shikohabad, District Firozabad. The said property is used for running a cold storage. Initially, for F.Y. 2013-14, 'NPP' demanded property tax of Rs. 4,560/- it was paid on 03.12.2013. NPP thereafter enhanced above assessment and demanded Rs. 77,172/- for F.Y. 2013-14. The aforesaid assessment was made taking carpet area as 2745 square foot (constructed) and 7000 square foot as open. On the constructed area, House Tax was computed at Rs. 31,622/- and Water Tax at Rs. 27,670/-. On the open land, House Tax was computed as Rs. 12,096/- and Water Tax as Rs. 10,584/-. Thus, total house tax demanded was Rs. 43,718/- and water tax Rs. 38,254/-. Petitioner then made representation dated 23.01.2015 stating that computation of property tax by applying multiplier of twelve was illegal but without looking to the said objection, 'NPP' is proceeding with the demand of property tax for F.Y. 2015-16 at Rs. 43,718/- (House Tax) and Rs. 38,254/- (Water Tax).

24. NPP has filed counter affidavit and supplementary counter affidavit in leading Writ (Tax) No. 544 of 2016. Learned counsel appearing for NPP requested that aforesaid affidavit be read in all other writ petitions since issues are common and on this request learned counsel appearing in various writ petitions had no objection, hence we agreed to read the said counter affidavit and supplementary counter affidavit for the purpose of all the writ petitions.

25. Affidavit has been sworn by Ninnumal Chaudhary, EO, NPP, Shikohabad. It refers to various provisions of U.P. Act, 1916 and in particular Sections 128, 129, 130A and 140, Principal Secretary U.P. Government issued an order dated 18.03.2011 addressed to all Commissioners, Collectors, Directors and Local Bodies, informing amendments made in U.P. Act, 1916 vide Amendment Act, 2011 and required concerned authorities to comply the amended provisions strictly. Annual value as per Section 140 (amended) is to be determined by computing monthly income on certain buildings of land and multiplying the same by twelve. Section 140 (1) (a) provides for a proportion not exceeding five percent, to be fixed by Rule, made in this behalf, of the sum obtained by adding estimated present cost of erecting building to estimated value of the land appurtenant thereto; and proportion of five percent was provided subject to one fixed by rules. Since no rules were framed by State, Taxes were being levied on the basis of proportion of five percent and no issue on this aspect was raised by any one before filing these writ petitions. The same provision and methodology is continuing under the amended provision by applying multiplier of twelve or as fixed by State Government. In other words, in absence of any rules to be specified, twelve multiplier is to be applied. The petitioners in fact have gained from assessment made by respondents as per Amended Act, 2011 and if they continue under the old provisions they would have to cough up more amount i.e. almost five times than the one which was demanded under Amended Act, 2011. An illustration in this regard has been given in para-12 as under-

"That according to the capital cost of building-cum-land measuring 20.59 Sq. meters executed as late as on 15.04.2015, has been shown at Rs. 20,39,400/- and if this is taken at the annual value as it includes cost of construction as well as the land going by the old provision of Section 140 (1) (a), the annual value would come to Rs. 20,39,400 x 5% = 1,01,970/-, on that Annual Value would be Rs. 1,01,970/-. On this the taxes would as under:-

House Tax = 10,970 x 8% = Rs. 8,158.00

Water Tax = 10,970 x 7% = Rs. 7,138.00

Total* = *Rs.15,296.00

On calculation according to the latest amendment, annual assessment value would be like this:

20.59 Sq. Meters = 222 Sq. feet

Under self-assessment arrangement according to the size of the road = 0.80/ Sq. feet per month. Accordingly the annual rental value would be = 222 x .80 x 12 = 2,131/-

House Tax = 2,131 x 8% = 170 x 12 = Rs. 2,040/-

Water Tax = 2,131 x 7% = 149 x 12 = Rs. 1,788/-

Total* = *Rs. 3,828/-

The above example would show that even multiplier of 12 would result in less of property Tax than under the old arrangement."

26. In absence of any other rate fixed by State Government, multiplier of twelve as provided by Amendment Act, 2011 has to be applied along with old provisions where it was 5%. Petitioners earlier also filed writ petitions but they were dismissed and no relief was granted. The Committee constituted by Collector was not a valid Committee. NPP is acting strictly according to the directions given by Principal Secretary in the letter dated 18.03.2011. The multiplier of twelve is being applied since State Government has not fixed any other multiplier and this application of multiplier of twelve is within competence of NPP.

27. The supplementary counter affidavit has been sworn by Mahadeo Singh, TAO stating that he has come to join NPP, Shikohabad on his transfer vide order dated 17.11.2012. During the working period of erstwhile EO, Nand Lal (now retired), the resolution of NPP and adoption of Self-Assessment Tax Scheme with proposed rate was published in Newspaper 'Amar Ujala' dated 13.10.2012. The petitioners and others were given option to file objection if any. A large number of objections were received which were considered by Board in a meeting dated 31.10.2012 and rates were finalized. Pursuant to resolution dated 31.10.2012, giving final shape to the rates, a format under Self-Assessment Tax Scheme was promulgated, providing multiplier of twelve for computing House Tax and Water Tax. A photocopy of format under Self-Assessment Tax Scheme is filed along with supplementary counter affidavit. The action taken by 'NPP' is consistent with Principal Secretary's letter dated 18.03.2011 and decision regarding applicability of multiplier of twelve was finalized by the Board. It was circulated by the then EO to all residents of Shikohabad, After taking charge by Mahadeo Singh, new EO, he sent a letter dated 26.07.2014 to Director, Local Bodies, seeking clarification about multiplier but no reply has been received. A similar letter was also forwarded to State Government on 27.08.2015 but reply is still awaited.

28. Petitioners have also filed a rejoinder affidavit sworn on 21.08.2016 reiterating basically what they have pleaded in the writ petitions, therefore, we are not repeating the same and would refer whenever it may be necessary during the course of discussion.

29. The basic issue is, manner and procedure, necessary for assessing House Tax and Water Tax whether followed by NPP or not.

30. Section 128 has been substituted by Amendment Act, 2011. It details various taxes imposable by a Municipality. For our purposes, Section 128 (1) (i) (x), as it was before Amendment Act, 2011 is reproduced as under:-

"(1) Subject to any general rules or special order of the State Government in this behalf , the taxes which a Municipality may impose in the whole or part of a municipality are,-

(i) a tax on the annual value of building or lands or of both;

(x) a water-tax on the annual value of buildings or lands or of both;"

31. After amendment of Section 128, now the relevant clauses for the purpose of House Tax and Water Tax, are contained in Section (1) (i) and (ii), which read as under:-

"(1) Subject to the provisions of this Act and of Article 285 of the Constitution of India, a Municipality shall impose the following taxes, namely:-

(i) a tax on the annual value of buildings or lands or both.

(ii) a water tax on the annual value of buildings or lands or both;"

32. Sub-Section (3) of Section 128 as amended provides that Municipal Tax shall be assessed/levied in accordance with provisions of U.P. Act, 1916 and Rules and bye laws framed thereunder. It reads as under:-

"(3) The municipal taxes shall be assessed and levied in accordance with the provisions of this Act and the rules and bye-laws framed thereunder."

33. Section 128A relates to Tax on transfer of immovable property, hence we do not find the same relevant for the dispute in present writ petitions. Section 129, however, imposes certain restrictions with regard to water tax and reads as under:

"129. Restriction on the imposition of water-tax- The imposition of a tax under clause (ii) of sub-section (1), Section 128 shall be subject to the restriction that the tax shall not be imposed,-

"(i) on land exclusively used for agricultural purposes unless water is supplied by the Municipality for such purpose; or

(ii) on a plot of land or building the annual value whereof, does not exceed rupees three hundred and sixty, and to which no water is supplied by the Municipality; or

(iii) on any plot or building no part of which is within the radius prescribed for the municipality from the nearest stand-pipe or other water works whereat water is made available to the public by the Municipality.

Explanation.-- For the purposes of this section,-

(a) "building" shall include the compound, if any, thereof, and where there are several buildings in a common compound, all such buildings and the common compound;

(b) "a plot of land" means any piece of land held by a single occupier, or held in common by several co-occupiers whereof no one portion is entirely separated from other portion by the land of another occupier or of other co-occupier or by public property.

34. Section 129-A has been inserted by Amendment Act, 2011 specifying certain exceptions from levy of tax on annual value of buildings or lands or both, and, reads as under:-

"129A. Levy of tax on annual value of buildings or lands or both.-- The tax on annual value of buildings or lands or both shall be levied in respect of all buildings and lands situated in the municipal limit except,-

(a) buildings and lands solely used for purposes connected with the disposal of the dead;

(b) buildings and lands or portions thereof solely occupied and used for public worship or for the charitable purposes, fields, farms and gardens of Government aided institutions of research and development, play grounds of Government aided or unaided, recognized educational institutions or sports stadium;

(c) buildings solely used as schools and intermediate colleges, whether aided by the State Government or not;

(d) ancient monuments as defined in the Ancient Monuments Preservation Act, 1904, subject to any direction of the State Government in respect of any such monument;

(e) buildings and land vested in the Union of India, except where provisions of clause (2) of Article 285 of the Constitution of India, apply;

(f) any owner occupied residential building constructed on a plot of land measuring thirty square metres or having a carpet area upto fifteen square metres, provided that the owner thereof does not own any other building in the municipal limit; and

(g) residential buildings occupied by the owner of the building which is located in such area which has been included in the limit of municipal council, within five years or the facilities or roads, drinking water and street light provided in the area, whichever is earlier."

35. Sections 140 to 149 provide and deal with assessment and levy of tax on annual value of buildings or land or both. Section 140 talks of 'annual value' and reads as under:

"140. Definition of annual value.--(1) "Annual Value" means–

(a) In the case of railway stations, colleges, schools, hotels, factories, commercial buildings and other non-residential buildings, twelve times the value arrived at on multiplying with multiplier to be fixed by rules in the monthly rate of rent per square foot of residential buildings fixed under clause (b) with the covered area of the buildings or open area of the land or both, as the case may be.

(b) In the case of a building or land not falling within the provisions of clause (a), twelve times the value arrived at on multiplying the carpet area of the building, or the area of the land, by the applicable minimum monthly rate of rent per square foot of the carpet area in the case of building or the applicable minimum monthly rate of rent per square foot of the area in the case of land, as the case may be, and for this purpose the minimum monthly rate of rent per square foot shall be such as may be fixed once in every two years by the executive officer of the Municipality on the basis of the location of the building or the land, nature of the construction of the building, the circle rate fixed by the Collector for the purpose of the Indian Stamp Act, 1899, and the current minimum rate of rent in the area for such building or land and such other factors, and in such manner, as may be prescribed:

Provided that where the annual value of any building would, by reason of exceptional circumstances, in the opinion of the Municipality, be excessive if calculated in the aforesaid manner, the Municipality may fix the annual value at any less amount which appears to it equitable.

Explanation I. - For the purpose of calculation of annual value the carpet area shall be calculated as under:

(i) Rooms-full measurement of internal dimension;

(ii) Covered Verandah-full measurement of internal dimension;

(iii) Balcony, Corridor, Kitchen and Store-50 per cent measurement of internal dimension;

(iv) Garage-one-fourth measurement of internal dimension;

(v) Area covered by bathroom, latrines, portico and staircase shall not form part of the carpet area.

Explanation II.- The standard rent, the agreed rent or the reasonable annual rent of a building for the purposes of the Uttar Pradesh Urban Buildings (Regulation of Letting, Rent and Eviction) Act, 1972 shall not be taken into account while calculating the annual value of the building.

(2) Where the Municipality so resolves, the annual value for the purpose of assessment of property taxes shall-

(a) in the case of land and owner-occupied residential building which is not more than ten years old, be deemed to be 25 per cent less and if it is more than ten years but not more than twenty years old, be deemed to be 32.5 percent less, and if it is more than twenty years old, be deemed to be 40 per cent less than the annual value determined under clause (b) of sub-section (1); and

(b) in the case of residential building let on rent, which is not more than ten year old, be deemed to be 25 per cent more and if it is more than ten years but not more than twenty years old, be deemed to be 12.5 per cent more than the annual value determined under clause (b) of sub-section (1),l and if it is more than twenty years old, be deemed to be equal to the annual value determined under clause (b) of sub-section (1).

36. A perusal of Section 140 which is the provision up for serious contentions in these writ petitions, and has real concern with the issues raised in these writ petitions, shows that buildings in municipal area are divided into two distinct categories:-

(i) Those used as railway stations, hotels, colleges, schools, hospitals, factories, commercial buildings and other non-residential buildings.

(ii) Those not used as such i.e. one not covered by Section 140 (1) (a).

37. The buildings, therefore, described in Section 140 (1) (a), can safely be termed as 'public buildings', 'commercial buildings', 'industrial buildings' or 'non-residential buildings'. Similarly those covered by Section 140 (1) (b), we may safely term the same as 'residential buildings'. In our further discussion we will refer same accordingly.

38. Now method for determining 'annual value' of first category of buildings i.e. non-residential is as follows:

Monthly rate of rent per square foot of residential buildings fixed by clause (b)	x	Covered area of buildings or Open area of building, or both

39. The aforesaid value has to be multiplied by a multiplier as fixed by Rules. Whatever, value would be arrived at, would be further multiplied by twelve and that will be 'annual value'.

40. In respect of 'residential buildings' or 'land' for determining annual value firstly monthly rent has to be seen i.e.----

(a) Minimum monthly rate of rent per square foot of carpet area, or;

(b) Applicable minimum monthly rate of rent per square foot of the area in the case of land.

41. This minimum monthly rate of rent has to be fixed by EO of Municipality once in every two years, on the basis of location of buildings or land, nature of construction of the building, circle rate fixed by Collector for the purpose of Indian Stamp Act, 1899 and current minimum rate of rent of such area or such other factors in such manner as may be prescribed. Therefore, to determine minimum monthly rate of rent per square foot, manner and factors including certain aspect referred in Section 140 (1) (b), as prescribed, will be taken into consideration by EO of Municipality to determine minimum monthly rate of rent.

42. Now, carpet area of the building or area of the land shall be multiplied by minimum monthly rate of rent of carpet area of the building or area in the case of land and whatever value comes, it is twelve times of such value which is 'annual value'.

43. In other words, methodology is as under:

(a) EO of Municipality shall fix minimum monthly rate of rent per square foot of carpet area in the area of building or;

(b) Minimum monthly rate of rent per square foot area in the case of land.

44. For such fixation, he shall follow the manner as prescribed in Rules and take into consideration as under:-

(i) Location of building or land;

(ii) Nature of construction of building.;

(iii) Circle rate fixed by Collector;

(iv) Current minimum rate of rent in the area for such building or land;

(v) Such other factors as may be prescribed.

45. Thereafter, this minimum monthly rate of rent shall be multiplied by carpet area of building or the area of land as the case may be and then whatever value comes, it shall again be multiplied by twelve. That would give annual value.

46. Then explanation-I provides certain guidelines which have to be followed as an obligation by authority concerned in calculation of carpet area:-

(i) For rooms and covered Verandah its full measurement of internal dimension;

(ii) For Balcony, Corridor, Kitchen and Store it is 50 percent of internal dimension;

(iii) In the case of Garage, one-fourth of the internal dimension i.e. only 25 percent of the actual dimension;

(iv) Bathrooms, latrines, portico and staircase shall not form part of the carpet area.

47. Explanation-II states that agreed rent or standard rent etc. under Uttar Pradesh Urban Buildings (Regulation of Letting, Rent and Eviction), Act, 1972 shall not be any standard for calculating annual value of building.

48. Section 140 sub-section (2) provides that Municipality may resolve to assess differently certain buildings occupied by owners and period of construction. If building is not more than 10 years old, 'annual value' may be determined 25 percent less and if it is more than 10 years old but less than 20 years old, relaxation in annual value may be 32.5 percent and if building is more than 20 years old, relaxation may be up to 40 percent. In respect of the buildings which are let on rent, up to 10 years old building, relaxation is same i.e. 25 percent but in other cases it is 12.5 percent and equal to 'annual value' as the case may be.

49. Record shows that after amendment of Section 140 by U.P. Act No. 8 of 2011 the EO, NPP got a public notice published in daily newspaper 'Amar Ujala' a press note dated 12.10.2012/13.10.2012.

50. Section 140 requires determination of minimum monthly rate of rent shall be in such manner as may be prescribed. It is nobody's case that any Rule in respect of such determination were framed by Rule Framing Authority. Hence there was no manner prescribed.

51. The word 'prescribed' has been defined in Section 2 (17) (i) reads as under:-

"[(17) (i) "Prescribed" means prescribed by or under this Act or rules made thereunder or by or under any other enactment."

52. The 'prescribed' therefore must be either under the Act or by the Rules or under any other enactment.

53. Learned counsel for NPP did not dispute that manner prescribed, in the case in hand, is not covered by any provisions under Act, 1916 and, therefore, it should have come by way of any Rule but even Rules were not framed under U.P. Municipal Corporation Act, 1959 (hereinafter referred to as 'Act, 1959').

54. For the purpose of determination of annual value U.P. Municipal Corporation (Property Taxes) Rules, 2000 (hereinafter referred to as 'Rules, 2000') were framed but we are informed that under U.P. Act, 1916 no such Rules have been framed. Therefore other factors and manner as contemplated by Section 140 sub-section (1) is still unprescribed.

55. Section 141 has also been substituted U.P. Act No. 8, 2011 and the substituted provisions reads as under:-

"141. Preparation of assessment list. - The Municipality or the Executive Officer authorized by it in this behalf, shall cause areawise rental rates and an assessment list in the municipal area or part thereof to be prepared from time to time in accordance with the manner prescribed in the rules."

56. Similarly Section 141 talks of areawise rental rates and assessment list to be prepared in accordance with the manner prescribed in the Rules but here also we are not apprised of any Rules under which procedure has been prescribed. It is admitted by respondents that in respect of buildings and land, under U.P. Act, 1916, no such Rules have been made.

57. Section 141 as it existed prior to its substitution in 2011, did not contain the word 'areawise' rental rates. Earlier it was confined to only assessment list but substituted Section 141 now includes word 'areawise' rental rates i.e. to be prepared from time to time in accordance with the manner prescribed in the Rules.

58. Section 141-A inserted by amendment Act, 2011 gives an option to the owner or occupier of the building or land or both to himself assess his liability of tax in respect of the building or land, after determining annual value in accordance with Section 140 and deposit tax assessed by him in such manner and such form as may be prescribed. Therefore to attract Section 141-A also, manner and form has to be prescribed either under the provisions of Act, 1916 or Rules framed thereunder or both but if it is not prescribed at all, then we have to see its repercussion in the matter.

59. Section 141-B which is also inserted by amendment Act, 2011 makes it obligatory to every owner or occupier of the building or land to submit a return up to date but here also that has to be as prescribed. Failure to submit return may attract penalty as prescribed in Section 140-B. Therefore it also contemplates something to be done as prescribed. One has to follow provisions contained under the Act or the Rules, as the case may be, for such compliance.

60. Section 142 substituted by amendment Act, 2011 contemplates publication of list prepared under Section 141 in accordance with manner prescribed in Rules. This provision also specifically contemplates that list has to be published in accordance with manner prescribed in Rules.

61. Similarly Section 143 substituted by amendment Act, 2011 authorized Municipality or EO authorized by Municipality in this behalf, to dispose of objection in accordance with manner prescribed in the Rules. Here also the prescription and manner has to be, by framing of Rules.

62. It is admitted case of respondents including NPP that wherever provisions discussed above talk of manner etc. as prescribed, such has not been prescribed either under the Act or the Rules framed thereunder.

63. The meaning of the word 'prescribed' and its consequence came up for consideration before this Court in Virendra Kumar Tyagi v. Ghaziabad Development Authority 2006 (1) AWC 834, wherein Division Bench presided by Hon'ble R.K. Agrawal, J. (as His Lordship then was) construed Section 15 (2A) read with Section 2 (ii) of U.P. Urban Planning and Development Act, 1973 (hereinafter referred to as 'U.P. Act, 1973') and held that mutation charges can be levied and demanded at such rates and in such manner as may be prescribed. The meaning of the word 'prescribed' has been given the same meaning as under Section 4 of U.P. General Clauses Act, 1904 i.e. prescribed by Rules made under the Act. Court also observed that when something is required to be prescribed by framing Rules as per the provisions of the Act, such Rules can not be made unless notified in gazette. Following the well settled principle that if a Statute provides that an act has to be done in a particular manner then it has to be done in that manner alone or not at all, court held that unless prescribed by Rules mutation charges can not be levied. Law laid down therein, in the context of mutation charges under U.P. Act, 1973 is equally applicable in respect to assessment of house tax and water tax under the provisions of U.P. Act, 1916, whereas we have already demonstrated above that unless prescribed Nagar Palika has no authority to do something on its own by acting upon itself as if even without any prescribed manner under the rules it is empowered to determine on its own, amount of tax and raise demand from the residents.

64. Similar view has been expressed by other Division Benches in Dr. Umesh Chandra Maheshwari v. Mathura/Vrindavan Development Authority and another [2010 (4) ADJ 368 (DB)] and Smt. Rekha Rani Vs. State of U.P. and others [2014(1) ADJ 325 (DB)].

65. For that purpose, NPP has relied on solely on the Government order dated 18.03.2011 and stated that it has followed the same. We may examine whether a Government order can be a substitute of something which is required by prescribed Act or Rules. First of all, we may examine whether Government order dated 18.03.2011 itself provides anything as required by Sections 140, 141, 141-A, 141-B, 142 and 143 as amended in 2011. Copy of this order has been filed as Annexure-CA-1 to the counter affidavit of NPP and reads as under:-

"उपर्युक्त विषयक प्रदेश की नगर पालिका परिषदों / पंचायतों के आय के संसाधन में वृद्धि एवं एकरूपता बनाये रखने के उद्देश्य से उत्तर प्रदेश नगर पालिका अधिनियम 1916 को उत्तर प्रदेश अधिनियम संख्या 8 सन् 2011 द्वारा निम्नलिखित व्यवस्था करने के उद्देश्य से संशोधित किया गया है-

(क) नगर पालिका द्वारा संपत्ति कर को उदग्रहीत करना (धारा 128)

(ख) नगर पालिका के निवासियों को स्वकर निर्धारण की सुविधा प्रदान करना (धारा 141 क)

(ग) नगर पालिका के क्षेत्र के भीतर गैर आवासीय संपत्ति के संबंध में वार्षिक मूल्य की परिभाषा को परिवर्तित करना (धारा 140)

2. अधिनियम में उक्त संशोधन उत्तर प्रदेश असाधारण गजट के विधायी परिशिष्ट के भाग-1 के खण्ड-क में अधिसूचना दिनांक 11.03.2014 द्वारा प्रकाशित किया गया है। अधिनियम में संशोधन से सम्बन्धित प्राविधान संलग्न हैं।

कृपया अधिनियम की उक्त संशोधित व्यवस्था का कड़ाई से अनुपालन सुनिश्चित किया जाय।"

"In reference to the above mentioned subject, with the objective of bringing about growth and uniformity in the means of income of Nagar Palika Parishads/Panchayats, the Uttar Pradesh Municipalities Act, 1916 has been amended by the Uttar Pradesh Act No. 8 of 2011 for making the following arrangements:-

(a) The property tax to be levied by Nagar Palika (Section 125).

(b) Providing facility of self tax assessment to the residents of Nagar Palika (Section 141 A).

(c) Modifying the definition of annual value in relation to non- residential property situated within the limits of Nagar Palika (Section 140).

(2) The aforesaid amendment has been published by the notification dated 11.03.2011 in the clause (A), part I under the legislative appendix of the Uttar Pradesh Gazette, Extraordinary. The provisions in relation to the amendment in the act is attached herewith.

Strict compliance of the aforesaid amended provisions of the Act may please be ensured."

(English translation by the Court)

66. The letter dated 18.03.2011 has been issued by Sri Alok Ranjan, Principal Secretary, Government of Uttar Pradesh and addressed to all Commissioners, District Magistrate of State of U.P. and Director of Local Bodies. It informs them that for the purpose of bringing uniformity and to augment income of Nagar Palika Parishad/Panchyats in the State of U.P., amendment has been made in U.P. Act, 1916 by U.P. Amendment Act No. 8 of 2011 and it refers to Sections 128, 140 and 141-A. It is also said that amendment has been notified in U.P. Gazette (Extraordinary) dated 11.03.2011 and amended provisions should be implemented and observed strictly. The aforesaid Government order nowhere requires or authorizes any Nagar Palika Parishad or Local Bodies to proceed to assess annual value on its own without there being any manner etc. prescribed as contemplated under the Act or the Rules. On the contrary, it requires Local Bodies to observe compliance of amended statute strictly. Copy of U.P. Amendment Act No. 8 of 2011 was appended to the aforesaid Government order dated 18.03.2011. Since aforesaid Act has no clause declaring as to when this amendment shall come into force, therefore, by application of provisions of U.P. General Clauses Act, amendment shall be taken to have come into force on the date of publication in official gazette i.e. 11.03.2011. The aforesaid Government order, nowhere authorized any Municipality or its EO or any one else to proceed to determine 'annual value' on their own, and make assessment, without following the requirement which has to be prescribed by Rules.

67. NPP Shikohabad, it appears, undertook on its own, authority to proceed to determine 'annual value' without waiting Competent Rule Framing Authority to prescribe manner etc. in which things have to be done, by making Rule. NPP due to its illegal and hurried act has caused disputed assessments which are subject matter of challenge in these writ petitions though it could have been avoided.

68. We also find it surprising to see that Board, NPP Shikohabad held a meeting on 31.10.2012 chaired by Sri Ram Prakash Yadav @ Nehru Ji and resolved to affirm rental rates as published in newspaper vide EO's letter dated 12.10.2012. Neither in counter affidavit nor supplementary counter affidavit it has been stated that EO was so authorized in this behalf by Municipality to prepare areawise rental rates and get it published.

69. Section 141 read with Section 142 specifically provides that either preparation and publication has to be done by Municipality or EO authorized by it in this behalf. Therefore, EO has to be authorized by Municipality in respect of action to be taken under Section 141 and 142, and, otherwise EO had no jurisdiction or authority to proceed on its own for preparation of areawise rental rates or assessment list and get it published.

70. Copy of letter dated 12.10.2012 sent by the then EO to Editor of newspaper also nowhere refers to any resolution of Municipal Board authorizing EO to proceed to prepare areawise rental rate and assessment and get it published and instead, it refers to only Government order dated 18.03.2011 which we have already discussed above, does not say anything. The EO, NPP, it appears was either deliberately and negligently proceeded in the matter by taking upon himself an authority which was not actually vested in him and for that purpose deliberately misrepresented things by referring to a Government order which did not confer any such authority.

71. We failed to understand as to what prevented NPP to pass an appropriate resolution, first to authorize EO so as to take action, as contemplated under Sections 141 and 142 and why EO on its own proceeded by treating upon himself a power which was not actually conferred upon him. This action of preparation and publication of rental list by EO vide letter dated 12.10.2012, by simply referring to Government order dated 18.03.2011, is patently without jurisdiction and a nullity in the eye of law. He had no such authority on 12.10.2012 to proceed to get published the so called assessment rental rates and assessment which were not even determined by any competent authority in the manner as prescribed in Statute till that time. The very basic exercise undertaken by EO was without jurisdiction.

72. We also find that Section 143 contemplates objections, when public notice is given with respect to areawise rental rates or assessment. Section 143, as it stood prior to 2011 amendment provided that not less than one month time shall be given from the date of public notice to concerned persons to make objections. A complete procedure was given in previous Section 143. Now amended provision has shifted procedure to be laid down in Rules. Hence so long as Rules are not framed and procedure including time for filing objection is prescribed in Rules, the local body or its authority can not usurp any power upon itself in its own wisdom.

73. Admittedly, Rules have not been framed. So long as Rules are not framed there was no occasion or justification for Municipality or EO to dispose of objections of concerned aggrieved persons. Moreover public notice in newspaper was published on 13.10.2012, and Board, passed resolution on 31.10.2012. It thus gave only 17 days time. Even if it would have followed old provision which contemplates minimum period of one month for inviting objections, that period had not expired. Nowhere, any existing provision has been shown to us in which such period has been prescribed so as to allow to consider subject of public notice on 31.10.2012.

74. Further we find reference to various objections but how and in what manner those objections were dealt with and decided, nothing has been said. The objections have to be disposed of in accordance with the manner prescribed in Rules.

75. When word 'disposed of' has been used by Statute, it does not mean that only a reference of such objection will be given, but points raised in such objections have to be considered. There has to be an application of mind for taking a particular view on such objections. But there is no such disposal of objections in the resolution dated 31.10.2012. It appears that Board treated objections as a mere formality and assumed that they can take a decision with respect to rental rates or assessment, as the case may be on their own caprice without disposal of objections in the manner prescribed in Rules. Therefore, this resolution passed on 31.10.2012 under chairmanship of the then President Sri Ram Prakash Yadav is also patently illegal and cannot be sustained.

76. Section 153 of U.P. Act, 1916 also provides that certain matters shall be regulated and governed by Rules, except insofar as specific provisions are made in the Act. It reads as under:-

"153. Rules as to assessment, collection and other matters.- The following matters shall be regulated and governed by rules except in so far as provision therefor is made by this Act, namely,-

(a) the assessment, collection or composition of taxes;

(b) the prevention of evasion of taxes;

(c) the system on which refunds shall be allowed and paid;

(d) the fees for notices demanding payments on account of a tax and for the execution of warrants of distress;

(e) the rates to be charged for maintaining live-stock distrained; and

(f) any other matter relating to taxes in respect of which this Act makes no provision or insufficient provision and provision is, in the opinion of the (State Government), necessary."

77. Therefore, without framing Rules laying down manner and other things, it was not possible or permissible, legally to NPP to determine monthly rental rates or assessment of any building or land for the purpose of levy of 'House Tax' or 'Water Tax'. The Statute as amended in 2011 is much different than it was earlier.

78. Earlier provisions contain more detailed procedure themselves but amended provisions have shifted prescription of procedure etc. to Rules. It is admitted that no such Rules were framed by Rule Framing Authority. It is not disputed that Rule Framing Authority is the State Government.

79. Supplementary counter affidavit filed on behalf of NPP and sworn by Mahadeo Singh newly posted TAO shows that new EO sought some clarifications from Government but admits that no clarification has been received by it. It is also reiterated that monthly rent was determined by NPP Board based on Government order dated 18.03.2011, but we do not find anything contained in the order dated 18.03.2011 which requires determination of minimum monthly rent of any building or land, as the case may be, in a particular manner. When confronted, learned counsel appearing for NPP could not dispute this fact. In what manner even minimum monthly rate of various area was arrived at, has not been specified. Public notice only shows rates proposed by EO which have already been held as without any authority. The manner and method so as to arrive at such rate not disclosed either to the public or even to this Court. Apparently, it is a clear case of arbitrary determination on the part of an officer of NPP who was not authorized to do so as also NPP and entire exercise is patently illegal.

80. Things do not rest here. We find that there appears to be a public unrest and therefore taking note thereof District Magistrate, Firozabad constituted a Committee consisting of EO, NPP Shikohabad, City Magistrate Firozabad, General Manager District Industries Centre Firozabad and Additional District Magistrate (Finance and Revenue) Firozabad. They recommended, for the purpose of determination of monthly minimum rate of rent and Assessment/Self Assessment, procedure prescribed in Rules, 2000. These Rules are in respect of Nagar Nigams governed by Act, 1959 and not by U.P. Act, 1916.

81. The NPP in its counter affidavit has said that said Committee was illegally constituted and, therefore, recommendation of said Committee was not followed by it. We sustain this objection that Committee had no statutory basis for the reason that no such Committee is contemplated either under Act or any Rules or bye laws framed thereunder. Secondly, Rules framed under U.P. Act, 1959 applicable to the Municipal Corporations could not have been imported for the purpose of compliance of provisions of U.P. Act, 1916 by such Committee constituted by District Magistrate, for the reason that power and authority for such procedure vested in the Rule Framing Authority and has to be prescribed by Rules or by making specific provisions in the Act, 1916 which was not done by the competent authority. The Committee obviously had no such jurisdiction.

82. Having said so we also find that NPP also had no jurisdiction on its own to proceed to make wholly illegal assessments of rates of minimum rent of building and land and thereafter assessments when the manner of same has to be prescribed by competent authority i.e. Rule Framing Authority.

83. The audacious defiance on the part of NPP is also writ large from the fact that an appeal was preferred by a resident under Section 160 of U.P. Act, 1916 before Chief Judicial Magistrate, who declared such assessment illegal and held that it was not in accordance with Statute. Instead of looking into the matter in correct perspective so as to have an occasion to follow Statute, NPP simply ignored the said judgment rendered by a Court of law and continued to press for recovery based on wholly illegal assessment and that is why it has caused all these writ petitions which otherwise could have been avoided.

84. We may also take notice of the fact that dispute raised in these writ petitions is of a general nature covering entire residents of the area. Report of Committee constituted by District Magistrate shows that a large number of people raised complaints against arbitrary recovery being pressed by NPP and its authorities. In two appeals decided by Appellate Authorities, demand/assessment was quashed. But it did not deter NPP in its activities and it continued to proceed with its recovery with adamant attitude. This is neither expected from a statutory local authority nor from the officers and public representatives managing such body. It was responsibility of Chairman, NPP to ensure strict compliance of Statute, assisted by EO, who is highest executive servant of NPP and it is his obligation to assist elected Board in discharge of their duties in accordance with Statute, but, both have failed miserably. We find no justification even otherwise as to why illegal activities had continued. These writ petitions have been imposed though with a little more care and consideration shown by respondents in faithful observance of Statute, this bunch of litigation could have been avoided but that has not been done.

85. We, therefore, find it a fit case NPP should be saddled with exemplary cost.

86. The writ petitions are allowed. Assessments made by NPP and demand raised against petitioners are hereby quashed. Respondents NPP, Shikohabad shall be liable to pay cost of Rs. 50,000/- in each set of petitions.

87. Further, pursuant to impugned assessment and recovery any amount, if has been realized from petitioners, same shall be refunded with interest @ 10% per annum, which shall be computed from the date of payment by petitioners, till the date of refund.

88. However, we give liberty to State Government to look into the matter and recover the amount of cost and interest from the concerned EO or any other persons found responsible for such illegal act, by making such inquiry as permissible in law.

Central Excise Act, 1944 -- Section 11B -- Finance Act, 1994 -- Refund of amount deposited during search/investigation -- Nature of deposit -- Whether amount deposited by Assessee under coercion during search, subsequently appropriated towards a Service Tax demand which was later set aside in appeal, is 'duty' governed by Section 11B or a pre-deposit -- Revenue's contention that no refund application was filed under Section 11B(3) and that appeal against the appellate order was pending -- Held: Amount got deposited from an Assessee during pendency of investigation or adjudication proceedings, prior to any demand being crystallised, is in the nature of a deposit under protest/pre-deposit and does not partake the character of 'duty' or 'Service Tax' -- Principles of unjust enrichment under Section 11B have no application to refund of such pre-deposit -- Pendency of Revenue's appeal against the order setting aside the demand is not a valid ground to withhold refund of the pre-deposit. (Paras 19-27)

Central Excise Act, 1944 -- Interest on refund of pre-deposit -- Whether interest payable on delayed refund of pre-deposit though Section 11BB does not, in terms, apply to such deposit -- Held: Grant of interest on refund of pre-deposit stands settled by Circulars of the Central Board of Excise and Customs and by binding precedent -- Even in the absence of a specific statutory provision, interest on wrongfully withheld money is payable on general/equitable principles as compensation to a party wrongfully deprived of the use of its money by illegal retention -- Petitioner held entitled to refund of the pre-deposit together with interest at the rate of 12% per annum, computed from three months after the date of the appellate order till the date of actual payment. (Paras 28-36)

Writ Petition Allowed -- Respondents directed to refund the entire amount refundable to the petitioner pursuant to the Commissioner (Appeals)'s order dated 29.08.2012, together with interest at the rate of 12% per annum computed from three months after the date of that order till actual payment -- Petitioner also held entitled to costs quantified at Rs. 50,000/-. (Delivered by Hon'ble Sudhir Agarwal, J.
Hon'ble Dr. Kaushal Jayendra Thaker, J.)

1. Heard Sri J.K. Mittal and Sri Chandra Kumar Rai, learned counsel for petitioner and Sri Krishna Agarwal, learned counsel for respondents.

2. This writ petition has been filed under Article 226 of Constitution of India seeking a writ of mandamus directing respondents to refund amount of excess paid 'Service Tax', by petitioner, and retained by respondents, unauthorizedly and illegally, along with interest at the rate specified under Section 11B read with Section 35F of Central Excise Act, 1944 (hereinafter referred to as 'Act, 1944').

3. The brief factual matrix giving rise to present dispute is that M/S EBIZ.COM PVT LTD (hereinafter referred to as 'Assessee') is engaged in business of developing and selling various online/off line educational software packages. It is also providing holiday accommodation booking packages. It is registered with Service Tax Department since 2001.

4. On 12.01.2007 an Anti-Evasion Branch of Central Excise Department, Noida headed by Deputy Commissioner (A.E.) conducted search in petitioner's premises and got deposited Service Tax of Rs. 25,55,000/-. Petitioner was also forced to pay interest of Rs. 2,59,000/- on 29.03.2007.

5. Thereafter a show cause notice dated 03.07.2007 was issued by Additional Commissioner Central Excise, Noida (hereinafter referred to as 'ACCE') demanding 'Service Tax' on handling charges. Assessment was finalized by ACCE vide order dated 31.12.2007 confirming payability of 'Service Tax' of Rs. 25,55,000/- and interest of Rs. 2,59,000/- under Section 75. It further imposed penalty under Section 76, 77 and 78 of Finance Act, 1994.

6. Petitioner on 02.02.2008 deposited an amount equivalent to 25% of penalty, imposed under Section 78 of Finance Act, 1994.

7. Against order dated 31.12.2007, petitioner preferred Appeal No. 99/CE/APPl/NOIDA/08 but same was dismissed by Commissioner (Appeals) vide order dated 29.08.2008. Thereafter, further Appeal No. ST/748/2008 was filed by petitioner before Central Excise Service Tax Appellate Tribunal (hereinafter referred to as 'Tribunal') which was allowed vide judgment and order dated 23.12.2012. Tribunal remitted matter back to Commissioner (Appeals) to rehear and decide.

8. Commissioner (Appeals), thereafter, vide order dated 29.08.2012, allowed appeal and set aside order dated 31.12.2007 whereby 'Service Tax' along with interest and penalty were imposed by ACCE. Order dated 29.08.2012 passed by Commissioner (Appeals) was communicated to Superintendent (Range-I) vide letters dated 02.04.2013, 06.06.2013 and 03.01.2014, requiring to refund entire amount deposited by petitioner under coercion exercised by respondents' authorities.

9. Despite personal visits, when petitioner did not receive any refund, he filed a refund claim on 27.01.2014 for Rs. 34,51,500/- in the office of Commissioner Central Excise, Customs and Service Tax, Noida (hereinafter referred to as 'Commissioner (CECST)'. Superintendent (Refund) Noida, wrote a letter dated 25.02.2014, requiring petitioner to submit some documents and also to file refund application in Form-R. No such form existed having been repealed long back. Other documents demanded were submitted by petitioner vide letter dated 25.02.2014. Petitioner sent reminder dated 25.03.2014 and reply dated 01.04.2014 to Superintendent (Refund) reminding that refund has to be granted within three months in terms of Board's Circular dated 08.12.2014.

10. Deputy Commissioner (Service Tax) issued a show cause notice dated 02.04.2014 requiring petitioner to show cause why refund claim be not rejected under Section 11B of Act, 1944 read with Section 83 of Finance Act, 1994 for the reason that refund claim ought to have been made within one year but not so made.

11. Petitioner then made a lot of correspondence with respondents. Further no any decision was taken by Deputy Commissioner (Service Tax) after serving notice which was duly replied by petitioner, hence this writ petition.

12. Respondents have filed a counter affidavit stating that petitioner paid 'Service Tax' voluntarily. It is also said that Section 11B of Act, 1944 would not be applicable since 'Service Tax' was deposited voluntarily and not under protest. It is also said that interest was also deposited by petitioner on his own since it was his legal obligation. Against Commissioner's order dated 29.08.2012, department reviewed matter and filed appeal before Tribunal which is pending. Since petitioner never filed any application for refund in accordance with Section 11B (3) of Act, 1944, hence respondents can not entertain any claim of refund, and, no refund claim of petitioner, in law, is pending with respondents. No refund is due, automatically. Moreover, order of Commissioner (Appeals), dated 29.08.2012, is not final since appeal is pending before Tribunal. Board's Circular dated 08.12.2014 deals with amount deposited under Section 35F while in the present case it is Section 11B which will be applicable. Since petitioner never filed application as prescribed under Section 11B, hence no mandamus for refund is permissible.

13. The issue is simple though sought to be made complex, and it is, "Whether petitioner is entitled for refund, and if yes, whether also entitled for interest thereon."

14. The undisputed facts are that show cause notice dated 03.07.2007 was issued to petitioner to show cause why "Service Tax" of Rs. 25,55,000/- for the period of July 2003 to January 2006 should not be recovered from him under Section 73(1) of Finance Act, 1994, under extended period of limitation. It was also stated that since this amount was already paid, same may be appropriated. Further, notice required to show cause why interest of Rs. 2,59,000/- as per Rule-6 of Service Tax Rules, 1994 read with Section 75 of Finance Act, 1994 may not be recovered from petitioner. Since it was already paid voluntarily, why the same should not be appropriated.

15. The facts stated by Revenue in notice dated 03.07.2007 that petitioner's deposit already made, why be not appropriated, shows that on that dated, Revenue was clear in its understanding that money lying with them does not belong to them, but they are, at the best, custodian and in fact money belong to petitioner. Till it is not appropriated, it was in the nature of deposit or predeposit. The Adjudicating Authority thereafter passed order confirming aforesaid demand and appropriating amount already deposited by petitioner towards 'Service Tax' and interest on 'Service Tax'. It is thus evident that petitioner had not deposited any 'Service Tax' or interest but deposit of Rs. 25,55,000/- and Rs. 2,59,000/- was in the nature of pre-deposit which, subsequently, after confirming demand, was appropriated by Adjudicating Authority.

16. Commissioner (Appeals) found that under Section 65 (105) (zzb) of Finance Act, 1994, taxable service under category of "Business Auxiliary Services" cover only service provided or to be provided to client, by any person in relation to "Business Auxiliary Services" as defined under Section 65 (19) of the Finance Act, 1994. After considering nature of business etc., it held that petitioner was not engaged in providing any service to client in any manner in terms of category defined under Section 65 (19) of Finance Act, 1994, hence not chargeable to 'Service Tax' under category of "Business Auxiliary Services" under Section 65(105) (zzb) and demand of 'Service Tax' along with interest and penalty was not justified. The demand of 'Service Tax' and interest and appropriation of amount already deposited, against such demand rendered illegal and without any authority of law.

17. Apparently, in view of aforesaid facts, it can not be said that Section 11B Central Excise Act, 1944 has no application in the case in hand. Section 11B Central Excise Act, 1944 reads as under:-

"Section 11B Claim for refund of duty.-

(1) Any person claiming refund of any duty of excise may make an application for refund of such duty to the Assistant Commissioner of Central Excise or Deputy Commissioner of Central Excise before the expiry of one year from the relevant date in such form and manner as may be prescribed and the application shall be accompanied by such documentary or other evidence including the documents referred to in section 12A as the applicant may furnish to

Provided that where an application for refund has been made before the commencement of the Central Excises and Customs Laws (Amendment) Act, 1991 (40 of 1991), such application shall be deemed to have been made under this sub-section as amended by the Act and the same shall be dealt with in accordance with the provisions of sub-section (2) as substituted by that Act:

Provided further that the limitation of one year shall not apply where any duty has been paid under protest.

(2) If, on receipt of any such application*, the Assistant Commissioner of Central Excise or Deputy Commissioner of Central* Excise is satisfied that the whole or any part of the duty of excise paid by the applicant is refundable*, he may make an order accordingly and the amount so determined* shall be credited to the Fund:

Provided that the amount of duty of excise as determined by the Assistant Commissioner of Central Excise or Deputy Commissioner of Central Excise under the foregoing provisions of this sub-section shall, instead of being credited to the Fund, be paid to the applicant, if such amount is relatable to--

(c) refund of credit of duty paid on excisable goods used as inputs in accordance with the rules made, or any notification issued, under this Act;

(d) the duty of excise paid by the manufacturer, if he had not passed on the incidence of such duty to any other person;

(e) the duty of excise borne by the buyer, if he had not passed on the incidence of such duty to any other person;

(f) the duty of excise borne by any other such class of applicants as the Central Government may, by notification in the Official Gazette, specify:

Provided further that no notification under clause (f) of the first proviso shall be issued unless in the opinion of the Central Government, the incidence of duty has not been passed on by the persons concerned to any other person.

(3) Notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained in any judgment, decree, order or direction of the Appellate Tribunal of any Court in any other provision of this Act or the rules made thereunder or any other law for the time being in force, no refund shall be made except as provided in sub-section (2).

(4) Every notification under clause (f) of the first proviso to sub-section (2) shall be laid before each House of Parliament, if it is sitting, as soon as may be after the issue of the notification, and, if it is not sitting, within seven days of its re-assembly, and the Central Government shall seek the approval of Parliament to the notification by a resolution moved within a period of fifteen days beginning with the day on which the notification is so laid before the House of the People and if Parliament makes any modification in the notification or directs that the notification should cease to have effect, the notification shall thereafter have effect only in such modified form or be of no effect, as the case may be, but without prejudice to the validity of anything previously done thereunder.

(5) For the removal of doubts, it is hereby declared that any notification issued under clause (f) of the first proviso to sub-section (2), including any such notification approved or modified under sub-section (4), may be rescinded by the Central Government at any time by notification in the Official Gazette."

18. It is urged that amount got deposited from petitioner under coercion, pursuant to search conducted on 12.01.2007, and retained by respondents subsequent appropriation is illegal jurisdiction. The same is liable to be refunded along with interest.

19. We have to examine, if there is any provision applicable to the facts of the case in dealing with the demand of petitioner for refund of the amount along with interest or whether in general law, petitioner can be held entitled to such relief.

20. If an amount is paid by an assessee, in duty of excise, pursuant to a liability created under a Statute or by statutory order, passed by competent authority, and such demand is later found illegal, Section 11 AB contemplates that amount received shall be refunded to assessee provided that the incidence of such duty had not been passed on by him to any other person.

21. In the present case, the amount in question, refund whereof is claimed, was not paid. It is not such amount of duty which was deposited by assessee. To check evasion of 'Excise duty' or 'Service Tax', raid was conducted on 12.01.2007, when during raid, sum of Rs. 25,55,000/- was got deposited. Amount of interest thereon was subsequently realized from petitioner on 29.03.2007 i.e. before issue of notice on 03.07.2007. Such deposit was involuntary by petitioner since no one shall deposit a huge money without creation of liability in law. Such an amount has been held to be a pre-deposit and principles of unjust enrichment has been held inapplicable in such cases.

22. In Commissioner of Central Excise, Coimbatore v. Pricol Ltd. 2015 (39) STR 190 (Mad.) of Division Bench of Madras High Court had an occasion to look into a similar dispute. Therein also payment was made during investigation by assessee. Subsequently, show cause notice was issued and Assessing Officer passed order adjudicating liability of Central Excise and amount deposited by Assessee was appropriated against such determined liability. Subsequently, in appeal, assessment order was set aside and question of refund arose. An argument was raised that unless Assessee prove that he has not passed on incidence of duty to any other person, refund cannot be allowed. Court held, it is not a case of refund of duty but return of pre-deposit made by Assessee at the time of investigation under protest. Similarly in the present case, as is evident from the records, it is not a case of refund of duty. It is a pre-deposit made under protest at the time of investigation, as has been recorded in original proceedings itself. Court has said as under:-

" There are also very many judgments of various Courts, which have also reiterated the same principles that in case any amount is deposited during the pendency of adjudication proceedings or investigation, the said amount would be in the nature of deposit under protest and, therefore, the principles of unjust enrichment would not apply. In view of the catena of decisions, available on this issue, this Court answers the first substantial question of law against the Revenue and in favour of the assessee."

23. It has been consistent view various Courts that any amount, deposited during pendency of adjudication proceedings or investigation is in the nature of deposit made under protest or pre-deposit and, therefore, principles of unjust enrichment would not be attracted.

24. Madras High Court in Commissioner of Central Excise v. Pricol Ltd. (supra) relied on a Bombay High Court judgment in Suvidhe Ltd. v. Union of India - 1996 (82) E.L.T. 177 (Bom.); Gujarat High Court judgments in Commissioner of Customs v. Mahalaxmi Exports - 2010 (258) E.L.T. 217; Parle Internation Ltd. v. Union of India - 2001 (127) E.L.T. 329 (Guj.) and this Court's judgment in Summerking Electricals (P) Ltd. v. CEGAT - 1998 (102) E.L.T. 522 (All.).

25. Against the judgment of Bombay High Court in Suvidhe Ltd. (supra), Revenue preferred an appeal before Supreme Court but High Court's view was maintained. The said judgment is reported in Union of India v. Suvidhe Ltd. - 1997 (94) E.L.T. A159 (S.C.).

26. We are also informed that following the judgment in Suvidhe Ltd. (supra), Central Board of Excise and Customs (hereinafter referred to as 'CBEC') issued Circular No. 275/37/2K-CX.8A dated 02.01.2002 providing as under:-

"2. It would be pertinent to mention that the Revenue had recently filed a Special Leave Petition against Mumbai High Court's order in the matter of NELCO LTD, challenging the grant of interest on delayed refund of pre-deposit as to whether:

(i) the High Court is right in granting interest to the depositor since the law contained in Section 35F of the Act does in no way provide for any type of compensation in the event of an appellant finally succeeding in the appeal, and,

(ii) the refunds so claimed are covered under the provisions of Section 11B of the Act and are governed by the parameters applicable to the claim of refund of duty as the amount is deposited under Section 35F of the Central Excise Act, 1944.

The Hon'ble Supreme Court vide its order dated 26.11.2001 dismissed the appeal. Even though the Apex Court did not spell out the reasons for dismissal*, it can well be constructed in the light of its earlier judgment in the case of Suvidhe Ltd. And Mahavir Aluminium that the law relating to refund of pre-deposit has become final.*

3. In order to attain uniformity and to regulate such refunds it is clarified that refund applications under Section 11B(1) of the Central Excise Act, 1944 or under Section 27(1) of the Customs Act, 1962 need not be insisted upon. A simple letter from the person who has made such deposit, requesting the return of the amount, along with an attested Xerox copy of the order-in-appeal or CEGAT order consequent to which the deposit made becomes returnable and an attested Xerox copy of the Challan in Form TR6 evidencing the payment of the amount of such deposit, addressed to the concerned Assistant/Deputy Commissioner of Central Excise or Customs, as the case may be, will suffice for the purpose. All pending refund applications already made under the relevant provisions of the Indirect Tax Enactments for return of such deposits and which are pending with the authorities will also be treated as simple letters asking for return of the deposits, and will be processed as such. Similarly, bank guarantees executed in lieu of cash deposits shall also be returned."

27. Circular dated 02.01.2002 has been modified by subsequent Circular dated 20.06.2003 to the following effect:-

"It has been brought to the notice of the Board that the wordings in para 4 of the Circular, namely, "any deviation and resultant liability to interest on delayed refunds shall be viewed strictly" convey the impression that interest is liable to be granted for refund of pre-deposits even when there is no corresponding provision in the Central Excise Act, 1944. The mater has been examined and the sentence is re-worded as under:-

"Any deviation from the procedure explained hereinabove shall be viewed strictly."

28. There is one more Circular No. 802/35/2004-CX dated 08.12.2004 which provides that against an order whereunder refund is admissible to an assessee with regard to the pre-deposit, if an appeal is pending, that shall not be taken as justification for denying refund.

29. The question of interest on delayed deposit or refund pre-deposit came to be considered by Supreme Court in Commissioner of Central Excise, Hyderabad v. I.T.C. LTD. 2005 (179) E.L.T. 15 (S.C.). A statement was made on behalf of the Central Board of Excise and Customs by the Solicitor General of India that Board proposes to issue a circular in connection with the payment on all such pre-deposits. A draft copy of the circular was also handed over to the Supreme Court. In view thereof, Supreme Court decided the appeal holding as under:-

"Having regard to the contents of the draft circular we direct compliance with the final order impugned before us and payment of interest in terms of the draft circular. The draft circular shall be appended to and the contents form part of this order. The appeal is disposed of. In view of this order any judgment of any High Court holding to the contrary will no longer be good law."

30. Supreme Court in the aforesaid order allowed interest at the rate of 12% per annum.

31. Then we come on the question of interest on refund. In this regard, we find that a Division Bench of Delhi High Court in Surinder Singh v. Union of India 2006 (204) E.L.T. 534 (Del.) relying on Supreme Court judgment in Prince Khadi Woollen Handloom Producers Co-operative Society v. CCE 1996 (88) E.L.T. 637 (SC), said that State, if has wrongly collected a tax from a person, and, even if there is no specific provision, still is liable to refund tax along with interest. Similar view was taken in Kuil Fireworks v. CCE 1997 (95) E.L.T. 3 (SC) and CCE Hyderabad v. ITC 2005 (179) E.L.T. 15 (SC).

