the charges. Being aggrieved against the order dated 26.03.2019, the revisionist filed an appeal before District Court, Sultanpur, which was also dismissed on 24.08.2021 by the Sessions Judge, Sultanpur. Being aggrieved against both the orders, the present revision has been preferred before this Court.

6. Prior to discussing the merits of the case, I have to discuss the order dated 24.08.2021 passed by the District and Sessions Judge, Sultanpur. The District & Sessions Court, Sultanpur has held that against the order dated 26.03.2019, the appeal is not maintainable. It is noted here that there is provision of revision under Section 102 of Juvenile Justice (Care and Protection) Act 2015(hereinafter referred to as the Act of 2015). The power of revision under Section 102 of the Act of 2015 is similar to power under Section 397 Cr.P.C.. Once the revision is provided against the order of Juvenile court under Section 102 of the Act of 2015, there was no occasion to the revisionist to file appeal against the order dated 26.03.2019. Therefore, the order passed by the Sessions Court dated 24.08.2021 is perfectly alright and needs no interference.

7. The revisionist has challenged the order dated 26.03.2019, which is the order passed by the Juvenile Justice Board, Sultanpur and, admittedly, he was pursuing the remedy before the Sessions Court, Sultanpur in appeal, which was not maintainable. Therefore in the revisional jurisdiction of Section 102, I am going to look into the legality of the order dated 26.03.2019.

8. Learned counsel for the revisionist has submitted that the order passed by the Court of Juvenile Justice Board dated 26.03.2019 is not sustainable in the eyes of law because the court below has not applied its mind and the nature of the crime is serious. It has been further argued that Public Prosecutor is required to act in good faith, which was not done in the present case.

9. Learned counsel for the revisionist has relied on three judgements, Criminal Misc. Writ Petition No.10816 of 2015(Ram Narayan Yadav versus State of U.P. & Others, V.L.S. Finance Limited versus S.P.Gupta and another; (2016) 3 SCC 736 and Bairam Muralidhar versus State of Andhra Pradesh; AIR 2014 SC 3437 in support of his submissions.

10. Per contra, learned counsel for the respondent no.2 and 3 Sri R.P. Shukla has argued that as per Section 2 (15)(33), the definition Clause of Act of 2015 itself is supporting the case of the opposite party nos. 2 and 3 and being children, friendly behaviour was required so that they may make their good future and become good citizen of the country. Therefore he submitted that the Board has not committed any error.

11. Sri Anurag Verma, learned A.G.A. has submitted that the revisional power under Section 102 of the Act of 2015 is akin to Section 397 of Cr.P.C.. He submitted that the Court can only look into the legality and perversity of the order passed by the court below. He further submitted that the Public Prosecutor has acted in good faith by applying his mind and he moved detailed application to withdraw the case under Section 321 Cr.P.C.. He further submitted that the Government Order dated 25.06.2014 is the Government Order issued by the State of U.P. after due consideration and the Public Prosecutor was directed to file application and, thus,there is no illegality and infirmity in the procedure for withdrawal of the case under Section 321 Cr.P.C.

12. In the present case, it is admitted on record that opposite party nos. 2 and 3 have been declared juvenile by the Court of Juvenile Justice Board. The opposite party no.2 was declared aged about 15 years 5 months on the date of the incident, i.e., on 11.07.2012. The purpose of Act 2015 is very relative in the present case, wherein it is provided that the accused children should be given friendly atmosphere and their future interest should be paramount. Both the children i.e. opposite party nos. 2 and 3 were school going and their future may have been hampered, in case, criminal cases were to be allowed for trial.

13. The judgement cited by learned counsel for the revisionist (supra) have no relevance in the present case. In the case of V.L.S. Finance Limited versus S.P.Gupta and another, the Court has pronounced that while dealing with application preferred under section 321 Cr.P.C., the Public Prosecutor is required to act in good faith. Similar view has been expressed in case of Bairam Muralidhar versus State of Andhra Pradesh and Ram Narayan Yadav versus State of U.P. & Others, wherein it is held that Public Prosecutor has to apply his mind to the facts of the case independently.

14. The judgment cited by learned counsel for the revisionist are supporting the case of the respondent nos. 2 and 3, because in the present case, the Public Prosecutor has presented the detailed application in pursuance of the Government Order dated 25.08.2014 and the court has observed that in the interest of justice, children should be set free so that they may serve the society and their career may not be hampered. There is nothing on record which indicates that Public Prosecutor did not apply his mind while presenting the application, rather he acted in good faith and opposite party nos. 2 and 3, being children, have been rendered liberal approach by the State Government as well as Public Prosecutor so that they may become good citizen of the country.

15. The aim and object of the Act of 2015 is also very important in the present withdrawal of criminal case because the Act has been promulgated not to treat the children as criminal.

16. In view of above, the order passed by the Court of Juvenile Justice Board dated 26.03.2019 and 24.08.2021 passed by Session Judge are perfectly alright and needs no interference. The revision is accordingly dismissed. No order as to costs.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Ashwani Kumar Mishra, J. & Hon'ble Rajnish Kumar, J.)

1. This Writ Petition has been filed under Article 226 of the Constitution of India challenging the orders dated 10.9.2021 and 9.12.2021, passed by the District Magistrate, Azamgarh in case No. 630 of 2021 (Computer Case No. 0202115090000630) State Vs. Vikas Yadav alias Guddu under Section 14 (1) of the Uttar Pradesh Gangsters and Anti Social Activities (Prevention) Act, 1986 (hereinafter referred to as the 'Act of 1986') whereby petitioner's representation for release of his vehicle (Truck bearing registration number UP 61AT 2942) attached under Section 14 of the Act of 1986, has been rejected.

2. Arguments are advanced on behalf of petitioner to submit that the District Magistrate has failed to take note of relevant materials on record and the scheme of the Act has not been correctly applied. It is also urged that application of mind on part of the District Magistrate is lacking which renders the orders impugned otherwise wholly arbitrary. Reliance is placed upon judgments of this Court in Badan Singh Vs. State of U.P. and others, 2001 (43) ACC as also in Afzal Begum Vs. State of U.P. 2012 (1) ACR 456 to submit that the orders impugned are liable to be quashed.

3. Learned A.G.A., on the other hand, opposes the prayer made in the writ petition, primarily on the ground that the petition is not maintainable, at this stage, inasmuch as the factual inquiry contemplated by the Court is yet to be undertaken and the petitioner has otherwise not exhausted the remedies available to him as per the Act of 1986. Attention of the Court has been invited to Sections 14 to 18 of the Act of 1986 in order to submit that after attachment of property is made and representation against it is rejected (as is the case here) the person aggrieved i.e. petitioner herein, has the remedy available under the Act of 1986 to approach the Court hearing cases arising out of the Act of 1986, for an appropriate order in the matter, on the basis of enquiry conducted in the matter on the issue as to whether the property in question is acquired by a gangster, from the proceeds of crime triable under the Act of 1986, or not? The determination by Court on the above question remains subject to an appeal contemplated under Section 18 of the Act of 1986 and the writ petition filed directly against the order of attachment and rejection of representation without availing the remedy before the Court concerned is not maintainable. Submission thus is that interference by the Writ Court would not be warranted at this stage, inasmuch as orders of administrative authority are yet to attain finality under the Act of 1986.

4. We have heard Sri Rahul Srivastava, advocate for the petitioner and learned A.G.A. for the respondents and perused the materials brought on record.

5. In order to appreciate the arguments advanced it would be worth referring to the statutory scheme contained in Sections 14 to 18 of the Act of 1986, providing for attachment and release of properties. Attachment of property is permissible under Section 14 of the Act of 1986 by the District Magistrate, where he has reason to believe that such property, whether movable or immovable, has been acquired by a gangster as a result of commissioning of offence triable under the Act of 1986. The provisions of Code of Criminal Procedure are held applicable by virtue of sub-section (2). Sub-section (3) of Section 14 contemplates appointment of an Administrator for managing the property attached under Section 14 (1) of the Act while sub-section (4) of Section 14 provides for police help to the Administrator for proper and effective administration of such property. Any person aggrieved by attachment of property under Section 14 is entitled to make a representation against the order of attachment, under sub Section (1) of Section 15 of the Act of 1986, showing the circumstances and the sources by which such property was acquired to dislodge the opinion formed by the administrative authority that the property has been acquired from the proceeds of crime triable under the Act of 1986.

6. Sub-Section (2) of Section 15 provides that if the District Magistrate is satisfied with the genuineness of the claim made under sub Section (1), he shall release the property from attachment to the claimant. However, where such a representation is not accepted or if no representation is made, the matter is referred by the District Magistrate alongwith his report to the Court, having jurisdiction to try an offence under Section 16(1) of the Act of 1986. Sub Section (2) of section 16 of the Act of 1986 also provides that where the District Magistrate refuses to attach any property or has ordered for release of such property, the State Government or any person aggrieved by such refusal or release shall also have remedy of approaching the Court for an inquiry on the question as to whether property, which is the subject matter of attachment, has been acquired by proceeds of crime, as a result of commissioning of any offence triable under the Act of 1986. On receipt of such reference or application, the Court is required to fix a date for inquiry after giving notice and for such purposes the Court, while conducting inquiry will have the power of Civil Court. Based upon the inquiry so conducted, the concerned Court would adjudicate the question as to whether the property is acquired by a Gangster by commissioning offence triable under the Act of 1986. The determination made by the Court is then subjected to appeal contemplated under Section 18 of the Act of 1986.

7. The statutory scheme, noticed above, has a specific purpose to achieve inasmuch as the determination made by administrative authorities about property in question having been acquired by a gangster from proceeds of crime, triable under the Act of 1986, is made subject to a judicial enquiry by the competent court, which is entrusted with the powers of civil court to determine the factual and legal issues, finally, subject to an appeal under Section 18 of the Act of 1986. The object of conferring such power upon the court is to check arbitrary exercise of power by the administrative authorities and to ensure that none is deprived of his property except in accordance with law. Since the powers of court for undertaking such enquiry is wide and comprehensive and is otherwise efficacious and effective, we find no reason not to allow the issues to be determined in the manner stipulated in the Act of 1986 and refrain from entertaining a petition for judicial review under Article 226 of the Constitution of India.

8. In light of the above deliberations, we would not be inclined to entertain the present writ petition, at this juncture, directly against the order of District Magistrate and to embark upon a factual and legal inquiry in the matter, which is yet to be undertaken by the Court authorised to do so, at the first instance and thereafter by the appellate court.

9. Learned counsel for the petitioner has relied upon the judgment of learned Single Judge of this Court in Badan Singh (supra), wherein the Court proceeded to observe as under in para-18:-

"18. Chapter XXIX of the Code of Crimi nal Procedure, 1973 under caption "Appeal" contains twenty three sections running from Ss. 372 to 394. Section 372 provides that no appeal shall lie from any judgment or order of a Criminal Court except as provided for by this Code or by any other law for the time being in force. Section 373 makes provision for appeal against order passed under S. 117 and 121, Cr. P.C. Under S. 374 appeal lies to the Supreme Court and the High Court against the order of conviction. Section 375 bars appeal against the order of conviction on the accused admitting his guilt. Section 376 provides that no appeal shall lie in petty cases, Under S. 377 right has been conferred on the State Government to move in appeal against inadequacy of sentence. Section 378 provides for filing appeal against the order of acquittal. Section 379 makes provision for appeal to the Supreme Court aginst the order of the High Court reversing acquittal to conviction. Special right to appeal in certain cases is provided under S. 380. Section 381 and 382 prescribe the procedure for filing of appeal in the Court of Sesions and the manner of hearing. The Act is a penal Statute and Section 3 thereof prescribes punishment to be awarded to a gangster as well as public servant redering illegal help or support to a gangster. No separate procedure is prescribed to challenge the order of conviction or acquittal passed by the Special Judge in exercise of power conferred by the Act. So on a conspectus of Chapter XXIX, Cr. P.C. and Ss. 3 and 18 of the Act what appears is that appeal would lie against the order of conviction or acquittal under the Act and not against the order of attachment of the District Magistrate or the order of the Special Court on the reference made by the District Magistrate. Even assuming that Section 18 has the application and orders of the District Magistrate and the Special Court can be challenged by way of appeal yet I would hold that the writ petition under Art. 226 of the Constitution is maintainable when the very order of attachment passed by the District Magistrate is illegal, arbitrary and without jurisdiction. For arriving at such conclusion, I derive support from the decision of the Apex Court in Whirlpool Corporation v. Registrar of Trade Marks, Mumbai, (1998) 7 JT (SC) 243 : ((1998) 8 SCC 1 : AIR 1999 SC 22) where it is laid down that availability of effective and efficacious remedy will not operate as bar to approach the High Court under Art. 226 of the Constitution in at least three contingencies, namely where writ petition has been filed for enforcement of fundamental rights, or where there has been violation of principle of natural justice or where the order or proceedings are without jurisdiction or vires of an Act is challenged."

10. The observations contained in the aforesaid paragraph proceeds on two premises; firstly, the Court has opined that the appeal stipulated under Section 18 of the Act of 1986 since refers to the applicability of the provisions of Chapter-XXIX of the Criminal Procedure Code, which is limited to an order of acquittal or conviction, therefore, no appeal would lie against the determination made by the judicial forum on the question as to whether the property subjected to attachment has been acquired by a Gangster as a result of commissioning of an offence triable under the Act and secondly, the Court has observed that even if such a remedy of appeal lies, yet the remedy before the Writ Court would not be ousted in view of the law laid down by the Supreme Court in Whirlpool Corporation Vs. Registrar of Trade Marks, Mumbai (1998) 7 JT (SC) 243.

11. The question, in our opinion, is not with regard to ouster of jurisdiction of writ Court under Article 226 of the Constitution of India inasmuch as it has already been held that judicial review therein is a basic feature of Constitution of India and, the constitutional remedy, in that regard, cannot be ousted under a statute (See:- L. Chandra Kumar Vs. Union of India and others, AIR (1997) 3 SCC 261).

12. The question, herein, rather is as to whether jurisdiction under Article 226 of the Constitution of India is required to be invoked against the order of District Magistrate, directly, when a detailed procedure otherwise is contemplated under the Special Act to determine issues that arise for consideration in the present petition?

13. Section 18 of the Act, which has been referred to in Badan Singh (supra), reads as under:-

"The provisions of Chapter XXIX of the Code shall, mutatis mutandis, apply to an appeal against any judgement or order of a Court passed under the provisions of this Act."

Provisions of Chapter XXIX of the Code are made applicable, mutatis mutandis, to an appeal against any judgment or order of a Court passed under the provisions of the Act of 1986. The applicability of Chapter XXIX primarily refers to the procedural part while stipulation of appeal in the substantive part refers to appeal being against any judgment or order of a Court passed under the provisions of the Act of 1986.

14. It is well settled that appeal is a creature of statute. The statute, herein, clearly provides for an appeal against any judgment or order of a Court passed under the provisions of the Act of 1986. There is no exclusion clause in Section 18 and, therefore, the plain language of the statute leaves no ambiguity that appeal shall lie against all orders or judgments of a Court passed under the provisions of the Act of 1986.

15. We are of the considered view that merely because the provisions of Chapter-XXIX of the Code of Criminal Procedure are made applicable in section 18 of the Act of 1986, it would not mean that appeal would be restricted only to an order of acquittal or conviction, as is contemplated in the Code of Criminal Procedure. Chapter XXIX APPEALS in the Code of Criminal Procedure begins with Section 372 Cr.P.C. as per which no appeal shall lie from any judgment or order of a criminal court except as provided for by in the code or by any other law for the time being in force. Even the code of criminal procedure contemplates filing of appeal in matters other than conviction and acquittal [See: Section 458(2) Cr.P.C. in which an appeal lies in respect of release of property to the Court to which appeal ordinarily lie from convictions by the Magistrate]. Section 18 in the Act of 1986 providing for appeal is any other law providing for appeal in terms of Section 372 of the Code. The Act of 1986 is otherwise a special Act and its provisions would prevail over general law by virtue of Section 20 of the Act of 1986 since its provisions would prevail, notwithstanding anything in consistent therewith contained in any other enactment.

16. Reference to Code of Criminal Procedure in Section 18, and its applicability mutatis mutandis, must therefore be restricted to the procedural part. Any limitation on the scope of appeal under Section 18 to conviction or acquittal, by applying the provisions of Chapter-XXIX of the Code otherwise would go contrary to the plain language of Section 18 which permits filing of appeal against any judgment or order of the Court and would be hit by Section 20 of the Act of 1986.

17. Any order or judgment, referred to in Section 18 would include an order for release of property where the Court upon inquiry under Section 17 finds that the property was not acquired by a Gangster as a result of commission of any offence triable under the Act of 1986. The determination by the Court, on the question whether property is acquired by Gangster as a result of an offence triable under the Act, would be an order and, therefore, the remedy of an appeal would clearly be available in such circumstances. With utmost respect, we therefore do not subscribe to the view taken by learned Single Judge in Badan Singh (supra) that an appeal would not lie against the determination made by the competent court on the question as to whether the property subjected to attachment is a property acquired by the Gangster, as a result of commissioning of an offence triable under the Act.

18. We may also note that offences under the Act of 1986 are to be tried by special courts constituted under Section 5 of the Act of 1986. By virtue of sub-section (4) of Section 5 only a Sessions Judge or Additional Sessions Judge in the State can man the Special Court under the Act of 1986 and, therefore, an appeal against his order would lie as per Chapter-XXIX of the Code only to the High Court. Once that be so, a writ otherwise would not be entertained directly against the order passed under Section 15 of the Act of 1986 by the District Magistrate.

19. Petitioner, therefore, can get no relief on the basis of judgment in Badan Singh (supra) which otherwise was a case arising out of an order passed under Section 17 of the Act and does not support the view that a writ would lie directly against an order passed by the District Magistrate attaching the property. The objection of learned A.G.A. to the maintainability of the present petition is, therefore, sustained.

20. The other judgment relied upon by the counsel for the petitioner in the case of Afzal Begum (supra) was delivered in an criminal appeal under Section 18 of the Act of 1986 arising from an order passed by the Court under Section 17 of the Act of 1986. We are in agreement with the reasoning assigned in para -14 of the judgment in Afzal Begum (supra), which is reproduced hereinafter:-

"14. The power of the Court to hold an inquiry under section 16 on the reference made by the District Magistrate is not an empty formality, which has a purpose behind it. The object behind providing the power of judicial scrutiny under section 16 of the Code is to check arbitrary exercise of the power by the District Magistrate in depriving a person of his properties and to restore the rule of law, therefore, a heavy duty lies on the court to hold a thorough inquiry to find out the truth with regard to the question, whether the property was acquired by or as a result of the commission of an offence triable under the Act. The order to be passed under section 17 of the Act must disclose reasons and the evidence in support of the finding of the court. The Court is not expected to act as a post office or mouthpiece of the State or the District Magistrate. If a person has no criminal history during the period the property was acquired by him, how the property can be held to be a property acquired by or as a result of commission of an offence triable under the Act is a pivotal question which has to be answered by the Court. Besides the aforesaid question, the other important question to be considered by the Court is whether the property which was acquired prior to the registration of the case against the accused under the Act or prior to the registration of the first case of the gang chart, can be attached by the District Magistrate under section 14 of the Act."

Above judgment also, in no way, supports the petitioner's contention with regard to entertainment of writ petition, at this stage, against the order of the District Magistrate.

21. For the reasons enumerated above we decline to entertain the present writ petition, at this stage, while leaving it open for the petitioner to raise all legal and factual issues during course of inquiry under Section 17 of the Act of 1986. Writ petition, accordingly, is summarily rejected without any order passed as to costs.

A. Civil Law - Land Acquisition Act,1894 - Section 23 - Uttar Pradesh Avas Evam Vikas Parishad Adhiniyam, 1965 - Section 28 - Land Acquisition - Compensation - determination of market value - While fixing the market value of the acquired land, one is required to keep in mind the following factors : -(a) Existing geographical situation of the land (b) Existing use of the land. (c) Already available advantages, like proximity to National or State Highway or road and/ or developed area (d) Market value of other land situated in the same locality/ village/ area or adjacent or very near the acquired land - Market value can be determined on the basis of price paid within a reasonable time in bona fide transactions of purchase of the lands adjacent to the lands acquired and possessing similar advantages - Exemplars - it is the general rule that the highest of the exemplars, if it is satisfied, that it is a bona fide transaction has to be considered and accepted - It is not that the lowest available rate amongst the exemplars that is to be regarded as the embodiment of a genuine and truthful transaction (Para 17, 19)

Notification u/s 28 published on 29.09.1979 - High Court found that the acquired land was in the vicinity of a stadium and close to two highways & a high yielding land, the acquired land not located very far away from the village abadi also - large number of exemplars showed private sale of small portions of land varied between Rs.100/- to Rs.200/- per square yard - High Court held appellant entitled to compensation at the rate of Rs.99/- per square yard - statutory entitlements, such as solatium, additional compensation and interest to be worked out accordingly (Para 19, 21)

3. Bhule Ram Vs U.O.I. & anr., (2014) 11 SCC 307

(Delivered by Hon'ble J.J. Munir, J.)

1. This first appeal is directed against a judgment and award of Mr. M.P.S. Tejan, the then 7th Additional District Judge, Bulandshahr dated 24th July, 1991 rejecting L.A.R. No.233 of 1987 and affirming an award of the Special Land Acquisition Officer (Second), Uttar Pradesh Avas Evam Vikas Parishad, Kamla Nagar, Agra (for short, 'the SLAO') dated 11.10.1984, awarding the claimant-appellant compensation at the rate of Rs.29.08 per square yard for her land acquired by the Uttar Pradesh Avas Evam Vikas Parishad (for short, 'the Parishad').

2. One Kallan son of Ganga Sahai had agricultural land in Village Tanda, Pargana Baran, Tehsil and District Bulandshahr comprising Khasra No.157 admeasuring 1 bigha 17 biswa and Khasra No.158 admeasuring 2 biswa. The land was of good quality and described as class 'Sinchit Bada'. It was assessed to land revenue in the sum of Rs.12.50 per bigha. The land aforesaid shall hereinafter be referred to as, "the acquired land'. A notification under Section 28 of the Uttar Pradesh Avas Evam Vikas Parishad Adhiniyam, 1965 (for short, 'the Act') relating to the acquired land was published on 29.09.1977 in the State Gazette. This was followed by a notification under Section 32 of the Act dated 25.11.1979, also published in the Official Gazette. On 11.10.1984, an award was made under the Act by the SLAO, assessing the value of the land at Rs.38.77 per square yard. After deducting 25% per square yard, compensation for Kallan's land was assessed at the rate of Rs.29.08 per square yard.

3. In accordance with the award made by the SLAO, Kallan's substantive compensation for the acquired land worked out to a figure of Rs.1,71,535.65. Adding to it 30% solatium and 12% additional compensation, besides interest, a total sum of Rs.3,27,854.67 was determined.

4. Aggrieved by the award made by the SLAO, Kallan prefered a reference under Section 18 of the Land Acquisition Act, 1894 to the District Judge, Meerut. It must be clarified here, for the sake of record, that pending proceedings before the Judge and not before Kallan's evidence was recorded in Court, he passed away on 03.12.1990, leaving behind him, as his sole heir and LR, his married daughter Smt. Kailasho Devi wife of Malwant Singh. Kallan's estate devolved upon Smt. Kailasho and she was substituted in his stead in the pending reference before the Judge. Kallan and after him, his heir and LR, Smt. Kailasho, shall hereinafter be referred to as "the appellant', unless the context otherwise requires. Kallan in his time, while moving the reference, came up with a case that his acquired land fell within the local limits of the Nagar Palika, Bulandshahr, but the SLAO had proceeded to determine its value on fallacious grounds. It was urged that though the SLAO has admitted the fact that the acquired land has housing potential, he had not looked into the exemplar sale deed relating to land lying in front of the acquired land, that was executed before the time when the notification dated 29.09.1979 under Section 28 of the Act was published. This exemplar clearly indicates that between the willing buyer and the willing seller, the sale consideration, that was settled and paid, was Rs.100/- per square yard. A number of other contemporaneous exemplars were referred to, where the rate of land, that was settled and paid by willing buyers to willing sellers for land, similarly circumstanced as the acquired land, was Rs.100/-. These exemplars were from Khasra Nos.56 and 72. It was pleaded that the acquired land had in its vicinity a wholesale market of foodgrains (अनाज मण्डी) and developing residential and commercial sites. It was the appellant's demand in the reference that the rate of land assed by the SLAO for the purpose of compensation was clearly fallacious and he was entitled to Rs.100/- per square yard.

5. A written statement was put in on behalf of the State Government represented by the Collector of Bulandshahr. It was pleaded that Village Tanda has been included in the local limits of the Nagar Palika after the first notification was published for acquisition. It must be remarked here that the notification for acquisition of the appellant's land, along with a large number of other similarly situate lands in Village Tanda, was for the purpose of a housing scheme to be developed by the Parishad. It was the State's case that the appropriate exemplar had been selected after searching through a number of them. It was also pleaded that upon knowledge of a housing scheme being floated, there were sale transactions at inflated rates entered into, that did not represent the true value of the land. The acquired land was agricultural and had no housing over it. It was employed for agriculture. The Mandi site had been constructed after the acquisition. It was broadly on these counts that the appellant's case was contested.

6. In support of his case, Kallan, the original appellant, testified in the dock before the Judge on 29.11.1989 and was thoroughly cross-examined. For the exemplar that the appellant relied on, a certified copy of the sale deed dated 04.04.1979 was filed, where land similar to the acquired land, admeasuring 216 square yards was sold by one Pt. Ghasiram son of Pt. Munshiram to Makkhan Lal and Narendra Pal Saxena for a total sale consideration of Rs.21,600/-. The rate indicated by the said exemplar was Rs.100/- per square yard. The said sale deed was assigned paper No. 30C.

7. The learned Judge did not accept the appellant's case for an enhanced value of the acquired land, that he urged. It was noticed by the learned Judge in the judgment impugned and the fact is not in dispute that the entire parcel of land, of which the acquired land is a part, acquired by the Parishad, was located on two main Highways, that is to say, Bulandshahr-Shikarpur Highway and the Bulandshahr-Anupshahr Highway. The appellant's land was found to be located close to the Bulandshahr-Shikarpur Highway. Upon scrutiny of the various exemplars, that were filed by the appellant and similarly situate land oustees, it was opined that the sale deeds listed at serial Nos.23-26 were close exemplars. Amongst these, the sale deed at serial No. 26 dated 07.07.1979 executed by Om Prakash in favour of one Dinesh Kumar, conveying to the latter an area of 245 square yards of land, was held to be a true exemplar. It represented the correct value of the acquired land. The rate of land indicated in the said exemplar was Rs.38.77 per square yard. After deducting 25%, the rate of compensation was worked out to be Rs.29.08 per square meter. The learned Judge took note of the sale deed dated 04.04.1979, that was relied upon by the appellant as well as another claimant, Niranjan Singh, whose reference was decided as the leading case by the Reference Court.

8. It was remarked that the rate of land reflected by sale deeds of smaller areas of land could not serve as valid exemplars. The learned Judge in the Reference Court has observed that it is true that where it is found that the acquired land is of good quality and has factories etc. in its vicinity, a higher compensation should be determined for it. The Judge, however, felt that it is not necessary that a sale deed of higher value may be the true exemplar. About the sale-deed executed by Ghasiram, on which the appellant has relied, it has been noticed that the relative land is located to the north of the road, whereas towards the south, there is a College and the Anupshahr Bus Stand.

9. About the appellant's land, it has been observed that in his cross-examination, the appellant has said that he had not filed on record sale deed for the past three years, because he did not know that it was necessary. It has also been admitted by the appellant that the acquired land has not been declared an abadi by the by S.D.O. The acquired land is located at a distance two furlongs from the Shikarpur-Bulandshahr Highway and from the Anupshahr-Bulandshahr Highway at a distance of one and a half furlongs. It has been remarked by the learned Judge that the appellant agrees that the acquired land is located not towards the Anupshahr Highway. It has been observed that the most valuable land is that which is located on the Anupshahr Highway and not on the Shikarpur Highway. It has also been observed that the witnesses, who have appeared in the appellant's case and the connected matters, have accepted that the land gets submerged under flood-water. The SLAO's award was perused by the Judge to opine that the SLAO acknowledges the fact that the acquired land is located close to two main highways, where they have in their vicinity commercial sites and abadi. The learned Judge has suspected most of the exemplars as evidencing inflated rates that were executed after notification of the housing scheme. He has gone with the SLAO to hold that the sale deeds at serial Nos. 23-26 represent the correct value. It is broadly on the aforesaid reasoning that the learned Judge has agreed with the SLAO.

10. Heard Mr. Ashok Tripathi, learned Counsel for the appellant, Mr. Awadhesh Kumar, learned Standing Counsel appearing on behalf of respondent no.1 and Mr. Nipun Singh, appearing on behalf of respondent no.2.

11. Mr. Ashok Tripathi, learned Counsel for the appellant has seriously assailed the award as one contrary to the evidence on record, both documentary and oral. He has drawn the attention of this Court to a copy of the sale deed dated 04.04.1979, paper No. 30C and the testimony of Kallan in the dock. Besides that, he has placed before the Court a copy of the judgment of their Lordships of the Supreme Court in Uttar Pradesh Avas Evam Vikas Parishad v. Ganga Saran (Dead) through LR and others, (2020) 14 SCC 238. The judgment was rendered relating to the same award covered by the same notification relating to Village Tanda, where a different Court of Reference had enhanced the compensation in LAR No. 128 of 1987 from Rs.29.08 per square yard to Rs.99/- per square yard. This Court had dismissed the first appeals, whereagainst their Lordships, after considering the various factors that the Reference Court took into account, because the judgment of this Court had not considered much evidence, opined the assessment to be correct. It is impressed upon this Court that the said assessment of compensation is squarely applicable to the facts here.

12. Mr. Awadhesh Kumar, learned Standing Counsel appearing on behalf of respondent no.1 and Mr. Nipun Singh, learned Counsel appearing on behalf of respondent no.2, have opposed the submissions and said that the Reference Court here has carefully distinguished relevant factors in judging the suitability of the appropriate exemplar to follow and has reached a correct conclusion that ought not to be disturbed.

13. This Court has carefully gone through the evidence on record.

14. What cannot be ignored is the fact that the acquired land is located close to two highways, the Bulandshahr-Anupshahr Highway and the Bulandshahr-Shikarpur Highway. Whether the land is located closer to one highway or the other, would not be of such decisive significance so as to trifle the value of the acquired land from what is evidenced by the exemplar cited by the appellant, paper No. 30C and support the meagre assessment made by the Trial Judge and the SLAO.

15. A perusal of the extract of the Khasra, paper No. 26C clearly shows the land to be of good quality, that is described as Sinchit Bada, which is irrigated land. There is no documentary evidence about the land getting submerged by flood waters. In his examination-in-chief, Kallan has said that the acquired land is near the stadium and I.P. Degree College, besides houses. No doubt, the appellant has said that he has not filed on record the exemplar of sale deeds for the past three years, but that appears to be more the result of a grueling cross-examination than a well-evidenced fact. The exemplar that has been filed is a sale deed dated 04.04.1979, whereas the notification under Section 28 of the Act in the present case was published on 29.09.1979. Thus, the exemplar relied upon by the appellant is very proximate in point of time to the notification under Section 28, that is relevant for the purpose of determination of the market value. In his cross-examination, Kallan, after admitting the fact that the acquired land did not house any abadi and had farming done over it, has said:

"इस जमीन से शिकारपुर वाली सड़क दो फर्लांग दूर है और अनूपशहर वाली सड़क 1 या 1-1/2 फर्लांग दूर है। नई मन्डी की स्थापना इस भूमि को अध्यापित करने से पहले हुई थी। इस भूमि से नई मन्डी 30-40गज की दूरी पर है। एक किलोमीटर दूर दूर नहीं। मेरे खेत से यदि अनूपशहर रोड पर आकर नई मन्डी को जावे तो 250 गज की दूरी है। स्टेडियम भाई पुरा वाली जमीन में नहीं है बल्कि टांडे की जमीन में है। अध्यापिती के समय काश्त की जमीन 50 हजार रूपये बीघा के हिसाब से बिकी है। उसके बैनामें भी है। मैनें अध्यापिति के समय अधिकारी के समक्ष तीन फसलों की बावत खसरा दाखिल किया था। और यहाँ भी दाखिल किया है जिसमें तीन से ज्यादा फसले लिखी है। पटवारी फसलों की पड़ताल करता था।"

16. A perusal of the said cross-examination shows that the acquired land is located at two furlongs from the Shikarpur Highway and one and a half furlong from the Anupshahr Highway. The learned Judge says that the land on the Anupshahr Highway is more valuable. The land being valuable on a particular highway does not mean that it should be virtually within the control area of that highway. A land, that is at a distance of one and a half furlong from the Anupshahr Highway, would be entitled to all the benefits that accrue from the higher value of lands located on that highway. This particular land is in the vicinity of the two highways and would, therefore, be logically more valuable; may be like others similarly situate. The fact that the stadium was built prior to the acquisition has been specifically asserted by the appellant in his cross-examination, about which he has neither been contradicted or confronted with any previous statement or material.

17. The agricultural value of the land has been described as Rs.50,000/- per bigha. The land has been asserted to be one yielding three crops a year and this fact has also not been disputed on behalf of the State. The land that is shown in the exemplar relied upon by the appellant more or less represents the true value of lands located in the vicinity of the two State Highways. There is no particular feature about the acquired land that may diminish its value compared to others. In the context of parameters on which value of acquired land may be assessed, reference may be made with profit to the decision of a Division Bench of this Court in Meerut Development Authority Through its Secretary v. Basheshwar Dayal (Dead) Through L.Rs. and another, 2013 SCC OnLine All 13200. In Meerut Development Authority v. Basheshwar Dayal (supra), the principles, governing assessment of compensation based on various decisions of their Lordships of the Supreme Court, have been culled out thus:

"11. Having heard and considered the contentions of the learned Counsel for the parties and perused the material available on record including the impugned judgments of the Reference Court, we now first proceed to summarize the legal principles settled by Hon'ble Supreme Court in various judgments relevant for determination of market value, as under:

(i) Function of the Court in awarding compensation under the Act is to ascertain the market value of the land on the date of the notification under section 4(1),

(ii) The method for determination of market value may be:

(a) Opinion of experts,

(b) the price paid within a reasonable time in bona fide trans-actions of purchase of the lands acquired or the lands adjacent to the lands acquired and possessing similar advantages,

(c) a number of years purchase of the actual or immediately prospective profits of the land acquired.

(Ref. Jawajee Nagnatham v. Revenue Divisional Officer [(1994) 4 SCC 595 para 5.]). (iii) While fixing the market value of the acquired land, comparable sales method of valuation is preferred than other methods of valuation of land such as capitalisation of net income method or expert opinion method. Comparable sales method of valuation is preferred because it furnishes the evidence for determination of the market value of the acquired land at which a willing purchaser would pay for the acquired land if it had been sold in the open market at the time of issue of notification under section 4 of the Act. However, comparable sales method of valuation of land for fixing the market value of the acquired land is not always conclusive but subject to the following factors:--

(a) Sale must be a genuine transaction,

(b) the sale-deed must have been executed at the time proximate to the date of issue of notification under section 4 of the Act,

(c) the land covered by the sale must be in the vicinity of the acquired land,

(d) the land covered by the sales must be similar to the acquired land,

(e) the size of plot of the land covered by the sales be comparable to the land acquired.

(f) if there is dissimilarity in regard to locality, shape, site or nature of land between land covered by sales and land acquired, it is open to the Court to proportionately reduce the compensation for acquired land.

(iv) The amount of compensation cannot be ascertained with mathematical accuracy. A comparable instance has to be identified having regard to the proximity from time angle as well as proximity from situation angle. For determining the market value of the land under acquisition, suitable adjustment has to be made having regard to various positive and negative factors vis-a-vis the land under acquisition which are as under:

Positive factors	Negative factors
(i) smallness of size	(i) largeness of area

(ii) proximity to a road	(ii) situation in the interior at a distance from the road
(iii) frontage on a road	(iii) narrow strip of land with very small frontage compared to depth
(iv) nearness to developed area	(iv) lower level requiring the area depressed portion to be filled up
(v) regular shape	(v) remoteness from developed locality
(vi) level vis-a-vis land under acquisition	(vi) some special disadvantageous factors which would deter a purchaser.
(vii) special value for an owner of an adjoining property to whom it may have some very special advantage

(v) For ascertaining the market value of the land, the potentiality of the acquired land should also be taken into consideration. Potentiality means capacity or possibility for changing or developing into state of actuality.

(vi) Deduction not to be done when land holders have been deprived of their holding 15 to 20 years back and have not been paid any amount.

(vii) In fixing market value of the acquired land, which is undeveloped or under-developed, the Courts have generally approved deduction of 1/3rd of the market value towards development cost except when no development is required to be made for implementation of the public purpose for which land/is acquired. (Ref. Valliyammal v. Special Tahsildar Land Acquisition, [(2011) 8 SCC 91.] paras 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18 and 19).

(viii) When there are several exemplars with reference to similar lands, it is the general rule that the highest of the exemplars, if it is satisfied, that it is a bona fide transaction has to be considered and accepted. When the land is being compulsorily taken away from a person, he is entitled to the highest value which similar land in the locality shown to have fetched in a bona fide transaction entered into between a willing purchaser and a willing seller near about the time of the acquisition.

(Ref. Mehrawal Khewaji Trust (Registered), Faridkot v. State of Punjab [(2012) 5 SCC 432 : 2012 (114) AIC 268.]).

(ix) In view of section 51-A of the Act certified copy of sale-deed is admissible in evidence, even the vendor or vendee thereof is not required to examine themselves for proving the contents thereof. This, however, would not mean that contents of the transaction as evidenced by the registered sale-deed would automatically be accepted. The Legislature advisedly has used the word "may'. A discretion, therefore, has been conferred upon a Court to be exercised judicially, i.e., upon taking into consideration the relevant factors. Only because a document is admissible in evidence, the same by itself would not mean that the contents thereof stand proved. Having regard to the other materials brought on record, the Court may not accept the evidence contained in a deed of sale.

(Ref. Cement Corpn. Of India Ltd. v. Purya [(2004) 8 SCC 270 para 28 and 38,]).

(x) While fixing the market value of the acquired land, the Land Acquisition Collector is required to keep in mind the following factors:--

(a) Existing geographical situation of the land.

(b) Existing use of the land.

(c) Already available advantages, like proximity to National or State Highway or road and/or developed area,

(d) Market value of other land situated in the same locality/village/area or adjacent or very near the acquired land.

(xi) section 23(1) of the Act lays down what the Court has to take into consideration while section 24 lays down what the Court shall not take into consideration and have to be neglected. The main object of the enquiry before the Court is to determine the market value of the land acquired. The market value is the price that a willing purchaser would pay to a willing seller for the property having due regard to its existing condition with all its existing advantages and its potential possibilities when led out in most advantageous manner excluding any advantage due to carrying out of the scheme for which the property is compulsorily acquired. The determination of market value is the prediction of an economic event viz. a price out-come of hypothetical sale expressed in terms of probabilities. For ascertaining the market value of the land, the potentiality of the acquired land should also be taken into consideration. Potentiality means capacity or possibility for changing or developing into state of actuality.

(xii) The question whether a land has potential value or not, is primarily one of fact depending upon its condition, situation, user to which it is put or is reasonably capable of being put and proximity to residential, commercial or industrial areas or institutions. The existing amenities like water, electricity, possibility of their further extension, whether near about town is developing.

(xiii) In fixing market value of the acquired land, which is undeveloped or under-developed, the Courts have generally approved deduction of ⅓rd of the market value towards development cost except when no development is required to be made for implementation of the public purpose for which land is acquired. Deduction of "development cost" is the concept used to derive the "wholesale price" of a large undeveloped land with reference to the "retail price" of a small developed plot. The difference between the value of a small developed plot and the value of a large undeveloped land is the "development cost".

(Ref. Sabhia Mohammed Yusuf Abdul Hamid Mulla (dead) [2012 (95) ALR 219 (SC) : (2012) 7 SCC 595 paras 16, 17, 18, 21 and 22.]).

18. Reference may also be made to the decision of the Supreme Court in Bhule Ram v. Union of India and another, (2014) 11 SCC 307, where various factors, including the provisions of Section 23 of the Land Acquisition Act, have been emphasized to assess the market value; some play for guesswork has also been permitted. The distance from a National or State Highway has been emphasized in the said authority.

19. Here, this Court finds that clearly, the land is in the vicinity of a stadium, existing on the date of notification and close to two highways. It is high yielding land and there is not much evidence to convincingly show that the land is submerged by flood waters. So far as the exemplar relied upon by the appellant is concerned, there is no reason to infer it to be a case of sale at inflated rate. The learned Judge in the Reference Court has virtually suspected every transaction of contemporaneous sale, but those three that have supported the lowest rate. It is not the parameter by which a claim for compensation is to be judged that the lowest available rate amongst the exemplars is to be regarded as the embodiment of a genuine and truthful transaction. Rather, the large number of exemplars noticed in the connected references that show rates between Rs.100/- and Rs.200/- per square yard, would clearly exclude the abysmally poor value of Rs.29.08 per square yard accepted by the Judge. Though, it is not before this Court on facts whether the order of the Reference Court, that was upheld by their Lordships of the Supreme Court in Uttar Pradesh Avas Evam Vikas Parishad v. Ganga Saran (supra) is precisely related to an identically situate acquired land, but the decision is a safe index about the true value of the land, going by the fact that the land acquired is for the same housing scheme and all of it lies close to two public roads. It has been observed in the judgment of their Lordships of the Supreme Court in Uttar Pradesh Avas Evam Vikas Parishad v. Ganga Saran thus:

"10. It is the case of the respondent claimants that the land which was required for the purpose of housing scheme is within the municipal limits and near to residential and commercial buildings."

20. The fact that the acquired land has been acquired for the same housing scheme, makes the observation of the Supreme Court applicable for the assessment of value of the land here as well.

21. In the opinion of this Court, after considering all possible dimensions that are relevant to assess fair and just compensation, the rate of Rs.99/- per square yard would be correct assessment, that has been approved for similar land in Uttar Pradesh Avas Evam Vikas Parishad v. Ganga Saran. This inference is based on the fact that the land relates to the same scheme and more or less governed by similar exemplars, where private sale of small portions of land has varied between Rs.100/- to Rs.200/- per square yard. Moreover, the land here is valuable and located very close to two highways, a stadium and other upcoming development on the date of acquisition. It is not located very faraway from the village abadi also.

22. In the circumstances, this appeal succeeds and is allowed with costs. The impugned judgment and award passed by the Reference Court is set aside and the reference is accepted in the terms that for the acquired land, the appellant shall be entitled to compensation at the rate of Rs.99/- per square yard. The statutory entitlements, such as that to solatium, additional compensation and interest, would be worked out accordingly.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Ajai Tyagi, J.)

1. These two appeals have been preferred against the same judgment and award dated 07.03.2015 passed by Motor Accident Claims Tribunal/Special Juede (E.C.), Act, Ghaziabad (hereinafter referred to as "Tribunal') in M.A.C.P. No. 264 of 2012 (Smt. Sarita Sharma and another Vs. Mohammad Usman and others), whereby the claim petition of the claimants was allowed and awarded a sum of Rs.34,50,000/- as compensation to the claimants with interest at the rate of 6% per annum. Learned Tribunal also held contributory negligence to the tune of 50% each of the drivers, involved in the accident.

2. The claimants have preferred an appeal bearing no. F.A.F.O. No. 1164 of 2015 for enhancement of compensation and setting aside the part of contributory negligence on the part of the deceased/driver of the car, whereas, the Insurance Company of the truck preferred an appeal bearing no. F.A.F.O. No.1053 of 2015, mainly on the ground that the truck in question was not involved in accident and if not so, the deceased was the major contributor to the accident.

3. Heard Mr. Vivek Saran, learned counsel for the appellants-claimants and Mr. Nishant Mehrotra, learned counsel for the Insurance Company-respondents. Perused the record.

4. Brief facts of the case are that claim petition was filed by claimants on account of death of Mr. Vimal Kaushik (husband of appellant-claimant no.1), who died in road accident no 10.04.2011. It is averred in claim petition that on 10.04.2011 at about 2:30 AM (night), deceased Vimal Kaushik was coming from Merrut to Ghaziabad in his car bearing no. U.P. 14 BH 1232. Leaving the Merrut road, when he turned to Hapur road and crossed the flyover a truck bearing no. H.R 38 G 1780, which was being driven very rashly and negligently by its driver, came from opposite direction and hit the car of the deceased. In this accident, husband of claimant no.1 was badly injured and died on the way to the District Hospital Ghaziabad. Accident was reported in police station Kavinagar, District Ghaziabad on the same day by brother of the deceased.

5. Learned counsel for the appellants-claimants has submitted that learned Tribunal has held deceased's guilty of 50% contributory negligence in the accident but the plea of contributory negligence was neither pleaded nor proved. Plea of contributory negligence was not proved by any of the parties to the claim petition. Apart from it, there is no evidence on record, to show or prove that deceased was contributor to the accident. It is further submitted that deceased was on correct side of the road while the truck was on the wrong side. At the site of the accident, there is divider on the road. The driver of the truck came on the same road on which deceased was coming which was left side of the road of the car. In fact, the truck should have gone across the divider but to make short-cut, the truck came on the wrong side of the divider and hit the car of the deceased.

6. In this way, the truck driver was solely negligent but learned Tribunal erroneously held the deceased's guilty also to the tune of 50% for contributory negligence. Site plan, prepared by Investigating Officer also shows that the truck was being driven on the wrong side of the divider of the road.

7. Learned counsel for the claimants has also submitted that learned Tribunal has given finding that there was night at the time of accident and head light of the truck must have been visible to the deceased from a certain distance, hence, he had an opportunity to avoid the accident but due to high speed he could not avoid the accident. This finding is perverse and based on surmises and conjectures only.

8. Learned counsel for the claimants contended that there is no evidence on record that deceased was driving the car in rash and negligent manner and there is no evidence at all that he was driving at a high speed yet the learned Tribunal held him guilty for negligence. Moreover, there is no basis on which learned Tribunal has fixed the percentage of negligence of both the drivers. It is next argued that the compensation is calculated on the lower side, deceased was professor in a Degree College. His pay structure is duly proved by the accountant of the collage but learned Tribunal has deducted the component of House Rent Allowance and City Compensatory Allowance from the salary of the deceased, which was duly payable to him.

9. Per contra, learned counsel for the Insurance Company has vehemently objected the arguments advanced by the claimants and submitted that the involvement of the truck is not proved by the claimants because the F.I.R. of the accident was lodged by brother of the deceased against unknown truck. Truck number is also not mentioned in F.I.R. and later on with the collusion of the truck owner, it was impleaded in the accident for making unlawful gain to the claimants.

10. Learned counsel for the Insurance Company has also submitted that there is no evidence on record that truck driver was driving rashly and negligently at the time of accident. The manner by which the accident took place is only the result of imagination of the learned Tribunal. If at all the accident happened, it was on account of sole negligence on the part of the deceased or he was the major contributor. Presence of so called eye witnesses is completely doubtful on the spot. In site plan also no truck number is mentioned by the Investigating Officer. Moreover, brother of the deceased, who lodged the F.I.R., was not produced in evidence which weakens the claimants' case to the great extent and it was proved that he had not seen the incident.

11. It is further submitted by learned counsel for the Insurance Company that as far as the quantum of compensation is concerned, it is already fixed on the higher side, which needs no interference by this Court.

12. Apart from the issue of quantum of compensation, there are two main issues in both appeals; one issue relates to the involvement of the truck in question in the accident and second issue relates to contributory negligence on the part of the drivers of both the vehicles involved.

13. As far as the involvement of truck is in question, learned counsel for the Insurance Company has taken plea before us that truck in question was not involved in accident because no truck number is mentioned in the F.I.R. and during the investigation also. I.O. did not mention any truck number in site plan.

14. We are not convinced with the arguments of Insurance Company in this regard, because the accident had taken place in the night of 10.04.2011 at 2:30 AM and the F.I.R. was lodged at 07:05 AM on the same day i.e. after four and half hours of the incident. Hence, there was no opportunity for claimants to plant a wrong vehicle in the accident, in such a short-time that too in the dark hours of the night because it is very important and pertinent to mention that F.I.R. does not say that unknown vehicle hit the car but it says that unknown truck hit the car, hence it is established in F.I.R. that the vehicle which caused the accident was truck. If truck number is not mentioned in F.I.R. it does not weaken the case of claimants because in the dark night it was not expected by anybody to note the truck number when it is admitted case that truck was not caught on the spot and it ran away from the spot after causing the accident. It is not disputed that both the vehicles dashed in each other from opposite direction because the technical inspection report of the car shows all damages in front side of the car.

15. The Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Anita Sharma and Others Vs. The New India Assurance Co. Ltd. and Another, 2020 (0) Supreme (SC) 704 has held that learned Tribunal is not required to adopt the standard of proof as is adopted in criminal trials. Learned Tribunal is required to decide the claim petitions on touchstone of preponderance of probabilities and certainly not on the basis of proof beyond reasonable doubt. In such matters, learned Tribunal should take holistic view of the matter on the basis of evidence available on record. Learned Tribunal has rightly concluded that truck in question was involved in the accident, hence, on this point we confirm the finding of learned Tribunal.

16. Now, we come to the controversy of negligence in the matter. Let us consider the negligence from the perspective of the law laid down.

17. The term negligence means failure to exercise care towards others which a reasonable and prudent person would in a circumstance or taking action which such a reasonable person would not. Negligence can be both intentional or accidental which is normally accidental. More particularly, it connotes reckless driving and the injured must always prove that the either side is negligent. If the injury rather death is caused by something owned or controlled by the negligent party then he is directly liable otherwise the principle of "res ipsa loquitur" meaning thereby "the things speak for itself" would apply.

18. The principle of contributory negligence has been discussed time and again. A person who either contributes or author of the accident would be liable for his contribution to the accident having taken place.

19. The Division Bench of this Court in First Appeal From Order No. 1818 of 2012 (Bajaj Allianz General Insurance Co.Ltd. Vs. Smt. Renu Singh And Others) decided on 19.7.2016 has held as under :

"16. Negligence means failure to exercise required degree of care and caution expected of a prudent driver. Negligence is the omission to do something which a reasonable man, guided upon the considerations, which ordinarily regulate conduct of human affairs, would do, or doing something which a prudent and reasonable man would not do. Negligence is not always a question of direct evidence. It is an inference to be drawn from proved facts. Negligence is not an absolute term, but is a relative one. It is rather a comparative term. What may be negligence in one case may not be so in another. Where there is no duty to exercise care, negligence in the popular sense has no legal consequence. Where there is a duty to exercise care, reasonable care must be taken to avoid acts or omissions which would be reasonably foreseen likely to caused physical injury to person. The degree of care required, of course, depends upon facts in each case. On these broad principles, the negligence of drivers is required to be assessed.

17. It would be seen that burden of proof for contributory negligence on the part of deceased has to be discharged by the opponents. It is the duty of driver of the offending vehicle to explain the accident. It is well settled law that at intersection where two roads cross each other, it is the duty of a fast moving vehicle to slow down and if driver did not slow down at intersection, but continued to proceed at a high speed without caring to notice that another vehicle was crossing, then the conduct of driver necessarily leads to conclusion that vehicle was being driven by him rashly as well as negligently.

18. 10th Schedule appended to Motor Vehicle Act contain statutory regulations for driving of motor vehicles which also form part of every Driving License. Clause-6 of such Regulation clearly directs that the driver of every motor vehicle to slow down vehicle at every intersection or junction of roads or at a turning of the road. It is also provided that driver of the vehicle should not enter intersection or junction of roads unless he makes sure that he would not thereby endanger any other person. Merely, because driver of the Truck was driving vehicle on the left side of road would not absolve him from his responsibility to slow down vehicle as he approaches intersection of roads, particularly when he could have easily seen, that the car over which deceased was riding, was approaching intersection.

19. In view of the fast and constantly increasing volume of traffic, motor vehicles upon roads may be regarded to some extent as coming within the principle of liability defined in Rylands V/s. Fletcher, (1868) 3 HL (LR) 330*. From the point of view of pedestrian, the roads of this country have been rendered by the use of motor vehicles, highly dangerous. 'Hit and run' cases where drivers of motor vehicles who have caused accidents, are unknown. In fact such cases are increasing in number. Where a pedestrian without negligence on his part is injured or killed by a motorist, whether negligently or not, he or his legal representatives, as the case may be, should be entitled to recover damages if principle of social justice should have any meaning at all.*

20. These provisions (section 110A and sec.110B of Motor Act, 1988) are not merely procedural provisions. They substantively affect the rights of the parties. The right of action created by Fatal Accidents Act, 1855 was 'new in its species, new in its quality, new in its principles. In every way it was new. The right given to legal representatives under Act, 1988 to file an application for compensation for death due to a motor vehicle accident is an enlarged one. This right cannot be hedged in by limitations of an action under Fatal Accidents Act, 1855. New situations and new dangers require new strategies and new remedies.

21. In the light of the above discussion, we are of the view that even if courts may not by interpretation displace the principles of law which are considered to be well settled and, therefore, court cannot dispense with proof of negligence altogether in all cases of motor vehicle accidents, it is possible to develop the law further on the following lines; when a motor vehicle is being driven with reasonable care, it would ordinarily not meet with an accident and, therefore, rule of res-ipsa loquitor as a rule of evidence may be invoked in motor accident cases with greater frequency than in ordinary civil suits (per three-Judge Bench in Jacob Mathew V/s. State of Punjab, 2005 0 ACJ(SC) 1840*).*

22. By the above process, the burden of proof may ordinarily be cast on the defendants in a motor accident claim petition to prove that motor vehicle was being driven with reasonable care or that there is equal negligence on the part the other side."

20. Learned Tribunal has held that in the said incident, the truck was coming on wrong side of the divider. At the time of accident, it was found on the road, which was correct side of the road, for truck and the car was on correct side of the divider. But the learned Tribunal held that although the truck was on the wrong side of the divider yet due to the night, head lights of the truck were on and were visible to the deceased from a certain distance but due to high speed of the car, the deceased could not save the accident. Hence, truck driver and the deceased were held negligent to the tune of 50% each.

21. After analyzing the evidence on record, it is not in dispute that at the time of accident, truck was on the wrong side of the divider and the car was on correct side of the divider. Site plan, which was prepared by I.O. during the investigation, shows that accident took place at the point shown by letter "A", which is absolutely very near of speed breaker, hence, it was expected from the deceased also that the speed of the car should have been very moderate due to presence of speed breaker, yet the impact of the accident was so high that it took away the life of the deceased. But we are not convinced to concur with the aforementioned finding and degree of percentage holding the deceased to be negligent to the tune of 50%.

22. Further it is very important to note that the truck driver has not stepped in the witness-box, hence, claimants could not get opportunity to cross-examine the driver on the factum of accident, which could elicit the truth because in this case, unfortunately, the car driver lost his life and truck driver has not stepped in witness-box, hence, only circumstances remain before the learned Tribunal and this Court to ascertain the degree of contributory negligence on the part of each of the drivers. It is jurisprudence of law that cross-examination is an acid test of the truthfulness of the statement made by a witness but truck driver is not produced in evidence, hence, claimants lost the opportunity to elicit the truth from the best witness namely driver of the truck.

23. On the basis of discussions made above, we are of considered opinion that truck driver even if he was not solely responsible for the accident, was the major contributor to the accident. He is the main author of the accident, yet we cannot shut our eyes to the fact that deceased was also driving the car at a high speed at the time of accident because in spite of there being a speed breaker very near to the accident site, the deceased was not able to reduce the impact of the accident. Had he been driving at a moderate speed due to approaching the speed breaker, impact of accident could have been much lesser. Hence, we set aside the finding of learned Tribunal with regard to the degree of percentage of contributory negligence on the part of the each of the drivers of the vehicles involved to the tune of 50% each and instead we fix the contributory negligence of truck driver to the tune of 80% and contributory negligence of the deceased to the tune of 20%.

Compensation:-

24. The question of quantum of compensation has to be reevaluated. The deceased was professor in a degree college in Ghazibad, his salary certificate is produced on record, which is duly proved by the concerned employee of the college by entering in witness-box before the learned Tribunal. As per the salary certificate, after deduction of income tax etc., the deceased was getting Rs.63,734/- as salary. He was also getting Rs.3,00/- as city compensatory allowance and Rs.6960/- as house rent allowance. These allowances were deducted bythe learned Tribunal from the salary and assessed the salary for computation at Rs.54,474/-.

25. In our opinion, city compensatory allowance and house rent allowance are not deductable component from the salary because these are allowance, which were used for the benefit of family also. Salary certificate of the deceased is on record, which shows that gross salary of the deceased was Rs.78,658/- deduction for provident fund/G.P.F. of Rs.4924 and income tax of Rs.10,000/- are shown in salary certificate. In our opinion deduction towards Provident Fund/G.P.F. is made from salary, hence, it is to be included in the salary for the purpose of computation. Only the income tax of Rs.10,000/- shall be deducted from gross salary. Hence, for the purpose of computation of salary, the income will be assessed Rs. 78,658-10,000 = Rs.68,658 and learned Tribunal has not awarded any sum towards future loss of income. The learned counsel for the appellant has also relied on the decision in Vimal Kanwar and Others Vs. Kishore An and Others, 2013 (3) T.A.C. 6 (SC).

26. According to the judgment of the Apex Court in Sarla Verma and Others Vs. Delhi Transport Corporation and Another, 2009 LawSuit (SC) 613 and National Insurance Co. Ltd. Vs. Pranay Sethi and Others, 2017 LawSuit (SC) 1093, due to being employed and being of 40 ½ years of age, 30% shall be added towards future loss of income to the income of the deceased as per the aforesaid decisions.

27. As far as the dependency is concerned, there are two dependents of the deceased. Keeping in view the number of dependents, 1/3rd of the income shall be deducted for personal expenses. Learned Tribunal has applied multiplier of 15 for which there is no dispute. Under the non pecuniary head, claimants-appellants shall be entitled to get Rs.15,000/- for loss of estate and Rs.15,000/- for funeral expenses. Apart from it, claimants shall also be entitled to get Rs.40,000/- + 40,000/- for loss of consortium. In this way, claimants shall get Rs.1,10,000/- under the head of non pecuniary damages as per the judgment of Hon'ble Apex Court in Pranay Sethi (Supra).

28. Hence, the total compensation payable to the claimants appellants are computed herein below:

(i) Annual income Rs.68,658 X 12 = Rs. 8,23,896/- Per annum.

(ii) Percentage towards future prospects : 30%. Rs.2,47,168/-

(iii) Total income : Rs.8,23,896 + 2,47,168/- = Rs.10,71,064/-

(iv) Income after deduction of 1/3rd:Rs.10,71,064-3,57,021/-= Rs.7,14,043

(v) Multiplier applicable : 15

(vi) Loss of dependency : Rs.7,14,043 X 15 = Rs.1,07,10,645/-

(vii) Amount under non pecuniary head : Rs.1,10,000/-

(ix)Amount after 20% deduction towards contributory negligence : Rs.1,08,20,645 - 21,64,129/- = Rs. 86,56,516/-

29. As far as issue of rate of interest is concerned, it should be 7.5% in view of the latest decision of the Apex Court in National Insurance Co. Ltd. Vs. Mannat Johal and Others, 2019 (2) T.A.C. 705 (S.C.) wherein the Apex Court has held as under:

"13. The aforesaid features equally apply to the contentions urged on behalf of the claimants as regards the rate of interest. The Tribunal had awarded interest at the rate of 12% p.a. but the same had been too high a rate in comparison to what is ordinarily envisaged in these matters. The High Court, after making a substantial enhancement in the award amount, modified the interest component at a reasonable rate of 7.5% p.a. and we find no reason to allow the interest in this matter at any rate higher than that allowed by High Court."

30. Learned Tribunal has awarded rate of interest as 6% per annum but we are fixing the rate of interest as 7.5% in the light of the above judgment.

31. In view of the above, the appeal preferred by the claimants bearing F.A.F.O. 1164 of 2015 is partly allowed. The appeal preferred by the Insurance company bearing F.A.F.O. No. 1053 of 2015 is, accordingly, dismissed. Judgment and award passed by the learned Tribunal shall stand modified to the aforesaid extent. The respondent-Insurance Company shall deposit the amount within a period of 12 weeks from today with interest at the rate of 7.5% from the date of filing of the claim petition till the amount is deposited. The amount already deposited be deducted from the amount to be deposited.

32. In view of the ratio laid down by Hon'ble Gujarat High Court, in the case of Smt. Hansagori P. Ladhani v/s The Oriental Insurance Company Ltd., reported in 2007(2) GLH 291 and this High Court in total amount of interest, accrued on the principal amount of compensation is to be apportioned on financial year to financial year basis and if the interest payable to claimant for any financial year exceeds Rs.50,000/-, insurance company/owner is/are entitled to deduct appropriate amount under the head of 'Tax Deducted at Source' as provided u/s 194A (3) (ix) of the Income Tax Act, 1961 and if the amount of interest does not exceeds Rs.50,000/- in any financial year, registry of this Tribunal is directed to allow the claimants to withdraw the amount without producing the certificate from the concerned Income- Tax Authority. The aforesaid view has been reiterated by this High Court in Review Application No.1 of 2020 in First Appeal From Order No.23 of 2001 (Smt. Sudesna and others Vs. Hari Singh and another) and in First Appeal From Order No.2871 of 2016 (Tej Kumari Sharma v. Chola Mandlam M.S. General Insurance Co. Ltd.) decided on 19.3.2021 while disbursing the amount.

1. Heard Shri Rajiv Chaddha, learned counsel for the appellants, Shri Satya Deo Ojha, learned counsel for the respondents; and perused the record.

2. This appeal, at the behest of the insurance company, challenges the judgment dated 31.5.2000 passed by Motor Accident Claims Tribunal/IIIrd Additional District Judge, Etawah (hereinafter referred to as 'Tribunal') in Motor Accident Claim Petition No.290 of 1994 awarding a sum of Rs.8,06,000/- with interest at the rate of 12% as compensation.

3. The brief facts of this case are that on 14.02.1994 one deceased (Krishna Kant Pandey) was going back from Bharthana to Auraiya by his Ambassador Car No.UHH-2100 at about 11.30 p.m. he reached near Madhupur Satiyapur where truck No.UPG-2108 was standing in the middle at the road without any lights on. As soon as Krishna Kant Pandey reached near the truck another truck came from the front with very bright lights on and his eyes got dazzled and he hit the truck no.UPG-2018 which resulted in the death of Sri Krishna Kant Pandey.

4. The submission of Sri Chaddha, learned counsel for appellant that income of deceased was considered by the tribunal without any proof and according to him the deceased as the lecturer in a Degree College his income could not be Rs.8000/- p.m.

5. It is submitted by Shri Ojha, learned counsel for respondents that cross objections are filed for enhancement of compensation and therefore the amount requires to be recalculated.

6. The issue of negligence has to be decided from the perspective of the law laid down by the Courts.

7. The term negligence means failure to exercise care towards others which a reasonable and prudent person would in a circumstance. Negligence can be both intentional or accidental which can also be accidental. More particularly, term negligence connotes reckless driving and the injured of claimants must always prove that the either side is negligent. If the injury rather death is caused by something owned or controlled by the negligent party then he is directly liable otherwise the principle of "res ipsa loquitur" meaning thereby "the things speak for itself" would apply.

8. The principle of contributory negligence has been discussed time and again. A person who either contributes or is author of the accident would be liable for his contribution to the accident having taken place.

9. The Division Bench of this Court in First Appeal From Order No. 1818 of 2012 (Bajaj Allianz General Insurance Co.Ltd. Vs. Smt. Renu Singh And Others) decided on 19.7.2016 has held as under :

"16. Negligence means failure to exercise required degree of care and caution expected of a prudent driver. Negligence is the omission to do something which a reasonable man, guided upon the considerations, which ordinarily regulate conduct of human affairs, would do, or doing something which a prudent and reasonable man would not do. 22. By the above process, the burden of proof may ordinarily be cast on the defendants in a motor accident claim petition to prove that motor vehicle was being driven with reasonable care or that there is equal negligence on the part the other side."

10. Learned counsel for the respondents, has vehemently objected the contentions raised by the learned counsel for the appellants and has submitted that the compensation awarded by the Tribunal is calls for enhancement.

11. Having heard learned counsel for the parties and considered the factual data, this Court found that the accident occurred on 14.2.1994 causing death of Krishna Kant Pandey who was aged about 46 years of age and left behind him, widow and two children. The Tribunal has assessed the income of the deceased to be Rs.96,000/- per annum. The deceased was lecturer by profession according to his pay certificate which is on record. To which as the deceased was in age bracket of 40 to 50 years and a salaried person, 30% of the income will have to be added as future prospects in view of the decision of the Apex Court in National Insurance Company Limited Vs. Pranay Sethi and Others, 2017 0 Supreme (SC) 1050. As far as deduction towards personal expenses of the deceased is concerned, it should be 1/3 as the deceased had three persons to feed. The multiplier of 13 would be applied and the rate of interest shall be 9% instead of 12% as granted by the court below.

12. In this backdrop let us evaluate the income in view of the judgment of National Insurance Company Limited Vs. Pranay Sethi and Others, 2017 0 Supreme (SC) 1050 and Sarla Verma Vs. Delhi Transport Corporation, (2009) 6 SCC 121 and, the recalculation would be as follows:

i. Income = Rs.8,000/- per month as per pay certificate.

ii. Percentage towards future prospects : 30% namely Rs.2400/-

iii. Total income : Rs. 10,000 + 2400 = Rs.12,400/-

iv. Income after deduction of 1/3 : Rs.8,267/-

v. Multiplier applicable : 13 (as the deceased was in the age bracket of 46-50 years)

vii. Loss of dependency: Rs. 8,267 x 13 = Rs.1,07,471/- viii. Annual income : Rs.1,07,471 x 12 = Rs.12,89,652/-

ix. Amount under non pecuniary heads : Rs.30,000/-

x. Total compensation : Rs.13,19,652/-.

13. On depositing the amount in the Registry of Tribunal, Registry is directed to first deduct the amount of deficit court fees, if any. Considering the ratio laid down by the Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of A.V. Padma V/s. Venugopal, Reported in 2012 (1) GLH (SC), 442, the order of investment is not passed because applicants /claimants are neither illiterate or rustic villagers.

14. In view of the ratio laid down by Hon'ble Gujarat High Court, in the case of Smt. Hansagauri P. Ladhani v/s The Oriental Insurance Company Ltd., reported in 2007(2) GLH 291, total amount of interest, accrued on the principal amount of compensation is to be apportioned on financial year to financial year basis and if the interest payable to claimant for any financial year exceeds Rs.50,000/-, insurance company/owner is/are entitled to deduct appropriate amount under the head of 'Tax Deducted at Source' as provided u/s 194A (3) (ix) of the Income Tax Act, 1961 and if the amount of interest does not exceeds Rs.50,000/- in any financial year, registry of this Tribunal is directed to allow the claimant to withdraw the amount without producing the certificate from the concerned Income- Tax Authority. The aforesaid view has been reiterated by this High Court in Review Application No.1 of 2020 in First Appeal From Order No.23 of 2001 (Smt. Sudesna and others Vs. Hari Singh and another) while disbursing the amount.

15. Fresh Award be drawn accordingly in the above petition by the tribunal as per the modification made herein. The Tribunals in the State shall follow the direction of this Court as herein aforementioned as far as disbursement is concerned, it should look into the condition of the litigant and the pendency of the matter and not blindly apply the judgment of A.V. Padma (supra). The same is to be applied looking to the facts of each case.

16. As far as issue of rate of interest is concerned, it should be 7.5% in view of the latest decision of the Apex Court in National Insurance Co. Ltd. Vs. Mannat Johal and Others, 2019 (2) T.A.C. 705 (S.C.) wherein the Apex Court has held as under :

"13. The aforesaid features equally apply to the contentions urged on behalf of the claimants as regards the rate of interest. The Tribunal had awarded interest at the rate of 12% p.a. but the same had been too high a rate in comparison to what is ordinarily envisaged in these matters. The High Court, after making a substantial enhancement in the award amount, modified the interest component at a reasonable rate of 7.5% p.a. and we find no reason to allow the interest in this matter at any rate higher than that allowed by High Court."

17. The Apex Court in AIR 2021 SC 3301, Lakkamma & others. v. The Regional Manager M/S United India Insurance Co. Ltd & another has accepted the submission of the insurance company that for a period when the appeal is belated, interest shall not be paid. This Court will adopt the similar mode from the date of the judgment till the cross objection is filed. The delay is condoned, interest be not granted.

18. In view of the above, the appeal is partly allowed. Judgment and decree passed by the Tribunal shall stand modified to the aforesaid extent. The respondent-Insurance Company shall deposit the amount along with additional amount within a period of 12 weeks from today with interest at the rate of 7.5% from the date of filing of the claim petition till the amount is deposited. The amount already deposited be deducted from the amount to be deposited.

19. The Appeal and the Cross objection are allowed in light of the latest decisions of the Apex Court. .

20. Record be sent back to court below forthwith, if any.

21. This Court is thankful to Shri Rajiv Chaddha and Shri S.D. Ojha, learned counsels for the parties for ably assisted the Court.

Counsel for the Respondents:
Sri Pranjal Mehrotra, Sri M.K. Maurya

(A) Torts Law - Motor vehicle Act,1988 - Section 163-A,166,173 - compensation for death - rate of interest - income tax returns should be considered as proof of income. (Para -8,10)

(B) Tax Law - The Income Tax Act, 1961- Section 194A (3) (ix) - total amount of interest, accrued on the principal amount of compensation is to be apportioned on financial year to financial year basis - if the interest payable to claimant for any financial year exceeds Rs.50,000/- - insurance company/owner is/are entitled to deduct appropriate amount under the head of 'Tax Deducted at Source' - if the amount of interest does not exceeds Rs.50,000/- in any financial year - registry of Tribunal is directed to allow the claimants to withdraw the amount without producing the certificate from the concerned Income-Tax Authority. (Para - 16)

Accident caused death of three people - deceased (Prashant Verma), his younger brother (Sandeep Verma) and mother (Smt. Vimlesh) succumbed to the injuries on the spot - same accident - three different awards - rate of interest 7% - dissatisfied with compensation awarded by Tribunal - hence three appeals.

HELD:-Total compensation payable Rs.7,08,550/- for (DECEASED SMT. VIMLESH VERMA); Rs.14,98,000/- for (DECEASED SANDEEP VERMA) ; Rs.25,95,000/- for (DECEASED PRASHANT VERMA).The respondent-Insurance Company shall deposit the amount with interest at the rate of 7.5% from the date of filing of the claim petition till the amount is deposited. (Delivered by Hon'ble Dr. Kaushal Jayendra Thaker, J.)

1. Heard Shri Ramesh Kumar Shukla, learned counsel for the appellants and Shri Pranjal Mehrotra, learned counsel for the respondents. None appears for the owner.

2. These three appeals are preferred by the appellants who were the original claimants being dissatisfied with the compensation awarded by the Tribunal. The appeal No. 3087 of 2011 arises out of Claim Petition No. 88 of 2010 which was instituted for the death of Prashant Verma. The F.A.F.O. No. 3086 of 2011 arises out of Claim Petition No. 89 of 2010 decided on 14.04.2011 which was filed for death of Sandeep Verma who died in motor accident and F.A.F.O. No. 3085 of 2011 arises out of the Claim Petition being No. 90 of 2010 seeking compensation for the death of Smt. Vimlesh Verma. All the three appeals arise out of three different awards but the accident arose out of the same accident, hence we decide these appeals together.

3. The facts as revealed go to show that on the fateful day when the vehicle in which the deceased were travelling, at about 2.30 p.m. when their vehicle reached near village Deval a tanker bearing registration no. HR 45-A-4558 which was being driven rashly and negligently by its driver, dashed against the Santro Car in which the deceased were travelling by coming from the opposite direction and wrong side and caused the accident. The accident caused death of three people namely deceased Prashant Verma, his younger brother Sandeep Verma and mother Smt. Vimlesh succumbed to the injuries on the spot.

4. At the time of accident deceased Prashant Verma was hale and hearty young man of 30 years and used to carry on bullion business and used to earn Rs. 2,00,000/- per annum. He was also an income tax payee and used to file his income tax returns which are on record for the year of accident and prior there to. The claimants who are widow two years son and one months daughter claimed Rs. 82,25,000/- as compensation. Sandeep Verma the younger brother was unmarried and was engaged in his business of coaching institute and was also preparing for his I.A.S. examination, his income tax return showed that his income was Rs. 1,60,000/- per annum but strange enough the Tribunal considered the income to be Rs. 15,000/- per annum and deducted 1/2 granted multiplier of 5 as per the age of the father and granted Rs. 4,500/- for non pecuniary damages. This computation is under challenge as according to the counsel for appellant the income tax returns have been ignored and the judgment of Apex Court in Srala Verma (intra) directing to grant compensation as per the age of the deceased has also been ignored, which requires re computation. The third petition is by the husband for the death of his wife whose income has been considered to be Rs. 2,000/- per month and has deducted 1/3 amount for personal expenses and granted multiplier of 5 which is also against the decision of Apex Court and granted meagre amount towards non pecuniary damages. According to the counsel for the appellants the compensation and rate of interest requires to be re evaluated.

5. The parties are referred to as appellant/appellants/claimants and respondent/Insurance Company.

6. The appeals raise sole issue of compensation to be granted to the appellant/appellants for death, by this Court. The accident herein having taken place on 08.01.2010 whereby three persons died on the spot is not in dispute. The vehicle being insured with the respondent is not in dispute. The driver of the offending vehicle has been held to be negligent is not in dispute. The tanker driver has been held to be rash and negligent in causing the accident is also not in dispute. The Insurance Company has not challenge the findings by the Tribunal and the findings as to their liability have attained finality.

7. None of the grounds which were raised so as to avoid the liability have found favour with the Tribunal.

8. General submissions by the learned counsel for the appellants the legal heirs of deceased are that though the income tax returns have been filed they have been brushed aside by the Tribunal holding they are not proved by the Income Tax Officer. The learned counsel for the appellants has submitted that this finding is perverse and is against the record. It is submitted that the respondents have not proved that the said documents are either fake or not filed before the department. It is further submitted that PW-1, PW-2 and PW-3 have all testified about the income tax returns being filed just because total income of the firm has not been produced, the Tribunal can not hold that the deceased has to be considered to be earning Rs. 100 or less per day. In that view of the matter the learned counsel has submitted that said finding is against the decision of this Court. This court in case of Smt. Anamika Bhardwaj And Others Vs. Ashok Gulati And Others in F.A.F.O. No. 3251 of 2010 has held that income tax returns should be considered as proof of income. We are fortified in our view by the decision of the Apex Court titled Malarvizhi & Others Vs. United India Insurance Company Limited & Anr. reported in AIR (2020) SC 90. The judgment in Sunita and Others Vs. Rajasthan State Road Transport Corporation and Another 2019 (SC) 994 would enure for the benefit of the appellant/appellants herein, as strict trappings of Civil Procedure Code, 1908 cannot be made applicable to proceeding under such beneficial piece of legislation as has been done by the Tribunal in accepting the submission of the counsel for Insurance Company that the income cannot be fixed on the basis of income tax return this reasoning is bad in eye of law.

FAFO NO. 3085 OF 2011 (DECEASED SMT. VIMLESH VERMA)

9. The F.A.F.O. No. 3085 of 2011 relates to the death of the wife of the appellant the deceased as per the testimony of this witness deceased was 52 years of age at the time of accident. The Tribunal has considered the income of the deceased (house wife) to be Rs. 2,000 per month as the Tribunal held that the income tax return was not proved and as there were no income tax return filed for the assessment year prior to the one produced and prior to death the same could not be relied upon.

10. This court in case of Smt. Anamika Bhardwaj And Others (Supra) has held that income tax returns should be considered as proof of income. The Tribunal in the year 2011 very strangely did not fallow the judgment of the Apex Court in Sarla Verma and others Vs. Delhi Transport Corporation and another, 2009 Lawsuit (SC) 613 for grant of multiplier. The Tribunal again relied on the schedule of Motor Vehicles Act 1988 appended for guidance for Section 163-A of the Motor Vehicles Act whereas the Claim Petition was preferred under Section 166 of the Motor Vehicles Act, 1988. The judgment in Sarla Verma and others Vs. Delhi Transport Corporation and another, 2009 Lawsuit (SC) 613 categorically mentioned that the age of the deceased is in the age bracket of 56 to 60 years multiplier of 9 should be applied, even if we go by the second schedule the multiplier of 8 would be admissible and not 5. This entire computation will have to be reworked the reason being the Apex Court in decisions referred herein above has held that income tax return if has been filed, the same has to be considered to be a guiding principle for considering the income of the deceased. The finding of fact that the said document has to be thrown in waste paper does not portray beneficiton which a Motor Accident Claims Tribunal should show, while deciding compensation matter which was a certified copy of order is known as income tax statement of the deceased. The learned counsel submitted that the Tribunal even if did not accept the income tax return the Tribunal ought to have at least applied the principle admissible on death of house wife as enunciated in Lata Wadhwa and others reported in AIR 2001 SC 3218, even if there was no documentary evidence produced. There is no reason assigned as to why the Tribunal does not accept the oral testimony of the husband the deceased was 52 years of age and comes to the conclusion that postmortem report should be accepted and held are to be 60 years. May that as it may be the Tribunal has committed error in not considering the income tax return or the statement of the income of the deceased which proved that the income of the deceased was Rs. 1,49,800/- per annum. In the case of Anita Sharma Vs. New India Assurance Co. Ltd. (2021) 1 SCC 171 and in case of Vimla Devi and Others Vs. National Insurance Company Limited and another, (2019) 2 SCC 18 and the fact that way back in Puttum and Others Vs. K.N. Narayan Reddy AIR 2014 (SC) 706 the Apex Court has held that the schedule is unworkable there are faults in a schedule despite that the Tribunal relied on the same. The Tribunal relied on the schedule despite to the fact that the Tribunal was pointed out the decision in Sarla Verma (Supra). The judgment in Vimla Devi (Supra) would apply to the facts of this case. We are fortified in our view by the decision of the Apex Court in Malarvizhi & Others (Supra) would which ensure for the benefit of the appellant herein, as strict trappings of Civil Procedure Court be made applicable. Hence the income of the deceased has to be considered Rs. to be Rs. 1,49,000/- per annum out of which Rs. 20,000/- has to be deducted by way of income tax we consider the age of the deceased to be 56 years and upturn the finding of the Tribunal that the deceased was 60 years of age when she passed away. To the income which we have considered, 10% will have to be added for future loss of income as the husband is the sole dependent and she had major children who were married, from the said amount 1/2 will have to be deducted and not 1/3 for personal expenses, the multiplier would be 9 to which looking to the year of the accident Rs. 70,000/- would be admissible for non pecuniary damages the interest would be as decided herein below:-

(i). Annual income after deduction of income tax= Rs. 1,29,000/-.

(ii). 10% for future loss of income =Rs. 1,29,000+12,900=1,41,900/-.

(iii). Deduction for personal expenses 1/2 = 1,41,900-70950=70950.

(vi). Amount under non pecuniary heads Rs. 70,000/-

FAFO NO. 3086 OF 2011 (DECEASED SANDEEP VERMA)

11. Sandeep Verma was running coaching classes and was preparing for his I.A.S examination the Tribunal has considered his income in the year 2010 to be Rs. 15,000/- per annum based on schedule as if it was a petition under 163-A we have assigned reason that the same is bad in foregoing paragraphs by assigning reason that though he was income payee, the income tax return was for the year 2010 and that is also not relied on. The Tribunal has held that as there is no statement of income of the previous years, therefore, the same has not been believed. The Tribunal has not considered the concept of potential of the young boy who had cleared his I.A.S. preliminary exam and also was doing business, even, if we discard the certificate of income, his income can be considered to be Rs. 10,000/- per month to which as he was self employed 40% will have to be added which is not added by the Tribunal. Hence, Rs. 10,000+4,000=Rs. 14,000/- and the father and mother were dependent upon him 1/2 can be deducted. The multiplier granted by the Tribunal was 5 as per section 163-A of the Motor Vehicles Act on the basis of the age of the father which is not permissible the age of the deceased will have to be considered even in the year of the decision namely the judgment on the basis of decision of Munna Lal Jain And Another Vs. Vipin Kumar Sharma and Others reported in (2015) 6 SCC 347. The multiplier would be 17 as the deceased was 28 years of age to which Rs. 40,000/- under the head of non pecuniary damages will have to be granted to the father with interest.

(iii). Total income Rs. 1,20,000+48,000=1,68,000.

(iv). Income after deduction of 1/2 for personal expenses=84,000-.

(vi). Amount under non pecuniary heads Rs. 70,000/-

(vii). Total compensation Rs. 14,28,000+70,000=14,98,000/-.

FAFO NO. 3087 OF 2011 (DECEASED PRASHANT VERMA)

12. Third matter relates to the death of Prashant Verma who had a jewellery shop who was an income tax payer whose income tax return was filed as document C-15. He was survived by his widow aged 28 years, son of 2 years and daughter of 1 month and his father who was also dependent upon him. The Tribunal very strange enough in this matter also discarded the income tax returns which was filed and proved by the widow of the deceased where the total gross income was shown to be Rs. 1,97,800/- per annum, which can safely be considered to be Rs. 1,50,000/- per annum as income tax can be deducted per annum. The deceased was below the age of 50, hence 40% will have to be added to the said income. As he was survived by his widow and two minor children and father 1/3 will have to be deducted and the multiplier of 17 granted is maintained. The Tribunal could not have held that his income should be that of a labourer. The deceased was a B.Sc. graduate that because documents about his degree were not filed it cannot be held that he was a labourer. The oral testimony of widow and father testified this fact. The certified copy of income tax return was already filed. The Tribunal granted Rs. 2,000/- for funeral expenses, Rs. 5,000/- for loss of consortium and Rs. 2,000/- for loss of estate, the petition is decided on 14.04.2011 namely after the judgment in Sarla Verma (Supra). We would have to recalculate the compensation Rs. 50,000/- each to two minor children as filial consortium who lost their father at a tender age. A sum of Rs. 1 Lakh to the widow in addition to Rs. 59,000/- granted by the Tribunal for loss of love affection and consortium and for losing her husband at a young age of 28 with two children to maintain. Rs. 15,000 for funeral expenses as per the judgment of Apex Court National Insurance Co. Ltd. Vs. Pranay Sethi and Others, 2017 LawSuit (SC) 1093, under non pecuniary damages, the father is adequately compensated in the other two matters hence in this matter out of total compensation Rs. 50,000/- be paid to the father of the deceased.

(i). Annual income = Rs. 1,50,000.

(iii). Total income Rs. 1,50,000+60,000=2,10,000.

(iv). Income after deduction of 1/3 deduction for personal expenses=Rs. 1,40,000/-.

13. As far as issue of rate of interest is concerned, it should be 7.5% in view of the latest decision of the Apex Court in National Insurance Co. Ltd. Vs. Mannat Johal and Others, 2019 (2) T.A.C. 705 (S.C.) wherein the Apex Court has held as under:

"13. The aforesaid features equally apply to the contentions urged on behalf of the claimants as regards the rate of interest. The Tribunal had awarded interest at the rate of 12% p.a. but the same had been too high a rate in comparison to what is ordinarily envisaged in these matters. The High Court, after making a substantial enhancement in the award amount, modified the interest component at a reasonable rate of 7.5% p.a. and we find no reason to allow the interest in this matter at any rate higher than that allowed by High Court."

14. Learned Tribunal has awarded rate of interest as 7% per annum but we are fixing the rate of interest as 7.5% in the light of the above judgment.

15. In view of the above, these appeals are partly allowed. Judgment and award passed by the Tribunal shall stand modified to the aforesaid extent. The respondent-Insurance Company. shall deposit the amount within a period of 08 weeks from today with interest at the rate of 7.5% from the date of filing of the claim petition till the amount is deposited. The amount already deposited be deducted from the amount to be deposited.

16. In view of the ratio laid down by Hon'ble Gujarat High Court, in the case of Smt. Hansagori P. Ladhani vs. The Oriental Insurance Company Ltd., [2007(2) GLH 291] and this High Court in total amount of interest, accrued on the principal amount of compensation is to be apportioned on financial year to financial year basis and if the interest payable to claimant for any financial year exceeds Rs.50,000/-, insurance company/owner is/are entitled to deduct appropriate amount under the head of 'Tax Deducted at Source' as provided u/s 194A (3) (ix) of the Income Tax Act, 1961 and if the amount of interest does not exceeds Rs.50,000/- in any financial year, registry of this Tribunal is directed to allow the claimants to withdraw the amount without producing the certificate from the concerned Income- Tax Authority. The aforesaid view has been reiterated by this High Court in Review Application No.1 of 2020 in First Appeal From Order No.23 of 2001 (Smt. Sudesna and others Vs. Hari Singh and another) and in First Appeal From Order No.2871 of 2016 (Tej Kumari Sharma v. Chola Mandlam M.S. General Insurance Co. Ltd.) decided on 19.3.2021 while disbursing the amount.

17. The Tribunal shall follow the guidelines issued by the Apex Court in Bajaj Allianz General Insurance Company Private Ltd. Vs Union of India and others vide order dated 27.1.2022, as the purpose of keeping compensation is to safeguard the interest of the claimants. As 10 years have elapsed, the amount be deposited in the Saving Account of claimants in Nationalized Bank without F.D.R.

18. While parting the request to Registrar General to show our concerned to the learned Tribunal about the method in which the matters were decided. We request the Tribunal in the State to consolidate the matter given consolidated the judgment and award in matters there were more than two claim petitions.

19. We request the Registrar General to send the copy of this order to the learned Tribunal so that in future he may more cautious.

First Appeal From Order No. 3381 of 2003

Raghuraj Singh ...Appellants
Versus
Gyan Singh & Ors. ...Respondents

Counsel for the Appellants:
Sri Y.S. Bohra

Counsel for the Respondents:
Sri Pradeep Kumar Sinha, Sri Arvind Kumar

(A) Torts Law - Motor Vehicle Act,1988 - quantum of compensation - 'just-compensation' - Hindu Succession Act, 1956 - class-1 heir - mother of the deceased - Although, the deceased had not joined service, yet the salary mentioned in the appointment-letter even if it cannot be made sole basis of assessment of income of the deceased, but it can certainly be viewed to assess the potentiality of the deceased person to earn - compensation shall also be granted to the claimants for 'future loss of income' also - multiplier shall be granted on the basis of the age of the deceased .(Para - 2,8,9,10,20)

(B) Evidence Law - Indian Evidence Act, 1872 - Section 106 - Burden of proving fact especially within knowledge - whether any driver of the vehicle was having a valid driving-licence or not is the fact, which is in 'special-knowledge' of the driver - burden to prove the fact of valid driving-licence always lie on the driver.(Para - 19,20)

Appellant (father of deceased) filed claim petition - seeking compensation - death of his unmarried son in a road accident - awarding sum of Rs.9,62,000/- as compensation to the claimants - interest at the rate of 6% per annum - aggrieved - filed appeal for enhancement of compensation - failure of offending truck-driver to produce his driving-licence before Tribunal.(Para - 3,5,16)

HELD:-Total compensation payable to appellants and daughters of the deceased Rs.23,98,000/- . Direction to respondent No.3 to deposit entire amount with interest @ 7.5% per annum from the date of filing of the claim petition till amount is deposited. Owner and driver of offending truck failed to prove that truck-driver was having valid driving-licence on the date of accident. Court direct that amount of compensation shall be paid by respondent No.2- and after that, it will be open to the Insurance Company to recover the amount, paid, from the owner of the truck. 8. Tej Kumari Sharma Vs Chola Mandlam M.S. General Insurance Co. Ltd., F.A.F.O. No.2871 of 2016

(Delivered by Hon'ble Ajai Tyagi, J.)

1. By way of this appeal, the claimants have challenged the judgment and award dated 15.11.2003 passed by Motor Accident Claims Tribunal/ District Judge, Gautam Budh Nagar (herein after referred to as "Tribunal") in M.A.C.P. No.211 of 2001 (Shri Raghuraj Singh vs. Gyan Singh and others) awarding sum of Rs.9,62,000/- as compensation to the claimants with interest at the rate of 6% per annum.

2. At the very outset, it is relevant to mention that the claim petition was instituted by his father on account of death of a unmarried boy, who met with a road-accident. Initially, the mother of the deceased was not made party before the learned Tribunal though she was and is still alive. She being the class-1 heir as per Hindu Succession Act, 1956, should have been made party as claimant. It was on the face of record before the learned Tribunal that mother of the deceased was alive even though the learned Tribunal did not take pain to call upon the claimant to implead the mother as a party. Claim petition was decided in favour of claimant. Now at the time of hearing this appeal, we pointed out the aforesaid fact to the parties and on our behest, appellant/claimant made the mother of the deceased as party/claimant in the memo of appeal.

3. The brief facts of the case are that appellant Raghuraj Singh (father of the deceased) filed a claim petition before learned Tribunal for seeking compensation on account of death of his unmarried-son in a road accident. It is averred in petition that on 24.5.2001, the deceased, namely, Vaibhav Talan, was going to Lucknow from Kanpur in a car bearing No.UP-78-AC/9288. He was sitting on the back-seat. At about 2:30 p.m., when the aforesaid car reached near Sainik School Pulliya, within the jurisdiction of Police Station-Sarojini Nagar, Lucknow, a truck bearing No.UP-78/9655 coming from backside at a very high-spead, driven rashly and negligently by its driver dashed against the car. In the accident, deceased sustained fatal injuries and died.

4. Heard Shri Y.S.Bohra, learned counsel for the appellant-claimant and Shri Pradeep Kumar Sinha, learned counsel for the respondents. Perused the record.

5. The accident, in this case, is not in dispute. The liability of respondent No.2-Insurance Company is not in dispute. Finding of negligence is also not challenged. The claimant/appellants have filed the appeal for enhancement of compensation while during the course of arguments, the Insurance Co. has orally objected to the finding, arrived at by learned Tribunal regarding Issue No.3, which relates to the driving-licence of the truck-driver.

6. Hence, apart from the finding regarding the driving licence of the truck-driver, it remains the issue of quantum of compensation. Learned counsel for the appellants submitted that the deceased was a boy of 24 years only. He had passed M.B.A. from Jamuna Lal Bajaj Institute of Management, Mumbai, and had secured the job in Ranbaxy Company and he had to join on 1st June, 2001, i.e., just after a week of this unfortunate accident. Learned counsel further submitted that a copy of the aforesaid appointment-letter is filed on record, which also shows that his salary was fixed more than Rs.20,000/- per month, but learned Tribunal ignored this fact and assessment of his monthly income was met on the basis of his basic-salary only.

7. Per contra, Shri Sinha, learned counsel appearing on behalf of Insurance Company, has submitted that the deceased had not joined the service, therefore, the salary mentioned in appointment-letter cannot be taken into account for calculation of compensation. He elaborates that at the time of death, the deceased was not earning, hence notional income should be taken.

8. We are unable to concur with the above submission of by Shri Sinha, learned counsel appearing for the Insurance Company. It is a fact that the deceased had yet not joined the service in pursuance of his appointment-letter, but this Court cannot ignore the fact that only a week was left for him to join when the deceased met with the accident and lost his life. In such a situation, learned Tribunal should have analyzed the aspect of potentiality of the deceased to earn as the claimants are entitled to 'just-compensation'. Tribunal has committed an error in presuming the monthly income of the deceased at Rs.10,000/- on the basis of basic-salary from his appointment-letter. The deceased had graduated from a reputed management institute and had secured appointment in a prestigious company like Ranbaxy. Therefore, looking to the educational qualification and the family-background, the deceased was having a bright future. Although, the deceased had not joined service, yet the salary mentioned in the appointment-letter even if it cannot be made sole basis of assessment of income of the deceased, but it can certainly be viewed to assess the potentiality of the deceased person to earn as held by Hon'ble Apex Court in Meena Pawaia and others vs. Ashraf Ali and others, 2021 LawSuit (SC) 743. Hence, we are unable to subscribe to the submission of Insurance Company that notional income of the deceased should be considered. Keeping in view the potentiality of the deceased to earn on the basis of above appointment order, we hold the income of the deceased at Rs.15,000/- per month.

9. Hon'ble Apex Court in National Insurance Co. vs. Pranay Sethi and others, 2017 LawSuit (SC) 1093 has held that compensation shall also be granted to the claimants for 'future loss of income' also. In case of salaried or self-employed persons or on a fixed wages. This case law is further extended by Hon'ble Apex Court in Meena Pawaiya (supra) to the deceased, who was not serving at the time of accident and had no income at the time of death and held that legal heirs of such person shall also be entitled to future prospects by adding future-rise in income, i.e., addition of 40% of the income determined on guess-work considering the educational qualification, family-background, etc., where the deceased was below the age 40 years. In the case on hand, the age of the deceased was 24 years. The deceased was well educated and about to join service after a week of the accident, hence in the light of the aforesaid observations of Hon'ble Apex Court, 40% shall be added to the income of the deceased for future prospects.

10. Learned Tribunal has committed gross-error in not deducting any sum towards personal expenses of the deceased. It is an admitted fact that the deceased was unmarried person, therefore, as per the judgment of Hon'ble Apex Court in Munna Lal Jain vs. Vipin Kumar Sharma, 2015 (3) TAC 1 (SC), learned Tribunal has applied multiplier of 8 only on the basis of age of the father. According to the decision in Munna Lal (supra), the multiplier shall be granted on the basis of the age of the deceased. Therefore, keeping in view the age of the deceased, namely, 24 years, multiplier of 18 will be applicable in light of the decision of Hon'ble Apex Court titled Smt.Sarla Verma vs. Delhi Transport Corporation and others, 2009 (2) TAC 677 (SC).

11. Learned Tribunal has awarded only Rs.2,000/-for funeral expenses and no other amount is awarded under the head of non-pecuniary damages, which could not be done. Hence, we hold that as per the judgment of Hon'ble Apex Court in Pranay Sethi (supra), appellants shall be entitled to Rs.15,000/- for loss of estate and Rs.15,000/- for funeral expenses. Appellants are father and mother of the deceased, who lost their young-son at his age of just 24 years, therefore, both of them shall be entitled to filial consortium of Rs.50,000/- each for loss of love and affection.

12. Hence, the total compensation payable to the appellants and daughters of the deceased as per the discussion above is recomputed herein below:

i.	Annual Income	Rs.15,000/- x 12	Rs.1,80,00/-
ii.	Percentage towards Future-Prospects (40%)		Rs.72,000/-
iii.	Total Income	Rs.1,80,000/- + Rs.72,000/-	Rs.2,52,000/-
iv.	Income after deduction of 1/2	Rs.2,52,000/- Rs.1,26,000/-	Rs.1,26,000/-
v.	Multiplier applicable	18
vi.	Loss of dependency	Rs.1,26,000/- x 18	Rs.22,68,000/-
vii.	After adding Non-pecuniary Damages	Rs.22,68,000/- + Rs.1,30,000/-	Rs.23,98,000/-
viii.	Total Compensation		Rs.23,98,000/-

13. As far as issue of rate of interest is concerned, it should be 7.5% in view of the latest decision of the Apex Court in National Insurance Co. Ltd. Vs. Mannat Johal and Others, 2019 (2) T.A.C. 705 (S.C.) wherein the Apex Court has held as under:

"13. The aforesaid features equally apply to the contentions urged on behalf of the claimants as regards the rate of interest. The Tribunal had awarded interest at the rate of 12% p.a. but the same had been too high a rate in comparison to what is ordinarily envisaged in these matters. The High Court, after making a substantial enhancement in the award amount, modified the interest component at a reasonable rate of 7.5% p.a. and we find no reason to allow the interest in this matter at any rate higher than that allowed by High Court."

14. Learned Tribunal has awarded rate of interest as 6% per annum but we are fixing the rate of interest as 7.5% in the light of the above judgment.

15. In view of the above, the appeal is partly allowed. Judgment and award passed by the Tribunal is modified to the aforesaid extent. United India Insurance Company Limited-respondent No.3 shall deposit the entire amount within a period of 12 weeks from today with interest @ 7.5% per annum from the date of filing of the claim petition till the amount is deposited. The amount already deposited be deducted from the amount to be deposited.

16. Now, there is another issue to be decided in this appeal with regard to the failure of offending truck-driver to produce his driving-licence before the learned Tribunal. Learned counsel for the Insurance Company made submission that although no cross-objection has been filed by him as per Order XLI, Rule 22, Clause-I. In this regard, learned counsel has relied on judgment of Hon'ble Apex Court in Ravindra Kumar Sharma vs. State of Assam and others, 1999 (8) Supp.62, wherein it is held that it is respondents' right to attack the adverse finding. Filing of cross-objection is purely optional and not mandatory. Adverse finding can be attacked by the respondent-defendant without filing cross-objection. Learned counsel for the National Insurance Co.Ltd-respondent No.2 submitted that the offending truck was insured by it, but during the proceedings before learned Tribunal, the driver of the truck did not appear nor filed his driving-licence. Hence, it is not proved that truck driver was having a valid driving-licence at the time accident and this issue is wrongly decided by the Tribunal. Learned Tribunal held that the Insurance Co. has taken the plea that the driver of the truck was not having a valid driving-licence, therefore, it was the burden on the shoulders of the Insurance Co. to prove that truck-driver was not having the aforesaid licence. We are in full agreement with the submissions made by learned counsel appearing on behalf of National Insurance Co.-National Insurance Co. Perusal of impugned judgments shows that Issue-3 was framed by the Tribunal as under:

"Whether the driver of the offending vehicle had no vaild driving licence on the date of accident? If so, its effect?"

17. While deciding the aforesaid issue, learned Tribunal has held as under:

"No driving-licence has been filed by the Tribunal as he has not come to contest it. The plea was taken by the Insurance Co. Therefore, it was its duty to have proved it that the driver of the truck was not having a valid driving-licence and no such evidence has been produced. It is for the purpose, who takes the plea to prove it, but no such evidence has been given."

18. With the aforesaid finding, learned Tribunal decided Issue-3 in negative.

19. Learned Tribunal has opined that it is for the person, who takes the plea to prove it, but this is not the law of evidence everywhere. Section 106 of Indian Evidence Act, 1872, provides as follows:

"106. Burden of proving fact especially within knowledge.--When any fact is especially within the knowledge of any person, the burden of proving that fact is upon him. Illustrations

(a) When a person does an act with some intention other than that which the character and circumstances of the act suggest, the burden of proving that intention is upon him.

(b) A is charged with travelling on a railway without a ticket. The burden of proving that he had a ticket is on him."

20. Hence, whether any driver of the vehicle was having a valid driving-licence or not is the fact, which is in 'special-knowledge' of the driver. Therefore, burden to prove the fact of valid driving-licence always lie on the driver and, therefore, we are not convinced with the findings given by the Tribunal on Issue-3 and, accordingly, we upturn the said finding and hold that it is not proved that the driver of the offending truck was having valid driving-licence at the time of accident.

21. In view of the above, the appeal and oral cross-objection are partly allowed. Judgment and award passed by the Tribunal shall stand modified to the aforesaid extent. The Insurance Company shall deposit the amount within a period of 8 weeks from today with interest at the rate of 7.5% from the date of filing of the claim petition till the amount is deposited. The amount already deposited be deducted from the amount to be deposited.

22. Since, it is held by us that owner and driver of the offending truck have failed to prove that the truck-driver was having valid driving-licence on the date of accident, we direct that amount of compensation shall be paid by respondent No.2-National Insurance Co., Insurance Company of the offending truck and after that, it will be open to the Insurance Company to recover the amount, paid, from the owner of the truck.

23. In view of the ratio laid down by Hon'ble Gujarat High Court, in the case of Smt. Hansagori P. Ladhani vs. The Oriental Insurance Company Ltd., [2007(2) GLH 291] and this High Court in total amount of interest, accrued on the principal amount of compensation is to be apportioned on financial year to financial year basis and if the interest payable to claimant for any financial year exceeds Rs.50,000/-, insurance company/owner is/are entitled to deduct appropriate amount under the head of 'Tax Deducted at Source' as provided u/s 194A (3) (ix) of the Income Tax Act, 1961 and if the amount of interest does not exceeds Rs.50,000/- in any financial year, registry of this Tribunal is directed to allow the claimants to withdraw the amount without producing the certificate from the concerned Income- Tax Authority. The aforesaid view has been reiterated by this High Court in Review Application No.1 of 2020 in First Appeal From Order No.23 of 2001 (Smt. Sudesna and others Vs. Hari Singh and another) and in First Appeal From Order No.2871 of 2016 (Tej Kumari Sharma v. Chola Mandlam M.S. General Insurance Co. Ltd.) decided on 19.3.2021 while disbursing the amount.

24. It is made clear that learned Tribunal has discharged the liability of respondents 1, 3 and 4. The liability of owner of the truck, i.e., respondent No.2 cannot be discharged because the owner of the vehicle is liable to pay the compensation and Insurance Company has to indemnify the liability of the owner. Hence, we upturn the finding of Tribunal to the extent it discharged the liability of owner of the truck.

25. It is pertinent to mention that both the appellants (mother and father of the deceased) shall get equal amount of enhanced compensation.

26. The Tribunal shall follow the guidelines issued by the Hon'ble Apex Court in Bajaj Allianz General Insurance Company Privae Ltd. vs. Union of India and others vide order dated 27.1.2022, as the prupose of keeping compensation is to safeguard the interest of the claimants. Since long time has elapsed, the amount be deposited in the Saving Bank Account of claimant(s) in a nationalized Bank without F.D.R.

A. Criminal Law - Constitution of India, 1950 - Article 226 - Indian Penal Code, 1860- Sections 147, 148, 149, 302, 504, 506 & 34 - Criminal Law Amendment Act-Section 7- challenge to-Order of detention- murder-informant brother was killed-accused persons enmity with informant since they had not voted for accused person when he contested for the office of village pradhan-the order of detention passed by District Magistrate u/s 3(3) of the National Security Act, 1980 does not satisfy the conditions exists in Section 3(2) of the Act-the application of mind on part of the District Magistrate must be reflected or else the satisfaction itself of the detaining authority would be vitiated-ground of detention, language as well as phraseology of facts remains unaltered and clearly suggest lack of independent application of mind on the part of District Magistrate, such satisfaction on the part of the sponsoring authority would not suffice-there is nothing to indicate that the District Magistrate applied his mind to the question whether an order of detention was necessary despite the fact that the petitioner was already in custody in connection with the criminal case-the cases of other two petitioner are identical and they are released forthwith, unless they are warranted in connection with some other cases- the grounds of detention merely refers to the fact that the petitioner had applied for grant of bail in one case alone-no reference of filing of any bail application in the grounds of detention in the other cases-this omission appears to be a direct consequence of failure in that regard contained in the recommendation of the sponsoring authority wherein also no fact about filing of bail application are recorded-Thus, the detention order suffers from jurisdictional infirmity-the detention order stands quashed. (Para 1 to 37)

B. In the instant case, the District Magistrate, State Government did not discharge the first of the two-fold obligation and rejected the petitioner's representation in a routine manner without application of independent mind. The normal rule of law is that when a person commits an offence or a number of offences, he should be prosecuted and punished in accordance with the normal appropriate criminal law; but if he is sought to be detained under any of the preventive detention laws as may often be necessary to prevent further commission of such offences, then the provisions of Article 22(5) must be complied with. It provides that the detaining authority shall as soon as may be communicate the grounds of detention and shall afford him the earliest opportunity of making a representation against the order. The representation, if any, submitted by the detenu is meant for consideration by the Appropriate Authority without any unreasonable delay as it involves the liberty of a citizen guaranteed by Article 19 of the Constitution. the non-consideration of representation tantamount to non-compliance of Article 22(5) of the Constitution. (Para 29)

The writ petition is allowed. (E-6)

1. Detention orders of different dates, founded on a common basis, have been passed against three petitioners, which are under challenge in the present bunch of habeas corpus writ petitions. We have heard all three petitions together and are being disposed off by this common judgment.

2. Habeas Corpus Writ Petition No.5 of 2022 is treated as the leading case wherein the order of detention passed by District Magistrate, Bijnor is challenged alongwith the order of the State Government approving it and the order rejecting petitioner's representation. Orders extending the term of detention, from time to time, are also assailed. Similar reliefs are claimed in the other connected petitions, as well.

3. Basis of impugned detention orders in all three cases is the implication of petitioners in the First Information Report dated 19.5.2021, registered as Case Crime No.291 of 2021, under Sections 147, 148, 149, 302, 504, 506, 34 IPC and Section 7 of the Criminal Law Amendment Act, Police Station Chandpur, District Bijnor. This FIR requires a little elaboration at the outset. Informant in the said FIR is one Rajeev son of Chhatrapal, resident of Village Baseda, Police Station Chandpur, District Bijnor, whose brother Sanjay was killed at 8.30 pm on 18.5.2021. The FIR was lodged on 19.5.2021 at 1.44 am. As per the FIR the accused persons namely Ajab Singh, Nikhil Kumar, Shailendra Singh, Parvendra Kumar and Sunil Kumar maintained enmity with the informant and his family, since they had not voted for Ajab Singh,when he contested for the office of Village Pradhan, despite request made in that regard. On 18.5.2021 at about 8.30 pm accused persons armed with country made firearm (Tamancha), gun and other arms attacked the informant's house and Ajab Singh shot dead the informant's brother Sanjay. Other accused including the three petitioners are said to have indiscriminately fired creating an atmosphere of terror in the village. The incident is alleged to have been seen by Brahmapal son of Gangaram, Kalyan son of Atar Singh and Ranpal son of Zileram. It is claimed in the FIR that widespread fear prevailed in the village and people were running helter-skelter. The villagers had locked themselves in their houses by shutting their doors and windows from inside. Specific role of firing in which the deceased died however is attributed to Ajab Singh while all other accused (three petitioners herein) were assigned the role of carrying Tamancha (Country made Pistol) and Bandook (gun) and indiscriminately firing upon the informant's side. All three petitioners were arrested and applied for bail. It is at this stage that the Station House Officer recommended action against the petitioners under the National Security Act, 1980 (hereinafter referred to as the "Act of 1980') leading to petitioners' detention under the Act of 1980.

4. The chronology of events in the leading Habeas Corpus Writ Petition No.5 of 2022 is that the order of detention came to be passed against the petitioner on 27.8.2021 by the District Magistrate, Bijnor on the basis of a recommendation made by the sponsoring authority. This order has also been approved by the State Government on 6.9.2021. It is alleged that a representation was made against the detention order by the petitioner on 6.9.2021. However, an issue was raised about the filing of representation on the said date and consequently we summoned the original records to find that the representation in fact was made only on 8.9.2021 instead of 6.9.2021, as is alleged in the petition. Upon a perusal of original records it transpires that the representation was sent on the same date to the office of District Magistrate, Bijnor and the Additional District Magistrate, Bijnor on behalf of the District Magistrate called for the comments of Superintendent of Police, Bijnor in the matter. The representation was consequently sent to the Station House Officer of the concerned police station for his comments in the matter. The comments were submitted on 13.9.2021 to the office of Superintendent of Police, who forwarded the same to the District Magistrate alongwith his comments on the same date. The District Magistrate rejected the representation on 13.9.2021. The decision was informed to the petitioner through the authorities on the same date. The District Magistrate simultaneously forwarded the copies of representation to the State Government on 14.9.2021. The State Government after due deliberation and examination of records rejected the representation on 21.9.2021, which order has been communicated to the detenue on 22.9.2021. The representation was also forwarded to the Central Government by the District Magistrate on 13.9.2021, which came to be rejected on 22.9.2021. The term of 3 months detention has been extended by subsequent orders dated 23.11.2021 and 15.2.2022, which are also under challenge.

5. In Habeas Corpus Writ Petition No.6 of 2022, filed by Nikhil Kumar, the order of detention came to be passed on 22.10.2021. It has been approved by the State Government on 1.11.2021. The representation against the order of detention was submitted on 8.11.2021, which was rejected by the District Magistrate on 29.11.2021, while the representations made to State Government came to be rejected on 7.12.2021 and the Central Government rejected it on 8.12.2021. Aggrieved by these orders as also the extension of detention vide subsequent orders, the petitioner is before this Court.

6. In Habeas Corpus Writ Petition No.8 of 2022, Surendra Singh @ Shailendra Singh questions the detention order passed by the District Magistrate, Bijnor on 6.9.2021. A representation was made against this order on 30.9.2021. Comments in the matter were called from the office of Superintendent of Police, Bijnor. Comments were submitted in the matter on 4.10.2021 and the District Magistrate after considering such comments rejected the representation on 5.10.2021. The representation made to the State Government was rejected on 7.10.2021 while the Central Government rejected petitioner's representation on 18.10.2021. The detention order was also approved by the State Government on 26.10.2021. The period of detention has been extended for six months vide order dated 23.11.2021 and has further been extended for a period of nine months vide order dated 24.2.2022, which are under challenge.

7. The aforesaid three petitions have been entertained and counter affidavits have been filed by the State Government and its authorities, as also the Union Government, to which rejoinder affidavits have been filed on behalf of the petitioners. The three petitions have thus been heard on different dates and are being disposed off by this common judgment.

8. We have heard Sri Amit Daga, learned counsel for the petitioners, Sri Alok Ranjan Mishra, Sri Kameshwar Singh and Ms. Annapurna Singh for the Union of India and Sri Ali Murtza, learned AGA for the State and its authorities.

9. Learned counsel for the petitioners in support of the writ petitions has made following submissions:-

(i) That the detention order passed by the District Magistrate concerned lacked application of mind on his part inasmuch as the proposals made by Sponsoring Authority have been virtually copied without any satisfaction having been recorded at his own level. The grant of routine approval by the State is also questioned on the ground of it being mechanical in nature.

(ii) The alleged offence, which forms the basis of detention order at best depicts instance of law and order with no trappings of public order involved in it. It is also stated that there is no allegation of panic etc. caused amongst public on account of alleged offence.

(iii) It is then submitted that the apprehension that the detainee would be released or that he would cause similar offence in future is not based on any material brought on record.

(iv) It is lastly contended that there was delay occasioned in disposal of the representation against the order of detention at every level i.e. at the level of District Magistrate; State Government; and also Central Government, which vitiates the order of detention itself.

10. We may record that during the course of arguments original records have been produced by the office of District Magistrate, State Government and also Central Government on various aspects in order to consider the respective submissions advanced by the counsel for the parties. The original records of the concerned Magistrate containing case diaries in Case Crime No. 291 of 2021 have also been produced before us in sealed envelope, on our directions and have been perused.

11. First and foremost, it is urged on behalf of petitioners that there is no independent application of mind on part of the District Magistrate to the facts recorded in the proposal of the sponsoring authority with regard to existence of conditions justifying exercise of power under Section 3(3) of the Act of 1980 in as much as the order of detention virtually copies the recommendation of sponsoring authority, line by line, page by page except for his conclusion contained in one sentence, recording his satisfaction.

12. We have perused the recommendation made by the sponsoring authority i.e. the Officiating Inspector, Police Station Chandpur, District Bijnor; the forwarding letter of the Superintendent of Police, Bijnor, as well as the order of detention passed by the District Magistrate, which contains the grounds of detention. Learned counsel for the petitioners has taken us through the recommendation made by the sponsoring authority, as also the grounds of detention accompanying the detention order dated 27.8.2021, in order to submit that the order of detention lacks due application of mind on part of the detaining authority, which renders the order of detention itself bad in law.

13. The recommendation made by the sponsoring authority is contained in Annexure-3 and is addressed to the Superintendent of Police, Bijnor. The recommendation runs into 65 pages. Specific reference is made in it to the incident of 18.5.2021 in which the petitioners alongwith Ajab Singh and other accused persons came to the house of the deceased Sanjay armed with Tamancha (countrymade pistol) and Bandook (gun) and resorted to indiscriminate firing, which allegedly caused an atmosphere of terror in the village and the public order was disturbed. Reference has also been made to the materials collected during the course of investigation, on the basis of which chargesheet has been submitted in the matter against the petitioners. Further materials forming part of the recommendation by the sponsoring authority includes the statements recorded of various persons, even after submission of chargesheet, on the basis of which it is alleged that in the event petitioners are released on bail, they are likely to indulge in activities prejudicial to public order.

14. The orders impugned have been passed in exercise of powers under the Act of 1980. The Act of 1980 came to be introduced with an intent that law and order situation in the country is tackled in a most determined and effective way by containing social and antisocial elements. The object was to ensure security and defence of State as also the public order and ensure that other services essential to the community are not disrupted. The appropriate Government i.e. Central Government or the State Government was thus conferred authority to pass orders of preventive detention against a person with a view to prevent him from acting in any manner prejudicial to the security of the State or from acting in any manner prejudicial to the maintenance of public order or from acting in any manner prejudicial to the maintenance of supplies and services essential to the community. The order of detention purportedly is alleged to have been passed by the District Magistrate exercising his jurisdiction under sub section (3) of Section 3 of the Act of 1980, upon being satisfied that exigency stipulated in sub-section (2) of Section 3 exists in the facts of the case. Section 3(2) and (3) of the Act of 1980 are reproduced hereinafter:-

"3(2) The Central Government or the State Government may, if satisfied with respect to any person that with a view to preventing him from acting in any manner prejudicial to the security of the State or from acting in any manner prejudicial to the maintenance of Public order or from acting in any manner prejudicial to the maintenance of supplies and services essential to the community it is necessary so to do, make an order directing that such person be detained.

Explanation.--For the purposes of this sub-section, "acting in any manner prejudicial to the maintenance of supplies and services essential to the community" does not include "acting in any manner prejudicial to the maintenance of supplies of commodities essential to the community" as defined in the Explanation to sub-section (1) of section 3 of the Prevention of Blackmarketing and Maintenance of Supplies of Essential Commodities Act, 1980 (7 of 1980), and accordingly, no order of detention shall be made under this Act on any ground on which an order of detention may be made under that Act.

(3) If, having regard to the circumstances prevailing or likely to prevail in any area within the local limits of the jurisdiction of a District Magistrate or a Commissioner of Police, the State Government is satisfied that it is necessary so to do, it may, by order in writing, direct, that during such period as may be specified in the order, such District Magistrate or Commissioner of Police may also, if satisfied as provided in sub-section (2), exercise the powers conferred by the said sub-section:

Provided that the period specified in an order made by the State Government under this sub-section shall not, in the first instance, exceed three months, but the State Government may, if satisfied as aforesaid that it is necessary so to do, amend such order to extend such period from time to time by any period not exceeding three months at any one time."

15. Sub-section (4) of Section 3 of the Act of 1980 is also relevant, which is reproduced hereinafter:-

"3(4) When any order is made under this section by an officer mentioned in sub-section (3), he shall forthwith report the fact to the State Government to which he is subordinate together with the grounds on which the order has been made and such other particulars as, in his opinion, have a bearing on the matter, and no such order shall remain in force for more than twelve days after the making thereof unless, in the meantime, it has been approved by the State Government:

Provided that where under section 8 the grounds of detention are communicated by the officer making the order after five days but not later than ten days from the date of detentions, this sub-section shall apply subject to the modification, that, for the words "twelve days", the words "fifteen days" shall be substituted."

16. Power of preventive detention, therefore, is conferred on the appropriate Government only to prevent a person from acting in any manner prejudicial to the security of the State or from acting in any manner prejudicial to maintenance of public order or from acting in any manner prejudicial to the maintenance of supplies and services essential to the community.

17. The power under sub-section (3) of Section 3 can also be exercised by the District Magistrate or the Commissioner of Police in respect of areas falling within their limits of jurisdiction. Where such an order is passed by the District Magistrate, he must satisfy himself with regard to existence of conditions referred to in sub-section (2) of Section 3 of the Act of 1980. The exercise of power by the District Magistrate under sub-section (3), therefore, is dependent upon the existence of conditions stipulated in sub-section (2) of Section 3 of the Act of 1980 and such satisfaction has to be of the District Magistrate or the Commissioner of Police, as the case may be. The first argument advanced in the matter is that such satisfaction on part of the authority concerned i.e. detaining authority/District Magistrate, is missing in the facts of the case which initiates the order of detention as well as all other consequential orders challenged in the writ petitions.

18. We have perused the recommendation of the sponsoring authority as also the grounds of detention passed by the District Magistrate and we find substance in the argument advanced on behalf of the petitioners that independent satisfaction with regard to existence of conditions under Section 3(2) of the Act of 1980 is wanted on part of the District Magistrate.

19. The order of the District Magistrate is in two parts. The first part is the operative portion which directs the petitioners to be detained in District Jail Bijnor, by invoking his jurisdiction under sub-section (3) of Section 3 as conditions exists for exercise of power under sub-section (2) of Section 3 of the Act of 1980. This part of order is contained in the standard format in which the only details of detenue as also the date of order varies. It is the second part of the order that contains the grounds of detention and contains the satisfaction of detaining authority about existence of conditions referred to in subsection (2) of Section 3 of the Act of 1980 so as to justify his order passed under sub-section (3). The grounds of detention starts at page 121-A of the paper book by mentioning that the petitioner is a man of desperate and cunning nature and goes on to refer to the incident of 18.5.2021 in respect of which FIR is registered as Case Crime No. 291 of 2021. The order then proceeds to virtually copy, page by page, line by line the contents of the proposal of the sponsoring authority. Page 1 to 55 of the grounds of detention, therefore, are copied from the recommendations of the sponsoring authority. The contribution of District Magistrate in the entire 55 pages is his satisfaction that petitioners release is detrimental to maintenance of public order and his preventive detention is required.

20. Contentions are advanced by respective counsels on the aspect relating to application of mind on part of the District Magistrate, as also the manner of its ascertainment, for the purposes of arriving at his independent satisfaction with regard to existence of conditions referred to in sub-section (2) of Section 3 of the Act of 1980 so as to justify invocation of jurisdiction under sub-section (3).

21. Sri Ali Murtaza, learned AGA submits that the material on the basis of which such satisfaction is to be recorded by the District Magistrate remains the same, as is referred to by the sponsoring authority in his report and, therefore, the District Magistrate has done no wrong while copying facts from the recommendation of the sponsoring authority.

22. While we do agree that facts and circumstances which have led to the recommendation by the sponsoring authority for preventing detention of petitioners remains the same on which satisfaction of the District Magistrate is to be based, but from the phraseology of the order and reference of material relied upon by the District Magistrate in the order of detention the application of mind on part of the District Magistrate must be reflected or else the satisfaction itself of the detaining authority would be vitiated.

23. Page by page we are shown that grounds of detention contained in the order of the District Magistrate is virtual copy of the recital contained in the recommendation of the sponsoring authority. Language as well as phraseology of facts remains unaltered and clearly suggests lack of independent application of mind on part of the District Magistrate.

24. Except for the satisfaction recorded by the District Magistrate in one sentence that on the basis of materials referred to in the grounds of detention, he is satisfied about existence of conditions warranting petitioners' preventive detention there is nothing on record which may even remotely suggest that District Magistrate has cared to read the recommendation of the sponsoring authority or satisfy himself about existence of conditions which justify the passing of order of preventive detention.

25. The satisfaction that conditions exist to detain a citizen with a view to preventing him from acting in any manner prejudicial to the maintenance of public order has to be of the District Magistrate or the Commissioner of Police, as the case may be. Such satisfaction on part of the sponsoring authority would not suffice. While District Magistrate is entitled to go through the recommendation made by the sponsoring authority for exercise of power under sub-section (3) of Section 3, but the satisfaction with regard to existence of necessary conditions has to be of the designated authority i.e. District Magistrate alone, which must be reflected in his own order.

26. The satisfaction of the detaining authority is sine qua non for exercise of jurisdiction under sub-section (3) of Section 3 of the Act of 1980. Recording of satisfaction by the District Magistrate/detaining authority in his own language would be necessary to indicate application of mind on part of the detaining authority. The satisfaction of the detaining authority may not be as exhaustive as is contained in the proposal of the sponsoring authority but he must record his independent satisfaction with regard to existence of conditions justifying invocation of power under Section 3(3) of the Act of 1980. His satisfaction need not be a virtual reproduction of all facts narrated in the recommendation of the sponsoring authority but must concisely refer to the materials on record on the basis of which he has come to the conclusion about existence of conditions justifying preventive detention of the detenue.

27. Importance of application of mind on part of the detaining authority and his independent satisfaction about existence of necessary conditions has been emphasised by the Supreme Court in Jai Singh and Others Vs. State of Jammu & Kashmir, (1985) 1 SCC 561, wherein the Supreme Court has observed as under:-

"These seven writ petitions under Article 32 of the Constitution have to be allowed on the sole ground that there has been a total non-application of the mind by the detaining authority, the District Magistrate of Udhampur. We had called for the records and the learned counsel for the State of Jammu & Kashmir has produced the same before us. First taking up the case of Jai Singh, the first of the petitioners before us, a perusal of the grounds of detention shows that it is a verbatim reproduction of the dossier submitted by the senior Superintendent of Police, Udhampur to the District Magistrate requesting that a detention order may kindly be issued. At the top of the dossier, the name is mentioned as Sardar Jai Singh, father's name is mentioned as Sardar Ram Singh and the address is given as village Bharakh, Tehsil Reasi. Thereafter it is recited "The subject is an important member of...." Thereafter follow various allegations against Jai Singh, paragraph by paragraph. In the grounds of detention, all that the District Magistrate has done is to change the first three words "the subject is" into "you Jai Singh, s/o Ram Singh, resident of village Bharakh, Tensil Reasi". Thereafter word for word the police dossier is repeated and the word "he" wherever it occurs referring to Jai Singh in the dossier is changed into 'you' in, the grounds of detention. We are afraid it is difficult to find greater proof of non-application of mind. The liberty of a subject is a serious matter and it is not to be trifled with in this casual, indifferent and routine manner. We also notice that in the petition filed by the detenu, he had expressly alleged that he and the others had already been taken into custody in connection with a criminal case on July 6, 1984 itself and all of them were in custody since then. The detenu has given details of where he was taken and when. He has also referred to the circumstance that an application for bail was moved on his behalf on the 18th before the High Court and it was only thereafter that the order of detention was made. These facts have not been denied in the counter-affidavit filed by the respondents. In fact we are unable to find anything in the records produced before us, either in the police dossier submitted to the District Magistrate for action or in any other document forming part of the record that the District Magistrate was aware that the petitioner was already in custody. There is nothing to indicate that the District Magistrate applied his mind to the question whether an order of detention under the Jammu & Kashmir Safety Act was necessary despite the fact that the petitioner was already in custody in connection with the criminal case. The cases of the other six petitioners are identical and in the circumstances, we have no option, but to direct their release forthwith, unless they are wanted in connection with some other case or cases."

28. Judgment in Jai Singh (supra) has been followed in Rajesh Vashdev Adnani Vs. State of Maharashtra and others, (2005) 8 SCC 390, wherein the Supreme Court observed as under in para 9 to 13:-

"9. Perusal of the proposal made by the sponsoring authority and the order of detention passed by the detaining authority would show that except by substituting word "he" by "you" no other change was effected.

10. But for the said change the proposal and the order of detention is verbatim the same.

11. Mr Naphade, learned Senior Counsel appearing for the respondent submitted that from the records produced before us it would be evident that there had been due application of mind on the part of Respondent 2 in passing the order of detention. This may be so but keeping in view the safeguards envisaged under Article 22 of the Constitution it was absolutely essential for the second respondent herein to apply her mind not only at the time of grant of approval to the proposal for detention but also when the actual order of detention and grounds thereof are prepared. To the aforementioned extent there has been no application of mind on the part of the second respondent herein, and, thus, we are of the opinion that the impugned order of detention dated 3-11-2004 cannot be sustained.

12. The views we have taken derive support from the judgment of this Court in Jai Singh v. State of J&K, (1985) 1 SCC 561, wherein the Division Bench held: (SCC pp. 561-62, para 1)

"We had called for the records and the learned counsel for the State of Jammu & Kashmir has produced the same before us. First taking up the case of Jai Singh, the first of the petitioners before us, a perusal of the grounds of detention shows that it is a verbatim reproduction of the dossier submitted by the Senior Superintendent of Police, Udhampur to the District Magistrate requesting that a detention order may kindly be issued. At the top of the dossier, the name is mentioned as Sardar Jai Singh, father's name is mentioned as Sardar Ram Singh and the address is given as Village Bharakh, Tehsil Reasi. Thereafter it is recited "The subject is an important member of....' Thereafter follow various allegations against Jai Singh, paragraph by paragraph. In the grounds of detention, all that the District Magistrate, has done is to change the first three words "the subject is' into "you Jai Singh, s/o Ram Singh, resident of Village Bharakh, Tehsil Reasi'. Thereafter word for word the police dossier is repeated and the word "he' wherever it occurs referring to Jai Singh in the dossier is changed into "you' in the grounds of detention. We are afraid it is difficult to find greater proof of non-application of mind. The liberty of a subject is a serious matter and it is not to be trifled with in this casual, indifferent and routine manner."

13. For the reasons aforementioned the order of detention passed against the detenu Vashdev Gobardhan as also the impugned judgment cannot be sustained. It is quashed accordingly. He is directed to be released if not wanted in connection with any other case."

29. Constitutional safeguards and legislative scheme of the Act of 1980 has been referred to in a recent judgment of the Supreme Court in Sarabjeet Singh Mokha Vs. District Magistrate, Jabalpur and others, 2021 SCC OnLine SC 1019. Though the aspect for examination was distinct there i.e. delay in disposal of representation, but the constitutional safeguards in such matters have been emphasised by the Court in following words:-

"17. Article 22 of the Constitution provides specific protections to undertrials and detainees in India. The framers of the Constitution, who were also our freedom fighters, were conscious of founding a polity that secured civil and political freedoms to its citizens. Dr. B R Ambedkar, while proposing the article, noted the necessity of retaining the concept of preventive detention "in the present circumstances of the country". However, the discontinuity from the colonial regime lay in the introduction of strict countervailing measures that ensured that "exigency of liberty of the individual [is not] placed above the interests of the State" in all cases.

18. The specific provisions relating to preventive detention under Article 22 were framed in the following terms:

"(4) No law providing for preventive detention shall authorise the detention of a person for a longer period than three months unless-

(a) an Advisory Board consisting of persons who are, or have been, or are qualified to be appointed as, Judges of a High Court has reported before the expiration of the said period of three months that there is in its opinion sufficient cause for such detention:

Provided that nothing in this sub-clause shall authorise the detention of any person beyond the maximum period prescribed by any law made by Parliament under sub-clause (b) of clause (7); or

(b) such person is detained in accordance with the provisions of any law made by Parliament under sub-clauses (a) and (b) of clause (7).

(5) When any person is detained in pursuance of an order made under any law providing for preventive detention, the authority making the order shall, as soon as may be, communicate to such person the grounds on which the order has been made and shall afford him the earliest opportunity of making a representation against the order.

(6) Nothing in clause (5) shall require the authority making any such order as is referred to in that clause to disclose facts which such authority considers to be against the public interest to disclose.

(7) Parliament may by law prescribe-

(a) the circumstances under which, and the class or classes of cases in which, a person may be detained for a period longer than three months under any law providing for preventive detention without obtaining the opinion of an Advisory Board in accordance with the provisions of sub-clause (a) of clause (4);

(b) the maximum period for which any person may in any class or classes of cases be detained under any law providing for preventive detention; and

(c) the procedure to be followed by an Advisory Board in an inquiry under sub-clause (a) of clause (4)."

(emphasis supplied)

19. The text of Article 22 enshrines certain procedural safeguards, many of which are otherwise available in the CrPC. In elevating these safeguards to a constitutional status, the framers imposed a specific "limitation upon the authority both of Parliament as well as [State] Legislature [to] not abrogate" rights that are fundamental to India's constitution. Dr Bakshi Tek Chand, a conscientious dissenter to preventive detention in peaceful times, proposed a further safeguard in the provision of a right to make representation to the detenu, which was eventually accepted by the Constituent Assembly as a reasonable compromise43 Therefore, preventive detention in independent India is to be exercised with utmost regard to constitutional safeguards.

20. This history of the framing of Article 22 is critical for the judiciary's evaluation of a detenu's writ petition alleging, inter alia, a denial of the timely consideration of his representation. While several arguments have been preferred by the appellant to argue for his release from preventive detention, we are confining our analysis to the most clinching aspect of this case - the failure of the Central Government and the State Government to consider his representation dated 18 May 2021 in a timely manner."

30. Whether the material referred to in the communication of the sponsoring authority depicts concerns of law and order vis-a-vis public order or that possibility exists of detenue indulging in acts prejudicial to maintenance of public order or that he is likely to be released etc. are issues that directly affect the liberty of citizens and cannot be allowed to be dealt with in a cursory manner. Routine exercise of power in that regard or passing of formatted orders where recommendations made by the sponsoring authority are physically lifted and included in the body of the grounds of detention cannot be approved of. Unless it is shown from the order that the detaining authority has independently applied his mind upon the materials placed before him, to come to a conclusion with regard to existence of material justifying invocation of power under Section 3(3) of the Act of 1980, the order itself would be rendered invalid. One of the surest ways to ascertain application of mind on part of the detaining authority is the independent recording of reasons/satisfaction by the detaining authority in the grounds of detention.

31. At this juncture, we would like to emphasis one of the main factors which has persuaded us to accept petitioner's contention that there is no independent application of mind on part of the detaining authority with regard to existence of conditions justifying the order of preventive detention. The petitioner in leading case is nominated as accused in two cases i.e. Case Crime No. 291 of 2021, under Sections 147, 148, 149, 302, 504, 506, 34 IPC and Section 7 of the Criminal Law Amendment Act as also in Case Crime No. 333 of 2021, under Section 3/25 Arms Act, Police Station Chandpur, District Bijnor. The sponsoring authority has mentioned that the detenue has applied for bail in Case Crime No. 291 of 2021, but there is no disclosure of any bail application having been filed in Case Crime No. 333 of 2021. The possibility of likely release of detenue would arise only when he is enlarged on bail in both the cases. There is nothing on record to show in the recommendation of the sponsoring authority that detenue has applied for bail in Case Crime No. 333 of 2021 or that there exists material to show that he would be enlarged on bail in the other case.

32. The omission of aforesaid fact in the recommendation of the sponsoring authority is virtually dittoed in the grounds of detention also, passed by the detaining authority. His order also refers to filing of bail application by the petitioner in Case Crime No. 291 of 2021 only and completely omits to consider the import of non filing of bail application in other case i.e. 333 of 2021.

33. The fact that petitioner had not applied for bail in other case i.e. Case Crime No. 333 of 2021 was an extremely important fact and its non consideration would vitiate the satisfaction warranted for exercise of jurisdiction under Section 3(3) of the Act of 1980. We are reminded of the observations made by the Supreme Court in Ayya Alias Ayub vs State Of U.P. & Another, (1989) 1 SCC 374 highlighting the need of protection of personal liberty in Constitution as also the observance of procedural safeguards in paragraphs 11 to 21 of the judgment, which are reproduced hereinafter:-

"11. Personal liberty protected under Article 21 of the Constitution is held so sacrosant and so high in the scale of constitutional values that this Court has shown great anxiety for its protection and wherever a petition for writ of habeas corpus is brought up, it has been held that the obligation of the detaining authority is not confined just to meet the specific grounds of challenge but is one of showing that the impugned detention meticulously accords with the procedure established by law. Indeed the English courts a century ago echoed the stringency and concern of this judicial vigilance in matters of personal liberty in the following words: [Thomas Pelham Dales case, (1881) 6 QBD 376, 461]

"Then comes the question upon the habeas corpus. It is a general rule, which has always been acted upon by the courts of England, that if any person procures the imprisonment of another he must take care to do so by steps, all of which are entirely regular, and that if he fails to follow every step in the process with extreme regularity the court will not allow the imprisonment to continue."

12. It has been said that the history of liberty has largely been the history of observance of procedural safeguards. The procedural sinews strengthening the substance of the right to move the court against executive invasion of personal liberty and the due dispatch of judicial business touching violations of this great right is stressed in the words of Lord Denning: [Freedom Under The Law, Hamlyn Lectures, 1949]

"Whenever one of the King's Judges takes his seat, there is one application which by long tradition has priority over all others. counsel has but to say "My Lord, I have an application which concerns the liberty of the subject' and forthwith the Judge will put all other matters aside and hear it. It may be an application for a writ of habeas corpus, or an application for bail, but, whatever form it takes, it is heard first."

13. Personal liberty, is by every reckoning, the greatest of human freedoms and the laws of preventive detention are strictly construed and a meticulous compliance with the procedural safeguards, however technical, is strictly insisted upon by the courts. The law on the matter did not start on a clean slate. The power of courts against the harsh incongruities and unpredictabilities of preventive detention is not merely "a page of history" but a whole volume. The compulsions of the primordial need to maintain order in society, without which the enjoyment of all rights, including the right to personal liberty, would lose all their meaning are the true justifications for the laws of preventive detention. The pressures of the day in regard to the imperatives of the security of the State and of public order might, it is true, require the sacrifice of the personal liberty of individuals. Laws that provide for preventive detention posit that an individual's conduct prejudicial to the maintenance of public order or to the security of State provides grounds for a satisfaction for a reasonable prognostication of a possible future manifestations of similar propensities on the part of the offender. This jurisdiction has been called a jurisdiction of suspicion; but the compulsions of the very preservation of the values of freedom, or democratic society and of social order might compel a curtailment of individual liberty. "To lose our country by a scrupulous adherence to the written law" said Thomas Jefferson "would be to be lose the law itself, with life, liberty and all those who are enjoying with us; thus absurdly sacrificing the end to the means". This is, no doubt, the theoretical justification for the law enabling preventive detention.

14. But the actual manner of administration of the law of preventive detention is of utmost importance. The law has to be justified by the genius of its administration so as to strike the right balance between individual liberty on the one hand and the needs of an orderly society on the other. But the realities of executive excesses in the actual enforcement of the law have put the courts on the alert, ever-ready to intervene and confine the power within strict limits of the law both substantive and procedural. The paradigms and value judgments of the maintenance of a right balance are not static but vary according as the "pressures of the day" and according as the intensity of the imperatives that justify both the need for and the extent of the curtailment of individual liberty. Adjustments and readjustments are constantly to be made and reviewed. No law is an end in itself. The "inn that shelters for the night is not journey's end and the law, like the traveller, must be ready for the morrow".

15. As to the approach to such laws which deprive personal liberty without trial, the libertarian judicial faith has made its choice between the pragmatic view and the idealistic or doctrinaire view. The approach to the curtailment of personal liberty which is an axiom of democratic faith and of all civilised life is an idealistic one, for, loss of personal liberty deprives a man of all that is worth living for and builds up deep resentments. Liberty belongs what correspond to man's inmost self. Of this idealistic view in the judicial traditions of the free world, Justice Douglas said: [See "On Misconception of the Judicial Function and the Responsibility of the Bar", Columbia Law Review, Vol. 59, p. 232]

"Faith in America is faith in her free institutions or it is nothing. The Constitution we adopted launched a daring and bold experiment. Under that compact we agreed to tolerate even ideas we despise. We also agreed never to prosecute people merely for their ideas or beliefs...."

16. Judge Stanley H. Fuld of the New York Court of Appeals said: [Quoted by Justice Douglas, id. at p. 233]

"It is a delusion to think that the nation's security is advanced by the sacrifice of the individual's basic-liberty. The fears and doubts of the moment may loom large, but we lose more than we gain if we counter with a resort to alien procedures or with a denial of essential constitutional guarantees."

It was a part of the American judicial faith that the Constitution and Nation are one and that it was not possible to believe that national security did require what the Constitution appeared to condemn.

17. Under our Constitution also the mandate is clear and the envoy is left under no dilemma. The constitutional philosophy of personal liberty is an idealistic view, the curtailment of liberty for reasons of State's security, public order, disruption of national economic discipline etc. being envisaged as a necessary evil to be administered under strict constitutional restrictions.

18. In Icchu Devi Choraria v. Union of India [(1980) 4 SCC 531 : 1981 SCC (Cri) 25 : AIR 1980 SC 1983] Bhagwati J. spoke of this judicial commitment: [AIR p. 1988 : SCC p. 538, SCC (Cri) p. 32, para 5]

"The court has always regarded personal liberty as the most precious possession of mankind and refused to tolerate illegal detention, regardless of the social cost involved in the release of a possible renegade.

This is an area where the court has been most strict and scrupulous in ensuring observance with the requirements of the law, and even where a requirement of the law is breached in the slightest measure, the court has not hesitated to strike down the order of detention..." (emphasis supplied)

19. In Vijay Narain Singh v. State of Bihar [(1984) 3 SCC 14 : 1984 SCC (Cri) 361 : AIR 1984 SC 1334] Justice Chinnappa Reddy, J. in his concurring majority view said : [AIR p. 1336 : SCC p. 19, SCC (Cri) p. 366, para 1]

"... I do not agree with the view that "those who are responsible for the national security or for the maintenance of public order must be the sole Judges of what the national security or public order requires'. It is too perilous a proposition. Our Constitution does not give a carte blanche to any organ of the State to be the sole arbiter in such matters ... There are two sentinels, one at either end. The legislature is required to make the law circumscribing the limits within which persons may be preventively detained and providing for the safeguards prescribed by the Constitution and the courts are required to examine, when demanded, whether there has been any excessive detention, that is, whether the limits set by the Constitution and the legislature have been transgressed."

20. In Hem Lall Bhandari v. State of Sikkim [(1987) 2 SCC 9 : 1987 SCC (Cri) 262 : AIR 1987 SC 762, 766] it was observed: [SCC p. 14, SCC (Cri) p. 267, para 12]

"It is not permissible, in matters relating to the personal liberty and freedom of a citizen, to take either a liberal or a generous view of the lapses on the part of the officers."

21.There are well-recognised objective and judicial tests of the subjective satisfaction for preventive detention. Amongst other things, the material considered by the detaining authority in reaching the satisfaction must be susceptible of the satisfaction both in law and in logic. The tests are the usual administrative law tests where power is couched in subjective language. There is, of course, the requisite emphasis in the context of personal liberty. Indeed the purpose of public law and the public law courts is to discipline power and strike at the illegality and unfairness of Government wherever it is found. The sufficiency of the evidentiary material or the degree of probative criteria for the satisfaction for detention is of course in the domain of the detaining authority"

34. In light of the discussions aforesaid as also the law settled in the matter, we are of the considered opinion that the satisfaction of the detaining authority with regard to existence of reasons justifying the order of preventive detention against the petitioner suffers from lack of independent application of mind, which renders the subjective satisfaction of the authority vitiated in the eyes of law. The order of detention, therefore, cannot be sustained. Subsequent orders passed on the basis of such order, therefore, must also fail. Writ Petition No. 5 of 2022 is, therefore, allowed.

35. So far as the writ petition filed by petitioner Nikhil Kumar (Habeas Corpus Writ Petition No. 6 of 2022) is concerned, detention order refers to the facts about the detenue having been arrested on 19.5.2021 in Case Crime No. 291 of 2021, under Sections 147, 148, 149, 302, 504, 506, 34 IPC and Section 7 of the Criminal Law Amendment Act, Police Station Chandpur, District Bijnor as also his implication in Case Crime No. 292 of 2021, under Section 3/25 Arms Act and in Case Crime No. 374 of 2021, under Section 3(1) of U.P. Gangsters Act, Police Station Chandpur, District Bijnor. However, the grounds of detention merely refers to the fact that the petitioner Nikhil Kumar has applied for grant of bail in Case Crime No. 291 of 2021 alone. There is no reference of filing of any bail application in the grounds of detention in the other two cases i.e. Case Crime No. 292 of 2021 and Case Crime No. 374 of 2021. This important omission appears to be a direct consequence of failure contained in the recommendation of the sponsoring authority about non filing of bail application in Case Crime no. 292 of 2021 and Case Crime No. 374 of 2021. We are, therefore, of the view that the order of detention passed against the petitioner Nikhil Kumar also suffers from the same jurisdictional infirmity on account of which we have allowed the leading writ petition. The detention orders passed as against the petitioner Nikhil Kumar also stands quashed for the same reasons.

36. In the writ petition filed by petitioner Surendra Singh @ Shailendra Singh (Habeas Corpus Writ Petition No. 8 of 2022) detention order refers to the fact that the detenue has been arrested on 7.6.2021 in Case Crime No. 291 of 2021, under Sections 147, 148, 149, 302, 504, 506, 34 IPC and Section 7 of the Criminal Law Amendment Act, Police Station Chandpur, District Bijnor as also in Case Crime No. 332 of 2021, under Section 3/25 Arms Act, Police Station Chandpur, District Bijnor. Here also the grounds of detention merely refers to the fact that the petitioner Surendra Singh @ Shailendra Singh has applied for grant of bail in Case Crime No. 291 of 2021 alone. There is no reference of filing of any bail application in the grounds of detention in the other case i.e. Case Crime No. 332 of 2021. This important omission appears to be a direct consequence of failure in that regard contained in the recommendation of the sponsoring authority wherein also no fact about filing of bail application in Case Crime no. 332 of 2021 are recorded. We are, therefore, of the view that the order of detention passed against the petitioner Surendra Singh @ Shailendra Singh also suffers from the same jurisdictional infirmity on account of which we have allowed the leading writ petition. The detention orders passed as against the petitioner Surendra Singh @ Shailendra

Singh also stands quashed for the same reasons.

37. Since the writ petitions succeed on the first argument itself, we are not required to examine other grounds urged in support of the writ petition. This bunch of writ petitions, accordingly, is allowed. No order is, however, passed as to costs.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Rajesh Bindal, C.J., & Hon'ble J.J. Munir, J.)

1. The present petition has been filed claiming to be in public interest praying for the following reliefs:

"(a) Issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of Mandamus commanding/directing the respondents authority to recover the embezzled money from the respondents No.5 and 6.

(b) Issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of Mandamus commanding/directing the respondents authority to take suitable action against the respondents No.5 and 6 due to their illegal act in the embezzlement of Government money granted for the development of Gram Panchayat Barai Shahpur, Tehsil and Block Sikandra Rao, District Hathras.

(c) Issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of Mandamus commanding/directing the respondent No.2- District Magistrate, District Hathras to decide the representation dated 16.12.2019 filed by the petitioner (Annexure No.2 to the Public Litigation Petition)."

2. The learned counsel for the petitioner referred to an order passed by District Magistrate dated August 24, 2017 vide which a Committee was constituted to inquire into alleged embezzlement of funds by the Gram Pradhan. The grievance raised is that no action has been taken.

3. The learned counsel for respondent No.6 produced before us the order passed by this Court in Writ-C No.8261 of 2018, titled as Ram Prasad Rajouria v. State of U.P. and others filed by the petitioner earlier in which same relief was claimed. The aforesaid writ petition was dismissed on March 15, 2018. He submitted that the factum of filing of the aforesaid writ petition has not been disclosed by the petitioner in the present petition.

4. Finding himself to be in awkward situation, learned counsel for the petitioner submitted that he may be permitted to withdraw the present petition.

5. The issue regarding approaching the Court by concealing the facts has been examined by Hon'ble the Supreme Court on number of occasions and it has been opined that the same is polluting the stream of justice.

6. In Abhyudya Sanstha Vs. Union of India, (2011) 6 SCC 145, Hon'ble the Supreme Court, while declining relief to the petitioners therein, who did not approach the court with clean hands, opined as under :-

"18. ... In our view, the appellants deserve to be non suited because they have not approached the Court with clean hands. The plea of inadvertent mistake put forward by the learned senior counsel for the appellants and their submission that the Court may take lenient view and order regularisation of the admissions already made sounds attractive but does not merit acceptance. Each of the appellants consciously made a statement that it had been granted recognition by the NCTE, which necessarily implies that recognition was granted in terms of Section 14 of the Act read with Regulations 7 and 8 of the 2007 Regulations. Those managing the affairs of the appellants do not belong to the category of innocent, illiterate/uneducated persons, who are not conversant with the relevant statutory provisions and the court process. The very fact that each of the appellants had submitted LPASW No. 82/2019 Page 7 application in terms of Regulation 7 and made itself available for inspection by the team constituted by WRC, Bhopal shows that they were fully aware of the fact that they can get recognition only after fulfilling the conditions specified in the Act and the Regulations and that WRC, Bhopal had not granted recognition to them. Notwithstanding this, they made bold statement that they had been granted recognition by the competent authority and thereby succeeded in persuading this Court to entertain the special leave petitions and pass interim orders. The minimum, which can be said about the appellants is that they have not approached the Court with clean hands and succeeded in polluting the stream of justice by making patently false statement. Therefore, they are not entitled to relief under Article 136 of the Constitution. This view finds support from plethora of precedents.

19. In Hari Narain v. Badri Das AIR 1963 SC 1558, G. Narayanaswamy Reddy v. Govt. of Karnataka (1991) 3 SCC 261 and large number of other cases, this Court denied relief to the petitioner/appellant on the ground that he had not approached the Court with clean hands. In Hari Narain v. Badri Das (supra), the Court revoked the leave granted to the appellant and observed:

"It is of utmost importance that in making material statements and setting forth grounds in applications for special leave made under Article 136 of the Constitution, care must be taken not to make any statements which are inaccurate, untrue or misleading. In dealing with applications for special leave, the Court naturally takes statements of fact and grounds of fact contained in the petitions at their face value and it LPASW No. 82/2019 Page 8 would be unfair to betray the confidence of the Court by making statements which are untrue and misleading. Thus, if at the hearing of the appeal the Supreme Court is satisfied that the material statements made by the appellant in his application for special leave are inaccurate and misleading, and the respondent is entitled to contend that the appellant may have obtained special leave from the Supreme Court on the strength of what he characterises as misrepresentations of facts contained in the petition for special leave, the Supreme Court may come to the conclusion that in such a case special leave granted to the appellant ought to be revoked."

20. In G. Narayanaswamy Reddy v. Govt. of Karnataka's case (supra), the Court while noticing the fact regarding the stay order passed by the High Court which prevented passing of the award by the Land Acquisition Officer within the prescribed time period was concealed and in the aforesaid context, it observed that:

"2. ... Curiously enough, there is no reference in the special leave petitions to any of the stay orders and we came to know about these orders only when the respondents appeared in response to the notice and filed their counter- affidavit. In our view, the said interim orders have a direct bearing on the question raised and the non-disclosure of the same certainly amounts to suppression of material facts. On this ground alone, the special leave petitions are liable to be rejected. It is well settled in law that the relief under Article 136 of the Constitution is discretionary and a petitioner who approaches this Court for such relief must come with frank and full disclosure of facts. If he fails to do so and suppresses material facts, his application is liable to be dismissed. We accordingly dismiss the special leave petitions."

21. In Dalip Singh v. State of U.P., (2010) 2 SCC 114, Hon'ble the Supreme Court noticed the progressive decline in the values of life and observed:

"1. For many centuries Indian society cherished two basic values of life i.e. "satya" (truth) and "ahinsa" (non-violence). Mahavir, Gautam Buddha and Mahatma Gandhi guided the people to ingrain these values in their daily life. Truth constituted an integral part of the justice- delivery system which was in vogue in the pre-Independence era and the people used to feel proud to tell truth in the courts irrespective of the consequences. However, post-Independence period has seen drastic changes in our value system. The materialism has overshadowed the old ethos and the quest for personal gain has become so intense that those involved in litigation do not hesitate to take shelter of falsehood, misrepresentation and suppression of facts in the court proceedings.

2. In the last 40 years, a new creed of litigants has cropped up. Those who belong to this creed do not have any respect for truth. They shamelessly resort to falsehood and unethical means for achieving their goals. In order to meet the challenge posed by this new creed of litigants, the courts have, from time to time, evolved new rules and it is now well established that a litigant, who attempts to pollute the stream of justice or who touches the pure fountain of justice with tainted hands, is not entitled to any relief, interim or final." (emphasis supplied)

7. In Moti Lal Songara Vs. Prem Prakash @ Pappu and another (2013) 9 SCC 199, Hon'ble the Supreme Court, considering the issue regarding concealment of facts before the Court, while observing that "court is not a laboratory where children come to play", opined as under:

"19. The second limb of the submission is whether in the obtaining factual matrix, the order passed by the High Court discharging the accused-respondent is justified in law. We have clearly stated that though the respondent was fully aware about the fact that charges had been framed against him by the learned trial Judge, yet he did not bring the same to the notice of the revisional court hearing the revision against the order taking cognizance. It is a clear case of suppression. It was within the special knowledge of the accused. Any one who takes recourse to method of suppression in a court of law, is, in actuality, playing fraud with the court, and the maxim supressio veri, expression faisi , i.e., suppression of the truth is equivalent to the expression of falsehood, gets attracted. We are compelled to say so as there has been a calculated concealment of the fact before the revisional court. It can be stated with certitude that the accused- respondent tried to gain advantage by such factual suppression. The fraudulent intention is writ large. In fact, he has shown his courage of ignorance and tried to play possum.

20. The High Court, as we have seen, applied the principle "when infrastructure collapses, the superstructure is bound to collapse". However, as the order has been obtained by practising fraud and suppressing material fact before a court of law to gain advantage, the said order cannot be allowed to stand." (emphasis supplied)

8. Similar view has been expressed in Amar Singh v. Union of India and others, (2011)7 SCC 69 and Kishore Samrite v. State of Uttar Pradesh and others, (2013)2 SCC 398.

9. In a recent judgment in ABCD Vs. Union of India and others (2020) 2 SCC 52, Hon'ble the Supreme Court in the matter where material facts had been concealed, while issuing notice to the petitioner therein, exercising its suo-motu contempt power, observed as under :

"15. Making a false statement on oath is an offence punishable under Section 181 of the IPC while furnishing false information with intent to cause public servant to use his lawful power to the injury of another person is punishable under Section 182 of the IPC. These offences by virtue of Section 195(1)(a)(i) of the Code can be taken cognizance of by any court only upon a proper complaint in writing as stated in said Section. In respect of matters coming under Section 195(1)(b)(i) of the Code, in Pushpadevi M. Jatia v. M.L. Wadhawan etc., (1987) 3 SCC 367 prosecution was directed to be launched after prima facie satisfaction was recorded by this Court.

16. It has also been laid down by this Court in Chandra Shashi v. Anil Kumar Verma (1995) 1 SCC 421 that a person who makes an attempt to deceive the court, interferes with the administration of justice and can be held guilty of contempt of court. In that case a husband who had filed a fabricated document to oppose the prayer of his wife seeking transfer of matrimonial proceedings was found guilty of contempt of court and sentenced to two weeks imprisonment. It was observed as under:

"1. The stream of administration of justice has to remain unpolluted so that purity of court's atmosphere may give vitality to all the organs of the State. Polluters of judicial firmament are, therefore, required to be well taken care of to maintain the sublimity of court's environment; so also to enable it to administer justice fairly and to the satisfaction of all concerned.

2. Anyone who takes recourse to fraud, deflects the course of judicial proceedings; or if anything is done with oblique motive, the same interferes with the administration of justice. Such persons are required to be properly dealt with, not only to punish them for the wrong done, but also to deter others from indulging in similar acts which shake the faith of people in the system of administration of justice.

14. The legal position thus is that if the publication be with intent to deceive the court or one made with an intention to defraud, the same would be contempt, as it would interfere with administration of justice. It would, in any case, tend to interfere with the same. This would definitely be so if a fabricated document is filed with the aforesaid mens rea. In the case at hand the fabricated document was apparently to deceive the court; the intention to defraud is writ large. Anil Kumar is, therefore, guilty of contempt."

17. In K.D. Sharma Vs. Steel Authority of India Limited and others (2008) 12 SCC 481 it was observed:

"39. If the primary object as highlighted in Kensington Income Tax Commrs., (1917) 1 KB 486 : 86 LJKB 257 : 116 LT 136 (CA) is kept in mind, an applicant who does not come with candid facts and "clean breast" cannot hold a writ of the court with "soiled hands". Suppression or concealment of material facts is not an advocacy. It is a jugglery, manipulation, manoeuvring or misrepresentation, which has no place in equitable and prerogative jurisdiction. If the applicant does not disclose all the material facts fairly and truly but states them in a distorted manner and misleads the court, the court has inherent power in order to protect itself and to prevent an abuse of its process to discharge the rule nisi and refuse to proceed further with the examination of the case on merits. If the court does not reject the petition on that ground, the court would be failing in its duty. In fact, such an applicant requires to be dealt with for contempt of court for abusing the process of the court."

18. In Dhananjay Sharma Vs. State of Haryana and others (1995) 3 SCC 757 filing of a false affidavit was the basis for initiation of action in contempt jurisdiction and the concerned persons were punished."

10. It was held in the judgments referred to above that one of the two cherished basic values by Indian society for centuries is "satya" (truth) and the same has been put under the carpet by the petitioner. Truth constituted an integral part of the justice-delivery system in the pre-Independence era, however, post-Independence period has seen drastic changes in our value system. The materialism has overshadowed the old ethos and the quest for personal gain has become so intense that those involved in litigation do not hesitate to take shelter of falsehood, misrepresentation and suppression of facts in the court proceedings. In the last 40 years, the values have gone down and now a litigants can go to any extent to mislead the court. They have no respect for the truth. The principle has been evolved to meet the challenge posed by this new breed of litigants. Now it is well settled that a litigant, who attempts to pollute the stream of justice or who touches the pure fountain of justice with tainted hands, is not entitled to any relief, interim or final. Suppression of material facts from the court of law, is actually playing fraud with the court. The maxim supressio veri, expression faisi, i.e. suppression of the truth is equivalent to the expression of falsehood, gets attracted.

11. In view of the aforesaid authoritative pronouncements of law on the issue of concealment of facts by a litigant, if we allow the petitioner to withdraw the present petition even then we feel that he deserves to be burdened with cost.

12. The petition is, accordingly, dismissed with cost of ₹50,000/-. The cost shall be deposited with the Allahabad High Court Bar Association within a period of two months. In case of failure, the Bar Association shall be at liberty to move application in the present petition for recovery of the amount from the petitioner.

ORIGINAL JURISDICTION
CRIMINAL SIDE

BEFORE

THE HON'BLE SANJAY KUMAR SINGH, J.

Application U/S 482 No.1395 of 2022

Pankaj Tyagi ...Applicant
Versus
State of U.P. & Anr. ...Respondents

Counsel for the Applicant:
Sri Sundeep Shukla

G.A.

A. Criminal Law - Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 - Section 482 - Indian Penal Code, 1860-Sections 354, 452, 323, 504 & 506-quashing of charge-sheet and summoning order-statement of the victim has fully supported the prosecution case-cognizable offence is made out as per material available against the applicant-At this stage, the magistrate has to be satisfied whether there is sufficient ground for proceeding, court below is not required to go into the merit and demerit of the case-Genuineness or otherwise of the allegations cannot be determined at the stage of summoning of the accused-

Thus, the impugned criminal proceeding under the facts of the case cannot said to be an abuse of the process of law.(Para 1 to 36)

B. It is trite that the power of quashing should be exercised sparingly. exercise of jurisdiction under the inherent power u/s 482 of the code to have the complaint or charge-sheet quashed is an exception rather a rule and the case for quashing at the initial stage must have to be treated as rarest of rare so as not to scuttle the prosecution. The jurisdiction as such is rather limited and restricted and its undue expansion is neither practicable nor warranted.(Para 18 to 28)

The application is rejected. (E-6)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Sanjay Kumar Singh, J.)

1. Heard Mr Sundeep Shukla, learned counsel for the applicant and Shri Virendra Kumar Maurya, learned Additional Government Advocate assisted by Shri Prashant Kumar Singh, learned Brief Holder, representing the State of Uttar Pradesh and perused the record of the case.

2. By means of this application under Section 482 of the Code of Criminal Procedure (herein after referred to as "Cr.P.C."), the applicant has invoked the inherent jurisdiction of this Court for quashing the impugned charge sheet No. 263 of 2015 dated 09.07.2017, under Sections 354, 452, 323, 504, 506 IPC, cognizance and summoning order dated 17.7.2017 passed by the learned Judicial Magistrate-III, Meerut, order dated 25.10.2017 whereby the learned Magistrate issued bailable warrant as well as further proceedings of case No. 646 of 2014, pending in the court of Additional Chief Judicial Magistrate-V, Meerut.

3. Before considering the merits of the case, it would not be out of place to mention it here that in the instant case, the charge sheet was submitted way back on 09.07.2015, cognizance was taken thereon and summoning order was passed on 17.07.2015, which were challenged by the applicant before this Court by filing the instant application on 12.1.2022, i.e. after about six and a half years. When, learned counsel for the applicant was confronted with the aforesaid delay in challenging the charge sheet, cognizance and summoning order, he submitted that the applicant was not aware about the initiation of the proceedings against him.

4. On a query by the Court that learned Magistrate in the order dated 25.10.2017 has specifically mentioned that "on the case being taken up, accused did not turn up, summon has already been served upon him, issue bailable warrant against him", learned counsel for the applicant has belied the order of the learned Magistrate by saying that aforesaid order has been passed by the learned Magistrate on the basis of conjecture and surmises. Averments to this effect has also been made by the learned counsel for the applicant in paragraphs 40, 41 and 42 to the affidavit filed in support of this application.

5. Such types of averments made by the applicant to explain the delay in filing this application are highly deplorable.

6. Now I proceed to consider the merit of the case.

7. The facts that formed the bedrock of this application in nutshell are that an application under Section 156(3) Cr.P.C. was moved by the victim on 01.09.2014 before the Judicial Magistrate-III, Meerut with the allegations that accused-Pankaj, who is the resident of the same village used to stalk her with bad intention and was in search of making sexual relations with the applicant-victim for the last one year. On 01.7.2014, the accused, with an intention to outrage her modesty, caught hold of her, but the matter was resolved by the police by putting pressure on the family of the victim. On 27.8.2014, when the victim was sleeping in her room, at about 11.00 PM, accused barged into her room, swooped her and tried to commit rape upon her forcibly. On the shrieks of the victim, her mother wake up and apprehended the accused, but by using force, abusing and assaulting her mother, he managed to escape by extending threat that if the victim does not make sexual relation with him, he will attack her with acid. The incident was witnessed in the light of inverter. The application further mentions that she has given information to the police on 28.8.2014 and also sent a letter to the Senior Superintendent of Police, Meerut on 30.8.2014, but since, no action was taken by the police, she has filed the application under Section 156(3) Cr.P.C. supported by her affidavit.

8. The aforesaid application was allowed by the Judicial Magistrate-III, Meerut vide order dated 26.9.2014 and SHO concerned was directed to lodge an FIR and investigate the matter.

9. In pursuance of the order of the Magistrate dated 26.9.2014, the FIR was lodged on 28.9.2014 at case crime No. 646 of 2014, under Sections 354, 376, 511, 504, 506, 323, 452 IPC, police station Kharkhauda, sub-district Sadar, district Meerut.

10. After lodging of the FIR, the law set into motion and investigation was carried out by the investigating officer and on culmination of investigation, the investigating officer submitted charge sheet against the applicant, on which cognizance was taken and accused-applicant was summoned, which is the subject matter of challenge in this application.

11. The main substratum of argument of learned counsel for the applicant is that the first information report was lodged on the basis of application and order passed under Section 156(3) Cr.P.C. for the incident which took place on 27.08.2014 by one Koshika impersonating herself as Neha on the basis of false, frivolous and cooked up story, whereas Neha has left for her heavenly abode on 13.05.2008. In support of his submission, learned counsel for the applicant has relied upon an undated death certificate issued by the New Delhi Municipal Council to show that Km. Neha died on 13.5.2008 at All India Institute of Medical Sciences, New Delhi. Learned counsel for the applicant further submits that statements recorded under sections 161 and 164 Cr.P.C. are false and manipulated.

12. Learned counsel for the applicant lastly submitted that the applicant has been falsely implicated in this case and no offence whatsoever is made out against the applicant. Under the facts and circumstances of the case, impugned charge-sheet, cognizance order, summoning order and further proceedings initiated against the applicant are liable to be quashed by this Court.

13. Per contra, learned Additional Government Advocate representing the State submits that on 04.2.2022 when this case was taken up for the first time, on the submission advanced by the learned counsel for the applicant that the victim, who has lodged the application under Section 156(3) Cr.P.C. on 01.9.2014, has already died on 13.5.2008, State was directed to obtain instructions. On the basis of instructions, learned AGA submits that the death certificate produced by the learned counsel for the applicant is found fake and manipulated. Further, the applicant has never produced the said death certificate before the investigating officer during investigation to verify the truth or otherwise of the said certificate whereas the statement of the applicant was recorded by the investigating officer on 09.7.2015. To buttress his submission, learned Additional Government Advocate has produced before this Court death certificate of Km. Neha, issued by the Registrar, Birth and Death, Nagar Nigam, Meerut showing her death at Ring Road, Lohiya Nagar, Meerut on 24.9.2015. He has also produced a copy of paper cutting dated 25.9.2015 of Amar Ujala, Meerut Edition in which it was mentioned that Km. Neha died in road accident. Both the documents, produced by the learned Additional Government are kept on record and marked as "A".

14. Learned Additional Government Advocate further submits that statement of the victim under section 161 Cr.P.C. was recorded on 07.10.2014 and supplementary statement under section 161 Cr.P.C. on 09.7.2015, whereas her statement under Section 164 Cr.P.C. was recorded in the case diary on 10.10.2014. In her statements, both under Section 161 Cr.P.C. and 164 Cr.P.C., the victim has fully supported the prosecution case by giving vivid description of the occurrence.

15. Learned Additional Government Advocate also submits that the allegations made in the FIR as well as material against the applicant, as per prosecution case, the cognizable offence against the applicant is made out. The criminal proceedings against the applicant cannot said to be abuse of the process of the Court. Hence this application is liable to be rejected.

16. Guidelines with regard to the exercise of jurisdiction by the Court under section 482 Cr.P.C. have been laid down by Apex Court from time to time.

17. In State of Haryana Vs. Bhajan Lal, 1992 (51) SCC 335, Apex Court laid down certain broad tests to exercise the inherent power or extraordinary power of the High court. On the cost of repetition it is not necessary to reiterate the guidelines. Suffice it to state that they are only illustrative. The High Court should sparingly and only in exceptional cases, in other words, in rarest of rare cases, and not merely because it would be appealable to the learned Judge, be inclined to exercise the power to quash the FIR/Charge sheet/complaint.

18. In Rupan Deol Bajal Vs. Kanwar Pal Singh Gill, 1995 (7) JT 299, the Apex Court reiterated the above view and held that when the complaint or charge sheet filed disclosed prima facie evidence, the court would not weigh at that stage and fine out whether offence could be made out.

19. In State of Himachal Pradesh Vs. Pirthi Chand and another, 1996 (2) SCC 37, Supreme Court held thus:

"It is thus settled law that the exercise of inherent power of the High Court is an exceptional one. Great care should be taken by the High Court before embarking to scrutinise the FIR/charge-sheet/ complaint. In deciding whether the case is rarest of rare cases to scuttle the prosecution in its inception, it first has to get into the grip of the matter whether the allegations constitute the offence. It must be remembered that FIR is only an initiation to move the machinery and to investigate into cognizable offence. After the investigation is conducted and the charge-sheet is laid the prosecution produces the statements of the witnesses recorded under section 161 of the Code in support of the charge- sheet. At that stage it is not the function of the Court to weigh the pros and cons of the prosecution case or to consider necessity of strict compliance of the provisions which are considered mandatory and its effect of non-compliance. It would be done after the trial is concluded. The Court has to prima facie consider from the averments in the charge-sheet and the statements of witness on the record in support thereof whether Court could take cognizance of the offence, on that evidence and proceed further with the trial. If it reaches a conclusion that no cognizable offence is made out no further act could be done except to quash the charge-sheet. But only in exceptional cases, i.e., in rarest of rare cases of mala fide initiation of the proceedings to wreak private vengeance process of criminal is availed of in laying a complaint or FIR itself does not disclose at all any cognizable offence - the Court may embark upon the consideration thereof and exercise the power.

20. In State of Bihar Vs. Rajendra Agrawalla, 1996 SCALE (1) 394, the Apex Court observed as under:

"It has been held by this Court in several cases that the inherent power of the court under Section 482 of the Code of Criminal Procedure should be very sparingly and cautiously used only when the court comes to the conclusion that there would be manifest injustice or there would be abuse of the process of the court, if such power is not exercised. So far as the order of cognizance by a Magistrate is concerned, the inherent power can be exercised when the allegations in the First Information Report or the complaint together with the other materials collected during investigation taken at their face value, do not constitute the offence alleged. At that stage it is not open for the court either to shift the evidence or appreciate the evidence and come to the conclusion that no prima facie case is made out."

21. These guidelines were reiterated by the Apex Court in Central Bureau of Investigation Vs. Duncans Agra Industries Limited, 1996 (5) SCC 592, Rajesh Bajaj Vs. State NCT of Delhi, 1999 (3) SCC 259 and Zandu Pharmaceuticals Works Limited Vs. Mohd. Sharaful Haque and another (2005) 1 SCC 122.

22. In M/s Medchl Chemicals and Pharma P limited Vs. M/s Biological E. Limited and others, JT 2000 (2) SC 426, Apex Court held thus:

" Exercise of jurisdiction under the inherent power as envisaged in Section 482 of the code to have the complaint or the charge sheet quashed is an exception rather a rule and the case for quashing at the initial stage must have to be treated as rarest of rare so as not to scuttle the prosecution. With the lodgment of First Information Report the ball is set to roll and thenceforth the law takes its own course and the investigation ensues in accordance with the provisions of law. The jurisdiction as such is rather limited and restricted and its undue expansion is neither practicable nor warranted."

23. In Md. Allauddin Khan Vs. State of Bihar, 2019 (6) SCC 107, the Magistrate took cognizance of the offence under Section 323, 379 read with Section 34 of the Indian Penal Code by holding that a prima facie case was made out against the respondents therein on the basis of allegations made in the complaint. Patna High Court set aside the order of Magistrate on appreciation of the evidence. The Apex Court, while setting aside the order of the Patna High Court, held thus:

"in our view, the High Court had no jurisdiction to appreciate the evidence of the proceedings under Section 482 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 (for short "Cr.P.C") because whether are are contradictions or/and inconsistencies in the statements of the witnesses is essentially an issue relating to appreciation of evidence and the same can be gone into by the Judicial Magistrate during trial when the entire evidence is adduced by the parties. That stage is yet to come in this case."

24. In State of Madhya Pradesh Vs. Yogendra Singh Jadon and another, (2020) 12 SCC 588, after the registration of FIR, a charge sheet under Section 420, 406, 409, 120-B IPC and 13(1)(d) and 13(2) of the Prevention of Corruption Act was filed. The Special Judge passed an order framing charges against Yogendra Singh Jadon and others. That order was challenged before the High Court by way of filing criminal revision. The High Court found that the offences under Sections 420 and 120-B IPC were not made out. The Apex Court while setting aside the order of the High Court held that the High Court has examined the entire issue as to whether the offence under Sections 420 and 120-B is made out or not at pre trial stage. The power under Section 482 of the code of Criminal Procedure cannot be exercised where the allegations are required to be proved in court of law.

25. The Apex Court in Rajeev Kourav Vs. Baisahab and others, (2020)3 SCC 317, the High Court of Madhya Pradesh quashed the criminal proceedings on the basis of assessment of statements of the witnesses recorded under Section 161 Cr.P.C. The Apex Court set aside the order of the High Court by holding that statements of the witnesses recorded under Section 161 Cr.P.C. being wholly inadmissible in evidence cannot be taken into consideration by the Court, while adjudicating a petition filed under Section 482 of the Code.

26. In Kaptan Singh Vs. State of Uttar Pradesh and others, AIR 2021 SC 3931, the charge sheet was submitted by the investigating officer after recording the statement of the witnesses, statement of the complainant and collecting the evidence from the place of incident and taking statement of the independent witnesses and even statement of the accused persons. The cognizance of the offence was also taken by the learned Magistrate. The High Court has quashed the criminal proceedings for the offences under Sections 147, 148, 149, 406, 329 and 386 IPC initiated against the applicant.

27. The Apex Court while quashing the order of the Allahabad High Court, held that the High Court is not required to go into the merits of the allegations and /or to enter into the merits of the as if the High Court is exercising the appellate jurisdiction and /or conducting the trial. High Court has exceeded its jurisdiction in quashing the criminal proceedings in exercise of poowers under Section 482 Cr.P.C. The High Court has failed to appreciate and consider the fact that there are very serious triable issue/allegations which are required to be gone into and considered at the time of trial. The High Court has lost sight of crucial aspects which have emerged during the course of the investigation.

28. In State of Odisha Vs. Pratima Mohanty etc. , 2021 SCC Online SC 1222, Apex Court, while quashing the order of Odisha High Court, held thus:

"It is trite that the power of quashing should be exercised sparingly and with circumspection and in rate cases. As per settled proposition of law while examining an FIR/complaint quashing of which is sought, the court cannot embark upon any enquiry as to the reliability or genuineness of allegations made in the FIR/complaint. Quashing of a complaint/FIR should be an exception rather than an ordinary rule. Normally the criminal proceedings should not be quashed in exercise of powers under Section 482 Cr.P.C. when after a thorough investigation the charge sheet has been filed. At the stage of discharge and/or considering the application under Section 482 Cr.P.C. the courts are not required to go into the merits of the allegations and/or evidence in details as if conducting the mini trial. As held by this Court the powers under Section 482 Cr.P.C. is very wide, but conferment of wide power requires the court to be more cautious. It casts an onerous and more diligent duty on the Court."

29. In view of the aforesaid pronouncements of the Apex Court, I have examined the matter in its totality and I find that the case of the applicant does not fall within the categories of rarest of rare cases. This Court is of the view that the appreciation of evidence is a function of the trial court and this Court in exercise of power under Section 482 Cr.P.C. cannot assume such jurisdiction and put to an end to the process of trial provided under the law.

30. It is well settled by the Apex Court in the aforementioned judgments that the power under Section 482 Cr.P.C. at pre-trial stage should not be used in a routine manner, but it has to be used sparingly, only in such an appropriate cases, where it manifestly appears that there is a legal bar against the institution or continuance of the criminal proceedings or where allegations made in first information report or charge-sheet and the materials relied in support of thereof, taking on their face value and accepting in their entirety do not disclose the commission of any offence against the accused.

31. This Court is further of the view that the grounds taken in the application reveal that many of them relate to disputed question of fact, which cannot be adjudicated by this Court at the pre-trial stage, which can be more appropriately gone into by the trial court at the appropriate stage. The applicant has an alternative statutory remedy of moving discharge application at the appropriate stage.

32. The taking of cognizance of the offence is an area exclusively within the domain of a Magistrate. At this stage, the magistrate has to be satisfied whether there is sufficient ground for proceeding and not whether there is sufficient ground for conviction. At that stage the court below is not required to go into the merit and demerit of the case. Genuineness or otherwise of the allegations cannot be even determined at the stage of summoning the accused.

33. Having considered the facts, circumstances and nature of allegations against the applicant in the instant case, I am of the considered view that a prima facie cognizable offence is made out against the applicant. The impugned criminal proceeding under the facts of this case cannot said to be an abuse of the process of the Court.

34. In view of what has been indicated herein above, I am of the view that there is no good ground to invoke inherent power under Section 482 of the Code of Criminal Procedure by this Court.

35. Accordingly, the relief as sought by the applicant by means of the instant application is hereby refused.

36. This application under Section 482 of the Code of Criminal Procedure is accordingly rejected.

37. The trial court is directed to proceed against the applicant in accordance with law.

38. Office is directed to transmit a copy of this order to the learned Trial Court with a week.

Crl. Misc. Application U/s 482 No. 4483 of 2022

Vipin Kumar ...Applicant
Versus
State of U.P. & Anr. ...Opp. Parties

Counsel for the Applicant:
Sri Omvir Singh Rajpoot

Counsel for the Opp. Parties:
A.G.A.

A. Criminal Law - Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973-Sections 482 & 128-quashing of the order of Family court-matrimonial dispute-maintenance awarded to the mother and daughter-applicant failed to comply the order-recovery warrant issued-in pursuance of recovery warrant the applicant was sent to jail-learned Principle judge, Family court has not followed the establish procedure u/s 421(1)(a) Cr.P.C. for issuance of recovery warrant in default of payment of arrears maintenance allowance within the time allowed by him-Magistrate has no jurisdiction to issue of warrant of arrest straight way against the person liable for payment of maintenance allowance-the impugned order is patently illegal and not warranted by law-Hence, set aside.(Para 1 to 13)

B. As per section 125(3) Cr.P.C. it is apparently clear that in the event of any failure on the part of any person to comply with an order to pay maintenance allowance, without sufficient cause, the Magistrate is empowered to issue warrant for levying the amount due in manner provided for levying fines for every breach of the order. Section 421 Cr.P.C. prescribes the manner for levying fine. The magistrate is empowered to issue distress warrant for the purpose of realisation of the amount, by attachment and sale of movable property belonging to the defaulter as contemplated under section 421 (1)(a) and without first sentencing the defaulter to imprisonment after execution of the distress warrant. (Para 10,11)

The application is allowed. (E-6)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Ajit Singh, J.)

1. Heard learned counsel for the applicant and learned A.G.A. for the State.

2. The applicant by means of this application under Section 482 Cr.P.C. has invoked the inherent jurisdiction of this Court with a prayer to quash the order dated 30.11.2021 passed by the Principal Judge, Family Court, Kasganj in Case No. 118 of 2020 (Smt. Kaushalya @ Kaushal vs. Vipin Kumar), under Section 128 Cr.P.C., P.S. Kasganj, district-Kasganj. A further prayer is that a direction be issued to the court below to release the applicant from jail forthwith.

3. It is submitted by learned counsel for the applicant that marriage between applicant and opposite party no. 2 was solemnized on 8th December, 2010. Out of the aforesaid wedlock, a baby girl was born. However, after some time, the relationship between the husband and wife became strained and incompatible. Thereafter the opposite party no. 2 has initiated several litigations against the applicant. In connection with the same, she along with her daughter filed an application under Section 125 Cr.P.C. before the Family Court, Kasganj, which was allowed by the Principal Judge, Family Court, Kasganj vide judgment and order dated 30.11.2021. It is also submitted that the applicant is a handicapped person, certificate whereof has been filed as Annexure-2 to the affidavit accompanying the application. Due to the reason he failed to comply with the order passed under Section 125(3) Cr.P.C. and the learned court below has issued the recovery warrant dated 8.10.2021, directing that the applicant shall pay a sum of Rs. 1,65,000/- (Rs. one lac sixty five thousand) to the opposite party no. 2 as maintenance w.e.f. 30.7.2017 to 19.1.2020 and in pursuance of recovery warrant the applicant was sent to jail. On 30.11.2021 the applicant was summoned by the court below and he was produced by the jail authority before the court blow and the court below had passed the order, while detaining the applicant in jail for a period of one month and directed that during detention, the applicant shall pay a sum of Rs. 5,000/- per month to opposite party no. 2, fixing next date, i.e. 2012.2021, directing the Jail Superintendent to produce the applicant again on the next date fixed.

4. It is also submitted by learned counsel for the applicant that provisions of Section 125(3) Cr.P.C. specifically provides for issuance of a warrant for lavying the amount issued in the manner provided for lavying of fines. The learned court below has passed the order dated 30.11.2021 for detention of applicant in jail for one month without complying the provision contained in Section 125(3) Cr.P.C. and without imposing any fine, hence the impugned order dated 30.11.2021 is liable to be quashed. In support of his submissions, learned counsel for the applicant has placed reliance upon the following judgments of Gauhati High Court, Calcutta High Court and Punjab & Haryana High Court:

1. Hazi Abdul Khaleque vs. Mustt. Samsun Nehar, 1991 CriLJ, 1843;

2. Dipankar Banerjee vs. Tanuja Banerjee reported in 1998 CriLJ 907; and

3. Om Prakash @ Parkash vs. Vidya Devi reported in 1992 CrlLJ 658.

5. Per contra, learned A.G.A. for the State has opposed the submissions made by the learned counsel for the applicant by contending that that the applicant is a defaulter and has not paid any amount as awarded by the Family Court under order dated 30.7.2017 to opposite party no. as interim allowance. Therefore, the Family Court has rightly issued recovery warrant against the applicant for realization of the amount so due and there is no error in the order impugned.

6. I have considered the submissions made by the learned counsel for the parties and have gone through the record.

7. Before coming to the merits of the present case, it would be worthwhile to reproduce Sections 125 (3) and 421 Cr.P.C., which read as follows:

"125. Order for maintenance of wives, children and parents.

If any person so ordered fails without sufficient cause to comply with the order, any such Magistrate may, for every breach of the order, issue a warrant for levying the amount due in the manner provided for levying fines, and may sentence such person, for the whole or any part of each month' s allowances remaining unpaid after the execution of the warrant, to imprisonment for a term which may extend to one month or until payment if sooner made.

"421. Warrant for levy of fine.

(1) When an offender has been sentenced to pay a fine, the Court passing the sentence may take action for the recovery of the fine in either or both of the following ways, that is to say, it may-

(a) issue a warrant for the levy of the amount by attachment and sale of any movable property belonging to the offender;

(b) issue a warrant to the Collector of the district, authorising him to realise the amount as arrears of land revenue from the movable or immovable property, or both, of the defaulter: Provided that, if the sentence directs that in default of payment of the fine, the offender shall be imprisoned, and if such offender has undergone the whole of such imprisonment in default, no Court shall issue such warrant unless, for special reasons to be recorded in writing, it considers it necessary so to do, or unless it has made an order for the payment of expenses or compensation out of the fine under section 357.

8. The State Government may make rules regulating the manner In which warrants under clause (a) of sub- section (1) are to be executed, and for the summary determination of any claims made by any person other than the offender in respect of any property attached in execution of such warrant.

9. Where the Court issues a warrant to the Collector under clause (b) of sub-section (1), the Collector shall realise the amount in accordance with the law relating to recovery of arrears of land revenue, as if such warrant were a certificate issued under such law: Provided that no such warrant shall be executed by the arrest or detention in prison of the offender."

10. On a plain reading of sub-section (3) of Section 125 Cr.P.C., it is apparently clear that in the event of any failure on the part of any person to comply with an order to pay maintenance allowance, without sufficient cause, the Magistrate is empowered to issue warrant for levying the amount due in manner provided for levying of fines for every breach of the order. Section 421Cr.P.C. prescribes the manner for levying fine and clause (a) of sub-Section (1) of Section 421 provides for issuance of warrant for levy of the amount by attachment and sale of any movable property belonging to the offender. In other words, in the event of any failure without sufficient cause to comply with the order for maintenance allowance, the Magistrate is empowered to issue distress warrant for the purpose of realization of the amount, in respect of which default has been made, by attachment and sale of any movable property, that may seized in execution of such warrant. Sub-section (3) of Section 125 Cr.P.C. makes it further clear that the jurisdiction of the Magistrate for sentencing such person to imprisonment would arise only after the maintenance allowance, in whole or in part, remains unpaid after the maintenance allowance, in warrant. It is only after the sentence of imprisonment is awarded by the Magistrate under sub-section (3) of Section 125 that the occasion may arise for issuance of warrant of arrest for bringing the person concerned to Court for his committal to prison to serve out the sentence.

11. It is further apparent that the Magistrate has no jurisdiction to issue warrant of arrest straight way against the person liable for payment of maintenance allowance in the event of non-payment of maintenance allowance within the time fixed by the court without first levying the amount due as fine and without making any attempt for reaslization that fine in one or both the modes for recovery of that fine as provided for in clauses (a) or (b) of sub-Section (1) of Section 421 Cr.P.C. say by issuance of distress warrant for attachment and sale of movable property belonging to the defaulter as contemplated under Section 421 (1) (a) and without first sentencing the defaulter to imprisonment after the execution of the distress warrant.

12. In view of aforesaid, this Court finds that the Principal Judge, Family Court, Kasganj has not followed the establish procedure for issuance of recovery warrant in default of payment of arrears maintenance allowance within the time allowed by him in the execution case concerned. The order directing issuance of warrant of arrest is patently illegal and not warranted by law. Order dated 30.11.2021 is hereby set aside. Let the Principal Judge pass a fresh order in the aforesaid execution cases filed by opposite party no.2 in light of the observations made herein above.

13. Subject to the observations made above, the present petition is allowed.`

1. Heard Sri Varun Singh, learned counsel for the applicant, Sri S.K. Mishra, learned counsel for the O.P. No. 2 as well as learned A.G.A. for the State and perused the record.

2. This application U/s 482 Cr.P.C. has been filed for quashing the judgment and order dated 2.1.2021 passed by the Special Judge SC/ST (Prevention of Atrocities) Act, Gautam Budh Nagar in Criminal Revision No. 72 of 2019 and further to quash the summoning order dated 7.1.2014 passed by the learned A.C.J.M. IIIrd, Gautam Budh Nagar in Complaint

Case No. 1927 of 2013 (M/s Statcon Power Controls Ltd. Vs. M/s G.E.T. Power Ltd. & others) pending before the Court of Judicial Magistrate Additional Court No. 3, Gautam Budh Nagar, under section 138 r/w 142 of the N.I. Act.

3. The O.P. No. 2 filed a complaint alleging therein that complainant is engaged in business of manufacturing and trading in signaling equipments, industrial batteries and other equipments. The accused no. 1 is also a public limited company incorporated under the Companies Act, 1956 having its registered address at "Techpro Towers" Plot No. 11-A 17, 5th Cross Road, SIPCOT IT Park, Siruseri, Chennai-603103, Tamil Nadu and the other accused are the Directors/Executive Directors of the company/accused no. 1 and are responsible for the acts and deeds of the company/accused no. 1. The accused no. 1 has placed a purchase order bearing no. GET/11-009/12-13/362 dated 4th July, 2012 on the complainant at Administrative Office of the complainant at A-34, Sector-59, Gautam Budh Nagar, Noida-201301 Uttar Pradesh for the supply of two sets of Battery Bank, Charger along with accessories and the total amount of the abovementioned purchase order including taxes and duties was Rs. 4,58,42,880.00 (Rupees Four Crores Fifty Eight Lakhs Forty Two Thousand Eight Hundred Eighty only). The complainant supplied one set of battery bank along with its relevant accessories to the accused at their site on 25.4.2013 as per Purchase Order. The accused issued cheques bearing nos. 404847 and 404848 both dated 16.5.2013 for Rs. 1,00,00,000 each (Rupees One Crore each) drawn on Axis Bank Limited, Chennai in favour of the complainant towards the payment for goods supplied at their site. The complainant presented the said cheques with its Banker State Bank of India, Noida for realization of the amount of the said cheques. On 15th July, 2013 the cheque no. 404847 dated 16th May, 2013 for Rs. One Crore drawn on Axis Bank Ltd. Chennai has been deposited in bank by the complainant and the same has been presented on the banker of accused no. 1 through the complainant's banker namely State Bank of India, Noida and on presentation for payment the same has been dishonored on 16th July, 2013 with the remarks "Exceeds Arrangement". On 15th July, 2013 another cheque bearing no. 404848 dated 16th May, 2013 for Rs. One Crore drawn on Axis Bank Ltd. Chennai has been deposited in bank by the complainant and the same has been presented on banker of accused no. 1 through the complainant's banker namely State Bank of India, Noida and on presentation for payment the same has been dishonored on 16th July, 2013 with the remarks "Exceeds Arrangement". The complainant issued legal notice dated 24.7.2013 by Registered A.D. post demanding payment of the amount due under the said two cheques. The notices have been served on all the accused on 29.7.2013. Despite receipt of the legal notice they failed to pay the amount of the dishonored cheques within the stipulated time of 15 days. On the aforesaid complaint the learned Magistrate by the impugned order dated 7.1.2014 has summoned the applicant and other accused named in the complaint to face trial for the offence under section 138 N.I. Act. Aggrieved with the aforesaid summoning order the applicant filed a criminal revision no. 72 of 2019 which has been dismissed by Special Judge SC/ST Act vide judgment and order dated 2.1.2021.

4. The contentions of the learned counsel for the applicant are that the impugned order of summoning is a non speaking order. The learned Magistrate has not taken notice of the fact that there was no specific averment in the complaint against the applicant. He also contended that applicant was only a nominee Director appointed on 24.4.2012 and the applicant resigned from the Board of Directors of O.P. No. 2 on 19.1.2014. The applicant is not involved in day to day affairs of the company, so he can not be held reliable for dishonour of any cheque issued by other Managing Directors. The applicant has not signed the dishonoured cheques on behalf of company nor he is authorized signatoree of the company. The O.P. No. 1 has merely implicated the applicant without assigning any specific role to the applicant in the execution of dishonour of the cheques with intention of harassing the applicant. The O.P. No. 1 has not made any specific averment against the applicant as to the part played by him in the whole transaction. It is further contended that merely being a Director in a company it is not sufficient to make the applicant liable under section 141 of the N.I. Act. For imputing liability on the applicant the O.P. No. 1 ought to have brought incontrovertible material on record to show that the applicant is incharge of and responsible for the conduct of affairs of the company. In the absence of such material and in the light of general averments the applicant can not be prosecuted. Learned counsel placed reliance on the following rulings on the aforesaid points:

1. K. Srikanth Singh V. North East Securities Limited (2007) 12 SCC 788

2. DMC Financial Services Limited V. J.N. Sareen reported as (2008) 8 SCC 1.

5. Learned counsel also submitted that proceedings under section 138 N.I. Act can not be proceeded against non Executive Directors. On this point he relied the following citations:

1. Chintalapati Srinivasa Raju V. Securities and Exchange Board of India, reported as (2018) 7 SCC 443.

2. Pooja Ravinder Devidasani Vs. State of Maharashtra & Anr., reported as (2014) 16 SCC 1.

6. Per contra; learned counsel for the O.P. No. 2 opposed the application and submitted that applilcant is a Director of company. Two cheques have been issued by the company in favour of O.P. No. 1. Both the cheques have dishonoured. Legal notices were issued to the applicant and other accused persons but they not complied with it, then a complaint was filed. Learned Magistrate being satisfied with the material on record has taken cognizance of the offence and has summoned the applicant and other accused. There is no illegality in the summoning order. The revision preferred by the applicant has also been dismissed on merits. The learned revisional court did not find any merit in it. Learned counsel also contended that the complaint was filed in the year 2014 and is lingering before the trial court since then. Only the applicant has put his appearance before the trial court. None of the remaining accused has appeared. He submitted that a direction be issued to the trial court to ensure the presence of the other accused persons and decide the case expeditiously.

7. It transpires from the material on record that applicant has been arrayed as an accused in the complaint being a Director of the company. In para no. 4 of the complaint there are general allegations that the accused no. 1 is also public limited company incorporated under the Companies Act having its registered address at "Techpro Towers" Plot No. 11-A 17, 5th Cross Road, SIPCOT IT Park, Siruseri, Chennai and other accused are Directors/Executive Directors of the company/accused no. 1 and are responsible for the acts and deeds of the company/accused no. 1.

8. In S.M.S. Pharmaceuticals Ltd. Vs. Neta Bhalla and another (2005) 8 Supreme Court Cases 89 the reference was made by a two judges bench for determination of the following questions by a larger bench.

"(a) (a) whether for purposes of Section 141 of the Negotiable Instruments Act, 1881, it is sufficient if the substance of the allegation read as a whole fulfil the requirements of the said section and it is not necessary to specifically state in the complaint that the person accused was in charge of, or responsible for, the conduct of the business of the company.

(b) whether a director of a company would be deemed to be in charge of, and responsible to, the company for conduct of the business of the company and, therefore, deemed to be guilty of the offence unless he proves to the contrary.

(c) even if it is held that specific averments are necessary, whether in the absence of such averments the signatory of the cheque and or the Managing Directors of Joint Managing Director who admittedly would be in charge of the company and responsible to the company for conduct of its business could be proceeded against. "

9. The Hon'ble Supreme Court in para 4 and 8 made the following observations:

"(4) In the present case, we are concerned with criminal liability on account of dishonour of cheque. It primarily falls on the drawer company and is extended to officers of the Company. The normal rule in the cases involving criminal liability is against vicarious liability, that is, no one is to be held criminally liable for an act of another. This normal rule is, however, subject to exception on account of specific provision being made in statutes extending liability to others. Section 141 of the Act is an instance of specific provision which in case an offence under Section 138 is committed by a Company, extends criminal liability for dishonour of cheque to officers of the Company. Section 141 contains conditions which have to be satisfied before the liability can be extended to officers of a company. Since the provision creates criminal liability, the conditions have to be strictly complied with. The conditions are intended to ensure that a person who is sought to be made vicariously liable for an offence of which the principal accused is the Company, had a role to play in relation to the incriminating act and further that such a person should know what is attributed to him to make him liable. In other words, persons who had nothing to do with the matter need not be roped in. A company being a juristic person, all its deeds and functions are result of acts of others. Therefore, officers of a Company who are responsible for acts done in the name of the Company are sought to be made personally liable for acts which result in criminal action being taken against the Company. It makes every person who, at the time the offence was committed, was in charge of, and was responsible to the Company for the conduct of business of the Company, as well as the Company, liable for the offence. The proviso to the sub-section contains an escape route for persons who are able to prove that the offence was committed without their knowledge or that they had exercised all due diligence to prevent commission of the offence.

(8) The officers responsible for conducting affairs of companies are generally referred to as Directors, Managers, Secretaries, Managing Directors etc. What is required to be considered is: is it sufficient to simply state in a complaint that a particular person was a director of the Company at the time the offence was committed and nothing more is required to be said? For this, it may be worthwhile to notice the role of a director in a company. The word 'director' is defined in Section 2 (13) of the Companies Act, 1956 as under:

"director" includes any person occupying the position of director, by whatever name called" ;

There is a whole chapter in the Companies Act on directors, which is Chapter II. Sections 291 to 293 refer to powers of Board of Directors. A perusal of these provisions shows that what a Board of Directors is empowered to do in relation to a particular company depends upon the role and functions assigned to Directors as per the Memorandum and Articles of Association of the company. There is nothing which suggests that simply by being a director in a Company, one is supposed to discharge particular functions on behalf of a company. It happens that a person may be a director in a company but he may not know anything about day-to-day functioning of the company. As a director he may be attending meetings of the Board of Directors of the Company where usually they decide policy matters and guide the course of business of a company. It may be that a Board of Directors may appoint sub-committees consisting of one or two directors out of the Board of the Company who may be made responsible for day-to- day functions of the Company. These are matters which form part of resolutions of Board of Directors of a Company. Nothing is oral. What emerges from this is that the role of a director in a company is a question of fact depending on the peculiar facts in each case. There is no universal rule that a director of a company is in charge of its everyday affairs. We have discussed about the position of a Director in a company in order to illustrate the point that there is no magic as such in a particular word, be it Director, Manager or Secretary. It all depends upon respective roles assigned to the officers in a company. A company may have Managers or Secretaries for different departments, which means, it may have more than one Manager or Secretary. These officers may also be authorised to issue cheques under their signatures with respect to affairs of their respective departments. Will it be possible to prosecute a Secretary of Department-B regarding a cheque issued by the Secretary of Department-A which is dishonoured? The Secretary of Department-B may not be knowing anything about issuance of the cheque in question. Therefore, mere use of a particular designation of an officer without more, may not be enough by way of an averment in a complaint. When the requirement in Section 141, which extends the liability to officers of a company, is that such a person should be in charge of and responsible to the company for conduct of business of the company, how can a person be subjected to liability of criminal prosecution without it being averred in the complaint that he satisfies those requirements ? Not every person connected with a Company is made liable under Section 141. Liability is cast on persons who may have something to do with the transaction complained of. A person who is in charge of and responsible for conduct of business of a Company would naturally know why the cheque in question was issued and why it got dishonoured."

10. Thereafter the Hon'ble Apex Court answered the questions in para 19 which is reproduced as below:

"In view of the above discussion, our answers to the questions posed in the Reference are as under:

(a) It is necessary to specifically aver in a complaint under Section 141 that at the time the offence was committed, the person accused was in charge of, and responsible for the conduct of business of the company. This averment is an essential requirement of Section 141 and has to be made in a complaint. Without this averment being made in a complaint, the requirements of Section 141 cannot be said to be satisfied.

(b) The answer to question posed in sub-para (b) has to be in negative. Merely being a director of a company is not sufficient to make the person liable under Section 141 of the Act. A director in a company cannot be deemed to be in charge of and responsible to the company for conduct of its business. The requirement of Section 141 is that the person sought to be made liable should be in charge of and responsible for the conduct of the business of the company at the relevant time. This has to be averred as a fact as there is no deemed liability of a director in such cases.

(c) The answer to question (c) has to be in affirmative. The question notes that the Managing Director or Joint Managing Director would be admittedly in charge of the company and responsible to the company for conduct of its business. When that is so, holders of such positions in a company become liable under Section 141 of the Act. By virtue of the office they hold as Managing Director or Joint Managing Director, these persons are in charge of and responsible for the conduct of business of the company. Therefore, they get covered under Section 141. So far as signatory of a cheque which is dishonoured is concerned, he is clearly responsible for the incriminating act and will be covered under sub-section (2) of Section 141."

In case of Srikanth Singh Vs. North East Securities Limited (2007) 12 SCC 788 the Hon'ble Apex Court has held that for vicarious liability of Director of a company it must be pleaded and shown that the Director was responsible for the conduct of the business of the company at the time of commission of offence. Only being a Director is not enough to cast a criminal liability. Vicarious liability must be pleaded and proved and can not be merely inferred.

10. It is clear from the perusal of the complaint that there is no specific averment that applicant is involved in day-to-day affairs of the company. There is only general allegation that applicant is a Director of the company. The documents filed by the applicant establishes that the applicant was a nominee Director and who has now resigned.

11. Considering the aforesaid facts and the law propounded on the point it is clear that in absence of specific allegations about the applicant he can not be prosecuted for any offence under section 138 N.I. Act. The learned Magistrate has failed to consider the matter properly. The order of summoning regarding applicant is unjust and illegal and can not be sustained.

12. Application U/s 482 Cr.P.C. is allowed and the order dated 2.1.2021 passed in Criminal Revision NO. 72 of 2019 and further the summoning order dated 7.1.2014 passed against the applicant-accused Jatinder Pal Singh are quashed.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Sanjay Kumar Singh, J.)

1. Heard Shri Jay Singh Yadav, learned counsel for the applicants, Shri Rabindra Kumar Singh, learned Additional Government Advocate representing the State and Shri Anil Kumar Srivastava, learned counsel appearing on behalf of opposite party No. 2 and perused the record of the case.

2. By means of this application under Section 482 of the Code of Criminal Procedure (herein after referred to as "Cr.P.C.") the applicants have prayed for quashing of the entire criminal proceeding of complaint case No. 1749 of 2017 (Kamla Shankar Yadav Vs. Umesh Kumar Yadav and others), under Section 406 IPC and Section 6 of Dowry Prohibition Act, police station Handia, district Allahabad, pending in the court of Special Chief Judicial Magistrate, Allahabad on the basis of compromise arrived at between the parties.

3. The emanation of facts giving rise to the present application are that a complaint was filed on 28.8.2017 by the complainant Kamla Shanker Yadav arraigning therein as many as four accused namely Umesh Kumar Yadav, Mahesh Kumar Yadav, Gulab Devi and Phula Devi inter alia with the allegations that the marriage of her daughter namely Km. Jyoti Yadav was fixed with applicant No. 1, Umesh Kumar Yadav for 22.5.2017. Pre-marriage ceremonies, like Goad Bharai and Bariksha were held, in which Rs. 100,000/- was given to Mahesh Yadav, one gold ring and and sum of Rs. 11,000/- were given to Umesh Yadav. In addition thereof, money and clothes were also given to the persons attended the ceremonies. In the feast of Goad Bharai, Rs. 75,000/- was spent. It is further mentioned in the complaint that the complainant has made the bookings of all necessary things for which about Rs. 50,000/- was given as advance. On 09.5.2017, when the complainant went to the house of the accused for fixing the date of Tilak ceremony, they demanded Rs. 500,000/- (rupees five lac) in cash, a motorcycle and a gold chain. When the complainant along with his family members and relations went to the house of the accused on 10.5.2017, they abused them and done undignified behaviour with them and also refused for marriage, which was fixed for 22.5.2017.

4. After examining the complainant under Section 200 Cr.P.C. and witnesses Dharmendra Kumar and Manish Kumar under Section 202 Cr.P.C., the learned Magistrate vide order dated 20.9.2018 summoned the applicants to face trial.

5. Prior to lodging of the instant complaint, the complainant has also lodged a first information report against the accused-applicants at case crime No. 546 of 2017, under Sections 504, 506 IPC and ¾ of Dowry Prohibition Act, police station Handia, district Prayagraj almost on the same set of facts.

6. Being aggrieved and dissatisfied with the order of the learned Magistrate dated 20.9.2018 summoning the accused-applicants, the applicants have challenged the same by means of filing Application U/S 482 No. 2224 of 2019, which was disposed of by the coordinate Bench of this Court vide order dated 21.1.2019. The order reads as under:

"This Application under Section 482 Cr.P.C. has been filed with the prayer to quash further proceedings of complaint case no. 1749 of 2017 (Kamla Shankar Yadav Vs. Umesh Kumar Yadav and others), under Section 406 IPC and Section 6 of Dowry Prohibition Act, Police Station Handia, district Allahabad pending in the court of Special Chief Judicial Magistrate, Allahabad. Further prayer has been made to stay the effect and operation of the aforesaid order.

Heard learned counsel for the applicants and learned A.G.A.

Submission of learned counsel for the applicants is that summoning order was passed in the matter for the same set of facts for which FIR had already been lodged in which investigation is going on. Thus summoning order is illegal.

Learned A.G.A. opposed the prayer.

Having heard learned counsel for the parties and keeping in view the provisions provided under Section 210 Cr.P.C. the application is disposed of at this stage itself with the direction to the applicants to move proper application before the Court concerned within 15 days from today ventilating all the facts, as has been raised in this application. If such application is moved, the court concerned is directed to decide the same within a period of one month thereafter. During the said period no coercive action shall be taken against the applicants.

With the aforesaid observations, the application is disposed of."

7. Pursuant to the order of this Court dated 21.1.2019, the applicant has moved the application before the court concerned, which is stated to be pending.

8. Now, the applicants have filed this second application with the prayer that entire criminal proceedings of complaint case No. 1749 of 2017 be quashed on the basis of compromise arrived at between the parties. The applicant No. 1, Umesh Kumar Yadav is the deponent of the instant case.

9. On 03.03.2022, when this case was taken up for the first time, a preliminary objection was raised by Shri Anil Kumar Srivastava, learned counsel appearing on behalf of the complainant that this is the second application U/s 482 Cr.P.C. on false facts as no compromise has taken place between the parties and averments made in this regard in the instant application are totally false and baseless. The Court passed the following order:

"On the matter being taken up, Shri Anil Srivastava, learned counsel appearing on behalf of the opposite party No. 2 submits that the instant application has been preferred by the applicants to quash the entire criminal proceedings initiated against them in pursuance of a compromise/settlement made between the parties concerned, whereas, no compromise has arrived at between the parties concerned. The averment in this regard is wholly false and against the evidence on record.

The aforesaid fact has not been disputed by the learned counsel for the applicants, who submits that the applicants are willing to settle the dispute.

On the request of learned counsel for the applicants, put up this case tomorrow i.e. 04.3.2022 as fresh to seek proper instructions in this regard."

10. On 04.3.2022, on the basis of instructions, learned counsel for the applicants apprised the Court that the applicants are ready to return the amount of Rs. 200,000/- (rupees two lac), which the complainant has incurred.

11. The Court passed the following order on 04.3.2022:

"Pursuant to order dated 03.3.2022, learned counsel for the applicants, upon instructions from the applicants, apprised the Court that the applicants are ready to return the amount of Rs. 200,000/- (rupees two lac only), which they have taken from opposite party No. 2.

Upon the said statement, Shri Anil Kumar Srivastava, learned counsel appearing on behalf of opposite party No. 2 submits that in case the entire amount paid by opposite party No. 2, the first informant is returned by the applicants, he has no objection if the Court quashes the entire proceedings against the applicants.

Considering the aforesaid statement of learned counsel for the applicants as well as the undertakings tendered on behalf of the applicants before this Court, the applicants are directed to produce the bank draft of Rs. 2,00,000/- in favour of Kamla Shankar Yadav, opposite party No. 2 on the next date fixed in the matter.

Put up this case as fresh for further hearing on 15.3.2022."

12. On 15.3.2022, when the case was taken up Shri Jay Singh Yadav, learned counsel for the applicants has prayed for one more opportunity to comply with the order dated 04.3.2022. Learned counsel for the applicants upon instructions from the applicants further submitted that a draft of Rs. 200,000/- (rupees two lac only) as mentioned in the order dated 04.03.2022 shall be produced by the applicants on 28.3.2022 and the case was directed to be listed on 28.3.2022.

13. After the order of this Court dated 03.3.2022, the applicants kept on playing hide and seek with the court and tried to obtain interim order from this Court by hook or crook and when the applicants failed to achieve their nefarious design, on 28.3.2022, when the case was taken up Shri Jay Singh Yadav, learned counsel for the applicants submits that the applicants are not responding to his call and the Court may pass orders as it deems fit and proper in the facts and circumstances of the case.

14. Having heard the submissions of the learned counsel for the parties and examining the matter in its entirety, I am of the considered view that the applicants have approached this Court with unclean hands. By means of this application the applicants have tried to misguide this Court by stating that compromise has been arrived at between the parties, but the fact is that no compromise has been effected as stated by the learned counsel appearing on behalf of the complainant. In spite of the undertakings given by the learned counsel for the applicants, on the basis of the instructions of the applicants, it appears that the applicants have no respect to the orders of this Court.

15. Since, the applicants have not approached this Court with clean hands and filed false affidavit before this Court that the matter has been compromised, therefore, he does not deserve any indulgence by this Court.

16. The courts of law are meant for imparting justice between the parties. One, who comes to the court, must come with clean hands and no material facts should be concealed. I am constrained to hold that more often the process of the court is being abused by unscrupulous litigants to achieve their nefarious design. I have no hesitation in saying that a person, whose case is based on falsehood, has no right to approach the court. He/she can be summarily thrown out at any stage of the litigation. The judicial process cannot become an instrument of oppression or abuse or a means in the process of the Court to subvert justice, for the reason that the Court exercises its jurisdiction, only in furtherance of justice.

17. Time and again the issue of abuse of process of law has come up before the Supreme Court as well as High Courts. The Courts have, over the centuries, frowned upon litigants, who, with intent to deceive and mislead the courts, initiated proceedings without full disclosure of facts.

18. In Chandra Shashi Vs. Anil Kumar Verma, (1995) 1 SCC 21, Apex Court held as under:

"To enable the courts to ward off unjustified interference in their working, those who indulge in immoral acts like perjury, prevarication and motivated falsehoods have to be appropriately dealt with, without which it would not be possible for any court to administer justice in the true sense and to the satisfaction of those who approach it in the hope that truth would ultimately prevail. People would have faith in courts when they would find that (truth alone triumphs) is an achievable aim there; or (it is virtue which ends in victory) is not only inscribed in emblem but really happens in the portals of courts"

19. In Buddhi Kota Subbarai (Dr.) Vs. K. Parasaran, (1996) 5 SCC 530), Apex Court held as under:

The course adopted by the applicant is impermissible and his application is based on misconception of law and facts. No litigant has a right to unlimited drought on the court time and public money in order to get his affairs settled in the manner as he wishes. Easy access to justice should not be misused as a licence to file misconceived or frivolous petitions. After giving our careful consideration to the submissions made at the bar as well as those contained in the memorandum of the application, we are of the opinion that this application is misconceived, untenable and has no merits whatsoever. It is accordingly dismissed.

20. In Arunima Baruah Vs. Union of India (2007)6 SCC 120, Supreme Court held that it is trite law that to enable the Court to refuse to exercise its discretionary jurisdiction suppression must of material fact. Material fact would mean material for the purpose of determination of the lis. It was further held that a person invoking the discretionary jurisdiction of the court cannot be allowed to approach it with a pair of dirty hands.

21. In Prestige Lights Limited Vs. State Bank of India (2007)8 SCC 449, Apex Court held as under:

"It is well settled that a prerogative remedy is not a matter of course. In exercising extraordinary power, therefore, a Writ Court will indeed bear in mind the conduct of the party who is invoking such jurisdiction. If the applicant does not disclose full facts or suppresses relevant materials or is otherwise guilty of misleading the Court, the Court may dismiss the action without adjudicating the matter. The rule has been evolved in larger public interest to deter unscrupulous litigants from abusing the process of Court by deceiving it. The very basis of the writ jurisdiction rests in disclosure of true, complete and correct facts. If the material facts are not candidly stated or are suppressed or are distorted, the very functioning of the writ courts would become impossible."

22. In K.D Sharma Vs. Steel Authority of India Limited and others, (2008)12 SCC481, Supreme Court held that no litigant can play "hide and seek" with the courts or adopt "pick and choose". To hold a writ of the court one should come with candid facts and clean breast. Suppression or concealment of material facts is forbidden to a litigant or even as a technique of advocacy. In such cases the Court is duty bound to discharge rule nisi and such applicant is required to be dealt with for contempt of Court for abusing the process of the court.

23. Supreme Court in Dalip Singh Vs. State of Uttar Pradesh and others, (2010)2 SCC 114 came down heavily on unscrupulous litigants by holding that it is now well established that a litigant who attempts to pollute the stream of justice or who touches the pure fountain of justice with tainted hands, is not entitled to any relief, interim or final.

24. The Court held as under:

"For many centuries, Indian society cherished two basic values of life i.e., `Satya' (truth) and `Ahinsa' (non-violence). Mahavir, Gautam Buddha and Mahatma Gandhi guided the people to ingrain these values in their daily life. Truth constituted an integral part of justice delivery system which was in vogue in pre-independence era and the people used to feel proud to tell truth in the courts irrespective of the consequences. However, post-independence period has seen drastic changes in our value system. The materialism has over-shadowed the old ethos and the quest for personal gain has become so intense that those involved in litigation do not hesitate to take shelter of falsehood, misrepresentation and suppression of facts in the court proceedings. In last 40 years, a new creed of litigants has cropped up. Those who belong to this creed do not have any respect for truth. They shamelessly resort to falsehood and unethical means for achieving their goals. In order to meet the challenge posed by this new creed of litigants, the courts have, from time to time, evolved new rules and it is now well established that a litigant, who attempts to pollute the stream of justice or who touches the pure fountain of justice with tainted hands, is not entitled to any relief, interim or final."

25. In Amar Singh Vs. Union of India (2011)7 SCC 69, Supreme Court held that Courts have, over the centuries, frowned upon litigants who, with intent to deceive and mislead the courts, initiated proceedings without full disclosure of facts. Courts held that such litigants have come with "unclean hands" and are not entitled to be heard on the merits of their case.

26. In Kishore Samrite Vs. State of U.P. and others, 2012 (10) SCALE 330, The Supreme Court held as under:

"31. It has been consistently stated by this Court that the entire journey of a Judge is to discern the truth from the pleadings, documents and arguments of the parties, as truth is the basis of the Justice Delivery System.

32. With the passage of time, it has been realized that people used to feel proud to tell the truth in the Courts, irrespective of the consequences but that practice no longer proves true, in all cases. The Court does not sit simply as an umpire in a contest between two parties and declare at the end of the combat as to who has won and who has lost but it has a legal duty of its own, independent of parties, to take active role in the proceedings and reach at the truth, which is the foundation of administration of justice. Therefore, the truth should become the ideal to inspire the courts to pursue. This can be achieved by statutorily mandating the Courts to become active seekers of truth. To enable the courts to ward off unjustified interference in their working, those who indulge in immoral acts like perjury, prevarication and motivated falsehood, must be appropriately dealt with. The parties must state forthwith sufficient factual details to the extent that it reduces the ability to put forward false and exaggerated claims and a litigant must approach the Court with clean hands. It is the bounden duty of the Court to ensure that dishonesty and any attempt to surpass the legal process must be effectively curbed and the Court must ensure that there is no wrongful, unauthorized or unjust gain to anyone as a result of abuse of the process of the Court. One way to curb this tendency is to impose realistic or punitive costs."

27. Having considered the factual aspect of the case and the dictum of the Supreme Court, I am of the considered view that the applicants have misused the process of law by filing application under Section 482 Cr.P.C. on false facts that the matter has been compromised. Honesty, fairness, purity of mind should be of the highest order to approach the court, failing which the litigant should be shown the exit door at the earliest point of time.

28. In view of the verbose discussion, the application is dismissed with costs, which is quantified at Rs. 100,000/- (rupees one lac) to be deposited by the applicants within 45 days with the Registrar General of this Court, failing which the same shall be recovered from the applicants as arrears of land revenue. On depositing the said amount, Rs. 50,000/- (rupees fifty thousand only) shall be released in favour of the complainant/opposite party No. 2 and remaining Rs. 50,000/- (rupees fifty thousand only) shall be forwarded by the Registrar General of this Court to the account of Rajkiya Bal Greh Shishu, Allahabad being Account No. 3785336735, State Bank of India, Khuldabad Branch, Prayagraj, IFSC Code SBI N0002560, Micro Code 211002015, which shall be used for the welfare of the children.

29. Office is directed to place a copy of this order before the Registrar General of this Court for compliance.

3. Ram Kumari Barnwal Vs Ram Lakhan (Dead), 2007 (68) ALR 136

1. This is a writ petition by the landlord, who was successful in proceedings for release under Section 21(1)(a) of the U.P. Act No. 13 of 1972 (for short, 'the Act') before the Prescribed Authority, but failed before the Appellate Authority.

2. Damodar Das, the landlord filed for release of shop bearing No.193, situate at Mohalla Sarrafa Bazar, Jhansi, under Section 21(1)(a) of the Act, that was in the tenancy occupation of Ram Swaroop Ghura. The application was registered on the file of the Prescribed Authority/ Judge, Small Cause Court, Jhansi as P.A. Case No.63 of 2007.

3. The landlord's case in brief was that he is the owner and landlord of shop No.193 aforesaid (for short, 'the demised shop'). The demised shop had fallen to his share in a family settlement. Ram Swaroop Ghura, who shall hereinafter be referred to as 'the tenant', was in occupation thereof on a monthly rent of Rs.100/-. The tenancy commences on the 24th of each English Calendar month and ends on the 23rd following. The tenant has not paid rent since 25th January, 2000 and is in default. Separate proceedings are being taken on that ground. The landlord has no other shop available to him, except the demised shop. He needed the demised shop for his personal use and occupation. The landlord so far does business in the shop owned by his brother Bhagwat Prasad. The landlord's brother aforesaid is now asking him to separate and vacate his shop at the earliest. The landlord is a married man. He has a family comprising his wife and three children, whom he has to provide for. The landlord has no other shop available to him except the demised shop, whereas the tenant has another shop located at Bajaja Bazar, Jhansi. If the tenant is asked to vacate the demised shop, he would not suffer any hardship. The tenant seldom sits in the demised shop. For the most part, the shop is without business. It is on these allegations that the landlord prayed that the shop be released in his favour on the ground of his bona fide need.

4. The tenant filed a written statement, traversing the landlord's case. It was asserted that the application for release has been made by the landlord in connivance with his brothers for the ulterior purpose of securing an enhancement of rent. The landlord has no need for the demised shop and is not without occupation. He has a prospering business in shop No.192, Sarrafa Bazar, Jhansi, which is a very big shop. In the said shop, the landlord sells herbs and medicines, besides dealing in supply of acid. No family partition between the landlord and his brothers has taken place. The brothers together have a number of shops available to them. Shop No.192 is in the exclusive occupation of the landlord, where he does business. In addition, the landlord utilizes his house bearing No.42/1, Gopal Nikhri, Gola Kunwa, Jhansi, where he does wholesale trade as well as retail in spices and dry fruits. The landlord does not need to do any other business nor has he got time to engage in other business. The landlord has constructed a big godown that is part of shop bearing No.192, where he stocks substantial quantity of goods. The landlord's brother, Bhagwat Prasad does not do business in shop No.192, but has his business under the name and style of Bahi Company. The other brothers of the landlord have their independent shops. The demised shop was earlier held by the tenant on a rent of Rs.17.50 per month, but later on the landlord and his brother got it increased to Rs.100/- per month and ever since, the tenant is paying the said rent to Bhagwat Prasad. Upon service of notice by the landlord to pay him rent, the tenant paid it to him, but later on the landlord refused. In consequence, the tenant has deposited rent under Section 30 of the Act before the Civil Judge (Jr. Div.), Jhansi.

5. It is also the tenant's case that he is a tenant in the demised shop for the past 70 years and has established business that commands goodwill. In the event, the tenant is evicted from the demised shop, his business would be ruined, besides the loss of goodwill. It is also the tenant's case that the landlord's grandmother, Smt. Chhita Bai had earlier instituted proceedings for release under Section 21(1)(a) of the Act, being Case No.95 of 1985. In the said case, the landlord's grandmother could not prove her case, but entered into a compromise, in consequence whereof, rent was increased from Rs.17.50 per month to Rs.100/-. The tenant also says that the disposition of the earlier case between the landlord's grandmother and himself as aforesaid works to bar the present proceedings as res judicata. There is a further pleading by the tenant to the effect that post institution of the present proceedings, he made efforts to search alternative accommodation, but despite substantial efforts, he did not find any vacant shop. It is also averred that there is no possibility of finding an alternative shop that would be within the financial capacity of the tenant to bear the burden of rent. It is also pleaded that by grant of the release application, the tenant would suffer greater hardship than that suffered by the landlord in the event of refusal.

6. In support of his case, the landlord filed his own affidavit besides those of his brothers Bhagwat Prasad and Rajesh. In addition, an affidavit of Santosh Kumar Patel, counter affidavits of the landlord Damodar Das bearing paper No.61A, 90C and 109A have also been filed. Along with the counter affidavit of Damodar Das, paper No.61A2, a photostat copy of Form-15 and a photostat copy of the registration certificate has been filed as Annexure B. Together with the affidavit of Damodar Das bearing paper No.90C2, a photostat copy of the registration from the Commercial Tax Department and a photostat copy of the licence have also been annexed. A number of documents have also been filed, which includes money order receipts, telephone bills, electricity bills, besides bills from the water works, a certified copy of the sale deed, a photostat copy of the ration card, money order coupons, a photostat copy of the order passed in M.A. Case No.9 of 2003. There is a moreful and complete description of the evidence to be found in the impugned judgment, not necessitating further reference to a summary thereof.

7. Likewise, affidavits were filed on behalf of tenant, Ram Swaroop Ghura bearing paper no.24C2 and 27A2 with annexures being a photostat copy of the licence, money order receipts etc., a photostat copy of an affidavit of one Rahul Agarwal together with an annexed bill, an affidavit of Birjesh Kumar Vishwakarma bearing paper no.29A2, besides an affidavit from Ram Swaroop. Documents too have been filed on behalf of the tenant, that includes a certified copy of the Commission report bearing paper no. 32C1, a certified copy of the application giving rise to P.A. Case No.95 of 1985 being paper No.31C, a copy of the order passed in the case aforesaid, notices from the Sale Tax and the Labour Department, rent receipts and a copy of the notice bearing paper No. 98C1. Likewise, on behalf of the tenant, there is much evidence led, the details whereof find mention in a summary set out in the judgments of the Courts below. It does not require any further elucidation, except what is relevant and that would be noticed during the course of this judgment.

8. The Prescribed Authority allowed the application for release, holding that the issue raised about lack of proof of partition within the family and the demised shop falling to the landlord's share is something which was not open to the tenant to question, given the fact that there is no dispute about the partition between the co-shares-brothers. It was also held that the tenant had acknowledged the landlord and paid him rent, which he later on deposited in Court, pleading a case of refusal to receive rent. It was further held that the landlord's need was bona fide as that was the only shop available to him. The finding is based on an extensive survey of the shops available to the family and the position of their occupancy by various members/ brothers and nephews of the landlord. The case of the tenant that the landlord was doing business in shop No.192 exclusively and not along with his brother was discarded by the Prescribed Authority. Bona fide need was also found in favour of the landlord and against the tenant. The shop in Sarrafa Bazar (described elsewhere as Bajaja Bazar) was held to be one purchased in the name of the tenant's daughter-in-law, Smt. Karuna Devi, where the tenant's son was doing business in cloth, a finding based on some admission in the tenant's affidavit 27A2 and 76A2. Efforts made to search an alternative accommodation was not believed by the Prescribed Authority, as it was bereft of details about the efforts made.

9. The Prescribed Authority's judgment granting release on 22.09.2009, was reversed in appeal by the Appellate Authority by his judgment and order dated 09.08.2012, rendered in Rent Control Appeal No.15 of 2009. It is this judgment of the Appellate Authority/ Additional District Judge/ Special Judge (E.C. Act), Jhansi that the landlord has impugned in the present writ petition before us.

10. Heard Mr. Atul Dayal, learned Senior Advocate assisted by Mr. Ravindra Srivastava, learned Counsel for the landlord and Mr. Pankaj Agarwal, learned Counsel appearing on behalf of the tenant, now represented by his LRs.

11. It must be remarked here that the tenant Ram Swaroop Ghura, passed away pending this appeal and his heirs and LRs have been substituted, who are his son Sia Saran, his two daughters, Pista Devi and Meera Devi and the tenant's widow Prema Devi. The substitution was carried out in the year 2018 on the basis of an application made in the year 2016. The tenant died on 05.11.2015.

12. Before this Court, substantial affidavits have been exchanged, that is to say, the counter affidavit and the rejoinder affidavit dated 09.08.2015 and 20.08.2015. Both these affidavits relate to the time when the tenant Ram Swaroop Ghura was alive. There is no further material placed, on record on account of the event of Ghura's supervening death, about the affairs of the tenant's business in the hands of his heirs. It has not been indicated by any further affidavit whether the tenant's son, his widow or daughters are carrying on the tenant's business in the demised shop.

13. The Appellate Authority has held that the landlord has failed to prove that the demised shop, out of all the shops available to the co-sharers/ brothers, has been the subject matter of a family partition and fallen to his share. Thus, the Appellate Authority has virtually held that the landlord is not entitled to maintain the present release application for his bona fide need, because he has not been able to establish that he is exclusively the landlord vis-à-vis the demised shop. In reaching this conclusion of his, the Appellate Authority has gone into unnecessary details about the factum and the validity of a family partition as if it were a title matter between co-sharers. Admittedly, the demised shop, along with a number of others, belonged to the joint family, of which the landlord is a member. The Appellate Authority has held that the burden to prove the factum of partition lay upon the landlord. It has been remarked that though it has been asserted by the landlord that a family settlement has taken place, wherein the demised shop had fallen in his share, the landlord has not mentioned the date, month and year of the settlement. He has not produced any written document or contract evidencing the settlement or a decree of Court. It has then been observed that admittedly, the original owner and landlord of the demised shop was the landlord's grandmother, Chhita Bai, who had instituted proceedings for release against the tenant under Section 21(1)(a) of the Act vide Case No.95 of 1985. These proceedings ended in compromise with an increase in the rent to Rs.100/- per mensem. After Chhita Bai's death, her son Chhakilal would become the owner and the landlord.

14. The Appellate Authority has observed that there is no averment when Chhakilal passed away and also that in the landlord's affidavit paper No.61A, though it is said that the brothers have mutually partitioned the properties, it is not mentioned whether the settlement/ partition took place during the lifetime of their father or after his death. It has also been noticed that Bhagwat Prasad has stated in his affidavit paper No.62A that the landlord are five brothers, amongst whom a settlement by word of mouth took place during the lifetime of their father. But, he too does not mention when the father passed away. The Appellate Authority has gone into what seems to be an irrelevant inquiry to say that if the family settlement took place during the father's lifetime, it is not shown or detailed, which property came to the father's share and which of it went to the brothers. The Appellate Authority has also noticed a document from the Commercial Tax Department dated 16.01.2009, which shows that shop No.192 was registered with them as a general merchant and pharmaceutical store in the name of Bhagwat Prasad, who held TIN number with reference to the said premises. It has been remarked that this document is one created during the pendency of litigation and, therefore, of no worth. Another document paper No.10A/5, a certified copy of an order by the Assistant Commissioner for the year 1981-82 has been taken note of by the Appellate Authority. Still another certified copy bearing paper No. 117C has been noticed, which shows that the shop bearing No.192 was registered since 24.09.1982 in the name of Bhagwat Prasad, the landlord's brother. It has been remarked that this document would show that Bhagwat Prasad was recorded with the Labour Department as the owner/ occupier of shop No.192 since the year 1982, but the Appellate Court has reasoned that the family settlement is said to have taken place prior to 1982, which would make it thirty years old.

15. It is then remarked that the landlord's grandmother had instituted proceedings against the tenant for release in the year 1985, which would show that until then, no partition had taken place, but with the Labour Department, the name of Bhagwat Prsad was registered as the occupier of shop No.192. It has been opined that there is no possibility of a partition by mutual settlement taking place between the brothers ante-dating the time that their grandmother, Smt. Chhita Bai instituted proceedings for release. The conclusions of the Prescribed Authority, based on separate registrations for the brothers in relation to different shops with the Labour Department and Commercial Tax Department to evidence a family settlement or partition, has been held to be flawed by the Appellate Authority on the aforesaid reasoning.

16. This Court must remark at once that the approach of the Appellate Authority is manifestly illegal and perverse. As already remarked, the Appellate Authority has looked into the issue of partition amongst the family members, or so as to speak, a family settlement bringing about an informal partition, as if he were seized of a title matter inter se the co-sharers, involving validity of the partition. The present case is one that is a proceeding for release based on the relationship of landlord and tenant. There is no quarrel about the fact that the tenant does not disown or renounce his character as such. He also does not say that it is not the landlord's family who are the owners and landlords of the demised shop. There is no evidence of an inter se dispute between the co-sharers as to which shop has fallen to whose share. Rather, out of the five brothers, the stand of three is on record in the form of affidavits, indicating that the demised shop has fallen to the share of the landlord in terms of a family settlement. Such family settlements are not very formal affairs and may be transactions continuing over a period of time, where different properties are divided mutually between the various co-sharers. The Prescribed Authority has rightly noted that the tenant too has admitted the fact that he paid rent to the landlord acting on his demand, which shows that he was acknowledged to be the landlord. It is then remarked that the tenant has explained it by saying that a co-landlord is also entitled to receive rent and, therefore, he paid it to him. Later on, when the landlord refused, the tenant deposited it in Court. There is an essence, thus, no quarrel that it is the landlord's family who own the demised shop and now they say that it has been allotted in a family arrangement to the landlord. This fact, so long as there is no co-sharer disputing it, is not at all one that ought to be investigated in proceedings for release. The Appellate Authority ought not to have gone into a hairsplitting evaluation of evidence to determine the factum of partition for the limited purpose of the present proceedings. A landlord under the Act has been defined by Section 3(j) of the Act in the following terms:

(j) "landlord", in relation to a building, means a person to whom its rent is or if the building, were let would be, payable, and includes, except in clause (g), the agent or attorney, of such person;"

17. Thus, if the landlord has been authorized by the other co-landlords to receive rent with a stipulation that the shop has been allotted to his share, there is no warrant for a Court seized of release proceedings to inquire virtually into the factum and legality of the partition, the manner in which the Appellate Authority has done. This is all the more so, as there is not a hint of an issue between the co-landlords/ co-owners about this arrangement/ family partition, where the demised shop has fallen to the landlord's share. In this connection, reference may be made to the decision in Sajal Kumar Jauhari v. District Judge, Ballia and others, 2016 SCC OnLine All 2541. In the said decision, though in the context of a partition brought about by a Civil Court decree passed in a partition suit, it was observed:

"38. The applicants/landlord have come out with the categorical submission that the accommodation which is described in schedule 2016_2_RCR_Rent_95_4.png of the release application came in their share by virtue ofthe Civil Court decree dated 7.9.2002 passed in a partition suit filed by the co-owners. No exception of it can be taken in a rent control proceeding either by the appellate court or by this court. Moreover in the additional written statement filed by the petitioner, there is no averment that the disputed accommodation is owned by the heirs of Gopal Das Mishra or the petitioner paid rent to Gopal Das Mishra or his heirs at any point of time. Admittedly the petitioners are occupying the disputed accommodation as tenant, they, therefore, cannot question the title of the co-owners without disclosing the name of the actual owner or the landlord. The petitioner cannot be allowed to challenge the Civil Court decree on the ground that it was obtained in a collusive suit. No other co-owner has come forward to object the release."

18. For the worst, assuming that no partition has taken place, it is not the case here that the property does not belong to the joint family comprising the five brothers or that the landlord is not one of the co-owners. If, therefore, for the need of the landlord, the other co-owners have stood by him and supported his case for release on the ground of bona fide need, it does not lie in the tenant's mouth to question the right of the landlord to seek release of the demised shop by importing a title dispute into proceedings for eviction. The approach of the Appellate Authority in holding against the landlord with reference to non-establishment of the factum of partition, therefore, cannot be countenanced. The issue whether the tenant or his family members have acquired the shop within the municipality of Jhansi is really not of much consequence. The way the Prescribed Authority has approached the matter, it is evident that the tenant's son is doing business in a shop located in the Sarrafa Bazar, which is a three-storeyed shop purchased in the name of his wife. The Prescribed Authority has reasonably concluded that the tenant's son is a member of his family and it would lead to deemed vacancy generally, unless certain particular facts are proved. But this Court is not minded to go into those facts. Even if the tenant has no alternative shop in the municipality of Jhansi, it cannot stand to defeat the landlord's right to release if his case of a bona fide need is established.

19. So far as question of bona fide need is concerned, the Appellate Authority has remarked that the landlord has not mentioned in his application for release, the number of the shop wherein he does business along with his brother, Bhagwat Prasad, though he has said that Bhagwat Prasad has threatened him with dispossession. It has been remarked that the tenant has averred that the landlord carries on the business of a grocer and trade in acid in shop No.192, and besides that, also does wholesale trade and retail in spices and dry fruits from his house No.42/1, Gopal Nikhra, Gola Kunwa, Jhansi. It is remarked that in the later affidavit filed by the landlord, it has been accepted that he does joint business with his brother Bhagwat Prasad in shop No.192 and it is this shop which he is being asked to vacate by his brother, Bhagwat Prasad. About these allegations, the Appellate Authority has disbelieved paper No.109/4 dated 16.01.2009, which is a registration certificate issued by the Commercial Tax Department as a document created during litigation. The said document shows Bhagwat Prasad's name as the proprietor of the business in shop No.192. Another document, paper No.109/5, which has been issued by the Assistant Labour Commissioner and is a registration certificate of the year 1982 in the name of Bhagwat Prasad with reference to shop No.192, has been discarded by saying that at that time, the parties' grandmother, Smt. Chhita Bai was the owner and the landlord. It is very strained logic that these documents have been disbelieved to infer that Bhagwat Prasad does not do business in shop No.192.

