4.Ramakant Singh Vs. Dy. Director of Consolidation, U.P. and Others, AIR 1975 Allahabad 126

(Delivered by Hon'ble Mrs. Sangeeta Chandra, J)

(1) Heard Shri R.S. Pande, learned Senior Advocate assisted by Shri Ankit Pande for the petitioners and Shri Upendra Singh, learned Standing Counsel appearing on behalf of the State-respondents.

(2) This petition has been filed challenging the order dated 01.11.2019 passed by the Dy. Director of Consolidation, Faizabad now Ayodhya for impleading the U.P. Express Way Industrial Development Authority, Lucknow, by exercising "Suo-moto" power in the Revision pending before him, against the order passed by the Settlement Officer Consolidation in respect of a dispute with regard to the co-tenancy right in Khata No.102 situated in Village Idilpur, Pargana-Khandasa, Tehsil Milkipur, District Ayodhya.

(3) It has been submitted by the 18.02.1978, the Assistant Consolidation Officer passed an order giving co-tenancy rights to the opposite party nos.2 to 6, on the basis of an alleged compromise under Section 9 of the Act. The order dated 18.02.1978 was also recorded in the Khatauni of 1382 & 1384 Fasli. The petitioners filed a time barred Appeal on 01.04.2017 against the order dated 18.02.1978 before the Settlement Officer Consolidation under Section 11 of the Act with the claim that the land in question was obtained by his father through Patta granted by Gram Panchayat and it was non-Bhumidhari land with non-transferable right, being leased out by the Gram Panchayat to the father of the petitioners i.e. Nanhey.

(4) The Appeal filed by the petitioners was allowed by the Settlement Officer, Consolidation on 23.06.2017. Since the shares were not determined between the brothers of the petitioners, the petitioners filed a Revision before the Dy. Director of Consolidation, against the order dated 23.06.2017. The Dy. Director Consolidation allowed the Revision and determined 1/4th share of each of the petitioners by his order dated 19.07.2017.

(5) The opposite party nos. 2 to 6 moved a Recall/Restoration application for recalling of order dated 19.07.2017. The said Recall application was rejected on the ground that opposite party nos.2 to 6 had already filed another Revision No.673/1342/2019 before the opposite party no.1 which was pending for disposal.

(6) It has been submitted that the petitioners being apprehensive of the attitude of the current DDC filed an learned counsel for the petitioners that on application for transfer of Revision from the Court of the opposite party no.1 before the District Magistrate, Ayodhya, on 30.10.2019 but before said application could be disposed of, the current DDC passed the order on 01.11.2019 directing them to implead Government of U.P. and U.P. Expressway Industrial Development Authority (for short UPEIDA).

(7) Shri R.S. Pande, has submitted that no power as has been exercised by the DDC could have been exercised Suo-moto as the Government of U.P. had no say in the dispute regarding co-tenancy rights. It was a purely private dispute between the petitioners and the opposite party nos.2 to 6.

(8) Learned counsel for the petitioners has placed reliance upon the judgment of the Hon'ble Supreme Court rendered in Vidur Impex and Traders Private Limited and Others Vs. Tosh Apartments Private Limited and Others reported in (2012) 8 SCC 384. (Paragraph nos.40 & 41) The said Paragraphs nos.40 and 41 of the judgment are being quoted hereinbelow:-

"40. In Bibi Zubaida Khatoon V. Nabi Hasan (2004) 1 SCC 191, this Court was called upon to consider the correctness of the High Court's order, which declined to interfere with the order passed by the trial Court dismissing the applications filed by the appellant for impleadment as party to the cross suits of which one was filed for redemption of mortgage and the other was filed for specific performance of the agreement for sale. While dismissing the appeal, this Court referred to the judgments in Sarvinder Singh v. Dalip Singh (Supra) and Dhurandhar Prasad Singh V. Jai Prakash University reported in (2001) 6 SCC 534 and observed that there is no absolute rule that the transferee pendente lite shall be allowed to join as party in all cases without leave of the Court and contest the pending suit.

41. Though there is apparent conflict in the observations made in some of the aforementioned judgments, the broad principles which should govern disposal of an application for impleadment are:

1. The Court can, at any stage of the proceedings, either on an application made by the parties or otherwise, direct impleadment of any person as party, who ought to have been joined as plaintiff or defendant or whose presence before the Court is necessary for effective and complete adjudication of the issues involved in the suit.

2. A necessary party is the person who ought to be joined as party to the suit and in whose absence an effective decree cannot be passed by the Court.

3. A proper party is a person whose presence would enable the Court to completely, effectively and properly adjudicate upon all matters and issues, though he may not be a person in favour of or against whom a decree is to be made.

4. If a person is not found to be a proper or necessary party, the Court does not have the jurisdiction to order his impleadment against the wishes of the plaintiff.

5. In a suit for specific performance, the Court can order impleadment of a purchaser whose conduct is above board, and who files application for being joined as party within reasonable time of his acquiring knowledge about the pending litigation.

6. However, if the applicant is guilty of contumacious conduct or is beneficiary of a clandestine transaction or a transaction made by the owner of the suit property in violation of the restraint order passed by the Court or the application is unduly delayed then the Court will be fully justified in declining the prayer for impleadment."

(9) This Court has carefully perused the judgment rendered by a Division Bench of the Hon'ble Supreme Court with regard to the question it was considering on the facts as mentioned before it. The question before the Hon'ble Supreme Court was that the Suit property was leased by the Secretary of State for India to Sidh Nath Khanna and Sukh Nath Khanna sometime in the year 1930. After 12 years, the Governor General-in-Council sanctioned the grant of perpetual lease in favour of one of them, namely, Sidh Nath Khanna. In the family partition which took place in December, 1955, the Suit property fell to the share of Shri Devi Prasad Khanna, who was one of the heirs of Sidh Nath Khanna the name of the son of Devi Prasad Khanna was entered in the records of the Ministry of Works and Housing, Land and Development Office, and the lease was transferred in his name. He rented out the same to the Sudan Embassy on 12.09.1962. In October, 1977, the name of Mr. Pradeep Kumar Khanna (son of Devi Prasad Khanna, who died during the pendency of the litigation before the High Court and was represented by his legal representatives) was entered in the records of the Ministry of Works and Housing, Land and Development Office and the lease was transferred in his name in March 1980. Pradeep Kumar Khanna mortgaged the said property to Shri S.N. Tandon. After 5 years, he entered into a collaboration agreement with Shri Arun Kumar Bhatia for construction of a multi-storied building. He also executed an agreement for sale in favour of Arun Kumar Bhatia. Pradeep Kumar Khanna then took loan from Shri Avtar Singh and also created an equitable mortgage in his favour. On 13.09.1988 Pradeep Kumar Khanna executed an agreement for sale in favour of Tosh Apartments Private Limited for a consideration of Rs.2.5 crores. After some time, Arun Kumar Bhatia executed an assignment deed dated 13.12.1988 in favour of Pradeep Kumar Khanna. A Collaboration agreement was also entered into between Pradeep Kumar Khanna and Arun Kumar Bhatia.

(10) After three months, Pradeep Kumar Khanna again mortgaged the Suit property in favour of one other person. In 1992 respondent nos.2 and 4 entered into an agreement whereby the latter agreed to provide various services including the one that he will get the suit property vacated from the Sudan Embassy, and for that he will charge Rs.4 crores. The Sudan Embassy vacated the Suit property on 12.05.1982 and handed over possession to Pradeep Kumar Khanna, who is said to have handed over the same to respondent no.4. On coming to know about the proposed alienation of property, Tosh Apartments. The Respondent no.1 filed a suit in the Delhi High Court for specific performance of agreement for sale dated 13.09.1988 and for award of damages and an injunction.

(11) Although the respondent no.2 Pradeep Kumar Khanna and respondent no.4 also filed an application under Order 7 Rule 11 CPC for rejection of plaint on the ground that the same was barred by time, such application was rejected by the learned Single Judge of the High Court on 05.04.1994 who directed continuance of interim injunction.

(12) Thereafter on 19.02.1997, Pradeep Kumar Khanna executed six agreements for sale in favour of Vidur Impex and Traders Private Limited and Others, the appellants, for a total sale consideration of Rs.2.88 crores. In furtherance of thus agreement, six sale deeds were executed and registered on 30.05.1997.

(13) The appellants Vidur Impex in turn executed the agreement for sale dated 18.03.1997 in favour of Bhagwati Developers for a consideration of Rs.4.26 crores and received Rs.3.05 crores. The appellants Vidur Impex and Traders Private Limited and Others, thereafter filed an application for impleadment on the ground that they are subsequent purchasers and they are necessary and proper parties to be heard. They also filed an application for vacation of interim injunction.

(14) Several other developments have been noted by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in its judgment. The question that was being considered by the Supreme Court was framed in Paragraph 2 of the judgment as "whether M/s Vidur Impex and Traders Private Limited and five Other Companies who were said to purchase the suit property i.e. 21 New Delhi in violation of order of injunction passed by the learned Single Judge, Delhi High Court, are entitled to be impleaded as parties to suit no.4 to 5 in 1993 filed by Tosh Apartments Private Ltd. thereof."

(15) The Supreme Court made observations as aforesaid in Paragraph 41 of its judgment in the context in which the facts were being considered by it, with regard to a totally private dispute where no statutory/obligation was cast upon the Court to implead necessary and proper parties in the proceedings before it.

(16) However, learned Standing counsel Shri Upendra Singh has pointed out Section 11 C of the U.P. Consolidation of Holdings Act, 1953 which is being quoted hereinbelow:-

"11 C. In the course of hearing of an objection under Section 9-A or an appeal under Section 11, or in proceedings under Section 48, the Consolidation Officer, the Settlement Officer (Consolidation) or the Director of Consolidation, as the case may be, may direct that any land which vests in the State Government or the Gaon Sabha or any other local body or authority may be recorded in its name, even though no objection, appeal or revision has been filed by such Government, Gaon Sabha, body or authority."

(17) It has been submitted that the Statute itself cast a duty upon the consolidation authorities to protect the interest of the State Government or the Gaon Sabha, or any other local body or Authority, in case land is recorded in its name, even though no objection against Appeal or Revision has been filed by such Government Gaon Sabha, Body or Authority.

(18) It has been submitted by the learned counsel appearing for the State-respondents that from a perusal of the order impugned, which is a short order, directing impleadment of U.P. Government as a party to the Revision, it is apparent that the Dy. Director of Consolidation has recorded his satisfaction that the land in dispute Gata No.172 and 23 had been sold to the Government on 24.10.2016 and 29.10.2016 and land had vested in the State Government and the State Government has been recorded as its owner in the Revenue record on 03.12.2016 and 07.12.2016 respectively. By another sale agreement dated 21.01.2017 which has been recorded in the Revenue records on 06.03.2017, the Government had been recorded as tenure holder/owner of the property. However, the Appellant did not implead the State Government or U.P. as a party though it was filed in April, 2017, the SOC in his order dated 26.03.2017 did not notice this fact that even before the decision of the Appeal the land had been recorded in favour of the State Government as its owner. Since the State of U.P. was not made a party by the SOC in the Appeal nor was impleaded in the Revision and UPEIDA which was the beneficiary of such sale transaction was also not impleaded, the DDC rightly directed them to be impleaded and that they should be served notice and be heard before any order could be passed in the Revision.

(19) Learned Standing Counsel has pointed out that the land having vested in the State Government and thereafter being transferred to U.P.E.I.D.A. by the State Government, the DDC exercised his jurisdiction under Section 11 C of the Act to direct impleadment and no fault can be found in the order passed by the DDC, which is only an interlocutory order. This Court should not interfere in its extra ordinary jurisdiction under Article 226 in such an order.

(20) Shri R.S. Pande, in rejoinder has placed reliance upon a Full Bench decision rendered by this Court in Ramakant Singh Vs. Dy. Director of Consolidation, U.P. and Others, reported in AIR 1975 Allahabad 126, where this Court has observed that after the record has been called for by the Dy. Director of Consolidation under Section 48 he should examine the record to decide whether it was a fit case for exercise of the revisional jurisdiction Suo-motu. Such opinion shall have to be formed even where the application in Revision moved by a party is defective, having been made beyond the prescribed period of limitation, or all the necessary parties have not been impleaded. If the Dy. Director of Consolidation finds that the case requires further hearing, he shall give notice to all the necessary parties irrespective of whether they were, or were not impleaded, in the application and after giving them reasonable opportunity of hearing, pass such order as he thinks fit. Where the application in Revision is not defective and is maintainable, the exercise of revisional jurisdiction shall be at the instance of the parties and not Suo-moto.

(21) It has been submitted on the basis of such observations made by the Full Bench that it was not open for the DDC to exercise his Revisional Jurisdiction to direct impleadment of State Government and UPEIDA Suo-moto.

(22) This Court has carefully considered the judgment cited of the Full Bench of this Court. It finds that there are two instances mentioned by the Full Bench; one relates to exercise of power of revision Suo-moto, by calling records and examining the same; the other relates to application being made in Revision under Section 48 (1) by a party. When such application is moved, the Dy Director of Consolidation has power to see whether it is a defective application for Revision, it can see the defects with regard to the period of limitation and whether all necessary parties have not been impleaded.

(23) In this case, the application of Revision was moved by the opposite party nos.2 to 6, it was entertained and therefore, the Dy. Director of Consolidation was within his jurisdiction to consider whether such application was defective and whether all necessary parties had been impleaded in the said Revision or not?

(24) The judgment cited by the learned Senior Advocate, in fact, supports the order passed by the Dy. Director of Consolidation, rather than going against it.

(25) This Court finds that the Dy. Director of Consolidation has exercised the necessary jurisdiction as has been given to him under the statute. A duty has been cast under Section 11-C of the Act on Consolidation Authorities as aforesaid to protect the rights of the State Government, the Gaon Sabha or any other local Body or Authority in any proceeding that is entertained by them.

(26) From a perusal of the judgment rendered by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in Vidur Impex and Traders Private Limited and Others (Supra), also this Court finds that the judgment rendered in the circumstances where two private parties are fighting over property owned by them. The observation made by the Section in Paragraph nos. 41.1, 41.2 and 41.3 supports the order passed by the DDC.

(27) More so, when the statute itself casts a duty upon the Consolidation Authorities to protect the interest of the State Government and the Gaon Sabha or Local Body or Authority.

(28) This Court, therefore, does not find any good ground to show interference in such order.

(29) The petition is dismissed. No order as to costs.

Ram Kishore ...Revisionist

Counsel for the Revisionist:
Sri Krishna Mishra

Counsel for the Opposite Parties:
A.G.A.

A.Criminal Law - Maxim- judex damnatur cum nocens absolvitur (judge is condemned when guilty is acquitted) and this doctrine must be used as a beacon light while explaining the ambit and the spirit underlying the enactment of Section 319 Code of Criminal Procedure. (Para 7)

B.Criminal Law - Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 - Sections 397/401 & Indian Penal Code, 1860 - Sections 302,201,404 - Application u/s 319 – rejection-witnesses were cross-examined by the counsel for the accused-no admissible evidence on record indicating the complicity of the opposite parties in the commission of offence-trial court rightly rejected the application. (Para 9 & 10)

It is the duty of the court to do justice by punishing the real culprit. Where the investigating agency for any reason does not array one of the real culprits as an accused, the court is not powerless in calling the said accused to face trial. The question remains under what circumstances and at what stage should the court exercise its power as contemplated in Section 319 Cr.P.C. The Court is the sole repository of justice and a duty is cast upon it to uphold the rule of law and, therefore, it will be inappropriate to deny the existence of such powers with the courts in our criminal justice system where it is not uncommon that the real accused, at times, get away by manipulating the investigating and/or the prosecuting agency. The desire to avoid trial is so strong that an accused makes efforts at times to get himself absolved even at the stage of investigation or inquiry even though he may be connected with the commission of the offence. (Para 7)

Criminal Revision dismissed. (E-6)

List of cases cited: -

1. Hardeep Singh Vs. St. of Punjab, reported in (2014) 3 SCC, 92

2. Vikas Vs. St. of Rajasthan, 2013 (11) SCALE 23

(Delivered by Hon'ble Ajit Singh, J.)

1. Heard learned counsel for the revisionist and the learned A.G.A.

2. Present revision under Sections 397/401 Cr.P.C. has been filed with prayer to set aside the order dated 27.05.2019 passed by Additional Sessions Judge, Court No.3, Kaushambi passed in Session Trial No.205 of 2016 (State Vs. Anup Kumar) arising out of Case Crime No.139 of 2016, under Sections 302, 201, 404 I.P.C., Police Station Mahewaghat, District Kaushambi, whereby application 14 Kha under Section 319 Cr.P.C. filed by the revisionist for summoning the opposite party nos.2 and 3 was rejected. Aggrieved by the said order, the instant criminal revision has been preferred.

3. The brief facts leading to this revision are that the first information report was lodged by the complainant/revisionist, Ram Kishor on 13.05.2016 with the allegation that his son, namely, Sandeep Kumar @ Sanjeev, who was residing with Anup Kumar and was also working with him in Rajapur. It was further alleged that on 25.04.2016 Anoop Kumar with the intention to cause death came to the village with Sandeep and Sandeep after taking Rs.15,000/- in cash and pass book from the house and after withdrawing Rs.25,000/- from the bank returned to the house and informed that he is going with Anoop Kumar as he is having an important work. It was also alleged that Anoop Kumar hatched a conspiracy involving his father, Shivcharan Lal and brother, Aniruddh along with two hired miscreants and murdered the son of the complainant. The complainant got information from the newspaper on 26.04.2016 about the death of his son, Sandeep @ Sanjeev and the deceased was recognized by his cloths. The police after investigation submitted the charge-sheet against Anoop Kumar only. The trial of this case was proceeded. The prosecution has examined PW-1, PW-2 and PW-3 and the witnesses were cross-examined by the counsel for the accused Anoop Kumar. After the statements of PW-1, PW-2 and PW-3 an application under Section 319 Cr.P.C. was given and after hearing the application, the trial court rejected the application filed under Section 319 Cr.P.C.

4. Learned counsel for the revisionist submitted that the trial court has not properly considered the application and it has been decided in a cursory manner. He further submitted that the entire facts and circumstances of the case has not been properly discussed by the trial court.

5. Learned A.G.A. has vehemently opposed the argument of learned counsel for the revisionist and has submitted that the incident is alleged to have taken place on 25.04.2016 and the first information report of the incident was lodged on 13.05.2016. He further submitted that there is no reliable and cogent evidence against the other accused person, whose names were mentioned in the application, filed under Section 319 Cr.P.C., and the application has rightly been dismissed by the trial court and no interference is required in the impugned order. He has further submitted that the powers given under Section 319 Cr,.P.C. are discretionary powers of the Court are to be exercised sparingly and the trial court after having thoroughly examined the record, found no substance in the application so moved. He further submitted that the impugned order has been passed after due consideration of the material available on record. He submitted that the prosecution has examined three witnesses and the PW-1, Ram Kishore, who has lodged the first information report of this incident named the opposite party nos.2 and 3 in the first information report is not an eye-witness of the incident and the PW-2 Shivnathiya, who is the wife of the complainant and the mother of the deceased, Sandeep, is also not an eye-witness and she has only seen Sandeep going with the accused, Anoop Kumar and she had not seen the opposite party nos.2 and 3 going with her son, the deceased Sandeep. The prosecution has also examined PW-3, Durga Prasad and he said in his statement during trial that on 25.04.2016 he had seen the deceased, Sandeep and Anoop Kumar going on one motor-cycle. He further deposed that he had also seen Aniruddh and Shivcharan going on another motor-cycle along with two unknown persons. He further deposed that when he asked from these people they told him that they are in a hurry and are going to Rajapur.

6. The provisions of Section 319 Cr.P.C. have been enacted in the Cr.P.C. with a view to achieve the objective that the real culprits should not get away unpunished. By virtue of these provisions the Court is empowered to proceed against any persons not shown as an accused, if it appears from evidence that such person has committed any offence for which, he could be tried together with the other accused persons then he may be summoned to face the trial.

7. Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of Hardeep Singh Vs. State of Punjab, reported in (2014) 3 SCC, 92 has explained the purpose behind this provision, inter-alia in the following :

"12. Section 319 Code of Criminal Procedure springs out of the doctrine judex damnatur cum nocens absolvitur (judge is condemned when guilty is acquitted) and this doctrine must be used as a beacon light while explaining the ambit and the spirit underlying the enactment of Section 319 Code of Criminal Procedure.

13. It is the duty of the court to do justice by punishing the real culprit. Where the investigating agency for any reason does not array one of the real culprits as an accused, the court is not powerless in calling the said accused to face trial. The question remains under what circumstances and at what stage should the court exercise its power as contemplated in Section 319 Cr.P.C.

19. The Court is the sole repository of justice and a duty is cast upon it to uphold the rule of law and, therefore, it will be inappropriate to deny the existence of such powers with the courts in our criminal justice system where it is not uncommon that the real accused, at times, get away by manipulating the investigating and/or the prosecuting agency. The desire to avoid trial is so strong that an accused makes efforts at times to get himself absolved even at the stage of investigation or inquiry even though he may be connected with the commission of the offence."

8. As regards the decree of satisfaction required for invoking the powers under Section 319 Cr.P.C., the Constitution Bench in the case of Hardeep Singh Vs. State of Punjab (Supra) has laid down the principles as follows :

"95. At the time of taking cognizance, the court has to see whether a prima facie case is made out to proceed against the accused. Under Section 319 Cr.P.C., though the test of prima facie case is the same, the degree of satisfaction that is required is much stricter. A two- Judge Bench of this Court in Vikas Vs. State of Rajasthan, 2013 (11) SCALE 23, held that on the objective satisfaction of the court a person may be 'arrested' or 'summoned', as the circumstances of the case may require, if it appears from the evidence that any such person not being the accused has committed an offence for which such person could be tried together with the already arraigned accused persons.

105. Power under Section 319 Cr.P.C. is a discretionary and an extra-ordinary power. It is to be exercised sparingly and only in those cases where the circumstances of the case so warrant. It is not to be exercised because the Magistrate or the Sessions Judge is of the opinion that some other person may also be guilty of committing that offence. Only where strong and cogent evidence occurs against a person from the evidence led before the court that such power should be exercised and not in a casual and cavalier manner.

106. Thus, we hold that though only a prima facie case is to be established from the evidence led before the court not necessarily tested on the anvil of Cross-Examination, it requires much stronger evidence than mere probability of his complicity. The test that has to be applied is one which is more than prima facie case as exercised at the time of framing of charge, but short of satisfaction to an extent that the evidence, if goes unrebutted, would lead to conviction. In the absence of such satisfaction, the court should refrain from exercising power under Section 319 Cr.P.C. In Section 319 Cr.P.C. the purpose of providing if ''it appears from the evidence that any person not being the accused has committed any offence' is clear from the words "for which such person could be tried together with the accused." The words used are not ''for which such person could be convicted'. There is, therefore, no scope for the Court acting under Section 319 Cr.P.C. to form any opinion as to the guilt of the accused."

9. After careful consideration of the provisions contained in Section 319 Cr.P.C. it emerges that Section 319 Cr.P.C. sanction the summoning of any person on the basis of any relevant evidence as available on record. However, it being a discretionary power and an extraordinary one, is to be exercised sparingly and only when strong cogent evidence is available indicating that the proposed accused/summoned accused may be guilt of committing offence. The prima facie opinion which is to be formed for exercise of this power requires stronger evidence than mere probability of complicity of a person. The test to be applied is the one which is more than a prima facie case as examined at the time of framing of charge but not of satisfaction to the extent that the evidence, if goes uncontroverted, would lead to the conviction of the accused as earlier held by the Apex Court.

10. After considering all the material available on record filed with this revision and after considering the evidence available on record and the impugned order this Court finds that the impugned order does not suffer from any illegality, improbability or infirmity requiring any interference by this Court. The learned Additional Sessions Judge after noticing that there was no admissible evidence on record indicating the complicity of the opposite party nos.2 and 3 in the commission of the offence. The learned trial court has rightly rejected the application moved by the complainant/revisionist. This Court after careful consideration does not find any illegality, improbability or infirmity in the impugned order.

11. The revision lacks merit and is accordingly, dismissed.

Second Appeal dismissed. (E-5)

List of cases cited: -

1. Thomas Cook (India) Ltd. Vs Hotel Imperial 2006(88) DRJ 545

(Delivered by Hon'ble Ajay Bhanot, J.)

1. The second appeal arises from a judgment and decree dated 11.02.2016 passed in Civil Appeal No.85 of 2015 (Bhola Nath Vs. Savrunisha and others), rendered by the learned appellate court, allowing the appeal after reversing the judgment and decree dated 30.07.2015, passed by the learned trial court in Original Suit No.718 of 2007 {Mohd. Rafeeq (since deceased) Through L.Rs. Vs. Bhola Nath}. The appellate court dismissed the suit of the plaintiffs-appellants. The learned trial court had decreed the suit, by granting an injunction in favour of the plaintiffs-appellants.

2. The suit was originally instituted by one Mohd. Rafeeq.

3. The plaintiff had filed a suit for injunction against the defendant-respondent, from interfering in his possession, over the property in dispute.

4. The suit was registered as Original Suit No.718 of 2007 {Mohd. Rafeeq (since deceased) Through L.Rs. Vs. Bhola Nath}, before the learned Additional Civil Judge, (Junior Division), Court No.2, Gorakhpur.

5. The plaintiff asserted that he was a tenant of the defendant-respondent in the disputed premises. The defendant respondent was trying to evict him forcibly, by recourse to illegal means. The relief sought in the suit, was to injunct defendant-respondent, from evicting the plaintiffs, except in accordance with law.

6. During the pendency of the suit, the plaintiff, Mohd. Rafeeq, died. The legal heirs/legal representatives of the plaintiff Mohd. Rafeeq (since deceased) were substituted after his death. The litigation was thereafter prosecuted by the legal heirs of the plaintiff Mohd. Rafeeq (since deceased). This appeal has been filed by the legal heirs of the plaintiff, who were substituted as plaintiffs.

7. The defendant-respondent filed a written statement, traversing the claim set up in the plaint. The defence taken in the written statement was fourfold. Firstly, the plaintiff was a habitual defaulter who defaulted in payment of rent, and other dues including water tax. Secondly, the plaintiff had sublet the premises to his brother. Thirdly, the plaintiff was also inducted without an allotment order. The subtenant too was inducted without an allotment order. In any case the tenancy was fixed for 11 months. After expiry of 11 months, the tenancy was not renewed.

8. The trial court after exchange of pleadings formulated the following issues for determination:

I. Whether the plaintiff was entitled to an injunction against the defendant to the effect that the plaintiff could not be evicted from shop in dispute except in accordance with process of law?

II. Whether the suit was maintainable? What was the nature relief to which the plaintiff was entitled to?

III. Whether the plaintiff was a lawful tenant of the premises in dispute?

9. Learned trial court found that the plaintiffs-appellants, were the tenants of the defendant-respondent. Since the defendant-respondent had accepted the fact of the tenancy of the plaintiffs-appellants, the plaintiffs-appellants had established their case. The learned trial court, accordingly reasoned that the plaintiffs-appellants were entitled to an injuction. The learned trial court rendered a judgment and decree dated 30.07.2015, in favour of the plaintiffs-appellants, injuncting the defendant-respondent from dispossessing the plaintiffs-appellants without adopting the procedure as per law.

10. Being aggrieved the defendant-respondent carried the judgment and decree of the learned trial court in appeal.

11. The appeal was registered as Civil Appeal No. 85 of 2015 (Bhola Nath Vs. Savrunisha and others), before the learned appellate court. The appellate court formulated the following questions for determination.

I. Whether the plaintiff was the tenant of the premises in dispute?

II. Whether the plaintiff was trespasser over the premises in dispute?

12. The appellate court found that the plaintiffs-respondents, were inducted into possession, in violation of the procedure prescribed under Sections 11, 12, 13, 17 and 21 of the Uttar Pradesh Urban Buildings (Regulation of Letting, Rent and Eviction) Act, 1972 (hereinafter referred to as U.P. Act No. 13 of 1972). The learned appellate court held that without a valid allocation under the U.P. Act No. 13 of 1972, no person could be inducted as a tenant, in a premises coming under the purview of the said Act. According to the appellate court, any person who is inducted as a tenant, in violation of the aforesaid provisions of law, like the plaintiffs-appellants, was nothing but an illegal trespasser in possession. Such persons were liable to be evicted.

13. The learned appellate court found that the plaintiffs-appellants, were tenants who consistently defaulted in payment of rent. On this line of reasoning too, the learned appellate court held that the plaintiffs-appellants, were in illegal possession over the premises, and declared them to be trespassers.

14. In the wake of the aforesaid findings, the learned appellate court opined the plaintiffs-appellants being in illegal possession cannot be granted an injunction by the court against the true owner.

15. By the judgment and decree dated 11.02.2016, the learned appellate court accordingly allowed the appeal of the defendant-respondent, and dismissed the suit of the plaintiffs-appellants.

16. The findings of the learned appellate court rest on the material and evidence in the record, and are backed by cogent reasons. No illegality can be found in the aforesaid findings.

17. There is another aspect to the matter, which may be considered.

18. The method of "due process of law" to be adopted by a true owner to evict an unauthorized occupant, and the import of the phrase, "eviction in accordance with law", is settled by authority.

19. Faced with the question of the remedy available in law to a true owner to eject an unlawful occupant, the Hon'ble Delhi High Court in the case of Thomas Cook (India) Ltd. Vs. Hotel Imperial, reported at 2006(88) DRJ 545, in eloquent words explained the phrases "due process of law", "due course of law" and "recourse to law" in similar fact situation to enduring effect:

"28. The expressions `due process of law', `due course of law' and `recourse to law' have been interchangeably used in the decisions referred to above which say that the settled possession of even a person in unlawful possession cannot be disturbed `forcibly' by the true owner taking law in his own hands. All these expressions, however, mean the same thing --ejectment from settled possession can only be had by recourse to a court of law. Clearly, `due process of law' or `due course of law', here, simply mean that a person in settled possession cannot be ejected without a court of law having adjudicated upon his rights qua the true owner.

Now, this `due process' or `due course' condition is satisfied the moment the rights of the parties are adjudicated upon by a court of competent jurisdiction. It does not matter who brought the action to court. It could be the owner in an action for enforcement of his right to eject the person in unlawful possession. It could be the person who is sought to be ejected, in an action preventing the owner from ejecting him. Whether the action is for enforcement of a right (recovery of possession) or protection of a right (injunction against dispossession), is not of much consequence. What is important is that in either event it is an action before the court and the court adjudicates upon it. If that is done then, the `bare minimum' requirement of `due process' or `due course' of law would stand satisfied as recourse to law would have been taken. In this context, when a party approaches a court seeking a protective remedy such as an injunction and it fails in setting up a good case, can it then say that the other party must now institute an action in a court of law for enforcing his rights i.e., for taking back something from the first party who holds it unlawfully, and, till such time, the court hearing the injunction action must grant an injunction anyway? I would think not. In any event, the `recourse to law' stipulation stands satisfied when a judicial determination is made with regard to the first party's protective action. Thus, in the present case, the Plaintiff's failure to make out a case for an injunction does not mean that its consequent cessation of user of the said two rooms would have been brought about without recourse to law."

20. The Hon'ble Supreme Court placing reliance on the law laid down by the Hon'ble Delhi High Court, in the case of Thomas Cook (supra), reiterated the same position of law in the case of Maria Margarida Sequeira Fernandes (supra) by holding thus:

"79. Due process of law means nobody ought to be condemned unheard. The due process of law means a person in settled possession will not be dispossessed except by due process of law. Due process means an opportunity for the Defendant to file pleadings including written statement and documents before the Court of law. It does not mean the whole trial. Due process of law is satisfied the moment rights of the parties are adjudicated by a competent Court.

97. Principles of law which emerge in this case are crystallized as under:

1. No one acquires title to the property if he or she was allowed to stay in the premises gratuitously. Even by long possession of years or decades such person would not acquire any right or interest in the said property.

2. Caretaker, watchman or servant can never acquire interest in the property irrespective of his long possession. The caretaker or servant has to give possession forthwith on demand.

3. The Courts are not justified in protecting the possession of a caretaker, servant or any person who was allowed to live in the premises for some time either as a friend, relative, caretaker or as a servant.

4. The protection of the Court can only be granted or extended to the person who has valid, subsisting rent agreement, lease agreement or license agreement in his favour.

5. The caretaker or agent holds property of the principal only on behalf of the principal. He acquires no right or interest whatsoever for himself in such property irrespective of his long stay or possession."

21. The law has thus been settled, that the lawful process of eviction of an unauthorized occupant by a true owner, essentially means grant of an opportunity to the parties to tender their defence, and its adjudication by a court of law. Once, the courts of law have found that the occupant is a trespasser, or a person in unauthorized occupation, against the claim of the lawful owner; such unauthorized occupant does not have any further right to possession over disputed premises. The said unauthorized occupant has to vacate the premises voluntarily, after the adjudication is entered by the courts. Upon failure to do so, the said person is liable to be evicted by execution of the judgement and decree, holding the former to be an unauthorized occupant/trespasser.

22. In such cases, the findings of illegal occupation by an unauthorized occupant, against the claim of a true owner, rendered by the court, operate as the lawful basis for eviction of such illegal occupant through execution proceedings. No fresh suit for any further adjudication is necessary.

23. This Court in a Second Appeal No. 621 of 2016, Ashfaq Ali Vs. Smt. Tahira and 2 Others, held thus:

"53. A judgment by a court, holding a person to be an unauthorized occupant against the claim of a true owner fully constitutes the lawful basis of eviction of the unauthorized occupant. This determination is conclusive for securing the eviction of an unauthorized occupant. In the face of the said adjudication, it does not matter who brought the suit. No further judicial enquiry or adjudication by the courts is required for eviction of the unauthorized occupant."

24. The instant appeal is squarely covered with the law settled in the authorities referenced in the preceding paragraphs. No substantial questions of law as such arise in the instant second appeal.

25. Further, learned counsel for the appellant could not point out any substantial question of law which arises in this appeal. The questions of law stated in the memo of appeal are all issues of fact, and do not pose any substantial question of law for determination.

26. In light of the preceding narrative, the Second Appeal is liable to be dismissed and stands, accordingly, dismissed.

3. Vimlaben Ajitbhai Patel Vs Vatslaben Ashokbhai Patel & Others (2008) 4 SCC 649

(Delivered by Hon'ble Vivek Kumar Birla, J.)

1. Heard learned counsel for the appellant and Sri Vijay Sinha alongwith Sri Samarth Sinha, learned counsel appearing for the respondent.

2. Present appeal has been filed against the judgment and order dated 17.8.2019 passed by the Civil Judge (Senior Division), Ghaziabad in Civil Suit No. 839 of 2017, Kamal Kishore Gaur Vs. Smt. Richa Gaur.

3. A suit for mandatory injunction was filed by the plaintiff-respondent against the defendant-appellant herein, who is daughter-in-law of the plaintiff. Relevant facts are that after marriage the defendant started living with her husband, son of the plaintiff, but subsequently, matrimonial disputes arose between them and the plaintiff divested his son and daughter-in-law on 25.7.2017 from his property and asked them to leave the house, which belongs to the plaintiff. Thereafter, son of the plaintiff, namely, Vikas Gaur, husband of the defendant-appellant herein, left the house and started living elsewhere. The suit for mandatory injunction was filed on the ground that the defendant is a licensee and has no right to reside in the house in question after cancellation of license by the plaintiff. It is not in dispute that several matrimonial disputes including criminal cases are pending between the husband and wife, wherein plaintiff and other family members were also implicated.

4. The Trial Court framed six issues. For the purpose of considering the appeal at the admission stage three issues are relevant, namely, (1) whether the defendant is licensee in the house in question; (2) whether the defendant is entitled to live in the house in question; and (3) to what relief the plaintiff is entitled for. On issue Nos. 1 and 2 it was found by the Trial Court that the defendant was a mere licensee and has no right to reside in the house in question after cancellation of the licence by the original owner i.e. the plaintiff. The suit was decreed and the defendant was directed to handover the possession of the property in question to the plaintiff otherwise the plaintiff shall be entitled to recover the possession of the suit property through Court.

5. Challenging the aforesaid judgment, submission of the learned counsel for the defendant-appellant is that the trial court has not considered the right of the daughter-in-law, who is residing in the house in dispute since 2012 and that admittedly, her husband is residing in another house and is not maintaining her, therefore, she is entitled to reside in the house in question as daughter-in-law as soon after marriage she had started living in this house and has a right to reside therein.

6. Per contra, learned counsel for the respondent has disputed the same and submits that the law is settled that the plaintiff is exclusive owner of the house and admittedly, husband of the defendant is living separately and license of the defendant, who is living in the house, was legally terminated by the plaintiff, therefore, she has no right to reside in the house in question. In support of his arguments, learned counsel for the respondent has placed reliance on a judgment of this Court dated 29.9.2015 passed by Hon'ble Single Judge in First Appeal No. 76 of 2014 (Smt. Sunita vs Smt. Brahmwati And Another) whereby the appeal was dismissed at the admission stage itself.

7. I have considered the rival submissions and perused the record.

8. On perusal of record I find that admitted fact is that plaintiff is the owner of the house in question; son of the plaintiff i.e. husband of the defendant-Vikas Gaur, who is living separately, has been divested from the property and was asked to leave the house by his father, the plaintiff.

9. Under such circumstances, she has no right to reside in the house in question after cancellation of license by the original owner i.e. the plaintiff herein. A reference may be made in this regard, to a judgment of the Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of S.R. Batra and another vs. Taruna Batra (Smt) 2007 (3) SCC 169. Paragraphs 24, 25, 26, 29 and 30 of the aforesaid judgment are quoted as under:-

"24. Learned counsel for the respondent Smt. Taruna Batgra stated that the definition of shared household includes a household where the person aggrieved lives or at any stage had lived in a domestic relationship. He contended that since admittedly the respondent had lived in the property in question in the past, hence the said property is her shared household.

25. We cannot agree with this submission.

26. If the aforesaid submission is accepted, then it will mean that wherever the husband and wife lived together in the past that property becomes a shared household. It is quite possible that the husband and wife may have lived together in dozens of places e.g. with the husband's father, husband's paternal grand parents, his maternal parents, uncles, aunts, brothers, sisters, nephews, nieces etc. If the interpretation canvassed by the learned counsel for the respondent is accepted, all these houses of the husband's relatives will be shared households and the wife can well insist in living in the all these houses of her husband's relatives merely because she had stayed with her husband for some time in those houses in the past. Such a view would lead to chaos and would be absurd.

29. As regards Section 17(1) of the Act, in our opinion the wife is only entitled to claim a right to residence in a shared household, and a `shared household' would only mean the house belonging to or taken on rent by the husband, or the house which belongs to the joint family of which the husband is a member. The property in question in the present case neither belongs to Amit Batra nor was it taken on rent by him nor is it a joint family property of which the husband Amit Batra is a member. It is the exclusive property of appellant No. 2, mother of Amit Batra. Hence it cannot be called a shared household.

30. No doubt, the definition of 'shared household' in Section 2(s) of the Act is not very happily worded, and appears to be the result of clumsy drafting, but we have to give it an interpretation which is sensible and which does not lead to chaos in society."

10. In the aforesaid case, the Hon'ble Apex Court has interpreted the provisions of Section 2(s) and Section 17 of the Protection of Women From Domestic Violence Act, 2005 and has observed as noted above and refused to grant relief to the wife.

11. S.R. Batra (supra) was relied on in Vimlaben Ajitbhai Patel vs. Vatslaben Ashokbhai Patel & Others (2008) 4 SCC 649, paragraphs of 28, 47 and 48 whereof are quoted as under:-

"28. Interpreting the provisions of the Domestic Violence Act this Court in S.R. Batra vs. Taruna Batra (2007) 3 SCC 169 held that even a wife could not claim a right of residence in the property belonging to her mother-in-law, stating :

"17. There is no such law in India like the British Matrimonial Homes Act, 1967, and in any case, the rights which may be available under any law can only be as against the husband and not against the father-in- law or mother-in-law.

18. Here, the house in question belongs to the mother- in-law of Smt Taruna Batra and it does not belong to her husband Amit Batra. Hence, Smt Taruna Batra cannot claim any right to live in the said house.

19. Appellant 2, the mother-in-law of Smt Taruna Batra has stated that she had taken a loan for acquiring the house and it is not a joint family property. We see no reason to disbelieve this statement."

47. Reliance has also been placed on I.J. Divakar and others vs. Govt. of Andhra Pradesh and another : (1982) 3 SCC 341. The said decision was rendered under the Industrial Law. Regularization was directed to be provided to the workmen. A Constitution Bench of this Court in Secretary State of Karnataka and others vs. Umadevi and others : (2006) 4 SCC 1 opined that all such decisions shall stand overruled.

48. Sympathy or sentiment, as is well known, should not allow the Court to have any effect in its decision making process. Sympathy or sentiment can be invoked only in favour a person who is entitled thereto. It should never be taken into consideration as a result whereof the other side would suffer civil or evil consequences."

12. It would also be relevant to extract the relevant paragraphs of Smt.

Sunita (supra) which are quoted as under:-

"The appellant is daughter-in-law of the plaintiff who has filed a suit for mandatory injunction against her son and daughter-in-law. The defendant no. 1, son of the plaintiff did not appear in the suit and hence the suit had proceeded ex-parte against defendant no. 2. The claim made by defendant no. 2 was that soon after marriage, she came to this house and as such she has a right to reside therein. The plaintiff cannot evict her from her marital home.

More so, in view of the findings recorded by the court that the defendant no. 2 was a mere licencee and has no right to reside in the house in question after cancellation of licence by the original owner i.e. plaintiff.

The challenge to this finding on issue no. 1 cannot be accepted for the reason that a woman has a right to reside in the house of her husband after marriage. She has no claim on the house of her father-in-law or mother-in-law. The property in dispute was self acquired property of her father-in-law and the plaintiff had inherited the said house after death of her husband. On account of mis-deeds of defendant no. 2, the relations between mother-in-law and daughter-in-law have strained and therefore, the plaintiff has asked the defendants to leave her house. The plaintiff is a 70 years old lady and she cannot be subjected any more physical or mental harassment at the hands of the defendant, her son and daughter-in-law."

13. Thus, not only what has been held in S.R Batra (supra) as held by Constitutional Bench in Uma Devi (supra) referred to in Vimlaben Ajitbhai Patel (supra), if any relief is granted to the defendant-appellant it would be a case of misplaced sympathy in favour of the defendant, who had already filed several cases including criminal case against the old age plaintiff and other family members.

14. In the present case, undisputedly, the house in question belongs to the father, the plaintiff and he had divested his son from his property and admittedly, the son (husband of the defendant) is not living in the house.

15. In view of the discussion as made hereinabove, it is clear that the house, which admittedly belongs to the plaintiff, cannot be treated as a shared house in the facts and circumstances of the case and as such the status of defendant, as rightly held by the trial court, would be merely of a licensee, whose license stood terminated by the original owner i.e. the plaintiff herein. As such she has no right to reside in the house in question after cancellation of the license by the original owner i.e. the plaintiff herein.

16. In case of Smt. Sunita (supra) the plaintiff was about 70 years old lady and in the present case also the plaintiff was aged about 68 years in the year 2017 when the suit was filed and as such the ratio of the said judgment applies with full force.

17. Accordingly, I find that there is no legal infirmity in the findings recorded by the trial court. No other ground has been pressed.

18. The appeal stands dismissed at the admission stage itself.

1. These are two Defendants' First Appeals filed under Section 19 of Family Courts Act 1984 (hereinafter referred to as Act, 1984).

2. First Appeal No. 737 of 2017(Smt. Saroj Singh Chauhan Vs. Arvind Kumar Chauhan) has been filed challenging judgement dated 25.07.2017 and decree dated 23.08.2017 passed by Principal Judge, Family Court, Varanasi in Misc. Case No. 77 of 2008 (Saroj Vs. Arvind) in Marriage Petition No.565 of 2007 (Arvind Kumar Chauhan Vs. Saroj Singh Chauhan) whereby and where-under application dated 03.10.2008 (Paper No. 4Ga) filed by Defendant-Appellant (hereinafter referred to as 'Appellant') under Order IX Rule13 C.P.C. for recall of exparte judgement dated 08.05.2008 and decree dated 04.08.2008, respectively has been rejected.

3. First Appeal No. 672 of 2018 (Smt. Saroj Singh Chauhan Vs. Arvind Kumar Chauhan) has been filed challenging exparte judgement dated 08.05.2008 as well as decree dated 04.09.2008 passed by Principal Judge, Family Court, Varanasi in Marriage Petition No.565 of 2007 (Arvind Kumar Chauhan Vs. Saroj Singh Chauhan) whereby Court below has allowed Marriage Petition filed by plaintiff-respondent (hereinafter referred to as'Plaintiff') and consequently, annulled marriage of parties.

4. We have heard Mr. T. N. Tiwari, Advocate, learned counsel for Appellant. No one has appeared on behalf of respondent.

5. According to plaint allegations marriage of Appellant was solemnized with Plaintiff on 03.05.2004 in accordance with Hindu Rites and Customs. After marriage, Appellant came to her matrimonial home on 04.05.2004. After staying about three days at her marital home, Appellant went to her parental home and thereafter returned to her marital home after one month. According to Plaintiff, Appellant duly performed her spousal obligations. It is the case of Plaintiff that at the time of marriage, Appellant had just passed her intermediate examination i.e. Class 12th. However, Appellant wanted to pursue her studies further. Appreciating her desire for further studies, Plaintiff with permission of his parents got Appellant admitted in B.A. First Year Course at Kasi Vidyapith, Varanasi. Consequently, Appellant started receiving her education in the aforesaid Course by residing at her parental home as well as with her classmates. It is alleged by Plaintiff that after taking admission in B.A. First Year Course, Appellant visited her marital home only for two months but thereafter, she mostly stayed at her parental home, despite repeated requests made by Plaintiff requesting Appellant not to stay at her parental home for such long periods. Appellant on the excuse of her studies did not pay any heed to the request of Plaintiff and his parents. Appellant as such used to visit her marital home at her will. Appellant came in family way. In the last days of her family way she insisted for staying at her parental home and accordingly went to her parental home. Ultimately, she gave birth to a girl child on 29.07.2005 at her parental home. Plaintiff, his mother and other relatives allege to have gone to parental home of Appellant and contributed by every means for well being of Appellant and newly born child. According to Plaintiff, he alongwith his mother visited parental house of Appellant and brought back Appellant to her marital home on 05.11.2005. However, just after two days Appellant on the pretext of her studies forcibly went to her parental home. Appellant started residing at her parental home. On the request made by Plaintiff and his mother requesting Appellant to return to her marital home, she was not agreeable. To the contrary she used to indulge in creating a 'Facade' on the said issue. Appellant as such started residing at her parental home and used to come to her marital home only to collect money to meet her expenses. Many attempts are alleged to have been made by Plaintiff to pursue Appellant to live in her marital home but she never agreed. Ultimately, after great efforts Appellant came to her marital home but again on the pretext of her studies, she went back to her parental home. Appellant is alleged to have stayed for a period of one or two days at her marital home and while leaving her marital home she took away all jewellary and clothes given by her in-laws at the time of marriage. After completing B.A. Second Year Course, Appellant demanded money for her educational and other expenses so that she could fill up form for B.A. Third Year Course. However, this request of Appellant was refused by Plaintiff and his family members on the ground that even if Appellant is desirous of pursuing her studies, she should stay at her marital home and pursue her studies from there only. However, according to Plaintiff, Appellant was not agreeable to this suggestion and ultimately, returned to her parental home.

6. One day in August, 2006, when mother of Plaintiff was all alone at home, as other family members had gone out, Appellant came to her marital home alongwith her brother Manoj Chauhan and her father. She had a scuffle with her mother-in-law and took away her clothes and other goods, which were lying at her marital home. Plaintiff, his father and his elder brother -Akhilesh came to know of aforesaid incident in evening. As such, they all went to parental home of Appellant. They had a dialogue with family members of Appellant and requested for sending Appellant to her marital home alongwith all her jewellery and clothes. On this, family members of Appellant revolted and abused father of Plaintiff. They did not agree to the request made by Plaintiff and his family members for sending Appellant to her marital home. After some time Plaintiff alone went to meet Appellant at her parental home for requesting her to return at her marital home. However, Appellant plainly refused to return to her marital home. According to Plaintiff, she alleged that in case Plaintiff wants to maintain relations with her, he should separate himself from his family and start residing with Appellant at her parental home. Thus, in October, 2006, father and brother of Appellant went to the house of Plaintiff to discuss about separation/divorce of Appellant from Plaintiff. They requested for holding a Panchayat in that regard. On this issue, exchange of hot words between Plaintiff and father/brother of Appellant is alleged to have taken place. On this, father of Appellant and his brother, who are notorious and have formed a gang, threatened mother of Plaintiff and after extending threat and exchanging hot words, returned. After aforesaid incident, Plaintiff and relatives of Appellant wanted to amicably settle dispute. Unfortunately on 20.12.2006, father of Appellant and her brother connived with each other to get mother of Plaintiff killed. Unfortunately, mother of Plaintiff died at her matrimonial home. An F.I.R. in respect of aforesaid incident was lodged against unknown persons. Police upon investigation implicated father and brother of Appellant as accused. They were released on bail. Appellant failed to discharge her spousal obligations after 10.05.2005, nor established conjugal relations. After 10.02.2005, conduct of Appellant towards Plaintiff is full of cruelty and without any reason Appellant has deserted Plaintiff. Since conduct of Appellant towards Plaintiff is full of cruelty and she has also deserted Plaintiff as such he/Plaintiff filed suit for divorce on the aforesaid grounds under Section 13 (1) of Hindu Marriage Act, 1955 (hereinafter referred to as Act, 1955).

7. After institution of suit, summons were issued to Appellant. Summons were refused to be received by Appellant herein. Same were thereafter sent by registered post. Ultimately, service upon Appellant was affected by way of substituted service by getting publication made in a Daily Newspaper 'Janwarta' in its Edition Dated 17.01.2008. Despite of aforesaid, Appellant did not appear in the suit.

8. Plaintiff in order to prove his case adduced himself as P.W.-1, Arvind Kumar Chauhan as P.W.-2 and Akhilesh Kumar Chauhan as P.W.-3. Vide list of documents Paper No. 20Ga, Plaintiff filed copy of charge sheet and F.I.R. pertaining to Case No. 7751 of 2007 (State Vs. Ahok Chauhan and others) under Section 302 I.P.C., P.S. Sarnath, District-Varanasi.

9. Court below proceeded to decide suit filed by Plaintiff ex-parte as in the opinion of Trial Court, in spite of service of notice, Appellant failed to appear in suit.

10. According to Court below, Plaintiff filed suit for divorce on the grounds of 'cruelty' and 'desertion', which are recognized as grounds of divorce under Sections 13 (1) (i-a) and 13(1) (i-b) of Act, 1955. For ready reference Sections 13 (1) (i-a) and 13(1) (i-b) are reproduced herein-under:

" 13. Divorce--(1) Any marriage solemnized, whether before or after the commencement of this Act, may, on a petition presented by either the husband or the wife, be dissolved by a decree of divorce on the ground that the other party--

"(i-a) has, after the solemnization of the marriage, treated the petitioner with cruelty;

(i-b) has deserted the petitioner for a continuous period of not less than two years immediately preceding the presentation of the petitioner;"

11. It may be noted here that marriage of parties was solemnized on 03.05.2005 and suit for divorce was filed on 29.08.2007. Therefore, as per mandate of Section 13(1) (i-b) of Act, 1955, a period of two years must have preceded on 29.08.2007. Trial Court concluded that in para 10 of plaint, it has been pleaded that Appellant alongwith her father and brother came to her matrimonial house when mother of Plaintiff was all alone at home. In view of aforesaid, it cannot be said that a period of two years have rolled by immediately before presentation of suit. As such, ground of desertion pleaded by Plaintiff is misconceived. The mandatory period required to have lapsed for taking the plea of desertion is not satisfied in the facts and circumstances of the case. In respect of cruelty, Trial Court concluded that in order to prove cruelty, Plaintiff has got examined himself and one Akhilesh Kumar Chauhan and also filed Documentary evidence i.e. photocopy of F.I.R. and charge-sheet. However, no evidence was adduced on behalf of Appellant contradicting averments made in plaint. Consequently, simply on the aforesaid ground, Court below concluded that commission of 'cruelty' by Appellant upon Plaintiff is proved and consequently, suit for divorce filed by Plaintiff was decreed on the ground of 'cruelty' vide judgement dated 8.5.2008 and decree dated 4.8.2008.

12. On coming to know of aforesaid exparte judgement and decree Appellant filed an application dated 03.10.2008 (Paper No.4Ga) under Order IX Rule 13 C.P.C. for recall of exparte judgement dated 25.07.2017 and decree dated 23.08.2018 passed by Principal Judge, Family Court, Varanasi. Since there was a delay in filing recall application, an application under 5 of Limitation Act was also filed for condonation of delay in filing recall application.

13. No objection was filed by Plaintiff to delay condonation application or recall application filed by Appellant. Vide order dated 11.11.2011, Court below allowed delay condonation application (Paper No.6 ga) but ultimately rejected recall application (Paper No. 4 Ga) vide order dated 25.7.2017 and formal order dated 23.8.2017.

14. A perusal of order dated 25.07.2017 will go to show that Court below rejected the recall application filed by appellant by recording a finding that grounds shown by Appellant regarding knowledge of ex-parte decree are not believable. It was further observed that in spite of service upon Appellant by substituted mode, i.e., by way of publication in Newspaper, she did not appear and participate in proceedings, as such there is no ground to allow recall application filed by Appellant.

15. Feeling aggrieved by order dated 25.07.2017 and formal order dated 23.08.2017, Appellant has filed First Appeal No. 737 of 2017 (Smt. Saroj Singh Chauhan Vs. Arvind Kumar Chauhan) whereas First Appeal No. 672 of 2018 (Smt. Saroj Singh Chauhan Vs. Arvind Kumar Chauhan) has been filed challenging ex-parte judgement dated 08.05.2008 and decree dated 04.08.2008.

16. We have heard Mr. T.N. Tiwari, learned counsel for Appellant. Challenging the judgement and decree as well as order passed by Court below, learned counsel for Appellant invited attention of Court to original record of court below. He submits that there is nothing on record to show when summons were issued and on which date, they were refused to be received by Appellant. There is no report of Process Server on record proving aforesaid. He then submits that on record there is only a receipt issued by Postal Department but there is no acknowledgment or endorsement by postal Official available on record to show that notices sent by Registered Post were sought to be served upon Appellant but she refused. He lastly submits that publication has been made in Daily Newspaper 'Janwarta' in its Edition Dated 17.01.2008, which is not having wide circulation in District-Varanasi. He thus submits that procedure adopted for service upon Appellant is contrary to the mandate of Order 5 Rules 12, 17, 18 and 20 C.P.C. Hence impugned judgement and decree passed by Court below being ex-parte against Appellant are liable to be set aside by this Court.

17. Before proceeding to consider correctness of submissions advanced by learned Counsel for Appellant, it will be appropriate to reproduce Order 5 Rules 12, 17, 18 and 20 of C.P.C. for ready reference:

"12. Service to be on defendant on person when practicable, or on his agent--Wherever it is practicable service shall be made on the defendant in person, unless he has an agent empowered to accept service, in which case service on such agent shall be sufficient.

17. Procedure when defendant refuses to accept service, or cannot he found--Where the defendant or his agent or such other person as aforesaid refuses to sign the acknowledgement, or where the serving officer, after using all due and reasonable diligence, cannot find the defendant, who is absent from his residence at the time when service is sought to be effected on him at his residence and there is no likelihood of his being found at the residence within a reasonable time and there is no agent empowered to accept service of the summons on his behalf, nor any other person on whom service can be made, the serving officer shall affix a copy of the summons on the outer door or some other conspicuous part of the house in which the defendant ordinarily resides or carries on business or personally works for gain, and shall then return the original to the Court from which it was* issued, with a report endorsed thereon or annexed thereto stating that he has so affixed the copy, the circumstances under which he did so, and the name and address of the person (if any) by whom the house was identified and in whose presence the copy was affixed.

18. Endorsement of time and manner of service--The serving officer shall, in all cases in which the summons has been served under rule 16, endorse or annex, or cause to be endorsed or annexed, on or to the original summons, a return stating the time when and the manner in which the summons was served, and the name and address of the person (if any) identifying the person served and witnessing the delivery or tender of the summons.

20. Substituted services--(1) Where the Court is satisfied that there is reason to believe that the defendant is keeping out of the way for the purpose of avoiding service, or that for any other reason the summons cannot be served in the ordinary way, the Court shall order the summons to be served by affixing a copy thereof in some conspicuous place in the Court-house, and also upon some conspicuous part of the house (if any) in which the defendant is known to have last resided or carried on business or personally worked for gain, or in such other manner as the Court thinks fit.

(1-A) Where the Court acting under sub-rule (1) orders service by an advertisement in a newspaper, the newspaper shall be a daily newspaper circulating in the locality in which the defendant is last known to have actually and voluntarily resided, carried on business or personally worked for gain.

(2) Effect of substituted service-Service substituted by order of the Court shall be as effectual as if it had been made on the defendant personally.

(3) Where service substituted, time for appearance to he fixed -Where service is substituted by order of the Court, the Court shall fix such time for the appearance of the defendant as the case may require."

18. We ourselves have examined original record. Suit was presented on 31.08.2007 and summons were issued to Appellant on 31.08.2007 itself. Summons were returned on 17.11.2017, 'unserved'. There is no report of Process Server on record. On 27.11.2007, Court passed an order that fresh steps be taken for service. Steps were taken on 01.12.2007 for service upon Appellant. On 07.01.2008, an application (Paper No. 11Ga) alongwith affidavit (Paper No. 12 Ga) was filed by Plaintiff for service of notice on Appellant by Publication. On this application, Court passed an order that Steps be taken within a week. On 10.01.2018, Court passed an order that notice be served upon Appellant by Publication in Newspaper. Accordingly Publication was made in Daily Newspaper "Janwarta" in its Edition dated 17.01.2008. On record we also find a receipt issued by Postal Department in respect of registry sent to Saroj Singh Chauhan, wherein her address was shown as R/o Cantt. Varanasi. It may be noted here that address of Appellant shown in plaint of Matrimonial Petition is S 2/214 Rhitori Mahal, P.S. Cantt. District-Varanasi. There is nothing in order-sheet to show that Court permitted Plaintiff to serve notices upon Appellant, by registered post.

19. When procedure adopted by Court below for service upon Defendant-

Appellant is examined in the light of provisions contained in Order 5 Rules 12, 17, 18 and 20 of C.P.C, this Court finds that there is no compliance of Order 5 Rule 17 C.P.C. Secondly, there is no endorsement by Process Server in terms of Order 5 Rule 18 C.P.C. nor Court below has examined Process Server under Order 5 Rule 19 C.P.C. Service of summons by Registered Post which is contemplated under Order 5 Rule 19A, came to be omitted by Act 46 of 1999. Therefore, no service by registered post could be made. Lastly, Court below has not complied with the mandate of Order 5 Rule 20 C.P.C. before directing service upon Defendant-Appellant by way of substituted service.

20. Having examined relevant provisions of law in the light of facts of the case, we are satisfied with the plea taken by Appellant that no summons were served upon her, prior to passing ex-parte judgement and decree. We are also satisfied that Court below did not record its satisfaction that Publication has been made in a Daily Newspaper, which has vide circulation in the locality in which Appellant resides. Lastly, this Court is not unmindful of law laid down in Ramji Dass and Others Vs. Mohan Singh, 1978 ARC 496 (SC), wherein Supreme Court has observed that a judgement after hearing parties is far far better than a judgement which is ex-parte. For ready reference, relevant observations made in Ramji Dass (Supra) are quoted herein under:

"An ex parte decree passed eight years ago was set aside by the Court which passed it and the order was confirmed in revision by the District Court. The High Court, in exercise of its powers under Section 115 C.P.C, set aside on various grounds. After having heard counsel, we are inclined to the view that, as far as possible, Courts' discretion should be exercised in favour of hearing and not to shut out hearing. Therefore, we think that the order of the High Court should not have been passed in the interests of Justice which always informs the power under S. 115 C.P.C. We, therefore, set aside that order and also the ex parte decree. We direct the trial court to take back the suit on file and proceed forthwith to trial. The suit is very old and it should be disposed of within six months from the receipt of this order by the trial court. We further direct that as a condition for setting aside the ex parte decree, the appellants shall pay to the respondent, within one month from today a sum of Rs. 250/- by way of costs."

21. In view of discussion made above, we have no hesitation to allow 565 of 2007 (Arvind Kumar Chauhan Vs. Saroj Singh Chauhan) is restored. Defendant-Appellant shall be permitted to file her written statement and thereafter, Court below shall proceed to decide the marriage petition on merits afresh.

22. Appellant shall be entitled to her costs, which we assess at Rs.50,000/-.

Amount of cost shall be deposited by Plaintiff-Respondent before Court below by way of Bank Draft payable to Defendant-Appellant. Aforesaid deposit shall be made withing a period of two months from today, failing which, Court below shall proceed to recover the same as a recovery under its own order.

Second Appeal No. 881 of 2006

Counsel for the Appellant:
Sri Vikas Budhwar

Counsel for the Respondents:
Sri Vijay Singh, Sri H.P. Sahi, Sri Chandra Prakash Yadav, Sri Sankalp Narain, Sri Samarth Singh, Sri M.K. Gupta, Sri Pankaj Agarwal

A. Civil Law - Civil Procedure Code (5 of 1908) - Order12 - Rule 6, Order 15 -Rule 5 – 'Striking off defence' Vis-s-vis 'striking out of the pleadings' - Difference - Effect on admissions made in W.S. – Held - Even on striking off the defence admissions made in the W.S. could be looked into by the courts below

Striking off the defence would have the effect of parties being not at issue - material facts contained in the written statement would not be considered as denial of the truth or validity of the material facts contained in the plaint - Striking off the defence as envisaged in Order 15 Rule 5 cannot be construed to mean as striking out of the pleadings under Order 6 Rule 16 CPC - It is not as if on striking off the defence, each and every statement made in the written statement would be struck off without reference to the fact whether a particular statement is in defence or otherwise - On striking off the defence, it is always open for the Court to consider those statements of the written statement other than in defence, which may include admissions (Para 25 & 26)

B. Civil Law - Civil Procedure Code (5 of 1908) – Order 15, Rule 5 - Striking off defence – Right of defendant - Held - Post striking off the defence, defendant has the right of cross examination of the plaintiff's witnesses and of addressing arguments on the basis of the plaintiff's case - even though the defence of the defendant is struck off, plaintiff enjoined to plead and prove their case (Para 44)

C. Civil Law - Civil Procedure Code (5 of 1908) - Order 12, Rule 6- Order 15, Rule 5 - By a composite order the court could not strike off the defence under Order 15, Rule 5 CPC & simultaneously decree the suit either under Order 12, Rule 6 CPC or Order 15, Rule 1 -relying on admission made in the written statement for

Held - Order of the trial court simultaneously decreeing the suit of the plaintiff on the basis of the admission while striking off the defense cannot be countenanced - trial court ought to have permitted the counsel for the defendant to address it on the issue of admission – defendant ought to have opportunity to cross examine the plaintiff's witnesses or to address arguments post striking off its defence. (Para 16)

D. Civil Law - Civil Procedure Code (5 of 1908) – Order 15, Rule 5 - Striking off defence for failure to deposit admitted rent – admitted monthly rent was deposited by the defendant-appellant in the Court after lapse of more than a week of its accrual and there was no representation filed by defendant within ten days as provided in clause (2) of Order 15, Rule 5 –

Held - Trial court was justified in striking off the defence of the defendant under Order 15, Rule 5 CPC (Para 24)

E. Civil Law - Rent Control & Eviction – Term 'permanent structure' – Test to determine 'permanent structure' - "permanent" does not mean that the structure must last forever - A structure that lasts till the end of the tenancy can be treated as a permanent structure. The intention of the party putting up the structure is important - Removability of the structure without causing any damage to the building is another test that can be applied while deciding the nature of the structure.

Held - The nature of construction permitted by the lease deed also refers to permanent constructions being permitted to be made by the defendant-appellant which could not be removed except by substantial damage to the property in dispute and which were meant to last till determination of the tenancy. Clause 4-(b) of the lease deed provides for the lessee to make good any damage which may be caused to the demised land by such removal. Held - it is held that the constructions on the property in dispute were made by the defendant-appellant after due consent of the plaintiff-respondents which is evident from the terms of the lease deed, and, they are permanent in nature (Para 59)

F. Civil Law - U.P. Urban Buildings (Regulation of Letting Rent and Eviction) Act 1972 - U.P. Act No. 13 of 1972 - Section 29 A - Protection against eviction to certain classes of tenants of land on which building exists - 'with the landlord's consent has erected any permanent structure' – Applicability in present case

Held – It was held that the constructions on the property in dispute were made by the defendant-appellant after due consent of the plaintiff & they are permanent in nature. - Defendant-appellant became a statutory tenant u/s 29A and the benefit of Section 29A would be available to the defendant-appellant, thereby barring the suit for eviction of the defendant-appellant except on the ground specified in Section 20 of the U.P. Act No. 13 of 1972. The tenancy of the defendant-appellant is protected from termination by efflux of time.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Jayant Banerji, J.)

1. This second appeal has been filed by the defendant-appellant against the judgement and decree dated 1.8.2006, passed by the Additional District Judge, Court No. 6, Bareilly in Civil Appeal No. 222 of 1998 arising out of O.S. No. 203 of 1988 from the Court of Additional Civil Judge (Senior Division), Bareilly.

2. In this appeal the following substantial questions of law were framed:

"A. Whether in the facts and circumstances of the case the trial court was justified in striking off the defence of the defendant under Order 15 Rule 5 CPC?

B. Whether by a composite order the court could have struck off the defence under Order 15 Rule 5 CPC and simultaneously decree the suit either under Order 15 Rule 1 or Order 12 Rule 6 CPC?

C. Whether after framing as many as 13 contentious issues including the availability of the protection of U.P. Act No. 13 of 1972 to the defendant, as well as the jurisdiction of the court, the courts were justified in law by taking recourse to the provisions of Order 15 Rule 1 and Order 12 Rule 6 CPC for decreeing the suit without recording of evidence?

D. Whether it is permissible for the court to rely on an alleged admission made in the written statement for the purpose of decreeing the suit under Order 12 Rule 6 CPC particularly when the defence has already been struck off under Order 15 Rule 5 CPC?

E. Whether from the own case of the plaintiff coupled with the registered lease deed, the provisions of Section 29-A of the U.P. Act No. 13 of 1972 were attracted thereby protecting the tenancy from termination of efflux of time?

F. Whether for purpose of determining the applicability of U.P. Act No. 13 of 1972 in view of Section 29-A, the lower appellate court was justified in holding that the constructions on the suit property were temporary, only on the basis of the clause in the lease deed that provides that the lessee shall remove the constructions made by him on determination of the lease, without recording a categorical finding that the constructions actually existing on the suit property were temporary or permanent in nature?"

BACKGROUND OF THE CASE.

3. The plaint case is that by means of a lease deed dated 20.8.1969 between the plaintiffs and Smt. Darshan Devi Jain (the lessors of the one part) and Caltex India Limited,(the lessee of the other part), lease was granted in respect of suit property to Caltex India Limited on the terms and conditions mentioned in the lease deed. A few years after execution of the lease deed, the Caltex India Limited was merged and vested in the defendant, Hindustan Petroleum Corporation Limited1 and the identity of the Caltex India Limited got extinct. It is alleged that after the aforesaid merger, the tenancy came to an end but to avoid any conflict the plaintiffs accepted the defendant-appellant as month to month tenant and the tenancy period of ten years granted to M/s Caltex India Limited expired at the end of February, 1978 and the defendant-appellant continued to be a month to month tenant.

4. It is stated that one option regarding renewal of lease was granted in the year 1978 and the defendant-appellant was not entitled to any further option of renewal and thus the defendant-appellant remained a month to month tenant only. After defendant-appellant's tenancy expired at the end of February, 1988, it was liable to be evicted but to avoid any dispute, a notice for termination of tenancy was given by the plaintiff-respondent to the defendant-appellant treating it to be a month to month tenant and was informed that its tenancy would stand terminated on the expiry of 30 days from the date of receipt of the notice. Though the defendant-appellant's tenancy was terminated through registered notice dated 10.2.1988, the defendant-appellant did not vacate the land. To this notice, the defendant-appellant gave a reply to the notice that the defendant-appellant's tenancy is protected by U.P. Act No. 13 of 1972 and it is entitled to renewal of lease for a further term.

5. It is further stated that the lease granted to Caltex India Limited was in respect of a piece of land measuring 150 X 120 X 93 X 105 feet for the purpose of running a Petrol Pump and all the constructions, fittings and fixtures which have been made by the defendant-appellant are liable to be removed and the defendant-appellant cannot claim any benefit from the constructions whether permanent or temporary. It is mentioned that only land was given on lease hence the provisions of the U.P. Act No. 13 of 1972 were not applicable. Since the defendant-appellant failed to vacate the land despite notice of termination of tenancy, therefore, the suit was filed. It is alleged that the defendant-appellant had not paid rent with effect from 1.3.1988. That land of the plaintiff-respondents is at important locality in the city of Bareilly and the existing market value of the tenanted land would be Rs. 20,000/ per month. The defendant-appellant is liable to pay compensation for use and occupation at the rate of Rs. 20,000/ per month. It is stated that the cause of action for the suit arose firstly on 10.2.1988 when the notice for termination of tenancy was given to the defendant-appellant and, thereafter on or about 15.2.1988 when the notice of termination of tenancy was served and finally on 15.3.1988 when the period of notice of termination of tenancy expired and on the defendant-appellant's failure to vacate the land. Therefore, decrees for ejectment, recovery of arrears of rent, compensation and mesne profit were sought.

6. In the written statement, the allegations levelled by the plaintiff-respondents are denied. It is stated that Caltex India Limited was the original lessee of the demised land which subsequently merged in the defendant-appellant by Act No. 13 of 1977 and the Company Law Board Order No. S.O. 312(E) dated 9 May 1978. The allegation of the plaintiff-respondents that on merger of Caltex India Limited, tenancy came to an end was denied. It was stated that the defendant-appellant had exercised his option for renewal of lease after ten years from 1.3.1988 and the tenancy was renewed for a further ten years with effect from 1.3.1988. The renewal was granted pursuant to the registered lease deed. The receipt of notice dated 10.2.1988 was admitted but it was denied that such a notice could be deemed as a notice for termination of tenancy. Reply to the notice by the defendant-appellant was admitted. It was denied that the provisions of U.P. Act No. 13 of 1972 were not applicable. It was stated that the tenancy of the defendant-appellant was continued and stood renewed. In paragraph No. 25 of the written statement, it was stated that the predecessor of the defendant-appellant had erected permanent structure and construction and incurred expenses in connection thereto with the consent of the then landlords hence also provisions of Section 20 of the U.P. Act No. 13 of 1972 apply and suit was barred by the provisions of Section 20 read with Section 29A of the U.P. Act No. 13 of 1972. The termination of tenancy was denied.

7. The trial court framed 13 issues on 5.9.1988 and 28.2.1990 as under:-

1. Whether the U.P. Act 13 of 1972 is applicable over land/ premises in suit, if so its effect?

2. Whether this Court has court has no jurisdiction to try the suit?

3. Whether the tenancy in question stands terminated as alleged in plaint?

4. Whether the plaintiff is entitled to any compensation or mesne profit, if so at what rate?

5. Whether the suit is barred by the principle of estoppel and acquiescence?

6. Whether the defendant is protected under Section 20 read with Section 29 of U.P. Act 13 of 1972?

7. To what relief , if any, the plaintiff is entitled?

8. Whether the suit is not properly valued and court fee is also insufficient?

9. Whether the daughter of late Shri Heera Lal Jain became co-owner of the disputed property in dispute on the death of Shri Heera Lal Jain, if so its effect?

10. Whether the plaintiffs are sole owner of the disputed property?

11. Whether plaintiff's lease stand renewed upto the period of 29.2.1998 as per term of registered lease deed dated 20.8.69?

12. Whether the suit is bad for non-joinder of necessary parties?

13. Whether the suit is misconceived and not properly framed?"

8. However, thereafter, an application bearing paper No. 84-Ga was filed by the plaintiff-respondents to the effect that in view of the admission made by the defendant-appellant in its written statement, the suit for eviction be decreed under Order 15 Rule 1 of the Code of civil Procedure, 19082 keeping in view the determination of the tenancy. The defendants-appellants filed an objection paper No. 86-Ga. Another application paper No. 85-Ga was filed by the plaintiff-respondent to the effect that since the defendant-appellant has not deposited the rent in the court under the provisions of order 15 Rule 5 CPC, therefore, his defence be struck off. The defendant-appellant filed his objection 87-Ga.

9. After hearing the counsel for the parties on the aforesaid two applications (84-ga and 85-Ga), by means of the order dated 9.10.1998, the trial court directed striking off the defence of the defendant-appellant. The trial court, simultaneously, relying on paragraph nos. 6 and 20 of the written statement of the defendant-appellant observed that the defendant-appellant had admitted that the tenancy was extended upto 28.2.1998 and as such till 28.2.1998 they cannot be evicted. Therefore, the trial court under the provisions of Order 15 Rule 1 CPC held that since the defendant-appellant had no right to continue in possession over the disputed premises after 28.2.1998, it is liable to be evicted and directed the defendant-appellant to hand over peaceful possession to the plaintiffs-respondents alongwith outstanding rent and damages.

10. Challenging the decision of the trial court, an appeal under section 96 of the CPC was filed by the defendant-appellant before the lower appellate court. In the appeal, while noticing that the defence of the defendant-appellant had been struck off, the lower appellate court observed that it was open for the defendant to make his submissions and to cross examine the plaintiff. However, the lower appellate court held that when the defendant-appellant admitted the facts in any manner, then the court had authority to proceed under Order 12 Rule 6 CPC to dispose of the suit on the basis of admitted facts.

11. The lower appellate court observed that any such kind of construction which is to be removed after determination of tenancy would come under the meaning of temporary construction and by making such construction, the premises would not come within the definition of word 'building'. As such, the lower appellate court observed that the provision of Section 29A of the U.P. Act No. 13 of 1972 would not be applicable. It held the after striking off the defence, the defendant-appellant had opportunity to make their submissions. The lower appellate court further observed that the lease was renewed for a period of ten years twice and if during the period of lease, the tenancy was not renewed, the termination of tenancy would be deemed and, therefore, the conclusion drawn by the trial court were in accordance with law. The lower appellate court also observed that the notice for termination of tenancy was correctly given to the defendant.

SUBMISSIONS OF THE LEARNED COUNSEL.

12. It is contended by Sri Vikas Budhwar, learned counsel for the defendant-appellant, that though the trial court had decreed the suit only on the alleged admission made by the defendant in its written statement, the lower appellate court went a step further and entered into the merits of the case. He referred to paragraph number 7 of the plaint that the lease was granted to the predecessor-in-interest of the defendant-appellant in respect of a piece of land for purpose of running a petrol pump and that all construction, fittings and fixtures which were made by the defendant-appellant, which were of the time of its predecessor-in- interest, Caltex India Limited, were to be removed and the allegation was that the defendant cannot claim any benefit from the construction whether permanent or temporary. It is contended that there is no averment in the plaint that the constructions were illegal or without consent. Learned counsel has referred to the lease deed (paper No. 17Ga), and stated that in terms of paragraph no.2 thereof, open land was given to the predecessor-in-interest of the defendant-appellant together with right to the lessee to install, erect and maintain permanent constructions in and upon the said piece of land.

13. It is, therefore, contended that the lower appellate court ought to have recorded a finding about the nature of the constructions actually existing over the land in dispute in order to ascertain the applicability of the U.P. Act No. 13 of 1972. Learned counsel has referred to various paragraphs of the plaint to demonstrate that the issue of applicability of provision of U.P. Act No. 13 of 1972 was clear from a reading of the plaint itself and, therefore, the lower appellate court was bound to record a finding regarding the nature of the constructions actually existing on the land in dispute, with reference to the provisions of Section 29-A (2) read with Section 20 of the U.P. Act No. 13 of 1972.

14. The learned counsel has stated that specific and serious objections also with regard to jurisdiction were taken in the written statement and several contentious issues were framed on 15.9.1998 and 28.2.1990 and therefore, it was incumbent on the court below to have permitted proper cross examination of the plaintiff witness after the defense was struck off. The learned counsel relied upon the judgements of the Supreme Court rendered in Himani Alloys Limited Vs. Tata Steel Limited3, Payal Vision Limited Vs. Radhika Chodhary4, M/s Bharat Petroleum Corporation Ltd and another Vs. Smt. Indira Pandey and another5 and an unreported decision dated 26.8.2008 of the Supreme Court in the case of Hindustan Petroleum Corporation Ltd Vs. Diwan Bahadur Visheshwar Nath Trust, in Civil Appeal No. 5414 of 2000 and also a judgement in the case of S.M. Asif Vs. Virendra Kumar Bajaj6.

15. Sri V.K.Singh, learned Senior Advocate appearing for the plaintiff-respondents has rebutted the contention of the learned counsel for the appellant and has referred to paragraph no. 6 and 20 of the written statement to contend that admissions were made by the defendant which have been justifiably relied upon by the courts below. He stated that a condition precedent for applicability of section 29A of U.P. Act No. 13 of 1972 is the consent of the landlord with regard to making any permanent construction over the land in dispute, but no such consent is on record. Learned counsel has stated that the defendant-appellant was required to remove the constructions at the site on determination of the tenancy and thus, it is clear that the constructions were temporary in nature. It is contended that the tenancy lease was of open land and, therefore, the provision of the U.P. Act No. 13 of 1972 will not apply.

16. Learned counsel for the plaintiff-respondents, in support of his contentions, has relied upon two judgements of this Court in the case of Bharat Petroleum Corporation Limited Vs. Ramavati Devi7 and Rameshwar Dayal Agarwal Vs. Pawan Kumar8.

DISCUSSION & ANALYSIS

17. Two applications bearing paper No. 84Ga and 85Ga, both dated 25.7.1998 were filed on behalf of the plaintiffs-respondents. Paper No. 84Ga is an application filed with a prayer that the extremely old suit be disposed of and decided immediately, and, on the basis of admission of the defendant-appellant, the tenancy of the defendant-appellant having determined, the suit be decreed under the provision of Order 15 Rule 1 CPC.

18. The application paper No. 85-Ga was filed with a prayer that the suit be heard on a day to day basis in compliance of a direction of the High Court, Allahabad and the defence of the defendant-appellant be struck off for non-deposit of rent. (This order of the High Court does not appear to be on record.)

19. Two objections were filed by the defendant-appellant in respect of the aforesaid two applications bearing paper No. 87-Ga and 86-Ga respectively both dated 7.9.1998. In the objections, it is stated that the property in dispute is an accommodation which is protected under the Act No. 13 of 1972 and the suit is barred by the said Act. That the contractual tenancy of the defendant-appellant stood renewed till 28.2.1998 and it is wrong to say that the plaintiffs-respondents has any right to evict the defendant-appellant after expiry of the period of renewal. The defendant-appellant cannot be evicted, as provided for under the Act 13 of 1972. It is stated that the rights of the parties are to be decided on the date of filing of the suit and the plaintiffs-respondents is not entitled to evict the defendant-appellant even now. It is denied that the defendant-appellant had not deposited the admitted rent under Order 15 Rule 5 CPC. It is stated that up to date rent had been deposited in court which is a matter of record of the court.

20. With regard to the issue of striking off the defence of defendant-appellant, the trial court observed that the defendant-appellant was bound to prove that it had deposited the rent as per rule upto date which it failed to do. The trial court held that the defendant-appellant cannot participate in the proceedings of the suit and the application (paper No. 85-Ga) was allowed. The trial court, further, relied upon the averments contained in paragraph No. 6 and 20 of the written statement of the defendant-appellant which, as per the trial court, amounted to an admission that the period of tenancy of the defendant-appellant would automatically come to an end in February 1998. It was held that after 28.2.1998, the defendant-appellant had no right to retain possession of the property in dispute.

21. The lower appellate court, while referring to the provisions of Order 12 Rule 6 CPC, held that the tenancy having terminated on 28.2.1998 was admitted by the defendant-appellant and that if in any manner, an admission is made, the court is competent to dispose of the suit on the basis of admitted facts. While considering the applicability of provision of U.P. Act No. 13 of 1972, the lower appellate court held that in terms of original lease deed (Paper No. 17-Ga), the construction made by the defendant-appellant were not permanent in nature inasmuch as it was mentioned that after termination of tenancy, the tenant would remove the construction and would give possession of the vacant land. Such kind of construction would not come within the definition of word 'building' and as such the provisions of Section 29A of U.P. Act No. 13 of 1972 would not apply. However, the lower appellate court held that in view of the judgement of the Supreme Court in the matter of Modula India V. Kamakshya Singh Deo9, the defendant-appellant is not rendered helpless after his defence is struck off but is entitled to challenge the validity and legality of the notice and is entitled to cross examine the witness. The lower appellate court observed that 9.10.1998 was not the first date of hearing and, therefore, the application (paper No. 84-Ga) was an application actually under Order 12 Rule 6 CPC. The lower appellate court held that in case there was only an application under Order 15 Rule 5 CPC then definitely the trial court was required to give time to the defendant-appellant to challenge the evidence of the plaintiffs-respondents and point out its falsity and weakness. However, the submission of the learned counsel that the order dated 9.10.1998 was passed without hearing him, was brushed aside by the lower appellate court on the ground that the decision of the trial court was made after hearing both the applications. While considering the deposit of rent made by the defendant-appellant, the lower appellate court held that there were several instances where the rent was deposited after the due date without there being any application/representation filed within ten days. The lower appellate court observed that the original lease deed was registered and the case was instituted on the basis of its not being renewed which proved that the lease was never renewed. Since, the defendant-appellant itself stated that the term was extended once for ten years and the extended terms of 10 years each came to an end during the pendency of the suit and, therefore, there was no necessity for giving another notice of termination of tenancy. Once a notice was given for termination of the tenancy and admittedly, the defendant-appellant's extended term of tenancy of ten years came to an end during the pendency of the suit, there was no ground or necessity for giving a separate notice. Accordingly, the summary order of the trial court was upheld, it being under the provision of Order 12 Rule 6 CPC.

Question 'A':

22. So far as the question that whether in the facts and circumstances of the case, the trial court was justified in striking off the defence of the defendant under Order 15 Rule 5 CPC, no arguments have been advanced by the learned counsel for the defendant-appellant in this regard. It is also observed from the finding of fact recorded by the lower appellate court that there was default in payment of rent by the defendant-appellant and there was no representation filed by it within ten days as provided in clause (2) of Order 15 Rule 5 (U.P. Amendment).

23. Order 15 Rule 5 was inserted by U.P. Act No. 57 of 1976. Under this provision, the defendant is mandated to deposit the entire amount admitted by him to be due along with the specified interest in a suit by a lessor for the eviction of a lessee after the determination of his lease and for the recovery from him of rent or compensation for use and occupation and the defendant is required throughout the continuation of the suit to regularly deposit monthly amount due within a week from the date of its accrual and in the event of any default in making the deposit of the entire amount admitted by him to be due or the monthly amount due as aforesaid, the court may, subject to the provisions of sub-rule (2) strike off his defence. Sub-rule (2) provides that before making an order for striking off the defence, the Court may consider any representation made by the defendant in that behalf provided such representation is made within 10 days of the first hearing or, of the expiry of the week referred to in sub-section (1) as the case may be.

24. A perusal of the record reveals that the monthly rent was being deposited in the Court after lapse of more than a week of its accrual. Admittedly, no representations were filed. Such deposit of rent cannot be said to be rent deposited in terms of Order 15 Rule 5(1) CPC. Therefore, striking off the defence of the defendant-appellant by the trial court under Order 15 Rule 5 CPC was justified.

Questions 'B' and 'D':

25. Striking off the defence would have the effect of parties being not at issue. That is to say, the material facts contained in the written statement would not be considered as denial of the truth or validity of the material facts contained in the plaint. In Wharton's Law Lexicon (Sixteenth Edition), the word 'defence' is defined as:

"popularly a justification, protection, or guard; in law, a denial by the defendant of the truth or validity of the plaintiff's complaint.

In civil matters, a defence (which is always in writing or printed) is either (1) by statement of defence, which may be a denial of the plaintiff's right, or may be an allegation of a set off or counter claim by the defendant which will cover wholly or in part the claim of the plaintiff; or (2) by a statement of defence raising a point of law, so as to show that the facts alleged by the plaintiff do not disclose any cause of action to which effect can be given by the Court."

26. Striking off the defence as envisaged in Order 15 Rule 5 of the CPC (U.P. Amendment) or for that matter, in Order 11 Rule 21, cannot be construed to mean as striking out of the pleadings in the manner referred to under Order 6 Rule 16 CPC. Therefore, it is not as if on striking off the defence, each and every statement made in the written statement would be struck off without reference to the fact whether a particular statement is in defence or otherwise. Thus, on striking off the defence, it is always open for the Court to consider those statements of the written statement other than in defence, which may include admissions. So the admissions made in the written statement could be looked into by the courts below.

27. Order 15 Rule 1 CPC and Order 12 Rule 6 CPC operate in distinguishable areas, borders of which may overlap. While proceeding to pass judgement on an admission under Order 12 Rule 6 CPC, the Court is guided by the provisions of Section 17 and onwards of the Indian Evidence Act. A combined reading of Section 31 and Section 58 of the Evidence Act cast a duty on the Courts to exercise discretion, in appropriate cases, in the matter of passing judgements on such admissions of fact to be proved otherwise than by such admissions.

28. The word 'admission' is defined under Section 17 of the Indian Evidence Act, 1972 which is as follows:-

"17. An admission is a statement, oral or documentary or contained in electronic form, which suggests any inference as to any fact in issue or relevant fact, and which is made by any of the persons, and under the circumstances, hereinafter mentioned".

Sections 31 and 58 of the Indian Evidence Act read as follows:

"31. Admissions not conclusive proof, but may estop.- Admissions are not conclusive proof of the matters admitted, but they may operate as estoppels under the provisions hereinafter contained."

"58. Facts admitted need not be proved.- No fact need to be proved in any proceeding which the parties thereto or their agents agree to admit at the hearing, or which, before the hearing, they agree to admit by any writing under their hands, or which by any rule of pleading in force at the time they are deemed to have admitted by their pleadings:

Provided that the Court may, in its discretion, require the facts admitted to be proved otherwise than by such admissions."

29. Thus, the first requirement of admission is a statement whether oral or documentary which is made by any of the person and under the circumstances provided in sections subsequent to Section 17 of the Indian Evidence Act. In the present case, the statement of admission of the defendant-appellant is stated to be in its written statement.

Rule 6 of Order 12 of CPC reads as under:-

"6. Judgment on admissions- (1) Where admissions of fact have been made either in the pleading or otherwise, whether orally or in writing, the Court may at any stage of the suit, either on the application of any party or of its own motion and without waiting for the determination of any other question between the parties, make such order or give such judgment as it may think fit, having regard to such admissions.

(2) Whenever a judgement is pronounced under sub-rule (1) a decree shall be drawn up in accordance with the judgment and the decree shall bear the date on which the judgment was pronounced".

30. Rule 6 of Order 12 CPC, therefore, is referable to any admission of fact made either in pleading or otherwise whether oral or in writing. It also vests a discretion in the Court, by usage of the word 'may', to make or not to make such order or give such judgement, having regard to such admissions.

Rule 1 of Order 15 CPC reads as follows:

"1. Parties not at issue.- Where at the first hearing of a suit it appears that the parties are not at issue on any question of law or of fact, the Court may at once pronounce judgement."

31. Parties may not be at issue for want of denial or in view of clear, categorical and unequivocal admissions. Where there is want of specific denial or an allegation of fact in the plaint is stated to be not admitted in the written statement, it shall be taken to be admitted, but even in such a case, the court has discretion to require any fact so admitted to be proved otherwise than by such admission (Order 8 Rule 5 CPC). Order 15 Rule 1 CPC vests in the Court the discretion to pronounce judgement forthwith at the first hearing of the suit where it appears that the parties are not at issue on any question of law or of fact.

32. However, while looking into an admission under Order 12 Rule 6 CPC the court is required to be more careful. The lower appellate court has correctly observed that 9.10.1998 was not the first date of hearing and that the application, paper no. 84-Ga, was an application under Order 12 Rule 6 CPC and not under Order 15 Rule 1 CPC. That having been said, in the present case before the trial court, on 9.10.1998, not only were the alleged admissions of the defendant-appellant in the written statement being considered, but the defence itself was struck off. The defendant-appellant was visited by these twin consequences simultaneously, albeit after hearing. But there is no gainsaying the fact that prior to passing of the impugned order dated 9.10.1998, there was no clue what decision would visit each of the applications, paper nos. 84-Ga and 85-Ga.

33. The so-called admission of the defendant-appellant as referred to by the courts below is stated to be in paragraph Nos. 6 and 20 of the written statement. Paragraph Nos. 6 and 20 of the written statement are as follows:

"6. With regard to Para 6 of the plaint it is stated that there is a provision of 2 firm renewals of 10 years each in the Lease Deed dated 20.8.1969 and lease was renewed firstly for 10 years on 1.3.1978 to 29.2.1988 and stands renewed for a further period of 10 years from 1.3.1988 to 28.2.1998 as defendant has exercised his option for renewal orally and amongst other through registered letter dated 15.12.87 duly received by the plaintiff. It is not admitted that the plaintiff (sic defendant) is not entitled to further renewal. It is also not admitted that renewal which was granted to the defendant in 1978 was through registered document hence defendant was month to month tenant. It is also not admitted that the defendant tenancy has been rightly or in any way terminated through notice dated 10.2.88."

"20. That the lease renewed firstly upto 28.2.88 and thereafter upto 28.2.98 in pursuance of the registered lease deed mentioned earlier. In fact plaintiffs and their predecessors accepted and have been accepting this preposition and acting upon the same".

34. In light of above facts and law, it is to be considered whether the statements made in paragraphs 6 and 20 of the written statement are admissions and if so, whether they are clear, unconditional and unequivocal. The courts below have held that the averments in the aforesaid two paragraphs of the written statement that the lease stood renewed up till 28.2.1998 is an admission by the defendant-appellant that the term of the lease expired on 28.2.1998.

35. The averment in paragraph no. 6 of the written statement, that the lease was renewed upto 28.2.1998 is a reply to paragraph no. 6 of the plaint which is as follows:

"6. That the facts are that one renewal was permitted as per the lease deed dated 20.8.1969 which has already been granted to the defendant and now the defendant was and is not entitled to any further renewal and as the renewal which was given to the defendant in the year 1978 was not through a registered document, hence the defendant was month to month tenant and the defendant's tenancy was rightly terminated through notice dated 10.2.1988."

36. The admission referred to by the courts below made in paragraphs 6 and 20 of the written statement, in the facts and circumstances of the present case, ought not to be read in isolation for purpose of exercise of power under O.12 R.6 CPC, but having regard to the plaint as well as the written statement. The Court has to consider the admissions made by a party in any proceeding and exercise its discretion whether or not the facts admitted are required to be proved otherwise than by such admissions. Moreover, a perusal of the written statement reveals that there are serious objections as to the maintainability of the case in view of the provisions of Section 20 read with section 29A of the U.P. Act No. 13 of 1972. Some issues were also framed in this regard.

37. Order 12 Rule 6 of the CPC provides for passing of judgements on admissions without waiting for the determination of any other question between the parting having regard to such admissions. In the instant case, the courts below have, without giving any opportunity to the defendant-appellant, proceeded to decree the suit for possession only on the basis of the aforesaid admission. After the defence was struck off on 9.10.1998, the defendant-appellant was left with no opportunity by the courts below to attempt to demonstrate the falsity of the claim of the plaintiff-respondent made in paragraph no. 7 of the plaint in which the allegation is that the suit is not barred under the provisions of the U.P. Act No. 13 of 1972. Paragraph No. 7 of the plaint is as follows:-

"7.That the lease granted to the Caltex India Limited was in respect of a piece of land measuring 150 x 120 x 93 x 105 feet for the purpose to run the petrol pump and all the constructions, fittings and fixtures which have been made by the defendant and which were of the time of Caltex India Limited are liable to be removed and the defendant cannot claim any benefit from the constructions whether permanent or temporary. It may be mentioned that only land was given on lease hence the provisions of the U.P. Act XIII of 1972 are not applicable."

38. It would have been prudent for the courts below to have elicited from the defendant-appellant a clarification or explanation for the admission.

39. Even though such "non-admissions' appearing in paragraph no.6 of the written statement create a legal fiction of admission under the provisions of Order 8 Rule 5 CPC ("taken to be admitted"), the discretion of the court to require any fact so admitted to be proved otherwise than by such admissions, is kept intact in the proviso. The admission itself is not unconditional, unequivocal or clear. It would have been in the fitness of things for the trial court, under the circumstances, to ask for a clarification from the defendant-appellant regarding the admission instead of proceeding to decree the suit. The lower appellate court has held that the defendant-appellant was heard prior to decision of the application paper no.84-Ga, without adverting to the fact that the defendant-appellant was actually left with no opportunity, after striking off its defence, to cross-examine the plaintiff-respondents and make submissions. There is no admission that the lease would come to an end on 28.2.1998 entitling the plaintiff-respondent for a decree of eviction by the civil court exercising plenary jurisdiction dehors the competence / jurisdiction of the courts below given the objection of non-maintainability of the suit in view of the provision of Section 20 read with Section 29A of the U.P. Act No. 13 of 1972. Even in the plaint, it is admitted that the one option of renewal of the lease was granted till February 1988. Admittedly, to the notice sent by the plaintiff-respondent dated 10.02.1988, the defendant-appellant replied that its tenancy is protected by the U.P. Act No.13 of 1972 and that it is entitled to renewal of the lease for a further term. Therefore, such an 'admission' as construed by the courts below would not be a clear and unequivocal admission in the facts and circumstances of the present case and the defendant-appellant had showed no intention to be bound by it. It was a fit case for the courts below to have exercised its discretion not to decree the suit on the basis of that admission given the fact that the defendant-appellant had pleaded that the suit is barred under the provisions of Section 20 read with Section 29A of U.P. Act No. 13 of 1972.

40. In this regard, it is useful to refer to the following judgments. Considering the scope of Order 12 Rule 6 of CPC, the Supreme court in the case of Karam Kapahi and others Vs. Lal Chand Public Charitable Trust and another10 observed as follows:-

"37. The principles behind Order 12 Rule 6 are to give the plaintiff a right to speedy judgment. Under this Rule either party may get rid of so much of the rival claims about "which there is no controversy" (see the dictum of Lord Jessel, the Master of Rolls, in Thorp. V. Holdsworth in Chancery Division at p.640)....."

39. "".....In our opinion the thrust of the amendment is that in an appropriate case, a party, on the admission of the other party, can press for judgment, as a matter of legal right. However, the court always retains its discretion in the matter of pronouncing judgment."

"48. However, the provision under Order 12 Rule 6 of the Code is enabling, discretionary and permissive and is neither mandatory nor it is peremptory since the word "may" has been used. But in a given situation, as in the instant case, the said provision can be applied in rendering the judgment."

41. In Himani Alloys Limited (supra), the Supreme Court held as follows:

"11. It is true that a judgement can be given on an "admission" contained in the minutes of a meeting. But the admission should be categorical. It should be a conscious and deliberate act of the party making it, showing an intention to be bound by it. Order 12 Rule 6 being an enabling provision, it is neither mandatory nor peremptory but discretionary. The court, on examination of the facts and circumstances, has to exercise its judicial discretion, keeping in mind that a judgment on admission is a judgement without trial which permanently denies any remedy to the defendant, by way of an appeal on merits. Therefore unless the admission is clear, unambiguous and unconditional, the discretion of the Court should not be exercised to deny the valuable right of a defendant to contest the claim. In short the discretion should be used only when there is a clear "admission" which can be acted upon.(See also Uttam Singh Duggal & Co. Ltd. Vs. United Bank of India11, Karam Kapahi V. Lal Chand Public Charitable Trust12 and Jeevan Diesels and Electricals Ltd. V. Jasbir Singh Chadha13). There is no such admission in this case.

(emphasis by Court)

42. In the case of Payal Vision Limited (supra), the Supreme Court observed as follows:-

"8. The above sufficiently empowers the court trying the suit to deliver judgment based on admissions whenever such admissions are sufficient for the grant of the relief prayed for. Whether or not there was an unequivocal and clear admission on either of the two aspects to which we have referred above and which are relevant to a suit for possession against a tenant is, therefore, the only question that falls for determination in this case and in every other case where the plaintiff seeks to invoke the powers of the court under Order 12 Rule 6 CPC and prays for passing of the decree on the basis of admission. Having said that we must add that whether or not there is a clear admission upon the two aspects noted above is a matter to be seen in the fact situation prevailing in each case. Admission made on the basis of pleadings in a given case cannot obviously be taken as an admission in a different fact situation. That precisely is the view taken by this Court in Jeevan Diesels & Electricals Ltd relied upon by the High Court where this Court has observed: (SCC p. 604, para 10).

"10.... Whether or not there is a clear, unambiguous admission by one party of the case of the other party is essentially a question of fact and the decision of this question depends on the facts of the case. The question, namely, whether there is a clear admission or not cannot be decided on the basis of a judicial precedent. Therefore, even though the principles in Karam Kapahi may be unexceptionable they cannot be applied in the instant case in view of totally different fact situation."

43. Further, in the case of S.M. Asif (supra), it was held by the Apex Court as follows:-

"8. The words in Order 12 Rule 6 CPC "may" and "make such order...." show that the power under Order 12 Rule 6 CPC is discretionary and cannot be claimed as a matter of right. Judgment on admission is not a matter of right and rather is a matter of discretion of the court. Where the defendants have raised objections which go to the root of the case, it would not be appropriate to exercise the discretion under Order 12 Rule 6 CPC. The said rule is an enabling provision which confers discretion on the court in delivering a quick judgment on admission and to the extent of the claim admitted by one of the parties of his opponent's claim".

44. Where the defence is struck off under the provisions of Order 15 Rule 5, it is not as if the defendant is left to the mercy of the facts pleaded in the plaint. The Supreme Court in the case of Modula India (supra) held that where the defence is struck off, the defendant-appellant should be allowed his right of cross examination and argument. The court held that as follows:

"16- ..... But it does not necessarily follow that, once the defence is struck off, the defendant is completely helpless and that his conduct of the case should be so crippled as to render a decree against him inevitable. To hold so would be to impose on him a punishment disproportionate to his default. The observations made by this Court, while discussing the provisions of the CPC, and the Original Side rules of the Calcutta High Court which deal with somewhat analogous situations, cannot be lightly brushed aside. Those decisions have enunciated a general equitable principle. We are also of the same view that provisions of this type should be construed strictly and that the disabilities of a person in default should be limited to the minimum extent consistent with the requirements of justice. This should be all the more so in the context of a tenancy legislation, the main object of which is to confer protection on tenants against eviction by the landlord, unless certain statutory conditions are fulfilled. The provisions should not be given any wider operation than could have been strictly intended by the legislature.

18- We agree that full effect should be given to the words that defence against ejectment is struck off. But does this really deprive the defendant tenant of further participation in the case in any manner? While it is true that, in a broad sense, the right of defence takes in, within its canvass, all aspects including the demolition of the plaintiff's case by the cross-examination of his witnesses, it would be equally correct to say that the cross-examination of the plaintiff's witnesses really constitutes a finishing touch which completes the plaintiff's case. It is a well established proposition that no oral testimony can be considered satisfactory or valid unless it is tested by cross-examination. The mere statement of the plaintiffs witnesses cannot constitute the plaintiff's evidence in the case unless and until it is tested by cross-examination. The right of the defence to cross-examine the plaintiff's witnesses can, therefore, be looked upon not as a part of its own strategy of defence but rather as a requirement without which the plaintiff's evidence cannot be acted upon. Looked at from this point of view it should be possible to take the view that, though the defence of the tenant has been struck out, there is nothing in law to preclude him from demonstrating to the court that the plaintiff's witnesses are not speaking the truth or that the evidence put forward by the plaintiff is not sufficient to fulfill the terms of the statute.

19- To us it appears that the basic principle that where a plaintiff comes to the court he must prove his case should not be whittled down even in a case where no defendant appears. It will at once be clear that to say that the Court can only do this by looking the plaintiff's evidence and pleadings supplemented by such questions as the court may consider necessary and to completely eliminate any type of assistance from the defendant in this task will place the court under a great handicap in discovering the truth or otherwise of the plaintiffs statements. For after all, the court on its own motion, can do very little to ascertain the truth or otherwise of the plaintiff's averments and it is only the opposite party that will be more familiar with the detailed facts of a particular case and that can assist the court in pointing out defects, weaknesses, errors and inconsistencies of the plaintiffs case.

20- We, therefore, think that the defendant should be allowed his right of cross-examination and arguments. But we are equally clear that this right should be subject to certain important safeguards. The first of these is that the defendant cannot be allowed to lead his own evidence. None of the observations or decisions cited have gone to the extent of suggesting that, inspite of the fact that the defence has been struck off, the defendant can adduce evidence of his own or try to substantiate his own case.

.....

24- For the above reasons, we agree with the view of Ramendra Mohan Dutta, ACJ that, even in a case where the defence against delivery of possession of a tenant is struck off under Section 17(4) of the Act, the defendant, subject to the exercise of an appropriate discretion by the court on the facts of a particular case, would generally be entitled:

(A) to cross-examine the plaintiff's witnesses; and

(b) to address argument on the basis of the plaintiff's case.

We would like to make it clear that the defendant would not be entitled to lead any evidence of his own nor can his cross-examination be permitted to travel beyond the very limited objective of pointing out the falsity or weaknesses of the plaintiff's case. In no circumstances should the cross-examination be permitted to travel beyond this legitimate scope and to convert itself virtually into a presentation of the defendant's case either directly or in the form of suggestions put to the plaintiff's witnesses".

45. Thus, on striking off the defence, the right of cross examination of the plaintiff's witnesses and of addressing arguments on the basis of the plaintiff's case has been elaborated by the Supreme Court in Modula India. The original record of the court below reveals that the testimony of PW-1 was recorded on 3.12.1997 and 18.3.1998 but the cross examination was not concluded. Moreover, it is much prior to the striking off the defence of the defendant-appellant on 9.10.1998. Therefore, the defendant-appellant had actually no opportunity to cross-examine the plaintiff's witnesses or to address arguments post striking off its defence.

46. Therefore, the order of the trial court dated 9.10.1998 simultaneously decreeing the suit of the plaintiff-respondent on the basis of the admission while striking off the defense of the plaintiff-appellant without exercising its discretion as envisaged under the aforesaid provisions of the Evidence Act, cannot be countenanced in view of the facts and circumstances of the present case. The trial court ought to have permitted the counsel for the defendant-appellant to address it on the issue of admission. As a matter of fact, the exercise of trial court in proceeding to determine both the applications (paper No. 84-Ga and 85-Ga) together does not appear to be an act of circumspection that is required to be exercised by a court. Therefore, under the fact and circumstances of the present case, the composite order dated 9.10.1998 ought not to have been passed by the trial court.

Questions 'C', 'E' and 'F':

47. Thirteen contentious issues were framed by the trial court which included one with regard to the protection of U.P. Act No. 13 of 1972 to the defendant-appellant as well as with regard to the jurisdiction of the Court. However, on the defence being struck off, under the provisions of Order 15 Rule 5 CPC (U.P. Amendment), the statements of denial of the question of fact and law raised by the defendant-appellant in his written statement were deemed to have been struck off. However, the issue of maintainability of the suit and to the applicability of the U.P. Act No.13 of 1972 is apparent even on reading of the plaint. In view of the judgement of the Supreme Court in Modula India, the defendant-appellant ought to have been permitted to cross examine the plaintiffs witnesses as observed by the Supreme Court in Modula India.

48. It would be pertinent to turn to the contents of the lease deed dated 20.8.1969 executed by the plaintiffs-respondents in favour of the defendant-appellant. This lease deed (paper No. 17-Ga) is the genesis of the present controversy. The terms and condition of the lease commence from page 1 of the lease deed itself which is as follows:

"WHEREBY IT IS AGREED as follows:-

The Lessor hereby lets and the Lessee hereby takes All that piece of land measuring 150' x 120' x 93' x 105' on Lucknow Bareilly Road at Bareilly Kasba Hafizpur as per CALTEX DRAWING NO. DLH 788-4 and more particularly described in the Schedule hereto and delineated on the plan hereto annexed being thereon surrounded by a red colour boundary line TOGETHER WITH all ways passages lights drains sewers water courses rights easements advantages and appurtenances whatsoever to the said piece of land belonging or therewith usually held or enjoyed AND TOGETHER ALSO WITH the right for the Lessee to instal erect and maintain in and upon the said piece of land roadways and pathways and underground petroleum storage tanks and petroleum delivery pumps connected with the said tanks and shelter for an attendant and any other building erection or equipment whether of a permanent or temporary nature for the purpose of storing selling or otherwise carrying on trade in petrol petroleum products oil and kindred motor accessories and any other trade or business that can conveniently be carried on therewith AND TOGETHER ALSO with the right for the Lessee its local dealers or agents to use the premises hereby demised at all times and for all purposes TO HOLD the demised premises unto the lessee from the first day of March, 1968 till 28th of February 1978 (renewable and determinable as hereinafter provided) at the monthly rent of Rs. 100/ only (Rupees One Hundred Only) payable on or before the fifth day of every succeeding English calendar month, the first payment of Rs. 1,200.00 being advance rental for the period 1.3.1968 to 28.2.1969 will be paid at the time of registration."

The other relevant terms of the lease deed are as follows:-

"2(g). To deliver up the demised premises at the expiration or sooner determination of the tenancy or in the event of the Lessee removing the said underground petrol tank and said Petrol delivery pump and the said shelter with their appurtenances and other buildings, erections or equipment pursuant to the proviso in that behalf hereinafter contained to deliver up the demised land restored to its former condition.

4(b). The Lessee shall be at liberty (1) to construct fix erect in or upon or fasten to the demised premises office and trade fixtures and fittings such as screens counters partitions benches shelves lockers and sun-blinds and gas and electric fittings and to remove the said fixtures and fittings and also the said underground petrol tank and petrol delivery pump and shelter with their appurtenances and other buildings erections and equipment at the expiration or sooner determination of the tenancy or within one month thereafter without objection on the part of the Lessor, but in such case the Lessee shall make good any damage which may be caused to the demised land by such removal."

(emphasis by Court)

49. It is, therefore, evident that only land was given on lease with the right for the lessee to install, erect and maintain constructions, buildings and fixtures whether of a permanent or temporary nature.

50. At this stage, it would be pertinent to refer the contents of Section 20 and 29-A of the U.P. Urban Buildings (Regulation of Letting, Rent and Eviction) Act, 1972 as under:

20. Bar of suit for eviction of tenant except on specified grounds.- (1) Save as provided in sub-section (2), no suit shall be instituted for the eviction of a tenant from a building, notwithstanding the determination of his tenancy by efflux of time or on the expiration of a notice to quit or in any other manner :

Provided that nothing in this sub-section shall bar a suit for the eviction of a tenant on the determination of his tenancy by efflux of time where the tenancy for a fixed term was entered into by or in pursuance of a compromise or adjustment arrived at with reference to a suit, appeal, revision or execution proceeding. which is either recorded in court or otherwise reduced to writing and signed by the tenant.

(2) A suit for the eviction of a tenant from a building after the determination of his tenancy may be instituted on one or more of the following grounds, namely : -

(a) that the tenant is in arrears of rent for not less than four months. and has failed to pay the same to the landlord within one month from the date of service upon him of a notice of demand:

Provided that in relation to a tenant who is a member of the armed forces of the Union and in whose favour the prescribed authority under the Indian Soldiers (Litigation) Act, 1925 has issued a certificate that he is serving under special conditions within the meaning of section 3 of that Act or where he has died by enemy action while so serving, then in relation to his heirs, the words "four months" in this clause shall be deemed to have been substituted by the words "one year";

(b) that the tenant has wilfully caused or permitted to be caused substantial damage to the building;

(c) that the tenant has without the permission in writing of the landlord made or permitted to be made any such construction or structural alteration in the building as is likely to diminish its value or utility or to disfigure it ;

(d) that the tenant has done any act which is inconsistent with the purpose for which he was admitted to the tenancy of the building, or has without the consent in writing of the landlord used it for a purpose other than such purpose, or has been convicted under any law for the time being in force of an offence of using the building or allowing it to be used for illegal or immoral purposes;

(e) that the tenant has sub-let, in contravention of the provisions of section 25, or as the case may be, of the old Act, the whole or any part of the building;

(f) that the tenant has renounced his character as such or denied the title of the landlord, and the latter has not waived his right of reentry or condoned the conduct of the tenant ;

(g) that the tenant was allowed to occupy the building as part of his contract of employment under the landlord, and his employment, has ceased.

(3) omitted.
(4) .....
(5) .....
(6) ....."

29-A. Protection against eviction to certain classes of tenants of land on which building exists. -

(1) For the purposes of this section, the expression "tenant" and "landlord" shall have the meanings respectively assigned to them in clauses (a) and (j) of Section 3 with the substitution of the word "land" for the word "building".

(2) This section applies only to land let out, either before or after the commencement of this section, where the tenant, with the landlord's consent has erected any permanent structure and incurred expenses in execution thereof.

(3) Subject to the provisions hereinafter contained in this section, the provisions of section 20 shall apply in relation to any land referred to in subsection (2) as they apply in relation to any building.

(4) The tenant of any land to which this section applies shall be liable to pay to the landlord such rent as may be mutually agreed upon between the parties, and in the absence of agreement, the rent determined in accordance with sub-section (5).

(5) The District Magistrate shall on the application of the landlord or the tenant determine the annual rent payable in respect of such land at the rate of ten per cent per annum of the prevailing market-value of the land, and such rent shall be payable, except as provided in sub-section (6) from the date of expiration of the term for which the land was let or from the commencement of this section, whichever is later.

(6)(a) In any suit or appeal or other proceeding pending immediately before the date of commencement of this section, no decree for eviction of a tenant from any land to which this section applies, shall be passed or executed except on one or more of the grounds mentioned in sub-section (2) of Section 20, provided the tenant, within a period of three months from the commencement of this section by an application to the Court, unconditionally offers to pay to the landlord, the enhanced rent of the land for the entire period in suit and onwards at the rate of ten per cent per annum of the prevailing market value of the land together with costs of the suit (including costs of any appeal or of any execution or other proceedings).

(b) In every such case, the enhanced rent shall, notwithstanding anything contained in sub-section (5), be determined by the Court seized of the case at any stage.

(c) Upon payment against a receipt duly signed by the plaintiff or decree-holder or his counsel or deposit in Court of such enhanced rent with costs as aforesaid being made by the tenant within such time as the Court may fix in this behalf, the Court shall dismiss the suit, or, as the case may be, discharge the decree for eviction, and the tenancy thereafter shall continue annually on the basis of the rent so enhanced.

(d) If the tenant fails to pay the said amount within the time so fixed (including any extended time, if any, that the Court may fix or for sufficient cause allow) the Court shall proceed further in the case as if the foregoing provisions of this section were not in force.

(7) The provisions of this section shall have effect, notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained in any contract or instrument or in any other law for the time being in force.

Explanation.--For the purposes of sub-section (6) where a case has been decided against a tenant by one Court and the limitation for an appeal therefrom has not expired on the date immediately before the commencement of this section, this section shall apply as it applies to pending proceedings and the tenant may apply to that Court for a review of the judgment in accordance with the provisions of this section."

51. This Court in the case of M/s Bharat Petroleum Corporation Ltd and another Vs. Smt. Indira Pandey and another (supra) while deciding the second appeal, observed that "in order to attract, Section 29-A, and to bring a premises/land within the ambit of Section 29-A(2), three things are required to be satisfied:(i) only land is/was let out (ii) tenant has/had erected a permanent structure incurring his own expenses and (iii) aforesaid permanent structure raised by the tenant must be with the consent of landlord. If these three conditions are satisfied, Section 29-A(2), or in other words, the aforesaid Section itself shall apply to such land."

52. In the aforesaid case of M/s Bharat Petroleum Corporation Ltd and another Vs. Smt. Indira Pandey and another, by lease deed dated 18.9.1957, the landlord had specifically permitted the lessee to raise permanent construction over the land so let out for the purpose of running filling station/service station etc. for which lease was executed. The Court held that since there exist permanent structure which included machinery etc. on the land in dispute which was raised by the defendant-appellant by incurring their own expense, the consent of landlord was obvious. The Court held that the land in dispute clearly comes within the ambit of Section 29-A(2) of the U.P. Act No. 13 of 1972 and satisfies all the requirements thereunder. That judgment of this Court in the case of Bharat Petroleum Corporation Ltd. was upheld by the Supreme Court by means of its order dated 8.2.2016 passed in Petition for Special Leave to Appeal (C) No.33567-33568 of 2013, whereby, the Special Leave Petitions filed against the Bharat Petroleum Corporation Ltd. were dismissed.

53. In the present case, the lower appellate court has observed that since there exists a clause in the lease deed which requires removal of construction after determination of the tenancy, the construction would come under the meaning of temporary construction and by making such construction, the premises would not come within the definition of word 'building'. As such, the lower appellate court observed that the provisions of Section 29-A of the U.P. Act No. 13 of 1972 would not be applicable.

54. The plaintiffs-respondents, even though the defence of the defendant-appellant was struck off, were enjoined to plead and prove their case that the constructions made by the defendant-appellant on the demised land were non-consensual and/or temporary in nature and therefore, would not confer any benefit to the defendant-appellant and hence the provisions of U.P. Act No. 13 of 1972 were not applicable. Neither is there any pleading nor evidence by the plaintiff-respondent regarding want of consent or the nature of the constructions.

55. The defendant-appellant, once its defence was struck off, was entitled to an opportunity to cross examine the plaintiffs' witness on this issue as only then the facts pertaining to the case of the plaintiff-respondent could be said to be proved or not. This cross examination would be permissible as it would be on the case in the plaint and not in defence. Just because a clause in the lease requires the lessee to remove construction made by him on determination of lease, would not make the constructions made in terms of lease deed aforesaid on the site as temporary. A specific finding of fact was necessarily required to be returned by the courts below, after recording evidence of the structures/constructions actually existing on the premises in dispute, whether the structures are permanent or temporary.

56. Admittedly, the lease deed dated 20.8.1969 granted the lease of the premises in dispute upto 28.2.1978 at a monthly rent of Rs. 100/- only, with provision for extension of the lease. Section 29A of the U.P. Act No. 13 of 1972 was inserted with effect from 5.7.1976 by U.P. Act No. 28 of 1976. Thus, the defence of protection against the eviction provided by Section 20 read with Section 29A was available to the defendant-appellant even prior to the lease coming to an end on 28.2.1978.

57. The findings of the courts below that since a clause in the lease deed provided for removal of erected structure/construction by the defendant-appellant at the time of expiration or sooner determination of the tenancy, the structure/construction are temporary, have been wrongly determined by the courts below. There is no material or evidence on record to substantiate what is the nature of the construction actually existing on the property in dispute. However, in paragraph No. 7 of the plaint, it has been admitted that constructions were made on the disputed property by the defendant-appellant which is also corroborated by the PW-1 in his testimony.

58. The Supreme Court in the matter of Purshottam Das Bangur and others Vs. Dayanand Gupta; 2012 (10) SCC 409 observed as follows:-

"16. In Venkatlal G. Pittie v. Bright Bros. (P) Ltd. [(1987) 3 SCC 558] the landlord alleged that the tenant had without his consent raised a permanent structure in the demised premises. The trial court as also the first appellate court had taken the view that the construction raised by the tenant was permanent in nature. The High Court, however, reversed the said finding aggrieved whereof the landlord came up to this Court in appeal. This Court referred to several decisions on the subject including a decision of the High Court of Calcutta in Suraya Properties (P) Ltd. v. Bimalendu Nath Sarkar [AIR 1965 Cal 408] to hold that one shall have to look at the nature of the structure, the purpose for which it was intended to be used and take a whole perspective as to how it affects the enjoyment and durability of the building, etc. to come to a conclusion whether or not the same was a permanent structure. This Court approved the view taken in Suraya Properties (P) Ltd. v. Bimalendu Nath Sarkar [AIR 1965 Cal 408] and Surya Properties (P) Ltd. v. Bimalendu Nath Sarkar [AIR 1964 Cal 1] , while referring to the following tests formulated by Malvankar, J. in an unreported decision in Special Civil Application No. 121 of 1968: (Venkatlal G. Pittie case [(1987) 3 SCC 558] , SCC p. 567, para 22)

"22. ... (1) intention of the party who put up the structure; (2) this intention was to be gathered from the mode and degree of annexation; (3) if the structure cannot be removed without doing irreparable damage to the demised premises then that would be certainly one of the circumstances to be considered while deciding the question of intention. Likewise, dimensions of the structure; and (4) its removability had to be taken into consideration. But these were not the sole tests. (5) The purpose of erecting the structure is another relevant factor; (6) the nature of the materials used for the structure; and (7) lastly the durability of the structure."

"20. To sum up, no hard-and-fast rule can be prescribed for determining what is permanent or what is not. The use of the word "permanent" in Section 108(p) of the Transfer of Property Act, 1882 is meant to distinguish the structure from what is temporary. The term "permanent" does not mean that the structure must last forever. A structure that lasts till the end of the tenancy can be treated as a permanent structure. The intention of the party putting up the structure is important for determining whether it is permanent or temporary. The nature and extent of the structure is similarly an important circumstance for deciding whether the structure is permanent or temporary within the meaning of Section 108(p) of the Act. Removability of the structure without causing any damage to the building is yet another test that can be applied while deciding the nature of the structure. So also the durability of the structure and the material used for erection of the same will help in deciding whether the structure is permanent or temporary. Lastly, the purpose for which the structure is intended is also an important factor that cannot be ignored.

59. The nature of construction permitted by the aforesaid lease deed in the present case undoubtedly also refers to permanent constructions being permitted to be made by the defendant-appellant which could not be removed except by substantial damage to the property in dispute and which were meant to last till determination of the tenancy. As a matter of fact, clause 4-(b) of the lease deed itself, while providing for removal of the construction/building/erection at the expiration or sooner determination of the tenancy by the defendant-appellant, also provides for the lessee to make good any damage which may be caused to the demised land by such removal. It is not the case of the plaintiff-respondent that the structure/erection/construction permitted by the lease deed aforesaid, are not existing over the property in dispute. Thus, it is held that the constructions on the property in dispute were made by the defendant-appellant after due consent of the plaintiff-respondents which is evident from the terms of the lease deed, and, they are permanent in nature.

60. The reliance of the learned counsel for the plaintiff-respondent on the judgment of Bharat Petroleum Corporation Limited Vs. Smt. Ramavati Devi (supra) (hereinafter referred to as the Ramavati Devi's case) and on the case of Rameshwar Dayal Agarwal Vs. Pawan Kumar (supra) are, misplaced. The decision in Ramavati Devi's case did not rest, but was taken to the Apex Court in Civil Appeal No. 391 of 2010 which was disposed of by the Supreme Court with the direction that it was open for the defendant to claim benefit of Section 29A(3) of the U.P. Act No. 13 of 1972 in the pending suit. The Supreme Court further observed that it is not for the court concerned to decide whether the appellant is entitled to benefit of Section 29A(3) or not [refer paragraph 12 of the case of M/s Bharat Petroleum Corporation Ltd Vs. Smt. Indira Pandey and another (supra)]. The suit consequentially continued and was decided. This Court then considered the judgement of trial court and lower appellate court in Second Appeal No. 319 of 2012 (M/s Bharat Petroleum Corporation Limited Vs. Smt. Ramavati Devi) which was connected to the aforesaid case of M/s Bharat Petroleum Corporation Limited Vs. Smt. Indira Pandey and the decision thereof forms the judgement in the matter of M/s Bharat Petroleum Corporation Ltd Vs. Smt. Indira Pandey (supra). This decision was challenged by Ramavati Devi before the Supreme Court of India in a petition for Special Leave to Appeal (C) No. 33567-33568 of 2013 which came to be dismissed by means of an order dated 8.2.2016.

61. The decision in the matter of Rameshwar Dayal Agarwal (supra) was passed in a writ petition filed by the decree holder for quashing the order dated 1.12.1997 passed by the executing court whereby the objection filed by the judgement-debtor seeking benefit of Section 29A of U.P. Act No. 13 of 1972 were allowed and it was ordered that if the enhanced annual rent were deposited by the judgement-debtor, the decree for eviction shall stand discharged. In paragraph No. 52 of the judgement it is observed ".....thus, if the work of erection of a structure is substantial or brings about a substantial change in the character of the premises and it is not merely a small physical change of temporary nature, such work of erection will be of permanent nature. The nature of the construction and intention with which it is made are relevant for determining whether any permanent structure has been erected. If on an open plot of land a structure is raised, it may not be a permanent structure if it can be removed without causing harm or detriment to the plot of land". This Court, therefore, held that the executing as well as the revisional court had misread the terms of lease deed and recorded a perverse finding that the lease deed permitted all kinds of construction to be raised whether temporary or permanent and since there were temporary construction raised, the benefit of Section 29A of the U.P. Act No. 13 of 1972 was available to the tenant.

62. The facts and circumstances of the case in Rameshwar Dayal Agarwal Vs. Pawan Kumar are different from the present case. Moreover, the decision rendered by the Supreme Court in Purshottam Das Bangur and ors Vs. Dayanand Gupta (supra) as followed and relied upon by this Court in the judgement of Sunder Lal Bhatia Vs. Onkar Nath Saxena and others14 are to the effect that the nature of the constructions existing on the property in dispute would have to be considered.

63. Thus, the courts below were not justified in decreeing the suit by taking recourse to the provisions of Order 15

Rule 1 or 12 Rule 6 C.P.C without recording of evidence or returning a categorical finding regarding the nature of the constructions.

64. Though, the learned counsel for the defendant-appellant has argued that no evidence regarding nature of construction actually existing on the site is on record and the learned counsel has indicated that it is a fit case for remand under the provisions of Order 41 Rule 23A C.P.C, it is noticed that no grounds for remand are raised in this appeal.

65. The Supreme Court in the case of Syeda Rahimunnisa Vs. Malan Bi ; 2016 (10) SCC 315 observed as follows:

"It is a settled principle of law that in order to claim remand of the case to the trial court, it is necessary for the appellant to first raise such plea and then make out a case of remand on facts. The power of the appellate court to remand the case to the subordinate court is contained in Order 41 Rules 23, 23-A and 25 CPC. It is, therefore, obligatory upon the appellant to bring the case under any of these provisions before claiming a remand. The appellate court is required to record reasons as to why it has taken recourse to any one out of the three Rules of Order 41 CPC for remanding the case to the trial court. In the absence of any ground taken by the respondents (the appellants before the first appellate court and the High Court) before the first appellate court and the High Court as to why the remand order in these cases is called for and if so under which Rule of Order 41 CPC and further in the absence of any finding, there was no justification on the part of the High Court to remand the case to the trial court. The High Court instead should have decided the appeals on merits. We, however, do not consider it proper to remand the case to the High Court for deciding the appeals on merits and instead examine the merits of the case in these appeals."

66. Therefore, this Court has proceeded to decide this second appeal on its merits.

67. The construction/erection made by the defendant-appellant on the demised land and existing on the property in dispute having been held by this court as permanent in nature and the aforesaid lease deed dated 28.2.1969 permitting raising of such structure, on coming into force of the U.P. Act No.28 of 1976 on 5.7.1976 whereby Section 29A was inserted in U.P. Act No.13 of 1972, the defendant-appellant became a statutory tenant and the benefit of Section 29A would be available to the defendant-appellant, thereby barring the suit for eviction of the defendant-appellant except on the ground specified in Section 20 of the U.P. Act No. 13 of 1972. The tenancy of the defendant-appellant is protected from termination by efflux of time.

CONCLUSION

68. This second appeal is, accordingly, allowed in view of the substantial questions of law answered above. The judgements and decree of both the courts below are set aside.

69. Needless to add, under the provisions of sub-section (5) of Section 29A of the U.P. Act No. 13 of 1972, it is open for the plaintiff-respondent to move the authorities concerned for determination of the annual rent. No order as to costs.

A. Public Interest Litigation- PIL filed with the grievances that no medical facilities available in the dispensary of Court precinct - High Court has provided space within premises for functioning of the dispensary-Its administration is in the hands of the Chief Medical Officer, Prayagraj – An advocate fell unconscious due to heart attack. There was no stretcher or ambulance facility to take him comfortably and advocates had to carry him-Registrar General shall monitor basic requirements - In case of inadequacy he shall immediately bring the same to the notice of Chief Medical Superintendent, Prayagraj. (Para 3, 4 & 5)

Public Interest Litigation is disposed of. (E-6)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Biswanath Somadder, J.)

1. This public interest litigation (PIL) has been instituted by a practising advocate of this Court primarily for the purpose of seeking this Court's intervention in respect of the medical facility provided within the precinct of this Court. The writ petitioner / learned advocate has given certain instances in the writ petition which indicate lack of adequate medical facility within the precinct of this Court. By an order dated 27th November, 2019, an earlier Division Bench allowed the writ petitioner to implead the Chief Medical Superintendent, Prayagraj, as respondent no. 3 and also granted time to the respondents to file their respective counter affidavits.

2. When the matter is taken up for consideration today, the learned advocate representing the High Court Administration hands-over a copy of parawise comments which he has received from the Registrar (Protocol). Certain paragraphs of the written instruction are required to be reproduced hereinbelow;-

"3. That in reply to the contents of Paragraph Nos. 25 & 26 of the P.I.L. it is submitted that the High Court Dispensary was established in the premises of the High Court for the purpose of providing first aid in case of hands of the Chief Medical Officer, Prayagraj.

4. That in reply to the contents of Paragraph No. 27 of the P.I.L. it is submitted that 02 (two) Ambulances are deputed at High Court for taking any emergency. In no way, it has been established as a substitute to a full-fledged hospital. The High Court has only provided space within the premises for functioning of the said Dispensary. The administration of Dispensary is in the patient(s) in case of emergency to nearby hospital.

6. That in reply to the contents of Paragraph Nos. 29 of the P.I.L. it is submitted that the Stretcher are available inside the Ambulance and therefore instead of waiting for the Stretcher, Sri Amulya Ratna Srivastava was immediately carried on hands for the purpose of providing him first aid immediately."

3. The above - quoted paragraphs clearly reveal that the High Court Medical Unit / Dispensary has not been established to be a substitute of a full-fledged hospital. However, we are unable to accept the reasoning provided by the High Court Administration as contained in paragraph 6. Let us suppose that the only available ambulance is already commissioned for the purpose of taking someone who has suddenly fallen ill in the High Court to the hospital. Will that mean that no stretcher will be available till such time the ambulance returns? In other words, can it possibly mean that no other person can fall ill / sick within the High Court precinct till such time the ambulance returns? That will simply be a patently absurd proposition. We are, therefore, not at all satisfied with the above statement made in paragraph 6 of the parawise comments, especially in the backdrop of the statement made in paragraph 29 of the writ petition which reads as follows:-

"29. That when Advocate Amulya Ratana Srivastava fell unconscious due to heart attack, there was no stretcher available to take him comfortably and advocates had to carry him on their own hand."

4. The medical facility within the High Court (by whichever name it is called) is required to have adequate infrastructure and logistics should also clearly be in place in order to provide standard first line of medical care to those who may fall sick / ill in the High Court. Such standard first line of medical care shall include not only availability of adequate wheel chairs / stretchers, but should also include a fully stocked medical dispensary equipped, inter alia, with essential life saving medication and oxygen. Basic diagnostic tools such as blood-sugar, blood pressure, E.C.G. monitors, etc., should be readily available. At least one of the ambulances should be equipped with intensive care facility so that a critically ill patient can be transported safely to the nearest hospital with minimum risk to the patient. An emergency contact number shall be provided - either by the Registry of this Court or by the Health Department of the State of Uttar Pradesh - by means of which any person can access the Medical Unit situated in the High Court premises. This contact number shall be made known to all by means of public display, especially at conspicuous places within the High Court premises. The Learned Registrar General shall ensure that a regular monitoring system in place so that the existing medical facility does not fall short of the basic requirements necessary for providing standard first line of medical care as detailed above. In the event any inadequacy is noticed, the Learned Registrar General or anyone connected with the High Court Administration shall bring the same immediately to the notice of the respondent no. 3 / Chief Medical Superintendent, Prayagraj, so that remedial action and corrective measures are taken.

5. The writ petition stands disposed of accordingly.

6. Let a copy of this order be transmitted forthwith by the learned Registrar General to the Chief Medical Superintendent, Prayagraj, as well as the Principal Secretary, Health, Government of Uttar Pradesh, Lucknow.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Sudhir Agarwal, J.)

1. Heard Sri G.S. Chaturvedi, learned Senior Advocate assisted by Sri Nitin Verma, learned counsel for applicant and learned AGA for State of U.P.

2. This application under Section 482 Cr.P.C. has been filed praying for quashing of proceedings in Complaint Case No. 8976 of 2004 under Sections 29 (1)(a) of Insecticide Act, 1968 (hereinafter referred to as "Act, 1968"), Police Station-Kavi Nagar, District- Ghaziabad.

3. It is submitted that Managing Director of M/s Indofil Chemical Company was made an accused in a complaint filed under Section 29 (1)(a) of Act, 1968 on the ground that Insecticide seized at the sale premises of accused-1 Rishipal Singh, was sub-standard and, therefore, Company was indulged in manufacturing of sub-standard insecticide and has committed an offence under Section 29(1)(a) of Act, 1968. Complainant has not impleaded 'Company' at all and only Managing Director has been implicated though manufacturer is the Company and if no offence is said to have been committed by Company, vicarious liability cannot be fastened upon Managing Director of the Company, hence, prosecution of only Managing Director of Company is not maintainable. Reliance is placed on a Supreme Court's judgement in Sharad Kumar Sanghi vs. Sangita Rane (2015) 12 SCC 781.

4. Learned AGA on the contrary, submitted that insecticides having been found sub-standard i.e. spurious, amounts to sale of mis-branded insecticides and an offence under Section 29(1)(a) read with Section 3(k)(viii) of Act, 1968 has been committed, hence, prosecution has rightly been instituted against seller as well as manufacturer. Referring to Section 33, he said that where an offence is committed by a Company, every person who was in charge of, or responsible for Company for conduct of its business is deemed to be guilty of an offence and such person is equally responsible for prosecution of said offence.

5. It is not in dispute that accused-1 was the seller and accused-2 is Managing Director of the Company who said to have manufactured alleged misbranded insecticides.

6. When an offence is committed by a Company, it is governed by Section 33 of Act, 1968 which reads as under:-

"33. Offences by companies.--(1) Whenever an offence under this Act has been committed by a company, every person who at the time the offence was committed, was in charge of, or was responsible to the company for the conduct of the business of, the company, as well as the company, shall be deemed to be guilty of the offence and shall be liable to be proceeded against and punished accordingly:

Provided that nothing contained in this sub-section shall render any such person liable to any punishment under this Act if he proves that the offence was committed without his knowledge or that he exercised all due diligence to prevent the commission of such offence.

(2) Notwithstanding anything contained in sub-section (1), where an offence under this Act has been committed by a company and it is proved that the offence has been committed with the consent or connivance of, or is attributable to any neglect on the part of, any Director, Manager, Secretary or other officer of the company, such Director, Manager, Secretary or other officer shall also be deemed to be guilty of that offence and shall be liable to be proceeded against and punished accordingly.

Explanation.--For the purpose of this section,--

(a) "company" means any body corporate and includes a firm or other association of individuals; and

(b) "director", in relation to a firm, means a partner in the firm."

(emphasis added)

7. Having gone through aforesaid submissions and relevant provisions of Act, 1968, I find that vicarious liability of officers of the Company who may be said to be responsible to the Company for conduct of his business or was in-charge thereof would arise only when an offence has been committed by a Company. If no offence has been committed by a Company and the Company is not one of the accused, question of vicarious liability of its officials will not arise.

8. Construing a similar provisions contained in Section 141 of Negotiable Instruments Act, 1881 (hereinafter referred to as "Act, 1881"). Court in Aneeta Hada and Others Vs. Godfather Travels and Tours Private Limited and Others (2012) 5 SCC 661, said that commission of offence by Company is an express condition precedent to attract the vicarious liability of others. Court said, when a Company can be prosecuted then only persons mentioned in other categories could be vicariously liable for the offence subject to the averments in the petition and proof thereof. Court further said:

"we arrive at the irresistible conclusion that for maintaining the prosecution under Section 141 of the Act, arraigning of a company as an Accused is imperative." (emphasis added)

9. Following the above dictum in Himanshu Vs. B. Shivamurthy and Others (2019) 3 SCC 797, Court said :

"In the absence of the company being arraigned as an accused, a complaint against the appellant was therefore not maintainable".

10. In the present case, Company itself has not been impleaded at all. Once Company is not made an accused, alleging vicarious liability only against Managing Director, complaint cannot be maintained.

11. Section 33 of Act, 1968 also make it clear that in absence of Company as an accused, complaint only against Managing Director is not maintainable. The offence when committed by Company, the further question of vicarious liability of others will arise.

12. There is another aspect in the matter. In the entire complaint filed by Insecticide Inspector/ District Agricultural Protection Officer, Ghaziabad, I do not find any allegations made against applicant as to how he was vicariously liable for offence under Section 29(1)(a) of Act, 1968. The entire complaint reads as under:-

"The aforesaid suit u/s 29(1) (a)(b)(c) of the Insecticides Act, 1968, is based on the following points: -

1. The accused 1 is a storer and seller of the misbranded insecticides.

9. The District Magistrate on 21.8.04 granted permission u/s 31 (1) of the Insecticides Act, 1968 for bringing prosecution.

Hence, accused nos 1 and 2 may please be summoned and punishment proceedings be taken."

(emphasis added)

(English Translation by Court)

13. Managing Director of Company can be responsible for vicarious liability only when there are specific allegations as to how he is responsible vicariously for the offence in question. Nothing has been said in the entire complaint in respect of role of the applicant to make him vicariously liable for the offence under Section 29(1)(a) of Act, 1968.

14. In Maksud Saiyed Vs. State of Gujarat and Others (2008) 5 SCC 668, Court said :

"it is obligatory on the part of the complainant to make requisite allegations which would attract the provisions constituting vicarious liability".

(emphasis added)

15. In Sharad Kumar Sanghi Vs. Sangita Rane (2015) 12 SCC 781, Court said:

"When a complainant intends to proceed against the Managing Director or any officer of a company, it is essential to make requisite allegation to constitute the vicarious liability."

(emphasis added)

16. In S.M.S. Pharmaceuticals Ltd. Vs. Neeta Bhalla and Another (2005) 8 SCC 89, while dealing with an offence under Section 138 of Act, 1881, Court said:

"It is necessary to specifically aver in a complaint under Section 141 that at the time the offence was committed, the person accused was in charge of, and responsible for the conduct of business of the company. This averment is an essential requirement of Section 141 and has to be made in a complaint. Without this averment being made in a complaint, the requirements of Section 141 cannot be said to be satisfied." (emphasis added)

17. The same principle has been reiterated in Maharashtra State Electricity Distribution Co. Ltd. and Others Vs. Datar Switchgear Ltd. and Others (2010) 10 SCC 479 and GHCL Employees Stock Option Trust Vs. India Infoline Ltd. (2013) 4 SCC 505.

18. In Sharad Kumar Sanghi (supra) Court also said:

"When a company has not been arrayed as a party, no proceeding can be initiated against it even where vicarious liability is fastened on certain issues."

(emphasis added)

19. In view of above discussion, proceedings initiated against applicant for committing offence under Section 29(1)(a) of Act, 1968 cannot be sustained.

20. Application is accordingly allowed. Proceedings initiated against applicant in Complaint Case No. 8976 of 2004 under Sections 29 (1)(a) of Act, 1968, Police Station Kavi Nagar, District Ghaziabad, are hereby quashed.

A. Criminal Law - Indian Penal Code, 1860 - Section 499 & 500- Defamation- Code of Criminal Procedure - Section 482 - Indian Evidence Act, 1872- At the stage of summoning the accused, a Magistrate is not supposed to pass a detailed judgement but the order must reflect application of mind- Magistrate must be satisfied that there is material to issue process, in absence of which, the Magistrate will refrain from taking cognizance under Section 190(1)(a) Cr.P.C. Ex-facie an offence of defamation requires a false statement and if a statement itself is not false then Section 499 IPC is not attracted- Exceptions laid down in Section 499 cannot be considered at the time of issuing process by the Magistrate since the same are defence of the accused - If an inference is drawn by the person claiming that before him the statement was made then that person has to verify that a statement justifying such inference was made and unless such fact is not brought before Court concerned, any other statement of a person would amount to hearsay and cannot be said to have proved the commission of the offence of "defamation". A newspaper reporting is a hearsay secondary evidence and not admissible in evidence without proper proof of contents under Indian Evidence Act, 1872- Trial Court cannot treat newspaper report as duly proved only by production of copies of newspaper which was not "legal evidence". Complainant having implicated several other persons who did not make the alleged statement is ex facie illegal and amounts to gross abuse of process of law.

Munir, Advocate for applicants and Sri Nikhil Chaturvedi, learned A.G.A. for State as well as Sri Manish Tiwari, Advocate for Complainant-Respondent.

2. Both these applications have been filed against same proceedings pending in the Court of 9th Additional Chief Judicial Magistrate, Ghaziabad, hence were heard together and are being decided by this common judgment.

3. Application No. 960 of 1997 has been filed by 12 applicants with a prayer to quash Complaint No. 447 of 1996 filed by Respondent-2 in the Court of 9th Additional Chief Judicial Magistrate, Ghaziabad and entire proceedings including Criminal Case No. 2234 of 1996 as also bailable warrant dated 11.09.1996 issued by Magistrate concerned against applicants.

4. Applicant-1 is the Chairman of M/s Gramaphone Company of India Ltd. (hereinafter referred to as "GCIL") having its registered office at 33, Jessore Road, Dumdum, Calcutta. Applicants-2, 5, 7, 8, 9 and 11 were Directors of GCIL when application was filed and Applicants-4, 6 and 12 were former Directors having ceased w.e.f. 07.03.1996, 30.11.1995, and 01.011.1995 respectively. Similarly Applicants-3 and 10 were Directors and ceased to be so w.e.f. 15.11.1996 and 28.06.1996 respectively.

5. GCIL is engaged in the business of manufacturing and marketing of Sound Recordings, Audio Cassettes and Compact Discs etc. with the Trademark Logo "HMV". In 1994 GCIL got copy right ownership of sound track recordings, lyrics and musical composition in respect of film "Hum Apke Hain Kaun". Towards end of December, 1994 M/s Super Cassettes Industries Ltd., i.e., Respondent-2 also introduced Audio Cassettes of aforesaid film infringing copy rights of GCIL. It resulted in a litigation inasmuch as GCIL filed Suit No. 2924 of 1994 in Delhi High Court.

6. Respondent-2, i.e., Complainant, filed a complaint under Sections 500, 501, 502 read with Sections 34 and 120B IPC against all the applicants and five others stating that a news item was published in "The Economic Times" dated 10.05.1996 with the title "Gramaphone Co-accuses T-Series of faking HMV cassettes" and published a defamatory article/ news item, in connivance and conspiracy of accused, against Chairman and Managing Director, Sri Gulshan Kumar and Company. The said news item reads as under:

"Gramaphone Co accuses T-Series of faking HMV cassettes

Mr. Sanjiv Goenka, vice-chairman, The Gramaphone Company of India Ltd. (GCIL), today accused T-Series of faking HMV audio cassettes.

Talking to reporters after the company's extraordinary general meeting, Mr. Goenka said some 65,000 cassettes of the popular Hindi film 'Hum Apke Hain Kaun' were seized from the premises of T-Series in January.

T-Series, which has emerged as possibly the fastest growing music company, is owned by Mr. Gulshan Kumar.

Attacking the organization, Mr. Goenka said: "T-Series is hampering the Gramaphone Company in fighting the counterfeit problem."

Already, a similar case between the two companies is pending before the Delhi High Court.

Earlier, during the meeting the GCIL board passed the special resolution for restructuring the company's capital.

The company has decided to slash its capital base by 60 per cent to enable the company which has now come out of the BIFR ambit to pay dividend within the current financial year.

The extraordinary general meeting also passed a resolution to float a wholly owned international subsidiary in the name of RPG Music International Ltd. to fully exploit the potential of Indian music, which is quite popular abroad.

The overseas assets of GCIL will be transferred to this company.

GCIL, taken over by the R.P. Goenka group in the early 1980s and only recently deregistered from the BIFR's sick list, had an accumulated loss of Rs. 15 crore on March 1995.

Under the resolution passed today, each Rs. 10 equity share would be reduced to a Rs. 4 equity share and, thereby, the company's existing equity capital of Rs. 18.17 crore would be reduced to Rs. 7.27 crore.

The company would seek the permission of the Calcutta High Court to undertake the reduction in equity.

Minority shareholders, however, expressed their resentment at the proposed plan expressing dissatisfaction at being deprived of Rs. 6 in their existing share.

However, the capital reduced would increase the earnings per share (EPS) of the company by at least two-and-half times and hence total market capitalisation of the company would go up.

The holding of the RPG Enterprise in GCIL is around 50 per cent, while 25 per cent is held by the financial institutions.

Another 10 per cent is held by the EMI and 15 per cent by minority shareholders." (Emphasis added)

7. Complainant alleged that Chairman and Managing Director, Sri Gulshan Kumar of Complainant-Company was shocked to read the entire article pertaining to them as it has no truth. Complainant-Company has made audio cassettes of aforesaid film in compliance of provisions of Copyright Act, 1957 and paid prescribed royalty to accused company, i.e., GCIL. All the accused persons conspired together to discredit, humiliate, denigrate and defame complainant in the estimation of right thinking members of society (dissimulating) by publishing false, frivolous and defamatory article containing imputations against Sri Gulshan Kumar, Chairman and Managing Director of Complainant-Company. Imputations against them were made, edited, printed and published by accused persons in furtherance of their conspiracy with common intention to defame and denigrate the complainant as an industry, industrialist, social and religious person of high morale, standard and dignity in society at large. Complainant sent a legal notice dated 11.05.1996 which remained unreplied. Accused persons edited, printed, published and circulated the aforesaid article containing false, reckless and defamatory remark against complainant and its Chairman and Managing Director without any substance and there was no relevancy to make such defamatory remarks in extraordinary general meeting of GCIL. Accused persons have no reason or excuse and are not protected under any law to make such false, frivolous and reckless imputations against Chairman and its Managing Director. The acts and deeds of accused are not exempted under any of exceptions provided under Section 499 IPC or under any other Act. Accused persons are fully aware that imputations made by them against complainant has no truth. They were also aware that defamatory remarks will injure reputation of complainant. The sole objective of accused persons was only to harm reputation of complainant.

Accused persons have no privilege under any law to publish libel/ defamatory articles against complainant. Complainant and its Chairman/ Managing Director have suffered ill reputation among fellow traders, industrialists, industries, dealers, family member, employees, directors, officers, associates and members of society who have started looking down on complainant and as such it has also suffered reputation/ image amongst industries, traders, dealers, stockists, business circle etc., who has started asking questions and complainant is facing an uphill task in satisfying everyone. Several persons have sent, to complainant, in writing, that after going through the above said news item they have lost faith in honesty of complainant and its Chairman/ Managing Director. GCIL and other members of society have also read the entire defamatory publication. Complainant's friends and others have made enquiries from complainant on telephone at Plot No. 1, Film Center, Sector 16A, Noida, District Ghaziabad, where complainant has its Corporate Office. Complainant has also read defamatory language published in said newspaper at Film Center, Noida. Newspaper was being circulated and sold in the area of Noida and Ghaziabad through various vendors. The act done by accused persons constitute an offence publishable under Sections 500, 501, 502 read with Sections 34/120B IPC.

8. After registering aforesaid complaint, Magistrate recorded statement of Sri S. Kanan, Senior Executive, Super Cassettes Industries Ltd. on 01.06.1996 under Section 200 Cr.P.C. Statements of Sri Aditya Kumar Jain, Advocate and Sri Gulshan Kumar son of Sri Chandra Bhan were recorded under Section 202 Cr.P.C. Thereafter Magistrate passed order on 14.06.1996 mentioning that on the basis of evidence and material on record there are sufficient ground to proceed against Accused-1 to 17 in complaint for an offence punishable under Section 500 IPC and consequently it summoned accused persons to appear for trial. On 11.09.1996 when accused persons were not present, Magistrate issued bailable warrant to all accused persons and it is at this stage this application has been filed.

9. Application No. 1910 of 1997 has been filed by sole applicant-Sanjeev Goenka in his capacity as Vice Chairman of GCIL against aforesaid Criminal Case No. 2234 of 1996 arising from Complaint No. 447 of 1996 wherein summoning order was issued on 11.09.1996 and, therefore, facts being common, are not repeated.

10. Sri G.S. Chaturvedi, learned Senior Counsel appearing for applicants contended that alleged statement attributed to Sri Sanjeev Goenka, Vice Chairman, GCIL, does not constitute a defamatory statement and, therefore, Section 500 IPC is not attracted at all and Magistrate has not applied its mind on this aspect. He further contended, when statement alleged to have been made only by Sri Sanjeev Goenka, accusation by impleading Applicants-1 and 3 to 12, in Application No. 960 of 1997, is wholly illegal and Magistrate without application of mind on this aspect, in a mechanical manner, has issued summons to all the accused and for this reason alone, summoning order and entire proceedings are vitiated against the applicants. He next contended that there was no legal evidence available before Magistrate justifying inference, even prima facie, to be drawn that applicants are guilty of committing offence under Section 500 IPC, therefore, also entire proceedings are illegal and liable to be set aside. He said that entire complaint and evidence is founded on news item published in newspaper and no person before whom alleged statement said to have been made was examined. Statement of Sri S. Kanan, Senior Executive of Respondent-2 recorded under Section 200 Cr.P.C. and two alleged persons whose statements are recorded under Section 202 Cr.P.C. are all strangers and third parties who have no knowledge about the matter except what they derived from reading of newspaper. Therefore, alleged witnesses are nothing but strangers and hearsay. A newspaper by itself is not admissible in evidence unless the person reported the matter is also examined and, therefore, entire proceedings initiated, only on the basis of newspaper article is clearly founded on no legal evidence at all, therefore, proceedings initiated against applicants are nothing but gross abuse of process of law, hence, entire proceedings are liable to be set aside. He lastly contended that Magistrate has not examined the matter that there was an apparent business rivalry among complainant-Respondent-2 and GCIL of which applicants were Chairman/Vice-Chairman/ Directors, sitting or former, and a suit was already pending in Delhi High Court wherein CGIL has made complaint that Respondent-2 has committed breach of copyrights. To pressurize and blackmail accused applicants and as a counterblast, above complaint was made and unfortunately, Magistrate without application of mind has proceeded to summon accused applicants, therefore, there is a serious legal error on the part of Magistrate and entire proceedings amounts to harassment of accused applicants by initiating wholly unlawful, not maintainable and illegal proceedings.

11. Sri Arvind Verma, learned Senior Advocate adopting arguments of Sri Chaturvedi in connected application also reiterated the said arguments and both learned Senior Advocates placed reliance on Supreme Court's judgement in R.P. Kapur Vs. State of Punjab AIR 1960 SC 866 and a Single Judge judgement of Bombay High Court in Ramachandra Venkataramanan Vs. Shapoorji Pallonji & Company Ltd. 2019 SCC OnLine Bom 524.

12. Learned counsel appearing for Respondent-2, on the contrary, submitted that a perusal of complaint as also the statements recorded by Magistrate under Sections 200 and 202 Cr.P.C. categorically show commission of an offence punishable under Section 500 IPC and, therefore, Magistrate has rightly summoned accused-applicants and they are liable to be tried for the said offence, hence, no interference is called for and would be justified by this Court. He submitted that at the stage of summoning accused persons in a complaint case, Magistrate's scope of enquiry is confined to the complaint and evidence adduced before it and it cannot examine the merit and demerits of case in detail. Magistrate has done what was required by it and it cannot be said that from the material placed on record, prima facie offence punishable under Section 500 IPC is not made out, therefore, both the applications deserve to be dismissed and no interference would be justified.

13. I have heard learned counsel for parties at length and perused record as also authorities and relevant law on the subject.

14. At the stage of summoning accused persons, a Magistrate is not supposed to pass a detailed judgement. The requirement, however, is that order must reflect application of mind. Magistrate must be satisfied that there is material to issue process. If complaint on the face of it does not disclose commission of an offence or if there is no legal evidence in support of complaint to prove the charge, then Magistrate will refrain itself from taking cognizance under Section 190(1)(a) Cr.P.C. In Mehmood Ul Rehman Vs. Khazir Mohammad Tunda (2015) 12 SCC 420, Court said that satisfaction for proceeding would mean that the facts alleged in the complaint would constitute an offence and when considered along with the statements recorded, would, prima facie, make the accused answerable before Court. If no application of mind is evident or no offence is made out, Court said that High Court under Section 482 Cr.P.C. is bound to invoke its inherent power in order to prevent abuse of power of Court.

15. Section 499 IPC provides as to what is "defamation" and reads as under:-

"499. Defamation.--Whoever, by words either spoken or intended to be read, or by signs or by visible representations, makes or publishes any imputation concerning any person intending to harm, or knowing or having reason to believe that such imputation will harm, the reputation of such person, is said, except in the cases hereinafter expected, to defame that person."

16. There are four Explanations and ten Exceptions in Section 499 IPC which I had not quoted.

17. Explanations covers some shades of the words, spoken or intended to be read etc., which may amount to "defamation" while exceptions give the illustrations of what will not constitute "defamation". To be more particular, Explanations-1, 2 and 3 provide certain aspects which would amount to defamation and Explanation-4 explains the words "will harm the reputation of such person" which is a necessary and integral part of Section 499 IPC so as to constitute defamation. Offence of defamation, therefore, consists of three essential ingredients. (i) making or publishing an imputation concerning a person; (ii) such imputation must have been made by words either spoken or intended to be read or by signs or by visible representations; and, (iii) the said imputation must have been made with the intention of harming or with the knowledge or having reason to believe that it will harm the reputation of the person concerned.

18. Thus, to bring an offence under Section 500 IPC, prosecution has to show, (a) that an imputation was made consisting of words spoken or written or intended to be read or made by signs or by visible representations; (b) that the imputation concerned the complainant i.e. the person defamed and the person who has come forward qua complainant alleging that defamation concerned him, are identical persons; (c) that the accused made or published the incriminating imputation; and, (d) that the intention behind making and publishing words causing harm to the reputation of such person.

19. Offence punishable under Section 500 IPC, therefore, is to protect a fundamental right of a person i.e.

'reputation' which is part of right to enjoyment of life and liberty and property having an ancient origin as explained by Supreme Court in Smt. Kiran Bedi v. Committee of Inquiry and another 1989 (1) SCC 494 wherein Court reproduced the observations from D.F. Marion v. Davis 10 55 ALR 171 as under:-

"The right to enjoyment of a private reputation, unassailed by malicious slander is of ancient origin, and is necessary to human society. A good reputation is an element of personal security, and is protected by the Constitution equally with the right to the enjoyment of life, liberty and property. "
(emphasis added)

20. In Board of Trustees of the Port of Bombay vs. Dilipkumar Raghavendranath Nadkarni and Others (1983) 1 SCC 124, Court said that "right to reputation" is a facet of right to life of a citizen under Article 21 of Constitution.

21. In Vishwanath S/o Sitaram Agrawal v. Sau. Sarla Vishwanath Agrawal 2012 (6) SCALE 190, Court dealt with the aspect of "reputation" though in a different context, and said:-

".....reputation which is not only the salt of life, but also the purest treasure and the most precious perfume of life. It is extremely delicate and a cherished value this side of the grave. It is a revenue generator for the present as well as for the posterity. " (emphasis added)

22. In Kishore Samrite Vs. State of U.P. and Others 2013 (2) SCC 398, Court said:-

"The term 'person' includes not only the physical body and members but also every bodily sense and personal attribute among which is the reputation a man has acquired. Reputation can also be defined to be good name, the credit, honour or character which is derived from a favourable public opinion or esteem, and character by report. The right to enjoyment of a good reputation is a valuable privilege of ancient origin and necessary to human society. 'Reputation' is an element of personal security and is protected by Constitution equally with the right to enjoyment of life, liberty and property. Although 'character' and 'reputation' are often used synonymously, but these terms are distinguishable. 'Character' is what a man is and 'reputation' is what he is supposed to be in what people say he is. 'Character' depends on attributes possessed and 'reputation' on attributes which others believe one to possess. The former signifies reality and the latter merely what is accepted to be reality at present. ". (emphasis added)

23. Offence under Section 500 IPC, therefore, covers a very important aspect involving a person's right to life and liberty, hence when a complaint is made that a person's reputation has been jeopardized, any Magistrate if has taken cognizance in the matter by initiating proceedings, Court under Section 482 Cr.P.C. or in writ jurisdiction under Article 226 of Constitution should not interfere lightly unless a clear case of abuse of process of law is made out. I, therefore, would examine the matter in question, whether here a case of abuse of process has been made out or not.

24. Before coming to other aspects of the matter, first of all, straightway I propose to consider whether news item, said to have been published in daily newspaper "The Economic Times", taking on the face of it to be correct, satisfy the requirement of Section 499 IPC so as to constitute an offence of defamation punishable under Section 500 IPC.

25. The published news items has various parts. The first part, talks of alleged statement made by Sri Sanjeev Goenka; second part, talks of a case pending between two companies in Delhi High Court; and, third part, deals with the meeting of GCIL Board and passing of resolution for restructuring the Company's capital and gives some details of restructuring of Company and shareholding thereof.

26. For the purpose of present case, though second part i.e. pendency of case between two companies i.e. GCIL and T-Series in Delhi High Court, as per applicants, is the genesis for entire dispute but as per complaint made by Respondent-2, it is the first part of news item which has caused in commission of offence punishable under Section 500 IPC. The first part of news item again talks of two things. One is, what has been said by Mr. Goenka and another, inferential news which reflects the conclusion drawn by Reporter. Two statements are said to have been made by Sri Goenka in the aforesaid news item; (a) "Mr. Goenka said, some 65000 cassettes of popular Hindi film "Hum Aapke Hain Kaun" were ceased from the premises of T-Series in January", and (b) "Mr. Goenka said, T-Series is hampering the Gramaphone Company in fighting the counterfeit problem".

27. The remaining two sub-parts of first part of above news item show the inference drawn by Newspaper Reporter and these sub-parts are; (i) Mr. Sanjeev Goenka, Vice-Chairman, the Gramaphone Company of India Limited (GCIL), today accused T-Series of faking HMV audio cassettes and (ii) T-Series, which has emerged as possibly the fastest growing music company, is owned by Mr. Gulshan Kumar.

28. Obviously, the inference drawn by Newspaper Reporter cannot be attributed to be the statement of Sri Goenka unless such statement is brought on record to show that statement causing inference drawn by Newspaper Reporter was also stated by Sri Goenka and the said inference is not an extra stretching of a fact which as such has not been uttered by the person to whom it is attributed.

29. The first part of statement of Mr. Goenka, published in news items, relates to a fact and another is the opinion formed by Mr. Goenka on a particular aspect.

30. Now, when I go through the complaint, I do not find even a whisper stating that statement of Mr. Goenka that "65000 cassettes of Hindi film "Hum Aapke Hain Kaun" were ceased from the premise of T-Series in January", is a false statement and no such seizure had taken place. In the complaint, newspaper article has been reproduced in para-10 and thereafter from paras-11 to 17 it is said that aforesaid news item constitute an offence of defamation punishable under Section 500 IPC but I do not find even a whisper in the entire complaint that this statement of fact alleged by stated by Mr. Goenka that a particular number of cassettes were seized from the premise of T-Series, is false and incorrect. When aforesaid statement was not shown incorrect in entire complaint, I do not find that utterance of such statement of fact do constitute an offence of "defamation" as defined in Section 499 IPC and punishable under Section 500 IPC. Ex-facie an offence of defamation required firstly, a false statement and if a statement itself is not false, one need not go further as to whether such statement has the effect of damaging one's goodwill or reputation or image, inasmuch as, if a statement of fact which is not false is uttered then Section 499 IPC is not attracted at all.

31. Further the alleged statement of Mr. Goenka, when talks of seizure of cassettes from the premise of T-Series, nowhere stated that said cassettes were fake. This part of statement in news item is an inference drawn by Newspaper Reporter and on what basis he drew this inference, atleast from the two statements of Mr. Goenka, which are reproduced in aforesaid news item, it is difficult to find any reason for forming such opinion. Reporter may have extended the word "seizure" in the manner that seizure must be of fake cassettes.

32. The second part of alleged statement of Mr. Goenka shows that T-Series is obstructing GCIL fighting against counterfeit problem but it does not show or statement suggests that T-Series itself is indulged in counterfeit cassettes and is encouraging the same. Further, Mr. Goenka has not named Respondent-2 at all i.e. Super Cassettes Industries Limited or its Chairman and Managing Director, Sri Gulshan Kumar. That is a fact stated in the News item by Newspaper Reporter and he has said on his own that T-Series Company is owned by Sri Gulshan Kumar. I do not find that from reading of newspaper item that any common man would immediately relate it to M/s Super Cassettes Industries Limited as Respondent-2 has not been named by Mr. Goenka.

33. Rest averments contained in paras- 11 to 15 of complaint are the manner of reaction of Mr. Gulshan Kumar after reading said news item and his friends, members of society etc. known to him which would be irrelevant if the news item itself fails to bring applicants within the catch of Sections 499/500 IPC.

34. In a matter, complaining of offence of defamation, the alleged statement has to be appreciated in a manner which will be read, understood and viewed by right thinking and reasonable minded person of ordinary prudence. The statement has to be read and understood in its entirety and not selectively, in piecemeal, or by adding something which is not there. Natural and ordinary meaning of words would be supplied and what meaning and message it would convey to a man of ordinary prudence is a crucial aspect. Imputation of fraud, dishonesty and corruption in any manner directly attributing to complainant, no doubt, would amount to defamation but every statement which is not liked by complainant himself cannot be said to be a defamatory statement.

35. I have no manner of doubt that while considering the questions, whether an offence under Section 499 IPC punishable under Section 500 IPC has been committed, and whether Magistrate is justified in issuing process, the exceptions laid down in Section 499 IPC would not be considered since the same are defence available to accused and not to be looked into at the stage of issue of process by Magistrate but he (Magistrate) yet has to examine whether alleged statement, if read, as it is, do satisfy the requirement of "defamation" as defined in Section 499 IPC. It cannot be ignored that different persons react to the same situation differently, had different assessments and judgment of a situation and facts are based on human nature, mindset, approach, intelligentsia and ability of appreciation. Reaction of a reasonable person or right thinking member of society to the words spoken is a relevant consideration to find, whether statement in question amounts to defamation. Section 499 IPC clearly provides that statement of imputation must be with the intent of causing harm or having reason to belief that such imputation will harm reputation of the person about whom it is made. Meaning thereby, the identity of person in respect of whom the statement is made must be clear from the statement itself and not from the inference drawn by the person who claims that in his presence or before him an statement was made.

36. Further, if an inference is drawn by the person claiming that before him the statement was made then first of all it is the person who has drawn inference has to verify that a statement justifying such inference was made and unless such fact is not brought before Court concerned, any other statement of a person would amount to a hearsay and cannot be said to have proved that an offence under Section 499 IPC punishable under Section 500 IPC has been committed. Thus prima facie I am of the view that alleged statements of Mr. Goenka which are reported in aforesaid news item do constitute an offence of defamation under Section 499 IPC and punishable under Section 500 IPC is made out.

37. Then the next aspect on which non-application of mind by Magistrate is clear, is that, the news item very clearly and categorically refers to Mr. Goenka who made alleged statement constituting defamation but in the complaint several persons, i.e., Applicants-1 and 3 to 12 in Application No. 960 of 1997 have been implicated. Alleged statement nowhere shows that they either authorised Mr. Suneel Goenka to make such statement or that he was talking on behalf and under authority of all these persons to make such statement. News item itself refers to the statement of Mr. Sanjeev Goenka only and not anyone else. Therefore, implication of persons other than Sri Goenka in the complaint by complainant-Respondent-2 is ex facie illegal and amounts to gross abuse of process of law. Magistrate having failed to apply its mind on this aspect has committed gross illegality and summoning orders issued to other persons, i.e., Applicants-1 and 3 to 12 in Application No. 960 of 1997 is clearly illegal and cannot be sustained.

38. The next submission is that witnesses examined by Court below were all strangers and their statements are nothing but hearsay, inadmissible in evidence at all, and there was no legal evidence whatsoever since reporter of newspaper before whom the statement allegedly made, was not examined and newspaper by itself is not admissible in evidence, therefore, entire proceedings are illegal and bad in view of law laid down in R.P. Kapur (supra) which says that if a process has been initiated on the basis of material which do not constitute "legal evidence", then such a process would amount to abuse of process of law and must be quashed.

39. Learned counsel appearing for complainant could not dispute that three persons examined by Court below, i.e., Sri S. Kanan, under Section 200 Cr.P.C. and Sri Aditya Kumar Jain, Advocate and Sri Gulshan Kumar, under Section 202 Cr.P.C. were not the persons before whom alleged statements were made by Sri Sanjeev Goenka. They have founded the entire case on the basis of newspaper article which they have read, quoted in complaint and placed in evidence.

40. Newspaper reporting, whether correct or not, has not been fortified. A newspaper reporting by itself is a hearsay secondary evidence and not admissible unless the Reporter is examined or any person before whom the incident has occurred, is examined and prove the facts as such.

41. Question as to whether newspaper report is admissible in evidence and if so in what circumstances, has been considered time and again. In Samant N. Balkrishna and another vs. George Fernandez and others, 1969(3) SCC 238 this aspect has been considered by Supreme Court. Therein the dispute had arisen from an election petition wherein Sri George Fernandez was declared elected from Bombay South Parliamentary Constituency of Lok Sabha in the elections held in February, 1967 which was challenged by Samant N. Balkrishna, an elector in the Constituency on various grounds including allegations of corrupt practice. Election petition was dismissed by High Court and that is how the matter reached Supreme Court. Therein certain allegations of false publication of a news item in 'Maratha' was pleaded in election petition so as to constitute corrupt practice on the part of returned candidate through its agent but a direct allegation of corrupt practice against returned candidate was sought to be added which was not approved by Supreme Court. In para 47 of the judgment, in the context of news item published in newspaper 'Maratha', Court observed as under:

"A news item without any further proof of what had actually happened through witnesses is of no value. It is at best a secondhand secondary evidence. It is well-known that reporters collect information and pass if on to the editor who edits the news item and then publishes it. In this process the truth might get perverted or garbled. Such news items cannot be said to prove themselves although they may be taken into account with other evidence if the other evidence is forcible."

(emphasis added)

42. Court also observed that trial of an election petition is made in accordance with Code of Civil Procedure but a corrupt practice must be proved in the same way as a criminal charge is proved. An election petitioner must exclude every hypothesis except that of guilt on the part of returned candidate or his election agent. When a corrupt practice is alleged against a returned candidate through his agent, consent of returned candidate has to be proved or election petitioner must go further and prove that the result of election in so far as returned candidate is concerned, was materially affected. In para 48 of judgment, Court said that a newspaper reporting a meeting, does so as part of its own activity, and there can be no inference of consent. What was necessary, had to be pleaded and proved, that Mr. Fernandez said this and this. Newspaper reports could be taken in support but not independently. Here the plea was not taken at all and evidence was not direct but indirect.

43. In Laxmi Raj Shetty and another v. State of Tamil Nadu, 1988(3) SCC 319 Court had an occasion to consider the matter arisen from a trial for conviction under Section 302 IPC wherein punishment of life imprisonment was awarded to convict. In an incident of robbery and murder of Manager of a Bank appellant, Laxmi Raj Shetty was convicted under Section 302 IPC with death sentence by Trial Court and under Sections 392 and 449 IPC imprisonment for seven years each. High Court confirmed death sentence and other sentence under Section 302, 392, 449 IPC and matter went in appeal to Supreme Court. There was no direct evidence in the matter and conviction and sentence founded on circumstantial evidence. Reliance on newspaper reports was placed by convict which was objected by State contending that unauthenticated news items in press cannot be treated to be a credible evidence for either convicting or acquitting a person in a Court of Law. Accepting argument of State, Court said that in cases where evidence is purely of circumstantial nature, facts and circumstances from which conclusion of guilt is sought to be drawn must be fully established beyond any reasonable doubt and circumstances so established should not only be consistent with the guilt of accused but they must in their effect be such as to be entirely incompatible with innocence of accused and must exclude a reasonable hypothesis with his innocence. Rejecting argument advanced on behalf of convict relying on newspaper reports, in para 25 of judgment, Court said:

"We cannot take judicial notice of the facts stated in a news item being in the nature of hearsay secondary evidence, unless proved by evidence aliunde. A report in a newspapers is only hearsay evidence. A newspaper is not one of the documents referred to in Section 78(2) of the Evidence Act, 1872 by which an allegation of fact can be proved. The presumption of genuineness attached under Section 81 of the Evidence Act to a newspapers report cannot be treated as proved of the facts reported therein."

44. Further in para 26 of judgment, Court said:

"26. It is now well-settled that a statement of fact contained in a newspapers is merely hearsay and therefore inadmissible in evidence in the absence of the maker of the statement appearing in Court and deposing to have perceived the fact reported. The accused should have therefore produced the persons in whose presence the seizure of the stolen money from appellant No. 2's house at Mangalore was effected or examined the press correspondents in proof of the truth of the contents of the news item. The question as to the admissibility of newspaper reports has been dealt with by this Court in Samant N. Balakrishna v. George Fernandez & Ors [1969] 3 SCR 603. There the question arose whether Shri George Fernandez, the successful candidate returned to Parliament from the Bombay South Parliamentary Constituency had delivered a speech at Shivaji Park attributed to him as reported in the Maratha, a widely circulated Marathi newspaper in Bombay, and it was said:

"A newspaper report without any further proof of what had actually happened through witnesses is of no value. It is at best a second-hand secondary evidence. It is well known that reporters collect information and pass it on to the editor who edits the news item and then publishes it. In this process the truth might get perverted or garbled. Such news items cannot be said to prove themselves although they may be taken into account with other evidence if the other evidence is forcible."

We need not burden the judgment with many citations. There is nothing on record to substantiate the facts as reported in the newspapers showing recovery of the stolen amount from the residence of appellant No. 2 at Mangalore. We have therefore no reason to discard the testimony of PW 50 and the seizure witnesses which go to establish that the amount in question was actually recovered at Madras on the 29th and the 30th as alleged."

45. Next in the line is Quamarul Islam v. S.K. Kanta and others, 1994 Supp.(3) SCC 5 . It is again a dispute arising from an election petition under R.P. Act, 1951. Election of Quamarul Islam from 10 Gulbarga Assembly Constituency held in September, 1992 was challenged on the ground of corrupt practices. Reliance was placed on speeches allegedly made by returned candidate published in certain news papers. In para 48 of judgment Court said:

"48. Newspaper reports by themselves are not evidence of the contents thereof. Those reports are only hearsay evidence. These have to be proved and the manner of proving a newspaper report is well settled. Since, in this case, neither the reporter who heard the speech and sent the report was examined nor even his reports produced, the production of the newspaper by the Editor and publisher, PW 4 by itself cannot amount to proving the contents of the newspaper reports. Newspaper, is at the best secondary evidence of its contents and is not admissible in evidence without proper proof of the contents under the Indian Evidence Act. The learned trial judge could not treat the newspaper reports as duly 'proved' only by the production of the copies of the newspaper. The election petitioner also examined Abrar Razi, PW 5, who was the polling agent of the election petitioner and resident of the locality in support of the correctness of the reports including advertisements and messages as published in the said newspaper. We have carefully perused his testimony and find that his evidence also falls short of proving the contents of the reports of the alleged speeches or the messages and the advertisements, which appeared in different issues of the newspaper. Since, the maker of the report which formed basis of the publications, did not appear in the Court to depose about the facts as perceived by him, the facts contained in the published reports were clearly inadmissible. No evidence was led by the election petitioner to prove the contents of the messages and the advertisements as the original manuscript of the advertisements or the messages was not produced at the trial. No witness came forward to prove the receipt of the manuscript of any of the advertisements or the messages or the publication of the came in accordance with the manuscript. *There is no satisfactory and reliable evidence on the record to even establish that the same were actually issued by IUML or MYL, ignoring for the time being, whether or not the appellant had any connection with IUML or MYL or that the same were published by him or with his consent by any other person or published by his election agent or by any other person with the consent of his election agent. The evidence of the election petitioner himself or of PW 4 and PW 5 to prove the contents of the messages and advertisements in the newspaper in our opinion was wrongly adm*itted and relied upon as evidence of the contents of the statement contained therein."

46. The above authorities clearly show that a newspaper report by itself does not constitute an evidence of the contents thereof. Those reports are only hearsay evidence. These have to be proved either by production of Reporter who heard the statement and sent the same for reporting or by production of report sent by such Reporter and production of Newspaper's Editor or Publisher to prove such report. As held by Supreme Court in the above authorities a newspaper is at the best secondary evidence and not admissible in evidence without proper proof of contents under Indian Evidence Act, 1872. Trial Court cannot treat newspaper report as duly proved only by production of copies of newspaper. Thus the newspaper report was not a "legal evidence" which could have been examined to support the complaint.

47. In R.P. Kapur (supra) Supreme Court has held that inherent jurisdiction can be exercised to quash proceedings in a proper case either to prevent abuse of process in Court or otherwise to secure ends of justice. Ordinarily criminal proceedings instituted against an accused person must be tried in accordance with procedure prescribed in Cr.P.C. and this Court should be reluctant to interfere with the said proceedings at an interlocutory stage but an order of summoning is not an interlocutory order since it compels the accused persons to come to the Court and face trial and his valuable rights of freedom to some extent are affected, hence in such cases if it can be shown that there is a legal bar against institution or continuation of proceedings, Court would interfere. For example, absence of requisite sanction could be one of such matters where Court would be justified for quashing the proceedings exercising power under Section 482 Cr.P.C. Next category is where allegations contained in FIR or complaint, if taken at their face value, and accepted in entirety to be correct, still do not constitute the offence alleged. While forming its opinion Court will not examine or appreciate any evidence and it will only look to the complaint or FIR to decide whether offence alleged is disclosed or not. If no offence is made out, Court would be justified to interfere. Then the third category is where allegations made against accused persons may constitute offence alleged but there is either no "legal evidence" adduced in support of case or evidence adduced, clearly and manifestly, fails to prove the charge. In such case also interference under Section 482 Cr.P.C. would be justified. I may quote the relevant extract from the judgment in R.P. Kapur (supra) on this aspect as under:

"A third category of cases in which the inherent jurisdiction of the High Court can be successfully invoked may also arise. In cases falling under this category the allegations made against the accused person do constitute an offence alleged but there is either no legal evidence adduced in support of the case or evidence adduced clearly or manifestly fails to prove the charge. In dealing with this class of cases it is important to bear in mind the distinction between a case where there is no legal evidence or where there is evidence which is manifestly and clearly inconsistent with the accusation made and cases where there is legal evidence which on its appreciation may or may not support the accusation in question." (emphasis added)

48. In the present case, evidence under Sections 200 and 202 Cr.P.C. recorded by Court below does not prove the allegation that statements alleged to have been made by accused-applicants were made and newspaper report itself with regard to its contents was inadmissible hence there is no legal evidence.

49. Hence, here is a case where accused persons have been summoned without any "legal evidence" available before Trial Court to support the charge it comes within the category of gross abuse of process. This Court is aware that in considering whether evidence adduced is a "legal evidence" or not, it will not go to examine reliability of evidence but it is only admissibility of evidence and the factum, whether such evidence if admissible supports the charge or not which has to be seen by this Court and that is what I have considered in this matter and find that there was/ is no "legal evidence" whatsoever, hence proceedings initiated by Magistrate in the cases in hand are patently illegal and amounts to abuse of process of Court. Therefore, to secure ends of justice interference of this Court under Section 482 Cr.P.C. is justified and called for.

50. In view thereof, both the applications are allowed. Proceedings in Complaint No. 447 of 1996 filed by Respondent-2 in the Court of 9th Additional Chief Judicial Magistrate, Ghaziabad including Criminal Case No. 2234 of 1996 as also bailable warrant dated 11.09.1996, are hereby quashed.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Sudhir Agarwal, J.)

1. Heard Sri Gopal Swaroop Chatrvedi, Senior Advocate, assisted by Sri Diptiman Singh, learned counsel for applicants, Sri H.N.Tripathi, learned counsel for opposite party no.2, Sri Syed Ali Murtza, learned A.G.A. for State of U.P. and perused the record.

2. In para 4 of IInd Supplementary Affidavit dated 08.4.2019 filed by applicant, it is pointed out that applicants 3, 4, 5, 7, 9, 10, 12, 13 and 14 have already died therefore, proceedings against them have already abated. Hence, this application stands abated so far as these applicants are concerned.

3. It is now alive only in respect of applicants no.1, 2, 6, 8 and 11.

4. Applicants have invoked jurisdiction of this Court under Section 482 of Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 (hereinafter referred to as "Cr.P.C.") with the prayer to quash proceedings in Case No. 74 of 1988 (U.P. Pollution Control Board, Lucknow vs. M/s Upper Doab Sugar Mills Shamli and others), under Section 44 of Water (Prevention and Control of Pollution) Act, 1974 (hereinafter referred to as "Act, 1974") pending in the Court of Special Judicial Magistrate (Pollution), Lucknow.

5. A complaint was filed by U.P. Pollution Control Board (hereinafter referred to as "UPPCB") before Special Court (Water and Air Pollution) of Judicial Magistrate Ist Class, Lucknow registered as Case No.74 of 1988

impleading two companies namely M/s Upper Doab Sugar Mills Shamli and M/s Sir Shadi Lal Enterprises, as opposite parties 1 and 2 and Managing Directors and Directors thereof alleging that aforesaid Companies are discharging their polluted trade effluent without obtaining consent under Sections 25/26 of Act, 1974, therefore, have committed offences punishable under Sections 44 read with 47 of Act, 1974.

6. The application mainly contains allegations against Companies but in respect of Directors etc., averments have been made in paras 16, 18, 20, 21, 22 and 23 thereof. Magistrate took cognizance whereupon this application has been filed for quashing the said proceedings.

7. Before this Court, learned Senior Counsel has confined his case in respect of applicants 1, 2, 6, 8 and 11 since this application has already abated in respect of other applicants. However, during course of argument, learned Senior Counsel could not dispute that allegations contained in application, if taken to be true, proceedings initiated against applicants 1 and 2 may not be challenged at this stage since it is difficult to hold that proceedings initiated by UPPCB against applicants 1 and 2 are prima facie illegal, if allegations contained in complaint on the face are taken to be true. He, therefore, confined his submissions so far as applicant 6 Hemantpat Singhania, applicant 8 P.N.Mathur and applicant 11 Pradeep Narang are concerned.

8. He submitted that these Directors are not at all in-charge and responsible for functioning of Company and as per information communicated to UPPCB itself, Sri S.P.Dubey, Personal and Factory Manager of Sugar Mill is responsible for conduct of business of Sugar Mill. Directors are residing at different places and did not even visit Company regularly hence they cannot be responsible for day to day business.

9. By way of IInd Supplementary Affidavit dated 08.4.2019, it has been brought on record that applicant 6 Hemantpat Singhania is about 90 years of age and bedridden. Similarly, applicant 8 Onke Agarwal is aged about 88 years of age and depends on wheel-chair for movement. Applicant 11 Pradeep Narang has left the Company long back and his whereabouts are not known.

10. It is also stated that Companies were subsequently granted consent under Act 1974 as well as Air (Prevention and Control of Pollution) Act, 1981 (hereinafter referred to as "Act, 1981") and last consent given by UPPCB is on 11.01.2019, which is effective till 31.12.2019.

11. Sri Tripathi, learned counsel for respondent -UPPCB, however, submitted that affluent was being discharged without any consent of Board and all the Directors, as specifically stated in application, were responsible for business of Company, therefore, it cannot be said that action taken by Magistrate against applicants is bad in law and present application deserves to be dismissed.

12. Section 47 of Act, 1974 deals with "offences by companies" and the same reads as under :

"Offences by companies.- (1) Where an offence under this Act has been committed by a company, every person who at the time the offence was committed was in charge of, and was responsible to the company for the conduct of, the business of the company, as well as the company, shall be deemed to be guilty of the offence and shall be liable to be proceeded against and punished accordingly:

Provided that nothing contained in this sub-section shall render any such person liable to any punishment provided in this Act if he proves that the offence was committed without his knowledge or that he exercised all due diligence to prevent the commission of such offence.

(2) Notwithstanding anything contained in sub-section (1), where an offence under this Act has been committed by a company and it is proved that the offence has been committed with the consent or connivance of, or is attributable to any neglect on the part of, any director, manager, secretary or other officer of the company, such director, manager, secretary or other officer shall also be deemed to be guilty of that offence and shall be liable to be proceeded against and punished accordingly.

Explanation.--For the purposes of this section,--

(a) "company" means any body corporate, and includes a firm or other association of individuals; and

(b) "director" in relation to a firm means a partner in the firm."

13. Section 47 of Act, 1974 provides that where an offence under Act, 1974 has been committed by a Company then every person, who at the time of commission of offence was in charge of, and responsible to the Company for conduct of business as well as the company shall be deemed to be guilty of offence. Meaning thereby, the first condition is that offence must have been committed by Company and where an offence is committed by Company, category of persons, who are stated therein i.e. in charge of and was responsible to the Company for conduct of, the business of Company shall be deemed to be guilty of offence, but, it shall include Company also. Therefore, offence must have been committed by Company and without Company, no offence could have been committed. Rest of the persons of the category mentioned in sub-section (2) of Section 47 are those who are vicariously responsible.

14. Sub-section (2) of Section 47 shows that every Director of company would not be vicariously liable and it is confined only to such Director, who has given consent or connivance of, and, due to any act of negligence attributable to him offence has been committed.

15. Use of word "such" in sub-section (2) of Section 47 of Act, 1974 shows that an exception has been carved out and every Director has not been made responsible. It is clarified that under sub-section (1), every person who at the time of offence was committed, was in-charge of, and was responsible to the company for the conduct of the business of company as well as company itself shall be deemed to be guilty of offence. Therefore, deeming clause is applicable in respect of such person, who was in charge of conduct of business of company and responsible for the same purpose. Sub-section (2) starts with non-obstante clause. It is an exception to sub-section (1) and says that only such Director would be responsible with whose consent or connivance or on account of whose negligence, offence has been committed.

16. A similar provision existing in Prevention of Food Adulteration Act, 1954 (hereinafter referred to as "Act, 1954") i.e. Section 17 came up for consideration before Supreme Court in Delhi Municipality vs. Ram Kishan AIR 1983 SC 67. Court held that there should be some material to show that Director(s), who were not otherwise in-charge or responsible for conduct of business, are responsible due to their consent or connivance or negligence and it will not be suffice to mention language of Section 47 of Act, 1974 to implicate all the Directors of Company. There has to be some facts and details to show their consent, connivance and negligence. In para 15 of judgment, Court held that so far as Manager is concerned, by very nature of his duties, he would be responsible but so far as Directors are concerned, there was not even a whisper or shred of evidence apart from presumption drawn by complainant, which is not sufficient to hold a Director vicariously liable.

17. A similar issue was considered by this Court also in Megh Shyam Sharma and others vs. State of U.P. and others 1985 AWC 923 and in para 13, this Court has said as under :

"So far as applicants 3 to 5 are concerned, namely, Sri M.K. Tikmani, R.K. Paliwal and M.M. Rajgarhia are concerned, there are no averment of facts against these Directors that they were really incharge and responsible for the conduct of the business or the offence has been committed by their connivance, neglect etc. Of course, a presumptive statement is contained in certain paragraphs of the complaint, but on the authority of Delhi Municipality (supra) that would not lead to any inference regarding the ingredients of Section 47 of the Act and it can, therefore, be safely held that the complaint does not disclose a prima facie case against applicants 3 to 5 aforesaid."

(emphasis added)

18. Similar provision namely Section 141 of Negotiable Instruments Act, 1881 (hereinafter referred to as "Act, 1881") has been considered in National Small Industries Corp. Ltd. vs. Harmeet Singh Paintal and Anr., 2010 (3) SCC 330. Court has said that every person connected with company shall not fall within the ambit of the provision. Only those persons who were in-charge of and responsible for the conduct of the business of the company at the time of commission of offence will be liable for criminal action.

19. It follows from the fact that if a Director of a Company, who was not in-charge of and not responsible for conduct of business of Company at the relevant time, will not be liable for a criminal offence under the provisions. The liability arises from being in-charge of and responsible for conduct of business of Company at the relevant time when offence was committed and not on the basis of merely holding a designation or office in a company.

20. Court in National Small Industries Corporation Ltd. (supra) said that Section 141 of Act, 1881 is a penal provision creating vicarious liability, hence must be strictly construed. It is therefore, not sufficient to make a bald cursory statement in a complaint that Director (arrayed as an accused) is in charge of and responsible to Company for the conduct of the business of Company without anything more as to the role of Director. Court said that complaint should spell out as to how and in what manner such Director was in-charge of or was responsible to the accused company for conduct of its business. It further held :

"A company may have a number of Directors and to make any or all the Directors as accused in a complaint merely on the basis of a statement that they are in-charge of and responsible for the conduct of the business of the company without anything more is not a sufficient or adequate fulfillment of the requirements under Section 141. "

(emphasis added)

21. A three judge bench of Supreme Court in S.M.S. Pharmaceuticals Ltd. vs. Neeta Bhalla and Anr. (2005) 8 SCC 89 considered the following three questions, referred to it :

"(a) whether for purposes of Section 141 of the Negotiable Instruments Act, 1881, it is sufficient if the substance of the allegation read as a whole fulfill the requirements of the said section and it is not necessary to specifically state in the complaint that the persons accused was in charge of, or responsible for, the conduct of the business of the company.

(b) whether a director of a company would be deemed to be in charge of, and responsible to, the company for conduct of the business of the company and, therefore, deemed to be guilty of the offence unless he proves to the contrary.

(c) even if it is held that specific averments are necessary, whether in the absence of such averments the signatory of the cheque and or the Managing Directors of Joint Managing Director who admittedly would be in charge of the company and responsible to the company for conduct of its business could be proceeded against."

22. Considering the above questions, Court said that there is almost unanimous judicial opinion that necessary averments ought to be contained in a complaint before a person can be subjected to criminal process. Questions referred to the Court were answered as under :

"(a) It is necessary to specifically aver in a complaint under Section 141 that at the time the offence was committed, the person accused was in charge of, and responsible for the conduct of business of the company. This averment is an essential requirement of Section 141 and has to be made in a complaint. Without this averment being made in a complaint, the requirements of Section 141 cannot be said to be satisfied.

(b) The answer to question posed in sub-para (b) has to be in negative. Merely being a director of a company is not sufficient to make the person liable under Section 141 of the Act. A director in a company cannot be deemed to be in charge of and responsible to the company for conduct of its business. The requirement of Section 141 is that the person sought to be made liable should be in charge of and responsible for the conduct of the business of the company at the relevant time. This has to be averred as a fact as there is no deemed liability of a director in such cases.

(c) The answer to Question (c) has to be in affirmative. The question notes that the Managing Director or Joint Managing Director would be admittedly in charge of the company and responsible to the company for conduct of its business. When that is so, holders of such positions in a company become liable under Section 141 of the Act. By virtue of the office they hold as Managing Director or Joint Managing Director, these persons are in charge of and responsible for the conduct of business of the company. Therefore, they get covered under Section 141. So far as signatory of a cheque which is dishonoured is concerned, he is clearly responsible for the incriminating act and will be covered under Sub-section (2) of Section 141."

23. In Sabitha Ramamurthy and Anr. vs. R.B.S. Channabasavaradhya (2006) 10 SCC 581 Court said :

"It may be true that it is not necessary for the complainant to specifically reproduce the wordings of the section but what is required is a clear statement of fact so as to enable the court to arrive at a prima facie opinion that the accused are vicariously liable."

24. In N.K. Wahi vs. Shekhar Singh and Ors. (2007) 9 SCC 481, Court said :

"7. In order to bring application of Section 138 the complaint must show:

1. That Cheque was issued;

2. The same was presented;

3. It was dishonored on presentation;

4. A notice in terms of the provisions was served on the person sought to be made liable;

5. Despite service of notice, neither any payment was made nor other obligations, if any, were complied with within fifteen days from the date of receipt of the notice.

Section 141 of the Act in terms postulates constructive liability of the Directors of the company or other persons responsible for its conduct or the business of the company.

8. The only averment made so far as the respondents are concerned, reads as under:

Preliminary evidence had been recorded and at that time also no specific evidence on assertion was forthcoming. Shri Wahi who appeared at that time only stated that accused 2 to 12 are directors and responsible officers of the company. They are liable for the acts of the company. In other words, there was no averment or evidence that the present petitioners were incharge of or responsible to the company for the conduct of the business of the company as well as the company.

The accused Nos. 2 to 12 are the Directors/persons responsible for carrying out the business of the company and the liability of the accused persons in the present complaint is joint and several."

25. The above view has been reiterated and approved by a three judges bench in Ramrajsingh vs. State of M.P. and Anr. (2009) 6 SCC 729.

26. In A.R.Radha Krishna vs. Dasari Deepthi and others AIR 2019 SC 2518 Court said that law requires that complaint must contain specific averment that Director was in-charge of, and responsible for conduct of Company's business at the time when offence was committed. Court further said :

"The High Court, in deciding a quashing petition Under Section 482, Code of Criminal Procedure, must consider whether the averment made in the complaint is sufficient or if some unimpeachable evidence has been brought on record which leads to the conclusion that the Director could never have been in charge of and responsible for the conduct of the business of the company at the relevant time. While the role of a Director in a company is ultimately a question of fact, and no fixed formula can be fixed for the same, the High Court must exercise its power Under Section 482, Code of Criminal Procedure when it is convinced, from the material on record, that allowing the proceedings to continue would be an abuse of process of the Court."