32. Recently also in Union of India v. TATA SSL Ltd. 2007 (218) E.L.T. (493), Court held that pre-deposit is refundable along with interest and for that purpose, relied on its decision in Commissioner of Central Excise, Hyderabad v. I.T.C. Ltd. (Supra) and Central Board of Excise and Customs' Circular dated 08.12.2004.

33. In a recent judgment of Gujarat High Court in Hindustan Coca-Cola Beverages Pvt. Ltd. v. UOI 2015 (324) E.L.T. 299 (Guj.), an argument was raised, if there is no provision for payment of interest, the same shall not be payable. Court in para 5.4 and 6 said as under:-

"5.4 The contention to the effect that no interest is payable because there is no provision of interest under the scheme of the Act is also thoroughly misconceived and misplaced. When the Department acts illegally and not as per the scheme of the Act, the interest on such refund can never be provided for under the Scheme of the Act. If the authorities act as per the law, the question of granting interest on refund can be appreciated and considered as per the scheme of the Act.

6. Learned Senior Advocate for the petitioner cited various judgments in support of his contention that even in absence of any statutory provision, interest on refund is automatic and has to be granted on commercial principles. The Court finds force in the contentions of the learned Senior Advocate for the petitioner*. The learned counsel has placed reliance on the decision of the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Sandvik Asia Ltd. v. Commissioner of Income-tax, Pune (supra), wherein the Hon'ble Apex Court* even while finding that there was no statutory provision to pay interest on delayed payment of interest, held the assessee entitled to the same on general principles and found that the assessee would be entitled to be compensated by way of interest on interest. It was further pointed out by the learned Senior Advocate for the petitioner that the decision of the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the Sandvik Asia Ltd. v. Commissioner of Income-tax, Pune (supra), has been referred to a Larger Bench in the case of Commissioner of Income-tax, Gujarat v. Gujarat Flouro Chemicals, (2012) ITR 319 (SC). The said decision is neither stayed nor suspended and therefore, continues to hold the field. Moreover, the said decision is doubted with respect to the issue whether interest is payable by the Revenue to the assessee if the aggregate of installments of Advance tax/TDS paid exceeds the assessed tax. Therefore, a doubt is cast only in respect of the finding which is in context with Section 214 and Section 244 of the Income-tax Act, 1961 and not with regard to grant of interest as compensation to the party who has been wrongfully deprived of the use of its money by an illegal retention of the same by the authority. Therefore, the said decision will continue to hold good in respect of refund cases, on equitable considerations, where any amount is wrongfully withheld from an assessee without authority of law."

34. We may also refer hereon a Division Bench judgment of Karnataka High Court in Commissioner of Central Excise v. KVR Construction 2012 (50) VST 469, wherein construing Section 11B, Court said that it refer to claim for refund of duty of excise only and does not refers to any other amount collected without authority of law. That was a case of 'Service Tax' and Court said as under:-

"Though under Finance Act, 1994 such service tax was payable by virtue of notification, they were not liable to pay, as there was exemption to pay such tax because of the nature of the institution for which they have made construction and rendered services. In other words, if the respondent had not paid those amounts, the authority could not have demanded the petitioner to make such payment. In other words, authority lacked authority to leavey and collect such service tax. In case, the department were to demand such payments, petitioner could have challenged it as unconstitutional and without authority of law. If we look at the converse, we find mere payment of amount, would not authorize the department to regularize such payment. When once the department had no authority to demand service tax from the respondent because of its circular dated 17.09.2004, the payment made by the respondent company would not partake the character of "service tax" liable to be paid by them. Therefore, mere payment made by the respondent will neither validate the nature of payment nor the nature of transaction. In other words, mere payment of amount would not make it a "service tax" payable by them. When once there is lack of authority to demand "service tax" from the respondent company, the department lacks authority to levey and collect such amount. Therefore, it would go beyond their purview to collect such amount. When once there is lack of authority to collect such service tax by the appellant, it would not give them the authority to retain the amount paid by the petitioner, which was initially not payable by them*. Therefore, mere nomenclature will not be an embargo on the right of the petitioner to demand refund of payment made by them under mistaken notion."*

35. The consensus of the authorities of various High Courts as well as Supreme Court is that any amount received by Revenue, as deposit or pre-deposit i.e. unauthorizedly or under mistaken notion etc., cannot be retained by Revenue since it has no authority in law to retain such amount and it must be refunded with interest.

36. In view of above, we allow the writ petition directing the respondents to refund the entire amount refundable to the petitioner as a result of Commissioner's order dated 29.08.2012 with interest at the rate of 12% per annum, which shall be computed from the date, after three months of passing of order by Commissioner, till the amount is actually paid.

37. Petitioner shall also be entitled to cost which is quantified to Rs. 50,000/-.

Central Excise Act, 1944 -- Section 11BB -- Interest on delayed refund of excise duty -- Classification dispute -- Refund following Tribunal's finding that product not classifiable under disputed Heading -- Assessee's application for refund rejected on one pretext or the other over several rounds of litigation, culminating in refund being allowed after over fourteen years but without interest -- Whether Assessee entitled to interest under Section 11BB for the entire period of delay reckoned from three months after filing of refund application, notwithstanding that intervening orders rejecting/allowing refund were themselves set aside in appeal -- Held: Interest under Section 11BB becomes payable on expiry of three months from the date of receipt of the application for refund under Section 11B(1), and this liability is not deferred merely because the Revenue passed erroneous orders which were subsequently held illegal by the Tribunal and the High Court -- The date of the final order allowing refund is not relevant for computing interest; what matters is the date of the refund application -- No person can take advantage of his own wrong, and Revenue authorities who wrongfully retained the Assessee's money through illegal orders cannot escape liability to pay interest for the entire period of delay -- Petitioner held entitled to interest under Section 11BB from three months after the date of the refund application till the date of actual payment, together with costs. (Paras 5-15)

Writ Petition Partly Allowed -- Respondents directed to pay interest on the refunded amount for the period the refund was delayed, computed from three months after the date of the refund application till the amount was actually paid -- Petitioner also held entitled to costs quantified at Rs. 25,000/-. (Delivered by Hon'ble Sudhir Agarwal, J.
Hon'ble Dr. Kaushal Jayendra Thaker, J.)

1. Heard Sri Nishant Mishra and Sri M.P. Devnath, learned counsels for petitioner and perused the record.

2. Question of classification of petitioner's product 'Gulabari' and rate of tax was in dispute between petitioner and Central Excise Department which was finalised by Customs, Excise and Gold (Control) Appellate Tribunal, New Delhi vide judgment dated 14.01.2000, holding that product 'Gulabari' is not classified under Heading 33.03 of the First Schedule to Central Excise Tariff Act, 1985 (hereinafter referred to as 'Act 1985').

3. It is not disputed that in the meantime when such dispute was pending, Excise Authorities insisted upon petitioner to deposit excise duty by treating aforesaid product under classifiable Heading 33.03 and as a result whereof a total sum of Rs. 1,14,78,517/- was deposited by petitioner.

4. Once matter was decided by Tribunal and judgment attained finality, petitioner became entitled for refund. Hence application for refund was submitted by petitioner in prescribed proforma on 08.03.2000. The said application was rejected by Central Excise Authority and that matter went up to Customs, Excise & Service Tax Appellate Tribunal, New Delhi who allowed appeal of petitioner vide order dated 10.10.2003 and thereafter Assistant Commissioner passed another order dated 20.01.2006 holding that though petitioner was entitled for refund but the same shall not be refunded for the reason that it is hit by clause of unjust enrichment. This order of Assistant Commissioner dated 20.01.2006 was confirmed by Commissioner (Appeal) whereagainst petitioner went to Tribunal who decided in favour of petitioner vide judgment dated 10.04.2008 and appeal preferred by Revenue was also dismissed by this Court vide judgment reported in 2014 (304) ELT 321 (All). It is only then, Assistant Commissioner passed order dated 17.07.2014 allowing refund but rejecting claim to pay interest on aforesaid amount.

5. Counsel for petitioner submitted that under Section 11BB of Central Excise Act, 1944 (hereinafter referred to as 'Act 1944'), any duty ordered to be refunded to any applicant, if not refunded within three months from the date of receipt of application, Assessee shall be entitled for interest on such rate not below ten percent and not exceeding thirty percent on the delayed amount.

6. In the present case, refund became due to petitioner after the matter was decided by Tribunal on 14.01.2000 whereupon an application was also submitted by petitioner on 08.03.2000 but for one or other reason, incorrect and illegal orders were passed by Revenue authority and could not defeat in even up to this Court, yet amount was refunded only in 20.01.2006 and that too without any interest.

7. Facts detailed above evidently show that respondent authorities were adamant in retaining huge money legally refundable to petitioner for one or the other reason which could not withstand when tested in Court i.e. Tribunal and this Court. Now respondents are trying to deprive petitioner, benefit of interest though respondents themselves were guilty by not refunding amount in due time and also withheld the same without any authority of law. In other words, here is a case, where respondents deprive petitioner of his property in a manner which was not permissible in law. Once it was held by Tribunal, vide judgment and order dated 14.01.2000 that product "Gulabari' was not classifiable under the Heading 33.03 of the First Schedule of Act 1985. Pursuant thereto petitioner submitted application for refund in prescribed form but the Revenue authorities again relying on Heading 33.03 rejected claim for refund and again lost before Tribunal who held vide order dated 10.10.2003 that once an issue was already decided by it, it was not open to departmental authorities to sit in appeal and reiterate their view which has not been found correct by Tribunal in its order dated 14.01.2000. Respondents therefore, had no authority in law to retain the amount realised from petitioner on and after the judgment dated 14.01.2000 passed by Tribunal and non refund thereof despite of application filed by petitioner in prescribed form under Section 11BB renders them liable to pay interest on refundable amount.

8. It is well established that no person can take advantage of his own fault.

9. In the present case, we find that respondents have retained huge money of petitioner without any authority of law and for their own fault are penalising the petitioner by denying due interest on the amount refundable to petitioner.

10. In M.D., H.S.I.D.C. and Ors. vs. Hari Om Enterprises and Another, 2009 (16) SCC 208, Court said "party cannot take advantage of its own wrong". Same view was taken in Badri Kedar Paper Pvt. Ltd. vs. U.P. Electricity Regulatory Commn. and others, 2009 (3) SCC 754 and National Highways Authority of India and Anr. vs. Bumihiway DDB Ltd. (JV) and others, 2006 (10) SCC 763 and India Household and Healthcase Ltd. Vs LG Household and Healthcare Ltd., 2007 (5) SCC 510.

11. There is another aspect of matter, application for refund was filed by petitioner on 08.03.2000. Under Section 11 BB it is provided that if the authority is satisfied that an amount is to be refunded to Assessee but the same has not been refunded within three months from the date of filing of application, Assessee would be entitled for interest. Order passed by Revenue authority under Section 11B(2) for refund is not relevant for the purpose of attracting interest under Section 11BB but what is said that once refund is found admissible, Assessee if has not been refunded the amount within three months from the date of receipt of application under sub Section (1), he shall be paid interest. Meaning that there is no time limit prescribed for taking a decision about refund but that law makes it very clear that amount if not refunded within three months from the date of receipt of application, interest shall be payable.

12. In our view, even if an order has been passed much later on, for the purpose of interest it will relate back and Assessee would be entitled for interest after three months from the date he has filed application under Section 11B.

13. In Ranbaxy Laboratories Ltd vs Union Of India & others, 2011 (10) SCC 292 construing Section 11BB Court has said "interest under Section 11BB of Act becomes payable, if on an expiry of a period of three months from the date of receipt of the application for refund, the amount claimed is still not refunded. Thus, the only interpretation of Section 11BB that can be arrived at is that interest under the said Section becomes payable on the expiry of a period of three months from the date of receipt of the application under Sub-section (1) of Section 11b of the Act and that the said Explanation does not have any bearing or connection with the date from which interest under Section 11BB of the Act becomes payable."

14. Recently, in Union of India (UOI) and others Vs. Hamdard (Waqf) Laboratories, AIR 2016 SC 1124 Court held "...our answer to the question formulated in para (1) supra is that the liability of the revenue to pay interest Under Section 11BB of the Act commences from the date of expiry of three months from the date of receipt of application for refund Under Section 11B(1) of the Act and not on the expiry of the said period from the date on which order of refund is made."

15. Considering aforesaid exposition of law and factum that after the judgment of Tribunal dated 14.01.2000 petitioner was entitled for refund and he had also submitted application on 08.03.2000, pursuant whereto refund was not made within three months. In our view, petitioner would be entitled for interest under Section 11BB of Act 1944, after three months from the date of representation till the amount of refund actually paid.

16. In the result, writ petition is partly allowed. Respondents are directed to pay interest on the refunded amount for the period refund was delayed after three months from the date of application till it is actually paid.

17. Petitioner shall also be entitled to cost which we quantify to Rs. 25,000/-.

Criminal Appeal No.- 970 Of 1983

Murari ...Appellant
Versus
State Of U.P. ...Respondent

Counsel for Appellant:
Sri S.P. Tewari, Sri Ajay Dubey, Ms. Kamini Pandey, Sri P.N. Mishra

Counsel for Respondent:
A.G.A., Sri Satya Prakash

Criminal Procedure -- Section 396 I.P.C. -- Dacoity -- Murder During Dacoity -- F.I.R. Silent on Names of Accused -- 20-21 dacoits raided the houses of P.W.1 and P.W.2 at night, during which the son of P.W.1 was shot dead and the son of P.W.2 was assaulted -- F.I.R. lodged about 7-8 hours later by a neighbour, P.W.3, did not name a single accused though several perpetrators were subsequently claimed to have been recognised by P.W.1, P.W.2, P.W.4 and P.W.5 -- appellants Murari, Jeevan, Hema and (late) Shyama convicted under Section 396 I.P.C. and sentenced to life imprisonment. (Paras 1-9)

Evidence -- Recognition of Accused Confined to Persons with Whom Witnesses Had Prior Inimical Relationship -- Concealment of Faces by Dacoits -- Held: all the eye-witnesses admitted that the dacoits had covered their faces with scarves, yet each claimed to have recognised precisely those persons with whom they, or their family, had a pre-existing property or marital dispute -- explanations offered for such selective recognition, including that faces were open only from the front, are inherently improbable -- where witnesses concede concealment of identity by the accused and yet claim recognition confined to persons against whom they harbour ill-will, such testimony must be viewed with grave suspicion. (Paras 10-14, 21-26)

Evidence -- Non-Examination of Independent Witnesses Named as Present at the Spot -- Adverse Inference -- Held: numerous persons, armed with lathis and firearms, were named by the prosecution witnesses themselves as having gathered at the spot and even repelled the dacoits by retaliatory fire, yet not a single one of them was produced by the prosecution -- the only independent witness who lodged the F.I.R. specifically disowned recognition of any accused -- withholding of such independent testimony, coupled with absence of any recovery from the appellants and absence of any criminal history, renders the prosecution version doubtful. (Para 27)

Evidence -- Plea of Alibi -- Corroboration by Independent Defence Witness -- Standard of Appraisal -- Held: evidence of prosecution and defence witnesses must be appraised on the same yardstick of credibility and truthfulness, and defence evidence cannot be discarded merely because it is led by the defence -- plea of alibi of appellant Jeevan, supported by the testimony of an independent Mess Commander and contemporaneous mess records showing his presence at a distant Army establishment on the date of occurrence, found credible and not liable to be discarded. (Paras 29-30)

Criminal Appeal Allowed -- Judgment and order dated 20.4.1983 passed by the Special Sessions Judge, Dacoity Affected Area, Agra in Sessions Trial No. 22 of 1982, arising out of Crime No. 17 of 1982, Police Station Achnera, District Agra, convicting and sentencing appellants Murari, Jeevan and Hema under Section 396 I.P.C. to life imprisonment, set aside -- appellants acquitted, bail bonds cancelled and sureties discharged, appellants to be released forthwith if not wanted in any other case. (Paras 31-33)

(Delivered By Hon'ble Bharat Bhushan, J.)

1. Appellants, Murari, Jeevan, Hema and late Shyama were charged under Section 396 of Indian Penal Code (in short I.P.C.) on 31.5.1982 by the court of Special Judge constituted under U.P. Dacoity Affected Area Act 1983 (in short Dacoity Act).

2. Appellant Shyama died during course of trial, therefore, his trial stood abated. Remaining three appellants, namely, Murari, Jeevan and Hema were convicted under Section 396 I.P.C. and sentenced to undergo imprisonment for life vide judgment and order dated 20.4.1983 passed in S.T. No.22 of 1982 arising out of Crime No.17 of 1982 (State Vs. Murari and others) Police Station(P.S.) Achnera, District Agra.

3. Brief facts giving rise to this appeal are, that between the night of 22/23.1.1982 around 11 pm. in village Nagar, P.S. Achnera, Bhoop Singh (P.W. 2) was having conversation with his brother Preetam Singh in the verandah of his house after coming back from their agriculture field. His son Bahadur Singh (P.W. 4) was sleeping inside the room. Suddenly, some 20-21 dacoits entered his house after breaking the door of his house. The dacoits picked up the double barrel gun of Bhoop Singh (P.W.2) and commenced the dacoity. Bahadur Singh (P.W.4) got awakened, picked up a lathi and assaulted one dacoit. The dacoit, who lost his riffle in this attack, got infuriated. The dacoits grabbed Bahadur Singh (P.W. 4), took him to gallery and hit him with lathies and butt of guns. The light of lantern was available in the verandah. Dacoits were using flashlights also. Miscreants were armed with various kinds of fire arm weapons, though one or two dacoits were only using lathies. It is said that dacoits plundered the house of Bhoop Singh (P.W.2) and Preetam Singh for almost half an hour and thereafter ransacked the residence of Vijay Singh (P.W. 1). Virendra Singh son of Vijay Singh was busy in studies in his room but Vijay Singh's nephew Ram Bhajan (P.W. 5) and his brother-in-law Nihal Singh got awakened after hearing the noise of fire arm weapons. Deceased Virendra Singh son of P.W. 1 Vijay Singh fought with dacoits and allegedly shouted that he had recognized accused/appellant Hema. He is said to have grabbed the appellant Hema, whereupon another dacoit, namely, appellant Murari shot Virendra Singh from very close quarters and killed him.

4. Vijay Singh (P.W. 1) claims to have recognized accused appellants Hema, Murari, Jeevan, late Shyama his sons Kartar and Randheer. He also sighted other dacoits but could not recognize them. The dacoits pillaged the residence of Vijay Singh for almost forty five minutes and thereafter left.

5. Core of prosecution story is that the dacoity was committed at the residence of P.W. 1 Vijay Singh and P.W. 2 Bhoop Singh wherein Virendra Singh son of Vijay Singh was killed and Bahadur Singh (P.W. 4) son of P.W. 2 Bhoop Singh was severely wounded. The prosecution has claimed that Vijay Singh (P.W. 1) had recognized appellant Murari, Hema, Jeewan, late Shyama, his sons Kartar and Randheer while Bhoop Singh (P.W. 2) was also able to recognize appellants Murari, Jeevan, Hema and three others, namely, late Shyama, his sons Randheer and Kartar. A first information report (F.I.R.) (Exh. Ka-4) was lodged by one Hitler Singh (P.W. 3) resident of same village Nagar without naming any accused. This report was lodged in morning at 7 am. at P.S. Achnera, District Agra. The distance between the police station Achnera and village Nagar is said to be seven miles as per chick report (Exh. Ka-5). Subsequent to lodging of F.I.R., investigation was conducted by P.W. 7 H.K. Vashishtha, the then Station House Officer (S.H.O.), P.S. Achnera. He rushed to the place of occurrence, recorded the statements of various witnesses, prepared site plan, took samples of blood stained earth and simple earth and thereafter submitted charge-sheet (Exh.Ka-16) against the appellants Hema, Jeevan, Murari and late Shyama.

6. The trial Judge framed charges against appellants Murari, Jeevan and Hema along with late Shyama under Section 396 I.P.C. Appellants pleaded not guilty and desired to be tried. During course of trial as many as 7 witnesses were produced by prosecution. Vijay Singh father of deceased Virendra Singh gave his evidence as P.W. 1. Bhoop Singh father of injured Bahadur Singh as P.W.2, Hitler Singh, informant as P.W. 3, Bahadur Singh as P.W. 4, Ram Bhajan eye witness as P.W. 5, constable Kashmir Singh as P.W. 6 and H.K. Vashishtha the then S.H.O., P.S. Achnera as P.W. 7. The statements of appellants were recorded under Section 313 Cr.P.C. wherein they denied all allegations. Defence also produced Ram Vilas Singh, the then Mess Commander, Armoured division Head quarter Squadron, Ambala as D.W. 1 for supporting the plea of alibi raised on behalf of appellant Jewan. As stated earlier, Shyama died during trial, therefore, the criminal proceedings against late Shyama stood abated. The trial court found three appellants, namely, Murari, Jeevan and Hema guilty of offence under Section 396 I.P.C. They were sentenced to undergo an imprisonment for life. This judgment is under challenge before this Court.

7. Heard Sri S.P. Tewari learned counsel for appellants and learned A.G.A. on behalf of State.

8. Before embarking to analyze the prosecution evidence, it would be appropriate to refer briefly the content of evidence available on record.

9. F.I.R. (Exh.Ka-4) was lodged by P.W. 3 Hitler Singh, admittedly neighbour of victims of dacoity, namely, P.W. 1 Vijay Singh and P.W. 2 Bhoop Singh. Incidentally appellants Murari and Jeevan also belong to the same village Nagar. It is admitted by P.W. 1 Vijay Singh that only 5-6 houses situate between his house and residence of appellant Murari. Similarly Jeevan also lives in the neighbourhood. Hema is admittedly related to appellant Murari and had in fact received his initial education in the same village. Admittedly, he was known to village folks and certainly to P.W. 1 Vijay Singh. However, F.I.R. does not contain the names of any accused. Though presence of several witnesses, namely, Preetam Singh, Nawab Singh, Gyasi, Fauran Singh, Kashmir Singh, Kirodi, Bhagwan Singh, Sonveer and Atar Singh have been mentioned in F.I.R.

10. P.W. 1 Vijay Singh is the father of deceased Virendra Singh. He could not lodge the F.I.R. though he has deposed about the incident in detail. He has testified that in the night of occurrence, he was sleeping in his room along with his nephew Ram Bhajan and his brother-in-law Nihal Singh. His deceased son Virendra Singh was reading in the same room. All of them got awakened on hearing the noise of fire arm weapons. The dacoits entered into his house by using staircase. This witness could perceive that the house of P.W. 2 Bhoop Singh had also been robbed. His son Virendra Singh entered into scuffle with one desperado and allegedly shouted that he had recognized the appellant Hema. He is said to have also caught appellant Hema but allegation is that appellant Murari put the gun at Virendra Singh's body and shot him. House was robbed by dacoits who were 20-21 in number. But P.W. 1 claims to have recognized only appellant Hema, Murari, Jeevan and three others, namely, late Shyama, his sons Kartar and Randheer. He has also claimed that he would be able to recognize other accused persons as well, if produced before him. He has testified that Bahadur Singh (P.W.4) son of Bhoop Singh (P.W.2) was also hurt in the same incident. He was beaten by butt of fire arms and Pharsa (axe). It is claimed that several villagers, namely, Preetam Singh, Nawab Singh, Gyasi, Fauran Singh, Kashmir Singh and Kirodi etc. arrived on the spot. Some of them were armed with lathies and some of them were armed with firearm weapon and that; these witnesses opened retaliatory fire upon miscreants. Accused/appellants and their cohorts, therefore, left the village with looted goods. It is pertinent to point out that this witness initially claimed that miscreants had concealed their identity by covering their faces but still he was able to recognize appellants. The testimony of P.W. 1 Vijay Singh indicates that he had prior inimical relationship with appellant Murari on account of his stated failure to recover the loaned money from Murari.

11. P.W. 2 Bhoop Singh has also testified in the similar vein. He has stated that miscreants had covered their faces. However, he could manage to recognize appellants Murari, Jeevan and Hema as well as other accused, namely late Shyama and his sons Randheer and Kartar. P.W. 2 Bhoop Singh has said that 20-21 dacoits entered into his house and looted him for almost half an hour. Lantern was burning in his house. Dacoits were also flashing torches. He also claimed that he would be able to recognize other miscreants as well, if produced before him. This witness has stated that Leela, Bachchu and Mukhtar had arrived in the aftermath of dacoity. He has also conceded that there was some prior tension between him and late appellant Shyama on account of refusal of Shyama to marry his daughter to Bahadur Singh (P.W. 4) son of Bhoop Singh even after engagement. This witness has also stated that his son Bahadur Singh (P.W. 4) was severely beaten by dacoits though no medical report of Bahadur Singh has been placed or proved by prosecution.

12. P.W.3 Hitler Singh, neighbour of P.W. 1 Vijay Singh, lodged the F.I.R. He has reinforced the contention of prosecution that some 20-21 dacoits first marauded the house of P.W. 2 Bhoop Singh and thereafter robbed P.W. 1 Vijay Singh. He has reiterated that P.W. 4 Bahadur son of P.W. 2 Bhoop Singh was beaten by lathies and Farsa (axe) by dacoits. Miscreants also snatched the double barrel gun of Bhoop Singh (P.W. 2) while Virendra Singh son of P.W. 1 Vijay Singh was murdered. But this witness has not named any miscreant. He has specifically asserted that he did not recognize even a single perpetrator of crime. He has denied the claim of other witnesses that any shouts were made by anyone regarding stated recognition of late appellant Shyama, his sons Randhir and Kartar and appellant Hema etc. He has denied that any accused was recognized by any village folk.

13. P.W. 4 Bahadur Singh is an injured witness. He has supported the prosecution version saying that 20-21 miscreants robbed his house and thereafter plundered the house of P.W. 1 Vijay Singh. He has stated that he was beaten in the same episode. He claimed to have recognized the appellants Jeevan, Murari, Hema, late Shyama and his sons Kartar and Randhir. Interestingly, this witness has also said that dacoits had concealed their faces by employing the scarves across their faces, though he has also said that during marpeet the cloths covering their faces fell down. Interestingly, he has not specified whether the coverings across the face of all dacoits fell away or only some of dacoits failed to conceal their identities properly. This witness has also admitted that his marriage was fixed with daughter of late appellant Shyama and that; engagement was done and later on it was broken and that; buffalo calf was given by Shyama to P.W. 2 Bhoop Singh (his father) on account of this engagement which was not returned by his father Bhoop Singh saying that he had spent money in the maintenance of buffalo calf.

14. Fifteen years old Ram Bhajan (P.W. 5) is nephew of P.W. 1 Vijay Singh. He was sleeping with his uncle in the same room at the time of incident. He has said that 20-21 dacoits entered their residence and that; one dacoit, namely, appellant Hema was caught by his deceased brother Virendra Singh and that; appellant Murari killed his brother. He claims to have recognized appellant Murari and Hema in the light generated by flashlights and lantern. Interestingly, this witness has also conceded that appellants Murari and Jeevan had covered their faces with the piece of cloth though they fastened it around the head but their faces were open from the front.

15. P.W. 6 Kashmir Singh is formal witness who had recorded the F.I.R. on 23.1.1982 at 7 am. of Hitler Singh and carved out a chick report (Exh. Ka-5) and made relevant entry in G.D. no. 8 (general diary) proved as Exh. Ka-6.

16. P.W. 7 the then S.H.O. Sri H.K. Vashishtha investigated this case. He has given the details of investigation, though he has conceded that several claims made by witnesses during their deposition were infact not made to him during investigation.

17. Learned counsel for appellant has argued that the names of accused were not mentioned in the F.I.R. despite the fact that report was lodged after 7-8 hours by neighbours of P.W 1 Vijay Singh and P.W. 2 Bhoop Singh and that; evidence discloses that accused persons had concealed their faces from scarf and yet prosecution witnesses managed to identify only those people with whom they had inimical relationship. Submission is that medical report of Bahadur Singh (P.W. 4) has not been placed on record. It is also argued that a hand of appellant Jeevan got crippled prior to this incident and that it was not possible to him to participate in crime of this magnitude with his lame hand. It is further submitted that no recovery of any kind was made from any accused named during course of investigation and that; appellants have no criminal history. It is further submitted that it is inconceivable that the residents of same village would commit offence of this magnitude without effectively concealing their identity.

18. Per contra learned A.G.A. has submitted that the incident occurred in the night and that; appellant had been recognized during the course of dacoity. The learned A.G.A. has submitted that it depends on the personal courage of accused whether they would hide their identity or not and merely because miscreants had not covered their faces effectively or hidden their identities efficiently, the prosecution case cannot be disbelieved.

19. As far as factum of dacoity is concerned, it admits of no doubt. We believe that dacoity indeed took place in the houses of P.W. 1 Vijay Singh and P.W. 2 Bhoop Singh. During course of this dacoity, Virendra Singh son of Vijay Singh (P.W. 1) lost his life. P.W. 2 Bhoop Singh claims that his son Bahadur Singh (P.W. 4) was also severely injured in this alleged dacoity. P.W. 4 Bahadur Singh himself has reiterated the allegation that he was beaten by miscreants with the butt of fire arm weapons etc and that; he was injured in the same episode. But the medical report of Bahadur Singh has not been placed on record to substantiate the claim of injuries. P.W. 2 Bhoop Singh claims that he did not file F.I.R. as he was busy in taking his son Bahadur Singh (P.W. 4) to the hospital. He has admitted that Bahadur Singh (P.W. 4) was indeed taken to the hospital. Unfortunately, the medical reports of Bahadur Singh or the documents prepared during the stated treatment of Bahadur Singh have not been placed on record thereby giving the legitimate opportunity to the appellants for disputing the factum of injuries on the person of P.W. 4 Bahadur Singh. It has also given opportunity to the appellants to claim that Bahadur Singh was not present on the spot otherwise, his medical report would have been placed on record.

20. But considering the fact that Virendra Singh, son of P.W. 1 Vijay Singh lost his life in this episode and that; incident of dacoity was seen by several persons and four witnesses of fact have supported the claim of dacoity, we believe that there is no dispute as far as factum of dacoity is concerned. Even the appellants have not challenged the factum of dacoity per se.

21. The only question that falls for consideration is whether or not appellants participated in the crime. P.W. 1 Vijay Singh has stated that as many as 20-21 people committed the stated dacoity out of which he could recognize the appellants Hema, Murari, Jeevan and late Shyama and his sons Kartar and Randheer. Four persons, namely, Hema, Murari, Jeevan and late Shyama were prosecuted in the instant case. P.W. 2 Bhoop Singh has also taken the same names. These names were repeated by P.W. 4 Bahadur Singh as well. However, P.W. 5 Ram Bhajan who was sleeping in the same room with P.W. 1 Vijay Singh has named only four appellants, namely, Hema, Murari, Jeevan and late Shyama. He did not name Kartar and Randhir (sons of late appellant Shyama). To that extent there are discrepancies between the evidence of P.W. 5 Ram Bhajan (eye witness) and other eye witnesses. All these witnesses have conceded that miscreants had concealed their identity by covering their faces by scarfs. It was quite natural for miscreants to cover their faces for the simple reason that stated miscreants were in fact known to these witnesses since long. Therefore, the claim that miscreants had muffled their faces is acceptable and yet all the witnesses of fact have claimed that they were able to recognize the identities of only those perpetrators of the crime with whom they had inimical relationship. P.W. 1 Vijay Singh specifically conceded that criminals had muffled their faces and yet he was able to recognize at least six miscreants. He did not explain under what circumstances he was able to recognize the muffled faces of perpetrator of crime.

Similarly, P.W. 2 Bhoop Singh was able to recognize the appellants out of which two appellants, namely, Murari and Jeevan were the resident of the same village. Appellant Hema is not only nephew of Murari but was educated initially in the same village. Even P.W. 2 Bhoop Singh did not give any satisfactory explanation for his ability to recognize miscreants despite the fact that miscreants had covered their faces with the piece of cloths. P.W. 4 Bahadur Singh has tried to give some explanation by saying that miscreants had indeed covered their faces with the pieces of cloth but during the scuffle, the pieces of cloth fell away whereby he was able to recognize the appellants. Interestingly, he also claimed that the face of late appellant Shyama was open, contrary to the evidence of P.W. 1 Vijay and P.W. 2 Bhoop Singh. P.W. 5 Ram Bhajan has stated that the faces of appellants Jeevan and Murari were open. In para no. 8 of his testimony he has given interesting explanation that the appellants Murari and Jeevan had covered their faces from all other sides but their faces were open from front side, without realizing the incongruity of his statement. If appellants committed dacoity in the same village, it was natural for them to conceal their identities and if they had indeed covered their faces as stated by prosecution witnesses, then it is inconceivable that they would have covered their faces from all other sides but kept it open from the front side.

22. As far as the statement of P.W. 4 Bahadur Singh (son of P.W. 2 Bhoop Singh) is concerned, his evidence is strange. He recognized only those miscreants with whom his father Bhoop Singh and Vijay Singh had hostile relationship. He claims that face of late Shyama was open, is contrary to the prosecution story. He reluctantly conceded his family's antagonistic relationship with late Shyama. His testimony is neither credible nor trustworthy. Attempt to implicate certain people is palpable. His presence on the spot is doubtful for the simple reason that his medical report subsequent to the incident has not been placed on record despite the claim that he spent several days in hospital.

23. We believe that the contents of F.I.R. and the testimony of P.W. 3 Hitler Singh (informant) need to be taken into consideration as well. It may be stated at the risk of repetition that incident occurred around 11 am. in the night and F.I.R. was lodged in the morning at 7 am. The informant Hitler Singh (P.W. 3) of the same village lodged the F.I.R. at P.S. Achnera. He has stated very clearly in his testimony that he was present at the time of dacoity. This fact has been confirmed both by P.W. 1 Vijay and P.W. 2 Bhoop Singh. In fact P.W. 3 Hitler Singh tried to intervene by using his licensed gun and firing few shots towards dacoits. After departure of dacoits, P.W.3 Hitler Singh visited residence of both P.W. 1 Vijay Singh and P.W. 2 Bhoop Singh. He has admitted that large number of people had gathered at the residences of both persons. After visiting both residences in the presence of hundreds of people, he went to the Police Station Achnera for lodging the F.I.R. at 6 am. At least four alleged perpetrators of crime named by P.W. 1 Vijay Singh and P.W. 2 Bhoop Singh were also known to P.W. 3 Hitler Singh and yet he did not name even a single person in this F.I.R. He has denied that either P.W. 1 Vijay Singh, P.W. 2 Bhoop Singh or P.W. 4 Bahadur Singh had disclosed the identities of some of the miscreants to anyone in village. This witness has also claimed that dacoits went out of village after crossing his house i.e all the dacoits 15-20 in number crossed his residence for leaving the village. This witness has also mentioned the use of battery torches etc. and yet this witness, a member of same village, Nagar did not recognize a single person. It is pertinent to point out that he had informed Investigating Officer that he could recognize the miscreants if produce before him. Meaning thereby that he had seen the dacoits but did not find any known person amongst them and that is why F.I.R. does not contain names of appellants inasmuch as, the appellants also known to informant, did not participate in the crime.

24. Surprisingly, test identification parade was held but assistance of P.W. 3 Hitler Singh was not taken. The record does not indicate that appellants were put up for test identification parade. Though two persons, namely Guddo and Bhopal were put up for test identification which was held almost after three months of the incident i.e.16.4.1982. The testimony of P.W. 3 Hitler Singh has debunked the claim of other eye witnesses that they had recognized the appellants during commission of dacoity. It is pertinent to point out that at least two appellants, namely, Murari and Jeevan belong to same village and appellant Hema had received his early education in the same village and eye witnesses have admitted that they knew these appellants since long.

25. Now question arises why the eye witnesses have taken the name of appellants. A bare perusal of evidence would reveal that witnesses have accepted that they had antipathetic relationship with both appellants Murari and late Shyama. It has come on record that marriage of P.W. 4 Bahadur Singh was settled with the daughter of late accused Shyama and this engagement was later on broken on account of some dispute. Bahadur Singh (P.W. 4) says that they had wriggled out the marriage commitments, though it has been argued on behalf of appellants that late appellant Shyama later on came to know that Bahadur Singh P.W. 4 was not suitable for his daughter and because of this bad blood developed between two parties.

26. A careful examination of evidence demonstrates that there was indeed bad blood between P.W. 2 Bhoop Singh, P.W. 4 Bahadur Singh and late appellant Shyama. Similarly there was adversarial relationship between P.W. 1 Vijay Singh and appellant Murari. P.W. 1 Vijay Singh reluctantly conceded that appellant Murari owed considerable amount of money to him and that; appellant Murari had not returned his money. The prosecution evidence would indicate that there was some tension between P.W. 1 Vijay Singh and appellant Murari. Appellant Hema admittedly is relative of appellant Murari. This therefore, furnishes an immediate motive for false implication.

27. We believe that the Trial Judge has overlooked another important point. P.W. 5 Ram Bhajan is nephew of P.W. 1 Vijay Singh. Similarly, P.W. 4 Bahadur Singh is son of P.W. 2 Bhoop Singh. Only these four witnesses have been produced. The evidence of these four witnesses could have been sufficient in ordinary circumstances but in present case due to prior inimical relationship, their testimony has to be seen with suspicion especially on account of significant discrepancies. P.W. 1 Vijay Singh has conceded that there were several persons around his house. In para no. 5 of his evidence he took the names of Kashi, Bachu, Mukhtar Singh, Nawab, Fauran Singh Gyasi etc. who arrived on the spot along with several village folks and some of these village folks were armed with lathies and fire arm weapons. In fact these witnesses have admitted that dacoits left the village due to arrival of these armed neighbours. But not a single person, named by P.W. 1 Vijay Singh in paras no. 2, 5, 12 and 14 of his evidence has been produced by prosecution. Presence of several other persons has been admitted by P.W. 2 Bhoop Singh as well. In para-15 of his testimony, he also claims that he communicated the names of perpetrators of the crime to Leela, Bachu and Mukhtar yet none of those persons, have been produced by the prosecution. P.W. 2 Bhoop Singh also named Gyasi, Kashi, Fauran, Har Prasad, Mohan Singh, Tej Singh, Preetam and Revti, who were present but none of them have been produced. P.W. 3 Hitler Singh has also named Gyasi Ram, Kirodi, Preetam Singh, Kashi Ram, Nawab Singh and none of them have been produced. The only independent witness, P.W. 3 Hitler Singh, has not supported the prosecution allegation against appellant. He has not named a single person while supporting the factum of dacoity. If we take the testimony of P.W. 5 Ram Bhajan and P.W. 7 H.K. Vashishtha I.O. into consideration, it would reveal that police became aware of some of the perpetrators of the crime on next date in the afternoon. Two appellants namely, Murari and Jeevan were resident of same village and yet not a single recovery of stolen articles were made from their residence.

28. As per prosecution version several persons had assembled at the place of occurrence. Some of them were armed with fire arm weapons, others with lathi and farsa (axe). We fail to understand why these persons did not choose to support the prosecution case. Perhaps they did not want to be participant in false implication. Interestingly, criminal history of appellants has not been made available. More than 20-21 persons committed dacoity. One person died during course of this crime. It is alleged that another person was severely injured. Only those persons were identified by P.W. 1 Vijay Singh and P.W. 2 Bhoop Singh with whom they had inimical relationship and yet no recovery was made. Ordinarily, it is inconceivable that a crime of this magnitude would be committed by a persons with no criminal history.

29. Evidence reveals that one hand of appellant Jeevan got crippled prior to this incident. Counsel for the appellants has argued that it is not believable that man with such disability would have had committed this crime in his own village. Appellant Jeevan has infact been accused of using fire arm weapon during dacoity which in ordinary circumstances would have been very difficult for a disabled person. In addition to that, the disability of appellant Jeevan could have been used by victims for identifying him. In fact looks strange that criminals would use appellant Jeevan in actual commission of crime. They might have used a disabled person for backroom purposes but to use him in actual commission of crime meant inviting trouble.

30. It is pertinent to point out that appellant Jeewan has taken plea of alibi. He has claimed that he was living with his brother at Ambala Armoured division Head quarter at Ambala. He has submitted that from 21.1.1982 till 29.1.1982 he was present in Ambala Mess. This has been fortified by testimony of D.W. 1 Ram Vilas Singh, Mess Commander of Armoured division Head quarter Ambala. He has testified that Purushottam Singh brother of appellant Jeewan Singh was posted at Ambala and Jeevan Singh was frequent visitor to Ambala Mess and at the time of incident he was present at Ambala Mess. He has shown the record of the Mess for demonstrating the presence of appellant Jeewan in Ambala at the time of incident. In our opinion there is no reason to disbelieve the testimony of D.W. 1. Ram Vilas Singh. It is pertinent to point out that, the testimony of both, prosecution as well as defence witness have to be appraised on same yardstick. The courts cannot say that they will not believe the defence witnesses merely because they have been produced by defence. The evidence of all witnesses have to be adjudged on the touch stone of credibility and truthfulness. If the evidence of defence is trustworthy then that evidence cannot be discarded merely because it has been produced by the defence. Mess Commander is an independent person. He has testified on oath that on the date of incident appellant Jeewan was present at Ambala Mess. There is no reason to discard his testimony specially in the light of significant discrepancies in the prosecution evidence and lack of coherent, credible and trustworthy evidence. Doctor, who conducted autopsy, has also been withheld without any explanation.

31. We have carefully examined all material on record. Evidence produced by prosecution is not convincing at all. We believe that prosecution has failed to bring home the stated guilt of surviving appellants with trustworthy evidence.

32. In view of the aforesaid, the judgment and order dated 20.4.1983 passed by the Special Sessions Judge, Dacoity Afffected Area, Agra in Sessions Trial No. 22 of 1982 is hereby, set aside. The appeal is allowed. The surviving appellants, namely, Murari, Jeewan and Hema are acquitted. Their bail bonds are cancelled and sureties are discharged. The appellants be released forthwith if they are in custody and not wanted in any other case.

33. Let a copy of this order be certified to concerned court through Sessions Judge, Agra within a fortnight for compliance. The court concerned shall report the compliance within a month thereafter.

Criminal Appeal No.- 1038 Of 2013

State Of U.P. ...Appellant
Versus
Ranjeet Yadav ...Respondent

Counsel for Appellant:
Sri Gopal Krishna Pathak

Counsel for Respondent:
Sri U.C. Verma, A.G.A.

Penal Code, 1860 -- Sections 302, 376(2)(f), 201 -- Rape and murder of minor girl -- Circumstantial evidence -- Chain of circumstances -- Deceased, a four-year-old girl, went missing from her father's house during a family ceremony and was found dead the next day in a nearby field, with ante-mortem injuries on her private parts and death caused by asphyxia as a result of strangulation -- Prosecution case rested entirely on circumstantial evidence, viz. recovery of the dead body and blood-stained articles, medical evidence of injuries on the private part of the accused consistent with rape of a minor, evidence of witnesses of last seen, and tracking by a sniffer dog leading to the accused's house -- Held: Each link in the chain of circumstances was independently proved and, taken together, pointed unerringly to the guilt of the accused and to no other hypothesis -- Contention that the injuries on the accused's private part were self-inflicted or caused by police torture rejected as unsubstantiated -- Conviction under Sections 302, 376(2)(f) and 201 I.P.C. upheld. (Paras 26-33)

Evidence Act, 1872 -- Section 3 -- Witness of last seen -- Related/interested witness -- Evidentiary value -- Witnesses who deposed to having last seen the accused carrying the deceased were related to the informant -- Held: Mere relationship of a witness with the complainant is not, by itself, a ground to discard testimony where it inspires confidence and is corroborated by other circumstances such as medical evidence and sniffer dog tracking. (Paras 30-32)

Criminal Trial -- Sniffer dog evidence -- Corroborative value -- Sniffer dog tracked scent from the place of occurrence to the house of the accused -- Held: Following Lalit Kumar Yadav @ Kurri v. State of U.P., conviction cannot rest solely on sniffer dog tracking, but such evidence may be relied upon as a corroborative circumstance where other independent evidence establishes guilt. (Para 33)

Penal Code, 1860 -- Section 302 -- Sentence of death -- 'Rarest of rare' doctrine -- Mitigating circumstances -- Reference made by trial court for confirmation of death sentence awarded to a 20-year-old convict for rape and murder of a minor -- Held: Following Bachan Singh v. State of Punjab and subsequent decisions of the Supreme Court, State failed to establish that the accused was a continuing threat to society or beyond reformation; young age of the accused a relevant mitigating factor -- Case did not fall within the category of 'rarest of rare cases' where the alternative of life imprisonment is unquestionably foreclosed -- Death sentence commuted to imprisonment for life to extend to the full natural life of the appellant, other sentences to remain unaltered and to run concurrently. (Paras 34-45)

Reference for Confirmation of Death Sentence Rejected -- Criminal Appeal Partly Allowed -- Sentence of death awarded to the appellant under Section 302 I.P.C. by Additional District Judge-V, Barabanki in S.T. No. 492 of 2012 commuted to imprisonment for life to extend to the full term of natural life of the appellant; conviction and sentence under Sections 376(2)(f) and 201 I.P.C. upheld; all sentences to run concurrently. (Delivered by Hon'ble Ramesh Sinha, J.)

1. The present appeal has been preferred by the appellant against the judgment and order dated 29.6.2013 passed by Additional District Judge-V, Barabanki in S.T. No. 492 of 2012 convicting and sentencing the appellant under section 376 (2) (F) I.P.C. with imprisonment for life and Rs. 5,000/- fine and under section 201 I.P.C. 5 years imprisonment and Rs. 3,000/- fine, and under section 302 I.P.C. imprisonment of death (hanged to death).

2. The prosecution case in brief is that a written report was given by the informant Rajesh Kumar Yadav son of Sant Saran Yadav resident of Gram Maujabad, Majre Shahpur, police station Deva, District Barabanki on 8.4.2012 stating that on 7.4.2012 there was a Mundan ceremony of his youngest daughter Laxmi in which many relatives were present. His daughter, namely, Baby @ Devika at about 10 p.m. went to his father's cot for sleeping. The informant and his other family members were busy in entertaining the guests. After completion of said ceremony when all the relatives gone, the informant along with his family members slept in the Pundal itself where the said ceremony was held. On 8.4.2012 after waking up when his daughter was not seen, he along with his family members starting searching her. At about 5 p.m. his son while searching her reached at the wheat field of Qamaruddin Halwai where he saw his daughter lying in a dead condition. On receiving the information, the informant reached at the spot and saw his daughter in a dead condition. On her person, he saw injuries including abrasion on private parts of body from which it was clear that his daughter was murdered, hence leaving the dead body on the spot, he informed the concerned police station for necessary action.

3. On the basis of written information Ex. Ka-1, an F.I.R. was registered as case crime no. 87 of 2012 under section 302, 201 I.P.C. against unknown person on which investigation started. On 9.4.2012, the informant Rajesh Kumar Yadav had given further an information at police station Kotwali Deva that he had lodged an F.I.R. for the murder of his daughter on 8.4.2012 and on 9.4.2012 after post mortem of the deceased was conducted and the last rites of the deceased was performed his relatives and other villagers had gathered on which one Vinod son of Garibe Prasad and Shrawan son of Nageshar resident of Gram Mohnapur, police station Jaidpur, District Barabanki, who on 7.4.2012 had come in the Mundan ceremony of his daughter and was present at night informed the informant that on 7.4.2012 at about 11 p.m. when they were coming to his house from the side of school then they saw Ranjeet son of Ram Aadhar of the village taking a girl but at that moment they could not know that it was the daughter of the informant, namely, Baby @ Devika. The informant had earlier some suspicion about the involvement of accused Ranjeet. The Dog Squad of the police had also visited the house of Ranjeet, who taking advantage of the situation had committed rape and murder of his daughter and further he made request that the said information may be also taken into account and be made part of investigation. The information given by the informant which was registered as case crime no. 87 of 2012 under section 302, 201 I.P.C., the investigation was conducted.

4. On completion of investigation charge-sheet was submitted against the accused appellant before the competent court. On 17.7.2012, the trial court framed charges against the appellant under section 376, 302, 201 I.P.C. The accused denied the charges and claimed trial.

5. The prosecution in support of its case has examined P.W. 1 Rajesh Kumar Yadav, P.W. 2 Vinod, P.W. 3 Constable Anil Kumar Singh, P.W. 4 Head Constable Praveen Kumar Singh, P.W. 5 Dr. Brijesh Kumar Srivastava, P.W. 6 Constable Nandlal Yadav, P.W. 7 Constable Lallu Singh, P.W. 8 Dr. Mohammad Azam Hanfi, P.W. 9 S.I. Pramod Kumar Singh, P.W. 10 S.I. Jitendra Giri, P.W. 11 Constable Moharrir Anil Kumar.

6. The documentary evidence which have been produced by the prosecution are written report of the informant dated 8.4.2012 marked as Ex. 7. The statement of the accused-appellant was recorded under section 313 Cr.P.C. in which he denied the prosecution case and stated that the case against him has been instituted because of the enmity. He has stated that he was taken from his house on 8.4.2012 by the police, who tortured him and caused injuries on his private part. Thereafter he was challaned showing his false arrest on 10.4.2012 though his arrest was shown in the G.D. on 9.4.2012. The scribe of the second F.I.R., namely, Prem Sukh Yadav, who is the uncle of the informant and a Government Ameen, was having some dispute with the accused-appellant and his family members earlier to the incident regarding 'Medh' of the field and crop of mustard, hence he bore enmity with him.

8. P.W. 1, Rajesh Kumar Yadav was examined by the trial court and in his statement he has deposed that on 7.4.2012 there was a Mundan ceremony of his youngest daughter Laxmi aged about one year in which many relatives and villagers were gathered. In the said ceremony arrangement of food for the guests and religious songs were made. His daughter, namely, Baby @ Devika at about 10 p.m. went to his father's cot for sleeping as she used to sleep with his father. The informant and his other family members were busy in entertaining the guests. After completion of said ceremony when all the relatives gone, the informant along with his family members slept in the Pundal itself where the said ceremony was held. On 8.4.2012 after waking up when his daughter was not seen, he along with his family members and some relatives, who stayed at night starting searching her. At about 5 p.m. his son while searching the sister reached at the wheat field of Qamaruddin Halwai where he saw his daughter lying in a dead condition. On receiving the information, the informant reached at the spot and saw his daughter in a dead condition. On her person, he saw injuries including abrasion on several parts of body on which apprehending that his daughter was murdered, he got a report written by one Dinesh Chandra Yadav of his village. He stated that what he dictated to Dinesh he wrote and after writing he read the same before him then he made signature on it. The said report is on record as Ex. Ka. 1. He has given the said written report in the concerned police station on the basis of which F.I.R. was lodged. Thereafter the police arrived at the spot and recorded his statement. The dead body of the deceased was lying in the field of the Qamaruddin where the underwear of the deceased and empty bottle of country made liquor were also lying, the police took possession of the same. On 9.4.2012, the post mortem of the deceased was conducted and thereafter the dead body of the deceased was handed over to him. The last rites of the deceased was performed in the presence of his relatives and villagers. He stated that Vinod and Shrawan, who came to participate in the funeral has told him before all the relatives and villagers that on 7.4.2012 at 11 p.m. when they were coming to his house to participate in the Mundan ceremony of his daughter Laxmi from the side of school, they saw accused Ranjeet was taking a girl but they could not presumed that it was the daughter of the informant, namely, Baby and for what purpose she was being taken away. He had strong suspect about the involvement of the accused Ranjeet in the crime as he was of bad character. After the incident, the Dog Squad of the police went to the house of accused Ranjeet twice. He states that the accused appellant, who is present in the Court had committed rape and murder of his daughter. He also stated that he had given an application at the concerned police station which was written by one Prem Sukh Yadav and signed by him which is on record as Ex. Ka. 2. In his cross examination, he has stated that the dead body of his daughter was lying at the Southern side of the field where the crops were found to be damaged. There were abrasion found on the person of the deceased and from her private part blood was coming out and her underwear was lying separately where empty bottle of liquor was also lying. He stated that the Dog Squad when reached the house of the accused-appellant had started barking on which the police personnel got opened the door of the house of accused-appellant and apprehended him and took him to the police station. The said incident had taken place between 11-12 p.m. on 8.4.2012. He stated that Prem Sukh was of his village and his uncle. He stated that the report which he got written by Prem Sukh was not at the dictation of police and he has lodged the same on his own.

9. P.W. 2 Vinod, who is the real brother-in-law of the informant and maternal uncle of the deceased had deposed that his sister is married with P.W. 1 Rajesh Kumar Yadav, who has seven children and the eldest one is son. The deceased Baby was aged about 4 years and the youngest one is Laxmi, aged about one year whose Mundan ceremony was held on 7.4.2012 that he along with other family members and relatives had come to participate at the house of his sister at village Maujabad in the night at abut 9-10 p.m. After having the dinner, he along with his cousin Shrawan went towards Gwari Chauraha situated at Chinhat and Lucknow Road for having Gutkha. At about 11 p.m. in the night while they were returning from the side of school, they saw accused-appellant, who is present in the Court, carrying a girl on his shoulder and going towards the agricultural field. The accused Ranjeet Yadav was known to them prior to the incident as he used to come at his sister's house frequently. Ranjeet was also invited in the function where he met him. He stated that he along with Shrawan had returned to his village Mohnapur in the night of 7.4.2012 itself. On 9.4.2012 at about 12 p.m. in the afternoon, he again came to his sister house. After performing the last rites of the deceased, when they gathered at the evening he told his brother-in-law whatever he saw on 7.4.2012 regarding the accused-appellant. He has strong suspicion that accused-appellant has murdered the deceased after committing rape on her. On receiving the said information, his brother-in-law had gone to the police station and thereafter, the police arrived. The police has interrogated him along with Shrawan and in their statement they told the police whatever they saw.