20. It must be remarked that in a family, that has a number of young men needing employment, assignment of commercial premises is often informal to begin with, which later on is scripted and converted to a formal settlement and division. Assuming that in the year 1985, the landlord's grandmother was alive, the fact that his brother Bhagwat Prasad was recorded with the Assistant Labour Commissioner as the occupier of shop No.192 would show that the shop indeed is one where Bhagwat Prasad does business and not the landlord. The further finding recorded by the Appellate Authority that there are some receipts that show that the landlord does business in shop No.192 are no more than receipts of some transactions of purchase of goods. These receipts are not incompatible with the landlord's case of doing business in shop No.192 along with his brother.

21. The other facet on which the landlord's need has been held not to be genuine is the business and trade in spices and dry fruits done from the landlord's home. It is well settled that business done from home, under compelling circumstances, does not lead to effacement of bona fide need of the landlord for business premises. Of course, this is not to say that the landlord indeed does business from home, about which too, perverse conclusions have been drawn. Those conclusions are also based on some documents about purchase of goods relating to trade, where the landlord's address indicated is that of his home, situate in Nikhri Bazar, Gola Kunwa, Jhansi. It is again a perverse conclusion to draw that an address mentioned on some document of purchase of goods can lead to the inference about the premises being used for business.

22. A trader can purchase goods giving out his residential address for reason of convenience or any other exigency. On that basis alone, to infer that the residential premises are used for business purposes, is most illogical. The Prescribed Authority, on the other hand, has done a complete survey of the shops available to the family comprising the five brothers and the sons of Bhagwat Prasad, who are in the working age group. The complete availability of the shops with their location and the business done by the five brothers has been recorded by the Prescribed Authority to support his finding that the landlord has no other shop but the demised shop to establish his independent business in. The Prescribed Authority has also noted the fact that one of the brothers of the landlord, Arun Gupta is pursuing litigation to get his shop vacated. The Prescribed Authority has clearly found on the basis of relevant evidence, that the landlord's brother, Bhagwat Prasad carries on his business in shop No.192 and the demised shop i.e. shop No.193 alone is available to the landlord to set up his independent business.

23. It is well settled that every adult member of the family is entitled to establish his independent business and if the family have a property where that need can be satisfied, moreso if the particular member holds that property, it ought to be released in favour of that person, who does not have premises to establish and run his independent business. In this connection, reference may be made to the decision of the Supreme Court in Mohd. Ayub and another v. Mukesh Chand, (2012) 2 SCC 155, where it has been held:

"15. It is well-settled that the landlord's requirement need not be a dire necessity. The Court cannot direct the landlord to do a particular business or imagine that he could profitably do a particular business rather than the business he proposes to start. It was wrong on the part of the District Court to hold that the appellants' case that their sons want to start the general merchant business is pretence because they are dealing in eggs and it is not uncommon for a Muslim family to do the business of non-vegetarian food. It is for the landlord to decide which business he wants to do. The Court cannot advise him. Similarly, length of tenancy of the respondent in the circumstances of the case ought not to have weighed with the Courts below."

24. In the circumstances, this Court is of opinion that the Prescribed Authority has rightly found for the landlord on the issue of bona fide need and the Appellate Authority has disturbed that finding in manifest error, doing injustice to the landlord.

25. The last issue that remains to be dealt with is about the comparative hardship. Much has been made for the fact that the tenant has attempted to search alternative accommodation, but could not find one. The Prescribed Authority has commented on the case of the tenant on this score that though there is an averment that the tenant has looked for alternative accommodation, no particulars about where, when and which premises were the subject matter of efforts by the tenant to secure on rent pending these release proceedings have been furnished. The Prescribed Authority thought that the averment is only a formality and this Court is of the same opinion. There are no two conclusions possible on this count.

26. Quite apart, some developments have taken place pending this petition. The tenant, who was an old man, has passed away pending this petition. The demised shop being a commercial accommodation, all his heirs have been impleaded. Now, his son has already been found to be well settled in business and he has a three-storeyed shop located in Sarrafa Bazar, Jhansi. He, therefore, would not suffer any hardship by an order of eviction. Nothing has been placed on record to show that the tenant's son or the other three heirs, that is to say, his two daughters and widow has taken over his business in the demised shop.

27. The principle, that subsequent events can be taken note of in proceedings for release, has the approval of the Supreme Court in Ram Kumari Barnwal vs. Ram Lakhan (Dead), 2007 (68) ALR 136. In Ram Kumari Barnwal in the context of eschewing a course of remand, where release proceedings had been pending for long, it was observed by the Supreme Court about cognizance of subsequent events thus:

"4. Learned Counsel for the appellant submitted that the approach of the High Court is clearly erroneous. It is settled position in law that subsequent events can be taken note of. The High Court, even though referred to the relevance of the subsequent events erroneously came to the conclusion that even if the judgment and order passed by the Courts below are erroneous in law, the matter will have to be remanded to the Prescribed Authority. There is no such requirement in law. In fact, after noticing that the release application was filed about quarter of century back, it is really unfortunate that the High Court instead of deciding the matter dismissed the writ petition granting liberty to file fresh release application. In other words, instead of shortening litigation the High Court's order would mean unnecessary prolongation of litigation."

28. In the result, this petition succeeds and is allowed with costs. The impugned order passed by the Appellate Authority/ Additional District Judge/ Special Judge (E.C. Act), Jhansi in Rent Control Appeal No.15 of 2009 is hereby quashed. The order of the Prescribed Authority/ Judge, Small Cause Courts, Jhansi dated 22.09.2009 in P.A. Case No.63 of 2007 is restored. The tenant represented by his heirs, that is to say, respondent nos.1/1, 1/2, 1/3 and 1/4 to this petition shall handover vacant possession of the demised shop to the landlord within a period of three months of the date of this judgment, subject to the condition that they execute an undertaking with the Prescribed Authority within a month carrying the following terms:

(i) The tenants shall handover peaceful and vacant possession of the demised shop to the landlord;

(ii) During the aforesaid period of time, the tenants will not sub-let the demised shop or permit any third person to occupy it; and,

(iii) During the aforesaid period of three months, the tenants shall not damage or disfigure the demised shop in any manner.

29. In the event an undertaking is not filed on affidavit within a month in the above terms, the release order passed by the Prescribed Authority shall become executable forthwith.

(Para 12 and 14)

Special Appeal dismissed. (E-1)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Surya Prakash Kesarwani, J. & Hon'ble Jayant Banerji, J.)

1. Heard Sri Arvind Srivastava, learned counsel for the appellant-petitioner and Sri Girish Vishwakarma, learned standing counsel for the State-respondents.

2. This special appeal has been filed praying to set aside the judgment and order dated 29.11.2021 in Writ-C No.21935 of 2021 (Smt. Kusumlata vs. State of U.P. and 2 others) passed by the learned Single Judge.

3. The aforesaid writ petition was filed by the petitioner praying for the following relief:

"(i) Issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of Mandamus commanding the respondent no. 2 S.D.M. Bharthana District Etawah to consider the claim of the petitioner for compassionate appointment of under the U.P. Essential Commodities Act (Rules and Distribution Order, 2016).

(ii) Issue a writ, order or direction in nature of Mandamus directing the respondent no.2 to appoint the petitioner as dealer in place of her father at Newadi Khurd, Nyay Panchayat-Aheripur, Block-Maheva, Pargana- Bharthana, District Etawah under the dying in harness rule prescribed under U.P. Essential Commodities Act (Rules and Distribution Order, 2016)."

4. Learned counsel for the appellant-petitioner states that subsequently, by means of an amendment application, challenge to the constitutional validity of Clause IV(10) of the Government Order dated 05.08.2019 defining the word "family', was also made. By the impugned judgment, the learned Single Judge has dismissed the writ petition observing as under:

"32. But the present dispute is in regard to allotment of a dealership of fair price shop on the death of father of petitioner, who is married and residing at a different village. The authorities had not refused to grant dealership to the eligible dependents of the deceased Nekram. The argument raised by learned counsel as to legal representative as provided in Section 2 (II) of the Code of Civil Procedure which includes the petitioner does not have any relevance in present scenario as the existence of dealership arises out of an agreement between the parties. Once the agreement has come to an end on the death of Nekram the license can only be granted on fulfilling the conditions laid down in the Government Order dated 05.08.2019. Sub-clause 5 of Clause IV categorically provides that applicant has to be local resident.

33. The concept of allotting dealership to a local resident is firstly that he is acquainted with the most of the card holders as they are living in same village and secondly his availability in attending and running the fair price shop. The Government as well as the Apex Court have recognized that right to food is part of Article 21 of the Constitution. In case, dealership is given to an outsider who is unable to run the fair price shop due to his/her unavailability the very purpose for enacting the Act of 2013 and Control Order of 2016 would be rendered otiose.

34. That Sub-clause 5 of Clause IV of the government order of 2019 specifically provides that applicant should be a local resident. Petitioner is admittedly a resident of a different village, and not of the village where the fair price shop is to be allotted. The validity of the said condition of the government order has not been challenged in the writ petition, and only challenge has been made to declare the word "unmarried" as unconstitutional from the definition of family prescribed under Sub-clause 10 of Clause IV.

35. Once the government order specifically provides the applicant to be the resident of the same village where the shop has to be allotted, no such allotment can be made to an outsider. The argument of petitioner's counsel that married daughter should also be included in the definition of the word "family", in the present scenario cannot be accepted as the license is granted only on the fulfillment of the conditions prescribed under the government order of 2019. Petitioner being not able to fulfill the essential conditions cannot be granted such license.

36. More so, the Control Order of 2016 does not make any distinction between the sons and daughters of a license holder, as in case of Rule 2 (c) of the Dying-in-Harness Rules. The definition of family occurring in the Control Order of 2016 as well as the government order of 2019 embraces the word "dependant child", which also includes the dependant father and mother. Argument that married daughter had been excluded creates gender bias cannot be accepted, as the very purpose is the distribution of food grains to the card holders attached to the ration shop situated in village. Once the daughter of a licensee is married outside the village, she cannot continue to run the fair price shop and distribute ration. The sole purpose of enacting the Act of 2013 and the Control Order of 2016 is that the food reaches the last person of the society and a licensee being only an agent of the State through which the target is achieved by both the Central Government and the State Government.

37. Having considered the facts and circumstances of the case, this Court finds that no ground is made for declaring the word "unmarried" as unconstitutional from the definition of family provided under Sub-clause 10 of Clause IV of the Government Order dated 05.08.2019.

38. Writ petition fails and is hereby dismissed."

5. Learned counsel for the appellant petitioner submits that merely because the petitioner is a married daughter, she cannot be discriminated in the matter of allotment of Fair Price Shop. Such discrimination is hit by Article 14 of the Constitution of India. He relied upon a Division Bench judgment of this Court in Writ-C No.60881 of 2015 (Smt. Vimla Srivastava vs. State of U.P. and another) decided on 04.12.2015.

6. Learned standing counsel supports the impugned judgment.

7. We have carefully considered the submissions of the learned counsels for the parties and perused the record of the writ petition.

8. The Uttar Pradesh Essential Commodities (Regulation of Sale and Distribution Control) Order, 2016 (hereinafter referred to as "the Control Order, 2016') was framed by the State Government in exercise of powers conferred under Section 3 of the Essential Commodities Act, 1955 with the object of maintaining the supplies of foodgrains and other essential commodities and for securing its equitable distribution at fair prices under the targetted Public Distribution System. Clause 2(p) of the Control Order, 2016 defines the word "family' as under:

(p)	"Family" means group of following persons- - Head of the family - Husband/wife, including legally adopted children. - Adult children, who are fully dependent on the head of the family. - Unmarried, legally separated and widow daughters; and - Fully dependent mother/ Father, of the head of the family.

9. Clause 2(b) of the Control Order, 2016 defines the word "agent' to mean a person or cooperative society or a corporation of the State Government authorised to run a Fair Price Shop under the provisions of this Control Order. Clause 7 of the Control Order 2016 provides as under: foodgrains and scheduled commodities the State Government shall issue directions under section-3 of the Act to such number of fair price shop in an area and in the manner as it deems fit.

(2)	(i)- A fair price shop shall be run through such person and in such manner as the Collector, subject to the directions of the State Government may decide. (ii)- A person appointed to run a fair price shop under sub clause (I) shall act as the agent of the State Government. (iii)- A person appointed to run a fair price shop under sub clause (1) shall sign an agreement, as directed by the State Government regarding running of the fair price shop. as per the draft appended to this order before the competent authority prior to the coming with effect of the said appointment.
(3)	The Food Commissioner shall ensure that the number of ration card holders attached to a fair price shop are reasonable, the fair price shop is so located that the consumer or ration card holder does not have to face difficulty to reach the fair price shop and that proper coverage is ensured in hilly, desert, tribal and such other areas difficult to access.

(4)	The State Government shall fix an amount as the fair price shop owner's margin, which shall be periodically reviewed for ensuring sustained viability of the fair price shop operations.
(5)	The Food Commissioner shall put in place a mechanism to ensure the release of fair price shop owner's margin without any delay
(6)	The State Government shall allow sale of commodities other than the foodgrains and other scheduled commodities distributed under the Targeted Public Distribution System at the fair price shop to improve the viability of the fair price shop operations.

10. In exercise of powers conferred under Clause-15 of the Control Order, 2016, the State Government issued a Government Order No.6/2019/1358/29-6-2019-162lk0/2001, dated 05.08.2019 (hereinafter referred to as "the Government Order, 2019') for selection of Fair Price Shops agents and reservation. Clause IV of the Government Order, 2019 provides for eligibility conditions for selection of Fair Price Shop agents in rural areas. Sub-Clause 5 of Clause IV provides that the applicant should be a resident of the locality. Sub-Clause 10 of Clause IV of the Government Order, 2019 reproduces the definition of the family given in the Control Order, 2016.

11. Clause 7- (1) of the Control Order, 2016 provides that with a view to affecting fair distribution of foodgrains and scheduled commodities, the State Government shall issue directions under Section-3 of the Act to such number of fair price shop in an area and in the manner as it deems fit. Sub-Clause 2(i)/(ii) of Clause 7 of the Control Order, 2016 provides that a fair price shop shall be run through such person and in such manner as the Collector, subject to directions of the State Government, may decide and a person appointed to run a fair price shop under sub-clause (1) shall act as the Agent of the State Government.

12. Basic object and purpose of the aforesaid Control Order 2016 is the distribution of foodgrains and scheduled commodities in an area through agents for the benefit of people, particularly economically weaker section of the society. Such agents are required to distribute allocated foodgrains under the targeted Public Distribution System to eligible house-holds in an area and for that purpose, an eligibility condition has been attached by sub-clause (5) of Clause IV of the Government Order, 2019 that an applicant for fair price shop should be resident of the locality, i.e. the locality for which fair price shop has been created for fair distribution of foodgrains and essential commodities in that locality.

13. As per own case of the petitioner, she was married long ago with one Sri Harnam Singh and is resident of Village and Post Rajpur, Tehsil Chakarnagar, District Etawah whereas the Fair Price Shop in question is of Village Nivadi Khurd, Tehsil Khurd, District Etawah. The agent of the aforesaid Fair Price Shop in question was the father of the petitioner, namely Sri Nekram who died on 15.02.2021 leaving behind his wife Smt. Suman Devi, sons namely Bhupendra Pratap Singh (date of birth 15.02.2000), Karvendra Pratap Singh (date of birth 06.07.2003) and Devendra Pratap Singh (date of birth 05.07.2006). The aforesaid wife of the deceased Fair Price Shop Agent applied for the Fair Price Shop in question but subsequently she moved an application dated 31.05.2021 that she is unable to run the Fair Price Shop and, therefore, it may be allotted to her daughter, i.e. the petitioner. The application of the aforesaid Suman Devi (wife of the deceased agent), was considered and it was rejected by the Committee headed by the S.D.M. Bharthana vide order dated 26.06.2021.

14. The facts as briefly mentioned above, clearly show that the petitioner is not eligible as she is not the resident of the locality of the Fair Price Shop in question. That apart, looking into the object and purpose of Public Distribution System, the definition of the word "family' as given in the Government Order, 2019 is neither arbitrary nor discriminatory. That apart, the aforesaid definition is merely reproduction of the definition of the word "family' given in the Control Order, 2016, which has not been challenged by the petitioner. The use of the words "unmarried daughter' in the definition of the word "family' given in the Government Order, 2019, is not discriminatory. The provisions of the Government Order, 2019 cannot be viewed or interpreted in the manner the provisions of The U.P. Recruitment of Dependants of Government Servants Dying in Harness Rules, 1974 has been interpreted by Division Bench in the case of Smt. Vimla Srivastava (supra).

15. For all the reasons afore-stated, we do not find any illegality in the impugned order passed by the learned Single Judge. Neither the word "unmarried' used in the definition of the word "family' as defined under the Government Order, 2019 is discriminatory nor the petitioner is eligible for appointment as fair price shop agent inasmuch as she is not resident of the locality where the Fair Price Shop in question is established and thus, she does not even fulfil basic eligibility criteria provided in Clause IV(5) of the Government Order, 2019.

16. For all the reasons afore-stated, we do not find any merit in this special appeal. Consequently, the Special Appeal is dismissed.

8. Kamlesh Verma Vs Mayawati & ors.; 2013 (8) SCC 320

(Delivered by Hon'ble Dr. Kaushal Jayendra Thaker, J. & Hon'ble Vivek Varma, J.)

1. By way of this Review Application, applicant, Sonu Kumar Yadav, has sought review of the judgment and order dated 2.7.2019 passed by this Court (Coram: Justice Govind Mathur and Justice Vivek Verma) in Special Appeal No.755 of 2019 (Sonu Kumar Yadav Vs. State of U.P. and others).

2. Factual matrix of the case is that Sri Rajendra Prasad Yadav father of the appellant-petitioner while holding the post of Constable in Provincial Armed Constabulary (PAC) 37th Battalion, Kanpur availed five days emergency leave. He did not return to the duties after completion of leave period. Looking to the continuous unauthorized absence, a notice was issued to Sri Rajendra Prasad Yadav for initiating disciplinary action against him and he was placed under suspension under an order dated 30th August, 2005. Disciplinary proceedings too were initiated and by the order dated 15th May, 2006 he was dismissed from service.

3. A missing report was filed by the present appellant-petitioner at Police Station Kotwali Bansdeeh. A civil suit then was filed to have a declaratory decree relating to death of Sri Rajendra Prasad Yadav being not seen from a period of more than seven years. On having such declaration, the appellant-petitioner submitted an application to the authority competent to have appointment on compassionate grounds. The application so submitted came to be rejected, hence, a petition for writ was filed which was dismissed. Against the dismissal of writ petition, special appeal was filed which was also came to be dismissed vide order dated 2.7.2019 which is under review before us.

4. It is submitted by learned counsel for the review-applicant that the Court has not properly appreciated the matter and judgment is not correct.

5. Having heard the learned counsel for the petitioner (review) and gone through the grounds taken in the Review Application, we find that virtually there is an attempt to re-argue the matter which is not permissible in a Review Application. An application for review cannot be treated to be an opportunity to argue the case on merits afresh. In the garb of a review application reargument on merits of the case cannot be allowed. We are even fortified in our view by the following authoritative pronouncements. The suspension was dated 30.8.2005. The deceased was dismissed from service. This fact would be relevant which has been minutely considered by the Division Bench of the this Court and, therefore, we find no reason to interfere in the judgment of the earlier Bench dated 2.7.2019.

6. In Thungabhadra Industries Ltd. Vs. The Government of Andhra Pradesh AIR 1964 SC 1372 the Court said:

"A review is by no means an appeal in disguise whereby an erroneous decision is reheard and corrected, but lies only for patent error."

7. In Aribam Tuleshwar Sharma Vs. Aribam Pishak Sharma 1979 (4) SCC 389 the Court said:

"... there is nothing in Article 226 of the Constitution to preclude a High Court from exercising the power of review which inheres in every Court of plenary jurisdiction to prevent miscarriage of justice or to correct grave and palpable errors committed by it. But, there are definitive limits to the exercise of the power of review. The power of review may be exercised on the discovery of new and important matter or evidence which, after the exercise of due diligence was not within the knowledge of the person seeking the review or could not be produced by him at the time when the order was made; it may be exercised where some mistake or error apparent on the face of the record is found; it may also be exercised on any analogous ground. But, it may not be exercised on the ground that the decision was erroneous on merits. That would be the province of a Court of Appeal. A power of review is not to be confused with appellate powers which may enable an Appellate Court to correct all manner of errors committed by the Subordinate Court."

8. Again, in Meera Bhanja v. Nirmala Kumari Choudhury AIR 1995 SC 455 while quoting with approval the above passage from Abhiram Taleshwar Sharma Vs. Abhiram Pishak Shartn (supra), the Court once again held that review proceedings are not by way of an appeal and have to be strictly confined to the scope and ambit of Order 47 Rule 1 CPC.

9. In Parsion Devi and others Vs. Sumitri Devi and others 1997 (8) SCC 715 it was held that an error, which is not self evident and has to be detected by process of reasoning, can hardly be said to be error apparent on the face of the record justifying the court to exercise powers of review in exercise of review jurisdiction.

10. In Rajendra Kumar Vs. Rambai, AIR 2003 SC 2095, the Apex Court has observed about limited scope of judicial intervention at the time of review of the judgment and said:

"The limitations on exercise of the power of review are well settled. The first and foremost requirement of entertaining a review petition is that the order, review of which is sought, suffers from any error apparent on the face of the order and permitting the order to stand will lead to failure of justice. In the absence of any such error, finality attached to the judgement/order cannot be disturbed."

11. Thus, Review is not an appeal in disguise. Rehearing of the matter is impermissible in the garb of review. It is an exception to the general rule that once a judgment is signed or pronounced, it should not be altered. In Lily Thomas Vs. Union of India AIR 2000 SC 1650, the Court said that power of review can be exercised for correction of a mistake and not to substitute a new. Such powers can be exercised within limits of the statute dealing with the exercise of power. The aforesaid view is reiterated in Inderchand Jain Vs. Motilal (2009) 4 SCC 665.

12. In Kamlesh Verma Vs. Mayawati and others 2013 (8) SCC 320, the Court said:

"19. Review proceedings are not by way of an appeal and have to be strictly confined to the scope and ambit of Order 47 Rule 1 of CPC. In review jurisdiction, mere disagreement with the view of the judgment cannot be the ground for invoking the same. As long as the point is already dealt with and answered, the parties are not entitled to challenge the impugned judgment in the guise that an alternative view is possible under the review jurisdiction.

Summary of the Principles:

20. Thus, in view of the above, the following grounds of review are maintainable as stipulated by the statute:

20.1. When the review will be maintainable:-

(i) Discovery of new and important matter or evidence which, after the exercise of due diligence, was not within knowledge of the petitioner or could not be produced by him;

(ii) Mistake or error apparent on the face of the record;

(iii) Any other sufficient reason.

*The words "any other sufficient reason" has been interpreted in Chhajju Ram vs. Neki, AIR 1922 PC 112 and approved by this Court in Moran Mar Basselios Catholicos vs. Most Rev. Mar Poulose Athanasius & Ors., AIR 1954 SC 526, to mean "a reason sufficient on grounds at least analogous to those specified in the rule". The same principles have been reiterated in Union of India vs. Sandur Manganese & Iron Ores Ltd. & Ors., 2013 (8) SCC 337.

22.2. When the review will not be maintainable:-

(i) A repetition of old and overruled argument is not enough to reopen concluded adjudications.

(ii) Minor mistakes of inconsequential import.

(iii) Review proceedings cannot be equated with the original hearing of the case.

(iv) Review is not maintainable unless the material error, manifest on the face of the order, undermines its soundness or results in miscarriage of justice.

(v) A review is by no means an appeal in disguise whereby an erroneous decision is reheard and corrected but lies only for patent error.

(vi) The mere possibility of two views on the subject cannot be a ground for review.

(vii) The error apparent on the face of the record should not be an error which has to be fished out and searched.

(viii) The appreciation of evidence on record is fully within the domain of the appellate court, it cannot be permitted to be advanced in the review petition.

(ix) Review is not maintainable when the same relief sought at the time of arguing the main matter had been negatived." (emphasis supplied)

13. In the case in hand, grounds for review, as above, and the review application do not satisfy the contours of entertaining the review petition, hence, we find no reason to interfere with the well reasoned order of this Court dated 2.7.2019.

14. This review application is, therefore, dismissed.

1. Heard Sri Devesh Misra learned counsel for the appellant and Sri B.P. Singh Kachhawah, learned standing counsel for the State respondents.

Facts

2. This Special Appeal has been filed praying to set aside the judgment and order dated 18.07.2019, passed by the learned Single Judge in WRIT - A No. - 9064 of 2019 (Iqbal Khan Vs. State Of U.P. And 2 Others).

3. The impugned judgment and order dated 18.7.2019, passed by the learned Single Judge is reproduced below :-

"Petitioner had applied for compassionate appointment, consequent upon death of his father. An order was passed on 14.5.2015, declining appointment on the post of Pharmacist and offering him appointment on the post of Lab Attendant or any other post for which petitioner possess requisite qualification.

Pursuant to this direction, petitioner applied for the post of Lab Attendant and has been offered appointment also. Petitioner has been working since July, 2015. He has now approached this Court with the grievance that qualification for the post of Pharmacist had been amended and that amended rule had not been taken note of as per which he is eligible for appointment to the post of Pharmacist.

Learned Standing Counsel has obtained instructions, according to which, appointment on the post of Pharmacist is to be made through U.P. Subordinate Service Selection Commission and, therefore, in view of the provision contained in Rule 5 read with rule 3 of the U.P. Recruitment of Dependants of Government Servants Dying in Harness Rules, 1974 (hereinafter referred to as the 'Rules of 1974'), no compassionate appointment can be granted on such post. It is stated that the vacancies have otherwise been notified on the post of Pharmacist to the Selection Commission.

Rules of 1974 clearly provides that appointment can be offered only on a post for which recruitment is not required to be undertaken by the U.P. Subordinate Service Selection Commission.

Since post of Pharmacist is earmarked to the Commission for recruitment, the petitioner's claim for compassionate on it cannot be considered. The petitioner has been appointed on the post of Lab Attendant in July, 2015, and therefore, he has otherwise acquiesced to his appointment on the said post. There is no challenge laid to the order declining petitioner's claim on the post of Pharmacist. In that view of the matter, no relief can be granted to the petitioner. The writ petition is dismissed."

4. It is admitted to the petitioner that compassionate appointment was offered to him on 14.05.2019 and he accepted the offer and joined on the post of Lab Attendant. After about four years he filed the aforesaid writ petition claiming that he has the qualification for the post of Pharmacist and, therefore, a mandamus may be issued to the respondents to give appointment/absorb the petitioner on the post of Pharmacist in place of the post of Lab Attendant considering his qualification.

5. The aforesaid contention of the petitioner has been rejected by the impugned judgment and order passed by the learned single Judge on two grounds firstly the appointment on the post of Pharmacist is to be made through U.P. Subordinate Service Selection Commission which has been notified by the Commission for selection and secondly, the petitioner has otherwise acquiesced to his appointment on the post of Lab Attendant.

6. Aggrieved with the aforesaid judgment passed by the learned Single Judge, the appellant has filed the present appeal.

Submissions

7. Learned counsel for the petitioner submits that as per Rule 5 of the U.P. Recruitment of Dependants of Government Servants Dying in Harness Rules, 1974 (hereinafter referred to as the 'Rules 1974') the appointment has to be given by the employer in accordance with the qualification of the candidate applying for compassionate appointment under Rules 1974. He further submits that even if the petitioner has accepted the appointment on the post of Lab Attendant under the Rules 1974 yet his claim for the post of Pharmacist on the basis of qualification, can not be denied by the respondents.

8. Learned standing counsel supports the impugned judgment.

Discussion & Findings

9. We have carefully considered the submissions of learned counsels for the parties and perused the records of the writ petition.

Object and principles of Compassionate Appointment:-

10. The Apex Court in the case of Hamza Haji vs. State of Kerala reported in 2006 (7) SCC 416 in paragraphs 28 and 29 has observed as under: -

"In Hip Foong Hong vs. H. Neotia and Company (1918 Appeal Cases 888) the Privy Council held that if a judgment is affected by fraudulent conduct it must be set aside. In Rex vs. Recorder of Leicester (1947 (1) K B 726) it was held that a certiorari would lie to quash a judgment on the ground that it has been obtained by fraud. The basic principle obviously is that a party who had secured a judgment by fraud should not be enabled to enjoy the fruits thereof. In this situation, the High Court in this case, could have clearly either quashed the decision of the Forest Tribunal in OA No.247 of 1979 or could have set aside its own judgment in MFA No.328 of 1981 dismissing the appeal from the decision of the Forest Tribunal at the stage of admission and vacated the order of the Forest Tribunal by allowing that appeal or could have exercised its jurisdiction as a court of record by invoking Article 215 of the Constitution to set at naught the decision obtained by the appellant by playing a fraud on the Forest Tribunal. The High Court has chosen to exercise its power as a court of record to nullify a decision procured by the appellant by playing a fraud on the court. We see no objection to the course adopted by the High Court even assuming that we are inclined to exercise our jurisdiction under Article 136 of the Constitution of India at the behest of the appellant."

11. A Full Bench of this Court in the case of Shiv Kumar Dubey and others vs. State of U.P. and others, 2014(2) ADJ, 312 (Para 29), considered various aspects relating to compassionate appointment and held as under :-

"We now proceed to formulate the principles which must govern compassionate appointment in pursuance of Dying in Harness Rules:

(i) A provision for compassionate appointment is an exception to the principle that there must be an equality of opportunity in matters of public employment. The exception to be constitutionally valid has to be carefully structured and implemented in order to confine compassionate appointment to only those situations which subserve the basic object and purpose which is sought to be achieved;

(ii) There is no general or vested right to compassionate appointment*. Compassionate appointment can be claimed only where a scheme or rules provide for such appointment. Where such a provision is made in an administrative scheme or statutory rules, compassionate appointment must fall strictly within the scheme or, as the case may be, the rules;*

(iii) The object and purpose of providing compassionate appointment is to enable the dependent members of the family of a deceased employee to tide over the immediate financial crisis caused by the death of the bread-earner;

(iv) In determining as to whether the family is in financial crisis, all relevant aspects must be borne in mind including the income of the family; its liabilities, the terminal benefits received by the family; the age, dependency and marital status of its members, together with the income from any other sources of employment;

(v) Where a long lapse of time has occurred since the date of death of the deceased employee, the sense of immediacy for seeking compassionate appointment would cease to exist and this would be a relevant circumstance which must weigh with the authorities in determining as to whether a case for the grant of compassionate appointment has been made out;

(vi) Rule 5 mandates that ordinarily, an application for compassionate appointment must be made within five years of the date of death of the deceased employee. The power conferred by the first proviso is a discretion to relax the period in a case of undue hardship and for dealing with the case in a just and equitable manner;

(vii) The burden lies on the applicant, where there is a delay in making an application within the period of five years to establish a case on the basis of reasons and a justification supported by documentary and other evidence. It is for the State Government after considering all the facts to take an appropriate decision. The power to relax is in the nature of an exception and is conditioned by the existence of objective considerations to the satisfaction of the government;

(viii) Provisions for the grant of compassionate appointment do not constitute a reservation of a post in favour of a member of the family of the deceased employee. Hence, there is no general right which can be asserted to the effect that a member of the family who was a minor at the time of death would be entitled to claim compassionate appointment upon attaining majority*. Where the rules provide for a period of time within which an application has to be made, the operation of the rule is not suspended during the minority of a member of the family." 12. In Civil Misc. Writ Petition No. 13102 of 2010, Union of India Vs. Smt. Asha Mishra, decided on 7.5.2010, a Division Bench of this Court has observed as under: -

"The principles of consideration for compassionate appointment have been firmly settled and have been reiterated from time to time. Compassionate appointment is not a vested right or an alternate mode of employment. It has to be considered and granted under the relevant rules. The object of compassionate appointment is to tide over an immediate financial crisis. It is not a heritable right to be considered after an unreasonable period, for the vacancies cannot be held up for long and that appointment should not ordinarily await the attainment of majority. Where the family has survived for long, its circumstances must be seen before the competent authority may consider such appointment. It is not to be ordinarily granted, where a person died close to his retirement. The Court, however, has emphasised time to time and more authoritatively in National Institute of Technology Vs. Neeraj Kumar Singh, (2007) 2 SCC 481 that such appointment can be granted only under a scheme. It should not be considered after a long lapse of time."

13. The judgment in the case of Smt. Asha Mishra (supra) has also been taken notice by the Full Bench of this Court in Shiv Kumar Dubey (supra) reiterating the legal principles so mandated therein. Recently, the Apex Court in Civil Appeal No. 897 of 2021, in the matter of Central Coalfields Limited Through its Chairman an Managing Director and Ors. Vs. Parden Oraon decided on 09.04.2021, in paragraph 9 has observed as under:-

*"9. ... The application for compassionate appointment of the son was filed by the Respondent in the year 2013 which is more than 10 years after the Respondent's husband had gone missing. As the object of compassionate appointment is for providing immediate succour to the family of a deceased employee, the Respondent's son is not entitled for compassionate appointment after the passage of a long period of time since his father has gone missing."

14. The object of compassionate appointment is to enable the family of the deceased - employee to tied over the sudden financial crisis due to death of the bread earner which has left the family in penury and without means of livelihood, it is an exception to the normal rule of public employment, it is a concession; vide; V. In Santosh Kumar Dubey Vs. State of U.P., (2009) 6 SCC 481 (para 11 & 12), the Apex Court held that Compassionate Appointment can not be treated as a Bonanza.

15. In Chief Commissioner, Central Excise & Customs, Lucknow & others Vs. Prabhat Singh (2012) 13 SCC 412 (para 19), Hon'ble Supreme Court has held that it is not disbursement of gift. It is not sympathy syndrome. In State of U.P. Vs. Pankaj Kumar Vishnoi 2013(11) SCC 178 (paras 7,12,13 & 20). The Apex Court held that it is meant to provide minimum relief for meeting immediate hardship to save the bereaved family from sudden crisis due to death of sole bread winner. Similar view has been expressed in SAIL Vs. Madhusudan (2008) 15 SCC 560 (para 15) and SBI Vs. Anju Jain (2008) 8SCC 475 (Para 33).

16. In SBI Vs. Surya N. Tripathi, (2014) 15 SCC 739 (paras 4,9), the Apex

Court held that if employer finds that Financial Arrangement made for family subsequent to death of the employee is adequate members of the family can not insist for compassionate appointment.

17. In General Manager (D & PB) and others Vs. Kunti Tiwary and other (2004)7 SCC 271 (Para 9), Hon'ble Supreme Court held that the Division Bench erred in diluting the criteria of penury to one of "not very well-to-do.

18. In Union of India Vs. Shashank Goswami, (2012) 11 SCC 307 (Paras 9, 10) the Apex Court held that an applicant has no right to claim compassionate appointment in a particular class or group. It is not for conferring status on the family. In Pepsu Road Transport Corporation Vs. Satinder Kumar, 1995 Supp. (4) SCC 597 (Para 6) the Apex Court held that while minimum qualification for eligibility may be matriculation, generally graduate and even post graduate decree holders respond and offer themselves for clerical appointments. Courts can not ignore this fact and direct that possession of minimum qualification alone would be sufficient.

19. In State of Madhya Pradesh & others VS. Ramesh Kumar Sharma (1994) Supp.(3) SCC 661, the Apex Court held that a candidate for compassionate appointment has no right to any particular post of choice. He can only claim to be considered.

20. In the case of The Director of Treasuries in Karnataka & Anr. vs. Somyashree, in Civil Appeal No.5122 of 2021, decided on 13.09.2021, Hon'ble Supreme Court reiterated the object and principles of compassionate appointment, as under:

"7. While considering the submissions made on behalf of the rival parties a recent decision of this Court in the case of N.C. Santhosh (Supra) on the appointment on compassionate ground is required to be referred to. After considering catena of decisions of this Court on appointment on compassionate grounds it is observed and held that appointment to any public post in the service of the State has to be made on the basis of principles in accordance with Articles 14 and 16 of the Constitution of India and the compassionate appointment is an exception to the general rule. It is further observed that the dependent of the deceased Government employee are made eligible by virtue of the policy on compassionate appointment and they must fulfill the norms laid down by the State's policy. It is further observed and held that the norms prevailing on the date of the consideration of the application should be the basis for consideration of claim of compassionate appointment. A dependent of a government employee, in the absence of any vested right accruing on the death of the government employee, can only demand consideration of his/her application. It is further observed he/she is, however, entitled to seek consideration in accordance with the norms as applicable on the day of death of the Government employee. The law laid down by this Court in the aforesaid decision on grant of appointment on compassionate ground can be summarized as under:

(i) that the compassionate appointment is an exception to the general rule;

(ii) that no aspirant has a right to compassionate appointment;

(iii) the appointment to any public post in the service of the State has to be made on the basis of the principle in accordance with Articles 14 and 16 of the Constitution of India;

(iv) appointment on compassionate ground can be made only on fulfilling the norms laid down by the State's policy and/or satisfaction of the eligibility criteria as per the policy;

(v) the norms prevailing on the date of the consideration of the application should be the basis for consideration of claim for compassionate appointment.

8.2 Apart from the above one additional aspect needs to be noticed, which the High Court has failed to consider. It is to be noted that the deceased employee died on 25.03.2012. The respondent herein - original writ petitioner at that time was a married daughter. Her marriage was subsisting on the date of the death of the deceased i.e. on 25.03.2012. Immediately on the death of the deceased employee, the respondent initiated the divorced proceedings under Section 13B of the Hindu Marriage Act, 1955 on 12.09.2012 for decree of divorce by mutual consent. By Judgment dated 20.03.2013, the Learned Principal Civil Judge, Mandya granted the decree of divorce by mutual consent. That immediately on the very next day i.e. on 21.03.2013, the respondent herein on the basis of the decree of divorce by mutual consent applied for appointment on compassionate ground. The aforesaid chronology of dates and events would suggest that only for the purpose of getting appointment on compassionate ground the decree of divorce by mutual consent has been obtained. Otherwise, as a married daughter she was not entitled to the appointment on compassionate ground*. Therefore, looking to the aforesaid facts and circumstances of the case, otherwise also the High Court ought not to have directed the appellants to consider the application of the respondent herein for appointment on compassionate ground as ''divorced daughter'. This is one additional ground to reject the application of the respondent for appointment on compassionate ground."*

21. In a most recent judgment in the case of The State of Uttar Pradesh and others vs. Premlata in Civil Appeal No.6003 of 2021, decided on 05.10.2021, Hon'ble Supreme Court considered the provisions of U.P. Rules 1974 and summarized the principles of compassionate appointment in the context of U.P. Rules, 1974, as under:

"9. As per the law laid down by this court in catena of decisions on the appointment on compassionate ground, for all the government vacancies equal opportunity should be provided to all aspirants as mandated under Article 14 and 16 of the Constitution. However, appointment on compassionate ground offered to a dependent of a deceased employee is an exception to the said norms. The compassionate ground is a concession and not a right.

9.1 In the case of State of Himachal Pradesh and Anr. vs. Shashi Kumar reported in (2019) 3 SCC 653, this court had an occasion to consider the object and purpose of appointment on compassionate ground and considered decision of this court in case of Govind Prakash Verma vs. LIC reported in (2005) 10 SCC 289, in para 21 and 26, it is observed and held as under:-

"21. The decision in Govind Prakash Verma [Govind Prakash Verma v. LIC, (2005) 10 SCC 289, has been considered subsequently in several decisions. But, before we advert to those decisions, it is necessary to note that the nature of compassionate appointment had been considered by this Court in Umesh Kumar Nagpal v. State of Haryana [Umesh Kumar Nagpal v. State of Haryana, (1994) 4 SCC 138 : 1994 SCC (L&S) 930]. The principles which have been laid down in Umesh Kumar Nagpal [Umesh Kumar Nagpal v. State of Haryana, (1994) 4 SCC 138 : 1994 SCC (L&S) 930] have been subsequently followed in a consistent line of precedents in this Court. These principles are encapsulated in the following extract: (Umesh Kumar Nagpal case [Umesh Kumar Nagpal v. State of Haryana, (1994) 4 SCC 138 : 1994 SCC (L&S) 930] , SCC pp. 139-40, para 2)

"2. ... As a rule, appointments in the public services should be made strictly on the basis of open invitation of applications and merit. No other mode of appointment nor any other consideration is permissible. Neither the Governments nor the public authorities are at liberty to follow any other procedure or relax the qualifications laid down by the rules for the post. However, to this general rule which is to be followed strictly in every case, there are some exceptions carved out in the interests of justice and to meet certain contingencies. One such exception is in favour of the dependants of an employee dying in harness and leaving his family in penury and without any means of livelihood. In such cases, out of pure humanitarian consideration taking into consideration the fact that unless some source of livelihood is provided, the family would not be able to make both ends meet, a provision is made in the rules to provide gainful employment to one of the dependants of the deceased who may be eligible for such employment. The whole object of granting compassionate employment is thus to enable the family to tide over the sudden crisis*. The object is not to give a member of such family a post much less a post for post held by the deceased.* What is further, mere death of an employee in harness does not entitle his family to such source of livelihood. The Government or the public authority concerned has to examine the financial condition of the family of the deceased, and it is only if it is satisfied, that but for the provision of employment, the family will not be able to meet the crisis that a job is to be offered to the eligible member of the family. The posts in Classes III and IV are the lowest posts in nonmanual and manual categories and hence they alone can be offered on compassionate grounds, the object being to relieve the family, of the financial destitution and to help it get over the emergency. The provision of employment in such lowest posts by making an exception to the rule is justifiable and valid since it is not discriminatory. The favourable treatment given to such dependant of the deceased employee in such posts has a rational nexus with the object sought to be achieved viz. relief against destitution. No other posts are expected or required to be given by the public authorities for the purpose. It must be remembered in this connection that as against the destitute family of the deceased there are millions of other families which are equally, if not more destitute. The exception to the rule made in favour of the family of the deceased employee is in consideration of the services rendered by him and the legitimate expectations, and the change in the status and affairs, of the family engendered by the erstwhile employment which are suddenly upturned."

"26. The judgment of a Bench of two Judges in Mumtaz Yunus Mulani v. State of Maharashtra [Mumtaz Yunus Mulani v. State of Maharashtra, (2008) 11 SCC 384 : (2008) 2 SCC (L&S) 1077] has adopted the principle that appointment on compassionate grounds is not a source of recruitment, but a means to enable the family of the deceased to get over a sudden financial crisis. The financial position of the family would need to be evaluated on the basis of the provisions contained in the scheme. The decision in Govind Prakash Verma [Govind Prakash Verma v. LIC, (2005) 10 SCC 289 : 2005 SCC (L&S) 590] has been duly considered, but the Court observed that it did not appear that the earlier binding precedents of this Court have been taken note of in that case."

10. Thus as per the law laid down by this court in the aforesaid decisions, compassionate appointment is an exception to the general rule of appointment in the public services and is in favour of the dependents of a deceased dying in harness and leaving his family in penury and without any means of livelihood, and in such cases, out of pure humanitarian consideration taking into consideration the fact that unless some source of livelihood is provided, the family would not be able to make both ends meet, a provision is made in the rules to provide gainful employment to one of the dependants of the deceased who may be eligible for such employment. The whole object of granting compassionate employment is thus to enable the family to tide over the sudden crisis. The object is not to give such family a post much less a post held by the deceased.

10.1 Applying the law laid down by this court in the aforesaid decisions and considering the observations made hereinabove and the object and purpose for which the appointment on compassionate ground is provided, the submissions on behalf of the respondent and the interpretation by the Division Bench of the High Court on Rule 5 of Rules 1974, is required to be considered.

10.2 The Division Bench of the High Court in the present case has interpreted Rule 5 of Rules 1974 and has held that ''suitable post' under Rule 5 of the Rules 1974 would mean any post suitable to the qualification of the candidate irrespective of the post held by the deceased employee*. The aforesaid interpretation by the Division Bench of the High Court is just opposite to the object and purpose of granting the appointment on compassionate ground. ''*Suitable post' has to be considered, considering status/post held by the deceased employee and the educational qualification/eligibility criteria is required to be considered, considering the post held by the deceased employee and the suitability of the post is required to be considered vis a vis the post held by the deceased employee, otherwise there shall be no difference/distinction between the appointment on compassionate ground and the regular appointment. In a given case it may happen that the dependent of the deceased employee who has applied for appointment on compassionate ground is having the educational qualification of Class-II or Class-I post and the deceased employee was working on the post of Class/Grade IV and/or lower than the post applied, in that case the dependent/applicant cannot seek the appointment on compassionate ground on the higher post than what was held by the deceased employee as a matter of right, on the ground that he/she is eligible fulfilling the eligibility criteria of such higher post. The aforesaid shall be contrary to the object and purpose of grant of appointment on compassionate ground which as observed hereinabove is to enable the family to tide over the sudden crisis on the death of the bread earner. As observed above, appointment on compassionate ground is provided out of pure humanitarian consideration taking into consideration the fact that some source of livelihood is provided and family would be able to make both ends meet.

11. In view of the above and for the reasons stated above, the Division Bench of the High Court has misinterpreted and misconstrued Rule 5 of the Rules 1974 and in observing and holding that the "suitable post' under Rule 5 of the Dying-In-Harness Rules 1974 would mean any post suitable to the qualification of the candidate and the appointment on compassionate ground is to be offered considering the educational qualification of the dependent. As observed hereinabove such an interpretation would defeat the object and purpose of appointment on compassionate ground.

22. In the case of Navendra Kumar Upadhyay Vs. State of U.P. and others (Special Appeal No.1601of 2012) decided on 22.10.2021, a Division Bench of this Court considered in detail the principles and object of Compassionate appointment and concluded as under :-

35. We have discussed above in detail the case of the petitioner / appellant and the principles of law on compassionate appointment laid down by this Court and by Hon'ble Supreme Court, which are briefly summarized as under: -

(a) A provision for compassionate appointment is an exception to the principle that there must be an equality of opportunity in matters of public employment. The exception to be constitutionally valid has to be carefully structured and implemented in order to confine compassionate appointment to only those situations which subserve the basic object and purpose which is sought to be achieved;

(b) The object of compassionate appointment is to enable the family of the deceased - employee to tied over the sudden financial crisis due to death of the bread earner which has left the family in penury and without means of livelihood, it is an exception to the normal rule of public employment, it is a concession. The basic intention to grant compassionate appointment is that on the death of the employee, his family is not deprived of the means of livelihood. It can not be claimed by way of inheritance. Compassionate Appointment can not be treated as a Bonanza. It is not disbursement of gift*. It is not sympathy syndrome.* It is meant to provide minimum relief for meeting immediate hardship to save the bereaved family from sudden financial crisis due to death of sole bread winner. If employer finds that Financial arrangement made for family subsequent to death of the employee is adequate members of the family can not insist for compassionate appointment.

(c) Mere death of an employee in harness does not entitle his family to such source of livelihood. The Government or the public authority concerned has to examine the financial condition of the family of the deceased, and it is only if it is satisfied, that but for the provision of employment, the family will not be able to meet the crisis that a job is to be offered to the eligible member of the family.

(d) In determining as to whether the family is in financial crisis, all relevant aspects must be borne in mind including the income of the family; its liabilities, the terminal benefits received by the family; the age, dependency and marital status of its members, together with the income from any other sources of employment;

(e) There is no general or vested right to compassionate appointment. Compassionate appointment can be claimed only where a scheme or rules provide for such appointment. Where such a provision is made in an administrative scheme or statutory rules, compassionate appointment must fall strictly within the scheme or, as the case may be, the rules;

(f) Where a long lapse of time has occurred since the date of death of the deceased employee, the sense of immediacy for seeking compassionate appointment would cease to exist and this would be a relevant circumstance which must weigh with the authorities in determining as to whether a case for the grant of compassionate appointment has been made out;

(g) An applicant has no right to claim compassionate appointment in a particular class or group. It is not for conferring status on the family. A candidate for compassionate appointment has no right to any particular post of choice*. He can only claim to be considered.*

(h) The dependent/applicant cannot seek the appointment on compassionate ground on the higher post than what was held by the deceased employee as a matter of right, on the ground that he/she is eligible fulfilling the eligibility criteria of such higher post.

(i) Provisions for the grant of compassionate appointment do not constitute a reservation of a post in favour of a member of the family of the deceased employee. Hence, there is no general right which can be asserted to the effect that a member of the family who was a minor at the time of death would be entitled to claim compassionate appointment upon attaining majority. Where the rules provide for a period of time within which an application has to be made, the operation of the rule is not suspended during the minority of a member of the family.

(j) The norms prevailing on the date of the consideration of the application should be the basis for consideration of claim for compassionate appointment.

(k) Neither the Governments nor the public authorities are at liberty to follow any other procedure or relax the qualifications laid down by the rules for the post. The whole object of granting compassionate employment is to enable the family to tide over the sudden financial crisis.

(l) Rule 5 mandates that ordinarily, an application for compassionate appointment must be made within five years of the date of death of the deceased employee. The power conferred by the first proviso is a discretion to relax the period in a case of undue hardship and for dealing with the case in a just and equitable manner;

(m) The burden lies on the applicant, where there is a delay in making an application within the period of five years to establish a case on the basis of reasons and a justification supported by documentary and other evidence. It is for the State Government after considering all the facts to take an appropriate decision. The power to relax is in the nature of an exception and is conditioned by the existence of objective considerations to the satisfaction of the government;

(n) The father of the petitioner died on 07.07.1991 when petitioner was aged about eight years. He applied for compassionate appointment sometime in the year 2006-07 and the District Basic Education Officer granted appointment unauthorisedly, without grant of relaxation by the Competent Authority/ State Government. Thus, the petitioner unauthorisedly and in contravention of the government order, without relaxation of period for submission of application, obtained appointment on compassionate ground, which is nullity. Therefore, the appointing authority has lawfully cancelled the order of appointment of the petitioner. Hence impugned order of the learned Single Judge does not suffer from any manifest error of law.

23. In view of the law laid down by Hon'ble Supreme Court and this Court referred above, we do not find any error of law in the impugned Judgment. Hence, the Special Appeal is dismissed.

APPELLATE JURISDICTION
CIVIL SIDE

BEFORE

THE HON'BLE DEVENDRA KUMAR UPADHYAYA, J.
THE HON'BLE SUBHASH VIDYARTHI, J.

Special Appeal No. 410 of 2021

State of U.P. & Ors. ...Appellants
Versus
Vijay Singh ...Respondent

Counsel for the Appellants:
C.S.C.

Counsel for the Respondent:
Bhanu Pratap Singh

A. Service Law – UP Police Service Rules, 2016 – Rule 16 – UP Government Servant Seniority Rules, 1991 – Rule 7 – Promotion to the post of Deputy Superintendent of Police – Combined Seniority List, preparation thereof – Dispute arise as to which rules apply – Rules of 2016 the Rules 1991 – Held, U.P. Government Service Seniority Rules, 1991 have been framed under Article 309 of the Constitution of India, thus will have full application for the purposes of determination of seniority on the post of Deputy Superintendent of Police, however, in the instant case the seniority on the post of Deputy Superintendent of Police or even on the post of Inspector (Civil Police) or on the post of Inspector (Armed Police) is not to be reckoned; rather what needs to be prepared is the 'combined seniority list' for the purposes of making promotions on the post of Deputy Superintendent of Police in terms of Rule 16 of the Rules of 2016 – Rule 7 of Rules of 1991 does not have any application for the purposes of preparation of the 'combined seniority list' as envisaged under Rule 16 of the Rules of 2016. (Para 34 and 37)

Special Appeal allowed. (E-1)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Devendra Kumar Upadhyaya, J. & Hon'ble Subhash Vidyarthi, J.)

1. Heard Sri Amitabh Rai, learned Additional Chief Standing Counsel and Sri Mohit Jauhari, learned Standing Counsel representing the appellants-State authorities and Sri Bhanu Pratap Singh, learned counsel representing the respondent no.1.

2. The respondent nos. 2 and 3 are proforma respondents in this appeal, who despite notices having been issued did not put in their appearance in the writ petition before the learned Single Judge.

3. We have also perused the records available before us on this special appeal.

4. This special appeal filed under Chapter VIII, Rule V of the Rules of the Court, lays a challenge to the judgment and order dated 22.09.2021 passed by the learned Single Judge whereby Writ Petition No. 34799 (SS) of 2019 filed by the petitioner-respondent no.1 has been allowed and the opposite parties therein have been directed to prepare a fresh joint seniority list of the Inspectors (Civil Police) and Inspectors (Armed Police)/Company Commanders in accordance with the provisions contained in Rule 7 of the U.P. Government Servant Seniority Rules, 1991 (hereinafter referred to as the ?Rules of 1991?) and, thus, to undertake the exercise of promotion to the post of Deputy Superintendent of Police.

5. Submission on behalf of learned counsel representing the appellants-State impeaching the judgment and order under appeal is that Rule 7 of the Rules of 1991 does not have any application so far as the preparation of joint seniority list for the purposes of making promotion to the post of Deputy Superintendent of Police is concerned and, as such, learned Single Judge while passing the judgment and order under appeal has clearly erred in law in directing preparation of the joint seniority list in terms of Rule 7 of the Rules of 1991. It has further been argued on behalf of the appellants-State authorities that as a matter of fact it is the Government Order dated 24th of July, 2003, prescription of which will govern the exercise of preparation of joint seniority list to be prepared for the purposes of making promotion to the post of Deputy Superintendent of Police. His further submission is that the Government Order dated 24th July, 2003 having been issued in exercise of powers vested in the State Government under Section 2 of the Police Act, 1861 (hereinafter referred to as the ?Act of 1861?) has statutory force and by ignoring the prescriptions available in the said Government Order, learned Single Judge has clearly erred.

6. On the other hand, Sri Bhanu Pratap Singh, learned counsel representing the respondent no.1 submits that in the facts and circumstances of the case as also in the light of the discussions made by learned Single Judge while passing the judgment and order under appeal, no interference in this special appeal is needed, which is liable to be dismissed at its threshold.

7. We have given our anxious consideration to the rival submissions made by learned counsel representing the respective parties.

8. After hearing the learned counsel appearing for the parties and going through the records available before us, the issue which emerges for consideration of the court is as to what is the procedure available for determination of joint seniority list as prescribed in Rule 16 of U.P. Police Service Rules, 2016 (hereinafter referred to as the ?Rules of 2016?) for the purposes of making promotion to the post of Deputy Superintendent of Police.

9. The case put forth by the petitioner-respondent no.1 in the writ petition before learned Single Judge was that he was appointed initially on the post of Sub-Inspector (Armed Police)/Company Commander on 11.11.1986 and thereafter he was promoted on regular basis to the post of Inspector (Armed Police)/Platoon Commander on 24.02.2014. It was pleaded by learned counsel for the petitioner before the learned Single Judge in the writ petition that one Ram Pal Singh was appointed in the year 1990 i.e. four years after the appointment of respondent no.1-petitioner, on the post of Sub-Inspector (Civil Police) and subsequently he was promoted as Inspector (Civil Police) on 12.7.2013. Further case sought to be established by respondent no.1-petitioner before the learned Single Judge was that in July, 2019 a joint seniority list for the purposes of making promotion to the post of Deputy Superintendent of Police which comprised of the Inspectors (Armed Police)/Company Commanders and Inspectors (Civil Police), was prepared where the petitioner was placed below Ram Pal Singh though initial appointment on the post of Sub Inspector of the petitioner was made on 11.11.1986, whereas Ram Pal Singh was appointed initially on the post of Sub Inspector (Civil Police) after four years of his appointment. The respondent no.1-petitioner also pleaded before learned Single Judge with a view to consider the issue relating to the preparation of joint seniority list for the purposes of making promotions to the post of Deputy Superintendent of Police, a Two Members Committee was constituted which has submitted its report on 4.10.2019. According to the said report submitted by the Two Members Committee the joint seniority list was required to be prepared in terms of the provisions contained in Rule 7 of Rules of 1991. The report of the said Committee is on record as Annexure No.2 to the counter affidavit filed by the respondent no.1.

10. In view of the said submissions, prayer made in the writ petition by the respondent no.1 was to issue a direction to the State authorities to quash the joint seniority list issued vide letter dated 22.11.2019 and also the order dated 20.11.2019, whereby the claim of the respondent no.1-petitioner for placing him over and above Ram Pal Singh was rejected.

11. Learned Single Judge while allowing the writ petition by means of the judgment and order under appeal, dated 22.09.2021 has observed that the basis of the joint seniority list which was under challenge in the writ petition, is the Government Order dated 24.07.2003, however, as per the report submitted by the two members committee, dated 4.10.2019 the Government Order dated 24.07.2003 is non-existent and in view of the promulgation of Uttar Pradesh Sub-Inspector and Inspector (Civil Police) Services Rules, 2015 and Uttar Pradesh (Pradeshik Armed Constabulary) Subordinate Officers Service Rules, 2015 the joint seniority list is to be prepared in accordance with Rule 7 of Rules of 1991. In view of the said observation, joint seniority list which was under challenge before learned Single Judge has been quashed and accordingly a direction has been issued to prepare a fresh joint seniority list in accordance with Rule 7 of Rules of 1991.

12. The issue which emerges, as observed above, for our consideration is, as to whether there is any procedure prescribed for the purposes of preparing the joint seniority list as envisaged in Rule 16 of the Rules of 2016 and as to whether while preparing the joint seniority list, which was under challenge before learned Single Judge, such prescription was followed or not.

13. The Rules of 2016 have been framed by the State Government in exercise of its powers conferred on it under Article 309 of the Constitution of India. Rule 5 of the Rules of 2016 provides that there shall be two sources of recruitment to service in the Ordinary Grade. Fifty percent posts are to be filled in by way of direct recruitment through Public Service Commission on the basis of a competitive examination and fifty percent posts in the service in Ordinary Grade is to be filled in by promotion through U.P. Public Service Commission from amongst substantively appointed Inspectors of Civil Police and Inspectors of Armed Police, who have completed five years of service on the first day of their recruitment and are also confirmed in their respective posts. Rule 5 of the Rules of 2016 is quoted hereinunder:

?5. (1) Recruitment to the Service in the Ordinary Grade shall be made from the following sources :-

(i) Fifty percent by direct recruitment through the Commission on the basis of competitive examination.

NOTE-A Combined Competitive Examination is held by the Commission for recruitment to the Uttar Pradesh Civil Service (Executive Branch), Uttar Pradesh Police Service, Uttar Pradesh Finance and Accounts Service etc.

(ii) Fifty percent by promotion through the Commission from amongst substantively appointed Inspectors of Civil Police and Armed Police who have completed five years service as such on the first day of the year of recruitment and are also confirmed in the said Post:

Provided that two percent of the vacancies for a year of recruitment may be filled by out of turn promotion through the Commission on the specific recommendation of the Government from amongst such Police Inspectors/Company Commanders of Uttar Pradesh Police Force who have achieved the following awards :-

(a) After having been selected to the Indian team should have participated in World Championship, either in a team or individual event, which is recognised by the International Olympic Association and should have earned a Gold or Silver or Bronze Medal or up to the fourth place,

(b) After having been selected to the Indian team should have participated in Olympic Games which is recognised by the International Olympic Association and should have earned a Gold or Silver or Bronze Medal or up to the fourth place,

or

(c) After having been selected to the Indian team should have participated in Asian Games/ Asian Championship which is recognized by the International Olympic Association and should have earned a Gold or Silver Medal,

or

(d) If he/she has earned country's highest award or excellence in sports "Arjuna award"/ "Rajeev Gandhi Khel Ratna". If any Inspector of Civil Police or Armed Police qualifies the criterion laid down for promotion in such case then a proposal would be forwarded to the Government by the Director General of Police, Uttar Pradesh with clear recommendation and the out of turn promotion will be awarded by the State Government with the concurrence of the Commission. If such person or sufficient number of such persons are not available for out of turn promotion under this proviso, the remaining vacancies shall be filled in accordance with the general procedure prescribed in this rule.

(2) Recruitment to the posts in Senior Scale, Additional Superintendent of Police, Additional Superintendent of Police, Special Grade-11, Additional Superintendent of Police, Special Grade-I and Additional Superintendent of Police, Higher Grade shall be made by promotion as per provisions of rule 17 of these rules.?

14. The procedure for recruitment by promotion to Ordinary Grade of service under the Rules of 2016 can be found in Rule 16 according to which recruitment by promotion is to be made on the basis of merit in accordance with the provisions contained in Uttar Pradesh Promotion by Selection in Consultation with Public Service Commission (Procedure) Rules, 1970, as amended from time to time from amongst substantively appointed Inspectors of Civil Police and Armed Police as per their joint seniority list to be prepared by the Head of the Department. Rule 16 of the Rules of 2016 is also extracted hereinbelow.

"16. Recruitment by promotion to the Ordinary Grade shall be made on the basis of merit in accordance with the Uttar Pradesh Promotion by Selection in Consultation with Public Services Commission (Procedure) Rules, 1970, as amended from time to time, from amongst substantively appointed Inspectors of Civil Police and Armed Police as per their combined seniority list to be prepared by the Head of Department."

15. Thus, from a perusal of afore-quoted Rule 16 of the Rules of 2016 what we find is that the criteria for making promotion to the post of Deputy Superintendent of Police is the merit and recruitment by promotion is to be considered in terms of the procedure Rules 1970. The zone of consideration for the purposes of making promotion to the post of Deputy Superintendent of Police, according to Rule 16, comprises of the Inspectors of Civil Police and Inspectors Armed Police, that is to say those Sub-Inspectors who are initially appointed as Sub-Inspector (Civil Police) and also those Sub-Inspectors who are initially appointed as Sub Inspector (Armed Police)/Platoon Commander and are subsequently promoted to the post of Inspector (Civil Police) or Inspector (Armed Police)/Company Commander, as the case may be, are eligible to be considered for promotion provided they have put in five years of substantive service on their respective posts of Inspectors and are also confirmed in their respective posts.

16. Rule 16 of the Rules of 2016, thus, speaks about making promotions from combined seniority list to be prepared by the Head of the Department which shall comprise of Inspectors (Civil Police) and Inspectors (Armed Police). Thus there are two feeding cadres which from the the eligibility zone for making promotions to the posts of Deputy Superintendent of Police namely; (1) the cadre of Inspectors (Civil Police) and, (2) cadre of Inspectors (Armed Police)/Company Commander.

17. The Rules of 2016 do not contain any provision or prescription as to how the combined seniority list for the purposes of utilizing the same for making recruitment by way of promotion under the Rules of 2016 is to be prepared. As a matter of fact the phrase 'combined seniority list' occurring in Rule 16 of Rules of 2016 is clearly a misnomer. The list which is mentioned in Rule 16, in fact, would be better described as eligibility list prepared for the purposes of making promotion to the post of Deputy Superintendent of Police which will include the eligible Inspectors coming from both the cadres, namely, Inspectors (Civil Police) and Inspectors (Armed Police). It cannot be termed to be a 'seniority list' in the traditional sense of the word; rather it is an eligibility list as observed above. At the cost of repetition, we may observe that the Rules of 2016 do not provide for any provision as to how the combined seniority list is to be prepared.

18. Thus, it is in this background that we are called uopn to consider the submissions made by learned counsel representing the appellants-State authorities and learned counsel representing the respondent no.1.

19. It has been argued by learned State Counsel representing the appellants that in absence of any statutory prescription available in the Rules of 2016 for the purposes of preparation of 'combined seniority list' as envisaged in Rule 16, such combined seniority list is to be prepared as per the prescriptions available in the Government Order dated 24.07.2003. Submission is that the Government Order dated 24.07.2003 has statutory force as it is referable to the powers of the State Government available to it under Section 2 of the Act of 1861. In this view the submission is that the Government Order dated 24.07.2003 is not an ordinary executive circular or administrative order; rather it is a statutory instrument having been issued under Section 2 of the Act of 1861. Contention, thus, is that in absence of any prescription available in the Rules of 2016 for the purposes of preparation of 'combined seniority list', the said list is to be prepared in terms of the provisions available in Clause 9 of the Government Order dated 24.07.2003.

20. When we examine the said submission advanced by learned counsel appearing for the appellants-State authorities vis-a-vis the findings recorded by learned Single Judge in the judgment and order under appeal, what we find is that the learned Single Judge has observed that on promulgation of the 2015 Service Rules for both the cadres, the Government Order dated 24.07.2003 lost its existence and as such determination of combined seniority list is to be made in accordance with the provisions contained in Rule 7 of the Rules of 1991.

21. For reflecting upon the aforesaid issue, we need to consider the statutory prescriptions governing the conditions of service of members of both the cadres.

22. Prior to the year 2008, recruitment to the post of Sub Inspectors in both the cadres, namely, in the cadre of Civil Police as also in the cadre of Armed Police/P.A.C. used to be made in terms of certain government orders issued which were referable to Section 2 of the Act of 1861, however, in the year 2008, two sets of statutory rules were framed by the State Government which are known as (1) Uttar Pradesh Sub-Inspector and Inspector (Civil Police) Service Rules, 2008 and (2) Uttar Pradesh Pradeshik Armed Constabulary Subordinate Officers Service Rules, 2008. The first set of Rules relating to Sub-Inspectors and Inspectors in Civil Police were framed by the State Government in exercise of its powers conferred on it under Section 46 (3) and 46 (2) (c) read with Section 2 of the Act of 1861, whereas 2008 Service Rules relating to the Subordinate Officers of U.P. Armed Constabulary were made by the State Government in exercise of its powers conferred on it under Section 15 of United Provinces Pradeshik Armed Constabulary Act, 1948. Thus, these two sets of Rules framed in 2008 by the State Government are statutory in nature. The 2008 Service Rules pertaining to Sub-Inspectors and Inspectors (Civil Police) were notified by the State Government on 02.12.2008. The said notification itself states that 2008 Service Rules were framed in supersession of all existing Rules. Similarly the 2008 Service Rules framed by the State Government in respect of the Sub-Inspectors and Inspectors pertaining to equivalent rank officers in the Armed Police/P.A.C. also provides that the said Rules were framed in supersession of all the then existing Rules. Thus, if we read the two notifications issued by the State Government both on 02.12.2008, whereby the two sets of aforesaid 2008 Service Rules were notified, what we find is that on promulgation of those Rules the earlier Rules stood issued in this behalf stood superseded.

23. Subsequently, in supersession of even 2008 Service Rules, the State Government promulgated Uttar Pradesh Sub-Inspector and Inspector (Civil Police) Services Rules, 2015 which were notified in August 19, 2015. Similarly, for the purposes of governing the conditions of service of the Sub-Inspectors and Inspectors (Armed Police)/P.A.C., the State Government promulgated another set of Rules known as Uttar Pradesh (Pradeshik Armed Constabulary) Subordinate Officers Service Rules, 2015 which were notified on August 14, 2015.

24. In the instant case the appointment of the petitioner-respondent no. 1 was made in the year 1986 on the post of Sub-Inspector (Armed Police) and he was promoted to the post of Inspector (Armed Police) on 24.02.2014, whereas the combined seniority list for the purposes of Rule 16 of the Rules of 2016 has been prepared in the year 2019. Thus, so far as the determination of seniority on the post of Inspector separately these two separate cadres is concerned, the provisions of the aforementioned two sets of Service Rules, 2015 will have to be seen.

25. In the Service Rules, 2015 pertaining to Sub-Inspectors and Inspectors (Civil Police) the relevant provision relating to determination of seniority is available in Rule 22 of Rules of 2015. Similarly so far as the determination of seniority of Sub-Inspectors/Inspectors (Armed Police)/P.A.C. is concerned, the relevant Rule available in 2015 Rules and applicable to them is Rule 22.

26. We may make it clear that Rule 22 in both the aforesaid two sets of Rules 2015 does not anywhere speak that determination of seniority in the respective cadres shall be made in accordance with the provisions contained in Rules of 1991, which have been framed under Article 309 of the Constitution of India whereas the aforesaid two sets of Service Rules, 2015 were framed by the State Government by virtue of the powers conferred on its under the Police Act or the United Provinces Pradeshik Armed Constabulary Act, 1948.

27. However, what we further notice is that the Service Rules governing the conditions of service which will include the process of recruitment as well on the post of the Deputy Superintendent of Police have been framed by the State Government under Article 309 of the Constitution of India. The Rules of 2016 clearly do not make any mention that they were framed under the Police Act; rather the notification whereby the Rules of 2016 were notified makes it abundantly clear that the same have been framed by the State Government under the proviso appended to Article 309 of the Constitution of India. Thus, in our considered opinion, any prescription made by the State Government by issuing an executive circular or order which owes its existence to either the Police Act or the P.A.C. Act, 1948 will have no application so far as the regulation of conditions of service of the cadre of Deputy Superintendent of Police is concerned.

28. Having observed as above, what we also notice is that though Rule 16 of the Rules of 2016 envisages preparation of a 'combined seniority list' for the purposes of making promotions to the post of Deputy Superintendent of Police, however, as to what will be the criteria for preparation of the said 'combined seniority list' is not provided in 2016 Rules. Learned State Counsel has also not been able to place any other Government Order, executive circular/statutory Rules which provide for any procedure or criteria for determining the 'combined seniority list' mentioned under Rule 16 of the Rules of 2016 except the Government Order dated 24.07.2003, which, admittedly, has been issued by the State Government under Section 2 of the Act of 1861.

29. An attempt has been made by the learned State Counsel to submit that in fact the entire police force is one having been created under the Police Act and existence of the entire Police Force including the Deputy Superintendent of Police can be traced in the provisions of Police Act and, as such, the Government Order dated 24.07.2003 will have application so far as the determination of 'combined seniority list' for the purposes of making the promotion to the post of Deputy Superintendent of Police is concerned.

30. In his submissions to the extent that entire police force is one, learned State Counsel may be correct, however, for regulating the conditions of service of Deputy Superintendent of Police, no Service Rules have been framed under the Police Act. The Service Rules regulating the conditions of service of the Sub-Inspectors and Inspectors both in Civil Police and Armed Police have been framed under the Police Act and the P.A.C. Act whereas the Rules governing the conditions of service including the recruitment on the post of the Deputy Superintendent of Police have been framed under Article 309 of the Constitution of India. The submission of learned State Counsel may have been correct, had the Rules regulating the conditions of service of Deputy Superintendent of Police been also framed under the Police Act.

31. As already observed above, there is no document on record, statutory or non-statutory, which can be said to throw some light as to how and on what criteria the 'combined seniority list' as envisaged in Rule 16 of the Rules of 2016 is to be prepared. There is no doubt to the submissions made by learned counsel representing the appellants that it is general law acceptable to all canons of service jurisprudence that the seniority of any government employee is to be reckoned from the date of his substantive appointment, however, for the purposes of preparing the 'combined seniority list' in terms of the requirement of Rule 16 of 2016 Rules no prescription is available. What we notice in this case is that the respondent no.1-petitioner was appointed on the post of Sub-Inspector four years ahead of the appointment of one Ram Pal Singh, who has been shown to be senior in the 'combined seniority list' which was under challenge before the learned Single Judge. Despite having been appointed on the initial post prior in time if a government employee faces reduced chances of promotion, it may cause some heart burning. In this case the respondent no.1-petitioner was placed below an incumbent belonging to a different cadre who was appointed on the initial post after him which may give rise to some anomalous situation, however, all this lies in the realm of policy decision in respect of which is to be taken by the Government.

32. In the light of the discussions made above, what this court finds is that unless and until the State Government provides for some objective criteria for the purposes of preparing the 'combined seniority list' as envisaged in Rule 16 of the Rules of 2016, which can more appropriately be described as 'eligibility list for the purpose of promotion', there will always be chances of there being a grey area which may not be conducive to proper cadre management.

33. As far as the judgment rendered by learned Single Judge, which is under appeal herein is concerned, the learned Single Judge has though found that the Government Order dated 24.07.2003 is non-existent after promulgation of two sets of 2015 Service Rules, however, learned Single Judge has further proceeded to give a direction to prepare the joint seniority list in terms of Rule 7 of the Rules of 1991.

34. We are unable to agree with the said directions given by learned Single Judge vide judgment and order under challenge herein. U.P. Government Service Seniority Rules, 1991 have been framed under Article 309 of the Constitution of India, thus will have full application for the purposes of determination of seniority on the post of Deputy Superintendent of Police, however, in the instant case the seniority on the post of Deputy Superintendent of Police or even on the post of Inspector (Civil Police) or on the post of Inspector (Armed Police) is not to be reckoned; rather what needs to be prepared is the 'combined seniority list' for the purposes of making promotions on the post of Deputy Superintendent of Police in terms of Rule 16 of the Rules of 2016.

35. Rule 7 of Rules of 1991 is extracted hereinbelow:

"(7). Where according to the service rules, appointments are to be made only by promotion but from more than one feeding cadres, the seniority inter se of persons appointed on the result of any one selection shall be determined according to the date of the order of their substantive appointment in their respective feeding cadres.

Explanation:- Where the order of the substantive appointment in the feeding cadre specifies a particular back date with effect from which a person is substantively appointed, that date will be deemed to be the date of order of substantive appointment and, in other cases it will meant the date of issuance of the order:

Provided that where the pay scales of the feeding cadres are different, the persons promoted from the feeding cadre having higher pay scale shall be senior to the persons promoted from the feeding cadre having lower pay scale:

Provided further that the persons appointed on the result of a subsequent selection shall be junior to the persons appointed on the result of a previous selection.?

36. The afore-quoted Rule 7 of the Rules of 1991 provides for the procedure as to how the seniority is to be determined in a situation where appointment on a particular post is made by promotion from several feeding cadres that is to say Rule 7 will have an application for the purposes of determination of seniority once the promotion from the feeding cadres is made. In this case Rule 7 of the Rules of 1991 will have application only once promotion to the post of Deputy Superintendent of Police is made from the two feeding cadres, namely the cadre of Inspectors (Civil Police) and the cadre of Inspectors (Armed Police) and thereafter seniority list is to be determined on the post of Deputy Superintendent of Police. Rule 7 is thus available and applicable for the purposes of determining the seniority once the promotion is made and not prior to that. The seniority list to be prepared under the Government Servant Seniority Rules is not to be confused by the 'combined seniority list' which phrase occurs in Rule 16 of the Rules of 2016.

37. In view of the aforesaid discussions, we are of the considered opinion that Rule 7 of Rules of 1991 does not have any application for the purposes of preparation of the 'combined seniority list' as envisaged under Rule 16 of the Rules of 2016.

38. For the reasons aforesaid, we are unable to agree with the judgment and order passed by learned Single Judge, dated 22.09.2021, in Writ Petition No.34799 (SS) of 2019.

39. The Special Appeal is, thus, allowed and the said judgment passed by learned Single Judge is hereby set aside.

40. We, however, while allowing the special appeal, also direct the State Government to consider framing of some objective criteria for the purposes of preparation of combined seniority list to be prepared as per the requirement of Rule 16 of the Rules of 2016 for making promotion to the Ordinary Grade of service as described in the Uttar Pradesh Police Service Rules, 2016. The said criteria shall be framed by the State Government within a period of two months from the date a certified copy of this order is furnished. The necessary exercise for promotion to the post of Deputy Superintendent of Police shall be undertaken thereafter.

41. There will be no order as to costs.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Ajit Kumar, J.)

1. Heard Sri Samir Sharma, learned counsel for the petitioner, Sri Avijit Saxena, learned Advocate holding brief of Sri A.K.Saxena, learned counsel for the respondent.

2. By means of present writ petition filed under Article 226 of the Constitution, petitioner has challenged the order dated 16th July, 2019 whereby his representation regarding claim for promotion from class IV post to class III post of book clerk has come to be disposed of rejecting his claim.

3. Assailing the above order impugned in the present petition, learned Senior Advocate has argued that on the date of the meeting of the Departmental Promotion Committee which was 24th November, 2017, there was no adverse entry in the character roll of the present petitioner and so he was eligible to be considered for promotion.

4. In support of his above argument, learned Senior Advocate submits that prior to year 2016-17 whatever adverse entries were awarded to the petitioner that had stood expunged vide orders dated 12th January 2016 and 26th December, 2016 respectively, and in so far as adverse entry of the year 2016 -17 is concerned, he had already represented against the same before the competent authority on 17.05.2017 and since no decision was taken by the competent authority within the period prescribed for disposal of the representation of the employee, the said entry under the U.P.Government Servants(Disposal of Representation Against Adverse Annual Confidential Reports and Allied Matters) Rules, 1995 (hereinafter referred to as Rules, 1995), would loose its relevance and significance for the purposes of consideration of promotion under Rule 5 of the said Rues.

5. Learned counsel for the petitioner has taken the Court to the circular letter of the U.P. Transport Corporation , Lucknow dated 13th November, 1997, which records that Board of Directors of the Corporation in its 137th meeting dated 11.06.1996 had adopted the Rules, 1995. Thus argument is that once the rules have been made applicable to the employees of the U.P. Transport Corporation, representation made against the adverse entry was liable to be disposed of as per Rule 4 read with Rule, 5,6 and 7 of the aforesaid Rules.

6. It is submitted that Rule 5 provides that in the event representation against the adverse entry is not disposed of in accordance with law vide Rule 4, such report shall not be treated adverse for the purposes of promotion/crossing of efficiency bar/ or other service benefits to the concern employee.

7. Thus, submission of learned counsel for the petitioner is that adverse remarks / entries made in the year 2016-17 having been represented against and the said representation having not been disposed of in terms of Rule 4 of Rules, 1995, the claim for promotion of the petitioner could not have been ignored by the Departmental Promotion Committee while it considered the candidature of the employees for promotion from Class IV to Class III posts on 24.11.2017.

8. Mr. Sharma appearing for petitioner has also submitted that the order impugned has proceeded on the premise that 33 employees were in-excess of sanctioned posts and, therefore, consideration of petitioner's candidature would not be possible, which according to him, is absolutely misplaced and misconceived stand. He argues that seniority of the petitioner in the class IV cadre is not disputed and even in the year of promotion of 2017 persons junior to the petitioner have been promoted. He therefore, submits that had the petitioner's candidature been considered for promotion in time, he would have been placed above 33 marks of surplus employees in the book clerk's cadre.

9. Specific averments in support of the argument so above advanced, have been made in paragraph 21, 22, 23, 24, 25, 30, 31, 32, 34 and 39. The order expunging entries of the year 2014-15 and 2015-16 and again 2016-17 have been brought on record. Promotion orders giving promotion to the juniors have also been brought on record.

10. Learned counsel for the contesting respondent could not dispute the above submissions. Counter affidavit that has been filed does not contain any specific denial of what has been averred in paragraphs 21 and 22 of the writ petition with regard to the adverse entry and so far denial to paragraph 31 is concerned, he submits that 30 posts were held in-excess but the fact that 39 juniors to the petitioner have been promoted to the post of Clerk, has not been denied even while giving promotion to various class IV employees. One single tune that the respondents have been harping about is that there were adverse entries against he petitioner on relevant dates of consideration but what would the effect if entries have been expunged, on this point the counter affidavit is silent.

11. The fact that 151 candidates who were junior to the petitioner have been promoted is also not specifically denied. The averments made in paragraph 34 that petitioner would be placed above Umesh Chandra Pandey at serial number 101 and thus would be falling within the sanctioned strength, is also not denied. Respondents have also not denied the circular letter-cum-order dated 13th November, 1997 adopting Rules 1995

12. After going through various documents brought on record, pleadings raised by the respective parties in the present case, I find the only issue to be adjudicated is as to whether petitioner's candidature was liable to be considered on 24.11.2017 .

13. In order to appreciate the controversy, it would be proper to produce Rules 3, 4 and 5 of 1995 Rules. These provisions are quoted as under:

3. Definitions. - Unless there is anything repugnant in the subject or context, the expression-

(a) "appropriate authority" means a person who is empowered by the Government to act as reporting authority, reviewing authority or accepting authority, as the case may be;

(d) "Government Servant" means a person working on a post under the rule making powers of the Governor under the proviso to Article 309 of Constitution other than a post under control of the High Court;

(e) "report" means annual confidential report regarding the work, conduct and integrity of a Government Servant for each year recorded by an appropriate authority, who has seen the performance of the Government servant for not less than a continuous period of three months;

(f) "Secretariat" means the Secretariat of the Government;

(g) "Year" means a period of twelve months commencing from the first day of April of a calendar year.

4. Communication of adverse report and procedure for disposal of representation. - *(1) Where a report in respect of a Government Servant is adverse or critical, wholly or in part, hereinafter referred to as adverse report, the whole of the report shall be communicated in writing to the Government Servant concerned by the accepting authority or by an officer not below the rank of reporting authority nominated in this behalf by the accepting authority, within a period of 45 days from the date of recording the report and a certificate to this effect shall be recorded in the report. (2) A Government Servant may, within a period of 45 days from the date of communication of adverse report under sub-rule (1), represent in writing directly and also through proper channel to the authority one rank above the accepting authority, hereinafter referred to as the competent authority, and if there is no competent authority, to the accepting authority itself, against the adverse report so communicated: Provided that if the competent authority or the accepting authority, as the case may be, is satisfied that the Government Servant concerned *had sufficient cause for not submitting the representation within the said period, he may allow a further period of 45 days for submission of such representation. (3) The competent authority or accepting authority as the case may be, shall, within a period not exceeding one week from the date of receipt of the representation under sub-rule (2), transmit the representation to the appropriate authority, who has recorded the adverse report, for his comments, who shall, within a period not exceeding 45 days from the date of receipt of the representation, furnish his comments to the competent authority or the accepting authority as the case may be : Provided that no such comments shall be required if the appropriate authority has ceased to be in, or has retired from, the service or is under suspension before sending his comments. (4) The competent authority or the accepting authority, as the case may be, shall, within a period of 120 days from the date of expiry of 45 days specified in sub-rule (3), consider the representation along with the comments of the appropriate authority, and if no comments have been received without waiting for the comments, and pass speaking orders-

(a) rejecting the representation; or

(b) expunging the adverse report wholly or partly as he considers proper.

(5) Where the competent authority due to any administrative reasons, is unable to dispose of the representation within the period specified in sub-rule (4), he shall report in this regard to his higher authority, who shall pass such orders as he considers proper for ensuring disposal of the representation within the specified period. (6) An order passed under sub-rule (4) shall be communicated in writing to the Government Servant concerned. (7) Where an order expunging the adverse report is passed under sub-rule (4), the competent authority or the accepting authority as the case may be shall omit the report so expunged. (8) The order passed under sub-rule (4) shall be final. (9) Where any matter for-

(i) communication of an adverse report;

(ii) representation against an adverse report;

(iii) transmission of representation to the appropriate authority for his comments;

(iv) comments of the appropriate authority; or

(v) disposal of representation against an adverse report; is pending on the date of the commencement of these rules, such matters shall be dealt with and disposed of within the period prescribed therefor under this rule.

Explanation. - In computing the period prescribed under this rule for any matters specified in this sub-rule the period already expired on the date of the commencement of these rules shall not be taken into account.

5. Report not to be treated adverse. - Except as provided in Rule 56 of the Uttar Pradesh Fundamental Rules contained in Financial Handbook Volume II, Parts II to IV.* Where an adverse report is not communicated or a representation against an adverse report has not been disposed of in accordance with Rule 4, such report shall not be treated adverse for the purposes of promotion, crossing of Efficiency Bar and other service matters of the Government Servant concerned.

14. From bare reading of the aforesaid Rules , it is clear that moment representation against the adverse entry awarded is made the appropriate authority shall forward the same to the higher competent authority within 45 days alongwith his comments and upon receiving of the same within 120 days, the competent authority would either accept the comments so made or if no comment is made ,shall pass speaking order either rejecting the application or expunging the adverse entry.

15. Thus in any case, representation has to be disposed of within 165 days plus 7 days (period to forward representation) i.e. 72 days.

16. In this case admittedly representation was made on 22.5.2017 and that remained undisposed of admittedly until 24.11.2017. According to the relevant provisions (supra) the period is 172 days and so would expire on 09.11.2017.

17. Now it is necessary to examine that what will be the impact of such adverse entry in case Departmental Promotion Committee sits in the meanwhile and decides to consider the candidature of various candidates for promotion.

18. From the aforesaid Rule, it is clear that if representation remains undisposed of beyond the period prescribed for its disposal, then such adverse entry would not be a bar for the purposes of consideration for promotion.

19. Thus in my considered view since other past adverse entries had already stood expunged vide orders dated 12th January 2016 and 26.12.2016 and statutory period of 172 days had expired on 09.11.2017, nothing restrained the then Departmental Promotion Committee that sat on 24.11.2017 from considering the candidature of the petitioner for promotion. Admittedly persons junior to the petitioner have come to be promoted on 5.12.2017 as averred in paragraph 38 of the writ petition which has been very vaguely denied.

20. It is settled legal position that while right to promotion may not be fundamental right but right to be considered for promotion in accordance with service rules, is a fundamental right and any discrimination in such a matter would be hit by Article 14 of the Constitution of India. In a very recent judgment of the Supreme Court in the case of Ajay Kumar Shukla and Others v. Arvind Rai and Others in Civil Appeal No. 5966 of 2021 and other connected matters decided on 08th December, 2021 the Court referred to a number of decisions on this point vide paragraph nos. 37, 38 and 39 These paragraphs run as under:

"37. This Court, time and again, has laid emphasis on right to be considered for promotion to be a fundamental right, as was held by K. Ramaswamy, J., in the case of Director, Lift Irrigation Corporation Ltd. and Others vs. Pravat Kiran Mohanty and Others6 in paragraph 4 of the report which is reproduced below:

"4... There is no fundamental right to promotion, but an employee has only right to be considered for promotion, when it arises, in accordance with relevant rules. From this perspective in our view the conclusion of the High Court that the gradation list prepared by the corporation is in violation of the right of respondent/writ petitioner to equality enshrined under Article 14 read with Article 16 of the Constitution, and the respondent/writ petitioner was unjustly denied of the same is obviously unjustified.

38. A Constitution Bench in case of Ajit Singh vs. State of Punjab7, laying emphasis on Article 14 and Article 16(1) of the Constitution of India held that if a person who satisfies the eligibility and the criteria for promotion but still is not considered for promotion, then there will be clear violation of his/her's fundamental right. Jagannadha Rao,J. speaking for himself and Anand, CJI., Venkataswami, Pattanaik, Kurdukar, JJ., observed the same as follows in paragraphs 21 and 22 and 27:

22: Article 14 and Article 16(1) are closely connected. They deal with individual rights of the person. Article 14 demands that the "State shall not deny to any person equality before the law or the equal protection of the laws". Article 16(1) issues a positive command that "there shall be equality of opportunity for all citizens in matters relating to employment or appointment to any office under the State".

It has been held repeatedly by this Court that clause (1) of Article 16 is a facet of Article 14 and that it takes its roots from Article 14. The said clause particularises the generality in Article 14 and identifies, in a constitutional sense "equality of opportunity in matters of employment and appointment to any office under the State. The word "employment" being wider, there is no dispute that it takes within its fold, the aspect of promotions to posts above the stage of initial level of recruitment. Article 16(1) provides to every employee otherwise eligible for promotion or who comes within the zone of consideration, a fundamental right to be "considered" for promotion. Equal opportunity here means the right to be "considered" for promotion. If a person satisfies the eligibility and zone criteria but is not considered for promotion, then there will be a clear infraction of his fundamental right to be "considered" for promotion, which is his personal right. "Promotion based on equal opportunity and seniority attached to such promotion are facets of fundamental right under Article 16(1)

27. In our opinion, the above view expressed in Ashok Kumar Gupta and followed in Jagdish Lal and other cases, if it is intended to lay down that the right guarantee to employees for being "considered" for promotion according to relevant rules of recruitment by promotion (i.e. whether on the basis of seniority or merit) is only a statutory right and not a fundamental right, we cannot accept the proposition. We have already stated earlier that the right to equal opportunity in the matter of promotion in the sense of a right to be "considered" for promotion is indeed a fundamental right guaranteed under Article 16(1) and this has never been doubted in any other case before Ashok Kumar Gupta right from 1950."

39. This Court in Major General H.M. Singh, VSM vs. UOI and Another 8 , again reiterated the legal position, i.e. right to be considered for promotion as a fundamental right enshrined under Article 14 and Article 16 of the Constitution of India. The relevant extract from paragraph 28 is reproduced below:

"28. The question that arises for consideration is, whether the non-consideration of the claim of the appellant would violate the fundamental rights vested in him under Articles 14 and 16 of the Constitution of India. The answer to the aforesaid query would be in the affirmative, subject to the condition that the respondents were desirous of filling the vacancy of Lieutenant-General, when it became available on 1-1-2007. The factual position depicted in the counter-affidavit reveals that the respondents indeed were desirous of filling up the said vacancy. In the above view of the matter, if the appellant was the senior most serving Major-General eligible for consideration (which he undoubtedly was), he most definitely had the fundamental right of being considered against the above vacancy, and also the fundamental right of being promoted if he was adjudged suitable. Failing which, he would be deprived of his fundamental right of equality before the law, and equal protection of the laws, extended by Article 14 of the Constitution of India. We are of the view that it was in order to extend the benefit of the fundamental right enshrined under Article 14 of the Constitution of India, that he was allowed extension in service on two occasions, firstly by the Presidential Order dated 29-2-2008, and thereafter, by a further Presidential Order dated 30-5-2008. The above orders clearly depict that the aforesaid extension in service was granted to the appellant for a period of three months (and for a further period of one month), or till the approval of the ACC, whichever is earlier. By the aforesaid orders, the respondents desired to treat the appellant justly, so as to enable him to acquire the honour of promotion to the rank of Lieutenant-General (in case the recommendation made in his favour by the Selection Board was approved by the Appointments Committee of the Cabinet, stands affirmed). The action of the authorities in depriving the appellant due consideration for promotion to the rank of the Lieutenant-General would have resulted in violation of his fundamental right under Article 14 of the Constitution of India. Such an action at the hands of the respondents would unquestionably have been arbitrary."

Speaking for the bench, his lordship Hon'ble Justice Vikram Nath vide paragraph 40 has observed thus:

"40. If the seniority list is allowed to be sustained then the engineers who are more meritorious in the Mechanical and Civil streams than the Junior Engineers of the Agricultural stream would be deprived of their right of being considered for promotion and in fact their right would accrue only after all the Junior Engineers of the Agricultural stream selected in the same selection are granted promotion. For these reasons also the seniority list in question must go."

22. Besides above, the Court is of the considered view that merely because there was excess number of booking clerks than the sanctioned posts, this by itself should not have been a ground to deny promotion to the petitioner when juniors to the petitioner had come to be promoted by the Departmental Promotion Committee vide its resolution dated 24.11.2017. Petitioner's candidature certainly fell within the zone of consideration of promotion on 24.11.2017 and the respondent seriously erred in law in ignoring the claim of the petitioner just because his representation against adverse entry had remained undisposed of. Thus the order impugned denying claim of promotion to the petitioner is absolutely unsustainable and is vitiated for arbitrary and discriminatory approach of the authorities.

23. Article 14 of the Constitution provides for not only equality before law but also equal protection of laws. The fundamental right to be considered for promotion as discussed above indicates at ruling out any kind of approach by an employer that leads to discrimination. One must understand that not only by express act but even where by conduct discrimination crepts in, it is an arbitrariness on the part of employeer because whatever is arbitrary, discriminatory and unreasonable is violative of the Article 14 and 21 of the Constitution of India.

24. In the case of Maneka Gandhi v. Union of India and Another, AIR 1978 SC 597 vide 56 the Constitution Bench has held thus:

"56. Now, the question immediately arises as to what is the requirement of Article 14 : what is the content and reach of the great equalising principle enunciated in this article ? There can be no doubt that it is a founding faith of the Constitution. It is indeed the pillar on which rests securely the foundation of our democratic republic. And, therefore, it must not be subjected to a narrow, pedantic or lexicographic approach._ No attempt should be made to truncate its all embracing scope and meaning for, to do so would be to violate its activist magnitude. Equality is a dynamic concept with many aspects and dimensions and it cannot be imprisoned Within traditional and doctrinaire limits. We must reiterate here what was pointed out by the majority in E. P. Royappa v. State of Tamil Nadu & Another (1) namely, that "from a positivistic point of view, equality is antithetic to arbitrariness. In fact equality and arbitrariness are sworn enemies; one belongs to the rule of law in a republic, while the other, to the whim and caprice of an absolute monarch. Where an act is arbitrary, it is implicit in it that it is unequal both according to political logic and constitutional law and is therefore violative of Article 14". Article 14 strikes, at arbi- trariness in State action and ensures fairness and equality of treatment. The principle of reasonableness, which legally as well as philosophically, is an essential element of equality or non-arbitrariness pervades Article 14 like a brooding omnipresence and the procedure contemplated by Article 21 must answer the best of reasonableness in order to be in conformity with Article 14. It must be "'right and just and fair" and not arbitrary, fanciful or oppressive; otherwise, it would be no procedure at all and the requirement of Article 21 would not be satisfied. How far natural justice is air essential element of procedure established by law

25. In Service jurisprudence where we refer employer employee relationship to be governed by contract of employment, it is embedded in such contract that all service benefits to which under his contract of employment and the relevant service rules, an employee is entitled, same shall be conferred upon him without discrimination.

26. Every establishment, be it government or non government, runs on its workforce that are employed at various stages i.e. Labour , technical hand, office work, administration/management that form very important components of entire machinery like quartz in a watch that are though made of very common materials put while placed under mechanical stress maintain a precise frequency standard. Those who run administration of an establishment are under an obligation to ensure that workforce is properly placed and taken good care of to get from them the maximum output. They are at the bottom but if duly raised looking to their eligibility and utility, these employees will give their maximum to the establishment. The success story of every establishment shows that it has been able to maintain high quality and standard of work.

27. Annual increments, increments on crossing the efficiency bar, Assured Career Progression and promotion are all aimed at maintaining the requisite vigour that would make establishments achieving their objectives with which that have come into existence. It is duty of those who are at highest echelon of the establishment to ensure that work force is not treated like a herd of sheep, instead it be duly treated and honoured as horsepower, necessary to make establishments move on. Stagnation, unnecessary harassment, discrimination if meted out to the employees forcing them to unnecessary litigation, the system will stand forced to bleed discontent and corruption. Employees if adopt such attitude and become indifferent, then top boses of the establishment are only to be blamed.

28. The petitioner in the present case has certainly been wholly illegally discriminated against for not being considered for promotion by the Departmental Promotion Committee while it considered promotion from Class IV posts to class III posts on 24.11.2017.

29. In the case of U.P. State Electricity Board and Another v. Kharak Singh and Another, R.K.Singh v. State of U.P. and Others and recently and in the case of Ramesh Kumar v. Union of India and Others, Supreme Court has considered the issue of giving consequential benefits to an employee who had been wholly illegally denied promotion and had been made junior to his juniors in the establishment for the fault of authorities.

30. Going through three judgments referred to hereinabove following three principles emerge:

a. adverse reports if are expunged or if not as per the rules, and the time has run out for affirming or rejecting the same by the authority as in the present case, the same shall not be a reason to deny promotion;

b. once adverse entry has come to be expunged may be from a subsequent date such employee would be entitled to service benefits w.e.f the date, it had become due; and

c. principle of "no work no pay" is not applicable in cases where an employee has been denied promotion for no fault of his own. So not only seniority has to be restored giving promotion to him from the date his juniors have been promoted with all consequential monetary benefits to which such employee would have been otherwise entitled, had he been promoted in time but also all other consequential benefits should be conferred with retrospective effect upon such an employee

31. In my considered view, aforesaid three principles enunciated in the judgments of the Supreme Court (supra) are fully attracted and applicable to the petitioner's case in hand.

32. In view of above, this petition succeeds and is allowed. The order dated 16.07.2019 passed by the Regional Manager, U.P. Transport Corporation, Kanpur, annexure 11 to the writ petition, is hereby quashed.

33. Respondent concerned is directed to constitute a Departmental Promotion Committee to consider promotion of the petitioner w.e.f. the date juniors to the petitioner have been promoted, with all consequential benefits and pass orders accordingly.

34. The above task as directed hereinabove, shall be accomplished by the concerned respondent authority within a period of two months from the date of production of certified copy of the order.

ORIGINAL JURISDICTION
CIVIL SIDE

BEFORE

THE HON'BLE MRS. MANJU RANI CHAUHAN, J.

Writ-A No. 4183 of 2022

Pramod Kumar Shukla & Anr. ...Petitioners
Versus
The State of U.P. & Ors. ...Respondents

Counsel for the Petitioners:
Sri Satyam Pandey, Sri R.K. Ojha (Sr. Adv.)

C.S.C., Sri Manas Bhargava

A. Service Law – UP Lokayukta and Up-Lokayuktas Act, 1975 – Sections 12(4) & 17(2) – Recommendation for punishment – Jurisdiction of Lokayukta under the Act – Challenge to the recommendation of Lokayukta – Permissibility – Interference by the court, when warranted – Held, the Lokayukta has rightly recommended the punishment of the petitioners by passing the order dated 22.09.2021. No order or proceeding of the Lokayukta can be challenged, reviewed, canceled or questioned in any court unless it has been passed without jurisdiction. (Para 15)

B. Service – Departmental enquiry – Charge-sheet – Scope of interference by the court – Principle laid down – Held, the law is that the Courts are not to grant stay/quash the disciplinary proceedings nor they should go into the correctness or otherwise of the charges leveled in the charge-sheet and the departmental inquiry should be allowed to continue uninterrupted to come to its natural conclusion – In some very rare and exceptional cases the High Court can quash a charge-sheet or show-cause notice if it is found to be wholly without jurisdiction or for some other reason if it is wholly illegal – However, ordinarily the High Court should not interfere in such a matter.(Para 24 and 26)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Mrs. Manju Rani Chauhan, J.)

1. Heard Mr. R.K. Ojha, Senior Advocate assisted by Mr. Satyam Pandey, learned counsel for the petitioners, Mr. Manas Bhargava, learned counsel for the respondent no.2 and Mr. Aseem Mukherjee, learned Standing Counsel for the State-respondents.

2. This writ petition has been filed by the petitioners with the following prayer:-

"(A) Issue a writ, order or direction in nature of Certiorari quashing the impugned orders passed by the Lokayukt respondent no.2 dated 22.09.2021 (Annexure no.5 to this writ petition) and the charge sheet issued by the Additional Deputy Commissioner of Police, Headquarter Commissionerate, Kanpur Nagar respondent no.4 dated 22.01.2022 (Annexure no.6 to this writ petition).

(B) Issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of mandamus commanding and directing for restraining the respondent not to proceed in pursuance of the charge sheet dated 22.01.2022 issued on the basis of the order of the Lokayukt dated 2.09.2021.

(C) Issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of mandamus commanding and directing the respondents authority to not interfere in the peaceful working of the petitioners."

3. Learned counsel for the petitioners submits that the petitioner no.1, namely, Pramod Kumar Shukla was selected as Sub-Inspector in the year 1998 and, thereafter, was promoted as Inspector on 26.01.2015. The petitioner no.2, namely, Pramod Kumar Yadav was selected as Constable in the year 1998 and, thereafter, was promoted as Sub-Inspector in the year 2013. Both the petitioners have been performing their duties up to the satisfaction of their superior. He further submits that the petitioner nos.1&2 were posted as Inspector and Sub-Inpector in P.S.- Chakeri at the time when the incident in question took place. One Mr. Samar Singh moved an application before the Additional City Magistrate-II (hereinafter referred as ACM-II) on Tehsil Diwas on 03.04.2018 with respect to removal of certain articles like cattle etc. and animals lying in their property. Pursuant to which, the ACM-II directed Revenue Inspector to conduct an inquiry with the help of concerned Station House Officer (SHO) and do the needful. On the said direction, the Lekhpal of the area submitted a report dated 05.04.2018, on the basis of which Mr. Samar Singh moved another application on 10.04.2018, on which the ACM-II passed an order directing Inspector Chakeri to provide security force for removal of the illegal encroachment upon the property in question, in order to maintain peace. The Lekhpal as well as complainant Mr. Samer Singh went to the Inspector, i.e. petitioner no.1, who in turn directed to petitioner no.2 to provide necessary force. On the aforesaid direction, the petitioner no.2 visited at the spot with the requisite force and found that there was no disturbance, therefore, the petitioners did not do anything for removing the encroachment.

4. Learned counsel for the petitioners further submits that it was the duty of the Revenue Officer to perform the duty of removing the illegal encroachment upon the property in question and the petitioners have nothing to do with the aforesaid task. The petitioners were responsible for maintaining peace over the area and since no incident took place, therefore, it cannot be said that the petitioners had not performed their duty.

5. Subsequently, the complainant/opposite party approached this Court by means of filing a writ petition bearing Writ-C No.15753 of 2018, which was dismissed by order dated 01.05.2018 with a direction to the petitioner therein to approach the Civil Court where the litigation in respect to the matter is already pending or move an application under Section 145 of Cr.P.C. In stead of proceeding as directed by the aforesaid order dated 01.05.2018, the opposite party moved an application before the Lokayukt, Lucknow, who proceeded as per the provision of Uttar Pradesh Lokayukta and Up-Lokayuktas Act, 1975 (hereinafter referred as "the Act 1975").

6. Thereafter, on the complaint of Mr. Samar Singh, three members committee was constituted, which submitted its report on 22.11.2018. On the basis of which, notices were issued to the petitioners, who submitted their reply. Surprisingly, the Lokayukta, without noticing the fact that the petitioners have performed their duties maintaining peace pursuant to the order of ACM-II by providing requisite police force, passed the order dated 22.09.2021 recommending for awarding of major punishment to the petitioners. On the basis of the aforesaid recommendation, disciplinary proceedings has been initiated against the petitioners and the charge sheet has been given to them on 22.01.2022.

7. Learned counsel for the petitioners further submits that the order/direction of Lokayukta for awarding major punishment to the petitioners is not sustainable in the eyes of law as the Lokayukta can only recommend for punishment but cannot define as to what punishment has to be awarded. The order dated 22.09.2021 passed by the Lokayukta is patently erroneous, illegal and arbitrary as the same has been passed ignoring the fact that the petitioners have performed their duties of providing police force and maintaining peace over the area in question. The charge sheet so submitted is bad as the same has been submitted without considering the reply of the petitioners and is based on the recommendation of the Lokayukta, the report submitted by the Lekhpal as well as order of ACM-II. Hence the impugned orders 22.09.2021 and 22.01.2022 cannot sustained in the eyes of law, therefore, the same are liable to be set aside by this Court.

8. On the other hand, Mr. Manas Bhargava, learned counsel for the respondent no.2 submits that as per Section 12 of the Act, 1975, if, after investigation of any action in respect of any complaint involving a grievance has been made, the Lokayukta or an Up-Lokayukta is satisfied that such action has resulted in injustice or undue hardship to the complainant or any other person, he shall by a report in writing recommend to the public servant and the competent authority concerned that such injustice or undue hardship shall be remedied or redressed in such manner and within such time as may be specified in the report.

9. Mr. Bhargava further submits that if, after investigation of any action in respect of which a complaint involving an allegation has been made, the Lokayukta or an Up-Lokayukta is satisfied that such allegation can be substantiated either wholly or partly, he shall by report in writing communicate his findings and recommendation alongwith the relevant documents, materials and other evidence to the competent authority. The competent authority shall examine the report so forwarded to it and intimate within three months of the date of receipt of the report, the Lokayukta or, as the case may be, the Up-Lokayukta, the action taken or proposed to be taken on the basis of the report. Section 12 (4) of the Uttar Pradesh Lokayukta and Up-Lokayuktas Act, 1975 reads as under:-

"(4) The competent authority shall examine the report forwarded to it under sub-section (3) and intimate within three months of the date of receipt of the report, the Lokayukta or, as the case may be, the Up-Lokayukta, the action taken or proposed to be taken on the basis of the report."

In view of the aforesaid, the Lokayukta, in the present case, has recommended for punishment of the petitioners.

10. Mr. Bhargava further submits that as per Section 17(2) of the Act 1975, no proceedings of the Lokayukta or the Up-Lokayukta shall be held bad for want of form and except on the ground of jurisdiction, no proceedings or decision of the Lokayukta or the Up-Lokayukta shall be liable to be challenged, reviewed, quashed or called in question in any Court.

11. On the cumulative strength of the aforesaid, learned Standing Counsel as well as counsel for the respondent no.2 submits that the order passed by Lokayukta dated 22.09.2021 is only a recommendation, therefore, no interference is required by this Court and also the aforesaid order cannot be challenged as per Section 17(2) of the 1975 Act.

12. Apart from the above, learned Standing Counsel as well as counsel for the respondent no.2 submits that ordinarily a writ petition does not lie against a charge-sheet or show-cause notice for the reason that it does not give rise to any cause of action. It does not amount to an adverse order which affects the right of any party unless the same has been issued by a person who has no jurisdiction to do so. In support of their submission, they relied upon the judgment of the Apex Court in the case of Secretary, Ministry of Defence & Others VS. Prabhash Chandra Mishra reported in (2012) 11 SCC, 565. In view of the aforesaid, they submits that no interference is called for by this Court in exercise of powers under Article 226 of the Constitution of India. Hence, the present writ petition is liable to be dismissed. Hence, the present writ petition is liable to be quashed.

13. This Court has considered the submissions as urged by learned counsel for the parties as well as gone through the entire materials brought on record.

14. It would be relevant to refer Section 17 (2) of the Uttar Pradesh Lokayukta and Up-Lokayuktas Act, 1975, which read as under:-

"17. Protection. -.....

(2) No proceedings of the Lokayukta or the Up-Lokayukta shall be held bad for want of form and except on the ground of jurisdiction, no proceedings or decision of the Lokayukta or the Up-Lokayukta shall be liable to be challenged, reviewed, quashed or called in question in any Court."

15. From perusal of the record it comes out that the Lokayukta has rightly recommended the punishment of the petitioners by passing the order dated 22.09.2021. No order or proceeding of the Lokayukta can be challenged, reviewed, canceled or questioned in any court unless it has been passed without jurisdiction.

16. So far as challenge made by the learned counsel for the petitioners to the impugned charge-sheet is concerned, it is necessary for this Court to refer judgement of the Apex Court in the case of State of U.P. vs. Shri Brahm Datt Sharma and another [reported in AIR 1987 SC 943), wherein the Apex Court has held that when a show-cause notice was issued to a government servant under the statutory provisions calling upon him to show cause, ordinarily the government servant must place his case before the authority concerned by showing cause and the courts should be reluctant to interfere with the notice at that stage unless the notice is shown to have been issued palpably without any authority of law. The purpose of issuing show cause is to afford opportunity of hearing to the government servant and once cause is shown it is open to the Government to consider the matter in the light of the facts and submissions placed by the government servant and only thereafter a final decision in the matter could be taken. Interference by the Court before that stage would be premature.

17. The Apex Court in the case of State of H.P. Vs. B.C. Thakur reported in 1994 SCC (L&S), in paragraph nos. 3 and 4 has held as follows: -

"(3) HAVING heard learned counsel for the parties, we are satisfied that in the facts and circumstances of the case, the impugned order of the Tribunal quashing the order of respondents suspension does not call for any interference, even though the other part of the Tribunals order quashing the charge-sheet issued to the respondent cannot be sustained. The quashing of the charge-sheet by the Tribunal is not on the ground of want of authority to issue the charge-sheet or any other inherent defect therein. This being so, the question of going into the merits of the charges, which are yet to be investigated in the departmental proceedings, did not arise for consideration or adjudication by the Tribunal at this stage. This being so, the Tribunals order quashing the charge-sheet as well, on reaching the conclusion that the suspension order had to be set aside, is unwarranted. The respondent had been under suspension for nearly two years on the date of the Tribunals order and another year has elapsed since then. Setting aside the suspension order in this situation, particularly when no substantial progress in the disciplinary proceedings has been made as yet, does not, therefore, call for any interference.

(4) CONSEQUENTLY, the appeal is partly allowed to the extent that the Tribunals order quashing the charge-sheet issued to the respondent is set aside while the challenge to the quashing of the suspension order dated 10-5-1990 is rejected. No costs."

18. The Apex Court in the case of Union of India Vs. Ashok Kacker reported in 1995 Supp (1) SCC 180, while hearing a matter where the employee had challenged the charge sheet, clearly held that the Tribunal entertained the application at a premature stage. It was observed as follows :-

".....In our opinion, this was not the stage at which the Tribunal ought to have entertained such an application for quashing the charge-sheet and the appropriate course for the respondent to adopt is to file his reply to the charge-sheet and invite the decision of the disciplinary authority thereon. This being the stage at which the respondent had rushed to the Tribunal, we do not consider it necessary to require the Tribunal at this stage to examine any other point which may be available to the respondent or which may have been raised by him."

19. Again in the case of Secretary to Government, Prohibition & Excise Department Vs. L. Srinivasan, reported in (1996) 3 SCC 157, the Apex Court set-aside the order of the Tribunal by which the departmental enquiry and the charge-sheet were quashed on the ground of delay in initiation of the disciplinary proceedings and it was observed as follows :-

"Order dated 12.11.1993 in Nos. Nos. 1702 of 1993 and 2206 of 1993 of the Tamil Nadu Administrative Tribunal, Madras is in question before us. The respondent while working as Assistant Section Officer, Home, Prohibition and Excise Department had been placed under suspension. Departmental inquiry is in process. We are informed that charge-sheet was laid for prosecution for the offences of embezzlement and fabrication of false records etc. and that the offences and the trial of the case is pending.

The Tribunal had set aside the departmental enquiry and quashed the charge on the ground of delay in initiation of disciplinary proceedings. In the nature of the charge, it would take a long time to detect embezzlement and fabrication of false records which should be done in secrecy. It is not necessary to go into the merits and record any finding on the charge levelled against the charged officer since any finding recorded by this Court would gravely prejudice the case of the parties at the enquiry and also at the trial. Therefore, we desist from expressing any opinion on merit or recording any of the contentions raised by the counsel on either side. Suffice it to state that the Administrative Tribunal has committed grossest error in its exercise of the judicial review. The member of the Administrative Tribunal appears to have no knowledge of the jurisprudence of the service law and exercised power as if he is an appellate forum dehors the limitation of judicial review. This is one such instance where a member had exceeded his power of judicial review in quashing the suspension order and charges even at the threshold. We are coming across such orders frequently putting heavy pressure on this Court to examine each case in detail. It is high time that it is remedied." (emphasis supplied)."

20. The Apex Court in the case of State of Orrisa and another vs. Sangram Keshari Misra and another [reported in (2010) 13 Supreme Court Cases 311] in para 10 has opined as under:-

"10. Though there appears to be some merit in the said contentions of the first respondent, it is unnecessary to examine the correctness of these contentions as normally a charge-sheet is not quashed prior to the conducting of the enquiry on the ground that the facts stated in the charge are erroneous. It is well settled that the correctness or truth of the charge is the function of the disciplinary authority (vide Union of India v. Upendra Singh1 SCC p. 362, para 6). Therefore we reject the contention that the charge ought to have been quashed without reserving to the State to proceed in accordance with law."

21. The Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of Union of India and others vs. Upendra Singh [reported in (1994) 3 Supreme Court Cases 357] in para 6 has held as under:-

"6. In the case of charges framed in a disciplinary inquiry the tribunal or court can interfere only if on the charges framed (read with imputation or particulars of the charges, if any) no misconduct or other irregularity alleged can be said to have been made out or the charges framed are contrary to any law. At this stage, the tribunal has no jurisdiction to go into the correctness or truth of the charges. The tribunal cannot take over the functions of the disciplinary authority. The truth or otherwise of the charges is a matter for the disciplinary authority to go into. Indeed, even after the conclusion of the disciplinary proceedings, if the matter comes to court or tribunal, they have no jurisdiction to look into the truth of the charges or into the correctness of the findings recorded by the disciplinary authority or the appellate authority as the case may be. The function of the court/tribunal is one of judicial review, the parameters of which are repeatedly laid down by this Court. It would be sufficient to quote the decision in H.B. Gandhi, Excise and Taxation Officer-cum-Assessing Authority, Karnal v. Gopi Nath & Sons5. The Bench comprising M.N. Venkatachaliah, J. (as he then was) and A.M. Ahmadi, J., affirmed the principle thus : (SCC p. 317, para 8)

"Judicial review, it is trite, is not directed against the decision but is confined to the decision-making process. Judicial review cannot extend to the examination of the correctness or reasonableness of a decision as a matter of fact. The purpose of judicial review is to ensure that the individual receives fair treatment and not to ensure that the authority after according fair treatment reaches, on a matter which it is authorised by law to decide, a conclusion which is correct in the eyes of the Court. Judicial review is not an appeal from a decision but a review of the manner in which the decision is made. It will be erroneous to think that the Court sits in judgment not only on the correctness of the decision making process but also on the correctness of the decision itself."

22. The Apex Court in the case of Secretary, Ministry of Defence and others vs. Prabhash Chandra Mirdha [reported in (2012) 11 Supreme Court Cases 565] in para nos. 10 to 12 has opined as follows: -

"11. Ordinarily a writ application does not lie against a chargesheet or show cause notice for the reason that it does not give rise to any cause of action. It does not amount to an adverse order which affects the right of any party unless the same has been issued by a person having no jurisdiction/competence to do so. A writ lies when some right of a party is infringed. In fact, chargesheet does not infringe the right of a party. It is only when a final order imposing the punishment or otherwise adversely affecting a party is passed, it may have a grievance and cause of action. Thus, a chargesheet or show cause notice in disciplinary proceedings should not ordinarily be quashed by the Court. (Vide : State of U.P. Vs. Brahm Datt Sharma, AIR 1987 SC 943; Executive Engineer, Bihar State Housing Board Vs. Ramesh Kumar Singh & Others, (1996) 1 SCC 327; Ulagappa & Ors. v. Div. Commr., Mysore & Ors., AIR 2000 SC 3603 (2); Special Director & Anr. Vs. Mohd. Ghulam Ghouse & Another , AIR 2004 SC 1467; and Union of India & Another Vs. Kunisetty Satyanarayana, AIR 2007 SC 906).

12. In State of Orissa & Anr. v. Sangram Keshari Misra & Anr., (2010) 13 SCC 311, this Court held that normally a chargesheet is not quashed prior to the conclusion of the enquiry on the ground that the facts stated in the charge are erroneous for the reason that correctness or truth of the charge is the function of the disciplinary authority. (See also: Union of India & Ors., (1994) 3 SCC 357).

13. Thus, the law on the issue can be summarised to the effect that chargesheet cannot generally be a subject matter of challenge as it does not adversely affect the rights of the delinquent unless it is established that the same has been issued by an authority not competent to initiate the disciplinary proceedings. Neither the disciplinary proceedings nor the chargesheet be quashed at an initial stage as it would be a premature stage to deal with the issues. Proceedings are not liable to be quashed on the grounds that proceedings had been initiated at a belated stage or could not be concluded in a reasonable period unless the delay creates prejudice to the delinquent employee. Gravity of alleged misconduct is a relevant factor to be taken into consideration while quashing the proceedings."

23. In the case of Union of India and another Vs. Kunisetty Satyanarayana, reported in (2006) 12 SCC 28, Hon'ble the Supreme Court has held as under:-

"Writ jurisdiction is discretionary jurisdiction and hence such discretion under Article 226 should not ordinarily be exercised by quashing a show-cause notice or charge sheet."

24. It was, therefore, emphasized by the Apex Court that even by way of final order the departmental enquiry or the charge-sheet could not have been quashed. The law on this point is that the Courts are, therefore, not to grant stay/quash the disciplinary proceedings nor they should go into the correctness or otherwise of the charges leveled in the charge-sheet and the departmental inquiry should be allowed to continue uninterrupted to come to its natural conclusion

25. In the case of charges framed in a disciplinary enquiry, the tribunal or Court can interfere only if on the charges framed (read with imputation or particulars of the charges, if any) no misconduct or other irregularity alleged can be said to have been made out or the charges framed are contrary to any law. The tribunal or the Court cannot take over the functions of the disciplinary authority. The truth or otherwise of the charge is a matter for the disciplinary authority to go into. Indeed, even after the conclusion of their disciplinary proceedings, if the matter comes to court or tribunal, they have no jurisdiction to look into the truth of the charges or into the correctness of the findings recorded by the disciplinary authority or the appellate authority as the case may be.

26. From the aforesaid legal positions, it is clear that in some very rare and exceptional cases the High Court can quash a charge-sheet or show-cause notice if it is found to be wholly without jurisdiction or for some other reason if it is wholly illegal. However, ordinarily the High Court should not interfere in such a matter.

27. In view of the aforesaid settled legal positions of the Apex Court which have been referred to above, this Court does not find any illegality or infirmity in the impugned charge-sheet dated 22.01.2022 passed by respondent no.4 so as to warrant any interference by this Court in exercise of powers under Article 226 of the Constitution of India.

28. The present writ petition being devoid of merits and is accordingly dismissed.

29. However, it is provided that the departmental inquiry be initiated against the petitioners and brought to its logical end, strictly in accordance with law, keeping in view that the recommendation of Lokayukta is only to the extent of punishment to the petitioner as per law, at the earliest possible preferably within a period of three months from the date of production of a certified copy of this order before the disciplinary authority.

ORIGINAL JURISDICTION
CIVIL SIDE

BEFORE

THE HON'BLE PRAKASH PADIA, J.

Writ-A No. 18087 of 2021

Krishna Nand Singh ...Petitioner
Versus
State of U.P. & Ors. ...Respondents

Counsel for the Petitioner:
Sri Sandeep Kumar

C.S.C., Sri Anand Kumar Pandey

A. Service Law – Appointment on the post of Assistant Teacher – Complaint claiming the appointment as illegal appointment was made – Maintainability – Preliminary objection to the locus of complainant raised – Word 'Aggrieved person' defined – Held, the expression 'Aggrieved person' denotes an elastic and to extent, an elusive concept. It cannot be confined with the bounds of a rigid exact and comprehensive definition – No legal rights of the petitioner have been denied or deprived. He has not sustained any injury to any legal protected interest by payment of salary in favour of the respondent no. 6. Therefore he is not a 'person aggrieved' and he has no locus standi to challenge the payment of salary. (Para 14 and 15)

B. Service Law – Intermediate Education Act, 1921 – District Magistrate issued direction to the educational authorities – Power of District Magistrate challenged – Principle of no interference by the foreign authority laid down – Held, the District Magistrate is a foreign authority under the Scheme of the Act – District Magistrate has no authority under the Act, 1921 or Act No. 24 of 1971 to take a decision in respect of appointment or salary of teaching or non-teaching staff – If a statute impose a duty on an authority he must exercise that power independently and personally without any supervisory control of some other authority. Even a superior authority cannot interfere in his decision which he has to take personally. (Para 24, 26 and 33)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Prakash Padia, J.)

1. Heard counsel for the parties.

2. The petitioner has preferred the present petition inter-alia with the following prayer:-

"i) Issue a writ or direction or pass an order in the nature of MANDAMUS commanding the respondent no. 2 and 3 to pass an appropriate order on the complaint/representation dated 07.09.2021 submitted by the petitioner and take appropriate action against the guilty and take other measures as per the law, as early as possible and within such time frame, which this Hon'ble Court may deem fit and proper in the circumstances of the case;"

3. Facts in brief as contained in the present writ petition are that institution in question namely Jangli Baba Intermediate College Gadwar District Ballia is a recognized Intermediate College, the same is on the grant in aid list by the State Government and all the teachers and employees are getting their salary from the State Exchequer as per the provisions of the U.P. High Schools And Intermediate Colleges (Payment of Salaries of Teachers and Other Employees) Act, 1971.

4. Certain post of Assistant Teachers fell vacant in the Institution in the year 1998. An application was submitted by the Committee of Management before the District Inspector of Schools seeking prior permission to fill up the vacant post.

5. Vide order dated 04.02.1998, the Joint Director of Education declined to give permission to fill up the post to the Committee of Management. Aggrieved against the aforesaid order passed by the Joint Director of Education, the Committee of Management filed a Writ Petition No.23443 of 1998 (C/M Jangali Baba Intermediate College Vs. State of U.P. and others) before this Court. The aforesaid writ petition was finally disposed of with a direction to the Director of Education, U.P. Lucknow to look into the matter and pass appropriate orders after taking into consideration the grievances of the petitioner and after providing opportunity of hearing within a period of one month. Pursuant to the aforesaid order, a decision has been taken by the Director of Education on 23.07.1998. By the aforesaid order, the Director of Education (Secondary) U.P. Lucknow rejected the claim set up by the Management. Thereafter another writ petition was filed by the respondent no.6 namely Ram Ji Singh before this Court in the year 1999 in which directions were given by this Court on 22.02.1999 by which District Inspector of Schools was directed to decide the matter in accordance with law. Pursuant to the order passed by this Court dated 22.2.1999, an order was passed by the District Inspector of Schools Ballia on 27.5.2003 by which financial approval was granted by him in respect of the payment of salary to the respondent no.6. Pursuant to the aforesaid order, the respondent no.6 was paid his salary for the month of May, 2003 to August, 2003. Thereafter another order was passed by him on 25.6.2005 by which petitioner started getting his salary regularly.

6. It is argued that against the aforesaid illegal payment, certain complaints were made before the Director of Education (Secondary) by one Rajesh Kumar Singh on 12.04.2007 but till date no decision has been taken on the same. After expiry of more than 14 years, a fresh complaint has been made by the present petitioner before the Director of Education (Secondary) U.P. Lucknow 07.09.2021. In the aforesaid complaint, it is stated that the respondent no.6 is getting his salary without any legal basis. In this view of the matter, it is argued that mandamus be issued directing the educational authorities to pass appropriate orders on the complaint/representation of the petitioner dated 07.09.2021. It is further argued that another representation was submitted by the petitioner on the same date before the District Magistrate, Ballia. On the said representation, directions were issued by the District Magistrate, Ballia to the District Inspector of Schools, Ballia to inquire the matter and do the needful.

7. A preliminary objection has been raised by Shri Anand Kumar Pandey, learned counsel appearing on behalf of respondent no.6 that present petition is not at all maintainable in view of the fact that petitioner does not fall within the definition of person aggrieved. It is further argued that the respondent No.6 is getting his salary regularly since May, 2003 pursuant to the order passed by the District Inspector of Schools, Ballia and he is going to retire very soon. It is further argued that the order passed by the District Inspector of Schools, Ballia was never challenged by any person till date.

8. In response to the same it is argued by the counsel for the petitioner that present petition is fully maintainable under Article 226 of the Constitution of India due to the fact that:-

1. petitioner is a Citizen of India
2. Petitioner is a social worker and
3. Petitioner is tax payer.

9. When query was made by the Court that enquiring about the nature of social work which is undertaken by the petitioner, no suitable reply was provided. Apart from the same nothing has been stated in the writ petition that regarding the nature and extent of social work undertaken by the petitioner.

10. From perusal of the record, it is clear that financial approval was granted by the District Inspector of Schools, Ballia in favour of the respondent no. 6 initially on 27.05.2003 and thereafter on 25.06.2005 and since then the respondent No.6 is getting his salary from the State Exchequer.

11. It is further argued by the counsel for the respondent no. 6 that the age of respondent no.6 is about 62 years and he is going to be superannuated from school. It is further argued that no illegality or irregularity what so ever has been committed by the appointing authorities in respect of appointment of the respondent no.6. It is further argued that District Magistrate has absolutely no role what so ever to make any kind of inquiry in respect of appointment of teachers and employees in the educational institutions.

12. Heard learned counsel for the parties and perused the record.

13. Insofar as the preliminary objection raised by the counsel for the respondent no.1 is concerned, the law has already been laid down by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Jasbhai Motibhai Desai Vs. Rashan Kumar reported in 1976 (1) SCC 671. Insofar as the present petitioner is concerned, he is only a complainant and the complaint was first time filed by him in the year 2021 regarding payment of salary in favour of respondent No.6 since 2003. Nothing has been stated in the writ petition or the entire representation regarding delay in filing the complaint by the petitioner against respondent No.6.

14. In paragraph 13 of the aforesaid judgement, the word "Aggrieved person" has been dealt with. It is stated that the expression "Aggrieved person" denotes an elastic and to extent, an elusive concept. It cannot be confined with the bounds of a rigid exact and comprehensive definition. Paragraph Nos.13 and 48 of the Jasbhai Motibhai Desai (supra) are reproduced below:-

"13. This takes us to the further question: Who is an "aggrieved person" and what are the qualifications requisite for such a status? The expression "aggrieved person" denotes an elastic, and, to an extent, an elusive concept. It cannot be confined within the bounds of a rigid, exact and comprehensive definition. At best, its feature can be described a broad tentative manner. Its scope and meaning depends on diverse, variable factors such as the content and intent of the statute of which contravention is alleged, the specific circumstances of the case, the nature and extent of the petitioner's interest and the nature and extent of the prejudice or injury suffered by him. English Courts have sometimes put a restricted and sometimes a wide construction on the expression "aggrieved person". However, some general tests have been devised to ascertain whether an applicant is eligible for this category so as to have the necessary locus standi or 'standing' to invoke certiorari jurisdiction.

48. In the light of the above discussion, it is demonstrably clear that the appellant has not been denied or deprived of a legal right. He has not sustained injury to any legally protected interest. In fact, the impugned order does not operate as a decision against him, much less does it wrongfully affect his title to something. He has not been subjected to a legal wrong. He has suffered no legal grievance. He has no legal peg for a justiciable claim to hang on. Therefore he is not a 'person aggrieved' and has no locus standi to challenge the grant of the No Objection Certificate."

15. It reveals from perusal of the record that no legal rights of the petitioner have been denied or deprived. He has not sustained any injury to any legal protected interest by payment of salary in favour of the respondent no.6. Therefore he is not a "person aggrieved" and he has no locus standi to challenge the payment of salary.

16. Apart from the same, it is clear from the record that no action has been taken by the petitioner from the year 2003 till 2021. When the respondent No.6 is going to retire after about 18 years, a compliant has been made and no explanation was given either in the writ petition or in the representation regarding delay in filing the complaint by the petitioner against respondent No.6.

17. Insofar as the complaint made by the petitioner before the District Magistrate is concerned, the instructions issued on the same day by him, i.e., on 07.09.2021.

18. The question, that calls for determination is as to whether the District Magistrate has any power to issue directions to Educational Authorities under Statutes, which are self-contained Act.

19. The issue in question has enormous practical implication. The institution is govern by the provisions of Intermediate Education Act, 1921 (hereinafter referred to as the Act), the regulations framed thereunder and the U.P. High Schools and Intermediate Colleges (Payment of Salaries of Teachers and other Employees) Act, 1971.

20. I find it helpful to have a bird eye view of both the Acts to find out the true intention of the Legislature.

21. In the U.P. Intermediate Education Act,1921, various sections defines the authorities under the Act. Under section 2 (aaa) "Director" means the Director of Education, Uttar Pradesh and it includes an Additional Director of Education; 2 (dd) defines "Regional Deputy Director of Education" means the Deputy Director of Education in charge of a region and includes an officer authorized by the State Government to perform all or any of the duties of a Regional Deputy Director. The Superintendent and Invigilator are defined under section 2. Section 3 of the Act deals with the constitution of the Board. The Board comprises several officers such as Director , State Council of Educational Research and Training , Uttar Pradesh, Lucknow, Additional Director of Education, the Director, Bureau of Psychology, Allahabad one Professor of a Degree College, one Professor of a Engineering College, one Professor of Agricultural University,one Professor of Medical College (all nominated by the State Government), Head of Institution, Teachers, Principal etc. It is aforesaid persons who constitute the Board, the District Magistrate is not even an ex officio member.

22. Section 7 of the Act enumerates various powers of the Board. Section 9 (4) of the Act enjoins that the State Government shall have power to issue directions in case where in its opinion immediate action is required. Section 16- D envisages that the Director has the authority to make inspection of any recognised institution and if he finds certain defects mentioned under the section, he may point out the same to the committee of management to remove such defects, failing which a penal action of appointment of a authorised controller can be taken by the State Government, (ii) of subsection 3 of 16-D provides that if a non-teaching staff is appointed in contravention of the provisions of this Act or the regulations it may be one of the ground for appointment of the Authorized Controller.

23. From the detail procedure provided under 16 -D of the Act it emerges that the Director can only send report to the State Government, whereupon the State Government after affording opportunity to the concerned institution passes the order of appointment of the authorised controller or if it is satisfied that the cause shown by the institution is sufficient it may drop the proceedings.

24. A close look at the gamut of the Scheme of the Act instantly brings out that the District Magistrate is a foreign authority under the Scheme. There is no reference of the District Magistrate in the entire Scheme of the Act.

25. In case the institution receives aid out of the State Fund the provisions of the U.P. High Schools and Intermediate Colleges (Payment of Salaries of Teachers and other Employees) Act 1971 (hereinafter referred to Act No. 24 of 1971), a close look at the Scheme of the said Act No. 24 of 1971 also establishes that like U.P. Intermediate Education Act, 1921 under this Act also the District Magistrate has not been assigned any role.

The Regional Deputy Director of Education and the District Inspector of Schools are authorities to pass orders/directions against the erring managements. The order passed by those authorities are appealable; under section 7 and under section 8 revision lies to the State Government. Again in this Act also there is no reference of the District Magistrate under any provisions of the Act.

26. Keeping the above Statutory provisions in the mind I am driven to the conclusion that the District Magistrate has no authority under the Act,1921 or Act No.24 of 1971 to take a decision in respect of appointment or salary of teaching or non-teaching staff.

27. Professor De Smith, in his Principles of Judicial Review 1999 Edition, page 240 has aptly said :-

"an authority entrusted with a discretion must not, in the purported exercise of its discretion, act under the dictation of another body or person. In at least two Commonwealth cases, licensing bodies were found to have taken decision on the instructions of the heads of government who were prompted by extraneous motives. But, as less colourful cases illustrate, it is enough to show that a decision which ought to have been based on the exercise of independent judgment was dictated by those not entrusted with the power to decide, although it remains a question of fact whether the repository of discretion abdicated it in the face of external pressure."

28. Professor Wade in his Administrative Law, 7th Edition has dealt with "Surrender, Abdication, Dictation" and "Power in the wrong hands" in the following words :-

"Closely akin to delegation, and scarcely distinguishable from it in some cases, is any arrangement by which a power conferred upon one authority is in substance exercised by another. The proper authority may share its power with someone else, or may allow someone else to dictate to it by declining to act without their consent or by submitting to their wishes or instructions. The effect then is that the discretion conferred by Parliament is exercised, at least in part, by the wrong authority, and the resulting decision is ultra vires and void. So strict are the courts in applying this principle that they condemn some administrative arrangements which must seem quite natural and proper to those who make them....

Ministers and their departments have several times fallen foul of the same rule, no doubt equally to their surprise...."

29. This paragraph of Professor Wade has been applied by the Supreme Court in the case of Anirudhsinhji Karansinhji Jadeja v. State of Gujarat, (1995) 5 SCC 302.

30. The said judgment has been followed by the Supreme Court in the case of Tarlochan Dev Sharma v. State of Punjab, (2001) 6 SCC 260 in following terms:-

"16.....No government servant shall in the performance of his official duties, or in the exercise of power conferred on him, act otherwise than in his best judgment except when he is acting under the direction of his official superior. In Anirudhsinhji Jadeja this Court has held that a statutory authority vested with jurisdiction must exercise it according to its own discretion; discretion exercised under the direction or instruction of some higher authority is failure to exercise discretion altogether. Observations of this Court in Purtabpore Co. Ltd are instructive and apposite. Executive Officers may in exercise of their statutory discretion take into account considerations of public policy and in some context, policy of a Minister or the Government as a whole when it is a relevant factor in weighing the policy but they are not absolved from their duty to exercise their personal judgment in individual cases unless explicit statutory provision has been made for instructions by a superior to bind them. As already stated, we are not recording, for want of adequate material, any positive finding that the impugned order was passed at the behest of or dictated by someone else than its author. Yet we have no hesitation in holding that the impugned order betrays utter non-application of mind to the facts of the case and the relevant law. The manner in which the power under Section 22 has been exercised by the competent authority is suggestive of betrayal of the confidence which the State Government reposed in the Principal Secretary in conferring upon him the exercise of drastic power like removal of President of a Municipality under Section 22 of the Act. To say the least, what has been done is not what is expected to be done by a senior official like the Principal Secretary of a wing of the State Government. We leave it at that and say no more on this issue."

31. In the case of Purtabpore Co. Ltd. v. Cane Commissioner of Bihar, (1969) 1 SCC 308 the matter was in respect of exercise of power by the Cane Commissioner under the provisions of Sugar Cane (Control) Order,1966. Clause 6 of the order enjoins the Cane Commissioner to reserve the area in favour of the sugar mill subject to fulfillment of the certain conditions made under the statutory provisions. The Chief Minister of the State issued direction to the Cane Commissioner to divide the reserved area into two portions and allot one portion to the Sugar Mill/respondent no.5 therein. The Cane Commissioner in compliance of the direction of the Chief Minister divided the reserved area into two portion. The order of the Cane Commissioner was challenged on the ground that the Cane Commissioner without application of mind had carried out the directions of the Chief Minister, thus he had abdicated his authority under the Act. The Supreme Court set aside the order of the Cane Commissioner on the ground that Clause 6 (1) is a statutory power and the said Clause empowers the Commissioner alone to take the decision in the light of the Scheme of the Statutory provisions. The Supreme Court held that Clause 6 (1) is a Statutory power and he alone could have exercised that power. The Supreme Court further observed while exercising that power the Commissioner cannot abdicate his responsibility in favour of the State Government or the Chief Minister. The Court expressed its displeasure and observed that it was not proper for the Chief Minister to have interfere with the functions of the Cane Commissioner.

32. The Hon'ble Apex Court in re: Joint Action Committee of Air Line Pilots' Association of India (A.L.P.A.I.) and others v. Director General of Civil Aviation and others, (2011) 5 SCC 435 vide paras 26 and 27 has considered the controversy relating to competence of passing any order and held that only the competent authority can pass such orders.

8. The paras 26 and 27 are reproduced herein under:

"26. The contention was raised before the High Court that the Circular dated 29.5.2008 has been issued by the authority having no competence, thus cannot be enforced. It is a settled legal proposition that the authority which has been conferred with the competence under the statute alone can pass the order. No other person, even a superior authority, can interfere, with the functioning of the Statutory Authority. In a democratic set up like ours, persons occupying key positions are not supposed to mortgage their discretion, volition and decision making authority and be prepared to give way to carry out commands having no sanctity in law. Thus, if any decision is taken by a statutory authority at the behest or on suggestion of a person who has no statutory role to play, the same would be patently illegal. (Vide: Purtabpur Co. Ltd. v. Cane Commissioner of Bihar, Chandrika Jha v. State of Bihar, Tarlochan Dev. Sharma v. State of Punjab and Manohar Lal v. Ugrasen).

27. Similar view has been reiterated by this Court in Commissioner of Police, Bombay v. Gordhandas Bhanji, Bahadursinh Lakhubhai Gohil v. Jagdishbhai M. Pradesh Kamalia and Pancham Chand and others v. State of Himachal observing. that an authority vested with the power to act under the statute alone should exercise its discretion following the procedure prescribed therein and interference on the part of any authority upon whom the statute does not confer any jurisdiction, is wholly unwarranted in law. It violates the constitutional scheme."

33. The principle which can be discerned from the above mentioned judgments of the Supreme Court is that if a statute impose a duty on an authority he must exercise that power independently and personally without any supervisory control of some other authority. Even a superior authority cannot interfere in his decision which he has to take personally. And he should not be guided by any other person/authority.

34. In the above facts and circumstances, the District Magistrate has no absolutely power to interfere in the matter in any way and he is restrained to do anything further in the matter.

35. In view of the above discussion, this Court is of the opinion that the present petition lacks merits and same is liable to be dismissed with costs.

36. Accordingly, the present writ petition is dismissed with costs.

A. Service Law – UP Public Service (Tribunal) Act, 1976 – Section 4 – UP Government Servant (Discipline and Appeal) Rules, 1999 – Rule 14 –Reference petition against award of punishment of censure entry before the Tribunal – Filed beyond limitation of one year – Maintainability challenged – Computation of limitation – Memorial before the Governor was filed – Claim to treat such memorial as an alternative remedy for computation of limitation was made – Held, memorial before his Excellency the Governor, is no remedy available to the petitioner under the Rules, 1999, as remedy for his grievance – Reference application was barred by limitation, therefore, it was not maintainable – High Court upheld the Tribunal's order. (Para 11 and 17)

Writ petition dismissed. (E-1)

List of Cases cited :-

1. W.P. No. 444 (SB) of 2015; Vivekanand Singh & anr. Vs St. of U.P. & anr. decided on 29.05.2015

2. Karnataka Power Corp. Ltd. Vs K. Thangappan; (2006) 4 SCC 322

3. Director General of Police, Central Reserve Police Force, New Delhi & ors. Vs P.M. Ramalingam; (2009) 1 SCC 193

(Delivered by Hon'ble Brij Raj Singh, J.)

1. The petitioner has challenged the judgment and order dated 13.10.2020 passed by the Uttar Pradesh State Public Services Tribunal, Lucknow and further prayer is made to quash the order dated 03.04.2018, which is the punishment order of censure entry.

2. It is also mentioned that this punishment order was challenged before the U.P. State Public Services Tribunal, Lucknow (hereinafter referred to as "the Tribunal") and the Tribunal has dismissed the reference on the ground of limitation.

3. Brief facts of the case are that the petitioner was initially appointed on the post of Assistant Engineer after qualifying the regular selection procedure for appointment and joined his services on 27.08.1997. The disciplinary enquiry was instituted against the petitioner vide order dated 24.07.2017 and a charge sheet was issued. The petitioner submitted reply of the said charge sheet dated 16.08.2017 by denying all the charges. After conducting the enquiry by the Enquiry Officer, the order of punishment of censure entry was passed on 03.04.2018.

4. Aggrieved with punishment order dated 03.04.2018, the petitioner submitted a memorial before his Excellency, the Governor on 04.07.2018 and thereafter he sent reminder on 28.01.2020. The petitioner being aggrieved with the punishment order dated 03.04.2018 instituted a Reference Application No.331 of 2020 before the Tribunal. The reference was admitted on 04.03.2020, however, no detailed order was passed regarding the admission simply notices were issued to the opposite parties and reference was admitted. The application for interim relief was heard by the Tribunal on 25.08.2020 and thereafter the application for interim relief was objected by the State and objection was filed on 18.09.2020 on the question of maintainability of the reference application. The State had taken objection against the application for condonation of delay and it was pleaded on behalf of the State that petition was not maintainable as reference was time barred. The Tribunal initially heard the matter on 18.09.2020 on the point of maintainability and the reference was dismissed as not maintainable by the impugned judgment dated 13.10.2020 and observation was made that reference was time barred. Being aggrieved against the order dated 13.10.2020 the writ petition has preferred.

5. Sri Shireesh Kumar, learned counsel for the petitioner has made submission that the arguments were heard on the application for interim relief and not on the point of maintainability of the reference application. He has further submitted that the reference petition was already admitted by the order dated 04.03.2020 and the objection against the interim relief submitted by the opposite party could not have been considered for deciding the reference application on the ground of maintainability.

6. Learned counsel for the petitioner has further submitted that Section 5 (1) (b) (ii) provides for computing the period of limitation and according to this, in computing the period of limitation the period beginning with the date on which the public servant makes a representation or prefers an appeal, revision or any other petition (not being a memorial to the Governor), in accordance with rules or orders regulating his conditions of service and ending with the date on which such public servant has knowledge of the final order passed on such representation, appeal, revision or petition, as the case may be, shall be excluded.

7. Learned counsel for the petitioner has further submitted that Section 4 (7) introduced vide U.P. Act No.5 of 2000 provides that for the purposes of sub-sections (5) and (6) any remedy available to the public servant by way of submission of a memorial to the Governor or to any other functionary shall not be deemed to be one of the remedies, which are available unless the public servant had elected to submit such memorial. The petitioner has submitted that undisputedly he has availed the remedy of memorial before his Excellency the Governor and no decision on it has been communicated to him till date.

8. Heard Sri Shireesh Kumar, learned counsel for the petitioner, learned Standing Counsel for the State-respondent and perused the judgment of the U.P. State Public Services Tribunal, Lucknow.

9. After looking into the record, it is found that the punishment order of censure entry was awarded on 03.04.2018. The petitioner filed memorial before his Excellency the Governor on 04.07.2018 and thereafter, he sent reminder on 28.01.2020. Sub-section (5), (6) and (7) of Section 4 of the U.P. Public Service (Tribunal) Act, 1976 (hereinafter referred to as the "Act, 1976") is quoted below:-

"(5) The Tribunal shall not ordinarily admit a reference unless it is satisfied that the public servant has availed of all the remedies available to him under the relevant service rules, regulations or contract as to redressal of grievances.

(6) For the purpose of Sub-Section (5) a public servant shall be deemed to have availed of all the remedies available to him if a final order has been made by the State Government, an authority or officer thereof or other person competent to pass such order under such rules or regulations or contract rejecting any appeal preferred or representation made by such public servant in connection with the grievance:

Provided that where no final order is made by the State Government, authority officer or other person competent to pass such order with regard to the appeal preferred or representation made by such public servant within six months from the date on which such appeal was preferred or representation was made, the public servant may, by a written notice by registered post require such competent authority to pass the order and if the order is not passed within one month of the service of such notice, the public servant shall be deemed to have availed of all the remedies available to him

(7) For the purpose of sub-section (5) and (6) any remedy available to the public servant by way of submission of a memorial to the Governor or to any other functionary shall not be deemed to be one of the remedies, which are available unless the public servant had elected to submit such memorial."

10. Sub Section 6 clearly indicates that for the purpose of sub-section (5) a public servant shall be deemed to have availed of all the remedies available to him if a final order has been made by the State Government, an authority or Officer thereof or other person competent to pass such order under such rules or regulations or contract rejecting any appeal preferred or representation made by such public servant in connection with the grievance. In case of the petitioner, against the punishment order dated 03.04.2018 no remedy was available to the petitioner except review as provided in Rule 14 of U.P. Government Servant (Discipline and Appeal) Rules, 1999 (hereinafter referred to as "the Rules, 1999") .

11. There is no provision of memorial before his Excellency the Governor, which was availed by the petitioner. As per his case, the proviso of sub-section (7) of Section 4 is also relevant wherein it is provided that for the purpose of sub-sections (5) and (6) any remedy available to the public servant by way of submission of a memorial to the Governor or to any other functionary shall not be deemed to be one of the remedies. It is thus clear that memorial before his Excellency the Governor, is no remedy available to the petitioner under the Rules, 1999, as remedy for his grievance.

12. Section 5 (1) (b) (i) and (ii) of the Act, 1976, are also relevant and the same are quoted below:-

"[(b) The provisions of the Limitation Act, 1963 (Act 36 of 1963) shall mutatis mutandis apply to reference under Section 4 as if a reference were a suit filed in civil court so, however, that-

(i) Notwithstanding the period of limitation prescribed in the Schedule to the said Act, the period of limitation for such reference shall be one year;

(ii)-- in computing the period of limitation the period beginning with the date on which the public servant makes a representation or prefers an appeal, revision or any other petition (not being a memorial to the Governor), in accordance with the rules or orders regulating his conditions of service, and ending with the date on which such public servant has knowledge of the final order passed on such representation, appeal, revision or petition, as the case may be, shall be excluded:

Provided that any reference for which the period of limitation prescribed by the Limitation Act, 1963 is more than one year, a reference under Section 4 may be made within the period prescribed by the Act, or within one year next after the commencement of the Uttar Pradesh Public Services (Tribunals) (Amendment) act, 1985 whichever period expires earlier:

Provided further that nothing in this clause as substituted by the Uttar Pradesh Public Services (Tribunal) (Amendment) Act, 1985, shall affect any references made before and pending at the commencement of the said Act."

13. The period of limitation for reference is one year prescribed in the Schedule of the Act. Section 5 (ii) clearly putting bar for the remedy of memorial to the Governor wherein it is provided that in computing the period of limitation the period beginning with date on which the public servant makes a representation or prefers an appeal, revision, or any other petition after not being a memorial to the Governor was in accordance with law or orders regulating his condition of service and nothing with the date on which such public servant has knowledge of final orders passed on such representation, appeal, revision or petition as the case may be shall be excluded.

14. In the case of Vivekanand Singh and another Vs. State of U.P. and another in W.P. No.444 (SB) of 2015 decided on 29.05.2015, provisions of Section 5 (1) (b) (i) of the Tribunal Act, 1976, has been considered. Learned Tribunal has recorded finding relying upon exposition of law, in para 6 of the judgment by observing that the petitioner should have filed claim petition on the expiry of six months from the date of filing of appeal on 09.09.2008. The limitation period for filing claim petition, after lapse of six months, has expired on 08.03.2009. The petitioner filed the claim petition on 20.12.2010, which was highly time barred. The present case is also highly time barred as the impugned punishment order was passed on 03.04.2018 and claim petition was filed on 04.03.2020.

15. On the point of limitation, Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of Karnataka Power Corpn. Ltd. v. K. Thangappan, reported in (2006) 4 SCC 322, has held in para 6, 7 and 10 as under:-

"6. Delay or laches is one of the factors which is to be borne in mind by the High Court when they exercise their discretionary powers under Article 226 of the Constitution. In an appropriate case the High Court may refuse to invoke its extraordinary powers if there is such negligence or omission on the part of the applicant to assert his right as taken in conjunction with the lapse of time and other circumstances, causes prejudice to the opposite party. Even where fundamental right is involved the matter is still within the discretion of the Court as pointed out inDurga Prashad v. Chief Controller of Imports and Exports [(1969) 1 SCC 185 : AIR 1970 SC 769] . Of course, the discretion has to be exercised judicially and reasonably.

7. What was stated in this regard by Sir Barnes Peacock in Lindsay Petroleum Co.v. Prosper Armstrong Hurd [(1874) 5 PC 221 : 22 WR 492] (PC at p. 239) was approved by this Court in Moon Mills Ltd. v. M.R. Meher [AIR 1967 SC 1450] and Maharashtra SRTC v. Shri Balwant Regular Motor Service [(1969) 1 SCR 808 : AIR 1969 SC 329] . Sir Barnes had stated:*

"Now, the doctrine of laches in courts of equity is not an arbitrary or a technical doctrine. Where it would be practically unjust to give a remedy either because the party has, by his conduct done that which might fairly be regarded as equivalent to a waiver of it, or where by his conduct and neglect he has though perhaps not waiving that remedy, yet put the other party in a situation in which it would not be reasonable to place him if the remedy were afterwards to be asserted, in either of these cases, lapse of time and delay are most material. But in every case, if an argument against relief, which otherwise would be just, is founded upon mere delay, that delay of course not amounting to a bar by any statute of limitation, the validity of that defence must be tried upon principles substantially equitable. Two circumstances always important in such cases are, the length of the delay and the nature of the acts done during the interval which might affect either party and cause a balance of justice or injustice in taking the one course or the other, so far as it relates to the remedy."

10. It has been pointed out by this Court in a number of cases that representations would not be adequate explanation to take care of delay. This was first stated in K.V. Rajalakshmiah Setty v. State of Mysore [(1967) 2 SCR 70 : AIR 1967 SC 993] . This was reiterated in Rabindranath Bose case [(1970) 1 SCC 84 : AIR 1970 SC 470] by stating that there is a limit to the time which can be considered reasonable for making representations and if the Government had turned down one representation the making of another representation on similar lines will not explain the delay. In State of Orissa v. Pyarimohan Samantaray [(1977) 3 SCC 396 : 1977 SCC (L&S) 424 : AIR 1976 SC 2617] making of repeated representations was not regarded as satisfactory explanation of the delay. In that case the petition had been dismissed for delay alone. (See State of Orissa v. Arun Kumar Patnaik [(1976) 3 SCC 579 : 1976 SCC (L&S) 468 : AIR 1976 SC 1639] also.)"*

16. We are of the view that the cause of action shall be taken to arise not from the date of the original adverse order but on the date when the order of the higher authority where a statutory remedy is provided entertaining the appeal or representation is made and where no such order is made, though the remedy has been availed of, a six months' period from the date of preferring of the appeal or making of the representation shall be taken to be the date when cause of action shall be taken to have first arisen. We, however, make it clear that this principle may not be applicable when the remedy availed of has not been provided by law. Repeated unsuccessful representations not provided by law are not governed by this principle.

17. In the present case, it is found that the petitioner had no statutory remedy rather he preferred memorial to his Excellency the Governor. We, therefore, uphold the order of the Tribunal and the reference application was barred by limitation, therefore, it was not maintainable. The petitioner has submitted that the reference was admitted on 04.03.2020, therefore, the question of maintainability was not open. We are unable to persuade ourselves with the said argument because the point of maintainability has to be decided by reasoned and speaking order which has been done by the Tribunal. The order of admission dated 04.03.2020 was simplicitor order but the point in issue was not decided by reasoned and speaking order. Hon'ble the Supreme Court in the case of Director General of Police, Central Reserve Police Force, New Delhi and others Vs. P.M. Ramalingam, (2009) 1 SCC 193 has observed in para 9 that without deciding the question of maintainability of review petition, the interim order could not have been passed. Para 9 of the said judgment is quoted below:-

which virtually means allowing the review petition, without deciding the question of maintainability of the review petition. Such a course is not permissible in law."

18. In the present case, it is pointed out here that the petitioner was present during hearing of the application for interim relief that is why the State has taken objection regarding maintainability of the reference application we hold that reference petition was not maintainable as on the ground of limitation, therefore, on the application for interim relief question of maintainability was rightly considered by the Tribunal.

19. In view of the aforesaid legal discussion, we are unable to persuade ourselves to the arguments advanced by learned counsel for the petitioner. The writ petition is dismissed accordingly.

20. No order as to costs.

A. Civil Law - Labor Law - Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 - Section 10 (1) - Reference of disputes to Tribunals - question of making or refusing to make a reference for adjudication is the discretion of the Government - power to make a reference is an administrative power - when the Government decides to make Reference, an industrial dispute between the employer and his employees, must either exists or is apprehended - Government has to keep in mind as to whether the industrial dispute is still existing or live dispute and has not become a stale claim - No reference is contemplated when the dispute is not an industrial dispute, or industrial dispute no longer exists or is not apprehended, or where industrial dispute is already adjudicated or in respect of which there is an agreement or a settlement between the parties or where the industry in question is no longer in existence (Para 24)

B. Civil Law - Labor Law - Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 - Section 10 (1) - Reference of disputes to Tribunals - Constitution of India, Article 226 - Quashing of Reference - High Court has jurisdiction to entertain a writ petition when there is an allegation that there is no industrial dispute in existence or apprehended on the date of reference for adjudication.

As a rule, writ court does not interfere with a reference order for the reason of such order being purely administrative - Such orders, only set in motion, the adjudicatory procedure by making the reference - writ Court does not readily quash such administrative orders & thereby prevent/injunct the Industrial Tribunal to enter into adjudication of the industrial dispute, at the initial stage as it does not cause any prejudice to any party - parties are at liberty to raise all defence before the Labour Court - However there is no embargo on the writ Court to quash a wholly inappropriate or undesirable or invalid reference order, in case no industrial dispute exists - it must be seen as to whether there exist an industrial dispute before the same may be referred to adjudication - High Court has jurisdiction to entertain a writ petition when there is an allegation that there is no industrial dispute in existence or apprehended on the date of reference for adjudication. (16, 17, 18, 19)

Facts - Appropriate government referred for adjudication the question as to whether termination of the services of workman is legal and justified - respondent workman had earlier filed writ petition against dispensation of his service - his writ petition was dismissed on merits - rights of the respondent workman stood adjudicated finally, upon dismissal of intra-Court appeal - Such a reference, if allowed, to exist may give rise to two eventualities - One, the Labour Court may plainly follow the earlier adjudication made by this Court. In that case, reference made would be futile - If the Labour Court chose to take a different view than recorded by the writ Court such adjudication or award would be in teeth of the adjudication of writ court - that award would be defective in jurisdiction - In fact, no industrial dispute exists, as on date (Para 35)

10.Prabhakar Vs Joint Director, Sericulture Department & anr., (2015) 15 SCC 1

(Delivered by Hon'ble Saumitra Dayal Singh, J.)

1. Heard Sri Rohan Gupta, learned counsel for the petitioner; Sri B.P. Singh, learned Senior Advocate, assisted by Sri P.H. Vashishth, learned counsel appearing for respondent no.4 and; Sri Brijesh Kumar, learned counsel appearing for respondent nos. 1, 2 and 3.

2. Present writ petition has been filed against the order of the Deputy Chief Labour Commissioner (Central), Kanpur dated 26.10.2021 whereby the said authority has acted in exercise of its powers under Section 10(1)(d) of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (hereinafter referred to as the 'Act') and referred the following dispute for adjudication to the Central Government Industrial Tribunal-cum-Labour Court, Kanpur.

"Whether the action of management of Indian Institute of Technology, Kanpur in terminating the services of Shri Ghanshyam Pandey S/O Late Udai Shanker Pandey, Clerk-cum-Typist w.e.f. 09.07.1989, is Legal and justified ? If not, to what relief the workman is entitled to and from which date ?"

3. Learned counsel for the petitioner would submit, the respondent workman was engaged as a temporary Lower Division Clerk at the petitioner institution on 09.01.1987 for a fixed term of one year on fixed payment of Rs. 600/- per month. That engagement made against the specified project was later renewed against another project w.e.f. 09.01.1988 to 08.01.1989, against revised fixed payment of Rs. 650/- per month. Later, that engagement was extended and it lasted till 08.07.1989, against fixed payment of Rs. 1000/- per month. It is not in dispute that respondent no.4/workman did not work for any length of time, in any capacity since 09.07.1989. In that regard, the said respondent workman had first approached this Court in Civil Misc. Writ Petition No. 12415 of 1989 (Ghanshyam Pandey Vs. Director, Indian Institute of Technology, Kanpur & Anr.) seeking following relief:

"(i) to issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of mandamus directing the respondents not to dispense with the service of the petitioner as Lower Division Clerk and pay the regular salary of Lower Division Clerk as admissible in law."

That writ petition was filed on 04.07.1989. However, on 20.10.1989, an amendment application was filed whereby the following relief was also added by way of amendment:

"(iv) to issue a suitable writ, directions or order commanding the respondents to treat the petitioner in their employment as if he has not been kept out of employment since 08.07.1989 and also to pay him full wages from 08.07.1989 to the date of his reinstatement together with continuity of service."

4. After exchange of affidavits, the aforesaid writ petition was decided by judgement dated 05.12.1998. Therein, this Court reached the following conclusions:

(i) the appointment letter relied upon by the petitioner dated 09.01.1987 (copy Annexure CA-1 of the counter affidavit) made it clear that it was a temporary engagement against consolidated payment of Rs. 600/- per month;

(ii) the engagement could be discontinued without notice; .

(iii) the respondent workman could be transferred to any other project etc.; .

(iv) the engagement was on a temporary basis for a fixed period;

(v) the respondent workman had applied for regular appointment subsequent to his aforesaid engagement against advertisement no. 3/87 dated 06.02.1987. However, he was unsuccessful;

(vi) the claim of violation of Section 25F of the Act or 6N of the U.P. Act was unfounded. The respondent workman was found to have been engaged purely on ad hoc/temporary basis for a fixed term, for project work by the research and development department, of the petitioner institution;

(vii) upon perusal of the minutes of the selection committee (with respect to the advertisement dated 06.02.1987), referred to above, the Writ Court found, the respondent workman was not entitled to any benefit, against plea of certain other junior workman (being continued in engagement), as he had worked on temporary basis or daily-wage basis under a project for a fixed term. The distinction of status and source of salary payment of two types of employees was also considered. The writ petition was dismissed.

5. Against the above order, the respondent workman preferred intra-court appeal being Special Appeal No. 1024 of 2001, which was also dismissed by order dated 11.09.2006. A review petition was filed by the respondent workman. In that supplementary affidavit appears to have been filed (copy Annexure RA-4 of the Rejoinder Affidavit). By means of paragraph nos. 8 and 9 of that affidavit, the respondent workman again set up a plea of having been appointed against a regular post.

6. The review petition was also rejected by order dated 11.01.2011 passed by the Division Bench of this Court. It reads as below:

"The review application was earlier dismissed on 24.10.2009, as the Court found it infructuous in spite of recalling the same. Now, none appears on behalf of the appellant in spite of repeated calls.

Therefore, there is no other alternative before us but to refuse to modify the order passed by the Division Bench of this Court presided by one of us (Hon'ble Amitava Lala, J.) on 11.9.2006. The order is as follows:-

"Upon hearing learned counsel appearing for the parties, we do not find any justification to keep the special appeal pending and is disposed of in view of the reasons given herein below. The dispute is mainly with regard to the fact whether the petitioner was appointed in a sanctioned post and subsequently transferred to a project or he was appointed in a project, which will be completed by the efflux of time.

Upon going through the record we find that the petitioner's/appellant's appointment was in the project. Therefore, we do not find any merit to justify to pass any favourable order in favour of the petitioner. Having so the Special Appeal stands dismissed.

However, no order is passed as to costs."

We do not find any merit in the review application.

Therefore, the review application is dismissed on merit, however, without imposing any cost."

7. The matter rested there for about nine years. Thereafter, the respondent workman moved an application seeking reference of industrial dispute. The said application is dated 25.06.2020. In that application, by means of paragraph no.3 it was stated, the petitioner had been regularly selected on the post of LDC-cum-typist on 09.01.1987. Further, on 18.07.2016, he realised, many persons who were appointed with the petitioner and some who were junior to him, had been given permanent status and would also get retiral benefit. Therefore, it was further alleged that the affidavits filed by the petitioner establishment in the earlier writ petition were false. Last, violation of Section 25F, 25G, 25H and 25T of the Act, was pleaded.

8. On its part, the petitioner establishment objected to the reference sought, relying on the earlier decision of this Court. In such circumstances, the impugned reference has arisen.

9. Learned counsel for the petitioner would submit, though the power to make a reference is an administrative power yet, there must be seen to exist an industrial dispute before the same may be referred to adjudication. In the instant case, the respondent workman had approached this Court by means of an earlier writ petition being Civil Misc. Writ Petition No. 12415 of 1989. Therein (upon amendment), he sought relief against dispensation of service and further sought, positive directions for payment of regular salary together with backwages upon reinstatement after 08.07.1989. That writ petition was dismissed on merits and not on account of alternative remedy. The rights of the respondent workman stood determined and adjudicated finally, upon dismissal of intra-Court appeal.

10. Upon firm adjudication made by this Court, the dispute espoused by the respondent workman stood decided. In fact, upon that adjudication it had to be recognized that there did not exist/survive any industrial dispute. In this regard, reliance has been placed on a decision of three-Judge bench of the Supreme Court in Nedungadi Bank Ltd. Vs K.P. Madhavankutty & Ors., (2000) 2 SCC 455; U.P. State Road Transport Corpn. Vs. Babu Ram, (2006) 5 SCC 433 and; Director, Food and Supplies, Punjab & Anr., (2007) 5 SCC 727.

11. In short, it has been submitted, it is not the issue of delay in raising the dispute but non-existence thereof that warrants interference by this Court, in exercise of extraordinary jurisdiction of this Court under Article 226 of the Constitution of India.

12. The writ petition has been vehemently opposed by learned Senior Advocate appearing for the respondent. He would submit, it is wrong to say that the respondent workman was first engaged in the year 1987. Referring to the passages of the earlier decision of the learned single-Judge in Civil Misc Writ Petition No.12415 of 1989, it has been shown, the respondent workman had been engaged even prior to 1987 though not against any permanent post or regular sanctioned post. Then, much emphasis has been laid on the appointment letter dated 09.01.1987 issued to the respondent workman, to submit the said respondent workman had been engaged after following due selection process for a regular post. Dear Mr Pandey,

This has reference to your application for the post of LDC-CUM-TYPIST out of the R & D Funds.

I am glad to inform you that it has been decided to appoint you on the post of LDC-CUM-TYPIST in the Project No.DOE/EE(KRS)/86-87/55 on a consolidated salary of 600/- per month for a period of one year with effect from the date of your joining on the following terms and conditions.

The appointment is purely temporary and is subject to termination without notice. You may be transferred to any other project or deputed to any section of the Institute for assisting the work pertaining to R & D Office.

You will be entitled to Casual Leave and Annual Leave as admissible under rules.

Yours sincerely
Sd/-

B N Biswas"

13. Then, referring to the new facts brought by means of the reference application (noted above), as part of his submissions, it has been stated, the plea of violation of Sections 25F, 25G, 25H and 25T of the Act first became available to the respondent workman only in the year 2016 and not before. Till then, the respondent workman was labouring under a mistaken impression of fact due to concealment of correct facts by the petitioner institution. Therefore, adjudication is sought on such new facts with respect to rights not adjudicated in the writ petition. The reference order must survive.

14. Second, it has been stated, the conduct of the petitioner had been fraudulent in not disclosing the correct status of the respondent workman's engagement, at the relevant time. Since that status was concealed from the Court in the earlier adjudication made by it, the judgement obtained by the petitioner was based on fraud practised by it. Therefore, the same is stated to be of no legal consequence. In that, reliance has been placed on a decision of the learned Single Judge of this Court in Writ - B No. 42060 of 2015 (Shashi Prabha Vs. Deputy Director of Consolidation Budaun & 3 Ors.), decided on 13.05.2020.

15. Third, it has been submitted, the delay in approaching the Labour Court may never defeat the reference. In the first place, the writ Court may remain disinclined to interfere with the reference order at the initial stage as it does not cause any prejudice to any party. The petitioner would be at liberty to raise all active defence before the Labour Court including as to any prejudice caused owing to the conduct of the respondent workman. If such plea is established, the relief claimed by the respondent workman may be modified appropriately, by the Tribunal. Here, reliance has been placed on another decision of the learned single Judge in M/s IRCON International Ltd. through Chairman & Managing Director Vs. Bipin & Ors., 2018 (157) FLR 825.

16. Having heard learned counsel for the parties and having perused the record, in the first place, there can be no dispute to the approach to be adopted by the writ Court in such matters. As a rule, the writ court does not interfere with a reference order for the reason of such order being purely administrative. Such orders, only set in motion, the adjudicatory procedure by making the reference and thus conferring the jurisdiction on the Labour Court to deal with it. Only thereafter, the parties enter into contest by filing their respective Written Statement and Replication statement; issues are framed; evidence led; parties are heard and; award pronounced.

17. Second, again by way of general rule, the writ Court does not readily quash such administrative orders and thereby prevent/injunct the Industrial Tribunal to enter into adjudication of the industrial dispute being claimed to exist, the reference order arises belatedly i.e. after efflux of (what may prima facie appear to be), reasonable time, it is a clearly recognized principle that the Labour Court may at the time of granting relief mould the relief looking into the delay and prejudice it may have caused to the employer.

18. Third, it is also a fact that industrial law is a piece of welfare legislation - to protect the rights of the weaker of the two parties.

19. That said, there is no embargo on the writ Court to quash a wholly inappropriate or undesirable or invalid reference order, in case no industrial dispute exists. The rule referred to above is a rule of self restraint, exercised by the writ Court. It exists in the interest of justice.

20. In Management of the Express Newspapers (P) Ltd., Madras Vs. Workers & Ors., AIR 1963 SC 569, it was observed as below:

"10. The true legal position in regard to the jurisdiction of the High Court to entertain the appellant's petition even at the initial stage of the proceedings proposed to be taken before the Industrial Tribunal, is not in dispute. If the action taken by the appellant is not a lockout but is a closure, bona fide and genuine, the dispute which the respondents may raise in respect of such a closure is not an industrial dispute at all. On the other hand, if, in fact and in substance, it is a lockout, but the said action has adopted the disguise of a closure, and a dispute is raised in respect of such an action, it would be an industrial dispute which industrial adjudication is competent to deal with. The appellant contends that what it has done is a closure and so, the dispute in respect of it cannot be validly referred for adjudication by an Industrial Tribunal. There is no doubt that in law, the appellant is entitled to move the High Court even at the initial stage and seek to satisfy it that the dispute is not an industrial dispute and so, the Industrial Tribunal has no jurisdiction to embark upon the proposed enquiry.

11. There is also no doubt that the proceedings before the Industrial Tribunal are in the nature of quasi-judicial proceedings and in respect of them a writ of certiorari can issue in a proper case. If the Industrial Tribunal proceeds to assume jurisdiction over a non-industrial dispute, that can be successfully challenged before the High Court by a petition for an appropriate writ, and the power of the High Court to issue an appropriate writ in that behalf cannot be questioned.

15. The High Court undoubtedly has jurisdiction to ask the Industrial Tribunal to stay its hands and to embark upon the preliminary enquiry itself. The jurisdiction of the High Court to adopt this course cannot be, and is indeed not disputed. But would it be proper for the High Court to adopt such a course unless the ends of justice seem to make is necessary to do so? Normally, the questions of fact, though they may be jurisdictional facts the decision of which depends upon the appreciation of evidence, should be left to be tried by the Special Tribunals constituted for that purpose. If and after the Special Tribunals try the preliminary issue in respect of such jurisdictional facts, it would be, open to the aggrieved party to take that matter before the High Court by a writ petition and ask for an appropriate writ. Speaking generally, it would not be proper or appropriate that the initial jurisdiction of the Special Tribunal to deal with these jurisdictional facts should be circumvented and the decision of such a preliminary issue brought before a High Court in its writ jurisdiction. We wish to point out that in making these observations, we do not propose to lay down any fixed or inflexible Rule; whether or not even the preliminary facts should be tried by a High Court in a writ petition, must naturally depend upon the circumstances of each case and upon the nature of the preliminary issue raised between the parties. Having regard to the circumstances of the present dispute, we think the court of appeal was right in taking the view that the preliminary issue should more appropriately be dealt with by the Tribunal. The Appeal court has made it clear that any party who feels aggrieved by the finding of the Tribunal on this preliminary issue may move the High Court in accordance with law. Therefore, we are not prepared to accept Mr Sastri's argument that the Appeal court was wrong in reversing the conclusion of the trial Judge insofar as the trial Judge proceeded to deal with the question as to whether the action of the appellant was a closure or a lockout."

21. In Western India Match Co. Ltd. Vs. Western India Match Co. Workers Union & Ors., (1970) 1 SCC 225, while upholding the reference made, of an industrial dispute, the Supreme Court observed has under:

"8. From the words used in Section 4(k) of the Act there can be no doubt that the legislature has left the question of making or refusing to make a reference for adjudication to the discretion of the Government. But the discretion is neither unfettered nor arbitrary for the section clearly provides that there must exist an industrial dispute as defined by the Act or such a dispute must be apprehended when the Government decides to refer it for adjudication. No reference thus can be made unless at the time when the Government decides to make it an industrial dispute between the employer and his employees either exists or is apprehended. Therefore, the expression ''at any time', though seemingly without any limits, is governed by the context in which it appears. Ordinarily, the question of making a reference would arise after conciliation proceedings have been gone through and the conciliation officer has made a failure report. But the Government need not wait until such a procedure has been completed. In an urgent case, it can "at any time' i.e. even when such proceedings have not begun or are still pending, decide to refer the dispute for adjudication. The expression "at any time' thus takes in such cases as where the Government decides to make a reference without waiting for conciliation proceedings to begin or to be completed. As already stated, the expression "at any time' in the context in which it is used postulates that a reference can only be made if an industrial dispute exists or is apprehended. No reference is contemplated by the section when the dispute is not an industrial dispute, or even if it is so, it no longer exists or is not apprehended, for instance, where it is already adjudicated or in respect of which there is an agreement or a settlement between the parties or where the industry in question is no longer in existence."

22. Then, in Nedungadi Bank Ltd. Vs. K.P. Madhavankutty & Ors., (2000) 2 SCC 455, the Supreme Court cautioned - the power to refer an industrial dispute should not be exercised in a mechanical manner. It may not be exercised to revive a settled matter. It was thus held:

"6. Law does not prescribe any time-limit for the appropriate Government to exercise its powers under Section 10 of the Act. It is not that this power can be exercised at any point of time and to revive matters which had since been settled. Power is to be exercised reasonably and in a rational manner. There appears to us to be no rational basis on which the Central Government has exercised powers in this case after a lapse of about seven years of the order dismissing the respondent from service. At the time reference was made no industrial dispute existed or could be even said to have been apprehended. A dispute which is stale could not be the subject-matter of reference under Section 10 of the Act. As to when a dispute can be said to be stale would depend on the facts and circumstances of each case. When the matter has become final, it appears to us to be rather incongruous that the reference be made under Section 10 of the Act in the circumstances like the present one. In fact it could be said that there was no dispute pending at the time when the reference in question was made. The only ground advanced by the respondent was that two other employees who were dismissed from service were reinstated. Under what circumstances they were dismissed and subsequently reinstated is nowhere mentioned. Demand raised by the respondent for raising an industrial dispute was ex facie bad and incompetent.

7. In the present appeal it is not the case of the respondent that the disciplinary proceedings, which resulted in his dismissal, were in any way illegal or there was even any irregularity. He availed his remedy of appeal under the rules governing his conditions of service. It could not be said that in the circumstances an industrial dispute did arise or was even apprehended after a lapse of about seven years of the dismissal of the respondent. Whenever a workman raises some dispute it does not become an industrial dispute and the appropriate Government cannot in a mechanical fashion make the reference of the alleged dispute terming it as an industrial dispute. The Central Government lacked power to make reference both on the ground of delay in invoking the power under Section 10 of the Act and there being no industrial dispute existing or even apprehended. The purpose of reference is to keep industrial peace in an establishment. The present reference is destructive to the industrial peace and defeats the very object and purpose of the Act. The Bank was justified in thus moving the High Court seeking an order to quash the reference in question.

23. Again, in National Engineering Industries Ltd. Vs. State of Rajasthan & Ors., (2000) 1 SCC 371, the Supreme Court observed:

"24. It will be thus seen that the High Court has jurisdiction to entertain a writ petition when there is an allegation that there is no industrial dispute and none apprehended which could be the subject-matter of reference for adjudication to the Industrial Tribunal under Section 10 of the Act. Here it is a question of jurisdiction of the Industrial Tribunal, which could be examined by the High Court in its writ jurisdiction. It is the existence of the Industrial Tribunal (sic dispute) which would clothe the appropriate Government with power to make the reference and the Industrial Tribunal to adjudicate it. If there is no industrial dispute in existence or apprehended the appropriate Government lacks power to make any reference."

24. Later still, in Sapan Kumar Pandit Vs. U.P. State Electricity Boad & Ors., (2001) 6 SCC 222 the following conclusion was reached by the Supreme Court, against exercise of administrative power - to refer a non-existent industrial dispute.

"8. The above section is almost in tune with Section 10 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947, and the difference between these two provisions does not relate to the points at issue in this case. Though no time-limit is fixed for making the reference for a dispute for adjudication, could any State Government revive a dispute which had submerged in stupor by long lapse of time and rekindle by making a reference of it to adjudication? The words "at any time' as used in the section are prima facie indicator to a period without boundary. But such an interpretation making the power unending would be pedantic. There is inherent evidence in this sub-section itself to indicate that the time has some circumscription. The words "where the Government is of opinion that any industrial dispute exists or is apprehended' have to be read in conjunction with the words "at any time'. They are, in a way, complementary to each other. The Government's power to refer an industrial dispute for adjudication has thus one limitation of time and that is, it can be done only so long as the dispute exists. In other words, the period envisaged by the enduring expression "at any time' terminates with the eclipse of the industrial dispute. It, therefore, means that if the dispute existed on the day when the reference was made by the Government, it is idle (sic ideal) to ascertain the number of years which elapsed since the commencement of the dispute to determine whether the delay would have extinguished the power of the Government to make the reference.

9. Hence the real test is, was the industrial dispute in existence on the date of reference for adjudication? If the answer is in the negative then the Government's power to make a reference would have extinguished. On the other hand, if the answer is in positive terms the Government could have exercised the power whatever be the range of the period which elapsed since the inception of the dispute. That apart, a decision of the Government in this regard cannot be listed (sic) on the possibility of what another party would think, whether any dispute existed or not. The section indicates that if in the opinion of the Government the dispute existed then the Government could make the reference. The only authority which can form such an opinion is the Government. If the Government decides to make the reference, there is a presumption that in the opinion of the Government, there existed such a dispute."

25. Most of the above decisions were then noticed in Prabhakar Vs Joint Director, Sericulture Department & Anr., (2015) 15 SCC 1. Thereafter, the Supreme Court concluded as below:

"28. The aforesaid case law depicts the following:

28.1. The law of limitation does not apply to the proceedings under the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947.

28.2. The words "at any time" used in Section 10 would support that there is no period of limitation in making an order of reference.

28.3. At the same time, the appropriate Government has to keep in mind as to whether the dispute is still existing or live dispute and has not become a stale claim and if that is so, the reference can be refused.

28.4. Whether dispute is alive or it has become stale/non-existent at the time when the workman approaches the appropriate Government is an aspect which would depend upon the facts and circumstances of each case and there cannot be any hard-and-fast rule regarding the time for making the order of reference."

26. Therefore, it becomes necessary to examine, if the relief sought through the impugned reference, is beyond the scope of powers of the appropriate government as may call for any interference by this Court. As discussed above, a reference may be made only where a live industrial dispute exists. If the dispute is non-existent, the appropriate government would also remain within its authority to decline such reference.

27. In the present case, what has been referred for adjudication by the appropriate government is the question of termination of service claimed by the respondent workman on the post of clerk/typist w.e.f. 09.07.1989. In itself, it does suggest - an industrial dispute exists, inasmuch as the petitioner does not dispute the fact, it had engaged the respondent workman. As to the status and the rights arising therefrom, the parties are at variance. However, the basic fact of engagement made is undisputed.

28. Yet, purely on account of the earlier decision of this Court in Civil Misc. Writ Petition No. 12415 of 1989, it is also clear that the respondent workman had not only approached this Court with respect to that dispute arising from such engagement but that he had claimed relief effectively to challenge his disengagement from 09.07.1989 onwards. He had further sought relief in the nature of reinstatement with full backwages. This much is clear from bare perusal of the prayer made in the writ petition.

29. As to the adjudication made by this Court, as noted above (in the arguments advanced by learned counsel for the petitioner), it is also clear, this Court had reached fact conclusions that the respondent-workman had been engaged on temporary/fixed term post against projects only, on fixed payment basis. The respondent workman could not establish any better rights at that stage though, he did refer to his original appointment letter (the contents of which have been extracted above). Then, the Court specifically repelled the claim made by the respondent workman of having worked for 240 days in one calendar year. It negated the claim made under Section 25F of the Act or Section 6N of the U.P. Act. As a contract employee for fixed term on fixed payment, the respondent workman was found ineligible to such a claim. Then, as to the further fact that the persons appointed alongwith and junior to the respondent workman had been continued in service and granted regularization etc., again, this Court considered that issue and decided it against the respondent workman. That conclusion had been reached on the reasoning that different employees were engaged on two different status - one by the institute i.e. main establishment drawing salary from the (budgeted) funds of the institute and, the other against research projects that derived independent funding from other sources, made available from time to time. The respondent workman having been engaged for project work only, the plea set up were negated.

30. The respondent workman was not satisfied with the decision of the learned single-Judge. He carried the matter to the division bench in an intra-court appeal. That was also dismissed. The review petition filed thereafter was also dismissed. No further challenge was raised. Nine years passed. In the application filed by the respondent workman, seeking reference, besides the fact no other question had been raised as may be found not covered by the earlier decision of this Court, no fact pleading had arisen before the Court, as may create any doubt as to the completeness of the findings recorded by the writ Court.

31. Merely because the document in the shape of regularization of certain employees may have come to the hands of the respondent workman, it would not amount to a fresh dispute having arisen. If at all, such documents are relevant, the remedy available to the respondent workman would lie elsewhere. However, no industrial dispute survived upon the decision of the learned single-Judge as affirmed by the division bench. It attained finality.

32. The plea of fraud set up by the respondent workman does not merit acceptance. It is a plea of convenience rather than one of conviction. It has been raised to create a technical exception to the otherwise binding adjudication by this Court. Merely because fraud may be alleged, the effective adjudication made does not get annulled, therefore. It is only upon fraud being established as a fact, its effect may be examined in subsequent proceedings. At present, it cannot be said on the strength of the document procured by the respondent workman that any fraud had been committed. In view of difference in nature of engagement and status of petitioner viz-a-viz other employees of the petitioner; the plea of fraud is far fetched and unreal.

33. What was pleaded by the respondent workman (in the earlier petition) was replied to by the petitioner (in the present petition) - by means of Counter Affidavit. If the respondent workman was so aggrieved, he ought to have filed an application in those proceedings, at that stage, to compel the present petitioner to produce any particular document. That not done, sweeping adverse inference sought to be invoked by the respondent workman is not available, at this belated stage. In any case, as noted above, the information received by the respondent workman under Right to Information Act does not give rise to any new fact or plea.

34. The status of the respondent workman having been unequivocally adjudicated - as a temporary employee engaged on fixed term, against fixed payment, against a project requirement, the same does not loose its binding force because, while making the selection, the petitioner may have followed a procedure akin to that usually followed in regular selection against a sanctioned post. It is a matter of policy that any employer may follow while engaging fresh hands. Merely because an employer such as the present petitioner chose to follow the procedure similar to that followed for regular appointment against sanctioned posts, while engaging temporary hands for fixed term, no better status or rights could ever arose to the respondent workman, for that reason.

35. Therefore, there is no doubt that the adjudication made by the writ Court on the earlier occasion covered within its sweep, the entire scope of reference now sought by means of the impugned order. The reference/administrative order cannot seek to undo the judicial pronouncement made by the Court. Such a reference, if allowed, to exist may only give rise to two fact eventualities. One, the Labour Court may plainly follow the earlier adjudication made by this Court. In that case, reference made would be futile. If the Labour Court were to chose to take a different view in face of the findings recorded by the writ Court (that have attained finality), such adjudication or award would remain in the teeth of the adjudication of this Court. Therefore, that award would remain inherently defective in jurisdiction as may never be allowed to stand upon adherence to principle of judicial discipline. In fact, no industrial dispute exists, as on date.

36. Accordingly, the present writ petition is allowed. The reference order is quashed. No order as to costs, as the matter pertains to a workman.

(A) Civil Law - National Highways Act, 1956 - Section 3A - notification - Power to acquire land ,etc. , Section 3D - Declaration of acquisition - whenever there is conflict between public interest and private interest, the former must prevail - Courts are not equipped to comment upon the viability and feasibility of a particular project - projects of public importance should not be halted as the same would be against the larger public interest - constitutional courts should weigh public interest vis-à-vis private interest, while exercising its discretionary powers under Article 226.(Para -6, 7,8)

Petitioners few of the land owners - land acquired for widening of road - project of National Highways not be put on hold - grievance raised only by small set of affected persons - objections filed by petitioners - against the acquisition of their land - rejected - ground raised for challenging impugned order - term 'technical' not defined in the impugned order - hence petition.(Para - 1,2,6,)

HELD:-Petitioners do not deserve any relief as widening of National Highway is a project of national importance and larger public interest. Challenge to the acquisition has been made by a small set of persons affected by acquisition. Project cannot be put on hold as any road is to be constructed as per alighment which cannot possibly be changed at one particular spot. (Para - 9)

3. Jaipur Metro Rail Corp. Ltd. Vs Alok Kotahwala & ors., AIR 2013 CC 754

1. Challenge in the present writ petition is to the order dated December 6, 2021 passed by the respondent No.2 vide which the objections filed by the petitioners against the acquisition of their land were rejected. The aforesaid order was passed in view of the direction issued by this Court in Writ-C No.23630 of 2020, titled as Pramod Kumar Gupta and others v. Union of India and others, decided on January 20, 2021.

2. The ground raised for challenging the aforesaid order is that the term 'technical' was not defined in the impugned order. Further, the acquisition of the land for widening of the portion of the National Highway No.24 (Hapur-Moradabad Section), has been made one side of the road only whereas it should have been made both sides equally. In case, such process is followed, the petitioners will save part of their land from acquisition and will be able to earn their livelihood therefrom. It was further submitted that instead of widening of road, construction of elevated road on the spot may be more economical. Hence, the respondents should have explored that option as well.

3. On the other hand, learned counsel for the respondents submitted that in view of the direction issued by this Court, the objections filed by the petitioners were considered. As alignment of road, construction and widening thereof are highly technical, especially with reference to National Highways, number of aspects are to be taken care of. The process of acquisition of the land is started only after examining all the aspects in detail. In the case in hand, all aspects were examined and the acquisition of the land was finalised. The idea being floated by the petitioners that acquisition of the land should be made on both sides of the road equally, is totally misconceived for the reason that in that situation much more persons than the present petitioners will be affected. It is not for the petitioners to decide whether existing road is to be widened or the elevated road is to be constructed. In any case, construction of elevated road is not as cheaper as is sought to be suggested by the petitioners. The widening of portion of National Highway No.24 is being made to take care of the increase in traffic on road and creation of infrastructure. Though land of several persons has been acquired in the process of widening of road, however, it is only few persons, who are making objections, otherwise majority of them have no objection.

4. After hearing the learned counsel for the parties, we do not find any reason to interfere in the present writ petition. As is apparent from the record, the notification under Section 3A of the National Highways Act, 1956 (hereinafter referred to as "the Act") was issued on October 12, 2020. As informed by the learned counsel for the respondents, the notification under Section 3D of the Act was also issued on March 12, 2021. The petitioners had earlier filed Writ-C No.23630 of 2020. The same was disposed of on January 20, 2021. A perusal of the order dated January 20, 2021 passed by this Court shows that prayer made was for quashing of the notification under Section 3A of the Act. The only grievance raised therein was that the objections of the petitioners to the acquisition had not been considered. The aforesaid writ petition was disposed of, directing the Authority concerned to consider the objections filed by the petitioners. However, the Special Land Acquisition Officer, instead of considering the objections himself, had referred the matter to the Project Director, National Highways Authority, Moradabad vide order dated February 12, 2021. Aggrieved against that order, the petitioners again filed Writ-C No.14166 of 2021, titled as Pramod Kumar Gupta and others v. National Highways Authority of India and others. The same was allowed on July 1, 2021 by setting aside the order passed by the Special Land Acquisition Officer dated February 12, 2021, with direction to decide the objections afresh. It is in pursuance thereof that the impugned order has been passed by the Special Land Acquisition Officer.

5. The acquisition in hand is for the purpose of widening of the portion of National Highway No.24 (Hapur-Moradabad Section). A perusal of the impugned order shows that in terms of the direction issued by this Court, opinion of the expert was taken and it was found that the acquisition of land for widening of portion of National Highway No.24 is perfect when considered on its technical aspects. The argument raised by the petitioners that instead of widening of existing road, elevated road may be constructed, was also considered and rejected for the reason that the same will involve huge expenditure.

6. The direction issued by this Court in Writ-C No.14166 of 2021 filed by the petitioners was for consideration of their objections against the acquisition of their land. However, the Competent Authority found that before acquisition of the land for widening of the portion of National Highway No.24, all technical aspects were considered and it was found to be more feasible to acquire the land on one side of the road only. Even otherwise, acquisition of land for widening of an existing road on both sides of the road would disturb large number of persons as compared to one side. In any case, widening of road in the present case is to cater to the ever growing need of traffic on the road, to create infrastructure and check accidents. The petitioners are few of the land owners whose land has been acquired for widening of road. The project of the National Highways should not be put on hold on account of the grievance sought to be raised only by small set of affected persons. Through the action of the respondents for widening of National Highway No.24, the larger public interest will be served and the same will override the personal interest of the petitioners. It is well settled that whenever there is conflict between public interest and private interest, the former must prevail. In the case in hand, larger public interest certainly weighs in favour of creation of infrastructure even if there is some technical defect, though not.

7. It will be apt to note that the National Highways Authority of India is a professionally managed statutory body at the national level having expertise in the field of development and maintenance of National Highways. Before construction of new highways or widening and developing the existing highways, detailed project reports are prepared keeping in view the relevant factors including intensity of heavy vehicular traffic and larger public interest. The Courts are not equipped to comment upon the viability and feasibility of a particular project and whether a particular alignment is good or there can be better option. In such matters, the scope of judicial review is very limited.

8. Hon'ble the Supreme Court has time and again opined that projects of public importance should not be halted as the same would be against the larger public interest and the constitutional courts should weigh public interest vis-à-vis private interest, while exercising its discretion. The view could very well be gathered from the judgments of Hon'ble the Supreme Court in Ramniklal N. Bhutta and another Vs. State of Maharashtra and others, reported as AIR 1997 SC 1236, Pratibha Nema and others Vs. State of M.P. and others, reported as AIR 2003 SC 3140. The same view has been expressed by Rajasthan High Court in Jaipur Metro Rail Corporation Limited Vs. Alok Kotahwala and others, reported as AIR 2013 CC 754. Relevant extracts from the aforesaid judgments are reproduced hereunder:

i) Ramniklal N. Bhutta's case:

"10. Before parting with this case, we think it necessary to make a few observations relevant to land acquisition proceedings. Our country is now launched upon an ambitious programme of all round economic advancement to make our economy competitive in the world market. We are anxious to attract foreign direct investment to the maximum extent. We propose to compete with China economically. We wish to attain the pace of progress achieved by some of the Asian countries, referred to as "Asian tigers", e.g., South Korea, Taiwan and Singapore. It is, however, recognised on all hands that the infrastructure necessary for sustaining such a pace of progress is woefully lacking in our country. The means of transportation, power and communications are in dire need of substantial improvement, expansion and modernisation. These things very often call for acquisition of land and that too without any delay. It is, however, natural that in most of these cases, the persons affected challenge the acquisition proceedings in Courts. These challenges are generally in the shape of writ petitions filed in High Courts. Invariably, stay of acquisition is asked for and in some cases, orders by way of stay or injunction are also made. Whatever may have been the practices in the past, a time has come where the Courts should keep the larger public interest in mind while exercising their power of granting stay/injunction. The power under Article 226 is discretionary. It will be exercised only in furtherance of interests of justice and not merely on the making out of a legal point. And in the matter of land acquisition for public purposes, the interests of justice and the public interest coalesce. They are very often one and the same. Even in a Civil Suit, granting of injunction or other similar orders, more particularly of an interlocutory nature, is equally discretionary. The courts have to weigh the public interest vis-a-vis the private interest while exercising the power under Article 226 - indeed any of their discretionary powers. It may even be open to the High Court to direct, in case it finds finally that the acquisition was vitiated on account of non-compliance with some legal requirement that the persons interested shall also be entitled to a particular amount of damages to be awarded as a lump sum or calculated at a certain percentage of compensation payable. There are many ways of affording appropriate relief and redressing a wrong; quashing the acquisition proceeding is not the only mode of redress. To wit, it is ultimately a matter of balancing the competing interests. Beyond this, it is neither possible nor advisable to say. We hope and trust that these considerations will be duly borne in mind by the Courts while dealing with challenges to acquisition proceedings." (sic) (emphasis supplied)

ii) Pratibha Nema's case:

"38. When no prejudice has been demonstrated nor could be reasonably inferred, it would be unjust and inappropriate to strike down the Notification under Section 4(1) on the basis of a nebulous plea, in exercise of writ jurisdiction under Article 226. Even assuming that there is some ambiguity in particularizing the public purpose and the possibility of doubt cannot be ruled out, the constitutional Courts in exercise of jurisdiction under Article 226 or 136 should not, as a matter of course, deal a lethal blow to the entire proceedings based on the theoretical or hypothetical grievance of the petitioner. It would be sound exercise of discretion to intervene when a real and substantial grievance is made out, the non-redressal of which would cause prejudice and injustice to the aggrieved party. Vagueness of the public purpose, especially, in a matter like this where it is possible to take two views, is not something which affects the jurisdiction and it would, therefore, be proper to bear in mind the considerations of prejudice and injustice."

iii) Jaipur Metro Rail Corporation Limited's case:

"31. With respect to ecological balance, there has to be sustainable development and such projects of immense public importance cannot he halted. It is not the case that requisite permissions from the Central Government and the State Government have not been obtained, thus, objections were flimsy. In other petitions also pertaining to the same Project, this Court has held that such project of immense public importance should not be put to halt. Thus, flimsy and untenable objections were raised, which have been rightly rejected after due application of mind.

48. On merits, we find the order of interim stay passed by the single Bench to be untenable, thus, we have no hesitation in setting aside the same. Suffice it to observe that in such cases of public importance of Metro Rail Project, there should not be any interim stay, rather an effort should be made to decide the matter finally at an early date. Staying the land acquisition proceedings is not appropriate and would be against the larger public interest involved in such projects. Thus, relying upon the decision in the case of Ramniklal N. Bhutta (supra), we hold that in the matter of immense public importance like the present one, the power to grant interim stay under Article 226 of the Constitution should not be exercised in the normal course."

9. If considered in the light of the ennunciation of law as referred to above, in our opinion, the petitioners do not deserve any relief as widening of National Highway is a project of national importance and larger public interest. The challenge to the acquisition has been made by a small set of persons affected by acquisition. The project cannot be put on hold as any road is to be constructed as per alighment which cannot possibly be changed at one particular spot.

10. For the reasons mentioned above, we do not find any merit in the present petition. The same is, accordingly, dismissed.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Pankaj Bhatia, J.)

1. Heard Shri Girish Chandra Verma, Advocate assisted by Shri Vinay Kumar Verma, learned counsel for the petitioner and Shri Devansh Bhardwaj, learned Additional Chief Standing Counsel for the State.

2. The present petition has been filed alleging that respondent no.5 has been illegally elected as Gram Pradhan. It is stated that notification for holding election of Gram Pradhans in the State of U.P. was issued by the Election Commission in the year 2021 fixing various dates for the proposed election. The election was scheduled to be held on 19.04.2021. It is stated that the petitioner as well as other contesting candidates filed their nominations for election of Gram Panchayat - Poore Dhadhu. Respondent no.5 also filed his nomination for contesting the election of Gram Panchayat on 07.04.2021. The said application was appended with an affidavit dated 06.04.2021 wherein respondent no.5 had indicated his age as 21 years, however, as per the school records, the date of birth of respondent no.5 is 14.09.2000 and thus, respondent no.5 was not aged 21 years on the date of election, however, the nomination of respondent no.5 was accepted by Assistant District Election Officer.

3. It is further on record that the petitioner and 12 other candidates contested the election and respondent no.5 was declared elected. In short, the submission is that respondent no.5 could not have participated in the election as he was under age and thus, his election was bad in law. It is argued that the acceptance of his nomination form was clearly erroneous.

4. The present petition has been filed with the following two prayers:

"i. issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of mandamus commanding the opposite parties no.2 to 4 to declare the election of the opposite party no.5 for the post of Gram Pradhan Gram Panchayat - Poore Dhadhu held on 19.04.2021 is void ab initio as the opposite party no.5 was disqualified.

ii. issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of mandamus commanding the opposite parties no.2 & 3 to refer the objection/application filed by the petitioner

U/S 5-A, 9-A, red with Article 243-F of the Constitution of India Us 6-A to the prescribed authority for disposal of the same. Further directions are to be issued to the opposite party no.4 who is the prescribed authority for taking decision expeditiously within the time fix by this Hon'ble Court."

5. At the very outset, learned counsel for the petitioner argues that he is not pressing the writ petition insofar as it relates to prayer no.1 and confines his prayer to prayer no.2 made in the writ petition.

6. Learned counsel for the petitioner argues that Article 243K of the Constitution of India provides for election of the Panchayats to be held under the superintendence, direction and control of the State Election Commission. In terms of the mandate casted by the Constitution, specific provisions have been incorporated under the U.P. Panchayat Raj Act (hereinafter referred to as 'the Act') of elections to the Panchayats as detailed in Chapter II A and III-A of the Act.

7. He places reliance on Section 5A of the said Act to impress this Court that the persons as defined under Section 5A are disqualified for being chosen as a Pradhan or a Member of the Gram Panchayat and the proviso to Section 5A(a) of the Act specifically provides that a person would be disqualified if he has not attained the age of 21 years.

8. Learned counsel for the petitioner further places reliance on Section 6A of the Act, which confers the power on the prescribed authority to decide any question, which arises out of a contention that the person has incurred disqualification to be elected as a Pradhan or a Member of the Gram Panchayat.

9. In the light of the mandate of Section 6A of the Act, it is argued that the petitioner had filed an appropriate application after the election was over and in terms of the mandate of Section 6A of the Act, the matter is to be decided by the prescribed authority, which is not being done.

10. Learned counsel for the petitioner has drawn my attention to the provisions of Section 9A of the Act, which provides for the persons who are eligible to vote and tried to impress that the person who has not completed the age of 21 years is neither eligible to vote nor can be said to be qualified to be elected as a Member of office bearer of the Gram Panchayat.

11. He has also drawn my attention to Article 243F of the Constitution of India to argue that the person who has applied for being elected as a Member of the Gram Panchayat would be disqualified if he has not attained the age of 21 years. The petitioner places reliance on Annexure - 2, the form filled by respondent no.5, to argue that respondent no.5 had deliberately not disclosed his date of birth in the said form.

12. Learned Additional Chief Standing Counsel on the other hand places reliance on Section 12C of the Act to argue that all the questions pertaining to the election can be questioned by presenting an application to the authority and challenging the election.

13. Learned Additional Chief Standing Counsel further argues that even in terms of the mandate of Article 243O, there is a specific bar to challenge any election except by an election petition to be presented before such an authority, as may be provided for under the law. Thus, in the light of the said, he argues that the petitioner for the relief claimed is liable to be dismissed.

14. In rejoinder the learned counsel for the petitioner argues that specific mandate of the provisions of Section 5A, Section 6A and Section 9A confer a mandatory obligation upon the prescribed to decide the question pertaining to disqualification. He argues that although the remedy of challenging the application is available under Section 12C of the Act, the petitioner has two remedies and he has the right to elect one of the said remedies and the petitioner has chosen to approach the prescribed authority by filing the application, which he bound to decide in terms of the mandate of Section 6A of the Act.

15. It is argued that the petitioner has a right to elect a remedy that he chooses to, wherever two remedies are provided in any statute. In support of the said argument, he places reliance on the judgment of the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Andhra Pradhesh State Financial Corporation v. GAR Re-Rolling Mills & Ors. - AIR 1994 SC 2151 wherein the Hon'ble Supreme Court had considered the powers of the Financial Corporation constituted under the State Financial Corporation Act, 1951 in respect of their remedies available for recovery of the dues under Sections 29 & 31 and in view of that context, the Hon'ble Supreme Court had ordered that both the remedies were available and it was upon the Financial Corporation to have elected either of the said remedies.

16. He further places reliance on the judgment of this Court Dated 15.07.2021 rendered in Writ Petition No.14674 (MS) of 2021 (Mohammad Yunus v. State of U.P. & Ors.) wherein this Court had permitted the petitioner therein to file an appropriate application and the prescribed authority was directed to take a decision thereupon in terms of Section 6A of the Act.

17. He further places reliance on the judgment of this Court in the case of Srimati Sarita Devi v. State of U.P. & Ors. - Civil Misc. Writ Petition No.56318 of 2010 decided on 28.10.2010 wherein this Court was considering the issue as to whether shiksha mitra would fall within the definition of a person holding the office of profit.

18. He lastly relies upon the judgment of this court in the case of Smt. Shyam Dulari Devi v. State of U.P. - AIR 2005 Allahabad 388 wherein this Court had held that such disputes pertaining to the election can be raised only by filing an election petition under Section 12C of the Act.

19. In the light of the submissions made at the Bar, this Court is to consider whether the prayer made by the petitioner for directing the prescribed authority to decide the objections filed under Section 5A of the Act is to be granted more so in view of the fact that the elections have already come to an end.

20. The documents on record bears that the election petition has already been filed, although not by the petitioner by a third person namely Mahendra Kumar, which is pending consideration.

21. Before adverting to the disputes raised in the present petition, it is essential to see the scheme of Chapter - II A and IIIA of the Act.

22. Chapter II A of the act provides for disqualification of members of gram panchayat and electoral rolls, etc.

23. Section 5A elaborates the disqualifications elaborated for persons desirous of being chosen as pradhan or a member of gram panchayat. Section 5A(a) is quoted hereinbelow:

"5-A. Disqualification of membership - A person shall be disqualified for being chosen as, and for being, the pradhan or a member of a Gram Panchayat, if he -

(a) is so disqualified by or under any law for the time being in force for the purposes of elections to the State Legislature;

Provided that no person shall be disqualified on the ground that he is less than 25 years of age, if he has attained the age of 21 years

....."

24. Section 6A of the Act confers the powers on the prescribed authority to decide any challenge regarding disqualification incurred under Section 5A. Section 6A reads as under:

"6-A. Decision on question as to disqualification.- If any question arises as to whether a person has become subject to any disqualification mentioned in Section 5-A or in sub-section (1) of Section 6, the qu3stion shall be referred to the prescribed authority for his decision and his decision shall, subject to the result of any appeal as may be prescribed, be final."

25. Section 9 of the said chapter mandates for preparation of electoral roll for each territorial constituencies.

26. Chapter III A was inserted in the Act by virtue of amending Act No 9 of 1994 and provides for Pradhan and elaborates the manner of electing the Pradhan.

27. Section 11B of the Act provides for election of Pradhan. Section 11D of the Act makes certain further prohibitions in respect of the persons who are seeking election as a Pradhan. Section 12A of the Act provides for the manner of election to the office of Pradhan or a Member of Gram Panchayat and provides that they shall be elected through a secret ballot. Section 12BB confers the power of superintendence of election on the State Election Commission and Section 12C of the Act specifically provides for challenge to the person appointed as Pradhan or a Member of Gram Panchayat and specifically prohibits that the same shall not be called in question except by an application presented to such authority within such time and the manner as may be prescribed on the grounds as laid down under Section 12C of the Act.

Section 12C of the Act is quoted herein below:

"12-C. Application for questioning the elections - (1) The election of a person as Pradhan or as member of a Gram Panchayat shall not be called in question except by an application presented to such authority within such time and in such manner as may be prescribed on the ground that -

(a) the election has not been a free election by reason that the corrupt practice of bribery or undue influence has extensively prevailed at the election, or

(b) that the result of the election has been materially affected -

(i) by the improper acceptance or rejection of any nomination or;

(ii) by gross failure to comply with the provisions of this Act or the rules framed thereunder.

(2) The following shall be deemed to be corrupt practices of bribery or undue influence for the purposes of this Act -

(A) Bribery, that is to say, any gift, offer or promise by a candidate or by any other person with the connivance of a candidate of any gratification of any person whomsoever, with the object, directly, or indirectly of inducing -

(a) a person to stand or not to stand as, or withdraw from being, a candidate at any election; or

(b) an elector to vote or refrain from voting at an election; or as a reward to -

(i) a person for having so stood or not stood or having withdrawn his candidature; or

(ii) an elector for having voted or refrained from voting.

(B) Undue influence, that is to say, any direct or indirect interference or attempt to interfere on the part of a candidate or of any other person with the connivance of the candidate with the free exercise of any electoral right;

Provided that without prejudice to the generality of the provisions of this clause any such person as is referred to therein who -

(i) threatens any candidate, or any elector, or any person in whom a candidate or any elector is interested, with injury of any kind including social ostracism and ex-communication or expulsion from any caste or community; or

(ii) induces or attempts to induce a candidate or an elector to believe that he or any person in whom he is interested will become or will be rendered an object of divine displeasure or spiritual censure, shall be deemed to interfere with the free exercise of the electoral right of such candidate or elector within the meaning of this clause.

(3) The application under sub-section (1) may be presented by any candidate at the election or any elector and shall contain such particulars as may be prescribed.

Explanation - Any person who filed a nomination paper at the election whether such nomination paper was accepted or rejected, shall be deemed to be a candidate at the election.

(4) The authority to whom the application under sub-section (1) is made shall in the matter of -

(i) hearing of the application and the procedure to be followed at such hearing;

(ii) setting aside the election, or declaring the election to be void or declaring the applicant to be duly elected or any other relief that may be granted to the petitioner, have such powers and authority as may be prescribed.

(5) Without prejudice to generality of the powers to be prescribed under subsection (4) the rules may provide for summary hearing and disposal of an application under sub-section (1).

(6) Any party aggrieved by an order of the prescribed authority upon an application under sub-section (1) may, within thirty days from the date of the order, apply to the District Judge for revision of such order on any one or more of the following grounds, namely -

(a) that the prescribed authority has exercised a jurisdiction not vested in it by law;

(b) that the prescribed authority has failed to exercise a jurisdiction so vested;

(c) that the prescribed authority has acted in the exercise of its jurisdiction illegally or with material irregularity.

(7) The District Judge may dispose of the application for revision himself or may assign it for disposal to any Additional District Judge, Civil Judge or Additional Civil Judge under his administrative control and may recall it from any such officer or transfer it to any other such officer.

(8) The revising authority mentioned in sub-section (7) shall follow such procedure as may be prescribed, and may confirm, vary or rescind the order of the prescribed authority or remand the case to the prescribed authority for re-hearing and pending its decision pass such interim orders as may appear to it to be just and convenient.

(9) The decision of the prescribed authority, subject to any order passed by the revising authority under this section, and every decision of the revising authority passed under this section, shall be final."

28. From the scheme of the two chapters that is Chapter II A and Chapter III A it is clear that the Chapter II A of the Act can be termed as a step prior to holding of the elections and provides for disqualification under Section 5A in respect of persons who are desirous of being chosen as Pradhan or a Member of Gram Panchayat with powers being conferred on prescribed authority for deciding any question pertaining to disqualification under Section 6 A. whereas Chapter III A provides for manner of holding elections.

29. In the light of the scheme of two chapters as elaborated above, the submission of counsel for the petitioner cannot be accepted as it would provide for incongruity in between the two remedies provided under the two chapters.

30. Scheme of Chapter II A is clear and makes provisions for decision on all the disputes, which arise prior to election being held, in terms of the mandate of Section 6A of the Act whereas in terms of Chapter III-A, once the election process starts and culminates, the challenge to the election can be done only by virtue of preferring an election petition under Section 12C of the Act, to clarify, the powers exercised by prescribed authority prior to holding of the elections pertaining to disqualifications are to be decided in terms of the mandate of Section 6A of the Act, however, once the election process starts any challenge to the election can take place only by filing an election petition under Section 12C of the Act.

31. If the submission of learned counsel for the petitioner is accepted to the effect that two remedies are available to any person to challenge the election it would result in incongruities, which on the face of the scheme of the Act does not appear to be acceptable. It is well settled that any interpretation which results in absurdities and does not lead to harmonious interpretation is to be avoided.

32. The interpretation as recorded above is also in consonance with the mandate of Article 243O of the Constitution of India. Any other interpretation especially interpretation as argued by counsel for the petitioner would be clearly in conflict with mandate of Article 243O of the Constitution of India.

33. The other submission of counsel for the petitioner that neither now he is a stop from filing an election petition as being beyond limitation and thus the petitioner's application under Section 5A of the Act should be decided, cannot be accepted in view of the findings recorded by me hereinabove to the effect that the only recourse available after the elections are held is to file an election petition as prescribed under Section 12C of the Act.

34. The judgment in the case of Mohammad Yunus (supra) does not consider the scheme of the Act and intent of Section 12C of the Act and Article 243O of the Constitution of India, thus, the same cannot benefit the petitioner in any manner.

35. The judgment in the case of Srimati Sarita Devi (supra) also does not go into the question of available forum for challenging the election and only decides the issue of "office of profit" and thus would not have any bearing on the present case.

36. The judgment in the case of Smt. Shyam Dulari Devi (supra) although does not consider the issue of Chapter II-A and Chapter III-A in detail, however, notices the bar created by virtue of Article 243O of the Constitution of India and Section 12C of the Act and unequivocally holds that the remedy is preferring election petition under Section 12C of the Act when the occasion to challenge the election arises.

37. The judgment in the case of Andhra Pradesh State Financial Corporation (supra) will not have any bearing on the case inasmuch as the remedies available under the Act are twofold; one which arise prior to holding of the election and second which is provided for after the elections are held. Thus, the two remedies do not operate simultaneously and in the same sphere, as such, the said judgment has no applicability in the present case.

38. In view of the findings as recorded above and considering the scheme of the Act, the relief as pressed by the counsel for the petitioner cannot be granted. The petition lacks merit and is accordingly dismissed.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Jaspreet Singh, J.)

1. Heard Shri Amitesh Pratap Singh, learned counsel for the petitioner, learned standing counsel for the State-respondents, Shri Mohan Singh, learned counsel for the respondent No.3, Shri Aftab Ahmad, learned counsel for the respondent No.11 and Shri Yogesh Singh, learned counsel for the respondent No.5.

2. Learned counsel for the petitioner has filed a supplementary affidavit after serving a copy thereof on the learned counsel for the State-respondents as well as the private-respondents, which is taken on record.

3. With the consent of the learned counsel for the parties, the matter is being disposed of at the admission stage itself.

4. Under challenge is the order dated 02.03.2022 passed by the Additional Commissioner, Administration, Ayodhya Division, Ayodhya, whereby the revision of the petitioner has been dismissed and the order dated 02.06.2010 passed by the Sub-Divisional Officer, Jalalpur, District Ambedkar Nagar has been upheld.

5. In order to appreciate the controversy involved, certain facts giving rise to the instant petition are being noticed hereinafter, first.

6. The petitioner Smt. Fatma Kubra initially moved an application before the Sub-Divisional Officer, under Section 143 of the U.P. Z.A. & L.R. Act, wherein it was stated that the petitioner has a house constructed over Gata No.1210(M) measuring 0.006 hectares, situate at Wajidpur Town, Pargana Surhurpur, Tehsil Jalalpur, District Amebedkar Nagar, apart from the house, the petitioner also has a shop constructed over the land wherein she is residing along with her family. It was prayed that the Gata No.1210(M) has been divided amongst the family members and she has received her share and on her share, she has raised construction. Since, the land is being used for purposes other than agriculture, accordingly, the land may be declared as 'abadi'. The said application has been brought on record as Annexure No.3.

7. Initially on the application moved by the petitioner, a report was called for which was filed on 30.01.2004. Upon an inspection made by Naib Tehsildar, it was found that Plot No.1210(M) was recorded in the revenue records in the name of Mehandi Hasan, Murtaza Husain, Raza Husain and Abdul Hasan. Upon an inspection, it was found that the aforesaid Plot No.1210(M) had constructions and the tenure holders had raised residential construction, which was in the shape of 'abadi' and it was also proposed in the report that the land can be recorded under the Category 6(2) as 'abadi'.

8. Considering the aforesaid report, the Sub-Divisional Officer by means of the order dated 31.03.2006 held that Gata No.1210(M) measuring 0.003 hectares which is recorded in the name of Mehandi Hasan and others and is in the shape of an 'abadi' house, the same may be placed in Category 6(2) as 'abadi' after deleting the names of the other co-tenure holders.

9. This order dated 31.03.2006 became the subject matter of controversy inasmuch as Mohasin Raza, Kalbe Husain, Murtaza Husain, Zafar Husain and Dawar Husain filed a revision against the order dated 31.03.2006 whereas simultaneously Abdul Hasan, the respondent No.5 moved an application for recall of the order dated 31.03.2006. The memo of revision preferred by the some of the tenure holders as mentioned above has been brought on record as Annexure No.7 while the application for recall moved by the respondent No.5 has been brought on record as Annexure No.8. Thus, it would be seen against the order dated 31.03.2006 two proceedings were initiated, one for recall by the respondent No.5 and the other was a revision preferred by the other tenure holders.

10. During pendency of the revision preferred, by few of the tenure holders, the application for recall was considered and heard by the Sub-Divisional Officer concerned and the said order dated 31.03.2006 was set aside by means of the order dated 02.06.2010. While passing of the order dated 02.06.2010, the Sub-Divisional Officer passed an order that the names of the co-tenure holders be recorded and it be declared that the land in question is being used for purposes other than the agriculture. In view of the order passed on 02.06.2010, the revision which was preferred by some of the tenure-holders also came to be dismissed by means of the order dated 14.02.2022 on the ground that since the order dated 31.03.2006 already stands recalled, therefore, the revision had been rendered infructuous. The order dated 14.02.2022 dismissing the revision No.962/2008-09 preferred by some of the tenure-holders has been brought on record along with the supplementary affidavit filed by the petitioner today.

11. Being aggrieved against the order dated 02.06.2010, the petitioner preferred a revision which was dismissed by means of the order dated 02.03.2022. thus, these two orders dated 02.06.2010 and 02.03.2022 are under challenged before this Court.

12. The submission of the learned counsel for the petitioner is that once the order dated 31.03.2006 had been passed by the Sub-Divisional Officer against which some of the tenure-holders had filed a revision bearing No.962/2008-09 and in such circumstances, the Sub-Divisional Officer concerned did not have right to recall the order and as such the order dated 02.06.2010 was without jurisdiction.

13. It is further urged that the revisional Court has also committed manifest error in failing to consider this aspect of the matter and by rejecting. Thus, the issue involved requires indulgence of this Court.

14. Learned counsel for the private-respondents Shri Aftab Ahmad and Shri Yogesh Singh have raised an issue that the instant petition is not maintainable at the behest of the petitioner. It is submitted by Shri Aftab Ahmad that the petitioner, who is not recorded tenure-holder was not entitled to move an application under Section 143 of the U.P.Z.A. & L.R. Act inasmuch as such application seeking declaration in terms of Section 143 of the U.P.Z.A. & L.R. Act can only be moved by recorded tenure-holder. It is further urged that in exercise of powers under Section 143 of the U.P.Z.A. & L.R. Act, the Sub-Divisional Officer concerned can only give a declaration after complying with the necessary formalities and compliance of Rules that the land of which a declaration is sought is being used for purposes other than agriculture. It is further urged that in terms of Section 143 of the U.P.Z.A. & L.R. Act, the consequences of an order passed under Section 143 of the U.P.Z.A. & L.R. Act has been provided but nevertheless it cannot give a right to the Sub-Divisional Officer to delete the names of the tenure-holders or to change the land use in such a manner that it can be recorded as an 'abadi' land in Category 6(2). It is thus, urged that the initiation of proceedings at the behest of the petitioner was completely without jurisdiction including the order passed by the Sub-Divisional Officer dated 31.03.2006. Moreover, the said recorded tenure-holders were not impleaded and as soon as they became aware, an application for recall came to be filed. Once set of tenure-holders preferred revision which remained pending before the revisional authority, however, during pendency of the said revision, since, the order dated 31.03.2006 was recalled, there was no requirement for any further adjudication in the revision which came to be dismissed as having become infructuous by means of the order dated 14.02.2022.

15. Learned counsel, for the other set of tenure-holders, Shri Yogesh Singh has further taken the arguments forward on behalf of the private-respondents to submit that the petitioner has also not approached the Court with clean hands inasmuch as in the application seeking declaration under Section 143 of the U.P.Z.A. & L.R. Act she has stated in Paragraph-5 that she is residing in the said house and she has received the area in terms of settlement and has raised constructions. It is urged that while filing the writ petition, the petitioner became aware of the fact that she was not entitled to move an application in the first place as she was not recorded tenure-holder. She has sought to be improved her case as in paragraph 5 of the writ petition, it has been stated that the husband of the petitioner is of unsound mind, therefore, in the capacity of legal guardian of her husband, the petitioner had moved an application under Section 143 of the U.P.Z.A. & L.R. Act.

16. It is further urged that insofar as the family settlement/agreement is concerned, the same has also not been brought on record and it was not open for the petitioner to have instituted the petition before the Sub-Divisional Officer and now once the order dated 02.06.2010 has been passed, which has been duly implemented and actually restores the position by declaring the land of Gata No.1210(M) situate in Gram Wajidpur as being used for purposes other than agriculture including incorporating the names of the remaining tenure-holders. Thus, substantial justice has been done and even what has been sought by the petitioner seeking declaration has been allowed, consequently, the petitioner does not have a right to assail the order in the writ petition.

17. The Court has considered the rival submissions and also perused the material on record.

18. The emphasis laid by the learned counsel for the petitioner while pressing the petition is that against the order dated 31.03.2006, once a revision was pending before the revisional authority, the Sub-Divisional Officer did not have powers to recall the order dated 31.03.2006. However, the aforesaid submissions does not impress the Court for the following reason contained herein.

19. At the very outset, it will be relevant to notice that an application under Section 143 of the U.P.Z.A. & L.R. Act can only be filed by the recorded tenure-holder. For ready reference, Section 143 of the U.P.Z.A. & L.R. Act is being reproduced hereinafter:-

"143. Use of holding for industrial or residential purposes*. - [(1) Where a [bhumidhar with transferable rights] uses his holding or part thereof for a purpose not connected with agriculture, horticulture or animal husbandry which includes pisciculture and poultry farming, the Assistant Collector-in-charge of the sub-division may, suo motu or on an application, after making such enquiry as may be prescribed, make a declaration to that effect.*

(1-A) Where a declaration under sub-section (1) has to be made in respect of a part of the holding the Assistant Collector-in-charge of the sub-divisions may in the manner prescribed demarcate such part for the purposes of such declaration.]

(2) Upon the grant of the declaration mentioned in sub-section (1) the provisions of this chapter (other than this section) shall cease to apply to the [bhumidhar with transferable rights] with respect to such land and he shall thereupon be governed in the matter of devolution of the land by personal law to which he is subject.

[(3) Where a bhumidhar with transferable rights has been granted, before or after the commencement of the Uttar Pradesh Land Laws (Amendment) Act, 1978, any loan by the Uttar Pradesh Financial Corporation or by any other Corporation owned or controlled by the State Government, on the security of any land held by such bhumidhar, the provisions of this Chapter (other than this section) shall cease to apply to such bhumidhar with respect to such land and he shall thereupon be governed in the matter of devolution of the land by personal law to which he is subject.]"

20. From the perusal of the aforesaid, it would be clear that it is only a recorded bhumidhar, who can make the said application. Moreover, from the reading of sub-section (2) of Section 143 of the U.P.Z.A. & L.R. Act it indicates the consequence of the declaration as made in sub-section (1) is that the provisions of the Chapter-VIII of the U.P.Z.A. & L.R. Act shall cease to apply to the bhumidhar with transferable rights and in respect to such land and he shall be governed in the matter of devolution of interest in the land by personal law to which he is subjected to.

21. Thus, it is clear that apparently the initiation of the provisions at the behest of the petitioner was incorrect. Moreover, she did not have a right to move an application in the first place and what is most strange that the Sub-Divisional Officer in its order dated 31.03.2006 directed that the names of the recorded tenure-holders to be deleted and the land be recorded as 'abadi' under Category 6(2). This kind of a direction in the order, in proceedings under Section 143 of the U.P.Z.A. & L.R. is not known in law. This exercise of jurisdiction by the Sub-Divisional Officer was patently erroneous and without jurisdiction.

22. It is not disputed by the learned counsel for the petitioner that while passing the order the other tenure-holders were not impleaded nor they were heard. This being the situation where the tenure-holders, who had been recorded in the revenue records suddenly find that their names have been deleted in proceedings under Section 143 of the U.P.Z.A. & L.R. definitely had a right to make an application for recall. One set of tenure-holders also filed a revision bearing No.962/2008-09. It is also not disputed by the learned counsel for the petitioner that during pendency of this revision, there was no interim order which prevented the Sub-Divisional Officer concerned to adjudicate the application for recall on merits.

23. It is only once the order dated 02.06.2010 was passed that the petitioner preferred a revision which finally came to be decided by means of the order dated 02.03.2022. In the aforesaid backdrop, it cannot be said that the order impugned dated 02.06.2010 was bad for want of jurisdiction. The revisional Court has also considered the issue appropriately and taking the overall view has maintained the order dated 02.06.2010. This exercise of jurisdiction by the revisional Court does not call for any interference.

24. Learned counsel for the petitioner could not point out the illegality in the orders especially when the order dated 02.06.2010 was in accordance with law having restored the names of the recorded tenure-holders and also directed that the land in question be recorded in appropriate column as being used for purposes other than agriculture.

25. Learned counsel for the petitioner could not give any explanation as to how in a proceeding under Section 143 of the U.P.Z.A. & L.R., could the Sub-Divisional Officer order deletion of the names of tenure-holders and direct the land in question be recorded as 'abadi'. Thus, this Court finds that the order passed by the Sub-Divisional Officer is legally unsustainable.

26. There is another aspect of this matter, which may be noticed that in case if the order dated 02.06.2010 is interfered with naturally it will have the effect of reviving the order dated 31.03.2006.

27. It is now well settled that under writ jurisdiction, the Court will not exercise its powers to interfere in an order and set it aside by an order, the ultimate effect of which would be to revive or give rise to another illegal order.

28. The Court is fortified in its view in light of the decision in the case of Wasim Raza Khan v. Board of Revenue, 2014 (123) RD 107, wherein it has been held as under:-

"14. In view of the aforesaid legal position, if the order dated 15.7.2013 is interfered with and quashed, another illegal order dated 30.4.2010 would revive. It is settled that if by quashing of an illegal order, another illegality revives in that eventuality, the Court should not interfere with such orders under the writ jurisdiction.

15. The view taken by me finds support from the judgments of the Apex Court in Gadde Venkateswara Rao Vs Government of Andhra Pradesh & Ors. AIR 1966 SC 828, Champalal Binani Vs. CIT, West Bengal AIR 1970 SC 645, Maharaja Chintamani Saran Nath Shahdeo Vs. State of Bihar & Ors. AIR 1999 SC 3609, Mallikarjuna Mudhagal Nagappa & Ors. Vs. State of Karnataka & Ors. AIR 2000 SC 2976, Chandra Singh Vs State of Rajasthan, AIR

7 2003 SC 2889, S.D.S. Shipping Pvt. Ltd. Vs. Jay Container Services Co. Pvt. Ltd. & Ors. 2003 (4) Supreme 44, State of Uttaranchal & Anr. Vs. Ajit Singh Bhola & Anr. (2004) 6 SCC 800 and State of Orissa & Anr. Vs Mamata Mohanty, (2011) 3 SCC 436."

29. In Indrapal Singh v. The Deputy Director of Consolidation, Kheri and another, 2019 (37) LCD 1233, a Coordinate Bench of this Court held as under:-

"21. The jurisdiction vested in this Court under Articles 226 and 227 of the Constitution of India is to advance justice and not to thwart it. The purpose and object to exercise such a prerogative and discretionary jurisdiction is to ensure that no injustice is caused. Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Roshan Deen vs. Preeti Lal, reported in [(2002) 1 SCC 100] has categorically held that "If justice becomes the byproduct of an erroneous view of law the High Court is not expected to erase such justice in the name of correcting the error of law".

22. Para 12 of the judgment in the case of Roshan Deen (supra) is relevant to be quoted herein, which is extracted hereunder:

"We are greatly disturbed by the insensitivity reflected in the impugned judgment rendered by the learned single Judge in a case where judicial mind would be tempted to utilize all possible legal measures to impart justice to a man mutilated so outrageously by his cruel destiny. The High Court non-suited him in exercise of a supervisory and extraordinary jurisdiction envisaged under Article 227 of the Constitution. Time and again this Court has reminded that the power conferred on the High Court under Article 226 and 227 of the Constitution is to advance justice and not to thwart it [vide State of U.P. v. District Judge, Unnao, (AIR 1984 SC 1401)]. The very purpose of such constitutional powers being conferred on the High Courts is that no man should be subjected to injustice by violating the law. The look out of the High Court is, therefore, not merely to pick out any error of law through an academic angle but to see whether injustice has resulted on account of any erroneous interpretation of law. If justice became the byproduct of an erroneous view of law the High Court is not expected to erase such justice in the name of correcting the error of law." (Emphasis supplied by the Court)"

30. Thus, in view of what has been discussed herein, this Court is completely satisfied that there is no error in either the order dated 02.06.2010 passed by the respondent No.2 which has been confirmed in revision vide order dated 02.03.2022 passed by the respondent No.1, which has been impugned in the instant petition. Learned counsel for the petitioner also could not satisfy as to how the initiation of the proceedings at the behest of the petitioner, who is not a recorded tenure-holder, could have been entertained and as to how and under what provisions, the Sub-Divisional Officer passed the order dated 31.03.2006.

31. Learned counsel for the petitioner has relied upon a decision of the Apex Court in Ram Prakash Agarwal and another v. Gopi Krishan and others, 2013 (31) LCD 881, wherein relying upon Paragraph-16, it has been urged by the learned counsel for the petitioner that once the proceedings stood concluded by the Court of first instance an application for recall by third party was not maintainable. He has also relied upon a decision in the case of M/s. Ratna Sugar Mills Co. Ltd. v. State of U.P. & Ors., AIR 1966 Alld 34.

32. Insofar as the Ram Prakash Agarwal's case (supra) is concerned, the same has no applicability in the present facts and circumstances of the case inasmuch as in the present case, the application under Section 143 of the U.P.Z.A. & L.R. was preferred by the petitioner on incorrect facts. Even treating the application on its face value, the same could not have been entertained by the Sub Divisional Officer concerned as the petitioner was not recorded tenure-holder and even otherwise the order which has been passed behind the back of the person, who was recorded tenure-holder, who has a right to file an application for recall to set aside the injustice which was done by the order dated 31.03.2006.

33. For the aforesaid reasons, the decision of Ram Prakash Agarwal (supra) does not come to the rescue of the petitioner.

34. Moreover, in Rabindra Singh v. Financial Commissioner, Cooperation, Punjab and others, (2008) 7 SCC 663, the Apex Court held as under:-

"19. A defendant in a suit has more than one remedy as regards setting aside of an ex parte decree. He can file an application for setting aside the ex parte decree; file a suit stating that service of notice was fraudulently suppressed; prefer an appeal and file an application for review.

20. In Bhanu Kumar Jain v. Archana Kumar [(2005) 1 SCC 787] this Court held : (SCC p. 797, para 26)

"26. When an ex parte decree is passed, the defendant (apart from filing a review petition and a suit for setting aside the ex parte decree on the ground of fraud) has two clear options, one, to file an appeal and another to file an application for setting aside the order in terms of Order 9 Rule 13 of the Code. He can take recourse to both the proceedings simultaneously but in the event the appeal is dismissed as a result whereof the ex parte decree passed by the trial court merges with the order passed by the appellate court, having regard to Explanation I appended to Order 9 Rule 13 of the Code a petition under Order 9 Rule 13 would not be maintainable. However, Explanation I appended to the said provision does not suggest that the converse is also true."

21. What matters for exercise of jurisdiction is the source of power and not the failure to mention the correct provisions of law. Even in the absence of any express provision having regard to the principles of natural justice in such a proceeding, the courts will have ample jurisdiction to set aside an ex parte decree, subject of course to the statutory interdict."

35. Thus, taking a holistic view, this Court finds that the Sub-Divisional Officer had erred in deleting the names of private-respondents/tenure holders and also to declare the land in question as 'abadi' vide order dated 31.03.2006. Moreover, in absence of any stay order passed in revision even if the Sub-Divisional Officer passed orders on merits on recall application, the same cannot be said to be faulty. Even otherwise by means of the order dated 02.06.2010 the declaration has been granted as sought by the petitioner and the deletion of names of other tenure-holders has also been rectified which is an outcome of sound exercise of jurisdiction by the Sub-Divisional Officer and this order dated 02.06.2010 has been affirmed in revision which requires no interfere.

36. In view of the aforesaid, the petition is completely devoid of merits and is accordingly dismissed. In the facts and circumstances, there shall be no order as to costs.

2. Dharmbir & ors.Vs St. of Hary. & ors.(CWP No. 4790 of 2015 Decided on Dt. 03.09.2015)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Rajesh Bindal, C.J. , & Hon'ble Piyush Agrawal, J.)

1. Challenge in the present petition is to the order dated November 19, 2020 vide which the claim of the petitioners for payment of compensation on account of alleged occupation of the land owned by the predecessors-in-interest of the petitioners, by the State was rejected.

2. It is the case of the petitioners that Late Bireshwari Prasad Narayan Singh, their predecessor-in-interest, was owner of the land. However, he had gone abroad more than 40 years back and settled there. The petitioners are living in India. They are stated to be settled in Bengaluru. They took note of the land only after the death of Late Bireshwari Prasad Narayan Singh on May 16, 2014. The claim is that the land having been taken by the State without acquisition, they are entitled to receive compensation.

3. On the other hand, the stand taken by learned counsel for respondents no. 1 to 5 is that the possession of the land was taken partially by U.P. Jal Nigam, partially by Vidyut Vitaran Khand and partially by Nagar Palika Parishad and land in question was acquired way back in 1970, and, now after more than 50 years the petitioners are not entitled for any relief. In support of his arguments, reliance has been placed on the decision of Hon'ble the Supreme Court in State of Maharastra Vs. Digambar, AIR 1995 SC 1991. Reliance is also placed on a Division Bench judgment of Punjab and Haryana High Court in CWP No.4790 of 2015, Dharambir and others Versus State of Haryana and others, decided on 3.9.2015.

4. After giving our thoughtful considerations to the submissions made by the learned counsel for the parties, we find that the writ petition is completely devoid of any merit and thus, the same deserves to be dismissed for the following reasons:

5. Issue regarding delay in filing petition for similar relief came up for consideration before Hon'ble the Supreme Court in Digambar's case (supra) where the allegation was that some land owned by the parties there was utilized in the year 1971-72 without acquisition, but the writ petition was filed claiming compensation in the year 1991. The same was dismissed on account of delay and laches as the land owners therein had failed to explain the delay of 20 years in filing the petition. The judgment of Bombay High Court was reversed where it had directed for grant of compensation. The relevant part thereof is extracted below:

"25. In our view, the above allegation in no way sufficient to hold that the writ petitioner (respondent here) has explained properly and satisfactorily the undue delay of 20 years which had occurred between the alleged taking of possession of his land and the date of filing of writ petition in the High court. We cannot overlook the fact that it is easy to make such kind of allegations against anybody that too against the State. When such general allegation is made against a State in relation to an event said to have occurred 20 years earlier, and the State's non-compliance with petitioners demands, State may not at all be in a position to dispute such allegation, having regard to the manner in which it is required to carry on its governmental functions. Undue delay of 20 years on the part of the writ petitioner, in invoking the High Court's extraordinary jurisdiction under Article 226 of the Constitution for grant of compensation to his land alleged to have been taken by the Government agencies, would suggest that his land was not taken at all, or if it had been taken it could not have been taken without his consent or if it was taken against his consent he had acquiesced in such taking and waived his right to take compensation for it." (emphasis supplied)

6. Similar issue came up for consideration before the Division Bench of this Court in Dharambir's case (supra) wherein the writ petitioner claiming compensation for alleged utilisation of land for construction of irrigation channel in the year 1953, filed in the year 2015 after 60 years was dismissed. It was observed therein that post independence there being few options form irrigation available, the inhabitants of the villages used to offer land to the State free of cost for providing infrastructural facilities such as construction of minor or road. Source of irrigation was more valuable than the value of land at that time, as it provided source of livelihood.