(emphasis added)

27. In the light of exposition of law discussed above and the facts of this case, I find that the complainant has simply reiterated language of Section 47(1) but has not shown as to how Directors residing elsewhere are in-charge of company or responsible for conduct of business on day to day basis and nothing has been said that anything has been done with their consent or there is any connivance on their part or negligence. In a mechanical manner, complainant has implicated all the Directors of Company and if proceedings against applicants 6, 8 and 11 are allowed to continue, in my view, it would be abuse of process of Court.

28. Looking to entirety of facts and circumstances and also the fact that this matter is pending for last 27 years before this Court, and applicants 6, 8 and 11 are only Directors and there is nothing to show that they were responsible for day to day functioning or otherwise act of Company concerned, I find it in the interest of justice to quash proceedings against them but do not find any reason to interfere so far as proceedings initiated against applicants 1 and 2 are concerned.

29. Application is accordingly partly allowed. Further proceedings of Case No. 74 of 1988 (U.P. Pollution Control Board, Lucknow vs. M/s Upper Doab Sugar Mills Shamli and others), under Section 44 of Act, 1974, pending in the Court of Special Judicial Magistrate (Pollution), Lucknow, so far as it relates to applicants 6, 8 and 11 is hereby quashed, but, the same would continue against applicants 1 and 2.

Crl. Misc. Application (U/S 482 Cr. P.C.) No. 3160 of 2018

Sunpat & Ors. ...Applicants
Versus
State of U.P. & Anr. ...Opposite Parties

Sri Praveen Kumar Singh, Sri Anurag Bajpai

Counsel for the Opposite Parties:

A. Criminal Law - Indian Penal Code, 1860 - Section 406/420 - Code of Criminal Procedure - Section 482 - Registered agreement to sell- Earnest money paid in anticipation of sale deed- Sale deed not executed by the O.P.NO.2 –Another agreement executed for extending the time for execution of sale deed in favour of the first informant- Difference between "cheating" and "breach of contract"- Intention to cheat from the very inception missing-Case is squarely covered by illustration (i) in the case of Bhajan Lal-Non-execution of a sale deed or non-refund of earnest would not amount to criminal breach of trust- Appropriate remedy available to the first informant/opposite party no.2 is to approach civil court by way of filing a suit for specific performance of contract on the basis of agreement to sell as the dispute between the parties is purely civil in nature.

a. To constitute cheating, fraud / deception has to be practiced by an accused at the time of entering into a transaction to induce the person so deceived to deliver any property to any person. Once a transaction takes place between the parties, subsequent dispute may amount to breach of contract, but no offence under Section 420 IPC is made out.

b. The property in respect of which, criminal breach of trust committed must be either the property of some person other than the accused or the beneficial interest in or ownership of which must be of some other person and the accused must hold such property on trust for such other person or for his benefit which is missing in the present case.

List of cases cited: -

1. State of Haryana and others Vs. Bhajan Lal and others, 1992 Supp (1) Supreme Court Cases 335

(Delivered by Hon'ble Rajiv Joshi, J.)

1. Heard Sri Anurag Bajpai holding brief of Sri Praveen Kumar Singh, learned counsel for the applicants and Sri Moeez Uddin, learned counsel for the opposite party no.2.

2. Present application under Section 482 Cr.P.C. has been filed for quashing the charge sheet dated 12.12.2017 as well as the entire proceedings of Case No. 339 of 2018 (State Vs. Sunpat and others) arising out of Case Crime No. 610 of 2017, under Sections 406, 420 IPC, P.S. Dankaur, District Gautam Budh Nagar, pending in the court of Additional Chief Judicial Magistrate, Court No. 2, Gautam Budh Nagar.

3. As per the prosecution case in the F.I.R., an agreement to sell was executed on 21.3.2015 by the father of the applicants in favour of first informant/opposite party no.2 in respect of property bearing Khata no. 128, Gata no. 142 Kha, measuring 0.0890 hectare situated as Village Mutaina, Pargana Dankaur, Tehsil Sadar, District Gautam Budh Nagar for a sale consideration of Rs. 7,00,000/-, out of which, a sum of Rs. 4,00,000/- was paid as earnest money and rest of the amount was agreed to be paid at the time of execution of sale deed. In the agreement, it is mentioned that the sale deed could be executed on or before 20.4.2015. After the execution of the said agreement to sell, father of the applicants, Jasram, died on 23.3.2015. Subsequently, second agreement to sell was executed between the applicants and the first informant, whereby the time for executing the sale deed was extended by 20.5.2015.

4. It is further stated in the first information report that the first informant remained present for the whole day on 20.5.2015 in the office of Sub Registrat pursuant to the subsequent agreement, but the applicants did not turn up and therefore, they have cheated the applicants and committed criminal breach of trust by not executing the sale deed in his favour.

5. The police after investigation, submitted the charge sheet no. 496/2017 on 12.12.2017 under Sections 406 and 420 IPC on which cognizance was taken by the Additional Chief Judicial Magistrate, Court No. 2, Gautam Budh Nagar on 15.11.2018 and all the applicants were summoned for trial for an offence under Sections 406 and 420 IPC, which is impugned herein.

6. Learned counsel for the applicants submits that dispute between the parties is purely civil in nature arising out of registered agreement to sell executed by the father of the applicants and admittedly, the first informant/opposite party no.2 had paid Rs. 4,00,000/- and the balance amount was agreed to be paid at the time of execution of the sale deed and therefore, remedy lies with the first informant/opposite party no. 2 to file a suit for specific performance of contract before the civil court and therefore, no offence under Section 406/420 IPC for cheating and criminal breach of trust has been made out and the applicants have falsely been implicated deliberately in the present case with ulterior motive, and the prosecution being an abuse of process of the Court, is liable to be quashed.

7. On the other hand, learned counsel for the opposite party no.2 submits that in spite of the fact that first informant/opposite party no.2 had appeared before the Sub Registrar pursuant to the agreement between the parties and remained present for the whole day, but the applicants did not turn up for executing the sale deed and therefore, they have cheated the first informant/opposite party no.2 and thus, have committed criminal breach of trust.

8. Learned AGA have also opposed the submissions so raised by learned counsel for the applicants.

9. I have considered the rival submissions and perused the record.

10. The Apex Court in the case of State of Haryana and others Vs. Bhajan Lal and others, 1992 Supp (1) Supreme Court Cases 335, after considering the previous decisions of the Apex Court and the provisions of the Code, categories, power to be exercised while quashing the criminal prosecution under Section 482 Cr.P.C. Paragraph 102 of the said judgment mentioning the categories under which such extraordinary power can be exercised, is quoted hereunder:

"102.In the backdrop of the interpretation of the various relevant provisions of the Code under Chapter XIV and of the principles of law enunciated by this Court in a series of decisions relating to the exercise of the extraordinary power under Article 226 or the inherent powers under Section 482 of the Code which we have extracted and reproduced above, we give the following categories of cases by way of illustration wherein such power could be exercised either to prevent abuse of the process of any court or otherwise to secure the ends of justice, though it may not be possible to lay down any precise, clearly defined and sufficiently channelised and inflexible guidelines or rigid formulae and to give an exhaustive list of myriad kinds of cases wherein such power should be exercised.

(1) Where the allegations made in the first information report or the complaint, even if they are taken at their face value and accepted in their entirety do not prima facie constitute any offence or make out a case against the accused.

(2) Where the allegations in the first information report and other materials, if any, accompanying the FIR do not disclose a cognizable offence, justifying an investigation by police officers under Section 156(1) of the Code except under an order of a Magistrate within the purview of Section 155(2) of the Code.

(3) Where the uncontroverted allegations made in the FIR or complaint and the evidence collected in support of the same do not disclose the commission of any offence and make out a case against the accused.

(4) Where, the allegations in the FIR do not constitute a cognizable offence but constitute only a non-cognizable offence, no investigation is permitted by a police officer without an order of a Magistrate as contemplated under Section 155(2) of the Code.

(5) Where the allegations made in the FIR or complaint are so absurd and inherently improbable on the basis of which no prudent person can ever reach a just conclusion that there is sufficient ground for proceeding against the accused.

(6) Where there is an express legal bar engrafted in any of the provisions of the Code or the concerned Act (under which a criminal proceeding is instituted) to the institution and continuance of the proceedings and/or where there is a specific provision in the Code or the concerned Act, providing efficacious redress for the grievance of the aggrieved party.

(7) Where a criminal proceeding is manifestly attended with mala fide and/or where the proceeding is maliciously instituted with an ulterior motive for wreaking vengeance on the accused and with a view to spite him due to private and personal grudge."

11. Admittedly, there is no dispute with regard to the execution of registered agreement to sell between the parties and the sale deed has not been executed till date by the applicants in favour of the first informant, hence, the appropriate remedy in the facts and circumstances of the case, is available to the first informant/opposite party no.2 to approach civil court by way of filing a suit for specific performance of contract on the basis of agreement to sell as the dispute between the parties is purely civil in nature.

12. The offence under which the applicants have been summoned for trial are Section 406/420 IPC i.e. cheating and criminal breach of trust. The cheating has been defined under Section 415 of IPC, in the following terms:

"415. Cheating.--Whoever, by deceiving any person, fraudulently or dishonestly induces the person so deceived to deliver any property to any person, or to consent that any person shall retain any property, or intentionally induces the person so deceived to do or omit to do anything which he would not do or omit if he were not so deceived, and which act or omission causes or is likely to cause damage or harm to that person in body, mind, reputation or property, is said to "cheat"."

13. From the definition of cheating, as per Section 415 IPC, following are the essential ingredients:

"1. Deception of any person;

(2)(a)fraudulently or dishonestly inducing that person;

(I) to deliver any property to any person;

(ii) to consent that any person shall retain any property; or

(iii) or intentionally induce the person so deceived to do or omit to do anything which he would not do or omit if he were not so deceived, and which act or omission causes or is likely to cause damage or harm but that person, body, mind, reputation of property, is said to cheat."

14. To constitute cheating, fraud / deception has to be practiced by an accused at the time of entering into a transaction to induce the person so deceived to deliver any property to any person. Once a transaction takes place between the parties, subsequent dispute may amount to breach of contract, but no offence under Section 420 IPC is made out. This is a classical difference between "cheating" and "breach of contract".

15. The allegations made in the first information report are that initially agreement to sell was executed by the father of the applicants and subsequently, another agreement was executed extending the time for executing the sale deed, but no sale deed has been executed by the applicants in favour of first informant/opposite party no.2 within the extended time and therefore, they have committed cheating. It appears that the essential ingredients of cheating are lacking in the present case and once the said ingredients of cheating are lacking, dispute, if any, remains in the realm of breach of contract, actionable in civil law.

16. Section 405 defines criminal breach of trust as under:

"405. Criminal breach of trust.-- Whoever, being in any manner entrusted with property, or with any dominion over property, dishonestly misappropriates or converts to his own use that property, or dishonestly uses or disposes of that property in violation of any direction of law prescribing the mode in which such trust is to be discharged, or of any legal contract, express or implied, which he has made touching the discharge of such trust, or wilfully suffers any other person so to do, commits "criminal breach of trust".

17. The essential ingredients of Section 405 are as under:

"1. Entrusting any person with property or with any dominion over property;

2. That person entrusted

(a) dishonestly misappropriating or converting to his own use that property; or

(b) dishonestly using or disposing of that property or wilfully suffering any other person so to do in violation-

(i) of any direction of law prescribing the mode in which such trust is to be discharged, or

(ii) of any legal contract made touching the discharge of such trust of that person entrusted."

18. Admittedly, the applicants are the owner of the property in dispute and their father executed the registered agreement to sell in favour of the first informant and subsequently, another agreement was executed by the applicants extending the time for execution of the sale deed. The informant/opposite party no.2 is neither entrusted nor conveyed any dominion of the property in question by the applicants so far, despite execution of the registered agreement to sell, therefore, the applicants continue to be the owner of the property in question with a compromise under the agreement to execute a sale deed in favour of the informant/opposite party no.2 by 20.5.2015. The earnest money was paid in anticipation of a sale deed. The property in respect of which, criminal breach of trust committed must be either the property of some person other than the accused or the beneficial interest in or ownership of which must be of some other person and the accused must hold such property on trust for such other person or for his benefit which is missing in the present case. Thus, non-execution of a sale deed or non-refund of earnest would not amount to criminal breach of trust.

19. On the allegations made in the F.I.R/charge-sheet, no offence whatsoever under Sections 420/406 is made out and the case is squarely covered by illustration (i) in the case of Bhajan Lal (supra) and the relevant ingredients for constituting the offence under Section 406/420 IPC are absent, as for that purpose, there must be an intention to cheat, which is missing in the present case.

20. The application stands allowed. The proceedings of Case No. 339 of 2018 (State Vs. Sunpat and others) arising out of Case Crime No. 610 of 2017, under Sections 406, 420 IPC, P.S. Dankaur, District Gautam Budh Nagar pending in the court of Additional Chief Judicial Magistrate, Court No. 2, Gautam Budh Nagar are quashed.

A. Criminal Law - Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 - Summoning order - Sections 200, 202 (2) & Section 482 - Witnesses of complaint- If Complainant wanted to examine only two witnesses in support of complaint or that the Magistrate was satisfied, it cannot be said that unless all persons named in complaint are examined as witnesses, no order of summoning could have been passed by Magistrate - Magistrate has to satisfy himself on the evidence adduced led by prosecution, whether prima facie case had been made out so as to put the proposed accused on a regular trial. The words "all his witnesses" contained in Sub sec (2), proviso to Section 202 Cr.P.C. cannot be read as "all witnesses"-Even though in the complaint several persons were named but only two persons were examined under Section 202 Cr. P. C. and thereafter process was issued-The procedure adopted by Court below cannot be said to be vitiated in law.

1. Heard Sri Tripathi B. G. Bhai, learned counsel for applicants and learned A.G.A. for State-respondent.

2. This application under Section 482 of Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 (hereinafter referred to as "Cr.P.C.") has been filed by six persons namely Shiv Poojan, Prem, Dayaram, Devanand, Smt. Audhraji and Smt. Usha Devi, all residents of Village-Katya, Police Station-Ghanghata, District-Sant Kabir Nagar, being aggrieved by summoning order dated 24.11.2000 passed by Chief Judicial Magistrate, Basti (hereinafter referred to as 'C.J.M.') in Criminal Case No.42/12/2000 (arising out of Case Crime No.323-A/1999), under Sections147, 323, 324, 504, 506 of India Penal Code (hereinafter referred to as 'I.P.C.') read with Section 3 (1) (x) of Scheduled Castes and the Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Act, 1989 (hereinafter referred to as "S.C./S.T. Act, 1989"). Applicants have prayed for quashing entire proceedings in aforesaid criminal case.

3. When police did not register report of respondent 3, Komal Harizan (hereinafter referred to as 'complainant'), he filed an application under Section 156 (3) Cr.P.C. alleging that applicants belong to higher caste and on 04.11.1999, applicants' buffalo entered the field of Complainant and damaged crop standing thereon. Complainant when sought to complain applicants and went to their house, they all misbehaved, abused and also beat him. They also used casteist remark and, therefore, committed offences under Section 147, 323, 324, 504, 506, 427 I.P.C. read with Section 3 (1) (x) of S.C./S.T. Act, 1989.

4. In support of complaint, medical examination reports of complainant and statement of one Mahadev were also placed before Magistrate. When comments were required to be submitted by police, it submitted report on 30.11.1999 stating that complaint is false and complainant is misusing provisions of law, since, he belongs to Scheduled Caste.

5. Magistrate, however, directed police to register case, which was registered as Case Crime No.324-A/1999 under Section 147, 323, 324, 504, 506,427 IPC read with Section 3 (1) (x) of S.C./S.T. Act, 1989 on 30.12.1999. Thereafter, investigation was made and Investigating Officer (hereinafter referred to as "I.O.") submitted final report on 01.01.2000. A protest petition dated 05.07.2000 was filed by complainant which was also supported by an affidavit. Magistrate examined the complainant under Section 200 Cr.P.C. on 19.08.2000 and on the same day, statement of witnesses Subhash and Ramjeet were also recorded under Section 202 Cr.P.C. All the three witnesses supported complaint case. On 25.08.2000 and 25.09.2000, C.J.M. passed order that the case is triable by Sessions Court, hence, complete evidence should be given. The orders read as under :

"25.8.2000 मुकदमा सत्र न्यायालय द्वारा परीक्षणीय है। अतः पूरा साक्ष्य दिया जाये। दि. 25.9.2000 में पूरे साक्ष्य पेश हो ।

25.9.2000 आज पेश हुआ । मुकदमा सत्र न्यायालय द्वारा परीक्षणीय है। अतः पूरा साक्ष्य दिया जाये। दि. 25.10.2000 में पूरे साक्ष्य पेश हो।

"25.8.2000 Case is triable by Sessions Court. Hence, complete evidence shall be given. All evidence shall be produced on 25.9.2000.

25.9.2000 Case is taken up. Case is triable by Sessions Court. Hence, complete evidence shall be given.

All evidence shall be produced on 25.10.2000."

(English Translation by Court)

6. On 25.10.2000, none appeared. Thereafter on 24.11.2000 on the basis of earlier statements recorded by Magistrate on protest petition, applicants were summoned by Magistrate under Section 147, 323, 504, 506, 427 I.P.C. read with Section 3 (1) (x) of S.C./S.T. Act, 1989. Recall application dated 07.02.2001 was filed by applicants. Said recall application was rejected on 13.05.2004 and thereafter, this application has been filed.

7. After submission of final report by police before Magistrate, protest petition was filed by Complainant and thereafter Magistrate proceeded with the matter as a complaint case. After recording statements of complainant and witnesses under Sections 200 and 202 Cr.P.C. and examining record as well as medical report which was available before Magistrate, it has passed summoning order and, therefore, Magistrate has held that there was no reason to recall order dated 24.11.2000.

8. Learned counsel for applicants pointed out that though summoning order was passed on 24.11.2000, but at the end of order 04.01.2001 is mentioned, which shows that the order has been ante dated. However, I find no force in this submission. It appears that there is some error in mentioning of date under signature of Magistrate for the reason that on 25.10.2000 Magistrate fixed next date as 24.11.2000. Thereafter order was passed on 24.11.2000 for summoning applicants and 03.01.2001 was fixed as next date. Had this order been passed on 04.01.2001, there was no occasion for fixing 03.01.2001 as next date and therefore, there is only clerical and typographical error in respect of mention of date and this is what has been said by Magistrate also in the order dated 13.05.2004 while rejecting recall application of applicants.

9. The next contention is that all witnesses must have been summoned. Here, I find that if Complainant wanted to examine only two witnesses in support of complaint or that the Magistrate was satisfied, it cannot be said that unless all persons named in complaint are examined as witnesses, no order of summoning could have been passed by Magistrate.

10. From perusal of complaint and statements of complainant and witnesses recorded under Section 200 and 202 Cr. P. C., it cannot be said that no prima facie case relating to offences in which applicants have been summoned, is made out.

11. Before considering arguments advanced by learned counsel for applicants it would be appropriate to examine scheme of Cr. P. C. when a Magistrate proceeds on complaint, particularly when it is a case exclusively triable by Court of Sessions.

12. Chapter XIV, Cr.P.C. deals with subject of power of taking cognizance of offence and conditions for the same. Section 190 Cr.P.C. specifies power of Magistrate to take cognizance of offence. Three sources are indicated therein which are of distinct nature. What is material in taking cognizance is the phrase "Upon receiving a complaint on facts which constitutes such offence". The purpose of taking cognizance of offence implicits an exercise to decide whether process should be issued to the accused or not. Section 204 Cr.P.C. envisages issue of process and it means only issuing either summons or warrant for the purpose of bringing the accused before Magistrate. It says that summons or warrants need be issued only if Magistrate is of the opinion that their exists sufficient ground for proceeding. Sub Section 3 of Section 204 Cr.P.C. only contemplates that proceeding if instituted of complaint made in writing, summons or warrants issued shall be accompanied by a copy of such complaint. Before issue of process which is part of Chapter XVI, there are four provisions in Chapter XV, i.e. Sections 200, 201, 202 and 203 Cr.P.C. Section 200 Cr.P.C. deals with examination of Complainant, Section 201 Cr.P.C. provides procedure by Magistrate not competent to take cognizance of the case and Section 202 Cr.P.C. provides postponement of issue of process. Lastly, Section 203 Cr.P.C. confers power upon Magistrate that if offence is not sufficient to make out for proceeding, he shall dismiss the complaint after recording his reasons briefly. I may reproduce Sections 200 to 203 Cr.P.C. as under :

"200. Examination of complainant.-A Magistrate taking cognizance of an offence on complaint shall examine upon oath the complainant and the witnesses present, if any, and the substance of such examination shall be reduced to writing and shall be signed by the complainant and the witnesses, and also by the Magistrate:

Provided that, when the complaint is made in writing, the Magistrate need not examine the complainant and the witnesses-

(a) if a public servant acting or purporting to act in the discharge of his official duties or a Court has made the complaint; or

(b) if the Magistrate makes over the case for inquiry or trial to another Magistrate under section 192:

Provided further that if the Magistrate makes over the case to another Magistrate under section 192 after examining the complainant and the witnesses, the latter Magistrate need not re- examine them."

"201. Procedure by Magistrate not competent to take cognizance of the case. If the complaint is made to a Magistrate who is not competent to take cognizance of the offence, he shall,-

(a) if the complaint is in writing, return it for presentation to the proper Court with an endorsement to that effect;

(b) if the complaint is not in writing, direct the complainant to the proper Court."

"202. Postponement of issue of process.-(1) Any Magistrate, on receipt of a complaint of an offence of which he is authorised to take cognizance or which has been made over to him under section 192, may, if he thinks fit, postpone the issue of process against the accused, and either inquire into the case himself or direct an investigation to be made by a police officer or by such other person as he thinks fit, for the purpose of deciding whether or not there is sufficient ground for proceeding:

Provided that no such direction for investigation shall be made,--

(a) where it appears to the Magistrate that the offence complained of is triable exclusively by the Court of Session; or

(b) where the complaint has not been made by a Court, unless the complainant and the witnesses present (if any) have been examined on oath under section 200.

(2) In an inquiry under sub-section (1), the Magistrate may, if he thinks fit, take evidence of witnesses on oath:

Provided that if it appears to the Magistrate that the offence complained of is triable exclusively by the Court of Session, he shall call upon the complainant to produce all his witnesses and examine them on oath.

(3) If an investigation under sub- section (1) is made by a person not being a police officer, he shall have for that investigation all the powers conferred by this Code on an officer- in-charge of a police station except the power to arrest without warrant."

"203. Dismissal of complaint.-If, after considering the statements on oath (if any) of the complainant and of the witnesses and the result of the inquiry or investigation (if any) under section 202, the Magistrate is of opinion that there is no sufficient ground for proceeding, he shall dismiss the complaint, and in every such case he shall briefly record his reasons for so doing."

13. A cumulative and in depth reading of aforesaid provisions would show that Section 200 requires Magistrate for taking cognizance of an offence on a complaint, to examine upon oath the complainant and the witnesses present, if any. When a complaint is made in writing, proviso to Section 200 provides that it would not be necessary for Magistrate to examine complainant and witnesses if complainant is a public servant, acting or purporting to act in the discharge of his official duties or a Court has made the complaint; or if Magistrate makes over a case for enquiry or trail to another Magistrate under Section 192. Second proviso takes care when a Magistrate makes over the case to another Magistrate under Section 192 after examining complainant and witnesses and provides that latter Magistrate need not re-examine them. Section 201 is not necessary to be discussed for the issue in question and I straight way come to Section 202.

14. Before discussing Section 202 of Cr.P.C., it would also be necessary to mention that a Magistrate when satisfied that there is sufficient ground for proceeding, he can straight way issue notice and at this stage he has three options : (i) Straight way issue process; (ii) he can postpone the issue of process for having holding an enquiry; and (iii) he can direct an investigation to be made. If the offence is triable by Court of Sessions, it is impermissible for the Magistrate to direct investigation. In such a case, Magistrate not only has discretion but compelling duty to comply with requirements of Section 202 (2) Cr.P.C. and record statements of all witnesses. In other words, if Magistrate decides to hold inquiry, proviso of Section (2) of Section 202, would come into picture and where the offence is triable exclusively by Court of Sessions, Magistrate himself has to hold inquiry and no direction for investigation by police shall then be made. Inquiry can be held by recording evidence on oath and if Magistrate thinks fit, Section 202 (2) gives discretion to Magistrate to take evidence of witness on oath. Thereafter, the next stage where Magistrate would pass order of dismissal of complaint or issue process, in effect is, when a complaint is received, Magistrate by following procedure prescribed under Section 200 may issue process against accused or dismiss the complaint. Section 203 specifically provides that after considering statement on oath, if any, of complainant and witnesses and the result of enquiry of investigation, if any, under Section 202 Cr. P.C., if Magistrate is of the opinion that there is no sufficient ground for proceeding, he shall dismiss the complaint. Section 204 provides that no summons or warrants are to be issued against accused until a list of prosecution witnesses has been filed. The object and purpose of holding enquiry or investigation under Section 202 Cr.P.C. is to find out whether there exists sufficient ground for proceeding against accused or not. Holding of enquiry or investigation is not an indispensable force before issue of process against accused or dismissal of the complaint. It is a enabling provision to form an opinion whether or not process should be issued and to remove from his mind any hesitation that he may have felt upon the mere perusal of complaint and the consideration of complaint's evidence on oath.

15. In Ranjit Singh Vs. State of Pepsu (now Punjab), AIR 1959 SC 843, similar argument was raised that Magistrate did not hold inquiry as required under Section 200 and 202 Cr.P.C. Court negated the contention and said as under :

"that contention is equally untenable because under Section 200, proviso (aa) it is not necessary for a Magistrate when a complaint is made by a Court to examine the complainant and neither Section 200 nor Section 202 requires a preliminary enquiry before the Magistrate can assume jurisdiction to issue process against the person complained."

16. In Rosy and others vs. State of Kerala and others, 2000 (2) SCC 230, Hon'ble M. B. Shah, J (another opinion by Hon'ble K. T. Thomas, J) recorded a separate but concurrent judgment and said as under :

"It is settled law that the inquiry under Section 202 is of limited nature. Firstly, to find out whether there is a prima facie case in issuing process against the person accused of the offence in the complaint and secondly, to prevent the issue of process in the complaint which is either false or vexatious or intended only to harass such a person. At that stage, the evidence is not to be meticulously appreciated, as the limited purpose being of finding out "whether or not there is sufficient ground for proceeding against the accused". The standard to be adopted by the Magistrate in scrutinising the evidence is also not the same as the one which is to be kept in view at the stage of framing charges. At the stage of inquiry under Section 202 Cr.P.C. the accused has no right to intervene and that it is the duty of the Magistrate while making an enquiry to elicit all facts not merely with a view to protect the interests of an absent accused person, but also with a view to bring to book a person or persons against whom grave allegations are made." (emphasis added)

17. In para 20 of Rosy and others vs. State of Kerala (supra), Hon'ble M. B. Shah, J. deduced certain principles as under :

I. (a) Under Section 200 Magistrate has the jurisdiction to take cognizance of an offence on the complaint after examining upon oath the complainant and the witnesses present.

(b) When the complaint is made in writing by a public servant acting or purporting to act in discharge of his official duties, the Magistrate need not examine the complainant and the witnesses.

(c) In such case Court may issue process or dismiss the complaint.

II. (a) The Magistrate instead of following the procedure stated above may, if he thinks fit, postpone the issue of process and hold inquiry for the purpose of deciding whether or not there is sufficient ground for proceeding against the person accused. Such inquiry can be held by him or by the police officer or by other person authorised by him.

(b) However, where it appears to the Magistrate that the offence complained of is triable exclusively by the Court of Session, the direction of investigation by the police officer is not permissible and he is required to hold inquiry by himself. During that inquiry he may decide to examine the witnesses on oath. At that stage, the proviso further gives mandatory directions that he shall call upon the complainant to produce all his witnesses and examine them on oath. The reason obviously is that in a private complaint, which is required to be committed to the Sessions Court for trial, it would safeguard the interest of the accused and he would not be taken by surprise at the time of trial and it would reveal the version of the witnesses whose list is required to be filed by the complainant under Section 204 (2) before issuance of the process,

(c) The irregularity or non-compliance therewith would not vitiate further proceeding in all cases. A person complaining of such irregularity should raise objection at the earliest stage and he should point out how prejudice is caused or is likely to be caused by not following the proviso. If he fails to raise such objection at the earliest stage, he is precluded from raising such objection later."

18. Thus, evidently statement recorded under Section 202 Cr.P.C. is not for punishing the accused. The purpose of Section 202 Cr.P.C. is that Magistrate has not to ascertain truth or falsehood of complaint as in old Code, but to decide whether or not there is any sufficient ground for proceeding. Issue of process should not be mechanical and it should be based on some material.

19. The words "all his witnesses" contained in Sub sec (2), proviso to Section 202 Cr.P. C. cannot be read as "all witnesses". It has been held in Satyadeo Pandey and others v. State of U. P. and another, 1987 (1) AWC 572 that words "all his witnesses" connote that all the witnesses of the complainant, associated or connected with his interest and those witnesses who are material and relevant to prove prosecution case, must be examined. The words "all his witnesses" under proviso to Section 202 Cr.P.C. do not refer literally to all prosecution witnesses in number rather all his witnesses (i.e. of complainant) and to whom he considers material to prove his case.

20. In Chhotey Lal v. State of U. P., 2006 CRI.L.J. 2265, Court held that all the witnesses in Sub Sec (2) Proviso to Section 202 Cr. P. C. do not mean "all the witnesses" named by complainant but all the witnesses which complainant chooses to examine.

21. In Kallu Pal and others v. State of U. P. and Anr., 2008 CRI.L.J. 3229 (Allahabad), this Court said that formal witnesses like Doctor, Investigating Officer etc. are not under the command of the complainant and they are not the witnesses of complainant's confidence, therefore, they cannot be termed as "his witnesses" and are not covered by proviso to Section 202 (2) Cr.P.C.

22. In Dudh Nath Mishra and others v. State of U. P. and another, 2003 CRI.L.J.1087 (Allahabad), Court said that it is not necessary to examine all the witnesses who are named in complaint petition.

23. In Gopal Singh v. Dhanraji Devi and another, 1994 CRI.L.J. 1652 (Allahabad), this Court said that it is discretion of complainant to examine some witnesses and give up rest of the witnesses. Even when all the witnesses are not examined in a case when it is exclusively triable by Court of Sessions it has been held that process issued by Magistrate to accused is not per se illegal. This is what has also been held in Abdul Hamidkhan Pathan and others v. State of Gujrat and others, 1989 CRI.L.J. 468 (DB).

24. The issue raised in this application also came up for consideration in Shivjee Singh vs. Nagendra Tiwary and others, 2010 (7) SCC 578. The question up for consideration formulated by Court in the judgment reads as under :

"Whether examination of all witnesses cited in the complaint is sine qua non for taking cognizance by a Magistrate in a case exclusively triable by the Court of Sessions?"

25. In the above case noticing that there is a serious illegality, a Single Judge of Patna High Court remitted the matter to Chief Judicial Magistrate with a direction to make further enquiry and pass appropriate order in the light of proviso to Section 202 (2) Cr. P. C. Supreme Court said that Cr.P.C. is a compendium of law relating to criminal procedure. The provisions contained therein are required to be interpreted keeping in view the well recognized rule of construction that procedural prescriptions are meant for doing substantial justice. If violation of the procedural provision does not result in denial of fair hearing or causes prejudice to the parties, the same has to be treated as directory notwithstanding the use of word `shall'. After referring to Sections 190, 192, 200 to 209 Cr.P.C. Court said that the object of examining complainant and witnesses is to ascertain the truth or falsehood of complaint and determine whether there is a prima facie case against the person who, according to the complainant, has committed an offence. If upon examination of complainant and/or witnesses, Magistrate is prima facie satisfied that a case is made out against the person accused of committing an offence, then he is required to issue process.

26. In Chandra Deo Singh vs Prokash Chandra Bose alias Chabi Bose & Anr, AIR 1963 SC 1430, Court held, that where there is prima facie evidence, Magistrate was bound to issue process, even though the person charged of an offence in the compliant might have a defence, such defence has to be taken into consideration and left to be decided by appropriate forum at an appropriate stage. At the stage of issue of process, Magistrate can refuse to issue process only when he finds that evidence led by complainant is self contradictory or intrinsically untrustworthy.

27. In Kewal Krishan Vs. Suraj Bhan and another, AIR 1980 SC 1780, scheme of Sections 200 to 204 Cr.P.C. was examined and Court said :

"At the stage of Section 203 and 204, Criminal Procedure Code in a case exclusively triable by the Court of Session, all that the Magistrate has to do is to see whether on a cursory perusal of the complaint and the evidence recorded during the preliminary inquiry under Sections 200 and 202, Criminal Procedure Code, there is prima facie evidence in support of the charge levelled against the accused. All that he has to see is whether or not there is "sufficient ground for proceeding against the accused. At this stage, the Magistrate is not to weigh the evidence meticulously as if he were the trial court. The standard to be adopted by the Magistrate in scrutinising the evidence is not the same as the one which is to be kept in view at the stage of framing charges."

(emphasis added)

28. In Mohinder Singh vs Gulwant Singh And Others, 1992 (2) SCC 213, Court said that the scope of inquiry under Section 202 Cr.P.C. is extremely restricted. It is only to find out the truth or otherwise of the allegations made in the complaint in order to determine whether process should be issued or not under Section 204 Cr.P.C. or whether the complaint should be dismissed by resorting to Section 203 Cr.P.C. on the footing that there is no sufficient ground for proceeding on the basis of the statements of complainant and his witnesses, if any. But the enquiry at this stage does not partake the character of a full dress trial which can only take place after process is issued under Section 204 Cr.P.C. calling upon the proposed accused to answer the accusation made against him for adjudging the guilt or otherwise of the said accused person. Further, the question, whether evidence is adequate for supporting conviction, can be determined only at the trial and not at the stage of enquiry contemplated under Section 202 Cr.P.C. To say in other words, during the course of enquiry under Section 202 of Cr.P.C., Magistrate has to satisfy himself simply on the evidence adduced by prosecution, whether prima facie case has been made out so as to put the proposed accused on a regular trial. At that stage no detailed enquiry is called for.

29. Considering the word "shall" in proviso to Section 202 (2) Cr. P.C., Supreme Court in Shivjee Singh (supra) Court said :

"The use of the word 'shall' in the proviso to Section 202 (2) is prima facie indicative of mandatory character of the provision contained therein, but a close and critical analysis thereof along with other provisions contained in Chapter XV and Section 226 and 227 and Section 465 would show that non-examination on oath of any or some of the witnesses cited by the complainant is, by itself, not sufficient to denude the concerned Magistrate of the jurisdiction to pass an order for taking cognizance and issue of process provided he is satisfied that prima facie case is made out for doing so."

(emphasis added)

30. In Shivjee Singh (supra) Court further said that in proviso to Section 202 (2) word `all' is qualified by the word "his". This implies that complainant is not bound to examine all the witnesses named in the complaint or whose names are disclosed in response to the order passed by the Magistrate. In other words, only those witnesses are required to be examined whom the complainant considers material to make out a prima facie case for issue of process. The choice being of the complainant, he may choose not to examine other witnesses. Consequence of such non-examination is to be considered at the trial and not at the stage of issuing process when Magistrate is not required to enter into detailed discussions on the merits or demerits of the case, that is to say, whether or not the allegations contained in the complaint, if proved, would ultimately end in conviction of the accused. He is only to see whether there exists sufficient ground for proceeding against accused. In taking above view, Court has followed and relied its earlier decisions in Rosy and others vs. State of Kerala (supra), Chandra Deo Singh (supra) and Kewal Krishan (supra). Court also approved judgment of Madras High Court in M. Govindaraja Pillai v. Thangavelu Pillai 1983 CriLJ 917, and approved the ratio that Section 202 is an enabling provision. Court pointed out divergent two opinions expressed by Hon'ble Justice M. B. Shah and Hon'ble Justice K. T. Thomas in two separate but concurrent judgments in Rosy and others vs. State of Kerala (supra) and then in para 30 said as under :

"30. Although, Shah, J. and Thomas, J. appear to have expressed divergent views on the interpretation of proviso to Section 202 (2) but there is no discord between them that non- examination of all the witnesses by the complainant would not vitiate the proceedings. With a view to clarify legal position on the subject, we deem it proper to observe that even though in terms of the proviso to Section 202 (2), the Magistrate is required to direct the complainant to produce all his witnesses and examine them on oath, failure or inability of the complainant or omission on his part to examine one or some of the witnesses cited in the complaint or whose names are furnished in compliance with the direction issued by the Magistrate, will not preclude the latter from taking cognizance and issuing process or passing committal order if he is satisfied that there exists sufficient ground for doing so. Such an order passed by the Magistrate cannot be nullified only on the ground of non-compliance with the proviso to Section 202 (2). (emphasis added)

31. Similar view has been taken in Vijay Dhanuka Etc vs Najima Mamtaj Etc, 2014 (14) SCC 638 which has been followed in Abhijit Pawar Vs. Hemant Maudhukar Nimbalkar and Another, 2017 (3) SCC 528.

32. In view of above discussions, I am clearly of the view that even though in the complaint several persons were named but only two persons were examined under Section 202 Cr. P. C. and thereafter process was issued, the procedure adopted by Court below cannot be said to be vitiated in law and submission to that effect is clearly erroneous and contrary to above discussions, hence, rejected.

33. Application has no merit. Dismissed accordingly.

34. Interim order, if any, stands discharged.

A. Criminal Law - Code of Criminal Procedure - Section 482 - Cross cases - Investigation of subsequent case crime number - Final report was submitted repeatedly - Protested by complainant wherein statement of Complainant was got recorded under Section 200 and his witnesses were examined under Section 202 of Cr.P.C. whereupon, impugned summoning order was passed -The occurrence is one and common- One case is running for offence of murder as well as attempt to murder and this second offence for the same occurrence has been initiated by way of summoning, for which apparently prima facie, there was sufficient evidence on record and the impugned order was passed on the basis of it. There was no abuse of process of Court or frustration of end of justice. This Court, in exercise of inherent power under Section 482 of Cr.P.C. is not expected to embark upon the aspects of factual evidence, which is a question of trial. (Para 4, 5 & 6)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Ram Krishna Gautam, J.)

1. This application under Section 482 of Cr.P.C. has been filed by applicants Subhas, Deewan Singh, Rahul, Virendra Singh and Satya Kishore against State of U.P. and Balbeer Singh, with a prayer for quashing the summoning order dated 24.12.2018, passed in Criminal Complaint Case No. 305 of 2018 (Balbeer Singh Vs. Ram Singh and others), under Sections 147, 148, 149, 307 I.P.C., Police Station Kotwali Auraiya, District Auraiya, pending the court of Additional Chief Judicial Magistrate/F.T.C., Auraiya.

2. Learned counsel for the applicants argued that Case Crime No. 403 of 2016, was got registered under Sections 147, 148, 149, 307, 302 of I.P.C., at Police Station Kotwali Auraiya, District Auraiya, on 9.6.2016 at about 22:15 hours, upon the report of Smt. Gyanwati against Badan Singh, Murari, Sahveer @ Sanju, Yaduveer, Deenu and Rinku, with this contention that informant's son Ram Singh, aged about 25 years, along with his nephew Ashish, aged about 15 years, was at their way to home from market and at about 3:30 P.M., when they reached near Jaruhuliya ki madaiya, those named accused persons, who were hiding themselves thereat, came and they with intention to kill, did assault over Ram Singh and Ashish. This was by lathi-danda. Firearm shot too, was extended, resulting in grievous hurt to Ram Singh and Ashish, who under threat ran from spot for saving his life. Informant and others rushed on spot, took injured Ram Singh at Government Hospital, Auraiya, from where he was referred to PGI Saifai. At PGI Saifai, he was reported to be dead. His dead body was lying thereat and this report was got lodged. Subsequently, case crime number for the same occurrence was got registered upon the report of Sri Balbeer Singh on 12.6.2016 at 22:00 hours, under Sections 147, 148, 149, 307 IPC, against Ram Singh, who is dead in previously instituted case, Subhas, Deewan Singh, Rahul, Virendra Singh and Satya Kishore, with this contention that on same date 9.6.2016, while informant was on his way to Auraiya and reached near Jaruhuliya ki madaiya tiraha, at about 3:20 P.M., two motorcycle ridden miscreants Ram Singh and his brother-in-law Subhas, Diwan Singh, Rahul, Virendra Singh and Satya Kishore did intercept. These motorcycle riders, under joint mensrea, under threat of death, did assault regarding their dispute regarding field. Ram Singh caught hold informant and Diwan Singh did firearm shot over him, resulting its injury over abdomen. He was severely injured. Many persons rushed thereat wherein Sahveer @ Sanju and Yaduveer, was there, who took injured at Government Hospital Chichauli, Auraiya. Those persons who were shepherd and rushed thereat, chased assailants. This injured was referred to Kanpur where he was admitted in Chandni Nursing Home, Kanpur. This report was got submitted. In the investigation of this case crime number, a final report was submitted. This was referred back and for repeated times, final report was submitted. Even opinion of Joint Director of Prosecution was taken wherein submission of final report was said to be on the basis of evidence on record. It was a material fact that at the time of admission at Chandni Nursing Home, injury was said to be caused by Ram Singh, who had died and it was never said to be caused by Diwan Singh. Hence, this final report was protested by complainant-informant Balbeer Singh, wherein, statement of Balbeer Singh was got recorded under Section 200 and his witnesses were examined under Section 202 of Cr.P.C. Whereupon, impugned summoning order was passed but no discussion of reason for this summoning was there. Because final report was submitted, after investigation of above case crime number, and it was based on the evidence collected by I.O. wherein the mention of Chandni Nursing Home, was there that the firearm shot was given by Ram Singh, resulting injury to Balbeer Singh, for which he was admitted thereat and this Ram Singh had died. But in a mechanical way, without application of judicial mind, impugned summoning order was passed by Magistrate and it was misuse of process of Court. Hence, this proceeding under Section 482 of Cr.P.C. for quashing impugned summoning order with entire proceeding of above case, for ensuring end of justice.

3. Learned AGA, as well as learned counsel for the complainant, has vehemently opposed the argument advanced by learned counsel for the applicants with this contention that the sole basis of submission of final report was the mention at Chandni Nursing Home. But this was not by injured Balbeer, who is complainant in this case. Admittedly, Balbeer Singh was having injury over abdomen by firearm shot, for which instant medico legal report is there on record. Death of Ram Singh was owing to assault made by lathi-danda, for which explanation was given in the FIR, got lodged by the Balbeer Singh, that it was shepherd persons, present on spot, who chased those assailants Ram Singh and Ashish and who assaulted them. But for Balbeer Singh, it was categorically said by him that assault of firearm shot was extended by Badan Singh wherein Ram Singh had caught hold. This facts was reiterated by statement of Akhilesh Singh, under Section 202 of Cr.P.C. as well as other witnesses, who were present on spot and who took injured at District Hospital Auraiya, from there to Chandni Nursing Home, Kanpur. They all narrated the same sequence as was said by injured complainant and in this case he was the best witness who has narrated the same fact and on the basis of this evidence collected by Magistrate, under its own inquiry made under Section 200 and 202 of Cr.P.C., impugned summoning order was passed, which was well founded and the previous order of rejection of final report, thereby, registration of complaint case was not challenged by applicants at any stage. This too, was a confirm order and once Magistrate took cognizance as a complaint case, decided to make inquiry by itself. Then after, passed impugned summoning order and then the basis of summoning is the inquiry made by Magistrate and it never requires that previous evidence collected by I.O. For submission of final report is to be discussed by Magistrate. Moreso, there are repeated precedents of this Court as well as Apex Court that at the time of passing of summoning order application of judicial mind is to be there but need not be elaborate analytical discussion. Rather a prima facie is to be seen and this was very well there. Hence, this application be rejected.

4. Having heard learned counsels for both sides and gone through the material placed on record, it is apparent that the mention at Chandni Nursing Home, was not by injured, rather it was said to be by family members and had apprised that it was firearm shot given by Ram Singh i.e. a vague mention was there and purpose of this mention was just to inform police for taking criminal law in motion. it was not a decision making mention nor it was made by injured Balbeer. But after gaining sense and being settled at Chandni Nursing Home, this Balbeer got First Information Report lodged as case crime number wherein narration was made by him with the same contention as was said by him in his statement recorded under Section 161 of Cr.P.C. as well as under Section 200 of Cr.P.C. in inquiry made by Magistrate. Hence, injured Balbeer Singh complainant-informant is fully intact in his statement recorded during investigation by I.O. in case crime number as well as inquiry made by Magistrate wherein, the contention of this report as well as protest petition was fully intact.

5. In First Information Report got lodged by Smt. Gyanwati Devi, the presence of two witnesses on spot was said. She herself was not eye-witness account and as per her statement recorded under Section 161 of Cr.P.C., it was only two persons present on spot when they were assaulted by those accused persons. They were Ram Singh and Ashish whereas Ashish ran from spot for saving his life. Hence, statement of Ashish was relevant wherein, he has said about this occurrence with this contention that none other than accused persons and deceased Ram Singh and injured Ashish was there. It was upon the rescue call, many other shepherd has rushed on spot. Hence, the informant was not eye-witness account and was of no avail to narrate the occurrence. But what was heard by her, was narrated. But, no recital regarding injury of firearm shot over Balbeer Singh nor Balbeer was made as an accused in it, though, name of Badan Singh is there and Balbeer Sigh is Balbeer Singh @ Badan Singh. But the injured witness on record was Balbeer Singh-complainant, who in his statement has narrated the occurrence. Hence, the mention made at Chandni Nursing Home was not by Balbeer Singh. Balbeer Singh was instantly taken to hospital where he was having firearm injury over his abdomen. He was instantly taken to Chandni Nursing Home. The occurrence is one and common. One case is running for offence of murder as well as attempt to murder and this second offence for the same occurrence has been initiated by way of summoning as above, for which apparently prima facie, there was sufficient evidence on record and the impugned order was passed on the basis of it, there was no abuse of process of Court or frustration of end of justice. This Court, in exercise of inherent power under Section 482 of Cr.P.C., is not expected to embark upon the aspects of factual evidence, which is a question of trial. Apex Court in State of Andhra Pradesh v. Gaurishetty Mahesh, JT 2010 (6) SC

588: (2010) 6 SCALE 767: 2010 Cr. LJ 3844 has propounded that "While exercising jurisdiction under section 482 of the Code, the High Court would not ordinarily embark upon an enquiry whether the evidence in question is reliable or not or whether on a reasonable apprehension of it accusation would not be sustained. That is the function of the trial Judge/Court". In another subsequent Hamida v. Rashid, (2008) 1 SCC 474, hon'ble Apex Court propounded that "Ends of justice would be better served if valuable time of the Court is spent in hearing those appeals rather than entertaining petitions under Section 482 at an interlocutory stage which after filed with some oblique motive in order to circumvent the prescribed procedure, or to delay the trial which enable to win over the witness or may disinterested in giving evidence, ultimately resulting in miscarriage of Justice". In again another subsequent Monica Kumar v. State of Uttar Pradesh, (2008) 8 SCC 781, the Apex Court has propounded "Inherent jurisdiction under Section 482 has to be exercised sparingly, carefully and with caution and only when such exercise is justified by the tests specifically laid down in the section itself." While interpreting this jurisdiction of High Court Apex Court in Popular Muthiah v. State,Represented by Inspector of Police, (2006) 7 SCC 296 has propounded "High Court can exercise jurisdiction suo motu in the interest of justice. It can do so while exercising other jurisdictions such as appellate or revisional jurisdiction. No formal application for invoking inherent jurisdiction is necessary. Inherent jurisdiction can be exercised in respect of substantive as well as procedural matters. It can as well be exercised in respect of incidental or supplemental power irrespective of nature of proceedings".

Regarding prevention of abuse of process of Court, Apex Court in Dhanlakshmi v. R.Prasana Kumar, (1990) Cr LJ 320 (DB): AIR 1990 SC 494 has propounded "To prevent abuse of the process of the Court, High Court in exercise of its inherent powers under section 482 could quash the proceedings but there would be justification for interference only when the complaint did not disclose any offence or was frivolous vexatious or oppressive" as well as in State of Bihar v. Murad Ali Khan, (1989) Cr LJ 1005: AIR 1989 SC 1, Apex Court propounded "In exercising jurisdiction under Section 482 High Court would not embark upon an enquiry whether the allegations in the complaint are likely to be established by evidence or not".

6. Meaning thereby, exercise of inherent jurisdiction under Section 482 Cr.P.C. is within the limits, propounded as above. Hence, this application merits is dismissal.

7. Accordingly, dismissed.

8. Interim order, if any, stands vacated.

9. However, in view of the entirety of facts and circumstances of the case, it is directed that in case the applicants appear and surrender before the court below within 30 days and no more from today and apply for bail, their prayer for bail shall be considered and decided in view of the settled law laid by this Court in the case of Amrawati and another Vs. Hon'ble Supreme Court reported in 2009 (3) ADJ 322 (SC) Lal Kamlendra Pratap Singh Vs. State of U.P. Till then no coercive measures shall be taken against the applicants.

10. With the aforesaid directions, this application is finally disposed of.

A. Criminal Law - Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 – Discharge - Any error in the charge framed by the trial Court can be amended and altered at any stage of the trial considering prosecution evidence led during the course of the trial- It would not be proper for this Court to interfere in the present 482 Cr.P.C. application as the allegations made in the FIR and the evidence collected during the course of investigation by the C.B.I. against the applicant, the prosecution has to be given full opportunity to prove its case by adducing evidence against the applicant and co-accused persons- A prima facie case would naturally depend upon the facts of each case and it is difficult to lay down role of universal application where material placed before the Court discloses grave suspicion against the accused which has not been properly explained, the Court would be fully justified in framing charge and proceeding with the trial.

For applicant Smt. Aparna Saxena-Not disputed by CBI that she is the wife of co-accused and sleeping director - No evidence against the applicant Smt. Aparna Saxena collected during the course of investigation showing that she conspired with her husband along with other co-accused putting the State Exchequer to a loss. The case of the applicant Smt. Aparna Saxena is squarely covered by paragraph nos.11 and 12 of the judgement of Shreya Jha Vs. CBI, ILR (2007) Supp. (2) Delhi 19.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Ramesh Sinha, J.)

1. Both the applications under Section 482 Cr.P.C. have been filed for quashing the impugned order dated 19.12.2018 and the order dated 23.1.2019 passed by the Court of Special Judge, CBI, Ghaziabad District Court in Special Case No.17 of 2016, arising out of Case Crime No. RCDST/2013/ A/0001/STF/New Delhi under Sections 120B, 420 & 471 I.P.C. and Section 13(2) read with 13(1) (d) of Prevention of Corruption Act, 1988, Police Station CBI/STF, New Delhi, District Ghaziabad.

2. Since both the 482 Cr.P.C. applications are arise of the common order, hence, with the consent of learned counsel for the parties, both the 482 Cr.P.C. applications are being decided by a common order.

3. Brief facts of the case are that a First Information Report was lodged in pursuance of the order passed by this Court on 15.11.2011 in Writ Petition No.3611 (MB) of 2011 "Sachchidanand (Sachchey) Vs. State of U.P. And others" on 14.1.2013 which was lodged by the respondent No.1-CBI on the basis of preliminary enquiry No.0532011S0004 (registered on 19.11.2011), wherein three persons, namely, Sri Arun Kumar Saxena, Sri Prashant Saxena and M/s. Aanjaneya Business (India) Pvt. Ltd. along with unknown officials of Government of Uttar Pradesh, NCCF and others were named as accused.

4. The allegations made in the FIR dated 14.1.2013 in nutshell are that the preliminary enquiry revealed that during 2008-09, a programme implementation plan (PIP) was submitted to NRHM, Government of India, New Delhi, wherein it was proposed to take up a Pilot Telemedicine Project in 10 District of U.P. with the support of SGPGI, Lucknow having a proposed estimate of Rs.915.37 lacs, for which an amount of Rs.9.15 Crores was sanctioned for the year 2008-09 and funds were released to the State Health Society (SHS), NHRM in June, 2008 and March, 2009. Further allegation is that the said Telemedicine Project was originally carried out by the Director General, Medical Health (DGMH) but was arbitrarily decided by the then Principal Secretary (Health and Family Affairs) on 21.2.2009 to get the project implemented through the Director General (Medical Education), U.P. (hereinafter referred to as 'DGME) in three medical colleges of the State of U.P., for which Rs.9.15 Crore was transferred to the joint account of DGME and Finance Controller (ME). Further allegation is that DGME arbitrarily awarded the Project to M/s. National Consumer Co-operative Federation Ltd. (NCCF), Lucknow Branch without following the tender Process and without calling for any open tender, thereby violating the guidelines of the Central Government on NRHM. The NCCF got the project implemented through M/s. Aanjaneya Business (India) Pvt. Ltd., their Business Partner, which was formed in June, 2007 with Sri Prashant Saxena and his wife Ms. Aparna Saxena as the Director and did not have any experience in Telemedicine Project and were mainly involved in civil constructions, whereas according to the NCCF guidelines for delegation of powers, it was provided that any new line of business had to be undertaken with the approval of NCCF (HO) and the same was not followed. The further allegation is that M/s. Aanjaneya Business (India) Pvt. Ltd. carried out works in three medical colleges and submitted exorbitant bills to NCCF.

5. The further allegation is that M/s. Aanjaneya Business (India) Pvt. Ltd. in criminal conspiracy with Sri Arun Kumar Saxena, Manager NCCF, claimed exorbitant bills, thereby cheating the government causing a wrongful loss to Government and corresponding wrongful gain to M/s. Aanjaneya Business (India) Pvt. Ltd. and the said Sri Arun Kumar Saxena, the then Manager NCCF and presently Senior Research Engineer (RDSO), Lucknow and Sri Prashant Saxena had common business interest through another Company M/s.Firestone Builder Pvt. Ltd., in which wife of Sri Arun Kumar Saxena, namely, Dr. Indu Saxena was a Director.

6. The CBI after completing the investigation, submitted charge sheet being Charge Sheet No.12 of 2016 on 31.5.2016 for the offence under Sections 120B, 420 & 471 I.P.C. and Section 13(2) read with 13(1) (d) of Prevention of Corruption Act, 1988 against (i) Arun Kumar Saxena, the then Manager, NCCF, (ii) Prashant Saxena, the Director, M/s. Aanjaneya Business India Pvt. Ltd., (iii) Smt. Aparna Saxena, the Director, M/s. Aanjaneya Business (India) Pvt. Ltd., (iv) M/s. Aanjaneya Business (India) Pvt. Ltd. through its Directors, (v) Dr. M.C.Sharma, the present applicant & (vi) Ram Kumar Prasad, the then Joint Secretary.

7. The Special Judge, Anti Corruption (CBI), Ghaziabad took cognizance on 30.8.2016 for the offence in which charge sheet was submitted and summoned the accused persons including the applicant. The applicant and other co-accused persons were granted bail by the competent court. Thereafter, the applicant moved a discharge application before the trial Court on 27.7.2017 and the same was rejected by the trial Court on 19.12.2018 and thereafter the charges were framed against the applicant and co-accused persons on 23.1.2019 by the trial Court for the offence under Sections 120B, 420 & 471 I.P.C. and Section 13(2) read with 13(1) (d) of Prevention of Corruption Act, 1988. Aggrieved by the same, the applicant has preferred the present 482 Cr.P.C. for quashing of the same.

8. Heard Sri Tanveer Ahmad, assisted by Sri Ram M. Kaushik, learned counsel for the applicant, Sri Gyan

Prakash, learned Senior Advocate assisted by Sri Sanjay Kumar Yadav, learned counsel for the C.B.I. and perused the material brought on record.

9. So far as applicant-Dr. M.C. Sharma is concerned, it has been argued by learned counsel for the applicant that the charges which have been framed against him by the trial Court is erroneously in disregard of the admitted position of the CBI in terms of the materials, documents and witness statements placed on record along with the charge sheet. He further submitted that the trial Court passed the order framing charge mechanically not taking into consideration the submissions made in the written applications and also the fact that every allegation made against the applicant by the CBI controverted by the witnesses whose statements had been recorded during the course of investigation and placed on record as relied upon the documents. He next submitted that the charges levelled against the applicant stood completely, comprehensively and without any reasonable doubt, negated by the prosecution relied upon documents as well as relied upon statements of various witnesses and hence, the exoneration of the applicant was not based on his individual contrarian defence, but upon a mere perusal and plain reading of the statements recorded under Section 161 Cr.P.C. of witnesses like-Dr. Hari Om Dixit; Chanchal Tiwari; S.K.Mishra; Pradeep Shukla; Harbhajan Singh. He submitted that from the statements of the said witnesses which are relied upon by the documents of the CBI were clearly exonerating the applicant in letter and spirit regarding all the allegations made against him. The learned trial Court thus, failed to appreciate this vital aspect of the matter and erred in framing charge against the applicant on 23.1.2019. Hence, the impugned order framing charge is liable to be quashed by this Court.

10. He next submitted that the CBI has alleged in the charge sheet that the main scheme of NRHM was to connect the rural hospitals, also known as First Referral Units of District Level Hospital with a super specialty institute through the tele- medicine project, but the accused persons through a criminal conspiracy changed this basic plan and implemented the tele-medicine project by connecting medical colleges with SGPGI. He submitted that the said allegation has no basis in view of the statements recorded under Section 161 Cr.P.C. of the witnesses, namely, Dr. Hari Om Dixit who at the relevant time was General Manager Community Process NRHM in SPMU dated 1.3.2013 and 27.6.2013 very clearly indicates that the decision to connect medical colleges with SGPGI was more than a prudent decision instead of connecting FRU/CHC/BPHC to a district level hospital and then to SGPGI. He himself admits that he was present in the review meeting dated 21.2.2009 where the decision was taken. The mission director of NRHM Mr. Chanchal Tiwari was also present in the aforesaid meeting of 21.2.2009 and vide his letter dated 3.3.2009, he endorsed connection of medical colleges with SGPGI through DGME. The aforesaid decision was also fully supported by Pradeep Shukla, the then Principal Secretary, Medical Health. Dr. I.S. Srivastava, the then Director General, Medical Health was also present in the aforesaid meeting dated 21.2.2009 and he fully supported the tangible shift to connect medical colleges with SGPGI through the tele-medicine project which is reflected in the latter dated 24.2.2009 which is a relied upon document filed by the CBI. Moreover, Dr. Hari Om Dixit on 20.4.2009 himself suggested the names of medical colleges which is reflected in the statement dated 28.2.2013 under Section 161 Cr.P.C. of Dr. Suniti Raj Mishra and also by the mechanism of letter dated 4.5.2009 which is relied upon by the CBI, written by DGME to Dr. Hari Om Dixit.

11. He also urged that the allegation made by the CBI against the applicant that he had committed offence of conspiracy, cheating and substantive offences under the Prevention of Corruption Act by being the accessory to NCCF being the implementing agency for the entire tele-medicine project is negated totally by the relied upon documents and relied upon statements of the CBI, which the trial Court has failed to consider. In this regard, he has pointed out the statement of PW1 Dr. Hari Om Dixit who himself endorses and supports selection of NCCF as the agency to implement the tele- medicine project vide his two statements dated 1.3.2013 and 27.6.2013.The NCCF was a nominated agency for implementing various projects for and on behalf of the Department of Medical Education, Government of U.P., fully endorsed vide Government Order dated 12.7.2008, hence, on this count NCCF cannot be stated by any stretch of imagination to be a tainted agency, incapable of implementing the project, for the reason that it is not a case of CBI that even the Government Order dated 12.7.2008 is a project of criminal conspiracy and commission of criminal offences at the end of government officials. Harbhajan Singh (PW-34) himself issued a Government Order being the then Principal Secretary, Medical Education, Government of U.P. dated 30.3.2009 in favour of NCCF to implement the tele-medicine project, which has been supplied and duly received by PW1-Dr. Hari Om Dixit as well as to the office of DGMH. Post 21.2.2009 it was the Principal Secretary, Medical Education, Government of U.P. who is Harbhajan Singh, a cited witness, who himself called Dr. Saroj Kanta Mishra of SGPGI and asked him to lend technical support in the implementation of the tele-medicine project through the agency of NCCF, Dr. Saroj Kanta Mishra vide his statements dated 28.6.2013 and 17.12.2013 had himself endorsed this fact, therefore, on this basis also the selection of NCCF is endorsed as a valid act by all concerned, however, most illegally without any substantive evidence unfounded evidence has been made on the applicant as well as Mr. Ram Kumar Prasad.

12. In support of his argument, learned counsel for the applicant has placed reliance upon the judgments of the Apex Court in the case of Union of India Vs. Prafulla Kumar Samal & Another, reported in (1979) 3 SCC 4, Yogesh Vs. State vs. Maharashtra (2008) 3 SCC 394, Dilawar Balu Kurane Vs. State of Maharashtra, (2002) 2 SCC 135, Central Bureau of Investigation, Hyderabad Vs. K.Narayana Rao (2012) 9 SCC 512 & Naresh Vs. State of Uttar Pradesh (2012) 1 All LJ 202.

13. He next submitted that the learned trial Court also failed to appreciate that post the amendment of the provisions of Prevention of Corruption Act w.e.f. 26.7.2018, there was clear requirement and a consequent obligation that no criminal trial could proceed against the petitioner in view of the fact that no sanction under Section 19 against him had ever been obtained and, therefore, no charge could be framed against him. Moreover, there was no sanction under Section 197 Cr./P.C. available on record against any one, in any case the entire narrative of section 13 having completely changed, it was imperative on part of learned trial Court to follow the dictum of the following judgments:-

I. T. Baray Vs. Nenry A.H. Hoe- (1983) 1 SCC 177;

II. Nemi Chand Vs. State of Rajastjhan-11(2016) CCR 15 (SC), MANU/SC/0506/2016;

III. Ratan Lal Vs. State of Punjab-AIR (1965) SC 444;

IV. Sham Lal Vs.State (1968) Allahabad 392.

14. It is further submitted that the applicant therefore, is entitled to the benefit of rule of beneficial construction to the extent that beneficial construction requires that ex-post-facto law should be applied to reduce the rigorous sentence and applicability of the previous law of the same subject and such a law is not affected by Article 20(1) of the Constitution of India. Moreover, the aforesaid principle is based on a legal maxim, "salus populi est suprema lex" which means that welfare of the people is supreme for law and the aforesaid application of beneficial construction is inspired and guided by the principle of justice, equity and good conscience.

15. It is submitted that the guiding principles of interpretation are explicitly clear and provide a clear path that once there has been an amendment and change in the legal situation and specific to the present case where the provision of Section 13(1) (d) has been obliterated from the statute then in no circumstances would it be just and reasonable if the innocent applicant is subject criminal prosecution under Section 120B read with Section 13(2) r/w 13(1) (d) of Prevention of Corruption Act. Therefore, on this ground alone the impugned orders ought to be quashed and set aside because the learned trial Court has failed to appreciate that the amendment came into force from 26.7.2018, much prior to passing of the impugned orders dated 19.12.2018 and 23.1.2019. It would be pertinent to mention here that this Court in Sham Lal's case clearly opined that with the amendment of the existing law, the previous law would be rendered inchoate and criminal prosecution for the previous law would be unjustified and unreasonable. Moreover, in view of the fact that if a person could not be charged for the amended law as far as the allegation of criminal misconduct is taken into consideration, then he ought not be tried or convicted for the previous law which has been removed, same is also the intent of the legislature.

16. On the other hand, learned counsel for the CBI has opposed the prayer for quashing of the impugned orders passed by the trial Court and has submitted that as the charges have already been framed against the applicant and the trial is in progress, this Court may refrain from interfering in the present 482 Cr.P.C. application for quashing of the impugned orders as the allegations levelled in the FIR and charge sheet has to be tested during the course of trial and because of the act of the applicant and co-accused persons, there has been a huge financial loss to the State Exhequer to the tune of several Crores of rupees. He further submitted that during the course of investigation by the CBI, the applicant, the then Director General, Medical Education (now retired), informed in the said meeting about the nomination of NCCF (a Central Government Agency) for conducting tele-medicine project for DGME, in the light of Government Order dated 12.7.2008 of Government of Uttar Pradesh. Prior to the decision taken by the Executive Committee of NRHM, Prashant Saxena, Director of M/s. Aanjaneya Business India Pvt. Ltd., Lucknow vide his letter dated 24.2.2009 addressed to the Branch Manager, NCCF, Lucknow furnished preliminary cost analysis estimates worth Rs.81.39 Crores for tele-medicine project at 14 Medical Colleges and 74 District Hospitals of U.P. and it is also proposed to create Networking Hub and Video Conferencing for DGME and main Hub at SGPGI, Lucknow.

17. He next argued that in the letter dated 24.2.2009, M/s. Aanjaneya Business India Pvt. Ltd. had mentioned the deliberations of the discussions already held with the applicant Dr. M.C.Sharma, DGME and Training Lucknow, which shows that it was pre-decided on the part of the applicant to dishonestly get the execution of the Tele-medicine project through M/s. Aanjaneya Business India Pvt. Ltd., Lucknow. The investigation has revealed that on the very same day, the aforesaid proposal with slight modification was forwarded to the applicant, the then Director General Medical Education vide letter dated 24.2.2009 purportedly issued under the signature of one P.D.Sharma, the then In-charge Branch Manager, NCCF, Lucknow. However,, P.D.Sharma denied his signature on the said proposal. Further, the signature which establishes that the signature in the proposal was a forged one. DGME further forwarded the above referred proposal to the office of Secretary, ME along with a covering letter No.1149 dated 24.2.2009. The DGME being the executive agency for the project and acting as a Head of the Department did not examine the proposal of NCCF with market prevailing rates and the feasibility of the proposal while referring the approved PIP and dishonestly with criminal intent to extend undue favour to M/s. Aanjaneya Business India Pvt. Ltd. forwarded the bogus proposal of NCCF to the Medical Education Secretariat flouting the existing NRHM Rules and Guidelines wherein only the Executive Committee of NRHM was competent to approve the funds. The applicant was already known to Prashant Saxena as he had been doing for various State funded constructions projects for DGME and similarly, Arun Kumar and Prashant Saxena were in close association as they had common business interest in another company, namely, M/s. Firestone Builders Pvt. Ltd., in which Dr. Indu Saxena wife of Arun Kumar Saxena is the Managing Director. All the State funded projects awarded to Prashant Saxena through NCCF were got executed by him through M/s. Firestone Builders, Lucknow. It was also proposed for release of the proposed funds of Rs.9 Crores in favour of DGME from the accounts of DGMH, Lucknow, so that the same could be released for the nominated agency, i.e. NCCF. He submitted that after thorough investigation, CBI has submitted charge sheet against the applicant and co-accused persons who are facing trial.

18. Learned counsel for the CBI has further submitted that the trial Court has dealt with giving cogent and sound reasons rejecting the arguments of the learned counsel for the applicant with respect to the framing of charge under Section 13(1) (d) of the P.C. Act referring to the provision of Section 6 of the General Clauses Act, 1897.

19. So far as applicant-Smt. Aparna Saxena is concerned, it has been argued by learned counsel for the applicant that she is a housewife who got married to co-accused Prashant Saxena in the year 1989 and as on date the she has a young daughter, namely, Sukriti aged about 3 years. The applicant's husband incorporated a Company for his own business, namely, M/s. Aanjaneya Business (India) Pvt. Ltd. in which the applicant was introduced as a Director for fulfilling the paperwork. The applicant has never been working full time or participating in the day-to-day affairs of said Company. The applicant has never been involved and has not been subjected in any criminal case till date except the criminal case in question.

20. It was further argued that the allegation levelled against the applicant Smt. Arpana Saxena is limited to the extent as has been mentioned in the charge sheet that the applicant purportedly signed the MOU dated 28.10.2009 and a cheque for Rs.10 lacs. Admittedly, there is no allegation whatsoever that the applicant played any active role in the business operation or that she was in connivance with any other co-accused. In addition to the admitted position and limited allegations of the Investigating Officer, key prosecution witnesses, namely, Pankaj Kapoor (PW-50) and Hemant Raja (PW-51) in their statements under Section 161 Cr.P.C. have themselves exonerated the applicant Smt. Aparna Saxena as Pankaj Kapoor in his statement dated 23.12.2014 has stated that although the applicant signed the cheque for Rs. 10 lacs, but she was never involved in the matter and that the only point of contact was Mr. Prashant Saxena. Similarly, Hemant Raja who was the Chartered Accountant for NCCF, expressly mentioned in his statement recorded u/s 161 Cr.P.C. on 22.12.2014 that although MOU dated 28.10.2009 was signed by the applicant, but she was not actively working for the Company. The said witness had not seen her attending any meeting, visiting any of the offices and managing any of the work related to project. He further stated that the applicant signed Rs.10 lacs cheque as an advance payment only in the absence of her husband who used to otherwise handle all the business dealing. He submitted that there appears to be no evidence against the applicant to show that there was any criminal conspiracy between the applicant and her husband Prashant Saxena in the alleged crime, hence, no offence under Section 420, or 420 read with 120-B I.P.C. or 471 read with 120-B I.P.C. or 120-B read with 13(2) read with 13(1) (d) of P.C. Act is made out against the applicant. Moreover, there is no strong suspicion against the applicant and she has been arrayed as an accused only on account of being the Director of the Company and wife of co-accued Prashant Saxena. In support of his argument, learned counsel for the applicant has placed reliance upon the judgment of the Apex Court in the case of Shreya Jha Vs.

CBI, ILR (2007) Supp. (2) Delhi 19 and relied upon paragraph nos.7,8,9, 11 & 12 of the said judgment, which is quoted here-in-below:-

"7. The question is regarding the charge under Section 120-B of the IPC. To draw a case under the said section, it must be shown that there was an agreement, link, nexus between the petitioner and the accused. The chargesheet filed by CBI mentions the petitioner Ms. Shreya Jha but once where it states as follows:-

Investigation has revealed that in furtherance of the said criminal conspiracy accused Shreya Jha d/o V.K. Jha r/o B-180, Sector-31, NOIDA, prop. of M/s Anamika Enterprises and M/s Nupur Enterprises aided and abetted the commission of offences as an amount of Rs. 5, 50,000/- and Rs. 39, 95,000/- were transferred in the respective accounts of the above said firm maintained at Canara Bank, Chandni Chowk and Punjab and Sind Bank, Safdarjung Enclave, New Delhi from the said account of M/s Juniper Jewellery Pvt. Ltd. In this way, Shreya Jha was found involved in siphoning of the money at the instance of Smt. Nandita Bakshi and V.K. Jha dishonestly.

8. In Sanjiv Kumar v. State of Himachal Pradesh , the Supreme Court, speaking about what is the essential nature of conspiracy held that the offence under Section 120-B is an agreement between the parties to do a particular act. Association or relation to lead a conspiracy is not enough to establish the intention. It is true that consipracies are products of stealth, and seldom evidenced by direct material; largely it is to be inferred on the circumstances, and attendant facts. Yet, there should be some bedrock facts which can lead to such inferences, even at the charge framing stage. Thus, the sine qua non for a charge to be sustainable under Section 120-B, IPC is the agreement between the parties. Such an essential ingredient is singularly absent; the CBI has been unable to show anything in that regard. I find no infirmity with that approach.

9. The next question is whether the charges framed under Sections 409, 419, 420, 467, 468 and 471 of the Indian Penal Code, 1860 and Sections 13(2) read with 13(1)(d) of the Prevention of Corruption Act, 1988 against the petitioner are sustainable.

11. A fundamental principle of criminal jurisprudence is 'actus non facit reum nisi means sit rea'. In the present case, the respondent CBI has been unable to show a clear case against the petitioner. The circumstances pitted against her are based entirely on her being the daughter of one of the main accused in the alleged fraud, and fraudulent deception, which led to loss to the bank. The role assigned, or attribuited to the petitioner, i.e opening bank accounts which were used by her father to siphon off and misappropriate funds, after opening proprietorship concerns, which were always used by her father, are insufficient to draw an inference of existence of a grave suspicion of such nature as to warrant charges against her. In fact, the chargesheet merely states that the petitioner "at the instance of' Smt. Nandita Bakshi and V.K. Jha was found involved in siphoning of the money." No other link or attendant circumstance, as far as the petitioner's role is shown, or alleged in the chargesheet.

12. In the light of aforementioned observations, no substantiating prima facie case was made out against the petitioner, at least no prima facie case that about the grave suspicion of her involvement was made out. The trial court could not have proceeded to charge the petitioner as it did, on the available materials, and the allegations levelled in the charge sheet. Its order therefore, cannot be sustained."

21. Learned counsel for the CBI has vehemently rebutted the arguments of learned counsel with respect to the applicant-Smt. Aparna Saxena and has submitted that during the course of investigation, it has been established that M/s. Aanjaneya Business (India) Pvt. Ltd. is the beneficiary Company through its Director Prashant Saxena, Smt. Aparna Saxena and the Company through its Directors was found involved in criminal conspiracy, cheating, use of forged documents in order to get undue work of tele-medicine project wherein huge number of electronic equipments were purchased and installed at exorbitant prices causing huge financial loss to the Government Exchequer, as such involvement of the applicant is also established and there are sufficient evidence both oral and documentary on record to prove that the selection of M/s. Aanjaneya Business (India) Pvt. Ltd.was pre-decided by virtue of criminal conspiracy and DGME being the Head of the Department and member of Executive Committee of NRHM instead of getting the proposal approved in NRHM or going for open tender for purchase and installation of equipments straight away gave the work dishonestly in the name of NCCF and even NCCF awarded the project to M/s. Aanjaneya Business (India) Pvt. Ltd. on the basis of forged and bogus quotation process and the motive behind this was conspiracy to earn undue profit margin by way of installing equipment at exorbitant prices avoiding all the financial guidelines and procurement rules. Hence, the accused persons including the applicant conspired with each other and caused huge financial loss to the Government. He further submitted that the investigation revealed that the applicant Smt. Aparna Saxena, wife of Prashant Saxena and one of the Directors of M/s. Aanjaneya Business (India) Pvt. Ltd., who signed the main MoU dated 28.10.2009 with NCCF on behalf of the Company and also signed a cheque of Rs.10 lacs towards advance payment to sub contract the work of M/s. CSPL is also the beneficiary of the wrongful gain, hence, submitted that the trial court has rightly framed charges against the applicant and her trial is also warranted.

22. Having considered the submissions advanced by learned counsel for the parties and perused the material brought on record.

23. After having examined the submissions advanced by learned counsel for the parties and perused the material brought record with respect to the applicant-Dr. M.C.Sharma is concerned, it is apparent that the C.B.I. during the course of investigation has found his involvement in the present case along with other co-accused persons, namely, Prashant Saxena, who is Director, M/s. Aanjaneya Business India Pvt. Ltd. and Arun Kumar who had close association with the co-accused Prashant Saxena had common business interest through another Company, i.e., M/s. Firestone Builder Pvt. Ltd. with whom the applicant was known to Prashant Saxena as Prashant Saxena had been doing various State funded construction project for DGME and all the State funded projects awarded to Prashant Saxena through NCCF were got executed by him through M/s. Firestone Builder Pvt. Ltd.

24. The matter relates to NRHM Scam which runs in several Crores and State Exchequer has been put to loss because of the collusion of the applicant along with the co-accused persons, hence, involvement of the applicant in the present case at this stage cannot be doubted.

25. The contention of the learned counsel for the applicant that the charges which have been framed against the applicant by the trial Court is contrary to what has been stated by the witnesses under Section 161 Cr.P.C. and on that count the impugned order framing charge be set aside, is not sustainable because if there is any error in the charge framed by the trial Court the same cannot be amended and altered at any stage of the trial considering prosecution evidence led during the course of the trial.Thus, it would not be proper for this Court to interfere in the present 482 Cr.P.C. application as the allegations made in the FIR and the evidence collected during the course of investigation by the C.B.I. against the applicant, the prosecution has to be given full opportunity to prove its case by adducing evidence against the applicant and co-accused persons .

27. The Apex court in case of State of Karnataka v. L. Muniswamy (1977 (2) SCC 699) has held that at the stage of framing the charge the court has to apply its mind to the question whether or not there is any ground for presuming the commission of offence by the accused. The Court has to see while considering the question of framing the charge as to whether the material brought on record could reasonably connect the accused with the trial. Nothing more is required to be inquired into.

28. In case of Supdt. & Remembrancer Of Legal vs Anil Kumar Bhunja & Ors 1979 SCC (4) 274 the Apex court has observed that it may be remembered that the case was at the stage of framing charges; the prosecution evidence had not yet commenced. The Magistrate had therefore, to consider the above question on a general consideration of the materials placed before him by the investigating police officer. At this stage, as was pointed out by this Court in State of Bihar v. Ramesh Singh, the truth, veracity and effect of the evidence which the prosecutor proposes to adduce are not to be meticulously judged. The standard of test, proof and judgment which is to be applied finally before finding the accused guilty or otherwise, is not exactly to be applied at the stage of Section 227 or 228 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973. At this stage, even a very strong suspicion founded upon materials before the Magistrate, which leads him to form a presumptive opinion as the existence of the factual ingredients constituting the offence alleged; may justify the framing of charge against the accused in respect of the commission of the offence.

29. In State of M.P. Vs. Mohanlal Soni, (2000) 6 SCC 338, the Hon'ble

Supreme court held in paragraph 7 as under:

" 7.The crystallised judicial view is that at the stage of framing charge, the court has to prima facie consider whether there is sufficient ground for proceeding against the accused. The court is not required to appreciate evidence to conclude whether the materials produced are sufficient or not for convicting the accused."

30. In case of Kanti Bhadra Shah And Anr vs State Of West Bengal 2000 (1) SCC 722 the Apex court has held that if the trial court decides to frame a charge there is no legal requirement that he should pass an order specifying the reasons as to why he opts to do so. Framing of charge itself is prima facie order that the trial judge has formed the opinion, upon consideration of the police report and other documents and after hearing both sides, that there is ground for presuming that the accused has committed the offence concerned.

31. In Smt. Om Wati & Anr vs State, Through Delhi Admn. & Ors 2001 CR.LJ 1723, the Apex court has observed that we would again remind the High Courts of their statutory obligation to not to interfere at the initial stage of framing the charges merely on hypothesis, imagination and far-fetched reasons which in law amount to interdicting the trial against the accused persons. Unscrupulous litigants should be discouraged from protracting the trial and preventing culmination of the criminal cases by having resort to uncalled for and unjustified litigation under the cloak of technicalities of law.

32. The Apex Court in the case of Palwinder Singh Vs. Balvinder Singh; 2009 (3) SCC 850 has held that the jurisdiction of Sessions Judge at the time of discharge is very limited. In the said judgment it has been held that charges can also be framed on the basis of strong suspicion. Marshaling and appreciation of evidence is not in the domain of the court at that point of time.

33. Hon'ble Supreme Court in Sajjan Kumar Vs. Central Bureau of Investigation, (2010) 9 SCC 368, held as under:

"At the stage of framing of charge under section 228 Cr.P.C. or while considering the discharge petition filed under Section 227, it is not for the Magistrate or the Judge concerned to analyse all the materials including pros and cons, reliability or acceptability, etc. It is at the trial, the Judge concerned has to appreciate their evidentiary value, credibility or otherwise of the statement, veracity of various documents and is free to take a decision one way or the other."

34. The Apex Court in catena of decisions has summarized the principles in respect of framing of charge or discharge of accused and in the case of Sheoraj Singh Ahlawat and others Vs. State of U.P. and another, (2013) 11 SCC 476 has held as under:-

"While framing charges, court is required to evaluate materials and documents on record to decide whether facts emerging therefrom taken at their face value would disclose existence of ingredients constituting the alleged offence. At this stage, the court is not required to go deep into probative value of materials on record. It needs to *evaluate whether there is a ground for presuming that accused had committed offence. But it should not evaluate sufficiency of evidence to convict accused. Even if, there is a grave suspicion against the accused and it is not properly explained or court feels that accused might have committed offence, then framing of charge against the accused is justified. It is only for conviction of accused that materials must indicate that accused had committed offence but for framing of charges if materials indicate that accused might have committed offence, then framing of charge is proper. Materials brought on by prosecution must be believed to be true and their probative value cannot be decided at this stage. The accused entitled to urge his contentions only on materials submitted by prosecution. He is not entitled to produce any material at this stage and the court is not required to consider any such material, if submitted. Whether the prima facie case made out depends upon fact and circumstances of each case. If two views are possible and materials indicate mere suspicion, not being grave suspicion, against accused then he may be discharged. The court has to consider broad probabilities of case, total effect of evidence and documents produced before it. The court should not act as mouthpiece of prosecutio*n and it is impermissible to have roving enquiry at the stage of framing of charges."

35. And recently on 01.05.2019 in State By Karnataka Lokayukta Vs. M. R. Hiremath, 2019 SCC online SC 734 has reiterated the said principles holding that at this stage, considering an application for discharge, the Court must proceed on the assumption that the material which has been brought on record by the prosecution is true and evaluate the material in order to determine whether the facts emerging from the material, taken on its face value, disclose the existence of the ingredients necessary to constitute the offence.

In the instant case it cannot be said that no offence has been disclosed against the applicant which may reflect that his trial is unwarranted. The trial court on perusal of the material collected during the course of investigation, came to the conclusion that prima facie a case is made out against the applicant for framing of the charge has rightly rejected.

36. The proposition of law with respect to the cases of the Apex Court relied upon by the applicant with respect to Dr. M.C.Sharma is concerned, is not all disputed. But from perusal of the said case law, it is quite apparent that the Apex Court in the said cases also laid down the proposal that it is to be determined a prima facie case would naturally depends upon the facts of each case and it is difficult to lay down role of universal application where material placed before the Court discloses grave suspicion against the accused which has not been properly explained, the Court would be fully justified in framing charge and proceeding with the trial.

37. In view of the foregoing discussions, so far as the applicant Dr. M.C.Sharma is concerned, I am of the opinion that the impugned orders are based upon relevant consideration and supported by cogent reasons, the same does not suffer from any irregularity, illegality or jurisdictional error, hence no interference is required by this Court. The prayer for quashing the same is hereby refused.

38. The 482 Cr.P.C. application with respect to applicant Dr. M.C. Sharma is accordingly, dismissed. The interim order, if any, stands vacated.

39. As regards applicant-Smt. Aparna Saxena is concerned, it is not disputed by the CBI that she is the wife of co-accused Prashant Saxena and sleeping director of M/s. Aanjaneya Business (India) Pvt. Ltd. and from the statements of the prosecution witnesses, namely, Pankaj Kapoor (PW-50) and Hemant Rja (PW-51) it appears that no doubt the applicant had signed the MOU and also issued a cheque of Rs.10 lacs as advancepayment in absence of her husband, but it cannot be said she conspired with her husband and other co-accused persons for committing the crime in question putting a loss to the State Exchequer. There appears to be no evidence against the applicant Smt. Aparna Saxena collected during the course of investigation which may show that she at any point of time was conspired with her husband along with other co-accused persons for being involved in the present offence.

40. The case law which has been relied upon by the learned counsel for the applicant in the case of Shreya Jha (supra), the case of the applicant Smt. Aparna Saxena is squarely covered in view of paragraph nos.11 and 12 of the said judgement. Hence, in view of the same, the impugned order dated 19.12.2018 rejecting discharge application and the order dated 23.1.2019 passed by the Court of Special Judge, CBI, Ghaziabad District Court framing charge are hereby set aside to the extent of applicant Smt. Arpana Saxena.

41. The 482 Cr.P.C. application with respect to applicant Smt. Aparna Saxena stands allowed.

A. Criminal Law - Indian Penal Code, 1860 - Section - 304 A -Criminal Liability of Doctor - the standard of negligence required to be proved should be so high as can be described as "gross negligence" or "recklessness"- It is not merely lack of necessary care, attention or skill which would make him liable criminally- Where a patient's death results merely from error of judgment or an accident, no criminal liability should be attached to it- Mere inadvertence or some degree of want of adequate care and caution might create civil liability but would not suffice to hold him criminally liable. The act certainly shows the negligence on the part of the doctor, but the same would not qualify to be called as "criminal negligence" as it may at the most be treated to be negligence for which civil liability would lie. It may also not be ruled out that the accused doctor was having overconfidence that he would be able to handle the situation himself, but it turned out to be otherwise and it can also be inferred that it may have resulted into accidental death of the deceased.

Since both these applications relate to the same crime number, hence, they are being taken up together.

1. Heard the arguments advanced by Shri Bhanu Bhushan Jauhari, learned counsel appearing on behalf of the applicants and in opposition, Shri S.P.S. Chauhan, learned counsel, is appearing on behalf of opposite party no. 2 and Shri G.P. Singh, learned Additional Government Advocate, is appearing on behalf of the State of Uttar Pradesh. Perused the record.

2. By way of instant applications under Section 482 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 (for short "Code"), prayer has been made on behalf of the accused-applicants to quash the entire proceedings of Criminal Case No. 5426 of 2012 (State v. Dr. Adil and others), arising out of Case Crime No. 506 of 2012, under Section 304A of the Indian Penal Code, 1860 (for short "I.P.C."), Police Station - Civil Lines, District - Aligarh, pending in the court of Additional Chief Judcial Magistrate, Court No. 3, Aligarh as well as the summoning order dated 09.10.2012 passed by Chief Judicial Magistrate, Aligarh.

3. In order to appreciate the arguments advanced by the respective learned counsel, it would be appropriate to give in a nutshell facts of the case, which are as follows :

The opposite party no. 2/informant had lodged an F.I.R. at Police Station - Civil Lines, District - Aligarh, stating therein that his brother Syed Parvez Ali, who was working in the Land and Garden Department of Aligarh Muslim University (for short "A.M.U.") on the post of Lower Division Clerk (L.D.C.), remained admitted for about 23 days in Special Ward No. 28 and had a tube installed in his chest. He was to be discharged on 16.06.2012 as he had become quite fit and was also in walking condition. His treatment was being given under the supervision of Dr. Hanif Beg and few other junior doctors also used to come to see him. On 16.06.2012 at about 09.00 A.M., the accused-applicant Dr. Adil Mahmud Ali @ Dr. Ali Adil Mahmud (hereinafter referred to as "Dr. Adil") along with a nurse came there and asked his mother and sister to go out of the room and when it was asked as to why they should got out, in front of them, the said doctor started cutting the tube which was installed in the chest of the patient with the assistance of a blade and as soon as the same was cut, blood oozed out profusely. The said doctor, with a lot of pressure, pressed the chest of the patient, as a result of which, blood started coming out of mouth of his brother and within 20 minutes' time, the whole room including the bed sheet, etc. got soaked in blood. The sister of opposite party no. 2, namely, Ashafiya opposed this act of the doctor, at which the doctor fled away from there. Soon thereafter, the persons taking care of the patient rushed to the emergency in order to give information and after that, one or two persons came there running and tried to stop the blood. Thereafter, the doctors started a drama for about one hour to revive the patient and ultimately, pronounced him dead. Thus, it was prayed that a case under Section 302 of I.P.C. be registered against the accused doctor.

4. On the said information, a case was registered against the accused in aforesaid case crime number, under the aforesaid section. After investigating into the matter, the police submitted charge-sheet against the accused-applicants.

5. The main argument advanced by learned counsel for the applicants is that there was no role assigned to the accused-applicant Dr. Mohd. Azam Hasin (hereinafter referred to as "Dr. Hasin") and yet, he has been charge-sheeted by the police. As regards the other accused-applicant Dr. Adil, it was argued that he had made his best effort to take care of the patient/deceased, but he could not succeed in his effort, which resulted into the death of the deceased. At the most, he could be subjected to only civil liability and not criminal liability. With respect to accused-applicant Dr. Hasin, it was further argued that he could not be held accountable for the said death vicariously, as there is no such concept in criminal case of imposing liability vicariously. The police has submitted charge-sheet in routine manner, without making thorough investigation and therefore, the prosecution of the accused-applicant should be quashed, the same being malicious.

6. Attention of the Court was drawn by learned counsel for the applicants towards the statement of the eye-witnesses of this case, namely, Ashafiya and Aisha Begum, sister and wife, respectively of opposite party no. 2, which are annexed at page nos. 42 and 43 of the paper book. Both these witnesses, who were taking care of the patient/deceased in the hospital, had submitted their affidavits before the Investigating Officer (hereinafter referred to as "I.O."), which was believed by the I.O. and the averments made therein were made part of the case diary by him. In those statements by both the witnesses the prosecution version as given in the F.I.R. has been corroborated and it was argued that the statements of the said witnesses would actually be not treated to have been recorded under Section 161 of the Code as they were only the affidavits given in respect of the present case. Attention was also drawn towards the report of the Inquiry Committee, which was constituted by the Vice-Chancellor (for short "V.C.") of A.M.U. vide letter dated 18.06.2012, in which the following observations were made by the Committee :

Observations of the Inquiry Committee

1. Such procedures (in this case ICTD) should have been performed in minor OT/dressing room available in general ward instead of a private ward.

2. It is preferable to undertake such steps in presence of senior colleague, nursing/paramedical staff.

3. Before performing such procedures, the availability of necessary life saving drugs or equipments should be ensured to face any such eventuality.

4. The attending Doctors should keep in mind all consequences, including the rarest one and should explain the same to the patient/his attendant.

7. On the basis of this report, it was argued that in the said report it was mentioned that in a case of rare complication, it would be unfair on the part of the junior doctor (Dr. Adil) to expect of him to think of such an uncommon procedural complication. This would suggest that the accused-applicant Dr. Adil was a junior doctor and he could not be, therefore, held liable for any intentional negligence, which resulted into the death of the deceased.

8. Further attention of the Court was drawn to the order dated 23.11.2012 passed by the Uttar Pradesh Medical Council to the following effect:

Order

The Ethical Committee observed that the causes of death as per post mortem report is Septicemia. Removal of ICD can not be held as cause of death. Bleeding can occur in few case from the site of ICD after removal which is not under control. Dr. Ali Adil has also done ATLS. He did his best to save the patient life under the circumstances.

The Ethical Committee is the opinion that Dr. Ali Adil can not be held guilty of medical negligence.

9. Pointing out the above order, it was argued that even the Ethical Committee had tendered its opinion that Dr. Adil could not be held guilty of medical negligence and in view of that report, the prosecution of the said doctor needs to be quashed.

10. On the other hand, learned counsel for opposite party no. 2 vehemently defended the charge-sheet as well as the criminal prosecution of the applicants, citing the same report of the Inquiry Committee, which have been quoted above, that it clearly revealed that there was negligence on the part of the said doctor (Dr. Adil) because he conducted the procedure of Inter-coastal chest drain (for short "I.C.T.D.") without taking proper care, in a private ward, in the absence of any nurse/para-medical staff and without there being any life-saving drugs with him to face any such eventuality. He ought to have kept in mind the consequences in such kind of cases and should have explained them to the attendants of the patient. It was, therefore, through and through, a case of criminal negligence, which would be covered for offence under Section 304A of I.P.C.

11. As regards the other accused-applicant Dr. Hasin, it was vehemently argued by learned counsel that it was Dr. Hasin under whose supervision, the patient/deceased was being treated and it was he who had sent the junior doctor (Dr. Adil) to remove the said tube from the chest of the patient/deceased and therefore, it cannot be denied that even he was rightly charge-sheeted for criminal negligence.

12. In the affidavit filed in support of this application, it was mentioned by the applicants that the patient/deceased Syed Parvez Ali was admitted on 24.05.2012 in J.N. Medical Hospital in a case of road accident with blood trauma chest with right pneumothorax with fracture of multiple ribs on the right side and right clavicle. At the time of admission, he was in respiratory distress and was diagnosed clinically as a patient of right side pneumothorax and I.C.T.D. He was placed under the supervision of senior resident on duty. The patient's condition had stabilized and was conservatively managed on the advice of Professor M.H. Beg. The first-year junior resident in the Department of General Surgery Dr. Adil Mahmood Ali Jr.-I (accused-applicant) was taking care of the patient and the other accused (doctor) Dr. Hasin was also a member of the said team, which was taking care of the said patient. The patient had radiologically improved on 15.06.2012. On 16.06.2012, he was examined by him (Dr. Hasin) and Prof. M.H. Beg and it was declared that clinically and radiologically, he had improved and his I.C.T.D. should be removed. Dr. Adil had to perform the said job and accordingly, he removed the same on 16.06.2012. He cut the suture attached to the skin with a sterile surgical blade and pulled out the tube. Thereafter, some complication developed and Dr. Adil did his best, but the life of the patient could not be saved and he was declared dead by the R.O.C. Anesthesia at 10.30 A.M. on 16.06.2012. After the death of the patient, a first information report was lodged by his brother Zakir Ali, opposite party no. 2 against Dr. Adil Mahmud Ali @ Dr. Ali Adil Mahmud alone. There was no allegation against the accused-applicant Dr. Hasin.

13. After investigation, the police submitted charge-sheet in the said case under Section 304A of I.P.C. against both the applicants and cognizance has been taken by learned Chief Judicial Magistrate, Aligarh. The patient had died due to removal of chest tube, as per first information report dated 16.06.2012, while the cause of death has been mentioned to be septicemic shock in the post-mortem report, as such, there is major material contradiction between the first information report and post-mortem report, which is annexed as Annexure 5. The patient died during treatment in A.M.U., as such, the V.C. of A.M.U. vide Office Memorandum dated 17.06.2012, ordered an inquiry into the whole matter of the demise of Syed Parvez Ali, who was admitted in Ward No. 28 of the J.N. Medical College Hospital. During inquiry, opposite party no. 2, the mother and the sister of patient/deceased were also present with him on 16.06.2012 and were examined by the Inquiry Committee. In the Inquiry Committee report, it has been mentioned that such death occurs in very rare cases and it should not be expected from a junior doctor to think of such an uncommon procedural complication. No adverse finding has been given against the accused-applicant Dr. Hasin. The I.O. had requested the S.P. City, Aligarh to request the C.M.O., Aligarh to submit a report regarding the aforesaid incident and accordingly, the S.S.P., Aligarh had sent a letter to C.M.O., Aligarh on 19.07.2012 for constituting a panel of doctors for submitting its report on the technical aspect of the matter. In reply to the said letter, the C.M.O. sent a letter dated 21.07.2012, saying that specialized doctors were not available and that the matter had been inquired by the committee of experts, which was constituted by the V.C. of A.M.U. and the said reply was accordingly sent to the I.O. from the office of S.S.P., Aligarh on 02.08.2012, copy of which is Annexure 7.

14. The I.O. has recorded the statement of Ashfiya and Aisha Begum under Section 161 of the Code, but none of them has stated anything against the accused Dr. Hasin. The I.O. has submitted charge-sheet without considering the report of the Committee constituted by the V.C. of A.M.U. as well as the statement of the eye-witnesses and has included his name in the charge-sheet. The learned C.J.M. has passed summoning order and has failed to consider the law laid down by Hon'ble Apex Court in Martin F. D'Souza v. Mohd Ishfaq1 which says that no court, either consumer forum or criminal court, shall issue any process against a doctor before referring the matter to a competent doctor or a committee of doctors specialized in the field, relating to which the medical negligence is attributed. In this case, the C.M.O. has not constituted any committee of experts and the Inquiry Committee constituted by the order of V.C. of A.M.U. has not said anywhere that the accused Dr. Hasin could be held liable for criminal negligence, therefore, the entire proceedings against the accused needs to be quashed.

15. Further, it is mentioned that for fixing criminal liability on a doctor or a surgeon, the standard of negligence required to be proved should be so high as can be described as "gross negligence" or "recklessness". Merely, lack of necessary care, attention or skill or mere inadequacy of some degree or want of adequate care and caution would not suffice to hold him criminally liable. Reliance is also placed upon the judgment of Hon'ble Apex Court in Dr. Suresh Gupta v. Govt. of NCT of Delhi and Another2 in view of which, the present proceedings need to be quashed.

16. In rebuttal, from the side of opposite party no. 2, through filing a counter affidavit, it is stated that the patient/deceased was regularly being given treatment under the supervision of Prof. M.H. Beg and he had clinically and radiologically improved. The senior doctors had advised the patient to be discharged after removal of I.C.T.D. under their supervision, but it is clear from the Inquiry Report dated 17.06.2012 that the accused doctor (Dr. Adil) removed the I.C.T.D. of the patient without consulting the other supervisors, in private ward itself and did not take the patient to even minor operation theatre (for short "O.T.") for the same nor did he adopt any procedure for removal of the same and without adequate usage of any emergency equipments/life-saving drugs. The said act was committed by Dr. Adil taking a big risk, without consulting the superiors. The mother and the sister of the deceased were also present at the time of this occurrence and had seen the occurrence with their own eyes and made their best effort to stop Dr. Adil from removing the I.C.T.D. without any assistance and also made a hue and cry for assistance, but all in vain. Dr. Adil did not stop until the patient died. Although the accused Dr. Hasin was not present at that time because of which he was not named in the F.I.R., but during investigation, he was also found to be involved rightly by the I.O. Further, it is mentioned that the S.S.P., Aligarh vide letter dated 19.07.2012, had requested C.M.O., Aligarh to constitute a panel of doctors for submitting its report on the technical aspect of the matter, but because the accused-applicants were in collusion with C.M.O., Aligarh, the said request was refused and hence, no technical aspect of the matter is found on record. Dr. Adil did not adopt the adequate procedure for removal of the I.C.T.D. of the patient/deceased, which clearly suggests that there was gross negligence on his part, which resulted into the death of the patient/deceased.

17. After having heard the arguments advanced by learned counsel for both the parties as well as having perused the record of the case, I find that it is undisputed that the patient/deceased was got admitted in the said hospital - J.N. Medical College Hospital on 24.05.2012 in a serious condition as he had met with road accident, but after having been treated for about 20 odd days, he had improved a lot and was about to be discharged after removal of I.C.T.D. The said removal of I.C.T.D. was conducted in this case by Dr. Adil (accused-applicant), who is stated to have removed the same without taking the patient to the O.T. and without taking proper care, which resulted into profuse bleeding of the patient and ultimately, into his death. The two eye-witnesses, namely, the sister and the mother of the deceased have deposed that the accused-applicant Dr. Adil had cut the tube installed in the chest of the deceased in a very rough manner, despite their opposition and in front of them, when the patient started bleeding profusely, the doctor fled away from there and by the time these witnesses rushed to the emergency to call someone to take care of the patient, he died. It also emerges from the record that an Inquiry Report has come on record, which has been submitted by the committee constituted by the V.C. of the said institution (A.M.U.), which has given above-mentioned opinion, which clearly shows that Dr. Adil should have performed the said act/operation in the O.T./dressing room instead of private ward and that the same should have been done in the presence of a senior colleague/nurse/para-medical staff and at that time, he ought to have made adequate usage of life-saving drugs or equipments, which could be needed to meet any such eventuality and the risks involved ought to have been intimated to the attendants of the patient in advance, but all this was not done in this case, which clearly suggests the careless approach/negligence on the part of the said doctor, who went about this job in a very lackadaisical manner, which has resulted into the death of the deceased.

18. From the side of the accused-applicants, reliance has been placed upon the judgment of Hon'ble Apex Court in Dr. Suresh Gupta's case (supra). In the said judgment, facts of the case were that a doctor (plastic surgeon) was facing charge under Section 304A of I.P.C. for causing death of his patient on 18.04.1994, who was operated by him for removal of his nasal deformity. The anaesthetist who was assisting the said surgeon in the operation was also made co-accused, but he was reported to have died pending trial. The appellant urged before the Magistrate that the medical evidence produced by the prosecution did

"Post-mortem report is very categorical and very clear and it has been clearly mentioned therein that death was due to the complication arising out of the operation. That operation was conducted by both the accused persons. It is also clear from the material on record that the deceased was a young man of 38 years having no cardiac problem at all and because of the negligence of the doctors while conducting minor operation for removing nasal deformity, gave incision at wrong part due to that blood seeped into the respiratory passage and because of that patient immediately collapsed and died and it was also attempted to show by the accused persons that he was alive at that time and was taken to Ganga Ram Hospital for further medical attention.

19. It was clear from record that the patient had already died in the clinic of the accused and therefore, there was sufficient ground on record to make out prima facie a case against both the accused under Section 304A of I.P.C. The matter came up before the High Court in proceedings under Section 482 of the Code, which too refused to quash the criminal proceedings, although it recorded that the Metropolitan Magistrate was obviously wrong, in the absence of any medical opinion, in coming to a conclusion that the surgeon had given a cut at wrong place of the body of the patient at the time of operation leading to blood seeping into the respiratory passage and blocking it, resulting into his death. The High Court while refusing to quash the impugned order dated 01.04.2003 recorded its reasons as under :

*In the present case two doctors who conducted the post-mortem examination have taken an emphatic stand which they have reiterated even after the Special Medical Board opinion, that death in this case was due to''asphyxia resulting from blockage of respiratory passage by aspirated blood consequent upon surgically incised margin of nasal septum'. This indicates that adequate care was not taken to prevent seepage of blood down the respiratory passage which resulted in asphyxia. The opinion of the Special Medical Board is not free from ambiguity for the reasons already given. Such ambiguity ca*n be explained by the doctors concerned when they are examined during the trial.

20. Allowing the appeal and quashing the criminal proceedings against the accused, the Honb'le Apex Court held as follows :

The legal position is almost firmly established that where a patient dies due to the negligent medical treatment of the doctor, the doctor can be made liable in civil law for paying compensation and damages in tort and at the same time, if the degree of negligence is so gross and his act was so reckless as to endanger the life of the patient, he would also be made criminally liable for offence under Section 304-A IPC.

(Para 12)

For fixing criminal liability on a doctor or surgeon, the standard of negligence required to be proved should be so high as can be described as "gross negligence" or "recklessness". It is not merely lack of necessary care, attention and skill. The decision of the House of Lords in R.v. Adomako [(1994) 3 All ER 79 (HL)] relied upon on behalf of the doctor elucidates the said legal position and contains the following observations:

"Thus a doctor cannot be held criminally responsible for patient's death unless his negligence or incompetence showed such disregard for life and safety of his patient as to amount to a crime against the State."

Thus, when a patient agrees to go for medical treatment or surgical operation, every careless act of the medical man cannot be termed as "criminal". It can be termed "criminal" only when the medical man exhibits a gross lack of competence or inaction and wanton indifference to his patient's safety and which is found to have arisen from gross ignorance or gross negligence. Where a patient's death results merely from error of judgment or an accident, no criminal liability should be attached to it. Mere inadvertence or some degree of want of adequate care and caution might create civil liability but would not suffice to hold him criminally liable.

This approach of the courts in the matter of fixing criminal liability on the doctors, in the course of medical treatment given by them to their patients, is necessary so that the hazards of medical men in medical profession being exposed to civil liability, may not unreasonably extend to criminal liability and expose them to the risk of landing themselves in prison for alleged criminal negligence.

For every mishap or death during medical treatment, the medical man cannot be proceeded against for punishment. Criminal prosecutions of doctors without adequate medical opinion pointing to their guilt would be doing great disservice to the community at large because if the courts were to impose criminal liability on hospitals and doctors for everything that goes wrong, the doctors would be more worried about their own safety than giving all best treatment to their patients. This would lead to shaking the mutual confidence between the doctor and the patient. Every mishap or misfortune in the hospital or clinic of a doctor is not a gross act of negligence to try him for an offence of culpable negligence.

No doubt, in the present case, the patient was a young man with no history of any heart ailment. The operation to be performed for nasal deformity was not so complicated or serious. He was not accompanied even by his own wife during the operation. From the medical opinions produced by the prosecution, the cause of death is stated to be "not introducing a cuffed endotracheal tube of proper size as to prevent aspiration of blood from the wound in the respiratory passage". This act attributed to the doctor, even if accepted to be true, can be described as negligent act as there was lack of due care and precaution. For this act of negligence he may be liable in tort but his carelessness or want of due attention and skill cannot be described to be so reckless or grossly negligent as to make him criminally liable.

(Para 24)

After examining all the medical papers accompanying the complaint, we find that no case of recklessness or gross negligence has been made out against the doctor to compel him to face trial for offence under Section 304-A IPC. As a result of the discussion aforesaid on the factual and legal aspect, we allow this appeal and by setting aside the impugned orders of the Magistrate and of the High Court, quash the criminal proceedings pending against the present doctor who is the accused and appellant before us. (Para 28)

21. Reliance has also been placed upon the judgment of Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of A.S.V. Narayanan Rao v. Ratnamala and Another3. In the said case, the appellant cardiologist conducted an angiogram on the deceased and finding three blocks in the coronary arteries, conducted an angioplasty around 1.30 p.m. The appellant thereafter informed the respondent (wife of deceased patient) that the angioplasty failed and the blocks of her husband had calcified. The same day around 3.30 p.m., a bypass surgery was conducted in the same hospital. Various complications arose and eventually the said patient died. The Magistrate took cognizance by prima facie concluding that there was material to try the appellant for offences under Section 304A of I.P.C. and the matter came up before the High Court. It too declined to quash the proceedings, giving the following reasons :

(1) that the appellant chose to conduct the angioplasty without having a surgical standby unit and such failure resulted in delay of 5 hrs in conducting bypass after the angioplasty failed; and and held that both the abovementioned lapses on the part of the appellant clearly show the negligence of the appellant.

(2) that the appellant did not consult a cardio anaesthesian before conducting an angioplasty.

22. Hon'ble Apex Court, allowing the appeal, held as follows :

13. The basis for such conclusion though not apparent from the judgment, we are told by the learned counsel for the first respondent, is to be found in the evidence of Dr Surajit Dan given before the A.P. State Consumer Disputes Redressal Commission in CD No. 38 of 2004. It may also be mentioned here that apart from initiating criminal proceedings against the appellant and others, the first respondent also raised a consumer dispute against the appellant and others. It is in the said proceedings, the abovementioned Dr Dan's evidence was recorded wherein Dr Dan in his cross-examination stated as follows:

"... Whenever cardiologist performs an angioplasty, he requests for the surgical team to be ready as standby. It was not put on standby in the instant case...."

He further stated:

"... The failure of angioplasty put the heart in a compromised position of poor coronary perfusion that increases the risk of the emergency surgery after that. In a planned coronary surgery, the risk is less than in an emergency surgery...."

However, the same doctor also stated:

"... The time gap between the angioplasty failure and the surgery is not the factor for the death of the patient. The time gap may or may not be a factor for the enhancement of the risk."

14. Unfortunately, the last of the above-extracted statements of Dr Surajit Dan is not taken into account by the High Court which statement according to us is most crucial in the context of criminal prosecution of the appellant.

15. The High Court unfortunately overlooked this factor. We, therefore, are of the opinion that the prosecution of the appellant is uncalled for as pointed out by this Court in Jacob Mathew case [(2005) 6 SCC 1 : 2005 SCC (Cri) 1369] that the negligence, if any, on the part of the appellant cannot be said to be "gross". We, therefore, set aside the judgment [Criminal Petition No. 6506 of 2007, order dated 28-10-2010 (AP) sub nom Surjit Dan v. State of A.P., Criminal Petition No. 6368 of 2007] under appeal and also the proceedings of the trial court dated 11-12-2006.

23. This Court would like to rely upon the law laid down by Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of Kusum Sharma and Others v. Batra Hospital and Medical Research Centre and Others4. In this case, Hon'ble Apex Court has summarized the principles to be applied in a case of criminal negligence, which are as follows :

89. On scrutiny of the leading cases of medical negligence both in our country and other countries specially the United Kingdom, some basic principles emerge in dealing with the cases of medical negligence. While deciding whether the medical professional is guilty of medical negligence following well-known principles must be kept in view:

I. Negligence is the breach of a duty exercised by omission to do something which a reasonable man, guided by those considerations which ordinarily regulate the conduct of human affairs, would do, or doing something which a prudent and reasonable man would not do.

II. Negligence is an essential ingredient of the offence. The negligence to be established by the prosecution must be culpable or gross and not the negligence merely based upon an error of judgment.

III. The medical professional is expected to bring a reasonable degree of skill and knowledge and must exercise a reasonable degree of care. Neither the very highest nor a very low degree of care and competence judged in the light of the particular circumstances of each case is what the law requires.

IV. A medical practitioner would be liable only where his conduct fell below that of the standards of a reasonably competent practitioner in his field.

V. In the realm of diagnosis and treatment there is scope for genuine difference of opinion and one professional doctor is clearly not negligent merely because his conclusion differs from that of other professional doctor.

VI. The medical professional is often called upon to adopt a procedure which involves higher element of risk, but which he honestly believes as providing greater chances of success for the patient rather than a procedure involving lesser risk but higher chances of failure. Just because a professional looking to the gravity of illness has taken higher element of risk to redeem the patient out of his/her suffering which did not yield the desired result may not amount to negligence.

VII. Negligence cannot be attributed to a doctor so long as he performs his duties with reasonable skill and competence. Merely because the doctor chooses one course of action in preference to the other one available, he would not be liable if the course of action chosen by him was acceptable to the medical profession.

VIII. It would not be conducive to the efficiency of the medical profession if no doctor could administer medicine without a halter round his neck.

IX. It is our bounden duty and obligation of the civil society to ensure that the medical professionals are not unnecessarily harassed or humiliated so that they can perform their professional duties without fear and apprehension.

X. The medical practitioners at times also have to be saved from such a class of complainants who use criminal process as a tool for pressurising the medical professionals/hospitals, particularly private hospitals or clinics for extracting uncalled for compensation. Such malicious proceedings deserve to be discarded against the medical practitioners.

XI. The medical professionals are entitled to get protection so long as they perform their duties with reasonable skill and competence and in the interest of the patients. The interest and welfare of the patients have to be paramount for the medical professionals.

90. In our considered view, the aforementioned principles must be kept in view while deciding the cases of medical negligence. We should not be understood to have held that doctors can never be prosecuted for medical negligence. As long as the doctors have performed their duties and exercised an ordinary degree of professional skill and competence, they cannot be held guilty of medical negligence. It is imperative that the doctors must be able to perform their professional duties with free mind.

24. In view of the above position of law, this Court will have to analyze facts of the present case.

The patient/deceased in the present case had been admitted in the hospital of the accused-applicant, after the former met with an accident and remained hospitalized for about 23 days in a special ward. He was on the verge of getting discharged as he had been cured, as has been mentioned in the first information report. Further, it is mentioned in the F.I.R. that on 16.06.2012, Dr. Adil came with a nurse to disconnect the tube which was installed in the chest, blood oozed out profusely and thereafter, the doctor fled away from the said ward and when the informant gave information about this occurrence in the emergency, one or two people came and tried to stop the blood. Thereafter, the doctors feigned to revive the patient/deceased for about one hour and thereafter, declared him dead. As per post-mortem, cause of death is reported to be due to septicemic shock. The following ante-mortem injuries were recorded :

1. Right side chest tube incertion mark 1.5 x 1.5 cm on right side chest 7.00 cm. lateral to Rt nipple.

2. Cut open mark for yv canula on Rt. side on medial aspect 0.5 cm x 0.2 cm

25. In the report of the Inquiry Committee which was constituted by the V.C., dated 18.06.2012, the following observations were made :

Observations of the Inquiry Committee

1. Such procedures (in this case ICTD) should have been performed in minor OT/dressing room available in general ward instead of a private ward.

2. It is preferable to undertake such steps in presence of senior colleague, nursing/paramedical staff.

3. Before performing such procedures, the availability of necessary life saving drugs or equipments should be ensured to face any such eventuality.

4. The attending Doctors should keep in mind all consequences, including the rarest one and should explain the same to the patient/his attendant.

Fixing the responsibility on the erring official(s) and role of Prof. M.H. Beg

1. The patient from the date of his admission was taken care of by the team and the patient and his attendants were fully satisfied with this progress prior to the incidence that occurred on 16th of June 2012 and this is also reflected in their statements made after this incidence before the IC.

2. The resident Doctor (Dr. Adil JR-2), on the advice of the COC, as recorded in the case sheet on 15.6.2012 and also put on records in his statement submitted to the IC. a decision was made to remove the ICT on 16th June 2012. He acted accordingly the next day without realizing the consequences, however remote it could be. During his maneuvering for removal of ICT, it seems that the situation has gone out of his control as he was not mentally prepared to face such a situation. Had he been accompanied by any one of his colleagues, he could have been in a better position to handle such a situation in a better way.

3. As a rarest complication, even not perceived by a senior person of Dr. Beg's stature, it would be unfair on the part of a junior Doctor (Dr. Adil) to expect from him to think of such an uncommon procedural complication.

26. The matter was taken up before the Uttar Pradesh Medical Council, which passed the following order on 23.11.2012 :

Order

The Ethical Committee observed that the causes of death as per post mortem report is Septicemia. Removal of ICD can not be held as cause of death. Bleeding can occur in few case from the site of ICD after removal which is not under control. Dr. Ali Adil has also done ATLS. He did his best to save the patient life under the circumstances.

The Ethical Committee is the opinion that Dr. Ali Adil can not be held guilty of medical negligence.

27. I have gone through the statements of the witnesses which have been annexed in support of the prosecution version, namely, Ashfiya and Aisha Begum. Both of them have supported the version as mentioned in the F.I.R. I find that if we apply the principles as laid down above in the case of Dr. Suresh Gupta (supra), it is apparent that for thrusting criminal liability on a doctor or surgeon, the standard of negligence required to be proved should be so high as can be described as "gross negligence" or "recklessness". It is not merely, lack of necessary care, attention or skill which would make him liable criminally. In this very case, reliance was placed upon the judgment delivered by the House of Lords decision in the case of R.v. Adomako5 in which it was held that a doctor cannot be held criminally responsible for patient's death unless his negligence or incompetence showed such disregard for life and safety of his patient as to amount to a crime against the State. There is no doubt that when a patient agrees to undergo medical treatment or surgical operation, every careless act of the medical man cannot be termed as "criminal". It can be termed "criminal" only when the medical man exhibits a gross lack of competence or inaction and wanton indifference to his patient's safety and which is found to have arisen from gross ignorance or gross negligence. Where a patient's death results merely from error of judgment or an accident, no criminal liability should be attached to it. Mere inadvertence or some degree of want of adequate care and caution might create civil liability but would not suffice to hold him criminally liable.

28. In this case, there is no doubt that the patient was a young man who had met simply with an accident and was recovering also, but due to removal of the tube inserted in the chest during treatment, something appears to have gone wrong, which resulted into his death. The family members of the deceased have given an opinion of a layman that it was gross negligence on the part of the accused doctor (Dr. Adil) who did not take full precaution despite their resistance to take out the said tube in such a manner and hence, in their opinion, the doctor committed gross negligence, which resulted into the death of the deceased. But the said layman's opinion is not strong enough to hold the accused criminally liable. As per the opinion expressed by the Ethical Committee of the U.P. Medical Council, the death of the deceased was found to have occurred due to septicemic shock. It cannot be ruled out that some lack of preparation has also been found on the part of the accused doctor while removing the said tube from the chest as he ought to have done so in the presence of some senior doctor and that too, in an O.T. and having all other medical aids in ready condition and in standby mode, but that certainly shows the negligence on the part of the doctor, but I do not find that the same would qualify to be called as "criminal negligence" as it may at the most be treated to be negligence for which civil liability would lie. It may also not be ruled out that the accused doctor was having overconfidence that he would be able to handle the situation himself, but it turned out to be otherwise and it can also be inferred that it may have resulted into accidental death of the deceased. I do not find any such reckless attitude on the part of the doctor because the patient was given treatment for about 23 days and he was recovering gradually, but as luck would have it, he died on account of this mishandling on the part of the doctor concerned. Life and death are all in the hands of God. A doctor in the Indian society is the most revered person, who is given status of God in case the patient survives. But we all know that in cases like the present one, risk is always involved and when the patient/family members give consent for being operated, they give consent for such kind of operation to be conducted and to bear the consequences. It is also noticed in the recent past that the cases to implicate the doctors after demise of the patient have increased, some on account of extortion of illegal money from the doctors and some due to other reasons, only to harass the doctors, out of frustration and because of these factors, the guidelines have been laid down by Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of Jacob Mathew v. State of Punjab and Another6 and also recently, in the case of Kusum Sharma (supra), which have been narrated above. Keeping in view those guidelines, I am of the view that in the present case, no criminal liability appears to be made out against the accused-applicants. In view of the material placed before this Court, at the most, civil liability would arise.

29. In view of the aforesaid, the prayer to quash the entire criminal proceedings as well as the impugned summoning order passed by the court below is hereby accepted and accordingly, the entire proceedings as well as the impugned summoning order passed in the present case are hereby quashed.

30. Resultantly, the instant applications stand allowed.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Rajendra Kumar-IV, J.)

1. By means of this application under Section 482 Cr.P.C., applicants jitesh Kumar Gupta and four others approached this Court for quashing summoning order dated 14.2.2019 in Complaint Case No. 367 of 2019 (Pooja Rani vs. Jitesh Kumar and others), under Sections 498-A I.P.C. & 3/4 Dowry Prohibition Act, Police Station Shivpur, District Varanasi, pending in the Court of Additional Chief Judicial Magistrate, Court No. 6, Varanasi and entire proceedings thereof.

2. Brief facts giving rise to the present application are that Smt. Pooja Rani filed a complaint under Section 156(3) Cr.P.C. on 18.6.2018 against Jitesh Kumar Gupta, Gopal Chand Gupta, Smt. Parvati Devi, Chandan Gupta and Chandrkesh Gupta stating that her marriage took place with Jitesh Kumar Gupta on 26.4.2016 as per Hindu rites and sufficient Dowry was given according to her father's capability, was given to her in laws at the time of marriage. Complaint further recites that her in-laws started demanding one car and Rs. 5,00,000/- as Dowry and harassing her by saying that Jitesh Kumar Gupta, her husband, is a Government Servant. She was ill-treated and tortured by accused-applicants. On 13.4.2018, she was kicked out from her matrimonial house by husband and family members by snatching her entire belongings.

3. Application under Section 156 (3) Cr.P.C. came to be registered as complaint case. Magistrate recorded the statement of victim-complainant under Section 200 Cr.P.C. and made an enquiry by recording statement of Deen Dayal Prasad (PW-1) and Ashok Kumar Patel (PW-2) under Section 202 Cr.P.C. and found prima-facie case and sufficient ground for proceeding against accused persons, summoned them for facing trial under Sections 498-A IPC and Section 3/4 Dowry Prohibition Act, PS Shivpur, District Varanasi vide impugned order dated 14.2.2019.

4. Feeling aggrieved and dissatisfied with the impugned summoning order, accused-applicants filed present application under Section 482 Cr.P.C. for quashing the summoning order as well as complaint.

5. I have heard Sri S.B. Singh, Advocate holding brief of Sri Rajendra Singh, learned counsel for applicants and learned AGA for State and perused the record on file.

6. It is submitted by learned counsel for applicants that no prima facie case is made out against the applicants. They have falsely been implicated for the purpose of harassment and humiliation. Magistrate has not applied its mind in passing the impugned order. There is no sufficient evidence in the case to summon the applicants for facing trial. It is submitted that complainant was not a lady of good character, she lived in her parental house at her own will just after the marriage performed. Marriage is not consummated, despite that she gave birth to a male child as a result of adultery. It is further submitted by him that applicant no. 1 Jitesh Kumar Gupta filed a divorce petition in the family court concerned agaisnt the complainant and just to escape from legal proceeding of that divorce petition, complainant filed the impugned complaint. Applicants prayed for quashing the impugned complaint.

7. Learned AGA for State vehemently opposed the prayer for quashing the impugned order as well as complaint case and submitted that marriage of Pooja Rani and applicant no. 1 Jitesh Kumar Gupta is admitted. Applicant no. 1 stigmatized upon character of his wife and disputed the parentage of his son. Applicants tortured and ill-treated the complainant, therefore, complainant filed the complaint case in which Magistrate after making inquiry rightly summoned the accused persons for facing trial.

8. I have considered the rival submissions made by the parties and perused the records.

9. Before I enter into the facts of the present case it is necessary to consider the ambit and scope of jurisdiction under Section 482 Cr.P.C. vested in the High Court. Section 482 Cr.P.C. saves the inherent power of the High Court to make such orders as may be necessary to give effect to any order under this Code, or to prevent abuse of the process of any Court or otherwise to secure the ends of justice.

10. It is settled that the power under Section 482 Cr.P.C. is not to be exercised in a routine manner, but it is for limited purposes, namely, to give effect to any order under the Code, or to prevent abuse of process of any Court or otherwise to secure ends of justice.

11. Time and again, Apex Court and various High Courts, have reminded when exercise of power under Section 482 Cr.P.C. would be justified, which cannot be placed in straight jacket formula, but one thing is very clear that it should not preempt a trial and cannot be used in a routine manner so as to cut short the entire process of trial before the Courts below. If from a bare perusal of first information report or complaint, it is evident that it does not disclose any offence at all or it is frivolous, collusive or oppressive from the face of it, the Court may exercise its inherent power under Section 482 Cr.P.C. but it should be exercised sparingly. This will not include as to whether prosecution is likely to establish its case or not, whether the evidence in question is reliable or not or whether on a reasonable appreciation of it, accusation would not be sustained, or the other circumstances, which would not justify exercise of jurisdiction under Section 482 Cr.P.C. (See : State of Haryana and others Vs. Ch. Bhajan Lal and others 1992 Supp (1) SCC 335, Popular Muthiah Vs. State represented by Inspector of Police (2006) 7 SCC 296, Hamida vs. Rashid @ Rasheed and Ors. (2008) 1 SCC 474, Dr. Monica Kumar and Anr. vs. State of U.P. and Ors. (2008) 8 SCC 781, M.N. Ojha and Ors. Vs. Alok Kumar Srivastav and Anr. (2009) 9 SCC 682, State of A.P. vs. Gourishetty Mahesh and Ors. JT 2010 (6) SC 588 and Iridium India Telecom Ltd. Vs. Motorola Incorporated and Ors. 2011 (1) SCC 74).

12. In State of Haryana and others v. Bhajan Lal and others, 1992 Supp (1) SCC 335, Court has elaborately considered the scope and ambit of Section 482 Cr.P.C. Although in the above case Court was considering the power of the High Court to quash the entire criminal proceeding including the FIR, the case arose out of an FIR registered under Section 161, 165 IPC and Section 5(2) of the Prevention of Corruption Act, 1947. Court elaborately considered the scope of Section 482 Cr.P.C./ Article 226 of the Constitution of India in the context of quashing the proceedings in criminal investigation. After noticing various earlier pronouncements of Court, Court enumerated certain Categories of cases by way of illustration where power under Section 482 Cr.P.C. can be exercised to prevent abuse of the process of the Court or secure ends of justice. Paragraph 102 which enumerates 7 categories of cases where power can be exercised under Section 482 Cr.P.C. are extracted as follows:

"102. In the backdrop of the interpretation of the various relevant provisions of the Code under Chapter XIV and of the principles of law enunciated by this Court in a series of decisions relating to the exercise of the extraordinary power under Article 226 or the inherent powers under Section 482 of the Code which we have extracted and reproduced above, we give the following categories of cases by way of illustration wherein such power could be exercised either to prevent abuse of the process of any court or otherwise to secure the ends of justice, though it may not be possible to lay down any precise, clearly defined and sufficiently channelised and inflexible guidelines or rigid formulae and to give an exhaustive list of myriad kinds of cases wherein such power should be exercised.

(1) Where the allegations made in the first information report or the complaint, even if they are taken at their face value and accepted in their entirety do not prima facie constitute any offence or make out a case against the accused.

(2) Where the allegations in the first information report and other materials, if any, accompanying the FIR do not disclose a cognizable offence, justifying an investigation by police officers under Section 156(1) of the Code except under an order of a Magistrate within the purview of Section 155(2) of the Code.

(3) Where the uncontroverted allegations made in the FIR or complaint and the evidence collected in support of the same do not disclose the commission of any offence and make out a case against the accused.

(4) Where, the allegations in the FIR do not constitute a cognizable offence but constitute only a non-cognizable offence, no investigation is permitted by a police officer without an order of a Magistrate as contemplated under Section 155(2) of the Code.

(5) Where the allegations made in the FIR or complaint are so absurd and inherently improbable on the basis of which no prudent person can ever reach a just conclusion that there is sufficient ground for proceeding against the accused.

(6) Where there is an express legal bar engrafted in any of the provisions of the Code or the concerned Act (under which a criminal proceeding is instituted) to the institution and continuance of the proceedings and/or where there is a specific provision in the Code or the concerned Act, providing efficacious redress for the grievance of the aggrieved party.

(7) Where a criminal proceeding is manifestly attended with mala fide and/or where the proceeding is maliciously instituted with an ulterior motive for wreaking vengeance on the accused and with a view to spite him due to private and personal grudge."

13. In Priya Vrat Singh and others vs. Shyam Ji Sahai, 2008 (8) SCC 232, Court observed that the inherent power should not be exercised to stifle a legitimate prosecution. The High Court being the highest court of a State should normally refrain from giving a prima-facie decision in a case where the entire facts are incomplete and hazy, more so when the evidence has not been collected and produced before the Court and the issues involved, whether factual or legal, are of magnitude and cannot be seen in their true perspective without sufficient material. Of course, no hard-and-fast rule can be laid down in regard to cases in which the High Court will exercise its extraordinary jurisdiction of quashing the proceeding at any stage.

14. In Fakhruddin Ahmad v. State of Uttaranchal, reported in, (2008) 1 SCC 157, the Court held that :

"20. So far as the scope and ambit of the powers of the High Court under Section 482 of the Code is concerned, the same has been enunciated and reiterated by this Court in a catena of decisions and illustrative circumstances under which the High Court can exercise jurisdiction in quashing the proceedings have been enumerated. However, for the sake of brevity, we do not propose to make reference to the decisions on the point. It would suffice to state that though the powers possessed by the High Court under the said provision are very wide but these should be exercised in appropriate cases, ex debito justitiae to do real and substantial justice for the administration of which alone the Courts exist. The inherent powers possessed by the High Court are to be exercised very carefully and with great caution so that a legitimate prosecution is not stifled. Nevertheless, where the High Court is convinced that the allegations made in the First Information Report or the complaint, even if they are taken at their face value and accepted in their entirety, do not prima facie constitute any offence or make out a case against the accused or where the allegations made in the F.I.R. or the complaint are so absurd and inherently improbable on the basis of which no prudent person can ever reach a just conclusion that there is sufficient ground for proceeding against the accused, the powers of the High Court under the said provision should be exercised."

15. In the present case marriage of applicant no. 1 Jitesh Kumar Gupta with opposite party no.2 Smt. Pooja Rani is a admitted fact and applicants could not dispute the fact of marriage. Evidently, applicant no. 1 Jitesh Kumar Gupta filed divorce petition under Section 13 of Hindu Marriage Act before Principal Judge Family Court, Varanasi against complainant Pooja Rani seeking a decree of nullity of marriage (Annexure-1) in which in paragraph no. 22, he admitted that there is no consummation of marriage. Despite that Pooja Rani gave a birth to a male child in her parental house as a result of adultery because she was living in her parental house since 11.10.2016. Thus, applicant no. 1 stigmatized character of his wife and parentage of his own son which itself amount to cruelty to his own wife.

16. The allegation levelled against each other can be adjudicated only after the evidence and truthfulness of allegation cannot be considered in the proceeding under Section 482 Cr.P.C. before this Court and trial must go on.

17. From perusal of allegations made in complaint, statement of witnesses under Sections 200 and 202 Cr.P.C., it cannot be said that no prima facie evidence or sufficient ground for proceeding is there. At the time of passing summoning order, Magistrate is only to see prima facie evidence and sufficient ground for proceeding.

18. Application under Section 482 Cr.P.C. is accordingly dismissed.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Vivek Kumar Singh, J.)

1. Heard Sri Anil Mullick learned counsel for the applicant and Sri Abhinav Prasad, learned A.G.A. on behalf of the state.

2. This 482 Cr.P.C. application has been preferred for quashing the charge sheet No.117 dated 13.9.2001, under Section 2/3 The U.P. Gangster & Anti Social Activities (Prevention) Act, 1986,Police Station Kotwali, District Meerut, pending in the Court of learned Special Judge Gangster Act, Meerut.

3. The facts of the case are that a first information report was lodged against the applicant as case crime No.166 of 2000, under Sections 2/3 of the U.P. Gangster & Anti Social Activities (Prevention) Act, 1986, Police Station Kotwali, District Meerut and only on the basis of a single case i.e. case crime no.166 of 2000, under Section 384/506 I.P.C. read with Section 7 Criminal Law Amendment Act, Police Station Kotwali, District Meerut, after investigation the Investigating Officer has submitted charge sheet against four persons including the applicant. The trial of the said case commenced and after the trial the applicant was acquitted by the judgment and order dated 27.4.2001 passed in Criminal Case No.871 of 2000.

4. During the pendency of the aforesaid trial a first information report was lodged against the accused, including the applicant on 13.8.2000 under Section 2/3 of the U.P. Gangster Anti-Social Activities (Prevention) Act 1986 (hereinafter referred to as "Gangster Act") only. The sole basis of lodging of the first information report against the applicant was the implication in case crime no.166 of 2000, under Section 384/506 I.P.C. read with Section 7 Criminal Law Amendment Act, Police Station Kotwali, District Meerut, he was acquitted on 27.4.2001. Before acquittal chargesheet dated 15.12.2007 was filed against the applicant.

5. Counter affidavit has been filed on behalf of the state stating that the applicant is an accused in the eye of law who has involved himself in anti-social activities. During investigation of the case evidence also came to light that the applicant formed a gang which is involved in extortion of money from innocent people and therefore he was implicated in the case under Gangster Act. Even after acquittal in case crime no.166 of 2000, under Section 384/506 I.P.C. read with Section 7 Criminal Law Amendment Act, Police Station Kotwali, District Meerut, he cannot be discharged from the proceedings under the Gangster Act and he does not deserve any relief from this court.

6. Learned counsel for the applicant submits that the very basis of initiation of F.I.R. under Gangster Act was the statements recorded under Section 161 Cr.P.C. of case crime no.166 of 2000, under Section 384/506 I.P.C. read with Section 7 Criminal Law Amendment Act, Police Station Kotwali, District Meerut. Learned counsel submitted that said basis for initiation of F.I.R. under Gangster Act has been disbelieved by the trial Court as the applicant has been acquitted in the aforesaid crime, which acquittal order has not been challenged as yet. It is further contended that once very basis of initiation of Gangster's Act proceedings diminished, the entire trial procedure and rigmarole of proceedings of criminal trial under that Act will be nothing but only wastage of time of Court. The learned counsel for the applicant has relied upon the judgment of the Apex Court in the case of Pritam Singh and another vs. State of Punjab, AIR, 1956 Supreme Court 415 in support of his contention that once the revisionist was acquitted by the competent court for the case crime no.166 of 2000, under Section 384/506 I.P.C. read with Section 7 Criminal Law Amendment Act, his trial under the provisions of Gangster Act would not be justified since the basis of implication in the case under the Gangsters Act was the case registered against the applicant in case crime no.166 of 2000, under Section

384/506 I.P.C. read with Section 7 Criminal Law Amendment Act. His contention is that his trial under the Gangster's Act would require trial regarding the same offence which was not found to have been proved by the trial court in the earlier case. He has relied upon the following observations of the Apex Court in the above mentioned case:-

"The effect of a verdict of acquittal pronounced by a competent Court on a lawful charge and after a lawful trial is not completely stated by saying that the person acquitted cannot be tried again for the same offence. To that it must be added that the verdict is binding and conclusive in all subsequent proceedings between the parties to the adjudication.

The maxim 'res judicata pro veritate accipitur' is no less applicable to criminal than to civil proceedings. Here, the appellant having been acquitted at the first trial on the charge of having ammunition in his possession, the prosecution was bound to accept the correctness of that verdict and was precluded from taking any steps to challenge it at the second trial".

7. In support of his contention learned counsel has further placed reliance on the judgment of the Apex Court in the case of N.R. Ghosh vs. the State of West Bengal, AIR 1960 Supreme Court (SC) 239 and has relied upon in paragraph 22 of the same reads as under:-

"The principle stated in the section is that when a person has once been tried by a court of competent jurisdiction for an offence and convicted or acquitted of it, he shall not while the conviction or acquittal remains in force, be tried again for the same offence. In order, therefore, that the appellant may have the benefit of the section he must have been tried by a court of competent jurisdiction. Furthermore, such acquittal must be in force."

8. Reference to the Apex Court judgment in the case of Manipur Administration, Manipur vs. Thokchon Veere Singh, AIR 1965 (SC) 87 has also been made wherein paragraph 6 are as follows:-

Before referring to the decision of this Court in Pritam Singh v. State of Punjab(1) it would be convenient to refer to and put aside one point for clearing the ground. Section 403, Criminal Procedure Code embodies in statutory form the accepted English rule of autre fois acquit. This section is as follows:-

"403 (1) A person who has been once tried by a Court of competent jurisdiction for an offence and convicted or acquitted of such offence shall, while such conviction or acquittal remains in force, not be liable to be tried again for the same offence, nor on the same facts for any offence for which a different charge from the one made against him might have been made under s. 236, or for which he might have been convicted under section 237. (2) A person acquitted or convicted of any offence may be afterwards tried for any distinct offence for which a separate charge might have been made against him on the former trial under section 235, sub-section (1). (3) A person convicted of any offence constituted by any act causing consequences which, together with such act, constituted a different offence from that of which he was convicted may be afterwards tried for such last mentioned offence, if the consequences had not happened, or were not known to the Court to have happened, at the time when he was convicted.

(4) A person acquitted or convicted of any offence constituted by any acts may, notwithstanding such acquittal or conviction, be subsequently charged with, and tried for, any other offence constituted by the same acts which he may have committed if the Court by which he was first tried was not competent to try the offence with which he is subsequently charged.

(1) A.T.R. 1956 S.C. 415.

(5) Nothing in this section shall affect the provisions of section 26 of the General Clauses Act, 1897, or section 188 of this Code.

Explanation-The dismissal of a complaint, the stopping of proceedings under section 249, the discharge of the accused or any entry made upon a charge under section 273, is not an acquittal for the purposes of this section." Section 26 of the General Clauses Act which is referred to in s. 403 enacts:

"26. Where an act or omission constitutes an offence under two or more enactments, then the offender shall be liable to be prosecuted and punished under either or any of those enactments, but shall not be liable to be punished twice for the same offence."

We might also, in this connection, refer to Art. 20(2) of the Constitution since it makes provision for a bar against a second prosecution in an analogous case. That provision reads:

"20(2). No person shall be prosecuted and punished for the same offence more than once." As has been pointed out by this Court in State of Bombay v. S. L. Apte(1), both in the case of Art. 20(2) of the Constitution as well as s. 26 of the General Clauses Act to operate as a bar the second prosecution and the consequential punishment thereunder, must be for "same offence" i.e., an offence whose ingredients are the same. It has been pointed out in the same decision that the V Amendment of the American Constitution which provides that no person shall be subject, for the same offence, to be twice put in jeopardy of life or limb, proceeds on the same principle.

9. Reliace on Apex Court judgment in the case of Lalta and others vs. State of U.P., AIR 1970 (SC) 1381 has been made, wherein case of Pritam Singh's (supra) and Manipur Administration's case (supra) have been accepted as binding authorities on the issue. Reference to Municipal Corporation of Delhi vs. Shiv Singh 1971 (1) SCC 422 has been made where Section 26 of the general clauses Act 1897 were considered regarding the question of double jeopardy in relation to prosecution of an accused for single offence under two enactments and it was held that Section 26 of the general clauses Act prevents accused from double penalty. This judgment has been relied by the counsel to advance the proposition that the prosecution of the revisionist under the general provisions of Indian Penal Code and then under the provisions of Special Act i.e., Gangster Act on the basis of implication in the case under Section I.P.C., wherein he has been acquitted should not be permitted.

10. Counsel for the applicant has referred to the judgment, Bhagat Ram vs. State of Rajasthan (1972) 2 SCC 466, wherein the Apex Court held that even if an order of acquittal is passed by Division Bench of the Court, it is not open for the third Judge of the same Court in a subsequent stage of the same proceedings to convict the person unless the judgment of the Division Bench is set aside by the Supreme Court. In view of the principle embodied in Section 403 I.P.C.

11. The counsel has relied upon the judgment, Masood Khan vs. State of U.P. (1974) 3 SCC 469, wherein the issue decided was that for getting the benefit of the principle of issue of estoppel both the proceedings should be criminal proceedings and where one proceeding is civil and the other is criminal, the benefit of this principle will not be extended to the accused. Reference to V.K. Agrawal, Assistant Collector of Customs vs. Vasant Raj Bhagwan Ji Bhatia and others, (1988) 3 SCC 467 has also been made.

12. Learned counsel for the applicant has argued that in the present case the prosecution of the applicant is being made under the Gangsters Act. After acquittal under the provisions of I.P.C. If two constructions are possible one leading to anamoly, absurdity and unconstitutionality should be avoided.

13. Learned counsel for the applicant has relied upon the judgment in the case of Kolla Vira Raghav Rao vs. Gorantla Vlalalalalal Rao, (2011) 2 SCC 703. In this case the Apex Court disapproved the prosecution of the accused under Section 420 I.P.C. After he was convicted under Section 138 N.I. Act, holding that the subsequent prosecution is barred by article 20(2) and Section 300(1) Cr.P.C. once the facts are the same.

14. After considering the authorities cited by the counsel for the applicant it is clear that the applicant was implicated in the Gangsters Act only on account of involvement in the case crime no.166 of 2000, under Section 384/506 I.P.C. read with Section 7 Criminal Law Amendment Act. The proceedings under the Gangsters Act are not independent proceedings. The implication of the applicant in the offence under the Gangsters Act was only because of the one case registered against him as case crime no.166 of 2000, under Section 384/506 I.P.C. read with Section 7 Criminal Law Amendment Act, as clear from the gang chart annexed with the affidavit in support of this 482 Cr.P.C. application. The definition of gang is given in Section 2(b) which is as follows:-

(b)"Gang" means a group of persons, who acting either singly or collectively, by violence, or threat or show of violence, or intimidation, or coercion, or otherwise with the object of disturbing public order or of gaining any undue temporal, pecuniary, material or other advantage for himself or any other person, indulge in antisocial activities, namely:

(i) offences punishable under Chapter XVI, or Chapter XVII, or Chapter XXII of the Indian Penal Code (Act No. 45 of 1860), or

(ii) distilling or manufacturing or storing or transporting or importing or exporting or selling or distributing any liquor, or intoxicating or dangerous drugs, or other intoxicants or narcotics or cultivating any plant, in contravention of any of the provisions of the U. P. Excise Act, 1910 (U. P. Act No. 4 of 1910), or the Narcotic Drugs and Psychotropic

Substances Act, 1985 (Act No. 61 of 1985), or any other law for the time being in force, or

(iii) occupying or taking possession of immovable property otherwise than in accordance with law, or setting-up false claims for title or possession of immovable property whether in himself or any other person, or

(iv) preventing or attempting to prevent any public servant or any witness from discharging his lawful duties, or

*(v) offences punishable under the Suppression of [Immoral Traffic in Women and Girls Act, 1956 (Act No. 104 of 1956)], or

(vi) offences punishable under Section 3 of the Public Gambling Act, 1867 (Act No. 3 of 1867), or

(vii) preventing any person from offering bids in auction lawfully conducted, or tender, lawfully invited, by or on behalf of any Government department, local body or public or private undertaking, for any lease or rights or supply of goods or work to be done, or (viii) preventing or disturbing the smooth running by any person of his lawful business, profession, trade or employment or any other lawful activity connected therewith, or

(ix) offences punishable under Section 171-E of the Indian Penal Code (Act No. 45 of 1860), or in preventing or obstructing any public election being lawfully held, by physically preventing the voter from exercising his electoral rights, or (x) inciting others to resort to violence to disturb communal harmony, or (xi) creating panic, alarm or terror in public, or

(xii) terrorising or assaulting employees or owners or occupiers of public or private undertakings or factories and causing mischief in respect of their properties, or

(xiii) inducing or attempting to induce any person to go to foreign countries on false representation that any employment, trade or profession shall be provided to him in such foreign country, or

(xiv) kidnapping or abducting any person with intent to extort ransom, or

(xv) diverting or otherwise preventing any aircraft or public transport vehicle from following its scheduled course.

15. A perusal of the aforesaid sections shows that the applicant was implicated in an offence under chapter 16, I.P.C. and therefore he was implicated in the case under the Gangsters Act. There is only one case shown against the applicant in the gang chart in which the applicant was acquitted by the competent Court and therefore his implication and trial under Section 2/3 of the Gangsters Act was not justified.

16. From the law of the Apex Court as discussed above it is crystal clear that the trial of the applicant for an offence under Section 2/3 of the Gangsters Act is not justified. In view of the fact that only one case is registered against him and he has been acquitted in that case.

17. In view of the above consideration of the facts of the case and law cited the charge sheet No.117 dated 13.9.2001, under Section 2/3 of The U.P. Gangster & Anti Social Activities (Prevention) Act, 1986, Police Station Kotwali, District Meerut, pending in the Court of learned Special Judge Gangster Act, Meerut, is hereby quashed.

18. This application under Section 482 Cr.P.C. henceforth is allowed.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Sudhir Agarwal, J.)

1. This application under Section 482 Cr.P.C. has been filed by M/s Ganesh Anhydride Ltd. and nine others with a prayer to quash Complaint Case No. 805 of 2004 pending in the Court of Additional Chief Judicial Magistrate, Ghaziabad under Sections 138, 141, 142 of Negotiable Instruments Act, 1981 (hereinafter referred to as "Act, 1981") read with Section 420 IPC and also to set aside summoning order dated 21.03.2002 as also bailable warrant dated 14.12.2004.

2. Facts in brief giving rise to present application are that M/s Morgan Securities and Credit Pvt. Ltd. (hereinafter referred to as "Complainant") has its registered office at 53, Friends Colony, East, New Delhi. It is a Company incorporated under the provisions of Companies Act, 1956 (hereinafter referred to as "Act, 1956"). Similarly, applicant-M/s Ganesh Anhydride Ltd. (hereinafter referred to as "Accused-1") is also a Company registered and incorporated under the provisions of Act, 1956 and Accused-2 to 10 are Managing Director, Directors and other persons, incharge, and responsible for conduct of business of Accused-1. Accused-3, Ramesh Pilani, approached Complainant for financial assistance to meet working capital requirement of Accused-1 by way of Inter Corporate Deposit *(hereinafter referred to as "*Facility for an aggregate amount of Rs. 100 lacs, in one or more trenches, with a promise that Accused-1 stood guarantor and repay the money/ amount taken from Complainant as per the agreement executed between parties. Deed of Corporate Guarantee was executed on 07.03.2000 between Accused-1 and Complainant. Complainant-Company placed two ICD each of Rs. 50 lacs dated 14.02.2000 for a period of 91 days and dated 07.03.2000 for a period of 90 days. ICD of Rs. 50 lacks placed on 14.02.2000 was repaid to Complainant but ICD placed on 07.03.2000 due for repayment on 05.06.2000 remained unpaid. Notices and reminders were given by Complainant. As per agreement (Corporate Guarantee Agreement) Accused-1 had undertaken to make payment without delay, demur or protest on first demand of the payment of any or all of the obligations that may become payable at any point of time, if borrower, i.e., Accused-1 refuses, defaults, denied, disputes or fails to pay the lender. After giving credit on account of sale of shares pledged to Complainant, a sum of Rs. 37,95,055/- was due on 31.12.2001 in respect whereof arbitration proceedings were initiated. Accused-1 issued a Cheque No. 713308 for a sum of Rs. 1 crore drawn on State Bank of India, Commercial Branch, Mumbai in favour of Complainant as a further security for realization of loan amount. Notice was given by Complainant on several occasions and lastly on 10.11.2001 to repay outstanding due else Complainant shall be compelled to proceed to present Cheque dated 05.12.2001 given for Rs. 1 crore by Accused-1. Ultimately Complainant presented aforesaid cheque for realization to its Banker but it was dishonoured with Bank's remark "insufficient fund". It is said that this is a violation of provisions of Section 138 of Act, 1981 and consequently complaint was filed. Magistrate taken cognizance of matter, issued summons and this has been challenged before this Court.

3. Sri Vijai Prakash, learned counsel appearing for applicants submitted that there was no legally enforceable debt or liability and, therefore, complaint under Section 138 of Act, 1981 was not maintainable. He placed reliance on Supreme Court's decision in Indus Airways Pvt. Ltd. and others vs. Magnum Aviation Pvt. Ltd. and another, 2014(12) SCC 539 and Sampelly Satyanarayana Rao vs. Indian Renewable Energy Development Agency Ltd., 2016(10) SCC 458. He submitted that as per the own case set up by Complainant, outstanding dues upto 31.12.2001 was Rs. 37,95,055/- but Complainant presented the cheque of Rs. 1 crore which was given as a guarantee and larger amount was not a "debt due" or "liability" for discharge, hence even if the cheque was dishonoured no proceedings under Section 138 could have been initiated against applicants.

4. From the facts discussed above it is evident that ICD of Rs. 1 crore under the agreement was given by Complainant through two transactions of Rs. 50 lacs each. There was a default on the part of accused. For ensuring payment of outstanding dues in case of any default there was an agreement between parties to realize the same through cheque of Rs. 1 crore given by Accused-1 to Complainant as a Corporate Guarantor. It is true that outstanding dues were about 30 lacs and odd but since only one cheque of Rs. 1 crore was given by Accused-1, Complainant had no occasion as also option to present any other cheque except the aforesaid one.

5. The fact remains that cheque included the amount of Rs. 30 lacs and odd which admittedly can be termed as "due debt" or "liability" for discharge thereof the said cheque was utilized. If

Accused-1 had given cheque of a higher amount, it could have been utilized by Drawer for realization of outstanding dues, i.e., for discharge of debt or liability and the mere fact that cheque contains higher amount, will not dilute the liability of drawee to the extent of amount which was for discharge of "due debt" or "liability" stood dishonoured.

6. Therefore, outrightly it cannot be said that non encashment of cheque to the extent it was for discharge of due debt and liability would not come within the purview of Section 138 of Act, 1981 and hence contention that entire proceedings are illegal and without jurisdiction cannot be accepted.

7. In the two judgments relied by applicants there was a clear case of advance payment of which there was no supply since contract frustrated for one or the other reason hence Court held that a cheque issued as advance payment, unless liability or debt has accrued, cannot be construed to have been issued for discharge of any debt and liability. The facts of present case are different, hence both authorities are not applicable to present case.

8. In the circumstances, I find no merit in this application. Dismissed accordingly. Interim order, if any, stands vacated.

Learned counsel for the applicants argued that an application under Section 12, 18, 19, 21 and 22 of Protection of Women from Domestic Violence Act of Police Station Sasani Gate, District Aligarh was moved before the court of Additional Chief Judicial Magistrate by Sarita wife of Som Prakash Rawat @ Sanni with a prayer for grant of Stridhan, maintenance and residence in the house where her husband and in-laws were residing. Marriage in between, was performed on 18.11.2010 and Rs.7,00,000 were spent in this marriage by her father. Vipin Kumar gave a list of articles to be purchased at Agra by money to be given by her parents and this list was having mention of double bed, Sofa set, LED 32 inch T.V., A.C., Fridge, utensils, clothes, drawing table, dining table, dressing table, motor-cycle and others. Rupees 5 lakhs in cash was paid to Vipin Kumar, who is brother-in-law of her husband but only motor-cycle was shown at the time of engagement. Rest money for purchase of articles was said to be deposited at shops and after marriage those articles will be at their residence but after 15 days of marriage, those articles could not be there. The relationship became strained, accusation of torturing for demand of dowry and violence, in form of domestic violence, were said to be given to the applicant, then after, the ornaments and Stridhan were snatched by her in-laws and she was ousted from her house. She went to her parents, narrated the occurrence and made a complaint to police. Persuasion was made by in-laws and assurance for no further torture was made and the applicant was taken by her husband. Her husband was working in L.G. Service Centre at Badaun and was earning Rs.1,80,000/- per month. On the basis of compromise entered in between, she went to her in-laws house on 07.08.2012, she was taken at Ujhiani, Badaun and was residing in a rented portion. She lived there with her husband from 7.8.2012 to 10.9.2012, but relations were strained. Again she was sent to house of Aligarh and she was not taken by her husband. Again persuasion was made with her in-laws and her husband, father-in-law and Vipin Kumar came on 12.6.2013, then, demanded that unless the demand is being fulfilled, no 'Bidai' will take place. Thereafter, some hot talk and scuffled took place. Accused-persons abused her and an application under Protection of Women from Domestic Violence Act was moved on 13.6.2013, wherein, prayer was made for protection. Payment of Rs.5,00,000/- which was paid in the marriage with further maintenance of Rs.5,000/- per month. In addition to it, an accommodation for her at her in-laws house. This was objected by her husband. Marriage on 18.11.2010 was admitted fact but payment of dowry and earning as engineer in L.G. Company thereby earning Rs.80,000/- per month as salary was denied. He was with earning of Rs.5,200/- per month. Applicant never resided with him after 18.09.2011. Husband is an employee at L.G. Service Centre at Badaun. No physical relation was ever established by his wife and Magistrate after hearing both sides concluded with passing of judgment, whereby direction for payment of Rs.5,00,000/- within two month form the date of judgment, in lieu of, 'Stridhan' with a further payment of Rs.5,000/- per month as maintenance was ordered. Beside this, room for accommodation in the house situated in Radhaswami Hajuri Bhawan, Pipal Mandi, Agra along with its amenities of toilet was directed, whereas, the above house, in which in-laws were residing was of Radhaswami Trust and it was handed over to it. Marriage too was dissolved by decree of divorce passed by family court, against which application for restoration was dismissed on merit and the defective appeal is pending before High Court. There was no stay by any Court against above decree of dissolution of marriage between both sides. Husband got married and he was blessed with two kids, with whom he is residing and under above chain of circumstances, there was no possibility for accommodating applicant in that house wherein he is residing. Because she herself would not like to be with family of husband, who is having a second wife with her children. The house which was directed to be given is no more in possession of her in-laws, rather, it was surrendered on 20.06.2017 to the above trust. The grant of Rs.5,000/- per month as maintenance was also not with any basis even then in compliance of order of above court as well as order of this Court passed in defective criminal appeal, the same is being paid to applicant Rs.5,00,000/- was ordered to be paid without any basis and it was beyond the capacity of applicant. Hence, this order was challenged before the appellate court, wherein learned Sessions Judge, Aligarh in Criminal Appeal No.81 of 2016, heard learned counsel for both sides and then after dismissed appeal whereby confirmed order of Magistrate. Above facts which were raised before both of the courts, could no be taken notice of. It was misuse of process of law, hence, this application under Section 482 Cr.P.C. with above prayer for its allowance and thereby setting aside both of impugned order along with proceeding filed under Protection of Women from Domestic Violence Act.

3. Learned counsel for applicant-respondent vehemently opposed the argument with this contention that this was a proceeding under Protection of Women from Domestic Violence Act, 2005 which is a socio-economic legislation and other proceeding under family court or before this Court is not of any effect of this proceeding because it was admitted that applicant is wife of opposite party No.1. The alleged decree of divorce was ex-parte decree, obtained under fraud and there was no service of process, hence, when it came in the knowledge, immediately restoration application was moved and trial court was kind enough to allow application for condonation of delay, but restoration application was dismissed for which appeal has been filed before this Court and the same is pending for disposal. Hence, dissolution of marriage is sub judice. More so, an application was moved before Superintendent of Police and it was referred before mediation centre, where, both sides appeared continuously for more than two months and husband always assured by extending his inclination for taking his wife with him and at no point of time, this was disclosed that he had got a decree of dissolution of marriage and he had married second time. This fact was got hidden by him. This itself shows by which way he was operating, on one way, he was appearing in mediation centre for taking back his wife to show his inclination for his innocence, on the other way, he was having a decree of dissolution of marriage, obtained ex-parte, by way of fraud, but it was not being disclosed. Applicant being legally wedded wife, was being extended cruelty and she moved application for Protection from Domestic Violence under above Act of 2005, wherein report from District Probation Officer was obtained and it was in respect of above application, both sides were given opportunity of producing their evidences, evidences were furnished and trial court passed judgment for protecting applicant by way of direction for delivery of Stridhan, by way of Rs.5,00,000/-, with further maintenance at the rate of Rs.5,000/- per month, and an accommodation for residence in company of in-laws. Though, it is there that above premises has been surrendered and the order regarding it cannot be complied with. Because in-laws are not residing in above premises and the second wife with two kids is residing with husband, hence, applicant will not be in a position to reside under above circumstances, but she had been protected from domestic violence by impugned order which was confirmed by appellate court, hence, in exercise of inherent power of this Court, under Section 482 of Cr.P.C., it is not expected that Court will analyse factual evidence and will replace finding of appellate court, treating itself to be a second appellate court. Hence, power under Section 482 is to be used where there is abuse of process of law and for doing justice and for ends of justice, this Court is to exercise above jurisdiction, but by way of this application, a prayer for exercise of appellate court has been made. Hence, this application be dismissed.

4. Having heard learned counsel for both sides and gone through the material placed on the record.

5. It is apparent that Protection of Women form Domestic Violence Act, 2005 was passed with an object to provide more effective protection to the rights of women, guaranteed under the Constitution, who are victim of violence of any kind occurring within the family, and for matters connected therewith or incidental thereto. That is the constitutional mandate was to be fulfilled by this legislation to protect a women, who is being subjected to cruelty or violence, within a family. This act is other than other acts and procedure given therein like Family Court Act, Section 125 of Cr.P.C. etc. It being an act for providing effective protection, besides there being other provisions of protection, too, and under this exercise, this application was moved. Admittedly, applicant is legally wedded wife and her husband has admitted that, while he was married with her, he was in Class-IV job at Agra University, meaning thereby, he was an employee of Class-IV at Agra University and able to maintain his wife, that is why applicant was married with her. Subsequent to it, he is busy in the job at L.G. Shop Centre, but the above shop has been said to be of the same Vipin Kumar to whom worth Rs.5,00,000/- were given at the time of marriage. Strained relation is there. Applicant in her statement has categorically said about the cruelty being meted to her. She has been cross-examined, wherein, she has said about the violence given to her. This was reported by District Probation Officer too. The payment of Rs.5,00,000/- , in lieu of dowry, was said on oath and it was said to be for dowry and articles of households. Husband in his cross-examination has admitted to be registered owner of motor-cycle which was said to be given in this marriage, but he could not say as to when and how this motor-cycle in his name got registered. This motor-cycle has been said to be given in dowry. In all Rs.5,00,000/- cash for household articles to be used by applicant, was said to have been given in this marriage and it amounted to 'Stridhan'. Hence, the Trial Court Magistrate, after examining testimony of both sides, concluded that applicant was legally wedded wife of opposite party No.1 and she was entitled for her maintenance for coping with circumstances for which Rs.5,000/- is being paid per month regularly which has been admitted before this Court and confirmed by this appellate court. In above appeal, instituted against order, dismissing restoration application moved for restoration of divorce decree. There is no dispute hence, husband, may be a worker at L.G. Shop, or, he may be in private job, is making payment Rs.5,000/- per month as maintenance and he is to maintain his wife, hence, this meager amount of Rs.5,000/- per months was a genuine amount and just maintenance awarded by the Magistrate and this was affirmed by appellate court.

6. Regarding Rs.5,00,000/- this was proved to be given in the marriage by parents of applicant for her household articles which was usurpt by husband and in-laws, hence, direction to pay back above amount as 'Stridhan' was also with all substance and evidence on record.

7. Regarding residence, it is admitted that there is no possibility of applicant to reside with her husband where he is residing with his second wife and its in another rented accommodation, hence, that relief itself, being left over by applicant, hence, the same is not being pressed, accordingly for that no adjudication is needed.

8. In all above facts and circumstances, it is apparent that husband, who got this ex-parte divorce decree was appearing before mediation centre in the reference made by Superintendent of Police and he didn't disclose above fact that he had got an ex-parte dissolution of marriage decree rather he continued to assure that he will take his wife back. He showed inclination to keep her, whereas, he had filed a divorce suit and obtained ex-parte divorce decree and subsequently got married with second wife. Hence, on the basis of facts and evidence on record, order of trial court Magistrate as well as appellate court is based on above facts and was of correct perspective of law.

9. Apex Court in State of Andra Pradesh vs. Gour Sheety Mahesh J.T. 2010 (6) SCC 588 has propounded that while exercising jurisdiction under Section 482 Cr.P.C. of Court, High Court could not ordinarily embark upon an inquiry whether the evidence in question is reliable or not or whether on a reasonable apprehension of it, accusation could not be sustained rather that is the function of trial judge.

10. In Hamida vs. Rashid (2008) 1 SCC 474, Apex Court has propounded that ends of justice would be better served if valuable time of court is expand in hearing those appeals other than entertaining petition under Section 482 Cr.P.C. at an interlocutory stage, which are profiled with some oblique motive in order to circumvent prescribed procedure or to delay the trial which enable to win over the witness or disinterested in giving evidence ultimately resulting in miscarriage of justice.

11. Apex Court further in Monika Kumar vs. State of Uttar Pradesh (2008) 8 SCC 781 has propounded that inherent jurisdiction under Section 482 Cr.P.C. has to be exercised sparingly, carefully and with caution and only when such exercise is justified by the tests specifically laid down in the section itself.

12. Section 482 Cr.P.C. provides that nothing in this Code shall be deemed to limit or affect the inherent powers of the High Court to make such orders as may be necessary to give effect to any order under this Code, or to prevent abuse of the process of any Court or otherwise to secure the ends of justice. Meaning thereby, inherent jurisdiction under this Section provides this Court's power to make such order as may be necessary to give effect to any order under this Code or to prevent abuse of process of law or otherwise to secure the ends of justice. Hence, to secure ends of justice, to prevent abuse of process of any law, this Court has been given this inherent jurisdiction, beside being any other provision in this Code. Whereas, Protection of Women from Domestic Violence Act, 2005 is special Act to provide for more effective protection to the right of women guaranteed under the Constitution where a women is victim of violence. Hence, it's a self contained Code having procedure and power of appeal, wherein, Magistrate after exercising due procedure, has passed impugned order against which appeal was preferred and this appeal was decided by appellate court, hence, there remains nothing for any indulgence, in exercise of inherent power, under Section 482 Cr.P.C. for assessing judgment of appellate court, being its second appellate court.

13. This application lacks merit and is accordingly dismissed.

14. However, a portion of order regarding residence has become in-executable, in above changed circumstances, for which Magistrate will take notice and will act in accordance with law.

(Delivered by Karuna Nand Bajpayee, J.)

1. This application u/s 482 Cr.P.C. has been filed seeking the quashing of impugned order dated 27.5.2019 passed by Chief Judicial Magistrate, Bareilly as well as the entire proceedings arising out of Criminal Misc. Case No.620 of 2019 (Santosh Kumar Singh Vs. S.I. Siddhant Sharma), u/s 156(3) Cr.P.C., P.S.- Kotwali, District- Bareilly, pending in the Court of Chief Judicial Magistrate, Bareilly.

2. Case called out. None appeared on behalf of the opposite party no.2 and 3 even after repeated calls. Learned A.G.A. as well as learned counsel for the applicant are present. Perusal of the order-sheet shows that notices have been issued to the opposite party no. 2 and 3 which were duly served upon them. Despite sufficient service no one has appeared on behalf of the them to oppose the present application. In the wake of heavy pendency of cases in this Court where dockets are already bursting on their seams there is no justifiable reason to further procrastinate the matter. This the assistance of the learned A.G.A. representing the State.

3. Heard learned counsel for the applicant and learned A.G.A. and also perused the record.

4. Submission of learned counsel for the applicant is that while rejecting the application filed under section 156(3) of Cr.P.C. moved on behalf of the applicant, learned Magistrate has committed manifest error of law as prima facie cognizable offences were well made out from the perusal of the allegations made in the application and therefore, the learned Magistrate was legally bound in the ordinary course to allow the said application and get the matter investigated after due registration of F.I.R. It has further been pointed out that need of sanction as contemplated under Section 197 Cr.P.C. is not at all attracted in the present case. Learned counsel for the applicant has further submitted that the finding recorded by the court below in the impugned order regarding malafide motive of Peshbandi being at the back of moving the application is perverse and unfounded and is not only undesirably premature but is also based on material which itself is the false creation of police.

5. From the perusal of the record it seems that the applicant had moved an application under Section 156(3) Cr.P.C. before the court of C.J.M., Bareilly with a prayer that the S.H.O. of concerned police station may be directed to lodge F.I.R. against the respondent nos.2 and 3 and the matter should be investigated. Upon receiving the said application the learned Magistrate had called for a report and as per the police report there was no F.I.R. lodged in the concerned police station for same cause of action. However, vide impugned order the learned Magistrate had rejected the application of the applicant filed under Section 156(3) Cr.P.C. on the ground that as at earlier point of time F.I.Rs. were lodged against the applicant and his son by the police, therefore, the present application moved by the applicant was a counterblast reaction adopted in Peshbandi. The second ground stated by the learned Magistrate for rejecting the said application was that without sanction of the competent authority, the Magistrate could not order for investigation against a public servant and as the requisite sanction was not available, the the registration of F.I.R. in the matter could not have been directed.

6. The perusal of the application moved by applicant under Section 156(3) Cr.P.C. shows that it contains some very serious and disturbing allegations. According to the version given out in the application it appears that the wife of applicant was the licensee of a Beer Shop. In the evening of 22.4.2019 two police personnel of Police Station Kotwali, District Bareilly, contacted the applicant and had insistently demanded a cartoon of beer. The aforesaid two policemen were in plain dress whom the informant had the occasion to know for the reason that they used to come at times to the beer shop and by exercising their official clout they used to take away the beer bottles without making any payment. On the day of occurrence, when the shop was not open, the aforesaid two policemen came up to the informant and told that a full cartoon of beer is being demanded by the Inspector of Police and therefore, he must arrange for the same. The informant told those policemen that the beer shop had been closed under the directions of the Election Commission and District Excise officer, and therefore, he must be excused from doing this favour. But despite all this, the two policemen kept on insisting for the same. The things did not stop at that and what happened subsequently that the plain dressed policemen made some calls as a result of which S.I. Siddhant Sharma and Constable Vinay Kumar Baliyan (opposite party no.2 and 3) came over there and instead of being equitable with the informant, they too forcibly insisted to meet out the said unfair and illicit demand which resulted in some altercation also, the details of which have been narrated in the application. Certain persons gathered on the spot and tried to intervene but their requests to the aforesaid policemen did not yield any result. Constable Vinay Kumar Baliyan forcibly took away informant's purse which contained his Aadhar Card, PAN card, Voter I.D. Card etc. and also took away his ATM card, driving license etc. S.I. Siddhant Sharma also snatched away informant's bag which contained his license of revolver and also contained Rs.8000/- in it and thereafter those persons coercively made the informant and his son sit on the motorcycle and whisked them away to the Kotwali. There they were not only abused but were also beaten up. It has been further alleged that at about 10.00 in the night S.I. Siddhant Sharma in the presence of the Police Inspector asked the Munshi of the police station to dump them in the lock up. The informant and his son were then badly assaulted upon in the lock up also and his spectacles, mobile, belt and sphatik beads were also taken away. Later on in the mid night they were again taken out from the lock up and then the Police Inspector, Constable Vinay Kumar Baliyan and S.I. Siddhant Sharma and two aforementioned police personnel forced the informant and his son to put their signatures upon certain papers and they were again dumped back in the lock up. During all this night of torment it was made to appear by these police personnel that the informant shall be taught a lesson which he shall never forget in his life and which shall teach him for future what kind of consequences follow for defying the diktats of the police. Later on, the informant came to know that he has been booked in some false case also. It has also been alleged in the application that the son of informant is a patient of hysteria/epilepsy and as such he was under regular treatment of Dr. Shriprakash Mishra. During the course of informant's unlawful detention and wrongful confinement the aforesaid doctor had even come to the police station to give the medicine to his son but S.I. Siddhant Sharma and Constable Vinay Kumar Baliyan ill-behaved with the doctor also and hurled filthy abuses and disallowed him even to handover the essential medicines needed for informant's son. The doctor was not allowed to meet the informant and threats were given to him that he too shall face the same fate in case he would insist. It has also been alleged in the application that during the course of their wrongful confinement, informant's wife Neeru Singh, Nand Kishor Maurya, Kunwar Pal and certain other persons had made calls to informant but as the mobile of the informant was with the policemen, they did not allow the callers to have any talks with the informant or his son. Aforesaid criminal acts committed by the accused not only decimated informant's social prestige but it also deprived the first informant and his entire family from their constitutional right of casting their votes, not to speak of physical and mental trauma which was caused to them. It further transpires from the application that the informant did not give up his courage and decided to take up the issue and fight it out. Later on he, therefore, went to the In-charge Inspector of Kotwali and gave him an application making complaint with regard to all the offences that were committed against him and he also sent the same through registered post next day without evoking any result. As no action followed, the informant went and approached the Senior Superintendent of Police, Bareilly also and give him application in this regard, but despite all this, the grievance of the informant remained unaddressed and unredressed both which impelled him to move the application before the Magistrate u/s 156(3) Cr.P.C.

7. The perusal of the impugned order dated 27.5.2019 would reveal that while rejecting the application of the applicant moved under Section 156(3) Cr.P.C. the learned Magistrate had taken into consideration the detailed report submitted by the police station Kotwali, district- Bareilly. Admittedly, both the proposed accused persons also were posted in the said police station. Moreover the object for calling police report upon receiving an application under Section 156 (3) Cr.P.C. is to find out primarily whether any F.I.R. for same cause of action has been registered or not. Other facts mentioned in the police report appear to have been overestimated and given undue weightage. The mere fact that two F.I.Rs. had been already lodged against the applicant and his son on 23.4.2019 by the opposite party no. 2 does not disprove or improbabilize or vitiate the allegations made by the applicant in the application moved under Section 156(3) Cr.P.C. The F.I.R. lodged by the opposite party no. 2 against the applicant and his son was for selling beer in restricted hours as well as for making some alleged assault by the applicant and his son upon the police personnel on 23.4.2019 at about 11.15 A.M. The relative truth of the two versions can be ascertained either through a fair investigation or through a fair trial, as the case may be. Adopting a conjectural approach and drawing presumptive inferences of some supposed malice does not appear to be a sound approach at all at this preliminary stage. It is an inherent right of the aggrieved person to approach the police and get the F.I.R. registered with regard to the cognizable offences, if they have been committed against him by some accused persons. If cognizable offences are disclosed by the version given by the informant, the police is under bounden duty to register the F.I.R. The law as has been laid down in the case of Lalita Kumari vs. Govt. of U.P. and others 2014(2) SCC 1 is categorical in this regard, and is no more res integra. But when the police fails to perform its own duty and even other attempts of the informant in this regard which include its approach to police higher ups do not yield any result, he feels impelled to approach the court and move an application u/s 156(3) Cr.P.C. The basic nature of the relief which the informant seeks in such matters is to get a judicial order so that the statutory function of the police may get initiated and be expedited. The court, when it directs the registration of the F.I.R. or the investigation in the case, is basically doing nothing except asking the police to perform its bounden legal duty which it has otherwise failed to do. The ambit and scope of entering into a kind of pre-trial before the actual trial may begin is highly circumscribed and hazarding an uncertain plunge in this direction will be anticipatory in nature. For reasons of being premature and dicey it shall not be a sound approach to be adopted. Everyday we see cross cases being registered in police station. Everyday we see cross versions coming in the court. In all such matters one version is registered earlier while another version is registered later on. It cannot be held as a matter of law or even as a rule of prudence that the subsequent version of the other side should be presumed to be false or that it should be invariably presumed that it is a counterblast reaction expressed and brought out of malice. On that analogy there will be scarcely any scope to have either the cross cases or the cross versions registered or to have two cases registered against rival parties that may be lodged against each other even with regard to different incidents that may take place with some hiatus of time existing in between. The judicial disposition of drawing the inference of malice or malafides at such a premature stage with regard to the cases or versions brought later in point of time may prove to be a deceitful prejudice or a misleading guideline. Such an inference may be drawn only in rarest of rare cases where the circumstances may be so overwhelmingly demonstrable that the vicious mal-intention or the oblique motive of false implication prompted by express malafides may be conclusively deduced from the conspicuous circumstances of that particular case. Otherwise in ordinary course whether the allegations made in the application are true or false must be discerned by a proper and fair investigation into the same. In this particular case where the accusations have been made against police personnel themselves, one might find it more probable to presume that after having committed such criminal highhandedness as has been alleged the most normal course likely to be adopted by the police in its own defence is or could have been to register a false case against the informant. The fear of being prosecuted or the fear to face charges after having committed the alleged offences, might naturally prompt the guilty police personnel to invent a defence mechanism and what could have been a better prophylactic defensive strategy than to embroil the informant in some false case and use it as an arm twisting device in order to save themselves from any possible future complaint. It is not difficult to understand as to how difficult it is to get a case registered in the police department itself against its own men. But all such reasonings and inferences would be based on broad generalizations and such kind of approach is again not a very desirable or called for judicious approach. There was no good reason for the court below to draw any such adverse inference either against the informant or against the police party at such a premature stage. To draw the inference of malafides and damning the informant's version as a Peshbandi and not to allow his report even to be registered against the policemen and thereby not to allow even a fair investigation into the truthfulness of such serious allegations, was not at all a judicious approach. We live in a society which takes pride in being under the rule of law and for not being under the rule of men or their executives. Under the protective umbrella of our solemn constitution even an ordinary man of humble background has got a legal right to express his grievance against the powers that might be if they have been guilty of being unjust against him, not to speak of having committed punishable offences against him. The truthfulness or otherwise of the allegations, as have been made by the informant, has to be probed into by a fair and impartial investigation. The duty of the department of police and the investigating officer in such a matter would be much more onerous as he shall be required to perform his duty with a higher sense of non partisan fairness, the accused persons in the case being his own compatriots and peers. If the allegations, as have been made, are not found false, they shall have constituted a very sad commentary upon the working of this executive arm which is otherwise supposed to act and function in order to protect the people and maintain the law and order. When law enforcing agencies go awry and unruly, it evokes a serious judicial concern and reports of such kind cannot be either soft-pedalled or be countenanced with. In the wake of the serious allegations as have been made in the application u/s 156(3) Cr.P.C., the least which was required was that the Magistrate should have directed the investigation into the case and get the truth ascertained and not to scuttle the inquiry and bury forever all the possibilities of finding the truth.

8. So far as the requirement of sanction u/s 197 Cr.P.C. is concerned, there may be cases where the acts of the accused or the proposed accused allegedly said to be constituting the offence are such that may be so inextricably intertwined with their official duty that they would be termed to be acts committed during the course of discharge of their official duty. The alleged acts must be either in excess or in dereliction of the supposed or purported official duty. Such kind of plea with regard to requirement of sanction cannot be raised or brought into application in cases where the alleged acts of the proposed accused constituting the offences have no nexus with the official duty and are in the nature of independent delinquent aberrations of a guilty mind. The version as has been disclosed in the application moved by the informant shows that from the very inception of the alleged criminal transaction the proposed accused indulged in the illicit demand of beer which had nothing to do with their official duty. The allegations of snatching the purse or money and making a criminal assault which included beating and abusing, are also acts so independent and disconnected with any official duty that they cannot at all be termed as acts having been committed by the accused person or persons while acting or purporting to act in the discharge of their official duty. According to the version given out in the application the informant had gone to the vegetable Mandi from his house along with his son and while he was going to his house back after making the necessary purchases, he met with a friend of his namely Mohsin Ansari at a certain place near Raghuvanshi Complex. At that point of time when he was conversing with his friend, the two policemen in plain dress arrived there, about whom the reference has already been made in earlier part of the order while describing the version of the application. This Court has already referred to the facts contained in the application wherein it has been described as to how these two policemen used to come to the beer shop of informant and indulged in the illicit demand of beer off and on in the name of Inspector of Police without making any payment in lieu of the same. On the day of incident also it was made to appear by these two policemen that a cartoon of beer was being demanded by the Inspector of Police himself. They had also told the informant that as his beer shop was closed that day that is why the policemen had gone to the house of the informant for that purpose. It was at the house of the informant that the policemen came to gather about the whereabouts of the informant and after coming to know that the informant had come to the vegetable mandi, that is why the aforesaid policemen had to follow his trail and that was how they had come to meet the informant at that place. It was at that point of time that the informant was asked by the policemen to open up the beer shop and hand them over a cartoon of beer as was demanded. The subsequent description of the incident has already been detailed herein before and does not need repetition. But it is so very clear from the version of the informant that the aforesaid prelude and the evolution of events which eventually led to the detention of applicant and his son in the lock up after lifting them from there and the criminal assault that was allegedly made upon them in the police station can hardly be reasonably connected with the discharge of any official duty. Even a most liberal construction of law would not permit us to construe their acts as having even a remote nexus, not to speak of having a proximate nexus, with their official duty and therefore, in the facts of the case the view adopted by the court below whereby the absence of sanction u/s 197 Cr.P.C. has also been made an additional ground for rejecting the application appears to be an unsound approach. The cases as have been cited in the order are factually so distinguishable that they cannot be successfully brought to the rescue of the private person. When a complaint was raised, the accused passed another order and recalled the earlier order. The allegation made against him was that the issuance of the earlier order constituted the ingredients proposed accused. In the case of D.T. Virupakshappa vs. C. Subash, (2016)1 SCC (Crl.) 82 referred to in the impugned order, the allegations were to the effect that the victim was taken to the police station in connection with the investigation of some cases and the accused policeman of that case was said to have wrongfully detained the victim in the police station and had directed that the victim should not be let out till he revealed or confessed about his involvement in the murder of one Sannamma. Hon'ble Apex Court had arrived at the conclusion that the factual matrix of the case made it evident that the whole allegation was regarding the police excess in connection with the investigation of a criminal case. In the view of the Apex Court the said offensive conduct was reasonably connected with the performance of the official duty of the accused appellant of that case, and therefore, the act of taking cognizance in the matter without previous sanction of the State Government was found illegal. It is also worth taking note of that aforesaid case of D.T. Virupakshappa vs. C. Subash related to a private complaint filed by the complainant on which the learned Magistrate had taken cognizance and had issued summons to the accused and it was not a matter relating to an application moved u/s 156(3) Cr.P.C. Another case referred to in the impugned order is that of Anil Kumar and others vs. M.K. Aiyappa and another, 2013(10)SCC 705 in which the facts were to the effect that the accused of that case with malafide intention had passed an order in connivance with other officers and restored valuable land in favour of a of several offences including the Indian Penal Code and also the ingredients of certain offences under the Prevention of Corruption Act. From the aforesaid facts of the case also it is so clear that the act of passing the order which was said to be substratum giving rise to the various offences was an act done while discharging the official duty and if the duty was not rightly performed, such an act would be in dereliction of the official duty. The impugned conduct of the accused in Anil Kumar's case (supra) is so inextricably intertwined with his official duty that the same has to be termed either in excess or in dereliction of the same. It was in the particular background of this factual matrix that the need of the sanction was approved but as it has already been noted that so far as the facts of the present case under consideration is concerned, the allegations are relating to a conduct quite independent of any official act. Whether the allegations are true or false is a different question and which can only be discerned through a legitimate investigation only.

9. At any rate in the considered opinion of the Court the allegations made in the present application filed under Section 156 (3) Cr.P.C., which on the face of it do constitute cognizable offences, need a fair investigation in order to ascertain the truth and arrive at a just conclusion. The Magistrate has certainly committed error while he rejected the application moved under section 156(3) Cr.P.C.

10. In view of the above discussion, the impugned order cannot be sustained and the same deserves its quashing. Accordingly the application stands allowed and the impugned order dated 27.5.2019 stands quashed.

11. The matter is remanded back to the court below concerned for passing fresh orders in accordance with law keeping in view the observations made hereinabove.

12. In the last it may also be observed that as the accusations have been made against police personnel therefore it shall be in the fitness of the things that the S.S.P. concerned should appoint an officer of the higher rank, being an officer not below the rank of Deputy Superintendent of Police to investigate the case under his own supervision. The court below is therefore directed to communicate this direction to the S.S.P. concerned after passing fresh orders in the matter.

13. Office is also directed to communicate this order by fastest mode available both to the concerned court below and to the S.S.P. concerned.

State of U.P. & Anr. ...Opposite Parties

Counsel for the Applicant:

Counsel for the Opposite Party:

A. Criminal Law - Indian Penal Code 1860- Section 406/420-Cr.P.C, 1973- Section 468- The transporter cannot be absolved of his liability if any item of the consignment is found lost/missing and would be jointly liable for the said loss with other co-accused involved in its transportation as well as in loading.- At the time when the consignment was loaded, the applicant was present and his seal was also affixed, which would be treated to be nothing but an entrustment of the consignment - Civil disputes or commercial disputes, in certain circumstances, may also contain ingredients of criminal offences - Notwithstanding that the dispute is of civil nature, such a dispute may have to be entertained on the criminal side - Section 468 Cr. P.C. - Since the accused has been summoned to face trial under Sections 406 and 420 IPC, same is punishable with imprisonment up to 7 years and fine, therefore the bar of 3 years would not be applicable in the present matter – Whether there was intention to cheat or not on the part of the applicant and other co-accused cannot be seen at this stage - The aspect of non-impleadment of the company, of which the accused applicant is stated to be president can be seen by the trial court at the stage of trial and the provision of Section 319 Cr. P.C. may be invoked, if so required, in order to implead the company of the accused applicant as well. But solely on the count of non-impleadment of the company,the prosecution of the accused cannot be quashed.

Criminal Application rejected. (Para 13,14,15,24,25,26)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Dinesh Kumar Singh-I, J.)

1. Heard Sri Pankaj Jaiswal learned counsel for the applicant, Sri Shiv Sagar Singh, learned counsel for opposite party no.2 Sri Attreya Dutt Mishra, learned A.G.A. appearing for the State and perused the record.

2. This application under Section 482 Cr.P.C has been moved with a prayer to quash the entire criminal proceedings of the complaint case no.4182 of 2014 (G.K. Traders vs. Sudhir Kumar Shukla and others) under sections 406, 420 IPC, Police Station Fazalganj, District Kanpur Nagar and the summoning order dated 20.02.2015 passed by Additional Chief Metropolitan Magistrate 8th Kanpur Nagar and also a prayer is made to stay the proceedings in this case till the disposal of this application.

3. Learned counsel for the applicant has mainly argued that the offences, which have been mentioned above, had been constituted against the accused-applicant because the material had only been transported in the ship of the applicant, which was about 23 metric tons of copper scrap. No entrustment of the said property was made to him. The matter is of civil nature. The opposite party no. 2 has also filed a claim petition for making good the loss of the goods. Further it was argued that the proceedings are barred by section 468 Cr.P.C. In criminal case no vicarious liability can be imposed against the accused applicant. The applicant was not Indian national. On the date of occurrence, the company of the applicant was not registered in India and even the address of the company of the applicant is shown wrong. The opposite party no. 2 has not made the company of the applicant as a party in this case but has only made the President of the said company to be an accused, which is illegal. Attention was drawn to page 24 of the paper book, which indicates that the same was bill of lading. The goods to be transported were in a sealed container, hence the applicant had no knowledge as to what was kept in them. On 26.9.2009 the ship had moved and had reached its destination on 29.9.2009 and on that date the opposite party no. 2 had gone for collecting the consignment then he came to know that the copper, which was transported, was missing. The complaint has been filed about five years after the occurrence, hence the same is barred by provision of section 468 Cr.P.C. The crime was not committed in India rather the same was committed in the ship. The jurisdiction of Kanpur Nagar has been falsely made in the present case and accordingly it is prayed that the criminal proceedings against the applicant need to be quashed. It was also argued that the bill of lading would indicate that the responsibility of the applicant was confined only upto custom yard to custom yard, which is indicated in the said bill. Therefore, if any of the goods were found less in weight, number and quantity after it had gone out of the custom yard, the accused-applicant cannot be treated to be responsible for the same. When a question was put to the learned counsel for the applicant as to how he was representing the applicant, who is stated to be foreign national, he replied that vakalatnama was got signed and obtained through courier from abroad. He has also relied upon the following case laws:

i). M/s. Indian Oil Corporation vs. M/s NEPC India Ltd. & Ors., Appeal (Crl.) No.834 of 2002.

ii). Harishchandra Prsad Mani & others vs. State of Jharkhand & another, Appeal (Crl.) No.124 of 2007.

iii). Hira Lal & Ors. vs. State of U.P. & Ors. Crl. Appeal No.662 of 2009.

iv) Arun Bhandari vs. State of U.P. and others, Crl. Appeal No.78 of 2013.

v). Anil Kohli vs. State (NCT of Delhi), 95 (2002) DLT 173.

(vi). M/s. Zandu Pharmaceutical works vs. Md. Sharaful Haque & Anr., Appeal (Crl.) No.1241 of 2004.

(viii).Maksud Saiyed vs. State of Gujarat & Ors. Appeal (Crl.) No.1248 of 2007.

4. On the other hand, learned counsel for the opposite party no. 2 has vehemently argued that the goods were sealed in the presence of the accused-applicant and number of seal was mentioned as KMB121561 and when the same was received by the opposite party no. 2, the same was found less in quantity/weight. In the present case along with civil liability, it cannot be said that the criminal liability is not made out. There is direct role of the accused-applicant and hence the company was not required to be impleaded as it had no role. It is further argued that the case is not time barred because the offence in which the accused-applicant has been summoned also comprised the offence under section 420 IPC which is punishable for seven years imprisonment, hence it would not be treated to be barred under section 468 Cr.P.C. The goods were to be carried to Kanpur Nagar, hence jurisdiction of Kanpur Nagar would be made out in the present case.

5. In order to appreciate the controversy involved in the present case, it would be appropriate to refer in brief the facts of the case, which are as follows.

6. The complaint was made by the opposite party no. 2 i.e. M/s G.K. Traders through its Proprietor Gopi Krishan Gupta against the accused-applicant (accused no. 3) in the said complaint and two others namely, Sudhir Shukla and Saham Siddiqui alleging therein that the firm of the complainant deals in wholesale business of scrap. The co-accused Sudhir Shukla was Computer Operator in the said firm, who used to deal in communication and business letters in respect of the sale and purchase of scrap on behalf of firm with other traders. The other co-accused Saham Siddiqui was friend of the co-accused Sudhir Shukla who used to come to meet him in the office. The co-accused Saham Siddiqui is expert in establishing contact in foreign countries with respect to business of scrap and he had inspired the complainant that if he begins the business of scrap with the company of accused-applicant namely K.M.T.C. Ship Company, he would earn huge profits. The said company does transportation work in entire world by reaching goods from one country to another and the said company was also registered in India having its office at Mumbai. Since the said company of the accused-applicant was registered in India, proceedings under section 188 (B) Cr.P.C against it can be drawn. The co-accused Sudhir Shukla and Saham Siddiqui in collusion with each other gave proposal to the opposite party no. 2 to purchase copper scrap from the First International Company Ltd., Seoul, Korea whose owner was Jeson Kim, who had copper scrap in large quantity. The co-accused Saham Siddiqui had sent e-mail in this regard to the complainant believing which, he gave consent for the said business and on 22.07.2009 co-accused Sudhir Shukla has sent e-mail to Jeson Kim indicating therein that the complainant wanted 99.9% pure copper and offered him 3500/- US$ per ton, on which it was agreed that at the rate of 3600/-US$ per ton copper scrap would be purchased from Manila Philippines and its sale contract was sent through e-mail in which the terms and conditions were stipulated that not less than 100 metric tons material would be purchased and that of the total material, 20% amount would have to be deposited in the account of Jeson Kim. Thus, the co-accused Sudhir Shukla and Saham Siddiqui after having taken the complainant into confidence, reached Manila on 25.8.2009 and inspected the copper on 27.8.2009 and sent photograph through e-mail on 28.8.2009. The contract for sale of 20 metric tons was agreed upon and 20% amount i.e. 14400/- US$ were to be deposited in the bank of Korea and Rs.30,000/- was to be spent as other expenditure, which were requested to be sent by the opposite party no.2. The opposite party no.2/complainant accordingly deposited 14400/- US$ on 31.8.2009 as per terms and conditions. The co-accused Sudhir Shukla and Saham Siddiqui gave 600/- US$ on 4.9.2009 and 900/- US$ on 20.9.2009 to Jeson Kim in cash, which were sent by the firm of the complainant and remaining amount i.e. 80% of the copper scrap was also paid by way of advance to Jeson Kim. Thereafter, the copper scrap was loaded in the containers in the presence of co-accused Sudhir Shukla and Saham Siddiqui, the weight of which was found to be 23 metric tons, hence the total amount of the said 23 metric tons copper scrap came to be of 84300/- US$ out of which, 14400/- US$ on 31.8.2009 and 1500/- US$ according to the terms and conditions of paragraph nos. 10 and 11 and remaining 6800/- US$ were deposited in the account of Jeson Kim on 19.9.2009. Thus, the whole price of the copper scrap was paid by the complainant where-after the co-accused Sudhir Shukla and Saham Siddiqui had loaded the said scrap in containers and sealed & packed them. The applicant-accused had also affixed his seal on the said copper being seal no. KMP1212651 and thereafter the container of the copper scrap which was loaded in the ship of the accused-applicant was handed over to be reached at Kanpur address. On 26.9.2009 the copper container reached Mumbai and then the accused-applicant along with other co-accused told the opposite party no. 2 to get the delivery from Mumbai because if the said container was allowed to be kept there, hourly charges would have to be paid. In pursuance of that, the representative of the opposite party no. 2 namely, Sachin Gupta reached Mumbai and after having paid custom duty assessed on the weight of the container, bill of which is article-14, on weighing the said material, in place of 23 metric tons copper, the same turned out to be 6 metric tons. At this, on 3.11.2009 in the presence of representative of the accused-applicant, Insurance Surveyor, Custom Officer and the representative of the opposite party no. 2, seal of container was opened, out of which, in place of 23 metric tons copper scrap, only four bags of rubbish were taken out. Therefore, the accused-applicant along with other co-accused had caused loss to the complainant/opposite party no. 2 of having swindled of 84300/ US$, which would be equivalent to Rs.41,30,000/- in Indian currency. Apart from this, expenditure incurred by the accused-applicant nos. 1 and 2 Sudhir Shukla and Saham Siddiqui in having gone to Manila and their stay in hotel etc. was also to be borne by the opposite party no. 2 in addition to the rent of shipping company. Thus, over and above, the loss of Rs.10.00 lacs was also caused to the complainant. The opposite party no. 2 made various trips to Mumbai and Kanpur Nagar in order to get the copper scrap and also continued to make correspondence with the accused persons, therefore, delay had occurred in filing the complaint, which was not deliberate, hence the complaint is not time barred.