10. P.W. 3 Constable Anil Kumar Singh in his statement has stated that on 8.4.2012, he was posted at police Lines Lucknow and is a member of Dog Squad. On the said date he has received an information from the Control Room to report at police station Deva, District Barabanki. On which, he along with Constable Handler Sriram Yadav had gone to the said police station in a jeep driven by Ram Bhawan Singh along with Dog Squad from where he reached at the place of occurrence where the high officials of the police were present. On the spot the crop of wheat damaged and empty bottle of country made liquor was lying. On smelling the empty bottle of country made liquor and smell of foot prints of the accused, the dog went from the field for about 200-300 meters through the house of the deceased where she was sleeping reached at the house of the accused-appellant and after roaming around the said house stopped there. Thereafter, the police surrounded the said house and on search of the said house one person tried to flee away from the house on which the police apprehended him. The said witness in his cross examination had further stated regarding the capability of the dog with respect to smelling strength is maximum period is 24 hours.

11. 15. P.W. 7 Constable Lallan Singh has stated that on 17.4.2012 he was posted at police station Deva, District Barabanki. 16. P.W. 8, Dr. Mohammad Azam Hanfi has stated that he was posted as Medical Officer on 9.4.2012 at the District Hospital Barabanki. He has conducted the post mortem of the deceased

Km. Baby aged about 4 years, who was brought in a sealed condition by S.H.O. Deva Kotwali, Barabanki along with police papers and constable Nand Lal Yadav and Shanker Lal, who had identified the same. On the dead body of the deceased following ante-mortem injuries were found on her person:-

6. Hymen lacerated & ecchymosed.

7. Vaginal orifice admitting two fingers easily margins torn & ecchymosed. Vaginal (iilgible) taken & sent for exami.

17. As per the opinion of the doctor the cause of death of the deceased is asphyxia as a result of ante mortem strangulation. He found that injury nos. 1, 2, 3 and thyroid cartilage bone was fractured which was sufficient to cause death. He further stated that death would have occurred between 7.4.2012 to 8.4.2012.

18. P.W. 9 Pramod Kumar In-charge Inspector has stated that he was entrusted the investigation of the case by the earlier I.O. Jitendra Giri-P.W. 10, who was transferred. He recorded the statement of Constable Anil Kumar Singh-Dog Handler and Constable Sri Ram Yadav and thereafter submitted charge-sheet against the accused on 2.5.2012 and proved the same as Ex. Ka. 8.

19. P.W. 10 Jitendra Kumar Giri, who was posted as Inspector at police station Deva on 8.4.2012 has stated that the F.I.R. of the present case was lodged on 8.4.2012 and in his presence the case was registered on which he started investigation and got the inquest of the deceased done by S.S.I. Vijay Singh. He has proved the inquest report, photonash, Challan, letter to C.M.O. and R.I. and further stated that he has handed over the dead body of the deceased after inquest for post mortem with police papers to Constable Shanker. He recorded the statement of the informant Rajesh Kumar on the same day on the orders of higher officials. He has called the Dog Squad information of which he has endorsed in the case dairy. He states that the Dog reached at the house of accused Ranjeet smelling from where the dead body of the deceased was lying on the pointing out of the informant on 9.4.2012. He had prepared the site plan of the place of occurrence. He has also recovered from the place of occurrence underwear of the deceased and sealed the same. He has also recovered one empty bottle of country made liquor in which Miss Jalwa was written and he sealed the same in the presence of witnesses. He has also mentioned in the case dairy about the second information given by the informant on which Section 376 I.P.C. was added. On 10.4.2012, he arrested the accused and recorded his statement, who confessed his guilt.

20. P.W. 11 Constable Anil Kumar has stated that he was posted on 9.4.2012 at the concerned police station and on an application given by the informant, he added Section 376 I.P.C. in the F.I.R. which was registered as Case Crime No. 87 of 2012 under section 302, 201 I.P.C. and also endorsed the same in the G.D. and proved the same as Ex. Ka. 20.

21. Heard Sri Gopal Krishna Pathak, learned counsel for the appellant, Sri U.C. Verma, learned A.G.A. for the State and perused the record.

22. Learned counsel for the appellant argued that the F.I.R. of the present case was lodged against unknown persons by P.W. 1. Initially the F.I.R. was registered under section 302, 201 I.P.C. on 8.4.2012 at 7:45 p.m. whereas the incident has taken place on 7.4.2012 and on 9.4.2012 another F.I.R. was lodged giving reference to the earlier F.I.R. by which Section 376 I.P.C. was added in the present case and the scribe of the written report was one Prem Sukh Yadav, who was the real uncle of the complainant P.W. 1, who was inimical to the appellant. He submitted that the finding recorded by the trial court in this respect that the two information given do not make the prosecution case doubtful appears to be not correct as the trial court has failed to appreciate the fact that the witness of last seen were not reliable at all and further the case laws which have been cited on behalf of the appellant were held to be not applicable in the facts and circumstances of the instant case. He further urged that the finding of the trial court regarding the arrest of the accused also appears to be not correct as the arrest of the accused justifying the possibility of manipulations in the prosecution case after taking him into custody on 8.4.2012 in the night but the police has shown his arrest on 10.4.2012 which also shows his false implication in the case as is apparent from the evidence of P.W. 10 Jitendra Giri. It was next submitted that the Dog Handler P.W. Constable Anil Kumar Singh has submitted before the trial court in his evidence that the sniffer Dog did not take any smell of the house of the accused and also not of accused but the trial court then too has believed its evidence and convicted the appellant. He further argued that the learned trial court brushed aside the inimical relationship of the accused with the uncle of complainant, namely, Prem Sukh Yadav with whom altercation took place between him and family members of the accused and also the case laws which cited in this regard was held to be not applicable in the present case. He submitted that there was no motive on the part of the accused appellant to commit the crime but the trial court took the motive as suggested by the prosecution with accused on imaginary and flimsy ground. He submitted that the inquest report, medical report, post mortem report and the report of the laboratory also makes the prosecution case doubtful and any such doubt based on the circumstantial evidence does not call for any conviction and sentence to an accused. He further submitted that the evidence led by the prosecution of P.W. 1 and 2, who are highly interested and partisan witnesses and no independent witness has come to support the prosecution, therefore, the conviction and sentence of the appellant be set aside. He next argued that it is highly improbable that the deceased, who was a minor girl aged about 4 years used to sleep with her grand father but no explanation as to this effect that at 10:00 p.m. she can alone go to sleep at the cot of her grandfather and the grand father has not been produced before the trial court. He further submitted that non examination of witness of last seen Shrawan, who was said to be accompanying P.W. 2 Vinod would have been most reliable as he was not related to the complainant and the prosecution with holding the said witness also creates doubt about the prosecution case and the conviction of the appellant only on the basis of evidence of P.W. 1 and 2 does not appear to be proper, hence the conviction and sentence by the appellant is liable to be quashed. Thus the argument of learned counsel for the appellant in short is that the case rests on circumstantial evidence there is no direct evidence against the appellant only on the basis of last seen evidence and injuries found on the private part of the appellant, he was convicted and sentenced. Moreover, the witnesses are highly interested and partisan witnesses and their evidence is at the instance of Prem Sukh Yadav, who is the real uncle of the complainant and the evidence of his arrest on the basis of sniffer Dog does not led a complete chain of circumstances to prove the guilt of the accused and his conviction and sentence by the trial court for death sentence is liable to be set aside. In support of his argument he has placed reliance on the judgment of the Apex Court in the case of Sahdev vs. State of Karnataka reported in 2012 (6) SCC 403 and drawn the attention of the Court towards paras-13, 28, 34 of the said judgment, 2013 (81) SCC 166 Baldev and another vs. State of U.P. and drawn the attention of the Court towards paras-11, 21 and 22, 2013 (81) ACC 442 Rishi Pal vs. State of Uttrakhand and drawn the attention of the Court towards paras-15, 16, 18, 19, 20, ACC 2013 (82) (102) Chhotu @ Ajay vs. State of U.P. and drawn the attention of the Court towards paras-7, 13, 17-21, 23-25 and 27, 2014 (85) ACC 932 Dhan Raj @ Dhand vs. State of Haryana and drawn the attention of the Court towards paras-14-18, 2012 (77) ACC 251 Sampath Kumar vs. Inspector of Police, Krishnagiri and drawn the attention of the Court towards paras 10 to 16, 2014 (86) ACC 31 Manish vs. State of U.P. and drawn the attention of the Court towards paras-23-25 and 35 & 36, 2013 (82) ACC 431 Raj Kumar Singh @ Raju @ Batya vs. State of Rajasthan and drawn the attention of the Court towards paras 17 to 27 and 30, 32, 34, 36, 38 to 40.

23. He lastly argued that the conviction of the appellant under section 302 I.P.C. for imprisonment of death does not fall within the category of rarest of rare case, hence the same should be set aside and the reference to made by the trial court to that count should also be rejected and the sentence under Section 302 I.P.C. may be converted for imprisonment of life.

24. Per contra learned A.G.A. vehemently opposed the arguments of learned counsel for the appellant and justified the judgment and order of the trial court convicting and sentencing the appellant. He submitted that the deceased, who was a minor girl aged about 4 four years was taken away by the accused appellant from her house where 'Mundan' ceremony of her younger sister was going on and many relatives and others persons of the village including the accused appellant was invited as all family members of the deceased were engaged in looking after the guests invited in the said ceremony the accused taking advantage of the said ceremony took the deceased to a lonely place in the night and committed rape on her and thereafter strangulated her to death. He argued that the place from where the dead body of the deceased was recovered, i.e., the field of Qamaruddin where the underwear of the deceased was lying and empty bottle of country made liquor was recovered. The brother of the deceased, who saw the dead body of the deceased immediately informed his father P.W. 1, who along with other persons reached there as they were searching the deceased when she was not traceable in the morning on 8.4.2012. He immediately lodged the F.I.R. suspecting the murder of his daughter by some miscreants at the concerned police station on 8.4.2012 after the recovery of the dead body. He further pointed out that another application was given by the father of the deceased on 9.4.2012 giving reference to the earlier F.I.R. as he suspected that her daughter was subjected to rape also on the basis of which Section 376 I.P.C. was added in the present case. It was submitted by the learned A.G.A. that as the F.I.R. was lodged against unknown persons and after registration of the case, the police in order to arrest the culprit of the crime had taken the help of sniffer dog which was called at the instructions of higher authorities, who also arrived at the place where the dead body of the deceased was lying and the dog had travelled from there and reached to the house of the accused smelling underwear of the deceased and empty bottle of liquor lying at the place of occurrence and started barking and when the police got opened the door of the said house, the accused tried to flee away from the house and was arrested on 8.4.2012 by the police. He next submitted that as per the statement of P.W. 1, the informant and father of the deceased along with the statement of P.W. 2 Vinod recorded by the trial court, who was though related to P.W. 1 as he was his brother-in-law was also invited in the said ceremony had seen the accused carrying a child on his shoulder in the night but the said witness was not aware of the fact that it was the deceased and when he came to know that the deceased was untraceable and her dead body was recovered from the field of Qamaruddin, he also reached there and after cremation of the dead body of the deceased, he informed about the said fact to P.W. 1 along with one Shrawan had also seen that the accused was carrying the deceased. He argued that as per the medical evidence, the deceased has suffered injuries on her private part and blood was oozing out from the same. Moreover, the injuries were also found on the private part of the accused-appellant, i.e., on his penis which shows strong circumstance of his participation in the present crime though it has been alleged by learned counsel for the appellant that the said injuries was caused to the appellant by the police just to show the good work and solve the present case. He argued that though the case rests on circumstantial evidence but taking into account the evidence on record which shows that the chain of circumstances which have been brought on record bring out the guilt of the accused-appellant and the finding recorded by the trial court in convicting and sentencing the accused-appellant on the basis of evidence on record is perfectly right and the appeal be dismissed by this Court. In support of his contention, he has placed reliance on the judgment of the Apex Court in the case of State of Maharashtra vs. Suresh reported in 2000 SCC (Cri.) 263, Lalit Kumar Yadav @ Kurri vs. State of U.P. reported in 2014 Crl. Law Journal 2712 SC and drawn the attention of the Court towards para-34 of the said judgment, in the case of Darga Ram @ Gunga vs. State of Rajasthan reported in 2015 Crl. Law Journal 1403 (SC) and drawn the attention of the Court towards paras-10 and 11.

25. Considered the rival submissions of learned counsel for the parties and perused the record.

26. From the prosecution case it is apparent that the deceased, who was a minor girl aged about 4 years was the daughter of P.W. 1 Rajesh Kumar Yadav. On 7.4.2012, a 'Mundan' ceremony was organized by P.W. 1 at his house where the relative and other persons of the village were invited along with the accused-appellant, who also belong to the same village. The family members of the deceased including P.W. 1 were busy in taking care of the guests, who were invited in the said ceremony in offering food etc. to them. The accused-appellant, who was also invited in the said ceremony taking advantage of the ceremony took away the deceased from her house and carried her to a lonely place in the village and committed rape on her after consuming liquor as empty bottle of liquor was found by the police at the place where the dead body of the deceased was recovered.

27. When, P.W. 1, the informant, who is the father of the deceased and other family members did not found the deceased in the morning on 8.4.2012 at the place where she used to sleep with her grand father then a search was made in the house and nearby places and ultimately when the brother of the deceased, who was tracing her reached at the field of Qamaruddin found the dead body of the deceased lying there. He immediately informed about the recovery of the dead body of the deceased to his father, who reached there along with his family members and other persons of the village and immediately lodged an F.I.R. of the incident for the murder of his daughter at the concerned police station. After post mortem, the dead body of the deceased was handed over to P.W. 1, who performed her last rites and in the evening when all the relatives had gathered, P.W. 2 Vinod and one Sharawan informed P.W. 1 that in the night when they were returning back to his house after taking Gutkha, they saw the accused carrying a child on his shoulder. They at that time did not suspect that it was the deceased and after recovery of the dead body on 8.4.2012 in the evening and coming to know about the incident then suspected that it was the accused-appellant, who had taken the deceased from her house in the night and committed rape and murder of her. Thereafter on 9.4.2012 another application was given by the informant-P.W. 1 giving reference to the earlier F.I.R. lodged by him suspecting the involvement of the accused-appellant on the basis of which offence under section 376 I.P.C. was added. The investigating officer after investigation submitted charge-sheet against the accused-appellant and charges were framed by the trial court against him on 17.7.2012 under section 302, 201, 376 I.P.C. The appellant was put to trial and was convicted by the trial court for the offence in question against which present appeal has been preferred by him before this Court.

28. The argument which has been advanced by learned counsel for the appellant that the case rests on circumstantial evidence and there is no direct evidence against the appellant and only on the basis of suspicion and evidence of last seen and some injuries found on his private part which was cause to him by the police to work out the case and further the evidence of P.W. Nos. 1 and 2 suffers several discrepancies and contradictions, his conviction and sentence by the trial court is against the evidence on record, hence the same be set aside by this Court cannot be accepted.

29. From the evidence which have been collected by the investigating agencies and produced before the trial court which after examining the prosecution witnesses and other formal witnesses and the recovery which have been made has come to the conclusion that it was the accused-appellant, who has committed the crime and on the basis of evidence led by prosecution convicted the accused-appellant. So far as the cases which have been cited by learned counsel for the appellant in which the Apex Court has held that in a case of circumstantial evidence, the Court must considered the same in the light of settled legal proposition. The inference is drawn from the aspect of the case lodged. The Court has to consider whether the chain of circumstances is complete.

30. In our considered opinion, the said legal proposition as has been laid down by the Apex Court in its catina of decisions is not at all disputed. So far as the instant case is concerned the following chain of circumstances which has been brought by the prosecution to prove the guilt of the accused are as follows:-

1. Recovery of dead body of the deceased from the field of Qamaruddin and her blood stained frock which she was wearing at the time of incident.

2. Recovery of blood stained earth from the place where the dead body of the deceased was recovered.

3. The report of Forensic Science Laboratory U.P. Lucknow dated 1.12.2012 which found blood on the frock of deceased and on the soil recovered from the place of occurrence.

4. Recovery of empty bottle of liquor of brand 'Miss Jalwa' and underwear of the deceased near the dead body.

5. Evidence of sniffer dog.

6. The medical examination of accused-appellant conducted on 10.4.2012 at 1:15 p.m. at P.H.C. Deva, District Barabanki marked as Ex. Ka. 5.

7. The evidence of P.W. 1 Rajesh Kumar Yadav informant of the case and father of the deceased.

8. Further the evidence of P.W. 2 Vinod the maternal uncle of the deceased, who is witness of last seen.

9. The evidence of P.W. 5 Dr. Brijesh Kumar Srivastava, under whose supervision the Medical Board examined the accused-appellant, who found injuries on his penis.

10. The evidence of P.W. 8 Dr. Mohammad Azam Hanfi, who conducted the the post mortem of the deceased and found as many as seven ante mortem injuries on her person including on private part and cause of death is his opinion is asphyxia as a result of strangulation.

31. From the evidence of P.W. 1 Rajesh Kumar Yadav, it is an admitted fact that a 'Mundan' ceremony was organized by him of his younger daughter, who is aged about one year on 7.4.2012 and in the night several relatives and guests were invited. P.W. 2 Vinod, who was the maternal uncle of the deceased was also invited it has also come in the evidence that the accused-appellant was also invited in the said ceremony. The accused-appellant took the deceased from his house to a lonely place taking advantage of the said situation and committed rape on her. As per the post mortem report of the deceased several injuries were found on her person including her private part. The cause of death is asphyxia as a result of strangulation. The accused-appellant was apprehended from his house taking assistance of sniffer dog by the police and challaned on 10.4.2012 after finding evidence against him. Moreover, the injuries which has been sustained by the accused-appellant on his male organ while committing crime goes to show that because of the said injuries, injuries were also caused on the private part of the deceased. The contention of learned counsel for the appellant that the injuries which were found on the private part of the accused-appellant was caused by the police when he was arrested is not at all acceptable. The evidence of P.W. 5 Dr. Brijesh Kumar Srivastava recorded by the trial court also show that the said injuries could be caused to the accused while committing rape on a minor child on 7.4.2012 between 11-12 p.m. and from his evidence it is also clear that the accused committed rape on the deceased. Moreover, from the evidence of P.W. 8 Dr. Mohammad Azam Hanfi, it is evident that the ante mortem injuries were found on the private part of the deceased and blood was oozing out and the cause of death is asphyxia as a result of strangulation and her thyroid cartilage bone was found to be fractured. Lastly the evidence of P.W. 2 Vinod who is witness of last seen coupled with the aforesaid evidences which are sufficient to prove the guilt of the accused-appellant, hence the trial court was right in accepting their evidence. So far as the evidence of sniffer dog is concerned, the Apex Court in the case of Lalit Kumar Yadav (Supra) has held as follows:-

"In the present case, the services of a sniffer dog was taken for investigation. The said dog traced the accused and he was formally arrested in the evening of the next day. The Investigating Officer, Ashok Kumar Yadav (PW-10) corroborated the evidence of Abdul Lais Khan (PW-4) to the effect that "Raja' sniffer dog after picking up scent from the place of occurrence tracked down the house of the accused. What is relevant to note is that the accused has not been convicted on the ground that the sniffer dog tracked down the house of the accused and barked at him. .....

Since there is no direct evidence to prove the guilt of the accused the Trial Court and the Appellate Court considered the circumstances which led towards the accused. Admittedly, nobody was named in the FIR but referring to the incident that Km."x' was murdered the FIR was lodged. Since nobody was named in the FIR the Investigating Officer took the help of the dog squad and the dog handler Abdul Lais Khan (PW-4) came with the dog. Dog tracking proceeding was done and the dog tracked the accused. The said fact is not disputed. ....."

32. In the case of State of Maharashtra vs. Suresh (Supra) has upheld the conviction of the accused for the rape and murder of four years girl on the basis of circumstantial evidence, i.e., witness of last seen together with recovery of dead body, injuries found on the male organ of the accused and detection of stains of human blood and semen on underclothes of the accused were held on fact and circumstances sufficient to convict the accused with the offence of rape and murder of minor girl. In the instant case the evidence which have been led by the prosecution, i.e., the injuries were found on the penis of the accused-appellant and as per the opinion of the doctor, who had examined the appellant, the said injuries could be caused on his penis while committing rape on a minor girl. Moreover the injuries were also found on the private part of the deceased and blood was oozing out from it as is evident from the post mortem report and blood stains were found on the frock of the deceased as per the report of Serelogist. The evidence of witness of last seen and the evidence of sniffer dog.

33. Thus, in our considered opinion, the prosecution has proved its case beyond reasonable doubt by chain of circumstances which led to only conclusion that the accused-appellant committed rape on the victim and thereafter she was strangulated to death by him, hence the conviction of the appellant by the trial court is perfectly justified and correct which is hereby upheld.

34. Having considered the submissions advanced by the learned counsel for the parties regarding sentence of death awarded to the accused appellants, it is necessary to take into consideration the various pronouncements of the Hon'ble Apex Court taking into the circumstances of each case. Some of the latest pronouncement of the Apex Court on this point in which the earlier decisions of the Apex Court have also been considered are being discussed as under:

35. In similar facts and circumstances, the Apex Court in the case of State of Maharashtra v. Suresh (Supra) where death sentence was awarded to the accused, had altered the sentence to life imprisonment

36. The Supreme Court in the case of Ashok Kumar Pandey Vs. State of Delhi reported in 2002 SCC (Cri.) 728, wherein a husband was convicted and sentenced to death for committing the murder of his wife and daughter. The Supreme Court having regard to the decision in the case of Bachan Singh vs. State of Punjab reported in 1980(2) SCC 684 held that in the facts and circumstances of the case it could not be concluded that the present case fell within the category of "rarest of rare cases' hence sentence of death was commuted to rigorous imprisonment for life.

37. The Supreme Court in the case of Mulla and another Vs. State of U.P. reported in 2010 (2) SCC (Cri.) 1150 has again narrated the principles of Bachan Singh case (supra). In the said case, in the night incident eight miscreants killed five persons mercilessly for non-payment of ransom. Taking into account all the aggravating and mitigating circumstances, the appellants' death sentence was commuted to life imprisonment which was to extend to the full term of life.

38. In another case of Rajesh Kumar Vs. State through Government of NCT of Delhi reported in 2011 (75) ACC 553, relevant paragraph Nos. 86 to 90 and 105, the Supreme Court has held that the principles discussed in Bachan Singh (Supra) set out certain mitigating circumstances which was suggested by Dr. Chitaley. At paragraph 207 of the report of the learned Judge that these are undoubtedly relevant circumstances and must be given great weight in determination of the sentence. The circumstances set out here-in-below:

"206. Dr. Chitaley has suggested these mitigating factors :

Mitigating circumstances.-- In the exercise of its discretion in the above cases, the Court shall take into account the following circumstances:

(1) That the offence was committed under the influence of extreme mental or emotional disturbance.

(2) The age of the accused. If the accused is young or old, he shall not be sentenced to death.

(3) The probability that the accused would not commit criminal acts of violence as would constitute a continuing threat to society.

(4) The probability that the accused can be reformed and rehabilitated.

The State shall by evidence prove that the accused does not satisfy the conditions 3 and 4 above.

(5) That in the facts and circumstances of the case the accused believed that he was morally justified in committing the offence.

(6) That the accused acted under the duress or domination of another person.

(7) That the condition of the accused showed that he was mentally defective and that the said defect impaired his capacity to appreciate the criminality of his conduct."

39. In the said case, the Supreme Court observed that the High Court while discussing the mitigating circumstances as against the aggravating circumstance has not properly followed the principle discussed in Bachan Singh's case supra), hence the Supreme Court held that the persons convicted of murder life imprisonment is the rule and death sentence is an exception hence the Supreme Court in the said case substituted death sentence by imprisonment for life.

40. In another case, Apex Court in Rameshbhai Chandubhai Rathod Vs. State of Gujrat reported in 2011 (2) SCC 764 reiterated the principles of law laid down in Bachan Singh's case (supra), Mullah's case (supra). In the said case the Supreme Court considering the gravity of the offence, behaviour of appellant and fear and concern such incident generate in ordered society commuted the death sentence to life imprisonment directing that life imprisonment would extend to the full life of the appellant subject to any remission/commutation at the instance of Government for good and sufficient reasons.

41. Now in the light of the principles laid down in Bachan Singh(supra) case, which has been followed by the Supreme in its latest decisions, as seen above, the present case has to be adjudged whether there are mitigating circumstances which could be taken into account for appellants' death sentence commuted to life imprisonment to extend full term of life.

42. In the instant case, the State has failed to show that the appellant is a continuing threat to Society or he is beyond reform or rehabilitation. Secondly, accused appellant Ranjeet aged about 20 years, when his statement was recorded by the trial Court under Section 313 Cr.P.C on 1.6.2013. Thirdly, there is no material shown by the State or the complainant to that there was a probability that the appellant would again commit criminal acts of violence as would constitute a continuing threat to Society.

43. In the instant case a minor girl aged about four years has been murdered after committing rape on her by the appellant which is undoubtedly a grave and heinous offence for which the duty of the Court is to impose adequate punishment depending upon the degree of criminality and desirability to impose such punishment, as a measure of social necessity and also as a means of deterring other potential offenders the sentence should be appropriate and befitting the crime.

44. Having considered the principles discussed in the Bachan Singh case (Supra) as well as Rameshbhai Chandubhai Rathod (supra) and other cases of the Apex Court mentioned above, we are of the opinion that the present case does not fall within the category of 'rarest of rare cases' where the other option of awarding a sentence of imprisonment for life is unquestionably foreclosed. The death sentence taking into all aggravating and mitigating circumstances, the appellant's death sentence is commuted to life imprisonment to extend to the full term of life of the appellant would be sufficient and meet the ends of justice. We, therefore, reduce the sentence under section 302 I.P.C. of death of the appellant to life imprisonment which extend to the full term of life of the appellant. The sentence imposed by the trial court on the appellant on all other counts would remain unaltered.

45. The accused appellant is already confined in jail, hence he shall serve out the sentence as altered/modified by this Court under section 302 I.P.C. as well as on all other counts by the trial court. All the sentences shall run concurrently.

46. Thus, the reference made by the trial court as well as prayer made by the State to confirm the sentence of death of the appellant under section 302 I.P.C. are hereby rejected.

47. The appeal filed by the accused-appellant is partly allowed.

(Paras 22, 27-28)

Penal Code, 1860 -- Section 302 -- Sudden provocation -- Section 304 Part I I.P.C. -- Applicability -- Contention that the incident arose out of a sudden quarrel over construction of a wall and that the offence would not travel beyond Section 304 Part I I.P.C. -- Held: Where the fatal injury on the deceased's neck was caused from close range with 42 pellets recovered therefrom and was proved to be attributable to the accused, the plea of sudden provocation reducing the offence to culpable homicide not amounting to murder rejected. 7. The statement of the accused-appellant Kaptan and Suresh were recorded u/s 313 Cr.P.C who denied the prosecution story and stated that they have been falsely implicated due to enmity. Opportunity to produce the defence evidence was given to the accused-appellants thrice but on 7.12.2005 counsel for the accused-appellants stated that the defence would lead no evidence.

8. P.W.1 Ram Chandra, the informant of the case and the father of the deceased deposed before the trial court reiterating the prosecution case as narrated by him in the FIR. He stated before the trial court that when he and his son objected the accused from constructing the wall adjacent to his toilet, then accused Kaptan and Suresh took out country-made pistol and accused appellant Suresh caught-hold of Raj Bahadur and accused Kaptan fired shot on Raj Bahadur which hit him on his neck. On this accused ran away towards their house. He submitted written report at the Police Station which he proved to be in his hand-writing and signature and marked as Ext. Ka.1.

9. The said P.W.1 Ram Chandra in his cross-examination further stated that the deceased Raj Bahadur sustained fire-arm injuries on his neck. The deceased fell near about 10-12 paces away from the door of accused Kaptan. Toilet was constructed on the date of occurrence. The accused Kaptan fired on Raj Bahadur at a distance of 4-5 paces. The altercation between the accused and Raj Bahadur did not take place at the time of occurrence. The I.O has inspected the place of occurrence.

10. P.W.2 Lallu who is stated to be the friend of P.W.1 and is eye-witness of the occurrence has been examined by the trial court and he stated that he was present at the house of P.W.1 Ram Chandra as he had gone there to participate in Anna Prashan ceremony of his grand-son. Ram Chandra and Raj Bahadur were constructing toilet in the North side of the house. The accused-appellants Suresh and Kaptan also started to construct the wall. P.W.1 Ram Chandra and his son Raj Bahadur prevented the accused to construct a wall on which the accused Suresh caught-hold of Raj Bahadur and Kaptan fired on Raj Bahadur. Raj Bahadur sustained fire-arm injuries, he fell and died. The occurrence taken place in the evening at 5 P.M. The accused Suresh was also armed with country-made pistol. On the alarm raised by him and Ram Chandra, P.W.5 Ram Shree came there along with other villagers and accused ran away from the place of occurrence.

In the cross-examination, P.W.2 Lallu Ram stated that he does not remember the date of occurrence but only stated that he remember that it was Wednesday on the date of occurrence in Aghan (Hindi month). He also did not told about the date of incident to the I.O. When he reached the house of Ram Chandra, he saw that the two accused were constructing there a wall and they have constructed near about 4 feet high wall. Ram Chandra and Raj Bahadur came there and Ram Chandra tried to take out brick. Accused Kaptan slapped to Ram Chandra after which Suresh and Kaptan fired on Raj Bahadur from their country-made pistol. Raj Bahadur received one injury on his neck and other injuries of fire-arm at his hand. The accused persons fired twice at the place of occurrence and the accused-appellant Kaptan made first fire on Raj Bahadur. Ram Chandra was not assaulted by the butt of the country-made pistol and he was only slapped. After hearing fire shot, he saw Raj Bahadur was lying to the North side of the toilet. The blood also fell on the ground where Raj Bahadur has fallen. The Police had come at the place of incident at 9 p.m. in the night. The police sealed the dead-body and he remained present at about two hours. The police had taken the dead-body of the deceased to the police station. He did not go to the police station with Ram Chandra.

12. P.W.3 Pratap who is an eye-witness of the occurrence and a villager was examined by the trial court and he has stated that he was at his house on the date of occurrence and on hearing the noise at 5 p.m, he reached to the house of P.W.1 Ram Chandra where he saw the dead-body of the deceased Raj Bahadur lying. He did not see the two accused firing at Raj Bahadur, thus the witness was declared hostile by the prosecution.

13. P.W.4 Shiv Shanker Singh, Head Constable has stated before the trial court that on 5.12.2001, he was posted as Head Moharir at Police Station Pasgawan. On the said date, he scribed the FIR on the basis of written report as Ext. Ka.1. The informant Ram Chandra came out at the police station for lodging FIR with written report FIR who proved the FIR as Ext. Ka.2 which is in his hand-writing and signature. He also recorded the summary of the case in G.D which was proved as Ext. Ka.3. In his cross-examination the witness has stated that Ram Chandra was present at about 8.10 p.m. At that time the Station Officer Devendra Pandey was also present at the Police Station who on receiving the information proceeded to the place of occurrence at about 8.10 p.m.

14. P.W.5 Smt. Ram Shree W/o P.W.1 Ram Chandra the mother of the deceased has stated before the trial court that at about 5 p.m. in the evening, her husband and son were constructing the toilet in the North side of the house. Her husband and son prevented the accused Kaptan and Suresh from raising a wall on which accused Kaptan and Suresh took out country-made pistol and fired at her son who received fire-arm injury and died. The accused-appellant Suresh and Kaptan ran away towards their houses.

15. In cross-examination the witness stated that on the date of occurrence, she was present at her house. On hearing the firing shot, she came out of the house. After that accused ran away towards their house. She heard three fire shots. Raj Bahadur died in-front of the house and the blood was oozing out. The police came in the night at the place of occurrence and she witnessed the accused committing the murder of her son and running from the place of occurrence.

16. P.W.6 Dr. S.P. Verma who has conducted the post-mortem of the deceased was examined by the trial court and he deposed that he has conducted the postmortem of the deceased and found following ante-mortem injuries on his person:-

(I) Fire-arm wound of entry measuring 6.00 cm.x 3 cm. over front of neck, 4 cm. below chin and 7 cm. above sterno sternal notch, margins inverted, irregular and echy-mosed, blackening and tattooing present 2.00 cms. around the wound. On dissection underlying muscles, vessels, trachea found lacerated and second cervical vertebra found 42 small metallic pellets and material recovered from neck.

(II) Fire-arm wound of entry 2 cms. X 2 cms. X through and through over right palm, 2 cms. below base of right thumb, margins inverted, irregular and echymosed.

(III) Fire-arm wound of exit 6 cms. X 3 cms. X through and through over dorsum of right hand-joint below right wrist, margins everted, irregular and echymosed.

17. In the opinion of the said doctor the deceased died due to fire-arm injuries which he sustained on his person before the death. He proved the postmortem report under his hand-writing and signature as Ext. Ka.4. The fire-arm injuries were caused to the deceased by country-made pistol. The death of the deceased was caused on 5.12.2001 at 5 p.m.

18. In his cross examination, the said witness has further stated that the injury no.1 was caused from a distance of 3 feet. The injury no.2 was on the hand of the deceased. Blackening and tattooing was not present on injury no.2. Injury no.1 was caused by first fire and injury no.2 was caused by second fire. In his opinion, it is a case of two shots. He further deposed that the two injuries cannot be caused by single fire.

19. P.W.7 Devendra Pandey, Station Officer of the concerned police station is the I.O of the case. He recorded the statement of witnesses u/s 161 Cr.P.C. And also made spot inspection of the place of occurrence and prepared site-plan as Ext. Ka.11. In his cross-examination the said witness has stated that the case was registered in his presence at the concerned police station and he recorded the statement of Ram Chandra at the Police Station and further reached the place of occurrence near about 11.30 p.m in the night. He further stated that the witness Ram Chandra did not give him statement that the accused Suresh caught Raj Bahadur. The witness Lallu gave statement u/s 161 Cr.P.C. that Suresh taken out country-made pistol and fired on Raj Bahadur.

20. On the basis of aforementioned evidence of the prosecution the trial court has convicted the accused-appellants for the offence u/s 302 IPC and sentenced them for life imprisonment. Aggrieved by the same, the present appeals have been preferred by the aforesaid two appellants.

21. Heard Ms. Soniya Mishra, learned counsel for the appellants and and Ms. Nand Prabha Shukla, learned AGA for the State and perused the record.

22. It has been argued by learned counsel for the appellants that there was no motive to commit the crime by the two accused-appellants. It has been further submitted that there was no dispute between the parties prior to the present incident. The incident has occurred due to sudden provocation on a issue of raising a wall adjacent to the toilet of the informant. The accused-appellant Suresh as per evidence of P.W.1 Ram Chandra, it is evident that the accused-appellant Suresh is said to have caught-hold of the deceased whereas the accused-appellant Kaptan is said to have fired shot at the deceased which hit him on the neck. Thus the case of accused-appellant Suresh is distinguishable from the case of accused-appellant Kaptan and the conviction of the appellant under Section 302 IPC with the said accused on the basis of evidence of P.W.2 Lallu Ram and P.W.5 Ram Shree by the trial court considering the statement of the witnesses u/s 161 Cr.P.C. that it was the appellant Suresh who also fired at the deceased along with appellant Kaptan with his country-made pistol and the deceased received two injuries on his person, one on the neck and other on the hand is absolutely incorrect as the trial court has misread the evidence of the said two witnesses and convicted the appellant Suresh also under Section 302 IPC which should be set-aside.

23. It was lastly argued that even if the case is taken on it's own face value, the case would not travel beyond Section 304 Part-1 IPC as the incident has taken place on the spur of moment on the issue of raising a wall by the accused persons adjacent to the toilet of the informant on which the deceased is said to have received injuries at the hands of the appellant Kaptan by fire-arm. Therefore, the conviction of the appellant Kaptan under Section 302 IPC and sentence for life imprisonment be set-aside. The accused-appellant Kaptan has already undergone fourteen years of imprisonment, hence he may be released to the period already undergone after conviction under Section 304 Part-1 IPC. Learned counsel for the appellants in her support has relied upon the judgment of the Apex Court in the case of Murlidhar Shivram Patekar and another Vs. State of Maharashtra reported in 2014(3) JIC 830 (SC).

24. Learned AGA on the other hand has vehemently opposed the argument of learned counsel for the appellants and submitted that as per the evidence of prosecution led before the trial court, the two accused-appellants who were armed with country-made pistol fired at the deceased who received two injuries on his person and the cause of death as per the postmortem report is shock and hemorrhage as a result of ante-mortem injuries. The ocular testimony of P.W.1, 2 and 3 fully corroborates the prosecution case and the presence of the said witnesses at the place of occurrence appears to be natural, hence the trial court has rightly convicted the appellants for the offence in question.

25. Considered the submissions advanced by learned counsel for the parties and perused the record.

26. Admittedly as per prosecution case set-out in the FIR and by the witnesses before the trial court, it is apparent that the informant and the deceased were constructing a toilet at their house and simultaneously the accused-appellants Kaptan and Suresh also started raising a wall adjacent to the toilet of the informant and the deceased which was objected by them on which the two accused took out their country-made pistol and shot at the deceased who died on account of fire-arm injuries received on his person. From the FIR lodged by the informant P.W.1 Ram Chandra it has been stated by him that the two accused persons fired shot at the deceased who died on account of fire-arm injuries. He has reiterated the prosecution case and in his examination-in-chief, he has deposed that the accused Kaptan and Suresh had took out their country-made pistol and accused Suresh had caught-hold the son of the informant Raj Bahadur and accused Kaptan fired at the deceased with his country-made pistol which hit him on his neck on account of which he sustained injuries and died on the spot. It further transpires from the cross-examination of the said witness that after the shot was fired by accused-appellant Kaptan on the deceased, he had fallen on the ground and thereafter no person had shot at him or caught-hold the deceased. There is also evidence of P.W.2 Lallu Ram who is also an eye-witness of the occurrence has narrated the prosecution case and had claimed his presence at the place of occurrence. He has also deposed before the trial court in his examination-in-chief that while the accused-appellant were raising the wall adjacent to the toilet of the informant on which they objected, the accused-appellant Suresh had caught-hold of the deceased Raj Bahadur and the accused-appellant Kaptan fired shot with the country-made pistol at him which hit him on his neck and the deceased had fallen on the ground and died on the spot. The other eye-witness P.W.5 Ram Shree, W/o P.W.1 Ram Chandra and mother of the deceased has deposed before the trial court that on hearing of fire shot, she reached the place of occurrence and witnessed the incident and further saw the accused-appellant running from the place of occurrence. According to her she heard three shots of fire-arm whereas P.W.2 Lallu Ram in his deposition before the trial court has stated that he heard two shots. The trial court has considered the evidence of P.W.7 Devendra Pandey, I.O. of the case and further taken into account the statement of the said witness recorded u/s 161 Cr.P.C in which it was stated by them that both the accused persons fired shot at the deceased and on the basis of which the trial court has arrived at a conclusion that from the evidence of three prosecution witnesses, it is clear that both the accused-appellants shot fire at the deceased who received two injuries on his person and died and convicted the appellants.

27. In our opinion though in the FIR it has not been alleged by the informant that it was the accused Suresh who had caught-hold the deceased and the shot was fired by accused-appellant Kaptan at the deceased as in the FIR, it has been stated that both of them had fired at the deceased but subsequently when the P.W.1 Ram Chandra and P.W.2 Lallu Ram were examined by the trial court and they in the examination-in-chief have categorically stated that accused Suresh had caught-hold the deceased and accused Kaptan fired shot at the deceased Raj Bahadur on neck who died on the spot. The conviction of the appellant Suresh on the basis of the statements recorded u/s 161 Cr.P.C of the witnesses P.W.2 and P.W.3 is contrary to their evidence which was recorded by the trial court, does not appear to be correct as it amounts to misreading of their evidence. More so, even if the prosecution case is taken on it's face value, it has come in the evidence of two eye-witnesses i.e. P.W.1 and P.W.2 that the first shot was fired by the accused Kaptan on the deceased which hit him on his neck and the second shot which hit the deceased received on his hand which was injury no.2 and the injury no.3 is communicating injury of injury no.2 cannot be said to be a fatal injury to cause the death of the deceased as the injury no.1 which has been attributed to accused Kaptan was fatal one and caused from a close range and 42 pellets were recovered from the said injury.

28. Thus the participation of the accused-appellant Suresh appears to be doubtful from the evidence on record and the prosecution has failed to prove it's case beyond reasonable doubt against him. He is given benefit of doubt and his conviction and sentence by the trial court is hereby set-aside. He is on bail. He need not to surrender. His bail bonds and sureties are discharged.

29. So far as accused-appellant Kaptan is concerned, the prosecution has proved its case beyond reasonable doubt from the evidence on record and his participation in the incident cannot be ruled out. The injury no.1 which has been caused on the neck of the deceased and is proved to be fatal one, has been attributed to him. The contention of learned counsel for the appellants that it is a case of sudden provocation and the case would not travel beyond Section 304 Part-1 IPC and the accused has already served out fourteen years of imprisonment may be reduced to period already undergone has no substance and the said contention is hereby rejected. No doubt the accused-appellant Kaptan has been in jail for last fourteen years but as he has been convicted under Section 302 IPC and sentenced for life imprisonment by the trial court, the minimum punishment under Section 302 IPC is life imprisonment, therefore, his incarceration for fourteen years in jail is immaterial and he has to serve out the sentence awarded by the trial court for life imprisonment as has been ordered by the trial court. The case law cited by learned counsel for the appellants is distinguishable from the facts and circumstances of the present case. In view of the judgment of the Apex Court in the case of Gopal Vinayak Godse Vs. State of Maharashtra 1961 (3) SCR 440 wherein it was held that imprisonment for life lasts until the last breath and whatever the length of remission earned the prisoner can claim release only if the remaining sentence is remitted by the Government. The judgment of Gopal Vinayak Godse (Supra) was followed by the Apex Court in its recent judgment of Muthuramalingam and others Vs. State reported in J.T. 2016 (7) SC 1. Therefore, the conviction and sentence of accused-appellant Kaptan by the trial court under Section 302 IPC for life imprisonment is hereby upheld. He is already in jail, hence shall serve out the sentence awarded by the trial court.

30. The appellant Suresh is on bail. He need not surrender and his bail bonds and sureties stands discharged.

31. Thus, the appeal of appellant Kaptan is hereby dismissed and the appeal of appellant Suresh stands allowed.

Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 -- Section 301(2) -- Locus of victim/first informant to move application for alteration of charge -- Application for alteration of charge from Section 304/34 I.P.C. to Section 302/34 I.P.C. was moved by the first informant, owner of the petrol pump where the incident occurred, and not by the Public Prosecutor -- Objection raised that such application by a private party was not maintainable -- Held: Following Sister Mina Lalita Baruwa v. State of Orissa, J.K. International v. State (Govt. of NCT of Delhi) and Zahira Habibullah H. Sheikh v. State of Gujarat, there is no bar under Section 301 Cr.P.C. against a victim or private person moving an application before the court, more so where the application stood duly forwarded by the Public Prosecutor with the endorsement 'Sir submitted' -- Courts must adopt a participatory role in aid of justice and not remain silent spectators where the prosecution omits a material step.

Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 -- Section 216 -- Alteration of charge -- Stage of framing charge -- Standard of proof -- Held: At the stage of framing or altering a charge, only a prima facie case, strong suspicion or reasonable doubt as to the commission of the offence is required to be seen; the probative value of the material on record and its sufficiency to prove the case beyond reasonable doubt are matters for trial and not for the charge stage -- Order altering charge, passed after hearing both parties and considering the testimony of the eye-witness supporting the prosecution version, does not suffer from any illegality or irregularity -- Mere alteration of charge to a graver offence does not, by itself, mean that the accused will ultimately be convicted of that offence.

Some background facts in brief are that an F.I.R. was lodged by the owner of a petrol pump to the effect that on 02.7.2013, at about 9.30 P.M. one Jai Prakash Yadav came to the petrol pump, recklessly driving a truck. The truck dashed in the sign board of HP Petrol Pump indicating "HP" causing damage to it. When the Manager of the petrol pump Suresh Kumar Singh (deceased) blamed the truck driver Jai Prakash Yadav, for his recklessness, he started to throw filthy abuses and thereafter went away threatening the Manager of dire consequences and to see him in future. After sometime, the truck driver returned to the petrol pump along with the applicants namely Om Prakash Yadava and Uma Kant Yadava. They assaulted the Manager on his head by a 'Lathi' having an iron ring attached to its upper end, causing grievous injuries on the head of the Manager. He felt unconscious and was taken to the Hospital at Mirzapur from where he was referred to Varanasi. When the Manager was under treatment, the F.I.R. was lodged by the owner of the petrol pump. During the course of investigation, the injured succumbed to his injuries and charge sheet was submitted under Sections 304,504,508,427 and 279 I.P.C. Later on the trial proceeded and the statement of P.W.1 (first informant) was recorded in the trial court who fully supported the prosecution case in his testimony. Thereafter, an application was moved from the prosecution side before the trial Court that charge under Section 302/34 I.P.C. be also framed against the applicants. The accused persons filed an objection against the said application and the court below, after hearing both the parties and on considering the statement of eye witness, P.W.2, who fully supported the prosecution case, framed charges under Section 302/34 I.P.C. against the revisionists.

5. The legality and correctness of the aforesaid order passed by the court below has been challenged by the learned counsel for the revisionists mainly on two grounds:-

6. Firstly, that the application for alteration of charge was moved by the first informant i.e. owner of the petrol pump, who had no locus standi to move such application. While drawing the attention of this Court to the provisions of section 301 Cr.P.C., learned counsel for the revisionists has contended that section 301 (2) Cr.P.C. provides that only Public Prosecutor or Assistant Public Prosecutor, in charge of the case shall conduct prosecution, and the pleader so instructed shall act therein under the directions of the Public Prosecutor or Assistant Public Prosecutor, as the case may be. Learned counsel for the revisionists has contended that the application on which the learned trial court has framed charges under Section 302/34 I.P.C., against the revisionists has been moved by the first informant Kaushlendra Singh and not by the Public Prosecutor. In support of his contention, learned counsel for the revisionists has filed certified copy of the aforesaid application, with a supplementary affidavit.

7. The second ground taken by the learned counsel for the revisionists is that the court below has not properly considered the provisions of Section 216 Cr.P.C and the order impugned is not in consonance with the aforesaid section.

8. Learned A.G.A. has opposed the revision by submitting that the impugned order has been passed in accordance with law. He has drawn the attention of this Court to the copy of the application filed by the revisionists, to show that the application for alteration of charge has been duly forwarded by Public Prosecutor.

9. Having heard learned counsel for the parties and having perused the records, there appears no force in the submissions of learned counsel for the revisionists.

10. So far as the first objection relating to Section 301 (2) Cr.P.C. is concerned, the certified copy of the application moved by Kaushlendra Singh, shows that it has been duly forwarded by the Public Prosecutor which is evident from the endorsement of Public Prosecutor, "Sir submitted" made on the margin of the application. Moreover, there is no such bar under Section 301 Cr.P.C. which prohibits the victim of a case to move any application before the court concerned.

11. The same problem arose before the Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of Sister Mina Lalita Baruwa Vs. State of Orissa and Ors, AIR 2014 SC 782. In the aforesaid case before the Hon'ble Supreme Court, the Public Prosecutor having not bothered to take any steps, the application was moved by the victim/appellant herself before the learned trial Judge. However, the learned trial Judge, observing that such an application at the instance of the victim and not having been filed by the Special Public Prosecutor being not maintainable, rejected the application solely on the ground of maintainability. Aggrieved by the said order, the victim/appellant moved the High Court, but the High Court too, making reference to Section 301 Cr.P.C. took the view that the appellant as an informant had a very limited role to play and it was beyond the authority granted to an informant or a private person under Section 301 Cr.P.C. The matter went to Hon'ble Supreme Court and the Hon'ble Supreme Court set-aside both the aforesaid orders passed by the trial court and also by the High Court. Some relevant extracts from the judgment of the Apex Court are quoted below:

"The High Court committed a serious illegality in merely stating that Under Section 301 Code of Criminal Procedure there is no scope for a victim as a private party to take any effective step to rectify a serious fallacy....."

"We are convinced that the grievances as projected by the Appellant, who was a victim of an offence of such a grotesque nature, in our considered view, the trial Court as well as the High Court instead of rejecting the application of the Appellant by simple making a reference to Section 301 Code of Criminal Procedure in a blind folded manner should have made an attempt to reconcile Sections 301 and 311 Code of Criminal Procedure in such peculiar situations and should have ensured that the trial proceeded in the right direction....."

"In criminal jurisprudence, while the offence is against the society, it is the unfortunate victim who is the actual sufferer and therefore, it is imperative for the State and the prosecution to ensure that no stone is left unturned. It is also the equal, if not more, the duty and responsibility of the Court to be alive and alert in the course of trial of a criminal case and ensure that the evidence recorded in accordance with law reflect every bit of a vital information placed before it. It can also be said that in the process the Court should be conscious of its responsibility and at times when the prosecution either deliberately or inadvertently omit to bring forth a notable piece of evidence or a conspicuous statement of any witness with a view to either support or prejudice the case of any party, should not hesitate to interject and prompt the prosecution side to clarify the position or act on its own and get the record of proceedings straight. Neither the prosecution nor the Court should remain a silent spectator in such situations....."

11A. Likewise, in J.K. International Vs. State (Govt of NCT of Delhi) and Ors, (2001) 3 SCC 462, the Hon'ble Supreme Court considered the extent to which a complainant can seek for the redressal of his grievances in the on going criminal proceedings as under:

"The scheme envisaged in the Code of Criminal Procedure (for short "the Code") indicates that a person who is aggrieved by the offence committed, is not altogether wiped out from the scenario of the trial merely because the investigation was taken over by the police and the charge-sheet was laid by them. Even the fact that the court had taken cognizance of the offence is not sufficient to debar him from reaching the court for ventilating his grievance....."

"An aggrieved private person is not altogether to be eclipsed from the scenario when the criminal court takes cognizance of the offences based on the report submitted by the police...."

12. The same view has been expressed by the Hon'ble Apex Court in Zahira Habibullah H.Sheikh and Anr Vs. State of Gujarat and Ors, (2004) 4 SCC 158.

" the courts have to take a participatory role in a trial. They are not expected to be tape recorders. They have to monitor the proceedings in aid of justice. This becomes more necessary where the court has reasons to believe that the prosecuting agency or the prosecutor is not acting in the requisite manner. The court cannot afford to be wishfully or pretend to be blissfully ignorant or oblivious to such serious pitfalls or derelection of duty on the part of the prosecuting agency. The prosecutor who does not act fairly and acts more like a counsel for the defence is a liability to the fair judicial system, and courts could not also play into the hands of such prosecuting agency showing indifference or adopting an attitude of total aloofness."

13. In wake of the law laid down by Hon'ble Supreme Court cited above, there does not appear any force in the first objection relating to Section 301 Cr.P.C., raised by learned counsel for the revisionists.

14. The second objection raised by the revisionists, is also baseless. The impugned order clearly shows that the learned court below, after giving opportunity of hearing to both the parties and after considering the objections filed by the accused persons, has framed the charge under Section 302/34 I.P.C., by a well reasoned order, discussing in detail the grounds for alteration of charges.

15. At the stage of framing a charge, only a reasonable doubt or strong suspicion in the mind of the court concerned is sufficient and the courts are not required to see whether the evidence available on record is sufficient to prove the case of prosecution to the hilt. Only the prima facie evidence which is available on record, at the initial stage of framing charges, is to be considered by the court concerned.

16. In Sanghi Brothers (Indore) Pvt. Ltd. v. Sanjay Choudhary and others; 2009 (1) SCC (Cri) 87, it has been held by the Hon'ble Apex Court that even if there is a strong suspicion about the commission of offence and the involvement of the accused, it is sufficient for the Court to frame a charge.

17. In Soma Chakravarty v. State (through CBI); 2007 (2) SCC (Cri) 514, it has been held by the Hon'ble Apex Court that at the time of framing of charges the probative value of the material on record cannot be gone into, and the material brought on record by the prosecution has to be accepted as true at that stage. If on the basis of material on record the Court could form an opinion that the accused might have committed the offence it can frame the charge, though for conviction the conclusion is required to be proved beyond reasonable doubt that the accused has committed the offence. Whether, in fact, the accused committed the offence, can only be decided in the trial.

18. In State of Orissa v. Debendra Nath Padhi, 2005 SCC (Cri) 415, the Hon'ble Apex Court has held that at the time of framing charge, what the Trial Court is required to see and consider, are only the Police Papers referred to under Section 173, Cr.P.C. and documents sent with it. The accused cannot be permitted to produce documents to put forth his defence case for purpose of seeking discharge.

19. In Omwati v. State; AIR 2001 SC 1507, it has been held by the Hon'ble Apex Court that the High Court should not interfere at initial stage of framing the charges merely on hypothesis, imagination and farfetched reasons, which in law amount to interdicting the trial against the accused persons.

20. In the instant case, the charge has been altered after the statement of witness P.W.-1 was recorded during trial, who fully supported the F.I.R. version of prosecution case as narrated above.