7. After hearing learned counsel for the parties and taking the above authorities into account, in our opinion, the petitioners are not entitled to any relief. The stand taken by the respondents is that possession of the land was taken about 40-50 years back and no issue was raised by the then owner or the petitioners at any stage, except the representation dated March 8, 2018. The land was earlier recorded in the name of the deceased Bireshwari Prasad Narayan Singh, who admittedly expired on May 16, 2014. It is not in dispute that the petitioners are living in Bengaluru, though it is claimed that Late Bireshwari Prasad Narayan Singh was living abroad.

8. Moreover, at this stage, after 50 years, no records will be available to justify any action. The petitioners had approached the authorities as well as this Court after huge delay.

9. For the reasons mentioned above, in our opinion, no case is made out for interference in the present writ petition for award of compensation to petitioners. The writ petition is, accordingly, dismissed.

List of Cases cited :

Common Cause Vs U.O.I. & ors., (2016) 11 SCC 455

1. The present writ petition has been filed impugning the orders dated September 3, 2019 and September 7, 2019 passed by respondent Nos. 1 and 3 respectively, vide which the claim of the petitioners for extension of lease beyond 40 years till 50 years, was rejected.

2. Learned counsel for the petitioners submitted that the petitioners were granted mining lease of silika sand on January 18, 1973 for a period of 20 years. It expired on January 17, 1993. They applied for renewal thereof well within time in terms of Rule 24-A of the Mineral Concession Rules, 1960 (hereinafter referred to as 'the 1960 Rules'). There was deemed renewal of petitioners' lease for another period of 20 years. It was to expire on January 17, 2013. Well before expiry of the aforesaid lease period, the petitioners filed application for second renewal thereof. While referring to the provisions of Section 8-A of the Mines and Minerals (Regulation and Development) Act, 1957 (hereinafter referred to as 'the 1957 Act'), which was inserted in the 1957 Act with effect from January 12, 2015 and relying upon a judgement of Hon'ble the Supreme Court in Common Cause Vs. Union of India and others, (2016) 11 SCC 455, the petitioners sought to claim that they were entitled to renewal of lease for a period of 10 years. The claim of the petitioners was rejected.

3. The argument of learned counsel for the petitioners is based on the observation made by Hon'ble the Supreme Court in Paragraph 37.5 in Common Cause's case (supra) which, according to him, provides for renewal of the lease after the amendment in the 1957 Act with effect from January 12, 2015.

4. After hearing learned counsel for the petitioners, we do not find any merit in the submissions made. The petitioners were entitled to renewal of their lease in the year 1993 in terms of the provision existing at that time. The same was renewed and expired on January 17, 2013. No provision was referred to, which provided automatic second renewal of the lease. In fact, admittedly, the lease of the petitioners expired on January 17, 2013. They never raised any grievance, either before the expiry thereof or subsequent thereto, about disposal of the application filed by the petitioners for renewal of lease. What is evident from the record is that after the judgement of Hon'ble the Supreme Court in Common Cause (supra), the petitioners again filed application for renewal of their lease. The impugned order has been passed thereon.

5. Considering the facts of the present case where the lease of the petitioners expired on January 17, 2013 and the provisions of Section 8-A of the 1957 Act having come into force on January 12, 2015, in our opinion, the petitioners could not have got their lease, which had already expired, revived. The judgement of Hon'ble the Supreme Court does not come to their rescue in terms of the observation made in the last paragraph thereof which provides that any leaseholder having suffered lapse, would be dis-entitled to any benefit of the amended provisions of the 1957 Act because of the express exclusion contemplated in Section 8-A (9) of the 1957 Act.

6. For the reasons mentioned above, we do not find any merit in the present writ petition.

7. The writ petition is, accordingly, dismissed.

B. Civil Law - Insurance - Group Personal Accident Insurance Policy - Mukhyamantri Kisan Evam Sarvhit Bima Yojna - Issue - Whether all and/or any bread winner (of an eligible family) were insured under the Insurance Policy, or the 'Mukhiya'/head of the family or the sole bread winner of the eligible family alone was insured - Held - it is the risk/contingency of loss of life of either the 'Mukhiya / head of the family' or a bread winner (described as 'Roti Arjak / bread earner') that is insured - intent of the Government Policy was to insure all adult active members of an eligible family who may have had an earning - coverage clause under the Insurance Policy read with the Government Policy is to allow for coverage of each adult earning hand of an eligible family (below 70 years of age), including its 'Mukhiya / head of the family' - fact that he may or may not be the sole bread winner, to a lesser or greater extent, would not be relevant. - in the unfortunate occurrence of more than one death during the policy period, the insurer may be exposed to honour only the first claim per eligible family (Para 47, 50, 52, 53)

In a road accident one Rahul Kumar, aged above 18 years, died - father of the Rahul Kumar namely Rajkumar was the 'Mukhiya / head of his family' & was alive on the date of the accident and he had an earning - At the time of death Rahul Kumar was engaged in agricultural activity, though along with his father - His mother made a claim for payment of Rs. 5 lacs under the Insurance Policy - It was repudiated by the petitioner-insurer for the reason the 'Mukhiya / head of the family' (of the deceased), i.e. father of the deceased Rahul Kumar, was alive on the date of death of Rahul Kumar - Claimant Preferred claim petition before the Permanent Lok Adalat - petitioner-insurer directed to pay Rs. 5 lacs to the claimant - Argument of insurer was that coverage was singular & It was extended only to the 'Mukhiya / head of the family' who would have been the bread winner of his family - Held - Rahul was a person covered under the Insurance Policy as a bread winner of his family - Since Rahul Kumar died during his father's lifetime and the claim there from arose first, the Permanent Lok Adalat has not committed any error in allowing the same - challenge raised in the writ petition is found lacking in merit.

1. The present and the connected matters involve a common question of law. The facts are not in dispute. Accordingly, these petitions have been heard together. Upon hearing, other petitions have been de-tagged owing to other issues found involved in those cases, requiring affidavits. However, all counsel (for the respective parties), were heard, on the following common question of law.

"Whether all and/or any bread winner (of an eligible family) were insured under the Insurance Policy, or the 'Mukhiya'/head of the family or the sole bread winner of the eligible family alone was insured?"

2. Heard Sri Parv Agarwal, Sri Pawan Kumar Singh, Sri Komal Mehrotra and Sri Ajay Singh, learned counsel for the petitioner - insurance company (appearing in different petitions); Sri Satya Deo Ojha and Sri Vidya Kant Shukla, learned counsel for the respondent-claimant (appearing in different petitions), on the common question of law, noted above.

3. Present writ petition has been filed by the insurance company against the order dated 24.08.2021, passed by the Permanent Lok Adalat, Muzaffarnagar, in Claim Petition - Case No. 191 of 2020 (Smt. Kuntesh Vs. Oriental Insurance Co. Ltd. & Ors.). Earlier, the petitioner-insurer had repudiated the claim made by the respondent-claimant. Presently, the claim petition instituted with respect to the tailor-made Group Personal Accident Insurance Policy (hereinafter referred to as the Insurance Policy) has been allowed. The Insurance Policy was taken out by the State of U.P., with the petitioner-insurer, pursuant to a Memorandum of Understanding (M.O.U. in short) dated 14.09.2016 (as amended), entered into between the State Government and the petitioner insurer (hereinafter referred to as the Agreement), to implement the State Government's welfare policy measure - the 'Mukhyamantri Kisan Evam Sarvhit Bima Yojna' (hereinafter referred to as the Government Policy). Earlier, it was known as the 'Samajvadi Kisan Evam Sarvhit Bima Yojna', for the term 14.09.2018 to 13.09.2019.

4. Further, the answer to the question of law noted above involves interpretation of the Insurance Policy and the Government Policy, already on record. The parties do not intend to file counter affidavits (to this writ petition). Accordingly, with the consent of parties, this case has been heard finally, at fresh stage. In other matters, affidavits have been called, owing to other issues involved.

5. Briefly, on 14.10.2018, a road accident took place. Therein, Rahul Kumar S/o Smt. Kuntesh/respondent no.1 suffered grievous injuries. He died. His mother/respondent no.1 made a claim for payment of Rs. 5 lacs under the Insurance Policy. It was repudiated by the petitioner-insurer, on 28.11.2019 on account of delay and also for the reason the 'Mukhiya / head of the family' (of the deceased), i.e. father of the deceased Rahul Kumar, namely, Raj Kumar was alive on the date of death of Rahul Kumar.

6. Being aggrieved, respondent no.1 preferred the claim petition before the Permanent Lok Adalat being PLA Case No. 191 of 2020. After efforts to conciliate failed, the Permanent Lok Adalat proceeded to adjudicate the dispute. Accordingly, it has framed the impugned award dated 24.08.2021. Thereby, the petitioner-insurer has been directed to pay Rs. 5 lacs to the claimant-respondent under the Insurance Policy, within a period of three months from the date of award. Failing that, interest @ 6% (from the date of presentation of the claim petition to the date of actual payment), has been awarded. The objection as to delay was decided against the petitioner-insurer since the claim was made within 30 days from the end of the policy term. No challenge has been pressed to that finding reached (by the Permanent Lok Adalat), in this writ petition.

7. Learned counsel for the petitioner have vehemently urged - the coverage under the Insurance Policy was to a pre-identified, single family member. The risk covered was accidental loss of life of the 'Mukhiya / head of the eligible family' who would have been the 'Roti Arjak' - bread earner (winner), of such family. On him, his family would have been wholly dependent, for its economic needs. No other risk - of accidental loss of life (of any other member of such family), was insured. Even if such other member may have had an income, he was not insured against accidental loss of life. Any other interpretation would violate the single person coverage (against accidental loss of life) offered by the Insurance Policy taken out by the State Government and the Agreement reached between the insurer and the State Government. The only contingencies involving other family members of the eligible family could arise in case(s) of accidental injury suffered or complete dependency of 'Mukhiya / head of the family' on his son. In those contingencies, the petitioner-insurer would be liable to the extent agreed.

8. In support of their submissions, learned counsel for the petitioner have extensively referred to the Insurance Policy and the Agreement/MOU dated 14.09.2016 (as amended from time to time) entered between the Oriental Insurance Company and the Governor of U.P. Those documents have been annexed to Writ - C No. 6995 of 2022 (The Oriental Insurance Company Ltd vs. State of U.P. & 2 Ors.). The same have been read in this proceeding.

9. Thus, reference has been made to the gross premium - Rs. 54,03,58,132.00 paid by the State Government to cover the risk of accidental loss of life - of an estimated 29,39,000 citizens (of the districts included in and collectively described as Meerut Cluster of the State of Uttar Pradesh), for the policy term 14.09.2018 to 13.09.2019. Relying on Clause 4 of the Insurance Policy, it has been urged, the total number of eligible families in Meerut Cluster was first estimated at 29,39,000. Therefore, exactly that many lives/risk to life were insured, assuming one 'Mukhiya'/ 'Roti Arjak' i.e. head-of-family/bread winner, per eligible family. Clause 5 of the Insurance Policy clearly makes applicable the terms of the MOU dated 14.09.2016, entered between the Governor and the Oriental Insurance Company.

10. Referring to the Agreement as last amended on 13.09.2018, it has been submitted, different premium amounts were worked out for different Clusters (of districts) of the State, depending upon estimated number of eligible families residing in each Cluster. Thus, Clause 1 of the Agreement reads as below:

"1. Insurance Company i.e. The Oriental Insurance Company Limited undertakes that it shall provide services for the implementation of Mukhyamantri Kisan and Sarvhit Bima Yojna as per the conditions laid in para (e & f) as mentioned above for below cluster(s)

S No	Cluster	Annual Premium Amount Inclusive of all taxes, applicable duties and other charges (in INR)
1	Agra	Rs. 105,93,81,344 (One Hundred Five crores Ninety Three lacs Eighty One Thousand Three hundred fourty Four) Only
2	Meerut	Rs. 54,03,58,132 (Fifty four crores Three lacs Fifty Eight Thousand One hundred Thirty two) Only
3	Bareilly	Rs. 74,22,45,091 (Seventy Four crores Twenty Two lacs Forty Five Thousand Ninety One) Only
4	Kanpur	Rs. 76,09,84,705 (Seventy Six crores Nine lacs Eighty Four Thousand Seven hundred Five) Only
5	Basti	Rs. 25,74,05,500 (Twenty Five crores Seventy Four lacs FiveForty Five Thousand Ninety One) Only Thousand Five hundred) Only

11. Also, reference was made to Clause 3 of the Agreement. It contains the text of the 'Mukhyamantri Kisan Evam Sarvhit Bima Yojna' (as amended) / Government Policy. The opening clause of the Government Policy recites its object. It reads:

"योजना का उद्देश्य विभिन्न प्रकार की अनिश्चित दुर्भाग्यपूर्ण घटनायें जिससे परिवार के मुखिया की मृत्यु हो सकती है/ विकलांग बना

सकती है जो पूरे परिवार के लिये असुरक्षा /विपत्तियां ला सकती है, की सहायता हेतु।"

(emphasis supplied)

12. Next, Clause 1 of the Insurance Policy taken out pursuant to the aforesaid Government Policy reads:

"Personal Accident Insurance benefit up to a maximum of INR 5 lakhs to the Head of the Family/Bread Earner (Policy holder) of the covered family."

(emphasis supplied)

13. Also, Clause 4 of the Insurance Policy reads:

"Estimated number of families for this cluster are 29,39,000 for Meerut, Gautam Budh Nagar, Baghpat, Ghaziabad, Hapur, Moradabad-Amroha, Rampur, Bijnour, Saharanpur,-Muzaffarnagar, Shamli, Sambhal."

14. Thus, it has been submitted, the insurance cover provided to the State Government under the Insurance Policy was to cover the risk of accidental loss of life of 29,39,000 'Mukhiya' / respective heads of families of the most vulnerable and therefore eligible families, in Meerut cluster, against payment of premium, Rs. 54,03,58,132/-. That is clear from the object clause of the Government Policy. It covered the risk of accidental death of the "Mukhiya / head of the eligible family', alone.

15. Learned counsel for the petitioner would further submit, the word 'Roti Arjak / bread winner' (in English), appears only by way of clarification made i.e. 'Mukhiya / head of the family' would be the bread winner for the purpose of coverage offered under the Insurance Policy. Only, in case of such person being aged more than 70 years on the date of commencement of the Insurance Policy, his son (unmarried or married), on whom he may be wholly dependent, would become the person insured under the Insurance Policy, to the exclusion of the 'Mukhiya / head of the family', himself. As to the other persons or family members, coverage of accidental injury was provided, under Clause 2 of the Insurance Policy, only. It reads:

"Post accidental medical treatment benefits on floater basis shall be provided to Head of the Family/ Bread Earner/ family members as follow:

a) Primary medical treatment benefit (on need basis) up to a maximum of INR 25,000/- (INR Twenty Five Thousand). b) Medical treatment benefit up to a maximum of INR 2,50,000/- (Two Lakh Fifty, Thousand) (inclusive of primary medical treatment benefits of INR 25,000, wherever applicable).

c) On need basis, artificial limb replacement up to a maximum of INR 1,00,000 (One Lakh).

The aforementioned amount of INR 2.5 Lakhs for Maximum Accidental Medical treatment cover is inclusive of primary medical treatment benefits of INR 25,000, wherever applicable and exclusive of maximum of INR 1 Lakh for artificial limb, as the case may be."

(emphasis supplied)

16. Also, the clauses pertaining to "Parivar Aachhadan' i.e. Eligible Family and "Bima Aavran Ki Avadhi' i.e. Period of Insurance Cover, of the Government Policy read as below:

" परिवार आच्छादन - आच्छादित परिवार का मुखिया / रोटी अर्जक (बीमा धारक) रू0

5.00 लाख तक का व्यक्तिगत दुर्घटना बीमा लाभ एवं मुखिया/ रोटी अर्जक / परिवार के सदस्य दुर्घटना के उपरान्त रू० 25,000 तक प्राथमिक चिकित्सा एवं रू0 2.25 लाख तक वृहद्ध चिकित्सा लाभ तथा आवश्यकतानुसार अधिकतम रू० 1.00 लाख तक का कृत्रिम अंग प्राप्त कर सकेंगे।

17. Sub-clause (2) of the Clause - "Yojana Ki Visheshtaayein' i.e. Special Features of the Policy, reads as below:

"व्यक्तिगत दुर्घटना बीमा - परिवार के मुखिया / रोटी अर्जक की दुर्घटना में मृत्यु / स्थाई पूर्ण विकलांगता / स्थायी और लाईलाज पागलपन / कुल दो अंगों के स्थायी नुकसान / दोनों आंखों में स्थायी दृष्टि का नुकसान / एक अंग और एक आंख की दृष्टि का स्थायी नुकसान / वाक् का स्थायी नुकसान / निचले जबड़े की पूरी हानि/ चबाने की स्थिति का स्थायी नुकसान पर बीमित राशि रू0 5.00 लाख, दोनों कानों से बहरेपन की स्थिति में बीमित राशि रू0 5.00 लाख का 75 प्रतिशत तथा एक अंग का स्थायी नुकसान या एक आंख की दृष्टि हानि के स्थायी नुकसान पर बीमित राशि रू0 5.00 लाख का 50 प्रतिशत लाभ दिया जायेगा ।"

18. It is undisputed - the father of the Rahul Kumar namely Rajkumar was the "Mukhiya / head of his family'. He had an earning. He was alive on the date of the road accident suffered by Rahul Kumar, on 14.10.2018. Therefore, the petitioner-insurer claims, insurance claim made, on the death of Rahul Kumar, was ineligible (under the Insurance Policy read with the Government Policy). The fact - later, during the term of the Insurance Policy, Rajkumar also suffered an accidental death, would make no difference to the ineligibility of the claim arising on the prior death of Rahul Kumar.

19. In short, the petitioner-insurer has invoked the principle - a stipulation in the Insurance Policy may be interpreted upon a complete reading of that contract. A contract is not to be read as a statute but as a whole document, in the context of the general object for which it was executed. Therefore, laying heavy emphasis on the 'Object' clause of the Government Policy and the 'Coverage' clause of the Insurance Policy, it has been vehemently urged, the coverage was singular. It was extended only to the "Mukhiya / head of the family' who would have been the bread winner of his family.

20. Sri Parv Agarwal has placed reliance on a decision of the Supreme Court in Vania Silk Mills Ltd. Vs CIT, AIR 1991 SC 2104, to suggest, ordinary, popular and natural meaning is to be given to the word 'Mukhiya', used both under the Insurance Policy and the Government Policy.

21. Sri Pawan Kumar Singh has referred to Glynn Vs. Margetson, (1893) A.C. 351, to submit, all provisions of a contract should be read together. The intent of the parties to the contract must be clearly understood, therefrom. Only then a clear picture may emerge as to the true interpretation of the contract. Contrary to the purpose of the contract (thus determined), an inconsistent word or provision may be rejected, in entirety. Relying on Investors Compensation Scheme Ltd. Vs. West Bromwich Building Society, (1998) 1 WLR 896, he would submit (as per his written note) - the following five principles are useful to interpret contracts, exist :

"1. Contextual approach to interpretation

(i) Interpretation is the ascertainment of the meaning of the document to the reasonable person having all the background knowledge which would be reasonably available to the parties in the circumstances

2. Wide scope of background knowledge

(i) Relevant background knowledge of the includes "absolutely anything" which would have affected the understanding of the reasonable man

3. Pre-contractual negotiations are inadmissible

(i) Previous negotiations of the parties and their declarations of subjective intent are inadmissible as background

(ii) The only exception is in an action for rectification

This distinction is made for practical policy of reducing litigation time and costs

4. Substitution of words and syntax

(i) The background circumstances "may not merely enable the reasonable man to choose between the possible meanings of words which are ambiguous but even (as occasionally happens in ordinary life) to conclude that the parties must, for whatever reason, have used the wrong words or syntax."

(ii) Meaning is contextual not literal

5. Business common sense

(i) The natural and ordinary meaning must yield to business common sense if it flouts it

(ii) However, there is the presumption that people do not easily make linguistic mistakes

(iii) The natural and ordinary meaning is not unhelpful when words have not been used in a natural and ordinary way"

22. Then, reliance has been placed on the following two decisions of the Supreme Court and a decision of the Madras High Court to submit, the coverage granted to the 'Mukhiya' may not be enlarged as it would conflict with the policy terms:

(i) South East Asia Marine Engineering & Constructions Ltd. Vs. Oil India Ltd., AIR 2020 SC 2323

(ii) M.O.H. Uduman & Ors. Vs. M.O.H. Aslum, AIR 1991 SC 1020

(iii) M/S Sha Moolchand Kesarimull Vs. M/S Associated Agencies, AIR 1942 Mad 139

23. Contesting the above, learned counsel for the claimant-respondents submits, the Insurance Policy was taken out by the State Government, to fulfil welfare objective. It covers both, the head of every eligible family as also every bread earner of every eligible family. Thus, they have relied on the eligibility-clause under the Insurance Policy and also the eligibility / 'Patrata' clause under the Government Policy (with reference to the other stipulations contained therein). It has been submitted, there is no exclusion made and there is no intent emerging from the reading of any of the clauses of the Insurance Policy or the Government Policy as may restrict the coverage under the Insurance Policy to a single person, namely, the "Mukhiya' who may or may not be the sole bread winner of the eligible family. For ready reference, Eligibility clause of the Insurance Policy reads as below:

"ELIGIBILITY CLAUSE - All farmers of Uttar Pradesh (without any Income limit), Landless farmers, those related to Agriculture related activities, (Fishery, milk producing, pig farming, goat farming, Bee keeping etc.) nomadic/ roaming families, businessmen (who are not covered under any other Governmental Scheme), forest workers, retailers, Rickshaw pullers, porters and those engaged in other activities who are residents of rural or urban areas whose annual income is less than INR 75,000/- and age limit in between 18 to 70 years shall be eligible for this Scheme. During the currency of the Scheme, If a person attains the age of 18 years or a person crosses the age of 70 years, that person shall also be covered."

24. Also, the Eligibility clause of the Government Policy reads as below:

"पात्रता- उत्तर प्रदेश राज्य के समस्त कृषक (असीमित आय सीमा) भूमिहीन कृषक, कृषि से संबंधित क्रियाकलाप करने वाले, (मत्स्य पालक, दुग्ध उत्पादक, सूकर पालक, चकरी पालक मधुमक्खी पालक इत्यादि) घुमन्तू परिवार, व्यापारी (जो कि किसी शासन योजना से आच्छादित नही 8). पन श्रमिक, दुकानदार, फुटकर कार्य करने वाले, रिक्शा चालक, कुली एवं अन्य कार्य करने वाले ग्रामीण क्षेत्रों अथवा शहरी क्षेत्रों के निवासी जिनकी पारिवारिक आय रू० 75.000/- प्रति वर्ष से कम हो एवं जिनकी आयु 18 वर्ष से 76 वर्ष के मध्य है पात्र होंगे। इसमें राज्य सरकार एवं भारत सरकार तथा राज्य एवं केन्द्र सरकार के पी०एस०यू० के वित्तीय सहायता प्राप्त संस्थानों के निजी क्षेत्र के तथा स्वशासी निकायों / सार्वजनिक उपक्रमों / निगमों / बोर्ड एवं प्राधिकरणों के कर्मचारी जो किसी बीमा कम्पनी की बीमा योजना से लाभान्वित हो रहे हैं, शामिल नहीं होंगे। बीमा आवरण की अवधि में 18 वर्ष की आयु पूर्ण करने वाले उक्त सभी योजना के अन्तर्गत पात्रता की परिधि में आयेगे। इसी प्रकार बीमा आवरण अवधि में 70 वर्ष पूर्ण हो जाने पर उक्त सभी पात्रता श्रेणी में माने जायेगें।

. भूमिहीन कृषक एवं कृषि से संबंधित कियाकलाप - ऐसे ग्रामीण भूमिहीन परिवार जो प्रत्यक्ष या अप्रत्यक्ष रूप से कृषि कार्य से जुड़े हुए हों।

अन्य - कृषकों के अतिरिक्त जिनकी आयु 18 वर्ष से 70 वर्ष के मध्य है तथा पारिवारिक आय रू० 75,000/- प्रति वर्ष से कम हो योजनान्तर्गत पात्र होंगे। इसमें राज्य सरकार एवं भारत सरकार तथा राज्य एवं केन्द्र सरकार के पी०एस०यू० के, वित्तीय सहायता प्राप्त संस्थानों के निजी क्षेत्र के तथा स्वशासी निकायों / सार्वजनिक उपक्रमों/निगमों/ बोर्ड एवं प्राधिकरणों के कर्मचारी जो किसी बीमा कम्पनी की बीमा योजना से लाभान्वित हो रहे हैं, शामिल नहीं होंगे। प्रदेश सरकार के किसी भी विभाग द्वारा संचालित किसी भी दुर्घटना बीमा योजना में आच्छादित लाभार्थी मुख्यमंत्रीकिसान एवं सर्वहित बीमा योजना के लिए पात्र नहीं होंगें।"

25. Thus, it has been submitted, the insurance company had taken a heavy premium to cover the risk of accidental loss of life - to the most vulnerable and the weakest in the economic ladder of our society. Each 'Roti Arjak / bread earner' of an eligible family, stood insured under the Insurance Policy, read with the Government Policy. The petitioner insurer has repudiated its liability on a fallacious ground of single risk coverage, that too to a "Mukhiya / head of the family'. The coverage was, clearly plural.

26. Having heard learned counsel for the parties and perused the record, there can be no dispute to the fact that the occurrence (of accidental death of Rahul Kumar on 14.10.2018), fell within the contingencies covered by the Insurance Policy. It is also not in dispute that the total family income (of the family to which Rahul Kumar belonged), did not exceed Rs. 75,000/- per annum and that he was more than 18 years, but less than 70 years of age on the date of occurrence of his accidental death. To that extent, there is no dispute.

27. In absence of person identification or name specification made while providing for the risk cover under the Insurance Policy, a dispute exists - which lives of an eligible family or contingencies faced by an eligible family would be covered and which would be not ?

28. Since the Insurance Policy and the Government Policy do not offer a direct answer to that issue, the terms and conditions of the Insurance Policy, the Government Policy (that has been made part of the Insurance Policy), and the Agreement would have to be examined in entirety to determine the same. To that extent, the principle being invoked by learned counsel for the petitioner is true and correct.

29. Examined in that light, first, under Clause 1 of the Insurance Policy, coverage of personal accidental death insurance benefit, Rs. 5,00,000/- was provided to the 'Mukhiya / head of the family / bread winner of an eligible family'. The person/s covered has/have been described as "Policy holder". It also cannot be denied, in that policy document, a clear reference exists - to the number of estimated persons covered, being 29,39,000, in the Meerut Cluster.

30. Then, in the eligibility clause of the Insurance Policy, persons engaged in various activities/vocations, whether residing in urban or rural areas were covered. First, all farmers (without income ceiling) were covered. Second, all landless labourers; all types of nomadic families; businessmen (not covered under any other government schemes); forest workers; retailers; rickshaw pullers; porters; etc. were covered, subject to their annual family income being less than Rs. 75,000/-.

31. Then, by way of general exceptions, that eligibility was made subject to age limit 18 to 70 years (of the insured person), provided further, if the insured person attained the age of 18 years or crossed the age of 70 years during the currency of the insurance term, he would still be covered thereunder. Further, by way of specific exclusion, the Insurance Policy provided as below:

EXCLUSIONS- Employees of Central Government, State Government, Public Sector Units (PSU) of Central Government or State Government, Financially aided Organizations, Private Sector, Autonomous Bodies/ Public Undertakings/ Corporations Boards and Authorities who are covered under any insurance scheme shall not be covered under the Samajwadi Kisan & Sarvhit Bima Yojna Scheme.

EXCLUSIONS- Any beneficiary who is covered under any accidental Insurance scheme operated by any of the department of State Government shall not be eligible under the Samajwadi Kisan & Sarvhit Bima Yojna Scheme.

32. Similar clauses existed under the Government Policy, as well. Thus, it appears, the two documents are not conflicted. The Government Policy was framed earlier. Against that, the petitioner insurer was selected, through open tender process. The agreed premium was paid by the State Government and Insurance Policy taken out, by it. In such facts, the above two documents do not attempt to cover two different risks or contingencies. In fact, largely, one is the reflection of the other. The choice of exact words and elaborations made apart, per se, no clause has been shown to exist in either document that may conflict with any clause contained in the other. Then, Clause 5 of the Insurance Policy makes the Agreement (of which the Government Policy is a part), a part of the Insurance Policy.

33. Undisputedly, the risk of an accidental injury, was insured to the "head of the family" or "bread winner" and other members of an eligible family. While providing for that contingency and cover against accidental injury, the Insurance Policy did not specifically or by direct reference made, provide for coverage of risk to life against accidental death, of all or any other family member/s. Thus, exclusion is claimed to arise on a comparative reading of the relevant Clauses of the Insurance Policy. Yet, no contrary intention is expressed in the Government Policy or the Agreement.

34. Then, the opening Clause of the Government Policy discloses its object. It was to provide financial assistance to the eligible families against "Asuraksha/Vippatti' i.e. insecurity/ calamity arising from the sudden accidental death of the "Mukhiya' i.e. the head of an eligible family.

35. At the same time, in the very next Clause, while providing for eligibility, that Government Policy includes within the sweep of the Insurance Policy, all members of eligible families. It includes citizens from all walks of life, subject to specific general exclusions, noted above.

36. The term "Mukhiya / head of the family' is not a term defined, either under the Government Policy or under the Insurance Policy. It is also not a term defined by legislature. Primarily, it is a social construct. Commonly, the eldest member of any family is described as its "Mukhiya'. The Government Policy is progressive inasmuch as it has used the term "Mukhiya / head of the family', in a more gender plural sense by using the words male/female.

37. If the intent of the Government Policy and, therefore, if the coverage under the Insurance Policy were to be confined to the 'Mukhiya' only, there would have arisen no need to mention "Roti Arjak / bread earner'. The fact that such terms had been used by adding "/' (stroke) after the word "Mukhiya', indicates the intent to cover either the head of the family, or its bread winner, during the term of the Insurance Policy - from 14.09.2018 to 13.09.2019. Clause 3 of the Insurance Policy reads as under :

"3. Below individuals shall be considered as family members under the Samajwadi Kisan & Sarvhit Bima Yojna Scheme:

a) Head of the Family/Bread earner (Male/Female)

b) Husband/Wife of Head of the Family/Bread earner

c) Unmarried daughter

d) Dependent son

e) Dependent parents of unmarried son (where unmarried person is Head of the Family/Bread Earner)

f) Dependent parents of Head of the Family/Bread Earner (only in cases where husband is the Head of the Family)

Note: Parents of wife shall not be covered."

(emphasis supplied)

38. Then, the clause pertaining to "Parivar Nirdharan' contained in the Government Policy reads as below:

"परिवार निर्धारण -परिवार के अन्तर्गत परिवार का मुखिया/रोटी अर्जक (पुरुष /स्त्री) उसकी पत्नी/पति, अविवाहित पुत्री, आश्रित पुत्र, मुखिया पति एवं अविवाहित पुरुष के आश्रित माता-पिता बीमा का लाभ प्राप्त करने हेतु आवृत्त होगें।"

(emphasis supplied)

39. Thus, for the purpose of determining the family members/persons insured under the Insurance Policy, the 'Mukhiya / head of the family' could be both - the person insured as also a beneficiary. As 'Mukhiya / bread winner', such person was included as family member under Clause 3(a) of the Insurance Policy. He would be the 'policy holder'. At the same time if such person's unmarried or married son was a bread earner, such person though 'Mukhiya' would be a beneficiary, in case of occurrence of death of such married son [under Clause 3(e) & 3(f) of the Insurance Policy], subject to him being dependent on his son, now described as 'Head of the family / Bread Earner'.

40. Therefore, the Insurance Policy does seek to insure the risk to life of a person other than a 'Mukhiya / head of the family' also, in certain situations. In absence of the words "Ek Matra"/ sole prefixed to the phrase "Roti Arjak / bread earner' and in absence of any exclusion clause to oust a claim of a partly dependent 'Mukhiya', in the case of death of his married or unmarried son, it is to be seen if by use of word 'dependent' under Clause 3(e) and 3(f) of the Insurance Policy, only non-earning 'Mukhiya / head of the family', may become a beneficiary in the event of death of their earning son (married or unmarried).

41. While the Insurance Policy is silent in that regard, the object clause of the Government Policy makes it plain that the object was to take out an Insurance Policy to provide for vital aid to the financially most vulnerable and exposed families who may be faced with 'Asuraksha / Vippati' i.e. insecurity / calamity upon occurrence of accidental death of its 'Mukhiya' or 'Bread Earner'. A minimum amount of money as may help them avoid destitution, upon the loss of vital minimum earning was sought to be provided, to an eligible family, to address the insecurity or extreme hardship arising upon being faced with the calamity of death taking away the hope of minimum means to survive.

42. The Eligibility clause under the Government Policy, includes all citizens from different walks of life engaged in different professions and vocations, residing in different parts of the State. It includes all farmers (irrespective of their annual earning) and, others having family income less than Rs. 206/- per day (Rs. 75,000 / 365 days). Also, the insured "Mukhiya / head of the family / Roti Arjak / bread earner' could be a person in the age bracket of 18 years to 70 years. It is apparent that the intent of the Government Policy was to insure all adult active members of an eligible family who may have had an earning.

43. Thus, a person below 18 years of age was treated to be ineligible. He would remain not - insured on deemed basis, though such person (in a given unfortunate situation), may have been the sole bread winner of his family. Correspondingly, any person above 70 years of age was treated to be the person not insured as he was deemed to be not contributing economically to his family.

44. Therefore, there may be no dispute to rejection of a claim made on occurrence of death of a person below 18 years of age or above 70 years of age. There, upon fiction introduced, the dead would not be of a person insured. Yet, a conflict would arise if interpretation made by learned counsel for the insurer is accepted with respect to a person aged below 70 years of age who may be the eldest member of an eligible family and who may (speaking hypothetically), be earning a frugal sum of say Rs. 24,000/- per annum. In that case, such a person would be included under the cover of the Insurance Policy in his capacity as "Mukhiya'. Yet, as a beneficiary he would be ineligible to claim insurance money if his unmarried son (who may have been earning Rs. 50,000/- per annum), died an accidental death. It would be so because according to learned counsel for the petitioner-insurer, the claimant would not be wholly dependent on his son. At the same he would be eligible if his earning were nil.

45. The test of full dependency neither appears to exist under the Insurance Policy or the Government Policy or the Agreement nor it may be practicable to satisfy. Also, if strictly applied it may allow any and every such claim to be defeated upon the insurer being able to satisfy that the 'Mukhiya' / parent of the head of the family had earned, say Rs. 100/- per month, through any manual labour performed. That result would be plainly absurd. The Insurance Policy may not be interpreted to include and exclude the same person from the scope of insurance/beneficiary, simultaneously. Clearly, an ambiguity exists.

46. Undeniably, the Insurance Policy is a contract entered into between the petitioner-insurer & the State Government. Though it has been reached in furtherance of the Government Policy yet, its terms were drafted by the petitioner-insurer. It is those terms that bind it. Therefore, if the words used in the Insurance Policy give rise to two alternative interpretations, one in favour of the petitioner-insurer and the other in favour of the insured, the rule of Contra Preferentum would apply. It thus commends to the Court to read the words 'Roti Arjak / bread earner', used in the coverage Clause (1) of the Insurance Policy to include all bread winners of an eligible family. Similarly the word 'dependent' used in 'Family Composition' - clause (3) of that policy includes partial dependency and/or inter-dependency. To that extent, those words have to be read against the petitioner-insurer as it was itself the draftsman of the Insurance Policy. Unless read in that manner, the core objective of the Insurance Policy - to preserve the most vulnerable lives of our society, would fail. In General Assurance Society Ltd. Vs. Chandumull Jain & Anr., AIR 1966 SC 1644 a Constitution Bench of the Supreme Court noted the applicability of rule Contra Preferentum, to insurance contracts. The said rule has been applied by the Supreme Court, recently, in Manmohan Nanda Vs. United India Assurance Co. Ltd. & Anr., 2021 SCC Online SC 1181.

47. Clearly, it is the risk/contingency of loss of life of either the "Mukhiya / head of the family' or a bread winner (described as "Roti Arjak / bread earner') that is insured. The object of that coverage is not simple life insurance, but, to prevent extreme destitution described under the Government Policy as 'Asuraksha / Vippati'. It would be unreasonable to conclude that the coverage is to be confined to the "Mukhiya / head of the family who is the sole "Roti Arjak / bread winner of the family'. A parent who may be dependent either, wholly or in part. In that case his earning son/s may also stand insured against risk of loss of life to the extent they would both be contributing to the minimal earnings of their family.

48. In absence of any specific exclusion under the Insurance Policy, there is no inherent logic to exclude the unfortunate occurrence of accidental death of any bread winner i.e. "Roti Arjak / bread earner' (as described under Insurance Policy) from the cover of insurance. Here, the underlying object of the policy must be given primacy. It is to offer minimal succour to the poorest of the poor i.e. families having income less than Rs.75,000/- per annum and who may suffer further hardship upon being confronted with more cruel and merciless circumstance of occurrence of sudden death of any adult earning member.

49. It has to be remembered, in that extreme circumstance, each grain would go to make the smallest of small bread needed to keep the hope of life alive for the eligible family, as a unit. It is not uncommon that amongst the poorest of the poor, every hand whether tender and under age or withered and frail, upon hard labour performed, makes vital and decisive contribution to prepare the daily bread / 'Roti'. It is those unfortunate families that fall within the sweep of the Insurance Policy and the Government Policy.

50. At Rs. 206/- per day, the eligible family may barely have enough to keep its life boat afloat, if no illness or other such circumstance cuts a hole in that. In the precarious financial situation such as that (of an eligible family having annual income of less than Rs. 75,000/- i.e. Rs. 206/- per day), no earning member of that family, including its 'Mukhiya / head of the family' whether the eldest member of the family or the one with highest earning would be financially independent. He alongwith all earning members of his family would remain financially inter-dependent on each earning hand of that family. Hence, the word 'dependent' used in Clause 3(e) and 3(f) of the Insurance Policy only refers to a condition of joint living and not of complete loss of earning, suffered by the eligible family.

51. Thus, the principle being invoked by learned counsel for the petitioner - of 'main'/'sole' bread winner or of 'wholly/solely dependent' is unreal and artificial. If applied it would lead to absurd results. Looked through the eyes of the beneficiary, it may appear a bourgeois construct. It would stand in direct conflict to the socialistic soul of our Constitution. In that circumstance, the principle - each drop fills the bucket is more appropriate and apt. There, may not arise any surplus to such family and all money earned by different hands may, at best, be just enough. Each rupee or each hand full of grain earned would be equally valuable. It is impossible to differentiate between hands when each brings only a handful. In such an unfortunate and extreme circumstance, the concept of 'wholly dependent' is purely academic and a thought that may lead to absurd results. It is therefore, rejected.

52. Therefore, the only reasonable construction that may be given to the coverage clause under the Insurance Policy read with the Government Policy is to allow for coverage of each adult earning hand of an eligible family (below 70 years of age), including its "Mukhiya / head of the family'. The fact that he may or may not be the sole bread winner, to a lesser or greater extent, would not be relevant. The eligibility would be subject to the general exclusions provided under the Insurance Policy, noted above.

53. That said, in the unfortunate occurrence of more than one death during the policy period, the insurer may be exposed to honour only the first claim per eligible family. It is so because as noted above, the 'Object' and 'Eligibility' clauses of the Government Policy and the Insurance Policy contemplate insurance coverage to overcome destitution described as 'Asuraksha / Vippati' arising from the death of an earning hand. Second, the coverage of life was provided (under the Insurance Policy) to an estimated 2939000 persons being the exact number of eligible families estimated and as recorded in Clause 4 of the Insurance Policy, against accidental loss of life of an earning member, as may plunge the family income below Rs. 206/- per day. That is the level of family income that the Government Policy (that is part of the Insurance Policy) recognised, both as the money required to survive and also as a factor to identify the beneficiaries who need the insurance cover to sustain basic human existence. The quantum of compensation is also equal to about 6-7 years of that minimum income support.

54. Further, in absence of any clause, words and expressions used, either under the Insurance Policy or the Government Policy to provide individual coverage to all bread winners, in an eligible family, it appears, during the policy term from 14.09.2018 to 13.09.2019, death of only one earning member of an eligible family would stand covered. The stroke - '/' mark placed between the words 'head of the family' & 'Bread Earner' under Clause 1 i.e. coverage clause of the Insurance Policy also suggests the same intent. To that extent, the submission of learned counsel for the petitioner carries weight. The object was to provide minimum and immediate succour to eligible family and not to compensate for all losses of lives suffered, by an eligible family, in one policy term. If accepted, that may amount to re-writing the contract which the Courts may not do.

55. Insofar as the present case is concerned, at the time of death of Rahul Kumar, he was found to be engaged in agricultural activity, though along with his father. The Permanent Lok Adalat has found, the deceased was also engaged in some manual labour drawing earning therefrom. That finding is not perverse. Undisputedly, he was more than 18 years of age during the policy term. Therefore, he was a person covered under the Insurance Policy as a bread winner of his family though he may not have been its "Mukhiya'. He was a bachelor, contributing to his family's meagre income below Rs. 75,000/- per annum.

56. To that extent his entire family including his father Rajkumar would have been partly dependent (on deemed basis), on his frugal material contributions, as a means of their daily survival, as a unit. To that extent, his father Raj Kumar would also have been partly-dependent on him. Since Rahul Kumar died during his father's lifetime and the claim therefrom arose first, the Permanent Lok Adalat has not committed any error in allowing the same. The challenge raised in the writ petition is found lacking in merit. Sri Ojha has also stated, similar claim made upon the death of Rajkumar was rejected by the Permanent Lok Adalat. It has attained finality.

57. It is however provided, in the event, petitioner pays up the awarded amount within a further period of one month from today, the petitioner would not be liable to pay any interest. If however such payment is not made within the time thus extended, the petitioner shall remain exposed to interest liability provided under the impugned award.

58. With the aforesaid observations, present petition stands disposed of.

1. Heard Sri Vishal Tandon learned counsel for the petitioner, Ms. Archana Tyagi learned Additional Chief Standing Counsel for the State respondents and Sri Pankaj Kumar Gupta learned counsel for the Gaon Sabha.

2. Present writ petition has been filed against the order dated 28.12.2021 passed by the Additional Commissioner (Judicial) Aligarh Division, Aligarh. whereby the said authority has allowed Appeal No. 00288 of 2021 (Sarvesh Vs. State of U.P.). It has set aside the order dated 25.1.2021, passed by the SDM, Jalesar and restored the fair price shop agreement of respondent No.4.

3. At the outset, a preliminary objection has been raised by learned Additional Chief Standing Counsel and learned counsel for the Gaon Sabha, to the maintainability of the present petition. It has been thus submitted; the petitioner was the complainant before the licensing authority; acting on his complaint, proceedings were initiated by the competent authority against the original fair price shop agent - Sarvesh/respondent No.4; thereafter, the fair price shop agreement of the said respondent was cancelled on 25.1.2021; the said respondent preferred Second Appeal No. 00288 of 2021; it has been allowed. Therefore, the petitioner - who was merely the complainant, has no locus to maintain the present writ petition.

4. Meeting that preliminary objection, learned counsel for the petitioner has placed heavy reliance on Clause-13 of the Uttar Pradesh Essential Commodities (Regulation of Sale and Distribution Control) Order, 2016 (hereinafter referred to as 'the Control Order'). Relying on the Hindi version of clause 13(1) of the Control Order, it has been vehemently urged, the right of appeal has been created by the Control Order against an order of "Bahali' i.e. restoration of a fair price shop agreement, besides creating a right of appeal against an order of suspension and cancellation of a fair price agreement. In support of such submission, learned counsel for the petitioner has relied on a decision of a learned Single Judge of this Court in Smt. Farzana Vs. State of U.P. and Others, 2018(7) ADJ 767, to contend, in case of ambiguity in the English version of a Notification or statute etc., the Hindi version of the same may be looked into and relied to cure that ambiguity. In the same vein, reliance has also been placed on a Full Bench decision of this Court in Ram Surat Mishra Vs. State of U.P., 2013(6) ADJ 503 (FB)(LB). Reliance has also been placed on a decision of the Supreme Court in the case of Commissioner of Trade Tax Uttar Pradesh Vs. Associated Distributors Limited, (2008) 7 SCC 709.

5. By way of second limb to his submission, learned counsel for the petitioner would submit, in any case, the law that existed earlier - giving the complainant no right of appeal against an order or restoration of fair price shop, is no longer good law, in view of statutory change made by the Control Order. Thus, referring to clause 13(3) of the Control Order, it has been submitted, the right of appeal has been given to 'any person aggrieved'. Earlier, the right of appeal was conferred exclusively on the fair price shop agent and on no other person. Therefore, the remedy of appeal has now been made available to a larger body of individuals who may be aggrieved by an order of "Bahali'/restoration, suspension or cancellation of a fair price shop agreement. Clearly, the complainant who may have brought evidence before the licensing authority and/or the appeal authority - against an erring fair price shop agent was a person having a grievance against the fair price shop agent. Therefore, he would be a person aggrieved by the order granting restoration of fair price shop agreement. Such view is stated to have been taken by a learned Single Judge of this Court in Akhlaq Vs. State of U.P. and Others, Writ-C No. 43188 of 2017 decided on 05.2.2019 and Smt. Muneeta Vs. State of U.P. and Others, Writ-C No. 21915 of 2019, decided on 06.2.2020.

6. Last, it has also been submitted, the appeal authority has grossly erred in allowing the appeal on merits. The only defect noted by it was with respect to procedural compliance. If the enquiry report had not been confronted to the private respondent, the only course open to the appeal authority was to remit the matter to the original authority or to entertain the matter on merits itself and, pass a reasoned order, thereafter.

7. On the other hand, vehemently opposing the petition, learned Additional Chief Standing Counsel and the learned counsel for the Gaon Sabha have submitted, it is no longer res integra that a complainant has no right of appeal. Consequently, he can never claim to be a person aggrieved by the order passed by the appeal authority. In that regard, reliance has been first placed on a decision of a learned Single Judge of this Court in Ashfaq Vs. State of U.P. and Others, 2008(4) ADJ 416. Then, reliance has been placed on a decision of the Division Bench of this Court in Dharam Raj Vs. State of U.P. Through District Magistrate and Others, 2009(77) ALR 564. Doubt, if any, in that regard is stated to have been removed by a further decision of the learned Single Judge in the case of Sriram Prasad and another

Vs. State of U.P. and 3 Others, (2016) 3 ALJ 308 and Neeraj Kumar Mishra Vs. Dy. Commissioner (Food) Region Allahabad and Others, 2017(3) ADJ 834 and Gram Vikash Sewa Samiti Vs. State of U.P. and 4 Others, Writ-C No. 19941 of 2018, decided on 30.8.2018. Thus, it has been submitted, the decision of the learned Single Judge referred to and relied upon by learned counsel for the petitioner in the cases of Akhlaq (supra) and Smt. Muneeta (supra) are per incuriam. Those decisions have not considered the binding ratio of the division bench decision in Dharam Raj (supra). As to the distinction attempted by learned counsel for the petitioner, based on the difference of language used in the English and Hindi versions of the Control Order, it has been submitted, the Hindi version of the official legislative publication, be it an Act, Notification etc., may be relied only in the event of an ambiguity arising upon reading of such publication in English itself.

8. Thus, reliance has been placed on a decision of the Supreme Court in M/s Park Leather Industry (P) Ltd and Another Vs. State of U.P. and Others, (2001) 3 SCC 135 as also a division bench decision of the Uttarakhand High Court in Smt. Shahjahan Baigam Vs. District Magistrate Udham Singh Nagar and Others, AIR 2017 Uttarakhand 200. To that extent the decision of the learned single-Judge in the case of Smt. Farzana (supra) is described as not laying down the correct law.

9. Having heard learned counsel for the parties and having perused the record, in the first place, it would be appropriate to quote and compare the provisions of Clause 13 of the Control Order, as published in the English and Hindi. They read as below:

Clause 13 of the Control Order
English	Hindi
Appeal.-(1) Appeal in relation to action or subject covered under the National Food Security Act, 2013 and rules framed under it shall lie before the authority mentioned in sub-clause (10) of Clause 11 of this order but appeal against appointment, suspension and cancellation of fair price shop by the competent authority shall lie before the Divisional Commissioner.	13. अपील- (1) राष्ट्रीय खाद्य सुरक्षा अधिनियम, 2013 और उसके अधीन बनायी गयी नियमावलो के अधीन आच्छादित कार्यवाई या विषय के सम्बन्ध में इस आदेश के खण्ड 11 के उपखण्ड (10) में उल्लिखित प्राधिकारी के समक्ष अपील की जायेगी, किन्तु सक्षम प्राधिकारी द्वारा उचित मूल्य की दुकान की बहाली, निलम्बन और निरस्तीकरण के विरुद्ध सम्भागीय आयुक्त के समक्ष अपील की जायेगी।
(2) Any person aggrieved by an order of the Designated Authority denying the issue or renewal of a ration card or cancellation of the ration card under the National Food Security Act, 2013 may appeal to the Appellate Authority within thirty days of the date of receipt of the order.	(2) राष्ट्रीय खाद्य सुरक्षा अधिनियम, 2013 के अधीन किसी राशन कार्ड को जारी करने या नवीकरण करने से इन्कार या राशन कार्ड का निरस्तीकरण करने से सम्बन्धित पदाभिहित अधिकारी के आदेश द्वारा व्यथित कोई व्यक्ति आदेश की

Authority may direct that the order under appeal shall not take effect for such period as the authority may consider necessary for giving a reasonable opportunity to the other party under sub-clause (4) or until the appeal is disposed or, whichever is earlier.	के लम्बित होने पर यह निदेश दे सकेगा कि अपील के अधीन आदेश उस अवधि के लिए प्रभावी नहीं होगा, जो प्राधिकारी उपखण्ड-(4) के अधीन अन्य पक्षकार को सुने जाने का उचित अवसर प्रदान करने के लिए आवश्यक समझे या जब तक कि अपील का निपटारा न हो जाए, इसमें से जो भी पूर्वोत्तर हो।

10. The dispute in the present case revolves around interpretation to be given to Clause 13(1) of the Control Order. Admittedly, there is no ambiguity or discrepancy arising from reading of the Hindi and/or English versions of Clause 13(3) of the Control Order.

11. Read in entirety, Clause 13(1) of the Control Order seeks to provide for two different forums of appeal. In the first place, a forum of appeal has been provided in relation to action or subject matter covered under the National Food Security Act 2013 and the Rules framed thereunder. That forum of appeal has been provided before the Officer appointed or designated as the District Grievance Redressal Officer under the U.P. Food Security Rules, 2015. In that regard, the description of Clause 11(10) of the Control Order [in Clause 13(1)] appears to suffer from an apparent typographical/print error. There is no Clause 11(10) of the Control Order. That appeal forum appears to exist under Clause 9(10) of the Control Order. The other forum of appeal created is with respect to orders against appointment, suspension and cancellation of fair price shop agreement, described in the Hindi version of the Control Order as "Bahali'; "Nilamban' and "Nirastikaran'. That appeal forum has been created before the Divisional Commissioner.

12. By very nature, different rights are to be contested before the two different forums provided under Clause 13(1) of the Control Order. Before the first forum, the rights of the beneficiaries are to be contested with respect to issuance of ration cards etc. Before the other/second forum, the rights with respect to the fair price shop agency alone are to be contested. On a plain reading of Clause 13(1) of the Control Order (either in English or Hindi), there appears no legislative intent to confer a right of appeal on any person. The said Clause only speaks of appeal forums, with respect to two entirely different rights, vested in two entirely different class of citizens.

13. It may have been another case if Clause 13(1) existed without Clause 13(3) of the Control Order. That situation may have been akin to the one that existed under the earlier Control Order dated 03.07.1990. Under Clause 11 thereof, it was not specified, to whom the right of appeal was granted. For ready reference, Clause 11 of that Government Order is quoted below:

"जिलाधिकारी द्वारा दुकान नियुक्ति/निलंबन/निरस्तीकरण/नवीनीकरण न करने संबंधी पारित आदेश के विरुद्ध अपील संबंधित की जाएगी। इन मामलों में द्वितीय अपील की वयवस्था नहीं होगी।"

14. However, in the present case, Clause 13(3) of the Control Order specifically provides such right of appeal to 'any person aggrieved' against an order of the competent authority. That right of appeal has been given with respect to orders of denial or renewal of agreement to a fair price shop owner or an order of suspension or an order of cancellation of agreement of fair price shop. No other or further order has been made appealable. Thus, an order of revocation of suspension of a fair price shop agreement is not made appealable under Clause 13 (3) of the Control Order.

15. Other than that, the said sub-clause provides for period of limitation to avail that right of appeal, being 30 days from the date of receipt of the order passed by the competent authority. Then sub-clause 4 of the said Clause 13 of the Control Order further stipulates, no appeal (filed under Clause 13) shall be decided unless 'aggrieved person' has been given reasonable opportunity of being heard. Last, sub-clause 5 grants power to the Appeal Authority, to grant stay, pending an appeal.

16. Examined in that light, the first issue that may be dealt with is the interpretation to be given to Clause 13(1) of the Control Order in that it describes the nature of orders that may be appealed before the Divisional Commissioner. If the Hindi version of the Control Order were to be read to confer a right of appeal against an order of revocation of a suspension order, a conflict would arise between Clause 13(1) and 13(3) of the Control Order with respect to the right of appeal given against certain orders passed by the Competent Authority. While sub-clause (1) would provide for a forum of appeal against such order, sub-clause (3) would restrict/prevent filing of such appeal. A court may never read a statute in a manner as may give rise to a conflict between two provisions of the same enactment, existing for the same purpose.

17. While the English version of Clause 13(1) of the Control Order uses the words 'appointment', 'suspension' and 'cancellation', the Hindi version chooses to use the words 'bahaali', 'nilamban' and, 'nirastikaran' to describe the nature of orders against which appeal may lie to the Divisional Commissioner. There is no dispute between the parties that the word suspension translates accurately to the word 'Nilamban' and the word cancellation translates accurately to the word 'Nirastikaran'. The parties are at variance as to the meaning to be given to the word 'appointment' as compared to the word 'Bahaali' used in the Hindi version under Clause 13(1) of the Control Order.

18. Appointment of a fair price shop agent is an executive act. The selected/preferred applicant enters into an agreement with the respondent State authorities to run the designated fair price shop agency. Under Section 16 of the U.P. General Clauses Act, 1904, the power to appoint includes the power to suspend, dismiss, remove etc. On the other hand, "Bahaali' is a Hindi word only. It means and refers to an act of restoration or revival of a thing, arrangement, status, right etc. It is always used with reference to what existed before - that which had been interrupted or obstructed or removed or changed or replaced, immediately before it was restored or revived. Therefore, the genus is "appointment', "Bahaali' i.e., restoration or revival, is a species. Therefore, appointment would always include "Bahaali', yet ''Bahaali' does not include original appointment made.

19. Therefore, "Bahaali' may arise only in the event of a pre-existing fair price shop agreement - because of revocation of the earlier order of suspension passed by the Competent Authority. The event of revocation of a suspension order (passed earlier) may be described as ''Bahaali'. If the word appointment appearing in Clause 13(1) of the Control Order is read to include "Bahali', necessarily, clear conflict would emerge from a plain reading of the English and the Hindi versions of Clause 13 (1) of the Control Order.

20. On the other hand, it may be noted here itself, a plain reading of the English version of the Control Order gives rise to no ambiguity. For any ambiguity to exist, it must be first inferred by the Court that there are plural interpretation/meaning possible or permissible to be given to the language used by the legislature. If only one meaning can be inferred from the reading of the statute and the legislative Act remains functional on that reading, the Court may never explore a possibility of, or cull out an ambiguity in the legislative enactment. In that case, the interpretative exercise must remain simple and clear to read the intent of the legislature from the plain meaning of the words chosen by it. No other intendment is to be searched where the words used by the legislature offer a unique or clear grammatical and functional sense. No unworkability may ever be claimed because the legislature did not provide a right of appeal against an order of revocation of suspension order. It is so because appeal is a creature of statutes and not an inherent right.

21. Even in the Full Bench decision of this Court in Ram Rati & Ors. Gram Samaj, Jehwa & Ors., AIR 1974 (All) 106 referred to in Smt. Farzana (supra), the question framed was as below:

"Whether it will be a sound rule of interpretation or construction of Statutes that if there appears to be some doubt or ambiguity in the authorized text in English language of an Act enacted in Hindi by the Legislature of Uttar Pradesh, then for resolving the ambiguity or doubt and for ascertaining the correct meaning thereof, reference can be made to the corresponding Hindi text and reliance placed thereon?"

22. Having considered the submissions advanced, the Full Bench observed as below:

10. We may, at the very outset, mention that if the distinction between "conflict" in the Hindi text and the authoritative text in English and "ambiguity or doubt" in the authoritative text in English is kept in mind, the apparent conflict in the decisions of this Court will disappear. A "conflict" between the Hindi text and the authoritative English text is different from a "doubt or ambiguity" in the authoritative English, text. There will be conflict between the provisions of the two texts when it is not possible to reconcile or harmonize them and then the question will arise as to which of the two shall prevail. Such a conflict does not by itself result in a "doubt or ambiguity" in the authoritative English text. The principles applicable to the resolution of "conflict" are not applicable to the resolution of "doubt or ambiguity". The normal rules of interpretation of statutes will have to be applied in the case of "doubt or ambiguity" in any provision of the authoritative English text.

17. We are, therefore, of opinion that where there is some doubt or ambiguity in any provision in the authoritative English text, it is permissible to look into the Hindi text to remove the doubt or ambiguity. We accordingly answer the question referred to this Bench in the affirmative."

(emphasis supplied)

23. Then, in M/s Park Leather Industry (P) Ltd (supra) the issue was resolved thus:

"Of course an English version is simultaneously published. Undoubtedly, if there is conflict between the two then the English version would prevail. However, if there is no conflict then one can always have assistance of the Hindi version in order to find out whether the word used in English includes a particular item or not. In the Hindi version the word used is "Chamra". There can be no dispute that the term "Chamra" would include "leather" in all its forms.

In this view of the matter the appeal stands dismissed. There will, however, be no order as to costs."

24. In face of the above dictum of the Supreme Court and of the seven- Judge Full Bench decision of this Court, the following ratio in Ram Surat Mishra (supra) runs contrary to that binding law. Therein, it has been observed as below:

"Since the official language of the State of U.P., has been declared Hindi Devnagri script in pursuance of power conferred by Article 345 of the Constitution, and the original bill passed by the Legislature is also in Hindi, in the event of conflict between Hindi and English version, the Hindi version of the statute shall prevail over the English version. The English version of the statutory provisions are mere translation of the Hindi version. Since entire proceeding of State Legislature is executed in Hindi and notifications are issued accordingly, the English version is mere translation of Hindi version. Therefore, in the event of language conflict, the Hindi version of statutory notification shall prevail over the English version."

25. As to Associated Distributors Limited (supra), it was observed as under:

"It is pertinent to mention here that the official language of the State of Uttar Pradesh is Hindi. If any difference is found between the notifications in English and Hindi, the notification issued in Hindi will be applicable. On the said notification, the courts have decided that confectionery comes within sweets (mithai) and sweetmeat, but it has not been mentioned that bubblegum comes within the category of a sweet."

26. It may be noted, in that decision, the Supreme Court did not consider the issue of conflict between the official English and Hindi versions of legislative publications rather, that ratio arose upon a "difference' noted in those publications. A difference may give rise to both, ambiguity and conflict. In so far as the Supreme Court has not spoken any further, it must be assumed, it had applied the rule - rely on the Hindi text to cure the ambiguity, only. Any other reading of that decision of the Supreme Court would create a conflict between two decisions of the Supreme Court. The real issue was as has been noted in the opening passage of judgement.

27. Therefore, the true rule to be applied remains one, being - in case the English version of the legislative publication, read on its own offers any ambiguity or doubt, its Hindi version may be read to cure that ambiguity, and no further. If however, no ambiguity emerges from a plain reading of the English version of the legislative publication, then, despite any conflict arising on a comparative reading of the English and Hindi version of the same legislative publication, its English version would prevail. That is the only consistent ratio pronounced and consistently applied by the Supreme Court and the larger Full Bench of this Court.

28. Thus, with all respects, I am unable to subscribe to the view taken by the learned single-Judge in Smt. Farzana (supra). That view appears to have arisen contrary to the binding decision of the Supreme Court and the seven-Judge Full Bench decision of this Court. Therefore, I also do not find it necessary to refer the matter to a larger bench strength.

29. Being bound by the dictum of the Supreme Court and the Full Bench of this Court, the true meaning to be given to the Clause 13(1) of the Control Order is found to be a one contained in the English version of the Control Order. Consequently, the word 'Bahaali' used in the Hindi version of the Control Order being in conflict with the world "appointment' used in the English version of that Control Order must and would necessarily, be read as 'appointment' only. No right of appeal has been granted (under that clause of the Control Order), against an order of revival or restoration of a fair price shop agreement. That beside the reason, Clause 13(1) of the Control Order only provides a forum of appeal but does not seek to create a right of appeal. Thus, provisions of Clause 13 (1) and 13 (3) of the Control Order are found to be wholly consistent to each other.

30. Consequently, Clause 13(1) of the Control Order does not grant a right of appeal, to any person, against any order contrary to such right provided under Clause 13(3) of the Control Order. Clause 13 (1) only refers to the nature of orders made appealable by referring to their genus - appointment, suspension, and cancellation whereas Clause 13(3) of the Control Order refers to the species of such orders, made appealable, by any person who may be aggrieved by such order/s. Thus, both - denial of issuance and denial of renewal of a fair price shop agreement, have been made appealable. However, other types of appointments such as revocation of suspension have not been made appealable.

31. As to the right of appeal to be availed, the same has been granted only to any 'aggrieved person'. As to the true meaning to be given to the words 'aggrieved person' (synonymous to "person aggrieved'), there is a consistent line of decisions. While the decision in the case of Ashfaq (supra) may no longer be good law in view of the changed provision of the Control Order viz-a-viz the right of appeal given to 'any person aggrieved' yet, that inherent principle in the earlier Control Order/s survives. Specifically, to the interpretation to be given to the word 'person aggrieved', I am bound by the dictum of the division bench of this Court in Dharam Raj (supra). In that case, the fair price shop agreement of the original agent was first suspended but later restored. Against such order, the writ petition had been filed by the complainant. The observations made in that decision are pertinent to the dispute at hand. Mainly, in paragraph nos.9, 10, 12 and 17, it was observed as below:

"9. As evident from narration of the facts given above, it is evident that the petitioner was one of the complainants in the complaint made against the respondent no. 4 on 12.13.2008. The action has since been taken on the complaint so made by the petitioner and others against the respondent no. 4, and fine of Rs. 5,000/-has been imposed.

10. In the circumstances, the petitioner cannot have any grievance in the matter, and he is not an aggrieved person, rather he is a person annoyed.

12. According to our opinion a "person aggrieved", means a person who is wrongly deprived of his entitlement which he is legally entitled to receive and it does not include any kind of disappointment or personal in convenience. "Person aggrieved" means a person who is injured or he is adversely affected in a legal sense.

17. The view taken by us that the petitioner is not a person aggrieved, thus he has no locus standi to file the present writ petition thereby challenging the order dated 16.3.2009 passed by Sub-Divisional Magistrate, Jal Singh Pur, District Sultanpur is also supported by the decision of this Court in the case of Suresh Singh v. Commissioner, Muradabad Division,7 where it was held that in an inquiry under section 95 (g) of the V.P. Panchayat Raj Act, 947, the complainant who was Vp-Pradhan could be a witness in an inquiry but had no locus standi to approach this Court against the order of the State authorities, for the reasons that none of his personal statutory right are affected."

32. The issue was then dealt with elaborately by a learned single-Judge of this Court in Sriram Prasad (supra) wherein besides the following the division bench decision in Dharam Raj (supra), the learned Single Judge made pertinent observation as below:

"The meaning of the expression person aggrieved will have to be ascertained with reference to the purpose and the provisions of the statute. One of the meanings is that person will be held to be aggrieved by a decision if that decision is materially adverse to him. The restricted meaning of the expression requires denial or deprivation of legal rights. A more legal approach is required in the background of statutes which do not deal with the property rights but deal with professional misconduct and morality. (Refer-Bar Council of Maharashtra v. M.V.Dabholkar, (1975) 2 SCC 702, 710-11, paras 27 & 28).

Broadly, speaking a party or a person is aggrieved by a decision when, it only operates directly and injuriously upon his personal, pecuniary and proprietary rights (Corpus Juris Seundem. Edn. 1, Vol.IV, p.356, as referred in Kalva Sudhakar Reddy v.Mandala Sudhakar Reddy, AIR 2005 AP 45,49 para 10) The expression 'person aggrieved' means a person who has suffered a legal grievance ie a person against whom a decision has been pronounced which has lawfully deprived him of something or wrongfully refused him something. The petitioner is not an aggrieved person by merely filing a complaint. The order of revocation of cancellation of fair price shop license do not affect him in any manner.

The Division Bench in Dharam Raj Versus State of U.P. and others, 2010 (2) AWC 1878 (LB), held that the petition on behalf of the complainant against the licensee of fair price shop is not maintainable against the final order passed by the competent authority as the complainant cannot be said to have any grievance in the matter being not an aggrieved person rather is a person annoyed.

Recently Supreme Court in Ravi Yashwant Bhoir versus District Collector, Raigad and others (2012) 4 SCC 407 was dealing with the removal of the President of Uran Municipal Council under the Maharashtra Municipal Councils, Nagar Panchayats and Industrial Townships Act, 1965. The ex-President was the complainant, the Court was of the opinion that the complainant cannot be party to the lis as he could not claim the status of an adversarial litigant. The relevant extract is as follows:

"58. Shri Chintaman Raghunath Gharat, Ex-President was the complainant, thus, at the most, he could lead the evidence as a witness. He could not claim the status of an adversial litigant. The complainant cannot be the party to the lis. A legal right is an averment of entitlement arising out of law. In fact, it is a benefit conferred upon a person by the rule of law. Thus, a person who suffers from legal injury can only challenge the act or omission. There may be some harm or loss that may not be wrongful in the eyes of law because it may not result in injury to a legal right or legally protected interest of the complainant but juridically harm of this description is called damnum sine injuria.

59. The complainant has to establish that he has been deprived of or denied of a legal right and he has sustained injury to any legally protected interest. In case he has no legal peg for a justiciable claim to hang on, he cannot be heard as a party in a lis. A fanciful or sentimental grievance may not be sufficient to confer a locus standi to sue upon the individual. There must be injuria or a legal grievance which can be appreciated and not a stat pro ratione valuntas reasons i.e. a claim devoid of reasons.

60. Under the garb of being necessary party, a person cannot be permined to make a case as that of general public interest. A person having a remote interest cannot be permitted to become a party in the lis, as the person wants to become a party in a case, has to establish that he has a proprietary a right which has been or is threatened to be violated, for the reason that a legal injury creates a remedial right in the injured person. A person cannot be heard as a party unless he answers the description of aggrieved party. (Vide: Adi Pherozshah Gandhi v. H.M. Seerval, Advocate General of Maharashtra, AIR 1971 SC 385; Jasbihai Motibhai Desai v. Roshan Kumar, Haji Bashir Ahmed & Ors, AIR 1976 SC 578; Maharaj Singh v. State of Uttar Pradesh & Ors, AIR 1976 SC 2602; Ghulam Qadir x. Special Tribunal & Ors., (2002) 1 SCC 33; and Kabushiki Kanha Toshiba v. Tosiba Appliances Company & Ors, (2008) 10 SCC 766). The High Court failed to appreciate that it was a case of political rivalry. The case of the appellant has not been considered in correct perspective at all."

Similarly, the Supreme Court in Ayaaubkhan Noorkhan Pathan versus State of Maharashtra and others (2013) 4 SCC 465, 466 was dealing with the issue of caste certificate being challenged by a person who did not belong to the reserved category. The Apex Court imposed exemplary cost of one lakh upon the stranger to the lis as he abused the process of the Court to harass the appellant.

The Court held as follows:

"9. It is a settled legal proposition that a stranger cannot be permitted to meddle in any proceeding, unless he satisfies the Authority/Court, that he falls within the category of aggrieved persons. Only a person who has suffered, or suffers from legal injury can challenge the act/action/order etc. in a court of law. A writ petition under Article 226 of the Constitution is maintainable either for the purpose of enforcing a statutory or legal right, or when there is a complaint by the appellant that there has been a breach of statutory duty on the part of the Authorities. Therefore, there must be a judicially enforceable right available for enforcement, on the basis of which writ jurisdiction is resorted to. The Court can of course, enforce the performance of a statutory duty by a public body, using its writ jurisdiction at the behest of a person, provided that such person satisfies the Court that he has a legal right to insist on such performance. The existence of such right is a condition precedent for invoking the writ jurisdiction of the courts. It is implicit in the exercise of such extraordinary jurisdiction that, the relief prayed for must be one to enforce a legal right. In fact, the existence of such right, is the foundation of the esercise of the said jurisdiction by the Court. The legal right that can be enforced must antinarily be the right of the appellant hutself, who complains of infraction of soch right and approaches the Court for relief as regards the same. (Vide State of Orissa v. Madan Gopal Runga, Allt 1952 SC 12; Saghir Ahmad & Anr: v. State of UP, AIR 1954 SC 728; Calcutta Gas Company (Proprietary) Ltd. v. State of West Bengal & On, AIR 1962 SC 1044; Rajendra Singh v. State of Madhya Pradesh, AIR 1996 SC 2736 and Tamilnad Mercantile Bank Shareholders Welfare Association (2) v. S.C Sekar & Ors. (2009) 2 SCC 784).

10.A "legal right", means an entitlement arising out of legal rules. Thus, it may be defined as an advantage, or a benefit conferred upon a person by the rule of law. The expression, "person aggrieved" does not include a person who suffers from a psychological or an imaginary injury, a person aggrieved must therefore, necessarily be one, whose right or interest has been adversely affected or jeopardised. (Vide: Shanti Kumar R. Chanji v. Home Insurance Co. of New York, AIR 1974 SC 1719; and State of Rajasthan & Ors. v. Union of India & Ors., AIR 1977 SC 1361)."

A Division Bench in Amin Khan versus State of U.P and others 2008(2) AWC 2002: (2008) 2 UPLBEC 1256 was of the opinion that a complainant had no locus to challenge the order of the District Magistrate withdrawing the administrative and financial powers of the Pradhan. The Court placed reliance upon Suresh Singh's case (Supra) as well as Smt. Kesari Devi versus State of U.P & others 2005(4) AWC 3563.

This Court in Ram Baran Versus State of U.P. and others, 2010(2) AWC 1947 (LB), again reiterated the principle that a complainant would have no locus to maintain the petition against the final order passed by the District Magistrate pursuant to direction in a petition under Article 226 of the Constitution against the Pradhan.

In the case of R. v. London Country Keepers of the peace of Justice, (1890) 25 Qbd 357, the Court held:

"A person who cannot succeed in getting a conviction against another may be annoyed by the said findings. He may also feel that what he thought to be a breach of law was wrongly held to be not a breach of law by the Magistrate.

He thus may be said to be a person annoyed but not a person aggrieved, entitle to prefer an appeal against such order."

The petitioner complainant shall have an opportunity during the course of regular enquiry to lead oral and documentary evidence if provided under the rules, but would have no locus to assail the final order passed by the authority on the complaint."

33. Similar view was taken by another learned single-Judge of this Court in Neeraj Kumar Mishra (supra) and by yet another learned single-Judge of this Court in Gram Vikash Sewa Samiti (supra).

34. In view of that law laid down by the Supreme Court as applied by the division bench of this Court and a long line of decisions (of learned single-Judge bench), the observations made to the contrary in Akhlaq (supra) and Smt. Muneeta (supra) giving the right of appeal to the complainant is clearly contrary to the binding principle and reasoning on that issue. In the context of disputes involving revocation of suspension of a fair price shop agreement, a "aggrieved person' or "person aggrieved' must be a person whose rights have been prejudiced by such order. Clearly, the present petitioner/complainant is not that person.

35. As held in Ashfaq (supra), the beneficiary cannot be a 'person aggrieved'. He only has right to receive essential commodities food grains, fuel, etc. on assured basis. However, he cannot choose his fair price shop agency. The difference between the 'person aggrieved' and a 'person annoyed' was also noted by the division bench of this Court in Dharam Raj (supra). Though, a complainant may qualify as a 'person annoyed', yet, he may never be a 'person aggrieved' (by an order passed in favour of the private respondent). Consequently, the petitioner could neither have filed an appeal and he has no locus to maintain the present petition.

36. What then survives for consideration is - if the Court may offer any consideration in such matters. Here, another learned Single Judge of this Court in Yogendra Singh Vs. State of U.P. & Ors., Misc. Single No. 23298 of 2016, vide order 27.9.2016, allowed such petition. However, it was not by way of right given to the complainant, rather, in that case, interference was made more by way of suo moto exercise of extraordinary jurisdiction of this Court under Article 226 of the Constitution of India, on the intimation received by the petitioner who also happened to be the complainant. Therefore, the ratio in that case only provides for an exception rather than a rule to be applied in such cases.

37. Also, it cannot be overlooked, it stands generally recognized that the State Government and/or the Gaon Sabha are the collective bodies entrusted and interested in the enforcement of the rights of the beneficiaries for whose benefit the fair price shop machinery exists. They may, if not satisfied with the order of the appeal authority, approach this Court, in appropriate case. Leaving that right intact, no interference is warranted at the instance of the present petitioner, in the instant case. The objection being raised as to the procedure adopted may not allow the Court to create a locus with the present petitioner to maintain the present writ petition. It is also not a ground as may commend to the Court to set aside the fair price shop arrangement, for that reason alone. Sufficient punishment appears to have been dealt out to the private respondent by suspension served out. It is expected, the said respondent would conduct his activity in accordance with law or face fresh suspension proceedings, in face of fresh breach.

38. Consequently, leaving that course open, the writ petition is dismissed.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Mrs. Sangeeta Chandra, J.)

1. Heard learned counsel for the petitioner and the learned Standing Counsel appearing on behalf of the State Respondents.

2. It is the case of the petitioners that the petitioners had bought two plots of land situated in Village Obri Deeh, Pargana Sadaullah Nagar, Tehsil Utraula, District Balrampur through sale deed dated 17.03.2008 from One Shri Ahmad Rasheed. Plot No. 1697 admeasuring 0.2390 hectares was bought for total sale consideration of Rs. 1,75,000/- only, Plot No. 1696 admeasuring as 0.2390 hectares was also purchased which is adjacent land through sale deed dated 05.03.2008, for a sale consideration of Rs. 1,75,000/- from the same vendor i.e. Shri Ahmad Rasheed.

No notice was ever served upon the petitioner for initiation of proceedings under Section 47A (3) of the Stamp Act till 2014. After six years from the date of the sale deed i.e. on 15.11.2014, the Assistant Commissioner (Stamp), Balrampur with reference to a letter dated 20.10.2014 sent by the District Collector carried out the spot inspection of the land in question and submitted his report. The petitioner having been issued notice for the first time after the report dated 15.11.2014 submitted his objections, but the same were not considered.

3. It has been submitted that in the impugned order mention has wrongly been made that the proceedings were initiated on the report of the Sub-Registrar, Utraula dated 18.03.2008 which was approved by the Assistant Inspector General (Registration) on 19.03.2008. Fraudulent order sheet were prepared in the Court of opposite party no.3 i.e. Collector, Balrampur showing that on 30.05.2008, the case was put up for orders and date fixed for 02.07.2008 for service of notice. Thereafter, 77 dates had been fixed from 20.08.2008 till 10.02.2014 but no report regarding service of notice on the petitioners was submitted then on 10.03.2014 an order was passed fixing 28.04.2014 for arguments. On 19.05.2014, an order was passed for issuance of notice to the petitioner again and date of 16.06.2014 was fixed. It was for the first time after such date was fixed that notice was issued to the petitioners. The petitioners put in appearance on 23.01.2014 and sought time for filing objections. Time was granted and date of 08.09.2014 was fixed for filing objections. The petitioners filed their objections on 20.09.2014 alongwith an application for spot inspection to be done. Spot inspection was not done and a fraudulent report submitted on 15.11.2014 on the basis of which the impugned order was passed.

4. Learned counsel for the petitioner had submitted that under Section 47A of the Stamp Act, if an instrument is undervalued immediately after presentation of such instrument and before accepting it for registration, the Registrar/Registering Officer shall require the person liable to pay stamp duty, to pay deficient stamp duty and on failure to do so return the instrument for presenting again. Under Section 47A (3) of the Act the Collector may, Suo motu, or on a reference from any Court or from the Commissioner of Stamps, or an Additional Commissioner of Stamps, or a Deputy Commissioner of Stamps, or an Assistant Commissioner of Stamps, or any officer authorised by the State Government in that behalf, initiate proceedings with respect to deficiency in payment of stamp within four years from the date of registration of any instrument, and examine the instrument with regard to correctness of the market value of the property and if, after such examination he has reason to believe that the market value of the such property has not been truly set forth in the instrument, he may determine the market value of the duty payable thereon.

5. It has been submitted that under the Proviso of Section 47A(3), an action can be initiated even after a lapse of four years from the date of registration of instrument, but prior permission of the State Government is required. No prior permission has been taken, but the sale deed executed in March, 2008 have been questioned by means of notice issued in November, 2014.

6. It has also been argued that under Section 47-A of the Stamp Act the Collector must first find out the correct market value of the property and to determine the same he must carrt out an inquiry, which should be in accordance with Rule 7 of the U. P. Stamp (Valuation of Property) Rules, 1997, which requires that on receipt of reference, or where the action is proposed to be taken Suo Motu under Section 47-A, the Collector shall issue notice to the parties to the instrument to show cause within thirty days of the receipt of such notice and he may admit oral and documentary evidence, if any, produced by the parties to the instrument and to satisfy himself as to the correctness of the market value of the property call for any information from any public office or authority or may inspect the property after due notice to the parties, and after considering the representation of the parties, he shall determine the market value of the property and the duty payable thereon. If such market value is found to be undervalued and the instrument not duly stamped, necessary action can be taken in respect of the same according to the relevant provisions of the Act.

7. It has been submitted on the basis of the pleadings on record that two agricultural plots No. 1696 and 1697 admeasuing .02390 hectares each, were bought by the petitioners, for agricultural purposes at the rate of Rs. 1,75,000/- each as sale consideration. On the date of sale deed, the Collector's Circle Rate list of 2008 was applicable. The petitioners paid 25% extra because the land in question was in the vicinity of Abadi and 25% more also because the land is question was situated on a Link road. The total valuation having been calculated by the petitioners on the basis of Collectors Circle Rate list of 2008, the stamp duty at the rate of 8% on total valuation was paid and also Registration fee. The petitioners having paid additional stamp duty to the extent of 25% + 25 %, there was no deliberate under valuation of the instrument. The petitioners' objections regarding the land being agricultural in nature were ignored only because the land was situated adjacent to the Link road and commercial establishments for example a mobile talkies, which was disfunctional was found to be existing on an adjacent plot of land. The inspection having been done after six years of the date of sale deed was vitiated. Initially Circle Rate of Rs. 3,500/- for commercial land was proposed to be levied, but later on land having been determined as residential, Rs.2,200/- per sqare meter was determined as the market value/circle rate on the basis of which deficiency in stamp duty of Rs. 3,94,640/- + a 10% penalty thereon of Rs. 39,464/- was determined with liability to pay simple interest at the Rate of 1.5% per month till the date of actual payment. Aggrieved by the order dated 27.04.2015, the petitioner filed Stamp Appeal No. 72 of 2015-16 and also Stamp Appeal No. 73 of 2015-16. The petitioners raised all grounds regarding delayed initiation of proceedings as also wrong determination of value of land, but the Chief Controller Revenue Authority, Board of Revenue decided the Appeal on irrelevant considerations, holding that the land in question had been surrounded by Commercial premises for example a road, a playground, a girls school and a mobile talkies.

8. It has been submitted by the petitioners that after the Appeal was rejected on 17.02.2016, this Court pleased to pass an Interim Order on 02.05.2016 that in case, the petitioners deposited a further sum of Rs. 1,00,000/- in addition to the 1/3 statutory amount already deposited for admission of Appeal, the recovery proceedings against the petitioners shall remained stayed. The petitioners have complied with such order and have deposited the amount as a result, further recovery proceedings have remained stayed.

9. Learned counsel for the State Respondents has pointed out from the order impugned that the sale deed were executed with respect to two plots of land in March, 2008 and on 18 March, 2018 itself, an on the Spot Inspection was carried out by the Assistant Commissioner and a Report submitted regarding under valuation of the property. On the said Report a Reference was made to the Collector. Notices were issued to the petitioners and after such notices were served the petitioners' appeared and filed objections saying that the property in question was inspected without associating them with such inspection. On the basis of such objections, the Collector issued a letter on 20.10.2014 to the Assistant Commissioner (Stamp), Balrampur for carrying out on the spot inspection alongwith family members of the petitioners and in their presence. Consequently, the Assistant Commissioner(Stamp) carried out the spot inspection on 13.11.2014 and submitted his report on 15.11.2014 which was filed as Annexure-4 to the petition. With respect to Plot No. 1696 admeasuring 0.239 hectares, the sale had been carried out showing agricultural rates of Rs.9,00,000/- per hectares, the Circle Rate at the time of such sale for commercial land was Rs.3,500/- per square meter. In the Circle Rate list at serial no.16 mention was made of location of land near either a State or District or painted Link road or Kharanja Marg and accordingly, 70% or 50% or 25 % or 15% respectively of additional value was to be fixed. The land in question i.e. Plot No. 1696 was situated adjacent to a painted road and also near Abadi and just adjacent to such land was a touring Talkies, though disfunctional. The land being discovered to be commercial in nature in the initial on the spot inspection carried out on 08.07.2008 reference of which has been made in the Report dated 15.04.2008 it had correctly been valued it on commercial rate of Rs.3,500/- per square meter.

10. Similarly, Plot No. 1697 was situated next to the same painted Link road and a playground was situated towards south and west of the plot, and a Stage was also constructed for holding of public functions towards south of such plot, and towards north was the building of the old touring Talkies, which was now disfunctional. The land being situated in the midst of Abadi and no agricultural activities having been carried out either on the said plots of land or on adjacent and surroundings plots of land, and a girl school situated next to it, it could not be said that the land in question was agricultural, therefore, the agricultural rate of Rs.9,00,000/- per hectare was wrongly mentioned in the sale deed. The commercial rate of 2008 circle list was Rs.3,500/- per square meter and residential rate was Rs.2,200/- per square meter. It was proposed to impose residential rate of Rs. 2,200/- per square meter instead of the initial proposal of imposing commercial rate of Rs.3,500/- per square meter in the report dated 15.11.2014.

11. Learned counsel for the petitioner has placed reliance upon judgment rendered by a Coordinate Bench of this Court in the case of Sudama vs. Chief Controlling Revenue Authority U.P. Allahabad & Others in Writ C No.-19334 of 1998 where this Court relied upon a Division Bench judgement in Rakesh Chandra Mittal and Others Vs. State of U.P. and Another, 2004 (5) AWC 3952 that where no finding had been returned with regard to the exact situation of land and the inspection was done by the Tehsildar after more than three and a half year for the execution of sale deed the market value determination much later on, on the basis of any subsequent improvement or change in nature or user of land resulting in enhanced market value cannot be taken into account. Value of the property on the date of the execution of the documents alone can be considered for the purpose of determination of proper stamp duty.

12. The Coordinate Bench has also placed reliance upon the judgment render in Smt. Sushila Verma Vs. State of U.P. and Others, 2006 (2) AWC 1492 and Nar Singh Das Agrawal Vs. Chief Controlling Revenue Authority, Board of Revenue, Allahabad and Others , 2007 (1) AWC 727 where market value of agricultural land was held to be on the basis of per hectare and not on basis of Circle Rates for residential plots determined on per square meter basis. Just because the land in question was situated next to a road, it could not be inferred that it was commercial in nature. The Court observed on the basis of the facts of the particular case in Sudama (Supra) that merely because the land in dispute was 20 meters distant from the residential area will not convert the land from agricultural to residential or commercial land. The Court had set aside the order passed by the Additional District Magistrate (Finance & Revenue) and had remitted the matter for fresh consideration.

13. The learned counsel for the petitioners has also placed reliance upon the judgement passed by the Coordinate Bench of this Court in the case of Aniruddha Kumar and Ashwini Kumar Vs. Chief Controlling Revenue Authority, 2000 (3) AWC 2587 and Paragraph 19, 20 and 21 thereof, wherein the Court had observed that market value is to be determined on the basis of value that would satisfy the vendor, therefore, the question of future potential cannot be a factor for determining the market value of such land for the purpose of stamp duty payable under the Stamp Act. The vendee pays the price that satisfying the vendor and on the utility of the land as on the date of transfer by the vendor and as such the land was an agricultural land, it has to be treated as such and the valuation has to be done accordingly. Whether in future the purchaser puts to the land into residential use or changes the character is immaterial for the payment of stamp duty.

14. The Court had placed reliance upon Prakashwati Vs. Chief Controlling Revenue Authority, Board of Revenue, Allahabad, 1996 AWC 1331 whether the Supreme Court had held that situation of a property in an area close to a decent colony could not by itself make it a part thereof, and it should not be a factor for approach of the authority in determining the market value.

15. The learned counsel for the petitioner has also placed reliance judgment rendered by the Division Bench of this Court in Neelu Chopra & Others vs. State of U.P. and Others, 2008 (6) ALJ 507 and paragraph 9, 10 and 11 thereof which refers to limitation under Section 47-A (3) of the Act for impounding an instrument or initiation of proceedings of recovery of deficiency in stamp duty saying that four years period has to be completed from the date of registration of the instrument. In the said case, notice was issued on 26.03.1991 though sale deed was registered on 31.12.1984 i.e. after more than six years from the date of execution of the instrument. The Court did not find the explanation given by the opposite parties in the counter affidavit for initiation of proceedings beyond the limitation of four years as sufficient and had quashed the proceedings.

16. Learned Standing Counsel on the other hand, on the basis of judgment rendered by the Full Bench of this Court in Smt. Pushpa Sareen Vs. State of U. P. and Others, 2015 (33) LCD 1575 has argued that the question with regard to correct valuation of property only on the assumption that the same is likely to be used for commercial purpose or presumed future prospective use of the land, was considered including the question of declaration under Section 143 of the U.P.Z.A.L.R. Act and in the absence thereof a presumption arising in favour of the party that the land was used for agricultural purposes. The Full Bench observed that the power under Section 47-A was to be used by the Collector to determine the correct "market value" of the property and the Collector has the power to fix valuation of the plot taking into account the future prospective use of the land. It held that stamp duty is a levy which is imposed not on the transaction but on the instrument. The Court observed that its attention had been drawn to certain judgements of Single Judges of the Court which had taken the view that the market value of the land could not be determined with reference of the land to which the buyers intends to put it in the future. However, the Court observed that the power under Section 47-A is for the Collector to determine the actual market value of the property, he is not bound either by the value as described in the instrument or for that matter the value as discernible on the basis of the rules. It observed in paragraphs 27, 28 and 29 thus:-

"27. The true test for determination by the Collector is the market value of the property on the date of the instrument because, under the provisions of the Act, every instrument is required to be stamped before or at the time of execution. In making that determination, the Collector has to be mindful of the fact that the market value of the property may vary from I on to location and is dependent upon a large number of circumstances having a bearing on the comparative advantages or disadvantages of the land as well as the use to which the land can be put on the date of the execution of the instrument.

28. Undoubtedly, the Collector is not permitted to launch upon a speculative inquiry about the prospective use to which a land may be put to use at an uncertain future date. The market value of the property has to be determined with reference to the use to which the land is capable reasonably of being put to immediately or in the proximate future. The possibility of the land becoming available in the immediate or near future for better use and enjoyment reflects upon the potentiality of the land. This potential has to be assessed with reference to the date of the execution of the instrument. In other words, the power of the Collector cannot be unduly circumscribed by ruling out the potential to which the land can be advantageously deployed at the time of the execution of the instrument or a period reasonably proximate thereto. Again the use to which land in the area had been put is a material consideration. If the land surrounding the property in question has been put to commercial use, it would be improper to hold that this is a circumstance which should not weigh with the Collector as a factor which influences the market value of the land.

29. The fact that the land was put to a particular use, say for instance a commercial purpose at a later point in time, may not be a relevant criterion for deciding the value for the purpose of stamp duty, as held by the Supreme Court in State of U.P. and others v. Ambrish Tandon and another, (2012) 5 SCC 566, This is because the nature of the user is relateable to the date of purchase which is relevant for the purpose of computing the stamp duty. Where, however, the potential of the land can be assessed on the date of the execution of the instrument itself, that is clearly a circumstance which is relevant and germane to the determination of the true market value. At the same time, the exercise before the Collector has to be based on adequate material and cannot be a matter of hypothesis or surmise. The Collector must have material on the record to the effect that there has been a change of use or other contemporaneous sale deeds in respect of the adjacent areas that would have a bearing on the market value of the property which is under consideration. The Collector, therefore, would be within jurisdiction in referring to exemplars or comparable sale instances which have a bearing on the true market value of the property which is required to be assessed. If the sale instances are comparable, they would also reflect the potentiality of the land which would be taken into consideration in a price agreed upon between a vendor and a purchaser."

17. Learned counsel for the State Respondents has also placed reliance upon judgement rendered by Coordinate Bench of this Court in Shakeel Ahmad Vs. Additional Commissioner, Judicial, Faizabad, 2019 (37) LCD 2423 whether this Court had considered the judgement rendered by the Full Bench in Smt. Pushpa Sareen(Supra) and observed in paragraphs 11, 12 and 13 thus:

"11. It is no doubt true that several Division Benches of this Court before the Full Bench decision in the case of Pushpa Sareen (supra) was rendered on 12.2.2015, had held that future potential for residential or commercial use of the property cannot lead to a presumption that the sale deed has been deliberately undervalued, if the land in question continues to be recorded as agricultural land and no declaration under Section 143 of U.P.Z.A. and L.R. Act for change of land user has been made by the competent authority. However, even from a perusal of the Full Bench rendered by this Court on several questions referred by the Chief Controlling Revenue Authority to it, it is apparent that the Full Bench while answering the second question i.e. whether the Collector, Stamps has power to fix the valuation of a plot on the assumption that the same is likely to be used for commercial purposes, and whether the presumed future prospective use of the land can be a criterion for valuation by the Collector?, has observed in Paragraph nos.20 to 29 of the decision that a Collector under the second clause of Section 47-A of the Act is empowered to determine the market value of the property. The Collector in making that determination is not bound either by the value as described in the instrument or for that matter, the value as discernible (circle rate), as an obligation is cast upon the Collector to properly ascertain the true value of the property for which, conveyance has been registered and he is not bound by the apparent tenor of the instrument. He can even decide the real nature of the transaction and value of such property, ignoring apparent mention therein of its nature either as a lease deed, sale deed or a partnership deed. The Collector can look into the material placed before him and even conduct an enquiry to ascertain what is the likely value of such property in the area surrounding the property in question. If such enquiry gives him material to test, prima facie, whether the description of valuation in an instrument is proper or not, he may issue notice and thereafter, hear the parties and then pass appropriate orders. The Collector while determining the true value of an instrument may also look into the circle rate, but the circle rate does not take away the right of a person to show that the property in question is correctly valued as he gets an opportunity in case of under valuation to prove it before the Collector after reference is made.

12. The determination may be made on the basis of the market value of the property on the date of the instrument and the Collector should be mindful of the fact that the market value of the property may vary from location to location and is dependent upon a large number of circumstances having a bearing on the comparative advantages or disadvantages of the land as well as the use of the land to which, the land can be put on the date of execution of the instrument. However, the Collector cannot launch upon a speculative enquiry about the prospective use to which, the land may be put to use at an uncertain future date, but the market value of the property can be determined with reference to the use to which the land is capable reasonably of being put to use immediately or in the proximate future. "The possibility of the land becoming available in the immediate or near future for better use and enjoyment reflects upon the potentiality of the land. This potential has to be assessed with reference to the date of execution of the instrument. In other words, the power of the Collector cannot be unduly circumscribed by ruling out the potential to which the land can be advantageously deployed at the time of the execution of the instrument or a period reasonably proximate thereto. Again, the use to which land in the area had been put is a material consideration. If the land surrounding the property in question has been put to commercial use, it would be improper to hold that this is a circumstance which should not weigh with the Collector as a factor which influences the market value of the land."

13. In Para-28 of the judgment, the Hon'ble Full Bench has referred to the judgment rendered by the Supreme Court in the case of State of U.P. and others v. Ambrish Tandon and another, (2012) 5 SCC 566, and has observed that where, however, the potential of the land can be assessed on the date of the execution of the instrument itself, that is clearly a circumstance which is relevant and germane to the determination of the true market value. At the same time, the exercise before the Collector has to be based on adequate material and cannot be a matter of hypothesis or surmise. The Collector must have material on the record to the effect that there has been a change of use or other contemporaneous sale deeds in respect of the adjacent areas that would have a bearing on the market value of the property which is under consideration. The Collector, therefore, would be within jurisdiction in referring to exemplars or comparable sale instances which have a bearing on the true market value of the property which is required to be assessed. If the sale instances are comparable, they would also reflect the potentiality of the land which would be taken into consideration in a price agreed upon between a vendor and a purchaser."

18. Learned counsel for the State Respondent has pointed out from the counter affidavit, a judgement rendered by a Coordinate Bench of this Court in Wassi Ur Rehman and another Vs. Commissioner Moradabad Division and Others in Writ C. No. 47533 of 2010 decided on 26.02.2015 wherein the Coordinate Bench had considered earlier judgements rendered by the Coordinate Bench and had observed that the person presenting the instrument is required to disclose the nature of economic activity, industrial development, if any, prevailing in the locality where the property is situated and and to mention any other special feature affecting the value of the property as per Rule 3 and Rule 6 of the Stamp Rules, 1997. The Court observed that the land being only 720 square meter (in the instant case land is around 2,093 square meter) it was highly unlikely that such land was to be used for agricultural purposes the petitioner had not filed any exemplar to show that agricultural activity is the predominant activity in the vicinity where the property was situated. Merely, because the property was recorded as agricultural property and no declaration under Section 143 of the U.P.Z.A.L.R. Act was made, it could not be said that the property did not have commercial potential on the date of execution of sale deed.

19. In some and substance the view that has now been crystallized after the decision of the Full Bench of this Court is that it is for the Collector to determine the correct market value of the land not on the basis of any declaration under Section 143 of the U.P.Z.A.L.R. Act but on the basis of nature and use of the property as actually determined on the spot, coupled with the predominant activity in the locality where the property is situated.

20. This Court having considered the judgements rendered by the Coordinate Bench and also by the Full Bench of this Court finds from a perusal of this sale deed filed as Annexure to the petitions that the land in question was not bought for the purpose of carrying out agricultural activity, it had been bought for commercial purposes. With regard to the specific plea raised by the petitioner that no notice was ever served upon him and therefore it can be presumed that proceedings were initiated only in 2014 and thus barred by limitation, this Court has found, perusal of pleadings on record including the orders impugned, and the report dated 15.11.2014, that the proceedings were initiated on the basis of an on spot inspection carried out on 08.04.2008, the reference itself was made on 15.04.2008. Just because the petitioner avoided service till 2014, it cannot be said that the proceedings were initiated in 2014.

21. The petitioner has not disputed in his petitions the actual location of the plots in question and on the spot inspection report which was carried out in his presence on 15.11.2014. The land being commercial in nature. This Court found no good ground to show interference in the orders impugned.

22. These petitions stand dismissed.

23. No order as to costs.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Pankaj Bhatia, J.)

1. Heard learned counsel for the petitioner and Sri Shobh Nath Pandey, the counsel appearing on behalf of the respondents.

2. The present petition has been filed challenging the order dated 17.04.2017 passed by the labour court in exercise of the powers under section 33(C)(2) of the U.P. Industrial Disputes Act, 1947.

3. The facts, in brief, are that the respondent claiming himself to be employed with the petitioner filed an application under the Payment of Wages Act alleging that the wages paid to the petitioner were less than the wages to which the petitioner was entitled and by means of the order dated 29.03.2004, the authority under the payment of wages act determined that the petitioner was paid wages less by Rs.1077/- and accepted the contention of the respondent for payment of difference of payment of wages for the period December 2001 to April 2002 and thus passed an award directing the petitioner to pay the amount of Rs.21,740/-. The said award was never challenged and the admitted position as of now is that the petitioner has been paid the amount as awarded by the prescribed authority under the Payment of Wages Act. After the said award, the respondent preferred an application under section 33(C)(2) of the Industrial Disputes Act claiming that once the wages were determined by means of the order dated 29.03.2004, for the subsequent period also, the respondent has not been paid wages of which he was entitled. Based upon the said application, an order was passed holding that the respondent was entitled to difference of payment of wages for the period December 2001 up to June 2006 (fifty five months) and the same were quantified and awarded at Rs.59,235/- with a further penalty of Rs.59,235/- was also imposed and the petitioners were directed to pay a total amount of Rs.1,18,470/- to the respondent. The said order is under challenge in the present proceedings.

4. The counsel for the petitioner argues that the order passed in exercise of powers under section 33(C)(2) of the Act is bad in law inasmuch as the award in favour of the respondent dated 29.03.2004 had quantified the dues payable to the respondent at Rs.21,740/-, the authority under section 33(C)(2) could not have determined the amount allegedly due by the respondent for the period other than claimed leading to passing of the award dated 29.03.2004. It is further argues that the respondent had drawn the bills for payment of his dues and after he was terminated, the respondent preferred the application. In fact the respondent challenged the termination order by filing a writ petition before this court, which was dismissed directing the respondent to prefer a claim under section 70 of the U.P. Cooperative Societies Act. It is stated that the respondent did not file any proceedings under section 70 of the U.P. Cooperative Societies Act and instead filed an application under section 33 (C) (2) of the Act, which has been allowed. He further argues that although the authority under the Payment of Wages Act, had the power to pass an award, however, the labour court does not have any jurisdiction to entertain any dispute in between the Cooperative Society and its Members except by way of invoking the procedure as prescribed under Section 70 of the U.P. Cooperative Societies Act.

5. Learned counsel for the petitioner places reliance on the judgment of the Supreme Court in the case of Ghaziabad Zila Sahkari Bank Ltd. vs. Additional Labour Commissioner and others; 2007 (11) SCC 756 as well as the judgment of the Supreme Court in the case of Prabhu Dayal vs. Sadhan Sahkari Samiti Mujuri Vikas Khand, Paniyara and others; 2008 (4) SCC 34. In the light of the said judgments, he argues that the labour court did not have the jurisdiction, as such, the order deserves to be set aside.

6. The counsel for the respondent, on the other hand, tries to justify the order by arguing that once the prescribed authority under the Payment of Wages Act had quantified the salary payable to the respondent, only for the purposes of computing the benefits, the relief as availed by the respondent was available under section 33(C)(2) of the Industrial Disputes Act. He further argues that the question of labour court having jurisdiction was considered by the Supreme Court in the case of K.A. Annamma vs. Secretary, Cochin Cooperative Hospital Society Limited; 2018 (2) SCC 729. He also places reliance on the judgment of the Supreme Court in the case of Bangalore Water Supply and Sewerage Board vs. A. Rajappa and others; AIR 1978 Supreme Court 548. In the light of the above two judgments, the counsel for the respondent argues that the petition is liable to be dismissed as the respondent was vigilant over his rights to approach the labour court for payment of his dues. He also argues that after the judgment of the Supreme Court in the case of Bangalore Water Supply (supra), a Cooperative Society would also fall within the definition of the 'industry'.

7. The counsel for the petitioner argues that the judgment of the Supreme Court in the case of K.A. Annamma (supra) does not take into consideration the earlier judgments of the Supreme Court in the case of Ghaziabad Zila Sahkari Bank Ltd. (supra) and Prabhu Dayal (supra) and the same being rendered in the facts arising out of the Kerala Cooperative Society Act would not be applicable to the present case.

8. In the light of the arguments raised at the bar, this court is to decide whether the labour court was justified in exercise of the powers under section 33(C)(2) of the Industrial Disputes Act to have passed the order as has been done by means of the present order, impugned in the present writ petition.

9. What emerges from the pleadings is that by means of an award dated 29.03.2014, the prescribed authority under the Payment of Wages Act had quantified the payments to the respondent for the period December 2001 to April 2002 at Rs.21,740/-. No other proceedings were ever initiated under the Payment of Wages Act by the respondent. The respondent approached the labour court by filing an application under section 33(C)(2) and on which the labour court assessed the amount payable for the period 2001 up to 2006.

10. The first argument as to whether the labour court has jurisdiction for passing the order has been squarely concluded by the Supreme Court in the case of Ghaziabad Zila Sahkari Bank Ltd. (supra) followed by Prabhu Dayal's case (supra) to hold that the remedy in case of a dispute in between the cooperative society and its members would be under section 70 of the Cooperative Societies Act and the labour court would not have the jurisdiction. Relevant paragraph of the said judgment holds as under :

"Alongwith the appeal, some appointment orders have been filed as annexures. The appointment order clearly says that the services were governed by the Service Regulations, 1975 and the bye-laws of the bank. It is relevant to mention here that the services of the employees of the Bank are governed by service regulations 1975 framed under the Act of 1965, which provides complete machinery and adjudication. Moreover, the provisions under Section 70 of the U.P. Cooperative Societies Act, 1965 is elaborate in this regard, which provides complete machinery that if there is any dispute between the employers and the employees of the Cooperative Society, the matter shall be referred to the Arbitrator as provided under Section 70 of the U.P. Cooperative Societies Act, 1965. Section 70 of the U.P. Cooperative Societies Act and Section 64 of the M.P. Cooperative Societies Act are pari materia and this Court in the matter of R. C. Tewari vs. M.P. State Cooperative Marketing Federation Ltd. 1997 (5) SCC 125 held that the Labour Court and Industrial Laws are not applicable where complete machinery has been provided under the provisions of the Cooperative Societies Act and in such view of the matter the Learned Additional Labour Commissioner U.P. has no jurisdiction to pass orders in the nature it has been passed."

11. The said judgments were rendered while interpreting the provisions of the U.P. Industrial Disputes Act and the U.P.

Cooperative Societies Act would thus be binding on this court. The judgment in the case of K.A. Annamma (supra) does not take into consideration the earlier judgments of the Supreme Court in the case of Ghaziabad Zila Sahkari Bank Ltd. (supra) and in the case of Prabhu Dayal (supra) and the same is also rendered in the context of the provisions of Kerala Cooperative Societies Act.

12. Thus, in the facts of the present case, the law as propounded by the Supreme Court in the case of Ghaziabad Zila Sahkari Bank Ltd. (supra) would hold the field.

13. The issue with regard to the cooperative society being an 'industry' as defined under section 2(k) of the Industrial Disputes Act were neither raised before the labour court nor contested.

14. In the light of the said, I am of the firm view that the labour court has erred in passing the award for the period 2001 up to 2006. There being no dispute that the award dated 29.03.2004 has already been satisfied, the order dated 17.04.2017 is not sustainable and is set aside.

15. The writ petition stands disposed off in terms of the said order.

1. Heard Sri Vinod Kumar Singh, learned Counsel for the petitioner as well as Sri Pankaj Srivastava along with Sri Shashank Bhasim, learned Counsel appearing on behalf of the State and Sri Rakesh Srivastava, learned Counsel appearing on behalf of the respondent no.5 in leading Writ-C No.13574 of 2018.

2. All the petitions arise out of a common order, as such, the same are being decided by means of this common judgment.

3. For the sake of brevity, the facts as emerge from Writ-C No.13574 of 2018 are being recorded.

4. By means of the present writ petitions, the petitioners have challenged the judgment and order dated 21.03.2018 passed by the U.P. Co-operative Tribunal, Lucknow (hereinafter referred to as "the Tribunal"), whereby the appeals preferred against the order dated 23.01.2017 have been allowed.

5. The facts in brief are that in the year 2013, a complaint was received alleging irregularities committed by the employees as well as the members of the Committee of Management of the U.P. Civil Secretariat Primary Co-operative Bank Limited, on which, initially a Committee was constituted under Section 66 of the U.P. Co-operative Societies Act, 1965 (in short "the 1965 Act") and the matter was got investigated. It is stated that prima facie, certain irregularities were revealed. The proceedings were instituted under Section 68(2) of the 1965 Act. After hearing the parties, an order came to be passed under Section 68(2) on 23.01.2017 by an officer designated as the Joint Commissioner and Joint Registrar/ Additional Commissioner and Additional Registrar Co-operative.

6. Aggrieved against the said order, the persons against whom the said orders were passed (respondents herein) preferred appeals before the Tribunal. In all nine appeals, the main argument of the appellants was that the order dated 23.01.2017 is without jurisdiction. In support of the said argument, the appellants relied upon the notification issued by the State Government in exercise of powers conferred under Section 3(2) of the 1965 Act on 05.07.1969 as well as the subsequent notification dated 27.12.1975. They also placed reliance on the judgment of this Court dated 09.04.2010 passed in Misc. Single No.1712 of 2010 [Ravi Pratap Srivastava and others vs Co-operative Tribunal, U.P., Lucknow and others]. The Tribunal relying upon the judgment dated 09.04.2010 passed in the case of Ravi Pratap Srivastava (supra) allowed the appeals vide order dated 21.03.2018 and set aside the orders dated 23.01.2017 holding the same to be without jurisdiction and further observed that in case, any irregularity comes to light, the orders can be passed under Section 68 of the 1965 Act in accordance with law. The said order dated 21.03.2018 is under challenge before this Court.

7. The Counsel for the petitioner argues that the orders passed by officer designated as the Joint Commissioner and Joint Registrar/ Additional Commissioner and Additional Registrar Co-operative was well within jurisdiction. He argues that Section 3 of the 1965 Act provides for a Registrar and the State Government is under an obligation to appoint a person to be the Registrar of the Co-operative Societies for the State. Sub-section (2) of Section 3 confers additional powers on the State Government to appoint other persons to assist the Registrar by a general or special order and confer upon them all or any of the powers of the Registrar. Section 3 is quoted hereinbelow:

"3. Registrar. - (1) The State Government may appoint a person to be the Registrar of Cooperative Societies for the State.

(2) The State Government may, for the purposes of this Act, also appoint other persons to assist the Registrar and by general or special order confer on any such person all or any of the powers of the Registrar.

(3) Where any order has been made under sub-section (2) conferring on any person all or any of the powers of the Registrar under any provision of this Act, such order shall be deemed to confer on him all the powers under that provision as may be amended from time to time."

8. The Counsel for the petitioner further argues that the order dated 23.01.2017 was passed in exercise of powers under Section 68 of the 1965 Act which confers the power of levy of surcharge on the Registrar. Section 68 is quoted hereinbelow:

"68. Surcharge. - (1) If in the course of an audit, inquiry, inspection or the winding up of a co-operative society it is found that any person, who is or was entrusted with the organization or management of such society or who is or has at any time been an officer or an employee of the society, has made or caused to be made any payment contrary to this Act, the rules or the bye-laws or has caused any deficiency in the assets of the society by breach of trust or wilful negligence or has misappropriated or fraudulently retained any money or other property belonging to such Society, the Registrar may of his own motion or on the application of the committee, liquidator or any creditor, inquire himself or direct any person authorized by him by an order in writing in this behalf to inquire into the conduct of such person:

Provided that no such inquiry shall be commenced after the expiry of twelve years from the date of any act or omission referred to in this sub-section.

(2) Where an inquiry is made under sub-section (1) the Registrar may, after affording the person concerned a reasonable opportunity of being heard, made an order of surcharge requiring him to restore the property or repay the money or any part thereof with interest at such rate, or to pay contribution and costs or compensation to such an extent as the Registrar may consider just and equitable.

(3) Where-an order of surcharge has been passed against a person under sub-section (2) for having caused any deficiency in the assets of the society by breach of trust or willful negligence, or for having misappropriated or fraudulently retained any money or other property belonging to such society, such person shall, subject to the result of appeal, if any, field against such order, be disqualified from continuing in or being elected or appointed to an office in any co-operative society for a period of five years from the date of the order of surcharge."

9. The Counsel for the petitioner further argues that by means of a specific notification issued under Section 3(2) of the 1965 Act on 05.07.1969, the powers to be exercised by the Registrar were conferred upon the Deputy Registrar/ Assistant Registrar, (in-charge of a Division) under Clause 2 of the said notification and in the light thereof, all the powers to be exercised by the Registrar could also be exercised by the Deputy Registrar/ Assistant Registrar, (in-charge of a Division). He further argues that subsequent to the notification dated 05.07.1969, another notification was issued on 27.12.1975 reiterating the delegation of powers on the Deputy Registrar who could exercise all the powers conferred on the Registrar. Based upon the said notifications, the Counsel for the petitioner argues that the Tribunal has erred in allowing the appeal on the question of jurisdiction, inasmuch as, the Deputy Registrar was duly empowered to perform the functions which are conferred upon the Registrar in terms of the mandate of the 1965 Act. He further argues that the judgment of this Court dated 09.04.2010 in Ravi Pratap Srivastava (supra) does not go into all these questions and does not take notice of the notifications and thus merely placing reliance on the said judgment was not a proper exercise of power by the Tribunal. In the light of the aforesaid arguments, it is argued that the petitions deserve to be allowed and the order passed in appeal by the Tribunal is required to be set aside.

10. The learned Additional Chief Standing Counsel based upon the instructions of Mr. R.K. Kulshrestha, the Additional Registrar, who is present in Court, argues that in terms of the notification issued by virtue of powers conferred under Section 3 (2) of the 1965 Act, the notification issued on 05.07.1969 conferred simultaneous powers on the Additional Registrar and the Joint Registrar for exercise of powers of the Registrar only in respect of the societies which were given under the charge of the Additional Registrar or the Joint Registrar by the Registrar as well as the Assistant Registrar was conferred the powers in respect of Primary Co-operative Societies for exercise of powers under Section 68. He further states that subsequently by virtue of notification dated 27.12.1975, the position which stood by virtue of Clause (1) of the notification of 1969 was clarified and extended to include all the powers of the Registrar by the Additional Registrar at the Headquarters or the Deputy Registrar at the Headquarters in respect of the societies which were assigned by the Registrar to the said Additional Registrar or the Deputy Registrar in respect of the societies within the division. The Deputy Registrar was conferred to the powers exercised by the Registrar within the said division and it was further clarified that the District Additional Registrar can exercise the powers only in respect of the societies which fall within the area of jurisdiction and to that extent, the notification dated 05.07.1969 was clarified.

11. The Counsel for the respondent Sri Rakesh Srivastava, on the other hand, argues that it is well settled that the powers under Section 68 are to be exercised by the Registrar of the Society and the said powers can be delegated validly by the State Government by exercising the powers under Section 3(2) of the 1965 Act. He, however, submits that in the notification dated 05.07.1969 while in Clause (2), the powers of a Registrar were delegated upon the Deputy Registrar/ Assistant Registrar, however, in terms of Clause (4), there was specific delegation of powers on the District Assistant Registrar for exercise of powers under Section 68 relating to Primary Co-operative Societies.

12. The Counsel for the respondent further argues that the subsequent notification of 1975 does not repeal the earlier notification of 1969, in fact, it specifically provides that the notification dated 27.12.1975 is in continuation of the earlier notification. He argues that although in the notification dated 27.12.1975, the powers have been conferred upon the Deputy Registrar under Clause (2) of the 1975 notification, however, the fact remains that a specific delegation as conferred by Clause (4) of the 1969 notification could still not held to be repealed especially relating to exercise of power under Section 68 of the 1965 Act relating to the Primary Co-operative Societies. On the foundation of the said, he argues that once the delegation is specific, the general delegation would not prevail and the argument of the Counsel for the petitioner cannot be accepted. In support of his submission, he places reliance on the views of the various Authors, while quoting from "Juridical Review Of Administrative Action". He relies upon the following paragraphs:

"A discretionary power must, in general, be exercised only by the authority to which it has been committed. It is a well-known principle of law that when a power has been confided to a person in circumstances indicating that trust is being placed in his individual judgment and discretion, he must exercise that power personally unless he has been expressly empowered to delegate it to another. This principle, which has often been applied in the law of agency, trusts and arbitration, is expressed in the form of the maxim delegatus non potest delegare (or delegari), a maxim which, it has been suggested, "owes its origin to mediaeval commentators on the Digest and the Dcretals, and its vogue in the common law to the carelessness of a sixteenth-century printer." The widespread assumption that it applies only to the sub-delegation of delegated legislative powers and to the sub-delegation of other powers delegated by a superior administrative authority is unfounded. It applies to the delegation of all classes of powers, and it was indeed originally invoked in the context of delegation of judicial powers. It is therefore convenient to travel beyond the delegation of discretionary powers in the strict sense and to view the problem as a whole."

13. The Counsel for the respondent further relies upon the commentary of "Administrative Law" of Sir William Wade, which is as under:

"An element which is essential to the lawful exercise of power is that it should be exercised by the authority upon whom it is conferred, and by no one else. The principle is strictly applied, even where it causes administrative inconvenience, except in cases where it may reasonably be inferred that the power was intended to be delegable. Normally the courts are rigorous in requiring the power to be exercised by the precise person or body stated in the statute, and in condemning as ultra vires action taken by agents, sub-committees or delegates, however expressly authorised by the authority endowed with the power."

14. He further argues that the Government Orders have to be construed harmoniously and specifically relies upon the judgment of the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Sultana Begum vs Prem Chand Jain; (1997) 1 SCC 373 wherein he places particular emphasis. Paragraphs 11 to 17 and 21 are quoted below:

"11. The statute has to be read as a whole to find out the real intention of the legislature.

12. In Canada Sugar Refining Co. vs. R. (1898) AC 735, Lord Davy observed:-

"Every clause of a statute should be construed with reference to the context and other clauses of the Act, so as, as far as possible, to make a consistent enactment of the whole statute or series of statutes relating to the subject-matter."

13. This Court has adopted the same rule in M. Pentiah vs Muddala Veeramallappa; AIR 1961 SC 1107; Gamman India Ltd. vs Union of India; AIR 1974 SC 960; Mysore State Road Transports Corporation vs Mirza Khasim All Beg; AIR 1977 SC 747; V. Tulsamma vs. Sesha Reddy; (1977) 3 SCC 99; Punjab Beverages (P) Ltd. vs Suresh Chand; AIR 1978 SC 995; Commissioner of Income-tax vs. National Taj Traders; AIR 1980 SC 485; Calcutta Gas Co. (Proprietary) Ltd. vs State of West Bengal; AIR 1962 SC 1044 and J.K. Cotton Spinning and Weaving Mills vs State of U.P. AIR 1961 SC 1170.

14. This rule of construction which is also spoken of as "ex visceribus actus" helps in avoiding any inconsistency either within a Section or between two different Section or provisions of the same statute.

15. On a conspectus of the case law indicated above, the following principles are clearly discernible:

(1) It is the duty of the courts to avoid a head-on clash between two Sections of the Act and to construe the provisions which appear to be in conflict with each other in such a manner as to harmonise them.

(2) The provisions of one Section of a statute cannot be used to defeat the other provisions unless the court, in spite of its efforts, finds it impossible to effect reconciliation between them.

(3) It has to be borne in mind by all the courts all the time that when there are two conflicting provisions in an Act, which cannot be reconciled with each other, they should be so interpreted that, if possible, effect should be given to both. This is the essence of the rule of "harmonious construction".

(4) The courts have also to keep in mind that an interpretation which reduces one of the provisions as a "dead letter" or "useless lumber" is not harmonious construction.

(5) To harmonise is not to destroy any statutory provision or to render it otiose.

16. Interpreting the provisions of Section 47 and Order XXI Rule 2 in the light of the above principles, there does not appear to be any antithesis between the two provisions. Section 47 deals with the power of the court executing the decree while Order XXI Rule 2 deals with the procedure which a court whose duty it is to execute the decree has to follow in a limited class of cases relating to the discharge or satisfaction of decrees either by payment of money (payable under the decree) out of court or adjustment in any other manner by consensual arrangement.

17. Since Section 47 provides that the question relating to the execution, discharge or satisfaction of the decrees shall be determined by the court executing the decree, it clearly confers a specific jurisdiction for the determination of those questions on the executing court.

21. The problem can be looked into from another angle on the basis of the maxim "generalia specialibus non derogant".

15. He also places reliance on the judgment of the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Maya Mathew vs State of Kerala and others; (2010) 4 SCC 498 wherein the Hon'ble Supreme Court held on an occasion to consider the applicability of two Rules applicable to the services of the employee concerned and specifically laid the law with regard to the interpretation as under:

"12. The rules of interpretation when a subject is governed by two sets of Rules are well settled. They are:

(i) When a provision of law regulates a particular subject and a subsequent law contains a provision regulating the same subject, there is no presumption that the later law repeals the earlier law. The rule making authority while making the later rule is deemed to know the existing law on the subject. If the subsequent law does not repeal the earlier rule, there can be no presumption of an intention to repeal the earlier rule;

(ii) When two provisions of law - one being a general law and the other being special law govern a matter, the court should endeavour to apply a harmonious construction to the said provisions. But where the intention of the rule making authority is made clear either expressly or impliedly, as to which law should prevail, the same shall be given effect.

(iii) If the repugnancy or inconsistency subsists in spite of an effort to read them harmoniously, the prior special law is not presumed to be repealed by the later general law. The prior special law will continue to apply and prevail in spite of the subsequent general law. But where a clear intention to make a rule of universal application by superseding the earlier special law is evident from the later general law, then the later general law, will prevail over the prior special law.

(iv) Where a later special law is repugnant to or inconsistent with an earlier general law, the later special law will prevail over the earlier general law."

16. He also places reliance on another judgment of the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Commercial Tax Officer, Rajasthan vs M/s Binani Cements Limited and another; (2014) 8 SCC 319 wherein the Hon'ble Supreme Court has held on the occasion to consider the applicability of two laws and to decide whether a general law would apply or special law would apply and in that context, Hon'ble Supreme Court has observed as under:

"34. It is well established that when a general law and a special law dealing with some aspect dealt with by the general law are in question, the rule adopted and applied is one of harmonious construction whereby the general law, to the extent dealt with by the special law, is impliedly repealed. This principle finds its origins in the Latin maxim of generalia specialibus non derogant i.e. general law yields to special law should they operate in the same field on same subject (Vepa P. Sarathi, Interpretation of Statutes, 5th Edn., Eastern Book Company; N.S. Bindra's Interpretation of Statutes, 8th Edn., The Law Book Company; Craies on Statute Law, S.G.G. Edkar, 7th Edn., Sweet & Maxwell; Justice G.P. Singh, Principles of Statutory Interpretation, 13th Edn., Lexis Nexis; Craies on Legislation, Daniel Greenberg, 9th Edn., Thomson Sweet & Maxwell, Maxwell on Interpretation of Statutes, 12th Edn., Lexis Nexis).

35. Generally, the principle has found vast application in cases of there being two* statutes: general or specific with the latter treating the common subject-matter more specifically or minutely than the former. Corpus Juris Secundum, 82 C.J.S. Statutes § 482 states that when construing a general and a specific statute pertaining to the same topic, it is necessary to consider the statutes as consistent with one another and such statutes therefore should be harmonised, if possible, with the objective of giving effect to a consistent legislative policy. On the other hand, where a general statute and a specific statute relating to the same subject-matter cannot be reconciled, the special or specific statute ordinarily will control. The provision more specifically directed to the matter at issue prevails as an exception to or qualification of the provision which is more general in nature, provided that the specific or special statute clearly includes the matter in controversy (Edmond v. United States [137 L Ed 2d 917 : 520 US 651 (1997)], Warden v. Marrero [41 L Ed 2d 383 : 417 US 653 (1974)]).

36. The maxim generalia specialibus non derogant is dealt with in Vol. 44(1) of the 4th Edn. of Halsbury's Laws of England at Para 1300 as follows:*

"The principle descends clearly from decisions of the House of Lords in Seward v. Vera Cruz [(1884) LR 10 AC 59 : (1881-85) All ER Rep 216 (HL)] and the Privy Council in Barker v. Edger [1898 AC 748 : (1895-99) All ER Rep Ext 1642 (PC)] and has been affirmed and put into effect on many occasions.... If Parliament has considered all the circumstances of, and made special provision for, a particular case, the presumption is that a subsequent enactment of a purely general character would not have been intended to interfere with that provision; and therefore, if such an enactment, although inconsistent in substance, is capable of reasonable and sensible application without extending to the case in question, it is prima facie to be construed as not so extending. The special provision stands as an exceptional proviso upon the general. If, however, it appears from a consideration of the general enactment in the light of admissible circumstances that Parliament's true intention was to establish thereby a rule of universal application, then the special provision must give way to the general."

17. The Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Commercial Tax Officer, Rajasthan (supra), after discussing the various judgment on the point aforesaid finally observed as under:

"47. Having noticed the aforesaid, it could be concluded that the rule of statutory construction that the specific governs the general is not an absolute rule but is merely a strong indication of statutory meaning that can be overcome by textual indications that point in the other direction. This rule is particularly applicable where the legislature has enacted comprehensive scheme and has deliberately targeted specific problems with specific solutions. A subject specific provision relating to a specific, defined and descriptable subject is regarded as an exception to and would prevail over a general provision relating to a broad subject."

18. In the light of the aforesaid arguments and the judgments cited, the Counsel for the respondents argues that the petition deserves to be dismissed.

19. In rejoinder, the Counsel for the petitioner while placing reliance on paragraphs 6 and 7 of the Hon'ble Supreme Court judgment in the case of State of Kerala vs P.B. Sourabhan and others; (2016) 4 SCC 102 argues that the powers could be exercised by the Deputy Registrar as has been rightly done and the tribunal was wrong in passing the order which is impugned in the bunch of writ petitions.

20. He also places reliance on the judgment of this Court in the case of Smt. Lilawati and six others vs U.P. Co-operative Tribunal, Lucknow and others; 2020 (3) ADJ 622 to argue that the question of jurisdiction was not raised and thus he would be estopped from raising question at the appellate stage.

21. In the light of the arguments, the Court is to decide the effect of two notifications which are to be interpreted by this Court conferring jurisdiction on the Deputy Registrar and District Assistant Registrar or the District Assistant Registrar only for exercise of powers under Section 68 of the1965 Act in respect of Primary Co-operative Societies.

22. Section 3(2) of the Act confers the powers upon the State Government to appoint other persons to assist the Registrar by special or general order. Thus, in terms of the mandate of Section 3(2), it is upon for the State Government to delegate the functions and powers to be performed by the Registrar upon any of the officers as specified in the notification.

23. Relevant extracts of Notification No.3328-C/ XII-CA-25(1)-67, dated June 24, 1969 and Notification No.5539/ C-1-7 (16) 75, Lucknow dated 27.12.1975 are quoted herein:

"Notification No.3328-C/ XII-CA-25(1)-67, dated June 24, 1969

In exercise of the powers under sub-section (2) of Section 3 of the Uttar Pradesh Co-operative Societies Act, 1965 (U.P. Act XI of 1966), the Governor is pleased to confer, subject to the provisions of the said Act and the rules made thereunder, the powers of the Registrar under that Act and the rules, to be exercised as follows:

(1) An officer for the time being holding the post of Additional Registrar, Co-operative Societies, at the headquarters of the Registrar Co-operative Societies, U.P. or the Deputy Registrar of the Co-operative Societies at the said headquarters shall exercise the powers of the Registrar under the Act and the rules in respect of such class or classes or type or types of Co-operative Societies which, by the order of the Registrar, are placed under the charge of such officer:

Provided that the power under Section 14, 125 and 126 and under Rules, 30, 31, 32 and 33 shall not be exercised by the said Deputy Registrar in respect of an apex Co-operative Society or a Central Co-operative Society and the powers under Rules, 124, 125 and 126 shall not be exercised by him in respect of an apex Co-operative Society;

2. An officer for the time being holding the post of Deputy Registrar/ Assistant Registrar, Incharge of a Division, shall exercise the powers of the Registrar under the Act and the rules within the area of his jurisdiction:

Provided that the powers under Sections 14, 125, and 126 and under Rules 30, 31, 32 and 33 shall not be exercised by the said Deputy Registrar/ Assistant Registrar in respect of an apex Co-operative Society or a Central Co-operative Society and the powers under Rules 124, 125 and 126 shall not be exercised by such officer in respect of an apex Co-operative Society;

(3) ...

(4) An office for the time being holding the post of District Assistant Registrar, Co-operative Societies, U.P. shall exercise the powers of the Registrar -

(a) under Section 32, 33, 37, 66, 67, 69 and 103 of the Act and Rules 104, 134 and 287 in respect of all the Co-operative Societies, other than apex Co-operative Societies, having headquarters within the area of his jurisdiction;

(b) under Sections 70, 71, 98, 109 and 115 of the Act and Rules 312(c) 331, 332, 336, 365, 366, 369, 370, 371, 372, 374, 377 and 378 in respect of all the Co-operative Societies, having headquarters within the area of his jurisdiction; and

(1) सहकारी समितियों के निबन्धक, उत्तर प्रदेश के मुख्यालय अपर पर निबन्धक, या उक्त मुख्यालय पर सहकारी समितियों के उप निबन्धक का पद धारण करने वाला कोई व्यक्ति ऐसे वर्ग या वर्गो अथवा ऐसे प्रकार या प्रकारो की सहकारी समितियों के जो निबन्धक के आदेश द्वारा ऐसे अपर निबन्धक या उप निबन्धक के प्रभार में रखी गई हो, सम्बन्ध में उक्त अध्यादेश द्वारा यथा संशोधित उक्त अधिनियम संख्या 11, 1966 के अधीन निबन्धक की शक्तियों का प्रयोग करेगा।

(2) डिवीजन में तत्समय, सहकारी समितियों के उप निबन्धक का पद धारण करने वाला कोई व्यक्ति अपने अधिकारिता के क्षेत्र में उक्त अध्यादेश द्वारा यथासंशोधित उक्त अधिनियम सख्या 11, 1966 के अधीन निबन्धक की शक्तियों का प्रयोग करेगा।

(3) तत्समय जिला सहायक निबन्धक, सहकारी समितियों का पद धारण करने वाला कोई व्यक्ति केवल ऐसी प्रारम्भिक सहकारी समितियों के जिनके मुख्यालय उनकी अधिकारिता के क्षेत्र के भीतर हो, सम्बन्ध में उक्त अध्यादेश द्वारा यथासंशोधित उक्त अधिनियम संख्या 11, 1966 की धारा 29, 35–क तथा 95–क के अधीन निबन्धक की शक्तियों का प्रयोग करेगा।"

24. From the notification dated 05.07.1969, it is clear that the powers of the Registrar have been delegated extensively upon the Deputy Registrar/ Assistant Registrar, (in-charge of the Division) in terms of Clause (2) relating to all the powers of the Registrar except as prohibited under the proviso to Clause (2) of the notification dated 05.07.1969. If Clause (2) is read with Clause (4), it makes clear that simultaneous and concurrent powers have been delegated to the Deputy Registrar and the District Assistant Registrar, the only difference being that the powers of the Deputy Registrar/ Assistant Registrar in that division go the extent of all the powers to be performed by the Registrar except as prohibited under the proviso to Clause (2) whereas the District Assistant Registrar under Clause (4)not can perform and exercise the powers of a Registrar in respect of the powers conferred and specifies under Clause (a) to (c) of Clause (4) of the notification dated 05.07.1969. The notification of 1975 delegated all powers to be exercised by the Registrar upon the Additional Registrar or Deputy Registrar in respect of societies placed by the Registrar under the said

Additional Registrar or Deputy Registrar. Interestingly there is no corresponding provisions akin to Clause (4) as was contained in the notification dated 1969.

25. It is also relevant to mention here that the word "Deputy Registrar" used in the earlier notifications of 1969 and 1975 were amended to include the word "Joint/ Deputy Registrar" by virtue of another notification dated 26.07.2006.

26. Considering the submissions of the Counsel for the respondents, the law in respect of delegation of powers/ functions is reasonably and fairly well settled that the powers can be exercised only by the person upon whom the powers are delegated specifically and in terms of the mandate of the Act and by no one else. However, there is no bar that the powers cannot be conferred on multiple officers giving them concurrent jurisdiction to exercise the powers which also appears from the mandate of Section 3(2) of the 1965 Act which used the word 'persons' and not 'person'.

27. The judgment cited by the Counsel for the respondent in the case of Sultana Begum (supra) lays down the law while interpreting two provisions which are inconsistent. Similarly the judgment of the Supreme Court in Maya Methew (supra) interprets and lays down law to interpret rules which are overlapping, whereas, in the present case the two provisions in the notification of 1969 are not inconsistent but confer jurisdiction on two set of officers one at the divisional level and other at the district level in respect of Primary Co-operative Societies.

28. Conforming concurrent jurisdiction on two or more offices is neither barred under the Act nor is unknown in adjudicatory functions, in fact the Section 3(2) envisages and provides for delegations in favour of 'persons'.

29. It is well established that the court cannot read a statutory provisions contrary to its language unless the same is prohibited under the Act or has the potential to lead to absurd results.

30. This Court can also not loose site of the fact that the vires of the notifications or the provisions of the Act are not under challenge in the present proceedings and thus the same are to be read only on the terms as contained in the notification.

31. As regards the judgment of this Court in the case of Ravi Pratap Srivastava (supra) which is the foundation for passing the impugned order, the same ex-facie does not consider the scope of notifications of 1969 or 1975, thus cannot be read to be laying any law on question of jurisdiction of officers under the Act.

32. Thus on the basis of the reasoning recorded above, it has to be held that concurrent jurisdiction has been conferred upon the officers in respect of Primary Co-operative Societies and the order passed by the Joint Registrar/ Joint Commissioner (Co-operative), Lucknow, respondent no.3 dated 23.01.2017 and impugned before the Tribunal was well within jurisdiction and thus the order of the Tribunal dated 21.03.2018 is clearly not sustainable and is set aside in all the petitions, the matters are remanded before the Tribunal to decide the matter afresh on merits and in accordance with law with all expedition.

33. The writ petitions stand allowed.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Dr. Kaushal Jayendra Thaker, J. & Hon'ble Ajai Tyagi, J.)

1. Heard learned counsel for the petitioner and Mrs. Shweta Pandey, learned counsel appearing on behalf of respondents and counsel for the State.

2. This petition has been filed by the petitioners seeking following relief:

" Issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of Certiorari quashing the order dated 01.04.2002 (Annexure-2) along with its execution Notice dated 24.05.2021 (Annexure-5) issued in Complaint No.80/1999 by the respondent no.2."

3. The compliant was filed in the year 1999 by the respondent no.2. The consequential effect goes to show that even after the judgment, the Consumer who has succeeded before the Commission is unable to get benefit of the judgment and decree for a small amount which was ordered by the Commission. The public bank as has rushed to this Court challenging the notice dated 24.05.2021 they could have very well appeared before the Commission. The Bank was the tenant. We are not going into the factual data at this stage, the petition lacks merit and bona fide.

4. The averments made in paragraph 7 cannot be gone into as the judgment of the Consumer/Conjugal Commission has attained finality. The petitioner had contested the litigation sum of Rs.1,01,145/- with interest @ 15% was ordered to be paid. The appeal was preferred before the State Consumer Redresssal Dispute Commission U.P. Lucknow. The State Consumer Redressal Dispute Commission, U.P. Lucknow rejected the appeal of the petitioner bank in the year 2018. The appeal was never filed before the National Consumer Dispute Redressal Commission even till date. The petitioner bank by way of a Gazette Notification No. 853 dated 22.02.2019 issued by the Government of India, the Prathama U.P. Gramin Bank came in force on 01.04.2019, on account of Amalgamation of erstwhile Sarva U.P. Vihar District- Moradabad. The petitioner bank states that they did not challenge the order dated 15.02.2018 because of Pandemic. The Pandemic said to be only in March, 2020. The amalgamation took place in the year 2019 that one full year but no such endeavors were made. The petition is also belated. The order of the Consumer Commission cannot be brought to challenge by way of seeking a writ of certiorari. The petition was filed without disclosing the date on which the matter was fixed on 30th July as the petition came to be filed on 16th August, 2021.

5. In that view of the matter, we have no other option but to dismiss the petition with no costs. The R.B.I. guidelines would not help the petitioner in this end in filing this writ petition. The order dated 01.04.2002 and the orders in appeal are very clear and categorical despite that the litigants cannot ripe the fruit of the decree passed by both the competent authorities which has attained the finality. We cannot go into the findings of the appellate authority, namely, The Consumer Dispute Redresssal Commission.

6. The petition lacks merit and is delayed. The appeal also has not been satisfactorily explained, however, we do not go in the same.

7. It is very clear that petitioner bank has challenged the issuance of notice issued by the State Consumer Redressal Dispute Commission, U.P. Lucknow. We have conveyed to the learned counsel for the petitioner that the writ petition against the issuance of notice by the Consumer Commission cannot be entertained and they should appear before the Commission and raised all objections but the learned counsel has conveyed that he has instructions to press the petition on the merits for the grounds which are alleged in the petition.

8. The ground taken, are as follows:-

"(a) During the period of running the term loan account of respondent no.3 and 4 even till its final payment made by the respondent no.3 and 4 never raised any dispute regarding interest, but without any reference to the petitioner bank had raised consumer complaint before the respondent no.2 against the petitioner bank and had claimed refund of interest amount @ 18% along with damages and cost etc.

(b) The complaint No.80/1999 was filed by the Respondent no.3 and 4 before the respondent no.2 and the same was contested by the petitioner bank, as the same was not maintainable and bank had charged interest upon the term loan as per agreed terms settled between the parties in terms of loan agreement, furthermore the interest charged upon the term loan of respondent no.3 and 4 was as per the R.B.I. guidelines.

(c) The respondent no.2 entertained the complaint of the respondent no.3 and 4 and after hearing the counsel for the parties directed to the bank to pay the amount of interest to the tune of Rs.1,01,145.00 along with interest @15% since November, 1995, within a period of 30 days vide its order dated 01.04.2002.

(d) Being aggrieved with the order dated 01.04.2002 passed by the respondent no.2 the petitioner bank preferred an appeal bearing No.1016/2002 in the name and style of Prathama Bank (Through Chairman) Head Office Moradabad and another Vs. Smt. Pramila Gupta & Others; before the State Consumer Redressal Dispute Commission U.P. Lucknow.

(e) The State Consumer Redressal Dispute Commission U.P. Lucknow, was failed to appreciate the contentions of the bank and rejected the Appeal of the petitioner bank vide order dated 13.02.2018.

(f) The respondent no.3 and 4 filed an execution application on 12.02.2021 under Section 72(1) of The Consumer Protection Act, 2019 in Complaint Case No.80/1999 before the respondent no.s, in which the respondent no.2 issued a show cause notice dated 24.05.2021 which received to the bank on 28.05.2021, fixing therein a date of 7th June, 2021.

(g) The respondent no.2 upon the date fixed on 7th June, 2021 but the learned forum was vacant as such further a date on 16th August, 2021 is fixed for further hearing."

9. This is nothing else but the abuse of process of the Court and, therefore, also we are obliged to follow the mandate of the Apex Court in N.N. Global Mercantile (P) Ltd. Vs. Indo Unique Flame Ltd. (2021) 2 SCC (Civ.) 555.

10. Thus, even in view of the decision of the Apex Court in the case of Radha Krishan Industries Vs. State of H.P. (2021) 6 SCC 771, will not permit us to exercise our jurisdiction.

11. As there is full mechanism available, the petitioner has chosen after three years to come before this Court challenging the order date 24.05.2021 in spite of contesting the execution proceedings.

12. In this case, the Consumer Commission dismissed the appeal. The litigation is since 1999, the recent anguish shown by the Supreme Court in the Case of M. Chinnamuthu (Dead) Vs. Kamaleshan @ Shanmugam (Dead) Through LRS reported in 2022 LiveLaw (SC) 209, we also while dictating this judgment feel that here is a case where M.I.T. Bank is not even going before the Commission and rushes to the High Court and the man without the fruits of the decree of the Consumer Forum upheld by the U.P. State Consumer Commission, hence, we dismiss this writ petition as not maintainable with costs quantified at Rs.20,000/- which is minimal for the bank, to be deposited with the Registry of the High Court within two weeks, which should be transferred to the Legal Services Authority for betterment of the downtrodden people.

13. This petition lacks merit and is hereby dismissed.

Industrial Law - U.P. Industrial Area Development Act, 1976 -Section 12 - Urban Planning Development Act, 1973 - Section 41(3) - Allotment of land - Authority demanded land premium and lease rent as petitioner did not pay any amount except payment of 10% allotment money - petitioner's case that it was not provided water connection for production of precast by the Authority - Held - petitioner will deposit Rs. 1 Crore with the Authority and make the payment for laying down the pipeline from STP to its unit for making supply of STP water for its industrial unit at the applicable rate - Authority should lay down the pipeline after receiving the cost and provide the water to the industrial unit so that its cost of manufacturing of concrete precast gets reduced and industrial unit becomes viable (Para 33)

B. Industrial Law - U.P. Industrial Area Development Act, 1976- Section 12 - Allotment of land - 90% of the premium was to be paid with interest @ 12% per annum - in case of default of payment, penal interest @ 14% was to be charged - default in payment - petitioner requested for rescheduling and restructuring the land dues and also payment of interest as per bank rate - Held - interest @ 12% per annum on premium compounding penal interest @ 14% would make an industry unviable - It could not be the purpose of Authority to allow industries to be set up and then make same unviable - Such a high rate of penal interest besides the interest @ 12% per annum on premium is enough to bleed the industry and make it unviable - matter is remitted back to the Revisional Authority i.e. State Government to reduce penal interest to 6% per annum instead of 14% per annum on default of payment of premium and allow the petitioner to pay the premium along with interest (12% + 6%, total 18% per annum simple interest) in installments, may be spread over to 5- 7 years (Para 33)

6. Savitrai Devi & ors. Vs State (2015) 7 SCC 21

1. Petitioner, a Company incorporated under the provisions of the Companies Act, 1956 (for short "the Act, 1956"), has filed the present petition, impugning the order dated 25.11.2020 passed by the Additional Chief Secretary, Department of Industrial Development, Government of Uttar Pradesh, Lucknow (Revisional Authority) under Section 41(3) of the Urban Planning Development Act, 1973 (for short "the Act, 1973") read with Section 12 of the U.P. Industrial Area Development Act, 1976 (for short "the Act, 1976").

Further prayer has been made for quashing of Letter of Cancellation dated 06.01.2021 issued by the Greater Noida Industrial Development Authority (for short "GNIDA"), demanding Rs.67,78,23,456/- in respect of Plot No. 2, Sector Ecotech-16, GNIDA, ad-measuring 58271 square meters as per the lease dated 22.06.2011 executed by the GNIDA in favour of the petitioner in pursuance of the allotment letter dated 31.03.2011.

A prayer has also been made for quashing of the letter dated 29.09.2021 issued by the GNIDA, directing the petitioner to deposit Rs 67,78,23,456/- within a period of 15 days and get the lease deed executed, otherwise the GNIDA would take action for cancellation of the allotment of plot in favour of the petitioner.

2. The State Legislature had enacted U.P. Industrial Area Development Act, 1976 (for short "the Act, 1976") to provide for constitution of an Authority for the development of certain areas in the State into industrial and urban township and for the matters connected therewith. Under Section 3 of the Act, 1976, the State Government is empowered to constitute Industrial Development Authority for the purposes of the Act, 1976 for any industrial development area. The GNIDA is an Authority constituted under the Act, 1976. Under Article 243-Q of the Constitution of India, such an authority, constituted under the Act, 1976 virtually replaces the municipality in the area so far as the industrial areas are concerned. All the functions of a development authority as well as municipal authority are required to be discharged by the GNIDA in the industrial areas for which it has been constituted.

3. Section 5A of the Act, 1976 provides that the State Government may at any time, by notification, create one or more 'Industrial Development Authorities Centralized Services' for such posts, as the State Government may deem fit, common to all the Industrial Development Authorities, and may prescribe the manner and conditions of recruitment to and the terms and conditions of service of persons appointed to such service. Functions of the Authority are prescribed under Section 6 of the Act, 1976, which provides that the object of the Authority is to secure the planned development of the industrial development areas. The Authority is empowered to acquire land in the industrial development area by agreement or through proceedings under the Land Acquisition Act, prepare a plan for the industrial development area, demarcate and develop sites for industrial, commercial and residential purposes according to the plan, provide infrastructure for industrial, commercial and residential purposes and to provide amenities. The Authority is also empowered to allocate and transfer either by way of sale or lease or otherwise plots of land for industrial, commercial and residential purposes or any other specific and specified purposes in such area.

4. Amenities have been defined under Section 2(a) of the Act, 1976, which includes roads, water supply, street lighting and power supply, sewerage, drainage, collection, treatment and disposal of industrial waste and town refuse and other community facilities services or conveniences as the Government may, by notification, specify to be an amenity for the purposes of the Act, 1976.

5. In the year 2011, GNIDA invited sealed tenders in two-bid systems in the prescribed application form for allotment of lease lands in various sectors in Greater NOIDA for a lease period of ninety years. The petitioner was successful in bidding process for Plot No. 2, Sector Ecotech-16. An allotment letter dated 31.03.2011 was issued to the petitioner for allotment of the said plot in its favour. The total area of the plot was 60000 (Sixty Thousands) square meters. The rate of land was fixed at 2,687=00 per square meter and total provisional premium, as per the rate, was Rs.16,12,20,000=00. 10% (Ten percent) of the total provisional premium was the allotment money. The allotment money was payable by 30.05.2011 along with registration money, which was Rs.77,36,185=00. Remaining 90% (Ninety Percent) amount with interest @ 12% per annum would be payable in twenty half yearly installments.1st four half yearly installments would be for interest payable on 90% remaining amount @ 12% and thereafter 16 half yearly installments would be charged with premium and interest @ 12% per annum. It was also provided in the allotment letter that in case of default of payment, penal interest @ 14% would be charged. In the allotment letter, it was also provided that the allottee would comply all the terms & conditions pertaining to supply of water and drainage/sewerage facilities provided by the authority.

6. Pursuant to the said allotment letter, leased deed dated 21.06.2011 was executed between the petitioner and the GNIDA with respect to the Plot No. 2, Sector Ecotech-16, GNIDA, Greater NOIDA, Gautam Budh Nagar for 58271 square meters for the total premium of Rs.15,65,74,177=00.

7. Out of the said premium, the petitioner paid 10% i.e. 1,56,57,418=00 and the balance amount of Rs. 14,09,16,759=00 became payable in 10 installments along with interest @ 12% per annum, compounded half yearly. The petitioner was also required to pay lease rent of Rs. 4,30,57,899=00 i.e. 27.5% of the total premium as one time lease rent payment.

8. The possession letter dated 24.06.2011 was issued to the petitioner after the petitioner paid 10% of the total premium i.e. Rs. 1,56,57,418=00-, as mentioned above. The lay-out plan for the project was sanctioned on 15.10.2012. The petitioner completed construction of manufacturing unit and obtained completion certificate dated 19.02.2014.

9. It is alleged that the petitioner could not start its manufacturing activities of precast due to non-availability of water. There was no proper road or drainage system, which made it impossible for the petitioner to start commercial production of precast. It is also stated that the petitioner could not start commercial production of precast due to agitations of farmers for non-payment of compensation by the State of Uttar Pradesh and due to pendency of court case pertaining to major portion of land situated in the aforesaid plot. It is also stated that the petitioner wrote several letters to the GNIDA, informing them obstructions created by the villagers and for maintaining law and order. The petitioner requested for security and maintenance of law and order conducive for the manufacturing and commercial activities of the petitioner.

10. The Full Bench of this Court in its judgment in Gajraj and others Vs. State of U.P. and others (2011) ADJ 1 (FB) though upheld the land acquisition notification, but held that invocation of urgency clause was bad in law. However, instead of quashing notification inasmuch as widespread development had taken place on the acquired land, in order to balance equities, the High Court directed for payment of additional compensation of 64.7% to the tenure holders, whose land was acquired, and allowed them retention of 10% of developed land. The GNIDA was directed to pay the additional compensation to the farmers and, it was left open to the discretion of GNIDA to take a decision upon shifting the proportionate burden of additional compensation upon the allottees.

11. The petitioner was not provided water connection for production of precast by the Authority, nor the petitioner got permission to dig bore-well to extract ground water needed for production of precast. The petitioner did not pay any amount after payment of 10% allotment money and, therefore, the Authority vide demand letter dated 19.08.2016 directed the petitioner to deposit Rs.17,96,39,097/- against the land premium and Rs. 2,83,51,710/- against lease rent. Another demand letter was issued on 24.08.2016 for Rs.17,12,86,068.72/- against the land premium and for Rs.2,83,51,710/- against the lease rent.

12. It is further stated that the petitioner had made several requests to the GNIDA to provide water connection for production of precast, however, the Authority did not take notice of the request and another demand letter dated 01.02.2017 was issued, claiming an amount of Rs. 19,23,86,569/- towards land premium and Rs. 2,92,11,357/- against the lease rent. It is further stated that the petitioner was forced to buy STP water from NOIDA and private STP units for production of precast. The cost of water being brought from the STP on tankers was not economically and commercially viable for the precast unit. It is further stated that the petitioner sought no objection certificate form the Authority for extracting ground water so that the petitioner could approach the Central Ground Water Authority for permission to extract ground water for commercial production for precast. The Authority had issued further demand letters, directing the petitioner to deposit the land premium, lease rent as well as Rs.5,63,86,898/- for additional compensation to be paid to the farmers by the GNIDA in pursuance of the direction issued by the High Court.

13. The State Government issued guidelines dated 13.07.2020, allowing industrial plot owners of more than 2.5 acres of land to sub-lease their land with certain conditions. Some area was to be taken back by the by the Authority as buy-back scheme.

14. The petitioner vide letter dated 01.09.2020 proposed the Authority to allow them to sub-lease 4 acres of land out of 15 acres land allotted to them. Out of 4 acres of land, 2 acres land was to be bought back by the GNIDA and that sum was to be immediately deposited/adjusted by the Authority against the land dues. The petitioner also requested for remaining dues to be rescheduled into 6 monthly installments. The petitioner made requested for rescheduling and restructuring the land dues and also payment of interest as per bank rate. However, when no action was taken on any petitioner's representations by the GNIDA, the petitioner approached the Revisional Authority under Section 41(3) of the U.P. Urban Planning and Development Act read with Section 12 of the Industrial Planning and Development Act.

15. The Revisional Authority, however, vide impugned order dated 25.11.2020 held that the petitioner had started production with effect from August, 2013 and, it has been using recycled water with effect from 30.06.2015. The petitioner had made default in making payment of the premium and other dues and, therefore, there was no ground to interfere with the demand notice and cancellation notice issued by the Authority. It is further stated that the Authority issued the impugned demand letter dated 06.01.2021 to which the petitioner had given detailed reply on 16.01.2021. However, the Authority had not considered the reply of the petitioner and issued impugned notice/cancellation letter dated 29.09.2021 as the petitioner did not pay dues of premium of Rs. 52,08,24,999/-, lease rent of Rs. 8,09,26,063 and additional compensation of Rs. 5,99,97,884/-.

17. On behalf of the petitioner, learned Senior Advocate has submitted that the main function of GNIDA is to secure the planned development of industrial areas, demarcate and develop sites for industrial purposes. It is the duty of the GNIDA to provide requisite infrastructure for industrial purposes and provide amenities as defined under the Act, 1976. Under Article 243-Q of the Constitution of India, the Authority constituted under the Act, 1971 virtually replaces the municipality in the area so far as industrial areas are concerned. All the functions of development authority as well as municipal authority are to be discharged by the GNIDA which include providing water, drainage and road etc. etc. to the industrial units. The facts would disclose that the Authority had failed to provide 'amenities', making it impossible for the petitioner to utilize its full potential and become economically and commercially viable unit. The Revisional Authority did not take into consideration the failure of the Authority to provide amenities, including water connection, drainage and road etc. and, without considering the facts and circumstances in a proper perspective, in a mechanical manner, has passed the impugned order.

18. On behalf of the petitioner, Mr. Anil Tewari, learned Senior Advocate has further submitted that the petitioner has been charged for water connection, but the water connection for unit was not given and the petitioner was forced by the Authority to bring water by tankers to make the unit functional. It has also been submitted that the petitioner is not required to pay the additional compensation in view of judgments of this Court dated 18.09.2019 passed in Writ-C No.18684 of 2019 (M/s Gaursons Promoters Private Limited Vs. State of U.P. and others) and dated 28.05.2020 passed in Writ-C No.28968 of 2018 (M/s Shakuntala Educational and Welfare Society Vs State of U.P. and others). It has been further submitted that rate of interest should be charged on simple rate, as per SBI MCLR rate and, not on compounding basis. The learned Senior Advocate has placed reliance on the order of the Supreme Court passed in Writ Petition (C) No.940 of 2017 (Bikram Chatterji & others Vs. Union of India and others) and submitted that only simple rate of interest should be charged by the Authority.

19. On behalf of the petitioner, Mr. Anil Tewari, learned Senior Advocate, has further submitted that the Authority should be directed to provide water connection. The petitioner is ready and willing to pay the amount for laying down pipelines etc. for providing water connection by the Authority so that the unit becomes economically viable. It has been further submitted that in light of the judgment in the case of Bikram Chatterji & others Vs. Union of India and others (supra), the authority must work out rate of interest and recalculate the charges.

20. In view of the aforesaid, it has been submitted that the cancellation notice as well as the order passed by the Revisional Authority are liable to be set-aside and a direction be issued to the Authority to revise the demand in light of the observations contained in the order passed in Bikram Chatterji & others Vs. Union of India and others (supra) and the petitioner should not be forced to pay the additional compensation till the Supreme Court decides the pending issue.

21. On other hand, Mr. Prashant Kumar, learned counsel for the GNIDA, and Mr. Sanjay Mishra, learned Additional Chief Standing Counsel, representing respondents-State, have submitted that total liability is of Rs.67,78,23,456/- in respect of the Industrial Plot No. 2, Sector Ecotech-16, GNIDA, ad-measuring 58271 square meters allotted to the petitioner by the GNIDA. It has been further submitted that the allotment letter contains the map of the allotted plot, terms & conditions for allotment as well as payment schedule. After accepting the allotment letter and executing the sale-deed, the petitioner cannot come before this Court for amendment of the contract/lease deed entered into between the petitioner and the GNIDA. The petitioner was given physical possession on 24.06.2011. The building plan got approved on 15.10.2012 for manufacturing of concrete-precast. The petitioner, after completing construction of the industrial unit, started commercial production in August, 2013, but did not make payment as per schedule and, in fact no payment has been made till date despite the unit had started commercial production in the year 2013 itself. It has been further submitted that the petitioner's unit is fully operational.

22. The amenities would not mean providing of raw-material for commercial unit working within the development area under the Authority. Water is one of the raw-materials for production of concrete-precast. There is no obligation on the part of the Authority to provide water, which is used as a raw-material. It has been further submitted that the petitioner has created a smoke screen to hide its failure to make payment of dues and, there is no substance in the writ petition, which is liable to be dismissed.

22. Mr. Prashant Kumar, learned counsel representing the Authority, has further submitted that the GNIDA provides water to industrial unit by following three modes:-

i. via tanker wherein the respondent no. 2 Authority provides the recycled water from the STPs and supply them to the industries at the cost of the industries itself;

ii. laying pipeline the respondent authority under a Memorandum of Understanding with the industrial unit lay pipeline of the recycled water; and

iii. connection of recycled water the respondent no.2 after taking a requisite fee provide connection of recycled water from already laid pipeline in the vicinity.

However, the Authority did not have power to grant permission for digging bore-well for use of water commercially. It is the Central Ground Water Authority, which is empowered to grant approval for extraction of ground water for commercial use. The Authority has already provided all the amenities, as it is required to provide and, there is no substance in the submissions made by Mr. Anil Tewari, learned Senior Advocate, on behalf of the petitioner that the amenities were not provided to the petitioner. The Authority had already provided the amenities like water, drainage, waste management, however, providing of water for commercial use does not come within the purview of the amenities.

23. The Central Government, in compliance of the judgment dated 10.12.1996 passed by the Supreme Court in Civil Writ Petition No.4677 of 1985 (MC Mehta Vs. Union of India) had constituted the Central Government Ground Water Authority in exercise of power under Section 5 of the Environment (Protection) Act, 1986 with a special purpose to regulate and control development and management of ground water resources in the country. It is the Central Government Ground Water Authority, which is empowered to grant no objection certificate for extraction of ground water and the GNIDA has no power or authority to grant 'no objection certificate'.It has been further submitted that the grievances of the petitioner is wholly untenable and the petitioner, who has failed to make payment of its dues which as of today stands to Rs.67,78,23,456/-. The petitioner is not entitled for any relief from this Court as the petitioner has violated the terms and conditions.

24. It has been further submitted that the reliance placed by the petitioners on judgment/order passed by the Supreme Court in Bikram Chatterji & others Vs. Union of India and others (supra) is not applicable to the facts of this case. There is no question of clearance inasmuch the petitioner was given possession on due date of the land and the petitioner started its commercial production in August, 2013 and, therefore, the petitioner cannot latch on the orders passed by the Supreme Court in the aforesaid two cases.

25. I have considered the submissions made by the learned counsel for the parties.

26. Industrial development authorities are creation of the Statute with specific purpose. The main work of the Authority is to facilitate industrial and commercial activities within its area and, for that purpose to provide infrastructure i.e. land, road, electricity, water and drainage etc. The purpose of Authority is not profiteering, but to see the industrial and economic growth by providing congenial environment and infrastructure so that industrial and commercial activities are carried out within its area for overall economic growth of the area and the State.

27. It is admitted in the counter affidavit, as stated above, that the Authority provides water connection for commercial use by three modes, mentioned above. In view thereof, Mr. Prashant Kumar, learned counsel for the GNIDA, has submitted that if the petitioner is ready to bear the cost and burden for laying down pipelines etc, the Authority would provide water from STP through pipeline, provided the petitioner should come to the office of the Authority and make a request and settle the dues.

28. In view of the aforesaid submissions, I direct the petitioner to make deposit of Rs.1 Crore (Rupees One Crore) within 15 days from today with the Authority and the Authority shall provide the cost etc. for laying down pipelines for providing water through STP for commercial use at the prevailing rates.

29. So far as the question of additional compensation of Rs. 5 Crore is concerned, a Coordinate Bench at Allahabad vide judgment and order dated 18.09.2019 passed in Writ-C No.18684 of 2019 and connected Writ-C No.17643 of 2019 quashed the demand of additional compensation of Rs.1,769/- per square meter for Group Housing Yojana, as was fixed by the Board of Authority on 31.05.2019, and remitted the matter back to the Authority for taking decision afresh, strictly in light of the observations made in the judgment. Operative portion of the judgment dated 18.09.2019 passed in the said writ petitions is quoted herein below:-

"Another aspect which would merit consideration is the apportionment of compensation amongst allottees. As contended by the petitioners here the loading of additional compensation must necessarily have a nexus and correlation to the area of land allotted and the additional compensation cost created in respect of that area by the Authority. This submission clearly appears to be sound for the adoption of any other method may lead to a charge of discrimination amongst allottees that do not constitute the same class. It would essentially result in the creation of liabilities having no nexus or correlation to the actual liability of additional compensation ultimately borne by the Authority in respect of the allotted piece of land. The computation of additional compensation would depend upon a host of variables such as the situation of the plot, its area, the number of individuals whose holdings were acquired in connection therewith and the amount of additional compensation ultimately paid. There can be no computation of proportionate liability without these factors being taken into account and consideration. In the absence of any explanation or justification offered by the Authority, the Court finds itself unable to sustain the creation of the liability against the petitioner as embodied in the impugned order on this score also.

The Court also bears in mind that the creation of liability does not affect the petitioners alone. It would also impact the interests of numerous individual allottees of the proposed Group Housing Scheme. Their interests cannot be ignored bearing in mind the harsh economic realities of the housing sector. The Authority would be well advised to bear all the aforesaid aspects in mind before proceeding to compute the liability to be borne by the petitioners.

Accordingly and for the reasons aforenoted the instant writ petition is allowed. The impugned order dated 2 July 2019 is hereby quashed. The matter is remitted to the Authority for taking a decision afresh strictly in accordance with the observations made hereinabove. Since the completion certificate has already been granted to the petitioner pursuant to the interim directions issued and in view of the result of the instant petition, the same is made absolute. The issue of refund of moneys already deposited by the petitioner towards additional compensation shall be open to be raised dependent upon the fresh decision that the Authority shall now take in light of the directions issued."

30. A Division Bench of this Court in Writ-C No.28968 of 2018 (M/s Shakuntala Educational and Welfare Society Vs State of U.P. and others) and other connected matters vide judgment and order dated 28.05.2020 had quashed the Resolution of Board of the Yamuna Expressway Industrial Development Authority dated 15.09.2014 and the Government Order dated 29.08.2014 for recovering additional payment of compensation from the allottees. It has been held that the lease-deed is required to be registered both under the provisions of the Transfer of Properties Act and the Registration Act. The amount of premium or the sale consideration, mentioned therein, is not liable to any change otherwise than by execution of another registered instrument. It has also been held that the Full Bench decision in Gajraj and others Vs. State of U.P. and others (2011) ADJ 1 (FB), which was approved by the Supreme Court in the case of Savitrai Devi and others Vs. State (2015) 7 SCC 21, is not judgment in rem and same could not be applied to proceedings for acquiring the land under different notifications. It was also held by this Court that issuance of Government Order dated 29.08.2014 and its acceptance by the by the Yamuna Express Industrial Development Authority is patently illegal and it was violative of provisions of the Land Acquisition Act and even otherwise without jurisdiction. The concluding part of the judgment is quoted herein below:-

(i) The decision in the case of Gajraj as approved by Savitri Devi is not a judgement in rem which could have been applied to proceedings for acquiring the land under different notifications or for Y.E.I.D.A.;

(ii) the issuance of the Government Order dated 29.08.2014 and its acceptance by Y.E.I.D.A. is patently illegal. It is violative of the provisions of the L.A. Act and is otherwise without jurisdiction as no such Government Order is liable to be issued in equity by the Government and that the policy behind it is unfair, unreasonable and arbitrary which is in violation of the provisions of the T.P. Act; and

(iii) the aforesaid Government Order dated 29.08.2014 as such is held to be invalid and liable to be ignored. Consequentially, all actions and demands of the Y.E.I.D.A. based upon it are held to be illegal.

In view of above facts and circumstances, the impugned Government Order dated 29.08.2014 is declared to be illegal and without jurisdiction and consequently all demands raised on its basis are quashed."

31. The said judgment has been challenged in the Supreme Court, which is pending for final disposal. In view thereof, since the demand of additional compensation has been decided by the Division Bench of this Court, the same should not be enforeced against the petitioner till disposal of Petition for Special Leave to Appeal (C) Nos.10015-10034 of 2020 pending before the Supreme Court. In case the Supreme Court allows the said Special Leave Petitions, the petitioner would be liable to pay the additional compensation.

32. The 3rd issue, which requires consideration by this Court, is the rate of interest and penal rate of interest. As mentioned above, the purpose of Authority is not profiteering, but to provide infrastructure facilities/amenities for industrial and economic growth and commercial activities in the area under its control. Besides interest @ 12% per annum on premium compounding penal interest @ 14% would make an industry unviable. It could not be the purpose of Authority to allow industries to be set up and then make same unviable. The Supreme Court in the case of Bikram Chatterji & others Vs. Union of India and others (supra) has directed the Authority for charging the interest at bank rate on the outstanding amount from Amraprali Group of Housing Company. In this case, as noted above, interest is 12% per annum on premium on six monthly basis and in default, the penal interest is to be charged @ 14% per annum. Such a high rate of penal interest besides the interest @ 12% per annum on premium is surely enough to bleed the industry and make it unviable.

33. In my view, the State Government must consider to revise rate of interest to make it compatible with the bank interest with 2% more and penal interest should also not exceed more then 6%. In view thereof, the present writ petition is allowed. The impugned order dated 25.11.2020, impugned demand letter dated 06.01.2021 and impugned letter of cancellation dated 29.09.2021, copies of which are contained in Annexure Nos. 1, 2 and 3 to the petition, are quashed. The matter is remitted back with following directions:-

I. The petitioner will deposit Rs. 1 Crore with the Authority within 15 days from today and make the payment for laying down the pipeline from STP to its unit for making supply of STP water for its industrial unit at the applicable rate. The Authority should lay down the pipeline after receiving the cost and provide the water to the industrial unit so that its cost of manufacturing of concrete precast gets reduced and industrial unit becomes viable.

II. So far as levy of penal interest is concerned, the matter is remitted back to the Revisional Authority i.e. State Government to reduce it to 6% per annum instead of 14% per annum on default of payment of premium and allow the petitioner to pay the premium along with interest (12% + 6%, total 18% per annum simple interest) in installments, may be spread over to 5-7 years.

III. So far as payment of additional premium is concerned, it should be deferred till decision of the Supreme Court in Special Leave to Appeal (C) Nos.10015-10034 of 2020.

The petitioner should furnish an undertaking to the effect that it will abide by the decision of the Supreme Court and, in case the Supreme Court allows the said SLPs, it shall make the payment of additional compensation without any demur.

IV. Revisional Authority is directed to pass a fresh order within a period of one month after affording an opportunity of hearing to the petitioner.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Vikram D. Chauhan, J.)

1. The present writ petition is preferred by the petitioner challenging the show cause notice dated 11th November, 2021 issued by the Additional Chief Secretary, Nagar Vikas, U.P. at Lucknow, whereby the petitioner has been show caused as to why he may not be removed from the office of the President, Nagar Panchayat, Khamariya, District Bhadohi and further by the impugned order dated 11th November, 2021 the financial and administrative powers of the petitioner has been ceased.

2. The brief facts of the case is that the petitioner is the President, Nagar Panchayat, Khamariya, District Bhadohi. In respect of the alleged irregularities in purchase of dustbins in Nagar Panchayat, Khamariya, District Bhadohi, an enquiry was conducted by the Sub Divisional Magistrate, Aurai, District Bhadohi and a report was submitted on 24th June, 2019. The aforesaid enquiry was conducted on the basis of the complaint made by one Sri Mainuddin Ansari, Sabhasad, Ward No. 12, Akbarpur and other Sabhasad, Nagar Panchayat, Khameriya, District Bhadohi.

The Sub Divisional Magistrate by report dated 24th June, 2019 did not find any irregularity in the purchase of the dustbins and as such, the complaint against the petitioner was shelved. The aforesaid report dated 24th June, 2019 was forwarded by the Additional District Magistrate to the Commissioner, Vindhyanchal Mandal, Mirzapur by his communication dated 15th July, 2019. Thereafter, another enquiry was ordered by the Additional Commissioner, Mirzapur on two issues, one relating to the allegations with regard to purchase of dustbins without following the relevant provisions of law and second that the dustbins were purchased from a firm owned by the daughter in law of the brother of the President-petitioner. The aforesaid enquiry was conducted by the Sub Divisional Magistrate, Gyanpur and the enquiry report was submitted on 19th October, 2019. On the basis of the aforesaid, the notice was issued by the respondents to the petitioner on 3rd September, 2020 calling upon the petitioner to give explanation with respect to the allegations pursuant to the abovementioned enquiry report. In pursuance thereof, the petitioner has submitted his written explanation before the respondent authorities on 13th October, 2020. The District Magistrate on 21st November, 2020 has submitted his reply to the explanation submitted by the petitioner on 13th October, 2020 and thereafter the personal hearing was also accorded to the petitioner on 17th March, 2021 wherein also the petitioner submitted his explanation dated 16th March, 2021 before the Additional Chief Secretary, Nagar Vikas-respondent no. 2.

3. It further transpires that after the hearing and the presentation of the submission by the petitioner on 17.03.2021, the explanation/written submissions of the petitioner were sent to the District Magistrate concerned on 13th April, 2021 and thereafter the District Magistrate has submitted report dated 7th June, 2021 of Committee. The aforesaid report dated 7th June, 2021 was against the petitioner and on the aforesaid basis, the impugned show cause notice dated 11th November, 2021 has been issued by the Additional Chief Secretary, Nagar Vikas-respondent no. 2 and further the financial and administrative powers of the petitioner has been ceased.

4. Heard Sri Shashi Nandan, learned Senior Counsel assisted by Sri Udayan Nandan, Advocate, learned counsel for the petitioner, learned Standing Counsel for the State-respondents and Sri Veer Singh, learned counsel for the complainant-respondent no. 6.

5. It is submitted by learned counsel for the petitioner that the petitioner is the President of the Nagar Panchayat, Khamariya, District Bhadohi and he has been issued show cause notice in terms of Section 48 (2) of the U.P. Municipalities Act, 1916 and also by the impugned notice dated 11th November, 2021 his administrative and financial powers have been ceased by respondent authority. It is also submitted on behalf of petitioner that while passing the impugned notice and ceasing of the administrative and financial powers of the petitioner, the reply submitted by the petitioner has not been considered by the Additional Chief Secretary, Nagar Vikas - respondent no. 2 and further the respondent authority while passing the impugned order has also failed to take into consideration earlier report dated 24th June, 2019 which was in favour of the petitioner. It is also the case of the petitioner that after the arguments were heard on 17th March, 2021 and the written explanation dated 16th March, 2021 was submitted by the petitioner, the respondent authorities has invited a report from the District Magistrate concerned in respect of the explanation and argument of the petitioner and the District Magistrate in pursuance thereof had formed a four member committee comprising of Additional District Magistrate, District Information Officer-NIC, Finance and Audit Officer, Bhadohi and EDM, Bhadohi. On the basis of the aforesaid, the District Magistrate by his letter dated 7th June, 2021 has submitted a enquiry report before the Principal Secretary, Nagar Vikas. It is submitted by the learned counsel for the petitioner that prior to submission of the report dated 7th June, 2021, no opportunity of hearing was granted by the aforesaid committee nor any opportunity of hearing was granted at the level of the District Magistrate. It is also submitted that prior to passing of the impugned order, the copy of the aforesaid report dated 7th June, 2021 has also not been served on the petitioner nor the petitioner has been granted opportunity to file any objection to the aforesaid report dated 7th June, 2021. It is also urged that while passing the impugned order, the respondent authorities has relied upon the report dated 7th June, 2021 against the petitioner without considering the explanation submitted by the petitioner in response to the allegations against the petitioner. It is urged on behalf of the petitioner that the impugned order is arbitrary, without application of mind and without giving any reasons has ceased the financial and administrative powers of the petitioner.

6. Learned Standing Counsel appearing for the State-respondents and Sri Veer Singh, learned counsel appearing on behalf of the respondent no. 6 has submitted that the petitioner is the Chairman of Nagar Panchayat, Khameriya, District Bhadohi and allegations with respect to misappropriation of funds of Nagar Panchayat for purchase of articles without following proper procedure prescribed is levelled against the petitioner. In this respect, the Sub Divisional Magistrate, Gyanpur has submitted an enquiry report dated 19th October, 2019 indicting the petitioner in respect of the allegations of misappropriation of funds. The aforesaid report dated 19th October, 2019 was forwarded by the Additional District Magistrate to the Commissioner and the same has thereafter being forwarded to the State Government. The State Government consequently has issued letter dated 3rd September, 2020 to the petitioner calling for an explanation. The petitioner submitted his reply on 13th October, 2020 and the District Magistrate has thereafter submitted the explanation on 21st November, 2020. It is also submitted that the petitioner has also submitted his reply on 16th March, 2021 before the State Government and the petitioner was granted opportunity of hearing by the State Government on 17th March, 2021. Thereafter show cause notice dated 11th November, 2021 has been issued to the petitioner and the financial and administrative powers of the petitioner has been ceased under Section 48 (2) of the U.P. Municipalities Act, 1916. The petitioner was given full opportunity of hearing and thereafter the impugned order has been passed by the State Government. It is also urged on behalf of the respondents that while passing impugned order, the reply of the petitioner has been considered and the authority concerned has prima facie found a case against the petitioner and as such, the financial and administrative powers of the petitioner has been ceased. A notice has been issued to the petitioner in terms of Section 48 (2) of the U.P. Municipalities Act, 1916. On the aforesaid basis, it is submitted that the present writ petition has no force and as such liable to be dismissed.

7. The controversy involved in the present writ petition revolves around Section 48 (2) of the U.P. Municipalities Act, 1916 and the same is quoted hereunder:-

"48. Removal of President. - (1) [Omitted]

(2) Where the State Government has, at any time, reason to believe that, -

(a) there has been a failure on the part of the President in performing his duties; or

(b) the President has -

(xvi) disposed of any property belonging to the municipality at a price less than its market value; or

(xvii) encroached, or assisted or instigated any other person to encroach upon the land, building or any other immovable property of the municipality;]

it may call upon him to show cause within the time to be specified in the notice why he should not be removed from office.

Provided that where the State Government has reason to believe that the allegations do not appear to be groundless and the President is prima facie guilty on any of the grounds of this sub-section resulting in the issuance of the show-cause notice and proceedings under this sub-section he shall, from the date of issuance of the show-cause notice containing charges, cease to exercise, perform and discharge the financial and administrative powers, functions and duties of the President until he is exonerated of the charges mentioned in the show-cause notice issued to him under this sub-section and finalization of the proceedings under sub-section (2-A) and the said powers, functions and duties of the President during the period of such ceasing, shall be exercised, performed and discharged by the District Magistrate or an officer nominated by him not below the rank of Deputy Collector."

8. In order to appreciate the contentions urged on behalf of the parties, it would be appropriate to examine the charges levelled against the petitioner and the response submitted by the petitioner in respect of the charges levelled against the petitioner.

9. The first charge against the petitioner is that in the process of purchase of dustbins the comparison was not made between the dustbin of same capacity but the comparison was made with dustbin of higher capacity. It is also alleged that in case the dustbin with regard to sanction capacity was not available on the GEM portal then in accordance with the order dated 12th September, 2018 of the Additional District Magistrate, the dustbin ought to have been purchased by way of e-tender.

10. The petitioner in respect of the first charge submitted his reply to the effect that after the selection of the capacity of the dustbin on the GEM portal, the other capacity of dustbin was being shown in the category of the sanctioned capacity of dustbin, was not reflected on the buyer's portal. The process of comparison of the dustbin of various capacity is the sole prerogative of the GEM portal and the GEM portal after completion of the comparison publishes the final list. It is not possible for the buyer to find out the capacity of dustbin which were being compared. In the GEM portal it is not possible to purchase unless the comparison process and the L1 process is completed on the aforesaid portal. The GEM portal further prepared the contract, sanction order and other documents on automation basis and the President/petitioner has no role in the aforesaid process. The purchases have been made from the GEM portal and as such there are no irregularities in the purchase of the dustbin and no financial loss has been made to the Nagar Panchayat.

11. The second charge against the petitioner is to the effect that the Government Order No. G.F.R./2017 provided that purchases to an amount of Rs. 30 Lacs can be made directly from the GEM portal. The purchases made by the Nagar Panchayat in respect of various categories of dustbins were within the limit of Rs.30 Lacs individually however, if the amount of all the categories of dustbins are added together the same would be more than Rs. 30 Lacs limit fixed by the aforesaid Government Order. One firm was given order for various categories of dustbin and the aforesaid order in total amounted to more than Rs. 30 Lacs. No information in this respect was given to the District Magistrate nor any sanction was taken by the Nagar Panchayat in this respect and as such irregularities have been committed by the petitioner.

12. The petitioner in response to the second charge submitted that in the Government Order dated 23rd August, 2017 it is provided that for an amount from Rs.50,000/- to Rs.30,00,000/- the purchases can be made from the GEM portal on the basis of the lowest price offered. The purchases have been made after obtaining necessary sanction from the District Magistrate and in accordance with the abovementioned Government Order. It was also the defence of the petitioner that the work pertaining to upload of purchase order on the GEM portal and acceptance of the work order is within the domain of the Executive Officer, Nagar Panchayat. The concerned authority in respect of the alleged purchase is the Executive Officer, Nagar Panchayat. It was also the defence of the petitioner that the Government Order did not provide that the value of all the purchases of various categories were required to be added and thereafter the purchases are to be affected. In the present case, the purchases have been made in respect of various categories by means of different contract proposal and the sanction also is also made separately and the payments have been made against the various categories separately by the authorised officer being the Executive Officer, Nagar Panchayat. The petitioner had no role in the purchase of the aforesaid dustbin. The purchase of various capacity of dustbin which have been purchased by separate order on the GEM portal could not have been clubbed together.

13. The third charge against the petitioner pertains to the allegation that the purchase of dustbins was made by the Nagar Panchayat from the firm of which the proprietor was the daughter-in-law of the brother of the petitioner and as such is in violation of Section 82 of the Uttar Pradesh Municipalities Act, 1916 as the petitioner has interest in the contract awarded for purchase of dustbin to the above-mentioned firm.

14. The explanation given by the petitioner in respect of the third charge is to the effect that the firm Shree Hari Impex is already registered on the GEM portal and the purchases have been made in accordance with the Government Order dated 23rd August, 2017 after approval of the District Magistrate from the GEM portal. It was also submitted that the aforesaid firm is a proprietorship firm and the petitioner has no interest or connection with the aforesaid firm and the payments were made to the aforesaid firm after the scrutiny by the committee constituted by the District Magistrate. It was also stated that at the level of the petitioner, no proceedings were undertaken for selection of the aforesaid firm for purchase of the dustbin and the aforesaid selection was made from the GEM portal on which the petitioner has no control. The selection of the aforesaid firm was made by the GEM portal on automation basis to the lowest bid.

15. The Nagar Panchayat in question is a unit of local self-government. The concept of a local self-government paves the way for a proper delineation of functions and powers of the latter, for the smooth flow of funds from State Governments and also ensure community involvement in activities. The Nagar Panchayat is constituted under the Uttar Pradesh Municipalities Act, 1916. The aforesaid Act further provides that the members of the Nagar Panchayat shall be on the basis of electoral representative. The aforesaid Act under Section 43 also provides that the President of the Nagar Panchayat shall be elected on the basis of adult suffrage by the electors of the Nagar Panchayat. By means of 73rd Constitutional Amendment the Municipalities have been accorded the constitutional status.

16. The section 48 of the Uttar Pradesh Municipalities Act, 1916 provides for the removal of the President. The grounds on which the President can be removed has been envisaged under Section 48 (2) of the Uttar Pradesh Municipalities Act, 1916. It provides that where the State Government has reason to believe that there has been failure on the part of the President in performing his duties or the President has committed any misconduct provided under Section 48(2)(b), then he can be called upon to show cause as to why he should not be removed from the office of the President.

17. The proviso to Section 48(2) of the Uttar Pradesh Municipalities Act, 1916 provides for cessation of financial and administrative powers under the specified conditions. The aforesaid provision does not envisage cessation of financial and administrative powers on merely issuance of notice under Section 48(2) of the aforesaid Act. The provision requires that where the State Government has reason to believe that the allegations do not appear to be groundless and the President is prima facie guilty on any of the grounds of sub-section 2 of Section 48 resulting in issuance of show cause notice containing charges, the State Government can cease the financial and administrative powers of the President unless he is exonerated of the charges mentioned in the show cause notice and finalisation of proceedings.

18. It is further to be noted that during the cessation of the financial and administrative powers of the President, the proviso to Section 48(2) of the Act further provides that the aforesaid powers would be performed and discharged by the District Magistrate or an officer nominated by him not below the rank of a Deputy Collector. It is to be seen that the powers under the proviso to Section 48(2) of the Uttar Pradesh Municipalities Act, 1916 will result in transfer of the powers of the President from an elected representative to an executive authority, who is not elected by the electoral College of the Nagar panchayat. In this manner, the cessation of the administrative and financial powers of the President have grave consequences as the elected representative power are ceased and handed over to an executive authority who is not directly answerable to the electoral College.

19. Under the present constitutional framework, the emphasis has been to set up democratic institutions for governance of the people of the country and all decisions are rooted through democratic elected representatives. The executive authority has been imparted with the duty to implement the decisionsand policy framed by the elected representatives. Further, the elected representatives (in higher hierarchy) under the Constitution can be removed by a special process either by way of no confidence motion or by way of impeachment and in this manner a protection is provided to the elected representative so that the executive may not usurp the office of the elected representative by removing him except by way of no confidence motion or by way of impeachment. It is to be seen that under the constitutional scheme, the elected representatives have been insulated from being removed from the office by the executive. However, in the case of the President of the Nagar Panchayat under the Uttar Pradesh Municipalities Act, 1916, the power to remove the President of the Nagar Panchayat is vested with the State Government in exercise of powers under Section 48 of the Uttar Pradesh Municipalities Act, 1916. Once the power has been vested with the executive for removing an elected representative from the post of the President of Nagar panchayat, it emphasises a greater responsibility of the State Government that the power is exercised within the four corners of the Uttar Pradesh Municipalities Act, 1916 and further keeping into consideration the constitutional scheme. While exercising the powers under Section 48(2) of the Uttar Pradesh Municipalities Act, 1916, the State Government by ceasing the financial and administrative powers of the President is taking upon a drastic step of precluding an elected representative who is President of the Nagar panchayat from exercising his powers as provided under law. The institution of local self government including the Nagar Panchayat have been specifically constituted for the purpose of giving powers of governance in the hand of the citizens of the area through their elected representatives and once the powers under the proviso to Section 48 (2) of the Uttar Pradesh Municipalities Act, 1960 is exercised by the State Government, the governance comes into the hands of the executive authority. The aforesaid power under Section 48 of the Act including the cessation of administrative and financial powers of the President are to be exercised by the State Government fairly and in a responsible manner so that the democratic institutions are strengthened. The five Judges Bench of this Court in Paras Jain Vs State of U.P. and others, reported in 2016 (1) ADJ 1 (FB) in paragraph 14 has emphasised on the institution of local self-government and decentralisation of democratic governance and the same is quoted hereinbelow :-

"14. Part IX-A of the Constitution contains provisions in relation to the panchayats. Part IX-A provides for the municipalities. These provisions were introduced by the Seventy-third and Seventy-fourth amendments to the Constitution. Municipalities and panchayats as institutions of local self-Government have a constitutional status. Their role and position are defined by the Constitution as are their powers, duties and responsibilities. They are not mere administrative agencies of the State but, as institutions of self-governance, have been conferred with a degree of autonomy to ensure that democracy finds expression at the grassroots of Indian society. The Constitution seeks to attain a decentralisation of democratic governance through these institutions."

20. It however goes without saying that the elected representatives has greater responsibility to exercise the powers under the Act for the benefit of the public at large and in accordance with sound administrative and financial principles within the corners of statute. It is the duty of the elected representative that the public money is not wasted and that the public money is expended for the benefit of the citizens of the municipal area/nagar panchyat. The electoral college of the area concerned has elected its representative to the Nagar Panchayat so that they will exercise, the power for benefiting the public at large and will not involve in any activity which is detrimental to the society and not involve in misappropriation of funds and abuse of the office, which the electoral representative is holding. It is true that the electoral representative cannot hide behind his position of being an electoral representative and in the garb of the aforesaid conduct himself in a manner which is detrimental to the society at large and to the objectives of the Nagar Panchayat. The aforesaid misconduct has further been envisaged under Section 48(2) of the Uttar Pradesh Municipalities Act, 1916.

21. The removal of the President of Nagar Panchayat under Section 48 of the Uttar Pradesh Municipalities Act, 1916 and cessation of the administrative and financial powers of the President is a drastic step. The aforesaid powers, in fact, takes away the powers of the elected representative and confers the said power on the District Magistrate or other officer who are the executive officers of the State. In such circumstances, the interpretation to the aforesaid provision is to be in accordance with scheme under the constitution and the Government is require to follow the provisions and the condition precedent prior to exercise of the power of cessation of financial and administrative powers of the President. It is to be borne in mind that the Nagar Panchayat is a local self government and it is to be run in conformity with the constitutional standards and in this respect, the statute/legislation, which is in the nature of regulatory framework, must be interpreted in a manner that fulfils the constitutional goals and objectives and as such, the State Government while passing any order under Section 48 of the Act, is required to pass such order in conformity with the constitutional scheme and should not dilute the autonomy of the institution. It is also to be seen that the cessation of the financial and administrative powers of the President while holding an enquiry for removal of the President under Section 48 of the Act is detrimental to the public interest in the sense that an elected representative while continuing on the post would not be able to exercise his powers and functions under the Uttar Pradesh Municipalities Act, 1916 and such a drastic measure should only to be adopted where there are serious material against the President. It is also the duty of the State Government while exercising such drastic powers which are having civil consequences that the procedure adopted is just, fair and reasonable and in consonance with Article 14 of the Constitution. In this reference the five Judges Bench of this Court in Paras Jain (supra) in paragraph 15 has elucidated the interpretation to be accorded to such a provision and the same is quoted hereinbelow:

"15. The extent of control which the agencies of the State exercise over these institutions of local self-government must necessarily conform to constitutional standards. State legislation of a regulatory nature must be interpreted in a manner that fosters the attainment of constitutional objectives. The Court, consistent with the high constitutional purpose underlying Parts IX and IXA of the Constitution, must give expression to the autonomy expected to be wielded by the constitutionally recognized levels of local self-government. Hence, while interpreting state legislation, the need to conform to constitutional parameters must be borne in mind. An interpretation of state legislation which will dilute the autonomy of institutions of local self-government must, to the extent possible, be avoided. Similarly, an interpretation which would result in reducing the panchayats and municipalities to a role of administrative subordination must be eschewed. Consequently, where an issue arises in regard to the removal of an elected head of a municipality, as in the present case, the procedure prescribed by the law must be followed. The law itself must be interpreted in a manner that would render it fair, just and reasonable in its operation and effect. Moreover, in areas where the law is silent, an effort must be made by the Court in the process of interpretation to ensure that the procedure for removal is just, fair and reasonable to be consistent with the mandate of Article 14."

22. In the present case, the question of interpretation of Section 48(2) of the Act including the proviso is involved. The aforesaid Section 48(2) empowers the State Government to issue show cause notice to the President as to why he may not be removed from his office if the State Government has reason to believe that there is failure on the part of the President in performing his duties or has misconducted in accordance with the provisions of Section 48(2)(b) of the Act. Further, the State Government under proviso to Section 48 sub-clause (2) is further empowered to cease the financial and administrative powers, functions and duties of the President, where the State Government has the reason to believe that the allegation do not appear to be groundless and the President is prima facie guilty on any of the grounds of said section resulting in issuance of show cause notice. The aforesaid proceedings for cessation of financial and administrative powers during the pendency of the proceedings for removal of the President under the aforesaid proviso require to fulfill twin conditions.

23. The first condition for exercise of the powers for cessation of administrative and financial powers of the President is that the State Government has reason to believe that the allegations do not appear to be groundless. It is to be seen that the aforesaid action of the State Government should be based on the material before it and must reflect the application of mind by the State Government. The cessation of administrative and financial powers should be on objective assessment of the authority concerned based on the material on record and is distinguishable from the purely subjective satisfaction. It is also to be seen that the aforesaid reasonable belief is to be formed on the basis of relevant facts available on record. The aforesaid provision casts a duty on the State Government to lay down the factual foundation and circumstances for coming to the conclusion that there exist a reasonable belief that allegations do not appear to be groundless. In this reference, the five Judges Bench of this Court in Paras Jain (supra) in paragraph 27 has interpreted the expression "reason to believe" and the same is quoted hereinbelow :-

"27. The formation of a reason to believe within the meaning of the proviso must be on objective considerations which have a rational connection or link to the material before the State Government. Fairness requires that this be disclosed to the President of the municipality before the consequences in the proviso ensue. The President must have an opportunity to explain."

24. The objective consideration which has rational connection to the material before the State Government is essential for fair and just exercise of the power by the State Government. The State Government while exercising the power cannot loose sight of the fact that an elected representative is being denuded of his powers under the Municipalities Act, 1916. The objective assessment/consideration to the material before the State Government would ensure that the reasons are disclosed to the President of the municipality before the consequences under the proviso ensue.

25. The second condition for exercise of power under Section 48(2) of the Uttar Pradesh Municipalities Act, 1916 is that the President is prima facie guilty on the grounds of this section and it is thereafter that the show cause notice can be issued to the President and the financial and administrative powers can be ceased. The prime facie satisfaction of the guilt under the aforesaid provision postulates application of mind to the material available on record before the State Government as well as the explanation/reply submitted by the petitioner. The formation of a prime facie opinion by the State Government must be consistent with the principles of natural justice. The objective assessment of the material on record including the reply of the petitioner will ensure fair and just exercise of the powers by the State Government.

"28. The State Government is also required by the proviso to be of the view that the President is prima facie guilty on any of the grounds contained in the sub-section which have resulted in the issuance of the notice to show cause. The formulation of a reason to believe that the allegations do not appear to be groundless and that the President is prima facie guilty on any of the grounds mentioned in the sub-section would postulate that before these statutory requirements are found to exist, a fair opportunity of being heard must be granted to the President of the municipality. A finding of prima facie guilt must, in our view, be consistent with a prior fulfillment of the norms of natural justice, consistent with the stage of enquiry. There is intrinsic evidence in the statutory provision which leads to the inference that the mere issuance of the notice to show-cause does not a fortiori result in the cessation of the financial and administrative powers, functions and duties but it is only when the conditions which are spelt out in the proviso exist, that such a consequence will follow. If a mere issuance of a notice to show-cause was intended to necessarily result in the consequence of the cessation of financial and administrative powers as envisaged in the proviso, the legislature would have made a provision to that effect. On the contrary, the legislature has carefully crafted a statutory provision, in the form of a proviso which ensures that it is only upon the State Government having a reason to believe that the allegations do not appear to be groundless and that the President is prima facie guilty on any of the grounds contained in the sub-section, that the cessation of the financial and administrative powers would follow from the date of the issuance of the notice to show-cause containing the charges."

27. The cessation of financial and administrative powers of an elected representative is a matter of great significance and has serious consequences. The aforesaid action erodes the authority of the elected head to effectively discharge the functions of the office. An action which has civil consequences is to be in consonance with the principles of natural justice. In the present case, the cessation of financial and administrative powers of the President of the Nagar Panchayat has civil consequences and as such the principles of natural justice are required to be followed in consonance with the law laid down by the five Judges Bench of this Court in Paras Jain (supra).

28. In the present case, prior to passing the order for cessation of financial and administrative powers, the State Government had called for the explanation of the petitioner and the petitioner has submitted his reply/explanation to the State Government in respect of the allegations. The reply of the petitioner was also before the State Government while passing the impugned order. A perusal of the impugned order would disclose that after mentioning the charges against the petitioner in the impugned order, the State Government has relied upon the report of the District Magistrate dated 7th June, 2021 and the report of the committee dated 7th June, 2021 and thereafter has passed the impugned order. The State Government while passing the impugned order has neither objectively considered the material before the State Government nor the reply of the petitioner has been considered. The State Government while passing the impunged order has not even discussed the material which existed in support of the allegations against the petitioner. It is further to be seen that the report dated 7th June, 2021 of the District Magistrate and the report of the committee dated 7th June, 2021 have been submitted after hearing of the petitioner was completed on 17th March, 2021. The State Government has not recorded its reasons for proceeding under Section 48 of the U.P. Municipalities Act, 1916 and also the reasons as to why the financial and administrative powers have been ceased. The impugned order is absolutely silent on the aspect of the application of mind by the authority concerned to the material available on record. The explanations/reply submitted by the petitioner has also not been discussed in the impugned order. It is noted that all the charges have been mentioned in the impugned order however there is no application of mind by the authority concerned on the material available in respect of prime facie guilt of the petitioner as well as the reason to believe that the charges against the petitioner are not groundless. The report of the District Magistrate and the committee dated 7th

June, 2021 by itself cannot be ground to proceed under Section 48(2) of the Uttar Pradesh Municipalities Act, 1916. The authority concerned is obliged under law to independently consider all the material available before it including the report of the District Magistrate as well as the reply of the petitioner and to come to a conclusion on objective assessment of the facts and material before proceeding to issue show cause notice to the petitioner and cessation of financial and administrative powers of the President/petitioner.

29. The very purpose of calling for the reply of the petitioner prior to issuing the show cause notice was to inform the petitioner about the charges levelled against the petitioner as well as to bring on record the version of the petitioner to the charges levelled against the petitioner. Once the reply has been submitted by the petitioner, the authority concerned while passing the impugned order, ought to have considered the explanation of the petitioner to the charges levelled. The calling of the reply from the petitioner in respect of the charges levelled prior to issuing the show cause notice cannot be an empty formality, it has significance as the same strike at the arbitrary exercise of the power and bring fairness in the procedure and also the compliance of the principles of natural justice. In this reference, the Full Bench of this Court in Hafiz Ataullah Ansari Vs. State of U.P. and others, reported in 2011 (3) ADJ 502 (FB) and paragraphs 124 to 126 have considered the importance of principle of natural justice and consideration of the explanation and the same is quoted hereinbelow:-

"124. Considering the object and reason, there is no justification to involve the heads of the local bodies at every step of collection of material or in the preliminary enquiry. The principles of natural justice or the yardstick of fairness would be met if the explanation of the effected head of the local body or his point of view or version is considered before recording the satisfaction or finding of prima facie guilt before issuing notice and passing order for ceasing financial and administrative powers.

125. Affording opportunity to submit explanation of the head or considering it, is not to be as detailed as in the regular inquiry or to the extent of permitting cross-examination of any witness, who might be examined in the preliminary enquiry. It is in the sense of getting his point of view or version to the charges before being so satisfied. But what is the point in affording the opportunity if the explanation is not considered. It has to be considered too: there has to be application of mind.

126. In our opinion, getting explanation or point of view or version of a head of a local body regarding charges and considering them before issuing show-cause notice under relevant provisos, not only strikes at the arbitrary exercise of power but brings about fairness in the procedure; in the circumstances, it is also sufficient compliance of the principles of natural justice."

30. The petitioner in his reply has given explanation in respect of the charges levelled against him. However, we find the non-consideration of the reply in the impugned order by the respondent authorities. The specific reply submitted by the petitioner to the allegations made against him has neither been adverted to nor there is any application of mind on the part of the State Government while passing the impugned order.

31. From the material placed before this Court we find substance in the argument advanced on behalf of the petitioner that the decision to proceed under Section 48 (2) of the Uttar Pradesh Municipalities Act, 1916 is not preceded by proper application of mind to the material placed by the petitioner and the impugned order has blindly relied upon the report of the District Magistrate dated 7th June, 2021 and the Committee Report dated 7th June, 2021, which were not furnished to the petitioner and was further submitted after the conclusion of the hearing by the State Government on 17th March, 2021. The State Government while passing the impugned order has neither considered the reply/explanation submitted by the petitioner in respect of the allegations levelled against the petitioner nor the State Government while passing the impugned order has neither recorded any prime facie finding with regard to guilt of the petitioner nor any objective satisfaction has been recorded by the State Government that the allegations against the petitioner do not appear to be groundless. The impugned order has been passed in mechanical manner without application of mind to the material available on record including the reply/explanation of the petitioner. The State government is enjoined with the duty to act in Just, fair and reasonable manner and to record reasons for proceeding under section 48(2) of the Uttar Pradesh Municipalities Act, 1916 and the order passed by the authority concerned should not reflect arbitrariness. The order under the aforesaid provision should be on the basis of the application of mind and within the ambit of the constitutional framework and principles.

32. While application of mind to the material available to the competent authority is an essential pre-requisite for the making of a valid order, that requirement should not be confused with the sufficiency of such material to support any such order. Whether or not the material placed before the competent authority was sufficient to justify the decision taken by it, may not be of significance at this stage. That aspect may have assumed importance only if the competent authority has shown to have applied its mind to whatever material was available to it. Since application of mind as a thresh-hold requirement for a valid order is conspicuous by its absence the question whether the decision was reasonable having regard to the material before the authority is rendered academic. What is absolutely essential is that the authority making the order is alive to the material on the basis of which it purports to take a decision. The power which is being exercised by the authority is in trust only to be exercised for a legitimate purpose and along settled principles of administrative law and constitutional principles.

33. In this reference, the five Judges Bench of this Court in Paras Jain (supra) in paragraph 35 has interpreted the scope of section 48(2) and the same is quoted hereinbelow :-

"35. We accordingly proceed to answer the reference in the following terms:

(I) Re Question (a): The decision of the Full Bench in Hafiz Ataullah Ansari Vs State of U P (supra) lays down the correct position in law.

(II) Re Questions (b) & (c): The cessation of financial and administrative powers of the President does not necessarily follow merely upon the issuance of a notice to show cause under the substantive part of Section 48(2). The financial and administrative powers of the President shall stand ceased if the State Government has reason to believe that (i) the allegations do not appear to be groundless; and (ii) the President is prima facie guilty on any of the grounds of sub-section (2) resulting in the issuance of the notice to show-cause and proceedings thereunder. The President of the municipality will, in that event, cease to exercise, perform and discharge financial and administrative powers, functions and duties from the date of the issuance of the notice to show-cause containing the charges. For a cessation of financial and administrative powers to take effect, the requirements of the proviso to Section 48(2) must be fulfilled. Hence, proceedings for removal of a President of a municipality under Section 48(2) may take place in a given situation though the financial and administrative powers have not ceased under the terms of the proviso.

(III) Re Question (d): There is no requirement under the statute that a separate order has to be passed under the proviso to Section 48(2) when the financial and administrative powers of the President of a municipality cease. Such a consequence would come into being upon the requirements specified in the proviso to Section 48(2) being fulfilled.

(IV) Re Question (e): An opportunity of being heard, consistent with the principles of natural justice, before there is a cessation of the financial and administrative powers of the President does not stand excluded by the provisions of Section 48(2). As a matter of textual interpretation, the requirement of complying with the principles of natural justice is an integral element of the proviso to Section 48(2). The requirements of natural justice would warrant the grant of an opportunity to the elected head of a municipality to respond to the notice issued by the State indicating the basis for the formation of a reason to believe that the charges do not appear to be groundless and that the President is prima facie guilty on any of the grounds mentioned in sub-section (2) of Section 48. The period of notice can be suitably molded to deal with the exigencies of the situation."

34. In view of the above, it would be expedient in the interest of justice that the matter may be remitted back to the authority concerned for decision afresh in accordance with law and as such we are proceeding at this stage to decide the matter finally without calling for any affidavits in the matter.

35. The power to seize the administrative and financial powers of the President, Nagar Panchyat vest under the statute with the State Government. The State Government is enjoined with the duty to record a prime facie guilt and reason to believe on objective assessment of the material available on record including the reply of the petitioner and the order to be passed under Section 48 (2) of the Act should reflect the application of mind to the material available before the authority concerned. The conclusion that may be drawn by the authority concerned must also reflect due application of mind to the merits of the reply/defence submitted by the petitioner. It is to be clarified that a detailed finding at this stage may not be required however consideration of the material including reply of the petitioner is necessary prior to passing any order ceasing financial and administrative powers.

36. As a result, the impugned order dated 11th November, 2021 is set aside.

The writ petition is allowed. Liberty is granted to the State Government to proceed afresh after examining the material on record and the reply submitted by the petitioner in respect of the allegations levelled against the petitioner and pass appropriate order afresh in accordance with law.

37. It is clarified that this court has not considered the merit of the allegations against the petitioner and the same may be considered by the authority concerned independently.

List of Cases cited: -

1. Vishwanath Singh Vs Commissioner Lucknow & ors.(2015 (7) ADJ 393 (LB)),

(Delivered by Hon'ble J.J. Munir, J.)

1. The petitioner's firearm licence has been cancelled by the District Magistrate of Kaushambi vide order dated 03.12.2008 in exercise of powers under Section 17 of the Arms Act. That order has been upheld in appeal by the Commissioner, Allahabad Division, Allahabad (now Prayagraj) by his order dated 01.07.2015. It is these orders depriving the petitioner of his firearms licence that he impugns through the present writ petition.

2. The petitioner was granted a firearm licence in the year 1997 bearing no. 9050, entitling him to hold a D.B.B.L. Gun. The licence was granted by the Licensing Authority under the Arms Act, 1959 in accordance with law. The petitioner purchased a D.B.B.L. bearing no. 94400486. It appears that acting on a report by the Police of Police Station Saini, District Kaushambi, recommending cancellation of the petitioner's firearms licence, Case No. 102/167 of 2007-08 was registered before the District Magistrate, Kaushambi. The petitioner was put to notice. At one stage of proceedings, the case proceeded ex parte but later on before orders could be passed, upon the petitioner's application dated 18.07.2007 the order to proceed ex parte was set aside and the petitioner was granted opportunity to object. The petitioner filed objections to the show cause notice on 31.07.2008. It was said in their report by the Police that the petitioner had misused his firearm held on the licence leading to registration of Case Crime No. 61 of 1995, under Sections 147, 148, 307, 427 IPC, P.S. Saini, District Kaushambi, and further, another Crime No. 199 of 2007 under Sections 352, 406, 506 IPC, P.S. Saini, District Kaushambi.

3. The petitioner filed his objections as aforesaid saying that the firearms licence, subject matter of proceedings for cancellation, was issued in the year 1997, and therefore, Crime No. 61 of 1995 could not at all relate to a possible misuse of his firearm held on the subject licence. The report of the Police on this score was castigated as baseless. It was also said by the petitioner that going by the principles of settled law laid down by this Court, a firearm licence could not be cancelled because a case had been registered against him by the Police or even a charge sheet filed. It was in particular pointed out that so far as Case Crime No. 199 of 2007 was concerned, the petitioner had been tried in the case arising from the said crime and acquitted by the learned Chief Judicial Magistrate, Kaushambi vide his judgment and order dated 31.10.2014. The other crime, that is Case Crime No. 61 of 1995, related to a period of time when the petitioner did not hold the firearms licence at all, obviating any possible misuse of the weapon in the said crime. It is on the basis of these facts and defences that the petitioner asked the Licensing Authority to discharge the notice for cancellation.

4. The licensing Authority by its order dated 03.12.2008 proceeded to opine that Case Crime No. 61 of 1995, under Sections 147, 148, 307, 427 IPC and Case Crime No. 199 of 2007 under Sections 352, 406, 506 IPC are heinous offences registered against the petitioner. Therefore, it was not in 'public interest (जनहित)', 'interest of justice (न्यायहित)' and "point of view of peace and order (शान्ति व्यवस्था)' that the petitioner may continue to hold the firearms licence in question. Whatever kind of findings these are, recording them the District Magistrate/ Licensing Authority proceeded to cancel the petitioner's firearms licence. The petitioner preferred an appeal to the Commissioner of the Division, that came up before the Appellate Authority/ the Commissioner, Allahabad Division, Allahabad.

5. Before the Appellate Authority, it was pointed out that the petitioner has been acquitted in the case arising out of Case Crime No. 199 of 2007 (supra), but the Commissioner remarked that a perusal of the judgment passed by the Criminal Court acquitting the petitioner showed that he had been acquitted giving him the benefit of doubt. This remark was made in relation to the case arising out of Crime No.61 of 1995 on account of an error apparent. In the other case i.e. Case Crime No.199 of 2007 (supra), the case was noted to be still subjudice though it had been decided by time the appeal came up before the Commissioner. It was also the Appellate Authority's opinion that it was not in "public interest', "interest of justice' and "point of view of peace and order (शान्ति व्यवस्था)' that the petitioner may continue to hold the firearms licence. It was on the basis of these findings that the Appellate Authority affirmed the Licensing Authority's order.

6. Aggrieved, this petition has been filed.

7. Parties have exchanged affidavits.

8. Admit.

9. Heard forthwith.

10. Heard Mr. Sudhanshu Pandey, learned Counsel for the petitioner and Mr. Anuj Pratap Singh, learned Standing Counsel appearing on behalf of the respondents.

11. This Court has no hesitation to say that the orders impugned passed by both the Authorities below are grossly flawed. It is by now well settled that mere registration of a criminal case or pendency of a criminal case is no ground under Section 17 of the Arms Act to cancel a firearms licence. This Court may refer to with immense profit the essence of judicial opinion on this point that finds eloquent mention in the judgment of this Court in Vishwanath Singh vs. Commissioner Lucknow and Others, 2015(7) ADJ 393 (LB), where it was held:

"7. Thus, the trivial question involved in this writ petition is as to whether licensing authority is vested with the power under the Arms Act to revoke/cancel the license of a public person mere on involvement in a criminal case or pendency of a criminal case.

8. To answer the aforesaid question, it would be apt to refer relevant paragraphs of Rakesh Kumar v. District Magistrate, Raebareli and others, 2013(31) LCD 1313, wherein it has been held that merely because of pendency of a criminal case, the arms- licenses of the petitioner cannot be cancelled. Relevant paras 12, 13, 14 and 15 read as under:

"12. Further, this Court in the case of Sahab Singh v. Commissioner Agra Region, Agra and others, 2006 (24) LCD 374, in paragraph No. 3 held as under :

The submission of the petitioner is That merely because of pendency of a criminal case, the arms licence of the petitioner cannot be cancelled in support of the said submission, learned counsel for the petitioner has placed reliance on two decisions of this Court in the case of Hausla Prasad Tiwari v. State of U.P. and Ishwar @ Bhuri v. State of U.P. It has further been submitted that in view of the Full Bench decision of this Court in the cases of Balaram Singh v. State of U.P. and others; Kailash Nath v. State of U.P., 1985 AWC 493 as well as the Division Bench decision of this Court in the case of Sadri Ram v. District Magistrate, Azamgarh and others, the arms licence of the petitioner cannot be placed under suspension pending enquiry."

13. In the case of Mulayam Singh v. State of U.P., 2013 (80) ACC 786 in paragraph Nos. 11 and 12 held as under :

"Para No. 11 - The question as to whether mere involvement in a criminal case or pendency of a criminal case can be a ground for revocation of licence under the Arms Act, has been dealt with by a Division Bench of this Court in Sheo Prasad Mishra v. District Magistrate, 1978 AWC 122. The division Bench relied upon the earlier decision of another Division Bench of this Court in the case of Masi Uddin v. Commissioner, Allahabad, 1972 ALJ 573 wherein it has been held :

"A licence may be cancelled, inter alia, on the ground that it is "necessary for the security of public peace or for public safety, to do so. The District Magistrate has not recorded a finding that it was necessary for the security of the public peace or for public safety to revoke the licence. The mere existence of enmity between a licencee and another person would not establish the "necessary" connection with security of the public peace or public safety.

In the case before us also the District Magistrate has not recorded any finding that it was necessary to cancel the licence for the security of public peace or for public safety. All that he has done is to have referred to some applications and reports lodged against the petitioner. The mere fact that some reports had been lodged against the petitioner could not form basis for cancelling the licence. The order passed by the District Magistrate and that passed by the Commissioner cannot, therefore, be upheld on the basis of anything contained in Section 17(3)(b) of the Act."

Para No. 12- Similar view has been taken by this Court in various decisions relying upon the Division Bench judgment passed in Sheo Prasad Mishra (supra). There is no doubt that the District Magistrate and the Commissioner i.e. administrative authorities are bound to take appropriate action in the matter of grant of licence and also its cancellation for the purpose of maintaining peace and harmony in the society. The assessment of administrative authorities with regard to grant or cancellation of licence should not be interfered in usual course by the Court in its extraordinary jurisdiction unless there is illegality or arbitrariness."

14. In the case of Raj Kumar Verma v. State of U.P., 2012(7) ADJ 230 (LB) this Court in paragraph No. 4 held as under:

"The ground for issue of show-cause notice, suspension and ultimately cancellation of the licence is that one and precisely one criminal case was registered against the petitioner. The District Magistrate has also held that the petitioner has been enlarged on bail. He has gone further to observe that if the licence remained intact, the petitioner, may disturb public peace and tranquility. The same findings have been given by the Commissioner, Unmindful of the fact that this Court is repeating the law of the land, but the deaf ears of the administrative officers do not ready to succumb the law of the land. The settled law is that mere involvement in a criminal case without any finding that involvement in such criminal case shall be detrimental to public peace and tranquility shall not create the ground for the cancellation of Armed Licence. In Ram Suchi v. Commissioner, Deuipatan Division, 2004 (22) LCD 1643, it was held that this law was relied upon in Balram Singh v. State of U.P., 2006 (24) LCD 1359. Mere apprehension without substance is simply an opinion which has no legs to stand. Personal whims are not allowed to be reflected while acting as a public servant. "

15. Further, in the case of C.P. Sahu v. State, 1984 AWC 145, this Court while interpreting the provisions of Section 17(3) of the Act held as under :

"The object of the enquiry that a licensing authority may, while proceeding to consider the question as to whether or not an arms licence should be revoked or suspended, like to make, clearly is to enable the licensing authority to come to a conclusion as to whether or not the facts stated in clauses (a) to (e) of Section 17(3) exist and as already explained, it is not obliged to before considering that a case for revocation/suspension of license has been made out, associate the licensee in such enquiry, in this view of the matter it can safely be taken that where a licensing authority embarks upon such an enquiry it is, till then not convinced about existence of the conditions mentioned in clauses (a) to (e) of Section 17(3), of the Act. So long as it is not so convinced no case to make an order either revoking or suspending an arms licence as contemplated by the Section will be made out."

9. The aforesaid view has been reiterated in Hridaya Narain Tiwari v. State of U.P. and others, 2014 (4) ADJ 744 (LB); Rama Kushwaha v. State of U.P. and others, 2011 (29) LCD 1045; Hiramani Singh v. State of U.P. and others, 2011(29) LCD 829 and Rajendra Singh v. Commissioner, Lucknow Division, Lucknow and others, 2011 (29) LCD 1041, wherein it has been propounded that involvement in criminal case or pendency of criminal case cannot be a ground for cancellation/revocation of firearm license.

10. In the case of Jageshwar v. State of U.P. and others, 2009 (67) ACC 157, it has been held that mere involvement in criminal case cannot in any way affect the public Security or public interest.

11. In Thakur Prasad v. State of U.P. and others, 2013 (31) LCD 1460, this Court propounded that "Public Peace" or "Public Safety" do not mean ordinary disturbance of law and order, but the public safety means safety of the public at large and not safety of few persons only. Relevant paras 9,10 and 11 of the said case read as under:

"9. Further, while passing the impugned order also the licensing authority has not given any adequate finding that if petitioner holds the arms license then the same shall be against the public peace or public safety.

"10. Public peace" or "public safety" do not mean ordinary disturbance of law and order public safety means safety of the public at large and not safety of few persons only and before passing of the order of cancellation of arm license as per Section 17(3) of the Act the Licensing Authority is under an obligation to apply his mind to the question as to whether there was eminent danger to public peace and safety involved in the case in view of the judgment given by this Court in the case of Ram Murli Madhukar v. District Magistrate, Sitapur, 1998(16) LCD 905, wherein it has been held that license can not be suspended or revoked on the ground of public interest (Jan-hit) merely on the registration of an F.I.R. and pending of a criminal case.

11. Further, this Court in the case of Habib v. State of U.P., 2002 ACC 783, held as under :

"The question as to whether mere Involvement in a criminal case or pendency of a criminal case can be a ground for revocation of the licence under Arms Act, has been dealt with by a Division Bench of this Court in Sheo Prasad Misra v. District Magistrate, Basti and others, 1978 AWC 122, wherein the Division Bench relying upon the earlier decision in Masi Uddin v. Commissioner, Allahabad, 1972 ALJ 573, found that mere involvement in criminal case cannot, in any way, affect the public security or public interest and the order cancelling or revoking the licence of fire arm has been set aside. The present impugned orders also suffer from the same infirmity as was pointed out by the Division Bench in the above-mentioned cases. I am in full agreement with the view taken by the Division Bench that these orders cannot be sustained and deserve to be quashed and are hereby quashed.

There is yet another reason that during the pendency of the present writ petition, the petitioner has been acquitted from the aforesaid criminal case and at present there is neither any case pending, nor any conviction has been attributed to the petitioner, as is evident from Annexure SA-I and II to the supplementary-affidavit filed by the petitioner. In this view of the matter, the petitioner is entitled to have the firearms licence. It is submitted by petitioner's counsel that the petitioner has been acquitted of the charges."

12. The aforesaid position of the law clearly distinguishes the mere registration of a criminal case or pendency of one from what is relevant under Section 17(3) for the Licensing Authority to exercise its power to cancel a firearms licence. Section 17(3)(b) empowers the Licensing Authority to suspend or revoke a licence, if it is deemed necessary for 'security of the public peace', or for 'public safety'. These expressions convey a widespread and broad based threat to the public at large or a threat to the prevalent all found equanimity and peace in society. The connotation of the words employed in Section 17(b) do not refer to mere cases of violation of law and order, but an impending threat to the general safety of the public or to public peace. If a licence is to be cancelled on any of these grounds, some objective material has to be there on record to form an opinion that the continued possession of a firearm held under the licence would imperil public peace or public safety. The mere registration of a criminal case is certainly not a relevant fact, on the basis of which, an inference may be drawn about vitiation, either of public peace or public safety.

13. If the holder of a licence has misused his firearm in a crime targeting an individual, the licence may be liable to be cancelled for the breach of one of the conditions of the licence under Section 17(3)(d), or may be on the ground that the licensee is held for that reason unfit to hold a licence under the Act, as envisaged under sub-Section (3)(a) of Section 17. It is possible that because of the petitioner's involvement in some crime, the Licensing Authority after considering the circumstances of the crime, the evidence about the petitioner's involvement for the limited purpose of exercise of powers by him under the Act might have opined to hold the licensee unfit, but that is not the case here. The findings recorded by the Licensing Authority and those by the Appellate Authority seem to proceed on a reasoning where the registration of a criminal case and the petitioner's trial on the relative charges have been regarded facts ipso facto relevant to cancel his firearm licence. This is certainly not what the law envisages while empowering the Licensing Authority to cancel a firearm licence. There is not an iota of material that has been taken into consideration by the two Authorities below to opine any threat to public safety or security of public peace. The inference that has been drawn, if at all it can be said to be one related to security of public peace or to public safety, is based solely on the fact of registration of a criminal case and trial in that connection. This is against so consistent a judicial opinion that this Court may venture to say that the Authorities below have passed orders that suffer from mala fides in law.

14. It must also be remarked that the Authorities below have been so callous in their reasoning that they have not cared to notice the relevant words used in the Statute on the foundation of which power may be exercised to cancel. While the Statute refers to 'security of the public peace' or 'public safety' as relevant considerations on the basis of which power may be exercised, both the Authorities below have employed similar sounding expressions that are foreign to the Statute, while exercising the power to cancel. The words employed in the order impugned are "जनहित (public interest)', "न्यायहित (interest of justice)' and 'शान्ति व्यवस्था (peace and order)'. "Public interest' and "interest of justice' are words not even remotely employed by Section 17(3)(b) of the Arms Act, furnishing them to be grounds for cancellation.

15. So far as the words "peace and order' are concerned, that too do not find place in form or substance under Section 17(3)(b) aforesaid. The grounds mentioned in Section 17(3)(b) of the Arms Act are "security of the public peace' and "public safety'. Public safety is a word too remote from the Hindi word "शान्ति व्यवस्था' that the impugned order mentions. Security of the public peace may bear a vague resemblance, but is essentially different. While "शान्ति व्यवस्था' would translate in English to "peace and order', which is not a ground under Section 17(3)(b), "security of the public peace' translates in Hindi to "लोक शान्ति की सुरक्षा' that the Hindi translation of the Statute employs. Clearly, "लोक शान्ति की सुरक्षा' is an expression that envisages a completely different ground from "शान्ति व्यवस्था की दृष्टिकोण से' or "from the point of view of peace and order', the precise ground mentioned in both the orders impugned. Considerations of "peace and order' or "point of view of peace and order' are very different from the expression "security of the public peace'. The expression "security of the public peace' is an idea that envisages a far wider and deeper impact on the maintenance of general public peace than what is envisaged by the expression "point of view of peace and order'. The essential difference in the two expresses or the idea behind the two expressions is the degree of threat to public peace by the action of the licensee involved.

16. The authorities entrusted with power under Section 17 of the Arms Act to cancel a firearms licence, notwithstanding the subjective satisfaction that the Statute postulates while exercising the power, cannot exercise it on a ground not envisaged under the Act. Simply put, mere infractions of public peace or violations of law and order do not constitute that degree of a exacerbated threat or violation of public peace that the expression "security of the public peace' connotes. The Licensing Authority, therefore, must have on record material on the basis of which a reasonable conclusion can be drawn that the act of the licensee is one that is not a mere infraction of public peace or a violation of law and order. There has to be material on the basis of which the Licensing Authority can be credited with subjective satisfaction that the act of the licensee is a threat to security of the public peace. Certainly, this kind of an inference cannot be drawn on the mere registration of a criminal case against a licensee.

17. No doubt, the grant of a licence under the Arms Act is a concession by the State in favour of the licensee, but the State or its Authority, once regulated in the exercise of that concession by Statute, cannot exercise that power arbitrarily, whimsically or on grounds not envisaged under the law. Here, by referring to expressions, such as "public interest', "interest of justice' and "the point of view of peace and order', the Authorities have exercised power on considerations, not at all relevant under the Arms Act.

18. The reasoning on facts that the Appellate Authority has somewhat made efforts to introduce in order to lend some pretense of legitimacy to the exercise of power to cancel, is also ill-founded. This Court has perused the judgment of the 1st Additional Sessions Judge, Kaushambi dated 19.09.2018 in Sessions Trial No.532 of 2009 (arising out of Case Crime No. 61 of 1995), under Sections 147, 148, 307, 427 IPC, P.S. Saini, District Kaushambi. In the clear opinion of this Court, the judgment passed by the learned Additional Sessions Judge does not acquit the petitioner on a benefit of doubt. It orders an acquittal on merits. May be the Appellate Authority could have drawn that inference because four witnesses for the prosecution were declared hostile, but a reading of the judgment shows that the learned Additional Sessions Judge has entered a verdict of acquittal on merits. It also seems rather incongruous as to how the Appellate Authority could look into the judgment passed by the Criminal Court in relation to the sessions trial arising out of Case Crime No. 61 of 1995, inasmuch as the Appellate Authority has passed the order impugned on 01.07.2015, whereas the judgment in Sessions Trial No.532 of 2009 (arising out of Crime No.61 of 1995) has been passed on 19.09.2018 by the learned Additional Sessions Judge, Kaushambi. The findings in this regard by the Appellate Authority, therefore, also seem to be flawed.

19. Possibly, this error has crept in the judgment of the Appellate Authority because he read the judgment passed by the Chief Judicial Magistrate, Kaushambi in Case No. 3651 of 2007, State vs. Raju Agrahari and others (Crime No.199 of 2007), that was passed on 21.10.2014. About this case, the Appellate Authority has remarked that it is still pending. This is also the result of an error apparent, inasmuch as on the date the Appellate Authority decided the appeal, the case arising out of Case Crime No.199 of 2007, had been decided with a verdict of acquittal in favour of the petitioner. This judgment, no doubt, acquits the petitioner, granting him the benefit of doubt. Therefore, most certainly, the Commissioner had read this judgment thinking it to be one relating to Case Crime No.61 of 1995, that had led to a sessions trial decided much later. All these incongruities betray lack of application of mind.

20. In the conspectus of facts that we have found clearly established, the orders impugned passed by the two Authorities below cannot be sustained and must be quashed with consequential relief to the petitioner.

21. In the result, this petition succeeds and is allowed with costs. The impugned order dated 01.07.2015 passed by the Commissioner, Allahabad Division, Allahabad (now Prayagraj) in Appeal No.33 of 2009, Amar Singh vs. State and the order impugned dated 03.12.2008 passed by the District Magistrate, Kaushambi in Case No.107/167 of 2007-08, State vs. Amar Singh, are hereby quashed. The District Magistrate, Kaushambi is ordered to consider granting of renewal of the petitioner's firearms licence as if he had before him an application for renewal of licence never cancelled by the order impugned dated 03.12.2008. The non-renewal because of the orders impugned shall be ignored. The District Magistrate, Kaushambi shall facilitate the petitioner in making the necessary application for renewal of the firearms licence before passing orders thereon, all of which shall be done within a month of receipt of a copy of this judgment.

22. Let this order be communicated to the Commissioner, Prayagraj Division, Prayagraj and the District Magistrate, Kaushambi by the Registrar (Compliance).

Civil Law - U.P. Zamindari Abolition and Land Reforms Act 1950 - Sections 209 &. 210 - Adverse Possession - Mere Possession Vs Adverse Possession - mere long possession over a property without title can not be deemed to be unauthorized or without consent of the original tenure holder unless and until such possession being claimed to be unauthorized or adverse is within the knowledge of the original tenure holder - mere possession irrespective of its length does not necessarily cannote adverse possession against the true owner - For possession over the property to be adverse, requires such possession to be hostile in implied denial of title of the true owner and within his knowledge - The possession must be open and hostile enough to be capable of being known by the parties interested in the property (Para 14, 15, 16, 24)

Land declared surplus - objections filed u/s 11(2) of 1960 Act – In the objections filed by opposite party it was stated that he is in cultivatory adverse possession of the disputed property and has perfected his rights under Section 210 of U.P. Z.A. & L.R. Act in absence of any suit for ejectment - By means of impugned order appeal against order rejecting objections under section 11(2) of the Act 1960 allowed & the entire land held to be surplus was released in favour of opposite party - Held - objection does not indicate the date on which he entered into possession over the property in question - no averment as to when the original tenure holder came into knowledge regarding adverse title and possession being set up by the opposite party to its detriment - appeal allowed primarily taking into account entries in the khasra records from the year 1362 to 1372 fasli indicating name of opposite party No.1 as being in possession over the property in question - khasra entries does not indicate as to whether such possession was permissive or unauthorized without consent of original tenure holder - without satisfying twin conditions required under Section 209 of the Zamindari Abolition Act, possession or retention thereof cannot automatically be deemed to be unauthorized or without consent of the original tenure holder - opposite party No.1 claiming to be in adverse possession over the property in question, failed to substantiate the story of adverse possession - Appellate authority has failed to consider the fact that opposite party No.1 has not been able to make out a case of adverse possession - Impugned order passed by appellate authority quashed (Para 24, 25)

3. T. Anjanappa & ors. Vs. Somalingappa & anr. reported in (2006) 7 SCC 570

(Delivered by Hon'ble Manish Mathur, J.)

1. Heard Mr. Pankaj Srivastava learned Chief Standing Counsel appearing on behalf of petitioner and Mr. V.K. Pandey learned counsel appearing on behalf of respondent.

2. Petition under Article 226 of the Constitution of India has been filed against order dated 25th July, 1998 passed in appeal under section 13 of the U.P. Imposition of Ceiling on Land Holdings Act, 1960 and the consequential orders dated 13th August, 1998 and 25th July, 2001. By means of impugned order dated 25th July, 1998, appeal against order dated 5th July, 1997 rejecting objections under section 11(2) of the Act 1960 has been allowed.

3. Dispute pertains to a tract of land situate in village Puranpurwa, Patihan, Aithpur, Phulwaria, Gajraura which was earlier recorded in the name of original tenure holder Messers Collective Forms and Forest (Private) Limited to whom notices under Section 10(2) of the Act were served and by means of order dated 31st December, 1964, an area of 80 acres was declared surplus. Subsequently objections under Section 11(2) of the Act were filed by the opposite party No.1 on 17th May, 1983. The same were rejected by the prescribed authority vide order dated 15th November, 1990. Appeal there against was allowed vide order dated 29th January, 1992 remanding the case to the prescribed authority for decision afresh.

4. In pursuance to the said order, matter was reconsidered and by means of order dated 29th June, 1995 objections of opposite party No.1 were again rejected. The dispute again went up in appeal and vide order dated 19th August, 1996 it was again remanded for reconsideration by the prescribed authority, allowing the appeal. In pursuance to aforesaid directions, objections of opposite party No.1 were again rejected vide order dated 5th July, 1997, appeal there against being allowed vide impugned order dated 25th July, 1998 whereby the entire land held to be surplus in 1964 was released in favour of opposite party No.1.

5. Initially vide order dated 10th October 2002, the order under challenge was stayed by means of interim directions.

6. Learned State Counsel appearing on behalf of petitioner has submitted that the order dated 5th July 1997 passed by the prescribed authority rejecting objections of opposite party No.1 was reasoned and cogent order based primarily on the fact that the opposite party No.1 claiming to be in adverse possession over the property in question, failed to substantiate the story of adverse possession.

7. It is submitted that the appellate authority by means of impugned order has completely misdirected itself by looking into the aspect of the opposite party No.1 being in possession over property in question without adverting to the fact that opposite party No.1 has failed to substantiate the story of being in adverse possession.

8. Mr. V.K. Pandey learned counsel appearing on behalf of opposite party No.1 refuting submissions advanced by learned counsel for petitioner has submitted that the prescribed authority had clearly erred in ignoring the documentary evidence furnished by the opposite party No.1 pertaining to his possession over property in question. It is submitted that the opposite party No.1 very well proved his possession over the property in question and claim of adverse possession which was proved by the revenue records adduced in evidence clearly indicating name of petitioner over the properties. He has placed reliance on judgments of this Court rendered in the case of Satish Chand Mathur and others versus State of U.P. and others reported in 1996 JLR 151 and the Full bench decision in Abdul Wahid Khan and others versus Deputy Director of Consolidation, Jaunpur and others reported in 1968 ALJ 117 to substantiate that opposite party No.1 had consolidated his right over the property in question in terms of Section 209 and 210 of the U.P. Zamindari Abolition and Land Reforms Act 1950.

9. Upon consideration of submissions advanced by learned counsel for parties and upon perusal of material on record, it is apparent that the prescribed authority rejected objections of opposite party No.2 primarily on the ground that he had been unable to prove his adverse possession over the property in question. It has been recorded that although plea of possession of opposite party no.1 had been taken in terms of Section 145 Cr.P.C. but no documentary evidence was produced to prove the same. It has been recorded that although revenue record such as khasra for the years 1362 fasli to 1372 fasli have been submitted but it also apparent that subsequently during consolidation operations, petitioner's name as being in possession over properties in question has been removed. The order also indicates that the Assistant Registar Kanoongo produced the original khasra records pertaining to years 1378 to 1380 fasli to indicate that the name of opposite party No.1 no longer continued as being in possession over property in question.

10. From perusal of impugned order dated 25th July, 1998 passed in appeal, it is also apparent that appeal has been allowed primarily taking into account entries in the khasra records from the year 1362 to 1372 fasli indicating name of opposite party No.1 as being in possession over the property in question. The appellate authority in terms of said revenue entries has held the opposite party No.1 to be a tenure holder in terms of Section 11(2) of the Act.

11. From the record it transpires that the objections filed by opposite party No.1 were clearly with regard to plots numbers 2M having an area of 9.35 acres and 2M having an area of 5.62 acres situated in vilalge Puranpurwa, Pargana Paliya, District Kheri. The opposite party No.1 has clearly stated that he is in cultivatory adverse possession of the disputed property as held under proceedings under section 145 Cr.pP.C. and has perfected his rights under Section 210 of Zamindari Abolition and Land Reforms Act in absence of any suit for ejectment.

12. It is therefore apparent that the primary claim of opposite party No.1 over the properties in dispute was on the basis of adverse possession against the original tenure holder in terms of Section 209 and 210 of U.P. Zamindari Abolition & Land Reforms Act, 1950, which are as follows:-

"209. Ejectment of persons occupying land without title. - [(1)] A person taking or retaining possession of land otherwise than in accordance with the provisions of the law for the time being in force; and-

(a) where the land forms part of the holding of a bhumidhar, [* ] or asami without the consent of such bhumidhar, [ * ] or asami;

(b) where the land does not form part of the holding of a bhumidhar, [* ] or asami without consent of the [Gaon Sabha], shall be liable to ejectment on the suit in cases referred to in Clause (a) above of the bhumidhar, [* ] or asami concerned and in cases referred to in Clause (b) above of the [Gaon Sabha] [ * ] and shall also be liable to pay damages.

[(2) To every suit relating to a land referred to in Clause (a) of sub-section (1) the State Government shall be impleaded as a necessary party.]

[210. Consequence of failure to the suit under Section 209. - If a suit for eviction from any land under Section 209 is not instituted by a bhumidhar or asami, or a decree for eviction obtained in any such suit is not executed within the period of limitation provided for institution of such suit or the execution of such decree, as the case may be, the person taking or retaining possession shall-

(a) where the land forms part of the holding of a bhumidhar with transferable rights, become a bhumidhar with a transferable rights of such land and the right, title and interest of an asami, if any, in such land shall be extinguished;

(b) where the land forms part of the holding of a bhumidhar with non-transferable rights, become a bhumidhar with non-transferable rights and the right, title and interest of an asami, if any, in such land shall be extinguished;

(c) where the land forms part of the holding of an asami on behalf of the Gaon Sabha, become an asami of the holding from year to year.]

[Provided that the consequences mentioned in Clauses (a) to (c) shall not ensue in respect of any land held by a bhumidhar or asami belonging to a Scheduled Tribe.]"

13. The objection filed by opposite party No.1 on 17th May 1983 does not indicate the date on which he has claimed to have entered into possession over the property in question. There is absolutely no averment as to when the original tenure holder came into knowledge regarding adverse title and possession being set up by the opposite party No.1 to its detriment.

14. Law pertaining to claim of adverse possession is now settled to the effect that mere possession irrespective of its length does not necessarily cannote adverse possession against the true owner. For possession over the property to be adverse, requires such possession to be hostile in implied denial of title of the true owner and within his knowledge.

15. Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of T. Anjanappa and others v. Somalingappa and another reported in (2006) 7 SCC 570 has already indicated conditions under which a plea of adverse possession can succeed. The same are as follows :-

"It is well recognized proposition in law that mere possession however long does not necessarily means that it is adverse to the true owner. Adverse possession really means the hostile possession which is expressly or impliedly in denial of title of the true owner and in order to constitute adverse possession the possession proved must be adequate in continuity, in publicity and in extent so as to show that it is adverse to the true owner. The classical requirements of acquisition of title by adverse possession are that such possession in denial of the true owner's title must be peaceful, open and continuous. The possession must be open and hostile enough to be capable of being known by the parties interested in the property, though it is not necessary that there should be evidence of the adverse possessor actually informing the real owner of the former's hostile action."

16. Upon applicability of the aforesaid judgment in the present case, it is apparent that there is no pleading or evidence produced by the opposite party No.1 on which the plea of adverse possession could succeed. The appellate authority while placing reliance only on alleged possession of opposite party No.1 over the properties in question has clearly overlooked the factor that possession over the properties in question was being claimed by the opposite party No.1 only in terms of adverse possession without fulfiling the requirements to claim such adverse possession.