7. On this complaint, statement of opposite party no. 2 was recorded under section 200 Cr.P.C on 2.8.2014 in which he has repeated the same version which has been given in the complaint and witness Sachin Gupta son of Gopi Krishan Gupta has also been examined as PW1 under section 202 Cr.P.C. and Ravi Gupta son of Gopi Krishan Gupta as PW2 under section 202 Cr.P.C. Both these witnesses have also narrated the same version which has been given in the FIR. Devendra Singh son of Hira Lal Singh has been examined as PW3 and after having considered the entire evidence, the trial court has passed the impugned summoning order dated 20.2.2015 whereby the accused-applicants along with other co-accused Sudhir Sharma and Saham Siddiqui have been summoned to face trial under section 406 and 420 IPC.

8. An affidavit in support of the application has been filed from the side of the applicant and it has been mentioned that there is a Shipping Company in the name and style of Korea Marine Transport Company Ltd. (KMTC) which is registered in South Korea having its registered office at 15th Floor, Hanjin Building 118 2-GA Nem Daem Un-Ro Jung-Gu Seoul Korea which is one of the leading line in South Korea offering total transportation since last 58 years, of which the applicant is President and a foreigner having citizenship of South Korea. The applicant has authorized Mr. Sridhan Subramaniam, General Manager, (deponent) since 2013 to look after the case in India and to file the present application. Copy of the authority letter issued in his favour is Annexure-1 to the affidavit. On 14.9.2009, the complainant/opposite party no. 2 through his shipper had booked his consignment with KMTC and during that period KMTC Lines agents in Nhava Sheva, Mumbai were Sea Horse Ship Agency Pvt. Ltd. who were to be approached for delivery of consignment at Nhava Sheva, Mumbai. Copy of the bill of lading is annexed as Annexure-2 to the Affidavit. On 26.9.2009 complainant's consignment had reached Nhava Sheva, Mumbai. On the same day it had gone to the custom bounded area in the Yard of Continental Warehousing Corporation (Nhava Sheva Mumbai) Pvt. Ltd. and as per report dated 29.9.2009 of the said Continental Warehousing Corporation (Nhava Sheva Mumbai) Pvt. Ltd, the consignment was delivered to Continental Warehousing Corporation (Nhava Sheva Mumbai) Pvt. Ltd. with normal wear and tear. Copy of the report of Continental Warehousing Corporation dated 29.9.2009 is annexed Annexure-3. As per bill of lading dated 14.9.2009 the consignment was loaded, counted and sealed by shipper at the shipper's place in Manila. Once the consignment is unloaded from ship/carrier and the same was handed over to the custom bounded area then the carrier would stand released from all his liability. The complainant/opposite party no. 2 has filed his bill of entry with the custom on 23.10.2009 and thereafter the consignment was examined and after weighing the consignment, it was found that it was weighing only 6 metric tons. Copy of the bill of entry dated 23.10.2009 is annexed as Annexure-4 to the affidavit. On 3.11.2009, the said consignment was presented for joint survey and as per surveyor report, the said container was found in normal wear and tear condition due to age and use and seal was found intact. Copy of the same is annexed as Annexure-5. The responsibility of the carrier ceased once, the container was discharged with the seal in intact condition. The complainant/opposite party

no. 2 through his counsel sent two notices dated 21.12.2009 and 25.3.310 to the agent of KMTC i.e. Sea Horse Ship Agency Pvt. Ltd. which were replied by the agent of KMTC vide replies dated 10.3.2010 and 6.5.2010. In both the notices of complainant, it has not been alleged that any criminal liability was made out against the applicant which shows that the present complaint is an after thought with a view to coerce the applicant. Copies of the said notices are annexed as Annexure-6. Law laid down by Supreme Court in State of Haryana and others vs. Ch. Bhajan Lal and others, 1992 Suppl. (1) SCC 335, in Madhavrao Jiwahirao Scindia and others vs. Sambhajirao Chandrajirao Angre and others, (1988) 1 SCC 692, State of Karnataka vs. L.Muniswamy and others (1977) 2 SCC 699 are relied upon which have also been mentioned in the affidavit and citing them it is written that in the light of the principles of law laid down in these cases, no offence is made out against the applicant in the present case. Once consignment is unloaded from the ship/carrier and the same was handed over to the custom bounded area then carrier would be released of all his liabilities. The Indian Carriage of Goods by Sea Act, 1925, Article III(5) provides "The shipper shall be deemed to have guaranteed to the carrier the accuracy at the time of shipment of the marks, number, quantity and weight as furnished by him and the shipper shall indemnify the carrier against all loss, damage and expenses arising or resulting from inaccuracies in such particulars. The right of carrier to such indemnity shall in no way limit his responsibility and liability under the contract of carriage to any person other than the shipper" Article III (6) says that unless notice, loss or damage and the general nature of such loss, damage be given in writing to the carrier or his agent at the port of discharge before or at the time of removal of the goods into the custody of the persons entitled to delivery thereof under the contract of carriage or if the loss or damage be not apparent, within 3 days, such removal would be prima-facie evidence of the delivery by the carrier of the goods as described in the bill of lading. Therefore, it is further mentioned that in any event, the carrier and the ship shall stand discharged from all the liability in respect of loss or damage unless suit is brought within one year after delivery of the goods or the date when the goods should have been delivered. Article IV (2) (a) and (i) provides that neither the carrier nor the ship shall be responsible for loss or damage arising or resulting from the neglect or default of the master mariner, pilot or the servants of the carrier in the navigation or in the management of ship, act or omission of the shipper or owner of the goods, his agent or representative. The doctrine of limitation is founded on considerations of public policy and expediency. The object of limitation is to compel the litigants to be diligent in seeking remedies in courts of law prohibiting state claims. In commercial dealings it is highly necessary that matters of title and rights in general should not be in state of constant uncertainly, doubt and suspense. Several other citations have also been mentioned which are not required to be reproduced here. Further it is mentioned that in the business circle, to convert purely civil dispute into criminal case, now it is growing tendency. This is obviously on account of a prevalent impression that civil law remedies are time consuming and do not adequately protect interest of the complainant. As per section 188 Cr.P.C. Proviso which indicates that no such offence could be enquired into or tried in India except with previous sanction of the Central Government as accused-applicant is a person of foreign nation and also alleged incident occurred outside India during the voyage. The present matter is essentially of civil nature which has been given a cloak of criminal offence. Hence, it is lastly prayed that the said proceedings are liable to be quashed.

9. In rebuttal, a counter affidavit is filed on behalf of the opposite party no. 2 Gopi Krishan Gupta. It has been mentioned in it that the applicant had not mentioned the official address of the company situated in India in authority letter i.e. Annexure-1 of the affidavit. The applicant had affixed its seal copper number KMT 1212651 on the container and in the said bill of lading the gross weight of the container was shown 23,000 kilogram (23.000 metric tons) Copper Millberry Scrap (99% purity of Copper). The representative of the opposite party no. 2 had reached Mumbai for fulfillment and observing necessary formalities for release of the container. As per the bill of lading dated 14.9.2009, it was the obligation of the applicant to deliver and handover the consigned container to the consignee i.e. opposite party no. 2 at I.C.D. Kanpur, India. On weighing the container it was only approximately 06 metric tons instead of 23.00 metric tons. 1*20 FCL container number GLDU-52256399 STC net weight 23,000 kilogram Copper Millberry Scrap after discharge on 26.9.2009 from M.V. "Mare Internum" at J.N. Port Nhava Sheva was shifted to the nominated Continental Warehousing Corporation, CFS, Nhava Sheva, on weighbridge inside the CFS noted net weight 4,720 kilograms, hence the joint survey of the said container was made. Photocopy of the public weighing duplicate ticket dated 28.10.2009 issued by Continental Warehousing Corporation Limited, Navi Mumbai is annexed as Annexure-2. In pursuance of the examination order dated 03.11.20009 passed by Indian Customs EDI System-Imports (ICES/I) JNPT, Nhava Sheva Mumbai-400 707 it is found "------ bags found in the cabins containing with some rusty iron bags and sand-----." After the examination of container by the Custom Authority the joint survey of the aforesaid container was conducted on 03.11.2009 in the presence of six person, namely, (i) Mr. CRN Reddy of M/s. Scan Container Terminals Pvt. Ltd. (Surveyor appointed by CFS), (ii) Mr. Prashant Mathre of M/s. Pinnacle Marine Services (P) Ltd., (Surveyor appointed by Vessel Agents), (iii) Mr. Sachin Gupta for M/s. G.K. Traders (Consignee representative), (iv) Mr. P.K. Sinha, Appraiser Customs, (v) Mr. Bhaskar of M/s. Wilson Surveyors and Adjusters Pvt. Ltd., (vi) Pankaj Shipping and Transport Company and the report of joint survey specifically stated that " the seals were cut open in our presence when found 04 nos. jumbo bags, containing rusty iron wires and sand. All the nuts, locking the bolts from inside the door were sealed with a sealant. Only the sealant of the nut locking bolts with tampering marks of catch on door handle retainers of the right door were found resealed and repainted near the nut bolts." The Scan Container Terminals in its joint survey report dated 03.11.2009 stated that "the seals were cut open in our presence, then found 04 nos. jumbo bags out of 21 jumbo bags (23000 kilograms) containing rusty iron wires and sand. All the nuts bolts locking the bolts inside the door were sealed with sealant. On the sealant of the nuts locking bolts with tampering marks on door handle retainers of the right door were found resealant and repaint near the nut bolts". Further it is mentioned that joint survey report dated 04.09.2009 submitted by Wilson Surveyors and Adjusters Private Limited, Mumbai also stated that "the seals were cut open in our presence when found only 04 nos. jumbo bags containing rusty iron wires and sand. One bag was found with the label marked with a Exporter name as Proctor and Gamble Distributing Co. Manila Philippines and an empty sachet of Palmolive Shampoo marked as Mukati City, Philippines in another bag. All the "nuts' locking the bolts from inside the door were sealed with a sealant. Only the sealant of the nut locking bolts with tampering marks of the catch and door handle retainers of the right door were found resealed and repainted near the nut". The Pinnale Marine Services Private Ltd. Mumbai in its joint survey report dated 09.11.2009 stated that "the seals were cut open in our presence when found only 04 nos. jumbo bags containing rusty iron wires and sand. One bag was found with the label marked with a Exporter name as Proctor and Gamble Distributing Co. Manila Philippines and an empty sachet of Palmolive Shampoo marked as Mukati City, Philippines in another bag. All the "nuts' locking the bolts from inside the door were sealed with a sealant. Only the sealant of the nut locking bolts with tampering marks of the catch and door handle retainers of the right door were found resealed and repainted near the nut". Photocopies of these reports are annexed as Annexures-3, 4, 5 and 6. On the discharge of the aforesaid container on 26.9.2009 the weight of the container was found much less than its actual weight on which the joint survey of the aforesaid container has been conducted and the fraud committed by the applicant along with the other accused persons with the opposite party no. 2 has been revealed. The applicant had received huge amount of 84,300 US$ (Rs.41,30,000/-INR) from the opposite party no. 2 for the sake of 23000 kilograms of Copper Millberry Scrap (99% purity of copper) but the applicant instead of supplying the same, supplied 04 nos. jumbo bags containing rusty iron wires and sand which amounts to cheating criminal breach of trust. In order to prove his complaint, the complainant and witnesses were examined before the court of A.C.M.M.-VIII, Kanpur Nagar which clearly makes out an offence to have been committed under sections 406 and 420 IPC. The applicant without appearing and seeking bail in Complaint Case NO.4182 of 2014, has presented the application dated 04.06.2015 for cancellation of bailable warrant. The cited case laws are not related and applicable to the present case. There is no lacuna in the summoning order. Further, it is mentioned that normal wear and tear does not mean that it would cover the lost of 23,0000 kilograms of goods i.e Copper Millberry Scrap (99% purity of copper) from the aforesaid consigned container which was shipped by the applicant. The description and quantity of goods mentioned in the bill of lading dated 14.09.2009 were not found in the consigned container because of which joint survey of the consigned container had been made. Article III (4) of the Schedule i.e. Rules relating to Bill of Lading in the Indian Carriage of Goods by Sea Act, 1925, it is provided that a bill of lading shall be prima-facie evidence of the receipt by the carrier of the goods as therein described in accordance with paragraph 3(a), (b) and (c) and Article III (3) states that after receiving the goods into his charge, the carrier or the master or agent of the carrier, shall on demand of the shipper, issue to the shipper a bill of lading showing among other things i.e. (a) The leading marks necessary for identification of the goods as the same are furnished in writing by the shipper before the loading of such goods starts, provided such marks are stamped or otherwise shown clearly upon the goods if uncovered, or on cases coverings in which such goods are contained, in such a manner as should ordinarily remain legible until the end of the voyage; (b) either the number of package or pieces, or the quantity or weight, as the case may be, as furnished in writing by the shipper; (c) the apparent order and condition of the goods. It is further mentioned that one year limitation is not applicable in criminal cases. The act of the applicant and other co-accused attract criminal liability and the case is covered under the purview of definition of criminal conspiracy, criminal breach of trust and cheating punishable under section 120-B, 406 and 420 IPC. The provision of the Indian Carriage of Goods by Sea Act, 1925 is applicable in civil proceedings. It is further mentioned that the accused Sudhir Shukla and accused no. 2 Saham Siddiqui both are residents of Kanpur Nagar which is situated within the local territorial jurisdiction of the trial court, who conspired the commission of the act with the applicant. The accused applicant no. 3's office was situated in Mumbai and New Delhi. As per provision of section 181 (4) of Cr.P.C.. the offence of criminal breach of trust punishable under section 406 IPC may be inquired into or tried by a Court within whose local jurisdiction the offence was committed or any part of the property which is the subject of the offence, was required to be returned or accounted for, by the accused person. In the present case the accused were required to return or account for the aforesaid Copper Millberry Scrap to the opposite party no.2 at its office/godown situated in Kanpur Nagar. In the present case offence of cheating punishable under section 420 IPC has been committed through letters or telecommunication messages between accused persons which attracts the provision of section 182 of Cr.P.C. which states that in cheating, if the deception is practiced by means of letters or telecommunication messages, the same be inquired into or tried by any court within whose local jurisdiction such letters or messages were sent or were received. In the present case, the communications between the accused persons has been sent from and received at Kanpur Nagar, hence the trial court has jurisdiction to try the present complaint case.

10. I have heard the arguments of both the sides and have given thoughtful consideration to the entire material on record.

11. It is apparent from the facts of the case that the applicant Jong Seuk Park (A-3), President, Korea Machine Transport Company Ltd (KMTC) is the third accused in the complaint made by the opposite party no. 2, in which it is mentioned that co-accused no. 1 Sudhir Shukla (A-1) and co-accused no. 2 Saham Siddique (A-2) had persuaded the opposite party no. 2 to deal in copper scrap business, regarding which the deal was finalized for purchase of the said scrap from Jason Kim of the First International company Ltd. Seoul, Korea, quantity of which was 23 metric ton of the value of 84300 US$ which was to be transported from Manila, Philippines, for which the company of A-3 was engaged which was dealing in transportation business. The said consignment was to be delivered at Kanpur. At the time of loading the consignment and it's being sealed, A-3 (applicant) was present who had affixed his copper seal no. KMP 121 2651 upon the said container. The said consignment instead of reaching Kanpur, had reached Mumbai on 26/09/2009, where the opposite party no. 2 had gone to take the delivery on being informed from the side of the accused, but when the same was weighed, instead of 23 metric ton copper, the concerned consignment weighed only 6 metric ton. When the seal of the container was opened, only four bags of rubbish were found, therefore it was mentioned in the said complaint that the opposite party no. 2 was cheated of a sum of rupees 41, 30, 000/- in terms of Indian currency which was the value of 23 metric ton copper scrap, hence forgery was committed by the applicant. On the complaint being filed before court, the accused - applicant along with 2 other co-accused named above were summoned to face trial under Sections 406, 420 IPC.

12. The main thrust of the learned counsel for the applicant was that the bill of lading would show that the responsibility of the accused applicant was only from shipyard to shipyard, to reach the consignment safely and in this case the consignment was reached Nhava Sheva, India by his ship from Manila, Philippines, therefore applicant could not be imposed any liability for loss of goods/container once they were reached the destination port.

13. I am not convinced with the above argument of the learned counsel for the applicant because the transporter cannot be absolved of his liability if any item of the consignment is found lost/missing. He would be jointly liable for the said loss with other co-accused if any, involved in its transportation as well as in loading.

14. It was argued in this case that there was no entrustment of the property to the applicant, therefore the ingredient of Section 406 IPC would not be made out. I do not buy this argument of the learned counsel the applicant because it is the case of the opposite party no. 2 that at the time when the consignment was loaded, the applicant was present and his seal was also affixed, which would be treated to be nothing but an entrustment of the said consignment which was due to arrive in India (Kanpur Nagar) but instead the same was delivered at Nhava Sheva, where it was found that the material/consignment which was loaded was not the same which actually was loaded.

15. It was also argued by the learned counsel the applicant that the criminal complaint would be barred because of the provisions of Section 468 Cr. P.C., which provides the limitation of only 3 years while in the present case the occurrence is stated to have taken place on 29/10/2009, when the representative of opposite party no. 2 had gone for taking delivery of the consignment while the complaint has been filed on 21/07/2014, that is after about 5 years. I have gone through the said provision and find that for offences punishable with more than 3 years there is no such limitation prescribed of 3 years and in present case since the accused has been summoned to face trial under Sections 406 and 420 IPC, it is apparent that the offence in recession 420 IPC is punishable with imprisonment up to 7 years and fine, therefore the bar of 3 years would not be applicable in the present matter.

16. It was next argued that the matter is of civil nature, therefore the criminal complaint preferred by the accused applicant would not be maintainable. If at all any loss had occurred in the present kind of commercial transaction, the option to the opposite party no. 2 was available to file a claim petition in Civil court and get the claim/compensation decreed for the loss suffered by him, but instead of doing that, with malafide intention, the present criminal proceedings have been preferred, which need to be quashed. To substantiate his argument reliance has been placed by the applicant upon Appeal (Crl.) 834 of 2002 M/S Indian oil Corp vs M/S NEPC India Ltd, and others, decided on 20 July, 2006 in which in Para 10 following is held by Hon'ble Supreme Court:

"..... It is to be seen if a matter, which is essentially of Civil nature, has been given a cloak of criminal offence. Criminal proceedings are not a shortcut of other remedies available in law. Before issuing process a criminal court has to exercise a great deal of caution. For the accused it is a serious matter. This court has laid certain principles on the basis of which High Court is to exercise its jurisdiction under Section 482 of the Code. Jurisdiction under the Section has to be exercised to prevent abuse of process of any court or otherwise to secure the ends of justice....."

17. Reliance is also placed on Appeal (Crl.) 124 of 2007 Harish Chandra Prasad Mani vs State of Jharkhand and another decided on 31 January, 2007, in which following is held:

"We have carefully perused the entire record placed before us and find that there is not even an iota of evidence or any material on record against the appellants. It is true that at this stage it is not necessary that complainant or prosecution must prove its case beyond reasonable doubt, but at least there must be some material on the basis of which cognizance is taken and summon is issued. Cognizance cannot be taken merely on suspicion as has evidently been done in this case."

18. Further, reliance is placed on Criminal Appeal No. 662 of 2009, Hira Lal and others vs State of U.P. and others decided on April 8, 2009:

"10 . The parameters of interference with a criminal proceeding by the High Court in exercise of its jurisdiction under Section 482 of the Code are well-known. One of the grounds on which such interference is permissible is that the allegations contained in the complaint petition even if given face value and taken to be correct in their entirety, commission of an offence is not disclosed. The High Court may also interfere where the action on the part of the complainant is malafide"

".....In the State of Haryana and others vs Ch. Bhajan Lal and others (1992 Supp (1) SCC 335, this court, relying on Pratibha Rani vs Suraj Kumar and another, (1985) 2 SGC 370), stated that the purpose of exercising its power under Section 482 of the Code of Criminal Procedure to quash a FIR or a complaint, the High Court would have to proceed entirely on the basis of allegations made in the complaint or the documents accompanying the same.

One of the paramount duties of the Superior Courts is to see that a person who is apparently innocent is not subjected to prosecution and humiliation on the basis of a false and wholly untenable complaint."

19. Further, reliance is placed on Criminal Appeal No. 78 of 2013 Arun Bhandari vs State of U.P. and others decided on January 10, 2013:

"11 . Mr. Chetan Sharma, learned senior counsel, resisting the aforesaid contentions, canvassed that mere presence of the respondent no. 2 at the time of signing of the agreement to sell does not amount to an offence under Section 420 of IPC as she did not sign the document nor did she endorse the same as a witness. It is urged by him that no criminal liability can be fastened on her, for the sine qua non for attracting criminality is to show dishonest intention right from the very inception which is non-existent in the case at hand. It is submitted by him that if the criminal action is allowed to continue against her that would put a premium on a commercial strategy adopted by the appellant in roping a lady only to have more bargaining power in the matter to arrive at the settlement despite the breach of contract by him. The learned senior counsel would further contend that the appellant has taken contradictory stands inasmuch as in one way he had demanded the forfeited amount and the other way lodged an F.I.R. to set the criminal law in motion which is impermissible. To bolster the said contentions reliance has been placed on the judgements rendered in Hridya Rajan Pd. Verma and others vs State of Bihar and another , Murari Lal Gupta vs Gopi Singh and B. Suresh Yadav vs Sharifa Bee and another."

"14 . As advised at present we are inclined to discuss the decisions which have been commended to us by the learned senior counsel for the respondent. In Hridya Rajan Pd. Verma (supra) a complaint was filed that the accused persons therein had deliberately and intentionally diverted and induced the respondent society and the complainant by suppressing certain facts and giving false and concocted information and assurances to the complainant so as to make him believe that the deal was a fair one and free from troubles. The further allegation was that the accused person did so with the intention to acquire wrongful gain for themselves and to cause wrongful loss to the society and the complainant and they had induced the complainant to enter into negotiations and get advance consideration money to them. The two Judge Bench referred to the judgment in the State of Haryana vs Bhajan Lal, wherein this court has enumerated certain categories of cases by way of illustration wherein the extraordinary power under Article 226 or the inherent powers under sec. 482 of Cr. P.C. could be exercised either to prevent abuse of the process of the court or otherwise to secure the ends of justice....."

"16 . In determining the question it has to be kept in mind that the distinction between mere breach of contract and the offence of cheating is a fine one. It depends upon the intention of the accused at the time of inducement which may be judged by his subsequent conduct but for this subsequent conduct is not the sole test. Mere breach of contract cannot give rise to criminal prosecution or cheating unless fraudulent or dishonest intention is shown right at the beginning of the transaction, that is, the time when the offence is said to have been committed. Therefore, it is the intention which is the gist of the offence. To hold a person guilty of cheating it is necessary to show that he had fraudulent or dishonest intention at the time of making the promise. From his mere failure to keep the promise subsequently such a culpable intention right at the beginning, that is, when he made the promise cannot be presumed."

"16 . From the aforesaid decision it is quite clear that this court recorded a finding that there was no averment in the complaint that intention to deceive on the part of the accused was absent right from the beginning of the negotiation of the transaction as the said allegation had neither been expressly made nor indirectly suggested in the complaint. This court took note of the fact that only nondisclosure was that one of their brothers had filed a partition suit which was pending and the allegations that such disclosure was not made intentionally to deceive the complainant was absent....."

17 . In Murari Lal Gupta (supra) 2 Judge Bench quashed the criminal complaint instituted under Section 406 and 420 of the IPC on the following analysis: -

The complaint does not make any averment so as to infer any fraudulent or dishonest inducement having been made by the petitioner pursuant to which the respondent parted with the money. It is not the case of respondent that the petitioner does not have the property or that the petitioner was not competent to enter into an agreement to sell or could not have transferred title in the property to the respondent. Merely because an agreement to sell was entered into which agreement the petitioner failed to honour, it cannot be said that the petitioner has cheated the respondent. No case for prosecution under Section 420 or Section 406 IPC is made out even prima facie. The complaint filed by the respondent and that too at Madhepura against the petitioner, who is a resident of Delhi, seems to be an attempt to pressurize the petitioner for coming to terms with the respondent. In our considered opinion the factual position in the aforesaid case is demonstrably different, hence we have no hesitation in stating that the said decision is not applicable to the case at hand."

"20 . In GV Rao vs L.H.V. Prasad and others, this court has held thus:

7. As mentioned above, Section 415 has two parts. While in the 1st part, the person must dishonestly or fraudulently induce the complainant to deliver any property; in the second part, the person should intentionally induce the complainant to do or omit to do a thing. That is to say, in the first part, inducement must be dishonest or fraudlunt. In the second part, the inducement should be intentional. As observed by this court in Jaswantrai Manilal Akhaney vs State of Bombay, a guilty intention is an essential ingredient of the offence of cheating. In order, therefore, to secure conviction of a person for the offence of cheating, mens rea on the part of that person, must be established. It was also observed in Madhadeo Prasad vs State of West Bengal that in order to constitute the offence of cheating, the intention to deceive should be in existence at the time when the inducement was offered.

21 . In S.N. Palanitkar and others vs State of Bihar and another, it has been laid down that in order to constitute an offence of cheating, the intention to deceive should be in existence at the time when the inducement was made. It is necessary to show that a person had fraudulent or dishonest intention at the time of making the promise, to say that he committed an act of cheating. A mere failure to keep a promise subsequently cannot be presumed as an act leading to cheating.

22 . In the said case while dealing with the ingredients of criminal breach of trust and cheating, the Bench observed thus: -

9. The ingredients in order to constitute a criminal breach of trust are: (i) entrusting a person with property or with any dominion over property (ii) a person interested (a) dishonestly misappropriating or converting that property to his own use; or (b) dishonestly using or disposing of that property or wilfully suffering any other person so to do in violation (i) of any direction of law prescribing the mode in which such trust is to be discharged, (ii) of any legal contract made, touching the discharge of such trust.

10. The ingredients of an offence of cheating are: (i) there should be fraudulent or dishonest inducement of a person by deceiving him, (ii) (a) the person so deceived should be induced to deliver any property to any person, or to consent that any person shall retain any property; or (b) the person so deceived should be intentionally induced to do or omit to do anything which he would not do or omit if he were not so deceived; and

(iii) in cases covered by (ii) (b), the act of omission should be one which causes or is likely to cause damage or harm to the person induced in body, mind, reputation or property."

24 . At this stage, we usefully note that sometimes a case may apparently look to be of civil nature or may involve a commercial transaction but such civil disputes or commercial disputes in certain circumstances may also contain ingredients of criminal offences and such disputes have to be entertained notwithstanding they are also civil disputes. In this context, we may reproduce a passage from Mohammed Ibrahim and others vs State of Bihar and another: -

8. This court has time and again drawn attention to the growing tendency of complainants attempting to give the cloak of criminal offence to matters which are essentially and purely civil in nature, obviously either to apply pressure on the accused, or out of enmity towards the accused, or to subject the accused to harassment. Criminal courts should ensure that proceedings before it are not used for settling scores or to pressurise parties to settle civil disputes. But at the same time, it should be noted that several disputes of civil nature may also contain the ingredients of criminal offences and if so, will have to be tried as criminal offences, even if they also amount to civil disputes. (See G. Sagar Suri vs State of U.P. and Indian Oil Corp vs NEPC India Ltd).

25 . In this context we may usefully refer to a paragraph from All Cargo Movers (I) Private Limited vs Dhanesh Badarmal Jain and another, where a civil suit is pending and the complaint petition has been filed one year after filing of the civil suit, we may for the purpose of finding out as to whether the said allegations are prima facie cannot notice the correspondence exchanged by the parties and other admitted documents. It is one thing to say that the court at this juncture would not consider the defence of the accused but it is another thing to say that for exercising the inherent jurisdiction of this court, it is impermissible also to look to the admitted documents. Criminal proceedings should not be encouraged, when it is found to be malafide or otherwise an abuse of process of the court. Superior courts while exercising this power should also strive to serve the ends of justice.

26 . In Rajesh Bajaj vs State NCT of Delhi and others, while dealing with the case where High Court had quashed an F.I.R., this court opined that the facts narrated in the complaint petition may reveal a commercial transaction or money transaction, but that is hardly a reason for holding that the offence of cheating would elude from such a transaction. Proceeding further, the Bench observed thus:

11. The crux of the postulate is the intention of the person who induces the victim of his representation and not the nature of the transaction which would become decisive and discerning whether there was commission of the offence or not. The complainant has stated in the body of the complaint that he was induced to believe that the respondent would honour payment on receipt of invoices, and that the complainant realized later that the intentions of the respondent were not clear. He also mentioned that the respondent after receiving the goods had sold them to others and still he did not pay the money. Such averments would prima facie make out a case for investigation by the authorities.

28 . In R. Kalyani vs Janak C. Mehta and others, after referring to the decisions in Hamida vs Rashid and the State of Orissa vs Saroj Kumar Sahoo, this court eventually culled out the following propositions:

15. Propositions of law which emerged from the said decisions are:

a. The High Court ordinarily would not exercise its inherent jurisdiction to quash a criminal proceeding and, in particular, a first information report unless the allegations contained therein, even if given face value and taken to be correct in their entirety, disclosed no cognizable offence.

b. For the said purpose the court, save and except in very exceptional circumstances, would not look to any document relied upon by the defence.

c. Such power should be exercised very sparingly. If the allegations made in the F.I.R. disclosed commission of an offence, the court shall not go beyond the same and pass an order in favour of the accused to hold absence of any mens rea or actus reus.

d. If the allegations discloses a civil dispute, the same by itself may not be a ground to hold that the criminal proceeding should not be allowed to continue.

30. Recently in Gian Singh vs State of Punjab and another, a three Judge Bench has observed that: -

"55. In the very nature of its constitution, it is the judicial obligation of the High Court to undo the wrong in course of administration of justice or to prevent continuation of unnecessary judicial process. This is founded on the legal maxim quando lex aliquid alicui concedit, conceditur et id sine qua res ipsa esse non protest. The full import of which is whenever anything is authorised, and especially if, as a matter of duty, required to be done by law, it is found impossible to do that thing unless something else not authorised in express terms be also done, may also be done, then that something else will be supplied by a necessary intendement. Ex debito justitiae is inbuilt in such exercise; the whole idea is to do real, complete and substantial justice for which it exists. The power possessed by the High Court under sec. 482 of the court is of wide amplitude but requires exercise with great caution and circumspection."

20. Next, reliance has been placed upon Anil Kohli vs State (NCT of Delhi), 1995 (2002) DLT 173, in which the Delhi High Court held that in the case in hand there was nothing to show that the respondents had dishonest or fraudulent intention at the time the agreement took place to supply goods. Business transaction continued for almost seven years, letters exchanged admitted liabilities and dues by the complainant to Arun Kohli and vice versa. These transactions by no stretch of imagination could be called dishonest inducements. It was purely business transaction of civil nature. It was found that the ingredients of cheating were missing and therefore merely because payment was not made or accounts were not settled, it could not be said that offence punishable under secs. 420/406/34 IPC would be made out.

21. Further, reliance is placed on Appeal (Crl.) 1241 of 2004 (M/s Zandu Pharmaceuticals Works vs Md Sharaful Haque and another, decided on 1 November, 2004. The facts of the case were that respondent no. 1 (complainant) filed a complaint on 09/08/2002 alleging that the appellants had committed offences punishable under Sections 406 and 409 IPC. The date of occurrence was indicated to be between 12/07/1995 to 08/05/2002. The basic allegations in the complaint were that an advertisement was issued by the appellant no. 1 seeking applications for appointment to the post of area manager. The complainant, who was then working in another concern, applied for the post, was called for the interview on 14/07/1995 and was asked to report at Bombay office of the appellant no. 1 company on 01/08/1995 for training. After completion of the training period, the complainant was asked to report to the Patna depot. He was given appointment from 09/09/1995 by letter dated 01/09/1995, wherein it was indicated that he was appointed as field officer and not area manager. According to the respondent, on receipt of the appointment letter, the complainant asked the concerned official that is, the other accused persons as to how he was being appointed as field officer, when he had appeared at the interview for the post of area manager. He was assured that the letter for the post of area manager will be issued in the 1st week of April, 1996. But no such letter came to be issued and he was not appointed as area manager. Grievance was, therefore, made that the accused persons had initially deceived him by appointing as Field Officer and not as Area Manager, though he was assured that appointment letter in that regard would be issued. Therefore, they were liable to face trial for offences punishable under Section 406 and 409 IPC. The learned Magistrate had issued process in respect of offence under Section 418 IPC, punishment provided for which was imprisoned for 3 years. The limitation period in terms of Section 468 (2) (c) was 3 years. Therefore it was held that unfortunately the High Court did not take note of the guiding principles as laid down in Bhajan's Singh's case (1992 Suppl (1) 335), thereby rendering the judgment indefeasible and accordingly the judgment of High Court was set aside and the complaint lodged was quashed.

22. Next, reliance has been placed on the Criminal Appeal No. 1694 of 2008 arising out of SLP (Crl.) No. 5672 of 2004, R Kalyani vs Janak C. Mehta and others decided on 24 October, 2008. In this case a first information report was lodged by the appellant against the respondents on or about 04/01/2003 under Sections 409 , 420, 468 read with Section 34 IPC. The first and second respondent approached the High Court for quashing of the said F.I.R. as well as the investigation, which was allowed by the impugned order dated 24/04/2004. From the side of the appellant it was argued that the High Court passed an erroneous order as it did not have jurisdiction to enter into disputed questions of fact in regard to the involvement of the respondents as the F.I.R. disclosed an offence of cheating and criminal breach of trust and forgery. The investigation was admittedly did not complete and hence the High Court could not have relied upon the documents furnished by the defendants either for the purpose of finding out absence of mens rea on the part of the applicants for their involvement in the case. The respondent no. 1 and 2 being high-ranking officers of the M/S Shares and Securities Ltd, a company dealing in shares, whether were vicariously liable for commission of the offence being in day-to-day charge of affairs thereof. In view of the fact that the respondent no. 2 forwarded a letter purporting to authorise the accused no. 3 to transfer shares to the National Stock Exchange, he must be held to have requisite intention to commit the said offence along with the respondent no. 3. The respondent no. 3, not being an applicant before the High Court, the entire Criminal prosecution could not have been quashed. From the side of the respondents it was argued that it was admitted fact that the F.I.R. had been lodged by the respondents as against the appellant herein on 20/12/2002, that is, much prior to the lodging of F.I.R. by the appellants, herein, the same was done with mala fide intention. In view of the fact that the appellant herself owed a sum of Rs. 13.28 lakhs to the company and her group, a sum of Rs. 45.00 lakhs which is evident from the balance sheet of the appellants, continuation of the criminal proceedings initiated against the respondents would be an abuse of process of court. The appellants having not entered into any individual transaction with the company as the accounts held by her together with members of the family were treated as group accounts and only because respondent no. 2 had forwarded a letter of the appellant dated 10/01/2002, which is alleged to be forged, to the National Stock Exchange, the same by itself does not show that he was a party to the forgery. In respect of the offences under general law, vicarious liability cannot be fastened on an individual. It was held that if a person, thus, has to be proceeded with as being vicariously liable for the acts of the company, the company must be made an accused. In any event, it would be a fair thing to do so, as legal fiction is raised both against the company as well as the person responsible for the acts of the company. Therefore, for the reasons aforesaid the Supreme Court did not find any infirmity in the impugned judgment, however it was clarified that the respondent no. 3, arrayed as accused no. 3 in the first information report, had not filed any Application under Section 482 of the Criminal Procedure Code, therefore it could not be known as to under what circumstances the High Court directed service of notice to be effected upon him. Nowhere in the impugned judgment, the High Court found that the allegations contained in the F.I.R. against the respondent no. 3 also did not disclose commission of any cognizable offence. It was one thing to say that he had not committed the same but it was another thing that the High Court' s jurisdiction under sec. 482 Cr. P.C. could have been invoked at this stage. It was further held that there was no option but to hold that the High Court in its judgment cannot be said to have covered the case of respondent no. 3. The investigation against him, therefore, shall continue. However, it will be open to him to take the appropriate defenses at appropriate stages as are permissible in law.

23. Next, the reliance is placed upon Appeal (Crl.) 317 of 2008, S.K. Alagh vs State of U.P. and others decided on 15 February, 2008. In this case the short question which arose for consideration was whether the complaint petition, even if given face value and was taken to be correct in its entirety, whether it discloses an offence against the appellant under Section 406 IPC. The appellant no. 1 was the Managing Director of the Company. Respondent no. 3 was its General Manager. Indisputably, the company is a juristic person. The demand drafts were issued in the name of the company. The company was not made an accused. The dealership agreement was by and between M/S Akash Traders and the company. In support of the impugned order it was argued that prima facie, the appellant was in charge of and was in control of the business of the company, he therefore, would be deemed to be liable for the offence committed by the company. It was held that admittedly, drafts were drawn in the name of the company, even if appellant was its Managing Director, he cannot be said to have committed any offence under Section 406 IPC. If and when a statute contemplates creation of such a legal fiction, it provides specifically therefor. In absence of any provision laid down under the statute, Director of the company or an employee cannot be held to be vicariously liable for any offence committed by the company itself. Therefore, the High Court had committed a manifest error in passing the impugned judgment.

24. The citations which have been relied upon by the learned counsel for the applicant mainly hammer on two points that is, that sometimes it may appear that the dispute between the parties is that of civil nature or may involve a commercial transaction, but such civil disputes or commercial disputes, in certain circumstances, may also contain ingredients of criminal offences. In such situation, notwithstanding that the dispute is of civil nature, such a dispute may have to be entertained on the criminal side as has been held in the case of Arun Bhandari (Supra). Although this court would have to see as to whether the ingredients of Section 406 and 420 IPC are made out in the present case or not, on the basis of the averments made in the complaint. Secondly the above offences being of IPC, which is general provision of law and not any specific statute providing for not impleading the company, it was essential that the applicant-accused could not be made an accused vicariously in the present case without impleadment of his company as has been held in S. K. Alagh's case (supra). This aspect is also required to be analysed in the present case as to whether the applicant could not be made an accused in the present case but for impleadment of his company.

25. In the light of the facts in the present case which have been cited above I am of the view that it emerges from the facts that consignment of 23 metric ton of copper scrap was loaded on the shape of the applicant in presence of the accused applicant and seal on the container was also fixed of the accused applicant, the details of which are mentioned above, but when the said consignment reached Mumbai, the same was not found to have been delivered there rather, in its place four bags of rubbish were found, which resulted in huge loss to the applicant. In such a situation whether there was intention to cheat or not on the part of the applicant and other co-accused cannot be seen at this stage. Certainly in my opinion, the entrustment of the said consignment would be found to have been made of the said consignment to the accused applicant which was to be delivered to the applicant at Kanpur Nagar, but the same was not done. The version of the accused applicant that his liability was only to reach the consignment to the shipyard and that it would extend only from shipyard to shipyard, beyond that he would not bear any liability, is also to be seen only after evidence and not at the preliminary stage when there is no evidence recorded as yet. To say, as argued on behalf of the learned counsel for the applicant that, the applicant had nothing to do with the transaction, would not be appropriate to exonerate him on that count only, because the role of transporting the consignment to the destination as per the bill of lading was that of the applicant. Therefore his involvement cannot be ruled out till the same is found not proved after appreciation of evidence to be adduced at the trial. At this stage it cannot be said that the prima-facie offence is made out against the accused applicant.

26. As regards non-impleadment of the company, of which the accused applicant is stated to be president, in the light of the law laid down in Application U/S 482 No.-12977 of 2018, Usher Agro Ltd. Vs State of U.P. and Another decided on 09.07.2018 I am of the view that this aspect can be seen by the trial court at the stage of trial and the provision of Section 319 Cr. P.C. may be invoked, if so required, in order to implead the company of the accused applicant as well. But solely on the count that the impleadment of the company is not done, the prosecution of the accused should be quashed, does not appeal to reason. In Usher Agro Ltd. Vs State of U.P. (supra) reliance is placed upon the judgment of Madhya Pradesh High Court that is, Manish Kalani and another vs Housing and Development Corp Ltd (HUDCO) and another, M.Cr.C. No. 16285 of 2016 decided on 30. 1. 2018 the relevant paragraphs 22 to 26 of which are reproduced herein below:

"22. The complainant is entitled to amend his complaint filed under Section 138 of the Act as held by this Court in the case of Pandit Gorelal (supra) and also by Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of S.R.Sukumar Vs. S. Sunaad Raghuram, (2015) 9 SCC 609, wherein Hon'ble Apex Court held that "what is discernible from U.P. Pollution Control Board case [(1987) 3 SCC 684 : 1987 SCC (Cri) 632] is that an easily curable legal infirmity could be cured by means of a formal application for amendment. If the amendment sought to be made relates to a simple infirmity which is curable by means of a formal amendment and by allowing such amendment, no prejudice could be caused to the other side, notwithstanding the fact that there is no enabling provision in the Code for entertaining such amendment, the court may permit such an amendment to be made.

23. Although, non-applicant No.1 filed the application before the trial Court under Section 319 of the Cr.P.C read with Section 141 of the Act, wherein neither in Section 141 of the Act, nor in Section 319 of the Cr.P.C provisions for permitting complainant to amend the complaint are mentioned, but it is a settled position of law that a mere non-mentioning or wrong mentioning of a provision in an application is not a ground to reject an application as held by the Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of Adv. Kaptan on Challamance Huchha Gowda v. M.R. Tirumala,2004) 1 SCC 453.

24. Although there is no provision in the Act and Code of Criminal Procedure to permit the applicant to amend the complaint, but there is no bar in the Code of Criminal Procedure as well as in the Negotiable against permitting the complainant to amend his complaint. Where, there is no bar in the Act and in the Code of Criminal Procedure, this Court in the interest of justice may permit the complainant to amend the complaint, as held by the Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of S.R. Sukumar Vs. S. Sunaad Raghuram (Supra).

25. Although, it is admitted that non-applicant No.1 had not sent notice to the Company before filing of the complaint, but prima facie it appears that before filing the complaint non-applicant No.1 gave notice to the applicant No.1 Manish Kalani, the Managing Director of the Company, who issued the questioned cheque on behalf of the company. So, the notice sent by non-applicant No.1 to applicant No.1 Manish Kalani is also notice to the company as held by the Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of M/s Bilakchand Gyanchand Co.(supra) wherein Hon'ble Apex Court held that notice under Section 138 of the Act sent to the Managing Director of the Company who is signatory of the cheque in question, the complaint is not liable to be quashed on the ground that the notice was not served upon the company. Similarly, Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of Rajneesh Agrawal (supra) also held that the demand notice issued in the name of Director, who has signed the cheque is notice to the drawer Company, therefore the prosecution of non-applicant No.2 Company for the offence under Section 138 of the Act would not be invalid for the reason that the notice was not served upon the Company.

26. The judgment of Hon'ble Apex Court passed in the case of N. Harihara Krishnan Vs. J. Thomas (supra) relied by the learned counsel for the applicants also does not help much to the applicant.

In this case Hon'ble Apex Court in pera 32 and 33 of judgement observed as thus :-

32. The scheme of the prosecution in punishing under Section

138 of THE ACT is different from the scheme of the Cr.P.C. Section 138 creates an offence and prescribes punishment. No procedure for the investigation of the offence is contemplated. The prosecution is initiated on the basis of a written complaint made by the payee of a cheque. Obviously such complaints must contain the factual allegations constituting each of the ingredients of the offence under Section 138. Those ingredients are: (1) that a person drew a cheque on an account maintained by him with the banker; (2) that such a cheque when presented to the bank is returned by the bank unpaid; (3) that such a cheque was presented to the bank within a period of six months from the date it was drawn or within the period of its validity whichever is earlier; (4) that the payee demanded in writing from the drawer of the cheque the payment of the amount of money due under the cheque to payee; and (5) such a notice of payment is made within a period of 30 days from the date of the receipt of the information by the payee from the bank regarding the return of the cheque as unpaid. It is obvious from the scheme of Section 138 that each one of the ingredients flows from a document which evidences the existence of such an ingredient. The only other ingredient which is required to be proved to establish the commission of an offence under Section 138 is that in spite of the demand notice referred to above, the drawer of the cheque failed to make the payment within a period of 15 days from the date of the receipt of the demand. A fact which the complainant can only assert but not prove, the burden would essentially be on the drawer of the cheque to prove that he had in fact made the payment pursuant to the demand.

33. By the nature of the offence under Section 138 of THE ACT, the first ingredient constituting the offence is the fact that a person drew a cheque. The identity of the drawer of the cheque is necessarily required to be known to the complainant (payee) and needs investigation and would not normally be in dispute unless the person who is alleged to have drawn a cheque disputes that very fact. The other facts required to be proved for securing the punishment of the person who drew a cheque that eventually got dishonoured is that the payee of the cheque did in fact comply with each one of the steps contemplated under Section 138 of THE ACT before initiating prosecution. Because it is already held by this Court that failure to comply with any one of the steps contemplated under Section 138 would not provide "cause of action for prosecution". Therefore, in the context of a prosecution under Section 138, the concept of taking cognizance of the offence but not the offender is not appropriate. Unless the complaint contains all the necessary factual allegations constituting each of the ingredients of the offence under Section 138 , the Court cannot take cognizance of the offence. Disclosure of the name of the person drawing the cheque is one of the factual allegations which a complaint is required to contain. Otherwise in the absence of any authority of law to investigate the offence under Section 138, there would be no person against whom a Court can proceed. There cannot be a prosecution without an accused. The offence under Section 138 is person specific. Therefore, the Parliament declared under Section 142 that the provisions dealing with taking cognizance contained in the Cr.P.C should give way to the procedure prescribed under Section 142. Hence the opening of non-obstante clause under Section 142. It must also be remembered that Section 142 does not either contemplate a report to the police or authorise the Court taking cognizance to direct the police to investigate into the complaint".

27. While in the instant case in the complaint above-mentioned all the five ingredients are pleaded regarding applicant No.2 company and name of the applicant No.2 company is also mentioned as discussed above.

31. So, in the peculiar facts and circumstances of the case the application filled by the applicants for taking cognizance against applicant No.2 company comes under the purview of Section 190 (1)(a) of the Cr.P.C. and not under Section 319 of Cr.P.C. Because the name of the applicant No.2/company as an accused and the basis of its accusation were already mentioned in the complaint at the time of its filling. It is the fault of the trial Court which only took cognizance against the Director and did not take cognizance against the company, which can be cured by the trial Court at any time. There is no bar under Section 190 of the Cr.P.C. that once the process is issued against some accused, on the next date, the Magistrate cannot issue process to some other person against whom there is some material on record."

27. Though in Usher Agro Ltd.'s case (supra) matter related to Section 138 of NI Act, in which the question involved was whether prosecution of the Director of the company could be done without impleadment of the company of which he was Director, which had issued the cheque which got dishonoured and whether during course of the proceedings company could be impleaded either under the provisions of Section 190 (1) (a) or under 319 Cr. P.C. and it was held in Para 44. as below:

"44. So, in the peculiar facts and circumstances of the case the application filled by the applicants for taking cognizance against applicant No.2 company comes under the purview of Section 190 (1)(a) Cr.P.C. because the name of the applicant No.2/company as an accused and the basis of its accusation were already mentioned in the complaint at the time of its filling. It is the fault of the trial Court which summoned the Director alone and left the company. Such defect is not an incurable defect and can be cured by the trial Court at any time. There is no bar under Section 190 Cr.P.C. that once the process is issued against some accused, on the next date, the Magistrate cannot issue process to some other person against whom there is some material on record."

28. In view of above this court is of the view that the impugned order does not suffer from any infirmity and this application deserves to be dismissed, and is accordingly, dismissed.

A. Criminal Law - Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973- Section 482 & Indian Penal Code,1860- Sections 323, 504, 420, 506-challenge to –summoning order- in exercise of inherent power, under Section 482 of Cr.P.C., is not expected to make meticulous analysis of evidence, because the same is course of trial. (Para 6)

While exercising jurisdiction under section 482 of the Code, the High Court would not ordinarily embark upon an enquiry whether the evidence in question is reliable or not or whether on a reasonable apprehension of it accusation would not be sustained. That is the function of the trial Judge/Court. To prevent abuse of the process of the Court, High Court in exercise of its inherent powers under section 482 could quash the proceedings but there would be justification for interference only when the complaint did not disclose any offence or was frivolous vexatious or oppressive. 8. Lal Kamlendra Pratap Singh Vs. St. of U.P. 2009 (3) ADJ 322 (SC)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Ram Krishna Gautam, J.)

1. This Application, under Section 482 of Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973, has been filed by the Applicants, Smt. Indresh and Lekhraj, against State of U.P. and another, with a prayer for setting aside summoning order, dated 5.7.2019, passed by the Court No.9 of Additional Sessions Judge, Moradabad, alongwith order dated 26.7.2018 of Court No.5 of Additional Chief Judicial Magistrate, V, Moradabad, with entire criminal proceeding of Complaint Case No.1082 of 2012, under Sections 323, 504, 420, 506 of Indian Penal Code (IPC), Police Station- Civil Lines, District Moradabad.

2. Learned counsel for applicants argued that, on the basis of statements recorded, under Sections 200 and 202 of Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 (Cr.P.C.), applicants were summoned for offences, punishable, under Sections 323 and 504 of IPC. Subsequently, on the basis of same evidence, which was recorded under Section 244 of Cr.P.C., Magistrate opined to frame charges for offences, punishable, under Sections 420 and 506 of IPC. This order was challenged before the Court of Revision, wherein, Court of Additional Sessions Judge, Court No.9, Moradabad, in Criminal Revision No. 123 of 2018, Lekhraj and another vs. State of U.P. and another, dismissed revision and, thereby, confirmed order of the Magistrate, which was abuse of process of law. Hence, this proceeding, under Section 482 of Cr.P.C., with above prayer.

3. Learned AGA, representing State of U.P., has vehemently opposed this Application.

4. Heard learned counsel for both sides and gone through materials on record.

5. From very perusal of materials on record, it is apparent that an Application, under Section 156 (3) of Cr.P.C. was filed by Smt. Anjlina against Lekhraj and his wife, Indresh, with this contention that accused persons entered in a negotiation with her for sale of a plot of area, admeasuring to 7770.11 Squire ft. of Gata No. 761, situated at Sonapur, Milak Bhola Singh, in the year 2004, for which documents of ownership were shown and Lekhraj said himself to be power of attorney-holder of recorded owner Dharam Singh and is competent to sell it. Complainant entered into sale, which was executed on 17.5.2004, by Lekhraj, in favour of complainant, for a sale consideration of Rs.71,000/-. subsequently, another plot, admeasuing 25 Squire Yard, adjacent to above plot, was also agreed to be sold to the complainant, by way of registered agreement to sale, for a consideration of Rs.45,000/-. Lateron, it was found that above land was acquired land of Moradabad Development Authority and accused persons were not competent to make sale of the same. On enquiry being made by the complainant, they abused and did assault, with extending threat of dire consequences. Hence, this Application, with a prayer for direction for registration of case crime number for investigation of the same. This was treated to be a complaint case by the Magistrate, wherein, complainant was examined, under Section 200 and her one witness, Charan Singh was examined, under Section 202 of Cr.P.C. After hearing, the Magistrate, vide order, dated 19.3.2013, summoned Lekhraj and his wife for offences, punishable, under Sections 323 and 504 of Cr.P.C. After it, prosecution witness was examined, under Section 244 of Cr.P.C., thenafter, under Section 245 of Cr.P.C., the Magistrate opined for framing of charge for additional Sections of 420 and 506 of IPC also. This order was challenged in Criminal Revsion, Under Section 397 of Cr.P.C., wherein, learned Additional Sessions Judge, Court No.9, Moradabad, passed impugned judgment, dated 5.7.2019, dismissing Criminal Revision. Hence allegations, levelled, in complaint, since beginning, were having ingredients for offences, under Sections 323, 504, 420 and 506 of IPC, though summoning was made for offence, under Section 323 and 504 of IPC, but at the time of framing of charge, when appreciation of evidence was made, then the Magistrate found ground for levelling of additional sections of 420 and 506 of Indian Penal Code, which were added by the Magistrate and this order, after having been challenged, in revision, stood confirmed. Hence, there was sufficient ground for adding of these offences.

6. This Court, in exercise of inherent power, under Section 482 of Cr.P.C., is not expected to make meticulous analysis of evidence, because the same is course of trial, but, apparently, there is no misuse of process of law, or, any requirement for grant of any indulgence by this Court.

7. Apex Court in State of Andhra Pradesh v. Gaurishetty Mahesh, JT 2010 (6) SC 588: (2010) 6 SCALE 767: 2010 Cr. LJ 3844 has propounded that "While exercising jurisdiction under section 482 of the Code, the High Court would not ordinarily embark upon an enquiry whether the evidence in question is reliable or not or whether on a reasonable apprehension of it accusation would not be sustained. That is the function of the trial Judge/Court". In another subsequent Hamida v. Rashid, (2008) 1 SCC 474, hon'ble Apex Court propounded that "Ends of justice would be better served if valuable time of the Court is spent in hearing those appeals rather than entertaining petitions under Section 482 at an interlocutory stage which after filed with some oblique motive in order to circumvent the prescribed procedure, or to delay the trial which enable to win over the witness or may disinterested in giving evidence, ultimately resulting in miscarriage of Justice". In again another subsequent Monica Kumar v. State of Uttar Pradesh, (2008) 8 SCC 781, the Apex Court has propounded "Inherent jurisdiction under Section 482 has to be exercised sparingly, carefully and with caution and only when such exercise is justified by the tests specifically laid down in the section itself." While interpreting this jurisdiction of High Court Apex Court in Popular Muthiah v. State, Represented by Inspector of Police, (2006) 7 SCC 296 has propounded "High Court can exercise jurisdiction suo motu in the interest of justice. It can do so while exercising other jurisdictions such as appellate or revisional jurisdiction. No formal application for invoking inherent jurisdiction is necessary. Inherent jurisdiction can be exercised in respect of substantive as well as procedural matters. It can as well be exercised in respect of incidental or supplemental power irrespective of nature of proceedings".

8. Regarding prevention of abuse of process of Court, Apex Court in Dhanlakshmi v. R.Prasana Kumar, (1990) Cr LJ 320 (DB): AIR 1990 SC 494 has propounded "To prevent abuse of the process of the Court, High Court in exercise of its inherent powers under section 482 could quash the proceedings but there would be justification for interference only when the complaint did not disclose any offence or was frivolous vexatious or oppressive" as well as in State of Bihar v. Murad Ali Khan, (1989) Cr LJ 1005: AIR 1989 SC 1, Apex Court propounded "In exercising jurisdiction under Section 482 High Court would not embark upon an enquiry whether the allegations in the complaint are likely to be established by evidence or not".

9. Meaning thereby, exercise of inherent jurisdiction under Section 482 Cr.P.C. is within the limits, propounded as above.

10. In view of what has been discussed above, this Application, under Section 482 of Cr.P.C., being devoid of merits, dismissed.

11. However, it is directed that if the applicants appear and surrender before the court below within 30 days from today and apply for bail, their prayer for bail shall be considered and decided in view of the settled law laid by this Court in the case of Amrawati and another Vs. State of U.P. reported in 2004 (57) ALR 290 as well as judgement passed by Hon'ble Apex Court reported in 2009 (3) ADJ 322 (SC) Lal Kamlendra Pratap Singh Vs. State of U.P.

12. For a period of 30 days from today, no coercive action shall be taken against the applicants. However, in case, the applicants do not appear before the Court below within the aforesaid period, coercive action shall be taken against them.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Dinesh Kumar Singh-I, J.)

1. Heard Sri Rajesh Pathik, learned counsel for the applicant and Sri S. K. Rajbhar, learned A.G.A. for the State and perused the record.

2. None appeared from the side of Opposite Party No. 2, although Vakalatnama has been traced out by the office and has been placed on record.

3. This Application under Section 482 Cr.P.C. has been filed with a prayer to quash the impugned order dated 21.07.2014 passed in Complaint (Special) Case No. 2 of 2013 (Puran Prasad Gupta Vs. Vijay Kumar Chaturvedi) pending before Additional Session Court-I, Maharajganj as well as prayer is made to stay the further proceedings of the above said case.

4. In order to understand the dispute involved in this case, it would be appropriate to give in brief facts of the case, which are as follows:

An Application under 156(3) Cr.P.C. was moved by Opposite Party No. 2/complainant of this case Puran Prasad Gupta stating therein that he had applied for a loan of an amount of Rs. 5,00,000/- by Poorwanchal Gramin Bank, Branch Nichlaul on 01.05.2012, which was to be sanctioned under "Mukhyamantri Gramodoyog Rojgar Yojna". After sanction of loan file of the same was made available to the accused-applicant on 25.05.2012. At the instance of the accused, Chartered Accountant had submitted project report and the valuation of the residential plot of the guarantor was also made available on the basis of registered deed by the Engineer. Tehsildar had also made evaluation. Necessary documents were also prepared by the authorized advocate of the Bank and for completing all these formalities approximately an amount of Rs. 15,000/- was spent by Opposite Party No. 2 apart from Rs. 5,000/- which were also spent by the Opposite Party No. 2 on other expenditure. After having completed all the formalities when the Opposite Party No. 2 sought information from the Assistant Branch Manager of Poorwanchal Gramin Bank, Branch Nichlaul, he made him run again and again on one pretext or the other and ultimately, on 04.09.2012, he demanded 10 % of the sanctioned loan amount before he would release the funds which were sanctioned as loan. At this, the Opposite Party No. 2 asked him to provide him the receipt of the said amount pursuant to which he had promised to pay the 10% amount but it was told by the applicant that he would not be able to give the said amount of loan without the payment of the 10% of sanctioned loan amount. This act of the applicant was covered in corrupt practices and hence he was told that he would make a complaint against him in this regard. Thereafter, the applicant refused, left the place after abusing the Opposite Party No. 2 in a huff/anger and gave threat that he would get him implicated in false case of loot. A complaint was given to higher authorities against the applicant but to no avail. An application was also given at the police station concerned but nothing was done. Hence, a registered complaint was sent to the Superintendent of Police, Maharajganj on 23.01.2013 but even then no action was taken. The present case was registered by the trial court as a complaint case as Special Case No. 2 of 2013. After its registration, the statement of the complainant was recorded under Section 200 Cr.P.C. on 06.06.2013 in which the said facts have been narrated as were mentioned in the complaint and in support of his case, the Opposite Party No. 2 got examined two other witnesses also under Section 202 Cr.P.C. namely Sudhanshu Tiwari S/o late Jagdish Narayan and Govind Kumar S/o Ram Avtar and both of them have supported the version of the complainant to the effect that the applicant was asking 10% of the sanctioned loan amount from Opposite Party No. 2 for release of amount of loan by way of commission and when the same was not given then it was told that a complaint would be made against him. The accused left the place in a great anger abusing the Opposite Party No. 2 and also threatening that he would implicate the Opposite Party No. 2/complainant in a false case.

5. In the present application under Section 482 Cr.P.C. the order dated 21.07.2014 has been assailed whereby application 47-Kha moved by the accused-applicant has been rejected in which it was mentioned that the accused was summoned under Section 7 & 13 of the Prevention of Corruption Act, for which cognizance could not have been taken against him unless sanction to prosecute him had been taken from the competent authority as per the provisions of Section 19 of the Prevention of Corruption Act and therefore he had sought to be discharged under Section 245 (2) Cr.P.C. The said application was dismissed by the said impugned order.

6. In the impugned order it is mentioned that against the said application 47-kha, the complainant/Opposite Party No. 2 had filed an objection stating that cognizance had already been taken on the complaint moved by him and against the summoning order writ petition was preferred by the accused-applicant, which was dismissed upholding the summoning order. It is further mentioned in the impugned order that from the side of the accused- applicant it was argued that without proper sanction to prosecute him, given by the competent authority, no prosecution can be initiated against the applicant and hence he should be discharged under the provisions of 245 (2) Cr.P.C.

7. Reliance was placed upon three judgments i.e. (i) Subramanyam Swami Vs. Manmohan Singh and others 2012

1 SCC (Crl.) 1041; (ii) Anil Kumar Vs. N. K. Aiyappa 2014 (84) ACC 695 SC; and (iii) Nanhe Lal and others Vs. State of U.P. 2014 (84) ACC 944 Allahabad High Court.

8. After consideration the above said judgments, the trial court had recorded in the impugned order that after having taken into consideration the statement of the complainant and two other witnesses under Section 200 and 202 Cr.P.C., a prima-facie case was found to have been made out under the above mentioned Sections against the accused-applicant and he was summoned to face trial for those offences, against which a revision had been preferred before the High Court and even revision was dismissed and summoning order was found to be rightly passed. It is further mentioned that earlier an application was also moved by the applicant under 245 (2) Cr.P.C. for discharge but even that was also dismissed vide order 15.02.2014, therefore, in these circumstances, the present application 245(2) Cr.P.C. for being discharged on a new ground, cannot be disposed of and accordingly dismissed the same.

09. In the affidavit in support of the application it is mentioned by the applicant that earlier a Criminal Misc. Application under Section 482 Cr.P.C. was preferred by the applicant against the order dated 16.12.2013 which was numbered Application under Section 482 Cr.P.C. as 1205/14 (Vijay Kumar Chaturvedi Vs. State of U.P. and another) which was disposed of vide order dated 15.01.2014 with the direction that the applicant shall move discharge application through counsel within 30 days before the court concerned and for a period of 30 days no coercive action was directed to be taken against him in the said Special Case No. 2 of 2013 pending before the Trial Court.

10. In compliance of the said order discharge application was moved by him, which was rejected vide order dated 15.02.2014 against which a Criminal Revision No. 635 of 2014 (Vijay Kumar Chaturvedi Vs. State of U.P.) was filed before the High Court which was also rejected summarily vide order dated 25.03.2014 without hearing the arguments of the counsel for the applicant which is annexed as annexure no. 2. Further it is mentioned that the applicant/his counsel were not aware as to whether the sanction to prosecute the applicant was taken under Section 19 of the Prevention of Corruption Act or not. Therefore, the said point could not be raised earlier while moving application No. 1205 of 2014 or in Criminal Revision No. 635 of 2014. It is settled law that for fresh cause of action an application under Section 482 Cr.P.C. can be filed by aggrieved person to prevent abuse of process of Court and to secure the ends of justice, hence, present application has been moved.

11. The case of the applicant is squarely covered by judgment of Subramanyam Swami (Supra) and Anil Kumar (Supra) as well as Judgment in Nanhe Lal (Supra) and the trial court has not made appropriate interpretation of those judgments and has erroneously passed the impugned order rejecting the application of the accused-applicant. Further it is mentioned that the applicant is not empowered to grant loan under the Scheme of Pradhanmantri Gramodyog Yojna because the applicant had not even the target given by the Regional Office and in support thereof he has enclosed a list sent by the Regional Office Poorvanchal Bank dated 12.07.2012 which is annexed as annexure no. 5. In absence of the target, the applicant returned the loan application of Opposite Party No. 2 to Zila Gramodyog Adhikari, Maharajganj twice, first on 24.09.2012 and thereafter on 16.12.2012, true copies of the orders are annexed to the affidavit as annexure 6-A and 6-B.

12. The applicant is a Senior Bank Officer working as Senior Assistant Manager (Advance) in Poorvanchal Bank and has unblemished record of last 37 years of service. The Opposite Party No. 2 is a local press reporter of Hindustan newspaper who after his application was returned, tried to blackmail the applicant and has filed false complaint. Firstly, he had moved District Consumer Forum, Maharajganj before which his application was rejected on 11.09.2013, copy of order is annexed as annnexure no. 7 to the affidavit. After losing the case there, he filed the present false complaint which was registered as Special Case (complaint) no. 2 of 2013 which is nothing but an abuse of process of court and deserves to be quashed as in absence of sanction to prosecute under Section 19 of the Prevention of the Corruption Act by the competent authority, he cannot be relegated to of disadvantageous position to face prosecution. Hence, the impugned order dated 21.07.2011 needs to be set-aside along with entire proceedings in complaint case.

13. From the side of Opposite Party No. 2, in rebuttal, it appears that no Counter-Affidavit has been filed, however, from the side of learned A.G.A. Counter-Affidavit has been filed in which it is mentioned that the present case is arising out of a complaint case, hence, the police has nothing to do with the same.

14. Reliance has been placed by the learned counsel for the applicant on Subramanian Swamy Vs. Manmohan Singh 2012 1 SCC (Crl.) 1041. In this case it has been held that there is no provision either in P.C. Act 1988 or in Cr.P.C. which bars a citizen from filing a complaint for prosecution of a Public Servant who is alleged to have committed an offence. The appellant, a private citizen, has a right to file a complaint for prosecution of respondent no. 2 being a cabinet minister in respect of the commission of offence committed by the respondent no. 2 under the 1988 Act. It is further held in this case that in paragraph 58 of the judgment of Vineet Narain's case (1998) 1 SCC 326, the Supreme Court gave several directions in relation to C.B.I., the C.V.C, and Enforcement Directorate. In para 58(I)(15), the Supreme Court gave following directions:

"58.(I)(15): Time-limit of three months for grant of sanction for prosecution must be strictly adhered to. However, additional time of one month may be allowed where consultation is required with the Attorney General (A.G.) or any other Law Officer in the A.G.'s Office."

In future, every competent authority shall take appropriate action on the representation made by a citizen for sanction of the prosecution of a public Servant strictly in accordance with the direction contained in Vineet Narain's case (Supra) and the guidelines framed by the C.V.C. Sanction Prosecution Guidelines, 2005.

15. The above citations which has been relied upon by the learned counsel for the applicant clearly laid down that every citizen of the country has a right to make a complaint if he comes across a Government Servant who indulged in corruption and that if any such complaint is moved against him there is time limit prescribed for grant of sanction to prosecute him as laid down in Vineet Narayan's case (Supra).

16. The argument of the learned counsel for the applicant is that since the applicant in the present case is a Branch Manager of the Pooranchal Gramin Bank, who is qualifying to be treated a Government Servant and therefore before initiating his prosecution it was essential to seek prior approval for his prosecution from the appropriate authority which has not been taken in the present case by the Opposite Party No. 2. Hence, preliminary proceedings against him need to be quashed.

17. Reliance has been placed by the learned counsel for the applicant on Anil Kumar Vs. M. K. Aiyappa 2014 (84) ACC 695 SC. in In this case, the appellant filed a private complaint against the first respondent, a public Servant, under Section 200 Cr.P.C. alleging commission of offence punishable under Section 406, 409, 420, 426, 463, 465, 468, 471, 474 read with Section 120-B and Section 149 of I.P.C. and Section 8, 13(1)(c), 13(1)(d), 13(1)(e), 13(2) read with Section 12 of the Prevention of Corruption Act, 1988.

18. On receipt of this complaint, the Special Judge for Prevention of Corruption passed an order referring the matter for investigation to the Deputy Superintendent of Police, Lokaayukt, in exercise of his powers under Section 156(3) Cr.P.C.. The High Court in a Writ Petition filed by the first respondent quashed the order passed by the Special Judge as well as the complaint on the ground that the Special Judge could not have taken notice of the private complaint against a public Servant unless the same was accompanied by a sanction order against a public Servant under Section 19(1) of the P.C. Act, whether the Court was acting at a pre-cognizance stage or a post-cognizance stage. Aggrieved by the same the, complainant had filed the present appeal, dismissing the appeal, the Supreme Court held that where jurisdiction is exercised on a complaint filed in terms of Section 156(3) Cr.P.C. or Section 200 Cr.P.C., the Magistrate is required to apply his mind, and in such a case, the Special Judge/Magistrate cannot refer the matter under Section 156(3) for investigation against a public Servant without a valid sanctioned order under Section 19(1) of the Prevention of Corruption Act 1988. The application of mind by the Magistrate should be reflected in the order. The mere statement that he has gone through the complaint, documents, and heard the complainant, as such, as reflected in the order, will not be sufficient. After going through the complaint, documents and hearing the complainant, what weighed with the Magistrate to order investigation under Section 156(3) Cr.P.C., should be reflected in the order, though a detailed expression of his views is neither required nor warranted. The Special Judge/Magistrate in the present case, has stated no reasoning for ordering further investigation. It is apparent from the above citation that in a complaint case where the trial court takes cognizance of the offence under the procedure of complaint case and records statement under Section 202 Cr.P.C., it would be mandatory before taking cognizance against the accused to seek prior prosecution sanction. It would be appropriate for the complainant to seek prior permission for prosecution of the public Servant without such prior permission from the competent authority no cognizance on the said complaint can be taken by the court.

19. In the present case, I find that the applicant being Assistant Branch Manager of Poorvanchal Gramin Bank has been stated to have demanded 10% of the amount of sanctioned loan from the Opposite Party no. 2 before he would release the same, which was refused to be given, hence the complainant moved the present complaint. It is apparent that the Opposite Party no. 2 ought to have sought the sanction to prosecute the accused-applicant from appropriate authority before moving the complaint before the trial court. Apparently, it appears that the cognizance of the offence which has been taken in this matter by the trial court, appears to be in violation of the established principle of law as laid down in Anil Kumar (supra) that in this case of alleged corruption, in which summoning order has been passed under Section 7 and 13 of the Corruption Act, the cognizance has been taken by the trial court without the complainant having obtained the sanction from the appropriate authority, the accused-applicant being a Government Servant.

20. As regards the fact that the accused-applicant has already approached this Court twice earlier and each time his application was rejected, who initially approached this Court by preferring application No. 1205 of 2014 in which he was directed to appear before the trial court to seek discharge but his application has been rejected and thereafter, he approached this court in Revision No. 635 of 2014 but the same was also summarily rejected, in each of above mentioned two orders, the present point of prosecution sanction not having been obtained against the accused-applicant, had not been taken into consideration which to me appears to be mandatory in the present case. In view of the above, I am of the view, the impugned order along with the summoning order in the present case deserve to be quashed with liberty to the complainant to approach the Court again after having obtained prior sanction to prosecute the applicant from appropriate authority.

The present Application under Section 482 Cr.P.C. deserves to be allowed and is accordingly, allowed.

While exercising jurisdiction under section 482 of the Code, the High Court would not ordinarily embark upon an enquiry whether the evidence in question is reliable or not or whether on a reasonable apprehension of it accusation would not be sustained. That is the function of the trial Judge/Court. To prevent abuse of the process of the Court, High Court in exercise of its inherent powers under section 482 could quash the proceedings but there would be justification for interference only when the complaint did not disclose any offence or was frivolous vexatious or oppressive. (Delivered by Hon'ble Ram Krishna Gautam, J.)

1. Heard learned counsel for the applicant over this Application, moved under Section 482 of Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973, by the applicant, Shankar Prasad Agrahari, against State of U.P. and Vijai Bahadur Saini, challenging summoning order, dated 29th August, 2019, passed by the Additional Chief Judicial Magistrate, Varanasi, in Complaint Case No. 2278 of 2018, under Section 420 of Indian Penal Code of Police Station-Sarnath, District-Varanasi, pending in the court of Additional Chief Judicial Magistrate, Varanasi.

2. Learned counsel for the applicant argued that the impugned summoning order has been passed without any evidence on record. Very contention of the complainant was not substantiated by the witnesses as there were many contradictions in the statements. More so, alleged payment being said to have been made in 6th and 7th instalments when there was period of Notebandi and it was not possible to withdraw such huge amount. This itself shows falsity of the complainant. Witnesses of the complainant are his relatives and their statements are full of inconsistency. Complainant himself was a Principal Peon of the Bank, concerned, and as such he was fully aware of the functioning of the Bank, even then, this accusation is there. Hence, this Application, under Section 482 of Cr.P.C., before this Court for exercise of inherent power, with a prayer for setting aside impugned summoning order.

3. Learned AGA, representing State of U.P., has vehemently opposed this Application.

4. From very perusal of the impugned summoning order, it is apparent that the same has been passed by the Magistrate on the basis of the statements recorded, under Sections 200 and 202 of Cr.P.C., in enquiry made by the Magistrate and in all those statements, there is corroboration of contention of complaint. There is nothing against those statements before the Magistrate and on the basis of those statements above impugned summoning order was passed. Factual correctness or incorrectness or appreciation of same cannot be made, under Section 482, in exercise of inherent power by this Court because the Apex Court, in State of Andhra Pradesh v. Gaurishetty Mahesh, JT 2010 (6) SC 588: (2010) 6 SCALE 767: 2010 Cr. LJ 3844, has propounded that "While exercising jurisdiction under section 482 of the Code, the High Court would not ordinarily embark upon an enquiry whether the evidence in question is reliable or not or whether on a reasonable apprehension of it accusation would not be sustained. That is the function of the trial Judge/Court". In another subsequent Hamida v. Rashid, (2008) 1 SCC 474, hon'ble Apex Court propounded that "Ends of justice would be better served if valuable time of the Court is spent in hearing those appeals rather than entertaining petitions under Section 482 at an interlocutory stage which after filed with some oblique motive in order to circumvent the prescribed procedure, or to delay the trial which enable to win over the witness or may disinterested in giving evidence, ultimately resulting in miscarriage of Justice". In again another subsequent Monica Kumar v. State of Uttar Pradesh, (2008) 8 SCC 781, the Apex Court has propounded "Inherent jurisdiction under Section 482 has to be exercised sparingly, carefully and with caution and only when such exercise is justified by the tests specifically laid down in the section itself." While interpreting this jurisdiction of High Court Apex Court in Popular Muthiah v. State, Represented by Inspector of Police, (2006) 7 SCC 296 has propounded *"High Court can exercise jurisdiction suo motu in the interest of justice. It can do so while exercising other jurisdictions such as appellate or revisional jurisdiction. No formal application for invoking inherent jurisdiction is necessary. Inherent jurisdiction can be exercised in respect of substantive as well as procedural matters. It can as well be exercis*ed in respect of incidental or supplemental power irrespective of nature of proceedings".

5. Regarding prevention of abuse of process of Court, Apex Court in Dhanlakshmi v. R.Prasana Kumar, (1990) Cr LJ 320 (DB): AIR 1990 SC 494 has propounded "To prevent abuse of the process of the Court, High Court in exercise of its inherent powers under section 482 could quash the proceedings but there would be justification for interference only when the complaint did not disclose any offence or was frivolous vexatious or oppressive" as well as in State of Bihar v. Murad Ali Khan, (1989) Cr LJ 1005: AIR 1989 SC 1, Apex Court propounded "In exercising jurisdiction under Section 482 High Court would not embark upon an enquiry whether the allegations in the complaint are likely to be established by evidence or not".

6. Meaning thereby, exercise of inherent jurisdiction under Section 482 Cr.P.C. is within the limits, propounded as above.

7. In view of what has been discussed above, there is no ground of any indulgence to be granted by this Court.

Accordingly, this Application, under Section 482 of Cr.P.C. deserves dismissal, being devoid of merits, and it stands dismissed accordingly.

8. However, it is directed that if the applicant appears and surrenders before the court below within 30 days from today and applies for bail, his prayer for bail shall be considered and decided in view of the settled law laid by this Court in the case of Amrawati and another Vs. State of U.P. reported in 2004 (57) ALR 290 as well as judgement passed by Hon'ble Apex Court reported in 2009 (3) ADJ 322 (SC) Lal Kamlendra Pratap Singh Vs. State of U.P.

9. For a period of 30 days from today, no coercive action shall be taken against the applicant. However, in case, the applicant does not appear before the Court below, within the aforesaid period, coercive action shall be taken against them.

10. वर्तमान वाद में यह निर्णीत करना है कि ''क्या वर्तमान वाद के तथ्यों व परिस्थितयो को ध्यान में रखते हुए पारस्परिक समझौते के आधार पर अशमनीय अपराधो का शमन करके, समस्त दांडिक कार्यवाही का निरस्तीकरण, धारा 482 द.प्र. सं. द्वारा प्रदत्त शक्तियों के अंतर्गत किया जाना न्यायोचित होगा ?

11. इस विधिक विषय का निर्धारण करने लिए यह देखना आवश्यक की इस विषय पर कानूनी स्थिति क्या है। इस विषय पर उच्चतम न्यायालय द्वारा हाल में दिया गया निर्णय (मध्य प्रदेश शासन बनाम लक्ष्मी नारायण और अन्य आपराधिक अपील सं0 349/2019 निर्णय दि0 5 मार्च 2019 जो 2019 (5) एस.सी.सी. 688 में प्रकाशित भी है।) का उल्लेख करना प्रासंगिक व उपयुक्त है। इस निर्णय के प्रमुख अंश निम्न है (स्त्रोत https: /sci.gov.in/supremecourt_vernacular2014 / 22779/22779201421506129 87judgement05-Mar-2019HIN pdf½

"9. आरंभ मे यह ध्यान देना आवश्यक है कि वर्तमान मामले मे उच्च न्यायालय ने द.प्र.सं. की धारा 482 की अपनी शक्तियों का उपयोग करते हुए केवल फरियादी एवं अभियुक्त के मध्य समझौता हो जाने के आधार पर धारा 307 और 34 भा.द.सं. के तहत अपराधों की प्रथम सूचना रिपोर्ट को रद्द किया है। कि समझौते को ध्यान मे रखते हुए और फरियादी द्वारा लिये गये पक्ष, इस न्यायालय के शिजी के मामले के निर्णय पर विचार करते हुए, उच्च न्यायालय का मानना है कि आरोपीगण के विरूद्ध दोषसिद्धी करने का कोई अवसर नहीं है और सम्पूर्ण विचारण करना

9.1 यद्यपि, उच्च न्यायालय ने इस तथ्य पर बिल्कुल भी विचार नहीं किया है कि अभिकथित अपराध धारा 320 द.प्र.सं. के अनुसार अशमनीय थे। आलोच्य निर्णय से ऐसा प्रतित होता है कि उच्च न्यायालय ने सुसंगत तथ्यों तथा मामले की परिस्थितियो जिसमें विशेष रूप से अपराधों की गंभीरता और इसके सामाजिक प्रभाव पर बिल्कुल भी विचार नहीं किया है। उच्च न्यायालय द्वारा पारित आदेश और आलोच्य निर्णय से ऐसा प्रतित होता है कि उच्च न्यायालय ने धारा 482 द.प्र.सं. के अंर्तगत शक्तियों के प्रयोग में एफ.आई.आर. को यंत्रिक रूप से रद्द किया है। उच्च न्यायालय ने व्यक्तिगत और निजी दोष के बीच अंतर तथा सामाजिक दोष और सामाजिक प्रभाव पर बिल्कुल भी विचार नहीं किया है। जैसा कि इस न्यायालय ने महाराष्ट राज्य बनाम विक्रम अनंतराय दोशी, (2014) 15 एस.सी.सी. 29, इस मामले में अवलोकन किया, धारा 482 द.प्र.सं. के अंतर्गत शक्तियों का प्रयोग करते हुए आपराधिक कार्यवाहीयों को रद्द करते हुए न्यायालय का प्रमुख कर्तव्य होना चाहिए कि वह सारे तथ्यों का विश्लेषण कर अरोपो के रूझान और समझौता के मर्म का पता करे। जैसा कि देखा गया है, यह न्यायाधीश का अनुभव है जो उसकी सहायता के लिए आता है और उक्त अनुभव का उपयोग सावधानी, सतर्कता, एहतियात और साहसी विवेक के साथ करना चाहिए। वर्तमान मामले में उच्च न्यायालय ने उचित परिप्रेक्ष्य में सभी तथ्यों का विश्लेषण करने का तनिक भी कष्ट नहीं किया है और आपराधिक कार्यवाहियां यांत्रिक रूप से रद्द कर दी है। यहां तक कि वर्तमान मामले में उच्च न्यायालय द्वारा धारा 482 द.प्र.सं. के तहत शक्तियों का प्रयोग करना और धारा 307 तथा 34 भा.द.सं. के तहत दण्डनीय अपराध की एफ.आई.आर. को रद्द करना, एक प्रकार से इस न्यायालय के निर्णयो द्वारा प्रतिपादित विधि के प्रतिकूल है।

9.2 ज्ञान सिंह (उपरोक्त) मामले के खण्ड–61 में इस न्यायालय ने महसूस किया और निम्न अनुसार प्रतिपादित किया :–

''61. उपरोक्त चर्चा से जो स्थिति बनती है उसे इस प्रकार संक्षेप में प्रस्तुत किया जा सकता है : उच्च न्यायालय को आपराधिक कार्यवाही या एफ.आई.आर. या परिवाद को रद्द करने की शक्तियां अपनी अंर्तनिहित क्षेत्राधिकार का प्रयोग करते हुए और आपराधिक न्यायालय को दी गई धारा 320 के तहत अपराध को शमन करने की शक्ति से भिन्न है। अंर्तनिहित शक्तियां व्यापक स्तर पर बिना किसी वैधानिक सीमा के साथ होती है लेकिन इस शक्ति को पैवंद दिशा निर्देशों के अनुसार ऐसे प्रयोग करना चाहिए : ;पद्ध न्याय के हितों की सुरक्षा हेतु, या ;पपद्ध किसी न्यायालय की प्रक्रिया के दुरूपयोग को रोकने हेतु। किन मामलो में आपराधिक कार्यवाही या परिवाद या एफ.आई.आर. को रद्द करने की शक्तियों का प्रयोग किया जा सकता है, जहां अपराधी और पीड़ित ने अपना विवाद सुलझा लिया है, यह प्रत्येक मामले के तथ्यों और परिस्थितियों पर निर्भर करेगा और कोई श्रेणी विहित नहीं की जा सकती है। यद्यपि, इस प्रकार की शक्ति का प्रयोग करने से पहले उच्च न्यायालय को अपराध की प्रकृति और गंभीरता के बारे में यथोचित ध्यान होना ही चाहिए। जघन्य और मानसिक अवसाद के गंभीर अपराधों या हत्या, बलात्कार, डकैती इत्यादि जैसे अपराधों को रद्द नही किया जा सकता है यहां तक कि पीड़ित या पीड़िता के परिवार और अभियुक्त ने विवाद को सुलझा लिया है। इस प्रकार के अपराध प्रकृति में निजी नही है और समाज पर गंभीर प्रभाव डालते है। इसी प्रकार, पीड़िता और अपराधी के बीच विशेष कानून के तहत अपराधों के संबंध में कोई समझौता जैसे कि भ्रष्टाचार निवारण अधिनियम या उस क्षमता में काम करते समय लोक सेवकों द्वारा किए गए अपराधे आदि; ऐसे अपराधों को शामिल करने वाली आपराधिक कार्यवाही को रोकने के लिए कोई आधार प्रदान नहीं कर सकता है। लेकिन आपराधिक मामलों में बड़े पैमाने पर और पूर्वव्यापी दीवानी प्रकृति से खारिजी के उद्देश्यो के लिए अलग–अलग आधार पर खड़े होते है, विशेष रूप से वाणिज्यिक, वित्तीय, व्यापारिक, दीवानी, साझेदारी या इस तरह के सम्यव्यवहार या दहेज संबंधित वैवाहिक आदि संबंधित से उत्पन्न अपराधों या पारिवारिक विवाद जहां मूल रूप से दोष व्यक्तिगत या निजी प्रकृति का है और पक्षकारों ने अपने संपूर्ण मामले को हल कर लिया है। इस श्रेणी के मामलों में, उच्च न्यायालय आपराधिक कार्यवाहियों को रद्द कर सकता है यदि उसके विचार में, अपराधी और पीड़ित के बीच समझौता होने के कारण, दोषी

9.3 ज्ञान सिंह (उपरोक्त), के मामले के निर्णय के विचार करने के बाद नरेंद्र सिंह बनाम पंजाब राज्य (2014) 6 एस.सी.सी. 466 के मामले के पैराग्राफ 29 में, इस न्यायालय ने निम्न रूप से अभिव्यक्त किया :

''29 उपरोक्त चर्चा को दृष्टिगत रखते हुए, हम सरांशता और निम्नलिखित सिद्धांतों को प्रतिपादित करते है जिसके द्वारा उच्च न्यायालय को मार्गदर्शित किया जाएगा पक्षकारों के मध्य हुए समझौते को उचित उपचार देने में और धारा 482 द.प्र.सं. के अंतर्गत अपनी शक्ति का प्रयोग करते हुए कार्यवाही को रद्द करते हुए और समझौते को स्वीकार करते हुए या समझौते को मानने से इनकार करते हुए आपराधिक कार्यवाहियों के जारी रहने का निर्देश देगा।

29.1 द.प्र.सं. की धारा 482 के तहत प्रदत्त शक्ति को उस शक्ति से अलग किया जाना चाहिए जो न्यायालय को संहिता की धारा 320 के अंर्तगत अपराधों के शमन करने के लिए दी जाती है। निसंदेह संहिता की धारा 482 के अंर्तगत उच्च न्यायालय को उन मामलों में भी आपराधिक कार्यवाहियों को रद्द करने की अंर्तनिहित शक्ति है जो शमनीय नहीं हैं, जहां पक्षकारों ने आपस में मामला सुलझा लिया है। हालांकि, इस शक्ति का प्रयोग संयम से और सावधानी के साथ किया जाना है।

29.2 जब पक्षकार निपटारे पर पहुंच गए हैं और उस आधार पर आपराधिक कार्यवाहीको रद्द करने के लिए याचिका दायर की जाती है, तो ऐसे मामलों में मार्गदर्शक कारक ;पद्ध न्याय के उद्देश्य की पूर्ति के लिए या ;पपद्ध किसी भी न्यायालय की प्रक्रिया का दुरूपयोग रोकने के लिए को सुरक्षित करना होगा।

उच्च न्यायालय को अपनी शक्ति का प्रयोग करते समय पूर्वोक्त दो उद्देश्यों में से किसी एक पर राय बनानी होती है।

29.3 ऐसी शक्ति का उन अभियोगों में प्रयोग नहीं किया जाना है जिनमें जघन्य और मानसिक अवसाद के गंभीर अपराध या अपराध जैसे हत्या, बलात्कार, डकैती इत्यादि शामिल हैं। ऐसे अपराध निजी प्रकृति के नहीं है और समाज पर गंभीर प्रभाव डालते है। इसी प्रकार विशेष कानून के तहत कारित किये गए अभिकथित अपराध जैसे कि भ्रष्टाचार निवारण अधिनियम या उस क्षमता में काम करते समय लोक सेवकों द्वारा किए गए अपराध मात्र इस आधार पर रद्द नहीं किये जाने है कि पीड़ित और अपराधी के बीच कोई समझौता हो गया है।

29.4 दूसरी तरफ, उन आपराधिक मामलों में जो बड़े पैमाने पर और पूर्वव्यापी दीवानी प्रकृति के होते है, विशेष रूप से वे जो वाणिज्यिक संव्यवहार से उत्पन्न होते है या वैवाहिक संबंध से उत्पन्न होते है, या पारिवारिक विवादों को समाप्त किया जाना चाहिए, जब पक्षकारों ने अपने विवाद को आपस में खुद से हल कर लिया हो।

29.5 अपनी शक्तियों का प्रयोग करते समय उच्च न्यायालय को इस बात की जांच करनी है कि क्या दोषसिद्धि की संभावना दूरस्थ और धूमिल है और आपराधिक मामलों की निरंतरता अभियुक्तों को बहुत उत्पीड़न और पक्षपात में डालेगी और आपराधिक मामलों को समाप्त नहीं करने से उसके साथ अत्यधिक अन्याय होगा।

29.6 भा.द.सं. की धारा 307 के तहत अपराध जघन्य और गंभीर अपराधों की श्रेणी में आयेगें और इसलिए इन्हें आमतौर पर समाज के विरूद्ध अपराध माना जाता है और न कि केवल अकेले व्यक्ति के विरूद्ध। हांलाकि उच्च न्यायालय अपने निर्णय को केवल इसलिए बहाल नही करेगा क्योंकि एफ.आई.आर. में धारा 307 भा.द.सं. का उल्लेख है या इस प्रावधान के तहत आरोप तय

किया गया है। उच्च न्यायालय को यह परीक्षण करने के लिए खुला रहेगा कि क्या धारा 307 भा. द.सं. को मात्र इसमें शामिल करने के लिए या अभियोजन पक्ष ने पर्याप्त साक्ष्य एकत्र किये है, जो यदि साबित हुआ, को धारा 307 भा.द.सं. के तहत आरोप साबित करने के लिए प्रेरित करेगा। इस प्रयोजन के लिए, उच्च न्यायालय को यह खुला रहेगा, चोट लगने की प्रकृति के साथ जाए क्या इस तरह की चोट शरीर के महत्वपूर्ण/प्रतिनिधि भागों पर कारित की गई हैं, हथियारों की प्रकृति जो इस्तेमाल किये गये है, पीड़ित को कारित चोटों के संबंध में चिकित्सीय रिपोर्ट सामान्यतः मार्गदर्शक कारक हो सकते है। इस प्रथम दृष्टया विश्लेषण के आधार पर, उच्च न्यायालय इस बात की जांच कर सकता है कि क्या दोषी ठहराए जाने की प्रबल संभावना है या दोषी ठहराए जाने की संभावनाए दुरस्थ और धूमिल है। पूर्व मामले में यह निपटारे को स्वीकार करने से इनकार कर सकता है और आपराधिक कार्यवाहियों को रद्द कर सकता है जबकि बाद के मामले में उच्च न्यायालय के लिए पक्षकारों के बीच पूर्ण निपटारा अभिवाक् समझौते पर आधारित अपराध को स्वीकार करने के लिए यह स्वीकार्य होगा। इस स्तर पर, न्यायालय को इस तथ्य से भी प्रभावित किया जा सकता है कि पक्षकारों के बीच समझौता करने से उनके बीच सदभाव हो सकता है जिससे उनके भविष्य के रिश्ते में सुधार हो सकता है।

29.7 संहिता की धारा 482 के तहत अपनी शक्ति का प्रयोग करना है या नही, यह तय करते समय निपटारे की समय–सीमा एक महत्वपूर्ण भूमिका निभाती है। जिन मामलों का निपटारा कथित अपराध के तुरन्त बाद हो जाता है और मामला अन्वेषणाधीन है, उच्च न्यायालय आपराधिक कार्यवाही/जांच को रद्द करने के लिए समझौता स्वीकार करने में उदार हो सकता है। यह इस कारण से है कि इस स्तर पर जांच अभी भी जारी है और यहां तक की चार्जशीट भी पेश नहीं की गई है। इसी तरह, उन मामलों में जहां आरोप लगाया गया है लेकिन साक्ष्य को शुरू करना अभी बाकी है या साक्ष्य अभी भी प्रारंभिक अवस्था में है, उच्च न्यायालय अपनी शक्तियों को अनुकूल तरीके से उपयोग करने में उदारता दिखा सकता है, लेकिन ऊपर उल्लेखित परिस्थितियों/साम्रगी का प्रथम दृष्टया मूल्यांकन करने के बाद। दूसरी ओर, जहां अभियोजन साक्ष्य लगभग पूर्ण हैं या प्रकरण साक्ष्य के निष्कर्ष के बाद तर्क की अवस्था पर है, आमतौर पर उच्च न्यायालय को संहिता की धारा 482 के तहत अपनी शक्तियों का प्रयोग करने से बचना चाहिए, जैसा कि ऐसे मामलों में विचारण न्यायालय मामले को गुणागूण पर निर्णित करने की स्थिति में होगा और इस निष्कर्ष पर पहुंचने के लिए कि क्या धारा 307 के तहत अपराध किया गया है या नहीं। इसी तरह, उन मामलों में जहां दोषसिद्धि विचारण न्यायालय द्वारा पहले से ही दर्ज की जाती है और मामला उच्च न्यायालय के समक्ष अपील की अवस्था पर है, केवल पक्षकारों के बीच समझौता एक ही आधार को स्वीकार करने का आधार नहीं होगा जिसके परिणाम स्वरूप अपराधी को दोषमुक्त किया जायेगा जो कि विचारण न्यायालय द्वारा पहले से ही दोषसिद्ध किया गया है। यहां धारा 307 भा.द.सं. के तहत आरोप साबित हो जाता है और दोषसिद्धि पहले से ही जघन्य अपराध के रूप में दर्ज की जाती है और इसलिए, इस तरह के अपराध के लिए दोषी पाए गए अपराधी को बख्शने का कोई सवाल ही नहीं है।

2ण उच्च न्यायालय के क्षेत्राधिकार का आह्वान प्रथम सूचना रिपोर्ट या आपराधिक कार्यवाही को इस आधार पर रद्द करने के लिए कि अपराधी और पीड़ित के बीच समझौता हो गया है, एक समान नहीं है जहां क्षेत्राधिकार का आह्वान अपराध के शमन करने के उद्देश्य से

किया जाता है। अपराध का शमन करते समय, न्यायालय की शक्ति द.प्र.सं. की धारा 320 के प्रावधानों के द्वारा शासित होती है। धारा 482 के तहत रद्द करने की शक्ति आर्कषित होती है चाहे अपराध अशमनीय हो।

3ण एक राय बनाने में कि क्या धारा 482 द.प्र.सं. के तहत अपने अधिकार क्षेत्र के उपयोग में एक आपराधिक कार्यवाही या परिवाद को रद्द किया जाना चाहिए, उच्च न्यायालय को यह मूल्याकंन करना चाहिए कि क्या न्याय के उद्देश्यों की पूर्ति में निहित शक्ति का प्रयोग किया जाना उचित होगा।

4ण जबकि उच्च न्यायालय की अंर्तनिहित शक्ति की व्यापक परिधि और पूर्णता है, उसे प्रयोग करने की आवश्यकता है ;पद्ध न्याय के उद्देश्यों को सुरक्षित करने के लिए, या ;पपद्ध किसी न्यायालय की प्रक्रिया के दुरूपयोग को रोकने के लिए।

5ण इस निर्णय में कि क्या परिवाद या प्रथम सूचना रिपोर्ट को इस आधार पर खारिज किया जाना चाहिए कि अपराधी और पीड़ित ने विवाद को निपटा लिया है, अंततः प्रत्येक मामला उसके तथ्यों और परिस्थितियों पर घुमता है और सिद्धांतों का कोई विस्तृत विस्तार तैयार नही किया जा सकता है।

8ण आपराधिक मामले जो वाणिज्यिक, वित्तीय, व्यापारिक, साझेदारी या समान संव्यवहार जो अनिवार्य रूप से सिविल प्रकृति के साथ उत्पन्न होते है, वे रद्द करने के लिए उपयुक्त परिस्थितियों में आ सकते है जहां पक्षकारो ने विवाद सुलझा लिया हो।

9ण ऐसे मामले में उच्च न्यायालय आपराधिक कार्यवाही को रद्द कर सकता है यदि विवादियो के बीच समझौते को ध्यान में रखते हुए, दोषसिद्धि की संभावना काफी दुरस्थ है और आपराधिक कार्यवाही की निरंतरता उत्पीड़न और प्रतिकूलता कारित करेगा; और

9.5 मनीष (उपरोक्त) के मामले में इस न्यायालय ने विशेष रूप से अवलोकन और अभिनिर्धारित किया कि, जब धारा 307, 294 और 34 भा.द.सं. के अर्न्तगत अपराध (जैसा कि अपील / एस.एल.पी. (आप.) क्रमांक 9859/2013) सहित धारा 25 और 27 आयुध अधिनियम (जैसा कि अपील / एस.एल.पी. (आप.) क्रमांक 9860/2013) के शमन का प्रश्न आता है, बिना किसी कल्पना के, क्या इसे निजी पक्षकारों के बीच एक समान्य अपराध माना जा सकता है। यह महसूस किया गया है कि ऐसे अपराधों का समाज पर बड़े पैमाने पर गंभीर प्रभाव पड़ेगा। आगे यह भी महसूस किया गया है कि जहां अभियुक्तगण धारा 307, 294 सहपठित धारा 34 भा.द.सं. के साथ–साथ आयुध अधिनियम की धारा 25 और 27 के अंर्तगत विचारण का सामना कर रहे हो चूंकि अपराध निश्चित रूप से समाज के विरूद्ध है, अभियुक्तों को आवश्यक रूप से विचारण का सामना करना पड़ेगा और अपनी पूरी बेगुनाही साबित करके बाहर आना होगा।

9.6 दीपक (उपरोक्त) के मामले में इस न्यायालय ने विशेष रूप से महसूस किया कि धारा 307 भा.द.सं. के तहत अशमनीय अपराध है और धारा 307 के तहत अपराध पक्षकारों के बीच परस्पर एक निजी विवाद नहीं है किंतु समाज के विरूद्ध एक अपराध है, एक समझौते के आधार पर कार्यवाहीं को रद्द करना अनुज्ञेय नहीं है। इसी प्रकार इस न्यायालय ने वर्तमान में कल्याण सिंह (उपरोक्त) और ध्रुव गुर्जर (उपरोक्त) के मामले के निर्णय में यह राय दी है।

10. अब जहां तक नरिन्दर सिंह (उपरोक्त) के मामले का इस न्यायालय के निर्णय से संबंध है, इस न्यायालय ने पैराग्राफ 29.6 में स्वीकार किया है कि धारा 307 भा.द.सं. के तहत किया गया अपराध जघन्य और गंभीर अपराधों की श्रेणी में आएगा और इसलिये इन्हें समान्यतः समाज के विरूद्ध अपराध की तरह माना जाता है न कि अकेले व्यक्ति के विरूद्ध। यद्यपि, इस न्यायालय ने आगे अवलोकन किया कि उच्च न्यायालय अपने निर्णय को केवल इसलिए बहाल नहीं करेगा क्योकि एफ.आई.आर. में धारा 307 का उल्लेख है या अन्य आरोप लगाया गया है। इसके आगे चिकित्सीय साक्ष्य या अन्य साक्ष्य के साथ सम्पोषण को देखा जाना, जो केवल परीक्षण के दौरान संभव है। नरिन्दर सिंह के मामले का निर्णय इस न्यायालय के वर्तमान निर्णय में अभियुक्तों के लिए कोई सहायक नही होगा।

11. अब जहां तक इस न्यायालय के शिजी (उपरोक्त) के मामले के निर्णय पर भरोसा करते हुए, एफ.आई.आर. को रद्द करते समय यह महसूस करते हुए कि फरियादी ने अभियुक्त के साथ समझौता किया है, वह दोषसिद्धि दर्ज करने की कोई संभावना नहीं है, और/या आगे का विचारण करने की प्रक्रिया निरर्थकता से संबंधित होगी, हमारी राय यह है कि उच्च न्यायालय ने उपरोक्त वर्णित आधार पर एफ.आई.आर. को रद्द करने में स्पष्ट रूप से भूल की है। ऐसा प्रतीत होता है कि उच्च न्यायालय ने इस मामलों के तथ्यों पर कथित निर्णय को गलत तरीके से पढ़ा या गलत तरीके से लागू किया है। उच्च न्यायालय को इस बात की सराहना करना चाहिए की प्रत्येक मामले में जहां फरियादी ने आरोपी के साथ समझौता कर लिया है, वहां कोई दोषी नहीं हो सकता है। ऐसे अवलोकन काल्पनिक है और कई बार राय देना जल्दबाजी है। वर्तमान प्रकरण में यह हो सकता है कि अभियोजन अभी भी ठोस साक्ष्य और अन्य गवाहों का परीक्षण कराकर दोषसिद्ध कर सकता है और सुसंगत साक्ष्य/वस्तु, अधिक विशेष रूप से जब विवाद एक वाणिज्यिक लेनदेन का नहीं है, और/या दीवानी प्रकृति, और/या एक निजी दोष नहीं है। शिजी (उपरोक्त) मामले में इस न्यायालय ने यह पाया कि मामले की उत्पत्ति पक्षकारों के मध्य दीवानी विवाद से हुई थी, जो विवाद उनके द्वारा हल कर लिया गया और इसलिए इस न्यायालय ने कहा कि, ''ऐसा होना, अभियोजन की निरंतरता, जहां फरियादी आरोपो का समर्थन करने के लिए तैयार नहीं है..... एक निरर्थक अभ्यास होगा जो किसी उद्देश्य की पूर्ति नहीं करेगा। उपरोक्त वर्णित मामले में यह भी महसूस किया गया 'कि यद्यपि दोनो कथित चश्मदीद गवाह फरियादी से निकट संबंधित थे हांलाकि वे अभियोजन संस्करण का समर्थन नहीं कर रहे थे' और इस न्यायालय ने महसूस और अभिनिर्धारित किया, 'कार्यवाहियों की निरंतरता एक खाली औपचारिकता के अलावा और कुछ नहीं है और द.प्र.सं. की धारा 482 के अंर्तगत ऐसी परिस्थितियों में उच्च न्यायालय द्वारा उचित रूप से न्याय की प्रक्रिया के दुरूपयोग को रोकने के लिए और जिसके द्वारा अधीनस्थ न्यायालयों की फिजूल प्रक्रिया को रोकने के लिए किया जा सकता है। उक्त निर्णय के पैराग्राफ 18 में निम्नलिखित रूप से यहा तक महसूस किया है :

''18. ऐसा कहने के बाद, हमें यह शीघ्रता से जोड़ना चाहिए कि द.प्र.सं. की धारा 482 के तहत अपने आप में प्रचुर शक्तियां है, यह उच्च न्यायालय के लिए अंत्यत सावधानी और सतर्कता के साथ प्रयोग करने के लिए बाध्यकर बनाती है। शक्ति की विस्तृतता और प्रकृति स्वंय यह मांग करती है कि उच्च न्यायालय को इनका प्रयोग केवल अल्प रूप से और उन मामलों में करना चाहिए जिनके कारणों को लेखबद्ध कर इस स्पष्ट मत पर हो की अभियोजन की निरंतरता कानून की प्रक्रिया का एक दुरूपयोग मात्र के अलावा कुछ नहीं होगा। न तो यह हमारे लिए आवश्यक है और न ही उपयुक्त है कि उन स्थितियों का उल्लेख करें जिनमें धारा 482 के तहत शक्ति का प्रयोग न्यायोचित हो सकता है। कुल मिलाकर हमें यह कहने की आवश्यकता है कि शक्ति का प्रयोग न्याय के उद्देश्यों को सुरक्षित करने के लिए होना चाहिए और केवल

11.1 इसलिए उपरोक्त निर्णय ऐसे मामले में लागू हो सकता है जिसका मूल पक्षकारों केबीच सिविल विवाद है; पक्षकारो ने विवाद को सुलझा लिया है; कि अपराध व्यापक रूप से समाज के विरूद्ध नहीं है और/या उसी का सामाजिक प्रभाव नहीं हो सकता है; विवाद एक परिवार/वैवाहिक विवाद आदि है। पूर्वोक्त निर्णय उन मामलों में लागू नहीं हो सकता है जिनमें अभिकथित अपराध बहुत गंभीर और घोर अपराध है, जिनके धारा 307 भा.द.सं. के तहत अपराध जैसे सामाजिक प्रभाव होते है। इसलिए सुसंगत तथ्यों और परिस्थितियों पर उचित विचार किये बिना हमारे विचार में उच्च न्यायालय ने एफ.आई. आर. को यांत्रिक रूप से रद्द करने में तात्विक त्रुटि की है, यह अवलोकन करते हुए कि समझौते को ध्यान में रखते हुए, दोषसिद्धि अभिलिखित करने की कोई संभावना नहीं है और/या आगे का विचारण निरर्थता का एक प्रयोग होगा। उच्च न्यायालय ने शिजी (उपरोक्त) के मामले में, मामले के सुसंगत तथ्यों और परिस्थितियों पर विचार किये बिना इस न्यायालय के पूर्वोक्त निर्णय पर यांत्रिक रूप से विचार किया है।

12. अब जहां तक नरिन्दर सिंह (उपरोक्त) और शम्भू केवट के निर्णयों के बीच पारस्परिक विरोध का सम्बध है, शम्भू केवट (उपरोक्त) के प्रकरण में इस न्यायालय ने उच्च न्यायालय को धारा 482 द.प्र.सं. द्वारा प्रदत्त आपराधिक कार्यवाहियों को रद्द करने की शक्ति और न्यायालय को धारा 320 द.प्र.सं. के अतंर्गत अपराधों का शमन करने की प्रदत्त शक्ति से भिन्न है। उक्त निर्णय में, इस न्यायालय ने आगे अवलोकन किया कि अपराधों के शमन में, न्यायालय की शक्ति धारा 320 द.प्र.सं. के प्रावधानो द्वारा परिचालित होती है और न्यायालय को पूरी तरह से और स्पष्ट रूप से निर्देशित किया जाता है। जबकि, दूसरी और धारा 482 द. प्र.सं. के तहत आपराधिक परिवाद या आपराधिक कार्यवाहियों को रद्द करने के लिए उच्च न्यायालय द्वारा राय दिया जाना, अभिलेख सामाग्री द्वारा निर्देशित किया जाता है कि क्या ऐसी शक्ति के प्रयोग से न्याय के उद्देश्य की पूर्ति होगी, यद्यपि अंतिम परिणाम दोषमुक्ति या अभियोग का खारिज होना हो सकता है। यद्यपि, नरिन्दर सिंह (उपरोक्त) के पश्चातवर्ती निर्णय में, इसी पीठ ने पैरा 29 में अंतिम रूप से जैसा कि नीचे निष्कर्ष निकाला :–

''29. उपरोक्त चर्चा को दृष्टिगत रखते हुए, हम सरांशता और निम्नलिखित सिद्धांतों को प्रतिपादित करते है जिसके द्वारा उच्च न्यायालय को मार्गदर्शित किया जाएगा पक्षकारों के मध्य हुए समझौते को उचित उपचार देने में और धारा 482 द.प्र.सं. के अंतर्गत अपनी शक्ति का प्रयोग करते हुए कार्यवाही को रद्द करते हुए और समझौते को स्वीकार करते हुए या समझौते को मानने से इनकार करते हुए आपराधिक कार्यवाहीयों के जारी रहने का निर्देश देगा।

29.2 जब पक्षकार निपटारे पर पहुंच गए हैं और उस आधार पर आपराधिक कार्यवाही को रद्द करने के लिए याचिका दायर की जाती है, तो ऐसे मामलों मे मार्गदर्शक कारक ;पद्ध न्याय के उद्देश्य की पूर्ति के लिए या ;पपद्ध किसी भी न्यायालय की प्रक्रिया का दुरूपयोग रोकने के लिए को सुरक्षित करना होगा।

उच्च न्यायालय को अपनी शक्ति का प्रयोग करते समय पूर्वोक्त दो उद्देश्यों में से किसी एक पर राय बनानी होती है।

29.3 ऐसी शक्ति का उन अभियोगों में प्रयोग नहीं किया जाना है जिनमें जघन्य और मानसिक अवसाद के गंभीर अपराध या अपराध जैसे हत्या, बलात्कार, डकैती इत्यादि शामिल है। ऐसे अपराध निजी प्रकृति के नहीं है और समाज पर गंभीर प्रभाव डालते है। इसी प्रकार विशेष कानून के तहत कारित किये गए अभिकथित अपराध जैसे कि भ्रष्टाचार निवारण अधिनियम या उस क्षमता में काम करते समय लोक सेवकों द्वारा किए गए अपराध मात्र इस आधार पर रद्द नहीं किये जाने है कि पीड़ित और अपराधी के बीच कोई समझौता हो गया है।

29.4 दूसरी तरफ, उन आपराधिक मामलों में जो बड़े पैमाने पर और पूर्वव्यापी दीवानी प्रकृति के होते है, विशेष रूप से वे जो वाणिज्यिक संव्यवहार से उत्पन्न होते है या वैवाहिक संबंध से उत्पन्न होते है, या पारिवारिक विवादों को समाप्त किया जाना चाहिए, जब पक्षकारों ने अपने विवाद को आपस में खुद से हल कर लिया हो।

29.5 अपनी शक्तियों का प्रयोग करते समय उच्च न्यायालय को इस बात की जांच करनी है कि क्या दोषसिद्धि की संभावना दूरस्थ और धूमिल है और आपराधिक मामलों की निरंतरता अभियुक्तों को बहुत उत्पीड़न और पक्षपात में डालेगी और आपराधिक मामलों को समाप्त नहीं करने से उसके साथ अत्यधिक अन्याय होगा।

29.6 भा.द.सं. की धारा 307 के तहत अपराध जघन्य और गंभीर अपराधों की श्रेणी में आयेगें और इसलिए इन्हें आमतौर पर समाज के विरूद्ध अपराध माना जाता है और न कि केवल अकेले व्यक्ति के विरूद्ध। हांलाकि उच्च न्यायालय अपने निर्णय को केवल इसलिए बहाल नही करेगा क्योंकि एफ.आई.आर. में धारा 307 भा.द.सं. का उल्लेख है या इस प्रावधान के तहत आरोप तय किया गया है। उच्च न्यायालय को यह परीक्षण करने के लिए खुला रहेगा कि क्या धारा 307 भा. द.सं. को मात्र इसमें शामिल करने के लिए या अभियोजन पक्ष ने पर्याप्त साक्ष्य एकत्र किये है, जो यदि साबित हुआ, को धारा 307 भा.द.सं. के तहत आरोप साबित करने के लिए प्रेरित करेगा। इस प्रयोजन के लिए उच्च न्यायालय को यह खुला रहेगा, चोट लगने की प्रकृति के साथ जाए क्या इस तरह की चोट शरीर के महत्वपूर्ण/प्रतिनिधि भागों पर कारित की गई है, हथियारों की प्रकृति जो इस्तेमाल किये गये है, पीड़ित को कारित चोटों के संबंध में चिकित्सीय रिपोर्ट सामान्यतः मार्गदर्शक कारक हो सकते है। इस प्रथम दृष्टया विश्लेषण के आधार पर, उच्च न्यायालय इस बात की जांच कर सकता है कि क्या दोषी ठहराए जाने की प्रबल संभावना है या दोषी ठहराए जाने की संभावनाए दुरस्थ और धूमिल है। पूर्व मामले में यह निपटारे को स्वीकार करने से इनकार कर सकता है और आपराधिक कार्यवाहियों को रद्द कर सकता है जबकि बाद के मामले में उच्च न्यायालय के लिए पक्षकारों के बीच पूर्ण निपटारा अभिवाक् समझौते पर आधारित अपराध को स्वीकार करने के लिए यह स्वीकार्य होगा। इस स्तर पर, न्यायालय को इस तथ्य से भी प्रभावित किया जा सकता है कि पक्षकारों के बीच समझौता करने से उनके बीच सदभाव हो सकता है जिससे उनके भविष्य के रिश्ते में सुधान हो सकता है।

13. विधि के बिंदु पर और इस न्यायालय के अन्य निर्णयों के बिंदुओं पर विचार करते हुए, उपरोक्त वर्णित से संबंधित, नीचे यह अवलोकन और अभिनिर्धारित किया गया है :

;पद्ध कि संहिता की धारा 320 के अंर्तगत अशमनीय अपराधों के लिए संहिता की धारा 482 के अंर्तगत आपराधिक कार्यवाहियों को रद्द करने की प्रदत्त शक्ति का प्रयोग दीवानी स्वरूप के मामलों में जोरदार तरीके से और प्रबलता से किया जा सकता है, विशेषकर उनमें जो वित्तीय संव्यवहार से उत्पन्न हो या वैवाहिक संबंधों से उत्पन्न हो या पारिवारिक विवादों से उत्पन्न हो और जब पक्षकारों ने सम्पूर्ण विवाद आपस में सुलझा लिया है;

;पपद्ध ऐसी शक्ति का प्रयोग उन अभियोगो मे नही किया जाता है जिनमें जघन्य और मानसिक भ्रष्टता के गंभीर अपराध शामिल है या अपराध जैसे हत्या, बलात्कार, डकैती आदि। ऐसे अपराध निजी प्रकृति के नहीं है और समाज पर गंभीर प्रभाव डालते है;

;पपपद्ध इसी तरह से, ऐसी शक्ति का प्रयोग भ्रष्टाचार निवारण अधिनियम जैसे विशेष कानून के अंर्तगत अपराधों में नही किया जाना चाहिए या लोक सेवक द्वारा अपने पदीय हैसियत में कोई अपराध किये जाने पर केवल इस आधार पर कि पीड़ित और अपराधी ने समझौता कर लिया है, रद्द नहीं किया जाना चाहिए;

;पअद्ध धारा 370 भा.द.सं. और आयुध अधिनियम आदि के अंर्तगत अपराध जघन्य और गंभीर अपराधों की श्रेणी में आएंगे और इसलिए इन्हें समाज के विरूद्ध अपराधों की तरह माना जाता है और न केवल किसी अकेले व्यक्ति के विरूद्ध, और इसलिए, धारा 307 भा.द.सं. के अंर्तगत आपराधिक कार्यवाहियों और/या आयुध अधिनियम आदि जो समाज पर गंभीर प्रभाव डालते है, को संहिता की धारा 482 के तहत शक्ति के प्रयोग में रद्द नहीं किया जा सकता है, इस आधार पर कि पक्षकारों ने अपने सम्पूर्ण विवाद को पारस्परिक सुलझा लिया है। यद्यपि, उच्च न्यायालय अपने निर्णय को मात्र इस कारण से बहाल नही करेगा कि एफ.आई.आर. में धारा 307 भा.द.सं. का उल्लेख है या इस प्रावधान के अंर्तगत आरोप विरचित किया जाता है। उच्च न्यायालय के लिए यह परीक्षण करना खुला होगा कि कहने मात्र के लिए धारा 307 भा.द.सं. को शामिल करे या अभियोजन ने पर्याप्त साक्ष्य एकत्रित कर लिया है, जो यदि साबित होता है, तो धारा 307 भा.द.सं. के अंर्तगत आरोप विरचित करने को अग्रसर होगे। इस प्रयोजन के लिए उच्च न्यायालय के लिए कारित चोट की प्रकृति पर जाना खुला होगा, क्या ऐसी चोट शरीर के नाजुक/मुख्य भाग पर पहुंचाई गई है। हथियारों की प्रकृति से जो उपयोग किये गये है आदि। हांलाकि उच्च न्यायालय द्वारा ऐसा प्रयोग करना केवल तब अनुज्ञेय होगा जब अन्वेषण के उपरांत साक्ष्य एकत्रित कर लिए जाते है और आरोप पत्र दायर कर दिया जाता है/आरोप विरचित कर दिया जाता है और/या विचारण के दौरान। ऐसा प्रयोग अनुज्ञेय नहीं है जब मामला अन्वेषण के अधीन है। इसलिए, इस न्यायालय के नरिन्दर सिंह (उपरोक्त) के मामले के पैरा 29.6 और 29.7 के अंतिम निष्कर्ष को सांमजस्यपूर्ण पढ़ा जाना चाहिए और सम्पूर्ण की तरह पढ़ा जाए और ऐसी परिस्थितियों में जो ऊपर वर्णित है;

;अद्ध अशमनीय अपराधों के संबंध में आपराधिक कार्यवाहियों को समाप्त करने की संहिता की धारा 482 के तहत शक्ति का प्रयोग करते समय, जो निजी प्रकृति की है और जिसका समाज पर गंभीर प्रभाव नहीं पड़ता है, इस आधार पर कि पीड़ित और अपराधी के बीच निपटारा/समझौता हो गया है, उच्च न्यायालय को अभियुक्त के पूर्वपद पर विचार करना आवश्यक है; अभियुक्त का आचरण, अर्थात, क्या अभियुक्त फरार था और वह फरार क्यो था, उसने फरियादी को समझौता आदि करने के लिए कैसे तैयारकिया था।"

12. उपरोक्त उल्लेखित निर्णय को ध्यानपूर्वक पढ़ने से यह स्पष्ट है कि दंड प्रक्रिया संहिता की धारा 482 के अंतर्गत समझौते के

(क) ऐसे प्रकरणो मे उच्च न्यायालय को दंड प्रक्रिया संहिता की धारा 482 के द्वारा प्रदत्त अंतनिहित शक्ति का प्रयोग संयम से और सावधानी पूर्वक करना चाहिये तथा इस शक्ति का प्रयोग यांत्रिक रूप में नहीं किया जाना चाहिये।

(ख) ऐसे प्रकरणो मे उच्च न्यायालय को वाद मे तथ्यो व परिस्थितियो को ध्यान मे रखते हुए अंतनिहित शक्ति के निम्न उद्देश्यो मे से किसी एक पर राय बनानी चाहिये। ;पद्ध न्याय के उद्देश्य की पूर्ति के लिए व ;पपद्ध किसी भी न्यायालय की प्रक्रिया का दुरूपयोग रोकने के लिए एवं उसके उपरान्त ही उक्त शक्ति का प्रयोग करना चाहिये।

(ग) ऐसे अपराध जो गंभीर हो, निजी प्रकृति के नही हो और समाज पर गंभीर प्रभाव डालते हो, या विशेष कानून में अभिकथित अपराध हो तो, ऐसे अपराधों की दाण्डिक प्रक्रिया सामान्यतः आपसी समझौते के आधार पर निरस्त नही किया जाना चाहिये।

(घ) यह भी विचारणीय रहेगा कि अभियुक्त का पूर्वपद व आचरण क्या रहा व उसने फरियादी व पीड़िता को समझौता करने के लिए कैसे तैयार किया। समझौते की समय सीमा भी एक महत्वपूर्ण कारक रहेगा।

(ङ) इस बात की जॉच भी कर लेनी चाहिए कि क्या दोष सिद्धि की संभावना दूरस्थ और धूमिल है।

13. प्रस्तुत वाद मे ऊपर वर्णित विषयो के अतिरिक्त एक और विषय है जो बहुत विचारणीय है कि पीड़िता नाबालिग है व समझौता उसके पिता ने किया है। तो क्या भविष्य में इस समझौते का पीड़िता पर कोई प्रतिकूल प्रभाव तो नही होगा।

14. वर्तमान मामले मे अभियुक्त पर निम्न अपराधो में मुकदमा दायर किया है।

धारा 354, भारतीय दंड संहिता :– यदि कोई व्यक्ति किसी महिला की मर्यादा को भंग करने के लिए उस पर हमला या जोर जबरदस्ती करता है तो उस पर आईपीसी की धारा 354 लगाई जाती है जिसके तहत आरोपी पर दोष सिद्ध हो जाने पर दो साल तक की कैद या जुर्माना या फिर दोनो की सजा हो सकती है।

धारा 7, अधिनियम 2012 :– जो कोई, लैंगिक आशय से बालक की योनि, लिंग, गुदा या स्तनों को स्पर्श करता है या बालक से ऐसे व्यक्ति या किसी अन्य व्यक्ति की योनि, लिंग, गुदा या स्तन का स्पर्श कराता है या लैंगिक आशय से ऐसा कोई अन्य कार्य करता है जिसमें प्रवेशन किए बिना शारीरिक संपर्क अंतर्ग्रस्त होता है, लैंगिक हमला करता है, यह कहा जाता है।

धारा 8, अधिनियम 2012 :– जो कोई, लैंगिक हमला करेगा वह दोनों मे से किसी भांति के कारावास से जिसकी अवधि तीन वर्ष से कम की नहीं होगी किन्तु जो पांच वर्ष तक की हो सकेगी, दंडित किया जाएगा और जुर्माने से भी दंडनीय होगा।

दं. प्र. सं. 1973 की धारा 320 की तालिका के अनुसार धारा 354 भा.द.सं. में वर्णित अपराध एक शमनीय अपराध है। परन्तु लैंगिग अपराधो से बालको का संरक्षण अधिनियम 2012 मे विचिरित अपराध अशमनीय है।

15. वर्तमान आवेदन के निस्तारण के लिए लैंगिग अपराधो से बालको का संरक्षण अधिनियम 2012 का उद्देश्य भी उल्लेखनीय है। जो निम्न है :–

''लैगिंक हमला, लैंगिक उत्पीड़न और अश्लील साहित्य के अपराधों से बालकों का संरक्षण करने और ऐसे अपराधों का विचारण करने के लिए विशेष न्यायालयों की स्थापना तथा उनसे संबंधित या आनुषंगिक विषयों के लिए उपबंध करने के लिए अधिनियम।''

16. भारत में सामान्तया बालकों पर होने वाले लैंगिक अपराधो की घटनाओ को छुपाया जाता है, विशेष रूप से ग्रामीण क्षेत्र में घटने वाली घटनाये को। ऐसा देखा गया है कि पिडिता के परिवार की समाज में बेज्जती न हो, इस कारण से ऐसी घटनाओं पर परदा डाल दिया जाता है

या छुपाया जाता है, जिसका सीधे तरह से मनोविज्ञानी असर पीड़ित या पिड़िता पर आता है। ऐसा होना दुभाग्यपूर्ण है।

17. वर्तमान प्रकरण में, उपरोक्त निर्धारित वैधानिक माप दण्डो को लागू करने पर निम्न निष्कर्ष आता है।

(i) लैंगिग अपराधो से बालको का संरक्षण अधिनियम 2012 की धारा 7 एवं 8 में वर्णित अपराध निजी प्रकृति के नही है, बल्कि ये अपराध समाज के विरूद्ध है। ऐसे अपराध इस नाते संगीन अपराध की श्रेणी में आते है।

(ii) वर्तमान परिस्थितियों में यह नही कहा जा सकता कि परीक्षण (ट्रायल) ने अन्त में अपराधी की दोष सिद्धि की संभावना धूमिल है।

(iii) लैगिंग अपराध से बालको का सरंक्षण अधिनियम 2012 एक विशेष अधिनियम है जिसका उद्देश्य भी विशिष्ठ है कि ''संविधान के अनुच्छेद 15 का खंड (3), अन्य बातों के साथ राज्य को बालकों के लिए विशेष उपबंध करने के लिए सशक्त करता है;

संयुक्त राष्ट्र की महासभा द्वारा अंगीकृत बालकों के अधिकारों से संबंधित अभिसमय को, जो बालक के सर्वोत्तम हितों को सुरक्षित करने के लिए सभी राज्य पक्षकारों द्वारा पालन किए जाने वाले मानकों को विहित करता है, भारत सरकार ने तारीख 11 दिसम्बर, 1992 को अंगीकृत किया है;

यह अनिवार्य है कि विधि ऐसी रीति से प्रवर्तित हो कि बालक के अच्छे शारीरिक, भावात्मक, बौद्धिक और सामाजिक विकास को सुनिश्चित करने के लिए प्रत्येक प्रक्रम पर बालक के सर्वोत्तम हित और कल्याण पर सर्वोपरि महत्व के रूप में ध्यान दिया जाए;

बालक के अधिकारों से संबंधित अभिसमय के राज्य पक्षकारों से निम्नलिखित का निवारण करने के लिए सभी समुचित राष्ट्रीय, द्विपक्षीय या बहुपक्षीय उपाय करना अपेक्षित है–

(क) किसी विधिविरूद्ध लैंगिक क्रियाकलाप में लगाने के लिए किसी बालक को उत्प्रेरित या प्रपीड़न करना;

(ख) वेश्यावृत्ति या अन्य विधिविरूद्ध लैंगिक व्यवसायों में बालकों का शोषणात्मक उपयोग करना;

(ग) अश्लील गतिविधियों और सामग्रियों में बालकों का शोषणात्मक उपयोग करना;

बालकों के लैंगिक शोषिण और लैंगिक दुरूपयोग जघन्य अपराध हैं, और उन पर प्रभावी रूप से कार्रवाई करने की आवश्यकता है।''

पारस्परिक समझौते के आधार पर दांडिक कार्यवाही को रद्द करना, इस प्रक्रिया को आकस्मिक मृत्यु देना जैसा होगा व उपरोक्त उद्देश्य की भावना से विपरीत भी होगा। ऐसा करना किसी भी प्रकार से न्याय के उद्देश्यो की प्रप्ति को सुनिश्चित करना नही हो सकता है।

(iv) वर्तमान मुकदमे के संदर्भ में अभिभावक द्वारा पीड़िता की ओर से समझौता करना भी एक नकारात्मक पहलू है।

18. वर्तमान वाद के तथ्यो, कानूनी पहलू, विधिक निर्णयो, संलग्न प्रपत्रो व विद्वान अधिवक्ताओ के कथनो व उपरोक्त चर्चा का गहन अध्ययन के बाद मै इस निष्कर्ष पर पहुॅचा हूॅ कि वर्तमान तथ्यो व परीस्थितियो में पारस्परिक समझौते के आधार पर अभियुक्त के विरूद्ध संस्थित दाण्डिक कार्यवाही को रद्द करना न्यायोचित नही है। अतः वर्तमान वाद में दाण्डिक प्रक्रिया संहिता की धारा 482 के अंतर्गत प्राप्त अंतनिहित शक्ति का प्रयोग करना न्याय के हित में व न्यायसंगत नही है।

19. अतः वर्तमान आवेदन निरस्त करने योग्य है, तदनुसार निरस्त किया जाता है।

(Delivered by Hon'ble Ram Krishna Gautam, J.)

1. 2. Learned counsel for the applicant s argued that the above complaint case was a counter-blast, which was got registered in response to a complaint case, got filed by the applicants, on 28.3.2019, for an occurrence of 8.3.2019, wherein, present complainant side has been named, and as such, above case with these accusations was got lodged, implicating entire family members of the applicants and they have been summoned by the Presiding Judge, whereas, there is inconsistency in the statements of complainant and his witnesses, recorded, under Sections 200 and 202 of Cr.P.C.

3. Learned AGA, representing State of U.P., has vehemently opposed this Application.

4. From very perusal of the impugned summoning order, it is apparent that the occurrence was said to be of 8.3.2019, wherein, accused persons, applicants (herein), alongwith others, were said to have come at the home of complainant, by Tractor and Trolley, wherein complainant's mother, Rasrani, was present. They tookaway 50 quintal of grains, worth about Rs.2,00000/-, and on being protested, they used force with abuse. Complainant rushed to his home and he too was assaulted. This was witnessed by Lokendra, Sonu Tanay, and nand Kishore, Information of this incident was sent to the Police Station, Kotwali, Lalitpur, but to no avail, then, it was submitted before the Superintendent of Police, Lalitpur, and after that this complaint was lodged for offences, punishable under Sections 395 and 397 of IPC, upon which, learned Additional District & Sessions Judge/Special Judge (D.A.A.), Laliput, took cognizance and got complaint examined, under Sections 200 and 202 of Cr.P.C. Complainant, Hariom, in his statement, has reiterated contention of complaint. Further enquiry was made by the Presiding Judge, wherein, witness Lokendra and Sonu etc. were examined, who two supported version of the complainant and on the basis of statements of the complainant and other witnesses, impugned summoning order, dated 7th September, 2019 was passed in which applicants were summoned for offences, punishable, under Section 395 and 397 of Cr.P.C. The impugned summoning order was came to be passed by the Presiding Judge on the basis of evidences collected on an enquiry being made by him, factual analysis of which cannot be made by this Court at this stage by exercise of power, under Section 482 of Cr.P.C. in view of law propounded by the Apex Court, in State of Andhra Pradesh v. Gaurishetty Mahesh, JT 2010 (6) SC 588: (2010) 6 SCALE 767: 2010 Cr. LJ 3844, has propounded that "While exercising jurisdiction under section 482 of the Code, the High Court would not ordinarily embark upon an enquiry whether the evidence in question is reliable or not or whether on a reasonable apprehension of it accusation would not be sustained. That is the function of the trial Judge/Court". In another subsequent Hamida v. Rashid, (2008) 1 SCC 474, hon'ble Apex Court propounded that "Ends of justice would be better served if valuable time of the Court is spent in hearing those appeals rather than entertaining petitions under Section 482 at an interlocutory stage which after filed with some oblique motive in order to circumvent the prescribed procedure, or to delay the trial which enable to win over the witness or may disinterested in giving evidence, ultimately resulting in miscarriage of Justice". In again another subsequent Monica Kumar v. State of Uttar Pradesh, (2008) 8 SCC 781, the Apex Court has propounded "Inherent jurisdiction under Section 482 has to be exercised sparingly, carefully and with caution and only when such exercise is justified by the tests specifically laid down in the section itself." While interpreting this jurisdiction of High Court Apex Court in Popular Muthiah v. State, Represented by Inspector of Police, (2006) 7 SCC 296 has propounded "High Court can exercise jurisdiction suo motu in the interest of justice. It can do so while exercising other jurisdictions such as appellate or revisional jurisdiction. No formal application for invoking inherent jurisdiction is necessary. Inherent jurisdiction can be exercised in respect of substantive as well as procedural matters. It can as well be exercised in respect of incidental or supplemental power irrespective of nature of proceedings".

5. Regarding prevention of abuse of process of Court, Apex Court in Dhanlakshmi v. R.Prasana Kumar, (1990) Cr LJ 320 (DB): AIR 1990 SC 494 has propounded "To prevent abuse of the process of the Court, High Court in exercise of its inherent powers under section 482 could quash the proceedings but there would be justification for interference only when the complaint did not disclose any offence or was frivolous vexatious or oppressive" as well as in State of Bihar v. Murad Ali Khan, (1989) Cr LJ 1005: AIR 1989 SC 1, Apex Court propounded "In exercising jurisdiction under Section 482 High Court would not embark upon an enquiry whether the allegations in the complain are likely to be established by evidence or not".

6. Meaning thereby, exercise of inherent jurisdiction under Section 482 Cr.P.C. is within the limits, propounded as above.

7. In view of what has been discussed above, there is no ground of any indulgence to be granted by this Court. Accordingly, this Application, under Section 482 of Cr.P.C. deserves dismissal, being devoid of merits, and it stands dismissed accordingly.

8. However, it is directed that if the applicants appear and surrender before the court below within 30 days from today and apply for bail, prayer for bail shall be considered and decided in view of the settled law laid by this Court in the case of Amrawati and another Vs. State of U.P. reported in 2004 (57) ALR 290 as well as judgement passed by Hon'ble Apex Court reported in 2009 (3) ADJ 322 (SC) Lal Kamlendra Pratap Singh Vs. State of U.P.

9. For a period of 30 days from today, no coercive action shall be taken against the applicants. However, in case, the applicants do not appear before the Court below, within the aforesaid period, coercive action shall be taken against them.

6. St. of Bih. v. Murad Ali Khan, (1989) Cr LJ 1005: AIR 1989 SC 1

(Delivered by Hon'ble Rm Krishna Gautam, J.)

1. This proceeding, under Section 482 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 (In Short 'Cr.P.C.), has been filed by the applicants, Devendra Singh and three others, against State of U.P. and Lalta Prasad, Opposite party no.2, with a prayer for setting aside, entire criminal proceeding of Complaint Case No. 511 of 2018 (Lalta Prasad vs. Devendra Singh and others), under Sections 406, 323, 504 and 506 of Indian Penal Code, Police Station Mau Darwaja, District Farrukhabad, pending before the court of Civil Judge (Junior Division)/Judicial Magistrate, City Farrukhabad.

2. Learned counsel for the applicants argued that the applicants have been falsely implicated and have been summoned for above offences, in above complaint case, under above Sections of IPC, whereas, complainant, Lalta Prasad, was having no Bank Account nor any means for crediting Rs.50,000/- in the Account of Devendra Singh nor any question arises of usurping above amount by the applicants nor any such offence ever took place. It was a concocted complaint wherein summoning order has been passed. Hence, this proceeding, with above prayer.

3. Learned AGA, representing State of U.P., has vehemently opposed this proceeding.

4. From very perusal of of the summoning order, it is apparent that a complaint was filed by Opposite party no.2, Lalta Prasad, against applicants with a contention that complainant's son has deposited Rs.50,000/-, in the Account of Devendra Singh and it was usurped by Devendra Singh. On 3.12.2018, at 9.30 AM, while complainant was present infront of his house, Devendra Singh, Son of Mangli Prasad, Amit, Son of Devendra Singh, Sabal Singh, Son of Devendra Singh, Malti, wife of Devendra Singh, all Residents of Beni Nagla, Police Station-Mau Darwaja, District Farrukhabad, in joint mensrea, came there and started abusing in filthy language and extended threat in case of demanding back of above money. When complainant tried to save himself, by hiding inside the house, all of them trespassed and assaulted him and his son, who came to rescue him, by Lathi and Danda, also misbehaved with his daughter-in-law, and upon rescue call being made by the complainant, Narvir, Son of Sohan Lal, Upendra, Son of Lalta Prasad and other villagers gathered there. After seeing gathering of villagers, accused persons ran away from the spot by extending threat of dire consequences, in case of opening of lips to the Police. An Application was moved before the Superintended of Police, but of no avail. Hence, instant complaint was filed, wherein, complainant was examined, under Section 200 of the Cr.P.C., and the same reiteration was made in the statement, as was narrated in the complaint, under Section 200 of Cr.P.C. Two of witnesses, namely, PW-1, Rani and PW-2, Maharam were examined, under Section 202 of Cr.P.C. They too have said the same version as was there in the statement of complainant and on the basis of it, there was prima facie evidence for summoning for cognizable offence, punishable, under Sections 406, 323, 504 and 506 of IPC. Hence, accused persons, Devendra Singh, Amit, Sabal Singh and Malti were summoned for offences, punishable, under Sections 406, 323, 504 and 506 of IPC.

5. Perusal of statement, recorded under Sections 200 and 202 of Cr.P.C. shows that it supports finding of the summoning order and this Court, in exercise of inherent power, vested, under Section 482 of Cr. P.C., is not supposed to interfere, unless there is abuse of process of law or evidence on record was otherwise.

6. Saving of inherent power of High Court, as given under Section 482 Cr.P.C, provides that nothing in this Code shall be deemed to limit or affect the inherent powers of the High Court to make such orders as may be necessary to give effect to any order under this Code, or to prevent abuse of the process of any Court or otherwise to secure the ends of justice. Meaning thereby this inherent power is with High Court (I) to make such order as may be necessary to give effect to any other order under this Code (II) to prevent abuse of the process of any Court (III) or otherwise to secure the ends of justice. But Apex Court in State of Andhra Pradesh v. Gaurishetty Mahesh, JT 2010 (6) SC 588: (2010) 6 SCALE 767: 2010 Cr. LJ 3844 has propounded that "While exercising jurisdiction under section 482 of the Code, the High Court would not ordinarily embark upon an enquiry whether the evidence in question is reliable or not or whether on a reasonable apprehension of it accusation would not be sustained. That is the function of the trial Judge/Court". In another subsequent Hamida v. Rashid, (2008) 1 SCC 474, hon'ble Apex Court propounded that "Ends of justice would be better served if valuable time of the Court is spent in hearing those appeals rather than entertaining petitions under Section 482 at an interlocutory stage which after filed with some oblique motive in order to circumvent the prescribed procedure, or to delay the trial which enable to win over the witness or may disinterested in giving evidence, ultimately resulting in miscarriage of Justice". In again another subsequent Monica Kumar v. State of Uttar Pradesh, (2008) 8 SCC 781, the Apex Court has propounded "Inherent jurisdiction under Section 482 has to be exercised sparingly, carefully and with caution and only when such exercise is justified by the tests specifically laid down in the section itself." While interpreting this jurisdiction of High Court Apex Court in Popular Muthiah v. State, Represented by Inspector of Police, (2006) 7 SCC 296 has propounded "High Court can exercise jurisdiction suo motu in the interest of justice. It can do so while exercising other jurisdictions such as appellate or revisional jurisdiction. No formal application for invoking inherent jurisdiction is necessary. Inherent jurisdiction can be exercised in respect of substantive as well as procedural matters. It can as well be exercised in respect of incidental or supplemental power irrespective of nature of proceedings".

7. Regarding prevention of abuse of process of Court, Apex Court in Dhanlakshmi v. R.Prasana Kumar, (1990) Cr LJ 320 (DB): AIR 1990 SC 494 has propounded "To prevent abuse of the process of the Court, High Court in exercise of its inherent powers under section 482 could quash the proceedings but there would be justification for interference only when the complaint did not disclose any offence or was frivolous vexatious or oppressive" as well as in State of Bihar v. Murad Ali Khan, (1989) Cr LJ 1005: AIR 1989 SC 1, Apex Court propounded "In exercising jurisdiction under Section 482 High Court would not embark upon an enquiry whether the allegations in the complaint are likely to be established by evidence or not".

8. Meaning thereby, exercise of inherent jurisdiction under Section 482 Cr.P.C. is within the limits, propounded as above.

9. In view of what has been discussed above, this Application, filed under Section 482 of Cr.P.C., being devoid of merits, stands dismissed.

6. St. of Bih. v. Murad Ali Khan, (1989) Cr LJ 1005: AIR 1989 SC 1

(Delivered by Hon'ble Ram Krishna Gautam, J.)

1. Heard learned counsel for the applicants over this Application, moved under Section 482 of Code of CriminalProcedure, 1973 (In short 'Cr.P.C.'), by the applicants, with a prayer for quashing of impugned summoning order, dated 1.7.2019, passed by the Additional Chief Judicial Magistrate, Firozabad, thereby, entire criminal proceeding of Criminal Complaint Case No. 03181 of 2018, Smt. Guddi Devi vs. Indrapal & others, under Sections 354, 323 and 504 of Indian Penal Code (In short 'IPC'), Police Station Narkhi, District Firozabad, as well as learned AGA, representing State of U.P., and perused the record.

2. Learned counsel for the applicants argued that there is no injury nor any such occurrence ever occurred, but this complainant, by way of an application, under Section 156 (3) of Cr.P.C., was treated as complaint, wherein, above summoning order was passed. Occurrence was said to be of 28.7.2018, at 2.00 PM, and this delayed report was filed on 26.9.2018, under Section 156 (3) of Cr.P.C and this summoning order was passed against fact on record. Applicants have already filed a case against the complainant and her family members, wherein, this accusation was levelled that some money was advanced and when demanded back this false accusation was threatened and subsequently was got lodged. Hence, this was misuse of process of law and as such by means of this Application, under Section 482, a prayer for exercise of inherent power by this Court for setting aside summoning order as well s entire criminal proceeding of complaint case, aforesaid, has been made by the applicants.

3. Learned AGA, representing State of U.P., has opposed this Application.

4. From very perusal of the summoning order, it is apparent that the accused persons have been summoned for offecnces, punishable, under Sections 354, 323 and 504 of IPC for which there is no precedent of having medico legal report because the ingredient of physical assault with complainant was there, and a complaint can be made without there being any medico legal report. The complainant, in her application, under Section 156(3) of Cr.P.C., has categorically said when the complainant was sleeping in her house and her younger son had gone somewhere, Indrapal, did criminally trespass into the house, and caught-hold the complainant, committed rape with her, extending threat of life by putting Tamancha (country made pistol) on her and on making rescue call, shut her mouth and threatened of killing all family members, in case of making any complaint of the incident, thenafter, ran away from the spot. She made a complaint to her husband, but owing to family reputation, matter was not reported to the police. Indrapal, taking benefit of above situation, continued to extend threat to the complainant by using different numbers by Cell Phones. Thenafter, an application, under Section 156 (3) of Cr.P.C. was moved, wherein complainant was examined, under Section 200 of Cr.P.C. and two witnesses, were examined, under Section 202 of Cr.P.C, who have corroborated and reiterated the contentions, made in the complaint, on the basis of which impugned summoning order was passed. Previous proceeding filed by the accused persons reveals that there were intimate relation between the parties, but because of demanding back of money, advanced, this case was came to be filed. Meaning thereby, both sides were acquainted with each other, but merely taking a ground of demanding back of money advanced, the applicants cannot seek indulgence of this Court, for exercise of inherent power, under Section 482 of Cr.P.C. Moreso, it is not expected from this Court to meticulously analyze evidences at this juncture, rather it is a question to be decided at the time of trial by the Trial court.

5. Saving of inherent power of High Court, as given under Section 482 Cr.P.C, provides that nothing in this Code shall be deemed to limit or affect the inherent powers of the High Court to make such orders as may be necessary to give effect to any order under this Code, or to prevent abuse of the process of any Court or otherwise to secure the ends of justice. Meaning thereby this inherent power is with High Court (I) to make such order as may be necessary to give effect to any other order under this Code (II) to prevent abuse of the process of any Court (III) or otherwise to secure the ends of justice. But Apex Court in State of Andhra Pradesh v. Gaurishetty Mahesh, JT 2010 (6) SC 588: (2010) 6 SCALE 767: 2010 Cr. LJ 3844 has propounded that "While exercising jurisdiction under section 482 of the Code, the High Court would not ordinarily embark upon an enquiry whether the evidence in question is reliable or not or whether on a reasonable apprehension of it accusation would not be sustained. That is the function of the trial Judge/Court". In another subsequent Hamida v. Rashid, (2008) 1 SCC 474, hon'ble Apex Court propounded that "Ends of justice would be better served if valuable time of the Court is spent in hearing those appeals rather than entertaining petitions under Section 482 at an interlocutory stage which after filed with some oblique motive in order to circumvent the prescribed procedure, or to delay the trial which enable to win over the witness or may disinterested in giving evidence, ultimately resulting in miscarriage of Justice". In again another subsequent Monica Kumar v. State of Uttar Pradesh, (2008) 8 SCC 781, the Apex Court has propounded "Inherent jurisdiction under Section 482 has to be exercised sparingly, carefully and with caution and only when such exercise is justified by the tests specifically laid down in the section itself." While interpreting this jurisdiction of High Court Apex Court in Popular Muthiah v. State, Represented by Inspector of Police, (2006) 7 SCC 296 has propounded "High Court can exercise jurisdiction suo motu in the interest of justice. It can do so while exercising other jurisdictions such as appellate or revisional jurisdiction. No formal application for invoking inherent jurisdiction is necessary. Inherent jurisdiction can be exercised in respect of substantive as well as procedural matters. It can as well be exercised in respect of incidental or supplemental power irrespective of nature of proceedings".

6. Regarding prevention of abuse of process of Court, Apex Court in Dhanlakshmi v. R.Prasana Kumar, (1990) Cr LJ 320 (DB): AIR 1990 SC 494 has propounded "To prevent abuse of the process of the Court, High Court inexercise of its inherent powers under section 482 could quash the proceedings but there would be justification for interference only when the complaint did not disclose any offence or was frivolous vexatious or oppressive" as well as in State of Bihar v. Murad Ali Khan, (1989) Cr LJ 1005: AIR 1989 SC 1, Apex Court propounded "In exercising jurisdiction under Section 482 High Court would not embark upon an enquiry whether the allegations in the complaint are likely to be established by evidence or not".

7. Meaning thereby, exercise of inherent jurisdiction under Section 482 Cr.P.C. is within the limits, propounded as above.

8. In view of what has been discussed above, this Application, being devoid of merits, deserves dismissal and stands dismissed accordingly

8. Lal Kamlendra Pratap Singh Vs. St. of U.P. 2009 (3) ADJ 322 (SC)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Ram Krishna Gautam, J.)

1. Heard learned counsel for the applicants over this Application, moved by the applicants, under Section 482 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973, (In short 'Cr.P.C.'), with a prayer for setting aside summoning order, dated 26.10.2018, passed by the court of Ist Additional Chief Judicial Magistrate, Shahjahanpur, in Criminal Complaint Case No. 5201 of 2016, Kallu vs. Shiv Sahai and others, under Sections 148, 149, 452, 380 and 506 of Indian Penal Code (In short 'IPC'), Police Station-Panaur, District Shahjahanpour , thereby, quashing entire criminal proceeding of above case, as well as learned AGA, representing the State of U.P. and perused the record.

2. Learned counsel for the applicants argued that this was a malicious prosecution and misuse of process of law. A complaint case was filed by the applicants' side against the present complainant side as Complaint Case No. 354 of 2016, wherein, on the date of occurrence, i.e., 21.4.2016, at about 07:00 AM, there occurred some quarrel between the kids and when the complainant went there to get the matter settled, Kallu, Sonelal, Natthu, Sudesh and Raju, armed with Lathi and Danda, came there. They abused complaint and did assault. They have been summoned for offences, punishable, under Sections 323, 504, 506 IPC and in counter-blast, present complaint has been filed by the other side, wherein, there was variance in the statements of complainant and his witnesses. There was no medico legal report nor any injury report, even then, impugned summoning order was passed. Hence, this Application, with above prayer.

3. Learned AGA, representing State of U.P., opposed this Application.

4. Perusal of the complaint and summoning order reveals that for the occurrence of 21.4.2016, already a case was got registered as NCR upon the report of the present applicants' side, wherein order for investigation has been passed and for same occurrence Criminal Complaint Case No. 354 of 2016 was filed in which above summoning order was passed. Meaning thereby, it is the contention that for occurrences of the same date, there were two cases against each other. Hence, this case is being said to be counter-blast of other case, which is against fact, as this occurrence is said to be of 15.7.2016, at about 8.00 PM, while, the complainant was at his home, Shiv Sahai, Sukhram , Shivram, Bhure @ Dinne @ Dinesh, Raju, Vimlesh, Ramnath, Mukesh, Jasant and Ramnath, armed with single barrel gun, by making unlawful assembly, came at the home of the complainant, wherein a riot was committed, then after, above occurrence was said to have been committed, which was punishable, under Sections 148, 149, 452, 380 and 506 IPC. Complainant, in his statement, recorded, under Section 200 Cr.P.C., and his two witnesses, examined by the Magistrate, under Section 202 of Cr.P.C., have reiterated the same version, as was mentioned in the complaint. Complainant's statement was supported by PW-1, Asha, PW-2, Dharam Singh and PW-3, Natthu, on the basis of which upon enquiry, the Magistrate passed impugned summoning order against Shiv Sahai, Sukhram , Shivram, Bhure @ Dinne @ Dinesh, Raju, Vimlesh, Ramnath, Mukesh, Jasant and Ramnath, for offences, punishable, under Sections 148, 149, 452, 380 and 506 IPC. Hence, prima facie there was sufficient evidence for passing above summoning order. At the time of summoning order, there required no meticulous analysis of evidences, rather a prima facie evidence was deemed to be sufficient for passing summoning order and it was there. Meticulous analysis of the evidence is not to be made by this Court, in exercise of inherent power, under Section 482 of Cr.P.C., while entertaining this Application, moved, under Section 482 of the Cr.P.C., rather this is to be seen by the trial court, at the time of trial.

5. Saving of inherent power of High Court, as given under Section 482 Cr.P.C, provides that nothing in this Code shall be deemed to limit or affect the inherent powers of the High Court to make such orders as may be necessary to give effect to any order under this Code, or to prevent abuse of the process of any Court or otherwise to secure the ends of justice. Meaning thereby this inherent power is with High Court (I) to make such order as may be necessary to give effect to any other order under this Code (II) to prevent abuse of the process of any Court (III) or otherwise to secure the ends of justice. But Apex Court in State of Andhra Pradesh v. Gaurishetty Mahesh, JT 2010 (6) SC 588: (2010) 6 SCALE 767: 2010 Cr. LJ 3844 has propounded that "While exercising jurisdiction under section 482 of the Code, the High Court would not ordinarily embark upon an enquiry whether the evidence in question is reliable or not or whether on a reasonable apprehension of it accusation would not be sustained. That is the function of the trial Judge/Court". In another subsequent Hamida v. Rashid, (2008) 1 SCC 474, hon'ble Apex Court propounded that "Ends of justice would be better served if valuable time of the Court is spent in hearing those appeals rather than entertaining petitions under Section 482 at an interlocutory stage which after filed with some oblique motive in order to circumvent the prescribed procedure, or to delay the trial which enable to win over the witness or may disinterested in giving evidence, ultimately resulting in miscarriage of Justice". In again another subsequent Monica Kumar v. State of Uttar Pradesh, (2008) 8 SCC 781, the Apex Court has propounded "Inherent jurisdiction under Section 482 has to be exercised sparingly, carefully and with caution and only when such exercise is justified by the tests specifically laid down in the section itself." While interpreting this jurisdiction of High Court Apex Court in Popular Muthiah v. State, Represented by Inspector of Police, (2006) 7 SCC 296 has propounded "High Court can exercise jurisdiction suo motu in the interest of justice. It can do so while exercising other jurisdictions such as appellate or revisional jurisdiction. No formal application for invoking inherent jurisdiction is necessary. Inherent jurisdiction can be exercised in respect of substantive as well as procedural matters. It can as well be exercised in respect of incidental or supplemental power irrespective of nature of proceedings".

6. Regarding prevention of abuse of process of Court, Apex Court in Dhanlakshmi v. R.Prasana Kumar, (1990) Cr LJ 320 (DB): AIR 1990 SC 494 has propounded "To prevent abuse of the process of the Court, High Court in exercise of its inherent powers under section 482 could quash the proceedings but there would be justification for interference only when the complaint did not disclose any offence or was frivolous vexatious or oppressive" as well as in State of Bihar v. Murad Ali Khan, (1989) Cr LJ 1005: AIR 1989 SC 1, Apex Court propounded "In exercising jurisdiction under Section 482 High Court would not embark upon an enquiry whether the allegations in the complaint are likely to be established by evidence or not".

7. Meaning thereby, exercise of inherent jurisdiction under Section 482 Cr.P.C. is within the limits, propounded as above.

8. In view of the discussed, herein above, this Application, under Section 482 of Cr.P.C., being devoid of merits, deserves to be dismissed and is dismissed accordingly.

9. However, it is directed that if the applicants appear and surrender before the court below within 30 days from today and apply for bail, their prayer for bail shall be considered and decided in view of the settled law laid by this Court in the case of Amrawati and another Vs. State of U.P. reported in 2004 (57) ALR 290 as well as judgement passed by Hon'ble Apex Court reported in 2009 (3) ADJ 322 (SC) Lal Kamlendra Pratap Singh Vs. State of U.P.

10. For a period of 30 days from today, no coercive action shall be taken against the applicants. However, in case, the applicants do not appear before the Court below within the aforesaid period, coercive action shall be taken against them.

A. Criminal Law - Code of Criminal Procedure – Discharge - Sections 204, 244, 245(2) & 482 - Discharge application rejected as not maintainable -The power of the Magistrate to discharge the accused could be invoked during the trial but to reach the stage of Section 245 Cr.P.C, it is mandatory that trial must begin in view of Section 244 Cr.P.C, when the accused appears or is brought before the Magistrate in pursuance of the order passed under Section 204 Cr.P.C.- When the accused has not appeared or is not brought before the Magistrate, the question of discharge does not arise at all -Mere pendency of civil litigation between the parties cannot be a ground to allow the discharge application of the accused.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Rajiv Joshi, J.)

1. Heard Sri Kameshwar Singh and Sri Rajesh Kumar, learned counsel for the applicants, Sri Vijay Bhan Singh, learned counsel for the opposite party no.2 and learned AGA for the State.

2. The present application under Section 482 Cr.P.C. has been filed for quashing the order dated 19.5.2018 passed by Additional Chief Judicial Magistrate, Court No. 9, Varanasi in Case

No. 4009 of 2016 (Bithula Devi Vs. Awadhesh Kumar Kaushik and others) under Sections 452, 323, 504, 506 IPC as well as the order dated 17.9.2018 passed by IVth Additional Sessions Judge, Varanasi in Criminal Revision No. 147 of 2018 (Awadhesh Kumar Kaushik and others Vs. Smt. Bithula Devi and others), whereby the revision filed by the applicants was dismissed affirming the order of Additional Chief Judicial Magistrate dated 19.5.2018, rejecting the application for discharge of the accused-applicants.

3. Relevant facts for the consideration of the present case are that opposite party no.2 filed a complaint, registered as Case No. 1557 of 2016 on 5.3.2016 alleging that there was some dispute between the complainant and the applicants; that on 20.2.2016 at 3.00 pm, the accused-applicants entered into the road side food stall (dhaba) run and owned by the family of the complainant; that they used abusive language for the husband and son of the complainant and also slapped her husband, whereupon the persons, who were present there, namely Pintoo, Shankar, Raju and Vijay, anyhow saved the husband of the complainant. After filing of the complaint, statement of the complainant was recorded on 11.3.2016 under Section 200 Cr.P.C., while the statements of her two witnesses, namely Bhagwan Das and Pintoo were recorded under Section 202 Cr.P.C. on 5.4.2016 and 14.4.2016 respectively. The Magistrate concerned after considering the statements of the complainant as well as her witnesses, summoned the accused-applicants under Section 204 Cr.P.C. for facing the trial for the offence under Sections 452, 323, 504, 506 IPC vide summoning order dated 30.11.2016.

4. Challenging the said summoning order, an application under Section 482 Cr.P.C. being Application No. 2238 of 2017 was filed by the applicants for quashing the entire proceedings pursuant to the said order dated 30.11.2016, which was rejected by this Court vide order dated 23.1.2017 with the observation that prima facie a case for the offences under Sections 452, 323, 504, 506 IPC is made out against the applicants and no ground existed for quashing the entire proceedings as well as the summoning order. However, considering the facts and circumstances of the case, this Court observed that in case the applicants appear before the court concerned within thirty days from the date of the order and apply for bail, the same shall be heard and disposed of in accordance with law expeditiously. It is also on the record that the accused-applicants simultaneously filed a revision against the summoning order dated 30.11.2016 before the Additional Sessions Judge, Court No. 14, Varanasi, under Section 397 Cr.P.C., registered as Revision No. 17 of 2017, which too was finally dismissed on 25.7.2017.

5. The accused-applicants instead of appearing before the Magistrate concerned for bail, filed another application under Section 245 (2) Cr.P.C through counsel on 30.6.2017 for their discharge, which was rejected by the IXth Additional Chief Judicial Magistrate, Varanasi vide order dated 19.5.2018. The accused-applicants challenged the said order by means of filing Criminal Revision No. 147 of 2018 before the Sessions Judge, Varanasi, which was later on transferred to the court of Vth Additional Session Judge, Varanasi, who dismissed the same vide order dated 17.9.2018.

6. Both these orders i.e. order dated 19.5.2018 passed by the Magistrate as well as the revisional order dated 17.9.2018 passed by the Additional Sessions Judge, Varanasi are impugned in the present application.

7. Contention of learned counsel for the applicants is that the entire prosecution is false and malicious and no case against the accused-applicants is made out, and therefore, the applicants be discharged in view of Section 245 (2) of Cr.P.C. It is further contended by learned counsel for the applicants that a civil litigation between the parties is already pending and they have been falsely implicated in the present case.

8. Learned counsel for the applicants in support of his arguments has placed reliance on paragraph 23 of the judgment of the Apex Court in the case of Rajiv Thapar & Ors vs. Madan Lal Kapoor, 2013 LawSuit (SC) 69.

9. On the other hand, learned counsel for the opposite party no.2 as well as learned AGA while supporting the impugned orders, submitted that earlier the accused-applicants challenged the summoning order dated 30.11.2017 before this Court in an application under Section 482 Cr.P.C, which was dismissed on 23.1.2017 recording a finding that prima facie against the applicants for the offence in question was made out and the accused-applicants failed to comply with the direction of this Court in the said 482 application as they did not appear before the court concerned and apply for bail before the court concerned and therefore, the provisions of Section 245 Cr.P.C. are not attracted at all and both the courts below have rightly passed the impugned orders rejecting their prayer for discharge by the orders impugned.

10. I have considered the rival submissions so raised by learned counsel for the parties and perused the record.

11. Before considering the argument so raised by learned counsel for the applicants, it would be appropriate to have a look upon the provisions of Section 244 Cr.P.C, which deal with the cases instituted otherwise than on a police report. Section 244 Cr.P.C. reads thus:

"244. Evidence for prosecution.

(1) When, in any warrant- case instituted otherwise than on a police report, the accused appears or is brought before a Magistrate, the Magistrate shall proceed to hear the prosecution and take all such evidence as may be produced in support of the prosecution.

(2) The Magistrate may, on the application of the prosecution, issue a summons to any of its witnesses directing him to attend or to produce any document or other thing."

12. From a reading of Section 244 Cr.P.C, it is apparent that first stage towards start of warrant trial is the appearance of the accused before the Magistrate concerned, as the clear mandate of Section 244 is "when accused appears or is brought before the Magistrate". Section 245 Cr.P.C. comes after Section 244 Cr.P.C., which is quoted hereunder:

"245. When accused shall be discharged.

(1) If, upon taking all the evidence referred to in section 244, the Magistrate considers, for reasons to be recorded, that no case against the accused has been made out which, if unrebutted, would warrant his conviction, the Magistrate shall discharge him.

(2) Nothing in this section shall be deemed to prevent a Magistrate from discharging the accused at any previous stage of the case if, for reasons to be recorded by such Magistrate, he considers the charge to be groundless."

13. From the aforesaid Sections, it is apparent that Magistrate after fulfilling the requirements of Section 244 Cr.P.C. shall proceed further to consider the prosecution case taking into consideration all such evidence as may be produced by prosecution in support of its case. Section 245 Cr.P.C. has two parts. First part relates to when evidence under Section 244 Cr.P.C. has been recorded and the second part relates to the power of Magistrate to discharge any accused at any previous stage of the case if for reasons to be recorded, he considers the charge to be groundless. The power of the Magistrate to discharge the accused undisputedly could be invoked during the trial. To reach the stage of Section 245 Cr.P.C, it is necessary that trial must begin in view of Section 244 Cr.P.C, when the accused appears or is brought before the Magistrate.

14. How the accused shall appear or brought before the Magistrate is to be considered in the light of provisions contained in Code of Criminal Procedure. But the fact remains that in spite of clear direction issued by this Court in their application under Section 482 Cr.P.C. No.2238 of 2017 vide order dated 23.01.2017, the accused-applicants failed to appear before the Court.

15. It is true that in view of Section 245 (2) Cr.P.C. the Magistrate is empowered to pass the order of discharge for the reasons to be recorded after appearance of the accused and before the evidence Section 244 Cr.P.C. or during the course of the day proceedings for recording the evidence under Section 244 Cr.P.C, but the Magistrate is not empowered to entertain any application under Section 245 (2) Cr.P.C. unless the accused has appeared or is brought before the court in terms of Section 244 Cr.P.C. Therefore, it cannot be said that accused without putting his appearance before the court may participate in any proceedings or trial pending before a competent court.

16. All these sections make it mandatory that the trial could only begin when the accused appears or is brought before the court in pursuance of the order passed under Section 204 Cr.P.C. and it is the part of the procedure relating to the trial of warrant cases as is clear from the heading of Chapter XIX of Cr.P.C itself. Therefore, this Court is of the firm view that the accused cannot invoke the jurisdiction under Section 245 (2) Cr.P.C. unless he appears or is brought before the Magistrate.

17. This Court in the cases of Arvind Kejriwal Vs. State of U.P. & Ors, 2015 LawSuit (AII) 3281 and Ajai Pal Vs. State of U.P. and another, 2013 LawSuit (AII) 531 has also taken the same view.

18. Paragraph 23 of the judgment of the Apex Court in the case of Rajiv Thapar (supra) relied upon by the learned counsel for the applicant, is quoted hereunder:

"23. Based on the factors canvassed in the foregoing paragraphs, we would delineate the following steps to determine the veracity of a prayer for quashing, raised by an accused by invoking the power vested in the High Court under Section 482 of the Cr.P.C.:-

(i) Step one, whether the material relied upon by the accused is sound, reasonable, and indubitable, i.e., the material is of sterling and impeccable quality?

(ii) Step two, whether the material relied upon by the accused, would rule out the assertions contained in the charges levelled against the accused, i.e., the material is sufficient to reject and overrule the factual assertions contained in the complaint, i.e., the material is such, as would persuade a reasonable person to dismiss and condemn the factual basis of the accusations as false.

(iii) Step three, whether the material relied upon by the accused, has not been refuted by the prosecution/complainant; and/or the material is such, that it cannot be justifiably refuted by the prosecution/complainant?

(iv) Step four, whether proceeding with the trial would result in an abuse of process of the court, and would not serve the ends of justice?

If the answer to all the steps is in the affirmative, judicial conscience of the High Court should persuade it to quash such criminal proceedings, in exercise of power vested in it under Section 482 of the Cr.P.C. Such exercise of power, besides doing justice to the accused, would save precious court time, which would otherwise be wasted in holding such a trial (as well as, proceedings arising therefrom) specially when, it is clear that the same would not conclude in the conviction of the accused."

19. The guidelines issued by the Apex Court in the aforesaid judgment are with regard to the steps to determine the veracity of prayer for quashing, raised by an accused by invoking the power vested in this Court under Section 482 Cr.P.C. There is no dispute with regard to the aforesaid proposition of law as laid down by the Apex Court.

20. Here in the present case, the order of Magistrate as well as the revisional order is under challenge, whereby the discharge application of the accused was rejected as not maintainable which was affirmed by the revisional court.

21. So far as the contention of learned counsel for the applicants that since civil proceeding is pending, the entire prosecution is vitiated, is concerned, the same has no substance. Mere pendency of civil litigation between the parties cannot be a ground to allow the discharge application of the accused. There is no such proposition of law that if the civil proceeding is pending between the parties, then on the same ground, the criminal proceeding between them shall be taken as groundless. Thus, the argument so raised, has no force and therefore repelled.

22. Earlier, this Court while rejecting the accused-applicants petition under section 482,Cr.P.C. vide order dated 23.1.2017, had observed that in case the applicants appear before the court within thirty days and apply for bail, their prayer for bail shall be considered in accordance with law expeditiously. Instead of appearing before the court concerned in compliance of the said direction, the accused applicants through counsel filed the application under section 245(2),Cr.P.C. for discharge. The stage of section 245 will come into play after the stage of section 244, Cr.P.C. When the accused has not appeared or not brought before the Magistrate, the question of discharge does not arise at all. The accused-applicants will have to adhere to the provisions of law as provided in the Code of Criminal Procedure.

23. Taking into account the entire facts and circumstances of the case and upon perusal of the record, there appears to be no illegality or infirmity in the orders impugned passed by the courts below and no ground is made out warranting interference under section 482,Cr.P.C.

24. In view of the above, the present application lacks merit and is, accordingly, rejected.

A. Criminal Law - The Negotiable Instruments Act, 1881 - Section 138 (b) /Proviso to Section 142(b) - Second Notice/Reminder - Though the complaint is required to be submitted within one month from the date on which the cause of action arises but by adding the provision/proviso, vide amendment w.e.f 06.02.2003, cognizance of the complaint may be taken by the court even after the prescribed period of 30 days, if the complainant satisfies the Court about the reason for not making the complaint within said period- The trial court would, after parties have led evidence before it, judge whether there was sufficient reason shown by the complainant or not for having moved the complaint beyond 30 days. Section 138 (b) of the Act - On facts, the second notice (reminder) would fall within the time limit prescribed under section 138 (b) of the Act. Nowhere has it been laid-down that in case of non-payment of the cheque, if notice is issued to the defaulting accused, its reminder is barred-The opposite party no. 2 cannot be put to disqualification only because he issued reminder within 17 days, instead of the statutorily laid-down period of 30 days, therefore, the complaint should be treated well within time.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Dinesh Kumar Singh-I, J.)

1. Heard Sri Salman Ahmad, learned counsel for the applicant, Sri Diwakar Mishra, learned counsel for the opposite party no. 2 and Sri A.D. Mishra, learned A.G.A. appearing for the State and perused the record.

2. This application under Section 482 Cr.P.C has been moved with a prayer to quash the impugned summoning order dated 04.02.2012 passed by Chief Judicial Magistrate, Jalaun at Orai in Complaint Case No.2646 of 2013 (Anil Babu Niranjan vs. Mohammad Yaquoob Mansoori) under section 138 Negotiable Instrument Act, P.S. Kotwali Orai, District Jalaun at Orai and the entire proceedings of complaint case and also a prayer is made to stay the proceedings in this case till the disposal of this application.

3. In the affidavit filed in support of the stay application it is stated that as per the version contained in the complaint, the opposite party no. 2 runs an Electronic shop in Gandhi Market, Orai and the applicant is a proprietor of M/s. N.I. Purse Belt Store on main road, Orai. He does business by the said name. As per prosecution case, both the businessmen i.e. the applicant as well as the opposite party no. 2 were having good relation and since the applicant needed money for enhancement of his business, the applicant borrowed Rs.3.00 lacs from opposite party no. 2. On 7.10.2013 a cheque bearing no.038386 of Union Bank Branch, Orai was issued by the applicant for returning the said amount, which was presented by opposite party no. 2 before the Bank on 9.10.2013 but the same was returned with an endorsement that there was no sufficient balance in the account. As per allegation in the complaint, the said information of dishonouring of cheque was given to the applicant and the said amount of Rs.3.00 lacs was asked to be paid but the same was refused by the applicant where-after on 21.10.2013 the opposite party no. 2 issued notice under section 138 of Negotiable Instrument Act through his counsel but after passing of 15 days time when the money was not paid back, on 26.11.2013 opposite party no. 2 again sent a notice through his counsel to the applicant which did not return and thereafter on 18.12.2013 opposite party no. 2 filed a complaint under section 138 of Negotiable Instrument Act. The complainant/opposite party no. 2 had given statement under section 200 Cr.P.C. repeating the same version as were mentioned in the complaint, copy of the same has been annexed as Annexure-2.

4. The Magistrate without taking into account the facts and circumstances of the case, illegally passed the impugned order dated 4.2.2014, which is annexed as Annexure-3. In fact the applicant had not given any cheque to the opposite party no. 2 rather opposite party no. 2 fraudulently obtained the cheque regarding which the applicant could not know and when opposite party no. 2 issued notice on 21.10.2013 which was received by him, he came to know about the fraud and cheating committed by opposite party no. 2. It is further mentioned that no witness has been examined in respect of amount of Rs.3.00 lacs having been paid by the opposite party no. 2 to the applicant nor any date or time or place has been disclosed when the said amount was lent. The complaint was barred under section 142 of Negotiable Instrument Act which provides that it should be moved within one month of the date on which the cause of action arises while in the present case notice was sent on 21.10.2013 and the complaint has been filed on 18.12.2013 i.e. after 58 days. It is further mentioned that it is settled law that where two demand notices were served on the accused, the cause of action would arise only on expiry of 15 days time from the date of first notice. The subsequent notice would not give rise to any fresh cause of action. It is beyond imagination that the opposite party no. 2 would lend amount of Rs.3.00 lacs to the applicant without there being relationship between them. In fact, no such incident has happened as suggested by the opposite party no. 2. Neither any amount was taken by the applicant nor any cheque was issued by him in favour of the opposite party no. 2. So far as the cheque in question is concerned, it was dishonestly taken by the opposite party no. 2 from the applicant in which subsequently he filled up the amount; hence the summoning order deserves to be quashed. Reliance has been placed from the side of the learned counsel for the applicant on MSR Leathers vs. S. Palaniappan and another ((2013) 1 Supreme Court Cases 177, the relevant paragraphs are reproduced below.

"2. After entering appearance, the drawer filed an application seeking discharge on the ground that the payee could not create more than one cause of action in respect of a single cheque and the complaint in question having been filed on the basis of the second presentation and resultant second cause of action was not maintainable. The Magistrate accepted that contention relying upon a Division Bench decision of Kerala High Court in Kumaresan v. Ameerappa (1991) 1 Ker L.T. 893 and dismissed the complaint. The order passed by the Magistrate was then questioned before the High Court of Kerala who relying upon Kumaresan's case (supra) upheld the order passed by the Magistrate. The matter was eventually brought up to this Court by special leave. This Court formulated the following question for determination:

"Whether payee or holder of cheque can initiate proceeding of prosecution under Section 138 of Negotiable Instrument Act, 1881 for the second time if he has not initiated any action on earlier cause of action?"

3. Answering the question in the negative this Court held that a combined reading of Sections 138 and 142 of the Act left no room for doubt that cause of action under Section 142(b) can arise only once. The conclusion observed by the court is supported not only by Sections 138 and 142 but also by the fact that the dishonour of cheque gives rise to the commission of offence only on the failure to pay money when a notice is served upon the drawer in accordance with clause (b) of the proviso to Section 138. The Court further held that if the concept of successive causes of action were to be accepted the same would make the limitation under Section 142(b) otiose. The Court observed:

7. Besides the language of Sections 138 and 142 which clearly postulates only one cause of action, there are other formidable impediments which negate the concept of successive causes of action. One of them is that for dishonour of one cheque, there can be only one offence and such offence is committed by the drawer immediately on his failure to make the payment within fifteen days of the receipt of the notice served in accordance with clause (b) of the proviso to Section 138. That necessarily means that for similar failure after service of fresh notice on subsequent dishonour, the drawer cannot be liable for any offence nor can the first offence be treated as non est so as to give the payee a right to file a complaint treating the second offence as the first one. At that stage, it will not be a question of waiver of the right of the payee to prosecute the drawer but of absolution of the drawer of an offence, which stands already committed by him and which cannot be committed by him again."

He has also relied upon the judgment of High Court of Delhi in the case of Neerja Parekh vs. Amit Enterprises, 2012 Law Suit (Del) 474 and the judgment of High Court of Madhya Pradesh in the case of Kapil Upadhyay vs. Milana Auto, 2006 Lawsuit (MP) 140.

5. From the side of the opposite party no. 2 counter affidavit has been filed in which it is stated that the applicant and the opposite party no. 2 were having good relation in the business because of which he had lent Rs.3.00 lacs to him when the same was demanded to enhance his business. When the said amount was demanded by the opposite party no. 2, the applicant had issued cheque no. 038386 of Union Bank Branch, Orai which was presented by him before the said Bank on 9.10.2013 but the same was returned by the Bank with an endorsement that there was no sufficient balance in the account of the applicant. The opposite party no. 2 thereafter sent information on 10.10.2013 in this regard to the applicant but the applicant refused to pay the said amount then he gave notice through his counsel demanding the said amount on 21.10.2013 but even then the applicant did not pay back the said amount thereafter the opposite party no. 2 sent second notice through his counsel on 26.11.20013 but in spite of that the said amount was not returned, hence he had filed the present complaint. It is further mentioned that his statement was recorded under section 200 Cr.P.C by CJM, Orai and the summoning order against the applicant has been rightly issued under section 138 of Negotiable Instrument Act. The opposite party no. 2 had informed the applicant through notice dated 21.10.2013 but he did not take any care to make the payment of the amount which was mentioned in the notice, hence reminder was issued but even then the said amount was not paid. The cause of action has arisen on 26.11.2013 and the complaint was filed within time. Therefore, the complaint is not barred under section 142 of Negotiable Instrument Act. Therefore, the offence is made out against the accused-applicant. The impugned judgment deserves to be upheld and the application deserves to be dismissed.

6. During oral argument, learned counsel for the applicant has mainly argued that as per the case of the complainant, the cheque was presented on 9.10.2013 and on the same day it got dishonoured, where-after first notice was sent to the applicant on 21.10.2013 and its reminder was sent on 26.11.2013 while the complaint was moved on 18.12.2013, therefore, the cause of action should not be taken to have arisen on 26.11.2013 rather the same should be taken to have arisen on 21.10.2013 when the first notice was sent and therefore, from the said date, the complaint is apparently filed beyond 30 days which makes it time barred. He further argued that the date of giving money by the opposite party no. 2 to the applicant and the witness before whom the said money was given, have not been disclosed which clearly casts doubt upon the said payment of amount.

7. Both the above points raised by the learned counsel for the applicant have been rebutted by the learned counsel for the opposite party no. 2 stating that the cause of action could be treated to have arisen on 26.11.2013 and from that date, the complaint would be well within time of 30 days as per statutory provision.

8. After having heard learned counsel for the both the parties, I am of the opinion that the accused-applicant has not taken notice of proviso of section 142 of Negotiable Instrument Act, which provide as under:

"142. Cognizance of offences.- Notwithstanding anything contained in the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 (2 of 1974).

(a) No court shall take cognizance of any offence punishable under section 138 except upon a complaint, in writing, made by the payee or, as the case may be, the holder in due course of the cheque;

(b) Such complaint is made within one month of the date on which the cause of action arises under clause (c) of the proviso to section 138:

[Provided that the cognizance of a complaint may be taken by the Court after the prescribed period, if the complainant satisfies the Court that he had sufficient cause for not making a complaint within such period.]

(c) No court inferior to that of a Metropolitan Magistrate or a Judicial Magistrate of the first class shall try any offence punishable under section 138].

(2) The offence under section 138 shall be inquired into and tried only by a court within whose local jurisdiction-

(a) if the cheque is delivered for collection through an account the branch of the bank where the payee or holder in due course, as the case may be, maintains the account, is situated; or

(b) if the cheque is presented for payment by the payee or holder in due course, otherwise through an account, the branch of the drawee bank where the drawer maintains the account, is situated.

Explanation- For the purposes of clause (a), where a cheque is delivered for collection at any branch of the bank of the payee or holder in due course, then, the cheque shall be deemed to have been delivered to the branch of the bank in which the payee or holder in due course, as the case may be, maintains the account.

9. It is very much clear by the above-mentioned proviso that though the complaint is required to be submitted within one month from the date on which the cause of action arises but by adding the provision/proviso stated above, by bringing amendment with effect from 06.02.2003, cognizance of the complaint may be taken by the court even after the prescribed period of 30 days, if the complainant satisfies the Court that he has sufficient cause for not making the complaint within said period.

10. It would be pertinent to refer here to section 138 of the said Act also, which is reproduced herein below.

"138. Dishonour of cheque for insufficiency, etc., of funds in the account. --Where any cheque drawn by a person on an account maintained by him with a banker for payment of any amount of money to another person from out of that account for the discharge, in whole or in part, of any debt or other liability, is returned by the bank unpaid, either because of the amount of money standing to the credit of that account is insufficient to honour the cheque or that it exceeds the amount arranged to be paid from that account by an agreement made with that bank, such person shall be deemed to have committed an offence and shall, without prejudice to any other provisions of this Act, be punished with imprisonment for a term which may be extended to two years, or with fine which may extend to twice the amount of the cheque, or with both: Provided that nothing contained in this section shall apply unless--

(a)the cheque has been presented to the bank within a period of six months from the date on which it is drawn or within the period of its validity, whichever is earlier;

(b)the payee or the holder in due course of the cheque, as the case may be, makes a demand for the payment of the said amount of money by giving a notice in writing, to the drawer of the cheque, within thirty days of the receipt of information by him from the bank regarding the return of the cheque as unpaid; and

(c)the drawer of such cheque fails to make the payment of the said amount of money to the payee or, as the case may be, to the holder in due course of the cheque, within fifteen days of the receipt of the said notice.

Explanation.-- For the purposes of this section, "debt or other liability" means a legally enforceable debt or other liability."

11. The above quoted sub-clause (b) of the said section lays down that payee or the holder in due course of the cheque, may make a demand for payment of money by giving a notice in writing to the drawer of cheque within 30 days of the receipt of information by him from the bank regarding return of the cheque as unpaid. In the case in hand, it is apparent that the cheque which is alleged by the opposite party no. 2 to have been handed over by the accused-applicant, was presented before the Bank on 9.10.2013 which was returned by the bank with an endorsement that there was no sufficient balance in the account of the applicant and information regarding this was sent by the opposite party no. 2 immediately to the accused-applicant on 10.10.2013 but the applicant refused to make the payment, pursuant to which opposite party no. 2 issued notice through counsel for demanding Rs.3.00 lacs on 21.10.2013 i.e. within 12 days from the information being given by the Bank about dishonour of the cheque. Thereafter, the opposite party no. 2 sent another notice through his counsel on 26.11.2013 to the applicant, which was within 17 days of the information give by the bank with respect to dishonour of the cheque. It is apparent from the said date that from 9.10.2013 when the cheque was presented before the bank and was returned unpaid, the reminder notice dated 26.11.2013 was given within 17 days, however, the same could have been given within upto 30 days. Therefore, the second notice (reminder) would fall within the time limit prescribed under section 138 (B) of the Act. Nowhere has it been laid-down that in case of non-payment of the cheque, if notice is issued to the defaulting accused, its reminder is barred. In the present case, in my view the opposite party no. 2 cannot be put to disqualification only because he issued reminder on 26.11.2013 with respect to the accused-applicant not having paid the amount and asking for the same to be paid. I have already held that the said reminder was within 17 days, sent to the applicant instead of the statutorily laid-down period of 30 days.

12. Now, I would like to draw attention to the proviso to section 142 of the abovementioned Act which clearly lays down that the complaint is required to be submitted within one month from the date on which cause of action arises. However, the said complaint can also be preferred even after the statutory time period of 30 days, if the complainant satisfies the Court that there was sufficient cause for not moving the complaint within the said time limit. This provision can be interpreted to mean that the trial court would, after parties have led evidence before it, judge whether there was sufficient reasons shown by the complainant/opposite party no. 2 or not for having moved the complaint beyond 30 days. In the present case, if the time period is calculated from the first date of notice being sent to the accused-applicant i.e. 21.10.2013, the complaint would appear to fall beyond 30 days limit but in that case also the trial court would be expected to assess the reasons why the said delay was committed on the basis of evidence, which would be adduced by the complainant. However, in the present case, in my view, I have already held that the reminder dated 21.10.2013 of the notice would certainly be treated to be a date on which the cause of action has arisen because the same being within 30 days of the information being given by the bank regarding dishonour of cheque, therefore, the complaint should be treated well within time. Therefore, in neither situation whether the complaint be treated to have been filed beyond limit of statutory period or within the limit, the entire matter has to be decided by the trial court on the basis of evidence to be led by both the sides and it would be highly improper to disqualify the opposite party no. 2 from proceeding with the complaint only because a technical flaw is being raised that the cause of action would be treated to have arisen on the date of first notice i.e. 21.10.2013.

13. The rulings which have been relied upon by the learned counsel for the applicant which have been cited above, do not appear to deal with this issue as to whether, in case a reminder notice is issued, date of issuance of the same could be treated to be the date on which the of cause of action would be treated to have arisen.

14. In view of above, I am of the view that this application deserves to be dismissed and it is accordingly dismissed. The interim order, if any stands vacated.

4. Managing Director, Ecil, Hyderabad Vs. B. Karunakar (1993) 4 SCC 727

(Delivered by Hon'ble Ajit Kumar, J.)

1. Sri H.K. Misra, learned counsel for the petitioner, Sri Shireesh Kumar, learned counsel for the respondent and perused the record.

2. By means of this petition under Article 226 of the Constitution, the petitioner has challenged the order dated 05.09.1994, whereby, the petitioner hasbeen dismissed from service and has been saddled with the liability of Rs. 4,46,559/- as a loss caused to the Corporation.

3. The petitioner has assailed the order impugned on the ground that though the petitioner was a Depot Incharge at the relevant time but the sole liability to supply and manage coal was of the Private Company engaged for the said purpose under the agreement reached between U.P. Cooperative Federation with private company namely M/s. Radhe Vallabh Traders.

4. Briefly stated facts of the case are that the petitioner, who was Depot Incharge, was issued with a charge sheet as the coal in the stock in the open yard was found much less than the delivery registered in the stock register resulting in huge loss to the Corporation. Initially when the charge sheet was issued, there was a loss mentioned in the charge no. 1 of Rs. 1.62 lacs and odd besides other charges regarding negligence in duty and connivance of the petitioner with certain elements that have virtually lifted the material and no intimation in that regard was made to the respondent Federation. The petitioner did submit reply to the charge rejecting the charges and submitted that he had no such liability, however, a supplementary charge sheet was also issued subsequently which the petitioner also replied. An inquiry was got conducted in the matter with due participation of the petitioner in the inquiry. The material placed before the Inquiry Officer and the reply of the petitioner submitted in that regard were duly considered and the Inquiry Officer in his ultimate analysis has found all the charges proved against the petitioner. The petitioner was thus issued with a show cause notice dated 18.10.1993 accompanied by the inquiry report to which the petitioner submitted a detailed reply/ explanation again annexing therewith a number of documents. The disciplinary authority however, did not get convinced with the reply of the petitioner and agreeing with the report, held the petitioner guilty in view of the findings returned by the Inquiry Officer and imposed the penalty of dismissal from service with liability to compensate the loss as well to the extent he was held liable.

5. Assailing the order impugned it has been vehemently argued on behalf of the petitioner that the findings returned by the Inquiry Officer were perverse as no correct material was placed before the Inquiry Officer and the documents appended with the reply of the petitioner were not duly considered. It is submitted that all this had been highlighted in his reply to the show cause notice dated 30.10.1993 annexing therewith all the documents in support thereof questioning the findings returned by the Inquiry Officer, however, the same has not been considered by the disciplinary authority and in three lines it has only recorded that the reply/ explanation submitted by the petitioner dated 29.10.1993 was perused and from the perusal nothing was found worth for reconsideration. He submits that the disciplinary authority even while agreeing with the inquiry report is to discuss at least the issues that led him to agree with the findings returned by the Inquiry Officer and that too after proper evaluation of the explanation of delinquent employee given to the show cause notice.

6. Per contra learned counsel for the respondent argued that the findings of fact have come to be returned in the inquiry report and therefore, this Court may not exercise power to review the findings of the inquiry officer in exercise of power under Article 226 of the Constitution. It is submitted that no procedural flaw is detectible in the conduct of the disciplinary proceedings and therefore, no interference is warranted.

7. Having heard learned counsels for the parties and their arguments across the bar and having perused the record, the only question that requires determination is whether there was a valid consideration of reply of the petitioner submitted to the show cause notice, by the disciplinary authority while agreeing with the inquiry report and awarding the maximum punishment of dismissal from service. The consideration of the reply of the petitioner therefore, has to be seen in the light of explanation submitted and the documents appended therewith.

8. To find an answer to the above question, it is necessary to go through reply submitted by the petitioner and the charges in respect of the which the findings have been returned by the Inquiry Officer. The Inquiry Officer in his ultimate conclusion has held the petitioner to be seriously guilty of negligence and that too a deliberate one in discharge of his duties while looking after the depot where the stock of the coal was stored and on verification and inspection was found much less than the one recorded in the register at the time of delivery. The Inquiry Officer has relied upon the submissions of the respondent Federation that the peons were provided to delinquent employee to carry out regular verification of the stock, the unloading of the material, following the truck which is used for carrying the coal and unloading, the quantity of the same and if the petitioner has failed to discharge his duty, no one else can be held to be liable for the loss of corporation but the petitioner in the first instance and to that extent he is guilty.

9. In his reply, the petitioner has questioned the correctness of the findings returned by the Inquiry Officer on the ground that he had written several letters in the past regarding state of affairs in the depot and the involvement of the trading companies M/s. Radhe Vallabh Traders and even the show cause notice issued to the company by the corporation in the past and the documents of such nature had also been filed by which the permission was granted by the Senior Manager, Coal to the other party to lift the coal from the depot. Further, he has referred to the letter written by the corporation to M/s. Radhe Vallabh Traders in which the accounting of the company was not found to be proper and the agency was terminated on that count on 18.10.1985. He has also brought on record the registered notice given to M/s. Radhe Vallabh Traders in past holding guilty for the loss caused to the Corporation. He has also referred to the agreement bearing terms and conditions entered by the respondent with Radhe Traders and under which not only supply of coal was to be done by the private company but even the company was to manage stock as well through its agent. He has also filed certain more documents in support of his defence and thus questioned the findings recorded by the Inquiry Officer.

10. However, from perusal of the order impugned, it is clearly revealed that all these above material have not been looked into by the disciplinary authority while passing the order. The consideration of the reply to the show cause notice, in the considered opinion of the Court, is a must, an exercise without which the disciplinary authority cannot be said to have independently applied its mind while even agreeing with the findings returned by the Inquiry Officer. The findings of the Inquiry Officer can only be questioned by means of explanation submitted before the disciplinary authority and obviously the reason being that while the inquiry is conducted in presence of delinquent employee, the report is submitted subsequently and so the evaluation of the reply, oral testimony, if any, has not been properly done, the opportunity is available to the delinquent employee to question the same and if the disciplinary authority does not consider the explanation by referring to the points raised in the explanation, rejection of the same in three lines cannot be appreciated nor, can be approved of.

11. In the present case, the findings returned by disciplinary authority while agreeing with the inquiry report imposing the order of dismissal from service upon the petitioner runs like thus:

''अतएव श्री अग्निहोत्री द्वारा प्रस्तुत कारण बताओ नोटिस के स्पष्टीकरण दिनांक 29.10.93 का परीक्षण किया गया जिसके परीक्षणोपरान्त कोई विचारणीय तथ्य नहीं पाया गया जिस पर पुनः विचार किया जाय।''

Thus, the explanation to the show cause notice submitted by Sri Agnihotri dated 29.10.1993 was examined and after examination nothing was found to be worth for reconsideration.

(Translation by Court)

12. This above finding sans reason is not sustainable. A primary authority that has to pass order of punishment after considering explanation to the show cause notice must pen down its own independent consideration in respect of the explanation submitted.

13. Disciplinary authority, therefore, needs to record reason on its own. An authority that fails to consider the reply to show cause notice while dealing with the procedure of disciplinary proceedings in the matter of major penalty, is to be held to have failed to discharge its primary duty. Such a procedure where there is no discussion and no opportunity of hearing by disciplinary authority while considering the reply to the show cause, is liable to be rendered as arbitrary one.

14. The doctrine of fairness has emerged as a bedrock of administrative decision making process and coupled with natural justice form due process, the basic ingredient of rule of law. Whatever is arbitrary, is against the rule of law and arbitrariness means an action opposed to natural law, a concept of justice i.e. impartial dealing (and taking decision after) listening to both sides of dispute (P. Jackson: Natural Justice, 2nd Edn. 1979 115). The authority when required to act in a procedurally fair manner means it has to conform to the principles of natural justice.

15. Mullan in Natural Justice and Fairness:

".....This did not go far enough; the old law relating to natural justice was too rigidly entrenched. More importantly, the issues were now somewhat more sophisticated, and it was recognized that it was not a case of all or nothing. Some decision making functions, while not requiring full adjudicative hearings, might nevertheless have usefully had certain participatory obligations or perhaps simply an obligation of "proper" consideration attached to them.

Out of this predicament emerged the new vocabulary of the duty to act fairly. This was not in any sense the result of a growing feeling on the part of the courts that the time had come to assert a general review power over the wisdom of administrative decision-making, even though the subsequent conduct of one of the principal proponents of procedural "fairness" review, Lord Denning M.R., might suggest that this was indeed the case. It can best be viewed as a reaction to a particular problem in a particular area of judicial review. Hence it is ironic, though not perhaps surprising, to now see the emergence of fairness in the substantive law of judicial review as a standard for judging the merits of administrative decision-making..... . (1982) 27 McGill L.J. 273.

16. Besides above, the order to be passed by disciplinary authority while awarding major penalty, must record cogent and convincing reasons or in other words the order passed by the disciplinary authority imposing major penalty, should be a speaking order. It has been held in the case of State of West Bengal Vs. Atul Krishna Shaw and another 1991 Supp. (1) SCC 414 by the Apex Court that:

"Giving of reasons is an essential element of administration of justice. A right to reason is, therefore, an indispensable part of sound system of judicial review. Reasoned decision is not only for the purpose of showing that the citizen is receiving justice, but also a valid discipline for the Tribunal itself. Therefore, statement of reasons is one of the essentials of justice."