21. In view of the aforesaid facts and circumstances, there does not appear any illegality or irregularity in the order impugned, altering the charge from Section 304 I.P.C. to Section 302 I.P.C. It is also to be kept in mind that mere framing of charge under Section 302 or more altering it from Section 304 to Section 302, does not mean that the accused is going to be punished under the Section 302 I.P.C. An accused may be punished for a smaller offence even though charge has been framed under graver offence but he cannot be punished for such offence which is graver than the offence he is charged with. At this stage of framing charge nothing can be said about the ultimate result of trial. The trial may result in punishment of accused for some lesser offence or even in his acquittal. No prejudice is going to be caused to the applicants by alteration of charge.

22. Considering all the facts and circumstances and the legal position, this revision appears to have no force and it is liable to be dismissed at the admission stage itself.

23. The revision is accordingly dismissed.

Criminal Revision No.- 4715 Of 2004

Counsel for Revisionist:
Samit Gopal

Counsel for Opposite Parties:
Govt. Advocate

Penal Code, 1860 -- Section 21 -- 'Public servant' -- Chairman, Nagar Palika Parishad -- U.P. Municipalities Act, 1916 -- Revisionist, while Chairman of a Nagar Palika Parishad, allegedly caused loss to public revenue in connivance with contractors by inflating tender rates beyond permissible limits; question raised whether sanction under Section 197 Cr.P.C. was necessary for his prosecution on the footing that a Chairman is a 'public servant' under Section 21 I.P.C. -- Held: Unlike statutes such as the Rajasthan Municipalities Act, 1959, which by a deeming provision declare every member of a Municipal Board to be a public servant, the U.P. Municipalities Act, 1916 contains no such deeming provision qua a 'Member' or 'President/Chairman' -- Following Ramesh Balkrishna Kulkarni v. State of Maharashtra, State of Tamil Nadu v. T. Thulasingam and State of Maharashtra v. Laljit Rajshi Shah, a Chairman of a Municipal Board under the U.P. Act, 1916 is not a 'public servant' within the meaning of Section 21 I.P.C. -- Manish Trivedi v. State of Rajasthan, resting on the specific deeming provision of the Rajasthan Act, distinguished. (Paras 11-29)
Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 -- Section 197 -- Sanction for prosecution -- Relevant date -- Held: Following R.S. Nayak v. A.R. Antulay, the relevant date for determining the requirement of sanction under Section 197 Cr.P.C. is the date on which cognizance is taken by the court, and not the date of commission of the offence; since the revisionist had ceased to hold office as Chairman before cognizance was taken, the plea of want of sanction was, in any event, not available to him. (Para 30)
Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 -- Section 197 -- Sanction -- Mode and sufficiency -- Held: No particular form is prescribed for grant of sanction; an administrative inquiry report followed by a Government order directing initiation of criminal proceedings against the accused sufficiently constitutes sanction. (Para 32)
Criminal Revision Dismissed --
Order dated 03.08.2004 passed by Additional Sessions Judge, Court No. 5, Saharanpur in Criminal Revision No. 131 of 1996, setting aside rejection of the protest petition and directing the trial court to summon the accused-revisionist under Sections 406, 409, 420 I.P.C., upheld; interim order, if any, vacated. (Delivered by Hon'ble Sudhir Agarwal, J.)

1. This criminal revision under Section 397/401 Cr.P.C. has been filed by Accused-Revisionist, Ravinder Talwar challenging order dated 03.08.2004 passed by Additional Sessions Judge, Court No. 5, Saharanpur in Criminal Revision No. 131 of 1996.

2. Additional Chief Judicial Magistrate-II, Saharanpur, vide order dated 04.01.1996 has rejected protest petition and accepted final report, whereagainst Respondent-2 preferred criminal revision which has been allowed vide impugned judgment and Trial Court has been directed to summon Accused-Revisionist under Sections 406, 409, 420 IPC.

3. Brief facts emerging from First Information Report (hereinafter referred to as the "FIR") and record are that Accused-Revisionist who was Chairman, Nagar Palika Parishad, Saharanpur, at the relevant time, in connivance with Contractors and officials of Nagar Palika Parishad got computation of cost increased multifold against sanctioned tender rates and thereafter allotted on such accepted rates though he had no jurisdiction or authority to do so. As per rules there could be no deviation of more than 10% from estimated cost but he got variation done by more than 100%. As per rules he was required to got separate work orders and call for separate tenders, Instead, in an illegal manner and in connivance with Contractors he caused misfeasance of public funds for personal interest by getting revised work done from Contractors on earlier rates. FIR further states that in some construction work, amount was paid to Contractors, 400 times above approved original tender amount. It further gives details of various financial irregularities and illegalities committed by Accused-Revisionist in wasting public fund.

4. After registering FIR as Case Crime No. 315 of 1992 under Sections 406, 409, 467, 468, 420 IPC at Police Station Kutub Sher, District Saharanpur, investigation was made by police and ultimately final report was submitted on 11.10.1993.

5. Dissatisfied with submission of final report, Complainant-Executive Engineer, Nagar Palika Parishad, Saharanpur filed a protest petition in the Court of Second Additional Chief Judicial Magistrate, Saharanpur which was registered as Misc. Case No. 12 of 1994. Trial Court vide judgment and order dated 04.01.1996 rejected protest petition and accepted final report. Aggrieved thereto, Complainant-Respondent-2 preferred Criminal Revision No. 131 of 1996 which has been allowed and Revisionist is directed to be summoned to face trial under Section 409, 420, 406 IPC.

6. Sri Samit Gopal, learned counsel appearing for revisionist contended that revisionist was Chairman, Nagar Palika Parishad and hence a "public servant" within the meaning of Section 21 IPC, therefore, without obtaining sanction from Government it was not open to Court below to take cognizance of an offence and initiate criminal proceedings against him. It is said that since no sanction under Section 197 Cr.P.C. has been obtained, therefore, impugned order passed by Revisional Court is bad in law. He placed reliance on Bhairon Prasad Vs. Emperor, AIR 1928 All 756; Dayachand (Chanchal) Ramdas Jain Vs. State, 1959 MPLJ 163; Maharudrappa Danappa Kesarappanavar Vs. The State of Mysore, AIR 1961 SC 785; and, Prem Narain and another Vs. State of U.P., 1975 Cr.L.J. 1783. On the question of applicability of Section 197 Cr.P.C. learned counsel for the revisionist relied on three decisions Dilawar Singh Vs. Parvinder Singh @ Iqbal Singh and another, AIR 2006 SC 389; D.T. Virupakshappa Vs. C. Subash, AIR 2015 SC 2022; and, N.K. Ganguly Vs. Central Bureau of Investigation, New Delhi, 2016(2) SCC 143.

7. Sri Syed Ali Murtaza, learned Additional Government Advocate, per contra, submitted that at the time when criminal proceedings were initiated, revisionist was not holding any public office, hence Section 197 Cr.P.C. is not attracted in the case in hand.

8. Revisionist held office of Chairman, Nagar Palika Parishad, Saharanpur from 08.02.1989 to 08.02.1991 as stated in para 17 of memo of revision. During this period it is alleged that he caused loss to public revenue of Nagar Palika Parishad by colluding with Contractors, awarding contracts to them in an illegal manner, paying huge amount than it was actually payable and thus committed offence under Sections 406, 409, 467, 468, 420 IPC.

9. Matter was enquired on administrative side by City Magistrate, Saharanpur and he submitted report on 21.06.1990. State Government vide order dated 02.09.1992 directed District Magistrate, Saharanpur to initiate criminal proceedings against revisionist, whereupon Additional District Magistrate (Executive) directed Circle Officer to proceed and as a result thereof FIR was lodged by Circle Officer at Police Station Kutub Sher on 19.10.1992 being Case Crime No. 315 of 1992 under Sections 406, 409, 467, 468, 420 IPC.

10. Revisionist challenged FIR in Writ Petition No. 37035 of 1992. This Court vide order dated 30.10.1992 stayed arrest of revisionist but directed Investigating Officer to proceed with investigation. Investigating Officer then submitted final report, whereagainst Executive Officer, Nagar Palika Parishad suubmitted protest petition which was rejected by Magistrate but now the matter has been reversed by Revisional Court.

11. First question to be considered in this case is, whether a "Chairman, Nagar Palika Parishad" is a "public servant" as defined under Section 21 IPC.

12. Section 21 IPC, relevant and the part relied by revisionist, reads as under:

"21. "Public servant".--The words "public servant" denote a person falling under any of the descriptions hereinafter following; namely:

.....

Ninth--Every officer whose duty it is, as such officer, to take, receive, keep or expand any property on behalf of the Govern-ment, or to make any survey, assessment or contract on behalf of the Government, or to execute any revenue process, or to investigate, or to report, on any matter affecting the pecuniary interests of the Government, or to make, authenticate or keep any document relating to the pecuniary interests of the Govern-ment, or to prevent the infraction of any law for the protection of the pecuniary interests of the Government;

Tenth-- Every officer whose duty it is, as such officer, to take, receive, keep or expend any property, to make any survey or assessment or to levy any rate or tax for any secular common purpose of any village, town or district, or to make, authenti-cate or keep any document for the ascertaining of the rights of the people of any village, town or district;*

Eleventh--Every person who holds any office in virtue of which he is empowered to prepare, publish, maintain or revise an elec-toral roll or to conduct an election or part of an election;*

Twelfth--Every person--*

(a) in the service or pay of the Government or remunerated by fees or commission for the performance of any public duty by the Government;

(b) in the service or pay of a local authority, a corporation established by or under a Central, Provincial or State Act or a Government company as defined in section 617 of the Companies Act, 1956." (emphasis added)

13. In Bhairon Prasad Vs. Emperor (supra) District Magistrate, who at that time also had judicial powers, proceeded against a 'Member' of Municipal Board alleging that he has contravened Section 82(1) of U.P. Municipalities Act, 1916 (hereinafter referred to as the "U.P. Act, 1916"), hence committed an offence under Section 168 IPC. Court held that sanction under Section 197 Cr.P.C. was necessary. In aforesaid judgment which has been rendered by an Hon'ble Single Judge, I do not find that any dispute was raised, whether a 'Member' of Municipal Board is a "public servant" or not within the meaning of Section 21 IPC and it appears that Court proceeded as if he is, as agreed by the parties. Aforesaid judgment, in my view, is not an authority on the question raised, whether Chairman, Nagar Palika Parishad is a "public servant" under Section 21 IPC or not, since this issue was neither raised nor argued nor decided so as to constitute a precedent but in that case parties proceeded on assumption that Member of Municipal Board is a public servant.

14. In Dayachand (Chanchal) Ramdas Jain (supra) an Hon'ble Single Judge of Madhya Pradesh High Court had an occasion to consider, whether "Chairman, Municipal Board", Tikamgarh is a "public servant" within the meaning of Section 21 IPC or not. Court noticed that Clause Tenth of Section 21 covers a Municipal Commissioner as a "public servant". In Nanhe Vs. The Municipal Committee, Jubbulpore, 25 NLR 194 and Suganchand Vs. Naraindas, AIR 1932 Sind 177 it was held that Municipal Commissioner, an archaic expression, would include a member of Municipal Committee. However, in the case before Sindh High Court provisions of C.P. Municipalities Act, 1922 were considered and Section 46 thereof specifically provided that every 'member' of a committee shall be deemed to be a "Municipal Commissioner" within the meaning of any enactment for the time being in force. Madhya Pradesh High Court in Dayachand (Chanchal) Ramdas Jain (supra) considering provisions of Sections 3(20), 39 and 267 of Rewa Municipalities Act, 1946 held that "Chairman" is an "officer of Board" and, therefore, a "public servant" within the meaning of Section 21 IPC. In the aforesaid judgments of Sindh and Madhya Pradesh High Courts, since provincial statutes declare under that a Member of Municipal Committee shall be deemed to be a Municipal Commissioner and Municipal Commissioner is an officer and in service of local authority by virtue of deeming clause, Court held him to be a "public servant" under Section 21 IPC. There is no bar that legislature by making a specific provision can create a fiction by a deeming clause in respect of something which is not there otherwise. Therefore, aforesaid judgments also would not help revisionist to hold that he is/was a "public servant" under Section 21 IPC.

15. In Maharudrappa Danappa Kesarappanavar, Court considered similar question. Accused person was a "Municipal Counselor" and "Chairman" of Managing Committee of Navalgund Municipality. The provisions of Bombay District Municipal Act, 1901 were applicable in that case. Court held that since as "Chairman" he could spent money of Municipality by ordering payment of bills and, therefore, is a "public servant" as defined in Clause Tenth of Section 21 IPC. Court while upholding the view taken by High Court that he was a "public servant" held as under:

"9. The aforesaid power is conferred on the Chairman for the benefit of the persons who have served the Municipality and have got the right to receive their pay or money for articles provided. There may arise circumstances when any delay in payment may affect those persons adversely. The pay is due on the first day of the month and it may not be convenient to fix a meeting of the Committee at a date for early payment of the pay due. A meeting already fixed may have to be adjourned for want of quorum. The passing of the pay bills, in the circumstances, is more or less a formal matter and therefore the rules empower the Chairman of the Managing Committee to order payment of the pay bills in anticipation of sanction by the Committee. The Chairman can exercise this power for the benefit of the employees voluntarily or when requested by those persons to exercise it*. The mere fact that this power of the Chairman was to be exercised only with respect to fixed recurring charges and in anticipation of the Committee passing the bills for those charges therefore does not affect the question in any way.* Clause ten of Section 21 of the Indian Penal Code merely requires that the person should have the duty to expend property for certain purposes*. It is not restricted to such cases only where there is no limitation on the exercise of that power of expending property*. The Chairman has the duty to order payment and to spend the money of the Municipality in certain circumstances. We therefore hold that the appellant was a 'public servant' when the alleged offence was committed." (emphasis added)*

16. This judgment was rendered by analyzing provisions of Bombay District Municipal Act, 1901 and since it has not been brought to this Court whether provisions of said Act are pari materia with statutory provisions of U.P. Act, 1916, therefore, it is difficult to hold that for the reasons stated therein, in the present case also a Chairman can be held a "public servant" under Section 21 IPC.

17. In the context of U.P. Act, 1916, question related to Municipal Commissioner was considered by a learned Single Judge in Prem Narain (supra). The discussion made in paras 4 and 5 read as under:

"4. There is no dispute about Mayaram being a public servant. Section 84 of the U. P. Municipalities Act provides that every officer or servant of a Board shall be deemed to be public servant within the meaning of the Indian Penal Code. There was a controversy on the point whether Prem Narain in the capacity of Municipal Board Commissioner was also a public servant or not. Illustration to Section 21 (12th) of the I.P.C. clearly indicates that a Municipal Commissioner is a public servant, The Rajas-than High Court in the case of State v. Bansilal Luhadia held that the word 'Commissioner' in this Illustration has been used in the sense of Municipal member or councillor and not in the sense of an officer in the employment of a Municipality who is sometimes designated by that name. A learned single Judge of this Court also held in the case of Bhairaon Pd. v. Emperor AIR 1928 All 756 : 30 Cri LJ 62 that a member of the Municipal Board was covered by the definition of public servant and sanction of the local Government under Section 197, Cr. P. C. was necessary for prosecuting him. Their Lordships of the Supreme Court also held in the case of Maharudrappa Danappa Kesarappanavar vs. State of Mysore that, the Chairman of a managing committee of the Municipal Board is a public servant within Clause (10) of Section 21, I.P.C.

5. Section 40 of the U. P. Municipalities Act provides that a member of the Municipal Board can be removed by the State Government only. In my opinion, there is no doubt that a member of the Municipal Board when he is entrusted with certain duties and he acts in discharge of those duties, he does act as a public servant. It is not disputed that he is being prosecuted for acts done by him in the discharge of his duties as & member of the Municipal Board. Sanction of the State Government was, therefore, necessary for his prosecution. Similarly, sanction of the State Government was necessary for prosecution of Mayaram applicant No. 2. His service too is now centralised; the appointing and removing authority being the State Government. The entire proceedings were, therefore, vitiated in the absence of sanction. It was held by the Supreme Court in the case of R.P. Kapoor v. State that the entire proceedings are liable to be quashed under Section 561-A, Cr. P. C. if there was lack of legal sanction." (emphasis added)

18. This court finds nothing in U.P. Act, 1916 to show that a Municipal Commissioner is same as Chairman of Municipality. The term "servants of Municipality" is defined under Section 2(22) of U.P. Act, 1916 as under:

"(22) "Servant of the Municipality" means any person in the pay and service of the Municipality."

19. Composition of Municipality is provided under Section 9 comprising of a President, who shall be its Chairman and elected and other members as stated in Section 9. The process of bringing in 'President' is election vide Section 43 of Act, 1916. It clearly provides, if a Member is elected as 'President' also, he shall cease to be a Member except as provided in Section 49. Section 49 provides that 'President' shall be ex-officio Member of Municipality. Therefore, the term 'Member' as such does not include 'President' since Member is elected as Member and 'President' is elected as 'President' directly on the basis of adult suffrage by electors in municipal area. In certain circumstances, provided in Section 48, a President can be removed from office by State Government. Functions and additional duties to be performed by a 'President' are provided in Sections 50 and 51 of Act, 1916. There is no term like "Municipal Commissioner" used in Act, 1916. Section 84 declares "officers" and "servants" of a Municipality to be deemed "public servants" but looking to the definition of "officers" and "servants" under Section 2(12) and (22) it cannot be said that the same would include a Member or President of Municipality.

20. It is no doubt true that in the context of U.P. Act, 1916 in Prem Narain (supra) a learned Single Judge specifically considered the question, whether Prem Narain, a Municipal Commissioner is a "public servant" or not but nothing is shown for U.P. Act, 1916 that it is the President of Municipality and both are interchangeable. Prem Narain being a Municipal Commissioner was held to be a "public servant" hence aforesaid judgment also would not help revisionist. It is true that in para 5 of judgment, Court has observed that a Member of Municipal Board when entrusted with certain duties, acts as a "public servant" but that was not an issue before Court.

21. In the later decisions, however, I find that there is a different view taken and they also need be noticed hereat.

22. A Constitution Bench in R.S. Nayak Vs. A.R. Antulay, 1984(2) SCC 183 had an occasion to consider a question, whether a Member of Legislative Assembly is a "public servant" under Section 21 IPC or not. Court framed two issues in this respect as under:

"(d) Is M.L.A. a public servant within the meaning of the expression in Sec. 21(12)(a) IPC?

(e) Is M.L.A. a public servant within the meaning of the expression in Sec.21(3) and Sec. 21(7) IPC?"

23. Court held that, "one can justifiably say that M.L.A. could not be comprehended in any of the clauses of Sec. 21 to be a public servant when the Indian Penal Code was enacted in 1860." Then changes brought in Clauses (9) and (12) of Section 21 IPC were considered and Court held that expression 'Government' in Section 21 (12)(a) clearly denotes the Executive and not Legislature. M.L.A. is certainly not in the pay of Executive. Therefore, even if he receives pay and allowances, can not be said to be in the pay of Government i.e. Executive. Similarly, it also cannot be said that he is remunerated by fees for performance of any public duty by Government, i.e., Executive. It ultimately held:

"74. If M.L.A. is not in the pay of the Government in the sense of Executive government or is not remunerated by fees for performance of any public duty by the Executive Government, certainly he would not be comprehended in the expression 'public servant' within the meaning of the expression in Clause (12) (a). He is thus not a public servant within the meaning of the expression in Clause (12) (a). This conclusion reinforces the earlier conclusion reached by us after examining the historical evolution of Clause (12) (a)."

24. For answering Question (e) Court held that Section 21(3) and (7) are not applicable to M.L.A.

25. A specific question came up for consideration, whether a Municipal Councilor is a "public servant" or not, in Ramesh Balkrishna Kulkarni vs. State of Maharashtra, 1985(3) SCC 606. Relying on the decision in R.S. Nayak Vs. A.R. Antulay (supra) Court held that a "Municipal Councilor" is a person different from the concept of a "public servant". It observed:

"..... we are of the opinion that the concept of a 'public servant' is quite different from that of a Municipal Councilor. A 'public servant' is an authority who must be appointed by Government or a semi-governmental body and should be in the pay or salary of the same. Secondly, a 'public servant' is to discharge his duties in accordance with the rules and regulations made by the Government. On the other hand, a Municipal Councilor does not owe his appointment to any governmental authority. Such a person is elected by the people and functions undeterred by the commands or edicts of a governmental authority. The mere fact that a MLA gets allowance by way of honorarium does not convert his status into that of a 'public servant'. In Antulay's case (supra), the learned Judges of the Constitution Bench have referred to the entire history and evolution of the concept of a 'public servant' as contemplated by Section 21 of the IPC." (emphasis added)

26. This decision was followed in State of Tamil Nadu vs. T. Thulasingam and others, 1994(2) SCC (Suppl.) 405 and in para 76 of judgment, Court held that "Councilors" are not "public servants" and for that purpose relied on earlier decision in Ramesh Balkrishna Kulkarni (supra).

27. In a matter went from judgment of Rajasthan High Court to Supreme Court, i.e. Manish Trivedi vs. State of Rajasthan, AIR 2014 SC 648 the authorities in Ramesh Balkrishna Kulkarni (supra) and T. Thulasingam (supra) have been distinguished and it is held that a member, officer or servant of Municipality shall be a "public servant". The reason being that there was a specific provision in Section 87 of Rajasthan Municipalities Act, 1959 declaring that every Member, Officer or Servant etc. shall be deemed to be "public servant". Referring to specific provision contained in Section 87 of Rajasthan Municipalities Act, Court held that since every member of Municipality was specifically declared to be a deemed public servant, decisions in Ramesh Balkrishna Kulkarni (supra) and its follow up would not apply to the case governed by Rajasthan Municipalities Act. Court further held that case before it relates to prosecution under Prevention of Corruption Act, 1988 and since there is a separate definition of "public servant" under Section 2(c), the matter has to be looked into in the light of such definition and not under Section 21 IPC. It was held that under Prevention of Corruption Act there is a wide definition of "public servant" with a purpose to purify public administration and such widened scope cannot be restricted as that would be against spirit of statute. Court distinguished judgments in Ramesh Balkrishna Kulkarni (supra), R.S. Nayak Vs. A.R. Antulay (supra) and T. Thulasingam (supra) by observing as under:

"20. Now we revert to the authorities relied on by Mr. Adhiyaru i.e. R.S. Nayak (supra), Ramesh Balkrishna Kulkarni (supra) and T. Thulasingam (supra). In all these decisions, this Court was considering the scope of Section 21 of the Indian Penal Code which defines 'public servant'. It was necessary to do so as Section of the Prevention of Corruption Act, 1947 defined 'public servant' to mean as defined Under Section 21 of the Indian Penal Code. A member of the Board, or for that matter, a Councillor per se, may not come within the definition of the public servant as defined Under Section 21 of the Indian Penal Code but this does not mean that they cannot be brought in the category of public servant by any other enactment. In the present case, the Municipal Councillor or member of the Board does not come within the definition of public servant as defined Under Section 21 of the Indian Penal Code, but in view of the legal fiction created by Section of the Rajasthan Municipalities Act, they come within its definition." (emphasis added)

28. The decision in Ramesh Balkrishna Kulkarni (supra) was also followed in State of Maharashtra vs. Laljit Rajshi Shah and others, 2000(2) SCC 699.

29. In view of above discussion and finding that no specific provision like I find in Rajasthan Municipalities Act, 1959 declaring a Member or Chairman as "public servant" exist in U.P. Act, 1916, I am of the opinion that a Chairman of Municipal Board under Act, 1916 is not a "public servant" and for this purpose follow law laid down in Ramesh Balkrishna Kulkarni (supra); T. Thulasingam (supra); and, Laljit Rajshi Shah (supra).

30. However, even otherwise I find that objection regarding sanction in the present case is wholly irrelevant for the reason that order taking cognizance and summoning revisionist has been passed by Magistrate on 04.01.1996 when revisionist had already ceased to hold office of Chairman, Nagar Palika Parishad. As already said he functioned as Chairman, Nagar Palika Parishad from February, 1989 to February, 1991. In R.S. Nayak Vs. A.R. Antulay (supra) a question has been considered as to what is the relevant date with reference to a sanction as a prerequisite for prosecution of a "public servant". The same has been answered by observing that it is the date on which cognizance is taken by Court. Court has said:

"...terminus a quo for a valid sanction is the time when the court is called upon to the cognizance of the offence. If therefore, when the offence is alleged to have been committed, the accused was a public servant but by the time the court is called upon to take cognizance of the offence committed by him as public servant, he has ceased to be public servant, no sanction would be necessary for taking cognizance of the offence against him. ..... If he has ceased to be a public servant in the meantime, this vital consideration ceases to exist." (emphasis added)

31. In the present case also on the date when cognizance was taken revisionist was not holding office of Chairman, Nagar Palika Parishad and, therefore, plea of lack of sanction is not available. For this reason also objection raised by revisionist against summoning order passed by Court below, assailed in this revision, deserves to be rejected.

32. Even on the question of sanction I find that there is no specific mode or manner prescribed following whereto State Government is required to grant sanction. Sanction normally means that permission should be granted by State to initiate criminal proceedings against a person where such sanction is required by any statutory provision. In the present case City Magistrate, Saharanpur made an inquiry and submitted report, whereupon State Government passed order on 02.09.1992 to initiate criminal proceedings against revisionist. I find no reason not to treat said document as a sanction granted by Government for initiating criminal proceedings against revisionist. Therefore, even otherwise it cannot be said that there is no sanction of Government.

33. In the result, I find no merit in revision. Dismissed accordingly.

34. Interim order, if any, stands vacated.

35. Certify this judgment to the lower Court immediately.

Land Acquisition Act, 1894 -- Sections 4, 6 & 17 -- U.P. Urban Planning and Development Act, 1973 -- Jurisdiction of Development Authority -- Effect of creation of new Revenue District -- Notifications dated 16.10.2004 (Section 4) and 28.11.2005 (Section 6) issued for acquisition of 229.5390 acres in village Mohiuddinpur Kanawani for 'Planned Development' at instance of Ghaziabad Development Authority (GDA) -- Petitioners contended that the village, having become part of Revenue District Gautambudh Nagar carved out in 1997, and having been declared a Gram Panchayat, fell outside jurisdiction of GDA/District Ghaziabad -- Held: A 'development area' declared under Section 3 of U.P. Act, 1973 is not confined to a Revenue District and creation of a new Revenue District under U.P. Act, 1901 does not affect the territorial jurisdiction of a Development Authority already constituted over that area -- Declaration of a village as Gram Panchayat under U.P. Act, 1947 has no bearing on its inclusion within a 'development area' under U.P. Act, 1973 -- Village Mohiuddinpur Kanawani, though excluded from Ghaziabad Development Area upon its inclusion in NOIDA vide notification dated 18.05.1978 under U.P. Act, 1976, stood restored to GDA's jurisdiction upon supersession of that notification by notification dated 11.07.1989, which did not include the village -- GDA held to have jurisdiction to acquire the land. (Paras 35-58)

Land Acquisition Act, 1894 -- Section 17(1)/(4) -- Dispensation of Inquiry under Section 5A -- Existence of Urgency -- Power under Section 17 is an exception to normal procedure of acquisition and can be invoked only where there exists a real and bona fide urgency, not as a matter of course or in a mechanical manner -- Right to file objections under Section 5A is a substantive right akin to a facet of Articles 14 and 19 -- Held: Deliberation for acquisition of the land commenced as far back as 29.06.2001 and declaration under Section 6 was made only on 28.11.2005, i.e. more than four years later, with the process between Section 4 and Section 6 notifications alone taking over a year -- Such prolonged and leisurely process negates existence of genuine urgency -- No material or bona fide justification for dispensing with inquiry under Section 5A was demonstrated by respondents -- Exercise of power under Section 17(1) and (4) held illegal and arbitrary. (Paras 60-88)

National Capital Region Planning Board Act, 1985 -- Section 40 -- Sub-Regional Plan -- Approval of NCRPB -- Mandatory Compliance -- Acquisition of land situated within National Capital Region for 'Planned Development' requires that the Sub-Regional Plan of the participating State be in conformity with the Regional Plan and cleared by NCRPB, failing which it can neither be implemented nor enforced -- Held: Following the Full Bench decision in Gajraj Singh v. State of U.P., 2011 (11) ADJ 1, mere vague and general averment of compliance is insufficient; no material placed to show that a Sub-Regional Plan was formulated by GDA and submitted for NCRPB's consideration -- Change of user of acquired land (from recreational to residential under the Master Plan) without approval of NCRPB is impermissible -- Acquisition proceedings held not in conformity with the mandatory requirement of Act, 1985. (Paras 89-96)

Land Acquisition Act, 1894 -- Section 6(1) proviso (ii) -- Limitation for Declaration -- Effect of Corrigendum and Interim Stay -- Declaration under Section 6 must be made within one year of publication of notification under Section 4, the relevant date being the last of the modes of publication -- Held: Notification under Section 4 was published in Gazette on 16.10.2004, in newspapers on 22.10.2004 and Munadi carried out on 02.12.2004; substantial corrigenda were published on 19.01.2005 and 02.08.2005 correcting the notification -- Declaration dated 28.11.2005 computed from the last date of publication/corrigendum, and after excluding the period during which interim stay operated from 22.10.2005, is within limitation. (Paras 97-110)

Land Acquisition Act, 1894 -- Colourable Exercise of Power -- Acquisition for Private Builders -- Plea that acquisition was a colourable exercise since acquired land was largely transferred to private builders -- Held: In absence of specific pleading and material showing that acquisition was made for the benefit of an identified private person/company without compliance of law, and the scheme being one of Planned Development permitting participation of private builders in development, the plea cannot be accepted. (Paras 111-112)

Writ Petitions Allowed -- Notifications dated 16.10.2004 under Section 4 and 28.11.2005 under Section 6 of Land Acquisition Act, 1894, set aside qua the land of the petitioners in all connected writ petitions, for illegal dispensation of inquiry under Section 5A and non-compliance of National Capital Region Planning Board Act, 1985 -- Relief confined to petitioners who approached the Court -- Costs of Rs. 5,000/- for each set of writ petitions awarded against respondents 1, 2 and 3. State Government also exercised powers under Section 17(1) and (4) and dispensed with inquiry contemplated under Section 5A of 'Act, 1894'.

3. With the consent of parties, Writ Petition no. 4986 of 2005 (Hatam Singh and others vs. State of U.P. and another) has been made leading case and a combined paper book of the aforesaid writ petitions including respective pleadings of parties has been filed which has been referred by respective counsels in all connected writ petitions during course of arguments.

4. Writ Petition no. 35161 of 2014 has been filed by some petitioners who had already filed Writ Petition no. 363 of 2006, challenging acquisition notifications and subsequent writ petition is in respect of subsequent action being taken by respondent-authority i.e. GDA, by publishing auction notice dated 11.07.2014, and therefore, it is connected with the same.

5. GDA required certain land for "Planned Development". On the requisition sent by GDA, forwarded by Collector, Ghaziabad, State Government published notification dated 16th October, 2004 under Section 4(1) of Act, 1894, proposing to acquire 387-0-5 bighas land at Village Mohiuddinpur, Kanawani, Pargana-Loni, District Ghaziabad. State Government, exercising powers under Sections 17(1) and (4), also declared that land in question is needed urgently, therefore, inquiry under Section 5A of Act, 1894 shall stand dispensed with. Thereafter, declaration was made under Section 6 (1) of 'Act, 1894' vide notification dated 28th November, 2005, published in daily newspapers 'Dainik Jagran' dated 1st December, 2005.

6. In respect of some petitioners, who have claimed that there already existed certain constructions, GDA issued notices under Section 27(1) and 28(1) of U.P. Urban Planning and Development Act, 1973 (hereinafter referred to as 'U.P. Act, 1973') alleging that constructions have been raised without any permission/ approval by GDA and being unauthorised constructions should be removed by owners, failing which, penal action would be taken under Section 26 read with Section 14 of 'U.P. Act, 1973'. Notices issued to petitioners in leading writ petition have been filed as Annexure 3A to writ petition.

7. Before proceeding to consider rival submissions and our discussions in the matter, it would be appropriate to have, in brief, pleadings in concerned writ petitions so as to have advantage of factual aspects as available on record.

8. Leading Writ Petition no. 4986 of 2005 has come up at the instance of 6 petitioners, who claimed to be owners of plots numbers 256/2, 299, 381, 457/1; Khata no.358 and Khasara no. 450 situate in village Mohiuddinpur Kanawani, Pargana-Loni, Tehsil Dadri, District Gautambudh Nagar. All these plots have been mentioned in the notification dated 16th October, 2004, published under Section 4(1) of 'Act 1894' and dated 28th November, 2005, published under Section 6(1) of said Act. Petitioners have also received notices dated 06.12.2004, issued by GDA under Section 27(1) and 28(1) of 'U.P. Act, 1973', stating that constructions existing over plots mentioned therein are unauthorised and illegal, having been raised without sanction of map by GDA, under Section 15 of U.P. Act, 1973, therefore, should be removed else the same shall be demolished. Petitioners responded to aforesaid notices vide replies dated 21st December, 2004, stating that constructions are 10 to 12 years old and old Abadi of village. Village Mohiuddinpur Kanawani, is part of Village Panchayat, 'Bisrakh' and has been so declared as Panchayat under Article 243 E of Constitution of India. A separate Revenue District, Gautambudh Nagar was created vide notification dated 11.05.1997, whereupon jurisdiction of Ghaziabad District in respect of area notified under new Revenue District, Gautambudh Nagar ceased to be part of District Ghaziabad and officials of District Ghaziabad also ceased to have any jurisdiction over area which was brought within the jurisdiction of Gautambudh Nagar. Village Mohiuddinpur Kanawani is part of revenue area of District Gautambudh Nagar, as a result of creation of the said District. Respondent 2 i.e. Collector, Ghaziabad, had no authority or jurisdiction with respect to village Mohiuddinpur Kanawani, on and after 11th May, 1997. The said village ceased to be a part of 'Development Area', under Section 3 of 'U.P. Act, 1973'.

9. GDA was constituted for 'Planned Development' of Ghaziabad city, exercising jurisdiction over area declared as "development land" through Government notification dated 9th March, 1977, under Section 3 of 'U.P. Act, 1973' only for District Ghaziabad, hence disputed plots of petitioners situate in village, Mohiuddinpur Kanawani, being part of District Gautambudh Nagar, cannot be developed by GDA. Disputed plots of petitioners over which residential houses are constructed, are old Abadi of village, having been declared 'Abadi' under Section 143 of U.P. Zamindari Abolition and Land Reforms Act, 1950 (hereinafter referred to as 'U.P. Act, 1950'), by competent authority, hence stand regularised as residential constructions raised by petitioners over agricultural plots and cannot be termed unauthorised by GDA. District Gautambudh Nagar was disbanded by State, vide notification dated 30.01.2004, issued under Section 11(2) of U.P. Land Revenue Act, 1901 (hereinafter referred to as 'U.P. Act, 1901'). The said notification was quashed by this Court vide judgment dated 21st May, 2004 in Rajesh Kumar Sharma vs. State of U.P. and others [2004 (3) AWC 2234], as a result whereof, Distirct Gautambudh Nagar continued and petitioners' village also continued to be part thereof. State of U.P. has not applied its mind while issuing notification under Section 4(1) of 'Act, 1894' that village, Mohiuddinpur Kanawani, is not part of District Ghaziabad but is a part of Gautambudh Nagar, hence aforesaid notification to this extent is apparently illegal and bad. Power has been exercised under Section 17, so as to dispense with inquiry under Section 5A of 'Act, 1894' without any material, without any application of mind and without forming opinion on the basis of any inquiry or material. Acquisition notifications have been issued mechanically without any relevant material and to curtail statutory rights of petitioners to file objections under Section 5(A) of Act, 1894.

10. Right to file objections under Section 5A is protected as a fundamental right guaranteed under Articles 14 and 19 of Constitution and same cannot be taken away under Section 17(4) of Act, 1894, without forming specific opinion based on relevant material on record about existing of urgency in interest of public at large. GDA has not deposited total amount of compensation to be awarded before declaration under Section 6(1), hence declaration under Section 6 of Act, 1894 is unsustainable in law. Collector has not tendered 80% compensation for the land of petitioners till the date of filing of petition as required under Section 17 (3A) of Act, 1894, hence Collector is not entitled to take possession of petitioners' land. State has not produced documents relevant to reports of concerned authorities regarding existence of urgency. State can not acquire land either for development or construction of residential houses when Abadi already exist at the site. GDA has no jurisdiction or authority to issue notices under Sections 27 and 28 of 'U.P. Act, 1973' and such notices are illegal and void ab initio.

11. GDA has contested writ petition by filing a counter affidavit, sworn by Sri Manoj Kumar Mishra, Assistant Engineer. It is alleged that writ petition is pre-mature, since it was filed challenging only notification under Section 4(1). Constructions raised by petitioners over plots in dispute without sanction of GDA are illegal. In respect to notices issued to petitioners under Section 27 and 28(1), they have alternative remedy of appeal before Chairman, GDA under Section 27 of U.P. Act, 1973. Constructions, as alleged, are not old but were started only in December, 2004. However, even if, the same is 12 years old, at that time also, GDA was there and hence, constructions raised without permission or sanction of map by GDA are illegal.

12. Factum that village, Mohiuddinpur Kanawani, is part of village Panchayat or not is irrelevant. Vide notification dated 29.01.1972, issued under Section 3(1) of U.P. (Regulation of Building Operations) Act, 1958 (hereinafter referred to as 'U.P. Act, 1958'), certain areas were declared 'Regulated Area'. Notification included several villages which were part of Districts Meerut and Bulandshahr, besides entire area within Nagarpalika limit of District Ghaziabad. A copy of the notification is annexure-1 to Counter Affidavit. It shows that 118 villages of District Meerut, and 19, villages of District Bulandshahr were notified as 'Regulated Area, Ghaziabad'. The name of village, Mohiuddinpur Kanawani, is at serial no.47, since at that time it was part of District Meerut. Subsequently, GDA was created under U.P. Act, 1973 and State Government published notification dated 9th March, 1977 under Section 3 of the said Act, stating that entire area declared as 'Regulated Area, Ghaziabad' vide notification dated 29.01.1972 shall be "Ghaziabad Development Area" under 'U.P. Act, 1973', except the area which is a cantonment, in the ownership of Central Government, for the use of National Territorial Army and owned by Central Government or acquired or taken on lease.

13. It is said that "Ghaziabad Development Area" was entire area which was notified as "Regulated Area, Ghaziabad" vide notification dated 29.01.1972, and therefore, village in dispute came to be notified within functional area of GDA. Once area is notified as "development area" for any development authority, the same would continue unless denotified or merged with another Development Authority. At the time of filing of counter affidavit, in March, 2005, GDA had operational area in some revenue villages of Districts Meerut, Bagpath and Bulandshahr. Mere creation of new district would make no difference to already notified 'development area' of a Development Authority. It is not correct that GDA has also been created for only 'Planned Development' of Ghaziabad city but it is for development of area notified under Section 3 of U.P. Act, 1973. It is also said that constructions raised by petitioners have been demolished after serving of notices upon them.

14. In Rejoinder Affidavit filed by petitioners in leading writ petition replying to the Counter Affidavit filed by GDA, it is said that after creation of Revenue District Gautambudh Nagar, State Government published a notification, under Section 3 read with Section 11 of U.P. Panchayat Raj Act, 1947 (hereinafter referred to as 'U.P. Act, 1947'), as amended in 1994, and revenue village, Mohiuddinpur Kanawani, has been declared a Gram Panchayat, hence it ceased to be a "Development Area" under GDA. State Government, therefore, cannot acquire area for development by GDA. Petitioners have not received any demolition order and are still running a school named 'Vande Matram Academy', established in the year 1992, on disputed plots. It is wrong to allege that constructions have been demolished. Notification under Section 3 of 'U.P. Act, 1958' was issued when Ghaziabad was a Sub-division of District Meerut. After District Gautambudh Nagar came into existence, village, Mohiuddinpur Kanawani, is within jurisdiction of new district and having been constituted a separate village Panchayat, it stands exempted from jurisdiction of GDA. Notification under Section 3, issued on 9th March, 1977 ceased to apply to those areas which become part of a new District Gautambudh Nagar, after its creation in 1997 and also when a separate village Panchayat was created under U.P. Act, 1947. GDA was created for "Planned Development" of District Ghaziabad, hence it had jurisdiction only within limit of District Ghaziabad. Parliament has enacted National Capital Region Planning Board Act, 1985 (hereinafter referred to as 'Act, 1985'). It comprises whole Union Territory of Delhi, some parts of State of Haryana, Uttar Pradesh and Rajsthan. It includes entire Districts Ghaziabad, Bulandshahr and Meerut. GDA, therefore, cannot acquire land for residential purpose in contravention of sub-regional and project plan, prepared by National Capital Region Planning Board (hereinafter referred to as 'NCRPB')unless its permission is obtained under Section 29 of Act, 1985. Provisions of Act, 1985 have overriding effect over U.P. Act, 1973.

15. A Supplementary Rejoinder Affidavit has been filed appending therewith a notification dated 18th May, 1978 issued by State Government under Section 3 of U.P. Industrial Area Development Act, 1976 (hereinafter referred to as U.P. Act, 1976'), declaring "Industrial Development Area", constituting "New Okhala Industrial Development Area" (hereinafter referred to as 'NOIDA'). The same comprised of 14 villages of District Ghaziabad, including village, Mohiuddinpur Kanawani, area 917 acres. It is said that since village, Mohiuddinpur Kanawani, has now been notified as a part of "Industrial Development Area" under U.P. Act, 1976, hence the said village ceased to be within the jurisdiction of Development Area of GDA.

16. On behalf of respondent 1 also a separate Counter Affidavit has been filed, sworn by Sri Shiv Janam Chaudhary, Under Secretary, Housing and Urban Planning Department. It has also referred to notifications dated 29th January, 1972 issued under U.P. Act, 1958' and dated 9th March, 1977 issued under U.P. Act, 1973' and averred that village, Mohiuddinpur Kanawani, is part of "Development Area" placed within the jurisdiction of GDA. State Government is competent to declare an area to be a "Development Area" irrespective of whether it is part of a district or beyond that. A "Development Authority" under Section 4 is created for any Development Area and it is not with respect to any particular Revenue District, therefore, acquisition notification dated 16.10.2004, under Section 4(1) is valid, since the disputed village in question is within Development Area of GDA. It is said that District Gautambudh Nagar was abolished vide notification dated 13.01.2004, which was quashed by High Court vide judgment dated 21.05.2004 but due to inadvertent mistake into notification dated 16.10.2004, village in question was shown in District Ghaziabad, hence corrigendum was issued on 28.09.2005, wherein it was said that in place of 'Ghaziabad', it shall be read as 'Gautambudh Nagar'. Aforesaid clerical mistake would not affect validity of acquisition notification.

17. Very strangely, however, we find that no specific reply has been given by State Government in respect of assertions made by petitioners about non-existence of urgency and arbitrary and illegal exercise of power under Section 17(1) and (4) for dispensing with inquiry under Section 5A of 'Act, 1894'. There is only a bare denial but no details have been given to show that there actually existed some urgency.

18. In Rejoinder Affidavit, petitioners have reiterated their averments as already discussed.

19. Then a Supplementary Counter Affidavit has been filed by GDA, stating that by notification dated 6th May, 1997, under Section 11 of U.P. Act, 1901 a new Revenue District, Gautambudh Nagar, was created comprising of 185 revenue villages of Tehsil Dadari, District Ghaziabad, 159 revenue villages of Tehsil Sikandarabad and 105 revenue villages of Tehsil Khurja, District Bulandshahr. The aforesaid notification dated 6th May, 1997 was modified vide notification dated 6th September, 1997 making certain changes of revenue villages, which were earlier notified so as to comprise 'District Gautambudh Nagar'. Thereafter, vide notification dated 13.01.2004 issued under Section 11(2) of U.P. Act, 1901, District Gautambudh Nagar was abolished by superseding notification dated 6th May, 1997 but a judgment of this Court, dated 21st May, 2004, quashed abolition notification dated 13.01.2004. Principal Secretary, Revenue issued an order dated 25.06.2004 informing all the authorities that abolished districts are continuing since abolition notification has been quashed, and, shall function as they were already working. Consequently, proposal for acquisition of land for village, Mohiuddinpur Kanawani, was sent by GDA to District Magistrate, Gautambudh Nagar on 04.10.2002, after making necessary inquiry. Additional District Magistrate (Land Acquisition) [hereinafter referred to as 'ADM(LA)'], Gautambudh Nagar, made recommendation to State Government whereupon notification dated 16.10.2004 under Section 4(1) of Act, 1894 was issued. Since therein District Ghaziabad was mentioned, ADM (LA), Gautambudh Nagar requested Government to issue a corrigendum vide letter dated 23.09.2005, which was issued correcting District 'Ghaziabad' as District 'Gautambudh Nagar'. It is said that revenue village, Mohiuddinpur Kanawani, is part of 'Development Area' of GDA, and therefore, GDA has rightly proceeded to acquire land thereat. It is also clarified that proposal for acquisition of land was received by District Magistrate, Gautambudh Nagar from GDA vide letter dated 04.10.2002 and matter was pending when District Gautambudh Nagar was abolished on 13.01.2004, as a result whereof, District Ghaziabad proceeded in the matter. After quashing of notification dated 13.01.2004, again District Magistrate, Gautambudh Nagar got jurisdiction but State Government's notification dated 16.10.2004 committed mistake by mentioning "District Ghaziabad". Since it was quite in vicinity to period when judgment was delivered by this Court and Revenue Secretary issued letter, hence, District Magistrate, Gautambudh Nagar requested for corrigendum and actually it was issued.

20. There is another Counter Affidavit filed on behalf of State of U.P. along with which an inspection report of joint survey, made by staff of GDA and Collector, Ghaziabad has been filed as Annexure CA 1. It gives details of construction, trees etc. existing on the land proposed to be acquired.

21. Petitioners have filed a Supplementary Affidavit sworn on 10th September, 2013 by Sri Deepak Singh, petitioner 4 stating that circle rates for village, Mohiuddinpur Kanawani, are being determined by Collector, Gautambudh Nagar which show that the said village is within District Gautambudh Nagar and not Ghaziabad. GDA has no authority to exercise development work thereat. It is also said that GDA has transferred substantial part of acquired land to private builders by way of auction.

22. GDA has replied the same by filing Supplementary Counter Affidavit sworn by Sri Anil Kumar Singh, Tehsildar, GDA, stating that revenue village, Mohiuddinpur Kanawani, is part of 'Development Area' of GDA, though as a revenue village, it is part of District Gautambudh Nagar. That is why village Mohiuddinpur Kanawani has been notified in Ghaziabad Master Plan, 2012 under 'U.P. Act, 1973'.

23. In the rejoinder affidavit, petitioners have virtually reiterated whatever they have already said.

24. There is a Supplementary Counter Affidavit on behalf of respondent 1-State giving following details:

(a). Notification under Section 4(1) Act, 1894 for acquiring 229.5390 acres of land was published in two daily newspapers "Dainik Jagran" and "Amar Ujala" on 22.10.2004 and a Public Munadi was made on 02.12.2004.

(b). Declaration under Section 6(1) of Act, 1894 was made vide notification dated 28.11.2005. It was published in Gazette (Extraordinary), of the same date, and in two newspapers "Dainik Jagran" and "Amar Ujala" on 01.12.2005. Public Munadi was also made in the locality on 01.12.2005.

(c). Notification under Section 9 of Act, 1894 was issued on 19.01.2006.

(d). Possession of 113.5918 acres of land was taken on 14.09.2006.

(e). Collector made award determining compensation on 21.04.2012.

(f). Land owners, who have not accepted/received compensation, the same has been deposited in court under Section 31 of 'Act, 1894'.

(g). Village Mohiuddinpur Kanawani was declared part of 'Regulated Area, Ghaziabad' vide notification dated 29.01.1972. Thereafter it became part of 'Development Area' of Ghaziabad.

(h). The said village admittedly is revenue village of District Gautambudh Nagar but still part of 'Development Area' of GDA.

25. Petitioners, in rejoinder affidavit filed in reply to the aforesaid Supplementary Counter Affidavit of respondent 1, have said that State has not taken actual possession of land owned by petitioners.

26. There is a Second Supplementary Affidavit filed by petitioners, wherein it is said that GDA had deposited Rs. 2,54,97,000/- on 13.05.2003 and again similar amount i.e. Rs. 2,54,97,000/- on 01.07.2003 with ADM(LA), Gautambudh Nagar. Collector, Gautambudh Nagar issued letter to Directorate, Land Acquisition/ Board of Revenue on 11.12.2003 recommending issue of acquisition notification under Section 4(1)/17(1) of 'Act 1894'. No recommendation was made by Collector for invoking urgency clause under Section 17(1) and (4) and without such report, Government invoked aforesaid provisions and dispensed with inquiry under Section 5A. A fake document has been filed by Government in Counter Affidavit in Writ Petition No. 46055 of 2011, and therein, some justification for urgency has been mentioned but said document neither contains any Date nor Village, Pargana, Tehsil and District nor even signature of Collector, hence aforesaid document has no legal sanctity and consequence at all. Munadi was made under order of ADM(LA), Ghaziabad dated 30.11.2004. One Ram Narayan was authorised for Munadi by beating of drum in village on 02.12.2004 for which he received Rs.2500/- in cash. It is said that such Munadi is illegal, inasmuch as, no cash payment is permissible under Rules. Declaration under Section 6(1) has been issued on 28.11.2005 i.e. after expiry of one year from the date of notification under Section 4(1), hence it is barred by time. Notification under Section 4(1) was published in Gazette (Extraordinary) on 16.10.2004 and in newspapers on 22.10.2004 while declaration under Section 6(1) was published on 28.11.2005 i.e. after one year.

27. In reply to aforesaid Supplementary Affidavit, GDA has filed Second Supplementary Counter Affidavit admitting that 10% expenditure towards acquisition and 10% towards advance compensation was deposited by GDA. Document filed as SSA-3 justifying urgency was report of GDA and agreeing therewith, Collector, Gautambudh Nagar recommended for acquisition, hence it was not necessary to repeat same thing in Collector's letter. After notification dated 16.10.2004, a corrigendum was issued on 07.01.2005 and another corrigendum was issued on 28.09.2005 and declaration was made on 28.11.2005, hence there is no violation of Section 6 with respect to period. It is also said that Munadi of preliminary notification was done on 02.12.2004. Petitioner-1, Hatam

Singh has executed sale deed of plot nos.298, 299, 306 and 307 in favour of M/s Sparsh Wildwel Pvt. Ltd., Nayaganj, Kanpur and in revenue record mutation has taken place on 17.07.2009, pursuant to Tehsildar's order dated 10.12.2007. Similarly, petitioner-3, Khajan Singh has executed sale deed to one Surendra Mohan Chopra and Kiran Chopra, wife of Surendra Mohan Chopra and their names have been entered into revenue record on 02.07.2010 and 15.07.2010 pursuant to Tehsildar orders dated 13.06.2010 and 23.12.2010.

28. Similarly, a Second Supplementary Counter Affidavit has been filed by respondent 1 stating that Collector, Gautambudh Nagar satisfied with proposal of GDA, sent a letter dated 11.12.2003 to Directorate of Land Acquisition/ Board of Revenue for proceeding with acquisition along with proposal. Reasons for invocation of urgency provisions were also communicated and it was part of proposal. District Magistrate, Gautambudh Nagar, since has given consent to the entire proposal of GDA, it would not be proper to disconnect reasons contained in report of GDA which was part of record and was accepted by Collector and forwarded to Directorate, Land Acquisition. Report was part of proposal and hence facts were not repeated separately.

29. In Supplementary Rejoinder Affidavit, petitioners have reiterated facts which were already stated.

30. A third Supplementary Affidavit dated 11.04.2012 has been filed stating that neither possession of petitioners' land has been taken nor award has been made, therefore, acquisition proceedings in respect thereto have lapsed by virtue of Section 11E. It is also said that respondents are acting arbitrarily, inasmuch as, some land, acquired by impugned notifications, has been denotified/regularised/exempted in favour of some private colonizers, namely 'Jai Prakash Housing Corporation' and 'Indrason City Vikas Samit'. Some land has been auctioned in his favour of 'M/s Gaur Builders' for construction of Residential Group Housing which shows that acquisition is for the benefit of private builders.

31. There are some additional pleadings in other writ petitions also which we propose to refer/ discuss later on whenever occasion will arise.

32. Acquisition notifications under Sections 4 and 6 have been challenged basically on the ground that village Mohiuddinpur Kanawani is part of District Gautambudh Nagar, which was created vide notification dated 11.05.1997, under Section 11(2) U.P. Act, 1901, therefore, District Authorities at Ghaziabad as also GDA would have no jurisdiction to acquire land which is part and parcel of District Gautambudh Nagar; there is no material or justification to dispense with inquiry under Section 5A, and to this extent, impugned notifications invoking under Section 17(1) and (4) and dispensing inquiry under Section 5A of 'Act 1894' are illegal; there is no compliance of publication of notifications in two newspapers and also publicity in locality which is a mandatory requirement; declaration was made under Section 6 beyond one year, hence barred by limitation; disputed acquired land is part of area declared as "National Capital Region' and unless permission/approval is obtained from 'NCRPB' under the provisions of Act, 1985, any development and acquisition of land for development is invalid and illegal; the land, though claimed to have been acquired for "Planned Development" by GDA, but immediately after taking possession, it has been transferred to private builders, showing that acquisition in question is for the benefit of private/individual builders and this is a colourable exercise of power in the garb of public interest, therefore, vitiated in law; the village in question is part of village Panchayat 'Bisarakh' declared under Article 243 B read with 243 C, therefore, could not have been acquired by GDA as GDA has no power to interfere with area which is to be developed by local Panchayat.