17. The appellate authority has clearly failed to distinguish between mere possession over property in question and adverse possession as was being claimed by the opposite party No.1. There is absolutely no discussion in the impugned order with regard to claim of adverse possession of the opposite party No.1 who has not even indicated the date on which he claims to have come into possession over property in question or even the date on which the original tenure holder came into knowledge of petitioner's hostile possession and title.

18. The claim of opposite party No.1 pertaining to Sections 209 and 210 of the Act of 1950 are also required to be seen in the context of claim of adverse possession by the opposite party No.1 which he has failed to prove. The Full Bench decision in the case of A.W. Khan (supra) while indicating the provisions of Sections 209 and 210 of the Act 1950, in the considered opinion of this Court would have no applicability since the opposite party No.1 has clearly failed to indicate knowledge of the original tenure holder pertaining to petitioner's hostile possession over the properties in question.

19. Similarly in the case of Satish Chand Mathur (supra), it has been held as follows:-

" The expression 'held' takes in both title and possession. As observed by Hon'ble Supreme Court it means to possess by legal title. What is, therefore, necessary is that the person apart from having title to the land should also have its possession either actual or notional. If a person is not having both title and actual or notional possession of the land, he cannot be said to be holder of the holdings and, therefore, cannot be treated as a tenure-holder. Mere possession, without a title, cannot make a person holder of the holding, unless he has perfected his right by prescription in consequence of adverse possession or his case falls within one of the two explanations appended to the section 5(1) of the Act. Similarly mere title without possession, actual or notional, may not make a man tenure-holder, unless he also has a right to regain possession. ....."

20. Clearly the aforesaid judgment would not be of any help to the opposite party No.1 since it has been clearly held that if a person is not having both title and actual on notional possession of land, he can not be said to be holder of the holdings and therefore can not be treated as a tenure holder. It has been held that mere possession without title can not make a person holder of the holding unless he has perfected his right by prescription in consequence of adverse possession. As such it is apparent that the entire gist of claim of opposite party No.1 over the properties in question being based on adverse possession could not have been allowed by the appellate authority without the opposite party No.1 substantiating his claim for adverse possession as indicated herein above.

21. Learned counsel for opposite party No.1 along with written submissions has annexed a plethora of judgments with regard to rights being perfected under Sections 209 and 210 of the Zamindari Abolition Act. The aforesaid judgments are as follows:-

(1) Hanuman Rai versus Dy. Director of Consolidation ,1973 R.D. 207

(2) Abdul Wahid Khan and others versus Deputy Director of Consolidation, Jaunpur and others, 1968 A.L.J. 118

(3) Ram Charan versus State of U.P. etc, 1978 AWC 677

(4) Ziley Singh versus The State of U.P and others 1978 ALL. L. J. 772

(5) Baldeo Singh versus The State of U.P. and others 1980 LLJ 31

22. In these judgments cited by the opposite party No.1, the single thread which follows pertains to perfection of rights of an unauthorized occupant over the property belonging to a bhumidhar. A reading of the aforesaid clearly indicates that for perfection of such right under Section 209 read with Section 210 of the Zamindari Abolition Act requires that the person taking or retaining possession of land belonging or forming part of the holding of a bhumidhar, sirdar or assami should be otherwise than in accordance with provisions of law i.e. unauthorizedly and further that it should be without consent of such bhumidhar, sirdar or assami.

23. For a person to succeed on the basis of aforesaid Sections 209 and 210 of the Act, therefore requires satisfaction of firstly, that the possession should be otherwise than in accordance with provisions of law i.e. unauthorizedly and secondly, without the consent of the bhumidhar, sirdar or assami to whom it belongs.

24. In the present case, it is apparent from the objections filed by the petitioner that there is no averment as to when the petitioner entered into possession of disputed property otherwise than in accordance with law and that such retention of possession was without consent of the original tenure holder. As has been indicated herein above, mere long possession over a property without title can not be deemed to be unauthorized or without consent of the original tenure holder unless and until such possession being claimed to be unauthorized or adverse is within the knowledge of the original tenure holder.

25. The petitioner has not indicated anywhere in the objection or even thereafter the date when the original tenure holder gained knowledge regarding alleged unauthorized possession of petitioner over the property in question. The khasra entries also relied upon by petitioner does not indicate as to whether such possession was permissive or unauthorized without consent of original tenure holder. As such without the petitioner satisfying twin conditions required under Section 209 of the Zamindari Abolition Act, his possession or retention thereof can not automatically be deemed to be unauthorized or without consent of the original tenure holder. As such the judgments cited by learned counsel for opposite party No.1 are of no avail to him.

26. Since the impugned order passed by the appellate authority has failed to consider the fact that opposite party No.1 has not been able to make out a case of adverse possession, the order dated 25th July, 1998 clearly being unsustainable is quashed by issuance of writ in the nature of Certiorari. Consequential orders dated 13th August, 1998 and 25th July, 2001 are also quashed in consequence thereof.

27. A writ in the nature of Mandamus is issued commanding the opposite parties to correct records pertaining to entries over the properties in question.

28. In the result petition succeeds and is allowed. Parties to bear their own costs.

A. Civil Law – Cancellation of fair price shop license - U.P. Scheduled Commodities Distribution Order, 2004 - Clause 21 and 22 - GO dated 29.07.2004 - Essential Commodities Act, 1955 - Section 3 - Uttar Pradesh Scheduled Commodities Distribution Order 1990 - Sub-clause (1) of clause 4, Clause 22 - Uttar Pradesh food grains and other Essential Articles Distribution Order, 1977 - National Food Security Act, 2013 framed the Uttar Pradesh State Food Security Rules, 2015 - Section 40 - Uttar Pradesh Essential Commodities (Regulation of Sale and Distribution Control) Order 2016: Sub-clause (4) of Clause-8.

Words and Phrases – "full fledged enquiry" - While dealing with an enquiry regarding cancellation of fair price shop license a full fledged enquiry is contemplated which includes serving of the charge-sheet and notifying the licensee of the place and date of hearing during course of enquiry. Supply of enquiry report has also been held to be sine qua non. (Para 9)

It is held that the words "full fledged enquiry" as used by the Full Bench of this Court in the decision of Puran Singh (infra) has to be read in context with paras 4 and 5 of the GO of July 2004 and scheme therein which merely requires adherence to the principles of natural justice and does not provide for a detailed enquiry involving various stages and steps as are required to be met in disciplinary enquiry against a government servant. (Para 47)

After the promulgation of the Control Order 2016, the matter is governed by the said control order which also notices the agreement which is signed between the parties i.e. the licensee and the State Government which partakes the nature of a statutory contract and is nothing but a contract of agency where the licensee conduct activities on behalf of the State, distributing food grains and in return is entitled to a commission and it is clearly a contract of agency, as known in law. (Para 45)

The requirement of entering into an agreement between licensee and the State is also provided in the Distribution Order of 2004. Thus, the position of a licensee remains that of an agent of the State who is appointed to carry out the functions as entrusted to him in terms of the Distribution Order of 2004 and now under the Control Order of 2016 and is governed by the said Control Order and the terms of the agreement. Neither the agreement nor the Distribution Order of 2004 or the Control Order of 2016 envisage an elaborate enquiry nor the same can be claimed by the licensee. (Para 46)

B. Rules of natural justice are not rigid or immutable rules and they are not to be applied in a straight-jacket formula rather these are rules which are flexible to meet the exigencies of a situation. (Para 44)

It is held that the parameters for an enquiry to be conducted against the licensee for the irregularities committed by the licensee in terms of the Distribution of Essential Commodities is on broad principles of natural justice where the competent authority shall provide a show cause notice to the licensee indicating the violations and irregularities committed by the licensee with sufficient particularity to enable him to respond to the same and after affording an opportunity of hearing, the decision can be taken by the competent authority by a reasoned and speaking order. The enquiry envisaged is summary in nature and does not entail a detailed hearing, akin to a departmental enquiry. (Para 47)

The GO of July 2004, indicates the suspension of a fair price shop license will not be done merely on a complaint by a person rather it provides that in case if any complaint is received from any source then first a preliminary enquiry be held. The suspension order/a show cause notice must be passed with a speaking order and must also mention and refer to all such irregularities and violations which have been noticed in the preliminary enquiry to enable the fair price shop owner to respond with particularity. (Para 31)

Clause 4 of the GO of July 2004 also provides that the enquiry in respect of the suspended fair price shop must be completed by the competent authority within a period of one month and the decision to be given by a speaking order after affording full opportunity of hearing to the licensee concerned. It also envisages that the licensee is under responsibility to cooperate in the early hearing and conclusion of the enquiry. (Para 32)

The efforts made by the Government from time to time is clearly to establish an accepted procedure and manner in which the enquiries regarding suspension/cancellation of a fair price shop is to proceed. (Para 42)

Matter to be placed before learned Single Judge at the earliest to decide the same in the light of the reference so answered. (E-4)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Jaspreet Singh, J.)

1. A Single Judge of this Court vide order dated November 29, 2019 passed in Writ Petition No.32679 (M/S) of 2019 noticing a cleavage of opinion in various decisions of Single Judges of this Court in respect of the true import of the scope for enquiry as required to be undertaken while dealing with cancellation of fair price shop license, referred, to a Larger Bench the following two questions:

(a) What are the parameters of principles of natural justice to be followed in inquiries conducted by Licensing Authority on complaints of irregularities in the distribution of Essential Commodities?

(b) Whether the observation made in Paragraph 35 of the Full Bench decision in Puran Singh and others Vs. State of U.P. and others (2010) 2 UPLBED 947 regarding holding of "full fledged enquiry" after suspension of license can be read in such a manner as would require the whole gamut of steps required in disciplinary proceedings of Government servants to be followed?

2. The writ petition was filed by the petitioner impugning the order dated September 16, 2019 passed by Joint Commissioner (Food), Lucknow Division, Lucknow upholding the order dated April 4, 2019 passed District Supply Officer, Lucknow cancelling fair price shop license of the petitioner.

3. The grievance of the petitioner raised before the appellate authority as well as before this Court was that before cancelling the fair price shop license of the petitioner, no opportunity of hearing was afforded.

4. Taking into consideration various judgments cited by learned counsel for both the parties, the Single Judge referred the aforesaid questions for consideration by a Larger Bench.

5. The facts, as have been recorded in the reference order passed by learned Single Judge are being noticed hereinbelow, in brief.

6. The petitioner was a licensee of a fair price shop of Alambagh in Lucknow City. He distributed essential commodities to various card-holders as per their entitlement. On August 28, 2018, an F.I.R. was registered against the petitioner under Section 3/4 of Essential Commodities Act, 1955 at Police Station Alambagh, District Lucknow. Immediately thereafter, District Supply Officer vide order dated September 1, 2018 suspended the fair price shop license of the petitioner and directed him to submit the explanation. The F.I.R. registered against the petitioner was challenged by him by filing Writ Petition No.25409 (MB) of 2018. The same was dismissed as withdrawn but with certain observations regarding investigation being conducted in the matter.

7. The petitioner made a detailed representation against the order of suspension of his fair price shop license dated September 1, 2018, on which explanation was called for. It was alleged that neither the reply of the petitioner was considered nor any final order was passed. The appeal was preferred before the Commissioner challenging the suspension of fair price shop license dated September 1, 2018. The same was disposed of vide order dated January 31, 2019 directing District Supply Officer to conduct an enquiry in the matter and pass a speaking order.

8. After the aforesaid order was passed, a report was called from Regional Food Officer, who vide his letter dated February 25, 2019, reported certain irregularities in the record of the petitioner. The copy of the report was not given to him. However, vide order dated April 4, 2019, fair price shop license of the petitioner was cancelled. Against the aforesaid order, the petitioner preferred an appeal. The aforesaid appeal preferred by the petitioner was dismissed by the Appellate Authority, Joint Commissioner (Food), Lucknow Division, Lucknow vide order dated September 16, 2019. Challenging the aforesaid orders, present writ petition has been filed in this Court.

9. The issue has cropped up in view of the fact that in quite a few decisions, the learned Single Judges of this Court, have opined that while dealing with an enquiry regarding cancellation of fair price shop license a full fledged enquiry is contemplated which includes serving of the charge-sheet and notifying the licensee of the place and date of hearing during course of enquiry. Supply of enquiry report has also been held to be sine qua non. (See, Santara Devi Vs. State of U.P. and others 2016 (2) ADJ 70) The aforesaid decision of Santara Devi has been followed by another Single Judge of this Court in Ansar Khan Vs. State of U.P. & others 2018 (141) RD 586. The other decisions which follow the similar reasoning are Writ-C No.12737 of 2013 (Ashok Kumar Tiwari Vs. State of U.P. and others) Writ Petition No.26319 (M/S) of 2019 (Vishwajeet Singh Vs. State of U.P. and others)

10. On the other side is the decision of another Single Judge of this Court in the case of Meena Devi Vs. State of U.P. and others 2018 (10) ADJ 385 wherein the learned Single Judge considering the challenge to an order by which fair price shop license was cancelled, the Court dismissed the writ petition, observing that a fair price licensee is only an agent for distribution of scheduled commodities under public distribution system which has been devised to help the poor and needy for supply of subsidized food grains and since such a licensee cannot claim any violation of fundamental rights hence if a show cause notice is given to the licensee and noticing his reply and after affording an opportunity of hearing if any order is passed, the same would suffice and there is no violation of a fundamental rights akin to Article 311 of the Constitution of India.

11. Noticing the divide between the two sets of opinions, the matter has been referred as hereinabove noted for answering the two questions as framed. Before answering the aforesaid questions, it will be relevant to notice the scheme as envisaged by help of the relevant statutory provisions.

12. Since in the opinion of many learned Single Judges, reference and reliance has been placed on the Full Bench decision of this Court in Puran Singh's case (supra), thus, it will be apposite to notice the issue before the Full Bench.

13. The question referred before the Full Bench of Puran Singh's case (supra) was whether before suspension of a fair price shop licensee, an opportunity of hearing is mandatory and on failure thereof, the suspension order is liable to be set aside.

14. Answering the aforesaid reference, the Full Bench of this Court after noticing the Scheme of the distribution of essential commodities as well as the U.P. Scheduled Commodities Distribution Order, 2004 as well as the Government Order dated 29.07.2004 in para 50 to 52 of the said judgment held as under:-

"50. In view of the aforesaid it is clear that in the Government Order dated 29.7.2004 there is no contemplation of any notice and opportunity before suspending the fair price shop, rather there is a clear stipulation that the authority can pass the order of suspension at the time of surprise inspection and otherwise also if complaint of serious irregularity is received.

51. Opportunity will be required only before order of cancellation. This is also clearly provided in the Distribution Order, 2004, the provisions of which has an overriding effect on the Government Order dated 29.7.2004. In terms of the Distribution Order of 2004 parties are to sign draft/agreement with a clear stipulation of the power of the authority to pass the order of suspension.

52. On the basis of the above analysis we answer both the questions so referred as below:

(i) Before suspension of fair price agreement it is not mandatory to give an opportunity of hearing and thus on the plea of its violation, the order of suspension is not liable to be set aside.

(ii) Division Bench judgments in Pramod Kumar v. State of U.P. reported in 2007 (1) ALJ 407 and Harpal v. State of U.P. reported in 2008 (4) ALJ 10 holding that opportunity is must does not lay down the correct law."

15. Before proceeding further, it will be relevant to note that Article 47 of the Constitution of India contained in Part-IV of the Constitution under Directive Principles of State Policy provides that the State shall regard the raising of the level of nutrition and the standard of living of its people and the improvement of public health as among its primary duties and, in particular, the State shall endeavour to bring about prohibition of the consumption except for medicinal purposes of intoxicating drinks and of drugs which are injurious to health.

16. After the country gained independence the Essential Commodities Act, 1955 replaced the earlier legislation on the subject i.e. Essential Commodities Act, 1915.

17. Section 3 of the Essential Commodities Act, 1955 confers power to control production, supply distribution etc. of essential commodities. It is in furtherance thereof that the various State Governments have been endevouring to device a mechanism for effective distribution of food grains and other essential articles and the State Governments in exercise of powers derived from Section 3 of the Essential Commodities Act, 1955 have issued various distribution control orders which have remained effective from time to time in order to achieve the said object as enshrined in Article 47 of the Constitution of India.

18. In taking the Constitution principles ahead the State of U.P. had promulgated the Uttar Pradesh Scheduled Commodities Distribution Order 1990 which rescinded the earlier Distribution Order i.e. Uttar Pradesh food grains and other Essential Articles Distribution Order, 1977. The Distribution Order 1990 in Clause -3 envisaged the setting up of a fair price shop and in Clause-4 it provided that a fair price shop shall be run through such person and in such manner as the Collector, subject to the direction of the State Government may order.

19. Significantly, it also clearly provided that a person appointed to run a fair price shop under sub-clause (1) of clause 4 of the Distribution Order 1990 shall act as the agent of the State Government. Clause 22 of the Distribution Order 1990 also provided that the agent shall observe such conditions as the State Government or the Collector may by an order in writing direct from time to time in respect of opening of shop, maintenance of stocks, supply and distribution of scheduled commodities, maintenance of accounts, keeping of accounts, filing returns and issue of receipts to identity card holders and other matters.

20. This Distribution Order of 1990 was superseded by the promulgation of Uttar Pradesh Scheduled Commodities Distribution Order 2004, which came into effect from December 20, 2004. The instant Distribution Order 2004 made qualitative changes to ensure the effective maintenance of supplies of food grains and other essential commodities and also securing their equitable distribution and availability at fair prices.

21. Clause 4 which related to running of a fair price shop was quite similar to the Clause 4 of the Distribution Order of 1990. However, it incorporated sub-clause (3) to clause 4 and Clause 4 reads as under:-

"4. Running of fair price- (1) A fair price shop shall be run through such person and in such manner as the Collector, subject to the directions of the State Government may decide,

(2) A person appointed to run a fair price shop under sub-clause (1) shall act as the agent of the State Government.

(3) A person appointed to run a fair price shop under sub-clause (1) shall sign an agreement, as directed by the State Government regarding running of the fair price shop as per the draft appended to this order before the competent authority prior to the coming with effect of the said appointment. "

22. It also incorporated Clause 21 which related to monitoring in accordance with the order issued by the State Government amongst others. However, for present matter at hand Clause 21 and 22 of the said Distribution Order of 2004 are relevant and are being reproduced hereinafter for ready reference:-

21. Monitoring in accordance with the order issued by the State Government. -(1) A Food Officer shall ensure regular inspection of fair price shop in his area not less than once in a month in urban area and not less than once in a month in rural area by the supply inspector. The State Government may issue order specifying the inspection schedule, list of checkpoints and authority responsible for ensuring compliance of the said order.

(3)(i) Competent authority shall ensure constitution of Vigilance Committees, Administrative Committee (Gram Sabha Level) at fair price shop which shall monitor the functioning of the fair price shop.

(ii) Meeting of such Committees shall be held on regular basis and in a manner as directed by the State Government.

(4) Competent Authority shall ensure a periodic system of reporting and the complete information in this regard shall be sent in the prescribed form as follows:

(i) By fair price shops to the District Authorities by the 7th of the month following the month for which allocation is made in Form-A.

(ii) By the District Authorities to State Government by 15th of the Month following the month for which allocation is made in Form-B.

(5) Competent authority shall ensure that Scheduled Commodities are made available to agents in accordance with the roster prescribed by the State Government in this regard.

(6) Monthly allocation of food grains, sugar, kerosene and other Scheduled commodities shall be supplied to the agent only and that only on receipt of a certificate, issued by the concerning Vigilance Committee, Administrative Committee duly countersigned by the supply or Senior Supply Inspector or Village Development Officer of the area clearly mentioning that prior month's allocations have been distributed by the agent in accordance with the rules.

(7) Competent authority shall ensure delivery of one copy of allocation order made to fair price shop simultaneously to Gram Panchayat or Nagar Palika or Nagar Nigam as the case may be and Vigilance Committees or any other body nominated for monitoring the functioning of the fair price shops by the State Government.

(8) Competent authority and Food Officer shall check the diversion, substitution or adulteration of Scheduled Commodities.

22. Power of entry, search, seizure, etc.-(1) The Food Officer, the Competent Authority, the Senior Supply Inspector or Supply Inspector may within his jurisdiction with such assistance if any, as he thinks fit

(a) Require the owner, occupier or any other person in charge of any place, premises, vehicles or vessels in which he has reason to believe that any contravention of the provisions of this order has been or is being, or is about to be made, to produce any book, account or other documents showing transaction relating to such contravention;

(b) Enter, inspect or break open and search any place or premises, vehicle or vessel in which he has reason to believe that any contravention of the provisions of this order has been or is being or is about to be made,

(c) Examine and seize any books of accounts and documents which in the opinion of such officer may be useful for or relevant to any proceeding under this order and return such books of accounts and documents to the person from whom they were seized after copies thereof or extracts therefrom as may be considered necessary and certified by the person to be correct have been taken:-

(d) Seize any scheduled commodities, if he is satisfied that there has been in contravention of this order:

(e) Send a report as provided in Section 6 (a) of the Act to the Collector of the District in which such seizure is made and the Collector may thereafter proceed to confiscate the scheduled commodities, animals, vehicles, vessels or other conveyance so seized in accordance with the provisions of the Act.

(2) The provisions of Section 100 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 (Act No 2 of 1974) relating to search shall as far as may apply to search under this clause.

23. It is in furtherance thereof the State Government issued various Government Order for effective implementation of the scheme as well as to ensure equitable distribution of the food grains and essential commodities at fair prices. In order to ensure effective checks and balances one such Government Order was issued on July 29, 2004.

24. The legal position relating to licensee of fair price shop remained covered by the aforesaid Distribution Order of 2004 and the relevant Government Orders issued from time to time. However, then came the National Food Securities Act, 2013. The said Act came into effect from September 10, 2013 and was introduced as an Act to provide for food and nutritional security in human life cycle approach, by ensuring access to adequate quantity of quality food at affordable prices to people to live a life with dignity and for matters connected therewith or incidental thereto.

25. This Act also envisaged running of fair price shop but also introduced the concept of identifying eligible house holds. The State of U.P. in exercise of powers under Section 40 of the National Food Security Act, 2013 framed the Uttar Pradesh State Food Security Rules, 2015. This advent made by the State Government led to the promulgation of the Uttar Pradesh Essential Commodities (Regulation of Sale and Distribution Control) Order 2016 which came into effect from August 10, 2016. Clause 19 of the Control Order of 2016 repelled the Distribution Order 2004.

26. In the Control Order of 2016 a mechanism was deviced for appointment and regulation of fair price shop. Clause-8 provides a detailed mechanism for operation of fair price shops which also includes conferring powers on the competent authority to suspend or cancel their fair price shop owner's license. Clause 8 of the Distribution Order of 2016 is being reproduced herein after for ready reference:-

8. Operation of fair price shop:- The fair price shop owner shall disburse food grains to the ration card holders as per his entitlement under the Targeted Public Distribution System.

(2) A ration card holder may draw his full entitlements of food grains in more than one installment:-

(iii) the fair price shop owner shall not retain the ration cards after the supply of food grains.

(iv) the license issued by the State Government to the fair price shop owner shall lay down the duties and the responsibilities of the fair price shop owner, which shall include, inter alia-

(i) sale of food grains as per the entitlement of ration card holders under the Targeted Public Distribution System at the prescribed retail issue price:-

(ii) display of information on a notice board at a prominent place in the shop on daily basis regarding (a) entitlement of food grains, (b) scale of issue, (c) retail issue prices, (d) timings of opening and closing of the fair price shop including lunch break, if any, (e) stock of food grains received during the month, (f) opening and closing stock of food grains, (g) the mechanism including authority for redressal of grievances with respect to quality and quantity of food grains under the Targeted Public Distribution System, and (h) toll-free helpline number,

(iii) maintenance of the records of ration card holders, e.g. stock register, issue or sale register shall be in the form prescribed by the State Government including in the electronic format in a progressive number.

(iv) display of samples of food grains being supplied through the fair price shop,

(v) production of books and records relating to the allotment and distribution of food grains to the inspecting agency and furnishing of such information as may be called for by the designated authority:

(vi) the shop keeper shall in the end of each month submit a detail description of receipt of food grain and other essential commodities actual distribution during the month and remaining balance of stock to designated officer who will sent a compilation of all each certificates under his area of appointment to the competent authority:

(vii) opening and closing of the fair price shop as per the prescribed timings displayed on the notice board.

(5) Any ration card holder desirous of obtaining extracts from the records of a fair price shop owner may make a written request to the owner along with the deposit of the fees specified by order by the State Government. The fair price shop owner shall provide such extracts of records to the ration card holder within fourteen days from the date of receipt of a request and the said fee.

Provided that the State Government may prescribe the period for which the records are to be kept for providing the ration card holder by the fair price shop owner,

(6) The State Government shall prescribe the procedure to be followed by the designated authority in cases where the fair price shop owner does not provide the records in the manner referred in sub-clause (5) to the ration card holder in the stipulated period and the designated authority in each case shall ensure that the records are provided to the ration card holder without any undue delay.

(7) The Competent authority shall take prompt action in respect of violation of any condition of license including any irregularity committed by the fair price shop owner, which any include suspension or cancellation of the fair price shop owner's license.

(8) The maximum period within which proceedings relating to enquiry into irregularities committed by the fair price shop owner shall be concluded. resulting in any action as under sub-clause (7) shall be two months.

(9) In case of suspension or cancellation of the agreement, the Competent authority shall make alternative arrangements for ensuring uninterrupted supply of food grains to the eligible households:

Provided that in case of cancellation of the agreement of the fair price shop owner, new agreement shall be issued within a month of cancellation.

(10) The State Government shall furnish complete information on action taken against a fair price shop owner under this clause annually to the Central Government in the format at Annexure-V.

27. This Control Order of 2016 also introduced a mechanism to monitor the functioning of the fair price shops and effective measure for transparency and accountability.

28. From the perusal of the aforesaid provisions, it would indicate that even under the Control Order of 2016 a person appointed to run a fair price shop under clause-7 is required to enter into an agreement with the State Government. It would further indicate that sub-clause (4) of Clause-8 of the Control Order, 2016 also lays down the duties and responsibilities of the fair price shop owner which includes the duty to display information regarding the entitlement of the food grains, sale of issue, timings or opening and closing of the fair price shop, stock of food grains received during the month, opening and closing stock of the food grains amongst other. The record are required to be maintained including in electronic format, It has also cast a duty on the competent authority to take action in respect of violation made by the licensee including or any irregularities committed and the power to take action against such violation and irregularities include empowers to suspend or cancell the license. It also envisages that an enquiry instituted for irregularities committed by a fair price shop owner shall be concluded maximum within a period of two months. An order passed against the appointment, suspension and cancellation of a fair price shop by the competent authority is appealable before the Divisional Commissioner which is also required to be disposed of within a period of 60 days.

29. In the aforesaid backdrop, it will be seen that prior to promulgation of the Control Order of 2016 and while the Distribution Order of 2004 was in operation primarily three Government Orders issued by the State Government; (i) dated 29th of July, 2004; (ii) 16th of October, 2014; and (iii) 15th/16th of December, 2015 were holding the field.

30. The Government Order of 29th of July, 2004 provided a procedure relating to suspension and cancellation of the license of a fair price shop owner and the relevant Clause 2, 3, 4, 5, 6 and 7 are relevant which reads as under:-

"2. उक्त पृष्ठभूमि में मुझे यह कहने का निदेश हुआ है कि ग्रामीण एवं शहरी क्षेत्रों की उचित दर की दुकानों के निलम्बन/निरस्तीकरण के सम्बन्ध में निम्न प्रक्रिया का पालन किया जाए।

;पद्ध उचित दर की दुकान का निलम्बन मात्र किसी व्यक्ति की शिकायत के आधार पर नहीं किया जाये। यदि किसी दुकानदान के विरूद्ध किसी स्रोत से शिकायत प्राप्त होती है तो पहले उसकी प्रारम्भिक जॉच करायी जाये। यदि प्रारम्भिक जॉच में दुकानदार के विरूद्ध ऐसी गम्भीर अनियमितताएं प्रथम दृष्टया सिद्ध हो रहीं हों जिनके आधार पर दुकानदार की दुकान निरस्त होने की सम्भावना हो तभी दुकान को निलम्बित किया जाये और साथ ही साथ दुकानदार को कारण बताओ नोटिस जारी किया जाये कि उसकी दुकान क्यों न निरस्त कर दी जाये। यदि प्रारम्भिक जॉच में पाया जाये कि अनियमितता इतनी गम्भीर नहीं है कि दुकान के निरस्तीकरण की सम्भावना हो तो केवल कारण बताओ नोटिस जारी किया जाये। निलम्बन आदेश/ कारण बताओ नोटिस एक ''स्पीकिंग आर्डर'' होना चाहिए तथा उसमें प्रारम्भिक जॉच में पायी गयी उन सभी अनियमितताओं का विवरण होना चाहिए जिनका उत्तर दुकानदान से अपेक्षित हो।

;पपद्ध (क) खाद्य विभाग के अधिकारियों/ जिला प्रशासन के अधिकारियों/ अन्य प्राधिकृत व्यक्तियों द्वारा उचित दर की दुकान के आकस्मिक निरीक्षण के दौरान यदि पाया जाता है कि दुकानदार द्वारा कोई गम्भीर अनियमितता की गयी है तो भी दुकान को नियुक्ति अधिकारी द्वारा अपने विवेक का प्रयोग करते हुए निलम्बित किया जा सकता है।

(ख) खाद्य विभाग के अधिकारियों/ जिला प्रशासन के अधिकारियों/ अन्य प्राधिकृत व्यक्तियों द्वारा यदि दुकानदार कोई अनियमित कार्य, वितरण में गड़बड़ी या अनुसूचित वस्तुओं की कालाबाजारी करते हुए पकड़ा जाता है तो भी नियुक्ति अधिकारी द्वारा अपने विवेक का प्रयोग करते हुए दुकान को निलम्बित किया जा सकता है।

उक्त परिस्थितियों में दुकान के निलम्बन की स्थिति में भी ''स्पीकिंग आर्डर'' से निलम्बन आदेश जारी किया जायेगा जिसमें सभी अनियमितताओं का उल्लेख होगा तथा दुकानदार को कारण बताओ नोटिस जारी किया जायेग कि क्यों न उसकी दुकान निरस्त कर दी जाये।

3. उक्त प्रकार से यदि उचित दर की कोई दुकान निलम्बित की जाती है तो उसका सम्बद्धीकरण गांव/ शहर की (जैसी भी स्थिति हो) सबसे निकट की उचित दर की दुकान से किया

4. निलम्बित की गयी दुकान के विरूद्ध जॉच की कार्यवाही अधिकतम एक माह में अनिवार्य रूप से पूरी की जायेगी तथा जॉच में सम्बन्धित दुकानदार को सुनवाई का पूरा मौका दिया जायेगा। सम्बन्धित दुकानदार का यह दायित्व होगा कि वह जॉच में अपना पूरा सहयोग दे ताकि जॉच का कार्य जल्दी से जल्दी पूरा किया जा सके तथा नियुक्ति प्राधिकारी द्वारा प्रकरण में गुण–दोष के आधार पर अन्तिम निर्णय लिया जा सके। यदि दुकानदार द्वारा जॉच में सहयोग नही दिया जा रहा हो और जॉच में विलम्ब करने का प्रयास किया जा रहा हो तो दुकानदार को इस आशय का भी नोटिस जारी किया जायेगा और अपना पक्ष रखने का अन्तिम अवसर प्रदान किया जायेगा।

5. जॉच की कार्यवाही अधिकतम एक माह में पूर्ण करके नियुक्ति प्राधिकारी द्वारा प्रकरण में अन्तिम निर्णय लिया जायेगा और गुण–दोष के आधार पर एक ''स्पीकिंग आर्डर'' जारी किया जायेगा। इस आदेश में यह स्पष्ट उल्लेख होना चाहिए कि सम्बन्धित दुकानदार को सुनवाई का अवसर दिया गया और उसे सुना गया। यदि दुकानदार ने जॉच में सहयोग नहीं किया हो और सुनवाई के अवसर का जानबूझकर उपयोग न किया हो तो अन्तिम आदेश में इस बात का भी पूरा उल्लेख होना चाहिए कि दुकानदार को अवसर प्रदान किया गया तथा अन्तिम नोटिस दिया गया परन्तु उसने जानबूझकर अवसर का उपयोग किया और जॉच में सहयोग नहीं किया।

7. नियुक्ति प्राधिकारी उपरोक्त आदेशों का कड़ाई से पालन करेंगे और कार्यवाही के लिए ऊपर दी गयी समय सारिणी को सुनिश्चित करेंगे। समय सारिणी के अनुसार जॉच की कार्यवाही एक माह में तथा दुकान के निरस्तीकरण की स्थिति में एक और माह नयी नियुक्ति के लिए निर्धारित है। अतः निलम्बित/ निरस्त दुकान का किसी अन्य दुकान से सम्बद्धीकरण अधिकतम दो माह के लिए होगा।''

31. From the perusal of the Government Order of July 2004, it indicates that the suspension of a fair price shop license will not be done merely on a complaint by a person rather it provides that in case if any complaint is received from any source then first a preliminary enquiry be held. In case if during the preliminary enquiry certain serious violations and irregularities came to the fore which prima facie may give rise to such grounds which may possibly lead to cancellation of the license, if established, then the license can be suspended and simultaneously the fair price shop owner shall be issued with a show cause notice as to why his license may not be cancelled. In case, in the preliminary enquiry the violations are not found to be serious then merely a show cause notice can be issued. However, the suspension order/a show cause notice must be passed with a speaking order and must also mention and refer to all such irregularities and violations which have been noticed in the preliminary enquiry to enable the fair price shop owner to respond with particularity.

32. Clause 4 of the Government Order of July 2004 also provides that the enquiry in respect of suspended fair price shop must be completed within a period of one month after affording full opportunity of hearing to the licensee concerned. It also envisages that the licensee is under responsibility to co-operate in the early hearing and conclusion of the enquiry and in case the licensee does not co-operate or attempts to delay then he can also be issued with a notice to the aforesaid effect by requiring him to furnish his reply as a last opportunity. The competent authority is required to conclude the enquiry within a period of one month and to give his decision by a speaking order.

33. At this stage, it will be relevant to notice that the aforesaid Government Order of July 2004 came up for consideration before a Full Bench of this Court in Puran Singh and others Vs. State of U.P. and others (2010) 2 UPLBEC 947. The Full Bench was required to answer the question before it: (i) whether before suspension of fair price agreement an opportunity of hearing is mandatory to be given to the fair price shop agent in violation of which the suspension order is liable to be set aside? (ii) Whether the Division Bench Judgment in 2007 (1) ALJ 407 Pramod Kumar Vs. State of U.P. and others and 2008 (4) ALJ 10 Har Pal Vs. State of U.P. and others lay down the correct law that opportunity is must or whether the Division Bench in Gopi's case lays down the correct law.

34. In the aforesaid backdrop the Full Bench noticed that the Distribution Order of 2004 so also the Government Order dated 29th of July, 2004 and in para 50 of the said judgment, it answered the question in the negative as already noticed in the former part of this opinion.

35. From the perusal of the decision of the Full Bench it is evident that it is not mandatory to give an opportunity of hearing before an order of suspension of licensee is passed nor does its violation affect the validity of the suspension order simplicitor on the ground of having been passed without granting an opportunity of hearing. It also held that the Division Bench Judgment of Pramod Kumar (supra) and Harpal (supra) does not lay down the correct law.

36. In para 45 of the Full Bench decision it was held that the grant of fair price shop license does not fall within the category of fundamental right to carry on business as provided in Article 19 (1)(g) of the Constitution of India. Para 45 reads as under:-

"It has been further held by the Bench that power of suspension if exercised in public interest does not by itself cause prejudice to the licensee. These kind of licenses does not fall within a category of fundamental right to carry on their business as provided in Article 19(1)(g) of the Constitution of India."

37. Incidentally while considering the questions as noticed above, the Full Bench in para 35 has observed as under:-

"35. Para 4 and 5 of the Government Order clearly permits full fledged enquiry pursuant to the show cause notice for cancellation and then final decision in the matter. So far the order of suspension is concerned Government Order do not provide any appeal and at the same time there was no contemplation of signing an agreement as was made obligatory pursuant to Distribution Order of 2004."

38. The word used in the first sentence of aforesaid para 35 that "para 4 and 5 of the Government Order clearly permits full fledged enquiry pursuant to show cause notice for cancellation and then final decision in the matter" has been interpreted in various decision of the Single Judges to mean a full fledged enquiry as noticed in the case of Santara Devi (supra). This view is in divergence with the decision of another Single Judge of this Court in the case of Meena Devi (supra) and thus the issue has been placed before the Larger Bench.

39. Taking the matter forward, the State Government also issued a Government Order dated 16th of October, 2014 wherein it noticed that the enquiry relating to violation of fair price shop has revealed that these are not being conducted in a manner which prima facie established that they are being done in fair and transparent manner. It also noticed that during enquiry it is not being noticed whether relevant endorsements are being made by the fair price shop owner on the ration cards of the consumers and without verifying and cross checking the relevant endorsement, merely on the basis of complaint made by a person, the enquiries are being proceeded. Thus to avoid perpetuation of the said discrepancy the Government in furtherance to the Government Order dated 29th of July, 2004 it incorporated Clause-4 which reads as under:-

4- उक्त के दृष्टिगतसम्यक विचारोपरान्त शासनादेश् दिनांक 29–07–2004 के क्रम में यह व्यवस्था भी की जाती है कि उचित दर दुकानों के विरूद्व वितरण में की गयी वितरण की प्रविष्टियों के मिलान हेतु कार्डधारकों के राशन कार्ड में दुकानदार द्वारा की गई प्रविष्ठियों का संज्ञान भी अनिवार्य रूप से लिया जाये और यह चेक किया जाये कि राशनकार्ड में अंकित प्रविष्ठियाँ दुकानदार के रजिस्टर में अंकित प्रविष्ठियों के अनुरूप है। साथ ही शिकायतकर्ता व अन्य सम्बन्धित पक्षों का कथन अंकित करते समय उनका प्रतिपरीक्षण भी अवश्य किया जाये ताकि जाँच कार्यवाही की निष्पक्षता प्रथम दृष्टया स्थापित हो एवं अनावश्यक लिटिगेशन की स्थिति उत्पन्न न हो।"

40. The attempt made by the State Government vide Government Order dated 16th of October, 2014 was to avoid any unnecessary litigation. To achieve that it provided that the competent authority shall record the gist of the statements of the complainant and other connected persons and also cross examine them to verify the veracity of the complaints and statements and also to examine and cross check the entries and endorsement made in the records maintained in the office regarding distribution of food grains and essential commodities to the shopkeepers and the license holder and regarding its distribution to the consumers and the endorsement made on the ration cards of such consumers and after verifying the same, it may proceed as this would curtail unnecessary litigation as much could be screened to verify the genuineness of the complaint and would also inspire confidence and transparency in case any enquiry is proceeded against a fair price shop owner.

41. Once again the State Government on 16th of December, 2015 issued a Government Order directing that in respect of any proceedings regarding suspension/cancellation of a fair price shop, the Sub Divisional Officer concerned shall maintain a proper order-sheet indicating dates of hearing and the order passed on such date so as to bring in transparency.

42. The efforts made by the Government from time to time is clearly to establish an accepted procedure and manner in which the enquiries regarding suspension/cancellation of a fair price shop is to proceed. In the aforesaid context, it would be seem that the Full Bench in Puran Singh (supra) has clearly held that the fair price shop licenses are not akin to the right by doing business as protected under Article 19 (1)(g) of the Constitution of India and noticing the provisions of the Government Order of July 2004 where there is an elaboration regarding issuance of a show cause notice which must contain the material and findings surfaced in the preliminary enquiry to enable the licensee to know the charge against him so that he can reply to the same which sufficient particularity. It also contemplates the conclusion of the enquiry within a period of one month and it is incumbent upon the competent authority to give its decision by a speaking order. It is in this context that the Full Bench used the word full fledged enquiry specifically relating to Clause 4 and 5 of the Government Order of July 2004.

43. The process of grant of opportunity of hearing and holding a fair and just enquiry is inbuilt in the provision of Government Order dated 29th of July, 2004. With the advent of the Government Order of October 2014 and December 2015 as noticed above. It further clarifies the position that the licensee must be made aware of the violation and irregularities which have been found, upon which it is proposed to move against the licensee, either for suspension or cancellation so that he can place his reply with sufficient particularity which must be decided by a speaking order and order-sheet of the proceeding is also to be maintained scrupulously to bring in transparency and fairness in the enquiry so held.

44. Rules of natural justice are not rigid or immutable rules and they are not to be applied in a straight-jacket formula rather these are rules which are flexible to meet the exigencies of a situation. The Apex Court in the case of A.S. Motors Private Limited v. Union of India and others, (2013) 10 SCC 114 in Paragraphs 7 and 8 in reference to cancellation of contract viz-a-viz violation of principles of natural justice has held as under:-

"7. It was argued on behalf of the appellant that the termination of the contract between the parties was legally bad not only because the principles of natural justice requiring a fair hearing to the appellant were not complied with but also because there was no real basis for the respondent Authority to hold that the appellant had committed any breach of the terms and conditions of the contract warranting its termination. We find no merit in either one of the contentions. The reasons are not far to see.

8. Rules of natural justice, it is by now fairly well settled, are not rigid, immutable or embodied rules that may be capable of being put in straitjacket nor have the same been so evolved as to apply universally to all kind of domestic tribunals and enquiries. What the courts in essence look for in every case where violation of the principles of natural justice is alleged is whether the affected party was given reasonable opportunity to present its case and whether the administrative authority had acted fairly, impartially and reasonably. The doctrine of audi alteram partem is thus aimed at striking at arbitrariness and want of fair play. Judicial pronouncements on the subject have, therefore, recognised that the demands of natural justice may be different in different situations depending upon not only the facts and circumstances of each case but also on the powers and composition of the tribunal and the rules and regulations under which it functions. A court examining a complaint based on violation of rules of natural justice is entitled to see whether the aggrieved party had indeed suffered any prejudice on account of such violation. To that extent there has been a shift from the earlier thought that even a technical infringement of the rules is sufficient to vitiate the action. Judicial pronouncements on the subject are legion. We may refer to only some of the decisions on the subject which should in our opinion suffice."

45. At this stage, it will be relevant to notice that after the promulgation of the Control Order 2016, the matter is governed by the said control order which also notices the agreement which is signed between the parties i.e. the licensee and the State Government which partakes the nature of a statutory contract and is nothing but a contract of agency where the licensee conduct activities on behalf of the State, distributing food grains and in return is entitled to a commission and it is clearly a contract of agency, as known in law.

46. The requirement of entering into an agreement between licensee and the State is also provided in the Distribution Order of 2004. Thus, the position of a licensee remains that of an agent of the State who is appointed to carry out the functions as entrusted to him in terms of the Distribution Order of 2004 and now under the Control Order of 2016 and is governed by the said Control Order and the terms of the agreement. Accordingly, it cannot be said that the enquiry as required to be held against the licensee for suspension or cancellation is akin to a disciplinary enquiry which is against a government servant. Neither the agreement nor the Distribution Order of 2004 or the Control Order of 2016 envisage an elaborate enquiry nor the same can be claimed by the licensee.

47. Thus, we answer the reference as under:-

(i) It is held that the parameters for an enquiry to be conducted against the licensee for the irregularities committed by the licensee in terms of the Distribution of Essential Commodities is on broad principles of natural justice where the competent authority shall provide a show cause notice to the licensee indicating the violations and irregularities committed by the licensee with sufficient particularity to enable him to respond to the same and after affording an opportunity of hearing, the decision can be taken by the competent authority by a reasoned and a speaking order. The enquiry envisaged is summary in nature and does not entail a detailed hearing, akin to a departmental enquiry;

(ii) It is held that the words "full fledged enquiry" as used by the Full Bench of this Court in the decision of Puran Singh (supra) has to be read in context with paras 4 and 5 of the Government Order of July 2004 and the scheme therein which merely requires adherence to the principles of natural justice and does not provide for a detailed enquiry involving various stages and steps as are required to be met in disciplinary enquiry against a government servant.

48. Having answered the question referred now, the matter be placed before the learned Single Judge at the earliest to decide the same in light of the reference so answered.

A. Civil Law – Tenancy – Ejectment – Determination of mesne profits - Immovable Property under the Wealth Tax Act, 1957 - Section 34 AB; Provincial Small Causes Courts Act - Section 25 - The tenant continuing in occupation of the tenancy premises after the termination of tenancy is an unauthorized and wrongful occupant and a decree for damages or mesne profits can be passed for the period of such occupation, till the date he delivers the vacant possession to the landlord. (Para 16)

B. If the rent represents a fair value, mesne profits may be assessed at the amount of the rent, but if the real value is higher than the rent, mesne profits must be assessed at a higher value. (Para 19)

After determination of tenancy, the position of the tenant is akin to that of a trespasser and he cannot claim that the measure of damages awardable to the landlord should be kept tagged to the rate of rent payable under the provisions of the Rent Control Order. If the real value of the property is higher that the rent earned then the amount of compensation for continued use and occupation of the property by the tenant can be assessed at the higher value. (Para 16)

C. Interest on mesne profits – Code of Civil Procedure: Section 2(12) - As per the definition of mesne profits, interest forms an integral part of the mesne profits and once the Court awards the mesne profits, the interest accruing thereon has to be allowed in the computation of the mesne profits itself. Thus, a tenant cannot be permitted to urge that mesne profits, which in fact ought to have been paid years ago, should not bear any interest. (Para 24)

Present revision challenges judgment and order dated 28.11.2005, passed by learned Additional District Judge, Lucknow.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Mrs. Sangeeta Chandra, J.)

[Oral]

1. There were two SCC revisions filed by U.P. Export Corporation Limited and Vinay Kumar Jain, i.e., the tenants and the landlord respectively under Section ? 25 of the Provincial Small Causes Courts Act against the judgment and order dated 28.11.2005, passed by learned Additional District Judge, Court No.2, Lucknow whereby the suit filed by the landlord for ejectment was decreed and the tenant was directed to pay Rs.16000/- per month as damages for use and occupation of the shop in question till the date of vacation of the premises.

2. The tenant had preferred revision no.198/2005 challenging the decree for ejectment along with the quantification of damages for use and occupation of the premises. The landlord had filed civil revision no.201/2005 only against that part of the judgment of the trial court whereby it determined the mesne profits of the premises at the rate of Rs.5/- per square feet instead of Rs.50/- per square feet, as had been prayed for by the landlord.

3. This Court after noticing the facts before the learned trial court rejected the revision of the tenant but at the same time observed in para 17 & 18 of its judgment as follows :-

"17. With regard to enhancement of rent, the Court below has taken into account various exemplars filed by the revisionist to indicate the rate of rent of the adjoining buildings. In respect of the buildings leased out to Bank of Baroda as well as ICICI Bank, the landlord had permitted to raise construction and make alterations in accordance with the requirements of the Bank. In so far as the building in question was concerned, there was no such relaxation by the landlord to the tenant nor was there any fixture etc in accordance with the requirements of the revisionist. The disputed premises was only in the shape of a Hall measuring 3300 square feet of which the Court had fixed Rs.5/- per square feet taking into account the exemplars filed by the revisionist. The conclusion arrived at by the Court below in respect of the enhancement of rent is well considered and perfectly justified and does not deserve to be interfered with.

18. Looking to the surrounding facts and circumstances of the case, the rate of Rs.5/- per square feet in respect of the premises in question appears to have been rightly fixed."

4. This Court by its order dated 25.5.2007 rejected both the revisions and directed the tenant who continued to be in possession over the shop in question and to pay the landlord a sum of Rs.16,000/- per month for use and occupation, by the 10th of each month and the tenant was also directed to vacate the premises in question by 31.12.2007.

5. The landlord being aggrieved against the determination of the mesne profits, i.e., rent at the rate of Rs.5/- per square feet and direction for payment of only Rs.16,000/- per month as damages for continued use and occupation of the shop in question, approached the Supreme Court by filing a Special Leave Petition which was converted into Civil Appeal No.5576 of 2008 [Vinay Kumar Jain and Others vs. U.P. Export Corporation Limited through its Managing Director]. The Hon?ble Supreme Court disposed of the Civil

Appeal by its order dated 08.9.2008 by making the following observations :-

"In this matter, the dispute is regarding mesne profits. The High Court had awarded mesne profits at the rate of Rs.5/- per square feet. During the pendency of the SLP, we directed valuation report to be filed before us. The appellant has done so. According to the valuation report, the rate comes to Rs.29.65 per square feet.

We are of the view that Rs.5/- per square feet was a very low amount. However, as far as the correct rate to be applied, we set-aside the impugned judgment of the High Court and remit the matter to the High Court for fresh consideration in accordance with law. It would be open to both the sides to file respective valuation reports and argue on that basis before the High Court.

Civil Appeal is disposed of with no order as to cost."

6. In view of the matter being remanded before this Court by the Hon?ble Supreme Court only for determining the question of mesne profits, an application has been filed by Vinay Kumar Jain and Others for placing two documents, i.e., the judgment of the Hon?ble Supreme Court as well as the original valuation report dated 14.02.2008 under the signatures of one Shri Khajan Chandra in respect of the fair rental value of the property in question along with the documents lists which was before the Hon?ble Supreme Court in the Civil Appeal.

7. The valuation report of Shri Khajan Chandra dated 14.02.2008 has been perused by me. Shri Khajan Chandra has shown his qualification as MIE (India) FIV Registered Valuer [Govt. of India], Chartered Engineer, Retired Executive Engineer UPPWD. Shri Khajan Chandra, in his introduction has shown himself to be a recognized valuer by the Chief Commissioner of Income Tax, Lucknow since 1995. His valuation report is based on the survey of Mahatma Gandhi Marg and site inspection done by him on 12.02.2008 and on the facts and figures supplied by the representatives of the landlords.

8. Shri Khajan Chandra has given a description of the property in question and as to how Mr. Vinay Kumar Jain and Others came to be in possession thereof. It has been mentioned that a plot of land was purchased in year 1935 on which a double storied building was constructed some time in year 1940. It came into the hands of the landlord on the basis of a family settlement. The property was bounded in north by the shop of ?Libas Bombay Dying?, on the South By the shop of PHOTO Point, on the East by the Mahatma Gandhi Marg and on the West by the MAQBARA Road. The details of construction have been mentioned but it has been pointed out that the Fair Rental value is to be calculated for the shop on the ground floor only which is in the shape of a Hall with columns and in front of the shop there is a 15 feet wide verandah. The walls are 14? to 18? thick in lime/ cement mortar, duly plastered with cement and the flooring is of marble stone. The roof was constructed of reinforced brick and it has been observed that the building is in good sturdy condition. The valuer Shri Khajan Chandra has thereafter considered the general principles of determination of the rent of a property. It has been observed that while fixing fair rent of any property, a fixed percentage factor is considered over total value of such property. Total value referred to would consist of the market value of site, and value of amenities etc. A return of 6% to 9% for residential property and 9% to 12% for commercial property can be considered as reasonable. He has observed that he considers a rent of 10% as reasonable in the case of the particular shop rented out to U.P. Export Corporation.

9. Thereafter, a detailed consideration of valuation on the basis of annual rental value of the property has been made with regard to the covered area of the shop and the circle rates fixed by the District Magistrate, Lucknow for the purpose of stamp duty with effect from 01.4.2002. Rates of land were fixed for Hazratganj Ward for commercial land is Rs.15,100/- per square meter and such rates had to be enhanced by 10% on property being situated on more than 9 meter wide road. The rate worked out to Rs.16,610/- per square meter for commercial land. The District Magistrate, Lucknow in his list had fixed Rs.100/- per square meter per month as rent for commercial property. Mr. Khajan Chandra took into account the covered area of the shop of 306.57 square meters and the value of the land at the rate of Rs.16,610/- per square meter and the value of the building at the rate of Rs.100/- per square meter fixed by the District Magistrate and came to assess the total value of the property at Rs.1,17,43,164/- only.

10. For determination of rent of such property Shri Khajan Chandra has observed that fair rental value would be 10% of the value of the property and worked out the rent on a per month basis @ Rs.97,860/- which worked out per square feet to Rs.29.65 paise. Shri Khajan Chandra has also taken into consideration the rent of adjoining properties, i.e., shop no.31/37, Mahatma Gandhi Marg, Lucknow let out to U.P. Co-operative Bank Limited for an area of 1280 square feet as fixed by the High Court in Writ Petition No.62/2004 which worked out to approximately Rs.29 per square feet at the circle rate applicable on 01.4.2002.

11. In the case of another adjoining shop no.31/29 Mahatma Gandhi Marg, Lucknow let out by Shri Gyan Chand Jain to U.P. Export Corporation Limited for an area of 1875 square feet, rent was fixed by the District Judge in Rent Appeal no. 8 of 2007 which worked out to Rs.28.78 per square feet or Rs.29 per square feet approximately.

12. Shri Khajan Chandra has observed that since for the adjoining shops, rent determined by the High Court in Writ Petition No. 62 of 2004 and by the District Judge, Lucknow in Rent Appeal No.8 of 2007 worked out to around Rs.29/- per square feet, the rent as determined by him at the rate of Rs.29.65 per square feet, seemed to be reasonable to him.

13. He has, however, observed that the building was situated at Mahatma Gandhi Marg in Main Hazratganj Ward and the open market rate of rent was much higher, say around Rs.60/- to 80/- per square feet in year 2002, which on the date of submission of his valuation report in year 2008 was over Rs.100/- per square feet.

14. Shri Khajan Chandra, however, has not relied upon the market rate and he has only relied upon fair rent as worked out by him on the basis of Circle Rate and the rental value as determined by the District Magistrate, Lucknow with effect from 01.4.2002, and reiterated that such rent should be Rs.29.65 per square feet.

15. Shri Divyanshu Sahay, learned counsel appearing for the Revisionist-landlords through virtual mode has relied upon several judgments of the Hon?ble Supreme Court and of various High Courts to say that fair rental value should not be determined on the basis of circle rate but should be determined on the basis of market rate of rent as applicable in the area in question. He has argued that Mahatma Gandhi Marg where the shop is situated in Hazratganj, is the main shopping area of the City of Lucknow and the shop is a corner shop. As per current situation, it is bounded on the East by the showroom of ?Sony World? and on the West by the Showroom of ?Roopali?. The shop in question no doubt is situated on the same road as the shops whose exemplars have been considered by Shri Khajan Chand, i.e., Shop No.31/37 let out to U.P. Co-operative Bank Limited and Shop No.31/29 let out to U.P. Export Corporation Limited but it has been submitted by Shri Divyanshu that right across the road the rent that has been determined in the case of Bank of Baroda and ICICI Bank is much much higher and these exemplars were produced before the learned Trial court by the landlords to show that they were entitled to at least Rs.50/- per square feet. The exemplars have been rejected by the learned Trial court and by the High Court wrongly by making observations that the landlords in such cases have let out the buildings to Banks and had made alterations that were necessary for the running of the Banks and had also provided various of the fixtures and amenities to facilitate the Banks? functioning, therefore, such buildings have been rented out on a higher rent and not comparable to the disputed premises.

16. Shri Divyanshu Sahay has placed reliance upon Atma Ram Properties (P) vs. Federal Motors (P) Limited [(2005) 1 SCC 705] and para 13 of the said judgment where the Hon?ble Supreme Court observed as follows :-

"13. In Shyam Charan v. Sheoji Bhai [(1997) 4 SCC 393] this Court has upheld the principle that the tenant continuing in occupation of the tenancy premises after the termination of tenancy is an unauthorized and wrongful occupant and a decree for damages or mesne profits can be passed for the period of such occupation , till the date he delivers the vacant possession to the landlord. With advantage and approval, we may refer to a decision of the Nagpur High Court. In Bhagwandas Lakhamsi v. Kokabai [AIR 1953 Nag 186] the learned Chief Nagpur High Court held that the Rent Control Order, governing the relationship of the landlord and tenant, has no relevance for determining the question of what should be the measure of damages which a successful landlord should get from the tenant for being kept out of the possession and enjoyment of the property. After determination of tenancy, the position of the tenant is akin to that of a trespasser and he cannot claim that the measure of damages awardable to the landlord should be kept tagged to the rate of rent payable under the provisions of the Rent Control Order. If the real value of the property is higher that the rent earned then the amount of compensation for continued use and occupation of the property by the tenant can be assessed at the higher value. We find ourselves in agreement with the view taken by the Nagpur High Court."

17. Mr. Sahai has also referred to Marshall Sons & Co. (I) Limited vs. Sahi Oretrans (P) Limited [(1999) 2 SCC page 25] and para 4 of the said judgment which makes certain observations with regard to how the landlord is made to suffer because proceedings are dragged for long time at the stage of trial and thereafter on technical ground in execution and the Court has observed that for protecting the interest of the judgment-creditor, it is necessary to pass appropriate orders so that reasonable mesne profits which may be equivalent to the market rent is paid by a person who is holding over the property.

18. Learned counsel has also placed reliance upon a judgment of this Court in Matuk Dhari Singh vs. Ali Naqi reported in 1887 SCC Online Allahabad page 11 and to the observation made by Justice Mahmood that mesne profits awarded must be assessed as damages against the present appellant with reference to his character of having been in possession under an invalid sale-deed and thus, being the trespasser upon the land. The Court observed thus :- "It seems to me that the proper measures of the damages is not the rent which was payable by the occupancy-tenant to the zamindar, a rent subject to its own peculiar statutory, limitations but the proper market value of the land for the purposes of leasing. That value has been found ---------- and this sum, therefore, represents the loss occasioned by the wrongful act of the present appellant in getting into possession of the land under an invalid sale-deed from the occupancy tenants ----------."

19. Learned counsel for the revisionist-landlord has also placed reliance upon Chiranji Lal vs. Kunwar Prasad and Another [AIR 1963 All.249, para 3] where while assessing mesne profits the court observed that they should be assessed according to reasonable market value of the premises. If the rent represents a fair value, mesne profits may be assessed at the amount of the rent, but if the real value is higher than the rent, mesne profits must be assessed at a higher value.

20. Learned counsel has also placed reliance upon the judgments rendered by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in Anderson Wright & Co. vs. Amar Nath Roy [2005 (6) SCC 489, para 6] where the Supreme Court had observed while noting down the contention of the appellants that they are not liable to pay anything more than the standard rent of the premises that such a contention was misconceived in the light of the observations made by the Supreme Court in the case of Atma Ram Properties Private Limited (supra). The Court observed that both the parties had placed on record material giving Court a fair idea of rent generally prevalent in the locality where the suit property was situated. Taking an overall view of the material made available by the parties, the Court fixed mesne profits/ compensation for use and occupation on the basis of rent of adjoining properties till final determination of the same was made by a competent forum.

21. Learned counsel has also placed reliance upon another judgment of a co-ordinate bench of this Court rendered in Mohd Yamin Khan & Others vs. Sheikh Maqbool Husain and Others [1965 SCC online Allahabad 335] where this Court had observed that the assessment of compensation for use and occupation should not be on the basis of controlled rent but on the basis of fair rent. The question that as to what was fair rent has to be decided on the circumstances of each case. If the controlled rent does not represent the fair rental value of the accommodation, mesne profits should be assessed at a higher value. For such observations this Court has placed reliance upon Clifton Securities Limited vs. Huntley [1948 (2) All E.R.283] and Bhagwan Das vs. Mst. Kokabai [AIR 1943 Nagpur 186].

22. Learned counsel for the revisionist-landlord has also placed reliance upon judgment rendered by the High Court of Calcutta in National Insurance Company Ltd vs. Turner Morrison Ltd [2016 SCC online Calcutta 4956] where in para 9, 12, 19 and 20 the principles for determining mesne profits of Commercial property have been enumerated and it has been observed that "a person who is deprived of a right to possess a property is not only entitled to receive possession of the property but also damages for wrongful possession from the person who had occupied the property wrongfully and illegally. Mesne profit is meant to be a compensation, which is penal in nature. The object of awarding a decree for mesne profit is to compensate the person who has been kept out of possession and deprived of enjoyment of the property even though he was entitled to possession thereof. Since the mesne profit is in the nature of damages, no invariable rule governing its award and assessment in every case can be laid down and "the Court may mould it according to the justice of the case." ---------- There hardly exists any uniform and standard pattern of the assessment of mesne profits. Comparative assessments of the nature, location, accessibility to the main road, facilities, age of the suit premises on the one hand and similar characteristics in surrounding area on the other hand, would be a relevant factor in assessing the mesne profit. Such determination of the amount of mesne profits must receive a liberal and purposive construction and the provision relating to mesne profit is required to be construed in a manner that is just and equitable. While determining mesne profits, the Court, need not be over-strict in expecting such proof of the suggested amount as it would accept for holding certain fact being established."

23. Learned counsel has also placed reliance upon a judgment of Delhi High Court in M/S Sushi Enterprises Private Limited vs. CEAT Limited reported in [2018 SCC online Delhi 12551] where it has been observed that if some documentary evidence is available in terms of the lease deed of adjoining properties then mesne profits has to be granted in terms of such evidence.

24. Shri Divyanshu Sahai has also placed reliance upon certain judgments of the Calcutta High Court and the Delhi High Court on the question of interest on mesne profits where the Delhi High Court has placed reliance upon a judgment of the Hon?ble Supreme Court rendered in Mahant Narayan Dasjee Varu And Others vs. Board of Trustees, The Tirumalai Tirupathi Devasthanam [AIR 1965 Supreme Court 1231]. The Hon?ble Supreme Court had observed in the said case that as per the definition of mesne profits given in Section 2(12) of the CPC, interest forms an integral part of the mesne profits and once the Court awards the mesne profits, the interest accruing thereon has to be allowed in the computation of the mesne profits itself. Thus, a tenant cannot be permitted to urge that mesne profits, which in fact ought to have been paid years ago, should not bear any interest. Since the Hon?ble Supreme Court had held that interest is the integral part of the mesne profits and, therefore, the same has to be allowed in the computation of the mesne profits itself, hence, Shri Divyanshu Sahai has argued that the revisionists are also entitled to interest on the rent as determined by this Court for the tenant to be liable to pay to the landlord for continued occupation from the date of the judgment of the learned trial court till actual possession was delivered to the landlord, on 31.01.2008.

25. Shri Shobhit Mohan Shukla appears for the U.P. Export Corporation Limited, the respondent-tenant. He has pointed out that in pursuance of observations made by the Hon?ble Supreme Court fair market rent has to be determined by this Court. He has pointed out from the trial court judgment the exemplars considered by the trial court of adjoining properties and he has also pointed out that the lease deed submitted as exemplars by the landlord in respect of the ICICI Bank and Bank of Baroda had been rightly rejected as the circumstances as well as the situation of the said shops in the Mahatma Gandhi Marg were entirely different. He has argued on the basis of a report submitted through application dated 29.01.2014 of Shri K.K. Agarwal, approved Valuer wherein Shri K.K. Agarwal who is a Government approved Valuer under Section 34 AB of Immovable Property under the Wealth Tax Act, 1957, and the Income Tax Act since 1993, had also inspected the property in question and surveyed the surrounding area. In the said report filed through affidavit of Shri K.K. Agarwal himself on January, 2014 reference has been made to assessment of the property as on 01.4.2008 for market value.

26. A brief description of the property leased out to U.P. Export Corporation by the revisionist-landlord has been mentioned and this Court has carefully perused such report. It finds that even though the property in question is situated in Hazratganj ward, Shri K.K. Agarwal has inexplicably mentioned the Ward as Narhi in the year 1981, and has taken the Circle Rate as applicable on 30.3.1981 for calculation of the value of the land. He has observed that the market rate of land in Narhi Ward at Mahatma Gandhi Marg is Rs.45/-per square feet and the area of the land being 3300 square feet multiplying it by 45 he has come to the rate of the land as Rs.1,48,500/-. By applying Cost Inflation Index as notified by the Central Government the said cost of land has been brought to the year 2008 at Rs.8,64,270/-. For calculation of built up area, Shri K.K. Agarwal has considered the circle rate of 2006 as determined by the District Magistrate Lucknow, for type-I construction at Rs.5500/- per square meter but the valuation was being done in the year 2008 by Shri Agarwal. He considered the age of construction of the building which was almost 55 years old and has observed that accounting for the life of the property has been 80 years only, he applied depreciation and has proposed depreciation of 52.5% at Rs.5500/- per square meter as determined in the year 2006, therefore, the net rate of construction has been determined as Rs.2612/- per square meter. At the same time Mr. K.K. Agarwal has observed that he has inspected the building which is in good condition and, therefore, no depreciation was being considered and the rate of Rs.5500/- per square meter was followed to calculate the value of the covered area. Taking the value of the plot of land at Rs.8,64,270/- and value of the covered area at Rs.16,86,135/- the total value determined by Shri Agarwal is Rs.25,50,000/-. The annual rental value @ 7% of 25,50,000/- has been determined as Rs.1,78,500/- and the monthly rent having been determined accordingly and taking into consideration the area of the property the per square feet, rent has been determined at Rs.4.55 per square feet.

27. This valuation report of Shri K.K. Agarwal has only been mentioned in detail to show how unreasonable Circle Rates have been applied by the Valuer of the respondent and he has fixed the rate as Rs.4.55 per square feet which is even less than that which was granted by the trial court and affirmed by the High Court.

28. It is pertinent to note that the Hon?ble Supreme Court while deciding the Civil Appeal in its order dated 08.9.2008 has observed that Rs. 5/- per square feet was a very low amount and has, therefore, remanded the matter to this Court to determine fair rental value/ mesne profits afresh in accordance with law.

29. The report of Shri K.K. Agarwal relied upon by Shri Shobhit Mohan Shukla being unreasonable, is rejected by this Court.

30. The question now before this Court is whether the report of the valuer which was submitted in the Civil Appeal by the revisionist-landlord should be taken to be a fairly reasonable report on the basis of which mesne profits can be determined by this Court.

31. This Court finds that report submitted by Shri Khajan Chandra dated 14.02.2008 has considered not only the Circle Rate and the annual rental value determined by the District Magistrate with effect from 01.4.2008 but has also considered exemplars of the properties situated adjoining to the shop in question and has also taken into account that the shops whose exemplars he was considering was also under tenancy under the State Government bodies. He has come to a conclusion that Rs.29.65 per square feet per month was a fair rent of the shop and this Court finds that observations made in the said report regarding open market rental rate being much higher, say Rs.60/- to Rs.80/- per square feet on Mahatma Gandhi Road in the year 2002-2008 which is now up to over Rs.100/- per square feet, is an observation that can be ignored having not been made on the basis of any documentary evidence and as an off hand remark only.

32. With regard to the rental value being determined as per prevalent market rates for which Shri Divyanshu Sahai has placed reliance upon several judgments as cited hereinabove. This Court finds that there is no determinable or identifiable criteria on which this Court can determine market value of the property of Mahatma Gandhi Market in Hazratganj area. The Court cannot make any 'guesstimate' as the Court is not an expert of such matters. Taking the report of Shri Khajan Chandra to be fairly reasonable assessment of rent, this Court is of the opinion that the rate of Rs.29.65 per square feet is admissible to the revisionist-landlord.

33. Since the judgment of the trial court is of 28.11.2005 and directs grant of mesne profits with effect from 08.7.2002 till the delivery of vacant and peaceful possession to the revisionist which was on 31.01.2008, the revisionist-landlord is also entitled to interest at the rate of 9% per annum in view of the observations made by the Hon?ble Supreme Court in the judgment rendered by it in Mahant Narayan Dasjee Varu And Others (supra).

34. It is ordered accordingly, that the respondent shall pay rent @ Rs.29.65 per square feet for the property in question which was around 3300 square feet and also interest thereon with effect from July 2002 to January 2008.

35. The revision stands disposed of.

Civil Revision No. 202 of 2013

Versus
Rajesh Verma ...Respondent

Counsel for the Revisionist:

A. Civil Law – Tenancy – Eviction, recovery of arrears of rent and mesne profits - The Uttar Pradesh Urban Buildings (Regulation of Letting, Rent and Eviction) Act, 1972 (U.P. Act No. 13 of 1972) - Section 30(1) - Provincial Small Cause Courts Act, 1887 - Section 25.

Indian Evidence Act, 1872 - Section 17 - Admission made by a party in an earlier suit, not inter parties, is certainly admissible against it in a subsequent suit involving a different party u/s 17 of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872, but the admission is not conclusive. It is open to the party, who has made the admission in the plaint of an earlier suit, to demonstrate that it was not true. (Para 18)

The plaintiff/revisionist made an admission in the plaint giving rise to Suit No. 85 of 2004 filed by him against the Agra Development Authority, challenging their order of demolition to the effect that the demised shop was an old construction, but it cannot be regarded as conclusive proof of the fact or an estoppel by pleading against the plaintiff. The Trial Court has looked into some other evidence also, like the map attached to the plaintiff's sale deed and some photographs placed on record, which have not been believed to hold that the demised shop is a new construction. (Para 21)

The overall inference that has been drawn to hold that the demised shop is not a new construction is primarily based on the plaintiff's admission made in the plaint of the earlier suit, which the Trial Court has relied upon. The Trial Court missed considering the evidence that in fact, the demolition order passed by the Agra Development Authority that is on record as Paper No. 37, relates to the demised shop and proceeds on the premise that the demised shop is a new construction. There is nothing on record to show that the demolition order was set aside or revoked, holding the demised shop to be an older construction. Rather, the demolition proceedings later appear to have been compounded between the plaintiff and the Development Authority, which would prima facie indicate that the demised shop, being a new construction, was a factual position established by the Development Authority. This part of the evidence has not at all been considered by the Trial Judge while deciding the crucial question about the age of the demised shop that would determine whether the Act is applicable to it. If the Trial Judge had taken into consideration the demolition order passed in the year 2003, he might have reached a different conclusion. (Para 22, 23)

The finding of the Trial Court, therefore, on the issue that the demised shop is an old construction, an integral part of Premises No. 1/208, to which the Act is applicable, is vitiated for non-consideration of material evidence. Also, the finding is manifestly illegal, because it proceeds on a wrong notion of the law that an admission made in the plaint of an earlier suit inter se the plaintiff and the Development Authority is virtually to be regarded as conclusive proof of the fact or an estoppel by pleading against the plaintiff, as if it were. (Para 23)

The Trial Court is required to re-examine the issue about the construction of the building being a new one, dating to the year 2003, the decree passed by the Trial Judge would have to be set aside, with a remand to the Trial Court to determine the question afresh, whether the Act is applicable to the demised shop. If the finding is that the demised shop is indeed a construction raised in the year 2003, it goes without saying that the Act would not govern the tenancy. In that event, the rate of rent or default would all become irrelevant. (Para 27)

It was observed by the Hon'ble High Court that defendant/opposite party was tenant of the of the plaintiff's/revisionist's in the demised shop and no default was committed by the defendant/opposite party in the payment of agreed rent that was paid regularly and through the pendency of the suit also. Therefore, the decision of the Trial Court was affirmed on these points of determination. For the plaintiff's right to evict defendant, it was observed that the Trial Court will see whether a valid notice to quit in accordance with S.106 of the Transfer of Property Act, 1882 has been served upon the defendant. Present revision challenges the order dated 18.01.2013, passed by Additional District Judge, Agra.

(Delivered by Hon'ble J.J. Munir, J.)

1. This revision is directed against the judgment and decree of Mr. Arun Chandra Srivasava, Additional District Judge, Court No.6, Agra dismissing S.C.C. Suit No.21 of 2005 for eviction, recovery of arrears of rent and mesne profits.

2. According to the revisionist, the plaintiff in S.C.C. Suit No.21 of 2005, he is the owner in possession of property bearing Premises No.1/2008, Professors' Colony, Civil Lines, Agra. The defendant, who is the respondent to this revision, according to the plaintiff-revisionist (for short, 'the plaintiff'), proposed to the plaintiff that if the latter were to construct a shop on the corner of his lawn, which was part of his premises No.1/208, Professors Colony, Civil Lines, Agra, the defendant would take the shop on rent in the sum of Rs.10,000/- per mensem. The plaintiff got a shop constructed on the south-western corner of his lawn between the months of July to August, 2003 and let it out to the defendant-respondent (for short, 'the defendant'). The defendant entered the tenanted shop, accepting it on a rent of Rs.10,000/- per month. The tenancy commenced on 28.08.2003. The defendant paid to the plaintiff rent for the period 28.08.2003 to 27.09.2003 and 28.09.2003 to 27.10.2003 at the rate of Rs.10,000/- per month. The plaintiff issued receipts to the defendant for the rent paid by the latter. Next, the defendant paid the plaintiff the accumulated rent for the period 28.10.2003 to 27.12.2003, that is to say, for a period of two months in the sum of Rs.20,000/-. Thereafter, the defendant did not pay any rent to the plaintiff. The plaintiff got a notice dated 24.05.2005 served upon the defendant, which was dispatched by registered post on 17.06.2005. Despite service of the notice, the defendant did not pay the rent due.

3. The notice aforesaid determined the defendant's tenancy, asking him to quit on the expiry of thirty days from the receipt of notice, but he did not vacate. According to the plaintiff, the shop is a new construction that was raised in the months of July and August, 2003 and the contracted rent is Rs.10,000/- per month. As such, the provisions of The Uttar Pradesh Urban Buildings (Regulation of Letting, Rent and Eviction) Act, 1972 (U.P. Act No.13 of 1972) (for short "the Act') do not govern the tenancy. The defendant is a troublesome character and whenever the plaintiff would demand the due rent, the former would get annoyed and lay false complaints to the Police. It was in the said background that the plaintiff was compelled to terminate the defendant's tenancy, as already indicated, vide notice dated 24.05.2005. It is asserted that the notice that was sent by registered post on 17.06.2005 was delivered to the defendant personally on 18.06.2005.

4. In answer to the suit, the defendant filed his written statement, saying that he is a tenant in the shop that bears the humble dimensions of 7' x 8'. The said shop is part of Municipal Premises No.1/108, Professors' Colony, Civil Lines, Hariparvat Ward, Agra. The defendant, however, asserted that he is a tenant in the demised shop at a monthly rent of Rs.1000/-. The demised shop was a garage in the past. He does not hold the shop on a rent of Rs.10,000/- per month. It has been denied by him that he ever approached the plaintiff to get a shop constructed in a part of his lawn, which he later on took on a rent of Rs.10,000/- per month. The defendant also denied the fact that the demised shop stands on the south-western corner of the plaintiff's lawn or that it was constructed in the months of July and August 2003. The defendant denied the plaintiff's case that the tenancy commenced on 28.08.2003 at a contracted rent of Rs.10,000/-. To the contrary, the plaintiff let out the demised shop to the defendant on 1st May, 2002 on a rent of Rs.1,000/- per month and charged from the defendant, by way security, a sum of Rs.1,45,000/-. The security was paid by the defendant on the plaintiff's assurance that whenever the defendant would vacate the shop, his security money would be refunded. It has been denied that any rent receipt was ever issued by the plaintiff to the defendant. The defendant remitted rent to the plaintiff for the months of May and June, 2005 in the sum of Rs.2000/- through money orders, which the plaintiff refused on 29.06.2005. He then refused to accept the said rent by hand.

5. Thereupon, the defendant applied to deposit the due rent in Court under Section 30(1) of the Act. The defendant's application made for the purpose to the Civil Judge (Jr. Div.), Agra was registered as Misc. Case No.81 of 2005. In the said case, the defendant has been regularly depositing the rent well within the plaintiff's knowledge. The plaintiff has appeared in the case under Section 30(1) of the Act also. The fact that the defendant has paid rent from 28.08.2003 to 27.09.2003 and then from 28.09.2003 to 27.10.2003 in the sum of Rs.10,000/- per month has been denied. The fact that the defendant had not paid any rent to the plaintiff after 28.12.2003 has also been denied. According to the defendant, the notice dated 24.05.2005 was received by him on 17.06.2005 and it is not true that thereafter, he has not remitted any rent to the plaintiff. The notice dated 24.05.2005 was responded to on behalf of the defendant by his Counsel Mr. Mahesh Chandra Galav by addressing a reply to the plaintiff's Counsel,

Mr. H.B. Bansal. The reply was sent to the plaintiff's Counsel by registered post.

6. It has been denied for a fact that the demised shop was constructed in the month of July and August, 2003 or that the rate of rent was Rs.10,000/- per month. The plaintiff's case that the provisions of the Act were not applicable to the demised shop was denied, and protection of his tenancy under the Act was also claimed by the defendant. Notice to quit has been assailed as invalid. It was pleaded that the defendant was not in arrears of four months of rent so as to make the default actionable under Section 20(2)(a) of the Act. The demised shop is an old construction much ante-dating the month of April, 1985 and, therefore, the Act is applicable to it. It has been denied for a fact that a sum of Rs.1,96,667/- towards arrears of rent is due to the plaintiff or there are any dues from the date of termination of the tenancy until institution of the suit on account of mesne profits. The claim in the suit is one that is designed to bear pressure upon the defendant in order to enhance the rent to Rs.4,000/- per month, or else vacate the demised shop.

7. There is a long list of documentary evidence, the summary of which is set out in the Trial Court's judgment led on behalf of the plaintiff. It includes a carbon copy of the notice, the demolition order from the Agra Development Authority, photographs of the demised shop, bank account statements, income tax returns, the plaintiff's sale deed in original dated 28.10.1978 relating to premises No.1/208, Civil Lines, Agra, etc. The entire summary of evidence need not be recapitulated for the sake of brevity. Documents as are relevant would be referred to during course of the judgment. The plaintiff, by way of oral testimony testified on his own behalf as PW-1 and examined as PW-2, Adil Aziz. Both these witnesses, in lieu of their examination-in-chief in the dock, filed affidavits. Both the witnesses were cross-examined on the basis of their testimony in the affidavits. A further witness-PW-3, Deepak Kashyap, a handwriting expert, was examined, who filed his affidavit in lieu of his examination-in-chief in the dock, but before his cross-examination could be concluded, he passed away. Another witness, who testified on behalf of the plaintiff, is one Ram Autar Saxena. He filed his affidavit in lieu of his examination-in-chief in the witness-box, but did not turn up to face cross-examination.

8. The defendant also filed a host of documents, that include tenders of rent deposited in Court, house tax assessment for the years 1975-81, money order receipts, besides photographs and negatives. He filed a copy of the plaint giving rise to Suit No.85 of 2004, together with the plaintiff's affidavit filed in support of the said plaint. The entire summary of the documents need not be recapitulated, as that finds eloquent mention in the Trial Court's judgment. The relevant documentary evidence would, however, be referred to during course of this judgment. In support, the defendant examined himself as DW-1 and in lieu of his examination-in-chief in the witness-box, filed an affidavit. He further examined DW-2 Raj Kumar Shrotriye, a handwriting expert, who, in lieu of his testimony in the witness-box, submitted an affidavit. Both the witnesses were cross-examined with reference to their affidavits.

9. The Trial Court framed the following points for determination (translated into English from Hindi):

(1) Whether there is a relationship of landlord and tenant between the plaintiff and the defendant and the provisions of U.P. Act No.13 of 1972 are applicable to the property in question?

(2) Whether the defendant is a tenant in the shop in question at the rate of Rs.10,000/- per month?

(3) Whether the defendant has committed default in the payment of rent?

(4) Relief.

10. It must be remarked that the Trial Court proceeded on the basis of points of determination, because the case before it was a small cause suit and not a regular suit. On the point of determination No.1, which is a composite point involving two issues, it was held that there was no dispute that the defendant was a tenant of the plaintiff's in the demised shop. On the second part of the first point, it was held that the shop in dispute was an old construction, to which the provisions of the Act were applicable. On the second point of determination, it was held that the rate of rent was Rs.1,000/- per month and not Rs.10,000/-. On the third point of determination, it was held that no default was committed by the defendant in the payment of agreed rent that was paid regularly and through the pendency of the suit also. In view of the conclusions that the Trial Court reached on the points framed by it, the suit was ordered to be dismissed.

11. Aggrieved, this revision has been preferred by the plaintiff under Section 25 of the Provincial Small Cause Courts Act, 1887.

12. Heard Mr. Ayush Khanna, learned Counsel for the plaintiff, Mr. Anil Kumar Pandey, learned Counsel appearing for the defendant and perused the lower court records.

13. The most crucial question to be determined in the present suit is the fact, whether the provisions of the Act are applicable to the demised shop and govern the tenancy. Mr. Ayush Khanna, learned Counsel for the plaintiff has vehemently submitted that the Act does not apply. He submits that the demised shop is a new construction raised by the plaintiff on a corner of his residential premises virtually at the defendant's behest. The shop was raised during the months of July and August, 2003, a fact which the learned Counsel for the plaintiff seeks to support by referring to the map attached to the sale deed dated 28.10.1978 through which the premises bearing No. 1/208, Civil Lines, Agra were purchased by the plaintiff. He has taken the Court through the map bearing paper No. 34ग/10, which he says does not show any structure that may be explained as an old existing construction, now let out as a shop to the defendant.

14. On the other hand, Mr. Anil Kumar Pandey, learned Counsel for the defendant has argued that the demised shop is an integral part of the residential premises. It was formally a garage, which was let out to the defendant by the plaintiff on 1st of May, 2002 on a rent of Rs.1000/- per month. The learned Counsel for the defendant has particularly drawn the attention of the Court to the plaint giving rise to Original Suit No.85 of 2004, Aziz Uddin v. Agra Development Authority. This plaint is on record as paper no. 85ग. The learned Counsel has particularly referred to paragraph No.2 of the plaint giving rise to Suit No.85 of 2004, where it is averred:

"2. That interalia other constructions existed over the property as mentioned above there is shop towards Northern Western side of the property in question which is a very old one constructions."

15. It is submitted on the foot of this averment in the plaint that there is a clear admission on the plaintiff's part that the demised shop is an old construction. The learned Counsel points out that the suit is one instituted after the Agra Development Authority had issued an order for demolition of the demised shop. The plaintiff instituted Suit No.85 of 2004, seeking to assail the demolition order, where a specific stand was taken that the shop is an old construction, not requiring a sanctioned plan from the Agra Development Authority. It is urged that the plaintiff cannot go back on his word, which constitutes his stand in his pleadings.

16. This Court has keenly considered the rival submissions of parties on the issue whether the Act applies to the demised shop. This Court finds that in writing its opinion, the Trial Court has been decisively swayed by the fact that in Original Suit No.85 of 2004, the plaintiff took a specific stand that the demised shop was an old construction. Before the Trial Court, a stand was taken by the plaintiff that he never filed the suit, but somebody else did it on his behalf in order to create evidence against him. The suit was soon afterwards withdrawn. The Trial Court has taken note of the fact that the withdrawal application was moved on 07.08.2006, after the present suit was instituted, in order to wriggle out of his admission. The stand that the plaint giving rise to the suit was not signed or filed by the plaintiff was not accepted by the Trial Court. The finding of the Trial Court that Suit No.85 of 2004 was not filed by the plaintiff against the Agra Development Authority is an incorrect stand by the plaintiff, may not be wrong. It is also true that the plaintiff withdrew the suit after he had filed the present suit for eviction, taking a stand that the demised shop was a new construction. It does seem that the plaintiff has been guided by his self-interest in taking contradictory stands in the two suits. He also seems to have indulged in some falsehood by saying that he never filed the earlier suit against the Agra Development Authority. A prelude to the central question is: Does such indulgence in falsehood to secure relief disentitle the plaintiff from establishing the truth of the matter, whether the demised shop is a new construction, that is free from operation of the Act? In the opinion of this Court, it does not.

17. The purpose of trial of a cause before a Court of law is to find out the truth and its bearing upon the rights of parties in accordance with law. Parties, as they go through the turmoil of litigation, may go wayward in the pursuit of relief. They may vacillate in their stand or indulge in falsehood, but all vacillations in a parties' stand in Court or some assertions that are contradictory or false, may not be relevant at all to the issue under inquiry. If they are not relevant, these are to be generally ignored. The central question involved is whether the demised shop is an old construction to which the Act applies, or is it a new one that is under the umbrella of a rent holiday. The Trial Court has been decisively swayed in its opinion by the fact that in the plaint giving rise to Suit No.85 of 2004, the plaintiff has stated that the shop is an old construction. The Trial Court has regarded this averment in the plaint giving rise to the suit filed against the Development Authority as an admission on the plaintiff's part. The question is whether pleadings in an earlier suit, not inter partes, are at all admissible in a subsequent suit between one of the parties to the earlier suit and a third party.

18. This question did pose some challenge to judicial opinion at one point of time long ago, but has now come to be settled in terms of authority to the effect that admission made by a party in an earlier suit, not inter partes, is certainly admissible against it in a subsequent suit involving a different party under Section 17 of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872, but the admission is not conclusive. It is open to the party, who has made the admission in the plaint of an earlier suit, to demonstrate that it was not true. The most authoritative statement of the law on this point is to be found in the holding of their Lordships of the Supreme Court in Basant Singh v. Janki Singh and others, AIR 1967 SC 341, where it was observed:

"5. The High Court also observed that an admission in a pleading can be used only for the purpose of the suit in which the pleading was filed. The observations of Beaumont, C.J. in Ramabai Shriniwas v. Bombay Government [AIR 1941 Bom 144] lend some countenance to this view. But those observations were commented upon and explained by the Bombay High Court in D.S. Mohlte v. S.I. Mohile [AIR 1960 Bom 153] . An admission by a party in a plaint signed and verified by him in a prior suit is an admission within the meaning of Section 17 of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872, and may be proved against him in other litigations. The High Court also relied on the English law of evidence. In Phipson on Evidence, 10th Edn, Article 741, the English law is thus summarised:

"Pleadings, although admissible in other actions, to show the institution of the suit and the nature of the case put forward, are regarded merely as the suggestion of counsel, and are not receivable against a party as admissions, unless sworn, signed, or otherwise adopted by the party himself."

Thus, even under the English law, a statement in a pleading sworn, signed or otherwise adopted by a party is admissible against him in other actions. In Marianski v. Cairns [1 Macq 212 (HL)] the House of Lords decided that an admission in a pleading signed by a party was evidence against him in another suit not only with regard to a different subject-matter but also against a different opponent. Moreover, we are not concerned with the technicalities of the English law. Section 17 of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872 makes no distinction between an admission made by a party in a pleading and other admissions. Under the Indian law, an admission made by a party in a plaint signed and verified by him may be used as evidence against him in other suits. In other suits, this admission cannot be regarded as conclusive, and it is open to the party to show that it is not true."

(Emphasis by Court)

19. The aforesaid position of law was noticed by this Court in Govindpal Singh v. Deputy Director of Consolidation, Meerut and others, 1988 SCC OnLine All 471, where A.P. Misra, J. (as His Lordship then was of the High Court) held:

"23. Apart from this, the argument that the statement is an admission and binding between the parties is unsustainable. Before drawing an admission all the circumstances under which admission was made has to be taken into consideration before reliance could be placed by a party in subsequent proceedings and an admission could be made in a given case to terminate a proceeding in order to avoid long litigation and enjoying fruits even by giving up the existing right, but that statement could only be confined to the suit in which it was made. Any statement made in the previous suit or proceeding if it is regarded by a party as an admission he must prove the circumstances under which it was made and to show that such an admission was not confined for the purpose of that suit then only in a subsequent proceeding reliance could be placed to bind such party not to resile from it. Normally, every person making a statement in the earlier proceeding has a right to explain away a statement in subsequent proceedings and merely making such statement cannot bind nor could it apply as an estoppel to explain away such statement. Thus, statement under O. X, R. 2, C.P.C. cannot be said to be such which is an admission on behalf of the petitioner on which reliance has been placed by the respondents to show that it constitutes an act of consent of co-option to admit Smt. Reoti Kunwar as a co-tenant Learned counsel for the petitioner very rightly relied on a passage in "Sarkar on Evidence" Vol. I, Thirteenth edition at page 198, which is quoted hereunder:--

"Statements in pleadings are not evidence against the party pleading in subsequent proceedings (Boileau v. Rutlin, 1848, 2 Ex 665; Hals. 3rd Ed. Vol. 15, para 540). "Pleadings recorded in one cause are admissible in evidence in subsequent proceedings to prove the institution and subject-matter of such cause but are generally inadmissible even as against parties or privies as proof of the truth of the facts stated therein. (Hals. 3rd Ed Vol. 15, para 709).

The rule rejecting the pleadings in prior causes as admissions is of considerable antiquity and was based on the theory that the statements were not those of the party, but were merely "pleader's matter' and consisted largely of "suggestions of counsel' and "flourishes of the draftsmen'."

24. The case Basant Singh v. Janki Singh, AIR 1967 SC 341 repelled the earlier views of the Court that admission by a party in plaint signed and verified by him may be used as evidence against him in other suits in terms of S. 17, Indian Evidence Act, 1872. The Supreme Court repelling the earlier views held as follows:--

"Moreover, we are not concerned with the technicalities of the English Law. S. 17 of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872 makes no distinction between an admission made by a party in a pleading and other admissions. Under the Indian Law, an admission made by a party in a plaint signed and verified by him may be used as evidence against him in other suits. In other suits, this admission cannot be regarded as conclusive, and it is open to the party to show that it is not true."

25. Learned counsel for the petitioner also relied on a case Kailash Chandra v. Ratan Prakash, AIR 1974 All 138. In this case, this Court held that the statement of a counsel of a party can be recorded under R. 1 of O. X and not under R. 2.

26. Reliance was also placed on Muhammad Imam Ali Khan v. Husain Khan, (1899) ILR 26 Cal 81. In this case certain statement was made in 1878 which was sought to be relied on in subsequent proceedings. It was in this light that the court held as follows:--

"Supposing that in 1978 he believed them to be true and made them spontaneously, why should he not assert the true state of the case after he has learned it? An Oudh talukh cannot be transferred like an ordinary estate under Mohomedan or Hindu law because the Oudh Estates Act requires special modes of transfer. It is not now contended that the mutation operated as a transfer. It would be absurd to suppose that the plaintiff made any misrepresentation to the defendant; neither was the situation of the defendant altered in any way to his prejudice. No consideration was given by the defendant, nor is there anything in the transaction to create a trust Possibly it might have given the defendant a possession on which time would run; but if so, time has not run long enough to create a bar....."

27. It was also held:

".....a gratuitous admission may be withdrawn unless there is some obligation not to withdraw it; and there is not here any title on which such an admission can rest....."

20. The question also fell for consideration of the Patna High Court in Janki Ram and another v. Amir Chand Ram and others, 1983 SCC OnLine Pat 241, where it was observed:

"15. Then remains the second submissions of the learned counsel for the appellants to be considered that is, whether the statements made by the plaintiff Janki in a duly sworn affidavit filed in a proceeding under S. 145 of the Criminal P.C. in the year 1963 could be used as a piece of evidence against the plaintiffs in the instant suit. It is well settled that an admission on a question of fact made by a party in course of a proceeding can be regarded as a good piece of evidence relied upon, which the contesting party may contend that the claim made in the subsequent proceeding was unjustified The Court is entitled to consider the admission solemnly made by a party concerning the subject matter in dispute (words have been underlined by me for emphasis) in course of a proceeding in adjudicating upon the truth or otherwise of a claim made by the parties in a subsequent proceeding concerning the subject matter in dispute. The admission made by a party may be used as evidence against him in the other suit if it concerns the subject matter in dispute. However, such an admission cannot be regarded as conclusive and the party can show that it was not (true). Reference be made to the case of Basant Singh v. Janki Singh (AIR 1967 SC 341)."

21. Here, no doubt the plaintiff has made an admission in the plaint giving rise to Suit No.85 of 2004 filed by him against the Agra Development Authority, challenging their order of demolition to the effect that the demised shop was an old construction, but it cannot be regarded as conclusive proof of the fact or an estoppel by pleading against the plaintiff. It is open to the plaintiff to show that the admission was made under circumstances that proceed from misinformation or is the product of legal draftsmanship of pleadings that he did not understand; or still more, it was an incorrect stand in point of fact taken in his pleading to save the demised shop from demolition. What is important to be determined is not the morality or the probity of the plaintiff, but the fact whether the demised shop is a new construction, as the plaintiff alleges, or an old construction standing over a part of the plaintiff's residential premises. No doubt, the Trial Court has looked into some other evidence also, like the map attached to the plaintiff's sale deed and some photographs placed on record, which have not been believed to hold that the demised shop is a new construction.

on the plaintiff's admission made in the plaint of the earlier suit, that is to say, Suit No.85 of 2004, which the Trial Court has lavishly and overwhelmingly relied upon. What the Trial Court, however, has missed from consideration is the evidence that in fact, there was a demolition order passed by the Agra Development Authority, that is on record as Paper No.37ग. This demolition order relates to the demised shop and proceeds on the premise that the demised shop is a new construction. The demolition matter later appears to have been compounded between the plaintiff and the Development Authority. This part of the evidence has not at all been considered by the Trial Judge while deciding the crucial question about the age of the demised shop that would determine whether the Act is applicable to it.

23. The Trial Judge seems to have been so fascinated and overwhelmed by the admission made in the plaint that he has bestowed no consideration to the fact that the foundation of the statutory demolition proceeding was a new construction done by the plaintiff in the year 2003. The demolition order was served upon the plaintiff, as he alleges, in the plaint giving rise to Suit No.85 of 2004 on 04.12.2003. If the Trial Judge had taken into consideration the demolition order passed in the year 2003, he might have reached a different conclusion about the fact whether the demised shop was a new construction or not. There is nothing on record to show that the demolition order was set aside or revoked, holding the demised shop to be an older construction. Rather, the demolition proceedings appear to have been compounded, which would prima facie indicate that the demised shop, being a new construction, was a factual position that was acquiesced into by the plaintiff and established by the Development Authority. The finding of the Trial Court, therefore, on the issue that the demised shop is an old construction, an integral part of Premises No. 1/208, to which the Act is applicable, is vitiated for non-consideration of material evidence. Also, the finding is manifestly illegal, because it proceeds on a wrong notion of the law that an admission made in the plaint of an earlier suit inter se the plaintiff and the Development Authority is virtually to be regarded as conclusive proof of the fact or an estoppel by pleading against the plaintiff, as if it were. The correct legal position is that the admission made in the said plaint, though admissible, it is open to the plaintiff to explain it by other evidence that it did not represent the true state of facts.

24. In view of what has been said above, this Court is of opinion that the finding recorded by the Trial Court on point of determination No.(1) is not sustainable. The Trial Judge ought to reconsider the said finding, giving further opportunity to the plaintiff and the defendant to explain the admission about the age of the building. The Trial Judge also ought to look into the proceedings for demolition that were taken by the Development Authority, relating to the demised shop. The parties shall be permitted to lead evidence further about this fact in issue, as may be relevant and advised.

25. So far as the finding on point of determination No.(2) is concerned, this Court is of opinion that the Trial Court has rightly discarded the rent deed dated 20th August, 2003 as a bogus document. A comparison of the defendant's signatures on the rent deed with those made elsewhere, such as the written statement or his testimony in Court, clearly show that the signatures on rent deed are not the defendant's. This conclusion is inevitable on a bare comparison of the defendant's admitted signatures with those on the rent deed. The report of the expert produced by the defendant, who too, for good reasons assigned, has opined against the genuineness of the defendant's signatures on the rent deed, appears to be correct. At the same time, the document Paper No. 66ग, which evidences payment of premium in the sum of Rs.1,45,000/- by the defendant to the plaintiff, has also been rightly believed. The signatures on the said document made across the revenue stamp are unmistakably those of the plaintiff. The conclusion on this point also is based on expert opinion, which the Trial Court has accepted. There is no reason for this Court to disagree with this conclusion of the Trial Court either. The rate of rent mentioned in the document Paper No.66ग is Rs.1000/-. The opinion of the Trial Court, therefore, that the rate of rent is Rs.1000/-, is based on a very plausible view of the evidence on record, that does not warrant interference in the exercise of our revisional jurisdiction.

26. The findings of the Trial Court on point of determination No. (3) about default in the payment of rent also does not deserve to be disturbed. The Trial Court has carefully looked into documentary evidence showing tender of rent by money order and by deposit in Court under Section 30(1) of the Act relative to different periods of time vis-à-vis the figures of rent deposited. The record bears out with the findings of the Trial Court and does not lead to any inference about default in the payment of rent. The finding of the Trial Court, therefore, on point of determination No. (3) is also affirmed.

27. Since this Court is of opinion that the Trial Court is required to re-examine the issue about the construction of the building being a new one, dating to the year 2003, the decree passed by the Trial Judge would have to be set aside, with a remand to the Trial Court to determine the question afresh, whether the Act is applicable to the demised shop. In doing that, the Trial Court shall bear in mind the guidance in this judgment and will consider all relevant evidence on the point; not just the admission of the plaintiff in the plaint of Suit No.85 of 2004. Any further evidence led by parties shall also be considered. If the finding is that the demised shop is indeed a construction raised in the year 2003, it goes without saying that the Act would not govern the tenancy. In that event, the rate of rent or default would all become irrelevant.

28. So far as the right of the plaintiff to evict the defendant is concerned, all that would then have to be seen by the Trial Court is whether a valid notice to quit in accordance with Section 106 of the Transfer of Property Act, 1882 has been served upon the defendant.

29. In the result, this revision succeeds and is allowed in part. The impugned judgment and decree dated 18.01.2013 passed by the Additional District Judge, Court No.6, Agra in S.C.C. Suit No.21 of 2005 is set aside. The suit shall stand restored to the file of the learned Trial Judge for trial and decision afresh, in accordance with the remarks in this judgment and on the point required to be re-determined. The Trial Court shall proceed to try and decide the suit, after affording necessary opportunity to both parties in accordance with law, within a period of six months of the receipt of a copy of this judgment. Since the matter is a small cause suit, that is one of the year 2004, the Trial Judge shall fix one date of effective hearing every week. Both parties shall appear before the Trial Court on 20th April, 2022. There shall be no order as to costs.

30. Let the lower court records be sent down at once and shall be made available to the Trial Court positively before the date fixed for appearance of parties.

Writ Tax No. 406 of 2022

M/s Calcutta South Transport Co., Kolkata ...Petitioner

Versus

State of U.P. & Anr. ...Respondents

Counsel for the Petitioner:
Sri Aloke Kumar

Counsel for the Respondents:
C.S.C.

A. Tax Law – Confiscation of goods or conveyances and levy of penalty - CGST/UPGST Act, 2017 - Section 130 - Code of Criminal Procedure - Section 156(3) - It is settled law that if a public functionary acts maliciously or oppressively and the exercise of power results in harassment and agony then it is not an exercise of power but its abuse. No law provides protection against it. Harassment by public authorities is socially abhorring and legally impermissible which causes more serious injury to society. In modern society no authority can arrogate to itself the power to act in a manner which is arbitrary.

Award of compensation for unauthorised, arbitrary and illegal detention of the truck of the petitioner by the respondent authorities would not only compensate the petitioner for loss suffered by him but it would also help in improving work culture and public confidence in rule of law. (Para 10)

Once the order of confiscation dated 29.11.2020 and the order of first appellate authority dated 28.06.2021 were quashed by this Court by judgment dated 15.11.2021, the order of confiscation stood eclipsed from the very date of issuance. There is no order of confiscation in existence and, yet, the truck of the petitioner is being unauthorisedly and illegally detained by the respondent no. 2 since almost 18 months. (Para 9)

Petitioner is suffering financial loss of Rs. 5000/- per day since the date of detention of truck, i.e. 14.10.2020. Since determination of loss due to arbitrary, illegal and unauthorised detention by the respondent no. 2, is a question of fact, therefore, Commissioner of Commercial Tax, U.P., Lucknow is directed to determine the financial loss of the petitioner in respect of the truck in question, within three weeks from today after affording opportunity of hearing to the petitioner and pay it to the petitioner within next one week through account payee bank draft. (Para 12)

Writ petition allowed. (E-4)

Precedent followed:

1. Lucknow Development Authority Vs M.K. Gupta, (1994) 1 SCC 243 (Para 10)

2. N. Nagendra Rao and Co. Vs St. of Andhra Pradesh, (1994) 6 SCC 205 (Para 10)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Surya Prakash Kesarwani, J.

Hon'ble Jayant Banerji, J.)

1. Heard Shri Aloke Kumar, learned counsel for the petitioner and Shri B.P. Singh Kachhawaha, learned Standing Counsel for the State-respondents.

2. This writ petition has been filed praying for the following reliefs:-

"(i) Issue a suitable writ, order or direction in the nature of mandamus commanding the respondent no.2 to release the vehicle no.HR 55 S 1171 [so detained by the order dated 14.10.2020] of the petitioner.

(ii) Issue any other suitable writ, order or direction in favour of the petitioner as this Hon'ble High Court may deem fit and proper under the facts and circumstances of the case.

(iii) Award the cost of the petition to the petitioner."

3. Briefly stated facts of the present case are that the petitioner is the owner of truck bearing registration no.HR 55 S 1171. The petitioner is engaged in the business of leasing trucks and other vehicles on hire/fixed freight basis to various transporting entities. In the course of its business, the petitioner has given on hire the aforesaid truck in question to one M/s Aruna Chaleswara Transport Company (hereinafter referred to as the 'hirer') for the purpose of transportation of goods from Delhi to Vijayawada (Andhra Pradesh) for a period of 7-8 days on a consideration of Rs.80,000/-. The hirer loaded the goods for transportation from Delhi on 06.10.2020 for Vijayawada. In the course of journey, the aforesaid truck was passing through the State of Uttar Pradesh when it was intercepted by the respondent no.2, i.e. Assistant Commissioner (Mobile Squad) Unit-2, Commercial Tax, Agra, who found that some of the goods loaded in the truck are over and above those covered by invoices, therefore, he issued an order of detention dated 14.10.2020 in MOV-06. Since neither the owner of the goods nor the transporter, i.e., the hirer, came forward to deposit the tax and penalty as demanded by order dated 31.10.2020, the respondent no.2 initiated proceedings under Section 130 of the CGST/UPGST Act, 2017 for confiscation of the truck in question. In this regard, a notice in GST MOV-10 dated 23.12.2020 was issued to the petitioner fixing the date for hearing on 28.11.2020. Immediately on the receipt of the aforesaid notice, the petitioner submitted an application dated 05.12.2020 before the respondent no.2 bringing to his notice the entire facts and requested to release the truck. However, in the meantime, the respondent no.2, without affording any opportunity of hearing to the petitioner, passed an order of confiscation dated 29.11.2020 in GST MOV-11.

4. Aggrieved with the aforesaid order of confiscation dated 29.11.2020, the petitioner filed First Appeal No.63 of 2021 before the appellate authority which was dismissed by order dated 28.06.2021. In the meantime, the petitioner also attempted to lodge a first information report on 17.12.2020 against the hirer for using the truck for transportation of certain goods not covered by valid invoice. Since the FIR was not registered by the SHO, Police Station, Alipur, Delhi, therefore, the petitioner approached the Commissioner of Police, New Delhi through mail on 25.01.2021 and when nothing happened, the petitioner filed an application dated 01.02.2021 in the court of Chief Metropolitan Magistrate, District North, Rohini Courts, Delhi under Section 156(3) of the Code of Criminal Procedure, which was registered as Criminal Case No.525 of 2021.

5. Aggrieved with the order of confiscation dated 29.11.2020 under Section 130 of the CGST Act and the order of the first appellate authority dated 28.06.2021, the petitioner filed Writ-Tax No.650 of 2021 before this Court in which he also prayed for a direction in the nature of mandamus to the authorities concerned to release the aforesaid truck detained by order dated 14.10.2020. The aforesaid writ petition was allowed and the orders impugned therein were quashed by this Court by judgment and order dated 15.11.2021. The relevant portion of the judgment is reproduced below:-

"In the light of the aforesaid decision, the present case has to be considered. The facts and circumstances narrated above reflect that the show cause notice dated 23.12.2020 was misleading and incorrect. Where a show cause notice in Form GST MOV-10 is issued, which is a preclude to possibility of imposition of liability in the nature of civil consequences against a person, the same has to be specific, containing necessary and correct particulars that may enable the noticee to clearly understand the matter and appear or file his reply on the date and in the manner specified in the notice. Evidently, the show cause notice sent in the aforesaid Form GST MOV-10 dated 23.12.2020 does not comply with the aforesaid requirement as the date for appearance is stated as 28.11.2020. The quandary and dilemma that can visit a person served with such a show cause notice can only be imagined. The plight of the petitioner is well reflected in the aforesaid legal notices a sent by him as well as his repeated efforts to get an FIR lodged against the aforesaid transporter and other persons. The learned Standing Counsel implying that the petitioner would be deemed to have knowledge of proceedings for confiscation because the signature of its driver appears on the Form MOV-4, is misplaced. The proceedings and consequences of seizure and of confiscation are different. Had the show cause notice Form GST MOV-10 been properly prepared, the petitioner could have had adequate opportunity to represent his case and, subject to such proof as required by clause (v) of sub-section (1) of Section 130 of the Act, would not have been saddled with the liability under sub-sections (2) and (3) of Section 130 of the Act. Therefore, the show cause notice Form GST MOV-10 that was issued was defective which resulted in denial of opportunity to the petitioner, and as such, cannot be said to be a show cause notice in the eyes of law.

Thus, not only have the principles of natural justice not been complied with by the respondents, the petitioner has also been prejudiced by such non-compliance. There is no material on record to demonstrate that an opportunity of hearing was duly granted to the petitioner as is the mandate of sub-section (4) of Section 130 of the Act.

Under the circumstances, the order dated 28.06.2021 (as corrected on 25.09.2021) passed by the Additional Commissioner Grade II (Appeal)-I, State Tax, Agra as well as the order dated 29.11.2020 Form GST MOV-11 passed by the Assistant Commissioner (Mobile Squad) Unit-2, Commercial Tax, Agra cannot be sustained and are hereby quashed. However, in the interest of justice, it is left open to the respondents to issue a fresh show cause notice to the petitioner and proceed thereafter in accordance with law.

Subject to the aforesaid observations, this writ petition is allowed."

6. Despite the aforesaid judgment dated 15.11.2021, the respondents have neither issued any fresh notice to the petitioner nor have released the truck so far although there exists no order of confiscation.

7. Learned Standing Counsel has produced before us the written instructions of the respondent no.2 dated 15.03.2022 which also leaves no manner of doubt that no notice has been issued to the petitioner pursuant to the liberty granted by this Court by judgment dated 15.11.2021. The written instructions of the respondent no.2 dated 15.03.2022, as produced by learned Standing Counsel, are kept on record. The relevant portion of the aforesaid instructions of the respondent no.2 is reproduced below:-

"उक्त के सम्बन्ध आपको अवगत कराना है कि सचल दल कार्यालय में पुनः सुनवाई हेतु पोर्टल पर नोटिस जारी करने की कोई व्यवस्था नहीं दी गई है। अतः माननीय उज्ज्ञ न्यायलय द्वारा पारित आदेश के अनुपालन में ज्वाइंट कमिश्रर (आई०टी०) अनुभाग वाणिज्यकर लखनऊ (ज्वा0कमि० विधि प्रकोष्ठ को/प्रतिलिपि प्रेषित) को इस कार्यालय के पत्र संख्या 178 दि० 21/12/2021 अनुस्मारक पत्र संख्या 187 दिनांक05/01/2022, द्वितीय अनुस्मारक पत्र संख्या 189 दि० 13/01/2022, तृतीय अनुस्मारक पत्र संख्या 195 दि० 03/02/2022, चतुर्थ अनुस्मारक पत्र संख्या 201 दि० 24/02/2022 एवं पंचम अनुस्मारक पत्र संख्या 226 दि० 14/03/2022 प्रेषित कर निवेदन किया गया है कि पुनः नोटिस जारी करने की सुविधा सचलदल कार्यालय को उपलब्ध कराने की कृपा करें ताकि माननीय उच्च न्यायालय के आदेश का पालन सुनश्चित किया जा सके। किन्तु आज तक पुनः सनवाई हेतु नोटिस जारी करने का कोई विकल्प विभागीय साईट पर उपलब्ध नहीं कराया गया है।"

8. Section 130 of the CGST Act 2017 provides for confiscation of goods or conveyances and levy of penalty, as under :-

"130. Confiscation of goods or conveyances and levy of penalty.-- (1) Notwithstanding anything contained in this Act, if any person--

(i) supplies or receives any goods in contravention of any of the provisions of this Act or the rules made there under with intent to evade payment of tax; or

(ii) does not account for any goods on which he is liable to pay tax under this Act; or

(iii) supplies any goods liable to tax under this Act without having applied for registration; or

(iv) contravenes any of the provisions of this Act or the rules made there under with intent to evade payment of tax; or

(v) uses any conveyance as a means of transport for carriage of goods in contravention of the provisions of this Act or the rules made there under unless the owner of the conveyance proves that it was so used without the knowledge or connivance of the owner himself, his agent, if any, and the person in charge of the conveyance, then, all such goods or conveyances shall be liable to confiscation and the person shall be liable to penalty under section 122.

(2) Whenever confiscation of any goods or conveyance is authorised by this Act, the officer adjudging it shall give to the owner of the goods an option to pay in lieu of confiscation, such fine as the said officer thinks fit:

Provided that such fine leviable shall not exceed the market value of the goods confiscated, less the tax chargeable thereon:

Provided further that the aggregate of such fine and penalty leviable shall not be less than the amount of penalty leviable under sub-section (1) of section 129:

Provided also that where any such conveyance is used for the carriage of the goods or passengers for hire, the owner of the conveyance shall be given an option to pay in lieu of the confiscation of the conveyance a fine equal to the tax payable on the goods being transported thereon.

(3) Where any fine in lieu of confiscation of goods or conveyance is imposed under sub-section (2), the owner of such goods or conveyance or the person referred to in sub-section (1), shall, in addition, be liable to any tax, penalty and charges payable in respect of such goods or conveyance.

(4) No order for confiscation of goods or conveyance or for imposition of penalty shall be issued without giving the person an opportunity of being heard.

(5) Where any goods or conveyance are confiscated under this Act, the title of such goods or conveyance shall thereupon vest in the Government.

(6) The proper officer adjudging confiscation shall take and hold possession of the things confiscated and every officer of Police, on the requisition of such proper officer, shall assist him in taking and holding such possession.

(7) The proper officer may, after satisfying himself that the confiscated goods or conveyance are not required in any other proceedings under this Act and after giving reasonable time not exceeding three months to pay fine in lieu of confiscation, dispose of such goods or conveyance and deposit the sale proceeds thereof with the Government."

9. Once the order of confiscation dated 29.11.2020 and the order of first appellate authority dated 28.06.2021 were quashed by this Court by judgment dated 15.11.2021, the order of confiscation stood eclipsed from the very date of issuance. There is no order of confiscation in existence and, yet, the truck of the petitioner is being unauthorisedly and illegally detained by the respondent no.2. About 18 months have passed since the detention of the aforesaid truck without any valid order for confiscation or any proceeding of confiscation in existence, yet, the truck in question is being detained by the respondent no.2 arbitrarily, illegally and unauthorisedly, resulting in harassment of the petitioner.

10. It is settled law that if a public functionary acts maliciously or oppressively and the exercise of power results in harassment and agony then it is not an exercise of power but its abuse. No law provides protection against it. Harassment by public authorities is socially abhorring and legally impermissible which causes more serious injury to society. In modern society no authority can arrogate to itself the power to act in a manner which is arbitrary. It is unfortunate that matters which require immediate attention for compliance of order of this Court, linger on leaving the petitioner to run from one end to other with no result. Therefore, award of compensation for unauthorised, arbitrary and illegal detention of the truck of the petitioner by the respondent authorities would not only compensate the petitioner for loss suffered by him but it would also help in improving work culture and public confidence in rule of law. The principles of law aforestated also find support from the law laid down by Hon'ble Supreme Court in Lucknow Development Authority vs. M.K. Gupta; (1994) 1 SCC 243 and N. Nagendra Rao and Company vs. State of Andhra Pradesh; (1994) 6 SCC 205.

11. In paragraph 46 of the writ petition, the petitioner has stated that the petitioner is facing recurring financial loss due to detention of its truck since 14.10.2020. In paragraph 8 of the application dated 05.12.2020 submitted by the petitioner before the respondent no.2, it has been stated as under :-

"8. That due to keeping of the said truck under custody my client is not in a position to run his business and he is paying salary to the driver and he is bearing bank EMI. Taxes and Insurances of that truck and in the manner aforesaid he is suffering loss at least Rs.5,000/- per day."

12. Thus, as per pleadings, the petitioner is suffering financial loss of Rs.5000/- per day since the date of detention of truck, i.e. 14.10.2020. Since determination of loss due to arbitrary, illegal and unauthorised detention by the respondent no.2, is a question of fact, therefore, we direct the Commissioner of Commercial Tax, U.P., Lucknow to determine the financial loss of the petitioner in respect of the truck in question, within three weeks from today after affording opportunity of hearing to the petitioner and pay it to the petitioner within next one week through account payee bank draft.

13. For all reasons stated above, the writ petition is allowed with cost. The respondents are directed to release forthwith the truck bearing registration no.HR 55 S 1171.

14. For grossly arbitrary, illegal and unauthorised action of the respondent no.2 to detain the truck in question even despite the judgment of this Court dated 15.11.2021, we impose cost of Rs.5000/- upon the respondents which shall be deposited by the respondents with the High Court Legal Services Committee, High Court, Allahabad within three weeks from today.

15. With the aforesaid directions, the writ petition is allowed.

Counsel for the Petitioner:

Counsel for the Respondents:

A. Tax Law – Reassessment - Uttar Pradesh Krishi Evam Prodyogik Vishwavidyalaya Adhiniyam, 1988 -

Income Tax Act,1962 - Sections 194 H, 194 J, 194 C, 148, 147 & 151 - At the stage of the notice of reopening of the assessment, the Court has only to see whether there is prima facie some material on the basis of which the Department could reopen the case. The sufficiency or correctness of the material is not a thing to be considered at this stage. (Para 17)

B. It is settled law that the validity of any order has to be adjudged on the basis of the reasons mentioned in the order itself and additional reasons, which are not mentioned in the order itself, cannot be supplied afterwards either to support the order or to challenge it. Since the reasons for issuing the notice u/s 148 stated by the A.O. and approved by the approving authority do not make any mention of the audit para, the petitioner cannot assail the validity of the order for issuance of the notice u/s 148 of the Act on the said ground. (Para 22)

The A.O. had merely sent a report to the CIT (Audit) and he did not have the authority to take a decision regarding the audit objection. Therefore, the ground taken by the learned Counsel for the petitioner regarding letter dated 07-02-2020 sent by the A.O. not accepting the audit objection, is without any force and the same cannot be accepted. (Para 23)

C. The obligation on the assessee to disclose the material facts -- or what are called, primary facts -- is not a mere disclosure but a disclosure which is full and true. A false disclosure is not a true disclosure. The disclosure must not only be true but must be full -- "fully and truly". (Para 29)

As material facts relevant for the assessment on the issues under consideration were not produced during the assessment proceedings, the A.O. could not examine the issues and could not form an opinion regarding the same during the original assessment proceedings. (Para 30)

D. Words and Phrases - "change of opinion" - The words "change of opinion" imply formulation of opinion and then a change thereof. In terms of assessment proceedings, it means formulation of belief by an assessing officer resulting from what he thinks on a particular question. It is a result of understanding, experience and reflection. (Para 31)

Before interfering with the proposed reopening of the assessment on the ground that the same is based only on a change in opinion, the court ought to verify whether the assessment earlier made has either expressly or by necessary implication expressed an opinion on a matter which is the basis of the alleged escapement of income that was taxable.

Every attempt to bring to tax, income that has escaped assessment, cannot be absorbed by judicial intervention on an assumed change of opinion even in cases where the order of assessment does not address itself to a given aspect sought to be examined in the reassessment proceedings. (Para 31)

In the present case, at the time of making the assessment originally, the AO had not formed any opinion regarding the reasons on which the notice u/s 148 of the Act has been issued. To say it more particularly, the A.O. had not formed any opinion regarding receipt of payments by the petitioner u/s 194J, which had not been shown in its P & L account, non-disclosure of the amount of reimbursement of expenses claimed by it, non-submission of the details of expenses incurred by it for verification during the assessment proceedings and non-production of any ledgers, bills and vouchers of expenses incurred on behalf of the Principal Companies etc. Thus the petitioner did not make a "full and true" disclosure of all the material facts which resulted in an income of Rs. 1,07,24,386/- having escaped assessment. Therefore, it is not a case of "change of opinion" and challenge to the notice u/s 148 of the Act on the ground that it seeks to initiate reassessment on the ground of change of opinion, cannot be accepted. (Para 27, 32)

E. The Commissioner is required to apply his mind to the proposal put up before him for approval in the light of the material relied upon by the A.O. (Para 33)

The order dated 23-03-2021 passed by the approving authority u/s 151 of the Act has been placed on record by the Department and the detailed reasons recorded by the A.O. have been annexed to, and made a part of the order. The approving authority - the PCIT, has stated that he agrees with the comments of the A.O., which were annexed with the order, and has recorded his satisfaction that it was a fit case for issuance of the notice u/s 148 of the Act. The aforesaid order (dated 23.03.2021) does not indicate non-application of mind by the PCIT to the proposal made by the A.O. (Para 35)

Writ petition dismissed. (E-4)

Present petition challenges the validity of notice dated 26.03.2021, issued by the Income Tax Officer, Range-5, Ayakar Bhawan, 5, Ashok Marg, Lucknow.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Subhash Vidyarthi, J.)

1. Heard Shri Desh Deepak Chopra, Senior Advocate assisted by Sri. Shailesh Verma, Advocate, the learned counsel for the petitioner and Shri Manish Misra, Advocate, the learned counsel for the respondents.

2. By means of this writ petition filed under Article 226 of the Constitution of India, the petitioner has challenged the validity of a notice dated 26.03.2021 issued by the Income Tax Officer, Range-5, Ayakar Bhawan, 5, Ashok Marg, Lucknow under Section 148 of the Income Tax Act, 1961 (hereinafter referred to as 'the Act') proposing to assess/reassess the income/loss for the assessment year 2013-14.

3. The petitioner's case is that it is a registered partnership firm. It has entered into agreements with various Pharmaceutical and FMCG (Fast Moving Consumer Goods) Companies for providing Carrying and Forwarding Agents (C&F Agents) services. As per the terms of the agreements, the petitioner incurs various business expenses on behalf of the principal companies and while reimbursing the expenses, the principal companies deduct TDS. However, the reimbursement of expenses is not the petitioner's income and, therefore, it is not reflected in the petitioner's books of accounts as receipts from C&F business. Some of the companies have deducted TDS under different heads like Section 194 H of the Act that is meant for income from brokerage and commission and Section 194 J that is meant for fee for professional and technical services.

4. During the assessment year 2013-14 the petitioner had shown the total receipts of Rs.3,59,59,861/- in its Profit and Loss (P&L) Account, which comprised of commission income of Rs.3,47,58,295/- and interest income of Rs.12,01,566/-. The amount of TDS as per the statement in Form 26 AS was Rs.32,14,869/-. The petitioner filed its return for a total income of Rs.9,77,090/-.

5. During scrutiny, the Assessing Officer raised a query regarding high ratio of refund to TDS and the petitioner was asked to reconcile 26 AS with gross receipts as per P&L Account.

6. On 12-02-2015, the petitioner submitted a reply stating that it is making several expenses on behalf of the Principal Companies. The agreements are in the nature of a contract and hence TDS should be deducted @ 2% under Section 194 C of the Act. However, the nomenclature used for payments made to the petitioner is commission and, therefore, the Companies are deducting TDS @ 10% under Section 194 H. After taking into account all the expenses, the petitioner's net margins are such that the tax accrued is much less than the TDS and hence a heavy refund results. Every year the petitioner gets a certificate for lower deduction of TDS, but for the relevant year they got it very late and this was the reason for high ratio of refund to TDS. Again, on 27-02-2015, the petitioner sent another letter reiterating its earlier reply.

7. On 25-03-2015, the A.O. passed an Assessment Order assessing the petitioner's total income at Rs.11,42,428/-, after adding Rs.1,65,338/- to the returned income of Rs.9,77,090/- towards part of expenses disallowed.

8. On 26-03-2021, the A.O. issued a notice under Section 148 of the Act for the Assessment Year 2013-14, stating that he had reason to believe that the petitioner's income chargeable to tax has escaped assessment within the meaning of Section 147 of the Act. On 22.12.2021, the National Faceless Assessment Centre provided the reasons for re-opening of assessment. It states that on examination of documents on record and 26 AS, it is noticed that the assessee has received payments under Section 194 J also, but he has not shown the said receipts and has not given any explanation for the same. The assessee has not disclosed the amount of reimbursement of expenses claimed by it and the actual amount received by it towards reimbursement. It has not submitted the details of expenses incurred by it for verification during the assessment proceedings. It did not produce any ledger, bills and vouchers of expenses incurred on behalf of the Principal Companies. As per 26 AS, the assesse has received a total sum of Rs.4,66,84,247/- and TDS is Rs.32,14,869/-, whereas it has shown its income at Rs.3,59,59,861/-. Thus the assesse has shown its income short by Rs.1,07,24,386/- and this income has escaped assessment.

9. The notice further states that although the assessee had produced the books of account, annual report, P&L account and balance sheet, but the requisite material facts mentioned above were embedded in such a manner that the material facts could not be discovered by the A.O. As all the material facts relevant for the assessment on the issues under consideration were not produced during the assessment proceedings, the AO did not examine the issues and, therefore, it is not a case of change of opinion.

10. The petitioner submitted its objections against the notice under Section 148 mainly on the grounds that in the letter dated 20-10-2020 written to the CIT (Audit), the A.O. had himself stated that the audit objection was not accepted, yet he initiated the action under Section 147 merely to safeguard the interest of Revenue. Secondly, the notice under Section 148 of the Act has been issued without bringing any fresh tangible material on record, on the basis of information which was already available on record, whereas the reassessment cannot be done for matters already discussed. The reasons recorded are based on a mere change of opinion, which is not permissible in law. The approval under Section 151 of the Act has been given by the PCIT in a routine manner, without application of mind and without seeing the records and the correspondence made with the revenue authorities, which is not as per the law.

11. On 16-02-2022, the National Faceless Assessment Centre has passed an order rejecting the petitioner's objections stating that there is no material to establish that the case has been re-opened on the basis of audit objections. Moreover, the A.O. has no authority to accept or reject the audit objection and the same has to be decided by the Principal Commissioner of Income Tax after taking into consideration the recommendations of the Joint Commissioner of Income Tax, as provided in the Standard Operating Procedure for handling audit cases contained in CBDT Instruction no. 7 of 2017.

12. Dealing with the assessee's objection that no new material was there to justify reassessment, it has been stated that on examining the difference between 26 AS and the income admitted, it was revealed that although the assessee claimed that some receipts were towards reimbursements of expenses incurred on behalf of the Principal companies, but the assessee did not produce any material evidence or ledger or books to prove this and thus it did not make true and full disclosure of all the material facts necessary for assessment.

13. The order further states that the case has been reopened on the basis of question of fact regarding the difference between the total receipts and declared income and not on any question of law and, therefore, it is not a case of change of opinion. After applying his mind to the information available on record, the A.O. has formed an opinion that he had reason to believe that the income had escaped assessment and this was not based on mere suspicion, but was based on a belief formed after examination of the material available on record.

14. The respondents have brought on record a copy of the approval under Section 151 of the Act, which indicates that the Assessing Officer had made a proposal for issuance of a notice under Section 148 of the Act, annexing therewith the detailed reasons for the proposal, the Range Head recommended the proposal and the PCIT expressed his agreement with the comments of the AO and recommendation of the Range Head and granted his approval for issuance of a notice under Section 148 of the Act.

15. Before proceeding to examine the rival contentions advanced on behalf the parties, it would be appropriate to have a look at the relevant provisions of the Act and refer to some pronouncements of the Hon'ble Supreme Court explaining the scope of interference under Article 226 of the Constitution of India while examining the validity of a notice issued under Section 148 of the Income Tax Act.

16. The relevant provisions of Sections 147 and 148 of the Act, as those stood at the relevant time, are being reproduced below: -

"147. Income escaping assessment.-- If the Assessing Officer, has reason to believe that any income chargeable to tax has escaped assessment for any assessment year, he may, subject to the provisions of Sections 148 to 153, assess or reassess such income and also any other income chargeable to tax which has escaped assessment and which comes to his notice subsequently in the course of the proceedings under this section, or recompute the loss or the depreciation allowance or any other allowance, as the case may be, for the assessment year concerned (hereafter in this section and in Sections 148 to 153 referred to as the relevant assessment year):

Explanation 1.--Production before the Assessing Officer of account books or other evidence from which material evidence could with due diligence have been discovered by the Assessing Officer will not necessarily amount to disclosure within the meaning of the foregoing proviso."

"148. Issue of notice where income has escaped assessment.-- (1) Before making the assessment, reassessment or recomputation under Section 147, the Assessing Officer shall serve on the assessee a notice requiring him to furnish within such period, as may be specified in the notice, a return of his income or the income of any other person in respect of which he is assessable under this Act during the previous year corresponding to the relevant assessment year, in the prescribed form and verified in the prescribed manner and setting forth such other particulars as may be prescribed; and the provisions of this Act shall, so far as may be, apply accordingly as if such return were a return required to be furnished under Section 139:

Provided that .....

(2) The Assessing Officer shall, before issuing any notice under this section, record his reasons for doing so."

(Emphasis supplied)

17. Thus after giving a notice under Section 148 of the Act giving reasons for doing so, the Assessing Officer can pass an order for reassessment if he has reason to believe that any income chargeable to tax has escaped assessment for any assessment year. The Hon'ble Supreme Court has explained the scope of judicial review while examining the validity of a notice under Section 148 of the Act in Raymond Woolen Mills Ltd. Versus I.T.O., (1999) 236 ITR 36 (SC), in which it has been held that at the stage of the notice of reopening of the assessment, the Court has only to see whether there is prima facie some material on the basis of which the Department could reopen the case. The sufficiency or correctness of the material is not a thing to be considered at this stage.

18. Again, in Raymond Woollen Mills Ltd. v. ITO, (2008) 14 SCC 218, the Hon'ble Supreme Court reiterated that while examining the validity of a notice issued under Section 148 of the Income Tax Act, "we do not have to give a final decision as to whether there is suppression of material facts by the assessee or not. We have to see only whether there was prima facie some material on the basis of which the Department could reopen the case. The sufficiency or correctness of the material is not a thing to be considered at this stage."

19. We proceed to examine the rival submissions advanced on behalf of the parties in light of the aforesaid pronouncements of the Hon'ble Supreme Court so as to ascertain as to whether there was prima facie some material on the basis of which the Department could reopen the case, without going into the sufficiency or correctness of the material.

20. Mr. Desh Deepak Chopra, the learned Senior Advocate representing the petitioner, has submitted that in the present case the reassessment proceedings have been initiated merely on the basis of an audit objection raised by the revenue auditor and there was no tangible material with the A.O. suggesting that the income of the petitioner has escaped assessment. In the letter dated 07-02-2020 addressed to the CIT (Audit), the A.O. had himself refused to accept the audit para. Relying upon a decision of the Bombay High Court in CIT versus Rajan, 403 ITR 30, he has submitted that if the A.O. has rejected the audit objection, subsequent re-opening on the same ground of audit objection will not be valid, unless the A.O. shows that there was separate application of mind, which is not found in the present case.

21. Per contra, Sri. Manish Mishra, the learned Counsel for the Income Tax department, has submitted that as per the circular dated 21-07-2017 issued by the CBDT, the authority to accept or reject the Revenue audit objection vests in the Commissioner of Income Tax and the A.O. had no power to reject the audit objection. Therefore, the letter dated 07-02-2020 written by the A.O. to the CIT (Audit) Revenue stating that the audit objection was not acceptable to him, was not of any consequence.

22. It is settled law that the validity of any order has to be adjudged on the basis of the reasons mentioned in the order itself and additional reasons, which are not mentioned in the order itself, cannot be supplied afterwards either to support the order or to challenge it. Since the reasons for issuing the notice under Section 148 stated by the A.O. and approved by the approving authority do not make any mention of the audit para, the petitioner cannot assail the validity of the order for issuance of the notice under Section 148 of the Act on the said ground.

23. Moreover, the petitioner has itself annexed a copy of Instruction No. 07 of 2017 dated 21-07-2017 issued by the CBDT, laying down the Standard Operating Procedure for handling the audit objections and Clause 5.2 thereof provides that the PCIT shall, after calling for a report from AO and Range Head, if needed, take a decision as to whether or not the objection is acceptable. The A.O. had merely sent a report to the CIT (Audit) and he did not have the authority to take a decision regarding the audit objection. Therefore, the ground taken by the learned Counsel for the petitioner regarding the letter dated 07-02-2020 sent by the A.O. not accepting the audit objection, is without any force and the same cannot be accepted.

24. Sri. Chopra has next submitted that the proceedings under Section 147 have been initiated without bringing any fresh tangible material on record, by merely relying upon the documents that were already placed before the A.O. at the time of the original assessment proceedings. Relying upon another decision of the Bombay High Court in Aventis Pharma Ltd. Versus ACIT, (2010) 323 ITR 570 (Bom) he has submitted that it is a settled position of law that re-opening of assessment on the very same issue due to change of opinion in the absence of any fresh material is held to be invalid and bad in law.

25. Relying upon the judgment in Arun Gupta versus Union of India, (2015) 371 ITR 394 (All), the learned Counsel for the petitioner has submitted that even if new facts are discovered from the records already available before the A.O., it would amount to a change of opinion, since there is no fresh tangible material from which the authority to reopen the assessment has emerged.

26. The reasons recorded by the A.O. for initiating the process of re-assessment state that on examination of the documents on record and 26 AS, it was noticed that the petitioner has received payments under Section 194 J also, but it has not shown the said receipts in his P&L account and has not given any explanation for the same. The petitioner has not disclosed the amount of reimbursement of expenses claimed by it and the actual amount received by it towards reimbursement. It has not submitted the details of expenses incurred by it for verification during the assessment proceedings. It did not produce any ledger, bills and vouchers of expenses incurred on behalf of the Principal Companies. As per 26 AS, the total receipts of the assesse under Sections 194 A, 194 C, 194 H and 194 J is Rs.4,66,84,247/- and TDS is Rs.32,14,869/-, whereas it has shown its income at Rs.3,59,59,861/-. Thus the petitioner has shown its income short by Rs.1,07,24,386/- and this income has escaped assessment. Although the assesse had produced the books of account, annual report, P&L account and balance sheet, but the requisite material facts mentioned above were embedded in such a manner that the material facts could not be discovered by the A.O. This material which came to light upon investigation conducted subsequent to passing of the assessment order, would certainly amount to a fresh tangible material giving rise to reason to believe that certain income has escaped assessment necessitating initiation of re-assessment proceedings.

27. From the reasons recorded by the A.O. for initiating the process of re-assessment, we find that the A.O. has recorded his reasons to believe that the petitioner had received payments under Section 194 J also, but it had not shown the said receipts in his P&L account and had not given any explanation for the same. The assesse had not disclosed the amount of reimbursement of expenses claimed by it and the actual amount received by it towards reimbursement. It had not submitted the details of expenses incurred by it for verification during the assessment proceedings. It did not produce any ledger, bills and vouchers of expenses incurred on behalf of the Principal Companies. Thus the petitioner did not make a "full and true" disclosure of all the material facts which resulted in an income of Rs. 1,07,24,386/- having escaped assessment.

28. In Phool Chand Bajrang Lal v. ITO, (1993) 4 SCC 77, the Hon'ble Supreme Court held that: -

"25. From a combined review of the judgments of this Court, it follows that an Income Tax Officer acquires jurisdiction to reopen assessment under Section 147(a) read with Section 148 of the Income Tax Act, 1961 only if on the basis of specific, reliable and relevant information coming to his possession subsequently, he has reasons which he must record, to believe that by reason of omission or failure on the part of the assessee to make a true and full disclosure of all material facts necessary for his assessment during the concluded assessment proceedings, any part of his income, profit or gains chargeable to income tax has escaped assessment. He may start reassessment proceedings either because some fresh facts come to light which were not previously disclosed or some information with regard to the facts previously disclosed comes into his possession which tends to expose the untruthfulness of those facts. In such situations, it is not a case of mere change of opinion or the drawing of a different inference from the same facts as were earlier available but acting on fresh information. Since, the belief is that of the Income Tax Officer, the sufficiency of reasons for forming the belief, is not for the Court to judge but it is open to an assessee to establish that there in fact existed no belief or that the belief was not at all a bona fide one or was based on vague, irrelevant and non-specific information. To that limited extent, the Court may look into the conclusion arrived at by the Income Tax Officer and examine whether there was any material available on the record from which the requisite belief could be formed by the Income Tax Officer and further whether that material had any rational connection or a live link for the formation of the requisite belief. It would be immaterial whether the Income Tax Officer at the time of making the original assessment could or, could not have found by further enquiry or investigation, whether the transaction was genuine or not, if on the basis of subsequent information, the Income Tax Officer arrives at a conclusion, after satisfying the twin conditions prescribed in Section 147(a) of the Act, that the assessee had not made a full and true disclosure of the material facts at the time of original assessment and therefore income chargeable to tax had escaped assessment."

29. In Srikrishna (P) Ltd. v. ITO, (1996) 9 SCC 534, the Hon'ble Supreme Court held that: -

"Now, what needs to be emphasised is that the obligation on the assessee to disclose the material facts -- or what are called, primary facts -- is not a mere disclosure but a disclosure which is full and true. A false disclosure is not a true disclosure. The disclosure must not only be true but must be full -- "fully and truly". A false assertion, or statement, of material fact, therefore, attracts the jurisdiction of the Income Tax Officer under Sections 34/147. Take this very case: the Income Tax Officer says that on the basis of investigations and enquiries made during the assessment proceedings relating to the subsequent assessment year, he has come into possession of material, on the basis of which, he has reasons to believe that the assessee had put forward certain bogus and false unsecured hundi loans said to have been taken by him from non-existent persons or his dummies, as the case may be, and that on that account income chargeable to tax has escaped assessment. According to him, this was a false assertion to the knowledge of the assessee. The Income Tax Officer says that during the assessment relating to subsequent assessment year, similar loans

(from some of these very persons) were found to be bogus. On that basis, he seeks to reopen the assessment. It is necessary to remember that we are at the stage of reopening only. The question is whether, in the above circumstances, the assessee can say, with any justification, that he had fully and truly disclosed the material facts necessary for his assessment for that year. Having created and recorded bogus entries of loans, with what face can the assessee say that he had truly and fully disclosed all material facts necessary for his assessment for that year? True it is that Income Tax Officer could have investigated the truth of the said assertion -- which he actually did in the subsequent assessment year -- but that does not relieve the assessee of his obligation, placed upon him by the statute, to disclose fully and truly all material facts. Indubitably, whether a loan, alleged to have been taken by the assessee, is true or false, is a material fact -- and not an inference, factual or legal, to be drawn from given facts. In this case, it is shown to us that ten persons (who are alleged to have advanced loans to the assessee in a total sum of Rs 3,80,000 out of the total hundi loans of Rs 8,53,298) were established to be bogus persons or mere name-lenders in the assessment proceedings relating to the subsequent assessment year. Does it not furnish a reasonable ground for the Income Tax Officer to believe that on account of the failure -- indeed not a mere failure but a positive design to mislead -- of the assessee to disclose all material facts, fully and truly, necessary for his assessment for that year, income has escaped assessment? We are of the firm opinion that it does. It is necessary to reiterate that we are now at the stage of the validity of the notice under Sections 148/147. The enquiry at this stage is only to see whether there are reasonable grounds for the Income Tax Officer to believe and not whether the omission/failure and the escapement of income is established. It is necessary to keep this distinction in mind.

A recent decision of this Court in Phool Chand Bajrang Lal v. ITO, we are gratified to note, adopts an identical view of law and we are in respectful agreement with it. The decision rightly emphasises the obligation of the assessee to disclose all material facts necessary for making his assessment fully and truly. A false disclosure, it is held, does not satisfy the said requirement. We are also in respectful agreement with the following holding in the said decision"

30. As material facts relevant for the assessment on the issues under consideration were not produced during the assessment proceedings, the A.O. could not examine the issues and could not form an opinion regarding the same during the original assessment proceedings.

31. The meaning of the expression "change of opinion" has been explained by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in CIT v. Techspan India (P) Ltd., (2018) 6 SCC 685, in the following words: -

"16. To check whether it is a case of change of opinion or not one has to see its meaning in literal as well as legal terms. The words "change of opinion" imply formulation of opinion and then a change thereof. In terms of assessment proceedings, it means formulation of belief by an assessing officer resulting from what he thinks on a particular question. It is a result of understanding, experience and reflection.

17. It is well settled and held by this Court in a catena of judgments and it would be sufficient to refer to CIT v. Kelvinator of India Ltd. wherein this Court has held as under: (SCC p. 725, para 5-7)

"5. ... where the assessing officer has reason to believe that income has escaped assessment, confers jurisdiction to reopen the assessment. Therefore, post-1-4-1989, power to reopen is much wider. However, one needs to give a schematic interpretation to the words "reason to believe".... Section 147 would give arbitrary powers to the assessing officer to reopen assessments on the basis of "mere change of opinion", which cannot be per se reason to reopen.

6. We must also keep in mind the conceptual difference between power to review and power to reassess. The assessing officer has no power to review; he has the power to reassess. But reassessment has to be based on fulfilment of certain precondition and if the concept of "change of opinion" is removed, as contended on behalf of the Department, then, in the garb of reopening the assessment, review would take place.

7. One must treat the concept of "change of opinion" as an in-built test to check abuse of power by the assessing officer. Hence, after 1-4-1989, assessing officer has power to reopen, provided there is "tangible material" to come to the conclusion that there is escapement of income from assessment. Reasons must have a live link with the formation of the belief."

18. Before interfering with the proposed reopening of the assessment on the ground that the same is based only on a change in opinion, the court ought to verify whether the assessment earlier made has either expressly or by necessary implication expressed an opinion on a matter which is the basis of the alleged escapement of income that was taxable. If the assessment order is non-speaking, cryptic or perfunctory in nature, it may be difficult to attribute to the assessing officer any opinion on the questions that are raised in the proposed reassessment proceedings. Every attempt to bring to tax, income that has escaped assessment, cannot be absorbed by judicial intervention on an assumed change of opinion even in cases where the order of assessment does not address itself to a given aspect sought to be examined in the reassessment proceedings."

32. In the present case, at the time of making the assessment originally, the Assessing Officer had not formed any opinion regarding the reasons on which the notice under Section 148 of the Act has been issued. To say it more particularly, the A.O. had not formed any opinion regarding receipt of payments by the petitioner under Section 194 J, which had not been shown in its P&L account, non-disclosure of the amount of reimbursement of expenses claimed by it, non-submission of the details of expenses incurred by it for verification during the assessment proceedings and non-production of any ledgers, bills and vouchers of expenses incurred on behalf of the Principal Companies etc. Therefore, it is not a case of "change of opinion" and challenge to the notice under Section 148 of the Act on the ground that it seeks to initiate reassessment on the ground of change of opinion, cannot be accepted.

33. Relying upon a decision of Delhi High Court in United Electrical Co. Ltd. Versus Commissioner of Income Tax, (2002) 258 ITR 317, the learned Counsel for the petitioner has submitted that the Commissioner is required to apply his mind to the proposal put up before him for approval in the light of the material relied upon by the A.O., but in the present case the approval was casually given merely relying upon the reasons to believe as provided by the A.O., without going through the previous records.

34. Section 151 of the Act, which contains the provision for grant of approval to a proposal for issuance of a notice under Section 148 of the Act, is as follows: -

"151. Sanction for issue of notice.-- (1) In a case where an assessment under sub-section (3) of Section 143 or Section 147 has been made for the relevant assessment year, no notice shall be issued under Section 148 by an Assessing Officer, who is below the rank of Assistant Commissioner or Deputy Commissioner, unless the Joint Commissioner is satisfied on the reasons recorded by such Assessing Officer that it is a fit case for the issue of such notice:

Provided that, after the expiry of four years from the end of the relevant assessment year, no such notice shall be issued unless the Principal Chief Commissioner or Chief Commissioner or Principal Commissioner or Commissioner is satisfied, on the reasons recorded by the Assessing Officer aforesaid, that it is a fit case for the issue of such notice."*

35. The order dated 23-03-2021 passed by the approving authority under Section 151 of the Act has been placed on record by the Department and the detailed reasons recorded by the A.O. have been annexed to, and made a part of the order. The approving authority - the PCIT, has stated that he agrees with the comments of the A.O., which were annexed with the order, and has recorded his satisfaction that it was a fit case for issuance of the notice under Section 148 of the Act. The aforesaid order does not indicate non-application of mind by the PCIT to the proposal made by the A.O. and we are not able to accept the submission that the PCIT has granted approval without application of mind to the proposal put up by the A.O.

36. Keeping in view the scope of power of judicial review while scrutinizing a notice issued under Section 148 of the Act as explained in Raymond woolen Mills Ltd. (1) and (2) and Phool Chand Bajarang Lal and Srikrishna (Supra), we do not have to give a final decision as to whether there is suppression of material facts by the assessee or not as the sufficiency or correctness of the material cannot a thing to be considered at this stage. In the instant case, the notice under Section 148 of the Act has been issued by the assessing officer after conducting an investigation and going through the income tax return and other related documents of the petitioner and after forming reason to believe that the petitioner did not truly and fully disclose all the material facts, because of which income amounting to Rs. 1,07,24,386/- has escaped assessment. We are satisfied that there was prima facie material available on record before the assessing officer for issuing a notice for reassessment and the notice under Section 148. The order dated 23-03-2022 passed by the National Faceless Assessment Centre rejecting the petitioner's objections against issuance of the notice, does not suffer from any such illegality as to warrant interference by this Court in exercise of its Writ Jurisdiction, 37. The Writ Petition lacks merits and is, accordingly, dismissed.

38. No order as to costs.

A. Tax Law – Benefit of Classification - Indian Stamp Act,1899 - Sections 47-A - U.P. VAT Act, 2008 - Schedule-2 Part-B Entry no.22 - Customs Tariff Act, 1975 - Note 5 (E) to Chapter 84 - As per the law settled by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of M/s. Xerox India Limited Vs. Commissioner of Customs, Mumbai (infra), this Court finds that the Revisionist is an Authorized Dealer of a Printer manufacturer by the name of Sharp Computer Systems, and although their Printers are multifunctional in nature their components are mainly used for the purpose of printing and their main character is that of a Printer, therefore, the Revision deserves to be allowed. (Para 22)

The Tribunal had not given the benefit of the judgment rendered in M/s. Xerox India Limited Vs. Commissioner of Customs, Mumbai (infra) and not treated Multifunctional Printer as a Computer peripheral only because the manufacturer in the case before the SC had given Certificates with regard to its Printers and various models thereof saying that parts of all such Multifunctional Devices were used to the extent of 75% to 85% for the purpose of printing. The Revisionist had not given any such factual basis for the Tribunal to extend the benefit of judgment rendered in M/s. Xerox India Limited Vs. Commissioner of Customs, Mumbai (infra) to it also. (Para 15)

B. Words and Phrases - "Peripherals" - Longman's Dictionary of Contemporary English - A piece of equipment such as a Visual Display Unit or a Central Processing Unit which is connected to a Computer help in the use of Computer.

Readers Digest Dictionary "peripheral" has been treated as an item of Hardware, such as Modem that is not specifically part of the CPU, but used for the purpose of a Computer.

The Tribunal has found that a Multifunctional Printer does Printing, Scanning, E-Mailing, Faxing, Photocopy etc. and these functions are mostly performed by it independently of the Computer, therefore, it could not be said to be a Computer peripheral like the Visual Display Unit or Modem or such other things which are connected inseparably to a Computer. (Para 17)

C. The Supreme Court in M/s. Xerox India (infra) considered the Customs Act and the General Rules for interpretation of the Schedule-II attached to the Act, more specifically, it dealt with the goods/machinery which had to be classified by reference to such component as gave them their essential character or on the basis of function and what was their major function. In Para 17 of M/s. Xerox India (infra) the SC referred to the Certificate of the manufacturer which clearly showed that the printing function emerges as the main function giving the Multifunctional Machine its essential character. It was used mainly for printing and was attached to the CPU and was able to accept Data in the form of Codes and Signals, which could then be used by its system for printing. (Para 20)

Since the predominant components all related to printing function, the SC was satisfied that the appellants were rightly claiming the benefit on the basis of nature of function that the machines performed and the basis of nature of components. The Court thereafter, gave the appellants the benefit of classification of such imported Multifunctional Machines serving as output device of a Computer as Computer Peripheral. (Para 21)

Revision allowed. (E-4)

Precedent followed:

1. M/s Xerox India Ltd. Vs Commissioner of Customs, Mumbai, (2010) 14 SCC 430 (Para 9)

Present revision challenges order dated 05.07.2014, passed by learned Commercial Tax Tribunal, Bench – III, Lucknow.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Mrs. Sangeeta Chandra, J.)

(1) Heard Shri Sunil Sharma, for the revisionist and Shri Sanjay Sarin, appearing on behalf of the State respondent.

(2) This Revision has been filed against the order dated 05.07.2014 passed by the learned Commercial Tax Tribunal, Bench-III, Lucknow.

(3) The facts in brief as stated by the learned counsel for the revisionist are that the revisionist is a Firm Trading in Photocopies, Printers, Cartridges, Toners and Spares and is registered in the office of the Dy. Commissioner, Commercial Tax, with TIN No.09352304188 under the U.P. Value Added Tax Act, 2008. The Firm has been depositing tax regularly every month. The revisionist having deposited admitted tax alongwith return disclosing sale of Printer under VAT Act as a Computer peripheral admitting 4% tax deposited under Entry 22 of the Schedule which reads as:- "22 -Computer System and Peripherals Electronic Diaries for the Assessment year 2008-09.

(4) The Assessing Authority by its order dated 29.02.2012 assessed the revisionists sale of Multifunctional Printers @ 12% created a dispute of Rs.7,23,387/-. The revisionist had admitted tax @ 4% but the Assessing Authority assessed the sale of Multifunctional Printer under Residuary Entry and therefore taxed it at rates meant for unclassified items under Schedule @ 12.5%.

(5) Learned counsel for the revisionist has argued that a Printer is a specifically designed device only for printing and is admittedly a Computer peripheral. With the advancement of technology, most of such Printers also performed the functions of Scanning, E-Mailing, Faxing and Copying. However such Printers are bought mainly for the purpose of printing and are attached to Computers and they cannot perform their main function without the help of a Computer, therefore, they have to be treated as a Computer peripheral and taxed @ 4%. The Assessing Authority however, concentrated on other functions performed by Multifunctional Printer and treated it as an unclassified item.

(6) The order of the Assessing Authority was challenged by filing an Appeal No.589 of 2012. The said Appeal was dismissed by the Additional Commissioner on 03.07.2013.

(7) Feeling aggrieved the revisionist filed a Second Appeal before the learned Commercial Tax Tribunal, Bench-III, Lucknow, namely Second Appeal No.399 of 2013. During the pendency of the Appeal the Tribunal had stayed 80% of the disputed amount, the revisionist had deposited the remaining 20% before it.

(8) During the pendency of the Second Appeal, the Commissioner in the exercise of powers under Section 59 of the Act passed an order on 05.03.2014 on an application of M/s Neoterric Infomatic Private Limited holding that the primary work of a Multifunctional Printer is that of printing which cannot be performed without the Computer. In common parlance, the Multifunctional Printer is also known as Printer and it should be taxed @ 4% under Schedule-2 Part-B Entry no.22 of the U.P. VAT Act, 2008. Despite such order being passed by the Commissioner and the Revisionist and other Traders being now taxed @ 4% regarding the sale of Multifunctional Printer as Computer peripheral, for the Assessment year 2008-09 with Tribunal did not extend the benefit and rejected the Second Appeal by its order dated 05.07.2014.

(9) It has been argued that such judgment of the Tribunal has been passed contrary to the decision of the Supreme Court in the case of M/s Xerox India Limited Vs. Commissioner of Customs, Mumbai reported in (2010) 14 SCC 430.

(10) Learned counsel for the revisionist has pointed out the questions of law framed in this Revision and the order passed initially by this Court on 09.10.2014 where this Court has admitted the Revision on Question No.2 as framed in the Memo of the Revision. Since after dismissal of the Second Appeal the revisionist had already deposited 20% of the disputed tax liability, the Court did not find it appropriate to pass any order on such tax liability but directed that the Tribunal orders shall remain stayed.

The Question No.2 as framed by the Revisionist is as follows:-

".....Whether the Commercial Tax Tribunal was justified in not giving the benefit/parity of judgment pronounced by the Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of Xerox India Ltd. thereafter?"

(11) Learned counsel appearing for the State respondents has referred to counter affidavit filed by them wherein it has been stated that the original assessment order for the Assessment year 2008-09 was passed on 27.02.2012 and on Multifunctional Device tax was assessed @ 12.5% but the revisionist only admitted tax @ 5% treating the said multifunctional devices as a Computer peripheral. On 08.08.2008, in the case of M/s Neoterric Infomatic Private Limited, the Commissioner Commercial Tax had decided the tax-ability of Multifunctional Device @ 12.5% as an unclassified item, therefore, the First Appellate Authority on the basis of the order dated 08.08.2008 passed by the Commissioner in the case of Neoterric Infomatic Pvt. Ltd. rejected the First Appeal of the revisionist. Neoterric had challenged the order dated 08.08.2008 passed by the Commissioner in Commercial Tax Tribunal and the Tribunal by its order dated 06.06.2013 had remanded the matter to the Commissioner for reconsideration. After remand the Commissioner Commercial Tax, reclassified Multifunctional Device relying upon a decision of the Supreme Court in the case of M/s Xerox India Limited Vs. Commissioner of Customs, Mumbai (supra) under the Category of Computer peripheral under Schedule-II Part-B at sl.no.22 holding taxability @ 4% + 1% Additional tax by an order dated 05.03.2014.

(12) Since the invoice produced by the Revisionist before the Tribunal by the revisionist showed Multifunctional Printer as Multifunctional Device, the Tribunal did not provide the benefit of the order dated 05.03.2014 of the Commissioner and confirmed the order passed by the Assessing Authority and the First Appellate Authority.

(13) It has also been stated in the said counter affidavit that in the case of the Revisionist for Assessment year 2010-11 the First Appellate Authority had cancelled the Assessment order and remanded the matter to the Assessing Authority by its order dated 01.12.2015. The Assessing Authority being satisfied that the case in hand was of a Multifunctional Device/Multifunctional Printer and came under the Category of Computer peripheral had accordingly taxed it @5% by the Assessment order dated 01.12.2015.

(14) Similarly, for the Assessment year 2011-12, by an assessment order dated 02.02.2015 tax has been levied @ 12.5% + 1% Additional Tax and on Appeal the matter was remanded. After remand the Assessing Authority had treated it as a Computer peripheral. Same is the case for Assessment Year 2012-13, wherein the Assessing Authority has treated the Printer in question as Multifunctional Device and taxed it @ 4% + 1% Additional Tax i.e. 5% by its Assessment order dated 02.03.2016.

(15) This Court has perused the impugned order it is apparent from a perusal of the order of the Tribunal that the Tribunal had not given the benefit of the judgment rendered in M/s Xerox India Limited Vs. Commissioner of Customs, Mumbai (supra) and not treated Multifunctional Printer as a Computer peripheral only because the manufacturer in the case before the Supreme Court had given Certificates with regard to its Printers and various models thereof saying that parts of all such Multifunctional Devices were used to the extent of 75% to 85% for the purpose of printing. The Revisionist had not given any such factual basis for the Tribunal to extend the benefit of judgment rendered in M/s Xerox India Limited Vs. Commissioner of Customs, Mumbai (supra) to it also.

(16) Learned counsel for the Revisionist has pointed out that in the supplementary affidavit filed by it, it has annexed a copy of the Certificate issued by the manufacturer on 28.02.2015 namely Sharp Business India Limited wherein it had acknowledged that their Multifunctional Devices are used as Printers, Scanners and Copiers and more than 75% of the parts are used in making a Computer printer. Rest of the other 25% parts are used in making it as a Computer Scanner and Copier.

(17) Such Certificates admittedly was not before the Tribunal. However this is not only the ground on which the Tribunal has rejected the Second Appeal. It has referred also to Dictionaries like Longman's Dictionary of Contemporary English and considered the definition of "peripherals" and observed that a piece of equipment such as a Visual Display Unit or a Central Processing Unit which is connected to a Computer help in the use of Computer. Similarly, in Readers Digest Dictionary "peripheral" has been treated as an item of Hardware, such as Modem that is not specifically part of the CPU, but used for the purpose of a Computer. The Tribunal has found that a Multifunctional Printer does Printing, Scanning, E-Mailing, Faxing, Photocopy etc. which functions are mostly performed by it independently of the Computer, therefore, it could not be said to be a Computer peripheral like the Visual Display Unit or Modem or such other things which are connected inseparably to a Computer.

(18) Since this Revision has been admitted by this Court on the substantial question "whether the judgment in M/s Xerox India Limited Vs. Commissioner of Customs, Mumbai (supra) should have been considered as settling the issue and whether a Tribunal was wrong in not giving its benefit to the revisionist?" This Court has considered the judgment rendered in M/s Xerox India Limited Vs. Commissioner of Customs, Mumbai (supra). It related to Classification under Customs Tariff Act, 1975. The appellants were engaged in a Trading of high technology reproduction and duplicating machines, Printers and multifunctional machines capable of discharging a number of functions. The appellants imported certain machines namely Xerox Regal 5799, Xerox WorkCenter XD100 and Xerox WorkCenter XD155df respectively and sought classification of these imported machines as Computer peripherals. Such machines being used for as Printers, Faxing Machine, Copiers or Scanners, the Customs Authorities classified them as Automatic Inter-Processing Machine used independently of the Computer under the Residuary heading. The Customs Authorities were of the view that Digital Printers were an Automatic Data Processing Unit as such the same were being considered as the unit of Automatic Data Processing Machine. For a peripheral, it should be able to work only with a Computer. The moment it is able to perform independently of a Computer, its claim to be a unit of the computer ceased to hold good. Merely working in conjunction with a computer did not bestow upon it the status of a unit of the computer as a peripheral Machine. Since Digital printer was not classifiable under any specific heading, the same required to be classified under residual heading. It also observed that the Machine is capable of functioning as a stand-alone digital copier, even without a computer and therefore, in terms of Note 5 (E) to Chapter 84 of the Act, the imported machine could not be classified under Heading 84.71. The Appellate Authority while deciding the appeal filed by the appellant has concurred with the finding and conclusion reached by the Deputy Commissioner of Customs.

(19) The appellants were before the Supreme Court explaining the function performed by Printers which work alongwith side a computer. The printing is carried out by the Computers giving command in the form of Digital signals which is transmitted through wires, converted into a readable language, and then printed. The counsel for the Appellants had gone on to explain the function of a Scanner, which converts documents into digital signals for storage in the Computer. In this way , the Scanner and Printer serve as input and output devices for the Computer. Similarly, when it was functioning as a Copier it served as a combined Scanner/Printer. He further explained the purpose of a Digital Scanner, which copies a document and sends it to the Central Processing Unit of the Computer; independently. The Copier can also print on its own after scanning. Thus, according to the learned counsel, a Copier served as a combined Scanner-cum-Printer. The learned counsel submitted that the multifunctional machines (which included Printer, Scanner and Copier) are not automatic data-processing machines (in short ADPM) they served as input and output devices of an ADPM (Computer) and thus they would fall under Sub-Heading 8471.60.

(20) In M/s Xerox India (supra) learned counsel arguing on behalf of the Customs Authorities had pointed out that the machines in question were not Printers simplicitor attached to a Computer but are capable of performing a number of functions independently and no single function could be said to be predominant. The Supreme Court considered the Customs Act and the General Rules for interpretation of the Schedule-II attached to the Act, more specifically, it dealt with the goods/machinery which had to be classified by reference to such component as gave them their essential character or on the basis of function and what was their major function. In Paragraph-17 of M/s Xerox India (supra) the Supreme Court referred to the Certificate of the manufacturer which clearly showed that the printing function emerges as the main function giving the Multifunctional Machine its essential character. It was used mainly for printing and was attached to the Central Processing Unit and was able to accept Data in the form of Codes and Signals, which could then be used by its system for printing.

(21) Since the predominant components all related to printing function, the Supreme Court was satisfied that the appellants were rightly claiming the benefit on the basis of nature of function that the machines performed and the basis of nature of components. The Court thereafter, gave the appellants the benefit of classification of such imported Multifunctional Machines serving as output device of a Computer as Computer Peripheral.

(22) Keeping in mind the law settled by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of M/s Xerox India Limited Vs. Commissioner of Customs, Mumbai (supra), this Court finds that the Revisionist is an Authorized Dealer of a Printer manufacturer by the name of Sharp Computer Systems, and although their Printers are multifunctional in nature their components are mainly used for the purpose of printing and their main character is that of a Printer, therefore, the Revision deserves to be allowed.

(23) The Tribunal committed factual and legal error in treating the multifunctional printers sold by the revisionist as falling in the Residuary category and not giving the benefit of judgment rendered by the Supreme Court in the case of M/s Xerox India Limited Vs. Commissioner of Customs, Mumbai (supra). The order of the Tribunal is hence, set aside.

(24) The Revision is allowed.

(25) The amount of tax is required to be determined afresh, therefore, a copy of this decision shall be sent to the Tribunal for afresh determination of the amount of tax payable by the revisionist.

(26) From the facts as mentioned in the affidavit filed in support of the stay application and the supplementary affidavit, it is evident that only for the Assessment year 2008-09, there was a disputed tax liability and in rest of the years either Assessing Authority or Appellate Authority had accepted the contention of the Revisionist.

(27) The Tribunal shall pass necessary orders taking into account the observations made hereinabove within a period of three months from the date a certified copy of this order is produced before it.

Sales/Trade Tax Revision No. 233 of 2016

The Commissioner, Commercial Tax, U.P. Lucknow ...Revisionist
Versus
S/s Gaurav Gupta, New Delhi ...Opposite Party

Counsel for the Revisionist:
S.C.

Counsel for the Opposite Party:
Sri Naveen Chandra Gupta

A. Tax Law - VAT Act, 2013 - Section 3(8), 17 - U.P. VAT Rules, 2016 - Rules 63(4), 38(7), 38(7)(a) & 38(9) _ U.P. VAT Act, 2008 - Section 2(h)(ix) - The Railway Container Contractor is deemed to be a dealer and is required to get itself registered within the State for transporting the goods. (Para 9)

S. 2(h)(ix), VAT Act provides that the person operating as a Railway Container Contractor shall be deemed to be a dealer and is obliged to provide complete details and address of the consignor and consignee name and address, etc. Further, as per the provision of S.17, VAT Act, the Railway Container Contractor is required to get itself registered under the Act, failing which shall not operate its business within the State. Rule 38(7), VAT Rules prescribes for maintenance of record. Rule 38(7)(a) further provides register in respect of all consignment and goods received by the Railway Container Contractor for transportation and storage is required to be maintained and before receiving the goods, require to obtain declaration in Form - XVIII and before delivery is required to obtain declaration in Form - XX from the owner of the goods. Further, Rule 38(9), VAT Rules provides to preserve all records maintained by the Railway Container Contractor for a period of 8 years after expiry of the assessment order, to which they belong. (Para 8)

B. The Tribunal, before passing the final order, should/must have called for the report from the Assessing Authority of the respective dealer on the books of account produced in support of the claim by the respondents. The Tribunal has failed to do so and just calling for the record of the Department and making certain observations cannot be sustained in the eyes of law. (Para 11)

C. The Tribunal has shifted the burden on the Revenue in the impugned order and has held that the Revenue has failed to bring on record any taxable goods being transported through SLR taken on lease by the respondents. This observation of the Tribunal is perverse and liable to be set aside. (Para 12)

The Tribunal should have kept in mind that the present proceedings are regular proceedings and not reassessment proceedings for which the burden is upon the Revenue for placing materials for escapement of assessment. Since it is a regular assessment for non-payment of tax or there is not liability of tax, it is incumbent upon the dealers to produce such material/such record or other evidence to support their claim. (Para 13)

D. In the event of failure on the part of the dealer to produce evidence, the assessment order cannot be set aside by merely referring the provision of the Act, which, otherwise, supports the claim of the Revenue. In other words, the language of the provision is very clear and straight. (Para 14, 16)

The person, who is doing/operating as a Railway Container Contractor has to follow and abide its activity as per the provision of the U.P. VAT Act, which was enforced in the relevant disputed years. Once the provisions of the VAT Act are applicable upon the respondents to claim any benefit or non-taxable, the respondents are required to produce all the documents, forms, books of account, etc. as prescribed under the Act. (Para 15)

Revisions allowed. Remanded back to Tribunal. (E-4)

Precedent followed:

1. Haryana & ors.Vs Sant Lal & Another, (1993) 4 SCC 380 (Para 4)

Present revisions challenge judgments and orders dated 04.03.2016, passed by the Commercial Tax Tribunal (Bench – I), Ghaziabad.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Piyush Agrawal, J.)

1. Heard Shri A.C. Tripathi, learned Standing Counsel for the revisionist and Shri Naveen Chandra Gupta, learned counsel for the opposite party.

2. These revisions have been filed against the judgements & orders dated 04.03.2016 passed by the Commercial Tax Tribunal (Bench-I), Ghaziabad in Second Appeal Nos. 261, 259 & 260 of 2015 for the assessment year 2010-11, in which following common question of law has been framed:-

"Whether on the facts & in the circumstances of the case, Commercial Tax Tribunal was legally justified in holding that the opposite party is not a dealer and not liable for payment of tax under the provisions of the U.P. Value Added Tax Act?"

3. Learned Standing Counsel submits that it is admitted case between the parties that the opposite party has taken SLR on lease in the passenger train run by the Northern Railways for transporting/ carrying goods of other dealer(s)/person(s) from the station of origin to the station of destination, on which the persons, whose goods are transported, paid the money for such transport. In other words, the opposite party was treated as Railway Container Contractor. Once this fact is admitted between the parties, the opposite party was treated as Railway Container Contractor, then the provisions as provided under the Act and the Rules were required to be fulfilled, i.e., the Railway Container Contractors were required to get themselves registered and follow the procedure for maintaining books of account, relevant forms, as prescribed therein, were required to be filled up and maintained, but the opposite party had, at no stage during the assessment or at the appellate stage, produced any document to discharge its liability. Once the dealer has failed to discharge its liability as provided under the Act, the Tribunal was not justified in accepting the version of the dealer and allowing the appeal by deleting heavy tax imposed upon the opposite party. He prays for allowing the revision.

4. Per contra, learned counsel for the opposite party supports the orders passed by the Tribunal and submits that there is no iota of evidence to show that any taxable goods were found in possession of the dealer so that levy of tax can be justified. At this juncture, he further refers to section 3(8) of the VAT Act providing incident of tax to be levied on possession of taxable goods by the opposite party. He further submits that the primary burden has not been discharged by the Department. Therefore, levy of tax upon the opposite party cannot be justified. He further submits that as per rule 63(4) of the U.P. VAT Rules, records were summoned. On perusal of the records by the Tribunal, no material was found and therefore, the Tribunal has rightly allowed the appeal of the dealer and discharged the liability of tax. He further submits that the Tribunal has rightly interpreted the provisions of the Act and deleted the tax. In support of his submissions, he has placed reliance on the judgement of the Hon'ble Supreme Court in State of Haryana & Others Vs. Sant Lal & Another reported in (1993) 4 SCC 380 (paragraph no. 19) and prays for dismissal of the revision.

5. Heard learned counsel for the parties and perused the records.

6. Admittedly, all the respondents in these revisions have taken SLR's on lease in the Passenger Trains from Northern Railways for transporting/carrying the goods of the person(s) or dealer(s) from the station of origin to the station of destination and charged transportation charges. It is also admitted between the parties that the said activity of the respondents fall or can be classifiable as a Railway Container Contractor as described under section 2(h)(ix) of the U.P. VAT Act as "dealer", as person, who carries on in Uttar Pradesh, a business of distributing goods, directly or indirectly, for cash or deferred payment or for commission, remuneration or other valuable consideration. Section 17 of the VAT Act provides for registration of dealers. Sub-section 6(a) thereof, provides that no Railway Container Contractor shall operate its business of taxable goods in the State without being registered with the registering authority in such manner as may be prescribed.

7. Admittedly, in the normal course of business, the respondents were transporting goods for and on behalf of the person, who sends its goods through SLR of the respondents, from the station of origin to the station of destination. Certain provisions of the UP VAT Act as well as UP VAT Rules, which are relevant for consideration of the issue involved in the present revisions, are quoted herein-below:-

"Section 2(h): "dealer" means any person who carries on in Uttar Pradesh (whether regularly or otherwise) the business of buying, selling, supplying or distributing goods directly or indirectly, for cash or deferred payment or for commission, remuneration or other valuable consideration and includes,

(ix) a railway container contractor, an air cargo operator, a courier service provider, who fails to disclose the name and complete address of consigner or consignee or if discloses such name or address of consigner or consignee is found bogus, forged or not verifiable, or the owner or person in-charge of a vehicle who obtained authorization for transit of goods from the officer in-charge of entry check post but failed to deliver the same to the officer in -charge of the exit check post;

17. Registration of dealers:

(6) (a) No railway container contractor, air cargo operator, courier service provider, or owner or person in-charge of a godown, cold storage or warehouse other than transporter who stores commercial goods, shall operate its business of taxable goods in the State without being registered with the registering authority in such manner as may be prescribed. Any operator of such business shall apply within prescribed period for his registration to the registering authority in the prescribed manner;

Rule 38: Registration of railway container contractor, an air cargo operator, a courier service operator, owner or person incharge of godown or cold storage or warehouse other than transporter:

8(a): Where a railway container contractor, an air cargo operator or a courier service provider, receives any goods from any person for carrying to any destination, he shall require the person to submit a declaration in Form XVII and like wise where a railway container contractor, an air cargo operator or a courier service provider receives any good for delivery he shall obtain declaration in Form XVIII from the person to whom goods are delivered;

Rule 38(9): Every a railway container contractor, an air cargo operator or a courier service provider or an owner or person incharge of godown or cold storage or warehouse other than transporter or carrier shall preserve all records maintained by him for a period of 8 years after the expiry of the assessment year to which they belong."

8. Section 2(h)(ix) of the VAT Act provides the and at the person operating as a Railway Container Contractor shall be deemed to be a dealer and is obliged to provide complete details and address of the consignor and consignee name and address, etc. Further, as per the provision of section 17 of the VAT Act, the Railway Container Contractor is required to get itself registered under the Act, failing which shall not operate its business within the State. Rule 38(7) of the VAT Rules prescribes for maintenance of record. Rule 38(7)(a) of the Rules further provides register in respect of all consignment and goods received by the Railway Container Contractor for transportation and storage is required to be maintained and before receiving the goods, require to obtain declaration in Form - XVIII and before delivery is required to obtain declaration in Form - XX from the owner of the goods. Further, Rule 38(9) of the VAT Rules provides to preserve all records maintained by the Railway Container Contractor for a period of 8 years after expiry of the assessment order, to which they belong.

9. From the perusal of the aforesaid provisions, it is amply clear that the Railway Container Contractor is deemed to be a dealer and is required to get itself registered within the State for transporting the goods. Further, the provisions provide for disclosure of various details, failing which it should be deemed to be the dealer and is liable to be taxed for transportation of goods. Section 3(8)(1) of the Act is quoted below:-

"Section 3: Incidence and levy of tax:-

(3) 8(i) A railway container contractor, an air cargo operator, a courier service provider, who fails to disclose the name and complete address of consigner or consignee or if discloses such name or address of consigner or consignee is found bogus, forged or not verifiable; or the owner or person in-charge of a vehicle who obtained authorization for transit of goods from the officer in-charge of entry check post but failed to deliver the same to the officer in-charge of the exit check post."

10. The aforesaid provision provides for incidence and levy of tax, who fails to disclose the name and complete address of consigner or consignee or if discloses such name or address of consigner or consignee is found bogus, forged or not verifiable.

11. It is nobody's case that the goods during the disputed period/year have not been transported through SLR taken on lease by the respondents. Once this fact is admitted between the parties, the first appellate authority has remanded the matter to the assessing authority empowering to provide an opportunity to the respondents to clarify their position on facts as the assessment order was passed ex parte. The Tribunal, against the remand order, has just allowed the appeal of the respondents by just referring to the provisions of the Act. Further, the Tribunal has observed that on record, there is no information of transport of goods by SLR and therefore, deleted the levy of tax. Once a fact is admitted by the respondents that SLR was taken on lease for transporting the goods, as per the provision was required to take registration and further all the details of the person(s) for whom the goods were transported from the station of origin to the station of destination were required to be maintained by the respondents. The Tribunal ought to have called for the records of the respondents and should & must have recorded a finding of fact after due verification of the books of account. The Tribunal, before passing the final order, should/must have called for the report from the Assessing Authority of the respective dealer on the books of account produced in support of the claim by the respondents. The Tribunal has failed to do so and just calling for the record of the Department and making certain observations cannot be sustained in the eyes of law.

12. It is not the case of the respondents that the SLR was neither taken on lease nor any transportation in the disputed year has been undertaken by them. The Tribunal has shifted the burden on the Revenue in the impugned order and has held that the Revenue has failed to bring on record any taxable goods being transported through SLR taken on lease by the respondents. This observation of the Tribunal is perverse and liable to be set aside.

13. The Tribunal should have kept in mind that the present proceedings are regular proceedings and not reassessment proceedings for which the burden is upon the Revenue for placing materials for escapement of assessment. Since it is a regular assessment for non-payment of tax or there is not liability of tax, it is incumbent upon the dealers to produce such material/such record or other evidence to support their claim.

14. In the event of failure on the part of the dealer to produce such evidence, the assessment order cannot be set aside by merely referring the provision of the Act, which, otherwise, supports the claim of the Revenue. In other words, the language of the provision is very clear and straight.

15. The person, who is doing/operating as a Railway Container Contractor has to follow and abide its activity as per the provision of the U.P. VAT Act, which was enforced in the relevant disputed years. Once the provisions of the VAT Act are applicable upon the respondents to claim any benefit or non-taxable, the respondents are required to produce all the documents, forms, books of account, etc. as prescribed under the Act.

16. In the event of failure by the respondents, the levy of tax cannot be said to be unjustified, but the Tribunal, in the case in hand, has just referred to the provisions and passed the impugned order deleting levy of tax upon the respondents without verifying any books of account or material.

17. In view of the aforesaid facts & circumstances of the case, the impugned orders passed by the Tribunal are set aside. The matter is remanded back to the Tribunal to reconsider the matter afresh in the light of the observations made above and decide the same in accordance with law.

18. The revisions are allowed. The question of law is answered accordingly.

19. It is expected that since the matter is very old, the Tribunal may take all possible effort to decide the same within a period of three months from the date of receipt of a copy of this order.

20. The revisionist undertakes to serve the copy of this order within a a month from today. In the event of failure on the part of the revisionist, the benefit of this order shall not be accorded to the revisionist.

Writ-Tax No. 48 of 2022

M/S Ambuj Food Pvt. Ltd. ...Petitioner
Versus
Principal Comm. Of Income Tax & Ors. ...Respondents

Counsel for the Petitioner:
Pradeep Agrawal

Counsel for the Respondents:
Manish Misra

A. Tax Law – Reassessment - Income Tax Act, 1961 - Sections 148, 143(1), 143(2) & 142(1) - At the stage of the notice of reopening of the assessment, the Court has only to see whether there is prima facie some material on the basis of which the Department could reopen the case. The sufficiency or correctness of the material is not a thing to be considered at this stage. (Para 14)

The detailed discussion made by in the assessment order of the petitioner for the A.Y. 2012-13, it was established that the companies listed (at sl. Nos. 3 to 5 in the chart given) are shell companies used solely for providing accommodation entries and during the A.Y. 2013-14, the petitioner had routed its undisclosed funds amounting to Rs. 95,00,000/- through entry providers and absorbed it in its books of accounts. It is amply evident that the transactions shown by the petitioner (as given in the chart) are not genuine transactions and accommodation entries of pre-arranged share application money and share premium aggregating to Rs. 95,00,000/- was obtained by the petitioner with the help of a syndicate of operators by way of loopholes of the system in A.Y. 2013-14. In this way, the unaccounted money of the petitioner amounting to Rs. 95,00,000/- was routed to its books of accounts. (Para 20)

It would be immaterial whether the Income Tax Officer at the time of making the original assessment could or, could not have found by further enquiry or investigation, whether the transaction was genuine or not, if on the basis of subsequent information, the Income Tax Officer arrives at a conclusion, after satisfying the twin conditions prescribed in Section 147(a) of the Act, that the assessee had not made a full and true disclosure of the material facts at the time of original assessment and therefore income chargeable to tax had escaped assessment. (Para 21)

B. The obligation on the assessee to disclose the material facts -- or what are called, primary facts -- is not a mere disclosure but a disclosure which is full and true. A false disclosure is not a true disclosure. The disclosure must not only be true but must be full -- "fully and truly". (Para 22)

True it is that Income Tax Officer could have investigated the truth of the said assertion--which he actually did in the subsequent assessment year--but that does not relieve the assessee of his obligation, placed upon him by the statute, to disclose fully and truly all material facts. (Para 22)

At the stage of the validity of the notice u/Ss. 148/147, the enquiry is only to see whether there are reasonable grounds for the Income Tax Officer to believe and not whether the omission/failure and the escapement of income is established. It is necessary to keep this distinction in mind. (Para 22)

The facts regarding the petitioner's dealings with shell companies for routing its own unaccounted money into its books of accounts had not been truly and fully disclosed by the petitioner during the original assessment and scrutiny assessment, though the information was embedded in the records produced before the A.O. and could be found out on a detailed scrutiny and investigation. On the basis of information received subsequently, the A.O. has formulated a reason to believe that the petitioner's income amounting to Rs. 95,00,000/- has escaped assessment and this reason cannot be said to have been formulated on the basis of information already available before the A.O. (Para 23)

C. Words and Phrases - "change of opinion" - The words "change of opinion" imply formulation of opinion and then a change thereof. In terms of assessment proceedings, it means formulation of belief by an assessing officer resulting from what he thinks on a particular question. It is a result of understanding, experience and reflection. (Para 25)

Before interfering with the proposed reopening of the assessment on the ground that the same is based only on a change in opinion, the court ought to verify whether the assessment earlier made has either expressly or by necessary implication expressed an opinion on a matter which is the basis of the alleged escapement of income that was taxable.

Every attempt to bring to tax, income that has escaped assessment, cannot be absorbed by judicial intervention on an assumed change of opinion even in cases where the order of assessment does not address itself to a given aspect sought to be examined in the reassessment proceedings. (Para 25)

In the present case, during the original assessment the A.O. had not formed any opinion w.r.t. the facts regarding routing of funds in the garb of share premium, which surfaced from the information received from the ADIT (InVs), Unit-6, Kolkata, the ACIT, Circle-3(2), New Delhi and the ITO (InVs), Unit-4, Kolkata. It was after receipt of this information, that the A.O. examined the records and found that the petitioner had received funds to the tune of Rs. 95,00,000/- by way of routing funds materialized by M/s. Radha Fincom Pvt. Ltd. & others, which were found to be merely paper concerns having no existent and real business. In this way, the unaccounted money of the petitioner amounting to Rs. 95,00,000/- was routed to its books of accounts. (Para 24, 26)

D. The bar of initiating re-assessment proceedings after a lapse of four years since the original assessment contained in the First Proviso appended to S.147 of the Act, would not apply to the present case. The facts regarding the petitioner's dealings with shell companies for routing its own unaccounted money into its books of accounts had not been truly and fully disclosed by the petitioner during the original assessment and scrutiny assessment. Therefore, the present case falls within the exception carved out in the First proviso, "unless any income chargeable to tax has escaped assessment for such assessment year by reason of the failure on the part of the assessee to disclose fully and truly all material facts necessary for his assessment, for that assessment year and the bar of initiating re-assessment proceedings after a lapse of four years since the original assessment contained in the First Proviso appended to Section 147 of the Act, would not apply to the present case.

The fact that information was embedded in the records produced before the A.O. and could be found on a detailed scrutiny and investigation, would not make it a true and full disclosure and as per the Explanation 1 appended to S.147 of the Act. (Para 28, 29)

In the instant case, the notice u/s 148 of the Act has been issued by the assessing officer after receipt of information and conducting an investigation and after forming a reason to believe that the petitioner did not truly and fully disclose all the material facts because of which income amounting to Rs. 95,00,000/- has escaped assessment. There is prima facie material available on record before the assessing officer for issuing a notice for reassessment. (Para 30)

Writ petition dismissed. (E-4)

Present petition challenges the validity of notice dated 31.03.2021, issued by the DCIT Circle Faizabad and order dated 03.03.2022, passed by the National Faceless Assessment Centre, rejecting the objections filed by the petitioner.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Subhash Vidyarthi, J.)

1. Heard Sri Pradeep Agarwal assisted by Sri. Amar Mani Tiwari, Advocate, the learned Counsel for the petitioner and Shri Manish Misra, learned Counsel for the respondents.

2. By means of this Writ Petition filed under Article 226 of the Constitution of India, the petitioner has challenged the validity of a notice dated 31.03.2021 issued by the DCIT Circle Faizabad under Section 148 of the Income Tax Act, 1961 (hereinafter referred to as the 'Act') proposing to assess/reassess the petitioner's income/loss for the assessment year 2013-14 and directing the petitioner to submit a return for the said assessment year. The petitioner has also challenged the order dated 03-03-2022 passed by the National Faceless Assessment Centre, rejecting the objections filed by the petitioner in response to the aforesaid notice.

3. The petitioner's case is that, it had filed its return for the Assessment Year

2013-14 on 05-08-2013 declaring a total income of Rs.3,65,440/-, which was processed on 19-05-2014 under Section 143 (1) of the Act. The case was selected for scrutiny and notices under Section 143 (2) and Section 142 (1) were issued alongwith a questionnaire asking for certain details. The questionnaire inter alia demanded production of all the share capital details of the petitioner's share-holders alongwith PAN and mode of payment for obtaining shares in his name or in the name of family members, and also the details of share premium receipts. The petitioner submitted a reply giving statement of income and complete address of sundry creditors alongwith the details of all investor companies to whom shares were allotted. The petitioner stated that shares were allotted at a premium to some companies. There is no bar in the Companies Act against issuance of shares at a high premium, and there was no such bar in the Income Tax Act.

4. The petitioner submitted that if the shares were issued at fair market value, there was no question of any addition and there was no contravention. The fair market value of the shares could be calculated as per formula given in Rule 110 A of the Act, as per which, the fair market value of the company's share works out to be Rs.206.50. The shares were issued at the fair market value and, therefore, there was no contravention of law.

5. It has also been submitted by the petitioner that the matter of increase in share capital was examined during assessment proceedings under Section 143 (3) of the Act and by means of an order dated 10-11-2014, the petitioner was assessed for a total income of Rs.3,75,440/-. Nothing adverse came out from the information submitted in response to the questionnaire and an addition of Rs.10,000/- only was made to the petitioner's income on account of internally vouched expenses debited in Profit & Loss account.

6. On 31-03-2021, the A.O. issued a notice under Section 148 of the Act for the Assessment Year 2013-14, stating that he had reason to believe that the petitioner's income chargeable to tax has escaped assessment within the meaning of Section 147 of the Act.

7. The reasons for re-opening of assessment states that on the basis of information received from the ADIT (Inv.), Unit - 6, Kolkata, the ACIT, Circle - 3 (2), New Delhi and the ITO (Inv.), Unit - 4, Kolkata, regarding routing of funds in the garb of share premium, the A.O. examined the returns of other assesses and found that the petitioner had received funds to the tune of Rs.95,00,000/- (Rs.4,75,000/- towards share capital and Rs.90,25,000/- towards share premium thereon) by way of routing funds materialized by M/s Radha Fincom Pvt. Ltd. & others in A.Y. 2013-14 As per the departmental database of bogus shell companies, accommodation entry providers and operators, the company was merely a paper concern having no existent and real business. Finally the cases of these assessees for A.Y.2012-13 were re-opened under Section 147 of the Act and after a detailed and in-depth analysis of the information in possession of the office, it was established that the petitioner had routed its own money in the garb of shares application money and share premium through a number of shell companies operating from Kolkata.

8. In the course of analysis, the financial data of succeeding years was also examined, which revealed that all these shares were transferred in the names of the Directors and Institutions related to the Directors of the petitioner company in F.Y. 2015-16, as per details tabulated below: -

	Date of Allotment	Company name	Shares issued	Transferred on	Transferred to
1	30-03-2013	Truthful Dervcon Pvt. Ltd.	12,500	18-08-2014	Rahul Dalmia Beneficiary Trust
2	30-03-2013	Welkin Investments Pvt. Ltd.	12,500	18-08-2014	Rahul Dalmia Beneficiary Trust
3	30-03-2013	Punam Chand Modi Paints Pvt. Ltd.	7,500	18-08-2014	Rahul Dalmia Beneficiary Trust
4	30-03-2013	Gyan Darshan Comodeal Pvt. Ltd.	2,500	01-12-2014	Rahul Dalmia Beneficiary Trust
5	30-03-2013	Radha Fincom Ltd,	12,500	01-12-2014	Rahul Dalmia Beneficiary Trust
		Total	47,500

9. From the detailed discussion made in the assessment order of the petitioner for the A.Y. 2012-13, it was established that the companies listed at sl. nos. 3 to 5 are shell companies used solely for providing accommodation entries and during the A.Y.2013-14, the petitioner had routed its undisclosed funds amounting to Rs.95,00,000/- through entry providers and absorbed it in its books of accounts. It is amply evident that the transactions shown by the petitioner as given in the above chart are not genuine transactions and accommodation entries of pre-arranged share application money and share premium aggregating to Rs.95,00,000/- was obtained by the petitioner with the help of a syndicate of operators by way of loopholes of the system in A.Y. 2013-14. In this way, the unaccounted money of the petitioner amounting to Rs.95,00,000/- was routed to its books of accounts.

10. On 01-09-2021, the petitioner submitted its objections against the notice under Section 148 of the Act mainly on the grounds that the assessment was completed under Section 143 (3) and more than four years have passed from the end of the relevant assessment. Therefore, as per the Proviso appended to Section 147 of the Act, no action under Section 147 of the Act could be initiated unless any income chargeable to tax has escaped assessment because of the fault of the assesse to disclose truly and fully all material facts necessary for the assessment. The issue of share capital had already been examined by the A.O. in depth and no adverse inference could be drawn. Therefore, the notice was barred by the first Proviso to Section 147 of the Act. The petitioner further stated that its case was completed under Section 143 (3) and the replies and supporting documents of the petitioner were already submitted during scrutiny. The assessment cannot be re-opened on the basis of re-examination of the documents already on record, as it would amount to a change of opinion.

11. The petitioner also submitted that the case of the petitioner as well as that of M/s Arohul Foods Pvt. Ltd., which is a sister concern of the petitioner, was re-opened under Section 148 of the Act for A.Y. 2012-13 on similar issue, where re-opening of the case in the matter of M/s Arohul Foods Pvt. Ltd. was quashed by the ITAT, Lucknow Bench vide order dated 11-08-2021.

12. On 03-03-2022, the National Faceless Assessment Centre passed an order rejecting the petitioner's objections stating that in the assessment order, the A.O. has not mentioned anything about the verification of the issue of introduction of new share capital and share premium. Subsequently, based on the information gathered during the course of assessment for A.Y. 2012-13, on examination of the petitioner's balance sheet for A.Y. 2013-14, it was found that the petitioner had received funds to the tune of Rs.95,00,000/- as given in the chart below, by way of routing of funds materialized by M/s Radha Fincom Pvt. Ltd. and others: -

	Name of share holder	Address	Shares issued	Amount received
1	Truthful Dervcon Pvt. Ltd.	7, Ganesh Chandra Avenue	12,500	25,00,000/-
2	Welkin Investments Pvt. Ltd.	P-38, Princep Street, 1st Floor, Room No. 1, Kolkata	12,500	25,00,000/-
3	Punam Chand Modi Paints Pvt. Ltd.	71, Canning Street, Kolkata - 700001	7,500	15,00,000/-
4	Gyan Darshan Comodeal Pvt. Ltd.	133, Canning Street, Kolkata, 700001	2,500	5,00,000/-
5	Radha Fincom Ltd,	133, Canning Street, Kolkata, 700001	12,500	25,00,000/-
		Total	47,500	95,00,000/-

13. It was also stated in the order rejecting objections that during A.Y. 2013-

14 the petitioner had received Rs.25,00,000/- from M/s Radha Fincom Pvt. Ltd. as share capital and share premium. It was reported from the end of the ADIT (Inv.) Unit-6, Kolata that M/s Radha Fincom has generated funds mainly from Ankush Sales Pvt. Ltd., the core company, which was the main distributor of funds after receiving it through channel of companies, which at terminal deposited the amount in their accounts in cash. It was revealed in examination of documents submitted during assessment proceedings that M/s Radha Fincom had also received funds from M/s Ankush Sales Pvt. Ltd. Thus, there was tangible material in possession of the A.O. with regard to transactions entered into by the petitioner with bogus shell companies providing accommodation entries in guise of share capital and share premium. For the aforesaid reasons, the petitioner's objections against the notice under Section 148 of the Act have been rejected by the National Faceless Assessment Centre.

14. Before proceeding to examine the rival contentions advanced on behalf the contesting parties, it would be appropriate to have a look at some pronouncements of the Hon'ble Supreme Court explaining the scope of interference while examining the validity of a notice issued under Section 148 of the Act in a Writ Petition under Article 226 of the Constitution of India. In Raymond Woolen Mills Ltd. Versus I.T.O., (1999) 236 ITR 36 (SC), the Hon'ble Supreme Court has held that at the stage of the notice of reopening of the assessment, the Court has only to see whether there is prima facie some material on the basis of which the Department could reopen the case. The sufficiency or correctness of the material is not a thing to be considered at this stage.

15. Again, in Raymond Woollen Mills Ltd. v. ITO, (2008) 14 SCC 218, the Hon'ble Supreme Court reiterated that while examining the validity of a notice issued under Section 148 of the Income Tax Act, "we do not have to give a final decision as to whether there is a suppression of material facts by the assessee or not. We have only to see whether there was prima facie some material on the basis of which the Department could reopen the case. The sufficiency or correctness of the material is not a thing to be considered at this stage."

16. In light of the aforesaid pronouncements of the Hon'ble Supreme Court we proceed to examine the rival submissions advanced on behalf of the parties so as to ascertain as to whether there was prima facie some material on the basis of which the Department could reopen the case, without going into the sufficiency or correctness of the material.

17. Mr. Pradeep Agrawal, the learned Counsel representing the petitioner, has submitted that the petitioner had fully and truly disclosed the entire material during the assessment proceedings and there is no fresh material for initiation of the proceedings. Drawing attention of the Court to the averments made in paragraph 5 of the order disposing off the petitioner's objection, wherein it is stated that the A.O. has not mentioned anything about the verification on the issue of introduction of new share capital and share premium, he has submitted that the A.O. committed an error, for which the petitioner is being penalized by making the re-assessment. The initiation of the proceedings under Sections 147 / 148 of the Act is based on a review of the existing material, which is not permissible in law. The proceedings initiated after a lapse of more than four years are barred by the First Proviso appended to Section 147 of the Act. The provisions of Sections 147 / 148 of the Act cannot be invoked for making a roving or fishing inquiry on a vague or a remote information pertaining to the earlier year in absence of any specific averment that the income has escaped assessment.

18. Per contra, Sri. Manish Mishra, the learned Counsel for the Income Tax department, has submitted that the petitioner had not made true and full disclosure of all material facts and a mere production of the account books and other material before the A.O., from which the material facts could be discovered by the A.O., would not necessarily amount to full and true disclosure within the meaning of Explanation 1 appended to Section 147 of the Act. The Directorate of Income-tax (System) flagged an information on the insight portal of the A.O. that the petitioner had routed its own money in the garb of share application money and share premium through a number of shell companies operating from Kolkata. From an examination of the petitioner's balance sheet for the A.Y. 2013-14, it was found that the company had received funds to the tune of Rs.95,00,000/- by way of routing of funds materialized by M/s Radha Fincom Pvt. Ltd., which was one among the shell companies through which the share capital and share premium had been collected by the petitioner and which transaction was proved as bogus during the previous A.Y. Although the issue of share capital was examined by the A.O. during scrutiny, but some facts emerged subsequently, upon the information received from the I & CI wing after completion of the assessment proceedings under Section 143 (3) of the Act. The A.O. has issued the process of re-assessment under Section 147 / 148 of the Act as on the basis of information received subsequent to the original assessment, he had reason to believe that the amount of Rs.95,00,000/- received by the petitioner, which was chargeable to tax, had escaped assessment.

19. The reasons recorded by the A.O. for initiating the process of re-assessment state that on the basis of information received from the ADIT (Inv.), Unit - 6, Kolkata, the ACIT, Circle - 3 (2), New Delhi and the ITO (Inv.), Unit - 4, Kolkata, regarding routing of funds in the garb of share premium, the A.O. examined the returns of other assessees and found that the petitioner had received funds to the tune of Rs.95,00,000/- by way of routing of funds materialized by M/s Radha Fincom Pvt. Ltd. & others in A.Y. 2013-14 As per the departmental database of bogus shell companies, accommodation entry providers and operators, the company was merely a paper concern having no existent and real business. Finally the case of these assessees for A.Y.2012-13 were re-opened under Section 147 of the Act and after a detailed and in-depth analysis of the information in possession of the office, it was established that the petitioner had routed its own money in the garb of shares application money and share premium through a number of shell companies operating from Kolkata.

20. The reasons supplied further state that from the detailed discussion made by in the assessment order of the petitioner for the A.Y. 2012-13, it was established that the companies listed at sl. nos. 3 to 5 in the chart given in para 8 above, are shell companies used solely for providing accommodation entries and during the A.Y.2013-14, the petitioner had routed its undisclosed funds amounting to Rs.95,00,000/- through entry providers and absorbed it in its books of accounts. It is amply evident that the transactions shown by the petitioner as given in the chart given in para 8 are not genuine transactions and accommodation entries of pre-arranged share application money and share premium aggregating to Rs.95,00,000/- was obtained by the petitioner with the help of a syndicate of operators by way of loopholes of the system in A.Y. 2013-14. In this way, the unaccounted money of the petitioner amounting to Rs.95,00,000/- was routed to its books of accounts.

21. In Phool Chand Bajrang Lal v. ITO, (1993) 4 SCC 77, the Hon'ble Supreme Court held that: -

"25. From a combined review of the judgments of this Court, it follows that an Income Tax Officer acquires jurisdiction to reopen assessment under Section 147(a) read with Section 148 of the Income Tax Act, 1961 only if on the basis of specific, reliable and relevant information coming to his possession subsequently, he has reasons which he must record, to believe that by reason of omission or failure on the part of the assessee to make a true and full disclosure of all material facts necessary for his assessment during the concluded assessment proceedings, any part of his income, profit or gains chargeable to income tax has escaped assessment. He may start reassessment proceedings either because some fresh facts come to light which were not previously disclosed or some information with regard to the facts previously disclosed comes into his possession which tends to expose the untruthfulness of those facts. In such situations, it is not a case of mere change of opinion or the drawing of a different inference from the same facts as were earlier available but acting on fresh information. Since, the belief is that of the Income Tax Officer, the sufficiency of reasons for forming the belief, is not for the Court to judge but it is open to an assessee to establish that there in fact existed no belief or that the belief was not at all a bona fide one or was based on vague, irrelevant and non-specific information. To that limited extent, the Court may look into the conclusion arrived at by the Income Tax Officer and examine whether there was any material available on the record from which the requisite belief could be formed by the Income Tax Officer and further whether that material had any rational connection or a live link for the formation of the requisite belief. It would be immaterial whether the Income Tax Officer at the time of making the original assessment could or, could not have found by further enquiry or investigation, whether the transaction was genuine or not, if on the basis of subsequent information, the Income Tax Officer arrives at a conclusion, after satisfying the twin conditions prescribed in Section 147(a) of the Act, that the assessee had not made a full and true disclosure of the material facts at the time of original assessment and therefore income chargeable to tax had escaped assessment."

22. In Srikrishna (P) Ltd. v. ITO, (1996) 9 SCC 534, the Hon'ble Supreme Court held that: -

"Now, what needs to be emphasised is that the obligation on the assessee to disclose the material facts -- or what are called, primary facts -- is not a mere disclosure but a disclosure which is full and true. A false disclosure is not a true

disclosure. The disclosure must not only be true but must be full -- "fully and truly". A false assertion, or statement, of material fact, therefore, attracts the jurisdiction of the Income Tax Officer under Sections 34/147. Take this very case: the Income Tax Officer says that on the basis of investigations and enquiries made during the assessment proceedings relating to the subsequent assessment year, he has come into possession of material, on the basis of which, he has reasons to believe that the assessee had put forward certain bogus and false unsecured hundi loans said to have been taken by him from non-existent persons or his dummies, as the case may be, and that on that account income chargeable to tax has escaped assessment. According to him, this was a false assertion to the knowledge of the assessee. The Income Tax Officer says that during the assessment relating to subsequent assessment year, similar loans (from some of these very persons) were found to be bogus. On that basis, he seeks to reopen the assessment. It is necessary to remember that we are at the stage of reopening only. The question is whether, in the above circumstances, the assessee can say, with any justification, that he had fully and truly disclosed the material facts necessary for his assessment for that year. Having created and recorded bogus entries of loans, with what face can the assessee say that he had truly and fully disclosed all material facts necessary for his assessment for that year? True it is that Income Tax Officer could have investigated the truth of the said assertion -- which he actually did in the subsequent assessment year -- but that does not relieve the assessee of his obligation, placed upon him by the statute, to disclose fully and truly all material facts. Indubitably, whether a loan, alleged to have been taken by the assessee, is true or false, is a material fact -- and not an inference, factual or legal, to be drawn from given facts. In this case, it is shown to us that ten persons (who are alleged to have advanced loans to the assessee in a total sum of Rs 3,80,000 out of the total hundi loans of Rs 8,53,298) were established to be bogus persons or mere name-lenders in the assessment proceedings relating to the subsequent assessment year. Does it not furnish a reasonable ground for the Income Tax Officer to believe that on account of the failure -- indeed not a mere failure but a positive design to mislead -- of the assessee to disclose all material facts, fully and truly, necessary for his assessment for that year, income has escaped assessment? We are of the firm opinion that it does. It is necessary to reiterate that we are now at the stage of the validity of the notice under Sections 148/147. The enquiry at this stage is only to see whether there are reasonable grounds for the Income Tax Officer to believe and not whether the omission/failure and the escapement of income is established. It is necessary to keep this distinction in mind.

10. A recent decision of this Court in Phool Chand Bajrang Lal v. ITO, we are gratified to note, adopts an identical view of law and we are in respectful agreement with it. The decision rightly emphasises the obligation of the assessee to disclose all material facts necessary for making his assessment fully and truly. A false disclosure, it is held, does not satisfy the said requirement. We are also in respectful agreement with the following holding in the said decision"

23. From the reasons for initiating the process of re-assessment, we find that the aforesaid facts regarding the petitioner's dealings with shell companies for routing its own unaccounted money into its books of accounts had not been truly and fully disclosed by the petitioner during the original assessment and scrutiny assessment, though the information was embedded in the records produced before the A.O. and could be found out on a detailed scrutiny and investigation. On the basis of information received subsequently, the A.O. has formulated a reason to believe that the petitioner's income amounting to Rs.95,00,000/- has escaped assessment and this reason cannot be said to have been formulated on the basis of information already available before the A.O. Therefore, the submission to this effect made by the learned Counsel for the petitioner cannot be accepted.

24. Now we consider the next submission made on behalf of the petitioner, that the initiation of the proceedings under Sections 147 / 148 of the Act is based on a review of the existing material, which is not permissible in law. From the discussion made above, it is clear that the fact that the petitioner had routed its undisclosed funds amounting to Rs.95,00,000/- through entry providers and absorbed it in its books of accounts by way of accommodation entries of pre-arranged share application money and share premium with the help of a syndicate of operators and thus an unaccounted money of the petitioner amounting to Rs.95,00,000/- was routed to its books of accounts, had not been examined by the AO during the original assessment for want of a full and true disclosure of facts by the petitioner. Therefore, the A.O. did not examine the aforesaid issues and he did not form an opinion regarding the same during the original assessment proceedings.

25. The meaning of the expression "change of opinion" has been explained by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in CIT v. Techspan India (P) Ltd., (2018) 6 SCC 685, in the following words: -

"16. To check whether it is a case of change of opinion or not one has to see its meaning in literal as well as legal terms. The words "change of opinion" imply formulation of opinion and then a change thereof. In terms of assessment proceedings, it means formulation of belief by an assessing officer resulting from what he thinks on a particular question. It is a result of understanding, experience and reflection.

17. It is well settled and held by this Court in a catena of judgments and it would be sufficient to refer to CIT v. Kelvinator of India Ltd. wherein this Court has held as under: (SCC p. 725, para 5-7)

"5. ... where the assessing officer has reason to believe that income has escaped assessment, confers jurisdiction to reopen the assessment. Therefore, post-1-4-1989, power to reopen is much wider. However, one needs to give a schematic interpretation to the words "reason to believe".... Section 147 would give arbitrary powers to the assessing officer to reopen assessments on the basis of "mere change of opinion", which cannot be per se reason to reopen.

6. We must also keep in mind the conceptual difference between power to review and power to reassess. The assessing officer has no power to review; he has the power to reassess. But reassessment has to be based on fulfilment of certain precondition and if the concept of "change of opinion" is removed, as contended on behalf of the Department, then, in the garb of reopening the assessment, review would take place.

7. One must treat the concept of "change of opinion" as an in-built test to check abuse of power by the assessing officer. Hence, after 1-4-1989, assessing officer has power to reopen, provided there is "tangible material" to come to the conclusion that there is escapement of income from assessment. Reasons must have a live link with the formation of the belief."

18. Before interfering with the proposed reopening of the assessment on the ground that the same is based only on a change in opinion, the court ought to verify whether the assessment earlier made has either expressly or by necessary implication expressed an opinion on a matter which is the basis of the alleged escapement of income that was taxable. If the assessment order is non-speaking, cryptic or perfunctory in nature, it may be difficult to attribute to the assessing officer any opinion on the questions that are raised in the proposed reassessment proceedings. Every attempt to bring to tax, income that has escaped assessment, cannot be absorbed by judicial intervention on an assumed change of opinion even in cases where the order of assessment does not address itself to a given aspect sought to be examined in the reassessment proceedings."

26. In the present case, during the original assessment the A.O. had not formed any opinion in respect of the facts regarding routing of funds in the garb of share premium, which surfaced from the information received from the ADIT (Inv.), Unit - 6, Kolkata, the ACIT, Circle - 3 (2), New Delhi and the ITO (Inv.), Unit - 4, Kolkata. It was after receipt of this information, that the A.O. examined the records and found that the petitioner had received funds to the tune of Rs.95,00,000/- by way of routing funds materialized by M/s Radha Fincom Pvt. Ltd. & others, which were found to be merely paper concerns having no existent and real business. In this way, the unaccounted money of the petitioner amounting to Rs.95,00,000/- was routed to its books of accounts.

27. Regarding the submission of the learned Counsel for the petitioner, that assessment of the petitioner as well as that of M/s Arohul Foods Pvt. Ltd., which is a sister concern of the petitioner, was re-opened under Section 148 of the Act for A.Y. 2012-13 on similar issue, where re-opening of the case in the matter of M/s Arohul Foods Pvt. Ltd. was quashed by the ITAT, Lucknow Bench vide order dated 11-08-2021, it has been stated in the Counter affidavit that the department has not accepted the order of the ITAT and has challenged the order by filing an appeal under Section 260 A of the Act. Even otherwise, an order passed by the ITAT would not be relevant when the validity of the re-assessment is being examined by this Court in a Writ Petition.

28. Regarding the petitioner's submission that the proceedings initiated after a lapse of more than four years are barred by the First Proviso appended to Section 147 of the Act, we find that Section 147 of the Act, as it stood at the relevant time, was as follows: -

"147. Income escaping assessment.-- If the Assessing Officer, has reason to believe that any income chargeable to tax has escaped assessment for any assessment year, he may, subject to the provisions of Sections 148 to 153, assess or reassess such income and also any other income chargeable to tax which has escaped assessment and which comes to his notice subsequently in the course of the proceedings under this section, or recompute the loss or the depreciation allowance or any other allowance, as the case may be, for the assessment year concerned (hereafter in this section and in Sections 148 to 153 referred to as the relevant assessment year):

Provided that where an assessment under sub-section (3) of Section 143 or this section has been made for the relevant assessment year, no action shall be taken under this section after the expiry of four years from the end of the relevant assessment year, unless any income chargeable to tax has escaped assessment for such assessment year by reason of the failure on the part of the assessee to make a return under Section 139 or in response to a notice issued under sub-section (1) of Section 142 or Section 148 or to disclose fully and truly all material facts necessary for his assessment, for that assessment year:*

Explanation 1.--Production before the Assessing Officer of account books or other evidence from which material evidence could with due diligence have been discovered by the Assessing Officer will not necessarily amount to disclosure within the meaning of the foregoing proviso."

29. As is evident from the discussion made in the preceding paragraphs of this judgment, the facts regarding the petitioner's dealings with shell companies for routing its own unaccounted money into its books of accounts had not been truly and fully disclosed by the petitioner during the original assessment and scrutiny assessment. Therefore, the present case falls within the exception carved out in the First proviso, "unless any income chargeable to tax has escaped assessment for such assessment year by reason of the failure on the part of the assesse to disclose fully and truly all material facts necessary for his assessment, for that assessment year and the bar of initiating re-assessment proceedings after a lapse of four years since the original assessment contained in the First Proviso appended to Section 147 of the Act, would not apply to the present case. The information was embedded in the records produced before the A.O. and could be found on a detailed scrutiny and investigation, it would not make it a true and full disclosure and as per the Explanation 1 appended to Section 147 of the Act. Therefore, the submission to this effect made by the learned Counsel for the petitioner cannot be accepted.

30. Keeping into view the scope of power of judicial review while scrutinizing a notice issued under Section 148 of the Act as explained in Raymond woolen Mills Ltd. (1) and (2) and Phool Chand Bajarang Lal and Srikrishna (Supra), we do not have to give a final decision as to whether there is suppression of material facts by the assessee or not and the sufficiency or correctness of the material need not be considered at this stage. In the instant case, the notice under Section 148 of the Act has been issued by the assessing officer after receipt of information and conducting an investigation and after forming a reason to believe that the petitioner did not truly and fully disclose all the material facts because of which income amounting to Rs. 95,00,000/- has escaped assessment. We are satisfied that there is prima facie material available on record before the assessing officer for issuing a notice for reassessment. Thus, the notice under Section 148 as well as the order dated 03-03-2022 passed by the National Faceless Assessment Centre rejecting the petitioner's objections against issuance of the notice, do not suffer from any such illegality as to warrant interference by this Court in exercise of its Writ Jurisdiction.

31. The Writ Petition lacks merits and is, accordingly, dismissed. However, there will be no order as to costs.

Subject: Guidelines for disallowing debit of electronic credit ledger under Rule 86A of the UPGST Rules, 2017 -Reg.

Rule 86A of the Uttar Pradesh Goods and Services Tax Rules, 2017 (hereinafter referred to as "the Rules") provides that in certain circumstances, Commissioner or an officer authorised by him, on the basis of reasonable belief that credit of input tax available in the electronic credit ledger has been fraudulently availed or is ineligible, may not allow debit of an amount equivalent to such credit in electronic credit ledger.

2. Doubts have been raised by the field formations on various issues pertaining to disallowing debit of input tax credit from electronic credit ledger, under rule 86A of the Rules. Further, Hon'ble High Courts in some cases have emphasized the need for laying down guidelines for the purpose of invoking rule 86A. In view of the above, the following guidelines are hereby issued with respect to exercise of power under rule 86A of the Rules:

3.1 Grounds for disallowing debit of an amount from electronic credit ledger:

3.1.1 Rule 86A of the Rules is reproduced hereunder for reference:

"86A. Conditions of use of amount available in electronic credit ledger.-

(1) The Commissioner or an officer authorised by him in this behalf, not below the rank of an Assistant Commissioner, having reasons to believe that credit of input tax available in the electronic credit ledger has been fraudulently availed or is ineligible in as much as-

a) the credit of input tax has been availed on the strength of tax invoices or debit notes or any other document prescribed under rule 36-

i. issued by a registered person who has been found non-existent or not to be conducting any business from any place for which registration has been obtained; or

ii. without receipt of goods or services or both; or

b) the credit of input tax has been availed on the strength of tax invoices or debit notes or any other document prescribed under rule 36 in respect of any supply, the tax charged in respect of which has not been paid to the Government; or

c) the registered person availing the credit of input tax has been found non-existent or not to be conducting any business from any place for which registration has been obtained; or

d) the registered person availing any credit of input tax is not in possession of a tax invoice or debit note or any other document prescribed under rule 36, may, for reason to be recorded in writing, not allow debit of an amount equivalent to such credit in electronic credit ledger for discharge of any liability under section 49 or for claim of any refund of any unutilised amount.

(2) The Commissioner, or the officer authorised by him under sub-rule (l) may, upon being satisfied that conditions for disallowing debit of electronic credit ledger as above, no longer exist, allow such debit.

(3) Such restriction shall cease to have effect after the expiry of a period of one year from the date of imposing such restriction. "

3.1.2 Perusal of the rule makes it clear that the Commissioner, or an officer* authorised by him, not below the rank of Assistant Commissioner, must have "reasons to believe" that credit of input tax available in the electronic credit ledger is either ineligible or has been fraudulently availed by the registered person, before disallowing the debit of amount from electronic credit ledger of the said registered person under rule 86A. The reasons for such belief must be based only on one or more of the following grounds:

a) The credit is availed by the registered person on the invoices or debit notes issued by a supplier, who is found to be non-existent or is found not to be conducting any business from the place declared in registration.

b) The credit is availed by the registered person on invoices or debit notes, without actually receiving any goods or services or both.

c) The credit is availed by the registered person on invoices or debit notes, the tax in respect of which has not been paid to the government.

d) The registered person claiming the credit is found to be non-existent or is found not to be conducting any business from the place declared in registration.

e) The credit is availed by the registered person without having any invoice or debit note or any other valid document for it.

3.1.3 The Commissioner. or an officer authorised by him, not below the rank of Assistant commissioner, must form an opinion for disallowing debit of an amount from electronic credit ledger in respect of a registered person only after proper application of mind considering all the facts of the case, including the nature of prima facie fraudulently availed or ineligible input tax credit and whether the same is covered under the grounds mentioned in sub-rule (l) of rule 86A as discussed in para 3.1.2 above; the amount of input tax credit involved; and whether disallowing such debit of electronic credit ledger of a person is necessary for restricting him from utilizing/ passing on fraudulently availed or ineligible input tax credit to protect the interests of revenue.*

3.1.4 It is reiterated that the power of disallowing debit of amount from electronic credit ledger must not be exercised in a mechanical manner and careful examination of all the facts of the case is important to determine case(s) fit for exercising power under rule 86A. The remedy of disallowing debit of amount from electronic credit ledger being, by its very nature. extraordinary has to be resorted to with utmost circumspection and with maximum care and caution. It contemplates an objective determination based on intelligent care and evaluation as distinguished from a purely subjective consideration of suspicion. The reasons are to be on the basis of material evidence available or gathered in relation to fraudulent availment of input tax credit or ineligible input tax credit availed as per the conditions/grounds under sub-rule (1) of rule 86A.*

3.2 Proper authority for the purpose of Rule 86A

3.2.1 The Commissioner is the proper officer for the purpose of exercising powers for disallowing the debit of amount from electronic credit ledger of a registered person under rule 86A. However, Commissioner can also authorize any officer subordinate to him, not below the rank of Assistant Commissioner, to be the proper officer for exercising such power under rule 86A. In exercise of powers conferred by Rule 86A; the officers authorised by the Commissioner on the* basis of monetary limits are as mentioned below:

Total amount of ineligible or fraudulently availed input tax credit	Officer to disallow debit of amount from electronic credit ledger under rule 86A
Not exceeding Rupees 1 crore	Deputy Commissioner/ Assistant Commissioner as per their jurisdiction;
Above Rupees 1 crore but not exceeding Rs 5 crore	Joint Commissioner (Executive)/ Joint Commissioner (Corporate circle) as per their jurisdiction;

3.2.2 Where during the course of Audit under section 65 or 66 of UPGST Act, 2017 it is noticed that any input tax credit has been fraudulently availed or is ineligible as per the grounds mentioned in sub-rule (l) of rule 86A, which may require disallowing debit of electronic credit ledger under rule 86A, the concerned Joint Commissioner of UPGST Audit may refer the same to the jurisdictional UPSGST Officer for examination of the matter for exercise of power under rule 86A.

3.3 Procedure for disallowing debit of electronic credit ledger/blocking credit under Rule 86(A):

3.3.1 The amount of fraudulently availed or ineligible input tax credit availed by the registered person, as per the grounds mentioned in sub-rule (1) of rule 86A, shall be prima facie ascertained based on material evidence available or gathered on record. It is advised that the powers under rule 86A to disallow debit of the amount from electronic credit ledger of the registered person may be exercised by the Commissioner or the officer authorized by him, as per the monetary limits detailed in Para 3.2.1 above. The officer should apply his mind as to whether there are reasons to believe that the input tax credit availed by the registered person has either been fraudulently availed or is ineligible, as per conditions/ grounds mentioned in sub-rule (1) of rule 86A and whether disallowing such debit of electronic credit ledger of the said person is necessary for restricting him from utilizing/ passing on fraudulently availed or ineligible input tax credit to protect the interests of revenue. Such "Reasons to believe" shall be duly recorded by the concerned officer in writing on file, before he proceeds to disallow debit of amount from electronic credit ledger of the said person.

3.3.2 The amount disallowed for debit from electronic credit ledger should not be more than the amount of input tax credit which is believed to have been fraudulently availed or is ineligible, as per the conditions/ grounds mentioned in sub-rule (l) of rule 86A.

3.3.3 The action by the commissioner or the authorized officer, as the case may be, to disallow debit from electronic credit ledger of a registered person, is informed on the portal to the concerned registered person, along with the details of the officer who has disallowed such debit.

3.4 Allowing debit of disallowed/ restricted credit under sub-rule (2) of Rule 86A:

The Commissioner or the authorized officer, as the case may be, either on his own or based on the submissions made by the taxpayer with material evidence thereof, may examine the matter afresh and on being satisfied that the input tax credit, initially considered to be fraudulently availed or ineligible as per conditions of sub-rule (1) of rule 86A, is no more ineligible or wrongly availed, either partially or fully, may allow the use of the credit' so disallowed/restricted, up to the extent of eligibility, as per powers granted under sub-rule (2) of rule 86A. Reasons for allowing the debit of electronic credit ledger, which had been earlier disallowed, shall be duly recorded on file in writing, before allowing such debit of electronic credit ledger.

3.4.1 The restriction imposed as per sub-rule (1) of rule 86A shall cease to have effect after the expiration of a period of one year from the date of imposing such restriction. In other words, upon expiration of one year from the date of restriction, the registered person would be able to debit input tax credit so disallowed, subject to any other action that may be taken against the registered person.

3.4.2 As the restriction on debit of electronic credit ledger under sub-rule (1) of rule 86A is resorted to protect the interests of the revenue and the said action also has bearing on the working capital of the registered person, it should be endeavored that in all such cases' the investigation and adjudication are completed at the earliest, well within the period of restriction, so that the due liability arising out of the same can be recovered from the said taxable person and the purpose of disallowing debit from electronic credit ledger is achieved.

4. Difficulty, if any, in implementation of the above guidelines may please be brought to the notice of the Undersigned."

4. From perusal of Rule 86 A(2) of the C.G. & S.T./U.P. G. & S.T. Rules, 2017, and paragraph 3.4 of the aforequoted guidelines of the Commercial Tax we are of the view that the petitioners should first approach the authorised Officer raising objections against the blocking of the input tax credit and the said authority would be under an obligation to decide the objection within a time bound period.

5. In view of the aforesaid, we disposed off all these writ petitions giving liberty to the petitioners to submit objections before the Commissioner or the authorisied Officer, as the case may be, under Rule 86 A(2) of the C.G.S.T. /U.P.G.S.T. Rules, 2017, within two weeks from today alongwith certified copy of this order and in the event objections are submitted by the petitioners within the stipulated period, the same shall be decided by the concerned Authority Officer in accordance with law, by a speaking and reasoned order, within next three weeks, after affording reasonable opportunity of hearing to the petitioners.

6. It is made clear that we have not expressed any opinion on merits of the case.

Counsel for the Revisionist:

Counsel for the Respondents:
C.S.C.

A. Tax Law – Jurisdiction – Permission for Reassessment - U.P. VAT Act,2008 - Sections 29, 31 & 56(1) - The power of the Commissioner is not in question in the present revision as per S. 56(1) of the Act. The issue involved is only confined to the initiation of the reassessment proceedings by the assessing authority seeking permission of the Commissioner to reassess the revisionist u/s 56(1) of the Act. If this procedure is permitted, then S. 29 of the Act provides for reassessment will become redundant. Once there is a specific provision empowering authorities to act as per the procedure, the same must be adhered to. Any deviation from such procedure will cause havoc in the State. (Para 20)

B. Section 56 of the VAT Act would reveal that the section has wide power, but seeking of permission by the assessing authority for making reassessment of the dealer is not conferred under the said provision. For reassessment, different provision has been prescribed under the VAT Act, i.e., S.29 and its sub-sections. (Para 22)

It is not the case of the Department that section has wrongly been quoted, but specifically the Joint Commissioner (Executive), in the opening paragraph of the order u/s 56(1) of the VAT Act while granting permission, has mentioned the fact that the permission for reassessment is sought by the assessing authority and the permission has wrongly been granted by the Joint Commissioner (Executive). The Joint Commissioner (Executive) has exceeded in his jurisdiction, which has been endorsed by the Tribunal without looking into the provisions of the Act, which is very clear. In the opinion of this Court, the Tribunal should have allowed the dealer's appeal. (Para 22)

Revision is allowed with cost of Rs.5000/-. (E-4)

Precedent distinguished:

1. M/s Samrat Carpet Vs CTT, 1999 UPTC 1023 (Para 3)

Present revision challenges the judgement and order dated 17.11.2016, passed by the Commercial Tax Tribunal, Bench – 2, Kanpur.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Piyush Agrawal, J.)

1. Heard Shri Vishnu Kesarwani, learned counsel for the revisionist and Shri A.C. Tripathi, learned Standing Counsel for the opposite party.

2. The present revision has been filed against the judgement & order dated 17.11.2016 passed by the Commercial Tax Tribunal, Bench - 2, Kanpur in Second Appeal No. 136 of 2016 for the assessment year 2009-10 arising out of the proceedings initiated under section 56(1) of the U.P. VAT Act, in which following questions of law have been framed:-

"(i) Whether in view of the facts & circumstances, the Tribunal's act and decision holding the learned Joint Commissioner' Order legal was in accordance with Act.

(iv) Whether section 56(1) of the Act permits the Assessing Officer to refer the case to the Commissioner or Joint Commissioner for assessment/re-assessment?"

3. Learned counsel for the applicant submits that the proceedings initiated under section 56(1) of the VAT Act against the applicant are bad and without authority of law, as the assessing authority has sought permission for reassessment on various grounds under section 56(1) of the VAT Act. On issuance of notice, the dealer has specifically objected for initiation of proceedings under section 56(1) of the VAT Act. Copy of reply to the notice has been annexed as Annexure No. 6 to the revision. He submits that while passing the order dated 30.09.2016, the Joint Commissioner (Executive), Kanpur has specifically notices on the opening paragraph of its order (Annexure No. 7 to the revision), but failed to decide the core issue as to whether the permission can be granted to the assessing authority for reassessment under section 56(1) of the Act. On appeal before the Tribunal, again specific ground no. 11 was taken raising the issue of initiation of jurisdiction by the Commissioner granting permission to reassess the assessee. The Tribunal, while deciding the issue has referred to the judgement of this Court in M/s Samrat Carpet Vs. CTT reported in 1999 UPTC 1023 and held that the Commissioner had power to grant permission for reassessment, which is bad. He prays for allowing the revision.

4. Per contra, learned Standing Counsel supports the initiation of proceedings and the order passed by the authorities below. He submits that the Commissioner has a power under section 56(1) of the VAT Act to revise the order of the assessing authority and therefore, the order is justified. He prays for dismissal of the revision.

5. The Court has perused the record.

6. Admittedly, the proceedings have been initiated under section 56(1) of the VAT Act seeking permission by the assessing authority to reassess the dealer on certain points. In pursuance thereof, notice was issued. In reply to the said notice, an objection was raised by the dealer objecting for initiation of proceedings and the competence of the authority for granting such permission under section 56(1) of the VAT Act. Copy of the reply has been annexed as Annexure No. 6 to the revision. Relevant portion is at page 76, which is quoted below:-

"6- यह कि प्रश्नगत नोटिस के पैरा-2 में कर निर्धारिक अधिकारी द्वारा कर निर्धारण आदेश एवं पुनः कर निर्धारण आदेश की अनुमति मांगे जाने का उल्लेख किया गया है। अधिनियम की धारा- 56(1) से स्पष्ट है कि कमिश्नर या कमिश्नर द्वारा प्राधिकृत अधिकारी को धारा- 56(1) के अन्तर्गत कर निर्धारण आदेश के पुनरीक्षण की शक्ति कुछ शर्तो के अधीन प्राप्त है। प्रश्नगत नोटिस में अंकित भाषा से स्पष्ट है कि कर निर्धारण आदेश का पुनरीक्षण माननीय कमिश्नर या उसके द्वारा प्राधिकृत अधिकारी द्वारा नहीं किया गया है, बल्कि कर निर्धारण अधिकारी द्वारा अधिनियम की धारा-56(2) में कर निर्धारण आदेश को संशोधित/पुनः कर निर्धारण करने की अनुमति मांगी गई। अतः प्रश्नगत प्रकरण में धारा- 56(2) के अन्तर्गत कृत कार्यवाही आरम्भतः अवैध एवं शून्य है।"

7. While granting permission under section 56(1) of the VAT Act, the Joint Commissioner (Executive), in its order dated 30.09.2016, has stated as under:-

"व्यापारी का वर्ष 2009-10 प्रान्तीय वाद में असिस्टेंट कमिश्नगर, वाणिज्यकर, खण्ड-9, कानपुर द्वारा धारा-56 के अन्तर्गत पुनः कर निर्धारण की कार्यवाही के सम्बन्ध में अनुमति मांगी गयी है।"

But has failed to discuss the issue raised by the dealer for granting permission for reassessment under section 56(1) of the VAT Act.

8. The record further reveals that before the Tribunal, again the dealer raised the competence of initiation of proceedings against it by raising specific ground no. 11, copy of which is annexed as Annexure No. 8 to the writ petition, which is quoted below:-

"11- क्योंकि प्रश्नगत नोटिस/आदेश में कर निर्धारक अधिकारी द्वारा कर निर्धारण आदेश एवं पुनः कर निर्धारण आदेश की अनुमति मांगे जाने का उल्लेख किया गया है। अधिनियम की धारा- 56(1) से स्पष्ट है कि कमिश्नर या कमिश्नर द्वारा प्राधिकृत अधिकारी को धारा- 56(1) के अन्तर्गत कर निर्धारण आदेश के पुनरीक्षण की शक्ति कुछ शर्तो के अधीन प्राप्त है। प्रश्नगत नोटिस/आदेश में अंकित भाषा से स्पष्ट है कि कर निर्धारण आदेश का पुनरीक्षण माननीय कमिश्नर या उसके द्वारा प्राधिकृत अधिकारी द्वारा ही किया गया है, किन्तु प्रश्नगत मामलें में कर निर्धारण अधिकारी द्वारा अधिनियम की धारा-56(2) में कर निर्धारण आदेश को संशोधित/पुनः कर निर्धारण करने की अनुमति मांगी गई। अतः प्रश्नगत प्रकरण में धारा- 56(1) के अन्तर्गत कृत कार्यवाही आरम्भतः अवैध एवं शून्य है।"

9. The Tribunal, while rejecting the contention of the dealer, relying upon the judgement of this Court in M/s Samrat Carpet Vs. CTT reported in 1999 UPTC 1023, had rejected the contention, which is quoted below:-

" विद्वान अधिवक्ता द्वारा बिन्दु भी उठाया गया है कि कर निर्धारण आदेश का पुनरीक्षण कमिश्नर या उनके द्वारा प्राधिकृत अधिकारी द्वारा ही किया जा सकता है, किन्तु प्रश्नगत आदेश द्वारा मामले में कर निर्धारण अधिकारी को कर निर्धारण/पुनः कर निर्धारण की अनुमति दी गयी है जो विधिक नहीं है। विद्वान अधिवक्ता का यह कथन भी सही नहीं है क्योंकि धारा- 56(1) में ज्वाइन्ट कमिश्नर को यह अधिकार प्राप्त है कि कर निर्धारण आदेश की वैधानिकता/अनौचिकता के संबंध में समाधान हो जाने पर ऐसा आदेश पारित कर सकते है, जैसा वह फिर समझे अर्थात यदि व यह उचित पाते है कि वाद के तथ्यों के परिप्रेक्ष्य में कर निर्धारण अधिकारी को राजस्व हित में कर निर्धारण/पुनः कर निर्धारण हेतु वाद के निस्तारण की अनुमति दिया जाना आवश्यक है जो वह ऐसा आदेश पारित कर सकते है। विद्वान अधिवक्ता द्वारा प्रस्तुत निर्णय-मैसर्स सम्राट कारपेट इलाहाबाद बनाम सी०टी०टी०(सुप्रा) के मामले में धारा 10 बी के अंतर्गत डिप्टी (कार्यपालक) के आदेश की सही ठहराया गया, जिसमें उनके द्वारा कर निर्धारण आदेश के अवैधानिकता/अनौयित्यता के सम्बन्ध में समाधान हो जाने के पश्चात कर निर्धारण अधिकारी को पुनः कर निर्धारण आदेश पारित करने की अनुमति दी गयी थी।"

10. On perusal of the order passed by this Court in M/s Samrat Carpet (supra), which has been relied upon by the Tribunal, it reveals that the same is entirely on a different context, as the power is confined to the examination of the record as it was before the Assessing Officer; wherein this Court held that the Deputy Commissioner has exceeded in its jurisdiction in passing the order under section 10-B of the Act; whereas, in the case in hand, initiation of proceedings under section 56(1) of the VAT Act was under challenge for grant of permission for reassessment of dealer and not the power of the Commissioner as provided under section 56(1) of the VAT Act. The Tribunal as well as the Joint Commissioner (Executive) lost sight of this fact and granted permission to reassess the dealer.

11. For deciding the issue in hand, certain provisions, i.e., sections 29, 31 & 56 (1) of the U.P. VAT Act, will be necessary to be looked into. Section 56 of the VAT Act reads as under:-

"56. Revision by the Commissioner - (1)The Commissioner or such other officer not below the rank of Joint Commissioner, as may be authorised in this behalf by the Commissioner may call for and examine the record relating to any order, passed by any officer subordinate to him, for the purpose of satisfying himself as to the legality or propriety of such order and may pass such order with respect thereto as he thinks fit.

(2)No order under sub-section (1) affecting the interest of a party adversely shall be passed unless he has been given a reasonable opportunity of being heard.

(3)No order under sub-section (1), shall be passed

(a)to revise an order, which is or has been the subject matter of an appeal under section 55, or an order passed by the appellate authority under that section.

(b)before the expiration of sixty days from the date of the order in question;

(c)after the expiration of four-years from the date of the order in question.

Explanation- Where the appeal against any order is withdrawn or is dismissed for non-payment of fee payable under section 72 or for non-compliance of sub-section (3) of section 55, the order shall not be deemed to have been the subject-matter of an appeal under section 55;*

(4) No dealer or any other person, aggrieved by an order against which appeal lies under section 55, shall be entitled to present an application for review of such order under this section."

12. Bare perusal of section shows that the Commissioner is empowered to call for and examine the record relating to any order passed by any Officer subordinate to him for the purpose of satisfying himself as to the legality and propriety of such order.

13. Section 29 (1) of the VAT Act provides for reassessment, which is quoted below:-

"29. Assessment of tax of turnover escaped from assessment: (1) If the assessing authority has reason to believe that the whole or any part of the turnover of a dealer, for any assessment year or part thereof, has escaped assessment to tax or has been under assessed or has been assessed to tax at a rate lower than that at which it is assessable under this Act, or any deductions or exemptions have been wrongly allowed in respect thereof, the assessing authority may, after issuing notice to the dealer and making such inquiry as it may consider necessary, assess or re-assess the dealer to tax according to law :

Provided that the tax shall be charged at the rate at which it would have been charged had the turnover not escaped assessment or full assessment as the case may be.

Explanation I:- Nothing in this sub-section shall be deemed to prevent the assessing authority from making an assessment to the best of its judgement.*

Explanation II:- For the purpose of this section and of section 31, "assessing authority" means the officer or authority who passed the earlier assessment order, if* any, and includes the officer or authority having jurisdiction for the time being to assess the dealer.

Explanation III:- Notwithstanding the issuance of notice under this sub-section, where an order of assessment or re-assessment is in existence from before the issuance of such notice it shall continue to be effective as such, until varied by an order of assessment or re-assessment made under this section in pursuance of such notice.*

(2) .....

(3) .....

(4) .....

(6) ....

(7): Where the Commissioner, on his own or on the basis of reasons recorded by the assessing authority, is satisfied that it is just and expedient so to do, authorises the assessing authority in that behalf, such assessment or re-assessment may be made within a period of eight years after expiry of assessment year to which such assessment or re-assessment relates notwithstanding such assessment or re-assessment may involve a change of opinion:

Provided that it shall not be necessary for the Commissioner to hear the dealer before authorising the assessing authority."

14. Section 29(7) of the VAT Act empowers the Commissioner to grant permission for reassessment after expiry of the assessment year, but within 8 years of such assessment year, on his own or on the basis of reasons recorded by the assessing authority can extend the period of limitation and grant permission to the assessing authority of the respective dealer for reassessment.

15. Section 31 of the VAT Act provides for rectification of mistake, which is also quoted below:-

"Section 31: Rectification of mistakes :-(1) Any officer, authority, the Tribunal or the High Court may on its own motion or on the application of the dealer or any other interested person rectify any mistake apparent on the face of record, in any order passed by him under this Act, within three years from the date of the order sought to be rectified:

Provided that where an application under this sub-section has been made within such period of three years, it may be disposed of even beyond such period:

Provided further that no rectification which has the effect of enhancing the assessment, penalty, fees or other dues, shall be made unless reasonable opportunity of being heard has been given to the dealer or other person likely to be affected by such enhancement.