17. In the case of Devendra Bhai Shankar Mehta Vs. Rameshchandra Vithal Das Sheth (1992) 3 SCC 473, the Apex Court has held that the decision of disciplinary authority must appear to reflect that such authority was alive to various aspects of charge and defence pleaded. In such proceedings while an ultimate decision is taken of imposing penalty by the authority, the requirement of proof must be fulfilled in such proceedings and while an ultimate decision is taken by the authority, it should appear that the requirement of proof was fulfilled substantially. In a nut shell, the disciplinary authority should view that inquiry officer has taken due care in meticulously scrutinizing and analyzing the evidence on record and materials. Therefore, there must be an independent application of mind by the disciplinary authority to the findings of the inquiry officer. There should be no cut and paste of the finding of the inquiry officer by the disciplinary authority or the appellate authority otherwise, such an order is liable to be rendered illegal and such a decision is unsustainable. In the case of State Bank of Bikaner & Jaipur Vs. Nemi Chand Nalwaya (2011) 4 SCC 584, the Apex Court has held that where findings are based on no evidence or there is an absence of any findings, such an order is liable to go.

18. In the case of Managing Director, Ecil, Hyderabad Vs. B. Karunakar (1993) 4 SCC 727 the court observed thus:

"The reason why the right to receive the report of the Inquiry Officer is considered an essential part of the reasonable opportunity it the first stage and also a principle of natural justice is that the findings recorded by the Inquiry Officer form an important material before the disciplinary authority which along with the evidence is taken into consideration by it to come to its conclusions. It is difficult to say in advance, to what extent the said findings including the punishment, if any, recommended in the report would influence the disciplinary authority while drawing its conclusions. The findings further might have been recorded without considering the relevant evidence on record, or by misconstruing it or unsupported by it. If such a finding is to be one of the documents to be considered by the disciplinary authority, the principles of natural justice require that the employee should have a fair opportunity to meet, explain and controvert it before he is condemned. It is the negation of the tenets of justice and a denial of fair opportunity to the employee to consider the findings recorded by a third party like the Inquiry Officer without giving the employee an opportunity to reply to it. Although it is true that the disciplinary authority is supposed to arrive at its own findings on the basis of the evidence recorded in the inquiry, it is also equally true that the disciplinary authority takes into consideration the findings recorded by the Inquiry Officer along with the evidence on record. In the circumstances, the findings of the Inquiry Officer do constitute an important material before the disciplinary authority which is likely to influence its conclusions. If the Inquiry Officer were only to record the evidence and forward the same to the disciplinary authority, that would not constitute any additional material before the disciplinary authority of which the delinquent employee has no knowledge. However, when the Inquiry Officer goes further and records his findings, as stated above, which may or may not be based on the evidence on record or are contrary to the same or in ignorance of it, such findings are an additional material unknown to the employee but are taken into consideration by the disciplinary, authority while arriving at its conclusion. Both the dictates of the reasonable opportunity as well as the principles of natural justice, therefore, require that before the disciplinary, authority comes to its own conclusions, the delinquent employee should have an opportunity to reply to the Inquiry Officer's findings. The disciplinary authority is then required to consider the evidence, the report of the Inquiry Officer and the representation of the employee against it."

19. In view of the above, the order dated 05.09.1994 deserves to be quashed and matter needs to be revisited by the disciplinary authority and the order dated 05.09.1994 is accordingly hereby quashed. The matter is remitted to the disciplinary authority to reconsider the reply/ explanation of the petitioner dated 29/30.10.1993 and pass order afresh in accordance with law. Needless to say the order shall be reasoned and speaking.

20. Writ petition is allowed with the aforesaid observations and directions with no order as to costs.

A. Service Law - U.P. Intermediate Education Act, 1921- Post falling under promotional quota– Petitioner appointed on direct recruitment basis as Assistant Clerk – Post cannot be treated as a direct recruitment post, instead, it be treated as promotional post.

Held - as the case has been argued threadbare, the Court proceeds to consider whether with the promotion of a person appointed on compassionate ground, the promotee would be considered a direct recruit. It is not the case of the petitioner that post of Head Clerk has been filled in by direct recruitment rather it is admitted that the post has been filled in by promotion of Sri Rajiv Saxena. Thus, it can safely be said that when the said post of Head Clerk was filled in on account of promotion of Sri Rajiv Saxena then the said post would go towards the promotion quota. Admittedly, the other two posts were also filled in by promotes leaving two posts against direct recruit quota. Once it was the post meant for direct recruitment quota which was filled in with the promotion of the petitioner against which complaints were made and thereafter it was found that the approval which had been granted to the promotion of the petitioner against the direct recruitment post was illegally granted. (Delivered by Hon'ble Abdul Moin, J.)

1. Heard learned counsel for the petitioner, learned Standing counsel appearing for the State-respondents and Sri S.K.Upadhya, learned counsel appearing as an Intervenor.

2. Under challenge is the order dated 19.08.2019 passed by the Joint Director of Education, Lucknow i.e respondent no. 2 by which it has been found that the appointment of the petitioner as Assistant Clerk and the subsequent approval granted by the District Inspector of Schools is vitiated and consequently the respondent no. 2 has directed for initiation of inquiry against the guilty employees after cancelling the promotion of the petitioner.

3. Learned counsel for the petitioner contends that a recommendation for promotion of the petitioner who was working on a Class IV post in the Institution to the post of Assistant Clerk was made on 10.11.2016. As on 10.11.2016, there were five posts in the Institution. i.e one post of Head Clerk and four posts of Assistant Clerks whereby taking the total to five posts. In terms of Regulation 2 (2) of Chapter III of Regulations framed under U.P. Intermediate Education Act, 1921 (hereinafter referred to as "Act, 1921"), the post of Head Clerk and Assistant Clerk are clubbed so as to arrive at the quota for promotion or direct recruitment per which the appointments or promotions are to take place on the said posts. The said Regulation provides that 50 percent posts out of total sanctioned post of Head Clerk and clerical cadre shall be filled by promotion of Clerks and Class IV employees working in the organization. In terms of Note to Regulation 2, it is provided that while computing 50% of the post, the number of post less than half should be ignored and half or more than half should be treated as one, as such, in this case, it would be 2.5 or three posts for promotion.

4. Learned counsel for the petitioner contends that the petitioner belongs to reserve category. There is one sanctioned post of Head Clerk and four sanctioned posts of Assistant Clerks i.e. total five in the Institution. As per the aforesaid Rules, three posts would fall against the promotion quota i.e. to be filled in by promotion. It is contended that two posts of Assistant Clerks have been filled in with the promotion of two Class IV employees namely Sri Prem Lal and Sri Rajesh Singh. A post of Assistant Clerk fell vacant with the promotion of the said Assistant Clerk as Head Clerk and as three posts are meant for promotees, consequently the third post should have gone to the promotee i.e. the petitioner. The said post was lying vacant since 31.08.2013 and considering that the petitioner was working on a Class IV post since 22.05.2010, he was promoted as Assistant Clerk and on 25.11.2016 the District Inspector of Schools (II) granted approval to the promotion of the petitioner as Assistant Clerk. A copy of the order dated 25.11.2016 has been filed as Annexure-6 to the writ petition. The petitioner was issued with an appointment letter dated 18.03.2017, a copy of which is Annexure-7 to the writ petition, and he also joined on 21.03.2017 as Assistant Clerk and his pay fixation was also made on 11.08.2017. Subsequent thereto, the impugned order dated 19.08.2019 was passed, a copy of which is Annexure-1 to the writ petition, by the Joint Director of Education cancelling the promotion of the petitioner w.e.f. the date of promotion itself and directing for initiation of inquiry against the guilty officials. Learned counsel for the petitioner argues that the ground taken in the impugned order is that the Institution in the meeting of the Management Committee dated 10.11.2016 had recommended for promotion of the petitioner although, on the date of proposal, the post of Head Clerk and two Assistant Clerks were already occupied by the promotees and consequently the promotion of the petitioner on the post of Assistant Clerk was erroneously done as the said post fell under the direct recruitment quota and was to be filled in through direct recruitment.

5. Learned counsel for the petitioner has placed reliance on a Division Bench judgment of this Court passed in Special Appeal Defective No. 577 of 2017 Inre; State of U.P and Ors Vs. Santosh Kumar Mishra and Ors, a copy of which has been filed as annexure RA 4 to the rejoinder affidavit to contend that the post of Head Clerk has to be treated to be filled in by direct recruitment inasmuch as one Sri Rajiv Saxena had initially been appointed as Assistant Clerk through order dated 24.03.1995, a copy of which is annexure RA 3 to the rejoinder affidavit on compassionate grounds. On the post of Head Clerk falling vacant, Sri Rajiv Saxena had been promoted and consequently once any compassionate appointment can only be made against a direct recruitment quota, consequently the promotion of Sri Saxena has also to be treated as a promotion made on direct recruitment basis and, as such the respondents have patently erred in the impugned order in contending that as the post of Head Clerk was filled in through promotion as such, the same has to be treated as against promotee quota. It is also argued that in case the analogy given by the petitioner is accepted then the impugned order would become vitiated in the eyes of law as there would be only two promotees as the post of Head Clerk occupied by Sri Rajiv Saxena would be treated as a post for Direct Recruit leaving one post to be filled in through the promotion quota which has correctly been made with the promotion of the petitioner. Another ground taken to challenge the said order is that the Joint Director of Education, Lucknow has no jurisdiction to pass the impugned order as the competent authority for granting approval is District Inspector of Schools and thus the impugned order is patently without jurisdiction.

6. This Court after considering the facts of the case had summed up the issue on 29.11.2019 as per the aforesaid arguments raised by the learned counsel for the petitioner which order, for the sake of convenience, is reproduced below:-

"Heard learned counsel for the petitioner, learned Standing counsel appearing for the State-respondents and Sri S.K. Upadhyay, learned counsel appeared as an intervenor.

Under challenge is the order dated 19.08.2019 passed by the Joint Director of Education, Lucknow i.e respondent no. 2 by which it has been found that the appointment of the petitioner as Assistant Clerk and the subsequent approval granted by the District Inspector of Schools is vitiated and consequently the respondent no. 2 has directed for initiation of inquiry against the guilty employees.

From a perusal of records it comes out that the recommendation for promotion of the petitioner to the post of Assistant Clerk took place on 10.11.2016. As on 10.11.2016, there were five posts in the Institution with which the present controversy is concerned i.e one post of Head Clerk and four posts of Assistant Clerks whereby taking the total as five posts. In terms of Regulation 2 (2) of Chapter III of Regulations framed under U.P. Intermediate Education Act, 1921 (hereinafter referred to as "Act, 1921"), the post of Head Clerk and Assistant Clerk are clubbed so as to arrive at the quota i.e promotion or direct recruitment with which the appointments or promotions are to take place. The said quota provides that 50 percent posts out of total sanctioned post of Head Clerk and clerical cadre shall be filled by promotion of Clerks and Class IV employees working in the organization. From a perusal of the averments made in paragraph 6 of the counter affidavit it comes out that one post of Head Clerk and two posts of Assistant Clerks were already filled as on 10.11.2016 in by persons who had been promoted leaving two posts to be filled in by direct recruitment. It is contended that the petitioner had been promoted against the quota manned for direct recruitment and his promotion was thus found to be irregular and consequently the impugned order has been passed.

Learned counsel for the petitioner has placed reliance on a Division Bench judgment of this Court passed in Special Appeal Defective No. 577 of 2017 Inre; State of U.P and Ors Vs. Santosh Kumar Mishra and Ors, a copy of which has been filed as annexure RA 4 to the rejoinder affidavit to contend that the post of Head Clerk has to be treated to be filled in by direct recruitment inasmuch as one Sri Rajiv Saxena has initially been appointed as Assistant Clerk through order dated 24.03.1995, a copy of which is annexure RA 3 to the rejoinder affidavit on compassionate grounds. On the post of Head Clerk falling vacant, Sri Rajiv Saxena had been promoted and consequently once any compassionate appointment can only be made against a direct recruitment quota, consequently the promotion of Sri Saxena has also to be treated as a promotion made on direct recruitment basis and consequently the respondents have patently erred to contend that the post of Head Clerk was filled in through a promotion and the same has to be treated as direct recruitment and thus in case the analogy given by the petitioner is accepted then the impugned order would become vitiated in the eyes of law as there would be only two promotees and one direct recruit i.e Sri Rajiv Saxena leaving one post to be filled in through the promotion quota which has correctly been made with the promotion of the petitioner.

Having heard the learned counsel for the petitioner, the point in issue would be that where a person has been appointed as Assistant Clerk on compassionate grounds meaning thereby that his appointment would be treated to be against the direct recruitment quota then whether his promotion as Head Clerk would also be treated to have been made against direct recruitment quota.

Learned counsel for the petitioner prays for some time to address the Court on the aforesaid issue. As such, on his request, list this case after ten days as fresh."

7. Today, Sri B.K.Singh, learned counsel appearing for the petitioner has placed reliance on a Division Bench judgment of this Court in the case of Ramji Singh Vs. District Inspector of Schools, Ballia and Ors reported in 2006 (2) ESC 1015 (All) as well as a judgment of this Court in the case of Jai Kumar Singh Vs. The District Inspector of Schools and Ors reported in (2001) 2 UPLBEC 1517 to contend that the aforesaid query of this Court stands answered in both the judgments.

8. On the other hand, learned Standing counsel on the basis of averments contained in the counter affidavit argues that through letter dated 10.11.2016 sent by the Management/Principal of the Institution, a recommendation/proposal for promotion of the petitioner, a Class IV employee on the vacant post of Clerk which was vacant after promotion of Sri Nankau on the post of Head Clerk on 31.08.2013, was made. The promotion of the petitioner was approved by the then District Inspector of Schools vide order dated 25.11.2016. Complaints were received in the office of Joint Director of Education, Lucknow against the said promotion but to no avail. Subsequent thereto, through letter dated 10.04.2019 issued by the Joint Director of Education, the petitioner and the Manager/Principal of the Institution were called for hearing on 23.04.2019 on which date the petitioner and Principal of the Institution submitted their case. Records were also produced and after perusal of the file it was revealed that when the petitioner was promoted, the promotion quota of the college in the clerical cadre was complete and accordingly next promotion could only be made as direct recruitment. It is admitted that there are five posts in the clerical cadre in the Institution namely one post of Head Clerk and four posts of Assistant Clerk. The post of Assistant Clerk had fallen vacant on 31.08.2013 on account of Promotion of Sri Nankau on the post of Head Clerk and the resultant vacancy was sought to be filled in with the promotion of Sri Pradeep Kumar but on the said date one Head Clerk and two Assistant Clerks were already working in the College in question in the promotion quota and consequently the promotion of the petitioner had been done against the direct recruitment quota which was patently illegal and the approval thereto was also done illegally by the District Inspector of Schools through his order dated 25.11.2016. Taking all this into consideration, the impugned order was passed by the Joint Director of Education.

9. Sri Vinod Shukla, learned Standing counsel submits that when the promotion of the petitioner was itself illegal, consequently even if an order was passed by the Joint Director of Education who had no jurisdiction to do so and the said order is to be set aside on the ground of technicality raised by the petitioner yet as the petitioner has argued his case threadbare, the Court may itself, considering the aforesaid facts, pass suitable orders in this regard instead of remanding the said matter on technicality. Placing reliance on the judgment of M.C. Mehta vs. Union of India and others reported in (1999)6 SCC 237 it is contended that futile writs may not be issued and the Court may itself go into the merits of the case.

10. Sri S.K.Upadhyay, learned counsel appearing for the Intervenor also adopts the arguments of learned Standing counsel.

11. Heard learned counsel appearing for the contesting parties and perused the records.

12. From a perusal of the records and the arguments advanced by the learned counsels for the contesting parties it comes out that there are five posts in clerical cadre in the Institution of which one post is for Head Clerk and four posts are for Assistant Clerk. In terms of the relevant regulation, the quota would be three posts for promotion quota while two posts are meant for direct recruits. The controversy revolves around the post which fell vacant on account of Sri Rajiv Saxena, Assistant Clerk who was appointed on compassionate grounds having been promoted as Head Clerk. The name of Sri Rajiv Saxena being promoted as Head Clerk has come for the first time in the Rejoinder affidavit while in the writ petition, it had been stated by the petitioner that Sri Nankau Prasad, an Assistant Clerk had been promoted as Head Clerk and thus the post of Assistant Clerk fell vacant. The official respondents have also indicated about the post of Assistant Clerk having fallen vacant on account of promotion of Sri Nankau Prasad. Thus, it is apparent that the petitioner is trying to set up a new case through rejoinder affidavit which is legally impermissible. However, as the case has been argued threadbare, the Court proceeds to consider whether with the promotion of a person appointed on compassionate ground, the promotee would be considered a direct recruit. It is not the case of the petitioner that post of Head Clerk has been filled in by direct recruitment rather it is admitted that the post has been filled in by promotion of Sri Rajiv Saxena. Thus, it can safely be said that when the said post of Head Clerk was filled in on account of promotion of Sri Rajiv Saxena then the said post would go towards the promotion quota. Admittedly, the other two posts were also filled in by promotes leaving two posts against direct recruit quota. Once it was the post meant for direct recruitment quota which was filled in with the promotion of the petitioner against which complaints were made and thereafter it was found that the approval which had been granted to the promotion of the petitioner against the direct recruitment post was illegally granted and considering these facts, the impugned order has been passed by the Joint Director of Education after perusal of the records by invalidating the promotion of the petitioner from the date of his promotion itself and action has also been directed to be initiated against the guilty officials then taking into consideration the aforesaid facts, this Court does not find any illegality or infirmity in the impugned order issued by the Joint Director of Education, Lucknow.

13. So far as the judgment of Jai Kumar Singh (supra) is concerned, the facts were that in the Institution in question there were three sanctioned posts of Class III employees. Relevant Regulations of Chapter III of the Act, 1921 provided that 50 percent of the total sanctioned strength of Head Clerk and Clerk should be filled in by promotion. The Note of Regulation 2 further provides that while computing 50 percent of the post, the number less than half should be ignored and half or more than half should be treated as one. The total number of sanctioned strength being three, promotion quota according to Regulation 2 (2), comes to 1.5 and by virtue of Note, two posts were to be treated under promotion quota. The first post fell vacant on 31.12.1994 on the retirement of Sri Basudeo Singh. One Sri Triloki Nath, a Class IV employee staked his claim for promotion under Chapter III, Regulation II of the Intermediate Education Act on the ground that the said post is under promotional quota. The management instead of promoting Sri Triloki Nath, appointed Sri Kunwar Tribuwan Singh on direct recruitment basis which led to litigation. Meanwhile one Sri Baij Nath Prasad who was working as Assistant Clerk was promoted as Head Clerk on the retirement of Sri Achhaybar Nath Mishra. On account of Sri Baij Nath Prasad being promoted, his post had fallen vacant and again the Management appointed one Sri Jai Kumar Singh as a direct recruit. As the appointment of Sri Jai Kumar Singh was not approved he filed Writ Petition No. 10891 of 1996 praying for approval of his appointment. The claim of Jai Kumar Singh and Kunwar Tribhuwan Singh were considered and an order dated 04.05.1998 was passed whereby the appointment of Jai Kumar Singh was held to be bad and the appointment of Kunwar Tribhuwan Singh was approved. In such circumstances, this Court held that the post which had fallen vacant due to retirement of Sri Basudeo Singh was against promotion quota and had to be filled in by promotion and the appointment of Kunwar Tribhuwan Singh as direct recruit was done wrongly by the District Inspector of Schools and on the post of Baij Nath the promotion of Sri Triloki Nath ought to have been considered. The said decision does not deal with the point in issue.

14. So far as the judgment of Ramji Singh (supra) is concerned, the said judgment too does not deal with the question as has been raised by this Court in the order dated 29.11.2019.

15. So far as the judgment of Santosh Kumar Mishra (supra) is concerned, suffice to state that a categoric averment was made in the said case on behalf of the State Government that the post of Head Clerk was occupied by direct recruitment. However, in the instant case, the respondents themselves have stated that the post of Head Clerk was occupied by a promotee. Thus, the said judgment in the case of Santosh Kumar Mishra (supra) is distinguishable on its own facts and will not be applicable in the facts of the instant case.

16. In this regard, though no assistance has been rendered by either learned counsel for the petitioner or the learned Standing Counsel yet the Court has itself come across certain judgments which have a direct bearing on the issue in question.

17. Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Roshan Lal Tandon vs. Union of India - AIR 1967 SC 1889 has held that where the promotees and direct recruits form one class in Grade D they could not be thereafter classified again depending upon the source from which they are drawn for the purpose of promotion to the next higher grade. For the sake of convenience, relevant observations of Hon'ble Supreme Court are reproduced as under:-

"5.....In our opinion, the constitutional objection taken by the petitioner to this part of the notification is well-founded and must be accepted as correct. At the time when the petitioner and the direct recruits were appointed to Grade 'D', there was one class in Grade 'D' formed of direct recruits and the promotees from the grade of artisans. The recruits from both the sources to Grade 'D' were integrated into one class and no discrimination could thereafter be made in favour of recruits from one source as against the recruits from the other source in the matter of promotion to Grade 'C'. To put it differently, once the direct recruits and promotees are absorbed in one cadre, they form one class and they cannot be discriminated for the purpose of further promotion to the higher Grade 'C'."

18. Likewise, a Constitution Bench of the Apex Court in the case of State of J & K vs. Triloki Nath Khosa-(1974) 1 SCC 19 after considering the judgment of Roshan Lal Tandon (supra) has held as under:-

"44. The key words of the judgment are: "The recruits from both the sources to Grade 'D' were integrated into one class and no discrimination could thereafter be made in favour of recruits from one source as against the recruits from the other source in the matter of promotion to Grade 'C', (emphasis supplied). By this was meant that in the matter of promotional opportunities to Grade 'C', no discrimination could be made between promotees and direct recruits by reference to the source from which they were drawn. That is to say, if apprentice train examiners who were recruited directly to Grade 'D' as train examiners formed one common class with skilled artisans who were promoted to Grade 'D' as train examiners, no favoured treatment could be given to the former merely because they were directly recruited as train examiners and no discrimination could be made as against the latter merely because they were promotees. This is the true meaning of the observation extracted above and no more than this can be read into the sentence next following: "To put it differently, once the direct recruits and promotees are absorbed into one cadre, they form one class and they cannot be discriminated for the purpose of further promotion to the higher Grade 'C'." In terms, this was just a different way of putting what had preceded."

19. Recently, the Apex Court in the case of B. Manmad Reddy and others vs. Chandra Prakash Reddy and others - (2010) 3 SCC 314 after considering the judgments of Triloki Nath Khosa (supra) and Roshan Lal Tandon (supra) has held as under:-

"The short question that falls for consideration and that was argued at considerable length before us by learned Counsel for the parties is whether persons drawn from different sources and integrated into one class/cadre/category can be classified into separate categories for purposes of promotion on the basis of the source from which they were drawn. The question is, in our opinion, squarely covered by the decisions of this Court to which we shall presently refer but before we do so, we may briefly set out the factual backdrop in which controversy arises.....The integration of promotees and direct recruits into one class would wipe out their birth marks with the result that the same can not be made a basis for a valid classification. Any such classification would amount to classifying equals in the matter of further promotion based solely on the source from which they were drawn. Relying upon the decisions of this Court, the Tribunal and the High Court have held that inasmuch as Note 6 to Rule 3 classifies the promotees and direct recruits for the purpose of future promotion, even after their integration into one cadre the same was discriminatory hence ultra vires of Articles 14 and 16 of the Constitution ..... Such a classification based on the birth mark that stood obliterated after integration of officers coming from different source into a common cadre/category would be wholly unjustified and discriminatory."

20. Accordingly, when the facts of the instant case are tested at the touchstone of law laid down by the Apex Court in the cases of Roshan Lal Tandon, Triloki Nath Khosa and B. Manmad Reddy (supra) what clearly comes out is that a direct recruit on being appointed in one class would loose his birth mark and on being promoted would not retain his original source of being a direct recruit rather the integration of such persons into one class i.e. Assistant Clerk would wipe out their birth marks with the result that any such classification for further promotion based on the source from which they are drawn could not be made a basis for valid classification. Thus, once a person was appointed on direct recruitment basis as Assistant Clerk, his promotion as Head Clerk, as in the instant case, would not be treated to be a direct recruitment rather has to be treated as promotion. Viewed in this manner, it is apparent that the impugned order dated 19.08.2019 indicating that three posts i.e. one post of Head Clerk and two posts of Assistant Clerks were filled in by promotees and the promotion of the petitioner was made against direct recruitment basis thus requires no interference by this Court.

21. So far as the ground taken by the learned counsel for the petitioner that no such order could have been passed by the Joint Director of Education, suffice to state that this Court has itself gone in detail into the facts of the case whereby the Court finds that the impugned order is justified. Consequently relegating this matter on the basis of technicality to the competent authority would be a useless formality.

22. In this regard, the Apex Court in the case of M.C.Mehta (supra) has held as under:-

"12. On the above submissions, the following points arise for consideration:

(1) Whether this Court, in exercise of powers under Article 32 (or the High courts, generally under Article 226) is bound to declare an order of government passed in breach of principles of natural justice as void or whether the court can refuse to grant relief on the ground that the facts of the case do not justify exercise of discretion to interfere or because de facto prejudice has not been shown?

(2) Whether the court is not bound under Article 32 (or High Courts under Article 226) to quash an order of government on ground of breach of natural justice if such an action will result in the restoration of an earlier order of government which was also passed in breach of natural justice or which was otherwise illegal?"

15. It is true that, whenever there is a clear violation of principles of natural justice, the Courts can be approached for a declaration that the order is void or for setting aside the same. Here the parties have approached this Court because the orders of the department were consequential to orders of this Court. Question however is whether the Court in exercise of its discretion under Article 32 or Article 226 can refuse to exercise discretion on facts or on the ground that no de facto prejudice is established. On the facts of this case, can this Court not take into consideration the fact that any such declaration regarding the 10.3.1999 order will restore an earlier order dated 30.7.1997 in favour of Bharat Petroleum Corporation which has also been passed without notice to HPCL and that if the order dated 10.3.1999 is set aside as being in breach of natural justice, Bharat Petroleum will be getting two plots rather than one for which it has no right after the passing of the latter order of this Court dated 7.4.98?

16. Courts are not infrequently faced with a dilemma between breach of the rules of natural justice and the Court's discretion to refuse relief even though rules of natural justice have been breached, on the ground that no real prejudice is caused to the affected party.

17. We shall initially refer to two cases where discretion was exercised not to grant relief and the first one was a case where relief was refused even though there was breach of natural justice. The first one is Gadde Venkteswara Rao v. Government of Andhra Pradesh and Ors. MANU/SC/0020/1965 : [1966]2SCR172 . There the Panchayat Samithi, in exercise of its statutory powers passed a resolution on 25.8.1960 to locate a primary health center at Dharmajigudem. Later, it passed another resolution on 29.5.1961 to locate it at Lingapalem. On a representation by villagers of Dharmajigudem, government passed orders on 7.3.1962 setting aside the second resolution dated 29.5,1961 and thereby restoring the earlier resolution dated 25.8.1960. The result was that the health center would continue at Dharmajigudem. Before passing the orders dated 7.3.62, no notice was given to the Panchayat Samithi. This Court traced the said order of the government dated 7.3.1962 to Section 62 of the Act and if that were so, notice to the Samithi under Section 62(1) was mandatory. Later, upon a review petition being filed, government passed another order on 18.4.1963 cancelling its order dated 7.3.62 and accepting the shifting of the primary center to Lingapalem. This was passed without notice to the villagers of Dharmajigudem. This order of the government was challenged unsuccessfully by the villagers of Dharmajigudem in the High Court. On appeal by the said villagers to this Court, it was held that the latter order of the government dated 18.4.1963 suffered from two defects, it was issued by Government without prior show cause notice to the villagers of Dharmajigudem and government had no power of review in respect of government orders passed under Section 62(1). But that there were other facts which disentitled the quashing of the order dated 18.4.63 even though it was passed in breach of principles of natural justice. This Court noticed that the setting aside of the latter order dated. 18.4.63 would restore the earlier order of Government dated 7.3.62 which was also passed without notice to the affected party, namely, the Panchayat Samithi. It would also result in the setting aside of a valid resolution dated 29.5.61 passed by the Panchayat Samithi. This Court refused relief and agreed that the High Court was right in not interfering under Article 226 even if there was violation of natural justice. Subba Rao, J (as he then was) observed (p. 189) as follows:

Both the orders of the government, namely, the order dated March 7, 1962 and that dated April 18, 1963, were not legally passed : the former, because it was made without giving notice to the Panchayat Samithi and the latter, because the Government had no power under Section 72 of the Act to review an Order made under Section 62 of the Act and also because it did not give notice to representatives of Dharmajigudem village.

His Lordship concluded as follows:

In those circumstances, was it a case for the High Court to interfere in its discretion and quash the order of the government dated April 18, 1963? If the High Court had quashed the said order, it would have restored an illegal order it would have given the Health center to a village contrary to the valid resolutions passed by the Panchayat Samithi. The High Court, therefore, in our view, rightly refused to exercise its extraordinary discretionary power in the circumstances of the case.

18. The above case is clear authority for the proposition that it is not always necessary for the Court to strike down an order merely because the order has been passed against the petitioner in breach of the natural justice. The Court can under Article 32 or Article 226 refuse to exercise its discretion of striking down the order if such striking down will result in restoration of another order passed earlier in favour of the petitioner and against the opposite party, in violation of principles of natural justice or is otherwise not in accordance with law"

22. Taking into consideration the aforesaid discussion, no case for interference is made out with the impugned order. The writ petition is dismissed.

2. Dr. Atul Darbari vs. State of U.P. and others- Writ-A No. 10552/2016

(Delivered by Hon'ble Rajesh Singh Chauhan, J.)

1. Heard Sri Upendra Nath Mishra, learned Senior Advocate assisted by Sri Neel Kamal Mishra, learned counsel for the petitioner and Sri Ran Vijay Singh, learned Additional Chief Standing Counsel for the State-respondents.

2. By means of this petition the petitioner has assailed the validity of the order dated 14.10.2019 passed by the respondent no. 1 whereby the inquiry report submitted by the inquiry officer vide letter dated 23.7.2019 has been rejected by the disciplinary authority in a mechanical and routine manner without assigning any valid or cogent reasons and a re-inquiry for the 4th time in a span of 10 years, have been ordered against the petitioner.

3. On the first date of admission this Court passed order dated 21.11.2019 as under :

"Heard Sri Upendra Mishra, learned Senior Counsel assisted by Sri Neel Kamal Mishra, learned counsel for petitioner and learned State Counsel appearing on behalf of opposite parties.

Under challenge is order dated 14.10.2019 whereby inquiry report dated 23.07.2019 submitted in third inquiry proceedings against petitioner have been disbelieved and directions have been issued for holding a fresh inquiry with regard to the same.

Learned counsel for petitioner submits that earlier two inquiries were initiated against petitioner with regard to similar charges. In the first inquiry, petitioner had been exonerated from charges levelled against him on the ground that charges could not be proved against him although recommendation was made by inquiry officer for issuance of fresh charge-sheet to petitioner specifically indicating charges against him. In pursuance of same, a second charge-sheet was issued to petitioner on 08.06.2010 containing similar charges. In the said proceedings, inquiry report were submitted on 18.01.2011 where after punishment order was passed on 19.06.2013.

Said punishment order was challenged by petitioner before the U.P. Public State Service Tribunal in which punishment was quashed granting liberty to authorities for initiating fresh inquiry proceedings against petitioner which was concluded within a period of four months. However it has been submitted that re-inquiry was directed after expiry of period of four months. However the aforesaid inquiry was permitted to be concluded within a further period of three months in petition filed by petitioner.

It has been submitted that in pursuance thereof, third inquiry proceedings on the basis of same charge-sheet ensued and in which the inquiry report dated 23.07.2019 has been submitted which has been rejected by means of order dated 14.10.2019 which is impugned herein.

Learned counsel for petitioner submits that the impugned order ordering re-inquiry has been passed without indicating any reasons for disagreement with the inquiry report and in violation of Rule 9(1) of U.P. Government Servant (Discipline and Appeal) Rules 1999 and various judgments on the said aspect as such it has been submitted that the order impugned is clearly non-speaking in nature and indicates non-application of mind by authority concerned.

Learned State Counsel seeks time to obtain instructions in this matter.

Prima facie, the submissions advanced by learned counsel for petitioner require consideration since a perusal of order impugned does not indicate any reasons or disagreement being recorded by the authority concerned.

As such opposite parties are granted three days' time to seek instructions.

List on 28.11.2019 as a fresh case in the additional cause list. On the said date, learned State Counsel shall also produce the inquiry report submitted vide letter dated 23.07.2019."

4. In compliance of the aforesaid order Sri Ran Vijay Singh has produced the copy of the letter dated 27.11.2019 preferred by Special Secretary of the Department addressed to the Chief Standing Counsel, High Court, Lucknow Bench, Lucknow enclosing therewith the copy of the inquiry report dated 18.7.2018 submitted on 23.7.2019, the same are taken on record. The findings of the inquiry officer reveals that the charge no. 1 has, however, not proved against the petitioner but he has been held responsible for supervisory control. Charge nos. 2,3 and 4 has not been proved against the petitioner. It appears that this is a detailed inquiry report which runs in 23 pages.

5. Considering the stand of the department, evidences of the department and the submission of the petitioner this is a peculiar case wherein the third inquiry has been conducted and concluded against the petitioner for the reasons indicated in the order dated 21.11.2019 passed by this Court. It would be apt to reproduce Rule 9 of the U.P. Government Servant (Discipline and Appeal) Rules, 1999 as under :

"9. Action on Inquiry Report. - (1) The disciplinary authority may, for reasons to be recorded in writing, remit the case for re-inquiry to the same or any other Inquiry Officer under intimation to the charged Government servant. The Inquiry Officer shall thereupon proceed to hold the inquiry from such stage as directed by the disciplinary authority, according to the provisions of Rule 7.(2) The disciplinary authority shall, if it disagrees with the findings of the Inquiry Officer on any charge, record its own findings thereon for reasons to be recorded.(3) In case the charges are not proved, the charged Government servant shall be exonerated by the disciplinary authority of the charges and inform him accordingly;(4) If the disciplinary authority having regard to its findings on all or any of charges is of the opinion that any penalty specified in Rule 3 should be imposed on the charged Government servant, he shall give a copy of the inquiry report and his findings recorded under sub-rule (2) to the charged Government servant and require him to submit his representation if he so desires, within a reasonable specified time. The disciplinary authority shall, having regard to all the relevant records relating to the inquiry and representation of the charged Government servant, if any, and subject to the provisions of Rule 16 of these rules, pass a reasoned order imposing one or more penalties mentioned in Rule 3 of these rules and communicate the same to the charged Government servant."

6. Rule 9(1) clearly mandates that the disciplinary authority may, for the reasons to be recorded in writing, remit case for re-inquiry to the same, meaning thereby if the disciplinary authority remits the matter for re-inquiry the reasons to that effect must be recorded. What the impugned order dated 14.10.2019 reveals that no reasons as such has been explained and only this much has been indicated that the inquiry officer has conducted the inquiry in a cursory manner. For the brevity the impugned order dated 14.10.2019 is being reproduced as under:

7. Para 4 of the impugned order is satisfaction of the disciplinary authority which is against Rule 1 of the Disciplinary Rules, 1999. The disciplinary authority must have indicated the specific reasons as to why he is not agreeable with the findings of the inquiry officer and what are the flaws and lapses in the inquiry report which convinced him to issue direction for re-inquiry. Therefore, the subjective satisfaction of the disciplinary authority is not in conformity with Rule 9(1) of the Rules, 1999. The Division Bench of this Court in the identical facts and circumstances has passed the judgment and order dated 5.4.2016 i Writ-A No. 10552/2016 (Dr. Atul Darbari vs. State of U.P. and others) allowing the said writ petitions quashing the impugned order directing the disciplinary authority to pass appropriate order on the basis of inquiry report. Para 5 of the said judgment indicates the impugned order of that writ petition dated 4.2.2016 and paras 8,13,16,17,19,20,22,23,25,27,28,29 clarifies the factual and legal matrix of the issue, therefore, for the brevity the impugned order of that writ petition dated 4.2.2016 and other relevant paras are being reproduced as under :

8. Be that as it may, the question is whether the disciplinary authority could have resorted to such a practice of abandoning the Inquiry already undertaken and resort to appointment of a fresh enquiring officer.

13. The controversy in hand has been subjected to detailed scrutiny by a Constitution Bench of the Supreme Court in K. R. Deb V/s. the Collector of Central Excise, Shillong AIR 1971 SC 1447 in which Hon'ble Apex Court has proceeded to examine the question in the context of Rule 15 (1) Rule 15(1) of the Central Civil Services (Classification, Control and Appeal) Rules, 1957. It was a case where an enquiry was ordered against a sub-Inspector, Central Excise. The inquiry officer held that the charge was not proved. Thereafter the disciplinary authority appointed another inquiry officer "to conduct a supplementary open inquiry". Such supplementary inquiry was conducted and a report that there was "no conclusive proof" to "establish the charge" was made. Not satisfied, the disciplinary authority thought it fit that "another inquiry officer should be appointed to inquire afresh into the charge". In K.K. Deb's case (supra) Hon'ble Supreme Court observed that an Enquiry Officer may be asked by the Disciplinary Authority to record further evidence if there had been no proper enquiry because of some serious defect or because some important witnesses were not examined. The Court categorically held therein that the previous enquiry could not be set aside on the ground that the report of the Enquiry Officer did not appeal to the disciplinary Authority. Relevant paragraphs 12 and 13 of the judgement are reproduced hereinafter:-

"12. It seems to us that Rule 15, on the face of it, really provides for one inquiry but it may be possible if in a particular case there has been no proper enquiry because some serious defect has crept into the inquiry or some important witnesses were not available at the time of the inquiry or for some other reason, the Disciplinary Authority may ask the Inquiry Officer to record further evidence. But there is no provision in Rule 15 for completely setting aside previous inquiries on the ground that the report of the Inquiring Officer or Officers does not appeal to the Disciplinary Authority. The Disciplinary Authority has enough powers to reconsider the evidence itself and come to its own conclusion under Rule 9.

13. In our view the rules do not contemplate an action such as was taken by the Collector on February 13, 1962. It seems to us that the Collector, instead of taking responsibility himself, was determined to get some officer to report against the appellant. The procedure adopted was not only not warranted by the rules but was harassing to the appellant."

16. It appears that the respondent no.1 dissatisfied with such earlier enquiry reports, ordered a de novo enquiry under the impugned order dated 4.2.2016 and appointed Shri Rudra Kumar Gupta, Special Secretary, Labour Department, Government of UP as Enquiry Officer. This practice of the respondent no.1 in carelessly and callously discarding enquiry reports, which are not to its liking and ordering for denovo enquiry without even disclosing the reasons, which weighed with it for rejecting the findings of the previous enquiry Officer, is a clear transgression of the law and requires to be deprecated in the strongest terms.

17. In Union of India V/s. M. L. Capoor and others AIR 1974 SC 87, the Supreme Court observed:

"28. . . . Reasons are the links between the materials on which certain conclusions are based and the actual conclusions. They disclose how the mind is applied to the subject matter for a decision whether it is purely administrative or quasi-judicial. They should reveal a rational nexus between the facts considered and the conclusions reached. Only in this way can opinions or decisions recorded be shown to be manifestly just and reasonable. . . . "

19. 'Reasons' are the milestones which chart the journey of the 'decision-maker' in reaching his destination. Absence of reasons thus leaves the decision-making process without a rudder and open to arbitrariness. Viewed in this light, the approach of respondent no.1 in instituting denovo enquiry by appointing Enquiry Officer afresh without even setting aside the findings recorded by the earlier Enquiry Officer, giving due reasons therefore, is clearly unsustainable in law.

20. In the present matter, it has been urged that the impugned order is in teeth of Rules 8 and 9 of Rules 1999. For ready reference, Rules 8 and 9 of Rules 1999 are extracted:-

"8. Procedure for imposing major penalties - (1) No order imposing any of the major penalties specified in Rule 6 shall be made except after an inquiry is held as far as may be, in the manner provided in this rule and Rule 10, or, provided by the Public Servants (Inquiries) Act, 1850 (37 of 1850) where such inquiry is held under that Act.

(2) Whenever the disciplinary authority is of the opinion that there are grounds for inquiring into the truth of any imputation of misconduct or misbehaviour against a member of the Service, it may appoint under this rule or under the provisions of the Public Servants (Inquiries) Act, 1850, as the case may be, an authority to inquire into the truth thereof.

(3) Where a Board is appointed as the inquiring authority it shall consist of not less than two senior officers provided that at least one member of such a Board shall be an officer of the service to which the member of the service belongs.

9. Action on Inquiry Report.-- (1) The Disciplinary Authority may, for reasons to be recorded in writing, remit the case for re-inquiry to the same or any other Inquiry Officer under intimation tot he charged Government servant. The Inquiry Officer shall thereupon proceed to hold the inquiry from such stage as directed by the Disciplinary Authority, according to the provisions of Rule 7.

(2) The Disciplinary Authority shall, if it disagrees with the findings of the Inquiry Officer on any charge, record its own findings thereon for reasons to be recorded.

(3) In case the charges are not proved, the charged Government servant shall be exonerated the Disciplinary Authority of the charges and informed him accordingly.

(4) If the Disciplinary Authority, having regard to its findings on all or any of charges is of the opinion that any penalty specified in Rule 3 should be imposed on the charged Government servant, he shall give a copy of the inquiry report and his findings recorded under sub-rule (2) to the charged Government servant and require him to submit his representation if he so desires, within a reasonable specified time. The Disciplinary Authority shall, having regard to all the relevant records relating to the inquiry and representation of the charged Government servant, if any, and subject to the provisions of Rule 16 of these rules, pass a reasoned speaking order imposing one or more penalties mentioned in Rule 3 of these rules and communicate the same to the charged Government servant."

22. Rule 9 prescribes action on the enquiry report. Rule 9 (1) provides that the Disciplinary Authority may, for reasons to be recorded in writing, remit the case for re-inquiry to the same or any other Inquiry Officer under intimation to the charged Government servant. The Inquiry Officer shall thereupon proceed to hold the inquiry from such stage as directed by the Disciplinary Authority, according to the provisions of Rule 7. Rule 9 (2) provides that the Disciplinary Authority shall, if it disagrees with the findings of the enquiry Inquiry Officer on any charge, record its own findings thereon for reasons to be recorded. Rule 9 (3) provides that in case the charges are not proved, the charged Government servant shall be exonerated the Disciplinary Authority of the charges and informed him accordingly. Rule 9 (4) provides that If the Disciplinary Authority, having regard to its finding on all or any of charges is of the opinion that any penalty specified in Rule 3 should be imposed on the charged Government Servant, he shall give a copy of the inquiry report and his finding recorded under sub-rule (2) of Rule 9 to the charged Government Servant and require him to submit his representation if he so desires, within a reasonable specified time. The Disciplinary Authority shall having regard to all the relevant records relating to the inquiry and representation of the charged Government Servant, if any, and subject to the provisions of Rule 16 of these rules, passes a reasoned order imposing one or more penalties mentioned in Rule 3 of these and communicate the same to the charged Government Servant.

23. It can be seen from the above that the normal rule is that there can be only one enquiry. Hon'ble Apex Court has also recognized the possibility of a further enquiry in certain circumstances enumerated therein. The decision, however, makes it clear that the fact, that the report submitted by the enquiring authority is not acceptable to the disciplinary authority, is not a ground for completely setting aside the enquiry report and ordering a fresh denovo enquiry. Therefore, we are of the considered opinion that the principle laid down in K.R. Deb's case, would squarely apply to the case in hand.

25. In our opinion, on general principles, there can be only one enquiry in respect of charges for a particular misconduct and that is also what the Rules usually provide. If, for some technical or other good ground, procedural or otherwise the first enquiry or punishment or exoneration is found bad in law, there is no principle that a second enquiry cannot be initiated. Therefore, when a completed enquiry proceedings is set aside by a competent forum on a technical or on the ground of procedural infirmity, fresh proceedings on the same charges is permissible.

27. A bare perusal of the order impugned and the record in question this much is accepted position that at no point of time the disciplinary authority had proceeded to give any reason for disagreeing with the earlier enquiry reports in question. Therefore, in these circumstances there is no justification for conducting a second enquiry on the very same charges. Law is clear on the subject, and permits only disciplinary proceedings and same cannot be approved as harassment and allowing such practice is not in the interest of public service. Same view has also been approved by Hon'ble Apex Court in Nand Kumar Verma vs. State of Jharkhand and others (2012) 3 SCC 580 and Vijay Shankar Pandey vs. Union of India and another (2014) 10 SCC 589.

28. We, therefore, have no hesitation in holding that the impugned order dated 4.2.2016 for denovo/ a fresh enquiry against the petitioner on the same charges, which were subject matter of the enquiry reports dated 29.9.2014 and 14.10.2014, is illegal and arbitrary; and hence, is liable to be set aside. The impugned order dated 4.2.2016 is consequently set aside.

29. The writ petition is accordingly allowed and the respondent no.1 is directed to take appropriate decision in the light of the enquiry reports dated 29.9.2014 and 14.10.2014 within a period of two months from the date of production of a certified copy of this order before him. There shall be no order as to costs."

8. Not only the above Hon'ble Apex Court in re: Vijay Shankar Pandey vs. Union of India and another reported in (2014)10 Supreme Court Cases 589, vide para 32 has explained the word 'cursory'. As per the view of Hon'ble Apex Court indicating the word that the inquiry officer has made inquiry in cursory manner would not suffice but as to how the findings of the inquiry officer are cursory should be explained. Para 32 is being reproduced as under :

"32. Coming to the first reason- that the report is a cursory report. A copy of the report is not made available to the appellant. The content of the said report is not known. The only admitted fact about the report is that the appellant was exonerated of all the charges made against him. If such a conclusion is otherwise justified, whether the report is cursory or elaborate, should make no difference to the legality of the report. What matters is the correctness of the conclusions recorded, not the length or the elegance of the language of the report which determines the legality of the conclusions recorded in it. Therefore, this ground is equally untenable."

9. Sri Ran Vijay Singh has however, tried to justify the office memo dated 14.10.2019 by submitting that the disciplinary authority has found that the inquiry officer has conducted cursory inquiry, therefore, the direction for re-inquiry may be issued as this is the domain and prerogative of the disciplinary authority but on being confronted in the light of the dictum of Hon'ble Apex Court in re: Vijay Shankar Pandey (supra) wherein the term 'cursory' has been explained and defined, Sri Ran Vijay Singh has nothing to defend. Further, on being confronted regarding the judgment in re: Dr. Atul Darbari (supra) wherein the similar facts and circumstances have been considered by the Division Bench of this Court and the said matter was allowed considering the various judgments of Hon'ble Apex Court besides the judgment of Constitution Bench of Hon'ble Supreme Court in re: K.R Deb's (supra), Sri Ran Vijay Singh could not properly justify the office memo dated 14.10.2019 whereby the direction of re-inquiry has been issued that too 4th time in a span of 10 years.

10. Considering the rival submissions of learned counsel for the parties and considering the relevant material available on record viz. a viz. the dictum of Hon'ble Apex Court and the Division Bench of this Court in the case of Dr. Atul Darbari (supra) I am of the considered opinion that the office memo dated 14.10.2019 is illegal, arbitrary and uncalled for and liable to be quashed. I have also no hesitation in holding that impugned order dated 14.10.2019 for de-novo and fresh inquiry against the petitioner by the authorities which were subject matter of inquiry report dated 18.7.2017 is illegal and arbitrary.

11. Therefore, a writ in the nature of certiorari is issued quashing the office memo dated 14.10.2019 passed by the opposite party no. 1, Annexure no. 1 to the writ petition.

12. A writ in the nature of mandamus is issued directing the disciplinary authority to take appropriate decision in the light of the inquiry report dated 18.7.2019 within a period of two months from the date of production of the certified copy of the order of this Court.

13. Writ petition is allowed.

14. No order as to costs.

A. Civil Law - Employees' Provident Funds and Miscellaneous Provisions Act, 1952 – Section 7A and 7I – Employees' Provident Fund Appellate Tribunal (Procedure) Rules, 1997 – Rule 7 – Limitation – Appeal may be preferred within 60 days from the date of issue of the order, provided that the Tribunal may, if it is satisfied that the appellant was prevented by sufficient cause from preferring the appeal within the prescribed period, extend the said period by a further period of 60 days. (Para 30)

Held –37. The time limit is prescribed by the rule making authority for filing an appeal and also the extended period having been provided, and no further extension thereof having been envisaged or contemplated, the Appellate Authority could not have granted any further extension. In view of the aforesaid, the order passed by the Appellate Authority recording its conclusion that the appeal was filed beyond the statutory period of limitation, cannot be faulted with.

B. Limitation Act, 1963 – Applicability – Principle of implied exclusion of Act, 1963 by Special law – EPF Act, 1952 is a special law – In terms of the rules framed thereunder a certain period of limitation for filing an appeal having been provided for in clear terms and a further provision having been made for extension of such period only upto a specified time period and no further, the Appellate Tribunal would have no jurisdiction to treat within limitation, an appeal filed before it beyond such maximum time limit specified in terms of the statutory rules – The provisions contained under the Act, 1963 would therefore not be applicable for seeking extension of time beyond the statutory time period of 60 days from the date of issue of the notification/order, extendable by a further period of 60 days. (Para 31 & 32)

C. Interpretation of statute – Where the statute confers power on the authority to condone the delay only to a limited extent the same cannot be stretched or extended beyond what has been provided under the statute. (Para 33)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Dr. Yogendra Kumar Srivastava, J.)

1. Heard Sri Pradip Kumar Srivastava, learned counsel for the petitioners, Sri Mata Prasad, learned Standing Counsel appearing for the first respondent, Sri Brijesh Kumar, learned counsel for the second respondent and Sri Jagdish Pathak, learned counsel appearing for the third respondent.

2. The present writ petition has been filed seeking to assail the order dated 28.12.2019 passed by the third respondent/Assistant Provident Fund Commissioner Regional Office, Meerut in proceedings under Section 7-A of the Employees' Provident Funds and Miscellaneous Provisions Act, 19521 and also the order dated 15.07.2019 passed by the fourth respondent/Presiding Officer Central Government Industrial Tribunal-cum-Labour Court, Kanpur whereunder the appeal filed thereagainst has been rejected on the ground of delay.

3. The records of the case reflect that in proceedings for assessment of dues for the period 08/2012 to 12/2012, under Section 7-A of the EPF Act, 1952, an order dated 28.12.2018 was passed determining an amount against the petitioners.

4. A writ petition, Writ-C No.5308 of 2019, was filed seeking quashing of the aforementioned order dated 28.12.2018 which was dismissed on 18.02.2019 with liberty to the petitioners to avail the statutory remedy of appeal. Thereafter, the petitioners preferred an appeal before the fourth respondent, registered as Appeal No.06 of 2019 which has been dismissed vide order dated 15.07.2019 on the ground that the appeal is barred by time and has been filed after "60 days + 60 days" from the date of passing of the order dated 28.12.2018.

5. Contention of the counsel for the petitioners is that the delay in filing of the appeal having been caused due to wrong advice of the counsel and lack of communication of the order dated 18.02.2019 passed by the High Court, the delay ought to have been condoned, and the Appellate Authority has illegally rejected the appeal on the ground of delay. It is also contended that the benefit of extension of prescribed period under Section 5 of the Limitation Act, 19632 and of exclusion of time under Section 14 thereof, would be available to the petitioners and therefore the limitation in filing an appeal ought to have been extended.

6. Sri Jagdish Pathak, learned counsel appearing for the third respondent has submitted that as per the provisions of Section 7-I of the EPF Act, 1952 read with Rule 7 of the Employees' Provident Fund Appellate Tribunal (Procedure) Rules, 19973 the limitation for filing of an appeal is 60 days from the date of issuance of the order with a further discretion to the Tribunal to extend the prescribed period by a further time period of 60 days upon recording its satisfaction that the appellant was prevented by sufficient cause from preferring appeal within the prescribed period. It is submitted that the maximum period for filing of the appeal is "60 days + 60 days" from the date of issuance of the order and there is no power conferred on the Appellate Authority to condone the delay beyond the said time period.

7. The question which thus falls for consideration is as to whether the provisions of the Limitation Act, 1963 would be applicable so as to extend the period of limitation prescribed for filing an appeal under Section 7-I of the EPF Act, 1952 read with Rule 7 of the Rules, 1997 which provides for a period of 60 days for filing an appeal with a provision for extension of the said time period by a further period of 60 days.

8. In order to appreciate the rival contentions the relevant statutory provision with regard to filing of appeal under Section 7-I of the EPF Act, 1952 may be adverted to:-

"7-I. Appeals to Tribunal.--(1) Any person aggrieved by a notification issued by the Central Government, or an order passed by the Central Government or any authority, under the proviso to sub-section (3), or sub-section (4), of Section 1, or Section 3, or sub-section (1) of Section 7-A, or Section 7-B(except an order rejecting an application for review referred to in sub-section (5) thereof), or Section 7-C, or Section 14-B, may prefer an appeal to a Tribunal against such notification or order.

(2) Every appeal under sub-section (1) shall be filed in such form and manner, within such time and be accompanied by such fees, as may be prescribed."

9. The power to make rules including the power to make rules in respect of the form and the manner in which, and the time within which, an appeal shall be filed before a Tribunal and the fees payable for filing such appeal is provided for under Section 21 of the EPF Act, 1952. The relevant provision is being extracted below:-

"21. Power to make Rules.--(1) The Central Government may, by notification in the Official Gazette, make rules to carry out the provisions of this Act.

(2) Without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing power, such rules may provide for all or any of the following matters namely:-

x x x x x

(b) the form and the manner in which, and the time within which, an appeal shall be filed before a Tribunal and the fees payable for filing such appeal."

10. In exercise of powers conferred under sub-section (1) of Section 21 of Act No.19 of 1952 "The Employees Provident Fund Appellate Tribunal (Procedure) Rules, 1997" have been made. The procedure including the time period for filing an appeal is provided under Rule 7 of the aforementioned Rules, 1997.

"7. Fee, time for filing appeal, deposit of amount due on filing appeal.-- (1) Every appeal filed with the Registrar shall be accompanied by a fee of Rupees five hundred to be remitted in the form of Crossed Demand Draft on a nationalized bank in favour of the Registrar of the Tribunal and payable at the main branch of that Bank at the station where the seat of the said Tribunal situate.

(2) Any person aggrieved by a notification issued by the Central Government or an order passed by the Central Government or any other authority under the Act, may within 60 days from the date of issue of the notification/order, prefer an appeal to the Tribunal:

Provided that the Tribunal may if it is satisfied that the appellant was prevented by sufficient cause from preferring the appeal within the prescribed period, extend the said period by a further period of 60 days:

Provided further that no appeal by the employer shall be entertained by a Tribunal unless he has deposited with the Tribunal (a Demand Draft payable in the Fund and bearing) 75 per cent of the amount due from him as determined under Section 7-A:

Provided also that the Tribunal may for reasons to be recorded in writing, waive or reduce the amount to be deposited under Section 7-O."

11. A plain reading of the aforementioned statutory provisions indicates that in terms of sub-section (2) of Section 7-I every appeal under sub-section (1) is to be filed in such form and manner, within such time and is to be accompanied by such fees, as may be prescribed. Further, Rule 7 of the Rules, 1997 provides that the appeal may be preferred within 60 days from the date of issue of the order, provided that the Tribunal may, if it is satisfied that the appellant was prevented by sufficient cause from preferring the appeal within the prescribed period, extend the said period by a further period of 60 days.

12. It is seen that the initial period for filing of appeal is 60 days which can be extended by the EPF Appellate Tribunal for another 60 days only when there is sufficient cause and not otherwise. In this regard, reference may be made to the judgment in the case of M/s Port Shramik Co-operative Enterprises Ltd. Vs. Employees Provident Fund Organisation4. The relevant observations made in the judgment are as follows:-

"3. ...The period of limitation for filing an appeal against an order passed under Section 7-A or Section 14-B of the Employees' Provident Funds and Miscellaneous Provisions Act is 60 days. If the appellant satisfies the Tribunal that it was prevented by sufficient cause from not filing the appeal within the said period of 60 days, in appropriate case, the Tribunal has the power to condone the delay of another 60 days. Thus, even if the Tribunal wanted to condone the delay it could not condone it beyond a period of 60 days."

13. In the case of Assistant Regional Provident Fund Commissioner, Meerut Vs. Employees Provident Fund Appellate Tribunal & Ors.5, an appeal to the Appellate Tribunal was filed after 165 days from the date of the order of the EPF Authority and the delay was condoned by the Appellate Authority in view of the provisions under Section 5 of the Act, 1963. Upon a challenge being raised the order condoning the delay was set aside and it was held that when the period of 60 days was provided under Rule 7(2) and a further period of 60 days for condoning the delay is allowed under the proviso to the said rule only then that much period could be condoned. It was held that applicability of Section 5 of the Act, 1963 was specifically excluded. The relevant observations made in the judgment are as follows:-

"8. ...On behalf of the Assistant Provident Fund Commissioner before the Tribunal, a preliminary objection was raised to the effect that the appeal is barred by time. The appeal was preferred after more than 160 days and the Tribunal had no jurisdiction to condone the delay beyond 60 days. The appeal was presented on 11.1.1999 though the order dated 10.7.1998 was received by the appellant on 20.7.1998. Thus it took 165 days in preferring the appeal. In view of the provisions contained in Section 7-I(2) of the Act read with Rule 7(2) of the Rules, the appeal was required to be preferred within 60 days to the Tribunal. It was submitted that the Tribunal on being satisfied that the appellant was prevented by sufficient cause in preferring the appeal within the prescribed period of 60 days, may extend the said period by a further period of 60 days and thus in all the appeal was required to be preferred maximum within a period of 120 days and not beyond that.

11. It is in view of the aforesaid provisions, it was contended that the appeal was hopelessly time barred and after the period of 60 days granted for preferring an appeal, if there is a delay of 60 days then such delay can be condoned and no further.

12. The Tribunal expressed an opinion that the power of the Tribunal to condone the delay under Section 5 of the Indian Limitation Act, 1963, is not curtailed by the Legislature..Therefore, the provisions under the Employees' Provident Funds Appellate Tribunal (Procedure) Rules, 1997, only to condone a delay of 60 days is ultra vires and is void. Therefore, it held that the Tribunal has jurisdiction to condone any delay, if it is satisfactorily explained…

13. Learned counsel for the Company submitted that sub-clause (b) of sub-section (1) of Section 21 provides the rule making authority to prescribe time limit within which an appeal shall be filed before the Tribunal. Legislature only authorized the rule making authority to make a provision for prescribing a period for preferring an appeal, however, the rule also provided a further period of 60 days by proviso to sub-rule (2) of Rule 7 of the Rules. In view of this, it was contended that proviso is ultra vires the provisions contained in the Act. It was further submitted that if the proviso is ultra vires the provisions contained in the Act, then the Limitation Act, 1963 will apply. In the submission of learned counsel for the Company, the Tribunal has rightly held that the law of limitation is applicable. It was submitted that Section 7-I of the Act, if read it becomes very clear that sub-section (2) of Section 7-I also refers such time within which the appeal is to be filed.

14. The Act is a labour legislation wherein provision is made for provident funds to be deposited by the employer. Section 7-D to 7-H provide for the Appellate Tribunal, the term of the office of the Presiding Officer of Tribunal, salary, allowances and other terms and conditions of Presiding Officer and the staff of the Tribunal. Section 7-I provides for appeals to the Tribunal. The Chapter further provides procedure before the Tribunal, assistance of a legal practitioner, right of hearing or rectification of an order, finality of orders of the Tribunal, deposit of amount due on filing an appeal, transfer of cases, the manner of recovery, recovery certificate, validity of the certificate and such other things. It provides penalties, offences by companies, enhanced punishment in certain cases and offences under the Act to be cognizable. It also provides the Court which shall try the offences. Thus a special mechanism is indicated in the Act itself.

15. With a view to see that the proceedings are disposed of as early as possible, it was left by the Legislature to fix "such time" for preferring an appeal. Section 21(2)(b) refers to the time within which an appeal shall be filed and in view of this it was submitted that in absence of any power, it was not open to prescribe a specific period for condonation of delay in sub-rule (2) of Rule 7 of the Act in exercise of the powers conferred under sub-section (1) of Section 21 of the Act.

16. The Legislature left it open to the rule making authority to prescribe time for preferring an appeal. However, at the same time the rule making authority while prescribing the period of limitation for preferring an appeal also provided a period during which if there is a delay, the same can be condoned if the Tribunal is satisfied that the appellant was prevented by sufficient cause from preferring the appeal within the prescribed period. However, the limitation was placed that that can be done if there is a delay of a further period of 60 days.

17. In our opinion, it cannot be said that the rule making authority has exceeded its limit while prescribing the period of limitation. Like the provisions in other statutes for condoning the delay, the rule making authority thought it fit to provide some period if there is a sufficient cause and the Tribunal is satisfied that the applicant was prevented from preferring the appeal on such cause to extend the period of limitation. This provision is an enabling provision. It does not take away the right of a person of preferring an appeal but on the contrary it enables a party who could not prefer an appeal within the prescribed period for sufficient reasons. However, at the same time, keeping in mind that that provision is made for a weaker section, disputes must be resolved at the earliest, therefore, restricted the period, i.e. that if the delay is of 60 days then to that extent delay can be condoned. Therefore, in our opinion, the provision cannot be said to be ultra vires of the provisions of the Act as the provision for condonation of delay is made to help the litigant who might be facing genuine difficulties. It is difficult to say that the proviso to sub-rule (2) of Rule 7 is bad. If that is declared as bad or ultra vires Section 7-I or Section 21(1)(b) of the Act, it can be said that the period of limitation prescribed is bad for want of not providing extended period in case of difficulty.

18. It is required to be noted that in case of Delta Impex v. Commissioner of Customs, decided on 13.2.2004, this Court had an occasion to examine the question raised by the applicant which reads as under:

"Whether the provision of Section 128 of the Customs Act, 1962 completely bars the Commissioner (Appeals) from condoning the delay beyond the period of 30 days even in a deserving case and that despite the order made by the Commissioner (Appeals) is it incumbent upon the Tribunal to consider the appeal on merits?"

19. There also it was submitted that considering the provisions contained in section 29(2) of the Indian Limitation Act, 1963 (hereinafter referred to as 'the Limitation Act') read with section 5 thereof, irrespective of the fact that the matter was under the Customs Act, the appellate authority ought to have condoned the delay, examined the matter on merits and it could not have dismissed the appeal on the ground that the Commissioner (Appeals) can only condone the delay, if an appeal is presented within a period of 30 days after the statutory period of 60 days in view of section 128 of the Act.

20. In case of Collector of C.E. Chandigarh v. Doaba Co-operative Sugar Mills, Supreme Court pointed out that the authorities functioning under the Act are bound by the provision of the Act. If the proceedings are taken under the Act by the Department, the provisions of limitation prescribed in the Act will prevail. In the case of Miles India Limited v. Assistant Collector of Customs, the Court observed that the Customs Authorities acting under the Act were not justified in disallowing the claim as they were bound by the period of limitation provided there in the relevant provisions of the Customs Act, 1962.

21. The Court in the aforesaid case pointed out that the period of limitation prescribed by the Act for filing an application being different from the period prescribed under the Limitation Act, by virtue of Section 29(2) of the said Act, it shall be deemed as if the period prescribed by the different Act is the period prescribed by the schedule to the Limitation Act. However, it would be difficult to say that section 5 of the Limitation Act is intended to be made applicable in view of the proviso to section 128 of the Customs Act.

22. The Court is required to examine the scheme of the special law, and the nature of the remedy provided therein. Considering these aspects, the Court will have to find out whether the Legislature intended to provide a complete code by itself which along should govern the matters provided by it. On examination of the relevant provisions, if it becomes clear that the provisions of section 5 of the Limitation Act are necessarily excluded, then the said provisions cannot be called in aid to supplement the provisions of the Act. It is open to the Court to examine whether and to what extent the nature of the provisions contained in the Limitation Act in comparison with the scheme of the special law are excluded from operation. When a specific period is provided and a further period of 60 days by way of extended period only then that much period can be condoned.

23. In the instant case, a separate period of limitation is provided, as also the period for which delay can be condoned. The Legislature was aware about the provisions contained in section 5 of the Limitation Act, yet with an intention to curb the delay in labour matters, Legislature left it to the Rule making authority to make a provision for limitation. Rule making authority under the Statute has specifically provided that after the statutory period, if there is delay of 60 days, on showing sufficient grounds for delay of 60 days, that can be condoned. Thus applicability of section 5 of the Limitation Act is specifically excluded.

24. The expression "expressly excluded" in sub-section (2) of section 29 of the Limitation Act means an exclusion by express words, i.e. by express reference and not exclusion as a result of logical process of reasoning. In the instant case, there is no question of implied exclusion but, it specifically provides a different period of limitation, as also the period during which, if delay has occurred, it could be condoned.

25. With regard to the applicability of sections 4 to 24 of the Limitation Act (inclusive) one will have to refer to sub-section (2) of section 29 of the Limitation Act, 1963. It specifically states that these provisions shall apply only so far as and to the extent to which, they are not expressly excluded by special or local law. Reading the language of Rule 7 of the Rules and section 5 of the Limitation Act, it is very clear that extension of time for a period 60 days only can be condoned subject to satisfaction and not beyond that. From an examination of Rule 7 of the Rules, it is very clear that section 5 of the Limitation Act is expressly excluded as a specific provision is made in Rule 7.

38. In the instant case, there is clear intention of the Legislature for asking the rule making authority to prescribe the time during which an appeal shall be filed. When the time is to be prescribed, it is open for the rule making authority to prescribe extended period also. If the extended period is provided, the provisions would not become bad or ultra vires the provisions contained in the Act, as it is only an enabling provision.

39. It is also clear that an opinion was expressed before the Legislature, that in the opinion of the Government the provision should be made for granting provident fund facilities not only to the employees in industrial establishments, but also to the employees in commercial and other undertakings. An assurance was given that the Government would take appropriate measures. It is thereafter the Act came to be enacted. Reading the provisions contained in the Act, it covers large number of employees. Employer, as indicated in the Act, has to make contributions to the fund in the manner indicated in section 6. Section 7-A of the Act empowers the authority to decide a dispute about the applicability of the Act if raised and to determine the amount due from any employer, as indicated in sub-clause (b) of sub-section (1) of section 7-

A of the Act. The officer empowered to conduct an inquiry under sub-section (2) of section 7-A of the Act in this behalf having the powers as are vested in Code under the Civil Procedure Code, 1908 for trying a suit in respect of the matters indicated therein. How the order is to be reviewed is indicated under section 7-B. Section 7-C refers to determination of escaped amount. An order made by authority was challenged before the Appellate Tribunal known as "Employees Provident Funds Appellate Tribunal". Thus it is a special statute to determine the liability of employer to make his contribution and to pass further orders by the authorities which are to be examined by the Tribunal in case of an appeal. It is in this background the provisions of the Act are to be examined.

40. Considering the language of the Act and the rules, the Scheme, which is meant for weaker section and from the intention of the Legislature, it is clear that the Legislature left it to the Rule making authority to prescribe the time by specifically referring that an appeal under sub-section (1) shall be filed within such time as also specifically referring in section 21 about the form and the time within which an appeal shall be filed. It is clear that the Legislature left it to the Rule Making Authority to prescribe total period during which an appeal can be filed, which includes extended period. This being an enabling provision and in consonance with the provision contained in the Act cannot be said to be ultra vires the provisions contained in the Act."

14. In the aforementioned case of Assistant Regional Provident Fund Commissioner, Meerut (supra) reference was made to the judgment in the case of Mohd. Ashfaq Vs. State Transport Appellate Tribunal U.P. & Ors.6, where in the context of the provisions under the Motor Vehicles Act, 1939, it was held as follows:-

"8. ...This clearly means that if the application for renewal is beyond time by more than 15 days, the Regional Transport Authority shall not be entitled to entertain it, or in other words, it shall have no power to condone the delay. There is thus an express provision in sub-section (3) that delay in making an application for renewal shall be condonable only if it is of not more than 15 days and that expressly excludes the applicability of Section 5 in cases where an application for renewal is delayed by more than 15 days…"

15. Rule 7(2) of the Rules, 1997 again came up for consideration in the case of Dr. A.V. Joseph Vs. Assistant Provident Fund Commissioner & Anr.7 and it was held that the maximum period for filing an appeal is only 120 days from the date of the impugned order. The relevant observations made in the judgment are as follows:-

"10. Section 7-I(2) of the Act provides that every Appeal under sub-section (1) shall be filed in such form and manner, within such time and be accompanied by such fees, as may be prescribed. Rule 7(2) of the Employees' Provident Funds Appellate Tribunal (Procedure) Rules, 1997 states that any person aggrieved by a notification issued by the Central Government or an order passed by the Central Government or any other authority under the Act, may within 60 days from the date of issue of the notification/order, prefer an appeal to the Tribunal. The 'first proviso' thereunder further stipulates that the Tribunal may, if it is satisfied that the appellant was prevented by sufficient cause from preferring the Appeal within the prescribed period, extend the said period by a further period of 60 days. In short, the maximum period for filing the Appeal is only 120 days from the date of the impugned proceedings/order (60+60). When the statute confers the power on the Authority to condone the delay only to a limited extent, it can never be widened by any Court contrary to the intention of the law makers…"

16. In the case of C.B. Sharma Vs. Employees' Provident Funds Appellate Tribunal & Ors.8, the appeal filed nine months after the date of the order passed by the Commissioner was dismissed and the challenge raised to the order passed by the Tribunal was turned down with the following observations:-

"9. In terms of the rule, period of 60 days has been provided for filing the appeal before the Tribunal. For sufficient reasons the Tribunal can extend the period for further 60 days. Once the petitioner undisputedly had the knowledge of the order passed by the Commissioner on 16.2.2009, the appeal filed nine months thereafter had rightly been dismissed by the Tribunal as time barred."

17. The question as to whether the Appellate Tribunal was vested with any power to condone the delay in filing the appeal beyond the prescribed period again came up for consideration in the case of Saint Soldier Modern Senior Secondary School Vs. Regional Provident Fund Commissioner9 and it was held that there was no such power with the Appellate Tribunal. The observations made in the judgment are as follows:-

"8. A perusal of the section 7-I of the Act and Rule 7 of the Rules would reveal that the time period for filing an appeal is within 60 days from the date of issue of the notification/order, provided, the Tribunal, if satisfied that for certain sufficient cause, the appeal could not be preferred within the period of 60 days, then, the period to file appeal can be extended to 60 days thereafter. Suffice to state, the provision does not vest any power with the Tribunal to condone a delay beyond that period…

9. From the above decision of the Supreme Court, even in the case in hand, it is clear from the provisions of the Act, which is a special statute, a certain period of limitation is prescribed for filing the appeal. In the eventuality, the appeal is not filed within the said period, the power to condone the delay is for a further period of 60 days and no more…"

18. A similar view was again taken in the case of Lotus Chemicals Pvt. Ltd. Vs. Assistant Provident Fund Commissioner, (Compl.) Rourkela10, wherein it was held as follows:-

"8. ...The procedure for filing of appeal has been provided under the provision of Rule 7 of the Employees Provident Fund Appellate Tribunal (Procedure) Rules, 1997, wherein it has been provided under Regulation 7(2) that the appeal may be filed within 60 days from the date of issuance of notification/order, provided that the Tribunal may, if it is satisfied that the appellant was prevented by sufficient cause from preferring appeal within the prescribed period, may extend the said period by a further period of 60 days, meaning thereby the appeal is to be filed before the appellate Tribunal within a maximum period of 120 days subject to its condonation and beyond that it cannot be extended. It is settled that if any legislation has been provided, it has to be followed in its strict sense and if there is specific time period framed in the legislation to entertain an appeal, the authorities concerned are not supposed to extend that period by assuming the power conferred under the Limitation Act, 1963. Here in the instant case, the maximum period of filing an appeal is 60 days, subject to its condonation for a further period of 60 days, hence the condonation is only to be done for maximum period of 60 days, which suggests that the provision of Limitation Act, 1963 will not be applicable.

9. It is settled position of law that the court of law or the Tribunal is supposed to follow the statutory provision and it cannot be interpreted, if there is no ambiguity and it is settled that the things is to be done as per the statutory provision, hence applying the said principle, it is the considered view of this Court that the Tribunal has not committed any error in passing the order under Section 7-I by rejecting it, since appeal was preferred after delay of 260 days, hence the Tribunal is having no power to condone the said delay period, in view of the provision of Rule 7 of the Employees Provident Fund Appellate Tribunal (Procedure) Rules, 1997 as discussed herein above."

19. Reiterating a similar view, in the case of Bihar Shiksha Pariyojna Parishad Vs. Regional Provident Fund Commissioner, Employees' Provident Fund Organzation & Anr.11, it was held that condonation of delay has to be considered within the purview of the statutory provision and the provisions of the Act, 1963 cannot be imported or made applicable into the EPF Act, 1952 and the Rules, 1997. The relevant observations made in the judgment are extracted below:-

"18. Thus, in view of the fact that the limitation is prescribed by specific Rule 7(2) of 'the Rules' as also in view of the ratio laid down by the Supreme Court in Commissioner of Customs and Central Excise v. Hongo India Private Limited & Anr. (supra) and M/s. Patel Brothers v. State of Assam & Ors. (supra), condonation of delay has also to be considered within the purview of the statutory provision and the provisions of the Limitation Act cannot be imported or made applicable into 'the Act' and 'the Rules'. In that view of the matter, no illegality can be found with the order impugned passed by the Tribunal."

20. A similar view has been taken in the case of Bihar State Industrial Development Corporation Vs. Employees Provident Fund Organization & Anr.12 and again in Bihar State Industrial Development Corporation Vs. Employees' Provident Fund Organization, Patna & Anr.13.

21. The question with regard to condonation of delay by applying Section 5 of the Act, 1963, in the context of filing an appeal and reference under the Central Excise Act, came up for consideration in the case of Commissioner of Customs and Central Excise Vs. Hongo India Private Limited & Anr.14, and taking into consideration that the Central Excise Act is a special law and a complete code by itself, it was held that the time limit prescribed for making a reference thereunder is absolute and unextendable by the Court under Section 5 of the Act, 1963. The relevant observations made in the judgment are as follows:-

"30. In the earlier part of our order, we have adverted to Chapter VI-A of the Act which provides for appeals and revisions to various authorities. Though Parliament has specifically provided an additional period of 30 days in the case of appeal to the Commissioner, it is silent about the number of days if there is sufficient cause in the case of an appeal to the Appellate Tribunal. Also an additional period of 90 days in the case of revision by the Central Government has been provided. However, in the case of an appeal to the High Court under Section 35-G and reference application to the High Court under Section 35-H, Parliament has provided only 180 days and no further period for filing an appeal and making reference to the High Court is mentioned in the Act.

31. In this regard, it is useful to refer to a recent decision of this Court in Punjab Fibres Ltd, (2008) 3 SCC 73. The Commissioner of Customs, Central Excise, Noida was the appellant in this case. While considering the very same question, namely, whether the High Court has power to condone the delay in presentation of the reference under Section 35-H(1) of the Act, the two-Judge Bench taking note of the said provision and the other related provisions following Singh Enterprises v. CCE [(2008) 3 SCC 70] concluded that: (Punjab Fibres Ltd. Case [(2008) 3 SCC 73] , SCC p. 75, para 8)

"8. ...the High Court was justified in holding that there was no power for condonation of delay in filing reference application."

32. As pointed out earlier, the language used in Sections 35, 35-B, 35-EE, 35-G and 35-H makes the position clear that an appeal and reference to the High Court should be made within 180 days only from the date of communication of the decision or order. In other words, the language used in other provisions makes the position clear that the legislature intended the appellate authority to entertain the appeal by condoning the delay only up to 30 days after expiry of 60 days which is the preliminary limitation period for preferring an appeal. In the absence of any clause condoning the delay by showing sufficient cause after the prescribed period, there is complete exclusion of Section 5 of the Limitation Act. The High Court was, therefore, justified in holding that there was no power to condone the delay after expiry of the prescribed period of 180 days.

33. Even otherwise, for filing an appeal to the Commissioner, and to the Appellate Tribunal as well as revision to the Central Government, the legislature has provided 60 days and 90 days respectively, on the other hand, for filing an appeal and reference to the High Court larger period of 180 days has been provided with to enable the Commissioner and the other party to avail the same. We are of the view that the legislature provided sufficient time, namely, 180 days for filing reference to the High Court which is more than the period prescribed for an appeal and revision.

36. The scheme of the Central Excise Act, 1944 supports the conclusion that the time-limit prescribed under Section 35-H(1) to make a reference to the High Court is absolute and unextendable by a court under Section 5 of the Limitation Act. It is well-settled law that it is the duty of the court to respect the legislative intent and by giving liberal interpretation, limitation cannot be extended by invoking the provisions of Section 5 of the Limitation Act."

22. The position of law with regard to applicability of Section 5 of the Limitation Act, 1963 has been considered in a recent judgment of this Court in M/s Kushang Security and House Keeping Private Ltd. Vs. Presiding Officer Central Government Industrial Tribunal-cum-Labour Court & Anr.15.

23. The scope and applicability of Section 14(2) of the Act, 1963 in the context of proceedings under the U.P. Sales Tax Act, 1948 came up for consideration in the case of Commissioner of Sales Tax, Uttar Pradesh, Lucknow Vs. Parson Tools and Plants, Kanpur16 wherein it was held that the authorities, irrespective of whether they exercise original appellate or revisional jurisdiction under the Sales Tax Act are merely "Administrative Tribunals" and not "Courts" within the contemplation of Section 14(2) and therefore Section 14 of the Act, 1963 does not in terms apply to proceedings before such Tribunals. The Court laid down the principle that if a legislature in a special statute prescribes a certain period of limitation for filing an application thereunder and provides in clear terms that such period on sufficient cause being shown, may be extended, in the maximum, only upto a specified time-limit and no further, then the tribunal concerned has no jurisdiction to treat within limitation, an application filed before it beyond such maximum time-limit specified in the statute, by excluding the time spent in prosecuting in good faith and due diligence any prior proceeding on the analogy of Section 14(2) of the Act, 1963. The relevant observations made in the judgment are as follows:-

"5. Sub-section (2) of Section 14, Limitation Act, runs thus:

In computing the period of limitation for any application, the time during which the applicant has been prosecuting with due diligence another civil proceedings, whether in a Court of first instance or of. appeal or revision, against the same party for the same relief shall be excluded, where such proceeding is prosecuted in good faith in a Court which, from defect of jurisdiction or other cause of a like nature, is unable to entertain it."

6. If will be seen that this sub-section will apply only if:

(1) both the prior and subsequent proceedings are civil proceedings prosecuted by the same party;

(2) the proceedings had been prosecuted with due diligence and in good faith;

(3) the failure of the prior proceedings was due to a defect of jurisdiction or other cause of a like nature;

(4) both the proceedings are proceedings in a Court.

x x x x x

22. Thus the principle that emerges is that if the Legislature in a special statute prescribes a certain period of limitation for filing a particular application thereunder and provides in clear terms that such period on sufficient cause being shown, may be extended, in the maximum, only upto a specified time-limit and no further, then the tribunal concerned has no jurisdiction to treat within limitation, an application filed before it beyond such maximum time-limit specified in the statute, by excluding the time spent in prosecuting in good faith and due diligence any prior proceeding on the analogy of Section 14(2) of the Limitation Act."

24. The policy underlying and the conditions precedent to applicability of Section 14 have been explained in Consolidated Engineering Enterprises Vs. Principal Secretary, Irrigation Department & Ors.17 and it was held that on analysing the provisions contained under Section 14 certain conditions must be satisfied before the aforesaid section could be pressed into service. The observations made in the judgment in this regard are as follows:-

"21. Section 14 of the Limitation Act deals with exclusion of time of proceeding bona fide in a court without jurisdiction. On analysis of the said section, it becomes evident that the following conditions must be satisfied before Section 14 can be pressed into service:

(1) Both the prior and subsequent proceedings are civil proceedings prosecuted by the same party;

(2) The prior proceeding had been prosecuted with due diligence and in good faith;

(3) The failure of the prior proceeding was due to defect of jurisdiction or other cause of like nature;

(4) The earlier proceeding and the latter proceeding must relate to the same matter in issue and;

(5) Both the proceedings are in a court.

x x x x x

31. To attract the provisions of Section 14 of the Limitation Act, five conditions enumerated in the earlier part of this judgment have to co-exist. There is no manner of doubt that the section deserves to be construed liberally. Due diligence and caution are essential prerequisites for attracting Section 14. Due diligence cannot be measured by any absolute standards. Due diligence is a measure of prudence or activity expected from and ordinarily exercised by a reasonable and prudent person under the particular circumstances. The time during which a court holds up a case while it is discovering that it ought to have been presented in another court, must be excluded, as the delay of the court cannot affect the due diligence of the party. Section 14 requires that the prior proceeding should have been prosecuted in good faith and with due diligence. The definition of good faith as found in Section 2(h) of the Limitation Act would indicate that nothing shall be deemed to be in good faith which is not done with due care and attention. It is true that Section 14 will not help a party who is guilty of negligence, lapse or inaction…"

25. The judgment in the case of Commissioner of Customs and Central Excise Vs. Hongo India Private Limited & Anr., referred to earlier, also considered the question as to whether the express exclusion of Limitation Act in a local or special law is a mandatory requirement and the factors to be considered for determining if the Limitation Act was excluded even in the absence of express exclusion. It was also held that the applicability of the Limitation Act is to be judged by the terms of the special law and not from terms of the Limitation Act and that the period of limitation cannot be extended by giving a liberal interpretation. The observations made in this regard are as follows:-

"34. Though, an argument was raised based on Section 29 of the Limitation Act, even assuming that Section 29(2) would be attracted, what we have to determine is whether the provisions of this section are expressly excluded in the case of reference to the High Court.

35. It was contended before us that the words "expressly excluded" would mean that there must be an express reference made in the special or local law to the specific provisions of the Limitation Act of which the operation is to be excluded. In this regard, we have to see the scheme of the special law which here in this case is the Central Excise Act. The nature of the remedy provided therein is such that the legislature intended it to be a complete code by itself which alone should govern the several matters provided by it. If, on an examination of the relevant provisions, it is clear that the provisions of the Limitation Act are necessarily excluded, then the benefits conferred therein cannot be called in aid to supplement the provisions of the Act. In our considered view, that even in a case where the special law does not exclude the provisions of Sections 4 to 24 of the Limitation Act by an express reference, it would nonetheless be open to the court to examine whether and to what extent, the nature of those provisions or the nature of the subject-matter and scheme of the special law exclude their operation. In other words, the applicability of the provisions of the Limitation Act, therefore, is to be judged not from the terms of the Limitation Act but by the provisions of the Central Excise Act relating to filing of reference application to the High Court.

37. In the light of the above discussion, we hold that the High Court has no power to condone the delay in filing the "reference application" filed by the Commissioner under unamended Section 35-H(1) of the Central Excise Act, 1944 beyond the prescribed period of 180 days and rightly dismissed the reference on the ground of limitation."

26. The principle of implied exclusion of the Act, 1963 by a special law was reiterated in the case of Patel Brothers Vs. State of Assam & Ors.18, where in the context of the provision for filing a revision under the Assam Value Added Tax Act, 2003 it was held that even if there exists no express exclusion in the special law, the court has right to examine the provisions of the special law to arrive at a conclusion as to whether the legislative intent was to exclude the operation of the Act, 1963. The judgment of the High Court rendered in the case of Patel Brothers Vs. State of Assam & Ors.19 was affirmed. The relevant observations made in the judgment are as follows:-

"22. The High Court has rightly pointed out the well-settled principle of law that: (Patel Bros. v. State of Assam, 2016 SCC OnLine Gau 124, SCC OnLine Gau para 19)

"19. ..."the courts cannot interpret a statute the way they have developed the common law "which in a constitutional sense means judicially developed equity". In abrogating or modifying a rule of the common law the courts exercise "the same power of creation that built up the common law through its existence by the Judges of the past". The court can exercise no such power in respect of statutes. Therefore, in the task of interpreting and applying a statute, Judges have to be conscious that in the end the statute is the master not the servant of the judgment and no Judge has a choice between implementing the law and disobeying it.' [Ed.: See Principles of Statutory Interpretation, 14th Edn., p. 26 by Justice G.P. Singh.]"

What, therefore, follows is that the court cannot interpret the law in such a manner so as to read into the Act an inherent power of condoning the delay by invoking Section 5 of the Limitation Act, 1963 so as to supplement the provisions of the VAT Act which excludes the operation of Section 5 by necessary implication."

27. On the point of implied exclusion of the Act, 1963 by a special law reference may be had to an earlier judgment in the case of Hukumdev Narain Yadav Vs. Lalit Narain Mishra20, wherein while examining whether the Act, 1963 would be applicable to the provisions of the Representation of the People Act, it was observed as follows:-

"17. ...what we have to see is whether the scheme of the special law, that is in this case the Act, and the nature of the remedy provided therein are such that the legislature intended it to be a complete code by itself which alone should govern the several matters provided by it. If on an examination of the relevant provisions it is clear that the provisions of the Limitation Act are necessarily excluded, then the benefits conferred therein cannot be called in aid to supplement the provisions of the Act. In our view, even in a case where the special law does not exclude the provisions of Sections 4 to 24 of the Limitation Act by an express reference, it would nonetheless be open to the Court to examine whether and to what extent the nature of those provisions or the nature of the subject-matter and scheme of the special law exclude their operation."

28. The aforementioned legal position has been reiterated in the case of the State of Himachal Pradesh and others Vs. Tritronics India Private Ltd.21, where the issue involved was as to whether a revision under the Himachal Pradesh Value Added Tax Act, 2005 which was beyond the period of limitation prescribed under the statute could be entertained by applying Section 5 of the Act, 1963, and it was stated as follows:-

"28. ...taking into consideration the fact that Himachal Pradesh Value Added Tax Act, 2005, is a complete code in itself, which, in other words, is both a substantive as well as a procedural law and as there is no provision contained in the Act, making the provisions of Limitation Act applicable to the proceedings which are to originate from the Act, we hold that this Court has no inherent power to condone the delay in entertaining a Revision Petition which stands filed beyond the period of limitation prescribed in the Act."

29. In a recent judgment in the case of Bengal Chemists and Druggists

Association Vs. Kalyan Chowdhury22, it was held in the context of the Companies Act, 2013, that the limitation for filing an appeal to the Appellate Tribunal which is 45 days under Section 421 (3) plus additional 45 days grace period in terms of its proviso, are mandatory in nature and no further time can be granted beyond this total period.

30. In view of the foregoing discussion, the legal position which emerges that in terms of Section 7-I(2) every appeal is to be filed in such form and manner, within such time and be accompanied by such fees, as may be prescribed. Rule 7(2) of the Rules, 1997 provides for filing of the appeal within 60 days from the date of issuance of the order. The first proviso thereunder further stipulates that the Tribunal may, if it is satisfied that the appellant was prevented by sufficient cause from preferring the appeal within the prescribed period, extend the said period by a further period of 60 days.

31. It is thus seen that the EPF Act, 1952 is a special law providing for institution of provident funds, pension fund and deposit-linked insurance fund for employees in factories and other establishments and in terms of the rules framed thereunder a certain period of limitation for filing an appeal having been provided for in clear terms and a further provision having been made for extension of such period only upto a specified time period and no further, the Appellate Tribunal would have no jurisdiction to treat within limitation, an appeal filed before it beyond such maximum time limit specified in terms of the statutory rules.

32. Moreover, in terms of the scheme and the intent of the provisions contained in the EPF Act, 1952 it is seen that the legislature intended it to be a complete code by itself. As a consequence, even if the provisions of the Act, 1963 may be held to have not been expressly excluded the principle of implied exclusion would apply in terms of the nature of the subject matter, the purpose and the scheme of the Act. The provisions contained under the Act, 1963 would therefore not be applicable for seeking extension of time beyond the statutory time period of 60 days from the date of issue of the notification/order, extendable by a further period of 60 days, upon the Tribunal being satisfied that the appellant was prevented by sufficient cause from preferring the appeal within the prescribed period. The maximum period for filing the appeal would be thus 120 (60+60) days from the date of the issuance of the notification/order which is sought to be challenged.

33. It is a well settled principle of statutory interpretation that where the statute confers power on the authority to condone the delay only to a limited extent the same cannot be stretched or extended beyond what has been provided under the statute.

34. As regards the applicability of the provisions under Section 14 of the Limitation Act, 1963, it may be seen that the necessary conditions as prescribed in the judgment in the case of Commissioner of Sales Tax, Uttar Pradesh, Lucknow Vs. Parson Tools and Plants, Kanpur and also in the judgment in the case of Consolidated Engineering Enterprises Vs. Principal Secretary, Irrigation Department & Ors., referred to above, must be satisfied before Section 14 can be pressed into service. Moreover, the provisions contained under Section 14 have been held to be applicable before the Courts and not to proceedings before the Tribunals.

35. Further, the EPF Act, 1952 being a special statute and having prescribed a certain period of limitation for filing a particular application thereunder and also having provided in clear terms that such period on sufficient cause being shown, may be extended, in the maximum, only upto a specified time-limit, the Tribunal concerned would have no jurisdiction to treat within limitation, an application filed before it beyond such maximum time-limit specified in the statute, by excluding the time spent in prosecuting in good faith and due diligence any prior proceeding on the analogy of Section 14(2) of the Act, 1963.

36. It may be noticed that in the instant case against the order dated 28.12.2018 passed under Section 7-A of the EPF Act, 1952 a writ petition, Writ-C No.5308 of 2019, was filed and the same was dismissed at the threshold vide order dated 18.02.2019 with liberty to the petitioners to avail the statutory remedy of appeal under Section 7-I of the EPF Act, 1952. A copy of the aforesaid order which has been filed as Annexure-9 to the writ petition indicates that a certified copy of the order dated 18.02.2019 was applied for on 10.06.2016 and the same was issued on 12.06.2019. It appears that only thereafter the appeal bearing Appeal A.T.A. No.06 of 2019 was filed which came to rejected as time barred vide order dated 15.07.2019 passed by the Appellate Authority/Presiding Officer, Central Government Industrial Tribunal-cum-Labour Court, Kanpur. These facts also go to show that the necessary requirement under Section 14 that the prior proceeding should have been prosecuted in good faith and with due diligence also does not stand fulfilled.

37. The time limit is prescribed by the rule making authority for filing an appeal and also the extended period having been provided, and no further extension thereof having been envisaged or contemplated, the Appellate Authority could not have granted any further extension. In view of the aforesaid, the order passed by the Appellate Authority recording its conclusion that the appeal was filed beyond the statutory period of limitation, cannot be faulted with.

38. Counsel for the petitioners has not been able to dispute the aforesaid factual and legal position nor has been able to point out any material error or irregularity in the order dated 15.07.2019 so as to warrant interference in exercise of the extraordinary powers under Article 226 of the Constitution of India.

39. The writ petition is accordingly held to be devoid of merits and is dismissed.

5. Petitioners also alleged to have applied for renewal of lease in 1985 but nothing was done by respondents. It is also said that there was a family settlement in 1942 between heirs of Bindeshwari Saran Singh which was reduced in writing as a family settlement deed dated 01.08.2015 dividing disputed land amongst the parties as per said settlement.

6. State Government came out with a policy to convert Nazul land into freehold and issued various Government Orders dated 23.05.1992, 02.12.1992, 03.10.1994, 17.02.1996, 29.03.1996, 02.4.1996, 29.8.1996, 25.10.1996, 28.02.1997 and 26.09.1997. All these Government Orders were reviewed and thereafter modifications and amendments were made in earlier policy vide

Government Orders dated 01.12.1998, 10.12.2002, 31.12.2002, 04.08.2006, 21.10.2008, 26.05.2009, 29.01.2010, 17.02.2011, 01.08.2011 and 28.09.2011. Comprehensive amendments again were made vide Government Order (hereinafter referred to as "G.O.") dated 04.03.2014 and 15.01.2015. Petitioners have placed on record G.Os. dated 01.12.1998, 04.03.2014 and 15.01.2015 as Annexures-5, 6 and 7 to WP-1. Petitioners applied for conversion of their leasehold right into freehold vide application dated 30.01.1999 before District Magistrate, Allahabad which was in accordance with G.O. dated 01.12.1998. A similar application is said to have been submitted by Smt. Kumud Singh wife of Sri Badreshwari Saran Singh on 16.09.1999. In para 19 of writ petition, the said applicant is referred as respondent 3rd set but we find that in the array of parties there are no respondent(s) 3rd set.

7. One more application is said to have been filed by Sri Brijeshwari Saran Singh but no date or other details are given in para 20 of writ petition.

8. Petitioners, after waiting for some time, i.e., about 16 years, regarding disposal of their application for conversion of lease right into freehold, came to this Court in Writ Petition No. 18068 of 2015 which was disposed of vide judgment dated 02.04.2015, directing District Magistrate, Allahabad to take a decision within six months. The order reads as under:

"The petitioners claim to have filed an application on 30 January 1999 for grant of freehold rights in respect of a land admeasuring 3968.97 sq. mts. on a portion of Nazul Plot No.21/17, Nasib Pur Bakhtiyari, Allahabad. The grievance of the petitioners is that till date the District Magistrate, Allahabad has not taken any decision on the said application.

Learned Standing Counsel appearing for the respondents states that the District Magistrate, Allahabad shall take a decision expeditiously after hearing the parties.

This writ petition is, accordingly, disposed of with a direction to the District Magistrate, Allahabad to take a decision on the application filed by the petitioners after hearing the parties concerned expeditiously and preferably within a period of six months from the date a certified copy of this order is filed by the petitioners.

It is made clear that the Court has not adjudicated on the merits of the case which shall be examined by the District Magistrate in accordance with law." (Emphasis added)

9. The application was rejected by District Magistrate, Allahabad vide order dated 23.05.2015. It is said that a recall application was filed by petitioners on 15.07.2015 which is pending.

10. Another writ petition was filed by co-sharers, i.e., Writ Petition No. 64059 of 2014 seeking direction to District Magistrate, Allahabad to implement orders and instructions issued by Government for conversion of lease rights into freehold on Nazul land. The said petition is pending.

11. Suddenly District Magistrate, Allahabad has served upon petitioners notice dated 14.08.2018 informing that State Government has exercised right of resumption/ re-entry over land in dispute and petitioners should handover the same within 15 days whereafter possession shall be taken forcibly. It has been stated in the order dated 14.08.2018 that land in dispute is required for public purpose for erection of buildings for Group Housing by Allahabad Development Authority (hereinafter referred to as "A.D.A.").

12. This notice dated 14.08.2018 has been challenged on the ground that Government Grants Act, 1895 (hereinafter referred to as "GG Act, 1895") has been repealed by Government of India vide notification dated 05.01.2018 and thereafter rights of petitioners, who are in possession of property in dispute, would be governed by provisions available in common law and no forcible possession can be taken; Government cannot evict petitioners without following procedure laid down in Transfer of Property Act, 1882 (hereinafter referred to as "TP Act, 1882"); Government already took a decision for grant of freehold rights over Nazul land and applications were submitted by petitioners in 1999 but no decision was taken, matter was kept pending for almost one and half decade and now abruptly, by impugned notice, without deciding petitioners' right of freehold, Government cannot exercise power of resumption/ re-entry; lease expired in 1986 and Government treated petitioners continuously as "lessees" over land in dispute; in similar circumstances State Government has granted freehold rights to some others, namely, Sri Subhash and Sri Vikas Chandra on 03.05.2018 but petitioners have been discriminated; exercise of right to resumption/ re-entry is nothing but a colourable exercise on the part of State and is wholly arbitrary; and lastly, after repeal of GG Act, 1895, unfettered right of Government for resumption/ re-entry is now under check and eviction is permissible only in accordance with law and State Government and its authorities cannot forcibly evict petitioners.

13. A counter affidavit has been filed on behalf of Respondents-2 and 3, collectively, which has been sworn by Sri Gore Lal Shukla, Additional District Magistrate (Nazul), Allahabad. It is stated therein that Nazul Plot No. 21 (Bungalow No. 17), Thornhill Road, situated in Mauja Nasirpur Bakhtiyari, Paragana Chail, Allahabad was initially demised by an Indenture of lease, dated 22.04.1890 (with effect from 01.10.1886); subsequently renewing the lease, a fresh lease was executed for a period of 50 years on 01.10.1936; lease was governed by provisions of GG Act, 1895 hence provisions of TP Act, 1882 were /are not applicable to such leases in view of Sections 2 and 3 of GG Act, 1895, as amended by U.P. Act 13 of 1960; the renewed lease deed gives an option to Government to take over land, buildings, erections etc. upon expiration of period of lease; there was a clause for re-entry and forfeiture and it was also provided that no compensation or payment shall be claimable by lessee, his executors, administrators or assigns etc; it is true that in terms of Repealing and Amending (Second) Act, 2017 (hereinafter referred to as "Repeal Act, 2017), GG Act, 1895, has been repealed but Section 4 has provided for savings of rights, consequences etc. under the instruments governed by Act, 1895 and they are not affected; in view thereof, right of resumption/ re-entry vested in Government by virtue of earlier lease deed read with GG Act, 1895 remained unaffected and can be exercised despite repeal of GG Act, 1895 due to saving clause contained in Section 4 of Repeal Act, 2017; lease in the case in hand expired on 30.09.1986 and petitioners and occupants on the land in dispute thereafter have no authority to continue possession over property in dispute; for public purpose of planned development, land in dispute is needed by A.D.A.; proposal was submitted to State Government on 19.06.2018 and approved by Government on 09.08.2018 and accordingly notice for resumption/ re-entry was issued by District Magistrate on 14.08.2018; a supplementary notice was also issued on 24.08.2018 giving reference of different clauses of lease deed dated 01.10.1936 which provide forfeiture in terms whereof Government can resume land in dispute and no compensation would be payable to lessee, his executors, administrators or assigns etc.; repeal of GG Act, 1895 does not affect right of resumption/ re-entry of Government, as the consequences has to be considered in the light of Section 6 of General Clauses Act, 1897 (hereinafter referred to as "GC Act, 1897") read with Section 4 of Repeal Act, 2017; the portion of Nazul land of disputed property over which petitioners are claiming possession, in fact, is lying vacant and petitioners are not residing thereat; mere filing of application for freehold did not confer any vested right upon petitioners; in any case, application for freehold was already rejected vide order dated 23.05.2015 and the same has attained finality as having not been challenged in the present writ petition or before any other forum; order/ notice dated 14.08.2018 for resumption/ re-entry over land in dispute is perfectly valid and in accordance with law; resumption of a particular land is based on utility and requirement of State and different land cannot be equated in order to make allegations of arbitrariness and discrimination, inasmuch as, different land have different utility and cannot be treated to be similarly placed for all purposes including need of development for particular purposes.

Writ Petition No. 29547 of 2018

14. Writ Petition No. 29547 of 2018 (hereinafter referred to as "WP-2") has been filed by sole petitioner, Lov Mandeshwari Saran Singh son of late Badreshwari Saran Singh. Family tree of Sri Badreshwari Saran Singh has already been given while narrating facts relating to WP-1. This petitioner has relied on the family arrangement for division of property in dispute among the heirs of family tree of late Bindeshwari Saran Singh. This petitioner has also challenged notice dated 14.08.2018 issued by District Magistrate, Allahabad exercising right of resumption/ re-entry over land in dispute but here some more facts with regard to inter se dispute of family members have been stated and we find it necessary to mention the same in brief.

15. Total area of plot in dispute is 14241 sq. yards i.e., 11906.90 sq. meters. The erstwhile lessee Bindeshwari Saran Singh constructed two bungalows over disputed land, one is numbered as 17 Thornhill Road and another as 11A Sarojini Naidu Marg, Allahabad. After death of Sri Bindeshwari Saran Singh on 27.10.1942, his property and other rights were succeeded by his four sons, Maheshwari Saran Singh, Jagdishwari Saran Singh, Bisheshwari Saran Singh and Jagdambika Saran Singh. In 1948 all four sons separated through a family arrangement, executed between them. Jagdambika Saran Singh, father of

Respondents-11, 12 and 13, i.e., Sri Shanker Kumar Singh, Sri Prakash Chandra Sharma and Sri Ashutosh Sinha got exclusive possession over part of Nazul land occupied by Bungalow No. 11, Queens Road, Allahabad and land appurtenant thereto in terms of family arrangement. In order to satisfy decretal amount Jagdambika Saran Singh transferred his entire share in Bungalow No. 11A, Queens Road, Allahabad and land appurtenant thereto, to Smt. Lalita Devi, grandmother of petitioner through a registered sale deed dated 20.12.1950. Consequently, name of Smt. Lalita Devi was mutated in Revenue record with regard to Bungalow No. 11A, Queens Road, Allahabad. One Rameshwar Prasad Agrawal filed Original Suit No. 74 of 1949 against Jagdambika Saran Singh for recovery of money which was decreed on 07.11.1950 for Rs. 7579/-. An Execution Case No. 43 of 1953 was filed by Rameshwar Prasad Agrawal wherein Execution Court on 22.10.1953 passed order under Order 21 Rule 54(2) C.P.C. for attachment of property in dispute. In 1959, property in dispute and Bungalow No. 11A, Queens Road, Allahabad was auctioned and purchased by Munni Lal Bhargava, predecessor of proforma respondents-6 and 7, namely, Master Dev Raj Bhargava and Master Aditya Bhargava. Similarly, Bungalow No. 17 Thornhill Road, Allahabad was purchased by Sri Niwas Agrawal, father of proforma respondents-8 to 10, namely, Indresh Kumar Agrawal, Dinesh Agrawal and Naresh Agrawal. The above sale and purchase through auction was a sham transaction being result of a fraud played upon Court. Auction purchasers never got possession over property in dispute. Jagdambika Saran Singh had only 1/4 share in total Nazul plot measuring 11906.90 sq. meter, therefore, his share comes to 2976 sq. meter. Share of Jagdambika Saran Singh stood transferred to Smt. Lalita Devi, as already said, through registered sale deed dated 20.12.1950. The auction purchaser claimed to have purchased 1/4 share of Sri Jagdambika Saran Singh. Further, Smt. Annapurna Devi, one of the co-sharer died in 1990 and her share upto 2976 sq. meter in Nazul plot devolved upon remaining heirs, as a result whereof 992 sq. meter stood devolved upon legal heirs of Jagdambika Saran Singh, who had already died in 1986. Co-sharers, other than legal heirs of late Jagdambika Saran Singh, applied for freehold rights, of land coming to their share, but legal heirs of Jagdambika Saran Singh neither deposited any money nor applied for freehold and they have permanently settled in Gaya (State of Bihar). One of the auction purchaser, Munni Lal Bhargava filed a partition suit in 1973 which was contested by Smt. Lalita Devi. The said suit was dismissed in default on 09.08.2010. Proforma respondents-8, 9 and 10, i.e., Indresh Kumar Agrawal, Dinesh Agrawal and Naresh Agrawal, all, sons of late Shriniwas Agrawal also filed suit for partition being Original Suit No. 100 of 1973 in the Court of Civil Judge, Allahabad in respect of Bungalow No. 17 Thornhill Road, without disclosing the fact that said bungalow is standing on Nazul land and title is vested in Government. Partition suit was decreed. Preliminary decree was passed on 18.07.1984 and final decree in 2002. Proforma respondents-8, 9 and 10 thereafter raised a boundary wall which has been demolished by District Magistrate, Allahabad, treating said respondents as Trespassers. State Government has also taken necessary steps and filed application under Order 9 Rule 13 C.P.C. in the Court of Civil Judge (Senior Division), Allahabad, for recall of ex parte decree in Original Suit No. 100 of 1973 and said application is pending. Smt. Lalita Devi, who purchased share of late Jagdambika Saran Singh, has bequeathed her share in favour of Smt. Kumud Singh, mother of petitioner through 'Will' dated 28.07.1994. Smt. Lalita Devi died on 30.09.1997. Father and mother of petitioner applied for freehold by depositing 25% money in terms of G.O. dated 01.12.1998. No demand notice has been issued to petitioner. On a representation made by petitioner's father, State Government sent a letter dated 08.11.1995 directing District Magistrate, Allahabad to take appropriate steps on the application of petitioner's father and reminders were also given by letters dated 16.02.1996, 16.10.2001 and 17.01.2005. Petitioner's father, late Badreshwari Saran Singh died on 14.09.2007 and thereafter petitioner submitted representation dated 29.08.2011 for conversion of lease rights into freehold. Bungalow No. 11A, Sarojini Naidu Marg, Allahabad, built upon Nazul plot No. 21/17, Thornhill Road, Allahabad is in exclusive possession of petitioner. Auction purchasers, Indresh Kumar Agrawal and Munni Lal Bhargava filed Writ Petitions No. 66803 of 2006 and 14267 of 2007 seeking direction to District Magistrate to recognize their rights. Aforesaid writ petitions were disposed vide order dated 20.08.2010 directing competent authority to pass appropriate order, whereupon Additional District Magistrate (Nazul), Allahabad has passed order on 25.08.2011. Petitioner also filed Writ Petition No. 64059 of 2014 seeking direction to Collector to give effect to policy of Government of conversion of lease right into freehold wherein counter was invited and the writ petition is pending. Relief prayed in Writ Petition No. 64059 of 2014 reads as under:

"i. issue a writ, order in the nature of mandamus directing the respondent Nos 2 and 3 to implement the order and instructions of the respondent no. 1 (Annexure No. 6 and 7 to the writ petition) and convert the share of the petitioner in the Nazul Plot No. 21/17, Naseebpur Bakityari, Allahabad into freehold in view of the petitioner application No. 2882 pending before them.

ii. issue any other suitable writ, order or direction as this Hon'ble Court may deem fit and proper in the circumstances of the case.

iii. issue award cost of the petition to the petitioner."

(Emphasis added)

16. District Magistrate vide letter dated 06.01.2018 made a recommendation to Government proposing resumption/ re-entry on Nazul land in dispute. Same has been accepted by State Government whereafter impugned notice dated 14.08.2018 has been issued by District Magistrate, Allahabad. It appears that a supplementary notice has also been served by District Magistrate, Allahabad upon petitioner on 24.08.2018 and placing the same on record, a supplementary affidavit has been filed by petitioner.

17. Rest of the pleadings are similar to WP-1, hence we are avoiding repetition.

Writ Petition No. 30884 of 2018

18. Writ Petition No. 30884 of 2018 (hereinafter referred to as "WP-3") has been filed by Smt. Kumud Singh, wife of late Badreshwari Saran Singh and the facts stated in writ petition are similar as stated in WP-1 and WP-2, therefore, the same are not being repeated. However, some additional facts stated in the writ petition may be stated hereat. As already said, auction purchasers filed Writ Petitions No. 14267 of 2007 and 6680 of 2006 which were disposed of on 20.08.2010, pursuant whereto, Additional District Magistrate (Nazul), Allahabad passed order on 25.08.2011. The same was challenged by petitioner-Smt. Kumud Singh in Writ Petition No. 56367 of 2011 and it is pending. Further, in order to consider demand of various authorities of land for development, District Magistrate, Allahabad constituted a committee vide order dated 30.12.2017 constituting:

1. Vice Chairman, Allahabad Development Authority, Allahabad.
2. Nagar Ayukt, Nagar Nigam, Allahabad.
3. Additional District Magistrate (Nazul), Allahabad
4. City Magistrate, Allahabad
5. Sri Sat Shukla, Officer on Special Duty, A.D.A., Allahabad

19. The aforesaid Committee was required to examine Nazul land available in Allahabad City, its suitability and applicability in the light of demand made by various Government Departments and Institutions for resumption. In respect of land in dispute, Committee submitted its recommendation vide letter dated 06.01.2018 and the same was forwarded by Collector, Allahabad to State Government for resumption vide letter dated 06.01.2018. Writ Petition No. 40395 of 2018

20. Writ Petition No. 40395 of 2018 (hereinafter referred to as "WP-4") has been filed by Smt. Sandhya Singh, daughter of (late) Brijeshwari Saran Singh challenging order/ notice dated 14.08.2018/ 24.08.2018 issued by District Magistrate, Allahabad.

21. Facts stated in this writ petition are common to the facts stated in WPs-1 and 2, therefore, we are not repeating the same. It is said that application for freehold was filed by petitioner's father in 1994 and a similar application for freehold was submitted by petitioner alongwith others on 05.11.2011. It is also stated in paras 70 and 71 that an order has been passed on 09.08.2018 rejecting the application but copy of order has not been made available to petitioner.

Writ Petitions No. 40399 of 2018 & 40401 of 2018

22. Writ Petitions No. 40399 of 2018 and 40401 of 2018 (hereinafter referred to as "WP-5" and "WP-6" respectively) have been filed by Sarvesh Singh son of (late) Brijeshwari Saran Singh and Mandaleshwari Saran Singh. Here also, facts are same as stated in WPs- 1 to 4, therefore are not being repeated.

23. On behalf of Respondents-2 and 3 counter affidavits have been filed in WPs-2 to 6 also with pleadings similar as stated in counter affidavit filed by State-respondents in WP-1, therefore, we are not repeating the same.

24. In WP-1 Sri Ravi Kant, learned Senior Advocate assisted by Sri Tarun Agarwal, Advocate has advanced his submission on behalf of petitioners while Sri Ajit Kumar Singh, Additional Advocate General assisted by Sri Nimai Das and Sri Sudhanshu Srivastava, learned Additional Chief Standing Counsels for State of U.P. and its authorities and Sri M.D. Singh Shekhar, learned Senior Advocate assisted by Sri Amit Verma, Advocate, for Prayagraj Development Authority have advanced their submissions.

25. In WPs-2 to 6, Sri Harihar Prasad Srivastava, Advocate has put in appearance on behalf of petitioners and adopted arguments advanced by Sri Ravi Kant, learned Senior Advocate appearing for petitioners in WP-1. Counsel for respondents are same as in WP-1 and their arguments are also common.

26. Sri Ravi Kant, learned Senior Advocate, who has led arguments in all these cases (since in other writ petitions counsel for petitioners have adopted argument of Sri Ravi Kant), contended:

i. Lease deed which was going to expire in 1986 sought to be renewed by petitioners by submitting application in 1985 but no order was passed therein and unless an order is passed on petitioners' application for renewal of lease, petitioners' rights could not have been affected otherwise that too, by exercising right of resumption after more than 30 years.

ii. Petitioners' possession over property in dispute after expiry of lease was never obstructed and no action was taken for eviction or ejectment of petitioners from land in dispute. Meaning thereby respondents by conduct admitted lease rights of petitioners and valid possession over land in dispute. That being so, land in dispute could not have been resumed by exercising power with reference to GG Act, 1895 which was already repealed before impugned order was passed.

iii. State Government framed policy of conversion of lease into freehold and pursuant thereto petitioners submitted application for freehold of lease land but the said application was not decided for long. Petitioners are entitled to have lease rights converted into freehold as per relevant G.Os.

iv. In any case, if petitioners continued possession after expiry of lease in 1986 was unauthorized in view of provisions of Uttar Pradesh Public Premises (Eviction of Unauthorised Occupants) Act, 1972 (hereinafter referred to as "U.P. Act, 1972"), petitioners cannot be evicted or ejected from disputed land without following procedure prescribed in the said Act.

v. Right of resumption exercised by respondents under lease-deed, which has expired long back is illegal since in 2018 no deed was operating and resumption by State vide impugned order cannot be read in continuation with lease deed which had already expired in 1986.

vi. State Government has granted approval for resumption of land in dispute on proposal made by Collector without giving any opportunity to petitioners, therefore, impugned order including approval order granted by State Government is in violation of principles of natural justice.

27. Per contra, learned Additional Advocate General appearing for State of U.P. and Senior Counsel appearing on behalf of A.D.A. advanced argument virtually in the light of pleadings and objections raised in the counter affidavit, which we have already given in detail hereinabove and will further elaborate while discussing issues raised in these writ petitions.

28. From rival submissions, issues which, in our view, required to be adjudicated in these writ petitions are :

i. What is "Nazul"?

ii. What is/are Statute(s) governing Crown (late, "Government") Grant of land owned by Crown (Government) i.e. Nazul? Its status and effect.

iii. Whether lease right governed by instruments of lease read with GG Act, 1895 is transferrable and if so, whether it is subject to any condition and any transfer made not consistent with such conditions, whether would be valid and confer an actionable right upon Transferree?

iv. What is the status of a person, in possession of Nazul land, after expiry of period of lease, or of a person who is transferred land by Lessee?

v. Whether right of resumption exercised by State is in accordance with law?

vi. Whether petitioners can be evicted by State Government by giving a notice and following the condition and procedure prescribed in the lease deed or State should follow procedure laid down under U.P. Act, 1972?

vii. Whether impugned notice and order of approval of State Government for resumption/re-entry over land in dispute is invalid on account of lack of opportunity to petitioners. In other words, whether principles of natural justice are applicable when State Government chose to exercise right of resumption/re-entry in respect of land owned by it?

29. We have framed above questions in the light of the fact that it is admitted by all the parties that land in dispute is 'Nazul' and owned by State Government.

30. Questions (i) and (ii), in our view, can be taken together hence we proceed to discuss both these questions (i) and (ii) together.

31. Every land owned by State Government is not termed as 'Nazul' and therefore it has become necessary to understand, what is 'Nazul', and in this context we have framed question (i).

32. State Government may own land by having acquired and vested in various ways, which includes vesting of land in the capacity of a sovereign body and having right of bona vacantia. Property may also be acquired and owned by State by way of acquisition under the Statute relating to acquisition of land or by purchase through negotiation or gift by an individual or in similar other manners. All such land, which is owned and vested in State Government results in making the State owner of such land, but in legal parlance, the term "Nazul" is not applicable to all such land.

33. It is only such land which is owned and vested in the State on account of its capacity of sovereign, and application of right of bona vacantia, which is covered by the term 'Nazul', as the term is known for the last more than one and half century.

34. In Legal Glossary 1992, fifth edition, published by Legal Department of Government of India, at page 589, meaning of the term 'Nazul' has been given as 'Rajbhoomi, i.e., Government land'.

35. Nazul is an Arabic word. It refers to a land annexed to Crown. During British Regime, immoveable property of individuals, Zamindars, Nawabs and Rajas when confiscated for one or the other reason, it was termed as 'Nazul property'. The reason being that neither it was acquired nor purchased after making payment. In the old record, when such land was referred in Urdu, this kind of land was shown as 'Jaidad Munzabta'.

36. For dealing with such property, under the authority of Lt. Governor of North Western Provinces, two orders were issued in October, 1846 and October, 1848. Therein, after the words "Nazul property", its english meaning was given as 'Escheats to the Government'. Sadar Board of Revenue on May 20, 1845 issued a circular order in reference to "Nazul land" and in para 2 thereof it mentioned, "The Government is the proprietor of those land and no valid title to them can be derived but from the Government". Nazul land was also termed as "Confiscated Estate". Under Circular dated July 13, 1859, issued by Government of North Western Provinces, every Commissioner was obliged to keep a final confiscation statement of each District and lay it before Government for orders.

37. Right of King to take property by 'escheat' or as 'bona vacantia' was recognized by common law of England. Escheat of property was Lord's right of re-entry on real property held by a tenant, dying intestate, without lawful heirs. It was an incident of Feudal Tenure and based on the want of a tenant to perform Feudal services. On the tenant dying intestate without leaving any lawful heirs, his estate came to an end and Lord, by his own right and not by way of succession or inheritance from the tenant, re-entered real property as owner. In most cases, land escheated to Crown as the 'Lord Paramount', in view of gradual elimination of Intermediate or Mesne lords since 1290 AD. Crown takes as 'bona vacantia' goods in which no one else can claim property. In Dyke v. Walford 5 Moore PC 434= 496-13 ER 557 (580) it was said 'it is the right of the Crown to bona vacantia to property which has no other owner'. Right of the Crown to take as "bona vacantia" extends to personal property of every kind. The escheat of real property of an intestate dying without heirs was abolished in 1925 and Crown thereafter could not take such property as bona vacantia. The principle of acquisition of property by escheat, i.e., right of Government to take on property by 'escheat' or 'bona vacantia' for want of a rightful owner was enforced in Indian territory during the period of East India Company by virtue of Statute 16 and 17 Victoria, C. 95, section 27.

38. We may recollect, having gone through history, that prior to 1857, several Estates were taken over by British Company i.e. East India Company by way of annexation. Doctrine of lapse applied in Jhansi was another kind of above mentioned two principles.

39. The above provisions had continued by virtue of Section 54 of Government of India Act, 1858, section 20(3)(iii) of Government of India Act, 1915 and section 174 of Government of India Act, 1935. After enactment of Constitution of independent India, Article 296 now continues above provision and say :

'Subject as hereinafter provided, any property in the territory of India which, if this Constitution had not come into operation, would have accrued to His Majesty or, as the case may be, to the Ruler of an Indian State by escheat or lapse, or as bona vacantia for want of a rightful owner, shall if it is property situate in a State, vest in such State, and shall, in any other case, vest in the Union.' (Emphasis added)

40. Article 296, therefore, has retained power of State to get ownership of such land, in respect whereof principle of 'escheat', 'lapse' or 'bona vacantia' would have been applicable prior to enforcement of Constitution of India. The above power continued to apply after enactment of Constitution with the only modification that if such land is situate within the territory of State Government, it will vest in State and in other cases, it will vest in Union of India. Vesting of land and giving ownership to State Government or Union of India under Article 296 is clearly in respect of a land, which will come to it by way of 'escheat', 'lapse' or 'bona vacantia' and not by way of acquisition of land under some statute or purchase etc.

41. Supreme Court in Pierce Leslie and Co. Ltd. Vs. Miss Violet Ouchterlony Wapsnare, AIR 1969 SC 843 has considered the above principles in the context of 'Sovereign India' as it stands under Constitution after independence, and, has observed :

"....in this country the Government takes by escheat immoveable as well as moveable property for want of an heir or successor. In this country escheat is not based on artificial rules of common law and is not an incident of feudal tenure. It is an incident of sovereignty and rests on the principle of ultimate ownership by the State of all property within its jurisdiction".

(Emphasis added)

42. Court placed reliance on Collector of Masulipatam v. C. Vencata Narainapah 8 MIA 500, 525; Ranee Sonet Kowar v. Mirza Himmut Bahadoor (2) LR 3 IA 92, 101, Bombay Dyeing and Manufacturing Co. Ltd. v. State of Bombay [1958] SCR 1122, 1146, Superintendent and, Legal Remembrancer v. Corporation of Calcutta (1967) 2 SCR 170.

43. Judicial Committee in Cook v. Sprigg (1899) AC 572 while discussing, 'what is an act of State', observed :

"The taking possession by Her Majesty, whether by cession or by any other means by which sovereignty can be acquired, was an act of State." (Emphasis added)

44. This decision has been followed in Raja Rajinder Chand v. Mst. Sukhi, AIR 1957 SC 286.

45. In Nayak Vajesingji Joravarsingji v. Secretary of State for India in Council AIR 1924 PC 216, Lord Dunedin said :

"When a territory is acquired by a sovereign State for the first time, that is an act of State. It matters not how the acquisition has been brought about. It may be by conquest, it may be by cession following on treaty, it may be by occupation of territory hitherto unoccupied by a recognised ruler. In all cases the result is the same. Any inhabitant of the territory can make good in the municipal courts established by the new sovereign only such rights as that sovereign has, through his officers, recognised. Such rights as he had under the rule of predecessors avail him nothing."

46. In Dalmia Dadri Cement Co. Ltd. v. CIT [1958] 34 ITR 514 (SC) :

AIR 1958 SC 816, Court said (page 523 of 34 ITR) :

*"The expression 'act of State' is, it is scarcely necessary to say, not limited to hostile action between rulers resulting in the occupation of territories. It includes all acquisitions of territory by a sovereign State for the first time, whether it be by conquest or cession."
(Emphasis added)

47. In Promod Chandra Deb v. State of Orissa AIR 1962 SC 1288, Court said, 'Act of State' is the taking over of sovereign powers by a State in respect of territory which was not till then a part of its territory, either by conquest, treaty or cession, or otherwise'.

48. To the same effect was the view taken by a Constitution Bench in Amarsarjit Singh v. State of Punjab AIR 1962 SC 1305, where in para 12, Court said :

"It is settled law that conquest is not the only mode by which one State can acquire sovereignty over the territories belonging to another State, and that the same result can be achieved in any other mode which has the effect of establishing its sovereignty."

49. In Thakur Amar Singhji v. State of Rajasthan AIR 1955 SC 504, in para 40, Court said :

"The status of a person must be either that of a sovereign or a subject. There is no tedium quid. The law does not recognise an intermediate status of a person being partly a sovereign and partly a subject and when once it is admitted that the Bhomicharas had acknowledged the sovereignty of Jodhpur their status can only be that of a subject.

A subject might occupy an exalted position and enjoy special privileges, but he is none the less a subject..."

(Emphasis added)

50. In State of Rajasthan vs. Sajjanlal Panjawat AIR 1975 SC 706 it was held that Rulers of the erstwhile Indian States exercised sovereign powers, legislative, executive and judicial. Their firmans were laws which could not have been challenged prior to the Constitution. Court relied on its earlier two decisions in Director of Endowments, Govt. of Hyderabad vs. Akram Ali, AIR 1956 SC 60, and Sarwarlal vs. State of Hyderabad, AIR 1960 SC 862.

51. In Promod Chandra Deb vs. State of Orissa AIR 1962 SC 1288 "act of the State" was explained in the following words :

"an "act of State" may be the taking over of sovereign powers either by conquest or by treaty or by cession or otherwise. It may have happened on a particular date by a public declaration or proclamation, or it may have been the result of a historical process spread over many years, and sovereign powers including the right to legislate in that territory and to administer it may be acquired without the territory itself merging in the new State."

52. This decision has been followed later in Biswambhar Singh vs. State of Orissa 1964 (1) SCJ 364.

"16. Thus, a territory acquired by a sovereign State is an Act of State but the land comprising territory does not become the land owned by State. The land owned by State may come to it in various ways, like confiscation, purchase, escheat or bona vacantia, gift, etc. In such a case the ownership vests in State, like any other individual and State is free to deal with the same in a manner like any other owner may do so.

*17. Thus 'Nazul' is a land* vested in State for any reason whatsoever that is cession or escheat or bona vacantia, for want of rightful owner or for any other reasons and once land belong to State, it will be difficult to assume that State would acquire its own land. It is per se impermissible to acquire such land by forcible acquisition under Act, 1894, since there is no question of any transfer of ownership from one person to another but here State already own it, hence there is no question of any acquisition."

53. Thus the land in question which is admittedly 'Nazul', belonged to the category as discussed above i.e. it came to be vested and owned by State in its capacity of sovereign and right of bona vacantia. When acquisition is made under the provisions of a Statute, purpose of acquisition is already known and State pay its price but when land is owned by State, which is Nazul, objective of use of such land is not predetermined but it can be utilized by State for larger public welfare and its benefit, as necessitated from time to time. In other words 'Nazul' land forms the assets owned by State in trust for the people in general who are entitled for its user in the most fair and beneficial manner for their benefit. State cannot be allowed to distribute such largesse by pick and choose manner or to some selected groups etc.

54. Historical documents, records as also authorities discussed above show that earlier Government i.e. East India Company upto 1858 and thereafter British Government used to allot "Nazul land" to various persons, who had shown their alliance to such Government in various ways, sometimes by deceiving their Indian counter parts who had raised voice against British Ruler, or otherwise remained faithful to British regime and helped them for their continuation in ruling this country. Sometimes land was given on lease without any condition and sometimes restricted for certain period etc., but in every cases, lease was given to those persons who were faithful and shown complete alliance to British Ruler and their reign. The reason was that in respect of Nazul, no predetermined objective was available as was the case in respect of land acquired by State by way of acquisition under Statute of Acquisition after paying compensation or purchase. Such allocation of land by English Rulers used to be called "Grant".

55. In other words, we can say that initially land owned by State used to be allotted in the form of 'Grant' by the then British Government. No specific statutory provisions were available to govern it. TP Act, 1882 was enacted to govern transfer of immovable property. Sections 10 - 12 of TP Act, 1882 made provisions invalidating, with certain exceptions, all conditions for forfeiture of transferred property on alienation by transferee and all limitations over consequent upon any such alienation or any insolvency of or attempted alienation by him.

56. Apprehending that above provisions of TP Act, 1882, may be construed as a fetter upon discretion of the Crown in creation of inalienable Jagirs in 'Grants', and acting upon that advice that it would not be competent for Crown to create an inalienable and impartible estate in the land comprised in the Crown Grant, unless such land has heretofore descended by custom as an impartible Raj, it was sought to make a separate statute to give supremacy to the provisions contained in Crown's Grant, notwithstanding any other law including TP Act, 1882. With this object, 'GG Act 1895' was enacted.

57. Preamble of GG Act, 1895 gives purpose of its enactment stating that doubts have arisen to the extent and operation of TP Act, 1882 and to the power of Crown (later substituted by word "Government") to impose limitations and restrictions upon grants and other transfers of land made by it or under its authority, hence to remove such doubts, GG Act, 1895 was enacted.

58. Section 2 of GG Act, 1895, as it was initially enacted, read as under :

"Transfer of Property Act, 1882, not to apply to Government grants.- Nothing in the Transfer of Property Act, 1882, contained shall apply or be deemed ever to have applied to any grant or other transfer of land or of any interest therein heretoforce made or hereafter to be made by or on behalf of Her Majesty the Queen Empress, Her heirs or successors, or by or on behalf of the Secretary of State for India in Council to, or in favour of, any person whomsoever; but every such grant and transfer shall be construed and take effect as if the said Act had not been passed."

59. The above provision was amended in 1937 and 1950 and the amended provision read as under :

"2. Transfer of Property Act, 1882, not to apply to Government grants.- Nothing in the Transfer of Property Act, 1882, contained shall apply or be deemed ever to have applied to any grant or other transfer of land or of any interest therein heretoforce made or hereafter to be made by or on behalf of the Government to, or in favour of, any person whomsoever; but every such grant and transfer shall be construed and take effect as if the said Act had not been passed."

(Emphasis added)

60. Section 3 of GG Act, 1895 read as under :

"Government grants to take effect according to their tenor.- All provisions, restrictions, conditions and limitations over contained in any such grant or transfer as aforesaid shall be valid and the effect according to their tenor, any rule of law, statute or enactment of the Legislature to the contrary notwithstanding."

61. In State of Uttar Pradesh, vide Government Grants (U.P. Amendment) Act, 1960 (U.P. Act No.XIII of 1960) (hereinafter referred to as "U.P. Amendment, 1960"), Sections 2 and 3 of GG Act, 1895, were substituted by Section 2, as under :

"2. (1) Transfer of Property Act, 1882, not to apply to Government Grants.- Nothing contained in the Transfer of Property Act, 1882, shall apply or be deemed ever to have applied to any grant or other transfer of land or of any interest therein, heretoforce made or hereafter to be made, by or on behalf of the Government to or in favour of any person whomsoever; and every such grant and transfer shall be construed and take effect as if the said Act had not been passed."

(2) U.P. Tenancy Act, 1939 and Agra Tenancy Act, 1926 not to affect certain leases made by or on behalf of the Government.- Nothing contained in the U.P. Tenancy Act, 1938, or the Agra Tenancy Act, 1926, shall affect, or be deemed to have ever affected any rights, created, conferred or granted, whether before or after the date of the passing of the Government Grants (U.P. Amendment) Act, 1960, by leases of land by, or on behalf of, the Government in favour of any person; and every such creation, conferment or grant shall be construed and take effect, notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained in the U.P. Tenancy Act, 1939, or the Agra Tenancy Act, 1926.

(3) Certain leases made by or on behalf of the Government to take effect according to their tenor.- All provisions, restrictions, conditions and limitations contained in any such creation, conferment or grant referred to in Section 2, shall be valid and take effect according to their tenor, any decree or direction of a court of law or any rule of law, statute or enactment of the Legislature, to the contrary notwithstanding :

Provided that nothing in this section shall prevent, or be deemed ever to have prevented, the effect of any enactment relating to the acquisition of property, land reforms or the imposition of ceiling on agricultural land."

62. A perusal of Section 2 of GG Act, 1895 shows two things :

i. A declaration is made that any grant or other transfer of land or of any interest therein, made by or on behalf of Government, in favour of any person, on and after enactment of GG Act, 1895, would not be governed by provisions of TP Act, 1882 i.e. nothing contained in TP Act, 1882 shall apply to such Grant, transfer or interest.

ii. A clarification that a Grant or Transfer, referred to in Section 2, when is to be construed and given effect, it shall be done in such manner and by treating as if TP Act, 1882 has not been passed.

63. Thus, the first declaration is in respect of Grant or transfer of land or creation of any interest, as the case may be, to exclude TP Act, 1882 for all purposes and the second part of Section 2 clarifies that while construing and giving effect to a Grant or Transfer, referred to in Section 2, it will be presumed that TP Act, 1882 has not been passed at all.

64. In Section 2(1) of GG Act, 1895, as amended in Uttar Pradesh, we do not find any distinction vis a vis what has been said in Section 2 of GG Act, 1895. There is an addition in GG Act, 1895 in its application to Uttar Pradesh, by inserting sub-section (2) in Section 2, a provision in respect of U.P. Tenancy Act, 1939 and Agra Tenancy Act, 1926 also, making a similar declaration, as made in sub section (1) in respect of TP Act, 1882.

65. Sub-section (3) of Section 2 of GG Act, 1895 protect certain leases, already made, declaring the same to be valid in the light of insertion of sub-section(1) of Section 2 in the State of Uttar Pradesh and that is why, notwithstanding any decree or direction of Court of law, leases already made, were validated, which otherwise might have been affected by the provisions of U.P. Tenancy Act, 1938 or Agra Tenancy Act, 1926.

66. Proviso to sub-section (3) of Section 2 of GG Act, 1895 further declare that all provisions of Section 2 of GG Act, 1895 will have no effect when land is sought to be acquired under the provisions of Statute relating to acquisition or for giving effect to a Statute relating to land reforms or imposition of ceiling on agricultural land.

67. Section 3 of GG Act, 1895 is not available in State of U.P. after U.P. Amendment Act, 1960 since Sections 2 and 3 of Principal Act virtually got amalgamated in the form of Section 2, by U.P. Amendment Act, 1960. However, intent, effect and declaration by legislature is almost pari materia with the only addition that in State of U.P., U.P. Tenancy Act, 1939 and Agra Tenancy Act, 1926 are also excluded in the same manner as was done in respect of TP Act, 1882.

68. Sections 2 and 3 of GG Act, 1895 were considered in State of U.P. vs. Zahoor Ahmad, 1973(2) SCC 547 and in para 16, Court said :

*"Section 3 of the Government Grants Act declares the unfettered discretion of the Government to impose such conditions and limitations as it thinks fit, no matter what the general law of the land be. The meaning of Sections 2 and 3 of the Government Grants is that the scope of that Act is not limited to affecting the provisions of the Transfer of Property Act only. The Government has unfettered discretion to impose any conditions, limitations, or restrictions in its grants, and the right, privileges and obligations of the grantee would be regulated according to the terms of the grant, notwithstanding any provisions of any statutory or common law." (Emphasis added)

69. Again in Hajee S.V.M. Mohamed Jamaludeen Bros. & Co. vs. Government of Tamil Nadu (1997) 3 SCC 466, Court said that combined effect of two sections of GG Act, 1895 is that terms of any Grant or terms of any transfer of land made by a Government would stand insulated from tentacles of any statutory law. Section 3 places terms of such Grant beyond reach of any restrictive provision contained in any enacted law or even equitable principles of justice, equity and good conscience adumbrated by common law, if such principles are inconsistent with such terms. Court said :

*"The two provisions are so framed as to confer unfettered discretion on the government to enforce any condition or limitation or restriction in all types of grants made by the government to any person. In other words, the rights, privileges and obligations of any grantee of the government would be completely regulated by the terms of the grant, even if such terms are inconsistent with the provisions of any other law." (Emphasis added)

70. In Azim Ahmad Kazmi and others vs. State of U.P. and Another (2012) 7 SCC 278 observations made in para 16 in State of U.P. vs. Zahoor Ahmad (supra) have been reproduced and followed.

71. In State of U.P. and others vs. United Bank of India and others (2016) 2 SCC 757, in para 30 of the judgment, Court said :

"Indisputably, the lease of nazul land is governed by the Government Grants Act, 1895. Sections 2 and 3 of the Government Grants Act, 1895 very specifically provide that the provisions of the Transfer of Property Act do not apply to government lands ....."

(Emphasis added)

72. Thus, a 'Grant' of a Nazul will be governed by terms and conditions contained in the instrument/deed if Grant, wholly unaffected by any Statute providing otherwise. It cannot be doubted that the lease granted in the case in hand is/was a 'Grant' governed by GG Act, 1895. Broadly, Grant includes lease.

73. The term "Grant" has not been defined in GG Act, 1895. What a 'Grant' would mean is of importance for the reason that GG Act, 1895 has used the term "Grant". Therefore, it has to be seen "whether a lease executed by State in respect of land owned by it and covered by the term "Nazul", through a lease deed or instrument of lease or indenture of lease, whatever the term used, will constitute a "Grant" of State or it is something else".

74. In Black's Law Dictionary, Eighth Edition, at page 719, the word "Grant" has been defined as under :

"Grant, n. 1. An agreement that creates a right of any description other than the one held by the grantor. Examples include leases, easements, charges, patents, franchises, powers,and licenses. 2. The formal transfer of real property. 3. The document by which a transfer is effectd; esp., DEED. 4. The property or property right so transferred."

75. Interestingly, in Black's Law Dictionary, 'Grant' has been said to be of various kinds and it has enumerated seven types of 'Grant' as under:

"Community grant. A grant of real property made by a government (or sometimes by an individual) for communal use, to be held in common with no right to sell. A community grant may set out specific, communal uses for the p roperty, such as for grazing animals or a playground. Cf. Private grant.

Escheat grant. A government's grant of escheated land to a new owner. - Also termed escheat patent.

imperfect grant. 1. A grant that requires the grantee to do something before the title passes to another. Cf. Perfect grant. 2. A grant that does not convey all rights and complete title against both private persons and government, so that the granting person or political authority may later disavow the grant. See Paschal v. Perex, 7 Tex. 368 (1851).

inclusive grant. A deed or grant that describes the boundaries of the land conveyed and excepts certain parcels within those boundaries from the conveyance, usu. Because those parcels of land are owned or claimed by others.- Also termed inclusive deed.

office grant. A grant made by a legal officer because the owner is either unwilling or unable to execute a deed to pass title, as in the case of a tax deed. See tax deed under DEED.

Perfect grant. A grant for which the grantor has done everything required to pass a complete title, and the grantee has done everything required to receive and enjoy the property in fee. Cf. Imperfect grant private grant. A grant of real property made to an individual for his or her private use, including the right to sell it. Private grants made by a government are often found in the chains of title for land outside the original 13 states, esp. in former Spanish and Maxican possession."

76. In Corpus Juris Secundum, A Complete Restatement of the Entire American Law, as developed by All Reported Cases, Volume XXXVIII, word "Grant" has been defined at page 1066-1070, as under :

"Grant - In General - A word which has a peculiar and appropriate meaning in the law, and is to be construed and understood according to such meaning; but its signification, in particular cases is to be determined from its connection and the manner of its use.

As a Noun

In General. The act of granting; a bestowing or conferring; a boon, a concession, a gift; also the thing granted or bestowed. As applied to grants by public authority, the word "grant" implies the conferring by the sovereign power of some valuable privilege, franchise, or other right of like character on a corporation, person, or class of persons; an act evidenced by letters patent under the great seal, granting something from the king to a subject. In a somewhat different sense, an admission of something as true.

As a Contract. A grant is said to be a contract executed, that is, one in which the object of the contract is performed. Ordinarily, the essential elements of a contract are necessary to constitute a grant, such as competent parties and a subject matter, a legal consideration, a mutuality of agreement and of obligation. As in the case of other contracts in writing, it ordinarily comprehends something more than the mere execution of the instrument; it includes a delivery of it. It is not indispensable, however, that technical words be used.*

Transfer of Property. As a technical term, originally used to signify a conveyance of an incorporeal hereditament whereof livery could be had, but now of far more extended application, see Deeds (1 c notes 54 - 63). While the term is commonly used to denote private conveyances, it has been characterized as a nomen generalissimum, applicable to all sorts of conveyances, and in this sense has been defined as a transfer of property, real or personal, by deed or writing. The following notes contain examples of what, under particular circumstances and according to the subject matter and the context, the term may be applied to, or be held to include or what the term may be held not to include.*

Transferring property. An operative word of transfer, technically applicable to real estate, although not necessarily so. It is made use of in deeds of conveyance of lands to import a transfer; and in this application has been defined as meaning to convey; to make conveyance of; to transfer property by an instrument in writing.

As used in a will, to devise or to bequeath."

77. In Words and Phrases, Permanent Edition, Volume 18A Gone-Gyrotiller, word "Grant" has been defined at page 379, as under :

" ...

To grant means to give over, to make conveyance of, to give the possession or title to, to convey-usually in answer to petitioner; to confer or bestow, with or without compensation, particularly in answer to prayer or request; to admit as true when disputed or not satisfactorily proved; to yield belief to; to allow; to yield; to concede. Grant is usually regarded as synonymous with give, confer, bestow, convey, transfer, admit, allow, concede. As a noun, the term signifies: (1) The act of granting; a bestowing or conferring; concession; admission of something as true. (2) The thing granted or bestowed; a gift; a boon. (3) a transfer of property by deed or writing, especially an appropriation or conveyance made by the government, as a grant of land."

78. In Jowitts Dictionary of English Law, Second Edition by John Burke (Volume 1), word "Grant" has been defined at page 870, as under:

"Grant :a common law conveyance.

This deed was originally confined to the transfer of incorporeal hereditaments and expectant estates, of which livery of seisin could not be given. But the distinction between property lying in livery and in grant, as regards the conveyance of the immediate freehold, was abolished by the Real Property Act, 1845, s. 2, which provided that all corporeal hereditaments should, as regards the conveyance of the immediate freehold thereof, be deemed to lie in grant as well as in livery. The Law of Property Act, 1925, s. 51, replacing the Real Property Act, 1845, s. 6, enacts that all lands and interests therein shall lie in grant and not in livery of seisin. The operative verb was "grant," which, by the Real Property Act, 1845, s. 4, replaced by the Law of Property Act, 1925, s. 59, is not to imply any covenant in law in respect of any hereditaments except by force of any Act of Parliament, and by the Conveyancing Act, 1881, s. 49, replaced by the Law of Property Act, 1925, s. 51, the use of the word "grant" it not necessary to convey land or any interest in land.

The sovereign's grants are matters of record, and are either letters patent or writs close.

"Grant" is the term commonly applied to rights created or transferred by the Crown, e.g., grants of pensions, patents, charters, franchises. It is also used in reference to public money devoted to special purposes. See Exchequer Grants."

79. In Biswas Encyclopedic Law Dictionary (Legal & Commercial) Third Edition 2008, word "Grant" has been defined at page 737, as under :

"GRANT. The act of granting; something granted, especially a gift for a particular purpose; a transfer of property by deed or writing; the instrument by which such a transfer is made; also the property so transferred.

A grant may be defined generally as the transfer of property by an instrument in writing without the deliverty of possession of any subject-matter thereof. Mozley & Whiteley's Law Dictionary, 8th edn."

80. In P Ramanatha Aiyar's "The Law Lexicon", Fourth Edition 2017, word "Grant" has been defined at page 762-763, as under :

An operative word of conveyance, particularly appropriate to deeds of grant, properly so called, but used in other conveyances also, such as deeds of bargain and sale, and leases.

"This word is taken largely where any thing is granted or passed from one to another, and in this sense it doth comprehend feofments, bargains and sales, gifts, leases, charges, and the like; for he that doth give, or sell, doth grant also and thus it is sometimes in writing or by deed, and sometimes it is by word without writing. But the word being taken more strictly and properly, it is the grant, conveyance, or gift, by writing of such an Incorporeal thing as lieth in grant, and not in livery, and cannot be given or granted by word only without deed, or it is the grant by such persons as cannot pass anything from them but by deed, as the King, bodies corporate, &c. And this albeit it may be made by other most proper to this purpose"

The word "grant" in sec. 5 connotes transfer of property and mining leases are property. Biswanath Prasad v. Union of India, AIR 1965 SC 821, 825. [Mines and Minerals (Regulation and Developments) Act (67 of 1957), S. 5(1)]

The expression "grant" is wide enough to take within its sweep a grant by the government to the Girasdar and is not limited to a grant by the Girasdar to the tenant. Digvijaysingh Ji v. Manji Savda, AIR 1969 SC 370, 372. [Saurashtra Land Reforms Act (25 of 1951), S. 18]

"GRANT, BESTOW, CONFER. Honours, distinctions, favours, privileges are conferred. Goods, gifts, endowments are bestowed. Requests, prayers, privileges, favours, gifts, allowances, opportunities are granted. A peculiar sense attaches to the word Grant as a legal term, as a piece of land granted to a noble or religious house. So Blackstone speaks of "the transfer of property by sale, grant, or conveyance." (Smith. Syn. Dis.)"

81. Under Indian Easements Act, 1882, (hereinafter referred to as "IE Act, 1882"), definition of "licence" in Section 52 says that it is the Grant of a right made by the Grantor. Sections 53 and 54 of IE Act, 1882 also refer to grant of licence. Thus, without a "Grant" in general sense, licence cannot be created. This is how definition of "licence" under IE Act, 1882 vis a vis the term "Grant" was considered by Supreme Court in Hajee S.V.M. Mohamed Jamaludeen Bros. & Co. (supra).

82. Court also said that though the term "Grant" is not defined in GG Act, 1895, but it is quite evident that this word has been used in GG Act, 1895 in its ethnological sense and therefore, it should get its widest import.

83. In Mohsin Ali vs. State of M.P. AIR 1975 SC 1518, Court said :

*"in the widest sense 'grant' may* comprehend everything that is granted or passed from one to another by deed. But commonly the term is applied to rights created or transferred by the Crown e.g. grants of pensions, patents, charters, franchise."

(Emphasis added)

84. Court in Hajee S.V.M. Mohamed Jamaludeen Bros. & Co. (supra), in para 16, said that word "Grant" used in GG Act, 1895 could envelop within it, everything granted by the government to any person. A licence obtained by a person by virtue of agreement would also fall within the ambit of "Grant" envisaged in GG Act, 1895.

85. In Pradeep Oil Corporation vs. Municipal Corporation of Delhi and others (2011) 5 SCC 270, Court said that GG Act, 1895 is a special statute and will prevail over general statute i.e. TP Act, 1882. It says:

"In the present case grant has been made by the President of India in terms of Section 2 of the Government Grants Act, 1895 and the Transfer of Property Act, 1882 may have little bearing in the instant case. The former, i.e. the Government Grants Act, 1895 being a special statute would prevail over the general statute, i.e. the Transfer of Property Act, 1882. Accordingly, the rights and obligations of the parties would be governed by the terms of the provisions of Government Grants Act, 1895 whereunder the Government is entitled to impose limitations and restrictions upon the grants and other transfer made by it or under its authority." (Emphasis added)

86. Therefore, where 'Nazul' is let out to a person by Government under agreement of lease i.e. Grant, it is governed by GG Act, 1895 and rights of parties therefore have to be seen in the light of stipulations contained in the document of 'Grant'. 'Grant' includes a property transferred on lease though in some cases, 'Grant' may result in wider interest i.e. transfer of title etc. Whatever may be nature of document of transfer i.e. instrument of 'Grant', the fact remains that terms and conditions of 'Grant' shall be governed by such document and it shall prevail over any other law including TP Act 1882. One cannot take resort to TP Act, 1882 to wriggle out of any condition or limitation etc. imposed in terms of document of 'Grant'.

87. In the State of Uttar Pradesh, management of 'Nazul', in absence of statutory provisions, is governed by various administrative orders compiled in a Manual called "Nazul Manual". Here Government has made provisions of management of 'Nazul' through its own authorities namely District Magistrate or Commissioner, or, in some cases, through local bodies.

88. Nature of orders compiled in "Nazul Manual" in the context of 'Nazul' have been considered recently in State of U.P. vs. United Bank of India (supra) where Court has said that land and building in question is "Nazul" being property of Government, maintained by State authorities in accordance with 'Nazul Rules' but not administered as a 'State property'. Court has also observed that lease of "Nazul" land is governed in accordance with GG Act, 1895. Sections 2 and 3 thereto very specifically provide that provisions of TP Act, 1882 do not apply to Government land. Section 3 says that all provisions, restrictions, conditions and limitations contained in any such 'Grant' or 'Transfer', as aforesaid, shall be valid and take effect according to their tenor, any rule of law statute or enactment of the Legislature to the contrary notwithstanding. Thus the stipulations in "lease deed" shall prevail and govern the entire relations of State Government and lessee.

89. Superiority of the stipulations of Grant to deal the relations between Grantor and Grantee has been reinforced in Azim Ahmad Kazmi and others (Supra). Therein dispute related to Plot No. 59, Civil Station, Allahabad, area 1 acre and 4272 sq. yard, i.e., 9112 sq. yard or 7618 sq. meter. Initially a lease deed was executed on 11.01.1868 by Secretary of State for India in Council in favour of one, Thomas Crowby, for a period of 50 years and it was signed by Commissioner, Allahabad Division on behalf of Secretary of State for India in Council. After expiry of lease, a fresh lease was executed for another period of 50 years on 12.04.1923 w.e.f. 01.01.1918. Lease holder with permission of Collector, Allahabad transferred lease rights to Purshottam Das in 1945. The legal heirs of Sri Purshottam Das, on 31.10.1958, transferred leasehold rights in favour of Smt. Shakira Khatoon Kazmi, Smt. Sabira Khatoon Kazmi and Smt. Maimoona Khatoon Kazmi. After the death of Smt. Maimoona Khatoon Kazmi her legal heirs, namely, Azim Ahmad Kazmi, Omar Ahmad Kazmi, Shamim Ahmad Kazmi, Alim Ahmad Kazmi and Maaz Ahmad Kazmi also claimed lease rights by succession. Lease granted on 12.04.1923 w.e.f. 01.01.1918 expired on 31.12.1967. It was renewed on 19.03.1996 for a period of 30 years w.e.f. 01.01.1968 which period expired on 31.12.1997. Again on 17.07.1998 it was renewed for a further period of 30 years w.e.f. 01.01.1998. While lease was continuing, vide Government Order dated 15.12.2000, right of resumption was exercised by State Government. It directed resumption of possession of plot in question and lease deed was cancelled. District Magistrate, Allahabad served a notice dated 11.01.2001 to lease holders intimating them that in view of State Government's order dated 15.12.2000 cancelling lease and resuming possession of land in question, same was required for public purpose. Notice also directed lease holders to remove structures standing on plot, failing which possession would be taken in accordance with Clause 3(c) of lease deed. Lease holders filed objection against notice District Magistrate and also stated that they have sent representation/ objection to Chief Minister praying for revocation of Government Order dated 15.12.2000. District Magistrate passed order on 24.08.2001 rejecting objection of lease holders and sent a cheque of Rs. 10 lacs representing compensation for the building standing over plot. State authorities claimed that they took possession of open land on 01.09.2001. Lease holders filed writ petition which was dismissed vide judgment dated 07.12.2001, Shakira Khatoon Kazmi vs. State of U.P., AIR 2002 All 101. Lease holders challenged judgment dated 07.12.2001 passed by this Court in Supreme Court to the extent they failed. State Government filed appeal against part of order of this Court wherein an observation was made that State Government is not entitled to take forcible possession though it may take possession of demised premises in accordance with procedure established by law. After considering Clause 3(c) of lease deed which provides for resumption of land for public purpose after giving a month's clear notice to lessee to remove any building standing at the time on demised premises and within two months of receipt of notice to take possession thereof on expiry of that period, and Sections 2 and 3 of GG Act, 1895, Court said that Clause 3(c) of lease deed confers power upon State Government that plot in question, if required by State Government for its own purpose or for any public purpose, it shall have the right to give one month's notice in writing to lessees to remove any building standing on the plot and to take possession thereof on expiry of two months from the date of service of notice. Court said that land, if required for any public purpose, State Government has absolute power to resume leased property and under the terms of Grant it is absolute, therefore, order of resumption is perfectly valid and cannot be said to be illegal. It also refers to an earlier occasion where Nazul Plot No. 13, Civil Station, Allahabad situate in Civil Lines area was resumed by State Government for the purpose of construction of a 'Bus Stand' by exercising similar power, without initiating any proceeding under Land Acquisition Act, 1894. Resumption in that case was also challenged in Writ Petition No. 44517 of 1998, Sayed Shah Khursheed Ahmad Kashmi vs. State of U.P. and said writ petition was dismissed on 16.12.1999 by a Division Bench of this Court, whereagainst Special Leave Petition No. 4329 of 2000 was dismissed by Supreme Court on 07.09.2001. First question, therefore, was answered in negative and in favour of Government.

90. With respect to procedure for taking possession, Supreme Court, while considering Question-2, said that in absence of any specific law, State Government may take possession by filing a suit. When a land is acquired under Land Acquisition Act, 1894, Government can take possession in accordance with provisions of said Act and in case of urgency, Collector can take possession after publication of notice under Section 9 and no separate procedure is required to be followed. Court said that similarly where a lease has been granted under the terms of GG Act, 1895, then what procedure has to be followed is provided by Section 3 of GG Act, 1895 which says that all provisions, restrictions, conditions and limitations contained in any such creation, conferment or Grant referred to in Section 2, shall be valid and take effect according to their tenor; any decree or direction of a Court of Law or any rule of law, statute or enactments of the Legislature, to the contrary. It relied on its earlier judgment in State of U.P. vs. Zahoor Ahmad, 1973(2) SCC 547 holding that Section 3 of GG Act, 1895 declares unfettered discretion of Government to impose such conditions and limitation as it thinks fit, no matter what the general law of land be. Then Court construing Clause 3(C) of lease deed said that it provides procedure for taking possession of demised premises when State Government re-enter or resume possession of demised land. Court in para 30 and 32 of judgment said:

"30. In the case of The State of U.P. vs. Zahoor Ahmad and Another, 1973(2) SCC 547, this Court held that the Section 3 of the Act declares the unfettered discretion of the Government to impose such conditions and limitation as it thinks fit, no matter what the general law of land be. From Clause 3(C) of the deed, it is clear that the State of U.P. while granting lease made it clear that if the demised premises are at any time required by the lessor for his or for any public purpose, he shall have the right to give one month's clear notice to the lessee to remove any building standing at the time of the demised property and within two months' of the receipt of the notice to take possession thereof on the expiry of that period subject to the condition that the lessor is willing to purchase the property on the demised premises, the lessee shall be paid for such amount as may be determined by the Secretary to the Government of U.P. in the Nagar Awas Department."

"32. Under Clause 3(C) of the lease deed, the respondent-State was permitted resumption of the land which required for its own use or for public purpose and after giving one month's clear notice in writing is entitled to remove any building standing at the time on the demised premises and within two months of the receipt of the notice to take possession thereof subject to the condition that if the lessor is willing to purchase the building of the demised premises required to pay the lessee the amount for such building as may be determined by the Secretary to Government of U.P. in the Nagar Awas Department...."

(Emphasis added)

91. Having said so, Court said,

"we are of the view that there is no other procedure or law required to be followed, as a special procedure for resumption of land has been laid down under the lease deed."

92. Supreme Court then set aside direction of this Court that State will not take possession forcibly except in accordance with procedure established by any other law, by holding, that since special procedure for resumption is prescribed under lease deed, no direction otherwise could have been issued to State Government.

93. The above discussion makes it clear that 'Nazul' is a land owned and vested in State. It is such land which has vested in State by virtue of its 'Sovereignty' and incidence of 'Sovereignty' i.e. annexation, lapse and bona vacantia. Further, 'Grant' means transfer of property by a deed in writing and includes within its ambit, an instrument of lease/lease deed. Such 'Grant' is governed by provision of GG Act, 1895, which were applicable to 'Grants' executed on and after enforcement of GG Act, 1895 and rights and entitlement of private parties in respect of land, which was transferred to such person under such 'Grant' would be governed by terms and conditions contained in such 'Grant' and not by provisions of TP Act, 1882 or any other Statute. Moreover, in State of U.P., wherever applicable, U.P. Tenancy Act, 1939 and Agra Tenancy Act, 1926 will also be inapplicable to such 'Grant'.

94. For the purpose of resumption/ re-entry of land, State Government can follow procedure prescribed in the terms of lease as it is a special procedure for such purpose and it is not necessary to look into any other procedure prescribed in law.

95. We, therefore, answer questions (i) and (ii) and hold that Nazul is land owned by Government having vested by escheat, bona vacantia or lapse. Further the terms and conditions of 'Grant' a Nazul would govern relation of lessor and lessee and any other statute providing otherwise has no application.

96. The answer to questions (i) and (ii), in effect, gives answer to question (iii) also, inasmuch as, Grantee cannot transfer property, which was transferred to it by way of 'Grant' except the manner in which it is permitted by such 'Grant' and any transfer otherwise will be illegal and would not confer any right upon Transferree.

97. Here, we remind ourselves with the principle that a person can transfer only such rights and interest which he or she possess and not beyond that. If a Grantee did not possess any right of transfer or such right is subject to any restriction like prior permission of owner etc., it means that Grantee himself has no right of transfer and/or his right is restricted in a particular manner and such restriction is to be observed in words and spirit to validate such transfer, else the transfer shall be illegal and will not result in bestowing any legal right upon the Transferee. In other words, any otherwise transfer by such Grantee, of land subjected to Grant, will not confer any valid right or interest upon the person to whom Grantee had transferred property under 'Grant' in violation of stipulations contained in Grant.

98. In Delhi Development Authority Vs. Anant Raj Agencies Pvt. Ltd. (2016) 11 SCC 406 Court said :

"It is well settled position of law that the person having no right, title or interest in the property cannot transfer the same by way of sale deed."

99. In State of U.P. and others vs. United Bank of India and others (supra) considering a similar situation, Court held that any transfer without sanction of lessor will be invalid. In paras 39 and 40 of the judgment Court said as under :

"39. This "within written lease" is the original lease deed as mentioned in the Form 2 of the Nazul Manual. Form 2 of lease of Nazul land for building purposes it is one of the condition between the lessor and the lessee that " the lessee will not in any way transfer or sublet the demised premises or buildings erected thereon without the previous sanction in writing of the lessor".

40. In the present case there was nothing on the record to show that the lessee i.e. (ABP) has obtained any written sanction from the lessor i.e. Government before mortgaging his leasehold interest in the Nazul Land. Meaning thereby the mortgage done by the lessee in favour of the Bank itself is bad in law, which was done in clear violation of the terms of the lease deed i.e. mortgage of the Nazul land without previous sanction in writing of the State."(Emphasis added)

100. Further, any such invalid transfer can also be construed as breach of terms of Grant and would empower and enable principal Grantor i.e. State, owner of property, to take such steps including resumption/re-entry to the property under Grant, to itself, besides claiming damages, compensation, as the case may be, and law permits.

101. Applying above principles to the facts of writ petitions in question, we find that two Indentures of leases were executed :

(i) Dated 22.4.1890 with effect from 01.10.1886 for a period of 50 years in favour of Rai Bahadur Bindeshwari Saran Singh.

(ii) Deed executed with effect from 01.10.1936 for a period of 50 years in favour of Sureshwari Saran Singh (Grandson of Bindeshwari Sharan Singh and son of Maheshwari Saran Singh), Jagdambika Saran Singh, Brijeshwari Saran Singh (grandson of Bindeshwari Saran Singh and son of Bishweshari Saran Singh) and Badreshwari Saran Singh (grandson of Bindeshwari Saran Singh and son of Bishweshwari Saran Singh).

102. The second deed was executed in favour of three grand sons of Bindeshwari Sharan Singh, (original Lessee), though sons of Bindeshwari Sharan Singh and father of subsequent Lessees were alive but second lease contain name of only one son of Bindeshwari Sharan Singh i.e. Jagdambika Sharan Singh.

103. We may notice that other two sons of Bindeshwari Sharan Singh died issueless i.e. Bhuvneshwari Saran Singh died in 1929 i.e. before second deed was executed and Jagdishwari Saran Singh died on 01.03.1944. Bindeshwari Sharan Singh died on 27.10.1942, prior whereto lease was executed w.e.f. 01.10.1936 hence Bindeshwari Sharan Singh ceased to be Lessee and at the time of his death on 27.10.1942 there was no lease existing in his favour in respect of land in dispute. Therefore, question of devolution of any right in respect of disputed Nazul land upon all legal heirs of Bindeshwari Sharan Singh, on and after 27.10.1942 would not have arisen. His other property may have devolved upon his legal heirs but disputed Nazul land went out thereof in view of lease deed executed with effect from 01.10.1936 in favour of three grandsons and one son of Bindeshwari Sharan Singh, which was never objected by anybody. This lease, which commenced on 01.10.1936 was for a period of 50 years, thus expired, by efflux of time, on 30.09.1986. In the meantime, one of the Lessees i.e. Sureshwari Sharan Singh died on 28.5.1979 and another, Jagdambika Sharan Singh died on 03.10.1984.

104. Though, it is stated in WP-1 that an application for renewal of lease was submitted in 1985 by petitioners, but, neither any such document has been placed on record nor any exact date has been given nor we could appreciate as to how petitioners of WP-1 could have submitted such an application since they were offshoots of one of the four Lessees only, and, other co-lessees have not stated anywhere that they also filed an application in 1985 for renewal of lease though daughter of Brijeshwari Sharan Singh is petitioner in WP-4, wife of Badreswari Sharan Singh is petitioner in WP-3 and son of Badreswari Sharan Singh is petitioner in WP-2. They have also not placed any such document on record.

105. In WP-2, there is reference of family arrangement between four sons of Bindeshwari Sharan Singh, since fifth son had already died in 1929. It is said that in 1948, all four sons separated through a family arrangement executed between them, but this fact is patently false for the reason that in 1948, two sons of Bindeshwari Sharan Singh i.e. Bishweshari Sharan Singh and Jagdishwari Sharan Singh had died and hence they could not have been a party to family arrangement in 1948. Therefore, facts stated in WP-2 with respect to alleged family arrangement in 1948 between four sons of Bindeshwari Sharan Singh is patently incorrect.

106. Moreover, even if in respect of Nazul property in dispute, any private arrangement may have been made by Lessees or their offshoots, they could have confined only to the lease rights over land in dispute and not title of land. Land never belong either to Bindeshwari Sharan Singh or his sons or grandsons as it being a 'Nazul property', owned by State Government and title vested in State. Lessees could have only lease rights and that too till lease rights subsist and not beyond that.

107. Thus, as stated in WP-2 that Jagdambika Sharan Singh transferred his share in Bungalow No.11A, Queens Road, Allahabad and land appurtenant thereto to Smt. Lalita Devi, grandmother of petitioner through a registered sale deed dated 20.12.1950 in order to satisfy a decretal amount could have been read only to extent of transfer of lease rights and not land and its title itself and that too only for the period lease subsists. However, there is nothing to show that transfer was made after taking permission of Lessor, which is condition in lease-deed. The above transfer was illegal.

108. Similarly, subsequent litigation comprising of Original Suit No.74 of 1949 filed by Rameshwar Prasad Agrawal against Jagdambika Saran Singh for recovery of money and auction of property of Bungalow No.11A, Queens Road, Allahabad could have been confined only to building standing on disputed Nazul land since building could have been owned by Lessee who constructed it but it will not include within its ambit "disputed Nazul land" as it was not owned by Lessees/ Judgement Debtor. Therefore, whatever could have been purchased by Decree Holder, pursuant to decree passed in Original Suit No.74 of 1949, would have confined to the structure standing on 'disputed Nazul land' and not 'Nazul land' itself.

109. Even if we assume that lease rights in disputed Nazul land also could have been auctioned and purchased by Decree Holder still that will not result in transfer of title in the land itself since land did not belong either to Judgment Debtor or Grantees or other Transferors. Moreover, in entire petition wherever such transfer has been referred to in one or the other way, we do not find any reference of consent or permission granted by lessor i.e. State Government or its authority for such transfer. Therefore, every alleged transfer was/is illegal and would not result in transferring right to transferee.

110. Petitioners have placed on record Lease-deed dated 22.4.1890 (w.e.f. 01.10.1886) as Annexure 1 to WP-1, Annexure-4 to WP-2 and Annexure-10 to WP-3, WP-4, WP-5 and WP-6. On page 95 of WP-6, Form of Renewal of lease submitted in 1936 has also been placed on record showing that renewal of lease was prayed in the same terms and conditions as contained in earlier lease dated 22.04.1890, which was with effect from 01.10.1886 and 50 years expired on 30.09.1936. Thus, it is not in dispute that renewal of lease was granted in the same terms. The two terms and conditions of lease, relevant for present said of writ petitions, are as under :

"PROVIDED FURTHER and it is hereby agreed that the said lessee, his Executors, Administrators and Assigns shall not assign or underlet or otherwise part with the possession of the said premises or any part thereof without the permission of the said Governor United Provinces his Successors or Assigns (which permission may be signified by the said Collector or by such other person as the Government of the North-Western Provinces or the said Governor United Provinces may appoint in that behalf) for that express purpose had and obtained"

"PROVIDED ALWAYS that if the said lessee, his Executors, Administrators or Assigns shall assign or transfer these presents, or the lease or term hereby granted or created, or the unexpired portion of the said term or shall underlet the said premises or any part thereof with such permission as aforesaid unto any other person or persons of whom the said Collector shall approve, and if such person or persons shall engage any bind themselves to observe all the conditions, agreements and provisions of these presents in respect of such portion of the said term or of the said premises as shall have been so assigned or underlet to him as aforesaid and shall procure such assignments or sublease to be registered in such manner as shall be appointed by the said Governor United Provinces for the purpose of registering leases and other instruments of or relating to lands situate within the local limits of Allahabad (and for the registry of which assignments or subleases a fee of not more than Rs. 16 shall be paid by the person or persons tendering such assignments of sublease for registry) then and not otherwise the liability of the said lessee his Heirs, Executors and Administrators for the purpose or subsequent observance and performance of the covenants on the lessee's part herein contained, so far as relates to the portion of the said term or of the said premises so assigned or underlet as aforesaid, but not further or otherwise, shall cease and determine, but without prejudice however to the right of auction of the said Governor United Provinces his Successors or Assigns in respect or on account of any previous breach of any covenant or covenants herein contained." (Emphasis added)

111. Above conditions clearly show that no transfer without permission was permissible. Any violation of such conditions would result in cessation and determination of lease without any further notice etc. Thus, rights claimed by petitioners on the basis of transfer of original lease without permission of Lessor i.e. State Government or its authorities, competent for said purpose, was void ab initio and would confer no right or interest in property in dispute to such transfer.

112. In taking above view, we are fortified by judgment of Supreme Court in Azim Ahmad Kazmi and others (supra) and State of U.P. and others vs. United Bank of India and others (supra) wherein Court has said that as per terms and conditions contained in lease-deed, when procedure is prescribed for seizure of land, that will prevail and no other procedure or law is required to be followed. Only, transfer after permission is protected but where such permission is not obtained, it is clearly provided that part of Nazul land, transferred without permission, will cause lease ceased and determined.

113. Question (iii) is answered accordingly against petitioners and it is held that transfer made without permission of lessor i.e. State Government or its authorities namely Collector or Commissioner, as the case may be, would not confer any right upon transferee and will cause lease of transferred Nazul land ceased and determined.

114. Now, we proceed to answer question (iv). This question again has to be considered in the light of stipulations contained in 'Grant'. If the 'Grant' itself does not contemplate any continuance of 'Grantee' over land subjected to 'Grant' and requires Grantee to hand over or surrender possession on expiry of period of 'Grant', Grantee is obliged to do so and mere fact that he/she had continued possession over land subjected to 'Grant', will not confer any legal status upon him/her or legality to such possession after expiry of period of Grant.

115. Lot of argument at this stage has been made that despite expiry of lease right on 30.9.1986, since Lessee(s) did not hand over possession of 'disputed Nazul land' and State Government and its authorities did not take any action for taking possession of land in dispute, therefore, petitioners' possession had implied sanction of Lessor. However, no such law has been placed before us. When lease deed itself contemplate sanction, it is actual and not fictional.

116. We are informed that with regard to renewal of lease, Government circulated its policy through various G.Os. as stated in detail in Purushottam Dass Tandon and others vs. State of U.P., Lucknow and others AIR 1987 All 56. The first being G.O. issued in March, 1958 whereby Chief Minister directed that case for renewal of leases may be taken individually and possession may be taken only if lessee surrender or lease stood terminated in absence of any request from lessee for grant of fresh lease. Thereafter, on 23.04.1959, a G.O. was issued to grant fresh lease in cases where lease has already expired but has not been renewed so far, or which is likely to expire within the next 5 or 6 years, on the terms and conditions given in the said G.O. The proposed premium in the said G.O. was objected by Lease Holders, whose leases were already expired or likely to expire. Several representations were sent to the Government. Some house-owners met the then Prime Minister Late Pt. Jawahar Lal Nehru, who had visited Allahabad in November or December, 1959. It resulted in issue of G.O. dated 07.07.1960 whereby rate of premium on first three acres was reduced to Rs.2,000/- in each slab. It also permitted payment of premium in five instalments and reduced ground rent to Rs.100/- per acre. In the earlier G.O., there was an insistence on construction of Community latrines till sewer lines were laid but this insistence was given up in G.O. dated 07.07.1960. Lessees were granted further three months' time to get leases renewed. Still lease-holders did not comply and made representations to Government. On 21.03.1963, again a G.O. was issued declaring rates of premium for commercial sites. On 3.12.1965 a G.O. was issued indicating terms and conditions for renewal of leases for commercial and residential purposes and it was said that rates of premium and annual rent shall be as fixed by G.O. dated 07.07.1960. Payment in five equal yearly instalments was continued but in special cases, Commissioner, Allahabad Division, Allahabad, was authorized to make recommendations to Government for enhancing number of instalments. This G.O. further insisted for renewal of existing leases on payment of at least one instalment, within one month of receipt of intimation by Lessee from Collector, or within three months of the date of expiry of lease, whichever is earlier. Deposit was to be deemed to be proper step on the part of Lessee to get a fresh lease executed by the Lessor. The G.O. of 1965 itself made a distinction between those whose leases had expired and others by describing them as sitting and existing lessees.

117. There was a second phase which covered period from 1966 to 1981. On 16.02.1966, U.P. Awas Vikas Parishad Adhiniyam, 1965 (hereinafter referred to as "U.P. Act, 1965") was enacted for providing house sites and construction of building. G.O. dated 03.12.1965, thus was modified by G.O. dated 04.11.1968, and it was directed that leases of joint lessees should be renewed as far as possible for one acre only. Sub-division was permitted only where sub-divided plot was not less than 800 sq. yards. Concession in payment of lease money and ground rent was allowed on same terms and conditions as it was in G.O. dated 03.12.1965 but time was extended for payment of first instalment for those who had not received any intimation from Collector by a further period of one month from the date of intimation by Collector. Clause (c) of G.O. dated 04.11.1968 categorically said that where steps have been taken for renewal of leases, as stated in earlier G.Os., fresh leases shall be sanctioned according to terms offered by Competent Authority.

118. In March, 1970, a G.O. was issued banning grant of renewal of leases all over the State, since Government was contemplating to bring out legislation on Urban Ceiling. This ban was lifted on 12.01.1972 but leases henceforth were to be sanctioned by State Government only. Commissioner and Collector could make recommendations only. Aforesaid G.O., however, provided that in all those cases where Government had sanctioned grant of leases but it could not be executed or registered because of ban imposed in 1970, steps may be taken immediately for its execution. Clause (ii) of G.O. provided that all those cases in which Collector or Commissioner had approved renewal but it could not be executed because of 1970 order, should be sent to Government immediately for acceptance. On 09.05.1972 Urban Building Ceiling Bill was introduced and on 11.07.1972 Uttar Pradesh Ceiling of Property (Temporary Restriction on Transfer), Ordinance, 1972 was promulgated in pursuance of Article 398 of Constitution of India. The Ordinance continued till it was replaced by Urban Land (Ceiling and Regulation) Act, 1976 (hereinafter referred to as "Act, 1976"). The said Act was enacted to prevent concentration of Urban Property and discourage construction of luxurious houses. On 19.12.1972, provisions pertaining to Nazul were amended providing for maximum area permissible for renewal of leases of 2000 sq. yards plus land on which building was constructed. Remaining area was to be surrendered to Housing Board and Lessees were prohibited from sub-dividing or transferring any land. On 10.12.1976, Government issued an order superseding all previous orders in respect of renewal of leases of Civil Lines, Allahabad in view of Act, 1976 and laid down fresh terms and conditions for renewal of leases.

119. Here leases were to be renewed in the light of Sections 2 and 4 of U.P. Act, 1976 and while doing so, all residents in one house were to be treated as one unit. This again resulted in representations of Lease-Holders to Government requesting for reduction in rate of premium and ground rent. A G.O. was issued on 17.09.1979 superseding all previous orders and it provided for submission of details about extent and type of construction, utilisation of vacant land etc. Again representations, which culminated in G.O. dated 19.04.1981, which superseded all previous Orders and provided for renewal of leases on fresh and new terms. It said that Leaseholders and their heirs shall be treated as one Unit. They were supposed to file details about land, constructed area, its user, time when it was taken on lease etc. before 30.06.1981. List of residents including out-houses dwellers was to be prepared by District Magistrate. Heirs of deceased lease-holders were to be treated as one unit. Area for which renewal could be made was reduced to building with 500 sq. metre of land appurtenant and 500 sq. metre open land or 1500 sq. metre whichever was more. Area of building for commercial purpose was fixed at 2000 sq. metres. Premium was fixed at 50 paisa per sq. metre. Thus, from 1976 onwards for the purpose of renewal, area was reduced from acre to square metre and unit for premium and ground rent became square feet instead of acre. All heirs of Lessees became one unit for renewal. Land covered by outhouses were to be excluded. Lessees could not even opt for it.

120. However, there is nothing on record to show that petitioners ever applied and sought renewal or fresh lease either before actual expiry of lease term or thereafter, hence petitioners cannot claim any benefit under the above mentioned Government Orders.

121. Lease Holders, whose lease had already expired or those who were sitting Lease Holders and leases were going to expire in a short period, came to this Court in various writ petitions. This entire bunch was decided in Purushottam Dass Tandon and others vs. State of U.P., Lucknow and others (supra). In this bunch of writ petitions, facts, we have noted above with respect to various Government Orders, have been given in detail.

122. There were two categories of writ petitioners, before this Court, in Purushottam Dass Tandon and others (supra) as under :

(i) Those, to whom notices were given by Collector and who had complied with terms and conditions as laid down in various G.Os. issued from time to time prior to 1965; and

(ii) Those, to whom no notice was sent and till matter filed before the Court, no steps were taken and no order was passed in their favour.

123. Court held :

(I) A Lessor may, after expiry of period for which lease is granted, renew the same or resume i.e. re-enter. But if out of the two i.e. re-entry or resumption, the two divergent courses, he chooses to grant fresh lease or at least creates that impression by his conduct spread over long time, it results in abandonment.

(II) If the land is needed or building has to be demolished in public interest for general welfare, probably no exception can be taken as the interest of individual has to be sacrificed for the society. But asking Lessee to vacate land or remove Malba for no rhyme or reason but because State is the owner, cannot be accepted to be in consonance with present day philosophy and thinking about role of State.

(III) After Act, 1976, no person can successfully or validly claim to hold land more than the Ceiling limit.

(IV) Some part of G.O. of 1981 was not consistent with Act, 1976. The rules contained in Nazul Manual are set of Administrative Orders or collections of guidelines issued by Government for the authorities to deal with Government property.

(V) When a G.O. was issued and its conditions are complied with, mere for bureaucratic delay, performance under the said G.O. cannot be denied. Therefore, Lessee, who had deposited first instalment, as directed in G.O. of 1965, were entitled for renewal of their lease.

(VI) After enactment of ceiling law, a Lessee cannot hold land more than the provided limit.

(VII) If leases were renewed in respect of those, who had acquired social or political status, whose names are given in para 15 of judgment, which includes, Dr. K. N. Katju, ex-Central Law Minister, Chief Minister and Governor, Dr. S. K. Verma, ex-Chief Justice and Governor, Sri B.L. Gupta, ex-Judge High Court, J. D. Shukla, I.C.S., O. N. Misra, I.A.S., when there was no justification not to give same benefit to others, similar benefit must be given since most of them were also distinguished persons namely S.N. Kacker, ex-Central Law Minister, Solicitor General of India and Advocate General of the State, Sri S. S. Dhavan, ex-Judge, High Court and Governor and High Commissioner, Sri Lal Ratnakar Singh I.A.S. Ex-Member of Board of Revenue, M.L.Chaturvedi, ex-Judge, High Court and member of Union Public Service Commission, W. Broome, I.C.S. etc.

124. Aforesaid judgment was confirmed by Supreme Court by dismissing appeals preferred by State of U.P. and others i.e. State of U.P. and others vs. Purshottam Das Tandon and others 1989 Supp.(2) SCC 412. Supreme Court clarified that renewal of leases shall be subject to the provisions of Act, 1976 and High Court's judgment shall apply to all the leases to whom G.O. dated 23.04.1959, 02.07.1960 and 03.12.1965 were applicable and all those claiming under them. The order of Supreme Court reads as under :

"We have heard the learned counsel for both the parties at length. We do not find any infirmity in the judgment and order passed by the High Court against which these special leave petitions are preferred. We, however, make it clear that the leases that are going to be granted pursuant to the writ issued by the High Court will be subject to the provisions of the Urban Land (Ceiling and Regulation) Act, 1976. On the leases being granted, the Competent Authority under the Act shall be at liberty to apply the provisions of the Act and in particular section 15 thereof to all the leases and take away all the surplus lands in their hands after determining the surplus lands in accordance with law. The directions issued by the High Court can be availed of by all the lessees to whom the G.O. dated 23rd April, 1959, 2nd July, 1960 and 3rd December, 1965 were applicable and all those claiming under them.

All the Special Leave Petitions are dismissed accordingly with these observations. If any further directions are needed, the persons interested may approach the High Court." (Emphasis added)

125. Though, in the present case also reliance has been placed on the aforesaid judgment, but, we do not find that aforesaid judgment is applicable to petitioners or that petitioners have applied for renewal of lease in terms of relevant G.O., applicable at the relevant point of time. Hence, their status is of 'occupant' without any authority, inasmuch as, lease having already expired, possession over disputed Nazul land of petitioners or anybody else under them is without any authority of law.

126. It is contended that even if lease expired on 30.09.1986, possession of petitioners having continued on disputed Nazul land and State has not taken any step for their eviction or dispossession, it amounts to 'tacit approval' or 'sanction' by Government or Lessor recognizing petitioners' aforesaid possession to be valid and for this purpose reference is made to Section 116 of TP Act, 1882. It is also said that even if aforesaid right under Section 116 TP Act, 1882 could not have been made applicable in 1986 since at that time GG Act, 1895 was operating but the time at which impugned notice has been issued, GG Act, 1895 has already been repealed and thereafter petitioners' right are entitled to be considered in terms of TP Act, 1882 and they are entitled to take recourse to Section 116 of Act, 1882.

127. We will discuss effect of Repeal Act, 2017 at a later stage but at this stage, suffice it to mention that Section 116 TP Act, 1882 is wholly inapplicable in the case in hand. In order to attract Section 116 of TP Act, 1882, it is necessary to obtain assent of landlord for continuation of lease after expiry of lease period. Mere acceptance of rent by Lessor, in absence of any agreement to the contrary, for subsequent months where Lessee continued to occupy lease premises, has been held that it cannot be treated to be a conduct signifying 'assent' on its part. This has been held in Shanti Prasad Devi and others vs. Shankar Mahto and others (2005) 5 SCC 543 and followed in Delhi Development Authority vs. Anant Raj Agencies Pvt. Ltd. (supra).

128. In the present case, even this fact is missing that petitioners while continuing in possession, paid lease rent and premium etc. to Lessor. Section 116 of TP Act, 1882, therefore, has no application either immediately after expiry of lease merely on the ground that petitioners continued in possession over disputed Nazul land or thereafter or even after repeal of GG Act, 1895 by Repeal Act, 2017.

129. We may further notice that on account of provision of 'Savings' made in Section 4 of Repeal Act, 2017, the effect of expiry of lease continued. However, this aspect in further detail we shall deal, in a bit later, in the judgment.

130. There is one more aspect which may be considered at this stage. In State of U.P., a special Statute was enacted in 1972 i.e. U.P. Act, 1972. It also deals with a situation where a person has continued in possession over Government owned land after expiry of period for which he was authorized to remain in possession of such land and thereunder he is declared as 'Unauthorized Occupant'. We find that similar provision was also made by Parliament in Public Premises (Eviction of Unauthorised Occupants) Act, 1971 (hereinafter referred to as "Act, 1971").

131. In U.P. Act, 1972, Section 2(g) and 2(e) define "unauthorised occupation" and "public premises", and the same read as under :-

"2(g) "unauthorised occupation", in relation to any public premises, means the occupation by any person of the public premises without authority for such occupation, and includes the continuance in occupation by any person of the public premises after the authority (whether by way of grant or any other mode of transfer) under which or the capacity in which he was allowed to hold or occupy the premises has expired or has been determined for any reason whatsoever and also includes continuance in occupation in the circumstances specified in sub-section (1) of Section 7 and a person shall not, merely by reason of the fact that he had paid any amount as rent, be deemed to be in authorised occupation."

"2(e) "public premises" means any premises belonging to or taken on lease or requisitioned by or on behalf of the State Government, and includes any premises belonging to or taken on lease by or on behalf of-.

(i) any company as defined in Section 3 of the Companies Act, 1956, in which not less than fifty-one per cent of the paid-up share capitals held by the State Government: or

(ii) any local authority; or

(iii) any Corporation (not being a company as defied in Section 3 of the Companies Act, 1956 or a local authority) owned or controlled by the State Government: or

(iv) any society registered under the Societies Registration Act, 1860, the governing body whereof consists, under the rules or regulations of the society, wholly of public officers or nominees of the State Government or both:

and also includes-

(i) Nazul land or any other premises entrusted to the management of local authority (including any building built with Government funds on land belonging to the State Government after the entrustment of the land to that local authority, not being land vested in or entrusted to the management of a Gaon Sabha or any other local authority, under any law relating to land tenures):

(ii) any premises acquired under the Land Acquisition Act, 1894 with the consent of the State Government for a company (as defined in that Act) and held by that company under an agreement executed under Section 41 of that Act providing for re-entry by the State Government in certain conditions:"

(Emphasis added)

132. Definition of "unauthorized occupation" clearly includes occupation of a public premises by a person after expiry of authority to occupy such land which includes a person whose period of lease has expired and still he or she is continuing in possession. "Public Premises" includes any premises belonging to or taken on lease including "nazul land".

133. Considering provisions of U.P. Act, 1972, in Ashoka Marketing Ltd. And another vs. Punjab National Bank and others, (1990) 4 SCC 406, a Constitution Bench held that U.P.Act, 1972 being a special Act will override a general statute and a person who may have entered tenancy legally may become "unauthorized occupant" subsequently, after expiry of lease period.

134. A similar issue in the context of 'Nazul', managed by Delhi Development Authority and Government under provisions of Act, 1971 was considered in Delhi Development Authority Vs. Anant Raj Agencies Pvt. Ltd. (supra). In that case land belonged to Delhi Improvement Trust. It had executed a lease deed dated 6.1.1951 in favour of Balraj Virmani (hereinafter referred to a "original lessee"). After enactment of Delhi Development Act, 1957, Development Authority was constituted thereunder, namely, Delhi Development Authority(hereinafter referred to as "DDA"). Lease was initially for a period of 20 years i.e. from 11.8.1948 to 10.8.1968, liable for extension/renewal for further period of 20 years at the option of lessee. Original lessee on 23.2.1967 approached DDA for renewal of lease. DDA served notice on 16.2.1968 alleging breach of terms and conditions of lease deed. DDA vide notice dated 1.9.1972 terminated lease which was challenged by original lessee in Original Suit No. 47 of 1975 before Sub Judge, Delhi seeking restraint order against DDA. Suit was decreed by Sub Judge holding that notice dated 1.9.1972 terminating lease was illegal. DDA preferred appeal which was dismissed by Additional District Judge vide judgment dated 29.9.1982. DDA preferred Second Appeal in Delhi High Court, being RSA No. 06 of 1983. During pendency of second appeal, an application under Order 22 Rule 10 of Code of Civil Procedure (hereinafter referred to as "CPC") was filed alleging that original lessee has sold disputed property through sale deed to M/s. Anant Raj Agencies Pvt. Ltd.(hereinafter referred to as "subsequent purchaser"). This sale deed was claimed to have been executed between original lessee and subsequent purchaser pursuant to some compromise decree dated 22.6.1988 passed by High Court in a matter between original lessee and subsequent purchaser. The application of subsequent purchaser for substituting as respondent in second appeal filed by DDA was allowed by High Court. Further subsequent purchaser also applied to DDA for conversion of lease land to freehold and deposited a sum of Rs.96,41,892/- towards conversion charges. DDA rejected the said application of subsequent purchaser. Aggrieved thereof, subsequent purchaser preferred writ petition no. 10015 of 2005 in Delhi High which was disposed of vide order dated 19.7.2007, directing DDA to decide subsequent purchase's request for conversion of premises from lease hold to freehold. Thereafter, High Court also dismissed DDA's second appeal holding that act of demand and acceptance of rent tantamounts to renewal of lease of disputed property. It is this judgment passed in second appeal which came to be considered before Supreme Court in the aforesaid matter. One of the contentions raised on behalf of DDA was that original lessee created interest in the disputed property in favour of subsequent purchaser during the period when original lessee itself was not a lease holder since lease stood terminated by efflux of time. It was contended that original lessee had no title or interest in property which could have been transferred to subsequent purchaser and said transfer is void and not binding on DDA. Next ground was that deposit of rent by original lessee and acceptance by office of DDA is something administrative in nature and would not be construed as estoppel or waiver on the part of DDA with regard to property unless a specific intention to this effect is communicated to original lessee. Supreme Court formulated following two questions:-

"1. Whether original lessee has acquired any right in respect of property in question after termination of lease by efflux of time on 10.8.1968 and also by termination notice dated 1.9.1972, in the absence of renewal of lease by DDA in writing as provided under Clause iii(b) of lease deed, by virtue of payment of rent in the office of the DDA?

2.WhetherRespondent(subsequent purchaser) acquires any right in respect of property in question by getting substituted in place of original lessee by virtue of a compromise decree, between original lessee and Respondent based on a sale deed dated 14.10.1998 executed by original lessee, by invoking Order 22 Rule 10 of CPC during pendency of appeal before High Court?"

135. While answering question no.1, Court held that there was no renewal of lease by DDA in favour of original lessee. Court also held that a lease if has expired, it would not be necessary for lessor to terminate the same since original lease stands terminated by efflux of time after expiry of period of lease. Court said that Principle of "holding over" under Section 116 of Act, 1882 would not be applicable since there was no assent of landlord and mere acceptance of rent by lessor, in absence of an agreement to the contrary, would not render possession of lessee valid. In this regard, Court relied on its earlier decision in Shanti Prasad Devi and Another vs. Shanker Mahto and others (supra) and Sarup Singh Gupta vs. S. Jagdish Singh and others (2006) 4 SCC 205. There could not be an implied renewal to attract "holding over" on mere acceptance of rent offered by lessee.

136. In Delhi Development Authority vs. Anant Raj Agencies Pvt. Ltd. (supra) Court also held that land vested in DDA is a public premises and that being so, it is governed by Act, 1971, which shall prevail over TP Act, 1882, a general law governing landlord and tenant's relationship. Referring to definition of "Public Premises", Court said, "It can be concluded that Act, 1882 is not applicable in respect of Public premises". Court held :-

"Therefore, in the instant case, as per Clause iii(b) of the lease deed and Sections 21 and 22 of the DD Act read with Rule 43 of the Nazul Land Rules and in the light of Shanti Prasad Devi, Sarup Singh Gupta and Ashoka Marketing Ltd. Cases (supra), there cannot be an automatic renewal of lease in favour of the original lessee once it stands terminated by efflux of time and also by issuing notice terminating the lease. Merely accepting the amount towards the rent by the office of the DDA after expiry of the lease period shall not be construed as renewal of lease of the premises in question in favour of the original lessee, for another period of 20 years as contended by the Respondent."

(Emphasis added)

137. In Delhi Development Authority vs. Anant Raj Agencies Pvt. Ltd. (supra) Court also considered that land vested in DDA was a 'Nazul land' and that being so, power has been conferred upon DDA to grant lease which includes renewal of lease but in absence of said renewal of lease of property as required in law, original lessee cannot claim an automatic renewal in his favour. Court held as under:-

"Thus, it is abundantly clear from the aforesaid legal statutory provisions of the DD Act and terms and conditions of the lease deed and the case law referred supra that there is no automatic renewal of lease of the property in question in favour of the original lessee" (Emphasis added)

138. Having said so, Court held that in absence of renewal of lease, status of original lessee in relation to disputed property was that of an "unauthorized occupant" in terms of Section 2(g) of U.P. Act, 1972.

139. It also said that any act on the part of DDA in respect of other communication would make no difference, since a "Public Premises" is to be dealt with by relevant statutory provisions including Act, 1971, Nazul Land Rules and DDA Act, 1957. Thus question-1 was answered by Court as under:-

"30. Without examining the case in the proper perspective that the property in question being a Public Premises in terms of Section 2(e) of the Public Premises (Eviction of Unauthorised Occupants) Act, 1971 and that after expiry of lease period the original lessee has become unauthorized occupant in terms of Section 2(g) of the said Act in the light of relevant statutory provisions and Rules referred to supra and law laid down by the Constitution Bench of this Court in the Case of Ashoka Marketing Ltd. and Another (supra), the concurrent findings of the courts below on the contentious issue is not only erroneous but also suffers from error in law and therefore, liable to be set aside.

31.The grant of perpetual injunction by the Trial Court in favour of original lessee, restraining the DDA from taking any action under the said termination notice dated 01.09.1972, on the ground that the termination notice dated 01.09.1972 being illegal, arbitrary and without jurisdiction and the affirmation of the same by both the first appellate court, i.e. by the learned ADJ and further by the High Court by its impugned judgment and order are not only erroneous but also suffers from error in law. Thus, Point No.1 is answered in favour of the Appellant."