33. The arguments have been mainly advanced by Sri Manish Goel which have been adopted by other counsels namely Sri W.H. Khan, Senior Advocate assisted by Sri G.H. Khan, Advocate Sri B.B. Singh, Sri J.N. Sharma, Sri Pankaj Dubey and Sri G.K. Singh. Besides, some learned counsels have also buttressed their contentions by referring to various authorities which we shall refer and deal with while discussing matter on respective issues.

34. Sri C.B. Yadav, Additional Advocate General assisted by Sri Shankar Shekhar Singh, and Sri Mahendra Pratap, Advocates have advanced submissions on behalf of respondents and GDA respectively. They have contested all the aforesaid issues and argued that area of operation of GDA is not confined to a district but to the area notified under Act, 1973 and village, Mohiuddinpur Kanwani, is included therein, hence, there is no illegality in exercise of power of acquisition by District Administration, Gautambudh Nagar at the instance of GDA. It is further contended that demand of residential accommodation was very heavy and looking to urgent need, inquiry under Section 5A was dispensed with. Other aspects have also been denied by them and it is said that there is substantial compliance of standards, therefore, there is no justification to interfere with the impugned acquisition notification and writ petition deserves to be dismissed.

35. The first issue relates to validity of acquisition of land at village Mohiuddinpur Kanawani at the instance of GDA. This question would be examined by by considering the matter on following three angles:

(a) Whether village Mohiuddinpur Kanawani part of Revenue District Gautambudh Nagar could have been acquired by GDA ?

(b) Whether revenue village Mohiuddinpur Kanawani continued to be part of 'Development Area' of GDA so as to authorise GDA to proceed for acquisition of land therein irrespective of fact as to under which Revenue District it falls ?

(c) Whether the factum that revenue village, Mohiuddinpur Kanawani, was declared a village panchayat under U.P. Act, 1947, would make any difference or would have any legal consequence in acquisition proceedings initiated by GDA in respect of the same ?

36. We proceed to consider all the aforesaid three issues together.

37. After independence and declaration of Delhi as National Capital, construction activities started at great pace at Delhi and areas in its vicinity which were part of adjacent States. Finding tendency of people to go for haphazard building constructions in growing colonization and township, causing difficulty in providing facilities of drainage, water supply public sanitation etc., Government of India felt it necessary to regulate such activities, hence promulgated Delhi (Regulations of Buildings Operation) Act, 1955. Ghaziabad was an adjoining city to Delhi and there also construction activities had started in haphazard manner. This was also being followed in some other bigger cities, like Kanpur, Agra etc. The U.P. State legislature thus proceeded to enact 'U.P. Act, 1958'. It was enacted to provide for regulation of buildings operations with a view to prevent haphazard development in urban and rural areas. U.P. Act, 1958 received Presidential assent on 8th October, 1958 and published in U.P. Gazette (Extraordinary) dated 16.10.1958. It came into force then on.

38. 'Regulated Area' was defined under Section 2(d) as an area in respect to which a declaration under sub-section 1 of Section 3, is, for the time being in force.

39. Section 3 of 'U.P. Act, 1958' as amended in 1963 and 1976, reads as under:

"3(1) If in the opinion of the State Government any area within U.P. requires to be regulated under this Act with a view to the prevention of bad laying out of land, haphazard erection of buildings or growth of sub-standard colonies or with a view to the development and expansion of that area according to proper planning, it may, by notification in the Official Gazette, declare the area to be regulated area.

(2) The operation of Chapter XIII of the Uttar Pradesh, Nagar Mahapalika Adhiniyam 1959, [Sections 178, 179, 180, 180-A. 181, 182, 183, 184, 185, 186, 203, 204, 205, 206, 207, 208, 209, 210 and 222 of the United Provinces Municipalities Act, 1916] (or the said sections as extended under Section 338 thereof or under Section 38 of the U.P. Town Areas Act, 1914), Sections 29, 30 and 32 of the U.P. Town Improvement Act, 1919, or, as the case may be of Sections 162 to 171 of the Uttar Pradesh Kshettra Samities and Zila Parishads Adhiniyam, 1961, shall in respect of a regulated area remain suspended for the, period during which the declaration relating to it under Sub-section (1) remains in force, and the provisions of Section 6 of the U.P. General Clauses Act, 1904, shall apply in relation to such suspension as if the suspension amounted to repeal of the said enactments by this Act]".

40. A perusal of various provisions of U.P. Act, 1958 shows that a 'Regulated Area' declared under Section 3 need not be confined to a Tehsil or Sub-division or one local body or a district but it could have been beyond that. Section 17 of U.P. Act, 1958 gave overriding effect to its provisions over any other law containing inconsistent provisions in force at the time of commencement of the U.P. Act, 1958.

41. In 1972, Ghaziabad was a part of Sub-division/ Tehsil of District Meerut. Since it was near National Capital, New Delhi, there was huge influx of people causing rapid constructions of residential, commercial and industrial buildings. However, in absence of provision for "Planned Development", those activities went on in a haphazard, irregular and unregulated manner. State Government in order to regulate such activities issued a notification dated 29.01.1972 declaring "Regulated Area, Ghaziabad" which comprised of entire territorial limit of local body i.e. Nagarpalika Ghaziabad, 118 villages of District Meerut which were outside territorial limit of Nagarpalika, Ghaziabad and 19 villages of District Bulendshahr. This entire area as a whole was constituted and termed as "Regulated Area, Ghaziabad" under Section 3 of U.P. Act, 1958. Village Mohiuddinpur Kanawani, which fell in Block Loni, District Meerut, was mentioned at serial 47 in the aforesaid notification dated 29.01.1972 and thus it became part of "Regulated Area Ghaziabad" with effect from 29.01.1972.

42. Then comes the enactment of U.P. Act, 1973. The reasons given for aforesaid enactment in the preparatory note of Bill are that in the developing areas of State of U.P., problem of town planning and urban development need to be tackled resolutely. Existing local bodies and other authorities, in spite of their best efforts, were not able to cope up with problem to the extent to bring about improvement in the situation. Government found it expedient that in such developing areas, 'Development Authorities' on the pattern of 'Delhi Development Authority', be established.

43. The term "development area" and "Development Authority" are defined under Sections 2(f) and (g) of U.P. Act, 1973, read as under;

"(f) "development area" means any area declared to be a development area under Section 3;

(g) "the Development Authority" or "the Authority", in relation to any development area, means the Development Authority constituted under Section 4 for that area;"

44. Section 3 authorises State Government to make declaration by notification in an area to be a 'development area' and also constitutes a 'Development Authority' for any development area under Section 4.

45. Section 59 of U.P Act, 1973 provides for suspension of various statutes or certain provisions thereof in respect of 'development area' and that would be governed by provisions of 'U.P. Act, 1973'.

46. State Government published a notification under Section 3 of U.P. Act, 1973 on 9th March, 1977, declaring entire area notified as 'Regulated Area, Ghaziabad' vide notification dated 29.01.1972, as Ghaziabad Development Area excluding cantonment area or any area for the purpose of Naval, Army or Air Force owned by Central Government or acquired or taken on lease by it. The notification dated 9.3.1977 described 'Ghaziabad Development Area' to constitute as under:

उत्तर प्रदेश (निर्माण कार्य विनियमन) अधिनियम, 1958 (उत्तर प्रदेश अधिनियम संख्या 34. 1958) की धारा 3 के अधीन सरकारी अधिसूचना संख्या 1447/37-3-21 (6)-63/67. दिनांक 29 जनवरी 1972 के अन्तर्गत अधिसूचित विनियोजित क्षेत्र,

गाजियाबाद, में सम्मिलित क्षेत्र, जिसमें कैन्टूनमेन्ट क्षेत्र और नाविक, सैनिक या वायुसेना के किसी प्राधिकारी के प्रयोजनार्थ केन्द्रीय सरकार के स्वामित्व में या उसके द्वारा अधिगृहीत या पट्टे पर ली गई भूमि सम्मिलित नहीं है।

"The Regulated Area, Ghaziabad notified vide Government Notification No. 1447/37-3-21 (6)-63/67, dated 29th January 1972 under Section 3 of The U.P. (Regulations of Building Operations) Act, 1958 (U.P. Act XXXIV of 1958), not including cantonment area and any land owned, acquired or taken on lease by the Union Government for the purpose of any authority of the Navy, the Military or the Air Force."

(English translation by Court)

47. Thus, with effect from 9th March, 1977, when notification under Section 3 of U.P. Act, 1973 was issued, entire 'Regulated Area, Ghaziabad' became 'Ghaziabad Devleopment Area'. The provisions of U.P. Act, 1958 stood suspended in respect of 'Ghaziabad Development Area' on and after 9th March 1977. It is very clear that Village Mohiuddinpur Kanawani which continued to be 'Regulated Area Ghaziabad' up to 09.03.1977 became part of 'Ghaziabad Development Area' on 09.03.1977 and thereafter had to be governed by the provisions of U.P. Act, 1973. GDA was constituted by notification dated 9th March, 1977 for undertaking development in 'Ghaziabad Development Area' notified under Section 3 by notification dated 9th March, 1977, meaning thereby village Mohiuddinpur Kanawani came within the functional territorial jurisdiction of GDA by virtue of notification dated 9th March, 1977 issued under Section 3 of U.P. Act, 1973.

48. The next statutory enactment is U.P. Act, 1976. It was enacted for the constitution of an Authority for development of certain areas in the State into Industrial and Urban Township and for matters connected therewith. Section 3 provides for constitution of such 'Industrial Area Development Authority' by State Government. Through a notification dated 18.05.1978 in exercise of power under Section 2(d) read with Section 3 of U.P. Act, 1973 about 14 villages with specified area of Tehsil Dadari, District Ghaziabad along with others were declared to constitute 'Industrial Development Area' as NOIDA. It reads as under:

"No.342 HI/XVIII-11

In exercise of the powers under clause (d) of Section 2 read with section 3 of the Uttar Paradesh Industrial Area Development Act, 1976 (U.P. Act no.6 of 1976), the Governor is hereby pleased to declare that the area comprising the villages mentioned hereunder shall be an industrial development area' constituting the "New Okhla Industrial Development Area"

District	Tehsil	SI. No.	Village	Area (in acres)
Ghaziabad	Dadri	1	Hoshiyarpur	561-00
		2	Asgapur Jagir	737-00
		3	Besai Bariuddin Nagar	408-00

		4	Shahpur Govardhanpur Khadar	393-00
		5	Chhalera Khadar	873-00
		6	Chaksalarpur	256-00
		7	Rasulpur Nawada	575-00
		8	Hasanpur Bhogpur	581-00
		9	Makanpur	2929-00
		10	Hajratpur Wajidpur	213-00
		11	Moiuddinpur Kanawali	917-00
		12	Chhajarasi	772-00
		13	Khonda	1054-00
		14	Lalpur	144-00

49. The said notification included village Mohiuddinpur Kanawani, area 917 acres as part of NOIDA. Section 17 of U.P. Act, 1976 gives overriding effect to the provisions of said act over 'U.P. Act, 1973' and reads as under;

"17. Overriding effect of the Act.- Upon any area being declared an industrial development area under the provisions of this Act, such area, if included in the master plan or the zonal development plan under the Uttar Pradesh Urban Planning and Development Act, 1973, or any other development plan under any other Uttar Pradesh Act, with effect from the date of such declaration be deemed to be excluded from any such plan".

50. Thus, as a result of declaration of NOIDA vide notification dated 18th May, 1978 which included village, Mohiuddinpur Kanawani, the same stood excluded from 'Ghaziabad Development Area' which was under GDA. To this extent, we have no hesitation in making such observation and if this position would have continued, what was argued on behalf of petitioners that GDA had no authority to acquire land for development in village, Mohiuddinpur Kanawani, should have been upheld but in view of subsequent events, we find that things had gone material change which went to the root of the matter.

51. Another notification was issued on 11th July, 1989 under Section 21 of U.P. General Clause Act read with Section 2(d) of U.P. Act, 1976, superseding earlier notifications issued under U.P. Act, 1976 that is 17th April, 1976, 18th May, 1978 and 26th September, 1978. The Government declared another list of villages of Tehsil Dadri, District Ghaziabad which would form "Industrial Development Area" and part of NOIDA. This notification covered 53 villages but village, Mohiuddinpur Kanawani, was not mentioned therein. It may be noted that 45 villages mentioned in the notification dated 11th July, 1989 whose area mentioned in column 5 in general were included and remaining 8 villages in notification mentioned specific khasra number and area separately. We need not go in detail of all the villages mentioned therein and suffice for us to notice and reiterate that 'village Mohiuddinpur Kanawani' was not mentioned. Hence, it stood not included in "Industrial Development Area of NOIDA". Since notification dated 11.07.1989 superseded, along with others, notification dated 18th May, 1978 also, therefore, reliance placed on notification dated 18th May, 1978 is thoroughly misconceived and has to be rejected.

52. The effect and consequence of notification dated 11th July, 1989 is that only such villages and areas as were mentioned in the said notification, constituted part and parcel of NOIDA which were to be governed by U.P. Act, 1976. Rest of villages of District Ghaziabad or others were to be governed by respective provisions and notifications issued under different statutes. It restores the status of GDA in respect of village Mohiuddinpur Kanawani as a part of 'Development Area of GDA'.

53. Moreover, notification issued under Section 3 of U.P. Act, 1973 bringing village Mohiuddinpur Kanawani within 'Development Area of Ghaziabad' has never been revoked and cancelled. In fact, after notification dated 18th May, 1978, under Sections 2(d) and 3 of U.P. Act, 1976, by virtue of Section 17, village Mohiuddinpur Kanawani was deemed to have been excluded from the application of U.P. Act, 1973 but when notification dated 18th May, 1978 stood superseded by notification dated 11.07.1989, and villlage Mohiuddinpur Kanawani was not included therein as part of NOIDA, the deeming provision under Section 17 disappeared, restoring earlier position that is reviving notification dated 9th March, 1977 issued under Section 3 of U.P. Act, 1973 and village, Mohiuddinpur Kanawani, continued to be a part of 'Ghaziabad Development Area' to be developed by GDA. Thus, we are clearly of the view that after issue of notification dated 11th July, 1989, village Mohiuddinpur Kanawani continued to be within territorial jurisdiction of GDA being part of 'Ghaziabad Development Area' by virtue of notification dated 9th March, 1977 which was never revoked or cancelled and restored its efficacy on and after notification dated 11th July, 1989.

54. Now comes to be seen what is effect of creation of Revenue District, Gautambudh Nagar, and declaration of village, Mohiuddinpur Kanawani, as Gram Panchayat. First we consider the effect and consequence of creation of new District Gautambudh Nagar and village Mohiuddinpur Kanawani becoming part of new District, that is separated from district Ghaziabad.

55. Under U.P. Act, 1901 power to create, alter and abolish divisions, districts, tehsil and sub-divisions is vested in State Government, which reads as follows:

"11. Power to create, alter and abolish divisions, districts, tahsil and sub-divisions.- (1) The State Government may create new or abolish existing divisions or districts.

(2) The State Government may alter the limits of any division, district, or tahsil, and may create new or abolish existing tahsil, and may divide any district into sub-divisions, and may alter the limits of sub-divisions.

(3) Subject to the orders of the State Government under sub-section (2), all tahsils shall be deemed to be sub-divisions of districts."

56. State Government in exercise of aforesaid power, by issuing notification dated 11th May, 1997 created a new Revenue District, Gautambudh Nagar, carving out certain areas from District Ghaziabad, District Meerut and District Bulandshahr. Village Mohiuddinpur Kanawani also became a revenue village under Revenue District Gautambudh Nagar in view of aforesaid notification issued Section 11 of U.P. Act, 1901. The aforesaid notification, in our view, did not affect the area of operation and function of GDA comprising those villages which were notified under notification dated 9th March, 1977, under Section 3 of U.P. Act, 1973 declaring the same to be Ghaziabad Development Area, inasmuch as, a "development area" has not been shown so as to confine to a particular city/district etc. A 'Development Area' under Section 3 of U.P. Act, 1973 may comprise of one city, more than one city, one local body, more than one local body and may also extend to areas, falling in different districts. It is evident from the notification dated 9th March, 1977, when Ghaziabad Development Area was constituted, it included villages which were within two different districts, namely, Meerut and Bulandshahr, besides the municipal city limit of Ghaziabad. Therefore, it was extended beyond Ghaziabad city at initial stage and that situation continued thereafter irrespective of creation of a new Revenue District. Creation of Revenue District is for different purpose and has nothing to do with functioning of a 'development area' under U.P. Act, 1973. Since aforesaid Act clearly shows that a 'Development Authority' may be constituted irrespective of whether an area declared as 'development area' falls in one city, one district or beyond that, therefore, any change in structure of Revenue District under U.P. Act, 1901 would have no effect and consequence on the 'development area' governed by notification issued under Section 3 of U.P. Act, 1973. In our view, creation of Revenue District Gautambudh Nagar and bringing village Mohiuddinpur Kanawani within the revenue jurisdiction of Gautambudh Nagar would make no difference and village Mohiuddinpur Kanawani, as it was already declared separately as a part of 'Ghaziabad Development Area, would continue to have retained the same status so far as GDA is concerned.

57. Now comes the last submission about declaration of village Mohiuddinpur Kanawani as Gram Panchayat. Such a declaration is made under provisions of U.P. Panchayat Raj Act, 1947 (hereinafter referred to as U.P. Act, 1947). Such declaration is for the purpose of governance of Gram Panchayat in general by the provisions of U.P. Act, 1947, but there is nothing on record or contained in the said statute to show, if certain land or the entire area of a Gram Panchayat is declared as a part of a 'development area' in a notification under Section 3 of U.P. Act, 1973, it will be bad or would infringe U.P. Act, 1947 or that U.P. Act, 1947 would override U.P. Act, 1973. We have not been pointed out any provision under U.P. Act, 1947 which may show, if an area of Gram Panchayat is notified to be a part of 'development area' of Development Authority under U.P. Act, 1973, it would be inconsistent and in the teeth of functioning of Gram Panchayat under U.P. Act, 1947. The aforesaid submission, therefore, is also rejected.

58. The three questions (a), (b) and (c) noticed above with respect to correctness of proceedings initiated at the instance of GDA for acquisition of land in village, Mohiuddinpur Kanawani, are answered against the petitioners and in favour of respondents.

59. Now we come to other substantial issues with regard to validity of impugned acquisition notifications, i.e.:

(i) Whether dispensation of inquiry under Section 5A of Act, 1894 is illegal, arbitrary and founded on no material to show existence of actual urgency?

(ii) Whether permission or sanction of NCRPB is mandatory. If so, whether respondents have complied with the said requirement?

(iii) Whether the notification under section 6 is barred by time having been published beyond one year from the date of preliminary notification under Section 4?

(iv) Whether acquisition for "Planned Development" i.e. for construction of residential colonies, at the instance of GDA, is a colourble exercise of power, since acquired land mostly is being handed over and transferred to private builders?

Issue- I : Regarding dispensation of inquiry under Section 5A of Act, 1894.

60. As already noticed, nothing substantial has been stated by the respondents in counter affidavit and supplementary counter affidavit etc. to demonstrate existence of actual urgency justifying dispensation of inquiry under Section 5A. However, original record pertaining to acquisition in question has also been placed before us. We have examined the same and it discloses following facts:

(a) GDA vide resolution dated 29.06.2001, resolved to acquire 400 acres of land at village, Mohiuddinpur Kanawani, and constituted a Committee to select appropriate land. Meeting of Committee was held for the first time on 7th January, 2002. 'Site Selection Committee' visited village Mohiuddinpur Kanawani on 10.01.2002. It found that land selected by it, besides individual tenure holders, was also registered in the name of Societies, Farm Houses; some land belong to Gram Samaj and some part of land on which constructions existed was, where, maps were already sanctioned but for non deposit of development fee, sanctions granted stood lapsed. Details of selected land as mentioned by Site Selection Committee in its report, read as under :

1- काश्तकारो की भूमिः-	327-12-4-17 बीघा
2- वह भूमि जिस पर समितियो के नाम दर्ज है:	97-19-12-0 बीघा
3- वह भूमि जिस पर फार्म हाउस दर्ज है:-	49-3-19-0 बीघा
4- ग्राम समाज की भूमिः	32-18-12-18 बीघा

(b) Site Selection Committee also mentioned in its report that proposed land, as per 'Master Plan, 2001', was a recreation site, and therefore, conversion of land use as residential would also be necessary.

(c) Report was considered by GDA in its meeting dated 07.06.2002 and it resolved to proceed to acquire land belong to Individual Tenure Holders, Societies, Gram Samaj and Farm Houses.

(d) GDA sent a letter dated 14.01.2003 to Collector, Ghaziabad.

(e) GDA submitted application dated 17th May, 2003, requesting Collector to proceed for acquisition of 229. 3828 acres of land in village Mohiuddinpur Kanawani; regarding possession, whether immediately required or not, it mentioned in said application as under:

" Immediately. Because this scheme is to be completed for public interest and for "planned development" of the city."

(f) GDA also deposited Rs. 2,54,97,000/- vide Cheque no. 951945 dated 01.07.2003, payable at Vijay Bank, Ghaziabad, in Treasury, vide receipt dated 11th July, 2003.

(g) ADM(LA) vide letter dated 28.08.2003 enquired from Ceiling Authority whether proposed land is within the ambit of Ceiling Act or not. A clearance certificate was issued by Competent Authority in the office of Collector, Gautambudh Nagar, on 08.12.2003.

(h) On the directions of Collector, Tahshildar Dadri, Gautambudh Nagar also submitted report on 10.12.2003.

(i) Collector, Gautambudh Nagar also issued 'No Objection Certificate' and for recommending dispensation of inquiry under Section 5A by exercising power under Section 17, mentioned following reason:

"गाजियाबाद विकास प्राधिकरण की यह एक अत्यन्त महत्वपूर्ण योजना है जिसमें भूमि की तत्काल आवश्यकता है परियोजना व क्षेत्र के सुनियोजित विकास के महत्व को दृष्टिगत रखते हुए इस भू अर्जन प्रकरण में अर्जन की कार्यवाही भूमि अर्जन अधिनियम की धारा 4 व 6 के साथ पठित धारा 17 के अन्तर्गत करने हेतु संस्तुति की जाती है।"

"This is a very important scheme of the Ghaziabad Development Authority, in which the land is required urgently. Keeping in view the project and the importance of planned development of the area, proceedings for acquisition of land, in this land acquisition case, are recommended to be taken u/s 4 and 6 of Land Acquisition Act read with Section 17."

(English translation by Court)

(j) Requisite certificate under paragraph 14 schedule 2 of Land Acquisition Manual, 1988 was issued by ADM(LA) and Collector Ghaziabad on 16th March, 2004.

(k) Proposal for acquisition of land was submitted by Collector, Ghaziabad vide letter dated 27th May, 2004 to Director, Land Acquisition, Lucknow (hereinafter referred to as 'DLA').

(l) There were certain errors which 'DLA' got rectified and thereafter vide letter dated 26.06.2004, it requested Government i.e. Secretary, Housing and Urban Planning, Lucknow to proceed for issue of notification under Sections 4(1) and 17 of Act, 1894.

(m) Notification under Sections 4(1)/17 was published in the Gazette (Extraordinary) dated 16.10.2004.

(n) Noting on File No.14782/PSMM/05 of State Government starts with page 1 containing a note dated 25.06.2004/30.06.2004 which is in reference to DLA's letter dated 26.06.2004 and justification mentioned in the said note for dispensation of inquiry under Section 5A is contained in paragraph 13 of the said note which reads as under:

"13- प्रस्तावित भूमि का अर्जन की योजना में विलम्ब होने पर अनधिकृत निर्माण की संभावना है। प्रश्नगत योजना जनहित की है। अतः अर्जन हेतु भूमि अध्याप्ति 1894 की धारा 4 व 6 की विज्ञप्ति जारी कराने के लिए धारा-17 के प्राविधान लागू किया जाना आवश्यक है।"

"13. There is likelihood of construction of unauthorised constructions in case of delay in acquisition of the proposed land. The scheme in question is for public welfare. Hence, in order to get notification for acquisition of land, issued, u/s 4 and 6 of the Land Acquisition Act, 1894, it is necessary to invoke provisions of Section 17."

(English translation by Court)

(o) In the aforesaid notification, Revenue District was mentioned as Ghaziabad. Total land proposed to be acquired mentioned in the aforesaid notification was 367-0-5 bigha (229.3828) acres.

(p) Subsequently, it came to notice that certain Khasra numbers and area of land were wrongly mentioned in preliminary acquisition notification, hence a corrigendum was issued on 05.01.2005, published in the Gazette (Extraordinary) dated 05.01.2005 making following corrigendum:

1- खसरा संख्या352 एम0 में अर्जित क्षेत्रफल2-19-0 के स्थान पर2-19-10 पढ़ा जाए ।

(English translation by Court)

(q) It was also published in two daily newspapers 'Amar Ujala' and 'Dainik Jagran' on 22nd October, 2004.

(r) ADM(LA) sent a letter dated 23rd September, 2005 requesting Government to issue another corrigendum so as to mention District "Gautambudh Nagar" instead of "Ghaziabad" in the notification dated 16.10.2004.

(s) Consequential corrigendum notification was issued on 28th September, 2005.

(t) Notification under Section 6(1) was published in the Gazette (Extraordinary) dated 28th November, 2005.

61. We may also place on record to find out a kind of fraud and misrepresentation played by GDA with Court by filing a second supplementary counter affidavit dated 06.04.2016, sworn by Sri Rajendra Tayagi, Legal Assistant, GDA, stating that documents and communication amongst GDA, Collector and State Government relating to acquisition proceedings are collectively being filed as Annexure SCA-1. When we perused the aforesaid documents, we find that the same pertains to acquisition of land in village Sadarpur, Pargana-Dasana, Tahsil and District Ghaziabad and has nothing to do with acquisition in question which relates to village Mohiddinpur Kanawani. A bulky documents, running in about 70 pages (photostat), have been filed collectively as SCA-1 which consumed our sufficient time in going through documents but we find the same are wholly irrelevant for the purpose of present writ petitions, since these documents filed by GDA along with second supplementary counter affidavit pertains to some others village and have no connection and relation with acquisition in question.

62. Above facts show that deliberation and requirement of acquisition of land in dispute at village, Mohiuddinpur Kanawani, commenced as long back as on 29.06.2001 and ultimately declaration under Section 6 was published on 28th November, 2005. Even between preliminary notification under Section 4 and declaration under Section 6, there is difference of more than an year. When process of acquisition could conveniently take four years and more, we find it difficult to hold that it was a case where there existed a genuine and bona fide urgency justifying exercise of power under Sections 17(1) and (4) so as to dispense with inquiry under Section 5 of Act, 1894. In taking the aforesaid view, we are heavily supported by a catena of decisions on this subject, some of which may fruitfully be referred hereinafter:

63. Section 5-A was inserted in Act, 1894 as long back as in 1923, by Act No. 38 of 1923. There are minor amendments made subsequently but substance of provision has remained the same.

64. Normal procedure of acquisition is that a proposal of acquisition is published in notification under Section 4 of Act, 1894. Land owners whose land is proposed to be acquired, are given an opportunity to make their objections. Collector is under an obligation to consider objections and also offer an opportunity of hearing to objectors and thereafter submit a report to Government containing his recommendations on the objections, for decision of Government. After considering the report and other material, Government makes declaration that land is proposed to be acquired for public purpose and this is done by publication of notification under Section 6. Therefore, there is possibility of some difference in details of land stated in the notification issued under Section 4 and finally declared land, as acquired for public purpose, detailed in notification under Section 6.

65. Collector is then authorised to take order for acquisition and under Section 8 is supposed to mark, measure and plan the acquired land. A notice thereafter is issued under Section 9 to Land Owners by Collector, notifying his intention of taking possession of land and that the claim for compensation be submitted to him. Under Section 11, Collector makes enquiry for determining amount of compensation payable to land owners, whose land has been acquired, and make award. After payment of compensation, Collector takes possession of land.

66. There is an exception to normal procedure of taking possession which is contained in Section 17 of Act 1894. It says that in case of urgency, even though no award has been made, Government can direct Collector to take possession of any land, needed for public purpose, and on such possession being taken by Collector, land shall vest absolutely with the Government free from all encumbrances. Section 17(4) provides, where such urgency for the purpose of possession is to be acted upon, Government, shall declare that provision of Section 5-A shall not apply.

67. The circumstances, when Government would be justified to dispense with enquiry under Section 5-A while invoking urgency clause under Section 17, for the purpose of taking possession, has been considered in a catena of decisions in last several decades and it would be useful to refer some relevant authorities in this regard.

68. Right to file objection against proposal of acquisition of land published under Section 4 is a substantial right, consistent with principle of natural justice, since forcible acquisition of land, without consent of land owners, is a serious matter.

69. In Nandeshwar Prasad vs. U.P. Government AIR 1964 SC 1217, Court said, "the right to file objection under Section 5-A is a substantial right when a person's property is being threatened with acquisition and we cannot accept that right can be taken away as if by a side wind".

70. In Munshi Singh and others vs. Union of India (1973) 2 SCC 337, which is a decision of three judges bench, Court stressed and emphasized upon an inbuilt legislative recognition of principle of natural justice in Section 5-A and said:

"Sub-section (2) of Section 5-A makes it obligatory on the Collector to give an objector an opportunity of being heard. After hearing all objections and making further inquiry he is to make a report to the appropriate Government containing his recommendation on the objections. ..... The legislature has, therefore, made complete provisions for the persons interested to file objections against the proposed acquisition and for the disposal of their objections. It is only in cases of urgency that special powers have been conferred on the appropriate Government to dispense with the provisions of Section 5-A".

71. In State of Punjab vs. Gurnail Singh and others 1980 (1) SCC 471 it was held that it is fundamental that compulsory taking of a man's property is a serious matter and smaller the man the more serious the matter. Hearing him before depriving him is both reasonable and preemptive of arbitrariness. Denial of this administrative fairness is constitutional anathema except for good reasons. Save in real urgency where public interest does not brook even the minimum time needed to give a hearing, land acquisition authorities should not, having regard to Articles 14 (and 19), burke an enquiry under Section 17 of Act, 1894. A slumbering process, pending for years and suddenly exciting itself into immediate forcible taking, makes travesty of emergency power.

72. In Shyam Nandan Prasad and others vs. State of Bihar and others (1993) 4 SCC 255 reiterating that section 5-A is mandatory, Court said "the proceeding before the Collector is a blend of public and individual enquiry".

73. In Om Prakash vs. State of U.P., (1998) 6 SCC 1, Court observed that:

"Inquiry under Section 5-A is not merely statutory but also has a flavour of fundamental rights under Articles 14 and 19 of Constitution though right to property is no longer remained a fundament right, at least, observation regarding Article 14 vis-a-vis Section 5-A would remain apposite".

74. In Union of India and others vs. Mukesh Hans (2004) 8 SCC 14, Court held that Section 17(4) is an exception to normal mode of acquisition. Mere existence of urgency or unforeseen emergency by itself is not sufficient to direct for dispensation of Section 5-A. Court reiterated that there must be real existing emergency for which an opinion must be formed by the Government, objectively. Court said:

"It requires an opinion to be formed by concerned government that along with existence of such urgency or unforeseen emergency there is also a need for dispensing with Section 5-A enquiry, which indicates that the legislature intended that the appropriate government to apply its mind before dispensing with Section 5-A enquiry. It also indicates the mere existence of an urgency under Section 17 (1) or unforeseen emergency under Section 17 (2) would not by itself be sufficient for dispensing with Section 5-A enquiry. If that was not the intention of the legislature then the latter part of sub-section (4) of Section 17 would not have been necessary and the legislature in Section 17 (1) and (2) itself could have incorporated that in such situation of existence of urgency or unforeseen emergency automatically Section 5-A enquiry will be dispensed with, but then that is not language of the Section which, in our opinion, requires the appropriate Government to further consider the need for dispensing with Section 5-A enquiry in spite of the existence of unforeseen emergency. This understanding of ours as to the requirement of an application of mind by the appropriate Government while dispensing with Section 5-A inquiry does not mean that in every case when there is an urgency contemplated under Section 17(1) and unforeseen emergency contemplated under Section 17(2) exists that by itself would not contain the need for dispensing with Section 5-A enquiry. ..... There is need for application of mind by appropriate Government that such an urgency for dispensing of Section 5-A enquiry is inherent ....."

75. In Hindustan Petroleum Corporation Ltd. vs Darius Shapur Chenai & Ors (2005) 7 SCC 627 it was held that the provisions of Section 5-A of Act, 1894 must be read consistent with Article 300-A of the Constitution and it is akin to fundamental right of procedure before depriving a persons of his land, and must be strictly complied with.

76. In Essco Fabs Pvt. Ltd. & Anr vs State Of Haryana & Anr (2009) 2 SCC 377 it was held that enquiry should not be dispensed with lightly.

77. In Anand Singh and another vs. State of U.P. and others (2010) 11 SCC 242 Court considered as to when State would be justified in invoking power under Section 17(4) for acquisition of land and dispensing with enquiry under Section 5-A so as to take possession immediately. It is said that power under Section 17 is not to be exercised in a routine manner. It would be justified only when circumstances warrant immediate possession. It should not be lightly invoked. It is an exceptional power enabling land acquiring body to dispense with enquiry under Section 5-A. Government must apply its mind before dispensing with enquiry under Section 5-A whether urgency is of such a nature that justifies elimination of summary enquiry under Section 5-A. The mere mention of words in acquisition notification that Government is satisfied about urgency and dispensing with enquiry under Section 5-A may raise a presumption in favour of Government with per-requisite conditions for exercise of such power are satisfied but when challenged, Government has to produce relevant material before Court to show existence of such circumstances, which justify dispensation of inquiry and avail an exceptional power under Section 17. Court further said, "upon challenge being made to the use of power under Section 17 the Government must produce appropriate material before the Court that the opinion for dispensing with enquiry under Section 5-A has been formed by the Government after due application of mind on the material placed before it".

78. With regard to judicial review of exercise of power, Court in Anand Singh and another (Supra) further said in paras 45, 46, 47 and 48 as under :

"45. It is true that power conferred upon the Government under Section 17 is administrative and its opinion is entitled to due weight, but in a case where the opinion is formed regarding the urgency based on considerations not germane to the purpose, the judicial review of such administrative decision may become necessary.

46. As to in what circumstances the power of emergency can be invoked are specified in Section 17 (2) but circumstances necessitating invocation of urgency under Section 17(1) are not stated in the provision itself. Generally speaking, the development of an area (for residential purposes) or a planned development of city, takes many years if not decades and, therefore, there is no reason why summary enquiry as contemplated under Section 5-A may not be held and objections of land owners/persons interested may not be considered. In many cases on general assumption, likely delay in completion of enquiry under Section 5-A is set up as a reason for invocation of extraordinary power in dispensing with the enquiry little realizing that an important and valuable right of the person interested in the land is being taken away and with some effort enquiry could always be completed expeditiously.

47. The special provision has been made in Section 17 to eliminate enquiry under Section 5-A in deserving and cases of real urgency. The government has to apply its mind on the aspect that urgency is of such nature that necessitates dispensation of enquiry under Section 5-A. We have already noticed few decisions of this Court. There is conflict of view in the two decisions of this Court viz.; Narayan Govind Gavate and Pista Devi. In Om Prakash this Court held that decision in Pista Devi must be confined to the fact situation in those days when it was rendered and the two-Judge Bench could not have laid down a proposition contrary to the decision in Narayan Govind Gavate. We agree.

48. As regards the issue whether pre- notification and post-notification delay would render the invocation of urgency power void, again the case law is not consistent. The view of this Court has differed on this aspect due to different fact-situation prevailing in those cases. In our opinion such delay will have material bearing on the question of invocation of urgency power, particularly in a situation where no material has been placed by the appropriate government before the court justifying that urgency was of such nature that necessitated elimination of enquiry under Section 5-A."

79. In Radhe Shyam (Dead) through Lrs. and others vs. State of U.P. and others 2011(5) SCC 553 it was reiterated that property of a citizen cannot be acquired by State without complying with the mandate of Sections 4, 5-A and 6 of Act, 1894. A public purpose however, loudable would not entitle Government to invoke urgency provisions, since the same have the effect of depriving owner of his right to property and, that too, without being heard. Only in a case of real urgency, Government would be justified in invoking urgency provisions. Section 17 should have been invoked only when purpose of acquisition cannot brook the delay of even few weeks or months. The authority must be fully satisfied that time of few weeks or months likely to be taken in conducting inquiry under Section 5-A shall, in all probability, frustrate the public purpose for which land is proposed to be acquired. Satisfaction of Government on issue of urgency is subjective but is a condition precedent to the exercise of power under Section 17(1) and can be challenged on the ground that authority did not apply its mind to relevant factors, and on record, there is no material justifying existence of alleged urgency. It also held that exercise of power under Section 17(1) necessarily does not result in exclusion of Section 5-A, inasmuch as, the person concerned can file objection and is entitled to be heard in support of his objection. The use of word "may" in sub-Section (4) of Section 17 shows that it merely enables Government to direct that Section 5-A would not apply to the cases covered under Sections (1) or (2) of Section 17. Therefore, mere fact that certain purposes may be treated as public purpose the for purpose of acquisition but that by itself would not mean that there exists urgency to dispense with inquiry unless the circumstances actually and really are in existence to show that delay in taking possession would be adverse to public interest. It also held that Court can take judicial notice of the fact that for planning, execution and implementation of scheme relating to development of residential, commercial and industrial or institutional areas, Government takes few years, therefore, in such cases private property should not be acquired by invoking urgency clause as denial of Rule of audi alteram partem embodied in Section 5-A is not at all warranted in such cases.

80. In Dev Saran and Others vs. State of U.P. and others, (2011) 4 SCC 769, Government proposed to acquire land for construction of District Jail at Shahjahanpur, as usual, inquiry under Section 5A was dispensed with by taking recourse to Section 17(4) of Act, 1894. Court found that purpose for which land was required, admittedly was a public purpose but dispensation of inquiry on the ground of urgency was not justified on the basis of facts of that case. Therein matter for acquisition was initiated vide Government Letter dated 04.06.2008; meeting for selection of suitable site was held on 27.06.2008; proposal for acquisition and construction was forwarded to 'DLA' on 02.07.2008, who, in turn, forwarded to State Government on 22.07.2008; notification under Section 4 along with 17 was issued by State Government on 21.08.2008; it was published in local newspapers on 24th September, 2008, proposal for declaration under Section 6 was forwarded to 'DLA' by Collector on 19.06.2009; 'DLA' in turn forwarded to State Government on 17.07.2009 and ultimately declaration was issued under Section 6 on 10.08.2009 and published in local dailies on 17.08.2009, observing that there was a gap of 11 months and 23 days in publication of notifications under Section 4 read with section 17 and Section 6 shows that Government machinery has actually functioned with slow pace and there was no actual urgency, warranting recourse to Section 17(4) of Act, 1894. The relevant observation in this regard contained in paras 37, 38 and 39 of the judgment, read as under:

"37. Thus the time which elapsed between publication of Section 4(1) and Section 17 notifications, and Section 6 declaration in the local newspapers is 11 months and 23 days i.e. almost one year. This slow pace at which the government machinery had functioned in processing the acquisition, clearly evinces that there was no urgency for acquiring the land so as to warrant invoking Section 17(4) of the Act.

38. In paragraph 15 of the writ petition, it has been clearly stated that there was a time gap of more than 11 months between Section 4 and Section 6 notifications, which demonstrates that there was no urgency in the State action which could deny the petitioners their right under Section 5-A. In the counter which was filed in this case by the State before the High Court, it was not disputed that the time gap between Section 4 notification read with Section 17, and Section 6 notification was about 11 months.

39. The construction of jail is certainly in public interest and for such construction land may be acquired. But such acquisition can be made only by strictly following the mandate of the said Act. In the facts of this case, such acquisition cannot be made by invoking emergency provisions of Section 17. If so advised, the Government can initiate acquisition proceeding by following the provision of Section 5-A of the Act and in accordance with law."

81. In Darshan Lal Nagpal (Dead) By Lrs. vs. Govt. of NCT of Delhi and others (2012) 2 SCC 327 after having retrospection of some of authorities on the subject, Court in para 28 of the judgment stated as under:

"What needs to be emphasized is that although in exercise of the power of eminent domain, the State can acquire the private property for public purpose, it must be remembered that compulsory acquisition of the property belonging to a private individual is a serious matter and has grave repercussions on his Constitutional right of not being deprived of his property without the sanction of law - Article 300-A and the legal rights. Therefore, the State must exercise this power with great care and circumspection. At times, compulsory acquisition of land is likely to make the owner landless. The degree of care required to be taken by the State is greater when the power of compulsory acquisition of private land is exercised by invoking the provisions like the one contained in Section 17 of the Act because that results in depriving the owner of his property without being afforded an opportunity of hearing."

82. In Ramdhari Jindal Memorial Trust vs. Union of India and others, (2012) 11 SCC 370 after referring to a large number of earlier precedents on the aforesaid questions including Anand Singh and another (supra) Court said that:

"Government when invokes urgency power under Sections 17(1) and (4) for the public purpose like "planned development of city" or "development of residential area" or "residential scheme", initial presumption does not arise in favour of Government. On the contrary, heavy burden lies on the Government to prove that use of power is justified and dispensation of inquiry was necessary. Power of urgency under Section 17 for a public purpose like "development of a housing scheme" or "residential scheme" cannot be invoked as a matter of rule or in a mechanical manner or by simply referring to language of the statute but is to be exercised as an exception".

83. In Kamal Trading Private Limited vs. State of West Bengal and others, (2012) 2 SCC 25, Court said that "proceedings under Act, 1894 are based on the principle of eminent domain and Section 5 is only protection available to a person whose lands are sought to be acquired. It is minimal safeguard afforded to him by law to protect himself from arbitrary acquisition by pointing out to the concerned authority, inter alia, important ingredient namely "public purpose" is absent in the proposed acquisition or that acquisition is otherwise malicious. The Act, 1894 being an ex-proprietary legislation, its provisions will have to be strictly construed". Court further said in paras 15 and 16 as under:

"15. Hearing contemplated under Section 5-A(2) is necessary to enable the Collector to deal effectively with the objections raised against the proposed acquisition and make a report. The report of the Collector referred to in this provision is not an empty formality because it is required to be placed before the appropriate Government together with the Collector's recommendations and the record of the case. It is only upon receipt of the said report that the Government can take a final decision on the objections. It is pertinent to note that declaration under Section 6 has to be made only after the appropriate Government is satisfied on the consideration of the report, if any, made by the Collector under Section 5-A(2). As said by this Court in Hindustan Petroleum Limited (supra), the appropriate Government while issuing declaration under Section 6 of the LA Act is required to apply its mind not only to the objections filed by the owner of the land in question, but also to the report which is submitted by the Collector upon making such further inquiry thereon as he thinks necessary and also the recommendations made by him in that behalf.

16. Sub-section (3) of Section 6 of the LA Act makes a declaration under Section 6 conclusive evidence that the land is needed for a public purpose. Formation of opinion by the appropriate Government as regards the public purpose must be preceded by application of mind as regards consideration of relevant factors and rejection of irrelevant ones. It is, therefore, that the hearing contemplated under Section 5-A and the report made by the Land Acquisition Officer and his recommendations assume importance. It is implicit in this provision that before making declaration under Section 6 of the LA Act, the State Government must have the benefit of a report containing recommendations of the Collector submitted under Section 5-A(2) of the LA Act. The recommendations must indicate objective application of mind.

84. In Surinder Singh Brar and others vs. Union of India and others, (2013) 9 SCC 403, Court observed that "satisfaction recorded by appropriate Government that particular land is needed for a public purpose and declaration made under Section 6(1) will be devoid of legal sanctity, if statutorily engrafted procedural safeguards are not adhered to by the authority concerned. An attempt on the part of respondents made to argue that declaration under Section 6(1) is conclusive and satisfaction recorded therein cannot be subject to judicial review." A similar argument was negatived in Surendra Singh Brar and others (supra) in para 87 of the judgment. Court said that "satisfaction of an appropriate Government envisaged in Section 6(1) must be preceded by consideration of the report prepared by Collector after considering objections filed under Section 5A and hearing the objectors. In the present case, this inquiry was itself dispensed with in a most arbitrary, whimsical and mechanical manner by invoking Section 17(4) illegally and inflagrant disregard of exposition of law laid down in various binding authorities, some of which are discussed above.

85. In Union of India and others vs. Shiv Raj and others (2014) 6 SCC 564, Court in para 15 said that:

"Section 5-A confers a valuable right on the owner of land and it is not an empty formality. It is a substantive right, which can be taken away only for good and valid reasons and within the limitations prescribed under Section 17(4) of Act, 1894".

86. Right of hearing under Section 5-A has been held to be a fundamental/ substantive right, not to be deprived of unless a clear case of existence of urgency on the basis of relevant material on record is made out.

87. The facts of the present case with which we are concerned, are worse than those in above authorities. Here the matter commenced in 2001 and ultimately declaration came to be published in September, 2005. More than 4 years and 3 months period has been consumed by respondents and still they have attempted to justify such urgency in the matter so as to dispense with inquiry under Section 5A, depriving bare minimum opportunity of hearing available to land owners enabling them to make their submissions against proposed acquisition and pursue land acquiring authorities not to acquire their land.

88. Above question is, therefore, answered in favour of petitioners and we hold that respondents illegally exercised power by invoking Section 17(4) of Act, 1894, so as to dispense with inquiry under Section 5A.

Issue-II: Permission or Sanction of NCRPB

89. In writ petition no. 2476 of 2012 (Balwant Rai Kathuria vs. State of U.P. and others) NCRPB has been impleaded as respondent no.5. It has been pleaded that no approval has been obtained from NCRPB under Act, 1985. In paras 24, 25 and 26, it has been averred that GDA has not formulated any 'Sub-Regional plan' in accordance with 'Regional' and 'Functional Plan' as per Section 17(3) of Act, 1985. Sub-Regional plan has to be in conformity with 'Regional' and 'Functional Plan' as per Section 20 of Act, 1985. NCRPB has complete control over 'Sub-Regional Plan' prepared by participating States and 'Sub-Regional Plan' can neither be implemented nor enforceable without approval of NCRPB. Provisions of Act, 1985 has overriding effect over any other inconsistent law. The land in question has been acquired without confirming Plan prepared by NCRPB and acquisition is contrary to Section 40 of Act, 1985.

90. In Supplementary Counter Affidavit sworn on 6th April, 2016 by Sri Rajendra Tayagi, Legal Assistant, GDA, it has been said in paragraph 3 that Master Plan, Ghaziabad was approved and came into force on 14.07.2005 whereas Regional Plan of National Capital Region (hereinafter referred to as 'NCR') came into force on 17.09.2005. Master Plan, 2021 was considered in Regional Plan by NCR on 17.09.2005 and there was no requirement of approval of Master Plan, 2021 by NCRPB.

91. Act, 1985 was enacted by parliament on the resolution passed by Legislature of State of Haryana, Rajsthan and Uttar Pradesh under Article 252 of the Constitution of India. It is on the subject included in State List, Seventh Schedule of Constitution.

92. No counter affidavit separately has been filed in the aforesaid Writ Petition No. 2476 of 2012 but in general supplementary counter affidavit on behalf of GDA, it has made a brief statement and it would be appropriate to refer the same as under:

'3. That, master plan Ghaziabad was approved and came into force on 14.07.2005 whereas the regional plan of NCR came into force on 17.09.2005. The matter plan Ghaziabad 2021 was considered in regional plan of NCR dated 17.09.2005. There was no requirement of approval of master plan of 2021 by the NCR board."

93. We find that applicability and extent to which Act, 1985 is applicable has been considered in detail by Full Bench of this Court in Gajraj Singh and others vs. State of U.P. and others, 2011 (11) ADJ 1. Court has observed in paragraph 249 that "Sub-Regional Plans are to be prepared by each participating State and is required to be submitted to NCRPB and Board communicate within 60 days its observation with regard to Sub-Regional Plans and thereafter participating State after consideration of observation would finalise Sub-Regional Plans after ensuring that it is in conformity with the Regional Plan and thereafter it can be implemented under Section 20 of the Act, 1985. In other words, Sub-Regional Plan has to be in conformity with the "Regional Plan and Functional Plans". After examining Sections 7 and 17 of Act, 1985, the Court observed that unless the directions of the Board are implemented in Sub-Regional Plan, the same cannot be implemented. Hence the provisions of Act, 1985 have to be interpreted to mean that there is a complete control over the 'Sub-Regional Plans' prepared by participating State and mechanism provided is such that unless Sub-Regional plan is completely cleared by Board, the same can neither be implemented nor would be enforceable.

94. Then examining Section 40 of Act, 1985, Court has further observed that purpose of Section 40 is to promote the object of Act, 1985 when land used in NCR is controlled by various plan as contemplated by Act, 1985 acquisition of land and has to be in line and conformity with aforesaid Act. There is no averment made by respondents in any of the affidavits that Sub-Regional Plan that GDA has formulated any Sub-Regional Plan and same has been submitted to NCRBP for consideration and procedure as discussed above, has been undergone. A very vague and general reply in para 3 of supplementary counter affidavit as noted above, has been given. We have also noticed above that though land in question under Master Plan, 2001 was a recreation site and conversion of land to be used as 'residential' was necessary. Without approval of NCRPB of altered plan, this was not permissible. We find that a similar aspect in form of illustration has been noticed in Gajraj Singh and others (supra) and Court has held that change of user's acquired land without approval of NCRPB is prohibited. The said observation contained in para 265 is reproduce hereinunder;

"265. Now.....

Section 40 of the NCRPB, 1985 has to be interpreted in a manner so as to promote the object of the Act. When the land use in the NCR Region is controlled by various plans as contemplated by the NCRPB Act, 1985 the acquisition of land has also to be in line and conformity with the aforesaid Act, 1985. This can be illustrated by giving a small example i.e. supposing an area in the NCR is reserved for agricultural use and actual agricultural is taking place in the said area, any exercise by the Authority to acquire land for residential purpose shall be simply prohibited. The Authority in the present cases have indiscriminately proceeded to acquire the land in the name of Planned Industrial Development. In event where agriculture is the reserved purpose acquiring the land of the agriculturist shall be with no object since the Authority itself shall not carry on agriculture and there shall be no purpose to create hindrance in the right of the agriculturists to carry on their agriculture in the said area."

(emphasis added)

95. In Gajraj Singh and others (Supra) an attempt was made to argue that requirement of approval or consideration by NCRPB can be complied with subsequently and at the time of acquisition it is not necessary but this has been rejected by Full Bench in paragraph 267, Court said as under;

"Section 40 of the NCRPB Act, 1985 as noticed above has to be given some meaning and purpose. Section 40 of the Act, 1985 has to be read as a precondition for participating State to acquire the land, condition being that acquisition be made in NCR only to give effect to any regional, functional plan, sub-regional plan or project plan framed under the 1985 Act."

96. In view of law laid down in Gajraj Singh and others (supra) facts are available in this bunch of petitions. We have no manner of doubt that no clearance has been obtained by GDA from NCRPB though it was mandatory, and therefore, proceedings for acquisition in question are not in conformity with requirement of Act, 1985.

Issue-III: Whether declaration is beyond one year as provided in Section 6(1) proviso (ii) of Act, 1894.

97. As already said, Section 4 notification was published in Gazette (Extraordinary) on 16.10.2004 while Section 6 notification was published in Gazette (Extraordinary) dated 28.11.2005. It is thus pleaded on behalf of petitioners that this delay would result in lapse of entire acquisition proceedings, since Section 6 notification was not published within one year of notification under Section 4.

98. It is pointed out that under Section 6(1)(ii), there is complete embargo on publication of declaration after expiry of one year from date of publication of notification under Section 4(1) of Act, 1894. Reliance has been placed on the decisions in Padam Sundara Rao (dead) and others vs. State of Tamilnadu and others, (2002) 3 SCC 533, Anil Kumar Gupta vs. State of Bihar and others, (2012) 12 SCC 443, Devendra Kumar Tyagi and others vs. State of Uttar Pradesh and others, (2011) 9 SCC 164 and Division Bench's judgment of this Court in Mahavir Sahkari Avas Samiti Ltd. Vs. State of U.P. and others, 2006 (8) ADJ 203.

99. Defence of respondents is that notification under Section 4 was published in Gazette dated 16.10.2004; local publication in two newspapers was made on 22.10.2004. There was a substantial error in notification dated 16.10.2004 for which a corrigendum was published on 19.01.2005 and 02.08.2005; publicity in locality by Munadi was made on 02.12.2004 and it is last date of various kinds of publicity of notifications which would count to find out whether official declaration has been made within one year or not. Hence, it is within one year.

100. Sri Manish Goyal, learned counsel for petitioners vehemently contended that no Munadi in accordance with law has taken place and paper book no.239 dated 02.12.2004 appears to have been manufactured, inasmuch as, there is no provision where any payment can be made in cash to a person who is entrusted with duty of Munadi. He further submits that Order 21 Rule 54 is a pari materia provision and law required that there should be a public notice i.e. to all individual persons concerned, hence there is no compliance of law in this regard and the alleged Munadi came to rescue of respondents to show that the final declaration was made within one year.