(2) Where such rectification has the effect of enhancing the assessment, the assessing authority shall serve on the dealer a revised notice of demand in the prescribed form and therefrom all the provisions of this Act shall apply as if such notice had been served in the first instance"

16. Section 31 of the VAT Act empowers the officer, authority, the Tribunal or the High Court to rectify any mistake apparent on the face of record on its own omission or on the application of the dealer or any other interested person.

17. On perusal of sections 29, 29(7), 31 & 56 of the VAT Act, it is apparently clear that the Legislature, in its wisdom, has used/empowered the authority how to act as per the requirement of the time/in the interest of the Revenue/dealer.

18. Section 31 of the Act provides rectification of the order on an application of any interested person; whereas, section 29 of the Act empowers on the reason recorded by the assessing authority or the Commissioner on its own after being satisfied that it is just and expedient to do so to grant permission of the closed assessment for reassessment, where the turnover of a dealer for any assessment year or part thereof has escaped assessment to tax or has been under-assessed or has been assessed, but taxed at a lower rate than what at which it is assessable under the Act or any deduction or exemption have wrongly been allowed in respect thereof; meaning thereby, under sections 29 & 31 of the Act appropriate order can be passed by moving an application or seeking permission by the authority concerned.

19. However, section 56 of the Act does not provide any power to the Commissioner to grant permission of reassessment on the application of the assessing authority. There is no dispute that the Commissioner, on its own motion, call for and examine the records relating to any order passed by any Officer subordinate to him for the purposes of satisfying himself as to the legality or propriety of such order and thereafter, passed such order in respect thereof as he deems fit.

20. The power of the Commissioner is not in question in the present revision as per section 56(1) of the Act. The issue involved in the present revision is only confined to the initiation of the reassessment proceedings by the assessing authority seeking permission of the Commissioner to reassess the revisionist under section 56(1) of the Act. If this procedure is permitted, then section 29 of the Act provides for reassessment will become redundant. Once there is a specific provision empowering authorities to act as per the procedure, the same must be adhered to. Any deviation from such procedure will cause havoc in the State.

21. The Division Bench of this Court in M/s A.K. Corporation & Another Vs. State of U.P. & Others reported in 1994 UPTC 75 has held that revisional authority has only empowered under section 10-B of the Act to satisfy itself about the propriety or legality of the order and not empowered the authority for initiating the proceeding for rectification or reassessment. It was further observed that if part of turnover of the assessee has escaped assessment or has wrongly been assessed or under-assessed, then the only course available to the authority under the Act was to issue notice for reassessment under section 21 of the Act, but the impugned action under the revisional jurisdiction cannot be permitted.

22. Section 56 of the VAT Act would reveal that the section has wide power, but seeking of permission by the assessing authority for making reassessment of the dealer is not conferred under the said provision. For reassessment, different provision has been prescribed under the VAT Act,i.e., section 29 and its sub-sections. It is not the case of the Department that section has wrongly been quoted, but specifically the Joint Commissioner (Executive), in the opening paragraph of the order under section 56(1) of the VAT Act while granting permission, has mentioned the said fact that the permission for reassessment is sought by the assessing authority and the permission has wrongly been granted by the Joint Commissioner (Executive). The Joint Commissioner (Executive) has exceeded in his jurisdiction, which has been endorsed by the Tribunal without looking into the provisions of the Act, which is very clear.

In the opinion of this Court, the Tribunal should have allowed the dealer's appeal.

23. In view of the aforesaid facts & circumstances of the case as well as the law laid down by this Court, the impugned order passed by the Tribunal is set aside.

24. The revision is allowed with cost of Rs. 5,000/-, which shall be deposited within a month from today. An affidavit of compliance of deposit shall be filed within two months from today in the Registry of this Court, failing which the matter be listed in Chamber.

25. The questions of law are answered accordingly.

A. Tax Law – Jurisdiction - CGST Act/UPGST Act,2017 - Sections 73, 2(21), 2(91), 6 & 9 - CGST Act,2017 - Sections 6(1) & 6(2)(a) - The question involved in the present case is not as to the inherent lack of jurisdiction instead but is as to whether the impugned show cause notice and the assessment order issued by the respondent No. 4 are without jurisdiction due to assignment of the assessee to the Central Officer? A further question would be as to whether the impugned show cause notice or the assessment order would become void ab initio on account of non assignment of the case to the respondent No. 4 even when the petitioner submitted to the jurisdiction of the respondent No. 4 and participated in the proceeding without raising any objection as to the jurisdiction? (Para 17)

Sub-section (91) of Sections 2 & 6 of the CGST Act/UPGST Act,2017 - read with the minutes of the meeting of the GST Council dated 16.1.2017 agenda Item No. 28 and the order No. 04/2018 dated 12.9.2018 jointly issued by the State and Central authorities, leads to an irresistible conclusion that proper officer under the UPGST Act and proper officer under the CGST Act both have jurisdiction over assessees falling within their territorial jurisdiction but for administrative convenience, assignment of taxpayers have been made by the designated committee at the State level. (Para 15, 18)

In terms of the order No. 04/2018 dated 12.9.2021 issued by the Commissioner, Commercial Tax, Uttar Pradesh and the Chief Commissioner of Central Tax, Meerut Zone, Lucknow, the assessment of petitioner under the Act was assigned to the Central Officer and not to the respondent No. 4. However, the respondent No. 4 took up the matter and issued the impugned show cause notice dated 25.6.2021 which was replied by the petitioner without raising any objection as to jurisdiction on account of assignment of case to the Central Officer. It was also not brought to the notice of the respondent No. 4 by the petitioner that his case is assigned to a Central Officer. Instead, the petitioner participated in the assessment proceeding and the assessing officer i.e. the proper officer (respondent No. 4) has passed the impugned assessment order dated 09.08.2021, which can be said to be contributory error of jurisdiction. (Para 16, 19)

After the assessment order dated 09.08.2021 was passed by the respondent No. 4, it came to notice that the case was assigned to a Central Officer. Hence, the respondent No. 4 wrote letters to the Central Officer who informed vide letters dated 22.11.2021 and 03.12.2021 that as per Act the proceedings shall be completed by the officer who initiated it, i.e. by the respondent No. 4. (Para 16)

B. Consequences of 'Submitting to the Jurisdiction' - Present case is not a case of inherent lack of jurisdiction rather it is a case of error of jurisdiction on account of non allotment of case of the petitioner assessee to the respondent No. 4/State officer. (Para 20)

It is well settled that if a person has submitted to the jurisdiction of the authority, he cannot challenge the proceedings on the ground of lack of jurisdiction of the said authority in further appellate proceedings. (Para 22)

C. Difference between inherent lack of jurisdiction and error of jurisdiction - There is a difference between the existence of jurisdiction and the exercise of jurisdiction. In case jurisdiction is exercised with material irregularity or with illegality, it would also constitute jurisdictional error. However, if a court has jurisdiction to entertain a suit but in exercise of jurisdiction, a mistake has been committed, though it would be a jurisdictional error but not lack of it. It may be a jurisdictional error open for interference in appellate or revisional jurisdiction. (Para 27)

D. Words and Phrases – "Jurisdiction" - The word 'jurisdiction' is a verbal coat of many colours. It is used in a wide and broad sense while dealing with administrative or quasi-judicial tribunals and subordinate courts over which the superior courts exercise a power of judicial review and superintendence. Then it is only a question of "how much latitude the court is prepared to allow" and "there is no yardstick to determine the magnitude of the error other than the opinion of the court." (Para 23)

The impugned show cause notice and the impugned assessment order do not suffer from any inherent lack of jurisdiction and instead it is the result of contributory error of jurisdiction by the respondent No. 4. Had the petitioner objected to it at the initial stage or during the course of assessment proceedings, the position could have been rectified by the respondent No. 4 by informing the central officer to complete the assessment proceedings. (Para 31)

FACTS

2. Briefly stated facts of the present case are that the petitioner claims to be engaged in the business of lubricants after obtaining registration under the Central Goods and Services Tax Act, 2017 (hereinafter referred to as 'CGST Act') and the U.P. Goods and Services Tax Act, 2017 (hereinafter referred to as 'UPGST Act'). According to the petitioner as per division of work his case for the tax period 2017-18 (July, 2017 to March, 2018) was assigned to the Officer of Central Tax (hereinafter referred to as 'the Central Officer') but the show cause notice dated 25.6.2021 for assessment under section 73 of CGST Act/UPGST Act was issued by the Officer of the State Tax (hereinafter referred to as 'the State Officer') i.e. Dy. Commissioner, Commercial Tax Saharanpur, Sector 10, Saharanpur (B), Uttar Pradesh. The petitioner submitted reply to the show cause notice but did not raise any objection as to the jurisdiction on the ground of assignment of the case to Central Officer. The proper officer under the Act completed the assessment proceedings and passed the assessment order under section 73 of the UPGST Act/CGST Act dated 9.8.2021 for the tax period July, 2017 to March, 2018. Aggrieved the aforesaid assessment order dated 9.8.2021 the petitioner has filed the present writ petition praying to quash the show cause notice (DRC-01) dated 25.6.2021 issued by the State Officer i.e. the respondent no. 4 and the assessment order dated 9.8.2021 passed by the respondent no. 4.

SUBMISSIONS ON BEHALF OF THE PETITIONER

3. (i) Learned counsel for the petitioner submits that the impugned show cause notice and the impugned assessment order are without jurisdiction inasmuch as pursuant to the decision of the GST Council vide Agenda item no. 28 of the Minutes of the IX GST Council Meeting dated 16.1.2017, the designated committee passed the order no. 04/2018 dated 12.9.2018 issued by the Commissioner of Commercial Tax, Uttar Pradesh providing for single interface under the Act and whereby the petitioner i.e. taxpayer was assigned to the Central Government Officer. Therefore, the show cause notices issued by the State Officer i.e. the respondent no. 4 and the impugned assessment order passed by him both are without jurisdiction and, therefore, deserve to be quashed.

(ii) Even though the petitioner has not raised any objection as to the jurisdiction before the proper officer who issued the impugned show cause notice and passed the impugned assessment order, yet objection as to the jurisdiction can be well entertained in writ petition inasmuch as the question of jurisdiction goes to very root of the matter and renders the impugned show cause notice and the impugned assessment order to be null and void being without jurisdiction.

SUBMISSIONS ON BEHALF OF THE RESPONDENTS

4. Learned counsel for the respondents have supported the impugned show cause notice and the impugned orders.

6. The "Goods and Service Tax Council" (for short GST Council) took a decision vide minutes of the IX GST Council meeting held on 16.1.2017 (Agenda item no. 28) in respect of cross empowerment to ensure single interface under the GST Act, as under:

"28. After further discussion, the Council agreed to the decisions as recorded below in respect of cross-empowerment to ensure single interface under GST.

i. There shall be a division of taxpayers between the Central and the State tax administrations for all administrative purposes*;*

ii. Of the total number of taxpayers below Rs. 1.5 crore turnover, all administrative control over 90% of the taxpayers shall vest with the State tax administration and 10% with the Central tax administration*;*

iii. In respect of the total number of taxpayers above Rs.1.5 crore turnover, all administrative control shall be divided equally in the ratio of 50% each for the Central and the State tax administration;

iv. The division of taxpayers in each State shall be done by computer at the State level based on stratified random sampling and could also take into account the geographical location and type of the taxpayers, as may be mutually agreed;

v. The new registrants shall be initially divided one each between the Central and the State tax administration and at the end of the year, once the turnover of such new registrants was ascertained, those units with turnover below Rs.1.5 crore shall be divided in the ratio of 90% for the State tax administration and 10% for the Central tax administration and those units above the turnover of Rs.1.5 crore shall be divided in the ratio of 50% each for the State and the Central tax administration;

vi. The division of the taxpayers may be switched between the Centre and the States at such interval as may be decided by the Council;

vii. The above arrangement shall be reviewed by the Council from time to time;

viii. Both the Central and the State tax administration shall have the power to take intelligence-based enforcement action in respect of the entire value chain*;*

ix. Powers under the IGST Act shall be cross-empowered to the State tax administration on the same basis as under the CGST and the SGST Acts either under law or under Article 258 of the Constitution but with the exception that he Central tax administration shall alone have the power to adjudicate a case where the disputed issue relates to place of supply, or when an affected State requests that the case be adjudicated by the CGST authority and for such issues of export and import as may be discussed in the Law Committee of officers and brought back to the Council for decision;

x. The territorial water within the twelve nautical miles shall be treated as the territory of the Union of India unless the Hon'ble Supreme Court decides otherwise in the ongoing litigation on the issue but the power to collect the State tax in the territorial waters shall be delegated by the Central Government to the States."

7. Pursuant to the aforesaid decision of the GST Council, a circular no. 01/2017 dated 20.9.2017 (F no. 166/cross empowerment/GST/2017) was issued by the GST Council, New Delhi providing that the State Level Committee comprising Chief Commissioner/Commissioner Commercial Taxes of respective States and jurisdictional Central Tax Chief Commissioners/Commissioners are already in place for effective coordination between the Centre and State and the said Committee may take necessary steps for division of taxpayers in each State.

8. Pursuant to the aforesaid circular the Committee constituted for the State of Uttar Pradesh passed order No. 04/2018 dated 12.9.2018 assigning the taxpayers registered in the State of U.P. in terms of the aforequoted decision of the GST Council.

9. It is admitted fact that the taxpayer i.e. the petitioner has been assigned to the Central Officer whereas the impugned show cause notice was issued by the State Officer i.e. the respondent no. 4 (Dy. Commissioner, Commercial Tax Saharanpur, Sector 10, Saharanpur (B), Uttar Pradesh) before whom, despite show cause notice, the petitioner did not raise any objection as to the jurisdiction and instead participated in the proceedings and submitted to his jurisdiction. Thereafter the respondent no. 4 passed the impugned assessment order creating certain demand against the petitioner. It is thereafter that the petitioner filed the present writ petition and challenged the show cause notice and the assessment order solely on the ground that it is without jurisdiction.

10. The word "Central Tax" has been defined under section 2(21) of the CGST Act/UPGST Act to mean that the Central Goods and Service Tax levied under section 9. The word "proper officer" has been defined under section 2(91) of the CGST Act/UPGST Act. Section 6 (1) of the CGST Act starts with a non obstante clause and provides that the officer appointed under the State Goods and Service Tax Act (for short SGST Act) or the Union Territory Goods and Service Act (for short UTGST Act) are authorized to be the proper officer for the purposes of this Act, subject to such condition as the Government shall, on the recommendations of the Council, by notification, specify. Section 6(2)(a) of the CGST Act mandates that where any proper officer under the CGST Act issues an order, he shall also issue an order under the SGST Act or the UTGST Act as authorized under those Acts, as the case may be, under intimation to the jurisdictional officer of the State tax or the Union territory Tax. Clause (2) of sub section (2) of Section 6 of the CGST Act/UPGST Act mandates that where a proper officer under the SGST Act or the UTGST Act has initiated any proceedings on a subject-matter, no proceedings shall be initiated by the proper officer under the CGST Act on the same subject-matter.

11. Section 6(1) of the UPGST Act also starts with non obstante clause and provides that officers appointed under the CGST Act are authorized to be the proper officers for the purposes of this Act, subject to such conditions as the Government shall, on the recommendations of the Council, by notification specify. Clause (a) of sub-Section (2) of Section 6 of the UPGST Act provides that where any proper officer issues an order under this Act, he shall also issue an order under the Central Goods and Services Tax Act, 2017 as authorized by the said Act under intimation to the jurisdictional officer of central tax. Clause (b) of sub-Section (2) of Section 6 of the UPGST Act provides that where a proper officer under the CGST Act has initiated any proceeding on a subject matter, no proceeding shall be initiated by the proper officer under the UPGST Act on the same subject matter.

12. From bare perusal of Section 6 of the CGST Act and the UPGST Act it is clear that a proper officer under the UPGST Act is also a proper officer under the CGST Act within his territorial jurisdiction. Likewise a proper officer appointed under the CGST Act is also the proper officer under the UPGST Act within his territorial jurisdiction. So as to avoid possibility of conflicting orders, an in built provision in both the CGST Act and UPGST Act has been made in Section 6 that when a proper officer under the CGST Act passes an order, he shall intimate it to the jurisdictional officer under the State Act or the Union territory Act and likewise when a proper officer under the UPGST Act passes an order, he shall intimate it to the jurisdictional officer of Central Tax. Thus a cross empowerment with sufficient provision to remove the possibility of conflicting orders has been provided under the CGST Act and UPGST Act.

13. From the scheme of the Act, as briefly discussed above, it is clear that the proper officer as defined under the CGST Act and UPGST Act, both are proper officers within their territorial jurisdiction and have been conferred with jurisdiction and powers under both the Acts to exercise their jurisdiction as proper officers subject to a rider that if an order is issued by a proper officer under the State Act or the Union territory Act on a subject matter then on the same subject matter, order shall not be passed by a proper officer under the CGST Act and vice versa and the orders so passed shall be intimated to the other jurisdictional officer under the other Act.

14. Since proper officers under both the Acts have been empowered to exercise powers within their territorial jurisdiction and since both the set of officers i.e. under the CGST Act and UPGST Act are authorized to pass assessment orders, therefore, there arose necessity for division of work between two sets of officers, i.e. under CGST Act and UPGST Act having same territorial jurisdiction. Consequently,the GST Council evolved the formula in its IXth Meeting held on 16.01.2017 for division of work between two sets of proper officers which has been reproduced above, and consequent thereto the Committee constituted at the State level has distributed and assigned taxpayers for the purposes of assessment to both sets of proper officers.

15. Thus the proper officer under the CGST Act and the proper officer under the UPGST Act, both are jurisdictional proper officers and have jurisdiction to pass assessment order with respect to an assessee within their territorial jurisdiction but for administrative purposes the order no. 04/2018 dated 12.9.2018 was issued by the Commissioner of Commercial Tax, U.P. in terms of the Agenda item no. 28 of the Minutes of the IX GST Council meeting dated 16.1.2017 and circular no. 01/2017 of the GST Council dated 29.1.2017.

16. In terms of the aforesaid order no. 04/2018 dated 12.9.2021 issued by the Commissioner, Commercial Tax, Uttar Pradesh and the Chief Commissioner of Central Tax, Meerut Zone, Lucknow, the assessment of petitioner under the Act was assigned to the Central Officer and not to the respondent no. 4. However, the respondent no. 4 took up the matter and issued the impugned show cause notice dated 25.6.2021 which was replied by the petitioner without raising any objection as to jurisdiction on account of assignment of case to the Central Officer. It was also not brought to the notice of the respondent no. 4 by the petitioner that his case is assigned to a Central Officer. Instead, the petitioner participated in the assessment proceeding and the assessing officer i.e. the proper officer (respondent No.4) has passed the impugned assessment order dated 9.8.2021, which can be said to be contributory error of jurisdiction. The GST Act came into force from 01.07.2017. Prior to it the petitioner was registered under the U.P. VAT Act and was carrying on business in partnership. But he migrated as proprietary concern under the GST Act and carried the entire stock of the partnership firm as on 30.06.2017 to the proprietary concern. Neither on issuance of notice nor during the course of assessment proceedings, did the petitioner inform the respondent No.4 that his case was assigned to a Central Officer. After the assessment order dated 09.08.2021 was passed by the respondent No.4, it came to notice that the case was assigned to a Central Officer. Hence, the respondent No.4 wrote letters to the Central Officer who informed vide letters dated 22.11.2021 and 03.12.2021 that as per Act the proceedings shall be completed by the officer who initiated it, i.e. by the respondent No.4.

17. Thus, the question involved in the present case is not as to the inherent lack of jurisdiction instead but the question is as to whether the impugned show cause notice and the assessment order issued by the respondent No.4 are without jurisdiction due to assignment of the assessee to the Central Officer? A further question would be as to whether the impugned show cause notice or the assessment order would become void ab initio on account of non assignment of the case to the respondent no. 4 even when the petitioner submitted to the jurisdiction of the respondent no. 4 and participated in the proceeding without raising any objection as to the jurisdiction?

18. Sub section (91) of Section 2 and Section 6 of the CGST Act/UPGST Act read with the minutes of the meeting of the GST Council dated 16.1.2017 agenda Item no. 28 and the order no. 04/2018 dated 12.9.2018 jointly issued by the State and Central authorities, leads to an irresistible conclusion that proper officer under the UPGST Act and proper officer under the CGST Act both have jurisdiction over assessees falling within their territorial jurisdiction but for administrative convenience, assignment of taxpayers have been made by the designated committee at the State level.

19. Thus, a proper officer under the UPGST Act/CGST Act has inherent jurisdiction over assessees falling within his territorial jurisdiction but that jurisdiction has to be exercised as per cases assigned by the designated committee comprising Chief Commissioner/Commissioner, Commercial Taxes of respective States and jurisdictional Central Tax Chief Commissioners/Commissioners. In the present set of facts, the Chief Commissioner of Central Taxes, Lucknow and Meerut Zone, Lucknow and the Commissioner of Commercial Taxes, U.P. issued the aforesaid order no. 04/2018 assigning the taxpayers to proper officers and the case of the petitioner has been assigned to the proper officer under the CGST Act i.e. Central Officer and not to the respondent no. 4.

CONSEQUENCES OF "SUBMITTING TO THE JURISDICTION"

20. Present case is not a case of inherent lack of jurisdiction rather it is a case of error of jurisdiction on account of non allotment of case of the petitioner assessee to the respondent no. 4/State officer.

21. In the case of Municipal Commissioner, Kolkata and others Vs. Salil Kumar Banerji (2000) 4 SCC 108 (para 4), Hon'ble Supreme Court considered the validity of an order passed by a Tribunal not properly constituted. Hon'ble Supreme Court held that "...Even assuming that it ought to have consisted of three or more Members, had that objection been taken at the initial stage of the hearing of the appeal before the Tribunal, that position could have been rectified. Certainly, in circumstances such as these, the High Court ought not to have exercised its discretion in favour of the first respondent."

22. In the case of Kedar Shashikant Deshpandey and others Vs. Bhor Municipal Council and others (2011) 2 SCC 654 (para 29) Hon'ble Supreme Court considered the principle "submitting to the jurisdiction of the authority" and held that "it is well settled that if a person has submitted to the jurisdiction of the authority, he cannot challenge the proceedings on the ground of lack of jurisdiction of the said authority in further appellate proceedings...."

23. In the case of A.R. Antulay Vs. R.S. Nayak and another (1988) 2 SCC 602 (para 234), a constitution Bench of Hon'ble Supreme Court held as under:

"234. In dealing with this contention, one important aspect of the concept of jurisdiction has to be borne in mind. As pointed out by Mathew J. in Sethi vs. Kapur, (1972) 2 SCC 427, "the word 'jurisdiction' is a verbal coat of many colours.". It is used in a wide and broad sense while dealing with administrative or quasi-judicial tribunals and subordinate courts over which the superior courts exercise a power of judicial review and superintendence. Then it is only a question of "how much latitude the court is prepared to allow" and "there is no yardstick to determine the magnitude of the error other than the opinion of the court." But the position is different with superior courts with unlimited jurisdiction. These are always presumed to act with jurisdiction and unless it is clearly shown that any particular order is patently one which could not, on any conceivable view of its jurisdiction, have been passed by such court, such an order can neither be ignored nor even recalled, annulled, revoked or set aside in subsequent proceedings by the same court. This distinction is well brought out in the speeches of Lord Diplock, Lord Edmund-Davies and Lord Scarman in Re Racal Communications Ltd., [1980] 2 All E R 634. In the interests of brevity, I resist the temptation to quote extracts from the speeches here."

DIFFERENCE BETWEEN INHRENT LACK OF JURISDICTION AND ERROR OF JURISDICTION

24. In the case of H.V. Nirmala Vs. Karnataka State Financial Corporation and others (2008) 7 SCC 639 (paras 13 and 14), Hon'ble Supreme Court has held as under:

"13. .....An authority may lack inherent jurisdiction in which case the order passed would be a nullity but it may commit a jurisdictional error while exercising jurisdiction. .....

14. .....A jurisdictional issue should be raised at the earliest possible opportunity. A disciplinary proceedings is not a judicial proceeding. It is a domestic tribunal. There exists a distinction between a domestic tribunal and a court. The appellant does not contend that any procedure in holding the enquiry has been violated or that there was no compliance with principles of natural justice."

25. In the case of Central Bank of India Vs. C. Bernard (1991)1 SCC 319 (para 9), Hon'ble Supreme Court considered the submission that in the event the respondent succeeded in getting the order of punishment quashed on a mere technicality and that too on the contention belatedly raised before the High Court for the first time and, therefore, the High Court was in error in directing payment of all consequential benefits.; and held as under:

"We think there is merit in this contention. If the objection was raised at the earliest possible opportunity before the Enquiry Officer the appellant could have taken steps to remedy the situation by appointing a competent officer to enquire into the charges before the respondent's retirement from service....."

26. In the case of Nusli Neville Wadia Vs. Ivory Properties and others (2020) 6 SCC 557 (paras 20, 21 and 22) Hon'ble Supreme Court has explained the meaning of the word "jurisdiction" and distinction between jurisdiction to entertain and error of exercise of jurisdiction or excess jurisdiction and held as under :

"20. Jurisdiction is the power to decide and not merely the power to decide correctly. Jurisdiction is the authority of law to act officially. It is an authority of law to act officially in a particular matter in hand. It is the power to take cognizance and decide the cases. It is the power to decide rightly or wrongly. It is the power to hear and determine. Same is the foundation of judicial proceedings. It does not depend upon the correctness of the decision made. It is the power to decide justiciable controversy and includes questions of law as well as facts on merits. Jurisdiction is the right to hear and determine. It does not depend upon whether a decision is right or wrong. Jurisdiction means power to entertain a suit, consider merits, and render binding decisions, and "merits" means the various elements which enter into or qualify plaintiff's right to the relief sought. If the law confers a power to render a judgment or decree, then the court has jurisdiction. The court must have control over the subject matter, which comes within classification limits of law under which Court is established and functions.

21. The word "jurisdiction" is derived from Latin words "Juris" and "dico," meaning "I speak by the law" and does not relate to rights of parties as between each other but to the power of the court. Jurisdiction relates to a class of cases to which a particular case belongs. Jurisdiction is the authority by which a judicial officer takes cognizance and decides the cases. It only presupposes the existence of a duly constituted court having control over subject-matter which comes within classification limits of the law under which court has been established. It should have control over the parties litigant, control over the parties' territory, it may also relate to pecuniary as well as the nature of the class of cases. Jurisdiction is generally understood as the authority to decide, render a judgment, inquire into the facts, to apply the law, and to pronounce a judgment. When there is the want of general power to act, the court has no jurisdiction*. When the court has the power to inquire into the facts, apply the law, render binding judgment, and enforce it, the court has jurisdiction. Judgment within a jurisdiction has to be immune from collateral attack on the ground of nullity. It has co-relation with the constitutional and statutory power of tribunal or court to hear and determine. It means the power or capacity fundamentally to entertain, hear, and determine.*

22. Jurisdiction to entertain is distinguished from merits, error in the exercise of jurisdiction or excess of jurisdiction."

27. In the case of Nusli (supra) vide paragraph 37 Hon'ble Supreme Court explained the difference between "existence of jurisdiction" and "exercise of jurisdiction" and held as under :

"37. There is a difference between the existence of jurisdiction and the exercise of jurisdiction. In case jurisdiction is exercised with material irregularity or with illegality, it would also constitute jurisdictional error. However, if a court has jurisdiction to entertain a suit but in exercise of jurisdiction, a mistake has been committed, though it would be a jurisdictional error but not lack of it. It may be a jurisdictional error open for interference in appellate or revisional jurisdiction."

28. In the case of Hridya Narain Roy Vs. Ram Chandra Barna Sarma AIR 1921 Cal 34 (FB) quoted with approval by Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Official Trustee Vs. Sachindra Nath Chatterjee AIR 1969 SC 823 and Nusli (supra), it was stated that:

"jurisdiction may be defined to be the power of a court to "hear and determine a cause, to adjudicate and exercise any judicial power in relation to it:" in other words, by jurisdiction is meant "the authority which a court has to decide matters that are litigated before it or to take cognizance of matters presented in a formal way for its decision". An examination of the cases in the books discloses numerous attempts to define the term "jurisdiction", which has been stated to be "the power to hear and determine issues of law and fact", "the authority by which the judicial officers take cognizance of and "decide causes"; "the authority to hear and decide a legal controversy", "the power to hear and determine the subject-matter in controversy between parties to a suit and to adjudicate or exercise any judicial power over them", "the power to hear, determine and pronounce judgment on the issues before the court"; "the power or authority which is conferred upon a court by the legislature to hear and determine causes between parties and to carry the judgments into effect"; "the power to enquire into the facts, to apply the law, to pronounce the judgment and to carry it into execution."

29. In the case of Nusli (supra) Hon'ble Supreme Court vide paragraph 88 held that "there is difference between existence of jurisdiction and exercise of jurisdiction. The existence of jurisdiction is reflected by the fact of amenabilities of the jurisdiction to attack in the collateral proceedings. If the court has an inherent lack of jurisdiction its decision is open to attack as nullity."

30. From the scheme of the Act as discussed above it is evident that the respondent no. 4 being proper officer under the Act having territorial jurisdiction over the petitioner assessee is competent to exercise the powers conferred under the Act in respect of assessee, falling under his territorial jurisdiction. But as per minutes of the meeting of the G.S.T. Council and the circular issued in this regard, the distribution of work for administrative convenience was made and as per which the case of the petitioner was assigned to a central officer. Thus it is not a case that the state officer i.e. the respondent no. 4 lacks inherent jurisdiction but it is a case where the jurisdiction has been exercised by the respondent no. 4 in the absence of any objection or pointing out by the petitioner that the case has been assigned to a central officer. The jurisdiction upon a proper officer has been conferred by section 6 of the Act. Thus a proper officer has jurisdiction over the assessees for assessment falling under his territorial jurisdiction but in terms of the aforesaid work allotment order No. 04/2021 dated 12.9.2018 he was to take up those cases which have been allotted to him.

31. Considering the facts and circumstances and discussions made above, we find that the impugned show cause notice and the impugned assessment order do not suffer from any inherent lack of jurisdiction and instead it is the result of contributory error of jurisdiction by the respondent no. 4., in the circumstances that the petitioner submitted to the jurisdiction of the respondent no. 4 without informing or without raising objection as to the assignment of the case to the central officer and after well participating in the assessment proceedings allowed the assessment order to be passed by the respondent no. 4. Had the petitioner objected to it at the initial stage or during the course of assessment proceedings, the position could have been rectified by the respondent no. 4 by informing the central officer to complete the assessment proceedings.

32. For all the reasons aforestated, the writ petition is dismissed leaving it open for the assessee-petitioner to challenge the impugned assessment order in appeal under section 107 of the CGST/UPGST Act.

A. Trade Tax Law – Reassessment - U.P. Trade Tax Act, 1948 - Section 21(1) - It is settled principle of law that proceedings u/s 21 of the Act, 1948 can be initiated if the material on which the Assessing Authority bases its opinion, is not arbitrary, irrational, vague, distant or irrelevant. There must be some rational basis for the assessing authority to form the belief that the whole or any part of the turnover of a dealer has, for any reason, escaped assessment to tax for some year. If such a basis exists, the assessing authority can proceed in the manner laid down in S. 21 of the Act, 1948. If the grounds are of an extraneous character, the same would not warrant initiation of proceedings under the above section. If, however, the grounds are relevant and have a nexus with the formation of belief regarding escaped assessment, the assessing authority would be clothed with jurisdiction to take action under the section. (Para 17)

B. Adequacy of grounds is not a matter which would be gone into by the High Court for the sufficiency of the grounds which induced the assessing authority to act is not a justiciable issue. The question as to whether that material is sufficient for making assessment or re-assessment u/s 21 of the Act would be gone into after notice is issued to the dealer and he has been heard in the matter or given an opportunity for that purpose. The assessing authority would then decide the matter in the light of material already in its possession as well as fresh material procured as a result of the enquiry which may be considered necessary. (Para 17)

Facts of the present case leave no manner of doubt that the Assessing Authority was having relevant material in his hands on the basis of which he had reason to believe that for the Assessment Years in question, the petitioners have evaded tax on undisclosed sales and made huge transactions of purchases and sales out of the Books of Account. Present petitions challenge notices for reassessment u/s 21(1) of the U.P. Trade Tax Act, 1948.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Surya Prakash Kesarwani, J. & Hon'ble Jayant Banerji, J.)

1. These cases have been remanded by the Hon'ble Supreme Court by order dated 28.8.2019 passed in civil appeals.

2. The aforesaid writ petitions have been filed challenging the notices for reassessment under Section 21(1) of the U.P. Trade Tax Act, 1948.

3. After the aforesaid order of the Hon'ble Supreme Court, these writ petitions were listed on 18.2.2021, 5.3.2021 and 4.3.2022.

4. On 4.3.2022, this Court passed the following order:

"Case called out. None appears for the petitioner to press this writ petition.

List/put up in the additional cause list in the week commencing 21.3.2022 alongwith connected matter."

5. Today, case has been called out. No one appears for the petitioners to press the writ petitions even in the revised call.

7. Perusal of the reliefs sought by the petitioners reveal that notices under Section 21 of the UP Trade Tax Act, 1948 and the approval granted, relating to assessment years 2003-04, 2004-05, 2005-06 and 2006-07 have been challenged by the petitioners. The above noted first three writ petitions are pending in this Court from about a decade and the fourth writ petition is pending from about eight years. The order sending back the matter to this Court was passed by Hon'ble Supreme Court on 28.8.2019. Two and half years have also passed since the order of the Hon'ble Supreme Court. Perusal of the order-sheet as briefly noted above also shows that the petitioners are not appearing to press the writ petitions.

Since, none appears for the petitioners even in the revised call and also since there is an order of the Hon'ble Supreme Court with certain directions, therefore, we proceed to decide these old writ petitions with the assistance of the learned Standing Counsel.

8. Hon'ble Supreme Court, by the aforesaid order, has remitted back the matter with the following observation:

"As a result, the impugned judgment(s) are set aside and the proceedings are remanded to the High Court for reconsideration on merits in accordance with law and in light of the reported decision in Aryaverth Chawal Udyog (supra*)."*

9. In the case of Aryaverth Chawal Udyog (supra) reported in (2015) 17 SCC 324 (paragraphs 28 to 30), Hon'ble Supreme Court has held as under:

"28. This Court has consistently held that such material on which the assessing Authority bases its opinion must not be arbitrary, irrational, vague, distant or irrelevant*. It must bring home the appropriate rationale of action taken by the assessing Authority in pursuance of such belief.* In case of absence of such material, this Court in clear terms has held the action taken by assessing Authority on such "reason to believe" as arbitrary and bad in law.

In case of the same material being present before the assessing Authority during both, the assessment proceedings and the issuance of notice for re-assessment proceedings, it cannot be said by the assessing Authority that "reason to believe" for initiating reassessment is an error discovered in the earlier view taken by it during original assessment proceedings. (See: Delhi Cloth and General Mills Co. Ltd. v. State of Rajasthan, (1980) 4 SCC 71).

29. The standard of reason exercised by the assessing Authority is laid down as that of an honest and prudent person who would act on reasonable grounds and come to a cogent conclusion*. The necessary sequitur is that a mere change of opinion while perusing the same material cannot be a "reason to believe" that a case* of escaped assessment exists requiring assessment proceedings to be reopened. (See: Binani Industries Ltd. v. CCT,(2007) 15 SCC 435; A.L.A. Firm v. CIT, (1991) 2 SCC 558). If a conscious application of mind is made to the relevant facts and material available or existing at the relevant point of time while making the assessment and again a different or divergent view is reached, it would tantamount to "change of opinion".

If an assessing Authority forms an opinion during the original assessment proceedings on the basis of material facts and subsequently finds it to be erroneous; it is not a valid reason under the law for re-assessment. Thus, reason to believe cannot be said to be the subjective satisfaction of the assessing Authority but means an objective view on the disclosed information in the particular case and must be based on firm and concrete facts that some income has escaped assessment.

30. In case of there being a change of opinion, there must necessarily be a nexus that requires to be established between the "change of opinion" and the material present before the assessing Authority*. Discovery of an inadvertent mistake or non-application of mind during assessment would not be a justified ground to reinitiate proceedings under Section 21(1) of the Act on the basis of change in subjective opinion (CIT v. Dinesh Chandra H. Shah, (1972) 3 SCC 231; CIT v. Nawab Mir Barkat Ali Khan Bahadur, (1975) 4 SCC 360)."*

10. The aforequoted judgement in the case of Aryaverth Chawal Udyog (supra) has been reproduced by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the aforesaid order dated 28.8.2019 while remanding the matter.

Writ Tax Nos.874 & 875, both of 2010:-

11. Perusal of the impugned order dated 13.04.2010 relating to Assessment Years 2003-04, 2004-05, 2005-06 and 2006-07 under proviso to Section 21(2) of the U.P. Trade Tax Act, 1948 (hereinafter referred to as "the Act, 1948'), reveals that the Additional Commissioner has granted the permission to invoke extended period of limitation to initiate proceedings for reassessment on the basis of huge documentary material received by the department in hard-disk and CD relating to the petitioners found in search/ survey conducted by the Central Excise Department on 10.07.2007 on the business premises of the petitioners and some other related premises. The materials received and materials coming in possession of the respondent-department revealed huge undisclosed sales/ purchases by the petitioner during the years in question. As per materials available on record, the documents received in hard-disk and CD revealed unaccounted sales of 1557 metric tons M.S. ingots apart from huge unaccounted purchases of raw material and scrape which were not disclosed during the course of regular assessment proceedings. The Additional Commissioner granted repeated opportunities to the petitioners to submit reply but on the dates fixed, the petitioners merely sought adjournments. As per impugned notices under Section 21(1) of the Act, 1948 for the Assessment Year 2003-04, the unaccounted/ undisclosed sales of M.S. ingots of 1557.142 MT came to light. As per impugned notice under Section 21(1) of the Act, 1948 for the Assessment Year 2007-08 (U.P.) for the period from April, 2007 to June, 2007, the undisclosed/ unaccounted sales of 6358.58 metric ton came to light on the basis of material on record. It also came to light on examination of the documentary materials available in the hard-disk and DVD that the petitioners have made following unaccounted purchases of iron ingots from one M/s Jain Steel, Bijnor:

Assessment Year	Quantity in metric ton
2003-04	1353.51
2004-05	8808.74
2005-06	5728.865
2006-07	7757.930

12. Apart from above, the materials available in the hard-disk also revealed purchases of scrap by the petitioners from various dealers and sale of ingots to various local dealers and also to some Firms of Uttarakhand. It also came to light on the basis of materials available in the hands of the respondents that the petitioners made undisclosed purchases during the Assessment Year 2003-04 from M/s Kamakhya Steels Pvt. Ltd., Bijnore (658.28 MT). These details of evaded purchases/ sales which have been extracted above from the impugned notices under Section 21(1) of the Act, 1948. Evaded transactions in some greater detail are mentioned in the impugned notices.

Writ Tax No.13 of 2014:-

13. In this writ petition, the approval dated 24.03.2011 for the Assessment Year 2004-05 was granted by the Additional Commissioner under the proviso to Section 21(2) of the Act, 1948 noticing the information received by the Deputy Commissioner (Special Investigation Branch) Second Unit, Ghaziabad through letter No.659 dated 26.03.2010 from the Director General of Central Excise Intelligence, New Delhi regarding adverse material found in search/ survey conducted at the business premises of M/s Parmarth Iron Pvt. Ltd. Bijnor and some other units. The CD/ soft copy and hard-disk as received by the respondents revealed Sale Ledger Account and other particulars relating to the petitioner which revealed unaccounted/ evaded purchases/ sales of about Rs.4,31,35,901/- during the Assessment Year 2004-05. After following due procedure of law, the permission was granted by the Additional Commissioner under proviso to Section 21(2) of the Act.

14. As per notice for the Assessment Year 2004-05, it is evident that the respondents were having relevant information in their possession against the petitioner indicating huge evaded/ unaccounted transactions during the Assessment Year 2004-05.

Writ Tax No.353 of 2012:-

15. The impugned order granting permission under the proviso to Section 21(2) of the Act, 1948 for the Assessment Year 2005-06 was passed by the Additional Commissioner, Trade Tax on the basis of information received which revealed evaded/ unaccounted purchases/ sales of about Rs.2,31,81,000/- as evident from the Sale Ledger Account and other particulars available in the hard-disk and CD/ soft copy received from the Deputy Commissioner (SIB), Second Unit, Ghaziabad vide letter No.663, dated 27.03.2010, which is based on the report/ materials received from the Director General of Central Excise Intelligence, New Delhi.

16. In the case of The Commissioner of Sales-tax U.P. vs. M/s. Bhagwan Industries (P) Ltd., Lucknow, AIR 1973 SC 370 (Paras 9 & 10), Hon'ble Supreme Court has held as under:

"9. The controversy between the parties has centered on the point as to whether the assessing authority in the present case had reason to believe that any part of the turnover of the respondent had escaped assessment to tax for the assessment year 1957-58. Question in the circumstances arises as to what is the import of the words "reason to believe", as used in the section. In our opinion, these words convey that there must be some rational basis for the assessing authority to form the belief that the whole or any part of the turnover of a dealer has, for any reason, escaped assessment to tax for some year. If such a basis exists, the assessing authority can proceed in the manner laid down in the section. To put it differently, if there are, in fact, some reasonable grounds for the assessing authority to believe that the whole or any part of the turnover of a dealer has escaped assessment, it can take action under the section. Reasonable grounds necessarily postulate that they must be germane to the formation of the belief regarding escaped assessment. If the grounds are of an extraneous character, the same would not warrant initiation of proceedings under the above section. If, however, the grounds are relevant and have a nexus with the formation of belief regarding escaped assessment, the assessing authority would be clothed with jurisdiction to take action under the section. Whether the grounds are adequate or not is not a matter which would be gone into by the High Court or this Court, for the sufficiency of the grounds which induced the assessing authority to act is not a justiciable issue. What can be challenged is the existence of the belief but not the sufficiency of reasons for the belief. At the same time, it is necessary to observe that the belief must be held in good faith and should not be a mere pretence.

10. It may also be mentioned that at the stage of the issue of notice the consideration which has to weigh is whether there is some relevant material giving rise to prima facie inference that some turnover has escaped assessment. The question as to whether that material in sufficient for making assessment or re-assessment under section 21 of the Act would be gone into after notice is issued to the dealer and he has been heard in the matter or given an opportunity for that purpose. The assessing authority would then decide the matter in the light of material already in its possession as well as fresh material procured as a result of the enquiry which may be considered necessary." (Emphasis supplied)

17. It is settled principles of law that proceedings under Section 21 of the Act, 1948 can be initiated if the material on which the Assessing Authority bases its opinion, is not arbitrary, irrational, vague, distant or irrelevant. There must be some rational basis for the assessing authority to form the belief that the whole or any part of the turnover of a dealer has, for any reason, escaped assessment to tax for some year. If such a basis exists, the assessing authority can proceed in the manner laid down in Section 21 of the Act, 1948. If the grounds are of an extraneous character, the same would not warrant initiation of proceedings under the above section. If, however, the grounds are relevant and have a nexus with the formation of belief regarding escaped assessment, the assessing authority would be clothed with jurisdiction to take action under the section. Whether the grounds are adequate or not is not a matter which would be gone into by the High Court for the sufficiency of the grounds which induced the assessing authority to act is not a justiciable issue. The question as to whether that material in sufficient for making assessment or re-assessment under section 21 of the Act would be gone into after notice is issued to the dealer and he has been heard in the matter or given an opportunity for that purpose. The assessing authority would then decide the matter in the light of material already in its possession as well as fresh material procured as a result of the enquiry which may be considered necessary.

18. Facts of the present cases as briefly noted above leaves no manner of doubt that the Assessing Authority was having relevant material in his hands on the basis of which he had reason to believe that for the Assessment Years in question, the petitioners have evaded tax on undisclosed sales and made huge transactions of purchases and sales out of the Books of Account. Therefore, the permission under the proviso to sub-Section (2) of Section 21 of the Act, 1948 for the Assessment Years in question have been lawfully granted by the concerned Additional Commissioner, Trade Tax and the notices under Section 21(1) of the Act, 1948 have been lawfully issued by the concerned Assessing Authorities to the petitioners for the Assessment Years in question. Under the circumstances, we do not find any merit in these writ petitions.

19. For all the reasons aforestated, all the writ petitions are dismissed.

05.01.2022 passed by the Learned Additional District and Sessions Judge, Court No. 19 in Miscellaneous Civil Appeal No.194 of 2019 arising out of order passed by the Estate Officer c/o Chief Executive Officer, Cantonment Board, Lucknow, dated 30.07.2019.

4. It has been argued by the learned counsel for the petitioners that Shop No.1, Block A, Nehru Road Shopping Complex, Sadar Bazar, Cantt Lucknow, was leased out to one Shri Munna Lal petitioner no.1 in an public auction held on 22.07.1981, for a monthly rent which was deposited by the lessee on 31.12.1981, in pursuance of sanction granted on 07.11.1981 by the General Officer Commanding-in-Chief, Central Command, Lucknow. The lease deed was signed on 16.03.1983. The original allottee Munna Lal continued to pay the monthly rent of Rupees 236.70/- and continued in occupation of the shop in question till his death on 31.03.1999. It has been argued that the petitioner no.2 Mohammad Saleem inherited the shop by virtue of a registered will made out by the original allottee Munna Lal in favour of Mohammed Saleem on 05.10.1989. Mohammed Saleem was in possession of the shop in question when the Cantonment Board through its Chief Executive Officer issued a letter dated 29.06.2013, to the Lessee Munna Lal (already dead) for renewal of lease which had expired in March, 2013. Mohammed Saleem who was in occupation of the shop informed the Cantonment Board on 05.07.2013 of the death of Munna Lal the original allottee, and of his having inherited the lease on basis of a registered Will. The Respondents also issued a letter on 31.1.2014 showing their willingness for consideration of renewal of lease but later on changed their mind as the proposal of the Cantonment Board was shot down by the Principal Director Defence Estates on 24.10.2014. Consequently, the Board also passed a resolution on 01.11.2014 for auction of all shops where the leases had expired.

5. The respondent nos.6 and 7 issued a letter dated 29.06.2013 to the petitioner for renewal of lease which had expired. Thereafter several correspondence took place between Mohd. Saleem and the Cantt Board showing willingness for consideration of lease renewal by the Cantt Board. However, the Cantt Board Resolution was not accepted by the Principal Director, Defence Estates, Central Command. The matter of renewal of lease remained pending. The respondent no.5 without declaring the petitioner no.2 as unauthorized occupant of the shop from a particular date, issued notice under sub-section (1) and clause (b) of sub-section (2) of Section 4 of Public Premises (Eviction of Unauthorized Occupants) Act, 1971 (hereinafter referred to as "the P.P.E. Act"). The said notice was issued only on 13.02.2015 giving five days' time instead of seven days' time to submit reply latest by 18.02.2015.

6. Mohammed Saleem submitted his reply and his willingness to clear all dues for consideration of renewal of lease in his name. He even deposited rent during the pendency of the proceedings under Sections 4 and 7 of the Act of 1971. An amount of Rs.17,386 was also demanded as damages by the respondent through notice dated 26.11.2018 which was deposited through cheque which was returned inexplicably by the respondent no.5 who passed an order of eviction on 30.07.2019 and also for payment of damages.

7. Mohd. Saleem being aggrieved filed an Appeal bearing Misc. Civil Appeal

No.194 of 2019 before the District Judge, Lucknow in the P.P.E. Act. Initially, an order of maintenance of status quo was passed while admitting the Appeal on 14.08.2019. Mohd. Saleem also filed an application under Order 41 Rule 27 of the C.P.C. on 15.10.2020 for taking additional evidence on record in Appeal, which was allowed. However, the additional evidence that was submitted by the petitioner was not taken into account and the Appeal was dismissed on 05.01.2022.

8. It has been argued by learned counsel for the petitioners that the respondent no.5 could not have adjudicated the dispute under the P.P.E. Act as it would amount to a person being judge in his own cause and the rule of bias would apply. It has also been argued that order passed by the respondent no.5 ignored the fact that the lease had been granted after sanction from the GOC-in-C, Central Command and a lower officer like the Estate Officer or even the Chief Executive Officer of the Cantt Board could not go against such sanction for grant of lease. It has also been argued that the replies of the petitioner no.2 were not considered and no reasonable opportunity of hearing was given by the respondent no.5. It has also been argued that under the P.P.E. Act, the provision for eviction is provided in Section 4 and 5, whereas Section 7 provides for claim for compensation. A joint order could have been passed under the Act as has been one by the respondent no.5 in his order dated 01.08.2019.

9. It has also been argued that during the pendency of the Appeal, the petitioner no.2 moved an application for transfer of the case under Section 24 of the C.P.C. as the Additional District and Sessions Judge/ Court No.19 did not have jurisdiction to decide the matter. Once such an application is moved and pending, it shall be deemed that jurisdiction of the learned court of Additional Sessions Judge stood transferred to the superior court for adjudication hence the order passed in Appeal was without jurisdiction. To substantiate his argument, learned counsel for the petitioners has referred to Section 9 of the P.P.E. Act sub-Section (1), wherein it has been provided that "an Appeal shall be entertainable by an officer who shall be the District Judge of the District in which the Public Premises are situate or such other judicial officer in that district of not less than ten years standing as the District Judge may designate in this behalf."

10. It has been submitted that learned Additional District Judge Pawan Kumar Rai did not possess ten years standing as the District Judge and therefore he could not have adjudicated the Appeal. The petitioners also moved an application on 06.12.2021 for keeping the appeal in abeyance till the transfer application is decided as the Presiding Officer of Court No.19 was lacking in jurisdiction in deciding the Appeal. However, such application was kept pending and the Appeal was dismissed.

11. It has also been argued by learned counsel for the petitioners that as per the Notification No. S.R.O. 235 of the Ministry of Defence dated 21.07.1978, no person can be judge for his own case and the Estate Officer was the complainant in this case, but as the Estate Officer he again decided the matter exercising jurisdiction under the P.P.E. Act.

12. It has also been argued that the Cantt Board had filed an order of rejection dated 24.10.2014 along with the copy of the Board's Resolution C.B.R. No.02 dated 01.11.2014 before the District Judge to show that the proposal for renewal of lease had been rejected by the Competent Authority. However, such rejection order is absolutely illegal. The Principal Director, Defence Estate, Central Command, Lucknow was not empowered to allow or reject the renewal of lease as sanction of the original lease was granted by the GOC-in-C, Central Command, respondent no.2. Since the original sanction was given by respondent no.2 for executing lease deed in favour of the allottee, termination of such lease deed or any decision with regard to whether the allottee was entitled to renewal could only be taken by the GOC-in-C and not by the Principal Director, Defence Estate. As such the Resolution of the Cantt Board i.e. Resolution No.02 dated 01.11.2014 and the Cantt Board Resolution No.13 dated 24.05.2014 were both illegal.

13. The learned counsel for the petitioners has argued that the respondent no.5 had committed a manifest error of law in issuing notice on 09.02.2015 in the name of a dead person, namely, Munna Lal who had died on 31.12.1999. Such notice was void ab initio and the entire proceedings subsequent to such notice was also null and void in the eye of law. It has been argued that before such notice was issued the petitioner no.2 had informed through his letter dated 5.07.2013, the respondent no. 5 of the death of the original allottee Munna Lal, and of his inheriting the lease on the basis of a Will made out in 1989 by the original allottee. Such fact was also ignored by the District Judge altogether while rejecting the Appeal.

14. It was also argued before the Appellate Court that it was nowhere mentioned in the conditions of the lease deed that after expiry of term of 30 years, the said lease shall automatically stand cancelled. No notice of termination of tenancy was ever given.

15. In the response submitted by the Respondents in the Appeal, it had been stated that Shop No.1 with a total area of 140 ft.² had been allotted on the basis of a public auction held in 1981, in favour of one Munna Lal son of Baijnath. The lease deed was signed in January 1983 for an initial period of 10 years i.e. up to 1993, with a clause for renewal for a further period of five years at a time at the revised rates of rent for a total period of 30 years. When the Cantonment Board proposed renewal of lease with sitting allottees, a letter was issued in this regard to Munna Lal, son of Baijnath. However, reply was submitted by one Mohd Saleem, son of Abdul Majid on 05.02.2014 praying that lease be renewed in his favour as he was running the shop in the name of New Shehzada Watch House on the basis of an alleged Will made out in his favour by the original allottee. As per Clause (4) of the lease deed dated 16.01.1983 the lease had to be renewed initially after 10 years, that is in 1993, and thereafter every five years at the revised rate of rent. Such renewal was not done. After more than one year of expiry of total period of 30 years of the lease, a request was made for renewal of lease in favour of Mohammed Saleem. Mohammed Saleem was not the original allottee. He was only occupier of the shop. There was a condition in the original lease which prohibited creation of any right, title or interest by way of subletting, or in any other manner, by the original allottee in favour of a third person without prior permission of the Cantonment Board. No written permission was ever sought for, nor granted in favour of Mohammed Saleem to continue to occupy the shop in question, in place of the original allottee Munna Lal. As there was a violation of the specific condition in the lease, such occupier as Mohammed Saleem became an Unauthorised Occupant in terms of section 2(g) of the Act of 1971.

16. It has been argued by Sri Sanjeev Singh that the learned Appellate Court while considering issue no.4 regarding validity of notice sent by the respondent no.5 to a dead person, namely, Munna Lal son of Baijnath, has observed that as per the original lease deed signed in 1983 only Munna Lal could have been recognised as an allottee. As per Condition No.4 of the lease, the allottee had to seek prior permission in writing from the Competent Authority for creating any right in favour of any third person. In spite of such a condition the original allottee Munna Lal did not seek prior permission to hand over the shop in question to Md Saleem during his lifetime. After his death in 1999, Mohd Saleem claimed to have inherited the shop on the basis of a Will allegedly made out by Munna Lal in his favour. The respondent no.5 could not have recognised Mohammed Saleem as a legitimate occuppant of the shop and therefore all proceedings were undertaken only on the basis of notice issued in the name of Munna Lal. The show cause notice and the eviction orders were legally issued under the Act of 1971 as Mohammad Saleem was an Un-authorised Occupant in terms of the Act of 1971 which recognised only Original allottee in accordance with the terms of the lease.

17. Sri Sanjeev Singh, learned counsel appearing for the respondent nos.6 and 7 has also pointed out Section 3 of the P.P.E. Act by which the Central Government may, by notification in the Official Gazette appoint any person being gazetted officer of Government, as it thinks fit, to be Estate Officers for the purpose of the Act provided that such an officer of a statutory authority shall only be appointed as an Estate officer in respect of the public premises controlled by that Authority.

18. In this case, the statutory authority in question is the Cantonment Board. The Estate Officer is a gazetted officer appointed by the Government of India for the purpose of P.P.E. Act. The validity of Section 3 was challenged in Accountant and Secretarial Services (P) Ltd. Vs. Union of India, 1988 (4) SCC 324 and in Hari Singh Vs. Military Estate Officer, 1972 (2) SCC 239. The Supreme Court however negated such challenge that one of the officers of the statutory authority was appointed as Estate Officer which was violative of Article 14 of the Constitution by observing thus:-

"32. Dr. Chitale, while initially formulating his arguments that the provision in 1971 Act appointing one of the officers of the respondent Bank as the Estate Officer is violative of Article 14. We do not see any substance in this contention. In the very nature of things, only an officer or appointee of the Government, statutory authority or corporation can be thought of for implementing the provisions of the Act. That apart, personal bias cannot necessarily be attributed to such officer either in favour of the Bank or against any occupant who is being proceeded against, merely because he happens to be such officer. Moreover, as pointed out earlier, the Act provides for an Appeal to an independent judicial officer against orders passed by the Estate Officer. These provisions do not, therefore, suffer from any infirmity. In fact, Dr. Chitale did not pursue this objection seriously."

19. Such observations made by the Supreme Court in the case of Accountant and Secretarial Services (P) Ltd. (supra) were quoted with approval by the Supreme Court in New India Assurance Company Ltd. Vs. Nusli Neville Wadia and another, 2008 (3) SCC 279.

20. It has been argued by learned counsel for the respondent nos.6 and 7 that the learned counsel for the petitioners is himself misinterpreting Section 9 of the Act by which either the District Judge or any other Judicial Officer of ten years standing, appointed by the District Judge can decide the Appeal. It is not as if the Judicial Officer so nominated should be a District Judge of ten years standing as has been interpreted by the learned counsel for the petitioner.

21. Sri Sanjeev Singh has also argued that although initially there was a provision for renewal of lease after ten years for four subsequent periods of five years each on revised rent rates as applicable in the market area, such leases were never renewed after initial period of ten years. Further, the total of 30 years period came to an end in March, 2013 for the petitioner no.1. After such lease had expired in March, 2013 for the petitioner no.1 and for others on various other dates following 2013, the Cantt Board has initially resolved to renew the lease of the sitting allottees. When the Resolution was forwarded to the Principal Director Defence Estates, Central Command, it examined the issue and found that the leases that had already expired way back could not be renewed. Only fresh leases could be granted by way of public auction of the public property. The shops in question were situated in the main market of Sadar Bazar and therefore had to be auctioned in a public auction.

22. Learned counsel for the respondent nos.6 and 7 has pointed out from the order of the Estate Officer dated 01.08.2019 that every objection made by the petitioners was considered in detail by the Estate Officer but on perusal of the record, the Estate Officer was satisfied that the lease had not been renewed after the initial period of ten years which came to end in 1993. The maximum period for which the lease could have been treated as subsisting was 30 years which also expired in 2013. Therefore, in the order dated 30.07.2019, there was a mention of initial issuance of a notice under Section 4 (1) on 13.02.2015 calling upon the allottee to appear on 18.02.2015 and a combined notice under Section 4 sub-section (2) clause (b) (ii) of the Act was also issued calling upon the allottee to visit his office on 21.02.2015 to show cause with regard to why the lease should not be treated as terminated and opportunity was given to answer all material questions connected with the matter along with the opportunity to produce evidence in support of erstwhile allottees case. Such personal hearing was granted on 21.02.2015 to Sri Prashant Agarwal, Advocate, who appeared for noticees and requested for time to file written objections. Repeatedly, dates were fixed. In fact, although notice was issued on February, 2015, actual order deciding the matter was passed by the Estate Officer only on 30.07.2019 i.e. almost four and a half years time was granted to the noticee to make out his case and submit evidence in his favour. It was evident on perusal of records that the original allottee / lessee had failed to get renewal of lease deed coming at the end of each successive five years at the revised rate to be determined on the basis of a fair market rent applicable in the area in question. The lease had expired before the Cantonment Board Resolution was passed initially proposing renewal of such lease therefore on expiration of lease, there was no question of renewal and such proposal was rightly rejected by the Principal Director, Defence Estates. After March, 2013, the possession or occupation of the shops in question by the allottees became illegal and unauthorized. The Petitioner no.2 did not submit any material to explain the continued occupation of the shop after the expiry of the total lease period of 30 years in March, 2013. The legal representative appearing on behalf of the petitioner no.2 also failed to establish right of renewal of lease deed. Hence notice under Section 4(1) (2)(b) (ii) of the P.P.E. Act was issued and thereafter by the same order, eviction was directed under sub-section (1) of Section 5. The petitioner no.2 was required to vacate the shop in question within 15 days from passing of the order and also to pay damages for unauthorized occupation @ Rs.236/- per month with effect from March, 2014.

23. Having heard learned counsel for the petitioners and the counsel appearing on behalf of the respondents, this Court has carefully perused the order passed by the Additional District Judge in Appeal no.194 of 2019. The Additional District Judge had first recorded the submissions made by the appellant which are in fact the same submissions as has been recorded by this Court in the foregoing paragraph of this order. The Additional District Judge recorded the submissions made by the counsel appearing for the Cantt Board and then framed points for determination.

24. The first point for determination was whether additional evidence as submitted by the appellant was admissible under Order 41 Rule 27 of the C.P.C. This point was decided in favour of the appellant on the ground that the document sought to be brought on record have been obtained by the appellant under Right to Information Act only in 2019.

25. The second point for determination was whether the notice issued on 13.02.2015 by the respondent no.5 was a valid notice under the P.P.E. Act. The Additional District Judge found on perusal of the provisions of Sections 4 and 5 of the P.P.E. Act that the time limit granted in Section 4 for showing cause to the noticee was seven days. Initially, notice which was given on 13.02.2015 asking noticee to appear on 18.02.2015. It then informed by the same notice that the noticee could appear on 21.02.2015 at 11:00 am in the office of the Estate Officer. Thus eight days' time was granted with effect from 13.02.2015 to 21.02.2015 which was more than the time required under Section 4(2) (b)(i). It has been observed by the Appellate Court that notice was rightly issued in the name of the Allottee Munna Lal and Mohd. Saleem could not have been issued notice as he was not the authorized occupant nor the allottee.

26. The third point was whether the Estate Officer was competent to pass the order impugned dated 01.08.2019 under the P.P.E. Act. The Additional District Judge considered the provisions of Section 3 of the P.P.E. Act and the fact that the Estate Officer being a Gazetted officer of the Cantt Board which is a statutory authority had been duly nominated to act as an officer under the P.P.E. Act.

27. With regard to the point no.4 as to whether the respondents had the right to evict the appellants and claim damages, the Additional District Judge has found that the notice was issued in a legal manner by an officer duly appointed under Section 3 of the Act. Time of almost four and a half years was granted to the appellant to present his case and thereafter a reasoned order was passed. The Additional District Judge considered Section 5 of the Act which requires only grant of opportunity. Such opportunity had indeed been granted. The Additional District Judge thereafter referred to the facts of the case that the appellant Mohd. Saleem was not the original allottee of the lease deed which had been executed in March, 1983 for ten years for rent of Rs.236/- per month with Munna Lal son of Baijnath, initially for a period of ten years and renewal was expected to be done every successive five years on a revised rate of rent for a total period of 30 years. The entire period of 30 years expired in March, 2013. It referred to the Cantt Board Resolution and also the order passed by the Principal Director, Defence Estates on 24.10.2014 and the Cantt Board's consequential Resolution passed thereafter on 01.11.2014.

28. After determining the four points in favour of the respondents, the fifth point for determination as to whether the appellant was entitled to any relief in the Appeal was decided against the appellant and the Appeal was dismissed by the Additional District Judge by his order dated 05.01.2022.

29. This Court finds from a perusal of the documents on record including from a perusal of the lease deed signed between Munna Lal s/o Baij Nath and the Cantt Board on 16.03.1983 that shops were constructed by the Cantt Board under a self-financed scheme wherein advance of Rs.14,200/- was deposited by Munna Lal s/o Baijnath on his successful bid of Rs.236.70/- per month. In consideration of a sum of Rs.14,200/- which was paid as advance towards rent, the rent of the shop in question in main Sadar Bazar was kept at a reasonable rate of Rs.236.70/- per month and half of the monthly rent alone was to be deposited and rest was to be adjusted from the advanced rent of Rs.14,200/-. The lessee was required to pay all taxes and other charges and to keep the premises in question in good and substantial repairs and on expiration of the lease or on termination of the said term of lease earlier, the lessee was required to peacefully yield up the same to the lessor. The allottee was prohibited from sub-letting or mortgaging in any manner or giving up any rights in the premises in question without the consent in writing of the lessor having been previously obtained. Several such conditions such as relating to how the sign board was to be affixed and other mundane matters were mentioned in the lease fixing the responsibility of the lessor for carrying out major structural repairs when required. Under condition (4) of the lease, it was provided that the lessor will on the request and at the cost of lessee at the end of the lease, and from time to time thereafter at the end of each successful five years period, up to a total period of 30 years shall renew the lease on rent as fixed for every renewed term of five years by the GOC-in-C, or his authorized officer, having regard to the rate of rent in the locality at that time. The lessee was required to get executed the renewed lease for each successive five years term, unless of course the lessor for reasons to be given in writing in notice, determined the lease.

30. In the case of the petitioners, the lease term ran out after 30 years in March, 2013. There could not have any question of consideration for renewal. The only question to be considered by the Cantt Board was for fresh grant. Fresh grant alone could be considered for a public premises like the shop in question which was constructed in the Cantonment land by the Cantt Board through public auction.

31. This Court finds no good ground to show interference in the order impugned.

32. The petition is dismissed.

33. One month's time from today is granted to vacate the premises in question and hand over the peaceful and vacant possession to the respondent nos. 6 and 7.

34. The petitioners shall also be liable to pay damages as determined in the order dated 30.07.2019, as the said order has been affirmed by the District Judge and also by this Court.

1. Heard Ms. Shreya Gupta, learned counsel for the petitioners and Ms. Rama Goel Bansal, learned counsel for the respondent no. 1.

2. This is a petition filed under Article 227 of Constitution of India challenging the judgment and order dated 04.01.2022 passed by District Judge, Jhansi in S.C.C. Revision No. 39 of 2021 as well as judgment and order dated 30.10.2021 passed by Judge Small Causes, Jhansi in Misc. Case No. 28 of 2019 rejecting the application filed by objectors/petitioners under Order 21 Rule 97-101 C.P.C. and Section 151 C.P.C. and allowing the application 39-C filed by the decree-holder/respondent no. 1.

3. Facts in nutshell giving rise to the petition are that the decree-holder/respondent no. 1 filed a S.C.C. Suit No. 53/2013 against respondent no. 2 for arrears of rent and ejectment. The decree-holder, claiming himself to be the landlord of the first floor of House No. 196, Jawahar Chowk, City- Jhansi which was rented to respondent no. 2 at monthly rent of Rs.100/- since the year 1986. According to decree-holder/respondent no. 1, respondent no. 2 defaulted in payment of rent since 01.06.2005, despite demand. A notice was issued on 12.07.2013 which was served upon tenant-respondent no. 2 on 19.07.2013 determining the tenancy and demanding arrears of rent. When the rent was not tendered, a S.C.C. Suit No. 53 of 2013 was filed on 13.08.2013 which was decreed by the judgment and decree dated 28.03.2017 passed by Judge, Small Cause Court, Jhansi. Against the said order, S.C.C. Revision No. 24 of 2017 was filed which was dismissed by judgment dated 25.09.2019 passed by Additional District Judge/ Special Judge (S.C./S.T. Act), Jhansi.

4. The tenant-respondent no. 2 challenged both the orders before this Court through Writ Petition No. 8309 of 2019, under Article 227 of Constitution of India. This Court vide judgment dated 14.11.2019 dismissed the writ petition and found the tenant to be in arrears of rent and liable to be ejected. Immediately after two days on 16.11.2019, the present petitioners filed an application under Order 21 Rule 97-101 and Section 151 C.P.C. on the ground that the property in dispute was let out to the firm Seth Daryablal Manik Lal Tadaiya, whose proprietor was one Sunil Kumar Tadaiya who had died on 11.05.2015 and after his death, petitioner no. 2, Smt. Lata Tadaiya had become the proprietor of the firm. It was further contended that shop in question was let out to the firm in the year 1967 by one Shankar Lal Kudariya, father of decree-holder, respondent no. 1 and it was a partnership firm which continued to run till 1988, and after its dissolution the firm continued as a proprietorship. The firm had been paying rent to the father of decree-holder/ respondent no. 1. After death of Shankar Lal Kudariya, his son respondent no. 1 and his brother, Dr. Awadh Kishore took the rent. It was further stated in the application that firm had tendered rent from 01.10.2000 to 30.11.2004 amounting to Rs.10,000/- on 28.06.2008. According to the application, the decree-holder, respondent no. 1 in collusion with respondent no. 2 had got the decree for eviction without information to the petitioners. In Para 9 of the application, it has been stated that it was for the first time in month of October, 2019 that petitioners got information regarding the judgment in the matter by Judge Small Cause Court. The said application was contested by the decree-holder/respondent no. 1 and an objection was filed wherein the contents made in the application were vehemently denied. It was stated that the petitioner no. 2, Smt. Lata Tadaiya is the sister-in-law of respondent no. 2 and after the writ petition was dismissed on 14.11.2019, the application under Order 21 Rule 97 C.P.C. was filed at the behest of respondent no. 2 through the petitioners. The Judge, Small Cause Court on 30.10.2021 dismissed the application which was registered as Misc. Case No. 28 of 2019 on the ground that the application was filed to delay the execution proceedings launched by decree-holder/ respondent no. 1 being Execution Case No. 29 of 2017. Against the said order, a S.C.C. Revision No. 39 of 2021 was filed which was also dismissed on 04.01.2022. Hence, the present petition.

5. Ms. Shreya Gupta, learned counsel for the petitioners submitted that both the courts below were not correct to reject the application filed by third party objectors/petitioners under Order 21 Rule 97-101 C.P.C. which enjoins the executing court to adjudicate all questions (including questions relating to right, title and interest in the property) arising between the decree-holder and the third party. According to her, the executing court should have framed issues and adjudicated the dispute that has arisen between the parties.

6. She further submitted that revisional court had wrongly recorded finding on the basis of rent receipt issued in the name of petitioner firm, paying rent through Sushil Kumar Tadaiya, respondent no. 2. The courts below by refusing to frame issues and give opportunity to petitioners to lead evidence is against the provisions of Rule 97-101 of Order 21 C.P.C. According to her, the petitioners have prima facie established a case through documentary evidence that petitioner firm was let out the shop in the year 1967 and at present it was sole proprietorship firm and judgment and decree passed by courts below were collusive and without hearing the petitioners. The courts have not followed the procedure as established under law. Reliance has been placed upon decision of Apex Court in case of Shreenath and others vs. Rajesh and others, AIR 1998 SC 1827; Brahmdeo Chaudhary vs. Rishikesh Prasad Jaiswal, AIR 1997 SC 856 and Silverline Forum Pvt. Ltd. vs. Rajiv Trust, AIR 1998 SC 1754.

7. Ms. Rama Goel Bansal, learned counsel appearing for the decree-holder/ respondent no. 1 submitted that present proceedings has been set up by judgment debtor, respondent no. 2 through petitioners, as the petitioner no. 2 is sister-in-law of respondent no. 2. She contended that the shop in question was let out in the year 1986 to respondent no. 2 who had been continuously paying the rent to respondent no. 1 and when default was committed the suit for arrears of rent and ejectment was filed which was decreed by the Judge, Small Causes on 28.03.2017 and the revision filed against the said judgment was also dismissed on 25.09.2019. The respondent no. 2 had challenged both the orders through writ petition and the writ petition was dismissed on 14.11.2019. According to Ms. Bansal, immediately after the dismissal of the writ petition the present Misc. Case No. 28 of 2019 was filed by petitioners on 16.11.2019 to thwart the execution proceedings filed by the decree-holder/respondent no. 1 being Execution Case No. 29 of 2019. According to her, the said proceedings are only to delay the execution case and the decree-holder could not get the fruits fructified pursuant to judgment and decree passed by courts below. She has relied upon the decision of Apex Court in case of Silverline Forum Pvt. Ltd. vs. Rajiv Trust and another, (1998) 3 SCC 723, Para Nos. 10 to 15; Bool Chand (D) Through Legal Heirs and others vs. Rabia and others, 2016 Supreme (SC) 1656; Noorduddin vs. Dr. K.L. Anand, (1995) 1 SCC 242; Shreenath and another vs. Rajesh and others, (1998) 4 SCC 543 and N.S.S. Narayana Sarma and others vs. Goldstone Exports (P) Ltd. and others, (2002) 1 SCC 662.

8. I have heard counsel for both the parties and have given careful consideration to the material on record.

9. The question which emerges for consideration is whether an application filed by a third party objector under Order 21 Rule 97-101 C.P.C. in execution proceedings, the same has to be mandatorily considered after framing of the issues and treating it to be a suit.

10. Before adverting to decide the issue in hand, a cursory glance of Order 21, Rule 35; Order 21, Rule 36 and Order 21 Rule 97 to 101 is necessary, which are extracted hereasunder:-

"35. Decree for immovable property.--(1) Where a decree is for the delivery of any immovable property, possession thereof shall be delivered to the party to whom it has been adjudged, or to such person as he may appoint to receive delivery on his behalf, and, if necessary, by removing any person bound by the decree who refuses to vacate the property.

(2) Where a decree is for the joint possession of immovable property, such possession shall be delivered by affixing a copy of the warrant in some conspicuous place on the property and proclaiming by beat of drum, or other customary mode, at some convenient place, the substance of the decree.

(3) Where possession of any building on enclosure is to be delivered and the person in possession, being bound by the decree, does not afford free access, the Court, through its officers, may, after giving reasonable warning and facility to any woman not appearing in public according to the customs of the country to withdraw, remove or open any lock or bolt or break open any door or do any other act necessary for putting the decree-holder in possession.

36. Decree for delivery for immovable property when in occupancy of tenant--Where a decree is for the delivery of any immovable property in the occupancy of a tenant or other person entitled to occupy the same and not bound by the decree to relinquish such occupancy, the Court shall order delivery to be made by affixing a copy of the warrant in some conspicuous place on the property, and proclaiming to the occupant by beat of drum or other customary mode, at some convenient place, the substance of the decree in regard to the property.*

97. Resistance or obstruction to possession of immovable property.--(1) Where the holder of a decree for the possession of immovable property or the purchaser of any such property sold in* execution of a decree is resisted or obstructed by any person in obtaining possession of the property, he may make an application to the Court complaining of such resistance or obstruction.

(2) Where any application is made under sub-rule (1), the Court shall proceed to adjudicate upon the application in accordance with the provisions herein contained.

98. Orders after adjudication.--(1) Upon the determination of the questions referred to in rule 101, the Court shall, in accordance with such determination and subject to the provisions of sub-rule (2),--*

(a) make an order allowing the application and directing that the applicant be put into the possession of the property or dismissing the application; or

(b) pass such other order as, in the circumstances of the case, it may deem fit.

(2) Where, upon such determination, the Court is satisfied that the resistance or obstruction was occasioned without any just cause by the judgment-debtor or by some other person at his instigation or on his behalf, or by any transferee, where such transfer was made during the pendency of the suit or execution proceeding, it shall direct that the applicant be put into possession of the property, and where the applicant is still resisted or obstructed in obtaining possession, the Court may also, at the instance of the applicant, order the judgment-debtor, or any person acting at his instigation or on his behalf, to be detained in the civil prison for a term which may extend to thirty days.

99. Dispossession by decree-holder or purchaser.-- (1) Where any person other than the judgment-debtor is dispossessed of immovable property by the holder of a decree for the possession of such property or, where such property has been sold in execution of a decree, by the purchaser thereof, he may make an application to the Court complaining of such dispossession.*

(2) Where any such application is made, the Court shall proceed to adjudicate upon the application in accordance with the provisions herein contained.

100. Order to be passed upon application complaining of dispossession.--Upon the determination of the questions referred to in rule 101, the Court shall, in accordance with such determination,--*

(a) make an order allowing the application and directing that the applicant be put into the possession of the property or dismissing the application; or

(b) pass such other order as, in the circumstances of the case, it may deem fit.

101. Question to be determined.--All questions (including questions relating to right, title or interest in the property) arising between the parties to a proceeding on an application under rule 97 or rule 99 or their representatives, and relevant to the adjudication of the application, shall be determined by the Court dealing with the application and not by a separate suit and for this purpose, the Court shall, notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained in any other law for the time being in force, be deemed to have jurisdiction to decide such questions."*

11. From the reading of sub-clause (1) of Rule 35 Order 21, it is clear that the executing court delivers actual physical possession of the disputed property to the decree-holder or to such person as he may appoint to receive delivery on his behalf, and, if necessary, by removing any person bound by the decree who refuses to vacate the property. The significance is of the words removing any person bound by the decree.

12. Rule 36 of Order 21 envisages that when the immovable property is in possession of a tenant or other person not bound by the decree, the Court delivers possession by affixing a copy of the warrant in some conspicuous place of the said property and proclaiming to be occupant by beat of drum or other customary mode, at some convenient place, the substance of the decree in regard to the property.

13. While Order 21 Rule 97 envisages resistance or obstruction to the possession of immovable property when made in execution of a decree by "any person". This may be either by the person bound by the decree, claiming title through the judgment-debtor or claiming independent right of his own including a tenant not party to the suit or even a stranger. A decree-holder, in such a case, may make an application to the executing court complaining such resistance for delivery of possession of the property. Rule 101 provides for all questions (including questions relating to right, title or interest in the property) arising between the parties to a proceeding on an application under Rule 97 or Rule 99 shall be determined by the Court dealing with the application and not by separate suit for this purpose. Rules 97 and 101 were amended by Amending Act of 1976 so as to shorten the litigation as the decree-holder could not get the fruits of the decree fructified due to long drawn battles.

14. Thus, from the conjoint reading of Rule 35 of Order 21, Rule 36 of Order 21 and Rules 97 to 101 of Order 21, it culls out that Rule 35 Order 21 deals with delivery of possession of an immovable property to the decree-holder by delivery of actual physical possession and removing any person in possession who is bound by the decree, while Order 21 Rule 36 provides only for a symbolic possession where the tenant is in actual possession. While Order 21 Rule 97 conceives of cases where delivery of possession to the decree-holder is resisted by any person. "Any person". "Any person" is wide enough to include even a person not bound by a decree or claiming right in the property on his own including that of a tenant including a stranger. Prior to 1976 Amendment, Rule 101 of Order 21 was different and by virtue of then Rule 103, a person was to file a suit for establishing his right, but post amendment one need not file suit even in such case as all disputes are to be settled by executing court itself finally under Rule 101 of Order 21 C.P.C.

15. In the case in hand, the eviction proceedings by decree-holder/ respondent no. 1 were launched against respondent no. 2 in the year 2013 and the suit was decreed on 28.03.2017. The respondent no. 2 had challenged the order through S.C.C. Revision which was also dismissed on 25.09.2019 and finally the matter stood decided by judgment of this Court dated 14.11.2019, writ petition filed by respondent no. 2 having been dismissed.

16. Present litigation was started at the behest of petitioners by filing application under Order 21 Rule 97-101 C.P.C. on 16.11.2019, immediately after two days of dismissal of the writ petition filed by respondent no. 2. The important fact for consideration is that petitioner no. 2 and respondent no. 2 are related to each other. Respondent no. 2 is brother-in-law of petitioner no. 2 and real brother of Sunil Kumar Tadaiya, who is alleged to have died in the year 2015.

17. In the application filed by petitioners, it has been contended that the shop in question was let out by father of decree-holder/respondent no. 1 in the year 1967. It was a partnership firm and the same carried out the business till 1988, when it was converted into a proprietorship business and was rented by husband of petitioner no. 2, Sunil Kumar Tadaiya in the name of Seth Daryablal Manik Lal Tadaiya.

18. Both courts below have dismissed the application under Order 21 Rule 97 on the ground that the present set of proceedings have been launched as a dilatory tactics to linger on the case and so the decree be not executed in favour of respondent no. 1. The courts below have recorded finding that cheque which was issued for payment of rent from 2000 onwards was by Sushil Kumar Tadaiya, respondent no. 2, thus, the stand taken that partnership firm was reconstituted and the sole proprietorship continued by Sunil Kumar Tadaiya from 1988 onwards was against the material on record.

19. This Court finds from the reading of the application filed by petitioners that there is no disclosure as to the fact that who are the partners of the firm which was constituted in the year 1967 and until it was reconstituted as a sole proprietorship. The finding recorded by courts below to the extent that neither the application disclosed the said fact nor any material has been brought on record except the rent receipts which are issued in the name of respondent no. 2, Sushil Kumar Tadaiya in the year 2008 establishes the fact that he was in possession over the shop in dispute as the tenant.

20. This Court also finds that the petitioners have not disclosed any fact in relation to the partnership firm and its partners who were running the business from the shop in question, only a sketchy disclosure has been made in the application claiming themselves to be in possession of the property.

21. The Apex Court in case of Silverline Forum Pvt. Ltd. (supra) while dealing with somewhat similar issue under Order 21 Rule 97 held that all questions arising between the parties to a proceeding on an application under Rule 97, would envelop only such questions as would legally arise for determination between those parties. In other words, the court is not obliged to determine a question merely because the resister raised. According to the Court, the question which executing court is obliged to determine under Rule 101, must possess two adjuncts. First is that such questions should have legally arisen between the parties, and the second is, such questions must be relevant for consideration and determination between the parties. The Court further held that in adjudication process envisaged under Order 21 Rule 97(2) of the Code, the execution court can decide whether the question raised by a resister or obstructor legally arises between the parties. Relevant paragraphs 10 to 14 are extracted hereasunder:-

"10. It is true that Rule 99 of Order 21 is not available to any person until he is dispossessed of immovable property by the decree-holder. Rule 101 stipulates that all questions "arising between the parties to a proceeding on an application under Rule 97 or Rule 99" shall be determined by the executing court, if such questions are "relevant to the adjudication of the application". A third party to the decree who offers resistance would thus fall within the ambit of Rule 101 if an adjudication is warranted as a consequence of the resistance or obstruction made by him to the execution of the decree. No doubt if the resistance was made by a transferee pendente lite of the judgment-debtor, the scope of the adjudication would be shrunk to the limited question whether he is such a transferee and on a finding in the affirmative regarding that point the execution court has to hold that he has no right to resist in view of the clear language contained in Rule 102. Exclusion of such a transferee from raising further contentions is based on the salutary principle adumbrated in Section 52 of the Transfer of Property Act.

11. When a decree-holder complains of resistance to the execution of a decree it is incumbent on the execution court to adjudicate upon it. But while making adjudication, the court is obliged to determine only such question as may be arising between the parties to a proceeding on such complaint and that such questions must be relevant to the adjudication of the complaint.

12. The words "all questions arising between the parties to a proceeding on an application under Rule 97" would envelop only such questions as would legally arise for determination between those parties. In other words, the court is not obliged to determine a question merely because the resister raised it. The questions which the executing court is obliged to determine under Rule 101, must possess two adjuncts. First is that such questions should have legally arisen between the parties, and the second is, such questions must be relevant for consideration and determination between the parties, e.g., if the obstructor admits that he is a transferee pendente lite it is not necessary to determine a question raised by him that he was unaware of the litigation when he purchased the property. Similarly, a third party, who questions the validity of a transfer made by a decree-holder to an assignee, cannot claim that the question regarding its validity should be decided during execution proceedings. Hence, it is necessary that the questions raised by the resister or the obstructor must legally arise between him and the decree-holder. In the adjudication process envisaged in Order 21 Rule 97(2) of the Code, the execution court can decide whether the question raised by a resister or obstructor legally arises between the parties. An answer to the said question also would be the result of the adjudication contemplated in the sub-section.

13. In the above context we may refer to Order 21 Rule 35(1) which reads thus:

"35. (1) Where a decree is for the delivery of any immovable property, possession thereof shall be delivered to the party to whom it has been adjudged, or to such person as he may appoint to receive delivery on his behalf, and, if necessary, by removing any person bound by the decree who refuses to vacate the property."

14. It is clear that the executing court can decide whether the resister or obstructor is a person bound by the decree and he refuses to vacate the property. That question also squarely falls within the adjudicatory process contemplated in Order 21 Rule 97(2) of the Code. The adjudication mentioned therein need not necessarily involve a detailed enquiry or collection of evidence. The court can make the adjudication on admitted facts or even on the averments made by the resister. Of course the court can direct the parties to adduce evidence for such determination if the court deems it necessary."

22. In Bool Chand (supra), the Apex Court held that a genuine petition to execution of a decree can certainly be considered and frivolous objections which deprive the decree-holder of benefit of such decree should be discouraged. Relevant paras 11 and 12 are extracted hereasunder:-

"11. It is clear from the finding recorded by the courts below that the predecessor of the respondents was party to the sale certificate which the respondents never challenged. There is no evidence on record that they were in possession prior to the passing of the decree as they did not take part in proceedings in spite of knowledge of the proceedings for a long period of time. The suit was duly contested by the original defendants for a long period of 30 years. It could not, thus, be held that the original defendants had colluded with the appellant-plaintiffs. In this view of the matter, there was no justification for the High Court to have set aside the order of the courts below only by observing that the executing court had not recorded finding that regular enquiry, as suit, was not required. This observation is also against the record as the executing court has, after finding that the objections were misconceived in substance, held that no regular enquiry as a suit was required. There was thus, no infirmity in the finding recorded by the courts below in rejecting the objections.

12. While a genuine petition for execution of a decree can certainly be considered, the court cannot be oblivious of frivolous objections being filed after a decree is passed in long-drawn contested proceedings. Attempt to deprive the decree-holder of benefit of such decree should be discouraged by the court where such objection is raised. The impugned order is thus, clearly erroneous and unsustainable and not a result of sound judicial approach."

23. In Noorduddin (supra), the Apex Court held that the scheme of the Code pursuant to the amendment of 1976 appears to put an end to the protraction of the execution and to shorten the litigation between the parties or persons claiming right, title and interest in the immovable property in execution. Relevant paragraphs 8 and 9 are extracted hereasunder:-

"8. Thus, the scheme of the Code clearly adumbrates that when an application has been made under Order 21, Rule 97, the court is enjoined to adjudicate upon the right, title and interest claimed in the property arising between the parties to a proceeding or between the decree-holder and the person claiming independent right, title or interest in the immovable property and an order in that behalf be made. The determination shall be conclusive between the parties as if it was a decree subject to right of appeal and not a matter to be agitated by a separate suit. In other words, no other proceedings were allowed to be taken. It has to be remembered that preceding Civil Procedure Code Amendment Act, 1976, right of suit under Order 21, Rule 103 of 1908 Code was available which has been now taken away. By necessary implication, the legislature relegated the parties to an adjudication of right, title or interest in the immovable property under execution and finality has been accorded to it. Thus, the scheme of the Code appears to be to put an end to the protraction of the execution and to shorten the litigation between the parties or persons claiming right, title and interest in the immovable property in execution.

9. Adjudication before execution is an efficacious remedy to prevent fraud, oppression, abuse of the process of the court or miscarriage of justice. The object of law is to mete out justice. Right to the right, title or interest of a party in the immovable property is a substantive right. But the right to an adjudication of the dispute in that behalf is a procedural right to which no one has a vested right. The faith of the people in the efficacy of law is the saviour and succour for the sustenance of the rule of law. Any weakening like (sic) in the judicial process would rip apart the edifice of justice and create a feeling of disillusionment in the minds of the people of the very law and courts. The rules of procedure have been devised as a channel or a means to render substantive or at best substantial justice which is the highest interest of man and almameter (sic) for the mankind. It is a foundation for orderly human relations. Equally the judicial process should never become an instrument of oppression or abuse or a means in the process of the court to subvert justice. The court has, therefore, to wisely evolve its process to aid expeditious adjudication and would preserve the possession of the property in the interregnum based on factual situation. Adjudication under Order 21, Rules 98, 100 and 101 and its successive rules is sine qua non to a finality of the adjudication of the right, title or interest in the immovable property under execution."

24. In Shreenath (supra), the Supreme Court while considering the application under Order 21 Rule 97-101 relying upon the earlier decision in Noorduddin (supra) held as under:-

"1.The seeker of justice many a time has to take long circuitous routes, both on account of hierarchy of courts and the procedural law. Such persons are and can be dragged till the last ladder of the said hierarchy for receiving justice but even here he only breathes fear of receiving the fruits of that justice for which he has been aspiring to receive. The reach this stage is in itself an achievement and satisfaction as he, by then has passed through a long arduous journey of the procedural law with many hurdles replica of mountain terrain with ridges and furrows. When he is ready to take the bite of that fruit, he has to pass through the same terrain of the procedural law in the execution proceedings the morose is writ large on his face. What looked inevitable to him to receive it at his hands distance is deluded back into the horizon. The creation of the hierarchy of courts was for a reasonable objective for conferring greater satisfaction to the parties that errors, if any, by any of the lower courts under the scrutiny of a higher court be rectified and long procedural laws also with good intention to exclude and filter out all unwanted who may be the cause of obstruction to such seeker in his journey to justice. But this obviously is one of the causes of delay in justice. Of course, under this pattern the party wrongfully gaining within permissible limits also stretches the litigation as much as possible. Thus this has been the cause of anxiety and concern of various authorities, legislators and courts. How to eliminate such a long consuming justice? We must confess that we have still to go a long way before true satisfaction in this regard is received. Even after one reaches the stage of final decree, he has to undergo a long distance by passing through the ordained procedure in the execution proceedings before he receives the bowl of justice."

25. In N.S.S. Narayana Sarma (supra), the Court considering the earlier decisions of Apex Court in case of Shreenath (supra) and Silverline Forum Pvt. Ltd. (supra) held as under:-

"15. Provision is made in the Civil Procedure Code for delivery of possession of immovable property in execution of a decree and matters relating thereto. In Order 21 Rule 35 provisions are made empowering the executing court to deliver possession of the property to the decree-holder if necessary, by removing any person bound by the decree who refuses to vacate the property. In Rule 36 provision is made for delivery of formal or symbolical possession of the property in occupancy of a tenant or other person entitled to occupy the same and not bound by the decree to relinquish such occupancy. Rules 97 to 101 of Order 21 contain the provisions enabling the executing court to deal with a situation when a decree-holder entitled to possession of the property encounters obstruction from "any person". From the provisions in these Rules which have been quoted earlier the scheme is clear that the legislature has vested wide powers in the executing court to deal with "all issues" relating to such matters. It is a general impression prevailing amongst the litigant public that difficulties of a litigant are by no means over on his getting a decree for immovable property in his favour. Indeed, his difficulties in real and practical sense, arise after getting the decree. Presumably, to tackle such a situation and to allay the apprehension in the minds of litigant public that it takes years and years for the decree-holder to enjoy fruits of the decree, the legislature made drastic amendments in provisions in the aforementioned Rules, particularly, the provision in Rule 101 in which it is categorically declared that all questions including questions relating to right, title or interest in the property arising between the parties to a proceeding on an application under Rule 97 or Rule 99 or their representatives, and relevant to the adjudication of the application shall be determined by the court dealing with the application and not by a separate suitand for this purpose, the court shall, notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained in any other law for the time being in force, be deemed to have jurisdiction to decide such questions. On a fair reading of the Rule it is manifest that the legislature has enacted the provision with a view to remove, as far as possible, technical objections to an application filed by the aggrieved party whether he is the decree-holder or any other person in possession of the immovable property under execution and has vested the power in the executing court to deal with all questions arising in the matter irrespective of whether the court otherwise has jurisdiction to entertain a dispute of the nature. This clear statutory mandate and the object and purpose of the provisions should not be lost sight of by the courts seized of an execution proceeding. The court cannot shirk its responsibility by skirting the relevant issues arising in the case.(emphasis supplied)

16. Interpreting the provisions in these Rules, a three-Judge Bench of this Court in the case of Silverline Forum (P) Ltd. v. Rajiv Trust [(1998) 3 SCC 723] held : (SCC pp. 727-28, paras 10-12)

"10. It is true that Rule 99 of Order 21 is not available to any person until he is dispossessed of immovable property by the decree-holder. Rule 101

stipulates that all questions "arising between the parties to a proceeding on an application under Rule 97 or Rule 99' shall be determined by the executing court, if such questions are "relevant to the adjudication of the application'. A third party to the decree who offers resistance would thus fall within the ambit of Rule 101 if an adjudication is warranted as a consequence of the resistance or obstruction made by him to the execution of the decree. No doubt if the resistance was made by a transferee pendente lite of the judgment-debtor, the scope of the adjudication would be shrunk to the limited question whether he is such a transferee and on a finding in the affirmative regarding that point the execution court has to hold that he has no right to resist in view of the clear language contained in Rule 102. Exclusion of such a transferee from raising further contentions is based on the salutary principle adumbrated in Section 52 of the Transfer of Property Act.

11. When a decree-holder complains of resistance to the execution of a decree it is incumbent on the execution court to adjudicate upon it. But while making adjudication, the court is obliged to determine only such question as may be arising between the parties to a proceeding on such complaint and that such questions must be relevant to the adjudication of the complaint.

12. The words "all questions arising between the parties to a proceeding on an application under Rule 97' would envelop only such questions as would legally arise for determination between those parties. In other words, the court is not obliged to determine a question merely because the resister raised it. The questions which the executing court is obliged to determine under Rule 101, must possess two adjuncts. First is that such questions should have legally arisen between the parties, and the second is, such questions must be relevant for consideration and determination between the parties, e.g., if the obstructor admits that he is a transferee pendente lite it is not necessary to determine a question raised by him that he was unaware of the litigation when he purchased the property. Similarly, a third party, who questions the validity of a transfer made by a decree-holder to an assignee, cannot claim that the question regarding its validity should be decided during execution proceedings. Hence, it is necessary that the questions raised by the resister or the obstructor must legally arise between him and the decree-holder. In the adjudication process envisaged in Order 21 Rule 97(2) of the Code, the execution court can decide whether the question raised by a resister or obstructor legally arises between the parties. An answer to the said question also would be the result of the adjudication contemplated in the sub-section."(emphasis supplied)"

26. Thus, from the reading of provisions of Order 21, Rule 97-101 C.P.C. and decisions rendered by Apex Court, it is clear that executing court is not obliged to determine a question merely because the resistor or objector has raised it. The question which the executing court is obliged to determine under Rule 101 must possess two adjuncts. Firstly, such question should have legally arisen between the parties and secondly, it must be relevant for consideration and determination between the parties.

27. In the present case, the third party objector came into picture for the first time immediately after the dismissal of the writ petition on 14.11.2019 by this Court alleging that they were not aware of the proceedings which are going on since 2013 and for the first time came to know in October, 2019. The application under Order 21 Rule 97 C.P.C. was moved on 16.11.2019. The only fact disclosed in the application was that petitioner no. 1 which was a partnership firm was let out the shop in 1967 and continued as partnership firm till 1988 when it was converted into a sole proprietorship. Nowhere in the application, the details of the partners who constituted the firm was disclosed nor the date of dissolution of the partnership firm was mentioned. The supporting documents filed are rent receipts which are actually issued in the name of respondent no. 2, Sushil Kumar Tadaiya who is real brother of Sunil Kumar Tadaiya, the late husband of petitioner no. 2, who claims to be running the sole proprietorship since 1988.

28. The courts below had rightly rejected the application holding that it was a dilatory tactics by petitioners to stall the execution proceedings launched by decree-holder.

29. This Court finds that Apex Court had clearly interpreted Rule 97 read with Rule 101 of Order 21 post amendment wherein the executing court has to determine under Rule 101 Order 21 of the Code that the question raised has legally arisen between the parties and secondly the question must be relevant for consideration and determination between the parties.

30. In the present case, this Court finds that the application moved under Order 21 Rule 97 does not raise any question to be determined and is only an application by the sister-in-law of respondent no. 2 trying to stall and delay the execution proceeding filed by decree-holder.

31. In view of above, the question raised in the present case stands answered in view of decision of Apex Court in case of Silverline Forum Pvt. Ltd. (supra) followed in Noorduddin (supra) and Shreenath (supra) that only the question which has been legally raised by the parties and must be relevant for consideration and determination between them shall be considered and nothing beyond that.

32. Thus, considering the facts and circumstances of the case, this Court finds that no case is made out which warrants interference in the orders passed by the courts below.

33. Writ petition fails and is hereby dismissed.

34. Interim order stands discharged.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Ajai Tyagi, J.)

1. This appeal is preferred by the claimants-appellants for enhancement of compensation awarded to appellant by Motor Accident Claims Tribunal/Additional District Judge, Court No.16, Kanpur Nagar ('Tribunal', for short), vide judgment/award dated 9.11.2017 and decree dated 14.11.2017 in M.A.C.No.820 of 2010 (Vinod Kumar Mishra & others vs. National Insurance Co.Ltd. & others) whereby claimants/appellants was awarded Rs.4,71,500/-, with 6% rate of interest as compensation.

2. Brief facts of the case are that on 20.12.2008, the deceased was going on her scooty bearing No.UP78-BP/2060 in District-Kanpur Nagar. When she reached near Railway-crossing, GT Road within the jurisdiction of Police Station-Chakeri, a truck bearing No.UP78-AT/4739 coming from opposite direction, which was being driven very rashly and negligently by its driver hit the scooty of the deceased. In this accident, Kumari Anjali Mishra (deceased) sustained fatal injuries and died during the treatment in hospital. A police report was registered at concerned police station regarding the accident. The owner and insurer of aforesaid offending truck filed their respective written statements before the Tribunal. Driver of the truck did not participate in the proceedings. Aggrieved by the quantum of compensation with 6% per annum rate of interest, the appellants-claimants filed this appeal.

3. Heard Shri Ved Prakash Shukla, learned counsel for the appellants and Shri Rajeev Ojha, learned counsel for the respondents-Insurance Company.

4. The accident is not in dispute. The insurance company has not challenged the liability on it. The issue of negligence has attained finality. Now the only issue to be decided is the quantum of compensation awarded by the Tribunal. Entire factual scenario is not being narrated as the limited question in this appeal relates to the quantum only.

5. With regard to the quantum, learned counsel for the appellants submitted that the age of the deceased at the time of accident was just 21 years and she was student of B.Tech. and had passed 3rd Year; her career was very promissing. It is also submitted that the deceased was earning Rs.6,000/- per month by way of imparting tuitions, but learned Tribunal assessed her monthly income at Rs.3,000/- only. Further submission is that compensation under the heads of non-pecuniary damages is on the very lower-side; Tribunal has awarded Rs.2,500/- for loss of estate and Rs.10,000/- for funeral expenses. No amount regarding filial consortium has been awarded. It is next contended by counsel for the appellants that Tribunal has applied multiplier of 17 while it could have been 18 in the light of the judgment of Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of Smt.Sarla Verma vs. Delhi Transport Corporation [2009 (2) TAC 677 (SC)]. Learned counsel for the appellants-claimants has heavily relied on the following judgments:

A. Meena Pawaia and others vs. Ashraf Ali and others*, 2021 LawSuit (SC) 743,*

B. Jakir Hussain vs. Sabir and others*, 2015 LS (SC) 147*

6. Shri Rajiv Ojha, learned counsel appearing for Insurance Company, vehemently objected the contentions made by counsel for the appellants and submitted that deceased was only a student; she was not earning anything. It is further submitted that according to the averment of claim petition, the deceased was imparting tuitions and earning Rs.6,000/- per month, but no documentary evidence in this regard has been adduced by the appellants. Hence, the oral submission does not carry any weight, therefore, learned Tribunal has rightly assessed her income to be Rs.3,000/- per month; multiplier is also correctly applied. Learned counsel appearing for Insurance Co. has lastly submitted that there is no infirmity or illegality in the impugned judgment, which calls for any interference by this Court.

7. It is admitted fact that at the time of death, the age of the deceased was 21 years and it is also admitted and not opposed by respondents that she was the student of B.Tech. and had passed 3rd year. Even, if there is no documentary evidence regarding her imparting the tuitions and earning Rs.6,000/- per month, but learned Tribunal lost its sight from the fact that she was pursuing B.Tech., meaning thereby she was going to become an Engineer, if she had not met the unfortunate accident and died untimely-death.

8. For assessing the just compensation, in such cases where a promissing student has lost his/her life in unfortunate accident, Tribunals must keep in mind the potential of the deceased to earn his/her livelihood. It is not necessary that in every case, a promissing student had some earning at the time of death, but he/she could have potential and capacity to earn, if the accident would not have occurred. The Motor Vehicles Act is a benevolent Act and the claimants are entitled to just compensation.

9. Hon'ble Apex Court in Meena Pawaia (supra) has held that even the labourers were getting Rs.5,000/- per month under the Minimum Wages Act. Even in 2012, therefore, Tribunal should not have assessed a meager income of a person, who has lost life in accident. Educational qualification and family background of such type of deceased persons should be kept in mind before assessing their income.

10. In the case in hand, it is very well proved that the deceased was 21 years of age and had passed 3rd Year Examination of B.Tech. So we are of the considered opinion that learned Tribunal has committed grave error in fixing her monthly income at Rs.3,000/- only. Keeping in mind the potentiality and capability of the deceased to earn in future, we are of the considered view that her income should be assessed not less than Rs.6,000/- per month as she was promissing B.Tech. Student. Therefore, her monthly income is assessed to be Rs.6,000/- per month. As far as the future loss of income is concerned, learned Tribunal has added 50% of the income, but in Meena Pawaia's case (supra), Hon'ble Supreme Court held that even in a case of a deceased, who was not serving at the time of death and had no income, their legal heirs shall also be entitled to future-prospects by adding future rise in income as held by Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of National Insurance Company vs. Pranay Sethi [2014 (4) TAC 637 (SC)] i.e 40% of the income shall be added for future loss of income, considering the educational qualification, family background etc. where the deceased was below the age of 40 years. Hence, we are not inclined to add 50% to the income of the deceased for future loss of income. Deceased was unmarried, therefore, the Tribunal was rightly deducted ½ for her personal expenses as envisaged by Hon'ble Apex Court in Munna Lal Jain vs. Vipin Kumar Sharma, 2015 (3) TAC 1(SC). Learned Tribunal has applied multiplier of 17, which is on lower-side and it should be of 18 according to the judgment of Hon'ble Apex Court in Smt.Sarla Verma (supra). As far as non-pecuniary damages are concerned, the Tribunal has awarded only Rs.10,000/- towards funeral expenses, which are also on the lower-side. In the light of Judgment of Pranay Sethi (supra), claimants shall be entitled to get Rs.15,000/- for loss of estate and Rs.15,000/- for funeral expenses. Apart from it, the appellants shall also be entitled to get Rs.40,000/- for loss of filial consortium. Hence, the non-pecuniary damages are calculated at Rs.15,000/- + Rs.15,000/- + Rs.40,000/- = Rs.70,000/-, and as per the judgment of the Pranay Sethi (supra), these would be revised 10% every three years. Hence, we fix total lump-sum non-pecuniary damages at Rs.1,00,000/-.

i.	Annual Income	Rs.6,000/- x 12	Rs.72,000/-
ii.	Percentage towards Future-Prospects	Rs.28,800/-

	(40%)
iii.	Total Income	Rs.72,000/- + Rs.28,800/-	Rs.1,00,800/-
iv.	Income after deduction of 1/2		Rs.50,400/-
v.	Multiplier applicable	18
vi.	Loss of dependency	Rs.50,400/- x 18	Rs.9,07,200/-
vii.	Non-pecuniary Damages	Rs.1,00,000/-
viii.	Total Compensation	Rs.9,07,200/- + Rs.1,00,000/-	Rs.10,07,200/-

12. As far as issue of rate of interest is concerned, it should be 7.5% in view of the latest decision of the Apex Court in National Insurance Co. Ltd. Vs. Mannat Johal and Others, 2019 (2) T.A.C. 705 (S.C.) wherein the Apex Court has held as under:

"13. The aforesaid features equally apply to the contentions urged on behalf of the claimants as regards the rate of interest. The Tribunal had awarded interest at the rate of 12% p.a. but the same had been too high a rate in comparison to what is ordinarily envisaged in these matters. The High Court, after making a substantial enhancement in the award amount, modified the interest component at a reasonable rate of 7.5% p.a. and we find no reason to allow the interest in this matter at any rate higher than that allowed by High Court."

13. Learned Tribunal has awarded rate of interest as 6% per annum, but we are fixing the rate of interest as 7.5% in the light of the above judgment.

14. In view of the above, the appeal is partly allowed. Judgment and award passed by the Tribunal shall stand modified to the aforesaid extent. The Insurance Company shall deposit the amount within a period of 8 weeks from today with interest at the rate of 7.5% from the date of filing of the claim petition till the amount is deposited. The amount already deposited be deducted from the amount to be deposited.

15. In view of the ratio laid down by Hon'ble Gujarat High Court, in the case of Smt. Hansagori P. Ladhani vs. The Oriental Insurance Company Ltd., [2007(2) GLH 291] and this High Court in total amount of interest, accrued on the principal amount of compensation is to be apportioned on financial year to financial year basis and if the interest payable to claimant for any financial year exceeds Rs.50,000/-, insurance company/owner is/are entitled to deduct appropriate amount under the head of 'Tax Deducted at Source' as provided u/s 194A (3) (ix) of the Income Tax Act, 1961 and if the amount of interest does not exceeds Rs.50,000/- in any financial year, registry of this Tribunal is directed to allow the claimants to withdraw the amount without producing the certificate from the concerned Income- Tax Authority. The aforesaid view has been reiterated by this High Court in Review Application No.1 of 2020 in First Appeal From Order No.23 of 2001 (Smt. Sudesna and others Vs. Hari Singh and another) and in First Appeal From Order No.2871 of 2016 (Tej Kumari Sharma v. Chola Mandlam M.S. General Insurance Co.

Ltd.) decided on 19.3.2021, while disbursing the amount.

1. Heard Sri Shashi Prakash Rai, learned counsel for the appellants, Sri Bajarang Bahadur Singh, learned counsel for the owner-respondent no.1. None present on behalf of driver-respondent no.2 and insurance company-respondent no.3.

2. By way of this appeal the appellants have felt aggrieved by the order passed by Claims Tribunal, whereby the Claims tribunal dismissed the claim petition being M.A.C.P. No. 21 of 2015.

3. Brief facts of the case culled out from the record are that, on 23.11.2014 at about 6.30 p.m. when the deceased was plying his Hero Honda motorcycle bearing No. U.P. 63 L/0421 and was going from Pathkhura to his house at that time near Paramhans Ashram respondent no.2 drove Minibus bearing No. U.P. 65 R/9955 and rashly and negligently dashed with the motorcycle and the deceased came under the bus and his motorcycle was also damaged. The people around him called 108 ambulance and he was sent to Rajgarh Community Centre but as he was serious he was sent to Sadar Hospital, Mirzapur, there also he was not treated but he was sent to Popular Hospital, Varanasi where he was admitted but as his health did not improve he was moved to B.H.U. hospital, where during treatment on 25th November 2014 he breathed last and succumbed to the injuries. On his death, his family was under shock, they could not lodge the first information report in time. The first information report was lodged by his brother on filing of the claim petition the respondent Nos. 1 and 2 filed their reply, which was one of negation contending that the vehicle was not involved in the accident and that the vehicle was permitted to ply between Mirzapur to Ghazipur and his vehicle could not have been at the place where the accident took place. The police took the vehicle and filed the charge-sheet. Later on, the driver of the Minibus was charge-sheeted and he was released on bail, is an admitted position of fact which has been brushed aside by the Tribunal. The respondent no.3 insurance company on the contrary took a stand that it was the deceased who was negligent and he dashed with the bus. The Tribunal framed five issues. The first and the fifth issue has been held against the appellants. The written statement of the insurance company ought to have been looked into by the Tribunal before brushing aside the judgment and not relying on the authoritative pronouncements in Varinderjit Singh Vs. Tajinder Singh & others, 2008 (4) TAC 250 Punjab and Haryana, Devi Prasad Vs. Zahur Khan, 2001 (2) TAC 419 Madhya Pradesh, and Bhanwar Lal Verma Vs. Sharad Dholiya, 2007 ACJ 52.

4. The appellants have challenged the impugned award and decision on the following amongst grounds that the order passed by the Tribunal is illegal, arbitrary, without application of mind and cannot be sustained in the eyes of law.

5. It is submitted by learned counsel for the appellants that the court below has failed to consider, while passing the impugned order, that the insurance company of the vehicle/ respondent no.3 admitted that the accident took place by his vehicle but contended that accident occurred due to negligence of deceased. In support of his arguments, Sri S.D. Ojha, learned counsel for the appellants has relied on the following decisions in (i) Kusum Lata and others Vs. Satbir and others, 2011 (2) Supreme 207; (ii) Saroj and others Vs. Het Lal and others, (2011) 1 SCC 388; and (iii) Vimla Devi and others Vs. National Insurance Company Limited and others, 2019 (133) ALR 768; Sunita and others vs. Rajasthan State Road Transport Corporation and another AIR 2019 SC 994 so as to contend that the petition has been dismissed by assigning reasons which are not germane.

6. It is further submitted in reply that it was the driver of the motorcycle, who was driving the vehicle rashly and negligently. The facts prove that the vehicle Minibus was involved in the accident.

7. The claimants examined the widow of the deceased, PW 2 Ikbal Ahmad, who was an eye witness and PW 3 Kamlesh Kumar Srivastava, who had lodged the first information report. As far as the respondents are concerned, DW 1 has been examined. The appellants filed chick F.I.R., post-mortem report, report of the Panchnama, the release memo of the Mini Bus, death certificate of the deceased, medical certificate of Mirzapur doctor, Popular Hospital and death certificate by Tehsildar of Chunar. The voter I.D. and all other documentary evidence to prove involvement of vehicle and the income of the deceased were also produced. The respondent no.1 filed the fitness certificate, permit, insurance and the driving licence of the driver.

8. The respondent no.3 did not examine any witness. The Tribunal has dismissed the claim petition despite the fact that the respondent insurance company had taken the plea that the accident occurred due to the negligence of the driver, who had lost his balance. The Tribunal did not believe the testimony of the wife as she did not disclose, who gave her number of Minibus. It is held that PW 2 cannot be accepted as an eye witness as he also did not give the number of the bus and that the first information report was against an unknown vehicle and therefore, the charge-sheet was not acceptable.

9. The evidence on record which has been brushed aside by the Tribunal is without any basis. The PW 1 did not give the name, number of vehicle involved. The chick F.I.R. did not give the number of Minibus and that PW 3 who registered the F.I.R. also did not give the number of Minibus. The fact that the evidence of all these three witnesses have not been controverted even except the filing of written statement by the owner. The driver of the vehicle never complained that he has falsely implicated. The F.I.R. also states that Minibus was involved in the accident. The charge-sheet is a prima facie proof of involvement of the vehicle, the owner no where contends that his bus was not on the road.

10. On the contrary, while going through the record, it is very clear that the vehicle had permit to ply at the place where the accident occurred and therefore, the statement of the owner could not have been believed. The route permit discussed by the learned Tribunal also goes to show that the vehicle was having a permit to ply on the road which is in the accident. The fitness certificate and permit is there from Mirzapur to Ghazipur via Chunar Varanasi Saidpur and therefore, they contend that the vehicle did not have permit to ply on the said road is also a wrong statement on the record made by the owner against whose driver charge-sheet is led, thus on preponderance of probability the finding of the Tribunal cannot be accepted. We quantified in our view by the judgment of Apex Court in the case of Sunita (Supra). The recent judgement of the division bench in the case of First Appeal From Order No.1902 of 2010 (Ranjeet Singh v. Oriental Insurance Co. Ltd. and another) decided on 4.3.2022 will enure for the benefit of the appellant's herein.

11. In view of the above, we cannot concur with the learned Judge that it was not proved that the driver of the mini bus had not driven the bus rashly and negligently. The injuries suggest that the driver of Minibus was driving the vehicle rashly and negligently. Hence, the said issue is answered in the positive and in favour of the appellants.

12. The appreciation of evidence as held by the Apex Court in the case of Kusum Lata, Saroj and Vimla Devi (supra) will not permit us to concur with the learned Tribunal. The finding is perverse.

13. Having heard the learned counsel for the parties, let us consider the issue of negligence from the perspective of the law laid down.

14. The term negligence means failure to exercise care towards others which a reasonable and prudent person would in a circumstance or taking action which such a reasonable person would not. Negligence can be both intentional or accidental which is normally accidental. More particularly, it connotes reckless driving and the injured must always prove that the either side is negligent. If the injury rather death is caused by something owned or controlled by the negligent party then he is directly liable otherwise the principle of "res ipsa loquitur" meaning thereby "the things speak for itself" would apply.

15. The principle of contributory negligence has been discussed time and again. A person who either contributes or author of the accident would be liable for his contribution to the accident having taken place.

16. The Division Bench of this Court in First Appeal From Order No. 1818 of 2012 (Bajaj Allianz General Insurance Co.Ltd. Vs. Smt. Renu Singh And Others) decided on 19.7.2016 has held as under :

"16. Negligence means failure to exercise required degree of care and caution expected of a prudent driver. Negligence is the omission to do something which a reasonable man, guided upon the considerations, which ordinarily regulate conduct of human affairs, would do, or doing something which a prudent and reasonable man would not do. Negligence is not always a question of direct evidence. It is an inference to be drawn from proved facts. Negligence is not an absolute term, but is a relative one. It is rather a comparative term. What may be negligence in one case may not be so in another. Where there is no duty to exercise care, negligence in the popular sense has no legal consequence. Where there is a duty to exercise care, reasonable care must be taken to avoid acts or omissions which would be reasonably foreseen likely to caused physical injury to person. The degree of care required, of course, depends upon facts in each case. On these broad principles, the negligence of drivers is required to be assessed.

17. It would be seen that burden of proof for contributory negligence on the part of deceased has to be discharged by the opponents. It is the duty of driver of the offending vehicle to explain the accident. It is well settled law that at intersection where two roads cross each other, it is the duty of a fast moving vehicle to slow down and if driver did not slow down at intersection, but continued to proceed at a high speed without caring to notice that another vehicle was crossing, then the conduct of driver necessarily leads to conclusion that vehicle was being driven by him rashly as well as negligently.

18. 10th Schedule appended to Motor Vehicle Act contain statutory regulations for driving of motor vehicles which also form part of every Driving License. Clause-6 of such Regulation clearly directs that the driver of every motor vehicle to slow down vehicle at every intersection or junction of roads or at a turning of the road. It is also provided that driver of the vehicle should not enter intersection or junction of roads unless he makes sure that he would not thereby endanger any other person. Merely, because driver of the Truck was driving vehicle on the left side of road would not absolve him from his responsibility to slow down vehicle as he approaches intersection of roads, particularly when he could have easily seen, that the car over which deceased was riding, was approaching intersection.

19. In view of the fast and constantly increasing volume of traffic, motor vehicles upon roads may be regarded to some extent as coming within the principle of liability defined in Rylands V/s. Fletcher, (1868) 3 HL (LR) 330*. From the point of view of pedestrian, the roads of this country have been rendered by the use of motor vehicles, highly dangerous. 'Hit and run' cases where drivers of motor vehicles who have caused accidents, are unknown. In fact such cases are increasing in number. Where a pedestrian without negligence on his part is injured or killed by a motorist, whether negligently or not, he or his legal representatives, as the case may be, should be entitled to recover damages if principle of social justice should have any meaning at all.*

20. These provisions (sec.110A and sec.110B of Motor Act, 1988) are not merely procedural provisions. They substantively affect the rights of the parties. The right of action created by Fatal Accidents Act, 1855 was 'new in its species, new in its quality, new in its principles. In every way it was new. The right given to legal representatives under Act, 1988 to file an application for compensation for death due to a motor vehicle accident is an enlarged one. This right cannot be hedged in by limitations of an action under Fatal Accidents Act, 1855. New situations and new dangers require new strategies and new remedies.

*21. In the light of the above discussion, we are of the view that even if courts may not by interpretation displace the principles of law which are considered to be well settled and, therefore, court cannot dispense with proof of negligence altogether in all cases of motor vehicle accidents, it is possible to develop the law further on the following lines; when a motor vehicle is being driven with reasonable care, it would ordinarily not meet with an accident and, therefore, rule of res-ipsa loquitor as a rule of evidence may be invoked in motor accident cases with greater frequency than in ordinary civil suits (per three-Judge Bench in Jacob Mathew V/s. State of Punjab, 2005 0 ACJ(SC) 1840).*

22. By the above process, the burden of proof may ordinarily be cast on the defendants in a motor accident claim petition to prove that motor vehicle was being driven with reasonable care or that there is equal negligence on the part the other side."

17. The next issue which arises is that the matter has remained pending for long, the record and proceedings are before this Court and the matter whether be remanded to the Tribunal or decided here? The answer is in the affirmative as per the judgments of the Apex Court in Bithika Mazumdar and another Vs. Sagar Pal and others, (2017) 2 SCC 748 and of this Court in F.A.F.O. No. 1999 of 2007 (Oriental Insurance Company Limited vs. Smt. Ummida Begum and others) and in F.A.F.O. No. 1404 of 1999 (Smt. Ragini Devi and others Vs. United India Insurance Company Limited and another) decided on 17.4.2019 where in it has been held that if the record is with the appellate Court, it can decide compensation instead of relegating the parties to the Tribunal.

18. Hence, as far as quantum is concerned, this Court after hearing the learned counsels for the parties and perusing the judgment and order impugned, finds that the deceased was even hospitalised for quite some time and he was earning Rs.33,523/-per month by way salary as he was Lekhpal, namely Rs.4,02,276/- per year. To which, as the deceased was 47 years of age, 30% of the income requires to be added in view of the decision in National Insurance Company Limited Vs. Pranay Sethi and Others, 2017 0 Supreme (SC) 1050. Further, one third requires to be deducted as his personal expenses as he was survived by his wife and three minor daughters aged about 19, 16 and 13 years. As the deceased was in the age bracket of 47 years, the applicable multiplier would be 13 in view of the decision in Sarla Verma Vs. Delhi Transport Corporation, (2009) 6 SCC 121. In addition to that, Rs.75,000/- is granted towards conventional heads.

i. Income : Rs.33,523/- (Rs.4,02,276/- per year)

ii. Percentage towards future prospects : 30% namely Rs.10,057/- (rounded up)

iii. Total income : Rs.33,523 + 10,057 = Rs.43,530/-

iv. Income after deduction of 1/3rd towards personal expenses of the deceased : Rs.29,020/-

v. Annual income : Rs.29,020 x 12 = Rs.3,48,240/-

vi. Multiplier applicable : 13

vii. Loss of dependency: Rs.3,48,240 x 13 = Rs.45,27,120/-

vii. Amount under non pecuniary damages : Rs.75,000/-

viii. Total compensation : Rs.46,02,120/-

20. As far as issue of rate of interest is concerned, it should be 7.5% in view of the latest decision of the Apex Court in National Insurance Co. Ltd. Vs. Mannat Johal and Others, 2019 (2) T.A.C. 705 (S.C.) wherein the Apex Court has held as under :

"13. The aforesaid features equally apply to the contentions urged on behalf of the claimants as regards the rate of interest. The Tribunal had awarded interest at the rate of 12% p.a. but the same had been too high a rate in comparison to what is ordinarily envisaged in these matters. The High Court, after making a substantial enhancement in the award amount, modified the interest component at a reasonable rate of 7.5% p.a. and we find no reason to allow the interest in this matter at any rate higher than that allowed by High Court."

21. No other grounds are urged orally when the matter was heard.

22. In view of the above, the appeal is allowed. Judgment and order passed by the Tribunal is set aside. The respondent-Insurance Company shall deposit the amount within a period of 12 weeks from today with interest at the rate of 7.5% from the date of filing of the claim petition till the amount is deposited. The amount already deposited be deducted from the amount to be deposited.

23. On depositing the amount in the Registry of Tribunal, Registry is directed to first deduct the amount of deficit court fees, if any. Considering the ratio laid down by the Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of A.V. Padma V/s. Venugopal, Reported in 2012 (1) GLH (SC), 442, the order of investment is not passed because applicants /claimants are neither illiterate or rustic villagers.

24. In view of the ratio laid down by Hon'ble Gujarat High Court, in the case of Smt. Hansaguti P. Ladhani v/s The Oriental Insurance Company Ltd., reported in 2007(2) GLH 291, total amount of interest, accrued on the principal amount of compensation is to be apportioned on financial year to financial year basis and if the interest payable to claimant for any financial year exceeds Rs.50,000/-, insurance company/owner is/are entitled to deduct appropriate amount under the head of 'Tax Deducted at Source' as provided u/s 194A (3) (ix) of the Income Tax Act, 1961 and if the amount of interest does not exceeds Rs.50,000/- in any financial year, registry of this Tribunal is directed to allow the claimant to withdraw the amount without producing the certificate from the concerned Income- Tax Authority. The aforesaid view has been reiterated by this High Court in Review Application No.1 of 2020 in First Appeal From Order No.23 of 2001 (Smt. Sudesna and others Vs. Hari Singh and another) while disbursing the amount.

25. Fresh Award be drawn accordingly in the above petition by the tribunal as per the modification made herein. The Tribunals in the State shall follow the direction of this Court as herein aforementioned as far as disbursement is concerned, it should look into the condition of the litigant and the pendency of the matter and judgment of A.V. Padma (supra). The same is to be applied looking to the facts of each case.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Dr. Kaushal Jayendra Thaker, J.)

1. Heard Sri B.P. Verma, learned counsel for the appellants, Sri Devendra Kumar, Advocate has absented himself even in the third round. We have perused the award and record of the Tribunal impugned.

2. This appeal, at the behest of the claimants, challenges the judgment and order dated 6.2.2004 passed by Motor Accident Claims Tribunal/Additional District Judge, Court No.1, Meerut (hereinafter referred to as 'Tribunal') in M.A.C.No.494 of 2002 awarding a sum of Rs.1,77,375/- with interest at the rate of 7% as compensation.

3. Brief facts as culled out from the record are that on 26.2.2002, the deceased-Satyadev Sharma was going on scooter No. U.P.-15 G/7219 from L. Block Shastri Nagar to Tejgarhi and when he reached near Bank of Baroda then Tanker No. U.P.No.9002 hit the scooter from behind. He was treated in Lokpriya Hospital Meerut and Apolo Hospital Delhi and ultimately on 4.3.2002, he died. A very strange accident has occurred whereby a young person after being hit by a bus and tanker, died after about ten days in the hospital. Tribunal very strangely granted compensation to the tune of only 25% whcih was the liability of the tanker. The Tribunal held the driver of the bus to be negligent to the tune of 70% but did not grant compensation as according to the Tribunal, having not joined the owner or the driver of the said bus disentitled the claimants from claiming compensation. The better option for the Tribunal was to direct the driver and owner of the bus to be joined as respondents but neither the insurance company of the tanker gave such application. In this backdrop, that we are called upon to decide the liability and the compensation awardable to the legal heirs of the deceased. The deceased was aged about 46 years and was working as Labour and Industrialk Law Concultation as well as Manager (Legal) in Sanghal Paper Ltd. And was earning Rs.20,000/- per month.

4. The accident is not in dispute. The issue of negligence decided by the Tribunal is in dispute. Apportionment of negligence is under challenge. The respondent has not challenged the liability imposed on them. The only issue to be decided by this Court is, the quantum of compensation awarded for which we have minutely scanned the record. The involvement of three vehicles; bus, truck and scooter driven by deceased is not in dispute. The dispute is non-grant of 70% of compensation attributed to the negligence of bus driver.

5. It is submitted by learned counsel for the appellant that the deceased was 46 years of age at the time of accident and was in the job and was having labour consultancy as Manager(Legal) in Sanghal Paper Ltd. and was earning Rs.20,000/- per month. His income was considered by the Tribunal to be Rs.75,000/- per annum which according to the counsel for the appellants is on the lower side and should be considered at least Rs.20,000/- per month. It is further submitted that the Tribunal has not granted any amount towards future loss of income of the deceased which should be granted in view of the decision in National Insurance Company Limited Vs. Pranay Sethi and Others, 2017 0 Supreme (SC) 1050. It is further submitted that the amount granted under non-pecuniary damages are on the lower side and it should be as per the decision in Pranay Sethi (Supra).

6. As against this, learned counsel for the Insurance Company has submitted that the award does not require any interference as the date of accident is 26.7.2002 and the decision of the Tribunal is prior to the judgment of National Insurance Company Limited Vs. Pranay Sethi and Others, 2017 0 Supreme (SC) 1050 and therefore the Tribunal has not committed any error in not granting the future loss of income. It is further submitted that the judgment of Supreme Court in Vimal Kanwar and Others Versus Kishore Dan and others (2013) 7 SCC 476 which has been pressed into service by learned counsel for appellant cannot apply in the facts of this case as the deceased was self employed and the Tribunal has committed no error.

7. Having heard the learned counsel for the appellant and having perused the record as the issue of negligence is under challenge rather apportionment and non-grant of 70% of amount, the issue of negligence is discussed herein below.

8. The term negligence means failure to exercise care towards others which a reasonable and prudent person would in a circumstance or taking action which such a reasonable person would not. Negligence can be both intentional or accidental which is normally accidental. More particularly, it connotes reckless driving and the injured must always prove that the either side is negligent. If the injury rather death is caused by something owned or controlled by the negligent party then he is directly liable otherwise the principle of "res ipsa loquitur" meaning thereby "the things speak for itself" would apply.

9. The principle of contributory negligence has been discussed time and again. A person who either contributes or author of the accident would be liable for his contribution to the accident having taken place.

10. The Division Bench of this Court in First Appeal From Order No. 1818 of 2012 (Bajaj Allianz General Insurance Co.Ltd. Vs. Smt. Renu Singh And Others) decided on 19.7.2016 has held as under :

"16. Negligence means failure to exercise required degree of care and caution expected of a prudent driver. Negligence is the omission to do something which a reasonable man, guided upon the considerations, which ordinarily regulate conduct of human affairs, would do, or doing something which a prudent and reasonable man would not do. Negligence is not always a question of direct evidence. It is an inference to be drawn from proved facts. Negligence is not an absolute term, but is a relative one. It is rather a comparative term. What may be negligence in one case may not be so in another. Where there is no duty to exercise care, negligence in the popular sense has no legal consequence. Where there is a duty to exercise care, reasonable care must be taken to avoid acts or omissions which would be reasonably foreseen likely to caused physical injury to person. The degree of care required, of course, depends upon facts in each case. On these broad principles, the negligence of drivers is required to be assessed.

17. It would be seen that burden of proof for contributory negligence on the part of deceased has to be discharged by the opponents. It is the duty of driver of the offending vehicle to explain the accident. It is well settled law that at intersection where two roads cross each other, it is the duty of a fast moving vehicle to slow down and if driver did not slow down at intersection, but continued to proceed at a high speed without caring to notice that another vehicle was crossing, then the conduct of driver necessarily leads to conclusion that vehicle was being driven by him rashly as well as negligently.

18. 10th Schedule appended to Motor Vehicle Act contain statutory regulations for driving of motor vehicles which also form part of every Driving License. Clause-6 of such Regulation clearly directs that the driver of every motor vehicle to slow down vehicle at every intersection or junction of roads or at a turning of the road. It is also provided that driver of the vehicle should not enter intersection or junction of roads unless he makes sure that he would not thereby endanger any other person. Merely, because driver of the Truck was driving vehicle on the left side of road would not absolve him from his responsibility to slow down vehicle as he approaches intersection of roads, particularly when he could have easily seen, that the car over which deceased was riding, was approaching intersection.

19. In view of the fast and constantly increasing volume of traffic, motor vehicles upon roads may be regarded to some extent as coming within the principle of liability defined in Rylands V/s. Fletcher, (1868) 3 HL (LR) 330*. From the point of view of pedestrian, the roads of this country have been rendered by the use of motor vehicles, highly dangerous. 'Hit and run' cases where drivers of motor vehicles who have caused accidents, are unknown. In fact such cases are increasing in number. Where a pedestrian without negligence on his part is injured or killed by a motorist, whether negligently or not, he or his legal representatives, as the case may be, should be entitled to recover damages if principle of social justice should have any meaning at all.*

20. These provisions (sec.110A and sec.110B of Motor Act, 1988) are not merely procedural provisions. They substantively affect the rights of the parties. The right of action created by Fatal Accidents Act, 1855 was 'new in its species, new in its quality, new in its principles. In every way it was new. The right given to legal representatives under Act, 1988 to file an application for compensation for death due to a motor vehicle accident is an enlarged one. This right cannot be hedged in by limitations of an action under Fatal Accidents Act, 1855. New situations and new dangers require new strategies and new remedies.

21. In the light of the above discussion, we are of the view that even if courts may not by interpretation displace the principles of law which are considered to be well settled and, therefore, court cannot dispense with proof of negligence altogether in all cases of motor vehicle accidents, it is possible to develop the law further on the following lines; when a motor vehicle is being driven with reasonable care, it would ordinarily not meet with an accident and, therefore, rule of res-ipsa loquitor as a rule of evidence may be invoked in motor accident cases with greater frequency than in ordinary civil suits (per three-Judge Bench in Jacob Mathew V/s. State of Punjab, 2005 0 ACJ(SC) 1840).

22. By the above process, the burden of proof may ordinarily be cast on the defendants in a motor accident claim petition to prove that motor vehicle was being driven with reasonable care or that there is equal negligence on the part the other side."

11. The Apex Court in Khenyei Vs. New India Assurance Company Limited & Others, 2015 LawSuit (SC) 469 has held as under:

"4. It is a case of composite negligence where injuries have been caused to the claimants by combined wrongful act of joint tort feasors. In a case of accident caused by negligence of joint tort feasors, all the persons who aid or counsel or direct or join in committal of a wrongful act, are liable. In such case, the liability is always joint and several. The extent of negligence of joint tort feasors in such a case is immaterial for satisfaction of the claim of the plaintiff/claimant and need not be determined by the by the court. However, in case all the joint tort feasors are before the court, it may determine the extent of their liability for the purpose of adjusting inter-se equities between them at appropriate stage. The liability of each and every joint tort feasor vis a vis to plaintiff/claimant cannot be bifurcated as it is joint and several liability. In the case of composite negligence, apportionment of compensation between tort feasors for making payment to the plaintiff is not permissible as the plaintiff/claimant has the right to recover the entire amount from the easiest targets/solvent defendant.

14. There is a difference between contributory and composite negligence. In the case of contributory negligence, a person who has himself contributed to the extent cannot claim compensation for the injuries sustained by him in the accident to the extent of his own negligence;whereas in the case of composite negligence, a person who has suffered has not contributed to the accident but the outcome of combination of negligence of two or more other persons. This Court in T.O. Anthony v. Karvarnan & Ors. [2008 (3) SCC 748] has held that in case of contributory negligence, injured need not establish the extent of responsibility of each wrong doer separately, nor is it necessary for the court to determine the extent of liability of each wrong doer separately. It is only in the case of contributory negligence that the injured himself has contributed by his negligence in the accident. Extent of his negligence is required to be determined as damages recoverable by him in respect of the injuries have to be reduced in proportion to his contributory negligence. The relevant portion is extracted hereunder :

"6. 'Composite negligence' refers to the negligence on the part of two or more persons. Where a person is injured as a result of negligence on the part of two or more wrong doers, it is said that the person was injured on account of the composite negligence of those wrong-doers. In such a case, each wrong doer, is jointly and severally liable to the injured for payment of the entire damages and the injured person has the choice of proceeding against all or any of them. In such a case, the injured need not establish the extent of responsibility of each wrong-doer separately, nor is it necessary for the court to determine the extent of liability of each wrong-doer separately. On the other hand where a person suffers injury, partly due to the negligence on the part of another person or persons, and partly as a result of his own negligence, then the negligence of the part of the injured which contributed to the accident is referred to as his contributory negligence. Where the injured is guilty of some negligence, his claim for damages is not defeated merely by reason of the negligence on his part but the damages recoverable by him in respect of the injuries stands reduced in proportion to his contributory negligence.

7. Therefore, when two vehicles are involved in an accident, and one of the drivers claims compensation from the other driver alleging negligence, and the other driver denies negligence or claims that the injured claimant himself was negligent, then it becomes necessary to consider whether the injured claimant was negligent and if so, whether he was solely or partly responsible for the accident and the extent of his responsibility, that is his contributory negligence. Therefore where the injured is himself partly liable, the principle of 'composite negligence' will not apply nor can there be an automatic inference that the negligence was 50:50 as has been assumed in this case. The Tribunal ought to have examined the extent of contributory negligence of the appellant and thereby avoided confusion between composite negligence and contributory negligence. The High Court has failed to correct the said error."

18. This Court in Challa Bharathamma &Nanjappan (supra) has dealt with the breach of policy conditions by the owner when the insurer was asked to pay the compensation fixed by the tribunal and the right to recover the same was given to the insurer in the executing court concerned if the dispute between the insurer and the owner was the subject-matter of determination for the tribunal and the issue has been decided in favour of the insured. The same analogy can be applied to the instant cases as the liability of the joint tort feasor is joint and several. In the instant case, there is determination of inter se liability of composite negligence to the extent of negligence of 2/3rd and 1/3rd of respective drivers. Thus, the vehicle - trailor-truck which was not insured with the insurer, was negligent to the extent of 2/3rd. It would be open to the insurer being insurer of the bus after making payment to claimant to recover from the owner of the trailor-truck the amount to the aforesaid extent in the execution proceedings. Had there been no determination of the inter se liability for want of evidence or other joint tort feasor had not been impleaded, it was not open to settle such a dispute and to recover the amount in execution proceedings but the remedy would be to file another suit or appropriate proceedings in accordance with law.

What emerges from the aforesaid discussion is as follows :

(i) In the case of composite negligence, plaintiff/claimant is entitled to sue both or any one of the joint tort feasors and to recover the entire compensation as liability of joint tort feasors is joint and several.

(ii) In the case of composite negligence, apportionment of compensation between two tort feasors vis a vis the plaintiff/claimant is not permissible. He can recover at his option whole damages from any of them.

(iii) In case all the joint tort feasors have been impleaded and evidence is sufficient, it is open to the court/tribunal to determine inter se extent of composite negligence of the drivers. However, determination of the extent of negligence between the joint tort feasors is only for the purpose of their inter se liability so that one may recover the sum from the other after making whole of payment to the plaintiff/claimant to the extent it has satisfied the liability of the other. In case both of them have been impleaded and the apportionment/ extent of their negligence has been determined by the court/tribunal, in main case one joint tort feasor can recover the amount from the other in the execution proceedings.

(iv) It would not be appropriate for the court/tribunal to determine the extent of composite negligence of the drivers of two vehicles in the absence of impleadment of other joint tort feasors. In such a case, impleaded joint tort feasor should be left, in case he so desires, to sue the other joint tort feasor in independent proceedings after passing of the decree or award."

12. The latest decision of the Apex Court in Khenyei (Supra) has laid down one further aspect about considering the negligence more particularly composite/contributory negligence. The deceased or the person concerned should be shown to have contributed either to the accident and the impact of accident upon the victim could have been minimised if he had taken care. In this case the deceased was not the author or the co-author of the accident. On facts, the deceased was plying the vehicle. The deceased was not by bus and then by tanker. The Tribunal has held non joinder of bus for deduction of compensation, 70% could not be deducted from compensation payable by deceased. We uphold the decision as far as negligence of all the three driver is concerned, but hold that the insurance company has to be saddled with 95% of liability with right to recover the finding of facts as far as negligence apportioned by the Tribunal is not disturbed as the facts goes to show that the driver of the bus did not stepped into the witness box. The Tribunal or the insurance company would have examined the driver by filing an application for procuring his presence before the Tribunal which was not done. We hold the bus driver to be 70% negligent and the driver of the tanker to be 25% negligent. Negligent of deceased has decided by Tribunal to be 5% is maintained in the facts of this case.

Re-computation of Compensation :-

13. This Court finds that the accident occurred on 26.7.2002 causing death of Satya Deo Sharma who was 46 years of age at the time of accident. The Tribunal has assessed his income to be Rs.75,000/- per year which according to this Court, in the year of accident, would be at least Rs.90,000/- on the basis of evidence produced before the Tribunal both oral and documentary. The Tribunal has committe3de error in not considering income tax return and their mean has to be calculated. We are fortified in our view by the decision in Anita Sharma Vs. New India Assurance Company Limited (2021) 1SCC 171. To which as the deceased was in the age bracket of 46-50, 25% of the income will have to be added in view of the decision of the Apex Court in Pranay Sethi (Supra). The amount under non-pecuniary heads should be at least Rs.1,00,000/- in view of the decision in Pranay Sethi (Supra) as every three years 10% be added to Rs.70,000/-. In view the facts and circumstances of the case, this Court feels no interference is called for as far as deduction of personal expenses is concerned.

14. The total compensation payable is recalculated and is computed herein below:

i. Annual Income Rs.90,000/-

ii. Percentage towards future prospects : 25% namely Rs.22,500/-

iii. Total income : Rs.90,000/- + Rs.22,500/- = Rs.1,12,500/-

iv. Income after deduction of 1/3rd towards personal expenses : Rs.75,000/-

v. Multiplier applicable : 13

vi. Loss of dependency: Rs.75,000/- x 13 = Rs.9,75,000/-

vii. Amount under non pecuniary heads : Rs.1,00,000/-Rs.70,000/- + Rs.30,000/-

viii. Total compensation : Rs.10,75,000/-

ix. Compensation payable to claimants after deductions of 5% negligence on the part of the deceased : Rs.10,75,000/- - Rs.53,750/- = Rs.10,21,250/-.

15. As far as issue of rate of interest is concerned, it should be 7.5% in view of the latest decision of the Apex Court in National Insurance Co. Ltd. Vs. Mannat Johal and Others, 2019 (2) T.A.C. 705 (S.C.) wherein the Apex Court has held as under :

"13. The aforesaid features equally apply to the contentions urged on behalf of the claimants as regards the rate of interest. The Tribunal had awarded interest at the rate of 12% p.a. but the same had been too high a rate in comparison to what is ordinarily envisaged in these matters. The High Court, after making a substantial enhancement in the award amount, modified the interest component at a reasonable rate of 7.5% p.a. and we find no reason to allow the interest in this matter at any rate higher than that allowed by High Court."

16. It is submitted by learned counsel for the appellant that it is not necessary but to join to other tort feasor as held in the decision of the Apex Court in Khenyei (Supra). The Tribunal while computing the amount held that only 25% would be payable as that was the liability of the insurance company and the owner of the tanker. The owner of the bus and the number of bus was also there before the Tribunal and it could have directed the claimant to join the said other tort feasor also. The decision of the Tribunal is against the settled legal principals of law, hence is up turned.

17. In view of the above, the appeal is partly allowed. Judgment and decree passed by the Tribunal shall stand modified to the aforesaid extent. The respondent-Insurance Company shall deposit the amount within a period of 12 weeks from today with interest at the rate of 7.5% from the date of filing of the claim petition till award and 6% thereafter till the amount is deposited. The amount already deposited be deducted from the amount to be deposited. The insurance company would be at liberty to recover 70% amount from the co-tort-feasor, namely; bus whose number is given in the record. The deduction of 70% on the basis that the driver and owner of the bus was not been joined and that the deceased was negligent to the tune of 5% and, therefore, only 25% of the amount is payable is against the principal enunciated in Khenyei (Supra). Qua the appellant, it was a case of composite negligence coupled with contrary negligence to the tune of 50% of the deceased and, therefore, the amount will have to be compensated by the respondent and the insurance company is given recovery rights from the other tort-feasor.

18. On depositing the amount in the Registry of Tribunal, Registry is directed to first deduct the amount of deficit court fees, if any. Considering the ratio laid down by the Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of A.V. Padma V/s. Venugopal, Reported in 2012 (1) GLH (SC), 442, the order of investment is not passed because applicants /claimants are neither illiterate or rustic villagers.

19. In view of the ratio laid down by Hon'ble Gujarat High Court, in the case of Smt. Hansaguri P. Ladhani v/s The Oriental Insurance Company Ltd., reported in 2007(2) GLH 291, total amount of interest, accrued on the principal amount of compensation is to be apportioned on financial year to financial year basis and if the interest payable to claimant for any financial year exceeds Rs.50,000/-, insurance company/owner is/are entitled to deduct appropriate amount under the head of 'Tax Deducted at Source' as provided u/s 194A (3) (ix) of the Income Tax Act, 1961 and if the amount of interest does not exceeds Rs.50,000/- in any financial year, registry of this Tribunal is directed to allow the claimant to withdraw the amount without producing the certificate from the concerned Income-Tax Authority. The aforesaid view has been reiterated by this High Court in Review Application No.1 of 2020 in First Appeal From Order No.23 of 2001 (Smt. Sudesna and others Vs. Hari Singh and another) while disbursing the amount.

20. Fresh Award be drawn accordingly in the above petition by the tribunal as per the modification made herein. The Tribunals in the State shall follow the direction of this Court as herein aforementioned as far as disbursement is concerned, it should look into the condition of the litigant and the pendency of the matter and not blindly apply the judgment of A.V. Padma (supra). The same is to be applied looking to the facts of each case.

21. Record be transmitted to the Tribunal forthwith.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Dr. Kaushal Jayendra Thaker, J.)

1. Heard Sri Arun Kumar Shukla, learned counsel for the appellant. None has appeared for the respondents.

2. By way of this appeal, the New India Assurance Co. Ltd., has challenged the judgment and award dated 19.5.1992 passed by Motor Accident Claims Tribunal/1st Additional District Judge, Kanpur Nagar in Claim Petition No.125 of 1985 awarding sum of Rs.5,60,000/- as compensation with 12% rate of interest. The deceased was survived by widow, two sons and mother. Cross objections came to be filed belatedly and, therefore, though the delay is condoned, it goes without saying that while discussing grant of interest, this aspect has to be considered as per judgment of the Apex Court in Lakkamma and Others Vs. The Regional Manager M/s United India Insurance Co. Ltd., AIR 2021 SC 3301.

3. By way of this appeal, the Insurance Company has challenged the award and the formal order mainly on two grounds namely that the vehicle was unauthorizedly taken out of the garage and driver had no driving license where it was sent for repairs by the owner of the vehicle and that the compensation awarded is on the higher side.

4. Brief facts as culled out from the record and the judgment of the Tribunal as from 1992 though the appeal is pending, record has not been summoned. The reason being it is an admitted position of fact that issue number 3 which has been decided by the Tribunal is against the principle laid down by the Apex Court way back in the year 1997 in the case of United India Insurance Co. Ltd. v. Gian Chand and others, AIR 1997 SC 3824. Recent judgment of Apex Court in Pappu and others v. Vinod Kumar Lamba and another, 2018 (1) TAC 360.

5. The factual scenario as it emerges is that the deceased met with the vehicular accident because of the negligence of the driver of the opposite vehicle. The issue of negligence decided by the Tribunal is not in dispute.

6. The Insurance Company has challenged the judgment contending that finding of the Tribunal is wrong and incorrect as the statement of Ajay Malhotra could not have been relied upon in as much as in fact for which documentary evidence was available but was not produced by the person in whose possession vehicle was and his oral statement cannot be relied upon regarding the fact that driver had driving license.

7. The Insurance Company has raised the ground that if the Ajay Malhotra had any driving license for driver cum mechanic Mahesh employed by him that should have been produced before the Tribunal to prove that fact and, therefore, the Insurance Company had no way of laying its hands on the aforesaid document.

8. It is also a ground that decision of the Supreme Court which has been cited, there was no element of driving involved and as such that ruling is not applicable to the present case. It has also been averred that the owner having specifically stated that he did not permit the garage owner to take out the vehicle on road that means the vehicle was being driven without the permission of the owner and as such the owner as well as the insurer cannot be held liable for the same.

9. It is next averred that the license being in possession of the respondent, Kanpur Tractors and their employee and the same having not been produced, the Tribunal should have drawn an adverse inference against them and the Tribunal has erred in law in holding that Mahesh, respondent, was having a valid driving license.

10. It is lastly averred that the amount awarded is highly excessive inasmuch as the income of the deceased was assessed at Rs.6,000/- per month and since he would have been spending a substantial amount for personal expenses, the sum of Rs.5,60,000/- as award is highly excessive.

11. Neither the driver of the vehicle nor the owner namely respondent No.6 filed any documentary evidence so as to bring on record that the vehicle was driven with knowledge of the original owner of the vehicle whose name appeared in the R.T.O records.

12. The judgment as far as issue no.3 is concerned, the onus is shifted on the Insurance Company so as to prove that the vehicle was being driven without license. It was denied that the tempo was ever brought to the garage by respondent No.6 rather the owner did not even file the license of the mechanic who had taken the vehicle outside. The stand of respondent No.6 has not been believed as the F.I.R., Charge-sheet and written statement of the original owner has been brought on record which proves that he had given the vehicle to respondent No.6 for repairs.

13. Sri R.K. Arora, who is the owner of the tempo has categorically mentioned that respondent No.7 was driving the tempo which was given for repairs. The owner of garage where Mahesh was employed is respondent No.6. The Insurance Company has categorically mentioned that there was breach of policy condition. Section 147 and 149 of the Motor Vehicles Act, 1988 reads as follows:

"147 Requirements of policies and limits of liability. --

(1) In order to comply with the requirements of this Chapter, a policy of insurance must be a policy which--

(a) is issued by a person who is an authorised insurer; and

(b) insures the person or classes of persons specified in the policy to the extent specified in sub-section (2)--

(i) against any liability which may be incurred by him in respect of the death of or bodily injury to any person, including owner of the goods or his authorised representative carried in the vehicle] or damage to any property of a third party caused by or arising out of the use of the vehicle in a public place;

(ii) against the death of or bodily injury to any passenger of a public service vehicle caused by or arising out of the use of the vehicle in a public place:

Provided that a policy shall not be required--

(i) to cover liability in respect of the death, arising out of and in the course of his employment, of the employee of a person insured by the policy or in respect of bodily injury sustained by such an employee arising out of and in the course of his employment other than a liability arising under the Workmen's Compensation Act, 1923 (8 of 1923) in respect of the death of, or bodily injury to, any such employee--

(a) engaged in driving the vehicle, or

(b) if it is a public service vehicle engaged as conductor of the vehicle or in examining tickets on the vehicle, or

(c) if it is a goods carriage, being carried in the vehicle, or

(ii) to cover any contractual liability.

Explanation. --For the removal of doubts, it is hereby declared that the death of or bodily injury to any person or damage to any property of a third party shall be deemed to have been caused by or to have arisen out of, the use of a vehicle in a public place notwithstanding that the person who is dead or injured or the property which is damaged was not in a public place at the time of the accident, if the act or omission which led to the accident occurred in a public place.

(2) Subject to the proviso to sub-section (1), a policy of insurance referred to in sub-section (1), shall cover any liability incurred in respect of any accident, up to the following limits, namely:--

(a) save as provided in clause (b), the amount of liability incurred;

(b) in respect of damage to any property of a third party, a limit of rupees six thousand:

Provided that any policy of insurance issued with any limited liability and in force, immediately before the commencement of this Act, shall continue to be effective for a period of four months after such commencement or till the date of expiry of such policy whichever is earlier.

(3) A policy shall be of no effect for the purposes of this Chapter unless and until there is issued by the insurer in favour of the person by whom the policy is effected a certificate of insurance in the prescribed form and containing the prescribed particulars of any condition subject to which the policy is issued and of any other prescribed matters; and different forms, particulars and matters may be prescribed in different cases.

(4) Where a cover note issued by the insurer under the provisions of this Chapter or the rules made thereunder is not followed by a policy of insurance within the prescribed time, the insurer shall, within seven days of the expiry of the period of the validity of the cover note, notify the fact to the registering authority in whose records the vehicle to which the cover note relates has been registered or to such other authority as the State Government may prescribe.

(5) Notwithstanding anything contained in any law for the time being in force, an insurer issuing a policy of insurance under this section shall be liable to indemnify the person or classes of persons specified in the policy in respect of any liability which the policy purports to cover in the case of that person or those classes of persons"

149. Duty of insurers to satisfy judgments and awards against persons insured in respect of third party risks.--

"(1) If, after a certificate of insurance has been issued under sub-section (3) of section 147 in favour of the person by whom a policy has been effected, judgment or award in respect of any such liability as is required to be covered by a policy under clause (b) of sub-section (l) of section 147 (being a liability covered by the terms of the policy) 1[or under the provisions of section 163A] is obtained against any person insured by the policy, then, notwithstanding that the insurer may be entitled to avoid or cancel or may have avoided or cancelled the policy, the insurer shall, subject to the provisions of this section, pay to the person entitled to the benefit of the decree any sum not exceeding the sum assured payable thereunder, as if he were the judgment debtor, in respect of the liability, together with any amount payable in respect of costs and any sum payable in respect of interest on that sum by virtue of any enactment relating to interest on judgments.

(2) No sum shall be payable by an insurer under sub-section (1) in respect of any judgment or award unless, before the commencement of the proceedings in which the judgment or award is given the insurer had notice through the Court or, as the case may be, the Claims Tribunal of the bringing of the proceedings, or in respect of such judgment or award so long as execution is stayed thereon pending an appeal; and an insurer to whom notice of the bringing of any such proceedings is so given shall be entitled to be made a party thereto and to defend the action on any of the following grounds, namely:--

(a) that there has been a breach of a specified condition of the policy, being one of the following conditions, namely:--

(i) a condition excluding the use of the vehicle--

(a) for hire or reward, where the vehicle is on the date of the contract of insurance a vehicle not covered by a permit to ply for hire or reward, or

(b) without side-car being attached where the vehicle is a motor cycle; or

(ii) a condition excluding driving by a named person or persons or by any person who is not duly licensed, or by any person who has been disqualified for holding or obtaining a driving licence during the period of disqualification; or

(iii) a condition excluding liability for injury caused or contributed to by conditions of war, civil war, riot or civil commotion; or

(b) that the policy is void on the ground that it was obtained by the non-disclosure of a material fact or by a representation of fact which was false in some material particular.

(3) Where any such judgment as is referred to in sub-section (1) is obtained from a Court in a reciprocating country and in the case of a foreign judgment is, by virtue of the provisions of section 13 of the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908 (5 of 1908) conclusive as to any matter adjudicated upon by it, the insurer (being an insurer registered under the Insurance Act, 1938 (4 of 1938) and whether or not he is registered under the corresponding law of the reciprocating country) shall be liable to the person entitled to the benefit of the decree in the manner and to the extent specified in sub-section (1), as if the judgment were given by a Court in India: Provided that no sum shall be payable by the insurer in respect of any such judgment unless, before the commencement of the proceedings in which the judgment is given, the insurer had notice through the Court concerned of the bringing of the proceedings and the insurer to whom notice is so given is entitled under the corresponding law of the reciprocating country, to be made a party to the proceedings and to defend the action on grounds similar to those specified in sub-section (2).

(4) Where a certificate of insurance has been issued under sub-section (3) of section 147 to the person by whom a policy has been effected, so much of the policy as purports to restrict the insurance of the persons insured thereby by reference to any condition other than those in clause (b) of sub-section (2) shall, as respects such liabilities as are required to be covered by a policy under clause (b) of sub-section (1) of section 147, be of no effect: Provided that any sum paid by the insurer in or towards the discharge of any liability of any person which is covered by the policy by virtue only of this sub-section shall be recoverable by the insurer from that person.

(5) If the amount which an insurer becomes liable under this section to pay in respect of a liability incurred by a person insured by a policy exceeds the amount for which the insurer would apart from the provisions of this section be liable under the policy in respect of that liability, the insurer shall be entitled to recover the excess from that person.

(6) In this section the expression "material fact" and "material particular" means, respectively a fact or particular of such a nature as to influence the judgment of a prudent insurer in determining whether he will take the risk and, if so, at what premium and on what conditions, and the expression "liability covered by the terms of the policy" means a liability which is covered by the policy or which would be so covered but for the fact that the insurer is entitled to avoid or cancel or has avoided or cancelled the policy.

(7) No insurer to whom the notice referred to in sub-section (2) or sub-section (3) has been given shall be entitled to avoid his liability to any person entitled to the benefit of any such judgment or award as is referred to in sub-section (1) or in such judgment as is referred to in sub-section (3) otherwise than in the manner provided for in sub-section (2) or in the corresponding law of the reciprocating country, as the case may be. Explanation.--For the purposes of this section, "Claims Tribunal" means a Claims Tribunal constituted under section 165 and "award" means an award made by that Tribunal under section 168" for organised racing and speed testing, or

(c) for a purpose not allowed by the permit under which the vehicle is used, where the vehicle is a transport vehicle, or

(d) without side-car being attached where the vehicle is a motor cycle; or

(ii) a condition excluding driving by a named person or persons or by any person who is not duly licensed, or by any person who has been disqualified for holding or obtaining a driving licence during the period of disqualification; or

(iii) a condition excluding liability for injury caused or contributed to by conditions of war, civil war, riot or civil commotion; or

(b) that the policy is void on the ground that it was obtained by the non-disclosure of a material fact or by a representation of fact which was false in some material particular.

(3) Where any such judgment as is referred to in sub-section (1) is obtained from a Court in a reciprocating country and in the case of a foreign judgment is, by virtue of the provisions of section 13 of the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908 (5 of 1908) conclusive as to any matter adjudicated upon by it, the insurer (being an insurer registered under the Insurance Act, 1938 (4 of 1938) and whether or not he is registered under the corresponding law of the reciprocating country) shall be liable to the person entitled to the benefit of the decree in the manner and to the extent specified in sub-section (1), as if the judgment were given by a Court in India: Provided that no sum shall be payable by the insurer in respect of any such judgment unless, before the commencement of the proceedings in which the judgment is given, the insurer had notice through the Court concerned of the bringing of the proceedings and the insurer to whom notice is so given is entitled under the corresponding law of the reciprocating country, to be made a party to the proceedings and to defend the action on grounds similar to those specified in sub-section (2).

(4) Where a certificate of insurance has been issued under sub-section (3) of section 147 to the person by whom a policy has been effected, so much of the policy as purports to restrict the insurance of the persons insured thereby by reference to any condition other than those in clause (b) of sub-section (2) shall, as respects such liabilities as are required to be covered by a policy under clause (b) of sub-section (1) of section 147, be of no effect: Provided that any sum paid by the insurer in or towards the discharge of any liability of any person which is covered by the policy by virtue only of this sub-section shall be recoverable by the insurer from that person.

(5) If the amount which an insurer becomes liable under this section to pay in respect of a liability incurred by a person insured by a policy exceeds the amount for which the insurer would apart from the provisions of this section be liable under the policy in respect of that liability, the insurer shall be entitled to recover the excess from that person.

(6) In this section the expression "material fact" and "material particular" means, respectively a fact or particular of such a nature as to influence the judgment of a prudent insurer in determining whether he will take the risk and, if so, at what premium and on what conditions, and the expression "liability covered by the terms of the policy" means a liability which is covered by the policy or which would be so covered but for the fact that the insurer is entitled to avoid or cancel or has avoided or cancelled the policy.

(7) No insurer to whom the notice referred to in sub-section (2) or sub-section (3) has been given shall be entitled to avoid his liability to any person entitled to the benefit of any such judgment or award as is referred to in sub-section (1) or in such judgment as is referred to in sub-section (3) otherwise than in the manner provided for in sub-section (2) or in the corresponding law of the reciprocating country, as the case may be. Explanation.--For the purposes of this section, "Claims Tribunal" means a Claims Tribunal constituted under section 165 and "award" means an award made by that Tribunal under section 168"

14. The principle enunciated by the learned Tribunal cannot be concurred by the undersigned as the driving license was not filed. Issue No.6 only states that respondent No.6 conveys that the driver had driving license but the same was not filed which is an admitted position of fact as it emerges from the finding of fact in Issue No.6. The Tribunal casts burden on the Insurance Company to prove that the driver had no driving license. This could not have been done in the absence of driving license being produced.

15. Decisions in Gian Chand and others (Supra) and Pappu & others (Supra) will apply in full force.

16. By interim relief, the Insurance Company was directed to deposit the entire amount and, therefore, this Court directs recovery of the amount from respondent Nos. 6 & 7, the tort feasors and the person where the vehicle was sent for repair. The owner of the garage, respondent No.6 would be vicariously liable. However, in view of the Division Bench Judgment in FIRST APPEAL FROM ORDER No. - 3659 of 2018 (Smt. Vimla Devi And 4 Ors. v. United India Insurance Co. Ltd. And 2 Ors) where the undersigned is also signatory will apply to the facts of this case also. The tort-feasors is the person who drove the vehicle and the owner would be vicariously liable to whom the vehicle was pledged for/given for repairs by the original owner and, therefore, the custody of the vehicle would play a vital role. The original owner had not authorized the drive to take out the vehicle as is clear from the written statement of the owner of the vehicle, hence, the respondent No.6 would be liable for the deeds of his driver. However, the Insurance Company would prove the fact that the owner was aware about the fact that driver did not have driving license. In our case, though ample opportunity is given to the owner of garage, he or his driver has not produced any license nor have they appeared before this Court.

17. This takes this Court to the cross objections filed by the claimants.

18. The fact that the deceased was a doctor by profession in the year of accident. The accident occurred when the old Act was in vogue and the litigation was filed under the Motor Vehicles Act, 1939. The claimants had claimed Rs.16,60,000/- by way of compensation. Both the Insurance Company and the claimants have challenged the award whereby the Tribunal granted sum of Rs. 5,60,000/-. The Tribunal has granted conditional interest at the rate of 12% if the Insurance Company did not deposit the said amount within one month and and directing that the interest to be paid from the date of award. This has also been challenged by claimants by filing their cross objection. While going through the decision and appended documents, it transpires that the deceased was doctor by profession and on 22.5.1985 in the afternoon when he was plying on a scooter and when he was near Medical College, Kanpur, the vehicle insured with the appellant-Insurance Company came and dashed with the said service and the deceased died after three days due to the injuries. This aspect and aspect of negligence decided by the Tribunal is not in dispute. The deceased was aged 49 years and could have served for a period of 9 years it is on this basis that multiplier of 9 has been granted by the Tribunal.

19. The Tribunal on a lump sum basis considered that Rs.12,60,000/- would be admissible and the claimants had demanded Rs.16,45,000/-. The Tribunal deducted 1/3rd towards personal expenses of the deceased and recalculated the figure to Rs.8,40,000/-. The Tribunal again deducted 1/3rd which could not have been done. The amount will have to be recalculated even if we consider the income of the deceased to be Rs.8,000/- per month, to which 25% will have to be added as per the judgment in National Insurance Co. Ltd. Vs. Pranay Sethi and others, 2017 LawSuit (SC) 1093 1/3rd has to be deducted and that is how calculation would have to be made. The direction that the amount would carry 12% rate of interest if the amount is not paid within on month, the said conditional grant of interest could not have been done even under the Act, 1939 and therefore, the same is quashed. The rate of interest even in the year 1992 could not have been granted at 12%, to that aspect, the appeal of Insurance Company requires to be allowed. The multiplier applied would be on the basis of age of deceased and consideration of multiplier on the basis of remainder of service could not have been done in light of the decision of National Insurance Co. Ltd. Vs. Pranay Sethi and others, 2017 LawSuit (SC) 1093 and Smt. Meena Pawaia & others Vs. Ashraf Ali and others 2021 0 Supreme (SC) 694, the multiplier applicable would be 13. The Tribunal has deducted the amount of pension which could not have been deducted. in view of decision in Vimal Kanwar and Others Vs. Kishore Dan and others, 2013 (3) T.A.C. 6 (S.C.). I grant Rs.20,000/- for medical expenses.

20. Hence, the total compensation payable to the appellant is computed herein below:

i. Monthly Income : Rs. 8,000/-

ii. Percentage towards future prospects : 25% of income : 2000

iii. Total income : Rs. 10000

iv. Income after deduction of 1/3rd towards personal expenses of the deceased : Rs.7,000 (rounded figure)

v. Annual Loss : 84,000/-

vi. Multiplier applicable : 13

vii. Loss of dependency: Rs.10,92,000/- viii. Amount under non pecuniary damages : 40,000/-

ix. Medical Expenses : 20,000/-

ix. Total compensation : 11,52,000/-

21. In view of the above, this appeal and the cross objections are partly allowed. The judgment and decree shall stand modified. The amount be deposited by the Insurance Company within 12 weeks from today at 6% rate of interest as repo rate are day in day out reducing and as the matter has remained pending since 1992 for no fault of the Insurance Company, the interest would be payable only for the period from date of filing of the claim petition till award as the claimants have remained unrepresented throughout except filing of claim petition. The counsel for the respondent-claimants has remained absented but as the Court on appeal has decided all the issues and granted just compensation even in absence of the counsel for the claimants, this order is passed. Recovery rights are granted to the appellant against respondent nos. 6 & 7.

22. As the record is not before this Court, the Tribunal shall disburse the amount.

1. Heard Shri Aditiya Singh Parihar, learned counsel for the claimants and Shri S. K. Mehrotra, learned counsel for the Insurance Company. None appears for owner or driver of the vehicle.

2. Both these appeals arise out of the same award/decree. The First Appeal From Order No. 3659 of 2018 is preferred by the original claimants for enhancement of compensation whereas First Appeal From Order No. 2679 of 2015 has been filed by the Insurance Company with which the vehicle was insured challenging the findings as far as fixing their liability, compensation granted and on ground of contributory negligence of deceased.

3. Brief facts as culled out from the record are that in the night of 29/30.05.2011 Haridas Gautam, Vijay Gautam and Pankaj Kumar Sharma were returning to their home from Lucknow in a Maruti WagonR car bearing registration no. U.P-51/N-6061 which according to the petitioner was driven by respondent no. 3-Shiv Shankar @ Pappu. On 30.05.2011 at 4:00 a.m when they reached ahead of petrol pump of village Rithiya on Lucknow Main Road driver Shiv Shankar @ Pappu was driving the car rashly and negligently when he saw a vehicle coming from opposite side and with presumption that his car can collide with the coming vehicle he moved his car to very left of his side due to which the car collided with the railing of the road side culvert as a result of which Haridas Gautam and Vijay Gautam sustained several injuries on the other hand Pankaj Kumar Sharma and driver Shiv Shankar @ Pappu sustained minor injuries. Haridas Gautam and Vijay Gautam were taken to the District Hospital for treatment where Haridas Gautam succumbed to his injuries and Vijay Gautam was treated for his injuries.

4. It is an admitted fact that the claimants are legal representative of the deceased. The deceased was 53 years of age at the time of accident. He was working as a Chief Pharmacist in District Women Hospital, Basti. He was survived by his wife, two minor sons and two major daughters. The Tribunal considered his income to be Rs. 26,900/-p.a, deducted 1/4th towards personal expenses of the deceased, granted multiplier of 9 and granted Rs.1,00,000/- towards compensation for loss of consortium, granted Rs. 10,000/- towards for loss of estate, granted Rs. 10,000/- towards funeral expenses and ultimately assessed the total compensation to be Rs. 22,98,900/-.

5. Shri Aditya Singh Parihar, learned counsel for the claimants-appellants has submitted that the tribunal has deducted 20% by way of income tax and other emoluments which is not in consonance with the judgment of Vimal Kanwar and Others Versus Kishore Dan and others (2013) 7 SCC 476. Learned counsel has submitted that tribunal has granted multiplier of 9 in-place of 11 which is required to be granted as per the judgement of Sarla Verma Vs. D.T.C, AIR 2009 SC 3104. It is submitted that no amount under loss of future prospect is granted relying on decision of Sarla Verma (supra) as deceased was above 50 years of age.

6. As both the appeals raise different issues we will be obliged to decide all the issues raised in both the appeals as per the judgment of the Apex Court in the case of U.P.S.R.T.C Vs. Km. Mamta and Others, AIR 2016 SC 948. The issues which are raised by the Insurance Company are enumerated as follows:-

(a) The award and decree is bad as it was Vijay Gautam who was driving the vehicle and not Shiv Shankar @ Pappu;

(b) That there is a delay of about 26 months in lodging the F.I.R. and about two and half years delay in filing the claim petition;

(c) That there is no finding to the fact that accident in question occurred due to rash and negligent driving of the driver of Maruti Car and who is liable to pay the claimants;

(d) That the compensation awarded towards consortium and other heads is on the higher side;

(e) The claimants have also challenge quantum of compensation.

Issue (a) and (c) As far as the facts go it is an admitted position that the driver was one Shiv Shankar @ Pappu to whom the owner had entrusted the vehicle but from the evidence on record it is proved that the charge sheet was laid against Vijay Gautam who was also injured in the accident. The oral testimony of the driver D.W.-1- Shiv Shanker also corroborates this fact, in that view of the matter the finding of fact that the vehicle was been driven by Shiv Shankar @ Pappu could not be permitted to stand. Infact the said finding is contrary to the statement and testimony of the driver of the vehicle that he was not driving the vehicle at the time when the accident took place could not be disbelived just because he was a licensed driver. The fact Shiv Shankar @ Pappu was in the vehicle only would not make him liable as driving the vehicle in absence of any other evidence being led. In that view of the matter we hold that the vehicle was being driven by the Vijay Gautam. The factum of knowledge that vehicle was driven by Vijay Gautam and not by Shiv Shankar @ Pappu and to take benefit of this fact, we would have to peruse Section 147 and Section 149 of the Motor Vehicle Act, 1988. Section 147 read with Section 149 of Motor Vehicle Act, 1988 read as follows:-

147. Requirements of policies and limits of liability. --

(1) In order to comply with the requirements of this Chapter, a policy of insurance must be a policy which--

(a) is issued by a person who is an authorised insurer; and

(b) insures the person or classes of persons specified in the policy to the extent specified in sub-section (2)--

(i) against any liability which may be incurred by him in respect of the death of or bodily27 [injury to any person, including owner of the goods or his authorised representative carried in the vehicle] or damage to any property of a third party caused by or arising out of the use of the vehicle in a public place;

(ii) against the death of or bodily injury to any passenger of a public service vehicle caused by or arising out of the use of the vehicle in a public place:

Provided that a policy shall not be required--

(i) to cover liability in respect of the death, arising out of and in the course of his employment, of the employee of a person insured by the policy or in respect of bodily injury sustained by such an employee arising out of and in the course of his employment other than a liability arising under the Workmen's Compensation Act, 1923 (8 of 1923) in respect of the death of, or bodily injury to, any such employee--

(a) engaged in driving the vehicle, or

(b) if it is a public service vehicle engaged as conductor of the vehicle or in examining tickets on the vehicle, or

(c) if it is a goods carriage, being carried in the vehicle, or

(ii) to cover any contractual liability.

Explanation. --For the removal of doubts, it is hereby declared that the death of or bodily injury to any person or damage to any property of a third party shall be deemed to have been caused by or to have arisen out of, the use of a vehicle in a public place notwithstanding that the person who is dead or injured or the property which is damaged was not in a public place at the time of the accident, if the act or omission which led to the accident occurred in a public place.

(2) Subject to the proviso to sub-section (1), a policy of insurance referred to in sub-section (1), shall cover any liability incurred in respect of any accident, up to the following limits, namely:--

(a) save as provided in clause (b), the amount of liability incurred;

(b) in respect of damage to any property of a third party, a limit of rupees six thousand:

Provided that any policy of insurance issued with any limited liability and in force, immediately before the commencement of this Act, shall continue to be effective for a period of four months after such commencement or till the date of expiry of such policy whichever is earlier.

(3) A policy shall be of no effect for the purposes of this Chapter unless and until there is issued by the insurer in favour of the person by whom the policy is effected a certificate of insurance in the prescribed form and containing the prescribed particulars of any condition subject to which the policy is issued and of any other prescribed matters; and different forms, particulars and matters may be prescribed in different cases.

(4) Where a cover note issued by the insurer under the provisions of this Chapter or the rules made thereunder is not followed by a policy of insurance within the prescribed time, the insurer shall, within seven days of the expiry of the period of the validity of the cover note, notify the fact to the registering authority in whose records the vehicle to which the cover note relates has been registered or to such other authority as the State Government may prescribe.

(5) Notwithstanding anything contained in any law for the time being in force, an insurer issuing a policy of insurance under this section shall be liable to indemnify the person or classes of persons specified in the policy in respect of any liability which the policy purports to cover in the case of that person or those classes of persons.

149. Duty of insurers to satisfy judgments and awards against persons insured in respect of third party risks.--

(1) If, after a certificate of insurance has been issued under sub-section (3) of section 147 in favour of the person by whom a policy has been effected, judgment or award in respect of any such liability as is required to be covered by a policy under clause (b) of sub-section (l) of section 147 (being a liability covered by the terms of the policy) 1[or under the provisions of section 163A] is obtained against any person insured by the policy, then, notwithstanding that the insurer may be entitled to avoid or cancel or may have avoided or cancelled the policy, the insurer shall, subject to the provisions of this section, pay to the person entitled to the benefit of the decree any sum not exceeding the sum assured payable thereunder, as if he were the judgment debtor, in respect of the liability, together with any amount payable in respect of costs and any sum payable in respect of interest on that sum by virtue of any enactment relating to interest on judgments.

(2) No sum shall be payable by an insurer under sub-section (1) in respect of any judgment or award unless, before the commencement of the proceedings in which the judgment or award is given the insurer had notice through the Court or, as the case may be, the Claims Tribunal of the bringing of the proceedings, or in respect of such judgment or award so long as execution is stayed thereon pending an appeal; and an insurer to whom notice of the bringing of any such proceedings is so given shall be entitled to be made a party thereto and to defend the action on any of the following grounds, namely:--

(a) that there has been a breach of a specified condition of the policy, being one of the following conditions, namely:--

(i) a condition excluding the use of the vehicle--

(a) for hire or reward, where the vehicle is on the date of the contract of insurance a vehicle not covered by a permit to ply for hire or reward, or

(b) for organised racing and speed testing, or

(c) for a purpose not allowed by the permit under which the vehicle is used, where the vehicle is a transport vehicle, or

(d) without side-car being attached where the vehicle is a motor cycle; or

(ii) a condition excluding driving by a named person or persons or by any person who is not duly licensed, or by any person who has been disqualified for holding or obtaining a driving licence during the period of disqualification; or

(iii) a condition excluding liability for injury caused or contributed to by conditions of war, civil war, riot or civil commotion; or

(b) that the policy is void on the ground that it was obtained by the non-disclosure of a material fact or by a representation of fact which was false in some material particular.

(3) Where any such judgment as is referred to in sub-section (1) is obtained from a Court in a reciprocating country and in the case of a foreign judgment is, by virtue of the provisions of section 13 of the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908 (5 of 1908) conclusive as to any matter adjudicated upon by it, the insurer (being an insurer registered under the Insurance Act, 1938 (4 of 1938) and whether or not he is registered under the corresponding law of the reciprocating country) shall be liable to the person entitled to the benefit of the decree in the manner and to the extent specified in sub-section (1), as if the judgment were given by a Court in India:

Provided that no sum shall be payable by the insurer in respect of any such judgment unless, before the commencement of the proceedings in which the judgment is given, the insurer had notice through the Court concerned of the bringing of the proceedings and the insurer to whom notice is so given is entitled under the corresponding law of the reciprocating country, to be made a party to the proceedings and to defend the action on grounds similar to those specified in sub-section (2).

(4) Where a certificate of insurance has been issued under sub-section (3) of section 147 to the person by whom a policy has been effected, so much of the policy as purports to restrict the insurance of the persons insured thereby by reference to any condition other than those in clause (b) of sub-section (2) shall, as respects such liabilities as are required to be covered by a policy under clause (b) of sub-section (1) of section 147, be of no effect: Provided that any sum paid by the insurer in or towards the discharge of any liability of any person which is covered by the policy by virtue only of this sub-section shall be recoverable by the insurer from that person.

(5) If the amount which an insurer becomes liable under this section to pay in respect of a liability incurred by a person insured by a policy exceeds the amount for which the insurer would apart from the provisions of this section be liable under the policy in respect of that liability, the insurer shall be entitled to recover the excess from that person.

(6) In this section the expression "material fact" and "material particular" means, respectively a fact or particular of such a nature as to influence the judgment of a prudent insurer in determining whether he will take the risk and, if so, at what premium and on what conditions, and the expression "liability covered by the terms of the policy" means a liability which is covered by the policy or which would be so covered but for the fact that the insurer is entitled to avoid or cancel or has avoided or cancelled the policy.

(7) No insurer to whom the notice referred to in sub-section (2) or sub-section (3) has been given shall be entitled to avoid his liability to any person entitled to the benefit of any such judgment or award as is referred to in sub-section (1) or in such judgment as is referred to in sub-section (3) otherwise than in the manner provided for in sub-section (2) or in the corresponding law of the reciprocating country, as the case may be. Explanation.--For the purposes of this section, "Claims Tribunal" means a Claims Tribunal constituted under section 165 and "award" means an award made by that Tribunal under section 168.

In view of the provisions 147 and 149 of the M.V. Act, the insurance company has not proved that the owner has entrusted the vehicle to Vijay Gautam or the owner was aware that Vijay Gautam would drive the vehicle. It is evident from the factual data that owner had entrusted the vehicle to a person who was qualified to drive the vehicle. It is not known whether she was put to question regarding the vehicle being driven by Shri Gautam. The fact that the O.D claim was granted for which Shri Aditiya Singh Parihar has relied on the following two decisions: F.A.F.O No. 404 of 2013 and F.A.F.O No. 410 of 2013 decided by Division Bench of this Court on 06.02.2013, so as to contend that recovery rights could not be granted and in alternative it is submitted that even if it has to be granted on ground that there was breach of policy condition which caused accident with a rider that the appellant insurance company shall prove as held by the Apex Court in Singh Ram Vs. Nirmala and others, AIR 2018 SC 1290 that the owner was aware that the vehicle was drived by Vijay Gautam as it is not proved by the insurance company that Vijay Gautam had no license to drive the vehicle and therefore having not proved that Vijay Gautam did not have any driving license, this Court in view of the judgment of the Apex Court grants recovery rights but with this rider that it will be incumbent of the insurance company to prove that Vijay Gautam who was driving the vehicle had no license to drive the said vehicle and over and above that vehicle owner was aware that Vijay Gautam was driving the said vehicle with her explicit permission. It is not the case of the insurance company that the driver had no valid license, the owner and P.W.-1 have deposed that the vehicle was driven by Shiv Shankar @ Pappu who had a valid driving license. Even in case where it has been found that the driving license was fake the Courts in Singh Ram (Supra) have directed the insurance company to pay the compensation and recover from the owner cum driver. In our case the owner is on a much better ground. In the case of Shamanna and another Vs. Divisional Manager, Oriental Insurance Company Ltd. and others, AIR 2018 SC 3736, the driver who was not possessing a valid driving license the insurer was held liable to pay compensation and recover the same from the owner. Our case is covered by judgment of Ram Chandra Singh Vs. Rajaram and others, AIR 2018 SC 3789 and therefore in this matter when the execution is filed, the question of liability of the owner to repay the Insurance Company will have to be examined by the tribunal.

Issue (b) The finding not being perverse is not disturbed as there is no period for filing claim petition and the claimants being in shock F.I.R. was filed belatedly.

The term negligence means failure to exercise care towards others which a reasonable and prudent person would in a circumstance or taking action which such a reasonable person would not. Negligence can be both intentional or accidental which is normally accidental. More particularly, it connotes reckless driving and the injured must always prove that the either side is negligent. If the injury rather death is caused by something owned or controlled by the negligent party then he is directly liable otherwise the principle of "res ipsa loquitur" meaning thereby "the things speak for itself" would apply.

The principle of contributory negligence has been discussed time and again. A person who either contributes or author of the accident would be liable for his contribution to the accident having taken place.

The Division Bench of this Court in First Appeal From Order No. 1818 of 2012 (Bajaj Allianz General Insurance Co.Ltd. Vs. Smt. Renu Singh And Others) decided on 19.7.2016 has held as under:

"16. Negligence means failure to exercise required degree of care and caution expected of a prudent driver. Negligence is the omission to do something which a reasonable man, guided upon the considerations, which ordinarily regulate conduct of human affairs, would do, or doing something which a prudent and reasonable man would not do. Negligence is not always a question of direct evidence. It is an inference to be drawn from proved facts. Negligence is not an absolute term, but is a relative one. It is rather a comparative term. What may be negligence in one case may not be so in another. Where there is no duty to exercise care, negligence in the popular sense has no legal consequence. Where there is a duty to exercise care, reasonable care must be taken to avoid acts or omissions which would be reasonably foreseen likely to caused physical injury to person. The degree of care required, of course, depends upon facts in each case. On these broad principles, the negligence of drivers is required to be assessed.

17. It would be seen that burden of proof for contributory negligence on the part of deceased has to be discharged by the opponents. It is the duty of driver of the offending vehicle to explain the accident. It is well settled law that at intersection where two roads cross each other, it is the duty of a fast moving vehicle to slow down and if driver did not slow down at intersection, but continued to proceed at a high speed without caring to notice that another vehicle was crossing, then the conduct of driver necessarily leads to conclusion that vehicle was being driven by him rashly as well as negligently.

18. 10th Schedule appended to Motor Vehicle Act contain statutory regulations for driving of motor vehicles which also form part of every Driving License. Clause-6 of such Regulation clearly directs that the driver of every motor vehicle to slow down vehicle at every intersection or junction of roads or at a turning of the road. It is also provided that driver of the vehicle should not enter intersection or junction of roads unless he makes sure that he would not thereby endanger any other person. Merely, because driver of the Truck was driving vehicle on the left side of road would not absolve him from his responsibility to slow down vehicle as he approaches intersection of roads, particularly when he could have easily seen, that the car over which deceased was riding, was approaching intersection.

19. In view of the fast and constantly increasing volume of traffic, motor vehicles upon roads may be regarded to some extent as coming within the principle of liability defined in Rylands V/s. Fletcher, (1868) 3 HL (LR) 330. From the point of view of pedestrian, the roads of this country have been rendered by the use of motor vehicles, highly dangerous. 'Hit and run' cases where drivers of motor vehicles who have caused accidents, are unknown. In fact such cases are increasing in number. Where a pedestrian without negligence on his part is injured or killed by a motorist, whether negligently or not, he or his legal representatives, as the case may be, should be entitled to recover damages if principle of social justice should have any meaning at all.

22. By the above process, the burden of proof may ordinarily be cast on the defendants in a motor accident claim petition to prove that motor vehicle was being driven with reasonable care or that there is equal negligence on the part the other side."
emphasis added

The Apex Court in Khenyei Vs. New India Assurance Company Limited & Others, 2015 LawSuit (SC) 469 has held as under:

"4. It is a case of composite negligence where injuries have been caused to the claimants by combined wrongful act of joint tort feasors. In a case of accident caused by negligence of joint tort feasors, all the persons who aid or counsel or direct or join in committal of a wrongful act, are liable. In such case, the liability is always joint and several. The extent of negligence of joint tort feasors in such a case is immaterial for satisfaction of the claim of the plaintiff/claimant and need not be determined by the by the court. However, in case all the joint tort feasors are before the court, it may determine the extent of their liability for the purpose of adjusting inter-se equities between them at appropriate stage. The liability of each and every joint tort feasor vis a vis to plaintiff/claimant cannot be bifurcated as it is joint and several liability. In the case of composite negligence, apportionment of compensation between tort feasors for making payment to the plaintiff is not permissible as the plaintiff/claimant has the right to recover the entire amount from the easiest targets/solvent defendant.

14. There is a difference between contributory and composite negligence. In the case of contributory negligence, a person who has himself contributed to the extent cannot claim compensation for the injuries sustained by him in the accident to the extent of his own negligence;whereas in the case of composite negligence, a person who has suffered has not contributed to the accident but the outcome of combination of negligence of two or more other persons. This Court in T.O. Anthony v. Karvarnan & Ors. [2008 (3) SCC 748] has held that in case of contributory negligence, injured need not establish the extent of responsibility of each wrong doer separately, nor is it necessary for the court to determine the extent of liability of each wrong doer separately. It is only in the case of contributory negligence that the injured himself has contributed by his negligence in the accident. Extent of his negligence is required to be determined as damages recoverable by him in respect of the injuries have to be reduced in proportion to his contributory negligence. The relevant portion is extracted hereunder :

"6. 'Composite negligence' refers to the negligence on the part of two or more persons. Where a person is injured as a result of negligence on the part of two or more wrong doers, it is said that the person was injured on account of the composite negligence of those wrong-doers. In such a case, each wrong doer, is jointly and severally liable to the injured for payment of the entire damages and the injured person has the choice of proceeding against all or any of them. In such a case, the injured need not establish the extent of responsibility of each wrong-doer separately, nor is it necessary for the court to determine the extent of liability of each wrong-doer separately. On the other hand where a person suffers injury, partly due to the negligence on the part of another person or persons, and partly as a result of his own negligence, then the negligence of the part of the injured which contributed to the accident is referred to as his contributory negligence. Where the injured is guilty of some negligence, his claim for damages is not defeated merely by reason of the negligence on his part but the damages recoverable by him in respect of the injuries stands reduced in proportion to his contributory negligence.

7. Therefore, when two vehicles are involved in an accident, and one of the drivers claims compensation from the other driver alleging negligence, and the other driver denies negligence or claims that the injured claimant himself was negligent, then it becomes necessary to consider whether the injured claimant was negligent and if so, whether he was solely or partly responsible for the accident and the extent of his responsibility, that is his contributory negligence. Therefore where the injured is himself partly liable, the principle of 'composite negligence' will not apply nor can there be an automatic inference that the negligence was 50:50 as has been assumed in this case. The Tribunal ought to have examined the extent of contributory negligence of the appellant and thereby avoided confusion between composite negligence and contributory negligence. The High Court has failed to correct the said error."

18. This Court in Challa Bharathamma &Nanjappan (supra) has dealt with the breach of policy conditions by the owner when the insurer was asked to pay the compensation fixed by the tribunal and the right to recover the same was given to the insurer in the executing court concerned if the dispute between the insurer and the owner was the subject-matter of determination for the tribunal and the issue has been decided in favour of the insured. The same analogy can be applied to the instant cases as the liability of the joint tort feasor is joint and several. In the instant case, there is determination of inter se liability of composite negligence to the extent of negligence of 2/3rd and 1/3rd of respective drivers. Thus, the vehicle - trailor-truck which was not insured with the insurer, was negligent to the extent of 2/3rd. It would be open to the insurer being insurer of the bus after making payment to claimant to recover from the owner of the trailor-truck the amount to the aforesaid extent in the execution proceedings. Had there been no determination of the inter se liability for want of evidence or other joint tort feasor had not been impleaded, it was not open to settle such a dispute and to recover the amount in execution proceedings but the remedy would be to file another suit or appropriate proceedings in accordance with law.

What emerges from the aforesaid discussion is as follows :

(i) In the case of composite negligence, plaintiff/claimant is entitled to sue both or any one of the joint tort feasors and to recover the entire compensation as liability of joint tort feasors is joint and several.

(ii) In the case of composite negligence, apportionment of compensation between two tort feasors vis a vis the plaintiff/claimant is not permissible. He can recover at his option whole damages from any of them.

(iii) In case all the joint tort feasors have been impleaded and evidence is sufficient, it is open to the court/tribunal to determine inter se extent of composite negligence of the drivers. However, determination of the extent of negligence between the joint tort feasors is only for the purpose of their inter se liability so that one may recover the sum from the other after making whole of payment to the plaintiff/claimant to the extent it has satisfied the liability of the other. In case both of them have been impleaded and the apportionment/ extent of their negligence has been determined by the court/tribunal, in main case one joint tort feasor can recover the amount from the other in the execution proceedings.

(iv) It would not be appropriate for the court/tribunal to determine the extent of composite negligence of the drivers of two vehicles in the absence of impleadment of other joint tort feasors. In such a case, impleaded joint tort feasor should be left, in case he so desires, to sue the other joint tort feasor in independent proceedings after passing of the decree or award."

The latest decision of the Apex Court in Khenyei Vs. New India Assurance Company Limited & Others, 2015 Law Suit (SC) 469 has laid down one further aspect about considering the negligence more particularly composite/contributory negligence. The deceased or the person concerned should be shown to have contributed either to the accident and the impact of accident upon the victim could have been minimized if he had taken care. In this case the deceased was not the author or the co-author of the accident. Hence, the ground that driver was not negligent is rejected.

As far as the question of negligence of deceased is concerned, it is case of composite negligence and therefore the driver, the owner and the insurance company would be liable to pay compensation as the deceased was not the author of the accident with recovery rights given to insurance company.

Issue (d) Compensation to be awarded and as raised by claimants that compensation granted is inadequate and requires enhancement.

The deceased was Chief Pharmacist which is an admitted position of fact, his income has been considered Rs. 26,900/- p.m by the tribunal. The tribunal has not added any amount on the head of future loss of income by assigning reasons. On the basis of judgement of Sarla Verma Vs. D.T.C, AIR 2009 SC 3104 was considered by the tribunal. Shri Aditiya Singh Parihar, learned counsel appearing for the claimants contended that tribunal has granted multiplier of 9 in-place of 11 which is required to be granted as per the judgement of Sarla Verma (supra).

While going through the record, it is clear that the income of the deceased was Rs. 34,000/- p.m and from the salary slip it is clear that Rs. 6000/- p.a was to be deducted as income tax. The slab in the year 2011 was not 20% for a person earning less than Rs. 5 lacs per annum as other tax deduction would also have been claimed by the deceased.

The tribunal in our view has committed a error in granting multiplier of 9 despite the fact that it has relied on the judgement of Sarla Verma (supra) and has reproduce the tabulation. The age of the deceased was in the age bracket of 51-55 years, the tribunal took the view and come to the conclusion that as per the judgment of Sarla Verma (supra) no amount be added to the income where the person is above 50 years. In our case we would fall back on the rules and the recent judgment of the Apex Court in National India Assurance Co. Ltd. Vs. Urmila Shukla, 2021 ACJ 2081, to add future loss of income. The tribunal even considered the salary certificate of the deceased where the income mentioned to be was Rs. 34,086/- p.m., the tribunal deducted house rent allowance and deducted 20% by way of income tax which according to counsel for the appellants was not in consonance with the judgment of Vimal Kanwar and Others Versus Kishore Dan and others (2013) 7 SCC 476. We in principle agree with the learned counsel for claimants as even in the salary certificate only Rs. 500/- p.m has been deducted towards tax at source. The deduction could be Rs. 6000/- p.a and some amount can be deducted as per decision titled Vimal Kanwar and Others Versus Kishore Dan and others (2013) 7 SCC 476. Learned counsel for claimants has heavily relied on the judgments decided by Division Bench of this Court on 06.02.2013 in F.A.F.O No. 404 of 2013 and F.A.F.O No. 410 of 2013 and contended that deceased was a third party covered by the policy and therefore, whether recovery rights are granted or not would make no difference to him as the Insurance Company would be liable to the third party.

This takes this Court to the quantum of compensation grantable to claimants. The Apex court decision in Malarvizhi & Ors Vs. United India Insurance Company Limited and Another, 2020 (4) SCC 228 and United India Insurance Co. Ltd. Vs. Indiro0 Devi & Ors, 2018 (7) SCC 715. and in The Oriental Insurance Company Ltd. Vs. Mangey Ram and others, 2019 0 Supreme (All) 1067 and the recent judgment of the Apex Court in New India Assurance Company Vs. Urmila Shukla decided by the Apex Court on 6.8.2021 reported in MANU/SCOR/24098/2021 and Kirti and others vs oriental insurance company ltd reported in 2021(1) TAC 1. will enure for the benefit of the claimants.

7. It could not be culled out from record that on what basis, the Tribunal has deducted certain pecuniary benefits from the income of deceased. The income of the deceased in the year of accident and looking to his job has to be considered to be Rs. 32,000/- per month as the deceased was in the age bracket of 51-55 years, 20% as future loss of income requires to be added in view of U.P. M.V rules and decision in Urmila Shukla (Supra) as the deceased was survived by his wife, two minor sons and two major daughters who were unmarried 1/4th could have been the expenses borne on himself. The claimants would be entitled to multiplier of 11 and not 9 as per the judgment of National Insurance Company Ltd. Vs. Pranya Sethi 2017 (13) SCALE. Rs. 1,20,000/- granted for non pecuniary damages is not disturbed.

8. Hence, the total compensation payable to the appellants is computed herein below:

i. Income Rs 32,000/-p.m

ii. Percentage towards future prospects : 20% namely Rs. 64,00/- p.m

iii. Total income : Rs. 32,000 + Rs. 64,00 = Rs. 38,400/- p.m

iv. Income after deduction of 1/4th : Rs. 28,800/- p.m

v. Annual Income : Rs. 28,800 x 12 = 3,45,600/- p.a

vi. Multiplier applicable : 11

vii. Loss of dependency: Rs.3,60,000 x 11 = Rs.38,01,600/-

viii. Amount under non-pecuniary head : 1,20,000/-

ix. Total compensation : Rs. 39,21,600/-

9. As far as issue of rate of interest is concerned, it should be 7.5% in view of the latest decision of the Apex Court in National Insurance Co. Ltd. Vs. Mannat Johal and Others, 2019 (2) T.A.C. 705 (S.C.) wherein the Apex Court has held as under :

"13. The aforesaid features equally apply to the contentions urged on behalf of the claimants as regards the rate of interest. The Tribunal had awarded interest at the rate of 12% p.a. but the same had been too high a rate in comparison to what is ordinarily envisaged in these matters. The High Court, after making a substantial enhancement in the award amount, modified the interest component at a reasonable rate of 7.5% p.a. and we find no reason to allow the interest in this matter at any rate higher than that allowed by High Court."

10. In view of the above, both the appeals are allowed. Compensation is recalculated. Award and decree passed by the Tribunal shall stand modified to the aforesaid extent. The respondents shall jointly and severally be liable to pay the amount to the claimants.

11. Having held that the Insurance Company can recover the amount from the owner and driver if it is proved that the owner was aware and had given the vehicle to Shri Haridas Gautam to drive and that Haridas Gautam had no license to drive the vehicle the recovery rights are given, are these facts being proved by Insurance Company.

12. The respondent-Insurance Company shall deposit the additional amount after recalculating within a period of 12 weeks from today with interest at the rate of 7.5% per annum from the date of filing of the claim petition till the amount is deposited. The amount already deposited be deducted from the amount to be deposited.

13. In view of the ratio laid down by Hon'ble Gujarat High Court, in the case of Smt. Hansagori P. Ladhani v/s The Oriental Insurance Company Ltd., reported in 2007(2) GLH 291 and this High Court in, total amount of interest, accrued on the principal amount of compensation is to be apportioned on financial year to financial year basis and if the interest payable to claimants for any financial year exceed Rs.50,000/-, insurance company/owner is/are entitled to deduct appropriate amount under the head of 'Tax Deducted at Source' (T.D.S) as provided u/s 194A (3) (ix) of the Income Tax Act, 1961 and if the amount of interest does not exceeds Rs.50,000/- in any financial year no T.D.S shall be deductible.

14. The registry of Tribunal is directed to allow the claimants to withdraw the amount without producing the certificate from the concerned Income-Tax Authority. The aforesaid view has been reiterated by this High Court in Review Application No.1 of 2020 in First Appeal From Order No.23 of 2001 (Smt. Sudesna and others Vs. Hari Singh and another) and in First Appeal From Order No.2871 of 2016 (Tej Kumari Sharma v. Chola Mandlam M.S. General Insurance Co. Ltd.) decided on 19.3.2021 while disbursing the amount.

15. On depositing the amount in the Registry of Tribunal, Registry is directed to first deduct the amount of deficit court fees, if any. Considering the ratio laid down by the Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of A.V. Padma V/s. Venugopal, Reported in 2012 (1) GLH (SC), 442, the order of investment be passed by tribunal seeing the disbursement status of applicants /claimants.

16. Record be sent back to tribunal forthwith.

17. This Court is thankful to both the learned Advocates for ably assisting this Court.

6. Hansaguri Prafulchandra Ladhani & ors. Vs The Oriental Insurance Company Ltd. & ors. MANU/GJ/2100/2006

(Delivered by Hon'ble Ajai Tyagi, J.)

1. By way of this appeal, the claimants have challenged the judgment and order dated 29.11.2008, passed by Motor Accident Claims Tribunal, Jhansi (herein after referred to as 'the Tribunal') in MACP No.292 of 2007 (Shyam Sunder and others vs. Ram Kisan and another), awarding a sum of Rs.2,66,000/- as compensation to the claimants with interest at the rate of 6% per annum.

2. The claim petition was filed by the appellants, parents and brothers of the deceased before the Tribunal with the averments that on 9.5.2007 at about 9:45 p.m., the deceased Bhupendra was coming to his hostel with his brother at Panwadi Road, Rath, District-Hameerpur and when he reached in front of his hostel, a motorcycle bearing No.UP-C-1676 hit him from behind. Motorcycle was being driven by its driver very rashly and negligently. In this accident, the deceased sustained grievous injuries and died on the way to the hospital. The deceased was 24 years of age and his monthly income was Rs.6,000/- by imparting tuitions and coaching.

3. Heard Shri A.K. Ojha, learned counsel for the appellants and perused the judgment of the Tribunal.

4. The accident is not in dispute. The insurance company has not challenged the liability on it. The issue of negligence has attained finality. Now the only issue to be decided is the quantum of compensation awarded by the Tribunal.

5. Learned counsel for the appellants has submitted that the deceased was unmarried boy of 24 years age. He is in the profession of imparting tuitions and coaching by which his monthly income was Rs.6,000/-, but the learned Tribunal did not consider the aforesaid facts and assessed his monthly income only at Rs.3,000/-. It is emphatically submitted by learned counsel for the appellants that the deceased was having a very bright future as he was well-educated, but the Tribunal has not awarded any sum towards loss of future income. It is next submitted that the learned Tribunal has awarded only Rs.2,000/- for funeral expenses, which is on lower side. Moreover, no amount is awarded in other heads of non-pecuniary damages, such as loss of estate and loss of filial consortium. Rate of interest is awarded oly 6%, which is also on lower side. No other point in calculating the compensation is disputed by the appellants.

6. It is admitted fact that the deceased was 24 years of age at the time of accident. He was educated person. It is alleged that he was earning Rs.6,000/- per month by imparting tuitions. Keeping in view the fact that the age of the deceased was 24 years and he was educated and the accident had taken place in the year 2007, we fix his monthly income as Rs.6,000/- per month, namely Rs.72,000/- per annum.

7. The Tribunal has not added any percentage of amount towards future loss of income, which is, in our opinion, grave error. Since, the deceased will fall within the category of self-employed and his age was 24 years at the time of accident, 40% shall be added towards future prospects as held by Hon'ble Apex Court in National Insurance Company vs. Pranay Sethi [2014 (4) TAC 637 (SC)]. Hon'ble Apex Court has also held in Munna Lal Jain vs. Vipin Kumar Sharma [2015 (3) TAC 1 (SC)] that if the deceased was unmarried, 1/2 shall be deducted for his personal expenses. In this case, Hon'ble Apex Court has also held that multiplier will be applied with reference to the age of the deceased. Therefore, keeping in view the age of the deceased, multiplier of 18 will be applied in the light of the judgment of Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of Smt.Sarla Verma vs. Delhi Transport Corporation [2009 (2) TAC 677 (SC)]. As far as non-pecuniary damages are concerned, the Tribunal has awarded Rs.2,000/- for funeral expenses, which is on very lower-side. In the light of judgment of Pranay Sethi (supra), claimants shall be entitled to get Rs.15,000/- each for loss of estate and funeral expenses. Rs.40,000/- x 2 = Rs.80,000/- towards filial consortium is granted in the light of the judgment of Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of Kurvan Ansari alias Kurvan Ali and another vs. Shyam Kishore Murmu and another [2021 (4) TAC (SC)] .

8. Hence, the total compensation, in view of the above discussions, payable to the appellants-claimants is being recalculated herein below:

i.	Annual Income	Rs.6,000/- x 12	Rs.72,000/-
ii.	Percentage towards Future-Prospects (40%)	Rs.72,000/- x 40%	Rs.28,800/-
iii.	Total Income	Rs.72,000/- + Rs.28,800/-	Rs.1,00,800/-
iv.	Income after deduction of 1/2	Rs.1,08,000/- - Rs.50,400/-	Rs.50,400/-
v.	Multiplier applicable	18
vi.	Loss of dependency	Rs.50,400/- x 18	Rs. 9,07,200/-
vii.	Funeral Expenses		Rs.15,000/-
viii.	Loss of Estate		Rs.15,000/-
ix.	Filial Consortium	Rs.40,000/- x 2	Rs.80,000/-
x.	Total Compensation		Rs.10,17,200/-

9. As far as issue of rate of interest is concerned, it should be 7.5% in view of the latest decision of the Apex Court in

National Insurance Co. Ltd. Vs. Mannat Johal and Others, 2019 (2) T.A.C. 705 (S.C.) wherein the Apex Court has held as under:

"13. The aforesaid features equally apply to the contentions urged on behalf of the claimants as regards the rate of interest. The Tribunal had awarded interest at the rate of 12% p.a. but the same had been too high a rate in comparison to what is ordinarily envisaged in these matters. The High Court, after making a substantial enhancement in the award amount, modified the interest component at a reasonable rate of 7.5% p.a. and we find no reason to allow the interest in this matter at any rate higher than that allowed by High Court."

10. Learned Tribunal has awarded rate of interest as 7% per annum but we are fixing the rate of interest as 7.5% in the light of the above judgment.

11. In view of the above, the appeal is partly allowed. Judgment and award passed by the Tribunal shall stand modified to the aforesaid extent. The Insurance Company shall deposit the amount within a period of 8 weeks from today with interest at the rate of 7.5% from the date of filing of the claim petition till the amount is deposited. The amount already deposited be deducted from the amount to be deposited.

12. In view of the ratio laid down by Hon'ble Gujarat High Court, in the case of Smt. Hansagori P. Ladhani vs. The Oriental Insurance Company Ltd., [2007(2) GLH 291] and this High Court in total amount of interest, accrued on the principal amount of compensation is to be apportioned on financial year to financial year basis and if the interest payable to claimant for any financial year exceeds Rs.50,000/-, insurance company/owner is/are entitled to deduct appropriate amount under the head of 'Tax Deducted at Source' as provided u/s 194A (3) (ix) of the Income Tax Act, 1961 and if the amount of interest does not exceeds Rs.50,000/- in any financial year, registry of this Tribunal is directed to allow the claimants to withdraw the amount without producing the certificate from the concerned Income- Tax Authority. The aforesaid view has been reiterated by this High Court in Review Application No.1 of 2020 in First Appeal From Order No.23 of 2001 (Smt. Sudesna and others Vs. Hari Singh and another) and in First Appeal From Order No.2871 of 2016 (Tej Kumari Sharma v. Chola Mandlam M.S. General Insurance Co. Ltd.) decided on 19.3.2021 while disbursing the amount.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Manish Mathur, J.)

(1) Heard Mr. Manish Kumar Srivastava, learned counsel for appellant and Mr. Mahendra Kumar Mishra, learned counsel for respondent.

(2) First Appeal From Order under Section 23 of the Railway Claims Tribunal Act, 1987 has been filed against order dated 30.09.2021 whereby application for condonation of delay in filing claim has been dismissed along with the claim application.

(3) Vide order dated 26.11.2021, appeal had been admitted while summoning the lower court records, which have been forwarded by the tribunal concerned.

(4) Learned counsel for appellant submits that upon death of Late Ajay Kumar, on 05.07.2015, the appellant who is his father and dependent went into shock and was mentally disturbed for a prolonged time due to which claim application was filed with a delay of three years and six months. It is submitted that in the application for condonation of delay, cogent ground had been indicated for filing the claim application with considerable delay. It is submitted that the delay in filing claim application was neither deliberate nor intentional and occasioned only due to advice of counsel as per which considerable time was lost in obtaining police reports and other papers to establish death of deceased. It is submitted that the aforesaid factors have been completely ignored by the Tribunal while rejecting claim on the ground of delay. It is submitted that the provisions of Act being beneficial in nature, the Tribunal should have leaned towards hearing on merits instead of rejecting the claim application on technicalities.

(5) Learned counsel appearing on behalf of respondent Union of India has refuted submissions advanced by learned counsel for appellant with the submission that no cogent explanation was furnished by the claimant for filing claim application after three years and six months. It is submitted that actually the claim has been filed after four years, five months and 25 days from the date of alleged accident and it is only after excluding one year limitation that the delay comes to three years five months and 25 days as on the date of filing of claim application. It is submitted that such a delay was clearly intentional and willful particularly since the delay has not been precisely explained and as such was rightly rejected by the Tribunal.

(6) Upon consideration of submissions advanced by learned counsel for parties and perusal of material available on record, it is evident that claim application of the appellant has been rejected by means of impugned order, while rejecting application for condonation of delay on the ground that reason for delay has been given only in general terms and has not been explained satisfactorily.

(7) Considering the aforesaid submissions, the following point of determination is being framed:

(i) Whether the Tribunal erred in law in rejecting the claim application on the ground of limitation without adverting to purpose of the Railway Claims Tribunal Act, 1987?

(8) With regard to aforesaid proposition regarding condonation of delay, it is apparent that there was an actual delay of more than four years in filing claim from the date of alleged accident but it is also important to bear in mind that the concept of compensation for accident arising out of and due to use of Railway in terms of Railway Claims Tribunal Act, 1987 is clearly a beneficial legislation. The introduction and statement of objects and reasons of the Act of 1987 clearly indicates that the Act has been introduced to make the Indian Railways accountable to Indian Citizens in a democratic setup and to make it more efficient and accountable. As such, the aspect of condonation of delay is required to be seen in the context of a beneficial legislation enacted for the purposes of awarding compensation to persons who are injured or die due to an accident arising out of use of Railway property.

(9) Considering the said fact that the Act is a beneficial piece of legislation, normal conditions for condonation of delay in such situations are required to be relaxed.

(10) Hon'ble the Supreme Court in the case of Steel Authority of India Ltd. and others versus National Union Water Front Workers and others reported in 2001 (19) Lucknow Civil Decision 1339 has clearly held as follows:-

"9. ..... It is now well settled that in interpreting a beneficial legislation enacted to give effect to directive principles of the state policy which is otherwise constitutionally valid, the consideration of the Court cannot be divorced from those objectives. In a case of ambiguity in the language of a beneficial labour legislation, the Courts have to resolve the quandary in favour of conferment of, rather than denial of, a benefit on the labour by the legislature but without rewriting and/or doing violence to the provisions of the enactment".

(11) It is thus clear that while interpreting a beneficial legislation, an effort has to be made to give effect to the objective of the enactment, which in the present case is consideration of claim for compensation in view of loss suffered to the life or person of an individual.

(12) It is also settled proposition of law as held by Hon'ble the Supreme Court in the case of Prem Singh and Others Versus Birbal and others reported in (2006) 5 SCC 353 that limitation is statute of repose. It ordinarily bars remedy but does not extinguish a right with the only exception to be found in Section 27 of the Limitation Act 1968 pertaining to institution of suit for possession of any property.

(13) With regard to the concept of condonation of delay, Hon'ble the Supreme Court in the case of Manoharan versus Sivaranjan and others reported in (2014) 4 Supreme Court Cases 163 has held as follows:-

*"Answer to Point (ii)

8.In State of Bihar v. Kameshwar Prasad Singh [(2000) 9 SCC 94 : 2000 SCC (L&S) 845], it was held that power to condone the delay in approaching the court has been conferred upon the courts to enable them to do substantial justice to the parties by disposing the cases on merit. The relevant paragraphs of the case read as under: (SCC pp. 102-104, paras 11-13)*

"11. Power to condone the delay in approaching the court has been conferred upon the courts to enable them to do substantial justice to parties by disposing of matters on merits. This Court in Collector (LA) v. Katiji [(1987) 2 SCC 107 : 1989 SCC (Tax) 172] held that the expression "sufficient cause' employed by the legislature in the Limitation Act is adequately elastic to enable the courts to apply the law in a meaningful manner which subserves the ends of justice--that being the life-purpose for the existence of the institution of courts. It was further observed that a liberal approach is adopted on principle as it is realised that: (SCC p. 108, para 3)

"1. Ordinarily a litigant does not stand to benefit by lodging an appeal late.

2. Refusing to condone delay can result in a meritorious matter being thrown out at the very threshold and cause of justice being defeated. As against this when delay is condoned the highest that can happen is that a cause would be decided on merits after hearing the parties.

3. "Every day's delay must be explained" does not mean that a pedantic approach should be made. Why not every hour's delay, every second's delay? The doctrine must be applied in a rational common sense pragmatic manner.

4. When substantial justice and technical considerations are pitted against each other, cause of substantial justice deserves to be preferred for the other side cannot claim to have vested right in injustice being done because of a non-deliberate delay.

5. There is no presumption that delay is occasioned deliberately, or on account of culpable negligence, or on account of mala fides. A litigant does not stand to benefit by resorting to delay. In fact he runs a serious risk.

6. It must be grasped that judiciary is respected not on account of its power to legalise injustice on technical grounds but because it is capable of removing injustice and is expected to do so.'

12. After referring to the various judgments reported in New India Assurance Co. Ltd. v. Shanti Misra [(1975) 2 SCC 840 : (1976) 2 SCR 266] , Brij Indar Singh v. Kanshi Ram [(1916-17) 44 IA 218 : (1917) 6 LW 592 : ILR (1918) 45 Cal 94] , Shakuntala Devi Jain v. Kuntal Kumari [AIR 1969 SC 575 : (1969) 1 SCR 1006] , Concord of India Insurance Co. Ltd. v. Nirmala Devi [(1979) 4 SCC 365 : 1979 SCC (Cri) 996 : (1979) 118 ITR 507] ,Lala Mata Dinv. A. Narayanan[(1969) 2 SCC 770 : (1970) 2 SCR 90] ,State of Keralav. E.K. Kuriyipe [1981 Supp SCC 72] , Milavi Devi v.Dina Nath [(1982) 3 SCC 366] ,O.P. Kathpalia v. Lakhmir Singh [(1984) 4 SCC 66] , Collector (LA) v. Katiji [(1987) 2 SCC 107 : 1989 SCC (Tax) 172] , Prabha v.Ram Parkash Kalra [1987 Supp SCC 339] ,G. Ramegowdav. Land Acquisition Officer[(1988) 2 SCC 142 : (1988) 3 SCR 198] ,Scheduled Caste Coop. Land Owning Society Ltd. v.Union of India [(1991) 1 SCC 174] ,Binod Bihari Singhv.Union of India[(1993) 1 SCC 572 : AIR 1993 SC 1245] ,Shakambari & Co. v. Union of India [1993 Supp (1) SCC 487] ,Ram Kishan v.U.P. SRTC[1994 Supp (2) SCC 507] and Warlu v. Gangotribai [1995 Supp (1) SCC 37] this Court inState of Haryana v.Chandra Mani [(1996) 3 SCC 132 : (2002) 143 ELT 249] held: (SCC p. 138, para 11)

"11. ... The expression "sufficient cause" should, therefore, be considered with pragmatism in justice-oriented approach rather than the technical detection of sufficient cause for explaining every day's delay. The factors which are peculiar to and characteristic of the functioning of the governmental conditions would be cognizant to and requires adoption of pragmatic approach in justice-oriented process. The court should decide the matters on merits unless the case is hopelessly without merit. No separate standards to determine the cause laid by the State vis-à-vis private litigant could be laid down to prove strict standards of sufficient cause. The Government at appropriate level should constitute legal cells to examine the cases whether any legal principles are involved for decision by the courts or whether cases require adjustment and should authorise the officers to take a decision or give appropriate permission for settlement. In the event of decision to file appeal needed prompt action should be pursued by the officer responsible to file the appeal and he should be made personally responsible for lapses, if any. Equally, the State cannot be put on the same footing as an individual. The individual would always be quick in taking the decision whether he would pursue the remedy by way of an appeal or application since he is a person legally injured while State is an impersonal machinery working through its officers or servants.'

To the same effect is the judgment of this Court in Tehsildar (LA) v. K.V. Ayisumma [(1996) 10 SCC 634 : AIR 1996 SC 2750] .

13. In Nand Kishore v. State of Punjab [(1995) 6 SCC 614 : 1996 SCC (L&S) 57 : (1995) 31 ATC 787] this Court under the peculiar circumstances of the case condoned the delay in approaching this Court of about 31 years. In N. Balakrishnan v. M. Krishnamurthy [(1998) 7 SCC 123 : (2008) 228 ELT 162] this Court held that the purpose of the Limitation Act was not to destroy the rights. It is founded on public policy fixing a life span for the legal remedy for the general welfare. The primary function of a court is to adjudicate disputes between the parties and to advance substantial justice. The time-limit fixed for approaching the court in different situations is not because on the expiry of such time a bad cause would transform into a good cause. The object of providing legal remedy is to repair the damage caused by reason of legal injury. If the explanation given does not smack mala fides or is not shown to have been put forth as a part of a dilatory strategy, the court must show utmost consideration to the suitor. In this context it was observed in N. Balakrishnan v. M. Krishnamurthy [(1998) 7 SCC 123 : (2008) 228 ELT 162] : (SCC p. 127, para 9)

"9. It is axiomatic that condonation of delay is a matter of discretion of the court. Section 5 of the Limitation Act does not say that such discretion can be exercised only if the delay is within a certain limit. Length of delay is no matter, acceptability of the explanation is the only criterion. Sometimes delay of the shortest range may be uncondonable due to a want of acceptable explanation whereas in certain other cases, delay of a very long range can be condoned as the explanation thereof is satisfactory. Once the court accepts the explanation as sufficient, it is the result of positive exercise of discretion and normally the superior court should not disturb such finding, much less in revisional jurisdiction, unless the exercise of discretion was on wholly untenable grounds or arbitrary or perverse. But it is a different matter when the first court refuses to condone the delay. In such cases, the superior court would be free to consider the cause shown for the delay afresh and it is open to such superior court to come to its own finding even untrammelled by the conclusion of the lower court."

"In Perumon Bhagvathy Devaswom, Perinadu Village Vs. Bhargavi Amma (dead) by LRs, (2008) 8 SCC 321*, it is observed that the words sufficient cause for not making the application within the period of limitation should be understood and applied in a reasonable, pragmatic, practical and liberal manner, depending upon the facts and circumstances of the each case and also the type of case. It was held that word 'sufficient cause' occurring in Section 5 of the Limitation Act should receive a liberal construction so as to advance substantial justice.*

In K. Subbarayudu and others Vs Special Deputy Collector (Land Acquisition) (2017) 12 SCC 840*, Hon'ble Supreme Court in paragraph 11 has held that the term "sufficient cause" is to receive liberal construction so as to advance substantial justice. When no negligence, inaction or want of bona fides is attributable to the appellants, the Court should adopt a justice-oriented approach in condoning the delay."*

(14) Upon applicability of aforesaid judgment in the present case, it is apparent that the Tribunal has taken a very pedantic and hidebound view of the application for condonation of delay. It is no doubt true that the claim was filed with considerable delay but the Tribunal was required to have taken a pragmatic approach to advance the cause of merit and justice instead of rejecting the application for condonation of delay merely on the ground of delay of three years and six months.

(15) Considering the fact that claim application was filed in terms of a beneficial enactment, it was incumbent upon the Tribunal to have taken a pragmatic and justice oriented approach in condoning delay in filing claim application which related to death of the claimant's son. The tribunal has not recorded any finding that delay occasioned in filing the claim was deliberate, willful or intentional on the part of claimant. Without recording any such finding, the Tribunal was not required to have rejected the claim application. As a result the point of determination is answered in the affirmative in favour of appellant.

(16) In view of aforesaid observations, it is apparent that impugned order dated 30.09.2021 is not in accordance with law and is therefore set aside. The appeal succeeds and is allowed. The application for condonation of delay in filing claim petition consequently stands allowed. The matter is remitted to the Tribunal concerned for consideration afresh of the claim application on merits.

(17) Office is directed to remit the lower court record expeditiously for the said purpose.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Dr. Kaushal Jayendra Thaker, J.)

1. Heard Sri S.P. Lal, learned counsel for the appellant and perused the judgment and order impugned. None appeared on behalf of sole respondent though notices were issued.

2. The appellant has challenged the order dated 28.6.1991 of the Commissioner, Employee‟s Compensation whereby compensation of Rs.80,664/- has been awarded to claimant/respondent for death of her husband who was murdered while in employment.

3. While issuing notice, this Court had called for the record of the Court below.

4. Whether the murder of the deceased, Ved Prakash was an "accident" arising out of and during the course of his employment ? The law on this issue is well settled by the Supreme Court in Rita Devi v. New India Assurance Co. Ltd., 2000 ACJ 801 (SC). The Supreme Court drew distinction between a "murder" which is not an accident and a "murder" which is an accident. The Supreme Court laid down the test that if the dominant intention of the felonious act is to kill any particular person, then such killing is not accidental murder but a murder simpliciter. However, if the cause of murder or act of murder was originally not intended and the same was caused in furtherance of any other felonious act, then such murder is an accidental murder. Para 10 of the judgment is relevant and is reproduced hereunder:

"10. The question, therefore is, can a murder be an accident in any given case? There is no doubt that "murder", as it is understood, in the common parlance is a felonious act where death is caused with intent and the perpetrators of that act normally have a motive against the victim for such killing. But there are also instances where murder can be by accident on a given set of facts. The difference between a "murder" which is not an accident and a "murder" which is an accident, depends on the proximity of the cause of such murder. In our opinion, if the dominant intention of the Act of felony is to kill any particular person then such killing is not an accidental murder but is a murder simpliciter, while if the cause of murder or act of murder was originally not intended and the same was caused in furtherance of any other felonious act then such murder is an accidental murder."
(Emphasis supplied)

6. In Rita Devi (supra), the deceased was employed to drive an auto rickshaw for ferrying passengers on hire. On the fateful day, the auto rickshaw was parked in the rickshaw stand at Dimapur when some unknown passengers engaged the deceased for a journey. As to what happened on that day is not known. It was only on the next day that the police was able to recover the body of the deceased but the auto rickshaw in question was never traced out. The owner of the auto rickshaw claimed compensation from the insurance company for the loss of auto rickshaw. The heirs of the deceased claimed compensation for the death of the driver on the ground that the death occurred on account of accident arising out of use of the motor vehicle. The Apex Court held that the murder to be an accidental murder. Para 14 is quoted below:-

"14. Applying the principles laid down in the above cases to the facts of the case in hand, we find that the deceased, a driver of the autorickshaw, was duty bound to have accepted the demand of fare-paying passengers to transport them to the place of their destination. During the course of this duty, if the passengers had decided to commit an act of felony of stealing the autorickshaw and in the course of achieving the said object of stealing the autorickshaw, they had to eliminate the driver of the autorickshaw then it cannot but be said that the death so caused to the driver of the autorickshaw was an accidental murder. The stealing of the autorickshaw was the object of the felony and the murder that was caused in the said process of stealing the autorickshaw is only incidental to the act of stealing of the autorickshaw. Therefore, it has to be said that on the facts and circumstances of this case the death of the deceased (Dasarath Singh) was caused accidentally in the process of committing theft of the autorickshaw."

7. In Rita Devi (supra), the Supreme Court relied on Challis v. London and South Western Railway Company, (1905) 2 KB 154 and Nisbet v. Rayne & Burn, (1910) 1 KB 689 to draw the distinction between the felonious act which accidentally results in death and a murder simpliciter. Paras 11 to 13 of the judgment are reproduced hereinbelow:

"11. In Challis v. London and South Western Rly. Co. [(1905) 2 KB 154 : 74 LJKB 569 : 93 LT 330 (CA)] the Court of Appeal held where an engine driver while driving a train under a bridge was killed by a stone wilfully dropped on the train by a boy from the bridge, that his injuries were caused by an accident. In the said case, the Court rejecting an argument that the said incident cannot be treated as an accident held:

"The accident which befell the deceased was, as it appears to me, one which was incidental to his employment as an engine driver, in other words it arose out of his employment. The argument for the respondents really involves the reading into the Act of a proviso to the effect that an accident shall not be deemed to be within the Act, if it arose from the mischievous act of a person not in the service of the employer. I see no reason to suppose that the legislature intended so to limit the operation of the Act. The result is the same to the engine driver, from whatever cause the accident happened; and it does not appear to me to be any answer to the claim for indemnification under the Act to say that the accident was caused by some person who acted mischievously."

12. In the case of Nisbet v. Rayne & Burn [(1910) 2 KB 689 : 80 LJKB 84 : 103 LT 178 (CA)] where a cashier, while travelling in a railway to a colliery with a large sum of money for the payment of his employers' workmen, was robbed and murdered. The Court of Appeal held:

"That the murder was an ,,accident" from the standpoint of the person who suffered from it and that it arose ,,out of" an employment which involved more than the ordinary risk, and consequently that the widow was entitled to compensation under the Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906. In this case the Court followed its earlier judgment in the case of Challis [(1905) 2 KB 154 : 74 LJKB 569 : 93 LT 330 (CA)] . In the case of Nisbet [(1910) 2 KB 689 : 80 LJKB 84 : 103 LT 178 (CA)] the Court also observed that ,,it is contended by the employer that this was not an "accident" within the meaning of the Act, because it was an intentional felonious act which caused the death, and that the word "accident" negatives the idea of intention". In my opinion, this contention ought not to prevail. I think it was an accident from the point of view of Nisbet, and that it makes no difference whether the pistol shot was deliberately fired at Nisbet or whether it was intended for somebody else and not for Nisbet."

13. The judgment of the Court of Appeal in Nisbet case [(1910) 2 KB 689 : 80 LJKB 84 : 103 LT 178 (CA)] was followed by the majority judgment by the House of Lords in the case of Board of Management of Trim Joint District School v. Kelly[1914 AC 667 : 83 LJPC 220 : 111 LT 305 (HL)]."

5. In Rita Devi (supra), the Supreme Court compared the provisions of the Motor Vehicles Act and the Workmen Compensation Act and held that the object of both the Acts was to provide compensation to the victims of the accidents and the judicial interpretation of the word "death" in both the Acts is the same. Para 15 of the judgment is reproduced hereunder:-

"15. Learned counsel for the respondents contended before us that since the Motor Vehicles Act has not defined the word "death" and the legal interpretations relied upon by us are with reference to the definition of the word "death" in the Workmen's Compensation Act the same will not be applicable while interpreting the word "death" in the Motor Vehicles Act because according to her, the objects of the two Acts are entirely different. She also contends that on the facts of this case no proximity could be presumed between the murder of the driver and the stealing of the autorickshaw. We are unable to accept this contention advanced on behalf of the respondents. We do not see how the object of the two Acts, namely, the Motor Vehicles Act and the Workmen's Compensation Act are in any way different. In our opinion, the relevant object of both the Acts is to provide compensation to the victims of accidents. The only difference between the two enactments is that so far as the Workmen's Compensation Act is concerned, it is confined to workmen as defined under that Act while the relief provided under Chapter X to XII of the Motor Vehicles Act is available to all the victims of accidents involving a motor vehicle. In this conclusion of ours we are supported by Section 167 of the Motor Vehicles Act as per which provision, it is open to the claimants either to proceed to claim compensation under the Workmen's Compensation Act or under the Motor Vehicles Act. A perusal of the objects of the two enactments clearly establishes that both the enactments are beneficial enactments operating in the same field, hence the judicially accepted interpretation of the word "death" in the Workmen's Compensation Act is, in our opinion, applicable to the interpretation of the word "death" in the Motor Vehicles Act also."

6. The apex Court recently has held that unless this Court finds perversity in the finding of fact, it should not easily interfere with finding of fact. I am supported in my view Golla Rajanna Etc. Etc. Vs. Divisional Manager and Another, 2017 (1) TAC 259 (SC). The finding of fact is that the deceased was an employee who had sustained employment injury and died.

7. I am supported in my view by the decision of the Apex Court in Civil Appeal No.7470 of 2009 North East Karnataka Road Transport Corporation Vs. Smt.

Sujatha decided on 2.11.2018 wherein it has been held that the Court has held as under:

"15. Such appeal is then heard on the question of admission with a view to find out as to whether it involves any substantial question of law or not. Whether the appeal involves a substantial question of law or not depends upon the facts of each case and needs an examination by the High Court. If the substantial question of law arises, the High Court would admit the appeal for final hearing on merit else would dismiss in limini with reasons that it does not involve any substantial question/s of law.

16. Now coming to the facts of this case, we find that the appeal before the High Court did not involve any substantial question of law on the material questions set out above. In other words, in our view, the Commissioner decided all the material questions arising in the case properly on the basis of evidence adduced by the parties and rightly determined the compensation payable to the respondent. It was, therefore, rightly affirmed by the High Court on facts.

17. In this view of the matter, the findings being concurrent findings of fact of the two courts below are binding on this Court. Even otherwise, we find no good ground to call for any interference on any of the factual findings. None of the factual findings are found to be either perverse or arbitrary or based on no evidence or against any provision of law. We accordingly uphold these findings."

8. This Court, recently in F.A.F.O. 1070 of 1993 (E.S.I.C. Vs. S. Prasad) decided on 26.10.2017 has followed the decision in Golla Rajana (Supra) and has held as follows:

"The grounds urged before this Court are in the realm of finding of facts and not a question of law. As far as question of law is concerned, the aforesaid judgment in Golla Rajanna Etc. Etc. Versus Divisional Manager and another (supra) in paragraph 8 holds as follows "the Workman Compensation Commissioner is the last authority on facts. The Parliament has thought it fit to restrict the scope of the appeal only to substantial questions of law, being a welfare legislation. Unfortunately, the High Court has missed this crucial question of limited jurisdiction and has ventured to re-appreciate the evidence and recorded its own findings on percentage of disability for which also there is no basis."

9. The learned counsel for the appellant urged at the time of the hearing that the murder cannot be said to be employment injury and under the Employee‟s Compensation Act. It was further submitted that the murder did not arise out of and during the course of employment of the deceased. However, it was not disputed that the deceased was an employee.

10. In Mackinnon Machenzie v. Ibrahim Mahmmed Issak, (1969) 2 SCC 607, Regional Director, E.S.I. Corporation v. Francis De Costa, (1996) 6 SCC 1, Malikarjuna G. Hiremath v. Branch Manager, Oriental Insurance Co. Ltd., (2009) 13 SCC 405, Shakuntala Chandrakant Shreshti v. Prabhakar Maruti Garvali, (2007) 11 SCC 668, Laxmanrao v. Maharashtra State Electricity Board, 2015 ACJ 2509 and Mewar Textile Mills v. Kushali Bai, (1960) II LLJ 369 similar view is taken.

11. The murder of deceased was an accident for the purpose of grant of compensation under the Employee"s Compensation Act, 1923. The deceased found himself at a spot where he was assaulted and murdered only because of his employment as the deceased was on duty of his employer.

12. While going through the record, it is very clear that this appeal will have to fail and, accordingly, it is held that the deceased died due to employment injuries.

13. Going by the factual scenario, the deceased was in employment when the incident occurred. The award dated 28th July, 1991 goes on the premises. The judgment of this Court in 2012 will also enure for the benefit of the claimants.

14. This court unable to accept the submission of learned counsel for Insurance Company that the policy was for private Car. It has not been proved whether there is any breach of policy decision under the Workmen's Compensation Act, 1923 even if it was proved that the vehicle was being applied for higher area remote. It is annexed that the accident occurring because of employment injury and, therefore, the deceased driver had taken the Car at the instance of the owner, no questions of law was framed while admitting this appeal rather there is no question of law whether the murder was during employment or not is a question of fact which has been answered against the Insurance Company.

15. In view of the above, the appeal fails and is dismissed. The so called questions of law framed by the Insurance Company are answered against it. In fact the substantial questions of law raised are questions of fact.

16. Interim relief, if any, shall stand vacated forthwith.

17. This court records the absence of learned counsel for the respondents.

18. This Court is thankful to learned counsel for the appellant for getting this very old matter disposed off.

19. The record be transmitted to the Workmen Commissioner.

20. The amount lying in the fixed deposits will be disbursed to the claimants immediately as more than 31 years has elapsed since the appal was preferred.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Dr. Kaushal Jayendra Thaker, J.)

1. Heard Sri Rakesh Bahadur, learned counsel for-New India Assurance Co. Ltd. and Sri Nigamendra Shukla, learned counsel for claimants.

2. Both the New India Assurance Co. Ltd. and claimants have challenged the judgment and order dated 19.05.2007 passed by Motor Accident Claims Tribunal/Additional District Judge, Court No.4, Bulandshahar (hereinafter referred to as 'Tribunal') in Motor Accident Claim Petition No. 283 of 2005, awarding compensation of Rs.8,02,500/- with interest at the rate of 9%.

3. The accident took place on 13.7.2005 when the deceased along with Vinay Kumar and minor Anjali was going on the scooter, at that point of time, the truck suddenly gave the signal for turning towards right side and that is how the accident occurred in which, the deceased sustained multiple fractures and minor Anjali and Vinay Kumar also sustained injuries. The F.I.R. was lodged at the police station. The postmortem of the dead body was conducted on 14.7.2005. The deceased was a person of 39 years of age. The respondent-owner of the vehicle contended that the vehicle was not involved in the accident. It was contended that the accident occurred due to rash and negligent driving of the scooterist. The Insurance Company also file its reply which was one of denial and contended that there was breach of policy condition and that the vehicle was not involved. The Tribunal after hearing arguments and perusing the oral testimony as well as documentary evidence, returned the finding of negligence disbelieving the oral testimony of D.W.1-Driver Qudir by placing reliance on Mangal Singh Vs. Rajasthan State Road Transport Corporation, Jaipur, 2002 (3) TAC 216

(Raj) and awarded a sum of Rs. 8,02,500/- with interest at the rate of 9%. The Tribunal has considered the income of the deceased to be Rs.6,000/- per month, granted multiplier of 16, deducted 1/3rd towards personal expenses and granted loss of consortium Rs. 5000/- each to claimant nos. 2 to 6 for loss of fatherly affection and Rs. 9500/- for other non pecuniary damages.

4. The learned counsel for the appellant-Insurance Company has contended that the facts go to show that the truck was involved in the accident and in the alternative, the deceased was also negligent as he was driving the vehicle having two pillion riders and, lastly, it is contended that the compensation awarded is on the higher side.

5. As against this the counsel for the claimants has contended that the F.I.R., Charge-sheet and testimonies of the witness conclusively prove that the vehicle was involved and the driver of the truck was the sole author of the accident and that compensation requires to be recapitulated as amount under the head of future loss of income has not been granted.

6. While dealing with submission on issue of negligence raised by the learned counsel for the appellant, it would be relevant to discuss the principles for deciding contributory negligence and for that the principles for considering negligence will also have to be looked into.

7. The term negligence means failure to exercise care towards others which a reasonable and prudent person would in a circumstance or taking action which such a reasonable person would not. Negligence can be both intentional or accidental though it is normally accidental. More particularly, it connotes reckless driving and the injured must always prove that the either side is negligent. If the injury rather death is caused by something owned or controlled by the negligent party then he is directly liable otherwise the principle of "res ipsa loquitur" meaning thereby "the things speak for itself" would apply.

8. The principle of contributory negligence has been discussed time and again. A person who either contributes or is co author of the accident would be liable for his contribution to the accident having taken place and that amount will be deducted from the compensation payable to him if he is injured and to legal representatives if he dies in the accident.

9. The Division Bench of this Court in First Appeal From Order No. 1818 of 2012 (Bajaj Allianz General Insurance Co.Ltd. Vs. Smt. Renu Singh And Others) decided on 19.7.2016 has held as under :

"16. Negligence means failure to exercise required degree of care and caution expected of a prudent driver. Negligence is the omission to do something which a reasonable man, guided upon the considerations, which ordinarily regulate conduct of human affairs, would do, or doing something which a prudent and reasonable man would not do. Negligence is not always a question of direct evidence. It is an inference to be drawn from proved facts. Negligence is not an absolute term, but is a relative one. It is rather a comparative term. What may be negligence in one case may not be so in another. Where there is no duty to exercise care, negligence in the popular sense has no legal consequence. Where there is a duty to exercise care, reasonable care must be taken to avoid acts or omissions which would be reasonably foreseen likely to caused physical injury to person. The degree of care required, of course, depends upon facts in each case. On these broad principles, the negligence of drivers is required to be assessed.