140. Thereafter, question-2 was considered by Court. It was held that compromise decree between original lessee and subsequent purchaser was void ab initio in law for the reason that original lessee in absence of renewal of lease in his favour himself has no right, title or interest at the time of execution of sale deed in respect of disputed property. Court said:

"It is well settled position of law that the person having no right, title or interest in the property cannot transfer the same by way of sale deed." (Emphasis added)

141. Thus, original lessee could not transfer a valid right to subsequent purchaser since itself had no right whatsoever in respect of land in dispute. Further, fact that subsequent purchaser deposited conversion charges in the office of DDA, also would make no difference. Original lessee in absence of renewal of lease, himself having become an "unauthorized occupant" of property, a transaction between original lessee and subsequent purchaser would have no legal consequence. Thus anything done between DDA and original lessee will also have no consequence. Court therefore, answered second question as under:-

"The instant case having peculiar facts and circumstances, namely, after 10.08.1968 the lease stands terminated by efflux of time, which is further evidently clear from the termination notice dated 01.09.1972 and thereafter, the original lessee becomes an unauthorised occupant in terms of Section 2(g) of the Public Premises (Eviction of Unauthorised Occupants) Act, 1971 and consequently, not entitled to deal with the property in question in any manner. The very concept of conversion of leasehold rights to freehold rights is not applicable to the fact situation." (Emphasis added)

142. In the backdrop of above discussion and relevant Statute, we may now examine status of present petitioners vis-a-vis land in dispute.

143. The lease in respect of disputed Nazul land i.e. Nazul Plot Bungalow No.17, Thornhill Road, area 2 acres and 4561 sq. yards (about 11906 sq.meters) was executed on 22.4.1890 with effect from 01.10.1886 for a period of 50 years on a monthly rent of Rs.90/-. An instrument of renewal of lease was executed on 01.10.1936 for a period of 50 years on the same terms and conditions, as stated in lease deed dated 22.4.1890. Admittedly, lease expired on 30.09.1986.

144. There is no document and it is also not the case of petitioners that lease was renewed or any fresh Grant was made on and after 30.09.1986. Though it is stated in WP-1 that petitioners applied for renewal of lease in 1985 but this fact has been denied by respondents and petitioners have not placed any document on record to support their averment that they applied for renewal of their lease in 1985. It is also not the case of petitioners that after expiry of lease, while they continued in possession, they also paid lease rent to respondents in respect of disputed land. Thus, status of original Lessee or their legal heirs became that of occupant without any authority or unauthorised occupants after expiry of term of lease and they ceased to have any valid right or interest in property in dispute. Consequently, no right was available to them to be transferred to any third party.

145. We also find that lease land i.e. Nazul land, which is owned by State has been dealt with by Lessees and others including petitioners as if it was their own property and they had title though it was not. Original Lessee was Rai Bahadur Bindeshwari Saran Singh son of Siddh Narain Singh. He was granted lease vide lease deed dated 22.04.1890 with effect from 01.10.1886 for a period of 50 years. While he was alive, a renewal lease deed was executed for a further period of 50 years with effect from 01.10.1936. This time lessees were Jagdambika Saran Singh son of Bindeshwari Saran Singh and Sureshwari Saran Singh, Brijeshwari Saran Singh and Badreshawari Saran Singh, all grandsons of Bindeshwari Saran Singh. Brijeshwari Saran Singh and Badreshawari Saran Singh were real brothers and sons of Vishweshari Saran Singh, who died on 18.11.1943 while Bindeshwari Saran Singh died on 27.10.1942. Bindeshwari Sharan Singh had five sons but only one of them i.e. Jagdambika Saran Singh joined lease deed executed with effect from 01.10.1936, as Lessee and other three were grandsons of Bindeshwari Saran Singh though Maheshwari Saran Singh father of Sureshwari Saran Singh was alive. Similarly, Bishweshari Saran Singh father of Brijeshwari Saran Singh and Badreswari Saran Singh was also alive.

146. We need not go into the question why all legal heirs of Bindeshwari Sharan Singh did not join, but the fact remains, that lease deed, which was renewed with effect from 01.10.1936 had four lessees, as named above. All the petitioners in WP-1 are daughters of one of the Lessee Sureshwari Saran Singh while other petitioners are offshoots, and, from the line of Brijeshwari Saran Singh and Badreswari Saran Singh.

147. Lease was granted for a period of fifty years to the above Lessees. They had only tenancy rights over land since land continued to be owned by State Government. Lessees and their other legal heirs however treated land as their own and made it subject to Will, family settlement and even sale-deed. These kinds of conveyance at the best can be treated as if lease rights were subjected to such conveyance since land was not owned by lessees. The land itself could not have been subjected to such conveyance by transferring title to the beneficiaries or transferees. So long as lease was subsisting and lease rights were available to lessees, any instrument of Conveyance whether sale-deed or Will or even alleged family settlement can be said to be valid only to the extent of transferring lease rights over land in dispute and nothing more than that.

148. However, any transfer of even lease right would have been valid only if made in accordance with procedure provided in lease-deed. It says that no transfer shall be made without permission of Lessor. No such permission was obtained. Thus, even aforesaid transfer is not consistent with stipulations of lease-deed, which require prior sanction of Lessor hence all such transfer were invalid.

149. Where transfer is made contrary to conditions provided in lease-deed requiring sanction of Lessor, transfer is bad and this is what has been said by Supreme Court in State of U.P. and others vs, United Bank of India and others (supra) observing as under :

"The mortgage so created by the Company in favour of the Bank in respect of nazul land without the sanction of the State of Uttar Pradesh in terms of the lease, is ab initio void, hence, no right was created in favour of the Bank by reason of the said mortgage."

150. Thus, any transfer made by Lessees without following procedure i.e. terms and conditions of lease-deed was illegal, invalid and as said by Supreme Court in State of U.P. and others vs, United Bank of India and others (supra), void ab initio. Moreover, at the best transfer could have resulted in transferring any such right or interest as possessed by Lessee i.e. lease rights and no title of land in dispute. Since land was owned by State of U.P. and there was no transfer of title by owner to anyone.

151. Counsel for petitioners at this stage sought to argue that if petitioners are to be treated as 'unauthorized occupant' in view of definition of term 'unauthorized occupant' provided in Section 2(g) of U.P.Act, 1972, in that case they can be evicted from premises in question only in accordance with procedure prescribed therein and not otherwise.

152. Here also we find no substance in the submission. Provisions of lease-deed, as we have already said, provide a procedure for re-entry. Besides relevant clauses of lease-deed which we have already quoted, there is another provision in lease-deed providing for re-entry by Government at any time and the said clause of lease deed reads as under :

"PROVIDED also that if the Government shall at any time require to re-enter on this site it can do so, on paying the value of all buildings that may be on this site, plus 10 per cent, as recompence for resumption of lease and that the lessee shall have no further claim of any sort against the Government." (Emphasis added)

153. Supreme Court has already said that terms of lease shall govern Nazul land in view of provisions of GG Act, 1895 and being a special procedure prescribed in lease deed, it shall prevail over any other law and no other procedure is required to be followed.

154. Therefore, State Government, when avail its right under terms of lease, cannot be compelled to chose another procedure. Moreover, under U.P.Act, 1972, State may proceed if it also has to recover the amount of damage, compensation etc. for unauthorized possession over public premises, which has to be ascertained by Prescribed Authority, which is not the case in hand. Therefore, it cannot be said that State Government is bound to follow procedure of U.P. Act, 1972 and cannot resort to the procedure prescribed for re-entry provided in lease-deed itself. This argument is contrary to what has been said by Supreme Court in Azim Ahmad Kazmi and others (supra), hence rejected.

155. In this context and to justify possession of petitioners over land in dispute, it is also contended that in 1992, policy of conversion of Nazul land into freehold was adopted by Government and petitioners having applied for freehold, were entitled to continue for possession till their application is decided, hence State Government could not have re-entered or resumed land in dispute. Instead, petitioners are entitled for conversion of lease into freehold. Reliance is placed on G.O. dated 23.05.1992 and subsequent ones.

156. The first such G.O. is dated 23.05.1992. The aforesaid G.O. was applicable to permanent leases given for 'residential purposes' and 'current leases', given for residential purposes. Para 1 of aforesaid G.O. reads as under :

''मुझे यह कहने का निर्देश हुआ है कि सम्यक विचारोपरान्त शासन द्वारा नजूल भूमि के प्रबन्ध एवं निस्तारण आदि की वर्तमान व्यवस्था में परिवर्तन करते हुए शाश्वत एवं चालू पट्टों के अन्तर्गत उपलब्ध नजूल भूमि का स्वैच्छिक आधार पर फ्री–होल्ड घोषित करने एवं शेष रिक्त नजूल भूमि का निस्तारण इस शासनादेश में निधारित प्रक्रिया के अनुसार करने का निर्णय लिया गया है। तद्नुसार नजूल भूमि के प्रबन्ध एवं निस्तारण आदि के सम्बन्ध में निम्नलिखित व्यवस्था तात्कालिक रूप से लागू होगी।''

"I am directed to say that after due consideration the government has while changing the extant policy of management and disposal of the Nazul land, decided to declare Nazul land available under the perpetual and current leases to be freehold on voluntary basis and to dispose remaining vacant Nazul land as per procedure prescribed in this Government Order. Accordingly, in respect of the management and disposal, etc. of the Nazul land, the following policy shall come into force with immediate effect."

(English Translation by Court)

(Emphasis added)

157. Those, who are governed by aforesaid G.O., were directed to submit their option for freehold within one year from the date of issue of G.O. and only they would be entitled for benefit under the said G.O. It also restrained any transfer of property if under lease deed. No transfer was permissible without permission. It also directed that where unauthorized possession is found, action for eviction shall be taken in accordance with law. Paras 7 and 8 of said G.O. read as under :

''(7) जिन पट्टों मे यह शर्त है कि पट्टाधिकारी बिना पट्टादाता की अनुमति के पट्टागत भूमि का हस्तान्तरण कर सकता है, वहॉ पट्टे की शर्त के विपरीत कोई हस्तक्षेप नही किया जाएगा, किन्तु जहॉ बिना पट्टादाता की अनुमति के पट्टेदार द्वारा भूमि हस्तान्तरण करने का निषेध है वहॉ इस शासनादेश के लागू होने की तिथि से किसी भी प्रकार के हस्तान्तरण पर एक वर्ष तक के लिए रोक लगा दी जाएगी। यह योजना शासनादेश जारी होने की तिथि से लागू होगी।

(8) इस बात का व्यापक प्रचार किया जाएगा कि उपरोक्त नीति अनधिकृत कब्जो के मामलों में लागू नहीं होगी और अनधिकृत कब्जों के मामलों में विधिक प्रक्रिया के अनुसार बेदखली आदि की कार्यवाही की जाएगी।''

"(7) In leases where leaseholder can transfer lease land without permission of the lessor, in such a case no interference shall be made contrary to the terms and conditions of the lease. But where transfer of land without permission of the lessor is prohibited, any transfer of land shall be stopped for a year from the date of enforcement of this Government Order. This policy shall come into force from the date of issue of the Government Order.

(8) It shall be widely circulated that the aforesaid policy shall not be applicable to the cases related to unauthorized possessions and eviction proceedings, etc. in relation to the unauthorized possessions shall be held in accordance with the legal procedure."

(English Transaction by Court)

158. The second G.O. was issued on 02.12.1992 dividing Lease-Holders in two categories. One, who had not violated conditions of lease, and, another, who had violated conditions of lease. Those, who had not violated conditions, were required to pay for conversion to freehold an amount equal to 50 percent of Circle Rate for residential purpose while those who had violated conditions of lease, are to pay 100 percent. Same was in respect of Group Housing and Commercial use with the difference of amount to be paid for freehold. Para 4 thereof also provided that such current leases where 90 years period had expired, if Lease-holder had not violated any conditions of lease and wants freehold, that can be allowed as per aforesaid G.O.. However, if he wants fresh lease, that can also be allowed for 30 years on payment of 20 percent of Circle rate as premium and 1/60th part of premium towards annual rent. Clause 4 of aforesaid G.O. reads as under :

''4. ऐसे चालू पट्टे जिनके 90 वर्ष की सम्पूर्ण अवधि समाप्त हो गई है यदि कोई पूर्व पट्टाधारक जिन्होंने पट्टे की शर्तों का उल्लंघन नहीं किया है, भूमि फ्री–होल्ड कराना चाहता है तो ऐसी दशा में निर्धारित दरों के अनुसार फ्री–होल्ड कर दिया जाएगा। यदि वह फ्री–होल्ड नही कराना चाहते है बल्कि नया पट्टा लेना चाहते है तो ऐसी दशा में 30 वर्ष के लिए एक नया पट्टा वर्तमान शर्तों के आधार पर दिया जा सकता है जिसके लिए प्रीमियम की धनराशि प्रचलित सर्किल रेट की निर्धारित दर की 20 प्रतिशत होगी और वार्षिक किराया, प्रीमियम का 1/60वां भाग प्रतिवर्ष के हिसाब से भी लिया जाएगा।''

"4 . In case of those current leases whose entire lease period of 90 years has expired, if any previous leaseholder who has not violated lease conditions, wants to get the land converted into freehold, in such a circumstance it shall be converted into freehold against the payment of the prescribed rates. If he does not want to convert it into freehold and wants to get a new lease, in such a circumstance a new lease may be awarded for 30 years under the extant terms and conditions, for which premium amount @ 20 percent of the existing circle rates and annual rent @ 1/60 of the premium shall be paid."

(English Translation by Court)

159. The third is G.O. dated 03.10.1994 again making amendment in earlier two G.Os. Relevant aspect is that vide para 2, provision made for execution of 30 years lease, where 90 years period had expired, was deleted. Para 2 of G.O. dated 03.10.1994 reads as under :

*"2. शासनादेश संख्या 3632/9–आ–4–92–293–एन/90, 2–12–1992 में ऐसे चालू पट्टे जिनके 90 वर्ष की सम्पूर्ण अवधि समाप्त हो चुकी है तथा पूर्व पट्टाधारक द्वारा पट्टे की शर्तों का उल्लंघन नहीं किया गया है, के सम्बन्ध में 30 वर्षीय पट्टा स्वीकृत किये जाने की व्यवस्था की गई थी। इस व्यवस्था को तात्कालिक प्रभाव से समाप्त किया जाता है। अब ऐसे मामले में नया पट्टा स्वीकृत नहीं किया जाएगा बल्कि ऐसे मामले में जिनमें पट्टे की सम्पूर्ण अवधि समाप्त हो चुकी है उसको उपरोक्त निर्धारित दरों पर पूर्व पट्टेदार के पक्ष में फ्री–होल्ड में परिवर्तित करने की कार्यवाही की जाएगी।"

*"2. A provision had been made in Government Order No. 3632/9-Aa-4-92-293-N/90, dated 02.12.1992 for grant of lease for 30 years for the current leases where 90 years' tenure has expired and the terms and conditions of the lease have not been violated by the former lease holder. This provision is annulled with immediate effect. Now in such cases, no new lease shall be granted; rather, in cases where entire period of lease has expired, proceedings shall taken for converting such leases into freehold in favour of the former lease holders at the aforesaid prescribed rates." (English Translation by Court) (Emphasis added)

160. Para 8 of aforesaid G.O. further provides that policy for freehold will be effective only upto 31.03.1995.

161. Considering that some very poor persons were also in occupation of 'Nazul land' and their eviction may result in serious problem of accommodation to such persons, another G.O. dated 01.01.1996 was issued making amendments in earlier three G.Os. stating that those persons whose monthly income is Rs.1,250/- or less, unauthorized possession of such persons on vacant Nazul land upto 01.01.1992 or prior thereto for residential purposes, shall be allowed freehold on payment of 25 percent premium and Rs.60/- annual rent for the said area upto 45 Sq. Meter and for more than 45 Sq.Meter but upto 100 Sq.Meter, 40 percent and Rs.120 annual rent. It clearly says that no regularization of unauthorized possession shall be made beyond 100 Sq.Meter and amount of premium shall be allowed to be paid in 10 years' interest free 6 monthly installments. Such unauthorized possession shall be regularized by approving 30 years' lease. Clauses 1, 2, 3 and 4 of aforesaid G.O. reads as under :

"(1) किसी भी दशा में 100 वर्ग मीटर से अधिक क्षेत्रफल पर किये गये अवैध कब्जों का विनियमितीकरण नहीं किया जायेगा तथा दिनांक

(2) उपरोक्त प्रकार के मामले में विनियमितीकरण की कार्यवाही 30 वर्षीय पट्टा स्वीकृत करके की जायेगी। स्वीकृत पट्टे में 30–30 वर्षीय दो नवीनीकरण के प्राविधान सहित सम्पूर्ण पट्टे की कुल अवधि दो नवीनीकरण के प्राविधान सहित सम्पूर्ण पट्टे की कुल अवधि अधिकतम 90 वर्ष की होगी। जिसमें यह शर्त होगी कि सम्बन्धित व्यक्ति भूमि का पट्टाधिकार 30 वर्ष तक किसी व्यक्ति को हस्तानान्तरित नहीं कर सकता है पट्टा शासन द्वारा निर्धारित प्रारूप पर जारी किया जायेगा।

However, if any person wishes to deposit entire money or the amount of remaining instalments in lump sum, he/she may deposit the payable amount.*

(2) In the aforesaid type of cases, regularisation proceedings shall be done by granting a lease for a period of 30 years. 162. Then vide G.O. dated 17.02.1996 again some amendments were made in respect of amount payable for freehold but earlier policy of categories of persons, who can claim freehold, was not changed. Vide G.O. dated 29.03.1996, period for giving benefit of freehold was extended from 01.4.1996 to 30.09.1996. G.O. dated 02.04.1996 only made some corrigendum in earlier G.O. dated 17.02.1996.

163. On 29.08.1996, G.O. was issued in furtherance of G.O. dated 17.02.1996 stating that under G.O. dated 17.02.1996, freehold rights to Nominees of Lease-Holders were allowed and in reference thereto, rates on which such Nominees shall be allowed freehold, were mentioned.

164. We find that G.O. dated 17.02.1996 nowhere permits conversion of Nazul land into freehold in favour of Nominees of Lessee and thus we have no manner of doubt that G.O. dated 29.08.1996, insofar as it refers to G.O. dated 17.02.1996, has erred in law and it is a clear misreading. If G.O. dated 17.02.1996 itself had not permitted freehold rights to Nominee(s) of Lessee, question of rights determined by G.O. dated 29.08.1996 is of no legal consequence and would remain inoperative.

165. Then vide G.O. dated 25.10.1996, implementation of freehold policy was extended upto 31.12.1996. Then G.O. dated 31.12.1996 was issued to clarify G.O. dated 17.02.1996 in respect of applicability of rate, where land use at the time of grant of lease was changed in Master plan.

166. G.O. dated 26.09.1997 made amendments in all earlier G.Os. in respect of rates for Nazul land being used for hospital and other charitable purposes. It also clarifies as to which contravention of lease deed will be treated as violation to attract higher rate. It also provides in para 6(2) that Government has got right of re-entry due to violation of any conditions of lease and lease had already expired, and such Lease-Holder may be informed of Nazul policy and be given an opportunity to apply for freehold whereafter action for dispossession will be taken. The policy of conversion of freehold was extended upto 25.12.1997.

167. Then comes G.O. dated 01.12.1998. Thereunder only two categories were made i.e. residential and non-residential. Restriction was also imposed on certain Nazul land in respect whereto conversion of freehold shall not be allowed.

168. Vide G.O. dated 10.12.2002, it was clarified that freehold conversion shall not be allowed to nominee of Lessee or his legal heirs. G.O. dated 31.12.2002 relates to rates and clarification hence are not relevant for the purpose of present case.

169. Vide G.O. dated 04.08.2006, provision for regularization of Nazul land which was in unauthorized possession, was deleted. It is also said that in all the matters, where freehold document has not been registered, application shall be cancelled. Vide G.O. dated 15.02.2008 clarification was given in respect of G.O. dated 04.08.2006 and it was reiterated that in all those matters where freehold document has not been registered, application shall be rejected.

170. Vide G.O. dated 21.10.2008, Clause 3 of G.O. dated 10.10.2002, whereby provision for conversion of freehold to Nominee of Lessee or his legal heirs was ceased, was restored. It was also clarified that decision to convert freehold of Nazul land will apply only when such land is not found necessary for Government use.

171. G.O. dated 26.05.2009 made an amendment in para 2(6) of G.O. dated 21.10.2008 and substituted following paras therein :

*"ऐसे नजूल भूमियां जो भू–धारक या पट्टाधारक या उनके विधिक उत्तराधिकारी / नामित की भूमि के साथ स्थित है तथा उनके

लिए उपयोगी सिद्ध हो सकती हैं तथा किसी अन्य के उपयोग की सम्भावना नहीं प्रतीत होती है। ऐसी भूमि का विनियमितीकरण भू–धारक या पट्टाधारक या उनके विधिक उत्तराधिकारी / नामित के पक्ष में वर्तमान सर्किल रेट शत प्रतिशत प्राप्त कर फ्री–होल्ड कर दिया जायेगा। ऐसे मामलों में शासन की अनुमति आवश्यक होगी।''

*"Those nazul lands which are lying adjacent to the land of land holder or lease holder or his legal successor/his nominee, and which can be of utility to them and do not appear to have the potential of being used by any other person, shall be regularised and converted into freehold in favour of the land holder or lease holder or his legal successor/nominee after receiving cent percent current circle rate. In such matters, the permission of the government shall be necessary."

(Emphasis added)

172. Further time for conversion into freehold was extended upto 31.12.2009.

173. G.Os. dated 29.01.2010, 17.02.2011 and 01.8.2011 were issued making minor amendments hence not discussed further.

174. Then comes G.O. dated 28.09.2011. It talks of policy of conversion of Nazul land into freehold, which was not listed at any point of time but has been occupied unauthorizedly and occupants have raised their construction and using land prior to 01.12.1998. However, land of public places, park, side-lanes of road and other Government uses was excluded and maximum area for such freehold was confined to 300 Sq.Meter. The incumbent had to apply within three months whereafter they have to be evicted. With respect to 'Nominees of Lessees', para 5 of said G.O. reads as under :

''5. नामित व्यक्ति के पक्ष में नजूल भूमि को फ्रीहोल्ड किये जाने की व्यवस्था को समाप्त किया जाना– नजूल भूमि के पट्टेदार द्वारा नामित व्यक्ति के पक्ष में नजूल भूमि को फ्रीहोल्ड किये जाने की व्यवस्था सर्वप्रथम शासनादेश संख्या : 1300/9–आ–4–96–629एन/95, टी.सी. दिनांक 29–8–1996 के प्रस्तर–1 (3) (4) में की गयी थी और शासनादेश संख्या 2873/9–आ–4–2002–152–एन/2002, टी.सी. दिनांक 10–12–2002 के प्रस्तर 3 द्वारा उक्त व्यवस्था समाप्त कर दी गयी तथा शासनादेश संख्या : 1956/आठ–4–08–266एन/08, दिनांक 21–10–2008 के प्रस्तर– 2 (4) द्वारा उक्त व्यवस्था पुनः बहाल कर दी गयी है। इस व्यवस्था के सम्बन्ध में मा0 उच्च न्यायालय में विचाराधीन रिट याचिका (जनहित याचिका) संख्या : 35248/2010–जयसिंह बनाम उत्तर प्रदेश राज्य व अन्य में पारित अन्तरिम आदेश दिनांक 16–07–2010 में दिये गये निर्देशों के दृष्टिगत उपर्युक्त शासनादेश दिनांक 21–10–2008 का प्रस्तर 2 (4) जिसके द्वारा नामिनी के पक्ष में नजूल भूमि को फ्रीहोल्ड किये जाने की व्यवस्था बहाल की गयी है, को समाप्त करते हुए अब ऐसे व्यक्ति जिनके पक्ष में क्रय की जा रही सम्पत्ति (नजूल भूमि) को पट्टेदार द्वारा रजिस्टर्ड एग्रीमेंट टू सेल किया गया हो और पूर्ण स्टाम्प शुल्क अदा किया गया हो, उसी व्यक्ति के पक्ष में ही नजूल भूमि को फ्रीहोल्ड किया जायेगा।''

*"5. Cessation of the provision of converting the nazul land into freehold in favour of the nominee:- The provision of converting nazul land into freehold in favour of nominee by the lease holder of the land had first been provided in the para- 1 (3)(4) of the Government Order No. 1300/9-Aa-4-96-629N/95, TC dated 29-08-1996; and by para 3 of the Government Order No. 2873/9-Aa-4-2002-152-N/2002, TC dated 10.12.2002, the aforesaid provision was annulled;

*and through para 2(4) of the Government Order No. 1956/VIII-4-08-266N/08, dated 21.10.2008, the afore-said provision has been restored again. (English Translation by Court)
(Emphasis added)

175. Aforesaid G.Os. thus clearly show that eligibility of leases of Nazul land, as initially laid down in G.O. of 1992 underwent some changes but in respect of land found suitable or needed by Government, no freehold was permissible. With respect to violation of terms and conditions of lease etc., some relaxation has been given.

176. Lastly there are two more G.Os. i.e. 04.03.2014 and 15.01.2015 wherein policy of freehold has been virtually given a relook and substantial amendments have been made in earlier policy.

177. It is no doubt true that Government has promulgated policy of conversion of lease land into freehold even in those cases where lease has expired, but then question is "whether mere submission of application for freehold will confer a vested right upon petitioners to get Nazul land converted into freehold, which will override even power of re-entry of Lessor. A Full Bench of this Court in Anand Kumar Sharma vs. State of U.P. and others 2014(2) ADJ 742 has considered this aspect and held in para 42 of judgment that merely by making an application for grant of freehold right, petitioner did not acquire a vested right. Para 42 of the judgment reads as under :

*"We after considering the relevant Government Orders on the subject and pronouncements of the Apex Court as noted above, are of the view that merely by making an application for grant of right, petitioner did not acquire a vested right." (Emphasis added)

178. A Division Bench of this Court in Writ Petition No.62588 of 2010, M/s Madhu Colonizers Pvt. Ltd. vs. State of U.P. & Ors., decided on 02.04.2013 has held that if Government exercises right of re-entry, question of a person to claim freehold would not arise and where such a right cannot be claimed by Lessee, right of nominee cannot survive over such lessee. Court has said as under :

*"It is also found that as nominee of the lessee, the petitioner-Company cannot have any larger rights than the lessee and once the order of the District Magistrate for resumption the land in exercise of power under Clause 3(c) of the lease deed is held to be valid, the petitioner-Company, as a nominee, cannot have any surviving right to claim conversion of the lease hold rights into freehold. Infact, on valid resumption order being passed, the lease hold rights cease to exist and there can be no occasion for conversion of lease hold rights into freehold rights in such circumstances." (Emphasis added)

179. Moreover, it is also evident from record that application of petitioner in WP-1 for conversion of leasehold right into freehold has been rejected vide order dated 23.5.2015 and that order is not under challenge. Lastly, scheme of G.Os. makes it clear wherever Nazul is required by Government for public purposes or own use, freehold shall not be allowed. Thus, claim set up on the basis of aforesaid G.Os. also have no force and is rejected.

180. Question (iv), therefore, is answered accordingly and we hold that after expiry of period of lease, none of the petitioners had any legal, contractual or otherwise right in respect of land in dispute and they were not holding possession of land validly. Further once State exercise right of re-entry, question of conversion of lease right into freehold would not arise.

181. Before proceeding further, we find it difficult to desist from observing that freehold policy, commenced in 1992, took care of a limited category of occupants of Nazul land i.e. Lessees, who had perpetual lease or where lease was continuing and there was no violation of conditions of lease. Meaning thereby, Leaseholders, who had faithfully abided to the terms and conditions of lease, were chosen as a class by themselves and provision was made to convert lease rights into freehold in such cases. One may not dispute about such policy in the light of fact that these leases are several decades old and people holding such leases had developed some kind of possessory right in property and recognizing such interest of Lessees, howsoever weak it was, if State Government chose to confer upon them benefit of conversion of lease right into freehold, one may not validly object to that and probably such policy may satisfy constitutional test of fairness, non-discrimination, non-arbitrariness etc.

182. But with the passage of time, in the garb of improvement in the policy, amendments were made by numerous Government Orders issued from time to time, which we have referred hereinabove and that opened on unrestricted area of beneficiaries, i.e. wholly strangers namely mere Nominees of Lessee, who had no prior interest in property in question; and flagrant defaulters and violators of terms of lease etc. Such provisions, in our view, are difficult to sustain as to satisfy constitutional validity of policy of freehold under aforesaid Government Orders. In our view, it is ex facie arbitrary and violative of Article 14 of Constitution of India. One cannot lose sight and ignore historical backdrop of allotment of Nazul land. Persons who were sympathetic to Britishers and for services rendered by individuals in the interest of Colonial Forces, helping them in their administration; or some otherwise highly resourceful people, were given such allotment. After independence, if State wanted to distribute its largesse/assets, we can understand, if a scheme would have been evolved to distribute Nazul land, by terminating lease, to weaker and poor people or landless people or if objective was to augment revenue, then State largesse/assets instead of distributing in a clandestine manner by confining such benefit to certain individuals, appropriate mode of auction of land to general public should have been adopted. We do not know what prevailed with State Government in making policy, which was initially not so apparently erratic, to become a boon to defaulters and also give opportunity to certain individuals in trading of land after getting land freehold on much lesser amount than what actually market value of land is. In the present case itself, petitioners have said that they paid money to Harihar Nath Dhar and therefore, Harihar Nath Dhar actually benefited himself of the property owned by State without giving any return to State and this had continued for decades together. Thus, Prima facie, we are satisfied that policy of freehold, as it stands today, helps scrupulous, resourceful land dealers, Land Mafias and similar other persons. It is neither in public interest nor satisfies test of public policy nor consistent with constitutional test, in particular, Article 14 of Constitution of India.

183. However, we are not expressing any final opinion on this aspect but this Court desires that it is high time and sooner is the better, that State Government must re-examine entire policy and if purpose is only to augment revenue, Government should sell public land by auction so that it may get best price or policy should be confined for the benefit of have-nots i.e. poor landless and weaker sections of the Society.

184. Now we deal with questions (v), (vi) and (vii) together.

185. Learned Senior Counsel has founded his submissions on the basis of Section 106 read with 116 TP Act, 1882 that petitioners having continued in possession after expiry of period of lease, are entitled to be treated as 'holding over' and could not have been evicted without following procedure prescribed under TP Act, 1882 since when impugned order was passed, GG Act, 1895 stood already repealed as a result whereof TP Act, 1882 would apply and for this purpose he also placed reliance on Supreme Court's judgment in The State of U.P. vs. Zahoor Ahmad and another (supra). He also said that even if possession is unauthorized, petitioner cannot be evicted arbitrarily but State is bound to follow procedure consistent with law and principles of natural justice and for this purpose, reliance is placed on Supreme Court's judgments in Bishan Das and others Vs. State of Punjab and others AIR 1961 SC 1570, Express Newspapers Pvt. Ltd. and others Vs. Union of India (1986) 1 SCC 133, Yar Mohammad and another vs. Lakshmi Das and others AIR 1959 Allahabad 1 and Lallu Yeshwant Singh (dead) by his legal representative vs. Rao Jagdish Singh and others, AIR 1968 SC 620.

186. On this aspect, we have already considered the matter substantially while considering issues (iii) and (iv). Here we will consider the matter further in the light of Repeal Act, 2017 and authorities cited and relied by petitioners, as noted above.

187. It is not in dispute that GG Act, 1895 has been repealed by Repeal Act, 2017. However, Section 4 thereof provides for saving of certain aspect and read as under :

"4. Savings.- The repeal by this Act of any enactment shall not affect any other enactment in which the repealed enactment has been applied, incorporated or referred to;

and this Act shall not affect the validity, invalidity, effect or consequences or anything already done or suffered, or any right, title, obligation or liability already acquired, accrued or incurred, or any remedy or proceeding in respect thereof, or any release or discharge of or from any debt, penalty, obligation, liability, claim or demand, or any indemnity already granted, or the proof of any past act or thing;

nor shall this Act affect any principle or rule of law, or established jurisdiction, form or course of pleading, practice or procedure, or existing usage, custom, privilege, restriction, exemption, office or appointment, notwithstanding that the same respectively may have been in any manner affirmed or recognized or derived by, in or from any enactment hereby repealed;

nor shall the repeal by this Act of any enactment revive or restore any jurisdiction, office, custom, liability, right, tittle, privilege, restriction, exemption, usage, practice, procedure or other matter or thing not now existing or any force."

188. Section 4 of Repeal Act, 2017 clearly protects effect or consequences or anything already done or suffered, which includes effect of expiry of lease and obligation of Lessee to surrender possession of leased land to State. Further, Lessee had already agreed that State can re-enter land at any point of time. They are bound by said clause of lease-deed. This is an obligation as also liability of petitioners and right of State incurred, acquired and accrued in view of terms of lease-deed. Mere fact that it has been exercised after repeal of GG Act, 1895 would make no difference since all earlier situations/aspect have been protected by Section 4 of Repeal Act, 2017. Therefore, it cannot be said that after repeal of GG Act, 1895 by Repeal Act, 2017, petitioners' status would stood changed vis-a-vis disputed Nazul land in respect whereof State is entitled to re-entry and resume land in terms of conditions of lease.

189. The judgment cited by learned counsel for petitioners, in our view, are not at all applicable to the facts of this case as demonstrated hereinafter.

190. In Bishan Das and others Vs. State of Punjab and others AIR 1961 SC 1570, a Constitution Bench had an occasion to consider fundamental right of property vis-a-vis infringement therewith by executive orders. Therein, one Lala Ramji Das , carrying on a joint family business in the name and style of Faquir Chand Bhagwan Das, desired to construct a Dharmasala on a Nazul property of the then State of Patiala. In 1909, he sought permission of Government to construct a Dharmasala on the said land, since it situate near Barnala Railway Station, and therefore would have been convenient to Travellers who come to that place. It appears that initially for the same purpose, Patiala Government had granted permission to Choudhuris of Barnala bazar, but they could not do so for want of funds. Therefore when Ramji Das sought permission in the name of firm Faquir Chand Bhagwan Das in May, 1909, same was granted and communicated by Assistant Surgeon in-charge of Barnala Hospital, who was presumably in-charge of public health arrangements at Barnala. The sanction was subject to certain conditions, namely, no tax shall be taken for the land; shopkeepers will arrange 'Piao' for the passengers; plans of the building shall be presented before sanctioning authority; cleanliness and sanitary rules shall be followed by the persons maintaining Dharmasala and no permission to construct any shop will be granted and if any condition is violated, State shall dispossess them from the land in dispute.

191. Dharmasala was constructed in 1909 and inscription on the stone to the following effect was made:

"Dharmasala Lala Faquir Chand Bhagwan Das, mahajan, 1909."

192. Though a condition was imposed for not permitting construction of any shop, but as a matter of fact, a number of shops were later constructed, with the permission of authorities concerned, for meeting expenses of maintenance of Temple and Dharmasala. A complaint was made in 1911 against Ramji Das that he was utilizing Dharmasala for his private purpose but it remained unheeded. On the complaint made, some inquiry was also conducted by Tehsildar wherein Ramji Das got his statement recorded in January, 1925. On 07.04.1928, Revenue Minister, Patiala State, passed an order stating that though land on which Dharmasala had been built, was originally Government land (nazul property), it would not be proper to declare it as such and Dharmasala should continue to exist for the benefit of the public. Ramji Das or any other person will not be competent to transfer land and if such transfer is made, it would be unlawful and invalid and in such event, Government will escheat. Some further inquiry were also made and it appears that Ramji Das was given permission to make a raised platform and other extensions etc. On 10.09.1954, one Gopal Das, Secretary, Congress Committee, Barnala, filed a petition to the Revenue Minister, Patiala, making various allegations against Ramji Das. Thereupon an inquiry was conducted by Tahsildar, who found that Dharmasala was constructed by Ramji Das on Government lands, that Dharmasala was for public benefit; and, that Ramji Das had been its Manager throughout. He, however, said that Ramji Das was bound to render accounts which he failed considering that property belong to him and, therefore, he should be removed and past accounts be called for. When the matter went for opinion of Legal Remembrancer of State Government, it was pointed out that Dharmasala and Temple, though built on Government land, but not Government property. It also said that though Ramji Das was repudiating the existence of a public trust, he was working as Trustee of a trust created for public purposes of a charitable or religious nature and could be removed by State only under Section 92 Civil Procedure Code. Ramji Das died on 10.12.1957. Petitioner Bishan Das and others came to manage Dharmasala, Temple and the shops etc. On 23.12.1957, Gopal Das and some others describing themselves as members of public, made an application that since Ramji Das was dead, new arrangements should be made for proper management of Dharmasala which is used for the benefit of the public. Again a search of old papers was made and this time Sub-Divisional Officer, Barnala, recommended that in the interest of Government, Municipal Committee, Barnala, should take immediate charge of the management of Dharmasala. This recommendation was affirmed by the Deputy Commissioner, Sangrur, and pursuant to the said order, Kanungo presumably dispossessed Bishan Das and others from part of Dharmasala on 07.01.1958 and charge thereof was given to Municipal Committee, Barnala. These orders were challenged by petitioners alleging that the same were without any authority of law and violative of fundamental rights enshrined under Articles 14, 19 and 31 of the Constitution.

193. The defence taken was that property is trust property of a public and charitable character, hence Bishan Das and others were not entitled to claim any property rights in respect thereof.

194. Supreme Court observed in Para-10 that even if it is assumed that the property is trust property, no authority of law authorizing State or its Executive Officers to take action against Bishan Das and others in respect of Dharmasala was shown. Government counsel sought to argue that Bishan Das and others were trespassers and land on which Dharmasala situate belong to Government, hence Government was entitled to use minimum of force to eject trespassers. But this defence was also rejected by Supreme Court holding that it is a clear case of violation of fundamental right of Bishan Das and others. Supreme Court said that nature of sanction granted in 1909 in respect of land whether it was a lease or licence, with a Grant or an irrevocable licence are questions of fact, need not be gone into by it but admitted position is that land belonged to the Government who granted permission to Ramji Das on behalf of joint family firm to build a Dharmasala, Temple and Shops and manage the same during his life time. After his death his family members continued with management. Thus, they were not trespassers at all in respect of Dharmasala, Temple and Shops; nor could it be held that Dharmasala, Temple and Shops belong to the State. The question whether trust created was public or private is irrelevant. Court said that a Trustee, even of a public trust, can be removed only by procedure known to law. He cannot be removed by an executive fiat. The maxim, what is annexed to the soil goes with the soil, has not been accepted as an absolute rule of law in India and in this regard, Supreme Court referred to decision in Thakoor Chunder Parmanick Vs. Ramdhone Bhuttacharjee (1866) 6 W.R. 228; Lala Beni Ram Vs. Kundan Lall (1899) L.R. 26 I.A. 58 and Narayan Das Khettry Vs. Jatindranath (1927) L.R. 54 I.A. 218. Court said that a person who bona fide puts up constructions on land belonging to others with their permission would not be a trespasser, nor would the buildings so constructed vest in the owner of the land by application of maxim quicquid plantatur solo, solo credit. It said:

"It is, therefore, impossible to hold that in respect of the dharmasala, temples and shops, the State has acquired any rights whatsoever merely by reason of their being on the land belonging to the State. If the State thought that the constructions should be removed or that the condition as to resumption of the land should be invoked, it was open to the State to take appropriate legal action for the purpose."

(Emphasis added)

195. Court said that even if State proceeded on the assumption that there was a public trust, it could have taken appropriate legal action for removal of Trustees by way of Suit under Section 92 C.P.C. and not otherwise. Constitution Bench then said:

*" .. that does not give the State or its executive officers the right to take the law into their own hands and remove the trustee by an executive order." (Emphasis added)

196. Court concluded its findings in Para-14 of the judgment as under:

"The facts and the position in law thus clearly are (1) that the buildings constructed on this piece of Government land did not belong to Government, (2) that the petitioners were in possession and occupation of the buildings and (3) that by virtue of enactments binding on the Government, the petitioners could be dispossessed, if at all, only in pursuance of a decree of a Civil Court obtained in proceedings properly initiated."

197. Court passed serious stricture against State authorities holding that the executive action taken by State and its Officers is destructive of the basic principle of the rule of law. Hence action of Government in taking law into their hands and dispossessing petitioners by display of force, exhibits a callous disregard of normal requirements of rule of law, apart from what might legitimately and reasonably be expected from a Government functioning in a society governed by a Constitution which guarantees to its citizens against arbitrary invasion by Executive of peaceful possession of property. Supreme Court reiterated what was said in its earlier judgment in Wazir Chand Vs. The State of Himachal Pradesh AIR 1954 SC 415 that State or its executive officers cannot interfere with the rights of others unless they can point out some specific rule of law which authorizes their acts. Supreme Court seriously deprecated State and said:

"We have here a highly discriminatory and autocratic act which deprives a person of the possession of property without reference to any law or legal authority. Even if the property was trust property it is difficult to see how the Municipal Committee, Barnala, can step in as trustee on an executive determination only." (Emphasis added)

198. Aforesaid decision has no application in the case in hand, inasmuch as, here State has exercised its power following terms and conditions laid down under lease-deed itself, which were made to prevail over any Statute providing otherwise including TP Act, 1882 vide Section 2 of GG Act, 1895. Further, respondents, in exercise of right of resumption/re-entry, have not straightway went to dispossess petitioners but notice in question has been given to them giving time to vacate the premises whereafter respondents proposed to take further action for taking possession. Therefore, it cannot be said that no notice has been given to petitioners in the present case.

199. Express Newspapers Pvt. Ltd. and others Vs. Union of India (1986) 1 SCC 133 is a matter which was decided in a Writ Petition filed under Article 32 of Constitution by the aforesaid Newspaper Company having its Establishment in Express Buildings at 9-10, Bahadurshah Zafar Marg, New Delhi, which was a land on perpetual lease from Union of India, under a registered Indenture of Lease, dated 17.03.1958. Five petitioners, who filed above Writ

Petition before Supreme Court included Indian Express Newspaper (Bombay) Private Limited of which Express Newspapers Private Limited was a subsidiary and petitioners-3, 4 and 5, namely, Sri Ram Nath Goenka was Chairman of the Board of Directors, Nihal Singh was the Editor-in-chief of the Indian Express and Romesh Thapar was the Editor of the Seminar published from the Express Buildings. Union of India; Lt. Governor of Delhi, Sri Jagmohan; Municipal Corporation of Delhi; Zonal Engineer (Buildings) and Land and Development Officer were impleaded as respondents-1 to 5. The validity of notice of re-entry upon forfeiture of lease issued by Engineer Officer, Land and Development Office, New Delhi on 10.03.1980 was challenged. The notice required petitioners to show cause why Union of India should not re-enter upon and take possession of the demised premises i.e. plots nos. 9 and 10, Bahadurshah Zafar Marg, together with Buildings built thereon under Clause 5 of Indenture of Lease, dated 17.03.1958, for committing breach of Clauses 2(14) and 2(5) of lease-deed. Another notice was issued earlier on 01.03.1980 by Zonal Engineer (Buildings), Municipal Corporation, City Zone, Delhi requiring Express Newspapers Pvt. Ltd., New Delhi to show cause why aforesaid buildings being unauthorized be not demolished under Sections 343 and 344 of the Delhi Municipal Corporation Act, 1957 (hereinafter referred to as "DMC Act, 1957"). A challenge was made, besides others, on the ground of personal vendetta against Express Group of Newspapers and also being violative of Articles 14, 19(1)(a) and 19(1)(g) of the Constitution. The questions posed by Supreme Court, to be of far reaching consequence for maintenance of federal structure of Government, were:

(1) Whether the Lt. Governor of Delhi could usurp the functions of the Union of India, Ministry of Works and Housing and direct an investigation into the affairs of the Union of India i.e. question the legality and propriety of the action of the then Minister for Works and Housing in the previous Government at the center in granting permission to Express Newspapers Pvt. Ltd. to construct new Express Building with an increased FAR of 360 with a double basement for installation of a printing press for publication of a Hindi Newspaper on the western portion of the demised premises i.e. Plots No. 9 and 10, Bahadurshah Zafar Marg, New Delhi with the Express Buildings built thereon?

(2) Whether the grant of sanction by the then Minister for Works and Housing and the consequential sanction of building plans by him of the new Express Building was contrary to the Master Plan and the Zonal Development Plans framed under the Delhi Development Act, 1957 and the municipal bye-laws, 1959 made under the DMC Act, 1957 and therefore the lessor i.e. the Union of India had the power to issue a notice of re-entry upon forfeiture of lease under Clause 5 of the indenture of lease dated March 17, 1958 and take possession of the demised premises together with the Express Buildings built thereon and the Municipal Corporation had the authority to direct demolition of the said buildings as unauthorized construction under Sections 343 and 344 of the DMC Act, 1957?

(3) Whether the threatened action which the petitioners characterise as arbitrary, illegal and irrational was violative of Article 19(1)(a) read with Article 14 of the Constitution?

200. Thereafter Court analyzed the facts of case in detail and respective arguments and from Para-45 to 47 we find that Government of India and Lt. Governor of Delhi were head on to each other and even Council's role was not appreciated by Court. In the light of arguments advanced by parties, in para-59 of judgment, Court formulated eight questions. The issue of maintainability of writ petition under Article 32 was also raised and it was considered by Supreme Court in the judgment from para-66 onwards and it was held that building in question was necessary for running press. Any statutory or executive action to pull it down or forfeit the lease, would directly impinge on the right of freedom of speech and expression under Article 19(1)(a) and therefore, writ petition was maintainable. Court said:

"... impugned notices of re-entry upon forfeiture of lease and of the threatened demolition of the Express Buildings are intended and meant to silence the voice of the Indian Express. It must logically follow that the impugned notices constitute a direct and immediate threat to the freedom of the press and are thus violative of Article 19(1)(a) read with Article 14 of the Constitution."

201. Since, land in dispute was Government land, provisions of GG Act, 1985 were also relied on by Government and, therefore, Supreme Court examined provisions thereof also. It held that GG Act, 1895 is an explanatory or declaratory act. It said:

"Doubts having arisen as to the extent and operation of the Transfer of Property Act, 1882 and as to the power of the Government to impose limitations and restrictions upon grants and other transfers of land made by it or under its authority, the Act was passed to remove such doubts as is clear from the long title and the preamble. The Act contains two sections and provides by Section 2 for the exclusion of the Transfer of Property Act, 1882 and, by Section 3 for the exclusion of, any rule of law, statute or enactment of the Legislature to the contrary." (Emphasis added)

202. In Express Newspapers Pvt. Ltd. and others Vs. Union of India (supra) Court further said:

"It is plain upon the terms that Section 2 excludes the operation of the Transfer of Property Act, 1882 to Government grants. While Section 3 declares that all provisions, restrictions, conditions and limitations contained over any such grant or transfer as aforesaid shall be valid and shall take effect according to their tenor, notwithstanding any rule of law, statute or enactment of the Legislature to the contrary. A series of judicial decisions have determined the overriding effect of Section 3 making it amply clear that a grant of property by the Government partakes of the nature of law since it overrides even legal provisions which are contrary to the tenor of the document. " (Emphasis added)

203. Having said so, Supreme Court found that the stand taken on behalf of Union of India that there was non compliance of mandatory requirement of Clause-6, therefore notice of re-entry was valid, is not correct.

204. Court then noted some contradictions in Constitution Bench judgment in Bishan Das and others Vs. State of Punjab and others (supra) and State of Orissa Vs. Ram Chandra Dev AIR 1964 SC 685.

205. In State of Orissa Vs. Ram Chandra Dev (supra), Constitution Bench observed:

"Ordinarily, where property has been granted by the State on condition which make the grant resumable, after resumption it is the grantee who moves the Court for appropriate relief, and that proceeds on the basis that the grantor State which has reserved to itself the right to resume may, after exercising its right, seek to recover possession of the property without filing a suit. "

(Emphasis added)

206. It was observed that existence of a right is the foundation for a petition under Article 226 of the Constitution. In Para-84 Court said that in cases involving purely contractual issues, the settled law is, where statutory provisions of public law are involved, writs will be issued and referred to its earlier judgment in Mohammed Hanif Vs. State of Assam (1969) 2 SCC 782. Thereafter it also considered the provisions of Act, 1971 and observed that Express building was constructed with the sanction of lessor, i.e., Union of India on plots demised on 'perpetual lease' by registered lease-deed dated 17.03.1958 hence cannot be regarded as 'public premises' belonging to the Central Government under Section 2(e). That being so, Act, 1971 has no application.

207. Court then considered other provisions of power of Lt. Governor, and Central Government and factual aspects involved in the matter, and, in our view, the same are not relevant for the purpose of this Case. Court also examined applicability of doctrine of estoppel but that has also not been raised in these matters, hence it is not necessary to examine them.

208. One aspect we may notice hereat that detailed judgment has been written by Hon'ble A.P. Sen, J. Justice E.S. Venkataramiah has agreed with the judgment of Hon'ble A.P. Sen, J in relation to the aspect that Lt. Governor of Delhi, Sri Jagmohan, has taken undue interest in getting notices issued to Express Newspapers and this action is not consistent with normal standards of administration and issued under pressure of Lt. Governor of Delhi, notices were violative of Article 14, suffers with arbitrariness and non application of mind. His Lordship said that it was not necessary to express any opinion on the contention based on Article 19(1)(a) of Constitution. Hon'ble Venkataramiah further said that question relating to civil rights of the parties flowing from the lease deed cannot be disposed of in a petition under Article 32 of the Constitution since questions whether there has been breach of the covenants under the lease, whether lease can be forfeited, whether relief against forfeiture can be granted etc. are foreign to the scope of Article 32 of the Constitution which should be tried in a regular civil proceeding. His Lordship further said in Para-202 of judgment as under:

"One should remember that the property belongs to the Union of India and the rights in it cannot be bartered away in accordance with the sweet will of *an Officer or a Minister or a Lt. Governor but they should be dealt with in accordance with law. At the same time a person who has acquired r*ights in such property cannot also be deprived of them except in accordance with law."

209. Having said so, while agreeing with ultimate order of quashing of notices, Hon'ble Venkataramiah, J. said:

"I express no opinion on the rights of the parties under the lease and all other questions argued in this case. They are left open to be decided in an appropriate proceeding."(Emphasis added)

210. Hon'ble R.B. Misra, J. also agreed with Hon'ble A.P. Sen and E.S. Venkataramiah, JJ that the notice challenged in writ petition is invalid, having no legal consequences and must be quashed for reasons detailed in both the judgments. His Lordship, however, said that other questions involved in the case are based upon contractual obligations between the parties and can be satisfactorily and effectively dealt with in a properly instituted suit and not by way of writ petition on the basis of affidavits which are so discrepant and contradictory in this case. Hon'ble R.B. Misra, J. in para 207 of judgment said:

"207. The right to the land and to construct buildings thereon for running a business is not derived from Article 19(1)(a) or 19(1)(g) of the Constitution but springs from terms of contract between the parties regulated by other laws governing the subject, viz., the Delhi Development Act, 1957, the Master Plan, the Zonal Development Plan framed under the Delhi Municipal Corporation Act and the Delhi Municipal Bye-laws, 1959 irrespective of the purpose for which the buildings are constructed. Whether there has been a breach of the contract of lease or whether there has been a breach of the other statutes regulating the construction of buildings are the questions which can be properly decided by taking detailed evidence involving examination and cross-examination of witnesses." (Emphasis added)

211. The above judgment also has no application to the facts of present case. On the contrary, majority view expressed in above judgment is that right to land and to construct building is not derived from Articles 19(1)(a) or 19(1)(g) of Constitution but springs from promise of contract between the parties. Whether there has been breach of contract of lease or there has been breach of any provision regulating lease rights and construction of building etc. are such questions which can be properly decided by taking detailed evidence involving examination and cross examination of witnesses and therefore, such rights can be enforced in common law proceedings by filing suit.

212. In Yar Mohammad and another vs. Lakshmi Das and others AIR 1959 Allahabad 1, a Full Bench of this Court considered following question :

"Whether the jurisdiction of the Civil Court is barred by virtue of Section 242 of the U. P. Tenancy Act in respect of suit filed under Section 9 of the Specific Relief Act for obtaining possession over agricultural land from which the plaintiff alleged his illegal dispossession within six months of the date of the-suit".

213. Therein plaintiffs instituted suit on 30.11.1948 for possession under Section 9 of Specific Relief Act, 1877 (hereinafter referred to as "Act, 1877") alleging that they were in actual possession of land in dispute (land was admittedly an agricultural land) but wrongfully dispossessed by defendants in November 1948. Defendants contested the suit and disputed correctness of above allegations of plaintiffs and pleaded that they were in possession of land as tenants of plaintiffs for more than 12 years, hence, plaintiffs cannot eject them. They also pleaded that suit was filed under Section 9 of Act, 1877 only to evade jurisdiction of Revenue Court. Trial Court i.e. learned Munsif rejected plea of lack of jurisdiction raised by defendants, accepted the case set up by plaintiffs and decreed the suit. Defendants then filed revision no.461 of 1952, which resulted in Reference, to a Larger Bench. The issue was with respect to applicability of Section 242 of U. P. Tenancy Act, 1939. Court said that Section 242 confers exclusive jurisdiction on Revenue Court and takes away jurisdiction of Civil Court only in respect of two kinds of actions.

(i) suits or application of the nature specified in the Fourth Schedule of the Act; and

(ii) suits or applications based on a cause of action in respect of which any relief can be obtained by means of a suit or application specified in that schedule.

214. It was held that in order to attract Section 242, one has to demonstrate that action would fall under either of the above-mentioned two categories and if does not, jurisdiction of Civil Court is not ousted and Revenue Court will have no jurisdiction to entertain the action.

215. Then construing the cases, which may resort to Section 9 of Act, 1877, Court said that Section 9 gives a special privilege to persons in possession who take action promptly. In case they are dispossessed, Section 9 entitles them to succeed simply by proving:

(1) that they were in possession,

(2) that they have been dispossessed by the defendant,

(3) that dispossession is not in accordance with law, and

(4) that dispossession took place within six months of the suit.

216. No question of title either of plaintiffs or of defendants can be raised or gone into in an action brought under Section 9 of Act, 1877. Plaintiffs will be entitled to succeed without proving any title on which he can fall back upon and defendant cannot succeed even though he may be in a position to establish the best of all titles. Restoration of possession under Section 9 is however subject to a regular suit and person who has real title or even better title cannot be prejudiced in any way by a decree of a suit under Section 9. A person having real or better title always has a right to establish his title in a regular suit and get the possession back. The objective and idea behind Section 9, as the Court observed is that law does not permit any person to take law in his own hands and to dispossess a person in actual possession without having recourse to a Court or Institution, in an illegal manner. In other words, objective of Section 9 is to discourage people from taking law in their own hands, how-ever good title they may have. In the interest of public order that self-help is not permitted so far as possession over Immovable property is concerned,

Section 9 is intended to discourage and prevent proceedings which might lead to serious breaches of peace. It does not allow a person who has acted high-handedly by wrongfully dispossessing a person in possession from deriving any benefit from his own unjustified act. Section 9, infact, provides for a summary and quick remedy for a person who is in possession but illegally ousted therefrom without his consent. Court observed that 'Possession' is prima facie evidence of title and if a person who is in possession is dispossessed, he has a right to claim back possession from the person who dispossesses him. In an ordinary common law proceedings, a person who has a title, is entitled to possession and cannot be deprived of his right of possession by a person, who has no title or inferior to the former. Court said that for Section 9, claim of title is not allowed to be set up and possession wrongfully taken, has to be restored. Full Bench therefore, answered question formulated above in negative.

217. In our view, above judgment has no application to the facts of this case for the reason that title of land is not in dispute, inasmuch as, it is admitted case of all the petitioners that land in dispute is 'Nazul', hence it is owned and vested in Government. It is also not in dispute that petitioners got possession of land in dispute being legal heirs of original Lessees. Petitioners have not been evicted so far, hence Section 9 of Act, 1877 has no application. In the present case right of re-entry is being exercised by respondent-State in terms of lease-deed, pursuant whereto possession was given to Lessees and petitioners have derived their interest from such Lessees, and now are bound to restore possession in terms of lease whereunder even original lessees were obliged to surrender/hand over possession to State Government.

218. We may also note hereat that in the case in hand, lease was governed by provisions of GG Act, 1895 and Section 2, as amended in State of U.P., has excluded provisions of U.P. Tenancy Act, 1939 for governing rights etc. of parties. Only provisions contained in lease-deed shall apply and have to be given effect to as if U.P. Tenancy Act, 1939 was not passed. Therefore also reliance placed on aforesaid judgment in the case in hand is of no consequence.

219. Lallu Yeshwant Singh (dead) by his legal representative vs. Rao Jagdish Singh and others, AIR 1968 SC 620 is a judgment which came before two Judges Bench of Supreme Court from a dispute raised under Qanoon Mal Riyasat Gwalior Samvat, 1983 (hereinafter referred to as "Qanoon Mal") that is from Madhya Pradesh. Under Section 326 of Qanoon Mal, a suit was filed by Yeshwant Singh and others i.e. plaintiffs against Rao Jagdish Singh and others (defendants) in the Court of Tehsildar for possession of some agricultural land. Plaintiffs set up a case that they were in possession of land and forcibly dispossessed by defendants, therefore, should be restored their possession. Tehsildar decreed the suit and order was affirmed in appeal by Collector as well as Commissioner. Revision was also dismissed by Board of Revenue and decree passed by Tehsildar was maintained. Section 326 of Qanoon Mal broadly provided summary remedy as is provided in Section 9 of Act, 1877. In para 7 of the judgment, Supreme Court has referred to both the provisions and said that both are broadly similar. High Court took a different view holding that it was not necessary for a Lessor to resort to Court for obtaining possession and if there is default by plaintiff, it could have been dispossessed by defendants. Supreme Court said that no person can take law in its own hand and in such matter, where provisions providing summary procedure for restoration of illegal dispossession of land have been made, the same can be resorted to by the person who has been illegally dispossessed. Supreme Court affirmed Full Bench judgment of this Court in Yar Mohammad (supra). Here also we do not find applicability of this judgment to the case in hand for the reasons we have already said in respect of judgment in Yar Mohammad (supra).

220. The State of U.P. vs. Zahoor Ahmad and another (supra) was a matter which came up before two Judges Bench of Supreme Court arising from action by State in respect of certain land falling within Reserved Forest in State of Uttar Pradesh. Zahoor Ahmad was granted lease of a plot of land at Chandan Chowki, Sonaripur Range in North Kheri Forest Division for an annual rent of Rs.100/-. The aforesaid land was part of reserved forest of which State of U.P. is the proprietor. Lease for Industrial purpose was granted for one year commencing from 18.03.1947. It was renewed on 10.06.1948 with effect from 18.03.1948 for one year and again in 1949 for further one year. Ultimately lease expired on 18.03.1950. State of U.P., after termination of lease, allowed Zahoor Ahmad to continue in possession of land on condition settled between the parties that Licensee i.e. Zahoor Ahmad would pay Rs.1,000/- as annual rent for occupation till 15.07.1950. Even after determination of lease on 15.7.1950, Zahoor Ahmad i.e. Licensee continued in possession and State of U.P. allowed him to remain in possession for three years beyond 15.07.1950 though for this period Zahoor Ahmad did not agree to give any undertaking of making payment of annual rent of Rs.1,000/-. A letter dated 04.12.1951 was issued to Zahoor Ahmad asking him to pay Rs.3,000/- for the year 1950-51. Letter further provided that if Zahoor Ahmad did not agree to pay Rs.3,000/- for the year 1950-51, amount of rent would be reduced to Rs.1800/- but he would not be allowed lease in future in any circumstance. The fact remains that Zahoor Ahmad was allowed to continue in occupation of land without any agreement as to the amount of rent payable for 1950-51. On 29.10.1952, Conservator of Forests sent a letter that Zahoor Ahmad can be allowed to run the mill beyond 15.07.1950 for three years if he pays Rs.3,000/- per annum, and for one year only, if he is ready to pay Rs.1,800/- but thereafter lease would not be renewed. Notice also said that he was only Licensee and should remove his plant and vacate the premises within one month and pay Rs.6,000/- as damages for use and occupation. Zahoor Ahmad did not pay the amount hence a suit for recovery of damages was filed by State of U.P. High Court came to the conclusion that Licensee (Zahoor Ahmad) was allowed to continue with the consent of State of U.P. though there was no written agreement about rate of rent and lease was granted for industrial purposes. Under Section 106 of TP Act, 1882, such lease is for year to year basis. The lease could have been terminated by six months notice and since no such notice was given, therefore, tenancy was not validly terminated. With respect to amount of rent, Court took the view that under Section 116, renewal would mean the same terms and conditions as made applicable in previous lease. High Court therefore decreed the suit for payment of rent of Rs.3,000/-. Possession was allowed by State with its consent. Thus, High Court took the view that 'holding over' was applicable under Section 116. State Government bye-passing provision of TP Act, 1882 sought to rely on GG Act, 1895. Whether the kind of above lease, granted by State could have been brought within the purview of GG Act, 1895, Supreme Court examined this issue by referring to two judgments. In one, lease of forest land of Sunderbans was held to be a 'Grant' while, in another, Grant of Khas Mahal was not held to be as 'Grant'. In Jnanendra Nath Nanda vs. Jadu Nath Banerji AIR 1938 Cal 211 two leases of two lots were granted by Sunderban Commissioner on behalf of Secretary of State. The land comprised in the lots were 'waste lands' of the Government. 'Waste lands' of Sunderbans were not property of any subject. Sunderbans was vast impenetrable forest. It was the property of East India Company and later on vested in Crown by virtue of an Imperial Statute. Court found that history of legislation showed that grants of Sunderbans lands were treated to be 'Crown Grants' within meaning of 'Crown Grants Act'. In another matter i.e. Secretary of State for India in Council vs. Lal Mohan Chaudhuri, AIR 1935 Cal 746 in respect of Khas Mahal, lease was granted by Government. It was held that lease of Khas Mahal does not come within the category of 'Grant' as contemplated in GG Act, 1935. Having said so, in para 13 of judgment, Court said that lease granted to Zahoor Ahmad was for the purpose of erecting a temporary rice mill and for no other purpose. The mere fact that State is the lessor will not by itself make above lease a 'Government Grant' within the meaning of GG Act, 1895. We may reproduce para 13 of the judgment in State of U.P. vs. Zahoor Ahmad (supra) as under :

"The lease in the present case was for the purpose of erecting a temporary rice mill and for no other purpose. The mere fact that the State is the lessor will not by itself make it a Government grant within the meaning of the Government Grants Act. There is no evidence in the present case in the character of the land or in the making of the lease or in the content of the lease to support the plea on behalf of the State that it was a grant within the meaning of the Government Grants Act." (Emphasis added)

221. When a question arose whether High Court has rightly applied Section 116 of TP Act, 1882, Supreme Court, in this context, referred to a judgment of this Court in Lala Kishun Chand vs. Sheo Dutta, AIR 1958 All. 879 wherein after expiry of lease of Nazul land, Licensee was permitted by Board of Revenue to continue in occupation as tenant and rent was also realized from him and held that in these facts, Section 116 TP Act, 1882 was rightly applied. Then in paras 15 and 16, Court said as under:

"15. In the present case the High Court correctly found on the facts that the respondent after the determination of the lease held over. Even if the Government Grants Act applied Section 116 of the Transfer of Property Act was not rendered inapplicable. The effect of Section 2 of the Government Grants Act is that in the construction of an instrument governed by the Government Grants Act the court shall construe such grant irrespective of the provisions of the Transfer of Property Act. It does not mean that all the provisions of the Transfer of Property Act are inapplicable. To illustrate, in the case of a grant under the Government Grants Act Section 14 of the Transfer of Property Act will not apply because Section 14 which provides what is known as the rule against perpetuity will not apply by reason of the provisions in the Government Grants Act. The grant shall be construed to take effect as if the Transfer of Property Act does not apply.

16. Section 3 of the Government Grants Act declares the unfettered discretion of the Government to impose such conditions and limitations as it thinks fit, no matter what the general law of the land be. The meaning of Sections 2 and 3 of the Government Grants is that the scope of that Act is not limited to affecting the provisions of the Transfer of Property Act only. The Government has unfettered discretion to impose any conditions, limitations, or restrictions in its grants, and the right, privileges and obligations of the grantee would be regulated according to the terms of the grant, notwithstanding any provisions of any statutory or common law. "

222. In the present case, it is not the case of any of the petitioners that after expiry of lease in 1986, they have been permitted to remain in possession of disputed Nazul land and rent has been accepted by respondents or they have paid rent. Even if what is said by petitioners is taken to be correct, we do not find that Section 116 is applicable in the case in hand at all. Section 116 of TP Act, 1882 reads as under :

"116. Effect of holding over.- If a lessee or under-lessee of property remains in possession thereof after the determination of the lease granted to the lessee, and the lessor or his legal representative accepts rent from the lessee or under lessee, or otherwise assents to his continuing in possession, the lease is, in the absence of an agreement to the contrary, renewed from year to year, or from month to month, according to the purpose for which the property is leased, as specified in section 106."

223. Twin conditions to attract principle of holding over vide Section 116 of TP Act, 1882, which need by satisfied are:

(i) After determination of lease, lessor or his representative has accepted rent from lessee or under lessee or assented to his continuing in possession; and

(ii) Lessee or under-lessee has remained in possession.

224. In the present case, none of the above conditions are satisfied.

225. In Bhawanji Lakhanishi vs. Himatlal Jamnadas AIR 1972 SC 819, Court said that basis of Section 116 is a bilateral contract between erstwhile landlord and erstwhile tenant. It has been held that assent of lessor cannot be inferred merely from his delay in taking steps to evict lessee. We may also refer to Calcutta High Court decision in Ratan Lal vs. Farshi Bibi (1907) ILR 34 Cal 396; Madras High in Govindaswami vs.

Ramaswami (1916) 30 Mad LJ 492; Patna High Court in Christian vs. Hari Prasad AIR 1955 Pat 158 and Pritilata Devi vs. Banke Bihari Lal AIR 1962 Pat 446; and Rajsthan High Court in Gordhan vs. Ali Bux AIR 1981 Raj 206, holding that to attract Section 116, therefore, it has to be shown that there was a bilateral act creating a new tenancy. There is no implication of holding over. In our view, there is neither any material nor pleading to attract Section 116 and therefore, judgment in Zahoor Ahmad (supra) on this aspect does not help petitioners. On the contrary, what has been said in para 16 of the judgment, quoted above, the conditions of 'Grant' would prevail over every law including TP Act, 1882.

226. Moreover, in respect of Section 116 TP Act, 1882, we have already discussed the matter earlier to demonstrate that it is not attracted in the present case.

227. So far as validity of resumption of land for 'public purpose' is concerned, it could not be disputed that land has been sought to be required by State for 'public purpose'. Allahabad City has been selected for development as a 'Smart City' and respondents have pleaded that demand of lot of land has been made by various Government departments since various Offices, Workshops, Parks, Parking places etc. have to be constructed. The land in dispute has been found suitable for erection of building for 'Group Housing' by A.D.A. and development of 'Group Housing' has also been held to be a public purpose in catena of authorities dealing with acquisition of land under Land Acquisition Act, 1894 (hereinafter referred to as "Act, 1894"). In fact, on this aspect, no substantial argument has been made and in our view, resumption of land by State is in 'public interest'.

228. No provision could be shown by counsel for petitioners which requires an opportunity of hearing to petitioners before resumption of land. In any case, by means of impugned notice, petitioners have been given enough time to vacate the land and thereafter only State shall take steps for possession, if vacant possession is not given by petitioners.

229. One aspect, which has been pointed out by learned Additional Advocate General as also learned Senior counsel appearing for ADA is that most of petitioners are not in actual possession of disputed land but they are residing elsewhere and only on the basis of 'constructive' or 'deemed possession' the present writ petition has been filed. Entire litigation edifies petitioners' claim based on 'constructive' or 'deemed possession' which cannot be assumed in favour of a person who has no legal right over land in dispute against owner of land, in whose favour presumption of possession always exists. He drew our attention to address given by petitioners in WP-1 itself.

230. Petitioners in WP-1 are all residents of 23/47/48, North Allahpur, Allahabad, as is evident from address given in description of petitioners. Thus, so far as petitioners in WP-1 is concerned, we find substance in the contention advanced by learned Additional Advocate General. The entire claim of petitioners in WP-1 is founded on possession of land in dispute even after expiry of lease-deed, while they were/are not in actual possession. Thus, entire argument against alleged dispossession does not stand, inasmuch as, all arguments which have been considered hereinabove, and, in the facts of the case, have been answered considering petitioners in actual possession of land in dispute. If a person is not in actual possession, there is no question of any 'constructive' or 'deemed possession' in his favour since land owner is always treated to be in possession of property owned by him even if he has no actual possession.

231. Argument was advanced that actual physical possession does not mean that incumbent must keep the property in control but in the context of immoveable property, it is described as legal relationship of a person to a thing. If some of lease holders are in possession, they represent other Lessees also and therefore, it cannot be said that petitioners of WP-1 are not in possession. Property is a legal concept that grants and protects a person's exclusive right to own, possess, use and dispose of a thing. The term property does not suggest a physical item but describes a legal relationship of a person to a thing. Real property consists of lands, tenements and hereditaments. Land refers to ground, the air above, the area below the Earth's surface and everything that is erected on it. Tenements include land and certain intangible rights recognized by municipal laws related to lands. A hereditaments embraces every tangible or intangible interest in real property that can be inherited. An interest describes any right, claim or privilege that an individual has towards real property. Law recognizes various types of interests in real property which may justify possession over property of person concerned. A non-possessory interest in land is right of one person to use or restrict use of land that belongs to other persons such as easementary rights. Non-possessory interest do not constitute ownership of land itself. Holders of a non-possessory interest in real property do not have title and owner of land continues to enjoy full rights of ownership, subject to any encumbrances. An encumbrance is a burden, claim or charge on real property that can affect the quality of title and value and/or use of property. Encumbrances can represent non-possessory interests in real property.

232. Possession is also of two kinds namely, (a) de facto possession, and (b) de jure possession. De facto possession is when a person being in actual physical possession and de jure possession is a possession in law. Constructive possession would be a possession through a representative, agent, tenant or a trustee. A person in de facto possession could be in adverse possession. In a civilized society some protection of possession is essential. The methods of protection recognized are :

(i) Possessor can be given certain legal rights, such as a right to continue in possession free from interference by others; and

(ii) Protective possession by prescribing criminal penalties for wrongful interference and wrongful dispossession.

233. When certain legal right are given to a person, one of the mode is that possessory right in rem are supported by various rights in personam against those who violate possessor's right; he can be given a right to recover compensation for interference and for dispossession, and a right to have his possession restored to him. But, whenever such a person invoked such remedies, one of the impugned question which has to be examined would be whether a person invoking them actually has any possession to be protected. In other words, it has to be examined whether a person is in possession of an object? However, legal concept of possession is not restricted to commonsense concept of possession, namely physical control. Possession in fact is not a simple notion. Whether a person is in possession of an article is dependent on various factors namely nature of article itself and attitudes and activities of other persons.

234. Possession may be 'lawful' or 'unlawful' or even 'legal' or 'illegal'. Acquisition of legal possession would obviously be lawful and would of necessity involve occurrence of some event recognized by law whereby subject matter falls under the control of the possessor. Problem, however, arises where duration for which possession is recognized is limited by Grantor or law. Continuance of possession beyond prescribed period by is not treated as a 'lawful possession'. If a landlord does not consent to lease being continued, possession of tenant would not be a lawful unless there is some Statute providing otherwise. Nature of possession being not lawful would entitle the landlord to regain possession. Thus, a lawful possession is state of being a possessor in the eyes of law. Possession must be warranted or authorized by the law; having qualifications prescribed by law and not contrary to nor forbidden by the law. However, law recognizes possession as a substantive right or an interest. Continued possession of a person is recognized by law as a sufficient interest capable of being protected by possessor, right being founded on mere fact of possession. Possession is a good title of right against anyone who cannot show a better title. However, when a person in possession may not be lawful, recovery of possession by owner must have sanction of law and it cannot proceed to dispossess the other in a forcible manner not recognized in law. In some authorities, possession of a person, who has entered therein initially validly but subsequently become unlawful has been given a different meaning i.e. juridical possession. A tenant holding over without consent of landlord would be a juridical possession though his possession is not lawful. It is said that possession of tenant, post efflux of lease period would not be treated as lawful possession still he would not be treated as a rank trespasser. Thus, here possession is a juridical possession which has been introduced.

235. The concept of possession, therefore, has various shades, but, in the present case, where entire litigation is founded on possession over property in dispute, if any of petitioners are not in actual possession of property and had no otherwise legal right over property in dispute then such petitioners cannot restrain respondents from resuming land in dispute being owner of land. Therefore, petitioners in WP-1 have an additional reason for non-suiting of their claim.

236. In the circumstances, questions (v), (vi) and (vii) are answered by holding that right of resumption exercised by State is in accordance with law. State is not bound to follow procedure prescribed under U.P. Act, 1972 in view of the fact that it is proceeding in accordance with terms and conditions of lease-deed, which constitute a special procedure and can be followed excluding requirement of any other procedure and principles of natural justice are not attracted in the case in hand.

237. Before parting, we may also observe that litigation initiated by petitioners on the one hand has given enough time to petitioners to continue to hold and enjoy land in dispute and simultaneously has denied opportunity to respondent authorities to take possession of land in question for the purpose of carrying out developmental activities where time is a matter of essence. The impugned notice was issued on 18.06.2018 and for more than fifteen months petitioners have already availed benefit of possession of land in dispute and enjoyed the same without spending even a single penny towards rent, damages, compensation for such enjoyment. Land in question is required for developmental activities in furtherance of developing Prayagraj City as "Smart City". Developmental activities required an early action, but, by indulging in litigation, petitioners have already delayed it sufficiently,therefore, even if what petitioners' claim that they should have been given notice or sufficient time to vacate, the same has already been achieved as petitioners had already enough time with them. It is, thus, a fit case where we do not find that any other technicality should be allowed to intervene and, earliest is the better that possession of land is transferred to respondents so that developmental activities may proceed without any further delay.

238. In view of above discussion, we do not find any merit in all the petitions. All the writ petitions are accordingly dismissed.

239. However, considering the facts and circumstances and also the fact that petitioners already enjoyed interim order passed by this Court and continued in possession over land in dispute for the last almost more than a year, we direct petitioners to vacate disputed land within one month from the date of delivery of judgment.

240. Let a copy of this judgment be forwarded to Chief Secretary, U.P. Lucknow and Principal Secretary, Urban Development, U.P. Lucknow, for considering policy of freehold in the light of observations made in paras 181 to 183 of judgment and take appropriate decision.

A. Civil Law - U.P. Motor Vehicles Rules 1998 – Rule 220-B – Susamma Thomas Guidelines – Securitization of amount to safeguard interest of minors, illiterate claimants and widow – Applicabilty – Sufficient discretion has been given to the Tribunal not to insist on investment of the compensation amount in long term fixed deposit and to release even the whole amount in the case of literate persons – Lok Adalat appears to continue to harbor the impression that the amounts which are decided and are liable to be paid upon claims being compromised or settled must necessarily and in all situations be securitized – Course adopted by the Lok Adalat evidences a total lack of consideration upon the true intent and purpose underlying the statutory provision as well as the guidelines framed by the Supreme Court in Susamma Thomas and the exposition of the law in Padma. (Para 8 & 9)

Writ Petition allowed. (E-1)

List of cases cited: -

1. General Manager, Kerala S.R.T.C vs Susamma Thomas (1994) 2 SCC 176

2. A.V. Padma and others Vs. R. Venugopal and others (2012) 3 SCC 378

(Delivered by Hon'ble Yashwant Varma,J.)

1. Affidavits of service have been filed by the petitioners which are taken on record. From the averments made therein it is evident that the Insurance Company stands duly served.

2. Both these petitions impugn orders passed by the Lok Adalat proceeding to direct the securitization and placement in deposit of substantial sums that had come to be settled and agreed to be paid by the Insurance Company in respect of a claim that came to be settled inter partes.

3. In Writ-C No. 33606 of 2019, out of the total sum agreed between the parties, of Rs. 4,50,000 the Lok Adalat has proceeded to direct that a sum of Rs. 100,000/- be placed in a fixed deposit of a Nationalised Bank for a period of five years and a sum of Rs. 1,50,000/- be released. Insofar as the claimant No. 2 is concerned, it has provided that a sum of Rs. 2,00,000/- awarded shall be placed in a fixed deposit of a Nationalised Bank for a period of five years. The petitioner No. 1 is the father of the deceased. The petitioner No 2 is the son who, though a minor at the time when the incident occurred, had admittedly attained majority and was a signatory and a party to the compromise that was placed on the record of the Lok Adalat.

4. In Writ-C No. 33176 of 2019, the petitioner No. 1 is the mother while the petitioner No. 2 is the father of the deceased. Both the petitioners are the parents of Abhishek Dixit, the deceased son. In this case also the Lok Adalat has made arrangements on similar lines and directed placement of a major part of the sum which was agreed to inter partes to be placed in a fixed deposit of a Nationalised Bank.

5. The procedure which the Tribunal is obliged to follow in order to secure the interest of a person under a legal disability or where some of the claimants are minors has been provided for in Rule 220-B of the U.P. Motor Vehicles Rules 1998 which reads thus:-

"220B-. Securing the interest of Claimants-(1) Where any lump-sum amount of compensation, deposited with the Claims Tribunal is payable to a woman or a person under legal disability, such sum may be invested, applied or otherwise dealt with for the benefit of the women or such person during his disability in such manner as the Claims Tribunal may direct to be paid to any dependent of the injured or heirs of the deceased or to any other person whom the Claims Tribunal thinks best fitted to provide for the welfare of the injured or the heir of the deceased.

(2) Where an application made to the Claims Tribunal in this behalf otherwise, the Claims Tribunal is satisfied that on account of neglect of the children on the part of the parents, or on account of the variation of the circumstances of any dependent, or for any other sufficient cause, an order of the Claims Tribunal as to the distribution of any sum paid as compensation or as to the manner in which any sum payable to any such dependent is to be invested applied or otherwise dealt with, ought to be varied, the Claims Tribunal may make such further orders for the variation of the former order as it thinks just in the circumstances of the case.

(3) The Claims Tribunal shall, in the case of minor, order that amount of compensation awarded to such minor be invested in the fixed deposits till such minor attains majority. The expenses incurred by the guardian or the next friend may be allowed to be withdrawn by such guardian or the next fiend from such deposits before it is deposited.

Provided that the interest payable on such deposits may be allowed to be utilized for education, maintenance and development of the minor with the permission of the Claims Tribunal.

(4) The Claims Tribunal shall, in the case of illiterate claimants, order that the amount of compensation awarded be invested in fixed deposits for a minimum period of three years, but if any amount is required for effecting purchase of any movable or immovable property for improving the income of the claimant, the Claims Tribunal may consider such a request after being satisfied that the amount would be actually spent for the purpose and the demand is not a ruse to withdraw money.

(5) The Claims Tribunal shall, in the case of semi-literate person resort to the procedure for the deposit of award amounts set out in sub-rule (4) unless it is satisfied, for reasons to be recorded in writing that the whole or part of the amount is required for the expansion of any existing business or for the purchase of some property as specified and mentioned, in sub-rule (4) in which case the Claims Tribunal shall ensure that the amount is invested for the purpose for which it is prayed for and paid.

(6) The Claims Tribunal may in the case of literate persons also resort to the procedure for deposit of awarded amount specified in sub-rules (4) and (5) if having regard to the age, fiscal background and state of society to which the claimant belongs and such other consideration, the Claims Tribunal in the larger interest of the claimant and with a view to ensure the safety of the compensation awarded, thinks it necessary to order.

(7) The Claims Tribunal, may in personal injury cases, if further treatment is necessary, on being satisfied which shall be recorded in writing, permit the withdrawal of such amount as is necessary for the expenses of such treatment.

(8) The Claims Tribunal may, in the matter of investment of money, have regard to maximum return by ways of periodical income to the claimant, deposit with public sector undertaking of the State or Central Government which offers higher rate of interest.

(9) The Claims Tribunal shall, in investing money, direct that the interest on the deposits be paid directly to the claimants or the guardian of the minor claimants by the institution holding the deposits under intimation to the Claims Tribunal."

7. The Supreme Court had in the matter of General Manager, Kerala S.R.T.C vs Susamma Thomas1 framed the following guidelines which were to guide Tribunals in the matter of securing the interests of parties:-

"(i). The claims Tribunal should, in the case of minors, invariably order amount of compensation awarded to the minor invested in long term fixed deposited at least till the date of the minor attaining majority. The expenses incurred by the guardian or next friend may however, be allowed to be withdrawn.

(ii). In the case of illiterate claimants also the Claims Tribunal should follow the procedure set out in (i) above, but if lump sum payment is required for effecting purchases of any movable or immovable property such as agricultural implements, rickshaw, etc. to earn a living the Tribunal may consider such a request after making sure that the amount is actually spent for the purpose and the demand is not a ruse to withdraw money.

(iii). In the case of semi-literate persons the Tribunal should ordinarily resort to the procedure set out in (i) above unless it is satisfied for reasons to be stated in writing, that the whole or part of the amount is required for expending any existing business or for purchasing some property as mentioned in (ii) above for earning his livelihood in which case the Tribunal will ensure that the amount is invested for the purpose for which it is demanded and paid.

(iv). In the case of literate persons also the Tribunal may resort to the procedure indicated in (i) above subject to the realization set out in (ii) and (iii) above, if having regard to the age, fiscal background and strata of society to which the claimant belongs and such other considerations, the Tribunal in the larger interest of the claimant and with a view to ensuring the safety of the compensation awarded to him thinks it necessary to so order.

(v). In the case of widows the claims Tribunal should invariably follow the procedure set out in (i) above.

(vi). In personal injury cases, if further treatment is necessary the Claims Tribunal on being satisfied about the same, which shall be recorded in writing, permit withdrawal of such amount as is necessary for incurring the expenses for such treatment.

(vii). In all cases in which investment in long term fixed deposits is made it should be an condition that the bank will not permit any loan or advance on the fixed deposit and interest on the amount invested is paid monthly directly to the claimant or his guardian, as the case may be.

(viii). In all cases Tribunal should grant to the claimants liberty to apply for withdrawal in case of an emergency. To meet with such a contingency if the amount awarded is substantial the Claims Tribunal may invest it in more than one fixed deposit so that if need be one such F.D.R. can be liquidated."

7. Those guidelines were noticed again in a subsequent decision rendered by two learned Judges of the Supreme Court in A.V. Padma and others Vs. R.

Venugopal and others2 where the following observations came to be made:-

"4. In the case of Susamma Thomas (supra), this Court issued certain guidelines in order to "safeguard the feed from being frittered away by the beneficiaries due to ignorance, illiteracy and susceptibility to exploitation". Even as per the guidelines issued by this Court, long term fixed deposit of amount of compensation is mandatory only in the case of minors, illiterate claimants and widows. In the case of illiterate claimants, the Tribunal is allowed to consider the request for lump sum payment for effecting purchase of any movable property such as agricultural implements, rickshaws etc. to earn a living. However, in such cases, the Tribunal shall make sure that the amount is actually spent for the purpose and the demand is not a ruse to withdraw money. In the case of semi-illiterate claimants, the Tribunal should ordinarily invest the amount of compensation in long term fixed deposit. But if the Tribunal is satisfied for reasons to be stated in writing that the whole or part of the amount is required for expanding an existing business or for purchasing some property for earning a livelihood, the Tribunal can release the whole or part of the amount of compensation to the claimant provided the Tribunal will ensure that the amount is invested for the purpose for which it is demanded and paid. In the case of literate persons, it is not mandatory to invest the amount of compensation in long term fixed deposit. The expression used in guideline No. (iv) issued by this Court is that in the case of literate persons also the Tribunal may resort to the procedure indicated in guideline No. (i), whereas in the guideline Nos. (i), (ii), (iii) and (v), the expression used is that the Tribunal should. Moreover, in the case of literate persons, the Tribunal may resort to the procedure indicated in guideline No. (i) only if, having regard to the age, fiscal background and strata of the society to which the claimant belongs and such other considerations, the Tribunal thinks that in the larger interest of the claimant and with a view to ensure the safety of the compensation awarded, it is necessary to invest the amount of compensation in long term fixed deposit.

5. Thus, sufficient discretion has been given to the Tribunal not to insist on investment of the compensation amount in long term fixed deposit and to release even the whole amount in the case of literate persons. However, the Tribunals are often taking a very rigid stand and are mechanically ordering in almost all cases that the amount of compensation shall be invested in long term fixed deposit. They are taking such a rigid and mechanical approach without understanding and appreciating the distinction drawn by this Court in the case of minors, illiterate claimants and widows and in the case of semi-literate and literate persons. It needs to be clarified that the above guidelines were issued by this Court only to safeguard the interests of the claimants, particularly the minors, illiterates and ors. whose amounts are sought to be withdrawn on some fictitious grounds. The guidelines were not to be understood to mean that the Tribunals were to take a rigid stand while considering an application seeking release of the money. The guidelines cast a responsibility on the Tribunals to pass appropriate orders after examining each case on its own merits. However, it is seen that even in cases when there is no possibility or chance of the feed being frittered away by the beneficiary owing to ignorance, illiteracy or susceptibility to exploitation, investment of the amount of compensation in long term fixed deposit is directed by the Tribunals as a matter of course and in a routine manner, ignoring the object and the spirit of the guidelines issued by this Court and the genuine requirements of the claimants. Even in the case of literate persons, the Tribunals are automatically ordering investment of the amount of compensation in long term fixed deposit without recording that having regard to the age or fiscal background or the strata of the society to which the claimant belongs or such other considerations, the Tribunal thinks it necessary to direct such investment in the larger interests of the claimant and with a view to ensure the safety of the compensation awarded to him. The Tribunals very often dispose of the claimant's application for withdrawal of the amount of compensation in a mechanical manner and without proper application of mind. This has resulted in serious injustice and hardship to the claimants. The Tribunals appear to think that in view of the guidelines issued by this Court, in every case the amount of compensation should be invested in long term fixed deposit and under no circumstances the Tribunal can release the entire amount of compensation to the claimant even if it is required by him. Hence a change of attitude and approach on the part of the Tribunals is necessary in the interest of justice."

8. Despite the lucid explanation in Padma in respect of the underlying intent of the guidelines framed by the Supreme Court, the Lok Adalat appears to continue to harbor the impression that the amounts which are decided and are liable to be paid upon claims being compromised or settled must necessarily and in all situations be securitized. That clearly is neither the intent of Rule 220-B nor does that provision mandate or command such recourse.

9. As this Court reads the orders impugned in these two writ petitions, it is manifest that the provisions made in Rule 220-B have neither been alluded to nor considered. The course adopted by the Lok Adalat evidences a total lack of consideration upon the true intent and purpose underlying the statutory provision as well as the guidelines framed by the Supreme Court in Susamma Thomas and the exposition of the law in Padma.

10. The Lok Adalat also does not ascribe a single reason in support of the directions as framed. At least the orders passed do not establish the conferment of any consideration as to why the amounts as settled by way of compromise were not liable to be released in favour of the claimants. It becomes pertinent to note that the rigidity of the attitude which has been adopted by the Lok Adalat and as is evident from the orders passed in these two writ petitions mirrors what fell for adverse comment in Padma. The Lok Adalat therefore would be well advised to bear the principles enunciated both in Susamma Thomas and Padma in mind before passing orders for securitization of the amounts that are settled. In any case, making of such arrangements must adhere to the provisions which are made in Rule 220-B and which has been referred to hereinabove. Since the orders impugned fail to abide by the directions issued and the law as declared by the Supreme Court, the Court finds itself unable to sustain the impugned orders.

11. Before parting the Court deems it apposite to place the following advisory note for the consideration of Lok Adalats in general on record. On being asked by the Court to place the compromise terms on record, it was submitted that the same has not been made available to parties. It was stated by learned counsels that although compromise terms are placed on the record and bear the signatures of all respective parties, copies thereof have not been provided to the claimants. It was submitted that Lok Adalats in general are adopting this procedure and that copies of the compromise/settlement are not provided. The Court finds no justification or logic behind the procedure so adopted. If the compromise terms are part of the record, there can be no justifiable reason or cause for copies thereof not being provided to parties. This issue would assume added significance in situations where orders of the Lok Adalat are assailed before Courts or other judicial fora and the Courts or Tribunals are required to ascertain as to which of the parties had in fact agreed to the compromise terms. Consequently the Secretary of the Legal Services Authorities of the State is directed to instruct all Lok Adalats to ensure that copies of the settlement terms are provided to parties on an application in that respect being made. The Registrar General is requested to place a copy of this order before the Secretary of the Legal Services Authority for further compliance.

12. Accordingly the writ petitions are allowed. The impugned orders dated 14 September 2019 and 9 October 2019 passed in Writ-C Nos. 33606 of 2019 and 33176 of 2019 respectively insofar as they direct for placement of the amounts in a fixed deposit of a Nationalised Bank are quashed. The matter shall stand remitted to the Lok Adalat for passing a decision afresh in light of the observations entered above. The exercise of reconsideration shall be concluded with expedition and in any case not later than within two months from the date of presentation of a certified copy of this order.

3. Unit has obtained NOC dated 02.1.2018 from CGWA for ground water extraction of 4900 kl/day. The NOC from CGWA is valid upto 07.12.2019.

4. Unit has Effluent Treatment plant and treated effluent is diluted with fresh water to meet the norms of SAR (Sodium Absorption Ratio).

5. Hon'ble Supreme Court in PIL NO. 418/98 Imtiaz Ahmad vs. UOI, Directed UPPCB to prescribed SAR Limit for the industry. UPPCB in compliance imposed SAR value of 26 for treated effluent of the unit.

6. The matter of unit was taken up by Hon'ble NGT in O.A. No. 200/2014 M.C. Mehta vs. Union of India and Ors., Hon'ble NGT in its order dated 26.4.2017 considered the inspection report dated 25.4.2017 of High Power inspection team constituted by Hon'ble NGT wherein the inspection team found that M/s Insilco Ltd. has been prescribed with the norms of SAR which the unit is achieving not by treatment but by dilution with fresh water and such practice is nothing but fraud.

7. Hon'ble NGT in its order dated 26.4.2017 issued closure order against M/s Insilco Ltd. Hon'ble NGT in O.A. No. 200/2014 M.C. Mehta vs. Union of India and Ors. vide order dated 8.5.2017 allowed operation of unit subject to payment of Rs. 15 Lakh. Unit deposited the said amount. Hon'ble NGT also directed that as regards ZLD through dilution, the industry would put forward its case before joint inspection team which shall offer its comments and place the report before tribunal. The joint Committee of CPCB and UPPCB inspected the unit on 23.5.2017 and made following recommendations:

i. The Unit required to recalculate the dosing of magnesium sulphate to meet the SAR standard.

ii. In a time bound manner the unit shall discontinue the present chemical addition (10 Tons of MgSO4) and further dilution of ground water (1800 to 2000 KLD) to meet the prescribed SAR value (26). Instead unit may switch over to complete ZLD (Zero Liquid Discharge technology) system to save ground water and wastage of chemicals for neutralization. Presence of Fluoride (5 to 6 mg/1) also indicates that rather than dilution, ZLD may be the only option for achieving and continuity of the unit.

iii. Presence of inorganic pollutants in the storm water indicates poor operation and maintenance of the plant and suspected partial diversion of effluent or negligent handling of sludge by the unit, which may require further investigation.

iv. The Unit shall operate STPs continuously.

v. Closure of the unit may be considered, if the unit failed to provide the time bound action plan for achieving ZLD.

8. The unit vide letter 6.11.2017 communicated that agreement has been signed with IIT, Roorkee for assessment of possibility to recycle / reuse treated effluent in economic viability mode and development activity for investigation of alternative remedies to mitigate the high sulfate / high TDS in the effluent.

9. Board has issued directions on dated 12.1.2018 to the unit to ensure the compliance of recommendation of the joint inspection team.

10. The unit vide its letter dated 19.1.2018 submitted compliance of the directions and informed that the unit has appointed IIT, Roorkee to carry on research and development activity for investigation of alternative remedies to mitigate the high sulfate / high TDS in the effluent.

11. The unit vide its letter dated 26.4.2018 addressed to CPCB and UPPCB submitted the progress of R & D of IIT, Roorkee and submitted the interim report of IIT, Roorkee regarding treatment of high sulphate bearing waste water.

12. Unit vide its letter dated 20.8.2019 has submitted the Final report of Department of Civil Engineering IIT, Roorkee. UPPCB gave unit the opportunity to present its case and the findings made by IIT, Roorkee. Unit was invited for a presentation on final report on 17.9.2019. Unit presented its case on the said date.

13. In the final report IIT, Roorkee has evaluated various technologies like Reverse Osmosis (found non-feasible), MEE (found not techno economically viable), Gypsum Precipitation followed by biological treatment (found non-feasible), Electrocoagulation followed by nono filteration (non-feasible), Membrane - based ZLD process consisting of RO followed by MEE and crystallization (non-feasible). The report of IIT, Roorkee further suggests that treated waste water of 120 KLD STP may be used for dilution of effluent and in future when Gajraula STP gets commissioned, the unit may seek permission for utilization of treated sewage for dilution of treated effluent. The report clearly states that there is no feasible technology available other than the present practice followed by unit for the treatment to maintain SAR.

14. Unit is using fresh water for dilution of effluent to achieve the norms of SAR 26. The study carried out by IIT, Roorkee has failed to arrive at any feasible method for the industry.

15. The process of dilution with fresh water cannot not be allowed. Keeping the facts in view the Consent To Operate Water & Air application has been rejected by UPPCB vide its letter dated 22.10.2019. UPPCB while processing the consent application has given opportunity to the unit by raising query on 27.11.2018 and again on 1.5.2019."

4. The Chief Environment Officer, Uttar Pradesh Pollution Control Board, in his "Instruction Note" has also stated that the unit has not yet evolved any methodology for achieving prescribed standard of Sodium Absorption Ratio (SAR) value of 26 without dilution with fresh water. The Joint Committee, constituted by the Hon'ble National Green Tribunal (NGT), in its report has specifically mentioned that use of fresh water cannot be allowed for such purposes. It has also been specifically stated by the Chief Environment Officer that the Uttar Pradesh Pollution Control Board had decided the "Consent to Operate' applications after giving sufficient opportunity to the concerned unit by way of query letters and invitation for presentation of the case. It has also been further stated that in the present writ petition, the concerned unit has contested the merit of the two letters dated 22nd October, 2019, rejecting the "Consent to Operate' applications, without exhausting the alternative remedy provided under the two statutes.

5. We are alive to the settled proposition of law with regard to availability of statutory alternative remedy not being an absolute bar for a Constitutional Court to exercise its power of judicial review under Article 226 of the Constitution of India and step in to intervene in certain exceptional situations such as arbitrary or mala fide exercise of power or gross violation of the established principles of natural justice or exercise of power without jurisdiction and so on and so forth.

6. In the facts of the instant case, the writ petitioner-company participated all throughout the decision making process which led to passing of the two orders dated 22nd October, 2019. This is not a case where the two impugned orders strike the writ petitioner like a lightning bolt from the blue in an exceptional situation as enumerated above. Even if there might have been some technical/procedural infirmity, it is simply not so gross so as to allow the writ petitioner to get benefit of the extraordinary high-prerogative jurisdiction of this Court under Article 226 of the Constitution of India, which is essentially discretionary in nature. The two judgments which have been referred by the learned advocate representing the writ petitioner are both unreported. One is in respect of Writ - C No. 4462 of 2013 (H.M.A. Agri Industries Ltd. Versus State of U.P. through Secretary and others), being a judgment and order dated 28th January, 2013. The other judgment has been rendered more recently by another Division Bench of this Court on 31st May, 2019, in Writ - C No. 10259 of 2019 (H.M.A. Agro Industries Ltd. Versus State of U.P. and two others). We notice that the earlier judgment of this Court in Writ - C No. 4462 of 2013 has been followed in the latter judgment. So far as the earlier judgment rendered on 28th January, 2013, is concerned, in the facts of that case, a copy of an analysis report which was used against the writ petitioner had not been supplied to the writ petitioner. As such, in the considered opinion of the Division Bench, it was a lapse on the part of the concerned respondent which had to be rectified by them before the writ petitioner could be relegated out of the High Court on account of availability of statutory alternative remedy of appeal. Both the judgments referred by the learned advocate for the writ petitioner cannot be a blanket authority for the proposition that the writ Court is bound to entertain a writ petition in each and every case notwithstanding the existence and availability of statutory alternative remedy. In fact, as stated earlier, in the case of H.M.A. Agri Industries in Writ - C No. 4462 of 2013, the issue was centered around non supply of a copy of an analysis report to the writ petitioner which was used against the writ petitioner by the concerned respondent authority. In the latter case, the fact situation was totally different. The allegation was in respect of non compliance of direction issued by the National Green Tribunal (NGT) with regard to pollution caused by the Abattoris. In both cases, the writ petitioner was H.M.A. Agri Industries Ltd., which was engaged in the business of state of the art Abattoirs, where frozen meat was packed and sold across the world. The writ petitioner company was directed by the Uttar Pradesh Pollution Control Board to ensure that ETP (Effluent Treatment Plant) was operational and the treated effluent conformed to parameters. Certain other directions were issued by the Uttar Pradesh Pollution Control Board, as contained in its communication dated 6th February, 2019, and considering such facts, the Division Bench had intervened. At this stage we must observe that any decision of any Court is an authority for a proposition based on certain set of facts and even a single distinction of any fact or an additional fact can alter the applicability of its ratio. In the facts of the instant case, as observed earlier, we do not find the situation to be so exceptional so as to allow the writ Court to intervene, exercising its extraordinary high prerogative discretionary jurisdiction under Article 226 of the Constitution of India. The writ petitioner, of course, is not without any remedy. Statutory alternative remedy is available to the writ petitioner in respect of both the orders dated 22nd October, 2019. The writ petitioner is always at liberty to approach the statutory appellate authority in respect of the two orders dated 22nd October, 2019, and take all points which are available in law. We make it clear that in the event the writ petitioner approaches the statutory appellate authority, the said authority shall not be influenced in any manner by any observation made herein and shall decide the appeals strictly in accordance with law.

7. The writ petition stands accordingly dismissed.

3. Writ C No. 31072 of 2009, Gayur and Another Vs. State of U.P. and Others, decided on 20.08.2019

(Delivered by Hon'ble Rohit Ranjan Agarwal, J.)

1. Present petition has been filed assailing the order dated 5.5.2014 passed by Collector, Saharanpur rejecting the representation of petitioners, as well as for seeking direction upon the respondents not to interfere in possesssion over Khasra No.12M and 19M measuring 11479.47 sq.mtr situated in Village Fatehpur Jat, District Saharanpur and also for direction to correct revenue records, and record names of petitioners over the land declared vacant in proceedings under the Urban Land (Ceiling and Regulation) Act, 1976 (for short "Act No.33 of 1976").

2. Brief facts which emerges from the material on record, are that petitioners who are 6 in numbers are sons of late Iqbal, who filed statement under Section 6(1) of the Act, stating that plot no.12 and 19 were his agricultural land and was outside the purview of Act of 1976. Notices under Section 8(3) of the Act was issued on 17.8.1978 stating that out of total area of land measuring 13479.47 sq. mtr., 11479.47 sq. mtr. was being declared surplus leaving behind 2000 sq. mtr. in khasra no.12M and 19M in village- Fatehpur Jat. On 26.10.1978, the competent authority declared the aforesaid land as vacant.

3. Notification under Section 10(1) was made on 29.11.1978 and under Section 10(3) on 20.02.1990. Notices u/s. 10(5) were issued on 15.04.1993, however, according to petitioners, the said notices were never served upon them. It is further averred that father of the petitioners till his death, sowed his crop over the land, which is evident from khasra of year 2010-11 and was in complete physical possession over the land. It has further been stated that no notice u/s. 10(6) of the Act was issued by respondents for forceful dispossession of their late father, nor he was dispossessed from the land in question, and they are in complete actual physical possession over the land in dispute till date.

4. Petitioners filed Writ Petition No. 3367 of 2007 before this Court, which was disposed of on 31.03.2010, with a direction to the petitioners to file a representation before respondent no.2, who shall pass appropriate orders in accordance with law after giving opportunity of hearing. The representation was decided on 05.05.2014 by respondent no.2, who held that the possession of land had already been taken by Tehsildar, Sadar on 31.07.1993 and the land in question is recorded in the name of State Government in revenue records since 21.08.1993, and further on 19.02.2002, the land was transferred to Saharanpur Development Authority. The order of respondent no.2 is under challenge in present petition.

5. Respondent-State filed a counter affidavit stating that the possession of land has been taken on 31.07.1993 and the name of State Government has been recorded in the revenue records. Further, the possession memo has been brought on record as CA-2.

6. During the pendency of above writ petition, an Impleadment Application No.6 of 2019 was filed for impleading Saharanpur Development Authority as one of the respondent. On 22.04.2019, the amendment application was allowed and necessary correction in the array of parties was made. The matter was listed on 15.05.2019, thereafter on 16.05.2019. On 20.05.2019, learned Standing Counsel produced the original records of the case before the Court. This Court after perusal of the records passed following order:-

"Learned Standing Counsel has produced the original record.

We have perused the same.

The possession memo bears only signature of Tehsildar and Lekhpal, Chandrapal Sharma, there is no signatures of the petitioners and witnesses.

It is urged by learned counsel for petitioners that the Tehsildar is not appropriate Authority to take the possession of the land in view of Rules 1983.

Learned Standing Counsel has not disputed the said fact.

Our attention has been drawn to the impugned order passed by the District Magistrate dated 5th May, 2014, wherein it is mentioned that after issuance of notice dated 15th April, 1993 under Section 10 (5) of the Act, the Tehsildar Sadar has taken possession of the land on 31st July,1993.

On 17th July, 2014, all the respondents were granted four weeks time to file counter affidavit.

The State has filed its counter affidavit, which is taken on record.

The Saharanpur Development Authority has been impleaded on 22.04.2019 in the interest of justice six weeks time is granted to file counter affidavit.

Put up this case in the additional cause list before this Bench as a part heard on 19th July, 2019.

The original records are returned to learned Standing Counsel. "

7. Counsel for the Saharanpur Development Authority was granted six weeks time to file counter affidavit. When the matter was again listed on 19.07.2019, Counsel for the Saharanpur Development Authority was not present and the case was adjourned. Again, the matter was listed on 27.09.2019 and as a last opportunity, six weeks and no more time was granted to the counsel for Development Authority to file counter affidavit and the matter was posted peremptorily for 24.10.2019. On the said date again Counsel for the Saharanpur Development Authority was not present, neither any counter affidavit was filed on behalf of the Development Authority, thus we had no option but to proceed and decide the matter.

8. Counsel for the petitioners submitted that after coming of the Repeal Act, proceedings under the Urban Ceiling Act in view of Section 3 stood abated. As no actual possession has been taken in terms of sub-section 5 of Section 10 and sub-section 6 of Section 10 of the Act, 1976. He further submitted that no notice under sub-section 5 of Section 10 was served on the petitioners, nor the tenure holders have handed over the possession to Collector, which is evident from the material on record. He further submitted that from pleadings of respondent-State in their counter affidavit, it is clear that no recourse to sub-section 6 of Section 10 has been taken for forcible possession by the State. Moreover, State has failed to point out any document in the original record showing taking over the physical possession.

9. He further invited the attention of the Court to the Dakhalnama, which has been brought on record by the State in their counter affidavit as well as in the original records, which shows that possession was taken over by Tehsildaar, which is not an appropriate authority to take possession of the land in view of Rules, 1983 and further it does not bear the signature or thumb impression of the tenure holder. This fact clearly demonstrates that petitioners have not handed over possession voluntarily to the State pursuant to notice issued under sub-section 5 of Section 10 of the Act, 1976, as such proceedings stood abated as tenure holders are still in possession over the land.

10. Sri Dixit had further relied upon judgment of Apex Court in cases of State of U.P. Vs. Hari Ram, 2013 (4) SCC 280 and Banda Development Authority Vs. Moti lal Agarwal and Others, 2011 Law Suit (SC) 411 and judgment of this Court in State of U.P. & Another Vs. Nek Singh, 2010 Law Suit (Alld.) 3581, Ram Chandra Pandey vs. State of U.P. & Others, 2010 (82) ALR 136, Ehsan Vs. State of U.P. & Others, Writ C No.21009 of 2012, Lalji Vs. State of U.P. & Others, 2018 (5) ADJ 566, Yaseen & Others Vs. State of U.P. & Others, 2014 (4) ADJ 305 (DB), Mohammad Suaif & Another Vs. State of U.P. & Others, Writ C No.12696 of 2009 decided on 07.05.2019, Mohammad Islam & Another Vs. State of U.P. & Others, Writ C No.15864 of 2015 decided on 04.12.2017, State of U.P. Vs. Ruknuddin & Others, Writ C No.54830 of 2011 decided on 03.10.2018.

11. Learned Standing Counsel defending the action of State Government as well as order passed by Collector, Saharanpur on 05.05.2014, submitted that possession of surplus land was taken on 31.07.1993, pursuant to notice under sub-section 5 of Section 10 issued on 15.04.1993, which was duly served upon wife of the tenure holder by process server on 24.08.1993, and name of the State Government was mutated in revenue records over the vacant piece of land. Subsequently, on 19.02.2002, land in question was transferred in favour of Saharanpur Development Authority, as such, claim of petitioner that pursuant to Repeal Act, proceedings stood abated, cannot be accepted as possession was duly taken in accordance with law and vacant piece of land was transferred in favour of Saharanpur Development Authority.

12. We had summoned the original records as there was a serious dispute with regard to taking of physical possession of the surplus land.

13. We have perused the original records. From perusal of possession memo dated 31.07.1993, it is clear that the Tehsildar, Saharanpur and Chandrapal Sharma, Lekhpal has taken the possession of the land on 31.07.1993 but possession memo does not bear the signature of the person, who has transferred the land, nor of any witness.

14. We have heard Sri Madhusudan Dixit, learned counsel for the petitioners, learned Standing Counsel for respondent nos.1, 2 & 3 and have perused the material on record.

15. It is not in dispute that proceedings under Act No.33 of 1976 was initiated against father of petitioners in year 1978 for declaring surplus land. It is also not in dispute that notices u/s. 10(1) and 10(3) were issued. Notice under sub-section 5 of Section 10, which is alleged to have been issued on 15.04.1993, according to petitioners was not served upon the tenure holder, while State has categorically submitted that it was served upon wife of the tenure holder through process server on 24.08.1993. However, as per the State, possession was taken on 31.07.1993 by the Tehsildar Saharanpur, alongwith Lekhpal copy of dakhalnama has been brought on record, which demonstrates the fact that it does not bear the signature or thumb impression of the person, who has transferred the possession, nor of any witness, while it only bears the signature of the person receiving the possession.

16. Collector, Saharanpur, while passing the order impugned had held that possession has been taken over by the Tehsildar pursuant to notice under Section 10(5) of the Act on 31.07.1993, thus it is an accepted fact that the possession over the vacant land has been taken over by the Tehsildar and not by the appropriate authority as envisaged under the Uttar Pradesh Urban Land Ceiling (Taking of Possession, Payment of Amount and Allied Matters) Directions, 1983 (Directions issued by the State Government under Section 35 of the Act, 1976), which is reproduced below:-

"The Uttar Pradesh Urban Land Ceiling (Taking of Possession, Payment of Amount and Allied Matters) Directions, 1983 (Directions issued by the State Government under Section 35 of 1976 Act):

17. Thus, possession taken by the Tehsildar is against the directions issued by the State Government u/s. 35 of the Act, 1976, which envisages that it is the Collector, who is competent and authorized to take possession.

18. The Supreme Court in case of Hari Ram (Supra) had laid down detailed procedure for taking possession of the surplus land. The Supreme Court distinguished between voluntary surrender made under sub-section 3 of Section 10, peaceful dispossession under sub-section 5 of Section 10 and forceful dispossession made under sub-section 6 of Section 10, relevant paragraphs are extracted here as under:-

"30. Vacant land, it may be noted, is not actually acquired but deemed to have been acquired, in that deeming things to be what they are not. Acquisition, therefore, does not take possession unless there is an indication to the contrary. It is trite law that in construing a deeming provision, it is necessary to bear in mind the legislative purpose. The purpose of the Act is to impose ceiling on vacant land, for the acquisition of land in excess of the ceiling limit thereby to regulate construction on such lands, to prevent concentration of urban lands in hands of few persons, so as to bring about equitable distribution. For achieving that object, various procedures have to be followed for acquisition and vesting. When we look at those words in the above setting and the provisions to follow such as sub-sections (5) and (6) of Section 10, the words "acquired" and "vested" have different meaning and content. Under Section 10(3), what is vested is de jure possession not de facto, for more reasons than one because we are testing the expression on a statutory hypothesis and such an hypothesis can be carried only to the extent necessary to achieve the legislative intent.

Voluntary surrender

31. The "vesting" in sub-section (3) of Section 10, in our view, means vesting of title absolutely and not possession though nothing stands in the way of a person voluntarily surrendering or delivering possession. The Court in Maharaj Singh v. State of U.P.13, while interpreting Section 117(1) of the U.P. Zamindari Abolition and Land Reforms Act, 1950 held that "vesting" is a word of* slippery import and has many meaning and the context controls the text and the purpose and scheme project the particular semantic shade or nuance of meaning. The Court in Rajendra Kumar v. Kalyan14 held as follows: (SCC p. 114, para 28)

"28. ...We do find some contentious substance in the contextual facts, since vesting shall have to be a "vesting" certain. 'To "vest", generally means to give a property in.' (Per Brett, L.J. Coverdale v. Charlton15 : Stroud's Judicial Dictionary, 5th Edn. Vol. VI.) Vesting in favour of the unborn person and in the contextual facts on the basis of a subsequent adoption after about 50 years without any authorization cannot however but be termed to be a contingent event. To 'vest', cannot be termed to be an executor devise. Be it noted however, that 'vested' does not necessarily and always mean 'vest in possession' but includes 'vest in interest' as well."

32. We are of the view that so far as the present case is concerned, the word "vesting" takes in every interest in the property including de jure possession and, not de facto but it is always open to a person to voluntarily surrender and deliver possession, under Section 10(3) of the Act.*

33. Before we examine sub-section (5) and sub-section (6) of Section 10, let us examine the meaning of sub-section (4) of Section 10 of the Act, which says that during the period commencing on the date of publication under sub-section (1), ending with the day specified in the declaration made under sub-section (3), no person shall transfer by way of sale, mortgage, gift or otherwise, any excess vacant land, specified in the notification and any such transfer made in contravention of the Act shall be deemed to be null and void. Further, it also says that no person shall alter or cause to be altered the use of such excess vacant land. Therefore, from the date of publication of the notification under sub-section (1) and ending with the date specified in the declaration made in sub-section (3), there is no question of disturbing the possession of a person, the possession, therefore, continues to be with the holder of the land.*

Peaceful dispossession

34. Sub-section (5) of Section 10, for the first time, speaks of "possession" which says where any land is vested in the State Government under sub-section (3) of Section 10, the competent authority may, by notice in writing, order any person, who may be in possession of it to surrender or transfer possession to the State Government or to any other person, duly authorized by the State Government.*

35. If de facto possession has already passed on to the State Government by the two deeming provisions under sub-section (3) to Section 10, there is no necessity of using the expression "where any land is vested" under sub-section (5) to Section 10. Surrendering or transfer of possession under sub-section (3) to Section 10 can be voluntary so that the person may get the compensation as provided under Section 11 of the Act early. Once there is no voluntary surrender or delivery of possession, necessarily the State Government has to issue notice in writing under sub-section (5) to Section 10 to surrender or deliver possession. Sub-section (5) of Section 10 visualizes a situation of surrendering and delivering possession, peacefully while sub-section (6) of Section 10 contemplates a situation of forceful dispossession.*

Forceful dispossession

36. The Act provides for forceful dispossession but only when a person refuses or fails to comply with an order under sub-section (5) of Section 10. Sub-section (6) to Section 10 again speaks of "possession" which says, if any person refuses or fails to comply with the order made under sub-section (5), the competent authority may take possession of the vacant land to be given to the State Government and for that purpose, force - as may be necessary - can be used. Sub-section (6), therefore, contemplates a situation of a person refusing or fails to comply with the order under sub-section (5), in the event of which the competent authority may take possession by use of force. Forcible dispossession of the land, therefore, is being resorted only in a situation which falls under sub-section (6) and not under sub-section (5) to Section 10. Sub-sections (5) and (6), therefore, take care of both the situations, i.e. taking possession by giving notice that is "peaceful dispossession" and on failure to surrender or give delivery of possession under Section 10(5), than "forceful dispossession" under sub-section (6) of Section 10."

19. Similar issue in regard to peaceful and forceful possession in terms of sub-section 5 and 6 of Section 10 of the Act cropped up before the Apex Court, which was considered by it in case of Gajanan Kamlya Patil Vs. Addl. Collector & Comp. Auth. & Ors, JT 2014 (3) SC 2011, which followed the earlier decision in case of Hari Ram (supra). In yet another case, in Special Leave Petition (C) No.17799 of 2015 (supra), the Apex Court held after perusing the original records that possession was not taken by the competent authority or his authorized representative by following procedure laid down under Section 10(5) and Section 10(6) of the Act, 1976 declined to interfere in the order impugned.

20. A Division Bench of this Court in case of Nek Singh (supra), Ruknuddin (supra), Ramchandra Pandey (supra), and Ehsan (supra) was also of the view that possession had been taken from tenure holder without complying provision of Section 10(5) and 10(6) of the Act, 1976.

21. Pertinently, in respect of Saharanpur Development Authority, same issue was considered in case of Rati Ram Vs. State of U.P. and Others, 2018 (4) ALJ 338, wherein this Court held as under:-

"8. The 'Dakhalnama' a certified copy whereof has been produced before us does not even bear the signatures of any attesting witness. We find this to be a lapse and patent illegality the benefit whereof has to be given to the land holder in view of the Division Bench judgment in the case of Mohd. Islam and 3 others v. State of U.P. and 2 others, Writ Petition No. 15864 of 2015 decided on 4th December, 2017. It was also a case of District- Saharanpur. We extract paragraph Nos. 44 to 47 of the said judgment which are as under:

"44. Since, in the present case, neither factum of taking actual physical possession by Competent Authority under Ceiling Act has been fortified by placing any document nor factum of possession of Development Authority at any point of time has been shown, therefore, argument advanced by learned Standing Counsel on the basis of State of Assam (supra) will not help.

45. Viewed from the above exposition of law we find in the present case that no such exercise of issuing notice under Section 10(6) of the Act, 1976 and thereafter execution of memo on the spot had taken place which is mandatory for ceiling authorities as admittedly the original tenure-holder and then his successors had never voluntarily surrendered the possession of land. In the absence of voluntary surrender of possession of surplus land, the authorities were required to proceed with forcible possession. The document of possession memo would not by itself evidence the actual taking of possession unless it is witnessed by two independent persons acknowledging the act of forcible possession. As discussed above in the earlier part of this. judgment we are not able to accept the alleged possession memo worth calling a document as such in the absence of certain requisites, nor does it bear the details of witnesses who signed the document. It bears mainly signatures of Chackbandi Lekhpal, a person taking possession and then the document has been directed to be kept on file. This is no way of taking forcible possession nor, a document worth calling possession memo. A mere issuance of notification under Section 10(3) and notice under Section 10(5) regarding delivery of possession does not amount to actual delivery of possession of land more especially in the face of the fact that the tenureholder had in fact not voluntarily made surrender of possession of surplus land and no proceeding under Section 10(6) had taken place.

46. Since, we have held that possession memo dated 20.06.1993 is not a possession memo and is a void document for want of necessary compliance under Section 10(6) of the Act, 1976, the petitioners are entitled to the benefit under Section 4 of the Repeal Act, 1999 that came into force w.e.f. 20.03.1999.

47. We may also place on record that respondents claim that possession of land in question was handed over to Saharanpur Development Authority pursuant to Government Order dated 29.12.1984 but here also we find that no material has been placed on record to show that any such actual physical possession was handed over to Saharanpur Development Authority and the said authority is in de facto possession of land in dispute. Except bare averment made in the counter-affidavit respondent have not chosen to place anything on record to support the stand that de facto possession over land in dispute is that of Saharanpur Development Authority. Therefore even this stand has no legs to stand and is rejected."

22. This Court in Writ C No. 31072 of 2009, Gayur and Another Vs. State of U.P. and Others, decided on 20.08.2019 faced with a similar situation, wherein respondent-State had only produced the memo of possession/dakhalnama and there was no other material to indicate that land was legally transferred to the Saharanpur Development Authority, held that the ceiling proceeding stood lapse and petitioners were entitled for land in question, which has been declared surplus land held as under:-

"Keeping in the mind the principle laid down by the Supreme Court and this Court, as indicated in the authorities referred herein-before, we find that in the counter affidavit the State has taken a very general and vague stand about the possession. In Paragraph-4 of the counter affidavit of the State the only averment made in this regard is that the process server personally served the notice under Section 10(5) of the Act, 1976 on 20th November, 1987. It is also averred therein that "It is further stated that after adopting all proceeding according to law on the aforesaid declared surplus land the possession of the State Government has been taken on 31.11.1987". It is not mentioned in the counter affidavit that the petitioners have given voluntary possession after receiving the notice under Section 10(5) of the Act, 1976. From the original record it was evident that there was no material to show that the petitioners have given voluntary possession to the State authorities after receiving the notice under Section 10(5). If they had not given the voluntary possession then the only course open to the authorities was to take forceful possession under Section 10(6) of the Act, 1976. There is no material on the record or averment made in the counter affidavit to show that the forceful possession was taken from the petitioners under Section 10(6) of the Act, 1976. In the counter affidavit filed on behalf of the State, the name of the officer, who has taken the possession, is not disclosed. However, in the counter affidavit filed by the Saharanpur Development Authority it is stated that the Tehsildar has taken the possession. As mentioned above, the only document which is on the record to indicate taking over the possession is a memo dated 31st November, 1987. The said date has been mentioned in several paragraphs of the counter affidavits of the State and the Saharanpur Development Authority. The said document does not inspire any confidence. There are only thirty days in the month of November. So, apparently 31st November is a wrong date. As held by the Supreme Court in Hari Ram (supra) and the directions issued by the State Government in the Directions, 1983 as well as the Government Order dated 29th September, 2015, we find that the possession has not been taken in terms of the Directions, 1983 and the Government Order. The Revenue Inspector and the Lekhpal are not authorized to take possession as held in a large number of cases mentioned above.

As regards the stand of the State that the possession has been handed over to the Saharanpur Development Authority, we find that except the memo of possession/ Dakhalnama, there is no other material to indicate that the possession was legally handed over to the Saharanpur Development Authority. Pertinently, in the Dakhalnama it is recorded that the land is agricultural. We find merit in the submission of the petitioners that agricultural land cannot be declared surplus. But this issue was not raised seriously, hence we are not recording any finding on this issue. In the counter affidavit filed by the Saharanpur Development Authority the alleged possession is stated to have been taken on 29th January, 2002 but no detail has been mentioned regarding the construction, which has been raised. As regards the claim of the respondents that possession of the land was handed over to the Saharanpur Development Authority, we find that the proceedings stood abated in terms of section 4 of the Repeal Act, therefore, any subsequent transfer is non est. "

23. In case, in hand, only notice under Section 10(5) of the Act was issued to petitioners, but no voluntary possession was given by them, as is evident from original record to the State authorities. If, voluntary possession was not given, then only recourse open to the authorities, was to take forcible possession under Section 10(6) of the Act, 1976. There is no material on record or averment made in the counter affidavit, nor it is case of the State functionaries that forcible possession was taken from petitioners under Section 10(6) of the Act, 1976. In the counter affidavit, name of the officers, who have taken possession, has not been disclosed, and it is only stand of the State that possession was taken by Tehsildar. While, from perusal of original memo of possession/dakhalnama, it is evident that possession was taken by Tehsildar and one Chandrapal Sharma, Lekhpal, and there is no signature of any attesting witness.

24. Thus, in view of judgment of the Apex Court in Hari Ram (supra) and directions issued by State Government in Directions, 1983 as well as Government Order dated 29.09.2015, we find that possession has not been taken in terms of the Directions, 1983 and Government Order. The Tehsildar and Lekhpal are not authorized person to take possession as held in large number of cases mentioned above.

25. In addition to above, as discussed above, there is no material on record to demonstrate that actual possession was handed over to the Saharanpur Development Authority on 19.02.2002 after possession having been taken by the State authorities, as claimed according to memo of possession/dakhalnama dated 31.07.1993 by the Tehsildar, who is not a competent authority or a person authorized to take possession in terms of Directions, 1983 and Government Order of 2015.

26. Further, the Development Authority has also not filed any counter affidavit despite being given sufficient opportunity, nor their Counsel turned up during the course of argument. The only stand taken by State functionaries are that notice u/s. 10(5) was served on wife of tenure holder by process server on 24.08.1993, except the said fact, the State had failed to establish that actual physical possession over the vacant piece of land was taken, as the memo of possession/dakhalnama clearly demonstrates that there is no signature of the person delivering the possession, nor of any attesting witness, which is in teeth of the procedure laid down in case of Hari Ram (supra) except this fact no averment in the counter affidavit nor any submission on behalf of the State has been made.

27. Collector, Saharanpur also, while deciding the representation of the petitioners has relied upon the possession taken by the Tehsildar in the year, 1993 and possession subsequently being transferred through Saharanpur Development Authority in the year 2002, except this, he has failed to adjudicate on the issue as to how Tehsildar was authorized or competent to take possession in terms of the Directions, 1983, which had been issued by the Government u/s. 35 of the Act, 1976 and has statutory flavour.

28. In view of the above, we are of the considered opinion that if possession has not been taken in terms of Section 10(5) and 10(6) of the Act, 1976, petitioners are entitled for the benefit under Section 3 and 4 of the Repeal Act.

29. For the reasons stated above, we find that the ceiling proceedings stood lapse and petitioners are entitled for the land in question, which has been declared surplus. The order impugned dated 05.05.2014 is hereby quashed and writ petition stands allowed.

30. Petitioners may apply before the authorities for expunging name of State Government from the revenue records and mutating their names.

Counsel for the Petitioners:

A. Civil Law - Nazul property – Nature and meaning – Nazul is an Arabic word. It refers to a land annexed to Crown. During British Regime, immoveable property of individuals, Zamindars, Nawabs and Rajas when confiscated for one or the other reason, it was termed as 'Nazul property' – It was neither acquired nor purchased after making payment – In Legal Glossary 1992 meaning of the term 'Nazul' has been given as 'Rajbhoomi' – It is only such land which is owned and vested in the State on account of its capacity of Sovereign, and application of right of bona vacantia. (Para 24, 25 and 26)

B. Constitution of India – Article 296 – Principle of escheat/ bona vacantia/ Doctrine of lapse – Empowering the king to take property – Recognized under common law of England – These principle would have been applicable prior to enforcement of Constitution of India – Article 296 has retained power of State to get ownership of such land, in respect whereof principle of 'escheat', 'lapse' or 'bona vacantia' applied – This power continued to apply after enactment of Constitution with the only modification that if such land is situate within the territory of State Government, it will vest in State and in other cases, it will vest in Union of India. (Para 28 and 31)

Held – Thus the land in question which is admittedly 'Nazul', belonged to the category as discussed above i.e. it came to be vested and owned by State in its capacity of Sovereign and right of bona vacantia. When acquisition is made under the provisions of a Statute, purpose of acquisition is already known and State pay its price but when land is owned by State, which is Nazul, objective of use of such land is not predetermined but it can be utilized by State for larger public welfare and its benefit, as necessitated from time to time. In other words 'Nazul' land forms the assets owned by State in trust for the people in general who are entitled for its user in the most fair and beneficial manner for their benefit. State cannot be allowed to distribute such largesse by pick and choose manner or to some selected groups, or in a whimsical manner etc.

C. Government Grant Act, 1895 – Preamble – Purpose of enactment – Doubts have arisen to the extent and operation of TP Act, 1882 and to the power of Crown (later substituted by word "Government") to impose limitations and restrictions upon grants and other transfers of land made by it or under its authority, hence to remove such doubts, GG Act, 1895 was enacted. (Para 48)

D. Government Grant Act, 1895 – Section 2 and 3 – Transfer of Property Act, 1882 – Grant of Nazul – Governing factor – Where 'Nazul' land is let out to a person by Government under agreement of lease i.e. Grant, it is governed by GG Act, 1895 and rights of parties therefore have to be seen in the light of stipulations contained in the document of 'Grant' – 'Grant' includes a property transferred on lease though in some cases, 'Grant' may result in wider interest i.e. transfer of title etc. – Whatever may be nature of document of transfer i.e. instrument of 'Grant', the fact remains that terms and conditions of 'Grant' shall be governed by such document and it shall prevail over any other law including TP Act 1882 – One cannot take resort to TP Act, 1882 to wriggle out of any condition or limitation etc. imposed in terms of document of 'Grant'. (Para 65)

E. Government Grant Act, 1895 – Section 3 – Nazul Land – Procedure to take possession – Where a lease has been granted under the terms of GG Act, 1895, then what procedure has to be followed is provided by Section 3 of GG Act, 1895 which says that all provisions, restrictions, conditions and limitations contained in any such creation, conferment or Grant referred to in Section 2, shall be valid and take effect according to their tenor – Any decree or direction of a Court of Law or any rule of law, statute or enactments of the Legislature, to the contrary notwithstanding. (Para 70)

Held – Above discussion, therefore, leaves no manner of doubt that Grant/Lease of Nazul land shall be exclusively governed by stipulations/conditions/terms contained in Grant/Indenture of Lease and no Statute can be resorted to govern rights of parties over Nazul land, which will be governed by aforesaid Grant/Indenture of Lease.

F. Lease of Nazul land – Right of lessee to transfer – Lessee has no right to transfer leased Nazul Land without prior permission. Meaning thereby, unless conditions are satisfied, Lesses had no right of transfer of interest at all. Therefore, any transfer in violation thereof will not result in creating any right or interest to the Transferee since Transferor himself has nothing which he can transfer at his own. (Para 78)

Held – If transfer is made without permission, as required in lease-deed, such transfer would be illegal, void and would not confer any right or interest upon Transferee in respect of land concerned. We, therefore, hold aforesaid nomination creating any right in favour of petitioner-1 patently illegal.

G. Repealing and Amending (Second) Act, 2017 – Section 4 – Effect to the lease of Nazul land – Right of lessor of re-entry for public purpose – Overriding effect of lease deed – Section 4 of Repeal Act, 2017 is very clear and need not much discussion for the reason that lease deed has been executed between the parties and being a Grant, admittedly, it was governed by provisions of GG Act, 1895 – Lessor had widest power to impose such conditions in lease deed as it thinks fit and they have to override any other Statute and that is an act done when deed was executed between the parties – All the terms and conditions of lease deed creating any obligation, right, duty, liberty etc. of parties are such, which have already been suffered or incurred. (Para 103)

Held – Lessee has suffered a condition of lease that Lessor shall have right of re-entry whenever land is required for 'public purpose', it can resume the land. This is a consequence, which has already incurred due to execution of leasedeed. Right of re-entry whenever land is required for 'public purpose' stand acquired by Lessor when lease deed was executed and those has been saved by Section 4 of Repeal Act, 2017

H. Constitution of India – Article 14 – Application to contract entered privately – No advertisement while letting the Nazul land, in question and no opportunity to all intending parties – Petitioners entered into lease with private negotiation with Government and hence Article 14 of Constitution, in the case in hand, in our view, does not come into picture – A contract entered privately will remain a mere contract and parties are governed by the agreed stipulations. Here Article 14 of Constitution is not attracted. (Para 107)

I. Doctrine of Election – Validity of the some clause of agreement – An act is subject to certain conditions as a whole, and parties to the transaction once, have accepted all the conditions together, then subsequently, it is not open to retain some and leave another. It cannot choose some and leave other – This principle is based on doctrine of election, which postulates that no party can accept and reject the same instrument – A person cannot say at one time that a transaction is valid and thereby obtain some advantage to which he could only be entitled on the condition that it is valid in entirety and then turn round and say that it is void for the purpose of securing some other advantage. (Para 108)

J. Indian Evidence Act, 1872 – Section 116 – Rule of estoppel – A tenant who has been let into possession cannot deny his landlord's title, however defective it may be, so long as he has not openly restored possession by surrender to his landlord – Doctrine of election is based on the rule of estoppel. The doctrine of estoppel by election is one of the species of estoppel in pais (or equitable estoppel) which is a rule in equity. By that rule, a person may be precluded by his action or conduct or silence when it is his duty to speak, from asserting a right which he otherwise would have had. (Para 111 and 112)

Held – We, therefore, find nothing arbitrary or illegal in resumption clause. State is the owner of land. If for public purpose, it wants to take back its land by way of resumption, there is nothing per se arbitrary. Secondly, condition of resumption is a part of contract between the parties and having accepted the same and contract having been carried out, and virtually completed its term, in order to wriggle out the rights, obligations and liabilities incurred and acquired thereunder, one of the party cannot contend that one of the conditions of such agreement is bad.

K. Nazul land – Conferment of right to freehold-Effect of pendency of application -Merely by making an application for grant of freehold right, applicant did not acquire a vested right. (Para 156)

Held – The above discussion makes it clear that Nazul Land, if required by State for public purpose and it exercises right of reentry/ resumption, the same cannot be defeated by any person on the ground that his individual right must prevail over such public purpose.

36. Judgment dated 02.04.2013 of Allahabad High Court passed in Writ Petition No.62588 of 2010, M/s Madhu Colonizers Pvt. Ltd. vs. State of U.P. & Ors.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Sudhir Agarwal, J.)

1. Five petitioners, namely, Smt. Usha Rani Gupta, wife of Sri R.P. Gupta, resident of 21/19, Mayo Road, Allahabad; Sri Mirza Amir Ullah Beg; Sri Mirza Tariq Ullah Beg; Sri Mirza Rashid Ullah Beg, all sons of (Late) Mirza Hamid Ullah Beg and Smt. Amina Razia Rafat Naz Begum, daughter of (Late) Mirza Hamid Ullah Beg, have filed this writ petition under Article 226 of Constitution of India, praying for issue of a writ of certiorari quashing order dated 14.08.2018 issued by District Magistrate, Allahabad informing petitioners that State Government has resumed land in question and, therefore, petitioners should vacate the same, failing which possession shall be taken forcibly at the cost of petitioners. A writ of mandamus has also been prayed, directing District Magistrate, Allahabad to consider and dispose of application dated 29.01.1999, in respect of conversion of lease into free-hold of disputed land, in accordance with Government Orders dated 14.03.2014 and 15.01.2015. By way of an amendment, allowed vide order dated 30.05.2019, a further prayer has been added for issue of a writ of mandamus, commanding respondent-State of U.P. to restore and hand over physical possession of Nazul Site No. GG-1, Civil Station, Allahabad to petitioners.

2. Land in question, in the present writ petition, is a Nazul land bearing No. GG/1, Civil Station, Allahabad, area 7929.8 square metre, (hereinafter referred to as "disputed Nazul land").

3. Facts in brief, giving rise to present writ petition, are as under.

4. Lease of disputed Nazul land was executed on 12.12.1912 with effect from 01.01.1909 by Secretary of State for India in Council for a period of 50 years. Lease expired on 31.12.1958. It also appears that in the meantime, land was divided and numbered as GG-1 and GG-2. Lessees applied for renewal. In the light of relevant Government orders and Supreme Court's judgement in State of U.P. and Others Vs. Purshottam Das Tandon and Others (1989) SUPP 2 SCC 412, lease was renewed and a deed was executed on 26.09.1991/28.01.1992 between Governor of Uttar Pradesh through Collector, Allahabad and Smt. Kaniz Fatima Beg wife of (Late) Mirza Hamid Ullah Beg; Mirza Amir Ullah Beg; Mirza Tariq Ullah Beg and Mirza Rashid Ullah Beg, all sons of (Late) Mirza Hamid Ullah Beg, and Smt. Amina Razia Rafat Naz Begum daughter of (Late) Mirza Hamid Ullah Beg, all are residents of 24, New Barry Road, Lucknow, for a period of 30 years with effect from 01.01.1959, for which lease rent was paid. Clause-4 of lease deed provided that after expiry of term of 30 years, at the request of lessee, lessor may renew lease for another 30 years but maximum period of renewal shall be 90 years, including initial period of lease. Lease term expired on 31.12.1988. Some of the relevant conditions of lease deed are reproduced as under:-

"The lessees hereby covenant with the lessor as follows:

(4) That they shall not at any time without the written consent of such Collector, Allahabad alter or vary any part of the external elevation or plan of such dwelling house and out buildings from the original elevation or plan thereof.

5. Further conditions, agreed by parties, stated in para-3 of lease deed, relevant for our purpose are:-

"(a) That, if the said rent or any part thereof shall be in arrear and unpaid for the space of one calendar month whether the same shall have been lawfully demanded or not if there shall be a breach or non-observance of any of the covenants by the Lessees herein contained then and in any such case the Lessor, may, notwithstanding the waiver of any cause or right of re-entry, re-enter upon the said premises and expel the Lessees and all occupiers of the same therefrom and this demise shall absolutely determine and the Lessees shall forfeit all rights to remove or recover any compensation for any buildings erected by them on the said premises AND ALSO the installments of the said premium already paid shall become forfeited to the LESSOR.

(b) That, notwithstanding anything contained in this deed, the Lessor shall be entitled to recover the arrears of rent reserved by this deed in the manner provided in the Land Revenue Act (U.P. Act III of 1901) for realising arrears of revenue.

(c) That, if the demised premises are at any time required by the lessor for his or for any public purpose he shall have the right to give one month's clear notice in writing to the lessees to remove any buildings standing at the time on the demised premises and within two months of the receipt of the notice to take possession thereof on the expiry of that period subject however to the condition that if the Lessor is willing to purchase the buildings on the demised premises, the Lessees shall be paid for such buildings such amount as may be determined by the Secretary to Government, U.P. in Nagar Awas Department.

6. Renewed lease deed was executed again on 25.03.1996 for a period of 30 years with effect from 01.01.1990 for Nazul Plot No. GG/1, Civil Station, Allahabad (Area 1 acre and 4613 square yard) (residential). This document on behalf of lessees was signed by Dinesh Kumar, Power of Attorney Holder, on the same terms and conditions, (except change in lease rent) contained in earlier registered lease deed.

7. Smt. Kaniz Fatima Beg died and petitioners- 2 to 5 became lessees of aforesaid land. They executed a nomination letter dated 18.01.1999 in favour of petitioner-1, Smt. Usha Rani Gupta giving consent and nominating her assigning right to get Nazul land GG/1, Civil Station, Allahabad, Area 1 acre and 4613 square yard i.e. 7584.26 square metre, freehold. Petitioner-1 moved an application dated 29.01.1999 for conversion of aforesaid land into freehold, in accordance with Government Order dated 01.12.1998. The said application was not decided for almost 20 years though Additional District Magistrate (Nazul), Allahabad granted approval to said conversion. Lease granted to petitioners-2 to 5 was governed by Government Grants Act, 1895 (hereinafter referred to as "GG Act, 1895"). Exercising right of re-entry under Clause-3 (c) of lease deed, District Magistrate issued letter dated 14.08.2018 for re-entry/resumption of land by State. It is stated in the aforesaid order that proposal for resumption of land was sent to State Government vide District Magistrate, Allahabad's letter dated 19.06.2018 and approval has been granted by Principal Secretary, Housing and Urban Planning Development vide letter dated 09.08.2018.

8. Resumption notice dated 14.08.2018 has been challenged on the ground that GG Act, 1895 has already been repealed by Repealing and Amending (Second) Act, 2017 (Act No. 4 of 2018) (hereinafter referred to as "Repeal Act, 2017"); resumption has been made by State of U.P and not by District Magistrate, Allahabad; Clause-3(c) of lease deed is violative of Article 14 of Constitution, inasmuch as, lease rights of petitioners could not have been acquired or resumed without payment of compensation at market value; respondents have adopted pick and choose policy for resumption; alleged requirement is artificial and not genuine and there is no public purpose involved in resumption.

9. Subsequently, by way of an amendment, para-88A has been added stating that actual physical possession of disputed Nazul land has been taken by respondents on 20.11.2018 from occupants i.e. Women's Polytechnic, behind back, and without knowledge of petitioners. Consequently a prayer for restoration of possession has also been added by way of amendment in writ petition. On behalf of petitioners, reliance has placed on State of Maharashtra Vs. 10. Respondent-4 has filed a counter affidavit stating that Nazul Plot No. GG/1, Civil Station, Allahabad was demised for a period of 30 years with effect from 01.01.1959 by an indenture of lease dated 26.09.1991 for an area measuring 1 acre and 4613 square yards (7929.8 square metre). The lease was executed on 26.09.1991 by District Magistrate, Allahabad on behalf of Governor of Uttar Pradesh in favour of Smt. Kaniz Fatima Beg, Sri Amir Ullah Beg, Sri Mirza Tariq Ullah Beg and Sri Mirza Rashid Ullah Beg. It was for a period of 30 years commencing from 01.01.1959 but renewable twice, each time for 30 years, but not exceeding 90 years and total period include initial period. After expiry of first 30 years, it was renewed on 25.03.1996. Lease was a 'Grant' under GG Act, 1895. In terms of Clause-3(c) of lease deed dated 26.09.1991 read 25.3.1996, State Government has exercised right of re-entry since land is required for Planned Development of Allahabad City which has been declared "Smart City" and disputed Nazul land has to be developed as 'Parking Place, Multi Purpose Open Space, Night Market and Amphitheater'. Further, disputed Nazul land was not in possession of petitioners or lessees or alleged nominee. It was occupied by Institute of Engineering and Rural Technology (IERT) as tenants and a Women's Polytechnic was being run on the said land. From the occupants, possession of land was taken on 20.11.2018 i.e. after expiry of notice period. Repeal of GG Act, 1895 by Repeal Act, 2017 has not affected rights and obligations of parties under lease deed in view of Saving provision contained in Section 4 of Repeal Act, 2017. On behalf of respondent-4, reliance is placed on The State of Andhra Pradesh vs. Gathala Abhishekam and Ors, AIR 1964 AP 450; Union of India and Others Vs. 11. A supplementary affidavit has been filed by petitioners. It is stated that Rules for disposal of land in New Civil Station, Allahabad were notified by the then Officiating Commissioner, Allahabad namely, Sri C.B. Thornhill vide notification dated 05.05.1858. Copy of the same has been filed as Annexure-1 to supplementary affidavit. Subsequently, Rules were framed by Municipality of Allahabad for the purpose of Act VL, 1868 published in Government Gazette of North Western Provinces, Allahabad, dated 21.12.1870, called Municipal Bye-Laws, General Department Notification dated 13.12.1870. Aforesaid Municipal Bye-Laws were revised vide Notification dated 19.12.1877, published in Government Gazette, North Western Provinces and Oudh, Allahabad dated 22.12.1877 wherein it was mentioned that Municipal Committee is authorized to dispose of land, property of Government, in New Civil Station for building sites. Boundary of New Civil Station was given in para-I as under:-

"On the West, the new Cantonment; on the North, Muir Road and Mayo Road; on the South, South road; and on the East, City Road and Phaphamau Road."

12. Para-II mentioned that aforesaid Bye-Laws shall not apply to land already reserved or to be hereinafter reserved by Government within the limits of Station. Petitioner has also given two Standardized Proforma of lease of 'Nazul' for building purpose contained in Nazul Manual published by Government Order dated 27.11.1940 and amended by Government Order dated 25.06.1952. The land use of Nazul site GG/1, Civil Station, Allahabad has been marked as "Multi-Level Parking" in Zonal Plan of Zone B-4, applicable with effect from 18.03.2011 in the Master Plan, 2021 of Allahabad under the land use category of "Traffic and Transportation". It is suggested that land being sought to be resumed for the purposes which is other than that provided in Master Plan, will result in change of use which is not legally permissible. Earlier lease deed, in respect of disputed Nazul land, was executed on 21.12.1912 by Secretary of State for India in Council in favour of Ram Charan Das. Area of land mentioned in the said lease deed was 2 Acres and 4723 Sq. Yards and purpose of 'Grant' was building a 'dwelling house'. Tenure of lease was 50 years. Period of lease commenced with effect from 01.01.1909. The stipulation giving right of 're-entry', contained in aforesaid lease deed, read as under:-

*"Provided always and it is hereby declared and agreed that no compensation or payment shall be claimable by the said Lessees, their Executors, Administrators or Assigns for any buildings, erections, or fixtures erected, affixed, or placed by him, them or any of them in or upon the said premises or any part thereof, i*n case these presents shall be determined by re-entry for forfeiture in which case the buildings, erections and fixtures shall rest absolutely in the said Secretary of State, his Successors and Assigns as his own property without any compensation or payment in respect thereof provided further and it is hereby agreed that the said Lessees, their Executors, Administrators and Assigns, shall not assign or underlet or otherwise part with the possession of the said premises or any part thereof without the permission of the said Secretary of State, his Successors or Assigns (which permission may be signified by the said Collector or by such other person as the Government of the North Western Provinces or the said Secretary of State may appoint in that behalf) for that express purpose had and obtained." (Emphasis added)

13. Since in the supplementary affidavit only some documents have been filed, therefore, respondents have not chosen to reply the same.

14. Sri Ashish Kumar Singh, learned counsel for petitioners has filed written submission and pressed the same in support of writ petition. Firstly, it is said that right of resumption under lease deed read with GG Act, 1895 ceased to be available to respondents after repeal of GG Act, 1895 by Repeal Act, 2017. Advancing submissions on the effect of repeal, it is said :-

A. The Effect of Repeal of GG Act, 1895 by Repeal Act, 2017 w.e.f. 05.01.2018 is to deliberate ALL rights, title, interests, etc. created in exercise of powers under GG Act, 1895, except those expressly saved by Section 4 of Repeal Act, 2017.

B. The Government Grants (U.P. Amendment) Act, 1960 (amending Sections 2 and 3 of GG Act, 1895) immediately after promulgation of Repeal Act, 2017, render GG Act, 1895 ineffective and infructuous.

C. Through execution of Lease Deed in respect of Nazul Site No. GG/1, Civil Station, Allahabad, Rights(s) were Created and came into existence in favour of Lessees. At the same time, pre-existing right(s) possessed/reserved by Lessor/State of U.P. were acknowledged.

D. The pre-existing contingent right of State of U.P./Lessor to resume land was acknowledged in Clause 3(c) of Lease Deed.

E. The date of land being "Required by Lessor" as envisaged in Clause 3(c) of the Lease Deed, is the date of order of State of U.P./Lessor stipulating need of the land in question as necessary to be provided for State Government, itself, or for public purpose and directing District Magistrate to resume land in question.

F. Right of Resumption in accordance with Clause 3(c) of Lease Deed was not 'Anything Already Done' saved by Section 4 of Repeal Act, 2017.

G. The Right of Resumption in accordance with Clause 3(c) of Lease Deed was Neither a Right 'Already Accrued' nor a Right 'Already Acquired' in favour of State of U.P. which was saved by Section 4 of Repeal Act, 2017.

H. Right of Resumption in accordance with Clause 3 (c) of the Lease Deed does not stand saved by other proviso(s) of Section 4 of Repeal Act, 2017 and as such, Right of Resumption cannot be enforced by State of U.P. after repeal of GG Act, 1895 w.e.f. 05.1.2018.

I. The remaining rights and liabilities of Lessor and/ or Lessee, besides rights and liabilities already accrued or acquired or incurred in favour of Lessor/Lessees, prior to repeal of GG Act, 1895 w.e.f. 5.1.2018, shall be governed under common law including Transfer of Property Act, 1882 (hereinafter referred to as "TP Act, 1882").

15. Secondly, it is submitted that Clause-3(c) of lease deed is ultra vires of Constitution and cannot be enforced even if it is saved by Act, 2017 and on this aspect submissions are:-

A. Lease of Nazul Site No. GG/1, Civil Station, Allahabad was/ is given by the State of U.P. in favour of the Lessees for "Valuable Consideration".

B. The Clause 3(c) of lease deed is ultra-vires to Article 14 of Constitution of India.

C. The Clause 3(c) of the lease deed is ultra-vires to Article 300-A of Constitution of India.

D. The Clause 3(c) of lease deed may be struck down as being unconstitutional and ultra-vires to Articles 14 and 300-A, without effecting remaining lease deed.

16. Thirdly, it is submitted by Sri A.K.Singh, Advocate, that resumption notice issued by District Magistrate is defective, illegal, void and without jurisdiction. On this aspect, Sri Singh submitted:-

A. The alleged Public Purpose stated in the Resumption Notice dated 14.8.2018 is illegal, made up and not genuine. In fact has been concocted by concerned officials of State Government.

B. The concerned officials of State of U.P. have applied a pick-and-choose policy and decided to resume land in question in an arbitrary and malafide manner.

C. The Resumption Notice dated 14.8.2018 issued by District Magistrate, Allahabad is even otherwise defective, illegal, void and without jurisdiction.

17. On the contrary, learned counsel appearing for respondents submitted that rights and obligations of Lessees vis a vis disputed Nazul Land are governed by terms and conditions contained in lease deed; it specifically contains a condition conferring right upon Lessor to re-enter land at any point of time whenever it is required for 'public purpose' and Lessee is under an obligation to vacate the land on such exercise of right of re-entry exercised by Lessor; terms and conditions of lease deed shall prevail over any other statute and Repeal Act, 2017 does not affect aforesaid right of re-entry acquired by Lessor in terms of lease deed; and, it is not a contingent right, as contended by petitioners. He also submitted that terms and conditions of lease are strictly governed by lease-deed and it is not open to Lessee, having entered into agreement accepting all the terms and conditions, subsequently to choose some conditions and challenge other conditions. He further submitted that right exercised by Lessor in case in hand is strictly in accordance with conditions of lease and similar exercise of power has already been affirmed by this Court as well as Supreme Court in Azim Ahmad Kazmi and Others Vs. State of U.P. and Others (supra). He lastly contended that purpose for which lease has been acquired i.e. Parking place, Multi Purpose Open Space, Night Market and Amphitheater, is a 'public purpose' since land in question is situted in midst of Civil Lines area of Allahabad City where there is a huge problem of parking place. Therefore, Lessor has found it necessary to re-enter land exercising its right, which it had acquired in terms of lease-deed which was accepted and agreed by Lessees, who have enjoyed lease in terms of lease-deed for sufficiently long period.

18. We have heard Sri Ashish Kumar Singh, learned counsel for petitioners; Sri Ajit Kumar Singh, learned Additional Advocate General assisted by Sri Nimai Das, learned Additional Chief Standing Counsel for State of U.P. and its authorities; Sri Amit Verma and Sri Brijendra Kumar, Advocates for Prayagraj Development Authority; and Sri B.D.Pandey, Advocate, for respondent no.7.

19. Before entering upon adjudication of rival submissions and issues raised by parties, we find it appropriate to place certain dates and events in a chronological manner, which are admitted to parties and evident from record:

Sl.No.	Date	Events

11.	14.08.2018	Impugned order of re-entry/resumption.

20. In the light of rival submissions, issues, which in our view required adjudication in this petition, are:

(i) What is Nazul ?

(ii) Whether lease of Nazul Land is governed by provisions of GG Act, 1895 or TP Act, 1882 or any other Statute and what is inter-relationship thereof?

(iii) Whether Lessee can transfer Nazul land itself to anyone or transfer, if any, made will result only transfer of lease rights or land itself; and, if transfer is not made in accordance with conditions of Indenture of Lease/Grant, what will be its effect and whether it will confer any valid right or interest on Nazul land, subjected to transfer, upon such Transferree?

(iv) Whether Repeal Act, 2017, whereby GG Act, 1895 has been repealed, has the effect of denying Lessor's right of re-entry provided in para 3(c) of lease deed?

(v) Whether Clause 3(c) is arbitrary, unreasonable and violative of Article 14 of Constitution?

(vi) Whether after repeal of GG Act, 1895 by Repeal Act, 2017, status of petitioners would be governed by TP Act, 1882?

(vii) Whether petitioner-1 on the basis of nomination by petitioners 2 to 5 is entitled for freehold of land in dispute and whether such right will override

Lessor's i.e. State Government's right of resumption?

(viii) Whether resumption of land in dispute is arbitrary and discriminatory on the ground that in many other cases, respondents have allowed conversion of lease rights into freehold but petitioners have been discriminated?

(ix) Whether resumption/ re-entry in question is valid and genuine?

(x) Whether re-entry over land in question will require compliance of procedure prescribed in U.P. Public Premises (Eviction of Unauthorised Occupants) Act, 1972 (hereinafter referred to as "U.P. Act, 1972")

21. Questions (i) and (ii), in our view, can be taken together.

22. Every land owned by State Government is not termed as 'Nazul' and therefore it has become necessary to understand, what is 'Nazul'.

23. State Government may own land by having acquired and vested in various ways, which includes vesting of land in the capacity of a Sovereign body and having right of bona vacantia. Property may also be acquired and owned by State by way of acquisition under the Statute relating to acquisition of land or by purchase through negotiation or gift by an individual or in similar other manners. All such land, which is owned and vested in State Government results in making the State owner of such land, but in legal parlance, the term "Nazul" is not applicable to all such land.

24. It is only such land which is owned and vested in the State on account of its capacity of Sovereign, and application of right of bona vacantia, which is covered by the term 'Nazul', as the term is known for the last more than one and half century.

25. In Legal Glossary 1992, fifth edition, published by Legal Department of Government of India, at page 589, meaning of the term 'Nazul' has been given as 'Rajbhoomi, i.e., Government land'.

26. Nazul is an Arabic word. It refers to a land annexed to Crown. During British Regime, immoveable property of individuals, Zamindars, Nawabs and Rajas when confiscated for one or the other reason, it was termed as 'Nazul property'. The reason being that neither it was acquired nor purchased after making payment. In old record, when such land was referred in Urdu, this kind of land was shown as 'Jaidad Munzabta'.

27. For dealing with such property, under the authority of Lt. Governor of North Western Provinces, two orders were issued in October, 1846 and October, 1848. Therein, after the words "Nazul property", its english meaning was given as 'Escheats to the Government'. Sadar Board of Revenue on May 20, 1845 issued a circular order in reference to "Nazul land" and in para 2 thereof it mentioned, "The Government is the proprietor of those land and no valid title to them can be derived but from the Government". Nazul land was also termed as "Confiscated Estate". Under Circular dated July 13, 1859, issued by Government of North Western Provinces, every Commissioner was obliged to keep a final confiscation statement of each District and lay it before Government for orders.

28. Right of King to take property by 'escheat' or as 'bona vacantia' was recognized by common law of England. Escheat of property was Lord's right of re-entry on real property held by a tenant, dying intestate, without lawful heirs. It was an incident of Feudal Tenure and based on the want of a tenant to perform Feudal services. On the tenant dying intestate without leaving any lawful heir, his estate came to an end, and Lord, by his own right and not by way of succession or inheritance from the tenant, re-entered real property as Owner. In most cases, land escheated to Crown as the 'Lord Paramount', in view of gradual elimination of Intermediate or Mesne lords since 1290 AD. Crown takes as 'bona vacantia' goods in which no one else can claim property. In Dyke v. Walford 5 Moore PC 434= 496-13 ER 557 (580) it was said 'it is the right of the Crown to bona vacantia to property which has no other owner'. Right of the Crown to take as "bona vacantia" extends to personal property of every kind. The escheat of real property of an intestate dying without heirs was abolished in 1925 and Crown thereafter could not take such property as bona vacantia. The principle of acquisition of property by escheat, i.e., right of Government to take on property by 'escheat' or 'bona vacantia' for want of a rightful owner was enforced in Indian territory during the period of East India Company by virtue of Statute 16 and 17 Victoria, C. 95, section 27.

29. We may recollect, having gone through history, that prior to 1857, several Estates were taken over by British Company i.e. East India Company by way of annexation. Doctrine of lapse applied in Jhansi was another kind of above mentioned two principles.

30. The above provisions had continued by virtue of Section 54 of Government of India Act, 1858, section 20(3)(iii) of Government of India Act, 1915 and section 174 of Government of India Act, 1935. After enactment of Constitution of independent India, Article 296 now continues above provision and says:

"Subject as hereinafter provided, any property in the territory of India which, if this Constitution had not come into operation, would have accrued to His Majesty or, as the case may be, to the Ruler of an Indian State by escheat or lapse, or as bona vacantia for want of a rightful owner, shall if it is property situate in a State, vest in such State, and shall, in any other case, vest in the Union." (Emphasis added)

31. Article 296, therefore, has retained power of State to get ownership of such land, in respect whereof principle of 'escheat', 'lapse' or 'bona vacantia' would have been applicable prior to enforcement of Constitution of India. The above power continued to apply after enactment of Constitution with the only modification that if such land is situate within the territory of State Government, it will vest in State and in other cases, it will vest in Union of India. Vesting of land and giving ownership to State Government or Union of India under Article 296 is clearly in respect of a land, which will come to it by way of 'escheat', 'lapse' or 'bona vacantia' and not by way of acquisition of land under some Statute or purchase etc.

32. In Pierce Leslie and Co. Ltd. Vs. Miss Violet Ouchterlony Wapsnare, AIR 1969 SC 843, Court has considered the above principle in the context of 'Sovereign India' as stands under Constitution after independence, and, has observed :

"....in this country the Government takes by escheat immoveable as well as moveable property for want of an heir or successor. In this country escheat is not based on artificial rules of common law and is not an incident of feudal tenure. It is an incident of sovereignty and rests on the principle of ultimate ownership by the State of all property within its jurisdiction".

(Emphasis added)

33. Court also placed reliance on Collector of Masulipatam v. C. Vencata Narainapah 8 MIA 500, 525; Ranee Sonet Kowar v. Mirza Himmut Bahadoor (2) LR 3 IA 92, 101, Bombay Dyeing and Manufacturing Co. Ltd. v. State of Bombay [1958] SCR 1122, 1146, Superintendent and, Legal Remembrancer v. Corporation of Calcutta [1967] 2 SCR 170.

34. Judicial Committee in Cook v. Sprigg (1899) AC 572 while discussing, 'what is an act of State', observed :

"The taking possession by Her Majesty, whether by cession or by any other means by which sovereignty can be acquired, was an act of State." (Emphasis added)

35. This decision has been followed in Raja Rajinder Chand v. Mst. Sukhi, AIR 1957 SC 286.

36. In Nayak Vajesingji Joravarsingji v. Secretary of State for India in Council AIR 1924 PC 216, Lord Dunedin said :

"When a territory is acquired by a sovereign State for the first time, that is an act of State. It matters not how the acquisition has been brought about. It may be by conquest, it may be by cession following on treaty, it may be by occupation of territory hitherto unoccupied by a recognised ruler. In all cases the result is the same. Any inhabitant of the territory can make good in the municipal courts established by the new sovereign only such rights as that sovereign has, through his officers, recognised. Such rights as he had under the rule of predecessors avail him nothing." (Emphasis added)

37. In Dalmia Dadri Cement Co. Ltd. v. CIT [1958] 34 ITR 514 (SC) : AIR 1958 SC 816, Court said (page 523 of 34 ITR) :

"The expression 'act of State' is, it is scarcely necessary to say, not limited to hostile action between rulers resulting in the occupation of territories. It includes all acquisitions of territory by a sovereign State for the first time, whether it be by conquest or cession."

(Emphasis added)

38. In Promod Chandra Deb v. State of Orissa AIR 1962 SC 1288, Court said, 'Act of State' is the taking over of sovereign powers by a State in respect of territory which was not till then a part of its territory, either by conquest, treaty or cession, or otherwise.

39. To the same effect was the view taken by a Constitution Bench in Amarsarjit Singh v. State of Punjab AIR 1962 SC 1305, where in para 12, Court said:

"It is settled law that conquest is not the only mode by which one State can acquire sovereignty over the territories belonging to another State, and that the same result can be achieved in any other mode which has the effect of establishing its sovereignty."

40. In Thakur Amar Singhji v. State of Rajasthan AIR 1955 SC 504, in para 40, Court said :

*"The status of a person must be either that of a sovereign or a subject. There is no tedium quid. The law does not recognise an intermediate status of a person being partly a sovereign and partly a subject and when once it is admitted that the Bhomicharas had acknowledged the sovereignty of Jodhpur their status can only be that of a subject. A subject might occupy an exalted position and enjoy special privileges, but he is none the less a subject..."

(Emphasis added)

41. In State of Rajasthan vs. Sajjanlal Panjawat AIR 1975 SC 706 it was held that Rulers of the erstwhile Indian States exercised sovereign powers, legislative, executive and judicial. Their firmans were laws which could not have been challenged prior to the Constitution. Court relied on earlier decisions in Director of Endowments, Govt. of Hyderabad vs. Akram Ali, AIR 1956 SC 60, and Sarwarlal vs. State of Hyderabad, AIR 1960 SC 862.

42. In Promod Chandra Deb vs. State of Orissa AIR 1962 SC 1288 "act of the State" was explained in the following words :

"an "act of State" may be the taking over of sovereign powers either by conquest or by treaty or by cession or otherwise. It may have happened on a particular date by a public declaration or proclamation, or it may have been the result of a historical process spread over many years, and sovereign powers including the right to legislate in that territory and to administer it may be acquired without the territory itself merging in the new State."

43. This decision has been followed later in Biswambhar Singh vs. State of Orissa 1964 (1) SCJ 364 wherein Court said:

*"16. Thus, a territory acquired by a sovereign State is an Act of State but the land comprising territory does not become the land owned by State. The land owned by State may come to it in various ways, like confiscation, purchase, escheat or bona vacantia, gift, etc. In such a case the ownership vests in State, like any other individual and State is free to deal with the same in a manner like any other owner may do so.

17. Thus 'Nazul' is a land vested in State for any reason whatsoever that is cession or escheat or bona vacantia, for want of rightful owner or for any other reasons and once land belong to State, it will be difficult to assume that State would acquire its own land. It is per se impermissible to acquire such land by forcible acquisition under Act, 1894, since there is no question of any transfer of ownership from one person to another but here State already own it, hence there is no question of any acquisition." (Emphasis added) pay its price but when land is owned by State, which is Nazul, objective of use of such land is not predetermined but it can be utilized by State for larger public welfare and its benefit, as necessitated from time to time. In other words 'Nazul' land forms the assets owned by State in trust for the people in general who are entitled for its user in the most fair and beneficial manner for their benefit. State cannot be allowed to distribute such largesse by pick and choose manner or to some selected groups, or in a whimsical manner etc.

45. Historical documents, record as also authorities discussed above show that earlier Government i.e. East India Company upto 1858 and thereafter British Government used to allot "Nazul land" to various persons, who had shown their alliance to such Government in various ways, sometimes by deceiving their Indian counter parts who had raised voice against British Rule, or those who remained faithful to British regime and helped them for their continuation in ruling this country and similar other reasons. Sometimes land was given on lease without any condition and sometimes restricted for certain period etc., but in every case, lease was given to those persons who were faithful and had shown complete alliance to British Rule. The reason was that in respect of Nazul, no predetermined objective was available as was the case in respect of land acquired by State by way of acquisition under Statute of Acquisition after paying compensation or purchase. Further allocation of Nazul land by English Rulers used to be called "Grant".

46. In other words, we can say that initially land owned by State used to be allotted in the form of 'Grant' by British Government. No specific statutory provisions were available to govern it. TP Act, 1882 was enacted to govern transfer of immovable property. Sections 10 - 12 of TP Act, 1882 made provisions invalidating, with certain exceptions, all conditions for forfeiture of transferred property on alienation by transferee and all limitations over consequence upon such alienation or any insolvency of or attempted alienation by him.

47. Apprehending that above provisions of TP Act, 1882, may be construed as a fetter upon discretion of Crown in creation of inalienable Jagirs in 'Grants', acting upon advice that it would not be competent for Crown to create an inalienable and impartible Estate in the land comprised in the Crown Grant, unless such land has heretofore descended by custom as an impartible Raj, it was sought to make a separate Statute to give supremacy to the provisions contained in Crown's Grant, notwithstanding any other law including TP Act, 1882. With this object, i.e., 'GG Act 1895' was enacted.

48. Preamble of GG Act, 1895 gives purpose of its enactment stating that doubts have arisen to the extent and operation of TP Act, 1882 and to the power of Crown (later substituted by word "Government") to impose limitations and restrictions upon grants and other transfers of land made by it or under its authority, hence to remove such doubts, GG Act, 1895 was enacted.

49. Section 2 of GG Act, 1895, as it was initially enacted, read as under :

"Transfer of Property Act, 1882, not to apply to Government grants.-

Nothing in the Transfer of Property Act, 1882, contained shall apply or be deemed ever to have applied to any grant or other transfer of land or of any interest therein heretoforce made or hereafter to be made by or on behalf of Her Majesty the Queen Empress, Her heirs or successors, or by or on behalf of the Secretary of State for India in Council to, or in favour of, any person whomsoever; but every such grant and transfer shall be construed and take effect as if the said Act had not been passed." (Emphasis added)

50. The above provision was amended in 1937 and 1950. The amended provision read as under :

"Transfer of Property Act, 1882, not to apply to Government grants.- Nothing in the Transfer of Property Act, 1882, contained shall apply or be deemed ever to have applied to any grant or other transfer of land or of any interest therein heretoforce made or hereafter to be made by or on behalf of the Government to, or in favour of, any person whomsoever; but every such grant and transfer shall be construed and take effect as if the said Act had not been passed." (Emphasis added)

51. Section 3 of GG Act, 1895 read as under :

"Government grants to take effect according to their tenor.- All provisions, restrictions, conditions and limitations over contained in any such grant or transfer as aforesaid shall be valid and the effect according to their tenor, any rule of law, statute or enactment of the Legislature to the contrary notwithstanding."

52. In State of Uttar Pradesh, vide Government Grants (U.P. Amendment) Act, 1960 (U.P. Act No.XIII of 1960), Sections 2 and 3 of GG Act, 1895, were substituted by Section 2, as under :

"2(1) Transfer of Property Act, 1882, not to apply to Government Grants.- Nothing contained in the Transfer of Property Act, 1882, shall apply or be deemed ever to have applied to any grant or other transfer of land or of any interest therein, heretoforce made or hereafter to be made, by or on behalf of the Government to or in favour of any person whomsoever; and every such grant and transfer shall be construed and take effect as if the said Act had not been passed."

(2) U.P. Tenancy Act, 1939 and Agra Tenancy Act, 1926 not to affect certain leases made by or on behalf of the Government.- Nothing contained in the U.P. Tenancy Act, 1938, or the Agra Tenancy Act, 1926, shall affect, or be deemed to have ever affected any rights, created, conferred or granted, whether before or after the date of the passing of the Government Grants (U.P. Amendment) Act, 1960, by leases of land by, or on behalf of, the Government in favour of any person; and every such creation, conferment or grant shall be construed and take effect, notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained in the U.P. Tenancy Act, 1939, or the Agra Tenancy Act, 1926.

(3) Certain leases made by or on behalf of the Government to take effect according to their tenor.- All provisions, restrictions, conditions and limitations contained in any such creation, conferment or grant referred to in Section 2, shall be valid and take effect according to their tenor, any decree or direction of a court of law or any rule of law, statute or enactment of the Legislature, to the contrary notwithstanding :

Provided that nothing in this section shall prevent, or be deemed ever to have prevented, the effect of any enactment relating to the acquisition of property, land reforms or the imposition of ceiling on agricultural land."
(Emphasis added)

53. A perusal of Section 2 of GG Act, 1895 shows two things :

i. A declaration is made that any grant or other transfer of land or of any interest therein, made by or on behalf of Government, in favour of any person, on and after enactment of GG Act, 1895, would not be governed by provisions of TP Act, 1882 i.e. nothing contained in TP Act, 1882 shall apply to such Grant, transfer or interest.

ii. A clarification that a Grant or Transfer, referred to in Section 2, when is to be construed and given effect, it shall be done in such manner and by treating as if TP Act, 1882 has not been passed.

54. Thus GG Act, 1895 in fact was a declaratory statute. The first declaration is in respect of Grant or transfer of land or creation of any interest, as the case may be, to exclude TP Act, 1882 for all purposes. Second part of Section 2 clarified that while construing and giving effect to a Grant or Transfer, referred to in Section 2, it will be presumed that TP Act, 1882 has not been passed at all.

55. In Section 2(1) of GG Act, 1895, as amended in Uttar Pradesh, we do not find any distinction vis a vis what has been said in Section 2 of GG Act, 1895. There is an addition in GG Act, 1895 in its application to Uttar Pradesh, by inserting sub-section (2) in Section 2, a provision in respect of U.P. Tenancy Act, 1939 and Agra Tenancy Act, 1926 also, making a similar declaration, as made in sub section (1) in respect of TP Act, 1882.

56. Sub-section (3) of Section 2 of GG Act, 1895 protect certain leases, already made, declaring the same to be valid in the light of insertion of sub-section(1) of Section 2 in the State of Uttar Pradesh and that is why, notwithstanding any decree or direction of Court of law, leases already made, were validated, which otherwise might have been affected by U.P. Tenancy Act, 1938 or Agra Tenancy Act, 1926.

57. Proviso to sub-section (3) of Section 2 of GG Act, 1895 further declares that all provisions of Section 2 of GG Act, 1895 will have no effect when land is sought to be acquired under the provisions of Statute relating to acquisition or for giving effect to a Statute relating to land reforms or imposition of ceiling on agricultural land.

58. Section 3 of GG Act, 1895 is not available in State of U.P. after U.P. Amendment Act, 1960 since Sections 2 and 3 of Principal Act virtually got amalgamated in the form of Section 2, by Government Grants (U.P. Amendment) Act, 1960. However, intent, effect and declaration by legislature is almost pari materia with the only addition that in State of U.P., U.P. Tenancy Act, 1939 and Agra Tenancy Act, 1926 are also excluded in the same manner as was done in respect of TP Act, 1882.

59. Sections 2 and 3 of GG Act, 1895 were considered in State of U.P. vs. Zahoor Ahmad, 1973(2) SCC 547 and in para 16, Court said:

*"Section 3 of the Government Grants Act declares the unfettered discretion of the Government to impose such conditions and limitations as it thinks fit, no matter what the general law of the land be. The meaning of Sections 2 and 3 of the Government Grants is that the scope of that Act is not limited to affecting the provisions of the Transfer of Property Act only. The Government has unfettered discretion to impose any conditions, limitations, or restrictions in its grants, and the right, privileges and obligations of the grantee would be regulated according to the terms of the grant, notwithstanding any provisions of any statutory or common law."
(Emphasis added)

60. Again in Hajee S.V.M. Mohamed Jamaludeen Bros. & Co. vs. Government of Tamil Nadu (1997) 3 SCC 466, Court said that combined effect of two sections of GG Act, 1895 is that terms of any Grant or terms of any transfer of land made by a Government would stand insulated from tentacles of any statutory law. Section 3 places terms of such Grant beyond reach of restrictive provision contained in any enacted law or even equitable principles of justice, equity and good conscience adumbrated by common law, if such principles are inconsistent with such terms. Court said :

*"The two provisions are so framed as to confer unfettered discretion on the government to enforce any condition or limitation or restriction in all types of grants made by the government to any person. In other words, the rights, privileges and obligations of any grantee of the government would be completely regulated by the terms of the grant, even if such terms are inconsistent with the provisions of any other law."
(Emphasis added)

61. In Azim Ahmad Kazmi and others vs. State of U.P. and Another (supra) observations made in para 16 in State of U.P. vs. Zahoor Ahmad (supra) have been reproduced and followed.

62. In State of U.P. and others vs. United Bank of India and others (2016) 2 SCC 757, in para 30 of the judgment, Court said :

*"Indisputably, the lease of nazul land is governed by the Government Grants Act, 1895. Sections 2 and 3 of the Government Grants Act, 1895 very specifically provide that the provisions of the Transfer of Property Act do not apply to government lands ....." (Emphasis added)

63. Thus, a 'Grant' of a Nazul will be governed by terms and conditions contained in the instrument/deed of Grant, wholly unaffected by any Statute providing otherwise.

64. It neither can be doubted nor actually so urged by petitioners that the lease granted in the case in hand is/was a 'Grant' governed by GG Act, 1895.

65. Broadly, 'Grant' includes 'lease'. In other words, where 'Nazul' is let out to a person by Government under agreement of lease i.e. Grant, it is governed by GG Act, 1895 and rights of parties therefore have to be seen in the light of stipulations contained in the document of 'Grant'. 'Grant' includes a property transferred on lease though in some cases, 'Grant' may result in wider interest i.e. transfer of title etc. Whatever may be nature of document of transfer i.e. instrument of 'Grant', the fact remains that terms and conditions of 'Grant' shall be governed by such document and it shall prevail over any other law including TP Act 1882. One cannot take resort to TP Act, 1882 to wriggle out of any condition or limitation etc. imposed in terms of document of 'Grant'.

66. In the State of Uttar Pradesh, management of 'Nazul', in absence of statutory provisions, is governed by various administrative orders compiled in a Manual called "Nazul Manual". Here Government has made provisions of management of 'Nazul' through its own authorities namely District Magistrate or Commissioner, or, in some cases, through local bodies.

67. Nature of orders compiled in "Nazul Manual" in the context of 'Nazul' have been considered recently in State of U.P. vs. United Bank of India (supra) where Court has said that land and building in question is "Nazul", being property of Government, maintained by State authorities in accordance with 'Nazul Rules' but not administered as a 'State property'. Court has also observed that lease of "Nazul" land is governed in accordance with GG Act, 1895. Sections 2 and 3 thereto very specifically provide that provisions of TP Act, 1882 do not apply to Government land. Section 3 says that all provisions, restrictions, conditions and limitations contained in any such 'Grant' or 'Transfer', as aforesaid, shall be valid and take effect according to their tenor, any rule of law statute or enactment of the Legislature to the contrary, notwithstanding. Thus stipulations in "lease deed" shall prevail and govern the entire relation of State Government and lessee.

68. In Pradeep Oil Corporation vs. Municipal Corporation of Delhi and others (2011) 5 SCC 270, Court said that GG Act, 1895 is a special Statute and will prevail over general Statute i.e. TP Act, 1882. It says:

*"In the present case grant has been made by the President of India in terms of Section 2 of the Government Grants Act, 1895 and the Transfer of Property Act, 1882 may have little bearing in the instant case. The former, i.e. the Government Grants Act, 1895 being a special statute would prevail over the general statute, i.e. the Transfer of Property Act, 1882. Accordingly, the rights and obligations of the parties would be governed by the terms of the provisions of Government Grants Act, 1895 whereunder the Government is entitled to impose limitations and restrictions upon the grants and other transfer made by it or under its authority." (Emphasis added)

69. Superiority of the stipulations of Grant to deal the relations between Grantor and Grantee has been reinforced in Azim Ahmad Kazmi and others (Supra). Therein dispute related to Plot No. 59, Civil Station, Allahabad, area 1 acre and 4272 sq. yard, i.e., 9112 sq. yard or 7618 sq. meter. Initially a lease deed was executed on 11.01.1868 by Secretary of State for India in Council, in favour of one, Thomas Crowby, for a period of 50 years and it was signed by Commissioner,

Allahabad Division on behalf of Secretary of State for India in Council. After expiry of lease, a fresh lease was executed for another period of 50 years on 12.04.1923 w.e.f. 01.01.1918. Lease holder with permission of Collector, Allahabad transferred lease rights to Purshottam Das in 1945. The legal heirs of Sri Purshottam Das, on 31.10.1958, transferred leasehold rights in favour of Smt. Shakira Khatoon Kazmi, Smt. Sabira Khatoon Kazmi and Smt. Maimoona Khatoon Kazmi. After the death of Smt. Maimoona Khatoon Kazmi, her legal heirs, namely, Azim Ahmad Kazmi, Omar Ahmad Kazmi, Shamim Ahmad Kazmi, Alim Ahmad Kazmi and Maaz Ahmad Kazmi also claimed lease rights by succession. Lease granted on 12.04.1923 w.e.f. 01.01.1918 expired on 31.12.1967. It was renewed on 19.03.1996 for a period of 30 years w.e.f. 01.01.1968 which period expired on 31.12.1997. Again on 17.07.1998 it was renewed for a further period of 30 years w.e.f. 01.01.1998. While lease was continuing, vide Government Order dated 15.12.2000, right of resumption was exercised by State Government. It directed resumption of possession of plot in question and lease deed was cancelled. District Magistrate, Allahabad served a notice dated 11.01.2001 to lease holders intimating them that State Government's order dated 15.12.2000 has cancelled lease and resumed possession of land in question, as the same was required for public purpose. Notice also directed lease holders to remove structures standing on plot, failing which possession would be taken in accordance with Clause 3(c) of lease deed. Lease holders filed objections against notice to District Magistrate and also stated that they have sent representation/ objection to Chief Minister praying for revocation of Government Order dated 15.12.2000. District Magistrate passed order on 24.08.2001 rejecting objection of lease holders and sent a cheque of Rs. 10 lacs representing compensation for the building standing over plot. State authorities claimed that they took possession of open land on 01.09.2001. Lease holders filed writ petition which was dismissed vide judgment dated 07.12.2001, Shakira Khatoon Kazmi vs. State of U.P., AIR 2002 All 101. Lease holders challenged judgment dated 07.12.2001 in Supreme Court to the extent they failed. State Government filed appeal against part of order of this Court wherein an observation was made that State Government is not entitled to take forcible possession though it may take possession of demised premises in accordance with procedure established by law. After considering Clause 3(c) of lease deed which provides for resumption of land for public purpose after giving a month's clear notice to lessee to remove any building standing at the time on demised premises and within two months of receipt of notice, to take possession thereof on expiry of that period, and Sections 2 and 3 of GG Act, 1895, Court said that Clause 3(c) of lease deed confers power upon State Government that plot in question, if required by Government for its own purpose or for any public purpose, it shall have the right to give one month's notice in writing to lessees to remove any building standing on the plot and to take possession thereof on expiry of two months from the date of service of notice. Court said that land, if required for any public purpose, State Government has absolute power to resume leased property. Under the terms of Grant, it is absolute, therefore, order of resumption is perfectly valid and cannot be said to be illegal. It also refers to an earlier instance where Nazul Plot No. 13, Civil Station, Allahabad situate in Civil Lines area was resumed by State Government for the purpose of construction of a 'Bus Stand' by exercising similar power, without initiating any proceeding under Land Acquisition Act, 1894 (hereinafter referred to as "L.A. Act, 1894"). Resumption in that case was challenged in Writ Petition No. 44517 of 1998, Sayed Shah Khursheed Ahmad Kashmi vs. State of U.P. and said writ petition was dismissed on 16.12.1999 by a Division Bench of this Court, whereagainst Special Leave Petition No. 4329 of 2000 was dismissed by Supreme Court on 07.09.2001. First question, therefore, was answered in negative and in favour of Government.

70. With respect to procedure for taking possession, Supreme Court, while considering Question-2, said that in absence of any specific law, State Government may take possession by filing a suit. When a land is acquired under L.A. Act, 1894, Government can take possession in accordance with provisions of said Act and in case of urgency, Collector can take possession after publication of notice under Section 9 and no separate procedure is required to be followed. Court said that similarly where a lease has been granted under the terms of GG Act, 1895, then what procedure has to be followed is provided by Section 3 of GG Act, 1895 which says that all provisions, restrictions, conditions and limitations contained in any such creation, conferment or Grant referred to in Section 2, shall be valid and take effect according to their tenor; any decree or direction of a Court of Law or any rule of law, statute or enactments of the Legislature, to the contrary notwithstanding. Court relied on its earlier judgment in State of U.P. vs. Zahoor Ahmad, 1973(2) SCC 547 holding that Section 3 of GG Act, 1895 declares unfettered discretion of Government to impose such conditions and limitation as it thinks fit, no matter what the general law of land be. Then Court construing Clause 3(C) of lease deed said that it provides procedure for taking possession of demised premises when State Government re-enter or resume possession of demised land. Court in para 30 and 32 of judgment said:

"30. In the case of The State of U.P. vs. Zahoor Ahmad and Another, 1973(2) SCC 547, this Court held that the Section 3 of the Act declares the unfettered discretion of the Government to impose such conditions and limitation as it thinks fit, no matter what the general law of land be. From Clause 3(C) of the deed, it is clear that the State of U.P. while granting lease made it clear that if the demised premises are at any time required by the lessor for his or for any public purpose, he shall have the right to give one month's clear notice to the lessee to remove any building standing at the time of the demised property and within two months' of the receipt of the notice to take possession thereof on the expiry of that period subject to the condition that the lessor is willing to purchase the property on the demised premises, the lessee shall be paid for such amount as may be determined by the Secretary to the Government of U.P. in the Nagar Awas Department."

"32. Under Clause 3(C) of the lease deed, the respondent-State was permitted resumption of the land which required for its own use or for public purpose and after giving one month's clear notice in writing is entitled to remove any building standing at the time on the demised premises and within two months of the receipt of the notice to take possession thereof subject to the condition that if the lessor is willing to purchase the building of the demised premises required to pay the lessee the amount for such building as may be determined by the Secretary to Government of U.P. in the Nagar Awas Department...."

(Emphasis added)

71. Having said so, Court said :

"we are of the view that there is no other procedure or law required to be followed, as a special procedure for resumption of land has been laid down under the lease deed." (Emphasis added).

72. Supreme Court then set aside direction of this Court that State will not take possession forcibly except in accordance with procedure established by any other law, holding that since special procedure for resumption is prescribed under lease deed, no direction otherwise could have been issued to State Government.

73. The above discussion makes it clear that 'Nazul' is a land owned and vested in State. It is such land which has vested in State by virtue of its 'Sovereignty' and incidence of 'Sovereignty' i.e. annexation, lapse and bona vacantia. Further, 'Grant' means transfer of property by a deed in writing and includes within its ambit, an instrument of lease/lease deed. Such 'Grant' is governed by provision of GG Act, 1895, which were applicable to 'Grants' executed on and after enforcement of GG Act, 1895 and rights and entitlement of private parties in respect of land, which was transferred under such 'Grant' would be governed by terms and conditions contained in such 'Grant' and not by provisions of TP Act, 1882 or any other Statute. The terms and conditions of 'Grant' shall override any statute providing otherwise. Moreover, in State of U.P., wherever applicable, U.P. Tenancy Act, 1939 and Agra Tenancy Act, 1926 will also be inapplicable to such 'Grant'.

74. Above discussion, therefore, leaves no manner of doubt that Grant/Lease of Nazul land shall be exclusively governed by stipulations/conditions/terms contained in Grant/Indenture of Lease and no Statute can be resorted to govern rights of parties over Nazul land, which will be governed by aforesaid Grant/Indenture of Lease.

75. We, therefore, answer questions (i) and (ii) accordingly and hold that Nazul is land owned by Government having vested by escheat, bona vacantia or lapse. Further the terms and conditions of 'Grant' a Nazul would govern relation of lessor and lessee and any other statute providing otherwise has no application.

76. Now coming to question (iii), we have already reproduced contents of lease deed construing terms and conditions to govern land in dispute. In every aspect, some restrictions had been imposed upon Lessee, which relate to any change or transfer etc. with regard to Nazul Land in question. Some of such instances are :

(I) Without written consent of Collector, Lessee shall not alter or vary any part of external elevation or plan of dwelling house and out buildings from the original elevation or plan thereof.

(II) Without consent of Collector, Allahabad, Lessee shall not erect any building or out-buildings on the demised premises.

(III) Without consent in writing of Collector, Lessee neither shall carry on nor permit to be carried on upon the said premises any trade or business whatsoever or use the land in dispute for purpose other than private dwelling.

(IV) If lease rent fell due for the space of one calender month whether demanded or not, it shall be treated breach or non-observance of any of the covenants by Lessees then Lessor may notwithstanding the waiver of any cause or right of re-entry, re-enter upon the said premises and expel the Lessees and all occupiers of the same therefrom and this demise shall absolutely determine and Lessees shall forfeit all rights to remove or recover any compensation for any buildings erected. Lessee shall also forfeit instalments of premium already paid to the Lessor.

(V) If Lessor required demised premises at any time for public purposes, shall have right to give one month's clear notice in writing to Lessee to remove any buildings standing on the lease land and within tow months of receipt of such notice, Lessor shall be entitled to take possession. If Lessor is willing to purchase buildings on the demised land in case of re-entry, Lessee shall be paid such amount for the building, as may be determined by Secretary to Government, in Nagar Awas Department.

(VI) Lessee will not in any way sub-divide or transfer the demised land or building without previous sanction in writing of U.P. Government.

(VII) Any transfer or alienation made in contravention of conditions contained in para 3(e) shall be void.

77. Above stipulations makes it very clear that no transfer of land in any manner without sanction of Lessor is permissible and any such transaction is void. A similar aspect has been considered in State of U.P. and others vs. United Bank of India and others (supra). Court has held that any transfer without sanction of Lessor will be void and would not confer any valid right upon Transferee. In paras 39 and 40 of judgment, Court said :

"39. This "within written lease" is the original lease deed as mentioned in the Form 2 of the Nazul Manual. Form 2 of lease of Nazul land for building purposes it is one of the condition between the lessor and the lessee that " the l essee will not in any way transfer or sublet the demised premises or buildings erected thereon without the previous sanction in writing of the lessor.

40. In the present case there was nothing on the record to show that the lessee i.e. (ABP) has obtained any written sanction from the lessor i.e. Government before mortgaging his leasehold interest in the Nazul Land. Meaning thereby the mortgage done by the lessee in favour of the Bank itself is bad in law, which was done in clear violation of the terms of the lease deed i.e. mortgage of the Nazul land without previous sanction in writing of the State." (Emphasis added)

78. It shows that Lessee has no right to transfer leased Nazul Land without prior permission. Meaning thereby, unless conditions are satisfied, Lesses had no right of transfer of interest at all. Therefore, any transfer in violation thereof will not result in creating any right or interest to the Transferee since Transferor himself has nothing which he can transfer at his own.

79. Here, we remind ourselves with the principle that a person can transfer only such rights and interest which he or she possesses and not beyond that. If a Sub-Grantor did not possess any right of transfer or such right is subject to any restriction like prior permission of owner etc., it means that Sub-Grantor himself has no right of transfer and/or his right is restricted in a particular manner and such restriction is to be observed in words and spirit to validate such transfer, else transfer being illegal, will not result in bestowing any legal right upon Transferee. In other words, any otherwise transfer by Sub-Grantor, of land subjected to Grant, will not confer any valid right or interest upon the person to whom Grantee had transferred property under 'Grant' in violation of stipulations contained in Grant.

80. In Delhi Development Authority Vs. Anant Raj Agencies Pvt. Ltd. (2016) 11 SCC 406 Court said :

"It is well settled position of law that the person having no right, title or interest in the property cannot transfer the same by way of sale deed."

81. Further, any such invalid transfer can also be construed as breach of terms of Grant and would empower and enable principal Grantor i.e. State, owner of property, to take such steps including resumption/re-entry to the property under Grant, to itself, besides claiming damages, compensation, as the case may be, as law permits.

82. In this case also there is a transfer made by respondents 2 to 5 (Lessees) in favour of petitioner-1 in the form of 'nomination'. Here nomination is not like giving Power of Attorney but here lease rights and interest possessed by petitioners 2 to 5 have been surrendered and assigned to petitioner-1 authorizing and entitling him to get land itself transferred in his name by conversion of leasehold rights into freehold. This nomination has the result of transfer of rights in immovable property possessed by petitioners 2 to 5 as lease-holders and therefore, it amounts to transfer of lease rights in land in dispute, in favour of petitioner -1 by petitioners 2 to 5 but without any permission of Lessor, which is one of the conditions of lease-deed. Therefore, this transfer by way of nomination is illegal.

83. As we have already said that in the case of State of U.P. and others vs. United Bank of India and others (supra), Supreme Court has clearly held that if transfer is made without permission, as required in lease-deed, such transfer would be illegal, void and would not confer any right or interest upon Transferree in respect of land concerned. We, therefore, hold aforesaid nomination creating any right in favour of petitioner-1 patently illegal.

84. Here we may also stress that alleged nomination in fact is an assignment and transfer of right and interest in immovable property from one person to another, but, document is unregistered and whether it is valid document and admissible in evidence, is another question, which for the time being we are leaving it open as it is unnecessary to go into this question in the present case and this aspect may be examined whenever any occasion arise.

85. Question (iii), is therefore answered accordingly and against petitioners.

86. Now coming to question (iv); at the pain of repetition, para 3(c) of lease deed dated 26.09.1991 is again reproduced :

"That, if the demised premises are at any time required by the lessor for his or for any public purpose he shall have the right to give one month's clear notice in writing to the lessees to remove any buildings standing at the time on the demised premises and within two months of the receipt of the notice to take possession thereof on the expiry of that period subject however to the condition that if the Lessor is willing to purchase the buildings on the demised premises, the Lessees shall be paid for such buildings such amount as may be determined by the Secretary to Government, U.P. in Nagar Awas Department." (Emphasis added)

87. The renewal lease-deed dated 25.03.1996 in para 1 clearly mentions that earlier terms and conditions of lease shall continue to apply. Paras 1 and 2 of lease deed dated 25.03.1996 read as under :

''1– पट्टादाता उस सब भूखण्ड को तथा उस पर निर्मित समस्त दाय योग्य सम्पत्ति को जो पूर्व लिखित पट्टे में सम्मिलित तथा उसके द्वारा हस्तान्तरित थी, उन्हीं अपवादों तथा संरक्षणों सहित जिसके अन्तर्गत पट्टेदार भूखण्ड का अधिकारी था, दिनांक 1.1.1990 से 30 वर्ष के लिए एतद्द्वारा हस्तान्तरित करत` है ; किन्तु शर्त यह है कि वह उन्हीं दिनों पर और उसी ढंग से रूपया 492.78 पैसा का वार्षिक किराया देता रहेगा। ;इस हस्तान्तरण के अधीन भुगतान किया जा चुका है और यह भी शर्त है कि पट्टेदार तथा पट्टादाता के कमानुसार सम्नुबन्धों से तथा सब प्रकार के ऐसे ही द ूसर` उपबन्धा` तथा प्रतिबन्धा` से ;जिसम` पुनः प्रव`श सम्बन्धी उपबन्ध सम्मिलित है ं द्ध जा` प्रथम लिखित पट्ट` म` दिय` गय` है ं वह बाध्य हा`गा और उनके लाभ। भ ी उसे प्राप्त हा`ग`।

"1- The lessor hereby transfers all the plots and all the inheritable property constructed thereon, which were mentioned in the previous written lease and were thereby transferable, to the lessee on 01.01.1990 for 30 years with the same exceptions and protections, under which the lease holder had entitlement to the plot; but the condition is that he would keep paying the annual rent of Rs. 492.78 in the same manner on the same days. {The payment has been made under this transfer and it is also a condition that he shall be bound by the terms and such other provisions and conditions (which includes re-entry provision) that are mentioned in the written lease, and shall also have all the benefits there-from.}

88. Now, we may examine whether State could have exercised right of re-entry under Clause 3(c) or not.

89. On this aspect it is not in dispute that GG Act, 1895 has been repealed by Repeal Act, 2017 with effect from 05.01.2018, when the aforesaid Act was enforced. However, Section 4 thereof provide certain Savings and it reads as under :

"4. Savings.- The repeal by this Act of any enactment shall not affect any other enactment in which the repealed enactment has been applied, incorporated or referred to;

and this Act shall not affect the validity, invalidity, effect or consequences or anything already done or suffered, or any right, title, obligation or liability already acquired, accrued or incurred, or any remedy or proceeding in respect thereof, or any release or discharge of or from any debt, penalty, obligation, liability, claim or demand, or any indemnity already granted, or the proof of any past act or thing;

nor shall this Act affect any principle or rule of law, or established jurisdiction, form or course of pleading, practice or procedure, or existing usage, custom, privilege, restriction, exemption, office or appointment, notwithstanding that the same respectively may have been in any manner affirmed or recognized or derived by, in or from any enactment hereby repealed;

nor shall the repeal by this Act of any enactment revive or restore any jurisdiction, office, custom, liability, right, tittle, privilege, restriction, exemption, usage, practice, procedure or other matter or thing not now existing or in force."