101. Section 4 contemplates; (i) publication in final Gazette; (ii) publication in two daily newspapers circulating in locality of which at least one should be in regional language; and (iii) public notice of substance of such notifications could be given at convenient places in said locality. Section 4 further clarifies that it is last date of such publication and giving of such public notice which shall be considered to be a date of publication of notification. No specific procedure has been prescribed as to how Collector shall cause substance of notification to be given at convenient place in locality.

102. Question whether there was Munadi or not is a simple question of fact. From pleadings in leading Writ Petition no.4986 of 2005, we find no assertion, whatsoever, that there is non-compliance of Section 4 on the part of Collector by not proceeding to cause public notice in locality concerned. What has been said in paragraph 7 of second supplementary affidavit sworn by Sri Deepak Singh, petitioner-4 is that document dated 02.12.2004 with regard to Munadi is fake for the reason that cash payment is not permissible for Government work. However, he has not stated anywhere that, in fact, no such Munadi has taken place. He has tried to create doubt that, payment since made in cash, it has actually not taken place. Factum whether payment in cash is permissible in Government transaction or not is a different thing. In order to consider validity of compliance of Section 4, it is sufficient, if there is local publicity by Collector by beating of drums i.e. Munadi. Moreover, mere fact that payment is shown to have been made in cash, we do not find per se any illegality therein, and also no provision has been placed before us to show that small amount of Rs.2500/- cannot be given in cash. Petitioner has sworn this paragraph on personal knowledge. There is no statutory or other prohibition in making payment of Rs.2500/- in cash to a person, doing a job of beating of drums, particularly at a time, when opening of account in Bank was quite a difficult task in 2004, though it may not be so in 2016. On sheer conjecture and surmises, we, therefore, find no reason to doubt factum of beating of drum on 02.12.2004 and that being so, it cannot be said that declaration under Section 6(1) is barred by time.

103. In Urban Improvement Trust, Udaipur v. Bheru Lal and orthers, (2002) 7 SCC 712, it was held that "if appropriate Government is satisfied that any particular land is needed for the public purpose, a declaration is to be made to that effect within a period of one year from the date of publication of notification under Section 4(1) of Act. Section 6(1), therefore, does not require that such declaration should also be published in official gazette within a period of one year from date of publication of notification under Section 4(1). Time limit of one year is prescribed for declaration to be made that land is needed for a public purpose under signature of a Secretary or authorised officer of such Government. It does not mean publication in gazette or newspaper. Similarly, in Sriniwas Ramnath Khatod vs. State of Maharashtra and others, AIR 2002 SC 187, Court observed that "decision to make a declaration is to be taken within a period of one year, and publication can be made subsequently as it is a merely a ministerial act".

104. Record shows that proposal to make declaration under Section 6 (1) was initiated by Special Secretary on 27th July, 2005, whereupon certain queries were made by Chief Minister on 27th October, 2005. These queries were replied vide Secretary, Urban Development's note dated 18.11.2005 and it was approved by Chief Minister on 25.11.2005. It is thus decided to make declaration under Section 6.

105. In order to see, whether there is compliance of Section 6(1)(ii), it is last date when requisite publicity/publication under Section 4(1) has been made and date on which decision for acquisition of land by making declaration under Section 6 is taken.

106. In Mohan Singh and other Vs. International Airport Authority of India and others, (1997) 9 SCC 132, Court observed that "notification under Section 4(1) needs three steps; (1) publication in official Gazette; (2) publication in two daily newspapers having circulation in locality; and (3) Public notice of substance of such notification to be given at convenient places in locality. It is also held that last of date of publication shall be relevant for the purpose of computation of limitation of one year under Section 6.

107. Taking into account above discussions and facts of the present case, we find that notification under Section (4) was published in gazette on 16.10.2004; in Newspapers on 22.10.2004; and Munadi was carried out on 02.12.2004. Taking last date for the purpose of limitation, declaration under Section 6 is within limitation.

108. Moreover, counsel for respondents contended that there was substantial mistake in the notification under Section 4(1) and hence corrigendum was published on 19.01.2005 and 02.08.2005. Without such corrigendum, acquisition notification under Section 4(1) could not have been given effect, therefore, from the date of corrigendum also limitation under Section 6 (1) (ii) should be computed and from that point of view also, declaration under Section 6 is within limitation. Reliance is placed on Division Bench judgement in Ram Kumar Vs. State of U.P. and others 2015 (6) ADJ 273 (DB). Per contra, Sri Manish Goyal relied on Anil Kumar Gupta vs. State of Bihar and others, (2012) 12 SCC 443 and submitted that corrigendum will relate back to date on which notification under Section 4(1) was issued, hence date of notification of corrigendum will not help respondents.

109. We have gone through the decision in Anil Kumar Gupta (supra) and find that it was not disclosed therein that corrigendum was published in the manner prescribed under Section 4 i.e. in official Gazette, while in the present case, it is not in dispute that corrigendum was published in official gazettes dated 19.01.2005 and 2.08.2005. Nature of corrigendums show that same are not mere typographical error but substantial mistake committed with regard to district also, which was corrected. Such corrigendum, therefore, would be relevant so as to take last date of notification under Section (4) for the purpose of determining limitation for declaration under Section 6 and in the light of judgment of Ram Kumar (supra), we find that declaration under section 6 is within the period of limitation of one year.

109A. There is also one more relevant aspect. The date when stay order is passed has to be ignored for the purpose of computing period of one year. In this bunch, interim order was passed in leading Writ Petition on 22nd October, 2005 and period thereafter will have to be excluded and this also fortifies our inference that notification under Section 6 is not barred by limitation.

110. Some argument has been advanced on the question that corrigendum published subsequently would not extend time to relate back but in view of our findings above, this aspect loses its importance relevance, and therefore, it is not necessary to look into this aspect.

111. Last submission is that the acquisition is colourable exercise of power since acquired land is mostly being handed over to private builders, therefore, it is bad in law.

Issue-IV: Colourable Exercise.

112. Here is not a case where entire land is proposed to be acquired for the benefit of one or two or more identified private builders but for 'Proposed Planned Industrial Development' which includes development of residential colonies also acquisition proceedings have been initiated and thereafter for the purpose of said development, GDA, it appears that, has allowed participation of private builders also by allotting land to them and permitting them to develop for residential buildings. It is not a case where anything has been brought on record to show that in garb of public purpose, land has been acquired for benefit of any private individual without complying with requirement of law or procedure necessary and acquisition is made for a private person/company. In fact, having gone through all writ petitions, we find that there is no such pleadings and in some, a vague pleading has been made without substantiating the same, therefore, this question, in our view, in absence of pleading of necessary fact, it is not to be gone into. We are not impressed at all. We cannot adjudge validity of impugned acquisition notifications on aforesaid grounds in absence of specific pleading and material to substantiate the same.

113. Lastly, it is argued that award has been made after two years and, therefore, acquisition stands lapsed under Section 11A of Act, 1894. It is not in dispute that in most of writ petitions interim orders have been passed. In leading writ petition itself interim order was passed on 22nd October, 2005.

114. Explanation of Section 11A clearly provides that in computing two years period, during which any action or proceeding to be taken in pursuance of declaration is stayed by Court of law shall be excluded. In view thereof, it cannot be said that acquisition in question can be claimed by petitioners to have lapsed for non-compliance of Section 11A, therefore, this argument is rejected.

115. In the result and in view of our findings dispensation of inquiry under Section 5A by exercising power under Sections 17(1) and (4) was arbitrary and illegal and also there was no compliance of provision of National Capital Region Planning Board Act, 1985 at any stage, impugned acquisition notifications cannot be sustained. Had there been deficiency only with regard to illegal dispensation of inquiry under Section 5A, we could have set aside only final declaration notification issued under Section 6 and permitted respondents to proceed from stage of inviting objection from petitioner tenure holders but since mandatory provisions of Act, 1985 has also not been complied with, in impugned acquisition proceedings, we find no other way but to quash both the acquisition notifications issued under Sections 4 and 6 in respect of land belonging to petitioners in all writ petitions.

116. We are confining relief in these writ petitions to petitioners only in view of law laid down in Mahavir Sahkari Avas Samiti Ltd. (supra), wherein Court said in paragraph 15, said as under;

15. There is no dispute to the settled legal proposition that in case the acquisition proceedings are quashed by the Court, it will cover the land of only those persons who had approached the Court by filing the petitions and it would not annul the proceedings in respect of those persons who had not approached the Court.

117. Writ petitions are allowed. Impugned acquisition notifications dated 16th October, 2004 and 28th November, 2005 in so far as they relate to the petitioners' land are hereby set aside. Petitioners shall be entitled to cost which we quantify to Rs.5000/- for each set of writ petition against respondents 1, 2 and 3.

Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 -- Section 125 -- Maintenance -- Wife residing with husband -- Evidence of joint residence and maintenance -- Wife and children sought maintenance from husband; application rejected by trial court and revision against rejection dismissed by revisional court -- Evidence on record showed that petitioner no. 1 and her children resided in the joint house of the husband, that the address of both parties was the same, and that the son had deposed that the family was being maintained by the husband, who also paid their school fees -- Held: Where there is specific evidence that the wife and children reside in the husband's house and are being maintained and their expenses borne by him, and there is no other person maintaining them, no case for grant of maintenance is made out; findings of the courts below on this aspect not shown to be infirm. (Paras 5-6)

Constitution of India -- Article 226 -- Writ jurisdiction -- Scope of interference with concurrent findings of fact -- Held: Writ jurisdiction is not an appellate forum for re-appreciation of evidence; interference is not warranted merely because another view of the evidence is possible -- Where the courts below have appreciated the facts and evidence and arrived at a reasoned and plausible conclusion without any illegality, material irregularity or impropriety, and there is no failure of justice or infringement of any legal right, the writ court will not interfere. (Paras 6-7)
Writ Petition Dismissed --. (Para 8)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Pramod Kumar Srivastava, J.)

1. Criminal Misc. Case No. 123 of 2011, Smt. Sangeeta and others Vs. Sunil Kumar under section 125 CrPC was filed by petitioner no.-1 Smt. Sangeeta for herself and her three children namely Manish, Nidhi and Himanshi, for recovery of maintenance from her husband Sunil Kumar Sharma. In said case, trial court had afforded opportunity of hearing to the parties, accepted evidences and after appreciating the same the same, the court of Judicial Magistrate (/Additional Civil Judge, Junior Division), Court No.-2, Bulandshahr had passed judgment dated 18.06.2012 by which said application u/s 125 CrPC was rejected. Against said judgment of trial court, the Criminal Revision No. 320 of 2012 (Smt. Sangeeta and others Vs. State of UP and Another) was preferred which was heard and dismissed by the judgment dated 7.11.2012 of Additional Sessions Judge, Court No.-17, Bulandshahr. By this judgment, revisional court had confirmed findings of the trial court.

2. Against the aforesaid judgments, petitioner has filed present writ petition by which request was made for quashing the judgments of both the lower courts and for awarding maintenance allowance to petitioner no.-1 from her husband (respondent no.-2).

3. Counsel for the petitioner contended that judgments of lower courts are erroneous and perverse because trial court had not considered the statements of Smt. Sushma, the sister-in-law (Bhabhi) of respondent no.-2, which was given in another criminal proceedings under section 202 CrPC. He further contended that respondent no.-2 (husband) had specifically mentioned in his objection against application before trial court that he is labourer. His contention is that children of petitioner no.-1 and respondent no.-2 are carrying out their studies in a public school and a labourer cannot afford fees and maintenance of such studies, so his objections should not be relied. His further contention is that judgment of lower court, especially of the trial court, are factually incorrect and perverse, and therefore those orders should be quashed and writ petition should be allowed.

4. Counsel for respondent no.-2 contended that there is evidence that petitioner no.-1 and her children are residing in a joint house of respondent no.-2. The address of petitioner and respondent no.-2 are same. He further contended that during evidence before the trial court, petitioner had admitted her living in the house of respondent no.-2 (husband). He also submitted that during evidence the son of petitioner no.-1 had given statement that he, his mother, brother and sister are maintained by his father (respondent no.-2), who also pays their fees of School. His submission is that in these circumstances, the writ petition should be dismissed.

5. From perusal of records available before this court,it is found that there has been specific evidence that residence of petitioners is in the joint house of respondent no.-2. There was evidence to the effect that respondent no.-2 maintains them and bear their expenses. In these circumstances, it is immaterial as to whether objection made before trail court by respondent no.-2. was factually correct or not, if there is evidence that petitioner no.-1 is residing in house of her husband (respondent no.-2) with her children and her husband is maintaining them and bearing their expenses. There is no one else who maintains petitioners. In these circumstances there is no justification for granting relief of maintenance to petitioners. These points were properly considered by trial court, and its findings are not infirm.

6. The courts concerned do not appear to have committed any illegality or material irregularity or impropriety in passing the impugned judgment and orders. It is not an appeal wherein scruitiny of evidence is possible, neither the writ jurisdiction is open for being exercised simply by reason of the factum of another view being otherwise possible. The impugned orders apparently are presentable, without any such infirmity which may render it completely perverse or unacceptable; and when there is no failure of justice or infringement of any legal right, the interference cannot be had in exercise of writ jurisdiction.

7. A perusal of the impugned judgment reveals that learned Magistrate had appreciated the facts and evidences of the case and then after being satisfied about the facts relating to case, had passed the judgment. From a perusal of the records it appears that conclusions read by learned Magistrate are based on available evidences and logical conclusions. Said judgment was rightly affirmed by the revisional Court. There appears no irregularity in procedure adopted by the trial court. So there is no justification for interference in the impugned judgments.

8. In view of above, writ petition is dismissed.

Constitution of India, 1950 -- Article 226 -- Land Acquisition -- Possession of agricultural land taken over by the State for construction of a 'Trumpet'/expressway without following acquisition proceedings and without the plots being notified -- Sale deed executed by petitioner no.1 covering only part of the total area of two of the three disputed plots, while excess land, including an entire plot for which no sale deed existed, was also taken possession of and utilised for the project -- Petitioner, on being questioned by the Court, categorically stating at the bar that he sought only compensation and not restoration of possession -- Whether the writ Court should direct restoration of possession or grant of compensation, where substantial development has already taken place and 70 out of 74 similarly situated farmers have already accepted compensation and executed sale deeds -- Held: Where possession of land has been taken for a public infrastructure project without following due acquisition process, but substantial development has already taken place, the majority of affected persons have accepted compensation, and the petitioners themselves seek only compensation, the writ Court, exercising its discretionary jurisdiction under Article 226, will not obstruct development of infrastructure serving larger public interest -- The power under Article 226 should not be exercised so as to hold the entire State machinery to ransom at a belated stage -- Relief moulded to direct payment of compensation to the petitioners at the same rate as paid to the other 70 farmers, rather than restoration of possession, having regard to the statement made at the bar and the extent of development already undertaken. (Paras 8-16)

Case Law Discussed:
1. Syed Maqbool and another v. State of Uttar Pradesh and others, 2011 (4) SCR 238

(Delivered by Hon'ble Vipin Sinha, J.)

1. Heard Sri M.A. Qadeer, the learned Senior Counsel assisted by Dr. Akhilesh Kumar Sharma, the learned counsel for the petitioner and Sri Ramesh Upadhyaya, the learned Chief Standing Counsel for the respondents.

2. The dispute as raised in the present writ petition is with regard to three plots. The same being (a) Khasra no.572 having an area 1.4500 hectares, (b) Khasra no.580 having an area 0.04945 hectares and (c) Khasra no.1197/572 having an area of 0.0590 hectares.

3. The contention of the learned counsel for the petitioner is to the effect that the aforesaid plots were not notified as they have not been acquired in accordance with law. That they were not included in any notification whatsoever and they have been free from all acquisition proceedings. However, the petitioners' have been dispossessed and the respondents have taken over possession of the said plots and have constructed a road over the said plot.

4. It has further been contended that the petitioners' were unduly pressurised for acquisition by executing a sale deed with regard to certain area of plot no.1197/572 and plot no.580. However, it is being contended that only part of the total area of the said two plots were sold through a sale deed and that too under pressure. However, the respondents have taken over the entire area and the same have been taken possession of including the area of plot no.572 with regard to which there is no sale deed whatsoever on record. That with regard to the area, which has been sold in pursuance of the sale deed is herein as under:-

5. That in plot no.580 only an area of 473.75 sq. mts. was sold as per the sale deed, whereas in plot no.1197/572 an area of 73.75 sq. mts. was sold. Thus, the total sale is only with regard to 547 sq. mts. land in plot no.580 and plot no.1197/572.

6. Sri M.A. Qadeer, the learned Senior Counsel appearing for the petitioner strongly contended that as forcible possession has been taken over of the entire land of plot no.1197/527, plot no.580 and plot no.572 without following any due process of law and without resorting the proceedings under the Land Acquisition Act. Hence, the present writ petition with the following reliefs has been filed:-

"(a) Issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of mandamus commanding the respondents to return back the land of Khasra No.572 area 1.4500 Hectare, Khasra No.580 area 0.9320 Hectare, Khasra No.1197/572 area 0.0590 Hectare situated at village Etmadpur Madra, Tehsil & District Agra, or to petitioners and restore its position and maintain status quo as on the date 19.3.2016.

(b) Issue a writ, order of direction in the nature of mandamus commanding the respondents to grant reasonable damages for dispossession.

(c) In alternative issue a mandamus to respondents to pay compensation and other amount payable to petitioners under the The Right to Fair Compensation and Transparency in Land Acquisition, Rehabilitation and Resettlement Act, 2013.

7. On being pointedly asked by this Court from Sri M.A. Qadeer, the learned Senior Counsel for the petitioner as to what relief does he seeks at the moment as on date, a categorical reply was received from the Senior Counsel for the petitioner that he is seeking compensation for the land, which has been forcefully possessed by the respondents. On being further asked as to who is in possession over the plots in question, the answer was again to the effect that the possession over the plot in question is that of the respondents.

8. Sri Ramesh Upadhyaya, the learned Chief Standing Counsel for the respondents submits that the State of U.P. has undertaken a project for facilitating the industrialisation and growth of the State and for the purposes of transportation a Agra-Lucknow Excess Control Expressway (Green Field) is being constructed and that the total cost of the project is about Rs.14434.64 crores. It has been contended that the said expressway has to join the roads of Agra and the Yamuna Expressway, Agra for which a 'Trumpet' is required to be constructed at the Etmadpur Madra Agra and that the total land required for the purpose of construction of 'Trumpet' at Agra is 15.1130 hectares land and that the said land belongs to 74 farmers. It has further been contended that after finalising the alignment of the 'Trumpet', the district administration of Agra had called for a meeting of all the farmers whose land is likely to be affected on 2nd March, 2015 and that in the said meeting the farmers were duly informed about the construction of the 'Trumpet' and the benefit that will accrue to the farmers with the construction of the said 'Trumpet' and they were also informed that they would be paid four times of circle rate as cost of the land.

9. Sri Ramesh Upadhyaya, the learned Chief Standing Counsel submits that in the said meeting, which was attended by almost all the farmers including Harish Chandra and Bhoori, who are family members of the petitioners', no objection of any sought whatsoever was taken and subsequent to the said meeting a second meeting was held on 7th July, 2015 again between the farmers and the revenue authorities of the district administration of Agra and a decision was taken that as the construction of the 'Trumpet' has already been started, the farmers whose land fall in that particular area where the 'Trumpet' was being constructed will not undertake any agricultural activity whatsoever. It has also been submitted that out of 74 farmers 70 farmers have duly executed the sale deeds by accepting price of the land at the rate of four times circle rate of the agricultural land and that the construction of 'Trumpet' is going on in full swing and a major part of the project is almost completed.

10. At this stage, Sri Ramesh Upadhyaya has pointed out that as far as the contention of the petitioner with regard to plot no.572 being abadi land is concerned, it is submitted that initially an order was passed under Section 143 of the U.P. Zamindari Abolition and Land Reforms Act by means of which the plot no.572 was declared as non agricultural land on 2nd April, 2008. However, subsequent to the declaration under Section 143 of the U.P. Zamindari Abolition and Land Reforms Act it has been contended that the petitioner continued to use the land as agricultural land and that subsequently, the Sub-Divisional Magistrate passed a fresh order on 18th August, 2015 cancelling the declaration of plot no.572 as abadi and thus, as on date it is an agricultural land.

11. It is an admitted position on record that against the order dated 18th August, 2015, no appeal or revision has been filed and thus, as on date the order has become final and plot no.572 continues to be an agricultural land.

12. In the counter affidavit filed on behalf of the respondents, it has been clearly stated that the petitioner no.1 has executed a sale deed for plot no.580 and plot no.1197/572 on 19th August, 2015. A copy of the sale deed has been annexed with the counter affidavit.

13. It is further contended that all the persons including the petitioner no.1 have been paid compensation four times the circle rate of the land for execution of the sale deed, which was being affected on account of construction of 'Trumpet'.

14. It has been accepted in the supplementary counter affidavit filed by the respondents that only 0.05475 hectares land has been purchased in pursuance of the sale deed executed by petitioner no.1. It has further been accepted in para 5 that the land of plot no.572 has also been utilized by the respondents for construction of a 'Trumpet'.

15. Reference in this regard, may be made to paragraph 5 of the supplementary counter affidavit dated 3rd September, 2016.

16. Thus, keeping in view the aforesaid facts and circumstances of the case, the factual matrix as it unfolds is to the effect that land of plot no.572, 580 and 1197/572 has been taken possession by the respondents and the same has been utilized for the construction of a 'Trumpet'/expressway without following the acquisition proceedings and without the plots being notified and it also becomes crystal clear that even though a sale deed was executed with regard to part of plot no.580 and part of plot no.1197/572, the land much in excess thereof has been taken possession and utilized by the respondents.

17. The fact remains that the petitioner no.1 has executed a sale deed and it is also to be appreciated that in a meeting, minutes of which has been annexed with counter affidavit, family members of the petitioners' had participated and none had raised any dispute. It is also to be appreciated that these 74 farmers whose land has been affected by the construction of the expressway/'Trumpet', 70 farmers have already accepted the compensation. It is also an admitted position on record that a huge amount has been invested in the project and the construction work is also almost complete as it has been admitted in the rejoinder affidavit that the road has been constructed over the plot in question. Thus, at this belated stage the petitioners' cannot be permitted to hold the entire State machinery to ransom.

18. The Apex Court in a judgment rendered in the case of Syed Maqbool and another Vs. State of Uttar Pradesh and others, 2011 (4) SCR 238 has observed herein as under;-

"High Courts should also be cautious in entertaining writ petitions filed decades after the dispossession, seeking directions for acquisition and payment of compensation. It is not uncommon for villagers to offer/donate some part of their lands voluntarily for a public purpose which would benefit them or the community - as for example, construction of an access road to the village or their property, or construction of a village tank or a bund to prevent flooding/erosion. When they offer their land for such public purpose, the land would be of little or negligible value. But decades later, when land values increase, either on account of passage of time or on account of developments or improvements carried out by the State, the holders come up with belated claims alleging that their lands were taken without acquisition and without their consent. When such claims are made after several decades, the State would be at a disadvantage to contest the claim, as it may not have the records to show in what circumstances the land were given/donated and whether the land was given voluntarily. Therefore, belated writ petitions, without proper explanation for the delay, are liable to be dismissed."

19. Keeping in view the fact that substantial development has already taken place and that the majority of the farmers, in fact 70 out of 74, of the farmers have already sold their land and have executed sale deeds and have received compensation, this Court at this stage finds no substantial ground to exercise its equitable jurisdiction under Article 226 of the Constitution of India. The Apex Court has time and again held that the power under Article 226 of the Constitution should not be exercised so as to obstruct development of infrastructure, which will serve larger public interest. Instead, the relief could be moulded so as to compensate the writ petitioners. In the present case, it may be observed that the land is part and parcel of a larger area and thus, in view of the substantial development having taken place the plea of the writ petitioners could not be considered in isolation, moreover this Court will have to proceed keeping in mind the statement made at the bar of this Court by the learned Senior Counsel appearing for the petitioner.

20. In view of the aforesaid facts and circumstances and also in view of the admitted factual position that possession over the plots in question have been taken by the respondents and in fact excess land has been taken possession of than what was sold by petitioner no.1 by executing a sale deed with regard to plot no.580, 1197/572 this Court deems it fit to dispose of the writ petition with certain directions herein as under:-

(a) The petitioners' are entitled for grant of compensation at the same rate as has been granted and paid by the respondents to the other 70 farmers.

(b) This exercise of determination of quantum of compensation with regard to the land over which possession has been taken by the respondents shall be completed by the respondents within a period of one month from the date of production of a certified copy of this order before the concerned authority in accordance with law and following due process of law.

(c) The quantum of compensation so determined shall be released in favour of the petitioners' within the next three months.

21. With the aforesaid observations, the writ petition stands disposed of.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Karuna Nand Bajpayee, J.)

1. Heard Sri V.K. Chandel, Advocate holding brief of Sri S.A. Imam, learned counsel for the applicant, learned AGA and perused the record.

2. Submission of learned counsel for the applicant is that the evidence against the applicant is that of being last seen with the deceased on the motorcycle and then also the recovery of one country made pistol and a knife at the joint pointing out from the house of co-accused Nasir. Further submission is that the objectionable photographs of the wife of the deceased said to have been found are also relating to co-accused Nasir. Further submission is that co-accused Nasir has been nominated as accused in the FIR along with the wife of the deceased with whom co-accused Nasir is said to have been carrying illicit relationship. Emphasis has been laid by the learned counsel for the applicant that it was alleged in the FIR that one witness Sakir son of Sartaj Khan and witness Firasat are said to have seen the deceased with the applicant and the co-accused Nasir going on a motorcycle but the version that was given in the FIR mentions only co-accused Nasir as the person, who was seen by the aforesaid two witnesses on the motorcycle with the deceased. Further submission is that had the applicant been also seen by the aforesaid two witnesses going on the motorcycle along with co-accused and the deceased, then such facts must have found mentioned in the FIR positively. According to the FIR, it was alleged that when these witnesses were shown the photographs of the wife of the deceased and co-accused Nasir then they had told the first informant to have seen the co-accused Nasir going along with the deceased on the motorcycle. At that stage, they did not disclose the name of the applicant. Further submission is that this omission is of vital importance and goes a long way to discredit the evidentiary value of subsequently introduced name of the applicant as accused. Further submission is that the alleged recovery has also been made from the house of co-accused and the confessional statement recorded by the police at the time of recovery of weapon also indicates that it was co-accused Nasir, who had shot the deceased. Further submission is that conspicuous omission of the applicant's name in the FIR makes the case of the applicant distinguishable from the case of the co-accused Nasir, who appears to be principal offender in the case and who appears to have eliminated the deceased in order to perpetrate the liaison with the wife of the deceased. Further submission is that this case being of the circumstantial evidence, the link of circumstances appears to be incomplete and incapable to give rise to any indefinite inference of the guilt against the applicant. Several other submissions in order to demonstrate the falsity of the allegations made against the applicant have also been placed forth before the Court. The circumstances which, according to the counsel, led to the false implication of the accused have also been touched upon at length. It has been assured on behalf of the applicant that he is ready to cooperate with the process of law and shall faithfully make himself available before the court whenever required. It has also been submitted that the applicant is languishing in jail since 5.4.2015 and in the wake of heavy pendency of cases in the Court, there is no likelihood of any early conclusion of trial.

3. Learned A.G.A. has opposed the prayer for bail.

4. After perusing the record in the light of the submissions made at the bar and after taking an overall view of all the facts and circumstances of this case, the nature of evidence, the period of detention already undergone, the unlikelihood of early conclusion of trial and also the absence of any convincing material to indicate the possibility of tampering with the evidence, this Court is of the view that the applicant may be enlarged on bail.

5. Let the applicant- Shahid, involved in Case Crime No. 272 of 2015, u/ss 364, 302,201, 120B and 34 IPC, P.S.-Mussoorie, District- Ghaziabad be released on bail on his executing a personal bond and two sureties each in the like amount to the satisfaction of the court concerned on the following conditions:-

(1) The applicant will not make any attempt to tamper with the prosecution evidence in any manner whatsoever.

(2) The applicant will personally appear on each and every date in the court and his personal presence shall not be exempted unless the court itself deems it fit to do so in the interest of justice.

6. It may be observed that in the event of any breach of the aforesaid conditions, the court below shall be at liberty to proceed for the cancellation of applicant's bail.

7. It is clarified that the observations, if any, made in this order are strictly confined to the disposal of the bail application and must not be construed to have any reflection on the ultimate merits of the case.

Criminal Procedure -- Section 482 Cr.P.C. -- Defamation -- Section 499 I.P.C., First and Fourth Exceptions -- Newspaper Report of Court Proceedings -- News item published regarding issuance, and subsequent recall, of a warrant against the applicant under Section 138 N.I. Act by a court at Fatehgarh Sahib, Punjab -- applicant, a former Minister in the Government of Uttar Pradesh, filed a complaint case alleging defamation against the Editor and Chief Editor of the newspaper -- trial court dismissed the complaint under Section 203 Cr.P.C. holding that publication of correct facts regarding court proceedings does not amount to defamation -- revisional court affirmed the said order -- applicant challenged both orders under Section 482 Cr.P.C. contending that since the warrant stood recalled by the time of publication, the news item was defamatory -- Held: the contention is unacceptable as it is admitted that correct facts regarding the court proceedings were published -- under the first exception to Section 499 I.P.C., imputation of truth made for the public good is not defamation, and under the fourth exception, substantially true reporting of court proceedings is not defamation -- activities of a person in public life, particularly relating to court proceedings, may legitimately affect public opinion in the selection of public representatives, and publications concerning such persons, if correct, are for the public good -- no incorrect publication having been found, and the first and fourth exceptions to Section 499 I.P.C. having been rightly applied by the courts below, there is no illegality, infirmity or impropriety warranting interference in exercise of inherent jurisdiction. (Paras 1-6)

Application U/S 482 Cr.P.C. Dismissed -- Application under Section 482 Cr.P.C. challenging order dated 22.2.2014 passed by the trial court (J.M.-III, Gorakhpur) dismissing the complaint case under Section 203 Cr.P.C., and order dated 22.09.2014 passed by the revisional court in Criminal Revision No. 509 of 2014 affirming the same, dismissed. (Para 6)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Pramod Kumar Srivastava, J.)

1. One news item was published in newspaper Rastriya Sahara on 27.11.2013 regarding proceedings of complaint case filed against the applicant in District Fatehgarh Sahib, Punjab, in which court of A.C.J.M, Fatehgarh Sahib had issued warrant for prosecution of applicant under Section 138 N.I. Act. Said warrant was recalled, when applicant surrendered in court of Fatehgarh Sahib and he was enlarged on bail. But news item of issuance of said process against the applicant was published in news paper. Applicant felt aggrieved by said news item and filed complaint case against persons responsible for news item including Editor and Chief Editor of newspaper.

2. After considering evidences under Sections 200 and 202 Cr.P.C. The trial court (J.M.-III, Gorakhpur) had dismissed the complaint case on 22.2.2014 under Section 203 Cr.P.C. with observation that publication of correct facts regarding proceedings of court cannot be treated as defamation. Against the order dated 22.2.2014, Criminal Revision no. 509 of 2014 (Vijay Prakash Shukla Vs. State of U.P. & Others) was preferred. Said revisional court had afforded opportunity of hearing and held that publication of correct facts regarding proceeding of Court is not defamation, so there is no error or illegality in order dated 22.09.2014 of trial Court. With these findings the revisional court had dismissed the said revision. Challenging said orders of trial court and lower revisional court present application u/s 482 Cr.P.C. has been preferred.

3. Learned counsel for the applicant contended that at the time of publication of news item in said newspaper the warrant was already recalled against the applicant, therefore said news item was defamatory. This contention was refuted by learned AGA.

4. Said contention of learned counsel for the applicant is found unacceptable. Admittedly correct facts were published in newspaper regarding proceedings of court case. Applicant claims to be a social worker, who opposes corruption. He has been holding a public office and was Minister in Government of Uttar Pradesh. His activities relating to court's proceedings were published.

5. The first execption of section 499 IPC is that the imputation of truth, which public goog requires to be made is not defamation, if publication in that regard is not incorrect. Forth exception of this section is that substantially true reporting of proceedings of court is not defamation. The activities of person in public life, especially relating to court proceedings, may have effect on public opinion for taking appropriate decision regarding selection of representative in public bodies and constitutional institutions. Such publications, relating to people of public life especially who intend to be public representative, should be accepted as the one made for public good, if they are correct.

6. In present matter no incorrect publication of court proceeding was found. After considering these facts, the first and fourth exception of Section 499 of IPC was taken into account by lower courts and impugned orders were passed, in which there appears no illegality, infirmity or impropriety. In these circumstances, there is no occasion for this court to exercise inherent jurisdiction of this court and interfere in orders under challenge. Accordingly this application is dismissed.

Constitution of India -- Article 309 -- Uttar Pradesh Absorption of Retrenched Employees of Government or Public Corporation in Government Service Rules, 1991 -- Nature and Scope -- Requirement of 'Notified Order' -- Petitioner, employed as Junior Office Assistant-cum-Typist in Auto Tractors Limited (ATL), a Government company, was retrenched on closure of the unit with effect from 1989-90 -- Government Order dated 11.11.1993 provided for absorption of retrenched employees of ATL subject to qualification and eligibility, and Absorption Rules, 1991 were framed under proviso to Article 309 empowering the State Government, by a notified order, to require absorption of retrenched employees in any post or service -- Held: a 'notified order' under Rule 3(1) of the Absorption Rules, 1991, read with Section 4(29-A) of the U.P. General Clauses Act, 1904, means an order published in the Gazette and partakes the character of a 'statutory instrument' -- no such notified order having been shown to exist in respect of ATL, the Government Order dated 11.11.1993 did not by itself confer any right of absorption but only prescribed eligibility criteria and relaxations for retrenched employees. (Paras 15-20)

U.P. Absorption of Retrenched Employees of Government or Public Corporations in Government Service (Rescission) Rules, 2003 -- U.P. Absorption of Retrenched Employees of Government or Public Corporations in Government Service (Rescission of Rules) Act, 2009 -- Retrospective Rescission -- Saving Clause -- Absorption Rules, 1991 were rescinded by the Rescission Rules, 2003 with effect from 8.4.2003, and thereafter, by the Rescission Act, 2009, deemed to have been rescinded with effect from 9.5.1991, the date of their original notification -- limited protection was saved under Section 3(2) of the Rescission Act, 2009 in favour of (i) retrenched employees already absorbed prior to 8.4.2003, whose absorption and pay protection was not to be withdrawn, and (ii) unabsorbed retrenched employees, who were entitled only to relaxation in the upper age limit for direct recruitment to Group 'C' and 'D' posts outside the purview of the Public Service Commission -- Held: Section 3(1)(a) of the Rescission Act, 2009 expressly extinguishes the right of any retrenched employee, not already absorbed by 8.4.2003, to claim absorption under the Absorption Rules, 1991 or under any Government Order issued thereunder -- no such right survives in favour of the petitioner, who was admittedly never absorbed. absorption on the posts of District Programme Officer and Child Development Project Officer, being Group 'B' posts governed by the U.P. Bal Vikas Evam Pushtahar (Samuh 'Ka' Evam Samuh 'Kha') Service Rules, 1996 and falling within the purview of the U.P. Public Service Commission, was rejected -- reliance placed by petitioner on instances of absorption of certain other retrenched employees of ATL held distinguishable and unavailing -- Held: Government Order dated 11.11.1993 itself confines the benefit of absorption to posts outside the purview of the Public Service Commission and confers no positive right of absorption in Government service dehors the Absorption Rules, 1991. (Paras 11, 32-33)

Writ Petition Dismissed -- In view of the retrospective rescission of the Absorption Rules, 1991 by the Rescission Act, 2009 with effect from 9.5.1991, petitioner held to have no surviving right to claim absorption -- impugned orders rejecting petitioner's claim for absorption upheld -- writ petition seeking a writ of mandamus directing absorption dismissed -- no order as to costs. 2. ATL management declared closure of unit vide notice dated 20.11.1990 on the ground of consistent loss and unit was closed with effect from year 1989-90.

3. A Government Order dated 11th November, 1993 was issued stating that retrenched employees and Officers of ATL would be absorbed in Government Service, subject to their qualifications and eligibility in Government service, appointed in ATL on or before 1.10.1986 and were working at the time of closure of the unit. Management of ATL submitted a list to State Government, giving names of its 'retrenched employees', wherein name of petitioner was also shown. Moreover, a certificate dated 11.12.1993 was issued to petitioner verifying that he was a retrenched employee of ATL, having been appointed on 22.10.1980 as Junior Office Assistant/Typist and on 20.11.1990 he was working as Assistant Account Officer.

4. State Government, thereafter, issued various orders on 13.4.1994, 4.5.1994, 2.6.94 and 8.7.1994 to all departments that it has learnt that instead of absorbing retrenched employees of Chal Chitra Nigam, U.P. Hortico Brasware Corporation, Non-Feros Rolling Mill, Mandaliya Vikas Nigam, ATL, etc., the departments are making new recruitments from open market which is not proper, hence 'retrenched employees' of aforesaid Government Bodies should be absorbed.

5. Since no action was taken towards absorption of petitioner, he filed Civil Misc. Writ Petition No. 34296 of 1995 which was disposed of vide judgement dated 29.11.1995, permitting petitioner to make a representation to respondent-government who was directed to decide the same in the light of various Government Orders issued for absorption of retrenched employees of ATL.

6. Pursuant thereto, petitioner submitted a representation dated 9.12.1995 to Chief Secretary, Uttar Pradesh Government, Lucknow, requesting for his absorption on a post equivalent to Assistant Accounts Officer. No action was taken, compelling petitioner to file a Contempt Application wherein a statement was made by Standing Counsel that petitioner's representation was decided on 22.7.1996 and matter has been referred to different departments of Government with relevant Government Orders. Contempt application stood dismissed vide order dated 24.7.1996.

7. Petitioner then further pursued matter for absorption. Ultimately vide order dated 30th April, 2002, request of petitioner for absorption was rejected.

8. Petitioner filed writ petition seeking only a writ of mandamus directing respondents to absorb him in any Government department according to his grade in which he was working in the light of Government Orders dated 11.11.1993, 3.6.1996 and 3.7.1996. Subsequently by way of amendment, orders dated 30th April, 2002 and 26.2.2003 have also been challenged, praying for issuance of a writ of certiorari quashing the same.

9. The request of petitioner to Government departments was, since he was working in pay scale of Rs.850-1660 at the time of retrenchment, therefore, he is entitled for absorption in equivalent grade, that is why, he requested for his absorption on the post of District Programme Officer. Director, Women and Child Development Department has said that this is not permissible since it is a Group "B' post. Vide order dated 30th April, 2002, similar request of petitioner for appointment as District Programme Officer and Child Development Project Officer was rejected on the ground that both are Group "B' posts and recruitment thereon is through Uttar Pradesh Public Service Commission, governed by 'The Uttar Pradesh Bal Vikas Evam Pushtahar (Samuh "Ka" Evam Samuh "Kha") Service Rules, 1996' (hereinafter referred to as " Rules 1996').

10. Learned counsel for petitioner has submitted that petitioner has a right for absorption in view of Government Order dated 11.11.1993 and denial of same is patently illegal and arbitrary.

11. Supplementary affidavit has also been filed giving certain illustrations of absorption of some other retrenched employees of ATL, which is as under:

a) Vipin Chandra Srivastava, who was working as Accounts Officer in ATL, has been absorbed as Assistant Viklang Officer in pay scale of Rs.6500-10500/-.

b) Anukool Prakash was appointed as Zila Pichhada Varga Kalyan Adhikari.

c) Sher Singh was absorbed on the post of Sambhagiya Nirikshak (Pravidhik) in pay scale of Rs.6500-10500/-.

d) One K.R. Pandey was absorbed as Administration Officer in Acharya Narendra Deo Agriculture University, Faizabad and it is a post which comes within purview of Uttar Pradesh Public Service Commission, pursuant to judgement of this Court in K.R. Pandey and others Versus State of Uttar Pradesh and others, reported in LBESR 1998(Volume-II), 245.

e) Sanna Ullah Khan, working as Senior Engineer in ATL, was absorbed as Assistant Road Transport Officer, pursuant to the judgement of this Court.

f) Mohan Gupta, working as Accounts Officer in ATL, was absorbed as Special Officer on Duty in Child Development and Women Welfare Department.

12. Respondents-1 and 3 have filed counter affidavit, stating that there is no direction that retrenched employees of Government or Public Corporation in Government Service shall be absorbed in Government service but Government Orders dated 11.11.1993 and 3.6.1996 only provide certain concessions and relaxations for appointment of 'retrenched employees' in Government Service. Petitioner applied for appointment/absorption in Tourism Directorate U.P. Lucknow and office of Commissioner, Rural Development, Lucknow but did not participate in interview.

13. Petitioner, in rejoinder affidavit, has relied on a Single judge judgement of this Court in Bagheshwari Prasad Srivastava and others Versus State of U.P. and others in Civil Misc. Writ Petition No. 17195 of 1998, decided on 24th September, 1999, dealing with absorption of an employee of Bhadohi Woolens Ltd., a Government company which was also closed.

14. We have heard learned counsel for the parties and perused the record.

15. Recruitment and appointment on various posts in various departments in Uttar Pradesh are governed by statutory Rules framed under proviso to Article 309 of Constitution of India. Since petitioner is not claiming appointment/absorption in a particular department and on a particular post, therefore, at this stage we are not referring to any particular law or particular set of Rules but would refer to relevant provisions as and when occasion arises in subsequent discussion.

16. Between 1985 to 1990, a number of undertakings/companies owned by Government were closed on account of colossal losses, etc. A large number of employees were retrenched. In some matters judicial orders were passed directing for absorption looking to general public interest and the fact that a large number of employees rendered unemployed due to closure of such Government undertakings. In some matters, Court expressed its doubt that in the teeth of statutory Rules governing recruitment and appointment of 'retrenched employees' of companies or undertakings, not holding a civil post, cannot be directed to be appointed on a civil post or any Government service governed by statutory Rules.

17. Faced with this situation, in exercise of power, under proviso to Article 309 of Constitution of India, Governor promulgated "The Uttar Pradesh Absorption of Retrenched Employees of Government or Public Corporation in Government Service Rules, 1991' (hereinafter referred to as ''Absorption Rules, 1991'), vide Notification dated 9th May, 1991. These Rules came into force immediately. Rules 2 and 3 thereof, read as under:-

"2. Unless there is anything repugnant in the subject or context, the expression-

(a) "appointing authority" in relation to any post for which an employee was retrenched means the authority empowered to make appointment to such post;

(b) "Public corporation" means a body corporate established or constituted by or under any Uttar Pradesh Act except a University or local authority constituted for the purpose of Local Self Government and includes a Government Company within the meaning of section 617 of the Companies Act, 1956 in which the State Government has prepondering interest;

(c) "retrenched employee' means a person who was appointed on a post under the Government or a public corporation on or before October 1, 1986 in accordance with the procedure laid down for recruitment to the post and was continuously working in any post under the Government or such corporation upto the date of his retrenchment due to reduction in, or winding up of, any establishment of the Government or the public corporation, as the case may be and in respect of whom a certificate of being a retrenched employee has been issued by his appointing authority.

(d) "service rules' means the rules made under the proviso to Article 309 of the Constitution, and where there are no such rules, the executive instructions issued by the Government, regulating the recruitment and conditions of service of persons appointed to the relevant service.

3. (1) Notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained in any other service rules for the time being in force, the State Government may by notified order require the absorption of the retrenched employees in any post or service under the Government and may prescribe the procedure for such absorption including relaxation in various terms and conditions of recruitment in respect of such retrenched employees.

(2) The provisions contained in relevant service rules shall be deemed to have been modified to the extent of their inconsistency with the provisions made in the notified order referred to in sub-rule (1).

(emphasis added)

18. Perusal of Absorption Rules, 1991 shows that State Government is empowered to issue a notified order requiring absorption of "retrenched employees' as defined under Rule 2 (c) in any post or services under Government. State Government in the said notified order is also empowered to prescribe procedure for such absorption including relaxation in various terms and conditions of recruitment in respect of such retrenched employee. Rule 3(2) declares that provisions made in notified order shall prevail over service Rules of relevant post or cadre in which absorption is to be made and the relevant service Rules shall be deemed to have been modified to that extent. The term 'notified order' has been defined under Section 4(29A) of The Uttar Pradesh General Clauses Act, 1904 (hereinafter referred to as U.P. Act, 1904), which reads as under:-

"4 (29-A). "notification" or "public notification" shall mean a notification published in the Gazette of the State, and the word "notified' shall be construed accordingly."

19. Notified order, therefore, when read in the light of Section 4(29-A) of U.P. Act, 1904 would mean an order which is published in Gazette of State. Said order, therefore, would partake the nature of 'statutory instrument' as defined under Section 4(42-B) of U.P. Act, 1904, which reads as under:-

"4(42-B). "statutory instrument" shall mean any notification, order, scheme, rule or bye-law issued under any enactment and having the force of law."

20. Absorption Rules, 1991, therefore, contemplates absorption pursuant to a notified order and not by mere administrative orders issued in exercise of power under Article 166 of Constitution of India. We are not shown any such 'notified order' issued in exercise of power under Rule 3(1) of Absorption Rules, 1991 which may have effect of modifying existing service Rules of respective posts and services in which absorption may be made so as to have effect of modification thereof to the extent of otherwise provisions contained in a 'notified order' and in respect of ATL no such order has been placed before us except Government Order dated 11th November, 1993 which by itself does not provide for absorption but lays down certain relaxation and concessions for "retrenched employees' of ATL for absorption in Government services and posts other than those which are within purview of U.P. Public Service Commission. Be that as it may, subsequent developments have fatal consequences upon petitioner's claim for absorption, hence we may proceed to refer and discuss same hereafter.

21. Absorption Rules, 1991 have been rescinded by promulgating another set of Rules vide Notification dated 8th April, 2003 i.e. "The Uttar Pradesh Absorption of Retrenched Employees of Government or Public Corporations in Government Service (Rescission) Rules, 2003' (hereinafter referred to as "Recession Rules, 2003'). Rule 3 of said Rules, reads as under:-

"3. (1) The Uttar Pradesh Absorption of Retrenched Employees of Government Rescission and Public Corporations in Government Service Rules, 1991 are hereby rescinded and as a consequence of such rescission.

(i) the right of a retrenched employee to be considered for absorption accrued under the Uttar Pradesh Absorption of Retrenched Employees of Government or Public Corporations in Government Service Rules, 1991 but who has not been absorbed till the date of the commencement of The Uttar Pradesh Absorption of Retrenched Employees of Government or Public Corporations in Government Service (Rescission) Rules, 2003 shall stand terminated from such date.

(ii) the orders of the Government issued from time to time prescribing the norms of absorption for retrenched employees of a particular Government department or Public Corporation in Government Service and granting of consequential benefits including pay protection, shall stand abrogated from the date of the commencement of The Uttar Pradesh Absorption of Retrenched Employees of Government or Public Corporations in Government Service (Rescission) Rules, 2003.

(2) Notwithstanding such rescission:-

(i) the benefit of pay protection granted to an absorbed retrenched employee prior to the date of the commencement of The Uttar Pradesh Absorption of Retrenched Employees of Government or Public Corporations in Government Service (Rescission) Rules, 2003 shall not be withdrawn.

(ii) a retrenched employee covered by The Uttar Pradesh Absorption of Retrenched Employees of Government or Public Corporations in Government Service Rules, 1991 prior to the date of the commencement of The Uttar Pradesh Absorption of Retrenched Employees of Government or Public Corporations in Government Service (Rescission) Rules, 2003, but who has not been absorbed till such date shall be entitled to get relaxation in upper age limit for direct recruitment to such Group 'C' and Group 'D' posts which are out aside the purview of the Uttar Pradesh Public Service Commission to the extent he has rendered his continuous services in substantive capacity in the concerned Government Department or Public Corporation in completed years."

(emphasis added)

22. Rescission Rules, 2003 declare to rescind Absorption Rules, 1991. Consequences of such rescission has been provided under Rule 3 (1), stating that right of a "retrenched employee' accrued under Absorption Rules, 1991 but who has not been absorbed till 8th April, 2003 i.e. a date on which Rescission Rules became effective. Such accrued right of "retrenched employee' shall stand terminated from the said date of rescission i.e. 8th April, 2003.

23. Another consequence of Rescission Rules, 2003, stated in Rule 3(1)(ii) is that orders of Government issued from time to time prescribing norms for absorption of "retrenched employees' shall stand abrogated from the date of enforcement of Rescission Rules, 2003 i.e. 8th April, 2003. Having said so, Rule framing authority has also saved certain benefits already granted. Rule 3 (ii) of Rescission Rules, 2003 provides for following protections:-

(i) Benefit of pay protection already granted to an absorbed "retrenched employee' before enforcement of Rescission Rules, 2003, shall remain intact and such employee would continue to avail same and it shall not be withdrawn.

(ii) Retrenched employee covered by Absorption Rules, 1991 as it was upto the date of enforcement of Rescission Rules, 2003 who has not been absorbed till the date of rescission, shall be entitled to get relaxation in upper age limit for direct recruitment in Group "C" and "D" posts which are outside the purview of Uttar Pradesh Public Service Commission. This relaxation in upper age limit is confined to the extent such a 'retrenched employee' has rendered continuous service in substantive capacity in public corporation in completed years or the Government department as the case may be.

24. Therefore, there are two types of protections which are saved in Rescission Rules, 2003. Firstly, pay protection already granted to those who are already absorbed. Secondly relaxation in the matter of upper age limit to the extent one has served in substantive capacity till the date of retrenchment in public corporation in completed years for the purpose of direct recruitment under relevant Rules to Group "C" and "D" posts which are outside purview of Uttar Pradesh Public Service Commission. No other benefit has been provided or saved and right, which may be claimed by "retrenched employee' governed by Absorption Rules, 1991, has been wiped out with enforcement of Rescission Rules, 2003.

25. Aforesaid Rules, 2003 came into force on 8th April, 2003. Due to different sets of litigation wherein several orders in different manners were issued, State Legislature intervened and issued U.P. Act No.26 of 2009 i.e. "Uttar Pradesh Absorption of Retrenched Employees of Government or Public Corporations in Government Service (Rescission of Rules) Act, 2009 (hereinafter referred to as 'Recession Act, 2009'), published in Uttar Pradesh Gazette (extraordinary) dated 27th August, 2009. The statement of 'Object and Reasons' of aforesaid Act says that retrenched employees of Government companies/ undertakings sought their absorption against Group "B' posts which were within purview of Uttar Pradesh Public Service Commission and as per Government policy, absorption against such posts was not permitted and the situation became difficult, as a result whereof, Rules, 1991 were rescinded vide Rules, 2003. Still various Court cases have not rendered the things very clear, therefore, State Legislature decided to promulgate Recession Act, 2009, to deal with the situation.

26. By Section 3 of Recession Act, 2009, Absorption Rules, 1991, have been rescinded and deemed to have been rescinded on 9th May, 1991. The consequences of said rescission and the extent of savings are also provided thereunder. Section 3 of Recession Act, 2009 reads as under:-

"3. Rescission and savings.-(1) The Absorption Rules which was rescinded with effect from April 8, 2003 by the Rescission Rules shall be rescinded and be deemed to have been rescinded on May 9, 1991 and consequent upon such rescission:-

(a) the retrenched employees except those who were absorbed during the period from May 9, 1991 to April 8, 2003 shall have no claim with regard to their absorption under the said absorption rules or under any Government orders issued in regard thereto and their right regarding absorption accrued under the Absorption Rules shall be deemed terminated.

(b) the orders of the Government issued from time to time prescribing the norms of absorption for retrenched employees of a particular Government Department or Public Corporation in Government Service and granting of consequential benefits including pay protection shall stand revoked ab-initio*.*

(2) Notwithstanding such rescission,-

(a) the benefit of absorption provided to the retrenched employees absorbed before April 8, 2003 under the provisions of the Absorption Rules, shall not be withdrawn.

(b) the benefit of pay protection granted to the retrenched employees absorbed prior to April 8, 2003 shall also be maintained.

(c) a retrenched employee covered by the Absorption Rules, but who has not been absorbed till April 8, 2003 shall be entitled to get relaxation in upper age limit for direct recruitment to such Group 'C' and Group 'D' posts which are outside the purview of the Uttar Pradesh Public Service Commission to the extent he has rendered his continuous services in substantive capacity in the concerned Government Department or the Public Corporation in completed years."

(emphasis added)

27. By Section 4, Rules 2003 have been rescinded with effect from 8th April, 2003. Therefore, Recession Act, 2009 in fact has made entire slate clear which was initiated by Rules, 1991 and ended by Rules, 2003. Still litigation continued, hence State Legislature intervened and both the Rules, from the date of their enforcement, have been rescinded. In respect of Rules, 1991, there is a deeming clause, rescinding the same with effect from 9th May, 1991 but subject to some protection in Section 3.

28. Section 3(1)(a) of Recession Act, 2009 clearly declares that except those retrenched employees who were absorbed during 9th May,1991 and 8th April, 2003, all unabsorbed retrenched employees shall have no claim with regard to their absorption under Absorption Rules, 1991 or under any Government Order issued in that regard and their right relating to absorption accrued under absorption Rules shall be deemed terminated. Thus no protection has been made to a person not already absorbed till 8.4.2003. Section 3(1)(a) of Recession Act, 2009 clearly bars any right of absorption to any retrenched employee governed by Rules, 1991, if not already absorbed and now no such right survive.