17. It would be seen that burden of proof for contributory negligence on the part of deceased has to be discharged by the opponents. It is the duty of driver of the offending vehicle to explain the accident. It is well settled law that at intersection where two roads cross each other, it is the duty of a fast moving vehicle to slow down and if driver did not slow down at intersection, but continued to proceed at a high speed without caring to notice that another vehicle was crossing, then the conduct of driver necessarily leads to conclusion that vehicle was being driven by him rashly as well as negligently.

18. 10th Schedule appended to Motor Vehicle Act contain statutory regulations for driving of motor vehicles which also form part of every Driving License. Clause-6 of such Regulation clearly directs that the driver of every motor vehicle to slow down vehicle at every intersection or junction of roads or at a turning of the road. It is also provided that driver of the vehicle should not enter intersection or junction of roads unless he makes sure that he would not thereby endanger any other person. Merely, because driver of the Truck was driving vehicle on the left side of road would not absolve him from his responsibility to slow down vehicle as he approaches intersection of roads, particularly when he could have easily seen, that the car over which deceased was riding, was approaching intersection.

19. In view of the fast and constantly increasing volume of traffic, motor vehicles upon roads may be regarded to some extent as coming within the principle of liability defined in Rylands V/s. Fletcher, (1868) 3 HL (LR) 330. From the point of view of pedestrian, the roads of this country have been rendered by the use of motor vehicles, highly dangerous. 'Hit and run' cases where drivers of motor vehicles who have caused accidents, are unknown. In fact such cases are increasing in number. Where a pedestrian without negligence on his part is injured or killed by a motorist, whether negligently or not, he or his legal representatives, as the case may be, should be entitled to recover damages if principle of social justice should have any meaning at all.

20. These provisions (sec.110A and sec.110B of Motor Act, 1988) are not merely procedural provisions. They substantively affect the rights of the parties. The right of action created by Fatal Accidents Act, 1855 was 'new in its species, new in its quality, new in its principles. In every way it was new. The right given to legal representatives under Act, 1988 to file an application for compensation for death due to a motor vehicle accident is an enlarged one. This right cannot be hedged in by limitations of an action under Fatal Accidents Act, 1855. New situations and new dangers require new strategies and new remedies.

21. In the light of the above discussion, we are of the view that even if courts may not by interpretation displace the principles of law which are considered to be well settled and, therefore, court cannot dispense with proof of negligence altogether in all cases of motor vehicle accidents, it is possible to develop the law further on the following lines; when a motor vehicle is being driven with reasonable care, it would ordinarily not meet with an accident and, therefore, rule *of res-ipsa loquitor as a rule of evidence may be invoked in motor accident cases with greater frequency than in ordinary civil suits (per three-Judge Bench in Jacob Mathew V/s. State of Punjab, 2005 0 ACJ(SC) 1840).

22. By the above process, the burden of proof may ordinarily be cast on the defendants in a motor accident claim petition to prove that motor vehicle was being driven with reasonable care or that there is equal negligence on the part the other side."

10. Learned counsel for the appellant has relied on the decision in Kaushnuma Begum vs. New India Assurance Company Ltd., 2001 (2) SCC 9 and Chhuttan Lal Batham vs. Shyam Lal and others, 2005 (2) T.A.C. 753 (M.P.) and Smt. Gaura Devi and others v. Shahzad Khan and others, 2013 (1) TAC 606 (ALL).

11. The finding of fact that the driver is an entrusted witness and cannot be relied on is a finding which cannot be sustained. No doubt driving with two pillion should be the reason for causing the accident. In our case, just because the deceased was driving the vehicle with two pillions was not in itself reason for the accident to take place. Rather, it was a fatal accident. The evidence of the driver of the truck goes to show that the vehicle was involved in the accident though there was a child of 13 years on the scooter, there is a collusion on the right side of the truck and, therefore, also the submission of the counsel for the appellant has to be accepted. The F.I.R. was given by the driver of the truck. The truck became stationery. The postmortem nowhere mentioned that the deceased was under influence of alcohol. Hence, this Court holds that the deceased has also contributed to the accident having taken place to the tune of 25%.

12. This takes this Court now to the issue of compensation. I am unable to subscribe to the submission of Sri Rakesh Bahadur that as there was no document to prove the income, the amount of Rs.6000/- granted is on the higher side. The evidence led proves that he was a skilled tailor and, therefore, his potential to earn has also to be considered and, therefore, I maintain the income granted by the Tribunal on the basis of recent judgment of the Apex Court in Sunita and others Vs. Rajasthan State Road Transport Corporation and Another, 2019 LawSuit (SC) 190. The Tribunal has not granted any amount towards future loss of income. The deceased was below the age of 40 years and was having his own business, hence, 40% of the income will have to be added in view of the decision of the Apex Court in National Insurance Company Limited Vs. Pranay Sethi and Others, 2017 0 Supreme (SC) 1050. The multiplier is recalculated as the deceased was 39 years of age, hence, the multiplier would be 15. The deduction towards personal expenses of the deceased is just and proper, hence, is not disturbed. As far as the amount under the head of non-pecuniary damages is concerned, it should be Rs.70,000/- + 10% rise in every three years in view of the decision in Pranay Sethi (Supra), hence, the claimants would be entitled to Rs.1,00,000/- (rounded figure) under non-pecuniary heads.

13. Hence, the total compensation payable to the appellants is computed herein below:

i. Monthly Income Rs 6000

ii. Percentage towards future prospects : 40% namely Rs.2400/-

iii. Total income : Rs.6000 + 2400 = Rs.8,400/-

iv. Income after deduction of 1/3rd : Rs.5600/-

v. Annual income : 5600 x 12 = 67,200

vi. Multiplier applicable : 15

vii. Loss of dependency: Rs.67,200 x 15 = Rs.10,08,000/-

viii. Amount under non-pecuniary head : 1,00,000/-

ix. Total compensation : 11,08,000/-

x. Compensation payable to claimants after deductions of 25% negligence on the part of the deceased : 11,08,000 - 2,77,000 = 8,31,000/-

14. From the record, it is seen that the appellant has been ordered to deposit a sum of Rs.8,02,500/- along with interest accrued. The Tribunal had granted interest at 9% which according to repo rate should be 7.5% as per the reasoning given below.

15. As far as issue of rate of interest is concerned, it should be 7.5% in view of the latest decision of the Apex Court in National Insurance Co. Ltd. Vs. Mannat Johal and Others, 2019 (2) T.A.C. 705 (S.C.) wherein the Apex Court has held as under :

"13. The aforesaid features equally apply to the contentions urged on behalf of the claimants as regards the rate of interest. The Tribunal had awarded interest at the rate of 12% p.a. but the same had been too high a rate in comparison to what is ordinarily envisaged in these matters. The High Court, after making a substantial enhancement in the award amount, modified the interest component at a reasonable rate of 7.5% p.a. and we find no reason to allow the interest in this matter at any rate higher than that allowed by High Court."

16. In view of the above, both the appeals are partly allowed. Judgment and award passed by the Tribunal shall stand modified to the aforesaid extent. The Insurance Company would recalculate the amount deposit the amount within a period of 12 weeks from today with interest at the rate of 7.5% from the date of filing of the claim petition till the amount is deposited. The amount already deposited be deducted from the amount to be deposited.

17. On depositing the amount in the Registry of Tribunal, Registry is directed to first deduct the amount of deficit court fees, if any. Considering the ratio laid down by the Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of A.V. Padma V/s. Venugopal, Reported in 2012 (1) GLH (SC), 442, the order of investment is not passed because applicants /claimants are neither illiterate or rustic villagers.

18. In view of the ratio laid down by Hon'ble Gujarat High Court, in the case of Smt. Hansagauri P. Ladhani v/s The Oriental Insurance Company Ltd., reported in 2007(2) GLH 291, total amount of interest, accrued on the principal amount of compensation is to be apportioned on financial year to financial year basis and if the interest payable to claimant for any financial year exceeds Rs.50,000/-, insurance company/owner is/are entitled to deduct appropriate amount under the head of 'Tax Deducted at Source' as provided u/s 194A (3) (ix) of the Income Tax Act, 1961 and if the amount of interest does not exceeds Rs.50,000/- in any financial year, registry of this Tribunal is directed to allow the claimant to withdraw the amount without producing the certificate from the concerned Income-Tax Authority. The aforesaid view has been reiterated by this High Court in Review Application No.1 of 2020 in First Appeal From Order No.23 of 2001 (Smt. Sudesna and others Vs. Hari Singh and another) while disbursing the amount.

19. Fresh Award be drawn accordingly in the above petition by the tribunal as per the modification made herein. The Tribunals in the State shall follow the direction of this Court as herein aforementioned as far as disbursement is concerned, it should look into the condition of the litigant and the pendency of the matter and judgment of A.V. Padma (supra). The same is to be applied looking to the facts of each case.

20. Record be sent back to the Tribunal forthwith.

Counsel for the Respondents:
G.A., Sudhir Kumar Srivastava

A. Long detention in jail.—Mere long detention in jail does not entitle an accused for bail. It all depends upon the facts and circumstances of the particular case.

Application rejected. (E-11)

List of Cases cited:-

Rajesh Ranjan Yadav Vs CBI through it's Director (2007)1 SCC 70

(Delivered by Hon'ble Rajesh Singh Chauhan, J.)

1. Heard Sri B.M. Sahai, assisted by Sri Pawan Kumar Singh, learned counsel for the applicant, Sri Rajeev Kumar Verma, learned AGA and Sri Sudhir Kumar Srivastava, learned counsel for the complainant.

2. Learned counsel for the applicant has submitted that the present applicant is in jail since 01.09.2017 in Case Crime No.410 of 2017, under Section 376 IPC and Sections 3/4 POCSO Act, Police Station Vikas Nagar, District Lucknow. He has further submitted that the present applicant has been falsely implicated in the case as he has not committed any offence as alleged. As per the prosecution story so narrated in the FIR, the present applicant has made oral sex with the daughter of the complainant/ informant, who is aged about eight years. As per the FIR, when the daughter of the complainant was vomiting after meal, the complainant asked about the reason for vomiting, then she told that the present applicant has made oral sex with her.

3. Sri Sahai has submitted that the entire prosecution story is false and concocted inasmuch as the family of the complainant was tenant of the present applicant and when the present applicant had told the complainant to vacate his house, this false story was created.

4. Sri Sahai has drawn attention of this Court towards Annexure No.RA-1 of the Rejoinder Affidavit, which is a typed statement of PW-2, mother of the victim, wherein she has stated that her husband along with her daughter went to the police station to lodge the FIR but what has been written in the FIR was not known to her as she was not informed about the narration of the FIR. He has also drawn attention of this Court towards Annexure No.RA-2 of the Rejoinder Affidavit, which is an order dated 18.11.2021 passed by this Court in Criminal Appeal No.5415 of 2018, Sonu Kushwaha Vs. State of U.P., relying upon paras 17 & 21 thereof, which reads as under:-

"17. From the perusal of the provisions of P.O.C.S.O. Act, it is clear that offence committed by appellant neither falls under Section 5/6 of P.O.C.S.O Act nor under Section 9(M) of P.O.C.S.O. Act because there is pentrative sexual assault in the present case as appelalnt has put his penis into mouth of victim. Putting penis into mouth does not fall in the category of aggravated sexual assault or sexual assault. It comes into category of pentrative sexual assault which is punishable under Section 4 of P.O.C.S.O. Act.

21. The court below has awarded the appellant to undergo 10 years rigorous imprisonment and fine of Rs. 5000/- under Section 6 of P.O.C.S.O. Act and under Section 6 of P.O.C.S.O. Act, minimum sentence is 10 years which may extend to imprisonment for life whereas under Section 4 of P.O.C.S.O. Act minimum sentence is 7 years but which may extend to imprisonment for life also. Learned court below has awarded minimum sentence provided under Section 6 of P.O.C.S.O. Act and accordingly, it would be appropriate to award the sentence to appellant under Section 4 of P.O.C.S.O. Act, seven years of rigorous imprisonment which is minimum provided in that Section and fine of Rs. Rs. 5,000/-, in default, three months additional simple imprisonment."

5. On the basis of aforesaid paras, Sri Sahai has tried to submit that in the present case, maximum sentence for the alleged offence committed may be seven years and the present applicant has already served about four years and seven months in jail, therefore, considering the period of incarceration, the present applicant may be released on bail.

6. Learned AGA has opposed the aforesaid prayer of Sri Sahai and has submitted that the offence in question is so heinous in nature, therefore, the present applicant may not be released on bail. He has drawn attention of this Court towards para-15 F, i.e. details regarding sexual violence, of the medical examination report, which provides that penis was penetrated in the mouth of the victim. Learned AGA has submitted that since this is a case of oral sex so there might not be any other injury on the body of the victim.

7. Learned AGA and learned counsel for the complainant have further submitted that the statement of the victim/prosecutrix has been recorded under Section 164 Cr.P.C. wherein she has categorically stated that she is a girl of eight years. Her father is Chhotelal Kashyap. She studies in Class-1. The applicant used to call her in his house and show porn movies (gandi-gandi picture). In that picture, both the male and female were naked. Thereafter, he brought her to the roof and asked to take his penis in her mouth. She explained that the penis is the part which is used for urination. Therefore, both the counsels for the opposite parties have submitted that this case shall fall within Section 3 (a) and Section 4 (2) of the POCSO Act, which provides maximum punishment for life also. Therefore, the present bail application may be rejected.

8. Heard learned counsel for the parties and perused the material available on record.

9. At the very outset, it would be apt to reproduce the relevant part of Section 375 IPC, Sections 3 (a) and 4 of the Protection of Children from Sexual Offences Act, 2012 (hereinafter referred to as "POCSO Act"), which reads as under:-

"375. Rape.-- A man is said to commit "rape" if he--

(a) penetrates his penis, to any extent, into the vagina, mouth, urethra or anus of a woman or makes her to do so with him or any other person; or

(b) inserts, to any extent, any object or a part of the body, not being the penis, into the vagina, the urethra or anus of a woman or makes her to do so with him or any other person; or

(c) manipulates any part of the body of a woman so as to cause penetration into the vagina, urethra, anus or any part of body of such woman or makes her to do so with him or any other person; or

(d) applies his mouth to the vagina, anus, urethra of a woman or makes her to do so with him or any other person, ..."

10. Sections 3 (a) & 4 of the POCSO Act are as under:-

"3. Penetrative sexual assault. - A person is said to commit "penetrative sexual assault" if -

(a) he penetrates his penis, to any extent, into the vagina, mouth, urethra or anus of a child or makes the child to do so with him or any other person; or"

"4. Punishment for penetrative sexual assault. - [(1)] Whoever commits penetrative sexual assault shall be punished with imprisonment of either description for a term which shall not be less than [ten years] but which may extend to imprisonment for life, and shall also be liable to fine.

[(2) Whoever commits penetrative sexual assault on a child below sixteen years of age shall be punished with imprisonment for a term which shall not be less than twenty years, but which may extend to imprisonment for life, which shall mean imprisonment for the remainder of natural life of that person, and shall also be liable to fine.

(3) The fine imposed under sub-section (1) shall be just and reasonable and paid to the victim to meet the medical expenses and rehabilitation of such victim.]"

11. Therefore, it is clear that a man is said to have committed rape if he penetrates his penis into the mouth of a woman. Section 376 IPC provides punishment for rape, which would be not less than ten years but may extend to the imprisonment for life and shall also be liable to fine.

12. Further, in view of Section 3 (a) of POCSO Act, the applicant has committed penetrative sexual assault with the prosecutrix and as per Section 4 (2) of POCSO Act, if any person commits penetrative sexual assault on a child below sixteen years of age shall be punishable with imprisonment for a term which shall not be less than twenty years, but may extend to imprisonment for life. Therefore, in view of the aforesaid provision of law, the maximum punishment in the given circumstances may be awarded upto life. For the offence of rape, the punishment may extend to the imprisonment for life also.

13. The victim/prosecutrix in her statement recorded under Section 164 Cr.P.C. has categorically informed that the present applicant committed oral sex with her. The victim/prosecutrix was about 8 years at the time of incident, therefore, at the stage of bail, it cannot be presumed that she has given such statement under the influence of her parents. Besides, the medical examination report supports her allegation wherein it has been verified that the penis was penetrated in the mouth of the victim/prosecutrix.

14. To me, mere long detention in jail does not entitle an accused for bail. Further, it all depends on the facts and circumstances of each case as there is no straight jacket formula for granting bail. Therefore, period of long incarceration may be considered as one of the grounds for granting bail, but it depends upon facts and circumstances of the particular case. The Hon'ble Apex Court in re; Rajesh Ranjan Yadav v. CBI through its Director, (2007) 1 SCC 70, has observed as under:-

"..... None of the decisions cited can be said to have laid down any absolute and unconditional rule about when bail should be granted by the Court and when it should not. It all depends on the facts and circumstances of each case and it cannot be said there is any absolute rule that the mere fact that the accused has undergone a long period of incarceration by itself would entitle him to be enlarged on bail."

15. Considering the totality of the facts and circumstances of the issue in question, medical examination report, statement of the prosecutrix recorded under Section 164 Cr.P.C. and the provisions of law i.e. Section 375 IPC, Section 3 (a) and Section 4 of POCSO Act, I do not find any substance in the arguments of learned counsel for the applicant, looking to the peculiar facts and circumstance of the present case, that the applicant has already served about four years and seven months' period in jail, so he may be enlarged on bail considering his period of incarceration. I am conscious about the fact that the guilt of any person can be established before the learned trial court and no observation should be given affecting the trial, but on the basis of aforesaid material available on record, prima facie, I am not inclined to grant bail to the present applicant.

16. Accordingly, the bail application is rejected on merits.

17. Before parting with, it is expected that the trial shall be concluded with expedition. Further, the learned trial court may take all coercive measures as per law if either of the parties do not co-operate in the trial properly. The learned trial court shall fix short dates to ensure that trial is concluded at the earliest.

18. Let the copy of this order be provided to the learned trial court through District & Sessions Judge, Lucknow by the Registry of this Court within a week for its compliance.

A. Parity—Applicant is entitled ot be released on bail on the ground of parity by moving second or third or any other bail application in a circumstances that at a later date a co-accused of the same criminal case with a similar role was granted bail.

Application rejected. (E-11)

List of Cases cited:-

Nanha Vs St. of U.P. 1993 Crl.L.J. 938

(Delivered by Hon'ble Rajesh Singh Chauhan, J.)

1. Heard Sri P.R. Gupta, learned counsel for the applicant and Ms. Kiran Singh, learned A.G.A.

2. This is the second bail application. First bail application was rejected on 18.3.2021 by Hon'ble Vikas Kunvar Srivastav, J. vide Bail No.3356 of 2021.

3. In view of the order of Hon'ble the Chief Justice dated 13.11.2018, if the Hon'ble Court, which has rejected the bail application of an accused, is not sitting at the place where subsequent bail application has been filed, the same shall be put up before the regular Court, therefore, this bail application has been put up before the regular Court. It has been noted that the Hon'ble Court, which has rejected the first bail application, is presently not sitting at Lucknow where this second bail application has been filed.

4. As per Sri Gupta, the present applicant, who is a lady, is in jail since 24.11.2020 in Case Crime No.0206 of 2020, under Sections 147, 323, 302/34, 336 & 506 IPC, Police Station ? Asoha, District ? Unnao.

5. Sri Gupta has submitted that he is conscious about the fact that he cannot raise any arguments or take any ground in the second bail application, which could have been taken in the first bail application, therefore, he shall not be repeating any arguments or grounds, which have already been considered by this Court while rejecting the first bail application of the present applicant on 18.3.2021.

6. Sri Gupta has submitted that he shall be pressing this second bail application on the solitary ground that after rejection of bail application of the present applicant on 18.3.2021, this Court granted bail to co-accused Bahadur in Bail No.7523 of 2021 on 5.10.2021. Further, other co-accused persons, namely, Bablu has been granted bail in Bail No.5287 of 2021 on 9.11.2021; Kamal has been granted bail in Bail No.12888 of 2021 on 22.11.2021 and Deepu has been granted bail in Bail No.8149 of 2021 on 7.12.2021 as orders of those accused persons have been shown to the Court, which are taken on record.

7. Sri Gupta has drawn attention of this Court towards the decision of Division Bench of this Court in re; Nanha S/O Nabhan Kha vs. State of U.P., reported in 1993 CriLJ 938, wherein the question was considered as to whether any accused may be entitled for bail in his/her subsequent bail application, if after rejection of his/her bail, the other co-accused persons have been granted bail. In para-1 of the judgment, the aforesaid question has been indicated, which reads as under:-

1. In the third bail application moved by the petitioner for bail in case Crime No.

53 of 1989 under Section 302, IPC of P.S. Ganj, district Rampur Hon'ble N.L. Ganguli, J. has referred the following question to a larger Bench for an authoritative pronouncement:--

"Whether an accused is entitled to be released on bail on the ground of parity by moving a second or third bail application in a circumstance that at a later date a co-accused of the same criminal case with a similar role was granted bail by the another Hon'ble Judge before whom without disclosing the fact that the bail application of another co- accused with similar role had already been rejected, by another Bench, bail was granted."

8. While replying the aforesaid question, the Devision Bench of this Court in re; Nanha (supra) has observed in paragraphs 53 & 58 as under:-

"53. There are large number of cases of this Court in which the question of parity in the matters of bail has been considered earlier and the weight of judicial authority is in favour of the principle of parity being followed. In the case of Hadi v. State, 1986 Allahabad Criminal Cases 390 Hon'ble Parmeshwari Dayal, J. bailed out the accused on the ground that co-accused had been bailed out earlier. In another case of Sanwal Das Gupta v. State of U.P., 1986 Allahabad Criminal Cases 79, D.N. Jha, J. observed that where bail was granted to a co-accused then even the Magistrate can admit co-accused to maintain parity. In the case of Ram Roop Vs. State of U.P. 1987 Criminal Rulings 30, this Court observed that a co-accused having similar role having been granted bail another co-accused should also be granted bail. In the case of Ali Hussain v. State of U.P., 1990 U.P. Criminal Rulings 93, Hon'ble S.K. Dhaon, J. placed reliance on the Supreme Court's case of Kallu (supra) and granted bail on the ground of parity. In a unreported decision of this Court in Criminal Misc. Bail Application No. 1360 of 1987 Rai Munna v. State of U.P. Hon'ble G.P. Mathur, J. granted bail on the ground of parity though the Hon'ble Judge clearly observed that he was still of the opinion that the applicant was not entitled to bail on merits, but, however, as his case was not distinguishable from the case of co-accused the bail was granted on the ground of parity. In his judgment in Sobha Ram's case (supra) Hon'ble V.N. Mehrotra, J. has considered some more unreported decisions of this Court in which bail has been granted on the ground of parity. I respectfully agree with the view of Hon'ble V.N. Mehrotra, J.

58. The word 'parity' means the state or condition being equal or on a level; equality; equality of rank or status (See Shorter Oxford English Dictionary 1936 Ed.). In other words it means being placed at the same footing. All the accused of a case always do not stand on the same footing. While considering bail of different accused the court has to find out whether they stand on the same footing or not. Even if role assigned to various accused is same yet they may stand on different footing. The case of Cap. Jagjeet Singh (supra) is an illustration wherein the Supreme Court distinguished the case of Capt. Jagjeet Singh on the ground that he was in touch with foreign agency and leaking out secrets. The Supreme Court in the case of Gur Charan Singh v. Delhi Administration, AIR 1978 SC 179 : (1978 Cri LJ 129) laid down that the considerations for grant of bail are inter alia the position and status of the accused with reference to the victim and the witnesses; likelihood of the accused; fleeing from justice; of repeating offence; of jeopardising his own life, being faced with grim prospect of possible conviction in the case; of tampering with witnesses; and the like. These are additional factors which are to be judged in the case of individual accused and it may make the cases of different accused distinguishable from each accused. At the same time if there is no real distinction between the individual case of accused the principle of parity comes into play and if bail is granted to one accused it should also be granted to the other accused whose case stands on identical footing."

9. The aforesaid question was replied in favour of the accused in para-61 of the case in re; Nanha (supra), which reads as under:-

"61. My answer to the points referred to is that if on examination of a given case it transpires that the case of the applicant before court is identical, similar to the accused, on facts and circumstances who has been bailed out, then the desirability of consistency will require that such an accused should also be released on bail. (Exceptional cases as discussed above apart). As regards the second part of the question, answer is that it is not at all necessary for an accused to state in his bail application that the bail application of a co-accused has been rejected previously."

10. In the light of aforesaid judgment, learned counsel for the applicant has tried to demonstrate the impugned FIR wherein general role has been assigned against all five accused persons including the present applicant and no specific role has been assigned to the present applicant, therefore, even as per the prosecution, since the present applicant has been attributed the general role and no specific role has been attributed to her, her case may be considered on the principles of parity. Besides, the present applicant being a lady, she may be extended the benefit of Section 437 Cr.P.C. considering her period of incarceration in jail i.e. about one year and six months. He has further submitted that charge sheet has already been filed, therefore, there is no apprehension of absconding or tampering the evidence or witnesses. He undertakes that the applicant shall co-operate with the trial proceedings and shall not misuse the liberty of bail, if so granted by this Court. Further, the applicant shall abide by all terms and conditions of the bail order.

11. Learned A.G.A has, however, opposed the prayer for bail but he has not disputed the aforesaid submissions of learned counsel for the applicant.

12. Considering the fact that in the FIR, general role has been attributed to all accused persons including the present applicant and co-accused persons, namely, Bahadur, Bablu, Kamal and Deepu have been enlarged on bail, therefore, on the basis of principles of parity, the present applicant may be enlarged on bail. Besides, the applicant being a lady is entitled for the benefit of Section 437 Cr.P.C. Therefore, further considering the decision of the Division Bench of this Court in re; Nanha (supra) wherein various decisions of the Hon'ble Apex Court have been considered, I find that question of the present case i.e. consideration of second bail on the ground that subsequent to rejection of the bail of the present applicant, other co-accused persons have been granted bail is squarely covered, therefore, this is the more reason to grant bail to the present applicant. Accordingly, without entering into merits of the case, the bail application is allowed.

13. Let applicant- Nirmala be released on bail in the aforesaid case crime number on her furnishing a personal bond and two sureties each in the like amount to the satisfaction of the court concerned with the following conditions:-

(i) The applicant shall file an undertaking to the effect that she shall not seek any adjournment on the dates fixed for evidence when the witnesses are present in court. In case of default of this condition, it shall be open for the trial court to treat it as abuse of liberty of bail and pass orders in accordance with law.

(ii) The applicant shall remain present before the trial court on each date fixed, either personally or through her counsel. In case of her absence, without sufficient cause, the trial court may proceed against her under Section 229-A of the Indian Penal Code.

(iii) In case, the applicant misuses the liberty of bail during trial and in order to secure her presence proclamation under Section 82 Cr.P.C. is issued and the applicant fails to appear before the court on the date fixed in such proclamation, then, the trial court shall initiate proceedings against her, in accordance with law, under Section 174-A of the Indian Penal Code.

(iv) The applicant shall remain present, in person, before the trial court on the dates fixed for (i) opening of the case, (ii) framing of charge and (iii) recording of statement under Section 313 Cr.P.C. If in the opinion of the trial court absence of the applicant is deliberate or without sufficient cause, then it shall be open for the trial court to treat such default as abuse of liberty of bail and proceed against her in accordance with law.

(v)The applicant shall not leave India without previous permission of the court.

4. Gokarakonda Naga Saibaba Vs St. of Mah. (2018)12 SCC 505

(Delivered by Hon'ble Rajesh Singh Chauhan, J.)

1. Heard Sri Ravi Shankar Mishra, learned counsel for the applicant and Sri Hans Raj Verma, learned A.G.A. for the State.

2. It has been contended by the learned counsel for the applicant that the applicant is in jail since 3.1.2015 in Case Crime No. 294 of 2014 u/s 147, 148, 149, 323,324, 504,506,452, 307, 308, 304 IPC, P.S. Raniganj, District Pratapgarh. It has been submitted that the applicant has been falsely implicated in this case as he has not committed any offence as alleged.

3. Sri Mishra has filed questionnaire being issued from the learned trial court dated 22.4.2022, the same is taken on record.

4. At the very outset the learned counsel for the applicant has submitted that since the present bail application being fourth bail application, therefore, he shall not advance any arguments or raise any ground which could have been taken at the time of rejection of first, second or third bail application. He has submitted that he shall argue the present bail application on a limited ground to the effect that the present applicant is in jail since 3.1.2015, about seven years and four months and despite the specific directions have been issued by this Court twice to conclude the trial within time frame, there was no good progress in the trial inasmuch as out of total 15 prosecution witnesses nine prosecution witnesses have been examined, out of them all fact witness (P.W.-1 to P.W. -7) have been examined and in given circumstances there is no likelihood to conclude the trial in near future, therefore, the period of incarceration of the present applicant and the progress of trial may be considered in view of dictum of Apex Court in re: Union of India vs. K.A. Najeeb reported in AIR 2021 Supreme Court 712 and in the case of Paras Ram Vishnoi vs. The Director, Central Bureau of Investigation passed in Criminal Appeal No. 693 of 2021 (Arising out of SLP (Crl) 3610 of 2020) enlarge the present applicant on bail.

5. Sri Mishra has drawn attention of this Court towards the certified copy of the questionnaire which indicates that nine prosecution witnesses have been examined and the next date has been fixed for 25.4.2022 for examination of other prosecution witnesses.

6. The first bail application was rejected by Hon. Mahendra Dayal, J. (since retired) on 29.3.2016 (Annexure no. 3). The second bail application was rejected by Hon. Prashant Kumar, J. on 25.7.2018 (Annexure no. 4) and the third bail application has been rejected by Hon. Mohd. Faiz Alam Khan, J. on 2.7.2021. In terms of orders of Hon. the Chief Justice dated 13.11.2018 if any Hon'ble Court is not sitting at the place where any bail application is listed which has already been rejected by him or her, the regular Court may hear such bail application, therefore, the present bail application has been put up before this Court.

7. While rejecting the second bail application on 25.7.2018 this Court has observed as under :

"However, it appears that the applicant is in custody since 03.11.2015, thus, the court below is directed to expedite the trial and if possible, conclude the same, within six months."

8. While rejecting third bail application on 2.7.2021 this court has observed as under :

"However, having regard to the fact that the applicant is detained in prison in this case for the last seven years and only five prosecution witnesses have been testified before the trial court, the trial court is directed to conduct the trial of the case pending before it by fixing at least two dates in a week and ensure that on all dates fixed, the remaining prosecution witnesses are examined. The trial court is further directed to conclude the trial within six months from today."

9. In all the three rejection orders this Court has briefly considered the facts and circumstances of the issue in question.

10. While rejecting third bail application on 2.7.2021 this Court has taken cognizance of the fact that by that time five prosecution witnesses had been examined, therefore, this Court was of the view that the trial should be concluded within a period of six months and rejected said bail application. About ten months period have passed since 2.7.2021 but there was no good progress in the trial proceedings inasmuch as only four more prosecution witnesses have been examined including all fact witnesses, two Doctors, two Sub-Inspectors. Six prosecution witnesses are yet to be examined. Thereafter, the defence witnesses would be examined and the trial would be concluded after adopting due procedure of law. In carrying out aforesaid exercise there is no possibility of conclusion of trial in near future, therefore, the present applicant may be enlarged on bail.

11. The learned counsel for the applicant has given an undertaking on behalf of applicant that the applicant shall not misuse the liberty of bail and shall cooperate with the trial proceedings and shall abide by all terms and conditions of bail, if granted.

12. Learned A.G.A. has opposed this bail application by submitting that this is fourth bail application and since no new grounds have been raised by the present applicant, therefore, this bail application may be rejected.

13. On being confronted the learned AGA on the point that despite the two orders being passed by this Court on 25.7.2018 and 2.7.2021 to expedite the trial within six months there was no progress in the trial and the present applicant is in jail for about seven years and four months, learned AGA has submitted that since the aforesaid fact is matter of record, therefore, he has nothing to say on this point.

14. Heard learned counsel for the parties and perused the record as well as the questionnaire dated 22.4.2022 produced today itself.

15. At the very outset, I must express my anguish towards the approach of the learned trial court by not following the direction of this Court in its letter and spirit. When this Court vide order dated 25.7.2018 has directed to conclude the trial within six months, the trial should have been concluded within six by adopting coercive methods and also by taking recourse of section 309 Cr.P.C. It is noted here that at that point of time the Pandemic Covid -19 was not there. Further, when this Court has taken notice of the fact on 2.7.2021 while rejecting their bail application that five prosecution witnesses have already been examined, at least in a period of about ten months the trial should have been concluded but still six prosecution witnesses are to be examined, defence witnesses are to be examined and other legal formalities are required to be followed, therefore, this approach of the learned trial court may not be appreciated. When the learned trial court is having the powers enshrined u/s 309 Cr.P.C. to conclude the trial on day to day basis and they are armed with coercive powers, I fail to understand as to why such provisions of law has not been adopted to conclude the trial within time frame as directed by this Court twice.

16. The Apex Court in re: Union of India vs. K.A. Najeeb (supra) has held as under :

"This Court has clarified in numerous judgments that the liberty guaranteed by Part III of the Constitution would cover within its protective ambit not only due procedure and fairness but also access to justice and a speedy trial. In Supreme Court Legal Aid Committee Representing Undertrial Prisoners v. Union of India, it was held that undertrials cannot indefinitely be detained pending trial. Ideally, no person ought to suffer adverse consequences of his acts unless the same is established before a neutral arbiter. However, owing to the practicalities of real life where to secure an effective trial and to ameliorate the risk to society in case a potential criminal is left at large pending trial, Courts are tasked with deciding whether an individual ought to be released pending trial or not. Once it is obvious that a timely trial would not be possible and the accused has suffered incarceration for a significant period of time, Courts would ordinarily be obligated to enlarge them on bail."

17. In the case of Paras Ram Vishnoi vs. The Director, Central Bureau of Investigation (supra) the Apex Court has held as under :

"On consideration of the matter, we are of the view that pending the trial we cannot keep a person in custody for an indefinite period of time and taking into consideration the period of custody and that the other accused are yet to lead defence evidence while the appellant has already stated he does not propose to lead any evidence, we are inclined to grant bail to the appellant on terms and conditions to the satisfaction of the trial court."

18. The Hon'ble Supreme Court in Criminal Appeal No.308 of 2022, @ SLP (Crl.) No.4633 of 2021; Saudan Singh Vs. The State of Uttar Pradesh vide order dated 25.02.2022 has held that if the accused person is in custody for around eight years pending his criminal appeal before the appellate court, he may be granted bail on the terms and conditions to the satisfaction of the learned trial Court.

19. Besides, as per dictum of the Hon'ble Apex Court in re; Gokarakonda Naga Saibaba v. State of Maharashtra, (2018) 12 SCC 505, wherein it has been held that if all fact/ material witnesses have been examined, the bail application of the accused may be considered.

20. Therefore, without entering into the merits of the case, I am considering the period of incarceration of the present applicant in jail i.e. 7 years and 4 months and poor progress of trial despite the specific direction being issued by this court twice. Notably, all fact/material witnesses have been examined. There is no likelihood, in view of the progress of the trial, to conclude the trial in near future. Therefore, the aforesaid grounds entitles the present applicant to be released on bail and aforesaid grounds may be considered as appropriate ground to grant bail while disposing of the fourth bail application of the present applicant.

21. Accordingly, the present bail application is allowed.

22. Let the applicant Bhaiya Ram, involved in aforesaid case crime be released on bail on his furnishing a personal bond and two sureties each in the like amount to the satisfaction of the court concerned with the following conditions which are being imposed in the interest of justice:-

(i) The applicant shall file an undertaking to the effect that he shall not seek any adjournment on the dates fixed for evidence when the witnesses are present in court. In case of default of this condition, it shall be open for the trial court to treat it as abuse of liberty of bail and pass orders in accordance with law.

(ii) The applicant shall remain present before the trial court on each date fixed, either personally or through his counsel. In case of his absence, without sufficient cause, the trial court may proceed against him under Section 229-A of the Indian Penal Code.

(iii) In case, the applicant misuses the liberty of bail during trial and in order to secure his presence proclamation under Section 82 Cr.P.C. is issued and the applicant fails to appear before the court on the date fixed in such proclamation, then, the trial court shall initiate proceedings against him, in accordance with law, under Section 174-A of the Indian Penal Code.

(iv) The applicant shall remain present, in person, before the trial court on the dates fixed for (i) opening of the case, (ii) framing of charge and (iii) recording of statement under Section 313 Cr.P.C. If in the opinion of the trial court absence of the applicant is deliberate or without sufficient cause, then it shall be open for the trial court to treat such default as abuse of liberty of bail and proceed against him in accordance with law.

(v) The applicant shall not leave the country without permission of the Court concerned.

23. Before parting with, it is expected that the trial shall be concluded with expedition in terms of Section 309 Cr.P.C. Further, the learned trial court may take all coercive measures as per law if either of the parties do not co-operate in the trial properly. The learned trial court shall fix short dates to ensure that trial is concluded at the earliest.

Crl Appeal No. 1826 of 1983

Prem & Ors. ...Appellants
Versus
State ...Respondent

Counsel for the Appellants:
Sri Ajay Kumar Pandey, Sri Bharat Singh, Sri Preet Pal Singh Rathore, Sri Satish Trivedi (Senior Adv.)

Counsel for the Respondents:
A.G.A., Sri S.S. Tomar

A. Section 482 Cr.P.C.- Mere consistency or congruity in the testimony of the prosecution witnesses is not the sole test of truth as even falsehood can be given an adroit appearance of truth so that truth disappears and falsehood comes on the surface. Therefore, what the court has to look at and assess is whether the prosecution evidence coupled with the surrounding circumstances has a ring of truth about it or there arises a strong suspicion and high probability of false implication of the accused put on trial. It is well settled that while witnesses may lie, circumstances will not.

The Investigating Officer of the case has not been examined to explain non-mentioning of the case details in the chitthi majroobi as well as various memos prepared during investigation so as to satisfy in respect of prompt lodging of F.I.R. Further, the police clerk who registered the F.I.R. is also not produced as a witness. Therefore, merely because the defence did not question the police witness on the issue whether F.I.R. was ante timed or not it would not absolve the prosecution to prove it's case beyond reasonable doubt.

The informant has taken the commission of dacoity in the village as an opportunity to falsely implicate persons with whom he had enmity.

Appeal allowed. (E-11)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Manoj Misra, J.)

1. This appeal is against the judgment and order dated 03.08.1983 passed by Special Judge, Badaun in Sessions Trial No. 318 of 1981 thereby, convicting the appellants under Sections 396 I.P.C. and sentencing them to imprisonment for life. The appeal was filed by seven persons, namely, Prem, Mohar Singh, Ramesh, Banwari, Bhagwan Singh, Rajendra and Rajpal. Out of them, appellant no.1 (Prem); appellant no.3 (Ramesh); and appellant no.4 (Banwari) have died and their appeal was abated by order dated 20.11.2015. Therefore, this appeal survives for appellant no.2 (Mohar Singh son of Nathu); appellant no.5 (Bhagwan Singh son of Happu); appellant no.6 (Rajendra son of Happu); and appellant no.7 (Rajpal son of Khannu).

INTRODUCTORY FACTS

2. On an oral report made by Ganga Sahai (PW-1), a first information report (FIR) (Exb. Ka-1) was registered on 16.05.1980, at 22:00 hours, as Case Crime No. 96 of 1980, under Section 395/397 I.P.C., at P.S. Sahaswan, district Budaun, against twelve persons out of whom, eight persons, namely, Gajram (not put to trial as he had died), Prem (appellant no.1 - died during appeal), Mohar Singh (appellant no.2), Ramesh (appellant no.3 - died during appeal), Banwari (appellant no.4 - died during appeal), all sons of Nathu; Bhagwan Singh (appellant no.5), Rajendra (appellant no.6), both sons of Happu; and Rajpal (appellant no.7), son of Khannu, were named. In the FIR it is alleged that at about 9 pm while informant's brother Ram Singh (the deceased) and informant's nephew Ranbir Singh (PW-4), son of the deceased Ram Singh, were at their shop, the informant heard their shrieks. In response, the informant and his brother Dhan Singh (PW-2) and others picked up lathi, torches and went to the spot. Where they saw, informant's brother - Ram Singh and informant's nephew - Ranbir Singh being assaulted by 10-12 persons, who had guns, pistol, Ballam. When the informant party challenged them, one of the miscreants assaulted Ranbir Singh with Ballam and, a fellow villager, namely, Gajram son of Khayali, shot Ram Singh and aimed at the informant party, which terrified the informant party and they retreated to the safety of their homes and from there they started pelting brickbats, etc. upon the miscreants. But the miscreants (i.e. dacoits) kept looting articles. In the meantime, informant's wife set haystack on fire, which lit the area. After looting the house of the informant, the dacoits went to the house of Nem Chand son of Lakhan (not examined), and as soon as Kalyan son of Lakhan (not examined) opened the door, a shot was fired at him by a dacoit and the pellets of that shot struck Kalyan's wife Champa Devi (not examined). Thereafter, the dacoits went to the house of Saudan Singh (not examined), Hari Ram (PW-5), Naresh Pal (not examined) and Baburam (not examined) and looted articles. It is alleged that the dacoits took away mare of Hari Ram (PW-5). After looting the articles, the dacoits went away towards west. After alleging as above, it was stated that amongst 12 persons who committed dacoity, the informant party, in the light of torches, etc., could identify 8 fellow villagers, namely, Gajram, Prem, Mohar Singh, Ramesh, Banwari, Bhagwan Singh, Rajendra and Rajpal. Having made the allegations as above, it was also alleged that the accused Bhagwan Singh had falsely implicated the informant in the murder of Bhure and Happu; in respect of which, a case is pending. It was alleged that because of that case, the present set of named accused were inimical to the informant. It was also alleged that out of 10-12 dacoits, Gajram and 2 or 3 others were wearing Khakhi coloured clothes whereas, the rest were normally dressed. The FIR also gave details of the articles looted.

3. On a Chhitthi Majroobi (letter for medical examination of the injured), dated 16.05.1980, Ranbir Singh (PW-4) was medically examined for his injuries on 17.05.1980, at 1 am, at PHC - Sahaswan. The injury report (Exb. Ka-5), the genuineness of which was admitted, reveals following injuries:-

(ii) Incised wound 1.5 cm x 0.25 cm x muscle deep on front of abdomen on right side, 1 cm above the umbilicus.

According to the opinion of doctor, all injuries were simple in nature, caused by sharp edged weapon; and fresh in duration.

4. Similarly, Smt. Champa Devi was also examined on 17.05.1980 at PHC Sahaswan. Her injury report (Exb. Ka-6) reveals following injuries:-

(i) Firearm wound of entry 0.25 cm x 0.25 cm x skin deep on outer side of right upper arm, 4 cm above the elbow joint.

According to the opinion of the doctor, injury was simple, caused by firearm; and fresh in duration.

NOTE: The defence accepted the genuineness of this document and therefore it was marked an Exhibit.

Interestingly, in this injury report, the time of examination mentioned is 2 pm on 17.05.1980.

5. The other injured, namely, Ram Singh, died on 08.06.1980, at about 3.20 pm, in the District Hospital. His post-mortem examination was conducted on 09.06.1980 at 4 pm. The post-mortem report (Exb. Ka-4) of which the genuineness was admitted, reveals that he died of Septic due to Pus formation. It be noticed that there is no dispute that the deceased (Ram Singh) had suffered gun shot injuries in the incident.

6. Sri R.D. Yadav, S.O., Sahaswan (not examined) started the investigation. He collected the kerosene lamp (Dibby) of the informant as also the torches in the light of which the incident could be seen. The custody of these items were provided back to its owners of which custody memos were separately prepared, which were exhibited as Exhibit Ka-2 and Ka-3, respectively. He collected blood-stained and plain-earth from two spots, namely, the shop of Ram Singh and the house of Kalyan, of which memos were separately prepared and exhibited as Exhibit Ka-8 and Ka-12, respectively. He collected two empty cartridges from near the shop of Ram Singh of which a memo was prepared and exhibited as Exhibit Ka-9. He also collected sample of burnt ash from near the house of the informant of which a memo was prepared and exhibited as Exhibit Ka-10. He also prepared a custody memo of lantern, alleged to have been lit in the shop of Ram Singh, which was exhibited as Exhibit Ka-11. He prepared a custody memo of a kerosene lamp (Dibby) lit in the house of Kalyan at the time of the incident, which was exhibited as Exhibit Ka-13. He prepared a memo of lifting empty cartridge and pellets from the house of Kalyan, which was exhibited as Exhibit Ka-14. He also prepared a memo of collection of blood stained Dhoti of injured Kalyan, which was exhibited as Exhibit Ka-15. Inquest with regard to the deceased - Ram Singh, was held at the mortuary of Civil Hospital, Bareilly on 08.06.1980. The genuineness of the inquest report was admitted and it was exhibited as Exhibit Ka-20. After investigation, charge-sheet (Exb. Ka-16) was submitted on 18.07.1980 by PW-6 (the second investigating officer) against 7 persons (i.e. only the named accused-the appellants), with a remark that the other named accused Gajram had died. On the charge-sheet, after taking cognisance, on 09.08.1982 charges relating to offences punishable under Sections 396 and 307 I.P.C. were framed.

7. During the course of trial, six prosecution witnesses were examined, namely, PW-1 Ganga Sahai - informant, PW-2 - Dhan Singh (the brother of the informant); PW-3 - Kallu (one of the victims of dacoity, who was declared hostile); PW-4 -Ranbir Singh (the son of the deceased and nephew of the informant - the person injured); PW-5 - Hari Ram (one of the victims of dacoity); and PW-6 - P.P. Mishra (the investigating officer who submitted charge-sheet).

8. The incriminating circumstances appearing in the prosecution evidence were put to the accused for recording their statement under Section 313 Cr.P.C. The surviving appellant Mohar Singh claimed that he has been falsely implicated; that in the murder of Happu and Bhure, Ganga Sahai was an accused, wherein he was a witness, therefore, he has been falsely implicated. Appellant-Bhagwan Singh stated that in the murder of his father (Happu), Ganga Sahai (the informant), Ram Singh (the deceased), Ranbir Singh (PW-4), Dhan Singh (PW-2), and Hari Ram (PW-5) were all accused therefore, he has been falsely implicated. Appellant-Rajendra gave identical statement as given by Mohar Singh, which is, that he is a witness in the murder of Happu and Bhure. Whereas, appellant-Rajpal claimed that he is an associate of Rajendra and Bhagwan Singh therefore, he has been falsely implicated.

9. The trial court held that the factum of armed dacoity is proved; the death of one of the victims of dacoity, after 21 days of hospitalisation, on account of septicaemia as a result of injuries received at the time of dacoity, is proved; the injuries of PW-4 are also proved; the first information report was lodged promptly; that PW-4, the injured witness, and other persons in whose house dacoity was committed, have disclosed the presence of the accused-appellants, therefore, there is no reason to doubt their version, hence, they were all liable to be convicted under Section 396 I.P.C. As the charge of an offence punishable under section 307 IPC was found covered by the charge of dacoity, no separate conviction on that charge was recorded.

10. We have heard Sri Ajay Kumar Pandey along with Sri Bharat Singh for the surviving appellants - Mohar Singh, Bhagwan Singh, Rajendra and Rajpal; Sri Pankaj Saxena along with Sri Amit Sinha, learned A.G.A., for the State; and have perused the record.

SUBMISSIONS ON BEHALF OF THE SURVIVING APPELLANTS

11. Learned counsel for the appellants submitted that this is an interesting case where all the named accused except Rajpal (appellant no.7) are residents of the same village where the dacoity is alleged to have been committed. Twelve persons are said to have participated in the dacoity including 8 named accused. It is an admitted fact that in the murder of Happu and his brother Bhure, Ganga Sahai (the informant), Dhan Singh (PW-2); Hari Ram (PW-5); Ram Singh (the deceased); and Ranbir Singh (PW-4) were accused. Interestingly, amongst all the witnesses of fact, PW-3, who is not an accused in the murder of Happu, has not disclosed the name of any of the dacoits and has stated that he could not recognise them. It cannot be a mere coincidence that only those victims of dacoity have named the accused who held enmity with the named accused; whereas those who held no enmity have not named the accused-appellants. The prosecution has not led any evidence to show that the accused-appellants were men of criminal antecedents or were dreaded dacoits against whom reports were there from before, or were proclaimed offender who cared a damn about law and order, under these circumstances, it is unbelievable that the accused-appellants, if were to commit dacoity in their own village, would not cover their faces to hide their identity. The prosecution story to the extent of participation of the accused appellants in the dacoity, without masking their identity, defies logic, and is a circumstance which suggests that the informant has taken the factum of dacoity as an opportunity to falsely implicate the accused- appellants.

12. It has been urged that in the prosecution evidence it has come that, out of 12 dacoits, four had sported police dress (Khakhibana). Thus, part of the gang of dacoits were hiding their identity, under these circumstances, it is unacceptable that those who were residents of the same village would not hide their identity. This clearly indicates that it is a case of false implication.

13. As regards prompt lodging of the first information report, the learned counsel for the appellants submitted that the first investigation officer of the case and the clerk/constable who registered the report have not been produced as a witness therefore, the accused-appellants were deprived of the opportunity to elicit from them that the FIR was ante-timed. In this regard it was pointed out that various memorandums prepared on 17.05.1980, during the course of investigation, namely,

Exhibit Ka-2, Exhibit Ka-3, Exhibit Ka-8, Exhibit Ka-9, and Exhibit Ka-11, which all appear to be in one handwriting, do not bear the case crime number and other details of the case in connection with which those memorandums were prepared whereas, Ex-Ka-10 which is in same writing carries the case crime number in English language, which appears interpolated. But, interestingly, Exhibit Ka-12, Exhibit Ka-13, Exhibit Ka-14, Exhibit Ka-15, which were also prepared on 17.05.1980, appear in a different handwriting though, they carry the case crime number. Most importantly, the majroobi chitthi (letter for examination of the injured) of PW-4 and Champa Devi (not examined), marked Exb Ka-5 and Exb Ka-6, do not bear the case details which is suggestive of the fact that when they were sent for medical examination, no first information report had come into existence. It has also been urged that as per the Chik FIR (Exb. Ka-1), the FIR was lodged at 22.00 hours (10 pm) on 16.05.1980, whereas, if the incident occurred at 9 pm on 16.05.1980, as is the case, and the distance between the place of the incident and the police station is 3 kms, the same appears too prompt. Further, the FIR has been made orally yet, it is a detailed report which, keeping in mind that there were several victims of dacoity who had also sustained injuries and required immediate attention, would suggest that it was made with composure and after deliberation. This circumstance, by itself, evokes suspicion with regard to the report being ante-timed.

14. It was urged that as all the witnesses were highly inimical and interested, there was a need for corroboration from independent evidence such as recovery of the weapons of assault or the articles looted or by deposition of those victims of dacoity who were not inimical to the accused-appellants. But, interestingly, this is a case where there is no recovery, either of the weapon of assault or of the looted articles, either from the accused-appellants or from anybody else. It was also urged that the first investigating officer of the case has not been examined and no reason for his non-examination has come in the testimony of the police officer who proved the police papers by proving the signature of the first investigating officer. Under the circumstances, the testimony of highly interested witnesses have got no corroboration from other material.

15. Lastly, learned counsel for the appellants submitted that the trial court overlooked an important feature, which is, that in the testimony of all the prosecution witnesses, except for naming the accused-appellants as being part of the Gang, there is no disclosure about the role played by the accused-appellants during the course of dacoity. Further, there is nothing in the testimony to show as to with what weapon the accused-appellants were armed and who inflicted which injury and to whom. Absence of disclosure in this regard, according to the counsel for the appellant, is a clinching circumstance suggestive of the fact that the informant took advantage of the occurrence of dacoity to implicate persons with whom he held enmity. It is thus a case where the prosecution story as regards the involvement of the accused-appellants in the dacoity is shrouded in suspicion and that suspicion has not been dispelled by the prosecution, therefore, the appellants are entitled to the benefit of doubt. It has been prayed that the judgment and order of the trial court be set aside.

SUBMISSIONS ON BEHALF OF THE STATE

16. Per contra, the learned A.G.A. submitted that as the factum of dacoity is duly substantiated and not seriously disputed and the first information report has been lodged promptly; there being an injured witness to disclose the presence of the accused-appellants as part of the Gang, it stood proved that the appellants were part of armed dacoits that committed murder in the act of looting, which, by itself, is sufficient to convict the appellants under Sections 396 I.P.C. therefore, the judgment and order of the trial court calls for no interference.

17. As regards the possibility of false implication and the argument that the accused being residents of the same village would not have participated in dacoity without masking their faces, the learned A.G.A. submitted that there is no hard and fast rule that a person committing dacoity in his own village would always mask his identity. It is the psychology of the criminal that lets him take such a decision and that psychology is not for the court to guess. Often, criminals to show their devil may care attitude do not care to mask their face. In this context, the learned counsel for the appellants placed reliance on certain observations in the impugned judgment as also on a decision of the apex court in the case of Siyaram v. State of Bihar, 1973 (3) SCC 241.

18. On the issue of the FIR being ante-timed, the learned A.G.A. submitted that no suggestion has been given to PW-1 (the informant) that the FIR was ante-timed therefore, the appellants cannot take advantage of non-examination of the investigating officer or the police clerk, who made entries on the oral report.

19. In respect of absence of evidence with regard to recovery of incriminating material from any of the accused-appellants, the learned A.G.A. submitted that this may be a lapse on the part of the investigating officer of which the benefit should not go to the accused, because here, there is a credible ocular account of the incident. It has been urged that once the factum of dacoity is proved beyond doubt and the presence of the appellants as part of that gang of dacoits has been proved by an injured witness, the trial court stood justified in recording conviction therefore, the appeal deserves to be dismissed.

PROSECUTION EVIDENCE

20. Before we proceed to weigh the rival submissions, it would be apposite to have a glimpse at the prosecution evidence in some detail. The prosecution examined six witnesses. Their testimony, in brief, is as follows:-

20 (i) PW-1- Ganga Sahai. He is the informant, brother of deceased (Ram Singh) and uncle of injured Ranbir Singh. He states that at the time of dacoity, Ram Singh and Ranbir Singh (PW-4) were at their general merchandise shop in the village. PW-1 heard their shrieks. On hearing their shrieks, PW-1, Roopram (not examined), Dhan Singh (PW-2), Munsi (not examined), Babu Ram (not examined), Saudan Singh (not examined), Sukhram (not examined) and others went to the spot with lathi and torches, there they saw 10-12 men armed with Guns, Pistols, Ballam and Gandasa assaulting PW-1's brother and nephew. When PW-1 and his men arrived and intervened, the dacoits assaulted PW-4 with Ballam and Gajram and Bhagwan Singh fired from their guns at the interveners, who took shelter of the wall of their house and started pelting stones/bricks at the dacoits. Thereafter, the dacoits looted articles from the house of PW-1, including his brothers, as also from the house of Dhan Singh, Ram Singh and Munsi. At that time, to lit the area, PW-1's wife set straw leaves on fire. The dacoits thereafter entered the house of Nem Chand and also fired a shot at Kallu (PW-3) i.e. brother of Nem Chand. The pellets of that shot, hit Champa Devi i.e. wife of PW-3. Thereafter, the dacoits committed dacoity in the house of Babu, Saudan, Hari Ram (PW-5) and Naresh Pal (not examined) and they took away the mare of Hari Ram. After committing dacoity, the dacoits escaped towards the west. PW-1 stated that on account of the injuries received in the incident, PW-1's brother-Ram Singh died twenty four days later. After narrating the incident as above, PW-1 stated that at the spot he had spotted Gajaram, Bhagwan Singh (appellant no.5), Rajendra (appellant no.6), Prem (appellant no.1), Ramesh (appellant no.3), Mohar Singh (appellant no.2), Rajpal (appellant no.7) and Banwari (appellant no.4). He stated that except for Rajpal, all the other accused are residents of the village of PW-1. In respect of Rajpal, he stated that he used to visit the village often with Gayaram. PW-1 also stated that prior to this incident, Happu (father of Bhagwan Singh - appellant no.5) was murdered in which Bhagwan Singh had implicated PW-1 and his brothers along with 14 others, which case is pending. He also stated that because of that case there is enmity. PW-1 stated that after the incident got over, he took the injured to the police station. There, on his oral report, the first information report was written which was thumbed marked by him. The said report was exhibited as Exb. Ka-1. Thereafter, the police station incharge recorded his statement and sent the injured to the hospital. He stated that when the investigating officer had come to the village he had seized the Dibby (kerosene lamp) and it was handed over to his custody. He also proved the custody memo of the torch/batteries.

20(ia) In his cross-examination, he stated that along with Happu (the father of Bhagwan Singh), Happu's brother Bhure was also killed in the incident which had taken place a year before the present dacoity. He admitted that in that case, PW-1 and his brothers were implicated along with Hari Ram, Mahesh, Bhawan Lal, Bhan Singh, Munsi, Saudan. He stated that in that case including him and his family members i.e. brothers and nephews, there were about 10 accused. He admitted that in that case, Prem (appellant no.1) and Mohar Singh (appellant no.2) were witnesses. He also admitted that Ramesh (appellant no.3) and Banwari (appellant no.4) are real brothers of appellant no.2 (Mohar Singh) whereas, Rajendra (appellant no.6) and Bhagwan Singh (appellant no.5) are sons of Happu and brother of Bhure. Rajpal (appellant no.7) is nephew of Bhagwan Singh (appellant no.5) and Rajendra (appellant no.6).

20(ib) On further cross-examination, he stated that his brother Saudan Singh was abducted by criminals in respect of which a case was lodged against Bhagwan Singh (appellant no.5), Rajendra (appellant no.6) and Gajram but they were all acquitted. He also stated that about 8-10 years back, there was another incident in connection with which there was a case against Ram Singh (the deceased) in connection with which Gajram and Malkhan were tried but acquitted. He added that after this incident, Gajram absconded and is no longer residing in the village.

20 (ic) In respect of the distance between PW-1's house and deceased's shop, he stated that the distance between the two would be about 100 paces and in between, there are many other houses. He stated that at the time of the incident, he was sitting in his house on a cot where Roopram, Dhan Singh, Munsi and Saudan were also sitting. He stated that by the time he reached the spot, he heard a gunshot and cries; responding to that noise, they all took lathi to go to the spot. When PW-1 arrived at the spot, he saw his brother (the deceased) and his nephew (PW-4) being assaulted. PW-1 stated that when he reached the spot, the accused pushed him and fired at him but he escaped by taking shelter of the wall of that shop. He stated that by the time the dacoits reached PW-1's house, PW-1 had already retreated to his house; other witnesses were also trying to hide themselves in PW-1's house. He stated that the dacoits looted his house for about half an hour and, thereafter, they went to the settlement of Jatavs to loot and thereafter, the dacoits vanished.

20 (id) In paragraph 15 of his statement, during the course of cross-examination, he stated that in the night itself Daroga (Station House Officer of the police station concerned) had come to the village and had taken the injured persons with him and along with him he had also gone to the police station. He stated that Daroga had enquired from the villagers about the incident in the village and had also queried them at the police station. Next day, again, Daroga had come to visit the shop and the house and had prepared site plan. In paragraph 16 of his statement, PW-2 stated that the accused had not covered their faces with Dhata (cloth). He stated that he had mentioned in his report that accused Bhagwan Singh (appellant no.5) had also fired but if that was not written he does not know the reason for the same. He denied the suggestion that the accused have been implicated on account of enmity. He also denied the suggestion that he could not recognise the real accused and that the dacoity was committed post midnight.

20 (ii) PW-2- Dhan Singh. He also stated about the occurrence of dacoity by 10-12 persons. He stated that amongst the dacoits, he could recognise Bhagwan Singh, Rajendra, Prem, Mohar Singh, Ramesh, Banwari, Rajpal and Gajram. He reiterated that Ram Singh was shot by Gajram and someone, from amongst the dacoits, struck Ranbir (PW-4) with a Ballam. He stated that dacoits looted not only the house of the informant and his brothers but also of other fellow villagers, namely, Baburam, Ram Prasad, Kallu and Hari Ram and, in that process, they took away the mare of Hari Ram. He stated that in the incident, Ranbir, Kallu and his wife Champa had received injuries whereas, as a result of the injury which Ram Singh sustained, Ram Singh died 24 days later. In paragraph 4 of his statement, he stated ''मेरी भाभी ने सरकटे के पूलों में आग लगा दी इसकी काफी रोशनी हुयी। यह डकैती भगवान सिंह ने पुरानी रंजिश की वजह से डलवाई।''

20 (iia) In his cross-examination, he stated that by the time they could reach the shop, Ram Singh had already been shot and, thereafter, when the accused had aimed at the informant party, they hid behind the wall and ran to the safety of their homes. He stated that when the accused tried to enter their houses, stones were pelted at them. He reiterated that the accused were armed with Tamancha, Ballam, Pistol, Gun. In paragraph 8, he stated that after the dacoits had left, the villagers collected to lodge a report of dacoity. Then, at the police station, his brother lodged the report, whereas, PW-2 took his other relative to the hospital. He stated that from the village they went to the police station on a bullock-cart. His brother Saudan had reached the police station before him and he had brought the Daroga with him, whereafter, the Daroga took them to the hospital. He denied the suggestion that on the date of the incident, he was not in the village and that he has made a false statement on account of enmity. He claimed that he has no knowledge whether Kalyan and others had lodged a separate report of the incident.

20 (iii) PW-3-Kallu. He confirmed the occurrence of dacoity and stated that the dacoits, after committing dacoity at the house of PW-1, came to his house as well, and they looted for about half an hour. He stated that there was no fire lit at that time though light of torches was there. He stated that he cannot give a count of the dacoits; and that he did not see face of any dacoit. He stated that he was asked to open the door and when he opened the door, four shots were fired, out of which two hit him, as a result of which he fell unconscious. At this stage, he was declared hostile by the prosecution and was cross-examined by the prosecution. On a suggestion made by the prosecution, he denied that his statement was recorded by the Tehsildar.

20 (iv) PW-4-Ranbir Singh. He is the person who received injuries in the incident. He stated that the incident occurred at about 9 pm; there were 12 dacoits; at the time of the incident, he was sitting near the shop of his father (the deceased) where a lantern was lit; the dacoits had arrived there through a Gali; and Gajram fired a shot at his father. Because of that shot, his father died at Sadar Hospital, Bareilly. Dacoits also beat him with lathi and Ballam. Dacoits had looted a mare of Hari Ram and they looted the house of Babu as well as Ganga Sahai. He stated that his aunt (बड़ी माँ) had lit haystack, in the light of which he could notice Bhagwan Singh, Rajendra, Prem, Mohar Singh, Banwari, Rajpal and Ramesh. The rest of the dacoits, he could not recognise. He stated that all the named accused except Rajpal are residents of his village whereas Rajpal is the Behnoi (sister's husband) of Bhagwan Singh.

20 (iva) In his cross-examination, he stated that he arrived at the shop an hour before the incident and except him and his father there was nobody in the shop. His father was sitting on a cot whereas he was inside the shop. The dacoits on arrival, first, shot his father and when PW-4 came out, he was assaulted with Ballam and lathi. On being assaulted, he fell, but was conscious. His father, on being hit by gun shot, fell on the cot. The dacoits after leaving him and his father, went to loot other houses and when all the dacoits left, his family and villagers arrived and collected at the spot. In paragraph 4 of his statement, he stated that in the night, the police had arrived and they took him and his father to the police station. He stated that he is not aware as to who had called the police. He stated that the investigating officer had interrogated him on the third day. He stated that he is not aware as to how many shots had hit his father. He admitted that the dacoits also looted other houses. He denied the suggestion that he could not recognise the dacoits and because of enmity, he had named the accused-appellants.

20 (v) PW-5 - Hari Ram. He reiterated the incident of dacoity and stated that his mare was looted by the dacoits. He stated that amongst the dacoits, he could recognise Bhagwan Singh, Rajendra, Ramesh, Banwari, Prem, Mohar Singh, Rajpal and Gajram in the light of torches and there were four others, whom he could not recognise. He stated that the dacoity lasted for about 1 and ½ to 2 hours. He stated that the dacoits were armed and were in Khakhi dress: ''(डाकूओं पर हथियार थे और खाकी बाने में थे)'' from the shop of the deceased (Ram Singh). He stated that his mare was taken by breaking open the door of his house. In paragraph 3, he stated that when the incident occurred, he understood that dacoits have come to the village and, therefore, his wife ran to another house and he went to the roof-top of his house. The dacoits pushed and broke open the door of his house and when the dacoits went away, he came out. He stated that the investigating officer interrogated him, next day morning. He stated that along with mare, dacoits also took utensils, clothes, etc. He admitted that in the murder of Happu and Bhure, he and his sons were accused but denied the suggestion that because of old enmity, he is making a false statement. He denied the suggestion that he could not recognise any of the dacoits.

20 (vi) P.W.-6 - P. P. Mishra. The investigating officer, who submitted charge-sheet. PW-6 stated that he was posted at the police station concerned in the month of June-July, 1980. He took over investigation of the case from R.D. Yadav. He proved the signature of Head Constable Dinesh Singh on the Chik FIR (Exb. Ka-1) as well as the GD entry thereof (Exb. Ka-7). He proved the signatures of R.D. Yadav on Exb. Ka-2, Exb. Ka-3 and Exb.Ka-8 to Exb. Ka-15. He stated that he read the case diary of the case and from a perusal of the case diary, he could gather that R.D. Yadav had inspected the spot on 17.05.1980 but the site plan was missing. He stated that all the named accused have been charge-sheeted by him. He proved the charge-sheet which was marked as Exb. Ka-16. He stated that all the accused had surrendered. He also stated that the accused Gajram was absconding and has been killed in a police encounter.

21. Having noticed the rival submissions and the entire prosecution evidence led during the course of trial, the key features that stand out in the prosecution evidence are as follows:-

(a) The factum of dacoity is not challenged as would be clear from the suggestions put to the prosecution witnesses. Though, its time has been challenged by putting a suggestion to one of the witnesses;

(b) There are three sets of accused. One (i.e. Gajram) is named but not related to any of the other named accused including the present set of appellants; the other set, comprising seven persons including the appellants, are related to each other and all of them, except Rajpal, reside in the same village where dacoity was committed; and, the third set of accused are unknown persons. In respect of Gajram, in paragraph 10 of the statement of PW-1, during the course of cross-examination, it has come that Gajram had been absconding since after another incident and that though he (Gajram) was earlier a resident of the village but was no longer residing in the village. PW-1, however, denied the suggestion that Gajram was of PW-1's party. PW-1, in paragraph 8 of his statement, during the course of cross-examination, admitted that 8-10 years ago, in a case of burglary in the house of Happu (the father of Bhagwan Singh and Rajendra), a case was instituted against PW-1's brother-Ram Singh (the deceased), Gajram (co-accused of this case), Malkhan and others in which they were acquitted;

(c) The role of causing gun shot injury to the deceased is attributed to Gajram. No specific role of causing any specific injury is attributed to any of the other accused. Further, as to what article was looted by whom and as to who (excepting Gajram) caused which injury is not disclosed in the prosecution evidence;

(d) The prosecution led no evidence of recovery of any incriminating material from any of the accused persons even though, according to the allegations, the dacoit lifted clothes, utensils and other articles which could have been identified and correlated with dacoity, if there had been a recovery; and

(e) The enmity between the named accused (the appellants of this case) and the informant as well as three of the four witnesses of fact is proved as follows:- Father of Bhagwan Singh and Rajendra, namely, Happu, and his brother - Bhure were killed about a year before the incident in which Ganga Sahai (informant-PW-1), Ganga Sahai's brothers, namely, Dhan Singh (PW-2), Ram Singh (the deceased), Ganga Sahai's nephew (i.e. Ranbir - the injured - PW-4), Hari Ram (PW-5) were accused;

(f) The dacoits, according to the prosecution story and the evidence led during the course of trial, looted not only those with whom they had enmity but other residents of the village also. One of the villagers whose house was looted by the dacoits, namely, Kallu (PW-3), though supported the allegation of dacoity but resiled from the prosecution case on two important counts:-

(a) That he did not count the number of dacoits and could not recognise/notice their faces;

(b) That though there were light of torches but there was no fire lit;

(g) The other victims, except Kallu (PW-3), who did not bear enmity with the named set of accused, have not been examined during the course of trial;

(h) The investigating officer of the case, who prepared the seizure memos as well as the police personnel who were posted at the police station at the time of lodging the FIR and who may have prepared Chitthi Majroobi have not been examined and the investigating officer, who did not conduct the earlier stages of investigation, though submitted charge-sheet on the basis of previous record, was examined only to prove the signature on various documents prepared during the course of investigation by the earlier I.O.

22. After examining the key features in the prosecution evidence, we find that the defence has not seriously challenged the occurrence of dacoity in the village on that fateful night though there appears a dispute with regard to its time. In view whereof, the trial court was justified in recording a finding that the commission of dacoity in the village on that fateful night has been duly proved. Thus, the only question that falls for our consideration is whether or not the accused- appellants were part of that gang of dacoits that committed dacoity in the village, or the informant and his relatives, who are highly inimical to the accused, have taken the incident of dacoity as an opportunity to falsely implicate his enemies i.e. the appellants, as being part of the gang of dacoits.

23. To demonstrate that it is a case of false implication of the appellants, the learned counsel for the appellants has highlighted the following circumstances:-

(i) That there were three sets of accused, one, known (i.e Gajram) but not related to the second set; second, known, seven in number including the appellants, who were related to each other but not related to Gajram; and the third, four unknown persons, who have not been sent to trial. Notably, the second set of accused, which includes the appellant, had strong enmity with the informant and his family including the prosecution witnesses of fact except PW-3, who did not support the prosecution case against the appellants.

(ii) The dacoity was committed not only at the house /shop of the informant party but also at other places in the village with whom the named accused-appellants had no enmity. In the circumstances, the accused-appellants who were residents of the same village would have had tried to mask their faces. The circumstance that they did not cover their faces while committing dacoity is relevant because it does not fit in the scheme of the prosecution case.

(iii) There is no corroboration to the prosecution case either by recovery of any incriminating material from the accused - appellants or by independent/ non-inimical witnesses.

24. The trial court has discarded the plea of false implication on the following grounds:-

(a) That the FIR has been promptly lodged therefore the possibility of the prosecution case being coloured with enmity is ruled out;

(b) There is an injured witness, who has supported the prosecution case; and

(c) Whether the accused would commit dacoity in his own village, without covering their faces, is not an acid test for the prosecution to pass, as it depends on the psychology of the accused, as has been observed by this Court in Chandrabhan v. State :1981 CrLJ 196 as also by the Apex Court in Siyaram Rai v. State of Bihar; 1973 (3) SCC 241.

25. Before we proceed to analyse the submissions, it would be useful to notice a decision of the Supreme Court in somewhat similar situation where the accused had allegedly participated in the commission of dacoity at his neighbour's house and the factum of dacoity was duly proved and the eye-witnesses, apparently, were congruous and consistent in their deposition yet, upon finding the possibility of false implication very high, the apex court allowed the appeal of the convicted accused and acquitted him of the charge upon finding that intrinsic circumstances of the prosecution case raised considerable amount of suspicion regarding the complicity of the appellant in the dacoity. The relevant observations of the Supreme Court in that case i.e. Lakshman Prasad v. State of Bihar : 1981 (Supp) SCC 22, contained in paragraph 3 of the judgment, are extracted below:-

"3. The central evidence against the appellant consisted of the testimony of PWs 1 and 2 who were the servants of complainant PW 4 Baijnath Prasad. It appears from the evidence that Baijnath Prasad was a rich business man of the locality and the accused-appellant Lakshman Prasad was his next door neighbour having a double storey house. Both the courts below have accepted the prosecution case that a dacoity took place in the house of Baijnath Prasad in the course of which cash and other articles were stolen away. In the instant case, counsel for the appellant has not challenged this finding of the courts below. We are also satisfied that a dacoity undoubtedly took place in the house of Baijnath Prasad. The only question that falls for consideration is whether or not the appellant participated in the crime. PWs 1, 2 and 4 have supported the prosecution case that the appellant clearly participated in the dacoity and was, in fact, the leader of the dacoits. After going through their evidence, we do find that there is some amount of consistency in their evidence but mere congruity or consistency are not the sole test of truth. Sometimes even falsehood is given an adroit appearance of truth, so that truth disappears and falsehood comes on the surface. This appears to be one of these cases. There are many inherent improbabilities in the prosecution case so far as the participation of appellant is concerned. In the first place, admittedly the appellant was a respectable man in the sense that he was possessed of sufficient means and was a well-known homeopath doctor and also the neighbour of the complainant. In this view of the matter, it is difficult to believe that he would commit dacoity in the house of his own neighbour and that too in the early hours of the evening, so that he may be caught any moment and take the risk of a conviction under Section 395 Indian Penal Code. Secondly, the evidence of the complainant PW 4 clearly shows that the dacoits had no doubt concealed their identify but they did it in such a way that their faces were visible. Indeed, if the appellant had participated in the dacoity and took the precaution of concealing his identity, then he would have seen to it that his face was fully covered so that identification by the complainant or the witnesses would become impossible. If he was a dare-devil, then he would not have concealed his identity at all. Thirdly, FIR having been lodged the same evening the police visited the house of the appellant next morning and found him there. If the appellant had really participated in the dacoity, he would have at least made himself scarce. The house of the accused was also searched and nothing incriminating was at all found. Finally, there was the important circumstance that in view of a dispute between complainant Baijnath Prasad and the appellant, there was a clear possibility of the appellant having been falsely implicated due to enmity. The complainant himself admits that there is a boundary wall around the house of the appellant and there is a road which runs to the east of his house and the mill of the complainant is situated to the west of the house. There is evidence of DW 2 that there has been some dispute between Baijnath Prasad and accused Lakshman Prasad two or three years before the occurrence of dacoity in respect of a passage near the house of accused Lakshman Prasad through which he used to go to his mill. The evidence of DW 2 does support what the complainant has himself admitted. The gravest provocation which the complainant must have felt was the fact that Lakshman Prasad bought a piece of land near his house from Kishori Lall, the nephew of Baijnath Prasad. This is proved by Ex. Kha and the evidence of DW 4. The High Court also observed that the sale-deed executed by the nephew of the complainant in favour of the appellant was executed only a month before this occurrence. This therefore furnishes an immediate motive for the false implication of the appellant. Another important circumstance which seems to have been overlooked by the courts below is that PW 4 has clearly admitted in his evidence at page 44 of the paper-book that immediately after the occurrence, a number of people near the mosque assembled, of whom he recognized Suba Raut and Moti Raut, but they never came to his help. The witness also says that when he came from the west, he saw 40 to 50 persons at a little distance, including Ganesh Raut, Achhelal, Mathura Ram and Rameshwar. Obviously, if an occurrence of dacoity had taken place in the early hours of the evening, the near neighbours must have assembled and yet none of these neighbour have been examined to support the complainant's version that the appellant has participated in the occurrence. It seems to us that the reason why these persons did not choose to support the complainant was that perhaps the appellant had been falsely implicated and hence the persons who had assembled may not have relished the idea of supporting the complainant if he had gone to the extent of falsely implicating the appellant in the dacoity. These intrinsic circumstances speak volumes against the prosecution case and raise considerable amount of suspicion in our minds regarding the complicity of the appellant in the dacoity. It is well settled that while witnesses may lie, circumstances do not.

26. From the observations of the apex court, extracted above, what becomes clear is that mere consistency or congruity in the testimony of the prosecution witnesses is not the sole test of truth as even falsehood can be given an adroit appearance of truth, so that truth disappears and falsehood comes on the surface. Therefore, what the court has to look at, and assess, is whether the prosecution evidence coupled with the surrounding circumstances has a ring of truth about it or there arises a strong suspicion and high probability of false implication of the accused put on trial. Bearing this in mind, when we embark upon the exercise to assess the prosecution evidence, we find that, no doubt, on record, the prosecution case is instituted on a prompt first information report and is supported by testimony of a person injured but, interestingly, no one disputes the factum of dacoity in the village on that fateful night. What is disputed is the accused-appellants being part of the gang of dacoits. When we see the evidence in this light, we find that the prosecution evidence is completely silent as to what the accused-appellants did at the time of dacoity. Except in the statement of one witness (i.e. PW-1) that Bhagwan Singh was carrying a gun and he fired a shot, there is no disclosure about the role of any of the accused appellants save that, that they were noticed. In fact, PW-1 who deposed about that, in the FIR, which was lodged by him and with which he was confronted, made no such disclosure. Even in respect of gunshot alleged to have been fired by Bhagwan Singh, it is not disclosed as to whom it was aimed at and who sustained what injury from it. Importantly, two persons were reported to have been examined for their injuries, one is PW-4 and the other is Champa Devi. Champa Devi has not been examined as a witness and PW-4 has sustained incised wounds, the author of which has not been disclosed by him. Interestingly, the only witness (i.e. PW-3) with whom the accused-appellants had no enmity and whose house was also looted, does not support the prosecution case either with respect to the number of dacoits who participated in the dacoity or in respect of their identity. Further, we find that there is no recovery of any incriminating material from any of the accused-appellants to lend credence to the accusation against them. Another important feature that we notice from the testimony of the prosecution witnesses is that various houses in the village were looted and after the dacoits had left, the villagers had collected at one place. This suggests that there were independent witnesses also who were affected by the dacoity but the prosecution deliberately chose not to examine them. When we see all of this, coupled with the fact that the accused-appellants are residents of the same village where the dacoity had been committed yet, they chose not to cover their faces and nothing incriminating has been recovered from them, as also that all the accused do not appear to be of the same family or of the same village, it gives us a feeling that the dacoity in the village has been taken as an opportunity to falsely implicate the accused with whom the informant and the prosecution witnesses of fact except PW-3, who was declared hostile, had strong enmity.

27. At this stage, we may observe that the trial court has laid great emphasis on the first information report being promptly lodged. In this case we have noticed from the original record of the trial court that various recovery/ custody memos, namely, Exb. Ka-2, Exb. Ka-3, Exb. Ka-8, Exb. Ka-9, and Exb. Ka-11, all dated 17.05.1980, bear no details of the case i.e. crime number, in respect of which those memos were prepared. No doubt, there are other memos also, namely, Exb. Ka-12, Exb. Ka-13, Exb. Ka-14 and Exb. Ka-15 that bear the details of the case but those appear to be in a different handwriting than the other exhibits, noticed above. Importantly, the Chitthi Majroobi (Exb. Ka-5 and Exb. Ka-6), under which the injured got themselves examined at the PHC, bear no case details. We may also notice that though the genuineness of the Chitthi Majroobi (Exb. Ka-5 and Exb. Ka-6) has been admitted by the defence but admission of its genuineness would not amount to accepting it as having been prepared after registration of the case. Interestingly, the medical examination of Champa Devi is of 2 pm on 17.5.1980 against a Chitthi Majroobi dated 16.05.1980 which bears no details of the case. Importantly, the first investigating officer of the case and the constable clerk, who prepared the Chik FIR, allegedly on oral dictation of the informant, have not been examined therefore, in our view, merely because the defence did not question the police witness (PW-6) on the issue whether the first information report was ante-timed or not, it would not absolve the prosecution of its responsibility to prove its case beyond reasonable doubt.

28. On the analysis above, though we agree with the finding of the trial court in respect of commission of dacoity in the village on that fateful night but we are of the considered view that the prosecution has failed to establish beyond reasonable doubt that the accused - appellants were part of the gang of dacoits that committed dacoity in the village. Rather, we have a strong suspicion, based on the facts of the case, the informant has taken the commission of dacoity in the village as an opportunity to falsely implicate persons with whom he had enmity i.e. the appellants along with other unknown dacoits including one Gajram who has been ascribed causing of gunshot injury to the deceased. The above suspicion could have been dispelled if the prosecution had produced independent witnesses i.e. non-inimical victims of the dacoity to disclose the involvement of the applicants or had proved their involvement by recovery of looted articles or other incriminating material connecting the appellants with the crime. Admittedly, there is no recovery of any incriminating material from the accused- appellants and the only independent witness of fact, namely, PW-3, did not depose with regard to the involvement of the accused-appellants. Even the other prosecution witnesses of fact have not been able to demonstrate beyond reasonable doubt that as part of the gang of dacoits, the accused-appellants participated in the dacoity, either, by lifting or looting articles or, by causing injury to any of the victims. No doubt, we are conscious of the legal position that being part of a gang of dacoits, while the act of dacoity is on, is sufficient to make a member of that bunch of dacoits, present there, liable for conviction, but, here, the issue is whether, the appellants were a part of that bunch of dacoits or not, therefore, to test whether they were a part or not, we have taken notice of the aspects discussed above. Further, the investigating officer of the case has not been examined to explain non mentioning of the case details in the Chhitthi Majroobi as well as various memos prepared during investigation so as to enable us to be completely satisfied in respect of prompt lodging of the FIR. Further, the police clerk who registered the FIR was not produced as a witness.

29. For all the reasons above, we are of the considered view that the appellants are entitled to the benefit of doubt. Consequently, the appeal deserves to be allowed and is consequently allowed qua the surviving appellants i.e. appellant no.2 (Mohar Singh son of Nathu); appellant no.5 (Bhagwan Singh son of Happu); appellant no.6 (Rajendra son of Happu); and appellant no.7 (Rajpal son of Khannu). The judgment and order of the trial court qua the surviving appellants (supra) is hereby set aside. All the surviving appellants (supra) are acquitted of the charges for which they have been tried. They are reported to be on bail, they need not surrender and their bail bonds are discharged, subject to compliance of the provisions of Section 437A Cr.P.C. to the satisfaction of the court below.

30. Let a copy of this order be sent to the trial court for information and compliance.

E. A public servant employed in the Police cannot be said to be untrustworthy unless he has any reason to implicate the accused falsely.

F. Quality of evidence should be weighed over quantity of evidence.

G. Mere fact that it is not established that the recovered weapon was used in the commission of offence, in itself cannot be made the base for discarding the testimony of reliable eye witnesses.

H. Where the appellants came together and demanded money, on refusal threatened to kill and went away, came back armed with lathi and tamancha and on exhortation of one, other fired upon the deceased then this conduct of the appellants shows their common intention to commit murder in furtherance of their pre arranged plan and as such be liable for the criminal act done by one of them with the aid of Section 34 I.P.C. Appeal dismissed.

Appeal dismissed. (E-11)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Subhash Chandra Sharma, J.)

1. These criminal appeals emanate from the judgment and order dated 21.12.2005 passed by the learned IInd Additional Sessions Judge, Court No. 1, Mirzapur in Session Trial No. 52 of 2004 (State Vs. Shiv Kumar @ Pinku and another) arising out of Case Crime No. 12 of 2004, under Section 302 read with Section 34 IPC, Police Station Kotwali City, District Mirzapur, whereby appellants Shiv Kumar @ Pinku and Bachcha Pandey @ Subhas have been convicted and sentenced under Section 302/34 IPC with life imprisonment and fine of Rs.5,000/- each. In default of payment of fine, the appellants have to undergo additional imprisonment for a period of six months.

2. The prosecution case in brief is that on 15.01.2004, at about 9.05 p.m., an F.I.R. was lodged at the police Station Kotwali City, District Mirzapur by informant Om Prakash s/o Harishankar r/o Meer Sahab Ki Gali, Kotwali City, Mirzapur by filing a written report stating therein that while his brother Sunil Kumar was sitting with his wife in the room located at the back side of his house, at about 8.30 p.m, Shiv Kumar @ Pinku s/o Lakshman and Bachcha Pandey @ Subhas s/o Vishwambhar Pandey r/o Muhalla Imamganj Babhaiya, Mirzapur came there and demanded money. On refusal, they threatened to kill him and went away. In the meantime, hearing noise, his father Harishankar came into the room. Further, at about 8.45 p.m., Shiv Kumar @ Pinku and Bachcha Pandey again came to the house with countrymade pistol and on exhortation of Bachcha Pandey, Shiv Kumar @ Pinku shot fire at his brother Sunil Kumar who had died on the spot. Both the accused fled away on their making hue and cry. There was electric light inside and outside of the house. Dead body of his brother was lying on the spot. Tahreer was scribed by Moolchand s/o Nanhakuram r/o Kotwali City, District Mirzapur.

3. S.S.I. R.D. Kaithal was handed-over the investigation of the case who along with other officials went to the place of occurrence where he conducted the inquest of the body of deceased Sunil Kumar and got the inquest report prepared by S.I. Jitendra Pratap Singh at his own instance and also got prepared other papers required for the purposes of post-mortem. Dead body was sealed and handed over to constable Kedar Rai and home guard Subedar who brought it to the mortuary, District Hospital, Mirzapur.

4. The post-mortem was conducted on 16.01.2004 at about 1.30 p.m. It is mentioned in the post-mortem report that body brought by constable C.P. Kedar Rai and home guard Subedar was received in sealed cloth which tallied with the sample seal. The external condition of the body as described therein is as under:

Average built body. Rigor mortis present.

Antemortem Injury:(1) Fire arm wound of entry of 2.5 c.m. X 1.5 c.m. Oval on shape margins are charred and inverted present over right perieto temporal region of skull, .5 c.m. above from right tragus. (2) Fracture of right occipitoparietal bone with bone loss present. (3) Cross fracture of right occipital bone present. (4) one bullet recovered from the brain matters. (5) Clotted blood with ruptured brain matter found after opening skull.

Cause of death was shock and hemorrhage as result of ante-mortem injuries.

5. During the investigation, accused-appellant Shiv Kumar @ Pinku was arrested by the police from Janhavi Tiraha at about 12.30 o'clock on 19.01.2004. On interrogation, appellant Shiv Kumar @ Pinku disclosed that he had hidden countrymade pistol at a place in Pakki Sarai at the time of running away from the place of occurrence which he could recover. At his instance, a countrymade pistol was recovered from the southwest corner near the Indra Ghandi Park located at Pakki Sarai at about 13.40 O'clock. Country-made pistol was taken into custody by the police and recovery memo was prepared on the spot by S.S.I. Jitendra Kumar in the presence of the witnesses.

6. The investigating Officer visited the place of occurrence and prepared site plan Ext. Ka-14 relating to the place where incident took place and also the site plan relating to the place from where countrymade pistol was recovered at the instance of appellant Shiv Kumar @ Pinku as Ext. Ka-15. He recorded the statements of witnesses conversant to the facts of the case. Thereafter, the investigation was handed-over to Inspector Mahendra Pratap Shukla who took over the investigation on 30.01.2004 and collected report from F.S.L. Ext. Ka-13 & 16, and concluded the investigation, found the case prima facie made out under Section 302 IPC and after preparing the charge sheet submitted it to the court concerned.

7. Learned Chief Judicial Magistrate took cognizance of the offences and provided copies of prosecution papers in compliance of Section 207 Cr.P.C. to appellants and committed the case to the court of session for trial.

8. The trial court after taking into consideration the material on record, framed the charges against appellants under Section 302 read with Section 34 IPC. The charges were read-over and explained to the appellants, they pleaded not guilty and denied the charges and claimed for trial. Consequently, the case was fixed for prosecution evidence.

9. In support of its case, the prosecution examined P.W.1 Om Prakash, the first informant and brother of deceased; P.W.2 Hari Shankar eye witness of the incident and father of deceased; P.W.3 S.I. Virendra Pratap Singh who prepared inquest report and other relevant papers; P.W.4 Dr. Ramesh Singh Thakur who conducted post-mortem of the body; P.W.5 constable Gajendra Pratap Singh who prepared chik F.I.R. and entered the detail in G.D; P.W. 6 S.I. Mahendra Pratap Shukla the investigating officer who submitted the charge sheet and P.W. 7 S.I. R.D. Kaithal the 1st Investigating Officer of the case who had arrested the appellant Shiv Kumar @ Pinku and made recovery of pistol at his instance.

10. On conclusion of prosecution evidence, statements of accused persons were recorded under Section 313 Cr.P.C. wherein appellant Shiv Kumar @ Pinku asserted the incident and statements of witnesses relating thereto to be false. He further stated that there was a dispute with informant Om Prakash relating to partition on account of which he was implicated falsely. Likewise appellant Bachcha Pandey @ Subhas also asserted the incident and statements of prosecution witnesses to be false and he having been implicated falsely by the informant.

11. In defence, no evidence was adduced on the part of appellants.

12. After hearing the arguments of the team of appellants as well as the State, learned trial court passed the order dated 21.12.2005 convicting the appellants as aforesaid. Hence this appeal.

13. Heard Shri Prakash Dwivedi, learned Advocate for appellant Shiv Kumar @ Pinku and as Amicus Curiae for appellant Bachcha Pandey @ Subhas in the connected appeals and Shri Rupak Chaubey, learned A.G.A. for State and perused the record.

14. Learned counsel for the appellants submits that the impugned judgment and order of conviction is bad in law being against the evidence available on record. Learned trial court has erred in convicting the appellants without proper appreciating the evidence. The prosecution could not prove its case with cogent and reliable evidence and the learned trial court has decided this case wrongfully. The appellants are innocent. They have not committed any offence as alleged against them. There are material contradictions in the statements of witnesses. Informant is the brother of the deceased and P.W. 2 being father is also an interested witness. Time between the occurrence and F.I.R. is too short which makes the prosecution story highly doubtful. The scribe of F.I.R. Moolchand had not been examined. No blood was collected from the place of occurrence by the Investigating Officer which makes the place of occurrence doubtful. No motive to commit the murder of the deceased has been assigned. The wife of the deceased who was also said to be present in the room where murder took place had not been examined. There is no independent witness account. It is submitted that the recovery of countrymade pistol though has been shown but there was no public witness to prove the recovery. In this way the prosecution could not prove its case beyond reasonable doubt. The appellants, therefore, are entitled to acquittal.

15. Learned A.G.A. opposed the contentions raised by the learned counsel for the appellants and submitted that in this case, the informant as well as P.W. 2 both were present on the spot and they have narrated the whole prosecution story. They are eye-witnesses and, therefore, motive looses its importance. Further it is not necessary to adduce a number of witnesses. Even on the testimony of sole witness conviction can be sustained. The contradictions in the testimony of witnesses are minor in nature, and hence are immaterial. During the post-mortem, a bullet was recovered from the body of deceased Sunil Kumar. It was sent for the forensic examination. As per the report, it is established that the countrymade pistol which was recovered at the instance of accused-appellant Pinku, was used in the commission of murder of the deceased. In this way, the prosecution had proved its case beyond reasonable doubt against the appellants. Learned trial court has passed the judgment and order on the basis of evidence on record. There is no error of fact or law. These appeals being devoid of merit are liable to be dismissed.

16. From the submissions and perusal of record, the following questions emerge for consideration of this Court as to whether motive is absent. The witnesses being relatives and no independent witnesses having been examined would have adverse effect on the prosecution case. Whether the alleged material contradictions in the testimony of witnesses make it unreliable. Further, whether the appellants have been implicated due to enmity with the first informant and police.

17. Before we deal with the contentions raised by the learned counsel for the appellants, it would be convenient to take note of the evidence adduced by the prosecution.

18. P.W. 1 Om Prakash is the informant and brother of the deceased, who deposed that on the day of the incident, i.e. 15.01.2004 at about 8.30 p.m., his brother Sunil Kumar was sitting in the room located at the back, western side of the house. Appellants Shiv Kumar @ Pinku and Bachcha Pandey @ Subhas came there from behind and demanded money from the deceased. When refused they became angry, threatened him to kill and went away. At that time the wife of the deceased and his father were also present. Again at about 8.45 p.m., appellants came at the same place. At that time, appellant Pinku was equipped with countrymade pistol and Bachcha Pandey with danda. Bachcha Pandey exhorted to fire at the deceased. On hearing this, Shiv Kumar @ Pinku opened fire at Sunil which stroke at his head and he died on the spot. Appellants went away in the lane with the countrymade pistol. It is stated by P.W. 1 that at the time of the incident, there was light of electric bulb inside and outside the room in which he had identified the appellants, who were residents of adjacent muhalla and that he knew them from before. He got tahreer written by Moolchand and made his signature on it after hearing its' contents which he proved as Ext. Ka-1.

This witness was subjected to gruel cross-examination by the learned counsel for appellants wherein this witness had not disclosed any such fact which weakens his testimony. He has affirmed the fact of firing made by appellant Shiv Kumar @ Pinku on the exhortation of Bachcha Pandey.

19. P.W. 2 Harishankar, father of the deceased had deposed that the incident occurred on 15.01.2004 at about 8.30 p.m. His son was sitting on the board (takath) on the back side of the room in the house where his wife Vinita and another son Om Prakash were also sitting, appellants Shiv Kumar @ Pinku and Bachcha Pandey came there and demanded money from his son while standing outside the window. When refused, they went away while threatening to kill. Again at about 8.45 p.m. both of the accused came there and Bachcha Pandey exhorted to shot fire at deceased at which appellant Shiv Kumar @ Pinku shot fire which stroke his son Sunil Kumar who died in the room. Appellants bolted the room from outside on account of which they could not chase them. There was light of electric bulb inside and outside the room in which he identified the appellants.

This witness has also been subjected to gruel cross-examination by the learned counsel for the appellants and during cross-examination he has again affirmed the account of the incident, the offence committed by the appellants. No such statement has been made by him so as to demolish his presence at the place of occurrence or that he could not identify the appellants.

20. Both these witnesses remained intact during the cross-examination. No such contradictions are visible in their statements which can make their testimony unreliable or unnatural. Minor contradictions are of cosmetic nature and not likely to affect the credibility of their testimony.

21. In the instant case, there is no enmity between the parties. They belong to adjacent locality. There cannot be any dispute about identification of the appellants. Though, the appellants have stated in their statements recorded under Section 313 Cr.P.C. that they had been implicated falsely on account of enmity but there is no suggestion of enmity during the cross-examination of the witnesses which might have adversely affected their reliability and become an excuse for implicating them falsely while absolving real culprits.

22. There is not an iota of evidence on record which may even remotely suggest that PW-1 & PW-2 had any grudge against the appellants or any cause to implicate them falsely.

23. Injuries on the person of deceased Sunil Kumar were caused by the firearm as stated by P.Ws. 1 & 2. Ext. Ka-9 is the post-mortem report wherein firearm wound was reported on the right parital temporal region of skull.

24. P.W. 4 Dr. Ramesh Singh Thakur has proved the injury and told that the injury was caused by firearm and opined that this injury was possible with a single fire. As per the estimation of the doctor, all the injuries were caused at about 8.45 p.m. in the night on 15.01.2004. He also opined that the cause of death was shock and hemorrhage due to antemortem injury. During the post-mortem, a bullet was recovered from the wound which was sealed by the doctor and was sent to F.S.L. by the Investigating Officer for forensic examination.

25. In this way, injuries found on the person of deceased Sunil Kumar were proved to have been caused with firearm at about 8.45 p.m. in the night on 15.1.2004 and this evidence corroborates the statements of P.Ws. 1 & 2 with regard to the manner of causing the injuries resulting into death. The eye-witnesses account, thus, finds corroboration from the medical evidence on record.

26. Countrymade pistol alleged to have been used in committing the offfence was recovered by the Investigating Officer S.S.I. R.D. Kaithal and recovery memo was prepared by S.I. Virendra Pratap Singh who had proved it during his examination as Material Exhibit-1. This countrymade pistol was also sent to F.S.L. with bullet, recovered from the person of deceased for ballistic examination regarding which ballistic reports from F.S.L. were obtained and proved as Ext. Ka-13 & 16 wherein it has been mentioned that during examination, it was found that on the piece of metal which was mentioned as bullet blood stains were seen and on micro chemical examination, fouling matters with remnants of firing lead and nitrate were found present and also in the barrel of countrymade pistol, the remnants of firing lead and nitrate were found.

27. There is no delay much less inordinate delay in lodging the F.I.R. The occurrence took place on 15.01.2004 at about 8.45 p.m. in the night and the F.I.R. was lodged on the same day at 21.05 hours (hrs), after 20 minutes at the police station concerned which was one furlong from the home of the informant. It cannot be said to be delayed. A question raised by the learned counsel for appellants that the time in lodging the F.I.R. after occurrence was too short to be sustained in view of distance between the house of the informant and the police station concerned, i.e. one furlong only.

28. P.W. 5 constable Nagendra Pratap Singh has proved the chik F.I.R. on the basis of Tahreer Ext. Ka-1. He stated that on 15.01.2004 he was posted at the police station concerned as constable muharrir. On the basis of tahreer given by the informant, he prepared the Chik F.I.R. in his handwriting and signature and also made entry of it in the G.D. which he proved as Ext. Ka-10 & 11. P.W. 5 further stated that the special report was also sent on the same day on 15.01.2004 at about 22.15 hrs through G.D. No. 43.

29. At this point, the learned counsel for appellants highlighted that scribe of the tehreer, Moolchand had not been examined, therefore, the F.I.R. cannot be said to have been proved. In this regard, it is to note that non-examination of scribe is not fatal to the case of the prosecution and no adverse inference can be drawn against the prosecution, since the scribe was not an eye witness to the incident and the complainant/informant had proved the execution of the F.I.R. by examining himself as P.W.1.

30. In the case of Moti Lal Vs. State of U.P. 2009(7) Supreme 632, the Apex Court has ruled that the non-examination of scribe of the F.I.R. is not fatal to the prosecution case. Likewise in the case of Anil Kumar Vs. State of U.P. (2003)3 SCC 569 where scribe of the F.I.R. who was not an eye-witness, was not examined, the Apex Court observed that there was no necessity to examine him. He could have thrown no light on the prosecution case, therefore, no prejudice can be said to have been caused to the appellants. Thus, this submission of the learned counsel is not acceptable to us.

31. P.W. 7 S.S.I. R.D. Kaithal proved the stages of the investigation. He had arrested the appellant Shiv Kumar @ Pinku from Janhavi Tiraha near Sulabh Complex on 19.01.2004 at about 12.30 p.m. On query the accused disclosed about the place where he concealed the countrymade pistol and it was recovered from southern-west corner at Pakki Sarai at his pointing out. P.W.7 prepared the recovery memo which he proved as Ext. Ka-8 and also the site plan as Ext. Ka-15.

32. P.W.6 S.I. Mahendra Pratap Shukla took over the investigation from S.S.I. R.D. Kaithal on 30.1.2004 who proved the F.S.L. report as Ext. Ka-13 & 16, concluded the investigation and submitted the charge sheet.

33. P.W.3 S.I. Virendra Pratap Singh who followed S.S.I./I.O. R.D. Kaithal on 15.01.2004 and went on the spot, prepared inquest on the dictation of S.S.I. R.D. Kaithal along with other essential papers which he proved as Ext. Ka-2 to 7. Ext. Ka-2, the inquest report disclosed that the dead body of deceased was found on the floor in front of the house of the informant. P.W. 3 has also stated during cross-examination that the dead body of deceased was lying on the floor in front of the house of the informant where he had prepared the inquest report. In this regard, P.W. 2 has stated during the examination-in-chief and even in the cross-examination that the appellants shot fire at the deceased while he was sitting on the board (takhat) inside the room located at the backside of the house. After the incident, he took Sunil Kumar to the hospital where doctor declared him brought dead. In this way, it cannot be said that the deceased was not shot by the appellants in the room located at the backside of the house. It is natural that the family members of the victim would try their best to save his life and in that effort so they took the injured to the hospital in the hope of life. In such a situation, it cannot be said that the incident did not take place in the room where it has been said to have taken place and as shown in Ext. Ka-14. The place where dead body was lying at the time of inquest was also the floor in front of the house, it, therefore, cannot be said that the place of occurrence was not situated at the house of the deceased as asserted by the prosecution witnesses namely P.W. 1 & P.W. 2.

34. Learned counsel has also drawn attention of this Court towards the fact that no blood stained and plain soil was collected from the place of occurrence by the Investigating Officer at the time of inquest which makes the place of occurrence doubtful. In this regard, it can be said that firearm injury was found on the head of the deceased. Blood oozed out of the wound and it was soaked in the clothes worn by the deceased. The clothes were taken into custody and sent to F.S.L. for examination. As per F.S.L. report, as Ext. Ka-13, all the clothes namely shirt, baniyan, underwear, pant and kalawa etc. worn by the deceased were found blood stained. In the situation, where the deceased was taken to the hospital by his inmates after the incident and brought back from the hospital to his home and he was laid on the floor outside the house, presence of blood on the said floor does not seen to be possible. On the basis of this fact that no blood stained and plain soil was collected from the place of occurrence by the Investigating Officer during investigation, the testimony regarding the place of occurrence as deposed by P.W. 1 & P.W. 2 cannot be falsified. In this regard, the contention of the learned counsel for the appellants is not acceptable.

35. Further the attention of this Court has also been drawn towards the absence of motive to commit murder. He urged that the prosecution had failed to prove motive on the part of the appellants to commit the crime.

36. It is true that there is no mention of motive in the F.I.R. about the commission of murder of deceased Sunil Kumar. Even PW-1 and PW-2 have also not disclosed anything that became the root cause of committing murder by the appellants except the demand of money by the appellants from the deceased and refusal on his part but there is no such principle or rule of law that where the prosecution fails to prove motive for commission of the crime, it must necessarily result in acquittal of the accused. Where occular evidence is found to be trustworthy and reliable and finds corroboration from the medical evidence, a finding of guilt can safely be recorded even if the motive for the commission of crime has not been proved.

37. In State of Himachal Pradesh Vs. Jeet Singh 1999 (38) ACC 550 SC, it was held that no doubt it is a sound principle to remember that every criminal act was done with a motive but it's corollary is not that no offence was committed if the prosecution failed to prove the precise motive of the accused to commit it as it is almost an impossibility for the prosecution to unravel full dimension of the mental deposition of an offender towards the person whom he offended.

38. In Nathuni Yadav and others vs. State of Bihar and others 1997 (34) ACC 576, it was held that motive for committing a criminal act, is generally a difficult area for prosecution as one cannot normally see into the mind of another. Motive is the emotion which impels a man to do a particular act and such impelling cause unnecessarily need not be proportionately grave to grave crimes. It was further held that many murders have been committed without any known or prominent motive and it is quite possible that the aforesaid impelling factor would remain undiscoverable.

39. In the case of Thaman Kumar vs. State of Union Territory of Chandigarh 2003 (47) ACC 7 the Hon'ble Apex Court has reiterated the same view after taking into consideration the aforementioned cases.

40. In the case of Baitulla and another Vs. State of U.P. AIR 1997 SC 3946 where occurrence took place in broad day light and spoken to by the eye-witness and the same was supported by Medical Report, it will not be necessary to investigate the motive behind such commission of offence.

41. This Court has also made such observations in the case of Rameshwar and others vs. State 2003 (46) ACC 581 that when there is direct evidence, the motive was not important. Likewise in the case of State of Haryana vs. Sher Singh and others 1981 Cr. Ruling 317 SC it has been held that the prosecution is not bound to prove the motive, more so, when crime is proved by direct evidence.

42. In our opinion, in the facts and circumstances of the present case, the absence of an evidence on the point of motive cannot have any such impact so as to discard the other reliable evidence available on record which certainly establishes the guilt of the accused.

43. The next limb of argument of the learned counsel for the appellants is that the prosecution had examined highly interested and related witnesses and it had not produced any independent witness in support of its case. No doubt the witnesses of fact examined in the case are real brother and father of the deceased but Relationship itself is not a ground to reject the testimony of the witnesses, rather the law is that a relative would be the last person to leave the real culprit and falsely implicate any other person.

44. In the case of Brahm Swaroop and another vs. State of U.P. (2011) 6 SCC 288 the Hon'ble Apex Court in Para No.21 has observed as under:-

"merely because the witnesses were related to the deceased persons, their testimonies cannot be discarded. Their relationship to one of the parties is not a factor that affects the credibility of a witness, more so, a relation would not conceal the real culprit and make allegations against an innocent person. A party has to lay down a factual foundation and prove by leading impeccable evidence in respect of its false implication. However, in such cases the Court has to adopt a careful approach and analyse the evidence to find out whether it is cogent and credible evidence."

45. The Court also referred cases of Dalip and others vs. State of Punjab A.I.R. (1953) SC 364; Masalti vs. State of U.P. (A.I.R.) 1965 SC 202.

46. In Masalti vs. State of U.P. (A.I.R.) 1965 SC 202, the Hon'ble Apex Court observed in Para No.14

"but it would, we think, be unreasonably to contend that evidence given by witnesses should be discarded only on the ground that it is evidence of partisan or interested witnesses. The mechanical rejection of such evidence on sole ground that it's partisan would invariably lead to failure of justice. No hard and fast rule can be laid down as to how much evidence should be appreciated. Judicial approach has to be cautious in dealing with such evidence; but the plea that such evidence should be rejected because it's partisan cannot be accepted as correct.

47. It is common knowledge that village (mohalla) life is faction ridden and involvement of one or the other in the incidents is not unusual. One has also to be cautious about the fact that wholly independent witnesses are seldom available or are otherwise not inclined to come forward, lest they may invite trouble for themselves for future. Therefore, relationship of eye-witnesses inter se, cannot be a ground to discard their testimony. There is no reason to presume the false implication of the appellants at the instance of the eye-witnesses. It would also be illogical to think that the witnesses would screen the real culprits and substitute the appellants for them.

48. Normally, independent persons do not intervene in the matters of others due to fear or a number of circumstances and relatives and family members only make courage to depose regarding the occurrence because they are the worse sufferers. In the case of Krishna Mochi Vs. State of Bihar (2002) 6 SE81, the following observation has been made by the Hon'ble Apex Court.

It is matter of common experience that in recent times there has been sharp decline of ethical values in public life even in developed countries much less developing one, like ours, where the ratio of decline is higher. Even in ordinary cases, witnesses are not inclined to depose or their evidence is not found to be credible by courts for manifold reasons. One of the reasons may be that they do not have courage to depose against an accused because of threats to their life, more so when the offenders are habitual criminals or high-ups in the Government or close to powers, which may be political, economic or other powers including muscle power.

49. Further argument that P.W.1 and P.W. 2 have stated that the wife of deceased was also present in the room where the incident took place but she had not been examined by the prosecution. In this regard, it is to note that it is the discretion of the prosecution to adduce the evidence which it thinks proper in the circumstances of the case. Section 134 of Indian Evidence Act does not require the specific number of witnesses to be adduced to prove the case but even the testimony of single witness if found to be trustworthy and reliable, conviction can be based. In other words, for conviction quality of evidence is required and not the quantity. In the instant case, the incident took place in the presence of P.W.1 and P.W.2 in the same room. They were produced by the prosecution before the Court and have proved the case, so it is not the requirement of law that all the witnesses be produced. In this way, non-production of the wife of deceased in the witness box, does not affect the credibility of testimony of P.W.1 and P.W. 2 and no adverse inference can be drawn in this regard.

50. So far as the submissions of the learned counsel regarding contradictions in the testimony of the prosecution witnesses, it is to note that contradictions in the statements of witnesses must be material contradictions. If they are minor in nature, the testimony of witnesses cannot be discarded.

51. In the case of Asha Vs. State of Rajasthan, AIR 1997 SCC 2828 where some minor contradictions in the statements of witnesses were found, it was observed that some trivial contradictions in nature are to be ignored.

52. In the present case, P.W. 2 had stated that deceased Sunil Kumar was taken to the hospital after the incident where he was declared dead by the doctor and P.W. 1 stated that the incident took place in the room and deceased died on the spot and his dead body was lying there. These statements of the eye-witnesses are self contradictory. It is evident from the testimony of P.Ws. 1 and 2 that after the incident took place, P.W. 1 went to the police station to lodge the F.I.R. just after the incident and P.W. 2 remained in the house with other inmantes who took the deceased to the hospital. As at that time, P.W. 1 was not present, it cannot be expected from him to know about the fact that whether deceased Sunil Kumar was taken to the hospital by P.W. 2 and other inmates. This contradiction in the statements of both the witnesses is natural and do not strike at the very root of their statements about the fact of incident rather this makes the witnesses more truthful and trustworthy.

53. Learned counsel for the appellants has also argued that except police personnel no other public witness was brought at the time of recovery of country-made pistol at the instance of appellant Shiv Kumar @ Pinku, which makes the recovery doubtful. In this regard, the statement of the Investigating Officer/P.W.7 S.S.I. R.D. Kaithal is relevant where he stated that he tried to trace public witness at the time of recovery but no one was ready to come forward. It is natural that no person wants to become a witness against criminals in the society. On the other hand, a public servant employed in the police cannot be said to be untrustworthy unless he has any reason to implicate the accused falsely.

54. In the case Kashmiri Lal Vs. State of Haryana (2001)1 SCC652 the Hon'ble Apex Court has laid down that thus apart, there is no absolute command of law that the police officers cannot be cited as witnesses and their testimony should always be treated with suspicion. Ordinarily, the public at large show their disinclination to come forward to become witnesses. If the testimony of the police officer is found to be reliable and trustworthy, the court can definitely act upon the same. If in the course of scrutinising the evidence, the court finds the evidence of the police officer as unreliable and untrustworthy, the court may disbelieve him but it should not do so solely on the presumption that a witness from the department of police should be viewed with distrust. This is also based on the principle of quality of the evidence weighed over the quantity of evidence.

55. In this case, there was no suggestion of any enmity with the Investigating Officer on account of which it could be said that he made false recovery and implicated the accused falsely. It is noteworthy that the countrymade pistol recovered at the instance of appellant Shiv Kumar @ Pinku and the bullet found in the body of the deceased at the time of the post-mortem were sent to F.S.L. for the ballistic examination wherein firing remnanats of lead and nitrate were found to be present yet this does not affirm the use of the countrymade pistol recovered at the instance of appellants in commission of the murder of the deceased Sunil Kumar, but absence of public witness at the time of recovery does not make the recovery false and fabricated. Here it is noteworthy that there was single entry wound on the head of the deceased and a bullet was also recovered by the doctor from the brain matter of the deceased but the country-made pistol recovered at the instance of appellant Shiv Kumar @ Pinku was 12 bore wherein ordinarily cartridge is used. In the usual way, the use of bullet cannot be said to be possible in the tamancha (countrymade pistol) of 12 bore. No opinion, in this regard has been given by the ballistic expert also. Thus, it cannot be said to be established that the recovered weapon was used in the commission of the crime. Mere fact that it is not established that the recovered countrymade pistol was used in causing the murder, in itself cannot be made the base for discarding the reliable testimony of the eye witnesses, of those who had seen the incident and identified the appellants while making fire on the deceased.

56. The appellant Shiv Kumar @ Pinku in his Section 313 Cr.P.C. stated, asserted that the police had implicated him in several cases so he had also been implicated by the police on account of enmity as also Om Prakash, the first informant. He further stated that the deceased was conducting business of selling ganja due to which he had enmity with other ganja sellers. Amongst them, one was Vijay Kasera resident of the Mohalla who poured acid on the deceased in which case he was also convicted and hence was trying to kill him. Likewise, Bachcha Pandey has stated that the informant had implicated him falsely. Though, the appellants stated that they had been implicated falsely on account of enmity but no instance of enmity with the informant or the deceased had been disclosed by them. Even, during the cross-examination of P.W. 1 and P.W. 2 no such fact has been brought on the part of the appellants by way of suggestion to discern any enmity. The contentions of the appellants regarding enmity, thus, do not get support from any material on record. Further, when there was no enmity with the family of the deceased it is not understandable as to why would they implicate the accused falsely while absolving the real culprits. Furthermore, in case, the statements of appellant Shiv Kumar @ Pinku about enmity with one Vijay Kasera is accepted, then there was no question with the informant to implicate the accused falsely while absolving the real assailant namely, Vijay Kasera. The statements made by the appellants in this regard do not go in their favour and do not prove to be a good defence.

57. The testimony of P.W.1 and P.W.2, the eye-witnesses of the incident who had identified the appellants in the electric light and also knew them from before being resident of the adjacent Muhalla, is found to be unshakable. They are natural witnesses of the incident which took place in their house at about 8.30 & 8.45 p.m. where presence of other persons was not possible.

58. So far as the liability of appellant Bachcha Pandey is concerned, he is said to have exhorted to shoot the deceased. Both the appellants came together at the house of deceased and made a demand for money from him. On refusal, they threatened to kill him and went away at about 8.30 P.M. They both came again there at 8.45 P.M. with lathi and tamancha. On the exhortation of appellant Bachcha Pandey, appellant Shiv Kumar @ Pinku made fire pointing at the head of deceased, they both then went away together through the backside lane. This conduct of the appellants shows their common intention to commit murder of deceased Sunil Kumar in furtherance of their prearranged plan. They are, therefore, liable for the criminal act done by one of them with the aid of Section 34 I.P.C.

59. Having given our due considerations to the submissions advanced by the learned counsel for the parties, we are of the firm opinion that the prosecution has succeeded in establishing its case against the appellants beyond any shadow of doubt and the view taken by the learned Sessions Judge does not suffer from any infirmity.

60. In the result, the appeals lack merit and are hereby dismissed.

61. Since, appellant Shiv Kumar @ Pinku is in jail, he will serve out the remaining period of sentence and appellant

Bachcha Pandey @ Subhas is on bail, he shall taken into custody and sent to jail to serve the sentence.

62. The copy of this judgment alongwith the original record of the Court below be transmitted to the Court concerned for necessary compliance. A compliance report be sent to this Court within one month. The office is directed to keep the compliance report on record.

APPELLATE JURISDICTION
CRIMINAL SIDE

BEFORE

THE HON'BLE RAMESH SINHA, J.
THE HON'BLE MRS. SAROJ YADAV, J.

Criminal Appeal No. 1104 of 2009
Connected with
Criminal Appeal No. 1105 of 2009

Kamlesh @ Ghora ...Appellant
Versus
State of U.P. ...Respondent

Counsel for the Appellant:
I.B. Singh, Krishna Kumar Singh, Nisar Ahmad

Counsel for the Respondent:
Govt. Advocate

A. Criminal Law - Indian Penal Code,1860 - Sections 302 & 34 - The appeal against conviction can be disposed of on merits only after hearing the appellants or his counsel and when there is no representation for the appellant, it is the duty of the appellate court to appoint another counsel as Amicus Curiae to defend the accused-appellant.

B. Criminal Law – Evidence Act, 1872 - Section 118 - Evidence of the child witness and his credibility depends upon the facts and circumstances of each case. There is no rule of practice, but as a prudence, the court always finds it desirable to seek corroboration to evidence of a child witness. The only precaution which the court has to bear in mind while assessing such evidence is that witness must be a reliable one.

C. It is unreasonable to expect from a witness to give picture perfect report of the incident and minor discrepancies in their statements have to be ignored.

D. In case of direct evidence and the ocular testimony of the eye witness being found to be trustworthy, reliable and cogent it will not be necessary for the prosecution to prove the motive for the crime.

Appeal dismissed. (E-11)

4. Alagupandi alias Alagupandian Vs St. of T.N.: (2012) 10 SCC 451

(Delivered by Hon'ble Ramesh Sinha, J.
Hon'ble Mrs. Saroj Yadav, J.)

1. At the outset, Shri Ishan Baghel holding brief of Shri I.B. Singh, Senior Advocate, for the appellants stated that short term applications have been filed on behalf of the appellants in both the appeals which are pending and the same may be disposed of by this Court. He submits that both the appellants, who are sons of co-accused Mool Chandra, are in jail for the last 17 years, hence he prays that they may be released on parole/short term bail on the ground that their father, Mool Chandra (co-accused) has died on 07.01.2022 and there is no one to take care of their family members.

2. Taking into consideration the fact that paper book is ready; matter is ripe for hearing; the above-captioned appeals are listed for final hearing today; the convicts/appellants are in jail for the last 17 years, we gave an option to Shri Ishan Baghel, holding brief of Shri I.B. Singh, learned Senior Advocate, to argue the appeals finally, Shri Ishan Baghel, learned Counsel showed reluctance and prays for adjournment with a plea that he has no power in the instant appeal.

3. It transpires from the order-sheet of the case that the first application for bail filed by the appellants was rejected by a Co-ordinate Bench of this Court comprising Hon'ble Shiva Kirti Singh, Chief Justice and Hon'ble Devendra Kumar Arora, J. (as they then were) vide order dated 15.04.2013. After that, the aforesaid appeals were listed on several dates but adjourned either on the request of learned Counsel for the appellants or on his out of station slip.

4. It also transpires that on 13.01.2022, when the above-captioned appeals were listed for final hearing, this Court gave an option to Ms. Reena Rajesh, learned Counsel who was holding brief of Sri I.B. Singh, Senior Advocate, to argue the appeal finally, she showed reluctance and stated that her Senior Counsel, Shri I.B. Singh, who was out of station, would argue the appeal and prayed that the matter be listed in the next week for final hearing. Appreciating the request of Ms. Reena Rajesh, learned Counsel, this Court posted the matter for final hearing on 20.01.2022. On 20.01.2022, on the request of learned Ms. Reena Rajesh, learned Counsel, the case was again adjourned and the matter was posted for 22.02.2022. On 22.02.2022, Shri Ishan Baghel, learned Counsel holding brief of Shri I.B. Singh had appeared and prayed for adjournment in order to enable him to prepare the case for final hearing. Appreciating this request of Shri Ishan Baghel, learned Counsel appearing on behalf of the appellants, the matter was posted for final hearing in the week commencing 07.03.2022. After that, the case has been listed for today i.e. on 07.03.2022.

5. Today, when the case was called out, Shri Ishan Baghel, learned Counsel has put in appearance on behalf of the appellants and instead of arguing the appeal finally, presses the short term bail/parole and so far as arguing the appeal finally is concerned, he states that he has no power on behalf of the appellants to argue the appeals finally.

6. It is noteworthy to mention here that Ms. Reena Rajesh holding brief of Mr. I.B. Singh, Senior Advocate, who is also present with Mr. Ishan Baghel today, had also appeared in the appeal on previous occasion i.e. on 13.01.2022 and pressed the short term/parole application on behalf of the appellants and further sought adjournment with a plea that the matter would be argued by Sri I.B. Singh, Senior Advocate, who was abroad at the time.

7. Considering the aforesaid, this Court finds the conduct of Mr. Ishan Baghel and Ms. Reena Rajesh, learned Counsel appearing on behalf of the appellants on different dates cannot be appreciated by the Court as all the attempt is being made to get the appellants somehow short term bail/parole even though the earlier bail applications of the appellants have been rejected by the Co-ordinate Bench and final hearing of the appeals has been avoided even knowing the fact that the above-captioned appeals have been listed today for final hearing.

8. At this juncture, it would be apt to mention that the Apex Court in Mangat Singh Vs. State of Punjab : 2005 (11) SCC 185 has observed as under :-

"2. It is unfortunate that the counsel had not appeared in the High Court in a case of appeal of conviction under Section 302 IPC. The question of accountability of the advocate looms large in a case of this nature. However, the High Court could have appointed an amicus curiae to assist the Court rather than relying on the assistance of the learned counsel for the State."

9. The Apex Court in Md. Sukur Ali vs. State of Assam : (2011) 4 SCC 729 has observed in para-7 as follows : -

"We are of the opinion that even assuming that the counsel for the accused does not appear because of the counsel's negligence or deliberately, even then the Court should not decide a criminal case against the accused in the absence of his counsel since an accused in a criminal case should not suffer for the fault of his counsel and in such a situation the Court should appoint another counsel as amicus curiae to defend the accused. This is because liberty of a person is the most important feature of our Constitution. Article 21 which guarantees protection of life and personal liberty is the most important fundamental right of the fundamental rights guaranteed by the Constitution. Article 21 can be said to be the 'heart and soul' of the fundamental rights."

10. The Apex Court in the case of Shanker Vs. State of Maharashtra (Criminal Appeal No. 1106 of 2019 arising out of Special Leave Petition (Crl.) No. 7230 of 2018, decided on 23.07.2019) has also reiterated the ratio laid down in Mangat Singh Vs. State of Punjab (supra) and has observed as under :-

"5. When the accused has preferred the appeal against the conviction, the appeal can be disposed of on merits only after hearing the appellant or his counsel. When there was no representation for the appellant, in our considered view, the High Court ought not to have disposed of the case on merits. It was held in 2005 (11) SCC 185 titled Mangat Singh vs. State of Punjab that where the advocate for the appellant is absent on the date of hearing, the Court shall either appoint an amicus curiae and then decide the appeal. Once the appeal against the conviction is admitted, it is the duty of the Appellate Court either to appoint an advocate as amicus curiae or to nominate a counsel through Legal Services Authority and hear the matter on merits and then dispose of the appeal. "

11. Keeping in mind the aforesaid ratio laid down by the Apex Court and also considering the aforesaid facts, while declining to grant short term bail/parole to the appellants (C.M. Application No. 6 of 2022 in re: Criminal Appeal No. 1105 of 2009 and C.M. Application No. 8 of 2022 in re: Criminal Appeal No. 8 of 2022), the Court proceeds to hear the above-captioned appeals filed on behalf of the appellants finally by appointing Shri Ishan Baghel as Amicus Curiae to argue the above-captioned appeals on behalf of the appellants finally because as stated hereinabove, he is well acquainted and also prepared with the case. Furthermore, Shri Ishan Baghel does not state that he is not well acquainted and also not prepared the case to argue it finally but his objection was only to the effect that he has no power in the above-captioned appeals to finally argue the matter. In these backgrounds especially considering the fact that the appellants are in jail for the last 17 years, in the ends of justice, this Court proceed to hear the appeals finally with the assistance of Shri Ishan Baghel (Amicus Curiae) and Shri Vishwas Shukla, learned Additional Government Advocate for the State.

12. Three accused persons, Kamlesh alias Ghora, Rajesh and Mool Chandra, were tried in Sessions Trial No.765 of 2005 (State Vs. Kamlesh @ Ghoda & others), arising out of Case Crime No.76 of 2005, under Section 302 I.P.C., Police Station Itaunja, District Lucknow, whereas accused Kamlesh @ Ghora was also tried in Sessions Trial No.766 of 2005 (State Vs. Kamlesh @ Ghora), arising out of Case Crime No.85 of 2005, under Section 3/25 of Arms Act, Police Station - Itaunja, District Lucknow, by the Additional District & Sessions Judge, Court No.15, Lucknow.

13. Both the aforesaid two Sessions Trials were related to each other, hence the learned Additional District & Sessions Judge, Lucknow heard and decided the aforesaid two Sessions Trials together and vide common judgment and order dated 06.04.2009/09.04.2009, the learned Additional District & Sessions Judge, Lucknow, convicted and sentenced the accused/appellants Kamlesh alias Ghora, Rajesh and Mool Chandra in the manner as stated hereinbelow :-

"Accused/appellants Kamlesh alias Ghora, Rajesh and Mool Chandra :-

Under section 302 read with Section 34 of the Indian Penal Code to undergo life imprisonment and a fine of Rs.10,000/-. In default of fine, to undergo six months additional rigorous imprisonment.

Accused/appellant Kamlesh alias Ghora :-

Under Section 25 of Arms Act to undergo three years rigorous imprisonment and a fine of Rs.2000/-. In default of fine, to undergo one month additional imprisonment.

All the sentences were directed to run concurrently."

14. Feeling aggrieved by the impugned judgment and order dated 06.04.2009/09.04.2009, convict/appellant Kamlesh alias Ghora has preferred Criminal Appeal No. 1104 of 2009, whereas convict/appellant Rajesh has preferred Criminal Appeal No. 1105 of 2009 and convict Mool Chandra has preferred Criminal Appeal No. 1077 of 2009.

15. It is pertinent to mention here that during pendency of the aforesaid appeals, convict/co-accused Mool Chandra died, hence his Criminal Appeal No. 1077 of 2009 filed before this Court stood abated vide order dated 22.02.2022.

16. Since the above-captioned appeals arise out of a common factual matrix and impugned judgment, we are disposing them of by a common judgment.

17. Shorn off unnecessary details the facts of the case are as under :-

The informant-Radha Devi d/o Hira Lal (P.W.1) lodged a written report (Ext. Ka.1) dated 20.06.2005 at police station Itaunja, Lucknow, alleging therein that she is the resident of Village Dugauli, Police Station Madhiyao, District Lucknow, current address Village Gohona Khurd, Police Station Itaunja, District Lucknow. After the death of her mother about a year back, her father Hira Lal married to another woman, who was the daughter of Mool Chandra s/o Jhole, resident of Pipari, Police Station Itaunja. After marriage, they were residing at Village Gohana Khurd, Police Station Itaunja.

On 17.06.2005, her father had beaten her second mother, upon which her second mother had gone to her parental village Pipri. On account of the said enmity, on 17.06.2005, at 4.00 p.m., when her father along with her (P.W.1) and her brother Rajneesh (P.W.2) had come to village Pipri, which is adjacent to her village, to take her second mother, an altercation took place between Mool Chandra (accused/convict) and her father on the issue of leaving the house of her second mother, on which her father got angry and left for home. In the meanwhile, Kamlesh, Rajesh s/o Mool Chandra (convicts/appellants) and Mool Chandra (accused/convict) surrounded her father and Kamlesh (convict/appellant) fired two shots upon her father by his gun and when her father fell down, Mool Chandra (accused/convict) and Rajesh (convict/appellant) assaulted her father with banka, due to which her father died on spot. The incident was witnessed by her (P.W.1), her brother- Rajneesh (P.W.2), Babu Lal s/o Molhe Ram (P.W.4) resident of Village Mohana Khurd and other persons.

18. Thereafter, informant-Radha Devi (P.W.1) got the FIR scribed by Mohd. Bilal, who after scribing it read it over to her. She, thereafter, affixed her signature on it. She then proceeded to Police Station Itaunja and lodged it.

19. The evidence of P.W.5- Molhey Ram shows that on 20.06.2005, he was posted as Head Constable at Police Station Itaunja, Lucknow. On the said date, informant Radha Devi (P.W.1) came along with a written report at police station. On the basis of the written report, he registered an F.I.R. on the same date at 06:40 p.m. as chik no. 59 of 2005, case crime no. 73 of 2005, under Section 302 I.P.C., Police Station Itaunja, District Lucknow. He proved the chik F.I.R. (Ext. Ka. 6). He also proved the GD (Ext. Ka.7).

It appears that the trial Court has provided opportunity to cross-examine P.W.5-Molhey Ram but he was not cross-examined by the defense.

20. A perusal of the chik FIR shows that the distance between the place of incident and Police Station Itaunja was 6 kilometers. It is significant to mention that a perusal of the chik FIR also shows that a case under Section 302 I.P.C. was registered against appellants, Kamlesh, Rajesh and Mool Chandra.

21. The investigation of the case was conducted by P.W.7-S.I. Panna Lal Saroj, who, in his examination-in-chief, had deposed that on 20.06.2005, he was posted as Sub-Inspector in police station Itaunja. On the same day, on the basis of written report lodged by informant-Radha Devi (P.W.1), FIR was lodged as Case Crime No.76 of 2005, under Section 302 I.P.C. and he himself started the investigation. On the same day, firstly he filled the form and mentioned the hindi copy of FIR in G.D.

On pointing out of the informant Radha Devi (P.W.1), the place of occurrence was investigated by him. Site plan (Ext.Ka-9) was prepared by him, which is in his handwriting and signature. Secondly, on 21.06.2005, he recorded the statement of the witnesses of Panchayatnama and memo (fard) - Dr. Ajay Kumar, Dharmveer, Ramesh, Kallu and others. After that he recorded the statement of witness Babu Lal (P.W.4) and Rajneesh (P.W.2). During the inspection of place of occurrence, he recovered blood stained banka (Ext. Ka.3) and empty cartridge (Ext. Ka.5), collected plain soil and blood stained soil (Ext. Ka. 4) under memo (fard) dated 20.06.2005. On the same day, in his presence and on his instruction, panchayatnama (Ext.Ka-2) was prepared by S.I. Ayodhya Prasad Pathak on which he made his signature. The challan lash (Ext.Ka-10), photo lash (Ext. Ka-11) and specimen seal (Ext.Ka-12) was prepared by S.I. Ayodhya Prasad Pathak, who accompanied him and the same was signed by him. Letter to the C.M.O. (Ext.Ka-13) was prepared and was signed by him. On 23.06.2005, he prepared paper (parcha) no.3 and also made search for accused persons.

On 25.06.2005 the accused persons surrendered before the court concerned and sent to jail and the details of the same was mentioned in paper no.4. On 29.06.2005, statements of accused persons were recorded in District Jail, after taking permission from the court concerned, which is mentioned in paper no.5. On 05.09.2005, paper no.6 was prepared in which it was mentioned that accused Kamlesh @ Ghora was taken on police custody/remand with the permission of court concerned and on his pointing out, pistol used in commission of crime and cartridge were recovered. On the place of recovery, one pistol 12 bore, one live cartridge were recovered and its memo (Ext.Ka-14) was prepared, which was written and signed by him. Thereafter, on 07.07.2005 paper no.7 was prepared in which it was mentioned that docket of one box each of blood stained soil and plain soil and one bundle containing clothes of the deceased was prepared and the same was sent to Forensic Science Laboratory. On 08.07.2005 paper no.8 was prepared in which it was mentioned that copy of panchayatnama and copy of post-mortem report was made. On 20.07.2005, paper no.9 was prepared which stated that statement of scriber of FIR Moharrir Mohley Ram (P.W.5) was recorded.

On 31.07.2005, paper no.10 was prepared which stated that on receiving the docket, copy of the pistol 12 bore and empty cartridge, which were sent to the Forensic Science Laboratory, Lucknow for testing, the evidence was found, on the basis of which charge sheet No.77 of 2005 (Ext.Ka-15), which is in his handwriting and signature, was sent to court concerned. On 23.10.2005, in S.C.D. -II, the details of the report of Forensic Science Laboratory was mentioned and the report, which was received, was also annexed. The seal-covered goods (Ext.1), which were in the cloth of "markeen', were opened before the court and seeing one pistol and three empty cartridges and one live cartridge that came out from inside, the witness said that it was the same gun (Ext.2), a live cartridge (Ext.3) and three empty cartridges (Ext.4, 5 & 6) which were recovered from accused Kamlesh. Before the court, a sealed packet was opened, on cloth Ext.7 was marked and Ext.8 was marked on a carton received from inside. A banka (in sealed condition) (Ext.10) was also received from inside and after seeing this, the witness said that it was the same weapon, used in the commission of crime, and recovered from the place of occurrence. The containers of blood stained soil and plain soil were found sealed separately, on the clothes of which Ext.11 and Ext.12 were marked; on two containers Ext.13 and Ext.14 were marked; and Ext.15 and Ext.16 were marked on plain soil and blood stained soil respectively; Ext.17 was marked on sealed bundle containing clothes of the deceased; and Ext.18 was marked on clothes.

In his cross-examination, he deposed that to take accused persons in police custody, he went along with S.I. Ayodhya Prasad Pathak, Constable Phool Singh Yadav and Constable Om Prakash from police station. He firstly said that he did not remember the time of departure from police station, but soon after he stated that at 8.30 p.m. they left for jail from police station. He did not remember the exact time when the accused were taken into custody. The fact that on which time the accused Kamlesh was taken into custody from jail was not mentioned in the case diary. At that time, he was not aware from where the gun used in the commission of crime, was to be recovered. After taking the custody, he went to village Pipri via Itaunja on asking of accused Kamlesh. He mentioned the said fact in the case diary. The time of reaching at Village Pipri was not mentioned in the case diary. The population of village Pipri was about 500-600. He did not remember under which Sub Inspector's area Pipri village falls. He tried himself to take witnesses but due to fear and ill-will no-one was ready. None of the witness disclosed name and address and left. In the case diary he did not mention the name of the witnesses but he wrote that no-one was ready to give evidence because of ill-will. Sealed bundle which contained country made pistol did not bear any signature and on it "Crime No.85/2005 and Crime No.76/2005" was written in his handwriting, which was the crime number punishable under Section 3/25 of Arms Act in the case of State Vs. Kamlesh. The word "and" was written between both the crime numbers by him. Under the aforesaid expression, the details of Crime No.85/2005 and Crime No.76/2005 were written by him. The aforesaid were written by him at the place of recovery. He did not put any handwritten slip on the country made pistol. Likewise he did not put any handwritten slip over the cartridges. He further deposed that when recovered articles, recovered weapons, recovery memo are sent to police station and the case is registered, only then crime number of case of recovered weapon is determined. After the recovery made in this case, he reached police station at 17:15 hour and thereafter the case was registered and crime number was determined. The accused persons were lodged in police station. He finished the paper work of that day after reaching the police station, but did not mention any time. He denied the suggestion that on pointing out of accused, no country made pistol was recovered. The expression written with blue pen on the bundle containing banka is in his handwriting. He denied the suggestion that banka was not sealed at the place of occurrence. It is wrong to say that forged paper work was done at the police station.

In his cross-examination, he deposed that in front of his police station, a concrete road goes towards Amaniganj. The scriber of the present FIR is Mohd. Bilal r/o Amaniganj. Amaniganj comes under Police Station Itaunja. He did not mention the name of Mohd. Bilal in the list of witnesses in charge sheet. He did not record the statement of Mohd. Bilal and he did not write the reason in case diary that Mohd. Bilal was not examined during investigation. The fact that Mohd. Bilal was searched and he could not be found was also not mentioned in the case diary. Where the incident was allegedly occurred, there is an orchard of mango trees. Kalmi mango trees were also in the garden and who was looking after orchard, it is not mentioned in the case diary. He did not write timing of his reaching at the place of occurrence in the case diary and the fact of tracing those people is not even written in the case diary, but he mentioned the timing of recording the statement of informant in case diary. He did not mention the timing of recording the statement of witness Rajneesh in the case diary. He did not mention his duration of time at the place of occurrence in the case diary. He did not mention in how much time he completed the first paper in the case diary. Likewise, he did not mention about the timing of completion of any paper in case diary. The date is also not there under the endorsement made by the C.O. on the first paper. Likewise, there is no date on any of the papers below the order of the C.O. He further deposed that during investigation it did not come to his knowledge that the deceased had done many marriages and with regard to said fact, during investigation, he did not record any statement or got any information. On the day of incident, he did not go to police station and he remained in the area in search of accused persons. He did not point out any particular place where he made search. It is wrong to say that he did not recover any weapon of assault on the pointing out of accused Kamlesh and on return, he made a forged recovery. Informant Radha Devi did not inform him about the fact that she along with his father and brother left from their house. It is wrong to say that he did all the investigation of the case, sitting at the police station.

22. P.W.8-Guru Sahai Bhargav, Constable, in his deposition, stated that on 05.07.2005 he was posted as Constable Clerk at Police Station Itaunja. He proved the FIR of case under Section 3/25 of Arms Act as Ext.Ka-16.

In his cross-examination he stated that it is wrong to say that no recovery was made from the accused nor any specimen seal was prepared and the same has been prepared in a forged manner while sitting at Police Station.

23. P.W.9 Head Constable Ajay Pratap Singh, Police Station Manpur, District Sitapur, in his deposition, stated that on 05.07.2005, he was posted as Head Moharrir at Police Station Itaunja, District Lucknow. At 17.15 hour. S.H.O. Panna Lal Saroj (P.W.7) along with other police force brought accused Kamlesh @ Ghora s/o Mool Chandra r/o Pipri, Police Station Itaunja Lucknow along with recovered articles used in the commission of crime, i.e., one country made pistol 12 bore and a cartridge in a seal covered state and submitted at Police Station. An entry was made in Rojnamcha as Case Crime No.85 of 2005, under Section 3/25 of Arms Act at Rapat No.37. G.D. entry of the same was made by him being Head Moharrir. The carbon copy of the entry G.D. was prepared in the same process alongwith the original, which is paper no.1/14. That was written in his handwriting over which Ext.Ka-17 was marked.

In his cross-examination, he stated that he did not go to jail. He only made entry in G.D. He did not bring the G.D. in original. The recovery was not made before him. The recovery was made by S.O. and he only made entry of the same. He also made entry of one pistol 12 bore and a live cartridge. Empty cartridge was not recovered before him. He did not remember that before this G.D. entry, which and at what time G.D. entry was made and he also did not remember at what time and which G.D. entry was made subsequent to the G.D. entry of this case. It is wrong to say that the FIR is anti-timed.

24. P.W. 10 - Shri Ram, S.H.O. Fakharpur, District Bahraich, in his deposition, stated that on 05.07.2005 he was posted as Sub-Inspector, Police Station Itaunja, District Lucknow. He was entrusted with the investigation of Case Crime No.85 of 2005, under Section 3/25 of Arms Act. On 03.09.2005 after obtaining the necessary permission from District Magistrate and finding the offence established, he dispatched the Charge Sheet No.89 of 2005.

In his cross-examination he deposed that there is no witness of recovery. No time was mentioned in the case diary with regard to taking the statement of witnesses - Panna Lal Saroj (P.W.7), Om Prakah Pathak & others. The time of inspection of the place of occurrence has also not been mentioned in the C.D. It is wrong to say that investigation has been carried out in the Police Station.

25. The postmortem of the body of deceased Heera Lal was conducted on 21.06.2005 at 10:50 a.m. at Ram Manohar Lohiya Hospital, Lucknow by Dr. Anil Kumar Srivastava, Senior Cardiologist (P.W.6), who, found the following ante-mortem injuries on his person :-

"(i) Multiple incised wound in area 12 cm x 10 cm, present over front and both side of face. Size ranging from 2 cm x 2.5 cm x muscle deep to 3 cm x 1 cm x bone deep.

As per the opinion of Dr. Anil Kumar Srivastava (P.W.6), the casuse of death was shock and haemorrhage as a result of ante-mortem injuries.

26. It is significant to mention here that Dr. Anil Kumar Srivastava (P.W.6), in his examination-in-chief, had reiterated the aforesaid cause of death of the deceased and deposed that on 21.06.2005, he was posted at Ram Manohar Lohiya Hospital, Gomti Nagar, Lucknow and on that day, his duty was in post-mortem room. He conducted the post-mortem examination of deceased -Hira Lal aged about 35 years, who was brought by Constable 1725 Ram Kumar Tiwari, Police Station Itaunja whose post mortem number was 1682 of 2005. At the time of post mortem, rigor mortis was present in the whole body; the deceased was of average height; and both eyes were closed. In his opinion, all the injuries could have been possibly caused on 20.06.2005 at 4.00 p.m. The postmortem report (Ext. Ka-8) is in his handwriting and signature. In the opinion of the doctor, the reason of death was shock and hemorrhage due to ante mortem injuries, which was caused by fire arm injuries and the injuries were caused by sharp edged weapon.

In his cross-examination, he stated that there is only one injury of fire arm. 29 pellets were found from the body. By observing the rigor mortis, it is deduced how much time has passed since death. There may be a difference of 12 hours on either side in the time of death. It is not possible to tell the exact time. The death could have happened even before 36 hours. He further deposed that 90 ml. liquid substance was found in the stomach of the deceased. After two and half hours of having a meal, the food goes beyond the stomach. The deceased must have had food about two and half hours ago ahead of death. He could not tell, from how far does the blackening, charring and tattooing in a fire arm injury would occur. Ballistic expert can tell. There was no contusion or abrasion on the body of deceased.

27. The case was committed to the Court of Sessions by Chief Judicial Magistrate, Lucknow on 24.11.2005. The trial Court had framed charges against the convict/appellants, namely, Kamlesh @ Ghora, Rajesh and accused/convict Mool Chandra for the offences punishable under Sections 302 I.P.C.; the trial court has also framed charges against convict/appellant Kamlesh @ Ghora for offence under Section 3/25 of Arms Act. They pleaded not guilty to the charges and claimed to be tried. Their defence was of denial.

28. During trial, the prosecution examined ten witnesses in all, namely, P.W.1-Radha Devi, who is the informant and daughter of deceased-Hira Lal, P.W.2 Rajneesh, who is son of deceased-Hira Lal, P.W.3-Dharmveer, who is the witness of Panchayatnama, P.W.4 Babu Lal, who is the independent witness,P.W.5-Mohley Ram, who is the scribe of FIR, P.W.6 Dr. Anil Kumar Srivastava, who conducted the post-mortem of deceased, P.W.7 S.I. Panna Lal Saroj, who is the Investigating Officer of the case, P.W.8 - Guru Sahai Bhargav, who proved the FIR, P.W.9 -H.C. Ajay Pratap Singh, and P.W.10 Shriram, who conducted the investigation of the case lodged against appellant/convict Kamlesh alias Ghora for the offence under Section 25 of the Arms Act.

29. It is pertinent to mention that excepting Radha Devi (P.W. 1) and Rajneesh (P.W.2), the other two witnesses, namely, P.W.3-Dharamveer and P.W.4-Babu Lal have turned hostile and when confronted with those portions of their statements under Section 161 Cr. P.C. they had denied any such statement made by them. The informant Radha Devi (P.W.1) and his brother Rajneesh (P.W.2), however, stood firm as a rock of Gibraltar.

30. The informant-Smt. Radha Devi, who is the daughter of deceased, was examined as P.W.1. She, in her examination-in-chief, deposed that the incident took place on 20.06.2005 at 4.00 p.m. She stated that after a year of death of her first mother, her father got married again to one Seema d/o Mool Chandra (convict/accused) r/o Village Pipri. She has a brother; her father lived along with her second mother; and brother in a house constructed in Gohna Khurd. Two-three days before the incident, a scuffle took place between her father and her second mother and her father slapped her mother. Being annoyed of that, her second mother had gone to her parents' place at Pipri. She further deposed that she along with her father (deceased) and brother Rajneesh (P.W.2) had gone to Pipri to bring her second mother back. On the day of incident, a quarrel took place amongst her father, Mool Chandra (convict/ accused), Kamlesh and Rajesh (convict/appellants), on which her father became angry and took the informant (P.W.1) and her brother (P.W.2) and left their house. There is mango orchard of Munna Maurya near Mool Chandra's house. When they were going, Kamlesh, Rajesh (convicts/appellants) and Mool Chandra (convict/accused) surrounded her father (deceased).

P.W.1 had further deposed that Kamlesh (convict/appellant) fired two shots upon her father Hira Lal. Having sustained injuries, her father fell down on the ground. The injury was of gunshot. He sustained the bullet near his waist and blood was oozing out. Thereafter, Mool Chandra (convict/accused) caught hold her father and Rajesh (convict/appellant) slit his throat with banka. At that time, she (informant P.W.1) and her brother Rajneesh (P.W.2) and one other person Babu Lal (P.W.4) were present at the place of incident. She (P.W.1) and her brother (P.W.2) ran towards Police station, but before reaching police station, they met a person and they narrated the incident to him, who wrote a report on a paper. The said person read over the report on which the witness made her signatures and took the paper to police station and submitted there. This witness has proved the report and recognized her signatures on that. She further deposed that her father died on spot and Inspector inquired from her about the incident. He took her to the place of occurrence where the body of her father was lying. She identified the accused persons before the court and stated that they were the accused who committed murder of her father. She identified the convict/appellant Kamlesh and stated that he was the person who shot at her father with country made pistol. On seeing accused Mool Chandra in witness box, she stated that this accused was holding her father at the time of incident. On seeing accused/appellant Rajesh in witness box, she stated that it was the person who slit the throat of her father.

In her cross-examination, P.W.1 stated that village Gohna Khurd is surrounded by forest on the southern side which is 1/2 km away from residential area and her house is there in forest under the trees. Her house is made of mud walls and thatch and its width is 2x4 hands wide and length 7x8 hands. Other rooms of some other persons are also there, but she does not know the exact number of rooms. About one month ahead of the date of incident her father was living there. Other people were living in other rooms. She is familiar with their faces but she does not know their names. The thatched house was built by her father. Her father was not having any land there. She was not aware about the occupation of her father. Earlier her father was residing in a pakka house at Dudholi, which has one room and a verandah, with her mother. About two years ago, she used to live with her mother. After the death of her mother she started living with her father. She was not residing with her grand-father (nana) at Sidhauli. Her grand-father (nana) and maternal uncle (mama) are alive. She went to her grand-father's (nana) place. She did not live in Dudoli with her father, after the death of her mother.

P.W.1 further deposed that she never went inside the village Gohna Khurd, however, she knew one or two persons of Gohna Khurd. She does not remember their names but can identify by their faces. She does not know Babu Singh r/o- Village Gohna. She does not know village Pradhan Lala of village Gohna. She knows village Pipari but she is not aware about the distance between her house and village Pipari. She went to village Pipari about one month ago. She went to village Pipari one month ahead of the incident, also she went to village and on the day of incident. On the day of incident, she went to village Pipari from her house via the way which goes through fields of village Gohna. Her father along with her brother (Rajneesh) went to vilage Pipari. At that time no body was left her house. She went to village Pipari at about 10-11 a.m. and directly reached there within half an hour. On the way she saw many persons working in their fields but she could not tell their names. Nobody asked her father where he was going. They went directly to the house of Mool Chandra. The daughter of Mool Chandra is her new mother and her name is Seema and they met her at the house. She could not tell how many houses are there at village Pipari. She could not tell about the house of Mool Chandra whether it was a Katcha house or Pakka house but a thatch was there on the front.

She further stated that her mother died at Dudoli and after that she lived with her father continuously till he died. It is wrong to say that her father got his third marriage performed at village Mosaud. It is wrong to say that her second mother r/o-village Mosaud is alive and her father got his third marriage performed at village Jutti and her third mother is alive. It is wrong to say that her father got his fourth marriage performed at village Parsau. She is not aware that her father got his marriage performed with Seema in writing or not. It is wrong to say that his father got the aforesaid marriages registered at Registrar Office. It is wrong that her father was involved in a quarrel with the persons of village Parsau regarding jewellery. It is wrong to say that about 15 days ahead of the day of incident miscreants attacked at their house situated in Gohna. She further deposed that her second mother, Seema, was having good relationship with her and her brother Rajnish and they were loved by her and she also provided them food etc. when she was residing with them. She and her brother never had any quarrel with their second mother. Both the children loved their second mother. She (Radha) and Rajnish went to the house of her grand-father (nana) Mool Chandra at Gohna and sat near her second mother Seema and her father stopped in front of the doors and altercations started there. When she reached there, her father was sitting in front of the door. Thereafter the altercation started and it went on for about 10-05 minutes, thereafter, her father left the place, annoyingly. She does not remember how many steps her father walked from the front door when fire was shot upon him. When her father was leaving, within 2-4 minutes firing was made at him and due to which her father fell down. She along with her brother (Rajneesh) did not run as they were near their father. When her father started to leave due to anger, she along with her brother also accompanied their father and they were just behind 2-4 steps of their father. She does not remember how far and how many steps away they were from the house of Mool Chandra when her father fell down and at that time Babu Lal was in-front of them. She does not remember how many steps away was Babu Lal from her father. This fact is not in her knowledge that before starting living in Gohna village, her father lived at Kishunpur, Shahpur, Asnaha and Chandanapur, and he has left these places due to disputes and is living at Gohna. She went to the place of occurrence with the Inspector after a short interval. She went to the place of occurrence with the Inspector after two-three hours of incident. She had shown those spots to the Inspector where she, Rajnish and Babu Lal were present. She did not know Munna Maurya, but her father used to tell that the grove of Munna Maurya was there. She had got mentioned the name of Munna Maurya in the report regarding the grove. If it has not been mentioned in the report, she could not tell the reason. She had not got mentioned this fact in her report that "her father had received gunshot near waist, and it was bleeding." She did not state this fact even in her statement made before the Inspector. It is correct that she had stated this fact for the first time in the Court only. It is wrong to say that she have stated this fact for the first time before the Court on being tutored. She had got mentioned this fact in her report that " Mool Chandra had caught hold of her father." She had got mentioned the aforesaid fact in her report. If it is not mentioned, she could not tell the reason. She had got mentioned this fact in her report that "When they were going, then Kamlesh, Rajesh and Mool Chandra came and surrounded her father." She had got mentioned this fact in her report. If it is not mentioned then she would not be able to tell any reason. She had told the aforesaid fact to the Inspector in her statement. If it is not mentioned, she could not tell any reason. It is wrong to say that she is telling the aforesaid facts for the first time before the Court on being tutored. Two gunshots had been fired upon her father. She had seen that both the fires had been shot, but she did not see whether both the gunshots had hit her father or not. She is conversant with right, left and back. One fire was shot on her father from back, and another fire was shot on her father from front. After both the shots had been fired, her father fell down. The gunshot fired from back was fired on her father from a distance of two-three paces. The gunshot fired from front was also fired upon her father from a distance of two-three paces. There are quite big trees in the grove. The grove is very dense. When they started from home, she, Rajnish and her father Hira Lal had eaten pulses, rice and chapati before proceeding. When they reached the place of Mool Chandra, they had not eaten anything. When her father fell down, she and her brother Rajneesh began to cry. Both of them hugged their father. She was clad in salwar, kurta and orange coloured stoll. The blood of her father had stained in her hands and apparels. Rajneesh (P.W.2) was wearing blue shirt and green pant. The blood did not stain in the hands of Rajneesh rather it got stained in his clothes. Her father had not died by that time. She could not tell for how much time they remained hugged with their father. When gunshot had hit, Babu Lal had come. None else had come there till the time, they remained there, and Babu Lal had left the place. Babu Lal came, witnessed and went away. She did not remember that after how many minutes, Babu Lal had left. There is bricked way through the grove that connects metalled road. This metalled road is Ayaniganj Itaunja Road. This bricked way passes through the grove and after two furlong, it merges into the metalled road. From the place of occurrence, she had gone to Itaunja from the place of occurrence through the way of her village via the ridge of fields. After the incident, she returned from the place of occurrence following the same path that she followed while going to the house of Mool Chandra with her father. While returning, she had gone to Itaunja following the path beside Gohna village. She had seen earlier where Police Station Itaunja is situated. While going to Itaunja from her village, she passed through the place where Ayaniganj Road meets the road to Gohna village. A betel-nut shop is there. When she reached the betel-nut shop from the place of occurrence, she found several known persons. People were asking, but she did not tell anything. She did not call anyone from village to accompany her to the police station. She did not remember how much time she took in walking from the place of occurrence to the turning of betel-nut shop. Her brother Rajneesh was with her. She did not leave her at the place of occurrence. She was distressed, but she did not stop. Ayaniganj Road is commonly used road. Tempos are easily available on it. Even from the betel-nut shop, they went to Itaunja on walk. They did not go by Tempo or any other passenger vehicle. Mahona town falls on the way while going from betel-nut shop turning to Police Station Itaunja. A market assembles at Mahona town. There are many shops at both sides of the road.

P.W.1, in cross-examination, had further deposed that he had got mentioned this fact in her report that "her father got annoyed and left her home along with her and her brother." She could not tell any reason why this fact is not mentioned in her report. She had told the aforesaid fact to the Inspector in her statement but she could not tell any reason if this fact is not mentioned in her report. She did not use any passenger conveyance from the police station even from Mahona. She did not find any known person between Mahona and Itaunja. When she reached the police station, she found the Inspector. It was the same Inspector who had recorded her statement. She did not know whether the Inspector had seen her blood stained hands and the blood stained clothes of her and her brother or not. She had not shown the clothes of her and her brother and her blood stained hands to the Inspector. The Inspector had asked her about the incident. She remained at the police station for about half an hour. Thereafter, she and his brother had gone to the spot with the Inspector by a jeep. She had studied up to Class 4 and knew to read and write. Her signature was obtained on whatever she had stated at the police station and whatever statement she had made. The spot where the dead body of her father was lying is not visible from the door of Mool Chandra. She could not tell whether there is a room to the south of spot where the dead body of her father was lying. When the banka was blown at her father, her father had fallen flat. Her father was not moving. She could not tell how much paces away are the houses of village to the eastwards of the spot where her father had fell down. She could not tell even by guess whether the distance was ten paces or 100 paces. When she had gone to the spot with the Inspector, any person from Gohna village was not present there, and none was there even from Pipari village. When she went there for second time, the dead body of her father was lying there and any person was not there. She could not tell how many police officials were there on the jeep when she had gone to the spot with the Inspector. She could not tell whether police officials were there itself when she reached the spot with the Inspector. She could not tell whether the police officials were there throughout when she was present at the spot near the dead body of her father. She did not remember for how much time she had stayed near the dead body. The Inspector had inspected the dead body and blood etc. at the spot. She is not able to recollect after how much time the dead body had been sent from the spot. The dead body had been sent from the spot by a tempo. She did not remember how many persons had gone on the tempo with the dead body. Meanwhile, none of her acquaintance or relative came to the spot. Thereafter, she had gone to her house. Her grand-father or anyone else did not come to her house in the night. Her grand-father Chhote Lal came to the house at morning 9-10 o'clock. Thereafter, she came to Dudauli on the next day. It is wrong to say that she and her brother Rajnish had not gone to the house of Mool Chandra at village Pipari with her father on the day of incident. It is wrong to say that the accused persons have not committed any incident or brawl with her father, nor she witnessed any incident. It is wrong to say that the report of this incident has been got prepared later on after consultation, and the signature was obtained at the police station in due course. As per her knowledge, any case was not proceeding against her father. It is wrong to say that her father had solemnized several marriages and there was some dispute with their family members regarding jewellry etc. It is wrong to say that some other people have killed her father due to enmity and none has witnessed the incident. It is wrong to say that on being tutored, she has stated the fact of catching hold by Mool Chandra. She further deposed that she did not know how many groves are their in Pipari village. There is a grove at some distance from where they lived at Gohna village. She did not know to whom this grove belongs to. There were mangoes in the grove of Pipari village. The grove of Pipari is big one. She could not tell in how many bighas it would have spread. The family members of Mool Chandra were guarding that grove. While going from the place of occurrence to the police station, no person of Gohna village accompanied her. She knew Chhote Lal and Dulare of Gohna village. She is acquainted with their names. Dulare did not visit her village Dudauli. She is not aware of the fact that the in-law's house of Dulare is at Dudauli village. She could not tell whether he is alive or dead now. After reaching the police station, she had described the entire incident to the Inspector. She had dictated the report which she had got written. She had got written the application at a place which was at some distance from the police station. She is not aware of name of scribe, but that person knew her father. That very person had brought the papers etc. by whom she got written the application. She had got written the report by giving dictation. Her brother Rajnish was with her. She knew Babu Lal. None had told her the name of Babu Lal's father rather she remembered that. The name of Babu Lal's father was Bhole. She had got it written in the report. He further deposed that she knew her maternal grandfather from Pipari since her father solemnized marriage in her family. She did not know in which month her father had solemnized that marriage. She did not attend the marriage procession of her father nor any marriage procession of her father assembled. Her father told her that he had married to her, and she is her mother. Seema was already married somewhere. She did not know where she had been married. Seema was already having two kids. She is not aware of Makkaganj, Lucknow. She is not aware of the fact that the marriage of Seema was solemnized with Guddu of Makkaganj. She is not aware of the fact that Seema has two children from Guddu. It is wrong to say that at the time of incident, Seema was living at her in-law's house with her husband Guddu. It is wrong to say that Seema never visited her house at Gohna. It is also wrong to say that Seema had never lived with her father. She did not remember that her father would have conducted any documentation regarding marriage with her father. After this incident, the Inspector did not ever call Seema to face her, nor conducted any enquiry. She did not remember from where Babu Lal reached the spot. Even she did not know after how much time he went away. Even she did not remember for how much time he stopped at the spot, since they were weeping.

P.W.1 had further deposed that her maternal grand-father has come with her for her deposition. She resided with her maternal grand-father. She is residing with maternal grand-father from beginning. None has tutored her for deposition. Her second mother has two issues. These two children never resided with her father. She never saw these children at her home. How old these children are she did not know. From where the second marriage of her father was solemnized, it is not known to her. The accused persons present in the court used to visit her home daily. Before the incident, any altercation never occurred between them and her family. She never stayed at the house of accused persons at night. There are houses of other persons near her house. There are trees & plants. There are houses of Mohan, Vikky and others but names of others are not in her memory . There are open land and bushes nearby her house and due to which distant places are not visible. She further deposed that her father had sold some land of Dudauli where she was residing earlier at Lucknow and some land is left. Her father wanted to transfer this remaining land in favour of her second mother. It is not known to her. At the place of occurrence, accused persons neither caught her nor beat her nor abused her. There is a mango grove near the place of occurrence and there remains some darkness due to it. At the time of incident, Babu Lal (P.W.4) was appeared coming on the path situated near the grove. At how much distance he was from her, she did not remember. It is wrong to say that she did not remember any thing and she had forgotten the whole incident, therefore, she is unable to tell the distance of Babu Lal. It is wrong to say that she did not see the incident with her eyes. It is also wrong to say that she is giving false deposition at the behest of her maternal grand-father. It is wrong to say that some other persons have killed her father elsewhere and at the behest of her maternal grand-father and family members, he is giving false deposition against the accused persons.

31. P.W.2-Rajneesh, aged about 8 years, who is the brother of the informant P.W.1 and son of the deceased, had deposed before the trial Court that the incident took place on 20.06.2005, at 4 o'clock, in the evening. On that day, he had gone to take his mother along with father. His sister Radha was also with them. His mother was at the place of maternal grandfather. The mother had gone there two days ago and she was his second mother. An altercation took place with father as his mother had left the house. At the place of maternal grand father, his father had a conversation with his maternal grand-father Mool Chand, maternal uncle Rajesh and Kamlesh regarding bidai of his mother. The conversation turned into altercation. Mool Chand, Rajesh and Kamlesh had beaten his father. Kamlesh shot his father by katta (country-made pistol). His father fell down, then, Mool Chand caught him. Rajesh assaulted at the neck of his father by banka (a sharp edged weapon). Kamlesh fired two shots by katta. One shot hit his father above waist and the other shot on the chest. His father died there itself. They started crying. Many villagers had come there. The Inspector enquired with him about the incident and whatever he saw he told him.

In cross-examination, P.W.2-Rajneesh had deposed that he did not know, where his mother died. Prior to the incident his father was residing at Dudauli. His house is built there at Dudauli. The house is pakka (cemented). There is only one room in that house. He was not residing in that house at the time of incident. This house was locked at the time of incident. One year ahead of the incident, they were residing at Gohna with father. The house at Gohna is kachcha (non-cemented) and it contains two kothari (small- rooms). There is thatch over the courtyard. This house is situated at a short distance from village. There are forest and bushes near this house. His father used to take him along whenever he used to go anywhere. His father had neither cycle nor any other vehicle. He used to go with him on foot. He could walk a pretty long. He could not tell that at how much distance the paternal house of second mother is situated from village. A grove was there in the way. There was no canal in the way. His elder sister (P.W.1) used to cook meal at Gohna. On the day of incident, he had started after eating meal at his home. His sister (P.W.1) had also taken meal with him. It is not known to him that prior to the incident, some goons had come to their home, damaged T.V. etc. and taken some goods with them. His father had not taken meal before leaving from home on the day of incident. During the period when incident took place, he did not use to go for studies. Now he goes for studies. His sister does not study in his school. Prior to the incident, sometimes his father used to come in intoxicated condition. On the day of incident, they had gone to the house of second mother from their house at about 10-11 o'clock in the day. It is not known to him that when the marriage of father was solemnized with second mother. His father had told that she was his second mother. How many days ahead he told, it is not known. The second mother had stayed at their home. He deposed that for how many days she had stayed there, it is not known. How many days ago, she would have stayed prior to the incident, it is not known. His second mother has no issue. Prior to the incident, who had come to take his second mother from his home to her parental home, it is not known.

In cross-examination, P.W.2 had further deposed that on the day of incident, he and his sister met his second mother inside the house. His father did not go inside. His father had stayed at the door itself. On the day of incident, they had stayed at the house of second mother for about 1-1½ hour. He, his father and his sister left for return from the house of second mother. His father was walking ahead followed by him and then he followed by his sister. He was at a distance of about 20-30 steps from his father. He took refreshment at the place of second mother. What he had eaten, he did not remember. His sister was 2-3 steps behind him. When they reached the house of second mother, Mool Chandra, Rajesh and Kamlesh were present there. Any other person was not present there at home. All these three persons were outside the home. He had no conversation with all these three persons. They had travelled 30-40 steps from the house of second mother, then, the incident took place. At that spot houses are not situated. The accused persons did not catch him and his sister. After the incident, they ran towards police station. He knew the police station prior to the incident. He had visited police station twice before the incident. Both times his sister was with him. He had also visited police station with his father. Why he had gone to police station, he did not know.

32. P.W.3-Dharmveer, in his examination-in-chief, had deposed that this incident took place on 20th. He did not remember the month, however, it was near to May. He knew Hira Lal (deceased) and his dead-body was lying in the grove of mango. The "panchayatnama' of the dead-body was prepared by the Inspector before him. He put signature on the "panchayatnama' (Ext. Ka.2). The Inspector had recovered weapon of assault a "banka' from the place of occurrence. The Inspector had collected plain soil and blood stained soil in separate containers from the place of occurrence and prepared the recovery memo (Ext. Ka.4).

In cross-examination, P.W.3-Dharmveer had deposed that there are his agricultural fields in Gohna Khurd. He knew Hira Lal (deceased) since 3-4 years. The marriage of Hira Lal with the daughter of Mool Chandra (accused/convict) was fifth one. He deposed that Hira Lal used to beat his fourth wife and he left her and a dispute was also going on with the family members of fourth wife. The panchayat was held in respect of jewellery of the fourth wife. Hira Lal told that he would not give jewellery on any count whatsoever. The other wives of Hira Lal are alive. At the time of the incident, his mother Rameshwari was the Pradhan of Gohana Khurd. The dead-body was found in the grove of mango in Pipari village. His village is situated at a distance of one kilometer from Pipari village. He deposed that when noise occurred in his village that Hira Lal was murdered, then, he and his mother were in front of his door. He further deposed that Radha (P.W.1) and Rajneesh (P.W.2) had come to his mother, then, he, his mother and Radha (P.W.1) went to the orchard in Pipri village where the deadbody was lying. When they reached near the dead-body, the Inspector and police personnel of police station Itaunja had reached there. The Inspector brought him, Radha (P.W.1), Rajnish (P.W.2), the dead-body and containers etc. from the place of occurrence to police station. The dead-body was brought on a tempo. On seeing Ext. Ka.3, Ka.2, Ka.4 and Ka.5, he stated that the Inspector had taken his signatures thereon at police station. The signatures of Ajay, Ramesh and Babulal were taken on Ext. Ka.2 at police station before him. He knew Amaniganj village and Mohd. Bilal is the resident of Amaniganj village. Mohd. Bilal was also present at police station. Radha and Rajneesh were crying a lot at police station. The written report was written at police station on the dictation of the Inspector, upon which signature of Radha (P.W.1) was affixed. He further deposed that Ext.Ka.1 is the same document, which was written by Bilal on the dictation of Inspector.

33. P.W.4-Babu Lal, in his examination-in-chief, had deposed before the trial Court that the incident took place on 20th about two years ago at 04:00 p.m. He was returning from the work place and when he reached near the forest of the village of Hira Lal, then, he listened the noise of crying, then, he reached there. He further deposed that he reached near the house of Hira Lal, where no one had assaulted anyone. Hira Lal was not there. After that, he went to his house. He went along with others to the place where Hira Lal was murdered. He did not see who murdered him. The "panchayatnama' of the dead body was conducted by the Inspector at the place of occurrence. He was also made panch and his signature was also taken thereon. He identified his signature on Ext. Ka.2. The Inspector had recorded his statement.

In cross-examination, P.W.4 had denied that he gave any statement to the Inspector. He did not tell the Inspector that Kamlesh fired with gun; Mool Chandra caught and Rajesh assaulted with Banka. He denied the suggestion that he falsely deposed in connivance with accused. He further deposed that "panchayatnama' of the dead-body was conducted before him and he put signature thereon and he did not see any incident.

P.W.4-Babu Lal had further deposed that he saw in the house of Hira Lal at 04:00 p.m. that the children of Hira Lal were crying, then, on asking, he was told that Hira Lal was murdered. He did not go the house of Hira Lal. The house of Hira Lal is at his village. After that he went to his house. In the evening at about 04:45 p.m., he went along with Pradhan and children of the deceased to the place of occurrence. The marriage of Hira Lal was fourth one. The first wife of Hira Lal was Chirauti, who was murdered. The place of the occurrence is about one kilometer from his house. When he reached at the place of occurrence, then, some of the villagers were already present there. While on way, no talk was made who murdered the deceased and why he was murdered.

34. The learned trial Judge believed the evidence of Radha (P.W. 1) and Rajneesh (P.W. 2) and the recoveries effected at the place of the incident on the pointing out of the convicts/appellants, and convicted and sentenced the appellants, Kamlesh alias Ghora, Rajesh and convict Mool Chandra in the manner stated hereinabove.

35. As mentioned earlier, aggrieved by their convictions and sentences convict/appellant Kamlesh alias Ghora preferred Criminal Appeal No. 1104 of 2009 before this court and convict/appellant Rajesh also preferred another appeal i.e. Criminal Appeal No. 1105 of 2009 and since these appeals arise out of a common factual matrix and impugned judgment, we are disposing them of by one judgment.

36. Heard Shri Ishan Baghel, learned Amicus Curiae for the appellants and Shri Vishwas Shukla, learned Additional Government Advocate for the State and perused the impugned judgment as well as material brought on record.

37. Shri Ishan Baghel, learned Amicus Curiae appearing on behalf of the appellants submits that as per the prosecution case, incident had taken at a spur of moment between the parties on account of which, convict/appellant Kamlesh armed with country made pistol, whereas convict/appellant Rajesh armed with banka assaulted the deceased with their respective weapons and convict/accused Mool Chandra caught hold the deceased. He contended that even if the case is taken at its face value, the present case would not travel beyond Section 304 I.P,C.

38. The next argument of Shri Baghel, learned Amicus Curiae is that two eye-witnesses, i.e. P.W.1 and P.W.2, who are daughter and son of the deceased, respectively, were minor aged about 15 and 8 years, respectively and their presence at the place of occurrence is doubtful and they appear to be a tutored witnesses. He further argued that P.W.4-Babu Lal had turned hostile and did not support the prosecution case. He argued that the dispute arose between the parties with respect to bidai of Smt. Seema, who is the second wife of deceased Hira Lal, as she had left the house of her husband (deceased), and had come to the house of appellants. The prosecution has not examined Smt. Seema to establish the motive attributed to the appellants for committing the murder of the deceased. It is further argued that P.W.1 and P.W.2 are the residents of Village Guhana Khurd which is situated at a distance of 4 kms. away from the village of the appellants.

39. Shri Baghel has further argued that the human blood could not be ascertained in blood stained soil collected by the Investigating Officer from the spot, in the serological examination report, hence the prosecution has failed to prove the place of occurrence.

40. It has been argued by the learned Amicus Curiae for the appellants that there are major contradictions in the statement of P.W.1 and P.W.2 vis-a-vis the first information report and the statement recorded under Section 161 Cr.P.C. regarding the place and manner of occurrence, as such the prosecution story is unworthy to be believed.

41. It has been lastly argued that the trial court committed grave error of law in believing the testimony of P.W.1 and P.W.2, who are minor children of the deceased, before testing the veracity of the testimony of P.W.1 and P.W.2, hence the impugned judgment and order passed by the trial court is liable to be set aside and the appellants be acquitted.

42. Learned A.G.A., on the other hand, has vehemently opposed the submissions advanced by learned Counsel for the appellants and has submitted that the incident took place in the house of the appellants and their sister Smt. Seema was the second wife of the deceased. There was some matrimonial dispute between the two on account of which she has left the house of the deceased and started living with her parents and brothers, i.e. the appellants. The deceased on the day of incident 20.06.2005 had gone to the house of the appellants for bidai of his second wife, namely, Smt. Seema and two children of the deceased, i.e. P.W.1 and P.W.2 were also with him at the house of the appellants. A quarrel took place between the deceased and co-convict Mool Chandra, on account of which deceased became angry and left to go back to his house. After that, the appellants Kamlesh, Ramesh and Mool Chandra surrounded the deceased and Kamlesh fired on the deceased with country made pistol whereas co-convict Mool Chandra caught hold the deceased and appellant Rajesh assaulted him with banka, on account of which the deceased succumbed to his injuries. The incident was witnessed by P.W.1 Radha Devi and P.W.2 Rajneesh and also by one Babu Lal and other persons of the village. The FIR of the incident was lodged by P.W.1 at the concerned police station on 20.06.2005 at 18.40 hours against the convict/ appellants and co-convict Mool Chandra. Hence the trial Court has rightly convicted and sentenced the appellants by means of the impugned judgment.

43. We have examined the submissions advanced by the learned Counsel for the parties and gone through depositions of the prosecution witnesses; the material exhibits tendered and proved by the prosecution; the statements of the appellants recorded under Section 313 Cr.P.C. We have also perused the impugned judgment along with the lower Court record.

44. It would become manifest from the above that the learned trial Judge has based the conviction of the appellants on the testimonies of Radha Devi (P.W. 1) coupled with the evidence of Rajneesh (P.W. 2).

45. We would first like to deal with the evidence of Radha Devi (P.W. 1). Since in paragraph-17 we have set out the prosecution story primarily on the basis of the recitals contained in his examination-in-chief, we do not want to burden our judgment by reiterating the details. In short, her evidence shows :-

2-3 days' before the incident, a scuffle took place between her father Hira Lal (deceased) and her second mother Seema and her father slapped her second mother Seema. On account of this scuffle, her second mother Seema left the house and went to her parental house at Pipri village.

On the date of the incident i.e. on 20.06.2005, her father Hira Lal (deceased) took her and her brother Rajneesh (P.W.2) along and went to Pipri village for taking her second mother back, wherein a quarrel took place between father of her second wife, namely, Mool Chandra (co-convict), brothers of her second wife, namely, Kamlesh and Rajesh (convict/appellants) and her father Hira Lal (deceased), upon which her father Hira Lal (deceased) became angry and took her (P.W.1) and her brother (P.W.2-Rajneesh) and left towards Munna Maurya's orchard when appellants Kamlesh and Rajesh and their father Mool Chandra (co-accused/convict) surrounded her father Hira Lal (deceased). After that, convict/appellant Kamlesh fired two shots upon her father Hira Lal (deceased), as a consequence of which, her father sustained injuries and fell on the ground. P.W.1 had also stated that her father sustained bullet near his waist and blood was oozing out. After that, Mool Chandra (convict/appellant) caught hold of her father Hira Lal and convict/appellant Rajesh slit the throat of her father with banka. At that time, she, her brother Rajneesh (P.W.2) and Babu Lal (P.W.4) were present at the place of the incident and saw the incident. Immediately thereafter, she and her brother Rajneesh (P.W.2) ran towards police station but before reaching police station, they met a person (Mohd. Bilal) and narrated incident to him, whereupon that person prepared a report on a paper and thereafter that person read the report on which the witness made her signature thereon and proceeded along with it to police station and submitted there.

46. We have gone through the statement of P.W.1-Radha Devi and in our view it would be extremely safe to accept it as P.W.1 has stated in her deposition before the trial Court that convict/ appellant fired two shots upon her father Hira Lal as a consequence thereof her father sustained injury of bullet near his waist and blood was oozing out and fell down on the ground. After that Mool Chandra (co-convict) caught hold the deceased Hira Lal and convict/appellant Rajesh slit the throat of her father Hira Lal with Banka. This is corroborated by the nature of the ante-mortem injuries found on the person of Hira Lal by the autopsy surgeon Dr. Anil Kumar Srivastava (P.W. 6) which we have reproduced in entirety in paragraph-25. The perusal of ante-mortem injuries would show that Hira Lal sustained four clean cut incised wounds and one fire arm injury.

47. The statement of Radha Devi P.W.1 further shows that the FIR was lodged by her at 4 p.m. on the date of the incident i.e. on 20.06.2005, which is corroborated by the evidence of P.W.4-Molhe Ram, who registered the case on the basis of the FIR and that of the Investigating Officer S.I. Panna Lal Saroj (P.W. 9).

48. P.W.2-Rajneesh has fully supported the testimony of P.W.1-Radha Devi.

49. Learned Counsel for the appellants argued that P.W.1 and P.W.2 were aged about 15 years and 8 years, respectively, at the time of occurrence and their presence at the place of occurrence is improbable and their evidence being child evidence cannot be said to be trustworthy as they are tutored witnesses.

50. It transpires that the case of the prosecution is mainly dependent on the testimony of Radha Devi and Rajneesh, the child witnesses, who were examined as PW-1 and P.W.2, respectively.

51. Section 118 of the Evidence Act governs competence of the persons to testify which also includes a child witness. Evidence of the child witness and its credibility could depend upon the facts and circumstances of each case. There is no rule of practice that in every case the evidence of a child witness has to be corroborated by other evidence before a conviction can be allowed to stand but as a prudence, the court always finds it desirable to seek corroboration to such evidence from other reliable evidence placed on record. Only precaution which the court has to bear in mind while assessing the evidence of a child witness is that witness must be a reliable one.

52. The Apex Court has consistently held that evidence of a child witness must be evaluated carefully as the child may be swayed by what others tell him and he is an easy prey to tutoring. Therefore, the evidence of a child witness must find adequate corroboration before it can be relied upon. It is more a rule of practical wisdom than law. [See Panchhi and others v. State of U.P, (1998) 7 SCC 177, State of U.P. v. Ashok Dixit and another, (2000) 3 SCC 70, and State of Rajasthan v. Om Prakash, (2002) 5 SCC 745].

53. In Alagupandi alias Alagupandian v. State of Tamil Nadu : (2012) 10 SCC 451, the Apex Court has emphasized the need to accept the testimony of a child with caution after substantial corroboration before acting upon it. It was held that :

"36. It is a settled principle of law that a child witness can be a competent witness provided statement of such witness is reliable, truthful and is corroborated by other prosecution evidence. The court in such circumstances can safely rely upon the statement of a child witness and it can form the basis for conviction as well. Further, the evidence of a child witness and credibility thereof would depend upon the circumstances of each case.

The only precaution which the court should bear in mind while assessing the evidence of a child witness is that the witness must be a reliable one and his/her demeanour must be like any other competent witness and that there exists no likelihood of being tutored. There is no rule or practice that in every case the evidence of such a witness be corroborated by other evidence before a conviction can be allowed to stand but as a rule of prudence the court always finds it desirable to seek corroboration to such evidence from other reliable evidence placed on record. Further, it is not the law that if a witness is a child, his evidence shall be rejected, even if it is found reliable."

54. It is clear from the testimony of PW-1 and P.W.2 that they are the eye-witnesses of the incident. They were aged about 15 years and 8 years, respectively, at the time of the incident. Both the witnesses have categorically stated that on the date of the incident, their father Hira Lal (deceased) had brought them to take back their second mother from the house of maternal grandfather, wherein quarrel took place between their father Hira Lal (deceased) and father of their second mother, namely, Mood Chandra (convict/accused) and brothers of the second mother, namely, Rajesh and Kamlesh (convicts/appellants). After that, their father became annoyed and took them and left for home. When they reached the orchard of Munna Maurya, convicts/appellants Kamlesh and Rajesh and their father Mool Chandra surrounded their father. After that, Kamlesh (convict/appellant) fired two shots upon her father Hira Lal on account of which their father sustained injuries of bullet near his waist and blood was oozing out and after that Mool Chandra (convicts/appellants) caught hold their father and Rajesh (convicts/appellants) slit the throat of their father with banka. P.W.1, in cross-examination, had specifically deposed that two gun shots had been fired upon her father; she saw that both the fires had been shot, but she did not see whether both the gunshots had hit her father or not; she is conversant with right, left and back; one fire was shot on her father from back; another fire was shot on her father from front; after both the shots had been fired, her father fell down on the ground; the gunshot fired from back was fired on her father from a distance of two-three paces; the gunshot fired from front was also fired upon her father from a distance of two-three paces. This statement of P.W.1 has been supported by P.W.2. Both the witnesses right from the beginning had supported the prosecution case and stood as a rock of Gibraltar. The post-mortem report of the deceased Hira Lal has also corroborated the evidence of P.W.1 and P.W.2 as it transpires from the post-mortem report that apart from four incised wounds, deceased Hira Lal sustained one fire arm injury. The evidence of Dr. Anil Kumar Srivastava (P.W.6), who conducted the post-mortem of the deceased Hira Lal, shows that the reason of death of the deceased was shock and haemorrhage due to ante-mortem injuries, which was caused by fire arm injuries and the injuries caused by sharp edged weapon. P.W.6 had also stated that there was no contusion or abrasion on the body of the deceased.

55. P.W.1-Radha Devi, in her deposition, had clearly stated before the trial Court that her relation with the second mother Seema was good when she resided with her; her second mother Seema had loved a lot to her and her brother Rajneesh (P.W.2); food etc. was given to her and her brother; the second mother did not quarrel to her and her brother Rajneesh; both she and her brother Rajneesh had loved a lot to their second mother Seema and they did not make quarrel. When they reached to the house of Mool Chandra, they sat with their mother Seema and their father sat outside of the door and after that scuffle took place for about 10-5 minutes; and after that, their father became annoyed and left with both of them. This itself shows that there were good terms between P.W.1, P.W.2 and their second mother Seema. Even otherwise, there is sufficient corroboration, on record to rule out the possibility of PW 1 and P.W.2 being tutored or used for ulterior purposes by some alleged interested persons. In the absence of any inherent defect we do not find any substance in the plea to reject the testimony of child witnesses i.e. P.W.1 and P.W.2. The factum of the deceased having received fire-arm wound and incised wound with banka are proved by the medical evidence.

56. The recovery of the blood stained banka and empty cartridge at the place of the occurrence and further pistol on the pointing out of convict/appellant Kamlesh leaves no doubt to disbelieve the presence of P.W.1 and P.W.2 at the place of occurrence. The place of occurrence being near the house of the appellants has not been disputed. The report received from FSL as per Exhibit 21 and 22 shows that blood stained soil and plain soil (item 1), banka (item 2), which was used in the commission of crime, and pants (item 3), belt (item 4), shirt (item 5), baniyan (item 6) and underwear (item 7) of the deceased and the knife (MO 1) were found to be stained with blood. Dr. Anil Kumar Srivastava (PW 6) has opined that the injuries found on the dead body of the deceased could be caused with a sharp edged weapon and fire arm. The FSL report (Ext. Ka. 21) further shows that catridge (EC-1) recovered from the place of the occurrence, was fired from the country made pistol in question (1/2005). These all evidences shows that the testimonies of P.W.1 and P.W.2 are trustworthy and reliable. Hence, the plea of the counsel for the appellants in this regard is hereby rejected.

57. So far as the submission of the learned Counsel for the appellant that there is a major contradiction in the statement of P.W.1 and P.W.2 vis-a-vis the First Information Report and and statement under Section 161 Cr.P.C. regarding place and manner of the occurrence, therefore, the prosecution story is unworthy of credit, it is pertinent to mention that the present is a case where incident took place on adjoining way of the residential house of the appellants in the evening at about 4.00 pm. The presence of P.W.1, P.W.2, the deceased Hira Lal and appellants and co-convict Mool Chandra at the place of occurrence was natural. The post-mortem of the deceased Hira Lal was conducted by Dr. Anil Kumar Srivastava, who had appeared, as PW.6 and proved the injuries. The eye- witnesses P.W.1 and P.W.2 have corroborated the incident and have proved the role of convicts/appellants in causing injuries to Hira Lal. PW.1 and P.W.2 have proved the incident and the role of the different convict/appellants in their eye-witnesses account. The mere fact that there are certain inconsistencies with regard to the manner of causing injuries to Hira Lal by the witnesses as noted in the F.I.R. and as noted in the statement under Section 161 Cr.P.C., can in no manner shake the entire evidence or make the statement of witnesses unreliable.

58. The above argument of the learned Counsel for the appellants is not at all acceptable for the reason that before the Police also the role of convicts/appellants was mentioned by eye-witnesses. In their statements under Section 161 Cr.P.C. and before the Court also eye-witnesses proved the role of the appellants and presence of the appellants. Hence, the eye-witness account of witnesses proves the presence of the appellants and commission of murder by them. They have been rightly convicted under Section 302 IPC.

59. It is relevant to add here that each person being a member of unlawful assembly is guilty of offence being committed in prosecution of common object, has been held both by Apex court and High Court. The Apex Court in Chandrappa and Others versus State of Karnataka : (2008) 11 SCC 328 has laid down that it is unreasonable to expect from a witness to give a picture perfect report of the incident and minor discrepancies in their statement have to be ignored. Para 17 and 18 of the judgment is extracted as below:-

"17. It has been contended by the learned Counsel for the appellants that the discrepancies between the statements of the eyewitnesses inter se would go to show that they had not seen the incident and no reliance could thus be placed on their testimony. It has been pointed out that their statements were discrepant as to the actual manner of assault and as to the injuries caused by each of the accused to the deceased and to PW3, the injured eyewitness. We are of the opinion that in such matters it would be unreasonable to expect a witness to give a picture perfect report of the injuries caused by each accused to the deceased or the injured more particularly where it has been proved on record that the injuries had been caused by several accused armed with different kinds of weapons.

18. We also find that with the passage of time the memory of an eyewitness tends to dim and it is perhaps difficult for a witness to recall events with precision. We have gone through the record and find that the evidence had been recorded more than five years after the incident and if the memory had partly failed the eye witnesses and if they had not been able to give an exact description of the injuries, it would not detract from the substratum of their evidence.

It is however very significant that PW 2 is the sister of the four appellants, the deceased and PW 3 Devendrappa and in the dispute between the brothers she had continued to reside with her father Navilapa who was residing with the appellants, but she has nevertheless still supported the prosecution. We are of the opinion that in normal circumstances she would not have given evidence against the appellants but she has come forth as an eyewitness and supported the prosecution in all material particulars."

60. We have gone through the oral evidence recorded before the trial court and are of the view that finding of guilt recorded by trial court is based on correct appreciation of evidence. Minor contradictions and inconsistencies as pointed out by the learned Amicus Curiae for the appellants rightly have been ignored by the trial Court as we find from the evidence on record that the intention/object of the unlawful assembly was to assault and teach the victim a lesson and for that purpose they came armed with weapons immediately when the deceased along with P.W.1 and P.W.2 left from the house of the appellants, and committed the crime.

61. No doubt, in case of direct evidence and the ocular testimony of the eye-witness being found to be trustworthy, reliable and cogent, it will not be necessary for the prosecution to prove the motive for the crime. In the present case, we have already held hereinabove, that the testimony of the eye-witnesses is wholly reliable and trustworthy. Even otherwise, as per the prosecution version, the main motive behind the crime was with regard to the dispute over bidai of the second wife of the deceased Hira Lal and appellants in the instant appeal are the brothers of the second wife and at the time of the incident, the second wife of the deceased was residing at the house of the appellants. When the deceased along with P.W.1 and P.W.2 went to take back his second wife Seema, scuffle took place between appellants and their father and the deceased Hira Lal. After that deceased Hira Lal became annoyed and in an annoyed stage, the deceased Hira Lal left along with P.W.1 and P.W.2 towards his house and in the way, the appellants surrounded and committed the crime. These all establishes the immediate motive of the appellants to commit the murder of the deceased Hira Lal.

62. Considering the aforesaid, we are of the view that the prosecution has proved his case beyond reasonable doubt against appellants Kamlesh alias Ghora and Rajesh and their conviction and sentence for the murder of deceased by the impugned judgment is fully justified.

63. In view of the foregoing discussions, the conviction and sentence of the appellants Kamlesh alias Ghora and Rajesh for the murder of deceased Hira Lal by means of the impugned order dated 06.04.2009/09.04.2009 does not call for any interference by this Court.

Appellants Kamlesh alias Ghora and Rajesh are in jail and they shall serve out the sentence as ordered by the trial Court.

64. Both the above-captioned appeals stand dismissed.

65. Let a copy of this judgment and the original record be transmitted to the trial court concerned forthwith for necessary information and compliance.

THE HON'BLE RAMESH SINHA, J.
THE HON'BLE MRS. SAROJ YADAV, J.

Capital Case No. 1 of 2019
connected with
Jail Appeal No. 2322 of 2019

State of U.P. ...Appellant
Versus
Santosh Kumar Nat & Anr. ...Respondents

Counsel for the Appellant:
Govt. Advocate

Counsel for the Respondents:

A. Criminal Law - Indian Penal Code,1860 - Sections 302 & 201 - Circumstantial Evidence.--The last seen evidence is very important evidence and if proved and found trustworthy it can singularly lead to the inference of guilt.

B. In case of circumstantial evidence there should not be any snap in the chain of circumstances. If there is any snap in the chain, the accused is entitled to benefit of doubt. If some of the circumstances in the chain can be explained by any other reasonable hypothesis, then also the accused is entitled to benefit of doubt.

C. Evidence of "last seen together" do not by themselves lead to the inference that the accused committed the crime unless and until there is something more establishing connectivity between the accused and the crime.

D. Section 106 of Evidence Act.--- In case it is established that the accused was last seen together with the deceased prosecution is exempted to prove exact happening of the incident and burden of proof shifts on the accused to prove the same.

E. Time gap between last seen alive and recovery of dead body must be so small that the possibility of any person other than the accused being the author of the crime becomes impossible.

F. It is the nature and gravity of the crime and the manner in which it is committed which are germane for consideration of appropriate punishment in a criminal trial.

Capital Case is dismissed. Jail Appeal is partly allowed. (E-11)

(A) INTRODUCTION

(1) Two accused persons, namely, Santosh Kumar Nat and Mamman alias Sonu alias Tejpal, were tried by the Additional District & Sessions Judge/ Special Judge (POCSO Act), Faizabad in Special Sessions Trial No 84 of 2014 (C.N.R. No. UPFZ01-001666-2014, Registration No. 466 of 2014) : State Vs. Santosh Kumar Nat and another, arising out of Case Crime No. 357 of 2014, under Sections 302, 376A, 376D, 377 and 201 of the Indian Penal Code, 1860 (in short, referred hereinafter as "I.P.C.') and Section 3/4 of the Protection of Children from Sexual Offences Act, 2012 (in short, referred hereinafter as ''POCSO Act'), Police Station Kotwali Bikapur, District Faizabad.

(2) Vide judgment and order dated 16.11.2019, the Additional District & Sessions Judge/Special Judge (POCSO Act), Faizabad, convicted and sentenced accused persons, Santosh Kumar Nat and Mamman alias Sonu alias Tejpal, in the manner as stated hereinbelow :-

i. Under Section 302 I.P.C. to be hanged to death till they are dead and fine of Rs.50,000/-. In default of fine, two years additional rigorous imprisonment;

ii. Under Section 376A I.P.C. to undergo life imprisonment;

iii. Under Section 376D I.P.C. to undergo rigorous imprisonment for life along with fine of Rs.25,000/-. In default of fine, one year additional rigorous imprisonment;

iv. Under Section 377 I.P.C. to undergo rigorous imprisonment for life along with fine of Rs.25,000/-. In default of fine, one year additional rigorous imprisonment; and

v. Under Section 201 I.P.C. to undergo seven years R.I. and fine of Rs.10,000/-. In default of fine, six years additional rigorous imprisonment.

All the sentences were directed to run concurrently.

(3) Aggrieved by the aforesaid judgment and order dated 16.11.2019, convicts/appellants, Santosh Kumar Nat and Mamman alias Sonu alias Tejpal, preferred Jail Appeal No. 2322 of 2019 : Santosh Kumar Nat and another Vs. State of U.P.

(4) Capital Case No. 1 of 2019 arises out of the Reference made by the learned trial Court under Section 366 (1) of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 to this Court for confirmation of the death sentence of convicts Santosh Kumar Nat and Mamman alias Sonu alias Tejpal.

(5) Since the above-captioned capital sentence reference and jail appeal arise out of a common factual matrix and impugned judgment dated 16.11.2019, we are disposing of these matters, by this common judgment.

(6) In view of the judgments of the Apex Court in Bhupinder Sharma Vs. State of H.P. : (2003) 8 SCC 551 and Nipun Saxena and another Vs. Union of India and others : 2018 SCC OnLine 2772, the name of the victim is not being mentioned and describe her as "victim X" in the judgment hereinafter.

(B) FACTS

(7) The informant Sri Prem Chandra (P.W.1) had filed written report (Ext. Ka.1), alleging therein that on 11.09.2014, at about 06:00 p.m., his daughter, the "victim X', aged about 06 years, had gone from house on the outer side of village for call of nature, after informing to her mother Usha (P.W.3) but she ("victim X') did not return home, then, they searched a lot but could not trace her. His daughter's appearance is dark colour; small hair on the head; short height 2¾ feet; average built; barefoot; and wore pink colour frock, tight pink-colour paijama, pink colour underwear, silver ear rings in the ears; and simple nose pin on the nose. His daughter is frequent in conversation and is aware of her name and address. It has further been stated that he did not have any enmity with anyone nor has any land dispute.

(8) On the basis of the aforesaid written report (Ext. Ka.1), an F.I.R. (Ext.

Ka.9), bearing Case Crime No. 357 of 2014, was registered under Section 363 I.P.C., Police Station Kotwali Bikapur, District Faizabad, against unknown person.

(9) The evidence of P.W.6-Constable Rakesh Kumar shows that on 12.09.2014, he was posted as Constable at Police Station Bikapur, District Faizabad. On the said date, on the basis of the written report (Ext. Ka.1) submitted by the informant Prem Chandra (P.W.1), an F.I.R. (Ext. Ka.9) bearing Case Crime No. 357 of 2014, under Section 363 I.P.C. was registered by him against unknown person at 12:30 a.m. in chik no. 191 of 2014.

In cross-examination, P.W.6-Constable Rakesh Kumar had deposed that this case is five years old and it was not registered in the presence of S.O. but it was registered in the presence of the officer present in night. The informant Prem Chandra (P.W.1) had come to his office with a written report for lodging F.I.R. He further deposed that he could not tell whether informant Prem Chandra (P.W.1) was literate or not. When the informant (P.W.1) came for lodging the report, then, he came with written report with signature affixed thereon. He saw the written report. On seeing the written report, it appeared that it was written by some other person and the signature only thereon was of the informant (P.W.1). When the informant (P.W.1) came with written report, he immediately started writing the case. He did not remember how long he (P.W.1) stayed at police station. He further deposed that the mobile number, which was written in the report, was not verified by him. When the informant (P.W.1) had come to lodge the case, it was 12:30 in the night. He did not remember who was the staff present in the police station at that time apart of him. The investigation of the case was handed over to SI Munendra Pal Singh (P.W.9), In-charge of Chaure Bazar outpost. The information in this regard was given to SI Munendra Pal Singh (P.W.9) by post on the instruction of S.H.O. He was posted at police station Bikapur from 2012 to 2014. He did not know when the name of the accused in this case came to light.

(10) A perusal of the chik F.I.R. (Ext. Ka. 9) reveals that the distance between the place of the incident and police station Bikapur is 12 Kms. It is significant to mention that a perusal of the chik FIR also shows that on the basis of written report (Ext. Ka.1), Case Crime No. 357 of 2014, under Section 363 I.P.C. was registered against unknown person.

(11) The evidence of P.W.4-Awadhesh Kumar shows that on 12.09.2014, he was posted as Naib Tehsildar, Bikapur, Faizabad. On the said date, "panchayatnama' of the deceased "victim X' daughter of Prem Chandra Kori, resident of Chaure Chandauli (Bhaujai-Ka-Purwa), Police Station Kotwali Bikapur, was conducted on spot between 10:30 a.m.-01:00 p.m. In the presence of "panchan' Prem Chandra Kori, Phool Chandra, Bhagelu, Dipak and Surjeet, "panchayatnama' (Ext. Ka.2) was written before him by SI and got it prepared with his signature. He got prepared letter to Reserve Inspector (Ext. K.3), letter to the Chief Medical Officer (Ext. Ka.4), photo lash (Ext. Ka 5), Form-13 (Ext. Ka.6) and specimen seal (Ext. Ka.7), under his handwriting and signature on the spot.

In cross-examination, P.W.4-Awadhesh Kumar had deposed that he had got the "panchayatnama' prepared of this case. He had appointed witnesses of inquest, out of whom two persons were of the family of the deceased and rest from outside. Out of two persons in the family of the deceased, one person was the father of the deceased, namely, Prem Chandra (P.W.1) and names of others were not remembered. He took the opinion of witnesses of inquest collectively as well as separately. All of them told that death of the deceased seems to be on account of drowning in water.

(12) The investigation of the case was conducted by P.W.9-S.I Munendra Pal Singh, who, in his examination-in-chief, had deposed that when he was posted as Chowki In-charge, Chaure Bazar, Police Station Bikapur, District Faizabad, investigation of Case Crime No. 357 of 2014, under Section 363 I.P.C. was handed over to him against unknown persons. The copy of the chik report was supplied to him during the investigation at the place of incident through Home Guard. He started to conduct the investigation of the case from 12.09.2014. He recorded the statement of the informant (P.W.1), his wife Smt. Usha (P.W.3) and his mother Smt. Bachauna (P.W.2) and during the investigation, he recovered the dead body of the missing girl "victim X' from "Gadayee' (small pond). On the direction of Naib Tehsildar, ''panchayatnama' was prepared and after preparing it, the dead body was sent for post-mortem. He, thereafter, inspected the place of recovery of the dead body and recorded the statement of witness of the incident and witness of inquest Sri Surjeet Bhagelu. He also inspected the place of the incident. He prepared the site plan of the place of the incident (Ext. Ka.11) and also site plan of the recovery of the deadbody (Ext. Ka.12). He proved the sealed articles under recovery memo (Ext. Ka. 13), which were recovered from the place of the incident and kept in six different containers. He further deposed that during investigation on the basis of evidence of the witnesses, he found the involvement of Santosh Kumar Nat and Mamman alias Tej Pal alias Sonu Nat (appellants) in the incident. He deposed that after receipt of the second copy of post-mortem report in the office, after its perusal and on confirmation of committing rape and unnatural sex with the "victim X', deleted Section 363 I.P.C., added Sections 376 (1), 377, 302, 201 I.P.C. and Section 3/4 of POCSO Act and entry of which was made in the G.D. The further investigation of the case was done by S.H.O. Sripal Singh, who had died. He had seen him reading and writing. He further deposed that S.H.O. Sripal Singh, on perusal of the post-mortem report, found that the cause of death was due to respiratory obstruction and ante-mortem injuries and recorded in CD II. He recorded the statement of Sagar Nat, Santosh Kumar Nat, Suraj Kumar Singh, Indra Bahadur Yadav. In CD III, the search and address clues of the accused have been observed. In CD No. 4, 5 and 6, endorsement in respect of clues of address was made. In GD No. 7, endorsement of the arrest and recording of statements of accused Santosh Nat and Mamman Nat was made and during investigation, Sections 376A and 376D I.P.C. were added.

In cross-examination, P.W.-9 Munendra Pal Singh had deposed that recovered articles were sent to laboratory for medical examination, which were not received so far. He did not record the statement of accused Indra Bahadur Yadav nor he met him. He was the first Investigating Officer in this case. He conducted the investigation of the case till 12.09.2014. He got the investigation of this case after midnight on 12.09.2014 but did not remember the time, however, it was almost 1:30 a.m. in the night. He conducted the investigation till 12.09.2014 at 21:20 hours. He conducted the investigation for less than 24 hours. The case was not registered in his presence. On 12.09.2014, the In-charge of the police station was Inspector Sripal Singh. He further deposed that during his investigation, he recorded the statement of the informant Prem Chandra (P.W.1), his wife (P.W.3) and his mother Smt. Bachauna (P.W.2). After receiving material of case, he had perused the chik F.I.R. In the written report, word "author' is not mentioned. He deposed that he did not see at the moment who wrote Ext. Ka. 1. He denied the suggestion that written report of the said case was written by him.

P.W.9 Munendra Pal Singh, in his cross-examination, had further deposed that the case was lodged on 12.09.2014. He was not at the police station when the case was lodged as he was patrolling in the area. On the information of villagers, he went to the village. Home Guard Ashok Pandey had brought the copy of the FIR on the spot. He deposed that if any information/Tahrir has been sent by the informant (P.W.1) to the police station through post, then, he is not aware of it. He reached the spot at around 1:00 am in the night. He went alone to the village. The police force had arrived after 10-12 minutes when he reached the spot. He did not remember, who came at that time. Inspector in-Charge Sripal Singh had come to the spot and other people also came. The Inspector In-Charge had arrived only after 10-12 minutes by the government-vehicle. Sub-Inspector Rajesh Yadav, Sriprakash Singh and other police personnel were there. He saw the Chick F.I.R. on the spot and started the investigation. On the spot, informant Prem Chandra (P.W.1) and his wife Usha Devi (P.W.3) and his mother Bachauna Devi (P.W.2) were present. Other people of the village had also gathered. They started to search the missing girl. The search for the girl continued till her body was not found. The body of the girl was found in a "Gadayee' (small pond) at 10:00 am. The informant of the case was also along with him. He did not write the written report. The Investigating Officer was changed on 12.09.14. Being a case of 302 IPC, the investigation was handed over to SHO Sripal Singh. The Investigating Officer was changed after recovery of dead-body. His transfer from Bikapur Police Station took place after 10-15 days. He did not know who became I.O. after Sripal. He did not know that the body of the girl was recovered in the presence of accused Santosh Kumar s/o Kamala Prasad and Indra Bahadur Son of Vindeshwari. He is not aware that accused Santosh Kumar s/o Kamla Prasad was the driver of a local MLA Abhay Singh. It is wrong to say that after arresting the accused Santosh and Indra Bahadur from the spot, they were released from the police station under the pressure of Abhay Singh. The pond from where the corpse was recovered, was filled with water. Immediately after the body was found, it was sent for post-mortem after "panchnama' in the same condition. The body was not washed with water. He is not aware of the fact that on the complaint of the informant, his wife and villagers, the Investigating Officer was changed. Later on, the Investigating Officer Sripal Singh had passed away. He did not arrest the accused. He did not know who had arrested them. He is not aware that the villagers had given a complaint to the Governor. He is also not aware who had sent the sample for DNA test. He denied the suggestion that he has not done the investigation fairly and had implicated the innocent and saved the accused persons.

(13) The evidence of P.W.8 Manoj Kumar shows that on 20.09.2014, he was posted as SSI at police station Bikapur, district Faizabad. On the said date, the investigation of Case Crime No. 357 of 2014, under Sections 376 (1), 376A, 376 D, 377, 302, 201 I.P.C. and 3/4 of the POCSO Act was conducted by his erstwhile Investigating Officer Sripal Singh and after his transfer, the investigation of the case was entrusted to him. After taking over the investigation of the case and on perusal of the post-mortem report of deceased "victim X' as well as original ''panchayatnama', he made endorsement of the same in the case diary and also enclosed the same with case diary. During investigation, on 21.09.2014, he recorded the statement of witness of ''panchayatnama' Phoolchand s/o Ramraj resident of Bhujai Ka Purwa, Chaure Chandauli, witness Dipak Kumar s/o Rajaram, Prem Chandra s/o Ram Raj (informant P.W.1). During interrogation, the aforesaid witnesses confirmed to him the murder of the deceased "victim X' by accused Santosh Kumar and Mamman. After that, Sub-Inspector Uday Raj Yadav took over the investigation of the case being Station In-charge.

In cross-examination, P.W.8-Manoj Kumar had deposed that on 20.09.2014, the investigation of the case was entrusted to him. Prior to him, the investigation of this case was conducted by the then Inspector-in-charge Sripal Singh. On account of the transfer of the then Inspector-in-Charge Sripal Singh to non-district, the investigation of the case was entrusted to him. From 13.9.14 to 18.9.14, the investigation was conducted by the former Investigating Officer Sripal Singh and during that time, his posting was in Bikapur police station. He was with him (Sripal Singh) occasionally during the investigation. It has been mentioned by the earlier Investigating Officer that the accused Santosh Kumar Nat and Mamman could run away to Mumbai. Accused Santosh Kumar Nat was not arrested from Mumbai. He stated that it is true that in the statement given in the Court by informant Prem Chandra (P.W.1) on oath, it is mentioned that Santosh (accused) was arrested by the police from Mumbai. He had no knowledge whether the informant or villagers had given any application against the Investigating Officer. He further stated that it is true that the arrest of accused Santosh Kumar Nat was made on 18.9.14 i.e. a week after the incident. He denied the suggestion that he also went to Mumbai to arrest the accused Santosh Kumar Nat.

P.W.8 further deposed that investigation of the case remained with him for two days. After that, the newly appointed SHO SI Shri Uday Raj Yadav (P.W.7) took over the investigation. In these two days, he was able to take the statement of witness of "panchan' only. He was not present at the time of the recovery of the dead body. He was at the police station at that time. He could not tell in whose presence the body was recovered. He denied the suggestion that the investigation was withdrawn from him on account of some complaint. He further deposed that he could not tell when the DNA of the accused was sent for the report. During his investigation, he did not take action for DNA report. He did not remember that when the incident took place and Abhai Singh was the local MLA or not. He denied the suggestion that he is deliberately expressing ignorance about Abhay Singh was the MLA. He further deposed that he had no knowledge whether Santosh Kumar son of Kamala Prasad was the driver of MLA Abhay Singh or not. He further stated that he went to the house of the accused in the past before the investigation came to him but how long back, he did not remember. He stated that it is true that after the incident took place, he had gone to the house of the accused. After the investigation was taken over from him by the other Investigating Officer, he went a couple of times along with the second Investigating Officer. He did not remember at this time for how long he remained posted in Thana Bikapur. Accused Mamman was not arrested from the truck. He was arrested from Kudemar intersection. He was in the arrest team. He could not tell the distance of the place of arrest from the house of the accused Mamman. He denied the suggestion that during those two days' of investigation, he conducted the investigation improperly. He also denied the suggestion that for implicating the accused, he dropped the accused Santosh Kumar S/o Kamala Prasad under the pressure of MLA.

(14) Further investigation of the case was conducted by P.W.7-Uday Raj Yadav. He, in his examination-in-chief, had deposed that the in-charge of Police Station Bikapur is called Kotwal. In other words, it is Inspector. At the time of taking over the investigation of the case, he was Station Officer, Bikapur. Among the former Investigating Officers, Sripal Singh was the Inspector and other two Investigating Officers, SSI Manoj Kumar (P.W.8) and Munendra Pal Singh (P.W.9), were of SI rank police officers. Both these police officers were of his rank and were equivalent in rank to him. Till the time he remained posted at the police station, the DNA test report of this case was not received from the Forensic Science Laboratory. The DNA test report has not yet been received from the Forensic Science Laboratory on the record. Letter No. TSF 27/2013 dated 14.2.2014, sent by the Forensic Science Laboratory, came to his notice and after redressing the defects, the letter was sent again but the DNA report has not been received yet. If it is received, it should have been attached with the record. He stated that the local MLA was Abhay Singh at the time of the incident and there was a Samajwadi Party Government. The former Investigating Officer had called Santosh son of Kamala Prasad for interrogation and subsequently released him on finding no evidence against him. This fact was in his knowledge. Indra Bahadur Yadav was also interrogated but he was not arrested. The body of the deceased was recovered on the next day after the incident from a "Gadayee' (small pond) located behind the house of accused Santosh. He did not know whether Santosh son Kamala Prasad was the driver of MLA Abhay Singh or not. Abhay Singh was the MLA of Samajwadi Party. He was a member of Samajwadi Party. He stated that he could not say anything about the statement of the informant (P.W.1) wherein he had stated that under the pressure of the police, the names of Santosh S/o Kamla Prasad and Indra Bahadur Yadav were dropped from this case but he did not find any evidence against them. He conducted the investigation of the case on the basis of circumstantial evidence. He did not interrogate Santosh son of Kamala Prasad and Indra Bahadur. On the basis of the case diary compiled by the former Investigating Officer, he found no evidence in the case diary against the above two persons. He further stated that he had no knowledge that Indra Bahadur Yadav was a dominant person of that village. He stated that in this case, earlier the missing report of the deceased was filed. After that, her dead body was recovered. He further deposed that according to his knowledge, the missing report was registered before the body was found. He had no knowledge after how many days copy of the FIR was given to the informant (P.W.1). He recorded the statement of the informant of this case Prem Chandra (P.W.1), the mother of the informant, namely, Mrs. Bachauna (P.W.2) and the wife of the informant, namely, Usha (P.W.3). He denied the suggestion that he had arbitrarily written the statements of Prem Chandra (P.W.1), the mother of the informant, namely, Mrs. Bachauna (P.W.2) and the wife of the informant, namely, Usha (P.W.3). He was appointed as Investigating Officer of the case after a week of the incident but did not remember the date. He further denied the suggestion that former three Investigating Officers were removed from this case under the public pressure. He stated that due to the change of offences/sections in the present case, the investigation of the case was taken over from the previous Investigating Officers according to the rules. He further stated that they were not removed by any order.

P.W.7 had denied the suggestion that on the basis of the complaint of the informant and villagers, the former Investigating Officers were removed. He himself had recorded the statement of the informant, his mother and his wife. Accused Mamman had told in his statement under Section 161 Cr.P.C. that he is doing job of a Cleaner in a truck. Both the accused were arrested by the earlier Investigating Officer. The accused in this case were in jail during the period when he did investigation. Their names came to light on the basis of evidences collected by the earlier Investigating Officers. The accused were arrested by the Investigating Officer Sripal Singh and his team. He did not remember the date on which the arrest of accused Santosh Kumar Nat was made. It was mentioned in the case diary. He did not know from where the arrest was made. He did not know about the date of arrest of accused Santosh Kumar Nat. He had not met the accused before forwarding the charge sheet. He did not talk to the accused about the incident as he had many other evidences. He denied the suggestion that there was any demonstration at the police station due to the proceedings in the investigation of this case. He had no knowledge whether the demand for a CBI inquiry was raised in relation to this incident or not. He denied the suggestion that he forwarded the charge-sheet against the accused to the Court without any evidence.

(15) Going backward, the autopsy on the dead-body of "victim X' was conducted on 12.09.2014 at 03:50 p.m. by Dr. Devendra Kishor Sarraf (P.W. 5), who found on her person ante-mortem injuries, enumerated hereinafter :--

"Ante-mortem injuries of deceased ''victim X'

(8) Goose skin over hand & feet present."

The cause of death spelt out in the autopsy report of the deceased "victim

X' was asphyxia as a result of ante-mortem smothering.

(16) It is significant to mention that in his deposition in the trial Court, Dr. Devendra Kishor Sarraf (P.W. 5) has reiterated the said cause of death and also stated therein that on 12.09.2014, he was posted as Ophthalmologist in Sriram Hospital, Ayodhya, Faizabad. On that day, his duty was with his colleagues Dr. AK Singh and Dr. BM Maurya in P.M. House, Faizabad. On the same day, the body of deceased "victim X' daughter of Prem Chandra Kori resident of Bhulai-Ka-Purwa, PS Bikapur, Faizabad, was brought by C.O. Rajat Singh and C.P. Mahendra Verma of Kotwali Bikapur, Faizabad at 03:45 p.m. The dead body was identified by the father of the deceased Prem Chandra (P.W.1). He started to conduct the post-mortem of the dead body of the deceased at 03:50 p.m. and completed it at 05:00 p.m. Ten forms were sent with the body. He further deposed that the age of the deceased was about 6 years; her height was 112 cms; her physique was of medium average stature; stiffness was present in the upper and lower limbs of the body; eyes and mouth were half-open; teeth were 12/12; the inner part of the mouth and the nails had become oily; and the eye membranes were congested.

Dr. Devendra Kishor Sarraf (P.W. 5), in his examination-in-chief, had further deposed that on internal examination, he found that skull was normal; brain membrane was congested; the brain was congested; the teeth were 12/12, larynx and vocal cords were normal, trachea & hyoid bone were normal; ribs in chest, breathing tube were normal; both lungs were congested; the membrane around the heart was congested; the right corner of the heart was full and the left was empty; the large blood vessel was normal; abdominal hair was normal; 150 ml pasty material was present in the stomach; pasty material and gases were present in the small intestine; faecal matter and gas were present in the large intestine; liver was congested and gallbladder was empty; pancreas was congested; both kidneys were congested; and the bladder was empty. He had deposed that the expected time of death was approximately one day and the cause of death was suffocation due to smothering.

In cross-examination, P.W.5 Dr. Devendra Kishor Sarraf had deposed that he had no knowledge with regard to test results sent in envelops 1 to 6 at the time of post-mortem. He opined that there can be a difference of 3 to 6 hours pertaining to the time of the death of the deceased. After the autopsy, he handed over the body to the police. He denied the suggestion that he had made any carelessness during the course of post-mortem.

(17) At this juncture, it would be relevant to mention here that the recovered items, samples of the deceased as well as blood samples of the accused were sent for DNA Test to the Forensic Science Laboratory, Mahanagar, Lucknow. Vide report dated 21.08.2019, Forensic Science Laboratory, Mahanagar, Lucknow has reported as under :-

(18) The medical examination of convicts/appellants Santosh Kumar and Mamman alias Tejpal were conducted on 18.09.2014 at 12:15 p.m. and 12:05 p.m., respectively, at Community Health Centre, Bikapur, Faizabad by Dr. Satish Chandra, who found the following injuries on their person :-

"Injury of Santosh Kumar, s/o Ram Kumar

A black mole over right side of face about 2.5 c.m. below from the lower lid."

Injury of Mamman alias Tejpal, s/o Late Hari Ram

A black mole over right side of face about 5.5 cm below from the lateral of the Rt. eye."

(19) It is pertinent to mention that Dr. Satish Chandra was not examined. However, he stated in the injury report that there is no injury.

(20) The case was committed to the Court of Sessions in usual manner where the convicts/appellants were charged for the offence punishable under Sections 376A, 376D, 377, 302, 201 I.P.C. and Section 3/4 of the Protection of Children from Sexual Offences Act, 2012. They pleaded not guilty to the charges and claimed to be tried. Their defence was of denial.

(21) During the trial, in all, the prosecution examined 9 witnesses viz. P.W.1-Prem Chandra, who is the father of the deceased and informant of this case, P.W.2-Smt. Bachauna, who is the grand-mother of the deceased, P.W.3-Smt. Usha, who is the mother of the deceased, P.W.4-Sri Awadhesh Kumar, in whose presence "panchayatnama' was conducted, P.W.5-Dr. Devendra Kishor Sarraf, who conducted the post-mortem of the deceased, P.W.6-CP Sri Rajesh Kumar Pal, who had lodged the chik F.I.R. on the basis of written report of informant P.W.1-Prem Chandra and P.W.7-

Uday Raj Yadav, P.W.8-Sri Manoj Kumar and P.W.9-Sri Munendra Pal Singh, who were the Investigating Officers of the case. From the side of appellants/convicts, Sri Saeed Husain was examined as D.W.1.

(22) P.W.1-Prem Chandra, in his examination-in-chief, had deposed that he had one daughter and three sons, out of whom his daughter had died in the incident. The incident is of 11.09.14. His daughter "victim X', aged about 6 years, went from home at 6 o'clock in the evening for urinal after informing his wife Usha (P.W.3) but his daughter did not return. He searched his daughter in the village but could not find her. On the same day, he went to the police station Bikapur for giving information to the police about the incident. After getting scribed the report (5A) of the incident from a man in the village itself and putting his signature thereon, he gave that to the police station. He proved the written report (Ext. Ka.1). He further stated that on the next day of the incident, his mother and wife told him that on the day of the incident, his mother was sitting in front of Raja Pradhan's house and saw that "X' (deceased) was going to Santosh's house with some items. The name of Santosh's father is Ram Kumar Nat. In the house of Santosh (appellant no.1), Indra Kumar Yadav, Mamman alias Sonu (appellant no.2) and Santosh Kumar (appellant no.1) were sitting and drinking alcohol. On the second day, around 9-10 a.m., the dead body of "X' was found in the "Gadayee' (small pond) next to the house of Santosh Nat (appellant no.1). He had full belief that Santosh Nat (appellant no.1), Mamman alias Sonu (appellant no.2) and Indra Bahadur Yadav sexually assaulted his daughter "victim X' under intoxication, thereafter, killed her and thrown her body in a "gadayee' (small pond). The Inspector came to the spot.

P.W.1-Prem Chandra, in his cross-examination, had deposed that he did not go to work on the day of the incident. He worked in brick slurry. He also go outside the village to work. He goes to work for a distance of 10-15 kms. On the day of the incident, he was at home. He went to the farm for about two hours. He went to the farm at around 2.30 p.m. and came back in about two hours. He came to know about the missing of his girl around 6:30 p.m. His wife and his mother told him. On getting information, first he searched around the village along with family members. He searched whole night in the village but no trace was found. Even outside the village, about 10 km distance trace was made with the help of family members. She was found around 9:30 a.m. and till then they were still searching. For lodging the report of the incident, he had gone to the Village Pradhan's house at around 8.30 a.m., where the Village Pradhan had telephoned the police station. Then, around 09:00 p.m., the police had come to village. The policemen were also co-operating in the search in the night. He further deposed that he did not go to the police station to lodge the report. The report was written in the village itself by the Inspector, whose name is not known. The report was written in front of the house of Santosh Kumar.

P.W.1 Prem Chandra was shown the said report (Ext. Ka.1), then, he stated that this report was not written in front of the house of Santosh. However, his signature was on Exhibit Ka-1. He did not remember when and where he signed it. He himself wrote Exhibit Ka-2. He wrote this application in the evening but could not tell its time. When the report was written, no one else was present there except him and it was written at his house. Before writing the report, he had inquired from family members and the villagers. Exhibit Ka-1 was sent by post to Inspector-in-Charge Kotwali Bikapur and he posted it from Chaure Bazar Post Office. He sent the same on the next day of the incident. It was sent by pasting ticket on the envelope. He had pasted ticket of Rs.100/-. He went to the police station around 17th. The Village Pradhan, his wife, his mother and 10-12 people from his village went along with him to the police station. At the police station, no paper was signed by him. His report at the police station was registered three to four days after the incident. He signed Exhibit Ka-1 after three to four days of the incident. Apart from Exhibit A-1, he had not signed on any other paper. The memo paper number 9A was written on the date of recovery of the body of his girl in the evening itself, on which his wife and he had signed. No one else had put signature thereon before him. He did not know what was written in the memo. The paper of memo was not blank but when he signed, signature of any villager was not there on the memo. He did not know Dilip Kumar Choubey. He did not even know Sangeeta Devi and Pooja Rani Patel and Sunita Devi. The memo was not written before him. He did not know who wrote that. The signature was done in the village itself. He did not read memo and was not read over to him. He did not read the Chik FIR nor was read over to him. He further deposed that the action of the police about the incident was not satisfactory.

P.W.1 had further deposed that accused Santosh and Mamman are residents of his village. The house of Santosh is about 500 meters away from his house. The house of Mamman is about 100 meters away from his house. There are 20-25 houses in his village. He met the accused in the morning of the incident. Accused Mamman used to work as a helper on the truck from one week prior to the incident. Accused Santosh Kumar did not do any work, rather he used to drink alcohol and roam here and there. His family consisted of Santosh and his sister who lived in Mumbai. Since she belonged to the village, he knew Santosh's sister. He did not know whether Santosh knew or did the work of television and electricals. There is electricity in Santosh's house. There is no electricity in his (P.W.1) house. There is no electricity in 10-12 houses in the village. The rest of the houses have electricity. Santosh was caught by the police from Mumbai. Santosh had fled away to Mumbai after the incident. The accused Santosh was caught by the police a week after the incident. The information about the arrest was received from the police. The whole village came to know that Santosh had been arrested by police from Mumbai. Santosh has three rooms in his house. A thatch was laid on the front. The accused Mamman was caught by the police after the incident from a truck. This fact was also known to the whole village. In the house of Mamman, his brother, sister-in-law and three children of his brother were there. He has no sister. Mamman's brother worked as a labourer. They also went to the house of the accused in search of the girl. The policemen had gone too. He further deposed that there were two locks put on, in Santosh Kumar's house. Neither they nor the villagers saw Santosh Kumar locking his house. Santosh had left his house in the evening on the day of the incident. In the evening, Santosh was seen by the villagers and the people of the market before prevailing darkness. It was mild cold at the time of the incident. The girl's body was found before lodging the report. Everything was written correctly in the report. It is rightly written in the report that when she did not return home, they searched a lot but no trace could be found. Apart from these accused, Santosh Kumar son Kamala and Indra Bahadur son Vindeshwari Yadav were also involved in the incident. Indra Bahadur Yadav belonged to his village. He already knew him. Indra Bahadur was an influential and powerful man in the village. He lodged the report against him and the policemen had also caught him but later on released him. His daughter did not use to go to the house of the accused. She knew all the four accused. The police did not challan Santosh son of Kamla and Indra Bahadur in this case. Santosh son of Kamla is the driver of local MLA Abhay Singh. Abhay Singh is the MLA of Samajwadi Party. He admitted the suggestion that the police did not challan Santosh son of Kamla and Indra Bahadur Yadav under the pressure of MLA. He had complained about this to the higher police officers but no action was taken. He got the copy of Chik FIR, about 10 days after the incident. Kotwal had given it, he did not remember his name. He also denied the suggestion that the police did not challan the real accused and he has given a false statement under pressure of the police.

(23) P.W.2-Bachauna, in her examination-in-chief, had deposed that the incident happened about 8 months ago at about 5:00 p.m. She was on the roadside at Raja Pradhan's door. Her grand-daughter "victim X', aged about 6 years, was returning from the shop with "namkeen' and "toffey' in her hand. She called and asked "where "victim X' was going', then she said that Santosh uncle had asked to bring "Namkeen' and she was going there to give it. Santosh gave Rs.10/-. She saw Santosh and Mamman alias Sonu and Bahadur at the door of Santosh. Santosh son of Kamala was also there. The name of the father of Santosh present in Court is Ram Kumar. She saw her grand-daughter "victim X' going in the house of Santosh Nat along with Mamman. The electricity was in at the house of Santosh and T.V. was on play. When she did not come back, Santosh and Mamman took "victim X' in the room. On the next day, the body of "victim X' was found in a "Gadyee' (small pond) behind the house of Santosh. Her son (P.W.1) had lodged the report of the incident. She had told all these things to the Inspector. The Inspector had come to the spot and had conducted "panchayatnama' of the dead-body.

In cross-examination, P.W.2-Bachauna had stated that there are two persons named Santosh in her village. The name of the father of one Santosh (accused) is Ram Kumar and the name of the father of another Santosh Kumar is Kamla. In connection with this incident, the police had also caught another Santosh Kumar son of Kamla, but left him after taking bribery. In connection therewith, he had also complained to the higher officials that the police had released Santosh Kumar son of Kamla after taking bribe. It was his son who had lodged an FIR in this incident and he also complained that the police had released Santosh Kumar son of Kamla after taking bribe. Santosh son of Kamla is the driver of MLA Abhay Singh, under his pressure, the police released Santosh Kumar son of Kamla. Santosh son of Kamla was involved in this incident. Indra Bahadur Yadav son of Vindeshwari Yadav was also involved in this incident, whose name was dropped by the police after taking bribe. She had no enmity with Santosh and Mamman. On the day of the incident, she saw Santosh and Mamman at the door of Pradhan. The distance of the Pradhan's house from his house is 1-1½ bigha. The house of Santosh son of Ram Kumar falls between her house and the Pradhan's house. They are not her "pattidar'. She is Kori by caste. No one used to come and go from her house to the house of Santosh and Mamman or vice-varsa. The deceased "victim X' was coming from near the primary school with snacks. The primary school is at a distance of about 4 bighas from her home. She saw the deceased, "victim X', bringing snacks from there. She was sitting at the door of Pradhan when she saw Santosh Kumar son of Kamla and Indra Bahadur Yadav at the door of the Pradhan. "victim X' was not there when Santosh s/o Kamla and Indra Bahadur Yadav were at the door of the Santosh. She had three sons. The report of this incident was lodged by her son Prem Chand (P.W.1). She had told everything to Prem Chandra (P.W.1). Her son Prem Chandra had reported the incident on the day of the incident. The report of this incident was not written by the Inspector because Inspector had taken bribe. Her son had lodged an FIR against Santosh S/o Kamla and Indra Bahadur but the Inspector did not take any action against them by taking bribe. Santosh and Mamman were caught by the police after 8-9 days and detained in this incident. In the report, which was written by his son, Santosh and Mamman were not named rather the police had implicated these persons by excluding Santosh son of Kamla and Indra Bahadur Yadav.

(24) P.W.3-Smt. Usha, in her examination-in-chief, had deposed that she had three sons and one daughter, whose name was "victim X' aged about 6 years at the time of the incident. She did not remember the date of the incident. The day was Thursday. The incident happened almost a year ago. It was 6 o'clock in the evening. Her daughter had gone out for call of nature. She saw from her door that Santosh Nat and Mamman (accused/appellants) and Indra Bahadur and Santosh son of Kamla were drinking alcohol at their door. She had not seen "victim X' at their door. Her mother-in-law, Bachauna (P.W.2), told that Santosh Nat (convict/appellant no.1) asked her (deceased "victim X') to bring "namkeen' and as such her daughter (deceased " victim X') went to his house for giving it. Her daughter didn't come back from call of nature till 8 o'clock in the night, then, she (P.W.3) and her husband (P.W.1) went out to search her and saw that the lock was hanging on the door of Santosh (convict/appellant no.1) and all of them had run away. At 10:00 am, the body of her daughter "victim X' (deceased) was found from a "Gadyee' (small pond) behind the house of Santosh Nat (convict/appellant no.1). After that, her husband (P.W.1) had lodged the report of the incident. Inspector had come on spot and recorded her statement. She was confident that Santosh Nat, Santosh son of Kamla (convicts/appellants) and Indra Bahadur Yadav were involved in the murder of her daughter (deceased "victim X').

In cross-examination, P.W.3-Usha Devi had deposed that her husband (P.W.1) works as a labourer. The father of accused Santosh is called Kamla, thereafter, she stated that she did not know the name of Santosh's father and his name might be known to his husband (P.W.1). The houses of both the persons named Santosh are at a short distance. There is no enmity between her family and accused Santosh and Mamman. Santosh is a TB patient, whose treatment is going on at Bombay, who also had a lung operation. On the seventh day of the incident, the policemen had brought Santosh from Bombay. On the third day of the incident, the policemen had arrested Mamman. There was no one in Santosh's house and one of his sister used to live at Mumbai. After the arrest of Santosh (convict/appellant no.1), his sister went to Mumbai with all the belongings of his house. Santosh and Mamman never had any dispute with her family.

P.W.3 had further deposed that Santosh (appellant no.1) had his lung operated 3-4 months before the incident. The incident was reported by her husband (P.W.1) on the day of the incident itself. The police had arrived at 9 o'clock in the night. When the police reached her village, Santosh (accused/ appellant no.1), Indra Bahadur Yadav and Santosh son of Kamla were not found. The body was found on the next day after the incident. When the body was found, Santosh son of Kamla was there and on his pointing out, the body was recovered. At that time, the police did not arrest them. Indra Bahadur and Santosh son Kamla were caught by the police and took them to the police station Bikapur. She did not know how long the policemen kept them at the police station. She further deposed that Santosh son Kamla drives the vehicle of Abhay Singh MLA and the influence of Abhay Singh is on the police station and under his influence Abhay Singh saved Santosh son of Kamla and Indra Bahadur. However, these persons were also involved in the incident. She further deposed that she was at home when her girl left the home. She had left the house on the pretext to attend the call of nature. Her mother-in-law Bachauna (P.W.2) told her that Santosh Nat had asked her daughter "victim X' (deceased) to bring "namkeen'. When she (P.W.3) went to the house of Santosh Nat (appellant no.1), it was locked. She went to the house of Santosh Nat at 6:30 p.m. She did not tell the Inspector that her daughter had gone to the house of Santosh Nat. Santosh son of Kamla and Indra Bahadur Yadav are people of bad character. When the policemen released Santosh son of Kamla and Indra Bahadur Yadav, then, they made demonstration against the police personnel. She deposed that main accused Santosh son of Kamla and Indra Bahadur were released under the pressure of Abhay Singh after taking bribe. Mamman and Santosh (accused/appellants) are poor men. She denied the suggestion that these people have falsely been implicated because they are poor.

(25) D.W.1-Syed Hussain, in his examination-in-chief, had deposed that he knew accused Mamman S/o Hariram R/o Chaurai Chandauli police station Bikapur Faizabad from 2-3 years ahead of the alleged incident. He used to work as a cleaner on his truck and used to stay with him on the truck. When he and Mamman (accused) were on the way to Badlapur near Jaunpur by his truck, then, police of Bikapur police station had stopped his truck, arrested Mamman at Bikapur and took him. At that time, he was going after loading sugar from Jarwal Mill, Bahraich to Badlapur Panjiri factory. Later on he came to know that the police had implicated him (convict/appellant no.2-Mamman) in some case.

D.W.1 had identified Mamman in the Court and in cross-examination had deposed that Mamman is also called Sonu and some people also called him as Tejpal Nat. He did not know up to what standard he had studied. Prior to 10 days of the incident, Mamman had gone with him on his truck. Mamman used to go home occasionally and came back after taking a bath. He is close to, and has helping attitude towards Mamman. He denied the suggestion that being close to Mamman and in order to save him, he had falsely deposed.

(26) In the statement recorded under Section 313 Cr.P.C., the convicts/appellants had denied the allegations levelled against them and had stated that the Investigating Officer had falsely implicated them in the case in order to save the real culprits under the influence of local MLA.

(27) The learned trial Court believed the evidence of P.W.1-Prem Chandra, P.W.2-Smt. Bachauna, Smt. Usha (P.W.3) and perused the recovery memos as well as the D.N.A. test report and convicted and sentenced the accused/appellants Santosh Kumar Nat and Mamman alias Sonu alias Tejpal in the manner stated in paragraph-2, hereinabove.

(28) Hence the instant reference and appeal.

(C) CONVICTS/APPELLANTS ARGUMENTS

(29) Shri Amar Singh, learned Amicus Curiae appearing on behalf of convict/appellant no.1-Santosh Kumar Nat has argued :-

I. that the whole case of the prosecution is based on circumstantial evidence. There is no motive to convict/appellant to commit murder of deceased "victim X'. Complete chain of evidence is missing so as to indicate that convict/appellant is the only person who has committed the crime.

II. that the First Information Report was lodged by P.W.1-Sri Prem Chandra, who is the father of the deceased/victim "X', against unknown persons but the police had falsely implicated the convict/appellant in the case saving the real culprits.

III. that medical evidence is not compatible with oral evidence.

IV. that the Investigating Officer Sripal Singh was not examined and the investigation conducted by other Investigating Officers of the case, namely, P.W.7-Sri Uday Raj Yadav, P.W.8-Manoj Kumar and P.W.9-S.I. Munendra Pal Singh is defective one.

V. that the age of the deceased "victim X' at the time of incident was 6 years. The medical evidence shows that the deceased "victim X' died due to asphyxia as a result of smothering and definite opinion with regards to commission of rape has not been given by P.W.5-Dr. Devendra Kishor Sarraf who conducted the postmortem.

VI. that none of the witnesses of fact viz. P.W.1-Sri Prem Chandra, P.W.2-Smt. Bachauna and P.W.3-Smt. Usha had seen the incident. They have not been able to say that the convict/appellant caused the death of deceased or he committed rape.