90. Counsel for petitioners placed reliance on Mohamadhusen Abdulrahim Kalota Shaikh Vs. Union of India (2009) 2 SCC 1 (Paras 36, 37) wherein Court has held that Parliament in its plenary power, can make an outright repeal which will not only destroy effectiveness of Repealed Act in future but also operate to destroy all existing inchoate rights and pending proceedings. This is because effect of repealing a Statute is to obliterate it completely from the record, except to the extent of savings.

91. Aforesaid law is well established and we are bound by aforesaid precedent. It also cannot be disputed that while competent legislature possesses power to repeal an enactment, it also possesses power to save certain transactions, proceedings etc. and this power of saving is also recognized in Mohamadhusen Abdulrahim Kalota Shaikh Vs. Union of India (supra).

92. We also do not dispute to the proposition that Saving provision to the extent deeming fiction is provided, while saving would strictly provide such saving and nothing more than that. However, contention of counsel for petitioner that in view of repeal of GG Act, 1895, entire lease deed executed stands obliterated is wholly incorrect. It shows lack of appreciation of GG Act, 1895.

93. GG Act, 1895, as we have already discussed above, shows that it was a declaratory statute and enacted so as to declare that terms and conditions of Grant shall prevail and override any other Statute providing to the contrary. 'Lease' itself was not executed under the said Act nor the said Act itself contemplate and provided for execution of any lease or Grant in common law rights exercised by lessor and lessee. GG Act, 1895 only declares that provisions of such lease i.e. Grant by Government would govern by terms of such lease and prevail over other statute and TP Act, 1882 will be treated as if not enacted. Contention, therefore, that entire lease stand obliterated amounts to cutting the tree over which Lessee is sitting and enjoying benefit of lease.

94. It is next submitted that the only thing saved is 'vested right of Lessor and Lessee', specifically, by Section 4 of Repeal Act, 2017. We find that no specific right, obligation etc. has been saved by Section 4 of Repeal Act, 2017 but saving is in respect of incidence of certain actions namely effect and consequence of anything done or suffered or any right, title, obligation or liability already acquired, accrued or incurred.

95. Much labour has been done by learned counsel for petitioner on explaining meaning of words 'accrued', 'acquired' and 'incurred'. He has read word 'accrued' with the term 'right' and has laboured to read 'right of re-entry' as 'contingent right' but we find above submission thoroughly misconceived and an attempt to misread terms and consequences of document of lease.

96. In Black's Law Dictionary, Eighth Edition, words 'accrue', 'acquire' and 'incur' have been defined, as under:

"accrue. 1. To come into existence as an enforceable claim or right."

"acquired-rights doctrine. The principle that once a right has vested, it may not be reduced by later legislation."

"incur. To suffer or bring on oneself (a liability or expense)."

97. In Words and Phrases legally defined, Volume-2 D-J, at page 418, word 'incur' has been defined, as under:

"Incur- Canada [Paragraphs 35(d) and (e) of the Interpretation Act, RSC 1970, c 1-3 state that where an enactment is repealed the repeal does not 'affect . . . any penalty, forfeiture or punishment incurred under the enactment so repealed' or 'affect any investigation, legal proceeding or remedy in respect of any such right, privilege, obligation, liability, penalty, forfeiture or punishment' and the investigation, legal proceeding or remedy may be instituted, continued or enforced and the penalty, forfeiture or punishment may be imposed as if the enactment had not been so repealed.] 'The Shorter Oxford English Dictionary includes the following: "become liable or subject to; bring upon oneself" I rely upon these definitions and treat the word "incur" in s 35 of the Interpretation Act as being synonymous with "liable to" or "subject to". R v Allan (1979) 45 CCC (2d) 524 at 529, 530, Ont CA, per Lacourciere JA

New Zealand [Expenditure 'incurred' is deducible from assessable income in terms of s 121 of the Land and Income Tax Act 1954.] 'A deduction may be allowed under that section in respect of "expenditure incurred" although there has been no actual disbursement if, in the relevant income year, the taxpayer is definitely committed to that expenditure.' King v Inland Revenue Comr [1974] 2 NZLR 190, per Wild CJ"

98. In P. Ramanatha Aiyar's The Law Lexicon, 2nd Edition, Reprint 2007, meaning of words 'accrued', 'acquired', and 'incurred' has been defined as under :

"Accrue means to arise (as) cause of action accruing ; to grow ; or to be added to (as) accruing rent, accruing debt, accruing dividend. In the past tense the word "accrued" is used in the sense of due and payable ; vested ; and existed (as, rights accrued).

In past tense, in sense of due and payable ; vested. It means to increase ; to augment ; to come to by way of increase ; to be added as an increase, profit, or damage. Acquired ; falling due ; made or executed ; matured ; occurred ; received ; vested ; was created ; was incurred."

"Acquire. 'A Person who acquires a thing or property gets the right of ownership for the first time from some one else."

"incur. To become subject to or liable for by act or operation of law.

...

Incur. The word 'incur' is an inappropriate one, in connection with the word 'obligation,' if the latter word is limited to a case of contract. Men contract debts. They incur liabilities. In the one case they act affirmatively. In the other the liability is incurred or cast upon them by act or operation of law.

...

Incur. To entail; to become liable or subject to."

99. In Cambridge International Dictionary of English, words 'accrue', 'acquire' and 'incur' have been defined, as under:

"accrue-to increase in number or amount over a period of time..."

"acquire- to obtain (something). He acquired the firm in 1978. I was wearing a newly/recently acquired jacket. I seem to have acquired(=obtained by unknown means) two copies of this book. I acquired (=learnt) a little Spanish while I was in Peru. During this period he acquired a reputation for being a womanizer. She's acquired some very unpleasant habits recently. This wine is rather an acquired taste. (-Many people dislike it at first, but they gradually start to like it after they have tried it a few times.)

"incur. (of a person, group, etc.) to experience (esp. something unpleasant) as a result of actions they have taken. It's a long term investment, so you might expect to incur light losses in the early years. This production of the play has incurred the wrath/anger of both audiences and critics. Please detail any costs/expenses incurred by you in attending the interview."

100. In Oxford English-English-Hindi Dictionary, words 'accrue', 'acquire' and 'incur' have been defined, as under:

"accrue- accrue (to sb) (from sth) to increase over a period of time; interest accruing to savers from their bank accounts; to allow a sum of money to debts to grow over a period of time."

"acquire- to obtain or buy; The company has acquired shares in a rival business.

"incur. To suffer the unpleasant results of a situation that you have caused." (Emphasis added)

101. In Collins Cobuild Advanced Learner's English Dictionary, words 'accrue', 'acquire' and 'incur' as defined, as under:

"accrue- If money or interest accrues or if you accrue it, it gradually increases in amount over a period of time."

"acquire- If you acquire something, you buy or obtain it for yourself, or someone gives it to you.

"incur. If you incur something unpleasant, it happens to you because of something you have done." (Emphasis added)

102. He has also laboured on the aspect that terms of lease and rights and obligations of parties, particularly with regard to re-entry, are not something which are already done or suffered.

103. In our view, Section 4 of Repeal Act, 2017 is very clear and need not much discussion for the reason that lease deed has been executed between the parties and being a Grant, admittedly, it was governed by provisions of GG Act, 1895. Lessor had widest power to impose such conditions in lease deed as it thinks fit and they have to override any other Statute and that is an act done when deed was executed between the parties. Therefore, all the terms and conditions of lease deed creating any obligation, right, duty, liberty etc. of parties are such, which have already been suffered or incurred. Lessor acquired right of re-entry and Lessee incurred duty to comply it whenever he is required to do so. Meaning thereby, parties have agreed to abide by those terms and conditions; and to regulate their relationship with respect to demised land with those terms and conditions. Lessee has suffered a condition of lease that Lessor shall have right of re-entry whenever land is required for 'public purpose', it can resume the land. This is a consequence, which has already incurred due to execution of lease-deed. Right of re-entry whenever land is required for 'public purpose' stand acquired by Lessor when lease deed was executed and those has been saved by Section 4 of Repeal Act, 2017.

104. Various authorities relied by learned counsel for petitioners to show what is 'act done' or what is a 'contingent right' etc., are not applicable in the case in hand. In our view, Section 4 of Repeal Act, 2017 very categorically and exclusively has saved all the rights, obligations, duties etc. of the parties including Lessor's right of re-entry under Clause 3(c) over the demised land.

105. We, therefore, answer question (iv) accordingly and against petitioners.

106. Question (v), relates to submission of learned counsel for petitioner that Clause 3(c) is arbitrary and unreasonable, hence violative of Article 14 of Constitution.

107. An act of entering into an agreement for lease of land is within the realm of contract between the parties in respect of an immovable property. Parties with open eyes have entered into terms and conditions of lease and, therefore, they are bound by it. It is not the case of petitioners that while entering into agreement for lease of Nazul land in question, there was any advertisement published by Lessor for distribution of largesse in the form of enjoyment of lease so as to give an opportunity to all intending parties and there has any compliance of Article 14 of Constitution. Petitioners entered into lease with private negotiation with Government and hence Article 14 of Constitution, in the case in hand, in our view, does not come into picture. A contract entered privately will remain a mere contract and parties are governed by the agreed stipulations. Here Article 14 of Constitution is not attracted.

108. Even otherwise, once petitioners have already enjoyed all the terms and conditions of lease for several decades, it is not open to challenge validity of Clause 3(c), which is one of the several conditions on which lease has been granted. In other words, an act is subject to certain conditions as a whole, and parties to the transaction once, have accepted all the conditions together, then subsequently, it is not open to retain some and leave another. It cannot choose some and leave other. This principle is based on doctrine of election, which postulates that no party can accept and reject the same instrument. A person cannot say at one time that a transaction is valid and thereby obtain some advantage to which he could only be entitled on the condition that it is valid in entirety and then turn round and say that it is void for the purpose of securing some other advantage.

109. Halsbury's Laws of England (4th Edition) Vol. 16 (Paragraph 1508) says that after taking an advantage under an order a party may be precluded from saying that it is invalid and asking to set it aside.

110. Section 116 of Indian Evidence Act, 1872 (hereinafter referred to as "Act, 1872"), provides for 'estoppel' of tenant to deny title of landlord to immovable property. It reads under :

"116. Estoppel of tenant; and of licensee of person in possession-

"No tenant of immovable property, or person claiming through such tenant, shall, during the continuance of the tenancy, be permitted to deny that the landlord of such tenant had, at the beginning of the tenancy, a title to such immovable property, and no person who came upon any immovable property by the license of the person in possession thereof, shall be permitted to deny that such person had a title to such possession at the time when such license was given."

111. In Mt. Bilas Kunwar v. Desraj Ranjit Singh and others, A.I.R. 1915 P.C. 96, Privy Council explained Section 116 of Act, 1872 and said:

"Section 116 is perfectly clear on the point, and rests on the principle well established by many English cases, that a tenant who has been let into possession cannot deny his landlord's title, however defective it may be, so long as he has not openly restored possession by surrender to his landlord."

112. In Joint Action Committee of Air Line Pilots' Association of India (ALPAI) and others v. Director General of Civil Aviation and others, (2001) 5 SCC 435 (Paragraph-12), Court referred to its earlier judgments in Babu Ram alias Durga Prasad v. Indra Pal Singh, 1998(6) SCC 358, P.R. Deshpande v. Maruti Balaram Haibatti, 1998(6) SCC 507 and Mumbai International Airport Private Limited v. Golden Chariot Airport and another, 2010 (10) SCC 422 and held that doctrine of election is based on the rule of estoppel. The doctrine of estoppel by election is one of the species of estoppel in pais (or equitable estoppel) which is a rule in equity. By that rule, a person may be precluded by his action or conduct or silence when it is his duty to speak, from asserting a right which he otherwise would have had. However, taking inconsistent pleas by a party makes its conduct far from satisfactory. Further, parties should not blow hot and cold by taking inconsistent stand and prolong proceedings.

113. In Cauvery Coffee Traders, Mangalore v. Hornor Resources (International Company Limited), (2011) 10 SCC 420 (Paragraph 34), Court referred to its decisions in Nagubai Ammal v. B. Shama Rao, AIR 1956 SC 593, CIT v. V. MR.P. Firm Muar AIR 1965 SC 1216, NTPC Ltd. v. Reshmi constructions, Builders & Contractors, (2004) 2 SCC 663, Ramesh Chandra Sankla v. Vikram Cement (2008)14 SCC 58 and Pradeep Oil Corpn. v. MCD (2011) 5 SCC 270, and held, that a party cannot be permitted to "blow hot and cold", "fast and loose" or "approbate and reprobate". Where one knowingly accepts benefits of a contract or conveyance or an order, he is estopped to deny validity or binding effect on him of such contract or conveyance or order. This rule is applied to do equity. However, it must not be applied in a manner as to violate the principles of right and good conscience.

114. In V. Chandrasekaran and another v. Administrative Officer and others, (2012) 12 SCC 133, Court followed the law laid down in Cauvery Coffee Traders, Mangalore (supra).

115. In Rajasthan State Industrial Development and Investment Corporation and another v. Diamond & Gem Development Corporation Limited and another (2013) 5 SCC 470, Court again reiterated the law laid down in Cauvery Coffee Traders, Mangalore (supra) and held, in paragraph 23, as under :

"A party cannot claim anything more than what is covered by the terms of contract, for the reason that contract is a transaction between the two parties and has been entered into with open eyes and understanding the nature of contract. Thus, contract being a creature of an agreement between two or more parties, has to be interpreted giving literal meanings unless, there is some ambiguity therein. The contract is to be interpreted giving the actual meaning to the words contained in the contract and it is not permissible for the court to make a new contract, however reasonable, if the parties have not made it themselves. It is to be interpreted in such a way that its terms may not be varied. The contract has to be interpreted without any outside aid.

The terms of the contract have to be construed strictly without altering the nature of the contract, as it may affect the interest of either of the parties adversely".

116. In State of Punjab and others v. Dhanjit Singh Sandhu (2014) 15 SCC 144 (Paragraph Nos. 21, 22, 23, 24, 25 and 26) Court reiterated the law laid down in CIT v. MR. P. Firm Muar (supra), Maharashtra SRTC v. Balwant Regular Motor Service, AIR 1969 SC 329; R.N. Gosain v. Yashpal Dhir, (1992) 4 SCC 683 (Paragraph 10); and P.R. Deshpande v. Maruti Balaram Haibatti, (1998) 6 SCC 507 and held that defaulting allottees cannot be allowed to approbate and reprobate by first agreeing to abide by the terms and conditions of allotment and later seeking to deny their liability as per agreed terms. The doctrine of "approbate and reprobate" is only a species of estoppel. It is settled proposition of law that once an order has been passed, it is complied with, accepted by other party and he derived benefit out of it, he cannot challenge it on any ground.

117. In Bansraj Lalta Prasad Mishra v. Stanley Parker Jones, (2006) 3 SCC 91 (Paragraph Nos. 13,14, 15 and 16), Court considered Section 116 of Act, 1872 and held:

"13.The underlying policy of Section 116 is that where a person has been brought into possession as a tenant by the landlord and if that tenant is permitted to question the title of the landlord at the time of the settlement, then that will give rise to extreme confusion in the matter of relationship of the landlord and tenant and so the equitable principle of estoppel has been incorporated by the legislature in the said section.

14.The principle of estoppel arising from the contract of tenancy is based upon a healthy and salutary principle of law and justice that a tenant who could not have got possession but for his contract of tenancy admitting the right of the landlord should not be allowed to launch his landlord in some inequitable situation taking undue advantage of the possession that he got and any probable defect in the title of his landlord. It is on account of such a contract of tenancy and as a result of the tenant's entry into possession on the admission of the landlord's title that the principle of estoppel is attracted.

15.Section 116 enumerates the principle of estoppel which is merely an extension of the principle that no person is allowed to approbate and reprobate at the same time.

16.As laid down by the Privy Council in Kumar Krishna Prasad Lal Singha Deo v. Baraboni Coal Concern Ltd. : (IA p.318)-

It [Section 116] deals with one cardinal and simple estoppel, and states it first as applicable between landlord and tenant and then as between licensor and lincensee, a distinction which corresponds to that between the parties to an action for rent and the parties to an action for use and occupation."

(Emphasis supplied)

118. We therefore, find nothing arbitrary or illegal in resumption clause. State is the owner of land. If for public purpose, it wants to take back its land by way of resumption, there is nothing per se arbitrary. Secondly, condition of resumption is a part of contract between the parties and having accepted the same and contract having been carried out, and virtually completed its term, in order to wriggle out the rights, obligations and liabilities incurred and acquired thereunder, one of the party cannot contend that one of the conditions of such agreement is bad.

119. Aforesaid argument therefore, has no merit. We also do not find that repeal of GG Act, 1895 by Repeal Act, 2017 takes away right of State of resumption, which is already acquired long back under the terms of lease and is saved by Section 4 thereof.

120. Question (v) therefore, is answered against petitioners.

121. Question (vi), in our view, is squarely covered by answer to question (iv) whereby we have held that by virtue of Section 4 of Repeal Act, 2017, all the rights, obligations etc., of Lessor and Lessee were saved and therefore, overriding effect of terms of lease will continue so long as parties are governed by aforesaid lease deed.

122. Question (vi) therefore is answered against petitioners.

123. Now, coming to question (vii), whether petitioner-1 on the basis of nomination by petitioners 2 to 5 is entitled to freehold of land in dispute and whether such right will override Lessor's i.e. State Government's right of resumption, on this aspect counsel for petitioners submitted that in past also this Court held that Lessee is entitled for renewal of lease. Similarly when policy of Government for freehold was initiated, Government would be bound to give effect the said policy and such Lessee, who has applied for freehold, would be entitled for conversion of lease rights into freehold. Hence, by exercising power of re-entry/resumption vide impugned order, Government cannot deprive/deny right of freehold, which has accrued to petitioners. On the issue of renewal of lease, reliance was placed on judgment in Purushottam Dass Tandon and others vs. State of U.P., Lucknow and others AIR 1987 All 56 and with regard to freehold, various G.Os. Issued from time to time since 1992 have been placed before us.

124. In the present case, lease was renewed in 1996 with effect from 01.01.1990. Therefore, in our view, argument advanced founded on judgment of Purushottam Dass Tandon and others vs. State of U.P., Lucknow and others (supra) has no substance and reliance placed thereon, in our view, is superfluous and unnecessary. But, still not only to satisfy us but also to demonstrate hollowness of argument of petitioners, we proceed to discuss aforesaid judgment to demonstrate that said judgment has nothing to do with the facts of this Case.

125. Starting from March, 1958, on the issue of renewal of leases, State Government considered the matter and issued various G.Os. and principal G.Os., which came up for consideration in Purushottam Dass Tandon and others vs. State of U.P., Lucknow and others (supra) are dated 23.04.1959, 07.07.1960 and 03.12.1965. There are some other G.Os. Also, which alongwith above G.O.s would refer hereat.

126. The first G.O. considered in Purushottam Dass Tandon and others vs. State of U.P., Lucknow and others (supra) was issued in March, 1958 whereby Chief Minister directed that case for renewal of leases may be taken individually and possession may be taken only if lessee surrender or lease stood terminated in absence of any request from lessee for grant of fresh lease. Thereafter, on 23.04.1959, a G.O. was issued to grant fresh lease in cases where lease has already expired but has not been renewed so far, or which is likely to expire within the next 5 or 6 years, on the terms and conditions given in the said G.O. The proposed premium in the said G.O. was objected by Lease Holders, whose leases were already expired or likely to expire. Several representations were sent to the Government. Some house-owners met the then Prime Minister Late Pt. Jawahar Lal Nehru, who had visited Allahabad in November or December, 1959. It resulted in issue of G.O. dated 07.07.1960 whereby rate of premium on first three acres was reduced to Rs.2,000/- in each slab. It also permitted payment of premium in five instalments and reduced ground rent to Rs.100/- per acre. In the earlier G.O., there was an insistence on construction of Community latrines till sewer lines were laid but this insistence was given up in G.O. dated 07.07.1960. Lessees were granted further three months' time to get leases renewed. Still lease-holders did not comply and made representations to Government. On 21.03.1963, again a G.O. was issued declaring rates of premium for commercial sites. On 3.12.1965 a G.O. was issued indicating terms and conditions for renewal of leases for commercial and residential purposes and it was said that rates of premium and annual rent shall be as fixed by G.O. dated 07.07.1960. Payment in five equal yearly instalments was continued but in special cases, Commissioner, Allahabad Division, Allahabad, was authorized to make recommendations to Government for enhancing number of instalments. This G.O. further insisted for renewal of existing leases on payment of at least one instalment, within one month of receipt of intimation by Lessee from Collector, or within three months of the date of expiry of lease, whichever is earlier. Deposit was to be deemed to be proper step on the part of Lessee to get a fresh lease executed by the Lessor. The G.O. of 1965 itself made a distinction between those whose leases had expired and others by describing them as sitting and existing lessees.

127. There was a second phase which covered period from 1966 to 1981. On 16.02.1966, U.P. Awas Vikas Parishad Adhiniyam, 1965 (hereinafter referred to as "U.P.Act, 1965") was enacted for providing house sites and construction of building. G.O. dated 03.12.1965, thus was modified by G.O. dated 04.11.1968, and it was directed that leases of joint lessees should be renewed as far as possible for one acre only. Sub-division was permitted only where sub-divided plot was not less than 800 sq. yards. Concession in payment of lease money and ground rent was allowed on same terms and conditions as it was in G.O. dated 03.12.1965 but time was extended for payment of first instalment for those who had not received any intimation from Collector by a further period of one month from the date of intimation by Collector. Clause (c) of G.O. dated 04.11.1968 categorically said that where steps have been taken for renewal of leases, as stated in earlier G.Os., fresh leases shall be sanctioned according to terms offered by Competent Authority.

128. In March, 1970, a G.O. was issued banning grant of renewal of leases all over the State, since Government was contemplating to bring out legislation on Urban Ceiling. This ban was lifted on 12.01.1972 but leases henceforth were to be sanctioned by State Government only. Commissioner and Collector could make recommendations only. Aforesaid G.O., however, provided that in all those cases where Government had sanctioned grant of leases but it could not be executed or registered because of ban imposed in 1970, steps may be taken immediately for its execution. Clause (ii) of G.O. provided that all those cases in which Collector or Commissioner had approved renewal but it could not be executed because of 1970 order, should be sent to Government immediately for acceptance. On 09.05.1972 Urban Building Ceiling Bill was introduced and on 11.07.1972 Uttar Pradesh Ceiling of Property (Temporary Restriction on Transfer), Ordinance, 1972 was promulgated in pursuance of Article 398 of Constitution of India. The Ordinance continued till it was replaced by Urban Land (Ceiling and Regulation) Act, 1976 (hereinafter referred to as "Act, 1976"). The said Act was enacted to prevent concentration of Urban Property and discourage construction of luxurious houses. On 19.12.1972, provisions pertaining to Nazul were amended providing for maximum area permissible for renewal of leases of 2000 sq. yards plus land on which building was constructed. Remaining area was to be surrendered to Housing Board and Lessees were prohibited from sub-dividing or transferring any land. On 10.12.1976, Government issued an order superseding all previous orders in respect of renewal of leases of Civil Lines, Allahabad in view of Act, 1976and laid down fresh terms and conditions for renewal of leases.

129. Here leases were to be renewed in the light of Sections 2 and 4 of U.P. Act, 1976 and while doing so, all residents in one house were to be treated as one unit. This again resulted in representations of Lease-Holders to Government requesting for reduction in rate of premium and ground rent. A G.O. was issued on 17.09.1979 superseding all previous orders and it provided for submission of details about extent and type of construction, utilisation of vacant land etc. Again representations, which culminated in G.O. dated 19.04.1981, which superseded all previous Orders and provided for renewal of leases on fresh and new terms. It said that Leaseholders and their heirs shall be treated as one Unit. They were supposed to file details about land, constructed area, its user, time when it was taken on lease etc. before 30.06.1981. List of residents including out-houses dwellers was to be prepared by District Magistrate. Heirs of deceased lease-holders were to be treated as one unit. Area for which renewal could be made was reduced to building with 500 sq. metre of land appurtenant and 500 sq. metre open land or 1500 sq. metre whichever was more. Area of building for commercial purpose was fixed at 2000 sq. metres. Premium was fixed at 50 paisa per sq. metre. Thus, from 1976 onwards for the purpose of renewal, area was reduced from acre to square metre and unit for premium and ground rent became square feet instead of acre. All heirs of Lessees became one unit for renewal. Land covered by outhouses were to be excluded. Lessees could not even opt for it.

130. Lease Holders, whose lease had already expired or those who were sitting Lease Holders and leases were going to expire in a short period, came to this Court in various writ petitions. This entire bunch was decided in Purushottam Dass Tandon and others vs. State of U.P., Lucknow and others (supra). In this bunch of writ petitions, facts, we have noted above with respect to various Government Orders, have been given in detail.

131. There were two categories of writ petitioners, before this Court, in Purushottam Dass Tandon and others (supra) as under :

(i) Those, to whom notices were given by Collector and who had complied with terms and conditions as laid down in various G.Os. issued from time to time prior to 1965; and

(ii) Those, to whom no notice was sent and till matter filed before the Court, no steps were taken and no order was passed in their favour.

132. Court held :

(I) A Lessor may, after expiry of period for which lease is granted, renew the same or resume i.e. re-enter. But if out of the two i.e. re-entry or resumption, the two divergent courses, he chooses to grant fresh lease or at least creates that impression by his conduct spread over long time, it results in abandonment.

(II) If the land is needed or building has to be demolished in public interest for general welfare, probably no exception can be taken as the interest of individual has to be sacrificed for the society. But asking Lessee to vacate land or remove Malba for no rhyme or reason but because State is the owner, cannot be accepted to be in consonance with present day philosophy and thinking about role of State.

(III) After Act, 1976, no person can successfully or validly claim to hold land more than the Ceiling limit.

(IV) Some part of G.O. of 1981 was not consistent with Act, 1976. The rules contained in Nazul Manual are set of Administrative Orders or collections of guidelines issued by Government for the authorities to deal with Government property.

(V) When a G.O. was issued and its conditions are complied with, mere for bureaucratic delay, performance under the said G.O. cannot be denied. Therefore, Lessee, who had deposited first instalment, as directed in G.O. of 1965, were entitled for renewal of their lease.

(VI) After enactment of ceiling law, a Lessee cannot hold land more than the provided limit.

(VII) If leases were renewed in respect of those, who had acquired social or political status, whose names are given in para 15 of judgment, which includes, Dr. K. N. Katju, ex-Central Law Minister, Chief Minister and Governor, Dr. S. K. Verma, ex-Chief Justice and Governor, Sri B.L. Gupta, ex-Judge High Court, J. D. Shukla, I.C.S., O. N. Misra, I.A.S., when there was no justification not to give same benefit to others, similar benefit must be given since most of them were also distinguished persons namely S.N. Kacker, ex-Central Law Minister, Solicitor General of India and Advocate General of the State, Sri S. S. Dhavan, ex-Judge, High Court and Governor and High Commissioner, Sri Lal Ratnakar Singh I.A.S. Ex-Member of Board of Revenue, M.L.Chaturvedi, ex-Judge, High Court and member of Union Public Service Commission, W. Broome, I.C.S. etc.

133. Aforesaid judgment was confirmed by Supreme Court by dismissing appeals preferred by State of U.P. and others i.e. State of U.P. and others vs. Purshottam Das Tandon and others 1989 Supp.(2) SCC 412. Supreme Court clarified that renewal of leases shall be subject to the provisions of Act, 1976 and High Court's judgment shall apply to all the leases to whom G.O. dated 23.04.1959, 02.07.1960 and 03.12.1965 were applicable and all those claiming under them. The order of Supreme Court reads as under :

"We have heard the learned counsel for both the parties at length. We do not find any infirmity in the judgment and order passed by the High Court against which these special leave petitions are preferred. We, however, make it clear that the leases that are going to be granted pursuant to the writ issued by the High Court will be subject to the provisions of the Urban Land (Ceiling and Regulation) Act, 1976. On the leases being granted, the Competent Authority under the Act shall be at liberty to apply the provisions of the Act and in particular section 15 thereof to all the leases and take away all the surplus lands in their hands after determining the surplus lands in accordance with law. The directions issued by the High Court can be availed of by all the lessees to whom the G.O. dated 23rd April, 1959, 2nd July, 1960 and 3rd December, 1965 were applicable and all those claiming under them.

All the Special Leave Petitions are dismissed accordingly with these observations. If any further directions are needed, the persons interested may approach the High Court."(Emphasis added)

134. We have discussed above judgment since it was heavily referred and relied by petitioners but find no reason to apply the same in the present case since lease in question was already renewed on 25.03.1996 for a period of 30 years w.e.f. 01.01.1990 and this period would expire on 31.12.2019. Right of re-entry /resumption has been exercised by State by terminating lease and resuming land for public purpose in exercise of its right under Clause 3(c) of lease deed.

135. Now we come to the aspect of freehold, which has also been strongly argued and relied on behalf of petitioners.

136. The first G.O. in furtherance of State Government's policy of conversion of lease rights into freehold was issued on 23.03.1992. The aforesaid G.O. was applicable to permanent leases given for 'residential purposes' and 'current leases', given for residential purposes. Para 1 of aforesaid G.O. reads as under :

''मुझे यह कहने का निर्देश हुआ है कि सम्यक विचारोपरान्त शासन द्वारा नजूल भूमि के प्रबन्ध एवं निस्तारण आदि की वर्तमान व्यवस्था में परिवर्तन करते हुए शाश्वत एवं चालू पट्टों के अन्तर्गत उपलब्ध नजूल भूमि का स्वैच्छिक आधार पर फ्री–होल्ड घोषित करने एवं शेष रिक्त नजूल भूमि का निस्तारण इस शासनादेश में निर्धारित प्रक्रिया के अनुसार करने का निर्णय लिया गया है। तद्नुसार नजूल भूमि के प्रबन्ध एवं निस्तारण आदि के सम्बन्ध में निम्नलिखित व्यवस्था तात्कालिक रूप से लागू होगी।''

"I am directed to say that after due consideration the government has while changing the extant policy of management and disposal of the Nazul land, decided to declare Nazul land available under the perpetual and current leases to be freehold on voluntary basis and to dispose remaining vacant Nazul land as per procedure prescribed in this Government Order. Accordingly, in respect of the management and disposal, etc. of the Nazul land, the following policy shall come into force with immediate effect."

(Emphasis added)

137. Those, who are governed by aforesaid G.O., were directed to submit their option for freehold within one year from the date of issue of G.O. and only they would be entitled for benefit under the said G.O. It also restrained any transfer of property if under lease deed. No transfer was permissible without permission. It also directed that where unauthorized possession is found, action for eviction shall be taken in accordance with law. Paras 7 and 8 of said G.O. read as under:

''(7) जिन पट्टों मे यह शर्त है कि पट्टाधिकारी बिना पट्टादाता की अनुमति के पट्टागत भूमि का हस्तान्तरण कर सकता है, वहॉ पट्टे की शर्त के विपरीत कोई हस्तक्षेप नही किया जाएगा, किन्तु जहॉ बिना पट्टादाता की अनुमति के पट्टेदार द्वारा भूमि हस्तान्तरण करने का निषेध है वहॉ इस शासनादेश के लागू होने की तिथि से किसी भी प्रकार के हस्तान्तरण पर एक वर्ष तक के लिए रोक लगा दी जाएगी। यह योजना शासनादेश जारी होने की तिथि से लागू होगी।

*(8) इस बात का व्यापक प्रचार किया जाएगा कि उपरोक्त नीति अनधिकृत कब्जो के मामलों में लागू नहीं होगी और अनधिकृत कब्जों के मामलों में विधिक प्रक्रिया के अनुसार बेदखली आदि की कार्यवाही की जाएगी।''

"(7) In leases where leaseholder can transfer lease land without permission of the lessor, in such a case no interference shall be made contrary to the terms and conditions of the lease. But where transfer of land without permission of the lessor is prohibited, any transfer of land shall be stopped for a year from the date of enforcement of this Government Order. This policy shall come into force from the date of issue of the Government Order.

*(8) It shall be widely circulated that the aforesaid policy shall not be applicable to the cases related to unauthorized possessions and eviction proceedings, etc. in relation to the unauthorized possessions shall be held in accordance with the legal procedure."
(English Transaction by Court)
(Emphasis added)

138. The second G.O. was issued on 02.12.1992 dividing Lease-Holders in two categories. One, who had not violated conditions of lease, and, another, who had violated conditions of lease. Those, who had not violated conditions, were required to pay for conversion to freehold an amount equal to 50 percent of Circle Rate for residential purpose while those who had violated conditions of lease, are to pay 100 percent. Same was in respect of Group Housing and Commercial use with the difference of amount to be paid for freehold. Para 4 thereof also provided that such current leases where 90 years period had expired, if Lease-holder had not violated any conditions of lease and wants freehold, that can be allowed as per aforesaid G.O.. However, if he wants fresh lease, that can also be allowed for 30 years on payment of 20 percent of Circle rate as premium and 1/60th part of premium towards annual rent. Clause 4 of aforesaid G.O. reads as under :

नही कराना चाहते है बल्कि नया पट्टा लेना चाहते है तो ऐसी दशा में 30 वर्ष के लिए एक नया पट्टा वर्तमान शर्तों के आधार पर दिया जा सकता है जिसके लिए प्रीमियम की धनराशि प्रचलित सर्किल रेट की निर्धारित दर की 20 प्रतिशत होगी और वार्षिक किराया, प्रीमियम का 1/60वां भाग प्रतिवर्ष के हिसाब से भी लिया जाएगा।''

"4 . In case of those current leases whose entire lease period of 90 years has expired, if any previous leaseholder who has not violated lease conditions, wants to get the land converted into freehold, in such a circumstance it shall be converted into freehold against the payment of the prescribed rates. If he does not want to convert it into freehold and wants to get a new lease, in such a circumstance a new lease may be awarded for 30 years under the extant terms and conditions, for which premium amount @ 20 percent of the existing circle rates and annual rent @ 1/60 of the premium shall be paid."

139. The third is G.O. dated 03.10.1994 again making amendment in earlier two G.Os. Relevant aspect is that vide para 2, provision made for execution of 30 years lease, where 90 years period had expired, was deleted. Para 2 of G.O. dated 03.10.1994 reads as under :

''2. शासनादेश संख्या 3632/9–आ–4–92–293–एन/90, 2–12–1992 में ऐसे चालू पट्टे जिनके 90 वर्ष की सम्पूर्ण अवधि समाप्त हो चुकी है तथा पूर्व पट्टाधारक द्वारा पट्टे की शर्तों का उल्लंघन नहीं किया गया है, के सम्बन्ध में 30 वर्षीय पट्टा स्वीकृत किये जाने की व्यवस्था की गई थी। इस व्यवस्था को तात्कालिक प्रभाव से समाप्त किया जाता है। अब ऐसे मामले में नया पट्टा स्वीकृत नहीं किया जाएगा बल्कि ऐसे मामले में जिनमें पट्टे की सम्पूर्ण अवधि समाप्त हो चुकी है उसको उपरोक्त निर्धारित दरों पर पूर्व पट्टेदार के पक्ष में फ्री–होल्ड में परिवर्तित करने की कार्यवाही की जाएगी।''

*"2. A provision had been made in Government Order No. 3632/9-Aa-4-92-293-N/90, dated 02.12.1992 for grant of lease for 30 years for the current leases where 90 years' tenure has expired and the terms and conditions of the lease have not been violated by the former lease holder. This provision is annulled with immediate effect. Now in such cases, no new lease shall be granted; rather, in cases where entire period of lease has expired, proceedings shall taken for converting such leases into freehold in favour of the former lease holders at the aforesaid prescribed rates."

140. Para 8 of aforesaid G.O. further provides that policy for freehold will be effective only upto 31.03.1995.

141. Considering that some very poor persons were also in occupation of 'Nazul land' and their eviction may result in serious problem of accommodation to such persons, another G.O. dated 01.01.1996 was issued making amendments in earlier three G.Os. stating that those persons whose monthly income is Rs.1,250/- or less, unauthorized possession of such persons on vacant Nazul land upto 01.01.1992 or prior thereto for residential purposes, shall be allowed freehold on payment of 25 percent premium and Rs.60/- annual rent for the said area upto 45 Sq. Meter and for more than 45 Sq.Meter but upto 100 Sq.Meter, 40 percent and Rs.120 annual rent. It clearly says that no regularization of unauthorized possession shall be made beyond 100 Sq.Meter and amount of premium shall be allowed to be paid in 10 years' interest free 6 monthly installments. Such unauthorized possession shall be regularized by approving 30 years' lease. Clauses 1, 2, 3 and 4 of aforesaid G.O. read as under :

''(1) किसी भी दशा में 100 वर्ग मीटर से अधिक क्षेत्रफल पर किये गये अवैध कब्जों का विनियमितीकरण नहीं किया जायेगा तथा दिनांक 30.11.1991 की सर्किल रेट पर आंकलित सम्पूर्ण मूल्य पर निर्धारित यथास्थिति 25ः या 40ः नजराने की धनराशि 10 वर्षीय ब्याज रहित छमाही किस्तों में लिया जायेगा, परन्तु यदि कोई व्यक्ति सम्पूर्ण धनराशि या बकाया किस्तों की धनराशि एकमुश्त जमा करना चाहता है तो वह देय धनराशि जमा कर सकता है।

(2) उपरोक्त प्रकार के मामले में विनियमितीकरण की कार्यवाही 30 वर्षीय पट्टा स्वीकृत करके की जायेगी। स्वीकृत पट्टे में 30–30 वर्षीय दो नवीनीकरण के प्राविधान सहित सम्पूर्ण पट्टे की कुल अवधि दो नवीनीकरण के प्राविधान सहित सम्पूर्ण पट्टे की कुल अवधि अधिकतम 90 वर्ष की होगी। जिसमें यह शर्त होगी कि सम्बन्धित व्यक्ति भूमि का पट्टाधिकार 30 वर्ष तक किसी व्यक्ति को हस्तानान्तरित नहीं कर सकता है पट्टा शासन द्वारा निर्धारित प्रारूप पर जारी किया जायेगा।

(3) अनाधिकृत कब्जों के विनियमितीकरण की समस्त कार्यवाही जिलाधिकारी, की अध्यक्षता में गठित समिति की संस्तुति पर जिलाधिकारी द्वारा की जायेगी। लखनऊ एवं देहरादून में समस्त कार्यवाही उपाध्यक्ष, विकास प्राधिकरण की अध्यक्षता में गठित समिति की संस्तुति पर उपाध्यक्ष द्वारा की जायेगी।

(4) विनियमितीकरण हेतु परिवार को एक इकाई के रूप में माना जायेगा तथा पट्टा परिवार के मुखिया के पक्ष में स्वीकृत किया जायेगा।''

"(1) Under no circumstances, illegal possessions over an area measuring over 100 square metres shall be regularised and an amount of earnest money, 25% or 40% as the case may be, on the entire amount calculated as per the circle rate as on 30.11.1991 shall be taken in half yearly interest free instalments over the period of 10 years. However, if any person wishes to deposit entire money or the amount of remaining instalments in lump sum, he/she may deposit the payable amount.

(2) In the aforesaid type of cases, regularisation proceedings shall be done by granting a lease for a period of 30 years. The total period of the entire lease shall at most be 90 years with provision of two renewals, for 30 years each, in the lease so granted, subject to a restriction that the person concerned cannot transfer the lease rights to anybody until 30 years. The lease shall be issued on a format prescribed by the government.

(3) All the proceedings of regularisation of unauthorised possessions shall be done by the District Magistrate on recommendation of a committee constituted under his/her chairmanship. All the proceedings in Lucknow and Dehradun shall be done by the Vice Chairman, Development Authority, on recommendation of a committee constituted under his/her chairmanship.

(4) For the purpose of regularisation, a family shall be deemed to be a unit and lease shall be granted in the name of the head of the family."
(English Translation by Court)

(Emphasis added)

142. Then vide G.O. dated 17.02.1996 again some amendments were made in respect of amount payable for freehold but earlier policy of categories of persons, who can claim freehold, was not changed. Vide G.O. dated 29.03.1996, period for giving benefit of freehold was extended from 01.4.1996 to 30.09.1996. G.O. dated 02.04.1996 only made some corrigendum in earlier G.O. dated 17.02.1996.

143. On 29.08.1996, G.O. was issued in furtherance of G.O. dated 17.02.1996 stating that under G.O. dated 17.02.1996, freehold rights to Nominees of Lease-Holders were allowed and in reference thereto, rates on which such Nominees shall be allowed freehold, were mentioned.

144. We find that G.O. dated 17.02.1996 nowhere permits conversion of Nazul land into freehold in favour of Nominees of Lessee and thus we have no manner of doubt that G.O. dated 29.08.1996, insofar as it refers to G.O. dated 17.02.1996, has erred in law and it is a clear misreading. If G.O. dated 17.02.1996 itself had not permitted freehold rights to Nominee(s) of Lessee, question of rights determined by G.O. dated 29.08.1996 is of no legal consequence and would remain inoperative.

145. Then vide G.O. dated 25.10.1996, implementation of freehold policy was extended upto 31.12.1996. Then G.O. dated 31.12.1996 was issued to clarify G.O. dated 17.02.1996 in respect of applicability of rate, where land use at the time of grant of lease was changed in Master plan.

146. G.O. dated 26.09.1997 made amendments in all earlier G.Os. in respect of rates for Nazul land being used for hospital and other charitable purposes. It also clarifies as to which contravention of lease deed will be treated as violation to attract higher rate. It also provides in para 6(2) that Government has got right of re-entry due to violation of any conditions of lease and lease had already expired, and such Lease-Holder may be informed of Nazul policy and be given an opportunity to apply for freehold whereafter action for dispossession will be taken. The policy of conversion of freehold was extended upto 25.12.1997.

147. Then comes G.O. dated 01.12.1998. Thereunder only two categories were made i.e. residential and non-residential. Restriction was also imposed on certain Nazul land in respect whereto conversion of freehold shall not be allowed.

148. Vide G.O. dated 10.12.2002, it was clarified that freehold conversion shall not be allowed to nominee of Lessee or his legal heirs. G.O. dated 31.12.2002 relates to rates and clarification hence are not relevant for the purpose of present case.

149. Vide G.O. dated 04.08.2006, provision for regularization of Nazul land which was in unauthorized possession, was deleted. It is also said that in all the matters, where freehold document has not been registered, application shall be cancelled. Vide G.O. dated 15.02.2008 clarification was given in respect of G.O. dated 04.08.2006 and it was reiterated that in all those matters where freehold document has not been registered, application shall be rejected.

150. Vide G.O. dated 21.10.2008, Clause 3 of G.O. dated 10.10.2002, whereby provision for conversion of freehold to Nominee of Lessee or his legal heirs was ceased, was restored. It was also clarified that decision to convert freehold of Nazul land will apply only when such land is not found necessary for Government use. Thus no provision existed from 10.10.2002 to 20.10.2008 permitting freehold to a nominee.

''ऐसे नजूल भूमियां जो भू–धारक या पट्टाधारक या उनके विधिक उत्तराधिकारी / नामित की भूमि के साथ स्थित है तथा उनके लिए उपयोगी सिद्ध हो सकती हैं तथा किसी अन्य के उपयोग की सम्भावना नहीं प्रतीत होती है। ऐसी भूमि का विनियमितीकरण भू–धारक या पट्टाधारक या उनके विधिक उत्तराधिकारी / नामित के पक्ष में वर्तमान सर्किल रेट शत प्रतिशत प्राप्त कर फ्री–होल्ड कर दिया जायेगा। ऐसे मामलों में शासन की अनुमति आवश्यक होगी।''

*"Those nazul lands which are lying adjacent to the land of land holder or lease holder or his legal successor/his nominee, and which can be of utility to them and do not appear to have the potential of being used by any other person, shall be regularised and converted into freehold in favour of the land holder or lease holder or his legal successor/nominee after receiving cent percent current circle rate. In such matters, the permission of the government shall be necessary."

(English Translation by Court)

152. Further time for conversion into freehold was extended upto 31.12.2009. G.Os. dated 29.01.2010, 17.02.2011 and 01.8.2011 were issued making minor amendments hence not discussed further. Then comes G.O. dated 28.09.2011. It talks of policy of conversion of Nazul land into freehold, which was not listed at any point of time but has been occupied unauthorizedly and occupants have raised their construction and using land prior to 01.12.1998. However, land of public places, park, side-lanes of road and other Government uses was excluded and maximum area for such freehold was confined to 300 Sq.Meter. The incumbent had to apply within three months whereafter they have to be evicted. With respect to 'Nominees of Lessees', para 5 of said G.O. reads as under :

''5. नामित व्यक्ति के पक्ष में नजूल भूमि को फ्रीहोल्ड किये जाने की व्यवस्था को समाप्त किया जाना– नजूल भूमि के पट्टेदार द्वारा नामित व्यक्ति के पक्ष में नजूल भूमि को फ्रीहोल्ड किये जाने की व्यवस्था सर्वप्रथम शासनादेश संख्या : 1300/9–आ–4–96–629एन/95, टी.सी. दिनांक 29–8–1996 के प्रस्तर–1 (3) (4) में की गयी थी और शासनादेश संख्या 2873/9–आ–4–2002–152–एन/2002, टी.सी. दिनांक 10–12–2002 के प्रस्तर 3 द्वारा उक्त व्यवस्था समाप्त कर दी गयी तथा शासनादेश संख्या : 1956/आठ–4–08–266एन/08, दिनांक 21–10–2008 के प्रस्तर– 2 (4) द्वारा उक्त व्यवस्था पुनः बहाल कर दी गयी है। इस व्यवस्था के सम्बन्ध में मा0 उच्च न्यायालय में विचाराधीन रिट याचिका (जनहित याचिका) संख्या : 35248/2010–जयसिंह बनाम उत्तर प्रदेश राज्य व अन्य में पारित अन्तरिम आदेश दिनांक 16–07–2010 में दिये गये निर्देशों के दृष्टिगत उपर्युक्त शासनादेश दिनांक 21–10–2008 का प्रस्तर 2 (4) जिसके द्वारा नामिनी के पक्ष में नजूल भूमि को फ्रीहोल्ड किये जाने की व्यवस्था बहाल की गयी है, को समाप्त करते हुए अब ऐसे व्यक्ति जिनके पक्ष में क्रय की जा रही सम्पत्ति (नजूल भूमि) को पट्टेदार द्वारा रजिस्टर्ड एग्रीमेंट टू सेल किया गया हो और पूर्ण स्टाम्प शुल्क अदा किया गया हो, उसी व्यक्ति के पक्ष में ही नजूल भूमि को फ्रीहोल्ड किया जायेगा।''

"5. Cessation of the provision of converting the nazul land into freehold in favour of the nominee:- The provision of converting nazul land into freehold in favour of nominee by the lease holder of the land had first been provided in the para- 1 (3)(4) of the Government Order No. 1300/9-Aa-4-96-629N/95, TC dated 29-08-1996; and by para 3 of the Government Order No. 2873/9-Aa-4-2002-152-N/2002, TC dated 10.12.2002, the aforesaid provision was annulled; and through para 2(4) of the Government Order No. 1956/VIII-4-08-266N/08, dated 21.10.2008, the afore-said provision has been restored again. Pursuant to the instructions, with respect to this provision, given in the interim order dated 16.07.2010 passed by the Hon'ble High Court in Writ Petition (Public Interest Litigation) No. 35248/2010 titled as Jai Singh Vs State of Uttar Pradesh and others, which is pending, the provision of para 2(4) made in the aforesaid Government Order dated 21.10.2008 through which converting nazul land into in favour of the nominee was restored, is being annulled; and the nazul land shall be converted in freehold in favour of the person with whom the lease holder has entered in registered agreement of sale and who has paid the whole stamp duty." (Emphasis added)

153. Aforesaid G.Os. thus clearly show that eligibility of leases of Nazul land, as initially laid down in G.O. of 1992 underwent some changes but in respect of land found suitable or needed by Government, no freehold was permissible. With respect to violation of terms and conditions of lease etc., some relaxation has been given. G.O. dated 28.09.2011 finally annul the provision of allowing freehold to Nominee.

154. Lastly there are two more G.Os. i.e. 04.03.2014 and 15.01.2015 wherein policy of freehold has been virtually given a relook and substantial amendments have been made in earlier policy.

155. Thus, petitioner-1, as a Nominee is not entitled, as a matter of right to claim freehold of Nazul land in his favour. So far petitioners 2 to 5 are concerned they have never claimed freehold rights.

156. Moreover, it is no doubt true that Government has promulgated policy of conversion of lease land into freehold, but then question is "whether mere submission of application for freehold will confer a vested right upon petitioners to get Nazul land converted into freehold, which will override even power of re-entry of Lessor. A Full Bench of this Court in Anand Kumar Sharma vs. State of U.P. and others 2014(2) ADJ 742 has considered this aspect and held in para 42 of judgment that merely by making an application for grant of freehold right, one will not acquire a vested right. Para 42 of the judgment reads as under :

"We after considering the relevant Government Orders on the subject and pronouncements of the Apex Court as noted above, are of the view that merely by making an application for grant of right, petitioner did not acquire a vested right." (Emphasis added)

157. A Division Bench of this Court in Writ Petition No.62588 of 2010, M/s Madhu Colonizers Pvt. Ltd. vs. State of U.P. & Ors., decided on 02.04.2013 has held that if Government exercises right of re-entry, question of a person to claim freehold would not arise and where such a right cannot be claimed by Lessee, right of nominee cannot survive over such lessee. Court has said as under :

"It is also found that as nominee of the lessee, the petitioner-Company cannot have any larger rights than the lessee and once the order of the District Magistrate for resumption the land in exercise of power under Clause 3(c) of the lease deed is held to be valid, the petitioner-Company, as a nominee, cannot have any surviving right to claim conversion of the lease hold rights into freehold. Infact, on valid resumption order being passed, the lease hold rights cease to exist and there can be no occasion for conversion of lease hold rights into freehold rights in such circumstances."

(Emphasis added)

158. The above discussion makes it clear that Nazul Land, if required by State for public purpose and it exercises right of re-entry/resumption, the same cannot be defeated by any person on the ground that his individual right must prevail over such public purpose.

159. One more aspect we propose to point out at this stage. As we have already stated in earlier part of judgment that petitioners 2 to 5, who were Lessees to renewed lease-deed, are not residing on the land in dispute and they are all residing elsewhere i.e. at Lucknow, which is the address they have given in writ petition also, it is evident that they do not require land in question for their own purpose. It appears that they have indulged in trading of land and earn profit at the cost of public exchequer, inasmuch as, conversion into freehold is on a very smaller amount comparing to market value at which property is being transacted in the area concerned. The disputed land is situated in most centrally located, posh, commercial area of Prayagraj City i.e. Civil Lines. Lessees i.e. petitioners 2 to 5 have issued a nomination letter in favour of petitioner-1, in respect of land in dispute, who is a partner of a Builder's Company. Petitioner-1 has no concern otherwise with land in dispute. She was not a person, who had any interest in property in dispute except that now looking to location and topography of land in dispute, she finds the land capable of development to a much more profitable venture and that is how she has indulged in trading of land with lessees i.e. petitioners 2 to 5 by getting a nomination in her favour and it is petitioner-1 only who has applied for freehold.

160. In this regard, this Court in the judgment dated 31.10.2019 passed in Civil Misc. Writ Petition No.29495 of 2018 (Prakati Rai and 6 Others vs. State of U.P. and 20 others) connected with other petitions, has already commented upon policy of lease as under :

"181. Before proceeding further, we find it difficult to desist from observing that freehold policy, commenced in 1992, took care of a limited category of occupants of Nazul land i.e. Lessees, who had perpetual lease or where lease was continuing and there was no violation of conditions of lease. Meaning thereby, Leaseholders, who had faithfully abided to the terms and conditions of lease, were chosen as a class by themselves and provision was made to convert lease rights into freehold in such cases. One may not dispute about such policy in the light of fact that these leases are several decades old and people holding such leases had developed some kind of possessory right in property and recognizing such interest of Lessees, howsoever weak it was, if State Government chose to confer upon them benefit of conversion of lease right into freehold, one may not validly object to that and probably such policy may satisfy constitutional test of fairness, non-discrimination, non-arbitrariness etc.

182. But with the passage of time, in the garb of improvement in the policy, amendments were made by numerous Government Orders issued from time to time, which we have referred hereinabove and that opened on unrestricted area of beneficiaries, i.e. wholly strangers namely mere Nominees of Lessee, who had no prior interest in property in question; and flagrant defaulters and violators of terms of lease etc. Such provisions, in our view, are difficult to sustain as to satisfy constitutional validity of policy of freehold under aforesaid Government Orders. In our view, it is ex facie arbitrary and violative of Article 14 of Constitution of India. One cannot lose sight and ignore historical backdrop of allotment of Nazul land. Persons who were sympathetic to Britishers and for services rendered by individuals in the interest of Colonial Forces, helping them in their administration; or some otherwise highly resourceful people, were given such allotment. After independence, if State wanted to distribute its largesse/assets, we can understand, if a scheme would have been evolved to distribute Nazul land, by terminating lease, to weaker and poor people or landless people or if objective was to augment revenue, then State largesse/assets instead of distributing in a clandestine manner by confining such benefit to certain individuals, appropriate mode of auction of land to general public should have been adopted. We do not know what prevailed with State Government in making policy, which was initially not so apparently erratic, to become a boon to defaulters and also give opportunity to certain individuals in trading of land after getting land freehold on much lesser amount than what actually market value of land is. In the present case itself, petitioners have said that they paid money to Harihar Nath Dhar and therefore, Harihar Nath Dhar actually benefited himself of the property owned by State without giving any return to State and this had continued for decades together. Thus, Prima facie, we are satisfied that policy of freehold, as it stands today, helps scrupulous, resourceful land dealers, Land Mafias and similar other persons. It is neither in public interest nor satisfies test of public policy nor consistent with constitutional test, in particular, Article 14 of Constitution of India.

183. However, we are not expressing any final opinion on this aspect but this Court desires that it is high time and sooner is the better, that State Government must re-examine entire policy and if purpose is only to augment revenue, Government should sell public land by auction so that it may get best price or policy should be confined for the benefit of have-nots i.e. poor landless and weaker sections of the Society.

161. We are in entire agreement with aforesaid observations and reiterate that policy of freehold, prevailing presently, is ex facie arbitrary and discriminatory. It is not for benefit of poor, weaker and needy sections of Society. Instead it permits profiteering by rich and resourceable people at the cost of public assets of which Government is custodian. Distribution of public largesse must be in a fair, reasonable and transparent manner and not by giving selective benefit to certain individuals, who had extra ordinary resources to enjoy the same and others are deprived of because of financial or other inequality. However, as already said in our view judgment in Prakati Rai and 6 Others vs. State of U.P. and 20 others (supra), noted above, on the question of validity of policy, our observations are not expression of final opinion but we recommend to Government to immediately relook and reconsider freehold policy and take appropriate decision, since it is high time that public assets must be dealt with in an apparent transparent manner, which is most beneficial to public at large.

162. In view of above discussion, Question (vii) is also answered against petitioners.

163. Now coming to question (viii), respondents have said that every land and its requirement, suitability etc. is different. It cannot be said that other lands, which have been made freehold are identically situated with petitioners' land. For the purpose petitioners' land has been re-entered/resumed, authorities have found it, to be, most suitable and that is how it has been selected. There is no question of any discrimination. Nothing otherwise has been placed before us to show that in all other aspects, land in question is identical with other land which have been made freehold. Therefore, in absence of any factual material and pleading, we do not find any substance in the plea of discrimination and it is accordingly rejected. Question (viii), as formulated above, is answered against petitioners.

164. Next question (ix), is whether resumption/re-entry is valid and genuine. Here, it is not in dispute that Allahabad City has been selected to be developed as 'Smart City'. For this purpose, large scale development is required. However, contention of counsel for petitioner is that purpose mentioned in impugned order passed by Collector is neither genuine nor bona fide, therefore, resumption is bad. He has relied for the purpose of explaining 'public purpose' on the definition contained in Section 3(za) read with Section 2(1)(e) of "Right to Fair Compensation and Transparency in Land Acquisition, Rehabilitation and Resettlement Act, 2013" (hereinafter referred to as "Act, 2013"). Section 2(1)(e) and 3(za) of Act, 2013 are reproduced as under:-

"2(1) The provisions of this Act relating to land acquisition, compensation, rehabilitation and resettlement, shall apply, when the appropriate Government acquires land for its own use, hold and control, including for Public Sector Undertakings and for public purpose, and shall include the following purposes, namely:-

(e) project for planned development or the improvement of village sites or any site in the urban areas or provision of land for residential purposes for the weaker sections in rural and urban areas;"

"3(za) "public purpose" means the activities specified under sub-section (1) of Section 2;"

165. Definition Clause of Act, 2013 we do not find, relevant for the purpose of present case, inasmuch as, here it is Government land which was given on lease to private individuals for residential purpose with a condition that whenever Government will require it for itself or public purpose, it can be resumed/re-entered.

166. Here 'public purpose' means that land is required not for benefit of any individual or set of individuals but for public at large. The reason may be numerous but here word 'public purpose' has to be understood in the context of individual interest vis-a-vis general public. We do not find that definition of Act, 2013, which is in the context of acquisition of individual's land can apply where Government's own land is being resumed by Government i.e. Owner. Re-entry and resumption of own land for 'own purpose' or for 'public purpose' i.e. public at large is per se valid and will override the individual right of Lessees. Therefore, entire submission based on Act, 2013 is misconceived.

167. It has not been disputed that land in question is situated in a very prime, busy and important commercial area i.e. Civil Lines of Allahabad. There is huge scarcity of parking place causing regular jams etc. Further, in order to develop the city as 'Smart City', various developmental activities have to be undertaken and the purpose mentioned in impugned order, in our view, does satisfy requirement as 'public purpose'.

168. We, therefore, answer question (ix) against petitioners.

169. Now last question i.e. question (x), is, whether re-entry over land in question will require compliance of procedure prescribed in U.P. Act, 1972.

170. It cannot be doubted that aforesaid Act also provides a procedure for resumption of public land where a person is occupying the same 'unauthorizedly' by eviction/ejectment through a summary procedure. In the present case, petitioners 2 to 5 being Lessee and lease has been continuing when impugned order was passed, it cannot be said that they were in possession 'unauthorizedly'. Therefore, aforesaid Act has no application.

171. However, respondents have pleaded and shown that land in dispute is not in actual possession of petitioners 2 to 5 but it is occupied by IERT and Women's Polytechnic was running thereon. Before creating such tenancy rights, whether petitioners 2 to 5 obtained any permission from Lessor, on this aspect, no material has been placed before us though such transfer is not permissible under the provisions of lease-deed without permission of Lessor, and it amounts to serious breach of conditions of lease. Such Transferee, therefore is covered by definition of "unauthorized occupation" as defined in Section 2(g) of U.P. Act, 1972. Aforesaid Statute provides an additional mode and method of eviction of such 'unauthorised' occupants besides procedure prescribed in lease deed, therefore exercising right of election, Lessor can follow and proceed in accordance with procedure prescribed in lease deed. It cannot be said that such exercise of power by Lessor would be illegal.

172. In similar circumstances, where by giving one month's notice, lease land during period of subsistence of lease was resumed/ re-entered by U.P. Government, matter came up for consideration in Azim

Ahmad Kazmi and Others Vs. State of U.P. and Others (supra) and Supreme Court upheld such re-entry. We have already discussed above judgment in detail above, and it is not necessary to repeat the same. Therefore question (x) is also answered against petitioners.

173. It is admitted case of petitioners that land in question has already been taken in possession by respondents. Since, we have not found resumption, contrary to law, hence nothing further is required to be done.

174. In view of above discussion, writ petition lacks merit. Dismissed. No costs.

175. Let a copy of this judgment be forwarded to Chief Secretary, U.P. Lucknow and Principal Secretary, Urban Development, U.P. Lucknow, for reconsidering policy of freehold in the light of observations made in paras 160 to 161 of judgment and take appropriate decision.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Chandra Dhari Singh, J.)

1. Present Criminal Appeal is directed against the judgment and order dated 04.03.1998 passed by IInd Additional Sessions Judge, Ghazipur in S.T. No.150 of 1996, by which the appellants-accused were convicted for offence punishable under Section 3(1) (X) of S.C. & S.T. Act. He was sentenced to undergo imprisonment for four years' R.I. and pay fine of Rs.2000/-, in default of payment of fine, the appellants have to undergo additional imprisonment for three months.

2. Brief facts of the case are that on 22.07.1995 at about 9:30 A.M., accused persons Dashrath, Shyamdev, Channer and Mukkhu were grazing their buffaloes in the filed of sugarcane of Vikram, informant. When mother of the informant saw, she opposed them for grazing their buffaloes. On her objection, all the accused persons started quarrelling with the mother of the informant and they started beating her with their respective weapons like lathi and danda. After hearing hue and cry of his mother, he and his brother Vishwanath came at the place of incident and tried to save their mother then all the accused persons had also beaten them. Thereafter after hearing hue and cry many people of their village came. All the accused persons had gone giving threat. The informant belongs to Scheduled Caste community. The informant lodged a first information report about the incident on the same day at 11:10 P.M. at police station. The informant Vikram, his brother Vishwanath and his mother Barti Devi were medically examined by Doctor on 22.07.1995 at 1:00 P.M. After completing investigation a chargesheet was filed against all the accused persons before court concerned.

3. The Second Additional Sessions Judge, Ghazipur framed charges for commission of offence under Sections 323, 504 and 506 I.P.C. and Section 3(1) (X) of S.C.& S.T. Act. All the accused persons denied charges levelled against them and pleaded for trial.

4. For proving the charges against the appellants the prosecution examined Vikram, the informant, P.W.1, Barti Devi P.W.2, Vishwanath P.W.3, Sofi P.W.4, Mohit P.W.5 as witnesses of facts.

5. The trial court has examined prosecution witnesses, statements of accused persons under Section 313 Cr.P.C. and evidences.

6. After examining the prosecution witnesses, statements of accused persons and perusing the evidences on record, the trial court has given finding that offences under Section 323 and 504 I.P.C. and Section 3(1) (X) S.C. & S.T. Act are proved but on the compromise as the offences punishable under Sections 323 and 504 I.P.C. are compoundable, therefore, all the appellants-accused were acquitted from the charges under Sections 323 and 504 I.P.C. The trial court has also given finding that since offence under Section 3(1) (X) S.C. & S.T. Act is not compoundable, therefore, all the appellants-accused persons were convicted under Section 3(1) (10) S.C.& S.T. Act and they were sentenced for four years R.I. with fine of Rs.2000/- from each appellants. In default of payment of fine of Rs.2000/- to undergo additional imprisonment for three months to each appellants. The trial court had given compensation of Rs.1000/- to all the injured persons.

7. Learned counsel for the appellants has submitted that the court below has not considered the facts that main offence has been compromised and all the appellants were acquitted from the charges charges under Sections 323 and 504 I.P.C. on the ground that the parties entered into compromise then offence Section 3(1) (X) S.C. & S.T. Act ought to have been compromised. Therefore, conviction under Section 3(1) (X) S.C. & S.T. Act is bad in law.

8. Admittedly and undisputedly, appellants were charge-sheeted and charges were framed against them for offences punishable under Section 323, 504 IPC read with Section 3(1)(X)of SC & ST Act. An application under Section 320(2) was filed by the complainant for compounding the offence punishable under Section 323, 504 IPC read with Section 3(1)(X) of SC & ST Act on the basis of a compromise entered into between the complainant and the accused appellants. The Additional Sessions Judge, Ghazipur after considering the application and the compromise entered into betwen the parties allowed the said application vide order dated 04.03.1998 after satisfying himself that the application for compounding the offence has been made voluntarily and bona fidely and, therefore, it deserves to be granted but the court concerned refused to compound the sentence punishable under Section 3(1)(X) of SC & ST Act considering the provisions of Section 320 (8) of Cr.P.C., which provides that the composition of an offence shall have the effect of an acquittal of the accused with whom the offence has been compounded. The effect is automatic. Wherever composition of an offence takes place it has instantaneous effect of statutory acquittal of the accused. Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Rajinder Singh Vs. State; 1980 SC 1200 held that once permission is granted to compound the offence, effect would be acquittal of accused in respect of offence compounded, by virtue of Section 320(8) of Cr.P.C.

9. In the instant case, the trial court has refused to compound the offence punishable under Section 3(1)(X) of SC & ST Act on the ground that the said offence is not compoundable. At this juncture, it is worth to mention here itself a decision of the Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of J.Ramesh Kamath and Others Vs. Mohana Kurupt and Others, reported in (2016) 12 SCC 179, wherein the Hon'ble Apex Court has laid down certain principles as to under what circumstances the Court can quash the proceedings or compound the offences even in respect of a non-compoundable offences, wherein it has been held as under:

"Held, power vested in High Court under S.482 is not limited to quashing proceedings within ambit and scope of S.320 of Cr.P.C., - In Gian Singh, (2012) 10 SCC 303, it was clearly expounded that quashing of criminal proceedings under S.482 of Cr.P.C., could also be based on settlements between private parties, and could also be on a compromise between the offender and victim - Only that, the above power did not extend to crimes against the society - Further, jurisdiction vested in High Court under S.482 Cr.P.C., for quashing criminal proceedings was held to be exercisable in criminal cases having an overwhelming and predominatingly civil flavour, particular offences arising from commercial, financial, mercantile, civil, partnership, or such like transactions, or even offences arising out of matrimony relating to dowry, etc., or family disputes where wrong is basically private or personal. In all such cases, parties should have resolved their entire dispute by themselves, mutually."

10. The Hon'ble Apex Court has reiterated the principles of law laid down in the case of Gian Singh Vs. State of Punjab and another reported in (2012) 10 SCC 303, wherein it has been observed that the Court can exercise the power under Section 482 of Cr.P.C. depending upon the facts and circumstances of each case and compound the offence. In the case of Narinder Singh and others Vs. State of Punjab and another reported in (2014) 6 SCC 466, it has been observed as under:

"8. We find that there are cases where the power of the High Court under Section 482 of the Code to quash the proceedings in those offences which are uncompoundable has been recognized. The only difference is that under Section 320(1) of the Code, no permission is required from the Court in those cases which are compoundable though the Court has discretionary power to refuse to compound the offence. However, compounding under Section 320(1) of the Code is permissible only in minor offences or in non-serious offences. Likewise, when the parties reach settlement in respect of offences enumerated in Section 320(2) of the Code, compounding is permissible but it requires the approval of the Court. Insofar as serious offences are concerned, quashing of criminal proceedings upon compromise is within the discretionary powers of the High Court. In such cases, the power is exercised under Section 482 of the Code and proceedings are quashed. Contours of these powers were described by this Court in B.S. Joshi Vs. State of Haryana which has been followed and further explained/elaborated in so many cases thereafter, which are taken note of in the discussion that follows hereinafter.

9. At the same time, one has to keep in mind the subtle distinction between the power of compounding of offences given to the Court under Section 320 of the Code and quashing of criminal proceedings by the High Court in exercise of its inherent jurisdiction conferred upon it under Section 482 of the Code. Once it is found that compounding is permissible only if a particular offence is covered by the provisions of Section 320 of the Code and the Court in such cases is guided solitarily and squarely by the compromise between the parties, insofar as power of quashing under Section 482 of the Code is concerned, it is guided by the material on record as to whether the ends of justice would justify such exercise of power, although the ultimate consequence may be acquittal or dismissal of indictment. Such a distinction is lucidly explained by a three-Judge Bench of this Court in Gian Singh v. State of Punjab. Lodha, J. speaking for the Court, explained the difference between the two provisions in the following manner: (SCC pp.340-41, paras 57 & 59).

"57. Quashing of offence or criminal proceedings on the ground of settlement between an offender and victim is not the same thing as compounding of offence. They are different and not interchangeable. Strictly speaking, the power of compounding of offences given to a court under Section 320 is materially different from the quashing of criminal proceedings by the High Court in exercise of its inherent jurisdiction. In compounding of offences, power of a criminal court is circumscribed by the provisions contained in Section 320 and the court is guided solely and squarely thereby while, on the other hand, the formation of opinion by the High Court for quashing a criminal offence or criminal proceeding or criminal complaint is guided by the material on record as to whether the ends of justice would justify such exercise of power although the ultimate consequence may be acquittal or dismissal of indictment.

59. B.S.Joshi, Nikhil Merchant, Manoj Sharma and Shiji do illustrate the principle that the High Court may quash criminal proceedings or FIR or complaint in exercise of its inherent power under Section 482 of the Code and Section 320 does not limit or affect the powers of the High Court under Section 482. Can it be said that by quashing criminal proceedings in B.S.Joshi, Nikhil Merchant, Manoj Sharma and Shiji this Court has compounded the non-compoundable offences indirectly? We do not think so. There does exist the distinction between compounding of an offence under Section 320 and quashing of a criminal case by the High Court in exercise of inherent power under Section 482. The two powers are distinct and different although the ultimate consequence may be the same viz. acquittal of the accused or dismissal of indictment."

11. As to under what circumstances the criminal proceedings in a non-compoundable case be quashed when there is a settlement between the parties, the Court provided the following guidelines: (Gian Singh case, SCC pp.340-41. para 58):

"58. Where the High Court quashes a criminal proceeding having regard to the facts that the dispute between the offender and the victim has been settled although the offences are not compoundable, it does so as in its opinion, continuation of criminal proceedings will be an exercise in futility and justice in the case demands that the dispute between the parties is put to an end and peace is restored; securing the ends of justice being the ultimate guiding factor. No doubt, crimes are acts which have harmful effect on the public and consist in wrongdoing that seriously endangers and threatens the well-being of the society and it is not safe to leave the crime-doer only because he and the victim have settled the dispute amicably or that the victim has been paid compensation, yet certain crimes have been made compoundable in law, with or without the permission of the court. In respect of serious offences like murder, rape, dacoity, etc. or other offences of mental depravity under IPC or offences of moral turpitude under special statutes, like the Preventionof Corruption Act or the offences committed by public servants while working in that capacity, the settlement between the offender and the victim can have no legal sanction at all. However, certain offences which overwhelmingly and predominantly bear civil flavour having arisen out of civil, mercantile, commercial, financial, partnership or such like transactions or the offences arising out of matrimony, particularly relating to dowry, etc. or the family dispute, where the wrong is basically to the victim and the offender and the victim have settled all disputes between them amicably, irrespective of the fact that such offences have not been made compoundable, the High Court may within the framework of its inherent power, quash the criminal proceeding or criminal complaint or FIR if it is satisfied that on the face of such settlement, there is hardly any likelihood of the offender being convicted and by not quashing the criminal proceedings, justice shall be casualty and ends of justice shall be defeated. The above list is illustrative and not exhaustive. Each case will depend on its own facts and no hard-and-fast category can be prescribed."

12. Thereafter, the Court summed up the legal position in the following words: (Gian Singh case, SCC pp.342-43, para 61)

"61. The position that emerges from the above discussion can be summarized thus: the power of the High Court in quashing a criminal proceeding or FIR or a complaint in exercise of its inherent jurisdiction is distinct and different from the power given to a criminal court for compounding the offences under Section 320 of the Code. Inherent power is of wide plentitude with no statutory limitation but it has to be exercised in accord with the guidelines engrafted in such power viz.: (i) to secure the ends of justice, or (ii) to prevent abuse of the process of any court. In what cases power to quash the criminal proceeding or complaint or FIR may be exercised where the offender and the victim have settled their dispute, would depend on the facts and circumstances of each case and no category can be prescribed. However, before exercise of such power, the High Court must have due regard to the nature and gravity of the crime. Heinous and serious offences of mental depravity or offences like murder, rape, dacoity, etc. cannot be fittingly quashed even though the victim or victim's family and the offender have settled the dispute. Such offences are not private in nature and have a serious impact on society. Similarly, any compromise between the victim and the offender in relation to the offences under special statutes like the Prevention of Corruption Act, or the offences committed by public servants while working in that capacity, etc., cannot provide for any basis for quashing criminal proceedings involving such offences. But the criminal cases having overwhelmingly and predominatingly civil flavour stand on a different footing for the purposes of quashing, particularly the offences arising from commercial, financial, mercantile, civil, partnership or such like transactions or the offences arising out of matrimony relating to dowry, etc. or the family disputes where the wrong is basically private or personal in nature and the parties have resolved their entire dispute. In this category of cases, the High Court may quash the criminal proceedings if in its view, because of the compromise between the offender and the victim, the possibility of conviction is remote and bleak and continuation of the criminal case would put the accused to great oppression and prejudice and extreme injustice would be caused to him by not quashing the criminal case despite full and complete settlement and compromise with the victim. In other words, the High Court must consider whether it would be unfair or contrary to the interest of justice to continue with the criminal proceeding or continuation of the criminal proceeding or continuation of the criminal proceeding would tantamount to abuse of process of law despite settlement and compromise between the victim and the wrongdoer and whether to secure the ends of justice, it is appropriate that the criminal case is put to an end and if the answer to the above question(s) is in the affirmative, the High Court shall be well within its jurisdiction to quash the criminal proceeding." The Court in Gian Singh case was categorical that in respect of serious offences or other offences of mental depravity or offence of merely dacoity under special statute, like the Prevention of Corruption Act or the offences committed by Public Servant while working in that capacity. The mere settlement between the parties would not be a ground to quash the proceedings by the High Court and inasmuch as settlement of such heinous crime cannot have imprimatur of the Court."

13. Bearing in mind the above facts and circumstances and on perusal of the charge sheet material, though the offences are punishable under Section 3(1)(X) of SC & ST Act, the said offences are non-compoundable in nature. But as could be seen from the records, the parties have compromised the matter amicably. Therefore, in my opinion, if the said compromise is allowed by keeping in view the above said decision endorsed, the parties can lead a cordial life hereinafter. The said alleged offences are not punishable with death or imprisonment for life and both the complainants and the accused are intending to join their hands and compound the offence and no injuries have also been caused to the body of the complainant.

14. Therefore, keeping in view the above said facts and circumstances, I am of the opinion that the instant criminal appeal is allowed.

15. For the reasons stated above and the fact that the incident took place on 12.07.1995 and more than 25 years have lapsed, the sentenced awarded by the trial court under Section 3(1)(X) of the SC & ST Act is quashed.

16. Appellants are on bail. They need not surrender, in case they are not wanted in any other case. Their bail bonds are hereby cancelled. Sureties are discharged from their liability.

17. Record of the lower court, if summoned, shall be remitted back to the court concerned forthwith along with the copy of this order.

List of cases cited: -

(Delivered by Hon'ble Dinesh Kumar Singh-I, J.)

1. Heard Ms. Rashmi Srivastava, learned Amicus Curiae for the appellant and Sri B.A. Khan, learned A.G.A. for the State.

2. This Appeal has been filed by the appellants, Kalletariya and Bhola against the judgement and order dated 12.03.1982 passed by Additional Sessions Judge XI, Agra in S.T. No. 404 of 1979 convicting the appellants under Sections 363, 366 I.P.C. and sentencing them each to undergo three years R.I. for each offence and also to pay a fine of Rs. 500/- for each offence and in default of payment, the appellants have further been directed to undergo R.I. for three months and both the sentences are directed to run concurrently.

3. Out of the two appellants, Kalletariya and Bhola, Bhola has expired and his appeal has been abated vide this Court's order dated 5.01.2019, therefore before this Court, Appeal of Kalletariya remains which is being taken up.

4. As per prosecution version as narrated in F.I.R., the victim/first informant, Vidya aged about 16 years was living with her father, Dhanvaj under his guardianship in village Ram Nagariya, P.S. Jaitpur, District Agra who was earlier married to one Karua. She stayed in her matrimonial home only for four to five days, thereafter she returned to her father's house and was living there since then continuously. Her Gauna had not taken place. The accused, Kalletariya was a resident of village, Nagaria, P.S. Pattora, District Agra who was jeth of the victim and at the time of occurrence, he used to work at the place of Village Pradhan, Dhandhu and used to often visit the house of victim and the accused appellant no. 2, Bhola (deceased) was his companion. On 10.01.1978, at about 8:30 a.m. when she had gone to ease herself out, both the appellants had met her and gave her temptation that they would provide her good clothes and jewellery and thus, in this way they beguiled her.

On their said promise, the victim accompanied them whereafter the appellant along with co-accused took her to sookhatal where in the field of arhar, at the point of knife and giving her threat to kill, she was forcibly raped by both of them, thereafter appellants took her to Mauran where she was kept in the house of Bhola for about two and a half hours and from there, appellant along with co-accused took her to Kori Kuan and from there, she was taken in a bus to Etawah. When the said bus stopped at Oodi Mod, there, constables and an inspector came, whom she narrated the entire story and then both the appellants were arrested by police, thereafter the said police personnel had brought driver, conductor, Gambhir Singh and Ram Autar respectively along with informant to P.S. Badhpura where the victim narrated the entire story and on her oral statement, a report was lodged on 10.01.1978 at 6:30 p.m. at P.S. Badhpura, District Etawah on the basis of which chick F.I.R., Exhibit Ka-1 and G.D., Exhibit Ka-2 were prepared, thereafter police also took into possession victim's petticoat and the under-wear of Kalletariya, recovery memo of which is mentioned as Exhibit Ka-3. On the next day, i.e. on 11.01.1978 at about 6:00 p.m., medical examination of the victim was conducted by Dr. S. Bhatiya at Agra and medical examination report, Exhibit Ka-4 was prepared by her. Thereafter police brought the accused from Badhpura to P.S. Jaitpur and G.D., Exhibit-9 was prepared. The investigation of this case was assigned to I.O. who prepared site-plan as Exhibit Ka-5 and Exhibit Ka-6 and recorded statements of other witnesses and submitted charge-sheet, Exhibit Ka-8 against the appellants under Section 363, 366, 368 and 376 I.P.C.

5. Against the accused appellant, Kalletariya, charges under Sections 363, 366 and 376 I.P.C. were framed to which he pleaded not guilty and claimed to be tried.

6. From the side of prosecution, as many as seven witnesses have been examined. P.W. 1, Vasdev Singh is a witness of fact, P.W. 2, Constable Girish Chand of P.S. Badhpura has proved F.I.R., Exhibit Ka-1, G.D., Exhibit Ka-2, Recovery Memo, Exhibit Ka-3 and also Material Exhibits, Petticoat and under-wear, Material Exhibit-1 and Material Exhibit-2. P.W. 3 is Dr. S. Bhatiya who conducted the medical examination of the victim and has proved medical examination report, Exhibit Ka-4. The victim herself was examined as P.W.4. S.I., Sri Ratan Lal who has investigated the case was examined as P.W.5 and has proved site-plan, Exhibit Ka-5 to Exhibit Ka-7 and also charge-sheet, Exhibit Ka-8. Bharat Kishore, P.W. 6 was posted at P.S., Badhpura, Etawah as a constable and had come to the P.S. Jaitpur along with accused with other papers, has been examined. P.W. 7 is Head-Constable, Udal Singh who was posted at P.S. Jaitpur as Head Moharrir and has proved G.D. as Exhibit Ka-9.

7. Thereafter prosecution evidence was closed and statement of accused was recorded under Section 313 Cr.P.C. in which he has stated that he was falsely implicated in this case. He lived in village, Nagaria, District Etawah with his sister and he did not make frequent visit to the house of victim. The victim was married to his cousin brother. He had not abducted or kidnapped her nor did he commit any rape upon her. He was going from Vahvah to Chamarpura in Etawah in his relationship and husband of the victim, Kalua started having quarrel with him at Oodi Mod and because of that, the police had arrested and challaned him. There was an old enmity between him and Kalua and both of them did not visit each other's house. Kalua was also sitting in the same bus in which the victim was sitting and there, both of them had a quarrel and because of enmity with Kalua, the appellant has been falsely implicated in this case. In defence, one witness, Puttu Singh was examined as D.W.-1.

8. Learned Amicus Curiae for the appellant has argued that appellant was falsely implicated in this case. There is no evidence against him on record and yet, trial court has proceeded to convict him and, accordingly, the judgement needs to be set-aside. If the accused is found to be guilty, he should be given benefit of Probation of Offenders Act, 1958 and be released on probation.

9. In this case, the most important witness is the victim herself who has been examined as P.W. 4, therefore her testimony has to be scrutinized very minutely and cautiously. She has stated that she was living with her father at Ram Nagaria, P.S Jaitpur and the accused appellant, Kalletariya was employed by the village Pradhan of the said village, Dhandhu and the said accused frequently came to the house of victim. The said accused was her jeth. On the date of occurrence at about 8.30 a.m., when she had gone to attend the nature's call, accused appellant and other co-accused had met her and both of them had given her temptation that they would provide her good clothes and jewellery and that she would be married to accused appellant, Kalletariya and at this, she proceeded with them and thereafter they had taken her to sookhatal and at the point of knife, she was raped by them in the field of arhar against her wish, thereafter the accused had taken her to village, Mauran in the house of Bhola and remained there for two and a half hours and from there, she was taken to Kori Kuan and from there, she was taken to Etawah by bus. When the said bus stopped at Oodi Mod, she saw policemen there, after seeing them, she raised an alarm and, thereafter she revealed all the details to them pursuant to which, the appellants were arrested and were taken to P.S. Badhpura where the victim lodged a report and, thereafter she was taken to P.S. Jaitpur along with accused.

10. In cross-examination, several questions were put to her which were superfluous such as when she was going for easing herself out; whether she had any 'lota' regarding which she had stated that the accused had got the said lota thrown away but when asked as to why the same was not written in F.I.R., no cogent reply could be given by her but such kind of minor and insignificant questions and their answers would not impact the case adversely. She further stated in her cross-examination that she was given temptation of good jewellery and good clothes by the appellant and she fell prey to the same because of immaturity and proceeded with the accused. Several questions were also asked with respect to the time as to when she reached Oodi Mod and some discrepancies have been noticed in reply to the same and it was argued that if her testimony be taken into consideration in totality, the hours which she is stated to have consumed in travelling from one place to another before reaching the Oodi Mod by 5:00 p.m., the same would not bear out to be true, therefore her statement should not be believed. But it has also come on record that she is an illiterate lady, hence, such kind of discrepancies for difference in time may be very natural and on this count alone, her statement cannot be disbelieved. One more important aspect regarding which she was cross-examined was the knife which she is said to have been shown at the time of commission of offence, the same was not found to have been entered in police record as there was no recovery memo of the same, therefore, it cannot be concluded that she was taken away from her house under threat and later on rape was committed upon her by showing her knife and she had gone out of her own free will with the accused. The said argument also does not stand good because if the said knife was not taken into possession by the I.O. that would be taken as fault on the part of I.O. and not on the part of victim. As regards her consent being there in going with the accused, the same cannot be taken as free consent because in F.I.R., she has stated herself to be 16 years of age on the date of occurrence and in statement of P.W. 3, Dr. S. Bhatiya, in elbow joint of the victim, Epiphysis was found fused in metaphysic and in wrist joint, Epiphysis with Metaphysic was not found fused completely and on that basis, she had opined that her age could not be 19 years because such fusion takes place at the age of 18 years and in the case at hand when in the wrist joint, Epiphysis with Metaphysic was not found fused completely that would mean that she was less than 18 years, therefore, the prosecution version that the victim was minor at the date of occurrence, so could not give consent to accompany the accused appellant has substance and when she was tempted to accompany the accused that would mean that she was taken away by the accused appellant without her consent.

11. Next important statement is that of P.W. 1, S.I. Vasdev Singh who has stated in his examination-in-chief that on 10.01.1978, he was posted at chauki, Oodi Mod, P.S. Badhpura, District Etawah as In-charge of the chauki. On the said date at about 5.00 p.m., one bus was standing in front of the said chauki and he heard a sound 'bachao' of a girl, on which he along with Constables Ashok and Indradev reached the bus stand and enquired from the said girl as to what happened then she revealed that these accused i.e. Kalletariya and Bhola had beguiled her away at about 8:30 O' clock that they would provide her ornaments and good clothes and was being taken away with a view to marrying her. They had committed rape upon her near sookhatal in the village in the field of arhar and, thereafter she was taken to village, Mauran at the place of Bhola where she was kept for 2-3 hours and from there, she was brought to Kori Kuan and after making her aboard the bus, she was taken to Etawah. The said statement was made by the victim in presence of Ram Autar and one another, thereafter after arresting the said accused persons, he had taken them to P.S., Badhpura, District Etawah where the report of the victim/informant was lodged.

12. In cross-examination, this witness has stated that there were few shops situated near the bus stand and several people had come there during the time when the victim narrated her version but he did not make them witnesses in this case. The said witnesses were not resident of Oodi Mod but are of the villages which are located nearby. In the said bus, about 30-35 passengers were aboard. Several other questions were put to him with respect to the direction in which the bus was facing etc. but they are not very relevant.

13. In cross-examination, nothing such has emerged which would make his testimony/examination-in-chief to be impeachable and his statement proves this much that the victim had cried aloud at Oodi Mod, hearing which, this witness had reached on the spot along with other police personnel and she was being accompanied by the accused appellant and other co-accused in the said bus.

14. Constable, Girish Chandra (P.W.2) is a formal witness. He has proved only F.I.R., Exhibit Ka-1 and the G.D. of Registration of case, Exhibit Ka-2. This witness was also recalled on 22.09.1981 and has proved the material Exhibits 1 and 2 i.e. Petticoat of the victim and under-wear of the accused.

15. Dr. S. Bhatiya has been examined as P.W.3 who has stated in examination-in-chief that on 11.1.1978 at about 6.00 p.m., the informant/victim, Vidya was brought before her for being medically examined. She did not find any external injury on her body. Hymen was found torn, old and healed. No spermatozoa was found. On the basis of x-ray of elbow joint, Epiphysis was found fused in metaphysic and in wrist joint, Epiphysis with Metaphysic was not found fused completely and it has been expressed that no opinion could be given with regard to rape as she was used to sexual intercourse. X-ray had shown her age above 16 years but below 18 years. She has proved her medical examination report as Exhibit Ka-4.

16. P.W.3 has been cross-examined at length and nothing such has come in her cross-examination which would create any doubt about truthfulness of her testimony and she has emphatically opined in cross-examination that the age of the victim/informant was 16-18 years only and she could not be 19 years' old, therefore, this witness has also clinchingly given evidence to the effect that victim was less than 18 years on the date of occurrence, therefore she could not be taken to be a consenting party for having been allowed to have sexual intercourse.

17. P.W.5, S.I. Ratan Lal who has conducted the investigation has stated in examination-in-chief that on 10.01.1978 when he was posted at P.S. Jaitpur, he was assigned investigation of this case. On 11.01.1978, he has taken statement of informant/victim (Vidya) and on 19.01.1978 at her instance, he had gone to village, Ram Nagaria and investigated the place of occurrence from where the victim was said to have been taken away and prepared the site-plan of the said place which is Exhibit Ka-5. In the site-plan by letter 'A' is shown the place where the victim had gone for easing herself out, thereafter she had also shown him the place where rape was committed upon her and he prepared the site-plan of the same which is Exhibit Ka-6 in which by letter 'A' is shown the place where the said occurrence happened in the field of arhar of Raghuraj Singh. On the same day, he came to village of accused, Bhola and at the instance of victim, he prepared the site-plan of the place where she was kept by the accused which is Exhibit Ka-7, thereafter he went to P.S. Badhpura and interrogated S.I., Vasdev Singh of police chauki, Oodi Mod, P.S. Badhpura, District Etawah and recorded his statement and statement of other witnesses i.e. Ram Autar Singh and Gambhir Singh. On 6.02.1978, after having concluded the investigation, he has submitted the charge-sheet, Exhibit Ka-8.

18. In cross-examination, this witness has stated that the place from where the victim was abducted was about one and half furlong away from Ram Nagaria. The distance from Nagaria to the field of arhar in sookhatal would be around 5-6 kms. From village, Mauran to sookhatal, the distance was about two and half kms. Mauran to Kori Kuan, the distance was about 1 1/2 to 2 kms. The distance from Kori Kuan to Oodi Mod, he does not recollect. In the field of pulses (arhar), the crop would be of a height of a man. He had found the crop of pulses in bent condition but has not shown them that way. In village, Mauran, he did not meet Natthu Singh, Baldev and Sukhram but had interrogated others which included Naresh Singh and Babu Singh but they were not made witnesses in this case. Further he has stated that on the next day of occurrence, he had taken the victim to the field of pulses and village of Bhola. The victim, Vidya had not disclosed to him that in the bus, the accused had shown her knife nor had she told him about knife being recovered from them. During investigation, it had not come in his knowledge that from both the accused, knife was recovered. At Jaitpur police station, the victim, Vidya has not lodged any report. From P.S., Badhpura to P.S. Jaitpur, victim had come in the night at about 10.00 p.m. on 10.01.1978, entry regarding which is made in G.D. No. 41. Further he has stated that he had not interrogated any of the shop-keepers who were located near Oodi Mod. Gambhir Singh and Ram Autar told him that they were in the bus. Bus number was not mentioned in the report of P.S. Badhpura nor the same was mentioned in the statement of witness under Section 161 Cr.P.C. The name of the bus driver was Munna Lal and that of conductor was Raja Ram. He has recorded statement of both of them and has denied that he has submitted false charge-sheet against the appellants.

19. From the statement of this witness narrated above, nothing such has come to light which could cast any doubt in respect of truthfulness of his statement in examination-in-chief and this witness has clearly proved that a fair investigation was made by him and has prepared not only one but three site-plans of each place i.e. place from where the victim was said to have been taken away by the accused appellant and the place where rape was committed upon her and the place where she was kept for few hours in the house of co-accused appellant. The only thing that would create doubt in the mind was about the fact that the knife which was stated by the victim to have been used by the accused appellants to threaten her and by showing the same, she was said to have been raped, the same fact was not stated by the victim to the I.O. that such a knife was used by the accused persons and in this regard, there is contradiction in the statement of victim because in her statement before court, she has stated that she had revealed it to the I.O. that such a knife was used by the accused persons at the point of which she was raped but I do not find such contradiction to be minor contradiction with regard to the happening of occurrence with the victim.

20. One Bharat Kishore Singh has been examined as P.W. 6 who was Constable at P.S., Badhpura on 10.01.1978 and has stated in examination-in-chief that on the same day, in the evening at about 6:30 p.m., he along with other constable, Hari Kishan had taken chick, G.D., recovery-memo and the sample-seal etc. to the P.S. Jaitpur for which he had departed from there at about 22:00 hours and these articles were deposited at P.S. Jaitpur. He is a formal witness, therefore, his statement does not require to be analysed in depth.

21. Constable Udal Singh has been examined as P.W. 7 who has stated that on 10.01.1978, he was posted at P.S., Jaitpur and on the same day in the night at about 10:00 P.M., Constable Bharat Kishore Singh (P.W. 6) and Hari Kishore had come to his P.S. along with victim and two sealed bundle, copy of F.I.R. and G.D. etc., entry regarding which was made at G.D. no. 41 dated 10.01.1978 by him which is Exhibit Ka-9. This witness is also a formal witness and his testimony also does not require to be discussed at length.

22. Before analysing said evidence and to see whether offence under the above-mentioned sections are made out or not, it would be appropriate to refer here necessary ingredients of those offences.

23. For offence under Section 363 I.P.C., following ingredients are required to be fulfilled:-

"(i) That the accused did:

(a) Forceful compulsion or inducement by deceitful means;

(b) The object of such compulsion or inducement must be the going of a person from any place;

(ii) That such kidnapping of any person was done from India or from the lawful guardianship."

24. As regards offence under Section 366 I.P.C., following ingredients are required to be fulfilled:

"(i) Kidnapping or abducting of any woman;

(ii) Such kidnapping or abducting must be-

(i) with intent that she may be compelled or knowing it to be likely that she will be compelled to marry any person against her will; or

(ii) in order that she may be forced or seduced to illicit intercourse, or knowing it to be likely that she will be forced or seduced to illicit intercourse; or

(iii) by means of criminal intimidation or otherwise by inducing any woman to go from any place with intent that she may be, or knowing that she will be, forced or seduced to illicit intercourse.

It is immaterial whether the woman kidnapped is a married woman or not. "

25. Now in the light of above ingredients, I find in this case according to the prosecution version that the victim (P.W.4) was beguiled away by the accused appellant, Kalletariya along with co-accused (Bhola) on the date of occurrence at about 8:30 p.m. when she had gone for easing herself out by telling her that she would be provided good clothes and ornaments and that she would be married to accused appellant, Kalletariya. When she proceeded little ahead of Kori Kuan towards sookhatal, these accused had shown her knife and by giving her threat to kill, they had forcibly taken her to the field of pulses where she was raped and, thereafter from the Kori Kuan, she was taken to the village of Bhola where she was kept for two to three hours and, thereafter both the appellants had taken her to Etawah by motor. At about 5:00 p.m. when the bus stopped at Oodi Mod, the victim cried loudly to call the policemen who were standing there and told them the entire occurrence whereafter both the appellants were arrested by the policemen and were brought to the P.S. The statement of the victim in support of the prosecution version is given in examination-in-chief and in cross-examination as well, she has stood her ground that she was taken away being beguiled by these appellants and subsequently was raped at the point of knife. The Doctor (P.W. 3) has stated that she did not find any injuries upon the body of the victim and could not express any definite opinion of rape because the victim was used to sexual intercourse but she did say that the age of the victim was between 16-18 years and certainly not 19 years.

26. The trial court has not found the case of rape proved because it has written its finding that if two men would commit rape upon the victim, certainly some injuries would have been caused to the victim and the place where the said incident is said to have taken place, crop etc. would have been found crushed under the weight but such a case was not found by the trial court because of which it has given benefit of doubt to the appellants with respect to the offence of rape being committed by the appellants.

27. The said finding need not to be disturbed because the conviction is made under Section 363 and 366 I.P.C. only, hence I uphold the said finding of the trial court for the reasons given by it.

28. As regards the offence under Sections 363, 366 I.P.C. is concerned, it is apparent that the ingredients mentioned above of these two sections appear to be clearly made out on the basis of testimony of the victim (P.W.4) as well as of P.W. 1 and the corroboration of the same by the testimonies of P.W. 3 (doctor) and I.O. (P.W.5). The trial court has also written a finding that because the victim was less than 18 years, she was not competent to give consent to have sexual intercourse with her and her age was found to be proved by the statement of the P.W. 3 who had examined her medically and on the basis of x-ray report, P.W. 2 had opined that she was less than 18 years, therefore, it was held by the trial court that she could not give consent for being taken away by the accused appellants in order to be provided jewellery, clothes and for the purposes of marrying one of the appellants from out of the guardianship of her father where she was residing after her marriage away from her husband. It is also mentioned by the trial court that the evidence which has been adduced from the side of defence of D.W.1, Puttu Singh was not trust-worthy and the same has been discarded. This witness has stated that he was also travelling by the same bus in which the victim was travelling with one man and in the said bus, the said man had a quarrel with the accused appellant, Kallectaria and, thereafter the police had forcibly de-boarded them from the said bus along with victim.

29. In cross-examination, this witness could not give any detail as to what led to the dispute between them and has admitted that it was accused appellant, Kallectaria who had brought him to court for deposition. He did not know the said accused from before and about the fact that who was that man who was accompanying the victim, he could not throw light upon it. The defence version is that in the said bus, husband of the victim i.e. Karua was also travelling and with him, the accused had picked up quarrel. The victim was sitting in the said bus but he did not know where the Karua was going with Vidya. The said defence as well as the effort of the defence side to prove their version by getting examined, D.W. 1, Puttu Singh does not appear to be believable because it is a case of the prosecution that the victim was living away from her husband under the protection/guardianship of her father. There was no occasion for the husband of the victim accompanying her in bus and the accused appellants picking up a row with him. It appears to be story concocted by the defence side. The trial court has rightly held the statement of D.W.1 to be untrustworthy and this Court concurs with the opinion of trial court in this regard.

30. It is apparent from the testimony of the above cited witnesses that the version of P.W. 4 i.e. victim gets support from the version of P.W. 1 that he had found the P.W.4 crying aloud at Oodi Mod, hearing which he had approached the victim and when she narrated as to how she was forcibly taken away by the appellants, the accused appellants were arrested and taken to P.S. and thereafter, F.I.R. was lodged, therefore, I find that the prosecution side has been able to prove its case to the extent that the accused appellant along with co-accused had taken the victim, Vidya out of the guardianship of her father and she being less than 18 years was not competent to even give consent to leave her father's house without permission of her father and the intention certainly was to commit sexual assault upon her and, therefore, ingredients of both the sections i.e. Sections 363 and 366 I.P.C. appeared to be satisfied on the basis of evidence and trial court does not appear to have committed any error in holding the accused appellant guilty under Sections 363 and 366 I.P.C.

31. Section 4 of Probation of Offenders Act, 1958 says that if any person is found guilty of having committed an offence not punishable with death or imprisonment for life and the Court by which the person is found guilty is of opinion that, having regard to the circumstances of the case including the nature of the offence and the character of the offender, it is expedient to release him on probation of good conduct, then, notwithstanding anything contained in any other law for the time being in force, the Court may, instead of sentencing him at once to any punishment direct that he be released on his entering into a bond, with or without sureties, to appear and receive sentence when called upon during such period, not exceeding three years, as the Court may direct, and in the meantime to keep the peace and be of good behaviour.

32. Looking to the fact that on the date of recording of statement of accused under Section 313 Cr.P.C. i.e. on 24.02.1982, the accused appellant was 22 years' old, therefore, by now, he must be more than 59 years old person which by any standard would be considered to be old at this distant point of time and since it is being found that co-accused had already died, it is appearing to be very inhuman to send the appellant, Kalletariya to jail to serve out the sentence awarded by the trial court of three years particularly looking to the fact that he was not found to have committed offence of rape and only offence which has been found proved is that of Section 363 and 366 I.P.C. which is punishable up to ten years only and with fine.

33. In view of the above, the judgement of the trial court is upheld and the sentence awarded to the appellant is maintained, however, looking to the special circumstance narrated above, I find that this would be suitable case in which provision of Probation of Offenders Act, 1958 should be invoked and, hence instead of sending the accused appellant to jail, it is directed that he shall be released on probation for a period of three years on his furnishing two sureties and personal bond of same amount to the satisfaction of the trial court with the direction that he shall appear before the court as and when he is called upon to receive sentence. During this period, he shall maintain peace and shall be of good behaviour.

34. The appeal is, accordingly dismissed.

35. Appellant is on bail. He shall appear before the trial court at the earliest within a period of one month and shall fill up bonds as directed, in case of default, he shall serve out the remaining sentence.

36. Copy of this judgement be transmitted back to the trial court along with lower court record at the earliest by office for strict compliance of the judgement forthwith.

37. Learned Amicus Curiae has assisted this Court for deciding this Appeal, hence for the said effort on her part, it is deemed proper that she should be paid Rs. 5,000/- as remuneration in accordance with rules.

CRIMINAL SIDE
DATED: ALLAHABAD 26.11.2019

BEFORE
THE HON'BLE PRADEEP KUMAR SRIVASTAVA, J.

Criminal Appeal No. 811 of 1996

Rajwa & Ors. ...Appellants
Versus
State of U.P. ...Opposite Party

Counsel for the Appellants:
Sri A.K. Singh, Sri Apul Misra, Sri Nand Kishor Mishra, Sri Raja Ram Kushwaha, Ms. Shilpa Ahuja

Counsel for the Opposite Party:
A.G.A., Sri Rakesh Kumar Gupta

A. Evidence Law - Indian Evidence Act, 1872, Criminal Appeal – Motive – In face of direct evidence of eye-witnesses and injured witnesses – motive not required to be proved. (Para 2) Prosecution examined PW-1 and PW-2 who are eye-witnesses and injured witnesses – they are the real brothers of the deceased - they have supported the prosecution version - stated that they saw the whole incident and the accused persons also caused injuries to them - the testimony of a witness cannot be discredited only on the ground that the witnesses are related or interested - the testimony of such witness should be scrutinized cautiously and carefully- relationship by itself will not render the witness untrustworthy. (Para 25, 26 & 28)

B. Criminal Law - Indian Penal Code, 1860 - Section 149 - Every member of unlawful assembly guilty of offence committed in prosecution of common object - There is no substantial contradiction or discrepancies in the evidence of the prosecution and some of the minor contradiction and discrepancies go to establish the reliability of the witnesses and that also shows that they are not tutored - the witnesses examined by prosecution are natural, credible and trustworthy- Held - no infirmity in the evidence of eyewitnesses who are injured witnesses also, on the basis of which their ocular testimony could be discarded - Conviction is legal and absolutely justified.

The accused persons formed an unlawful assembly with common object to commit offence by causing injuries - F.I.R. for the occurrence lodged without any delay - The injuries found on the body of the deceased person and other injured persons find support from the medical evidence and from the postmortem report by which the date and time of causing the injuries and death is very much corroborated - The place of occurrence has been fully established . (Para 43)

C. Criminal Law - Indian Penal Code, 1860 - Section 147,148,323/149 I.P.C - Trial court awarded 6 months for the offence under section 147 - punishment under this section could extend for two years - Same sentence awarded under section 148 - maximum sentence provided under law is 3 years - One year punishment provided under section 323 I.P.C. - trial court awarded sentence of 6 months - Held - the sentence awarded for offence under section 147,148,323/149 I.P.C. is appropriate, proportionate and reasonable. (Para 44)

The use of force and violence by unlawful assembly constituted by the accused persons is very much established in this instant case. In Sunder Singh v The State, AIR 1955 All 232 and Barendra Kumar v State of Assam 1978 Cri LJ (noc) 90 (Gauhati), it has been clarified that where offence has been committed by a member of unlawful assembly, the persons having deadly weapon, shall be punished for the offence under section 148 and others not carrying deadly weapon, shall be punished under section 147. In this case, accused Pragi Lal was having spade which was a deadly weapon and being member of unlawful assembly, committed the offence. As such, his act constituted an offence of rioting committed with spade, a deadly weapon, and that is punishable under section 148. Therefore, a charge under section 147 I.P.C. was unnecessarily framed against accused Pragi Lal, and if framed, he could not be convicted and sentenced for the same and could only be punished for the offence under section 148 I.P.C. In view of this, the conviction and sentence of Accused Pragi Lal for the offence under section 147 I.P.C. is not sustainable and is liable to be set aside. (Para 42)

D. Criminal Law - Indian Penal Code, 1860 - Section 304 Part II - Section 304 Part II provides a maximum sentence of ten years - trial court awarded sentence of 10 years rigorous imprisonment - maximum sentence awarded by the trial court for this offence - trial court mentioned it as first offence of accused persons - they had no criminal antecedent - they committed offence due to social circumstances - Held- sentence awarded by the learned trial court being maximum, if reduced to 7 years, the same will be proportionate in view of the nature of culpability. (Para 45)

The Indian Penal Code recognizes three degrees of culpable homicide namely, (1) culpable homicide of the first degree, a gravest form of culpable homicide which is defined under section 300 as murder, (2) culpable homicide of the second degree, a lower or lessor form of homicide not amounting to murder as defined in section 299, punishable under the first part of section 304 and (3) culpable homicide of the third degree, a lowest type of culpable homicide, punishable under the second part of section 304 - appellants convicted under the category of lowest type of culpable homicide - to give lesson to complainant side because of Chunuvadiya episode - no deadly weapon was arranged and the accused persons were carrying bamboo stick and one was having a spade which is more an agriculture tool rather than weapon. (Para 40)

Held:- Finding of conviction - No illegality or perversity – modification in the sentence - Sentence of accused for the offence under section 147 I.P.C. is set aside - Sentence under section 147, 323/149 I.P.C. of convicted appellants and sentence of accused for the offence under section 148, 323/149 I.P.C. is upheld - sentence of convicted appellants and accused under section 304 Part II I.P.C. is reduced to seven years. (Para 45)

1. Heard Sri Apul Misra, Ms. Shilpa Ahuja and Sri N.K. Mishra, learned counsel for the appellants, Sri Rakesh Kumar Gupta, learned counsel for the complainant and Sri M. P. Singh Gaur, learned A.G.A. for the State.

2. This criminal appeal has been filed against the judgment and order dated 04.05.1996, passed by Additional Sessions Judge, Hamirpur, in Sessions Trial No. 179 of 1990 (State vs. Rajwa and others), arising out of Case Crime No. 137 of 1988, Police Station Kabrai (Hamirpur), District Mahoba by which the appellants Rajwa, Shiva Narain, Babu Lal, Sipahi Lal, Pragi Lal and Lalloo have been convicted and sentenced for the offence under Section 147 I.P.C. for six months rigorous imprisonment each, for the offence under Section 304/149 I.P.C. for ten years rigorous imprisonment along with fine of Rs. 2000/- each and in default of fine six months additional imprisonment and for the offence under Section 323/149 I.P.C. for six months rigorous imprisonment along with fine of Rs. 500/- each and in default of fine one month additional imprisonment. The accused-appellant Pragi Lal has also been convicted and sentenced for the offence under Section 148 I.P.C. for six months rigorous imprisonment. However, accused persons Nanna and Bachcha have been acquitted by the learned trial court.

3. It appears that accused-appellant no. 4 namely Sipahi Lal has died and his appeal has been abated by the order dated 16.08.2019.

4. Brief facts of the case is that on 29.07.1988 at about 5 to 6 P.M. Rishi Ram had gone for natural call and Rameshwar, the another brother of informant Mewa Lal was returning after natural call. At the moment, he reached at the door of Sipahi Lal, the accused persons Rajwa, Shiva Narain, Sipahi Lal, Pragi Lal, Bachcha, Nanna, Lalloo and Babu Lal carrying spade and lathi in their hands met and said to Rishi Ram that Chunwadia, the daughter of Kalloo has been defamed by them. Rishi Ram and Rameshwar refused having done so, whereupon the accused persons started beating both of them. On hue and cry being raised, the informant Mewa Lal, Dwarika and Punna reached there and they were also beaten by the accused persons by spade and lathi. The witnesses Murli, Ram Das and others reached there on hearing noise. Mewa Lal lodged the first information report at Police Station Kabrai on 29.07.1988. The injured persons Punna, Mewa Lal, Rameshwar, Dwarika and Rishi Ram were medically examined in Primary Health Centre, Kabrai. Seeing the serious conditions of all the injured persons, they were sent to District Hospital, Hamirpur. Finding the condition of Rishi Ram more serious, he was referred from District Hospital to Kanpur Helat Hospital, where, on 1.08.1988 Rishi Ram died during treatment because of the injuries caused by the accused persons on the date of incident.

5. Alleging motive, it was stated in the first information report that in respect of Chunuwadia, a Panchayat took place in the village but nothing was decided and her illicit relations with accused Rajwa remained a rumour and the accused persons were of the opinion that she is being scandalized because of Rishi Ram and Rameshwar and they had inimical relation with them.

6. On information of death of Rishi Ram in Helat Hospital, the police came and prepared inquest report on 1.08.1988 and with necessary paper, the dead body was sent for postmortem to District Hospital, Kanpur. The postmortem was conducted at about 04:00 P.M. and the post-mortem report was prepared. On the death of Rishi Ram on 18.08.1988, the Investigating Officer made addition of Sections 147, 148 and 304 I.P.C. and the investigation was started. The I.O. recorded the statements of the witnesses, prepared site map and thereafter submitted charge sheet under sections 147, 148, 323, 324, 304 I.P.C. against all the accused persons.

7. Charges were framed against the accused persons for the offences under Section 147, 302/149, 324/149 I.P.C. and against against accused Pragi Lal, charge was also framed under Section 148 I.P.C.. The prosecution examined as many as seven witnesses and documents Exhibits Ka-1 to Ka-13 were proved by the prosecution witnesses. The statements of the accused persons were recorded under Section 313 Cr.P.C., who did not give any evidence in defence. They, however, stated that the statements given by the witnesses were false and because of enmity, they have been falsely implicated in the present case. After hearing the prosecution and defence side, the learned trial court passed the impugned judgment and convicted and sentenced the accused-appellants.

8. Feeling aggrieved by the impugned judgment, the present criminal appeal has been filed challenging the impugned judgment on the ground that the conviction and sentence is against the weight of evidence available on record. The sentence is too severe and the learned trial court did not consider the evidence on record properly. Therefore, the impugned judgment is liable to be set aside and the accused-appellants are entitled for acquittal.

9. PW-1 Mewa Lal (informant and eye witness) has stated that the accused persons Rajwa, Shiva Narain, Sipahi Lal, Pragi Lal, Bachcha, Nanna, Lalloo and Babu Lal belong to his village and he knows them and they are present in the court. Accused Shiva Narain and Babu Lal are sons of accused Rajwa, whereas, accused Nanna and Bachcha are sons of the maternal uncle of Rajwa. Sipahi Lal is cousin brother of Rajwa and accused Lalloo is brother-in-law of Rajwa, whereas, accused Pragi Lal is close companion of Rajwa. The witness has stated that the deceased Rishi Ram was his real brother and at about 6 A.M. in the morning on the date of incident when he was going for natural call and his brother Rameshwar was coming back and when both reached in front of the house of accused Sipahi Lal, he came out and on his door, all the accused persons were present with lathi in their hands whereas Pragi Lal was having a spade. They were talking about the conduct of Rishi Ram and Rameshwar making allegations that they are defaming them. When both denied accused persons Nanna and Bachcha kept standing there, whereas other accused persons namely Rajwa, Shiva Narain, Sipahi Lal, Pragi Lal, Lalloo and Babu Lal started beating Rishi Ram and Rameshwar by lathi and spade. On hue and cry, Mewa lal, his father Punna and his brother Dwarika reached there and tried to prevent accused persons but the accused persons also started beating them and caused injuries to them. Witnesses Murli and Ram Das reached there and saw the incident. He lodged the first information report which is Ext. Ka-1. They were sent to hospital by police where they were medically examined. Injured persons including Rishi Ram were referred to District Hospital. Rishi Ram was more serious, hence, he was referred to Helat Hospital, Kanpur, where he died on 01.08.1988 because of the injuries caused by the accused persons. The witness has also stated about the Panchayat which took place in respect of Chunuwadia, the daughter of Kalloo and Rajwa having illicit relations. The accused persons were suspecting Rishi Ram and Rameshwar were scandalizing Chunuwadia. In cross-examination, he has stated that no injury was caused by spade by Pragi Lal to him. By spade Rameshwar and Dwarika sustained injuries. Punna did not suffer any injury of spade.

10. PW-2 Rameshwar has also supported the statement of PW-1 Mewa Lal and has stated that when he was going for natural call and Rishi Ram was returning back, in front of the door of Sipahi Lal, the accused persons carrying a lathi and accused Pragi Lal with a spade met there and on account of rumour defaming Chunuwadia, they all started beating Rishi Ram. When Mewa Lal, Dwarika and Punna reached there, they were also beaten. Witnesses Murli and Ram Das reached there who saw the incident. The injured persons were taken to hospital, where they were medically examined in Primary Health Centre, Kabrai and thereafter they were sent to District Hospital, Hamirpur. The condition of Rishi Ram was being more serious, hence he was referred to Helat Hospital, Kanpur, where he died. The witness also stated that Murli and Ram Das have come in collusion with the accused persons and they are not prepared to give evidence against them.

There was no incised wound to injured Rameshwar and Dwarika. Similarly, after seeing the postmortem report, the witness has stated during cross-examination that no incised wound is mentioned on the body of Rishi Ram.

PW-4 Surendra Bahadur Singh SI has stated that on 29.07.1988, he was deputed as S.I. in Police Station Kabrai and Case Crime No. 137 of 1988 was registered in his presence and he was assigned investigation on 03.08.1988. He has recorded the statements of witnesses Rameshwar, Dwarika, Punna and Murli and prepared the site-map Ext. Ka-7. On 29.07.1988, he obtained the postmortem report of Rishi Ram and copied the same in the case diary and accordingly an addition of offence under Section 304 I.P.C. was made. He could not get the X-ray report on that date. On 10.10.1988, he recorded the statements of witnesses Ram Das and others and after completing the investigation, he submitted charge sheet. He has also stated that initially investigation was made by S.I. Ram Naresh Yadav and he recorded the statement of informant. The witness has also proved the GD as Ext. Ka-9 by which the offence was modified and chik F.I.R. as Ext. Ka-10 and G.D. report as Ext. Ka-11 have also been proved by him.

18. PW-5 Chandra Shekhar Gautam, Chief Pharmacist has stated that the post-mortem of Rishi Ram was conducted by Dr. S.M. Agarwal in the mortuary of U.H.N. Hospital on 01.08.1988. Dr. S.N. Agarwal has died and since he worked with him and had seen him writing and signing, therefore, he has proved the postmortem report as Ext. Ka-12.

19. From the perusal of postmortem report, it appears that the deceased Rishiram was aged about 43 years. Following ante-mortem injuries were found on the body of deceased:

1. Lacerated wound 2 cm x 2 cm x bone deep present on the right side of scalp in parietal region 5 cm above from left year.

2. Contusion on left eye (blackening) 5 cm x 2.5 cm.

3. Contusion on the right eye 3 cm x 2 cm (blackening).

4. Lacerated wound 1 cm x 0.5 cm on the left forearm 10 cm below elbow joint.

The cause of death has been shown to be shock and hemorrhage resulted because of ante-mortem injuries.

20. PW-6 and I.O. Ram Naresh Yadav has stated that on the date of incident he was given investigation of the offence. He copied the medical report in the case diary and arrested accused Nanna. Thereafter, SI S.B. Singh conducted the investigation. In his cross-examination, the witness has stated that he did not take statement of Chunuwadia.

21. PW-7 Ram Narayan has stated that Rishi Ram died in Helat Hospital and the police of District Kanpur prepared the inquest report and other papers on which he also signed which is Ext. Ka-13.

22. The submission of the learned counsel to the appellants is that all the witnesses examined by the prosecution are interested and related witnesses and none of the independent witnesses has been produced. The motive for the offence is not clear and confusing. On the same evidence, two accused persons have been acquitted. There is only one injury which can be said to be fatal and on vital part resulting in death of the deceased, but the learned trial court has convicted 6 persons for the offence under section 304 I.P.C.. The sentence is too severe. Only Pragilal has been said to be having spade, but he has been convicted for both the offence under section 147 and 148 I.P.C.. It has been also argued that the F.I.R. is delayed for which no explanation has been given by the prosecution.

23. So far as the delay in lodging the F.I.R. is concerned, the learned trial court has found on evidence that the F.I.R. was lodged in 3-4 hours from the time of incident on the same day. The police station was 21 km. away from the place of occurrence and 6 persons were injured of complainant side and they went to police station on bullock-cart. Therefore, the learned trial court rightly concluded that in the facts and circumstances of the case, there was no delay in lodging F.I.R.

24. So far as motive for the offence is concerned, the learned trial court, after clarifying on the basis of statement of PW-1, has pointed out that that the reason for the incident was the illicit relation between Rajawa and Chunuvadiya due to which she was enough scandalized and this brought bad name and frame to her and family. The mention of Chunuvadiya in F.I.R. and the expression 'badnami karni hai' was concluded by the learned trial court that it was not happily worded and it has come in the statement of informant that it was to indicate that the complainant side has scandalized her and it meant 'Chunuvadiya ko badnam kar diya hai' (Chunuvadiya has been scandalized) and in respect of it, a panchayat also took place in the village on the initiation of the accused persons 15 days before. It needs mention that Chunuvadiya is the sister of accused Pragi and it was a rumour in the village that she had illicit relation with accused Rajawa and accused persons believed that rumour has been spreaded by the complainant side in the village. Therefore, on the basis of evidence on record, the learned trial court found that this became a motive for this criminal incident.

25. Moreover, in a case based on direct evidence, the settled law is that existence or proof of motive is not necessary. In Saddik Vs. State of Gujarat, (2016) 10 SCC 663, it has been held that motive is not a sine qua non for the commission of a crime. Moreover, it takes a back seat in a case of direct ocular account of the commission of the offence by a particular person. In a case of direct evidence the element of motive does not play such an important role as to cast any doubt on the credibility of the prosecution witnesses even if there be any doubt raised in this regard. If the eye-witnesses are trustworthy, the motive attributed for the commission of crime may not be of much relevance. Failure to prove motive or absence of evidence on the point of motive would not be fatal to the prosecution case when the other reliable evidence available on record unerringly establishes the guilt of the accused. It is pertinent to mention that where case is based on direct evidence it is not incumbent for the prosecution to allege or prove motive. It can, however, be pointed out that in this case, the motive has been alleged and proved by the prosecution.

26. In the case in hand, the prosecution has examined PW-1 Mewalal and PW-2 Rameshwar who are eye-witnesses and injured witnesses and they have supported the prosecution version and have stated that they saw the whole incident and the accused persons also caused injuries to them. The submission of the learned counsel for the appellant is that both these witnesses are related and highly interested witnesses as they are the brothers of the deceased. The law in this regard is well settled that the testimony of a witness cannot be discredited only on the ground that the witnesses are related or interested. The only requirement is that the testimony of such witness should be scrutinized cautiously and carefully. Thus, In Masalti V. State of U.P. (AIR 1965 SC 202) Supreme Court Observed:

"But it would, we think, be unreasonable to contend that evidence given by witnesses should be discarded only on the ground that it is evidence of partisan or interested witnesses. ... The mechanical rejection of such evidence on the sole ground that it is partisan would invariably lead to failure of justice."

27. The above observation has been affirmingly quoted in subsequent judgments. Thus, for instance, in M.C. Ali v. State of Kerala:: AIR 2010 SC 1639; and Himanshu v. State (NCT of Delhis) (2011) 2 SCC 36: 2011) 1 SCC (Cri) 593, (Bhajan Singh and others Vs. State of Haryana; (2011) 7 SCC 421, it was laid down that evidence of a related witness can be relied upon provided it is trustworthy. Such evidence is required to be carefully scrutinized and appreciated before reaching to a conclusion on the conviction of the accused in a given case.

28. Again in Jayabalan vs. U.T. of Pondicherry; 2010(68) ACC 308 (SC), Jalpat Rai v/s State of Haryana AIR 2011 SC 2719 and Waman v/s State of Maharashtra AIR 2011 SC 3327, it was observed that the over-insistence on witnesses having no relation with the victims often results in criminal justice going away. The testimony of a witness in a criminal trial cannot be discarded merely because the witness is a relative or family member of the victim of the offence. In such a case, court has to adopt a careful approach in analyzing the evidence of such witness and if the testimony of the related witness is otherwise found credible, accused can be convicted on the basis of testimony of such related witness. This view has been reiterated in Shyam Babu Vs. State of UP, AIR 2012 SC 3311, Dhari & Others Vs. State of UP, AIR 2013 SC 308 and Bhagwan Jagannath Markad Vs. State of Maharashtra, (2016) 10 SCC 537.

Recently, in Rupinder Singh Sandhu vs State of Punjab, (2018) 16 SCC 475, it has been reiterated by the supreme court that relationship by itself will not render the witness untrustworthy. It is true that PW-1 and PW-2 are the real brothers of deceased. But, there is nothing in their statements which can create any amount of doubt, although, both have been cross-examination at length on every point very minutely.

29. So far as trustworthiness of the fact witnesses is concerned, it needs to be pertinently mentioned that both these witnesses are injured witnesses and law gives a very high value to a witness who has sustained injury in the same incident. As held in State of Haryana Vs. Krishan, AIR 2017 SC 3125,Mukesh Vs. State for NCT of Delhi & Others, AIR 2017 SC 2161 (Three-Judge Bench), Bhagwan Jagannath Markad Vs. State of Maharashtra, (2016) 10 SCC 537 and Jarnail Singh Vs. State of Punjab, 2009 (6) Supreme 526, deposition of an injured witness should be relied upon unless there are strong grounds for rejection of his evidence on the basis of major contradictions and discrepancies for the reason that his presence on the scene stands established in the case and it is proved that he suffered the injuries during the said incident. Moreover, both the witnesses are illiterate villagers and keeping in view the law laid down in State of U.P. Vs. Chhoteylal, AIR 2011 SC 697, Dimple Gupta (minor) Vs. Rajiv Gupta, AIR 2008 SC 239 the court should keep in mind the rural background and the scenario in which the incident had happened and should not appreciate the evidence from rational angle and discredit the witness's otherwise truthful version on technical grounds.

30. From the statement of doctor who has examined both the witnesses, it is clear that their injuries were possible by the weapons which have been assigned to the accused persons and must have been caused on date and time as alleged by the prosecution.

31. The learned counsel for the appellants has mentioned certain discrepancy and contradiction in the testimony of witnesses with regards to who reached first and who gave how many blows and who caused injuries to whom and the like. It needs to be pointed out that where one person of the same family died on the spot and four other received injuries, in such a horrendous situation, the witnesses are not supposed to be perfectionist to give the exact account of the incident. Some sort of contradiction, improvement, embellishment is bound to occur in the statement. As laid down in State of U.P. v. Naresh; 2011 (75) ACC 215) (SC), in all criminal cases, normal discrepancies are bound to occur in the depositions of witnesses due to normal errors of observation, namely, errors of memory due to lapse of time or due to mental disposition such as shock and horror at the time of occurrence. Minor contradictions, inconsistencies, embellishments or improvements on trivial matters which do not affect the core of the prosecution case, should not be made a ground on which the evidence can be rejected in its entirety. The Court has to form its opinion about the credibility of the witness and record a finding as to whether his deposition inspires confidence.

32. In Gosu Jayarami Reddy and another Vs. State of Andhra Pradesh;

(2011) 3 SCC(Cri) 630, it was observed that Courts need to be realistic in their expectation from the witnesses and go by what would be reasonable based on ordinary human conduct with ordinary human frailties of memory and power to register events and their details. A witness who is terrorized by the brutality of the attack cannot be disbelieved only because in his description of who hit the deceased on what part of the body there is some mix-up or confusion.

33. Further, in Parsu Ram Pandey v/s State of Bihar AIR 2004 SC 5068, Shivappa v. State of Karnataka; AIR 2682, Ramchandaran v/s State of Kerala AIR 2011 SC 3581, it was held that minor discrepancies or some improvements would not justify rejection of the testimonies of the eye-witnesses, if they are otherwise reliable. Some discrepancies are bound to occur because of the sociological background of the witnesses as also the time gap between the date of occurrence and the date on which they give their depositions in Court. In Mukesh Vs. State for NCT of Delhi & Others, AIR 2017 SC 2161 (Three-Judge Bench) and Bhagwan Jagannath Markad Vs. State of Maharashtra, (2016) 10 SCC 53, it was reiterated that minor contradictions in the testimonies of the Prosecution Witness are bound to be there and in fact they go to support the truthfulness of the witnesses.

34. It has been further argued on behalf of the learned counsel to the appellant that no independent witnesses, though alleged in F.I.R., have been examined nor other injured witnesses except PW-1 and PW-2 have been produced by the prosecution. It is true that in the F.I.R., it has been alleged that on hearing noise, witnesses Murali and Ramdas reached there and their name finds mention in the charge-sheet. In respect of these witnesses, PW-1 and PW-2 have stated that they are not prepared to give evidence in support and they are in collusion with the accused persons. In such circumstances if they have not been examined, it will have no effect on prosecution case.

35. In Mukesh v State for NCT of Delhi & Others, AIR 2017 SC 2161, Bhagwan Jagannath Markad v State of Maharashtra, (2016) 10 SCC 537 and Hukum Singh v State of Rajasthan, 2001 CrLJ 511 (SC), the Supreme Court has explained the law on this point and has laid down that if a witness examined in the court is otherwise found reliable and trustworthy, the fact sought to be proved by that witness need not be further proved through other witnesses though there may be other witnesses available who could have been examined but were not examined. Non-examination of material witness is not a mathematical formula for discarding the weight of the testimony available on record however natural, trustworthy and convincing it may be. It is settled law that non-examination of eye-witness cannot be pressed into service like a ritualistic formula for discarding the prosecution case with a stroke of pen. Court can convict an accused on statement of sole witness even if he is relative of the deceased and non examination of independent witness would not be fatal to the case of prosecution. It has been further laid down in Dharnidhar Vs. State of U.P, (2010) 7 SCC 759 that non- examination of independent eye witnesses is inconsequential if the witness was won over or terrorised by the accused. In Hukum Singh (supra), the Supreme Court expressed following view:

"If there are too many witnesses on the same point the Public Prosecutor is at liberty to choose two or some among them alone so that the time of the Court can be saved from repetitious depositions on the same factual aspects. That principle applies when there are too many witnesses cited if they all had sustained injuries at the occurrence. The Public Prosecutor in such cases is not obliged to examine all the injured witnesses. If he is satisfied by examining any two or three of them, it is open to him to inform the Court that he does not propose to examine the remaining persons in that category. This will help not only the prosecution for relieving itself of the strain of adducing repetitive evidence on the same point but also helps the Court considerably in lessening the workload. Time has come to make every effort possible to lessen the workload, particularly those Courts crammed with cases, but without impairing the cause of justice."

36. Another submission is in respect of cause of death of Rishiram as in paper no 18A, it has been reported by the Helat Hospital that his death occurred due to sudden cardiac respiratory arrest. It is a routine communication made by the Hospital to the police for necessary action as the deceased was referred and brought in critical condition accompanied by Dr. Bajpayee in the Hospital where he died during treatment because of head injury. In postmortem report it has been mentioned that the cause of death was shock and hemorrhage resulted because of ante-mortem injuries. A person who has suffered serious injuries on his head resulting in fracture and is sent for better treatment in attendance of a doctor and dies during treatment there, falsifies the argument of appellant as it cannot be concluded that he died not because of injuries but died his natural death. The learned trial court has very rightly rejected this argument and has concluded that death of deceased occurred because of injuries caused to him in the criminal incident.

37. It has been further submitted that non of the injuries sustained by the deceased can be said to have been caused by spade and therefore, the participation of accused Pragi Lal is doubtful. From the perusal of the postmortem report it appears that 4 ante-mortem injuries have been found on the body of Rishipal- two lacerated wound and two contusion. Prior to his death, he was also examined by the doctor and his medical report Ext. Ka-2 is on record in which at least one injury has been found to be caused by sharp weapon. The said injury reads- "Incised would 1.5 cm. X 0.5 cm. X 0.2 cm. on left forearm in the middle and on the outer side, 12 cm. below the left joint elbow. Clean cut, fresh and slant." Moreover, it has been rightly concluded by the learned trial court that, in such situation where a number of accused persons have attacked with lathi, spade could have been used in both manner- like blunt object and also like a sharp weapon. The participation of accused Pragi Lal has been also found to have been established in view of the fact that some of the other injured persons have sustained crushed injuries and after a logical discussion, on the basis of size, shape and impact of injuries, the learned trial court has given a finding that those injuries were possible by a spade when used by the reverse side like a heavy blunt object. Therefore, I find no force in this argument.

38. The learned counsel for the appellant has submitted that as many as 8 persons have been roped by prosecution who have been alleged to have caused injuries to the deceased and injured persons, but, the number of injuries found is not so to indicate that so many persons were involved in the commission of the offence. In this incident, 5 persons have sustained injuries and the total number of injuries including the injuries of the deceased are 27. The learned trial court has scruitnised the evidence on record and has arrived at a conclusion that in such kind of cases where the accused persons are assaulting by lathi except Pragi Lal who assaulted by spade, there remains always a possibility that some of the assault may be missed and by some assaults, visible injuries may not be sustained. Moreover, causing injuries to five persons including death of one in the same incident and total number of injuries being 27, is quite in consonance with the numbers of the accused persons. As such, the learned trial court rejected the contentions of the appellant on this point. I find myself in total agreement with the finding recorded by the learned trial court.

39. The plea of defence of false implication on account of enmity and family dispute has been rightly disbelieved by the learned trial court in absence of any cogent evidence. Moreover, these accused persons, except accused Pragi Lal, were close relatives and family members. Accused Pragi Lal is also closely associated with them in view of Chunuvadiya episode who was his sister. There is no reason why accused persons will be falsely implicated by complainant side. Their involvement and participation has been proved by injured eye-witnesses and despite detailed cross-examination, nothing has come out to create any suspicion on prosecution version. This finding also finds support by the fact that the crime took place in front of the house of accused persons. Both the side belong to same village and locality and their presence during occurrence at the place is natural.

40. It is pertinent to mention that the convicted appellants have been tried for the offence under section 302 I.P.C. and have been convicted for the offence under section 304 Part II. On the basis of above discussion, to put it in simple terms. The Indian Penal Code recognizes three degrees of culpable homicide namely, (1) culpable homicide of the first degree, a gravest form of culpable homicide which is defined under section 300 as murder, (2) culpable homicide of the second degree, a lower or lessor form of homicide not amounting to murder as defined in section 299, punishable under the first part of section 304 and (3) culpable homicide of the third degree, a lowest type of culpable homicide, punishable under the second part of section 304. The appellants have been convicted by the learned trial court under the category of lowest type of culpable homicide and have been sentenced accordingly for the reason that the trial court found that the accused persons intended to give lesson to complainant side because of Chunuvadiya episode. Moreover, no deadly weapon was arranged and the accused persons were carrying bamboo stick and one was having a spade which is more an agriculture tool rather than weapon.

41. There is yet another submission and it has been submitted that accused

Pragi Lal has been said to carry spade and to have caused injury. The learned trial court has not only framed charge against him for both the offence under section 147 and section 148 I.P.C., but has also convicted for both the offences. The learned counsel to the appellant has argued that the conviction under both section is not possible and the accused could only be convicted for the either offence. Section 147 incorporates punishment for simple rioting whereas, section 148 provides punishment for offence of rioting by a person armed with deadly weapon. The offence of 'Rioting' has been defined by section 146 of the Indian Penal Code as below:

"146. Rioting- Whenever force or violence is used by an unlawful assembly, or by any member thereof, in prosecution of the common object of such assembly, every member of such assembly is guilty of the offence of rioting."

42. The use of force and violence by unlawful assembly constituted by the accused persons is very much established in this instant case. In Sunder Singh v The State, AIR 1955 All 232 and Barendra Kumar v State of Assam 1978 Cri LJ (noc) 90 (Gauhati), it has been clarified that where offence has been committed by a member of unlawful assembly, the persons having deadly weapon, shall be punished for the offence under section 148 and others not carrying deadly weapon, shall be punished under section 147. In this case, accused Pragi Lal was having spade which was a deadly weapon and being member of unlawful assembly, committed the offence. As such, his act constituted an offence of rioting committed with spade, a deadly weapon, and that is punishable under section 148. Therefore, a charge under section 147 I.P.C. was unnecessarily framed against accused Pragi Lal, and if framed, he could not be convicted and sentenced for the same and could only be punished for the offence under section 148 I.P.C.. In view of this, the conviction and sentence of Accused Pragi Lal for the offence under section 147 I.P.C. is not sustainable and is liable to be set aside.

43. From the above discussion, I am of the considered view that the learned trial court has rightly concluded that the prosecution has been able to prove the charges beyond shadow of any doubt. Excluding the accused persons who have been acquitted, the number of the convicted accused persons/appellants has been 6 and 2 eyewitnesses who were injured in the same incident have stated the whole incident in a very natural and spontaneous way. It has been established that the accused persons were present at the place of occurrence with bamboo stick and one Pragi lal with spade in a planned way. It has come in the evidence that when PW-2 and deceased reached on spot, all the accused persons entered into a short conversation regarding Chunuvadiya and thereafter started beating them. On noise, other injured persons of the family of deceased reached there and they were also beaten by the accused persons. It goes to establish that the accused persons formed an unlawful assembly with common object to commit offence by causing injuries to complainant side. It is also clear that the F.I.R. for the occurrence was lodged without any delay and even if for the sake of argument there was any delay, the same stands reasonably explained by the prosecution witnesses and in the facts and circumstances of the case. The injuries found on the body of the deceased person namely Rishiram and other injured persons find support from the medical evidence and from the postmortem report by which the date and time of causing the injuries and death is very much corroborated. Medical evidence clearly indicates that because of injuries caused by the accused persons, Rishiram died. The place of occurrence has been fully established. There is no substantial contradiction or discrepancies in the evidence of the prosecution and some of the minor contradiction and discrepancies which have been discussed above goes to establish the reliability of the witnesses and that also shows that they are not tutored. Thus, the witnesses examined by prosecution are natural, credible and trustworthy. There appears to be no infirmity in the evidence of eyewitnesses who are injured witnesses also, on the basis of which their ocular testimony could be discarded. The conviction recorded by the learned trial court is legal and absolutely justified.

44. It has been further argued that the sentence awarded by the learned trial court is too severe in the facts and circumstances of the case. The learned trial court has awarded 6 months for the offence under section 147, whereas, the punishment under this section could extend for two years. The same sentence has been awarded under section 148, while the maximum sentence provided under law is 3 years. One year punishment has been provided under section 323 I.P.C. and the learned trial court has awarded sentence of 6 months. Therefore, the sentence awarded for these offence appears to be appropriate, proportionate and reasonable and I find no force in the argument of the learned counsel in respect of offence under section 147,148,323/149 I.P.C..

45. So far as the sentence awarded for the offence under section 304 Part II is concerned, the learned trial court has awarded sentence of 10 years rigorous imprisonment. Section 304 Part II provides a maximum sentence of ten years. It means that maximum sentence has been awarded by the learned trial court for this offence. The learned trial court while hearing on sentence, has mentioned that it was first offence of accused persons, they had no criminal antecedent and they committed offence due to social circumstances. It has not been mentioned anywhere the reasons why it thought necessary to award maximum sentence when the finding was recorded that the death was caused without intention to cause death. This instant appeal pertains to a crime which took place in the year 1988 and the appeal itself is of the year 1996. I find that in State of Karnataka v Bhaskar Kushali Kotharkar, AIR 2004 SC 4333, sentence of 7 years has been reduced to 5 years and in Ananta Deb Singha Mahapatra v State of WB, AIR 2007 SC 2524, sentence of 8 years has been reduced to 6 years by the Supreme Court for the offence under section 304 Part II. Therefore, the sentence awarded by the learned trial court being maximum, if reduced to 7 years, the same will be proportionate in view of the nature of culpability.

44. Amongst the appellants, one appellant Sipahi has died during the pendency of this appeal and his appeal has been already abated.

45. In view of the above discussion, I find no illegality or perversity in the impugned judgment so far as finding of conviction is concerned. As concluded above, the sentence of accused Pragi Lal for the offence under section 147 I.P.C. is set aside. The sentence under section 147, 323/149 I.P.C. of convicted appellants Rajwa, Shiva Narain, Babu Lal, and Lalloo and sentence of accused Pragi Lal for the offence under section 148, 323/149 I.P.C. is upheld. The sentence of convicted appellants Rajwa, Shiva Narain, Babu Lal, Lalloo and Pragi Lal under section 304 Part II I.P.C. is reduced to seven years. The default sentence in lieu of fine as awarded by the learned trial court for the above offences will remain undisturbed. As directed in the impugned judgment, all the sentences shall run concurrently and the period already undergone by convicted appellant shall be adjusted against the awarded sentence.

46. With the aforesaid modification, this criminal appeal is finally disposed of.

47. The appellants Rajwa, Shiva Narain, Babu Lal, Lalloo and Pragi Lal to surrender before the concerned court forthwith to be sent to jail to undergo the sentence.

48. The office is directed to return the lower court record to the concerned court along with a certified copy of the judgment for information and necessary compliance.

A. Criminal Law - Indian Penal Code, 1860 – conviction - Section 302 IPC , Section 324 IPC (Voluntary causing hurt by dangerous weapons or means) read with Section 34 IPC (Acts done by several persons in furtherance of common intention) - the time of death of the deceased mentioned in the FIR appears to be doubtful - Presence of rigor mortis by itself cannot be decisive of the time of death - prosecution failed to discharge its burden regarding the incident in dispute - it has failed to prove the injury nos. 5, 6 and 7 on the body of the deceased – held - the motive of crime set up by the prosecution was not convincing. (Para 41,42 & 43)

The incident in dispute is doubtful appears convincing from the testimony of P.W.-1. - The statement of P.W.-1 that he did not went to the police station directly but he went to the house of his uncle, and thereafter, he went to lodge the FIR shows that the FIR was lodged by the P.W.-1 after due deliberation with his uncle - rigor mortis sets in and reaches the 'extremities' at the end and that it follows the same pattern both in the matter of appearance and disappearance - Presence of rigor mortis by itself cannot be decisive of the time of death - It is true that on the basis of presence of rigor mortis, no opinion can be given with mathematical precision regarding the time of death - The process of appearance and disappearance of rigor mortis may take relatively shorter and longer time depending on various factors like temperature, season, etc., of the place of death. (Para 34, 36, 38, 39 & 40)

Held: - The prosecution has failed to establish the alleged crime against the appellants

beyond reasonable doubt -The appellants are acquitted of the charges. (Para 44)

The prosecution case is that Ram Kishore, informant, lodged the first information report at Police station-Jaitipur, on 11.03.1982 at 07:15 am stating that his grandfather, Anokhe Lal, had illicit relationship with Smt. Prema, widow of Khushali. Khushali was elder uncle (tau) of co-accused, Sia Ram. After death of Khushali, Smt. Prema had been living in his house and she transferred 20 bighas of land of her share to Anokhe Lal. She died about 7 years back. Ever since her death, co-accused, Sia Ram wanted to get back the aforesaid land back but he could not get possession of the same. Due to the above motive yesterday i.e., 10.03.1982, at about 3:00 pm, when the informant was going along with his uncle, Gendan Lal and Nanku, to village- Kota on the eve of Holi, co-accused, Sia Ram, armed with gun, his brother, Ram Chander, armed with country made pistol and Jaduvir, armed with kanta, came out of the house of Sia Ram. When they reached the door of Sia Ram he fired at his uncle, Gendan Lal, with his gun. When his uncle fell down, Jaduvir attacked him on his legs with a kanta and Ram Chander fired from his country made pistol on his right ear. Sia Ram hit him with the butt of the gun on his head also and Gendan Lal died.

4. Inquest report and site plan were prepared, blood stained earth was taken from the spot and thereafter post mortem report of the body of Gendan Lal was conducted by Doctor Aslam Khan. After due investigation charge-sheet was submitted against the appellants and co-accused, Sia Ram, who died during pendency of trial.

5. Accused-appellant no. 1, Ram Chander, was charged under Section 302 IPC and 324 IPC read with Section 34 IPC. Accused-appellant no. 2, Jaduvir, was charged under Section 302/34 IPC and 324 IPC.

6. Prosecution examined, P.W.-1, Ram Kishore, the informant; P.W.-2, Nanku; P.W.3, S.I. Kali Shanker Tiwari, Investigating Officer; P.W.-4, Dr. Mohd. Aslam Kamal Khan, who conducted the post-mortem of deceased Gendan Lal and P.W.-5, Constable, Asif Husain, who brought the sealed dead body of deceased for post-mortem along with the papers.

7. P.W.-1, Ram Kishore, deposed that deceased, Gendan Lal, was his uncle. Name of his father was Kunwar Bahadur. Co-accused, Sia Ram, has died. Ram Chander, is real brother of deceased co-accused, Sia Ram. Accused-appellant no. 2, Jaduvir is real nephew of Ram Chander. Khushali was uncle of Ram Chander and Sia Ram. Smt. Prema was widow of Khusali. His grandfather, Anokhey Lal, has illicit relation with Smt. Prema. After death of her husband, she began to live with Anokhey Lal in his house. Smt. Prema transferred her share of 20 bighas of land in the name of Anokhey Lal. Smt. Prema died about 8 years back. Co-accused, Sia Ram, wanted to get back that land, which was transferred by Smt. Prema. As Sia Ram could not get possession over that land, hence accuseds had enmity with them. About one year, 10 months back at 3 pm, he alongwith deceased, Gendan Lal and Nanku, were going to village- Kota in connection with Holi Milan. When they reached at the door of Sia Ram, deceased co-accused, he was armed with a country-made gun, Jaduvir had a kanta and Ram Chander was armed with a pistol. Sia Ram fired with the gun at his uncle, Gendan Lal. Ram Chander fired with the pistol and Jaduvir attacked him with the kanta. Sia Ram attacked with the butt of the gun also on the head of the deceased and due to injuries inflicted his uncle died.

8. In his cross-examination P.W.-1 stated that his father were five brothers, namely, Rajaram, Ramnath, Gendan Lal, Ram Sewak and Kunwar Bahadur. His father, Kunwar Bahadur, was murdered in dacoity. Brother of accused, Sia Ram, Hemraj, was murdered prior to the present murder of Gendan Lal. In the murder trial of Hemraj, he and his uncle Ram Sewak are accuseds. The trial is still pending. Wife of Ram Chandra is the witness and mother of Jaduvir is also a witness in the trial. He stated that his uncle, Ram Nath, was murdered in Saraiyaganj. In the aforesaid murder Ram Singh and Chote were tried. In suggestion he denied that the deceased, Gendan Lal, was tried in the murder of Mahesh. He also denied implication of deceased, Gendan Lal, in dacoity in the house of Lallu Singh. He also denied implication of deceased, Gendan Lal, in the theft case at Sraiyaganj before trial court. He further stated that he wrote the application for lodging FIR in his house where no one were present. Raja Ram was near the dead body of Gendan Lal and his uncle, Nanku, was also there. All the other people were near the dead body of the deceased but he was in the house. He did not slept in the night and started for police station at 4:00 - 4:30 a.m on foot. Police Station is 6 kos away. First he went to village Padainiya where his uncle (fufa), Pothi Ram resides, and after taking him from his house and he went to the police station. Jaitipur is too kos away from Padainiya. He specifically denied that the report was lodged on the next day of the incident.

9. P.W.-2, Nanku, stated in his statement that he is resident of village Gauhaniya and deceased, Gendan Lal, was his cousin (mausera bhai). At the time of incident he was residing in village Jhabra along with deceased. His murder took place at 3:00 pm when he was going to village Kota for meeting people on the eve of holi from the passage passing through the house of Sia Ram. As soon as they reached the gate of house of Sia Ram the accuseds, Sia Ram, Ramchandra and Jaduvir came out from their house. Sia Ram had gun, Ram Chandra had a country made pistol and Jaduvir was having a kanta. Sia Ram stated that he will let them enjoy the taste of cultivating the land of his aunt today and thereafter he threw a challenge. Gendan Lal, turned back after raising his arms and then Sia Ram fired at him which hit him below the arm pit and he fell down. Ram Chandra fired at his right ear and Jaduvir gave blow of kanta on his right leg. Sia Ram hit Gendan Lal on his head by the barrel of the gun. He along with Ram Kishore cried for help but no one came. He went and saw Gendan Lal who had died. On account of fear he and the informant did not went anywhere. His brother, Raja Ram was weak and therefore he was living with him in his village.

10. In his cross-examination, P.W.-2 stated that he does not knows how much land did Raja Ram had. He further stated that Rajaram had about 60, 70 bighas of land which was joint. There were two other persons to work, apart from Raja Ram. He has land of about 40-50 bighas in village Gauhaniya. He admitted in cross-examination that he was not doing the ploughing, planting and harvesting of the land of Raja Ram. He does not knows how much land Raja Ram has in the village. He admitted that his village is 10-11 kos away and 1.5 miles are equal to one kos. At the time of incident Gendan Lal was 3-4 steps ahead to him. Sia Ram fired at him immediately after coming out of the gate. After firing Sia Ram did not run away nor the informant, Ram Kishore ran. Gendan Lal suffered injuries. Neither the informant nor he suffered any injury. Sia Ram did not attacked them. Deceased fell down infront of the house of Ram Bharose. He did not lifted him. Since he was empty handed he did not made any effort to defend him. He further stated that he informed the investigating officer that injuries of kanta was caused on the left leg and right feet of the deceased. Deceased fell in the middle of the passage. After Gendan Lal fell the ladies of his house came. Neither the informant nor he had any talk with the ladies. He and Raja Ram remained with the dead body till it was lying there and it was only after it was sealed and taken away by the police that they left. He does not knows Pothi Ram. He was not the witness of inquest report. At the time of inquest Ram Kishore was there. He does not remembers who were signatories of inquest report. He denied that signature of Ram Kishore was taken before him on the inquest report. The dead body was sealed at 12:00- 12:30 pm. After it was taken away in bullock-cart he went alone. He denied that Gendan Lal was involved in any criminal case regarding theft, dacoity, gangster, etc. He also denied any such involvement of Ram Kishore, the informant. He denied that he has not seen the incident and is falsely deposing before the court.

11. P.W.-3, Kali Shanker Tiwari, deposed that on basis of report Ext. Ka-1, head constable Bani Singh executed chick which is Ext. Ka-2, copy of G.D. No. 7, 7:15 am dated 11.03.1982 executed by the said constable is Ext. Ka-3. He took the statements of the witnesses and reached the place of occurrence. He took the dead body of deceased, Gendan Lal, in his possession, executed panchnama, Ext. Ka-4, prepared photo of deed body, chalan of dead body and specimen of seal and letters to the C.M.O. and R.I. which are Ext. Ka-5, Ka-6, Ka-7, Ka-8 and Ka-9. He sealed the dead body and handed over sealed dead body and relevant papers for post-mortem to constable, Asif Husain, and village- Chaukidar Rahwari. He prepared site plan, Ext. Ka-10. From the place of occurrence, he took in possession shoes of deceased and plain earth and blood stained earth and prepared the memos which are Ext. Ka-11 and Ka-12. Shoes are Ext. 13. Blood stained earth is Ext. 2 and plain earth is Ext. 3. After investigation, he filed charge sheet Ext. Ka-14.

12. Dr. Mohd. Aslam Kamal Khan, P.W.-4, deposed that on 12.03.1982 at 4:30 pm he conducted the post-mortem of Gendan Lal who was brought by constable, Asif Husain and Chaukidar Rahwari. Seal was intact. Dead body was identified by the above mentioned constable and Chaukidar. Duration of the death of the deceased was about 2 days. Rigor mortis had passed off from the upper portion and was passing from lower portion.

13. Ante-mortem injuries on the dead body of the deceased were following:-

(1) Incised wound on the dorsum of right foot 10cm x 1.5 cm x bone deep.

(2) Incised wound of 3.5cm x 1 cm on left leg in the middle 1/5 of the leg.

(3) Gunshot wound of enterance 6 cm circular x chest cavity deep, margins lacerated and inverted, on the right side of the chest lower part 12 cm (sic) and lateral to the right nipple at 8 o'clock position. Blackenning and tattooing present around the wound.

(4) Gunshot wound of enterance 3 cm circular x brain cavity deep on the right side of the skull just behind the right ear. No blackenning and tattooing.

(5) Incised would 4 cm x 1 cm x cranial cavity deep 5 cm about right ear.

(6) Incised wound 10 cm x 0.5 cm x cranial cavity deep on the top of skull in sagettal place 9 cm above the injury nos. 5 and 7.

(7) Wound 4 cm x 1 cm x cranial cavity deep on the front of the skull 6cm away from the bridge of the nose. Bones fractured under the wounds.

14. On internal examination, he found that stomach contained 100 grams food particles, not recognizable. Gall bladder was empty. In small intestines digested food was found. According to him death was due to shock and haemorrhage. He deposed that time of death may be at about 3 pm. On 10.03.1982. Dr. also deposed that injury nos. 3 and 4 are possible by gun and pistol and injuries nos. 1, 2, 5, 6 and 7 are possible by kanta.

15. Accused, Ram Chander, deposed under Section 313 Cr.P.C. that informant killed his brother. At the time of incident, informant, Ram Kishore and his uncle, Ram Sewak, were accuseds in a case regarding death of his brother, Hemraj, due to which he has been falsely implicated, so that he could not do pairavi of that case.

16. Jaduvir, deposed under Section 313 Cr.P.C., that informant, Ram Kishore and his uncle, Ram Sewak, killed his uncle, Hemraj. He and his mother are witnesses in that case. Therefore, he has been falsely implicated in this case.

17. Accused did not produced any oral evidence in defence.

18. The accuseds filed copy of the charge sheet in the Case Crime No. 95, under Sections 302, 307/34 IPC, Police Station- Jaitipur (State vs. Raja Ram, Sita Ram and Hemraj) of the court of II-Additional Sessions in Sessions Trial No. 30/1981 (State vs. Raja Ram and others) under Sections 395 IPC, Police Station-Jaitipur and judgment of the IInd Additional Sessions Judge, Sri R.G. Gupta, in Sessions Trial No. 30 of 1981, copy of the charge sheet in Crime No. 101 under Sections- 148, 147, 149, 342, 364, 302, 20 IPC, Police Station- Jaitipur, (State vs. Raja Ram and others).

19. This court vide order dated 13.08.2018 appointed Sri Rahul Mishra, Advocate as Amicus Curaie to assist the court on behalf of appellants since no one was appearing to argue the appeal on behalf of the appellants.

20. He has firstly submitted that the appellants have been falsely implicated in this case. Their presence on the scene of occurrence is doubtful and not proved from the evidence on record. The testimony of P.W.-1 is not worth credence since he has deposed before the court that deceased, Gendan Lal, was done to death before him and he made no effort to save him. He made no effort of lifting him from the spot with the help of Nanku, P.W.-2. He did not even touched the deceased to ascertain whether he is alive or not. He has only stated that he raised the alarm for help but no one came. It has been stressed that the conduct of the informant is not normal since as soon as Gendan Lal fell he along with P.W.2 presumed that he has died and their conduct shows that neither P.W.-1 nor P.W.-2 were present on the spot. P.W.-2 has also admitted that where the deceased fell he remained there and he did not lifted him or tried to save him by taking him to doctor.

21. In support of his argument, learned Amicus Curaie has further stated that there was prior enmity between the family of the deceased and the accuseds. P.W.-1 has stated in his cross-examination that his father were five brothers, namely, Rajaram, Ramnath, Gendan Lal, Ram Sewak and Kunwar Bahadur. His father Kunwar Bahadur was murdered in dacoity. Brother of co-accused, Sia R
7. am, Hemraj, was murdered prior to the murder of Gendan Lal. In the murder trial of Hemraj he and his uncle Ram Sewak are accuseds. The trial is still pending. Wife of Ram Chander is the witness and mother of Jaduvir is also a witness in the trial. He has further submitted that his uncle, Ram Nath, was murdered in Saraiyaganj. In the aforesaid murder Ram Singh and Chote were tried. In suggestion he denied that the deceased, Gendan Lal, was tried in the murder of Mahesh. He also denied implication of deceased, Gendan Lal, in dacoity in the house of Lallu Singh. He also denied implication of deceased, Gendan Lal, in the theft case at Sraiyaganj before trial court. The accuseds filed the documentary evidence regarding the criminal cases pending against the family members of P.W.-1 but the trial court has not considered the documentary evidences filed by the accuseds.

22. It has been submitted that the deceased was murdered by unknown person/persons in the night of 10.03.1982 and since there was a criminal trial pending regarding the murder of brother of Sia Ram, Hemraj. Wife of Hemraj and mother of appellant, Jaduvir are witnesses in the case and P.W.-1 was in the need of defending himself and his uncle, Ram Sewak, in the aforesaid trial thereafter he falsely implicated the deceased, Sia Ram and appellants, who are the brother and nephew of Sia Ram respectively and by the same relation brother and nephew of deceased, Hemraj.

23. By implicating the appellants and deceased Sia Ram in the murder of Gendan Lal, the informant succeeded in presurizing the appellants in the trial of murder of Hemraj.

24. The second submissions made by learned Amicus Curaie is that the FIR was lodged showing incorrect time of death of the deceased and therefore the prosecution case has wrongly been believed by the trial court. He has elaborated that P.W.-1 and P.W.-2, both have stated in their statements that the murder of Gendan Lal took place at 3:00 pm on 10.03.1982. Both the witnesses have stated that on account of fear they did not went to the police station on the same day to lodge the FIR. P.W.-1 has stated that in the morning of 11.03.1982 he went to lodge the FIR at 4:00 to 4:30 am in the morning from his village by foot. Police Station is about 6 kos from his village. He had written the application in the night. He did not went directly to the police station- Jaitipur. He first went to village Padiniya where his uncle (fufa), Pothi Ram, resides and thereafter he went to the police station along with his uncle, Pothi Ram.

25. Learned Amicus Curaie has pointed out to the post mortem report and the statement of P.W.-4, Dr. Mohd, Aslam, wherein it has been stated that at the time of post mortem of the deceased on 12.03.1982 at 4:30 pm. rigor mortis on the upper part of the body of the deceased had passed off, while in the lower part it was passing off. He has submitted that if the murder of the deceased took place at 3:00 pm on 10.03.1982 there was no reason for the rigor mortis not to have passed off completely over the body of the deceased at the time of post-mortem after more than 48 hours of the murder of the deceased.

26. He has submitted that the trial court has not examined this aspects while dealing with the contentions of the defence. He has further submitted that P.W.-1 and P.W.-2 both have stated that they did not went to lodge FIR on the date of incident because of fear. However, P.W.-1 has not stated how he went alone to lodge the FIR at 4:00 to 4:30 am on foot when the accuseds were absconding. He has submitted that the explanation of delay in lodging of the FIR was not convincing and the court below has wrongly accepted the same. The murder of the deceased took place sometimes in the night of 10.11.1982 and the first information report was lodged next day at 07:15 am before the police station by falsely implicating the appellants and Sia Ram. The medical evidence does not supports the time of death mentioned in the FIR as 3:00 pm on 10.03.1982. He has further pointed out that the FIR was lodged after consultation with Pothi Ram, uncle of P.W.-1. In his statement P.W.-1 has admitted that he first went to Pothi Ram and after taking him along went to lodge the F.I.R. at police station.

27. The third submissions made by the learned Amicus Curaie is that the prosecution case cannot be said to have been proved keeping in view the statement of the doctor, P.W.-4 wherefrom it is clear that there is no explanation of injury nos. 5, 6 and 7 mentioned in the statement of the doctor.

28. From the statement of P.W.-1 and P.W.-2 it is clear that there was no injury of kanta caused on the head, ear and skull of the deceased. Injury nos. 5, 6 and 7 are such injuries which were not alleged by the prosecution either in the FIR or in the statements of the witnesses. He has further pointed out that in the anti-mortem injuries mentioned by the trial court the injury no. 7 has been mixed with injury no. 6 when injury no. 7 is different from injury no. 6. It is incised wound 4 cm x 1 cm cranial cavity deep, 6 cm away from nose bridge. He has pointed out that the prosecution was required to explain the injuries noted above which has not been explained. It casts doubt over the prosecution case.

29. The final submission of the learned Amicus Curaie is that the motive of crime alleged is not convincing. The disputed transfer of 20 bighas of land by Smt. Prema, widow of Khushali, was done by her in favour of Anokhe Lal about 7 years back. Thereafter, no litigation, civil or revenue, or even a petty dispute ever took place between the family of Sia Ram and the appellants. Therefore, the motive of the crime set up by the prosecution is not correct. No evidence was led before the Court that after the transfer of the aforesaid land by Smt. Prema any dispute ever took place between the two families. How all of a sudden Sia Ram and the appellants caused the murder of only Gendan Lal, when the informant, Ram Kishore, who also belonged to the family of Anokhey Lal and was also beneficiary of the land of Smt. Prema, was not harmed at all by Sia Ram and the appellants. He has submitted that the motive of crime set up by the prosecution was false and had been wrongly believed by the court below.

30. Learned A.G.A. has submitted that the first submission of learned Amicus Curaie is misconceived since P.W.-1 was very much present on the scene of occurrence and he has given exact description of the incident as it occurred. There were only 4 to 5 families left in the village and therefore when he raised the alarm no one came for his help. The village was not well populated and therefore no one could hear his cry for help. He has further submitted that mere non-causing of any injury to P.W.-1 and P.W.-2 does not implies that they were not present on the scene of occurrence. The motive of implication of the appellants only because of the mother of appellant, Jaduvir and wife of Hemraj being witness in the murder case of Hemraj, cannot be said to be correct. The reason for implication of the appellants was the dispute regarding the land which was given to the father of Gendan Lal by elder aunt of Sia Ram and appellants and Sia Ram were trying to get back the possession of the same.

31. Regarding the second submissions made by learned Amicus Curaie, learned A.G.A. has submitted that the time of death of the deceased was not incorrect. The first information report disclosed the correct time of death of the deceased, Gendan Lal, at 3:00 p.m. on 10.03.1982. Both the witnesses have testified the aforesaid time of death of the deceased and it cannot be disputed in appeal when the trial court has also accepted the same as correct. He has not given any reply to the argument of the learned Amicus Curaie that the rigor mortis was passing on the lower part of the body on 12.03.1982 at 4:30 p.m., when the post-mortem was conducted.

32. Regarding the third submissions of the learned Amicus Curaie that there was no explanation for injury nos. 5, 6 and 7 in the statements of P.W.-1 and P.W.-2, the learned A.G.A. has also not been able to give any cogent reply.

33. Regarding the final submission of the learned Amicus Curaie, that Smt. Prema, transferred 20 bighas of land in favour of Anokhey Lal, father of the deceased and therefore Sia Ram and appellants were aggrieved and they killed Gendan Lal and that the land in dispute was not the motive of crime committed by the appellants, the learned A.G.A. has submitted that there was no other motive of the crime except the land dispute because Sia Ram and the appellants were deprived of their 20 bighas of valuable land on account of the execution of sale deed by Smt. Prema in favour of Anokhey Lal, father of the deceased, Gendan Lal, therefore, they caused the murder of Gendan Lal.

34. After hearing the rival contentions, this court finds that the first submission of the learned Amicus Curaie, that the incident in dispute is doubtful appears convincing from the testimony of P.W.-1. It is clear that when he along with the deceased, who was his real uncle, were passing from the house of Sia Ram and the appellants, they suddenly came out armed with the alleged weapons and all of them attacked only the deceased, Gendan Lal. Not a scratch was caused to P.W.-1, who was the real nephew of the deceased. After Gendan Lal fell down, P.W.-1 not even touched the deceased to ascertain whether his life can be saved nor he made any effort to lift him with the help of P.W.-2, Nanku, for taking him to any doctor. He simply presumed that Gendan Lal is now dead. P.W.-2 has stated in his statement that he along with P.W.-1 remained with the dead body till it was lifted by the police and taken for post-mortem at about 12-12:30 p.m., but P.W.-1 has deposed that he went to his house soon after the murder of Gendan Lal and remained there. Other members of family were with the dead body. He did not slept in the night and left for the police station, after writing the application in the night at around 4:00 to 4:30 p.m. on 11.03.1982. The statement of P.W.-1 that he did not went to the police station directly but he went to the house of his uncle, Pothi Ram, and thereafter, he went to lodge the FIR shows that the FIR was lodged by the P.W.-1 after due deliberation with Pothi Ram.

35. From the statement of P.W.-1 it has also come on record that the deceased had criminal history and was involved in number of cases of theft, dacoity, etc. Documentary evidence in this regard was placed before the trial court by the appellants but the trial court has not adverted to the same nor has recorded any finding for not considering the same. The argument advanced that in the murder of the brother of Sia Ram, Hemraj, Ram Sewak, uncle of P.W.-1 and P.W-1 himself were accuseds therefore the appellants were falsely implicated in order to pressurize the witnesses in the family of the appellants from deposing against Ram Sewak in the trial appears to have force. The FIR has been lodged after more than 12 hours of the incident and there was sufficient time for planning with the P.W.-1 to implicate the appellants and Sia Ram. By implicating the appellants and Sia Ram, P.W.-1 succeeded in pressurizing them to depose favorably in the trial of Hemraj. He got Sia Ram and the appellants falsely implicated thus.

36. The second argument made by learned Amicus Curaie has not been answered by the learned A.G.A., however, a perusal of the statement of P.W.-2 shows that the rigor mortis on the dead body of the deceased had passed from the upper portion of the body and was passing off from the lower part.

37. In view of the controversy at the Bar we have consulted, apart from Modi's Medical Jurisprudence and Toxicology, Taylor's Principles and Practice of Medical Jurisprudence and Jhala & Raju's Medical Jurisprudence (by Dr. R. K. Jhala and V. B. Raju). It would be useful to refer to the opinion of the learned authors as follows. Modi in his Medical Jurisprudence (21 st Edition at page 171) writes, Rigor mortis first appears in the involuntary muscles and then in the voluntary muscles. In the voluntary muscles rigor mortis follows a definite course. It first occurs in the muscles of the eyelids, next in the muscles of the back of the neck and lower jaw, then in those of the front of the neck, face, chest and upper extremities and lastly extends downwards to the muscles of the abdomen and lower extremities. Last to be affected are the small muscles of the fingers and toes. It passes off in the same sequence.

Taylor in his book (13th Edition at page 143) under the caption 'The order in which rigor appears' states :-

As a rule, cadaveric rigidity first appears in the muscles of the face, neck and trunk; it then takes place in the muscles of the upper extremities and lastly in the legs...In regard to its disappearance the muscles of the lower extremities will often be found rigid, while those of the trunk and upper extremities are again in a state of relaxation. It appears later and lasts longer in the lower extremities than in other parts of the body.

In Jhala and Raju's Medical Jurisprudence (6th Edition at pages 256-257) it has been stated :-

Rigor mortis is due to rigidity of the muscles. It appears both in the voluntary as well as involuntary muscles, its appearance and disappearance in various muscles follows a pattern. It is apparent first in the region of head, face, neck, eyelids and lower jaw. It last shows its appearance in the lower extremities. Hence if rigor mortis is present in lower extremities, it can safely be opined that it is present all over...After the rigor mortis has set in the whole body (as confirmed from its presence in lower extremities) no specific opinion is possible till the time it starts disappearing i.e. after about 18 hours.

38. It would, thus, appear that all the authorities on the subject are unanimous in their opinion that rigor mortis sets in and reaches the 'extremities'at the end and that it follows the same pattern both in the matter of appearance and disappearance. Presence of rigor mortis by itself cannot be decisive of the time of death. It is true that on the basis of presence of rigor mortis, no opinion can be given with mathematical precision regarding the time of death. At the same time, in view of the undisputed position regarding the 'course' of appearance and disappearance of rigor, its presence only in the lower left of body does provides a sound basis to find out the probability or otherwise of the prosecution case regarding time of death. The process of appearance and disappearance of rigor mortis may take relatively shorter and longer time depending on various factors like temprature, season, etc., of the place of death.

39. In the present case the time of death of the deceased has been disputed on the ground that at the time of post-mortem of the dead body of the deceased which took place on 12.03.1982 at 4:30 p.m., the rigor mortis was passing from lower half of the body and therefore the learned Amicus Curaie for the appellant has submitted that the death of the deceased had not taken place at 3:00 p.m on 10.03.1982 but sometimes in the night of 10/11-03-1982. Jhala & Raju in their medical jurisprudence have held that rigor mortis usually is absent after about 36 hours but the period may be longer in cold whether and for other reasons. As per Taylor the dead body becomes limp after 36 hours of death. As per Modi also the rigor mortis passes off from dead body after 36 hours of death. In the case of Virendra @ Buddhu and another vs. State of U.P., 2008 (15) SCALE 283, the Apex Court doubted the prosecution case where the rigor mortis was present in the lower extremities at the time of post mortem conducted after 30 hours when death was alleged to have taken place more than 48 hours of ago. The relevant paragraph is as follows:-

"Moreover, the doctor who conducted autopsy on the dead body on 06.10.1979 at 4.30 p.m., in the report has mentioned that rigor mortis had passed through upper extremities and was present in lower extremities. It is mentioned at page 125 of Modi's Medical Jurisprudence and Toxicology, Edition 1977 that in general rigor mortis sets in 1 to 2 hours after death, is well developed from head to foot in about 12 hours, is maintained for about 12 hours and passes off in about 12 hours. In the instant case rigor mortis was present in lower extremities at the time autopsy was conducted on the dead body after 30 hours. As according to ocular testimony deceased was murdered on 05.10.1979 at about 10.00 a.m. and the doctor conducted autopsy on the dead body on the next day at about 4.30 p.m. after 30 hours of death but rigor mortis was found present in lower extremities. Had he died on 04.10.1979 at about 10.00 p.m. or so rigor mortis would have passed off from the dead body completely at the time of autopsy. Thus the ocular testimony that he was murdered on 05.10.1979 at about 10.00 a.m. stands corroborated from the medical evidence pin-pointing that rigor mortis was present in lower extremities at the time when the autopsy was conducted on the dead body after 30 hours."

40. From the above consideration, it is clear that the time of death mentioned by the prosecution cannot be accepted as correct. Jhala & Raju have held that as a result of exposure and cold stiffening can appear as rigor mortis. In the present case the incident is of March in District Saharanpur which is in northern India and dead body is stated to be lying in open field from 3 p.m on 10.03.1982 till 12:30 p.m on 11.03.1982. Thereafter, post-mortem was conducted on 12.03.1982 at 4:30 p.m. In the month of March it not so cold which may lead to further stiffening to body beyond period of 36 hours. Therefore, the contention raised on behalf of appellant is not without substance. It appears that the death of Gendan Lal did not took place at 3 p.m on 10.03.1982 but sometimes in the night of 10/11-03-1982 and the prosecution has mentioned incorrect time of death only to implicate the appellants and deceased co-accused, Sia Ram, with whom the informant had prior enmity.

41. On the basis of the other material on record the time of death of the deceased mentioned in the FIR too appears to be doubtful. The explanation on the basis of fear in going to police station soon after the incident and then going alone to lodge the FIR by P.W.-1 at 4:00 - 4:30 a.m the next day is contradictory. The prosecution case does not inspires confidence on this account too.

42. Regarding the third argument of the learned Amicus Curaie that there is no explanation for injury nos. 5, 6 and 7, it is found from the injury report of the deceased that no evidence was led by the prosecution regarding the aforesaid injuries and P.W.-4, the doctor has stated that such injuries cannot be caused by the barrel of the gun. There is no explanation on record and therefore this court has no option but to accept the contention raised on behalf of the appellants that prosecution has failed to discharge its burden regarding the incident in dispute and it has failed to prove the injury nos. 5, 6 and 7 on the body of the deceased.

43. Regarding the last submission made on behalf of the learned Amicus Curaie it is found that the motive of the crime alleged by the prosecution has not been successfully established. The dispute regarding the transfer of land by Smt. Prema in favour of Anokhey Lal, father of the deceased and grandfather of P.W.-1, was never raised during the period of 7 years prior to the incident in dispute and all of sudden it would result in a selective murder of only one person from the family of Anokhey Lal without causing any harm to the other person, P.W.-1, cannot be accepted as correct foundation of motive set up by the prosecution. There is no evidence on record to prove that any pre-planning was done by the appellants or Sia Ram for causing the murder of Gendan Lal on the eve of Holi and there is also no material on record to show that the motive of crime was evident from any material or any conduct of the appellants whatsoever. Therefore, it can be safely held that the motive of crime set up by the prosecution was not convincing.

44. After consideration of the entire material on record and the judgment of the trial court, we have come to the conclusion that the prosecution has failed to establish the alleged crime against the appellants beyond reasonable doubt. The judgment and order of conviction of the trial court is set aside and the appellants are acquitted of the charges. The bail bonds of the appellants are cancelled and the sureties are discharged.

45. Let the copy of this judgment along with lower court record be sent to court below for compliance.

46. While recording our appreciation for Sri Rahul Misra, Advocate, learned Amicus Curaie for ably assisting us, we direct that he should be paid his professional fee of Rs. 15,000/- in this case.

THE HON'BLE MRS. MANJU RANI CHAUHAN, J.

Criminal Appeal No. 1599 of 1992

Dalveer & Ors. ...Appellants (In Jail)
Versus
State of U.P. ...Opposite Party

Counsel for the Appellants:
Sri Mohan Chandra, Sri Mohit Singh

Counsel for the Opposite Party:
A.G.A.

A. Criminal Law - Indian Penal Code, 1860 - section 148 (Rioting, armed with deadly weapons) and 302/149 - Every member of the unlawful assembly guilty of offence committed in prosecution of common object.

B. Evidence Law - Indian Evidence Act, 1872– first information report does not constitute substantive evidence - can only be used as a previous statement for the purpose of either corroborating its maker under section 157 of the Evidence Act or for contradicting him under section 145 thereof - Cannot be used to corroborate or contradict other witnesses - FIR was lodged by doing guess-work and by creating witness of circumstance, namely, P.W.2.(Para 34 & 50)

In the instant case, admittedly, the informant was not produced as a witness and the FIR did not relate to the cause of his own death, or as to any of the circumstances of the transaction which resulted in his death, therefore the said first information report is not admissible as a dying declaration under section 32(1) of the Evidence Act - Held- it cannot be used for the purpose of contradicting or corroborating the testimony of other witnesses - no recovery, either of the gun or of any other incriminating material, from the possession or on the pointing out of the surviving appellant or the other two accused who were seen running with him-there is virtually no worthwhile evidence to uphold the conviction of the appellant(Naresh). (Para 35 & 49)

C. Evidence Law - Indian Evidence Act, 1872 - Section 6 - rule of res gestae - the facts which, though not in issue, are so connected with the fact in issue as to form part of the same transaction, become relevant by itself, whether they occurred at the same time and place or at different times and places. (Para 44)

Where the time gap between the statement and the fact in issue is such that it does not make it contemporaneous with the fact in issue, or where there is no satisfactory evidence to show that the statement is contemporaneous with the fact in issue, or where the distance between the place of occurrence and the place where the statement is made is such, which could be considered sufficient to douse the stress or the emotions, thereby giving opportunity to the possibility of concoction, the statement would not fall within the exception to the rule against hearsay and, hence, would not be admissible. (Para 47)

Held: - There are too many gaps in the prosecution evidence and, therefore, by the circumstantial evidence, the chain of circumstances is not complete to rule out all other hypothesis than the guilt of the accused - The accused appellant is entitled to get the benefit of doubt. (Para 53)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Manoj Misra, J.)

1. This appeal assails the judgment and order dated 28.08.1992 passed by the IVth Additional Sessions Judge, Moradabad in Sessions Trial No. 587 of 1986 by which the appellants, namely, Dalveer, Ramesh and Naresh were convicted under sections 148 and 302/149 IPC and punished as follows: one year of rigorous imprisonment under section 148 I.P.C.; and imprisonment for life under section 302 read with section 149 I.P.C. Both sentences to run concurrently.

2. The aforesaid appellants were sent for trial along with co-accused Man Singh. Man Singh however died during the course of the trial. Hence, the case against him was abated. Amongst the appellants, Dalveer and Ramesh died during the pendency of the appeal hence their appeal was abated vide order dated 31.01.2019. Thus this appeal has been pressed only on behalf of surviving appellant no.3, namely, Naresh.

3. In brief the facts of the case are that on 14.06.1986, at 04:15 hours, a first information report (for short FIR) (Exhibit Ka-1) was lodged by Jagdish Prasad (not examined) at police station Kund Fatehgarh, District Moradabad, which was at a distance of about 10 km from the place of occurrence. In the FIR it was alleged that the informant along with his sister's husband (the deceased - Kishan Lal), nephew (another deceased, namely, Mahender son of Kishan Lal) and another nephew (P.W.3), namely, Surender son of Kishan Lal, had gone to the house of Nathu Lal (not examined), at about 7 pm, on 13.06.1986, to attend a feast. On their way back home, near the house of Roshan (not examined), at about 8:30 p.m., they were surrounded by five persons, namely, Dalveer (appellant no.1), Ramesh (appellant no.2); Naresh (appellant no.3); Man Singh Jatav (who died during trial); and one unknown person. All of them had emerged from the Gher of Naresh. Naresh had a gun whereas the rest had Tabal (sharp-edged weapon). Ramesh challenged the deceased - Kishan Lal by saying that today he shall be taught a lesson for lodging a case against him and for implicating Dalveer's father in a dacoity case. On his saying so, Naresh opened fire from his gun at the deceased - Kishan Lal, as soon as he fell down, Dalveer attacked him with his Tabal. In the meantime, informant's nephew, namely, Mahender, was surrounded by accused Ramesh, Man Singh, Dalveer and the unknown person, who all attacked him with Tabal and killed him too. Seeing all that, the informant raised an alarm. Upon which, Ramesh fired two shots in the air, as a result, due to fear, no villager came forward. Thereafter, Dalveer, Ramesh and Naresh effected their escape by running away towards the west and while they were running informant's sister- Ramwati (PW2) and informant's niece Ramshree (not examined) spotted them from the roof of their house. The remaining accused, namely, Man Singh and the unknown person escaped by using a Gali (lane) towards the east. In the FIR it was alleged that bodies of the two deceased were lying on the spot. The FIR sought to explain the delay by stating that in the night, due to fear, it could not be lodged.

4. The informant was not examined as a witness, as he was reported dead.

However, the lodging of the FIR was proved by the Head Moharir (Shiv Kumar Singh - P.W.4), who had made GD entry of the FIR, and the writing of the informant was proved by his relative, namely, Yashoda Nandan (P.W.7).

5. Two inquest reports were prepared for the two deceased. They were proved by the Investigating Officer (I.O.) (P.W.5) and were marked Exhibit Ka-3 and Exhibit Ka-4. Ex. Ka-3 indicated that inquest started at about 8.05 am on 14.06.1986 and was completed at 10.15 am. The other inquest, as per Ex. Ka-4, started at 10.15 am and was completed at about 11.30 am. The autopsy of deceased - Mahendra Kumar was conducted on 15.06.1986 at about 2.45 pm. As per autopsy report (Ex. Ka-27), eight ante-mortem incised wounds were there. Semi digested food material was present in small intestine whereas large intestine was found full with faecal matters. The cause of death was due to shock and haemorrhage as a result of ante-mortem injuries. Time of death was estimated about two days before. Autopsy of Kishan Lal was conducted on 15.06.1986 at about 1.00 pm. The autopsy report (Ex. Ka.22) disclosed five ante-mortem injuries on his body. Apart from one gun shot wound of entry on the front of right side of chest 4 cm below the right nipple, with blackening and charring present all around the wound, there were three incised wounds and one abrasion found. Some semi-digested food material was also found in the small intestine and the large intestine was found loaded with faecal matter. The time of death was estimated two days before.

6. During the course of investigation, recovery of Farsa (Tabal) was made on the pointing out of co-accused Man Singh of which a fard / memorandum (Exhibit Ka-12) was prepared. However, no recovery of any incriminating material was made from the appellants. After investigation, charge-sheet (Ex. Ka 14) was laid against four accused, namely, Dalveer, Ramesh, Naresh, and Man Singh. The identity of the fifth accused however could not be ascertained. Upon cognizance and consequential committal to the court of sessions, charges were framed against all the four accused for offences punishable under section 148 I.P.C. and under section 302 read with section 149 I.P.C. The accused pleaded not guilty and claimed for trial.

7. Seven witnesses were examined by the prosecution. PW 2 and PW 3 were witnesses of fact whereas the rest were formal witnesses. Before we proceed to notice the testimony of the witnesses of fact, it would be useful to briefly notice the testimony of the other witness, which is as under:

8. P.W.1- Natthu Singh, constable who visited the spot along with the Investigation Officer (I.O.). He stated that on 14.06.1986, he visited the spot with the I.O; that the dead body of Mahender and Kishan Lal were sealed and handed over to him for being carried to the mortuary for autopsy; that by the time he could reach there, it had become late, therefore, autopsy could not be conducted on that day. Hence, it was conducted on 15.06.1986 post noon.

9. P.W-4 - Shiv Kumar Singh, Head Moharir posted at the police station where the FIR was lodged. He stated that on 14.06.1986 Jagdish Prasad (informant) had brought a written report to the police station of which GD Entry was made by him.

10. P.W.5- Harish Chand Rana, the I.O. - Station House Officer of the police station concerned. He proved the various steps taken during the course of investigation including holding of inquest proceeding, preparation of memorandums of recovery of: (I) samples of blood-stained and plain earth, (ii) empty catridge of 12 bore, (iii) slippers and shoes of the two deceased and (iv) Farsa (sharp-edged weapon) from co-accused Man Singh. Site plan (Ex. Ka 13) from where recovery of Farsa was shown was prepared by him. The site plan (Exhibit Ka - 6) of the scene of the incident was prepared by him. He stated that on 14.06.1986 he had recorded statement of informant - Jagdish Prasad. He stated that on the same day, he recorded statements of Smt. Ramwati; Laturi Singh, Bhuri, Ram Avtar, Km. Ramshree, Itwari Lal and others. He also stated that on 15.06.1986, he recorded the statement of Surendra (PW3) on the basis of gestures made by him to the questions put to him. He also stated that though PW3 was dumb but he had the capacity to hear. He proved the submission of charge-sheet (Ex. Ka-14). He also stated that he learnt about the death of informant - Jagdish Prasad through a Pairokar. In his cross-examination at the instance of accused Ramesh and Dalveer, he stated that though he had recorded statement of various persons of the area residing close to the place of occurrence but they all gave hearsay evidence except Chowkidar Latti (not examined). He also admitted that in the site plan (Exhibit Ka-6), he had not shown the house of deceased - Kishan Lal and had also not disclosed the place from where Ramwati (PW2) had seen the accused running away. He stated that towards north of the place of occurrence, at a distance of just about 15-20 paces, there are shops. He admitted that he had not recorded statement of those shopkeepers. He also stated that towards north of the place of occurrence there is a temple and towards north-east there is jungle whereas towards north-west there is abadi. He stated that he did not record statement of Nathu Lal or any such person who may have returned with the deceased after attending the feast. During cross-examination, he could not tell the distance of deceased- Kishan Lal's house from the place of occurrence though he stated that it is quite near. He however denied the suggestion that he had filed a false charge-sheet. He also denied the suggestion that Jagdish had not given any statement. He however admitted that he had not mentioned the date on which report of the case was sent though he stated that it was sent by post. He stated that as per endorsement, the FIR was sent to the court of Chief Judicial Magistrate on 19.06.1986.

11. P.W.6 - Dr. Y.C. Gupta proved the post-mortem reports of the two deceased. He opined that the death could have had occurred in between 8 and 8:30 pm on 13.06.1986. Though, during cross-examination, he stated that it is possible that the deceased may have had died at about quarter to 11 pm on 13.06.1986 as there could always be a variation of 6 to 8 hours in the estimation of time of death. He also accepted the possibility that the deceased died 3 to 4 hours after having meal.

12. P.W.-7 - Yasoda Nandan proved the signature of Jagdish Prasad on the written report (FIR). He stated that he is the brother-in-law (Jija) of the deceased - Mahender and son-in-law of the deceased-Kishan Lal and that he knew Jagdish Prasad (informant), the brother-in-law of Kishan Lal, very well and was conversant with his writing. He stated that Jagdish Prasad had been visiting Raholi (the village where the incident occurred) quite often. In his cross-examination, he admitted that he has not brought with him any writing of Jagdish Prasad. He denied the suggestion that Jagdish Prasad had died in the year 1980-81. He feigned ignorance as regards execution of will by Jagdish Prasad in favour of deceased Mahendra as also whether Mahendra (the deceased), on strength of that will on death of Jagdish Prasad, had applied for mutation. He denied the suggestion that on 13/14.06.1986 Jagdish Prasad was not alive.

13. The two witnesses of fact, namely, Ramwati (P.W.2), the widow of the deceased - Kishan Lal and the mother of the other deceased- Mahender, and Surendra Singh (PW3 - the other son of the deceased), deposed as follows:

14. P.W.-2 Ramwati stated that about a year and a half before the incident, her husband (Kishan Lal) had lodged a first information report against the accused Ramesh and Dalveer in connection with theft of tractor bearings. In that theft case, Dalveer and Ramesh were charge-sheeted, as a result, the accused were inimical towards her husband and son. She stated that Jagdish Prasad (the informant) was her brother. Two days prior to the date of incident, Jagdish Prasad had come to her house. On the date of the incident, her two sons, namely, Surendra (PW3) and Mahendra (the other deceased) along with Jagdish Prasad and her husband (deceased - Kishan Lal) had left the house at about 7.00 pm to attend a feast at Natthu's place. At about 8 pm, while she was there at her own house with her daughter (Ramshree), she heard a gun shot. On hearing the gun shot, she and her daughter went upstairs. While they were climbing the staircase, they heard two shots more. Soon thereafter, she saw, towards the west, in the Gali, Dalveer, Ramesh and Naresh running and uttering in an abusive tone, in vernacular, "this is what happens to police informers". Naresh had a gun in his hand whereas Dalveer and Ramesh had Tabal. They ran through the Gher of Khushiram towards the North. She saw them in moonlight. Shortly thereafter her brother (informant) and her son Surendra (PW3) arrived and informed her that Dalveer, Naresh, Ramesh and Man Singh along with another person have killed her husband and her son Mahendra. In her cross-examination, she could not tell the distance of the place of occurrence from her house. She admitted having seen the accused running, near her house only. She also admitted that by that time the night had set in. She admitted that towards east of the place of occurrence, there is a rasta going towards the jungle. In response to the suggestion that her house is at a distance of 300-400 yards from the place of occurrence, she could not tell the distance. She stated that when her brother and son (PW3) informed her about the incident she had already come down from the staircase. She stated that she had visited the spot after receiving information but no one from the Mohalla was present there, though, later, they had come. Later, Natthu had also arrived. In her cross-examination, she denied the suggestion that her husband had got her son's name mutated over the land of Jagdish by showing him dead. She also denied the suggestion that on account of such act of her husband, Jagdish was angry with him. In her cross-examination she stated that her brother and son (PW3) at that time had not informed her whether the deceased had left Natthu's house after having food, though, later, she came to know that they had had food. In her cross-examination she admitted that her maternal home i.e. house of Jagdish, is at a distance of 15 Kos (45 km) from her village. She stated that there was no special reason for Jagdish to have come to her house though he used to visit her house on a regular basis. In her cross-examination, she admitted that boundary wall of her house is quite high towards the lane, which was used by the accused for effecting their escape, and that she could not have seen the accused had she not been on the roof. A specific question was put to her as to when she first saw the accused to which she responded by saying that when they were about 8-10 yards away from her door towards the east. In response to a specific question as to what her brother had been doing the entire night, she stated that she could not tell because she had been crying and was in a state of shock. She also could not tell who had visited her in the night. She, however, stated that her brother had left at about 4 am, before sun rise, on a tractor, along with fellow villagers Parmanand and her son' brother-in-law, namely, Umesh, to lodge the FIR. In her cross-examination, she admitted that her husband had been mingling with criminals and had been passing on information to the police, as a result, criminals were annoyed with him. She accepted the suggestion that her husband had got multiple accused arrested. She however could not tell whether he had been witness in various cases. She also stated that in her house, about 25 years back, there was a dacoity in which Dalveer's father, namely, Lokman alias Loki, was accused though he was acquitted. She stated that though, thereafter, there had been no quarrel with Loki but, about two years back, Dalveer and Ramesh had stolen her tractor's parts. However, she could not tell whether any case in that connection was going on. She denied the suggestion that on the night of the incident there was no moonlight as there were clouds. She further denied the suggestion that she did not see the accused but has implicated them on account of past enmity. In her cross-examination, at the instance of accused Naresh, she admitted that Naresh is Nai by caste whereas the remaining accused were Dhobi by caste. During her cross-examination at the instance of Naresh, she was also confronted by her statement recorded under Section 161 Cr.P.C. wherein she had not stated that she heard Naresh also exclaiming about the fate of police informers when she spotted him running with other accused persons. On being confronted with that statement, she stated that she does not know as to how the I.O. did not mention that. She denied the suggestion that Jagdish, her brother, had died much before the incident. As regards the direction where the accused went, during cross-examination, she stated that the accused were seen running towards north through the Gher of Khushiram's house. Later, she stated that she had seen the accused entering that Gher but could not see where they went. She stated that, at that time, her daughter-in-law and her daughter were also there at the roof. She stated that she had informed the I.O. about the place from where she had witnessed the incident but she could not tell as to why the I.O. had not disclosed that place in the site plan. She further stated that her younger son Surender (PW3) though is dumb but is able to hear and understand. She denied the suggestion that she, at the time of incident, was at her Maika. She denied the suggestion that Jagdish was not present. She also denied the suggestion that Naresh was not involved in the incident and that she leveled false allegations.

15. P.W.3 - Surendra Singh, son of the deceased - Kishan Lal, who was aged about 14-15 years at the time of his examination, being dumb, therefore, through gestures got his statement recorded in the question and answer form. The said witness initially tried to support the prosecution case but in his cross-examination, the said witness made gestures to questions in such a manner which suggested that he did not have knowledge of the incident and was tutored. Interestingly, the said witness, in his cross-examination, by making gestures, admitted that he came to know about his father and brother's death when he woke up in the morning. The trial court therefore discarded his testimony.

16. The entire incriminating circumstances evinced from the prosecution evidence were put to the accused while recording their statement under Section 313 Cr.P.C. The accused denied the allegations and claimed that they were falsely implicated on account of police pressure and enmity. In addition thereto, they claimed that Jagdish Prasad (the informant) had died much before the incident and in support thereof they passed on a Khatauni extract to demonstrate that mutation proceedings were drawn in respect of plots of agricultural land consequent to death of a tenure holder named Jagdish Lal. They however led no evidence in defense.

17. The trial court though discarded the testimony of P.W.3 by holding him to be a tutored witness but convicted the accused-appellant on the basis of other evidence. While recording conviction, the trial court relied on the hearsay testimony of Ramwati (PW2), by treating it to be admissible under section 6 of the Evidence Act, 1872 (for short the Evidence Act). The trial court took the view that the said hearsay testimony was corroborated by circumstantial evidence as well as medical evidence.