29. There is a little protection provided under Section 3(2)(c) to retrenched employees who have not been absorbed with regard to relaxations in upper age limit for direct recruitment on Group "C' and "D' posts. Except protection with regard to relaxations in upper age limit given vide Section 3(2)(c), petitioner or any other person like him, after promulgation of Recession Act, 2009, cannot be allowed any absorption as Absorption Rules, 1991 have been rescinded from the date of their promulgation, i.e. 9th May, 1991, leaving no such right open to the petitioner or any person like him.

30. With regard to relaxations, some are even otherwise provided under different Service Rules framed under proviso to Article 309 of Constitution, applicable to different departments and a detailed discussion we find in a Single Judge judgement rendered in Ajit Raizada and others Versus State of U.P. and others, 2011 (6) ADJ 511.

31. A decision of Hon'ble Apex Court in Sunil Kumar Verma and others Versus State of U.P. and others in Civil Appeal Nos.9165 to 9172 of 2010, decided on 09.09.2016 has been relied upon by Counsel for petitioner but we find that therein incumbents were appointed and Court had no occasion to look into the effect and consequences under Recession Act, 2009. Therefore, in our view, aforesaid judgement has no application to the case of petitioner.

32. Counsel for the petitioner has also argued that impugned orders dated 30th April, 2002 and 26.2.2003, declining absorption / appointment to petitioner on the ground that posts, on which petitioner has sought absorption, were within the purview of Uttar Pradesh Public Service Commission, are bad. Therefore, impugned orders are liable to be set aside but here also we find no merit in the petition. The very Government Order dated 11.11.1993, (Annexure--3 to the writ petition), whereunder, petitioner claims his right for absorption being a 'Retrenched Employee' of ATL, provides in para 2 as under:-

" लोक सेवा आयोग की परिधि के बाहर, अधीनस्थ सेवा चयन आयोग की परिधि के भीतर या बाहर के पदों पर "उपयुक्तता" के आधार पर नियुक्ति हेतु अर्हता मानी जायेगी। ऐसी सेवाओं/पदों हेतु जिनके लिये मती/ चयन के निमित्त किसी सेवा नियमावली / कार्यवाही आदेश में कोई प्रकिया विद्यमान हो, छटनीशुदा कार्मिकों के विषय में उक्त प्रकिया से शिथिलता बरतते हुए. "उपयुक्तता" आंकने के लिये अलग से उत्तर प्रदेश सरकार या सार्वजनिक निगमों के छटनीशुदा कर्मचारियों का सरकारी सेवा मे आमेलन नियमावली 1991 प्रख्यापित की गयी है।"

"For the posts outside the purview of the Public Service Commission, within or outside the purview of Subordinate Service Selection Commission, qualification for appointment shall be based upon "suitability". For recruitment/selection for those services/posts for which a procedure exists in any service rules/executive order, The Uttar Pradesh Absorption of Retrenched Employees of Government/Corporations in Government Service Rules, 1991 have been separately promulgated for assessment of "suitability" by relaxing the said procedure in respect of the retrenched employees."

33. Aforesaid para clearly shows that benefit with regard to absorption was not available against such posts or cadres which were within purview of Uttar Pradesh Public Service Commission. Moreover, a reading of entire Government Order dated 11.11.1993 shows that it declares qualifications and eligibility for retrenched employees subject to certain conditions for Government service but no positive direction has been issued in the said Government Order that retrenched employees of ATL shall be absorbed in Government service, if they satisfy eligibility conditions and qualifications mentioned in said Government Order. For that purpose para 2 has clearly referred to Rules, 1991.

34. Be that as it may, we have already discussed Rules, 1991 in the light of present scenario, where State Legislature has rescinded aforesaid Rules vide Rescission Act, 2009 with deeming clause with effect from 9th May, 1991, i.e. the date on which aforesaid Rules came into force and, in that view of the matter, petitioner has no right now to claim absorption nor any direction in the teeth of Rescission Act, 2009 can be issued.

35. In these facts and circumstances, the impugned orders, in our view, cannot be faulted and relief as prayed for cannot be granted.

36. In the result, the writ petition lacks merit. Dismissed.

37. No order as to costs.

U.P. Secondary Education Services Selection Board Rules, 1998 -- Rule 12(8), (9) and (10) -- Reserved Category Candidate Selected on Merit in Open/General Category -- Right to Institution of Preference Given as Reserved Category Candidate -- Reference Answered -- Reference made to answer whether an O.B.C. candidate, selected as Lecturer in the general category, can claim as a matter of right the allocation of an institution for which he gave preference as a reserved category candidate, unless it is established that non-allocation has put him in a disadvantageous position -- petitioner, an OBC candidate, indicated preference for five institutions at the interview stage under Rule 12(9) but, having been declared successful in the open category, was allotted an institution other than the one preferred -- Held: Rule 12(9) requires a candidate to indicate preference of institutions at the interview stage, and Rule 12(10) mandates allotment of the institution of first preference to the candidate at the top of the merit panel, subject to availability -- a meritorious reserved category (MRC) candidate who secures selection in the open/general category on his own merit does not thereby lose the benefit of the preference exercised by him as a reserved category candidate; he is entitled to be allotted the institution of his choice reserved for his category and is not required to further establish that non-allocation would place him at a disadvantage vis-a-vis less meritorious reserved category candidates -- while computing the percentage of reservation, such a candidate continues to be treated as an open category candidate. (Paras 8-19)

Reservation -- Meritorious Reserved Category Candidate Selected on Merit -- Not to be Counted Against Reserved Quota -- Preference for Institution/Service Preserved -- Reliance placed on Anurag Patel v. U.P. Public Service Commission, (2005) 9 SCC 742, Samta Aandolan Samiti v. Union of India, 2014 (1) AWC 592, Ritesh R. Sah v. Dr. Y.L. Yamul and others, (1996) 3 SCC 253, and Archana Anand v. State of U.P. and others, Laws (All)-2007-4-95 -- Held: where a candidate belonging to a reserved category is selected in open competition on the basis of his own merit, he is not counted against the reserved quota, but this does not disentitle him from exercising the choice/preference reserved for his category so as to secure a better placement -- denying such preference to a more meritorious reserved candidate while extending it to a less meritorious candidate of the same category would result in injustice to the former. (Paras 12-13, 19)

Reference Answered -- Reference answered holding that an OBC candidate, selected as Lecturer in the general/open category, can claim as a matter of right the allocation of an institution for which he gave preference as a reserved category candidate, and is not required to prove that non-allocation of the institution of his choice as a reserved category candidate has put him on a disadvantageous position -- matter directed to be placed before the appropriate Bench for hearing and deciding the writ petition on merits. (Para 20)

(Delivered by Hon'ble V.K. Shukla, J.
Hon'ble Mahesh Chandra Tripathi, J.)

1. Under the administrative orders of Hon'ble the Chief Justice dated 10.5.2016 following reference has come up before us to be answered;

"whether an O.B.C. Candidate, who is selected as lecturer in the general category, can claim as a matter of right, the allocation of an institution, for which, he gave preference as reserved category candidate, unless it is established that non allocation of the institution of his choice as a reserved category candidate has put him on a disadvantageous position."

2. The brief background of the reference in question is that Shahid Anjum has applied for the post of Lecturer in Physics pursuant to the advertisement No. 2 of 2010 as OBC category candidate. Petitioner was called for interview and at the point of time when interview took place he indicated preference for appointment in five colleges in case he is finally selected. Thereafter, the result in question was declared on 17.2.2012 wherein petitioner was declared successful in the open category and was placed at serial no. 8 and his name was impanelled for the institution namely Sri Chandan Lal Inter College, Kandhla, Muzaffarnagar instead of institution for which he has given preference as OBC candidate. Petitioner, in this background, has been agitating that he ought to have been given institution of his choice and as nothing was being done he preferred writ petition before this Court and this Court asked the U.P. Secondary Education Service Selection Board to look into the grievance of petitioner. Pursuant to the order dated 3.4.2012 passed by this Court the claim of petitioner has been considered/examined and communication has been sent by informing that petitioner is from OBC category and as he has been selected in open category, the institution meant for open category has been allocated to him and post meant for OBC category cannot be allocated. Thereafter, petitioner in the second round of litigation is once again before this Court by preferring present writ petition and complaining therein that arbitrary treatment has been meted to his candidature and, as such, this Court should intervene in the matter and institution as preferred by him ought to have been allocated to him.

3. On the presentation of the writ petition in question learned Single Judge on 1.12.2015 has proceeded to make a mention that unless and until a candidate of reserved category, who competed with the general category and consequent allotment of an institution not of his choice, establishes that because of such allocation he has been put to some disadvantage as compared to those of reserved category lower in rank to him, he cannot claim as a matter of right for allocation of the institution for which he gave preference as O.B.C. candidate and to that extent disagreement in question has been made qua the judgment in the case of Archana Anand Vs. State of Uttar Pradesh and others, reported in Laws (All)-2007-4-95, and, thereafter, reference has been made.

4. Dr. Rajesh Kumar Srivastava, learned counsel for the petitioner, has submitted before us that the reference in question be answered in negative, inasmuch as, once choice has been asked for in the matter of allocation of institution for which an incumbent has given preference as reserved category candidate, then merit has to be respected while making allocation and the candidate should not be forced to substantiate that he would be on disadvantageous position on account of ignorance of his preference.

5. Sri A.K. Yadav, representing the U.P. Secondary Education Service Selection Board, on the other hand contended that recommendation in question has been made strictly in accordance with the provisions as contained under U.P. Secondary Education Service Selection Rules and, as such, no interference be made by this Court.

6. Arguments to the similar effect has been advanced by Sri Raghuveer Singh, Advocate and learned Standing Counsel has also toed the same lines.

7. In order to answer the issue, that has been so raised before us, the relevant portion of statutory provisions, that hold the field i.e. Sub-rule 4, 5, 8, 9 and 10 of Rule 12 of U.P. Secondary Education Services Selection Board, Rules, 1998 (hereinafter refereed to as the "Rules") are being looked into and same provides for as follows:

12. Procedure for direct recruitment.-

"(1) to (3) .....

4. The Board shall prepare list for each category of posts on the basis of marks obtained in the written examination and marks for special merits as follows:-

(a) 85 per cent marks on the basis of written examination;

(b) 10 per cent marks on the basis of interview which shall be divided in the following manner namely:-

(I) 4% marks on the basis of general knowledge;

(ii) 3% marks on the basis of personality test;

(iii) 3% marks on the basis of ability of expression.

(c) 5 per cent marks on the basis of following special merits namely:-

(i) 2% marks for having Doctorate Degree;

(ii) 2% marks for having Master of Education (M.Ed.) degree;

(iii) 1% marks for bachelor of Education (B.Ed.) degree:

Provided that no marks under this clause shall be awarded to a candidate who has obtained marks under sub-clause (ii),

(iv) 1% marks for the participation in any national level sports competition through state team.

5. The Board shall in respect to the selection for the post of Head Master and Principals, allot the marks in the following manner:-

(i) 60% marks on the basis of quality points specified in Appendix 'D'.

(ii) 16% marks for having experience more than the required experience in the manner that 1% marks shall be awarded for each year of such experience, subject to a maximum of 16% marks.

(iii) 2% marks for research paper published in reputed journals in the manner that 1/2% marks shall be allotted for each research paper subject to maximum 2% marks.

(iv) 7% marks for having Doctorate degree or 3% for Master of Education (M.Ed.) provided that only one degree shall be considered under this clause.

Note.- For the purpose of calculating experience the service rendered as Head Master of Junior High Schools or as assistant teacher in a High School/Intermediate College shall be counted in the case of selection of Head Master and for selection of Principal, the service rendered as Head Master of a High School or as a lecturer shall only be counted.

(v) The Board shall hold interview of the candidates and 15% marks shall be allotted for interview. Marks in the interview shall be divided in the following manner:-

(a) 6% marks on the basis of subject/general knowledge;
(b) 4% marks on the basis of personality test;

(c) 5% marks on the basis of ability of expression."
(6) & (7) .....

(8) The Board then, for each category of post, prepare panel of those found most suitable for appointment in order of merit as disclosed by the marks obtained by them after adding the marks obtained under sub-clause (4) or sub-clause (5) above, as the case may be, with the marks obtained in the interview. The panel for the post of Principal or Headmaster shall be prepared institution-wise after giving due regard to the preference given by a candidate, if any, for appointment in a particular institution whereas for the posts in the Lecturers and trained graduates grade, it shall be prepared subject-wise and group-wise respectively. If two or more candidates obtain equal marks, the name of the candidate who has higher quality points shall be placed higher in the panel and if the marks obtained in the quality points are also equal, then the name of the candidate who is older in age shall be placed higher. In the panel for the post of Principal or Headmaster, the number of names shall be three-times of the number of the vacancy and for the post of teachers in the lecturers and trained graduates grade, it shall be larger (but not larger than twenty-five per cent) than the number of vacancies.

(9) At the time of interview of candidates, for the post of teachers in lecturers and trained graduates grade, the Board shall, after showing the list of the institutions which have notified the vacancy to it, require the candidates to give, if he so desires, the choice of not more than five such institution in order of preference, where, if selected, he may wish to be appointed.

(10) The Board shall after preparing the panel in accordance with sub-rule (8), allocate the institutions to the selected candidates in respect of the posts of teachers in lecturers and trained graduates grade in such manner that the candidate whose name appears at the top of the panel shall be allocated the institution of his first preference given in accordance with sub-rule (9). Where a selected candidate cannot be allocated any of the institutions of his preference on the ground that the candidates placed higher in the panel have already been allocated such institutions and there remains no vacancy in them, the Board may allocate any institution to him as it may deem fit.

8. A bare reading of sub-rule 4, sub-rule 5 and sub-rule 8 clearly illustrates that after the written examination, the Board is required to prepare the list of each category of posts and to hold an interview. For the posts in the lecturers and trained graduates grade, the Board is required to prepare the list subject-wise and group-wise respectively. After the interview is held, the marks obtained by the candidates as per scheme of the rules are added and the panel in accordance with sub-rule 8 is prepared to allocate the institutions to the selected candidates. Said panel is purely merit based panel. In terms of sub-rule 9 of Rule 12, an incumbent has to give choice of five institutions at the time of the interview. Sub-rule 10 provides that the Board shall prepare the panel in accordance with sub-rule (8), and thereafter, allocate the institutions to the selected candidates in respect of the posts of teachers in lecturers and trained graduates grade in such manner that the candidate whose name appears at the top of the panel shall be allocated the institution of his first preference given in accordance with sub-rule (9). Where a selected candidate cannot be allocated any of the institutions of his preference on the ground that the candidates placed higher in the panel have already been allocated such institutions and there remains no vacancy in them, the Board may allocate any institution to him as it may deem fit.

9. Perusal of sub-rule 10 shows that after selection, the Board is required to prepare the panel in accordance with sub-rule 8, which provides that Board shall prepare the panel in each category of posts of those found most suitable for appointment in order of merit as disclosed by the marks obtained by them after adding the marks obtained under sub-rule (4) or sub-rule (5) above, as the case may be, with the marks obtained in the interview.

10. At this juncture we also proceed to examine the judgment in the case of Anurag Patel Vs. U.P. Public Service Commission, 2005 (9) SCC 742, wherein the facts were that in the year 1990, the Uttar Pradesh Public Service Commission/Upper Public Service Commission (Preliminary) examination was held for selection to various posts such as Deputy Collectors in U.P. Civil (Executive) services, Dy. Superintendent of Police in U.P. Police Services, Treasury Officers/Account Officers in U.P. Finance and Accounts Services, Sales Tax Officers, Asstt. Transport Officers, District Supply Officers and various other posts. List of selected candidates was published in August 1992 to fill-up 358 posts in various categories. The candidates belonging to the backward classes were entitled to get reservation in selection in respect of 57 posts in various categories. The posts in each category of services were filled up by choice of the candidates and the person who secured higher position in the merit list would opt for U.P. Civil (Executive) service and those who cannot get the higher and important category of service have to be satisfied with the posts in services of lesser importance. Some candidates belonging to the Scheduled Caste/Scheduled Tribe and Backward Classes got selected to the seats (posts) earmarked for general candidates as they were treated in general category and were allotted to various services depending upon the rank secured by them in the select list. They got lower rank in the merit list of general candidates, and consequently, they got post in lesser important service. However, the SC/ST and O.B.C. Candidates got selection on the posts of higher importance reserved in each category even though they secured lower rank in the whole select list. On these facts, the Apex Court considered the controversy and held in paragraph 5 as under:

"5. First 10 candidates were appointed on the open merit and thereafter three seats which were reserved for backward classes were filled up by O.B.C. Candidates, who secured rank Nos. 38, 62 and 97. The rank list prepared by the U.P.P.S.C. shows that as many as 9 candidates had secured higher rank than the candidate No. 38, namely, Shri Ashok Chandra who got appointment as Deputy Collector and as against candidate Shri Ramesh Chandra Yadav, who got appointment as Deputy Collector, secured only 62nd place in the select list and there were 15 candidates belonging to backward classes were above him in the rank list. So also the 97th rank holder who was the petitioner in the writ petition before the High Court and the present appellant in C.A. No. 4794 of 1998 also get appointment as Dy. Collector and there were several other backward class candidates in the merit list, who secured higher marks in the selection. This anomaly happened as the candidates above who secured higher marks than the 3rd respondent were adjusted against the vacancies that arose in the general category for various other posts such as Treasury Officers/Account Officers in U.P. Finance and Accounts Services, Sales Tax Officers, Asstt. Transport Officers, District Supply Officers etc. The authorities should have prepared the candidates who are to be appointed on general merit as also candidates who are to be appointed as against the reserved vacancies and while making appointments the inter se merit of the reserved candidates should have been considered and they must have been given the option treating each service separately. As this exercise was not followed, less meritorious candidates got appointment to higher posts whereas more meritorious candidates had to be satisfied with posts of lower category."

11. In the case of Samta Aandolan Samiti vs. Union of India, 2014 (1) AWC 592, Apex Court considered the controversy with regard to the admission in MBBS course. The facts of the case were that the writ petition under Article 32 of the Constitution of India was filed with the grievance that while making admission in the MBBS course, the All India Institute of Medical Sciences (AIIMS) has not adhered to the reservation policy and made allotment to the candidates of reserved category in such a manner, which resulted in more than 50% reservations of the seats, and observed in paragraphs 15, 17, 18, 19, 21 and 23 as under:

15. There is no quarrel upto this stage. It is now well entrenched principle of law that those members belonging to reserved category who get selected in the open competition on the basis of their own merit have right to be included in the general list/unreserved category and not to be counted against the quota reserved for Scheduled Caste. This was recognized by the Constitutional Bench judgment of this Court in Indira Sawhney (supra) and has been followed in series of judgments thereafter. Thus, when certain persons belonging to reserved category get selected in open competition on the basis of their merit, they are not to be counted in the reserved category against the reserved category quota. It is open to the authorities to fill the posts meant for reserved category candidates from amongst the persons in such categories after excluding those who have found their place in general merit. As a fortiori, while calculating the limit of 50% reservation, those candidates belonging to reserved category who have found their place on the basis of their merit competing with general candidates are not to be taken into consideration. It is also not in dispute that such O.B.C./S.C. candidates who have been included in general category have come in that category on their own merit with no relaxation of the eligibility level i.e. percentage of marks. However, the objection of Mr. Lahoti, learned Counsel for the Petitioner, was to the method of counseling which was adopted in the present case as that has come, no doubt, above to the persons in reserved categories. He submitted that as per para 4 of the counseling letter choice was given to S.C./S.T./O.B.C. candidates who had taken admission in the open competition, to opt for a better Institution of their choice for which he/she would have been eligible as per the rules of reservation. This, according to him, was impermissible as once a candidate in reserved category had taken admission under the open competition, he could not have been given a choice for better Institution on the premise that he/she will be governed by Rules of reservation. For this reason, he took strong objection to the note appended to para 4 of the counseling letter as well which facilitated this process. He, thus, submitted that the counseling letter/circular was opposed to the provision made in the prospectus and was also contrary to the judgment of this Court in Union of India v. Ramesh Ram and Ors. (2010) 7 SCC 234:2010(6) AWC 6348 (SC).

17. We have considered the submissions of counsel of both the parties. At the outset, we would like to point out that in the present case, we are dealing with the case of admission with medical course, and the position which we are going to explain in the subsequent paragraphs is confined to cases of admissions and not appointment into the service under the Government. Further, this applies only to MBBS Course and not Post Graduate Courses. Further, we are concerned herein admission process in Seven AIIMS only and the position explained does not relate to those cases where their admissions are in different colleges.

18. With this clarification, we proceed to deal with the issue.

19. It is stated at the cost of the repetition that those members who belong to reserved category but get selected in the open competition on the basis of their own merit have a right to be included in the general/unreserved category. Such M.R.C. not to be included in the quota reserved for Scheduled Caste etc. It is an admitted position that if these persons are excluded, the respondents have not exceeded the quota meant for reserved category. The respondents, at the time of counseling, have only accorded a higher/better choice to these meritorious reserved candidates (M.R.C.) who got recommended against general/unreserved seats vis-a-vis those reserved category candidates who are accommodated against their quota. It is, therefore, an inter-se adjustment between the two kinds of persons belonging to reserved category. In their inter-se merit, these persons who have been able to find their place in general list on account of their merit are definitely better placed than those candidates who are selected in the reserved category, though both types of candidates belong to reserved category. Thus, if between these two categories of persons belonging to same class, higher choice is not given to the persons who are better in merit viz. the M.R.Cs., it would clearly be injustice to them. This was precisely the issue which was referred for decision to the Constitution Bench in the case of Ramesh Ram (supra). In paragraph 3 of the judgment, the Constitution Bench stated the question which was referred for its decision and, the same reads as follows:

"Whether candidates belonging to reserved category, who get recommended against general/unreserved vacancies on account of their merit (without the benefit of any relaxation/concession), can opt for a higher choice of service earmarked for reserved category and thereby migrate to reserved category.

21. Dealing with the first question which directly arises in the present case, the Court clarified that a distinction is to be maintained between the cases dealing with the admission to educational institutions and appointment to a service. The Court accepted the general proposition that such a course of action affords a meritorious reserved candidates (M.R.C.), the benefit of reservation in so far as service allocation is concerned, if this is not done, lesser meritorious reserved candidates would be able to secure better discipline. Therefore, this course of action preserves and protects inter-se merit amongst the reserved candidates.

23. The question in that case was whether a reserved category candidate who is entitled to be selected for admission in open competition on the basis of his/her own merit should be counted against the quota meant for the reserved category or should he be treated as a general candidate. The Court reached the conclusion that when a candidate is admitted to an educational institution on his own merit, then such admission is not to be counted against the quota reserved for Schedule Castes or any other reserved category. It was so held in the following words:

"...In view of the legal position enunciated by this Court in the aforesaid cases the conclusion is irresistible that a student who is entitled to be admitted on the basis of merit though belonging to a reserved category cannot be considered to be admitted against sets reserved for reserved category. But at the same time the provisions should be so made that it will not work out to the disadvantage of such candidate and he may not be placed at a more disadvantageous position than the other less meritorious reserved category candidates. The aforesaid objective can be achieved if after finding out the candidates from amongst the reserved category who would otherwise come in the open merit list and then asking their option for admission into the different colleges which have been kept reserved for reserved category and thereafter the cases of less meritorious reserved category candidates should be considered and they be allotted seats in whichever colleges the seats should be available. In other words, while a reserved category candidate entitled to admission on the basis of his merit will have the option of taking admission in the colleges where a specified number of seats have been kept reserved for reserved category but while computing the percentage of reservation he will be deemed to have been admitted as an open category candidate and not as a reserved category candidate."

12. In the case of Ritesh R. Sah vs. Dr. Y.L.Yamul and others, 1996 (3) SCC 253, in paragraph 17 the Apex Court has held as under:

"17. In view of the legal position enunciated by this Court in the aforesaid cases the conclusion is irresistible that a student who is entitled to be admitted on the basis of merit though belonging to a reserve category cannot be considered to be admitted against seats reserved for reserved category. But at the same time the provisions should be so made that it will not work out to the disadvantage of such candidate and he may not be placed at a more disadvantageous position than the other less meritorious reserved category candidates. The aforesaid objective can be achieved if after finding out the candidates from amongst the reserved category who would otherwise come in the open merit list and then asking their option for admission into the different colleges which have been kept reserved category candidates should be considered and they be allotted .seats in whichever colleges the seats should be available. In other words, while a reserved category candidate entitled to admission on the basis of his merit will have the option of taking admission in the colleges where a specified number of seats have been kept reserved for reserved category but while computing the percentage of reservation he will be deemed to have been admitted as an open category candidate and not as a reserved category candidate." the same question was considered by this Court in State of Bihar and others vs. M. Neethi Chandra and others, 1996 (6) SCC 36."

13. This Court in the case of Archana Anand Vs. State of Uttar Pradesh and others, Laws (All)-2007-4-95, while considering the claim of admission for Special B.T.C. Course, has held in paragraph 8 as under:

"8. Here in the present case factual position which is emerging is to the effect that petitioner had applied for consideration of her candidature from Female/Scheduled Caste/Arts category candidate and she secured 313.91 quality point marks and as her merit position was much higher as such she has been treated as General Category candidate. It has been categorically stated by petitioner, that allotment of home district was automatic in case candidate was having merit for the same, and apart from the same three options had been exercised namely District Kaushambi, Pratapgarh and Fatehpur. The first candidate who was placed at serial no. 1 and had 301.06 quality point marks namely Anita Bharti from Female/Scheduled Caste/Arts category was allocated home district i.e. Allahabad. Last selected candidate from Female/Scheduled Caste/Arts category candidate namely Sushila had secured 293.31 quality point marks and she has been placed at serial no. 26 and home district has been allocated to her with Code No. 31. Once candidates who had applied for consideration of their claim from Female/Scheduled Caste/Arts category have been given placement as per their choice i.e. their respective home district then there is no reason to deny and deprive the petitioner her place of choice merely because on account of higher merit, she was treated as Female/General/Arts category candidate. Ranking has to be given due respect on the basis of her merit and more meritorious amongst them has to be given first choice of posts. In the present case ground on which claim of the petitioner has been non-suited is that present selection is in respect of single cadre. The view taken in unsustainable by all logics as when said principles have been made applicable, when there are different cadres, by giving due weight to merit of reserve category candidate then same principles will apply with full force, even when there is single cadre. Placement of selected candidate has to be done as per the option exercised. Petitioner cannot be put to disadvantageous position, on account of higher merit and petitioner in all eventuality has to be given first choice of post. The claim of the petitioner is clearly covered by the Anurag Patel case (supra)."

14. On the parameters of the aforementioned provisions, that have been quoted above, and the judicial pronouncement, that has been taken note of, the consistent view has been that a candidate who has proceeded to apply as a reserve category candidate and in case he/she proceeds to find place on the basis of merit competing with open category candidate, then his/her rights cannot be defeated and the candidate with less merit in the reserved category could not be put to a much advantageous position. A reserved category candidate who has got place for himself/herself on the basis of merit though belonging to reserved category cannot be considered to be recommended/empanelled against the post reserved for reserve category candidate but as provision has been made for providing preference in the matter of selection of institution, then as at the point of time when interview has taken place his/her candidature has been considered as a reserved category candidate and option has been given, accordingly, then his/her candidature in question will have to be considered on the same parameters at the time of preparation of panel based on merit and choice of institution and if such a view is not taken then it would be writ apparent that an incumbent, even though he/she belongs to the same category, if between these two category of person belonging to same class, choice is not given to person who are better in merit, same would certainly be injustice to the said class, however, while computing percentage of reservation, he/she will be treated as an open category candidate with an additional option to move to reserved category for getting preferred placement. Apex Court in the case of Public Service Commission, Uttaranchal Vs. Mamta Bisht, 2011 (1) SCC (L&S) 208, has clarified the legal position by mentioning that in case of vertical reservation, reserve category candidates may compete for non-reserved post and if they are appointed to non-reserved posts on their own merit, their number will not be counted against reserved quota. Once the said candidate is to be adjusted as per his/her preference against the reserve category post ignoring his/her candidature against non-reserve posts, then same would create corresponding vacancy in non-reserve posts resulting in offering post to general category post.

15. Apex Court in the case of Union of India Vs. Ramesh Ram, 2010 (7) SCC 234, has clarified the legal position that when MRC candidates get adjusted against reserve post, the same creates corresponding vacancies in the general merit. MRC candidate having indicated their status as SC/ST/OBC at the time of application, begin their participation in the examination process as reserve candidate. Having qualified as per the general qualifying standard, they have the additional option for opting out of the reserved category and occupying a general post. Where, however, they are able to secure a better post in the reserved list their placement in the general list should not deprive of the same. The reserved status is protected so that his/her better performance does not deny him/her of the chance to be allotted to a more preferred service.

16. Reference, that has been made, is that the said incumbent is bound to prove that he/she would be at a disadvantageous situation cannot be accepted by us, inasmuch as, once merit has live link with the preference in question i.e. for providing institution of his/her choice, then what is not provided for in the rule cannot be provided for by the judicial dicta and candidate's preference cannot be ignored merely because he/she was higher in merit. In the present reference, what we find that general category is being treated as if it is not at all meant for reserved category candidate whereas general category is open category and indicative of the fact that the list has been prepared based on merit. Words shall be allotted institution of his preference has to be construed accordingly, failing which such provision would stand diluted. Once incumbent of reserved category has proceeded to make place for himself/herself on merit, then the choice that has been given by that candidate has to be accepted as his/her better performance does not deny him/her of being allotted preferred institution. The expression "preference" amongst others means prior right, advantage, precedence etc. Preference is always subjective, if you chose one institution in preference to another institution, you chose it because you have a feeling that your interest would be much more subserved by getting placement in the said institution. Once right to exercise choice of institution has been conferred by statutory rules, the same cannot be permitted to be taken up lightly unless and until there is a situation when it is impossible to act upon to the said choice, in view of this, the reference is answered in following terms;

"The OBC candidate, who is selected as Lecturer in general/open category, can claim as a matter of right, the allocation of an institution, for which, he/she gave preference as a reserved category candidate and he/she is not required to prove that non-allocation of the institution of his/her choice as a reserved category candidate, has put him/her on a disadvantageous position."

17. The reference is answered, accordingly. The matter be placed before appropriate Bench for hearing and deciding the writ petition in question on merits.

Writ A No.- 41169 Of 2003

Shamsher Bahadur ...Petitioner

Versus

Board Of Directors, Farrukhabad Gramin Bank Through Chairman ...Respondent

Counsel for Petitioner:
K.M. Mishra, H.R. Mishra

Counsel for Respondent:
Amit Saxena, S.C.

Service Law -- Farrukhabad Gramin Bank (Staff) Service Regulations, 1981 -- Regulation 30(2) & (3) -- Power of Disciplinary Authority to Order De-novo Enquiry -- Petitioner, an officer of the Bank, was chargesheeted for irregularities; first Enquiry Officer's report was set aside by Disciplinary Authority who directed de-novo enquiry on the basis of fresh evidence not earlier placed, relying on K.R. Deb v. Collector of Central Excise, Shillong, AIR 1971 SC 1447 to contend that Regulations do not permit more than one enquiry -- Held: Regulation 30 of Regulations, 1981, unlike Rule 15 of CCS (CCA) Rules, 1957 considered in K.R. Deb, contains no restriction on the Disciplinary Authority's power to direct further or de-novo enquiry -- Enquiry report is not binding on Disciplinary Authority, who may record his own findings or direct further/de-novo enquiry, provided due opportunity of defence consistent with natural justice is afforded -- K.R. Deb and Kanailal Bera v. Union of India, (2007) 11 SCC 517 distinguished as they turned on specific statutory restrictions absent in the present Regulations. (Paras 9-19)

Service Law -- Requirement of Fresh Chargesheet on Order of De-novo Enquiry -- Held: Chargesheet is an incident preceding commencement of oral enquiry and not an integral part of the oral enquiry itself; issuance of a fresh chargesheet is not a statutory requirement before conducting de-novo enquiry pursuant to the original chargesheet -- Absence of a fresh chargesheet does not vitiate the de-novo enquiry. (Paras 20-23)

Service Law -- Quantum of Punishment -- Loss of Confidence -- Scope of Judicial Review -- Punishment of withholding of increments and removal imposed for proved charges of non-compliance of Bank norms and causing loss to Bank -- Held: In cases of financial misconduct/lack of integrity by a Bank official holding a position of trust, it is loss of confidence, and not the quantum of money involved, that is the primary consideration for punishment; sympathy or generosity is impermissible -- Scope of judicial review of quantum of punishment is very limited and interference is warranted only where punishment shocks the conscience of the Court -- Punishment held neither excessive nor unjust. (Paras 24-31)

Writ Petition Dismissed -- Order of punishment dated 20.01.2003 and appellate order rejecting petitioner's appeal, upheld; no costs. (Para 33)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Sudhir Agarwal, J.
Hon'ble Dr. Kaushal Jayendra Thaker, J.)

1. Heard Sri K.M. Mishra, learned counsel for petitioner and perused the record.

2. Petitioner Shamsher Bahadur, working as an officer in Farrukhabad Gramin Bank (hereinafter referred to as "Bank') was placed under suspension vide order dated 04.05.1992 passed by Chairman of Bank in its capacity as Disciplinary Authority. A chargesheet dated 28.10.1993 was served upon him containing allegations of certain irregularities alleged to be committed by him during period he worked as Manager, Kanpur Branch of Bank from 23.07.1987 to 27.01.1992. Two charges were levelled upon petitioner regarding misconduct under Regulation 19 and 30(1) of Farrukhabad Gramin Bank (Staff) Service Regulations, 1981 (hereinafter referred to as "Regulations 1981").

3. Enquiry Officer submitted report dated 27.10.1996 and according to petitioner his information is that he was exonerated in both charges. Chairman/Disciplinary Authority however passed an order dated 30.12.2000 questioning enquiry proceedings conducted pursuant to the chargesheet dated 28.10.1993 and directing to hold de-novo enquiry on the basis of fresh documentary/oral evidence which according to him were not placed before Enquiry Officer earlier. Fresh enquiry was conducted by one Gore Lal, appointed by Disciplinary Authority vide letter dated 19.01.2001 and he submitted report dated 28.06.2002. Enquiry Officer had held first charge as partly proved and in second charge there were five allegations out of which three were held proved and two unproved. Copy of enquiry report was furnished to petitioner requiring him to submit his representation, if any, which he submitted on 05.08.2002.

4. Disciplinary Authority ultimately passed order of punishment dated 20.01.2003 imposing punishment of withholding of three increments under Regulation 30(1)(e) and Removal under Regulation 30(1)(e). Petitioner preferred appeal but the same has also been rejected by Board of Director. Hence this writ petition.

5. Learned counsel for petitioner has assailed aforesaid order of punishment and appellate authority contending that;

(I) Regulations 1981, do not permit de-novo enquiry hence de-novo enquiry culminating in impugned order of punishment is wholly illegal and void-ab-initio. Reliance is placed on K.R. Deb Vs Collector of Central Excise, Shillong AIR 1971 SC 1447.

(ii) When Disciplinary Authority order for de-novo enquiry then it was incumbent to furnish fresh chargesheet. Oral hearing could not have been conducted de-novo on the basis of old chargesheet and this vitiates entire proceedings.

(iii) Looking to the charges proved against petitioner and nature of seriousness as thereof, it cannot be said that petitioner has committed any serious misconduct and therefore punishment imposed upon him is grossly disproportionate, arbitrary, excessive and illegal.

6. Regulation 30 of 1981 Regulations deals with penalties which may be imposed upon staff of Bank. If he is found guilty of displaying negligence, inefficiency or indolence or commits breach of the Regulations or knowingly does anything detrimental to the interests of the Bank or in conflict with its instructions or commits breach of discipline or is guilty of misconduct. It also prescribes the procedure to be followed before imposing punishment and reads as under, Regulation 30 (1) (2) (3) relevant for our purpose are quoted hereunder:-

"30 (1)- Without prejudice to the provisions of other regulations, an officer or employee who commits a breach of these regulations or who displays negligence, inefficiency or indolence, or who knowingly does anything detrimental to the interests of the Bank or in conflict with its instructions or who commits a breach of discipline or is guilty of any other act of misconduct, shall be liable to the following penalties-

(a) reprimand;

(b) delay or stoppage of increments or promotion;

(c) degradation to a lower post or grade of to a lower stage in his incremental scale;

(d) recovery from pay of the whole or part of any pecuniary loss caused to the Bank by the officer or employee;

(e) removal from service which shall not be a disqualification for future employment.

(f) dismissal.

"(2) No officer or employee shall be subjected to the penalties referred to in clause (b), (c), (d), (e) or (f) of sub-regulation (1) except by an order in writing signed by the Chairman and no such order shall be passed without the charge being formulated in writing and given to the said officer or employee so that he shall have reasonable opportunity to answer them in writing or in person, as he prefers and in the latter case his defence shall be taken down in writing and read to him.

Provided that the requirements of this sub-regulation may be waived, if the facts on the basis of which action is to be taken have been established in a court of law or court martial, or where the officer or employee has absconded or where it is for any other reason impracticable to communicate with him or where there is difficulty in observing them and the requirements can be waived without injustice to him. In every case where all or any of the requirements of this sub-regulation are waived the reasons for so doing shall be recorded in writing.

(3) The enquiry under this regulation and the procedure with the exception of the final order, may be delegated in case the person against whom proceedings are taken is an officer to any officer who is in grade higher than such officer and in the case of an employee to any officer. For purposes of the enquiry, the officer or employee may not engage a legal practitioner."

7. Regulations as such do not contemplate anywhere as to the procedure followed by Disciplinary Authority after he receive enquiry report. It only contemplates that no order of punishment shall be passed by Disciplinary Authority without charges being formulated in writing or given to officer concerned and giving him a reasonable opportunity to answer them in writing or in person as he prefers and in case he answer in person his defence shall be taken down and read to him.

8. Regulation 30(3) permits Disciplinary Authority to delegate enquiry to any person who is in a higher grade than the delinquent officer.

9. Regulations nowhere contemplate a procedure to be followed by disciplinary authority when enquiry is delegated to any other authority and he submits report. In fact, the Regulations are silent on this aspect. In absence of any specific procedure prescribed in Regulation, general principles in our view would be applicable which says that enquiry report shall not be binding upon disciplinary authority and it is always open to disciplinary authority either to record its own findings on the basis of material already collected by Enquiry Officer and thereafter giving opportunity to the delinquent employee, pass a reasoned order. Disciplinary authority in alternative can also require Enquiry Officer to conduct further enquiry or de-novo enquiry as the case may be.

10. Learned counsel for petitioner further submitted that since Regulations did not permit disciplinary authority to reject enquiry report and direct for de-novo enquiry, hence disciplinary authority erred in law and acted without jurisdiction in directing de-novo enquiry and on the basis of de-novo enquiry order of punishment is also illegal and without jurisdiction and in this regard placed reliance on judgment of Supreme Court in K.R. Deb (supra).

11. We find that Regulation 30 (2) and (3) of Regulations 1981 which are applicable in the case in hand nowhere contemplates such restriction or limitation with regard to power to be exercised by disciplinary authority. If disciplinary authority finds a justified reason for holding a further enquiry or de-novo enquiry as the case may be, in absence of limitation under Regulations, we find it difficult to accept that an order for de-novo enquiry cannot be passed by disciplinary authority. It would not be appropriate to read the provisions dealing with disciplinary matters so as to curtail down powers of disciplinary authority when none has been prescribed under Regulations. The only occupying factor in our view, should be that delinquent employee before passing and order of punishment has been given due and effective opportunity of defence consistent with principles of natural justice.

12. In K.R. Deb (supra), we find that therein a specific Rule was considered by Court and interpreted in the manner as was evident from a bare reading of Rule. Therein order of punishment of dismissal of a Sub-Inspector of Central Excise, employed by Union of India, was under consideration in the light of provisions of Central Civil Services (Classification, Control and Appeal) Rules, 1957 (hereinafter referred to as "CCS (CCA) Rules 1957"). The argument was raised in the light of Rule 15 of CCS (CCA) Rules 1957 that it did not contemplate more than one enquiry. Rule 15(1) reads as under:-

"Without prejudice to the provisions of the Public Servants (Inquiry) Act, 1850, no order imposing on a Government servant any of the penalties specified in Clauses (iv) to (vii) of Rule 13 shall be passed except after an inquiry*, held as far as may be, in the manner hereinafter provided."*

13. Construing Rule 15, Court said that on the face, Rule 15 contemplates only one enquiry. If in a particular case, Disciplinary Authority finds that some defect has crept into enquiry or some important witnesses were not available and not examined in the enquiry or for some other reasons, it may ask Enquiry Officer to record further evidence but there is no provision in Rule 15 for completely setting aside previous enquiry on the ground that report of Enquiry Officer does not appeal to Disciplinary Authority. Court said that under Rule 9, Disciplinary Authority has enough power to reconsider evidence itself and come to its own conclusion.

14. In the present case, in Regulations 1981, we do not find any such provision, parimateria to Rule 15 or Rule 9 of CCS Rules 1957, which were considered and interpreted in K.R. Deb (supra). Therefore, in our view, aforesaid judgment shall not help petitioner in advancing argument that de-novo oral enquiry could not have been ordered by Disciplinary Authority.

15. We find that this point was also raised in a subsequent decision in Union of India and others Vs P. Thayagarajan, 1999 (1) SCC 733, wherein a de-novo enquiry was ordered in purported exercise of power under Rule 27 (c) of Central Reserve Police Force Rules, 1955 (hereinafter referred to as "CRPF Rules 1955"). Court distinguished the decision in K.R. Deb (supra) and said in para 8 of judgment as under:-

"A careful reading of this passage will make it clear that this court notices that if in a particular case where there has been no proper enquiry because of some serious defect having crept into the inquiry or some important witnesses were not available at the time of the inquiry or were not examined, the Disciplinary Authority may ask the Inquiry Officer to record further evidence but that provision would not enable the Disciplinary Authority to set aside the previous enquiries on the ground that the report of the Enquiry Officer does not appeal to the Disciplinary Authority*. In the present case the basis upon which the Disciplinary Authority set aside the enquiry is that the procedure adopted by the Enquiry Officer was contrary to the relevant rules and affects the rights of the parties and not that the report does not appeal to him.* When important evidence, either to be relied upon by the department or by the delinquent official, is shut out, this would not result in any advancement of any justice but on the other hand result in a miscarriage thereof*. Therefore we are of the view that Rule 27(c) enables the Disciplinary Authority to record his findings on the report and to pass an appropriate order including ordering a de novo enquiry in a case of present nature."*

16. A similar issue was raised again in Kanailal Bera Vs Union of India and others, 2007 (11) SCC 517. It was also a case arising from CRPF Rules 1955. Appellant Kanailal Bera was dismissed from the post of Constable in CRPF. He was unauthorisedly absent for a period of 167 days. On this charge he was sentenced to seven days confinement to Civil Lines. Thereagainst he made a representation. Authorities however ordered another enquiry in which charges were held partly proved and he was dismissed from service. Court held that a second enquiry after finding charges partly proved in an earlier enquiry was not permissible under Rule 27 of CRPF Rules 1955 and placed reliance K.R. Deb Vs Collector of Central Excise, Shillong (supra). In para 5 of the judgment Court said:-

"The question as to whether a punishment of confinement to Civil Lines could have been directed or not should not detain us as we agree with the contention raised by learned counsel for the appellant that the purported order dated 5.4.1995 of the disciplinary authority was unsustainable in law. Rule 27 of the Central Reserve Police Force Rules 1955, inter alia, lays down the procedure for conducting a departmental inquiry. Once a disciplinary proceeding has been initiated, the same must be brought to its logical end meaning thereby a finding is required to be arrived at as to whether the delinquent officer is guilty of charges levelled against him or not*. In a given situation further evidences may be directed to be adduced but the same would not mean that* despite holding a delinquent officer to be partially guilty of the charges levelled against him another inquiry would be directed to be initiated on the self same charges which could not be proved in the first inquiry."

17. The facts in Kanailal Bera (supra) shows its difference inasmuch as therein on the earlier enquiry charge was particularly found proved and punishment of seven days confinement to Civil Lines was imposed. Thereagainst delinquent employee filed appeal/representation and thereupon another enquiry in respect to charge which was not found proved was directed and then another order of punishment of dismissal was passed. Once an enquiry had already completed and punishment was also imposed after finding delinquent employee guilty of some charge, while exonerating in another, then again in respect to charge which was found not proved another enquiry is not permitted on the appeal preferred by employee. It is also barred by the principle of double jeopardy. Regulation 27 also does not permit any such second enquiry after imposing punishment. Therefore, neither decision in K.R. Deb (supra) nor Kanailal Bera (supra) will help the petitioner in order to contend that no enquiry de-novo could have been directed by disciplinary authority.

18. In the present case, firstly, Regulations 1981 do not restrict power of disciplinary authority in directing for further or de-novo enquiry as the case may be, based upon facts and requirement in a particular case. Secondly, herein disciplinary authority found that there were some evidence, relevant in the matter, which could not be placed before Enquiry Officer though directly connected with charges leveled against delinquent employee.

19. It is in these facts and circumstances and in order to give full opportunity of defence to delinquent employee, disciplinary authority directed for a de-novo enquiry. In absence of any provision provided otherwise or curtailing power of disciplinary authority, we find no reason to restrict power of disciplinary authority in directing de-novo enquiry. Question no. 1 therefore, is answered against petitioner.

20. Then comes question no. 2, "whether it was necessary for disciplinary authority to issue a fresh chargesheet."

21. Disciplinary authority while directing de-novo enquiry required oral enquiry to be conducted again. A chargesheet is a part of departmental enquiry but oral enquiry commences after issue of a charge sheet. It is well established that disciplinary proceedings commences with service of chargesheet but it does not constitute integral part of oral enquiry inasmuch as oral enquiry would commence after service of chargesheet and reply given by delinquent employee, or in a given case, when Enquiry Officer is appointed, the chargesheet may be issued by Enquiry Officer himself and thereafter oral hearing may proceed. The fact remains that chargesheet is an integral part of enquiry but an incident to precede oral enquiry, conducted by Enquiry Officer, fixing date of oral enquiry. Oral enquiry includes date fixed for admission or denial of charges, by delinquent employee before Enquiry Officer, if it has not already submitted reply to the chargesheet taking a particular stand, opportunity given to Presenting Officer to place its evidence in support of charge, opportunity afforded to delinquent employee to place its evidence in defence before Enquiry Officer and lastly enquiry report.

22. In the present case, it is true that disciplinary authority ordered for de-novo enquiry by Enquiry Officer but there was no necessity of directing for issue of fresh chargesheet, for the reason that chargesheet precedes commencement of oral enquiry for it is an integral part of departmental enquiry and an enquiry commences with issue of chargesheet. The mere fact that after ordering for de-novo enquiry no fresh chargesheet was issued to delinquent employee would not vitiate oral enquiry conducted pursuant to direction of disciplinary authority for de-novo enquiry.

23. We do not find any statutory provision or requirement that a fresh chargesheet ought to have been given and non issue of fresh chargesheet would vitiate enquiry proceedings. In absence of any statutory provision or law of precedence, we find no reason to accept the submission of learned counsel for petitioner and answer question no. 2 also against petitioner.

24. Then comes the third question, regarding quantum of punishment. Here charges levelled against petitioner relates to non compliance of Bank's norms, non computation of proper interest payable by a person who has taken loan and causing loss to Bank. Petitioner was Manager in the Bank. He held office of trust and was custodian of public funds which normally form capital of Bank. He was expected to show a conduct which best serve Bank's interest and not to cause loss to Bank or endanger Bank's revenue. In such matters, once charges are found proved, disciplinary authority in its wisdom can impose a particular suitable and appropriate punishment. In absence of anything to show that punishment is patently illegal and excessive so as to shock the conscience, no interference is called for. In the matter of quantum of punishment, interference in judicial review is very limited.

25. In Divisional Controller, N.E.K.R.T.C. Vs. H. Amaresh, 2006 SCC 187, dealing with the question of quantum of punishment, Court held,

*"mis-appropriation of the funds by the delinquent employee was only Rs. 360.95 but it is not question of quantum of money misappropriated by delinquent employee but it is a question of loss of confidence and the basic aptitude of lack of integrity on the part of such person. Court said "This Court in a catena of judgments held that the loss of confidence as the primary factor and not the amount of money mis-appropriated and that the sympathy or generosity cannot be a factor which is impermissible in law. When an employee is found guilty of pilferage or of mis-appropriating a Corporation's funds, there is nothing wrong in the Corporation losing confidence or faith in such an employee and awarding punishment of dismissal. In such cases, there is no place for generosity or misplaced sympathy on the part of the judicial forums and interfering therefore with the quantum of punishment."

(emphasis added)

26. In Divisional Controller, KSRTC (NWKRTC) Vs. A.T. Mane, (2005) 3 SCC 254, the amount found to be in possession of unaccounted money was only Rs. 93/-, but dealing with the question of quantum of punishment, Court said;

"..... question of quantum of punishment, one should bear in mind the fact that it is not the amount of money misappropriated that becomes a primary factor for awarding punishment, on the contrary, it is the loss of confidence which is the primary factor to be taken into consideration. In our opinion, when a person is found guilty of misappropriating corporation's fund, there is nothing wrong in the corporation losing confidence or faith in such a person and awarding a punishment of dismissal." (emphasis added)

27. In Niranjan Hemchandra Sashittal and another Vs State of Maharashtra, (2013) 4 SCC 642, Court in para 25 of judgment said;

"In the present day scenario, corruption has been treated to have the potentiality of corroding the marrows of the economy. There are cases where the amount is small and in certain cases, it is extremely high. The gravity of the offence in such a case, is not to be adjudged on the bedrock of the quantum of bribe. An attitude to abuse the official position to extend favour in lieu of benefit is a crime against the collective and an anathema to the basic tenet of democracy, for it erodes the faith of the people in the system. It creates an incurable concavity in the Rule of Law....." (emphasis added)

28. In Rajasthan State TPT Corporation and another Vs. Bajrang Lal, (2014) 4 SCC 693, Court said;

" in cases involving corruption-there cannot be any other punishment than dismissal. Any sympathy shown in such cases is totally uncalled for and opposed to public interest. The amount misappropriated may be small or large; it is the act of misappropriation that is relevant." (emphasis added)

29. We do not propose to multiply the authorities on this aspect and suffice it to mention that dishonesty, lack of integrity on the part of an official of Bank, going to the extent of helping a scrupulous person to the extent that it may cause loss to Bank, of which the official is custodian and holding position in trust, is a very serious matter. It is the aptitude of a person which leans towards dishonesty and corruption or bad conduct, that needs punished. The circumstances or quantum of loss or amount of misappropriation or other things cannot be considered as a justification for such misconduct on the part of official concerned, so as to justify a lenient view on the issue of punishment.

30. A Bank official holds a position where public money is kept in trust and he is custodian thereof. If he causes any loss to public money on account of any lack of good conduct on his part, such person must be dealt with iron hands. There is no question of leniency or sympathy. In fact any indulgence in such matter will make even Court a party to such dishonest action, which has to be avoided, prevented and is totally uncalled for, since Court cannot be a party to a misdeed of a person. On the contrary, once a person had indulged in misconduct, lack of integrity or honesty etc., adequate preventive punishment, which may be a lesson to others also, is need of the day.

31. In the present case, looking to seriousness of charges which have been found proved against petitioner, we have no hesitation in holding that the punishment, neither can be said to be excessive, nor unjust, nor otherwise arbitrary justifying any interference. Hence third question is also answered against petitioner.