VII. that P.W.1-Sri Prem Chandra, P.W.2-Smt. Bachauna and P.W.3-Smt. Usha are interested and partisan witnesses as P.W.1-Sri Prem Chandra and P.W.3-Smt. Usha are the father and mother, respectively, of the deceased "X', whereas P.W.2-Smt. Bachauna is the grand-mother of the deceased "X'. Hence, their testimony cannot be relied upon nor conviction can be based on their testimony.

VIII. that there are major contradictions in the statements of P.W.1-Sri Prem Chandra, P.W.2-Smt. Bachauna and P.W.3-Smt. Usha, hence the conviction and sentence of the convict/appellant on the basis of their testimonies cannot be sustainable.

IX. that the learned trial court has committed error in concluding that the case of the convict/appellant is covered under the "rarest of rare cases' and, therefore, the death sentence awarded is not legally justified.

Shri Sanjay Kumar Yadav, learned counsel appearing on behalf of convict/appellant no.2- Mamman alias Sonu alias Tejpal has adopted the arguments of learned Counsel for the convict/ appellant no.1 and in addition, he only argued that D.N.A. collected from the blood of convict/appellant no.2 was also sent for DNA test but the D.N.A. collected from the blood of convict/appellant no.2 was not matched with the sample collected from the deceased "victim X' as is evident from the FSL report, hence it cannot be said that convict/appellant no.2 was involved in committing rape, carnal intercourse against the order of nature (unnatural offence) and murdered the deceased "victim x'. Thus, the instant appeal filed on behalf of the convict/appellant no.2 is liable to be allowed.

(D) STATE ARGUMENTS

(30) Shri Vimal Srivastava, learned Government Advocate assisted by Shri Pankaj Tiwari, learned Additional Government Advocate for the State has argued that there was sufficient evidence to prove the charge against the convicts/appellants. The learned trial Court finding the evidence adduced by the prosecution reliable and trustworthy held the convicts/appellants guilty of committing rape and murder of six years old daughter of the informant P.W.1 Sri Prem Chandra and awarded the death sentence. The death sentence awarded by the learned trial Court is absolutely justified. He further argued that DNA test report has completely supported the prosecution case.

(E) FINDINGS/OBSERVATIONS

(31) We have examined the submissions advanced by Shri Amar Singh, learned Amicus Curiae for the convict/appellant no.1-Santosh Kumar Nat, Shri Sanjay Kumar Yadav, learned counsel for the convict/appellant no.2- Mamman alias Sonu alias Tejpal and Shri Vimal Srivastava, learned Government Advocate assisted by Shri Pankaj Tiwari, learned A.G.A. for the State. We have also perused the depositions of the prosecution witnesses; the material exhibits tendered and proved by the prosecution; the statement of the appellants recorded under Section 313, Cr. P.C.; statement of D.W.1, defense witness; and the impugned judgment.

(32) It would become manifest from the above that the learned trial Court has based the conviction of the appellants on the testimonies of P.W.1-Prem Chandra, P.W.2-Smt. Bachauna, and P.W.3-Smt. Usha as well as the report of DNA test.

(33) We would first like to deal with the testimony of P.W.1-Prem Chandra. His evidence shows that on the date of the incident i.e. on 11.09.2014, his daughter "victim X' (deceased), aged about six years, went from home at 06:00 O'clock in the evening for attending the call of nature after telling the same to her mother Usha (P.W.3) but as his daughter "victim X' did not return, his wife Usha (P.W.3) and his mother Smt. Bachauna (P.W.2) told him about the disappearance of his daughter "victim X'. He and family members searched his daughter "victim X' but could not trace out. After that, he had gone to the house of Village Pradhan at around 8:30 p.m. and the Village Pradhan had informed the incident to the police station Bikapur telephonically. On receipt of the message, the police reached the village at around 09:00 p.m. and also searched his daughter but could not trace out. He proved the written report (Ext. Ka.1). On the next day of the incident, his mother Smt. Bachauna (P.W.2) and his wife Smt. Usha (P.W.3) told him that on the day of the incident, his mother Smt. Bachauna (P.W.2) was sitting in front of door of Raja Pradhan and saw that "victim X' (deceased) was going to the house of Santosh (appellant no.1) with some items in her hand and in the house of Santosh (appellant no.1), Indra Kumar Yadav, Mamman alias Sonu (appellant no.2) and Santosh Kumar (appellant no.1) were sitting and drinking liquor. On the second day of the incident, at around 09-10 a.m., the dead body of his daughter "victim X' was found in the "gadyee' (small pond), which was next to the house of Santosh Nat (appellant no.1).

(34) P.W.2-Bachauna, who is the mother of P.W.1-Prem Chandra and grand-mother of deceased "victim X', has supported the testimony of informant P.W.1-Prem Chandra and stated that on the day of the incident, she was on the side of the road in front of Raja Pradhan's door. Her grand-daughter "victim X' aged about six years was returning from shop after bringing "namkin' and "toffey'. She called her grand-daughter " victim X' and asked her where she went, then, she ("victim X') replied that Santosh uncle (appellant no.1) had asked to bring "namkin', hence she ("victim X') went to give him (appellant no.1). Santosh (appellant no.1) gave Rs.10/- to her grand-daughter ("victim X') for bringing the aforesaid articles. She further deposed that she saw Santosh (appellant no.1), Mamman alias Sonu (appellant no.2) and Bahadur at the door of Santosh (appellant no.1). She had deposed that she told the whole incident to her son (P.W.1-Prem Chandra).

(35) P.W.3-Smt. Usha, who is the mother of the deceased "victim X', wife of the informant P.W.1-Prem Chandra and daughter-in-law of P.W.2-Bachauna, has also supported the testimonies of P.W.1-Prem Chandra and P.W.2-Bachauna and had stated before the trial Court that on the date of the incident, her daughter "victim X' aged about six years went to attend call of nature outside the village after telling the same to her at 06.00 p.m. She saw from her door that Santosh Nat (appellant no.1), Mamman (appellant no.2), Indra Bahabar and Santosh son of Kamla were drinking liquor at the door of Santosh. Her mother-in-law Bachanua (P.W.2) had told her that appellant no.1-Santosh Nat had asked her daughter to bring "namkeen', due to which, her daughter went to the house of Santosh (appellant no.1) to give the same. She deposed that when her daughter did not return till 08:00 p.m., then, she and her husband went to search, then, she saw that door of Santosh (appellant no.1) was locked and all of them fled away from there.

(36) We have gone through the evidence of P.W.1-Prem Chandra, P.W.2-Bachauna and P.W.3-Usha and have no hesitation in observing that their testimonies are wholly credible and reliable. It is true that there is no evidence of any witness who might have seen the convicts/appellants committing rape and causing death of the daughter of the informant Prem Chandra (P.W.1) and the prosecution case is based on circumstantial evidence of "last seen together" and P.W.2-

Bachauna has been examined to prove this fact. The statement of PW-2-Bachauna is significant as an evidence of the circumstance of last seen. The last seen evidence is very important circumstantial evidence and if proved and found trustworthy, it can singularly lead to the inference of guilt.

(37) In State of Rajasthan v Kheraj Ram : (2003) 8 SCC 224, Vilas Pandurang Patil v State of Maharashtra: (2004) 6 SCC 158, Arun Bhanudas Pawar v State of Maharashtra: 2008 (61) ACC 32 (SC), Vithal Eknath Adlinge v State of Maharashtra : AIR 2009 SC 2067 and Vijay Kumar v State of Rajasthan : (2014) 3 SCC 412, the Apex Court has laid down that circumstantial evidence, in order to be relied on, must satisfy the following tests :

"1. Circumstances from which an inference of guilt is sought to be drawn must be cogently and firmly established.

2. Those circumstances must be of a definite tendency unerringly pointing towards guilt of the accused.

3. The circumstances, taken cumulatively, should form a chain so complete that there is no escape from conclusion that within all human probability the crime was committed by the accused and none else.

4. The circumstantial evidence in order to sustain conviction must be complete and incapable of explanation of any other hypothesis than that of the guilt of the accused but should be inconsistent with his innocence in other words, the circumstances should exclude every possible hypothesis except the one to be proved."

(38) In Bhimsingh v State of Uttarakhand : (2015) 4 SCC 281, the Apex Court has held that when the conviction is to be based on circumstantial evidence solely, then there should not be any snap in the chain of circumstances. If there is a snap in the chain, the accused in entitled to benefit of doubt. If some of the circumstances in the chain can be explained by any other reasonable hypothesis, then also the accused is entitled to the benefit of doubt. But in assessing the evidence, imaginary possibilities have no place. The court considers ordinary human probabilities.

(39) In Rohtas Kumar v State of Haryana : 2013 (82) ACC 401 (SC) and Prithipal Singh v State of Punjab, (2012) 1 SCC 10, the Apex Court has held that the doctrine of "last seen together" shifts the burden of proof on the accused requiring him to explain how the incident had occurred. Failure on the part of the accused to furnish any explanation in this regard would give rise to a very strong presumption against him.

(40) Further, in Ashok v State of Maharashtra : (2015) 4 SCC 393, it was explained by the Apex Court that initial burden of proof is on prosecution to adduce sufficient evidence pointing towards guilt of accused. However, in case it is established that accused was last seen together with the deceased, prosecution is exempted to prove exact happening of incident as accused himself would have special knowledge of incident and thus would have burden of proof as per Section 106 of the Evidence Act. But last seen together itself is not conclusive proof but along with other circumstances surrounding the incident like relations between accused and deceased, enmity between them, previous history of hostility, recovery of weapon from accused, etc. non-explanation of death of deceased, etc. may lead to a presumption of guilt of accused.

(41) In State of Goa v Pandurang Mohite : AIR 2009 SC 1066, State of UP v Satish : 2005 (3) SCC 114 and Sardar Khan v State of Karnataka : (2004) 2 SCC 442, the Apex Court has observed that circumstances of "last seen together" do not by themselves and necessarily lead to the inference that it was accused who committed the crime. There must be something more establishing connectivity between the accused and the crime. The time gap between last seen alive and the recovery of dead body must be so small that the possibility of any person other than the accused being the author of the crime becomes impossible.

(42) In Ravi v State of Karnataka : AIR 2018 SC 2744, reversing the conviction based on "last seen together" where there was a time gap of four days between last seen and recovery of dead body and as per postmortem report, the death must have occurred 30 hours ago, the Apex Court held that the time gap was considerably large and no corroboration was forthcoming, and therefore, in absence of any other circumstance which could connect the accused with crime, reasonable doubt as to involvement of accused is created and in such situation, the burden would not shift under section 106 of the Evidence Act. Following the judgments in Mohibur Rahman vs State of Assam : (2002) 6 SCC 715 and Malleshappa vs State of Karnataka : (2007) 13 SCC 399, the Apex Court held as under:

"Last seen together' is certainly a strong piece of circumstantial evidence against an accused. However, as it has been held in numerous pronouncements of this Court, the time lag between the occurrence of the death and when the accused was last seen in the company of the deceased has to be reasonably close to permit an inference of guilt to be drawn. When the time lag is considerably large,....., it would be safer for the court to look for corroboration."

(43) In the instant case, P.W.2-Bachauna is the grand-mother of the deceased "victim X'. She deposed before the trial Court that when she was at the side of the road in front of Raja Pradhan's door, she saw her grand-daughter "victim X' going towards the house of appellant no.1-Santosh with "namkeen' and "toffey'. Therefore, the presence of P.W.2-Bachauna is very natural at the time of last seen. On the next date of the incident, dead body of the deceased "victim X' was recovered from the "gadyee' (small pond) which situates close to the house of appellant no.1-Santosh and door of appellant No.1-Santosh was locked. It also comes out in the evidence of P.W.1-Prem Chandra that Santosh (appellant no.1) was seen by the villagers and the people of the market before it became dark. Seemingly, there is no delay or time-gap between last seen and the discovery of the dead-body.

(44) It transpires from the record that there was no enmity between the appellants and their family members. There is no reason to even think that P.W.2-Bachauna would give false evidence. Therefore, she has been rightly relied on by the learned trial Court.

(45) The evidence of last seen is further corroborated by medical evidence which shows that after postmortem of the deceased "X', six items i.e. (1) Buccal swab with smear; (2) Urethral swab with smear; (3) Anal swab with smear; (4) vaginal swab with smear; (5) perineal swab with smear; (6) nails of "victim X', were handed over to concerned constable. The aforesaid items were sent for D.N.A Test. As per the report of D.N.A. test dated 21.08.2019, the D.N.A. collected from the blood of appellant no.1-Santosh Nat was matching with the samples collected from the deceased "victim X' and there was in perfect equality of the D.N.A of appellant no.1-Santosh Nat with the samples collected from the deceased "victim X' and also male special allele were present in vaginal slide swab of the deceased "victim X' but D.N.A. collected from the blood of convict/appellant no.2-Mamman was not matched with the samples collected from the deceased "victim X'. It is also clear from the postmortem that abrasion and contusion were also there on her upper lid and right eye; right upper lid was lacerated; both upper and lower lid and lower 1/3 of nose were contused; wall of lebia majora was teared; around post and lateral part of anus around anal opening was contused; anal wall with skin was teared; and goose skin over hands and feet was present.

(46) It is strange that despite ample evidence of sexual assault and rape, P.W.5-Dr. Devendra Kishore Sarraf had not given specific opinion on rape. The fact that her anal wall with skin was teared at 6 O'clock; around post and lateral part of anus and 0.5 c.m. around anal opening were contused; there was abrasion and other marks of injury on her body, amply goes to show that rape was committed on her. The DNA report also supports this as rightly concluded by the learned trial court. P.W.5-Dr. Devendra Kishor Sarraf had stated that the deceased died out of asphyxia as a result ante-mortem smothering.

(47) The DNA profile of material item-12 Urethral Slide Swab, item-13 perineal slide swab and item-16 Anal Slide Swab were found same of convict/appellant no.1-Santosh Nat. In the DNA profile of material item-11 Vaginal Slide Swab, male special Allele were found. It is true that the samples of appellants were only sent for D.N.A. test. On that basis, the learned trial court has rightly concluded that on comparison of the said items of the victim "X' and appellants, the DNA of the appellant no.1-Santosh was found matched and also human smear was present, which itself establishes the involvement of the convict/appellant no.2 in the crime also. After a close scrutiny of the evidence given by P.W.1, P.W.2 and PW-3 and medical evidence, the learned trial Court has rightly concluded that the appellants committed rape on the victim and caused her death by closing her mouth or by throttling which resulted in asphyxia. It was also noted down by the learned trial court that after the incident, the appellants were not found present in the village.

(48) Once it is established that it was the appellant no.1-Santosh, who asked deceased "victim X' to bring "namkeen' and appellant no.2-Mamman was also present in the house of the appellant no.1-Santosh when the deceased brought "namkeen', it was on the appellants to explain what happened thereafter. In view of Section 106 of the Evidence Act, the burden was on the convicts/ appellants to explain how her private parts were contused and why such injuries were found on her body which could not have been caused except by way of sexual assault and in the course of commission of rape on her. In such cases, the provisions of POCSO Act and the Evidence Act, both require the appellants to show that they were innocent and did not commit rape. The learned trial Court has also rightly concluded that the nature of crime is such that if somebody would have seen the appellants committing it, such incident could not have taken place. The appellants had alleged that they were falsely implicated, but, there appears to be no reason for their false implication nor there is any reason why the people of that locality would give evidence about their drinking habit and perverted behavior. Had it been so as alleged by appellants, any of the villagers would definitely come to adduce evidence in support of the appellants. We find that there is no force in the argument of the appellants regarding their false implication. If read in conjunction with the statement of last seen given by PW-2 Bachauna, medical evidence and drinking habit of the appellants conclusively indicate the hypothesis that it was they and they only, who committed rape, carnal intercourse against the order of nature and murder of the deceased.

(49) In view of the above discussion, we find that the conclusion of the learned trial court that the prosecution has successfully established that the convicts/appellants committed rape, carnal intercourse against the order of nature (unnatural offence) and murder of the victim is based on unimpeachable evidence of "last seen' supported by medical and FSL report and the conduct of the appellants themselves prior to the incident and soon after the incident. The conviction of convicts/appellants for the offence under Sections 302, 376A, 376D, 377 and 201 IPC is legal and justified.

(50) Now, the question is whether the case is covered under the "rarest of the rare case" and the death sentence to the appellants is justified.

(51) In Machi Singh vs. State of Punjab (1983) 3 SCC 470, the Apex Court has held that

"1. When the murder is committed in an extremely brutal, grotesque diabolical, revolting, or dastardly manner so as to arouse intense and extreme indignation of the community. For instance, (i) when the house of the victim is set aflame with the end in view to roast him alive in the house, (ii) when the victim is subjected to inhuman acts of torture or cruelty in order to bring about his or her death, (iii) when the body of the victim is cut into pieces or his body is dismembered in a fiendish manner.

2. When the murder is committed for a motive which evince total depravity and meanness. For instance when (a) a hired assassin commits murder for the sake of money or reward (b) a cold blooded murder is committed with a deliberate design in order to inherit property or to gain control over property of a ward or a person under the control of the murderer or vis-à-vis whom the murderer is in a dominating position or in a position of trust. (c) a murder is committed in the course for betrayal of the motherland.

3. When murder of a Scheduled Caste or minority community etc., is committed not for personal reasons but in circumstances which arouse social wrath. For instance when such a crime is committed in order to terrorize such persons and frighten them into fleeing from a place or in order to deprive them or, make them with a view to reverse past injustices and in order to restore the social balance.

4. In cases of "bride burning' and what are known as "dowry-deaths' or when murder is committed in order to remarry for the sake of extracting dowry once again or to marry another woman on account of infatuation.

5. When the crime is enormous in proportion. For instance when multiple murders say of all or almost all the members of a family or a large number of persons of a particular caste, community, or locality, are committed.

6. When the victim of murder is (a) an innocent child who could not have or has not provided even an excuse, much less a provocation, for murder, (b) a helpless woman or a person rendered helpless by old age or infirmity, (c) a person vis-à-vis whom the murderer is in a position of domination or trust, (d) a public figure generally loved and respected by the community for the services rendered by him and the murder is committed for political or similarly reasons other than personal reasons."

(52) In Ravji vs. State of Rajasthan : (1996) 2 SCC 175, where the Apex Court held that it is only characteristics relating to crime, and not to criminal, which are relevant for sentencing. The Apex Court observed as follows :-

"The crimes had been committed with utmost cruelty and brutality without any provocation, in a calculated manner. It is the nature and gravity of the crime but not the criminal, which are germane for consideration of appropriate punishment in a criminal trial. The Court will be failing in its duty if appropriate punishment is not awarded for a crime which has been committed not only against the individual victim but also against the society to which the criminal and victim belong. The punishment to be awarded for a crime must not be irrelevant but it should conform to and be consistent with the attrocity and brutality with which the crime has been perpetrated, the enormity of the crime warranting public abhorrence and it should "respond to the society's cry to justice against the criminal'."

(53) In Swamy Shraddananda (2) vs. State of Karnataka: (2008) 13 SCC 767, the Apex Court observed:

"The inability of the criminal justice system to deal with all major crimes equally effectively and the want of uniformity in the sentencing process by the Court lead to a marked imbalance in the end results. On the one hand there appears a small band of cases in which the murder convict is sent to the gallows on confirmation of his death penalty by this Court and on the other hand there is a much wider area of cases in which the offender committing murder of a similar or a far more revolting kind is spared his life due to lack of consistency by the Court is giving punishments or worse the offender is allowed to slip away unpunished on account of the deficiencies in the criminal justice system."

(54) In Raj Kumar v. State of Madhya Pradesh, (2014) 5 SCC 353, a case concerning the rape and murder of a 14 years old girl, the Apex Court directed the appellant therein to serve a minimum of 35 years in jail without remission.

(55) In Selvam v. State : (2014) 12 SCC 274, the Apex Court imposed a sentence of 30 years in jail without remission in a case concerning the rape of a 9 year old girl.

(56) In Tattu Lodhi v. State of MP, (2016) 9 SCC 675, where the accused was found guilty of committing the murder of a minor girl aged 7 years, the Apex Court imposed the sentence of imprisonment for life with a direction not to release the accused from prison till he completes the period of 25 years of imprisonment.

(57) In Sachin Kumar Singhraha v State of MP : (2019) 8 SCC 371, where the accused was sentenced capital punishment for the offence of rape and murder of 5 year girl, the Apex Court converted the sentence into life imprisonment for 25 years without remission and has observed:

"Life imprisonment is the rule to which the death penalty is the exception. The death sentence must be imposed only when life imprisonment appears to be an altogether inappropriate punishment, having regard to the relevant facts and circumstances of the crime."

(58) Recently, the Apex Court in the case of Mohd. Firoz vs. State of Madhya Pradesh (Criminal Appeal No. 612 of 2019, decided on 19.04.2022) has commuted the death sentence imposed on man for rape and murder of 4 year old girl to life imprisonment. Para-43 of the aforesaid order dated 19.04.2022 reads as under :-

"43. Considering the above, we, while affirming the view taken by the courts below with regard to the conviction of the appellant for the offences charged against him, deem it proper to commute, and accordingly commute the sentence of death for the sentence of imprisonment for life, for the offence punishable under Section 302 IPC. Since, Section 376A IPC is also applicable to the facts of the case, considering the gravity and seriousness of the offence, the sentence of imprisonment for the remainder of appellant's natural life would have been an appropriate sentence, however, we are reminded of what Oscar Wilde has said - "The only difference between the saint and the sinner is that every saint has a past and every sinner has a future". One of the basic principles of restorative justice as developed by this Court over the years, also is to give an opportunity to the offender to repair the damage caused, and to become a socially useful individual, when he is released from the jail. The maximum punishment prescribed may not always be the determinative factor for repairing the crippled psyche of the offender. Hence, while balancing the scales of retributive justice and restorative justice, we deem it appropriate to impose upon the appellant-accused, the sentence of imprisonment for a period of twenty years instead of imprisonment for the remainder of his natural life for the offence under section 376A, IPC. The conviction and sentence recorded by the courts below for the other offences under IPC and POCSO Act are affirmed. It is needless to say that all the punishments imposed shall run concurrently."

(59) On due consideration, we find that the aggravating circumstances in this case are that the convicts appellants and deceased "victim X' were residing in same village and the deceased "victim X' was only 6 years of age and convicts/appellants committed rape, carnal intercourse against the order of nature (unnatural offence) on her and murdered her. The mitigating factor is that the appellants were in the habit of taking liquor and the whole case is based on circumstantial evidence.

(60) In the facts and circumstances of this case and on the basis of the law discussed above, we are of the view that the learned trial court was not justified in awarding death sentence under Section 302 I.P.C. and the sentence of life imprisonment could have been sufficient in the circumstances of the case. Hence, the conviction under Sections 376A, 376D, 377 and 201 I.P.C. is upheld and award of death sentence under Section 302 I.P.C. is altered to imprisonment for whole life without remission.

(F) CONCLUSION

(A) Capital Case No. 01 of 2019

While affirming the conviction and sentence of the appellants for the offence punishable under Sections 376A, 376D, 377 and 201 of I.P.C., and the conviction of the appellants for the offence punishable under Section 302 IPC, we set-aside the 'sentence of death' awarded to the convicts/appellants by the trial Court by means of impugned judgment and order dated 16.11.2019 and direct that for the murder committed by the convicts/appellants, Santosh Kumar Nat and Mamman alias Sonu alias Tejpal, they are sentenced to life imprisonment for the whole span of their natural life without remission instead of death sentence.

Appellants Santosh Kumar Nat and Mamman alias Sonu alias Tejpal are in jail and shall serve out their sentence.

Subject to this alteration in the sentence, Capital Case/ Reference No. 1 of 2019 is dismissed.

(B) Criminal Appeal No. 2322 of 2019 :-

The criminal appeal is partly allowed. Although we maintain the conviction and sentence of appellants, Santosh Kumar Nat and Mamman alias Sonu alias Tejpal, for the offence punishable under Sections 376A, 376D, 377 and 201 of I.P.C. and their conviction for the offence punishable under Section 302 I.P.C but we set-aside their sentence of death on the latter count and instead sentence them to imprisonment for life for the whole span of their natural life without remission.

Appellants, Santosh Kumar Nat and Mamman alias Sonu alias Tejpal, are in jail and shall serve out their sentence.

(61) Before we part with the case, we must candidly express our unreserved and uninhibited appreciation for the distinguished assistance rendered by Shri Amar Singh, Amicus Curiae for the appellant no.1-Santosh Kumar Nat in the instant appeal, therefore, we deem it appropriate to direct for payment to Shri Amar Singh, learned Amicus Curiae for his valuable assistance as per Rules of the Court.

(62) Let Shri Amar Singh, learned Amicus Curiae be paid remuneration as per Rules of the Court within a month.

(63) Office is directed to send a certified copy of this judgment along with lower court record to the court concerned for information and compliance.

THE HON'BLE MANOJ MISRA, J.
HON'BLE MRS. SAMEER JAIN, J.

Criminal Appeal No. 1248 of 2010

Rama Shanker & Anr.
...Appellants (In Jail)
Versus
State of U.P. ...Respondent

Counsel for the Appellants:
Sri Lav Srivastava, Sri Akhilesh Kumar Ojha, Sri Amrendra Pratap Singh, Sri Jitendra Prasad, Sri Mahesh Kumar, Sri Niraj Tiwari, Sri V.P. Srivastava, Sri Vinay Dubey, Sri Kuldee Bajpal, Sri Avnish Kumar Srivastav, Sri Kuldeep Bajpai, Sri B.N. Singh Rathore, Sri Anurag Tiwari

Counsel for the Respondent:
A.G.A., Sri Rajeev Upadhyay

A. In evaluating the evidence of an interested or even a partisan witness, it should first be seen whether it's presence at the scene of the crime at the material time was probable. If yes, whether the substratum of the story narrated by the witness, being consistent with the other evidence on record, the natural course of human events, the surrounding circumstances and inherent probabilities of the case, is such which will carry conviction with a prudent person. If the answer to these questions be in the affirmative and the evidence of a witness appears to the court to be almost flawless and free from suspicion it may accept it without seeking corroboration from any other source and form the basis of conviction.

B. Ante timed F.I.R. – The most common test adopted for inferring F.I.R. to be ante timed is to find out from the evidence and material on record whether the existence of case details, such as case crime etc. that arise on registration of F.I.R. are reflected in police papers prepared subsequent to the registration of F.I.R. and also when special report or report u/S 157 Cr.P.C. was forwarded, delayed dispatch of the body for autopsy, if unexplained may create doubt regarding the existence of F.I.R. at the specified time.

C. The lack of details in the F.I.R. are not ordinarily material, but where there is long standing animosity between the parties then lack of such details would suggest that at the time of lodging the report complete information with regard to the manner in which the incident occurred was not available. This possibility gains strength from the circumstance that the site plan also does not contain the complete information though the ocular account may be consistent with the medical evidence as to the site of injuries are concerned which is not a guarantee for it being trustworthy and reliable because oral deposition can always be improved and polished on legal advice after receipt of autopsy report.

D. Civil Law - Arms Act, 1878 - Section 25 - Is not justified when firstly recovery of country made pistol is not evidenced by any member of the public even though it is not a chance recovery but is alleged to be on a disclosure made by accused while in police custody. Secondly when the weapon recovered has not been forensically connected with the bullets recovered from the body of the deceased and thirdly when the alleged recovery is from an open place not under the control or in possession of the accused and, therefore, weapon cannot be said to be in possession of the accused.

Appeal allowed. (E-11)

2. Jalpat Rai Vs St. of Har., (2011) 14 SCC 208

(Delivered by Hon'ble Manoj Misra, J.)

1. This appeal is against judgment and order of conviction and sentence, dated 23.02.2010 and 24.02.2010, respectively, passed by the Additional Sessions Judge, Court No.5, Azamgarh in connected Sessions Trial Nos. 618 of 2002 and 619 of 2002 whereby, both the appellants, namely, Ram Shanker and Rajesh Pandey, have been convicted under Section 302/34 I.P.C. in Sessions Trial No.618 of 2002; and in Sessions Trial No.619 of 2002 the appellant Rajesh Pandey has also been convicted under Section 25 Arms Act. For their conviction under section 302/34 IPC both the appellants have been sentenced to imprisonment for life with fine of Rs. 5,000/- each and a default sentence of six months R.I.; whereas, for his conviction under section 25 Arms Act, the appellant Rajesh Pandey has been sentenced to one year R.I. with fine of Rs.1,000/- and a default sentence of one month. However, in Sessions Trial No. 618 of 2002, both the appellants were acquitted of the charge of offence punishable under Section 504/34 I.P.C.

INTRODUCTORY FACTS

2. The prosecution story, in brief, as could be elicited from the written report (Exb. Ka-1) lodged by PW-1, is that the deceased - Munnar Mali (informant's father), had a long standing civil litigation with Ramjeet Pandey (the father of accused Rajesh), giving rise to strong enmity between them. Prior to the incident, on 05.08.2002, in the evening, at about 4 pm, while the deceased was working at the door of his house, Ramjeet, his son Rajesh and Onkar, came, abused and tried to assault informant's father, however, informant's father managed to escape and hide himself in the house. Thereafter, on 07.08.2002, at about 7.15 am, when the informant (PW-1) and his father (the deceased) were returning from Budhanpur Bazaar, after purchasing betel leaves, near Amari village, Rama Shankar son of Kamla Prasad (appellant no.1), Onkar son of Rama Shankar (non-appellant), and Rajesh son of Ramjeet (appellant no.2) came on a motorcycle from behind and, by exhorting each other, fired three shots at the deceased, as a result whereof, the deceased fell on the road and died and his blood, stained informant's shirt. In the FIR it is also alleged that the accused had threatened and chased the informant, who escaped to the adjoining village Amari to hide himself, whereas the accused while threatening the witnesses and brandishing their weapons escaped on their motorcycle, via Bhatti Chatti towards Atrait, and were spotted, inter alia, by Sherai (PW-2) and Gulab Seth (not examined), who all had witnessed the incident. It is also alleged that seeing the entire incident, people in the area were terrified and public order was breached. By stating all that has been narrated above and claiming that informant's father's body and cycle is lying at the spot, written report (Exb. Ka-1) was given at P.S. Atrauliya, District Azamgarh, which was registered as Case Crime No. 257 of 2002, on 07.08.2002, at 8.30 hours, of which Chik FIR (Exb. Ka-3) was prepared by PW-4, vide GD entry no. 15 (Exb. Ka-4).

3. Inquest was conducted at the spot on 07.08.2002 at 10.30 hours of which inquest report (Exb. Ka-7) was prepared by S.I. Lallan Mishra (not examined), which was proved by I.O.(PW-6). PW-1 (Rajaram-informant) and PW-2 (Sherai), inter alia, were witnesses of the inquest. The condition in which the body was noticed at the time of inquest is reported as follows:-

"दशा शव – शव मृतक मुन्नर माली बूबूढनपुर – भटहई पक्की सडक पर अमारी गांव के सामने दाहिने करवट औंधी पडी है, दोनो पैर दक्षिण सर उत्तर, चेहरा पश्चिम, दाहिना हाथ दाहिनी तरफ दबी बांया हाथ उपर बायी तरफ दाहनी सीधी, आंख, मुंह अध खुला। सायकिल मृतके के नीचे दबी, जिसमे आगे झोला लटका, पीछे पान की टोकरी बंधी।

चोट – मृतक मुन्नर माली के शव को उलट पलट कर देखा गया तो इसके बदन पर निम्नलिखित चोटे पाई गयी।"

4. Autopsy was conducted on 07.08.2002, at about 4.15 pm., by Dr. Nand Lal Yadav - PW-3, who prepared autopsy report (Exb. Ka-2). The Autopsy report notices:

External examination:

Average body built, eyes closed, mouth closed, Rigor mortis present in all limbs. No sign of decomposition.

Ante-mortem injury:

(i) Firearm wound of entry 2 cm x 2 cm x brain cavity deep on right side of head 10 cm above right ear. Blackening and tattooing present (sic) singed. On opening, underlying parietal bone fractured into pieces. Membrane and brain matter lacerated. One metallic bullet recovered from wound.

(ii) Firearm wound of entry 2 cm x 2 cm brain cavity deep on back of head, occipital region above root of neck. On opening underlying occipital bone fractured, brain and membrane lacerated. One metallic bullet recovered from wound.

(iii) Firearm wound of entry 2 cm x 2 cm x chest deep on left side of back. Lateral from cavity of back; and 7 cm below left scapula. One metallic bullet recovered along with (sic).

Internal Examination:

Stomach empty, small and large intestine and rectum unloaded. Note: Three metallic bullets were recovered from the body.

Cause of death:

Death due to coma as a result of ante-mortem firearm injury on head.

Estimated Time of Death:

About half a day before.

5. During the course of investigation, the investigating officer (I.O.) recovered blood stained shirt of the informant of which recovery memo (Exb. Ka-2) was prepared. The I.O. also recovered blood stained earth and plain earth of which recovery memo (Exb. Ka-19) was prepared. The bicycle and the basket of betel leaves kept on its carrier, recovered from the spot, was handed over to the informant of which custody memo (Exb. Ka-3) was prepared by the I.O. On 25.08.2002, the I.O. allegedly recovered a country made pistol on the pointing out of Rajesh (appellant no.2) after he was arrested of which a recovery memo (Exb. Ka-15) was prepared and, pursuant thereto, a separate FIR, under Section 25 of the Arms Act, was lodged at P.S. Atrauliya, District Azamgarh, as Case Crime No. 280 of 2002, on 25.08.2002 at 8.35 hours of which Chik FIR (Exb. Ka-5) was prepared by PW-5. Investigation of Case Crime No.257 of 2002 was completed by V.B. Singh (PW-6), but charge sheet (Ex. Ka-20) was submitted by S.I. Chandra Shekhar, whose signatures were proved by PW-8. Charge-sheet (Exb. Ka-20) was submitted against Ram Shanker (appellant no.1); Onkar; and Rajesh (appellant no.2) under section 302/ 504/ 34 IPC; whereas, investigation of Case Crime No. 280 of 2002 was completed by PW-7, who submitted charge-sheet (Ex. Ka-17) against Rajesh Pandey (appellant no.2) under section 25 Arms Act. After taking cognisance on the two charge-sheets, both the cases were committed to the Court of Session and were connected with each other. Arising from Case Crime No. 257 of 2002, Sessions Trial No. 618 of 2002 was instituted against all the three accused, namely, Rama Shankar, Onkar and Rajesh; whereas in respect of Case Crime No. 280 of 2002, Sessions Trial No. 619 of 2002 was instituted.

6. In Sessions Trial No. 618 of 2002, on 02.08.2004, Rama Shankar, Onkar and Rajesh were charged for offences punishable under Sections 302/34 and 504/34 I.P.C. All of them pleaded not guilty and claimed to be tried. In Sessions Trial No. 619 of 2002, the appellant-Rajesh was charged under Section 25 Arms Act. He pleaded not guilty and claimed to be tried. Later, in S.T. No.618 of 2002, co-accused-Onkar was declared a juvenile therefore, his trial was separated. Thus, Sessions Trial No. 618 of 2002 proceeded against Rama Shanker (appellant no.1) and Rajesh (appellant no.2) only, whereas, Sessions Trial No. 619 of 2002 proceeded against Rajesh (appellant no.2) alone.

7. As both the trials were connected, a common set of evidence was led. During the course of the trials, the trial court examined eight prosecution witnesses: PW-1-Raja Ram - the informant and son of the deceased - the eye-witness of the incident; PW-2 - Sherai Mishra also an eye-witness of the incident; PW-3- Dr. Nand Lal Yadav - autopsy surgeon; PW-4 - Brijnath Dubey - the constable who prepared Chik FIR and GD entry of Case Crime No. 257 of 2002; PW-5 - Ram Bachan Ram - the constable who prepared Chik Report and GD entry of Case Crime No. 280 of 2002; PW-6 - Vijay Bahadur Singh - the investigating officer of Case Crime No. 257 of 2002. He proved the various stages of investigation including collection of blood stained earth, plain earth, blood stained shirt, which the informant was wearing at the time of incident, preparation of inquest report, photo nash, challan nash, site plan etc. He also proved the Supurdaginama (custody memo) of the cycle and the Pan Basket recovered from the spot and handed over to the informant. He also proved the various other steps of investigation including the arrest of the accused and recovery of country made pistol at the instance of accused-Rajesh. He produced the material exhibits such as plain earth, blood stained earth and blood stained shirt etc; PW-7 - Janardan Yadav -. the investigating officer of Case Crime No. 280 of 2002 He proved the submission of charge-sheet against Rajesh Pandey in Case Crime No. 280 of 2002 and proved the sanction accorded by the District Administration for prosecution of Rajesh Pandey. The sanction letter dated 04.10.2002 was exhibited as Exb Ka-18; and PW-8, Head Constable - Mukteshwar Singh proved the signature of Chandra Shekher Lal on charge-sheet relating to case crime no.257 of 2002, paper no. 3 Ka-1, which was exhibited as Exhibit Ka - 20.

8. The incriminating circumstances appearing in the prosecution evidence were put to Rama Shanker and his statement, under section 313 CrPC, was recorded on 26.08.2009. He stated that he has been falsely implicated; that there is land dispute between the informant and his family; that a false report has been lodged in collusion with the police; that the incident has been incorrectly described; that PW-2 made false statement because he is a friend of the deceased and was a co-accused of the deceased in a trial wherein he was convicted; that the FIR had been ante-timed; that the investigating officer is in collusion with the informant; that the informant on account of land dispute is inimical and has falsely implicated him in collusion with witness Sherai, who is a friend of the informant. Rama Shanker also stated that the deceased had criminal antecedents and that the deceased as well as Sherai were both convicted and sentenced; that the deceased had enmity with various other persons and that he was killed and his body was thrown by unknown persons but, out of enmity, the informant made a false report against him. Identical explanation was offered by Rajesh (appellant no.2) in Sessions Trial No. 618 of 2002. In Sessions Trial No. 619 of 2002, apart from denying other incriminating circumstances, Rajesh (appellant no.2) claimed that the recovery of country made pistol is false and bogus.

9. After their statements under Section 313 Cr.P.C. were recorded, the accused - appellants examined three defence witnesses, namely, Dilip Kumar Singh (DW-1); Chandra Jeet Verma (DW-2); and Mohd. Irshad Khan (DW-3).

10. DW-1 is the scribe of the FIR of Case Crime No. 257 of 2002. He stated that while he was going to bazaar he saw a large crowd at the police station and at the gate of the police station he saw a body lying. There he saw the investigating officer and constable. The investigation officer V.B. Singh was known to DW-1 therefore, he called DW-1 to scribe the report. DW-1 stated that the I.O. gave him a paper and a pen and dictated the report to him. He stated that at that time it must have been 11 am or 12 noon. He stated that he wrote the Ex. Ka-1 on the dictation of I.O.

In his cross-examination, DW-1 stated that he did not know Munnar Mali and that he does not know the accused. He stated that he has appeared as a witness on service of summons on him by the police. He stated that his house is about 200 mtrs away from the police station. He stated that he did not see the body as it was wrapped in a cloth. He stated that Raja Ram (PW-1) must have met him between 11 and 12 hours though he does not exactly remember the date but it must have been the month of August, 2002. DW-1 denied the suggestion that the I.O. had not dictated the report scribed by him. He also denied that he is telling lies.

11. DW-2 - Chandra Jeet Verma. He is the person who had put his signature on the memorandum of recovery of blood stained earth and plain earth. He stated that when he was going to Budhanpur, police personnel stopped him and requested him to sign on certain papers and when he asked them as to what they relate to, they stated that it relates to recovery of blood stained soil and, on their request, he signed those papers and when he signed those papers, at that spot there was no body; and that the blood stained earth was not picked up in his presence. He stated that similarly signature of Jai Ram was obtained. DW-2 upon seeing Exhibit Ka-14 stated that it carries his signature. He also stated that at the time when his signatures were obtained it must have been 11 or 11.30 hours.

In his cross-examination, he described the place where he was requested to sign the papers by stating that towards north there was Chauraha; towards South there was culvert; and east as well as west there were fields. He stated that he is M.A and B.Ed pass; that the paper which he signed had 2-3 lines mentioning certain sections; that, normally, he does not sign without reading the paper. He admitted that the paper Exhibit Ka-19 carries his signature.

12. DW-3 - Mohd. Irshad Khan. He is a villager of Amari village. His statement was recorded in the month of September, 2009. He stated that about seven years back when he heard noise in the village, he went to the spot and saw that on the 'Med' of a Paddy field, a body was lying; by the time he reached the spot, the Sun had not come out though there was light and there were several people and within half an hour thereafter, the police arrived in a Jeep and took away the body. There was nobody to recognise the body there. When police took away the body, he left for home.

In his cross-examination, he could not disclose the number of the field in Amari Gaon where body was found; he stated: that when the investigating officer had reached the spot, he was there but the

I.O. did not inquire from him; that he never disclosed anything to the investigating officer; that though the police had arrived at the spot before sunrise but he does not remember the time when the investigation officer had arrived; that he saw blood on the spot though the body was not bleeding. He denied the suggestion that he was not there at the spot and that he is making a false statement under the influence of the accused.

13. The trial court found the prosecution evidence reliable and the defence evidence unreliable, accordingly, it convicted the appellants, as above, against which, the appellants are in appeal.

14. We have heard Sri Niraj Tiwari for the appellants; Sri H.M.B. Sinha, learned A.G.A., for the State; and have perused the record.

SUBMISSIONS OF THE LEARNED COUNSEL FOR THE APPELLANTS

15. Sri Niraj Tiwari, learned counsel for the appellants, submitted as follows:-

(a) that PW-1 is not a reliable witness and his presence at the spot is doubtful for the following reasons:-

(i) If the manner in which the incident occurred is to be accepted, keeping in mind that PW-1 was allegedly given a chase by the assailants with a view to kill him, PW-1 would not have escaped injuries, particularly when the assailants were fully armed and had bullets to spare;

(ii) According to the prosecution case, PW-1 and the deceased on separate bicycles had gone to the Bazaar to purchase goods for the Betel shop run by PW-1. If the goods were for the Betel shop either the journey was to get over before the shop had to open which, according to PW-1, use to open at 6 am, or only one of them would have gone. In either case, the story set up by the prosecution that PW-1 accompanied the deceased to the Bazaar and on their way return, the incident occurred at 7 am does not inspire confidence. Further, from the evidence, it appears, the deceased was carrying the Pan Basket on his bicycle. If the deceased were to carry the merchandise, there was no reason for PW-1 to accompany the deceased to the Bazaar on a separate bicycle. More so, when PW-1 had to sit in the betel shop by 6 am. To address this anomaly in the prosecution story, explanation offered was that there were other goods also, which were purchased by PW-1 for his shop and carried by him on his bicycle. But, interestingly, the police neither noticed such articles nor made recovery of the other bicycle. Further, if the goods were to be used in that Betel shop which had to open by 6 am, the possibility of incident occurring in the wee hours of the morning gains strength and is corroborated by autopsy report wherein stomach, small intestine and large intestine were all found empty. All of this raises a serious doubt about the truthfulness of the prosecution story as also with regard to the presence of PW-1 at the time of incident.

(iii) DW-1, who scribed the FIR, as per the prosecution case, gave a statement that he scribed the FIR at the police station at about 11 am on the dictation of the I.O.; therefore, it appears to be a case where the body of the deceased was first picked up by the police, brought to the police station, where it was identified by PW-1 and, thereafter, on the basis of enmity, a false FIR was got lodged by getting it ante-timed.

(b) PW-1 is not consistent and makes improvement during his deposition;

whereas, PW-2 is a chance witness whose explanation for his presence there does not at all inspire confidence. Therefore, as both the eye witnesses fall in the category of interested and partisan witnesses, keeping in mind that their testimony does not inspire confidence and no independent witness of the village has been examined to support the prosecution case, benefit of doubt is to be extended to the appellants.

(c) According to the prosecution case, the assailants were armed with country made pistol. Rajesh fired two shots, whereas Rama Shankar fired single shot. If two shots were fired by one person from a country made pistol, the weapon would have to be re-loaded. But, no empty cartridge was found. Absence of an empty cartridge at the spot suggests that the incident occurred in some other manner than alleged by the prosecution;

(d) The presence of blood on the shirt of PW-1, seized by the police, is no guarantee for the presence of PW-1 at the spot because PW-1 stated that blood stain on his shirt appeared at the time when he lifted his father's body. Father's body could have been lifted later also, than at the time of the incident;

(e) The deceased had a criminal record and, therefore, would have had multiple enemies. Thus, merely because there was litigation between the accused (including his family) and the informant party, it was not the accused party alone who held motive for the crime;

(f) The weapon recovered at the pointing out of the appellant Rajesh (appellant no.2) was not sent for ballistic report to connect it with the bullets found in the body of the deceased therefore, the prosecution is guilty of hiding the truth; and

(g) The weapon was recovered from an open place, accessible to all, therefore, it cannot be said that the appellant-Rajesh was in possession of the weapon. Consequently, his conviction under Section 25 Arms Act is not at all justified.

16. In a nutshell, the submission of the appellant is that the case at hand appears to be a case where the incident occurred in the wee hours of the morning, not witnessed by anyone, later, when the body was found and identified, the prosecution story was developed on the basis of past enmity and suspicion.

SUBMISSIONS ON BEHALF OF THE STATE

17. Per contra, the learned A.G.A., submitted that the motive for the crime was duly proved; that place of occurrence is proved without doubt as there is no suggestion that the incident occurred at any other place; that the distance between place of residence of PW-1, or the place where PW-1's shop is, and the place of occurrence is about 4 km therefore, if PW-1 had to be called, or to come, from his residence to the spot, the FIR could not have been lodged with that promptitude, as it has been. Hence, there appears no reason to doubt the presence of PW-1 at the spot. Further, the defence had not made suggestion to the investigating officer, or any member of his team, of having any ill motive to falsely implicate the accused therefore, there is no occasion to accept the submission that the FIR has been ante-timed, particularly, when the record and the GD entry proves prompt lodging of the FIR. Further, as there is no specific suggestion to the prosecution witnesses that the incident occurred at some other spot, merely because DW-2 made a statement that he was made to sign papers regarding recovery of plain earth and blood stained earth by the police whilst there was no body on spot, would not render the place of occurrence doubtful. In respect of presence of PW-1 at the spot, no suggestion has been given to PW-1 that at the time of the incident he was at the betel shop therefore could not have witnessed the incident. Thus, the defence cannot take a plea that because the betel shop opens at 6 am, the presence of PW- 1 is doubtful at the spot. Moreover, PW-1 has given a graphic description of the incident which finds corroboration in the medical evidence as also the position in which the body was noticed at the time of inquest proceeding. It was urged that absence of ballistic report would not make a material difference as this is a case based on ocular account and since the ocular account has a ring of truth about it, absence of ballistic report would not make a material difference. It was urged that conviction under Section 25 of the Arms Act is sustainable because though the place from where weapon was recovered might be accessible to others but it was hidden in a hay-stack (Sarpat), hence, it was under the control of the appellant-Rajesh. The learned A.G.A. accordingly prayed to dismiss the appeal.

PROSECUTION EVIDENCE

20 (i). PW-1-Rajaram - Informant - son of the deceased. He stated that Ram Shanker, Onkar and Rajesh are of his village; informant side had civil litigation with the family of the accused in respect of Abadi land; the litigation had been there for the last 25 years and had generated strong enmity between the two sides. In that background, on 05.08.2002, at about 4 pm, when informant's father Munnar Mali (the deceased) was at the door of his house, Munnar Mali was attacked by Ramjeet Pandey, his son Rajesh (the appellant no.2) and Onkar (the co-accused) as a consequence whereof, his father had to run and hide himself in the house. PW-1 stated that on 07.08.2002, while the deceased and PW-1 were returning from Budhanpur Bazaar after purchasing Pan etc. for PW-1's betel shop, at about 7.15 am, when they crossed Rokha Pul (culvert) near Amari village, the accused, namely, Rama Shanker, Rajesh and Onkar came on Hero Honda motorcycle, driven by Onkar, from behind, crossed the bicycle of his father, stopped their motorcycle in front of the bicycle of his father and, on exhortation of Onkar to finish off the deceased so that all litigation could come to an end, Rajesh (appellant no.2) fired from his country made pistol at the deceased, which hit the deceased on his head, as a result whereof, the deceased fell on the ground. Seeing the deceased falling, PW-1 came running to hold the deceased; whereafter PW-1 pleaded that his father be spared but the accused threatened PW-1 to run away or he too will be killed; immediately thereafter, Rajesh fired a second shot which hit the deceased at the back of his head; following that, Rama Shanker fired a third shot, which hit the deceased on his back. Thereafter, the accused chased PW-1 to finish him off too, but PW-1 ran away towards Amari village to save himself, whereas, the accused, brandishing their weapons, escaped towards north. At that time, PW-2 (Sherai Mishra) and Gulab Seth, amongst others, were there on the road to witness the incident. PW-1 stated that after the accused had left, he returned back to find his father dead. Thereafter, PW-1 gave his bicycle to a person to give information at home and found one Dilip Kumar (DW-1) at the spot, who wrote the first information report on PW-1's dictation, after which, the written report was lodged as a first information report. PW-1 proved the written report, which was marked as Exb. Ka-1. PW-1 stated that police had arrived at the spot and had taken his statement. PW-1 also stated that when he was lifting his father, his shirt got blood-stained and the police took possession of the shirt of which memorandum was prepared. PW-1 stated that the police had prepared a memorandum in respect of handing over custody of deceased's bicycle and Pan ki Tokri (basket of betel leaves). He proved the seizure memo of the shirt, which was marked as Exb. Ka-2, and Supurdaginama (custody memo) of the bicycle, which was marked as Exb. Ka-3. He stated that after punchnama (inquest), the body was taken to Azamgarh for post-mortem. After post-mortem, the body was handed over to him and he cremated the body.

20 (ia). In his cross-examination, he was confronted with two cases, namely, (a) Case No. 454 of 1995 (State v. Rajaram and others), in respect of which, PW-1 feigned ignorance; and (b) a judgment dated 13.12.1967 in S.T. No. 229 of 1966 (State v. Shivmurat and others) in which PW-1's father (the deceased) and Sherai Mishra (PW-2) were co-accused, in respect of which, again, PW-2 feigned ignorance and denied the suggestion that he is deliberately feigning ignorance. PW-1 also denied the suggestion that his father was a 'Tantrik' and a man with bad character. PW-1 stated that the deceased used to sell flowers. In respect of the alleged incident dated 05.08.2002, PW-1 stated that he has no knowledge whether it was reported by his father or not. He stated that at the time when that incident occurred, only PW-1 and his father were present. He denied the suggestion that he has framed a false case on account of land dispute with the accused. PW-2, however, admitted that he has a betel shop at a distance of about half a kilometer from his house where he sits from 6 am in the morning, after taking a bath. He stated that Budhanpur Bazaar is about 8-9 kms. away from his shop. There are two rasta to go to Budhanpur. One is a Kachha (non-paved) rasta (route) of about 5 kms. and the other is Pakka (paved) rasta of about 9 km. From the place of incident, PS. Atrauliya is about 4-5 kms and from the place of incident Budhanpur is about 1 km. On further examination, he stated that to reach the place of incident from Budhanpur, they took about 5 minutes. PW-1 and his father (the deceased) had left Kasturipur (name of village where they resided) at 4.30 hours to go to Budhanpur for purchasing Betel leaves, etc. By the time, they reached Budhanpur, it was about sun rise time. They stayed at Budhanpur bazaar for about one and a half to two hours and in the meantime purchased Pan, Biscuits, Toffee, Tobacco etc. His father carried the Pan Basket whereas the carton of Biscuit was kept on the cycle of the informant and the toffees were kept in a bag. Neither he nor his father ate anything at the bazaar. Between the bazaar and the spot of the incident, except the accused, nobody else of the village was present. PW-1 added that he and his father were on two separate cycles. Onkar had stopped the motorcycle about two feet in front of his father's cycle. PW-1's cycle was about three feet away from Onkar's motorcycle. He stated that he had shown to the police the spot where the incident had occurred. He reiterated that he had caught his father when he was hit by gun shot but when he caught his father he himself could not stand and had to sit. PW-1 stated that the accused fired shots at the deceased from separate spots. First shot was fired by Rajesh at the deceased from a distance of two feet; thereafter, the second shot was fired from a distance of two and a half feet; and the third shot was fired by Rama Shanker from a distance of about two feet. He stated that he does not remember whether the police collected the empty cartridge from the spot or not. He stated that except three gunshot injuries, he did not notice any other injury on the body of his father. PW-1 stated that when the accused extended threat, he ran towards west. Accused gave him a chase for some distance. He stated that the rasta which he took to escape was shown by him to the investigating officer. PW-1 stated that the distance of Amari village abadi from the place of incident is about 1 km. He took about 10 to 15 minutes to reach village abadi. PW-1, however, could not tell the name of the person in whose house he hid himself in village Abadi though, he could disclose that the door of that house opened towards North. He stated that he informed the villagers of Amari gaon about his father's murder. He stated that he stayed in the village Amari for about 4-5 minutes and thereafter, about 25-30 persons of the village Amari arrived with him at the spot. He stated that he arrived at the spot from village Amari within 20-25 minutes though he could not remember the name of the villagers of village Amari who accompanied him to the spot. He admitted that statement with regard to arrival of 20-25 persons with him at the spot is being made for the first time in Court. He denied the suggestion that he was not present at the time of the incident and that he had not seen the incident. He denied that his father was a characterless person and that he lodge the report after deliberation on account of enmity.

20 (ib). In his cross-examination on 21.09.2004, he stated that Pan ki Tokri (Betel leaves basket) was on the cycle of his father whereas the remaining goods, namely, Biscuits, toffee were on his cycle. He admitted that seizure memo of the blood stained shirt carried signature of one Chunnilal, who is a person of his village, and the other witness is Phool Chand Gaur, who is having a medical consultancy business near his shop at a place owned by him. He denied the suggestion that he was not present at the spot and that he smeared blood on the shirt to develop a false story. He stated that memo of custody of the bicycle and seizure memo of the shirt was prepared at the spot. He stated that he went to the police station alone; that he accompanied the body to the police station and the from there, the body had gone to the hospital. The body was handed over to him at about 4.30 pm in the evening. He admitted that he had not stated in the FIR that he had sent information to his house about the incident. He stated that he had disclosed that Rama Shanker, Rajesh and Onkar had come on Hero Honda motorcycle and had stopped the motorcycle in front of his father's (the deceased) cycle but if the the same was not mentioned in the report, he cannot tell its reason. He also stated that he had mentioned in his report that the accused alighted from their motorcycle, Onkar exhorted to finish off the deceased and Rajesh had fired at the deceased, as a result whereof, the deceased stumbled and fell but if it was not written in the report he does not know the reason for the same. He also stated that he had mentioned in the report that seeing his father falling, he ran to support him and begged the accused to spare him upon which, the accused threatened him and, soon thereafter, the second shot was fired by Rajesh and the third was fired by Rama Shanker, but if all this has not been written in the report, he does not know the reason for the same. He also stated that he had dictated in his report that while lifting his father, his shirt got blood stained but if that was not written in the report, he does not know the reason for it. He was also confronted by his statement under Section 161 Cr.P.C. in respect of which he stated that he had given statement to the investigating officer that after the second shot was fired, he got scared and ran towards Bhatahi Chatti where he noticed Sherai (PW-2) and Gulab Sheth, who also witnessed the incident. He stated that Bhatahi Chatti is at a distance of about one furlong towards North of the place of incident. He stated that his statement in the Court that he ran towards the West is correct. He denied the suggestion that first information report was not lodged at 8.30 am but later, he also denied the suggestion that the body was found unattended at Sherwa Pul (culvert) and that the police was informed and later the body was got identified. He denied the suggestion that the accused has been falsely implicated on account of enmity. He also denied the suggestion that he lodged the first information report after consultation and deliberation.

20 (ii). P.W.-2 - Sherai Mishra. He is a chance witness, who stated that at the time of the incident he was going from his house to Budhanpur Bazaar as on that day there was a Bhandara (feast) arranged by him in connection with which he had to purchase vegetables, etc. According to him, when he was on his way, as he crossed Bhatahi Chauraha, he heard gunshot and screams of Rajaram Mali. Then he saw Munnar Mali (the deceased) on the ground and accused Rajesh and Rama Shanker firing at him from their country made pistols and Onkar was exhorting them, whereas Raja Ram (PW-1) was begging to spare his father. PW-2 stated that this incident was witnessed by Gulab and 10 - 20 others. After the incident, the accused, brandishing their weapons, escaped on a motorcycle. He stated that the investigating officer had arrived and had prepared papers and had enquired from him; thereafter, 6-7 days later, he was called by a constable for interrogation.

20 (iia). In his cross-examination, he stated that he knew the accused from before. He stated that he signed the inquest report at the police station. Immediately thereafter, he asked as to what an inquest report is. When the inquest report was shown to him and was explained to him, PW-2 stated that he signed the same at around 3.30 pm. He proved his signature on the inquest report. He stated that he did not see Shayamacharan, Kalicharan and Rajaram (PW-1) at the police station and after signing the inquest report he had come back. He stated that he is not aware whether any recovery memo of blood stained clothes was prepared by the police. He admitted that he was a co-accused with Munnar Mali (deceased) in S.T. No. 229 of 1966 but stated that in that case he was later acquitted. He added that except that sessions trial, he was not an accused with the deceased (Munnar) in any other case. PW-2 in respect of the reason for his presence at the spot stated that whenever he is in need to purchase goods, he goes to Budhanpur, which is about 7 kms from his house. In respect of the route adopted to reach Budhanpur, he stated that while going to Budhanpur, first Padumpur bazaar and, thereafter, Atrait bazaar would come and near that, there is Bhatahi Chauraha. He stated that Rajesultanpur bazaar, which may be big or small, is on the other side of his house, at a distance of about 3 km from his house. PW-2 admitted that the son of the deceased was present in the court room behind him, but stated that he had come to the Court on his own and that the son of the deceased had not paid for his conveyance. He stated that he had also come on last four occasions to give his statement but his statement was not recorded.

20 (iib). In his cross-examination on 30.11.2004, he denied being an accused in a dacoity case. He stated that Balai Mishra is not his relative though, being a fellow villager, he refers to him as his uncle. He stated that he heard about the murder of Balai Mishra but is not aware whether Ram Shabd is an accused in his murder. PW-2 denied having knowledge about Ram Shabd's wife being real sister of accused Rajesh's wife. He denied the suggestion that he is trying to hide his relationship and also denied that in the murder of Balai, on behalf of Ram Shabd, Rajesh (appellant no.2) and his family were doing pairvi. He denied the suggestion that because of this animosity, he is telling lies. He also denied the suggestion that his father was convicted in a theft case. He stated that the investigating officer had himself inspected the spot and that he had not shown him the spot, though, the I.O. had called him 6-7 days later for interrogation, but had not brought him to the place of occurrence. He stated that the house of witness Gulab is about 200 Katta (one Katta equals to 7-8 feet) away from his house. He stated that though he had gone to the police but Gulab did not come. He waited at the police station for about 30-45 minutes. The I.O. had asked him few things and thereafter had released him. He stated that he had told the investigating officer that on the date of the incident he was going to Budhanpur to purchase vegetables etc. but if that was not written he cannot give its reason. He also stated that he had informed the I.O. that Rajaram had pleaded the accused to spare his father but if the I.O. had not written that, he cannot tell the reason for it. He stated that when he first heard the noise, he was 50 Katta South of Bhatahi Chatti. He was on a bicycle and so was Gulab with him. Their cycles were separated from each other by five paces. He was ahead whereas Gulab was following him. He stated that on a turn towards West from Bhatahi Chatti, there is a bazaar having shops. People from Bhatahi Chatti had not arrived at the time of the incident. PW-2 stated that 10-20 persons had seen the occurrence but, he cannot tell their names, except that of Gulab. PW-2 stated that Rajaram (PW-1) was 5-7 Kattha away towards north of the spot where the body of the deceased fell. Rajaram (PW-1) had left his cycle to run towards the deceased and had pleaded the accused to spare the deceased. When PW-1 (Rajaram) pleaded with folded hands, PW-1 was about five paces North of the deceased. PW-2 stated that the spot where Rajaram left his cycle was at a distance of 4-5 Katta towards North of the location of PW-2. PW-2 stated that the motorcycle was 3-4 hands away towards west of the body. Onkar kept sitting on the motorcycle. Motorcycle was going towards North. The first shot was fired from a close range immediately upon arrival on the motorcycle and, thereafter, each of the two accused, fired a shot each from a close range. After firing at the deceased, the accused escaped towards North. PW-2 stated that he stayed at the spot for about half an hour and thereafter came to Budhanpur bazaar but he did not go to the hospital with the body. PW-2 stated that he had neither noticed the motorcycle number nor could notice its colour. He stated that towards north of Bhatahi Chatti, there is Atrait Bazaar but he does not know which village falls towards North of it. PW-2 stated that he did not say anything to the accused at the spot. He could not tell as to how long Rajaram (PW-1) stayed at the spot but Rajaram was there till PW-2 was there at the spot. He denied the suggestions: that he did not witness the incident; that some unknown persons had killed Munnar at some unknown place and unknown time; that because of being a friend of the deceased and having enmity with the accused, he is telling lies; that the son of the deceased had brought him to give statement. Rather, PW-2 claimed that he had paid Rs. 56/- for travelling and on earlier occasions also he had paid for the conveyance. He stated that when he was there at the spot, 2-3 constables had arrived but the investigating officer had not arrived.

20 (iii). PW-3 - Dr. Nand Lal Yadav. He conducted the autopsy and proved the autopsy report (Exb. Ka-2), the details of which have already been noticed above. PW-3 accepted the possibility of death having occurred at or about 7:15 am on 07.08.2002.

20 (iii a). In his cross-examination, he accepted the possibility of death having occurred in the wee hours of the morning say at 4 or 4.30 am. He also accepted the possibility of the three injuries found on the body being caused from different distances. He stated that injury no.1 could have been caused from a distance of 2 - 3 feet whereas injury no. 2 -3 could also be from a distance of 2-3 feet and then clarified that injuries no. 2 and 3 could be from a distance of 10 to 12 feet. He stated that the accused must have had attended nature's call in the morning as the Rectum was found unloaded. He stated that injuries 2 and 3 were on the back side of the body and it is possible that these injuries might have been caused from back. He stated that police papers for autopsy were received by him at 4 pm.

20 (iv) PW-4 - Brij Nath Dubey, the Head Moharir, at P.S. Atrauli, who made GD entry of Case Crime No. 257 of 2002 on 07.08.2002 vide GD report no. 15 at 8.30 hours. He proved the GD entry of the written report as well as Chik FIR. They were marked as Exhibit Ka-3 and Ka-4.

20 (iv a) In his cross-examination, he stated that on 07.08.2002, the instant case was the first cognizable case to be registered that day and there was no other cognizable case registered. He stated that the Chik FIR was prepared on the basis of the written report submitted by the informant. He denied the suggestion that the informant had signed the report at the police station. He also denied the suggestion that the Chik FIR was not registered at 8.30 hours but later. He stated that Chik FIR was sent to C.O. on 08.08.2002 but he is not aware of the day as to when it was sent to the Magistrate's court. He further stated that vide GD Report No. 21 at 19:15 hours on 07.06.2002, section 7 Criminal Law Amendment Act was added in the case. He denied the suggestion that the FIR was ante-timed.

20 (v) PW-5 - Constable Ram Bachan Ram. The constable clerk at PS. Atrauli, who registered Case Crime No. 280 of 2002 on 25.08.2004. He proved the registration of the case, the making of the Chik FIR as well as the GD entry in respect thereof.

20 (v a) In his cross-examination, he admitted that he served under the I.O. V.B. Singh and that the accused was taken from locker for Baramadgi. He denied the suggestion that under pressure he registered a false case.

20 (vi) PW-6 - V.B. Singh (Investigation Officer). He stated that on 07.08.2002, he was posted at P.S. Atrauli as Station Officer. On that day, Case Crime No. 257 of 2002 was registered. After obtaining copy of Chik FIR and making entry in the case diary, he recorded the statement of Rajaram Mali (PW-1), and went to the spot with S.I. Lallan Mishra and other police personnel. First he examined the body of the deceased and directed for inquest. He recorded the statement of the informant, inspected the spot and prepared the site plan (Exb. Ka-6). The inquest report was prepared by S.I. Lallan Mishra. He proved Lallan Mishra's signature on the inquest report. He proved the letter written to the C.M.O., photo nash, challan nash, etc - they were marked Exhibit 7 to 13. He stated that the body was sealed and handed over to constable Ram Pujan Yadav and Arvind Yadav for post-mortem at Sadar, Hospital. He proved lifting of blood stained earth and plain earth from the spot. He also proved taking custody of blood stained shirt from the informant. The custody memo was exhibited. He also stated that the bicycle of the deceased with a Pan Basket in its carrier was found at the spot; the custody of the cycle and Pan Basket was given to the informant of which custody memo (Exb. Ka-3) was prepared. He stated that he recorded the statement of other witnesses including Rajaram (PW-1) and thereafter went in search of the accused but the accused could not be found on that day. Again, on 08.08.2002, he searched for the accused but they were not found. On 10.08.2002, he arrested the accused Onkar and produced him before the Magistrate. On 12.08.2002, he took steps to initiate proceedings under Sections 82-83 Cr.P.C. against the accused but the accused surrendered in Court. On 16.08.2002, he applied for police custody remand and, on 24.08.2002, he obtained the order for police custody of accused Rajesh. On 24.08.2002, he got custody of Rajesh, who was in District Jail, and kept him in the police lock up; thereafter, on 25.08.2002, he took Rajesh from the police lock-up and got him to the spot. There, on the indication given by the accused-Rajesh, recovery of country made pistol from a haystack was made. He proved the recovery memo, which was marked as Exhibit Ka-15. He produced blood stained earth and plain earth seized by him during investigation and same were marked as material exhibit -1 and material exhibit-2. He also produced the blood stained shirt, seized from the informant and the same was marked as material Exhibit-3. He also produced the country made pistol recovered at the instance of Rajesh which was marked as material Exhibit Ka-4. He stated that during the course of investigation, he was transferred.

20 (vi a) In his cross-examination, he stated that as he had been transferred, he could not send the recovered country made pistol for ballistic report. He admitted that in exhibit Ka-14, only section 302 I.P.C. is mentioned and other sections 504 and 506 I.P.C. are not mentioned. He denied the suggestion that papers were prepared before registration of the FIR. He stated that the blood stained earth and plain earth were not sent to the Serologist by him as he was transferred on 25.08.2002. He stated that he collected blood stained shirt from the informant at the spot and had also sealed the same. He admitted that the witnesses of shirt seizure, namely, Phool Chand and Chunni Lal, were residents of Rajasultanpur, District Ambedkar Nagar, which is at the border of Thana. PW-6, however, clarified that they had arrived at the spot on getting information. He admitted that these two witnesses reside 3.50 to 4 kms away from the place of occurrence. He stated that as those witnesses were available at the spot, they were made witnesses.

20 (vi b) On further cross-examination, he stated that the weapon of assault was recovered from a haystack, which was in a jungle type of a place having no abadi; and that place must have been about a furlong away from the place of occurrence. He added that though at the time of recovery of weapon, there were few bystanders but, despite request, they did not volunteer to be a witness. When PW-6 was asked about their names, he could not disclose their names. He stated that the place from where the weapon of assault was recovered must have been 50 paces away from Kharanja (road paved out of bricks laid vertically). He denied the suggestion that the weapon of assault was shown recovered not because there was a disclosure statement of the accused but to lend credence to an otherwise false prosecution case. He denied the suggestion that, at the spot, neither the informant was present nor he gave a blood stained shirt and that such seizure was to add colour to the prosecution case. He admitted that from the spot no empty cartridge was recovered. He stated that informant had come on his own cycle and he wanted his father's cycle to be given in his custody therefore, he did not make a seizure memo but prepared a custody memo of that cycle and the cycle was given in PW-1's custody along with the Pan Basket. He stated that the cycle must have been given to PW-1 by or about evening time.

20 (vi c) On 27.02.2007, he was again cross-examined. He stated that from the spot he had recovered only one cycle, which was of the deceased. He had not noted its number, colour or the brand name of that cycle; and that the place from where he recovered the cycle was not shown in the site plan due to inadvertence. He stated that he had not noticed any carton of biscuits on the cycle. He stated that he had not noticed any blood on the cycle. When confronted with the recital in the inquest report that the cycle, having a bag on its handle, was lying beneath the body of the deceased, with a pan basket on its carrier, PW-6 stated that he did notice the pan basket on its carrier. He denied the suggestion that at the spot there was neither cycle nor pan basket. He also denied the suggestion that the incident did not occur in the manner stated. He denied the suggestion that the custody memo of the cycle was bogus and fictitious. On being confronted with the difference in the distance mentioned in the Chik report with that mentioned in the inquest report, he stated that the difference can only be explained by the person who has written the same. PW-6 stated that the informant had not shown him the place where the accused had parked their motorcycle; rather, he stated that the shot was fired while the motorcycle was moving.

20 (vi d) On further cross-examination, on 13.09.2007, PW-6 stated that he had not mentioned the spot from where the witnesses had seen the incident. This must be an inadvertent mistake. He denied the suggestion that there was no witness at the spot and therefore the location of the witnesses was not shown in the site plan. He further added that the informant had not given him the description of the Hero Honda motorcycle. He, therefore, did not take any step to determine the owner of that Hero Honda motorcycle. He denied the suggestion that he did not properly investigate the matter. On being confronted with the entry in the challan nash regarding the time of death as four hours before, he stated that the explanation for that can only be given by S.I. Lallan Mishra, who prepared the challan-nash. He stated that the statement of Sherai Mishra (PW-2) could be recorded only on 16.08.2002 as he was not available though he was witness of the inquest report. He denied the suggestion that the FIR was lodged after the inquest. He stated that the body is sent first to the police line and thereafter it is sent for post-mortem. He denied the suggestion that the body is sent for post-mortem straightaway and papers are prepared later to show that the body has been sent to police line. He stated that the body is sent for post-mortem against the number provided at the police line and this number is mentioned in the post-mortem report. When confronted that at the police line the number assigned was 521 / 2002 whereas in post-mortem report it is 522/ 2002, he stated that only the doctor can tell about the same. He however denied that this entry was made on imagination. He also denied the suggestion that all of this discloses that the first information report is ante-timed.

20 (vii) PW-7-Janardan Yadav. He is the investigating officer of Case Crime No. 280 of 2002. He stated that investigation of the case was given to him on 25.08.2002. He proved the various stages of the investigation of that case such as recording the statement relating to recovery and preparation of site plan of the place from where the recovery of country made pistol was made. He also proved submission of the charge-sheet as well as sanction accorded by the District Administration for prosecution under Section 25 Arms Act.

20 (vii a) In his cross-examination, he stated that country made pistol recovered was not sent for forensic examination; that the place from where the country made pistol was recovered was an open place near a Khadanja rasta. He denied the suggestion that he submitted a false charge-sheet under pressure of the Inspector in-charge.

20 (viii) PW-8 - Head Constable - Mukteshwar Singh. He proved submission of the charge-sheet by the subsequent investigating officer of Case Crime No. 257 of 2002.

20 (viii a) In his cross-examination, he admitted that he has no knowledge with regard to the mode and the manner in which the investigation of that case was conducted.

ANALYSIS

21. Having noticed the entire prosecution evidence and the submissions made before us, we find that there is no issue with regard to long standing animosity between the informant and the accused side. Admittedly, the family of the accused and the family of the deceased had been in a long standing civil litigation for last more than two decades. However, what needs to be examined is whether there existed any precipitating factor for the crime, because the civil litigation was there for the past two decades. In this regard, the prosecution set up an incident that allegedly occurred on 5.8.2002, 2 days prior to the incident. As per the allegations, in this incident, the deceased was attacked by the accused party comprising Rajesh (appellant no.2), Ramjeet Pandey and Onkar; the deceased could, however, escape that attack by hiding himself in his house. But the alleged incident dated 5.8.2002 was neither reported nor there is record of any injury sustained by the deceased in that incident; and, there is no independent witness of any such incident. Thus, though, long standing enmity is proven, but existence of a precipitating factor for the crime could not be proved beyond reasonable doubt. But, as motive is not of much importance when there is ocular account of the incident, we do not propose to dwell more on this aspect though, we would have to bear in mind that this long standing animosity between the parties render the eye witnesses interested in the implication and conviction of the accused therefore, we will have to weigh and scrutinise the prosecution evidence carefully.

22. As to how the testimony of an interested witness is to be appreciated and weighed, the law has been settled by a three-judge Bench decision of the Supreme Court in Hari Obula Reddy v. State of A.P., (1981) 3 SCC 675 where, in paragraph 13 of the judgment, it was observed as follows:

"..... it is well settled that interested evidence is not necessarily unreliable evidence. Even partisanship by itself is not a valid ground for discrediting or rejecting sworn testimony. Nor can it be laid down as an invariable rule that interested evidence can never form the basis of conviction unless corroborated to a material extent in material particulars by independent evidence. All that is necessary is that the evidence of interested witnesses should be subjected to careful scrutiny and accepted with caution. If on such scrutiny, the interested testimony is found to be intrinsically reliable or inherently probable, it may, by itself, be sufficient, in the circumstances of the particular case, to base a conviction thereon. Although in the matter of appreciation of evidence, no hard and fast rule can be laid down, yet, in most cases, in evaluating the evidence of an interested or even a partisan witness, it is useful as a first step to focus attention on the question, whether the presence of the witness at the scene of the crime at the material time was probable. If so, whether the substratum of the story narrated by the witness, being consistent with the other evidence on record, the natural course of human events, the surrounding circumstances and inherent probabilities of the case, is such which will carry conviction with a prudent person. If the answer to these questions be in the affirmative, and the evidence of the witness appears to the court to be almost flawless, and free from suspicion, it may accept it, without seeking corroboration from any other source. Since perfection in this imperfect world is seldom to be found, and the evidence of a witness, more so of an interested witness, is generally fringed with embellishment and exaggerations, however true in the main, the court may look for some assurance, the nature and extent of which will vary according to the circumstances of the particular case, from independent evidence, circumstantial or direct, before finding the accused guilty on the basis of his interested testimony. We may again emphasise that these are only broad guidelines which may often be useful in assessing interested testimony, and are not iron-cased rules uniformly applicable in all situations."

Emphasis Supplied

Similarly, in Jalpat Rai v. State of Haryana, (2011) 14 SCC 208, after reiterating the general principles as noticed above, in paragraph 41 of the judgment, the apex court in the context of interested witnesses testimony observed: "to find out the intrinsic worth of these witnesses, it is appropriate to test their trustworthiness and credibility in light of the collateral and surrounding circumstances as well as the probabilities and in conjunction with all other facts brought out on record." The apex court also observed: "it is a reality of life, albeit unfortunate and sad, that human failing tends to exaggerate, over implicate and distort the true version against the person(s) with whom there is rivalry, hostility and enmity. Cases are not unknown where an entire family is roped in due to enmity and simmering feelings although one or only few members of that family may be involved in the crime." The law is thus settled that the testimony of an interested witness is not necessarily unreliable and there is no invariable rule that interested evidence can never form the basis of conviction unless corroborated to a material extent in material particulars by independent evidence. What is required is that testimony of such a witness should be subjected to careful scrutiny. If, on such scrutiny, the testimony is found to be intrinsically reliable or inherently probable, it may, in the facts and circumstances of a case, form the basis of conviction. Though, no hard and fast rule can be laid down for appreciation of evidence but, in most cases, in evaluating the evidence of an interested or even a partisan witness, it is useful, as a first step, to determine whether the presence of the witness at the scene of crime at the material time was probable. If so, whether the substratum of the story narrated by him is consistent with the other evidence on record, the natural course of human events, the surrounding circumstances and inherent probabilities of the case and is such that it would appear convincing to a prudent person. If the answer to these questions can be in the affirmative, and the evidence of the witness appears to the court to be almost flawless, and free from suspicion, it may accept it, without seeking corroboration from any source.

23. Bearing in mind the legal principles relating to evaluation of testimony of an interested witness, we shall now proceed to evaluate the evidence and analyse it in the context of the rival submissions. But, before that, it would be useful to summarise the defence submissions. In a nutshell, the submissions of the learned counsel for the appellants is that the FIR is ante-timed; that it was not lodged at 8.30 hours on 07.08.2002; rather, it was lodged after 11 am as is proved from the testimony of DW-1; that there are various other circumstances also to suggest that the FIR is ante-timed; that presence of both PW-1 and PW-2 is doubtful at the spot; that their testimony does not inspire confidence; that it appears to be a case where the incident occurred in the wee hours of the morning when the deceased was alone, returning from the bazaar, while his son PW-1 was at his shop; that nobody witnessed the incident; and, subsequently, the prosecution story was developed on guess-work and suspicion, which is apparent from the various improvements made later in the prosecution case. Per contra, on behalf of the State, the submission is that the FIR is not ante-timed; that being a prompt FIR, there is no scope to treat the prosecution story contrived; that the presence of PW-1 with the deceased is natural; that the ocular account is corroborated by medical evidence and, therefore, there is no good reason to disbelieve the prosecution story.

24. First, we shall proceed to test whether the FIR is ante-timed. According to the appellant's counsel, there are various circumstances which suggest that the FIR is ante-timed. These circumstances include delayed post-mortem; discrepancy in the the entries made in inquest report, challan nash, etc with the Chik report and, above all, the statement of DW-1, the scribe of the FIR. We shall notice the submissions in detail on these aspects, one by one, below. In respect of the delay in autopsy, according to appellant's counsel, the autopsy of the body was conducted late at around 4 pm. According to appellant's counsel, there was no occasion for that kind of a delay if the inquest had been over by 10.30 and the body was sealed and papers were prepared for autopsy. This delay, according to him, suggests that the police papers were not ready by noon. In addition to that, DW-1, scribe of the FIR, stated that he wrote the FIR at the police station on the dictation of the I.O. at 11 am, which, according to appellant's counsel, means that the FIR was not lodged at 8.30 am as alleged. Appellant's counsel also pointed out that the post mortem number mentioned in the register maintained at the district police head quarters is different from that mentioned in the post mortem report suggesting that the body reached for autopsy before the papers could. It was pointed out that as per the testimony of PW-6, post mortem number is assigned at the police lines (district police head quarters) and the post-mortem report must reflect that number. But, in the instant case, the post-mortem report mentions number 522 of 2002 when, in the register maintained at police lines, the number is 521 of 2002, which suggests that the body was sent directly to the hospital for autopsy and the papers relating to autopsy were filled later. It was also argued that testimony of DW-1 that he scribed the FIR at 11 am was unjustifiably discarded by observing that if the FIR had been written at 11 am, the body could not have reached police lines by 2.10 pm as that place was 48 km away from the police station. It has been argued that this reasoning is perverse because to cover a distance of 48 km in a vehicle one would, at the maximum, take one hour and thirty minutes. Therefore, even if the body is dispatched from the police station at 12.30 hrs it can easily reach police lines by 2.10 pm or 14.10 hrs. Another aspect highlighted to demonstrate that the first information report is ante-timed and prepared after the inquest report is, that, though, as per record, inquest is stated to have been completed at the spot by 10.30 am, but, PW-2, who is a witness of the inquest and is a signatory to the report, stated that his signature was obtained on the report at the police station at about 3.30 pm (15.30 hrs.). It was also pointed out that, in the inquest report, the distance of the place of occurrence from the police station is 8 km, whereas in the Chik FIR the same is mentioned as 6 km and, similarly, in the papers relating to autopsy i.e. challan nash, etc except section 302 IPC, the other charging section i.e. 506 IPC, which finds mention in the Chik FIR, is not there; therefore, it is clear that at the time when the inquest report was prepared, the Chik FIR was not with the person who prepared the inquest report or papers for autopsy.

25. Having noticed the submissions of the learned counsel for the appellant on the issue whether the FIR is ante-timed, we may, at the out set, observe that there are no cut and dried formulae or tests to determine whether an FIR is ante-timed or not. An inference with regard to the FIR being ante-timed is to be drawn only after careful scrutiny of the evidence and material on record. The most common test adopted for the purpose is to find out from the evidence and material on record whether the existence of case details, such as case crime number, etc, that arise on registration of FIR, are reflected in police papers prepared subsequent to the registration of the FIR as also as to when special report or report under section 157 CrPC was forwarded. Delayed dispatch of the body for autopsy, where autopsy is required, is also a circumstance, in the facts of a case, if unexplained, and it may create a doubt with regard to the existence of the FIR at the time specified. In the instant case, two aspects highlighted by the appellant's counsel that raise a doubt about the existence of the FIR at the specified time need be noticed. One is the statement of the scribe (DW-1) that he scribed the FIR at the police station at 11 am; and the other is the statement of inquest witness (PW-2), who states that he signed the inquest report at the police station at 3.30 am. Upon a careful perusal of the record, we find in the statement of PW-2, who is an inquest witness, that his signature on the inquest report was obtained at the police station at 3.30 pm (15.30 hrs). Whereas, the inquest report states that inquest was over at the spot by 10.30 hrs. We also find that the distance of the place of occurrence from the police station mentioned in the Chik FIR is different from that mentioned in the inquest report. We also find that in the challan nash (Exb. Ka-13), amongst charging sections, other than section 302 IPC, section 506 IPC is not mentioned and, as per the entry in the challan-nash, the body was received at police lines, Azamgarh at 14.10 hours to which, post mortem number 521 of 2002 was assigned whereas, the post-mortem number reflected in the autopsy report is 522 of 2002. But the challan-nash as well as the inquest report discloses the case crime number of the case (i.e. 527 of 2002). The challan-nash also discloses the time of dispatch of the body to the Police Head Quarters (i.e. Police Lines) for autopsy, as 10.30 hours. Ordinarily, when inquest and post-mortem related papers are filled after the FIR has come into existence, entries in those subsequent papers are expected to be in sync with the entries in the Chik FIR inasmuch as the I.O. or the police team is expected to carry a carbon copy or copy of the report for reference. But there is no such rule that where the entries are at variance with the Chik FIR, it would be presumed that the FIR was not in existence, particularly, when the entries reflect the case details i.e. the case crime number. No doubt, the post-mortem report recites post mortem number 522 of 2002 instead of 521 of 2002, but this entry is made by the doctor, or the staff subordinate to the doctor, to whom no question has been put with regard to the discrepancy. Under these circumstances, PW-6's explanation that if there is any such discrepancy it is for the doctor to explain, is acceptable. But since no question was put to the doctor with regard to the said discrepancy, it would not be appropriate on our part to accept the suggestion that the body was sent directly to the hospital for post-mortem and the papers were prepared thereafter. Similarly, the discrepancy in the distance mentioned in the inquest report with that mentioned in the Chik FIR, could best be explained by S.I. Lallan Mishra who, according to PW-6, prepared the inquest report. But, importantly, he has not been examined therefore, the defence cannot be blamed for not putting questions to him. In so far as non-filling of all the charging sections are concerned, that, by itself, in our view, is not sufficient to raise a presumption with regard to non-existence of the FIR at the time specified, particularly, when there is a recital of the case crime number in those papers relating to autopsy. However, there is another aspect of the matter, which is, that filling up of case details in subsequent papers is not conclusive of the FIR having come into existence because, it is possible that, upon noticing a crime or an incident, the police may reserve a number for that case, particularly, if, on that day, there is no other cognizable case reported and the records of the police station, being not digitised/ computerised, admit of filling data, later. Notably, in this case, the Constable Clerk at the police station, namely, PW-4, was questioned in this regard, upon which, he stated that no other cognizable report, except the case at hand, was reported at that police station on that date. But, as we find that no suggestion has been put either to the investigating officer, or the Head Moharir, who made GD entry of the written report, with regard to they bearing any ill motive as against the accused or being under any kind of influence of the complainant party to manipulate the records, the above mentioned circumstances, by itself, are not sufficient to enable us to record a finding that the FIR is ante-timed. But, the deposition of DW-1 that the FIR was scribed by him at 11.00 am at the police station is a very important circumstance which we will have to address to rule out the possibility of the FIR being ante-timed. In this context, we would like to notice the discrepancy in between the statement of PW-1 and DW-1 as to the place where the FIR was scribed. PW-1 states that the FIR was scribed by DW-1 at the spot i.e. the place of occurrence. DW-1 says that he scribed the FIR at the police station at about 11 am. What is important is that DW-1 is not a resident of the village where the spot i.e. place of occurrence is located. From DW-1's statement it appears he resides at a distance of about 200 meters from the police station where the report was lodged. This circumstance lends credence to the testimony of DW-1 that the FIR was scribed at the police station. Once, that is the position, the possibility of the FIR being scribed at the police station and at the time suggested by the defence increases manifold, particularly, when nothing could be elicited from DW-1 as to him being in cahoots with the accused. To discard the testimony of DW-1, the trial court took the view that since, for autopsy, the body reached the district police head quarters, 48 km away, by 14.10 hrs, if the FIR had been lodged at 11.00 am that would not have been possible. We disagree with the above reasoning of the trial court because, in times of vehicular transport, covering a distance of 48 km is very much possible within an hour and thirty minutes. Therefore, in our view, even if the FIR or papers related to autopsy were prepared by noon or so, the body could have easily reached the district police head quarters by 14.10 hrs.

26. The upshot of the above discussion is that although the defence might not have been able to establish with certitude that the FIR is ante-timed but has succeeded in creating a serious doubt as to it being ante-timed. Once that is the position, the ocular account of the incident would have to be tested thoroughly on all material particulars before acceptance.

27. In this backdrop, we would have to carefully scrutinise the prosecution evidence, bearing in mind the well settled legal principle that the burden is on the prosecution to prove its case by leading evidence, reliable and trustworthy. There are two eye witnesses, namely, PW-1 and PW-2. PW-1 is the son of the informant and there is no dispute with regard to long standing animosity between the family PW-1 and the accused on account of decades old civil litigation pending inter se. In so far as PW-2 is concerned, the defence could demonstrate that the deceased and PW-2 were co-accused in a sessions trial. Further, the defence could also demonstrate that PW-2 is related to one Balai Mishra who was murdered, and in whose murder, Ram Shabd was an accused, who is husband of Rajesh's (appellant no.2's) wife's real sister, and for whom the appellant no.2 was doing pairvi. Not only that, the defence has sought to discredit PW-2 by terming him a chance witness as his presence otherwise, was not natural at the spot. Notably, to explain his presence at the spot, PW-2 stated that on the date of the incident there was a feast (Bhandara) arranged by him and to purchase vegetables, etc. for that feast, he had left early morning to go to Budhanpur when, on way, he witnessed the incident. The defence has cross-examined him in detail to elucidate that from PW-2's place of residence, much before Budhanpur bazaar, there are several big markets from where he could have made those purchases, if it was so required, therefore, there was no good reason for him to go to Budhanpur bazaar. Thus, according to the defence, the explanation offered by PW-2 for his presence at the spot is flimsy and is a ruse to create a witness when otherwise there was none. In the above context, we are of the view that PW-2 is not only a chance witness but is also an interested witness as he has an interest in the conviction of at least one of the accused persons, namely, Rajesh (appellant no.2).

28. We shall now proceed to evaluate the testimony of PW-1. To enable a deeper analysis of PW-1's account, we propose to extract relevant portions of his testimony in respect of various aspects such as:

(i) In respect of the time, place and the manner in which the accused arrived at the scene of the crime - PW-1 stated as follows:-

'' दि0 07.8.2002 को सुबह सवा सात बजे मैं व मेरे पिता मुन्नर ब

'' गाडी से उतर कर ओंकार ने ललकारा कि मार डालो साले को मुकदमा खत्म हो जाए। तब तक राजेश ने अपने हाथ में लिए हुए कट्टे से मेरे पिता पर जान मारने की नीयत से फायर कर दिया गोली मेरे पिता जी के सर में लगी और मेरे पिता जी वहीं पर लड़खड़ा कर गिर पड़े मैं अपने पिता को गिरते देख कर दौड़कर उन्हें पकड़ लिया और मुल्जिमान से हाथ पैर जोड़ने लगा कि मेरे बाप को मत मारिए तब मुल्जिमान कहे कि साले भाग जाओ नहीं तो तुम्हारा भी जान मार डालेंगे। पुनः राजेश ने दूसरा फायर मेरे पिता जी के ऊपर कर दिया जो मेरे पिता के सर के पीछे लगी। फिर रामाशंकर ने मेरे पिता के ऊपर तीसरा फायर किया जिसकी चोट उनकी पीठ में लगी। तब मुल्जिमान मुझे भी मारने के लिए दौड़ा लिए। मै अमारी गांव में भाग कर अपनी जान को बचाया और मुल्जिमान कट्टा लहराते हुए उत्तर भाग गए। इस घटना को गवाहान शेरई मिश्र, गुलाब सेठ तथा सडक पर तमाम आते जाते लोगो ने देखा।''

(iii) In respect of post incident conduct of PW-1 - PW-1 stated as under:-

'' जब मुल्जिमान चले गए तो मैं अपने पिता जी के पास आया तो देखा कि मेरे पिता जी मर गए हैं। तब मैंने एक व्यक्ति को साईकिल दिया कि मेरे घर खबर कर दीजिए और वहीं पर मैं दिलीप कुमार से घटना के बाबत बोलकर दरखास्त लिखाया और दरखास्त ले जाकर थाने पर दिया।''

(iv) In respect of blood stains on his shirt - PW-1 stated as under:-

'' घटना के समय जब मैं पिता जी को उठा रहा था तो उनका खून मेरी शर्ट पर लग गया था।''

(v) In respect of custody of his father's cycle and Pan Basket - PW-1 stated as follows:

'' जिस साईकिल से मेरे पिता जी जा रहे थे उस साइकिल के कैरियर पर पान की टोकरी जिसमें पान के पत्ते थे बंधी थी साईकिल को मेरी सुपुर्दगी में दिए थे व पान की टोकरी को भी दरोगा जी ने सुपुर्दगीनामा लिखवाया था। कागज नं0 8क/2 पर प्रदर्श क – 2 डाला गया।''

(vi) In respect of the place where PW-1's betel shop was located and the timing of its opening - PW-1 stated as follows:-

" मेरे घर से मेरी पान की दूकान करीब आधा किमी दूर है। सुबह मै नहा धोकर छः बजे अपनी दूकान पर पहुंचे कर दुकान खोल लेता हूं। बू"बू

29. After stating as above, PW-1 stated that Onkar stopped his motorcycle about two feet in front of his father's bicycle; at that time, PW-1's bicycle was a foot behind. PW-1 stated that he had shown to the I.O. the spot where the motorcycle of Onkar had stopped. He also stated that he had pointed out to the I.O. the spot from where Rajesh had fired at the deceased and had also pointed out the place from where Onkar exhorted and Rama Shanker fired at the deceased. But, when we see the site plan (Exb. Ka-6) prepared by the I.O. (P W-6), there are just arrows disclosing the direction in which the deceased and the accused were moving including the place where the deceased was killed. The place where the motorcycle stopped, the place from where the accused Rajesh and Rama Shanker fired at the deceased and the place from where the witnesses witnessed the incident have not been disclosed in the site plan (Ex. Ka-6). Interestingly, when PW-6 (I.O.) was cross-examined on this aspect, on 27.07.2007, he stated as follows:-

'वादी मुकदमा ने मुझे स्थान नही दिखाया था। मोटर साइकिल खडी करने का कोई स्थान ;पबद्ध में नही बताया है बल्कि गाड़ी चलते हालत में गोली मारना बताया है।"

29. The above statement of the I.O. suggests that at the time when the site plan was prepared the information about the incident was not complete. But that, by itself, is not sufficient to discard the ocular account of PW-1 though it puts us on guard to carefully scrutinise the evidence on all material aspects so as to rule out the possibility of prosecution story being contrived on account of enmity. The first step in that regard would be to test whether at the time of the incident PW-1 was present with his father or he arrived later, on receipt of information about the incident. For a better evaluation of PW-1's deposition, we propose to divide it into parts, along with brief comment, to enable a proper analysis. These parts are as follows:-

(a) At 4.30 am the deceased and PW-1, on separate bicycles, left their home to go to Budhanpur bazaar, which is 8 to 9 km away, for purchase of Betel leaves, etc for the shop of PW-1;

(b) Before leaving they ate nothing (Note: empty stomach, empty small and large intestine corroborate this part);

(c) At Budhanpur bazaar, they stayed for one hour and thirty minutes, made purchases of various other articles such as biscuits, toffee, tobacco pouches, etc, apart from betel leaves (Note: no shop keeper of Budhanpur Bazaar was interrogated/ examined to test whether both father (deceased) and son (PW-1) had visited Budhanpur bazaar on that fateful day. Further, according to the statement of PW-1, basket of Betel leaves was on the bicycle of the deceased, whereas carton of biscuits etc were on the bicycle of PW-1 but neither PW-1's bicycle nor carton of biscuit etc was noticed nor seized or custody memo prepared during investigation);

(c) On their way return from Budhanpur bazaar, at about 7.15 am, by the time they could cover 1 km distance, which they did in about 5 minutes, the accused (three in number including the appellants) arrived on a Hero Honda motorcycle (Note: number and colour, or description, of the motorcycle is not disclosed);

(d) The accused Onkar (declared juvenile), who was driving the motorcycle, stopped the motor cycle in front of the bicycle of the deceased and exhorted other accused persons (the appellants) to finish off the deceased (Note: driving of motorcycle by Onkar and stopping his motor cycle, followed by exhortation is not disclosed in the FIR. Further, PW-1 states that Onkar and all alighted from the motorcycle whereas PW-2 stated that Onkar kept sitting);

(e) After that, Rajesh (appellant no.2) fired one shot on the side of the head of the deceased from a close range, as a result, the deceased fell; seeing the deceased falling, PW-1 left his bicycle rushed towards the deceased to hold him; thereafter, he pleaded the accused to spare the deceased (PW-1's father) (Note: all of this is not disclosed in the FIR);

(f) The accused threatened PW-1 and asked him to leave, or he would meet the same fate, and, immediately thereafter, Rajesh (appellant no.2) fired a second shot from close range, which hit the deceased on the back of his head, thereafter, a third shot was fired by Rama Shanker (appellant no.1), which hit the deceased on his back (Note: all of this not disclosed in the FIR);

(g) After witnessing all that, PW-1, to save himself, ran towards the abadi of village Amari (1 km away from the spot); and was given a chase by the accused for some distance;

(h) At village Amari, PW-1 hid himself for about 5 minutes (note: details of the place where he hid himself not disclosed) and, thereafter, with 25-30 villagers (note: names not disclosed) he returned back to the spot within 20-25 minutes. There, at the spot, PW-1 met Dilip (DW-1) (Note: DW-1 states that he resides 200 mt from the police station and that he scribed the report at 11 am at the police station itself) who wrote the FIR at PW-1's dictation and thereafter left to lodge the report. (Note: It was lodged at 8.30 hrs at a police station which is 6 km away from the spot). In the meantime, he gave his bicycle to a villager (note: name not disclosed) to inform his family about the incident.

(i) Thereafter, the police arrived at the spot and took various steps to carry the investigation forward and also prepared Supurdaginama (custody memo) of Pan Basket /cycle as well as the inquest report .

At this stage, it would be useful to notice that according to PW-1 he had also purchased biscuits, toffee, tobacco pouches, etc. therefore, it took them time at Budhanpur bazaar. In his cross-examination, PW-1 stated that the basket kept on the carrier of the bicycle of the deceased carried betel leaves whereas, in the Gatta (carton) there were biscuits; and toffee, etc were in a bag. In his cross-examination, on 21.09.2004, PW-1 stated:-

" पान की टोकरी मेरे पिता ने अपनी साइकिल पर रखी थी। बाकी सामान बिस्कूट व टाफी आदि मेरी साइकिल पर था।"

But interestingly the cycle and the goods which PW-1 was carrying were neither noticed by the I.O. nor a custody memo in respect thereof was prepared. Non-preparation of custody memo may not be too relevant because, according to PW-1, he had given his bicycle to a villager to inform persons of his village. But, what is relevant is that a bag, in which there could be toffees, at the time of inquest, was noticed hanging on the bicycle of the deceased lying below the body of the deceased. As to what was there in that bag the prosecution has not come out with it. The defence case is that this bag contained toffees etc which, to show his presence, PW-1 claims to be carrying on his bicycle. The relevant portion of the inquest report has already been extracted by us above. Importantly, on this count, the I.O., PW-6 was specifically cross-examined by the defence counsel. In response to which, PW-6 stated as follows:-

''यह पंचायतनामा लल्लन मिश्रा द्वारा भरा गया है इस पर मेरा भी हस्ताक्षर है। लेकिन उन्होने यह बात कि ''साईकिल मृतक के नीचे दबी जिसमें ;पबद्ध झोला लटका पीछे पान की पेड की पत्ती'' पंचायतनामा के पेज 2 ;पबद्ध के अन्तिम लाईन मे सही लिखा है अथवा गलत लिखा है मै नही बता सकता साइकिल की सुपुर्दगी वादी को दिनांक 7.8.2002 को दिया है।''

It be noted that prior to the above extracted statement, PW-6 had stated that when he had recovered the bicycle he had not seen the bag and he had also not seen the carton or biscuits; and that whatever he had seen, he prepared a seizure memo of that. In that context, to contradict PW-6, that portion of the inquest report was put to him. All of this would suggest that the prosecution deliberately tried to hide the presence of bag on the bicycle of the deceased so as to provide a reason for the presence of PW-1 with the deceased i.e. to carry other articles for the betel shop. But if the bag hanging on deceased's bicycle contained toffees etc there was no reason for PW-1 to accompany the deceased.

30. In that backdrop, the question that now crops up is whether the deceased had gone alone to purchase goods for the betel shop or he went with PW-1. Notably, according to PW-1, his shop, on a daily basis, use to open at 6 am. It is a matter of common knowledge that Betel (Pan) leaves are perishable and, therefore, its purchase for commercial use would be an every day affair. Therefore, in normal course of events if the shop had to open by 6 am why would PW-1, who used to sit in that shop, be away to the Bazaar to purchase goods for the shop when those goods can be purchased by his father (the deceased). The other aspect of it is, that if PW-1 had to accompany his father, there would be an effort to return before 6 am i.e. the usual time of opening the shop. In these circumstances, apart from the story set up by the prosecution, two other possibilities arise: (i) that the incident occurred much earlier than put by the prosecution but to explain the delay in contriving the story, the time of the incident was delayed, or (ii) that, at the time of the incident, PW-1 was not accompanying the deceased but was at his shop which had to open by 6 am. In this context, we may notice a decision of the Supreme Court in the case of State of UP V. Madan Mohan and others, (1989) 3 SCC 390, where there were chance witnesses set up by the prosecution. One of the chance witness, namely, PW-1, had a shop. To prove his presence at the spot, the chance witness (PW-1 of that case) disclosed that he had shut his shop a bit early on the date of the incident. In that contextual matrix, while disbelieving the witness, the high court opined that he was an interested witness being the brother of deceased and his claim that he closed his shop early and was, therefore, at the scene of occurrence when the incident occurred was difficult to accept. Affirming the judgment of the high court, the apex court observed: "the story of PW-1 that he closed the shop earlier than usual is difficult to believe because he does not assign reason for so doing". Reverting to the facts of the instant case, here also, PW-1 had a shop, the opening time of which, as per own statement of PW-1, was 6 am where, after taking a bath, PW-1 used to sit from 6 am onwards. In these circumstances, the presence of PW-1 with deceased at the scene of occurrence, which was several kilometres away from his shop, needed a believable explanation. The explanation offered was that PW-1 had accompanied the deceased to the Bazaar to purchase merchandise. There is no difficulty with that explanation per se, provided they were to return by the opening time of the shop. But, here, they were at a far away place well past the opening time of the shop. In that background, in absence of a cogent explanation there arises a serious doubt with regard to the presence of PW-1 with the deceased at the time of occurrence. This doubt gets amplified when we find that in the FIR, PW-1 does not disclose in detail the manner in which the incident unfolded. The FIR only discloses that the assailants (all the three accused) came on a motorcycle and by exhorting each other fired three shots at the deceased, as a result the deceased fell dead on the road and his blood splattered on the shirt of the informant, which was witnessed by the informant, Sherai and Gulab. The FIR does not specifically disclose that two shots were fired by Rajesh and one was fired by Rama Shanker. It is also does not disclose that when the first shot was fired at the deceased, the deceased fell and the informant came to hold the deceased and beg for his life. Further, though the informant disclosed that his shirt got blood stained but he did not disclose that his shirt got blood stained while lifting the body of the deceased. We are conscious of the law that a first information report need not be an encyclopaedia and therefore absence of all the details with regard to the manner in which the incident occurred is not fatal to the prosecution but, some aspects of which, particularly, how many shots were fired and by whom, and who exhorted, could have been disclosed, if there had been awareness about it. Therefore, taking the testimony of PW-1 as an improvement from the report, the informant (PW-1) was confronted with the report which was bereft of all the details deposed during trial. However, what is most important in the FIR as well in the testimony of PW-1 is that the accused also chased PW-1 with an intention to kill him but he could some how manage to escape.

31. The defence counsel urged that if the ocular account as rendered by PW-1 is to be believed then before his father could fall on the ground, PW-1 held his father yet, at the spot, as per the recital in the inquest report, of which PW-1 is a witness, his father (the deceased) was noticed lying on the cycle at the spot. Meaning thereby, that PW-1 was not there to hold his father when he was first shot. The defence argument also is that the first information report is deliberately silent in respect of the manner in which the incident occurred. Perhaps, because, PW-1, on advise, wanted to fill in the details after receipt of the autopsy report so that his ocular account is consistent with the medical evidence. Notably, there were three shots fired at the deceased. One on the head, from the side; the other on the back of the head; and the third, on the back. When the first short must have been fired, the deceased must have fallen; the second and third shot must have been fired when he had already fallen but even then such sequence was not disclosed in the FIR because the incident was not at all witnessed.

32. When we notice the position in which the body was lying over the cycle, as noticed at the time of the inquest, it appears to us that the deceased must have fallen after the first shot. However, in our view, the statement of PW-1 need not be understood as saying that PW-1 actually prevented the deceased from falling after he was hit. PW-1's statement is to be understood as saying that he tried to stop his father from falling when he was hit by the first shot. But, whether in such a scenario there was any scope for PW-1 to beg for the life of his father and, thereafter, escape injuries, despite assailants desiring to finish him off too, with bullets to spare, is an issue that needs to be examined to find out whether there is a ring of truth about PW-1's deposition.

33. In our view, the testimony of PW-1 that he begged for the life of his father and, thereafter, could manage to escape from the scene of crime, without any injury, does not inspire our confidence. When the assailants had come well prepared, fully armed and had the capacity to fire three shots at the deceased, from two weapon, all at vital parts, and each of the three shots was sufficient in itself to kill, if the assailants had a desire to finish off PW-1, as is the deposition of PW-1, with whom the assailants had very strong enmity, why would the assailants let off such a soft target, as was PW-1. This raises a serious doubt regarding the presence of PW-1 at the spot, which the prosecution needed to dispel by production of an independent witness such as a resident of the village Amari where, according to PW-1, PW-1 escaped to hide himself from the wrath of the assailants. But here, neither such a witness was produced nor his identity disclosed. Importantly, PW-1 was questioned during cross-examination as to where he hid himself in the village. To which, PW-1 replied by saying that he does not know. Thereafter, he tried to give an evasive answer by saying that that house had a door opening towards north. Interestingly, PW-1 stated that he returned to the spot from the village with several persons of that village yet, the I.O. did not verify this position during the course of investigation. In that background, when we notice that the betel shop of PW-1, son of the deceased, had to open on a daily basis by 6 am, as is the statement of PW-1, the possibility of the occurrence in the wee hours of the morning becomes probable. This possibility is fortified by the fact that the deceased was empty stomach, empty intestine and empty rectum at the time of the autopsy. It suggests that the deceased, who had left early morning at 4.30 am to purchase Pan (betel leaves) for the shop of PW-1 had to return back to provide Pan to PW-1 for his betel shop which had to open by 6 am. In that context, staying at Budhanpur bazaar for an hour and a half and having nothing to eat, not even tea or biscuit, appears a bit improbable, if not impossible. This doubt could have been cleared if any person from Budhanpur bazaar had been examined to demonstrate that the deceased was accompanied by PW-1 for purchase of Pan, etc. This doubt could also have been cleared if the bicycle of PW-1 with carton and bag in respect of other goods allegedly purchased from Budhanpur Bazaar had been noticed by the investigating officer. But, here, a bag was noticed hanging on the cycle of the deceased, as is clear from the inquest report of which PW-1 is a witness. This creates a doubt whether, PW-1 to show his presence with the deceased has cooked up a story of his going with the deceased to Budhanpur Bazaar to purchase goods for the betel shop. When we take into account all these circumstances as a whole in conjunction with the manner in which the incident is stated to have occurred, while keeping in mind that PW-1 has not suffered a single injury, we find that the presence of PW-1 at the spot at the time of occurrence appears extremely doubtful.

34. The above doubt gets amplified when we notice the FIR bereft of all details with regard to the manner in which the shots were fired at the deceased and by whom. No doubt, a first information report need not be an encyclopaedia of all the facts but in the FIR lodged by PW-1 there is not even a statement that the accused fired after stopping the motorcycle. There is also no statement in the first information report that after the accused had stopped the motorcycle, Onkar alighted from the motorcycle and on his exhortation two shots were fired by Rajesh and one by Rama Shanker. Further, in the first information report there is no averment that when the first shot was fired at the deceased, PW-1 had jumped off his bicycle to hold the deceased and beg for his life. The narration in the FIR is reflective of an incident that occurred in a split second, where shots were fired from a moving motor cycle and the blood splattered on the shirt of the informant, who, crying for help and to save his life, ran towards Bhatahi Chatti where he saw Sherai Mishra (PW-2) and Gulab coming from Atrait side. But, interestingly, in the statement made during the course of trial, the blood stains on the shirt were explained as to be on account of smearing of blood while lifting the body of the deceased. The lack of details in the first information report, in ordinary circumstances, would not have been material. But, here, the informant comes from a litigious family, which is in litigation for two decades with the accused side. In that context, lack of details would suggest that at the time of lodging the report, complete information with regard to the manner in which the incident occurred was not available. This possibility gains support from another circumstance, which is, that the site plan prepared by the I.O. does not disclose as to - where the motorcycle stopped; from where the assailants fired at the deceased; from where the witnesses witnessed the incident and as to in which direction PW-1 ran. No doubt, during his deposition in court, PW-1 gives a graphic description of the incident but this could be developed on advise, particularly, when a person comes from a litigious family.

35. There are few other aspects in the ocular account of PW-1, which make it highly improbable. First, if the informant had to effect escape from the spot why, at the first place, he would go and come in the firing range of the accused to plead for the life of the deceased after he was already shot in the head. Second, what was the occasion for the assailants, who were well armed and well prepared, not to kill the informant at the spot rather than waste a bullet on his father who had already been hit twice on the head. In these circumstances, lack of injury on the body of the informant makes the prosecution story, as narrated during trial, improbable and unnatural. Had it been a case where the informant straight away effected his escape seeing the assailants, informant's story might have been acceptable and believable. But PW-1's deposition is that he begged the assailants to spare his father, when his father was already shot in the head. Not only that, according to PW-1, the assailants, thereafter, shot twice at his father and then turned towards him, whereafter, he ran to escape. All of this renders the story highly unnatural. Interestingly, the site plan does not disclose the direction in which PW-1 ran to save his life and it also does not disclose the spot from where gun shots were fired and by whom. In such a scenario, the presence of PW-1 at the spot at the time of the incident becomes highly doubtful. No doubt, the ocular account may be consistent with medical evidence in so far as injuries found on the body of the deceased is concerned but we must not lose sight of the fact that the FIR is completely bereft of how, by whom, and on which part of the body, the deceased was shot. In that context, merely because the ocular account is corroborated by medical evidence, as to the site of the injuries are concerned, it is not a guarantee for it being trustworthy and reliable because oral deposition can always be improved and polished on legal advise after receipt of autopsy report.

36. In so far as PW-2 is concerned, he is a chance witness and is a relative of Balai Mishra in whose murder, Ram Shabd (the husband of appellant no.2's wife's sister) is an accused and for whom, Rajesh (appellant no.2) was doing pairvi. Therefore, PW-2, too, is a witness having an interest in the conviction of the accused. Further, PW-2's explanation for his presence at the spot is flimsy. He, as already noticed above, states that he was going to Budhanpur bazaar, which is 7 km away from his residence, to buy vegetables for a feast arranged by him. This explanation for his presence does not inspire our confidence because it was admitted by him in his cross-examination that there were multiple bazaars closer to his residence than the one he proposed to visit for the merchandise. Moreover, this explanation was not there in his statement under section 161 CrPC. That apart, in his deposition he has not disclosed that PW-1 escaped from the spot. Thus, in our view he is not a reliable witness.

37. The summary of our analysis is that the deceased had gone to the Bazaar early morning to buy betel leaves for the shop of PW-1; the shop of PW-1 use to open on a daily basis at 6 am; therefore, it is most likely that either the incident occurred earlier than the time put by the prosecution, which possibility is not ruled out by medical evidence, or PW-1 was at his shop and not with the deceased at the time of the incident; further, if PW-1 had been present at the time of the incident, and the same had occurred in the manner alleged, he would not have been spared. Thus, the presence of PW-1 at the spot at the time of occurrence is highly doubtful. Further, the testimony of PW-1 does not inspire our confidence as he makes a huge improvement in his deposition in court than what he stated in the FIR with regard to the mode and manner in which the incident occurred and by whom injuries were caused to the deceased. That PW-2 is a chance witness whose explanation with regard to his presence at the spot is flimsy and not confidence inspiring and he is also interested in the conviction of Rajesh (appellant no.2) for reasons disclosed above, therefore, his testimony does not inspire our confidence; more so, because he states that he signed the inquest report at the police station at 3.30 pm. Further PW-2's deposition is at variance with PW-1 in so far as he does not disclose about PW-1 escaping from the spot towards village Amari. That, except PW-1 and PW-2, who are highly interested witnesses, no independent witness has been examined; and no effort has been made to connect the weapon recovered at the instance of the appellant no.2 with the bullet recovered from the body of the deceased. Last but not the least, from the statement of DW-1 i.e. the scribe of the FIR as well as other circumstances noticed above including the statement of PW-2 that he signed inquest report at 3.30 pm, there arises a strong possibility of the FIR being ante-timed. The sum and total of our analysis is that the prosecution evidence is not trustworthy and fails to inspire our confidence to sustain the conviction of the appellants. Consequently, the benefit of doubt would have to be extended to the accused appellants.

38. In so far as conviction of the appellant-Rajesh under Section 25 Arms Act is concerned, we notice that, firstly, recovery of the country made pistol is not evidenced by any member of the public even though it is not a chance recovery but is alleged to be on a disclosure made by accused while in police custody; secondly, the weapon recovered has not been forensically connected with the bullets recovered from the body of the deceased; and, thirdly, the alleged recovery is from an open place not under the control or in possession of the appellant no.2 therefore, weapon cannot be said to be in possession of the appellant-Rajesh so as to justify his conviction under Section 25 of the Arms Act. Consequently, the conviction of the appellant-Rajesh under Section 25 Arms Act is also liable to be set aside.

39. For all the foregoing reasons, the appeal succeeds and is, accordingly, allowed. The impugned judgment and order of the trial court in the two connected trials is hereby set aside. The appellants are acquitted of the charge for which they have been tried and convicted by the court below. The appellants, if in jail, shall be set at liberty forthwith, unless wanted in any other case, subject to compliance of section 437 A Cr.P.C. to the satisfaction of the court below.

40. Let a copy of this order and the lower court record be sent to the trial court for information and compliance.

APPELLATE JURISDICTION
CRIMINAL SIDE

BEFORE

THE HON'BLE RAMESH SINHA, J.
THE HON'BLE MRS. SAROJ YADAV, J.

Criminal Appeal No. 2117 of 2008

Prakash Pasi ...Appellant

Versus

State of U.P. ...Respondent

Counsel for the Appellant:
Sri Jaikaran

Counsel for the Respondent:
Ms. Smiti Sahai, learned Additional Government Advocate

A. Recovery not made at the pointing out of the accused. Rather had been made on the basis of the statement given by the accused to the I.O. while he was confined in jail. Has no values in the eyes of law.

B. Child witness- it is a rule of practical wisdom than law that the testimony of a child witness be appreciated with caution and must be relied upon when it is corroborated by other evidence because a child can easily be swayed or tutored by others. Conviction can be based on the sole evidence of hostile witness provided it is trustworthy and inspires confidence of the court after considering all the facts and circumstances of the case.

C. The circumstantial evidence brought on record must be strong enough to point out towards the culpability of the accused and accused alone in committing the offence.

Appeal is allowed. (E-11)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Mrs. Saroj Yadav, J.)

1. This criminal appeal has been preferred by the sole appellant/convict Prakash Pasi against the judgment and order dated 14.08.2008 passed by Additional Sessions Judge, Court No. 6, Raebareli in Sessions Trial No. 276 of 2006, Crime No. 78 of 2006, under Section 302 of the Indian Penal Code 1860 (in short "I.P.C."), Police Station Badokhar, District Raebareli, convicting the appellant with life imprisonment coupled with a fine of Rs.2000/-.

2. The facts necessary for disposal of this appeal in short are:-

An F.I.R. was registered at case crime no. 78 of 2006, under Section 302 IPC, Police Station Badokhar, District Raebareli on the basis of written report presented by Km. Khushboo. It was described in the written report that the father of the complainant had gone to Etawah for doing work as labourer on brick-kiln. She was in the house along with her mother and younger brother Mukesh. On 22.05.2006 at about 11 A.M. her mother was chopping vegetables sitting on a Cot in the Court-yard under the thatch. Her neighbour Prakash Pasi, who left the village along with his family since the festival of Holi, came there and started chatting with her mother sitting on the same cot. Her mother asked her to bring the chilies and her younger brother went to play in the field. When she came back after taking chilies from the shop of Ravi, she found that her mother was lying soaked in blood by the side of the cot and Prakash was not there. She raised cry, then some people of the neighbourhood came there and found her mother dead. Her throat was slit. Prakash had killed her mother due to old enmity.

3. After investigation charge sheet was submitted in the Court against the appellant/convict under Section 302 IPC. The concerned Magistrate after taking cognizance on the charge sheet committed the case to the Court of Sessions, for trial.

4. The Sessions Court framed charge under Section 302 IPC. The accused denied the crime and claimed to be tried. The prosecution examined six witnesses in toto to prove its story and also proved the relevant documents Exhibits Ka-1 to Ka-14. The witnesses produced include:-

(a) P.W. 1- Km. Khushboo, the complainant and daughter of the deceased;

(b) P.W.2- Dinesh Singh, a witness of extra judicial confession made by the appellant/convict;

(c) P.W. 3- Kunjan, the husband of the deceased;

(d) P.W. 4- Dr. Sayyad Altaf Hussain, who conducted post-mortem on the cadaver of the deceased;

(e) P.W. 5-Constable Amar Pal, who prove the registration of FIR and;

(f) P.W. 6- Anirudh Kumar Singh, S.H.O, who investigated the crime.

The Exhibits include:-

(I) Ext. Ka-1- written report;

(II) Ext. Ka-2- post-morten report;

(III) Ext. Ka-3- Chik FIR;

(IV) Ext. Ka-4- concerned G.D.;

(V) Ext. Ka-5- Site-plan;

(VI) Ext. Ka-6- memo of collection of blood stained and plain soil from the spot of crime;

(VII) Ext. Ka-7- inquest-report;

(VIII) Ext. Ka-8- report of Investigating Officer for conducting post-mortem,

(X) Ext. Ka-10- Police Form No. 13;

(XI) Ext. ka-11- letter to Chief-Medical-Officer for post-mortem;

(XII) Ext. Ka-12- recovery memo of weapon of offence;

(XIII) Ext. Ka-13- charge-sheet;

(XIV) Ext. Ka-14- site-plan of the place from where the weapon of offence was recovered.

5. After completion of prosecution evidence, the statement of the appellant/convict under Section 313 of the Code of Criminal Procedure (in short Cr.P.C.) was recorded, wherein he denied the crime and stated that witnesses have deposed falsely. He had also stated that he was implicated in the crime falsely at the behest of one Shiv Sagar, the resident of the same village, who has terror in the village and his brother was I.G. in police. Shiv Sagar had murdered his (convicts) brother, thereafter the appellant/convict along with his family members left the village. The complainant and his family implicated him in the crime at the behest of Shiv Sagar. He examined Vinod Kumar, as defence witness, who is also scribed the written report.

6. After completion of evidence, hearing the arguments of both the sides and analyzing the evidence learned Trial Court reached at conclusion that on the day of incident the appellant/convict Prakash Pasi reached the house of the deceased. Before incident, they both (appellant and deceased) were chatting sitting on the same cot in the Court-yard of the deceased, where she was chopping vegetables. The daughter of the deceased has proved this fact that when Prakash was in the house, her mother sent her to bring chilies and when she came back after taking chilies she found, her mother was lying dead soaked in the blood. The time-gap between the incident and presence of Prakash at the spot was so short that to presume that somebody else might have committed the crime, is not possible. Km. Khushboo proved that when she left the house for purchasing chilies, both the deceased and Prakash were alive and present in her house and when she came after half an hour, she found her mother dead and Prakash was not there. Hence, the circumstances are indicating that in all probabilities the crime was committed by the appellant/convict.

7. Learned Trial Court held the appellant guilty under Section 302 IPC and punished accordingly with life imprisonment coupled with a fine of Rs.2000/-. Being aggrieved of this conviction, the present appeal has been preferred by the appellant.

8. Heard Sri Jaikaran, learned counsel for the appellant/convict, Ms. Smiti Sahai, learned Additional Government Advocate appearing on behalf of the State respondent and perused the material brought on record.

9. Learned counsel for the appellant/convict argued that there is no direct evidence of the crime and the case is based on circumstantial evidence. P.W.1-Km. Khushboo (the complainant and daughter of the deceased) was a child of only nine years at the time of incident and she did not even witness the crime. She has stated only that she saw Prakash Pasi (appellant/convict) in the house along with her mother and she went to purchase chilies upon asking of her mother and when she came back, she found her mother lying besides the cot soaked in the blood and her throat was slit and Prakash (appellant/convict) was absent. He further argued that no other witness has corroborated the presence of Prakash in the house of the deceased before the incident. The recovery of weapon was not made at the pointing out of the appellant/convict rather it has been made on the basis of the statement given by the appellant to the Investigating Officer while he was confined in jail. The appellant/convict has stated in his statement that he has been implicated in the crime at the behest of Shiv Sagar, who is a strong man of the village and has terror in the minds of people of village. The appellant/convict has already left the village along with his entire family due to his fear after the murder of his brother by Shiv Sagar. He further argued that the appellant/convict has no concern with the crime, as such, he should be acquitted.

10. On the other hand learned A.G.A. submitted that the presence of the appellant/convict in the house of the deceased, just half an hour before the incident has been proved by P.W. 1- Km. Khshboo, the daughter of the deceased. The time gap between when P.W. 1 went to purchase chilies leaving the appellant Prakash in her house and came back from there and found her mother dead, was very short, so there was no possibility of being committed the murder by someone else, except the appellant/convict. Learned A.G.A. further submitted that knife used in the crime was recovered by the Investigating-Officer on the basis of the statement of appellant/convict from a pond and that knife was recognized by the son of the deceased as the knife used for chopping the vegetables in his house. It has been further submitted that circumstantial evidence is strong enough to hold the appellant guilty of the crime and convict accordingly, as such, the appeal should be dismissed.

11. Considered the rival submissions and perused the original record as well as the impugned judgment and order passed by the Trial Court.

12. The case is based on circumstantial evidence as there is no direct evidence of the crime. The principles governing the appreciation of evidence in such cases have been summarized by the Hon'ble Apex Court in catena of decisions.

13. The Hon'ble Apex Court in this regard in the case of Shivaji Chintappa Patil Vs. State of Maharashtra reported in (2021) 5 SCC 626, has laid down as under (para 12):-

"12. The law with regard to conviction on the basis of circumstantial evidence has been very well crystalised in the judgment of this Court in Sharad Birdhichand Sarda v. State of Maharashtra :-(SCC p.185, paras 153-54)

"153. A close analysis of this decision would show that the following conditions must be fulfilled before a case against an accused can be said to be fully established:

(1) the circumstances from which the conclusion of guilt is to be drawn should be fully established.

It may be noted here that this Court indicated that the circumstances concerned "must or should" and not "may be" established. There is not only a grammatical but a legal distinction between "may be proved" and "must be or should be proved" as was held by this Court in Shivaji Sahabrao Bobade v. State of Maharashtra where the observations were made: [SCC p. 807 : para 19, SCC (Cri) p. 1047]

"19. .....Certainly, it is a primary principle that the accused must be and not merely may be guilty before a court can convict and the mental distance between "may be" and "must be" is long and divides vague conjectures from sure conclusions."

(2) the facts so established should be consistent only with the hypothesis of the guilt of the accused, that is to say, they should not be explainable on any other hypothesis except that the accused is guilty,

(3) the circumstances should be of a conclusive nature and tendency,

4) they should exclude every possible hypothesis except the one to be proved, and

(5) there must be a chain of evidence so complete as not to leave any reasonable ground for the conclusion consistent with the innocence of the accused and must show that in all human probability the act must have been done by the accused.

154. These five golden principles, if we may say so, constitute the panchsheel of the proof of a case based on circumstantial evidence."

14. In the present matter, FIR was lodged by nine years old daughter of the deceased, Km. Khushboo, wherein she has mentioned that Prakash (appellant/convict) came to her house on the day of incident at about 11 A.M. Her mother was chopping vegetables. Prakash and her mother were sitting on the same cot and started chatting. Her mother asked her to bring chilies from the market. When she came back her mother was found lying dead and her throat was slit and Prakash (appellant/convict) was absent. She has also mentioned that Prakash killed her mother due to old enmity. Km. Khusbhoo has been examined as P.W. 1 in the Trial Court on 11.01.2007 i.e. about eight months after the incident. She has stated in the Court that Prakash (appellant/convict) came to her house, her mother and Prakash were sitting on the same cot and chatting. Her mother asked about the well-being of her father as the father of Km. Khushboo and Prakash used to work together at brick-kiln in Etawah as a labourer. Thereafter, her mother asked her to bring chilies from the market and when she came back, found her mother dead, her throat was slit and Prakash (appellant/convict) was not there. She has further stated in the Trial Court that she did not see Prakash cutting the throat of her mother, hence it is very clear that she is not an eye witness of the crime. She is witness only of the fact that Prakash (appellant/convict) was there with her mother in the house just half an hour before the incident. She has also stated that her father was not on talking terms with Prakash. P.W. 2-Dinesh Singh before whom the appellant allegedly made an extra judicial confession about killing of the deceased by him has turned hostile and he has not supported the story of prosecution.

15. Now comes another important witness Kunjan (husband of the deceased), who has been examined as P.W. 3. He has stated before the Trial Court that he received an information about the incident telephonically. When he came to the village, her daughter told about the incident. He has stated in his cross-examination that he received information of the incident on the next-day of incident and he came to the village next-day. He has further stated that his statement was not recorded by the Investigating Officer in the Police Station when he reached there, upon information received. He was called by the Investigating Officer after 10-12 days of the incident and upon being asked by the Investigating Officer he told to the Investigating officer the reason of murder of her wife but he nowhere has stated that Prakash killed her wife due to enmity, though in his examination-in-chief he has stated that Prakash (appellant/convict) had killed his wife because Prakash deemed that one Shiv Sagar killed his (appellant's) brother upon his (P.W. 3) behest. In cross-examination P.W. 3 has further stated that Prakash was friendly with him when they were working at brick-klin in Etawah. At the time of incident he or his family members had no enmity with Prakash. He has clearly stated that Shiv Sagar was annoyed with Prakash.

16. Alleged recovery of weapon of crime i.e. knife was admittedly not made at the pointing out of the accused rather had been made on the basis of the statement given by the appellant/convict to the Investigating Officer while he was confined in jail. The statement of appellant/convict was recorded by the Investigating Officer after taking permission of the Magistrate concerned, as is evident from the statement of the Investigating Officer recorded as P.W. 6. The alleged recovery was made about two months after the incident and that too on the basis of statement of the Investigating Officer while the appellant was confined in jail. This recovery has no value in the eyes of law and rightly been disbelieved by the trial Court.

17. The appellant/convict has stated in his statement recorded under Section 313 Cr.P.C. that he was falsely implicated in the crime at the behest of Shiv Sagar, whose brother was I.G. in police and Shiv Sagar has terror in the village. Shiv Sagar earlier killed his brother, so due to his fear he left the village along with his entire family. This fact, that Shiv Sagar is the person who had terror in the village has been proved even by P.W. 3 Kunjan (husband of the deceased). He has stated in his cross-examination that village people fear very much to Shiv Sagar. Whatever is asked by Shiv Sagar to any person that person has to comply that. He has also stated that three other families of the village belonging to scheduled castes community had left the village due to terror of Shiv Sagar. Prakash (appellant/convict) and his family also had left the village due to fear of Shiv Sagar. He has further stated that he had friendly terms with Prakash (appellant/convict). In such circumstances, the possibility can not be ruled out that Prakash (appellant/convict) was implicated falsely in the crime. No motive has been established, though it is not always necessary that motive should be proved but in the case of circumstantial evidence the motive gives strength to the case of prosecution to connect the links of the chain of circumstantial evidence.

18. The complainant was nine years old child at the time of incident. On the day of incident, when her mother was killed, she lodged the FIR, her father was in Etawah where he was working as a labourer in brick-kiln. About the acceptability and appreciation of evidence Hon'ble Apex Court has held in catena of decisions that the evidence of a child witness should be appreciated with caution because a child is easily be swayed or tutored. Though the conviction can be based on the sole evidence of a child witness but the evidence of such child witness should be trustworthy and able to inspire the confidence of the Court.

19. In Yogesh Singh Versus Mahabeer Singh (2017) 11 SCC 195, the Hon'ble Apex Court has held as under:-

"It is well-settled that the evidence of a child witness must find adequate corroboration, before it is relied upon as the rule of corroboration is of practical wisdom than of law. (See

Prakash Vs. State of M.P., (1992) 4 SCC 225; Baby Kandayanathi Vs. State of Kerala,1993 Supp (3) SCC 667; Raja Ram Yadav Vs. State of Bihar, (1996) 9 SCC 287; Dattu Ramrao Sakhare Vs. State of Maharashtra, (1997) 5 SCC 341; State of U.P. Vs. Ashok Dixit & Anr., (2000) 3 SCC 70; Suryanarayana Vs. State Of Karnataka, (2001) 9 SCC 129.

However, it is not the law that if a witness is a child, his evidence shall be rejected, even if it is a found reliable. The law is that evidence of a child witness must be evaluated more carefully and with greater circumspection because a child is susceptible to be swayed by what others tell him and thus a child witness is an easy prey to tutoring. [Vide Panchhi Vs. State of U.P., (1998) 7 SCC 177]."

20. In Ranjeet Kumar Ram @Ranjeet Kumar Das Versus State of Bihar 2015 SCC Online SC500, it has been held as under:-

"Evidence of the child witness and its credibility would depend upon the circumstances of each case. Only precaution which the Court has to bear in mind while assessing the evidence of a child witness is that the witness must be a reliable one."

21. Thus, it is discernible from the above cited case laws that though a conviction can be based on the sole testimony of a child witness, if the Court finds it trustworthy and that inspires the confidence of the Court yet, It is a rule of practical wisdom than law that testimony of a child witness must be relied upon when it is corroborated by other evidence because the child can easily be swayed or tutored by others, keeping in view all the facts and circumstacnes of the case. In the present matter, Km. Khushboo is a witness of fact that she saw her mother alive lastly in the company of Prakash (appellant/convict). No other person has been examined to corroborate the fact that Prakash (appellant/convict) was present there on the day of incident. In her written report, she stated that Prakash (appellant/convict) killed her mother due to enmity. Her father (husband of the deceased) has stated as P.W. 3 that he and Prakash Pasi was on friendly terms while working in Etawah as a labourer and he has no enmity with him, while Km. Khushboo-P.W. 1 has stated that her father was not on friendly terms with Prakash (appellant/convict(. Further more, P.W. 3 has corroborated the fact what has been stated by Prakash (appellant/convict) in his statement recorded under Section 313 Cr.P.C. that Shiv Sagar was annoyed with the appellant.

22. After analyzing the evidence on record in the circumstances described above, a strong possibility was there to get the appellant/convict implicated falsely in the crime. No other witness except P.W. 1-Km. Khushboo has stated that Prakash (appellant/convict) was seen with the deceased or around or near the place of the incident or in the village before or after the incident, on the day of incident. It has come in the evidence of P.W. 1-Km Khushboo that Prakash (appellant/convict) has already left the village and he was not residing in the village since the festival of Holi. The factum of presence of appellant on the day of incident in the house of the deceased has not been corroborated by any other evidence.

23. Thus, in such situation, the conviction of the appellant is not sustainable on the basis of evidence available on record. The circumstantial evidence brought on record is not strong enough to point out towards the culpability of the appellant and appellant alone, in committing the murder of the deceased, hence he deserves acquittal. Accordingly the appeal is allowed. The judgment and order dated 14.08.2008 passed by Additional Sessions Judge, Court No. 6, Raebareli in Sessions Trial No. 276 of 2006, Crime No. 78 of 2006, under Section 302 IPC, Police Station Badokhar, District Raebareli, is hereby set aside.

24. Let the appellant-Prakash Pasi convicted and sentenced in Sessions Trial No.276 of 2006, Crime No. 78 of 2006, under Section 302 IPC, Police Station Badokhar, District Raebareli, be released from the concerned jail, if not required in any other case.

25. Appellant Prakash Pasi is directed to file personal bond and two sureties each in the like amount to the satisfaction of the court concerned in compliance with Section 437-A of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973.

26. Let a copy of this order alongwith original record be transmitted to the trial court concerned forthwith for necessary information and follow up action.

THE HON'BLE MRS. SUNITA AGARWAL, J.
THE HON'BLE VIKAS KUNVAR SRIVASTAV, J.

Criminal Appeal No. 2170 of 1983
with
Criminal Appeal No. 2169 of 1983

Prahlad & Ors. ...Appellants (In Jail)
Versus
State of U.P. ...Respondent

Counsel for the Appellants:
Sri R.B. Sahai, Sri Ankit Saran, Sri Om Prakash Yadav, Sri Pankaj Malviya (A.C.), Sri Pavan Kumar, Sri Yashwant Pratap Singh

Counsel for the Respondent:
D.G.A.

A. Evidence of closely related witnesses is required to be closely scrutinized and appreciated before any conclusion is made to rest upon to convict the accused in a given case. In case the evidence has a ring of truth to it, is cogent, credible and trustworthy it can and certainly be relied upon.

B. Minor contradiction or inconsistency are immaterial and irrelevant details which do not in any way corrode the credibility of witness cannot be labeled as omission or contradictions as the mental capabilities of human being cannot be expected to be attuned to absorb all the details, thus, minor discrepancies are bound to occur in the statements of the witnesses.

C. Convincing evidence is required to discredit an injured witness.

D. Indian Penal Code,1860 - Sections 141 & 149 .- Common object does not necessarily require proof of prior meeting of minds or pre-consult. The vicarious liability of the members of the unlawful assembly extends only to the acts done in pursuance of the common objects of the unlawful assembly or to such offences as the members of the unlawful assembly knew to be likely to be committed in prosecution of that object. It is not necessary that all the persons forming an unlawful assembly must do some overt act.

E. Requisition sent to Doctor to conduct post mortem not containing all the particulars found in inquest report and complaint, like particulars of case, weapon used and names of accused persons etc. would not lead to the conclusion that F.I.R. was ante timed. Further, if time of receipt of special report sent to Jurisdictional Magistrate is not noted and delivery of the special report consistently proved by the credible evidences, mere non-noting of the time would not lead to the conclusion that F.I.R. was ante timed.

F. Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 - Section 174 - The object of the proceedings u/S 174 Cr.P.C. is merely to ascertain whether person died of suspicious circumstances or met with an unnatural death and if so what was it's apparent cause. The question regarding the details of how the deceased was assaulted or who assaulted him or under what circumstances he was assaulted is foreign to the ambit and scope of such proceedings i.e. inquest report is not the statement of any person wherein all the names of the persons must be mentioned. Basic purpose of holding an inquest is to report regarding the apparent cause of death namely, whether it is suicidal, homicidal, accidental or by some machinery etc.

G. Delay in sending the special report to the jurisdictional Magistrate is not fatal particularly when the defence did not put any question in this regard to the Investigating Officer.

Appeals are dismissed. (E-11)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Vikas Kunvar Srivastav, J.)

1. The instant two criminal appeals have arisen from the judgment and order of conviction and sentence dated 14.09.1983 passed by the learned Additional Sessions Judge, Deoria in Sessions Trial No.92 of 1982, under Sections 147, 148, 302/149, 324/149 of the Indian Penal Code, 1860.

2. It would be relevant and pertinent to mention, at the very outset, that initially in the written complaint and the first information report registered thereon by the police against five accused persons namely (1) Prahlad, S/o Ram Hit Yadav, R/o Village Bhimpur, (2) Ram Oudh, S/o Ram Hit Yadav, R/o Village Bhimpur (3) Prahlad S/o Bhirgun, R/o Village Moora Dih, (4) Sudama of Village Chali Chaur, Police Station Rudrapur and (5) Brijraj S/o Mahipat Yadav, R/o Village Khairaich, Police Station Rampur Karkhana, District Deoria, the case was committed to the sessions for trial against the Prahlad, S/o Ram Hit Yadav, R/o Village Bhimpur, Ram Oudh, S/o Ram Hit Yadav, R/o Village Bhimpur, Prahlad S/o Bhirgun, R/o Village Moora Dih and Brijraj S/o Mahipat Yadav, R/o Village Khairaich, Police Station Rampur Karkhana, District Deoria for the reason that the accused Sudama died before the committal of the case in a police encounter.

3. After completion of the trial, learned Additional District and Sessions Judge, Deoria recorded conviction of accused persons as under:-

(I) Ram Oudh - convicted under Sections 147, 302 read with Section 149, 324/149 of the Indian Penal Code, 1860 and is sentenced life imprisonment for the offence punishable under Section 302 read with Section 149 of the Indian Penal Code and to undergo R.I. for a period of four months for the offence punishable under Section 147 of the Indian Penal Code, 1860 and to undergo R.I. for a period of one year for the offence punishable under Section 324 read with Section 149 of the Indian Penal Code, 1860.

(II) Prahlad S/o Bhirgun - convicted under Sections 147, 302 read with Section 149, 324/149 of the Indian Penal Code, 1860 and is sentenced life imprisonment for the offence punishable under Section 302 read with Section 149 of the Indian Penal Code and to undergo R.I. for a period of four months for the offence punishable under Section 147 of the Indian Penal Code, 1860 and to undergo R.I. for a period of one year for the offence punishable under Section 324 read with Section 149 of the Indian Penal Code, 1860.

(III) Prahlad S/o Ram Hit Yadav - convicted under Sections 148, 302/149, 324/149 of the Indian Penal Code, 1860 and is sentenced life imprisonment for the offence punishable under Section 302 read with Section 149 of the Indian Penal Code and to undergo R.I. for a period of six months for the offence punishable under Section 148 of the Indian Penal Code, 1860 and one year R.I. for the offence punishable under Section 324 read with Section 149 of the Indian Penal Code, 1860.

(IV) Brijraj - convicted under Sections 148, 302/149, 324/149 of the Indian Penal Code, 1860 and is sentenced life imprisonment for the offence punishable under Section 302 read with Section 149 of the Indian Penal Code and to undergo R.I. for a period of six months for the offence punishable under Section 148 of the Indian Penal Code, 1860 and one year R.I. for the offence punishable under Section 324 read with Section 149 of the Indian Penal Code, 1860.

4. Criminal Appeal No.2170 of 1983 has been preferred by the appellants (1) Prahlad, S/o Ram Hit Yadav, (2) Brijraj S/o Mahipat Yadav and (3) Ram Oudh, S/o Ram Hit Yadav. Learned counsel Sri Yashwant Pratap Singh put forth the arguments on behalf of the only surviving appellant Brijraj in this appeal.

5. Criminal Appeal No.2169 of 1983 has been preferred on behalf of the sole appellant Prahlad, S/o Bhirgun separately against the same judgment of conviction and order of sentence described here in above. Learned senior counsel Sri Brijesh Sahai assisted by Sri Himanshu Srivastav, learned Advocate has argued the case on behalf of the said appellant.

6. The record reveals that during the pendency, in Criminal Appeal No.2170 of 1983, Prahlad, S/o Ram Hit Yadav and Ram Oudh, S/o Ram Hit Yadav had died and consequent thereto the appeal to the extent of the aforesaid deceased appellants Prahlad and Ram Oudh were abated vide order dated 23.11.2015, and as such, in Criminal Appeal No.2170 of 1983, the only surviving appellant is Brijraj.

7. The record further shows that accused "Prahlad" (of Village Moora Dih) is on bail granted by this court whereas appellant "Brijraj" in Criminal Appeal No.2170 of 1983 is in jail.

8. To abdicate the confrontation with probable chaos by reason of sameness in the name of two accused in the factual matrix, in our discussions we shall address hereinafter, wherever needed, the accused-appellant Prahlad in Criminal Appeal No.2170/1983 as Prahlad (of Village Bhimpur) and the accused-appellant Prahlad in Criminal Appeal No.2169/1983 as Prahlad (of Village Moora Dih).

(I) Factual Matrix

9. The first informant (P.W.-1) Ishwar S/o Deu, R/o Village Moora Dih, Police Station Kotwali, District Deoria gave a written information in the Police Station Kotwali, District Deoria on 12.04.1979 at about 09:30 P.M., under his thumb impression, about the killing of his nephew namely "Ramashre Yadav" at about 08:30 P.M. to 08:45 P.M. in the incident of bombing by accused persons five in number namely (1) Prahlad (of Village Bhimpur), (2) Ram Oudh, (3) Prahlad (of Village Moora Dih), (4) Sudama and (5) Brijraj on the spot of incident located near the Railway Station, Deoria in front of Octroi Outpost (Chungi ghar) where he was running his pavement shop of lassi and squash. The informant at the relevant time of the incident complained of was on his shop neighbouring to that of his nephew "Ramashre", talking with his relative "Bahadur Yadav" (P.W.-2). His nephew "Ramashre" was making lassi on his shop. At about 08:30 P.M. to 08:45 P.M., the above named accused persons came together pouncing from the side of the railway station towards the shop of Ramashre. Prahlad (of Village Moora Dih) shouted exhortingly, "this is the man Ramashre, kill him (मारो साले को)", persuant thereto Sudama, Prahlad (of village Bhimpur) and Brijraj made a simultaneous throw of hand grenades over Ramashre. The informant and Bahadur (P.W.-2) raised alarm whereupon Banshi (P.W.-3) of Village Gosai Ka Chakra, Police Station Salepur, Hari Yadav of village Bharwali, Tola Mauwari, Police Station Kotwali, District Deoria, Ram Ji of village Moora Dih and numerous other people rushed to the spot and chased the fleeing assailants but they ran away passing through the railway station towards Mal Godam throwing bombs on the chasing crowd. The informant's nephew died instantly on the spot sustaining blast injuries of bombs. With him one of his customer also got injured (P.W.-5). The spot of the incident was illuminated from the electricity light coming from the neighbouring shops. In the written complaint itself, motive of the accused persons for killing Ramashre is also set forth stating that the deceased "Ramashre Yadav" arraigned and convicted by the Sessions Court in the charge of murder of brother of Prahlad (of village Moora Dih) namely Shyama, was enlarged on bail in appeal by the High Court. This is why, Prahlad (of Village Moora Dih) and his companions hatched enmity with the deceased "Ramashre Yadav" which led them to kill him.

10. The first information report was registered as Case Crime No.132 of 1979, under Sections 147, 148, 149, 302 and 307 of the Indian Penal Code, 1860, at the Police Station Kotwali, District Deoria. The written information dated 12.04.1979 was reduced into writing by one Suneet Kumar on factual narration of the incident by the first informant "Ishwar". This written information proved by the first informant Ishwar as P.W.-1 is Ex. Ka-1, on the basis of which the first information report was registered and proved by P.W.-6, the Investigating Officer which is Ex. Ka-3.

11. The Investigating Officer Anwarul Aziz, Sub Inspector of Police in Police Station Kotwali, District Deoria (PW-6) recorded the statement of the first informant at the police station after registration of the first information report and then proceeded to the spot where he enquired the dead body in inquest proceeding, prepared it's report and other connected papers. The dead body was dispatched with constable Vikram Singh and Bhagirathi for post mortem. On 30.04.1979 at about 0:05 hours, he recorded the statements of witnesses of inquest and eye witnesses named in the complaint viz. Bahadur and Rajvanshi @ Banshi, prepared the site plan, collected the blood stained soil and simple soil from the earth of the spot of incident and prepared the relevant memos. Prosecution proposed to prove the case before the Court by witnesses and documents given herein below in the table for the purpose of easy reference:-

(II) Argument of learned counsels for the appellants

We keeping in mind the present two appeals being one of the oldest pendency since long for a period of 40 years, gave an anxious and lengthy hearing to the learned counsels so as to decide the matter.

12. Learned senior counsel Sri Brijesh Sahai, opened the argument impressing on the fact of the role assigned in the first information report itself to the accused-appellant Prahlad (of Village Moora Dih) of exhorting the other accused. He submitted that this role of exhortation, as usually seen, is ornamental only to falsely implicate the said accused for some otherwise reasons with the other culprits in the commission of the offence. In the present case, the purpose of false implication is nothing but to bring the number of the accused atleast to the strength of five so as to label charge of offence under Section 147, 148 and 149 in aid of other relevant sections of the Indian Penal Code, 1860. This is why the first information report is registered Ante-timed. Eye witnesses are posed to have presence over the spot of incident on relevant date and time falsely in fosterage of their enmity with the accused and relation with the first informant and the deceased. They are heavily interested witnesses whose evidence cannot be accepted for reliance unless scrutinized thoroughly.

It is argued that the identity of the accused allegedly involved in the commission of offence through test identification parade or otherwise is not established.

The doubt in chronological sequence of procedural events in the investigation starting from submitting the information of the incident to the police, inquest proceeding, sending the dead body for the post mortem, the letter sent with dead body referring post mortem, the special report, G.D. entry etc. is also hammered. It is argued that some vital stages of the proceeding even suffers from the lack of the details and description of case crime number, relevant sections of the Indian Penal Code, 1860. Anomalies as to the time and date in the paper under proceedings of the investigation, irregular way of filling blanks in such papers, all amply show that the first information report was registered some time at later stage but shown as entered promptly in the first information report. As such, first information report being ante timed, has lost it's value for credence.

Learned senior counsel argued that no independent eye witness had been examined by the Investigating Officer, the scribe of the written report Suneet Kumar also had not been produced by the prosecution for examination before the trial court. Medical evidence does not support the eye witness account of the incident in question.

13. Learned counsel Sri Yashwant Pratap Singh in Criminal Appeal No.2170 of 1983 while putting forth the argument on behalf of the only surviving appellant "Brijraj" adopted mostly all the arguments made by the learned senior counsel Sri Brijesh Sahai in Criminal Appeal No.2169 of 1983. In addition, he vehemently impressed on the false implication of the appellant Brijraj in collusion with the local police for the reason of his criminal antecedents. He further argued that the accused-appellant was not actually present on the spot of incident, thus, his alleged involvement in the commission of the offence in question is false. The witness related to the first informant and the deceased being heavily interested in consultation to the police, falsely deposed with regard to the identity and involvement of the accused-appellant as participant with the other co-accused in commission of killing the deceased/victim of the incident.

Learned counsel has lastly argued that even the witnesses cannot be held to have seen the incident and the accused persons at the relevant time of commission of the offence in question for the reason of darkness of the night at about 08:30 P.M. to 08:45 P.M. The Investigating Officer in the site map prepared by him had not shown any source of light on or in the vicinity of the place of incident. The site map prepared by him is proved in the course of examination before the Court which is Ex. Ka-11. He argued that eye witness account of bombing by four accused is also not corroborated with the medical evidence of blast injuries on the dead body which reports only one blast injury.

All the learned counsels, thus, linked the falsity of the allegation of bombing by the accused persons with the lodging of the first information report ante timed unless the police had not chosen and got up the required number of accused persons. Lastly, they set forth the criminal character of the deceased himself as indulged in criminal activities, having enmity with numerous other rivals in connection therewith as the reason that he might have been killed by some anonymous assailants. It is urged that the informant being inimical with the appellants falsely implicated him having deep interest in seeing him behind the Bars.

(III) Arguments of learned Additional Government Advocate

14. Learned A.G.A. in reply to the arguments made by the learned counsels for the appellants submitted that the first information report had been lodged promptly by the first informant whose presence on the spot was quite probable and natural. The sequence of events happened on the spot of incident at the relevant date and time at about 08:30 P.M. to 08:45 P.M. as stated by him (P.W.-1) in the course of examination before the trial judge is quite a natural eye witness account. There is no question of enmity as argued by the learned counsel for the appellant Prahlad (of Village Bhimpur) with the first informant. There is no suggestion to this effect in cross-examination put before the P.W.-1. Time taken in giving information of the incident in writing and submitting the same to the police has been reasonably explained in the evidence of P.W.-1. There is no suggestion to the P.W.-1 and P.W.-6 as to the written information having been changed or altered. Time of giving the written information is duly proved. Lodging of the first information report by the Head Moharir is proved in his absence, by the P.W.-6, the Investigating Officer on the basis of the entries in the General Diary maintained in the police station for the purpose. P.W.-6, the Investigating Officer being acquainted with the hand writing of the constable clerk (Head Moharir), thus, duly proved the first information report lodged promptly within naturally practicable interval of time from the occurrence of the incident. The argument as to the enmity is of no avail as it may act like a two way sword / double edged weapon. In circumstance of alleged and proved on evidence even it may be held as cause for false implication otherwise, generally it acts as the motive for activating the offence quite naturally and probably.

Learned A.G.A. submitted that the judgment of conviction and order of sentence was correctly passed after due appreciation of evidence on record and the appeal is liable to be dismissed. Judgment of conviction and order of sentence deserves to be affirmed.

15. Before going deep with the merit of the arguments advanced by the contesting counsels, material on record as evidence and the judgment of the trial judge recording the conviction and sentence, it would be pertinent and relevant to state about the charges framed by the learned Additional Sessions Judge, Deoria against the accused persons in the trial.

16. The accused Ram Oudh and Prahlad (of Village Moora Dih) were charged under Section 147, 302/149 and 324/149 of the Indian Penal Code, 1860 vide order dated 21.04.1982 passed by VI Additional Session Judge, Deoria; whereas the accused Prahlad (of Village Bhimpur) and Brijraj were charged under Section 148, 302/149, and 324/149 of the Indian Penal Code, 1860 vide order dated 21.04.1982 passed by VI Additional Sessions Judge, Deoria.

(IV) Discussions

17. The prosecution has proposed four witnesses of fact to prove it's case. The informant Ishwar is P.W.-1, Bahadur is the eye witness of the incident as P.W.-2, another eye witness of the incident is P.W.-3 namely Rajvanshi @ Banshi; Dwarika Nath Tiwari, the injured witness of the incident was examined as P.W.-5. The formal witness in addition to the witness of the fact have also been produced by the prosecution for examination before the trial court: namely, Dr. M. Jama who had done the autopsy on the dead body of the victim of the incident "Ramashre Yadav" to prove post mortem report Ex. Ka-2 as P.W.-4. The doctor who had done the medico legal examination of injured in the incident "Dwarika Nath Tiwari" is Dr. J.N. Thakur as P.W.-7. Anwarul Aziz, the Investigating Officer of the Case Crime No.132 of 1979, under Sections 147, 148, 149, 302 and 307 of the Indian Penal Code, 1860 has been examined as P.W.-6.

18. P.W.-1, P.W.-2, P.W.-3 and P.W.-5 belong to nearby villages of the place of the incident situated near Deoria Railway Station who were alleged to be present at the spot of the incident in connection with their routine business or personal causes. They are rustic villagers. It is also pertinent to mention here that the examination of the aforesaid witnesses before the trial judge was started approximately four years after the date of the incident. None of them is a person of high profile or having good education rather they are uneducated common villagers grown in day to day life in milieu of villages, as it comes out from the statement they deposed before the trial judge in the course of their examination.

19. In the aforesaid context, before proceeding to appreciate their evidences, we think it proper to refer some parameters laid down by the Courts from time to time while dealing with the evidences deposed by witnesses in general. One of such judgment of the Apex Court is Bharwada Bhoginbhai Hirjibhai Vs. State of Gujarat1. The relevant para "5' from the aforesaid judgment is reproduced hereunder:-

"(1) By and large a witness cannot be expected to possess a photographic memory and to recall the details of an incident. It is not as if a video tape is replayed on the mental screen.

(2) Ordinarily it so happens that a witness is overtaken by events. The witness could not have anticipated the occurrence which so often has an element of surprised. The mental faculties therefore cannot be expected to be attuned to absorb the details.

(3) The powers of observation differ from person to person. What one may notice, another may not. An object or movement might emboss its image on one person's mind, whereas it might go unnoticed on the part of another.

(4) By and large people cannot accurately recall a conversation and reproduce the very words used by them or heard by them. They can only recall the main purport of the conversation. It is unrealistic to expect a witness to be a human tape-recorder.

(5) In regard to exact time of an incident, or the time duration of an occurrence, usually, people make their estimates by guess-work on the spur of the moment at the time of interrogation. And one cannot expect people to make very precise or reliable estimates in such matters. Again, it depends on the time-sense of individuals which varies from person to person.

(6) Ordinarily a witness cannot be expected to recall accurately the sequence of events which takes place in rapid succession or in a short time span. A witness is liable to get confused, or mixed up when interrogated later on.

(7) A witness, though wholly truthful, is liable to be overawed by the court atmosphere and the piercing cross-examination made by counsel and out of nervousness mix up facts, get confused regarding sequence of events, or fill up details from imagination on the spur of the moment. The sub-conscious mind of the witness sometimes so operates on account of the fear of looking foolish or being disbelieved though the witness is giving a truthful and honest account of the occurrence witnessed by him -- Perhaps it is a sort of a psychological defence mechanism activated on the spur of the moment."

20. In the same context, we further think it relevant to refer the judgment of the Apex Court in Shivaji Sahab Rao Bobade Vs. State of Maharashtra2 which deals the incident of murder in rural area where the witnesses to the case were rustic and so their behavioural pattern perceptive and un-perceptive habits have to be judged. The relevant extracts of the aforesaid judgment is reproduced hereunder:-

"8. Now to the facts. The scene of murder is rural, the witnesses to the case are rustics and so their behavioural pattern and perceptive habits have to be judged as such. The too sophisticated approaches familiar in courts based on unreal assumptions about human conduct cannot obviously be applied to those given to the lethargic ways of our villages. When scanning the evidence of the various witnesses we have to inform ourselves that variances on the fringes, discrepancies in details, contradictions in narrations and embellishments in inessential parts cannot militate against the veracity of the core of the testimony provided there is the impress of truth and conformity to probability in the substantial fabric of testimony delivered. The learned Sessions Judge has at some length dissected the evidence, spun out contradictions and unnatural conduct, and tested with precision the time and sequence of the events connected with the crime, all on the touchstone of the medical evidence and the post-mortem certificate. Certainly, the court which has seen the witnesses depose, has a great advantage over the appellate Judge who reads the recorded evidence in cold print, and regard must be had to this advantage enjoyed by the trial Judge of observing the demeanour and delivery, of reading the straightforwardness and doubtful candour, rustic naivete and clever equivocation, manipulated conformity and ingenious unveracity of persons who swear to the facts before him. Nevertheless, where a Judge draws his conclusions not so much on the directness or dubiety of the witness while on oath but upon general probabilities and on expert evidence, the court of appeal is in as good a position to assess or arrive at legitimate conclusions as the Court of first instance. Nor can we make a fetish of the trial Judge's psychic insight."

Relations of witnesses with first informant, deceased and the accused persons

21. We think that it not to be out of relevance to state about the mutual relation of witnesses inter-se and also with the deceased as well as the accused persons, as coming out from the deposition before the trial judge.

22. The first informant Ishwar has stated in his cross examination made on behalf of accused-appellant Brijraj and accused Prahlad (of Village Moora Dih) that he had two brothers namely Ram Ji and Chandrika. The deceased in the incident in question namely "Ramashre Yadav" was son of aforesaid brother Chandrika, as such, it is admitted that P.W.-1 Ishwar is in blood relation with the deceased being his real uncle. In the same breath, he further stated about the witness P.W.-2 "Bahadur" that his sister is married with the son of P.W.-2 "Bahadur", which means P.W.-2 "Bahadur" is in relation with P.W.-1 "Ishwar" as father-in-law of his sister. Further, he had denied any relation with P.W.-3 Rajvanshi @ Banshi who has been examined by the prosecution as eye witness of the incident in question. So far as the injured in the incident in question namely Dwarika Nath Tiwari who has been examined as P.W.-5, in his cross examination he has stated that he was a customer, who at the time of the incident was at the shop of "Ramashre Yadav", drinking lassi, when bomb blast occurred and he too got injuries in the same occurrence. Though, P.W.-1 denied knowing P.W.-5 personally by name but asserted to have seen him severally to come at the shop of "Ramashre Yadav" to have tea or lassi.

23. About the work and profession of the witnesses - P.W.-1 "Ishwar" stated in the examination-in-chief that he and deceased "Ramashre Yadav" were running their shops of lassi and sharbat separately. The deceased Ramashre Yadav was running his shop at a wooden chowki (cot) towards the South of Octroi office whereas the shop of sharbat (sweet drink / squash) of P.W.-1 was on a trolley near the shop of Ramashre Yadav. In the cross examination, this witness has further clarified that his trolley of sharbat was towards the East side of the shop of deceased "Ramashre Yadav". He then stated that he used to be with his trolley shop near the chowki of Ramashre Yadav in connection with his day to day business on the spot of incident. Further in the same continuation, he has stated that daily upto 11:00 P.M. in the night, his shop and shop of Ramashre Yadav were used to remain open. Nothing contrary could be extracted to the above said facts from the cross examination of or suggestion to the said prosecution witnesses.

24. P.W.-2 "Bahadur", in his cross examination, has stated that he had received the amount of gratuity from the sugar mill in Deoria which he possessed with him on that day. From his statement it became evident that P.W.-2 was a retired workman of Deoria Sugar Mill. His age as disclosed was 70 years on the date when he was examined before the Court. He was doing agriculture work in his village Fatehpur Laheda, Police Station Rudrapur, District Deoria after his retirement (as comes out from para 2 of the examination-in-chief). His son, Nanhu was working in Deoria Sugar Mill and he used to come Deoria and stay with his son in his quarter. On the date of the incident, he was in Deoria with his son and came about 14 to 15 days back. In the cross examination, P.W.-2 further stated that his son Nanhu was on duty on the date of the incident from 10:00 A.M. to 06:00 P.M. This witness has stated about his sense of assessing time in clock with the siron blown from the factory.

25. Another witness (P.W.-3) Rajvanshi @ Banshi is also an agriculturist, his place of residence as disclosed by him, was in village Chakra Gosai under Police Station Mail, District Deoria. He at the relevant date and time of the incident came with his nephew Shiv Avtar who was studying in Village Barhaj, as his supplementary examination was scheduled to be held in an examination centre in District Deoria. As deposed, during his stay, he used to take his meals at a shop near the spot of the incident, situated infront of Deoria Railway Station alongwith his nephew and after dinner he usually take tea in the nearby tea shop. On the relevant date and time of the incident he was taking his tea as usual. In his cross examination, P.W-3 denied any relation with P.W.-1 "Ishwar" or with anyone else in the village Moora Dih. He even denied any relations in the village Bhimpur to which one of the co-accused Prahlad belongs. In the cross-examination P.W.-3 has admitted his relations with deceased "Ramashre Yadav" as his surety in bail in the criminal case against him. Further, he also admitted that whenever he used to come to Deoria in connection with his case in the Consolidation Court, he took food from the shop of Vindyachal situated infront of the Court. Vindyachal was the father-in-law of the deceased "Ramashre Yadav". P.W.-3 further stated that not only he but his brother Baldeo was also surety for Ramashre Yadav in the aforesaid criminal case and for the reason of his relation with Vindyachal, he agreed to become surety in the case against Ramashre Yadav. He had denied doing pairvi in the criminal case against Ramashre Yadav on his behalf.

26. P.W.-5 "Dwarika Nath Tiwari" to whom the P.W.-1 deposed as a customer stated that whenever he used to be in Deoria, he came to the shop of Ramashre Yadav to have tea or lassi. He had stated that the deceased was not personally known to him. In examination-in-chief, he stated his profession being agriculture at his place of abode in Village Pandeypur, Police Station Laar, Distict Deoria. He was about 53 years old when produced before the Court. This witness, in his examination-in-chief, had stated that he was not aware with the name of shopkeeper of lassi. Thus, this witness is quite unrelated with other witnesses of the case, the deceased and also the accused persons. He is a witness only because of the injuries he got on the spot of the incident during the occurrence of the incident at the stated time and date.

27. From the examination of witnesses of facts namely P.W.-1, P.W.-2, P.W.-3 and P.W.-5, it comes out not only from the examination-in-chief but also from the cross-examination that they are rustic villagers, uneducated, men of low profile, doing agricultural work. P.W.-2 "Bahadur", a retired workman of the Deoria Sugar Mill is also an agriculturist and uneducated villager of District Deoria. Nothing has been extracted contrary to this status of the witness or suggested to them by the learned defence counsel. Such witnesses cannot be expected to possess the photographic memory and recall details of the incident mathematically.

Relation of witnesses with accused persons

28. P.W.-1, the first informant "Ishwar" has stated in the written complaint itself that his nephew "Ramashre" (deceased) was arraigned with the charge of murder of the brother of accused "Prahlad" (of village Moora Dih) namely Shyama and he was convicted. In appeal before the High Court, he was enlarged on bail continuing on the date of incident in question. This is why, the accused Prahlad and others were hatching enmity with his nephew and, therefore, they killed him.

29. The first informant as (P.W.-1) when produced in the witness box, had reiterated and asserted in the examination-in-chief that deceased "Ramashre" murdered Shyama "the brother of the accused Prahlad (of village Moora Dih)". In the trial of aforesaid murder case he was convicted and sentenced but released on bail and continuing as such at the relevant time of incident. He has further stated that the accused persons, Prahlad (of village Moora Dih) and his other companions were inimical for this reason with deceased "Ramashre". He further stated that Prahlad (of village Bhimpur) and his brother Ram Oudh were residents of village Bhimpur, Sudama and Brijraj were their friends. In the cross-examination, this witness has further clarified that the criminal case in which Ramashre was arraigned as accused, he and his brothers Chandrika and Ram Ji were also made accused. In cross-examination, this witness has further stated that the deceased "Ramashre" had justificably murdered Shyama and was sentenced correctly, the pairvi of the Ramashre accused in the murder case of Shyama was being done by him (P.W.-1). The witness has further stated that the accused persons since much before the date of the incident were looking to kill him whenever he used to go to attend his fields in the nights. Before the incident, the accused tried to kill "Ramashre' near Kuna Nala and a report was lodged in connection therewith against Prahlad (of village Moora Dih) and his father Bhirgun with one Hanuman. They also lodged a report against him.

30. On the complaint of accused Prahlad's father, Bhirgun (of village Moora Dih), the P.W.-1, Mohan, Chandrika (father of the deceased Ramashre and brother of P.W.-1), Poojan, Ramdhan and Nagina were arraigned in a case in Court which was going on at the time of incident. This witness has admitted in the cross-examination that he and Bhirgun (father of accused Prahlad of Village Moora Dih) were in bitter inimical relations for a long time. He has further asserted in the cross-examination that both the accused persons, Prahlad (of village Moora Dih) and Prahlad (of Village Bhimpur) were hatching enmity against him.

31. On a careful perusal of the statement in chief and cross-examination, it is clear that P.W.-1, his brothers and deceased "Ramashre" on the one side and Bhirgun, his son Prahlad (of village Moora Dih) on the other side were indulged in various disputes with each other for long ago the date of incident. It has also came out from the cross-examination that Bhirgun as well as his son, the accused appellant "Prahlad" (of Village Moora Dih) were carrying a bitter inimical relations with Ramashre (the deceased) for the reason of his release on bail after conviction in appeal in the murder trial in case of murder of Shyama, the brother of the accused appellant "Prahlad" (of village Moora Dih). Thus, inimical relations of P.W.-1 as well as the deceased "Ramashre" with the accused appellant Prahlad (of Village Moora Dih) is established and proved.

32. Prahlad (of Village Bhimpur) was inimical with deceased "Ramashre" by reason of his friendship with Prahlad (of Village Moora Dih). So far as the accused persons Brijraj and Sudama are concerned, witness P.W.-1 has denied any personal acquaintance with them. However, in the cross-examination, P.W.-1 has stated that he came to know the accused Sudama and Brijraj because they used to come in his village Moora Dih. They were well known in the village, and therefore, he also knew about them. He further stated that they (Sudama and Brijraj) severely came in quarrel and disputes against him and that was also the reason to know them. This witness has also stated that all the accused persons were knowing the deceased "Ramashre" since before the incident.

33. P.W.-2 "Bahadur" in his cross-examination has deposed about him knowing the accused "Brijraj". He stated that he did not go to the house of Brijraj nor he had even conversation with him. Deceased "Ramashre" had murdered the brother of the accused Prahlad (of village Moora Dih) for which he was subjected to trial and in connection with that he used to go to Court with Ramashre and, thus, he knew Brijraj also. This witness has further stated that though he did not know any one else in the village of Brijraj but knew some other people in the village of Sudama.

34. P.W.-3 Rajvanshi @ Banshi had also identified the accused persons five in number namely Prahlad (of Village Moora Dih), Prahlad and Ram Oudh of Village Bhimpur, Brijraj and Sudama. The outcome of the statement in the examination-in-chief and cross-examination presents an uncontradicted and consistent version as to the relation of witness P.W.-2 "Bahadur" and P.W.-3 "Rajvanshi" not being inimical with the accused named in the complaint. They are villagers of the nearby villages of the place of incident in District Deoria and stated that for the reason of robustic character and fame of accused Brijraj and Sudama, they came to know about them before the incident.

Appreciation of evidence of P.W.-1 and P.W.-2 being related witnesses.

35. P.W.-1 being real uncle of the deceased "Ramashre" and P.W.-2 also being a near relative of the family, their evidence is required to be carefully scrutinized. It is the settled legal preposition that the evidence of closely related witnesses is required to be carefully scrutinized and appreciated before any conclusion is made to rest upon to convict the accused in a given case. In case the evidence has a ring of truth to it, is cogent, credible and trustworthy, it can and certainly be relied upon.

36. No general assumption can be drawn that the related witnesses must also be an interested witnesses. A relative witness is a natural witness, a close relative like P.W.-1, the real uncle of the deceased "Ramashre" in the present case and Bahadur, a near relative of the family, cannot be dis-regarded as interested witnesses. The term "interested" postulates that the witness must have some interest in having the accused, somehow or the other, convicted for some anonymous or for some other reason. In the light of this principle we have to consider the argument of the learned counsel for the appellants that all eye witnesses being related to deceased are interested witnesses and their version requires scrutiny with care, caution and circumspection and when their evidence is scanned with said parameters, it does not stand to the said test and the case set forth by the prosecution gets corroded and principle of proof beyond reasonable doubts gets shattered.

37. In Vijendra Singh Vs. State of Uttar Pradesh with Mahendra Singh Vs. State of Uttar Pradesh3, the Apex Court has held in para 31 as under:-

"31. In this regard reference to a passage from Hari Obula Reddy v. State of A.P. [Hari Obula Reddy v. State of A.P., (1981) 3 SCC 675 : 1981 SCC (Cri) 795] would be fruitful. In the said case, a three-Judge Bench has ruled that : (SCC pp. 683-84, para 13)

"[it cannot] be laid down as an invariable rule that interested evidence can never form the basis of conviction unless corroborated to a material extent in material particulars by independent evidence. All that is necessary is that the evidence of the interested witnesses should be subjected to careful scrutiny and accepted with caution. If on such scrutiny, the interested testimony is found to be intrinsically reliable or inherently probable, it may, by itself, be sufficient, in the circumstances of the particular case, to base a conviction thereon."

It is worthy to note that there is a distinction between a witness who is related and an interested witness. A relative is a natural witness. The Court in Kartik Malhar v. State of Bihar [Kartik Malhar v. State of Bihar, (1996) 1 SCC 614 : 1996 SCC (Cri) 188] has opined that a close relative who is a natural witness cannot be regarded as an interested witness, for the term "interested" postulates that the witness must have some interest in having the accused, somehow or the other, convicted for some animus or for some other reason."

38. In the present case, the presence of the witnesses on the spot is proved and established by their evidence without any contradiction or inconsistency, therefore, the credibility of the witnesses cannot be thrashed out for their being relative only as witnesses interested in false implication, in seeing the accused persons behind the bars.

39. In Sucha Singh and Another Vs. State of Punjab4, it is held that relationship is not a factor to effect the credibility of a witness. It is more often than not that a relation would not conceal the actual culprit and make allegations against an innocent person. Foundation has to be laid if plea of false implication is made. In such cases, the court has to adopt a careful approach and analyse evidence to find out whether it is cogent and credible. Para 13 of the said judgment is quoted under:-

13. We shall first deal with the contention regarding interestedness of the witnesses for furthering the prosecution version. Relationship is not a factor to affect the credibility of a witness. It is more often than not that a relation would not conceal the actual culprit and make allegations against an innocent person. Foundation has to be laid if plea of false implication is made. In such cases, the court has to adopt a careful approach and analyse evidence to find out whether it is cogent and credible.

The ground that the witness being a close relative consequently being a partisan witness should not be relied upon, has no substance. This impression in mind of any person that relatives were not independent is not correct.

40. The evidence in the present case also show and prove bitter inimical relation of the witness P.W.-1 and his nephew "Ramashre" (deceased) with the accused Prahlad (of Village Moora Dih). In para 14 of the Sucha Singh and Another Vs. State of Punjab (Supra), Hon'ble the Apex Court has considered it as under:-

"14. In Dalip Singh v. State of Punjab [AIR 1953 SC 364 : 1953 Cri LJ 1465] it has been laid down as under : (AIR p. 366, para 26)

"26. A witness is normally to be considered independent unless he or she springs from sources which are likely to be tainted and that usually means unless the witness has cause, such as enmity against the accused, to wish to implicate him falsely. Ordinarily a close relation would be the last to screen the real culprit and falsely implicate an innocent person. It is true, when feelings run high and there is personal cause for enmity, that there is a tendency to drag in an innocent person against whom a witness has a grudge along with the guilty, but foundation must be laid for such a criticism and the mere fact of relationship far from being a foundation is often a sure guarantee of truth. However, we are not attempting any sweeping generalization. Each case must be judged on its own facts. Our observations are only made to combat what is so often put forward in cases before us as a general rule of prudence. There is no such general rule. Each case must be limited to and be governed by its own facts."

41. In the present case, the evidence as to the presence on the spot of the incident at the relevant time and date of the incident not only proved probable and natural but is found to be free from contradictions, exaggeration or embellishment. Some minor contradictions or inconsistency are immaterial, irrelevant details which are not in the capacity in anyway corrode the credibility of witness cannot be labelled as omission or contradictions. This settled legal principle has been reiterated in various decisions of the Apex Court. One of the witnesses to the occurrence as himself been injured in the incident is P.W.-5 "Dwarika Nath Tiwari". This witness though had not seen the accused persons but with all certainty, he had proved the place of incident, the relevant date and time of the occurrence and the manner of commission of crime by throwing hand grenades on the deceased. His presence on the spot is proved and also corroborated with the evidence of other witnesses of fact namely P.W.-1, P.W.-2 and P.W.-3. His testimony cannot be discarded as his presence on the spot cannot be doubted particularly in view of the fact that immediately after lodging of the first information report, the injured witness (P.W.-5) had been medically examined without any loss of time on the same date. The injured witness had been put through gruelling cross-examination but nothing could be elicited to discredible his testimony. It is held by the Apex Court in Brahm Swaroop and Another Vs. State of Uttar Pradesh (Supra)5 as under :-

"It is a settled legal proposition that while appreciating the evidence of a witness, minor discrepancies on trivial matters, which do not affect the core of the prosecution case, may not prompt the court to reject the evidence in its entirety. "Irrelevant details which do not in any way corrode the credibility of a witness cannot be labelled as omissions or contradictions." Difference in some minor details, which does not otherwise affect the core of the prosecution case, even if present, would not itself prompt the court to reject the evidence on minor variations and discrepancies. After exercising care and caution and shifting through the evidence to separate truth from untruth, exaggeration and improvements, the court comes to a conclusion as to whether the residuary evidence is sufficient to convict the accused. Thus, an undue importance should not be attached to omissions, contradictions and discrepancies which do not go to the heart of the matter and shake the basis version of the prosecution witness. As the mental capabilities of a human being cannot be expected to be attuned to absorb all the details, minor discrepancies are bound to occur in the statements of witnesses."

42. In this regard, para 22 of the judgment of the Apex Court in the case of Shyam Babu Vs. State of U.P.6, is reproduced hereunder:-

"This Court has repeatedly held that the version of an eye-witness cannot be discarded by the Court merely on the ground that such eye-witness happened to be a relative or friend of the deceased. It is also stated that where the presence of the eye-witnesses is proved to be natural and their statements are nothing but truthful disclosure of actual facts leading to the occurrence, it will not be permissible for the Court to discard the statement of such related or friendly witnesses. To put it clear, there is no bar in law on examining family members or any other person as witnesses. In fact, in cases involving family members of both sides, it is a member of the family or a friend who comes to rescue the injured. If the statement of witnesses, who are relatives or known to the parties affected is credible, reliable, trustworthy and corroborated by other witnesses, there would hardly be any reason for the court to reject such evidence merely on the ground that the witness was a family member or an interested witness or a person known to the affected party or friend etc. These principles have been reiterated in Mano Dutt and Another vs. State of Uttar Pradesh, (2012) 4 SCC 79 and Dayal Singh and Others vs. State of Uttaranchal, 2012 (7) Scale 165."

Motive

43. The motive for the murder as stated in the first information report and proved by the evidence of P.W.-1, is an undisputed fact. Brother of one of the assailants "Prahlad" (of Village Moora Dih) namely Shyama was murdered much before the incident in question. The assailants were under the belief that the said Shyama was murdered by the deceased "Ramashre" and the trial court had found Ramashre guilty of the murder. It seems that when the assailants knew that despite the conviction and sentence passed by the trial court, he was out of jail on release on bail, naturally the instinct of revenge might have galvanised for an opportune time to avenge the murder of Shyama. Thus, the motive put forward by the prosecution seems to be a very strong circumstance to buttress the prosecution version. This circumstance is relevant and admissible in evidence under Section 8 of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872.

About the presence of injured witness (P.W.-5) on the spot of incident at relevant date and time viz. 12.04.1979 between 08:30 P.M. to 08:45 P.M. in the night.

44. First of all we gone through the statement of P.W.-5, the injured witness of the incident namely Dwarika Nath Tiwari. This 50 years old agriculturist of Village Pandeypur, District Deoria stated in his examination-in-chief recorded on 30.06.1983, after more than four years from the date of incident, that at about 08:30 P.M. to 08:45 P.M. he was sitting on a bench of the shop of lassi facing towards South in front of the railway station near Octroi Outpost and was drinking lassi. The place was illuminated by electric lights. He heard suddenly simultaneous blasts of 2-3 bombs which injured his right arm also. The lassi shop owner wounded from the bomb blasts instantly died. He did not know the name of the deceased shop owner. This injured witness has further stated that he was brought to the hospital for treatment on a ricksaw. The ricksaw puller brought him first to the Police Station Kotwali, District Deoria and from there he was sent to the hospital for medical examination. In the cross-examination P.W.-5 stated that after the occurrence, he stayed on the spot for about half an hour. He further stated that he was interrogated by the police in the hospital at about 09:45 P.M. on the next day.

45. In this connection, we may also refer to the statement of P.W.-6, the Sub Inspector (Investigating Officer) who in his cross examination has stated that the injured came to the police station on a ricksaw. His statement was not recorded by him in the police station because he was sent to the hospital for medical examination. This witness (P.W.-6) further stated that he recorded the statement of injured "Dwarika Nath Tiwari" on 13.04.1979 at about 16:00 P.M. in the hospital while he was admitted for treatment. Further, to test the veracity of the statement of the injured witness as to his presence on spot at the time of incident and sustaining injuries in the same occurrence, we may go through the statement of P.W.-7 "Dr. J.N. Thankur" of Deoria Hospital. According to his testimony, on 12.04.1979, he was present in the hospital when at about 09:50 P.M., Dwarika Nath Tiwari was examined by him medically, who was brought by sepoy "Subhash Chandra" of Police Station Kotwali. P.W.-7 had proved the medical examination report of the injured witness as Ex. Ka.17, reproduced hereunder:-

"Examining Sri Dwarika Nath Tiwari 45 years old S/o Lal Bahadur Tiwari R/o Pandey pur Police Station Laar Deoria on 12/4/79 at 9:50 p.m. ..... C.P. No.141

Subhash Chandra Police Station Laar, Deoria

A/I - Black and lap check.

Injury- 1 Lacerated wound 4x4 bone deep right elbow int... kept into. Adv. X-ray.

blacking tattooing around into wound.

2 Swelling simple burn on his right side chest"

46. The expert witness P.W.-7 has further stated that these injuries might have been caused to the injured in between 08:30 P.M. to 09:00 P.M. in the night of 12.04.1979. We did not find any contradiction or inconsistency in the statement of the injured witness i.e. P.W.-5 "Dwarika Nath Tiwari" with that of the statement of P.W.-6 (the Investigating Officer) and P.W.-7 (the Doctor), who did the medico legal examination as to the injuries of P.W.-5, the injured witness. As such, the presence of P.W.-5 at the spot of the incident in question at the relevant time (between 08:30 P.M. to 08:45 P.M.) in the night of 12.04.1979 corroborated from other prosecution evidence. His presence is further corroborated from the statements of other witnesses P.W.-1, P.W.-2 and P.W.-3.

47. P.W.-1 "the first informant" in his written information also submitted to the police and stated about the injuries were sustained by one customer on the shop of deceased "Ramashre" from the bomb blast. In the statement of P.W.-1 (the first informant) therein is:- "A man who sustained injuries in the incident in question had also seen the incident whose name he did not know". P.W.-1 has further stated in the cross-examination that in the first information report the name of injured witness could not be disclosed because he was lying unconscious on the spot after the incident and conversation with him as such was not possible. Further in para 26, P.W.-1 stated that the customer who was drinking lassi on the shop of deceased "Ramashre", was standing at one step away from the wooden cot of the shop in the North direction. He further stated that the name of customer was not known to him till that date,. He, however, had seen the said customer even prior to the occurrence of incident as he severally and occasionally used to come and drink lassi at the shop of deceased Ramashre.

In similar circumstance, the Apex Court has held that when a witness received injuries in the course of the incident, his presence cannot be doubted at the time and place of the occurrence (Maqsoodan and others Vs. State of Uttar Pradesh)7 .

In para 28 in the case of Brahm Swaroop Vs. State of U.P. (Supra), the Apex Court has held as under:-

"Where a witness to the occurrence has himself been injured in the incident, the testimony of such a witness is generally considered to be very reliable, as he is a witness that comes with an in-built guarantee of his presence at the scene of the crime and is unlikely to spare his actual assailant(s) in order to falsely implicate someone. "Convincing evidence is required to discredit an injured witness." (Vide State of U.P. v. Kishan Chand [(2004) 7 SCC 629 : 2004 SCC (Cri) 2021] , Krishan v. State of Haryana [(2006) 12 SCC 459 : (2007) 2 SCC (Cri) 214] , Dinesh Kumar v. State of Rajasthan [(2008) 8 SCC 270 : (2008) 3 SCC (Cri) 472] , Jarnail Singh v. State of Punjab [(2009) 9 SCC 719 : (2010) 1 SCC (Cri) 107] , Vishnu v. State of Rajasthan [(2009) 10 SCC 477 : (2010) 1 SCC (Cri) 302] , Annareddy Sambasiva Reddy v. State of A.P. [(2009) 12 SCC 546 : (2010) 1 SCC (Cri) 630 : AIR 2009 SC 2661] and Balraje

v. State of Maharashtra [(2010) 6 SCC 673 : (2010) 3 SCC (Cri) 211] .)"

48. We would like to remind ourselves at the cost of repetition that the witnesses are rustic villager, uneducated, struggling for earning of their day to day livelihood. This is quite natural in the quick witted bombing on the spot of incident by the accused persons that the witnesses might have been over taken by the events. None of them could anticipate occurrence which bore element of surprise. Their mental faculties may not be tuned to absorb the details. Moreover, the witness sitting or standing on the spot is not so material to over turn the prosecution, the presence of injured witness from his injuries is established in itself, against which no adverse material could be extracted from cross examination. Further, P.W.-2 "Bahadur" has also stated in his examination-in-chief about the presence of one man near the deceased who had sustained blast injuries and fell on the earth. Further, in his cross-examination this witness asserted that the said customer was drinking lassi standing near the deceased "Ramashre" in the North-Eastern corner of the wooden cot of the shop of the deceased and no one else except that customer was present at that time at the shop of the deceased "Ramashre". This witness also has not stated anything contrary or inconsistent to the fact of presence of customer (P.W.-5) at the time of occurrence.

49. P.W.-3 "Rajvanshi @ Banshi" has also stated in the examination-in-chief that at the time of occurrence, one customer after drinking lassi was standing near the shop who sustained blast injures from the bomb in the incident. Nothing contrary or inconsistent could be extracted by the learned defence counsel in the cross-examination with regard to the presence of customer who got injuries and subsequently identified during investigation as Dwarika Nath Tiwari and examined in the trial as P.W.-5.

50. Despite lengthy and grilling cross-examination, the defence could not extract any material contradiction or inconsistency with regard to the proved facts of presence of injured witness, a customer on the shop of lassi of deceased "Ramashre" at the relevant time and date of incident. The arguments of the learned counsel with regard to the falsity and discrepancy in statement of P.W.-1 whether the said customer, the injured witness was sitting on the bench or standing near the wooden cot of lassi shop when he was drinking lassi at the time of occurrence is of no avail.

Evidence as to the presence of witnesses P.W.-1, P.W.-2 and P.W.-3 at the spot.

51. P.W.-1, the first informant of the case, P.W.-2 his relative "Bahadur" and P.W.-3 "Rajvanshi @ Banshi", all have stated on oath about the cause and occasion of their presence at the spot at the relevant date and time of incident when the accused persons threw bombs over the victim of the incident "Ramashre" and killed him. For the purpose of their evidence in this regard, we have to see flaws if any, of improbability coming out from their statement; contradiction or inconsistency between their statements as to the presence on the spot, before placing our reliance on or discredit to their evidence.

52. Starting our discussions on the aforesaid aspects of the veracity of witness's statement, we perused the written complaint dated 12.04.1979 submitted by the first informant "Ishwar" who had deposed about his profession as well as the profession of his nephew "Ramashre" of selling sharbat and lassi by installing a pavement shop on the footpath near the Railway Station Deoria in front of Octroi Outpost. In his statement, P.W.-1 has stated that he and Ramashre both were running separate shops of lassi and sharbat. The shop of Ramashre for selling lassi was on a wooden cot whereas the shop of the informant was on trolley for selling sharbat. This witness in the cross-examination had denied the suggestion that he used to sell sharbat wandering here and there on the road but asserted that he always used to sell sharbat on the same spot standing near his trolley. He further asserted that about 15 to 16 days from the date of incident, he was doing this business at the spot of incident and Ramashre was also doing business of preparing and selling lassi there. He further stated that the Investigating Officer had seen the trolley of the first informant on the spot of the incident and wooded chowki of Ramashre where he used to sit for selling lassi. This witness has further stated that in connection with their (P.W.-1 and the deceased) business of selling sharbat and lassi, they used to stay on the spot uptill 11:00 P.M. in night. The statement of P.W.-1 as to his usual presence and the presence of deceased "Ramashre" in connection with their day to day business on the spot of incident finds force from the statement of the Investigating Officer (P.W.-6), when he deposed in the cross-examination that the spot inspection was done by him after the incident on the pointing out of the first informant (P.W.-1).

53. P.W.-6 in his examination-in-chief stated that on 13.04.1979 at about 00:5 A.M. i.e. in the same night of the incident (12.04.1979), he inspected the spot of incident on the pointing out and identification of P.W.-1, prepared the site map (Ex. Ka-11), shown the spot of deceased "Ramashre" and cycle no.9270 with other utensils for preparation of sharbat and lassi and raw materials were seized from the spot by him. The shop of the first informant "Ishwar" is shown with letter "B" and shop of deceased "Ramashre" is shown with letter "A" in the proved document Ex. Ka-11. In this way, from the statement of P.W.-1, and that of the Investigating Officer (P.W.-6) and the site map, the evidence of presence of P.W.-1 on the spot in connection in his shop near the shop of deceased "Ramashre" at the time of incident is believable and probable. Nothing can be elicited and extracted against the said evidence of presence of P.W.-1 on spot at the relevant time and date of the incident.

54. Witness P.W.-3 "Rajvanshi @ Banshi" to whom the learned counsel for the appellants termed as a chance witness or the sponsored witness, has stated in examination-in-chief that he was present at the relevant date and time of the incident on the spot of incident as he and his nephew went to a restaurant situated nearby to take dinner and after dining he stayed and sat on the tea stall to have tea. He was drinking tea when the incident occurred. Learned counsel for the defence could not extract any improbability or falsity in his statement as to his presence in District Deoria in connection with the supplementary examination of his nephew. The presence of this witness at the spot of the incident at the relevant date and time cannot be disbelieved. Moreover, his name in the written complaint (Ex. Ka-1) had been given as witness of the incident. For the above, his presence at the spot of the incident and coincidently seeing the incident in question cannot be doubted.

Spot of incident and source of Light

55. The time of the incident is night at about 08:30 P.M. to 08:45 P.M. A dispute was raised that the witnesses could not be expected to have seen the incident and the accused persons in the darkness of the night. To force this argument, learned counsel for the appellants drew the attention towards the site map (Ex. Ka-11) prepared by the Investigating Officer wherein he has not shown any source of light. He submits that even the witnesses have not stated that the night of the incident was a full moon night. P.W.-6, the Investigating Officer has stated that on the pointing out of first informant (P.W.-1), eye witness Bahadur (P.W.-2) and Rajvanshi @ Banshi (P.W.-3), he inspected the spot of incident and prepared the site map (Ex. Ka-11). In his cross-examination, this witness assertingly replied that P.W.-1 had told him that at the time of incident, there was illumination of electricity light, however, he had not been told that light was coming from the electric pole. Lastly, this witness has denied the suggestion of the learned counsel for the defence that there was no light on the spot of the incident. In this connection, the written complaint (Ex. Ka-1) is also important to be looked into where the first informant (P.W.-1) had narrated the spot of incident being surrounded from all the four directions by shops which were illuminated from electricity lights.

56. P.W.-1 who is a rustic villager in his examination-in-chief has stated that there was a road running towards East to West lying towards South of the gate of Railway Station. The South side of the road was abutted with footpath and in it's South there was a drain, 10-15 shops are located towards South of the aforesaid drain spreading over East to West directions, there was an electricity pole towards the South of the gate of the Railway Station fitted with the electricity bulb. As such, this witness had firmly and confidently stated that the area in vicinity of the spot of incident was lit up by the electricity bulb and light in the shops as well as the electricity pole installed in the South of the gate of Railway Station.

57. The statement of P.W.-6 (Investigating Officer) and P.W.-1 (first informant) is, therefore, not materially contradicting each other rather there is consistency in evidence to the fact of the spot of the incident being surrounded from all the four directions from the shops in the vicinity. As this position of the spot of incident shown in the site map prepared by P.W.-6 finds corroboration from the statement of P.W.-1 and P.W.-6, and there is no contradiction about the position on the spot of the incident being surrounded with nearby shops and situated in South of the Railway Station abutting to the road running towards East to West and footpath, therefore, argument as to non mentioning of the electricity pole or any source of light in the site map would be only an inadvertent omission. The statement of the prosecution witnesses can not be discarded with regard to the source of light available on the spot of the incident at relevant time and date. This omission on the part of Investigating Officer could not be taken to falsify his statement as to the source of light.

58. P.W.-2 (Bahadur) had also stated in his examination-in-chief that from the spot of the incident where Ramashre was killed at the distance of approximately 5 to 6 steps towards East, Ishwar (P.W.-1) was making fruit juice and he was present there with him. There was enough illumination from electricity lights on the spot when he saw the accused persons pouncing from the western gate of the Railway Station.

59. P.W.-3 "Rajvanshi @ Banshi" has also stated to have seen and identifying the accused persons in the light coming from the electric pole. This witness in cross examination has stated that he was facing towards North while sitting on the shop when he was drinking tea. We think it relevant to go back to the statement of P.W.-1 where he described the topography of Deoria Railway Station that in front of the gate of the Railway Station towards South there was a road running towards East to West, at the Southern side of which, the footpath and the shops including the shops of P.W.-1 and his nephew were located.

60. P.W.-1 has stated that at the gate of the Railway Station, an electric pole was installed from which electric light illuminated the area. The site map (Ex. Ka-11) also helps to appreciate his evidence wherein just in front of the Eastern gate of the Railway Station Deoria towards South on the road lying East to West, an electricity pole is shown. This is important that existence of this electricity pole has not been denied by the P.W.-6 in his cross-examination. Even this witness in his cross-examination has stated that in the night of the incident at about 01:30 A.M., he recorded the statement of witness P.W.-2 in the electricity light. P.W.-6 has further stated in cross-examination that witness P.W.-1 "Ishwar" told about the electricity light.

61. In our view, there is no discrepancy in the statement of prosecution witnesses as to the spot of the incident and source of light. The defence has remained unsuccessful in extracting from the cross-examination any evidence to establish that the area was not electrified or there was no possibility of electricity light coming either from the surrounding shops or from the pole installed at the Southern side of the gate of the Railway Station Deoria shown in the site map.

62. This would also be relevant to say that P.W.-1 present on his shop, in between the other shops, had seen the accused person in the illumination of electric lights coming from the shops. P.W.-2 likewise had also seen the accused persons in such light whereas P.W.-3 (Rajvanshi @ Banshi) who was sitting facing towards North naturally in all probability is expected to see the accused persons coming from the gate of the Railway Station towards the spot of the incident. As such, the P.W.-3 (Rajvanshi @ Banshi) looking in North direction towards the railway station and the accused persons pouncing from the railway station towards the spot of the incident situated in front of the railway station towards South were factually in front of each other.

63. Even P.W.-5, the injured witness has stated that the electricity pole nearest to the spot of incident was fitted with electric bulb from which light was coming, however, he expressed his inability to recollect the direction of electrical pole for the reason of having got injured in the incident badly. He, however, absolutely denied the suggestion put forth by the defence counsel that there was no existence of light.

64. We find no falsity, improbability of the statement with regard to the spot of incident and availability of light at the spot of incident on the relevant date and time and also no contradiction or inconsistency in the statement of prosecution witnesses with this regard. Their evidence of watching the incident in the illumination undoubtedly is believable and acceptable.

Identification of the accused persons.

65. As we have discussed earlier the acquaintance of the witness with the accused persons and found that P.W.-1, the informant of the case by reason of his enmity, P.W.-2 (Bahadur), the relative of P.W.-1 knew the accused persons before the incident in question. Prosecution witness P.W.-3 (Rajvanshi @ Banshi) is neither related with P.W.-1 and P.W.-2 nor with the deceased. In cross-examination, he has stated about acquaintance with deceased "Ramashre" whose father-in-law (Vindyachal) was owner of the food shop situated in front of the Court at District Deoria where he used to take meals on his arrival to Deoria in connection with pairvi of his case pending in the consolidation court. He became surety in the bail of Ramashre in the murder case of "Shyama', the brother of accused Prahlad (of Village Moora Dih). P.W.-3 and his brother Baldeo both were sureties for the deceased "Ramashre" in that case. Since father-in-law of deceased namely Vindyachal was known to him since long ago, therefore, he did not hesitate to give surety for Ramashre on his request. This witness has further stated that he knew the parentage of accused Prahlad (of Village Moora Dih) only and no other accused persons. On a suggestion by the defence to him giving false statement by reason of him being relative of the deceased or the P.W.-1, P.W.-3 absolutely denied the relation and that he had deposed falsely. His statement in the examination-in-chief to the effect that he had identified all the five accused persons whose names were Prahlad and Ram Oudh of Village Moora Dih, Prahlad of Village Bhimpur, Brijraj and Sudama does not built confidence, as he without any ambiguity tries to establish their identity by their name and village but in cross-examination, the learned counsel for the defence has been successful in establishing that he does not have any relation in Village Bhimpur. In para 4 of the cross-examination, P.W.-3 further stated that he knew the accused persons Prahlad and Ram Oudh of Village Bhimpur, Brijraj and Sudama during the proceeding of the case going on in connection with the murder by Ramashre (the deceased in the incident) and this is why he told about them to the Investigating Officer.

66. The injured witness (P.W.-5) had not identified the accused persons but very explicitly replied in the cross-examination that he only heard the blast of the bombs and saw that the deceased instantly died of the blast injuries. He stated the reason why he could not see the assailants as while drinking lassi, he sat on the bench of the shop facing South and accused came from the side of the gate of the Railway Station behind him in the North. Therefore, evidence of P.W.-5 is of no avail as to the identification of accused persons but his evidence amply proves the spot of incident, the relevant date and time of the incident, the killing of the deceased "Ramashre" in the incident and the mode of his killing by throwing bombs on him.

67. The evidence of P.W.-3 though seems shaky only with regard to the identification of all the accused except Prahlad (of Village Moora Dih) to whom he knew earlier, but rest of his evidence as to the mode and manner of killing deceased "Ramashre" in the incident by throwing hand grenade on him at the spot of incident at the relevant date and time of the incident is acceptable and can not be discarded for the reason that the english legal maxim "Falsus in uno, falsus in omnibus" is not applicable in India.

68. The Apex Court in Sucha Singh and Another Vs. State of Punjab (Supra) has held in para 18 as under:-

"To the same effect is the decision in State of Punjab v. Jagir Singh (AIR 1973 SC 2407) and Lehna v. State of Haryana (2002 (3) SCC 76). Stress was laid by the accused- appellants on the non-acceptance of evidence tendered by some witnesses to contend about desirability to throw out entire prosecution case. In essence prayer is to apply the principle of "falsus in uno falsus in omnibus" (false in one thing, false in everything). This plea is clearly untenable. Even if major portion of evidence is found to be deficient, in case residue is sufficient to prove guilt of an accused, notwithstanding acquittal of number of other co-accused persons, his conviction can be maintained. It is the duty of Court to separate grain from chaff. Where chaff can be separated from grain, it would be open to the Court to convict an accused notwithstanding the fact that evidence has been found to be deficient to prove guilt of other accused persons. Falsity of particular material witness or material particular would not ruin it from the beginning to end. The maxim "falsus in uno falsus in omnibus" has no application in India and the witnesses cannot be branded as liar. The maxim "falsus in uno falsus in omnibus" has not received general acceptance nor has this maxim come to occupy the status of rule of law. It is merely a rule of caution. All that it amounts to, is that in such cases testimony may be disregarded, and not that it must be disregarded. The doctrine merely involves the question of weight of evidence which a Court may apply in a given set of circumstances, but it is not what may be called 'a mandatory rule of evidence'. (See Nisar Alli v. The State of Uttar Pradesh (AIR 1957 SC 366). Merely because some of the accused persons have been acquitted, though evidence against all of them, so far as direct testimony went, was the same does not lead as a necessary corollary that those who have been convicted must also be acquitted. It is always open to a Court to differentiate accused who had been acquitted from those who were convicted. (See Gurucharan Singh and Anr. v. State of Punjab (AIR 1956 SC 460). The doctrine is a dangerous one specially in India for if a whole body of the testimony were to be rejected, because witness was evidently speaking an untruth in some aspect, it is to be feared that administration of criminal justice would come to a dead- stop. Witnesses just cannot help in giving embroidery to a story, however, true in the main. Therefore, it has to be appraised in each case as to what extent the evidence is worthy of acceptance, and merely because in some respects the Court considers the same to be insufficient for placing reliance on the testimony of a witness, it does not necessarily follow as a matter of law that it must be disregarded in all respects as well. The evidence has to be shifted with care. The aforesaid dictum is not a sound rule for the reason that one hardly comes across a witness whose evidence does not contain a grain of untruth or at any rate exaggeration, embroideries or embellishment. (See Sohrab s/o Beli Nayata and Anr. v. The State of Madhya Pradesh 1972 3 SCC 751) and Ugar Ahir and Ors. v.

The State of Bihar (AIR 1965 SC 277). An attempt has to be made to, as noted above, in terms of felicitous metaphor, separate grain from the chaff, truth from falsehood. Where it is not feasible to separate truth from falsehood, because grain and chaff are inextricably mixed up, and in the process of separation an absolutely new case has to be reconstructed by divorcing essential details presented by the prosecution completely from the context and the background against which they are made, the only available course to be made is to discard the evidence in toto. (See Zwinglee Ariel v. State of Madhya Pradesh (AIR 1954 SC 15) and Balaka Singh and Ors. v. The State of Punjab. (AIR 1975 SC 1962). As observed by this Court in State of Rajasthan v. Smt. Kalki and Anr. (AIR 1981 SC 1390), normal discrepancies in evidence are those which are due to normal errors of observation, normal errors of memory due to lapse of time, due to mental disposition such as shock and horror at the time of occurrence and those are always there however honest and truthful a witness may be. Material discrepancies are those which are not normal, and not expected of a normal person. Courts have to label the category to which a discrepancy may be categorized. While normal discrepancies do not corrode the credibility of a party's case, material discrepancies do so. These aspects were highlighted recently in Krishna Mochi and Ors. v. State of Bihar etc. (JT 2002 (4) SC 186). Accusations have been clearly established against accused-appellants in the case at hand. The Courts below have categorically indicated the distinguishing features in evidence so far as acquitted and convicted accused are concerned."

In view of the above noted legal position, the evidence of P.W.-3 "Rajvanshi @ Banshi" in the case before us cannot be discarded as a whole. If his evidence as to the identification of rest of the accused persons other than the accused Prahlad (of Village Moora Dih) is excluded, even then the portion of his statement as to the number of accused persons appearing on spot of incident with accused Prahlad (of Village Moora Dih) at relevant date and time of incident and throwing bombs on the deceased "Ramashre", killing him thereby instantly on the spot and, thereafter, fleeing from the spot is trustworthy and believable being free of contradictions, inconsistencies or embellishments.

69. The evidence on record does not suggest that the accused appeared on the spot of incident with muffled faces. P.W.-1, the first informant is the resident of the same Village Moora Dih and accused Prahlad to whom the role of exhortation had been assigned also belongs to the same village. By his evidence, P.W.-1 had proved that accused Prahlad (of Village Moora Dih) had enmity with his family. Occasionally Brijraj and Sudama both used to join adversely in disputes and quarrels between his family and the family of accused Prahlad (of Village Moora Dih), therefore, they were also known to him very well since long before the occurrence in question. He has also stated about Prahlad (of Village Bhimpur) being companion of the accused Prahlad (of Village Moora Dih) aiding and assisting him on various occasion and that they were also known to him. P.W.-2 being near relative of the P.W.-1 was also closely knowing all the accused persons, therefore, identification of the accused persons was not improbable and impossible for them when they appeared on the spot of the incident as assailants. The accused persons, as the evidences on record prove, were very much known to the P.W.-1 and P.W.-2, and were not with muffled face at the spot of incident. They were easily seen and identifiable on the spot of the incident illuminated from electric light coming from the shop and from electricity pole installed in the nearby vicinity in front of the Western gate of the Railway Station towards it's South. P.W.-3 had also seen the four companions of the accused Prahlad (of Village Moora Dih) on the spot as participants and, thus, became known of their faces. His presence on spot is proved by the evidence of the prosecution and finds corroboration from the fact that his name found place in the written information (Ex. Ka-1) proved to have been promptly lodged after the incidence in question. In the cross-examination, P.W.-3 unmistakably recollect his memory in identifying the accused persons in the trial court when he was in the witness box. In the circumstance of the present case, the identification parade was not required.

The manner and Mode of Commission of offence in question

70. The inquest was conducted on 12.04.1979 after getting information of the incident commencing from 21:30 P.M. continued upto 23:50 P.M. which shows that the incident of killing of the deceased "Ramashre" was actuated causing blast injuries of bomb. The body was lying in a drainage having head towards East and legs towards West, when it was drawn out of drainage, it was found that the entire face above the chin was blasted over, the brain also came out, the skull found falling in the drain. In this connection, we think it relevant to refer the post mortem report proved by doctor (medical witness) P.W.-4 (Dr. M. Jama) proved as Ex. Ka-12 is entered.

"Ante mortem injuries:-

71. The injuries reported on the person of the deceased as ante mortem injuries are being reproduced hereunder for easy reference and to appreciate the manner of killing the deceased "Ramashre". Dr. M.

Jama (P.W.-4) who had done autopsy on the dead body stated that he had conducted the autopsy on 13.04.1979 at about 02:45 P.M. The deceased was approximately 30 years in age and his death had occurred approximately one day ago. Describing the ante mortem injures, he stated that the entire face of the deceased from chin to forehead, from right ear to left ear, both the eyes and nose were badly and extremely cut and ruptured. Both the jaws were broken, hairs on the head were burnt and wounds were surrounded with blackening and tattooing, blood was clotted, brain was flown out from the skull and six metallic scraps were found inside the wounds. He stated that the injuries reported by him in the post mortem report as ante mortem injuries sustained by the deceased were sufficient in the ordinary course of nature to cause the death and all of them were caused by bombs. He assessed the proximate time of death on 12.04.1979 at about 08:45 P.M. to 09:00 P.M. and also stated firmly that the deceased might have died instantly of the wounds sustained by him as above.

72. In cross-examination, this witness (P.W.-4) has firmly denied that the injury no.1 could occur from rifle, however, the defence has carved out the possibility of the blast injury having been caused from only one bomb also. This would be relevant that the defence has not succeeded in extracting from the evidence of P.W.-4, which is an expert opinion to be read in according with the provision of Section 45 of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872, that the blast injury could not be caused by more than one bombs.

73. In the aforesaid context emerging out from the inquest report and the post mortem report as well as the evidence of P.W.-4 (Dr. M. Jama), it would be necessary to look into the evidence of eye witnesses particularly P.W.-1, P.W.-2 and P.W.-3. So far as the injured witness P.W.-4 is concerned, his evidence is material with regard to the date, time and place of the incident as he has successfully and sufficiently proved his presence over the spot of the incident, the deceased was attacked by the assailants throwing hand grenade (bombs) on him, wherein he himself sustained blast injuries which was duly examined and his injury report has been proved by doctor who examined him medically as P.W.-7 (Dr. J.N. Thakur). As such the injured witness who stands on a high pedestal of trust worthiness and credibility being injured in the incident and eye witness has proved the spot of the incident being the shop of deceased "Ramashre". P.W.-4 has also reliably proved as to the incident of bombing on the lassi shop owner "Ramashre" resulting in death. Likewise, he has successfully proved the time of incident at about 08:30 P.M. to 08:45 P.M. in the night of 12:04.1979.

74. P.W.-1 in his written complaint very specifically stated that at about 08:30 P.M. to 08:45 P.M. in the night of 12.04.1979 when he alongwith Bahadur (P.W.-2) was at his shop near the shop of Ramashre, he saw the accused persons Ram Oudh (of village Bhimpur) and Prahlad (of Village Moora Dih), Sudama and Brijraj coming towards them. Prahlad (of Village Moora Dih) shouted exhortingly pointing the deceased "Ramashre" to kill him (मारो साले को) and saw Sudama, Prahlad (of Village Bhimpur) and Brijraj throwing hand grenades (Bombs) on Ramashre. On the alarm of P.W.-1 and P.W.-2, P.W.-3 (Rajvanshi @ Banshi), Hari Yadav, Ram Ji and several other people rushed towards them to chase the assailants who fled towards Mal Godam through Railway Station Deoria. The Ramashre died of blast injury instantly on the spot.

75. In his examination-in-chief, P.W.-1 without any deviation, exaggeration, embellishment or improvement has stated the same mode and manner of assailants of attacking with bombs on the deceased "Ramashre" at the relevant date and time of incident at his shop of lassi (the place of incident). In cross-examination, this witness stated that at the time of the incident, deceased "Ramashre" was preparing lassi at his shop, he stated that Sudama, Prahlad (of Village Bhimpur and Brijraj) thrown the bomb simultaneously on Ramashre, the assailants were chased but they had succeeded in fleeing away from the spot as Prahlad (of Village Moora Dih) and Ram Oudh thrown bombs over the chasing crowd, the people chasing the assailants feared of the bombs, stopped there. This witness has further stated in his cross-examination that he sighted the assailants only on the exhortation made by the Prahlad (of Village Moora Dih) and seen the assailants throwing bombs over the deceased "Ramashre" soon the exhortation. The accused who were throwing bombs on Ramashre were at a distance of 4 to 5 steps from the wooden cot of the lassi shop of Ramashre.

76. The first bomb was blasted on the head of Ramashre, second also blasted at the same place and rest of the bombs which were thrown simultaneously also blasted on the head of the deceased "Ramashre" when the bombs were thrown on him, the deceased "Ramashre" was in sitting position on his wooden cot of shop facing towards North. (This would be pertinent to refer that accused came towards Ramashre from the side of station which is at the South of the spot of incident).

77. In his cross-examination, this witness has further replied the query of the defence counsel that he saw the bombs just when the assailant took out them from their bags and they were coming at spot of incident, therefore, he tried to ran away from the spot but since Ramashre (the deceased) was sitting on his wooded cot, preparing lassi, he could not see the assailants and bombs in their hands and hence he could not run away from the spot.

78. This witness and the Investigating Officer (P.W.-7) both have deposed about the destruction of utensils and articles and other raw materials from the blast of bombs. P.W.-7 had prepared memo of seizure of the articles destroyed at the shop of deceased and proved in his examination, which also corroborate the oral statement of P.W.-1 that at the time of the bomb blast on Ramashre, he was sitting on his wooden cot shop preparing lassi. He further stated that the body was thrown on earth from the wooden cot towards it's South. In the topography stated by P.W.-7 and other witnesses of fact and the site map prepared by the Investigating Officer, it has been explicitly established that the wooden cot of the lassi shop of deceased "Ramashre" was lying abutted to the footpath of the road and, thereafter, a drainage was running in the East-West direction. The inquest report also shows that the dead body was lying after the incident, in a drainage. (This also corroborates the statement of P.W.-1 with regard to the attack with bombing over the deceased "Ramashre" by the assailant while he was sitting on his wooden cot of the shop preparing lassi and after sustaining blast injuries, he died instantly).

79. P.W.-2 has also stated about exhortation by Prahlad (of Village Moora Dih), induced thereby the assailants Prahlad (of Village Bhimpur), Sudama and Brijraj thrown bombs on Ramashre over his head. In his cross-examination, this witness without any deviation and contradiction with the statement of P.W.-1 has stated that since he was sitting towards North of his shop facing West direction, therefore, he sighted the assailant coming towards the spot of incident but he could anticipate that they were coming to kill Ramashre. He stated that a total of three bombs were thrown over the deceased "Ramashre" from the distance of 5 to 6 steps away from the shop of Ramashre. Standing on the road, Ramashre having been injured from the bomb blast, thrown on earth from his shop lying East-West direction i.e. head towards the East and legs towards the West.

80. The learned counsel for the defence grilled the witness, which side of his body fell from the shop which this witness could not recollect. This witness has also stated about the fleeing assailants throwing bombs on the chasing people, therefore, they succeeded in fleeing away from the spot.

81. Rajvanshi @ Banshi as P.W.-3 has also without material deviation or any contradiction has stated the same scenario on exhortation of Prahlad (of Village Moora Dih) throwing bomb by Ram Oudh and Prahlad (of Village Bhimpur), Sudama and Brijraj. This witness could not recollect in cross-examination that whether all the three bombs or how many bombs wounded the deceased "Ramashre" but with all certainty, this witness replied in cross-examination that the bomb was thrown on the person of the deceased "Ramashre" who died on the spot. He had also stated that Ram Oudh thrown bomb towards the chasing crowd, therefore, they feared of and stopped.

82. Learned counsel argued over the deviations in statement of witness with regard to the number of bombs thrown by the accused persons or bomb thrown by which all the accused caused the blast injury to the deceased "Ramashre". He had not shown any contradiction or deviation in the statement of witness with regard to the mode and manner of assault which the prosecution witness proved without any material contradiction, embellishment or exaggeration. They have proved their presence on the spot at the relevant date and time of the incident which is a material fact for the purpose of proving the incident. Except to the identification of the accused persons, the injured witness has also proved the date, time and spot of the incident. The mode and manner of attack by throwing bomb on the deceased "Ramashre" and his instant death on the spot in the evidence of witness also found corroboration from the position of dead body, it's condition as observed in the inquest proceeding and proved by the Investigating Officer (P.W.-6), as well as ante mortem injuries coupled with the deposition of the doctor who opined that the cause of death of the deceased "Ramashre" was blast injuries, sufficient to cause his death instantly.

83. In the present case, at least two out of four witnesses of the fact namely P.W.-1 and P.W.-2 have proved without any contradiction and without deviation, major or minor, the involvement of accused persons five in number i.e. (1) Prahlad (of Village Bhimpur), (2) Ram Oudh, S/o Ram Hit Yadav, R/o Village Bhimpur (3) Prahlad (of Village Moora Dih), (4) Sudama of Village Chali Chaur, Police Station

Rudrapur and (5) Brijraj S/o Mahipat Yadav, R/o Village Khairaich, Police Station Rampur Karkhana, District Deoria in the attack, the date, time and place of the incident and the mode and manner of attack. The general principle of appreciating the evidence of eye witness in such a case is that where a large number of offenders are involved, it is necessary for the Court to seek corroboration, at least from two or more witnesses as a major or caution. Likewise, it is the quality and not the quantity of evidence to be the rule for conviction even where the number of eyewitness is less than two.

The prosecution has successfully proved the factum of killing of deceased "Ramashre" on 12.04.1979 at about 08:30 P.M. to 08:45 P.M. by the assailants by throwing bombs over him, thus, causing his death by blast injuries.

Argument as to medical evidence not supporting the ocular witness

84. In Shivaji Sahab Rao Bobade Vs. State of Maharashtra (Supra), it is held in para 18, which is reproduced hereunder:-

"18. Some attempt was made to show that the many injuries found on the person of the deceased and the manner of their infliction as deposed to by the eyewitnesses do not tally. Three is no doubt that substantially the wounds and the weapons and the manner of causation run congruous. Photographic picturisation of blows and kicks and hits and strikes in an attack cannot be expected from witnesses who are not fabricated and little turns on indifferent incompatibilities. Efforts to harmonise humdrum details betray police tutoring, not rugged truthfulness."

85. The argument of the learned counsel as to the discrepancy in the statement of prosecution witness with regard to the number of bombs thrown over the deceased "Ramashre" and the expert opinion as to the blast injuries might have been caused by one bomb only. This argument is not tenable in view of the distorted condition of the dead body from the blast injuries which show that the brain had flown out of the skull and entire face had been cut and ruptured. One cannot with all certainty speculate about the number of bombs causing blast such injuries fatal to the deceased. In this regard, para "16' of the judgment of Hon'ble the Apex Court in case of Thaman Kumar Vs. State (UT of Chandigarh)8 is reproduced hereunder:-

"The conflict between oral testimony and medical evidence can be of varied dimensions and shapes. There may be a case where there is total absence of injuries which are normally caused by a particular weapon. There is another category where though the injuries found on the victim are of the type which are possible by the weapon of assault, but the size and dimension of the injuries do not exactly tally with the size and dimension of the weapon. The third category can be where the injuries found on the victim are such which are normally caused by the weapon of assault but they are not found on that portion of the body where they are deposed to have been caused by the eye-witnesses. The same kind of inference cannot be drawn in the three categories of apparent conflict in oral and medical evidence enumerated above. In the first category t may legitimately be inferred that the oral evidence regarding assault having been made from a particular weapon is not truthful. However, in the second and third category no such inference can straightway be drawn. The manner and method of assault, the position of the victim, the resistance offered by him, the opportunity available to the witnesses to see the occurrence like their distance, presence of light and many other similar factors will have to be taken into consideration in judging the reliability of ocular testimony."

86. Considering the above observations of the Apex Court, we are unable to accept the submission with regard to variation in the statement of the witnesses P.W.-1, P.W.-2 and P.W.-3 with regard to the number of bombs thrown over the deceased "Ramashre" and as to who threw the first or about the number of blast injuries, as material to demolish the case of the prosecution.

Common object

87. The reliable and trustworthy eye witnesses have proved the assailants having a motive for killing of the deceased "Ramashre" appearing on the spot together having hand grenades (bombs) knowing very well that if the same was thrown on the deceased, the blast injuries would be sufficient to cause his death in the ordinary course of nature. While the bombs were thrown pursuant to their common object by some of the assailants on the deceased "Ramashre", they remain with each other and after assuring the death of the deceased from blast injuries, they fled from the spot together. This is sufficient to prove that their assembly was unlawful and the commission of the offence was in pursuant to their common object, which is sufficient to implicate them for the offence punishable under Section 149 of the Indian Penal Code, 1860.

88. We would like to refer to Section 35 of the Indian Penal Code, 1860.

"When such an act is criminal by reason of its being done with a criminal knowledge or intention.--Whenever an act, which is criminal only by reason of its being done with a criminal knowledge or intention, is done by several persons, each of such persons who joins in the act with such knowledge or intention is liable for the act in the same manner as if the act were done by him alone with that knowledge or intention."

Section 141 of the Indian Penal Code, 1860 defines the unlawful assembly as below:-

"141. Unlawful assembly.--An assembly of five or more persons is designated an "unlawful assembly", if the common object of the persons composing that assembly is--

(First) -- To overawe by criminal force, or show of criminal force, 1[the Central or any State Government or Parliament or the Legislature of any State], or any public servant in the exercise of the lawful power of such public servant; or (Second) -- To resist the execution of any law, or of any legal process; or (Third) -- To commit any mischief or criminal trespass, or other offence; or

(Fourth) -- By means of criminal force, or show of criminal force, to any person, to take or obtain possession of any property, or to deprive any person of the enjoyment of a right of way, or of the use of water or other incorporeal right of which he is in possession or enjoyment, or to enforce any right or supposed right; or (Fifth) -- By means of criminal force, or show of criminal force, to compel any person to do what he is not legally bound to do, or to omit to do what he is legally entitled to do. Explanation.--An assembly which was not unlawful when it assembled, may subsequently become an unlawful assembly."

89. We would also like to refer here Section 149 of the Indian Penal Code, 1860:-

"149. Every member of unlawful assembly guilty of offence committed in prosecution of common object.--If an offence is committed by any member of an unlawful assembly in prosecution of the common object of that assembly, or such as the members of that assembly knew to be likely to be committed in prosecution of that object, every person who, at the time of the committing of that offence, is a member of the same assembly, is guilty of that offence."

90. The evidence of prosecution in very explicit terms proved that the involvement of the accused persons five in number acting in concert with each other in the fatal attack with bombs and, thus, causing his death by blast injury. The act is criminal, done in concert and synergy each and every accused, throwing bombs by some of the them on the exhortation of one accused namely Prahlad (of Village Moora Dih) is implicit in itself that the object of their coming on the spot of incident with bomb was unlawful and throwing the bombs actuate their object on the exhortation made by the accused Prahlad (of Village Moora Dih) which caused the death of the victim. The common object of unlawful assembly thus fructuated in the crime of killing. The liability will be of those also who despite the knowledge of the object of the unlawful assembly remain throughout thereby as member of that assembly in the course common object of the unlawful assembly was actuated. For common object of killing the deceased "Ramashre" there was a motive, proved by the prosecution witness P.W.-1 and P.W.-2 which also united the accused persons for having common object of killing the the deceased "Ramashre". After the commission of the crime, the accused persons fled from the spot together and when they were chased, one of the accused amongst them namely Ram Oudh thrown bomb over the chasing crowd to facilitate all in running away. The above acts were done together by the accused persons to achieve their common object.

91. In Mrinal Das and Others Vs. State of Tripura9, it is held that common object does not necessarily required proof of prior meetings of minds or pre consult.

92. In Anil Rai Vs. State of Bihar with Subhash Chand Rai and another Vs. State of Bihar with Awani Rai Vs. State of Bihar10, the Apex court held that sharing of common object and participation in the occurrence by each of the accused members of the unlawful assembly must be positively proved. Para 31 and 32 of the aforesaid judgment is quoted hereunder:-

"31. In Lalji v. State of U.P. [(1989) 1 SCC 437 : 1989 SCC (Cri) 211] this Court held: (SCC pp. 441-42, para 9)

"9. Section 149 makes every member of an unlawful assembly at the time of committing of the offence guilty of that offence. Thus this section created a specific and distinct offence. It other words, it created a constructive and vicarious liability of the members of the unlawful assembly for the unlawful acts committed pursuant to the common object by any other member of that assembly. However, the vicarious liability of the members of the unlawful assembly extends only to the acts done in pursuance of the common objects of the unlawful assembly, or to such offences as the members of the unlawful assembly knew to be likely to be committed in prosecution of that object. Once the case of a person falls within the ingredients of the section the question that he did nothing with his own hands would be immaterial. He cannot put forward the defence that he did not with his own hands commit the offence committed in prosecution of the common object of the unlawful assembly or such as the members of the assembly knew to be likely to be committed in prosecution of that object. Everyone must be taken to have intended the probable and natural results of the combination of the acts in which he joined. It is not necessary that all the persons forming an unlawful assembly must do some overt act. When the accused persons assembled together, armed with lathis, and were parties to the assault on the complainant party, the prosecution is not obliged to prove which specific overt act was done by which of the accused. This section makes a member of the unlawful assembly responsible as a principal for the acts of each, and all, merely because he is a member of an unlawful assembly. While overt act and active participation may indicate common intention of the person perpetrating the crime, the mere presence in the unlawful assembly may fasten vicariously criminal liability under Section 149. It must be noted that the basis of the constructive guilt under Section 149 is mere membership of the unlawful assembly, with the requisite common object or knowledge."

32. In Shamshul Kanwar v. State of U.P. [(1995) 4 SCC 430 : 1995 SCC (Cri) 753] it was held that to infer common object it is not necessary that each one of the accused should have participated in the attack when the evidence of the eyewitnesses clearly established that each one of those convicted accused was a member of the unlawful assembly whose common object was to commit murder. Where the prosecution fails to prove the existence of sharing of common object by all the members of the unlawful assembly, it is unsafe to convict all the accused persons merely on proof of their presence or some overt act which did not cause the death of the deceased. Both the courts below have not found on facts that all the accused persons including A-3 to A-7 shared the common object with A-1 and A-2 and A-2 and fired the shots. Neither any direct evidence nor any circumstances have been brought on record to hold or infer the existence of such a common object. Learned counsel for the appellants have submitted that there is nothing in the evidence to show that the rest of the accused shared the common object with A-1 and A-2 to cause death of Lal Muni Rai and Chand Muni Rai. Even if the existence of a common object is held proved, it cannot be the common object for any offence other than committing the offence of rioting. I find substance in such a submission in the peculiar facts and circumstances of the case. The proved case of the prosecution is that when Lal Muni Rai along with others was coming back, he was intercepted by the accused persons who were armed with weapons and if the object of the unlawful assembly was to cause his death, there was no cause or occasion for them to only catch hold of the said deceased Lal Muni Rai and beat him. He was shot at by Avinash Chand Rai (A-1) only after he escaped from the clutches of the other accused persons. The other accused persons might not have in their contemplation that if the rioting, intended by them, failed any one of them would shoot at the victim."

93. In the case of Dev Karan Vs. State of Haryana11, the Apex Court has held as under:-

"19. Thereafter, it has been opined that if charges framed against the appellant contain all the necessary ingredients to bring home to each of the members of the unlawful assembly, the offence, with aid of Section 149 IPC, and the prosecution proves the existence of an unlawful assembly with a common object, which is the offence, as also the membership of each appellant, nothing more is necessary. The effect of these observations is that Section 141 IPC only defines what is an unlawful assembly and in what manner the unlawful assembly conducts itself, and in what cases the common object would make the assembly unlawful is specified in the sections thereafter, inviting the consequences of the appropriate punishment in the context of Section 149 IPC.

20. In Kuldip Yadav v. State of Bihar [Kuldip Yadav v. State of Bihar, (2011) 5 SCC 324 : (2011) 2 SCC (Cri) 632] , it has been opined in para 36 that a clear finding regarding the nature of the common object of the assembly must be given and the evidence discussed must show not only the common object, but also that the object was unlawful, before recording a conviction under Section 149 IPC. What is required is that the essential ingredients of Section 141 IPC must be established."

94. All the accused persons were with hand granades. Their conduct before, during and after the occurrence clearly brings out their common object. The assembly was patently unlawful. It is inconceivable that the accused with bombs would surround the victim without any criminal object in mind. Mere fact that only some of them used the bombs does not really rule out application of Section 149 of the Indian Penal Code, 1860. Learned counsel for the accused persons submitted that contrary to the evidence of P.W.s -1, 2 and 3 there was only one injury found by the doctor. P.W.s -1, 2 and 3 have stated about assaults and if five persons were really assaulting, the result would not have been only one injury. The definition of "assault" as given in Section 351 of the Indian Penal Code, 1860 makes the plea unacceptable. The trial Court had rightly and in proper legal perspective convicted the accused-respondents under Section 302 read with Section 149 of the Indian Penal Code, 1860.

The plea as to Ante Timed First Information Report

95. Section 154 (1) of the Criminal Procedure Code, 1973 is quoted hereunder:-

"Every information relating to the commission of a cognizable offence, if given orally to an officer in charge of a police station, shall be reduced to writing by him or under his direction, and be read Over to the informant; and every such information, whether given in writing or reduced to writing as aforesaid, shall be signed by the person giving it, and the substance thereof shall be entered in a book to be kept by such officer in such form as the State Government may prescribe in this behalf."

96. According to the language of the aforesaid provision, every information relating to the commission of offence whether given in writing or reduced into writing shall be signed by the persons giving it hence, the person who gives the information and who has to sign the information has to choose which particular information relating to the cognizable offence is to be given in the first information report. The first information report has to be reported almost immediately after the incident occurs as reasonably as practicably possible or after the knowledge of the incident is made known. Sometimes as convenient to the policemen, the first information report is not lodged immediately. Plea of first information report lodged ante time means that time and date has also been changed by the prosecution to suit their purpose, if there is a clear evidence that the first information report was ante timed then it looses it's value.

97. In the instant appeals, the prosecution case before the trial judge against the accused-appellants was that on the late evening of 12.04.1979 at about 08:30 P.M. to 08:45 P.M., the deceased "Ramashre Yadav", nephew of the first informant when was preparing lassi sitting on a wooden cot of his roadside patri shop, the accused persons came pouncing from the side of railway station towards him, one of them namely Prahlad (of Village Moora Dih) exhorted the other co-accused persons shouting, "this is the man Ramashre, Kill him"(मारो साले को). Rest of them, Sudama, Prahlad (of village Bhimpur) and Brijraj threw hand grenades on Ramashre and caused his dead from blast injuries. The assailants were chased by the first informant, witnesses and others people of the vicinity gathered there but they fled away passing through the railway station towards Mal Godam throwing bombs towards the chasing crowd.

98. P.W.-1 and P.W.-2 both the witnesses have stated in their cross examination that they chased to some extent the assailants who were fleeing away from the spot of incident after commission of the offence passing through the railway station towards the Mal Godam but when the assailants again threw the bombs on them from the distance of eight to ten steps, they being feared stopped chasing and came back to the spot of incident.

99. Learned counsel for the defence has tried to carve out the fact of extra ordinary delay in lodging the first information report from the statement under cross-examination of the witness P.W.-1. To assess whether any delay which has unreasonably been caused in giving information of the incident to the police station and lodging the first information report, we have carefully gone through the cross-examination of first informant (P.W.-1). Before going through the statement in cross examination of P.W.-1, we think it proper and relevant to look back on the first information report Ex. Ka-3 wherein the date and time of the incident entered as 12.04.1979 at about 8:30 PM, the time of lodging the report is given 9:30 PM on the same day i.e. 12.04.1979, the distance of the spot of incident and it's direction given in the first information report is Station Road one km. far away from the police station towards North. Other facts coming out from the written complaint are corroborated from the statements of the prosecution witnesses. This is an established principle of law that the first information report is not an encyclopedia and all numerous details of the incident could not be expected to have find place in it.

100. Learned counsel for the appellant drawing attention towards the distance of police station from the spot of the incident, only one km. connected with a pitch road, tried to impeach the first information report allegedly lodged with extra ordinary delay which is not explained. We have seen that P.W.-1, P.W.-2, P.W.-3 and even the injured witness P.W.-5 have sufficiently proved the incident of bombing over the deceased "Ramashre" by the assailants (accused persons) in which the deceased succumbed to blast injuries died instantly on the spot of incident.

101. On the query made by learned counsel for the defence as to how he availed paper for writing the complaint, he replied that he purchased the papers from a shop situated at a distance of hundred steps away from the Eastern gate of Police Station Kotwali on the road proceeding towards North, the said shop of stationary was about to shut off when he reached there. The report was written in the light coming from the electric pole installed on the road near Crossing. He did not recollect how much time was consumed in getting the report written and speculated that approximately less than one hour time might have been consumed in getting the report written.

102. In our view when the incident occurred at about 08:30 P.M. to 08:45 P.M., as proved by the witness and the first informant along with other witnesses and people of the locality chased first to apprehend the assailant then came to the spot of incident, the first informant stayed there approximately for 2 to 4 minutes and proceeded towards the Police Station Kotwali which situated at a distance of 1 to 1.5 km from the spot of incident, the police officer in the police station directed the first informant to come with the written report, P.W.-1 came out from the police station, searched the stationery shop and purchased paper and then he narrated the information to be reduced into writing to the scribe Suneet Kumar, these all naturally might have consumed a reasonable time more or less about one hour. The things as proved by the witnesses from their evidence has no contradiction or inconsistency in their statement with regard to the sequence of events after the incident before the submission of written complaint in the police station whereupon the first information report is lodged at about 9:30 P.M. in the night of the date of incident 12.04.1979. Minor discrepancies as to the time of lodging the first information report 9:30 P.M. or 10:00 P.M. or other calculation of time in between two events in the sequence of their happening could not be expected to be narrated mathematically on exact calculation by a rustic villager. Moreover, such discrepancies are not touching the very root of the incident which has otherwise been proved by the prosecution. In our considered opinion, there is no delay in lodging of the first information report.

103. P.W.-6 Anwarul Aziz, the Sub Inspector of Police Station Kotwali, District Deoria at the relevant date has also proved the submission of Ex. Ka-1 and making chik report on 12.04.1979 in the hand writing and under the signature of Ram Pyare Lal, the constable Muharir who was working under him. He has deposed in the examination-in-chief that the said Ram Pyare Lal, constable Moharir had prepared the chik report before him and being acquainted with his hand writing and signature he proved the same in the trial court. Entry of the criminal case in the General Diary at report no.46 at about 21:30 P.M. on 12.04.1979 was made by Ram Pyare Lal at the same time. Carbon copy was also prepared in the same process simultaneously. The carbon copy is proved by P-W-6 as Ex. Ka-4.

104. The Ex. Ka-1 obviously has signature of scriber Suneet Kumar and thumb impression of the first informant Ishwar S/o Deu, R/o Village Moora Dih dated 12.04.1979. An endorsement to the effect of institution of Case Crime No.132 of 1979, under Sections 147, 148, 149, 302 and 307 of the Indian Penal Code, 1860 is also made under the signature of aforesaid constable Moharir on 12.04.1979 which may be seen on the back page of Ex. ka-1. The Chik report i.e. Ex.Ka-3 was sent to the Magistrate on 13.04.1979 wherein the date of incident is entered as 12.04.1979 at about 08:30 P.M., the case crime number is also entered as Case Crime No.132 of 1979 naming five accused persons described here in above in preceding paras arraigning them under Sections 147, 148, 149, 307 and 302 of the Indian Penal Code, 1860.

105. Learned counsel has argued vehemently about the addition of Section 147, 148, 149 and 307 of the India Penal Code, 1860 subsequently, while initially the case was registered under Section 302 of the Indian Penal Code, 1860. The basis of this argument is only the pattern and order of writing the Sections of the Indian Penal Code, 1860 in the relevant papers. But this argument is not acceptable for the reason the relevant Sections of the Indian Penal Code, 1860 are entered in the ascending order viz. 147, 148, 149, 307 and 302 of the Indian Penal Code, 1860. Nothing is carved out in the cross-examination of P.W.-6 (Investigating Officer) which tend to show the interestedness of the Investigating Officer or the scribe of the relevant papers in manipulation and interpolation in the array of relevant sections of the penal code.

106. In memo (fard supurdginama) i.e. Ex. Ka-12 and Ex. Ka-13 (sealed samples of blood stained soil and simple soil from the earth of the spot), learned counsel impressed the fact of subsequent addition of sections and ante timed registration of first information report and has also drew attention towards the inquest report i.e. Ex. Ka-5 which lacks the mention of case crime number, name of the accused, order in which the relevant sections of the Indian Penal Code, 1860 are written indicating the subsequent addition of the Sections 147, 148, 149 of the Indian Penal Code, 1860 after getting required number of accused, thus, ante timed registration of the first information report.

107. P.W.-6, the Investigating Officer has stated in his examination-in-chief that after registration of the first information report on 12.04.1979 at 21:30 P.M., the statement of first informant was reduced into writing by him then he proceeded to the spot of incident where the dead body of "Ramashre Yadav", the victim was lying on. Inquest proceeding was started and relevant papers were prepared in his hand writing and signature.

108. We perused the Ex. Ka-5, the inquest report prepared on the spot by the P.W.-6, which has clear mention of time of the registration of first information report at 21:30 P.M. dated 12.04.1979. The spot of the incident is also mentioned as station road, the distance of the spot of incident from the police station is given as 1.5 Kms. The completion of the inquest proceeding is as 23:50 P.M. on 12.04.1979.