18. We have heard Sri V.P. Srivastava, learned senior counsel, assisted by Sri Mohit Singh, for the surviving appellant - Naresh; and Sri Deepak Mishra, the learned A.G.A. for the State.

19. The learned counsel for the appellant submitted that as the informant (Jagdish Prasad) was not examined, the first information report which, by itself, is not a substantive piece of evidence, could not have been taken into consideration to corroborate the testimony of other witnesses and could not have been read to ascertain the manner in which the incident occurred. He submitted that since the testimony of P.W. 3 has been discarded by the trial court there remains the testimony of Ramwati (P.W.2) only. Admittedly, Ramwati is not an eye-witness of the incident. Her testimony is only to the effect that she saw three persons running with arms and proclaiming that "this is what happens to police informers". This by itself is not a clinching circumstance inasmuch as the place of the incident and the place from where P.W.2 noticed the three, out of the five accused, running were not proved to be in such close proximity to each other that involvement of other persons in the crime could be ruled out.

20. It has been submitted that the site plan prepared by the I.O. neither discloses the location of the house of P.W.2 with reference to the place of occurrence nor it discloses the spot from where she had allegedly witnessed the three accused running. Moreover, the suggestion put to PW2 that her house is at a distance of 300-400 yards from the place of occurrence has not been specifically denied though she claimed that she is not aware of the distance. Further, in her testimony, PW2 has neither disclosed the time nor the time-gap by which, or within which, she received information from her brother Jagdish regarding the murder of her husband and her son by the accused-appellants. Otherwise also, since it has not specifically come in the evidence as to how contemporaneous with the incident was the reporting of the incident by the informant to PW2, the hearsay evidence would not become admissible by applying the principle of res gestae enshrined under section 6 of the Evidence Act.

21. In addition to above, the learned counsel for the appellant submitted that it has come in the post-mortem of the deceased that there was semi-digested food found present in the intestine though the large intestine was found full of faecal matter which is suggestive of the fact that the deceased had had their food 2-3 hours before their death. If that is so, then the prosecution story that the deceased had left at 7 pm to attend a feast at the house of Natthu and, after having the dinner there, on way back, at about 8 pm, the incident occurred gets falsified. It has been submitted that in all probability the incident had occurred much later and, only after learning about the incident, on the basis of guess work and past enmity, the prosecution story was developed, which theory gets probabilized by the delay in lodging the FIR.

22. It has also been submitted that evidence was brought on record to demonstrate that in the year 1981, by showing Jagdish Prasad (the informant) dead, mutation proceedings had been undertaken concerning land of Jagdish Prasad which resulted in entry of the name of one of the deceased, that is Kishan Lal's son, in the revenue records. This gives rise to three possibilities, first, that Jagdish, if not dead, would be inimical towards the deceased's family and, therefore, would not probably be in the company of the deceased; second, that, under the circumstances, he came only after hearing about the death of his brother in law to help out his bereaved sister and, therefore, was not witness to the incident; and, third, the first information report is completely bogus. It has been submitted that even assuming that Jagdish Prasad was alive, the second possibility gets credence from the circumstance that there was no justification to wait till 4:15 am of the next day to lodge the FIR, particularly, when they had a tractor for transportation and, if there had been fear of the night, even by that time, that is 4:15 am, the sun had not come out, which is the admitted case of the prosecution. It thus appears that the incident occurred late in the night; that no one had witnessed the incident; that Jagdish Prasad who resided at a distance of about 45 kms was informed and called; that, upon his arrival, on the basis of suspicion and guess-work, the prosecution story was developed with the help of the police as the deceased Kishan Lal was admittedly a police informer.

23. In addition to above, it was submitted that if the statement of Ramwati (PW2) is taken in its entirety, Jagdish had not informed her as to who played what role in the killing of the two deceased, as also, as to how many shots were fired by whom and in what manner, because, she has merely stated that Jagdish informed her that the accused have killed her husband and son but who did what is not disclosed by her. The medical evidence discloses, inter alia, solitary gun shot wound, that too, on one of the two deceased persons. Whereas, according to PW2 she heard three gun shots. Who fired those three shots is not disclosed. The contents of the FIR though may offer explanation for all that but it is not admissible in evidence as the informant was not examined. Thus, as only three accused were seeing running and, out of them, only one had gun in his hand whereas the other two had Tabal, who fired the other shots becomes a mystery. More so, because the I.O. in his testimony disclosed that on the spot only one 12 bore empty cartridge was found.

24. It was also argued that no source of light except moonlight has been disclosed by P.W.2 in her testimony. The distance from where P.W. 2 saw the accused running appears to be about 8 to 10 yards. Whether a person could be recognized from that distance, in moonlight, is extremely doubtful. It has also been submitted that, apart from above, P.W.2 in her statement recorded under section 161 Cr.P.C has not disclosed that Naresh was also exclaiming that "this is what happens to police informers". This clearly shows that her stand is not consistent and her testimony in absence of other convincing evidence cannot form basis of conviction.

25. Learned counsel for the appellant also submitted that, admittedly, Naresh is a Nai by caste whereas the other accused were Dhobi by caste; and there is no motive attributed to Naresh for the crime though motive has been attributed to other accused Dalveer and Ramesh. Hence, there was no valid reason shown for Naresh to associate with the other accused persons.

26. It has next been submitted that nothing incriminating has been recovered on the pointing out of the accused Naresh or Dalveer or Ramesh who were allegedly seen running together. The recovery, as alleged, is at the instance of co-accused Man Singh who was not seen running with the accused appellants.

27. It was lastly contended that the appellants though have been convicted under section 148 IPC as also under section 302 with the aid of section 149 I.P.C. but the prosecution has miserably failed to disclose that there was a fifth accused also. Even the charge-sheet was submitted against four persons only. Further, the fourth person, namely, Man Singh, was not seen together with the accused-appellant. Under the circumstances, there was no evidence to suggest that there existed an unlawful assembly of five persons of which the appellants were members. Hence, the conviction under section 148 I.P.C. as also under section 302 I.P.C. with the aid of section 149 I.P.C. is not at all sustainable.

28. It has thus been prayed that the conviction of the accused appellant by the trial court is completely unjustified and the impugned judgment and order be therefore set aside.

29. Per Contra, the learned A.G.A. submitted that the evidence brought on record indicated that the two deceased had died at the same time and on or about the same spot. One of them died due to gun shot injury as also incised wounds and the other died due to several incised wounds which disclosed that multiple assailants were there. Shortly, after hearing the gun shot, the appellant - Naresh was seen in the company of other two accused persons with such weapons of which injuries were found on the body of the two deceased and, soon thereafter, Jagdish, the informant, who had accompanied the two deceased, came rushing and informed P.W.2 that her husband and her son have been killed by five persons, out of those five, three were seen by her. All this constituted part of the same transaction and therefore the statement of Jagdish Prasad (the informant), narrated to his sister - Ramwati (P.W.2), becomes admissible in evidence by applying the doctrine of res gestae enshrined under section 6 of the Evidence Act and as such was admissible and sufficient to record conviction, particularly, when nothing material could come out of her cross-examination.

30. It was also submitted by him that, admittedly, Ramesh and Dalveer were inimical to the deceased as they had been implicated by the deceased in a theft case. Hence, they had motive for the crime and Naresh by joining them has incurred liability even though he may not have had personal motive for the crime.

31. The learned A.G.A. also pointed out that it was proved not only by the testimony of the Investigating Officer but also of P.W.7 that Jagdish had lodged the FIR. It has been submitted that as two persons were brutally murdered in the night, awaiting the wee hours of the morning to lodge the FIR is a natural human conduct on the part of victim's family and therefore it cannot be said that the FIR is highly delayed and that the prosecution version suffers from embellishment.

32. It was next submitted that no explanation has been offered by the accused as to why they were running with weapons in the night shortly after the incident. Lack of explanation could therefore provide the missing link which completes the chain of circumstances pointing towards the guilt of the accused. He thus prayed that the appeal be dismissed and the judgment of the court below be maintained.

33. We have given our thoughtful consideration to the rival submissions and have perused the record carefully.

34. Before we proceed to deal with the weight of the rival submissions, it would be useful for us to first examine whether the contents of the FIR lodged by Jagdish Prasad, who has not been examined as a witness, could be read and considered for the purpose of corroborating and contradicting the testimony of the witnesses who were examined during the course of trial. In this regard in Sheikh Hasib alias Tabarak v. The State of Bihar : (1972) 4 SCC 773, it has been held that a first information report does not constitute substantive evidence. It can, however, only be used as a previous statement for the purpose of either corroborating its maker under section 157 of the Evidence Act or for contradicting him under section 145 thereof. It cannot be used for the purpose of corroborating or contradicting other witnesses. Similarly, in Harkirat Singh v. State of Punjab : (1997) 11 SCC 215, the apex court had observed that where the first informant could not be examined as a witness during the course of trial and the first information report does not relate to the cause of his own death, or as to any of the circumstances of the transaction resulting in his death, the first information report cannot be used as substantive piece of evidence.

35. In the instant case, admittedly, the informant - Jagdish Prasad was not produced as a witness and the FIR did not relate to the cause of his own death, or as to any of the circumstances of the transaction which resulted in his death, therefore the said first information report is not admissible as a dying declaration under section 32(1) of the Evidence Act. Hence, in view of the decisions of the apex court noticed above it can not be used for the purpose of contradicting or corroborating the testimony of other witnesses. Under the circumstances, the prosecution case would therefore depend on the admissibility, reliability and weight of other evidences led during the case of the trial.

36. The issues that now arise for our consideration are whether the hearsay testimony of P.W.2 (Ramwati) that she was informed by her brother (Jagdish Prasad - informant) and her dumb son (Surendra - P.W.3) that her husband (Kishan Lal) and her elder son (Mahendra) were killed by the accused persons could be considered admissible under Section 6 of the Evidence Act. If no, then, whether there remains on record sufficient reliable evidence on the basis of which the accused-appellant could be convicted.

37. Before we proceed to examine the admissibility of the statement of Ramwati (P.W.2) that her husband and son were done to death by the accused, as told to her by her late brother and dumb son, we may note that the trial court has already discarded the testimony of her dumb son, namely, Surendra Singh, who was examined as PW3, by observing that the said witness was not reliable as he appeared tutored and could not withstand the test of cross-examination and by his gestures gave an impression that he used to sleep by the sun set and that he got information about the death of his father and brother when he woke up next morning. Thus, the testimony of PW2 alone survives for our consideration.

38. At this stage, before proceeding to analyze the statement of P.W.2 on the principles laid out by 6 of the Evidence Act, it would be apposite for us to observe that the prosecution has not set up recovery of any incriminating article from the surviving appellant or the other accused-appellants with whom the surviving appellant (Naresh) was seen running soon after the gun shots were heard by PW2. The alleged recovery of Farsa (sharp-edged weapon), allegedly used in the crime, was made at the instance of co-accused Man Singh, who died during the pendency of the trial. Admittedly, Man Singh was not seen running with the accused-appellants. Hence, the recovery at the instance of Man Singh is inconsequential in so far as the surviving accused-appellant Naresh is concerned.

39. Now we shall proceed to analyze the testimony of Ramwati (P.W.2). Her testimony is in two parts. The first part relates to what she saw and the second part relates to what she heard from her brother Jagdish (Informant) and what she gathered from her dumb son Surendra Singh (P.W.3). As per what she saw, even if her testimony is accepted in its entirety, she just saw three persons, namely, Dalveer; Ramesh; and Naresh (the surviving appellant) running with weapons and proclaiming "this is what happens to police informers". Though, in her statement before the court, she stated that she heard all three proclaiming in unison but in her statement recorded under section 161 Cr.P.C, with which she was confronted, she had not disclosed that the surviving appellant- Naresh was also heard proclaiming. These three accused were seen running in a lane which was adjacent to her house. She saw them in moonlight after she had climbed the stairs of her house upon hearing gun shots. She admitted in her cross-examination that the boundary wall of her house is high and the lane would not have been visible had she not gone upstairs. She stated that as she had heard gun shots, to find out as to what had happened, she had climbed the staircase with her daughter and daughter in law. She stated that from the higher floor of her house she could see the lane and those three accused running. She had been cross-examined in respect of source of light. She stated that there was moonlight and in that moonlight she saw the accused running.

40. The learned counsel for the appellant had strenuously urged that it was not possible for P.W.2 to recognize persons in moonlight, particularly, when they are running and it has not been satisfactorily established as to from how far she had spotted the accused more so when the I.O. in the site plan had not shown the place from where P.W.2 saw the accused running and the place where they were seen running. Further, the site plan that was prepared by the I.O. did not disclose the location of the house of P.W.2 from where she saw qua the place where the incident occurred and the bodies were found.

41. Upon careful perusal of the site plan (Ex. Ka-6) prepared by the I.O. (P.W.5), the distance between the two spots, where the two bodies were lying, was about 21 paces. Meaning thereby that the two bodies were separated by 21 paces. The first body which is shown at point A was lying on the side of the path whereas the second body was lying on the middle of the path 21 paces towards the north. At the place where the second body was lying, going towards east from that place, there existed a rasta (path). The main rasta (path) where the bodies were found proceeded towards north and then curved towards the west. Before it curved towards the west, there was another rasta (path) going towards the north. The site plan though discloses that the accused-appellant took the path curving towards west, which was towards north from the place of occurrence, but the location of the house of P.W.2. from where she allegedly spotted the accused-appellants has not been disclosed. P.W.2 has not stated in her testimony that she could see the place of occurrence from the upper floor of her house or from any portion of her house. A suggestion was put to her that her house is 300-400 yards away from the place of occurrence in response to which she could not tell the distance of the place of occurrence from her house. She also did not disclose the exact time, shortly where after, she saw the accused running, after she had heard the gun shots. She only stated that she saw them running when she had climbed the upper floor of her house upon hearing the gun shots. The time duration between hearing the gun shots and seeing the accused running by P.W.2 has not come in the evidence. The distance between the house of P.W.2 and the place of occurrence has also not come in the evidence. Further, from the site plan it appears that for the assailants there were two other escape /exit points from where they could have exited the main path before reaching the house of PW2. The other two exit points were as follows: one towards east and the other towards north. From the evidence led, it appears, the house of PW2, from where she spotted the accused running, fell after those two exit points. Thus, the circumstance that the accused were seen running with weapons in front of the house of PW2, in our view, is not clinching enough to put the burden on the accused to explain their conduct or presence inasmuch as the said circumstance does not rule out intervention of others in the crime as there existed other exit and access points for the assailants to arrive and to effect their escape from the place of occurrence, much before reaching the house of PW2.

42. Now, we shall examine whether PW2 was allegedly informed by her brother and son almost contemporaneous to the incident so as to form part of the same transaction. In her testimony PW2 has stated that after having witnessed the accused running away, when she had come downstairs, her brother (informant) and her son (PW 3) arrived and informed her that the accused persons including the appellants have killed her husband and her son. The time gap between the accused seen running away and her brother and son arriving at her house and reporting it to her is not disclosed. Interestingly, in her testimony, she has not disclosed that her brother - Jagdish and her son (PW3) had told her about the role played by each accused as was narrated in the FIR. Further, she has not disclosed in her testimony that her brother had informed her that the other two accused, out of a total of five accused, escaped by taking some other route.

43. From a close scrutiny of the evidence noticed above, it is clear that the information, if any, given to PW2 by her brother and son, does not appear to be contemporaneous with the time and place of the incident for the following reasons: (a) because the place of incident is not demonstrated to be in close proximity; and (b) because the time-gap between the incident and the information provided has not been demonstrated to be almost non-existent.

44. Now we shall examine whether the statement of PW2 in respect of culpability of the accused appellant on the basis of statement of the informant could be considered admissible under section 6 of the Evidence Act, as found by the trial court. The rule of res gestae embodied in section 6 of the Evidence Act in essence is that the facts which, though not in issue, are so connected with the fact in issue as to form part of the same transaction, become relevant by itself, whether they occurred at the same time and place or at different times and places. The apex court had the occasion to examine the said principle in several decisions. In Gentela Vijayavadhan Rao and another v. State of A.P. : (1996) 6 SCC 241, the apex court, in paragraph 15 of the judgment, as reported, held as follows:-

"The principle or law embodied in Section 6 of the Evidence Act is usually known as the rule of res gestae recognised in English Law. The essence of the doctrine is that fact which, though not in issue, is so connected with the fact in issue "as to form part of the same transaction-becomes relevant by itself. This rule is, roughly speaking, an exception to the general rule that hearsay evidence is not admissible. The rationale in making certain statement or fact admissible under Section 6 of the Evidence Act is on account of the spontaneity and immediacy of such statement or fact in relation to the fact in issue. But it is necessary that such fact or statement must be part of the same transaction. In other words, such statement must have been made contemporaneous with the acts which constitute the offence or atleast immediately thereafter. But if there was an interval, however slight it may be, which was sufficient enough for fabrication then the statement is not part of res gestae. In R. v. Lillyman, (1896) 2 O.B. 167 a statement made by a raped woman after the ravishment was held to be not part of the res gestae on account of some interval of time lapsing between making the statement and the act of rape. Privy Council while considering the extent up to which this rule of res gestae can be allowed as an exemption to the inhibition against hearsay evidence, has observed in Teper v. Reginam, (1952) 2 All E.R. 447, thus :

"The rule that in a criminal trial hearsay evidence is admissible if it forms part of the res gestae is based on the propositions that the human utterance is both a fact and a means of communication and that human action may be so interwoven with words that the significance of the action cannot be understood without the correlative words and the dissociation of the words from the action would impede the discovery of the truth. It is essential that the words sought to be proved by hearsay should be, if not absolutely contemporaneous with the action or event, at least so clearly associated with it that they are part of the thing being done, and so an item or part of the real evidence and not merely a reported statement."

The correct legal position stated above needs no further elucidation."

45. In Vasa Chandrasekhar Rao vs Ponna Satyanarayana & Anr. : (2000) 6 SCC 286, a question had arisen whether statement of prosecution witness that accused's father had told the prosecution witness over the telephone that his son (the accused) had killed the deceased, could be read in evidence under Section 6 of the Evidence Act, particularly, when the accused's father, in the witness box, had denied making any such statement. The apex court, in paragraph 7 of its judgment, though had found that the prosecution had been able to prove the case against the accused on the basis of circumstantial evidence but as regards admissibility of the said statement, under Section 6 of the Evidence Act, it proceeded to observe as follows:-

"The question arises whether the statement of PW21 that PW1 told him on telephone at 6 p.m. that his son has killed the deceased, could go in as evidence under Section 6 of the Evidence Act. PW1, not having supported the prosecution during trial, the aforesaid statement of PW 21 would be in the nature of an hearsay but Section 6 of the Evidence Act is an exception to the aforesaid hearsay rule and admits of certain carefully safeguarded and limited exceptions and makes the statement admissible when such statements are proved to form a part of the res gestae, to form a particular statement as a part of the same transaction or with the incident or soon thereafter, so as to make it reasonably certain that the speaker is still under stress of excitement in respect of the transaction in question. In absence of a finding as to whether the information by PW1 to PW 21 that accused has killed the deceased was either of the time of commission of the crime or immediately thereafter, so as to form the same transaction, such utterances by PW1 cannot be considered as relevant under Section 6 of the Evidence Act."

46. In Dhal Singh Dewangan vs State Of Chhattisgarh : (2016) 16 SCC 701, a three-judges bench of the Apex Court had the occasion to deal with the applicability of section 6 of the Evidence Act. In this case, a question had arisen whether the testimony of prosecution witnesses that after receipt of information about the crime they had reached the spot and had found Kejabhai (PW.6 of that case) shouting that the accused had killed his wife and children could be considered admissible under section 6 of the Evidence Act. After examining the provisions of section 6 of the Evidence Act and the law laid down in earlier decisions, the apex court, by its majority view, in paragraphs 24 and 25 of the judgment, held as follows:-

"The general rule of evidence is that hearsay evidence is not admissible. However, Section 6 of the Evidence Act embodies a principle, usually known as the rule of res gestae in English Law, as an exception to hearsay rule. The rationale behind this Section is the spontaneity and immediacy of the statement in question which rules out any time for concoction. For a statement to be admissible under Section 6, it must be contemporaneous with the acts which constitute the offence or at least immediately thereafter. The key expressions in the Section are "...so connected... as to form part of the same transaction". The statements must be almost contemporaneous as ruled in the case of Krishan Kumar Malik (Supra) and there must be no interval between the criminal act and the recording or making of the statement in question as found in Gentela Vijayvardhan Rao's case (Supra). In the latter case, it was accepted that the words sought to be proved by hearsay, if not absolutely contemporary with the action or event, at least should be so clearly associated with it that they are part of such action or event. This requirement is apparent from the first illustration below Section 6 which states .... "whatever was said or done.... at the beating, or so shortly before or after it as to form part of the transaction, is a relevant fact."

Considered in the aforesaid perspective, we do not find the statements attributed to PW-6 Kejabai by PWs 3 and 5 to be satisfying the essential requirements. The house of the appellant, according to the record, was at a distance of 100 yards from Gandhi Chowk, where these witnesses are stated to have found PW-6 Kejabai crying aloud. Both in terms of distance and time, the elements of spontaneity and continuity were lost. PW-6 Kejabai has disowned and denied having made such disclosure. But even assuming that she did make such disclosure, the spontaneity and continuity was lost and the statements cannot be said to have been made so shortly after the incident as to form part of the transaction. In the circumstances, we reject the evidence sought to be placed in that behalf through PWs 3 and 5. Even if we were to accept the version of PWs 1 and 2, the same would also suffer on this count and will have to be rejected."

(Emphasis Supplied)

47. From the decisions noticed above, the legal principle deducible is that section 6 of the Evidence Act is one of the exceptions to the rule against hearsay evidence therefore hearsay statement of a witness, by taking the aid of Section 6 of the Evidence Act, would be admissible in evidence only if that statement was made to the witness contemporaneous with the acts which constitute the offence or at least immediately thereafter so as to form part of the same transaction. As to whether it forms part of the same transaction is to be found out from the proven facts and circumstances of each case. One of the tests is whether such statement has been made so contemporaneous with the transaction in question as to make it reasonably certain that the speaker is still under stress of excitement in respect of the transaction in question. Where it is not clear from the evidence led as to what was the time gap between the incident and the making of that statement and whether the maker of the statement was still under stress of excitement in respect of the transaction in question, it would be unsafe to rely upon such statement by invoking the provisions of section 6 of the Evidence Act inasmuch as the principle embodied under section 6 of the Evidence Act is an exception to the general rule against hearsay evidence. Where the time gap between the statement and the fact in issue is such that it does not make it contemporaneous with the fact in issue, or where there is no satisfactory evidence to show that the statement is contemporaneous with the fact in issue, or where the distance between the place of occurrence and the place where the statement is made is such, which could be considered sufficient to douse the stress or the emotions, thereby giving opportunity to the possibility of concoction, the statement would not fall within the exception to the rule against hearsay and, hence, would not be admissible.

48. When we test the testimony of P.W.2 in the light of the legal principle noticed above, we find that the prosecution has failed to disclose the distance between the place of occurrence and the house where P.W.2 resided, that is the place where she was allegedly informed by the informant and her son PW3. The prosecution evidence also fails in specifically disclosing the time-gap between the incident and making of the statement by the informant and P.W.3, which has been narrated by P.W.2. The evidence that has come only indicates that P.W.2 was informed by the informant and P.W.3 shortly after the accused ran away. The evidence does not indicate that P.W.2's brother (informant) or her son (P.W.3), who had reported the incident to her, were being chased by the accused, or they came chasing the accused, when they entered the house and informed P.W. 2 that her husband and elder son have been done to death by as many five persons. Rather, the testimony is to the effect that P.W.2, upon hearing gun shots, went upstairs. From there she could see three persons running and proclaiming that "this is what happens to police informers". Thereafter, she came down and, soon thereafter, her brother (informant) and younger son (P.W.3) arrived and informed her that the accused persons have killed her husband and her elder son. The testimony noticed above suggests that there was a time-gap between the incident and the reporting of the incident to P.W.2. The possibility of the time-gap being substantial cannot be ruled out because in the site plan, the house of P.W. 2 is not disclosed. In fact, a suggestion has come that her house is at a distance of about 300 to 400 yards from the place of occurrence, which has not been specifically refuted by her. Further, as the informant and PW3 had not arrived at the residence either being chased by, or while giving chase to, the accused, in absence of cogent evidence in respect of the time-gap between the incident and reporting of the incident, it cannot be safely concluded that the informant and PW3 were still reeling under the stress of excitement in respect of the transaction in question. Under the circumstances, keeping in mind that there is no clear and cogent evidence led by the prosecution to disclose the distance between the two places and the time gap between the incident and reporting of the incident to P.W.2, it would be unsafe on our part to accept the statement of the informant and PW3, narrated in the testimony of P.W.2, as admissible by applying the doctrine of res gestae.

49. Once, we discard this hearsay statement of PW2, we are left with very little evidence which is of P.W.2 seeing the three accused running, two with sharp-edged weapon and one with a gun. Admittedly, from the place where PW2 saw the accused running, the place of occurrence was not visible. Further, we have already found that the path which connects the place of occurrence and the house of PW2, from where she spotted the accused running on the path, before reaching the house of PW2 provided at least two other exit points for the perpetrator of the crime to escape as is clear from the site plan (Ex. Ka-6). Thus, the circumstance that these three accused persons were seen running is not such which could rule out all other hypothesis than the guilt of the accused. In addition to above, the proclamation by these three persons that this is what happens to police informers is not an admission of guilt but is simply an expression of opinion as to what is the fate of police informers. This evidence, as we have found, being not clinching enough, would not throw the burden on the accused to explain the circumstance in which they were seen running. Moreover, there is no recovery, either of the gun or of any other incriminating material, from the possession or on the pointing out of the surviving appellant or the other two accused who were seen running with him. We are thus of the considered view that there is virtually no worthwhile evidence to uphold the conviction of the appellant (Naresh).

50. There is another aspect of the matter, which is whether PW2 was really informed by her brother and son about the incident or she came to know from other sources. In this regard, what assumes importance is that PW3, who happens to be the dumb son of PW2, has been discarded as completely unreliable. Once that is the case, we would have to test whether this information could have come to her from the informant. In this regard there are certain circumstances which may be noticed. According to the prosecution case the two deceased had gone to attend a feast at about 7 pm. P.W.2 had admitted in her testimony that she was informed that they had had food there before leaving. However, semi-digested food was found in the small intestine. The incident is said to have occurred at 8.00 pm. Normally, digestion would take some time. This lends credence to the argument that the incident took place much later, and may not have been witnessed. This theory gets corroborated from the circumstance that the FIR was lodged at 4:15 am next day. If fear of night was the factor for the delay in lodging the FIR what was the hurry in lodging the FIR at 4.15 am when, admittedly, it was still dark. This also lends credence to the possibility, which has been suggested by the defense, that Jagdish Prasad (the informant), who resided in a different village 45 km away, was summoned, and, thereafter, FIR was lodged by doing guess-work and by creating witness of circumstance, namely, P.W.2

51. There is yet another aspect which goes in favour of the appellant. This is that the charge against the appellant is not under section 302 IPC simpliciter but under section 302 read with section 149 I.P.C. Interestingly, except the statement of the informant made to P.W.2, which we have already held not admissible, there is no evidence to show that there were five or more persons involved in the crime. Admittedly P.W.2 saw only three accused running. The remaining two were not seen by her. In fact, charge-sheet was laid against four persons only. The identity of the fifth could not be established. When participation by five persons is not proved by any admissible evidence led by the prosecution, there can be no conviction with the aid of section 149 I.P.C. Otherwise, there is no evidence as to who played what role and whether they shared common intention hence conviction with the aid of section 34 IPC would also not be justified more so because the only evidence that survives is with regard to three persons running not from the spot of occurrence but at some distance therefrom. On this ground also, the conviction of the appellants can not be sustained.

52. In addition to above, there is another unexplained circumstance in the prosecution case which is as to why would Naresh (surviving appellant), who had no motive, would join other accused in finishing off the two deceased. No doubt, prosecution has led evidence that there had been a motive for Dalveer; Man Singh; and Ramesh to finish off the deceased - Kishan Lal as he had implicated them in the past but there is no motive attributed to the surviving-appellant Naresh to join the other accused. Further, we find that other two accused were by caste Dhobi whereas Naresh is Nai by caste.

53. When we take a conspectus of the entire evidence led by the prosecution, we find that there are too many gaps in the prosecution evidence and, therefore, even if we go by the circumstantial evidence, the chain of circumstances is not complete to rule out all other hypothesis than the guilt of the accused. Hence, the benefit of doubt would have to go to the accused.

54. Consequently, for all the reasons recorded above, we have no option but to allow the appeal. The judgment and order dated 28.08.1992 passed by IVth Additional Sessions Judge, Moradabad in Sessions Trial No. 587 of 1986 is hereby set aside as against the appellant Naresh. The appellant Naresh is acquitted of all the charges leveled against him. If the appellant is on bail, he need not surrender.

55. Let a copy of this order be sent to the trial court for compliance.

THE HON'BLE VIVEK VARMA, J.

Criminal Appeal No. 1749 of 1988

Bhim Sen ...Appellant (In Jail)
Versus
State of U.P. ...Respondent

Counsel for the Appellant:
Sri G.N. Sharma, Sri Jitendra Singh

Counsel for the Respondent:
D.G.A.

A. Evidence Law - The Indian Evidence Act, 1872 - Section 32 - dying declaration - Section 106 - Burden of proving fact especially within knowledge.

The conviction of the appellant in the present case is essentially based upon the dying declaration of the deceased - it stands admitted to the appellant that he was present in the house and he has failed to come up with any explanation with regard to the deceased's clothes having caught fire, the Court can validly draw an adverse inference against him on the presumption that the appellant has concealed material information pertaining to the death of the deceased from the Court - the complicity of the appellant in committing the deceased's murder is proved from the facts stated by the deceased in her dying declaration. (Para 29, 44 & 45)

B. Evidence Law - The Indian Evidence Act, 1872 - Section 32 - doctrine of dying declaration-'Nemo moriturus praesumitur mentire' - which means 'a man will not meet his maker with a lie in his mouth' – held-the dying declaration of the deceased is not liable to be discarded solely on the ground because there is no law which requires that dying declaration in order to be reliable, should be recorded before the Magistrate. (Para 35)

The doctrine of dying declaration is enshrined in section 32 of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872 as an exception to the general rule contained in section 60 of the Evidence Act, which provides that oral evidence in all cases must be direct i.e., it must be the evidence of a witness, who says he saw it. The dying declaration is, in fact, the statement of a person, who cannot be called as witness and, therefore, cannot be cross-examined. Such statements themselves are relevant facts in certain cases. (Para 31)

C. Evidence Law - The Indian Evidence Act, 1872 - Section 106 - Burden of proving fact especially within knowledge - When any fact is especially within the knowledge of any person, the burden of proving that fact is upon him. (Para 43)

The appellant had neither stated in his examination u/s 313 Cr.P.C. nor he had given any suggestion to any of the witnesses or adduced any evidence to show that he was not present in the house at the time of the incident. There is complete absence of any denial from the side of the appellant about his presence in his house at the time of the occurrence. (Para 43)

Held:- The dying declaration recorded in accordance with law, is reliable and gives a cogent and possible explanation of the occurrence of the events - no illegality or legal infirmity in relying upon the deceased's dying declaration for the purpose of recording the appellant's conviction - Apart from the dying declaration of the deceased there is yet another extremely glaring incriminating circumstance pointing at the guilt of the appellant. (Para 41, 42 & 49)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Bala Krishna Narayana, J.)

1. Heard Sri Jitendra Singh, learned counsel for the appellant and Sri M.C. Joshi and Smt. Manju Thakur, learned A.G.A.-I for the State.

2. Appellant Bhim Sen has filed this appeal before this Court against the judgement and order dated 06.08.1988 passed by IInd Additional Sessions Judge, Mathura in S.T. No. 603 of 1987, 'State Vs. Gir Prasad and two others' arising out of Case Crime No. 157 of 2014 by which he has been convicted and sentenced to imprisonment for life u/s 302 I.P.C. and three years rigorous imprisonment u/s 498-A I.P.C. Both the sentences were directed to run concurrently.

3. Briefly stated the facts of this case are that appellant Bhim Sen son of Dhaniram was married according to Hindu rites and rituals to Smt. Bina (deceased), daughter of Sukha, resident of village- Pilua Sadikpur, P.S.- Farah, District- Mathura about three years before the incident and one Bainiram was the middle man. It is also alleged that Bainiram had given a loan of Rs. 14,000/- to Dhaniram, father of the three accused, prior to the said marriage and when Dhaniram showed his reluctance to return the loan amount, Bainiram asked him to return the same with a promise to give him loan again at the time of marriage of appellant Bhim Sen, as a result of which Dhaniram returned the said money to Bainiram. It is further alleged that at the time of the marriage of appellant Bhim Sen when Dhaniram again demanded the loan from Bainiram, he refused to oblige him. However, for the said marriage of appellant Bhim Sen, Dhaniram took loan from some third person. The other two accused, Chhotey and Gir Prasad used to tell appellant Bhim Sen that he must compensate them for the money spent by their father in the marriage. It is further alleged that two months prior to May, 1986, appellant Bhim Sen went to Sukha, father of Smt. Bina (deceased) and asked him to arrange payment of Rs. 7,000/- spent by her father in the marriage but Sukha showed his inability to arrange the said money. Thereafter, all the aforesaid three accused, it is alleged, started harassing and maltreating Smt. Bina for the said amount. It is further alleged that on 19.05.1986 at about 7 a.m., P.W.1 informant Girraj Singh, Pradhan of village- Kharba along with P.W.2 Ram Gopal alias Ghora happened to pass from near the house of appellant Bhim Sen and they heard shrieks of a lady emanating from inside his house. When they went inside the house, they saw Smt. Bina in the courtyard, appellant Bhim Sen and accused Chhotey had caught hold of her while accused Gir Prasad had set her on fire as a result of which she was burnt. It is also alleged that before putting her on fire, kerosene oil had been poured on her body by accused-appellant Bhim Sen. The said occurrence was also witnessed by P.W.3 Saligram, P.W.4 Ram Dayal and other residents of village- Nagla. Smt. Bina was taken to P.S.- Raya by P.W.1 informant Girraj Singh to lodge the written report of the incident (Ext.Ka.1) containing the prosecution version of the case.

4. Smt. Bina was immediately taken to Civil Hospital, Mathura and from there, she was taken to Methodist Hospital, Jaisingh Pura, Mathura. There she made a statement which was recorded as her dying declaration by P.W.13 Dr. Solomon Chatterjee. On 23.05.1986, Smt. Bina died as a result of burn injuries received by her in the above occurrence.

5. After completion of the investigation of the aforesaid case, the Investigating Officer submitted charge-sheet against all the three accused before the Chief Judicial Magistrate, Mathura (Ext.Ka.18).

6. Since the offences mentioned in the charge-sheet were triable exclusively by the Court of Sessions, Chief Judicial Magistrate, Mathura committed the accused for trial to the Court of Sessions Judge, Mathura where Case Crime No. 157 of 2014 was registered as S.T. No. 603 of 1987, "State Vs. Gir Prasad and two others", and made over for trial from there to the Court of IInd Additional Sessions Judge, Mathura who on the basis of material collected during the investigation and after hearing the prosecution as well as the accused on the point of charge, framed charge u/s 302 & 498-A I.P.C. against appellant Bhim Sen while acquitted co-accused Chhotey @ Om Prakash and Gir Prasad of all the charges. Appellant Bhim Sen abjured the charges framed against him and claimed trial.

7. The prosecution in order to prove its case against the accused-appellant Bhim Sen examined as many as 14 witnesses.

8. P.W.1 informant Girraj Singh, who is the father of the deceased, stated that on 19.05.1986 at about 7 a.m. when he along with P.W.2 Ghora alias Ram Gopal was passing from near the house of the accused, he heard shrieks of a lady from inside the house and when they went inside the house, they found that appellant Bhim Sen and Chhotey had caught hold of Smt. Bina whose body was on fire and accused Gir Prasad was also present there. He also stated that at that time, the three accused were taunting Smt. Bina that her father had not returned Rs. 12,000/- which he had promised to give. He also stated that in the said occurrence, appellant Bhim Sen also received burn injuries. He also stated that thereafter he lodged written report of the incident (Ext.Ka.1) at P.S.- Raya, District- Mathura.

9. P.W.2 Ram Gopal alias Ghora is also an eye-witness of the occurrence and he corroborated the statement of P.W.1 informant Girraj Singh to some extent but since he had not fully corroborated the statement which he had given earlier u/s 161 Cr.P.C., at the request of public prosecutor, he was declared hostile and public prosecutor was allowed to cross-examine him.

10. P.W.3 Saligram and P.W.4 Ram Dayal were eye-witnesses of the occurrence but both of them turned hostile and did not support the prosecution case.

11. P.W.5 Keshav, who is the real brother of the deceased Smt. Bina stated that about three years ago, his sister was married with appellant Bhim Sen according to Hindu rites in which one Bainiram was middleman. He had also stated that Bainiram had given a loan of Rs. 14,000/- to Dhaniram, father of the three accused and he took the above loan amount from Dhaniram under the excuse that he would again advance money at the time of marriage of appellant Bhim Sen but he did not stand by his promise, as a result of which Dhaniram had to take loan from some other persons to meet the expenses of marriage of appellant Bhim Sen. He also stated that accused Gir Prasad and Chhotey used to ask appellant Bhim Sen to compensate them for the money spent by their father in his marriage and two months before the death of Smt. Bina, appellant Bhim Sen had come to his house and demanded Rs. 7,000/- from his father to arrange the money which had been spent in the marriage of Smt. Bina but his father refused. He also stated that thereafter, he saw his sister in a burnt condition in Methodist Hospital, Jaisingh Pura, Mathura.

12. P.W.6 Dr. P.K. Sharma stated that on 19.05.1986, he conducted medical examination of Smt. Bina and he found 1 to 3 degree burns over the face, neck, skull, hair of Smt. Bina and also on other portions of her body and the burns were about 80 to 85%. He also opined that the injuries found on the body of Smt. Bina could have been caused to her at about 7 a.m. on the same day and he proved his injury report as (Ext.Ka.2).

13. P.W.7 Constable Vinod Kumar stated that on 23.05.1986, he along with Constable Bachu Singh had brought the dead body of Smt. Bina to Mathura for postmortem examination.

14. P.W.8 Head Constable Madan Lal is the scribe of check F.I.R. (Ext.Ka.3) and corresponding G.D. Entry (Ext.Ka.4). He also stated that on 28.05.1986, the present case was converted from u/s 307 I.P.C. to u/s 302 I.P.C. and he proved corresponding G.D. Entry (Ext.Ka.5). He also proved G.D. Entries (Exts.Ka.6 and Ka.7) which related to the factum of sending of special report to the concerned authorities and also entry regarding the return of the constable at the police station after delivery of the special report.

15. P.W.9 S.I. P.C. Chaturvedi stated that on 23.05.1986, he conducted inquest on the dead body of Smt. Bina and prepared inquest report (Ext.Ka.8) and other related documents (Exts.Ka.9 to Ka.13).

16. P.W.10 S.I. Satyapal Singh stated that the present case was registered at the police station in his presence and he was entrusted with the investigation of the case. He stated that during investigation of the case, he prepared site plan of the place of occurrence (Ext.Ka.14) and recovery memos of 'pipi' of kerosene oil (Ext.Ka.15), burnt dhoti (Ext.Ka.16) and kerosene oil stained earth (Ext.Ka.17). He also stated that thereafter the investigation of the case was handed over by him to P.W.12 Deputy S.P. Suresh Chandra Sharma as it was the case of dowry death.

17. P.W.11 Dr. S.K. Srivastava, Methodist Hospital, Jaisingh Pura, Mathura produced the dying declaration of Smt. Bina dated 19.05.1986 from the record of the hospital and proved the same as (Ext.Ka.20).

18. P.W.12 Deputy S.P. Suresh Chandra Sharma who had investigated the case in later stages, stated that after completion of investigation, he filed charge-sheet (Ext.Ka.18) against the three accused.

19. P.W.13 Dr. Solomon Chatterjee stated that on 19.05.1986 when he was working in Methodist Hospital, Jaisingh Pura Mathura, he recorded the dying declaration of Smt. Bina (Exts.Ka.19). He also stated that he recorded the said dying declaration instead of calling a Magistrate because Smt. Bina had burn injuries of 95% and he was afraid that she may succumb to her injuries even before the arrival of the Magistrate.

20. P.W.14 Dr. M.K. Gupta stated that on 23.5.1986, he was posted as Medical Officer, Civil Hospital, Mathura and had conducted postmortem examination on the dead body of Smt. Bina and prepared her postmortem report (Ext.Ka.21) He noted following ante-mortem injuries on the person of Smt. Bina :-

Superficial two deep septic wound burns present on head and face, neck both sides, thorex both sides, including both breasts upper part of abdomen above the umblicus both sides. Both upper limb, both side front and back including both hands lower part of both thighs and whole of leg on both sides. Foul smelling coming from septic wounds. Skin is peeled at places. Vesicles present at places.

21. According to P.W.14 Dr. M.K. Gupta, the death of Smt. Bina was caused due to shock and toxaemia as a result of ante-mortem burn injuries.

22. The appellant and the other co-accused in their examination u/s 313 Cr.P.C. admitted that Smt. Bina was married to the appellant but rest of the allegations were denied by them. Appellant Bhim Sen also stated that P.W.1 informant Girraj Singh, Pradhan of the village, wanted to grab the land belonging to his family and for that reason, he and his brothers had been falsely implicated in the present case. The accused-appellant also examined Hoti Lal and Dr. H.K. Kulshrestha as D.W.1 and D.W.2.

23. Learned IInd Additional Sessions Judge, Mathura after considering the submissions advanced before him by the learned counsel for the parties and scrutinizing the evidence on record, both oral as well as documentary, by the impugned judgement and order, while acquitting co-accused Chhotey @ Om Prakash and Gir Prasad, convicted the appellant and awarded aforesaid sentences to him.

24. Hence, this appeal.

25. It is contended by Sri Jitendra Singh, learned counsel for the appellant that no one had actually seen the incident and after the deceased's clothes had caught fire while she was cooking food and taken to the hospital where she succumbed to her burn injuries, an absolutely false F.I.R. was lodged by P.W.1 informant Girraj Singh, the Pradhan of the village, falsely implicating his brothers with the sole malafide intention of grabbing their property. He next submitted that the glaring contradictions between the recitals contained in the F.I.R. lodged by P.W.1 informant Girraj Singh describing himself as the eye-witness and those contained in the dying declaration of the deceased which itself is a forged and fabricated statement, totally belies the prosecution story that the appellant had caused the death of his wife after pouring kerosene oil on her and setting her ablaze on account of her failure to bring the sum of Rs. 14,000/- which his brothers had allegedly spent on the marriage between the deceased and the appellant. He next submitted that there is no explanation why the dying declaration of the deceased was not recorded before the Magistrate although she had remained alive for more than four days after the incident and there is no cogent and reliable evidence on record indicating that the deceased who was admitted to the hospital and with more than 95 burn injuries, was in a fit mental condition to record her dying declaration or for that matter even to speak and hence, reliance placed by the learned trial Judge on the deceased's dying declaration is totally unjustified. He lastly submitted that the neither the recorded conviction of the appellant nor the sentence awarded to him can be sustained and is liable to be set-aside.

26. Per contra Smt. Manju Thakur, learned A.G.A.-I for the State submitted that it is fully proved from the evidence of the three eye witnesses of fact that the appellant had set his wife (deceased) ablaze after pouring kerosene oil on her on account of non-fulfillment of demand made by him from her family members. It is further established from the medical evidence that the deceased had died as a result of the burn injuries received by her in her matrimonial home. She also contended that even if it is assumed for the sake of arguments that there are contradictions in the statements of the eye-witnesses and the facts stated by the deceased in the dying declaration, even then the appellant is not entitled to be acquitted of the charges for the simple reason that there being no denial on the part of the appellant that at the time of the incident, he was not present in the house and hence, the facts relating to the unnatural death of the deceased were within his special knowledge and he having failed to come up with any explanation for the circumstances under which the deceased had caught fire and received burn injuries to which she later succumbed, the appellant cannot escape fastening of guilt of the murder of his wife on him. Even otherwise, contradiction if any vis-a-vis the F.I.R. recitals and the dying declaration of the deceased are not so material so as to render the entire prosecution case unreliable and untrustworthy. This appeal lacks merit and is liable to be dismissed.

27. We have heard learned counsel for the parties present and perused the entire lower court record very carefully.

28. The only question which arises for our consideration in this appeal is that whether the prosecution has been able to prove its case against the accused-appellants beyond all reasonable doubts or not ?

29. The conviction of the appellant in the present case is essentially based upon the dying declaration of the deceased (Exts.Ka.19 & Ka.20).

30. Before testing the grounds on which the learned counsel for the appellant has challenged the veracity of the dying declaration of the deceased, we consider it useful to have a glance at the law on the issue of admissibility of dying declaration for the purpose of conviction of appellant.

31. The doctrine of dying declaration is enshrined in the legal maxim 'Nemo moriturus praesumitur mentire', which means 'a man will not meet his maker with a lie in his mouth'. The doctrine of dying declaration is enshrined in section 32 of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872 (hereinafter called as, 'Evidence Act') as an exception to the general rule contained in section 60 of the Evidence Act, which provides that oral evidence in all cases must be direct i.e., it must be the evidence of a witness, who says he saw it. The dying declaration is, in fact, the statement of a person, who cannot be called as witness and, therefore, cannot be cross-examined. Such statements themselves are relevant facts in certain cases.

32. In the case of Munnawar and others v. State of Uttar Pradesh and others reported in 2010 (70) ACC 853 (SC), the Apex Court held as under:

"that a dying declaration can be relied upon if the deceased remained alive for a long period of time after the incident and died after recording of the dying declaration. That may be evidence to show that his condition was not overtly critical or precarious when the dying declaration was recorded."

33. It would be pertinent to note the case of Bhajju alias Karan Singh v. State of M.P. reported in 2012 (77) ACC 182 (SC) before the Apex Court which had almost identical facts. The dying declaration of the deceased was relied upon as the witnesses of fact did not support the prosecution case and were declared hostile and similar defence was taken that the deceased had caught fire while she was cooking food. The Hon'ble Court referring to the case of Munna Raja and another v. The State of Madhya Pradesh reported in (1976) 3 SCC 104 relied upon by the learned counsel for the accused-appellant observed as under:

"Reliance placed by the learned counsel appearing for the appellant/accused upon the judgement of this Court in the case of Munnu Raja and another v. The State of Madhya Pradesh reported in (1976) 3 SCC 104 to contend that a dying declaration cannot be corroborated by the testimony of hostile witnesses is hardly of any help. As already noticed, none of the witnesses or the authorities involved in the recording of the dying declaration had turned hostile. On the contrary, they have fully supported the case of the prosecution and have, beyond reasonable doubt, proved that the dying declaration is reliable, truthful and was voluntarily made by the deceased. We may also notice that this very judgement relied upon by the accused itself clearly says that the dying declaration can be acted upon without corroboration and can be made the basis of conviction. Paragraph 6 of the said judgement reads as under:-

".....It is well settled that though a dying declaration must be approached with caution for the reason that the maker of the statement cannot be subject to cross-examination, there is neither a rule of law nor a rule of prudence which has hardened into a rule of law that a dying declaration cannot be acted upon unless it is corroborated (see Khushal Rao v. State of Bombay*). The High Court, it is true, has held that the evidence of the two eye-witnesses corroborated the dying declarations but it did not come to the conclusion that the dying declarations suffered from any infirmity by reason of which it was necessary to look out for corroboration."*

In para-22 of this report the Hon'ble Court has further held that-

"The law is very clear that if the dying declaration has been recorded in accordance with law, is reliable and gives a cogent and possible explanation of the occurrence of the events, then the dying declaration can certainly be relied upon by the Court and could form the sole piece of evidence resulting in the conviction of the accused. This Court has clearly stated the principle that section 32 of the Evidence Act, 1872 (for short 'the Act') is an exception to the general rule against the admissibility of hearsay evidence. Clause (1) of section 32 makes the statement of the deceased admissible, which is generally described as a 'dying declaration'."

The Apex Court relying upon the dying declaration of the deceased being consistent with the prosecution case which was fully corroborated by medical evidence did not disturb the concurrent findings of guilt of accused-appellant recorded by the two Courts. In view of the aforesaid preposition of the law the dying declaration of the deceased recorded in this case fulfills all the legal requirements and it is in consonance with the prosecution story as also the medical evidence.

34. Thus, what follows from the reading of the aforesaid authorities on the issue is that if the dying declaration has been recorded in accordance with law, is reliable and gives a cogent and possible explanation of the occurrence of the events, then the dying declaration can certainly be relied upon by the Court could form a sole piece of evidence resulting in the conviction of the the accused.

35. Admissibility of the dying declaration of the deceased has been assailed by the learned counsel for the appellants on four grounds. Firstly, it was not recorded before the Magistrate although the circumstance did not warrant any such urgency as shown by P.W.13 Dr. Solomon Chatterjee in recording deceased's dying declaration without waiting for the Magistrate to arrive. In our opinion, the dying declaration of the deceased is not liable to be discarded solely on the aforesaid ground because there is no law which requires that dying declaration in order to be reliable, should be recorded before the Magistrate. Before drawing any adverse inference against the prosecution on account of the dying declaration having been recorded by the doctor attending her and not before the Magistrate, we will have to examine the other attending circumstances also.

36. The second ground on which the deceased's dying declaration has been challenged is that there was evidence on record showing that when she was admitted to the hospital, she was injected pethidine injection and as such she was not in a position to speak and hence, her dying declaration could not have been recorded there. In this regard, learned counsel for the appellant invited attention of the court to the verdict of Hon'ble Supreme Court rendered in the case State (Delhi Administration) vs Lachhman Kumar & others reported in 1986 SCC (Crl) page 2. In the aforesaid case before the Hon'ble Supreme Court, pethidine injection had been given to the deceased and the doctor prescribed repetition of it every eight hours. It was observed by Hon'ble Supreme Court in para 26 of the judgement on page 17 that a judicial notice can be taken of the fact that after pethidine injection is given, the patient would not have normal alertness and thus, the certificate of the doctor that deceased was in a fit condition to make a dying declaration can not be given full credit. The above observation was made by Hon'ble Supreme Court on the basis of the peculiar facts of that case. In that case, a dying declaration of a lady had been recorded by a police officer in suspicious circumstances which was contradictory to her earlier oral dying declaration and the court while dis-believing the said dying declaration took the above fact also in view that she had been given a pethidine injection before her dying declaration was recorded. So far as the present case is concerned, P.W.13 Dr. Solomon Chatterjee was cross-examined quite in detail regarding the effect of pethidine injection and on pages 5 and 6 of his statement, he stated that if pethidine injection of small dose of 50 mg is given to a patient then the patient need not in every case became unconscious. He also opined that main function of the pethidine injection is to reduce the pain of the patient. He specifically stated that when he recorded the dying declaration of Smt. Bina, she was fully conscious. A certificate to this effect was also recorded by the doctor below the dying declaration of Smt. Bina (Ext.Ka.19) that the patient was in a fully lucid condition. A reading of the entire evidence of P.W.13 Dr. Solomon Chatterjee leaves no doubt that when he recorded the dying declaration (Ext.Ka.19) of Smt. Bina, she was fully conscious and, therefore, merely because a pethidine injection had been given to her earlier to reduce her pain, from this fact, no presumption can be drawn that she was not in a fit condition to give the said dying declaration.

37. We further find that there is nothing on the record indicating anything on the file to show that when her dying declaration was recorded by P.W.13 Dr. Solomon Chatterjee, Smt. Bina was not in a fit condition to make the said dying declaration.

38. The next ground raised on behalf of appellant Bhim Sen is that it is admitted to P.W.13 Dr. Solomon Chatterjee that when Smt. Bina was brought to Methodist Hospital, she had about 90 to 95% burns and thus, according to learned counsel for the appellant, when a patient has suffered such burn injuries, it is apparent that he/she cannot be in a fit condition to make a dying declaration. When in this regard, P.W.13 Dr. Solomon Chatterjee was cross-examined, he stated that inspite of 90 to 95% burns, Smt. Bina was in a condition to make a dying declaration. In Liyakat Ali vs State reported in 1988 (1) Crimes page 647, Hon'ble Delhi High Court observed that a patient having even 90% burns may even be in a position to give a statement depending on nature and depth of the burns and thus simply because a patient has 90 to 95% burns, it does not lead to the only conclusion that he/she is not in a fit condition to make any statement. P.W.13 Dr. Solomon Chatterjee who is an absolutely honest an independent witness and who has no motive whatsoever either against appellant Bhim Sen or against any other accused and who had no opportunity to record dying declaration (Ext.Ka.19) of Smt. Bina has stated clearly that when he recorded her statement, she was in a fit condition to make the statement and there is nothing on the record to dis-believe the above contention of P.W.13 Dr. Solomon Chatterjee and, therefore, simply because she had 90 to 95% burns on her body, it will not be enough to believe that she was not in a fit condition to make a statement when her dying declaration was recorded.

39. The fourth ground on which the dying declaration has been castigated by the learned counsel for the appellant is that there are material contradictions between the facts stated by the deceased in her dying declaration and those in the written report of the incident. Inviting our attention to the written report of the incident (Ext.Ka.1) and the deceased's dying declaration (Ext.Ka.19), he submitted that while in the written report of the incident, it has been recited that when the informant reached the house of the deceased on hearing her shrieks at about 7 p.m., he saw that appellant Bhim Sen and Jyoti had caught the hands of Smt. Bina and set her ablaze shouting that her family members had failed to fulfill their demands of dowry of Rs. 10,000/- and the incident was the result of the aforesaid omission on their part. However, the deceased in her dying declaration had stated that her brother-in-law and sister-in-law (jeth and jethani) used to quarrel with her everyday and ask her to bring Rs. 12,000/- from her paternal home which was spent on her marriage. On 19.05.1986 when she had returned after answering the call of nature in the morning, her brother-in-law and sister-in-law had again quarrelled with her and thereafter her husband Bhim Sen had sprinkled kerosene oil on her and set her ablaze. The villagers had saved her.

40. We do not find any reason to disbelieve the dying declaration of the deceased on the ground of aforesaid contradictions. The written report of the incident was not lodged by the deceased and hence, the defence cannot get any advantage of the aforesaid discrepancy especially when we have found her dying declaration to be a valid document.

41. The dying declaration in this case, in our opinion, has been recorded in accordance with law, is reliable and gives a cogent and possible explanation of the occurrence of the events.

42. Thus, in view of the above, we do not find that the learned trial Judge committed any illegality or legal infirmity in relying upon the deceased's dying declaration (Ext.Ka.19) for the purpose of recording the appellant's conviction. Apart from the dying declaration of the deceased (Ext.Ka.19), we find that there is yet another extremely glaring incriminating circumstance pointing at the guilt of the appellant.

43. The appellant had neither stated in his examination u/s 313 Cr.P.C. nor he had given any suggestion to any of the witnesses or adduced any evidence to show that he was not present in the house at the time of the incident. There is complete absence of any denial from the side of the appellant about his presence in his house at the time of the occurrence. In such a case, Section 106 of the Evidence Act comes into play. Section 106 of the Evidence Act reads as hereunder :-

Section 106 in The Indian Evidence Act, 1872

106. Burden of proving fact especially within knowledge--When any fact is especially within the knowledge of any person, the burden of proving that fact is upon him. Illustrations

(a) When a person does an act with some intention other than that which the character and circumstances of the act suggest, the burden of proving that intention is upon him.

(b) A is charged with travelling on a railway without a ticket. The burden of proving that he had a ticket is on him.

44. Now, since we have already noted that it stands admitted to the appellant that he was present in the house and he has failed to come up with any explanation with regard to the deceased's clothes having caught fire, the Court can validly draw an adverse inference against him on the presumption that the appellant has concealed material information pertaining to the death of the deceased from the Court.

45. Thus, the complicity of the appellant in committing the deceased's murder is proved from the facts stated by the deceased in her dying declaration.

46. Although there is no law which requires that a conviction can be based upon a dying declaration only when corroborated by other evidence. In the present case, the facts deposed by the deceased in her dying declaration finds corroboration from the other circumstances as well. The presence of the appellant at the time and place of the incident is not only established from the evidence of P.W.1 informant Girraj Singh but also from the testimony of Dr. H.K. Kulshreshtha, who was examined as D.W.2. and who had proved the injuries of the deceased as well as the appellant Bhim Sen which he is alleged to have received in the same occurrence.

47. Learned counsel for the appellant has endeavoured to persuade us that the factum of the deceased also having received injuries in the same incident is a very strong circumstance indicating that the appellant could not have set the deceased on fire as he himself had received injuries in the occurrence trying to douse the fire in order to save her.

48. The aforesaid ground deserves to be rejected forthwith. It is evident from the injury report of the appellant as well as the evidence of D.W.2 Dr. H.K. Kulshreshtha that the appellant had got his injuries examined at 6.45 p.m. although the incident had taken place at 7 a.m. No explanation is coming forth for the inordinate delay of almost 12 hours on the part of the appellant in getting his injuries examined promptly. Under such circumstances, the possibility of the burn injuries noted by D.W.1 and the appellant's body being self-inflicted with the object of saving himself, cannot be ruled out.

49. Thus, upon a holistic view of the facts of the case, attending circumstances and the evidence on record, we do not find that the learned trial Judge committed any other illegality in convicting the appellant and awarding aforesaid sentences to him.

50. This appeal lacks merit and is accordingly dismissed.

51. Appellant Bhim Sen is on bail. His bail bonds are cancelled and his sureties discharged. Chief Judicial Magistrate, Mathura is directed to get appellant Bhim Sen arrested and sent to jail for serving out the remaining part of his sentences.

52. There shall however, be no order as to costs.

He stated that quite close to the field belonging to Niwazi on the Southern side of the road there was field of Ali Mohammad in which there was a Rahat and a well. Ali Mohammad was a little ahead of him and Kallu and when they were near the field of Niwazi and the Rahat at about 2 p.m. in the afternoon both the accused persons, who had been lying ambush in the field of Niwazi came out with country made pistols in their hands and fired at Ali Mohammad, who tried to run away but fell down in other field of Niwazi towards North of the road in which Barley crop had been standing. Both the accused persons went near Ali Mohammad and again fired at him with their pistols saying "we have taken the revenge today". Thereafter, both the accused ran away towards the North. They were chased by the witnesses upto some distance but none of them could be apprehended.

4. Prior to 3-4 years of the present incident, the police had arrested accused Bashir along with country made pistol and since then the accused Bashir used to bear enmity with his brother Ali Mohammad. Accused Bashir was having relations with one Manohar of his village, who was a criminal. He stated that because of inimical relationship with his brother, the two accused with a conspiracy of Manohar, have committed murder of his brother Ali Mohammad. It was stated by him that the dead body of his brother is lying at the spot and near the dead body, he has left his family members and other persons of his village, who were present there and prayed that necessary action be taken against the accused persons.

pleaded not guilty stating that they have been falsely roped in the present case due to animosity. In defence they submitted that the deceased Ali Mohammad was killed at some point of time in the night in his field near the place of occurrence when he was keeping watch over his crops. According to the suggestion put forward by the defence, one Jauhari Kisan belonging to the gang of notorious dacoit Mahabira was killed in a fake encounter by the police with the help of Ali Mohmmad-the deceased and his three companions, namely, Mukut, Babu and Ram Sanehi. The gang of Mahabira decided to take revenge and killed the three companions of Ali Mohammad one by one. denied the suggestion that he had dictated the report to Neksu. He is not aware of the police encounter of Jauhari Kisan. He is also not aware that the said encounter of Jauhari Kisan was done by S.O. Narain Singh in the way of Eklahara to Kampil. He did not know that when Jauhari Kisan was killed in the police encounter, deceased Ali Mohammad, Babu Khan and Mukut were also accompanying the police party. He denied the suggestion that Ali Mohammad could not be traced out, hence his brother Ali Mulla was murdered.

27. In his cross-examination, he admitted that Ram Sanehi Baniya of Bhawalpur was murdered. It is incorrect the deceased Ali Mohammad and Riyasat were named accused in the said case. He denied that charge-sheet has not been submitted against Ali Mohammad though he was named as accused in the said case. He stated that during his tenure no dacoity had taken place in village Iklahara in which the deceased Ali Mohammad and his brother-in-law Liyaqat of Bahawalpur were accused. 28. The trial court after examining the prosecution evidence and the defence version has concluded that it was the appellants along with co-accused, who have murdered the deceased and has convicted and sentenced they for the offence under section 302 I.P.C. for life imprisonment, hence the present appeal by the appellants.

29. Heard Sri Ambrish Kumar Srivastava, learned counsel for the appellants, Sri Jai Narain, learned A.G.A. for the State and perused the record as well as impugned judgment and order of the trial court.

30. Learned counsel for the appellants submits that the deceased Ali Mohammad was a pocket witness of the police and he along with Mukut had assisted the police in the encounter of one Jauhari Kisan, who was done to death in the said police encounter. As a revenge, Mukut, Babu and the brother of the deceased-Ali Mohammad, namely, Ali Mulla were murdered by the gang of Mahabira as Jauhari Kisan belonged to the said gang and it appears that the deceased was also shot dead by Mahabira gang and the appellant has been falsely implicated in the present case due to inimical relationship with P.W. 2. He argued that the daughter of P.W. 2 was married to Noor Hasan, who belonged to the family of appellant Afsar. He has pointed that as per the evidence of P.W. 2 though he has denied that Afsar had forcibly taken his daughter due to which there was a dispute between them on account of which he has implicated the appellant. He further pointed out that there appears to be some animosity of P.W. 2 with appellant Afsar as P.W. 2 had purchased an agricultural land of one Dad Khan and given it to him and Afsar had not given Rs. 412 to him because of which he was annoyed with him and there was ill will between the parties and the false implication of the appellant Afsar by P.W. 2 cannot be ruled out. He argued that P.W. 1, who is the real brother of the deceased was though stated to have accompanied the deceased along with P.W. 2 Kallu at the time of incident but his testimony has been discarded by the trial court as his presence at the place of occurrence was found to be doubtful and the conviction of the appellant is solely based on the evidence of P.W. 2, who claims to be the eye witness of the occurrence. He submitted that the place of occurrence also appears to be doubtful as it appears from the evidence of P.W. 7 Ram Autar Singh-the Investigating Officer as it was stated by him that the place of occurrence is an interior place where the chak of the deceased Ali Mohammad was situated and the deceased was done to death in some other manner and not as stated by the prosecution by some unknown miscreants and at the time of his death belt of cartridges were also found which shows that the deceased was done to death by firing shot on him at his chak which was an interior and lonely place. It was submitted by him that the testimony of P.W. 2 is also not reliable as from his evidence also it is evident that he was following the deceased, who was ahead of him and when the deceased was shot it is stated by him that out of two accused including the appellant Bashir and Afsar one of them, who fired at the deceased which hit him and when he turned around then he saw that two accused were having country made pistol in their hands and because of fear he ran for his life and was standing at a distance of 50 paces in the field of Ali Murad and heard three more shots. He reached the place of occurrence after half an hour which goes to show that the said witness actually did not see the incident and he has also denied that P.W. 1 was present along with him and the deceased at the place of occurrence.

31. It was further pointed out that from the evidence of P.W. 6 it is quite evident that the deceased, who was shot dead at an interior place situated at his chak and when information was received by P.W. 1 and 2 and others villagers they reached at the place of occurrence and informed the police, who arrived thereafter. He submitted that so far as appellant is concerned, he has no criminal antecedent whereas co-accused Bashir was a man of criminal antecedents and he had also strong motive to commit the murder of the deceased as he was caught by the police with a country made pistol and he had an impression that because of the deceased Ali Mohammad being a pocket witness of the police, had got him arrested by the police, hence he committed the murder of the deceased and no recovery of any weapon or incriminating article was made either from the possession of the appellant or on his pointing out, hence conviction and sentence of the appellant by the trial court is against the evidence on record and liable to be set aside and appellant be acquitted.

32. On the other hand, learned A.G.A. opposed the argument of learned counsel for the appellant and stated that it is true that the trial court, only on the basis of testimony of P.W. 2, has convicted the appellant as it has disbelieved the presence of P.W. 1 at the place of occurrence. He argued that P.W. 2 Kallu was accompanying the deceased as it appears from his evidence and the ocular testimony fully corroborates the post mortem of the deceased, who died on account of fire arm injuries on his person. It was submitted by him that the suggestion which was given from the side of the defence that the deceased was a pocket witness of the police and he helped the police in the encounter of one Jauhari Kisan along with Mukut, Babu and Ali Mulla, who have been murdered and they were murdered by the gang of Mahabira as Jauhari Kisan belonged to the gang of Mahabira, has been denied by the P.W. 2 as he was not aware of the said fact but he could not dispute the fact that the deceased used to help the police in the encounters of dacoits of the area and it appears that Mahabira gang was operating in the area as the same was dacoity affected area. Thus, he refuted the contention of the learned counsel for the appellant and argued that no interference is required by this Court in the judgment and order of the trial court.

33. We have given thoughtful consideration to the submissions of learned counsel for the parties and perused the impugned judgment and order as well as lower court record.

34. From the prosecution case it is apparent that the deceased died on account of fire arm injuries received on his person as he has received as many as six gun shot injuries on his person whereas one lacerated wound on the back of the head and in the opinion of the doctor, the cause of death is shock and hemorrhage as a result of ante mortem injuries. The F.I.R. of the case was lodged by P.W. 1 Neksu and the scribe of the same was Mohammad Murtaza Ali which was registered on the basis of written report submitted by P.W. 1 at the police station on 20.3.1984 p.m. with respect to the incident which had taken place on the same day at 2 p.m. in the afternoon. P.W. 1 in his evidence has stated before the trial court that he was accompanying the deceased and eye witness Kallu at the time of incident and has seen the incident in which the two accused including the appellant have murdered the deceased by country made pistols. He further stated that the deceased was also assaulted by the said accused persons by lathi, who were carrying the same. It was submitted by learned counsel for the appellant that it is highly improbable that a person, who is carrying a country made pistol and had shot at the deceased would simultaneously carry lathi with them and assault the deceased with the same. It was submitted that the said improvement has been made by P.W. 1 in his statement before the trial court as injury no. 7 which was a lacerated wound found on the back of the head could be caused by blunt object, hence P.W. 1 tried to improve the prosecution case in his statement before the trial court though he has not mentioned about the deceased being assaulted with lathi by the two accused persons when they fired at him with a country made pistol and they were also carrying lathi with them. Moreover, P.W. 2 has categorically denied the presence of P.W. 1 at the place of occurrence in his evidence and has stated that only the deceased was with him and there was no one else present at the time of incident. After the incident, P.W. 2 had gone to the village and informed them about the incident, thus the trial court found the discrepancy in the evidence of P.W. 1 and his presence at the place of occurrence also appears to be doubtful, hence has discarded his evidence and found that he is not a wholly reliable witness and disbelieved his evidence but so far as evidence of P.W. 2 is concerned, the trial court has based the conviction of the appellant on his testimony only as it found that his evidence fully corroborates the prosecution case as his ocular testimony is supported by the medical report. From his evidence it is also evident that his daughter was married in the house of appellant Afsar to one Noor Hasan, it appears that Noor Hasan married his daughter against his wishes and further it was suggested to him that the appellant Afsar had forcibly taken his daughter to his house on account of which there was some quarrel between him and appellant Afsar though he denied the said fact. It was further suggested that an agricultural land of one Dad Khan was purchased by him-P.W. 2 and he had given the same to appellant Afsar because of his relationship with him and Afsar had not paid Rs. 412 to him due to which P.W. 2 was also annoyed though he has denied the said suggestion also. So far as suggestion given to P.W. 2 that one Jauhari Kisan was killed in a police encounter with the help of the deceased Ali Mohammad, Mukut and Babu Khan, who have assisted the police in the said encounter and Ali Mulla, Mukut and Babu Khan have been done to death and they were murdered by the gang of Mahabira, the witness had stated that he was not aware of the said fact. The witness had admitted that Ram Sanehi Baniya of Bahawalpur had been killed and there was no report regarding his murder against Ali Mohammad, Riyasat and others. In the village at the house of Parshuram, a dacoity had taken place and he had lodged a report against Ali Mohammad, Liyaqat but he has stated that he did not remember about the said fact as the incident was 15-16 years old. The brother-in-law of Afsar, namely, Sheru used to live in his village and there appears to be some quarrel between Liyaqat and Sheru. All these facts go to show that there was some inimical relation of P.W. 2 with appellant Afsar though he has denied the same in his evidence and regarding the deceased Ali Mohammad being a police witness and has having helped in the encounter of Jauhari Kisan, who was stated to be a member of the gang of Mahabira and also that Ali Mulla was suspected to be involved in the dacoity which had taken place in the village at the house of Parsuhram, goes to show that it was quite probable that the deceased was done to death in some other manner by unknown miscreants in the interior and lonely place where his chak was situated as has come in the evidence of P.W. 2 and the false implication of the appellant Afsar by P.W. 2 cannot be ruled out. It is also significant to note here that he had no motive to commit the murder of the deceased but this Court also does not loose sight that in a case of direct evidence motive has no significance but it would not be safe to convict and sentence the appellant only on the basis of evidence of P.W. 2 which appears to be highly inimical witness against the appellant. It also appears from the evidence of P.W. 2 that he was standing at a distance of 50 paces from the place of occurrence and has seen the accused persons from there. After half an hour he reached the place of occurrence and saw that the deceased lying dead which further goes to show that his presence at the place of occurrence is doubtful as had he been present there definitely he would also have been killed by the accused persons.

35. From the cross examination of P.W. 7-the Investigating Officer it is evident that he has stated that Ram Sanehi Baniya of Bahawalpur was murdered and in that murder he was given a suggestion that he has denied that the deceased Ali Mohammad and Riyasat were also an accused and he has submitted charge-sheet against the accused persons but had not submitted any charge-sheet against Ali Mohammad which also goes to show that Ali Mohammad was also not a man of good antecedent and he was a police witness and used to assist the police in the encounters of dacoits and he himself was involved in criminal cases but the police had protected him and no charge-sheet was submitted against him in the murder case of Ram Sanehi. Thus from the prosecution case, it is apparent that the prosecution has failed to prove its case beyond reasonable doubt against the appellant, hence the appellant is entitle to be acquitted.

36. In view of the foregoing discussion, impugned judgment and order of the trial court convicting and sentencing the appellant Afsar is hereby set aside.

37. The appeal stands allowed.

38. The appellant Afsar stated to be on bail. He need not surrender. His bail bond and sureties stands discharged.

39. It is further directed that the appellant shall furnish bail bonds with sureties to the satisfaction of the court concerned in terms of the provision of Section 437-A Cr.P.C.

40. Let the lower court record along with the present order be transmitted to the trial court concerned for necessary information and compliance forthwith.

List of cases cited: -

1. C.K. Jaffer Sharief Vs. State (Through CBI); 2013 (1) SCC 205.

2. Alpic Finance Ltd. Vs. Sadasivan; (2001) 3 SCC 513

3. General Officer Commanding, Rashtriya Rifles Vs. Central Buerau of Investigation and others.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Irshad Ali, J.)

1. Heard learned counsel for the revisionist and Sri S.B. Pandey, learned A.S.G. assisted by Sri Kazi Mirza, learned Advocate for the respondents.

2. The present criminal revision has been filed under Section 397/401 of the Code of Criminal Procedure against the order dated 5.10.2019, passed by Special Judge, CBI, Court No.5, Lucknow (CBI Vs. Suresh Chimanlal Shah and others), whereby the discharge application No.B-355 has been rejected.

3. Factual matrix of the case is that a First Information Report was lodged on 22.5.2010 and after completion of investigation, charge-sheet was submitted on 29.5.2012 along with the statements of 48 witnesses under Section 161 Cr.P.C. and a list of 22 documents.

4. The revisionist filed discharge application, which was rejected, against which, Revision No.1028/2017 was filed before this Court.

5. During the pendency of the revision before this Court, the trial court framed charges on 4.9.2018 and against the framing of charges, Revision No.1176 of 2018 was filed before this Court.

6. Both the aforesaid revisions were disposed of by this Court vide order dated 27.3.2019, directing the trial court to consider the discharge of the revisionist in view of the observation made in the order dated 16.2.2015, passed by a Co-ordinate Bench of this Court in Criminal Revision No.463/2012 (Dr. Ketan Desai Vs. CBI, New Delhi), wherein Dr. Ketan Desai was discharged under Section 13 (1)(d) of Prevention of Corruption Act.

7. In compliance of the order passed by this Court, the impugned order dated 5.10.2019 has been passed.

8. Learned counsel for the revisionist submits that the case of the revisionist is similar to that of Dr. Ketan Desai, thus, his submission is that the revisionist is entitled to get discharged from the aforesaid case. He next submitted that the lower court has committed manifest error of law in not considering the grievances raised before it and in a very cursory manner, has proceeded to pass the impugned order.

9. He further submits that the judgment referred in the impugned order has wrongly been relied upon by the trial court. The case of Ketan Desai is similar and the ratio of the judgment applied for is distinguishable and is not applicable to the present facts and circumstances of the case. He invited attention of this Court to the provision of Section 13 (1)(d) of the Prevention of Corruption Act and submitted that the work done with dishonest intention to get undue pecuniary advantage can be the charge punishable under the aforesaid provision. He submitted that the revisionist did not get any pecuniary benefit, therefore, no offence has been made out under Section 13 (1)(d) of the Prevention of Corruption Act.

10. In support of his submission, he placed reliance upon a judgment of the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of C.K. Jaffer Sharief Vs. State (Through CBI); 2013 (1) SCC 205.

11. He next submitted that there is no ingredient of Section 420 IPC against the revisionist. In support of his submission, he placed reliance upon a judgment of Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Alpic Finance Ltd. Vs. Sadasivan; (2001) 3 SCC 513.

12. He further submitted that the revisionist being Additional Inspector, is an employee of the Medical Council of India under section 9 (3) of the Indian Medical Council Act, 1956 and the acts done in good faith are protected from any suit/ prosecution or other legal proceeding under Section 21 of the said Act. He placed reliance upon a judgment in the case of General Officer Commanding, Rashtriya Rifles Vs. Central Buerau of Investigation and others.

13. On the other hand, Sri S.B. Pandey, learned A.S.G. by inviting attention on the report of the expert appointed to examine the correctness of act of the revisionist and found the revisionist to be involved and in this regard, submitted that cogent reasons have been recorded. He next submitted that the case of the revisionist and Dr. Ketan Desai are on different footings. Dr. Ketan Desai is the President of the Medical Council of India and was not in any manner involved in the inspection of the medical college concerned, nor has approved the inspection report submitted by the revisionist. After constituting a committee, he recommended to the Central Government for taking necessary action, therefore, the benefit of Dr. Ketan Desai is not available to the present revisionist.

14. His last submission is that the revisionist has not made out any case. The court below has committed no error in law in rejecting the application for discharge, thus, his submission is that the revision being misconceived, is liable to the dismissed.

15. After having heard the rival contentions of learned counsel for the parties, I perused the material on record as well as the judgment relied upon by learned counsel for the revisionist.

16. In regard to the first point under consideration that the claim of the revisionist is similar to that of Dr. Ketan Desai, this Court perused the material on record and on its perusal, it is evident that the Indian Medical Council Act, 1956 provides for the re-constitution of the Medical Council of India and the maintenance of medical register for India and for matters connected therewith.

17. The Medical Council of India (MCI) is a statutory body for the maintenance of uniform and high standards of medical education in India. The Council grants recognition of medical qualifications, gives accreditation to the medical colleges, grants registration to medical practitioners and monitors medical practice in India.

18. Section 10-A of the Indian Medical Council Act, 1956 provides for the previous permission of the Central Government for establishment of new medical college, new course of study etc. on the recommendation of the Medical Council of India.

19. Section 19-A of the Indian Medical Council Act, 1956 prescribes the minimum standards of medical education required for granting recognized medical qualifications by medical institutions in India.

20. Section 33 of the Indian Medical Council Act, 1956 provides the previous sanction of the Central Government, the MCI has power to make regulations generally to carry out the purposes of the Indian Medical Council Act, 1956. The regulation is known as "Minimum Standard Requirements for the Medical College for 100 Admissions Annually Regulations, 1999", which was published in part-III, Section 4 of the Gazette of India dated 29.4.1999. To verify the minimum requirement, the MCI gets conducted inspections of the medical colleges by its inspectors and obtains inspection reports from them on the availability of staff (teaching faculty and residents) and other infrastructural facility in the college as per the minimum requirement prescribed by the Act.

21. In view of the provision referred hereinabove, the MCI inspection team comprises of three inspectors, one of which is the permanent/ additional inspector of MCI and the remaining two are visiting inspectors who are normally professors of different medical colleges in India. As per Section 17 of the IMC Act, 1956, the executive committee appoints medical inspectors to inspect any medical institution for the purpose of recommending to the Central Government.

22. In the present case, for extension of the renewal of term for the admission of 5th batch of 100 MBBS students for the academic year 2009-10, a team of MCI comprising of Dr. Suresh Chimanlal Shah, Additional Inspector (present revisionist) and two visiting Inspectors namely Dr. S. Chugh and Pt. B.D. Sharma, PGIMS, Rohtak and Dr. S. Nagesh, Professor of Community Medicine, Lady Hardinge Medical College, New Delhi, conducted the inspection of Sri Ram Murti Smarak Institute of Medical Sciences, Bareilly on 20th and 21st February, 2009 and report was submitted to the Secretary, MCI, New Delhi on 9.3.2009 pointing out deficiencies in the Medical College regarding the infrastructural facility and strength of teaching faculty indicating shortage of 11.57%. The report was placed before the executive committee of MCI in its meeting held on 13.3.2009, wherein it was resolved by recommending to the Central Government not to renew the permission for the admission of 5th batch of students in the academic session 2009-10. The decision taken by the executive committee was communicated to the Central Government vide letter dated 13.3.2009 with a copy endorsed to the college to submit compliance in respect of the deficiencies pointed out by the MCI Inspectors within two weeks.

23. In pursuance to the information furnished to the college to submit compliance report, the compliance report was sent by Dr. Ved Prakash Shrotiya, Dean, Sri Ram Murti Smarak Institute of Medical Sciences, Bareilly to the Secretary, MCI, New Delhi vide letter dated 4.4.2009 and the same was marked to Dr. Ketan Desai, the then President, MCI, who appointed three Inspectors namely, Dr. Suresh Chimanlal Shah (the present revisionist), Dri Sanjay Bijwe, OSD, Medical Education and Drugs Department, Government of Maharashtra, Mumbai and Dr. R.R. Satoskar, Professor of Surgery, Seth G.S. Medical College and KEM Hospital, Mumbai for making compliance verification inspection of the college.

24. The compliance verification inspection of Sri Ram Murti Smarak Institute of Medical Sciences, Bareilly carried out by a team of MCI comprising of Dr. Suresh Chimanlal Shah, Additional Inspector, MCI (the present revisionist), Dr. Sanjay Bijwe, OSD, Medical Education & Drugs Department, Government of Maharashtra, Mumbai and Dri R.R. Satoskar, Professor of Surgery, Seth G.S. Medical College & KEM Hospital, Mumbai on 4.5.2009 and a report in this regard was submitted to the Secretary, MCI, New Delhi and pointed out deficiency in the medical colleges regarding infrastructural facility and the strength of teaching faculty (shortage of 15.7%) and residents (shortage of 48.23% residents).

25. The report was again put up before the executive committee of MCI in the meeting held on 9.5.2009 and recommendation was made to the Central Government not to renew the admission to 5th batch of students for the session 2009-10 to the concerned medical college. The executive committee communicated to the Central Government vide letter dated 9.5.2009 with the copy of the said recommendation to the college authorities to submit a detailed point-wise compliance in respect of the deficiencies pointed out.

26. A compliance report in respect of the deficiencies pointed out by the MCI Inspectors was received by the MCI from Dean of the college vide letter dated 19.5.2009, which was marked to Dr. Ketan Desai, the then President, who appointed three Inspectors namely, Dr. Suresh Chimanlal Shah, Additional Inspector, MCI, New Delhi (the present revisionist), Dr. Anil Pande, Professor of Medicine, Patna Medical College, Patna and Dr. A.P. Dongre, Professor of Forensic Medicine & Dean, Indira Gandhi Medical College, Nagpur for making compliance inspection of the college, fixing the date of inspection as 26.5.2009 and intimation was given to the Dean/ Principal of the concerned medical college vide letter dated 25.5.2009 through Fax.

27. The inspection was carried out by the team of MCI comprising the persons referred hereinabove on 26.5.2009 and report was submitted to the Secretary, MCI, New Delhi and reported deficiency of 1.65% in the strength of teaching staff against the previous inspection deficiency of 15.7%. They also reported shortage of 48.23% residents in the previous inspection.

28. The inspection report submitted, was put up in the meeting of the MCI held on 10th and 11th June, 2009 and the matter was fixed in the executive committee. The meeting was attended by Dr. Ketan Desai and other members, wherein it was resolved to recommend the Central Government to renew the permission for admission of 5th batch of 100 MBBS students in the academic session 2009-10 to the concerned medical college. The report of the MCI was affirmed and approved.

29. The decision taken by the executive committee was communicated to the Central Government i.e. Secretary, Ministry of Health & Family Welfare, New Delhi on 13.6.2009 and on the basis of recommendation of MCI, the Central Government approved the renewal of permission for admission of the batch of MBBS students for academic session 2009-10 to Sri Ram Murti Smarak Institute of Medical Sciences, Bareilly, which was conveyed to the Dean of the said college by Sri K.V.S. Rao, Deputy Secretary, Ministry of Health & Family Welfare, New Delhi vide letter dated 3.7.2009.

30. Thereafter, it came in the knowledge that on the basis of false report dated 26.5.2009, recommendation was made to the Central Government to renew the permission of said college for 5th batch and the matter was handed over to the Central Bureau of Investigation (CBI) to make investigation in the matter and thereafter, the case was registered and investigation was handed over to Sri Rajiv Kumar, Inspector, CBI, ACB, Lucknow. Prior to it, the expert of the field enquired into the matter and submitted its report in regard to the deficiency existing in the said medical college and taking into consideration the involvement of the revisionist along with others, the matter was handed over to CBI New Delhi to make investigation in the matter and after investigation, Criminal Case No.7/2012 under Sections 120-B and 420 IPC read with Section 13 (1)(d) of the Prevention of Corruption Act was registered at CBI, Lucknow, wherein the revisionist has been summoned under the aforesaid Sections.

31. Dr. Ketan Desai moved an application for discharge, which was allowed by the Co-ordinate Bench and on the said basis, learned counsel for the revisionist is making submission that the case of the revisionist is similar, therefore, parity to the order passed be given to the present revisionist also and he should be discharged from the criminal case.

32. I have perused the entire material on record.

33. In regard to the first submission of learned counsel for the revisionist, whereby he has claimed parity of Dr. Ketan Desai is concerned, it is reflected that Dr. Ketan Desai is President of the MCI. In no manner, he was member of the inspection team. On bonafide belief, that report submitted by the inspecting team, wherein revisionist was one of the member, is true, made recommendation for consideration to the executive committee and thereafter, recommendation was made to the Central Government for the grant to run the classes for 5th batch of the said college. To resolve the controversy, Section 13 (1) (d) of the Prevention of Corruption Act is quoted below :-

"13. Criminal misconduct by a public servant.?

1(d) if he,?

(i) by corrupt or illegal means, obtains for himself or for any other person any valuable thing or pecuniary advantage; or

(ii) by abusing his position as a public servant, obtains for himself or for any other person any valuable thing or pecuniary advantage; or

(iii) while holding office as a public servant, obtains for any person any valuable thing or pecuniary advantage without any public interest; or"

34. In support of the submission that no pecuniary benefit has been availed by the revisionist, learned counsel for the revisionist has relied upon a judgment in the case of C.K. Jaffer Sharief (Supra), the relevant portion is quoted below :-

"If in the process, the Rules or Norms applicable were violated or the decision taken shows an extravagant display of redundance it is the conduct and action of the appellant which may have been improper or contrary to departmental norms. But to say that the same was actuated by a dishonest intention to obtain an undue pecuniary advantage will not be correct. That dishonest intention is the gist of the offence under section 13(1)(d) is implicit in the words used i.e. corrupt or illegal means and abuse of position as a public servant. A similar view has also been expressed by this Court in M. Narayanan Nambiar vs. State of Kerala[1] while considering the provisions of section 5 of Act of 1947."

35. I have considered the provisions contained under Section 13 (1) (d) of the Prevention of Corruption Act and the judgment relied and found that on two occasions, a team inspected the concerned medical college and found the deficiency existing in the institution. The revisionist was member of the inspection team and on the next time, for the reasons best known to him, submitted a report pointing out deficiency of 1.65% in the strength of teaching staff. The court on the basis of material placed. has found the role of the revisionist to be suspicious and has passed the impugned order. No mini trial is contemplated at stage of considering discharge application. Court to proceed with assumption that materials brought on record by prosecution are true. Only probative value of materials has to be gone into to see if there is a prima facie case for proceeding against the accused. The Court is not expected to go deep into the matter and hold that materials would not warrant a conviction. If Court, on the basis of materials, thinks that accused prima facie might have committed offence, it can frame the charge. In the present case, the Court arrived at the conclusion that there is prima facie case against the accused.

36. In my opinion, the ground taken by relying upon the judgment in the case of C.K. Jaffer Sharief (Supra), the facts and circumstances of the case is distinguishable and is not applicable to the case of the revisionist. Dr. Ketan Desai was the President and not the member of the inspecting team. On the basis of inspection, recommendation was made to the Central Government by the MCI to grant permission to run the classes, thus, the parity claimed with Dr. Ketan Desai is not available to the present revisionist.

37. In regard to the submission that there is no ingredient of Section 420 IPC against the revisionist, learned counsel for the revisionist placed reliance upon a judgment in the case of Alpic Finance Ltd. (Supra), the relevant portion is quoted below :-

"Here the main offence alleged by the appellant is that respondents committed the offence under Section 420 I.P.C. and the case of the appellant is that respondents have cheated him and thereby dishonestly induced him to deliver property. To deceive is to induce a man to believe that a thing is true which is false and which the person practicing the deceit knows or believes to be false. It must also be shown that there existed a fraudulent and dishonest intention at the time of commission of the offence."

38. I have also perused the entire material on record and the judgment relied upon by the learned counsel for the revisionist in the aforesaid case. The revisional court on the basis of material on record, has recorded cogent reasons and finding and arrived to the conclusion that the present revisionist is not entitled to get relief and has already taken cognizance on the charges and the trial is at the stage of examination of evidence. It has further been recorded that on perusal of the oral submission and documentary evidence, prima facie charge levelled against the revisionist appears to be true and suspicious, therefore, the discharge application was rejected vide impugned order dated 5.10.2019. In the opinion of the Court, the revisional court has committed no error in law. Once there was a suspicion of involvement of the revisionist, the revisional court has rightly rejected the discharge application of the revisionist. The ratio of the judgment in the aforesaid case is distinguishable and is not applicable in the present facts and circumstances of the case.

39. In regard to the submission that the revisionist being Additional Inspector, is an employee of the Medical Council of India under section 9 (3) of the Indian Medical Council Act, 1956 and the acts done in good faith are protected from any suit/ prosecution or other legal proceeding under Section 21 of the said Act, he placed reliance upon a judgment in the case of General Officer Commanding, Rashtriya Rifles (Supra), the relevant portion is quoted below :-

"Thus, in view of the above, the law on the issue of sanction can be summarised to the effect that the question of sanction is of paramount importance for protecting a public servant who has acted in good faith while performing his duty. In order that the public servant may not be unnecessarily harassed on a complaint of an unscrupulous person, it is obligatory on the part of the executive authority to protect him. However, there must be a discernible connection between the act complained of and the powers and duties of the public servant. The act complained of may fall within the description of the action purported to have been done in performing the official duty. Therefore, if the alleged act or omission of the public servant can be shown to have reasonable connection inter-relationship or inseparably connected with discharge of his duty, he becomes entitled for protection of sanction."

40. In this regard, once on the basis of material and evidence produced before the revisional court, prima facie satisfaction has been made out that the conduct of the revisionist is suspicious, the same cannot be treated to be work done in good faith. The revisionist while performing his duty has been found to be connected with the discharge of his duty and the work done by him is suspicious in nature. The ratio of the judgment in the aforesaid case is distinguishable and is not applicable in the present facts and circumstances of the case.

41. On overall consideration and on perusal of the impugned order, it is evident that the revisional court has considered each and every aspect as well as the judgment relied upon by the learned counsel for the revisionist and found that there is sufficient ground to proceed with the trial against the revisionist. In the opinion of the Court, in rejecting the discharge application, the revisional court has committed no error in law, therefore, this Court found no merit in the submission advanced by learned counsel for the revisionist.

42. The revision being devoid of merit, is hereby dismissed.

3. Munna Devi Vs. St. of Rajasthan & Anr.Appeal(Crl.) No. 1138 of 2001 decided on 6.11.2001

(Delivered by Hon'ble Aniruddha Singh, J.)

1. Heard Sri Sunil Kumar Singh, learned counsel for revisionist and Sri Santosh Kumar Mishra, learned AGA. Perused the record.

2. This criminal revision has been preferred by Anil Kumar against the impugned order dated 29.11.2019 passed by learned Additional Sessions Judge/F.T.C.-II, Court No. 2, Sultanpur in S.T. No. 150 of 2012 arising out of Case Crime No./F.I.R. No. 531 of 2011 (State of U.P. Vs. Anil Kumar), under Sections 498-A, 304-B IPC & Section ¾ Dowry Prohibition Act, Police Station Bazar Khala Shukla, District C.S. Nagar/Amethi whereby application under Section 311 Cr.P.C. was rejected.

3. In a nutshell, facts of the case are that F.I.R. was lodged on 19.9.2011 against four accused persons namely Anil Kumar (husband), Ram Jas, Dileep Kumar and mother-in-law (wife of Ram Jas) alleging that the marriage of deceased Raj Kumari (daughter of complainant) was solemnized with Anil Kumar 14 months back, they demanded additional dowry from the deceased for which the deceased was being tortured by them and on 17.9.2011 they killed her by administering poison. After investigation, charge sheet was submitted for the offence under Sections 498-A, 304-B IPC & Section ¾ Dowry Prohibition Act. Danbahadur (father of deceased) was examined and cross-examined as P.W.1 by prosecution. Later on, application for cross-examination of P.W.1 was moved under Section 311 Cr.P.C which was rejected. Hence this revision.

4. Learned counsel for the revisionist submitted that impugned order is illegal, against facts and law and without applying judicial mind. F.I.R. was lodged after two days of incident without explaining delay after thought and with due legal consultation. There is no evidence against the revisionist.

5. Learned AGA opposed the contention of learned counsel for revisionist and submitted that order passed by the Court concerned is legal and revision has no force.

6. From the perusal of record, it transpires that during trial an application 41-B was moved by the revisionist Anil Kumar with the prayer to summon P.W.1 Danbahadur for cross-examination again. On application 41-B objection was filed stating therein that cross-examination of P.W. 1 Dan Bahadur was done by Sri Akhilesh Srivastava, learned counsel for revisionist in length and for delaying tactic, this application was moved. After hearing both the parties, impugned order was passed and it was held that material cross-examination was done by learned counsel for the revisionist and other things may be proved at the time of producing evidence and documents in defence after recording statement under Section 313 Cr.P.C., application was dismissed.

7. From the perusal of record, it also transpires that cross-examination of P.W.1 was done by learned counsel for the revisionist (annexed at page no. 41 to 43) and relevant questions were asked. Hence, no prejudice is caused to the revisionist by rejecting the application of revisionist by impugned order.

8. In the case of Sethuraman Vs. Rajamanickam, 2009 (65) ACC 607 SC, Hon'ble Supreme Court has held that rejection order under Section 311 Cr.P.C. is interlocutory order, hence revision is not maintainable.

9. Same view was taken by Allahabad High Court in the case of Asif Hussain Vs. State of U.P. 2007 (57) ACC 1036.

10. The observation made by Division Bench of Allahabad High Court in case of Asif Hussain (supra) para 26 is reproduced as under:

26. From what I have stated above I find my self in disagreement with my esteemed brother Hon'ble V.K. Chaturvedi, J. that the order under Section 311 Cr. P.C. is a final order and is a revisable one. In my view it is nothing but an interlocutory order and revision against such an order is barred under Section397(2) Cr. P.C.

11. Moreover, in the case of Munna Devi vs. State of Rajasthan & another Appeal(Crl.) No. 1138 of 2001 decided on 6.11.2001, Hon'ble Supreme Court has held that the revisional power under the Code of Criminal Procedure cannot be exercised in a routine and casual manner.

12. This Court finds no illegality, impropriety, material irregularity or jurisdictional error in the impugned order dated 29.11.2019. The view taken by Court below is plausible view, hence no interference is called for by this Court. The present revision lacks merit and is liable to be dismissed.

13. The revision is dismissed at admission stage.

14. Copy of this order be transmitted to the Court concerned immediately.

A. Criminal Law - Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 - Sections 397/401 & Section 125 - challenge to - amount of maintenance from the date of order not from the date of application filed and the amount is meagre- Learned lower court has awarded Rs.2,500/- the maintenance amount for the revisionist, accordingly Rs.83.33/- per day comes to revisionist for her maintenance. At present considering the price hike and higher cost of living it cannot be presumed that Rs.83.33/- is sufficient for a lady to maintain herself. the amount fixed by the court below is insufficient as according to present scenario, the revisionist is entitled to receive minimum Rs.5,000/- per month as maintenance from the date of filing of application. (Para 17 & 18)

B. Criminal Law - Sub-clause 2 of Section 125 Cr.P.C. make the provisions that allowance shall be payable either from the date of order or from the date of application for maintenance. This sub-clause provides discretionary power to Magistrate but this power is not absolute. Discretion inherits judicial discretion; therefore, the law requires that if the Court passes the order of maintenance payable not from the date of application but from the date of order than in that case the court has to give reason for that. (Para10)

Order has been passed without judicial application of mind, the order can be challenged under revisional jurisdiction. In present case, the court of Principal Judge Family Court, Agra has not given any reason for passing the order to pay amount of maintenance from the date of order. (Para 11)

4. Basanta Kumari Mohanty Vs. Sarat Kumar Mohanty reported in 1982 CRI. L.J. 485

(Delivered by Hon'ble Narendra Kumar Johari, J.)

1. The present revision has been filed by revisionist- Raj Kumari against the judgment and order dated 22.7.2016 passed by Principal Judge Family Court, Agra in Criminal Case No.812 of 2014 "Smt. Raj Kumari Vs. Daya Sankar" under Section 125 Cr.P.C.

2. The revisionist challenged the order under revision mainly on two grounds:-

(a) the Sub-ordinate Court has awarded the amount of maintenance from the date of order which is not proper, it should be from the date of filing of the application under Section 125 Cr.P.C.;

(b) the amount of compensation fixed by the court is meagre and is liable to be enhanced.

The brief fact of the case is that revisionist is wife and opposite party no.2 is husband. It has been mentioned that the revisionist was married with opposite party no.2 on 16.2.2010, at the time of marriage, father of the revisionist had given sufficient articles as dowry like jewelries and cash amount Rs.50,000/- as according to his capacity but opposite party no.2 and the family members of opposite party no.2 were not satisfied by the dowry given by father of the revisionist. They were demanding motor-cycle and Rs.50,000/- cash as additional dowry. In furtherance and their demand opposite party no.2 and his family members were started torturing to the revisionist. In continuance of her torture, on 23.5.2014 opposite party no.2 and his family members locked to revisionist and her sister Sanju in a room, beaten and threaten for life. On the same date opposite party dropped to revisionist and her sister near St. John's Chauraha, Agra and told that unless his aforesaid demand of dowry fulfill she will stay to his father's home. Further on 12.9.2014 father of revisionist reached at the residence of opposite party no.2 alongwith his relatives for compromise. Opposite party no.2 and their family members again demanded motor-cycle and cash money as additional dowry and started abusing. The opposite party and his family member also not accepted to revisionist at their residence. After her desertion, opposite party no.2 has neither taken any care of revisionist, nor given any money for her maintenance. Opposite party no.2 is doing the business of ornament making and earns Rs.50,000/-. He possess some agricultural land also. His income from agricultural land is Rs.5,00,000/- per annum. The revisionist is a domestic lady. She is not doing any work and absolutely depend on her father. The revisionist prayed that she may be provided Rs.10,000/- per month as maintenance from her husband.

3. During the proceedings in trial court, notice for appearance was issued to opposite party which was served on him but he did not appeared and the court proceed ex-party against him.

4. In ex-parte hearing revisionist/applicant filed affidavit in support of her application and the court concerned has passed the order dated 22.7.2016 that from the date of order opposite party no.2 will pay amount of Rs.2,500/- per month for the maintenance of revisionist/applicant. The revisionist/ applicant challenged the said order mainly on the two grounds as noted above.

5. During the proceeding of the revision the notice was issued to opposite party no.2 which was served personally but opposite party did not put his appearance before the court.

6. Heard learned counsel for the revisionist and perused the record. Learned counsel for the revisionist has submitted the following case laws:-

1. Shail Kumar Devi Vs. Krishan Bhagwan Pathak @ Kishun B Pathak decision dated 28.7.2008 [2008 LawSuits (SC) 1030].

2. Jaiminiben Hirenbhai Vyas & Anr Vs. Hirenbhai Rameshchandra Vyas & Anr decision dated 19.11.2014 [2014 LawSuit (SC)916]

7. The learned court below while considering the averments of application relied on affidavit of revisionist and concluded that although applicant/revisionist has not filed any documentary evidence regarding the income of opposite party but it appears that opposite party no.2 is capable to provide maintenance to his wife which is his moral duty also. The court has also concluded that revisionist/applicant is a domestic lady, she is not doing any work and is depend on her father.

8. If a husband having sufficient means neglects or refuses to maintain his wife who is unable to maintain herself, a Magistrate of competent jurisdiction may pass order under Section 125 Cr.P.C. against husband to make a monthly allowance for the maintenance of his wife. The provisions of Section 125 Cr.P.C. reads as under:-

"125. Order for maintenance of wives, children and parents.-

(1) If any person having sufficient means neglects or refuses to maintain-

(a) his wife, unable to maintain herself, or

(b) his legitimate or illegitimate minor child, whether married or not, unable to maintain itself, or

(c) his legitimate or illegitimate child (not being a married daughter) who has attained majority, where such child is, by reason of any physical or mental abnormality or injury unable to maintain itself, or

(d) his father or mother, unable to maintain himself or herself, a Magistrate of the first class may, upon proof of such neglect or refusal, order such person to make a monthly allowance for the maintenance of his wife or such child, father or mother, at such monthly rate not exceeding five hundred rupees in the whole, as such Magistrate thinks fit, and to pay the same to such person as the Magistrate may from time to time direct:

Provided that the Magistrate may order the father of a minor female child referred to in clause (b) to make such allowance, until she attains her majority, if the Magistrate is satisfied that the husband of such minor female child, if married, is not possessed of sufficient means:

Provided further that the Magistrate may, during the pendency of the proceeding regarding monthly allowance for the maintenance under this sub- section, order such person to make a monthly allowance for the interim maintenance of his wife or such child, father or mother, and the expenses of such proceeding which the Magistrate considers reasonable, and to pay the same to such person as the Magistrate may from time to time direct:

Provided also that an application for the monthly allowance for the interim maintenance and expenses of proceeding under the second proviso shall, as far as possible, be disposed of within sixty days from the date of the service of notice of the application to such person.

Explanation.- For the purposes of this Chapter,-

(a) " minor" means a person who, under the provisions of the Indian

Majority Act, 1875 (9 of 1875); is deemed not to have attained his majority;

(b) "wife" includes a woman who has been divorced by, or has obtained a divorce from, her husband and has not remarried.

(2) Any such allowance shall be payable from the date of the order, or, if so ordered, from the date of the application for maintenance or interim maintenance and expenses of proceedings, as the case may be.

(3) If any person so ordered fails without sufficient cause to comply with the order, any such Magistrate may, for every breach of the order, issue a warrant for levying the amount due in the manner provided for levying fines, and may sentence such person, for the whole or any part of each month' s allowances remaining unpaid after the execution of the warrant, to imprisonment for a term which may extend to one month or until payment if sooner made:

Provided that no warrant shall be issued for the recovery of any amount due under this section unless application be made to the Court to levy such amount within a period of one year from the date on which it became due:

Provided further that if such person offers to maintain his wife on condition of her living with him, and she refuses to live with him, such Magistrate may consider any grounds of refusal stated by her, and may make an order under this section notwithstanding such offer, if he is satisfied that there is just ground for so doing.

Explanation.- If a husband has contracted marriage with another woman or keeps a mistress, it shall be considered to be just ground for his wife' s refusal to live with him.

(4) No Wife shall be entitled to receive an allowance from her husband under this section if she is living in adultery, or if, without any sufficient reason, she refuses to live with her husband, or if they are living separately by mutual consent.

(5) On proof that any wife in whose favour an order has been made under this section is living in adultery, or that without sufficient reason she refuses to live with her husband, or that they are living separately by mutual consent, the Magistrate shall cancel the order."

9. The right of a destitute wife to get maintenance is essentially a civil right accordingly the remedy provided under Chapter IX of Cr.P.C. The procedure laid down in this Chapter is enacted as a measure of social justice and are dealt with summoning in a criminal Court for the purposes of speedy disposal on grounds of convenience and social order.

10. Sub-clause 2 of Section 125 Cr.P.C. make the provisions that allowance shall be payable either from the date of order or from the date of application for maintenance. This sub-clause provides discretionary power to Magistrate but this power is not absolute. Discretion inherits judicial discretion, therefore the law requires that if the Court passes the order of maintenance payable not from the date of application but from the date of order than in that case the court has to give reason for that.

11. Although, the Revisional Court cannot interfere in the finding of fact but when it is shown that impugned order has been passed without judicial application of mind, the order can be challenged under revisional jurisdiction. In present case, the court of Principal Judge Family Court, Agra has not given any reason for passing the order to pay amount of maintenance from the date of order.

12. Certified copy of application under Section 125 Cr.P.C. is available on record at page No.14 which indicates that on 12.9.2014 opposite party no.2 has not permitted petitioner to enter in her matrimonial house. The petition was filed on dated 15.9.2014. On the date of application the petitioner was residing in deserted condition which has been specifically mentioned in para 7 of the application also. The above fact is sufficient to infer that petitioner was not being maintained by her husband, therefore, it appears prima facie that she was entitled to get maintenance money from the date of filing of application under Section 125 Cr.P.C..

13. In the case of Jaiminiben Hirenbhai Vyas & Anr. Vs Hirenbhai Rameshchandra Vyas & Anr. [2014 LawSuits (SC) 916 decided on 19 November, 2014. It has been held by the Hon'ble Apex Court in para 8 and 9:-

"8. In Shalil Kumari Devi Vs. Krishan Bhagawn Pathak this Court dealt with the question as to from which date a Magistrate may order payment of maintenance to wife, children or parents. In Shail Kumar Devi, this Court considered a catena of decisions by the various High Courts, before arriving at the conclusion that it was incorrect to hold that, as a normal rule, the Magistrate should grant maintenance only from the date of the order and not from the date of the application for maintenance. It is, therefore, open to the Magistrate to award maintenance from the date of application. The Court held, and we agree, that if the Magistrate intends to pass such an order, he is required to record reasons in support of such Order. Thus, such maintenance can be awarded from the date of the Order, or, if so ordered, from the date of the application for maintenance, as the case may be. For awarding maintenance from the date of the application, express order is necessary.

9. In the case before us, the High Court has not given any reason for not granting maintenance from the date of the application. We are of the view that the circumstances eminently justified grant of maintenance with effect from the date of the application in view of the finding that the Appellant had worked before marriage and had not done so during her marriage. There was no evidence of her income during the period the parties lived as man and wife. We, therefore reverse the Order of the High Court in this regard and direct that the respondent shall pay the amount of maintenance found payable from the date of the application for maintenance. As far as maintenance granted under Section 24 of the H.M. Act by the Courts below is concerned, it shall remain unaltered."

14. In the case of Shail Kumari Devi & Anr Vs Krishan Bhagwan Pathak @ Kishun B [2008 LawSuit(SC) 1030] decided on 28 July, 2008. It has been held by Hon'ble Supreme Court in para 44:-

"44. In our considered opinion, the High Court is not right in holding that as a normal rule, the Magistrate should grant maintenance only from the date of the order and not from the date of the application for maintenance. And if he intents to pass such an order, he is required to record reasons in support of such order. As observed in K. Sivaram, reasons have to be recorded in both the eventualities. The Court was also right in observing that wherever Parliament intended the Court to record special reasons, care had been taken to make such provision by requiring the Court to record such reasons. " (emphasized)

15. Revisionist/applicant has mentioned in para 9 of the application that, opposite party is doing the job of making gold and silver ornaments and earns Rs.50,000/- apart from that he has agricultural land also by which he earns Rs.5,00,000/- per annum. Admittedly the revisionist/applicant had not filed any documentary evidence regarding business or regarding ownership of agricultural land, but there is no ground to presume that opposite party no.2 was not a physically fit person. Learned lower court has also concluded in its order/judgment dated 22.7.2016 that opposite party no.2 is capable and competent person. If a man is healthy and able bodied he must be held to possess sufficient money to support his wife, children and parents. Sufficient means should not be confined to the actual pecuniary resources but should have reference to the earning capacity. The wording "Means" as used in the provision does not mean the tangible property or income only but also his capacity, potentialities and status of living.

It has been held by this court in the case of Chandrapal vs Harpyari And Anr. reported in 1991 CRI. L. J. 2847 that-

"13. In the case of Mohammad Ayyub Vs. Zaibul Nissa, 1974 (Vol. 2) Criminal Law Journal 1237 this Court held that the quantum of allowance directed to be paid by the husband to the wife has relevance to his means. Where the Magistrate does not give any thought to the question as to what are the means existing or potential of the husband Justifying an order for payment or allowance to his wife, the order is liable to be set aside. " (emphasized)

On this point the another Bench of Orissa High Court in the case of Basanta Kumari Mohanty Vs. Sarat Kumar Mohanty reported in 1982 CRI. L.J. 485 held in para 7 that:-

"7. No doubt an order Under Section 125 can be passed only if a person having sufficient means neglects or refuses to maintain his wife, child, parents etc. It is, however, well settled that the expression 'means' occurring in Section 125 does not signify only visible means, such as, real property or definite employment and if a man is healthy and able-bodied, he must be held to be possessed of means to support his wife, child etc. The Courts have gone to the extent of laying down that the husband may be insolvent or a professional beggar or a minor or a monk, but he must support his wife so long as he is able-bodied and can eke out his livelihood. "

Therefore, if the opposite party has not put his appearance in the case and led any evidence regarding his earnings, an inference can be drawn against him on the basis of material available on record.

16. It should not be forgotten that under Section 401 Cr.P.C. a revisional court can make any amendment or any consequential or incidental order that may be just or proper. In this connection provisions of Section 401(1) and 386(e) can be referred to. Provisions of Section 125 Cr.P.C. have been engrafted in Criminal Procedure Code for preventing destitution or vagrancy and providing succour to starving persons. It is to be find out as to what is required by the wife to maintain the standard of living which is neither luxurious nor penury but is modestly consistent with the status of family. In the present case, learned lower Court has awarded Rs. 2,500/- per month has maintenance amount of revisionist. Learned counsel for the revisionist has submitted that from 2014 the revisionist is living in mercy-full condition.

17. Learned lower court has awarded Rs.2,500/- the maintenance amount for the revisionist, accordingly Rs.83.33/- per day comes to revisionist for her maintenance. At present considering the price hike and higher cost of living it cannot be presumed that Rs.83.33/- is sufficient for a lady to maintain herself. In my opinion, the amount fixed by the court below is insufficient as according to present scenario, the revisionist is entitled to receive minimum Rs.5,000/- per month as maintenance.

18. Taking the facts and circumstances of the case into consideration, the judgment of court below dated 22.7.2016 is liable to be modified upto the extent that applicant is entitled to receive Rs.5,000/- per month as maintenance from the date of filing of application under Section 125 Cr.P.C.

19. In the result, the revision is allowed.

A. Criminal Law - Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 - Sections 397/401 & section 125- examination-in-chief of wife was recorded- counsel for the husband-revisionist did not appear-the opportunity of her cross-examination of wife was closed-the court grants at least one further opportunity to cross-examine the wife. (Para 3 & 6)

The Court finds that though no serious castigation against the impugned order may be levelled and it cannot be said that the same suffers from any element of perversity but when the overall cause of justice is evaluated and weighed and the principles of fairness and equity are kept in perspective this Court adopts a view which may not only meet the ends of justice but may also result in adopting a correct approach in order to arrive at the ends of justice. Leaving a wife uncross-examined is likely to result in creating obstacle in correctly appreciating the evidence and to that extent and in that context the approach adopted by the court below may not be said to be a correct one. (Para 6)

Criminal Revision allowed. (E-6)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Karuna Nand Bajpayee, J.)

1. This revision has been preferred with the prayer to set aside the impugned order dated 21.10.2019 passed by the Principal Judge, Family Court, Sant Kabir Nagar in Case No.72/11/2018 (Bandana Devi and another vs. Radheshyam @ Anil) u/s 125 Cr.P.C., Police Station-Kotwali Khalilabad, District-Sant Kabir Nagar and to direct the learned court below to give opportunity to the revisionist to cross-examine the opposite party no.2.

2. Heard learned counsel for the revisionist and learned A.G.A.

3. Submission of counsel for the revisionist is that opposite party no.2 Bandana, who is the wife of the revisionist, had been produced in the court and her examination-in-chief was recorded but as the counsel for the husband-revisionist did not appear, the opportunity of her cross-examination was closed. Further submission is that in the absence of effective cross-examination the cause of revisionist shall suffer beyond repair and the fairness of the proceedings will also get vitiated. It has been further submitted that it is not only in the interest of the husband-revisionist but it shall also go to deprive the court from appreciating the facts in correct perspective. It has also been submitted that an untested testimony becomes often misleading and deceitful to be relied upon and before the court should act upon the deposition of a witness, it is very essential to test the same on the anvil of cross-examination. Submission is that at least one opportunity may be granted so that the revisionist may cross-examine the wife who is a very essential witness in the case and the fate of the case will turn upon the quality of her statement and the evidentiary value which she shall carry.

4. Heard learned A.G.A. and perused the record.

5. Ordinarily this Court would have proceeded in the matter after issuance of notice to the opposite side but in that course the proceedings would have taken much longer time as in the wake of heavy pendency of cases where dockets are already bursting on their seams, there is no likelihood of this revision to be taken up at an early date. Moreover, as the only point involved in this case relates to the principles of justice, equity and fairness and no great point of law or fact is involved, therefore, this Court deems it proper to decide this revision at this very stage so that the proceedings of the case may get expedited and the matter may not be allowed to shelve for a longer period of time.

6. After perusing the impugned order this Court finds that though no serious castigation against the impugned order may be levelled and it cannot be said that the same suffers from any element of perversity but when the overall cause of justice is evaluated and weighed and the principles of fairness and equity are kept in perspective this Court adopts a view which may not only meet the ends of justice but may also result in adopting a correct approach in order to arrive at the ends of justice. Leaving a wife uncross-examined is likely to result in creating obstacle in correctly appreciating the evidence and to that extent and in that context the approach adopted by the court below may not be said to be a correct one. Moreover, perusal of the order-sheet also shows that there have been many dates on which even the wife did not appear in the court and it cannot be said that the liability for the delay was squarely on the shoulders of the revisionist. This Court is of the considered opinion that it shall go to further the cause of justice and also shall go to render assistance to the court to appreciate the facts in the right and broader perspective, if it grants at least one further opportunity to cross-examine the wife.

7. Without going further into the matter, this Court deems it appropriate to direct that the revisionist shall move again an application seeking the recall of witness Bandana, whenever the case is taken up again after mediation process. If such an application is moved on behalf of the revisionist, the court below will proceed to summon aforesaid witness Bandana and provide opportunity to the husband-revisionist to cross-examine her.

8. The revisionist is also directed to deposit Rs.5000/- as a matter of cost/expenses and this money shall be given to the witness Bandana whenever she appears for the purpose of cross-examination.

9. It is made clear that whenever witness Bandana appears for cross-examination she shall be cross-examined on that very day and no further adjournment on behalf of revisionist shall be sought or granted. If the opportunity of cross-examination shall not be availed on the first date for the reason of non availability of the counsel or for any reason which may be attributable to the revisionist, her evidence shall stand closed and the concerned court below shall thereafter proceed further in accordance with law.

10. As it appears from the impugned order that the matter has already been referred to the Mediation Centre, it is also being clarified that this order shall come into application only if the result of the mediation is negative and the litigation continues. But if the matter gets settled, it goes without saying that there would be no need either to move any such application or to recall the witness for the purpose of cross-examination.

11. The revision stands allowed in aforesaid terms and the impugned order so far as it relates to the refusal of Court to summon the aforesaid witness for cross-examination stands set aside.

A. Motor Accident claim - Motor Vehicles Act (59 of 1988) - Sections 166 & 168 - Compensation - Future Prospects - Deceased in a permanent job - aged about 38 years - addition of 50% of actual salary to the income of the deceased towards future prospects (Para 25)

B. Motor Vehicles Act (59 of 1988) Section 168 - Compensation - Tax Deduction - Tribunal incorrectly made income tax deduction

Held - Deceased was a government servant thus as per income tax laws it is incumbent for the employer to deduct tax prior to the payment of the salary - thus after deduction of tax at source there can be no scope of further deduction - even otherwise the deceased would be in the non- taxable bracket - Tribunal erroneously held that by adding for future prospect the income comes in the taxable bracket - but it failed to consider that with passage of time the exemption limits of income tax also increase from time to time - 20% deduction made towards tax was unwarranted (Para 21, 22)

C. Motor Vehicles Act (59 of 1988) Section 168 - Compensation - Non Pecuniary damages - loss of consortium - "consortium" encompasses 'spousal consortium', 'parental consortium', and 'filial consortium' - grant of non-pecuniary damages under the head of loss of consortium is available to the wife, children, parent each

Held - Conventional head of consortium: (a) Spouse: Rs 40,000/- (b) Parental: Rs 40,000/- (c) Filial: Rs 40,000/- (d) Funeral expenses: Rs 15,000/- (e) Loss of estate: Rs 15,000/- (Para 27 & 28)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Jaspreet Singh, J.)

1. Heard Shri Prakash Chandra learned counsel for claimant in FAFO No. 604 of 2011 and Shri Anil Kumar Srivastava learned counsel for appellant in FAFO No. 433 of 2011.

2. These connected two FAFO arise out of the same accident. The Tribunal has made its award dated 05.03.2011 and has awarded a sum of Rs 15,62,000/- in favour of the claimant. Being aggrieved against the same the claimants have preferred an appeal for enhancement which is registered as FAFO No. 604 of 2011 whereas the insurance company being aggrieved against the aforesaid award has preferred the appeal bearing number FAFO No. 433 of 2011. Accordingly both the appeals were clubbed and have been heard together.

3. Briefly the facts giving rise to present appeals are that on 06.12.2008 at around 8:00 AM, the deceased, Amitabh Singh was riding his motorcycle bearing number UP 92 E 8150 and was returning from Hindustan Bio Energy Limited towards his residence and as he had reached Kanhat Tarun Majra Pyarepur Bahad, PS Harchandpur, at the relevant time, a truck bearing number UP 32 T 3490 which was coming from opposite direction and was being driven rashly and negligently came on wrong side of the road and hit the motorcycle, as a result, the deceased Amitabh Singh received grievous injuries and died on the spot. The FIR in respect of the aforesaid incident was lodged on the same day. It was further pleaded that the deceased was a pharmacist and was in service in the Department of Prison posted at Kanpur Dehat and was earning Rs. 16,040/- per month.

4. It is with aforesaid averments that the Claim Petition no. 21 of 2009 was filed before the Motor Accident Claims Tribunal/Additional District Judge, Court No. 1 Lucknow. The owner of truck Shri Abu Saed filed his written statement. The defense taken by the owner was that the truck bearing number UP 32 T 3490 was being driven at a very safe and controlled speed. It was further pleaded that it was actually the motorcyclist who was coming at a high speed from opposite direction and was driving rashly and negligently and despite the truck driver having taken all possible precautions i.e. using the horn as well as applying brakes to slow the speed, however, the motorcycle was at such a high speed that it came and dashed the backside of truck and overturned due to which the person driving the motorcycle suffered injuries and died and thus the accident was on account of the negligence of the motorcyclist.

5. It was alternatively pleaded that even otherwise it would be a case of contributory negligence and it was pleaded that the truck was duly insured with the United India Insurance Company Ltd, and the driver also had a valid and effective driving license and the registration papers were also complete, thus any award was liable to be indemnified by the Insurance Company.

6. The insurance company also filed its separate written statement and in para 12 it took a plea that the truck in question was not being driven rashly and negligently and also pleaded that the accident happened on account of rash and negligent driving of the motorcyclist.

7. It was in view of the aforesaid pleadings that the Tribunal framed five issues and the claimants examined Shri Ambreshwar Singh (the brother of the deceased) as the witness. Whereas no witness in shape of the truck driver was examined by the owner. The tribunal while considering the evidence, both oral and documentary, found that the accident had occurred on account of rash and negligent driving of the truck since PW-2 was an eyewitness and despite his cross examination there was no discrepancy or contradiction in his testimony and it cast no doubt on the version and narration of the accident. The Tribunal also opined that the truck in question was duly insured with the insurance company and its driver had a valid and effective driving license. The question regarding contributory negligence was also considered along with issue number 1 and the tribunal did not find any favour with the plea raised by the opposite parties coupled with the fact that site plan of the accident was also brought on record which clearly indicated that the truck had swerved on wrong side of the road and hit the motorcyclist and as such it could not be found that the motorcyclist had contributed to the aforesaid accident.

7. While considering the quantum, the Tribunal found that the deceased was working in Department of Prison and his salary certificate was also brought on record. His age was determined to be 38 years. However while considering the salary the Tribunal has taken the same to be Rs 15,000/- per month and thereafter deductions of income tax has been made. The tribunal has also allowed future prospects @30%. The Tribunal also held that since the wife of the deceased was also an earning member therefore in such circumstances it made a deduction of 50% towards personal expenditure and as such a total sum of Rs 15,62,000/- was awarded which included the sum of Rs 2,500/- towards loss of estate, Rs 2,000/- towards funeral expenses and Rs 5,000/- towards loss of life partner. Thus a total sum of Rs 15,62,000/- along with 6% interest has been awarded by means of award dated 05.03.2011. It is this award which has been assailed by the appellants.

8. First this Court takes up the plea raised by Shri Anil Kumar Srivastava, learned counsel appearing for insurance company in FAFO no. 433 of 2011. The primary submission of learned counsel for appellant is that the tribunal had erred in failing to hold that the alleged accident was not solely on account of rash and negligent driving of the truck driver. It is further submitted that according to the version of the claimant it has been indicated that soon after the accident another vehicle i.e. a Santro car also came and dashed against the truck therefore it could not be ruled out regarding the involvement of aforesaid Santro car. It is further been urged that as per newspaper cutting, a copy of which has been annexed as Annexure No. 9 with the affidavit in support the application for interim relief filed before this Court, which reports that on account of dense fog the accident occurred wherein the deceased expired and on the strength of the aforesaid newspaper cutting it has been urged that since the circumstance which indicate that there was dense fog and on account of the same the accident occurred and since the truck driver was not examined consequently the finding returned on issue number 1 and 3 is not based on cogent appreciation of evidence.

9. Learned counsel for the insurance company has further urged that initially the insurance company had made an application under section 170 of the Motor Vehicles Act which was rejected by the Tribunal by means of order dated 15.09.2010. However later another application under Section 170 of the Act 1988 was moved by the appellant insurance company which was allowed on 14.02.2011. Thereafter the matter was fixed on 23.02.2011 on which date the insurance company had made an application seeking recall of order dated 11.10.2010 by which the opportunity to lead the evidence was closed by the court however the said application was also rejected and thereafter the matter was reserved for orders consequently it has given rise to the judgment dated 05.03.2011 and it has been submitted that once the application of the insurance company under section 170 of the Motor Vehicles Act was allowed on 14.02.2011 thereafter no opportunity was granted to the insurance company to lead the evidence as the insurance company was to summon the driver of the truck for the purpose of buttressing their defense which has been improperly rejected by the Tribunal. Accordingly, it has been submitted that the award dated 05.03.2011 is bad in eyes of law since an opportunity has been deprived to the insurance company.

10. Per contra, Shri Prakash Chandra learned counsel appearing for claimants has submitted that initially the applications under Section 170 of Motor Vehicles Act was rejected on 15.09.2010 and later the opportunity of the insurance company to lead the evidence was also closed on 11.10.2010.

11. Even though by means of order dated 14.02.02011 the court permitted the insurance company to contest on all the grounds yet it made the application for recalling of order dated 11.10.2010 after more that eight months and that too with the sole purpose of delaying the proceedings. It is further been submitted that after the application was rejected on 23.02.2011 the insurance company did not assail the said order further. Once the matter was fixed for judgment thereafter there is no purpose for the insurance company to lead evidence coupled with he fact that where the question regarding the negligence was already established and the insurance company had already participated in the proceedings and had cross examined the claimant witness and the owner did not examine the driver. In the aforesaid circumstances it could not be said that no opportunity was granted to the insurance company.

12. The Court has considered the rival submissions and also perused the records. On the perusal of the record it would indicate that on the date of the accident i.e. 06.12.2008 the brother of the deceased Shri Ambrishwar Singh had primarily lodged the FIR in which a clear averment was contained that the accident had occurred on account of rash and negligent driving of the truck driver. In pursuance of the aforesaid FIR, a criminal case was also lodged against the driver of the truck. The certified copy of site map was also brought on record. The site plan clearly indicates that the motorcycle which was being driven by the deceased and seen by the eyewitness was coming on left side of the road from West to East i.e. from Lucknow side towards Raibarailly side. It however indicates that the truck which was going from the Raiberailly side and ought to have been on its left side rather it has completely swerved and had moved on its right side and has hit the motorcycle. From the perusal of site plan it is clear that the truck was found to be on wrong side and therefore upon the same coupled with the testimony of the eye witness Shri Ambrishwar Singh who has been cross examined by the insurance company, no material contradiction or inconsistency could be elicited from his testimony.

13. Moreover the eyewitness has completely supported the version and accordingly upon consideration of the evidence brought on record, the findings returned by the Tribunal in so far as issue number 1 and 3 is concerned, this Court does not find that there is any scope for interference therein.

14. The submission of the learned counsel for the appellant is that it has been deprived of an opportunity to contest the claim on merits. As far as this submission is concerned it would be seen that the insurance company has merely raised a defense which is not in its personal means of knowledge. It is borrowed from the plea which was raised by owner of truck while filing his written statement which is dated 07.05.2008 whereas written statement filed by the insurance company is dated 04.09.2009. In light of the documentary evidence which was brought on record coupled with the evidence of the eyewitness i.e. PW-2 it is clear that the accident had occurred on account of rash and negligent driving of the truck in question. Surprisingly the truck owner has not preferred any appeal and at no point of time the truck driver was ever examined as an eyewitness to support the plea. The insurance company also did not made any application to summon the truck driver as a witness rather only an application made at the late stage on 23.02.2011 seeking to recall the order dated 11.10.2010 by which its opportunity to lead the evidence had been closed while the matter was ripe and fixed for final hearing. Significantly on 23.02.2011 the matter was heard and also reserved for judgment and thereafter the award was pronounced on 05.03.2011. From the record it would indicate that the insurance company has not made any effort to seriously contest the claim petition. Once its application under section 170 had been dismissed and consequently its opportunity to lead evidence had been closed on 11.10.2010 no effort to assail the said orders was made by the insurance company. The learned counsel for the insurance company could not indicate any fresh material which was brought on record which could establish that the insurance company has come in possession of certain new facts or circumstances which justified the making of an application for seeking recall of order dated 11.10.2010.

15. Under the circumstances where insurance company has not made the effort to lead evidence of its own and rather had already cross examined the claimant witness thereafter at the late stage where the claim petition was ripe for final hearing attempt to derail the entire proceedings by means of repeated applications and seeking summoning of the driver, the same could not be construed as the bonafide attempt coupled with the fact that in the entire memo of appeal the ground though has been taken in its appeal however the emphasis is merely upon the contributory negligence coupled with the facts reliance has been placed on the newspaper cutting which indicated that on account of dense fog the accident occurred. Neither the newspaper cutting was placed before the Tribunal nor any such pleadings is present in either the FIR or in the claim petition, neither in the written statement of any of the opposite parties and thus at a later stage, an attempt to carve out new case on the basis of newspaper cutting does not appear to be a bonafide defense. Accordingly, the submission for the reasons as mentioned above does not find favour of this Court. Accordingly the appeal preferred by the insurance company i.e. FAFO No. 433 of 2011 does not have merit and is accordingly dismissed.

16. Now coming to the FAFO 604 of 2011, learned counsel for claimants has raised his argument on following grounds:

16.1 That the Tribunal has erred in considering the salary of deceased to be Rs 15,000/- whereas according to salary certificate which was brought on record it indicated that gross salary of deceased was Rs 16,040/-. It is further been submitted by the learned counsel for claimants that the Tribunal has also incorrectly made income tax deduction of Rs 27,000/- @20% coupled with the fact that it has adopted an unsound reasoning of deducting 50% towards personal expenses solely on the ground that the claimant no. 1 i.e. the wife of the deceased was also a earning member. The submission is that where there were five dependents of the deceased thus according to the decision of the Apex Court in the case of Sarla Verma & Ors vs Delhi Transport Corporation & anothers (2009) 6 Supreme Court Cases 121 and subsequent constitution bench decision in the case of National Insurance Company Limited vs Pranay Sethi (2017) 16 Supreme Court Cases 680 the Tribunal ought to have made a deduction of 1/4th and 50% deduction is totally unwarranted. It has also been submitted that the tribunal has added for the future prospect of deceased @ 30% whereas the percentage ought to have been taken at 50% considering the age of the deceased which was 38 years at the time of accident. It is further been submitted that the compensation for non-pecuniary damages which has been awarded is extremely low and is not in accordance with the amount which has been fixed by the Apex Court in the case of Pranay Sethi (Supra).

17. Learned counsel for the appellant has also submitted that while disbursing the amount the tribunal has put an embargo upon wife of deceased in as much as a sum of Rs 6 lakhs has been awarded to her out of which Rs 1,50,000/- has been directed to be paid by means of a crossed cheque and remaining Rs 4.5 lakhs have been directed to be paid to her in shape of fixed deposits maturing after 5, 7 and 9 years respectively. It has been submitted that this kind of restriction imposed by Tribunal is not in sound exercise of discretion especially considering the fact that children of deceased have already attained a age where they are taking specialized and higher education in the filed of engineering and therefore by placing these unnecessary fetters it also creates a restriction which needs to be set aside.

18. Shri Anil Kumar Srivastava learned counsel appearing for insurance company in FAFO no. 604 of 2011 has submitted that the Tribunal has correctly assessed the compensation coupled with the fact that death in family is not to be considered as a bounty rather the Tribunal has fairly considered the compensation which is just and appropriate and it is with aforesaid principle in mind that the Tribunal has considered all aspects of the matter and has correctly made the assessment and has awarded the sum of Rs 15,62,000/- to claimants.

19. Considering the submissions of the learned counsel for the parties this Court has considered the material available on record and also the finding recorded by the Tribunal on issue no. 5. The record indicates that the salary certificate which was issued and duly verified by the Senior Superintendent of the Central Prisons at Naini, Allahabad indicated that the deceased Amitabh Singh was drawing a total salary of Rs 16,040/-. As far as his age is concerned the same was verified on the basis of documents in which he was found to be of 38 years. It is also not disputed that the deceased was survived by his wife, three minor children and mother. The decision in cases of Sarla Verma & Ors vs Delhi Transport Corporation & anothers and National Insurance Company Limited vs Pranay Sethi is being taken note of and relevant para of the aforesaid decisions are being reproduced hereinafter for ready reference.

19.1 In the case of Sarla Verma & Ors vs Delhi Transport Corporation & anothers Hon'ble Apex Court has observed as under:

"30. Though in some cases the deduction to be made towards personal and living expenses is calculated on the basis of units indicated in Trilok Chandra, the general practice is to apply standardized deductions. Having considered several subsequent decisions of this court, we are of the view that where the deceased was married, the deduction towards personal and living expenses of the deceased, should be one-third (1/3rd) where the number of dependent family members is 2 to 3, one-fourth (1/4th) where the number of dependant family members is 4 to 6, and one-fifth (1/5th) where the number of dependant family members exceed six.

42. We therefore hold that the multiplier to be used should be as mentioned in column (4) of the Table above (prepared by applying Susamma Thomas, Trilok Chandra and Charlie), which starts with an operative multiplier of 18 (for the age groups of 15 to 20 and 21 to 25 years), reduced by one unit for every five years, that is M-17 for 26 to 30 years, M-16 for 31 to 35 years, M-15 for 36 to 40 years, M- 14 for 41 to 45 years, and M-13 for 46 to 50 years, then reduced by two units for every five years, that is, M-11 for 51 to 55 years, M-9 for 56 to 60 years, M-7 for 61 to 65 years and M-5 for 66 to 70 years.'

19.2 In the case of National Insurance Company Limited vs Pranay Sethi Hon'ble Apex Court has observed as under:

"37. Three aspects need to be clarified. The first one pertains to deduction towards personal and living expenses. In paragraphs 30, 31 and 32, Sarla Verma lays down:-

"30. Though in some cases the deduction to be made towards personal and living expenses is calculated on the basis of units indicated in Trilok Chandra, the general practice is to apply standardized deductions. Having considered several subsequent decisions of this court, we are of the view that where the deceased was married, the deduction towards personal and living expenses of the deceased, should be one-third (1/3rd) where the number of dependent family members is 2 to 3, one-fourth (1/4th) where the number of dependant family members is 4 to 6, and one-fifth (1/5th) where the number of dependant family members exceed six.

31. Where the deceased was a bachelor and the claimants are the parents, the deduction follows a different principle. In regard to bachelors, normally, 50% is deducted as personal and living expenses, because it is assumed that a bachelor would tend to spend more on himself. Even otherwise, there is also the possibility of his getting married in a short time, in which event the contribution to the parent(s) and siblings is likely to be cut drastically. Further, subject to evidence to the contrary, the father is likely to have his own income and will not be considered as a dependant and the mother alone will be considered as a dependant. In the absence of evidence to the contrary, brothers and sisters will not be considered as dependants, because they will either be independent and earning, or married, or be dependent on the father.

32. Thus even if the deceased is survived by parents and siblings, only the mother would be considered to be a dependant, and 50% would be treated as the personal and living expenses of the bachelor and 50% as the contribution to the family. However, where the family of the bachelor is large and dependent on the income of the deceased, as in a case where he has a widowed mother and large number of younger nonearning sisters or brothers, his personal and living expenses may be restricted to one-third and contribution to the family will be taken as two-third."'

"39. In Reshma Kumari, the three-Judge Bench, reproduced paragraphs 30, 31 and 32 of Sarla Verma and approved the same by stating thus: (Reshma Kumar Case, SCC pp. 90- 91, paras 41-42)

"41. The above does provide guidance for the appropriate deduction for personal and living expenses. One must bear in mind that the proportion of a man's net earnings that he saves or spends exclusively for the maintenance of others does not form part of his living expenses but what he spends exclusively on himself does. The percentage of deduction on account of personal and living expenses may vary with reference to the number of dependent members in the family and the personal living expenses of the deceased need not exactly correspond to the number of dependants.

42. In our view, the standards fixed by this Court in Sarla Verma on the aspect of deduction for personal living expenses in paras 30, 31 and 32 must ordinarily be followed unless a case for departure in the circumstances noted in the preceding paragraph is made out."'

"40. The conclusions that have been summed up in Reshma Kumari are as follows:-

"43.1. In the applications for compensation made under Section 166 of the 1988 Act in death cases where the age of the deceased is 15 years and above, the Claims Tribunals shall select the multiplier as indicated in Column (4) of the Table prepared in Sarla Verma read with para 42 of that judgment.

43.2. In cases where the age of the deceased is up to 15 years, irrespective of Section 166 or Section 163- A under which the claim for compensation has been made, multiplier of 15 and the assessment as indicated in the Second Schedule subject to correction as pointed out in Column (6) of the Table in Sarla Verma should be followed.

43.3. As a result of the above, while considering the claim applications made under Section 166 in death cases where the age of the deceased is above 15 years, there is no necessity for the Claims Tribunals to seek guidance or for placing reliance on the Second Schedule in the 1988 Act.

43.4. The Claims Tribunals shall follow the steps and guidelines stated in para 19 of Sarla Verma for determination of compensation in cases of death.

43.5. While making addition to income for future prospects, the Tribunals shall follow para 24 of the judgment in Sarla Verma.

43.6. Insofar as deduction for personal and living expenses is concerned, it is directed that the Tribunals shall ordinarily follow the standards prescribed in paras 30, 31 and 32 of the judgment in Sarla Verma subject to the observations made by us in para 41 above."

41. On a perusal of the analysis made in Sarla Verma which has been reconsidered in Reshma Kumari, we think it appropriate to state that as far as the guidance provided for appropriate deduction for personal and living expenses is concerned, the tribunals and courts should be guided by conclusion 43.6 of Reshma Kumari. We concur with the same as we have no hesitation in approving the method provided therein.

42. As far as the multiplier is concerned, the claims tribunal and the Courts shall be guided by Step 2 that finds place in paragraph 19 of Sarla Verma read with paragraph 42 of the said judgment. For the sake of completeness, paragraph 42 is extracted below:-

"42. We therefore hold that the multiplier to be used should be as mentioned in Column (4) of the table above (prepared by applying Susamma Thomas, Trilok Chandra and Charlie), which starts with an operative ultiplier of 18 (for the age groups of 15 to 20 and 21 to 25 years), reduced by one unit for every five years, that is M-17 for 26 to 30 years, M- 16 for 31 to 35 years, M-15 for 36 to 40 years, M-14 for 41 to 45 years, and M-13 for 46 to 50 years, then reduced by two units for every five years, that is, M-11 for 51 to 55 years, M-9 for 56 to 60 years, M-7 for 61 to 65 years and M-5 for 66 to 70 years."

"44. At this stage, we must immediately say that insofar as the aforesaid multiplicand/multiplier is concerned, it has to be accepted on the basis of income established by the legal representatives of the deceased. Future prospects are to be added to the sum on the percentage basis and "income" means actual income less than the tax paid. The multiplier has already been fixed in Sarla Verma which has been approved in Reshma Kumari with which we concur.'

"45. In our considered opinion, if the same is followed, it shall subserve the cause of justice and the unnecessary contest before the tribunals and the courts would be avoided.'

"52. The conventional and traditional heads, needless to say, cannot be determined on percentage basis because that would not be an acceptable criterion. Unlike determination of income, the said heads have to be quantified. Any quantification must have a reasonable foundation. There can be no dispute over the fact that price index, fall in bank interest, escalation of rates in many a field have to be noticed. The court cannot remain oblivious to the same. There has been a thumb rule in this aspect. Otherwise, there will be extreme difficulty in determination of the same and unless the thumb rule is applied, there will be immense variation lacking any kind of consistency as a consequence of which, the orders passed by the tribunals and courts are likely to be unguided. Therefore, we think it seemly to fix reasonable sums. It seems to us that reasonable figures on conventional heads, namely, loss of estate, loss of consortium and funeral expenses should be Rs.15,000/-, Rs. 40,000/- and Rs. 15,000/- respectively. The principle of revisiting the said heads is an acceptable principle. But the revisit should not be fact-centric or quantum-centric. We think that it would be condign that the amount that we have quantified should be enhanced on percentage basis in every three years and the enhancement should be at the rate of 10% in a span of three years. We are disposed to hold so because that will bring in consistency in respect of those heads.'

20. From the above it would indicate that in so far as deduction of 50% by the Tribunal on account of personal expenditure of the deceased is concerned, the same is not in consonance with the principles as laid down by Apex Court, which ought to have been 1/4th.

21. Even the tax liability of 20% which has been deducted is also not in sound exercise of jurisdiction. It will be relevant to mention that since the deceased was a government servant thus as per the prevailing income tax laws it is incumbent for the employer to deduct tax prior to the payment of the salary and moreover since the salary is Rs 16,040/- per month thus after deduction of tax at source there can be no scope of further deduction and even otherwise the deceased would be in the non-taxable bracket. However the reason given by the Tribunal is erroneous in as much it held that by adding for future prospect the income comes in the taxable bracket but it failed to consider and note that with passage of time the exemption limits of income tax also increase from time to time. This aspect of the matter has been considered by the Apex Court in the case of Manasavi Jain vs Delhi Transport Corporation (2014) 13 Supreme Court Cases 22 and the relevant paras read as under:

"8. This Court in Shyamwati Sharma & Ors. Vs. Karam Singh & Ors. (2010) 12 SCC 378, while considering the issues of deduction of taxes, contributions etc., for arriving at the figure of net monthly income, held that(SCC p. 380, para 9):

"while ascertaining the income of the deceased, any deductions shown in the salary certificate as deductions towards GPF, life insurance premium, repayments of loans etc., should not be excluded from the income. The deduction towards income tax / surcharge alone should be considered to arrive at the net income of the deceased."

9. In the present case, there is no dispute about of the salary of the deceased. As per salary certificate, his monthly income and deductions are as under:

Monthly Income Rs. 26,950-00
Deductions Provident Fund 8,000-00
House Rent 525-00
G.I.S. 120-00
Income Tax 2,500-00

So, from the above table, it is clear that except an amount of Rs.2,500/- towards Income Tax, rest of the amounts were voluntarily contributed by the deceased for the welfare of his family. Considering the decision of this Court in Shyamwati Sharma & Ors., (supra), in our opinion, except contribution towards Income Tax, the other voluntary contributions made by the deceased, which are in the nature of savings, cannot be deducted from the monthly salary of the deceased to decide his net salary or take home salary. Hence, the take home salary of the deceased comes to Rs.24,450/- which can be rounded to Rs.25,000/-.'

22. Also the Apex Court in the case of Vimal Kanwar & Others vs Kishore Dan & others and as reported in (2013) 7 Supreme Court Cases 476 where considering and following the case of Sarla Verma (Supra) it has been held as under:

The third issue is "whether the income tax is liable to be deducted for determination of compensation under the "Motor Vehicles Act" In the case of Sarla Verma & Anr. (Supra), this Court held "generally the actual income of the deceased less income tax should be the starting point for calculating the compensation." This Court further observed that "where the annual income is in taxable range, the word "actual salary" should be read as "actual salary less tax". Therefore, it is clear that if the annual income comes within the taxable range income tax is required to be deducted for determination of the actual salary. But while deducting income-tax from salary, it is necessary to notice the nature of the income of the victim. If the victim is receiving income chargeable under the head "salaries" one should keep in mind that under Section 192(1) of the Income-tax Act, 1961 any person responsible for paying any income chargeable under the head "salaries" shall at the time of payment, deduct income- tax on estimated income of the employee from "salaries" for that financial year. Such deduction is commonly known as tax deducted at source ("TDS' for short). When the employer fails in default to deduct the TDS from employee salary, as it is his duty to deduct the TDS, then the penalty for non-deduction of TDS is prescribed under Section 201(1A) of the Income-tax Act, 1961.

Therefore, in case the income of the victim is only from "salary", the presumption would be that the employer under Section 192(1) of the Income- tax Act, 1961 has deducted the tax at source from the employee's salary. In case if an objection is raised by any party, the objector is required to prove by producing evidence such as LPC to suggest that the employer failed to deduct the TDS from the salary of the employee.

However, there can be cases where the victim is not a salaried person i.e. his income is from sources other than salary, and the annual income falls within taxable range, in such cases, if any objection as to deduction of tax is made by a party then the claimant is required to prove that the victim has already paid income tax and no further tax has to be deducted from the income.

23. Thus this Court finds that 20% deduction made towards tax was unwarranted.

24. Similarly the consideration of future prospects has also not been rightly considered and is against the provisions as settled by the Apex Court in above mentioned decisions which has been reproduced for ready reference.

24.1 In the case of National Insurance Company Limited vs Pranay Sethi Hon'ble Apex Court has observed as under:

"59.3 While determining the income, an addition of 50% of actual salary to the income of the deceased towards future prospects, where the deceased had a permanent job and was below the age of 40 years, should be made. The addition should be 30%, if the age of the deceased was between 40 to 50 years. In case the deceased was between the age of 50 to 60 years, the addition should be 15%. Actual salary should be read as actual salary less tax.

59.4 In case the deceased was self-employed or on a fixed salary, an addition of 40% of the established income should be the warrant where the deceased was below the age of 40 years. An addition of 25% where the deceased was between the age of 40 to 50 years and 10% where the deceased was between the age of 50 to 60 years should be regarded as the necessary method of computation. The established income means the income minus the tax component.'

25. Thus in the present case the deceased was in a permanent job having a salary which was subject to enhancement with passage of time accordingly applying the principle of Pranay Sethi (Supra) 50% ought to be added towards future prospect to the salary of the deceased.

26. As far as grant of non-pecuniary damages is concerned the same has been settled by the Apex Court in the case of Pranay Sethi and if seen in light thereof it would indicate that the award made by Tribunal is grossly inadequate.

27. The grant of non-pecuniary damages under the head of loss of consortium as considered by Apex Court is not only available to the wife on account of death of her husband but is also available for the children on account of losing their parent. Similarly, it is also available to the mother who has lost her son. This aspect of the matter has been considered by the Apex Court in the case of Magma General Insurance Co. Ltd vs Nanu Ram 2018 SCC OnLine SC 1546 and the relevant part is reproduced as under:

"8.6 The MACT as well as the High Court have not awarded any compensation with respect to Loss of Consortium and Loss of Estate, which are the other conventional heads under which compensation is awarded in the event of death, as recognized by the Constitution Bench in Pranay Sethi (supra).

The Motor Vehicles Act is a beneficial and welfare legislation. The Court is duty-bound and entitled to award "just compensation", irrespective of whether any plea in that behalf was raised by the Claimant.

In exercise of our power under Article 142, and in the interests of justice, we deem it appropriate to award an amount of Rs. 15,000 towards Loss of Estate to Respondent Nos. 1 and 2.

8.7 A Constitution Bench of this Court in Pranay Sethi (supra) dealt with the various heads under which compensation is to be awarded in a death case. One of these heads is Loss of Consortium.

In legal parlance, "consortium" is a compendious term which encompasses "spousal consortium', "parental consortium', and "filial consortium'.

The right to consortium would include the company, care, help, comfort, guidance, solace and affection of the deceased, which is a loss to his family.

With respect to a spouse, it would include sexual relations with the deceased spouse.

Spousal consortium is generally defined as rights pertaining to the relationship of a husband-wife which allows compensation to the surviving spouse for loss of "company, society, cooperation, affection, and aid of the other in every conjugal relation."

Parental consortium is granted to the child upon the premature death of a parent, for loss of "parental aid, protection, affection,society, discipline, guidance and training."

Filial consortium is the right of the parents to compensation in the case of an accidental death of a child. An accident leading to the death of a child causes great shock and agony to the parents and family of the deceased. The greatest agony for a parent is to lose their child during their lifetime. Children are valued for their love, affection, companionship and their role in the family unit.

Consortium is a special prism reflecting changing norms about the status and worth of actual relationships. Modern jurisdictions world-over have recognized that the value of a child's consortium far exceeds the economic value of the compensation awarded in the case of the death of a child. Most jurisdictions therefore permit parents to be awarded compensation under loss of consortium on the death of a child. The amount awarded to the parents is a compensation for loss of the love, affection, care and companionship of the deceased child.

The Motor Vehicles Act is a beneficial legislation aimed at providing relief to the victims or their families, in cases of genuine claims. In case where a parent has lost their minor child, or unmarried son or daughter, the parents are entitled to be awarded loss of consortium under the head of Filial Consortium. Parental Consortium is awarded to children who lose their parents in motor vehicle accidents under the Act.

A few High Courts have awarded compensation on this count. However, there was no clarity with respect to the principles on which compensation could be awarded on loss of Filial Consortium.

The amount of compensation to be awarded as consortium will be governed by the principles of awarding compensation under "Loss of Consortium' as laid down in Pranay Sethi (supra).'

28. Considering the aforesaid this Court has no hesitation to conclude that the amount as calculated by the Tribunal is not in accordance with the settled legal principals and this Court redetermines the compensation as under:

Income (Rounded off) : Rs 16,000/- Per Month

Add: Future Prospect @ 50% : Rs 8,000 Per Month

Net Income: Income after deduction of 1/4th : Rs (24,000 - 6,000) = Rs 18,000/- per month

Age : 38 years

Multiplier : 15

Thus compensation payable :Rs.18000x15x12 = Rs 32,40,000/-

Conventional head of consortium:

(a) Spouse : Rs 40,000/-

(b) Parental : Rs 40,000/-

(c) Filial : Rs 40,000/-

(d) Funeral expenses : Rs 15,000/-

(e) Loss of estate : Rs 15,000/-

Thus, total compensation payable shall be : Rs 33,90,000/-

29. In view of the above the appellant shall be entitled to be a total sum of Rs 33,90,000/- Any amount paid to the appellant shall be deducted from aforesaid amount and the remaining shall be payable to claimants in accordance with the guidelines given in the award itself. As far as the restrictions imposed for grant of compensation to the wife of the deceased is concerned the same is set aside and the insurance company would be liable to satisfy the award by making the payment to the wife, mother and such children of the deceased who have attained majority however the portions in respect of minor children shall be deposited in an interest bearing instrument (FDR) into a nationalised bank for the duration of such minority under guardianship of their mother.

30. With the aforesaid, and subject to the above determination of compensation the award dated 05.03.2011, shall stand modified. The FAFO no. 604 of 2011 stands partially allowed. The record of Tribunal concerned shall be remitted to Tribunal within a period of two weeks. Any amount deposited before this Court by insurance company shall also be remitted to the Tribunal to be released in favour of claimants in light of observations made in the judgment. There shall be no order to costs. The aforesaid two FAFO stand decided accordingly.

3. Sarla Verma Vs Delhi Transport Corporation Ltd., AIR 2009 SC 3104

(Delivered by Hon'ble Pradeep Kumar Srivastava, J.)

1. Heard Shri Kuldip Shanker Amist, learned counsel for the appellant and Shri Sudhir Kumar Singh Parmar, learned counsel for the respondents.

2. This appeal has been filed by the Oriental Insurance Co. Ltd. against the award dated 20.12.2014 passed by Additional District Judge, Court No. 10/Motor Accident Claims Tribunal, Kanpur Nagar in MACP No. 819 of 2011 allowing total amount of compensation as Rs. 21,91,664/- along with interest at the rate of 6% per annum from the date of filing of the claim petition.

3. The said award has been challenged by the appellant on the ground that the claimant did not implead the driver who was necessary party in the case and a finding was given that the driver was driving the offending vehicle in rash and negligent way and because of that the accident occurred. The amount of compensation is very high and the Tribunal has committed error in calculating and not applying the principle of law while determining the quantum of compensation. The Tribunal has applied high multiplier of 11 while calculating the amount of award, which is not correct. The deceased was 53 years at the time of accident and his service remains only about 7 years and thereafter he was to retire, and therefore, a multiplier of 11 is not applied and a proportional deduction could have been made. Therefore, the amount awarded is illegal and arbitrary and is not sustainable under law and no compensation could be awarded to the claimant.

4. The factual matrix of the case is that an accident took place on 12.12.2010 on 07:30 p.m. by a bus U.P.14-B.T. 7092 which was coming from the side of Dadri and it was alleged that the driver of the bus was driving the bus rashly and negligently and coming from behind, he dashed constable Suresh Singh Yadav, who sustained injuries and died out of accident. The F.I.R. was lodged and the matter was investigated by police and thereafter a charge-sheet was submitted against the driver of the offending vehicle.

5. The appellant being Insurance Company contested the petition on all grounds such as on rash and negligent driving, the driver was not having a valid driving license at the time of incident nor there was valid registration certificate, permit and fitness of the offending vehicle. Moreover it was alleged that there was violation of the condition of insurance policy.

6. Following issues were framed by the Tribunal.

1- क्या याचिका के कथनानुसार दुर्घटना दिनांक 12.12.2010 को समय 7:30 बजे शाम स्थान सेक्टर 37 के पास स्थित पेट्रोलपम्प अन्तर्गत थाना नोयडा सेक्टर 39, जिला गौतम बुद्ध नगर में उस समय घटित हुई जबकि मृतक कां 0 सुरेन्द्र सिंह यादव सरकारी कार्य से जा रहा था तभी बस सं 0 यूपी 14 बीटी -7092 के चालक ने अपने वाहन को तेजी , लापरवाही एवं बिना हार्न बचाए गलत साइड में लाकर सुरेन्द्र सिंह को पीछे से टक्कर मार दी जिससे इलाज हेतु ले जाते समय रास्ते में उसकी मृत्यु हो गयी ?

2- क्या दुर्घटना में आलिप्त वाहन बस सं 0 यूपी 14 बीटी - 7092 विपक्षी सं 0 2 दि ओरियन्टल इन्श्योरेंस कं 0लि 0 से बीमित था , यदि हाँ तो प्रभाव ?

3- क्या दुर्घटना के दिनांक को उक्त बस के चालक के पास वैध व प्रभावी ड्राइविंग लाइसेन्स था तथा वाहन के अन्य प्रपत्र वैध व प्रभावी थे ?

4- क्या याचिनी कोई प्रतिकर राशि प्राप्त करने की अधिकारी है यदि हाँ तो कितनी और किस विपक्षी से ?

7. Documentary evidence was given from the side of claimant and PW-1 Smt. Munni Devi (claimant), PW-2 Satish Kumar, (eye witness), PW-3 Mohd. Abid (eye witness) and PW-4 Virendra Kumar Sharma were examined, the defendant did not examined any witnesses.

8. After perusing the evidence on record the learned tribunal passed the impugned judgment which is under challenge.

9. So far as issue nos. 2 and 3 are concerned, they relates to the insurance of the offending vehicle and with regard to driver having a valid license or not and on the basis of the documentary evidence on record these two issued have been concluded in favour of claimant and against the defendant. From the perusal of the finding of the learned tribunal, it appears that the offending vehicle was ensured with the appellant and the driver who was driving the said offending vehicle was having a valid driving license and the driving license was filed by the appellant himself.

10. So far as the issue with regard to rash and negligent driving is concerned, the learned counsel for the appellant has admitted that four witnesses have been examined from the side of the claimant and they all have supported the version of claim petition and have stated that because of the rash and negligent driving by the driver of the offending vehicle, the accident took place and in the accident, the husband of the petitioner-claimant suffered serious injuries and died. The statement of the witnesses is further supported by the police papers such as FIR, charge-sheet, site-map and postmortem report.

11. The learned counsel for the appellant has restricted his argument to two points, firstly, that the multiplier applied in this case was not correct as the age of the deceased at the time of incident was 53 years and he was likely to retire on attaining the age of 60 years this is within 7 years and therefore, the multiplier of 11 was not permissible. Secondly, he has submitted that the driver of the offending bus was a necessary party who was not impleaded by the claimant and therefore, the driver could not be examined who could explain how the accident took place.

12. So for as the impleadment of driver is concerned, no such plea was taken by the Insurance Company nor any issue appears to have been pressed before the learned Tribunal. In Oriental Insurance Co. Ltd. v. Meena Variyal AIR 2007 SC 1609, the Supreme Court expressed the view that when a car belonging to an owner is insured with the insurance company and it is being driven by a driver employed by the insured, when it meets with an accident, the primary liability under law for payment of compensation is that of the driver. Once the driver is liable, the owner of the vehicle becomes vicariously liable for payment of compensation. It is this vicarious liability of the owner that is indemnified by the insurance company. A third party for whose benefit the insurance is taken, is therefore entitled to show, when he moves under Section 166 of the Motor Vehicles Act, that the driver was negligent in driving the vehicle resulting in the accident; that the owner was vicariously liable and that the insurance company was bound to indemnify the owner and consequently, satisfy the award made. Therefore, under general principles, one would expect the driver to be impleaded before an adjudication is claimed under Section 166 of the Act as to whether a claimant before the Tribunal is entitled to compensation for an accident that has occurred due to alleged negligence of the driver.

13. In Machindranath Kernath Kasar v. D. S. Mylarappa AIR 2008 SC 2545, the Supreme Court, however, took the view that the driver of vehicle should be impleaded as party in proceeding though he may not be necessary party. The driver, therefore, may be a proper but not a necessary party though in case of several tortfeasors, all the tortfeasors are not to be impleaded and impleadment of one set of tortfeasors is sufficient. In motor accident cases, the concept of joint tortfeasors applies only in case of composite negligence of drivers of two vehicles colliding with each other on any side, and according to the settled principles under law of torts it is sufficient if only one set of such tortfeasors is impleaded and proceeded against. Amended Rule 204 of U.P. Motor Vehicle Rules, 2011, however at present, provides that in the application for compensation filed u/s 166 driver is a necessary party. It is pertinent to mention that the amended Rules, 2011 has been published in official gazette on 26.9.2019, whereas, the claim petition has been filed on 5.8.2011, much before when the amended Rules came into force. As such, this argument has got no force as no such objection or issue was raised before the Tribunal and moreover, it has not caused any prejudice to the appellant.

14. The next argument is with regards to application of multiplier. From the perusal of the finding on this aspect, it is clear that the learned tribunal has concluded that at the time of incident the deceased was just above 52 years and the multiplier in this age which has been provided in the Schedule of the Motor Vehicle Act. Moreover, in Sarla Verma Vs. Delhi Transport Corporation Ltd., AIR 2009 SC 3104 is from the age of 50 to 55 is 11 years. The Supreme Court has laid down as below:

"We therefore hold that the multiplier to be used should be as mentioned in column (4) of the Table above (prepared by applying Susamma Thomas, Trilok Chandra and Charlie), which starts with an operative multiplier of 18 (for the age groups of 15 to 20 and 21 to 25 years), reduced by one unit for every five years, that is M-17 for 26 to 30 years, M-16 for 31 to 35 years, M-15 for 36 to 40 years, M-14 for 41 to 45 years, and M-13 for 46 to 50 years, then reduced by two units for every five years, that is, M-11 for 51 to 55 years, M-9 for 56 to 60 years, M-7 for 61 to 65 years and M-5 for 66 to 70 years."

15. Therefore, in view of the multiplier system affirmed by the Supreme Court, it cannot be said that there is any illegality in applying the multiplier of 11 years. It is pertinent to mention that multiplier system has been provided under law law to maintain uniformity in determining quantum of compensation in order to avoid variation. It is also pertinent to mention that the admitted fact is that the deceased was employed in police department as constable and it appears from the impugned judgment that on the basis of his salary, the compensation has been calculated. The learned tribunal has also correctly reduced the compensation by 1/3 as permissible under Rules against the personal expenses of the deceased.

16. In Sarla Verma (supra), it has been held by the Supreme Court that a proceeding before the Tribunal is in the nature of inquiry in which a very few thing is required to be established. The Court observed:

"Basically only three facts need to be established by the claimants for assessing compensation in the case of death: (a) age of the deceased; (b) income of the deceased; and the (c) the number of dependents. The issues to be determined by the Tribunal to arrive at the loss of dependency are (i) additions/deductions to be made for arriving at the income; (ii) the deduction to be made towards the personal living expenses of the deceased; and (iii) the multiplier to be applied with reference of the age of the deceased."

17. From the perusal of the impugned judgment, it is clear that the learned Tribunal has considered all the aspects as laid down by Sarla Verma (supra) and has given finding based on the evidence on record. I do not find any perversity or any illegality in the impugned judgment.

18. In view of the above discussions, I find no force in this appeal and the appeal is liable to be dismissed.

18. The appeal is dismissed.

19. The office is directed to send a copy of this judgment to the Court concerned for information and necessary compliance.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Ved Prakash Vaish, J.)

1. Heard Sri Adnan Ahmad, learned counsel for the appellant and Sri Alok Srivastava, learned counsel for the respondent.

2. This is an appeal under Order 43 Rule 1 (u) of the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908 (hereinafter referred to as "C.P.C.") against the judgment and order dated 05th October, 2018 passed by learned Sixth Additional District Judge, Unnao, in Civil Appeal No.02 of 2016, whereby the appeal filed by the respondent was allowed.

3. Succinctly stating the facts of the present case as borne out from the record are that the respondent herein (plaintiff) filed a suit for cancellation of sale deed, which was registered on 22nd November, 2007, in respect of plot No.210, ad-measuring one bigha six biswa situated at Village Newlapur, Pargana Bangarmau, Tehsil Safipur, District Unnao bearing Civil Case R.S. No.76 of 2008. In the plaint, it was stated by plaintiff that he was owner of the half portion of plot No.208, ad-measuring 0.658 hec. situated at Village Newlapur, Pargana Bangarmau, Tehsil Safipur, District Unnao and the other half portion of the said plot was owned by his mother, namely, Smt. Somwati; the plaintiff sold the half portion of said plot No.208 to the defendant and executed a registered sale deed on 05.03.2004 for a consideration of Rs.80,000/- (rupees eighty thousand only), which was duly registered in the office of Sub-Registrar, Safipur, District Unnao; after execution of the said sale deed, in the month of July, 2007, the defendant stated that in the sale deed 05.03.2004, the boundaries of plot No.208 have been wrongly recorded and it needs to be corrected; the plaintiff agreed to the same, the defendant prepared a document to get the boundaries corrected and after one month, the defendant (appellant) told to the plaintiff that he should return the consideration amount of Rs.80,000/- and he is unwilling to buy the said plot No.208; the plaintiff was ready to return the consideration amount and proposed to the defendant that he would have to execute back the sale deed which he had executed in favour of the defendant; the defendant refused to bear the expenses of the stamp duty and registration fee; later on, when some people intervened, it was agreed that the defendant would execute a sale deed and the plaintiff would return the consideration amount of Rs.80,000/- and bear all other expenses of stamp duty and registration fee. Both the parties went to the office of Sub-Registrar, Safipur, District Unnao on 22.11.2007, since everything was decided and the sale deed was to be executed, the plaintiff returned the consideration amount of Rs.80,000/- to the defendant, in the presence of the witnesses, for the said half portion of plot No.208 ad-measuring 0.658 hec.; the plaintiff signed the document and put his thumb impression. It was alleged that the plaintiff put the thumb impression and signatures under the impression that the sale deed was being executed as per settlement; for execution of sale deed both the parties went to the office of Sub-Registrar, thumb impression of the plaintiff was taken and registration fee was paid by the plaintiff, the defendant went away from the office of Sub-Registrar on the excuse that he was going to toilet, the plaintiff waited for the defendant but the defendant did not turn up, the plaintiff got the information at the end of day that defendant got executed a sale deed fraudulently. It was also alleged that the defendant succeeded in getting the sale deed in respect of plot No.210 ad-measuring two bigha four biswa out of total area of 2.056 hec. situated at Village Newlapur, Pargana Bangarmau, Tehsil Safipur, District Unnao instead of executing back the sale deed in respect of plot No.208. It was also alleged that the plaintiff did not receive the consideration in respect of plot No.210; plot No.210 was a valuable piece of land situated at Lucknow Bangurmau Road and value of the plot No.210 is approximately Rs.4,00,000/- (rupees four lacs) per bigha; the sale deed was got executed in respect of plot No.210 without payment of consideration and by playing fraud on the plaintiff. Hence, the respondent/plaintiff filed a suit for cancellation of sale deed in respect of plot No.210 ad-measuring as one bigha six biswa registered on 22.11.2007 with the office of Sub-Registrar, Safipur, District-Unnao.

4. The suit was contested by the appellant/respondent by filing written statement; it was stated that the plaintiff is owner of both the plots No.209 and 210 and the plaintiff agreed to sell half portion of plot No.209 for a consideration of Rs.80,000/-. It was further stated that the sale deed was executed on 05.03.2004, when the defendants started raising boundaries on the spot, the plaintiff objected to the same and at that time the defendant came to know that the land which was purchased by him was plot No.210 which was shown as plot No.209 in the sale deed and he was cheated by the plaintiff. Thus, it is stated by the appellant in the written statement that the plaintiff concealed the said fact with an ill motive to defraud him.

5. On the pleadings of parties, following issues were framed on 11.11.2019:-

"1. Whether the plaintiff is entitled to get the sale deed dated 22.11.2007 canceled on the basis of his pleadings mentioned in the plaint?

2. Whether the suit is undervalued for the purpose of court fees and jurisdiction?

3. Is the suit barred by the provisions of Sec.331 of the ULZALR Act?

4. Which relief is the plaintiff entitled to obtain?"

6. In support of his case, the respondent/plaintiff filed some documents. After considering the pleadings and material on record, the suit of the plaintiff was dismissed by learned Additional Civil Judge (J.D.), Unnao vide judgment and decree dated 28th January, 2016.

7. Against the said judgment and decree, the respondent filed Civil Appeal No.02 of 2016. Vide impugned judgment and decree dated 05th October, 2018, learned Additional District Judge, Unnao allowed the appeal, set aside the judgment and decree dated 28th January, 2016 passed by learned Additional Civil Judge (J.D.), Unnao and the matter was remanded back for passing a fresh order after considering the pleas of the parties.

8. Being aggrieved by the said judgment and decree dated 05th October, 2018, the appellant has filed the present appeal.

9. Learned counsel for the appellant submitted that after order of remand neither fresh evidence is to be recorded nor fresh issues are to be framed. The first appellate court could have decided the matter after considering the pleadings of the parties, documents on record and evidence adduced by the parties and there was no occasion for remanding the matter without giving any findings on merits.

10. Learned counsel for the appellant further submitted that the respondent/plaintiff has filed a Civil Suit No.116 of 2008 wherein it was stated that the boundaries have not been correctly mentioned in the sale deed dated 05.03.2004.

11. Per contra, learned counsel for the respondent urged that the plaintiff has not played any fraud and the sale deed was executed after payment of consideration. According to learned counsel for the respondent, the first appellate court has committed no illegality while remanding the matter for passing a fresh order on the basis of material on record.

12. I have given my thoughtful consideration to the submissions made by learned counsel for both the parties. I have also gone through the material available on record.

13. Before adverting the facts of the present case, it is necessary to consider the provisions of Rule 23 and 24 of Order XLI of C.P.C. Rule 23 and 24 of Order XLI of C.P.C. read as under:-

"23. Remand of case by Appellate Court.- Where the Court from whose decree an appeal is preferred has disposed of the suit upon a preliminary point and the decree is reversed in appeal, the Appellate Court may, if it thinks fit, by order remand the case, and may further direct what issue or issues shall be tried in the case so remanded, and shall send a copy of its judgment and order to the Court from whose decree the appeal is preferred, which directions to re-admit the suit under its original number in the register of civil suits, and proceed to determine the suit; and the evidence (if any) recorded during the original trial shall, subject to all just exceptions, be evidence during the trial after remand.

23-A. Remand in other cases.- Where the Court from whose decree an appeal is preferred has disposed of the case otherwise than on a preliminary point, and the decree is reversed in appeal and a retrial is considered necessary, the Appellate Court shall have the same powers as it has under Rule 23.*

24. Where evidence on record sufficient, Appellate Court may determine case finally.- Where the evidence upon the record is sufficient to enable the Appellate Court to pronounce judgment, the Appellate Court may, after resettling the issues, if necessary, finally determine the suit, notwithstanding that the judgment of the Court from whose decree the appeal is preferred has proceeded wholly upon some ground other than that on which the Appellate Court proceeds."*

14. On perusal of provisions of Rule 23 Order XLI of C.P.C. it is clear that where the Court has disposed of the suit on a preliminary point and the decree is reversed in appeal, the appellate court may, if it thinks fit, by order remand the case, and may further direct what issue or issues shall be tried in the case so remanded. Rule 23A of Order XLI of

C.P.C. provides that where the Courts from whose decree an appeal is preferred has disposed of the case otherwise than on a preliminary point, and the decree is reversed in appeal and a retrial is considered necessary, the appellate court shall have the same powers as it has under Rule 23. Rule 24 of Order XLI of C.P.C. provides that where the evidence on record is sufficient, appellate court may determine case finally, instead of remanding the same to the lower court.

15. It is settled principle of law that the powers under Section 96 of C.P.C. are wide. The first appeal has to be decided on facts as well as on law. In the first appeal parties have the right to be heard both on questions of law as also on facts and the first appellate court is required to address itself to all issues and decide the case by giving reasons. Unfortunately, the High Court, in the present case has not recorded any finding either on facts or on law. Sitting as the first appellate court it was the duty of the High Court to deal with all the issues and the evidence led by the parties before recording the finding regarding title.

16. The scope and ambit of the first appellate court under Section 96 of C.P.C. have been considered in 'Santosh Hazari vs. Purushottam Tiwari (Deceased) by LRs.', (2001) 3 SCC 179, in the said case the Hon'ble Supreme Court held (at pages 188-189) as under:-

"The appellate court has jurisdiction to reverse or affirm the findings of the trial court. First appeal is a valuable right of the parties and unless restricted by law, the whole case is therein open for rehearing both on questions of fact and law. The judgment of the appellate court must, therefore, reflect its conscious application of mind and record findings supported by reasons, on all the issues arising along with the contentions put forth, and pressed by the parties for decision of the appellate court. ... while reversing a finding of fact the appellate court must come into close quarters with the reasoning assigned by the trial court and then assign its own reasons for arriving at a different finding. This would satisfy the court hearing a further appeal that the first appellate court had discharged the duty expected of it."

17. In 'Madhukar & Others v. Sangram & Others', (2001) 4 SCC 756, the Hon'ble Supreme Court reiterated that sitting as a court of first appeal, it is the duty of the High Court to deal with all the issues and the evidence led by the parties before recording its findings.

18. Further, in the case of 'B.V. Nagesh and another v. H.V. Sreenivasa Murthy', (2010) 13 SCC 530, the Hon'ble Supreme Court after taking note of all the earlier judgments laid down following principle with regard to Order XLI of C.P.C. which is as follows:

"3. How the regular first appeal is to be disposed of by the appellate court/High Court has been considered by this Court in various decisions. Order 41 of C.P.C. deals with appeals from original decrees. Among the various rules, Rule 31 mandates that the judgment of the appellate court shall state: (a) the points for determination; (b) the decision thereon; (c) the reasons for the decision; and (d) where the decree appealed from is reversed or varied, the relief to which the appellant is entitled.

4. The appellate Court has jurisdiction to reverse or affirm the findings of the trial court. The first appeal is a valuable right of the parties and unless restricted by law, the whole case is therein open for rehearing both on questions of fact and law. The judgment of the appellate court must,... therefore, reflect its conscious application of mind and record findings supported by reasons, on all the issues arising along with the contentions putforth, and pressed by the parties for decision of the appellate court. Sitting as a court of first appeal, it was the duty of the High Court to deal with all the issues and the evidence led by the parties before recording its findings. The first appeal is a valuable right and the parties have a right to be heard both on questions of law and on facts and the judgment in the first appeal must address itself to all the issues of law and fact and decide it by giving reasons in support of the findings. (Vide Santosh Hazari v. Purushottam Tiwari, (2001) 3 SCC 179 at p.188, para 15 and Madhukar v. Sangram, (2001) 4 SCC 756 at p.758, para 5.)

5. In view of the above salutary principles, on going through the impugned judgment, we feel that the High Court has failed to discharge the obligation placed on it as a first appellate court. In our view, the judgment under appeal is cryptic and none of the relevant aspects have even been noticed. The appeal has been decided in an unsatisfactory manner. Our careful perusal of the judgment in the regular first appeal shows that it falls short of considerations which are expected from the court of first appeal. Accordingly, without going into the merits of the claim of both parties, we set aside the impugned judgment and decree of the High Court and remand the regular first appeal to the High Court for its fresh disposal in accordance with law."

19. In 'State Bank of India & Anr. v. Emmsons International Ltd.& Anr.' (2011) 12 SCC 174, the Hon'ble Supreme Court reiterated the aforesaid principles.

20. Also, the Hon'ble Supreme Court considered the provisions of Rule 23 of Order XLI of C.P.C. in 'P. Purushottam Reddy And Anr. v Pratap Steels Ltd', (2002) 2 SCC 686, it was held:-

"11. In the case at hand, the trial court did not dispose of the suit upon a preliminary point. The suit was decided by recording findings on all the issues. By its appellate judgment under appeal herein, the High Court has recorded its finding on some of the issues, not preliminary, and then framed three additional issues leaving them to be tried and decided by the trial court. It is not a case where a retrial is considered necessary. Neither Rule 23 nor Rule 23-A of Order 41 applies. None of the conditions contemplated by Rule 27 exists so as to justify production of additional evidence by either party under that Rule. The validity of remand has to be tested by reference to Rule 25. So far as the objection as to maintainability of the suit for failure of the plaint to satisfy the requirement of Forms 47 and 48 of Appendix A CPC is concerned, the High Court has itself found that there was no specific plea taken in the written statement. The question of framing an issue did not, therefore, arise. However, the plea was raised on behalf of the defendants purely as a question of law which, in their submission, strikes at the very root of the right of the plaintiff to maintain the suit in the form in which it was filed and so the plea was permitted to be urged. So far as the plea as to readiness and willingness by reference to Clause (c) of Section 16 of the Specific Relief Act, 1963 is concerned, the pleadings are there as they were and the question of improving upon the pleadings does not arise inasmuch as neither any of the parties made a prayer for amendment in the pleadings nor has the High Court allowed such a liberty. It is true that a specific issue was not framed by the trial court. Nevertheless, the parties and the trial court were very much alive to the issue whether Section 16(c) of the Specific Relief Act was complied with or not and the contentions advanced by the parties in this regard were also adjudicated upon. The High Court was to examine whether such finding of the trial court was sustainable or not-in law and on facts. Even otherwise the question could have been gone into by the High Court and a finding could have been recorded on the available material inasmuch as the High Court being the court of first appeal, all the questions of fact and law arising in the case were open before it for consideration and decision."

21. Undisputedly, Section 107 of the C.P.C. empowers the appellate court to remand a case but it also empowers the appellate court to take additional evidence or to require such evidence to be taken. Rule 24 of Order XLI of the C.P.C. provides that where evidence on record is sufficient, the appellate court may determine the case finally. It is settled principle of law that the first appellate court has power to remand the case if the trial court has disposed of a suit on a preliminary issue without recording evidence and giving its decision on the rest of the issues.

22. In the instant case, the respondent/ plaintiff filed a suit for cancellation of sale deed dated 22.11.2007, written statement was filed by the appellant/defendant, issues were framed and the evidence was adduced by both the parties. It is not a case where the trial court has disposed of the suit on a preliminary issue without recording evidence and giving its decision on the rest of the issues. The first appellate court could have decided the matter on the basis of the evidence on record.

23. In view of the aforesaid discussion, the appeal is allowed, impugned judgment and decree dated 05th October, 2018 passed by learned Additional District Judge, Unnao, in Civil Appeal No.02 of 2016, are set aside and the matter is remanded back to the first appellate court to decide the appeal on merits and pass a fresh order after hearing both the parties, in accordance with law. The first appellate court is directed to decide the appeal expeditiously and preferably within a period of three months.

24. Both the parties are directed to appear before learned District Judge, Unnao on 06.01.2020 who will hear the appeal himself or assign the same to some other competent court for deciding the same according to law.

25. A copy of this judgment be sent back to the first appellate court immediately.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Virendra Kumar Srivastava, J.)

1. This appeal has been filed by appellant Insurance Company (hereinafter referred to as "Insurer") against the award dated 28.4.2011 passed by Motor Accident Claims Tribunal/Additional District Judge, Court No. 5, Allahabad in M.A.C.P. No. 627 of 2009 (Ramesh Chandra Nishad and others Vs. Leeladhar Tripathi and others) whereby claim petition filed by claimants-respondents No. 1and 2 (for short "claimants") has been allowed and compensation of Rs. 3,35,979/- along with 6.5% simple annual interest has been awarded.

2. The brief facts, arising out of this appeal, are that on 15.7.2009 at about 12 O' clock, the deceased Mahesh, aged about 24 years was riding as pillion rider on motorcycle, driven by one Sushil Kumar. When he was passing nearby a culvert situated near the Shastri Bridge within jurisdiction of P.S. Daraganj, Allahabad, driver of the vehicle TATA Mini Bus No. UP 70 AT-4058, driving the said vehicle, rash and negligently, dashed the motorcycle of Sushil Kumar whereby deceased Mahesh received grievous injuries, in result whereof he died on 16.7.2009, during treatment. First Information Report was lodged by one Sunil Kumar Nishad and Case Crime No. 173 of 2009 under Section 279, 337, 338, 304-A IPC, was registered at P.S. Daraganj, Allahabad.

3. Claim petition was filed by claimants (parents of deceased Mahesh) under Section 163-A of Motor Vehicle Act (for short "M.V. Act"), for compensation of Rs. 9 lakhs against the owner of vehicle/ respondent no.3 and Insurer. The said claim petition was allowed by the Tribunal by aforesaid impugned order and award. Aggrieved by the said award this appeal has been filed.

4. Heard Sri Sidharth Jaiswal, Advocate, holding brief of Sri Ashok Kumar Jaiswal, learned counsel for Insurer, Sri Sudhakar Pandey, learned counsel for claimant, Smt. Neeraja Singh, learned counsel for respondent No. 3 and perused the record.

5. Learned counsel for Insurer has submitted that accident was happened on 15.7.2009. At the time of accident, the driver of the vehicle had not any valid licence or authority to drive the said vehicle, because the driving licence (hereinafter referred to as "D.L.") of the driver Anant Lal who was driving the alleged vehicle at the time of accident, had expired on 10.7.2009 which was renewed after 13.10.2009. Thus, there is complete breach of policy. It has further been submitted that alleged accident was caused due to negligence of driver of motorcycle (Sushil Kumar) but the Tribunal has not held him for contributory negligence and held total negligence of the driver of offending vehicle TATA Mini Bus UP 70 AT-4058. The said judgment is against the evidence and material on record and also against the settled principle of law, which is liable to be set aside.

6. Learned counsel for claimants vehemently opposed the submission advanced by the learned counsel for Insurer and submits that there is no illegality or perversity in the judgment. It is further submitted that at the time of alleged accident motorcyclist Sushil Kumar was driving the motorcycle with slow and moderate speed. He was not negligent at the time of accident. The claim petition was filed under Section 163-A of M.V. Act wherein the contributory negligence of the motorcyclist cannot be taken as defence by Insurer.

7. Learned counsel for respondent No. 3/owner of the vehicle has submitted that alleged accident had not been caused by offending vehicle No. UP 70 AT 4058. It was being driven, at the time of alleged accident, by a qualified and skilled driver, having effective D.L. Mere fact that the validity of D.L. had been expired just 5 days prior to the date of accident, will not absolve Insurer from its liability to pay compensation because at the time of accident all the papers of vehicle were valid and it was insured by the Insurer.

8. I have considered the rival submissions of learned counsel for parties and perused the record.

9. So far as question whether on the date of alleged accident i.e. 15.7.2009, driver of the offending vehicle No. UP 70 AT- 4058 had any valid and effective licence or not, is concerned, respondent no.3/owner of the offending vehicle in his written statement, filed before Tribunal, has specifically stated that all the papers including insurance cover policy and D.L. of the offending vehicle were effective and valid at the time of occurrence and at the time of accident, alleged vehicle was being driven by Anant Lal.

10. DW-3, Anant Lal, driver of the offending vehicle, has stated before the Tribunal that on 15.7.2009 he was driver of UP 70 AT 4058 and at that time he had valid and effective licence to drive the alleged vehicle. DW-1, Sagir Ahmad is an official of the office of Road Transport Authority, Allahabad. He has stated on oath before the Tribunal that D.L. No. 4520/HTV/2000 is new number of old D.L. No. A-16767/A/97, issued on 3.4.1997 to Anant Lal (DW-3). According to him the old D.L. was valid from 3.4.1997 up to 2017, for Light Motor Vehicle (for short "LMV")/private vehicle. Filing copies of relevant document of records, kept in this regard in his office, he has further stated that D.L. was endorsed for driving of heavy transport vehicle (hereinafter referred to as "HTV") on 12.1.2000 which was valid from 12.1.2000 to 11.1.2003 and renewed thereafter from 22.2.2003 to 21.2.2006; from 11.7.2006 to 10.7.2009. No witness has been produced by the Insurer before the Tribunal to controvert the statement of either Anant Lal (DW-3) or Sagir Ahmad (DW-1) and only investigation report was filed wherein it has been admitted that D.L. No. 4520/HTV/2000 (old D.L. No. A-16767/A/97) has been issued on 3.4.1997 to Anant Lal (DW-3). The said old D.L. was issued for driving of LMV (non transport) which was later on endorsed for HTV. Thus the aforesaid investigation report also corroborate the statement of Sagir Ahmad (DW-1) that earlier a D.L. of LMV (non transport) A-16767/A/97 was issued to Anant Lal on 3.4.1997 which was later on endorsed for HTV. Thus it is clear that old licence of LMV was valid up to 2017 but the endorsement for driving of HTV was valid only for 10.7.2009 which was later on renewed from 13.10.2009 to 12.12.2012.

11. Section 14, 15 and 149 of the M.V. Act deals with currency of D.L., provision regarding its renewal and the duty of insurer to satisfy the award against person insured in respect of third party risks including defence available to insure to avoid its liability, which are as under:-

(B) until the date on which such person attains the age of [fifty years], whichever is earlier ;

[(ii) if the person referred to in sub-clause (i), has attained the age of fifty years on the date of issue or as the case may be, renewal thereof, be effective, on payment of such fee as may be prescribed, for a period of five years from the date of such issue or renewal :]

Provided that every driving licence shall, notwithstanding its expiry under this sub-section, continue to be effective for a period of thirty days from such expiry.

15. Renewal of driving licences. - (1) Any licensing authority may, on application made to it, renew a driving licence issued under the provisions of this Act with effect from the date of its expiry :

Provided that in any case where the application for the renewal of a licence is made more than thirty days after the date of its expiry, the driving licence shall be renewed with effect from the date of its renewal :

Provided further that where the application is for the renewal of a licence to drive a transport vehicle or where in any other case the applicant has attained the age of forty years, the same shall be accompanied by a medical certificate in the same form and in the same manner as is referred to in sub-section (3) of section 8, and the provisions of sub-section (4) of section 8 shall, so far as may be, apply in relation to every such case as they apply in relation to a learner's licence.

(2) An application for the renewal of a driving licence shall be made in such form and accompanied by such documents as may be prescribed by the Central Government.

(3) Where an application for the renewal of a driving licence is made previous to, or not more than thirty days after the date of its expiry, the fee payable for such renewal shall be such as may be prescribed by the Central Government in this behalf.

(4) Where an application for the renewal of a driving licence is made more than thirty days after the date of its expiry, the fee payable for such renewal shall be such amount as may be prescribed by the Central government :

Provided that the fee referred to in sub-section (3) may be accepted by the licensing authority in respect of an application for the renewal of a driving licence made under this sub-section if it is satisfied that the applicant was prevented by good and sufficient cause from applying within the time specified in sub-section (3) :

Provided further that if the application is made more than five years after the driving licence has ceased to be effective, the licensing authority may refuse to renew the driving licence, unless the applicant undergoes and passes to its satisfaction the test of competence to drive referred to in sub-section (3) of section 9.

(5) Where the application for renewal has been rejected, the fee paid shall be refunded to such extent and in such manner as may be prescribed by the Central Government.

(6) Where the authority renewing the driving licence is not the authority which issued the driving licence it shall intimate the fact of renewal to the authority which issued the driving licence.

149. Duty of insurers to satisfy judgments and awards against persons insured in respect of third party risks. - (1) if, after a certificate of insurance has been issued under sub-section (3) of section 147 in favour of the person by whom a policy has been effected, judgement or award in respect of any such liability as is requirement to be covered by a policy under clause (b) of sub-section (1) of section 147 (being a liability covered by the terms of the policy) [or under the provisions of section 163 A] is obtained against any person insured by the policy, then, notwithstanding that the insurer may be entitled to avoid or cancel or may have avoided or cancelled the policy, the insurer shall, subject to the provisions of this section, pay to the person entitled to the benefit of the decree any sum not exceeding the sum assured payable thereunder, as if he were the judgement debtor, in respect of the liability, together with any amount payable in respect of costs and any sum payable in respect of interest on that sum by virtue of any enactment relating to interest on judgements.

(2) No sum shall be payable by an insurer under sub-section (1) in respect of any judgement or award unless, before the commencement of the proceedings in which the judgement or award is given the insurer had notice through the Court or, as the case may be, the Claims Tribunal of the bringing of the proceedings, or in respect of such judgement or award so long as execution is stayed thereon pending an appeal; and an insurer to whom notice of the bringing of any such proceedings is so given shall be entitled to be made a party thereto and to defend the action on any of the following grounds, namely :-

(a) that there has been a breach of a specified condition of the policy, being one of the following conditions, namely :-

(i) a condition excluding the use of the vehicle -

(a) for hire or reward, where the vehicle is on the date of the contract of insurance a vehicle not covered by a permit to ply for hire or reward, or

(b) for organised racing and speed testing, or

(c) for a purpose not allowed by the permit under which the vehicle is used, where the vehicle is a transport vehicle, or

(d) without side-car being attached where the vehicle is a motor cycle; or

(ii) a condition excluding driving by a named person or persons or by any person who is not duly licenced, or by any person who has been disqualified for holding or obtaining a driving licence during the period of disqualification; or

(iii) a condition excluding liability for injury caused or contributed to by conditions of war, civil war, riot or civil commotion; or

(b) that the policy is void on the ground that it was obtained by the non-disclosure of a material fact or by a representation of fact which was false in some material particular.

(3) Where any such judgement as is referred to in sub-section (1) is obtained from a Court in a reciprocating country and in the case of a foreign judgement is, by virtue of the provisions of section 13 of the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908 (5 of 1908) conclusive as to any matter adjudicated upon by it, the insurer (being an insurer registered under the Insurance Act, 1938 (4 of 1938) and whether or not he is registered under the corresponding law of the reciprocating country) shall be liable to the person entitled to the benefit of the decree in the manner and to the extent specified in sub-section (1), as if the judgement were given by a Court in India :

Provided that no sum shall be payable by the insurer in respect of any such judgement unless, before the commencement of the proceedings in which the judgement is given, the insurer had notice through the Court concerned of the bringing of the proceedings and the insurer to whom notice is so given is entitled under the corresponding law of the reciprocating country, to be made a party to the proceedings and to defend the action on grounds similar to those specified in sub-section (2).

(4) Where a certificate of insurance has been issued under sub-section (3) of section 147 to the person by whom a policy has been effected, so much of the policy as purports to restrict the insurance of the persons insured thereby by reference to any conditions other than those in clause (b) of subsection (2) shall, as respects such liabilities as are required to be covered by a policy under clause (b) of sub-section (1) of section 147, be of no effect :

Provided that any sum paid by the insurer in or towards the discharge of any liability of any person which is covered by the policy by virtue only of this sub-section shall be recoverable by the insurer from that person.

(5) If the amount which an insurer becomes liable under this section to pay in respect of a liability incurred by a person insured by a policy exceeds the amount for which the insurer would apart from the provisions of this section be liable under the policy in respect of that liability, the insurer shall be entitled to recover the excess from that person.

(6) In this section the expression "material fact" and "material particular" means, respectively, a fact or particular of such a nature as to influence the judgement of a prudent insurer in determining whether he will take the risk and, if so, at what premium and on what conditions, and the expression "liability covered by the terms of the policy" means liability which is covered by the policy or which would be so covered but for the fact that the insurer is entitled to avoid or cancel or has avoided or cancelled the policy.

(7) No insurer to whom the notice referred to in sub-section (2) or sub-section (3) has been given shall be entitled to avoid his liability to any person entitled to the benefit of any such judgement or award as is referred to in sub-section (1) or in such judgement as is referred to in sub-section (3) otherwise than in the manner provided for in sub-section (2) or in the corresponding law of the reciprocating country, as the case may be.

Explanation. - For the purposes of this section, "Claims Tribunal" means a Claims Tribunal constituted under section 165 and "award" means an award made by that Tribunal under section 168."

(Emphasis supplied)

12. The aforesaid provision reveals that if a certificate of insurance has been issued in favour of insured, the insurer is under obligation, subject to the provision of Section 149, to pay the person entitled to the benefit of decree (awarded compensation), though insurer may be entitled to avoid or cancel or may have avoided or cancelled the policy. Sub-Section 2 of Section 149 provides the ground of defence which may be taken by the insurer to avoid its liability, wherein sub-clause (ii) provides that if the alleged vehicle is not being driven by a duly licensed person or has been driven by a person disqualified for holding or obtaining a D.L. during the period of disqualification or driven by any person which was excluded for driving.

13. In this case Insurer has not produced any evidence that Anant Lal (DW-3) was specifically disqualified for holding or obtaining D.L. It is also not the case of appellant that there was any condition in the D.L. to exclude him from driving.

14. So far as question, whether driver of the offending vehicle, Anant Lal (DW-3), was duly licensed or not, at the time of accident, is concerned, proviso of Section 15 sub-section (1) clearly provides that any D.L. may be renewed on an application, made by the licensee within 30 days, whereas proviso of Section 14 sub-Section 2; clause b(ii) provides that every D.L. shall, notwithstanding its expiry under this sub-section, continue to be effective for a period of thirty days from such expiry. Thus from perusal of aforesaid provision it is clear that driving licence which was valid up to 10.7.2009 was also valid for further period of thirty days i.e. up to 9.8.2009. In view of above it is clear that at the time of alleged accident Anant Lal (DW-3) was duly licensed for driving of the offending vehicle, because accident in question has been caused on 15.7.2009.

15. In Oriental Insurance Co. Ltd. Vs. Santosh Kumari and others, 2019 ACJ 225, in similar case where the question had arisen as to whether D.L. would be effective and valid in case where accident was caused on 31.12.2006 but D.L. had expired on 25.12.2006, Division Bench of this Court, while relying on the law laid down by Hon'ble Supreme Court in National Insurance Co. Ltd. Vs. Swaran Singh, 2004 ACJ 1 (SC), has held as under:-

24. We would like to refer to a judgment rendered by the Hon'ble Supreme Court of India in National Insurance Company Limited versus Swaran Singh (2004)3 SCC 297. Paras 45 and 46 are required to be extracted for consideration of the issue involved in this case. Paras 45 and 46 read as under :

"45. Thus, a person whose licence is ordinarily renewed in terms of the Motor Vehicles Act and the Rules framed thereunder, despite the fact that during the interregnum period, namely, when the accident took place and the date of expiry of the licence, he did not have a valid licence, he could during the prescribed period apply for renewal thereof and could obtain the same automatically without undergoing any further test or without having been declared unqualified therefor. Proviso appended to Section 14 in unequivocal terms states that the licence remains valid for a period of thirty days from the day of its expiry.