32. No other point has been argued.

33. Writ petition lacks merit and is accordingly dismissed. No costs.

Societies Registration Act, 1860 (as amended in U.P.) -- Section 25(1) -- High Court Bar Association -- Bye-laws, Rule 55 -- Election dispute -- Maintainability of writ petition -- Availability of alternative statutory remedy -- Petitioners, being ordinary/life members and a member-advocate of the High Court Bar Association, challenged the result of election of the Governing Council held on 10.08.2016, alleging that dues of defaulting members were cleared after the cut-off date yet they were permitted to vote, that about 8160 votes were cast though not more than six thousand voters actually voted, that the result was declared not by a meeting convened by the Elders Committee as mandated by Rule 55 of the Bye-laws but through a message issued by the Chief Returning Officer, that about 2000 extra ballot papers were supplied to a candidate a day before polling, discrepancies in recount figures for a post of Vice President, and breach of the 'One Bar One Vote' principle on account of about 2000 dual members being included in the voters' list -- Preliminary objection raised by the Bar Association that petitioners have a statutory alternative remedy under Section 25(1) of the Act -- Held: Section 25(1), as amended in the State, empowers the Prescribed Authority to hear and decide, in a summary manner, any doubt or dispute regarding the election or continuance in office of an office-bearer of a registered society, including on grounds of corrupt practice or non-compliance with the Rules of the Society, and adequately covers all the grounds raised by the petitioners -- The challenge is not to the validity of any Rule but to the preparation of the electoral list on the basis of the Rules and to disputed questions of fact (such as whether ineligible persons actually cast votes, and the alleged supply of extra ballot papers), which would require evidence and are inappropriate for adjudication in writ jurisdiction under Article 226 of the Constitution -- Preliminary objection upheld; writ petitions dismissed, leaving petitioners to pursue the statutory remedy under Section 25(1). (Paras 19-25)

Constitution of India -- Article 226 -- Writ jurisdiction -- Court-annexed Bar Association -- Election disputes -- Exceptional circumstances -- Held: Though the writ court can, in exceptional and extraordinary circumstances, examine the affairs of a Court-annexed Bar Association, where the grounds raised are purely factual in nature and a statutory alternative remedy fully covers the challenge, the writ court ought to decline to entertain the petition -- Followed Shiv Sharan Upadhyay v. Bar Council of U.P., 2016 (1) AWC 900 (LB). (Para 21)

Precedent -- Distinguishing Bar Council of Delhi and Others v. Surjit Singh and Others, AIR 1980 SC 1612 -- Held: The dictum that a whole election challenge is maintainable by writ petition despite an alternative remedy is not universally correct -- Where the alternative remedy fully covers the challenge to the election, that remedy alone must be resorted to; the writ remedy survives only where the alternative forum, such as an Election Tribunal, is incompetent to grant the relief sought, as where the vires of a Rule is under challenge -- Since none of the grounds raised by the petitioners involved a challenge to the vires of the Bye-laws, the ratio of Surjit Singh did not assist the petitioners. (Paras 12-19)

Writ Petitions Dismissed -- Preliminary objection as to maintainability upheld; both connected writ petitions dismissed on the ground of availability of an efficacious statutory alternative remedy under Section 25(1) of the Societies Registration Act, 1860, coupled with the factual nature of the disputes raised. (Para 25)

10. The election took place on 10 August 2016 in which it is alleged that about 8160 votes were cast.

11. The main averments contained in the first petition regarding the illegality in the holding of the election are as follows :-

(i) The Annual General meeting should have been convened a month before the expiry of the tenure of 15 July 2016 and only those resident members / life members who had cleared the dues before a month of the holding of the Annual General Body meeting and completed three years regular membership were only entitled to vote but the members were permitted to clear the dues even after 15 July 2016 by the Chief Returning Officer. This deposit of membership fees could at best have continued the membership of the defaulting members but would not entitle them to participate in the election;

(ii) The petitioners and large number of members for the Bar Association had complained of the biased attitude of the Chief Election Officer towards a particular candidate and though not more than six thousands voters were actually cast but the number of votes cast was stated to be 8160;

(iii) Rule 55 provides that the result of the election shall be declared in the meeting of the General Body to be convened by the Elders Committee but the Chief Returning Officer on his own issued a message to the members inviting them "in the charge ceremony of newly elected office-bearers" on 1 September 2016 in the Library Hall of the High Court Bar Association. It is stated that the Chairman of the Elders Committee had informed the petitioners that he had not convened any meeting for the purpose of declaring the election result;

(iv) A day before the polling, about 2000 ballot papers were delivered to the elected President of the Bar Association in connivance with the printer which fact was known to the Chief Election Officer;

(v) A candidate for the post of Vice President was declared to have secured zero vote in the first round but on recount he is said to have secured 220 votes, while another candidate is said to have secured 1487 votes in the first round but on recount is said to have secured only 565 votes; and

(vi) The principle of "One Bar One Vote" was not adhered to as the electoral list consists of names of about two thousand members who are also members of other Bar Associations and have also participated in the election.

12. Some additional facts have been stated in the second petition which are as follows :

(i) the voters list had been prepared in utter disregard to the Bye-laws and an objection was filed before the Chief Election officer;

(ii) Only one day was provided to file objections to the voters list and as such reasonable opportunity was not provided to file objections;

(iii) The Chief Election Officer and the Elders Committee did not follow the bye-laws or the directions contained in the order dated 8 May 2016 passed by by seven Judges in Public Interest Litigation (PIL) No. 15895 of 2015 5 as also judgment dated 14 May 2014 delivered by the Division Bench in Public Interest Litigation (PIL) No. 26676 of 2014 6 and the decision of the Supreme Court in Bar Association and Ors. v. B.D. Kaushik7;

(iv) The dues of many members were deposited after 11 July 2016 but this fact can be ascertained only after the account of the High Court Bar Association is made known; and

(v) The principle of "One Bar One Vote" has not been followed.

13. What has, therefore, been mainly urged in both the writ petitions is the participation in the election process by certain persons who were actually not entitled to participate as either their membership amount was deposited after the last date contemplated under the Rules or that they were the members of more than one association. It has also been urged that two thousand extra votes were cast and number of glaring illegalities were committed during the elections process. It is for this reason that it was sought to be urged by learned counsel for the petitioner that the entire election should be set aside and a fresh election should be ordered to be held in accordance with the Rules.

14. A preliminary objection was raised by Sri Anoop Trivedi learned counsel appearing for the Bar Association that the Court should decline to entertain this petition as the petitioners have a statutory alternative remedy available to them under Section 25 of the Act. In support of this contention, learned counsel has placed reliance on the decision of the Lucknow Bench of this Court in Shiv Sharan Upadhyay Advocate and Anr. Vs. Bar Council of U.P. & Ors.8

15. Sri V.C. Mishra, learned Senior Counsel for the petitioners appearing in the first petition and Sri Sant Saran Upadhyay, Sri Vijay Chand Srivastava and Ms. Sadhna Upadhyay learned counsel appearing for the petitioner in the second writ petition, however, contended that though the Bar Association is a society registered under the provisions of the Act but nonetheless it is a Court annexed Bar Association and, therefore, the petition is not only maintainable but should also be entertained by the Court so as to safeguard the interest of the High Court as well as of the Advocates regularly practicing in the Court. Learned counsel have placed reliance on the decision of this Court in Sunita Sharma (supra) and of the Lucknow Bench in Ajay Pratap Singh Advocate v. Oudh Bar Association, Lucknow and Others9. Learned counsel have also placed reliance on the decisions of the Supreme Court in Bar Council of Delhi v. Surjit Singh and Others10 and B.D. Kaushik (supra).

16. We have considered the submissions advanced by learned counsel for the parties on the preliminary objection.

17. It is not in dispute that the Bar Association is a society registered under the provisions of the Act and that the Bar Association is a High Court annexed Association. The petitioners have sought the cancellation of the election result on a number of grounds.

18. Learned counsel for the petitioners have placed reliance on the Public Interest Litigation filed by Sunita Sharma. This petition was filed before the election was held to challenge the decision taken by the Elders Committee regarding the entitlement of certain persons to vote and for setting aside the tentative voters list published on 5 May 2016. The Division Bench observed that the having regard to the provisions of the Rules, the basic object and purpose of the High Court Bar Association can be sub-served only if the voters list is prepared so as to recognize those ordinary members who are advocates on the Rolls of the High Court regularly practicing in the High Court and who have been admitted by the Governing Council under Rule 7 to be ordinary members. It was pointed out during the course of hearing that about 1600 members of the Bar Association have been included in the tentative voters list though they are not borne on the Advocates Roll of the High Court as maintained under Rule 3-A of Chapter XXIV of the High Court Rules. The Division Bench, therefore, observed that allowing such persons who are not regularly practicing before the Court to be included in the voters list would dislocate the very existence of the High Court Bar Association and this would not be in the interest of maintaining the sanctity, independence and functioning of this High Court. The Court also observed that it was constrained to intervene even though the election process had commenced in order to protect an Association of the Institution which has a direct bearing on the administration of justice from being spirited away by nearly 1600 outsiders who were not regular practitioners.

19. The decision of the Supreme Court in Bar Council of Delhi and Ors. (supra) has also been relied upon by the learned counsel for the petitioners. Writ Petitions had been filed in the Delhi High Court to challenge the election of Bar Council of Delhi held in the year 1978. The Delhi High Court allowed the three writ petitions and set aside the election for the reason that the impugned proviso to Rule 3 (j) of the Delhi Bar Council Rules was found to be ultra vires and invalid and the electoral list so prepared by the Delhi Bar Council on the basis of said rule resulting in the exclusion of the names was, therefore, not valid in law. The Supreme Court held that since the election would not be a valid election on that account it could be challenged in a Writ Petition. In paragraphs 22, the Supreme Court also observed that if the alternative remedy fully covers the challenge to the election, then that remedy must be resorted to but as the Election Tribunal could not adjudicate upon the vires of the Rules, a writ petition could be entertained. The observations are as follows :-

"We may add that the view expressed by some of the High Courts in the cases referred to above that merely because the whole election has been challenged by a writ petition, the petition would be maintainable in spite of there being an alternative remedy being available, so widely put, may not be quite correct and especially after the recent amendment of Article 226 of the Constitution. If the alternative remedy fully covers the challenge to the election then that remedy and that remedy alone must be resorted to even though it involves the challenge of the election of all the successful candidates. But if the nature and the ground of the challenge of the whole election are such that the alternative remedy is no remedy in the eye of law to cover the challenge or, in any event, is not adequate and efficacious remedy then the remedy of writ petition to challenge the whole election is still available. In the present case we have pointed out above that the Election Tribunal would have found itself incompetent to declare the proviso to Rule 3(j) of the Delhi Bar Council Election Rules ultra vires and that being so the alternative remedy provided in Rule 34(8) was no remedy at all."

(emphasis supplied)

20. In B.D. Kaushik (supra), the appeal before the Supreme Court was directed against an interim order dated 5 July 2003 passed under Order XXXIX Rules 1 and 2 of the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908. The Supreme Court considered it appropriate, on the request made by the learned Senior Counsel, to give certain directions / guidelines for effecting implementation of the principle of "One Bar One Vote".

21. In Ajay Pratap Singh, Advocate (supra), a preliminary objection has been raised on behalf of the respondents as well as interveners that writ petition filed in the High Court against the society was not maintainable. The Division Bench held that the Oudh Bar Association was a Court annexed Bar Association recognized by the High Court and so the petition was maintainable. The dispute that had been raised was regarding making a fresh list of members who were practicing in the Court and were not in arrears of subscription before notifying the general election. The Division Bench disposed of the petition with certain directions regarding the preparation of the list.

22. It needs to be stated that the decision of the Lucknow Bench in Ajay Pratap Singh, Advocate (supra) was subsequently explained and distinguished by a Division Bench in Civil Misc. Writ Petition No. 4508 of 2015 11. This Writ Petition had been filed to challenge the order dated 3 December 2014 whereby the petitioner had been debarred from the membership of the Association for a period of one year. The petition was dismissed on the ground that the petitioner had a statutory alternative remedy under section 25(1) of the Act.

23. Thus, all the cases referred by the learned counsel for the petitioners relate to preparation of the voters list except Bar Council of Delhi where the High Court set aside the election result and the Supreme Court upheld the decision of the High Court. What is important to notice is that even in this decision the Supreme Court observed that the views expressed by some of the High Courts that merely because the election was challenged in a writ petition, it would be maintainable in spite of their being an alternative remedy available would not be quite correct for if an alternative remedy fully covers the challenge to an election, then that remedy alone must be resorted to. The Supreme Court had upheld the decision of the Delhi High Court to cancel the election result for the reason that the rule on the basis of which the electoral list had been prepared was found to be ultra vires. The Supreme Court observed that the Election Tribunal would have found itself incompetent to decide that proviso to Rule 3(g) of the Delhi Bar Council Election Rules was ultra vires and so the alternative remedy before the Election Tribunal was held not to be a remedy at all.

24. In these petitions, the election has been held and result has been declared, though there is a factual dispute as to whether it was declared in accordance with Rule 55 of the Rules or not. According to the petitioners, the Elders Committee had not convened the meeting of the General Body in which the election result was declared.

25. Section 25(1) of the Act, as amended in the State, on which reliance has been placed by the learned counsel for the respondents to contend that the petitioners have a statutory alternative remedy, is as follows:-

"Section 25 (1) :- The prescribed authority may, on a reference made to it by the Registrar or by at least one-fourth of the members of a society registered in Uttar Pradesh, hear and decide in a summary manner any doubt or dispute in respect of the election or continuance in office of an office-bearers of such society, and may pass such orders in respect thereof as it deems fit:

Provided that the election of an office-bearer shall be set aside where the prescribed authority is satisfied:-

(a) that any corrupt practice has been committed by such office-bearer; or

(b) that the nomination of any candidate has been improperly rejected; or

(c) that the result of the election in so far as it concerns such office-bearer has been materially affected by the improper acceptance of any nomination or by the improper reception, refusal or rejection of any vote or the reception of any vote which is void or by any non-compliance with the provisions of any rules of the Society.

Explanation :- A person shall be deemed to have committed a corrupt practice who, directly or indirectly, by himself or by any other person -

(i) induces, or attempts to induce, by fraud, international misrepresentation, coercion or threat of injury, any elector to give or to refrain from giving a vote in favour of any candidate, or any person to stand or not to stand as, or to withdraw or not to withdraw from being, a candidate at the election;

(ii) with a view to inducing any elector to give or refrain from giving a vote in favour of any candidate, or to inducing any person to stand or not to stand as, or to withdraw or not to withdraw from being a candidate at the election, offers or gives any money, or valuable consideration, or any place or employment, or holds out any promise of individual advantage or profit to any person;

(iii) abets (within the meaning of the Indian Penal Code) the doing of any of the acts specified in clauses (i) and (ii);

(iv) induces or attempts to induce a candidate or elector to believe that he or any person in whom he is interested will become or will be rendered an object of divine displeasure or spiritual censure;

(v) canvasses on grounds of caste, community, sect or religion;

(vi) commits such other practice as the State Government may prescribe to be a corrupt practice.

Explanation II :- A promise of individual advantage or profit to a person includes a promise for the benefit of the person himself or of any one in whom he is interested.

Explanation III :- The State Government may prescribe the procedure for hearing and decision of doubts or disputes in respect of such elections and make provision in respect of any other matter relating to such elections for which insufficient provision exists in this Act or in the rules of the society."

26. Thus, under section 25(1) of the Act, the Prescribed Authority can decide any doubt or dispute in respect of an election or continuance in office of office-bearers of the Society and can pass such orders in respect thereof as it deems fit. The conditions under which the Prescribed Authority can set aside the election of office-bearers have also been provided. They, amongst others, include the setting aside of an election where any corrupt practice has been committed or where there has been non-compliance of any Rules of the Society. Section 25(1) of the Act, therefore, adequately covers the grounds raised by the petitioners to challenge the election result and there is no good reason as to why the petitioners should not avail this statutory remedy. The challenge by the petitioners is not to the validity of any Rule but to the preparation of the electoral list on the basis of the Rules. According to the petitioners, names of some members have been included which should not have been included. It has to be verified as to whether even such persons, whom the petitioners allege should not have been included in the voters list, had actually cast their votes. Allegations of corrupt practice have also been made inasmuch as it is asserted that 2000 ballot papers were supplied by the printer to a candidate. These are all factual disputes and it will not be appropriate for a Court exercising writ jurisdiction under Article 226 of the Constitution to actually examine such dispute particularly when there would entail leading of evidence. It is for this reason that, in the facts and circumstances of the present case, the Court is not inclined to entertain this petition when an alternative statutory remedy before the Prescribed Authority is available to the petitioners.

27. In this connection, learned counsel for the respondents have placed reliance on the decision of the Lucknow Bench in Shiv Sharan Upadhyay (supra). The High Court observed that a writ petition under Article 226 of the Constitution would not be an appropriate remedy to challenge the election, though in exceptional and extra ordinary circumstances the High Court can entertain such a writ petition. The Court found from the pleadings that the ground raised in the writ petition were purely factual, for which, evidence was required to be led by the parties. The Court observed that a statutory alternative remedy was available under section 25(1) of the Act which could be availed by the petitioners for raising all the grievances. The Court also observed that the petitioners could also file a civil suit in regard to the grievances raised in the petition.

28. Thus, for all the reasons stated above, we are not inclined to entertain these petitions as factual disputes have been raised and the petitioners have a statutory alternative remedy available under Section 25 (1) of the Act. The preliminary objection raised by the respondents is upheld and the petitions are, accordingly, dismissed.

U.P. Co-operative Societies Act, 1965 -- Sections 120 & 121 -- Liability for Payment of Salary -- Maintainability of Mandamus against Registrar -- Petitioner, an employee of a Sadhan Sahakari Samiti whose appointment was approved by District Assistant Registrar under Section 120, sought mandamus against Registrar, Co-operative Societies for payment of arrears of salary, contending that approval of appointment by respondent no.5 made respondent nos. 2 and 5 liable for his salary -- Held: Section 120 merely prescribes qualifications for appointment to be possessed by a person appointed by a co-operative society and empowers the Registrar to order removal of a person appointed in contravention thereof -- Appointment as well as liability for payment of salary/remuneration remains that of the co-operative society itself; mere approval of appointment under Section 120 does not render the State or Registrar liable for payment of salary -- No provision shown making State respondents liable for the petitioner's salary. (Paras 9-12)
Writ Petition Dismissed with Costs -- Petition held devoid of substance; dismissed with cost of Rs. 5,000/- to be deposited by petitioner with the Legal Cell Authority, High Court, Allahabad, within two weeks. (Paras 13-14)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Surya Prakash Kesarwani, J.)

1. Heard Sri Niraj Tiwari, learned counsel for the petitioner, learned standing counsel for respondent nos.1, 2, 5 and 6 and Sri Sujeet Kumar Rai, learned counsel for respondent nos. 3 and 4.

2. This writ petition has been filed praying for a direction to the respondent no.2, i.e. Registrar, Co-operative Society, U.P. Lucknow to ensure the payment of arrears of salary of the petitioner w.e.f. 1.10.1995 to 31.1.2016 with interest @ 12% per annum. Further relief has been sought that the respondent no.2 should be directed to provide the fund to ensure that huge dues are paid.

3. Briefly stated the facts of the present case are that as per own allegation of the petitioner he was an employee of Sadhan Sahakari Samiti, Lakhua Pakar, Block-Belghat, District Gorakhpur. His appointment was approved by the District Assistant Registrar, respondent no.5 as per provision of Section 120/121 of the U.P. Co-operative Societies Act, 1965 (hereinafter referred to as "the Act").

4. The grievance of the petitioner is that his salary has not been paid by the society, namely, Sadhan Sahakari Samiti, Lakhua Pakar, Block-Belghat, District Gorakhpur. Consequently, the petitioner has filed this writ petition praying for a writ, order or direction in the nature of mandamus to the respondent no.2 for payment of his salary.

5. Learned counsel for the petitioner submits that since approval of his appointment as an employee of the respondent no.7 was granted by the respondent no.5 vide order dated 1.6.1982 with reference to the provisions of Section 120 and 121 of the Act and as such respondent nos.2 and 5 are liable for payment of salary and arrears of salary of the petitioner and consequently a writ of mandamus may be issued to the respondent no.2 to ensure payment of arrears of the salary of the petitioner.

6. Sri Sujeet Kumar and the learned standing counsel jointly submit that the writ petition itself is not maintainable and the entire submissions made by learned counsel for the petitioner are wholly misconceived inasmush as the respondent no.7, Cooperative Society is not 'State' within the meaning of Article 12 of the Constitution of India. They further submit that the petitioner was an employee of the respondent no.7 and mere approval of his appointment granted by the respondent No.5 under the Regulatory Provisions of Section 120 or 121 of the Act shall not make him an employee of the State Government.

7. They further submit that the petitioner was neither appointed by the State respondents nor the State respondents are liable for payment of the salary of the petitioner.

8. I have carefully considered the submissions of learned counsel for the parties.

9. As per own allegations of the petitioner in paragraph no. 3 of the writ petition he was appointed as Salesman/Account Clerk in Sadhan Sahakari Samiti, Lakhua Pakar, Block-Belghat, District Gorakhpur on 13.12.1979 by the respondent no.7 and approval of his appointment under Section 120 of the Act was granted by the respondent no. 5 vide order dated 1.6.1982.

10. Section 120 of the Act reads as under:

120 Qualifications for appointment as Secretary, manager etc. of cooperative societies.- (1) No person shall be appointed by a cooperative society as secretary*, manager, accountant or as any other officer to* be paid or remunerated by the society unless he possesses such qualifications and furnishes such security, if any, as may be specified by the Registrar from time to time in respect of any co-operative society or class of societies.

(2) Any person appointed in contravention of the provisions contained in sub-section (1) shall be liable to removal from his office by the Registrar.

11. Apparently, the Provisions of Section 120 of the Act provides for appointment of a person by a Co-operative Society as a Secretary, Manager, Accountant or as any other officer to be paid or remunerated by the society provided he possess such qualification and furnishes such security, if any, as may be specified by the Registrar from time to time in respect of any co-operative society or class of societies and in case any person is appointed in contravention of the provisions of Section 120(1) of the Act then he shall be liable to be removed from the office by the Registrar. Thus provisions of Section 120 clearly provides that a Co-operative Society may appoint any person as Secretary, Manager, Accountant or as any other officer unless he possess such qualification and furnishes such security, if any, as may be specified by the Registrar. Provisions itself makes it clear that the appointment shall be made by the co-operative society and payment of salary or remuneration of the appointed person shall also be paid by the Society. The appointment of the petitioner has not been made by the respondent no.2, 3 or 5.

12. Under the circumstances, I find that the entire relief sought by the petitioner is wholly misconceived. No provision could be shown by the learned counsel for the petitioner despite being asked that under which provision the State respondents are liable for payment of salary of the petitioner who claims himself to be an employee of Sadhan Sahakari Samiti, Lakhua Pakar, Block-Belghat, District Gorakhpur.

13. In view of the above discussion, I do not find any substance in the present writ petition. Writ petition is wholly devoid of substance and, therefore, deserves to be dismissed with costs.

14. In view of the aforesaid, writ petition is dismissed with cost of Rs.5000/- which shall be deposited by the petitioner with the Legal Cell Authority, High Court, Allahabad, within two weeks.

Contract Labour (Regulation and Abolition) Act, 1970 -- Section 31 -- Notification of Exemption -- Challenge to Legislative Notification by Writ of Certiorari -- Petitioners, contract labourers of Food Corporation of India, claimed regularisation pursuant to abolition notification dated 23.04.2010 under Section 10(1) of the Act, their claim earlier rejected and a writ petition (Writ-A No. 34027 of 2013) seeking regularisation still pending -- Petitioners challenged subsequent Notification dated 06.07.2016 issued under Section 31 exempting FCI godowns/depots/railheads from applicability of the abolition notification, following directions of Nagpur Bench of Bombay High Court in Court on its own motion v. Union of India, P.I.L. No. 84 of 2014 and pending Special Leave Petition before the Supreme Court -- Held: A writ of certiorari is a wholly inappropriate relief for challenging the validity of a legislative/statutory notification; relying on Prabodh Verma v. State of U.P., 1984 (4) SCC 255, the proper relief would be a declaration of invalidity -- No infringement of legislative competence or of fundamental rights under Part III demonstrated; there is a presumption in favour of constitutional validity of subordinate legislation -- Validity of the very notification was shown to be under challenge before the Supreme Court in the pending Special Leave Petition, in which no interim order had been passed -- Petitioners' claim for regularisation itself remains pending consideration in Writ-A No. 34027 of 2013. 3. Udit Narain Singh Malpaharia v. Additional Member, Board of Revenue, Bihar, 1963 Supp 1 SCR 676

(Delivered by Hon'ble Surya Prakash Kesarwani, J.)

1. Heard Sri Ashok Khare, learned senior counsel assisted by Sri S.K. Mishra, learned counsel for the petitioners, Sri Ahok Mehta, learned Additional Solicitor General of India, assisted by Sri Rajesh Tripathi, learned counsel for the respondent nos. 1 to 3 and Sri Santosh Kumar Mishra, learned counsel for respondent nos. 4 to 6.

2. Sri Khare submits that after the notification dated 23.4.2010 issued by the Central Government in exercise of powers conferred under Section 10(1) of the Contract Labour (Regulation and Abolition) Act, 1970, the petitioners claimed for regularisation. They filed Writ - A No.34027 of 2013, Satish Kumar and 49 others Vs. Food Corporation of India and 3 others in which an interim order dated 19.6.2013 was passed as under:

"Sri P.K.Singh learned counsel has received notice on behalf of Food Corporation of India. He prays for and is granted six weeks time to file counter affidavit. Rejoinder, if any, within ten days thereafter.

List accordingly.

From the record it appears that that respondents have constituted a Committee. A copy of the report of the Committee has been brought on the record as Annexure-9 to the writ petition. From the perusal of the report it appears that there are documents which indicate that 222 labours had worked. However, in the impugned order it is mentioned that no record is available. This reasoning given in the impugned order is contrary to the report of the Committee dated 19.11.2012. In view of the said fact the reason given in the impugned order does not appear to be prima facie correct.

The petitioners are at liberty to file a representation within a week before the competent authority and if the work is available the petitioners shall be engaged on the same status on which they were working on the date when the impugned order was passed.

Learned counsel for the petitioner has relied on the order of the Division Bench of this Court in PIL No. 57992 of 2013. The competent authority shall keep regard of the said order also."

3. In Public Interest Litigation (PIL) No.7992 of 2012, FCI Mazdoor Union & another Vs. Union of India & others Thru. Lab Sec & others an interim order was passed as under:

"Mr. Aditya Pandey, learned Advocate, has appeared on behalf of respondent nos.1 and 2.

The instructions placed before us be kept with the record.

Strictly as an interim measure and without prejudice to the rights and contentions of the parties and subject to scrutiny, the Labourers, who are contractually appointed, will not be treated to be removed till further order/s to be passed by this Court. Passing of this order will in no way affect the authorities concerned to pass an order in compliance of the Division Bench order dated 08.12.2009 passed in Civil Misc. Writ Petition No.64808 of 2009 (F.C.I. Mazdoor Union, U.P. Lucknow and another Vs, Union of India and others). The benefits, if any, to be given to the petitioners, will be considered by the appropriate Bench on the next date of hearing.

Let counter affidavit be filed within six weeks. Rejoinder, if any, will be filed within two weeks thereafter. The matter will appear eight weeks hence."

4. It is stated by learned counsel for the petitioners that the aforesaid Writ Petition as well as P.I.L. both are pending.

5. Sri Khare states that in Special Leave to Appeal (Civil) No.136 of 2016 filed by the FCI workers Union challenging the judgment of Nagpur Bench of Bombay High Court the date is fixed for 16.9.2016 before the Hon'ble Supreme Court. He states that now the Government of India has issued the impugned Notification No.S.O. 2327(E) dated 6.7.2016 (Ministry of Labour and Employee) which would adversely effect the petitioners. A prayer has been made to quash the aforesaid Notification.

6. Sri Ashok Mehta, learned Additional Solicitor General has placed before this Court the aforesaid judgment in P.I.L. No. 84 of 2014 dated 20.11.2015, the concluding part of which has already been quoted above. He also produced the order dated 8.1.2016 passed by Hon'ble Supreme Court in the Special Leave to Appeal (c) 136 of 2016 filed by the F.C.I. workers Union of India which is reproduced below:

"Mr. Ranjit Kumar, learned SG is requested to take instructions from the Government of India, in the meantime, as to the steps they have taken in terms of the impugned order passed by the High Court."

7. Sri Ashok Mehta submits that neither the relief for quashing the Notification can be granted in a writ petition nor the writ petition is maintainable inasmuch as their claim for regularisation was rejected and against which according to the petitioners they have filed a Writ - A No.34027 of 2013 which is pending.

8. He further submits that neither the legislative competence to issue the impugned Notification has been questioned nor the impugned Notification violates any of the fundamental rights of the petitioners nor it is in conflict with the provision of the Rules and as such the writ petition deserves to be dismissed.

9. I have considered the submission of the learned counsel for the parties.

10. It appears that the impugned Notification dated 6.7.2016 has been issued after an order dated 20.11.2015 was passed by the Nagpur Bench of Bombay High Court in P.I.L. No.84 of 2014, (Court On Its Own Motion Vs. Union of India and others).

11. It appears that a Division Bench of Nagpur Bench of Bombay High Court suo motu took up a P.I.L. No.84 of 2014 based on News Paper item in the daily "The Times of India" and issued certain directions as under :

30. In that view of the matter, we dispose of the present Public Interest Litigation by passing the following order.

(i) The Government of India is directed to decide the representation made by the Food Corporation of India for grant of exemption under the provisions of Section 31 of the said Act within a period of one month from today, in the light of observations made by us hereinabove within a period of one month from today.

(ii) The Government of India shall decide the issue regarding de-notification of the depots of the Food Corporation of India, in respect of which notification is issued u/s.10 of the said Act, within a period of six months from today, in the light of observations made by us hereinabove and the report of M/s.Deloitt Consultancy and the report of High Level Committee appointed by the Government of India itself.

(iii) We clarify that the respondent/Food Corporation of India would be entitled to transfer the services of departmental labourers from one depot to another subject to protecting their salary and all other service conditions.

(iv) We also clarify that the respondent/Corporation would be at liberty to implement its policy of change in the Scheme of incentives.

(v) The Government of India shall also take a decision regarding abolition of system of departmental labourers in a phased manner or absorbing their services in other establishments as recommended by the High Level Committee.

12. It further appears that the aforesaid judgment of Nagpur Bench of Bombay High Court was challenged in S.L.P. No(s) (C)136 of 2016, (C.C.) No.913 of 2016 and 11465 of 2016 in which Hon'ble Supreme Court on 8.1.2016 directed the Solicitor General to take instructions from the Government of India regarding the steps taken in terms of the judgment passed by the Nagpur Bench.

13. From the order dated 17.8.2016 passed by a learned Single Judge of Madras High Court in Writ Petition No.26628 to 26630 of 2016 and other connected writ petitions it appears that after the aforesaid order of Hon'ble Supreme Court dated 8.1.2016, the impugned Notification dated 6.7.2016 under Section 31 of the Act was issued by the Government of India exempting the godowns, depots and railheads of Food Corporation of India from the applicability of certain notifications including the Notification dated 23.4.2010 under Section 10 of the Act.

14. In the aforesaid order dated 17.8.2016 the Madras High Court, observed that the petitioners before it were originally employed as Contract Labourers by the F.C.I. They raised dispute before the Industrial Tribunal, Madras which directed the F.C.I. to reguarise their services vide award dated 29.7.1998 and 19.2.1997 which was challenged by the F.C.I. Chennai before the Madras High Court in writ petitions which were dismissed by the learned Single Judge by order dated 14.8.2003. Against the dismissal of the writ petitions by learned Single Judge, Writ Appeals were preferred before the Division Bench which were also dismissed on 13.12.2006 against which Special Leave Petitions were preferred by the F.C.I. before the Hon'ble Supreme Court which are pending and no stay order has been obtained by the F.C.I. The Madras High Court further noted the orders passed by the Division Bench of Nagpur Bench of Bombay High Court in P.I.L. No.84 of 2014. After noticing these facts the Madras High Court observed in paragraph 8 that the issue of regularisation of the petitioners are pending before the Hon'ble Supreme Court. It recorded the assurance given by learned Additional Solicitor General.

15. Undisputedly, Special Leave to Appeal (C) No.136 of 2016, Food Corporation of India Workers Union Vs. Union of India & Ors. was preferred before the Hon'ble Supreme Court in which by order dated 8.1.2016, the Hon'ble Supreme Court permitted the learned Solicitor General to take instructions from the Government of India as to the steps taken in terms of the impugned order passed by the Nagapur Bench of Bombay High Court. Sri Khare states that in the aforesaid Special Leave to Appeal, validity of the impugned notification dated 6.7.2016 has also been challenged. The matter is still pending before the Hon'ble Supreme Court in which admittedly no interim order has been passed by the Hon'ble Supreme Court.

16. The petitioners have filed the present writ petition for the following relief:

"A. Issue writ, order or direction in the nature of certiorari quashing the notification dated 6.7.2016.

B. Issue writ, order or direction in the nature of mandamus directing the respondents not to take any whereby the service conditions of petitioners may be effected."

17. The impugned Notification dated 6.7.2016 has been issued by the Central Government in exercise of powers conferred under Section 31 of Contract Labour (Regulation and Abolition) Act, 1970.

18. In the case of Prabodh Verma Vs. State of U.P., 1984 (4) SCC 255 (para 31 to 34 and 36 to 38) Hon'ble Supreme Court held as under:

"31. A writ of certiorari can never be issued to call for the record or papers and proceedings of an Act or Ordinance and for quashing such Act or ordinance. The writ of certiorari and the writs of habeas corpus, mandamus, prohibition and quo warranto were known in English common law as "prerogative writs". "Prerogative writs,' are to be distinguished from "writs of right" also known as "writs of course". Writs issued as part of the public administration of justice are called "writs of right" or "writs of course" because the Crown is bound by Magna Carta of 1215 to issue them., as for instance, a writ to commence an action at common law. Prerogative writs are (or rather, were) so called because they are issued by virtue of the Crown's prerogative, not as a matter of right but only on some probable cause being shown to the satisfaction of the court why the extraordinary power of the Crown should be invoked to render assistance to the party. The common law regards the Sovereign as the source or fountain of justice, and certain ancient remedial processes of an extraordinary nature, known as prerogative writs, have from the earliest times issued from the Court of King's Bench in which the Sovereign was always present in contemplation of law. (See Jowitt's "Dictionary of Law" vol.2, p. 1885, and Halsbury's "Laws of England", fourth Edition,., vol. 11, para. 1451, f.n.3).

32. We are concerned here with the writ of certiorari. "Certiorari' is a Late Latin word being the passive form of the word "certiorare" meaning `inform' and occurred in the original Latin words of the writ which translated read "we being desirous for certain reasons, that the said record should by you be certified to us". Certiorari was essentially a royal demand for information; the king, wishing to be certified of some matter, orders that the necessary information be provided for him. We find in De Smith's Judicial Review of Administrative Action, fourth Edition, page 587, some interesting instances where writs of certiorori were so issued. Thus, these writs were addressed to the escheator or the sheriff to make inquisitions; the earliest being for the year 1260. Similarly, when Parliament granted Edward II one foot-soldier for every township, the writ addressed to the sheriffs to send in returns of their townships to the Exchequer was a writ of certiorari. Very soon after its first appearance this writ was used to remove to the King's Court at Westminster the proceedings of inferior courts of record; for instance, in 1271 the proceeding in an assize of darrein presentment were transferred to Westminster because of their dilatoriness. This power was also assumed by the Court of Chancery and in the Tudor an early Stuart periods a writ of certiorari was frequently issued to bring the proceedings of inferior courts of common law before the Chancellor. Later, however, the Chancery confied its supervisory functions to inferior courts of equity. In A New Abridgement of the Law, seventh edition, volume II at pages 9 and 10, Matthew Bacon has described a writ of certiorari in these words:

A certiorari is an original writ issuing out of Chancery, or the King's Bench, directed in the King's name, to the judges or officers of inferior courts, commanding them to return the records of a cause pending before them, to the end the party may have the more sure and speedy justice before him, or such other justice as he shall assign to determine the cause.

33. By the time of King Charles II, however, applications for certiorari as also for habeas corpus and prohibition came to be made usually in the Court of King's Bench.

34. The different functions of the prerogative writs of prohibition, certiorari and mandamus have been thus described in Halsbury's Laws of England, fourth edition, volume I, in para 80:

Historically, prohibition was a writ whereby the royal courts of common law prohibited other courts from entertaining matters falling within the jurisdiction of the common law courts; certiorari was issued to bring the record of an inferior court into the King's Bench for review or to remove indictments for trial in that court, mandamus was directed to inferior courts and tribunals, and to public officers and bodies, to order the performance of a public duty. All three were called prerogative writs...During the seventeenth century certiorari evolved as a general remedy to quash the proceedings of inferior tribunals and was used largely to supervise justices of the peace in the performance of their criminal and administrative functions under various statutes. In 1700 [in R. v. Glamorganshire (Inhabitants) (1700) 1 Ld Raym 580 and Groennevt v. Burwell, (1700) 1 Ld Raym 580] it was held that the Court of King's Bench would examine the proceedings of all jurisdictions erected by Act of Parliament, and that, if under pretence of such an Act they proceeded to arrogate jurisdiction to themselves greater than the Act warranted, the court would send a certiorari to them to have their proceedings returned to the court, so that the Court might restrain them from exceeding that jurisdiction. If bodies exercising such jurisdiction did not perform their duty, the King's Bench would grant a mandamus. Prohibition would issue if anything remained to prohibit. The ambit of certiorari and prohibition was not limited to the supervision of functions that would ordinarily be regarded as strictly judicial, and in the nineteenth century the writs came to be used to control the exercise of certain administrative functions by local and central government authorities which did not necessarily act under judicial forms."

36. In India, prior to the Constitution, the power to issue prerogative writs was vested only in three High Courts, that is, the High Courts established by Letters Patent issued by Queen Victoria under authority given by the Indian High Courts Act, 1861 (24 & 25 Vict c. 104) for the establishment of the High Courts of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal and at Madras and at Bombay for these three Presidencies, namely, the High Courts of Calcutta, Madras and Bombay. Hence this Act is generally called the Charter Act and the High Courts established thereunder the Chartered High Courts. These High Courts were the successors so far as their original jurisdictions were concerned of the Supreme Courts which were established in these three Presidency- towns and inherited from those courts the powers of the Court of King's Bench which included the power to issue prerogative writs, Apart from these three High Courts none of the other High Courts in India possessed this power. The position was changed when the Constitution of India came into force. Article 225 continues the jurisdiction of existing High Courts. Article 226, however, confers upon every High Court the power to issue to any person or authority, including in proper cases, any Government, within the territories in relation to which it exercises jurisdiction, "directions, orders or writs, including writs in the nature of habeas corpus, mandamus, prohibition, quo warranto and certiorari or any of them, for the enforcement of the rights conferred by Part III or for any other purpose". It may be mentioned that under Article 32 of the Constitution, the same power as has been conferred upon the High Courts is conferred upon this Court without any restriction as to territorial jurisdiction but, unlike the High Court, restricted only to the enforcement of any of the rights conferred by Part III of the Constitution, namely, the Fundamental Rights. Referring to Article 226, this Court in Dwarka nath, Hindu Undivided Family v. I.T.O.(1965)3 SCR 536, said:

This article is couched in comprehensive phraseology and it ex-facie confers a wide power on the High Courts to reach injustice wherever it is found. The Constitution designedly used a wide language in describing the nature of the power, the purpose for which and the person or authority against whom it can be exercised. It can issue writs in the nature of prerogative writs as understood in England; but the scope of those writs also is widened by the use of the expression "nature", for the said expression does not equate the writs that can be issued in India with those in England, but only draws an analogy from them. That apart High Courts can also issue directions, orders or writs other than the prerogative writs. It enables the high Courts to mould the reliefs to meet the peculiar and complicated requirements of this country. Any attempt to equate the scope of the power of the High Court under Art. 226 of the Constitution with that of the English Courts to issue prerogative writs is to introduce the unnecessary procedural restrictions grown over the years in a comparatively small country like England with a unitary form of government into a vast country like India functioning under a federal structure, such a construction defeats the purpose of the article itself. To say this is not to say that the High Courts can function arbitrarily under this article. Some limitations are implicit in the article and others may be evolved to direct the article through the defined channels.

(Emphasis supplied)

37. The fact that the High Courts and a fortiori this Court have power to mould the reliefs to meet the requirements of each case does not mean that the draftsman of a writ petition should not apply his mind to the proper relief which should be asked for and throw the entire burden of it upon the Court. An Advocate owes a duty to his client as well as to the Court - a duty to his client to give of his best to the case which he has undertaken to conduct for his client and a duty to assist the Court to the utmost of his skill and ability in the proper and satisfactory administration of justice. In our system of administration of justice the courts have a right to receive assistance from the Bar and it is the duty of the advocate who drafts a writ petition or any other pleading to ask for appropriate reliefs. The true nature of a writ of certiorari has been pointed out this by Court In several decisions. We need refer to only one of them, namely, Udit Narain Singh Malpaharia v. Additional Member, Board of Revenue, Bihar,1963 Supp 1 SCR 676. In that case Subba Rao. J., as he then was, speaking for the court, said:

Certiorari lies to remove for the purpose of quashing the proceedings of inferior courts of record or other persons or bodies exercising judicial or quasi-judicial functions. It is not necessary for the purpose of this appeal to notice the distinction between a writ of certiorari and a writ in the nature of certiorari: in either case the High Court directs an inferior tribunal or authority to transmit to itself the record of proceedings pending there for scrutiny and, if necessary, for quashing the same.

38. A writ in the nature of certiorari is thus a wholly inappropriate relief to ask for when the constitutional validity of a legislative measure is challenged and it is surprising to find that in spite of repeated pronouncements of this Court as to the true nature of this writ it should have been asked for in the Sangh's petition. As pointed out in Dwarkanath case (1965) 3 SCR 536, under Article 226 the High Courts have the power to issue directions, orders and writs, including prerogative writs. This power includes the giving of declarations as also consequential reliefs including relief by way of injunction. The proper relief for the petitioners in the Sangh's petition to have asked was a declaration that U.P. Ordinance 22 of 1978 was unconstitutional and void and, if a consequential relief was thought necessary, a writ of mandamus or writ in the nature of mandamus or a direction, order or injunction restraining the State and its officers from enforcing or giving effect to the provisions of that ordinance. The High Court granted the proper relief by declaring that Ordinance to be void but it should have, before proceeding to hear the writ petition, insisted that the petitioners should set their house in order by amending the petition and praying for proper reliefs. The High Court was too indulgent in this matter. After all, it was not a petition from a Prisoner languishing in jail or from a bonded labourer or a party in person or by a public-spirited citizen seeking to bring a gross injustice to the notice of the court. Here, the High Court had before it as the main petitioner a union which had taken collective action to enforce its demands and had defied the Government by flouting its orders and an Ordinance promulgated by the Governor, namely, U.P. Ordinance 25 of 1977, and had by reason of its collective might ultimately made the Government come to terms with it. The petitioners were represented by well-known counsel, one of them practising in this Court. It is true that neither this Court nor any High Court should dismiss a writ petition on a mere technicality or just because a proper relief is not asked for; but from this it does not follow that it should condone every kind of laxity. We would not have dwelt upon this aspect of the case but for the fact that we find that laxity in drafting all types of pleadings is becoming the rule and a well-drafted pleading, an exception. An ill-drafted pleading is an offspring of the union of carelessness with imprecise thinking and its brothers are slipshod preparation of the case and rambling and irrelevant arguments leading to waste of time which the courts can ill afford by reason of their overcrowded dockets."

19. There is no dispute as to the legislative competence of the Central Government to enact the impugned Notification. According to the petitioners their matters for regularisation is still pending before this Court in Writ - A No.34027 of 2013. The petitioners have completely failed to point out infringement of their fundamental rights guaranteed under part III of the Constitution of India, by the impugned Notification. It is settled principles of law that there is always presumption in favour of constitutional validity of a legislation.

20. As per their own case the petitioners claimed regularisation after the employment of contract labour was prohibited by the Government of India by issuing Notification No.S.O. 947(E) dated 23.4.2010. Their claim for regularisation as per averments made in paragraph 10 of the writ petition was rejected by the respondent no.6 by order dated 9.4.2013 on the ground that no records were available. This order was challenged by the petitioners and others by filing Writ A No.34027 of 2013 which is pending.

21. Considering the facts and circumstances as noted above as well as the judgment of Nagapur Bench of Bombay High Court in P.I.L. No.84 of 2014 and the order of Hon'ble Supreme Court as noted above, I do not find any infirmity in the impugned Notification. Writ petition No.34027 of 2013 filed by the petitioners for regularisation is also admittedly pending.

22. Writ petition lacks merit and is consequently dismissed. There shall be no order as to costs.

Service Law -- Suspension pending Departmental Enquiry -- Simultaneous Criminal Proceedings -- Standing Orders, Clauses 26.01, 26.22 & 26.23 -- Petitioner suspended on charge of misconduct of stealing computers, CPU, monitor, keyboard, printers, routers and fans from office of General Manager, evidenced by CCTV footage -- FIR lodged and stolen articles recovered by Police from petitioner's residence and car -- Petitioner sought revocation of suspension on the ground that a criminal case having been registered on identical facts, continuance of suspension/departmental proceeding was uncalled for, relying on M. Paul Anthony Capt. v. Bharat Gold Mines Ltd., AIR 1999 SC 1416 -- Held: Initiation of criminal proceedings and departmental proceedings operate in distinct and different jurisdictional areas; standard of proof in departmental proceeding is preponderance of probabilities whereas in criminal case it is proof beyond reasonable doubt -- There is no legal bar to both proceedings continuing simultaneously; stay of disciplinary proceedings is not a matter of course and is warranted only where the criminal charge is grave and involves complicated questions of fact and law -- Interest of administration demands that disciplinary proceedings are not unduly delayed and undesirable elements are dealt with promptly -- Impugned suspension order records charges of misconduct evidenced by CCTV footage and requires petitioner's explanation, with subsistence allowance payable -- No error of law found in suspending the petitioner. (Paras 6-11)
Writ Petition Dismissed -- Petitioner's suspension order dated 06.04.2016 upheld; no merit found in challenge to suspension pending departmental enquiry. (Para 12)

Case Law Discussed:
1. M Paul Anthony Capt. v. Bharat Gold Mines Ltd., AIR 1999 SC 1416
2. State of Rajsthan v. B.K. Meena, (1996) 6 SCC 417 = AIR 1997 SC 13
3. Depot Manager, A.P. State Road Transport Corporation v. Mohd. Yousuf Miyan, (1997) 2 SCC 699 = AIR 1997 SC 2232

(Delivered by Hon'ble Surya Prakash Kesarwani, J.)

1. Heard Sri Jeevan Prakash Sharma, learned counsel for the petitioner and Sri Shakti Dhar Dube, learned counsel for the respondents No.2 & 3. No one appears on behalf of respondent No.1 despite service of notice.

2. This writ petition has been filed by the petitioner praying for the following relief:

"(i) Issue a writ order or direction in the nature of certiorari quashing the impugned order dated 06.04.2016 passed by respondent No.3.

(ii) Issue a writ order or direction in the nature of mandamus directing the respondent authority to revoke the suspension of the petitioner forthwith, during the pendency of the enquiry.

(iii) Issue any such other and further order or direction as this Hon'ble Court may deem fit and proper under the facts and circumstances of the case.

(iv) Award the cost of the writ petition against the contesting respondents"

3. By the impugned order, the petitioner has been suspended on the charges of misconduct of stealing computers, CPU, monitor, key-board and printers, routers and two fans in the night of 05.04.2016 between 12 to 2.15 A.M. The evidence which came in the hands of the department, was CCTV footage in which the petitioner was seen stealing the aforesaid articles from the office of the General Manager. An FIR was lodged on the next day with the concerned Police Station. The Police took quick action, raided the residential house of the petitioner and recovered the aforesaid articles from his possession in his residential house as well as from his Swift D-Zire Car bearing registration No.UP64Y-1963.

4. Learned counsel for the petitioner submits that since a criminal case has been registered against the petitioner and as such his suspension is wholly uncalled for in view of the decision of Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of M Paul Anthony Capt. Vs. Bharat Gold Mines Ltd., AIR 1999 SC 1416.

5. Learned counsel for respondents submits that departmental proceeding has been lawfully initiated against the petitioner on charges of misconduct and as such, the initiation of departmental proceeding is wholly valid.

6. I have carefully considered the submissions of the learned counsel for the parties.

7. Perusal of the impugned order dated 06.04.2016 suspending the petitioner shows that the petitioner has been suspended on charges of misconduct attracting major penalty under clauses 26.01, 26.22 & 26.23 of the Standing Orders. By the impugned order, petitioner has been required to submit his explanation. The impugned order also provides for payment of subsistence allowance to the petitioner during the period of suspension. The impugned order records that the charges of misconduct are evidenced by CCTV footage.

8. It is settled law that initiation of a criminal proceeding and a departmental proceeding operate in distinct and different jurisdictional areas. The standard of proof required in departmental proceeding is different from that required in a criminal case. In departmental proceeding, the standard of proof is one of preponderance of the probabilities while in a criminal case, the charge has to be proved by the prosecution beyond reasonable doubt.

9. In the case of State of Rajsthan Vs. B.K. Meena, (1996) 6 SCC 417 = AIR 1997 SC 13, (para-14 of AIR), Hon'ble Supreme Court held as under:

"It would be evident from the above decisions that each of them starts with the indisputable proposition that there is no legal bar for both proceedings to go on simultaneously and then say that in certain situation, it may not be 'desirable', 'advisable' or 'appropriate' to proceed with the disciplinary enquiry when a criminal case is pending on identical charge. The staying of disciplinary proceedings, it is emphasised, is a matter to be determined having regard to the facts and circumstances of a given case and that no hard and fast rules can be enunciated in that behalf. The only ground suggested in the above decisions as constituting a valid ground for staying the disciplinary proceedings is that 'the defence of the employee in the criminal case may not be prejudiced.' This ground has, however, been hedged in by providing further that this may be done in cases of grave nature involving questions of fact and law. In our respectful opinion, it means that not only the charges must be grave but that the case must involve complicated questions of law and fact. Moreover, 'advisability', 'desirability' or 'propriety', as the case may be, has to be "determined in each case taking into consideration all the facts and circumstances of the case. The ground indicated in D.C.M., AIR 1960 SC 806 and Tata Oil Mills, AIR 1965 SC 155 is also not an invariable rule. It is only a factor which will go into the scales while judging the advisability or desirability of staying the disciplinary proceedings. One of the contending considerations is that the disciplinary enquiry cannot be - and should not be - delayed unduly. So far as criminal cases are concerned, it is well known that they drag on endlessly where high officials or persons are involved. They get bogged down on one or the other ground. They hardly ever reach a prompt conclusion. That is the reality in spite of repeated advice and admonitions from this Court and the High Courts. If a criminal case is unduly delayed that may itself be a good ground for going ahead with the disciplinary enquiry even where the disciplinary proceedings are held over at an earlier stage. The interests of administration and good government demand that these proceedings are concluded expeditiously. It must be remembered that interests of administration demand that undesirable elements are thrown out and any charge of misdemeanour is inquired into promptly. The disciplinary proceedings are meant not really to punish the guilty but to keep the administrative machinery unsullied by getting rid of bad elements. The interest of the delinquent officer also lies in a prompt conclusion of the disciplinary proceedings. If he is not guilty of the charges, his honour should be vindicated at the earliest possible moment and if he is guilty, he should be dealt with promptly according to law. It is not also in the interest of administration that persons accused of serious misdemeanour should be continued in office indefinitely, i.e., for long periods awaiting the result of criminal proceedings. It is not in the interest of administration. It only serves the interest of the guilty and dishonest. While it is not possible to enumerate the various factors, for and against the stay of disciplinary proceedings, we found it necessary to emphasise some of the important considerations in view of the fact that very often the disciplinary proceedings are being stayed for long periods pending criminal proceedings. Stay of disciplinary proceedings cannot be, and should not be, a matter of course. All the relevant factors, for and against, should be weighed and a decision taken keeping in view of the various principles laid down in the decisions referred to above."

10. In the case of M Paul Anthony Capt. (supra) relied by learned counsel for the petitioner, Hon'ble Supreme Court has referred to the judgment in the case of B.K. Meena (supra) and observed in paras-20, 21 & 22 as under:

"[20] This decision has gone two steps further to the earlier decisions by providing :

1. The 'advisability', 'desirability' or 'propriety' of staying the departmental proceedings "go into the scales while judging the advisability or desirability of staying the disciplinary proceedings" merely as one of the factors which cannot be considered in isolation of other circumstances of the case. But the charges in the criminal case must, in any case, be of a grave and serious nature involving complicated questions of fact and law.

(2) One of the contending considerations would be that the disciplinary enquiry cannot -- and should not be -- delayed unduly. If the criminal case is unduly delayed, that may itself be a good ground for going ahead with the disciplinary enquiry even though the disciplinary proceedings were held over at an earlier stage. It would not be in the interests of administration that persons accused of serious misdemeanour should be continued in office indefinitely awaiting the result of criminal proceedings.

[21] In another case, namely, Depot Manager, Andhra Pradesh State Road Transport Corporation vs. Mohd. Yousuf Miyan (1997) 2 SCC 699 : AIR 1997 SC 2232, again it was held that there is no bar to proceed simultaneously with the departmental inquiry and trial of a criminal case unless the charge in the criminal case is of a grave nature involving complicated questions of fact and law.

[22] The conclusions which are deducible from various decisions of this Court referred to above are :

(i) Departmental proceedings and proceedings in a criminal case can proceed simultaneously as there is no bar in their being conducted simultaneously, though separately.

(ii) If the departmental proceedings and the criminal case are based on identical and similar set of facts and the charge in the criminal case against the delinquent employee is of a grave nature which involves complicated questions of law and fact, it would be desirable to stay the departmental proceedings till the conclusion of the criminal case.

(iii) Whether the nature of a charge in a criminal case is grave and whether complicated questions of fact and law are involved in that case, will depend upon the nature of offence, the nature of the case launched against the employee on the basis of evidence and material collected against him during investigation or as reflected in the charge sheet.

(iv) The factors mentioned at (ii) and (iii) above cannot be considered in isolation to stay the Departmental proceedings but due regard has to be given to the fact that the departmental proceedings cannot be unduly delayed.

(v) If the criminal case does not proceed or its disposal is being unduly delayed, the departmental proceedings, even if they were stayed on account of the pendency of the criminal case, can be resumed and proceeded with so as to conclude them at an early date, so that if the employee is found not guilty his honour may be vindicated and in case he is found guilty, administration may get rid of him at the earliest."

11. The facts of the present case as afore-noted and the law laid down by Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of B.K. Meena (supra), the Depot Manager, Andhra Pradesh State Road Transport Corporation (supra), in the case of M Paul Anthony, Capt. (supra) clearly indicate that the respondents have not committed any error of law to suspend the petitioner by the impugned order dated 06.04.2016. Under the circumstances, I do not find any merit in this writ petition.

12. Consequently, writ petition fails and is hereby dismissed.