109. In witness box, P.W.-6 has stated that the proceeding was over on the same date i.e. 12.04.1979, thereafter on 13.04.1979 at 00:5 A.M., he reduced into writing the statement of the inquest witnesses and eye witnesses namely Bahadur and Rajvanshi, etc, inspected the spot on the pointing out of the first informant, drawn the site map which is proved by him as Ex. Ka-11.

110. In cross examination, the P.W.-6 was asked questions and suggestion about the non mention of case crime number and relevant sections in the letter sent for medico legal examination and post mortem Ex. Ka-7. Assertingly, he answered that by the time of sending the letter for medico legal examination to the concerned doctor and post mortem, the case crime number was already instituted but since the mention of case crime number and sections under which the case was instituted is not mandatorily required as neither there was any such instructions from the department nor the format had any column to fill such entries like the case crime number and relevant sections, therefore, they found no place in those papers. Moreover, there is no formant of Ex. Ka-6 to Ex. Ka-10 wherein case crime number and relevant sections are required to be written. He has further explained the discrepancy in order and pattern of writing the relevant sections with which the accused persons are arraigned in various documents under the investigation proceedings, that the inquest report was prepared on spot in hurry, therefore, the order and pattern of sections entered therein may give an irregular look whereas the charge sheet was prepared in the police station relaxably, therefore, the sections are written therein in a single sequence. However, in both the circumstances the relevant sections are written in the same ascending order of writing.

111. P.W.-6 has absolutely denied the suggestion of addition any sections of the Indian Penal Code, 1860 after getting the required number of accused persons settled or the letter sent for the post mortem was manipulated. Likewise, P.W.-6 has answered to the question as to the "Ex. Ka-1' wherein the earlier writing of parentage and address when checked was found incorrect which was erased and rectified by inserting the correct parentage and address from ink in place thereon. The address is the same as written in the written report given by the first informant. P.W.-6 was confronted with several other questions but it is noteworthy here that no question or suggestion as to the replacing altered report in place of original written report is given, as such, the case of the defence, though tried to extract from the cross examination of the aforesaid P.W.-6, with regard to the ante timed first information report is not found proved.

112. We find support from the judgment in Jai Shree Yadav vs State Of U.P12, para "15' is reproduced hereunder:-

"It is the case of the prosecution that PW-3 Arif Ali who is a resident of village Nawalpur within the limits of Salempur Police Station came to the said police station on 23.9.1993 at 5.30 p.m. and gave a written report Ext.Ka-2 to PW-8 the Officer-in-Charge of the said police station. According to PW-8, he registered a crime based on the said complaint of PW-3 at 5.50 p.m. on the same day, which has been proved by the production of the general diary of the police station Ex.Ka-8. He also submitted that he sent a special report to the Jurisdiction Magistrate on 23.9.1993 at about 7 p.m. through Constable Dheeraj. He further stated that from the entry in the general diary, it is seen that Constable Dheeraj reported back to the police station at about 8 a.m. on 24.9.1993 . He has denied that the special report was not sent on 23.9.1993. A perusal of the entry made by the Chief Judicial Magistrate, Deoria in the special report shows that the same was received by him on 24.9.1993 but the actual time of the report is not noted in the said entry, however it is clear that the said report was received by him at his residence. Based on this the learned counsel for the appellants had argued that it is possible that this report might have reached later in the day on 24.9.1993, but this argument is not supported by any material on record. On the contrary from the entry made in the general diary of the police station, it is clear that Constable Dheeraj who was entrusted with the job of delivering the special report to the Magistrate had returned back to duty at Salempur Police Station at 8 O'clock on 24.9.1993. Bearing in mind that the distance between Salempur Police Station and Deoria is about 28 to 29 kms. as seen from the records it is clear that the special report has reached the Jurisdiction Magistrate much earlier than 8 O'clock in the morning of 24.9.1993. Though it would have been more appropriate and less controversial if only the concerned Magistrate had noted the actual time of receipt of the special report, still on facts and circumstances of this case as stated above, we are of the opinion that the special report must have reached the Jurisdictional Magistrate much earlier than 8 a.m. Since by then the constable who carried the report had come back to Salempur on 24.9.1993 which fits in with the prosecution case that the same was sent from the police station in the evening of 23.9.1993 at about 7 p.m. So on this count, it cannot be said that the FIR is anti timed."

113. The Apex Court in the aforesaid case has held considering the points whether or not the first information report is ante timed, requisition sent to doctor to conduct post mortem not containing all the particulars found in inquest report and complaint, like particulars of case, weapon used and names of accused persons, etc. would not lead to the conclusion that first information report was ante timed. Further, it is also held that if time of receipt of special report sent to jurisdictional magistrate is not noted, if delivery of the special report consistently proved by credible evidences mere non noting of the time would not lead to the conclusion that first information report was ante timed.

114. In Brahm Swaroop and Another Vs. State of Uttar Pradesh (Supra) it is held that the whole purpose of preparing the inquest report under Section 174 of the Criminal Procedure Code, 1973 is to investigate into and draw up a report of the apparent cause of death, describing such wounds as may be found on the body of the deceased and stating, as in what manner, or by what weapon or instrument, such wounds appear to have been inflicted. For the purpose of holding the inquest, it is neither necessary nor obligatory, on the part of the investigating officer, to investigate into or ascertain as to who were the persons responsible for the death. The object of the proceedings under Section 174 Cr.P.C. is merely to ascertain whether a person died under suspicious circumstances or met with an unnatural death and, if so, what was its apparent cause. The question regarding the details of how the deceased was assaulted or who assaulted him or under what what circumstances he was assaulted, is foreign to the ambit and scope of such proceedings, i.e. the inquest report is not the statement of any person wherein all the names of the persons accused must be mentioned.

115. Omissions as contended by the learned counsel for the appellants in the inquest report are not sufficient to put the prosecution out of court. The basic purpose of holding an inquest is to report regarding the apparent cause of death, namely, whether it is suicidal, homicidal, accidental or by some machinery, etc. It is, therefore, not necessary to enter all the details of the overt acts in the inquest report. Evidence of eye witnesses cannot be discarded if their names do not figure in the inquest report prepared at the earliest point of time. The inquest report cannot be treated as substantive evidence but may be utilised for contradicting the witnesses of inquest. Para 8, 9 and 10 of the aforesaid judgment is reproduced hereunder:-

"8. Undoubtedly, there are five blanks in the inquest report. The crime number and names of the accused have not been filled up. The column for filling up the penal provisions under which offences have been committed is blank. The time of incident and time of dispatch of the special report have not been mentioned. Therefore, Shri Tulsi has submitted that the FIR is ante-timed and there is manipulation in the case of the prosecution.

9. The whole purpose of preparing an inquest report under Section 174 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 (hereinafter referred to as `Cr.P.C') is to investigate into and draw up a report of the apparent cause of death, describing such wounds as may be found on the body of the deceased and stating as in what manner, or by what weapon or instrument such wounds appear to have been inflicted. For the purpose of holding the inquest it is neither necessary nor obligatory on the part of the Investigating Officer to investigate into or ascertain who were the persons responsible for the death. The object of the proceedings under Section 174 Cr.PC is merely to ascertain whether a person died under suspicious circumstances or met with an unnatural death and, if so, what was its apparent cause. The question regarding the details of how the deceased was assaulted or who assaulted him or under what circumstances he was assaulted is foreign to the ambit and scope of such proceedings i.e. the inquest report is not the statement of any person wherein all the names of the persons accused must be mentioned.

10. Omissions in the inquest report are not sufficient to put the prosecution out of court. The basic purpose of holding an inquest is to report regarding the apparent cause of death, namely, whether it is suicidal, homicidal, accidental or by some machinery etc. It is, therefore, not necessary to enter all the details of the overt acts in the inquest report. Evidence of eyewitnesses can not be discarded if their names do not figure in the inquest report prepared at the earliest point of time. The inquest report cannot be treated as substantive evidence but may be utilised for contradicting the witnesses of inquest. (See Podda Narayana & Ors. v. State of Andhra Pradesh, AIR 1975 SC 1252; Khujji v. State of Madhya Pradesh, AIR 1991 SC 1853; George & Ors. v. State of Kerala & Anr., (1998) 4 SCC 605; Shaikh Ayub v. State of Maharashtra, (1998) 9 SCC 521; Suresh Rai v. State of Bihar, (2000) 4 SCC 84; Amar Singh v. Balwinder Singh & Ors., (2003) 2 SCC 518; Radha Mohan Singh alias Lal Sahab & Ors. v. State of Uttar Pradesh, (2006) 2 SCC 450; and Aqeel Ahmad v. State of Uttar Pradesh, AIR 2009 SC 1271)."

116. In the case of Brahm Swaroop and Another Vs. State of Uttar Pradesh (Supra), the Apex Court has further held that the delay in sending the special report to the jurisdictional magistrate in every case is not fatal particularly when the defence did not put any question in this regard to the Investigating Officer. Thus, no explanation was required to be furnished by him on the issue. The plea of the first information report being ante timed was also taken in the aforesaid case but such plea was not accepted in view of the evidences available on record which showed that first information report was lodged promptly after the incident as the police station was only one kilometre away from the place of occurrence and names of all accused had been mentioned in the first information report. The relevant paras 14 to 21 are being reproduced hereunder:-

"14. Undoubtedly, there is delay of 5 days in sending the Special Report. This Court in Badam Singh v. State of M.P., (2003) 12 SCC 792, while considering this issue held that where the investigating officer categorically stated that he was not in a position to give any explanation for the delay in sending the Special Report, it may be fatal to the prosecution's case.

15. However, a larger Bench of three Judges in Balram Singh & Anr. v. State of Punjab, (2003) 11 SCC 286, held as under:

"10.....we notice that in reality there is no delay in preparing the FIR but there was some delay in transmitting the said information to the Jurisdictional Magistrate. Having been satisfied with the fact that the FIR in question was registered in the morning of 6-5- 1990, we do not think that the delay thereafter in communicating it to the Jurisdictional Magistrate on the facts of this case, has really given any room to doubt that the said document (FIR) was created after much deliberations. At any rate, while considering the complaint of the appellants in regard to the delay in the FIR reaching the Jurisdictional Magistrate, we will have to also bear in mind the creditworthiness of the ocular evidence adduced by the prosecution and if we find that such ocular evidence is worthy of acceptance, the element of delay in registering a complaint or sending the same to the Jurisdictional Magistrate by itself would not in any manner weaken the prosecution case."

16. In State of Rajasthan v. Teja Singh & Ors., (2001) 3 SCC 147, this Court held that the receipt of special report by the Magistrate is a question of fact and the prosecution may explain the delay in sending the special report. However, the explanation so furnished by the prosecution must be convincing and acceptable. The same view has been re-iterated in Ramesh Baburao Devaskar & Ors. v. State of Maharashtra, (2007) 13 SCC 501.

17. In Sarvesh Narain Shukla v. Daroga Singh & Ors., AIR 2008 SC 320, this Court held that delay in forwarding the Special Report to the Magistrate could not raise a suspicion that FIR had been written later and was ante-timed. Suspicion of manipulation of the documents prepared during the initial investigation would not dislodge the documentary and oral evidence on the spontaneity of the lodging of the FIR.

18. In Aqeel Ahmad (supra), this Court held that the forwarding of the report to the Magistrate is indispensable and absolute and it must be sent at the earliest, promptly and without any undue delay as the purpose is to avoid the possibility of improvement in the prosecution's case and the introduction of a distorted version by deliberations and consultation and to enable Magistrate concerned to keep a watch on progress of investigation. However, no rule of universal application can be laid down that whenever there is some delay in sending the FIR to the Magistrate, the prosecution version becomes unreliable. It would depend upon the facts of each case. If there has been some lapse on the part of the Investigating Officer that would not affect the credibility of the prosecution's witnesses.

19. In State of Kerala v. Anilachandran @ Madhu & Ors., AIR 2009 SC 1866, this Court placed reliance upon its earlier judgments in Pala Singh v. State of Punjab, AIR 1972 SC 2679; and Sarwan Singh v. State of Punjab, AIR 1976 SC 2304 and held that the police should not unnecessarily delay sending the FIR to the Magistrate as the delay affords the opportunity to introduce improvement and embellishment thereby resulting in a distorted version of the occurrence. However, in case the prosecution offers a satisfactory explanation for the delay, the court has to test it. An un-explained delay by itself may not be fatal, but it is certainly a relevant aspect which can be taken note of while considering the role of the accused persons for the offence. A similar view has been re-iterated in Pandurang Chandrakant Mhatre & Ors. v. State of Maharashtra, (2009) 10 SCC 773.

20. In Akbar Sheikh & Ors. v. State of W.B., (2009) 7 SCC 415, this Court held as under:

"44. Submission of Mr Ghosh that the first information report is ante-timed cannot be accepted. It is possible that PW 1 because of lapse of time has made certain statements which go beyond the record viz. holding of inquest before the FIR was recorded. The number of accused persons in the first information report might have also been put by the investigating officer at a later point of time. The fact that the post-mortem examination had been held on 16-5-1982 itself goes a long way to establish the genesis of the occurrence. While saying so, we are not unmindful of the fact that the first information report was sent to the Magistrate after twenty-four hours. But then, in a case of this nature such a delay may not, by itself, be held to be fatal".

21. In the instant case, the defence did not put any question in this regard to the investigating officer Raj Guru (PW.10), thus, no explanation was required to be furnished by him on this issue. Thus, the prosecution had not been asked to explain the delay in sending the special report. More so, the submission made by Shri Tulsi that the FIR was ante-timed cannot be accepted in view of the evidence available on record which goes to show that the FIR had been lodged promptly within 20 minutes of the incident as the Police Station was only 1 k.m. away from the place of occurrence and names of all the accused had been mentioned in the FIR.

117. In the present case, in the context of the chronological sequence of the proceeding noted above, the prompt lodging of the first information report igniting the machinery for investigation, cannot be ruled out.

118. P.W.-6 has been successful in proving the documents of proceeding till sending of the dead body for post mortem examination to the doctor. The dead body was sent vide paper number Ex. Ka-7 for the post mortem where the same was received in the mortuary by the concerned doctor on 13.04.1979, as such, obviously there have been no inordinate delay in lodging of the first information report on the basis of written complaint made by the P.W.-1 in Police Station Kotwali, District Deoria by the P.W.-6, the Investigating Officer. The argument of the first information report being registered ante timed is not acceptable.

Defence taken and opportunity availed by the accused persons in the trial.

119. The accused persons have tried to carve out the defence from the cross-examination of the prosecution witness and then to prove their defence by producing witnesses D.W.-1 (Mahadeo Mishra), D.W.-2 (Anardan Singh) and D.W.-3 (Sacchidanand Mani Tripathi) before the trial judge for examination. From the perusal of entire cross-examination of all the witnesses, it appears that the defence as against the prosecution case was tried to set on the ground of enmity of first informant and his family with the accused Prahlad (of Village Moora Dih). The defence as against the accused "Brijraj" is to the effect that he was falsely implicated in the case by the police in collusion with the other witnesses of fact P.W.-1, P.W.-2 and P.W.-3. Admittedly from the cross-examination, the learned counsel could not carve out enmity of witnesses P.W.-3 with any of the accused. So far as the P.W.-2 is concerned, he too was heavily grilled in cross-examination to carve out any interestedness of him in false implication of the accused-appellant for the reason of his relation with P.W.-1 and his family. Nothing could come out of the gruelling examination of this witness.

120. In the examination of accused persons under section 313 of The Code Of Criminal Procedure, 1973, the appellant "Prahlad" (of village Moora Dih) has mostly expressed ignorance with regard to the evidence as to the topography of the spot of incident, the source of light thereon but admitted the fact of conviction of deceased "Ramashre" in the murder trial of Shyama (his brother) and, thus, factum of enmity was admitted by him. He has further admitted the evidence of P.W.-1 as to the inimical relation with deceased "Ramashre" since before 2 to 3 years from the incident in question though he denied from the role of exhortation assigned to him by the prosecution in the incident in question. The evidence as to the fact of chasing him and his companions after commission of the crime on relevant date and time of the incident and, thus, set forth the defence of witness deposing falsely for the reason of enmity with him as well as being related with the deceased "Ramashre. Prahlad (of Village Moora Dih) and Ram Oudh had also replied the query of the Court confronting them with the evidence of prosecution witnesses on the same line and length under section 313 of the Cr.P.C. Likewise, Brijraj had same answers to the queries about the other evidence but stated the false implication in the case against him and evidence of the prosecution witness in collusion with the police by reason of enmity of police with him.

121. In our view, mere denial from the presence on the spot and involvement in commission of crime as against the proved case of prosecution in this regard is not acceptable. We have perused the statement of defence witnesses. Whether to make any difference as to the acceptability of the defence taken by the accused persons in the case. The D.W.-1 Mahadeo Mishra who was called as the defence witness to produce the dak bahi (Despatch Register) dated 12.04.1979 which he was unable to produce before the Court for the reason dak bahi having been weeded out. No argument could be made about the relevancy of dak bahi in the case as the general diary of the police maintained as per rules for entering the day to day events and the relevant extract of the case diary had been produced before the court. Likewise, D.W.-2, the reader of the Court of the District Magistrate was also examined for the purpose of proving the application of the accused persons addressed to the District

Magistrate but how relevant and admissible that fact would be could not be explained. The evidence of this witness, therefore, is not of any avail against the proved case of prosecution with regard to the identification and involvement of accused persons in the incident dated 12.04.1979 at the relevant time on the spot of the incident in the killing of the deceased "Ramashre".

122. D.W.-3, is also of no avail as the proceedings on record of the trial is very much before this Court of appeal and how and to what extent anything otherwise and beyond the lower court record would be relevant could not be argued by the learned counsel.

123. Against the proved case of prosecution by the above noted evidences, the defence taken by the accused is not established and remains unfounded in the evidence of the defence witnesses.

We find no substance in the submissions of the learned counsels for the appellants in the appeals so as to interfere in the impugned judgment and order of conviction and sentence dated 14.09.1983 passed by learned Additional Sessions Judge, Deoria in Sessions Trial No.92 of 1982, under Sections 147, 148, 302/149, 324/149 of the Indian Penal Code, 1860.

Operative

124. On the discussion made hereinabove, we do not find any force in the criminal appeal of "Brijraj" in Criminal Appeal No.2170 of 1983 and criminal appeal of Prahlad (of Village Moora Dih) in Criminal Appeal No.2169 of 1983 against the judgment of conviction and order of sentence passed by learned Additional Sessions Judge, Deoria in Sessions Trial No.92 of 1982 dated 14.09.1983, under Sections 147, 148, 302/149 and 324/149 of the Indian Penal Code, 1860, therefore, the appeals deserve to be dismissed and hereby both the appeals are dismissed.

125. The judgement of conviction and order of sentence in Sessions Trial No.92 of 1982 dated 14.09.1983, under Sections 147, 148, 302/149 and 324/149 of the Indian Penal Code, 1860 is affirmed. The bail bonds and surety bonds on behalf of accused-appellant "Prahlad" (of Village Moora Dih) are hereby cancelled.

126. The Chief Judicial Magistrate, Deoria is directed to take into custody the accused-appellant "Prahlad" (of Village Moora Dih) and send him to jail in compliance of this judgement.

127. The lower court record be sent back to the trial court for further action. Certify this judgment to the court below for further necessary action and compliance.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Dr. Yogendra Kumar Srivastava, J.)

1. Heard Shri Deepak Kumar Jaiswal, learned counsel for the petitioners and Shri Ajeet Kumar Singh, learned Additional Advocate General assisted by Sri Ravesh Kumar Singh and Ms. Shikha Dixit, learned Standing Counsel appearing for the State-respondents.

2. The present petition has been filed by the petitioners seeking a direction to quash the order dated 16.12.2021 passed by the Board of Revenue, U.P., Allahabad whereby the earlier order dated 28.03.2007 passed by the ADM (City)/ Addl. Collector, Agra in exercise of the powers under Section 167 of Uttar Pradesh Zamindari Abolition And Land Reforms Act 19501 has been affirmed.

3. Pleadings in the petition are to the effect that the land in question bearing Arazi No. 665/0.2540 Hec. of Khata No. 214 situate in Village-Digner, Tehsil-Sadar, District- Agra was recorded in the name of one Prem Singh who is stated to have become a bhumidhar with transferable rights under Section 131-B of the ZA & LR Act and subsequently, executed a registered sale deed dated 01.10.2005 in favour of the petitioner no. 1. A report dated 02.12.2005 was submitted by the Naib Tehsildar (Kundal), Agra pointing out that the transfer made was in violation of Section 157-AA of the ZA & LR Act as the same was without the required prior approval of the authority concerned and accordingly, a recommendation was made for proceedings to be undertaken as per Section 166-167 of the ZA & LR Act. Upon the aforesaid report Case No. 02 of 2005-06 (State vs. Ramdulari) was instituted and a show cause notice dated 26.12.2005 was issued to the petitioner no. 1 who submitted her objections dated 26.04.2006. The case came to be decided in terms of an order dated 28.03.2007 wherein the Additional Collector upon considering the facts of the case held that no prior approval has been obtained before making of the transfer and the same being in contravention of Section 157-AA of the ZA & LR Act, he made a recommendation for vesting of the land in the State Government as per the provisions of Section 167 of the ZA & LR Act.

4. Aggrieved by the same the petitioner preferred a revision under Section 333 of the ZA & LR Act which has also been dismissed in terms of an order dated 16.12.2021 affirming the findings and the order passed by the Additional Collector.

5. Learned counsel for the petitioner has sought to assail the aforesaid order and contends that in the present case since the transferor and the transferee both belong to the Scheduled Caste, the restriction under Section 157-AA of the ZA & LR Act was not attracted and no previous approval of the Assistant Collector was required prior to making of the transfer.

6. Submission is that there being no violation of the provisions of Section 157-AA of the ZA & LR Act the consequences enshrined under Section 167 of the ZA & LR Act would not follow and for the said reason the orders are erroneous and are liable to be set aside.

7. Controverting the aforesaid submissions, learned Additional Advocate General appearing for the State-respondents submits that Section 157-AA of the ZA & LR Act provides for certain restrictions on transfer by the members of Scheduled Castes becoming bhumidhar under Section 131-B of the ZA & LR Act. He submits that as per the case pleaded in the petition, the transferor is stated to have become a bhumidhar by virtue of provisions contained under Section 131-B of the ZA & LR Act. It is pointed out that Section 157-AA of the ZA & LR Act contains an absolute bar on transfer being made by members of Scheduled Castes in favour of any person not belonging to a Scheduled Caste. It is further submitted that even in respect of transfer made by a member of Scheduled Caste to another member of the Scheduled Caste there are certain conditions specified under the section. Reference is made of sub-section (4) of Section 157-AA of the ZA & LR Act which provides that no transfer can be made without previous approval of the Assistant Collector.

8. The question which thus arises in the present case is as to whether in a case where the transferor and the transferee both are members of Scheduled Caste, would the restrictions contained under Section 157-AA of the ZA & LR Act, be attracted.

9. For appreciating the rival contentions, the relevant statutory provisions may be adverted to.

10. Section 131-B, as inserted by U.P. Zamindari Abolition and Land Reforms (Amendment) Act, 19952 with effect from January 14, 1995, was brought in with the main object to confer transferable rights on persons who were *bhumidhar*s with non-transferable rights immediately before commencement of the aforementioned Amendment Act, 1995 and had been such bhumidhar for a period of ten years or more. Section 131-B referred to above is being extracted below:-

"131-B. Bhumidhar with non-transferable rights to become bhumidhar with transferable rights after ten years.--(1) Every person who was a bhumidhar with non-transferable rights immediately before the commencement of the Uttar Pradesh Zamindari Abolition and Land Reforms (Amendment) Act, 1995 and had been such bhumidhar for a period of ten years or more, shall become a bhumidhar with transferable rights on such commencement.c

(2) Every person who is a bhumidhar with non-transferable rights on the commencement referred to in sub-section (1) or becomes a bhumidhar with non-transferable rights after such commencement, shall become bhumidhar with transferable rights on the expiry of period of ten years from his becoming a bhumidhar with non-transferable rights.

(3) Notwithstanding anything contained in any other provision of this Act, if a person, after becoming a bhumidhar with transferable rights under sub-section (1) or sub-section (2), transfers the land by way of sale, he shall become ineligible for a lease of any land vested in Gaon Sabha or the State Government or of surplus land as defined in the Uttar Pradesh Imposition of Ceiling on Land Holdings Act, 1960."

11. Section 157-A provides for certain restrictions on transfer of land by members of scheduled castes. It provides that a bhumidhar or asami belonging to a scheduled caste shall have no right to transfer any land by sale, gift, mortgage or lease to a person who does not belong to such a caste except with the previous approval of the Collector. The restrictions imposed on the bhumidhar or asami belonging to a scheduled caste shall be without prejudice to the restrictions contained in Sections 153 to 157 of the Act.

12. Section 157-AA was inserted in terms of the U.P. Zamindari Abolition and Land Reforms (Amendment) Act, 1997 (U.P. Act No.9 of 1997) with effect from May 23, 1997 providing for restrictions on transfer by members of scheduled castes becoming bhumidhar under Section 131-B.

13. Section 157-AA, as inserted by the aforementioned Amending Act, is being reproduced below:-

"157-AA. Restrictions on transfer by member of Scheduled Castes becoming Bhumidhar under Section 131-B.--(1) Notwithstanding anything contained in Section 157-A, and without prejudice to the restrictions contained in Sections 153 to 157, no person belonging to Scheduled Caste having become a Bhumidhar with transferable rights under Section 131-B shall have the right to transfer the land by way of sale, gift, mortgage or lease to a person other than a person belonging to a Scheduled Caste and such transfer, if any, shall be in the following order of preference :--

(a) landless agricultural labourer;

(b) marginal farmer;

(c) small farmer; and

(d) a person other than a person referred to in clauses (a), (b) and (c).

(2) A transfer in favour of a person referred to in clause (a) of sub-section (1) shall be made in order of preference given below. If a person referred to in clause (a) is not available then transfer may be made to a person referred to in clause (b) of the said sub-section and if a person referred to in clause (b) is also not available then to a person referred to in clause (c) of the said sub-section and if a person referred to in clause (c) is also not available then to a person referred to in clause (d) of the said sub-section in the same order of preference :--

(a) first, to the resident of the village where the land is situate;

(b) secondly, if no person referred to in clause (a) is available, to the resident of any other village within the Panchayat area comprising the village where the land is situate;

(c) thirdly, if no person referred to in clauses (a) and (b) is available, to the resident of a village adjoining the Panchayat area comprising the village where the land is situate.

(3) If no person referred to in sub-section (1) belonging to a Scheduled Caste is available, the land may be transferred to a person belonging to a Scheduled Tribe in the order of preference given in sub-sections (1) and (2).

(4) No transfer under this sections shall be made except with the previous approval of the Assistant Collector concerned.

(5) A transferee of land under sub-section (1) shall have no right to transfer the land by way of sale, gift, mortgage or lease before the expiry of a period of ten years from the date of transfer in his favour."

14. Section 157-AA provides that no person belonging to scheduled caste having become a bhumidhar with transferable rights under Section 131-B shall have the right to transfer the land by way of sale, gift, mortgage or lease to a person other than a person belonging to a scheduled caste and the same shall be in the order of preference as contained sub-section (1) of the said section.

15. The provisions contained under Section 157-A and Section 157-AA both provide for restrictions on transfer of land by members of scheduled castes, but with a clear distinction. In terms of Section 157-A no bhumidhar or asami belonging to a scheduled caste can transfer the land to a person not belonging to a scheduled caste except with the previous approval of the Collector whereas under Section 157-AA the restriction is to the effect that a person belonging to a scheduled caste having become a bhumidhar with transferable rights under Section 131-B shall have no right to transfer the land by sale or otherwise to any person other than a person belonging to a scheduled caste. The transfer under Section 157-AA would be permissible only to persons belonging to scheduled castes in the order of preference as prescribed under sub-section (1). The restriction on a scheduled caste with regard to the transfer of land in favour of a person who does not belong to a scheduled caste under Section 157-AA is thus absolute and such transfer is not permissible in any contingency. The restriction herein is more stringent since the land in question is a lease land and grant of agricultural lease contemplated under the ZA & LR Act is for specified object and purpose.

16. The language of sub-section (1) of Section 157-AA is such that even in case of a member of a scheduled caste acquiring transferable rights of a bhumidhar under Section 131-B who is desirous to transfer such land to another person belonging to the scheduled caste by way of sale, gift, mortgage or lease the right to transfer is not absolute and the transfer is permissible only in accordance with the preferences specified therein.

17. Sub-section (4) provides for a restraint whereunder no transfer under Section 157-AA is permissible without the previous approval of the Assistant Collector concerned. The language of sub-section (4) is expressed in wide terms and it covers all transfers which are contemplated under Section 157-AA, including a transfer which is to be made by a scheduled caste in favour of a scheduled caste also.

18. The restrictions provided for under Section 157-AA were made subject to a further condition with the insertion of sub-section (5), in Section 157-AA of the ZA & LR Act in terms of the Uttar Pradesh Zamindari Abolition and Land Reforms (Amendment) Act, 2002 (U.P. Act No.11 of 2002) with effect from June 21, 2002. Sub-section (5), referred to above, is being extracted below:-

"(5) A transferee of land under sub-section (1) shall have no right to transfer the land by way of sale, gift, mortgage or lease before the expiry of a period of ten years from the date of transfer in his favour."

19. In terms of Section 166 of ZA & LR Act, transfers made in contravention of the Act are to be held to be void. The consequences of such void transfers are provided for under Section 167. For ease of reference Sections 166 and 167 are being extracted below:-

"166. Transfer made in contravention of the Act to be void.-- Every transfer made in contravention of the provisions of this Act shall be void.

167. Consequences of void transfers. --(1) The following consequences shall ensue in respect of every transfer which is void by virtue of Section 166, namely--

(a) the subject-matter of transfer shall with effect from the date of transfer, be deemed to have vested in the State Government free from all encumbrances;

(b) the trees, crops and wells existing on the land on the date of transfer shall, with effect from the said date, be deemed to have vested in the State Government free from all encumbrances;

(c) the transferee may remove other moveable property or the materials of any immovable property existing on such land on the date of transfer within such time as may be prescribed.

(2) Where any land or other property has vested in the State Government under sub-section (1), it shall be lawful for the Collector to take over possession over such land or other property and to direct that any person occupying such land or property be evicted therefrom. For the purposes of taking over such possession or evicting such unauthorised occupants, the Collector may use or cause to be used such force as may be necessary."

20. This Court may take notice of the fact that the ZA & LR Act was enacted to provide for abolition of the zamindari system which involved intermediaries between the tiller of the soil and the State and for acquisition of their rights, title and interests and to reform the law relating to land tenure. The enforcement of the ZA & LR Act was with a view to simplify land tenure and bring about other consequent reforms to fulfill the needs of an egalitarian society. The abolition of the system of intermediaries between the State and the cultivators and the simplification of land tenure was aimed at paving way for distribution of land to the weaker sections of society according to the mandate of the Constitution of India3.

21. In a primarily agrarian economy where land continues to be the pivotal to both income and employment around which socio-economic privileges and deprivations revolve land reforms are seen as one of the principal instruments for creation of an egalitarian rural society in tune with the socialistic spirit, as provided in the Preamble and under Part IV of the Constitution. It has also been included in the Ninth Schedule so as to ensure speedy and unhindered implementation of various legislative measures.

22. The restrictions provided for the transfer of land by scheduled castes under Section 157-AA have been introduced in order to address the difficulties faced by members of scheduled castes and to protect their rights with regard to the use and control of land through land reforms by taking appropriate legislative measures.

23. The restrictions provided under Section 157-AA are founded on a reasonable basis inasmuch as these restrictions are in respect of a person belonging to a scheduled caste who has become a bhumidhar with transferable rights in terms of the provisions contained under Section 131-B. It is for the purpose of protecting the rights of members of the scheduled castes that the transfer under Section 157-AA is permissible only to a person belonging to a scheduled caste and that too in the order of preference as prescribed under sub-section (1) thereof whereunder the said transfer is to be in an order of preference being made firstly to a landless agricultural labourer, thereafter to a marginal farmer, a small farmer and only subsequent thereto to others. The aforementioned preferential order of transfer is further subject to the conditions under sub-section (2).

24. Sub-section (4) which is couched in a mandatory form contains an injunction against any transfer without the previous approval of the Assistant Collector. The language of sub-section (4) is in wide terms and it encompasses all transfers under Section 157-AA including a transfer by a member of scheduled caste in favour of another member of scheduled caste also. Sub-section (4) refers to "transfer under this section", and therefore, it clearly embraces in itself all transfers which are contemplated in terms of Section 157-AA.

25. The issue as to whether a transfer made by a leaseholder who belongs to a scheduled caste in favour of a person who also belongs to a scheduled caste would require the permission of the Assistant Collector was taken up in the case of Man Singh Vs. Commissioner, Bareilly Mandal & Ors.4 and upon considering the provisions contained under Section 157-AA it was stated as follows:-

"5. ...Section 157-AA contains a clear restriction that a person belonging to Scheduled Caste who have become bhumidhar with transferable rights under Section 131-B shall have no right to transfer to any person other than person belonging to Scheduled Caste. The transfer under Section 157-AA is permissible only to a person belonging to Scheduled Castes in the order of preference as prescribed in Sub-section (1). Thus, Scheduled Caste cannot transfer the land in favour of a person not belonging to Scheduled Caste in any contingency. Further, this restriction is on reasonable basis since land which has been contemplated under Section 157-AA is a land which is allotted to a person belonging to Scheduled Caste. The restriction is more stringent in this sub-section since the land is lease land and grant of agricultural lease is contemplated under the Act for the specified object and purpose. Much emphasis has been laid down by learned Counsel for the petitioner that Sub-section (1) of Section 157-AA will not apply when transfer is in favour of Scheduled Caste. Sub-section (4) of Section 157-AA contains an injunction to the effect that no transfer under this section shall be made except with the previous approval of the Assistant Collector concerned. Sub-section (4) is in a very wide terms when it refers to "transfer under this section". This clearly means that it embraces itself all the transfers which are contemplated in Section 157-AA. Thus, even if the transfer is by a Scheduled Caste in favour of a Scheduled Caste, it is fully covered by the restrictions contained under Sub-section (4) of Section 157-AA. In case, the interpretation as put by learned Counsel for the petitioner to Sub-section (4) of Section 157-AA is accepted, then the restrictions put under this Sub-section will be meaningless and redundant. There is valid reason for requiring previous permission of the Assistant Collector. The reason which is deciphered from the scheme of section is, that even the transfer by a Bhumidhar belonging to Scheduled Caste to a person belonging to Scheduled Caste shall be in accordance with the preference mentioned in Sub-section (1). A Scheduled Caste who is bhumidhar with transferable right under Section 131-B has no free choice of transfer to any Scheduled Caste of his own choice. The order of preference given under Sub-section (1) has its own object and purpose. The object obviously is that if transfer is made, the said transfer shall first go to landless agricultural labourer and thereafter to marginal farmer. The reason obviously is that the land being a lease land, the rights of a lessee have to be regulated in a manner which may advance the object and purpose of the Act. Thus, the prior approval of the Assistant Collector is contemplated which is obviously to consider and decide as to whether permission can be accorded and the transfer which is sought, is in accordance with the Scheme of Sub-section (1) of Section 157-AA. If no permission is required for a land to be transferred by Scheduled Caste to another Scheduled Caste, then there will be no stage of inquiry whether the transfer is in accordance with the preference given in Sub-section (1).

6. In view of the foregoing discussions, I am of the considered view that permission is also required when a transfer is made by a person belonging to Scheduled Caste who has become bhumidhar with transferable right under Section 131-B in favour of a person belonging to Scheduled Caste. In the present case, the transfer was made without any such permission and the courts below have rightly taken the view that transfer is void and consequences under Section 167 of the Act shall follow..."

26. The purpose and object of the provision being to protect and promote the rights of the scheduled castes with regard to the control and use of land by bringing about land reforms through legislative measures, the provisions under Section 157-AA have to be read so as to subserve the intent and purpose of the enactment.

27. It is beyond question the duty of courts, in construing statutes to give effect to the intent of the law making power and to seek for that intent in every way. The object and interpretation of construction of statutes is to ascertain the meaning of the legislature and to ensure that the provisions are interpreted so as to subserve that intent. There is a general presumption that an enactment has to be given a purposive interpretation with a construction that best gives effect to the purpose of the enactment.

28. Reference may be had to the judgment in R (on the application of Quintavalle) Vs. Secretary of State for Health5, for the proposition that in construing an enactment effort should be made to give effect to the legislative purpose. The observations made in the judgment are as follows:-

"8. The basic task of the Court is to ascertain and give effect to the true meaning of what Parliament has said in the enactment to be construed. ... Every statute other than a pure consolidating statute is, after all, enacted to make some change, or address some problem, or remove some blemish, or effect some improvement in the national life. The Court's task, within the permissible bounds of interpretation, is to give effect to Parliament's purpose. So the controversial provisions should be read in the context of the statute as a whole, and the statute as a whole should be read in the historical context of the situation which led to its enactment."

29. Similar observations were made in Stock Vs. Frank Jones (Tipton) Ltd.6, wherein it was held as follows:-

"Words and phrases of the English language have an extraordinary range of meaning. This has been a rich resource in English poetry (which makes fruitful use of the resonances, overtones and ambiguities), but it has a concomitant disadvantage in English law (which seeks unambiguous precision, with the aim that every citizen shall know, as exactly as possible, where he stands under the law). The first way says Lord Blackburn, of eliminating legally irrelevant meanings is to look to the statutory objective. This is the well-known canon of construction . . . which goes by the name of "the rule in Heydon's Case" (1584) 3 Co. Rep. 7b. (Nowadays we speak of the "purposive" or "functional" construction of a statute.)"

30. The Court's function, in view of the foregoing discussion, would thus be to construe the words used in an enactment, so far as possible, in a way which best gives effect to the purpose of the enactment.

31. The ZA & LR Act having been enacted with the objective of bringing about reforms in the law relating to land tenure, and the provisions contained under Section 157-AA having been inserted with a view to ensure protection of the rights of the scheduled castes in consonance with creation of an egalitarian rural society which would be in tune with the socialistic spirit of the Constitution the provisions contained therein have to be interpreted in a beneficent way so as to subserve the object of the enactment rather than to negate it.

32. In construing a remedial statute like the one above, courts are required to give the terms of the statute the widest amplitude which its language would permit.

33. The principle of applying a liberal construction to a remedial legislation has been emphasised in the Construction of Statues by Crawford7 in the following terms:-

"...Remedial statutes, that is, those which supply defects, and abridge superfluities, in the former law, should be given a liberal construction, in order to effectuate the purposes of the legislature, or to advance the remedy intended, or to accomplish the object sought, and all matters fairly within the scope of such a statute be included, even though outside the letter, if within its spirit or reason."

34. To a similar effect is the observation made by Blackstone in Construction and Interpretation of Laws8, which is as under:-

"It may also be stated generally that the courts are more disposed to relax the severity of this rule (which is really a rule of strict construction) in the case of statutes obviously remedial in their nature or designed to effect a beneficent purpose."

35. In the context of beneficial construction as a principle of interpretation, it has been observed in Maxwell on The Interpretation of Statutes9 as follows:-

"...where they are faced with a choice between a wide meaning which caries out what appears to have been the object of the legislature more fully, and a narrow meaning which carries it out less fully or not at all, they will often choose the former. Beneficial construction is a tendency, rather than a rule."

36. The principle of applying a liberal construction to a beneficial legislation having a social welfare purpose was reiterated in the case of Allahabad Bank & Anr. Vs. All India Allahabad Bank Retired Employees Association10, and it was observed as follows:-

"16. ...Remedial statutes, in contradistinction to penal statutes, are known as welfare, beneficent or social justice oriented legislations. Such welfare statutes always receive a liberal construction. They are required to be so construed so as to secure the relief contemplated by the statute. It is well settled and needs no restatement at our hands that labour and welfare legislation have to be broadly and liberally construed having due regard to the Directive Principles of State Policy. The Act with which we are concerned for the present is undoubtedly one such welfare oriented legislation meant to confer certain benefits upon the employees working in various establishments in the country."

37. Reference may also be had to the case of Bharat Singh Vs. Management of New Delhi Tuberculosis Centre, New Delhi & Ors.11, where purposive interpretation safeguarding the rights of have-nots was preferred to a literal construction in interpreting a welfare legislation, and it was held as follows:-

"11. ...the court has to evolve the concept of purposive interpretation which has found acceptance whenever a progressive social beneficial legislation is under review. We share the view that where the words of a statute are plain and unambiguous effect must be given to them. Plain words have to be accepted as such but where the intention of the legislature is not clear from the words or where two constructions are possible, it is the court's duty to discern the intention in the context of the background in which a particular Section is enacted. Once such an intention is ascertained the courts have necessarily to give the statute a purposeful or a functional interpretation. Now, it is trite to say that acts aimed at social amelioration giving benefits for the have-nots should receive liberal construction. It is always the duty of the court to give such a construction to a statute as would promote the purpose or object of the Act. A construction that promotes the purpose of the legislation should be preferred to a literal construction. A construction which would defeat the rights of the have-nots and the underdog and which would lead to injustice should always be avoided..."

38. The aforementioned legal position with regard to ambit and scope of the restrictions on transfer by members of Scheduled Castes becoming bhumidhar under Section 131-B is contained under Section 157-AA has been considered in extenso in a recent judgement of this court in Surajmal vs. State of U.P. and others12.

39. The restrictions contained under Section 157-AA and the requirement of the permission of the Assistant Collector in a case where transfer is sought to be made by a person belonging to Scheduled Caste having become a bhumidhar with transferable rights under Section 131-B, in favour of a person who also belongs to a Scheduled Caste, having been held to be mandatory any transfer made in contravention thereof shall by virtue of the provisions contained under Section 166 be rendered void and the consequences of such a void transfer, as provided under Section 167, would ensue.

40. In the case at hand, the land in question having been transferred by a person who was a member of Scheduled Caste and had become a bhumidhar with transferable rights under Section 131-B, to the petitioner no.1 herein, also a person belonging to Scheduled Caste, the restrictions contained under Section 157-AA would be fully attracted as also the provisions contained under sub-section (4) thereof whereunder no transfer under the section is permissible except with the previous approval of the Assistant Collector concerned.

41. Contention of the learned counsel for the petitioner is that the transferor and the transferee both being members of Scheduled Caste, the previous approval of the Assistant Collector was not required for the purpose, is thus without basis and cannot be accepted.

42. The rationale behind requiring the previous approval of the Assistant Collector for any transfer under Section 157-AA is not difficult to decipher since as per the terms of the scheme of the provision, even a transfer by a bhumidhar belonging to a scheduled caste to a person also belonging to a scheduled caste is to be in accord with the order of preference under sub-section (1).

43. It therefore follows that a member of a scheduled caste who has obtained the status of a bhumidhar with transferable rights under Section 131-B also does not have a free choice to transfer the land to any member of the scheduled caste. The transfer which is permissible is to be as per the preferences prescribed. The order of preference under sub-section (1) and sub-section (2) are clearly to subserve the purpose of the legislative enactment which is for furtherance of the objective of land reforms and to protect the vulnerable section of the society from injustice and exploitation.

44. The prior approval of the Assistant Collector as required under sub-section (4) is thus contemplated so as to ensure that the permission which is sought is in accord with the scheme of the provision under the Section 157-AA and as per the order of preference provided under sub-section (1).

45. The transfer of the land in question having admittedly being made without the previous approval of the Assistant Collector concerned, the same would be hit by provision contained under sub-section (4) of Section 157-AA and such transfer being in contravention of the section, the same was rendered void by virtue of the mandate under Section 166 and the necessary consequences under Section 167 were liable to follow.

46. The recommendation made as per the order dated 28.03.2007 passed by the Additional Collection for vesting of the land in the State Government, is in accord with the provisions contained under sub-clause (a) of sub-section (1) of Section 167, and there is no infirmity in the said order. The subsequent order dated 16.12.2021 passed by the Board of Revenue, U.P., Allahabad rejecting the revision of the petitioners and affirming the order of the Additional Collector also cannot be faulted with for the same reason.

47. The writ petition lacks merit and is accordingly dismissed.

THE HON'BLE SALIL KUMAR RAI, J.

Writ B No. 9235 of 2012

Mohammed Ali ...Petitioner
Versus
U.O.I. & Ors. ...Respondents

Counsel for the Petitioner:
Sri Amit Saxena, Sri S.S. Sisodiya, Sri P.N. Saxena (Sr. Advocate), Sri R.K. Saxena

Counsel for the Respondents:
C.S.C., A.S.G.I. (2012/2930), Sri Anand Prakash Srivastava, Sri Dashrath Lal Yadav, Sri K.D. Tripathi, Sri Nitin Raj Singh, Sri Tripathi B.G. Bhai, Ved Mani Tiwari

A. Civil Law - Administration of Evacuee Property Act, 1950-Sections 7 & 8 - Under U.P. Ordinance No.01 of 1949 any property in which an evacuee had any right or interest automatically vested in the custodian and any property which purports to have vested with evacuee property in the custodian continued to be so vested under the subsequent ordinances and by virtue of Sections 8(2) and 8(2-A) of the Act 1950 shall be deemed to have been validly vested with the custodian and shall also be deemed to be evacuee property declared as such within the meaning of 1950. No order declaring the property as evacuee property and no notice as referred in Section 7(1) of the Act, 1950 was required in relation to properties which had vested as evacuee properties with the custodian under U.P. Ordinance No.01 of 1949. Passing an order or issuing a declaration that the property was evacuee property was not a condition precedent for vesting and the mere fact that a person who had any right or interest in the property was a evacuee as defined u/S 2© of the Ordinance No.01 of 1949 resulted in automatic vesting of the property in the custodian and the property is deemed to have been declared as evacuee property for the purposes of Act, 1950. Further, the failure of the custodian to issue a notice u/S 6 of U.P. Ordinance No.01 of 1949 or u/S 7(3) of the Act, 1950 notifying the property as evacuee property by publication either in official gazette or by other means prescribed, has no effect on validity of such vesting.

B. Civil Law - U.P. Ordinance No.01 of 1949 - Administration of Evacuee Property Act, 1950 - Sections 34 & 49 - Provides that all records prepared or maintained under these provisions shall be deemed to be public documents within the meaning of Indian Evidence Act and shall be presumed to be genuine unless contrary is proved.

C. Civil Law - Displaced Persons (Compensation and Rehabilitation) Act, 1954 - Sections 12,14,16,17,20,22 & 23 - The Act defines evacuee property as any property which has been declared or deemed to have been declared under the Act of 1950. Section 12 of the Act 1954 empowers the Central Government to acquire any evacuee property by publishing a Notification to the said effect in the Official Gazette and on such publication of the Notification the right, interest and title of any evacuee in the evacuee property shall stand extinguished and the evacuee property shall vest absolutely in the Central Government free from all encumbrances. Section 16 of the Act 1954 empowers the Central Government to appoint Managing Officers for custody, management and disposal of the property under Section 12 of the Act, 1954 which is made a part of compensation pool. Section 17 and 20 of the Act empowers the Managing Officer to dispose of such property. Sections 22 and 23 of the Act,1954 provides for appeal to the Settlement Commissioner and the Chief Settlement Commissioner against the order of Managing Officer and Assistant Settlement Commissioner.

Writ Petition is dismissed. (E-11)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Salil Kumar Rai, J.)

1. Heard the counsel for the parties and also perused the records of Writ-B No. 5199 of 2012 (Shamim Khan Vs. Deputy Director of Consolidation, Bareilly & Others). The original records produced by the State-respondents in pursuance to the order dated 5.3.2018 were also perused by the Court.

2. The petitioner challenges the order dated 7.2.2011 passed by the Deputy Director of Consolidation, Bareilly (hereinafter referred to as, 'D.D.C.'), the effect of which is to restore in C.H. Form 45, the name of Panna Lal Mishra, the predecessor in interest of respondent Nos. 6 to 10 as tenure holder of the plots in dispute between the petitioner and respondent Nos. 6 to 10. The name of Panna Lal Mishra was recorded in C.H. Form 45 on the basis of a sale-deed said to have been executed by the Managing Officer/Assistant Custodian (Evacuee Property) in his favour. The basic year records of the disputed plots displayed the name of one 'Mohd. Ali Khan, Pakistani under the administration of Custodian.' According to respondents Mohd. Ali Khan was an evacuee as defined in the Administration of Evacuee Property Act, 1950 (hereinafter referred to as, 'Act, 1950') and the plots were transferred in favour Panna Lal Mishra by the Managing Officer aftr the same were acquired under Section 12 of the Displace Persons (Compensation and Rehabilitation) Act, 1954 (hereinafter referred to as, 'Act, 1954'). The contention of the petitioner is that the original tenure holder was not an evacuee as he had not migrated to Pakistan, that the plots in dispute were not evacuee property and the sale-deed pleaded by respondent Nos. 6 to 10 is a forged document.

3. It is the admitted case of the parties that Mohd. Ali Khan Khan, S/o Mohd. Khan was the original tenure holder of the plots before Independence. The agricultural plots of which the aforesaid Mohd. Ali Khan was the tenure holder were Plot Nos. 1076, 1082, 1083/1, 1083/3 and 1084 situated in Village-Karilay, Pargana, Tehsil & District-Bareilly. During the first consolidation operations in the village, fresh chaks were carved in lieu of the aforesaid plots and the said chaks were numbered as Plot Nos. 510, 525, 541, 548, 554 and 555 and were part of Khata No. 269. In C.H. Form 45 prepared during the first consolidation operations in the village 'Mohd. Ali Khan, S/o Mohd. Khan resident of Pakistan under the Administration of Custodian' was recorded against Plot Nos. 510, 525, 541, 548, 554 and 555. C.H. Form 45 has been annexed as Annexure No. 3 of the affidavit filed by the District Magistrate, Bareilly. A perusal of the annexure shows that the C.H. 45 was prepared in 1366 Fasli, i.e., 1959 A.D. C.H. Form 41 annexed with the affidavit of the District Magistrate, Bareilly as Annexure No. 4 also indicates that the document was prepared in 1366 Fasli. The aforesaid documents indicate that first consolidation operations were held in the village in 1366 Fasli. In the second consolidation operations in the village, fresh chaks were carved out in lieu of the aforesaid plots and the chaks were numbered as Plot Nos. 1050, 1111, 1119, 1121, 1122, 1123, 1129, 1130, 1135 and 1136 (hereinafter referred to as, 'disputed plots') and are part of Khata No. 00035.

4. Plot Nos. 1076, 1082, 1083/1, 1083/3 and 1084 are recorded in Register No. 7676, which is the Basic Record/ Basic Register of Evacuee Properties in District-Bareilly. The Register is kept in the custody of Assistant Custodian, Evacuee Properties, Bareilly. It has been certified by the Assistant Custodian that all Evacuee Properties in Tehsil-Bareilly have been recorded in the said Register. The entries in the Register show that Plot Nos. 1076, 1082, 1083/1, 1083/3 and 1084 were allotted to Ranveer Lal Kapoor and Kulveer Lal Kapoor and there is a recital on the relevant page that in the list at Serial No. 80 and File No. 123, the plots were 'Declared by Ordinance'. In the counter affidavit filed by respondent Nos. 6 to 10 an extract of Demand & Collection Register has been annexed as Annexure No. CA-2 showing that rent for the said plots was due on Ranveer Lal Kapoor and Kulveer Lal Kapoor since 1358 Fasli. The significance of the entry in the Basic Register to the effect 'Declared by Ordinance' shall be considered later on in the judgement. It is sufficient to state here that the records were prepared on the premise that Mohd. Ali Khan had migrated to Pakistan during partition. The case of the petitioner is that Mohd. Ali Khan had not migrated to Pakistan and was not an evacuee and the disputed plots were not evacuee property. It is stated by the petitioner that no orders were passed declaring the disputed plots as evacuee property and there was no publication under Section 7 of the Act, 1950 notifying the disputed plots as evacuee property.

5. It is the case of the respondents that, vide notification dated 26.11.1957, the disputed plots were acquired under Section 12 of the Act, 1954 and vested in the Central Government free from all encumbrances and subsequently through a notification dated 23.3.1977 the Evacuee Properties acquired by the Central Government under Section 12 of the Act, 1954 were transferred to the State of Uttar Pradesh for management, administration and disposal. Subsequently, in pursuance to an order dated 26.2.1970 passed by the Assistant Settlement Commissioner, U.P., Lucknow, a sale-certificate dated 26.11.1981 was issued in favour of the petitioner by the Managing Officer/Assistant Custodian and the sale-deed was registered on 3.4.1982. The sale-deed has been registered at Serial No. 1500 in Book No. 1 Volume 2206 at page Nos. 122 to 124 in the Register maintained in the office of the Registrar. The sale-deed recites that the property had been acquired by the Central Government and has been signed by the Managing Officer/Assistant Custodian Acquired Evacuee Property, U.P., Lucknow on behalf of the President of India and the Government of U.P. Copy of the sale-certificate was forwarded to the Sub-Registrar, Bareilly for registration and also to the Tehsildar for mutation of the name of the purchaser in the land records after expunging the name of the evacuee. It has been stated in the supplementary counter affidavit filed in the present petition that the sale in pursuance to the order dated 2.3.1970 was delayed because of a stay order dated 4.3.1970 passed by this Court in Writ Petition No. 1752 of 1970. The aforesaid stay order was discharged by order dated 16.11.1981. The order dated 16.11.1981 passed by this Court in Writ Petition No. 1752 of 1970 has been annexed as Annexure No. SA-5 to the Supplementary Affidavit filed by respondent No. 4 in the present writ petition. The case of the petitioner is that the sale-deed is forged and further, the sale-deed is invalid as the transfer in favour of Panna Lal Mishra was made without obtaining the approval of Custodian General as required in Section 2(10)(o) of the Act, 1950.

6. The Village was notified for consolidation by notification issued under Section 4 of the Uttar Pradesh Consolidation of Holdings Act, 1953 (hereinafter referred to as, 'Act, 1953'). In the present writ petition, it has been stated that the notification under Section 4 of the Act, 1953 was issued in 1980. However, in Writ-B No. 5199 of 2012 the date of notification under Section 4 of the Act, 1953 has been disclosed as 1.10.1983. The exact date of the notification is not relevant for deciding the issues raised in the petition. This was the second consolidation operation in the village. It appears that the basic year records prepared during the second consolidation also displayed the name of 'Mohd. Ali Khan, Pakistani under the Administration of Custodian.' It is the case of the respondents that after registration of sale-deed in his favour, Panna Lal Mishra, instituted Case No. 379 under Section 9-A(2) of the Act, 1953 to be recorded as Bhumidhar of the disputed plots. It is stated by the respondents that in the aforesaid case, the Gaon Sabha filed its objections alleging that the sale-deed produced by Panna Lal Mishra in support of his case was a forged document. It also appears from the records that in C.H. Form No. 2A a part of Plot No. 554 was recorded as 'Marghat' and, therefore, another case regarding Plot No. 554/1 was also instituted by Panna Lal Mishra contesting the aforesaid entry in C.H. Form 2A. The respondents state that the Consolidation Officer (hereinafter referred to as, 'C.O.') vide his order dated 30.11.1990 allowed Case No. 379 relying on the sale-deed produced by Panna Lal Mishra. The C.O. also, after inspection of Plot No 554/1, found that the plot was not in the form of 'Marghat' and the entry in C.H. Form 2A was contrary to the entries in C.H. Forms 41 and 45 prepared during the previous consolidation operations and, therefore, passed order dated 9.6.1992 directing that Panna Lal Mishra be recorded as Bhumidhar of Plot No. 554/1. The Gaon Sabha filed Appeal Nos. 149 and 600 challenging the orders dated 30.11.1990 and 9.6.1992. The aforesaid appeals were dismissed by the Settlement Officer of Consolidation (hereinafter referred to as, 'S.O.C.') vide his order dated 16.2.2006. Subsequently, the Gaon Sabha filed Revision Nos. 265 and 266 before the Deputy Director of Consolidation (hereinafter referred to as, 'D.D.C.') challenging the orders of the C.O. and the S.O.C. and the said revisions were also dismissed by the D.D.C. vide order dated 25.5.2006. Meanwhile, during the pendency of the aforesaid proceedings Panna Lal Mishra died and respondent Nos. 6 to 10 continued with the litigation before the consolidation courts as heirs and legal representatives of Panna Lal Mishra. It has been stated in Writ-B No. 5199 of 2012 and by Shri Ashok Mehta, Senior Counsel, who represented the respondent Nos. 6 to 10, that notification under Section 52 of the Act, 1953 closing the consolidation operations in the village was published on 6.9.1997. The said fact has not been disputed by the counsel for the petitioner. C.H. Form 45 prepared during the second consolidation operations in the village recorded the name of Panna Lal Mishra as the chak holder/tenure holder of the disputed plots ostensibly on the basis of the different orders passed by the consolidation courts. However, the petitioner denies the proceedings before the consolidation courts as stated by the respondents and alleges that no order regarding the disputed plots were passed by the consolidation courts in favour of Panna Lal Mishra. It is the case of the petitioner that Panna Lal Mishra fraudulently got his name recorded in C.H. Form 45.

7. One Shamim Khan, S/o Wale Khan claiming himself to be the nephew of Mohd. Ali Khan and alleging that Mohd. Ali Khan had died issueless on 18.2.1989, filed an application praying that C.H. Form 45 be corrected and he may be recorded as the chak holder of the disputed plots. In his application Shamim Khan raised the same plea as the petitioner in the present petition that entries in C.H. Form 45 recording Panna Lal Mishra as the tenure holder of the disputed plots were forged and no orders had been passed by the consolidation courts in favour of Panna Lal Mishra. On the aforesaid application of Shamim Khan, the D.D.C. called for a report from the C.O., who reported that C.H. Form 23 relating to the disputed plots contains a recital that vide his order dated 30.11.1990 the C.O. had held Panna Lal Mishra to be the tenure holder of the disputed plots, but the said entry in C.H. Form 23 was blurred. It was further reported by the C.O. that the records did not indicate that Case No. 379 was instituted by Panna Lal Mishra and some other case was registered at Serial No. 379 in the 'Misilband Register'. The D.D.C. vide her order dated 4.11.2009 allowed the application of Shamim Khan and directed that C.H. Form 45 be corrected and entries in the basic year records showing 'Mohd. Ali Khan, resident of Pakistan under the Administration/ Management of the Custodian' against the disputed plots be recorded in C.H. Form 45. Through its aforesaid order, the D.D.C. also remanded the matter to the C.O. and directed that the dispute regarding succession to Mohd. Ali Khan be heard afresh after proper publication of notice and in accordance with law.

8. Respondent Nos. 6 to 10 filed a recall application before the D.D.C. for recall of the order dated 4.11.2009. The petitioner as well as Shamim Khan filed objections to the aforesaid recall application. The D.D.C. vide her order dated 7.12.2011 recalled her previous order dated 4.11.2009 and restored the entries in C.H. Form 45 as they stood before the order dated 4.11.2009. The order dated 7.12.2011 was passed by the D.D.C. relying on the certified copies of the different orders passed by the consolidation authorities and produced by respondent Nos. 6 to 10 and also after perusing the sale-deed allegedly executed in favour of Panna Lal Mishra. In her order dated 7.12.2011, the D.D.C. also took note of the fact that the disputed plots had been acquired and the dispute raised by Shamim Khan was barred by Section 48-A of the Act, 1953 and also that the application of Shamim Khan was filed after consolidation operations were closed by a notification issued under Section 52 of the Act, 1953.

9. The order dated 7.12.2011 passed by the D.D.C. was challenged by Shamim Khan in Writ-B No. 5199 of 2012. Interestingly, in the aforesaid writ petition, Shamim Khan claimed title to the disputed plots on the basis of a 'Hibbanama' executed by the deceased Mohd. Ali Khan on 7.5.1988. Subsequently, the writ petition was dismissed as withdrawn vide order dated 22.7.2016 passed by this Court.

10. While, Writ-B No. 5199 of 2012 was pending before this Court, the present petition was also filed challenging the order dated 7.2.2011. The present petitioner claims that he is the only nephew of Mohd. Ali Khan, that Mohd. Ali Khan died issueless in March, 1981 and that the title of the disputed plots devolved on the petitioner, he being the sole nephew of Mohd. Ali Khan, as well as by virtue of a Will dated 10.3.1965 allegedly executed by Mohd. Ali Khan in his favour. The other facts pleaded in the petition are that the disputed plots were not evacuee property and had never vested in the Custodian, that the disputed plots were never transferred to Panna Lal Mishra, that the sale-deed pleaded by Panna lal Mishra is a forged document and no orders had been passed bythe consolidation courts in favour of Panna Lal Mishra. The details of the case taken up by the petitioner have been referred earlier.

11. Respondent Nos. 6 to 10 have filed their counter affidavits wherein they have reiterated their case as referred earlier in the judgement.

12. Respondent Nos. 1 and 2, i.e., the Union of India has also filed its counter affidavit bringing on record the notifications dated 26.11.1957 issued under Section 12 of the Act, 1954 and 23.3.1997 through which the properties acquired through notification dated 26.11.1957 were transferred to State of U.P. for management and disposal.

13. The D.D.C. has also filed her affidavit bringing on record a letter issued by the Board of Revenue expressing its inability to give a copy of the sale certificate issued in favour of Panna Lal Mishra on the ground that the records in the Board of Revenue were tattered.

14. In the present writ petition the Court passed an order dated 5.3.2018, the relevant extract of which is reproduced below :-

The Collector Bareilly is, therefore, directed to file his affidavit bringing on record the records being maintained in his office regarding the disputed property being declared as Evacuee property, i.e. the extract of register showing declaration of the disputed property as Evacuee property, the order of appointment of Pannalal Mishra as Superdigar thereof and the records showing the sale certificate for execution of sale deed dated 26.11.1981 in favour of Pannalal Mishra. An officer well-acquainted with the records from the office of the Collector, Bareilly shall also remain personally present in the Court along with the original register maintained therein, extract of which has been filed as CA-3 (Page 10) to the affidavit of respondent 5.

There is one more aspect of the matter, the sale deed dated 26.11.1981 discloses that the Ministry of Rehablitation, Government of India vide notification dated 26.11.1957 issued under Section 12 of the Displaced Persons (Compensation and Rehablitation) Act had acquired the Evacuee property (described in the Schedule to the said sale deed) and it was executed by the Managing Office/Assistant Custodian (Acquired Evacuee Property), U.P., Lucknow on behalf of the President of India. Shri Pradeep Sisodiya, Assistant Solicitor General of India is, therefore, called upon to file affidavit on behalf of the respondents 1 and 2 explaining the averments as contained in the sale deed dated 26.11.1981. The contradictions appearing from contents of Page 55 and Page 58 (first and last page of the sale deed) are required to be explained by respondents 1 and 2. The notification dated 26.11.1957 under the aforesaid Act (as noted in the sale deed) shall also be placed before the Court along with the affidavit to be filed on behalf of respondents 1 and 2. The required information shall be placed before the Court by the next date fixed.

Let the matter be posted in the cause list on 20.3.2018."

15. In pursuance to the order dated 5.3.2018, the Collector, Bareilly has filed his affidavit annexing C.H. Forms 41 and 45 of 1366 Fasli, the relevant extract of the Basic Register and copy of the order dated 5.8.1967 giving the property in the 'Supardagi' of Panna Lal Mishra. The original records from the office of the Collector were produced on the date of hearing before this Court. The Court compared the photocopies of the document annexed with the affidavit of the District Magistrate, Bareilly with the original. Photocopy of the Basic Register annexed with the affidavit of the District Magistrate, Bareilly identifies with the original Register produced before this Court. The original records were also produced from the office of the Central Record Room, District-Bareilly and the said Register indicates that the sale-deed dated 26.11.1981/3.4.1982 had been registered in the office of the Registrar on a sale certificate issued by the Managing Officer/Assistant Custodian Acquired Evacuee Property, U.P., Lucknow. Certified copy of the extract of the Registers were handed over to the Court, which were taken on record. However, the order declaring the disputed plots as Evacuee Property or any notification notifying the disputed plots as evacuee property have not been filed or produced before this Court. Further, the permission of the Custodian General permitting sale of the disputed plots to Panna Lal Mishra has neither been filed with the affidavits of the respondents nor produced before this Court. The relevance of the aforesaid omision shall be considered later in the judgement.

16. It was argued by the counsel for the petitioner that Mohd. Ali Khan, original tenure holder of the disputed plots had not migrated to Pakistan, that no order was passed by the Custodian declaring the disputed plots as evacuee property and no notification notifying the disputed plots as evacuee property was published either in the Gazette or through any other mode as required under Rule 7 of the Rules, 1954. It was argued that there is no evidence that the disputed plots were evacuee property and had vested as evacuee property in the Custodian. It was also argued that the sale of the disputed plots in favour of Panna Lal Mishra is in violation of Section 10(2)(o) of the Act, 1950 as the permission of the Custodian General was not obtained before allegedly transferring the disputed plots to Panna Lal Mishra. It was further argued that the report of the C.O. submitted before the D.D.C. stating that no Case No. 379 was registered at the instance of Panna Lal Mishra regarding the disputed plots shows that Panna Lal Mishra had fraudulently got his name recorded in C.H. Form 45. It was argued that in the circumstances, vide her order dated 4.11.2009, the D.D.C. rightly directed that C.H. Form 45 be corrected so as to display the entries in Basic year records and also rightly directed the C.O. to decide succession to Mohd. Ali Khan afresh after publication of notice. It was argued that for the aforesaid reasons, the order dated 7.12.2011 passed by the D.D.C. recalling the order dated 4.11.2009 is contrary to law and liable to be set aside.

17. Rebutting the argument of the counsel for the petitioner, the counsel for the respondents have argued that the entries in the Basic Register relating to evacuee propeties indicate that the disputed plots were evacuee property and had vested in the Custodian and were recorded as such in C.H. Form 45 prepared during the first consolidation operations in 1366 Fasli. It was argued that after the plots were acquired under Section 12 of the Act, 1954 by notification dated 26.11.1957, they vested in the Central Government and were subsequently transferred for administration and management alongwith other plots acquired under Section 12 of the Act, 1954 to the State Government and are managed by the Managing Officer appointed under the Act, 1954. It was argued that the sale-deed has been executed in exercise of powers conferred on the competent authority under the Act, 1954. It was argued that the recall application filed by Shamim Khan was not maintainable because the entries in C.H. Form 45 did not adversely affect his title as in the Basic year records the plots were recorded to be under the administration of Custodian and by virtue of Section 48-A of the Act, 1953 the title of the Custodian can not be adjudicated by the consolidation authorities. It was argued that for the same reasons the present petition is not maintainable. It was further argued that the recall application filed by Shamim Khan was also not maintainable as it was filed after the notification under Section 52 of the Act, 1953. It was further argued by the respondents that the records clearly indicate that Panna Lal Mishra was recorded as Bhumidhar of the disputed plots in C.H. Form 45 by virtue of order dated 30.11.1990 which was affirmed by the S.O.C. and the D.D.C. in the appeals and revisions filed against the order by the Gaon Sabha. It was argued that for the aforesaid reasons, the D.D.C. rightly recalled the order dated 4.9.2011 through her impugned order dated 7.12.2011 and the writ petition is liable to be dismissed.

18. I have considered the submissions of the counsel for the parties.

19. The issues in the present writ petition are whether the available records show that the disputed plots were evacuee properties and had vested in the Custodian, the legal effect of the failure of the State-respondents to produce, before this Court, any order passed or notification issued by the Custodian under Section 7 of the Act, 1950 declaring the disputed plots to be evacuee property and whether the sale-deed dated 26.11.1981/3.4.1982 is valid even though the sale certificate was issued by the Managing Officer and the transfer in favour of Panna Lal Mishra was made without obtaining the permission of the Custodian General as required under Section 10(2)(o) of the Act, 1950. The other issue in the present petition relates to the proceedings in the consolidation courts from which the present writ petition arises and whether any irregularity in the said proceedings can be a cause to set aside the order dated 7.2.2011 passed by the D.D.C. at the instance of the petitioner.

20. The first legislative enactment regarding evacuee property and relevant for the present writ petition was U.P. Ordinance No. I of 1949. Section 2(c)(i) of U.P. Ordinance No. I of 1949 defined an evacuee to mean any person who on account of setting up of the Dominions of India and Pakistan or on account of civil disturbances or the fear of such disturbances, leaves or has on or after the Ist day of March 1947, left any place in the United Provinces for any place outside the territories forming part of India. Section 2(d) of the Ordinance defines evacuee property to mean any property in which an evacuee had any right or interest. The definition of evacuee as given in U.P. Ordinance No. I of 1949 is similar to the definition of 'evacuee' given in Section 2(c)(i) of the Act, 1950. Section 2(f) of the Act, 1950 defines evacuee property to mean any property of an evacuee, whether held by him as owner or as a trustee or as a beneficiary or as a tenant or in any other capacity. Section 5 of U.P. Ordinance No. I of 1949 provided that,'Subject to the provisions of this Ordinance, all evacuee property situated in the United Provinces shall vest in the Custodian.' Section 6 of U.P. Ordinance No. I of 1949 required the Custodian to notify, from time to time, by publication in the official Gazette or in such other manner as may be prescribed, evacuee properties which had vested in him under the Ordinance. Under U.P. Ordinance No. I of 1949, if a person was an evacuee as defined in the Ordinance, his property automatically vested in the Custodian and no orders declaring the property to be evacuee property were required to be passed for that purpose. The failure of the Custodian to notify through publication the evacuee property did not invalidate the 'vesting' as the act of notifying was to be subsequent to vesting. U.P. Ordinance No. I of 1949 expired on August 23, 1949.

21. On June 13, 1949, the Governor General promulgated Administration of Evacuee Property (Chief Commissioner's Provinces) Ordinance No. XII of 1949. Section 5 of Ordinance No. XII of 1949 provided that subject to the provisions of the Ordinance, all evacuee properties situated in Provinces shall vest in the Custodian for that Province. Section 5 of Ordinance No. XII of 1949 is reproduced below :-

"Section 5(1). Subject to the provisions of this Ordinance, all evacuee property situated in a Province shall vest in the Custodian for that Province.

(2) Where, immediately before the commencement of this Ordinance any evacuee property in a Province had vested in any person exercising the powers of a Custodian under any corresponding law in force in that Province immediately before such commencement, the evacuee property shall on the commencement of this Ordinance, be deemed to have vested in the Custodian appointed for the Province under this Ordinance."

(Emphasis added)

22. Subsequently, by Section 4(b) of Ordinance No. XX of 1949, Ordinance No. XII of 1949 was extended to the United Provinces. By Section 8 of Ordinance No. XX of 1949 Section 41 was included in Ordinance No. 12 of 1949. Section 41 is reproduced below :-

"41. Provisions relating to expiry of U.P. Ordinance I of 1949- Notwithstanding the expiry of the United Provinces Administration of Evacuee Property Ordinance, 1949 (U.P. Ordinance I of 1949), immediately before the commencement of the Evacuee Property (Chief Commissioner's Provinces) Ordinance, 1949, anything done or any action taken in exercise of any power conferred by the first named Ordinance shall be deemed to have been done or taken in the exercise of the powers, conferred by this Ordinance as amended by the second named Ordinance, and any penalty incurred or proceeding commenced under the first named Ordinance shall be deemed to be a penalty incurred or proceeding commenced under this Ordinance as if the ordinance as so amended were in force on the day on which such thing was done, action taken, penalty incurred or proceeding commenced."

(Emphasis added)

23. Thus, the evacuee properties in the United Provinces which automatically vested in the Custodian by virtue of Section 5 of U.P. Ordinance No. I of 1949 were deemed to have vested in the Custodian under Section 5 of Ordinance No. XII of 1949 and by Section 41 of Ordinance No. XX of 1949 anything done or any action taken in exercise of any power conferred by U.P Ordinance No. I of 1949 were deemed to have been done or taken in exercise of powers conferred by Ordinance No. XII of 1949.

24. Subsequently, by Ordinance No. XXVII of 1949, Ordinance No. XII of 1949 was also repealed. Section 8 of Ordinance No. XXVII of 1949 provided as follows :-

"8. Vesting of evacuee property in the Custodian.-(1) Any property declared to be evacuee property under section 7 shall vest in the Custodian.

(2) Where immediately before the commencement of this Ordinance any evacuee property in a Province had vested in any person exercising the powers of a Custodian under any law repealed hereby, the evacuee property shall, on the commencement of this Ordinance, be deemed to have vested in the Custodian appointed or deemed to have been appointed for the Province under this Ordinance, and shall continue to so vest.

(3) ...

25. Section 8(2) of Ordinance No. XXVII of 1949 was subsequently substituted by the following Section 8(2). The substituted Section 8(2) of Ordinance XXVII of 1949 is reproduced below :-

"Section8(2). Where immediately before the commencement of this Ordinance, any property in a province had vested as evacuee property in any person exercising the powers of a Custodian under any law repealed hereby the property shall on the commencement of this Ordinance be deemed to be evacuee property declared as such within the meaning of this Ordinance and shall be deemed to have vested in the Custodian appointed or deemed to have been appointed for the Province under this

Provided that where, at the commencement of this Ordinance, there is pending before the Custodian for any province any claim preferred to him in respect of any property under Section 8 of the Administration of Evacuee Property, Ordinance 1949 (XII of 1949), or under any other corresponding law repealed hereby, then, notwithstanding anything contained in this Ordinance or in any other law for the time being in force such claim shall be disposed of as if the definitions of 'evacuee property' and 'evacuee' contained in section 2 of this Ordinance had become applicable thereto."

(Emphasis added)

The effect of substituted Section 8(2) of Ordinance No. XVII of 1949 was that any property vesting in the Custodian as evacuee property under the previous Ordinances was deemed to have vested in the Custodian under Ordinance No. XVII of 1949 and on the commencement of Ordinance No. XVII of 1949, was deemed to be evacuee property declared as such within the meaning of the Ordinance and deemed to have vested in the Custodian and shall continue to so vest.

26. By Administration of Evacuee Property Act, 1950, Ordinance No. 27 of 1949 was also repealed. Section 8(2) of the Act, 1950 provides that where immediately before the commencement of the Act, 1950 'any property in a State had vested as evacuee property in any person exercising the powers of Custodian under any law repealed hereby, the property shall, on the commencement of the Act, be deemed to be evacuee property declared as such within the meaning of this Act and shall be deemed to have vested in the Custodian ..... and shall continue to so vest'. Act, 1950 was also amended by the Administration of Evacuee Property (Amendment) Act I of 1960 and Section 8(2-A) was introduced in the Act, 1950 with retrospective effect. Section 8(2-A) of the Act, 1950 is reproduced below :-

"8(2-A). Without prejudice to the generality of the provisions contained in sub-section (2), all property which under any law repealed hereby purports to have vested as evacuee property in any person exercising the powers of Custodian in any State shall, notwithstanding any defect in, or the invalidity of, such law or any judgment, decree or order of any court, be deemed for all purposes to have validly vested in that person, as if the provisions of such law had been enacted by Parliament and such property shall, on the commencement of this Act, be deemed to have been evacuee property declared as such within the meaning of this Act and accordingly, any order made or other action taken by the Custodian or any other authority in relation to such property shall be deemed to have been validly and lawfully made or taken."

(Emphasis added)

27. By virtue of Section 8(2-A) of the Act, 1950 any property which purports to have vested as evacuee property in the Custodian under the Ordinances referred earlier shall be deemed to have validly vested in him and such property shall be deemed to have been declared as evacuee property as such within the meaning of Act, 1950 and any order made or any action taken by the Custodian or any authority in relation to such property shall be deemed to have been validly and lawfully made or taken. The implications of the word 'purport' in Section 8(2-A) of the Act, 1950 came up for interpretation before the Supreme Court in Azimunnissa & Others Vs. The Deputy Custodian, Evacuee Properties, District-Deoria & Others, AIR (1961) S.C. 365. In the aforesaid case, the Supreme Court after noting the different Ordinances issued regarding evacuee properties, held that a property which was evacuee property under Section 2(d) of Ordinance No. I of 1949 vested in the Custodian under Section 5 of that Ordinance and such vesting was deemed to be under Ordinance No. XII of 1949 and was also deemed to have vested in the Custodian under Ordinance No. XVII of 1949. It was held by the Supreme Court that such a vesting would be valid under Act, 1950 because Section 8(2-A) of the Act, 1950 validates a vesting which purported to have taken place as a result of Ordinance No. XVII of 1949. It was further held by the Supreme Court that such property, i.e., the property which 'purports' to have vested in the Custodian under Ordinance No. XVII of 1949 shall, by virue of Section 8(2-A) of the Act, 1950, be deemed to be evacuee property under the Act, 1950. The observations of the Supreme Court in paragraph Nos. 15, 20 and 21 are reproduced below :-

"15. The argument raised on behalf of the petitioner was that U. P. Ordinance 1 of 1949, Central Ordinance XII of 1949 and Central Ordinance XX of 1949 were invalid as the legislative competence of the Governor and of the Governor-General in regard to evacuee and evacuee property matters was wanting ; and all that sub-section 2-A of S. 8 added by Act I of 1960 did was to save any vesting which purported to have taken place under Ordinance XXVII but it did not purport to cure any invalidity due to constitutional incompetence and that the law made without constitutional authority could not be validated. Reference was made to Saghir Ahmad v. State of U. P. 1955 1 S.C.R. 707 : (AIR 1954 SC 728) where at page 728 (of SCR) : (at p. 739 of AIR) the following statement from Cooley's Constitutional Limitations Vol. 1 page 384 (note) :-

"A statute void for unconstitutionality is dead and cannot be vitalised by subsequent amendment of the Constitution removing the constitutional objection but must be re-enacted."

was held to be sound law.

20. The word " purport " has many shades of meaning. It means fictitious, what appears on the face of the instrument; the apparent and not the legal import and therefore any act which purports to be done in exercise of a power is to be deemed to be done within that power notwithstanding that the power is not exercisable; Dicker v. Angerstein, 3 Ch D 600 at p. 603. Purporting is therefore indicative of what appears on the face of it or, is apparent even though in law it may not be so. This means that at the time when the Act purported to vest the property in dispute in the Custodian even though the power was not exercisable, S. 8(2-A) by giving a retrospective effect to S. 8(2) of the Act makes the vesting as if it was vesting under S. 8(2) of the Act and therefore the attack on the ground of invalidity cannot be sustained. By S. 5 of U. P. Ordinance 1 of 1949 the property of Khatoon Bibi who became an 'evacuee' under S. 2(c) and her property 'evacuee property' under S. 2(d) was vested in the Custodian of Evacuee Property of the province of U. P. That Ordinance was allowed to lapse. By Central Ordinance XII of 1949 as subsequently amended the vesting of evacuee property was deemed to be under that Ordinance, which in its turn was repealed under S. 55 of Ordinance XXVII of 1949 which was a valid piece of legislation. By S. 8(2) of that Ordinance the vesting under the previous Ordinance was deemed to be under that Ordinance as if it was in force on the date of the vesting. Ordinance XXVII of 1949 was repealed by the Act which contained provisions as to vesting in S. 8(2), which was similarly worded as the corresponding provision of the Ordinance and therefore by a fiction of law the original vesting was to be treated as if the Act was in force when the first vesting took place. The High Court of Allahabad in Azizunnissa's case (S) AIR 1957 All 561 held the vesting to be invalid because upto the time of Ordinance XII of 1949 and even Ordinance XX of 1949 legislative competence was lacking, and even by the deeming provisions in S. 8(2) of Ordinance XXVII of 1949 or Act XXXI of 1950 there was no valid vesting, because the original vesting was bad. We think it unnecessary to decide as to whether the deeming provisions of S. 8(2) of the Act or of Ordinance XXVII of 1949 was sufficient to give validity to the vesting. Section 8(2-A) as introduced into the Act, in our opinion, makes the vesting valid, because it gives validity to the vesting which purported to have taken place as a result of Ordinance XXVII of 1949 even though it was only apparently so and was not so in law, because that is what 'purport' implies.

21. The effect of S. 8(2-A) is that what purported to have vested under S. 8(2) of Ordinance XXVII of 1949 and which is to be deemed to be vested under S. 8 of the Act which repealed that Ordinance, notwithstanding any invalidity in the original vesting or any decree or order of the Court shall be deemed to be evacuee property validly vested in the Custodian and any order made by the Custodian in relation to the property shall be deemed to be valid. Thus retrospective effect is given to the Act to validate (1) what purports to be vested; (2) removes all defects or invalidity in the vesting or fictional vesting under S. 8(2) of Ordinance XXVII of 1949 or S. 8(2) of the Act which repealed the Ordinance; (3) makes the decrees and judgments to the contrary of any court in regard to the vesting ineffective; (4) makes the property evacuee property by its deeming effect; and (5) validates all orders passed by the Custodian in regard to the property. Because of the retrospective effect given to the Act and the validating effect of Act 1 of 1960 Saghir Ahmad's case (1955) I SCR 707: (AIR 1954 SC 728) would have no application. In the view we have taken the other question does not survive and the share of Khatoon Bibi must be held to be evacuee property validly vested in the Custodian. Therefore the property in dispute does fall within the definition of composite property as given in S. 2(d) and cannot be held to be invalid."

28. Subsequently, in M/s. Haji Esmail Noor Mohammad and Co. and Others Vs. Competent Officer, Lucknow and Others, AIR (1967) SC 1244, the Supreme Court held that Section 7 of the Act, 1950 applied only to properties other than those which had vested automatically in the Custodian, that no notice or declaration under Section 7(1) declaring the interest as evacuee property was required in such cases and the automatic vesting of evacuee property in the Custodian under the different Ordinances referred earlier can not be reopened either in the Central Ordinance or the Central Act for it had vested there under by a fiction. The observations of the Supreme Court in paragraph No. 7 which are relevant for the present case are reproduced below :-

7. Section 8(2) of this Act corresponds to S. 8(2) of the Central Ordinance No. 27 of 1949. This Act repeals the Ordinance and practically enacts its provisions. Under this Act also the automatic vesting of the evacuee property in the Custodian under the U.P. Ordinance No. 1 of 1949 deemed to have continued to vest under the Custodian appointed under the Central Ordinance No. 27 of 1949 is continued, by fiction, under this Act. The High Court of Allahabad in Azimunnissa's case, AIR 1957 All 561 held that there was no valid vesting under Ordinance XII of 1949 or even under Ordinance XX of 1949 for lack of legislative competence and, that, therefore, the deeming, clause in Ordinance XXVII of 1949 or Act XXXI of 1950 would not continue the vesting. This defect was cured by Act 1 of 1960 retrospectively validating the vesting under the earlier laws. This aspect of the case was considered by this Court in Azimunnissa v. The Deputy Custodian, Evacuee Properties, District-Deoria 1961-2 SCR 91 at p. 104: (AIR 1961 SC 365 at p. 371). Therein Kapur, J., speaking the Court, observed :

"The effect of s. 8(2-A) is that what purported to have vested under S. 8 (2) of Ordinance XXVII of 1949 and which is to be deemed to be vested under S. 8 of the Act which repealed that Ordinance, notwithstanding any invalidity in the original vesting or any decree or order of the Court shall be deemed to be evacuee property validly vested in the Custodian and any order made by the Custodian in relation to the property shall be deemed to be valid. Thus retrospective effect is given to the Act to validate (1) what purports to be vested; (2) removes all defects or invalidity in the vesting or fictional vesting under S. 8(2) of Ordinance XXVII of 1949 or S. 8(2) of Ordinance XXVII of 1949 or S. 8(2) of the Act which repealed the Ordinance; (3) makes the decrees and judgments to the contrary of any court in regard to the vesting in-effective; (4) makes the property evacuee property by its deeming effect; and (5) validates all orders passed by the Custodian in regard to the property."

In the instant case, from the narration of the facts it is clear that Abdul Latif Hajee Esmail, in view of the disturbed conditions, went away to Pakistan in the year 1948 and, therefore, he was an evacuee within the meaning of the U.P. Ordinance 1 of 1949. His property, i.e., his interest in the partnership business, automatically vested under the Ordinance in the Custodian. The Deputy Custodian of Evacuee Property, Kanpur, issued notice to the firm on September 7, 1949, informing the firm that the Kanpur property of the firm would be taken possession. The said vesting was deemed to have taken place under the Central Ordinance 27 of 1949 and the Central Act 31 of 1950. Subsequent proceedings were taken under the provisions of the said Central Ordinance and Act. As stated above, the automatic vesting of Abdul Latif Hajee Esmail's share in the firm was continued by Central Ordinance 27 of 1949 and Central Act 31 of 1950 by the deeming provisions contained therein. Therefore, no question of issuing further notice or making a declaration that the said interest was evacuee property under S. 7(1)of the Ordinance arises. Section 7 only applies to properties other than those which have been vested automatically in the Custodian. Such a vesting cannot be reopened under the Central Ordinance or the Central Act, for it has already vested thereunder by a fiction. It follows that the petitioners have no interest in the share of Abdul Latif Hajee Esmail in the firm which had vested in the Custodian."

(Emphasis added)

29. The issue of automatic vesting of evacuee property in the Custodian also came up before a Division Bench of this Court reported in Smt. Roori Devi Vs. Assistant Custodian General, AIR (1970) All 583. In the aforesaid case, it was argued on behalf of the evacuee that because no action had been taken by the Custodian under the U.P. Ordinance No. I of 1949 or Ordinance No. XII of 1949 the property belonging to the evacuee could not vest in the Custodian and the same can not be held to be an evacuee property. Repelling the contention, the Division Bench, after referring to the judgements of the Supreme Court, held that as the erstwhile owner of the disputed property was an evacuee, her interest in the property automatically vested in the Custodian under Ordinance No. I of 1949 and would be deemed to have vested in the Custodian even under the Act, 1950 and a notification notifying the property as evacuee property was not necessary for a vesting of the evacuee property in the Custodian. The relevant observations of the Division Bench in paragraph Nos. 12, 13, 15 and 16 are reproduced below :-

"12. In the present case on the finding of fact recorded by the Opposite Party No. 1 it is clear that Smt. Mahboobul Nisa who owned the property in dispute migrated to Pakistan in February, 1948. Therefore, she was an evacuee within the meaning of the U. P. Ordinance No. 1 of 1949 and her interest in the property in dispute automatically vested under the Ordinance in the Custodian. This automatic vesting was continued by Amendment Ordinance No. 20 of 1949 and Ordinance No. 27 of 1949 and finally by Act 31 of 1950. The defect that was pointed out by this Court in Azizun Nisa's case, AIR 1957 AH 561 was cured by Act 1 of 1960 retrospectively validating the vesting under the earlier laws with the result that the property in dispute would be deemed to have vested in the Custodian even under Act 31 of 1950.

13. It is contended by Sri Bashir Ahmad learned counsel for the petitioner that in the instant case no action was taken or overt act done by the Custodian in respect of the property in dispute under U. P. Ordinance No. 1 of 1949 or Ordinance No. 12 of 1949 or Ordinance No. 27 of 1949 or Act 31 of 1950 as such the property in dispute cannot be held to have vested in the Custodian. Learned counsel referred to Sections 5 and 6 of Ordinance 1 of 1949 and submitted that these two sections should be read together and unless the Custodian notified by publication about the vesting of the property or did some overt act in respect of that property the property continued to be owned and possessed by the original owner. In support of this contention of his he placed reliance on a Division Bench case of Madhya Pradesh High Court in Rubab Bai v. Asstt. Custodian of Evacuee Property, AIR 1962 Madh Pra 38 and on a Single Judge decision of this Court in Smt. Israr Fatima v. Custodian Evacuee Property, U. P., AIR 1968 All 232.

15. It is difficult to accept this view of the Madhya Pradesh High Court in face of the clear provision of Section 5 of Ordinance No. 1 of 1949 which provides for automatic vesting and also in view of the Supreme Court decision in AIR 1961 SC 365. Once it is held that there is automatic vesting it is contradiction in terms to say that there will be no vesting unless certain conditions are fulfilled. Section 6 of Ordinance No. 1 of 1949 merely speaks of the procedure to be followed after vesting. It is something subsequent to vesting. Therefore, it cannot be said that unless there is notification there is no vesting. In our opinion as soon as there is a determination of the fact that a certain person in terms of Section 2(c) of the Ordinance is an evacuee and has migrated to Pakistan before the coming into force of Ordinance No. 1 of 1949 his property will be deemed to have vested in the Custodian by virtue of Section 5 of Ordinance 1 of 1949. The Division Bench view of the Madhya Pradesh High Court referred to above was not followed by the same High Court in a later Division Bench decision in Union of India v. Ismail Abdul Shukoor, AIR 1968 Madh Pra 159. Two Muslim partners of a Firm in India were doing business at Karachi since 1946 and they continued to remain there even after the partition of India, they were treated as evacuees and the interest held by them in the partnership property in India was held to be evacuee property within the meaning of these terms as defined in Section 3 of the State Ordinance. It was held that such a property automatically vested in the Custodian and the vesting was not dependent on any notification being issued by the Custodian, This latter Division Bench case rightly held that the earlier Division Bench case was not binding on them in view of the decision of the Supreme Court in AIR 1961 SC 365.

16. In AIR 1968 All 232 it was held, that "the word 'may' used in Sub-section (1) of Section 6 of Ordinance I of 1949 has the force of 'shall' and does not make it optional for the Custodian whether to notify by publication the property that has vested in him or not. Sub-section (1) of Section 5, no doubt vests the evacuee property in the Custodian automatically without its being notified, but it must be determined as to what that property actually is and such property cannot be determined without a notification being made and objections being invited from interested persons." This authority also does not help the petitioner. It does not say that if there is no notification the property will not vest in the Custodian."

(Emphasis added)

30. The above discussion leads to the conclusion that under U.P. Ordinance No. I of 1949, any property in which an evacuee had any right or interest automatically vested in the Custodian and any property which purports to have vested as evacuee property in the Custodian, continued to be so vested under the subsequent Ordinances and by virtue of Sections 8(2) and 8(2-A) of the Act, 1950 shall be deemed to have validly vested in the Custodian and shall also be deemed to be evacuee property declared as such within the meaning of Act, 1950. No order declaring the property as evacuee property and no notice as referred in Section 7(1) of the Act, 1950 was required in relation to properties which had vested as evacuee properties in the Custodian under U.P. Ordinance No. I of 1949. Passing an order or issuing a declaration that the property was evacuee property was not a condition precedent for vesting and the mere fact that the person, who had any right or interest in the property, was an evacuee as defined in Section 2(c) of the Ordinance No. I of 1949 resulted in automatic vesting of the property in the Custodian and the property is deemed to have been declared as evacuee property for the purposes of Act, 1950. Further, the failure of the Custodian to issue a notification under Section 6 of U.P. Ordinance No. I of 1949 or under Section 7(3) of the Act, 1950, notifying the property as evacuee property by publication either in official Gazette or by other means prescribed, has no effect on the validity of such vesting.

31. In the present case, the respondents have not produced any order declaring the disputed plots to be evacuee property or any publication notifying that the disputed plots had vested as evacuee property in the Custodian and, therefore, it is to be presumed that no order was passed declaring the disputed plots as evacuee property and no such notification was published. But, in light of the above discussion, the absence of any such order or notification does not negate the case of the respondents that the the disputed plots were evacuee properties and had vested in the Custodian as such.

32. The disputed plots are recorded as evacuee property in the Basic Register relating to evacuee properties maintained by the Assistant Custodian, Bareilly. The extract of the said Register has been annexed in the counter affidavit of the District Magistrate, Bareilly and the original records had been produced before this Court. The Registers regarding the evacuee properties are prepared under Rule 33 of the Rules, 1950. Section 49 of the Act, 1950 provides that all records prepared or Registers maintained under this Act shall be deemed to be public documents within the meaning of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872 (hereinafter referred to as, 'Act, 1872') and shall be presumed to be genuine unless the contrary is proved. A similar provision, Section 34, existed in U.P. Ordinance No. I of 1949.

33. A perusal of the Basic Register shows that the disputed plots were also allotted to certain persons and the allotment was atleast since 1358 Fasli. On the right side of the Register a note has been made that the property was 'Declared under the Ordinance'. Section 49 of the Act, 1950 raises a presumption that the aforesaid entries in the Basic Register are genuine and correct. The presumption that the aforesaid entries are genuine and correctly reflect the nature of the disputed plots, i.e., the disputed plots were evacuee property and vested in the Custodian under the different Ordinances in force before the Act, 1950 can also be raised under Section 114 (Illustration e) of the Act, 1972. The note 'Declared under the Ordinance' indicates that the disputed plots purported to have vested in the Custodian under the Ordinances referred earlier in the judgement. In light of Section 8(2A) of the Act, 1950 the disputed plots which purport to have vested as evacuee property in the Custodian under the Ordinances shall be deemed to have validly vested in the Custodian and shall on the commencement of Act, 1950 be deemed to have been evacuee property declared as such within the meaning of Act, 1950. The note also indicates that the property had vested in the Custodian before the enactment of Act, 1950 and accordingly, an order made or other action taken by the Custodian or any other authority in relation to the disputed plots shall be deemed to have been validly and lawfully made or taken.

34. The presumption under Section 49 of the Act, 1950 regarding the entries in the Basic Register could have been rebutted by proving before the appropriate forum that Mohd. Ali Khan had not migrated to Pakistan and was in India on the relevant date, i.e., Mohd. Ali Khan was not an evacuee. It is not the case of the petitioner and there is nothing on record to show that any steps were taken by Mohd. Ali Khan or any of his heirs before any competent authority claiming that the disputed plots were not evacuee property. It has been noted previously that C.H. Form 45 prepared in 1366 Fasli recorded the disputed plots to be under the administration and management of the Custodian. No steps even after C.H. Form 45 was prepared in 1366 Fasli were taken either by Mohd. Ali Khan or any of his heirs or legal representatives for restoration of the disputed plots under Section 16 of the Act, 1950 or for correction of C.H. Form 45. No appeal under Section 24 of the Act, 1950 or revision under Section 27 of the Act, 1950 was filed before the Custodian or the Custodian General either by Mohd. Ali Khan or any of his heirs. The appeal or revision could have been filed in view of the 'deemed declaration' provided in Section 8(2-A) of the Act. Thus, the presumption in favour of the entries in the Basic Register indicating that the disputed plots were evacuee property stands unrebutted.

35. For the aforesaid reasons, it is held that the disputed plots were evacuee property and the absence of an order declaring the disputed plots to be evacuee property or a notification notifying the disputed plots to have vested in the Custodian are not relevant and have no implications on the nature of the disputed plots.

36. So far as the validity of the sale-deed executed in favour of Panna Lal Mishra is concerned, the original records were produced before this Court which showed that the sale-deed had been registered in the office of the Sub-Registrar and, therefore, there is no substance in the allegation that the sale-deed is a forged document. At this stage it is also relevant to note that in the previous order dated 5.3.2018 passed by a Co-ordinate Bench of this Court the issue regarding the validity of the act of State-authorities in giving the disputed plots in the 'Supardagi' of Panna Lal Mishra was also raised and respondent Nos. 3 and 4 were called upon to produce the order dated 18.5.1967 by which the disputed plots were given in the 'Supardagi' of Panna Lal Mishra. The order has been annexed with the affidavit of the District Magistrate, Bareilly. However, the issue regarding 'Supardagi' of the disputed plots is not relevant to adjudicate the validity of the sale-deed. The original records as well as certified copy of the sale-deed handed over to this Court indicate that a sale certificate was issued by the Managing Officer/Assistant Custodian Acquired Evacuee Property and the deed was registered before the Sub-Registrar.

37. In order to decide the competence of the Assistant Custodian Evacuee Property/Managing Officer to issue the sale certificate, the provisions of Act, 1954 have to be considered. The Act, 1954 defines evacuee property as any property which has been declared or is deemed to have been declared as evacuee property under the Act, 1950. Section 12 of the Act, 1954 empowers the Central Government to acquire any evacuee property by publishing a notification to the said effect in the official Gazette and on the publication of the notification in the official Gazette the right, title or interest of any evacuee in the evacuee property shall stand extinguished and the evacuee property shall vest absolutely in the Central Government free from all encumbrances. Section 16 of the Act, 1954 empowers the Central Government to appoint Managing Officers for custody, management and disposal of the property acquired under Section 12 of the Act, 1954, and which is made a part of the compensation pool. Sections 17 and 20 of the Act, 1954 empower the Managing Officers to dispose of such property. Sections 22 and 23 of the Act, 1954 provide for Appeal to the Settlement Commissioner and the Chief Settlement Commissioner against the order of Managing Officer and the Assistant Settlement Commissioner. Relevant extracts of Sections 12, 14, 16, 17, 20, 22 and 23 of the Act, 1954 are reproduced below :-

"Section 12. Power to acquire evacuee property for rehabilitation of displaced person. (1) If the Central Government is of opinion that it is necessary to acquire any evacuee property for a public purpose, being a purpose connected with the relief and rehabilitation of displaced persons, including payment of compensation to such persons, the Central Government may at any time acquire such evacuee property by publishing in the Official Gazette a notification to the effect that the Central Government has decided to acquire such evacuee property in pursuance of this section.

(2) On the publication of a notification under sub- section (1), the right, title and interest of any evacuee in the evacuee property specified in the notification shall, on and from the beginning of the date on which the notification is so published, be extinguished and the evacuee property shall vest absolutely in the Central Government free from all encumbrances.

(3) It shall be lawful for the Central Government, if it so considers necessary, to issue from time to time the notification referred to in Sub- section (1) in respect of-

(a) all evacuee property generally, or

(b) any class of evacuee property, or

(c) all evacuee property situated in a specified area

(d) any particular evacuee property.

(4) All evacuee property acquired under this section shall form part of the compensation pool.

14. Compensation pool.-(1) For the purpose of payment of compensation and rehabilitation grants to displaced persons, there shall be constituted a compensation pool which shall consist of-

(a) all evacuee property acquired under section 12, including the sale proceeds of any such property and all profits and income accruing from such property;

...

(2) The compensation pool shall vest in the Central Government free from all encumbrances and shall be utilised in accordance with the provisions of this Act and the rules made thereunder.

16. Management of compensation pool.-(1) The Central Government may take such measures as it considers necessary or expedient for the custody, management and disposal of the compensation pool in order that it may be effectively utilised in accordance with the provisions of this Act.

(2) In particular, and without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing power, the Central Government may, for the purposes referred to in sub- section (1), by notification in the Official Gazette,-

(a) appoint such officers as it may deem fit (hereinafter referred to as managing officers); or

(b) constitute such authority or corporation, as it may deem fit (hereinafter referred to as managing corporation).

...

17. Functions and duties of managing officers and managing corporations.- (1) All managing officers or managing corporations shall perform such functions as may be assigned to them by or under this Act under the general superintendence and control of the Chief Settlement Commissioner.

(2) Subject to the provisions of this Act and the rules made thereunder, a managing officer or managing corporation may take such measures as he or it considers necessary or expedient for the purpose of securing, administering, preserving, managing or disposing of any property in the compensation pool entrusted to him or it and generally for the purpose of satisfactorily discharging any of the duties imposed on him or it by or under this Act and may, for any such purpose as aforesaid, do all acts and incur all expenses necessary or incidental thereto.

...

20. Power to transfer property out of the compensation pool.-(1) Subject to any rules that may be made under this Act, the managing officer or managing corporation may transfer any property out of the compensation pool-

(a) by sale of such property to a displaced person or any association of displaced persons, whether incorporated or not, or to any other person, whether the property is sold by public auction or otherwise;

...

22. Appeals to the Settlement Commissioner.-(1) Subject to the provisions of sub- section (2), any person aggrieved by an order of the Settlement Officer or a managing officer under this Act may, within thirty days from the date of the order, prefer an appeal to the Settlement Commissioner in such form and manner as may be prescribed:

Provided that the Settlement Commissioner may entertain the appeal after the expiry of the said period of thirty days, if he is satisfied that the appellant was prevented by sufficient cause from filing the appeal in time.

(2) ...

(3) The Settlement Commissioner may, after hearing the appeal, confirm, vary or reverse the order appealed from and pass such order in relation thereto as he deems fit.

23. Appeals to the Chief Settlement Commissioner. (1) Subject to the provisions of sub-section (2), any person aggrieved by an order of the Settlement Commissioner or the Additional Settlement Commissioner or an Assistant Settlement Commissioner or a managing corporation under this Act may, within thirty days from the date of the order, prefer an appeal to the Chief Settlement Commissioner in such form and manner as may be prescribed:

Provided that the Chief Settlement Commissioner may entertain the appeal after the expiry of the said period of thirty days, if he is satisfied that the appellant was prevented by sufficient cause from filing the appeal in time.

(2)No appeal shall lie from any order passed in appeal under section 22.

(3)The Chief Settlement Commissioner may, after hearing the appeal, confirm, vary or reverse the order appealed from and pass such order in relation thereto as he deems fit.

(Emphasis added)

38. The Central Government vide its notification dated 26th November, 1957 issued under Section 12(1) of the Act, 1954 acquired all tenancy rights of the evacuees which had become Sirdaris as well as Sir and Khudkasht rights of evacuees which had become Bhumidhars under U.P. Act No. 1 of 1951 and which had been retrieved under the Act, 1950 or under any other previous Acts or Ordinances and which had been allotted to displaced persons. Evacuee properties regarding which proceedings were pending under the the Act, 1950 disputing that the property was evacuee property or where the limitation period for disputing the vesting of the property in the Custodian as evacuee property had not expired or any property for which proceedings under Section 16 of the Act, 1950 for restoration of the property were pending, were exempted from acquisition. A copy of the notification has been filed alongwith the counter affidavit of respondent No. 2. The petitioner has not disputed the notification dated 26.11.1957. It is not the case of the petitioner that the disputed plots fall in any class of property exempted from acquisition by notification dated 26.11.1957. It has been observed earlier that no steps were taken either by Mohd. Ali Khan, the original tenure holder of the disputed plots, or any of his heirs to dispute before any forum the vesting of the disputed plots as evacuee property in the Custodian or for restoration of the property under Section 16 of the Act, 1950. Thus, under Section 12(2) of the Act, 1954 the right, title and interest of Mohd. Ali Khan in the disputed plots stood extinguished on 26.11.1957 and on the said date the disputed plots vested in the Central Government free from all encumbrances. The evacuee properties which had vested in the Central Government under Section 12 of the Act, 1954 were transferred for management, administration and disposal to the State Government by virtue of notification dated 23.3.1977. The hand-book of the Board of Revenue containing the different instructions and notifications regarding management and disposal of evacuee properties handed over to the Court by the Standing Counsel of the State of U.P. show that the Tehsildars were appointed as Managing Officers/Assistant Custodian in relation to evacuee properties. The aforesaid explains the fact that the sale-deed executed in favour of Panna Lal Mishra has been signed by the Managing Officer/Assistant Custodian. Under Section 20 of the Act, 1954 the Managing Officer was empowered to transfer, by sale, any evacuee property to any person other than a displaced person or association of displaced persons. It is also relevant to note that no appeal was filed by Mohd. Ali Khan or his heirs against the order dated 26.2.1970 passed by the Assistant Settlement Commissioner permitting disposal of the disputed plots in favour of Panna Lal Mishra. In light of the aforesaid, the sale certificate/sale deed can not be held to be invalid because the sale certificate was signed and issued by the Managing Officer/Assistant Custodian.

39. It was also argued by the petitioner that the sale-deed was invalid because the sale had been executed without prior approval of the Custodian General as required under Section 10(2)(o) of the Act, 1950. After the notification dated 26.11.1957 issued under Section 12 of the Act, 1954, the disputed plots vested in the Central Government free from all encumbrances and the disposal of the disputed plots was not to be by the Custodian under Section 10(2)(o) of the Act, 1950, but by the Managing Officer under Section 20 of the Act, 1954. Act, 1954 does not stipulate any permission of the Custodian General for disposal, by sale, of evacuee properties. Thus, no permission of the Custodian General was required to dispose of the disputed plots and the sale-deed is not invalid for being violative of Section 10(2)(o) of the Act, 1950. In view of the aforesaid there is no infirmity in the sale-deed dated 26.11.1981/3.4.1982.

40. In light of the findings recorded above, the issue regarding the regularity in the proceedings of the consolidation courts and the authenticity of the different records and orders passed by the consolidation courts is not relevant for deciding the rights of the parties. The petitioner and Shamim Khan claimed title to the disputed plots from Mohd. Ali Khan. The disputed plots were acquired by the Central Government under Section 12 of the Act, 1954. The acquisition under Section 12 of the Act, 1954 extinguished the rights, title and interest of the evacuee, i.e., Mohd. Ali Khan in the disputed plots. In the circumstances, the proceedings before the consolidations courts could not have been reopened at the instance of either the petitioner or Shamim Khan.

41. In light of the findings recorded above that the disputed plots were evacuee property and there is no infirmity in the sale deed executed in favour of Panna Lal Mishra, C.H. Form 45 correctly reflected the title of the disputed plots. Further, the reopening of the consolidation proceedings would invite a dispute regarding the title of the Custodian in the disputed plots which is barred by Section 48-A of the Act, 1953. The order dated 4.9.2011 was contrary to law because through the aforesaid order, the D.D.C. had directed that the proceedings regarding succession to the title of Mohd. Ali Khan in the disputed plots be started a fresh which could not have been done as the interest of Mohd. Ali Khan in the disputed plots stood extinguished after notification dated 26.11.1957 and the disputed plots had vested in the Central Government. It is difficult to comprehend as to how the D.D.C. by her order dated 4.11.2009 remanded back the matter to the C.O. for passing fresh orders even though on her own findings recorded in the order dated 4.11.2009, no case had been instituted regarding the title of the disputed plots. In case, Panna La Mishra was not entitled to be recorded as Bhumidhar of the disputed plots and the entries in C.H. Form 45 were forged, the basic year entries showing that the disputed plots were evacuee property and under the Administration of the Custodian could have been restored. The restoration of said entries would not benefit either the petitioner or Shamim Khan. Apparently, the petitioner or Shamim Khan had no locus to get the proceedings before the consolidation courts reopened. The D.D.C. vide her order dated 7.2.2011 rightly recalled her previous order dated 4.9.2011. For the same reasons as recorded above, petitioner has no locus to challenge the order dated 7.2.2011.

42. In view of the aforesaid, there is no illegality in the order dated 7.2.2011 passed by the Deputy Director of Consolidation, Bareilly so as to occasion interference under Article 226 of the Constitution of India.

43. The writ petition lacks merit, and is, accordingly dismissed.

44. Interim order, if any, stands vacated.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Mrs. Sangeeta Chandra, J.)

(1) Heard Shri Anil Kumar Tewari, learned Senior Advocate assisted by Shri Apoorva Tewari for the petitioner and Shri D.K. Saxena, learned counsel appearing on behalf of the respondent who has filed his Power today.

(2) This petition has been filed challenging the judgment and order dated 02.03.2022 passed by the Additional District Judge, Court No.1, Lucknow, dismissing the Rent Appeal No.6 of 2014 and praying for restoring the same to its original number.

(3) Learned Senior Counsel has taken this Court through the provision of Rule 22 of the Rules framed under U.P. Urban Buildings (Regulation of Letting, Rent and Eviction) Act, 1972 (hereinafter referred to U.P. Act, 1972) and has pointed out Sub Rule (a) of Rule 22 to say that the provisions of Order 41 Rule 17 of the CPC would apply where the appellant fails to appear and the Appeal filed by the appellant should have been dismissed in default and not on merits. Learned Senior counsel has also pointed out the judgment rendered by a Co-ordinate Bench of this Court in Writ-A No.21265 of 2008 (Shashi Bhushan Anand @ Toni & Others Vs. Smt. Ram Devi & Another) decided on 05.08.2014 to buttress his arguments.

(4) In the said case, this Court was considering a similar matter where the judgment of the Prescribed Authority was challenged by the petitioner before the Appellate Court but the Appellate Court had dismissed the Appeal arising therefrom on 11.05.2007 and rejected the application of the petitioner for recall of the said judgment on 22.01.2008. This Court had observed that in view of Section 34 of the Act of 1972 read with Rule 22 of the Rules framed under the Act the same powers as are vested in the Civil Court under the Code of Civil Procedure are given to the Trial Court under the Act 1972 to discuss an appeal or revision for default and to restore it for sufficient cause. It had relied upon the several judgments of this Court and of the Supreme Court to say that just because the earlier counsel of the appellant was present before the Court and had refused to argue it would not amount to an appearance within the meaning of Rule 17 of Order 14 of the CPC. In the said case of Shashi Bhushan Anand @ Toni & Others (Supra), the other counsel who was subsequently engaged was not present and the Court held that there was no appearance of any counsel on behalf of the petitioner. The Appeal should have been dismissed in default rather than on merits. The Court had held that the Appellate Court exceeded its jurisdiction and decided the Appeal on merits in the absence of either of the counsels for the appellant/petitioner. The petition was allowed and the matter was remanded to the Appellate Court for decision afresh.

(5) Learned counsel for the petitioner has submitted that the petitioner had approached this Court earlier also challenging the order dated 01.11.2021 passed by the Additional District Judge-I, Lucknow, as also the judgment dated 26.08.2021 passed in Rent Appeal No.6 of 2014 in reference to which application for recall was moved which was registered as Miscellaneous Case No.801-C of 2021. It has been submitted that this Court after placing reliance upon Shashi Bhushan Anand (Supra) and quoting the said judgment in extenso had observed that the Appellate Court should have dismissed the Appeal in default but should not have decided the same on merits. It had also referred to the earlier directions of this Court to decide the matter expeditiously. It had therefore while remanding the matter to the Appellate Court for taking a decision on the Appeal on merits strictly as per law, also directed that the same be decided as early as possible say within a period of two months from the date of production of certified copy of the order, if there is no legal impediment, and while taking such a decision in Appeal, the Court concerned shall providing proper opportunity of hearing to the parties concerned. This Court also provided that the petitioner shall not seek any adjournment before the Court concerned as on earlier occasions also this Court had expedited the proceedings in the Appeal.

(6) Learned counsel for the petitioner had pointed out to the Court that the petitioner had moved an application for transfer of the Appeal to another Court which was dismissed for non-prosecution and against which the application for recall was moved which was pending before the District Judge but this Court observed that it was open for the petitioner to approach the District Judge for transfer of the matter.

(7) It has been argued that after this judgment dated 23.11.2021 setting aside the judgment and order dated 26.08.2021, the Appellate Court was bound to follow the law and to decide the Appeal within time prescribed and also in case of counsel for appellant failing to appear and to assist it could have only dismissed the Appeal in default but not on merit.

(8) Learned counsel for the petitioner has also pointed out the judgment rendered by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Shri Baradakanta Mishra Ex-Commissioner of Endowments Vs. Shri Bhimsen Dixit reported in (1973) 1 SCC 446 and Paragraph-14 thereof where the Supreme Court observed that under Article 227 of the Constitution of India, the High Court was vested with the power of Superintendence over the Subordinate Courts and Tribunals in the State, When a specific direction had been issued to the Tribunal, then the Tribunal could not ignore the law declared by the High Court and start proceedings in direct violation of it.

(9) The learned counsel for the petitioner has also referred to observations made in East India Commercial Co. Ltd. Calcutta and Another Vs. The Collector of Customs, Calcutta reported in AIR 1962 SC 1893, where the Supreme Court had observed thus"..... "if a Tribunal can do so, all the subordinate courts can equally do so, for there is no specific provision, just like in the case of Supreme Court, making the law declared by the High Court binding on subordinate courts. It is implicit in the power of supervision conferred on a superior Tribunal that all the Tribunals subject to its supervision should conform to the law laid down by it. Such obedience would also be conducive to their smooth working; otherwise there would be confusion in the administration of law and respect for law would irretrievably suffer." It has been argued that after this Court had remanded the matter to the Trial Court to decide the Appeal afresh on merits, only on the ground that it could not have been decided on merits on failure of counsel for the appellant to appear and assist the Appellate Court could have only dismissed the Appeal in default and deciding the same on merits amounted to contemptuous conduct.

(10) It has been argued by the learned counsel appearing on behalf of the petitioner that after the order impugned was passed on 02.03.2022 a recall application has been moved by the petitioner on 09.03.2002 which has been registered as Miscellaneous Case No.222 of 2022 and despite knowledge that the Execution case was fixed on 16.03.2022 the Appellate Court has fixed the recall application for hearing only for 25.03.2022.

(11) In sum and substance, it is the argument of the learned counsel for the petitioner that this Court having set aside the earlier judgment passed by the Appellate Court on merits by observing that since the counsel for the appellant had not appeared the matter could only have been dismissed in default under Order 41 Rule 17 of the CPC by the Appellate Court and could not have been dismissed on merits, yet the Appellate Court has proceeded to decide the Appeal on merits in the absence of the counsel for the appellant.

(12) There is no quarrel with the basic proposition of law on which the argument has been made by the learned Senior Counsel, however the law has to be applied in the context of facts which are different in each case. The facts are evident from a perusal of the pleadings on record are as follows:-

"The petitioner's grandfather was initially inducted as tenant in the disputed shop situated In Building No.2, Misra Bhawan, Arya Nagar P.S. Naka Hindola, Lucknow. After his death the tenancy devolved upon the father of the petitioner. The respondent purchased the shop in question from Dr. R. N. Misra, Dr. D.N. Mishra, Late Colonel J. Misra and Shivanand Misra on 21.08.1999, and the sale deed was registered on 25.01.2000. The petitioners father died on 11.03.2011 and the tenancy of the shop in question devolved upon the petitioner. The Respondent filed an application for release of the shop in question under Section 21(1)a of U.P. Act No.13 of 1972 registered as P.A. Case No.67 of 2012 [Chandra Mohan Purswani Versus Hanuman Prasad Mishra]. The case was allowed by the Prescribed Authority on 24.12.2013 and the petitioner was directed to hand over vacant possession of the shop in question within two months from the date of the judgement.

(a) The petitioner challenged the judgement dated 24.12.2013 in Rent Appeal No.6 of 2014. In the meantime the Respondent had already filed the Execution Case No.24 of 2014 which was pending consideration before the Additional Civil Judge (Senior Division), Court No.20 Lucknow. In Rent Appeal No.6 of 2014, the Appellate Court stayed the order of the Prescribed Authority on 17.02.2014. On 21.11.2014 the petitioner filed an application seeking amendment in the written statement for challenging the title of the Respondent on the ground that the shop in question was put in trust for the benefit of Jai Narayan Mishra Degree College and the shop could not be alienated by the Trust without the permission of the Director, Department of Education. The Application for amendment was rejected on 29.10.2015 with the finding that the Respondent had been admitted as Landlord in the original written statement and such admission could not be withdrawn by amending such written statement in Appeal.

(b) On 15.07.2016 the petitioner made another application bearing No.C-57 for recall of order dated 29.10.2015 and for the consideration of the application for amendment in the written statement. The application for recall of order was rejected on 14.05.2018 on the ground that the order dated 29.10.2015 had been passed on merits by the Appellate Court.

(c) The petitioner filed another application Paper No.C-94 seeking amendment in the written statement contending that the sale deed dated 21.08.1999 had been executed by alleged Trustees who had never been inducted as Trustees of the Trust owning the shop in question. The application Paper No.C 94 was rejected on 14.03.2019. The petitioner filed Petition No.8250 (R/C) of 2019 challenging the order dated 14.03.2019. This Court dismissed such petition on 29.03.2019.

(d) The petitioner preferred C.M.A. No.40741 of 2019, seeking a review of the order dated 14.03.2019 which was rejected on 16.04.2014. The petitioner preferred another Application Paper No.C-134 seeking leave to deliver interrogatories upon the Respondent on 4.2.2021 with respect to shops which had come into the possession of the Respondent during the pendency of Rent Appeal No.6 of 2014. The Appellate Court by its order dated 4.02.2021, proceeded to treat such application as an application for adjournment and accepted it on payment of cost of Rs.500/- and adjourned the Appeal to 10.02.2021. On 10.02.2021 the petitioner preferred an application for Recall of order dated 4.02.2021 and prayed that his application bearing Paper No.C134 be decided on merit. The application for Recall of order dated 4.02.2021 was heard and rejected by the Appellate Court on the same day. The petitioner preferred another Application bearing Paper No.A -138 seeking amendment in the written statement for asserting that during the pendency of the Appeal, the bonafide need of the Landlord had been satisfied by release of a large portion of the building in his favour by other tenants. The said application was heard on merits on 15.02.2021 itself and the Appellate Court proceeded to consider the said application as an application for adjournment and vacated the interim order dated 17.02.2014 passed in Rent Appeal No.6 of 2014 at the time of its admission.

(e) The petitioner challenged the order dated 15.02.2021 before this Court in Writ Petition No.8445 (R/C) of 2021 which was disposed of by this Court by its order dated 25.03.2021 directing the Appellate Court to hear and decide the application bearing Paper No.A-138 for amendment of the written statement on the next date fixed that is on 26.03.2021 and thereafter decide the Rent Appeal itself expeditiously.

(f) In the meantime the petitioner had moved another application bearing Paper No.C - 142 on 20.02.2021 praying for recall of order dated 15.02.2021 and for restoration of interim order dated 17.02.2014. The Appellate Court heard such application for recall and restored the interim order on 16.03.2021.

(g) The petitioner moved another application Paper No.C-152 on 17.03.2021 for disposal of application, Paper No. C-153 on 17.03.2021, and then another application Paper No. C-158 while both applications were pending the Appellate Court passed an order on 26.03.2021 that the counsel for the petitioner instead of making submissions in support of the amendment application bearing Paper No.A-138 had sought an adjournment.

(h) On 30.03.2021 the petitioner filed another application bearing Paper No.C-160 duly supported by an affidavit bearing Paper No.C-161 for recall of order dated 26.03.2021.

(i) The petitioner also made an application bearing Paper No.C-159 praying for the application for Recall to be heard on 31.03.2021 itself. On 31.03.2021 the Appellate Court directed that the application bearing Paper No.C-159 and C-160 be listed on the next day that is on 1.4.2021. On the next day the applications were not decided and the Rent Appeal was directed to be listed on 6.04.2021 for final hearing.

(j) The petitioner in the meantime had moved a Transfer Application before the District Judge, Lucknow, and on 6.4.2021 the Rent Appeal was adjourned to 09.04.2021 on account of pendency of the Transfer Application. The Rent Appeal remained pending and was fixed for 13.08.2021 for hearing.

(k) The petitioner moved another Application Paper No.C-179. The Court remained closed on 14.08.2021 and 15.08.2021 on account of being Second Saturday and Sunday. The next date fixed in the matter was 17.08.2021. The petitioner could not reach the Court on time and later on enquired and it was found that the Appellate Court had listed the Appeal on 21.08.2021 for arguments.

(l) The Appeal was thereafter adjourned to 24.08.2021 when it was adjourned for hearing to 26.08.2021. On 26.08.2021 the counsel for the petitioner found out that an ex-parte final judgement had been rendered on 26.08.2021 dismissing the Appeal.

(m) The petitioner filed Miscellaneous Case No.801 C of 2021 seeking restoration of the Rent Appeal and for recall of ex-parte judgement. The Appellate Court issued notice to the Respondent fixing 5.10.2021 for hearing.

(n) In the meantime the petitioner also filed a Petition No.23811 (R/C) of 2021 before this Court praying that Miscellaneous Case No.801 C of 2021 be directed to be decided expeditiously by the Appellate Court. This Court by an order dated 8.10.2021 directed the Appellate Court to decide the Restoration Application on the next date fixed or by hearing the same on a day to day basis. The Appellate Court rejected the Miscellaneous Case No.801 C of 2021 holding that the judgement dated 26.08.2021 was not passed in the absence of the counsel for the petitioner and had been passed on merits.

(o) The petitioner challenged the judgement dated 26.08.2021 in Petition No.26690 (R/C) of 2021. This Court by its order dated 23.11.2021 allowed the petition and set aside the order dated 26.08.2021 with a finding that in the event of non-appearance of the counsel for the appellant, the Appellate Court could only dismiss the Rent Appeal No.6 of 2014 for want of prosecution and could not render a judgement on merits.

(p) It is the case of the petitioner that during the COVID-19 Pandemic the functioning of the Civil Court was severely restricted with effect from 9.01.2022 and the Courts were open only for a limited category of cases. With effect from 16.01.2022 the entry of litigants in the Civil Court was also barred. The Appellate Court listed the matter on 17.01.2022, 21.01.2022, 24.01.2022, and 27.01.2022 in quick succession but did not indicate whether the matter would be heard by virtual mode or the counsel were to appear physically. On 27.01.2022 the petitioner was directed to file written submissions within one day and the Appeal was directed to be listed on 29.01.2022. It was adjourned on 29.01.2022 and listed on 3.02.2022. The matter was again listed on 8.02.2022 and 11.02.2022 on which dates the counsel for the petitioner could not enter the Courts premises because entry was prohibited as per Covid-19 Protocol. Regular hearing in the Civil Court commenced only with effect from 14.02.2022 therefore, it has been argued that the non-appearance of the petitioner/appellant recorded in the order sheet on successive dates appears to be deliberate on the part of the Appellate Court. No hearing took place on all such dates as the counsel for the petitioner did not appear. The Appellate Court fixed the matter on 14.02.2022 for delivery of judgement but later on, adjourned the matter to 24.02.2022 giving time to the counsel for the petitioner to appear and argue the matter or to file written submissions. The counsel for the petitioner did not appear and did not file any written submissions in support of the Appeal on 24.02.2022 and the Appeal was fixed for judgement on 2.03.2022 without hearing the counsel for the petitioner. On 2.03.2022 the judgement was delivered rejecting the Appeal on merits and recording that no oral or written submissions have been made by the Appellant in support of the Appeal."

(13) From a perusal of the judgment and order impugned this Court finds that the Appellate Court has observed that despite several opportunities being given to the appellant for arguing the Appeal on merits, such opportunity was not availed of whereas in the judgments of the High Court dated 11.01.2018, 25.03.2021 and 29.03.2021 it had directed the Appeal to be decided within six months, 15 days respectively or as expeditiously as possible, and the latest judgment of this Court in Petition No.26690 (R/C) of 2021 on 23.11.2021 had directed that the Appeal be decided within two months and that the Appellant would not seek any adjournments. The counsel for the appellant had not appeared.

(14) The Appellate Court has made certain observations with regard to conduct of the counsel for the appellant which are necessary to be quoted for a better appreciation of the controversy:-

''प्रत्यर्थी के विद्वान अधिवक्ता के तर्कों को सुना तथा उनकी ओर से दाखिल लिखित तर्कों को अवलोकन किया गया। अपीलार्थी की ओर से

पर्याप्त अवसर दिये जाने के उपरान्त भी कोई मौखिक या लिखित तर्क प्रस्तुत नहीं किये गये।

माननीय उच्च न्यायालय द्वारा अपने आदेश दिनांकित 23–11–2021 के द्वारा इस न्यायालय द्वारा पारित निर्णय एवं आदेश दिनांकित 26–08–2021 को अपास्त करके पत्रावली को दो माह के अन्दर अपीलार्थी को सुनकर विधि सम्मत आदेश पारित करने के लिए निर्देशित किया गया था। माननीय उच्च न्यायालय के आदेश के अनुक्रम में प्रत्यर्थी द्वारा दिनांक 13–12–2021 को माननीय उच्च न्यायालय के आदेश की प्रमाणित प्रति प्रस्तुत की गयी, नोटिस जारी किये जाने के उपरान्त दिनांक 24–12–2021 को स्वयं अपीलार्थी हाजिर आया और उसके द्वारा माननीय उच्च न्यायालय के उक्त आदेश की ही प्रति दाखिल की गयी। माननीय उच्च न्यायालय के आदेश के अवलोकन से यह विदित होता है कि माननीय उच्च न्यायालय द्वारा दोनों पक्षों को सुनकर उक्त आदेश पारित किया गया है कि अधीनस्थ न्यायालय दो माह के अन्दर अपीलार्थी को सुनवाई का मौका देकर विधिसम्मत आदेश पारित करना सुनिश्चित करें।

यहॉ यह भी उल्लेखनीय है कि माननीय उच्च न्यायालय द्वारा अपने आदेश में अपीलार्थी के इस तर्क पर ध्यान देते हुए यह अभिमत दिया गया था कि वह चाहे तो न्यायालय के विरूद्व अपना स्थानान्तरण प्रार्थना–पत्र प्रस्तुत कर सकता है, इसके लिए वह स्वतंत्र है। इस क्रम में अपीलार्थी के द्वारा दिनांक 07–01–2022 को स्थानान्तरण प्रार्थना–पत्र संख्या 30/2022, माननीय जनपद न्यायाधीश महोदय के यहॉ प्रस्तुत किया गया, जिस पर दोनों पक्षों को विस्तारपूर्वक सुनकर दिनांक 21–01–2022 को स्थानान्तरण प्रार्थना–पत्र निरस्त कर दिया गया। माननीय जनपद न्यायाधीश महोदय ने अपने उक्त आदेश दिनांकित 21–01–2022 के द्वारा अपीलार्थी की पूरी गतिविधि तथा इस पत्रावली का निस्तारण न होने देने के आचरण का विशिष्ट रूप से उल्लेख किया गया है। उक्त आदेश पारित होने के उपरान्त न्यायालय द्वारा अपीलार्थी को सुनवाई के लिए कई बार अवसर दिया गया लेकिन यह जानबूझकर न्यायालय के समक्ष नहीं आये और उनके जूनियर अधिवक्ता आर्डरशीट पर आदेश पारित होने के बाद तिथि की जानकारी प्राप्त करके चले जाते हैं।

उल्लेखनीय है कि माननीय उच्च न्यायालय द्वारा पारित आदेश दिनांकित 23-11-2021 से लेकर आज तक कई तिथियां नियत होने तथा माननीय उच्च न्यायालय के द्वारा प्रदत्त दो माह की समय सीमा समाप्त हो गयी है, लेकिन पर्याप्त अवसर दिये जाने के बाद भी अपीलार्थी की ओर से न तो कोई लिखित बहस दाखिल की गयी और न ही व्यक्तिगत रूप से उपस्थित होकर मौखिक बहस की गयी, जबकि माननीय उच्च न्यायालय द्वारा अपने परिपत्र संख्या: 2419/LXXXVII-CPC/e-Courts/Allahabad दिनांकित 02-01-2022 की गाइडलाइन के पैरा-6 में यह निर्देशित किया गया है कि पक्षकार अपनी लिखित बहस कम्प्यूटर सेक्सन में दाखिल कर सकते हैं ताकि न्यायालय द्वारा उक्त लिखित बहस के आधार पर निर्णय पारित किया जा सके। उक्त परिपत्र के अनुक्रम में अपीलार्थी को पर्याप्त एवं समुचित अवसर प्रदान किये जाने के उपरान्त भी उनके द्वारा कोई लिखित बहस दाखिल नहीं की गयी और न ही मौखिक बहस हेतु उनकी ओर से कोई न्यायालय के समक्ष उपस्थित हुआ।

यह भी उल्लेखनीय है कि अपीलार्थी की ओर से प्रस्तुत स्थानान्तरण प्रार्थना पत्र पर बहस हेतु माननीय जनपद न्यायाधीश महोदय के समक्ष अपीलार्थी उपस्थित हुए और उनकी ओर से मौखिक बहस भी की गयी। उनका यह आचरण यह प्रदर्शित करता है कि अपीलार्थी जानबूझकर इस अपील को माननीय उच्च न्यायालय द्वारा निर्धारित समय सीमा के अन्तर्गत् निस्तारित नहीं होने देना चाहते हैं। चूँकि माननीय उच्च न्यायाल; अपीलार्थी जानबूझकर इस अपील को माननीय उच्च न्यायालय द्वारा प्रदत्त दो माह की समय सीमा व्यतीत हो x;h है, और न्यायालय द्वारा अपीलार्थी को सौखिक बहस अथवा लिखित बहस हेतु बाध्य नहीं किया जा सकता जबकि वह जानबूझकर दुराशय से न्यायालय के समक्ष मौखिक अथवा लिखित बहस प्रस्तुत नहीं करना चाहते। इसलिए इस अपील के निस्तारण

में और विलम्ब किया जाना समुचित नहीं होगा। बल्कि पत्रावली पर उपलब्ध समस्त प्रलेखीय साक्ष्यों के आधार पर अपील का निस्तारण गुणदोष के आधार पर किया जाना न्यायसंगत होगा तदनुसार पत्रावली पर उपलब्ध समस्त प्रलेखीय साक्ष्यों के आधार पर अपील का निस्तारण गुणदोष के आधार पर किया जा रहा है।''

(15) It has been argued on behalf of the learned counsel for the petitioner that this Court had stopped the Subordinate Courts from hearing the counsels physically and he has referred to guidelines issued by the High Court, dated 16.01.2022 wherein in addition to earlier guidelines, the High Court had directed the District Judge to ensure 50% of the Judicial Officers of the total strength to attend the Court on time on rotation basis and that Judicial Officers and staff who were in the Family way were to be allowed work from home and the litigants and their representatives would be prohibited in the Court premises but in urgent cases with prior permission of the District Judge, Such persons may be allowed to enter the Court premises. These guidelines were to be effective from 17.01.2022 till further orders.

(16) Shri B.K. Saxena, who appears for the respondent has on the other hand, referred to the Guidelines dated 06.02.2022 and 13.02.2022. In 06.02.2022 Guidelines Direction No.1 of the Guidelines issued on 16.01.2022 was withdrawn and all Judicial Officers were directed to function in Court. Point No.7 in the Guidelines issued on 09.01.2022 also stood withdrawn but the remaining Guidelines were to operative with Modification with effect from 08.02.2022. In the Guidelines issued on 13.02.2022, the High Court had directed all the Courts to remain open and to take all Judicial Work and Administrative matters as per applicable Provisions and Rules and Circulars issued from time to time. The Courts were directed not to close even if Covid-19 Positive cases was found in the Court Campus but would continue to work after complete sanitization. The Presiding Officer was directed to take all possible steps to ensure that limited number of parties/counsel are present anyone time for court proceedings, but should not prevent appearance of the parties in the case unless for reasons of illness. Masks were directed to be used as well as sanitizer and social distancing guidelines were to be followed in the Court premises. Necessary cooperation from concerned Bar Association was to be sought to restrict /prohibit the entry of the necessary Advocates /Litigants into Court premises. The Advocates/Litigants were to leave the Court rooms/campus, as soon as their matter was over and only such Advocates and Litigants were to be permitted to enter into the Court Premises whose cases/matters were listed on a particular date.

(17) It has been submitted by Shri B. K. Saxena, that Courts started functioning physically in a limited manner with effect from 08.02.2022 and after the guidelines were issued on 13.02.2022 all Courts started functioning in full strength. The entry of Advocates whose matters were urgent were not prohibited at any point of time. The Advocates whose matters were listed were permitted to enter into Court premises and were asked to leave after their matter was over. He has referred to the orders passed by the Appellate Court which have also been referred to by the learned counsel for the petitioner i.e. the orders dated 11.02.2022 filed at Page no.65 of the paper book, wherein the Appellate Court had observed that on calling out of the case, the counsel for the respondent was present. The counsel for the appellant was not present, no written submissions were filed by the appellant. The matter was directed to be listed on 14.02.2022. On 14.02.2022 the counsel for the appellant failed to appear and did not file written statements whereas the respondents written submissions had already been filed and respondents counsel was present. The Court looking into the Covid-19 Pandemic gave the appellant one more opportunity to appear and argue the matter and also to file written submissions. The Court directed the matters to be listed again on 24.02.2022. On 24.02.2022 again no one appeared on behalf of the appellant, no written submissions were filed. The Court had noted that counsel for the respondent was present in Court. The Court directed the matter to be listed on 02.03.2022 for the delivery of judgment. It has been argued by Shri Saxena, that counsel for the respondents was present on every date. The counsel for the appellant, however, did not appear. If the entry of Advocates was prohibited in Court campus even counsel for the respondent could not have appeared.

(18) This Court has perused the Guidelines issued by the High Court and it appears that physical functioning of the Subordinate Courts and Tribunals was affected for sometime with effect from 08.02.2022. All the Courts started functioning and also presence of counsels were not restricted and they could apply for permission in urgent matters to the District Judge to appear before the court concerned. However, they had to leave the Court as soon as their matter was over.

(19) It is apparent from the order passed by this Court on earlier dated 23.11.2021 that the Court had given only two months time from the date of production of certified copy of the order before the Appellate Court for the Appellate Court to decide the matter and the petitioner was directed not to take any adjournments. The Court had reiterated its earlier orders where this High Court had directed the Appellate Court to decide the Appeal as expeditiously as possible. This Court has also noticed from the Appellate Court's order that this Court's order was not produced by the appellant initially before the Appellate Court and the respondent filed the order before the Appellate Court on 13.12.2021. Thereafter a date was fixed for arguments after issuance of notice to the appellant.

(20) From the facts as mentioned in the pleadings on record and as have come out from the judgment and order dated 02.03.2022, this Court is of the considered opinion that there was no contemptuous disregard of this High Court's directions dated 23.11.2021 by the learned Appellate Court. It is apparent that the respondent has a decree in his favour of the learned Trial Court since 24.12.2013. The Execution case has already been filed by the respondent which is pending before the court concerned. The release application was filed by the respondent in 2002. The respondent has not been able to get peaceful vacant possession of the premises in question for the past ten years.

(21) This Court has also considered the judgment of the learned Trial Court as well as the Appellate Court on its merits and has found that the learned Trial Court and the Appellate Court have both noticed that the Landlord wished to establish an independent business of running a Restaurant on the premises in question which was commercial in nature and the Landlord had also stated that when his Restaurant would start running smoothly and profitably, then he would shift his family from the First Floor and the Second Floor and take another residential accommodation, and start using the building in question as a Hotel after taking due permissions and making alterations as are necessary in the construction. The learned Trial Court as well as the Appellate Court have noticed that the building in question was situated in Arya Nagar, Naka Hindola, with Aishbagh Road on the North and a PWD Road on the South and it is a busy Commercial area which has hundreds of Restaurants/Hotels for travellers as it was close to Charbagh Railway Station and the Airport. The need of the Landlord was found genuine and bonafide.

(22) With regard to the comparative hardships, the Appellate Court has relied upon judgments of the Supreme Court and of this Court namely Shiv Swaroop Gupta Vs. M.C. Gupta reported in AIR (2001) SC 2896 that if the tenant fails to look for alternative accommodation even during long pendency of release application, the issue can be decided in favour of the Landlord.

(23) The proposition in law having been correctly appreciated and also the facts as mentioned in the pleadings on record, this Court sitting in limited jurisdiction under Article 227 of the Constitution of India, does not find any good ground to show interference in the order impugned.

(24) The petition stands dismissed.

(25) No order as to costs.

(26) Learned Senior counsel at this stage, has requested that some time be given to the petitioner to vacate the premises. The petitioner shall vacate the premises within two months from today and shall continue to pay rent/damages as directed by the learned Trial Court during the time of his possession till such time that he delivers vacant and peaceful possession to the Landlord the rent, if any has already been deposited by the petitioner, shall be adjusted in such dues as are admissible to the Landlord.

(27) Since this Court has not interfered in the order of the learned Courts below, it is expected that the Landlord shall give two years of rent that he had offered for the property which was commercial, as compensation to the tenant on his delivering vacant and peaceful possession of the shop in question to the Landlord.

List of Cases cited:

Gian Singh Vs St. of Pun. & anr., (2012)10 SCC 303,

(Delivered by Hon'ble Mohd. Aslam, J.)

1. Heard Shri Mahabir Yadav, learned counsel for the petitioner and Shri L.D. Rajbhar, learned A.G.A. on behalf of the State.

2. The instant petition under Article 227 of the Constitution of India has been filed with the prayer to quash the impugned order dated 03.11.2020 passed by the learned Additional Sessions Judge, Court No.2, Rampur in Criminal Revision No.112 of 2018 (Chhaila Khan v. State of U.P. & Ors.) as well as the impugned order dated 13.07.2018 passed in Criminal Misc. Case No.225 of 2018 (Chhaila Khan v. Niyamat Khan & Ors.).

3. The brief facts necessary for disposal of this petition are that the land Arazi No.286 (area 0.785 hectare) situated in Village-Bhitar Gaon, Tehsil- Shahbad, District-Rampur was vested with the State Government. The respondents in collusion with respondent no.9-Bhagwant Swaroop posted as Tehsildar made forgery in the column of 'tippadi', deleted the sign of cross and entered their names fraudulently. A case numbered as Case No.05 of 2001-02 (Niyamat Khan & Anr. v. State of U.P.) was filed and learned Additional Collector-Rampur vide order dated 30.3.2002 held that the said land vested with the State Government. The opposite party challenged the said order by filing Revision No.145 of 2008-09 before learned Additional Commissioner (Judicial) Moradabad, Division Moradabad. The said revision was dismissed on 20.11.2009 and the order dated 30.3.2002 was affirmed.

4. It is contended by learned counsel for the petitioner that inspite of the aforesaid orders passed by the courts below, the revenue authorities are not complying with the orders and the private respondents are still in possession of the said land. It is further contended that forged entry was made by the private respondents in collusion with respondent no.9.

5. Per contra, learned A.G.A. has vehemently opposed the contentions of learned counsel for the petitioner and contended that under Section 156(3) Cr.P.C., the court may pass order of registration of the First Information Report against the accused regarding which he is competent to take cognizance i.e. in contrast of Section 154 Cr.P.C. It is further contended that it is also barred by Section 195 Cr.P.C. for which only complaint can be filed before the competent authority before whom the judicial proceeding was pending. Learned A.G.A. has also contended that the said application under Section 156(3) Cr.P.C. was also barred by Section 197 Cr.P.C.

6. I have given thoughtful consideration to the contentions raised by learned counsel for the parties.

7. The power of lodging FIR by the the Station House Officer under Section 154 Cr.P.C. and the power of Magistrate under Section 156(3) Cr.P.C. is almost similar with one distinction that order for registration of FIR under Section 156 (3) Cr.P.C., the learned court was competent to take cognizance of offence on the basis of the application under Section 156 (3) Cr.P.C. Cognizance can only be taken in the cases in which sanction under Section 197 Cr.P.C. was granted by the Government. No such cognizance could be taken against the public servant regarding illegal act done by the public servant in discharge of his official duty.

8. In above circumstances, learned lower court has rightly held that without sanction the court cannot take cognizance. Apart from the complaint being barred by Section 156 (3) Cr.P.C. it is also barred by Section 195 Cr.P.C. because the proceedings could be initiated after enquiry under Section 340 Cr.P.C. by lodging the complaint and no cognizance otherwise could be taken.

9. In this regard, the relevant Sections 195 Cr.P.C. and 197 are reproduced below:-

"195. Prosecution for contempt of lawful authority of public servants, for offences against public justice and for offences relating to documents given in evidence.- (1) No Court shall take cognizance-

(a) (i) of any offence punishable under sections 172 to 188 (both inclusive) of the Indian Penal Code (45 of 1860), or

(ii) of any abetment of, or attempt to commit, such offence, or

(iii) of any criminal conspiracy to commit such offence, except on the complaint in writing of the public servant concerned or of some other public servant to whom he is administratively subordinate;

(b) (i) of any offence punishable under any of the following sections of the Indian Penal Code (45 of 1860), namely, sections 193 to 196 (both inclusive), 199, 200, 205 to 211 (both inclusive) and 228, when such offence is alleged to have been committed in, or in relation to, any proceeding in any Court, or

(ii) of any offence described in section 463, or punishable under section 471, section 475 or section 476, of the said Code, when such offence is alleged to have been committed in respect of a document produced or given in evidence in a proceeding in any Court, or

(iii) of any criminal conspiracy to commit, or attempt to commit, or the abetment of, any offence specified in sub-clause (i) or sub- clause (ii), except on the complaint in writing of that Court, or by such officer of the Court as that Court may authorise in writing in this behalf, or of some other Court to which that Court is subordinate."

"197. Prosecution of Judges and public servants-(1) When any person who is or was a Judge or Magistrate or a public servant not removable from his office save by or with the sanction of the Government is accused of any offence alleged to have been committed by him while acting or purporting to act in the discharge of his official duty, no Court shall take cognizance of such offence except with the previous sanction-

(a) in the case of a person who is employed or, as the case may be, was at the time of commission of the alleged offence employed, in connection with the affairs of the Union, of the Central Government;

(b) in the case of a person who is employed or, as the case may be, was at the time of commission of the alleged offence employed, in connection with the affairs of a State, of the State Government: [Provided that where the alleged offence was committed by a person referred to in clause (b) during the period while a Proclamation issued under clause (1) of article 356 of the Constitution was in force in a State, clause (b) will apply as if for the expression" State Government" occurring therein, the expression" Central Government" were substituted.]

(2) No Court shall take cognizance of any offence alleged to have been committed by any member of the Armed Forces of the Union while acting or purporting to act in the discharge of his official duty, except with the previous sanction of the Central Government.

(3) The State Government may, by notification, direct that the provisions of sub-section (2) shall apply to such class or category of the members of the Forces charged with the maintenance of public order as may be specified therein, wherever they may be serving, and thereupon the provisions of that sub- section will apply as if for the expression" Central Government" occurring therein, the expression" State Government" were substituted.

[(3A) Notwithstanding anything contained in sub- section (3), no court shall take cognizance of any offence, alleged to have been committed by any member of the Forces charged with the maintenance of public order in a State while acting or purporting to act in the discharge of his official duty during the period while a Proclamation issued under clause (1) of article 356 of the Constitution was in force therein, except with the previous sanction of the Central Government.]

[(3B) Notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained in this Code or any other law, it is hereby declared that any sanction accorded by the State Government or any cognizance taken by a court upon such sanction, during the period commencing on the 20th day of August, 1991 and ending with the date immediately preceding the date on which the Code of Criminal Procedure (Amendment) Act, 1991 , receives the assent of the President, with respect to an offence alleged to have been committed during the period while a Proclamation issued under clause (1) of article 356 of the Constitution was in force in the State, shall be invalid and it shall be competent for the Central Government in such matter to accord sanction and for the court to take cognizance thereon.]

(4) The Central Government or the State Government, as the case may be, may determine the person by whom, the manner in which, and the offence or offences for which, the prosecution of such Judge, Magistrate or public servant is to be conducted, and may specify the Court before which the trial is to be held."

10. In above circumstances, this Court is not inclined to interfere in the impugned order.

11. The petition under Article 227 of the Constitution of India is dismissed, accordingly.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Ajit Kumar, J.)

1. Heard Shri Anshul Kumar Singhal, learned counsel for the petitioner and Shri Shyam Sunder Sharma, learned counsel for the respondents.

2. By means of this petition under Article 227 of the Constitution, the petitioner seeks to set aside the order dated 13.01.2015 passed by the Additional Civil Judge (Senior Division), Mathura in Original Suit No. 173 of 1982 and the connected Original Suit No. 254 of 1982 and also the order dated 13.02.2018 passed by the Additional District Judge, Court No. 8, Mathura in Civil Revision No. 64 of 2015.

3. The controversy involved in the present case arises for the two sets of legal heirs of late Goverdhan Dutt claiming to substitute Goverdhan Dutt in the connected suit proceedings. While Original Suit No. 173 of 1982 was instituted by the present petitioner seeking permanent prohibitory injunction against Goverdhan Dutt, Goverdhan Dutt also instituted a suit being Original Suit No. 254 of 1982 against the present petitioner seeking the relief in the nature of mandatory injunction and a consequential relief for restoration of possession of the suit land. Both the above suits came to be connected for the purposes of adjudication and disposal.

4. It is during the pendency of above suit proceedings, Goverdhan Dutt died. While Smt. Babli @ Chitra, daughter of one Jai Prakash Hada was claimed by the present petitioner, to be legal heir of late Goverdhan Dutt as grand daughter of late Goverdhan Dutt, in the suit filed by late Goverdhan Dutt being Original Suit No. 254 of 1982, the respondent nos. 2, 3 & 4 herein in this petition, filed an application seeking substitution/ impleadment to continue the suit proceedings as heirs and legal representatives of late Goverdhan Dutt. The objections were filed by the l respective parties qua two substitution applications.

5. The trial court in its judgment found it to be appropriate to allow both the rival parties to be parties in the suits as legal representatives of Goverdhan Dutt for the purposes of continuation of suit proceedings instead of adjudicating the issue of right of the parties to be substituted exclusively as heir/legal representative of late Goverdhan Dutt. Against the said order, revision was filed by the present petitioner which also came to be dismissed.

6. Learned counsel for the petitioner submitted that it was a duty cast upon the court to determine the issue of legal right to be heir/ legal representative of a party in the event of dispute being raised, under Order

XXII Rule 5 of Code of Civil Procedure, 1908 (in short "CPC') as it provides for the same. Learned counsel for the petitioner argued that determination of rights of a person to be heir/ legal representative of a deceased party in the suit, can be very well determined by permitting the parties to lead evidence in support thereof. He submits that the proviso to Rule 5 of Order XXII CPC is clearly of indicative of the intendment of legislature that the court concerned should decide the controversy of heir-ship, if any raised and, therefore, according to him the trial court was not justified in allowing the substitution application of both the claimants to substitute the deceased defendant in one suit and as plaintiff in another connected suit. According to learned counsel for the petitioner, the legal principles had been wrongly interpreted by the trial court. He also submitted that the court revising the order of trial court, simply confirmed the order without recording any independent finding on the question as to legal representative, as mandated Order XXII Rule 5 CPC.

7. Per contra, it has been submitted by learned counsel for the respondents that the legal position was that any application in suit or appeal by a party to substitute the deceased in a suit or appeal for that matter, was only for the purposes of adjudication of the case, meaning thereby, the suit proceedings were to be brought to their logical end and were not to be lingered on for technical pleas as to who would be the right person to substitute the deceased party. He submited that the rival parties claiming to be rightful heirs/ legal representatives could draw any declaratory decree qua proprietary right in the suit property in appropriate proceedings.

8. Having heard learned counsel for the respective parties and their respective arguments raised across the bar and having gone through the pleadings so raised, I find that the discretion exercised by the trial court confirmed in revision, has to be looked into, whether right or wrong, in the backdrop of the plaint case of the respective parties and the consequential proceedings drawn.

9. I find that petitioner was seeking injunction in the nature of permanent prohibitory injunction, whereas, late Goverdhan Dutt had instituted the suit seeking mandatory injunction and recovery of possession. Thus the suits that have been connected, the pleas taken were for injunction and mandatory injunction respectively.

10. The petitioner before this Court has filed a suit in the nature of permanent prohibitory injunction. If he wants to injunct a party, it would be his choice to implead that party, if in his choice Chitra Jaiswal is the only heir of late Goverdhan Dutt and she should be injuncted, it does not bind the rival heirs if they are not impleaded or substituted. Similarly if injunction is also granted against further three persons who are claiming to be heirs of late Goverdhan Dutt, it does not in any manner affects the right of present petitioner rather helps him out in getting the decree of injunction purposefully executable and therefore, for the purpose of continuation of O.S. No. 173 of 1982 if both the rival legal representatives of late Goverdhan Dutt are impleaded, no prejudice would be caused to the present petitioner.

11. Again in the suit filed by Goverdhan Dutt, it could not be a concern of the petitioner as to who steps into the shows of plaintiff of that case because the petitioner is the defendant and a suit of mandatory injunction would be decreed only in the event petitioner fails to prove his case for prohibitory injunction as owner in possession of the suit land. As far as the proprietary right in respect of a particular property left by Goverdhan Dutt is concerned that would be determinable in the event petitioner loses his suit and then the lis could be between the two rival sets claiming to be the heir of late Goverdhan Dutt in appropriate suit proceedings.

12. Argument that has been very vehemently pressed before me by learned council for the petitioner was that adjudication as provided rule 5 of order XXII CPC was a must to finally adjudicate the heir-ship.

13. In my view the legal position qua heir-ship to the estate of a deceased is quite different from the right to consider for continuation of a suit proceeding as legal heir of a deceased party in such out. The issue is no more res integra but I find it to be a fit case to refresh the already settled legal position.

14. For appreciating the legal principle the relevant provision of order XXII of CPC is reproduced hereunder in its entirety:

"ORDER XXII

DEATH, MARRIAGE AND INSOLVENCY OF PARTIES

1. No abatement by party's death, if right to sue survives.--The death of a plaintiff or defendant shall not cause the suit to abate if the right to sue survives

"or to proceedings in the original Court taken after the passing of the preliminary decree where a final decree also requires to be passed having regard to the nature of the suit."

(Allahabad amendment)

2. Procedure where one of several plaintiffs or defendants dies and right to sue survives--Where there are more plaintiffs or defendants than one, and any of them dies, and where the right to sue survives to the surviving plaintiff or plaintiffs alone, or against the surviving defendant or defendants alone, the Court shall cause an entry to the effect to be made on the record, and the suit shall proceed at the instance of the surviving plaintiff or plaintiffs, or against the surviving defendant or defendants.

3. Procedure in case of death of one of several plaintiff or of sole plaintiff.-- (1) Where one of two or more plaintiffs dies and the right to sue does not survive to the surviving plaintiff or plaintiffs alone, or a sole plaintiff or sole surviving plaintiff dies and the right to the sue survives, the Court, on an application made in that behalf, shall cause the legal representative, of the deceased plaintiff to be made a party and shall proceed with the suit.

(2) Where within the time limited by law no application is made under sub-rule (1), the suit shall abate so far as the deceased plaintiff is concerned, and, on the application of the defendant, the Court may award to him the costs which he may have incurred in defending the suit, to be recovered from the estate of the deceased plaintiff.

4. Procedure in case of death of one of several defendants or of sole defendant.-- (1) Where one of two or more defendants dies and the right to sue does not survive against the surviving defendant or defendants alone, or a sole defendant or sole surviving defendant dies and the right to sue survives the Court, on an application made in that behalf, shall cause the legal representative of the deceased defendant to be made a part and shall proceed with the suit.

(2) Any person so made a party may make any defence appropriate to his character as legal representative of the deceased defendant.

(3) Where within the time limited by law no application is made under sub-rule (1), the suit shall abate as against the deceased defendant.

[(4) The Court whenever it thinks fit, may exempt the plaintiff from the necessity of substituting the legal representatives of. any such defendant who has failed to file a written statement or who, having filed it, has failed to appear and contest the suit at the hearing; and judgment may. in such case, be pronounced against the said defendant notwithstanding the death of such defendant and shall have the same force and effect as if it has been pronounced before death took place.

(5) Where--

(a) the plaintiff was ignorant of the death of a defendant, and could not, for that reason, make an application for the substitution of the legal representative of the defendant under this rule within the period specified in the Limitation Act, 1963 (36 of 1963), and the suit has, in consequence, abated, and

(b) the plaintiff applies after the expiry of the period specified therefore in the Limitation Act, 1963 (36 of 1963), for setting aside the abatement and also for the admission of that application under section 5 of that Act on the ground that he had, by reason of such ignorance, sufficient cause for not making the application within the period specified in the said Act, the Court shall, in considering the application under the said section 5, have due regard to the fact of such ignorance, if proved.]

4-A. Procedure where there is no legal representative.- (1) If, in any suit, it shall appear to the Court that any party who has died during the pendency of the suit has no legal representative, the Court may, on the application of any party to the suit, proceed in the absence of a person representing the estate of the deceased person, or may by order appoint the Administrator-General, or an officer of the Court or such other person as it thinks fit to represent the estate of the deceased person for the purpose of the suit; and any judgment or order subsequently given or made in the suit shall bind the estate of the deceased person to the same extent as he would have been bound if a personal representative of the deceased person had been a party to the suit.

(2) Before making an order under this rule, the Court-

(a) may require notice of the application for the order to be given to such (if any) of the persons having an interest in the estate of the deceased person as it thinks fit; and

(b) shall ascertain that the person proposed to be appointed to represent the estate of the deceased person is willing to be so appointed and has no interest adverse to that of the deceased person.

5. Determination of question as to legal representative.- Where a question arises as to whether any person is or is not the legal representative of a deceased plaintiff or a deceased defendant, such question shall be determined by the Court:

[Provided that where such question arises before an Appellate Court, that Court may, before determining the question, direct any sob-ordinate Court to try the question and to return the records together with evidence, if any, recorded at such trial, its findings and reasons therefore, and the Appellate Court may take the same into consideration in determining the question.]

(Emphasis added)

15. Upon bare reading of the rule 1 it is clear that the suit would not abate automatically in the event of a death of either of the parties thereto and so also any of the proceedings undertaken by the original court as a consequence of preliminary decree where final decree is must if rights to sue survives.

16. Rule 2 provides for a procedure where one of the plaintiffs or defendants dies and right to sue survives. The rule provides that in the event of more than one plaintiffs or the defendants, as the case may be, and right to sue survives with the other remaining parties, the court shall make an entry accordingly and proceed with the suit.

17. Rule 3 provides for substitution in case of the death of one of the several plaintiffs or sole plaintiff. The rule provides for the court to cause legal representative of the deceased plaintiff to be made as a party and shall proceed with the suit in the event right to sue survives. Sub rule (2) of Rule 3 provides for abatement as against the deceased plaintiff if no application for substitution is filed within prescribed period of limitation and the court can also award cost to the defendants to be recovered from the estate of deceased plaintiff.

18. Similar is the provision contained under rule 4(1) and the court shall proceed with the suit. However, sub rule (2) gives an opportunity to a legal representative to make a defence also appropriate to his character as such. Sub rule (3) provides for abatement against the deceased defendant as well and sub rule 2 of Rule 3 is that no application is necessarily required for abatement in the event of death of the defendant. So the abatement is by fiction of law.

19. Sub rule (4) further vests right with the plaintiff not to substitute the legal representatives of a defendant who failed to submit any written statement or even if submitted, he failed to appear and contest the suit at the hearing and in such event even the judgment may be pronounced against the deceased defendant and the same will be having the same force as if the defendant had not died. Sub rule (5)(a) prescribes the limitation period for the plaintiff to file substitution application, whereas, sub rule 5(b) provides for setting aside the abatement and admission of belated substitution application with the aid of section 5 of Indian Limitation Act, 1963.

20. Rule 4(A) provides an opportunity for the court to appoint Administrator General or any officer of the court or such other person as would be just and proper in its discretion, to represent the estate of deceased person who was party to the suit and is not survived by any heir or legal representative for the purpose of suit only and the judgment of the suit shall bind the estate of such deceased person. Sub rule (2) of rule 4(A) shall ensure that a notice given to a person to represent the estate of deceased person, if willing to be so appointed and has no interest adverse to that of the deceased.

21. Rule 5 of Order XXII provides for determination of question as to whether a person is or is not entitled to be held legal representative of deceased plaintiff or deceased defendant. Proviso to rule 5 provides that in the event such a situation arises in an appeal, the court before determining that question, may direct the subordinate court to try such question and return the record with evidence determining right of a person to be legal representative and then the appellate court may take the same into consideration in determining the question.

22. The provisions as contained in different rules and their respective sub rules of order XXII indicate four undisputed principles on the issue of substitution of a deceased plaintiff or defendant:

(a). If the right to sue survives then for the purposes of orderly conduct of the suit proceedings, the court will cause legal representative to substitute the original party on either side as the case may be, as there should be no abatement in such circumstances;

(b). In case of death of plaintiff/ plaintiffs or defendant/ defendants and in the event substitution is not filed within the limitation prescribed under the Indian Limitation Act, 1963, the abatement of suit proceedings as against such deceased party is automatic and therefore, if the substitution is filed belatedly, the plaintiff shall have to apply for setting aside the abatement as well;

(c). The parties to the suit have a right to apply for appointment of Administrator General or any other officer of the court or any such other person to represent the estate of the deceased if the cause is still surviving, to be appointed in the discretion of the court concerned; and

(d). when a question arises as to who can be held to be legal representatives of a deceased party to the suit, then such question shall be determined by the court of first instance. In case of appeal the appellate court though shall have to determine the question itself but may ask for the trial court to return findings after evaluation of evidence qua right of the party to be impleaded as legal representative of the deceased party in the suit.

23. So the analogy would be that suit should not abate, if the right to sue survives and the parties to the suit even if die, the court shall cause their representatives to be recorded and shall proceed to conclude the suit proceedings and in the event of dispute it is also determinable as to right to be recorded as a legal representative.

24. This above analogy leads to only one conclusion that the legislature intended for a suit once instituted to be brought to its logical end and for the technicalities of the death of either of the parties in the event right to sue survives, the legal representative be brought on record so as to achieve the end result i.e. conclusion of the suit proceedings with the adjudication of lis. This means that even a determination under rule 5 is aimed at achieving the above end result and not beyond that.

25. Thus, while a legal representative to be brought on record to protect the estate of deceased it is only limited to the right to that extent and continuation of suit proceedings. Whether a person gets an enforceable right in the estate of a deceased, meaning thereby the proprietary rights, that being not an issue in the suit the question would be how far such a decision would if adjudicated, will have binding force in case if suit is brought claiming right to the estate of the deceased. Right to property is between plaintiff and the defendant only and right to sue being limited to that extent and if any proprietary right is claimed by legal representatives, in my considered view, such a party will have to seek a remedy otherwise available in common law and even if there is adjudication under rule 5, it will not operate as res judicata in such subsequent suit.

26. In my above view, I find support from the judgment in the case of Mohinder Kaur & Anr v. Piara Singh & Ors of Punjab and Haryana Court in which an argument was advanced by learned Advocate that the view taken by the Lahore High Court in the case if Chiragh Din v. Dhlawar Khan AIR 1934 Lah 465; Mahomed Khan v. Jan Mohammad, AIR 1939 Lah 580 and Daular Ram v. Mt. Meero, AIR 1941 Lah 142 that the decision under Order XXII Rule 5 of CPC would not operate as res-judicata in a subsequent suit for succession or heirship of the deceased party, was no more a good law and in support of his argument, learned Advocate in that case had relied upon a judgment of Allahabad High Court in Raj Bahadur v. Narayan Prasad, AIR 1926 All 349 and one Jai Narain v. Ram Deo AIR 1933 Oudh 207. The High Court rejected the argument and held that the inquiry under rule 5 of Order XXII to be only summary in nature and thus vide para 9 held thus:

"9. We are, therefore, of the opinion that in essence a decision under Order 22, Rule 5, Civil Procedure Code, is only directed to answer an orderly conduct of the proceedings with a view to avoid the delay in the final decision of the suit till the persons claiming to be the representatives of the deceased party get the question of succession settled through a different suit and such a decision does not put an end to the litigation in that regard. It also does not determine any of the issues in controversy in the suit. Besides this it is obvious that such a proceeding is of a very summary nature against the result of which no appeal is provided for. The grant of an opportunity to lead some sort of evidence in support of the claim of being a legal representative of the deceased party would not in any manner change the nature of the proceeding, In the instant case the brevity of the order (reproduced above) with which the report submitted by the trial Court after enquiry submitted by the trial Court after enquiry into the matter was accepted, is a clear pointer to the fact that the proceedings resorted to were treated to be of a very summary nature. It is thus manifest that the Civil Procedure Code proceeds upon the view of not imparting any finality to the determination of the question of succession r heirship of the deceased party."

27. This above view of the Punjab and Haryana High Court and the subsequent decision of the Allahabad High Court overruling Raj Narayan (supra) finds favour in the judgment of Supreme Court in Dashrath Rao Kate v. Brij Mohan Srivastava, (2010) 1 SCC 277 and vide paragraph nos. 16 and 17, the court held thus:

"16. As a legal position, it cannot be disputed that normally, an enquiry under Order 22 Rule 5, CPC is of a summary nature and findings therein cannot amount to res judicata, however, that legal position is true only in respect of those parties, who set up a rival claim against the legatee. For example, here, there were two other persons, they being Ramesh and Arun Kate, who were joined in the Civil Revision as the legal representatives of Sukhiabai. The finding on the Will in the order dated 9.9.1997 passed by the Trial Court could not become final as against them or for that matter, anybody else, claiming a rival title to the property, vis-`- vis, the appellant herein, and, therefore, to that extent, the observations of the High Court are correct. However, it could not be expected that when the question regarding the Will was gone into in a detailed enquiry, where the evidence was recorded not only of the appellant, but also of the attesting witness of the Will and where these witnesses were thoroughly cross-examined and where the defendant also examined himself and tried to prove that the Will was a false document and it was held that he had utterly failed in proving that the document was false, particularly because the document was fully proved by the appellant and his attesting witness, it would be futile to expect the witness to lead that evidence again in the main suit. It was at the instance of the High Court in the revisional jurisdiction that the direction was given that the Trial Court should first decide as to whether who could be the legal representative of Sukhiabai and after complete enquiry, the Trial Court held the Will to be proved. The Will was not only attacked by the appellant on its proof, but also on merits, inasmuch as the respondent/defendant went on to contend before the Trial Court during that enquiry that the Will was unnatural, unfair and was executed in doubtful circumstances. The respondent/defendant had also relied on the reported decision of this Court in Girja Dutt Singh Vs. Gangotri Datt Singh [AIR 1955 SC 346]. The Trial Court, however, rejected this contention. On the other hand, the Trial Court found on merits that the appellant was living with Sukhiabai and Sukhiabai had adopted him orally.

17. Evidence of Ramesh Kate was also referred to, who asserted about this fact. Reference was also made to the evidence of Sukihabai herself in the Rent Control Case No. 14/90-91 that she had adopted Dashrath Rao (appellant herein) and that Dashrath Rao lived with her. Clear cut findings were given by the High Court in these proceedings that from the evidence of Prabhakar Rao (PW-2), the attesting witness, it was clear that Sukhiabai had signed in his presence and he had also signed in present of Sukhiabai and had also seen the other attesting witness signing the Will and attesting the same. Not only this, but the Trial Court also wrote a finding that the objection raised by the defendant (respondent herein) that Sukhiabai was not in a position to understand the Will on account of her poor physical condition, was also rejected by the Trial Court. It was also noted that the Will was executed six years prior to her death and as such, there was no question of Sukhiabai being suffered with any mental or physical disability for executing the Will. Therefore, it is on this basis that the Will was held to be proved. Once this was the position and in the same suit, the further evidence was led, there was no point on the part of the appellant/plaintiff to repeat all this evidence all over again. We have closely seen the relied upon ruling of the Himachal Pradesh High Court in Suraj Mani & Anr. Vs. Kishori Lal (cited supra). The ruling undoubtedly correctly holds that the finding in an enquiry under Order 22 Rule 5 cannot operate as res judicata, provided the very question needs to be decided. The factual situation, however, differs substantially. The case before the Himachal Pradesh High Court only pertained to the correctness of the order passed in the enquiry under Order 22 Rule 5, CPC. That was not a case where the question, as in the present case, fell for consideration. In fact, the Himachal Pradesh High Court also observed and, in our view, correctly, that it was still open to the petitioner (therein) during the trial of the suit to establish that the Will was competent and confered no right, title or interest on the respondent and, therefore, the respondent was not entitled to any relief in the suit. Unfortunately, on evidence in this case, the respondent/defendant did not do anything and did not even challenge the evidence of the appellant that he had become owner of the Will. Merely because the evidence of respondent/defendant and Prabhakar Rao (PW- 2) was not repeated all over again, it cannot be held that the appellant/plaintiff could be non-suited on this ground."

28. In view of the above pronouncement of law on the subject, since no proprietary right in the estate of the deceased would be going to be determined under Order XXII rule 5, whether the application for substitution of respondent no. 1 is allowed or respondent nos. 2, 3 & 4 are allowed in respect of the deceased Goverdhan Dutt, it will hardly affect the merit of the suit and particularly claim of petitioner in his suit for perpetual injunction.

29. In view of the above, I do not find any fault with the order of trial court affirmed in revision that both the parties be impleaded for the purposes of continuation of the suit proceedings so as to bring them to their logical end. Even in the absence of legal representatives being set up, the court could have appointed in its discretion Administrator General or any other person to represent the estate of late Goverdhan Dutt who is defendant in the suit of the present petitioner as the very object of provision contained in Order XXII is to continue orderly the suit proceedings and to bring the suit proceedings to their logical end.

30. Hence, no interference is warranted in exercise of power under Article 227 of the Constitution of India with the orders impugned.

31. Petition lacks merit and is accordingly rejected with no order as to cost.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Siddharth, J.)

1. Heard Sri Dileep Chandra Mathur, learned counsel for the petitioners and Sri A.K. Srivastava, learned counsel for the respondents.

2. This petition has been filed under Article 227 of the Constitution of India praying for setting-aside the order dated 14.05.2016 passed by Additional Chief Judicial Magistrate/Additional Civil Judge (S.D.), Gautam Buddh Nagar, in Original Suit No. 1323 of 2011, M/S S.G. Rockbuild Pvt. Ltd. Vs. Pradeep Kumar and others. Further prayer has been made to set-aside the order dated 13.11.2018 passed by Additional Civil Judge (S.D.)/Additional Chief Judicial Magistrate, Gautam Buddh Nagar, in Review Petition No. 04 of 2016 in Original Suit No. 1323 of 2011, M/S S.G. Rockbuild Pvt. Ltd. Vs. Pradeep Kumar and others.

3. The brief facts pleaded in the petition are that the defendants/petitioners entered into a registered agreement to sale dated 09.04.2008 with the plaintiffs/respondents on certain terms and conditions. The defendants/petitioners cancelled the agreement to sale by means of notice dated 13.10.2011. On 02.11.2011, the plaintiffs/respondents instituted an Original Suit No. 1323 of 2011 praying for a decree of specific performance of contract of sale dated 09.04.2008 against the defendants/petitioners. An application under Order 7, Rule 11 C.P.C. was filed by the defendants/petitioners before the trial court praying for rejection of the plaint of the original suit aforesaid.

4. It is alleged in the petition that the plaintiffs/respondents under undue pressure entered into compromise with the defendants/petitioners for specific performance of contract of sale dated 09.04.2008 and the same was filed and allegedly verified by the court on 20.02.2016. On 23.02.2016, the trial court framed 7 issues for adjudication in the suit and decided issue no. 3 on the same date. The date of 28.03.2016 was fixed for deciding issue no. 4 which was decided and the case was directed to be fixed for 14.05.2016 for disposal of compromise before Lok Adalat. None of the parties appeared before the Lok Adalat to verify the compromise or accept the terms of compromise but on 14.05.2016, the award was passed. Against the aforesaid award dated 14.05.2016 which was passed by the court in the capacity of Lok Adalat, the petitioners filed a review petition. The plaintiffs/respondents filed their objection to the review petition on 30.07.2016. The review petition was dismissed by the order dated 13.11.2018.

5. Learned counsel for the defendants/petitioners has submitted that the trial court passed the award dated 14.05.2016 assuming the powers of Lok Adalat which is against the provisions of Legal Services Authorities Act, 1987. He has submitted that as per Section 19, atleast two members are required to decide the compromise or settlement between the parties in Lok Adalat but in the present case, it has not been complied and the case has been decided by Additional Civil Judge (Senior Division), Gautam Buddh Nagar. He has further submitted that under Section 20 of the aforesaid act, one of the parties is required to make an application to the court to refer the matter to Lok Adalat for settlement and if the court is satisfied that there is chance of settlement between the parties, sends the matter to Lok Adalat. In the present case, the trial court without recording any satisfaction, decided the case acting as Lok Adalat. As per Section 20 of the Act aforesaid, the cases can only be referred to Lok Adalat after giving reasonable opportunity of hearing to the parties. In the present case, none of the parties made any application. As per Regulation 13 (6) of the National Legal Services Authority Regulation, 2009, Lok Adalat shall not determine reference at its own motion but only on the basis of settlement arrived at between the parties before it. As per Regulation 17 aforesaid, the award passed by Lok Adalat has to be verified by all the parties and the Lok Adalat is required to mention about the refund of court fees. If the counsels are not present, the members of Lok Adalat are required to identify the parties and before affixing their photographs are required to verify their signatures. It has been submitted that the award passed by the Lok Adalat is illegal and deserves to be set-aside. Learned counsel for the petitioner has relied upon the judgement of the Apex Court in the case of Estate Officer Vs. Colonel H.V. Mankotia (Retired), 2021 0 Supreme (SC) 597 in support of his arguments.

6. Sri A.K. Srivastava, learned counsel for the respondents has opposed the arguments advanced on behalf of the petitioner. He has submitted that the present petition is not maintainable in view of the judgement of the Apex Court in the case of P T Thomas Vs. Thomas Job, 2005 (10) JT 304, whereby the Apex Court has held that award of Lok Adalat is final and no appeal or writ petition under Article 226 of the Constitution of India lies against the same.

7. After hearing the rival submissions, this Court finds that before proceeding further with this case, a look at the relevant sections of The Legal Services Authorities Act, 1987 and relevant regulations of The National Legal Services Authority (Lok Adalat) Regulations, 2009, would be relevant for deciding present dispute and they are being quoted hereinbelow :-

The Legal Services Authorities Act, 1987 :-

19. Organization of Lok Adalats-- (1) Every State Authority or District Authority or the Supreme Court Legal Services Committee or every High Court Legal Services Committee or, as the case may be, Taluk Legal Services Committee may organise Lok Adalats at such intervals and places and for exercising such jurisdiction and for such areas as it thinks fit.

(2) Every Lok Adalat organised for an area shall consist of such number of

(a) serving or retired judicial officers; and

(b) other persons, of the area as may be specified by the State Authority or the District Authority or the Supreme Court Legal Services Committee or the High Court Legal Services Committee, or as the case may be, the Taluk Legal Services Committee, organising such Lok Adalats.

(3) The experience and qualifications of other persons referred to in clause (b) of sub-section (2) for Lok Adalats organised by the Supreme Court Legal Services Committee shall be such as may be preseribed by the Central Government in consultation with the Chief Justice of India. .

(4) The experience and qualifications of other persons referred to in clause (b) of sub-section (2) for Lok Adalats other than referred to in sub-section (3) shall be such as may be prescribed by the State Government in consultation with the Chief Justice of the High Court.

(5) A Lok Adalat shall have jurisdiction to determine and to arrive at a compromise or settlement between the parties to a dispute in respect of any case pending before; or

(ii) any matter which is falling within the jurisdiction of, and is not brought before, any court for which the Lok Adalat is organised.

Provided that the Lok Adalat shall have no jurisdiction in respect of any case or matter relating to an offence not compoundable under any law.

20. Cognizance of Cases by Lok Adalats-- (1) Where in any case referred to in clause (i) of sub-section (5) of Section 19- (i) (a) the parties thereof agree; or (i) (b) one of the parties thereof makes an application to the court, for referring the case to the Lok Adalat for settlement and if such court is prima facie satisfied that there are chances of such settlement; or

(ii) the court is satisfied that the matter is an appropriate one to be taken cognizance of by the Lok Adalat, the court shall refer the case to the Lok Adalat:

Provided that no case shall be referred to the Lok Adalat under sub-clause (b) of clause (i) or clause (ii) by such court except after giving a reasonable opportunity of being heard to the parties.

(2) Notwithstanding anything contained in any other law for the time being in force, the Authority or Committee organising the Lok Adalat under sub-section (1) of Section 19 may, on receipt of an application from any, one of the parties to any matter refeèrred to in clause (ti) of sub-section (5) of Section 19 that such matter needs to be determined by a Lok Adalat, refer such matter to the Lok Adalat, for determination:

Provided that no matter shall be referred to the Lok Adalat except after giving a reasonable opportunity of being heard to the other party.

(3) Where any case is referred to a Lok Adalat under sub-section (1) or where a reference has been made to it under sub-section (2), the Lok Adalat shall proceed to dispose of the case or matter and arrive at a compromise or settlement between the parties.

(4) Every Lok Adalat shall, while determining any reference before it under this Act, act with utmost expedition to arrive at a compromise or settlement between the parties and shall be guided by the principles of justice equity, fair play and other legal principles.

(5) Where no award is made by the Lok Adalat on the ground that no compromise or settlement could be arrived at between the parties, the record of the case shall be returned by it to the court, from which the reterence received under sub-section (1) for disposal in accordance with law.

(6) Where no award is made by the Lok Adalat on the ground that no compromise or settlement could be arrived at between the parties, in a matter referred to in sub-section (2), that Lok Adalat shall advice the parties to seek remedy in a court.

(7) Where the record of the case is returned under sub-section (5) to the court, such court shall proceed to deal with such case from the stage which was reached before such reference under sub-section (1).

The National Legal Services Authority (Lok Adalat) Regulations, 2009 :-

5. Notice to parties concerned :- The Member-Secretary of Secretary of the High Court Legal Services Committee or District Authority or, as the case may be, the Chairman of the Taluk Legal Services Committee convening and organizing the Lok Adalat shall inform every party concerned whose case is referred to the Adalat, well in time so as to afford him an opportunity to prepare himself for the Lok Adalat:

Provided that such notice may be dispensed with, if the Court while referring the case to the Lok Adalat fixes or informs the date and time of the Lok Adalat in the presence of the parties, or their advocates:

Provided further that if a party is not willing to refer their case to Lok Adalat, the case may be considered on its merits by the Court concerned.

6. (c) At District Level:- The Secretary of the District Authority organizing the Lok Adalats shall constitute benches of the Lok Adalats, each bench comprising of a sitting or retired judicial officer and any one or two of the following- (i) a member of the legal profession; (ii) a social worker belonging to the category as mentioned in item (ii) of sub-para (a) above or a person engaged in para-legal activities of the area, preferably a Woman; (iii) a professional from the field related to the subject matter of the Lok Adalat; and (iv) a mediator or a professional or a serving or retired senior executive.

(d) At Taluk Level:- The Chairman of the Taluk Legal Services Committee organizing the Lok Adalat shall constitute benches of the Lok Adalat, each bench comprising of a sitting or retired judicial officer and any one or two of the following:-

(i) a member of the legal profession;

(ii) a social worker belonging to the category as mentioned in item(ii) of sub-para (a) above or a person engaged in para-legal activities of the area, preferably a Woman,

(iii) a professional from the field related to the subject matter of the Lok Adalat; and

(iv) a mediator or a professional or a serving or retired senior executive.

7. Allotment of cases to Lok Adalats:- (1) The Member Secretary, the Secretary of the High Court Legal Services Committee, the District Authority or Chairman of the Taluk Legal Services Committee, as the case may be, shall assign specific cases to each bench of the Lok Adalat.

(2) The Member Secretary, the Secretary of the High Court Legal Services Committee or the District Authority or Chairman of the Taluk Legal Services Committee, as the case may be, may prepare a cause list for each bench of the Lok Adalat and intimate the same to all Concerned at least two days before the date of holding of the Lok Adalat. Every bench of the Lok Adalat shall make sincere efforts to bring about a conciliated settlement in every case put before it without bringing about any kind of coercion, threat, undue influence, allurement or misrepresentation.

8. Holding of Lok Adalats- Lok Adalats may be organised at such time and place and on such days, including holidays as the State Authority, High Court Legal Services Committee, District Authority, or the Taluk Legal Services Committee, as the casc may be, organising the Lok Adalat deems appropriate.

9. Jurisdiction of Lok Adalats.- Lok Adalats shall have the power only to help the parties to arrive at a compromise or settlement between the parties to a dispute and, while so doing, it shall not issue any direction or order in respect of such dispute between the parties.

10. Reference of cases and matters. -(1) Lok Adalat shall get jurisdiction to deal with a case only when a court of competent jurisdiction orders the case to be referred in the manner prescribed in Section 20 of the Act or under Section 89 of the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908 (5 of 1908).

(1A) A pre-litigation matter may be referred to the Lok Adalat by the concerned Legal Services Institution on the request of any of the parties after giving a reasonable opportunity of being heard to the other party.

(2) A mechanical reference of pending cases to Lok Adalat shall be avoided and the referring court shall, prima facie satisfy itself that there are chances of settlement of the case through Lok Adalat and the case is appropriate to be referred to Lok Adalat:

Provided that matters relating to divorce and criminal cases which are not compoundable under the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 (2 of 1974) shall not be referred to Lok Adalat.

(3) In a pending case where only one of the parties had made application to the court for referring the case to Lok Adalat, or where the court suo motu is satisfied that the case is appropriate to take cognizance by Lok Adalat, the case shall not be referred to the Lok Adalat except after giving a reasonable opportunity of being heard to the parties.

(4) The need based continuous Lok Adalats may be constituted in order to facilitate regular reference and timely disposal of cases.

12. Pre-Litigation matters. - (1) In a Pre-litigation matter it may be ensured that the court for which a Lok Adalat is organised has territorial jurisdiction to adjudicate in the matter.

(2) Before referring a Pre-litigation matter to Lok Adalat the Authority concerned or Committee, as the case may be, shall give a reasonable hearing to the parties concerned.

Provided that the version of each party, shall be obtained by the Authority concerned or, as the case may be, the Committee for placing it before the Lok Adalat,

(3) An award based on settlement between the parties can be challenged only on violation of procedure prescribed in section 20 of the Act by filing a petition under articles 226 and 227 of the Constitütion of India.

13. Procedure in Lok Adalats.- (1) Members of Lok Adalat have the role of statutory conciliators only and have no judicial role and they, mutatis mutandis, may follow the procedure laid down in sections 67 to 76 of the Arbitration and Conciliation Act, 1996 (26 of 1996).

(2) Members of Lok Adalat shall not pressurise or coerce any of the parties, to compromise or settle cases or matters, either directly or indirectly.

(3) In a Lok Adalat the members shall discuss the subject matter with the parties for arriving at a just settlement or compromise and such members of the Lok Adalat shall assist the parties in an independent and impartial manner in their attempt to reach amicable settlement of their dispute:

Provided that if it found necessary the assistance of an independent person or a trained mediator may also be availed of the by Lok Adalat.

(4) Members of Lok Adalat shall be guided by principles of natural justice, equity, fairplay, objectivity, giving consideration to, among other things, the rights and obligations of the parties, custom and usages and the circumstances surrounding the dispute.

(5) The Lok Adalat may conduct the proceedings in such a manner as it considers appropriate taking into account the circumstances of the case, wishes of the parties including any request by a party to the Lok Adalat to hear oral statements, and the need for a speedy settlement of the dispute.

(6) The Lok Adalat shall not determine a reference, at its own instance, but shall determine only on the basis of a compromise or settlement between the parties by making an award in terms of the compromise or settlement arrived at:

Provided that no Lok Adalat has the power to hear the parties to adjudicate their dispute as a regular court:

Provided further that the aware of the Lok Adalat is neither a verdict nor an opinion arrived at by any decision making process.

16. Communication between Lok Adalat and parties. - (1) A Lok Adalat may invite the parties to nmeet it or may communicate with it oraly or in writing and it may meet or communicate with the parties together or with each of them separately. The factual information concerning the dispute received from a party may be disclosed to the other party in order that the other party may have the opportunity to present any explanation:

Provided that the Lok Adalat shall not disclose any information, if one of the party desires to keep it confidential.

(2) Each party may on his own initiative or at the invitation of the Lok Adalat, submit suggestions for settlement of the dispute.

(3) When it appears to the Lok Adalat that there exists elements of a settlement which may be acceptable to the parties, the terms of a possible settlement may be formulated by the Lok Adalat and given to the parties for their observations and modifications, if any, suggested by the parties can be taken into consideration and terms of a possible settlement nmay be re-formulated by the Lok Adalat.

(4) If the parties reach a compromise or settlement of the dispute, the Lok Adalat may draw up or assist the parties in drawing up the compromise or settlement.

17. Award - (1) Drawing up of the award is merely an administrative act by incorporating the terms of settlement or compromise agreed by parties under the guidance and assistance from Lok Adalat.

(2) When both parties sign or affix their thumb impression and the members of the Lok Adalat countersign it, it becomes an award. (see a specimen at Appendix-1) Every award of the Lok Adalat shall be categorical and lucid and shall be written in regional language used in the local courts or in English. It shall also contain particulars of the case viz., case number, name of court and names of parties, date of receipt, register number assigned to the case in the permanent Register (maintained as provided under Regulation- 20) and date of settlement. Wherever the parties are represented by counsel, they should also be required to sign the settlement or award before the members of the Lok Adalat affix their signature.

(3) In cases referred to Lok Adalat from a court, it shall be mentioned in the award that the plaintiff or petitioner is entitled to refund of the court fees remitted.

(4) Where the parties are not accompanied or represented by counsel, the members of the Lok Adalat shall also verify the identity of parties, before recording the settlement.

(5) Member of the Lok Adalat shall ensure that the parties affix their signatures only after fully understanding the terms of settlement arrived at and recorded. The members of the Lok Adalat shall also satisfy themselves about the following before affixing their signatures: that the terms of settlement are not unreasonable or illegal or one-Sided; and (a) that the parties have entered into the settlement voluntarily and not on account of (b) any threat, coercion or undue influence.

(6) Members of the Lok Adalat should affix their signatures only in settlement reached before them and should avoid affixing signatures to settlement reached by the parties outside the Lok Adalat with the assistance of some third parties, to ensure that the Lok Adalats are not used by unscrupulous parties to commit fraud, forgery, etc.

(7) Lok Adalat shall not grant any bail or a divorce by mutual consent.

(8) The original award shall form part of the judicial records (in pre-litigation matter, the original award may be kept with the Legal Services Authority or committee, concerned) and a copy of the award shall be given to each of the parties duly certifying them to be true by the officer designated by the Member-Secretary or Secretary of the High Court Legal Services Committee or District Legal Services Authority or, as the case may be- the Chairman of Taluk Legal Services Committees free of cost and the official seal of the Authority concerned or Committee shall be affixed on all awards.

8. From the perusal of the aforesaid sections of the Legal Services Authorities Act, 1987, (hereinafter referred to as "Act of 1987') and the National Legal Services Authority (Lok Adalat) Regulations, 2009, (hereinafter referred to as "Regulations of 2009'), it is clear that as per Section 19 of the Act of 1987, every Lok Adalat is to consist of two members as stated in Section 19 (2) (a) (b) of the Act. As per Section 19 (5), a Lok Adalat shall have jurisdiction to determine and to arrive at a compromise or a settlement between the parties to a dispute. As per Section 20 (1), a case can be referred to the Lok Adalat only if one of the parties to the dispute makes an application to the Court, for referring the same or if the Court is satisfied that the matter is an appropriate one to be taken cognizance by the Lok Adalat, the court can refer the same to the Lok Adalat. However, the proviso to Section 20 (1) is very clear that no case shall be referred to Lok Adalat without the consent of the parties or on the direction of the Court except after giving a reasonable opportunity of hearing. The certified copy of the order sheet of the Original Suit No. 1323 of 2011 which is on record shows that on 20.02.2016, the disputed compromise was filed before the trial court. On 23.02.2016, the trial court framed 7 issues for adjudication in the suit and decided only issue no. 3 on the same date. The case was directed to be listed on 28.03.2016. On 28.03.2016, issue no. 4, regarding insufficiency of court fees was decided by the trial court and one line was added in the order directing the case to be listed on 14.05.2016 before the Lok Adalat for disposal of the compromise between the parties. On 14.05.2016, by a nine line order, the Additional Civil Judge (Senior Division), Gautam Buddh Nagar, recorded the finding that the parties are present. The case is decided in terms of the compromise paper no. 61 Ka.1/1, 61 Ka.1/1/2, 61 Ka.1/2 and the compromise was directed to be made part of the decree. The first line of the order records that the record of the case has been put up before the Lok Adalat. This Court does not finds signature of either of the parties or their counsel on the order sheet of the Court dated 28.03.2016 and 14.05.2016 which shows that the orders were passed behind the back of the parties and their counsels.

9. Regulation 5 of Regulations of 2009 clearly provides that the Member Secretary of the Lok Adalat shall inform every party concerned, whose case is referred to Lok Adalat, well in time, so as to afford him an opportunity to prepare himself for the Lok Adalat. The only explanation is proviso 1 to Regulation 5 which provides that notice may be dispensed with, if the Court while referring the case to Lok Adalat fixes or informs the date and time of the Lok Adalat in the presence of the parties, or their advocates. In the present case as discussed above, neither the parties nor their counsels were present before the Lok Adalat on 14.05.2016 when the trial court passed the order of referring the case to Lok Adalat.

10. Regulation 6 of Regulations of 2009 reiterates that the Benches of Lok Adalat would comprise of two members as mentioned in Section 19 (2) of the Act of 1987. In the present case, only the Additional Civil Judge (Senior Division), Gautam Buddh Nagar, has signed the award dated 14.05.2016 which cannot be considered to be in accordance with Section 19 (2) and Regulation 6 (c) of Regulations of 2009.

11. Regulation 7 of Regulations of 2009 provides that the Member Secretary shall assign specific cases to each bench of the Lok Adalat. In the present case, the order of assignment of the case to the same bench which referred the matter to the Lok Adalat has not been explained by the counsel for the respondents.

12. Regulation 9 of Regulations of 2009 provides that Lok Adalats shall have the power only to help the parties to arrive at a compromise or settlement and as per Section 10 of Regulations of 2009, a mechanical reference of pending cases to Lok Adalat is to be avoided and the referring court shall, prima facie, satisfy itself that there are chances of settlement of the case through Lok Adalat and the case is appropriate to be referred to Lok Adalat. No such compliance is evident from the material on record and the order sheet of the court below.

13. Regulation 10 (3) provides that the Court will not refer any case to Lok Adalat except after giving reasonable opportunity of being heard to the parties. In this case, no such opportunity was granted as discussed above.

14. In the present case, it is clear that on 28.03.2016, the issue no. 3 framed in the suit was decided and the case was directed to be listed before Lok Adalat on 14.05.2016. Therefore, there is blatant violation of Regulation 9, Regulation 10(2) and (3) of Regulations of 2009 by the trial court in referring the dispute to the Lok Adalat. As per Regulation 12 (3) of Regulations of 2009, there is clear provision that an award based on settlement between the parties can be challenged only on violation of procedure prescribed in Section 20 of the Act of 1987 by filing a petition under Article 226 and 227 of the Constitution of India. Hence, there cannot be any dispute that this petition under Article 227 of the Constitution of India is maintainable before this Court in view of Regulation 12 (3) of Regulations of 2009. The argument to the contrary raised by the learned counsel for the respondent relying upon the judgment of the Apex court in the case of P.T. Thomas (supra), is of no avail since the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the aforesaid case did not considered the regulations laid down in the Regulations of 2009 and particularly Regulation 12 (3).

15. Regulation 13 (3) of Regulations of 2009 provides that the members of the Lok Adalat shall discuss the subject matter with the parties for arriving at a just settlement or compromise and they shall assist the parties in an independent and impartial manner in their attempt to reach amicable settlement of their dispute. In the present case, no settlement or compromise was arrived at before the Lok Adalat. The compromise dated 20.02.2020 was filed earlier and the court/Lok Adalat simply directed that the suit stands decided in terms of the aforesaid compromise.

16. No compromise with the assistance of the members of the Lok Adalat was arrived at all before the Lok Adalat.

17. Regulation 13 (6) clearly bars the Lok Adalat from determining a reference at its own instance and it has been directed to determine the same only on the basis of compromise or settlement between the parties by making an award in terms of the compromise or settlement arrived at.

18. Regulation 17 of Regulations of 2009 provides that drawing up of the award is merely an administrative act by incorporating the terms of settlement or compromise agreed by the parties under the guidance and assistance of the Lok Adalat. As per sub-clause (2) to Regulation 17 of Regulations of 2009, only when both the parties signed or affixed their thumb impression and the members of Lok Adalat countersigned it, it becomes an award as per specimen at Appendix- I of the regulations, which is quoted below :-

19. The sub-clause (3) of Regulation 17 of Regulations of 2009 provides that in cases referred to Lok Adalat from a court, it shall be mentioned in the award that the plaintiff/petitioner is entitled to refund of the court fees remitted. Sub-clause (4) further provides that where the parties are not accompanied or represented by their counsels, the members of Lok Adalat shall also verify and identify the parties.

20. In the present case, it is clear that no award has been drawn, as per Appendix-I. No order of refund of court fees has been passed nor the signatures of the parties has been verified by the members of Lok Adalat before recording the compromise or settlement between the parties. The members of the Lok Adalat were required to ensure that the parties affixed their signatures only after fully understanding the terms of settlement arrived at as per sub-clause (5) of Regulation 17 of Regulations of 2009 and the settlement is not unreasonable, illegal nor one-sided and the parties have entered into settlement voluntarily and not on account of any threat, coercion or undue influence. The Members of Lok Adalat have been cautioned under Regulation 17 (6) to ensure that Lok Adalats are not used by unscrupulous parties to commit fraud, forgery, etc.

21. From the above consideration, it is clear that the impugned award was passed in gross violation of the provisions of the Act of 1987 and the Regulations of 2009 by a single member in the purported capacity of Lok Adalat. The petition under Article 227 of the Constitution of India is hence maintainable in view of Regulation 12 (3) of Regulations of 2009 since there is gross violation of procedure prescribed under Section 20 of the Act of 1987 and also the regulations framed in exercise of powers conferred by Section 29 of the Legal Services Authorities Act, 1987, duly notified vide notification F.No.L/28/09/NALSA.

22. In view of the above, the impugned award dated 14.05.2016 passed by the Additional Chief Judicial Magistrate/Additional Civil Judge (Senior Division), Gautam Buddh Nagar, in Original Suit No. 1323 of 2011, M/S S.G. Rockbuild Pvt. Ltd. Vs. Pradeep Kumar and others, is hereby quashed along with order dated 13.11.2018 passed by the same court on the Review Petition No. 04 of 2016 in Original Suit No. 1323 of 2011, M/S S.G. Rockbuild Pvt. Ltd. Vs. Pradeep Kumar and others.

23. The petition is accordingly, allowed.

24. The record of the suit shall be placed before the competent court for decision in accordance with law after giving adequate opportunity of hearing to the parties. The record shall be placed before the court concerned on 26.04.2022. Both the parties are represented before this Court through their counsels and hence, they will appear before the trial court personally or through their counsels on the next date fixed.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Siddharth, J.)

1. Heard Sri Vidhu Prakash Pandey, learned counsel for the petitioner and Sri Anurag Khanna, learned Senior Advocate assisted by Sri Rohan Gupta, learned counsels for the respondent.

2. This petition under Article 227 of the Constitution of India has been filed challenging the order dated 18.08.2021 passed by Presiding Officer, Commercial Court, Gautam Budh Nagar, in Misc. Application No. 6 of 2020 in Arbitration Application No. 26 of 2019, Jai Prakash Associates Ltd. Vs. Hasmukh Prajapati, preferred u/s 34 of Arbitration and Conciliation Act, 1996 (arising out of award dated 16.02.2019 passed by the Arbitral Tribunal (Sole Arbitrator), New Delhi, in Arbitration No. 15 of 2018, Hasmukh Prajapati Vs. Jai Prakash Associates Ltd.) partly allowing the claim of the petitioner.

3. The brief facts of the case are as follows :-

(i) The petitioner booked an Apartment No.0301 in Kalypso Court, Tower No. l, Jaypee Greens Noida, admeasuring 315.12Sq. mtrs, in terms of the Concession Agreement, executed between Yamuna Expressway Industrial Development Authority and Jaypee Industries Limited, for the project of Yamuna Expressway Industrial Development Authority and as per the standard terms and conditions of the allotment of the apartment at Jaypee

Greens, respondent was under obligation to hand over the possession of constructed apartment to the allottee maximum within 36 months and additional grace period of 90 days from the date of its allotment.

(ii) The petitioner deposited Rs.18,48,000/- on 17.11.2007 on account of advance, against booking of said apartment which has been allotted in favour of petitioner vide provisional allotment letter dated 11.02.2008 for a total consideration of Rs. 1,96,02,400/-, subjcet to standard terms and conditions and the provisional allotment letter dated 11.02.2008 has been partially modified. Accordingly, the details of consideration has been revised from Rs.1,96,02,400/- to Rs.1,75,22,560/- and converted from "InstalIments Linked Plan" to "Down Payment Plan".

(iii) As per the payment plan, the petitioner has deposited balance of full Down Payment amount of Rs. 1,38,27,527/- through Demand Draft, issued by GE Money Housing Finance Co. on 27.08.2008 and balance payment of Rs.2,99,360/- was made on 09.09.2008 for booking against unit Ref. No.K0010301 in Kalypso Court-1, Jaypec Greens, Noida but even after expiry of 36 months, the permissible time for handing over possession of fully constructed/ ready apartment, even after passing of 4 years, the possession of apartment, allotted to the petitioner, has not been handed over rather illegal demand notices have been sent by the respondent.

(iv) Vide letter dated 18.07.2014, the petitioner has been informed about delivery of possession of apartment, subject to NGT clearance and due to the said reason, the apartment was not ready for delivery to its allottee. NGT has restrained Noida to issue completion certificate and the said condition finds mention in the letter dated 18.07.2014 itself.

(v) As on 14.04.2015, the petitioner's dues became Rs. 3,79,939.53 but still flat was not constructed.

(vi) Vide order dated 02.06.2015, the petitioner has been informed through partially modified allotment letter demanding additional car parking charges of Rs. 5,00,000/- but the petitioner visited the office and came to know that a huge interest has also been imposed on him.

(vii) For waiver of interest on unpaid amount and delivery of possession of apartment no. KLP 0301, the petitioner moved several applications before respondent but it neither delivered possession nor waived the interest on unpaid amount and ultimately, the petitioner has received the offer of possession of apartment vide a letter on 20.12.2015.

(viii) Petitioner has received letter for the possession of apartment vide letter dated 21.04.2016 and after the gap of more than nine years, respondents have handed over the possession of the apartment, booked by the petitioner on 08.06.2007 for which, the petitioner has taken housing loan in the year 2008 from N.B.F.C. and paying the interest at the rate of 13% from 2008 and the respondent has enjoyed the money deposited by the petitioner for more than nine years without any cogent and justifiable reason.

(ix) Petitioner preferred Arbitration Application No.8 of 2017, "Hasmukh Prajapati Vs. Jai Prakash Associates Ltd" in which, respondent filed counter affidavit, wherein it has been admitted that in case of any dispute, arising between the parties, the place of the arbitration will be at "New Delhi", therefore all the proceedings, arising out of the arbitration proceedings, shall be maintainable at New Delhi.

(x) This Court vide order dated 01.02.2018 appointed Hon'ble Mr. Justice Sunil Ambwani (Retd.), Office B-27 (FF) Defence Colony, New Delhi, as arbitrator and the petitioner filed his claim before sole arbitrator, having its seat at New Delhi which was registered as Arbitration Case No. 15 of 2018, Hasmukh Prajapati Vs. Jai Prakash Associates Ltd. The Tribunal, having its venue at New Delhi, was pleased to pass an award dated 16.02.2019 and partly allowed the claim of the petitioner as claimed through the Arbitration Case No.15 of 2018.

(xi) Assailing the arbitral award dated 16.02.2019, passed by Arbitral Tribunal comprising of Hon'ble Mr. Justice Sunil Ambwani, delivered at New Delhi, the respondent preferred an Arbitration Application No.26 of 2019 (Jai Prakash Associates Ltd. Vs. Hasmukh Prajapati) under Section 34 of Arbitration and Conciliation Act, before Distriet Judge, Gautam Budh Nagar in which, exceeding its jurisdiction, the court of District Judge, Gautam Budh Nagar, proceeded with the case and issued notice to the petitioner.

(xii) Questioning the legality and validity of the arbitration proceedings under Section 34 of the Act, before the District Judge, Gautam Budh Nagar, the petitioner filed a Writ-C No.33003 of 2019, Hasmukh Prajapati Vs. Jai Prakash Associates, before this Court. This Court has directed the petitioner to raise the objection, regarding the jurisdiction of the Court to adjudicate the issue raised under Section 34 of the Act, before the learned court below itself vide its order dated 17.10.2019.

(xiii) In compliance to the order dated 17.10.2019 of this Court, the petitioner moved an application being Paper No.16Ga along with affidavit (17Ga) in Arbitration Application No. 26 of 2019 (Jai Prakash Associates Vs. Hasmukh Prajapati) which has been rejected by the Commercial Court, Gautam Budh Nagar, by passing the impugned order dated 18.08.2021 (Annexure No. 9 to the petition). Hence, the petitioner has approached this Court against the same through the present petition.

4. The order dated 18.08.2021 passed by the Commercial Court, Gautam Budh Nagar, has been assailed in the present petition before this Court.

5. The issue to be decided by this Court is whether the Commercial Court at Gautam Budh Nagar has jurisdiction to hear the case u/s 34 of the Arbitration and Conciliation Act, 1996 regarding the arbitral award dated 16.02.2019 passed by sole arbitrator, having its venue at New Delhi, which has been specified in the arbitration agreement, but not the seat of the arbitration. The other issues are regarding the application of provision of Section 42 of the Act aforesaid to the execution of final award after conclusion of arbitration proceedings in terms of Section 32 of the Act and whether execution application for enforcement of arbitral award passed at New Delhi can be filed at Gautam Budh Nagar which has no supervisory jurisdiction over the Arbitral Tribunal.

6. Learned counsel for the petitioner has submitted that from the perusal of the arbitral award dated 16.02.2019, it is quite evident that "Venue of Arbitration" proceedings has been chosen to be at "New Delhi" by both the parties and the arbitration clause does not specifies the "Seat of Arbitration". Thus, in the absence of the specified "Seat of Arbitration" in arbitral agreement, the venue of arbitration will be the juridical seat of arbitration proceedings and as such, the impugned proceedings under Section 34 of the Arbitration and Conciliation Act, challenging the arbitral award dated 16.10.2019, is not maintainable in District-Gautam Budh Nagar, rather it is maintainable in the court at Delhi having supervisory jurisdiction over the Arbitral Tribunal. The impugned order dated 18.08.2021 and the proceedings under Section 34 are wholly illegal and untenable and the same are liable to be set aside by this Court holding the same to be without jurisdiction. In support of the aforesaid submissions/arguments, the petitioner has relied upon the judgment of the Hon'ble Supreme Court reported as 2019 0 Supreme (SC) 1350, BGS SGS SOMA JV Versus NHPC Ltd. The relevant paragraph nos. 98, 99 and 100 relied upon are as follows :-

98. We have extracted the arbitration agreement in the present case (as contained in Clause 67.3 of the agreement between the parties) in paragraph 3 of this judgment. As per the arbitration agreement, in case a dispute was to arise with a foreign contractor, clause 67.3(ii) would apply. Under this sub-clause, a dispute which would amount to an 'international commercial arbitration within the meaning of Section 2(1)(f) of the Arbitration Act, 1990, would have to be finally settled in accordance with the Arbitration Act, 1990 read with the UNCITRAL Arbitration Rules, and in case of any conflict, the Arbitration Act, 1996, is to prevail (as an award made under Part I is considered a domestic award under Section 2(7) of the Arbitration Act, 1996, notwithstanding the fact that it is an award made in an international commercial arbitration). Applying the Shashoua principle delineated above, it is clear that if the dispute was with a foreign contractor under Clause 67.3 of the agreement, the fact that arbitration proceedings shall be held at New Delhi/Faridabad, India in sub-clause (vi) of Clause 67.3, would amount to the designation of either of these places as the "seat" of arbitration, as a supranational body of law is to be applied, namely, the UNCITRAL Arbitration Rules, in conjunction with the Arbitration Act, 1996. As such arbitration would be an international commercial arbitration which would be decided in India, the Arbitration Act,1996, is to apply as well. There being no other contra indication in such a situation, either New Delhi or Faridabad, India is the designated "seat" under the agreement, and it is thereafter for the parties to choose as to in which of the two places the arbitration is finally to be held.

99. Given the fact that if there were a dispute between NHPC Ltd. and a foreign contractor, clause 67.3(vi) would have to be read as a clause designating the "seat of arbitration, the same must follow even when sub-clause (vi) is to be read with sub-clause (i) of Clause 67.3, where the dispute between NHPC Ltd. would be with an Indian Contractor. The arbitration clause in the present case states that "Arbitration Proceedings shall be held at New Delhi/Faridabad, India...", thereby signifying that all the hearings, including the making of the award, are to take place at one of the stated places. Negatively speaking, the clause does not state that the venue is so that some, or all, of the hearings take place at the venue; neither does it use language such as "the Tribunal may meet", or "may hear witnesses, experts or parties". The expression "shall be held" also indicates that the so-called "venue" is really the "seat" of the arbitral proceedings. The dispute is to be settled in accordance with the Arbitration Act, 1996 which, therefore, applies a national body of rules to the arbitration that is to be held either at New Delhi or Faridabad, given the fact that the present arbitration would be Indian and not international. It is clear, therefore, that even in such a scenario, New Delhi/Faridabad, India has been designated as the "seat" of the arbitration proceedings.

100. However, the fact that in all the three appeals before us the proceedings were finally held at New Delhi, and the awards were signed in New Delhi, and not at Faridabad, would lead to the conclusion that both parties have chosen New Delhi as the "seat" of arbitration under Section 20(1) of the Arbitration Act, 1996. This being the case, both parties have, therefore, chosen that the Courts at New Delhi alone would have exclusive jurisdiction over the arbitral proceedings. Therefore, the fact that a part of the cause of action may have arisen at Faridabad would not be relevant once the "seat" has been chosen, which would then amount to an exclusive jurisdiction clause so far as Courts or the "seat" are concerned.

7. He has next submitted that in the matter of BGS SGS SOMA JV Versus NHPC Ltd. (supra), it has been held by the Hon'ble Supreme Court that if both the parties have chosen the seat of arbitration at New Delhi, court of Delhi, will have the exclusive jurisdiction to entertain and hear the dispute under Section 34 of the Act. It has been held by the Hon'ble Supreme Court that once the "Seat" has been chosen, it would then amount to an exclusive jurisdiction clause so far as Court of the Seat is concerned.

8. He has next submitted that in the case in hand, no seat of arbitration was specified, moreover, the parties agreed about venue of arbitration to be at New Delhi and accordingly, the arbitral proceedings took place at New Delhi and award has been passed and signed at New Delhi. In BGS SGS SOMA JV Versus NHPC Ltd. (supra), the Hon'ble Supreme Court has dealt with several judgments including Roger Shashoua V. Mukesh Sharma & Ors., (2017) 14 SCC 722 in which it has been held that if the "Venue of Arbitration" is designated without specifying the "Seat of Arbitration" in the arbitration agreement, the stated "Venue'" is the "Juridical Seat of Arbitration". Thus the application under Section 34 is maintainable at New Delhi and the court at Gautam Buddh Nagar, U.P., India, has got no jurisdiction to entertain the case under Section 34 of the Arbitration and Conciliation Act, 1996.

9. He has also submitted that the provisions of Section 42 of Arbitration and Conciliation Act provides that any application with respect to an arbitration agreement can be made to that court alone which has supervisory jurisdiction over the Arbitral Tribunal and in no other court. The language of the aforesaid provision is self explanatory that it is applicable till the finalization of the arbitral proceedings and after termination of the arbitral proceedings i.e., after pronouncement of the final award by the Arbitral Tribunal, in terms of Section 32 of the Arbitration and Conciliation Act, the arbitral proceedings stands terminated.

10. He has further submitted that Section 36 of the Arbitration and Conciliation Act provides that the arbitral award shall be enforced under the relevant provisions of the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, in the same manner as if it were a decree of the court and in the present case after the pronouncement of the arbitral award, the arbitration proceedings stands terminated and hence, the provisions of Section 42 of Arbitration Act are not affected, thus, the application for execution can be filed before any court where the said decree/award can be executed. Thus, filing of execution proceedings in the Court at District- Gautam Budh Nagar is not tenable in the eyes of law. In support of the arguments advanced in support of other issues raised, the petitioner has relied upon the judgment of Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Sundaram Finance Limited V. Abdul Samad and another, (2018) 3 SCC 622 (Relevant paragraph nos. 17, 19 and 20). The relevant paragraph nos. 17, 19 and 20 of the aforesaid judgement are as follows :-

17. However, what has been lost sight of is Section 32 of the said Act, which reads as under:

32. Termination of proceedings- (1) The arbitral proceedings shall be terminated by the final arbitral award or by an order of the Arbitral Tribunal under sub-section (2).

(2) The Arbitral Tribunal shall issue an order for the termination of the arbitral proceedings where- (a) the claimant withdraws his claim, unless the respondent objects to b the order and the Arbiral Tribunal recognises a legitimate interest on his part in obtaining a final settlement of the dispute;

(b) the parties agree on the termination of the proceedings; or (c) the Arbitral Tribunal finds that the continuation of the proceedings has for any other reason become unnecessary or impossible.

(3) Subject to Section 33 and sub-section (4) of Section 34, the mandate of the Arbitral Tribunal shall terminate with the termination of the arbitral proceedings."

The aforesaid provision provides for arbitral proceedings to be terminated by the final arbitral award. Thus, when an award is already made, of which execution is sought, the arbitral proceedings already stand terminated on the making of the final award. Thus, it is not appreciated how Section 42 of the said Act, which deals with the jurisdiction issue in respect of arbitral proceedings, would have any relevance. It does appear that the provisions of the said Code and the said Act have been mixed up.

19. The Madras High Court in Kotak Mahindra Bank Ltd. v. Sivakama Sundaris referred to Section 46 of the said Code, which spoke of precepts but stopped at that. In the context of the Code, thus, the view adopted is that the decree of a civil court is liable to be executed primarily by the court, which passes the decree where an execution application has to be filed at the first instance. An award under Section 36 of the said Act, is equated to a decree of the court for the purposes of execution and only for that purpose. Thus, it was rightly observed that while an award passed by the Arbitral Tribunal is deemed to be a decree under Section 36 of the said Act, there was no deeming fiction anywhere to hold that the court within whose jurisdiction the arbitral award was passed should be taken to be the court, which passed the decree. The said Act actually transcends all territorial barriers.

20. We are, thus, unhesitatingly of the view that the enforcement of an award through its execution can be filed anywhere in the country where such a decree can be executed and there is no requirement for obtaining a transfer of the decree from the court, which would have jurisdiction over the arbitral proceedings.

11. Learned counsel for the petitioner has submitted that the "venue" and "place of arbitration" can not be used interchangeably. In the case in hand the "Seat of Arbitration" has not been designated, only "Venue of Arbitration" has been agreed by the parties in the arbitration agreement and entire arbitral proceedings took place at the said venue. Thus, no question of interchange arises and paragraphs 20 and 21 of the judgment relied upon by the counsel for respondent in the case of Mankastu Impex Private Limited Vs. Air Visual Limited, (2020) 5 SCC 399 has no relevance to the facts of the case. It is not applicable at all.

12. Learned Senior Counsel for the respondent has submitted that the Clause 10.6 of the standard terms and conditions of allotment/ provisional allotment provided as under :

"Governing Law and Jurisdiction: the allotment/provisional allotment shall be governed and interpreted by and construed in accordance with the laws of India, without giving effect, if applicable, to the principles of conflict of laws, thereof or thereunder and subject to the provisions of Clause 10.9 hereof, the Courts of Gautam Budh Nagar, U.P., India, shall have jurisdiction over all matters arising out of or relating to this allotment/provisional allotment."

13. He has further submitted that further Clause 10.9 of the standard terms and conditions of allotment/provisional allotment states as under : "Dispute Resolution: Any and all disputes arising out of or in connection with or in relation hereto shall so far as possible, in the first instance, be amicably settled between the Company and the Applicant. In the event of disputes, claim and/or differences not being amicably resolved such disputes shall be referred to sole arbitration of a person not below the rank of General Manager nominated for the purpose of Chairman of the Company. The proceedings of the Arbiration shall be conducted in accordance with the provisions of the Arbitration & Conciliation act, 1996, as amended from time to time, or any reules made thereunder. The applicant hereby gives his consent to the appointment of the sole arbitator as specified herein above and waives any objections that he may have to such appointment or to the award that may be given by the Arbitrator. The venue of the arbitration shall be New Delhi, India."

14. He has next submitted that in the case of Mankastu Impex Private Limited vs. Airvisual Limited, (2020) 5 SCC 399 at Para 20 it has been held by a three Judge Bench of the Hon'ble Apex Court that : "It is well settled that "seat of arbitration" and "venue of arbitration" cannot be used interchangeably. It has also been established that mere expression "place of arbitration" cannot be the basis to determine the intention of the parties that they have intended that place as the "seat" of arbitration. The intention of the parties as to the "seat" should be determined from other clauses in the agreement and the conduct of the parties." Therefore, it is amply clear that seat and venue of arbitration cannot be used interchangeably and venue merely refers to a convenient location selected by the parties to carry out the arbitration proceedings. Furthermore, the "seat' of arbitration should be determined from other clauses in the agreement and the conduct of the parties.

15. He has also submitted that while Clause 10.6 categorically provides that the governing law and jurisdiction would be at Gautam Budh Nagar, the words "subject to provisions of clause 10.9' have been used only to pave the way for the agreement to provide for the venue of arbitration proceedings at New Delhi which was a convenient location to carry out the arbitration proceedings. It may be noted that in case, the words in Clause 10.6 - subject to provisions of Clause 10.9' were interpreted to mean that the 'seat' of arbitration would remain at New Delhi, Clause 10.6, would be rendered completely nugatory and contradictory, since in that event, the courts at Gautam Budh Nagar could never have any jurisdiction. Therefore, in the present case, Clause 10.6 of the standard terms and conditions confers exclusive jurisdiction to the courts of Gautam Budh Nagar, U.P., and venue of arbitration which in the present case is New Delhi, which was merely a convenient location to carry out the arbitration proceedings. In the present case, the petitioner has himself submitted to the jurisdiction of the Courts in Uttar Pradesh, at the very first instance, since he had preferred an application under Section 11 before this Hon'ble Court, pursuant to which the arbitrator was appointed. Execution proceedings have also been filed by the respondent before the Commercial Court, Gautam Budh Nagar. Therefore, the petitioner was always clear that the jurisdiction was at Gautam Budh Nagar and not at New Delhi. Furthermore, in case the argument of the petitioner is accepted and New Delhi is held to be the 'seat' of arbitration, it would render the reference order passed by this Hon'ble Court under Section 11, without jurisdiction, rendering the award itself a nullity. Alternatively, even if it was assumed that New Delhi and Gautam Buddha Nagar had concurrent jurisdiction, under Section 42 of the Act, 1996, the Courts at New Delhi would have no jurisdiction to entertain any subsequent applications, since the very first application under Section 11 had been filed before this Hon'ble Court. Therefore, Commercial Court at Gautam Budh Nagar has Jurisdiction to entertain the application under Section 34, preferred by the respondent. Hence, the petition lacks merit and is liable to be dismissed.

16. This petition first of all involves resolution of a controversy that has gained considerable importance in arbitration proceedings regarding the "Venue-Seat" issue.

17. The juridical seat of arbitration, as a concept, did not find a place in the Arbitration Act of 1940. Significant importance was afforded to the juridical seat of arbitration under the Arbitration and Conciliation Act, 1996. However, the jurisdiction of the courts over such arbitral proceedings remained with the court exercising original jurisdiction as per Section 2(1)(e) of the 1996 Act. While Section 20 of the 1996 Act granted parties the autonomy to choose the "place' of arbitration. It did so in an ambiguous manner without distinguishing between "seat' and "venue'. Addressing the ambiguity, 246th Law Commission Report had suggested replacing the words "place' for "seat' or "venue.' However, these amendments were not enacted. As a result, the conflict between the juridical seat and jurisdiction of the court persisted along with the confusion pertaining to the distinction between "seat' and "venue'.

18. It is notable that the act does not defines the term "seat" or "venue". Section 20 of the Act merely defines the "place of arbitration" which is often used interchangeably with the terms "seat" and "venue". This use of the terms "seat" and "venue" interchangeably often leads to controversy which has been resolved at number of times by the Hon'ble Supreme Court but it keeps on arising in different factual sittings of different cases and becomes subject matter of decisions by the courts repeatedly.

19. The term "seat" is of utmost importance as it connotes the situs of arbitration. The term "venue" is often confused with the term "seat" but it is more a place often chosen as convenient location by the parties to carry out arbitration proceedings but should not be confused with "seat". The term "seat" carries more weight than "venue" or "place".

20. In 2009, the English judgment of Shashoua (2009) EWHC 957 held that the seat of arbitration is to have an exclusive jurisdiction over all proceedings that arise out of the arbitration. It laid the significant contrary indicia test as per which a place of arbitration is a stipulation that such place shall be the seat of the arbitration and consequently determine the lex fori in the absence of any significant contrary indicia. The position was further confirmed by the Division Bench of Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Roger Shashoua & Ors v Mukesh Sharma & Ors (supra).

21. The Bharat Aluminium Co v. Kaiser Aluminium Technical Services Inc, (2012) 9 SCC 552 judgment, rendered by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in 2012, relied on the principle laid in Shashoua and acknowledged that the terms "seat' and "place' can be used interchangeably. It held while laying the principle of "concurrent jurisdiction' in paragraph 96 of the judgment that two courts can have jurisdiction over arbitration applications viz. (i) courts possessing the subject-matter/cause of action jurisdiction and (ii) courts where the place/seat of arbitration was designated. However, the principle of concurrent jurisdiction was not intended to replace the principle of "significant contrary indicia.' The existence of multiple venues was only perceived to be a matter of convenience.

22. The Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of BALCO (supra) clarified the legal position in paragraph no. 96 as under:

Section 2(1)(e) of the Arbitration Act, 1996 reads as under:

"2. Definitions (1) In this Part, unless the context otherwise requires -

(e) "Court" means the principal Civil Court of original jurisdiction in a district, and includes the High Court in exercise of its ordinary original civil jurisdiction, having jurisdiction to decide the questions forming the subject matter of the arbitration if the same had been the subject matter of a suit, but does not include any civil court of a grade inferior to such principal Civil Court, or any Court of Small Causes."

We are of the opinion, the term "subject matter of the arbitration" cannot be confused with "subject matter of the suit". The term "subject matter" in Section 2(1)(e) is confined to Part I. It has a reference and connection with the process of dispute resolution. Its purpose is to identify the courts having supervisory control over the arbitration proceedings. Hence, it refers to a court which would essentially be a court of the seat of the arbitration process. In our opinion, the provision in Section 2(1)(e) has to be construed keeping in view the provisions in Section 20 which give recognition to party autonomy. Accepting the narrow construction as projected by the learned counsel for the appellants would, in fact, render Section 20 nugatory. In our view, the legislature has intentionally given jurisdiction to two courts i.e. the court which would have jurisdiction where the cause of action is located and the courts where the arbitration takes place. This was necessary as on many occasions the agreement may provide for a seat of arbitration at a place which would be neutral to both the parties. Therefore, the courts where the arbitration takes place would be required to exercise supervisory control over the arbitral process. For example, if the arbitration is held in Delhi, where neither of the parties are from Delhi, (Delhi having been chosen as a neutral place as between a party from Mumbai and the other from Kolkata) and the tribunal sitting in Delhi passes an interim order under Section 17 of the Arbitration Act, 1996, the appeal against such an interim order under Section 37 must lie to the Courts of Delhi being the Courts having supervisory jurisdiction over the arbitration proceedings and the tribunal. This would be irrespective of the fact that the obligations to be performed under the contract were to be performed either at Mumbai or at Kolkata, and only arbitration is to take place in Delhi. In such circumstances, both the Courts would have jurisdiction, i.e., the Court within whose jurisdiction the subject matter of the suit is situated and the courts within the jurisdiction of which the dispute resolution, i.e., arbitration is located.

23. The above observation in BALCO were understood to give concurrent jurisdiction over the arbitral proceedings to (i) courts possessing the subject-matter/cause of action jurisdiction and (ii) courts where the place/seat of arbitration was designated.

24. What ensued post BALCO, was a clash between the territoriality principle, as espoused under Section 20 of the 1996 Act and the cause of action/subject-matter jurisdiction of the courts, as per Section 2(1)(e) of the 1996 Act.

25. The cases that followed post BALCO clarified that concurrent jurisdiction is vested in the courts of seat and venue, only in case of domestic arbitrations when the seat of arbitrations is in India as there is no risk of conflict of judgments of different jurisdictions, as all courts in India would follow the Indian Law as held in Enercon (India) Ltd. and Ors. v. Enercon Gmbh and Anr., (2014) 5 SCC 1.

26. However, in 2018, there appeared room for uncertainty as it was noticed that the Hon'ble Supreme Court had deviated from the Shashoua Principle, 2009 EWHC 957 (Comm) : (2009) 2 Lloyd's Rep 376 approved by the same court in BALCO (supra). In the case of Union of India v. Hardy Exploration and Production (India) Inc., (2019) 13 SCC 472, the Hon'ble Supreme Court held that the parties had Kuala Lumpur as the venue of arbitration but were silent on the seat. After dispute arose, the arbitration proceedings commenced and the award was signed at Kuala Lumpur. Thereafter the appellant sought to challenge the award under the Act before the Delhi High Court contending that Delhi was the seat of arbitration. On appeal the Hon'ble Supreme Court delivered a judgment deviating from the Shashoua Principle (supra). The Court held that the parties had not chosen the seat of arbitration and noted that the Tribunal also had not made any findings with respect to the same. It was observed that Kuala Lumpur was designated by the parties as the venue of arbitration and thus it did not mean that Kuala Lumpur had become the seat of arbitration. The Court concluded that a venue could become a seat of arbitration only if something else is added to it as a concomitant. Opinion of the Hon'ble Supreme Court does not appears to be in consonance with the Shashoua Principle (supra) approved by the same court in BALCO (supra).

27. Thereafter in 2019, the Hon'ble Supreme Court had another occasion to revisit this issue in BGS SGS SOMA JV (supra). It is interesting to note that in this case, the coordinate Bench (3 Judges) had reiterated the Shashoua Principle (supra) contrary to the observations made in Hardy Exploration (supra). The Court propounded a test and laid down that when a particular place is designated as the venue of arbitration the same should be considered to be the seat of arbitration. It noted that this should be coupled with the fact that the parties have not made any other contrary indication that the venue is not the seat of arbitration. The Court observed that the decision in Hardy Exploration (supra) is per incuriam as it did not follow ratio laid down by the Constitutional Bench in BALCO (supra) that wholeheartedly adopted the Shashoua Principle (supra) in Indian law. It appears that there is uncertainty whether the decision of the Court in Hardy Exploration (supra) or BGS SGS SOMA JV (supra) holds the field, as a concurrent Bench could not have overruled the judgment in Hardy Exploration (supra).

28. In March 2020, another conundrum had arisen before the Hon'ble Supreme Court in Mankastu Impex (P) Ltd. v. Airvisual Ltd. (supra). In this case the arbitration agreement was unique as it did not use the words "seat" or "venue". The arbitration agreement laid down that the arbitration would be administered in Hong Kong and the place of arbitration was Hong Kong. It also stated that the governing law was Indian law and that the courts of New Delhi shall have jurisdiction. Accordingly when dispute arose, Mankastu approached the Hon'ble Supreme Court of India for appointment of arbitrator contending that as Indian law was the governing law and the courts at New Delhi had jurisdiction therefore New Delhi was the seat of arbitration. Mankastu relied on Hardy Exploration (supra). Airvisual contended as Hong Kong was designated as the place of arbitration and therefore Hong Kong was also the seat of arbitration. Airvisual relied on BGS SGS SOMA JV (supra) for this purpose.

29. It is interesting to note the method of inquiry adopted by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in arriving at its conclusion that Hong Kong was the seat of arbitration. The Hon'ble Supreme Court instead of applying the ratio in Hardy Exploration (supra) or BGS SGS SOMA JV (supra), employed a different method of inquiry altogether. Although, the Hon'ble Supreme Court did not expressly follow Hardy Exploration (supra), it appears to have arrived at a similar conclusion on a different line of reasoning. The Court held that it would not be safe to conclude that the place of arbitration would automatically become the seat of arbitration without examining other pertinent indications in the contract to discern the true intention of the parties. The Hon'ble Supreme Court observed that since it was agreed that the arbitration proceedings should be administered in Hong Kong, thus, seat of arbitration was Hong Kong.

30. Recently a Division Bench of the Hon'ble Supreme Court in M/s Inox Renewables Ltd. v. Jayesh Electricals Ltd., passed on 13.04.2021 in Civil Appeal No. 1556 of 2021 arising out of SLP (C) No. 29161 of 2019) has reiterated the decision in BGS SGS SOMA JV (supra), equating the juridical concepts of seat and venue. In this regard, the Court has clarified that a shift in venue by mutual agreement between the parties would tantamount to shifting of the place/ seat of arbitration.

31. From the above consideration of the judgement of the Hon'ble Supreme Court regarding the "seat" and "venue" controversy, this Court finds that the judgement of the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of BALCO (supra) still holds good. The judgement in the case of Hardy Exploration (supra) or BGS SGS SOMA JV (supra) are of two coordinate Benches of three Hon'ble Judges and their ratios are contrary to each other. While Hardy Exploration (supra) stipulated that a chosen venue could not by itself assume the status of seat of arbitration in the absence of additional indica, BGS SGS SOMA JV (supra) prescribed that a chosen seat of arbitration proceedings would become the seat of arbitration in the absence of any "significant contrary indica". The recent judgement in the case of M/s Inox Renewables Ltd. (supra) follows BGS SGS SOMA JV (supra).

32. The Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of BALCO (supra) clearly held that there was concurrent jurisdiction conferred on the courts ceased with the subject matter in dispute and the courts where the arbitration was carried out. However, such concurrent jurisdictions will not replace the "significant contrary indica test" as per the Shashoua principle.

33. In the present case, the arbitration agreement clearly shows that the parties agreed as per Clause 10.6 that the governing law and the jurisdiction of the courts would be the courts of Gautam Buddh Nagar, U.P., India and it shall have jurisdiction over all matters arising out of or relating to the allotment/provisional allotment subject to the provisions of Clause 10.9 of the standard terms and conditions. This exception regarding Clause 10.9 constitutes "significant contrary indica" as per Shashoua principle in agreement regarding treating the "venue" of arbitration (New Delhi) as "seat" of arbitration proceedings (Gautam Buddh Nagar) where the cause of action arose. In Clause 10.9 regarding dispute resolution, it was agreed that the "venue" of arbitration shall be New Delhi, India. Accordingly, the sole arbitrator conducted the arbitration proceedings at the agreed venue of New Delhi and passed the award. From the standard terms and conditions/agreement between the parties, it is clear that the parties never clearly stated about the seat of arbitration but from Clause 10.6 of the agreement, the courts at Gautam Buddh Nagar, U.P., India, was agreed to have jurisdiction over all matters arising out of or relating to the allotment/provisional allotment. This clause proves that the parties had chosen the "seat" of arbitration as Gautam Buddh Nagar, U.P., India, and the "venue" of arbitration as New Delhi, India.

34. The petitioner approached this Court for appointment of the Arbitrator under Section 11 of the Act. Earlier, when the dispute regarding jurisdiction was raised, the petitioner again approached this Court by way of WRIT- C No. 33003 of 2019 and this Court directed vide order dated 17.10.2019 that the petitioner may raise objection regarding the jurisdiction of the court at Gautam Buddh Nagar, U.P., India before the court concerned and in compliance of the order of this Court, the impugned order dated 18.08.2021 has been passed by the Commercial Court at Gautam Buddh Nagar, U.P., India. This Court has jurisdiction over the courts at Gautam Buddh Nagar, U.P., India. The petitioner never approached the Delhi High Court for appointment of Arbitrator nor he has initiated any execution proceedings u/s 36 of the Act before any court at Delhi. This Court finds force in the argument of the learned counsel for the respondent that in case the argument of the petitioner is accepted and New Delhi is held to be the seat of arbitration, the reference order passed by this Court u/s 11 would become without jurisdiction and if Clause 10.6 of the agreement, which provides exception for Clause 10.9, is interpreted to mean that the seat of arbitration would be New Delhi, Clause 10.6 would become redundant.

35. The other issues raised by the learned counsel for the petitioner regarding application of Section 42 of the Act to the execution of final award and whether execution application can be filed at Gautam Buddh Nagar for enforcement of arbitral award passed at New Delhi also require consideration.

36. Before proceeding to decide the aforesaid issues, a look at Section 42 and Section 2(1)(e) of the Act is required which are as follows :-

"42. Jurisdiction - Notwithstanding anything contained elsewhere in this Part or in any other law for the time being in force, where with respect to an arbitration agreement any application under this Part has been made in a Court, that Court alone shall have jurisdiction over the arbitration proceedings and all subsequent applications arising out of that agreement and the arbitral proceedings shall be made in that Court and in no other Court."

Section 2(1)(e) -

"(i) in the case of an arbitration other than international commercial arbitration, the principal Civil Court of original jurisdiction in a district, and includes the High Court in exercise of its ordinary original civil jurisdiction, having jurisdiction to decide the questions forming the subject-matter of the arbitration if the same had been the subject-matter of a suit, but does not include any Civil Court of a grade inferior to such principal Civil Court, or any Court of Small Causes;

(ii) in the case of international commercial arbitration, the High Court in exercise of its ordinary original civil jurisdiction, having jurisdiction to decide the questions forming the subject-matter of the arbitration if the same had been the subject-matter of a suit, and in other cases, a High Court having jurisdiction to hear appeals from decrees of courts subordinate to that High Court."

What clearly follows from the above definition is that as regards arbitrations, other than international commercial arbitrations, the principal Civil Court of original jurisdiction in a district, which has the jurisdiction to decide the question forming the subject-matter of the arbitration if the same had been subject-matter of a suit, would be the competent "Court" for the purpose of this Act. It specifically includes the High Court which has ordinary original civil jurisdiction, like Allahabad High Court.

37. Prior to the amendment of 2015, the question as to whether application u/s 11 falls within the purview of Section 42 had been deliberated upon and answered in the negative in catena of judgments.

38. By way of the Arbitration & Conciliation (Amendment) Act, 2015 (herein after referred to as the Amendment Act), inter alia, a significant change that has been brought about in Section 11 of the Arbitration & Conciliation Act, 1996, is the insertion of the words "High Court" and "Supreme Court " instead of "Chief Justice" and "Chief Justice of India".

39. This particular amendment has a direct bearing on the interpretation of Section 42 of the Act which envisages exclusion/bar of all courts other than 'Court' before which any application under Part I has been initially made with respect to an arbitration agreement.

40. A perusal of Section 42 of the Arbitration and Conciliation Act, 1996 clearly indicates that if in respect of an arbitration agreement any application under Part I is made in a court, that court alone shall have jurisdiction over the arbitral proceedings and all subsequent applications arising out of that agreement and the arbitral proceedings shall be made in that court and no other court. The first application which is made before a court should have jurisdiction to entertain subsequent applications. Secondly for the purpose of applicability of the Section 42 of Arbitration Act, the court has to decide whether the first application was the application provided in the first part of the Arbitration and Conciliation Act, 1996. Since the application u/s 11 of the Act was an application under Part I of the Arbitration and Conciliation Act, 1996,

Section 42 of the Arbitration and Conciliation Act, 1996 will be attracted to the proceedings u/s 34 of the Act. The award passed at New Delhi can be executed in the court at Gautam Buddh Nagar in view of paragraph no. 20 of the judgement of the Apex Court in the case of Sundaram Finance Limited (supra) also.

41. In view of the above consideration, it is held that the order dated 18.08.2021 passed by the Commercial Court, Gautam Buddh Nagar, is in accordance with law.

42. The petition is accordingly, dismissed.