46. Section 15 of the Act does not empower the authorities to reject an application for renewal only on the ground that there is a break in validity or tenure of the driving licence has 5 lapsed, as in the meantime the provisions for disqualification of the driver contained in Sections 19, 20, 21, 22, 23 and 24 will not be attracted, would indisputably confer a right upon the person to get his driving licence renewed. In that view of the matter, he cannot be said to be delicensed and the same shall remain valid for a period of thirty days after its expiry."

The Supreme Court appears to have considered the provisions of Sections 14 and 15 of the Motor Vehicles Act in the above noted paragraphs. It has specifically been held by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in para 45 that proviso appended to Section 14 in unequivocal terms states that the licence remains valid for a period of thirty days from the day of its expiry.

In view of the above, we have no hesitation in holding that the appellant insurer would be liable to pay the claimants the insured amount awarded by the tribunal. The accident occurred within thirty days of expiry of the licence, therefore, under the proviso to Section 14 of The Act, it remained effective. It dis-entitles the insurer to take a plea that the licence was not valid.

16. It is also pertinent to mention at this juncture the law laid down by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in Jagdish Kumar Sood Vs. United India Insurance Co. Ltd., (2018) 3 SCC 697, where the driver of the alleged vehicle, having licence of LMV was driving the transport vehicle, in absence of specific authorization. Relying on Mukund Dewangan Vs. Oriental Insurance Co. Ltd., (2017) 14 SCC 663, Hon'ble Supreme Court, has held as under:-

" The issue which arises before the Court is not res integra and is covered by a judgment of three Judges of this Court in Mukund Dewangan v Oriental Insurance Co. Ltd. in which it has been inter alia held as follows:

"60.1. "Light motor vehicle" as defined in Section 2(21) of the Act would include a transport vehicle as per the weight prescribed in Section 2(21) read with Sections 2(15) and 2(48). Such transport vehicles are not excluded from the definition of light motor vehicle by virtue of Amendment Act 54 of 1994."

"60.2. A transport vehicle and omnibus, the gross vehicle weight of either of which does not exceed 7500 kg would be a light motor vehicle and also motor car or tractor or a roadroller, "unladen weight" of which does not exceed 7500 kg and holder of a driving licence to drive class of "light motor vehicle" as provided in Section 10(2)(d) is competent to drive a transport vehicle or omnibus, the gross vehicle weight of which does not exceed 7500 kg or a motor car or tractor or roadroller, the "unladen weight" of which does not exceed 7500 kg. That is to say, no separate endorsement on the licence is required to drive a transport vehicle of light motor vehicle class as enumerated above. A licence issued under Section 10(2)(d) continues to be valid after Amendment Act 54 of 1994 and 28-3-2001 in the form."

17. In this case the alleged vehicle No. UP 70 AT 4058 is mini bus. From perusal of registration certificate of the said vehicle, filed by the claimant, which has also been verified by the investigator of appellant- Insurer, it transpires that unladen weight of alleged vehicle is 3250 kg and its laden weight is 5300 kg. Section 2(21) of M.V. Act defines LMV which is as under:-

"Light motor vehicle means a transport vehicle or omnibus the gross vehicle weight of either of which or a motor car or tractor or road-roller the unladen weight of any of which, does not exceed [7500] kilograms."

18. Thus it is clear that the alleged vehicle is light motor vehicle. According to Sagir Ahmad (DW-1), an official of the office of Road Transport Authority, Allahabad, old D.L. of Anant Lal (DW-3) was valid from 3.4.1997 to 2017 for LMV, private vehicle. According to him further, the said D.L. was endorsed for driving the HTV on 12.1.2000, which was valid from 12.1.2000 to 11.1.2003 and later on renewed from time to time up to 10.7.2009 and also renewed from 13.10.2009 to 12.12.2012. In my view, D.L. of Anant Lal, driver of the offending vehicle, valid up to 2017 for LMV private vehicle, was valid on the date of accident i.e. 15.7.2009 and its validity for LMV would not be affected merely on its subsequent endorsement for HTV. In addition to above, in view of the law settled by the Hon'ble Apex Court in Mukund Devangan (supra) and followed in Jagdish Kumar Sood (supra), Anant Lal (DW-3) was qualified, having valid and effective D.L., to drive the alleged vehicle at the time of accident.

19. The M.V. Act is social and beneficial legislation. Its purpose is to compensate the poor and helpless family whose bread winner has died or become disabled due to motor accident. Parliament was aware of the fact that in some cases where negligence of driver of offending vehicle could not be proved but since victim had died or suffered injuries due to such accident, in such cases some compensation ought to be awarded to him or his dependents. Section 163-A of M.V. Act is the provision which does not require the claimant to prove the negligence of the offending vehicle, which is as under:-

"163A. Special provisions as to payment of compensation on structured formula basis-

(1) Notwithstanding anything contained in this Act or in any other law for time being in force or instrument having the force of law, the owner of the motor vehicle of the authorised insurer shall be liable to pay in the case of death or permanent disablement due to accident arising out of the use of motor vehicle, compensation, as indicated in the Second Schedule, to the legal heirs or the victim, as the case may be.

Explanation- For the purposes of this sub-section, "permanent disability" shall have the same meaning and extent as in the Workmen's Compensation Act, 1923.

(2) In any claim for compensation under sub-section (1), the claimant shall not be required to plead or establish that the death or permanent disablement in respect of which the claim has been made was due to any wrongful act or neglect or default of the owner of the vehicle or vehicles concerned or of any other person.

(3) The Central Government may, keeping in view the cost of living by notification in the Official Gazette, from time to time amend the Second Schedule."

20. Deceased Mahesh was travelling on the said motorcycle as a pillion rider which was being ridden by one Sushil Kumar. The claim petition has been filed under Section 163-A of M.V. Act and it has been held by the Tribunal that motorcyclist Sushil Kumar was not negligent at the time of accident. Record shows that F.I.R. was lodged against the driver of offending vehicle i.e. TATA 407 mini bus, under Section 279, 337, 338 and 304-A IPC and after due investigation charge sheet was filed against Anant Lal Pal (DW-3), driver of the offending vehicle bearing registration No. UP 70 AT 4058 for rash and negligent driving. No evidence has been produced before the Tribunal by the appellant- Insurer regarding any negligence of motorcyclist, Sushil Kumar. It has now been settled by the Supreme Court that in claim petition, filed u/s 163-A of M.V. Act, plea of contributory negligence cannot be taken. Hon'ble Supreme Court in Shivaji and another Vs. Divisional Manager United India Insurance Co. Ltd., 2018 ACJ 2161, where a question was involved as to whether Insurance Company can take plea of contributory negligence in claim petition, under Section 163-A of M.V. Act, filed by parents of driver of car which dashed the truck, resulting his death and other two persons traveling by car, relying on ratio of United India Insurance Company Ltd. Vs. Sunil Kumar, 2018 ACJ 1 (SC) has held as under:-

*"The issue which arises before us is no longer res integra and is covered by a recent judgment of three judges of this Court in United India Insurance Co. Ltd. v. Sunil Kumar & Anr., wherein it was held that to permit a defence of negligence of the claimant by the insurer and/or to understand Section 163A of the Act as contemplating such a situation, would be inconsistent with the legislative object behind introduction of this provision, which is "final compensation within a limited time frame on the basis of the structured formula to overcome situations where the claims of compensation on the basis of fault liability was taking an unduly long time". The Court observed that if an insurer was permitted to raise a defence of negligence under Section 163A of the Act, it would "bring a proceeding under Section 163A of the Act at par with the proceeding under Section 166 of the Act which would not only be self-contradictory but also defeat the very legislative intention". Consequently, it was held that in a proceeding under Section 163A of the Act, the insurer cannot raise any defence of negligence on the part of the victim to counter a claim for compensation." (Emphasis supplied)

21. It is also settled principle of law that even if it is found that the alleged accident was caused due to composite negligence of drivers of both vehicles, claim petition for compensation may be filed against owners/drivers of both the vehicles or anyone of them. Hon'ble Supreme Court in Khenyei Vs. New

India Assurance Co. Ltd., (2015) 9 SCC 273, has held as under:-

(i) In the case of composite negligence, plaintiff/claimant is entitled to sue both or any one of the joint tortfeasors and to recover the entire compensation as liability of joint tortfeasors is joint and several.

22. Thus Insurer cannot take plea either of contributory negligence of motorcyclist or that claim petition is defective as no compensation has been prayed from motorcyclist.

23. In view of the above discussion I do not find any merit in the present appeal. The impugned judgment and award passed by the Tribunal requires no interference. Accordingly, the appeal is dismissed.

24. Office is directed to return back the lower court record to Tribunal forthwith so that the awarded compensation be paid to the claimants in view of the impugned award. The statutory deposit of Rs. 25000/-, deposited by the Insurer before this Court, if not remitted, be also remitted to the Tribunal.

Sri R.C. Maurya

Motor Vehicles Act (59 of 1988) - Sections 166 & 168 - Selection of Multiplier - Operative multiplier is 17 for the age groups of 26 to 30 (Para 7)

First Appeal from Order dismissed. (E-5)

List of cases cited: -

1. Sarla Verma Vs Delhi Transport Corporation (2009) 6 SCC 121

2. National Insurance Company Vs Pranay Sethi & others AIR 2017 SC 5157

(Delivered by Hon'ble Pradeep Kumar Srivastava, J.)

1. Heard Sri S.K. Mehrotra, learned counsel for the appellant, Sri R.C. Maurya, learned counsel for the respondents and perused the record.

2. This appeal has been filed by the New Indian Assurance Co. Ltd. against the judgment and award dated 17.09.2011, passed by Motor Accident Claims Tribunal / Special Judge, E.C. Act, Agra, in MACP No. 05 of 2010 (Ram Ganesh and others vs. P.S. Batesh and others) by which the learned tribunal has awarded the compensation of Rs. 5,05,000/- with 6% per annum simple interest from the date of filing of the appeal.

3. Aggrieved by the aforesaid judgment and award, the present appeal has been filed and the impugned judgment has been challenged on the ground that the accident in question did not occur due to rash and negligent driving of the driver of motorcycle nor the involvement of the motorcycle in accident was established. There was contributory negligence of the deceased and this fact has not been considered. The learned Tribunal assumed Rs. 30,000/- income of the deceased whereas, there was no evidence to that effect. The notional income should have been only Rs. 15,000/- annual. After investigation, the police has submitted final report as no accident was committed by the said motorcycle.

4. During arguments, the learned counsel for the appellant has submitted that the final report was submitted, therefore, the said accident is not supported by any charge sheet against the driver of the offending motorcycle. In this regard, the learned Tribunal has found on the basis of evidence on record that even if the final report was submitted by the police, the protest application was filed against the final report and the accused has been summoned by the learned Magistrate. Therefore, the learned Tribunal has concluded that the fact that final report was filed, will not render any benefit to the Insurance Company. Learned Tribunal has also found that the oral testimony established that the accident took place because of rash and negligent driving of the driver of the motorcycle and because no evidence was given from the side of opposite parties to prove contributory negligence, therefore, the driver of the motorcycle was alone responsible for the accident in which the wife of the claimant died out of injuries.

5. Another argument is with regard to determination of the income of the deceased. It appears that the learned Tribunal has assessed the income of the deceased to be Rs. 100/- per day on notional basis and Rs. 2500/- monthly considering that if a simple labourer will earn for 25 days, he would earn Rs. 25,00/- per month. I do not find any illegality or perversity in the determination of the income of the deceased. As such, the income of the deceased was considered to Rs. 30,000/- per year and looking to the strength of the family, 1/3 was deducted against the personal expenses. It is pertinent to mention that besides the husband, the deceased was having four children. Therefore, the deduction is also adequate and the annual income for the purpose of determination of compensation after deducting 1/3rd against the personal expenses of deceased, comes to Rs. 20,000/- in a year.

6. Learned Tribunal has determined the age of the deceased to be 27 years and in the said age, multiplier of 17 has been correctly applied as in view of the decision in Sarla Verma vs Delhi Transport Corporation (2009) 6 SCC 121, the multiplier from the age of 26 to 30 years is 17. The Supreme Court has laid down as below:

"We therefore hold that the multiplier to be used should be as mentioned in column (4) of the Table above (prepared by applying Susamma Thomas, Trilok Chandra and Charlie), which starts with an operative multiplier of 18 (for the age groups of 15 to 20 and 21 to 25 years), reduced by one unit for every five years, that is M-17 for 26 to 30 years, M-16 for 31 to 35 years, M-15 for 36 to 40 years, M-14 for 41 to 45 years, and M-13 for 46 to 50 years, then reduced by two units for every five years, that is, M-11 for 51 to 55 years, M-9 for 56 to 60 years, M-7 for 61 to 65 years and M-5 for 66 to 70 years."

7. It is clear from the above observation that between the age of 26 to 30, the available multiplier is 17. This has further been affirmed on the point of multiplier by the Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of National Insurance Company vs. Pranay Sethi & others, AIR 2017 SC 5157. The learned Tribunal has determined the age of the deceased to be 27 years, hence, the multiplier of 17 has correctly been used. Applying the multiplier of 17, the amount of Rs. 20000/- yearly comes to a total amount of Rs. 340000/-.

8. In Sarla Verma (supra), it has been held by the Supreme Court that a proceeding before the Tribunal is in the nature of inquiry in which a very few thing is required to be established. The Court has observed as under :-

"Basically only three facts need to be established by the claimants for assessing compensation in the case of death: (a) age of the deceased; (b) income of the deceased; and the (c) the number of dependents. The issues to be determined by the Tribunal to arrive at the loss of dependency are (i) additions/deductions to be made for arriving at the income; (ii) the deduction to be made towards the personal living expenses of the deceased; and (iii) the multiplier to be applied with reference of the age of the deceased."

9. The amount of expenses for treatment was established on the basis of medical bills etc. for a sum of Rs. 1,58,027/- and adding the amount under conventional head, the total amount which was determined by the learned Tribunal was Rs. 5,05,000/-. As such, the amount cannot be said to be in the higher side and if the principle laid down in Sarla Verma (supra) and Pranay Sethi (supra) are made applicable, the amount of compensation must have been much more, therefore, there is no reason for the appellant to be aggrieved as amount of compensation is much in lower side.

10. In view of the above, I do not find any force in the appeal and the appeal is liable to be dismissed.

11. Accordingly, the appeal is dismissed. Interim order, if any, stands vacated.

12. The office is directed to send back the lower court record with the certified copy of this judgment to the Tribunal concerned for information and necessary compliance.

13. The amount of Rs. 25000/- deposited at the time of filing of appeal be remitted back to the learned Tribunal to be adjusted against the awarded amount.

2. Lekha Vs. P. Anil Kumar 2006 (13) SCC 555

(Delivered by Hon'ble Rajeev Misra, J.)

1. Challenge in this appeal under section 47 of Guardian and Wards Act, 1890 (hereinafter referred to as 'Act, 1890'), wrongly mentioned as Section 19 Family Court Act, 1984 is to judgement dated 1.5.2017, passed by Principal Judge, Family Court, Baghpat, in Misc. Case No. 01 of 2013 (Smt. Komal Vs. Arvind Kumar), under section 25 of Act 1890 whereby claim of plaintiff mother for custody of her minor children has been rejected.

2. We have heard Mr. Krishna Mohan Tiwari, learned counsel for appellant and Mr. Mahesh Sharma, learned counsel for respondent.

3. It transpires from record that marriage of appellant was solemnized with respondent Arvind Kumar on 22.2.1999 in accordance with Hindu Rites and Customs. After marriage, appellant came to her matrimonial home and discharged her espousal obligations. Inspite of aforesaid, respondent and his family members did not extend love and affection to appellant. Their conduct towards appellant was vindictive and aspersions were cast upon her for not bringing sufficient dowry. The matrimonial bond however continued and from wedlock of appellant and respondent, a daughter namely, Chavi and a son namely, Nakul were born. It is alleged by appellant that respondent was a drunkard and under spell of intoxication, used to assault and abuse appellant. Ultimately, appellant alleges to have been ousted from her matrimonial home on 16.2.2010 but custody of minor children was retained by respondent. Apprehending damage to the personality of her minor children on account of bad habits of respondents and further that they may not come up with strong moral character, coupled with refusal on part of respondent to hand over custody of minor children, appellant filed Suit No. 01 of 2013 (Smt. Komal Vs. Arvind Kumar) under section 25 of Act, 1890, claiming custody of her minor children. It was also pleaded by appellant that respondent is not paying required interest for welfare of minor children. They are unable to study properly. The minor daughter of appellant is being looked after by her grand mother. As appellant is capable of looking after her minor children and also a natural guardian of minor children, therefore, their custody be given to appellant.

4. Suit filed by appellant was contested by defendant respondent by filing a written statement whereby not only plaint allegations were denied but also additional pleas were raised. It was pleaded by respondent that appellant is incapable of meeting educational expenses of minor children as she herself has filed case No. 69 of 2011 under Protection of Women from Domestic Violence Act, 2005 (hereinafter referred to as 'Act, 2005') wherein she has claimed interim maintenance on account of financial constraints Appellant has also filed a case under section 125 Cr.P.C. in the competent Court at Muzaffarnagar for payment of maintenance. Minor son Nakul is studying in Class-XI at, Diwan Public School, which is one of the best public schools in Meerut. The respondent is himself bearing expenses of his son. The Phupha and Buwa of minor have been appointed as guardian, as they are working in Meerut. Photocopy of certificate showing payment of fees was filed in evidence to support the same. In respect of minor daughter Chavi, it was pleaded that she is studying in Class-V at C.B.S.M Public School. The respondent is bearing her educational expenses. The minor daughter is being looked after by respondent along with his parents. Photocopy of fees card pertaining daughter, Chavi, was also filed in evidence. It was then urged that respondents is looking after his minor children to the best of his ability and means, they are receiving good education. Appellant is living separately, since 16.2.2010, without any reason. Appellant is unable to sustain herself and to get the amount of maintenance enhanced, she has filed application for custody of minor children to exert pressure upon respondent. On the aforesaid pleas, it was submitted that application filed by appellant for custody of minor children is liable to be rejected.

5. After the pleadings were exchanged, parties went to trial. Appellant in support of her claim, filed her own affidavit, whereas respondents in support of his defence, filed his affidavit. Upon consideration of pleadings adduced by parties and material filed by them in support of their respective case, Court below opined that only single point of determination is involved i.e. "in whose custody, the interest of minor children would be best protected".

6. Court below, upon evaluation of material on record and also in view of the dialogue with minor children as they were of tender age, arrived at the conclusion that interest of minors is best protected in the custody of their father i.e. respondent. Accordingly, Court below vide order dated 1.5.2017 rejected application filed by appellant under section 25 of Act 1890, claiming custody of her minor children. Feeling aggrieved by aforesaid judgement, appellant has now come to this Court, by means of present first appeal.

7. Mr. Krishna Manohar Tiwari, learned counsel for appellant, in challenge to impugned judgement, submitted that impugned judgement passed by Court below, is unsustainable in law and fact.

Consequently, the same is liable to be set aside by this Court. Elaborating his submission, he submits that from the wedlock of appellant and respondent, two children were born, namely, a son and daughter. At the time of presentation of petition, under section 25 of Act, 1890, both the children were of tender age i.e. 8 and 6 years respectively. It is well settled that when children are of tender age, they should be in custody of their mother. It was then submitted that in respect of minor daughter, mother is the best guardian and her custody should remain with mother till she reaches the age of pubetry. Court below, while passing impugned judgement and order has failed to consider aforesaid aspects of the matter which has vitiated the impugned judgement. It is thus urged that impugned judgement passed by Court below, is liable to be set aside.

8. Mr. Mahesh Sharma, learned counsel for respondent, on the other hand has supported impugned judgement. According to learned counsel for respondent, Court below has passed a just and reasonable order which is not liable to be interfered with. Court below has taken into consideration the paramount interest of minor children and in line with aforesaid principle, held that interest of minor children is best protected in custody of their father. Court below was aware of the fact that minor children are of tender age, therefore, Court itself held conversation with minor children to ascertain their willingness regarding their stay with either of the parents. As such, both on facts and law, no fault can be attributed to the order passed by Court below.

9. Before proceeding to evaluate the rival submissions made by learned counsel for parties, it would be appropriate to reproduce section 25 of Act, 1890:

""25. Title of guardian to custody of ward.--(1) If a ward leaves or is removed from the custody of a guardian of his person, the Court, if it is of opinion that it will be for the welfare of the ward to return to the custody of his guardian, may make an order for his return and for the purpose of enforcing the order may cause the ward to be arrested and to be delivered into the custody of the guardian.

(2) For the purpose of arresting the ward, the Court may exercise the power conferred on a Magistrate of the first class by section 100 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1882 (10 of 1882).

(3) The residence of a ward against the will of his guardian with a person who is not his guardian does not of itself terminate the guardianship.

10. From the perusal of Section 25 of Act 1890 it is apparent that there are no directions contained in the section itself in accordance with which application for guardianship and custody shall be decided. However, as law has developed on the subject concerned, it is well crystallized that paramount interest of minor is the primary criteria for deciding custody and guardianship of a minor. Apart from above, it is now further established that a minor who is below five years of age, shall ordinarily be allowed to stay with mother. Similarly in case of minor girls, it has been the consistent view that their custody should remain with mother till they attain age of majority. It shall be useful to refer to a Division Bench judgement of this Court in First Appeal Defective No. 138 of 2019 (Mritunjay Vs. Hari Shankar Dixit) decided on 8.7.2019. In paragraphs 7, 8, 9, 10 and 11 Court has said as under:

"7. While determining the question of custody of a minor child, the first and the paramount consideration is the welfare and interest of the child and not the rights of the parents under a statute.

8. In Mausami Moitra Ganguli v. Jayant Ganguli (2008) 7 SCC 673, it has been held that the principles of law in relation to the custody of a minor child are well settled. While determining the question as to which parent the care and control of a child should be committed, the first and the paramount consideration is the welfare and interest of the child and not the rights of the parents under a statute.

9. In the above case, a passage from Halsbury's Laws of England (4th Edn., Vol. 13) was reproduced which reads as under:

"809. Principles as to custody and upbringing of minors.- Where in any proceedings before any court, the custody or upbringing of a minor is in question, the court, in deciding that question, must regard the welfare of the minor as the first and paramount consideration, and must not take into consideration whether from any other point of view the claim of the father in respect of such custody or upbringing is superior to that of the mother, or the claim of the mother is superior to that of the father. In relation to the custody or upbringing of a minor, a mother has the same rights and authority as the law allows to a father, and the rights and authority of mother and father are equal and are exercisable by either without the other."

10. Earlier, Apex Court in Rosy Jacob v. Jacob A. Chakramakkal (1973) 1 SCC 840, ruled that the children are not mere chattels, nor are they mere playthings for their parents. Absolute right of parents over the destinies and the lives of their children has, in the modern changed social conditions, yielded to the considerations of their welfare as human beings so that they may grow up in a normal balanced manner to be useful members of the society and the guardian.

11. Following the above authorities, in Santhini Vs. Vijaya Venketesh (2018) 1 SCC 1 Court expressed the same view holding as under:

"It is to be borne in mind that in a matter relating to the custody of the child, the welfare of the child is paramount and seminal. It is inconceivable to ignore its importance and treat it as secondary. The interest of the child in all circumstances remains vital and the Court has a very affirmative role in that regard. Having regard to the nature of the interest of the child, the role of the Court is extremely sensitive and it is expected of the Court to be pro-active and sensibly objective." (emphasis added) "

11. Supreme Court in Lekha Vs. P. Anil Kumar 2006 (13) SCC 555, had dealt with the issue regarding guardianship and custody of minor under section 25 of Act 1890 and observed as follows in paragraphs 15, 16, 17 and 19:

"15. Sk. Moidin v. Kunhadevi [AIR 1929 Mad 33 (FB)] was a case of a father, a motor driver, applying for writ of habeas corpus to get custody of his 7-year-aged child. Nobody was available in his house to look after such child. The Full Bench held that the Court has to look to an application under habeas corpus in the interest of the child as being paramount. The Court held that prima facie in the eye of the law, the father is the natural guardian and custodian of the person of his child. But it has been the law for a very long time both in England and in this country that what a court has to look to on applications under habeas corpus is the interest of the child as being paramount.

16. In Samuel Stephen Richard v. Stella Richard [AIR 1955 Mad 451 : 56 Cri LJ 1192] the High Court in deciding the question of custody held as follows: (AIR p. 452)

"In deciding the question of custody, the welfare of the minor is the paramount consideration and the fact that the father is the natural guardian would not "ipso facto' entitle him to custody. The principal considerations or tests which have been laid down under Section 17, in order to secure this welfare, are equally applicable in considering the welfare of the minor under Section 25.

The application of these tests casts an "arduous' duty on the court. Amongst the many and multifarious duties that a Judge in Chambers performs by far the most onerous duties are those cast upon him by the Guardians and Wards Act. He should place himself in the position of a wise father and be not tired of the worries which may be occasioned to him in selecting a guardian best fitted to assure the welfare of a minor and thereafter guide and control the guardian to ensure the welfare of the ward--a no mean task but the highest fulfilment of the dharmasastra of his own country.

It is only an extreme case where a mother may not have the interest of her child most dear to her. Since it is the mother who would have the interest of the minor most at heart, the tender years of a child needing the care, protection and guidance of the most interested person, the mother has come to be preferred to others."

17. In Thrity Hoshie Dolikuka v. Hoshiam Shavaksha Dolikuka [(1982) 2 SCC 544 : AIR 1982 SC 1276] this Court held as under: (SCC p. 565, para 17)

"17. The principles of law in relation to the custody of a minor appear to be well established. It is well settled that any matter concerning a minor, has to be considered and decided only from the point of view of the welfare and interest of the minor. In dealing with a matter concerning a minor, the Court has a special responsibility and it is the duty of the Court to consider the welfare of the minor and to protect the minor's interest. In considering the question of custody of a minor, the Court has to be guided by the only consideration of the welfare of the minor."

19. The law permits a person to have the custody of his minor child. The father ought to be the guardian of the person and property of the minor under ordinary circumstances. The fact that the mother has married again after the divorce of her first husband is no ground for depriving the mother of her parental right of custody. In cases like the present one, the mother may have shortcomings but that does not imply that she is not deserving of the solace and custody of her child. If the court forms the impression that the mother is a normal and independent young woman and shows no indication of imbalance of mind in her, then in the end the custody of the minor child should not be refused to her or else we would be really assenting to the proposition that a second marriage involving a mother per se will operate adversely to a claim of a mother for the custody of her minor child. We are fortified in this view by the authority of the Madras High Court in S. Soora Reddi v. S. Chenna Reddi[AIR 1950 Mad 306 : (1950) 1 MLJ 33] where Govinda Menon and Basheer Ahmed Syed, JJ. have clearly laid down that the father ought to be a guardian of the person and property of the minor under ordinary circumstances and the fact that a Hindu father has married a second wife is no ground whatever for depriving him of his parental right of custody." (Emphasis added)

12. Thus from above quoted observations, it is explicitly clear that even though father is natural guardian but simply on that ground he is not entitled to the custody and guardianship of minor children. Courts while deciding guardianship and custody of a minor have to be guided by observations made by Court as referred to above. When case in hand is examined in light of above quoted observations made by Court, balance tilts in favour of father i.e. defendant-respondent.

13. From perusal of record, it is apparent that appellant in her affidavit clearly admitted that she is not having any independent source of income hence unable to sustain herself. As such, she is dependent upon her father. She further admitted that she cannot bear expenses of schools in which minor children are studying. If custody is granted to her, she will claim their expenses from respondent. Apart from above, there was no denial of fact that minor children are studying in good schools at Meerut. Furthermore, it could not be disputed by appellant that respondent is having sufficient income to meet his personal expenses as well as the expenses of minor children. It is further evident that since children were of tender age, court below before proceeding to decide their custody held conversation with them and obtained their desire of stay with father or mother. Both children categorically stated that they wish to stay with their father. Having ascertained the status of parties and willingness of minor children, Court below proceeded to decide the question of custody of minor children as per the principle "paramount interest of minor".

14. Learned counsel for appellant could not dispute before us that conclusion drawn by Court below regarding financial status of parties, willingness of children to stay with their father and paramount interest of children in facts and circumstances of case are neither perverse nor erroneous.

15. In view of above, argument raised by learned counsel for appellant that since both children were minor and particularly since daughter had not even attained the age of puberty, were liable to be given in custody of their mother, is wholly misconceived. Law on the subject now stands crystallized and it has been held that even a natural guardian can be denied custody of minor children for good and compelling reasons. It is established from record that sufficient and compelling circumstances exist on record, which permit continuance of custody of minor children with their father as their interest is best protected in the company of their father.

16. For reasons, given herein above, we do not find any good ground to interfere in this appeal. Appeal being devoid of merits is liable to be dismissed. It is accordingly, dismissed. Cost made easy.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Pankaj Mithal, J.
Hon'ble Vivek Agarwal, J.)

1. Heard Sri Kamaluddin Khan, learned counsel for the petitioners and learned Standing Counsel for the respondents.

2. The petitioners have preferred this petition so as to challenge the Condition No.3 of the Resolution No. 1.9 passed on 27.02.2018 in the meeting of the Divisional Road Safety Committee headed by the Commissioner of the Division.

3. The aforesaid condition states that in the district of Meerut, about 1300 valid registrations have been granted for plying of the e-rickshaws. Thus looking to the traffic condition it has been decided not to grant any further registrations to e-rickshaws in the district until further orders.

4. The petitioners are all owners of e-rickshaws and their e-rickshaws are not being registered by the Regional Transport Authority on the basis of the aforesaid resolution.

5. The Court while entertaining the writ petition on being prima-facie satisfied that there is no provision under the Motor Vehicles Act, 1988 which allows the authorities to stop the registration of any vehicle much less that of e-rickshaws on the ground of traffic condition issued an ad-interim mandamus to the respondents to register e-rickshaws owned by the petitioners in accordance with law provided petitioners furnish all the necessary documents and produce e-rickshaws before the competent authority or to show-cause by filing counter affidavit within 3 weeks.

6. In pursuance to the above interim direction, neither the e-rickshaws of the petitioners have been registered despite their production before the authority concerned and furnishing of all papers nor any counter affidavit has been filed explaining any legal impediment in such registration.

7. Chapter IV of the Motor Vehicles Act, 1988 provides for the registration of the motor vehicles and Section 45 thereof gives power to the Registering Officer to refuse registration. The Registration can be refused only on the limited grounds mentioned therein if the Registering Officer has reason to believe that the vehicle is a stolen one or is mechanically defective or fails to comply with the requirements of the Act or the Rules made therein, or if the applicant fails to furnish necessary particulars. No other ground for refusal has been prescribed therein. The traffic problem of the area, city or town is not a ground on which registration of any motor vehicle can be refused.

8. In one of the cases before this Court i.e. Writ A No. 17235 of 2018 (Mohd Aman and 3 others Vs. State of U.P. and 5 others), a Division Bench of this Court after considering the pleadings of the parties, deemed it appropriate to dispose off a similar writ petition refusing registration of e-rickshaws with the direction to the Transport Authorities to register the e-rickshaws in accordance with law provided the owners thereof furnish all necessary papers and present their e-rickshaws before the competent authority.

9. In view of the above, we have no option but to make the above interim direction to be absolute more particularly for the reason that the Resolution impugned is patently without jurisdiction as there is no provision under the Act which authorizes the respondent authorities to refuse registration or to keep the registration in abeyance on account of traffic conditions in the city.

10. Accordingly, the Resolution dated 27.02.2018 is quashed and mandamus is issued to the respondents to register the e-rickshaws of the petitioners on the fulfilment of the necessary formalities.

11. The writ petition stands allowed accordingly.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Mrs. Sunita Agarwal, J.)

1. Heard learned counsel for the parties and perused the record.

2. The challenge in the present petition is to order of rejection of claim of the petitioner for grant of compassionate appointment. The reason given therein is that the scheme of compassionate appointment was not available in the Bank on the date of death of the employee, i.e. father of the petitioner.

3. Submission of learned counsel for the petitioner is that the petitioner's father who was working as Accounts Officer with the respondent Bank had died on 12.5.2018. As the salary of the petitioner's father was the only source of income of the family, the petitioner's mother moved an application dated 8.4.2019 for grant of compassionate appointment to the petitioner herein with the consent of all other dependants of the deceased employee. The prayer of the petitioner's mother had wrongly been rejected by the order impugned though the scheme of compassionate appointment was available in the Bank, w.e.f 15.3.2019.

4. It is contended that on demand of the employees of the Public Sector Banks, the Government of India had approved the scheme of compassionate appointment and a communication dated 7.8.2014 was sent to all Public Sector Banks for adoption of the said scheme w.ef. 5.8.2014. It was further communicated by the letter dated 5.12.2014 issued by the Under Secretary to the Government of India, Ministry of Finance that the Banks can have both the options, i.e. to offer compassionate appointment or payment of lump sum ex-gratia amount. However, for providing any of the above two benefits, it is necessary that other conditions of compassionate appointment are met. In the light of the said communication, the Scheme of compassionate appointment became operative in all Public Sector Banks.

5. Thereafter, by the letter dated 3.11.2014, the National Bank for Agricultural Rural Development (NABARD) wrote to the Government of India to extend the scheme of compassionate appointment approved by it on 5.8.2014 to the Regional Rural Banks, they being Public Sector Banks established under the Regional Rural Banks Act, amended by Act No. 140 of 2015. The Government of India having realised discrimination to the employees of Regional Rural Banks extended the Scheme of compassionate appointment, approved by it for Public Sector Banks, to the Regional Rural Bank by means of the communication dated 31.12.2018. The Board of respondent Bank, however, had adopted the scheme of compassionate appointment, w.e.f 15.3.2019, though it had been communicated that the scheme was approved by the Government of India on 7.8.2014 and has been made applicable w.e.f 5.8.2014.

6. With the above facts, it is vehemently contended by the learned counsel for the petitioner that adoption of scheme of compassionate appointment by the Board of the Regional Rural Banks was only a ministerial exercise and it was not open for the Board to make any distinction in the matter of applicability of the scheme of compassionate appointment. The scheme was to be applied w.e.f 5.8.2014 as had been done for the employees of Public Sector Banks. There was no justification for discrimination between two sets of employees and the artificial classification made by the Board of the Bank is wholly arbitrary, discriminatory and violative of Article 14 of the Constitution of India.

7. In the alternative, it is contended that once the respondent Board had acknowledged that the scheme of compassionate appointment was adopted on 15.3.2019, the application moved by the petitioner's mother on 8.4.2019, i.e. after implementation of the scheme could not have been rejected on the ground that the said scheme was not available on the date of death of the petitioner's father. It is contended that the date of death of an employee can have no relation with the claim of compassionate appointment as the dependant of a deceased employee has no vested right to seek compassionate appointment. In fact no cause of action accrued to the petitioner on the date of death of the employee to seek compassionate appointment as only right was to seek consideration of his claim which had accrued either on the date of the application or the date of the consideration of the same. In the instant case, on both dates, i.e. when the claim for compassionate appointment was filed and considered, the scheme of compassionate appointment was in vogue. The relevant date being the date of consideration of the application and not the date of death of the employee, the rejection order cannot be sustained.

8. Further, the application seeking compassionate appointment having been moved within a period of five years from the death of the employee, as per Clause-8 of the scheme itself, the time limit for considering application had not expired. The application having been given within the limitation period prescribed in the scheme could not have been rejected.

9. Furthermore, the Clause-8 of the scheme provides the procedure for disposal of application for compassionate appointment. Being procedural subordinate legislation, it has to be given retrospective effect. Moreover, in view of the fact that the scheme of compassionate appointment is beneficial legislation, the bank can not discriminate by making an artificial classification in implementation of the scheme of compassionate appointment by relating it to the date of death of the employee. There is no justification for the said classification made by the Bank, as it cannot insist that compassionate appointment would be extended to dependants of only those employees who had died after implementation of the scheme, i.e. 15.3.2019.

10. It is submitted that such a situation came before the Apex Court and in the case of State Bank of India and others vs Sheo Shankar Tewari noticing the conflict in the judgments of the Apex Court in Canara Bank and another vs M. Mahesh, SBI vs Raj Kumar, MGB Gramin Bank vs Chakrawarti Singh and SBI vs Jash pal Kaur , the issue has been referred to the Larger Bench by the order dated 8.2.2019. It is contended that the appellate bank therein itself had taken a stand that there was no vested right with the dependants of the deceased to seek consideration under the former scheme and the governing scheme would be one which was applicable when the application came up for consideration. On the other hand, the contention of the applicant therein was that the governing scheme would be the former scheme ie; the scheme available on the date of the application and scrapping of the former scheme for compassionate appointment after the claim was raised was of no effect.

11. Learned Senior counsel appearing for the respondent bank in rebuttal vehemently submits that the compassionate appointment is an exception to the general rule of appointments in the public services which should be made strictly from the open market by inviting applications on merit of all eligible applicants. As has been held by the Apex Court in Umesh Kumar Nagpal vs State of Haryana, the scheme of compassionate appointment has to be given strict construction. It cannot be treated as a benevolent or beneficial legislation like any other scheme. Similar issue came up before the Apex Court in State of Jharkhand and others vs Shiv Karampal Sahu wherein it is held that the benevolent circular or scheme cannot be extended to a case which was not contemplated by the scheme itself. Liberal construction cannot be given in the matter of implementation of the beneficial legislation which has a scheme of its own and where there is no vagueness or doubt therein.

12. Placing the scheme of compassionate appointment applied in the Regional Rural Banks w.e.f 15.3.2019, it is contended that the Clause-1 regarding 'Coverage' of the Scheme shows that it cannot be given retrospective effect. Clause-1.1(a) provides that compassionate appointment can be given to the dependant family member of a permanent employee of bank who dies while in service. Meaning thereby, the scheme covers only those claims for which cause of action arose after implementation of the scheme w.e.f 15.3.2019, i.e. in case of death of the employee after the said date. In the instant case, the application having been made after approximately one year from the date of death of the employee ie 8.4.2019 and as there was no pending claim on the date of implementation of the scheme, Clause-8 is not attracted at all.

13. The judgments in MGB Gramin Bank (supra), Canara Bank (supra) have been placed before the Court to submit that the ratio of the said decisions do not apply in the present case for the reason that both the above judgments were delivered in the peculiar facts and circumstances of those cases, where changes in the scheme were brought during pendency of the application for compassionate appointment.

14. The conflict noted in the case of State Bank of India and others vs Sheo Shankar Tewari reported in (2019) 5 SCC 600 by the Apex court therefore, has no relevance in the present case.

15. In the light of the above submissions, it would be apt to first consider the well settled principles of law pertaining to grant of compassionate appointment. In Umesh Kumar Nagpal vs (supra) it was emphasized by the Apex Court that a compassionate appointment cannot be claimed as a matter of course as the object is not to give appointment to a member of the family rather the whole object of granting compassionate appointment is to enable the family to meet immediate financial crisis.

16. The source of livelihood provided by compassionate appointment is an exception in favour of the dependants of an employee dying in harness. Mere death of employee in harness does not entitle his family to such source of livelihood. The exception carved out to the general rules of appointments in public services is to be followed strictly in every case. The Government or the public authority concerned has to examine the financial condition of the family of the deceased, it is only if it satisfied, that but for provision of employment, the family will not be able to meet the crisis that the job is to be offered to the eligible member of the family (emphasis added).

17. In Bhawani Prasad Sonkar vs Union of India and others it was held that while considering a claim for employment on compassionate ground, the following factors have to be borne in mind:-

"20.Thus, while considering a claim for employment on compassionate ground, the following factors have to be borne in mind:

(i) Compassionate employment cannot be made in the absence of rules or regulations issued by the Government or a public authority. The request is to be considered strictly in accordance with the governing scheme, and no discretion as such is left with any authority to make compassionate appointment dehors the scheme.

(ii) An application for compassionate employment must be preferred without undue delay and has to be considered within a reasonable period of time.

(iii) An appointment on compassionate ground is to meet the sudden crisis occurring in the family on account of the death or medical invalidation of the bread winner while in service. Therefore, compassionate employment cannot be granted as a matter of course by way of largesse irrespective of the financial condition of the deceased/incapacitated employee's family at the time of his death or incapacity, as the case may be.

(iv) Compassionate employment is permissible only to one of the dependants of the deceased/incapacitated employee, viz. parents, spouse, son or daughter and not to all relatives, and such appointments should be only to the lowest category that is Class III and IV posts."

18. Keeping in mind the object of the compassionate appointment in the light of the above principles, it is evident that an application for compassionate appointment has to be preferred without any delay and has to be considered within a reasonable period of time. Any delay on the part of the dependants of the deceased employee has to be explained in order to enable the public authority to examine whether the family of the deceased would not be able to meet the crisis unless a job is offered to the eligible member of the family. Noteworthy is the fact that in the instant case, no explanation has been offered by the petitioner for moving application after a period of one year from the date of death of the employee when admittedly he was eligible being major and having completed his studies (graduation) in the year 2015.

19. Further, it is settled that the scheme for grant of compassionate appointment must be considered in terms of the stipulations made in the Circular letters containing the policy decisions. Such a scheme cannot be given liberal construction. In the case of the State of Jharkhand and others (supra), the Apex Court has stated the following :-

"11. The scheme for grant of monetory compensation to the dependents of the deceased or injured who are affected in any kind of terrorist/virulent/communal attack must be considered in terms of the stipulations made in the circular letters containing policy decisions. Appointment on compassionate ground, it is trite, must be made keeping in view the provisions contained in Articles 14 and 16 of the Constitution of India. Such schemes cannot be given an expansive meaning as the constitutional scheme envisages that all persons who are entitled to be considered for appointment would be eligible for being considered therefor. Any policy decision for appointment on compassionate ground must, therefore, receive a strict construction."

13. A circular letter providing for appointment on compassionate ground in case of death of a government servant cannot be extended in case of the dependents of the deceased who was not a government servant. A public employment must be offered to a person who is entitled therefor. All recruitments subject to just exceptions must be made in terms of the rules framed under the proviso appended to Article 309 of the Constitution of India. A circular letter issued by the State cannot be issued de hors the constitutional scheme of making offer of public appointment. [See Official Liquidator vs. Dayanand & ors. [(2008) 10 SCC 1 para 52]; State of Bihar vs. Upendra Narayan Singh & Ors. [(2009) 4 SCALE 282 para 19]; and Man Singh v. Commissioner, Garhwal Mandal, Pauri & Ors. [2009 (4) SCC 645].

14. Moreover, a benevolent circular, it is well known, cannot be extended to a case which was not contemplated by the circular itself.

In Regional Director, Employees' State Insurance Corporation, Trichur vs. Ramanuja Match Industries [AIR 1985 SC 278], this Court held:

"...We do not doubt that beneficial legislations should have liberal construction with a view to implementing the legislative intent but where such beneficial legislation has a scheme of its own there is no warrant for the Court to travel beyond the scheme and extend the scope of the statute on the pretext of extending the statutory benefit to those who are not covered by the scheme."

15.In Deepal Girishbhai Soni & ors. vs. United India Insurance Co. Ltd., Baroda [(2004) 5 SCC 385], it was opined :

"53. Although the Act is a beneficial one and, thus, deserves liberal construction with a view to implementing the legislative intent but it is trite that where such beneficial legislation has a scheme of its own and there is no vagueness or doubt therein, the court would not travel beyond the same and extend the scope of the statute on the pretext of extending the statutory benefit to those who are not covered thereby."

20. It has been further held therein that in the matter of construction and application of subordinate legislation, the rule of incorporation by reference should not be applied unless a clear case is made out therefor. Ordinarily a subordinate legislation should not be construed to be retrospective in operation. The circular letter providing scheme of compassionate appointment should be given prospective effect. It was further held in para-'16' and '17' as under:-

"16. Furthermore, in the matter of construction or application of subordinate legislation the rule of incorporation by reference should not be applied unless a clear case is made out therefor. The circular letter dated 21.9.1987 is an independent one. It operates in its own field. There is no scope of reading both the circulars together. Even if they could be read, the general circulars in regard to the appointment on compassionate ground which were again applicable to the cases of dependents of the deceased employees either for the purpose of consideration of the period during which such appointments were to be made or otherwise could not have been taken into consideration for the purpose of grant of benefit to which he was not otherwise entitled to.

In Management of Indian Bank & Anr. vs. Ramachandran & ors. [JT 2007 (13) SC 436], it has been held:

"It is now a trite law that for the purpose of construing a statute, reference to another statute is not permissible and, thus, Regulation 21 of the Civil Services Pension Rules contemplates a different situation, the same will have no application in the instant case. The High Court, therefore, committed an error in relying on the said provision."

17. Ordinarily, a subordinate legislation should not be construed to be retrospective in operation. The circular letter dated 7.5.2003 was given a prospective effect. The father of the respondent died on 19.5.2000. There is nothing to show that even circular dated 9.8.2000 had been given retrospective effect. In any view of the matter, as the State of Jharkhand in the circular letter dated 7.5.2003 adopted the earlier circular letters issued by the State of Bihar only in respect of cases where death had occurred after 15.10.2000, i.e., the date from which the State of Jharkhad came into being, the High Court, in our opinion, committed a serious error in giving retrospective effect thereto indirectly which it could not do directly.

Reasons assigned by the High Court, for the reasons aforementioned, are unacceptable."

21. In the case of MGB Gramin Bank (supra), considering the object for compassionate appointment as laid down in Umesh Kumar Nagpal (supra) it was held in para-'8' as under:-

"8. An "ameliorating relief' should not be taken as opening an alternative mode of recruitment to public employment. Furthermore, an application made at a belated stage cannot be entertained for the reason that by lapse of time, the purpose of making such appointment stands evaporated."

22. Furthermore, it was held therein that as the appointment on compassionate ground cannot be claimed as a matter of right nor an applicant becomes entitled automatically for appointment with the death of the employee in harness, a dependant of the deceased cannot claim appointment as a vested right, as a right independent of any contingency and which cannot be taken away without consent of the person concerned. The entitlement for appointment on compassionate grounds depends on various other circumstances such as eligibility and financial condition of the family etc., and the application has to be considered in accordance with the scheme. Since the scheme does not create any vested right, a candidate cannot claim that his case is to be considered under the scheme existing on the date when the cause of action has arisen, i.e. the date of death of the incumbent on the post. It was, thus, held that as the new scheme came into force within a short period from the date of receiving of the application, the candidate cannot claim consideration under the old scheme. The scheme as prevailing on the date of consideration of the application would apply and the application has to be considered strictly in accordance with the new scheme.

23. Whereas in Canara Bank (supra), considering the judgment in SBI vs Jashpal (supra), it was held that the claim of compassionate appointment which was materialized under the old scheme cannot be decided on the basis of the scheme that was promulgated much after the dispute in the said case. It was found that the application for compassionate appointment "dying in harness" scheme was moved when scheme for compassionate appointment was in force. The new scheme providing for ex gratia payment (by scrapping of scheme of dying-in-harness appointment) came much after the filing of the application. In the said fact and circumstances of that case, it was held that the cause of action to be considered for compassionate appointment arose when the old scheme was in force and the new scheme being an administrative order cannot be given retrospective effect so as to take away right of consideration accrued to the applicant under the old scheme. The claim was directed to be considered under the old scheme with the observations in relevant paragraph-'18' and Canara Bank and another (supra) as under:-

"18. It is also pertinent to note that 2005 Scheme providing only for ex-gratia payment in lieu of compassionate appointment stands superseded by the Scheme of 2014 which has revived the scheme providing for compassionate appointment. As on date, now the scheme in force is to provide compassionate appointment. Under these circumstances, the appellant- bank is not justified in contending that the application for compassionate appointment of the respondent cannot be considered in view of passage of time."

24. Having carefully gone through the above decisions, it is more than apparent that both the said judgments were rendered in the circumstance where the applications for compassionate appointment were moved within a reasonable time from the date of death of the incumbent on the post.

25. However, in the instant case the petitioner did not move application for compassionate appointment within a reasonable time and has not offered any explanation for moving application after one year from the date of cause of action which arose with the death of his father.

26. It is not a case where the application was moved under the old scheme but remained pending and new scheme came in. In fact, there was no occasion for the Bank to consider the claim of family of the deceased employee to grant financial assistance to overcome the crisis immediately on the death of the employee. The law laid down by the Apex Court in MGB Gramin bank (supra) has no application in the fact situation of the present case. The ratio in Canara Bank and another (supra) cannot be applied. The question of reference in State Bank of India (supra) does not arise for consideration in the instant case.

27. Moreover, the scheme of compassionate appointment implemented, w.e.f 15.3.2019 can not be given retrospective effect. The said scheme can be applied only in the following contingencies, i.e:-

(i)where the incumbent on the post dies in harness after implementation of the scheme w.e.f 15.3.2019.

(ii)the application seeking financial assistance (ex-gratia payment) under the old scheme was moved and remained pending for the inaction or non consideration on the part of the respondent bank.

(iii)where the application was moved under the old scheme (for ex gratia payment) and within a short period from the date of receiving of the application, new scheme for compassionate appointment came into force.

28. Further, the time limit provided under Clause-8 of the current scheme for considering application within a period of five years has to be reckoned from the date of death of the employee in harness and cannot come to rescue of the petitioner who himself moved application after a lapse of one year from the date of accrual of the cause of action or death of the employee without any explanation for the delay.

29. In view of the above, the decision of the Bank in refusing to consider the claim for compassionate appointment made by the petitioner's mother, cannot be said to suffer from any infirmity.

30. The writ petition is found devoid of merit and hence, dismissed.

CIVIL SIDE

BEFORE THE HON'BLE SUNEET KUMAR, J.

Writ A No. 26849 of 2018

Mayank Babu Agrawal ...Petitioner
Versus
State of U.P. & Ors. ...Respondents

Counsel for the Petitioner:

Sri Pradeep Singh, Arti Agrawal, Sri Ashok Mehta

Counsel for the Respondents:
C.S.C.

A. Service Law - U.P. Government Servant (Discipline and Appeal) Rules, 1999 - Departmental Enquiry - charges do not elucidate the imputed misconduct-document relied upon has been taken as a separate charge-gross violation of Rule 7-demand for summoning employees/staff for cross examination declined- whole enquiry stands vitiated.

Held - Taking the allegations made in the charge on face value, it cannot be said by any stretch of imagination that the charge is precise, clear and definite to give sufficient indication to the petitioner of the facts and circumstances of misconduct against him. The charge does not elucidate the imputation of misconduct. The allegations are vague and beyond comprehension. In support of the allegations forty-five documents were relied upon. They range from 1990 to 1998 i.e. from the date of appointment of the petitioner to the date when the petitioner was placed under suspension. It is not clear from the charge, what is the alleged misconduct imputed against the petitioner, the allegation does not refer to any specific incident of a particular year. On the contrary in the same breath Enquiry Officer records that the service record of the petitioner reflects that it is satisfactory and the integrity of the petitioner has been duly certified. Upon considering the very same entries, petitioner was confirmed as a permanent employee. It is not inferable from the charges 11 as to which act or omission has been committed by the petitioner, in which year and month the specific circumstances that constitutes misconduct is not detailed. (Para 23)

Further, he demanded that the employees/staff named by him be summoned for cross-examination, which admittedly was declined by the Enquiry Officer only for the reason that the witnesses were not mentioned in the charge-sheet, therefore, were 7. (1964) 4 SCR 718 15 not required to be summoned. The Enquiry Officer sought to prove the charges relying upon the documents which were not proved by their author nor the author of the documents were summoned for cross-examination. Even if the employee refuses to participate in the enquiry, the employer cannot straight away dismiss him, but must hold an ex-parte enquiry where evidence must be led as held by the Supreme Court in Imperial Tobacco Company Limited Vs. Its Employees. (Para 32)

Writ Petition allowed. (E-9)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Suneet Kumar, J.)

1. Heard Sri Ashok Mehta, learned Senior Advocate assisted by Sri Pradeep Singh, learned counsel for the petitioner and learned Standing Counsel for the State-respondents.

2. The facts giving rise to the instant writ petition, briefly stated, is that petitioner came to be appointed on compassionate ground on the post of Junior Assistant Clerk on 3 July 1990. Petitioner was dismissed vide order dated 30 March 1999, passed by the second respondent-Disciplinary Authority/Joint Development Commissioner, Allahabad. The order of dismissal was subjected to challenge in a petition being Writ-A No.15413 of 1999. The writ petition came to be allowed on the ground that the principles of natural justice was flouted with impunity. The operative portion of order dated 21 November 2017, reads thus:

"From the above discussion, it is clear that the legal requirements of conducting a fair and impartial inquiry and thereafter arriving on the fair conclusion, have been disregarded by the respondents, therefore, the dismissal order dated 30.3.1999 is hereby quashed. The petitioner shall be reinstated in service with 50 per cent of the arrears of salary because he did not submit any reply to the charge-sheet initially, which led to ex-parte inquiry against him. The respondents are at liberty to proceed against the petitioner departmentally afresh in accordance with law."

3. The order of the learned Single Judge came to be assailed by the second respondent in appeal being Special Appeal No.84 of 2018. The appellate Court modified the operative portion of the order, which reads thus:

"We modify the operative portion of the order of the learned Single Judge in the following manner:

1. Once the inquiry is vitiated the natural consequence is for the employer to restart the inquiry from the stage it was found vitiated. We accordingly, direct the Inquiry Officer to conclude the inquiry after examining all the witnesses and after giving liberty to the writ-petitioner to defend himself. Such inquiry would be completed within four months from the date of production of a certified copy of this order before the Disciplinary Authority in accordance with the governing service Rules.

2. The question of reinstatement with arrears of salary would be subject to final order being passed by the Disciplinary Authority, after conclusion of the inquiry.

We find that the writ-petitioner was suspended during the inquiry proceeding, it would be open to the writ-petitioner to apply for subsistence allowance during the inquiry proceeding. If the writ-petitioner applies before the Disciplinary Authority, he will pass appropriate order in accordance with Rules within a period of two weeks.

The special appeal is partly allowed with the aforesaid modification."

4. Pursuant thereof, the disciplinary enquiry was initiated from the stage of charge sheet. The earlier charge sheet dated 5 November 1998 was served upon the petitioner afresh on 7 March 2018, by the Enquiry Officer reiterating the charges. Petitioner submitted reply to the charge sheet on 21 March 2018, which was duly received by the Enquiry Officer, wherein, petitioner denied the allegations of misconduct and desired to cross-examine 14 officers/staff, purportedly, authors of the documents The witnesses desired by the petitioner were not summoned. It is noted in the enquiry report that petitioner had not relied upon any evidence or witness in defence, though, it is admitted that petitioner insisted to cross-examine the officers, i.e. the authors of the documents relied upon in the charge sheet in support of the charge. The Enquiry Officer declined the request of the petitioner to cross-examine the officers for the reason that the witnesses are not mentioned in the charge-sheet to support the charges. It is further noted by the Enquiry Officer that several opportunities was given to the petitioner to furnish the list of documents/witnesses, however, despite opportunity, petitioner kept insisting that he desired to examine the 14 officers/staff to extract the truth with regard to the documents relied upon. It appears, thereafter, the Enquiry Officer proceeded to prove the charges relying upon the documents taking that petitioner had nothing to say in defence.

5. Three charges were leveled against the petitioner. Charge nos.1 and 3 have been proved, partly, whereas, charge no.2 has been disproved. The charges reads thus:

मृतक कर्मचारी आश्रित सेवा नियमावली 1974 के अधीन 18 वर्ष की आयु पूर्ण करते ही कनिष्ठ लिपिक के पद पर सहानुभूतिपूर्वक की गई नियुक्ति के प्रारम्भ से ही आप उच्चाधिकारियों के आदेशों की अवहेलना, किसी भी महत्वपूर्ण बैठक या कार्य के समय स्वेच्छाचारितापूर्ण ढंग से अधिकारियों के आदेषों की अवहेलना करते हुए कार्यालय से अनुपस्थित हो जाने, कार्यालय की छवि धूमिल करने, अपने पटल से सम्बन्धित अभिलेख/पत्रावलियां उपलब्ध न कराकर षासकीय कार्य में अवरोध उत्पन्न करने, बिना चिकित्सा प्रमाण पत्र के चिकित्सावकाष प्रार्थना पत्र भेजकर सतत अनुपस्थित रहने के आदी हैं। नियुक्ति के समय से ही प्रायः सभी उप/संयुक्त विकास आयुक्तों तथा स्आफ आफिसर द्वारा निरंतर कड़ी चेतावनियों/भर्त्सना के बावजूद अपने आचरण एवं कार्यषैली में सुधार न करने, महामहिम राज्यपाल एवं अन्य उच्च स्तरीय बैठकों तथा मण्डलीय समीक्षा बैठक जैसे महत्वपूर्ण कार्यों के समय जानबूझकर अवकाष पर चले जाने तथा राष्टÂीय पर्वों पर भी अनुपस्थित रहने के दोषी हैं।

6. The charges is not accompanied with the statement of misconduct. In support of charge nos.1 and 3, the list of documents relied upon were same. The Enquiry Officer while dealing with charge no.1, noted that petitioner not only denied the charge but categorically stated that the documents relied upon, does not prove the charge.

7. It appears from the enquiry report that the Enquiry Officer, barring document no.1 and document no.2, which pertains to petitioner's appointment and the High School certificate, the Enquiry Officer has treated each document as a separate/independent charge and thereafter returned findings on each of the documents i.e. proved or not proved. Thereafter, inference has been drawn by the Enquiry Officer, that charge no.1 is proved in part. The report further notes that as per the service record of the petitioner since 1990-91 to 1997-98, the services of the petitioner has been certified either good, very good or satisfactory, integrity is duly certified. However, it is noted that in the matters pertaining to Rules 67 and 95 of the Fundamental Rules, Part-II, Chapter 2 to 4 has been violated. Accordingly, the Enquiry Officer has held that charge no.1 has been proved partly.

8. Charge no.2 has been held not proved.

9. In respect of charge no.3, an inference has been drawn by the Enquiry Officer that there is no violation of Rule 3 of U.P. Government Servants Conduct Rules, 19561. However, petitioner has been found guilty of violating of Rule 27-A of Rules, 1956, for communicating directly with the superior officer bypassing the proper channel. The charge has been proved in part.

10. It is not being disputed by the contesting parties that proceedings against the petitioner was conducted under the provisions of the U.P. Government Servant (Discipline and Appeal) Rules, 19992.

11. In the aforesaid backdrop, the submission of the learned Senior Counsel appearing for the petitioner is as follows:

(i) that the charges taken on face value is vague, not definite nor precise as mandated under Rule 7 of Rules, 1999;

(ii) that the procedure for imposition of major penalty mandated under Rule 7 has not been complied, particularly, Sub-rule (ii), (iii), (iv) and (vii), that is, upon denial of the charge, the witnesses named by the petitioner to cross-examine them was denied;

(iii) that the onus of proving innocence of the charge was shifted upon the petitioner despite the petitioner having denied all the charges;

(iv) that the impugned order has been passed at the behest of the superior officer i.e. Commissioner, Allahabad Division, Allahabad, upon pressurizing the Disciplinary Authority.

12. In rebuttal, the learned Standing Counsel appearing for the respondents submits that the enquiry report reflects that petitioner was granted several opportunities to produce evidence in support of his defence, but petitioner did not comply. There was no occasion to summon or cross-examine the officers desired by the petitioner as they were not named as witnesses in the charge sheet.

13. On specific query, learned counsel for the respondent does not dispute that the petitioner had denied the charges and insisted to summon the witnesses.

14. Rival submissions fall for consideration.

15. The question that arises for determination is as to whether the disciplinary enquiry stands vitiated for non-compliance of the mandatory procedure contemplated in Rule 7 of Rules, 1999, and whether the charges are vague, not definite/precise i.e. beyond comprehension.

16. On bare perusal of the charges taken on face value, it merely records the allegation against the petitioner alleging that petitioner absented without proper leave application; he is habitual in not complying the orders of the superiors. The leave applications were not submitted in prescribed proforma under the Rules; petitioner directly communicated with the superior officer bypassing the proper channel, etc. The allegations are mere general statements not disclosing the precise imputation of misconduct. In other words, the charge is not definite/clear and precise indicating as to when the petitioner flouted the orders of the officers; proceeded on leave without information; and not complied with the directions of the superiors or/and when bypassed the proper channel while communicating with the superior officer. The substance of the misconduct is absent in the charges.

17. On perusal of the enquiry report, it reflects that the documents relied upon in support of the charge sheet, in particular document nos.3, 4 and 5, have been taken by the Enquiry Officer as a separate charge and a finding has been returned on each document as to whether it is proved against the petitioner or not. The documents are of a particular alleged incident but the charge does not detail the substance and circumstances of the incident constituting the misconduct. In other words the Enquiry Officer himself was not clear about the charge, the evidence relied upon in support of the charge was taken as a separate charge. The departmental enquiry taken as it stands is in gross violation of Rule 7 of Rules, 1999, providing the procedure for imposing major penalties. Sub-rule (ii), (iii), (iv) and (vi) of Rule 7 is extracted:

"7. Procedure for imposing major penalties- Before imposing any major penalty on a Government Servant, an inquiry shall be held in the following manner:

(i) xxx xxx xxx xxx

(ii) The facts constituting the misconduct on which it is proposed to take action shall be reduced in the from of definite charge or charges to be called charge-sheet. The charge-sheet shall be approved by the Disciplinary Authority.

(iii) The charges framed shall be so precise and clear as to give sufficient indication to the charged Government Servant of the facts and circumstances against him. The proposed documentary evidences and the name of the witnesses proposed to prove the same alongwith oral evidences, if any, shall be mentioned in the charge-sheet.

(iv) The charged Government Servant shall be required to put in a written statement of his defence in person on a specified date which shall not be less than 15 days from the date of issue of charge-sheet and to state whether he desires to cross-examine any witness mentioned in the charge-sheet and whether desires to give or produce evidence in his defence. He shall also be informed that in case he does not appear or file the written statement on the specified date, it will be presumed that he has none to furnish and inquiry officer shall proceed to complete the inquiry ex parte.

(v) xxx xxx xxx xxx

(vi) xxx xxx xxx xxx

(vii) Where the charged Government Servant denies the charges the Inquiry Officer shall proceed to call the witnesses proposed in the charge-sheet and record their oral evidence in presence of the charged Government Servant who shall be given opportunity to cross-examine such witnesses. After recording the aforesaid evidences, the Inquiry Officer shall call and record the oral evidence which the charged Government Servant desired in his written statement to be produced in his defence: Provided that the Inquiry Officer may for reasons to be recorded in written refuse to call a witness."

18. The mandatory provision of Rules, 1999, framed by the Governor in exercise of powers conferred under the proviso to Article 309, is legislative in nature and binding upon the respondents and the delinquent employee. Sub-rule (iii) of Rule 7 mandates that the "charges framed shall be so precise and clear' to give indication to the delinquent employee of the facts and circumstances against him. Further, Sub-rule (vii) provides that the Enquiry Officer shall call and record the oral evidence which the delinquent employee desired in the written statement. In the facts of the instant case neither the charge is definite and clear nor did the Enquiry Officer summon the officers demanded by the petitioner.

19. The purpose of holding an enquiry against any employee is not only with a view to establish the charges levelled against him or to impose a penalty, but is also conducted with the object of recording the truth of the matter, and in that sense, the outcome of an enquiry may either result in establishing or vindicating the stand of the delinquent, hence result in his exoneration. Therefore, fair action on the part of the authority concerned is a paramount necessity.

20. The word "charge' denotes the accusations or imputations against member of the service, vide Govinda Menon v. Union of India. The word "definite' signifies that which is defined or has the limits drawn or marked out; definite is said of things as they present themselves or are presented to the mind; as a definite idea, a definite proposal; positive assertion. "Definite' means something which is not vague. The word "vague' is the antonym of definite. If the charge which is supplied is incapable of being understood or defined with sufficient certainty it is vague. If on reading the charges furnished to the employee is capable of being intelligently understood and sufficiently definite to furnish objections and evidence in defence, the charge then is not vague.

21. In Surath Chandra Chakravarty Vs. The State of West Bengal, the Supreme Court held that it is not permissible to hold an enquiry of vague charges as the same does not give a clear picture to the delinquent to raise the effective defence as he will be unaware of the exact nature of the allegation against him, and what defence he should put up for rebuttal thereof. The Court observed as under:-

"The grounds on which it is proposed to take action have to be reduced to the form of a definite charge or charges which have to be communicated to the person charged together with a statement of the allegations on which each charge is based and any other circumstance which it is proposed to be taken into consideration in passing orders has to be stated. This rule embodies a principle which is one of the specific contents of a reasonable or adequate opportunity for defending oneself. If a person is not told clearly and definitely what the allegations are on which the charges preferred against him are founded, he cannot possibly, by projecting his own imagination, discover all the facts and circumstances that may be in the contemplation of the authorities to be established against him."

22. The principle was reiterated by the Supreme Court in Shri Anant R. Kulkarni Vs. Y.P. Education Society & others, it was held that where the charge sheet is accompanied by the statement of facts and the allegations are not specific in the charge sheet, but are crystal clear from the statement of facts, in such a situation, as both constitute the same document it cannot be held that the charge is not specific or definite. But in case, the statement of facts is not clear and definite the enquiry would vitiate. The relevant portion of paragraph no.10 is extracted:

"Thus, nowhere should a delinquent be served a chargesheet, without providing to him, a clear, specific and definite description of the charge against him. When statement of allegations are not served with the chargesheet, the enquiry stands vitiated, as having been conducted in violation of the principles of natural justice. Evidence adduced should not be perfunctory, even if the delinquent does not take the defence of, or make a protest with against that the charges are vague, that does not save the enquiry from being vitiated, for the reason that there must be fair-play in action, particularly in respect of an order involving adverse or penal consequences. What is required to be examined is whether the delinquent knew the nature of accusation. The charges should be specific, definite and giving details of the incident which formed the basis of charges and no enquiry can be sustained on vague charges. (Vide: State of Andhra Pradesh & Ors. v. S. Sree Rama Rao, AIR 1963 SC 1723; Sawai Singh v. State of Rajasthan, AIR 1986 SC 995; Union of India & Ors. v. Gyan Chand Chattar, (2009) 12 SCC 78; and Anil Gilurker v. Bilaspur Raipur Kshetria Gramin Bank & Anr., (2011) 14 SCC 379."

23. On taking the allegations made in the charge on face value, it cannot be said by any stretch of imagination that the charge is precise, clear and definite to give sufficient indication to the petitioner of the facts and circumstances of misconduct against him. The charge does not elucidate the imputation of misconduct. The allegations are vague and beyond comprehension. In support of the allegations forty five documents were relied upon. They range from 1990 to 1998 i.e. from the date of appointment of the petitioner to the date when the petitioner was placed under suspension. It is not clear from the charge, what is the alleged misconduct imputed against the petitioner, the allegation does not refer to any specific incident of a particular year. On the contrary in the same breath Enquiry Officer records that the service record of the petitioner reflects that it is satisfactory and the integrity of the petitioner has been duly certified. Upon considering the very same entries, petitioner was confirmed as a permanent employee. It is not inferable from the charges as to which act or omission has been committed by the petitioner, in which year and month the specific circumstances that constitutes misconduct is not detailed.

24. On bare perusal of the enquiry report, it transpires that Enquiry Officer has taken each document relied upon in support of the charges as a separate charge and thereafter returned a finding thereon, which in my opinion is in gross violation of the procedure for imposition of major penalty prescribed under Rule 7 of Rules, 1999. The charges taken on face value is no charge in the eye of law. In the circumstances the enquiry as a whole stands vitiated.

25. It is specifically pleaded in paragraph nos.30, 31 and 32 of the writ petition that no date and time was fixed for oral evidence. The documents relied upon by the Enquiry Officer in support of the charge is neither supported nor proved by oral evidence, the enquiry report was submitted without any evidence being led before the Enquiry Officer. Paragraph nos.30, 31, 32 are extracted:

"30. That the enquiry officer never fixed any date, time and place for the oral evidence to prove the charges against the petitioner even after various requests dated 02.04.2018, 24.04.2018 and 08.05.2018 by the petitioner. The true copy of reminders for fixing date, time and place is filed herewith and marked as Annexure-14 to the writ petition.

31. That the documents presented before enquiry officer was never supported nor proved by any oral evidence and accordingly the documents not proved, can not be the basis of impugned order dated 17.10.2018.

32. That without any evidence enquiry officer submitted the enquiry report on 21.05.2018 and the petitioner was provided the copy of the same vide letter dated 11.06.2018. The true copy of the letter dated 11.06.2018 is filed herewith and marked as Annexure-15 to the writ petition."

26. The reply has been given by the respondents in paragraph no.21 of the counter affidavit, which reads thus:

"21. That the contents of paragraph nos.29, 30, 31, 32 and 33 of the writ petition are misconceived as stated hence are denied. Detailed and appropriate reply has already been given in the preceding paragraphs of the counter affidavit. However, it is submitted that after considering and examining entire facts, material and records, order impugned has been passed after affording ample opportunity to the petitioner so as to substantiate his defence hence the same is just and proper and in accordance with Rules and Law. The enquiry was initiated and concluded in the matter, in the light of order dated 02.02.2018 passed by the Division Bench of this Hon'ble Court in the Special Appeal No.84 of 2018."

27. Further, reliance has been placed by the learned Standing Counsel on the averments made in paragraph no.6 of the counter affidavit. Paragraph no.6 (IV), (V) and (VI) of the counter affidavit, reads thus:

"6. xxx xxx xxx xxx

IV. The enquiry officer, after examining and considering the provisions laid down under Rules, 1999 and Employees Conduct Rules, 1956 as well as provisions laid down under Financial Handbook, after affording ample opportunity to the petitioner for substantiating his defence, submitted his enquiry report dated 21.05.2018. True copy of letter dated 09.04.2018 as well as enquiry report dated 21.05.2018 are being filed herewith and marked as Annexure-C.A.-2 & 3 respectively to this affidavit.

V. In pursuance to aforesaid enquiry report, the then Joint Development Commissioner, as per provisions laid down under Rules, 1999, issued letter dated 11.06.2018 requiring the petitioner to submit his stance over the enquiry report 21.05.2018 and thereafter in pursuance to the same, the petitioner has submitted his reply dated 24.06.2018 (Annexure no.16 to the writ petition) before Joint Development Commissioner.

VI. Finally, the disciplinary authority i.e. Joint Development Commissioner, after considering and examining the entire aspects of the matter, adjudicated the matter by means of order dated 17.10.2018, whereby the termination order dated 30.03.1999 passed against the petitioner previously, has been affirmed and kept intact being found legal and valid."

28. The averments made in paragraph no.6 of the counter affidavit has been denied by the petitioner in the rejoinder affidavit, it is further contended that the impugned order dated 17 October 2018, passed by the Disciplinary Authority, has merely reaffirmed the earlier order of dismissal passed on 30 March 1999, which came to be quashed by this Court on 21 November 2017. Division Bench, in appeal, merely modified the order directing the Enquiry Officer to conclude the enquiry after giving opportunity to the petitioner. The order of the learned Single Judge, quashing the earlier order of dismissal was not interfered with, but only the arrears of salary was made subject to the outcome of the enquiry. In other words, the Disciplinary Authority had to apply his mind afresh on the enquiry report that would have been submitted after enquiry being undertaken from the stage of charge-sheet.

29. Supreme Court in Roop Singh Negi vs. Punjab National Bank and others, was of the view that there must be some evidence, on record to show that the delinquent employee had indulged in the alleged act of misconduct. There must be some evidence to link the petitioner to the alleged misconduct. Supreme Court held that departmental proceeding is a quasi-judicial proceeding. The inquiry officer performs a quasi-judicial function. The inquiry officer has a duty to arrive at a finding upon taking into consideration the materials brought on record by the parties. The inquiry officer should appreciate the evidences and the conclusion should be based on evidence. The inquiry report if based on conjectures and surmises cannot be sustained. Suspicion howsoever high, cannot be a substitute for legal proof.

30. Yet again in M.V. Bijlani v. Union of India this Court held: (SCC p. 95, para 25)

"25. ....Although the charges in a departmental proceedings are not required to be proved like a criminal trial, i.e., beyond all reasonable doubts, we cannot lose sight of the fact that the Enquiry Officer performs a quasi-judicial function, who upon analysing the documents must arrive at a conclusion that there had been a preponderance of probability to prove the charges on the basis of materials on record. While doing so, he cannot take into consideration any irrelevant fact. He cannot refuse to consider the relevant facts. He cannot shift the burden of proof. He cannot reject the relevant testimony of the witnesses only on the basis of surmises and conjectures. He cannot enquire into the allegations with which the delinquent officer had not been charged with."

31. In Union of India vs. H.C. Goel, it was held:

"....The two infirmities are separate and distinct though, conceivably, in some cases, both may be present. There may be cases of no evidence even where the Government is acting bona fide; the said infirmity may also exist where the Government is acting mala fide and in that case, the conclusion of the Government not supported by any evidence may be the result of mala fides, but that does not mean that if it is proved that there is no evidence to support the conclusion of the Government, a writ of certiorari will not issue without further proof of mala fides. That is why we are not prepared to accept the learned Attorney-General's argument that since no mala fides are alleged against the appellant in the present case, no writ of certiorari can be issued in favour of the respondent."

32. In the facts of the instant case, it is not in dispute that the petitioner appeared to participate in the departmental enquiry, he filed written statement denying the allegations. Further, he demanded that the employees/staff named by him be summoned for cross-examination, which admittedly was declined by the Enquiry Officer only for the reason that the witnesses were not mentioned in the charge-sheet, therefore, were not required to be summoned. The Enquiry Officer sought to prove the charges relying upon the documents which were not proved by their author nor the author of the documents were summoned for cross-examination. Even if the employee refuses to participate in the enquiry, the employer cannot straight away dismiss him, but must hold an ex-parte enquiry where evidence must be led as held by the Supreme Court in Imperial Tobacco Company Limited Vs. Its Employees.

33. It is an elementary principle that a person, who is required to answer a charge must know not only the accusation but also the testimony by which the accusation is supported. He must be given fair chance to hear the evidence in support of the charge and to put such relevant questions by way of cross-examination as he desires. Then he must be given a chance to rebut the evidence led against him. It is admitted that the witnesses sought by the petitioner to be summoned were authors of the documents listed in the charge-sheet and the documents were to be used against the petitioner to prove the charge. This is the rarest requirement of an enquiry of this character and this requirement must be substantially fulfilled before the result of the enquiry. Reference may be made to the decision rendered in Meenglas Tea Estate V. The Workmen. Nothing of this sought was done by the Enquiry Officer.

34. Further, reliance has been placed on communication dated 15 October 2010, issued by the Commissioner, Allahabad Division, Allahabad, addressed to the Principal Secretary Village Development Uttar Pradesh, wherein, it has been stated that pursuant to the order passed by the Division Bench, petitioner is entitled to subsistence allowance, as the enquiry had not been concluded within four months, as directed by the Court. In the opinion of the Commissioner, in case, subsistence allowance is to be paid to the petitioner which would workout to be a large amount, that would tantamount to financial irregularity. Accordingly, the Commissioner recommended that an enquiry be conducted by the department against the Disciplinary Authority. The order was received on 17 October 2018 by the second respondent, the Disciplinary Authority, who on the very same date under threat and coercion exercised by Divisional Commissioner passed the impugned order hurriedly in violation of the mandatory rules with impunity.

35. In this backdrop, it is urged that the impugned order has been passed on the fear of the superior officer, who had expressed his mind that he was having some grudge and/or prejudice against the petitioner. In other words, it is contended that the Disciplinary Authority was coerced to pass the impugned order dismissing the petitioner from service. The documents placed on record by the petitioner before the Court has not been denied by the respondents, rather it is admitted. The facts reflect that petitioner has been subjected to repeated victimisation under the garb of holding departmental enquiry.

36. Learned counsel for the respondent, finally, has raised a preliminary objection with regard to the maintainability of the writ petition. It is sought to be urged that the petitioner has an alternative remedy of either preferring a statutory appeal under Rules, 1999, or approaching the Administrative Tribunal.

37. In rebuttal, it is urged that the petitioner has not raised any defence on merit nor has he led any evidence to show that the charges against the petitioner could not have been proved. The contention of the learned counsel for the petitioner is that taking the charges as they stand it does not make out a case of misconduct being absolutely vague and unclear. Further, the mandatory provision of Rule 7 has not been followed as is writ large from the enquiry report without raising any counter argument. Petitioner has been subjected to harassment by the respondents wilfully and deliberately with a pre-determined mind to ensure that he is kept out of service. In the circumstances, it is urged that alternative remedy, in the given facts, is a futile exercise. The submission of the learned Counsel for the petitioner has merit. The objection, accordingly, is rejected.

38. The question that follows is as to whether petitioner is entitled to back-wages on reinstatement. In Deepali Gundu Surwase vs. Kranti Junior Adhyapak Mahavidyalaya (D.ED.) and others, Supreme Court held, in case of wrongful termination of service, reinstatement with continuity of service and back wages is the normal rule. Where the Court reaches a conclusion that the inquiry was held in respect of frivolous issue or petty misconduct, as a camouflage to get rid of the employee or victimise him, and the punishment is a result of such scheme or intention. In such cases, the principles relating to back wages will be the same as those applied in the cases of illegal termination.

The proposition which was culled out from the judgments referred by the Supreme Court while deciding the issue of back-wages, inter alia, for the instant case is as follows:

"(i) In cases of wrongful termination of service, reinstatement with continuity of service and back wages is the normal rule.

(ii) xxx xxx xxx xxx

(iii) xxx xxx xxx xxx

(iv) xxx xxx xxx xxx

(v) The cases in which the competent court or tribunal finds that the employer has acted in gross violation of the statutory provisions and/or the principles of natural justice or is guilty of victimizing the employee or workman, then the court or tribunal concerned will be fully justified in directing payment of full back wages. In such cases, the superior Courts should not exercise power under Article 226 or 136 of the Constitution and interfere with the award passed by the Labour Court, etc., merely because there is a possibility of forming a different opinion on the entitlement of the employee/workman to get full back wages or the employer's obligation to pay the same. The Courts must always be kept in view that in the cases of wrongful/illegal termination of service, the wrongdoer is the employer and sufferer is the employee/workman and there is no justification to give premium to the employer of his wrongdoings by relieving him of the burden to pay to the employee/workman his dues in the form of full back wages."

39. The principle of entitlement of back-wages applicable to workmen under labour laws would not however, apply to government servants governed by statutory rules. Rule 54-A of the U.P. Fundamental Rules deals with pay and allowances admissible to a government servant where the dismissal is set aside by a competent court. Rule 54-A reads thus:

"Rule 54-A. (1) Where the dismissal, removal or compulsory retirement of a Government servant is set aside by a Court of Law and such Government servant is reinstated without holding any further inquiry, the period of absence from duty shall be regularised and the Government servant shall be paid pay and allowances in accordance with provisions of sub-rule (2) or (3) subject to the directions, if any, of the Court.

(2) xxx xxx xxx xxx

(3) If the dismissal, removal or compulsory retirement of a Government servant is set aside by the Court on the merits of the case, the period intervening between the date of dismissal, removal or compulsory retirement including the period of suspension preceding such dismissal, removal or compulsory retirement, as the case may be, and the date of reinstatement shall be treated as duty for all purposes and he shall be paid the full pay and allowances for the period, to which he would have been entitled, had he not been dismissed, removed or compulsory retired or suspended prior to such dismissal, removal or compulsory retirement, as the case may be."

Having due regard to the mandatory provision and in view of the findings returned here-in-above, petitioner is entitled to full pay and allowance on reinstatement.

40. In the given facts and circumstances of the case, the disciplinary proceedings initiated against the petitioner is accordingly quashed, consequently, the impugned order dated 17 October 2018, passed by the second respondent-Joint Development Commissioner, Allahabad, stands quashed. The writ petition is allowed. Petitioner shall be reinstated forthwith and shall be paid full pay and allowances from the date of termination i.e. 30 March 1999, with all consequential benefits.

41. The cost of litigation assessed at Rs.25,000/- payable to the petitioner by the second respondent.

5. From the bare reading of the aforesaid order regularizing the services of the petitioner, it is clearly revealed that the petitioner has been regularized against the post on which he had continued since 1986 on ad-hoc basis. The petitioner thereafter, attained the age of superannuation on 30.09.2016.

6. The question then arose relating the period of service that the petitioner has rendered for the purposes of computation of pensionable service and by the impugned order dated 21.02.2017, the period during which the petitioner continued on ad-hoc basis, has been left out and the period from 2001 until the age of superannuation by the petitioner worked on a regular basis after his regularization in service, has only been computed.

7. The argument advanced by learned counsel for the petitioner is that the issue regarding qualifying period of service for pension purpose whether would include temporary, ad-hoc or work charge period of service, is no more res integra and for this purpose, he has placed reliance of a judgment of this Court in the case of Shashi Srivastava v. State of U.P. & Another 2019 (7) ADJ 302 (DB).

8. Considering the relevant provisions of Rule 3(8) of Civil Services Regulations, as contained in Regulation 368, the Division Bench has held that the period during which a person has continued on ad-hoc basis in a permanent establishment, shall also count towards the pensionable service. The relevant paragraphs of the judgment in the case of Shashi Srivastava (supra) are reproduced hereunder:

"6. Under U.P. Retirement Benefit Rules, 1961 (hereinafter referred to as "Rules, 1961") "qualifying service" is defined in Rule 3(8). It means 'service' which qualifies for pension in accordance with provisions of Article 368 of C.S.R. Rule 3(8) is quoted as below:-

"Rule 3(8)- " Qualifying service" means service which qualifies for pension in accordance with the provisions of Article 368 of the Civil Services Regulations:

Provided that continuous temporary or officiating service under the Government of Uttar Pradesh followed without interruption by confirmation in the same or any other post except-

(i) periods of temporary or officiating service in a non-pensionable establishment.

(ii) periods of service in a work-changed establishment, and

(iii) periods of service in a post, paid from contingencies; shall also count as qualifying service.

Note- If service rendered in a non-pensionable establishment, work-charged establishment or in post paid form contingencies falls between two periods of temporary service in a pensionable establishment or between a period of temporary service and permanent service in a pensionable establishment, it will not constitute an interruption of service." (emphasis added)

7. Article 368, C.S.R., provides that service does not qualify, unless officer holds a substantive office in a permanent establishment. Articles 368 and 369 are quoted herein below:

"368. Service does not qualify unless the officer holds a substantive office on a permanent establishment.

369. An establishment, the duties of which are not continuous but are limited to certain fixed periods in each year, is not a temporary establishment. Service in such an establishment, including the period during which the establishment is not employed qualifies but the concession of counting as service the period during while the establishment is not employed does not apply to an officer who was not on actual duty when the establishment was discharged, after completion of its work, or to an officer who was on actual duty on the first day on which the establishment was again re-employed."

8. It is not in dispute that petitioner was appointed on substantive post in permanent establishment which is/was pensionable. Nature of his appointment i.e. ad-hoc appointment is not of much relevance in as much as period spent by him as ad-hoc was in permanent pensionable establishment, which ultimately resulted into regularization of petitioner without any break in service.

9. Moreover, vide Sub-rule 8 of Rule 3 of Rules 1961, qualifying service includes temporary service followed by confirmation and continued without interruption. In this view of the matter, services rendered by petitioner on ad-hoc basis followed by Regularization would stand covered under "qualifying service" defined under Rule 3(8) of Rules 1961, for the purpose of pension.

10. In taking this view we are fortified by a Division Bench decision in State of U.P. and Others vs. Dr. Amrendra Narain Srivastava, 2012 (8) ADJ 376. Similar issue recently has been considered by this Court in Dr. Indrapal Singh Sachan vs. State of U.P. and 4 Others, (Writ -A o. 62179 of 2015) decided on 07.02.2018, wherein this Court has followed judgment passed in Writ Petition No. 65873 of 2014 and directed that adhoc service would be counted for payment of retiral benefit treating the same as "qualifying service". Judgment passed in Dr. Indra Pal Singh Sachan (supra) reads as under:-

"Heard Shri Ashok Khare, learned Senior Counsel, assisted by Shri Siddharth Khare, learned counsel for the petitioner and learned Standing Counsel appearing for the respondents.

Pleadings have been exchanged between the parties and we have perused the same.

The petitioner is aggrieved by the office order dated 9th September, 2015, passed by the Principal Secretary, AYUSH, State of U.P., whereby the representation of the petitioner, for payment of pensionary benefits, has been rejected.

The petitioner was appointed as Ayurvedic doctor on contract basis vide order dated 1.12.1988. The petitioner continued to function as such. A Writ Petition No. 4806 of 1990 (U.P. Anskalik Chikitsak Sangrah Samiti vs. State of U.P. and another), came to be filed by association of Ayurvedic doctors. It was decided vide judgment and order dated 11.9.1992, with a direction to consider the claim of their regularisation within six months and for the payment of full salary of a Medical Officer.

In pursuance of the above judgment of this Court, an office order was issued on 28.2.1992, directing for treating the services of the contract basis Ayurvedic doctors on ad hoc basis. The petitioner was also included in the list attached with the aforesaid office order and his services also were treated on ad hoc basis.

Subsequently, by order dated 25th September, 2009, the services of all ad hoc doctors were regularized and, accordingly, the services of the petitioners were also regularized with effect from 16.3.2005. The petitioner, ultimately, retired on 30.9.2007. On his retirement, he raised a claim for grant of pensionary benefits, which was not accepted. Therefore, he filed Writ Petition No. 49467 of 2012 (Dr. Indrapal Singh Sachan vs. State of U.P. and others), which was disposed of on 22.4.2015, observing that the issue arising in the petition stand answered by the decision of the Court, rendered in Writ Petition No. 61974 of 2011 (Dr. Amrendra Narain Srivastava vs. State of U.P. and others), which has been followed in Writ Petition No. 65873 of 2014 (Dr. Mohd. Mahboob Husain Abbasi vs. State of U.P. and 4 others). Accordingly, the Principal Secretary, Department of Medical Education, Government of U.P., Lucknow, was directed to consider the claim of the petitioner within a time-bound period, keeping into mind the parameters as has been settled in the aforesaid two decisions.

In pursuance of the above, the impugned order has been passed, rejecting the representation of the petitioner with regard to the claim of the pentionary benefits.

The claim of the petitioner has been distinguished in it from that of Dr. Amerendra Narain Srivastava, on the ground that the petitioner was never confirmed, therefore, his services cannot be counted for the purposes of grant of pension. In the case of Amrendra Narain Srivastava, the Division Bench has dealt with the Uttar Pradesh Retirement Benefit Rules, 1965, and the period of qualifying service mentioned therein vis a vis Regulation 368 of the Civil Services Regulations and came to the conclusion that the petitioner therein shall be entitled to pension from the date on which he joined the services by adding the services rendered by him in temporary capacity to his services rendered by him with the Government Department on substantive basis. In other words, on being absorbed in the Government Department in substantive capacity or being regularized, it was provided that the services earlier rendered by him may be in a temporary capacity has to be counted for the purposes of payment of pension.

The aforesaid decision has been followed in the case of Dr. Mohd. Mahboob Husain Abbasi.

In the instant case also, the services of the petitioner, treated to be on ad hoc basis vide order dated 28.2.1992, was ultimately regularized vide order dated 25.9.229 with effect from 16.3.2005. Thus, once the petitioner stood duly regularized/confirmed, the services, rendered by him prior to his regularization on ad hoc basis, would be included in his length of service for the purposes of grant of pension. In this way, for the purposes of pension, the petitioner has rendered service with effect from 28.2.1992 till 30.9.2007. The said period is more than the qualifying service period of 10 years necessary for the grant of pensionary benefits.

In view of the aforesaid facts and circumstances, the distinction, made by the Principal Secretary in passing the impugned order, is not tenable and, accordingly, the same is hereby quashed, holding that services rendered by the petitioner with effect from 28.2.1992, shall be counted in his services rendered by him after his regularization for the purposes of grant of pension. The respondents are, as such, directed to work out the pension admissible to the petitioner as aforesaid and to start paying the same as well as the arrears. The arrears shall be paid with interest of 8 per cent within a period of three months.

The writ petition is allowed, accordingly."

9. Very recently, the Apex Court in the case of Prem Singh v. State of U.P. 2019 LawSuit (SC) 1557 has observed in quite unequivocal terms that even the service period of an employee in capacity of a work charged employee shall be added while counting qualifying service for computation of pension. Vide para 29 and 30, the Apex Court has observed thus:

"29. We are not impressed by the aforesaid submissions. The appointment of the work-charged employee in question had been made on monthly salary and they were required to cross the efficiency bar also. How their services are qualitatively different from regular employees? No material indicating qualitative difference has been pointed out except making bald statement. The appointment was not made for a particular project which is the basic concept of the work charged employees. Rather, the very concept of work-chargedemployment has been misused by offering the employment on exploitative terms for the work which is regular and perennial in nature. Payment used to be made monthly but the appointment was made in the pay scale of Rs.200-320. Initially, he was appointed in the year 1978 on a fixed monthly salary of Rs.205 per month. They were allowed to cross efficiency bar also as the benefit of pay scale was granted to them during the period they served as work-charged employees they served for three to four decades and later on services have been regularized time to time by different orders. However, the services of some of the appellants in few petitions/ appeals have not been regularized even though they had served for several decades and ultimately reached the age of superannuation.

30. In the aforesaid facts and circumstances, it was unfair on the part of the State Government and its officials to take work from theemployees on the work-charged basis. They ought to have resorted to an appointment on regular basis. The taking of work on the work-charged basis for long amounts to adopting the exploitative device. Later on, though their services have been regularized. However, the period spent by them in the work-charged establishment has not been counted towards the qualifying service. Thus, they have not only been deprived of their due emoluments during the period they served on less salary in work charged establishment but have also been deprived of counting of the period for pensionary benefits as if no services had been rendered by them. The State has been benefitted by the services rendered by them in the heydays of their life on less salary in work- charged establishment. (Emphasis added)

10. Learned Standing Counsel appearing for the contesting respondents does not dispute the above legal position.

11. In view of the above facts and circumstances of the case and the legal position emerging out from the judgment (supra), this writ petition deserves to be allowed.

12. The writ petition succeeds and is accordingly allowed.

13. The order dated 21.02.2017 (Annexure No. 8 to the writ petition) and the order dated 24.03.2017 (Annexure No. 10 to the writ petition) are hereby quashed and the respondents are directed to include the period of service which the petitioner has spent on ad-hoc basis from 25.06.1987 till 20.12.2001 towards pension and the pension shall accordingly be calculated and the due amount as consequence thereof shall be paid within a period of three months from the date of production of certified copy of this order.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Ajit Kumar, J.)

1. Heard Sri Sunil Kumar Srivastava, learned counsel for the petitioner and learned Standing Counsel for the State- respondent.

2. In view of the office report dated 20th January, 2018, service of notice upon the respondent No.4 is deemed sufficient and accordingly, this Court proceeds finally to decide the matter.

3. The petitioner before this Court claims to have been validly appointed as Assistant Teacher in L.T. Grade by the 4th respondent in the institution, namely, 'Christian Inter Inter College, Mainpuri' admittedly a minority institution. The petitioner has become aggrieved by the order passed by the District Inspector of Schools dated 7th October, 2017, whereby an appointment of the petitioner has been disapproved by the District Inspector of Schools exercising power under Section 16 FF of Intermediate Education Act, 1921 and another order dated 13th October, 2017, whereby papers relating to the selection and appointment of the petitioner have been returned and the 4th respondent has been directed to act afresh in accordance with the letter dated 7th April, 2017 issued by the Director Education (Secondary), U.P. Lucknow.

4. Briefly stated facts of the case are that in the minority institution being run by the respondent No.4, it is stated that two vacancies arose of Assistant Teacher in L.T. Grade on 30th June, 2014 due to retirement of Mr. Stanley M. Lal and also on account of promotion of one Mr. Vinay Kumar as Lecturer (Hindi). According to the petitioner and as per norms the existing sanction strength of Faculty in L.T. Grade, the total number of posts are 29 duly approved by the State Government and this has come to be acknowledged by the District Inspector of Schools in his letter dated 20th December, 2012. As a consequence to the vacancy fallen vacant substantively, the 4th respondent issued an advertisement in two widely circulated newspapers, namely, Amar Ujala (Hindi) on 20th March, 2015 and Sunday Express (English) on 5th April, 2015, a copy whereof has been brought on record as Annexure- 2 to the writ petition. Pursuant to the said advertisement the petitioner applied for the post of Assistant Teacher in L.T. Grade and was interviewed on 6th July, 2016 by the Selection Committee and was selected. Selection result issued by the Selection Committee in which the petitioner and one Ajay Kumar Singh have been shown as selected bears the signatures of the members of the Committee including Chairman.

5. The papers were forwarded to the District Inspector of Schools by the Manager of the Committee of Management on 22nd July, 2016 as required under Section 16FF of the Intermediate Education Act, 1921. However, since the matter remained pending before the District Inspector of Schools and the statutory period provided for under the regulations within which the District Inspector of Schools has to take decision either way and he did not take decision, the Committee of Management proceeded to issue appointment order to the petitioner on 28th November, 2016. The petitioner submitted his joining on 1st December, 2015 in the institution as Assistant Teacher in L.T. Grade. As the petitioner had joined and was discharging duties that in the meanwhile on 7th October, 2017 the District Inspector of Schools passed a detailed order disapproving the selection and appointment of the petitioner as Assistant Teacher in L.T. Grade in the institution on two basic grounds:-

(1). First ground taken by the District Inspector of Schools in his order is that the post in question had lapsed in view of the relevant provisions as contained in the regulations under Intermediate Education Act, 1921. According to Regulation 20 of Chapter II of the Intermediate Education Act, 1921, if the post is not filled up within three months of its falling vacant, it automatically lapses and then it becomes necessary to get it revived. In support of the stand taken by the District Inspector of Schools, he has reminded the Committee of Management to its own letters dated 21st September, 2016 and 5th October, 2016 seeking revival of the vacancies that had been lapsed and the District Inspector of Schools in that regard had made recommendations for the revival for only two positions in his letter dated 21st January, 2017 addressed to the Director of Education (Secondary), U.P. Lucknow and the Director of Education (Secondary) U.P. Lucknow had issued an order on 7th April, 2017 reviving the post of Lecturers (Psychology) and (Hindi). However, in the category of L.T. Grade those two posts were not revived.

(2). Another reason assigned in the order impugned is that the advertisement was not properly made and that too not in two widely circulated in the daily newspapers and, therefore, the selections and appointments are bad being de hors the procedure prescribed in law and it is since the appointments have been held bad, the District Inspector of Schools has subsequently passed another order directing the management to proceed in accordance with letter dated 7th April, 2017.

6. Assailing the order aforesaid, passed by the District Inspector of Schools, the argument advanced by the learned counsel for the petitioner is that the posts cannot automatically lapse as sanction once granted cannot be treated to be withdrawn automatically by lapse of time unless the order/ sanction is so conditioned. The provision as contained under Regulation 20 Chapter II, it is argued, is merely directory and recommendatory in nature. It is submitted vehemently that the post once has been created can be cancelled by way of a written order and that too with proper approval of the authority concerned. Moreover, he submits that the District Inspector of Schools has failed to detail out under what circumstances the post has lapsed as there is no reference about the period during which the post had remained vacant.

7. It has been further argued by the learned counsel for the petitioner that in the matter of minority institutions the parameters for granting approval to the selection is not same as applicable to other institutions. It is submitted that minority institution has been given freedom to make selection in accordance with its own choice and what has to be seen is only the applications are invited from open market and there is an advertisement of the vacancy and those selected possess requisite qualifications. It has also been argued that the stand taken by the District Inspector of Schools that vacancies were not duly advertised is not correct because vacancy was duly advertised in widely circulated daily newspaper like Amar Ujala (Hindi) and Sunday Express (English).

8. Per contra, the argument advanced by the learned Standing Counsel is that the minimum requirement of law is existence of vacancy and fair procedure in matter of the selection is sine qua non qua the appointments. He submits that once the management itself sought revival of the post in question and no order in response to the request was made by the competent authority, the management should have waited. It is further argued that the advertisement is meant for public, offering opportunities to all the eligible persons to apply against the vacancy advertised. Every advertisement should be clear in terms of qualification, pay-scale and the nature of the vacancy inasmuch as the date should be specified relating to time period within which the applicant has to apply. He submits further that the in respect of the aided institutions where the grant is being received from the public exchequer, a duty is cast upon the District Inspector of Schools to ensure that one who is paid salary is duly selected and appointed and is eligible for the post that he holds even in the matters of appointment in minorities institutions. He argued that there is no error much less a substantial one in the order impugned so as to warrant interference in the matter.

9. Having heard learned counsel for the learned counsel for the petitioner and their arguments advanced across the Bar and having perused the record, I find that only two points required consideration in the matter:-

(A). Whether the post would lapse under Regulation 20 Chapter II of the Intermediate Education Act, 1921 in case if it is not advertised/ proceedings for initiating selection and appointment is not made within a period of 90 days and so there did not exist vacancy resulting in appointment of the petitioner as null and void.

(B). Whether the procedure otherwise adopted by the institution in conducting selection and appointment of the petitioner is bad being vitiated in law for non compliance of necessary rules and the petitioner is otherwise also not eligible for the post he holds.

10. Coming to the first point; the controversy should no longer detain this Court as the regulations framed under Chapter II of the Intermediate Education Act, 1921 have been already held only guidelines in respect of the minorities institutions in the case of Mukesh Singh Chauhan and others v. State of U.P. and others, 2006 (4) AWC 3471.

11. Very recently in the case of C/M St. John's Girls' Inter College M.G. Road, Agra v. Joint Director of Education, Agra Region, Agra and others (Writ- A No.- 29428 of 2017 decided on 19th August, 2017) a concurrent Bench of this Court while dealing with Regulation 20 of Chapter II framed under the Intermediate Education Act, 1921 has held it to be not mandatory. This Court considering such above aspect in the judgment (supra) has held thus:-

"Indisputably, the institution is a minority institution. There is no dispute that the post on which the petitioner has made appointment is a sanctioned post and one regular teacher Smt. V. Ivan was working on the said post and she attained her age of superannuation on 30th June, 2015. It is also not disputed that the Committee of Management of the institution has sent three successive communications to the District Inspector of Schools seeking his permission to make the advertisement. This fact has been admitted in paragraph-13 of the counter affidavit. Section 16-FF(4) of the Act, 1921 came to be considered in a large number of cases by this Court. A simple reading of Section 16-FF(4) would show that the District Inspector of Schools has been empowered to withhold the selection only on the ground of lack of qualification of teachers. As regards Regulation 20 of Chapter II of the Regulations framed under the Act, 1921, it came to be considered in the above mentioned three cases. The consistent view taken by this Court is that the Regulations are merely guidelines in view of the explicit statutory provision, which has used the words that the District Inspector of Schools can withhold the approval only on the ground of lack of qualification.

In view of the above, I am of the opinion that the view taken by the District Inspector of Schools-II, Agra, the second respondent, declining approval is unsustainable. Accordingly, the impugned order dated 05th December, 2016 passed by the second respondent is set aside."

12. Coming to the second aspect of the matter law is well settled that in matters of procedure to be followed by in the minorities institutions in the light of the spirit of the provisions as contained under sub-section 4 of Section 16-FF, in my considered opinion, once the candidate is found to be eligible who has been given appointment, the District Inspector of Schools cannot hold approval. Sub-section 4 of Section 16-FF of the Intermediate Education Act, 1921 is reproduced hereunder:-

"16-FF(4). The Regional Deputy Director of Education or the Inspector, as the case may be, shall not withhold approval for the selection made under this section where the person selected possesses the minimum qualifications prescribed and is otherwise eligible."

13. This Court had already dealt with such controversy in the case of Mukesh Singh (supra) wherein the Court was dealing with Regulation 17(A) (2) of Chapter II of the Regulations which provided for the procedure to be followed in matters of advertisement to be made in respect of the vacancies which are sought to be filled in. The Court held that these regulations are mere guidelines and if a candidate is otherwise eligible, his appointment cannot be disapproved in the minorities institutions by the authorities. Vide paragraph 8 of the judgment (supra) this Court has held thus:-

"8. Clause (4) of Section 16-FF indicates that the authority could not withhold the approval for the selection made where the persons selected possesses the minimum qualifications prescribed and was otherwise eligible. The impugned order does not speak about the qualifications of the petitioners nor does it indicate that the petitioners did not possess the requisite qualifications. In the absence of a finding in this regard, the District Inspector of Schools was therefore required to grant the approval of the appointments of the petitioners and could not go into the intricacies or irregularities alleged to have been made in the selection process, which otherwise did not exist, as would be clear hereinafter. In my opinion, the provision contemplated under Regulation 17 of Chapter II of the Regulations framed under the Intermediate Education Act, in my opinion, could not override Sub-clause) of Section 16-FF of the Intermediate Education Act. In the opinion of the Court, Regulation 17 is only a guideline and any irregularity committed would not make a candidate ineligible when he was otherwise eligible and qualified for an appointment as contemplated under Sub-section [4] of Section 16-FF of the Act."

14. The freedom of the minorities institution in making selection and appointment against the vacancies in the institution has come to be considered in many cases by the Apex Court. The Apex Court in the case of The Manager, Corporate Educational Agency v. James Mathew and others, decided on 11th July 2017 (Civil Appeal Nos.- 826-827 of 2017) held that the emerging position is that, once the Management of a minority educational institution makes a conscious choice of a qualified person from the minority community to lead the institution, either as the Headmaster or Principal, the court cannot go into the merits of the choice or the rationality or propriety of the process of choice. In that regard, the right under Article 30(1) is absolute.

15. Further in the case of Secretary Malankara Syrian Catholic College v. T. Jose and others, reported in 2007 (1) SCC 386 repelling the argument raised by the learned counsel for the petitioner that Regulation 30 (1) cannot be used against members of the teaching staff as teachers belong to the same community in matters of appointment of Headmaster to the institution. Where the management has chosen headmaster exercising its discretion to select a person of its own choice, the Apex Court has held vide paragraph 28 of the judgment (supra) thus:-

"28. The appellant contends that the protection extended by Article 30(1) cannot be used against a member of the teaching staff who belongs to the same minority community. It is contended that a minority institution cannot ignore the rights of eligible lecturers belonging to the same community, senior to the person proposed to be selected, merely because the institution has the right to select a Principal of its choice. But this contention ignores the position that the right of the minority to select a Principal of its choice is with reference to the assessment of the person's outlook and philosophy and ability to implement its objects. The management is entitled to appoint the person, who according to them is most suited, to head the institution, provided he possesses the qualifications prescribed for the posts. The career advancement prospects of the teaching staff, even those belonging to the same community, should have to yield to the right of the management under Article 30(1) to establish and administer educational institutions."

16. Section 57(3) of the said Act that provided that the rule of seniority-cum-fitness for selection and appointment on the post of Principal of the aided institution was held to be violative of Article 30(1) of the Constitution and, accordingly, was held not applicable to the minority institutions.

17. In view of above exposition of law emerging out from the authorities cited above, coming to the facts of the present case, and reason assigned in the order impugned in the present writ petition, I find that the District Inspector of Schools disapproved the selection and appointment only on the ground that the post had lapsed under the relevant regulations and that advertisement was not proper as per the provisions contained under the Regulations and the procedure prescribed for preparation for select list and now applying the law as discussed above, the reasons assigned in the order, therefore, cannot be sustained.

18. The District Inspector of Schools has not held anywhere in the order that the petitioner who was duly selected and appointed, did not possess the minimum qualification prescribed for under the Appendix (A) to the Regulations of Chapter II of the Intermediate Education Act, 1921. Accordingly, the order dated 7th October, 2017 and 13th October, 2017 passed by the District Inspector of Schools cannot be sustained and are hereby quashed.

19. The District Inspector of Schools is directed to reconsider the matter of approval, however he can exercise his discretion of enquiry only to the limited extent as to whether the petitioner did possess the requisite qualification for holding post on the date of his selection and appointment or not.

20. It is made clear that in case if the petitioner is found to have possessed the requisite qualification on the date of selection and appointment, the District Inspector of Schools shall proceed to issue positive directions approving appointment order and also for payment of salary.

21. The writ petition is, thus, allowed in terms of the order passed hereinabove.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Sudhir Agarwal, J.)

1. 'Prayagraj' has an old historicity tracing back to Vedic period. Lord Rama while in exile, rested in Rishi Bharadwaj Ashrama, on the bank of river Ganga. It is also known for King Harshvardhana, who used to come every twelve years to donate his entire wealth to needy and poor people. From the time of Lord Buddha, it is also a well known centre of education which continued when Allahabad University was founded on 23rd September, 1887 and reached its glory called "Oxford of East". A large number of social Reformers, Literary Scholars and Political personalities have their birth place at Allahabad. In 1575, when Akbar came to Allahabad and built a big fort, he was so fascinated by cultural, spiritual and also strategic location that he named it as "Abode of God" i.e. "Alhabas", which later changed to Allahabad under Shah Jahan and now again as 'Prayagraj'. City lies close to "three-river confluence" i.e. Triveni Sangam, Originally known as "Prayag" i.e. place of sacrifice or offering. It plays a central role in Hindu Scriptures. The city was also called Kaushambi (now a separate district) by Kuru rulers of Hastinapur, who developed it as their capital. In 17th century under the reign of Jahangir, it was a Provincial capital. In 1580, Akbar created "Subah of Ilahabas" with Allahabad as its capital. In mid 1600, Salim had made an abortive attempt to seize Agra's treasury and came to Allahabad, seizing its treasury and setting himself up as a virtually independent Ruler. He however, reconciled with Akbar and returned to Allahabad where he stayed before returning to Royal Court in 1604. In 1833, it became the seat of ceded and conquered Provinces region before its capital was moved to Agra in 1835. Allahabad became the capital of North-Western Provinces in 1858 and was capital of India for a day. It was capital of United Provinces from 1902 to 1920. It had remained at the forefront of national importance during struggle for Indian independence and even thereafter till date. It has given three strong and most popular Prime Minister to the country namely Pt. Jawahar Lal Nehru, Smt. Indira Gandhi and Sri Vishwanath Pratap Singh.

2. Geographically, it lies at peninsula of Island having on three sides, two major rivers of India namely Ganga and Yamuna. During British period, they developed it as a strong military centre and what we called today "Civil Lines Area", was developed as Civil Station for civilians having huge land which was owned by Government in the form of Nazul. At that time, the then Government allotted land on long lease to its well wishers and others to oblige and otherwise pamper. The terms of lease though given enough control to Government towards its title but premium and rent was almost negligible. With the passage of time, population influx from nearby rural area increased number of local inhabitant multifold causing huge scarcity of land availability in the city.

3. Recently newly elected Central Government evolved a policy of developing various cities as 'Smart City' and for this purpose Allahabad, (now named as 'Prayagraj'), is also chosen to be developed as 'Smart City'. This has resulted in demand of huge land by various Government departments for own establishments necessary to develop the city as 'Smart City'. Since most of the State's land is in the hands of individuals, it has given rise to a virtual clash of interest and this High Court is witnessing a lot of litigations on this account.

4. The present writ petition is outcome of such dispute where State has sought to resume/re-enter its own land i.e. Nazul for public purpose and that is being opposed by petitioner. Land in dispute is sought to be resumed/re-entered by State, is required for developing as "Nurseries for Horticulture Department, Homeopathic/Ayurvedic/Unani Hospital, Office of Information Department and Office of Central Ground Water Board".

5. Indian Press Private Limited, sole petitioner has filed this writ petition under Article 226 of the Constitution of India with a prayer for issue of writ of certiorari to quash order dated 18.08.2018 passed by District Magistrate, Allahabad (respondent 2) (Annexure-1 to the writ petition) whereby petitioner has been informed that land in dispute has been approved by State Government for resumption/re-entry of property and, therefore, petitioner must vacate the same. Further a writ of mandamus has been prayed directing respondents to consider petitioner's application dated 31.08.2016 for renewal of lease in the light of this Court's judgment in Purushottam Dass Tandon and others vs. State of U.P., Lucknow and others AIR 1987 All 56, affirmed by Supreme Court, and also not to evict petitioner from disputed land.

6. Land in dispute in present writ petition is Nazul, area 3609 square yard (i.e. 3017.48 square meter) situate in Intra Municipal Land at Bhardwaj Fatehpur Bichuwa (Hospital and Garden) (hereinafter referred to as "Disputed Nazul Land").

7. Facts in brief as stated in the petition are that petitioner-Indian Press Private Limited was established in 1884 by Sri Chintamani Ghosh, resident of Bengal who made his own home at Allahabad and the premises is now occupied by Art faculty of Allahabad University. Petitioner-Press was transferred to 36 Panna Lal Road, Allahabad on 17.05.1922 since earlier premises was taken over by State to establish Allahabad University. Land on which Petitioner-Press was transferred to function on 17.05.1922 became insufficient for expanding its work of printing and publication of books and journals. There was an adjoining plot, area 3017.48 square meters, which was on north east side of Petitioner-Press. This land was ,Nazul,. Therefore, Secretary of State for India in Council executed a lease deed dated 20.09.1926 in favour of Manager, Indian Press Private Limited, leasing out disputed land for a period of 30 years commencing from 15.09.1926 for construction of building, garden and hospital. Lease was renewed by lease deed dated 06.03.1961 and 29.01.1996. Latest renewal of lease deed dated 29.01.1996 was given effect from 15.09.1986. Since Lease was going to expire on 14.09.2016, hence, petitioner applied for fresh lease on 31.08.2016. When the matter was in process, respondent 2 passed impugned order dated 18.08.2018 stating that State Government has exercised right of resumption under provisions of Government Grants Act, 1895 (hereinafter referred to as "GG Act, 1895").

8. This order has been challenged on the ground that GG Act, 1895 has been repealed by Repealing and Amending (Second) Act, 2017 (hereinafter referred to as "Repeal Act, 2017"), hence reference to GG Act, 1895, is illegal; it has been passed in violation of principles of natural justice; no opportunity was given to petitioner; Commissioner was only competent authority to consider question of renewal of lease and District Magistrate had no such power; the alleged public purpose is superficial and eye wash; petitioner's Homeopathic Hospital is running on land in dispute; petitioner has right to renewal in view of judgment in Purushottam Dass Tandon and others vs. State of U.P., Lucknow and others (supra); procedure prescribed in Uttar Pradesh Public Premises (Eviction of Unauthorised Occupants) Act, 1972 (hereinafter referred to as "U.P. Act, 1972") has not been followed; petitioner has been discriminated, inasmuch as, in other matters lease has been renewed.

9. In para 43 of petition it is however stated that certain area of the building in which earlier Allopathic dispensary was running upto the year 2000, was given to Mitra Prakashan, which is now under custody of Official Liquidator.

10. On behalf of respondents-2 and 3, a counter affidavit has been filed sworn by Sri Gore Lal Shukla, Additional District Magistrate (Nazul), Allahabad. It is said that Nazul Plot, Intra Municipal Land, at Bhardwaj Fatehpur Bichuwa, area 3609 square yard (i.e. 3017.48 square meter) was demised by an Indenture of lease dated 20.09.1926 executed by Collector, Allahabad on behalf of Secretary of State in favour of Management of Indian Press Private Limited. Lease was for a period of 30 years. It was granted for the purpose of Hospital and Garden and no other purpose. Lastly, lease was renewed in 1996 for a period of 30 years commencing from 15.09.1986 which ended on 14.09.2016. Renewal of lease was in same terms in which initial lease was granted. Lease was governed by GG Act, 1895 and there was specific condition in lease, permitting lessor i.e. State Government for re-entry on the land in dispute. Petitioner's application for renewal of lease has been rejected since land is required for public purpose by State namely for development of Nurseries for Horticulture Department, Homeopathic/Ayurvedic/Unani Hospital, Office of Information Department and Office of Central Ground Water Board. District Magistrate is competent to pass impugned order which simply communicates decision of Government for resumption and re-entry. Respondents have placed reliance on judgments in Hajee S. V. M. Mohd. Jamaludden Bros. And Co. vs. Government of T.N., 1997 (3) SCC 466, State of U. P. Vs. Zahoor Ahmad, (1973) 2 SCC 547, Chintamani Ghosh and another vs. State of U. P. and others, 2001 (2) UPLBEC 1003, State of Andhra Pradesh Vs. Kaithala Abhishekam, AIR 1964 AP 450, Union of India and others vs. Harish Chand Anand, AIR 1996 SC 203, Smt. 11. We have heard Sri Pramod Kumar Jain, Senior Advocate, assisted by Sri Komal Mehrotra, learned counsel for petitioner and Sri Ajeet Kumar Singh, Additional Advocate General, assisted by Sri Nimai Das and Sri Sudhanshu Srivastava, learned Additional Chief Standing Counsel for State of U.P. and its authorities.

12. The facts, as noticed above, show that this is an admitted position that land in dispute is 'Nazul'. Further terms and conditions of lease, as contained in initial lease deed, have continued broadly in all subsequent renewed lease deeds and two relevant terms contained in lease deeds are as under :

"PROVIDED ALWAYS and these presents are executed on this express condition that if and whenever the said rent or any part thereof shall be in arrear and unpaid for the space of one calendar month whether the same shall have been lawfully demanded or not or if there shall be a breach or non-observance of any of the covenants by the Lessees hereinbefore contained then and in any such case the Secretary of State notwithstanding the waiver of any cause or right of re-entry may re-enter upon the said premises and expel the lessee and all occupiers of the same therefrom and this demise shall absolutely determine and the lessees shall forfeit all rights to remove or recover any compensation for any buildings erected by him on the said premises AND the Secretary of State hereby covenants with the lessee that he will at the request and cost of the lessee at the end of the said term of years and so on fresh time to time hereafter at the end of each successive term of years that may be granted execute to the lesseee a new lease of the said premises by way of renewal for the term of thirty years PROVIDED ALWAYS that such renewed terms of years as may be granted shall not with the original term of years exceeding the aggregate the period of ninety years and that the Secretary of State shall not be bound to grant any renewal except at the rate of rent then being paid for the said premises or as he may elect at such enhanced rate not exceeding 50 per cent, of the rent payable during the period immediately granting the renewal as may be assessed by such Collector regard being had to the circumstances of the demised plot and to the market value of similar plots in the neighbourhood which assessment shall be final save that where the estimated value of the plot shall exceed Rs. 300 the lessee shall have a right of appeal to the Commissioner of the Allahabad division."

13. Initial lease deed was granted on 20.09.1926 commencing from 15.09.1926. It was twice renewable for 30 years each. 90 years period expired admittedly on 14.09.2016. Therefore, maximum period for which lease could have been granted and renewed has already expired. It is now in these circumstances, we have to examine claim of petitioner for renewal of lease or to retain possession of land in dispute, opposing resumption/re-entry of State, is how far legal, valid and justified. In this aspect, the first question, which we propose to consider is, "what is Nazul"? Every land owned by State Government is not termed as 'Nazul' and therefore it has become necessary to understand, what is 'Nazul'.

14. State Government may own land by having acquired and vested in various ways, which includes vesting of land in the capacity of a Sovereign body and having right of bona vacantia. Property may also be acquired and owned by State by way of acquisition under the Statute relating to acquisition of land or by purchase through negotiation or gift by an individual or in similar other manners. All such land, which is owned and vested in State Government results in making the State, owner of such land, but in legal parlance, the term "Nazul" is not applicable to all such land.

15. It is only such land which is owned and vested in the State on account of its capacity of sovereign, and application of right of bona vacantia, which is covered by the term 'Nazul', as the term is known for the last more than one and half century. In Legal Glossary 1992, fifth edition, published by Legal Department of Government of India, at page 589, meaning of the term 'Nazul' has been given as 'Rajbhoomi, i.e., Government land'.

16. Nazul is an Arabic word. It refers to a land annexed to Crown. During British Regime, immoveable property of individuals, Zamindars, Nawabs and Rajas when confiscated for one or the other reason, it was termed as 'Nazul property'. The reason being that neither it was acquired nor purchased after making payment. In old record, when such land was referred in Urdu, this kind of land was shown as 'Jaidad Munzabta'.

17. For dealing with such property, under the authority of Lt. Governor of North Western Provinces, two orders were issued in October, 1846 and October, 1848. Therein, after the words "Nazul property", its english meaning was given as 'Escheats to the Government'. Sadar Board of Revenue on May 20, 1845 issued a circular order in reference to "Nazul land" and in para 2 thereof it mentioned, "The Government is the proprietor of those land and no valid title to them can be derived but from the Government". Nazul land was also termed as "Confiscated Estate". Under Circular dated July 13, 1859, issued by Government of North Western Provinces, every Commissioner was obliged to keep a final confiscation statement of each District and lay it before Government for orders.

18. Right of King to take property by 'escheat' or as 'bona vacantia' was recognized by common law of England. Escheat of property was Lord's right of re-entry on real property held by a tenant, dying intestate, without lawful heirs. It was an incident of Feudal Tenure and based on the want of a tenant to perform Feudal services. On the tenant dying intestate without leaving any lawful heir, his estate came to an end and Lord, by his own right and not by way of succession or inheritance from the tenant, re-entered real property as Owner. In most of the cases, land escheated to Crown as the 'Lord Paramount', in view of gradual elimination of Intermediate or Mesne lords since 1290 AD. Crown takes as 'bona vacantia' goods in which no one else can claim property. In Dyke v. Walford 5 Moore PC 434= 496-13 ER 557 (580) it was said 'it is the right of the Crown to bona vacantia to property which has no other owner'. Right of the Crown to take as "bona vacantia" extends to personal property of every kind. The escheat of real property of an intestate dying without heirs was abolished in 1925 and Crown thereafter could not take such property as bona vacantia. The principle of acquisition of property by escheat, i.e., right of Government to take on property by 'escheat' or 'bona vacantia' for want of a rightful owner was enforced in Indian territory during the period of East India Company by virtue of Statute 16 and 17 Victoria, C. 95, section 27.

19. We may recollect, having gone through history, that prior to 1857, several Estates were taken over by British Company i.e. East India Company by way of annexation. Doctrine of lapse applied in Jhansi was another kind of above mentioned two principles.

20. The above provisions had continued by virtue of section 54 of Government of India Act, 1858, section 20(3)(iii) of Government of India Act, 1915 and section 174 of Government of India Act, 1935. After enactment of Constitution of independent India, Article 296 now continue above provision and say :

'Subject as hereinafter provided, any property in the territory of India which, if this Constitution had not come into operation, would have accrued to

His Majesty or, as the case may be, to the Ruler of an Indian State by escheat or lapse, or as bona vacantia for want of a rightful owner, shall if it is property situate in a State, vest in such State, and shall, in any other case, vest in the Union.' (Emphasis added)

21. Article 296, therefore, has retained power of State to get ownership of such land, in respect whereof principle of 'escheat', 'lapse' or 'bona vacantia' would have been applicable prior to enforcement of Constitution of India. The above power continued to apply after enactment of Constitution with the only modification that if such land is situate within the territory of State Government, it will vest in State and in other cases, it will vest in Union of India. Vesting of land and giving ownership to State Government or Union of India under Article 296 is clearly in respect of a land, which will come to it by way of 'escheat', 'lapse' or 'bona vacantia' and not by way of acquisition of land under some statute or purchase etc.

22. In Pierce Leslie and Co. Ltd. Vs. Miss Violet Ouchterlony Wapsnare, AIR 1969 SC 843 Court has considered the above principles in the context of 'Sovereign India' as stands under Constitution after independence, and, has observed :

"....in this country the Government takes by escheat immoveable as well as moveable property for want of an heir or successor. In this country escheat is not based on artificial rules of common law and is not an incident of feudal tenure. It is an incident of sovereignty and rests on the principle of ultimate ownership by the State of all property within its jurisdiction". (Emphasis added)

23. Court also placed reliance on Collector of Masulipatam v. C. Vencata Narainapah 8 MIA 500, 525; Ranee Sonet Kowar v. Mirza Himmut Bahadoor (2) LR 3 IA 92, 101, Bombay Dyeing and Manufacturing Co. Ltd. v. State of Bombay [1958] SCR 1122, 1146, Superintendent and, Legal Remembrancer v. Corporation of Calcutta (1967) 2 SCR 170.

24. Judicial Committee in Cook v. Sprigg (1899) AC 572 while discussing, 'what is an act of State', observed :

"The taking possession by Her Majesty, whether by cession or by any other means by which sovereignty can be acquired, was an act of State." (Emphasis added)

25. This decision has been followed in Raja Rajinder Chand v. Mst. Sukhi, AIR 1957 SC 286.

26. In Nayak Vajesingji Joravarsingji v. Secretary of State for India in Council AIR 1924 PC 216, Lord Dunedin said :

"When a territory is acquired by a sovereign State for the first time, that is an act of State. It matters not how the acquisition has been brought about. It may be by conquest, it may be by cession following a treaty, it may be by occupation of territory hitherto unoccupied by a recognised ruler. In all cases the result is the same. Any inhabitant of the territory can make good in the municipal courts established by the new sovereign only such rights as that sovereign has, through his officers, *recognised. Such rights as he had under the rule of predecessors avail him nothing."

27. In Dalmia Dadri Cement Co. Ltd. v. CIT [1958] 34 ITR 514 (SC) : AIR 1958 SC 816, Court said (page 523 of 34 ITR) :

*"The expression 'act of State' is, it is scarcely necessary to say, not limited to hostile action between rulers resulting in the occupation of territories. It includes all acquisitions of territory by a sovereign State for the first time, whether it be by conquest or cession."
(Emphasis added)

28. In Promod Chandra Deb v. State of Orissa AIR 1962 SC 1288, Court said, 'Act of State' is the taking over of sovereign powers by a State in respect of territory which was not till then a part of its territory, either by conquest, treaty or cession, or otherwise.

29. To the same effect was the view taken by a Constitution Bench in Amarsarjit Singh v. State of Punjab AIR 1962 SC 1305, where in para 12, Court said :

"It is settled law that conquest is not the only mode by which one State can acquire sovereignty over the territories belonging to another State, and that the same result can be achieved in any other mode which has the effect of establishing its sovereignty."

30. In Thakur Amar Singhji v. State of Rajasthan AIR 1955 SC 504, in para 40, Court said :

*"The status of a person must be either that of a sovereign or a subject. There is no tedium quid. The law does not recognise an intermediate status of a person being partly a sovereign and partly a subject and when once it is admitted that the Bhomicharas had acknowledged the sovereignty of Jodhpur their status can only be that of a subject. A subject might occupy an exalted position and enjoy special privileges, but he is none the less a subject…"
(Emphasis added)

31. In State of Rajasthan vs. Sajjanlal Panjawat AIR 1975 SC 706 it was held that Rulers of the erstwhile Indian States exercised sovereign powers, legislative, executive and judicial. Their firmans were laws which could not have been challenged prior to the Constitution. Court relied on earlier decisions in Director of Endowments, Govt. of Hyderabad vs. Akram Ali, AIR 1956 SC 60, and Sarwarlal vs. State of Hyderabad, AIR 1960 SC 862.

32. In Promod Chandra Deb vs. State of Orissa AIR 1962 SC 1288 "act of the State" was explained in the following words :

'an "act of State" may be the taking over of sovereign powers either by conquest or by treaty or by cession or otherwise. It may have happened on a particular date by a public declaration or proclamation, or it may have been the result of a historical process spread over many years, and sovereign powers including the right to legislate in that territory and to administer it may be acquired without the territory itself merging in the new State.'

33. This decision has been followed later in Biswambhar Singh vs. State of

Orissa 1964 (1) SCJ 364, wherein Court said :

16. Thus, a territory acquired by a sovereign State is an Act of State but the land comprising territory does not become the land owned by State. The land owned by State may come to it in various ways, like confiscation, purchase, escheat or bona vacantia, gift, etc. In such a case the ownership vests in State, like any other individual and State is free to deal with the same in a manner like any other owner may do so.

*17. Thus '*Nazul' is a land vested in State for any reason whatsoever that is cession or escheat or bona vacantia, for want of rightful owner or for any other reasons and once land belong to State, it will be difficult to assume that State would acquire its own land. It is per se impermissible to acquire such land by forcible acquisition under Act, 1894, since there is no question of any transfer of ownership from one person to another but here State already own it, hence there is no question of any acquisition.

(Emphasis added)

34. Thus the land in question which is admittedly 'Nazul', belonged to the category as discussed above i.e. it came to be vested and owned by State in its capacity of Sovereign and right of bona vacantia. When acquisition is made under the provisions of a Statute, purpose of acquisition is already known and State pay its price but when land is owned by State, which is Nazul, objective of use of such land is not predetermined but it can be utilized by State for larger public welfare and its benefit, as necessitated from time to time. In other words 'Nazul' land form assets owned by State in trust for the people in general who are entitled for its user in the most fair and beneficial manner for their benefit. State cannot be allowed to distribute such largesse by pick and choose or to some selected groups etc.

35. First question, therefore, is answered accordingly.

36. The second question up for consideration is "lease in question whether governed by provision of Transfer of Property Act, 1882 (hereinafter referred to as "TP Act, 1882") or GG Act, 1895 and what is inter-relationship of the two?"

37. Historical documents, record as also authorities discussed above show that earlier Government i.e. East India Company upto 1858 and thereafter British Government used to allot "Nazul land" to various persons, who had shown their alliance to such Government in various ways, sometimes by deceiving their Indian counter parts who had raised voice against British Rule, or otherwise remained faithful to British regime and helped them for their continuation in ruling this country. Sometimes land was given on lease without any condition and sometimes restricted for certain period etc., but in every cases, lease was given to those persons who were faithful and had shown complete alliance to British Rule. The reason was that in respect of Nazul, no predetermined objective was available as was the case in respect of land acquired by State by way of acquisition under Statute of Acquisition, after paying compensation or purchase. Such allocation of land by British Government used to be called "Grant".

38. In other words, we can say that initially land owned by State used to be allotted in the form of 'Grant' by the then British Government. No specific statutory provisions were available to govern it. TP Act, 1882 was enacted to govern transfer of immovable property. Sections 10 - 12 of TP Act, 1882 made provisions invalidating, with certain exceptions, all conditions for forfeiture of transferred property on alienation by transferee and all limitations over consequent upon any such alienation or any insolvency of or attempted alienation by him.

39. Apprehending that above provisions of TP Act, 1882, may be construed as a fetter upon discretion of Crown in creation of inalienable Jagirs in 'Grants', acting upon advice that it would not be competent for Crown to create an inalienable and impartible estate in the land comprised in the Crown Grant, unless such land has heretofore descended by custom as an impartible Raj, it was sought to make a separate statute to give supremacy to the provisions contained in Crown's Grant, notwithstanding any other law including TP Act, 1882. With this objective, 'GG Act 1895' was enacted.

40. Preamble of GG Act, 1895 gives purpose of its enactment stating that doubts have arisen to the extent and operation of TP Act, 1882 and to the power of Crown (later substituted by word "Government") to impose limitations and restrictions upon grants and other transfers of land made by it or under its authority, hence to remove such doubts, GG Act, 1895 was enacted.

41. Section 2 of GG Act, 1895, as it was initially enacted, read as under :

"2. Transfer of Property Act, 1882, not to apply to Government grants.- Nothing in the Transfer of Property Act, 1882, contained shall apply or be deemed ever to have applied to any grant or other transfer of land or of any interest therein heretoforce made or hereafter to be made by or on behalf of Her Majesty the Queen Empress, Her heirs or successors, or by or on behalf of the Secretary of State for India in Council to, or in favour of, any person whomsoever; but every such grant and transfer shall be construed and take effect as if the said Act had not been passed." (Emphasis added)

42. The above provision was amended in 1937 and 1950 and the amended provision read as under :

"2. Transfer of Property Act, 1882, not to apply to Government grants.- Nothing in the Transfer of Property Act, 1882, contained shall apply or be deemed ever to have applied to any grant or other transfer of land or of any interest therein heretoforce made or hereafter to be made by or on behalf of the Government to, or in favour of, any person whomsoever; but every such grant and transfer shall be construed and take effect as if the said Act had not been passed." (Emphasis added)

43. Section 3 of GG Act, 1895 read as under :

"Government grants to take effect according to their tenor.- All provisions, restrictions, conditions and limitations over contained in any such grant or transfer as aforesaid shall be valid and the effect according to their tenor, any rule of law, statute or enactment of the Legislature to the contrary notwithstanding."

44. In the State of Uttar Pradesh, vide Government Grants (U.P. Amendment) Act, 1960 (U.P. Act No.XIII of 1960), Sections 2 and 3 of GG Act, 1895, were substituted by Section 2, as under :

"2. (1) Transfer of Property Act, 1882, not to apply to Government Grants.- Nothing contained in the Transfer of Property Act, 1882, shall apply or be deemed ever to have applied to any grant or other transfer of land or of any interest therein, heretoforce made or hereafter to be made, by or on behalf of the Government to or in favour of any person whomsoever; and every such grant and transfer shall be construed and take effect as if the said Act had not been passed."

(2) U.P. Tenancy Act, 1939 and Agra Tenancy Act, 1926 not to affect certain leases made by or on behalf of the Government.- Nothing contained in the U.P. Tenancy Act, 1938, or the Agra Tenancy Act, 1926, shall affect, or be deemed to have ever affected any rights, created, conferred or granted, whether before or after the date of the passing of the Government Grants (U.P. Amendment) Act, 1960, by leases of land by, or on behalf of, the Government in favour of any person; and every such creation, conferment or grant shall be construed and take effect, notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained in the U.P. Tenancy Act, 1939, or the Agra Tenancy Act, 1926.

(3) Certain leases made by or on behalf of the Government to take effect according to their tenor.- All provisions, restrictions, conditions and limitations contained in any such creation, conferment or grant referred to in Section 2, shall be valid and take effect according to their tenor, any decree or direction of a court of law or any rule of law, statute or enactment of the Legislature, to the contrary notwithstanding :

Provided that nothing in this section shall prevent, or be deemed ever to have prevented, the effect of any enactment relating to the acquisition of property, land reforms or the imposition of ceiling on agricultural land." (Emphasis added)

45. A perusal of Section 2 of GG Act, 1895 shows two things :

i. A declaration is made that any grant or other transfer of land or of any interest therein, made by or on behalf of Government, in favour of any person, on and after enactment of GG Act, 1895, would not be governed by provisions of TP Act, 1882 i.e. nothing contained in TP Act, 1882 shall apply to such Grant, transfer or interest.

ii. A clarification that a Grant or Transfer, referred to in Section 2, when is to be construed and given effect, it shall be done in such manner and by treating as if TP Act, 1882 has not been passed.

46. Thus, GG Act, 1895 basically was a declaratory statute. First declaration is in respect of Grant or transfer of land or creation of any interest, as the case may be, to exclude TP Act, 1882 for all purposes. Second part of Section 2 clarified that while construing and giving effect to a Grant or Transfer, referred to in Section 2, it will be presumed that TP Act, 1882 has not been passed at all.

47. In Section 2(1) of GG Act, 1895, as amended in Uttar Pradesh, we do not find any distinction vis a vis what has been said in Section 2 of GG Act, 1895. There is an addition in GG Act, 1895 in its application to Uttar Pradesh, inasmuch as, by inserting sub-section (2), a provision, as made in sub-section (1) of Section 2 with regard to TP Act, 1885, was also made in respect of U.P. Tenancy Act, 1939 and Agra Tenancy Act, 1926. A similar declaration has been made in respect of TP Act, 1882.

48. Sub-section (3) of Section 2 of GG Act, 1895 protects certain leases, already made, declaring the same to be valid in the light of insertion of sub-section(1) of Section 2 in the State of Uttar Pradesh and that is why, notwithstanding any decree or direction of Court of law, leases already made, were validated, which otherwise might have been affected by U.P. Tenancy Act, 1938 or Agra Tenancy Act, 1926.

49. Proviso to sub-section (3) of Section 2 of GG Act, 1895 further declare that all provisions of Section 2 of GG Act, 1895 will have no effect when land is sought to be acquired under the provisions of Statute relating to acquisition or for giving effect to a Statute relating to land reforms or imposition of ceiling on agricultural land.

50. Section 3 of GG Act, 1895 is not available in State of U.P. after U.P. Amendment Act, 1960 since Sections 2 and 3 of Principal Act virtually got amalgamated in the form of Section 2, by Government Grants (U.P. Amendment) Act, 1960. However, intent, effect and declaration by legislature is almost pari materia with the only addition that in State of U.P., U.P. Tenancy Act, 1939 and Agra Tenancy Act, 1926 are also excluded in the same manner as done in respect of TP Act, 1882.

51. Sections 2 and 3 of GG Act, 1895 were considered in State of U.P. vs. Zahoor Ahmad, 1973(2) SCC 547 and in para 16, Court said :

*"Section 3 of the Government Grants Act declares the unfettered discretion of the Government to impose such conditions and limitations as it thinks fit, no matter what the general law of the land be. The meaning of Sections 2 and 3 of the Government Grants is that the scope of that Act is not limited to affecting the provisions of the Transfer of Property Act only. The Government has unfettered discretion to impose any conditions, limitations, or restrictions in its grants, and the right, privileges and obligations of the grantee would be regulated according to the terms of the grant, notwithstanding any provisions of any statutory or common law." (Emphasis added)

52. Again in Hajee S.V.M. Mohamed Jamaludeen Bros. & Co. vs. Government of Tamil Nadu (1997) 3 SCC 466, Court said that combined effect of two sections of GG Act, 1895 is that terms of any Grant or terms of any transfer of land made by a Government would stand insulated from tentacles of any statutory law. Section 3 places terms of such Grant beyond reach of any restrictive provision contained in any enacted law or even equitable principles of justice, equity and good conscience adumbrated by common law, if such principles are inconsistent with such terms. Court said :

*"The two provisions are so framed as to confer unfettered discretion on the government to enforce any condition or limitation or restriction in all types of grants made by the government to any person. In other words, the rights, privileges and obligations of any grantee of the government would be completely regulated by the terms of the grant, even if such terms are inconsistent with the provisions of any other law."

(Emphasis added)

53. In Azim Ahmad Kazmi and others vs. State of U.P. and Another (supra) observations made in para 16 in State of U.P. vs. Zahoor Ahmad (supra) have been reproduced and followed.

54. In State of U.P. and others vs. United Bank of India and others (2016) 2 SCC 757, in para 30 of the judgment, Court said :

"Indisputably, the lease of nazul land is governed by the Government Grants Act, 1895. Sections 2 and 3 of the Government Grants Act, 1895 very specifically provide that the provisions of the Transfer of Property Act do not apply to government lands ....."

(Emphasis added)

55. Thus, a 'Grant' of Nazul will be governed by terms and conditions contained in the instrument/deed of Grant, wholly unaffected by any Statute providing otherwise. It cannot be doubted that the lease granted in the case in hand is/was a 'Grant' governed by GG Act, 1895. Broadly, 'Grant' includes lease.

56. In other words, where 'Nazul' is let out to a person by Government under agreement of lease i.e. Grant, it is governed by GG Act, 1895 and rights of parties therefore have to be seen in the light of stipulations contained in the document of 'Grant'. 'Grant' includes a property transferred on lease though in some cases, 'Grant' may result in wider interest i.e. transfer of title etc. Whatever may be nature of document of transfer i.e. instrument of 'Grant', the fact remains that terms and conditions of 'Grant' shall be governed by such document and it shall prevail over any other law including TP Act 1882. One cannot take resort to TP Act, 1882 to wriggle out of any condition or limitation etc. imposed by terms and conditions set out in the document of 'Grant'.

57. In State of Uttar Pradesh, management of 'Nazul', in absence of statutory provisions, is governed by various administrative orders compiled in a Manual called "Nazul Manual". Here Government has made provisions of management of 'Nazul' through its own authorities namely District Magistrate or Commissioner, and, in some cases, through local bodies.

58. Nature of orders compiled in "Nazul Manual" in the context of 'Nazul' have been considered in State of U.P. vs. United Bank of India (supra) where Court has said that land and building in question is "Nazul" being property of Government, maintained by State authorities in accordance with 'Nazul Rules' but not administered as a 'State property'. Court has also observed that lease of "Nazul" land is governed in accordance with GG Act, 1895. Sections 2 and 3 thereto, very specifically provide that provisions of TP Act, 1882 do not apply to Government land. Section 3 says that all provisions, restrictions, conditions and limitations contained in any such 'Grant' or 'Transfer', as aforesaid, shall be valid and take effect according to their tenor, any rule of law statute or enactment of the Legislature to the contrary, notwithstanding. Thus the stipulations in "lease deed" shall prevail and govern the entire relations of State Government and lessee.

59. In Pradeep Oil Corporation vs. Municipal Corporation of Delhi and others (2011) 5 SCC 270, Court said that GG Act, 1895 is a special Statute and will prevail over general Statute i.e. TP Act, 1882. It says:

"In the present case grant has been made by the President of India in terms of Section 2 of the Government Grants Act, 1895 and the Transfer of Property Act, 1882 may have little bearing in the instant case. The former, i.e. the Government Grants Act, 1895 being a special statute would prevail over the general statute, i.e. the Transfer of Property Act, 1882. Accordingly, the rights and obligations of the parties would be governed by the terms of the provisions of Government Grants Act, 1895 whereunder the Government is entitled to impose limitations and restrictions upon the grants and other transfer made by it or under its authority." (Emphasis added)

60. Superiority of the stipulations of Grant to deal with relations between Grantor and Grantee has been reinforced in Azim Ahmad Kazmi and others (Supra). Therein dispute related to Plot No. 59, Civil Station, Allahabad, area 1 acre and 4272 sq. yard, i.e., 9112 sq. yard or 7618 sq. meter. Initially a lease deed was executed on 11.01.1868 by Secretary of State for India in Council in favour of one, Thomas Crowby, for a period of 50 years and it was signed by Commissioner, Allahabad Division on behalf of Secretary of State for India in Council. After expiry of lease, a fresh lease was executed for another period of 50 years on 12.04.1923 w.e.f. 01.01.1918. Lease holder with permission of Collector, Allahabad transferred lease rights to Purshottam Das in 1945. The legal heirs of Sri Purshottam Das, on 31.10.1958, transferred leasehold rights in favour of Smt. Shakira Khatoon Kazmi, Smt. Sabira Khatoon Kazmi and Smt. Maimoona Khatoon Kazmi. After the death of Smt. Maimoona Khatoon Kazmi, her legal heirs, namely, Azim Ahmad Kazmi, Omar Ahmad Kazmi, Shamim Ahmad Kazmi, Alim Ahmad Kazmi and Maaz Ahmad Kazmi also claimed lease rights by succession. Lease granted on 12.04.1923 w.e.f. 01.01.1918 expired on 31.12.1967. It was renewed on 19.03.1996 for a period of 30 years w.e.f. 01.01.1968 which period expired on 31.12.1997. Again on 17.07.1998 it was renewed for a further period of 30 years w.e.f. 01.01.1998. While lease was continuing, vide Government Order (hereinafter referred to as "G.O.") dated 15.12.2000, right of resumption was exercised by State Government. It directed resumption of possession of plot in question and lease deed was cancelled. District Magistrate, Allahabad served a notice dated 11.01.2001 to lease holders intimating them that State Government's order dated 15.12.2000 has cancelled lease and resumed possession of land in question, as the same was required for public purpose. Notice also directed lease holders to remove structures standing on plot, failing which possession would be taken in accordance with Clause 3(c) of lease deed. Lease holders filed objections against notice to District Magistrate and also stated that they have sent representation/ objection to Chief Minister praying for revocation of G.O. dated 15.12.2000. District Magistrate passed order on 24.08.2001 rejecting objection of lease holders and sent a cheque of Rs. 10 lacs representing compensation for the building standing over plot. State authorities claimed that they took possession of open land on 01.09.2001. Lease holders filed writ petition which was dismissed vide judgment dated 07.12.2001, Shakira Khatoon Kazmi vs. State of U.P., AIR 2002 All 101. Lease holders challenged judgment dated 07.12.2001 in Supreme Court to the extent they failed. State Government also filed appeal against part of order of this Court wherein an observation was made that State Government is not entitled to take forcible possession though it may take possession of demised premises in accordance with procedure established by law. After considering Clause 3(c) of lease deed which provides for resumption of land for public purpose after giving a month's clear notice to lessee to remove any building standing at that time on demised premises and within two months of receipt of notice to take possession thereof, on expiry of that period, and Sections 2 and 3 of GG Act, 1895, Court said that Clause 3(c) of lease deed confers power upon State Government that plot in question, if required by State Government for its own purpose or for any public purpose, it shall have right to give one month's notice in writing to lessees to remove any building standing on the plot and to take possession thereof on expiry of two months from the date of service of notice. Court said that land, if required for any public purpose, State Government has absolute power to resume leased property and under the terms of Grant it is absolute, therefore, order of resumption is perfectly valid and cannot be said to be illegal. It also refers to an earlier instance where Nazul Plot No. 13, Civil Station, Allahabad, situate in Civil Lines area was resumed by State Government for the purpose of construction of a 'Bus Stand' by exercising similar power, without initiating any proceeding under Land Acquisition Act, 1894 (hereinafter referred to as "LA Act, 1894"). Resumption in that case was also challenged in Writ Petition No. 44517 of 1998, Sayed Shah Khursheed Ahmad Kashmi vs. State of U.P. and said writ petition was dismissed on 16.12.1999 by a Division Bench of this Court, whereagainst Special Leave Petition No. 4329 of 2000 was dismissed by Supreme Court on 07.09.2001. First question, therefore, was answered in negative and in favour of Government.

61. With respect to procedure for taking possession, Supreme Court, while considering Question-2, said that in absence of any specific law, State Government may take possession by filing a suit. When a land is acquired under LA Act, 1894, Government can take possession in accordance with provisions of said Act and in case of urgency, Collector can take possession after publication of notice under Section 9 and no separate procedure is required to be followed. Court said that similarly where a lease has been granted under the terms of GG Act, 1895, then what procedure has to be followed is provided by Section 3 of GG Act, 1895 which says that all provisions, restrictions, conditions and limitations contained in any such creation, conferment or Grant referred to in Section 2, shall be valid and take effect according to their tenor; any decree or direction of a Court of Law or any rule of law, statute or enactments of the Legislature, to the contrary notwithstanding. Court relied on earlier judgment in State of U.P. vs. Zahoor Ahmad, 1973(2) SCC 547 holding that Section 3 of GG Act, 1895 declares unfettered discretion of Government to impose such conditions and limitation as it thinks fit, no matter what the general law of land be. Then Court construing Clause 3(C) of lease deed said that it provides procedure for taking possession of demised premises when State Government re-enter or resume possession of demised land. Court in para 30 and 32 of judgment said:

"30. In the case of The State of U.P. vs. Zahoor Ahmad and Another, 1973(2) SCC 547, this Court held that the Section 3 of the Act declares the unfettered discretion of the Government to impose such conditions and limitation as it thinks fit, no matter what the general law of land be. From Clause 3(C) of the deed, it is clear that the State of U.P. while granting lease made it clear that if the demised premises are at any time required by the lessor for his or for any public purpose, he shall have the right to give one month's clear notice to the lessee to remove any building standing at the time of the demised property and within two months' of the receipt of the notice to take possession thereof on the expiry of that period subject to the condition that the lessor is willing to purchase the property on the demised premises, the lessee shall be paid for such amount as may be determined by the Secretary to the Government of U.P. in the Nagar Awas Department."

"32. Under Clause 3(C) of the lease deed, the respondent-State was permitted resumption of the land which required for its own use or for public purpose and after giving one month's clear notice in writing is entitled to remove any building standing at the time on the demised premises and within two months of the receipt of the notice to take possession thereof subject to the condition that if the lessor is willing to purchase the building of the demised premises required to pay the lessee the amount for such building as may be determined by the Secretary to Government of U.P. in the Nagar Awas Department...." (Emphasis added)

62. Having said so, Court said :

*"we are of the view that there is no other procedure or law required to be followed, as a special procedure for resumption of land has been laid down under the lease deed".

63. Supreme Court then set aside direction of this Court that State will not take possession forcibly except in accordance with procedure established by any other law, by holding, that since special procedure for resumption is prescribed under lease deed, no direction otherwise could have been issued to State Government.

64. The above discussion makes it clear that 'Nazul' is a land owned and vested in State. It is such land which has vested in State by virtue of its 'Sovereignty' and incidence of 'Sovereignty' i.e. annexation, lapse and bona vacantia. Further, 'Grant' means transfer of property by a deed in writing and includes within its ambit, an instrument of lease/lease deed. Such 'Grant' is governed by provision of GG Act, 1895, which were applicable to 'Grants' executed on and after enforcement of GG Act, 1895 and rights and entitlement of private parties in respect of land, which was transferred to such person under such 'Grant' would be governed by terms and conditions contained in such 'Grant' and not by provisions of TP Act, 1882 or any other Statute. Moreover, in State of U.P., wherever applicable, U.P. Tenancy Act, 1939 and Agra Tenancy Act, 1926 will also be inapplicable to such 'Grant'.

65. Above discussion, therefore, leaves no manner of doubt that Grant/Lease of Nazul land shall be exclusively governed by stipulations/conditions/terms contained in Grant/Indenture of Lease and no Statute will be resorted to govern rights of parties over Nazul land, which will be governed by aforesaid Grant/Indenture of Lease.

66. We accordingly answer second question holding that Grant of Nazul Land would be governed by terms and conditions therein, which shall prevail over any otherwise law including TP Act, 1882 and as provided by GG Act, 1894, it will be treated as TP Act, 1882 has not been enacted for construing and giving effect to terms and conditions contained in the Grant.

67. The third question is, "whether petitioner was entitled to renewal of lease in view of judgment in Purshottam Dass Tandon and others vs, State of U.P. And others, AIR 1987 All 56, whereupon heavy reliance has been placed".

68. Submission is that possession has continued with petitioner and petitioner itself applied for renewal of lease on 31.08.2016, therefore, it was entitled for renewal in view of judgment rendered in Purshottam Dass Tandon and others vs, State of U.P. And others (supra). This requires us to examine aforesaid judgment in detail.

69. In Purshottam Dass Tandon and others vs, State of U.P. And others, (supra) question of renewal of lease came up for consideration in the light of Government Orders dated 23.4.1959, 07.07.1960 and 03.12.1965. Therein historical backdrop of various Government Orders dealing with policy of renewal of lease has been given in detail. The first G.O. was issued in March, 1958 whereby Chief Minister directed that case for renewal of leases may be taken individually and possession may be taken only if lessee surrender or lease stood terminated in absence of any request from lessee for grant of fresh lease. Thereafter, on 23.04.1959, a G.O. was issued to grant fresh lease in cases where lease has already expired but has not been renewed so far, or which is likely to expire within the next 5 or 6 years, on the terms and conditions given in the said G.O. The proposed premium in the said G.O. was objected by Lease Holders, whose leases were already expired or likely to expire. Several representations were sent to Government. Some house-owners met the then Prime Minister Late Pt. Jawahar Lal Nehru, who had visited Allahabad in November or December, 1959. It resulted in issue of G.O. dated 07.07.1960 whereby rate of premium on first three acres was reduced to Rs.2,000/- in each slab. It also permitted payment of premium in five instalments and reduced ground rent to Rs.100/- per acre. In the earlier G.O., there was an insistence on construction of Community latrines till sewer lines were laid but this insistence was given up in G.O. dated 07.07.1960. Lessees were granted further three months' time to get leases renewed. Still Lease-Holders did not comply and made representations to Government. On 21.03.1963, again a G.O. was issued declaring rates of premium for commercial sites. On 3.12.1965 a G.O. was issued indicating terms and conditions for renewal of leases for commercial and residential purposes and it was said that rates of premium and annual rent shall be as fixed by G.O. dated 07.07.1960. Payment in five equal yearly instalments was continued but in special cases, Commissioner, Allahabad Division, Allahabad, was authorized to make recommendations to Government for enhancing number of instalments. This G.O. further insisted for renewal of existing leases on payment of at least one instalment, within one month of receipt of intimation by Lessee from Collector, or within three months of the date of expiry of lease, whichever is earlier. Deposit was to be deemed as proper step on the part of Lessee to get a fresh lease executed by Lessor. The G.O. of 1965 itself made a distinction between those whose leases had expired and others by describing them as sitting and existing lessees.

70. There was a second phase which covered period from 1966 to 1981. On 16.02.1966, U.P. Awas Vikas Parishad Adhiniyam, 1965 (hereinafter referred to as "U.P.Act, 1965") was enacted for providing housing sites and construction of building. G.O. dated 03.12.1965, thus was modified by G.O. dated 04.11.1968, and it was directed that leases of joint lessees should be renewed as far as possible for one acre only. Sub-division was permitted only where sub-divided plot was not less than 800 sq. yards. Concession in payment of lease money and ground rent was allowed on same terms and conditions as it was in G.O. dated 03.12.1965 but time was extended for payment of first instalment for those who had not received any intimation from Collector by a further period of one month from the date of intimation by Collector. Clause (c) of G.O. dated 04.11.1968 categorically said that where steps have been taken for renewal of leases, as stated in earlier G.Os., fresh leases shall be sanctioned according to terms offered by Competent Authority.

71. In March, 1970, a G.O. was issued banning grant of renewal of leases all over the State, since Government was contemplating to bring out legislation on Urban Ceiling. This ban was lifted on 12.01.1972 but leases henceforth were to be sanctioned by State Government only. Commissioner and Collector could make recommendations only. Aforesaid G.O., however, provided that in all those cases where Government had sanctioned grant of leases but it could not be executed or registered because of ban imposed in 1970, steps may be taken immediately for execution. Clause (ii) of G.O. provided that all those cases in which Collector or Commissioner had approved renewal but could not be executed because of 1970 order, should be sent to Government immediately for acceptance. On 09.05.1972 Urban Building Ceiling Bill was introduced and on 11.07.1972 Uttar Pradesh Ceiling of Property (Temporary Restriction on Transfer), Ordinance, 1972 was promulgated in pursuance of Article 398 of Constitution of India. The Ordinance continued till it was replaced by Urban Land (Ceiling and Regulation) Act, 1976 (hereinafter referred to as "U.P. Act, 1976"). The said Act was enacted to prevent concentration of Urban Property and discourage construction of luxurious houses. On 19.12.1972, provisions pertaining to Nazul were amended providing for maximum area permissible for renewal of leases of 2000 sq. yards plus land on which building was constructed. Remaining area was to be surrendered to Housing Board and Lessees were prohibited from sub-dividing or transferring any land. On 10.12.1976, Government issued an order superseding all previous orders in respect of renewal of leases of Civil Lines, Allahabad in view of Act, 1976 and laid down fresh terms and conditions for renewal of such leases.

72. Here leases were to be renewed in the light of Sections 2 and 4 of U.P. Act, 1976 and while doing so, all residents in one house were to be treated as one unit. This again resulted in representations of Lease-Holders to Government requesting for reduction in rate of premium and ground rent. A G.O. was issued on 17.09.1979 superseding all previous orders and it provided for submission of details about extent and type of construction, utilisation of vacant land etc. Again representations, which culminated in G.O. dated 19.04.1981, superseded all previous Orders, provided for renewal of leases on fresh and new terms. It said that Leaseholders and their heirs shall be treated as one Unit. They were supposed to file details about land, constructed area, its user, time when it was taken on lease etc. before 30.06.1981. List of residents including out-houses dwellers was to be prepared by District Magistrate. Heirs of deceased lease-holders were to be treated as one unit. Area for which renewal could be made was reduced to building with 500 sq. metre of land appurtenant and 500 sq. metre open land or 1500 sq. metre whichever was more. Area of building for commercial purpose was fixed at 2000 sq. metres. Premium was fixed at 50 paisa per sq. metre. Thus, from 1976 onwards, for the purpose of renewal, area was reduced from acre to square metre and unit for premium and ground rent became square feet instead of acre. All heirs of Lessees became one unit for renewal. Land covered by outhouses were to be excluded. Lessees could not even opt for it.

73. Lease Holders, whose lease had already expired or those who were sitting Lease Holders and leases were going to expire in a short period, came to this Court in various writ petitions. This entire bunch was decided in Purushottam Dass Tandon and others vs. State of U.P., Lucknow and others (supra). There were two categories of writ petitioners, before this Court, in Purushottam Dass Tandon and others (supra), as under :

(i) Those, to whom notices were given by Collector and who had complied with terms and conditions as laid down in various orders issued from time to time prior to 1965; and

(ii) Those, to whom no notice was sent and till matter filed before the Court, no steps were taken and no order was passed in their favour.

74. Court held :

(I) A Lessor may, after expiry of period for which lease is granted, renew the same or resume i.e. re-enter. But if out of the two i.e. re-entry or resumption, the two divergent courses, he chooses to grant fresh lease or at least creates that impression by his conduct spread over long time, it results in abandonment.

(II) If the land is needed or building has to be demolished in public interest for general welfare, probably no exception can be taken as the interest of individual has to be sacrificed for the society. But asking Lessee to vacate land or remove Malba for no rhyme or reason but because State is the owner, cannot be accepted to be in consonance with present day philosophy and thinking about role of State.

(III) After Act, 1976, no person can successfully or validly claim to hold land, more than the Ceiling limit.

(IV) Some part of G.O. of 1981 was not consistent with Act, 1976. The rules contained in Nazul Manual are set of Administrative Orders or collections of guidelines issued by Government for the authorities to deal with Government property.

(V) When a G.O. was issued and its conditions are complied with, mere for bureaucratic delay, performance under the said G.O. cannot be denied. Therefore, Lessee, who had deposited first instalment, as directed in G.O. of 1965, were entitled for renewal of their lease.

(VI) After enactment of ceiling law, a Lessee cannot hold land more than the provided limit.

(VII) If leases were renewed in respect of those, who had acquired social or political status, whose names are given in para 15 of judgment, which includes, Dr. K. N. Katju, ex-Central Law Minister, Chief Minister and Governor, Dr. S. K. Verma, ex-Chief Justice and Governor, Sri B.L. Gupta, ex-Judge High Court, J. D. Shukla, I.C.S., O. N. Misra, I.A.S., when there was no justification not to give same benefit to others. Similar benefit must be given since most of them were also distinguished persons namely S.N. Kacker, ex-Central Law Minister, Solicitor General of India and Advocate General of the State, Sri S. S. Dhavan, ex-Judge, High Court and Governor and High Commissioner, Sri Lal Ratnakar Singh I.A.S. Ex-Member of Board of Revenue, M.L.Chaturvedi, ex-Judge, High Court and member of Union Public Service Commission, W. Broome, I.C.S. etc.

75. Aforesaid judgment was confirmed by Supreme Court by dismissing appeals preferred by State of U.P. and others i.e. State of U.P. and others vs. Purshottam Das Tandon and others 1989 Supp.(2) SCC 412. Court clarified that renewal of leases shall be subject to the provisions of U.P.Act, 1976 and High Court judgment shall apply to all the leases to whom G.O. dated 23.04.1959, 02.07.1960 and 03.12.1965 were applicable and all those claiming under them. The order of Supreme Court reads as under :

"We have heard the learned counsel for both the parties at length. We do not find any infirmity in the judgment and order passed by the High Court against which these special leave petitions are preferred. We, however, make it clear that the leases that are going to be granted pursuant to the writ issued by the High Court will be subject to the provisions of the Urban Land (Ceiling and Regulation) Act, 1976. On the leases being granted, the Competent Authority under the Act shall be at liberty to apply the provisions of the Act and in particular section 15 thereof to all the leases and take away all the surplus lands in their hands after determining the surplus lands in accordance with law. The directions issued by the High Court can be availed of by all the lessees to whom the G.O. dated 23rd April, 1959, 2nd July, 1960 and 3rd December, 1965 were applicable and all those claiming under them.

All the Special Leave Petitions are dismissed accordingly with these observations. If any further directions are needed, the persons interested may approach the High Court."

(Emphasis added)

76. Aforesaid judgment has no application to the case of petitioner at all since neither petitioner come within the category of eligible person to apply renewal of lease under Government Orders which were considered in Purushottam Dass Tandon and others vs. State of U.P., Lucknow and others (supra) nor even otherwise petitioner has shown any provision, whether statutory or executive, including G.O., which may confer entitlement of petitioner to seek renewal of lease at all, once the maximum period of lease i.e. 90 years has lapsed.

77. Third question, therefore, is answered against petitioner.

78. Once it is clear that right and obligation etc. are to be governed by terms and conditions of lease, the fourth question is "whether petitioner can claim renewal of lease after expiry of maximum period of lease of 90 years, for which lease or renewal can be granted in its entirety, as provided in initial lease-deed?"

79. In our view, this question is squarely covered and answered by Supreme Court in Azim Ahmad Kazmi and others vs. State of U. P. and others (supra) wherein Court has categorically held that in terms of provisions of GG Act, 1895 read with conditions of lease-deed, parties are bound by terms of lease and rights of respective parties are governed by terms and conditions of lease-deed. Therefore, once maximum period, for which lease and its renewal could have been granted, has expired, petitioner is not entitled to claim renewal of lease. Thus, merely for the reason that petitioner's application for further renewal of lease beyond 90 years, has not been considered and decided by authorities, will not confer any benefit upon petitioner.

80. The fourth question, is answered accordingly.

81. The fifth question is, "whether State Government can exercise right of resumption/re-entry by impugned order dated 18.08.2018?"

82. Since lease has already expired on 14.09.2016 it was obligatory upon petitioner to hand over vacant possession of land to State, which it has not done. Therefore, in our view, in terms of discussion made above and also considering law laid down in Azim Ahmad Kazmi and others vs. State of U. P. and others (supra), State Government is within its right to re-enter/resume land in question. Therefore, notice given by State to vacate Nazul land in dispute cannot be faulted. In this regard we do not find that principles of natural justice are applicable and contention raised otherwise has no substance in law.

83. One more argument, which has been raised is about the effect of repeal of GG Act, 1895 by Repeal Act, 2017.

Therefore sixth question is "whether Repeal Act, 2017 has effect of denying the State of right of resumption/re-entry due to repeal of GG Act, 1895."

84. It is contended that Section 4 of Repeal Act, 2017 only protects right, title, obligation or liability already acquired, accrued or incurred by State of U.P. under GG Act, 1895 to resume Nazul land according to resumption clause of lease-deed prior to repeal of GG Act, 1895 and nothing more than that. Since no right, title, obligation or liability was acquired or incurred or accrued to State Government by resorting to resumption under resumption clause before repeal of GG Act, 1895, resumption sought with reference to GG Act, 1895 after its repeal is wholly illegal.

85. Meaning of words 'accrued', 'acquired' and 'incurred' have been given in various paragraphs of writ petitions but we find that basic aspect has been ignored and missed by petitioner. Terms of lease, as soon as lease was executed, created rights, obligations, duties and interest of both the parties i.e. Lessor and Lessee so as to be governed in accordance with terms and conditions of lease. Relevant clause says that it shall be lawful for Secretary of State, notwithstanding waiver of any previous cause or right of re-entry, to enter into and upon said demised premises, whereupon the same shall remain to the use of and vested in Secretary of State and said demise shall absolutely determine out. The Lessee, who agreed with said term, 'incurred' duty to allow re-entry to State whenever Government do exercise its right of re-entry. Here lies the right of State to re-enter, which was acquired by State by virtue of execution of lease deed and accepted by Lessee and he (Lessee) 'incurred' liability not to obstruct the said right of State i.e. Lessor.

86. Petitioner, in our view, has misconstrued provisions of Section 4 vis-a-vis terms of lease and therefore, entire argument in this respect is devoid of merit. Sixth question is hence answered against petitioner.

87. The next three question, in our view, are incidental one, i.e., (vii) "whether continued possession of petitioner after expiry of lease on 14.09.2016 would confer any benefit upon it"; (viii) "whether petitioner can be said to have status of 'holding over' governed by Section 116 of TP Act, 1882", and, (ix) "whether petitioner is entitled for quit notice under Section 106/107 TP Act, 1882 since after expiry of lease, as it claims, tenancy should be treated to be on month to month basis?"

88. In this respect, it is contended that even if petitioner is a rank Trespassor, the fact is that it is in possession of land in dispute and therefore by application of force, petitioner cannot be evicted. Petitioner, at the best, is an unauthorized occupant in terms of U.P. Act, 1972 and therefore, atleast procedure prescribed in the said Act has to be followed. Further continued possession of petitioner over land in dispute entitles petitioner a notice under Section 106 read with Section 116 TP Act, 1882, since principle of 'holding over' will apply, or in any case, State can evict petitioner by filing a suit for eviction, which is a remedy available in common law. In this regard, reliance is placed on Bishan Das and others Vs. State of Punjab and others AIR 1961

SC 1570, Express Newspapers Pvt. Ltd. and others Vs. Union of India (1986) 1 SCC 133, Yar Mohammad and another vs. Lakshmi Das and others AIR 1959 Allahabad 1 and Lallu Yeshwant Singh (dead) by his legal representative vs. Rao Jagdish Singh and others, AIR 1968 SC 620.

89. With regard to applicability of TP Act, 1882 we have already discussed in the light of TP Act, 1882 and law laid down in Azim Ahmad Kazmi and others vs. State of U.P. and Another (2012) 7 SCC 278. At the pain of repetition, we may observe that Supreme Court has held that in the matter of Government Grant, the relations of Lessor and Lessee are governed by lease deed and no other Statute including TP Act, 1882 will have any application. Court has also said that procedure prescribed under lease deed for re-entry / resumption of land is a special procedure and that can be followed for re-entry and no other Statute or procedure is to be observed.

90. So far as application of Section 116 of TP Act, 1882 is concerned, we find nothing on record to show that it has any application in the case in hand. Section 116 of TP Act, 1882 is attracted only when an assent of landlord has been obtained for continuation of lease after expiry of lease period, which is not the case in hand. These aspects have been dealt with in Shanti Prasad Devi and others vs. Shankar Mahto and others (2005) 5 SCC 543, which has been following in Delhi Development Authority Vs. Anant Raj Agencies Pvt. Ltd. (supra).

91. In the present case, it is not the case of the petitioner that after expiry of lease in 2016, they have been permitted to remain in possession of disputed Nazul land and rent has been accepted by respondents or they have paid rent. Even if what is said by petitioner is taken to be correct, we do not find that Section 116 is applicable in the case in hand at all. Section 116 of TP Act, 1882 reads as under :

"116. Effect of holding over.- If a lessee or under-lessee of property remains in possession thereof after the determination of the lease granted to the lessee, and the lessor or his legal representative accepts rent from the lessee or under lessee, or otherwise assents to his continuing in possession, the lease is, in the absence of an agreement to the contrary, renewed from year to year, or from month to month, according to the purpose for which the property is leased, as specified in section 106."

92. Twin conditions to attract principle of holding over vide Section 116 of TP Act, 1882, which need by satisfied are:

(i) After determination of lease, lessor or his representative has accepted rent from lessee or under lessee or assented to his continuing in possession; and

(ii) Lessee or under-lessee has remained in possession.

93. None of the above conditions are attracted/satisfied in this case. Hence Section 116, TP Act, 1882 is not attracted.

94. Now, we come to the question of applicability of UP Act, 1972.

95. As we have already said that in view of declaration made under Section 2 of GG Act, 1895, as amended in Uttar Pradesh, no Statute will govern conditions of Government Grant and instead it will specifically be governed only by terms of Government Grant. Therefore, it is not necessary for State to follow procedure of U.P. Act, 1972 though it is also available and under the provisions thereof admittedly petitioner is 'unauthorized occupant'.

96. Above contentions can be examined from another angle. Petitioner's possession after expiry of tenure of lease, at the best, can be juridical possession though it is admittedly unlawful and illegal. Property is a legal concept that grants and protects a person's exclusive right to own, possess, use and dispose of a thing. The term property does not suggest a physical item but describes a legal relationship of a person to a thing. Real property consists of lands, tenements and hereditaments. Land refers to ground, the air above, the area below the Earth's surface and everything that is erected on it. Tenements include land and certain intangible rights recognized by municipal laws related to lands. A hereditaments embraces every tangible or intangible interest in real property that can be inherited. An interest describes any right, claim or privilege that an individual has towards real property. Law recognizes various types of interests in real property which may justify possession over property of person concerned. A non-possessory interest in land is right of one person to use or restrict use of land that belongs to other persons such as easementary rights. Non-possessory interest do not constitute ownership of land itself. Holders of a non-possessory interest in real property do not have title and owner of land continues to enjoy full rights of ownership, subject to any encumbrances. An encumbrance is a burden, claim or charge on real property that can affect the quality of title and value and/or use of property. Encumbrances can represent non-possessory interests in real property.

97. Possession is also of two kinds namely, (a) de facto possession, and (b) de jure possession. De facto possession is when a person being in actual physical possession and de jure possession is a possession in law. Constructive possession would be a possession through a representative, agent, tenant or a trustee. A person in de facto possession could be in adverse possession. In a civilized society some protection of possession is essential. The methods of protection recognized are :

(i) Possessor can be given certain legal rights, such as a right to continue in possession free from interference by others; and

(ii) Protective possession by prescribing criminal penalties for wrongful interference and wrongful dispossession.

98. When certain legal right are given to a person, one of the mode is that possessory right in rem are supported by various rights in personam against those who violate possessor's right; he can be given a right to recover compensation for interference and for dispossession, and a right to have his possession restored to him. But, whenever such a person invoke such remedies, one of the question which has to be examined would be, whether a person invoking them actually has any possession to be protected. In other words, it has to be examined "whether a person is in possession of an object?" However, legal concept of possession is not restricted to commonsense concept of possession, namely physical control. Possession in fact is not a simple notion. Whether a person is in possession of an article depends on various factors namely nature of article itself, attitudes and activities of other persons.

99. Possession may be 'lawful' or 'unlawful' or even 'legal' or 'illegal'. Acquisition of legal possession would obviously be lawful and of necessity involve occurrence of some event recognized by law whereby subject matter falls under the control of the possessor. Problem, however, arises where duration for which possession recognized is limited by Grantor or law. Continuance of possession beyond prescribed period is not treated as a 'lawful possession'. If a landlord does not consent to lease being continued, possession of tenant would not be a lawful unless there is some Statute providing otherwise. Nature of possession being not lawful would entitle landlord to regain possession.

100. Thus, a lawful possession is state of being a possessor in the eyes of law. Possession must be warranted or authorized by the law; having qualifications prescribed by law neither contrary to nor forbidden by law. However, law recognizes possession as a substantive right or an interest. Continued possession of a person is recognized by law as a sufficient interest capable of being protected by possessor, right being founded on mere fact of possession. Possession is a good title of right against anyone who cannot show a better title. However, when a person in possession, may not be lawful, recovery of possession by owner must have sanction of law. It cannot proceed to dispossess the other in a forcible manner not recognized in law.

101. In some authorities, possession of a person, who has entered therein initially validly but subsequently become unlawful has been given a different meaning i.e. 'juridical possession'. A tenant's holding over without consent of landlord would be a juridical possession though his possession is not lawful. It is said that possession of tenant, post efflux of lease period would not be treated as lawful possession still he would not be treated as a rank trespasser. Here comes the concept of juridical possession.

102. It also cannot be doubted that any person having juridical possession though illegal and unlawful, by a sheer executive fiat cannot be thrown out of possession of the land. But where terms of lease, which is the genesis of claim of such person provides manner in which Lessor can re-enter land and such procedure has been recognized by Statute, as also upheld in Azim Ahmad Kazmi and others vs. State of U.P. and Another (supra), when Lessor follows such procedure, it cannot be said that eviction is being resorted to illegally or without following lawful method.

103. Further, once lease period expired, whether a quit notice is necessary or not, in our view, is an issue, which need not detain us since this aspect is already covered by a recent authority in Sevoke Properties Ltd. vs. West Bengal State Electricity Distribution Company Ltd. AIR 2019 SC 2664. Therein, Court held that once it is admitted by Lessee that term of lease has expired, lease stood determined by efflux of time. Then Court said :

"Once the lease stood determined by efflux of time, there was no necessity for a notice of termination Under Section 106." (Emphasis added)

104. For taking above view, Court relied on its earlier decision in R.V. Bhupal Prasad v. State of A.P. (1995) 5 SCC 698.

105. In the above authority, Court held that after expiry of period of lease, status of Lessee becomes that of 'Tenant at sufferance'. 'Tenant at sufference' is one who comes into possession of land by lawful title, but who holds it by wrong after termination of term or expiry of lease by efflux of time. The tenant at sufferance is one who wrongfully continues in possession after extinction of a lawful title. There is little difference between him and a trespasser. Quoting from Mulla's Transfer of Property Act (7th Edn.) at page 633, Court observed that tenancy at sufferance is merely a fiction to avoid continuance in possession operating as a trespass. It has been described as the least and lowest interest which can subsist in reality. It, therefore, cannot be created by contract and arises only by implication of law when a person who has been in possession under a lawful title continues in possession after that title has been determined, without consent of person entitled. A "tenancy at sufferance" does not create relationship of landlord and tenant. Court further quoted from page 769 of Mulla's transfer of Property Act (7th Edition), that act of holding over after expiration of term does not necessarily create a tenancy of any kind. If lessee remains in possession after determination of term, the common law Rule is that he is a tenant at sufferance.

106. The expression "holding over" is used in the sense of retaining possession. However, in the present case, as we have already said that even Section 116 of TP Act, 1882 is not applicable to the case of petitioner.

107. It is in this backdrop we find that authorities relied by petitioner are inapplicable to the facts of this case and do not help petitioner at all.

108. The first authority cited is Bishan Das and others Vs. State of Punjab and others (supra) in which a Constitution Bench had an occasion to consider fundamental right of property vis-a-vis infringement therewith by executive orders. Therein, one Lala Ramji Das , carrying on a joint family business in the name and style of Faquir Chand Bhagwan Das, desired to construct a Dharmasala on a Nazul property of the then State of Patiala. In 1909, he sought permission of Government to construct a Dharmasala on the said land, since it situate near Barnala Railway Station, and therefore would have been convenient to Travellers who come to that place. It appears that initially for the same purpose, Patiala Government had granted permission to Choudhuris of Barnala bazar, but they could not do so for want of funds. Therefore when Ramji Das sought permission in the name of Firm "Faquir Chand Bhagwan Das" in May, 1909, same was granted and communicated by Assistant Surgeon, In-charge of Barnala Hospital, who was presumably In-charge of Public Health Arrangements at Barnala. The sanction was subject to certain conditions, namely, no tax shall be taken for the land; shopkeepers will arrange 'Piao' for the passengers; plans of the building shall be presented before sanctioning authority; cleanliness and sanitary rules shall be followed by the persons maintaining Dharmasala; no permission to construct any shop will be granted and if any condition is violated, State shall dispossess them from the land in dispute.

109. Dharmasala was constructed in 1909 and an inscription on the stone to the following effect was made:

"Dharmasala Lala Faquir Chand Bhagwan Das, mahajan, 1909."

110. Though a condition was imposed for not permitting construction of any shop, but as a matter of fact, a number of shops were later constructed, with the permission of authorities concerned, for meeting expenses for maintenance of Temple and Dharmasala. A complaint was made in 1911 against Ramji Das that he was utilizing Dharmasala for his private purpose but it remained unheeded. On the complaint made, some inquiry was also conducted by Tehsildar wherein Ramji Das got his statement recorded in January, 1925. On 07.04.1928, Revenue Minister, Patiala State, passed an order stating that though land on which Dharmasala had been built, was originally Government land (nazul property), it would not be proper to declare it as such and Dharmasala should continue to exist for the benefit of the public; Ramji Das or any other person will not be competent to transfer land and if such transfer is made, it would be unlawful and invalid and in such event, Government will escheat. Some further inquiry was also made and it appears that Ramji Das was given permission to make a raised platform and other extensions etc. On 10.09.1954, one Gopal Das, Secretary, Congress Committee, Barnala, filed a petition to Revenue Minister, Patiala, making various allegations against Ramji Das. Thereupon an inquiry was conducted by Tahsildar, who found that Dharmasala was constructed by Ramji Das on Government land; Dharmasala was for public benefit; and, that Ramji Das had been its Manager throughout; Ramji Das was bound to render accounts which he failed considering that property belong to him; and, therefore, he should be removed and past accounts be called for. When matter went for opinion of Legal Remembrancer of State Government, it was pointed out that Dharmasala and Temple, though built on Government land, but not Government property. It also said that though Ramji Das was repudiating existence of a Public Trust, he was working as Trustee of a Trust created for public purposes of a charitable or religious nature and could be removed by State only under Section 92 Civil Procedure Code. Ramji Das died on 10.12.1957. Petitioner Bishan Das and others came to manage Dharmasala, Temple and the shops etc. On 23.12.1957, Gopal Das and some others, describing themselves as members of public, made an application that since Ramji Das was dead, new arrangements should be made for proper management of Dharmasala which is used for the benefit of the public. Again a search of old papers was made and this time Sub-Divisional Officer, Barnala, recommended that in the interest of Government, Municipal Committee, Barnala, should take immediate charge of management of Dharmasala. This recommendation was affirmed by Deputy Commissioner, Sangrur, and pursuant to the said order, Kanungo presumably dispossessed Bishan Das and others from part of Dharmasala on 07.01.1958 and charge thereof was given to Municipal Committee, Barnala. These orders were challenged by petitioners alleging that the same were without any authority of law and violative of fundamental rights enshrined under Articles 14, 19 and 31 of Constitution.

111. The defence taken was that property is Trust property of a public and charitable character, hence Bishan Das and others were not entitled to claim any property rights in respect thereof.

112. Supreme Court observed in Para-10 that even if it is assumed that the property is Trust property, no authority of law authorizing State or its Executive Officers to take action against Bishan Das and others in respect of Dharmasala was shown. Government counsel sought to argue that Bishan Das and others were Trespassers and land on which Dharmasala situate belong to Government, hence Government was entitled to use minimum of force to eject trespassers, but this defence was rejected by Court holding that it is a clear case of violation of fundamental right of Bishan Das and others. Court said that nature of sanction granted in 1909 in respect of land, whether it was a lease or licence, with a Grant or an irrevocable licence are questions of fact, need not be gone into by it but admitted position is that land belonged to Government who granted permission to Ramji Das on behalf of Joint Family Firm to build Dharmasala, Temple and Shops and manage the same during his life time. After his death his family members continued with management. Thus, they were not trespassers at all in respect of Dharmasala, Temple and Shops; nor could it be held that Dharmasala, Temple and Shops belong to State. The question whether Trust created was public or private is irrelevant. Court said that a Trustee, even of a Public Trust, can be removed only by procedure known to law. He cannot be removed by an executive fiat. The maxim, what is annexed to the soil goes with the soil, has not been accepted as an absolute rule of law in India and in this regard, Court referred to earlier decisions in Thakoor Chunder Parmanick Vs. Ramdhone Bhuttacharjee (1866) 6 W.R. 228; Lala Beni Ram Vs. Kundan Lall (1899) L.R. 26 I.A. 58 and Narayan Das Khettry Vs. Jatindranath (1927) L.R. 54 I.A. 218. Court said that a person who bona fide puts up constructions on land belonging to others with their permission would not be a trespasser, nor would the buildings so constructed vest in the owner of the land by application of maxim quicquid plantatur solo, solo credit. It held:

"It is, therefore, impossible to hold that in respect of the dharmasala, temples and shops, the State has acquired any rights whatsoever merely by reason of their being on the land belonging to the State. If the State thought that the constructions should be removed or that the condition as to resumption of the land should be invoked, it was open to the State to take appropriate legal action for the purpose."

(Emphasis added)

113. Court said that even if State proceeded on the assumption that there was a Public Trust, it could have taken appropriate legal action for removal of Trustees by way of Suit under Section 92 C.P.C. and not otherwise. Constitution Bench then said:

" .. that does not give the State or its executive officers the right to take the law into their own hands and remove the trustee by an executive order.

(Emphasis added)

114. Court concluded its findings in Para-14 of judgment, as under:

"The facts and the position in law thus clearly are (1) that the buildings constructed on this piece of Government land did not belong to Government, (2) that the petitioners were in possession and occupation of the buildings and (3) that by virtue of enactments binding on the Government, the petitioners could be dispossessed, if at all, only in pursuance of a decree of a Civil Court obtained in proceedings properly initiated."

115. Court passed serious stricture against State authorities holding that the executive action taken by State and its Officers is destructive of the basic principle of rule of law. Hence action of Government in taking law into their hands and dispossessing petitioners by display of force, exhibits a callous disregard of normal requirements of rule of law, apart from what might legitimately and reasonably be expected from a Government functioning in a society governed by a Constitution which guarantees to its citizens against arbitrary invasion by the executive on peaceful possession of property. Court reiterated what was said in Wazir Chand Vs. The State of Himachal Pradesh AIR 1954 SC 415 that State or its executive officers cannot interfere with the rights of others unless they can point out some specific rule of law which authorizes their acts. Supreme Court seriously deprecated State and said:

"We have here a highly discriminatory and autocratic act which deprives a person of the possession of property without reference to any law or legal authority. Even if the property was trust property it is difficult to see how the Municipal Committee, Barnala, can step in as trustee on an executive determination only."

116. Aforesaid decision has no application to the present case, inasmuch as, here State has exercised its power following terms and conditions laid down under lease-deed, which were made to prevail over any Statute providing otherwise, including TP Act, 1882, vide Section 2 of GG Act, 1895. Further, respondents, in exercise of right of resumption/re-entry, have not straightway went to dispossess petitioner but notice in question has been given to it giving time to vacate the premises whereafter respondents proposes to take further action for taking possession after approval from State Government. Therefore, it cannot be said that no notice has been given to petitioner in the present case.

117. Express Newspapers Pvt. Ltd. and others Vs. Union of India (1986) 1 SCC 133 is a matter which was decided in a Writ Petition filed under Article 32 of Constitution by aforesaid Newspaper Company having its Establishment in Express Buildings at 9-10, Bahadurshah Zafar Marg, New Delhi, which was a land on perpetual lease from Union of India, under a registered Indenture of Lease, dated 17.03.1958. Five petitioners, who filed above Writ Petition before Supreme Court included Indian Express Newspaper (Bombay) Private Limited of which Express Newspapers Private Limited was a subsidiary and petitioners-3, 4 and 5, namely, Sri Ram Nath Goenka, as Chairman of the Board of Directors, Nihal Singh, Editor-in-chief of Indian Express and Romesh Thapar, Editor of Paper published from the Express Buildings. Union of India; Lt. Governor of Delhi, Sri Jagmohan; Municipal Corporation of Delhi; Zonal Engineer (Buildings) and Land and Development Officer were impleaded as respondents-1 to 5. The validity of notice of re-entry upon forfeiture of lease issued by Engineer Officer, Land and Development Office, New Delhi on 10.03.1980 was challenged. The notice required petitioners to show cause why Union of India should not re-enter upon and take possession of demised premises i.e. plots nos. 9 and 10, Bahadurshah Zafar Marg, together with Buildings built thereon under Clause 5 of Indenture of Lease, dated 17.03.1958, for committing breach of Clauses 2(14) and 2(5) of lease-deed. Another notice was issued earlier on 01.03.1980 by Zonal Engineer (Buildings), Municipal Corporation, City Zone, Delhi requiring Express Newspapers Pvt. Ltd., New Delhi to show cause why aforesaid buildings, being unauthorized, be not demolished under Sections 343 and 344 of Delhi Municipal Corporation Act, 1957 (hereinafter referred to as "DMC Act, 1957"). A challenge was made, besides others, on the ground of personal vendetta against Express Group of Newspapers and also being violative of Articles 14, 19(1)(a) and 19(1)(g) of the Constitution. The questions posed by Supreme Court, to be of far reaching consequence for maintenance of federal structure of Government, were:

(1) Whether the Lt. Governor of Delhi could usurp the functions of the Union of India, Ministry of Works and Housing and direct an investigation into the affairs of the Union of India i.e. question the legality and propriety of the action of the then Minister for Works and Housing in the previous Government at the center in granting permission to Express Newspapers Pvt. Ltd. to construct new Express Building with an increased FAR of 360 with a double basement for installation of a printing press for publication of a Hindi Newspaper on the western portion of the demised premises i.e. Plots No. 9 and 10, Bahadurshah Zafar Marg, New Delhi with the Express Buildings built thereon?

(2) Whether the grant of sanction by the then Minister for Works and Housing and the consequential sanction of building plans by him of the new Express Building was contrary to the Master Plan and the Zonal Development Plans framed under the Delhi Development Act, 1957 and the municipal bye-laws, 1959 made under the DMC Act, 1957 and therefore the lessor i.e. the Union of India had the power to issue a notice of re-entry upon forfeiture of lease under Clause 5 of the indenture of lease dated March 17, 1958 and take possession of the demised premises together with the Express Buildings built thereon and the Municipal Corporation had the authority to direct demolition of the said buildings as unauthorized construction under Sections 343 and 344 of the DMC Act, 1957?

(3) Whether the threatened action which the petitioners characterise as arbitrary, illegal and irrational was violative of Article 19(1)(a) read with Article 14 of the Constitution?

118. Thereafter Court analyzed facts in detail and respective arguments and from Para-45 to 47 we find that Government of India and Lt. Governor of Delhi were Head on to each other and even Counsel's role was not appreciated by Court. In the light of arguments advanced by parties, in para-59 of judgment, Court formulated eight questions. The issue of maintainability of writ petition under Article 32 was also raised and it was considered in the judgment from para-66 onwards. Court held that building in question was necessary for running press. Any statutory or executive action to pull it down or forfeit the lease, would directly impinge on the right of freedom of speech and expression under Article 19(1)(a) and therefore, writ petition was maintainable. Court said:

"... impugned notices of re-entry upon forfeiture of lease and of the threatened demolition of the Express Buildings are intended and meant to silence the voice of the Indian Express. It must logically follow that the impugned notices constitute a direct and immediate threat to the freedom of the press and are thus violative of Article 19(1)(a) read with Article 14 of the Constitution."

119. Since, land in dispute was Government land, provisions of Government Grants Act, 1895 (hereinafter referred to as "GG Act, 1985") were also relied on by Government and, therefore, Court examined provisions thereof also. It held that GG Act, 1895 is an explanatory or declaratory act. It said:

"Doubts having arisen as to the extent and operation of the Transfer of Property Act, 1882 and as to the power of the Government to impose limitations and restrictions upon grants and other transfers of land made by it or under its authority, the Act was passed to remove such doubts as is clear from the long title and the preamble. The Act contains two sections and provides by Section 2 for the exclusion of the Transfer of Property Act, 1882 and, by Section 3 for the exclusion of, any rule of law, statute or enactment of the Legislature to the contrary."

(Emphasis added)

120. Court in Express Newspapers Pvt. Ltd. and others Vs. Union of India (supra) further said:

"It is plain upon the terms that Section 2 excludes the operation of the Transfer of Property Act, 1882 to Government grants. While Section 3 declares that all provisions, restrictions, conditions and limitations contained over any such grant or transfer as aforesaid shall be valid and shall take effect according to their tenor, notwithstanding any rule of law, statute or enactment of the Legislature to the contrary. A series of judicial decisions have determined the overriding effect of Section 3 making it amply clear that a grant of property by the Government partakes of the nature of law since it overrides even legal provisions which are contrary to the tenor of the document."

(Emphasis added)

121. Having said so, Court found that the stand taken on behalf of Union of India that there was non compliance of mandatory requirement of Clause-6, therefore notice of re-entry was valid, is not correct.

122. Court then noted some contradictions in Constitution Bench judgment in Bishan Das and others Vs. State of Punjab and others (supra) and State of Orissa Vs. Ram Chandra Dev AIR 1964 SC 685.

123. In State of Orissa Vs. Ram Chandra Dev (supra), Constitution Bench observed:

"Ordinarily, where property has been granted by the State on condition which make the grant resumable, after resumption it is the grantee who moves the Court for appropriate relief, and that proceeds on the basis that the grantor State which has reserved to itself the right to resume may, after exercising its right, seek to recover possession of the property without filing a suit. "

(Emphasis added)

124. It was observed that existence of a right is the foundation for a petition under Article 226 of Constitution. In Para-84 Court said that in cases involving purely contractual issues, the settled law is, where statutory provisions of public law are involved, writs will be issued and referred to its earlier judgment in Mohammed Hanif Vs. State of Assam (1969) 2 SCC 782. Thereafter it also considered the provisions of Public Premises (Eviction of Unauthorized Occupants) Act, 1971 (hereinafter referred to as "Act, 1971") and observed that Express building was constructed with the sanction of lessor, i.e., Union of India on plots demised on 'perpetual lease' by registered lease-deed dated 17.03.1958 hence cannot be regarded as 'public premises' belonging to the Central Government under Section 2(e). That being so, Act, 1971 has no application.

125. Court then considered other provisions relating to power of Lt. Governor, and Central Government and factual aspects involved in the matter. In our view, the same are not relevant for the purpose of this Case. Court also examined applicability of doctrine of estoppel but that has also not been raised in these matters, hence it is not necessary to examine it.

126. One aspect we may notice hereat that detailed judgment has been written by Hon'ble A.P. Sen, J. Justice E.S. Venkataramiah has agreed with the judgment of Hon'ble A.P. Sen, J in relation to the aspect that Lt. Governor of Delhi, Sri Jagmohan, has taken undue interest in getting notices issued to Express Newspapers and this action is not consistent with normal standards of administration and issued under pressure of Lt. Governor of Delhi; notices were violative of Article 14, suffers with arbitrariness and non application of mind. His Lordship said that it was not necessary to express any opinion on the contention based on Article 19(1)(a) of Constitution. Hon'ble Venkataramiah, J, further said that question relating to civil rights of the parties flowing from lease deed cannot be disposed of in a petition under Article 32 of Constitution since questions whether there has been breach of covenants under the lease, whether lease can be forfeited, whether relief against forfeiture can be granted etc. are foreign to the scope of Article 32 of Constitution which should be tried in a regular civil proceeding. His Lordship further said in Para-202 of judgment as under:

"One should remember that the property belongs to the Union of India and the rights in it cannot be bartered away in accordance with the sweet will of an Officer or a Minister or a Lt. Governor but they should be dealt with in accordance with law. At the same time a person who has acquired rights in such property cannot also be deprived of them except in accordance with law."

127. Having said so, while agreeing with ultimate order of quashing of notices, Hon'ble Venkataramiah, J. said:

"I express no opinion on the rights of the parties under the lease and all other questions argued in this case. They are left open to be decided in an appropriate proceeding."

(Emphasis added)
